Their Eyes Fill With Tears

Death Penalty Sought

Finch, Carole Convicted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The state will ask death in its gas chamber for Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his mistress, Carole Tregoff, convicted of murdering his socialite wife with a bullet in the back.

A third jury, disagreeing with two others which had deadlocked, returned its verdict late Monday:

Carole, 24, auburn-haired, once a shapely model who became Finch's receptionist and then his paramour, guilty of second-degree murder.

Both guilty of conspiracy to commit murder.

CALLS FOR DEATH

"Conspiracy to commit murder is punishable by death in California," said Deputy Dist. Atty. Clifford Crail. "We will ask the death penalty for both defendants."

Finch, hands clasped, took his own verdict coolly. When he heard Carole's his face reddened and tears welled in his eyes. He reached past an attorney and patted her shoulder. She was sobbing.

As they were led out of the courtroom, the lovers embraced tearfully and tenderly. They stood clasped together briefly. Then Carole, head down, shoulders shaking with sobs, followed a woman sheriff's deputy back to jail a few floors above.

Finch's attorney stated, "We are definitely going to appeal."

★ ★ ★

Under California law the same jury of 10 men and 2 women will now decree the penalty. Superior Court Judge David Coleman told them to return for this purpose next Monday.

★ ★ ★

First-degree murder is punish-death, second-degree by five years to life.

The jury had deliberated a little over 21 hours since last Thursday morning.

The end of the three-month trial —59 working days in court—came with dramatic swiftness before about 80 intent spectators in a drab, eighth-floor courtroom in the 35-year-old Hall of Justice.

Coprosecutor Crail said: "This restores my faith in the jury system. This (the guilty verdict) should have happened in the first trial."

His Last Words Precious; They Promise Paradise

By BISHOP
RICHARD C. RAINES
Written for Associated Press

"Today thou shalt be with me in paradise."

What irony! The most noble person in history is being crucified between two thieves. One taunts and sneers at him:

"If you are the Messiah, why don't you get yourself and us out of here? Talk's cheap. Act, man act!"

The other thief is more alert, sees deeper:

"For shame. Do you not fear God, being so near death? We are justly condemned, but this man has done nothing wrong."

Turning to Jesus, he says:

"Remember me when you come in your kingly power."

Jesus replies:

"Today thou shalt be with me in paradise."

Why are the last words of Christ so precious, so minutely examined?

Last words have a strange fascination for some because those near death are thought to offer us glimpses into the next world. Others are stirred because they believe the approach of death strips off the mask of pretense from the dying and reveals them for what they really are.

Bishop Raines

But Jesus' last words are cherished because he has changed the course of history. Multitudes of varied and valuable meanings are found in them because his life, death, and resurrection mark him as more than a man. Believing, acting as if this were true, men experience Him as Savior and Lord.

These words spoken from the cross to a penitent thief reveal that Jesus was the same in dying as in living. Jesus sensed penitence and a dawning faith in the thief.

He forgave at once. God forgives this way—not reluctantly or partially but eagerly and completely.

Wants Priority for Children

Interim Senate Group Calls State's Mental Care Vastly Inadequate

Children should be given priority in revamping the state's care program for the mentally ill, which today "is vastly inadequate," an interim Senate committee has urged.

★ ★ ★

The committee held three public hearings in Pontiac last fall to find out what was lacking in the state's program for emotionally-disturbed, mentally ill and retarded children.

The five-member committee, which never attracted all five senators to any hearings, was headed by former Oakland County Sen. L. Harvey Lodge. Lodge attended all.

In a 4½-page report of its findings, the committee said one thing lacking is coordination between the various groups concerned with the care of these children.

ON WAITING LISTS

"They are put on waiting lists, having no opportunities for immediate treatment, and where they might be treated and returned to society, they eventually become an object of continuing custodial care."

The committee made three basic recommendations and then issued a warning. They were:

(1) Children should be cared for first.

(2) Steps should be taken by the legislature so that a cured child would not be returned to the unstable surroundings that created their emotional deficiency.

(3) That much of the care be provided in newly created out-patient diagnostic clinics.

The warning was that "a revamping of the whole system as set forth in the prior statement

Total Cost Near $44 Billion

JFK Boosts Defense Plans

Kennedy Wants 1,300 Polaris Missiles by '65

Urges Congress Spend $650 Million More but Asks No Extra Men

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today sent Congress "urgent" proposals for a $650 million defense spending increase and disclosed plans to arm the nation with more than 1,300 ballistic missiles by 1965.

Kennedy said he wanted to make the United States so strong that if it received a surprise nuclear attack it could still retaliate "with devastating power."

He called for assembly-line construction of Polaris missile submarines, reaching a one-a-month rate by June 1963. He also charted expanded production of new minuteman intercontinental missiles and a hefty boost for the bomber - carried Skybolt missile.

At the same time he proposed more equipment, but very little extra manpower, for conventional and limited wars.

The revised military spending plan for the fiscal year starting July 1 totaled $43.8 billion, including Kennedy's new $650 million proposals plus upward revisions of former Eisenhower administration estimates which he claimed were too low.

A record for any year except in World War II, the boosted arms outlay would throw the government's over-all fiscal 1962 budget a further $890 million out of kilter for a total deficit of $2.7 billion.

Still more may be needed in later years, Kennedy said, although he hoped to achieve economies in the "full reappraisal" of defense still under way.

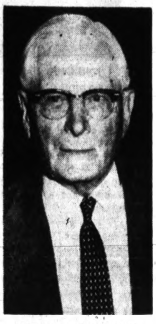
To finance his proposals in fiscal 1962 and future years, Kennedy asked Congress to appropriate $1.954 billion more than the $41.84 billion that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower proposed just before leaving office. The $650 million increase is for spending in fiscal 1962 only.

Even with that increase, the President found it necessary to slash $430 million from present programs. He killed outright the 15-year old nuclear aircraft project on which $1 billion has been spent.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capitol Hill Republicans geared today for a determined fight to cut domestic and foreign-aid spending in President Kennedy's revised budget.

But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois conceded that his party will be at a disadvantage.

Centennial Citizens



HARRY O. WHITFIELD

(Editor's Note: In conjunction with Pontiac's centennial year. The Pontiac Press is presenting periodically a series of vignettes on some of the persons and families who have contributed significantly to making Pontiac the fine city we know today.)

Pontiac need not be introduced to Harry O. Whitfield, or vice versa. The Whitfield clan is as much a part of the city as the Pontiac automobile.

Son of Thomas Whitfield and Jane Windiate, members of pioneer Oakland County families, "H. O." as he is called by his friends, was known for his wholesale grocery business which used to occupy today's Lawrence street quarters of the Salvation Army.

Born in Waterford Township, Whitfield spent most of his life—except for a few years as banker—in this business. He retired in 1941. Many of the years since has seen the 92-year-old city resident and his wife, Mildred, traveling.

You'll see him Thursday noons at Rotary.

Quiet trout streams—his utopia of paradise—has helped, too.

Cloudy, Colder Brings an End to Balmy 70s

The highest temperature of the year moved in on Pontiac at 4:30 Monday afternoon, a warm and sunny 70. The mercury started dropping at 6 p.m. and continued falling to hit a low of 41 at 8 this morning.

★ ★ ★

The weatherman said tonight will be partly cloudy and colder, the low near 35. Wednesday is expected to be mostly cloudy with not much change in temperature, the high hitting 53.

★ ★ ★

Gusty morning winds at 10 to 30 miles per hour will become northwest and slowly diminish tonight, and northwest at 10 to 15 miles Wednesday. The outlook for Thursday is a chance of rain.

At 2 p.m. the thermometer registered 43.

JFK Calls for $125.6-Million More

Asks Space Fund Leap

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy asked Congress today to pump up the nation's space exploration program by $125.67 million.

In a message to Congress, the President asked that appropriations for space be increased from the $1.11 billion asked by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower for fiscal 1962 to a new total of $1.24 billion.

A total of $81.6 million of the requested increase would go to speed development of powerful new space rockets, the Centaur and Saturn.

For development of communication satellites, in which private industry is expected to play a role in the future, Kennedy asked an increase of $10 million.

FIGURE VANISHES

The Eisenhower space budget had listed $10 million in "anticipated reimbursements" from private industries interested in communication satellites. This figure did not appear in the adjusted Kennedy budget.

The $10-million appropriation increase asked by Kennedy for communications satellites apparently replaces the $10 million previously anticipated from private industry.

Other increases included $9.3 million for liquid propulsion vehicles and $4 million for development of nuclear power plants for space.

For the Saturn, Kennedy asked an increase of $56 million over the $168.16 million asked by Eisenhower. For Centaur he asked for a $25.6-million increase to a new total of $56.4 million.

The Saturn booster, a cluster of eight engines developing 1.5 million pounds of thrust, is scheduled for its first flight test sometime in the quarter of the year starting July 1.

The first full-fledged Saturn will be able to boost 19,000 pounds into an earth orbit, 5,000 pounds to the moon and 2,500 pounds to Mars or Venus.

'62 TARGET FOR CENTAUR

This Saturn vehicle, however, is not expected to be ready for space missions before 1964. The Centaur, on the other hand, is expected to go to work next year.

The first Centaur flight test is scheduled for sometime in the last three months of 1961.

Leaders Are Hopeful for Laos Cease-Fire

House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., told reporters after the weekly breakfast session that "the President and all of us looked at the situation as hopefully as possible under the circumstances."

Kennedy discussed with the legislators his conferences with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on Sunday and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko Monday, newsmen were told by Rayburn and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont.

Mansfield said the President's position on Laos remains unchanged after the two meetings.

"We are very hopeful," Rayburn added, "that a solution will come about that will be satisfactory to us and those who work with us in these affairs."

Laotian Prince Souvanne Phouml predicted today that Russia will accept a cease fire.

Kennedy was looking for a speedy answer from Soviet Premier Khrushchev. In his hour-long session with Gromyko Kennedy was reported to have stressed that a truce must come before diplomatic talks.

Gromyko in turn was said to have indicated Khrushchev will respond in a few days, and to have asked that the United States meanwhile avoid any precipitous action on the Laos crisis.

U.S. strategists saw a good omen in Gromyko's request. They believed this might indicate Moscow is genuinely interested in a peaceful solution, and fearful of a spread in the fighting.

Floods Ravage Upper Midwest

By United Press International

Turbulent rivers today drove 1,000 persons to high ground ahead of roaring crests in the Upper Midwest.

Emergency conditions were declared in Eastern Iowa and Southwest Wisconsin. Water lapped at the tops of gasoline pumps at Soldiers Grove, Wis., and authorities at Evansdale, Iowa, appealed for sandbags and dump trucks.

"We haven't got anywhere near enough sandbags," an Evansdale official said. The Cedar River continued to swell over a predicted 17-foot crest Monday and "without them we're helpless," he said.

In Southwest Wisconsin, the Kickapoo River flowed in torrents over a dam at Soldiers Grove and poured on to Gays Mills, 8 miles downriver. Truckers brought drinking water from nearby Readstown, Wis.

★ ★ ★

Two persons were killed at Appleby, Tex., when a twister hurled their home into a water-filled ditch. The tornado left holes where other buildings had been.

Indiana winds whipped a television antenna from the hand of a Columbus father. It fell on a 75,000 volt power line and electrocuted his wife and 13-year-old son, who were assisting the installation 28 feet above ground. The father and his daughter, 11, were seriously injured.

In the West, a lower pressure area from New Mexico to Las Vegas, Nev., set off mixed rains and snowstorms. Canadian cold air forged south past a 2-foot Rocky Mountain snowfall recorded Monday.

Evacuations mounted through the night in the flood-wracked Upper Midwest. More than 500 persons left their homes at Charles City, Iowa.

National guard, Red Cross and state officials counted hundreds of homeless at Mason City and Waterloo, Iowa, and near the Mississippi lowlands at La Crosse, Wis.

Hurricane-force winds Monday whipped across into Illinois. Winds up to 100 miles an hour bowled over pedestrians and shattered store windows in Chicago.

Expects Strong Laos Resolution

Rusk Is Sure SEATO Will Make Unanimous Declaration

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk declared tonight he is confident "a strong, unanimous" resolution on Laos will be approved by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization's council of ministers.

★ ★ ★

France offered objections, showing a reluctance to antagonize the Soviet Union with a hard-hitting SEATO resolution that might mar Laotian peace hopes.

Asked to comment on this, Rusk told a reporter: "It will all come out in the wash tomorrow."

Rusk acknowledged that there had been a lively disagreement with the French over the resolution but said it had never reached the stage of an open split.

The divergence of views emerged at the third secret session of the three-day ministers meeting, which closes Wednesday.

The American foreign policy chief reportedly said that an official Soviet response to British proposals for a cease-fire could not be expected before the foreign ministers of the eight nations end their annual meeting here Wednesday afternoon.

Rusk emphasized that Soviet peace talk should not influence their course of action in dealing with the crisis and standing firm against a Communist takeover.

★ ★ ★

One conference source said it would be safe to speculate that the Soviets are trying to disrupt the SEATO meeting with such peace gestures as the article in Pravda Monday again expressing Soviet willingness to negotiate an end to the jungle war in the Southeast Asia kingdom.

Other foreign ministers also took a cautious, wait-and-see attitude toward the Pravda article, which was the first Soviet response to the American-backed British proposal for an immediate cease fire in Laos and then an international conference to place the easy-going Laotians in permanent neutrality. The Pravda article endorsed the international conference but neither approved nor rejected a cease fire.

House Republicans, without the backing of much of the GOP-Southern Democrat coalition that employed the same tactics to hand the administration its first setback Friday, apparently lack the votes to push their measure through. Debate starts late today.

Mental Care Priority Asked for Children

Lodge's committee was appointed to make the study at the close of the 1960 legislature.

Where the Oct. 6, Oct. 20 and Nov. 3 hearings often probed into specific weaknesses of the program, such as some reported irregularities at the Lapeer State Home and Training School, the senators' report dealt with statewide problems.

Federal funds should be sought by the state to build more mental hospitals, and senile patients in the present institutions should be transferred to facilities where only custodial care is required.

IMMINENT PROBLEM

"However, the problem of children is imminent, and suitable appropriations should be considered and made for preliminary establishment of diagnostic clinics for children, and provisions be made for their immediate needs for treatment," the committee said.

Lack of funds was cited as the reason care for sick children and the aged is difficult in the state.

"However, all these problems must be met," the committee stressed.

If possible, the senators said, most of the care should be strived for out of mental hospitals, "to the maximum extent that is reasonable and feasible."

"Our present haphazard system of commitment to hospitals through probate courts by limited examination, by placing patients on a waiting list whereby they receive no immediate consideration, is archaic, costly and occasions a futility in not only the patient but the patient's family as well."

"To accomplish such an aim," the study showed, "steps must be taken in the general treatment setup of all psychiatric installations to implement care outside the large mental hospital as much as possible."

AT 3 STAGES

While awaiting hospitalization, the children could be examined at a diagnostic clinic which could be established in the metropolitan Detroit area, instead of by "the haphazard and limited examinations undertaken by the probate courts."

This suggested process would not only save the state money, because about six million people in Michigan are covered by Blue Cross-Blue Shield insurance, but 30 days of such psychiatric examination on the "outside" might mean no hospitalization at state cost would be required at all.

More savings to the state would come if federal funds were granted for hospital construction under the Hill-Burton Act.

Once hospitalization is declared necessary, the committee recommended creation of smaller 200-bed "receiving" hospitals such as Detroit's Lafayette Clinic.

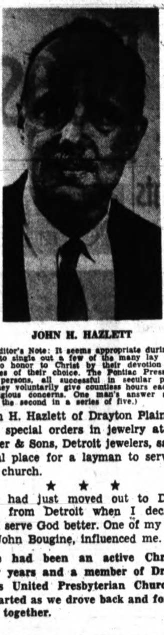
Layman Influenced by Neighbor

Church Natural Place to Serve God



JOHN H. HAZLETT

(Editor's Note: It seems appropriate during Holy Week to single out a few of the many lay persons who do honor to Christ by their devotion to the churches of their choice. The Pontiac Press asked these persons, all successful in secular pursuits, why they voluntarily give countless hours each year to religious concerns. One man's answer appears today, the second in a series of five.)

John H. Hazlett of Drayton Plains, who makes special orders in jewelry at David Wachler & Sons, Detroit jewelers, says the natural place for a layman to serve God is the church.

"We had just moved out to Drayton Plains from Detroit when I decided I should serve God better. One of my neighbors, John Bougine, influenced me.

"He had been an active Christian many years and a member of Drayton Plains United Presbyterian Church. It all started as we drove back and forth to work together.

"In our conversation my neighbor told we what serving his church meant to him. I asked questions and began to read and study my Bible.

MORE ACTIVE

"From then on I became more and more active. I owe a great deal to him for bringing me closer to God," Hazlett said.

A member of the board of sessions, Hazlett has taught classes and served as superintendent of the Sunday School of 1,200 adults and children at the Drayton Plains church.

He currently is leader of the junior high youth group, president of the men's club and chairman of the nomination committee of Detroit Presbytery.

It was his privilege in 1950 to be elected commissioner to the general assembly in Indianapolis, Ind. The assembly is the national governing body of the United Presbyterian Church.

"My main reason for working in the church is because this is the Lord's command to follow and serve Him.

"We are here to make Him known to all people. We grow into this more and more deeply as we serve and come to understand what our purpose is here," said Hazlett.

COMMUNITY ROLES

In the community he has served as commissioner of Cub Scouts Pack 52, and as father vice president of the Parent-Teacher Association at Drayton Plains Elementary School.

With his wife and children Jeffrey, Mary and Daniel, Hazlett makes his home at 4266 Monroe Ave. Rev. Walter Teeuwissen Jr. is his pastor.

A Lake Orion couple is seeking damages and an injunction in Circuit Court against the county for reportedly flooding out 2½ acres of farmland in Orion Township.

The couple, Harold L. and Mary H. Collins, alleged in their lawsuit that officials of Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry's office have poked holes in a dam they had built to keep the surface waters from their property.

This, they said, has caused 2½ out of their 5-acre, two-lot parcel to be "rendered unusable and altogether worthless," with several years of crops being ruined.

The Collins allege that the county never instituted the legal proceedings to acquire their property, but went ahead and constructed drains causing water from adjoining property to run onto theirs.

★ ★ ★

The county was ordered by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem to show cause April 10 why Barry shouldn't be enjoined permanently from reopening the drains.

They valued their damaged property at $15,000.

Placed on Probation for Illegal Surgery Try

Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem yesterday placed Jack B. Harwoods, 51, of Detroit, on probation for three years and ordered him to spend the first 90 days in County Jail for attempting an illegal operation on a 20-year-old Royal Oak girl.

Harwoods, father of two children and a combat veteran of World War II, pleaded guilty March 6.

Harwoods, of 17344 Ohio St., was arrested by Detective Sgt. Phillip R. Deckebach and Detective Robert W. Parsons who hid in the home of the girl and overheard a conversation about the operation.

Police had been alerted.

Christ's Last Words Promise Paradise

pathy was not changed by his own agony. His concern took in everybody, even a thief—perhaps especially a thief—anyone in need. His sympathy never wore thin, even in his own exhaustion and anguish on the cross.

★ ★ ★

"Today thou shalt be with me in paradise" says to me death is not the end. Beyond the torture of the cross and death which would mercifully end it would be continued life where Jesus and the thief would know each other.

It means that we are more than mere intelligent animals. We are potential sons of God.

Christ's words to the thief indicate his awareness that he was more than a man who could be killed. He was God's sent one — God's son. An incarnation indeed had taken place.

BY GOD'S GRACE

Because Christ reveals God's character, purpose, spirit, and love for each of us, however unworthy we are, we see ourselves and every man as having rights and dignity. God has put a spark of Himself in each of us.

★ ★ ★

We are, therefore, destined for eternity and, by God's grace, can rise above animal instincts and live for the common good.

Increasingly, since the advent of the nuclear age, people are asking almost in agony, "Is there a God? What is He like? What is His power and purpose?"

People want to know if God has seen the inner twist of pride, egoism, and passion which hold us in captivity and if he has come in Christ to rescue us, to offer a new way of life. They are asking if God's continuing presence, which we call the Holy Spirit, is available to each of us—to forgive, empower, and guide us.

The Day in Birmingham

Parking Lot Assessment Confirmation Postponed

BIRMINGHAM — Confirmation of assessment rolls on the Northwest Quadrant Parking Lot was postponed last night until the City Commission meets next Monday.

The delay in approving the $550,000 tax roll came after commissioners learned that one parcel description was incorrect.

City Assessor Clark Hagstrom told the commission that the assessments would be respread and resubmitted for confirmation next week.

Cost of acquiring and developing the city's sixth parking area will be shared by the Municipal Auto Parking System and approximately 125 property owners and merchants benefiting from the improvement.

The city's share will be $330,000 and the cost to property owners will be $220,000, which is to be paid off in two years in three payments, the first of which comes due 30 days after the tax roll is confirmed.

The parking area will provide about 163 new spaces in addition to 240 stalls already there on property recently purchased from the Wabeek and Jacobson firms.

The Bloomfield Art Association received approval from the city commission last night to proceed with their plans to convert the city's vacant sewage disposal plant into a cultural center.

The tenants' first step under the lease approved by commissioners will be the deodorization of the building. The city also will prove the grounds and renovate prove the grounds and rennovate a portion of the interior.

Dr. Robert R. Turpin, president of the Urban League of Pontiac, today announced the appointment of Sam H. Jones as executive director, effective Saturday.

Jones, 33, presently director of vocational services for the Urban League of Cleveland, fills a vacancy left by the resignation of Everett Spurlock in December. Spurlock is executive director of the Urban League of Flint.

The youthful league official is a native of Heidelberg, Miss., and a graduate of Clark College in Atlanta, Ga.

SAM H. JONES

He received a master's degree in sociology and social work from Atlanta University after serving in the Army during the Korean War.

MARRIED, ONE DAUGHTER

Jones, married with one daughter, joined the Urban League of Cleveland in 1956.

The following year he was assigned as job development secretary, and the year afterward became director of the organization's guidance and job placement program.

Active in scouting, YMCA and church activities in Cleveland, Jones is secretary of the Cleveland Counselors Association and a member of the Northeastern Ohio Personnel and Guidance Association.

Plans for Center Are Behind Bid

Will Request Rezoning of Walton Frontage to Commercial

Plans for a shopping center in northern Pontiac are behind a bid headed towards the City Commission tonight. It will ask rezoning to commercial of 2,900 feet of frontage on the north side of Walton Boulevard, between Giddings Road and Perry Street.

The bid was submitted by Morris Green, a Detroit developer, giving the Spotlite Building Co., 975 Baldwin Ave. as a local address.

Green said he wanted the frontage rezoned from residential to a depth of 450 feet.

Hearings on nine proposed blacktopping jobs are scheduled. They cover Melrose Avenue, Mt. Clemens to Perry; Tennyson Avenue, Fuller to Arlene; Third Avenue, Joslyn to Highwood; Clifford Avenue, Auburn to Osmun; S. Jessie Street, Prospect to Raeburn; Raeburn Street, Sanford to Baxter; Russell Street, Auburn to Osmun; Seward Street, Auburn to Osmun; and Oxford Road, Argyle to Canterbury.

★ ★ ★

Lumber Yard Looks Like Postal Confab

Someone had tripped a burglar alarm in an attempted break-in.

When Robert Meagher, owner, arrived about an hour later to turn the alarm off, he was greeted by what appeared to be a postal workers convention.

★ ★ ★

The postal officials were summoned because there is a post office station in the lumber company office building.

★ ★ ★

Lenten Guidepost--Mission Work Taught Romney

GEORGE ROMNEY
President, American Motors Corp.

If I were asked to name the one most rewarding period in my life, I am quiet sure that I would answer: the two years I spent having doors slammed in my face.

ROMNEY

I was 18 years old at the time, living on $12 a week in a strange country, England, and I was talking to people about a subject that leaves almost any teenager shy: religion.

"I'm - a - missionary - for-the-Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints — sometimes - known - as - the-Mormons," I'd say quickly as a face appeared in the doorway. Most often that's as far as I got; the door would close with a slam.

Why, then, was this the most rewarding time in my life? Because during those two years I learned the immense value of talking to others about one's own cloest beliefs.

I learned, in fact, three important lessons, but before telling about them, I think I should try to explain just what it means to be a Mormon missinary.

PAY OWN WAY

It is the custom of our Mormon church to choose missionaries from among our young people. To be selected for this service is a great honor. If selected, they agree to serve two years and to go wherever the presidency sends them.

The youngsters go at considerable sacrifice. The only expense the church pays is the missionary's return - home passage; even the literature he passes out is paid for out of his own pocket. Usually, too, the missionary must interrupt college for his two years.

The effectiveness of this custom is undeniable. But perhaps the biggest value of the experience is not so much what it does for others as what it does for the young people themselves.

They return home to start their mature lives with broad lessons in believing, lessons and convictions which stay with them forever.

MUST DISCOVER FAITH

The first lesson that I took away from my life as a missionary was perhaps the most important of all. It was, simply, that you cannot inherit faith; each individual must discover faith for himself.

To convey my beliefs to others, I found I had to be certain of them myself; I could not depend on the thoughts of my father or grandfather.

Many hours were spent in the public library studying other religions as well as my own. I prayed hard for understanding, and I lived the principles I was testing. Through this came conviction about life's most important truths.

* * *

Another lesson I learned was that we all need help, and frequently it comes from unexpected sources. In London I discovered that no one was particularly interested in hearing me talk about my religion. When I stood up on my soap box near the Tower of London and tried to talk about the restoration of the gospel, few cared.

AN UNEXPECTED AID

An unexpected friend became the solution to my problem. I noticed that each day a colorful old redbearded Socialist came to Tower Hill to stump for his beliefs among the clerks and secretaries who came to the park for their lunch.

One day he began to heckle me. We soon began to argue with each other; he for socialism, I for my Christian convictions.

Soon the clerks were listening and taking sides. This drew large crowds. His unsolicited questions helpfully created interest on the part of others in my religious message. Thus an unexpected obstacle became a source of real help.

The third lesson is this: you cannot teach without learning.

I recall the day I had just arrived in Edinburgh, Scotland, and I was listening to another young missionary give a speech before a staggly group of old Scotsmen.

THEY LAUGHED

My friend proceeded to describe a revelation that Joseph Smith received one day after reading his Bible and praying for guidance.

"Picture, if you will, this young illiterate boy," said my friend, "reading his Bible . . . "

A high, penetrating laugh came from the rear of the little circle. "Aye, laddie, and if he'd been illiterate, how could he have read from the Bible?"

My friend looked at me, confused. He could think of nothing to say. Fortunately, I knew that "illiterate "can mean uneducated—not necessarily the inability to read. The explanation was accepted, but I was not at all convinced that I understood, myself, just how literate Joseph Smith had been.

DELEVD INTO HISTORY

That night I spent the first of many hours poring over our history. I thought I had known my church; it wasn't until I tried to tell others about it that I discovered how much I still had to learn.

* * *

At the end of my two years, I sailed for home with a belief that was far stronger than I had brought with me.

True faith comes from such experience. This, I am sure, is one fundamental reason behind the Mormon tradition of sending young people abroad to tell others about our church. I shall always be grateful for those two years of effort to convert background into understanding and faith. The result has helped me every day of my life.

WEDNESDAY — Col. John Paul Stapp, Air Force doctor, tells why he wan't afraid when he traveled faster than any man on earth in a scientiric test.

LeBaron Cubs Hold a Flag Ceremony

A flag ceremony was presented by Den 9 as Cub Scout Pack 66 of LeBaron School met in the school's multipurpose room last week. The film, "Jubilee Jamboree 1960" was also shown.

Awards were given to: Bobcats, James French, Bobby Holcomb, Michael Laulinger, Allen Nance, Bobby Singleton and Craig Young; Gold Arrow, Paul Shaun; Silver Arrows, Teddy Hagberg, Douglass Stiff, Ernest Jury, Mickey Lauks and David Stone.

A highlight of the meeting was the annual Pinewood Derby. Each boy, with the help of his father, made a car. The boys then competed against boys in their own den, and the den winners against each other. The grand champion was David Morris. Randy Meador was runnerup.

Cranbrook Director to Head State Academy

Dr. Robert T. Hatt of 560 Academy Drive, Bloomfield Hills, director of the Cranbrook Institute of Science, was chosen president-elect of the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters at its meeting Saturday in Detroit.

Dr. Justin W. Leonard, research director of the Michigan Department of Conservation, was elected president. Leonard, a Lansing resident, succeeds Dr. Conrad Lam of Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit.

Kennedy Asks Mach 3 Airliner

Would Fly to London in 2 Hours; Request Almost Overlooked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has asked for federal aid in developing a supersonic airliner that could whisk passengers from New York to London in about two hours.

The President's request was almost overlooked. It was contained in his special budget message of March 24 a one-line item asking that the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) be given an extra 12 million for fiscal 1962.

Of that sum, $10 million is earmarked for preliminary work on a supersonic Mach 3 transport — a plane capable of flying three times the speed of sound.

"The money," an FAA spokesman said, "would initiate a real competitive effort by U.S. airframe and engine manufacturers to resolve technical and other problems associated with a March 3. transport plane."

He added that the money would finance preliminary studies for an SST (supersonic transport) program — its total cost, time needed for development and market potential as well as the hundreds of technical difficulties to be solved.

While the $10 million is a financial drop in the bucket, it would be one of the most significant expenditures in aviation history. Never before has the federal government helped finance the development of a commercial airliner.

Send Royal Oak Man to Prison for Theft

It was 2 to 15 years in Jackson Prison for George K. Horton of Royal Oak and six months in the county jail for Richard L. Goonis of Detroit when sentence was pronounced yesterday by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Horton, 20, of 918 N. Washington St., and Goonis, 23, of 3536 National St., pleaded guilty March 10 to breaking and entering during the nighttime into Federal Hardware Store, 29080 Southfield Road, Southfield, on Jan. 19.

Horton, a laborer, later told police he had committed some 200 burglaries and safe robberies.

Ewart to Advise Against Calling Vote on Centers

City Attorney William A. Ewart said today that he will advise the City Commission tonight against calling for an advisory, public vote on recreation centers without first studying construction costs, site location and operating costs.

"It would be premature, improper and a departure from good planning to call for a vote without first establishing what the vote is about," said Ewart.

Ewart's report will come as an answer to Commissioner Milton R. Henry's request for an advisory vote on the spending of $3 million through a general obligation bond issue to construction, he said, three recreation centers.

★ ★ ★

Ewart said there was no legal possibility to get any proposition on the ballot, without City Commission approval, until the general city election in the spring of next year.

To Make Restitution for Using Credit Card

A 17-year-old Waterford Township youth was released on probation for three years and ordered to make $19.75 restitution when sentenced yesterday by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem for using another person's credit card he had stolen.

Judge Ziem also ordered Henry C. Helm of 7735 Maceday Drive to pay $100 court costs and the restitution within 60 days.

Helm pleaded guilty March 13 to uttering and publishing. He admitted using a Kresge credit card belonging to Willard A. Bell, 103 Fairgrove St., for six purchases.

Shippers in No Hurry but Lakes Season Starts

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — The Great Lakes navigation season may open earlier than usual this year — though there's no particular hurry on the part of shippers.

American ore carriers reportedly are not anxious to begin 1961 operations because of a low demand for iron ore by American steel plants, now operating at about 55 per cent capacity.

The first ships through the locks at Sault Ste. Marie likely will be Canadian grain carriers. No date has been set for the opening of the locks but flooding operations began today.

Appeal Upholding of Antisit-in-Law

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—A decision by a special three-judge Federal Court upholding Virginia's antisit-in trespass laws will be appealed by a group of Negroes to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Leonard W. Holt of Norfolk, one of four attorneys representing Negroes arrested during lunch-counter segregation protests in nearby Petersburg and Hopewell, announced plans for the appeal Monday.

Importance of Service Proved by Patrol Boys

Two area safety-patrol boys again have demonstrated the value of this service with quick action to save three youngsters from an erring motorist.

★ ★ ★

These youngsters stand their watches on the street corners through all the foul weather, learning responsibility and keeping younger students out of traffic.

★ ★ ★

But frequently they are called upon for fast judgment and action. Such was the case when HOUSTON HILL and GREGORY L. CLINE, both of Commerce Township, spotted a car bearing down on a group of youngsters. Their quick movements avoided a bad accident that could have killed three of their fellow pupils.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy's Peace Efforts Serious, Commendable

President JOHN F. KENNEDY is making a very serious and a very commendable effort to further our relations with Russia. The PRESS is confident that he will never knuckle down or bow before the Reds, but he intends to hasten world peace if it's possible.

In commenting on this situation, the New York Times says:

"With Ambassador LLEWELLYN THOMPSON's return to Moscow, the stage has obviously been set for the beginning of serious diplomatic contacts between the KENNEDY Administration and Premier KHRUSHCHEV. Since the relations between the Soviet Union and our country are the fulcrum on which much of the current world situation depends, these initial contacts in Moscow will be extraordinarily important.

"The Kennedy Administration has made its over-all position clear. It wants to negotiate seriously with the Soviet Government on all issues. Washington these days is full of special committees, task forces and similar groups taking a new look at all the key issues in Soviet-American relations and seeking to formulate positions which can serve as the bases for new attempts to solve old problems. The Administration's hope is clearly that by bringing new vigor and new imagination to these matters progress can be made toward ending or easing sources of tension between the two most powerful nations on this planet.

★ ★ ★

"Whether or not these efforts will have the hoped-for result will depend upon the attitude Premier KHRUSHCHEV and his colleagues show in the diplomatic exchanges that Ambassador THOMPSON will begin. In this connection it is extremely important that the Soviet Government realize that this is an interrelated world in which actions and policies exhibited in one area cannot help but influence actions and policies in another area.

★ ★ ★

"The Kennedy Administration, for example, cannot be expected to take Soviet avowals of interest in disarmament seriously if every day's news brings additional reports of new Soviet deliveries of war material to Communist forces in Laos. The atmosphere created by violent attacks on DAG HAMMARSKJOLD is not conducive to aiding progress on efforts to expand Soviet-American trade or cultural exchange.

★ ★ ★

"We hope Premier Khrushchev will understand this and will introduce a consistent line in Soviet policy which will permit progress toward better relations. Otherwise he runs the risk that he may force the Kennedy Administration to turn the vigor and imagination it is now applying to the task of trying to improve relations toward a less happy purpose."

British Waste No Time Sentencing Spies

We generally regard the British as a leisurely people and a nation that takes its own sweet time on almost everything.

Hence, it's doubly refreshing to note the speed and dispatch with which they handle some of their important matters. Especially, it is interesting when we compare their record with our own.

★ ★ ★

Last week five defendants were given an eight-day trial on charges of spying for Russia in the United Kingdom. Then the case was turned over to the jury and 88 minutes later the defendants were all declared guilty. Whereupon His Honor pronounced sentences that ran up to 25 years. And just incidentally, when they toss you into England's Old Bailey for 25 years, that's where you remain for a quarter of a century.

★ ★ ★

In our country, too often justice seems to creep and crawl with a snail-like deliberation that confuses and confounds the average citizen. It's refreshing to observe the old, staid British system. We can't quote statistics, but British crime is a fraction of ours, and what's worse, ours is steadily mounting.

THE psychiatrists are undoubtedly correct in ascribing maladjustments to childhood. Those who never had any childhood have no maladjustments.

The Man About Town

Make Prediction

And Escape Danger of Losing Chance on $250

That prize of $250 in U.S. bonds hangs in the balance in our baseball contest. Do you want it? Or would you rather see it go to your neighbor?

What player, who has been at bat at least 25 times, will be leading the American League on the night of Thursday, May 11, and what will be his batting average?

It costs nothing to enter the contest; only one entry is allowed for each person, but every member of your family can compete. Each entry must be on a separate piece of paper.

Simply jot down your favorite player and estimate his average. Then sign your name and address, and send to The Pontiac Press.

All entries must be received in The Pontiac Press office by noon on Friday. April 7.

A letter is received from

E. Benoist

of Walled Lake, stating that he is driving a 1930 Model A Ford Roadster every day.

First entry in our baseball contest was received from

"Don't Look Back—Someone's Gaining"

David Lawrence Says:

Reds to Get Laos if West Tarries

WASHINGTON—Peace in Laos is far off—and so is war. Despite all the outward display of firm diplomacy by the West, the Soviet government will have its way in the end.

LAWRENCE

First there is to be a "cease fire," but it will come only after more conversations and propaganda interchanges. It will be hailed, of course, as a "victory" for the West.

Then there will ensue a three-nation conference to work out a truce. Next will come a 14-nation conference to set up a "neutral government" in Laos.

All this takes time—maybe months—but eventually the Communists will have obtained a substantial part of Laos, if not all of it.

That's the defeat which lies ahead because the West will not unite to take decisive action to stop Communist penetration in Asia, Latin America and Africa.

For the history of so-called "neutral" setups is that the Communists move in and take over from the inside.

They resort to bribery, intimidation and actual incitement to riots and demonstrations.

The outward profession of interest in "neutrality" has resulted in Communist victories in several instances in the past—first in Poland, then in Czechoslovakia, next in China, as "coalitions" were formed of Communists and Nationalists.

Then Indochina was carved up in 1954 by the same formula of a "cease fire" followed by a truce commission and the setting up of so-called independent states.

WHAT WAS GAINED?

What did President Kennedy gain, therefore, by the dramatic announcement at his press conference last week, by the dispatch of Secretary of State Rusk to Bangkok for the meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, and by the sudden conference with Prime Minister Macmillan?

There is no evidence that the Communists have been impressed by these moves.

Moscow knew all along that the United States was bargaining for a "cease fire," and that the threats of military intervention meant little.

Spokesmen for the British government notified the world that it was not getting ready to send British troops into Asia.

The United States, of course, had said that it would not act alone, but only in co-operation with its allies.

Russia has known all along that it could halt any military moves of the West by agreeing at any moment to a "cease fire."

With characteristic boldness when holding trump cards, the Kremlin decided first to get as many conditions as possible accepted before agreeing to a "cease fire" in the local fighting in Laos.

It's what comes after the truce that's really important. For the Communist plan is to take over from within after the "neutral" status of Laos is supposedly established.

While a big war seems unlikely just because of Laos, sooner or later a showdown will be forced between the Communists and the free world.

HAPPENED IN 1930s

The Soviets now have rendered the United Nations helpless in the Congo, as Moscow continues to send arms and supplies to so-called "neutral" states in Africa while refusing, of course, to pay any of the expenses of the United Nations for the whole Congo operation.

What is the answer to the whole problem?

The United States, Britain and France, despite talk of military intervention, reveal every day that they do not wish to take any such action because it might lead to a big war like the one in Korea.

So, as in the days of Hitler in the 1930s, the free world retreats step by step, hoping against hope that a dictator will be reasonable.

Smiles

The Country Parson

"A fellow who sees an evil in the world, like a man who sees his neighbor's house on fire, isn't much help if he doesn't say so."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Your Nerves Acting Up? Book Tells How to Relax

If one could only relax completely when tired, how fine that would be! Especially when one is all worn out and just a bundle of nerves.

DR. BRADY

In the physiological laboratory it has been shown that tense muscles mean active nerves, and that mental activity means not only that the brain is working but also that there is tension in particular muscles. Relaxation of these tense muscles is a means of quieting undesirable mental or emotional states.

★ ★ ★

In reference to shifting, restlessness, grimaces, tics and other manifestations, Dr. Edmund Jacobson, in his work on "Progressive Relaxation" explains that what the patient calls "the feeling of nervousness" consists of the varied sensations from the disorderly muscular tensions, voluntary and involuntary, that mark his responses to environment.

The work mentioned is too technical for laymen, but Dr. Jacobson's little book "Now You Can Relax" contains much that should help the "nervous" patient.

As this pioneer says: "The evidence is growing that the cultivation of general and differential relaxation is fundamental in meeting the fears, worries and anxieties that are commonly called nervousness.

In my experience the method is more effective toward persistent improvement in various conditions such as insomnia, the functional nervous disorders, 'nervous indigestion,' mucous colitis and high blood-pressure than attempting to talk the patient out of his disorders by various forms of mental therapy, including psychoanalysis."

In other words we have told patients to relax and forget it so much that the advice has become stereotyped and humorous.

Now, we must teach the patient how to relax, and it is an art as difficult to teach or to learn as is singing or painting.

Dr. Jacobson's larger work teaches doctors to teach general and differential relaxation, and the little book helps patients to learn it.

A more or less constant scowl or frown or a peculiar twist of the mouth or a barely noticeable tic (habit spasm) of one kind or another is a familiar illustration of abnormal muscle tension.

Look your friend over, or let your friend look you over for these stigmata of "nervousness," and try a little differential relaxation on them.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People:

'When Centennial Is Over, Off Comes the Beard'

I'm rather tickled to see the men sporting beards. We women dominate our menfolks enough without depriving them of this ancient expression of masculinity.

Although some of the dusters I've seen leave something to be desired — a new razor, perhaps, many of them are kind of cute.

I don't know if facial fuzz will ever become fashionable again, but I know when this centennial celebration is over, as far as my husband's beard is concerned, off it goes or else!

Suggests Township Start New Policy

Uncle Sam needs more tax money. The State of Michigan wants more money, and now West Bloomfield Township wants to add 2 more mills to our tax bill.

★ ★ ★

Last year the township spent $50,000 from our general fund to pay for the Farmington interceptor sewer. Fifty per cent of the people will never use or be able to hook up to the interceptor, and I can't see how or why I should pay for it. Maybe the township will help pay for my septic system that I have to maintain.

★ ★ ★

West Bloomfield Township might start a new policy in government agencies in trying to do like most taxpayers. When we run out of money we have to cut expenses and do without.

'No Change Needed in Constitution'

There is more serious reason for opposing any changing of the constitution. The real purpose behind it is to insert a mental health clause. Legislation has been passed in every state either by careless legislators or sympathizers to transport people out of their state under guise of mental illness and in addition take their money and property even before they have been declared mentally incompetent. Fearing that these laws may be declared unconstitutional they are using all their energies to have state constitutions changed.

A Prayer for Safe Return of Sailors

As I write my daily letter to our special sailor, I'm reminded of a prayer card that was given him during his boot camp training, and which he carries.

I have no idea how many boys from this area are aboard that carrier and those two destroyers in the trouble waters in the Pacific, but one on the Midway appreciates that there are those far away who pray for his safety.

The prayer is:

O God, who brought our fathers through the Red Sea and carried them safely through the deep as they sang the praises of Thy Name, we humbly beseech Thee to guard Thy servants aboard ship, and, having repelled all adversities, bring them to the desired Port after a calm voyage. Through our Lord, Jesus Christ, Thy Son, Who livest and reignest with Thee in the cavity of the Holy Ghost, world without end. Amen.

'Parents Must Have Interest in Children'

There must be a fire to provide the smoke hereabouts. By "smoke" I refer to the great number of rumors concerned with vandalism, liquor sold to minors, parents who apparently have no interest in the moral welfare of their children, gang fights, gang rule and immoral behavior on the part of youngsters.

★ ★ ★

Hours are spent weekly here in discussing these things, but as yet no course of action appears to have developed.

★ ★ ★

Edmund Burke, way back in the 1700s first said, "If we want evil to dominate we need only have enough good people doing nothing." It still applies—so wake up, parents.

Rochester Resident

Has Much to Say About Kennedy

So President Kennedy is a "one man show." What little confidence I gained after the election, I'm fast losing. I wouldn't be surprised to see him a dictator. When his cabinet members are not free and do not feel free to speak on their own, I call it dictatorship. I've never heard a peep out of Johnson.

★ ★ ★

How could President Kennedy ask Soapy to take such an important post, when he was such a dud as Governor? See the financial mess. That may be politics, but you've got to have respect for a man, too, and wonder of wonders, we voted Dem again!

★ ★ ★

Would it be possible to give taxpayers a report of what the tax income is and where it goes? Something is rotten in Denmark.

The best thing The Pontiac Press can do is to educate all taxpayers to try and make of us quickened citizens, and I think you're trying.

Deliverance Through Knowledge

Tax Tips . . .

QUESTION:

Is it true that expenses for education are deductible under certain conditions?

ANSWER:

Yes, if the primary purpose is to maintain or improve skills required in your trade, business or profession, or to meet the express requirements of your employer, then the expenses are deductible.

These expenses are not deductible if the primary purpose for which they are incurred is to obtain a new position, or a substantial advancement in your present position, or to fulfill your general educational aspirations.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Clinging Mother Rules Daughter

By GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE H—444: Arelle S., aged 56, is a widow, living in the old homestead with her daughter Opal, aged 34.

"Dr. Crane, I have worked in a dentist's office for 15 years," Opal began our interview,, "and have always earned a good salary.

"My mother and I have a joint checking account. I have given her everything she desires, and we have gone everywhere together.

DR. CRANE

"Several years ago I had a nervous breakdown, but now am in excellent health. At that time, I gave up my work with the Girl Scouts, for my mother thought I was doing too much, though my doctor said it was good for me.

"Now I have been asked to go back into work with the girls, and I feel it is my duty to accept. But Mother is angry.

"She says it keeps me away from home two nights per week. When I wanted to hold a committee meeting at our home, she refused.

"Now she keps telling me she wishes she hadn't lived these past few years, for she has to sit alone. Someday, she says, she will not have to sit alone, etc.

FEMALE BULLY

"I have tried to get her interested in women of her age, but she wants to cling to me. She is able bodied but has always been very jealous.

"I remember she made life miserable for my father at times because she distrusted him.

"She never liked to have me go out with any man more than a few times. Then she would begin to pick faults in him and start urging me to go with some other boy. I did, and as a result I never dated anybody long enough to fall in love.

"I have recently tried to get Mother interested in a Sunday school class of women of her own age, but she refuses. She demands that we attend the Sunday school class together.

"Dr. Crane, I feel terrible to talk about my mother like this, but don't know what to do.

"She keeps me so upset with her threats and breaks down my morale by telling me I'll lose my health and have another nervous breakdown if I go back to work with the Girl Scouts."

SPOILED PARENTS

In colleges we offer courses in Child Psychology. They are often patronized by adult men and women who are parents or teachers.

It would also be well if we offered courses in Parent Psychology to be patronized by children.

For parents often get out of hand. They actually need a good paddling or a session in the woodshed on the receiving end of a hickory switch.

Parents are often guilty of coddling a child and dominating his life to a point where he never marries and never asserts himself as he should. Arelle has done this with Opal.

But children can also coddle their parents too much, and make them so dependent that those spoiled parents refuse to go out by themselves or form proper social connections with people of their own age.

Opal should have asserted her independence 15 years ago and married. In fact, her father should have cracked down on Arelle long before he died. But he meekly submitted to being henpecked.

However, it isn't too late yet. Opal should be reasonably dutiful to her mother, but never a slave to the old lady's pettiness and childish attempts to be a dictator.

Opal should make it possible for her mother to mingle with other ladies of her age, but then she should go on about her own social life.

Man in Space

Human Element Still Needed in Exploration

By JOSEPH MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Space scientists have contrived an amazing variety of gifted instruments and machines — devices that can observe, remember, and report everything from the shape of cloud patterns over Australia to the number of electrons in a cubic centimeter of interplanetary space.

★ ★ ★

They even have devised tiny robots which will be able to sample the soil of Mars and determine whether it contains living organisms. The space engineers have been able to package these devices into fantastically small spaces. Complete radios smaller than a lump of sugar are commonplace.

In view of this, people often ask, why all the urgency to put men into space? Why not let the instruments do it all? If a tiny seismometer can glean information about the structure of the moon, why send a man there?

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) spend a lot of their time answering such questions. No machine, however brainy, can do more than it is told or set to do, they point out.

As NASA's chief of manned space flight programs, George M. Low, has said:

"Only man can cope with the unexpected, and the unexpected, of course, is the most interesting."

SURPRISES IN STORE

Scientists in their laboratories can devise instruments to look only for what they think the instruments might encounter. But a man could handle surprises. And there would be no reason for exploring space if the explorers did not believe it will contain some surprises.

"It is not easy to conceive," said Low, "that instruments could be devised that can effectively and reliably duplicate man's role as an explorer, a geologist, a surveyor, a photographer, a chemist, a biologist, or a host of other specialists. In all of these areas man's judgment, his ability to observe and to reason, and his decision-making capabilities are required."

Dr. Harold C. Urey, the Nobel laureat, hopes the first man on the moon will be a geologist. A single glance at his surroundings would tell such a man more in an instant than machines could discover in weeks.

Even in Project Mercury, which has been sarcastically described in some quarters as a $400-million program to give an astronaut a free ride around the earth, the role of man is a vital one, NASA says.

★ ★ ★

The astronaut can monitor all the automatic equipment. If it doesn't work, he can operate hand-controlled equipment. He also can see in color, smell odors and feel.

When Ham the chimpanzee got back from his short rocket hop from Cape Canaveral, Fla., his doctors said he was in fine physical condition.

But what was Ham's psychological reaction to his ordeal? Was he, in short, happy? The chimp's personal physician scowled.

"How can I tell how a chimp feels!" he retorted.

In continuous two-way radio communication, the astronaut will be able to report whether his stomach hurts, whether he's scared or whether weightlessness is driving him crazy.

About 1,500 miles of Alabama's rivers are navigable, more than in any other southern state.

Baudouin Faces Political Crisis

Belgian King Must Find New Premier to Follow Gaston Eyskens

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — King Baudouin today faced the difficult task of finding a Belgium political leader to succeed Gaston Eyskens as premier and form a new government.

Belgium's latest political crisis developed Monday when Eyskens resigned after his Social Christian (Catholic) party was administered a stinging rebuff in Sunday's general parliamentary elections. It lost 8 seats in the lower house and 6 in the senate, although remaining the dominant party.

Informed political experts agreed that the crisis might develop into one of the toughest and most prolonged in recent years.

Such a government would open the way for a return to political power by Paul-Henri Spaak, who resigned as secretary general of NATO, to lead the Socialists bid in the elections.

Marriage Is No 50-50 Deal Unless You Try to Make It So

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am married to the most selfish man in the world. When he comes off his job I don't dare ask him to help me around the house because he tells me he worked 8 hours today. I work 14 hours a day, caring for four kids (under 12) and an 8-room house.

ABBY

If he feels like going to a tavern, he just walks out. Don't tell me to go with him because I can't leave four kids alone. I am 33 and feel like 90.

My husband says I need a doctor. I think a lawyer is what I need. Who said marriage was a 50-50 proposition?

"FEELS LIKE 90"

DEAR FEELS: Marriage isn't — and never was a 50-50 proposition. If a wife knows how to handle her husband it can be 90-10, in her favor. Try to remember what you saw in him before you married him.

Leave the brood with a relative, or a sitter, occasionally, and show him a good time. If you feel "like 90," maybe you do need a doctor. Get out of that domestic rut before it becomes a grave.

DEAR ABBY: Every year around Easter time, when I see those cute little dyed baby chicks displayed for sale in pet shop windows, I feel sick — for I have an idea of what fate awaits those helpless little creatures. They will be taken home for some innocent little child to maul, squeeze and abuse.

A baby chick is a living thing. Let parents take home plastic or stuffed toys for children who are too young to care for living pets. Please, Abby, print this in the name of decency.

"VOICE of THE VOICELESS"

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago we married off our oldest daughter. We spent $3,600 on a church wedding. Everyone said it was out of this world. Our problem: Our younger daughter got a diamond for Christmas and plans to be married in June.

Things have been very rough for Dad these past few years and we can't spend as much on this daughter's wedding as we did on her sister's. We can give her a nice church wedding, but we'll have to keep the cost down.

The younger daughter is now accusing us of playing favorites and says she will never forgive us if we don't give her the same kind of wedding we gave her sister. Dad wants to borrow the money. I say no. I'd like your opinion. We want to do the right thing.

MOTHER IN TEARS

DEAR MOTHER: I say NO, too! It's more important to plan a wedding within your means than out of this world. And it need not be expensive to be lovely. And, by the way, the bride-to-be could use some instruction in relative values.

Luncheon Benefit Set for Monday

Final plans are being made for one of Waterford Township's largest spring luncheon-card parties by members of Our Lady of the Lake's Rosary Altar Society, according to general chairman, Mrs. Glen Blust. The public is invited.

More than 300 people are expected to attend the noonday luncheon Monday to be held in the new high school gymnasium located on the Dixie Highway church property.

Although the party will be a post-Easter affair, the theme of the decorations and individual table prizes will be that of Easter. A brightly colored Easter egg tree will greet guests in the lobby of the high school.

Spring flowers will predominate, and with the anticipated hundreds of flower-trimmed bonnets bobbing at card tables, the big gym will take on an air of a colorful garden.

All of the proceeds from the party will be donated to the building fund to help finish the upper level of the new high school.

Make It Clear Game, Not Child, Is Boring

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

For his birthday, somebody sent Joe an antiaircraft gun. An expensive toy, it was so intricate that his father had to show him how to assemble it, how to operate it and its target planes.

Every night as soon as dinner is over, Joe hauls out his gun, loads it and calls, "Coming, Daddy? I'm gonna shoot down more planes tonight than you do."

If his father really listened to this eager invitation, he would detect a certain strain in it.

Several days ago Joe had already begun to sense his parent's boredom with his gun game. But because his father did not express this disinterest in clear words, he came to the conclusion that it was due to boredom with him.

Now this idea drives Joe to keep inviting his father to join him in the game, not because playing it with him is important but because he can't stand the thought that he bores his father. The overeagerness that has come into his invitations is the strain of his obligation to prove himself an interesting little boy to his father.

When playing games with children begins to bore us, we do them no favor to continue to play them.

If we do continue to play them, despite our disinterest, the children always know how we feel. Because we fear to say "I'm tired of these Chinese checkers now" they get the idea that what really tires us is them. That's when they begin to persecute us with insistence that we play the game.

Feeling our resistance, they pester us, not out of passion for the game but out of the unhappy suspicion that we find them uninteresting. Their demands for more Chinese checkers are demands for reassurance of our interest in them.

We avoid this confusion by telling them the truth about our wish to withdraw from games we no longer enjoy playing with them.

Telling this truth is good exercise for us. Begrudged giving to children is a bad habit to fall into whether it involves our companionship, ice cream cones or $10 bills.

Our refusal to respect our own resisting feelings gradually develops blindness to the children's feelings. So we cannot see the protest and anxieties our begrudged giving has aroused in them.

We may become one of those disappointed parents who asks himself, "Why, in spite of all I have given, do I receive so little appreciation?"

COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Showing off is second nature to a toddler, but actually a bit of ham-acting isn't entirely bad. It often helps develop self-confidence and social poise. However, when it goes beyond the limits of self-expression and high spirits, it's a good idea to distract your little entertainer with some quiet play.

Little appetites are always better off when you set a toddler's table with Gerber Junior Foods. Why? Because the flavors are luscious, the colors sing and the texture is properly minced for tots with teeth. Like Gerber Strained Foods, they're specially processed to preserve true flavors and the utmost in nutritive values.

•

Little appetites tend to taper off at about the end of the first year, because baby's rate of growth slows down considerably. Naturally he doesn't need the amount of food he needed during the first year. Good way to keep your toddler's appetite bright — serve something new in the way of a taste surprise.

•

New flavor surprise for the light of your eyes: Gerber Junior Spaghetti with Beef. Tender, enriched spaghetti teams up with bits of juicy beef and savory tomato sauce. So "grown-up" good you won't have a bit of trouble tempting your tyke.

•

Cheer-up Dept. Does baby have a fussy spell about the same time every day? If so, it often helps to shift bathtime to this cranky time. Water is a wonderful relaxer as well as a distraction.

•

New, for you! Now, most Gerber Baby Foods come in wide-top jars with Quick-Twist* caps and "Shop-Easy" labels. The caps twist off or on with a quick quarter turn. The new labels speed shopping time, make selection a cinch because the variety name is at the top. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Mich. *T.M., ©PC

Frost Cookie Squares While They're Still Hot

Diana Lee Craig Weds at First Presbyterian

The Rev. Galen E. Hershey officiated at the marriage of Diana Lee Craig of Waterford Township to James E. Marquardt of St. Joseph, Saturday evening in the First Presbyterian Church.

MRS. JAMES E. MARQUARDT

Leaving for a brief honeymoon, the bride wore a light green jersey coat the color of her shoes over her wedding dress. The couple will be at home in East Lansing for the duration of their senior year at Michigan State University.

Deep orchid wool with lighter orchid flower hat was Mrs. Craig's selection for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was a lavender orchid. The mother of the bridegroom appeared in an aqua silk print with aqua hat and accessories. Her corsage was white cymbidium orchids.

Hostesses at prenuptial showers were Mrs. Fred Eichner, Waterford Township; Mrs. Richard Marquardt, St. Joseph, and classmates of the bride at MSU.

More Tips for That April 17 Date

We Love Exemptions When Tax Time Cometh

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Many people give Uncle Sam more income tax money than he's entitled to simply because they use the wrong form. There are three of them and each serves a specific purpose. This, the second of five articles, gives you some helpful tips on which form to choose.)

By FRANK CORMIER
AP Staff Writer

Pity the poor taxpayer who has to file a separate income tax return, all by his lonesome.

The law provides for three special classes of tax returns, any one of which offers money-saving opportunities beyond the reach of the person who files a separate return.

The most familiar of these special classes is the joint return. In addition, there is the "head of household" return and the special return for certain recent widows and widowers who are parents.

Separate and joint returns can be filed on any of the three tax forms — 1040, 1040A and 1040W. The other two classes can only be filed on forms 1040 and 1040W.

* * *

The biggest money saver is the joint return. It may be filed by any couple married and not legally separated as of last Dec. 31. This is true even if the wife had no income.

* * *

If your husband or wife died during 1960, you still may file a joint return and claim an exemption for your deceased spouse.

A FEW EXCEPTIONS

Except in a very few cases, husbnad and wife will reduce their tax bill by filing jointly. If in doubt, try both methods and use the one which costs you less.

* * *

Separate returns are ior single taxpayers or those couples who prefer to file individually. Married taxpayers must file separate returns if husband and wife use different tax years.

The wife might pay taxes on a calendar year basis, for instance, and the husband on a fiscal year.

A couple also must file separately if either was a nonresident alien at any time during 1960. In such cases, however, either the husband or wife may be able to file a head of household return.

* * *

Incidentally, couples filing separately must agree either to itemize deductions or claim the standard deduction. Both must use the same method.

In states having community property laws, a couple filing separately must each report one-half of their combined community income and divide any deductions paid out of community funds. Otherwise, each must report any income not classed as community income.

IF SPOUSE DIES

The surviving parent class of return may be used if your husband or wife died during 1958 or 1959 and you meet these requirements:

1. You were entitled to file jointly with your deceased spouse at the time of death and have not remarried.

2. Since then, you have furnished more than half the maintenance of your home which is the principal living place of your child or stepchild for whom you're entitled to claim a dependency exemption.

If you have no dependent child, you cannot file this class of return. For those who qualify, however, the tax is figured by using the same schedule as for a joint return. And, incidentally, you cannot claim an exemption for your late husband or wife who died in 1958 or 1959.

The third special class is for single, widowed, divorced or legally separated persons who maintain a household. It also is the return to use if you were married to a nonresident alien during 1960.

These are the requirements:

1. You must furnish more than half the cost of maintaining a home which is the principal residence of both you and your unmarried child, stepchild or grandchild, even though not a dependent of yours, or any other relative whom you can claim as a dependent.

* * *

2. Or you must pay more than half the cost of maintaining a household for your father or mother, if either qualifies as your dependent.

* * *

Next: Your exemptions.

Prevent Ouster of Area Attorney

By LEE WINBORN
Area News Editor

ROCHESTER—A bid to replace Rochester Village attorney Roscoe R. Martin with "fresh, new blood" was stymied—at least temporarily—last night.

★ ★ ★

A political bloc of five councilmen, apparently in a predetermined move to elect local attorney Arthur R. Cox, drew fire from the other two councilmen as well as members of the audience.

After the election of Jay Eldred to the village presidency and retention of Maxine York as clerk, the replacement of Martin was proposed by Councilman John Boeberitz.

In his prepared motion Boeberitz cited the esteem in which Martin has been held by the council and the "people" during his 14 years as village attorney but asked "revitalization" and limiting of his term.

He nominated Cox.

In rebuttal, Councilman Roy Rewold, who also appeared to have anticipated the turn of events, listed reasons for retaining Martin, primarily on the basis of his experience and value as a "recognized authority on municipal law in Michigan."

During the hour of debate that followed, several questions were raised. Among them was the one by new Councilman John Lowes on the law or ethics involved in having one law firm, i.e., Potere, Bebout and Cox, represent both the township and the village.

L. Rex Bebout is the Avon Township attorney.

No answer was given.

SPECTATORS SHOCKED

Spectators reacted to the proposed replacement both with surprise and shock. As the discussion became more and more heated, they asked for reasons why Martin is no longer considered "competent"—and even suggested impeachment of the councilmen who would not stand up and be counted.

★ ★ ★

A motion to table the election for a year lost by a 5-2 vote.

Another period of debate followed in which former Councilman Clarence M. Burr said he found attorneys for municipalities were retained as long as their service was satisfactory.

Local attorney Harry S. Huber said the council has an "investment in Martin"—that members would be "throwing away a wealth of experience" by letting him go.

The climax was reached when spectator Herman C. Klix of 621 W. University Dr., said Cox, a friend of his, was not a property owner in the village. Therefore Cox fails to qualify, according to the charter, for consideration as village attorney.

Boeberitz said that Martin had "done a good job," that he had no charges to bring and also that he was unaware that Cox did not own property in the village.

A motion to table the attorney election until the next council meeting April 10 then was approved by a 5-2 vote.

★ ★ ★

Before the hassle, Sydney Q. Ennis was nominated for a second successive term as village president along with Eldred.

★ ★ ★

Ennis declined the nomination by reading a prepared statement asking that the "honor be passed on to someone else" in view of the fact that he had already held the post three times.

He seconded Eldred's nomination. The vote for Eldred was unanimous.

Plan for Zoning Nearer Reality

Rochester Council OKs Probe on Availability of Federal Aid

ROCHESTER — Formation of a master zoning plan to include the entire Avon Township-Rochester area moved a step closer to reality last night following action by the Village Council.

★ ★ ★

Council approved a motion which authorized Geer Associates Planning Consultants, Inc., of Bloomfield Hills to investigate the availability of federal aid in setting up an areawide master plan.

The study by Geer Associates will cost $550. The Village Council approved paying $275 for the study at last night's meeting.

The Avon Township Board already has agreed to pay the planning consultants the rest of their fee.

EYE FEDERAL FINANCING

Officials of Geer Associates say that as much as 50 per cent of the cost of setting up a master plan could be financed by the federal government.

However, the planning firm said the deadline for applying for matching funds of this type is April 15.

It was suggested earlier that Oakland and Pontiac townships also be included in the master plan.

But neither municipality has given official approval to the planning project.

As the matter stands, a nine-man steering committee of Avon Township and Rochester residents will work to set up a joint planning commission while Geer Associates studies availability of matching funds.

Village Councilman Roy Rewold, chairman of the steering committee set up last November by the Rochester Area Chamber of Commerce, said his group will meet this week to submit names of residents qualified for the proposed planning commission.

The new unit would either replace or enlarge the present Avon-Pontiac Townships Regional Planning Commission which has been planning orderly development of the 22 square miles around Michigan State University Oakland.

Scout-O-Rama Talent Show Auditions Set

Auditions for the Scout-O-Rama talent show to be presented May 27-28 at the Walled Lake High School will be held 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Farmington High School.

★ ★ ★

Members of every organized unit, cub pack, scout troop and explorer post are eligible to participate in the show, according to Otis Walton, director of the amateur stage extravaganza.

The Scout-O-Rama, which will be sponsored by the Ottawa District of the Clinton Valley Council, is a continual public demonstration and display of scouting in action, scout activities and cub scout skills.

The talent show is held in conjunction with the Scout-O-Rama, which is expected to have more than 2,000 scouts and cubs participating.

★ ★ ★

The event is expected to attract more than 25,000 visitors from Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties.

Armada School Tax Up to Voters Again

ARMADA — Voters in the Armada School District are going to the polls today for the third time in four months to decide on a request for operational millage.

★ ★ ★

The Armada Board of Education is asking approval of a three-mill operational tax which would be levied for two years. It would replace three mills which expired last fall.

The two earlier operational millage requests were defeated by wide margins.

School district voters rejected a four-mill operational proposal by nearly a 3 to 1 margin in a March 6 special election.

A record turnout of voters turned down a six-mill operational proposition on Dec. 5, 859 to 150.

Funds for maintaining schools in the district may not be available next year if today's proposal is not approved. The three mills levied last year were for operation of schools until June.

Adding to Hospital

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — Ground was broken Monday for a 44-bed addition to the Cheboygan Community Memorial Hospital. The federal aid hospital is slated for completion in one year.

Madison Heights Also Agrees

Troy Joins Drain Plan After Cost Compromise

TROY — This city last night joined the ranks of municipalities which favor entering the revised 12-Town Drain agreement proposed by Oakland County Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry March 7.

At a special meeting of the 14 communities involved in the drain project, Barry suggested a compromise which would cut both the cost and the area to be served by the 12-Town in Madison Heights by about 50 per cent.

Madison Heights, which already has delayed the construction of the huge drain with suits in Circuit Court and the State Supreme Court, threatened to hold up the 12-Town again by taking its case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Following Barry's proposal, Madison Heights councilmen agreed to the compromise and gave the 13 other municipalities 60 days to approve it.

The settlement would take over 500 acres in Madison Heights out of the 12-Town and it also would reduce that city's assessment for the project from $2.5-million to $1.1-million.

However, reducing of Madison Heights' share of the drain would mean an increase for the other communities. The additional cost for Troy would be approximately $33,000.

Other cities which have given conditional approval on the settlement include Birmingham, Oak Park and Ferndale.

The Royal Oak Commission, which is acting with caution on the settlement, referred the matter for study to City Manager Edward Shafter and City Attorney Allen G. Herter.

The Royal Oak Commission took no action on the proposal at its meeting last night. Herter said today that he and Shafter still have come to no conclusion about the settlement.

Wings Seek Big 3rd Win at Olympia Tonight

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Most obvious question we've heard the past week — What about the Tigers?

The Tigers aren't going to win any pennants. They won't finish 2 or 3 either, but they won't finish last. It will be an interesting ball club, one we will enjoy watching, because there are a lot of youngsters on the team.

They will make a lot of mistakes but the spirit on the team is better than we've seen in five years. Players like Jake Wood, Norm Cash, Steve Boros, Larry Osborne, Bob Bruce, Bubba Morton and some of the young veterans like Al Kaline, Rocky Colavito, Chico Fernandez aren't putting a barrier between them and the younger boys.

Youthful manager Bob Scheffing is going to be second-guessed on a lot of things, but we believe these Tigers are not going to lay down and die. As they go down they're going to make it miserable for some teams and it'll be worth watching.

BOO ON THE MIAMI BEACH POLICE

The most talked about thing in regard to the recent heavyweight fight in the Southland was the gestapo in Miami Beach.

Writers covering training camps and the fight were aghast over the police tactics in Miami Beach. Even the display of all proper credentials was of no use. A Swedish writer, who covered Johansson all through his fight career and who came thousands of miles to report on his country's favorite son, was humiliated and pushed around like an autograph seeker. "Is this the gestapo," he asked American writers.

What answer could they give him at that particular time?

Thank goodness those police don't reflect the typical law enforcement agencies of this country.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

The biggest "goof" by an official of the past prep basketball season was Flint Central's two point loss to Muskegon Heights in the quarter finals. How can a free throw be nullified after the final whistle because of of a teammate's interference? Only the shooter is in the play and no other players should have been permitted down the foul lane.

★ ★ ★

We wish a fast recovery for Tony Mitchell, former state water ski champion, who is recuperating at home after recent surgery.

★ ★ ★

Duren Receives Silent Sympathy From Players

NEW YORK (UPI)—There must be a great deal of silent sympathy in the various major league training camps today for Yankee pitcher Ryne Duren.

The bespectacled one has a reputation as a wild man on the mound — and of not being exactly a Casper Milquetoast off of it. So the news leaked out that he had been fined $250 for ignoring the Yankees' midnight curfew.

The general reaction would be that he shouldn't have permitted himself to be apprehended.

For ball players during the training period are notoriously imbued with the various fancies of spring. Rare indeed, if not completely impossible to find, is the camp where all of the muscular young gentlemen are obediently in bed with their comic books by the appointed hour.

To most of the rookies it is a golden hour not to be punctuated by the swiftly moving hands of the clock. To the older ones, there are many old friends to be revisited and more new ones to be made. The workaday tribulations ordinarily aren't too demanding and the evenings are warm, enticing and refreshing.

The managers, of course, are cognizant of the attractions and usually lean over backward so as to more easily look the other way when their heroes arrive home a bit on the late side. It is only when the delinquents start assisting the local milkmen in disturbing the sleeping population that harsh measures are in order.

One of the greatest dangers of the Sweet Adeline routine is that it will infect the entire ball club and, when primroses are planted en masse, production comes to a standstill. Such was the case with the Athletics a number of years ago when they were training in the New Orleans bright light belt.

It became so alarming that the late Connie Mack hired detectives to check his warbling warriors in through the front portals of the hotel each evening. Mack was perplexed when even this didn't seem to give his men a bright, refreshed look in the mornings.

The reason was that the A's were "retiring" to their rooms — and then going on the town via a rear fire escape. They returned at long last by the same route, while the private eyes guarded the front doors. Oh, yes, the A's finished eighth that year and it wasn't an era in which they should have.

Not long ago the Milwaukee Braves, after blowing the National League pennant, were accused by outsiders of having burned too much midnight oil or, possibly, of having drunk same. The Braves, heatedly denying the allegiations, countered that the others should mind their own business.

★ ★ ★

Which is why you won't hear too much about the Duren episode. Ball players usually are mum on such incidents. Too many of them realize they might have been the one who was caught.

Narleski, Lary Get Blasted by Reds

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Veteran Detroit Tiger relief pitcher Ray Narleski took the mound in the eighth inning yesterday to hold on to a 9-8 lead over the Cincinnati Reds. He left with an 11-9 deficit, which Detroit couldn't make up.

★ ★ ★

Tiger manager Bob Scheffing refused to be pinned down on Narleski's future before the game and helped—no further afterwards.

Although Narleski was charged with the loss, Frank Lary had been bombarded with 10 hits and eight runs before leaving in the fifth inning.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers also exploded base hits all over the lot, clipping Jay Hook, Bill Henry, Dave Stenhouse and Johnny Briggs for 12 blows. The Reds had 14 hits in all.

★ ★ ★

Norm Cash and Dick Brown homered for the Detroiters while Al Kaline had three hits—a single, a double and a triple—to bring his Grapefruit League average up to .522. Billy Bruton managed three singles and a walk in four times up.

Back in Lakeland, the Tiger "B" squad won a 6-5 victory over the new Washington Senators when Dick Sisler walked one too many Tigers in the 10th inning.

Sisler walked two batters intentionally after Dick Gernert singled with one out. He then moved everybody around by missing the strike zone around pitcher Gordon Seyfried unintentionally.

★ ★ ★

Detroit had tied the score in the ninth on singles by Andy Kosco, Harry Chiti and Chuck Cottier after a three run-homer by Dutch Dotterer had brought the Senators up in their half of the same inning.

Lakers Gain Lead on Hawks

Win 121-112 to Take 3-2 Series Edge; Vow Not to Blow It

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The fiery Los Angeles Lakers—thanks to uncany Elgin Baylor—have the St. Louis Hawks down 3-2 in the Western Division finals for the second straight year, but they vow "we won't let 'em up this time."

★ ★ ★

The Lakers—to a man—remembered they lost the National Basketball Association series after taking a 3-2 lead by winning the fifth game at St. Louis 120-113 last season. And they made it clear they were determined to take it all this time, after winning the fifth game Monday night 121-112.

★ ★ ★

"We're going to win it in six this time," said Baylor, whose 47 points and great all-around game killed the Hawks.

★ ★ ★

Ray Felix, the Lakers 6-foot-11 pivot, pointed at the still-nervous, sweating Baylor and said:

"Look at him—he's ready to play the sixth game right now."

Baylor admitted, "I'm too excited to be tired."

Trailing Canadiens Lose Geoffrion

CHICAGO (AP) — Montreal's battered Canadiens are in trouble and they know it.

Not only do the perennial hockey champions find themselves trailing the Chicago Black Hawks 2-1 in their best-of-seven semifinal Stanley Cup playoffs, but if they are to even things in Chicago Stadium tonight, they'll have to do it without the help of their leading scorer.

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, who tied Maurice Richard's league record of 50 goals this season, will miss tonight's game because of a wrenched knee. Also a doubtful starter is Ralph Backstrom who has a swollen ankle.

★ ★ ★

And to add to the Canadiens' woes, their coach, Toe Blake was slapped with a $2,000 fine—one of the stiffest in National Hockey League history—for taking a punch at Referee Dalton McArthur following the Canadiens' 2-1 loss to Chicago Sunday in the third overtime of one of the greatest hockey games ever played.

The fine was assessed by League President Clarence Campbell who happened to be at the game when Blake walked up to McArthur and struck the blow which glanced off McArthur's shoulder.

Campbell conferred with McArthur and other game officials and Monday night announced he was fining Blake $2,000.

The only reason Blake was not suspended, said Campbell, was "there was nothing vicious about the attack and no injury was sustained.

"Likewise Coach Blake's record as a player and as a coach in over 20 seasons in the NHL contains no hint of any similar conduct previously and, in fact, he has been the winner of the league's award for outstanding skill and gentlemanly conduct."

Blake, who said his attack upon McArthur resulted from a lot of things which had been building up through the season, walked across the ice and swung at McArthur shortly after Murray Balfour scored the winning goal. The goal was scored while the Canadiens were one man short on the ice as a result of a tripping penalty called by McArthur against Dickie Moore.

Blake, who it was believed expected a $500 fine, called the actual penalty "stiff but I'm not going to appeal it."

Meanwhile Montreal's chances of a sixth straight Stanley Cup victory appear slim. In fact, many observers feel Montreal will not be able to get to the finals specially if the Canadiens lost to the Black Hawks tonight.

★ ★ ★

And the Black Hawks? Well, they like the idea of having two-down and two-to-go.

"Two wins doesn't give anyone a series, said Hawk Coach Rudy Pilous, "but it's certainly nice to be ahead at this stage of the game."

Wells Named City's MVP

Minister Wins Cage Award

To the members of his congregation, he's Rev. Roosevelt Wells, minister of the Church of Christ on Hughes St. in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

To his teamates and other players in the City Basketball League, he's just plain "Roosey."

At any rate, Rev. Roosevelt (Roosey) Wells has been named winner of the City Basketball League's Most Valuable Player award for the 1960-61 season.

A former college basketball star in Texas and Oklahoma, the 28-year-old Wells has won the MVP award in his first year of City League competition.

He was a landslide choice for the MVP honor, which is awarded annually by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department. The Pontiac Press will reward him with a trophy for his achievement.

★ ★ ★

Wells was the key figure in Van Dikes' conquest of the Class A City League championship this year. He was the team's leading scorer and rebounder.

★ ★ ★

Van Dikes finished last in the Class A loop during the regular season race with a 3-9 record, but came on strong under Wells' leadership in the post-season playoffs to win the city title in five games.

As in the past, the award is based on general basketball ability, team leadership, cooperation with officials and sportsmanship.

ROOSEVELT WELLS

Wells, a lanky jumping jack who stands 6-foot-5, came to Pontiac about three years ago.

★ ★ ★

He played forward in his college days, averaging 25 points per game for two years at Oklahoma State Tech and averaging 20 a contest for another two seasons at Southwestern Christian College in Terrell, Texas.

East-West Stars Play

Shrine Hoop Duel Tonight

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Some of the finest seniors in college basketball will play tonight in the 10th shrine East-West game.

The West squad, coached by Sharm Scheuerman of Iowa, has three men who are 6-7 or taller, while Coach Eddie Donovan of St. Bonaventure has only one man of that height on the east squad.

"Since we are smaller, we'll have to be faster," Donovan said. The East will have only nine men. John Egan of Providence was injuerd in the NIT championship game last Saturday and couldn't make the trip.

Scheuerman plans to start Gary Phillips of Houston, Tom Meschery of St. Mary's (Calif), Walt Bellamy of Indiana, Bill Bridges of Kansas and Ced Price of Kansas State.

As East starters, Donovan named Tom Stith of St. Bonaventure, Bob Wiesenhahn of Cincinnati, Doug Moe of North Carolina, Larry Siegfried of Ohio State and either York Larense of North Carolina or Tony Jackson of St. John's.

Toronto Coach Denies Letdown by 2nd Placers

Kelly Is Still Doubtful Performer; Detroit Is in Top Condition

The Maple Leafs, who entered the Stanley Cup semifinals as solid 4-1 favorites over the Detroit Red Wings, trail in the series two games to one and a third loss in tonight's game here would carry them to the brink of elimination.

Observers are now speculating whether or not Toronto's tense stretch battle in the National Hockey League's regular season chase has psychologically hurt the club.

The Maple Leafs and Montreal carried their two-team fight for the NHL title down to the final game of the season when the Canadiens clinched their fourth straight championship.

But Imlach, who did not seem particularly disheartened yesterday as he guided the Leafs through a hard-skating practice drill, wants no part of the alibi.

"That remains to be seen," said scrappy Toronto coach. "We may be behind, but I'd hardly say we're washed up. We've bounced back many times before and we can do it again."

Imlach received more bad news yesterday. Red Kelly, who was expected to return to the Leafs' lineup tonight after being sidelined for three weeks with a groin injury, may not be ready.

Kelly dressed for the practice session and skated around for some 20 minutes, but then retired to the locker room for more treatment.

"He hasn't responded to treatment the way we hoped he would," said Imlach. "I can't say whether he'll be ready or not. But I know we need him."

Kelly, traded from Detroit to the Leafs a year ago was the club leader in assists this season and has been hailed as the man who, more than anyone else, helped young Frank Mahovlich reach full stature as one of the NHL's top goal-getters.

Meanwhile, the Red Wings spent a quiet day at their Toledo, Ohio, hotel where they perennially set up camp for home playoff games. games.

Coach Sid Abel said the club is in fine shape physically and that Vic Stasiuk's knee injury, which hampered his performance in the first two games, is much improved.

Abel had nothing but praise for goalie Terry Sawchuk whose shutout Sunday night helped the Wings gain a 2-0 victory in the crucial third game of the series.

He also pointed out that the defense, which was ineffective in many late-season games, "Has really tightened up. If we can just get the goals, we'll be all right."

★ ★ ★

Abel said he thought Detroit's final game of the regular campaign with Montreal, which the Canadiens won 2-0 to cinch the NHL title, was "a great break for us."

Junior Wings Ousted From Puck Playoffs

DETROIT (UPI) — The St. Mary's Lincoln's of St. Mary's, Ont., downed the Detroit Junior Wings, 8-2, last night to win the Ontario Junior B playoff series between the two clubs in four straight games.

It was the 25th straight victory for the St. Mary's club and their 12th playoff win in a row. Jack Nairn slammed in a three-goal hat trick to lead the Linc's to victory.

Card Hurler Suffers Broken Jaw

Jackson Struck by Flying Piece of Split Bat

Mound Ace to Miss Next 4 Weeks; Spahn, Burdette Flip Shutout

By the Associated Press

There was a subdued atmosphere at the St. Louis baseball camp today as huddled groups quietly discussed the freak accident that sent Cardinal righthander Larry Jackson to the hospital with a fractured jaw.

The durable 29-year-old hurler, who led the National League in innings pitched while compiling an 18-13 record for the Cards last year, was struck by a bat fragment that flew in his face during Monday's 11-2 exhibition loss to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

* * *

Duke Snider was batting in the sixth inning when the most serious accident of the exhibition season stunned the Cards. Snider, who had previously tagged Jackson for a homer and double, rapped one back to the box as the bat splintered.

One of the fragments hit Jackson in the jaw while he was fielding the grounder. He will be lost to the club for at least four weeks, his jaw will be wired for that length of time and he will be forced to stay on a liquid diet.

Elsewhere, fine pitching performances were turned in by Milwaukee's Lew Burdette and Warren Spahn as they combined to five-hit the Chicago White Sox 1-0, and Chicago Cub southpaw Dick Ellsworth, who went the distance in a 7-4 triumph over San Francisco.

* * *

In other games, Minnesota outslugged Baltimore 12-9, Cincinnati belted Detroit 11-9, the Los Angeles Angels defeated Cleveland 9-7, the Tigers' B team edged Washington 6-5 in 10 innings and Kansas City beat New York 5-2 in 10 innings.

Spahn drove in the game's only run against the White Sox with a single in the seventh after a walk to Felix Mantilla and Roy McMillan's sacrifice. The winning blow came off Bob Shaw after Herb Score had checked the Braves on three hits for six innings.

Two errors gave the Cubs four unearned runs, including two of the winning tallies in a three-run seventh inning rally against the Giants. That was enough for Ellsworth, who gave up 12 hits as he joined teammate Jack Curtis as a nine-inning performer.

* * *

Jose Valdivielso collected four RBI with a homer and double, while pitcher Tom McAvoy and Dan Dobbek also contributed homers to the Twins' 13-hit attack against the Orioles. Marv Breeding, Jerry Adair and Dave Philley connected for Baltimore.

College Ace Gains 3 National Keg Crowns

DETROIT — Michael Flanagan of the University of Washington Monday became the first collegian to win three titles in the National Intercollegiate Bowling Championships.

The 22-year-old junior was a member of a make-up squad which won the team championship and his nine-game total of 1792 earned him the all-events crown.

The top bowlers were honored at an awards luncheon yesterday afternoon. Pro keg star Billy Welu was among the honored guests.

* * *

The Adjust-A-Grips of Toledo, O., wilted in the final game and had to settle for third place.

The Adjust-A-Grips blasted games of 1090 and 1006, got seven out of a possible ten strikes in the first two frames of the finale, and caved in. They wound up with 917 and a 3013 total.

Stu's Drive In of Urbana, Ohio, and Pepsi-Cola of Milwaukee are deadlocked for the lead with 3027.

* * *

Art Schwass of Buffalo, N. Y., took first place in the regular all-events on 1,937. He had series of 588-614-735.

Schwass rolled the 735, highest 3-game set of the tourney, in the doubles. His partner, Joe Sweigard, had only 491 and their 1,226 was far off the pace.

Alfred Fuscarino and Stan Niemiec of Paramus, N. J., combined for 1305 and second place in the Classic doubles.

6-9 'Minor Leaguer' Acquired by Pistons

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Ray Scott, a 6-9 forward who has played three years of "minor league" ball, was the Detroit Pistons' No. 1 choice in the National Basketball Association draft meeting here yesterday.

Scott, after a year of college competition at Portland, Ore., turned professional and signed with Allentown, Pa., of the Eastern League where he has played for three seasons.

The Eastern circuit is the closest thing to a minor league in professional basketball.

The Pistons' main objective as they headed into the draft meeting was to come up with a good corner man and they hope Scott will fill the need.

Scott, who tips the scales at 225 pounds, has raised his scoring average each year with Allentown. He netted an average of 23 points per game his first season, upped that to 26 his second year and averaged 34 points a game this past season.

It was rumored that both the New York Knicks and the Cincinnati Royals, who preceded Detroit in the draft, were interested in Scott. But the Knicks took Tom Stith of St. Bonaventure while the Royals grabbed Ohio State's Larry Siegfried.

Detroit's second choice was John Egan, a 6-0 guard from Providence while Doug Kistler, a 6-8 center from Duke, was the third selection.

The only Michigan player picked by the Pistons was Wayne Monson, Northern Michigan's leading scorer this season. Monson was plucked on the 10th round.

Other players selected by the Pistons were George Finley of Tennessee A&I; Dan Doyle, Bellmont Abbey; Lee Patrone, West Virginia; Burt Price, Wittenburg; Walter Ward, Hampton Institute and Peter Baltic, Penn State.

Besides Monson, the only other player selected from Michigan's collegiate ranks was John Tidwell, the University of Michigan star. Tidwell was picked by Philadelphia on the fourth round.

This year the NBA will have to woo the prospects from the newly formed American Basketball League, which begins play next season.

The ABL held its draft meeting in Chicago March 19 and many of the big names at yesterday's meeting were prominent at the windy city draft.

Chicago, the newest entry in the NBA, was given first choice in every round and surprised no one when it opened by picking 6-11 Walt Bellamy of Indiana.

Then, the other eight teams in the league got a pick and Chicago was given five consecutive choices in the second round. In the five, the Chicago franehise was able to grab York Larese and Doug Moe, both of North Carolina. Moe and Larese had been touted as first round picks before the meeting.

* * *

The New York Knickerbockers came out of the draft conference with some good young players. The Knicks picked up the rights to the services of Stith and Whitey Martin, both of St. Bonaventure. In the third and fourth rounds they added Tony Jackson of St. John's and George Blaney of Holy Cross.

Set Crackdown on Field Fires

Waterford Chief Says Most Due to Burning Trash Carelessly

A move to crack down on Waterford Township residents who carelessly burn rubbish that starts field fires is now under way, according to Fire Chief Elmer Fangboner.

During the weekend the three township fire stations answered 22 fires-in-fields, which cost taxpayers more than $2,200.

"Every one of the fires was traced to carelessness," he said. Firemen estimate it costs $100 for each run made.

The fire department is working in conjunction with the township police in issuing tickets to individuals who do not have a trash burning permit.

Careless people could be fined up to $100 or receive a jail sentence, according to state law.

"A person should burn rubbish in a container that will not allow sparks to fly out," Fangboner continued. "You wouldn't believe it—but some people even start trash fires on the ground, in no container, then go away and leave it. Thick grass, at this time of year, is practically explosive," he concluded.

'Featherbedding' Study Gets New Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Simon H. Rifkind, a man accustomed to controversy, has gotten mixed up in another big one.

Council to Meet in Waterford

Boosters Will Discuss Bicycle Safety, Plight of Tennis Project

The third meeting of the Greater Waterford Community Council will be held at 8 p.m. next Tuesday in the cafeteria of Pierce Junior High School on Hatchery Road at Crescent Lake.

* * *

A townshipwide bicycle safety project and the plight of the high school tennis court project (the $2,000 already raised will be lost if not used this year) will be on the program.

The council's standing committees on education, health and safety, water, sewers and sanitation, parks and recreation and public relations will be named with from three to 25 persons serving on each committee.

The council, organized Feb. 15, approved its constitution and bylaws March 8, then elected officers.

At that meeting council members voted to support two local proposals on the April 3 ballot — for a planning commission, and for purchase of two fire station sites.

* * *

The first Tuesday of each month has been designated as the regular meeting date, and dues have been set at 50 cents per person. Organizations are allowed two representatives each, but membership is also open to interested individuals. All meetings are open to the public.

Playwright Odets Wins '61 Drama Award of Merit

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American academy of Arts and Letters gave its 1961 Award of Merit for the drama today to playwright Clifford Odets.

Big Egg Hunt Saturday at Waterford High Field

Youngsters in Waterford Township are looking forward to the big Easter Egg Hunt which will get under way at 2 p.m. Saturday at the high school football field. And this year the hunt will be strictly for children in the fourth grade and younger.

* * *

Last year more than 1,000 children and teen-agers swarmed over the big field looking for brightly colored Easter eggs, according to James Curd, chairman for the affair. "It sort of got out of hand last year—with the bigger children geting the most eggs, naturally," he said.

This year children will be 10 years old and under, and a special place will be roped off the the smaller children to hunt eggs at their own pace.

* * *

This year, it isn't how many eggs a child collects, but "who gets the right color" for one of the many prizes offered. There will be 100 tickets to the Rolladium, and another hundred tickets to the Huron Theater given to the lucky children who find the most red, yellow or green eggs.

* * *

A man-sized "Easter bunny" will be hopping about helping the timid youngsters, and the hunt will go on schedule whether it rains or shines, Curd said.

Gets 2 Months Probation for Southfield Car Theft

Conservation Dept. Needs Money Help

LANSING (AP) — The money-troubled State Conservation Department is calling on local governments and civic groups to lend a helping hand to its conservation programs.

Conservation Director Gerald E. Eddy sounded a call for community cooperation in the current issue of Michigan Conservation, the department's bimonthly magazine.

It appears, he said, that the legislature is in no mood to jump the resident fishing license fee from $2 to $3, the plan proposed by the State Conservation Commission to pump new revenue into the department's ailing treasury.

* * *

Lacking new money, Eddy said, many consrvation programs "must continue to grind along in low gear unless the public wants to participate in another way, namely through community conservation."

During the summer months, the temperature on the floor of Death Valley in California has been known to hit 126 degrees.

RB47's Olmstead Thanks Neighbors

Almost a thousand persons turned out to welcome the RB47 flyer on his first visit to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Blaine Olmstead, since he and Capt. John R. McKone of Topeka, Kans., were released from Russian captivity last January.

McKone, who accompanied Olmstead to Upstate New York and said he felt like an "adopted son," and Olmstead were guests of honor at an official reception at a local college auditorium.

Hannah Lists Growth Steps

Remedies Include Use of Residence Halls for Academic Purposes

EAST LANSING (AP)—Use of residence halls for academic purposes and giving the student more responsibility for his own learning were among proposals listed for Michigan State University by President John A. Hannah Monday night.

* * *

Hannah presented a seven-point program to help Michigan State face the "growing problems of financing and rising enrollments" at a meeting of the MSU faculty and staff.

"To my knowledge," he added, "no other university in America has undertaken or contemplates anything comparable to the program" presented Monday night.

Dealing mostly with the undergraduate program, the plan proposed:

1. Encouraging the student to assume progressively more responsibility for his own learning through earlier emphasis on acquiring learning skills and "far more comprehensive advising by faculty."

DEFINING OBJECTIVES

2. Facilitating independent learning by defining "educational objectives more concretely and specifically and organizing courses and curricula to serve the purposes of the student."

3. Redefining responsibilities of faculty members "with due reference to rank and to most productive use of their time."

4. A Learning Resources Center, including facilities to encourage use of closed-circuit television, film, teaching machines, programmed studies — "a center of experiment and development."

* * *

5. Greater academic use of residence halls.

6. Consideration to designing a model for the university "combining the advantages of comprehensiveness with the conveniences and identification of smaller groups."

7. Forward planning and budgeting by the individual colleges and departments to put the proposals in effect.

Hannah said the proposals would be presented to the board of trustees at its March 31 meeting.

Junior high schools included in the District 1 area are Walled Lake and Clifford Smart of Walled Lake, Isaac Crary and Pierce of Waterford Township, and Norup of Oak Park.

Do Remember to File Vote If Going Away

Going away for the Easter weekend?

* * *

Will you be away from home this coming Monday?

* * *

Then you've got an important order of business as a citizen you must accomplish before 2 p.m. Saturday. That is the last time you can receive an absentee ballot from your city or township clerk for the April 3 biennial spring election on Monday.

* * *

Important judicial, educational and state administrative posts will be decided by Michigan voters that day. Whether to call a constitutional convention will also be voted on.

* * *

County Clerk - Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr. is putting extra emphasis on the use of absentee ballots this year as the election falls the day after Easter, and he fears many will neglect their right to vote because they will be out of town.

Aircrafts Guide Stocks to Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a turn for the better early this afternoon with aircraft issues leading the way.

Prices had been mixed earlier.

Many of the best gainers were not among issues making up the averages.

Trading was lively. The tape ran late briefly shortly after the opening.

ANTICIPATE JFK PLAN

The aircrafts gained support apparently in anticipation of a recommendation by President Kennedy for heavy additional defense spending.

Lockheed paced the aircrafts with a gain of 2⅛ to 45. Boeing went ahead about 2 points and General Dynamics more than a point.

On the other hand, North American Aviation fell 3 to 44⅝.

Jones & Laughlin pushed ahead more than a point. U.S. Steel and Bethlehem added fractions.

The motors, evidently feeling better about expected production gains in April, moved ahead solidly. With prospects of a proxy fight waning, Chrysler gained about a point. Ford advanced fractionaly.

American Telephone was heavily traded and gained ¾ to 116.

Union Carbide and DuPont declined about a point. Allied Chemical countered the trend and advanced about half a point.

Two issues which moved up well Monday on investment advisory service recommendations continued to progress. Transitron gained 2 and Pennsylvania ½.

Claims Rapid Transit Solution for Cities

DETROIT (AP)—An Ohio transportation expert testified in U.S. District Court here today that rapid transit is the solution and salvation to transportation problems of large metropiltan districts.

★ ★ ★

The expert is Donald C. Hyde, general manager of the Cleveland Transit System (CTS) and he was a witness for General Motors Corp., which is fighting a government antitrust suit charging it with monopolizing the sale of heavy city and intercity buses.

★ ★ ★

Hyde said he expects to recommend an increase in Cleveland's 20-cent bus fare "to maintain good service," following what he said is an "inevitable wage increase" that will go into effect July 1 for operators.

Consider Sending More U.S. Food to Aid Africa

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House officials said today they are considering further expansion of the U.S. food for peace program to help curb famine in Africa.

★ ★ ★

Informed sources said a crash program of food shipments to Africa was one of the priority recommendations made by G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, to President Kennedy after his recent 16-nation African tour.

Soybeans Holding, Other Grains Down

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices resumed their downward trend today in initial transactions on the board of trade while soybeans held steady to firm.

Corn was the weakest of the grains, losing 2 cents or more in spots and imparting weakness to other feed grains. Wheat eased small fractions, influenced somewhat by reports of additional moisture over much of the winter crop area.

Old crop soybeans were in fairly good demand during the first several minutes. Dealers said a moderate volume of short covering appeared. The profit selling which characterized Monday's trading apparently had slackened considerably.

Soybeans were 2½ cents a bushel higher to ¼ lower, shortly before the end of the first hour, May $3.04; wheat ⅛ to 1⅛ lower, May $2.03¾; corn ⅞ to 2⅛ lower, May $1.11¾; oats ¼ to 1½ lower, May 63; rye 2 cents lower to ¼ higher, May $1.21½.

GEORGE D. DENNIS

Pontiac Motors Dealer Manager Plans to Retire

Retirement of George D. Dennis, executive assistant to the general manager in charge of dealer relations, has been announced by S. E. Knudsen, GM vice president and Pontiac Motor Division general manager.

Dennis, who assumed his present duties in March 1959, will retire March 31 under provisions of the GM Retirement Plan.

A 34-year veteran with General Motors, Dennis joined the Pontiac field sales organization in 1934 following seven years with Chevrolet Division. During the next nine years he held various positions of responsibility in Pontiac's Indianapolis, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Chicago and Minneapolis zones.

In 1943 he was named district manager in Minneapolis and was promoted to zone manager in 1947. Dennis was transferred to manage the Milwaukee zone in 1949 and, in 1954, was appointed zone manager in San Francisco — the position he held before joining the home office in 1959.

Pleads Not Guilty to Alleged $121 Theft

Arraigned in Circuit Court yesterday for allegedly stealing $121 from his stepbrother's trousers in his Pontiac home, Raymond Jones, 20, of Detroit, pleaded not guilty. No trial date was set.

John Reed, 345 Prospect St., reported the theft, from his trousers in a bedroom, to Pontiac police last Oct. 7.

Fire Destroys Garage, Contents on Lowell St.

A $1,500 fire destroyed a garage and its contents behind the Paul J. Materna home at 561 Lowell St. early this morning. The Maternas felt lucky, however, to still have their car today.

Their son, Donald, 48, had parked in the driveway when he returned from bowling at about midnight.

Firemen extinguished the blaze within an hour and a half, but were unable to save the frame building. They said sparks from a smouldering rubbish pile caused the blaze discovered at 2:10 a.m.

★ ★ ★

Evergreen Bond Issue Sold at 3.98 Per Cent

A bid of 3.98 per cent from the First of Michigan Corporation of Detroit proved lowest today for the purchase of $555,000 worth of general obligation bonds to build an extension of the Evergreen Sanitary sewer to serve Bloomfield Hills and Bloomfield Township.

★ ★ ★

Kenower, MacArthur & Co., another Detroit investment firm, submitted the only other bid at an interest rate of 3.99359.

The winning one came out to 3.98371.

R. J. Alexander, director of the Oakland County Department of Public Works, said the First of Michigan Corp.'s bid was accepted and the bonds will soon be printed and signed.

The money received from the sale will help build what is known as Evergreen Extension No. 1. It will serve roughly 13,000 residents of the city and township.

★ ★ ★

Construction by the St. Clair firm of Ernest Centofanti is expected to start soon, Alexander said.

Paving Way for Shift of Criminally Insane

LANSING (UPI) — The first of several bills paving the way for conversion of the Howell Tuberculosis Sanatorium to a mental hospital was in the House today after gaining approval of the Senate.

A measure to permit transfer of criminally insane patients from the Ionia State Hospital to other mental institutions went through the upper chamber on a 27-2 vote.

The Mental Health Department wants to put dangerous mentally ill and mentally retarded cases in the Howell hospital.

★ ★ ★

Judge Denies Plea for Chrysler Delay

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Theodore Levin today denied a request to delay the annual stockholders' meeting of Chrysler Corp., now set for April 18.

The judge said that Detroit attorney Sol A. Dann, who had sought the postponement, had "utterly failed to carry the burden of proof required of him."

The judge also turned down an amended complaint which Dann filed Monday night.

Today's action came after Dann had announced he was bowing out as leader of what he called a stockholders' fight for their rights.

To Launch Drive for Fire Station

A new drive for a northside fire station will be launched tonight by the Wever-Owen-Hawthorne-Alcott Community Club.

Representatives have served notice that they plan to appear before the City Commission in a bid to have the $125,000 project placed high on the priority list of new capital improvements.

The move occurs at a time when at least one commissioner, John A. Dugan, has suggested that the commission review proposed spending over the next few years with an eye towards setting priorities on forthcoming projects.

The only project definitely scheduled at present is the new main firehall in the Civic Center. After reviewing final plans for this tonight, commissioners are scheduled to call for construction bids.

Two other projects in the offing—expansion of the sewage treatment plant and revamping of the water system to handle Detroit water—both would be financed through bonding.

Pay-as-you-go projects such as branch fire stations are included in City Manager Walter K. Willman's suggested capital improvement budget through 1965.

In this plan, the northside hall is scheduled for next year at a cost of $125,000. A southside station is scheduled for 1965 at the same cost.

The commission has never acted on making scheduling officials.

The extra $2 million which City Hall put into the Pontiac General Hospital expansion program has been used as an explanation for delays in other capital improvements over the past five yers.

The last of the $2 million will be absorbed from tax receipts this summer.

Pushes Kiddies Out of Window

Spinster Held in Murder of One, but Four Survive 4th-Floor Plunge

GLASGOW, Scotland (UPI) — Jean Barclay Waddell, a 37-year-old spinster, was charged today with pushing five small children out of the window of her fourth-floor apartment. One of the youngsters died in the plunge and the others were hospitalized.

Miss Waddell stood silently between two policewomen as Magistrate James Languir ordered her remanded to a higher court. She offered no explanation.

The woman was accused of pushing Marjorie Hughes, 4, to her death on the sidewalk in Glasgow's grimy Gorbals district. In addition, she was charged with the attempted murder of Frank Lennon, 7, his sister, Margaret, 5, Thomas Devenny, 4, and Daniel McNeill, 5.

All five were hurled from the window of the dark-haired woman's, two-room apartment Monday as neighbors watched in horror.

A sixth child, a boy, ran screaming from the apartment as neighbors broke down the door after the children's bodies hit the ground.

★ ★ ★

Miss Waddell, wearing a cheap fawn-colored coat and long, fur-lined leather boots, made only a brief court appearance and did not speak except to say "yes" when her name was called.

Wants Clinic Kept in Urban Renewal Area

Dr. Harry L. Riggs, a Pontiac physician, has called on the City Commission in a bid to keep his clinic building at 31 Orchard Lake Ave. within the area of the second urban renewal project.

★ ★ ★

In a letter to City Hall, Riggs said the 10-year-old clinic is "modern with air-conditioning throughout."

Riggs said he believed the building "will meet the qualifications for urban reneal."

The physician also suggested that the acquisition program skip a vacant lot at 37 Orchard Lake Ave., where Riggs plans a parking lot.

CAN GET CONSIDERATION

If there is no debate on the letter at tonight's commission meeting, it is expected that urban renewal planners will be asked to consider it.

Final plans for the second urban renewal project ar still being prepared. This is the project that embraces about 20 commercial acres between Saginaw Street, Pike Street and the Grand Trunk Western Railroad.

Although the plans won't be finished until summer, the Riggs property could be affected by future establishment of municipal parking lots within the circumference of the proposed downtown loop highway.

Viola, on FBI List, Gives Up Meekly

DETROIT (AP)—Thomas Viola, a convicted murderer and prison escapee, dyed his graying hair black and grew a mustache, which he also dyed black, in an effort to avoid capture, but he knew it wouldn't work.

"I knew my free time was up the minute the FBI put me on the top 10 wanted list," the 48-year-old Viola told federal agents who surprised him in a near northwest side apartment Monday. "I knew you would get me."

Viola, who escaped from the Ohio State Penitentiary at Columbus last September, knew his time had run out when agents surrounded his second-floor apartment shortly before noon.

He surrendered without a struggle although agents said they found two loaded guns wrapped in towels in the apartment and $4,116 in cash.

Dems Hopefuls Oakland Bound

State Candidates Will Woo Voters Through 2 Caravans Tomorrow

It will be "Operation Oakland County" for two caravans of Democratic candidates tomorrow as they make 11th-hour bids for votes in Monday's biennial spring election.

Traveling in one group will be John C. Mackie, seeking re-election as highway commissioner; Allan R. Sorenson, candidate for University of Michigan regent; and Frank Hartman, State Board of Education candidate.

In the same group will be Connor D. Smith and C. Allen Harlan, candidates for Michigan State University's Board of Trustees; Ralph E. Richman, candidate for Wayne State University Board of Governors; and Ernest C. Boehm, Democratic nominee for Supreme Court.

Making up the second group will be Lynn M. Bartlett, running for re-election as superintendent of public instruction; Theodore Sachs, candidate for regent also; and James H. McLaughlin, Supreme Court nominee.

FISHER BODY FIRST

Mackie's group will visit the Fisher Body plant in Pontiac from 6 to 7:30 a.m.

Following breakfast they will go to Miracle Mile shopping center. After luncheon, the Lincoln-Mercury Plant in Wixom will be the next stop for all 10 candidates, from 2:15 to 4:15 p.m.

The Mackie group will begin the evening at a special rally session at 8 at Clifford Smart Junior High School in Commerce Township. It will end the long day at a White Lake Democratic meeting.

Bartlett's group will follow the same schedule, except at 10:15 a.m. when it will visit Northwood Shopping Center, and at 8 p.m., when the men will be guests at a meeting of the Avon Democratic Club at the Avon Township Library, Rochester.

Must Sell Adrian Plant to Buyer Who Will Use It

ADRIAN (UPI)—The announcement that President Kennedy has ordered the General Services Administration to sell the abandoned Air Force plant here to a buyer who will put it to use rather than scrap it boosted morale here higher than at any time since the end of the Korean war.

"Good, wonderful," was the reaction of Mayor Roy McPhail, when told of Kennedy's stiff letter to GSA Administrator John Moore ordering the plant to be sold only to a user.

"Adrian certainly couldn't ask for more than that," McPhail said.

Kennedy's letter ordered Moore to reject outstanding bids for the plant and the GSA chief said a new plan for disposal of the $25-million facility.

Youth Gets Sixty Days After Admitting Theft

The Oakland County Jail is home for the next 60 days for Joseph T. Cunningham, an 18-year-old Bloomfield Hills youth who admitted stealing $30 from his neighbor's home last month.

Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem ordered the jail term for Cunningham, 146 W. Hickory Grove Road, as part of his three years on probation, after pleading guilty March 15 to the larency from a home at 138 W. Hickory Grove Road.

He also ordered Cunningham to pay $100 court costs.

Try hard to carry on the way
We know you'd want us to.
Sadly missed by son, daughter-in-law, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren.

Stands Mute; Judge Enters Innocent Plea

Standing mute to two counts of kidnaping and assault with intent to rape, innocent pleas were entered in Circuit Court yesterday for Keith D. Francisco by Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Francisco, a 36-year-old recent parolee from Jackson Prison, asked Judge Ziem to appoint an attorney to represent him when he is tried for allegedly forcing a 19-year-old Holly mother of three to accompany him in a car to a desolate area in Springfield Township where he tried to criminally assault her two weeks ago.

The husband of the woman said that he and his wife had met Francisco, 160½ Oakland Ave., in a Holly tavern and that Francisco had invited them to go for coffee later, but that he sped off with his wife before she could get out of the car to join him.

The woman later was found lying in a ditch near the driveway of Francisco's fiance.

No trial date was set.

Recounts Killing of Her Daughter

Mrs. Singleton Tells Court of 1959 Shooting in Independence Twp.

Mrs. Bessie Lee Singleton was on the stand today in Circuit Court telling how her daughter was shot and killed nearly two years ago in Independence Township.

Accused of the April 18, 1959, murder of Mrs. Wyvona D. Crenshaw, 32, of Independence Township, is Mrs. Sarah Sue Lawrence, 35-year-old mother of one son from Berkley.

A jury of 12 women was selected this morning to hear the first-degree murder trial of Mrs. Lawrence before Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams.

The trial was the start of the spring jury term of Circuit Court.

Mrs. Lawrence allegedly shot Mrs. Crenshaw in a jealous rage because she once dated Donald Crenshaw, who had only been married to Mrs. Crenshaw for four months before her murder.

The accused spent 1½ years in Ionia State Hospital after she was judged insane and unable to stand trial in May 1959.

She was released last December to face the murder charge.

Laos Survivor Reports Probed

State Dept. Looks Into Chance Rebels Hold Army Pilot

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department today investigated reports one survivor jumped safely from a U.S. plane shot down over rebel territory in Laos and now may be in the hands of pro-Communst guerrillas.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said Monday the unarmed transport crashed and burned Thursday when hit by ground fire over the rebel-held Plaines des Jarres. There were no reports that any of the seven other men aboard the plane survived.

White said unconfirmed reports from Vientiane said Maj. Lawrence R. Bailey of Laurel, Md., parachuted and is "now in the hands of the Pathet Lao." The left-wing Pathet Lao guerrillas are supplied by the Soviet Union and the Red government of North Viet Nam.

The two-engined transport had detoured over the rebel area to make a reconnaissance survey at the request of the royal Lao govment, White said. It was on a flight from Vientiane to Saigon, South Viet Nam.

Teen-Agers Add to Waterford's Grass Fire Woes

Perplexed Waterford Township firemen didn't have enough trouble yesterday answering one housefire and 13 grass fires. They caught a teen-ager seting fire to grass and leaves at one of the fires they were attempting to extinguish.

A roaring fire at 6 p.m. on some 40 acres at Telegraph and Elizabeth Lake roads had a good start by the time township firemen arrived. And small wonder. Three teen-agers later admitted setting lighted matches around as they walked through it.

★ ★ ★

To make matters worse, a 13-year old boy was caught rekindling a blaze just put out by firemen. The youth was taken to Captain Lewis Goff, who then radioed the township police department.

★ ★ ★

The boy said, "The field is all dead anyway so I can't see any harm in keeping 'er going." He later implicated two other teen-agers and all three were bonded and released to their parents.

20,000 Protest U.S. Act

Methodists Buy Site for Waterford Church

An eight-acre site on Maceday Drive adjacent to Schoolcraft School has been purchased for construction of a Methodist Church, sponsored by the Methodist Union of Greater Pontiac.

A pot-luck dinner and organizational meeting for a new congregation will be held at 6:30 p.m. April 4 at the Community Center on Williams Lake Road.

Those interested have been asked to bring a dish to pass, their own table service and meat. Beverages will be furnished.

This will be the second Methodist church in the township. The other is Four Towns Methodist Church on Cooley Lake Road.

WILL PRESIDE

Marshall R. Reed, resident bishop of the Michigan area, will be present. Dr. Milton S. Bank, pastor of Pontiac's Central Methodist Church will give the invocation.

Other clergymen will include Rev. M. L. J. Bellinger, president of the Pontiac Methodist Union; Rev. William J. Richards, pastor of Clarkston Methodist church; Rev. W. Leslie Williams, interim superintendent, and Dr. Chester McPheeters, superintendent of the Flint District of the Methodist Church.

A musical solo will be presented by Mrs. Bert Mercer of Waterford, and the Clarkston church's Wesleyan Choir will sing an anthem.

The new church is expected to begin services in the Community Center Building May 21, with the Rev. Mr. DeWitt serving as interim pastor.

★ ★ ★

The dinner meeting is open to all residents who are of Methodist preference and wish to unite with the new church, the Rev. Mr. DeWitt said.

5 Black Top Projects Approved in Waterford

Last night's Waterford Township Board meeting turned into a question and answer session as some 60 residents discussed five proposed road black topping projects at three public hearing.

All of the projects were approved, and the board will ask for bids at the April 17 board meeting.

Each of the projects will cost less than the original estimate made by township engineers, for a total savings of more than $4,500. This was due to some adjustments and the fact that the Oakland County Road Commission has agreed to assume more of the construction work.

The package deal for black topping 2,500 feet on Woodlow, Shelby and Bielby streets is now estimated to cost $14,200. There are 35 assessments involved.

The 46 assessments on 2,400 feet of Genella Street will now cost $15,385, it was estimated; and for the 46 lots on Cass Lake Road, residents will pay an estimated $14,500.

People last night were curious about the construction work, how much work is done by the county and township, and how the new black topped roads would affect driveways.

The entire group of black topping projects will hinge on costs presented in the construction bids, Clerk James Seeterlin said. There was a feeling in the audience of "let's wait and see what the bids are, then make our decision."

In other business, the board agreed to making an amendment to the present fire prevention codes, outlawing existing fire extinguishers that have not been approved by the Underwriters Laboratory, Inc., who make tests.

According to Fire Marshal Lewis Goff there are many extinguishers in schools, factories, churches and office buildings that are outmoded, and in many cases, defective.

The new amendment prohibits the sale of any type of fire extinguisher in the township without prior approval by an authorized representative of the fire chief.

Fire Chief Elmer Fangboner received word from Lansing early today that the same Waterford Township approved ordinance was approved in the House of Representatives by a majority of 95 to 4 at yesterday's session.

Waterford Township attorney Robert Sislock was named to represent the township in a civil case against Clifford Church of 197 Hospital Road for operating a dismantling yard on his property. The trial will be held at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in Justice of the Peace Patrick K. Daly's court.

Earthquake for Movie Is Two Days Late

By EARL WILSON

ROME — In Italy, even the earthquakes are late.

"You want to attend an earthquake?" a fellow asked me here in the Excelsior bar. "Sure," I said, "I never attended an earthquake."

WILSON

This was an earthquake scheduled for 3 p.m. Friday in a movie studio and it was supposed to bring the house down (joke). It was supposed to destroy the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah in a picture of the same name.

So there I was, waiting and waiting for the earthquake, and so it wouldn't be a total loss, I talked to a beautiful, shapely Japanese gal named Mitsuko who dances in the movie.

Mitsuko mean 'hahnee' sweet," Mitsuko said. "I from north Japan, I danced and singed New Frontier, Las Vegas. I danced and singed, Ginbashi Crub, Honolulu, and Pigalle Crub, London. Where I learn English? All de place."

MITSUKO

Next day I went out to the studio and saw the earthquake had earthquaked beautifully.

"What time last night earthquake earthquake?" I asked Mitsuko.

"Earthquake no earthquake rast night," Mitsuko said. "Earthquake earthquake today, very rate."

I asked Mr. Aldrich for details and he said, "Look, it's very simple. There was a button that was supposed to trip something and pull the walls down but it didn't trip. Everybody said, 'Don't touch the button!' Well, you could have laid on the button, you could have stood on the button!"

He rolled his shoulders. "So today we get the trip working and the quake quaked."

"One day late," I needled him.

"Two days really," he said. "And you know—that's early . . . for Italy!"

Tells Unions to File Financial Reports

Labor unions throughout the state were reminded today of the Friday deadline for filing their 1960 financial reports under the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act.

Emphasizing this requirement was Louis H. Woiwode, area director of the Bureau of Labor-Management Reports, who said that two copies of the report must be sent in to the U.S. Department of Labor in Washington.

Woiwode pointed out that the law allows 90 days after the end of the union's fiscal year in which to file the financial report, and that this must be done every year. Since about 75 per cent of the unions in Michigan close their books on Dec. 31, their reports are due no later than March 31.

Only about half the unions in the state have turned in their reports to date, Woiwode estimated. He added that he is prepared to have his staff work overtime to help union officials and representatives complete their reports to meet the deadline.

Unions needing assistance, or the forms, LM2 (for locals with more than $20,000 gross income) or LM3 (short form for locals with less than $20,000 income), need only write, visit or call his office.

Debt Poolers Can Be Foolers, Warns Adams

LANSING (UPI) — The state's chief law enforcement officer has issued a warning against "debt poolers" who offer to return a consumer's "peace of mind."

"Debt poolers can be foolers," said Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams.

"If you are having trouble paying your bills due to inflation, lay-offs or any other reason, be sure that anyone to whom you pay money for debt pooling will get you out of debt and not deeper into debt," he said.

Advertisements which offer to "Get your creditors off your back," "Get out of debt without a loan," or other similar pool slogans sound good, Adams said. "But the results can be most sad."

Adams said the best advice against this possible fraud practice is to know who you are dealing with before getting into the pool.

All cars averaged 23.25 miles per gallon with Mobil

The above marks are documentary proof of the mileage potential built into today's cars using Mobil. They were scored on the 1961 Mobilgas Economy Run—world's greatest official proof of mileage economy.

Mobil has been economy proved in every make of American car. This year sixty-five cars were entered; they traveled 2561 miles, from Los Angeles to Chicago—over deserts, mountains, crowded city streets. Only Mobil goes to such lengths to demonstrate to you the mileage-economy possible from today's cars.

You can prove this economy in your own car. Fill up with Mobil Regular or Special . . . improved with Preptane, the new long-mileage additive. Then do as the Economy Run drivers do: drive properly—avoid "jack-rabbit" starts, ease into higher gears quickly, keep a steady foot on the accelerator.

Advises SEATO to Warn Russia of Laos Stand

Rusk Informs Treaty Nations Soviets Are Mum on Peace Moves

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) —U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk today urged the SEATO foreign ministers to go ahead with a warning to Moscow that the eight-nation alliance will intervene in Laos if the Soviet Union keeps aiding the pro-Communist rebels.

With the ministers meeting behind closed doors for the second day, Rusk reportedly told his colleagues in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organibation that there has been no information on any Soviet moves to end the hostilities in the door to Thailand.

The SEATO Council completed its evaluation of the situation in the area and got down to the urgent business of drafting a resolution telling the world—and the Communists particularly — where they stand.

The American foreign policy chief reportedly said that an official Soviet response to British proposals for a cease-fire could not be expected before the foreign ministers of the eight nations end their annual meeting here Wednesday afternoon.

Rusk emphasized that Soviet peace talk should not influence their course of action in dealing with the crisis and standing firm against a Communist takeover.

One conference source said it would be safe to speculate that the Soviets are trying to disrupt the SEATO meeting with such peace gestures as the article in Pravda Monday again expressing Soviet willingness to negotiate an end to the jungle war in the Southeast Asia kingdom.

Other foreign ministers also took a cautious, wait-and-see attitude toward the Pravda article, which was the first Soviet response to the American-backed British proposal for an immediate cease fire in Laos and then an international conference to place the easy-going Laotians in permanent neutrality. The Pravda article endorsed the international conference but neither approved nor rejected a cease fire.

The highest temperature of the year moved in on Pontiac at 4:30 Monday afternoon, a warm and sunny 70. The mercury started dropping at 6 p.m. and continued falling to hit a low of 41 at 8 this morning.

The weatherman said tonight will be partly cloudy and colder, the low near 35. Wednesday is expected to be mostly cloudy with not much change in temperature, the high hitting 53.

Gusty morning winds at 10 to 30 miles per hour will become northwest and slowly diminish tonight, and northwest at 10 to 15 miles Wednesday. The outlook for Thursday is a chance of rain.

At 1 p.m. the thermometer registered 43.

Dem Leaders Hopeful on Laos After Huddle With President

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic leaders of Congress left a meeting with President Kennedy today expressing hope of a cease fire in Laos and neutralization of that Communist-menaced nation.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., told reporters after the weekly breakfast session that "the President and all of us looked at the situation as hopefully as possible under the circumstances."

Kennedy discussed with the legislators his conferences with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on Sunday and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko Monday, newsmen were told by Rayburn and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont. Mansfield said the President's position on Laos remains unchanged after the two meetings.

"We are very hopeful," Rayburn added, "that a solution will come about that will be satisfactory to us and those who work with us in these affairs."

Kennedy was looking for a speedy answer from Soviet Premier Khrushchev. In his hour-long session with Gromyko Kennedy was reported to have stressed that a truce must come before diplomatic talks.

Gromyko in turn was said to have indicated Khrushchev will respond in a few days, and to have asked that the United States meanwhile avoid any precipitous action on the Laos crisis.

U.S. strategists saw a good omen in Gromyko's request. They believed this might indicate Moscow is genuinely interested in a peaceful solution, and farful of a sprad in the fighting.

Gromyko was described as showing a serious concern over the situation—more so than when he talked to Secretary of State Dean Rusk here 10 days ago.

While Gromyko headed for Moscow where Khrushchev is holding a Warsaw Pact meeting of Soviet-bloc powers, the free world allies in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization went ahead with plans on how to meet the Red threat in Laos.

Press reports from the strife-ridden Southeast Asian kingdom spoke of a lull in the fighting between royal government forces and pro-Communist rebels. But authorities here had no word of a let up iin the Soviet - North Vietnamese airlift of arms to the insurgents which began last December.

★ ★ ★

Press secretary Pierre Salinger described Kennedy as still hopeful for a peaceful outcome to the Laotian crisis, and other admin-Kennedy-Gromyko talk as easing some of the tenseness of the situation.

His Last Words Precious; They Promise Paradise

By BISHOP
RICHARD C. RAINES
Written for Associated Press

"Today thou shalt be with me in paradise."

What irony! The most noble person in history is being crucified between two thieves. One taunts and sneers at him:

"If you are the Messiah, why don't you get yourself and us out of here? Talk's cheap. Act, man act!"

The other thief is more alert, sees deeper:

"For shame. Do you not fear God, being so near death? We are justly condemned, but this man has done nothing wrong."

Turning to Jesus, he says:

"Remember me when you come in your kingly power."

Jesus replies:

"Today thou shalt be with me in paradise."

Why are the last words of Christ so precious, so minutely examined?

Last words have a strange fascination for some because those near death are thought to offer us glimpses into the next world. Others are stirred because they believe the approach of death strips off the mask of pretense from the dying and reveals them for what they really are.

Bishop Raines

But Jesus' last words are cherished because he has changed the course of history. Multitudes of varied and valuable meanings are found in them because his life, death, and resurrection mark him as more than a man. Believing, acting as if this were true, men experience Him as Savior and Lord.

These words spoken from the cross to a penitent thief reveal that Jesus was the same in dying as in living. Jesus sensed penitence and a dawning faith in the thief.

He forgave at once. God forgives this way—not reluctantly or partially but eagerly and completely.

Jesus' reply to the thief shows that the unique quality of his sympathy was not changed by his own agony. His concern took in

Wants Priority for Children

Interim Senate Group Calls State's Mental Care Vastly Inadequate

Children should be given priority in revamping the state's care program for the mentally ill, which today "is vastly inadequate," an interim Senate committee has urged.

★ ★ ★

The committee held three public hearings in Pontiac last fall to find out what was lacking in the state's program for emotionally-disturbed, mentally ill and retarded children.

The five-member committee, which never attracted all five senators to any hearings, was headed by former Oakland County Sen. L. Harvey Lodge. Lodge attended all.

In a 4½-page report of its findings, the committee said one thing lacking is coordination between the various groups concerned with the care of these children.

ON WAITING LISTS

"They are put on waiting lists, having no opportunities for immediate treatment, and where they might be treated and returned to society, they eventually become an object of continuing custodial care."

The committee made three basic recommendations and then issued a warning. They were:

(1) Children should be cared for first.

(2) Steps should be taken by the legislature so that a cured child would not be returned to the unstable surroundings that created their emotional deficiency.

(3) That much of the care be provided in newly created outpatient diagnostic clinics.

The warning was that "a revamping of the whole system as set forth in the prior statement and recommendations cannot be accomplished by this (legislative) session."

Lodge's committee was appointed to make the study at the close of the 1960 legislature.

Where the Oct. 6, Oct. 20 and Nov. 3 hearings often probed into specific weaknesses of the program, such as some reported irregularities at the Lapeer State Home and Training School, the

Military Outlay Proposals Total $43.8 Billion

Kennedy Wants 1,300 Polaris Missiles Set to Go by 1965

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today sent Congress "urgent" proposals for a $650 million defense spending increase and disclosed plans to arm the nation with more than 1,300 ballistic missiles by 1965.

Kennedy said he wanted to make the United States so strong that if it received a surprise nuclear attack it could still retaliate "with devastating power."

He called for assembly-line construction of Polaris missile submarines, reaching a one-a-month rate by June 1963. He also charted expanded production of new minuteman intercontinental mis-

At the same time he proposed more equipment, but very little extra manpower, for conventional and limited wars.

The revised military spending plan for the fiscal year starting July 1 totaled $43.8 billion, including Kennedy's new $650 million proposals plus upward revisions of former Eisenhower administration estimates which he claimed were too low.

A record for any year except in World War II, the boosted arms outlay would throw the government's over-all fiscal 1962 budget a further $890 million out of kilter for a total deficit of $2.7 billion.

Still more may be needed in later years, Kennedy said, although he hoped to achieve economies in the "full reappraisal" of defense still under way.

To finance his proposals in fiscal 1962 and future years, Kennedy asked Congress to appropriate $1.954 billion more than the $41.84 billion that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower proposed just before leaving office. The $650 million increase is for spending in fiscal 1962 only.

Even with that increase, the President found it necessary to slash $430 million from present programs. He killed outright the 15-year old nuclear aircraft project on which $1 billion has been spent.

You Are Guilty, Says Jury

THEY HEAR THE VERDICT — Weeping Carole Tregoff leaves her seated lover, Dr. R. Bernard Finch, to return to jail after a Los Angeles Superior Court jury Monday night convicted them of murder in the slaying of Finch's wife Barbara Jean. Both were convicted of conspiracy to commit murder, a capital offense in California, and in addition Finch was convicted of first degree murder and Miss Tregoff of second degree murder.

Death Penalty Sought

Finch, Carole Convicted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The state will ask death in its gas chamber for Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his mistress, Carole Tregoff, convicted of murdering his socialite wife with a bullet in the back.

Both guilty of conspiracy to commit murder.

CALLS FOR DEATH

"Conspiracy to commit murder is punishable by death in California," said Deputy Dist. Atty. Clifford Crail. "We will ask the death penalty for both defendants."

Finch, hands clasped, took his own verdict coolly. When he heard Carole's his face reddened and tears welled in his eyes. He reached past an attorney and patted her shoulder. She was sobbing.

As they were led out of the courtroom, the lovers embraced tearfully and tenderly. They stood clasped together briefly. Then Carole, head down, shoulders shaking with sobs, followed a woman sheriff's deputy back to jail a few floors above.

Under California law the same jury of 10 men and 2 women will now decree the penalty. Superior Court Judge David Coleman told them to return for this purpose next Monday.

First-degree murder is punishable by life imprisonment or death, second-degree by five years to life.

The end of the three-month trial —59 working days in court—came with dramatic swiftness before about 80 intent spectators in a drab, eighth-floor courtroom in the 35-year-old Hall of Justice.

Co-prosecutor Crail said: "This restores my faith in the jury system. This (the guilty verdict) should have happened in the first trial."

Floods Ravage Upper Midwest

By United Press International

Turbulent rivers today drove 1,000 persons to high ground ahead of roaring crests in the Upper Midwest.

Emergency conditions were declared in Eastern Iowa and Southwest Wisconsin. Water lapped at the tops of gasoline pumps at Soldiers Grove, Wis., and authorities at Evansdale, Iowa, appealed for sandbags and dump trucks.

"We haven't got anywhere near enough sandbags," an Evansdale official said. The Cedar River continued to swell over a predicted 17-foot crest Monday and "without them we're helpless," he said.

In Southwest Wisconsin, the Kickapoo River flowed in torrents over a dam at Soldiers Grove and poured on to Gays Mills, 8 miles downriver. Truckers brought drinking water from nearby Readstown, Wis.

Indiana winds whipped a television antenna from the hand of a Columbus father. It fell on a 75,000 volt power line and electrocuted his wife and 13-year-old son, who were assisting the installation 28 feet above ground. The father and his daughter, 11, were seriously injured.

In the West, a lower pressure area from New Mexico to Las Vegas, Nev., set off mixed rains and snowstorms. Canadian cold air forged south past a 2-foot Rocky Mountain snowfall recorded Monday.

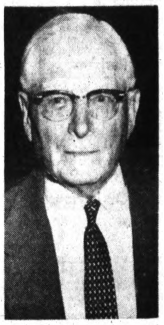
Hurricane-force winds Monday whipped across into Illinois. Winds up to 100 miles an hour bowled over pedestrians and shattered store windows in Chicago.

Centennial Citizens



HARRY O. WHITFIELD

(Editor's Note: In conjunction with Pontiac's centennial year. The Pontiac Press is presenting periodically a series of vignettes on some of the persons and families who have contributed significantly to making Pontiac the fine city we know today.)

Pontiac need not be introduced to Harry O. Whitfield, or vice versa. The Whitfield clan is as much a part of the city as the Pontiac automobile.

Son of Thomas Whitfield and Jane Windiate, members of pioneer Oakland County families, "H. O." as he is called by his friends, was known for his wholesale grocery business which used to occupy today's Lawrence street quarters of the Salvation Army.

Born in Waterford Township, Whitfield spent most of his life—except for a few years as banker—in this business. He retired in 1941. Many of the years since has been the 92-year-old city resident and his wife, Mildred, traveling.

You'll see him Thursday noons at Rotary.

Washington Still Waits

The two states are engaged in a thumb-twiddling duel over ratification of the 23rd Amendment, which would give district residents the right to vote for president and vice president.

Thirty-six of the necessary 38 states have ratified.

NO PLAYING HOOKY HERE — Harley Lee of Waterloo, Iowa, is making sure that the rising flood waters of the Cedar River don't prevent his two boys getting to school. With him in the boat are sons David, 11, and Roger, 9. The Lee family home area was flooded and due to be evacuated as the bulk of high water approached.

Chemical Industry Debate

WYANDOTTE (UPI)—Wyandotte Chemicals Co. today was considering an offer from the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union which was submitted in answer to the company's demand for a no-strike clause in a new contract. A two-year contract covering 1,700 workers expired March 1 and Wyandotte Chemicals notified the union it is canceling the contract at 11 tonight.

'Bunny Bopping'

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI)—A Superior Court judge refused Monday to prohibit American Legionnaires from hunting rabbits in caveman fashion for charity barbecues. The Mecklenburg Humane Society, protesting the "bunny bopping" tactics of North Iredell County Legionnaires, took its case to court Monday.

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo, (AP) — White-officered Katanga soldiers today were reported massing in central Katanga for what United Nations officials say may be a big offensive against invaders sent by leftist Antoine Gizenga's Stanleyville regime.

Governor at MSU

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. John B. Swainson said today he will hold briefing sessions on unemployment and various aid programs at a meeting of business, community, labor and local government leaders Friday at Michigan State University.

TORONTO (UPI) — An arrest warrant was out today for Irish playwright Brendan Behan, but his attorney said he was "quite ill" in a hospital. Behan, who fell off the wagon in his Toronto hotel last week, failed to appear in court Monday on charges of assaulting a city policeman and the hotel detective.

Family Perishes

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Officials believe Mr. and Mrs. Alex Whitehead and their nine children perished in a fire which today destroyed their frame home in the nearby Dotsonville community of upper middle Tennessee. Fiery embers from the burning debris prevented firemen from searching the ruins immediately but Montgomery County Sheriff Kenneth Albright said all members of the family were missing, along with Mrs. Whitehead's father, Albert Gibbs, who also lived with them.

With GOP in House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans appeared to be losing ground today in their attempts to use a substitute bill to derail President Kennedy's program to aid depressed areas. House Republicans, without the backing of much of the GOP-Southern Democrat coalition that employed the same tactics to hand the administration its first setback Friday, apparently lack the votes to push their measure through. Debate starts late today.

The second part will be an "Easter Song Festival," in which all pupils will participate. Singing will be conducted by Mrs. Archie Davis, music teacher.

Bethune's student council is sponsoring the program. Parents and friends are invited to attend.

Federal funds should be sought by the state to build more mental hospitals, and senile patients in the present institutions should be transferred to facilities where only custodial care is required.

IMMINENT PROBLEM

"However, the problem of children is imminent, and suitable appropriations should be considered and made for preliminary establishment of diagnostic clinics for children, and provisions be made for their immediate needs for treatment," the committee said.

Lack of funds was cited as the reason care for sick children and the aged is difficult in the state.

"However, all these problems must be met," the committee stressed.

If possible, the senators said, most of the care should be strived for out of mental hospitals, "to the maximum extent that is reasonable and feasible."

"Our present haphazard system of commitment to hospitals through probate courts by limited examination, by placing patients on a waiting list whereby they receive no immediate consideration, is archaic, costly and occasions a futility in not only the patient but the patient's family as well."

"To accomplish such an aim," the study showed, "steps must be taken in the general treatment setup of all psychiatric installations to implement care outside the large mental hospital as much as possible."

AT 3 STAGES

While awaiting hospitalization, the children could be examined at a diagnostic clinic which could be established in the metropolitan Detroit area, instead of by "the haphazard and limited examinations undertaken by the probate courts."

This suggested process would not only save the state money, because about six million people in Michigan are covered by Blue Cross-Blue Shield insurance, but 30 days of such psychiatric examination on the "outside" might mean no hospitalization at state cost would be required at all.

More savings to the state would come if federal funds were granted for hospital construction under the Hill-Burton Act.

Once hospitalization is declared necessary, the committee recommended creation of smaller 200-bed "receiving" hospitals such as Detroit's Lafayette Clinic.

Layman Influenced by Neighbor

Church Natural Place to Serve God

JOHN H. HAZLETT

(Editor's Note: It seems appropriate during Holy Week to single out a few of the many lay persons who do honor to Christ by their devotion to the churches of their choice. The Pontiac Press asked these persons, all successful in secular pursuits, why they voluntarily give countless hours each year to religious concerns. One man's answer appears today, the second in a series of five.)

John H. Hazlett of Drayton Plains, who makes special orders in jewelry at David Wachler & Sons, Detroit jewelers, says the natural place for a layman to serve God is the church.

★ ★ ★

"We had just moved ont to Drayton Plains from Detroit when I decided I should serve God better. One of my neighbors, John Bougine, influenced me.

"He had been an active Christian many years and a member of Drayton Plains United Presbyterian Church. It all started aswe drove back and forth to work together.

"In our conversation my neighbor told me what serving hischurch meant to him. I asked questions and began to read and study my Bible.

MORE ACTIVE

"From then on I became more and more active. I owe a great deal to him for bringing me closer to God," Hazlett said.

A member of the board of sessions, Hazlett has taught classes and served as superintendent of the Sunday School of 1,200 adults and children at the Drayton Plains church.

It was his privilege in 1950 to be elected commissioner to the general assembly in Indianapolis, Ind. The assembly is the national governing body of the United Presbyterian Church.

"My main reason for working in the church is because this is the Lord's command to follow and serve Him.

"We are here to make Him known to all people. We grow into this more and more deeply as we serve and come to understand what our purpose is here," said Hazlett.

COMMUNITY ROLES

In the community he has served as commissioner of Cub Scouts Pack 52, and as father vice president of the ParentTeacher Association at Drayton Plains Elementary School.

With his wife and children Jeffrey, Mary and Daniel, Hazlett makes his home at 4266 Monroe Ave. Rev. Walter Teuwissen Jr. is his pastor.

A Lake Orion couple is seeking damages and an injunction in Circuit Court against the county for reportedly flooding out 2½ acres of farmland in Orion Township.

The couple, Harold L. and Mary H. Collins, alleged in their lawsuit that officials of Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry's office have poked holes in a dam they had built to keep the surface waters from their property.

This, they said, has caused 2½ out of their 5-acre, two-lot parcel to be "rendered unusable and altogether worthless," with several years of crops being ruined.

The Collins allege that the county never instituted the legal proceedings to acquire their property, but went ahead and constructed drains causing water from adjoining property to run onto theirs.

★ ★ ★

The county was ordered by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem to show cause April 10 why Barry shouldn't be enjoined permanently from reopening the drains.

They valued their damaged property at $15,000.

Placed on Probation for Illegal Surgery Try

Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem yesterday placed Jack B. Harwoods, 51, of Detroit, on probation for three years and ordered him to spend the first 90 days in County Jail for attempting an illegal operation on a 20-year-old Royal Oak girl.

Harwoods, father of two children and a combat veteran of World War II, pleaded guilty March 6.

Harwoods, of 17344 Ohio St., was arrested by Detective Sgt. Phillip R. Deckebach and Detective Robert W. Parsons who hid in the home of the girl and overheard a conversation about the operation.

Police had been alerted.

★ ★ ★

"Today thou shalt be with me in paradise" says to me death is not the end. Beyond the torture of the cross and death which would mercifully end it would be continued life where Jesus and the thief would know each other.

★ ★ ★

It means that we are more than mere intelligent animals. We are potential sons of God.

Christ's words to the thief indicate his awareness that he was more than a man who could be killed. He was God's sent one — God's son. An incarnation indeed had taken place.

BY GOD'S GRACE

Because Christ reveals God's character, purpose, spirit, and love for each of us, however unworthy we are, we see ourselves and every man as having rights and dignity. God has put a spark of Himself in each of us.

★ ★ ★

We are, therefore, destined for eternity and, by God's grace, can rise above animal instincts and live for the common good.

Increasingly, since the advent of the nuclear age, people are asking almost in agony, "Is there a God? What is He like? What is His power and purpose?"

People want to know if God has seen the inner twist of pride, egoism, and passion which hold us in captivity and if he has come in Christ to rescue us, to offer a new way of life. They are asking if God's continuing presence, which we call the Holy Spirit, is available to each of us—to forgive, empower, and guide us.

★ ★ ★

I find a ringing and convincing "Yes" to each of these questions in Jesus' words from the cross:

"Today thou shalt be with me in paradise."

(Tomorrow: "Woman, behold thy son . . . behold thy mother.")

Parking Lot Assessment Confirmation Postponed

BIRMINGHAM — Confirmation of assessment rolls on the Northwest Quadrant Parking Lot was postponed last night until the City Commission meets next Monday.

The delay in approving the $550,000 tax roll came after commissioners learned that one parcel description was incorrect.

City Assessor Clark Hagstrom told the commission that the assessments would be respread and resubmitted for confirmation next week.

Cost of acquiring and developing the city's sixth parking area will be shared by the Municipal Auto Parking System and approximately 125 property owners and merchants benefiting from the improvement.

Lifting of Soviet News Ban Still Has Its Drawbacks

By BOB CONSIDINE
United Press International

Correspondents assigned to the Moscow beat are divided in their outlook on last week's lifting of the censorship ban. In one sense a great burden appeared to be lifted from their backs, but the proviso that they will be held responsible for disseminating "incorrect rumors" and other "errors" lowers a comparable load on the same shoulders.

Heretofore, a man filing a story or broadcasting from Moscow's gloom-ridden Telegraph building made carbon copies of his material and submitted the original and the copy or copies to an uncommunicative dame behind a high and impregnable desk.

She did not speak English but she knew her job. She stamped the time of receipt on the back of each page of copy, then picked up the pages and carried them through a door — shrouded in green portieres — into another section of the building. Presently, she returned, and placidly resumed her seat.

You waited. There was no way in which to hurry her; no way to contact the censor by note or phone. Deadlines might come and go. London or Paris might notify the broadcaster that his circuit was ready and his New York office was standing by.

It made not the slightest impression on the censor's office. The censor (no one ever remembers meeting one, or even seeing one) might be out to dinner, or have gone on his vacation. No one knew.

Plan Final Service for Coach-Line Head

LANSING (AP) — Funeral service will be held here Wednesday for James A. Gibb, founder and president of the Inter-City Coach Line Co., Inc., from 1939 to 1954.

Gibb, who moved to Kewadin near Grand Traverse Bay in 1954, was also vice president of the Twin City Rapid Transit Co., in the Minneapolis St. Paul area, from 1949 to 1951.

Here's a Switch; Go to Siberia to Live Longer

LONDON (UPI) — If you want to live longer, go to Siberia, say the Russians.

"There are at present 106 people in Irkutsk Oblast aged 100 or more. The centenarians represent 12 Soviet nationalities. There are also more than 10,000 people in Irkutsk Oblast aged between 80 and 100. In the opinion of the Siberian scientist, Prof. Druzhko, longevity in Siberia is promoted by the climate and good natural conditions."

Set Crackdown on Field Fires

Waterford Chief Says Most Due to Burning Trash Carelessly

A move to crack down on Waterford Township residents who carelessly burn rubbish that starts field fires is now under way, according to Fire Chief Elmer Fangboner.

During the weekend the three township fire stations answered 22 fires-in-fields, which cost taxpayers more than $2,200.

"Every one of the fires was traced to carelessness," he said. Firemen estimate it costs $100 for each run made.

The fire department is working in conjunction with the township police in issuing tickets to individuals who do not have a trash burning permit.

Careless people could be fined up to $100 or receive a jail sentence, according to state law.

"A person should burn rubbish in a container that will not allow sparks to fly out," Fangboner continued. "You wouldn't believe it —but some people even start trash fires on the ground, in no container, then go away and leave it. Thick grass, at this time of year, is practically explosive," he concluded.

'Featherbedding' Study Gets New Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Simon H. Rifkind, a man accustomed to controversy, has gotten mixed up in another big one.

Council to Meet in Waterford

Boosters Will Discuss Bicycle Safety, Plight of Tennis Project

The third meeting of the Greater Waterford Community Council will be held at 8 p.m. next Tuesday in the cafeteria of Pierce Junior High School on Hatchery Road at Crescent Lake.

* * *

A townshipwide bicycle safety project and the plight of the high school tennis court project (the $2,000 already raised will be lost if not used this year) will be on the program.

The council's standing committees on education, health and safety, water, sewers and sanitation, parks and recreation and public relations will be named with from three to 25 persons serving on each committee.

The council, organized Feb. 15, approved its constitution and bylaws March 8, then elected officers.

At that meeting council members voted to support two local proposals on the April 3 ballot — for a planning commission, and for purchase of two fire station sites.

* * *

The first Tuesday of each month has been designated as the regular meeting date, and dues have been set at 50 cents per person. Organizations are allowed two representatives each, but membership is also open to interested individuals. All meetings are open to the public.

Playwright Odets Wins '61 Drama Award of Merit

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American academy of Arts and Letters gave its 1961 Award of Merit for the drama today to playwright Clifford Odets.

* * *

Odets will receive the gold medal and prize of $1,000 at the academy's annual ceremonial here May 24. The Award of Merit is given to a dramatist only once in five years and members of the academy or the National Institute of Arts and Letters are not eligible.

* * *

Big Egg Hunt Saturday at Waterford High Field

Youngsters in Waterford Township are looking forward to the big Easter Egg Hunt which will get under way at 2 p.m. Saturday at the high school football field. And this year the hunt will be strictly for children in the fourth grade and younger.

* * *

Last year more than 1,000 children and teen-agers swarmed over the big field looking for brightly colored Easter eggs, according to James Curd, chairman for the affair. "It sort of got out of hand last year—with the bigger children geting the most eggs, naturally," he said.

This year children will be 10 years old and under, and a special place will be roped off the the smaller children to hunt eggs at their own pace.

* * *

This year, it isn't how many eggs a child collects, but "who gets the right color" for one of the many prizes offered. There will be 100 tickets to the Rolladium, and another hundred tickets to the Huron Theater given to the lucky children who find the most red, yellow or green eggs.

The unlucky ones will receive Easter candy as a consolation prize.

* * *

A man-sized "Easter bunny" will be hopping about helping the timid youngsters, and the hunt will go on schedule whether it rains or shines, Curd said.

Gets 2 Months Probation for Southfield Car Theft

Theft of a car left with the ignition keys in it landed Ronnie Jones, 17, of 30000 Southfield Road, Southfield, two years probation and $2-a-month court costs.

Jones, who pleaded guilty March 13 to taking the car March 4 from a Southfield trailer park and later returning it, was sentenced yesterday by Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Conservation Dept. Needs Money Help

LANSING (UPI) — The money-troubled State Conservation Department is calling on local governments and civic groups to lend a helping hand to its conservation programs.

Conservation Director Gerald E. Eddy sounded a call for community cooperation in the current issue of Michigan Conservation, the department's bimonthly magazine.

It appears, he said, that the legislature is in no mood to jump the resident fishing license fee from $2 to $3, the plan proposed by the State Conservation Commission to pump new revenue into the department's ailing treasury.

* * *

Lacking new money, Eddy said, many consrvation programs "must continue to grind along in low gear unless the public wants to participate in another way, namely through community conservation."

During the summer months, the temperature on the floor of Death Valley in California has been known to hit 126 degrees.

Market Mixed, Trying Hard

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was mixed but making an effort to improve early today.

Fairly active trading made the tape late briefly within a few minutes after the opening.

Motors, rubbers and rails were on the upside. Chemicals and oils declined. Steels, utilities and metals were mixed.

Other issues making slight gains included United Aircraft, Raytheon, MGM and Pennsylvania Railroad.

Lumber Yard Looks Like Postal Confab

* * *

Someone had tripped a burglar alarm in an attempted break-in.

When Robert Meagher, owner, arrived about an hour later to turn the alarm off, he was greeted by what appeared to be a postal workers convention.

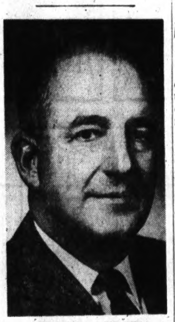
* * *

The postal officials were summoned because there is a post office station in the lumber company office building.

Entry to the building had not been gained.



GEORGE D. DENNIS

Pontiac Motors Dealer Manager Plans to Retire

Retirement of George D. Dennis, executive assistant to the general manager in charge of dealer relations, has been announced by S. E. Knudsen, GM vice president and Pontiac Motor Division general manager.

Dennis, who assumed his present duties in March 1959, will retire March 31 under provisions of the GM Retirement Plan.

News in Brief

Theft of two power sanders, a power saw, radio, and tools, all valued at $69, from a garage was reported to Pontiac police yesterday by Mrs. Oscar Oen of 7 Foster St.

The Surplus Lumber Co. at 5340 Highland Road in Waterford Township was broken into during the weekend and $178 in various items stolen, it was reported yesterday by the owner, Boyd Iesenlohr of 23 S. Holcomb St., Clarkston.

5 Black Top Projects Approved in Waterford

Last night's Waterford Township Board meeting turned into a question and answer session as some 60 residents discussed five proposed road black topping projects at three public hearing.

* * *

All of the projects were approved, and the board will ask for bids at the April 17 board meeting.

Each of the projects will cost less than the original estimate made by township engineers, for a total savings of more than $4,500. This was due to some adjustments and the fact that the Oakland County Road Commission has agreed to assume more of the construction work.

The package deal for black topping 2,500 feet on Woodlow, Shelby and Bielby streets is now estimated to cost $14,200. There are 35 assessments involved.

* * *

The 46 assessments on 2,400 feet of Genella Street will now cost $15,385, it was estimated; and for the 46 lots on Cass Lake Road, residents will pay an estimated $14,500.

People last night were curious about the construction work, how much work is done by the county and township, and how the new black topped roads would affect driveways.

The entire group of black topping projects will hinge on costs presented in the construction bids, Clerk James Seeterlin said. There was a feeling in the audience of "let's wait and see what the bids are, then make our decision."

In other business, the board agreed to making an amendment to the present fire prevention codes, outlawing existing fire extinguishers that have not been approved by the Underwriters Laboratory, Inc., who make tests.

According to Fire Marshal Lewis Goff there are many extinguishers in schools, factories, churches and office buildings that are outmoded, and in many cases, defective.

* * *

The new amendment prohibits the sale of any type of fire extinguisher in the township without prior approval by an authorized representative of the fire chief.

Fire Chief Elmer Fangboner received word from Lansing early today that the same Waterford Township approved ordinance was approved in the House of Representatives by a majority of 95 to 4 at yesterday's session.

Waterford Township attorney Robert Sislock was named to represent the township in a civil case against Clifford Church of 197 Hospital Road for operating a dismantling yard on his property. The trial will be held at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in Justice of the Peace Patrick K. Daly's court.

Russell Gustavson, chairman of the missions commission of Clarkston's First Methodist church, will preside at the meeting.

Marshall R. Reed, resident bishop of the Michigan area, will be present. Dr. Milton S. Bank, pastor of Pontiac's Central Methodist Church will give the invocation.

* * *

Other clergymen will include Rev. M. L. J. Bellinger, president of the Pontiac Methodist Union; Rev. William J. Richards, pastor of Clarkston Methodist church; Rev. W. Leslie Williams, interim superintendent, and Dr. Chester McPheeters, superintendent of the Flint District of the Methodist Church.

A musical solo will be presented by Mrs. Bert Mercer of Waterford, and the Clarkston church's Wesleyan Choir will sing an anthem.

The new church is expected to begin services in the Community Center Building May 21, with the Rev. Mr. DeWitt serving as interim pastor.

The dinner meeting is open to all residents who are of Methodist preference and wish to unite with the new church, the Rev. Mr. DeWitt said.

Pushes Kiddies Out of Window

Spinster Held in Murder of One, but Four Survive 4th-Floor Plunge

GLASGOW, Scotland (UPI) — Jean Barclay Waddell, a 37-year-old spinster, was charged today with pushing five small children out of the window of her fourth-floor apartment. One of the youngsters died in the plunge and the others were hospitalized.

Miss Waddell stood silently between two policewomen as Magistrate James Languir ordered her remanded to a higher court. She offered no explanation.

The woman was accused of pushing Marjorie Hughes, 4, to her death on the sidewalk in Glasgow's grimy Gorbals district. In addition, she was charged with the attempted murder of Frank Lennon, 7, his sister, Margaret, 5, Thomas Devenny, 4, and Daniel McNeill, 5.

All five were hurled from the window of the dark-haired woman's two-room apartment Monday as neighbors watched in horror.

A sixth child, a boy, ran screaming from the apartment as neighbors broke down the door after the children's bodies hit the ground.

Miss Waddell, wearing a cheap fawn-colored coat and long, fur-lined leather boots, made only a brief court appearance and did not speak except to say "yes" when her name was called.

HEARS TWO THUDS

James Haining, 45, said he had just returned home from work when he heard two sickening thuds outside his first-floor apartment on Toryglen Street.

"I looked out and saw two kiddies lying there," he said.

"I half caught him on my shoulder before he fell to the ground —but before I could do anything else, I looked up and saw two more kiddies on their way down," Haining said. "I felt so helpless. There was nothing I could do."

* * *

The little Hughes girl—her fair hair matted over her face and her gym slip and coat splattered with blood—was dead. Marjorie's four playmates lay motionless nearby—all seriously injured. The McNeill boy was rushed to a hospital unconscious.

* * *

Children living in Miss Waddell's street said the children had been lured into the tenement to look at some new puppies.

Stands Mute; Judge Enters Innocent Plea

Standing mute to two counts of kidnaping and assault with intent to rape, innocent pleas were entered in Circuit Court yesterday for Keith D. Francisco by Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Francisco, a 36-year-old recent parolee from Jackson Prison, asked Judge Ziem to appoint an attorney to represent him when he is tried for allegedly forcing a 19-year-old Holly mother of three to accompany him in a car to a desolate area in Springfield Township where he tried to criminally assault her two weeks ago.

The husband of the woman said that he and his wife had met Francisco, 160½ Oakland Ave., in a Holly tavern and that Francisco had invited them to go for coffee later, but that he sped off with his wife before she could get out of the car to join him.

The woman later was found lying in a ditch near the driveway of Francisco's fiance.

No trial date was set.

Youths Boycott Classes in Ohio

Protest Strict Rules on Drinking, Kissing at Bowling Green U.

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — A classroom boycott was planned today at Bowling Green State University after two nights of student demonstrations.

Some 2,000 students, after running wild through this city's downtown area Monday night, took the suggestion of a minister that a more sedate demonstration be held to protest their grievances against university policy.

Go home.

Student spokesmen said there should be no effort to stop any student who wishes to attend class. The university has some 6,000 students.

* * *

A university spokesman said the students would have to take their chances on being allowed to retake examinations if they miss classes.

The Rev. Mr. Trautwein, expressing sympathy with the students, said he and another minister, the Rev. William L. Powers, had been authorized by the university to accept grievances from students. He told the students to list them and he would present them to authorities.

The grievances centered on university regulations which the students consider too strict. One rule, for instance, bans drinking on or off campus, even beer.

The students also don't like what they say is a ban on couples holding hands on campus, and a ban on fellows kissing girls goodnight outside dormitories.

Michigan Athletic Scholarships Aired

LANSING (AP)—Athletic scholarships for football and hockey players at Michigan colleges got a brief going over in the Senate Monday night.

The discussion preceded passage by a 22-6 vote of a bill to remove from an 1885 law a provision making scholarships for out-of-state and foreign students mandatory at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology in Houghton.

* * *

The measure, introduced by Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint, would not prohibit such scholarships but merely remove the stipulation that they are mandatory.

Lane told newsmen that about 37 per cent of the 2,678 students at Tech currently are on scholarships. Seventy-four of the 996 scholarships are for athletes, including 31 foreign students. The college's entire hockey roster is made up of Canadians.

Viola, on FBI List, Gives Up Meekly

DETROIT (AP)—Thomas Viola, a convicted murderer and prison escapee, dyed his graying hair black and grew a mustache, which he also dyed black, in an effort to avoid capture, but he knew it wouldn't work.

"I knew my free time was up the minute the FBI put me on the top 10 wanted list," the 48-year-old Viola told federal agents who surprised him in a near northwest side apartment Monday. "I knew you would get me."

Viola, who escaped from the Ohio State Penitentiary at Columbus last September, knew his time had run out when agents surrounded his second-floor apartment shortly before noon.

He surrendered without a struggle although agents said they found two loaded guns wrapped in towels in the apartment and $4,116 in cash.

Consider Sending More U.S. Food to Aid Africa

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House officials said today they are considering further expansion of the U.S. food for peace program to help curb famine in Africa.

Informed sources said a crash program of food shipments to Africa was one of the priority recommendations made by G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, to President Kennedy after his recent 16-nation African tour.

Youth Gets Sixty Days After Admitting Theft

The Oakland County Jail is home for the next 60 days for Joseph T. Cunningham, an 18-year-old Bloomfield Hills youth who admitted stealing $30 from his neighbor's home last month.

Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem ordered the jail term for Cunningham, 146 W. Hickory Grove Road, as part of his three years on probation, after pleading guilty March 13 to the larceny from a home at 138 W. Hickory Grove Road.

He also ordered Cunningham to pay $100 court costs.

Must Sell Adrian Plant to Buyer Who Will Use It

ADRIAN (UPI)—The announcement that President Kennedy has ordered the General Services Administration to sell the abandoned Air Force plant here to a buyer who will put it to use rather than scrap it boosted morale here higher than at any time since the end of the Korean war.

"Good, wonderful," was the reaction of Mayor Roy McPhail, when told of Kennedy's stiff letter to GSA Administrator John Moore ordering the plant to be sold only to a user.

"Adrian certainly couldn't ask for more than that," McPhail said.

Kennedy's letter ordered Moore to reject outstanding bids for the plant and the GSA chief said a new plan for disposal of the $25-million facility.

American farms suffer about $10 million loss from lightning every year.

To Lock Horns Over Deer Herd

Expect Big Turnout for Conservation Conclave on State Policies

LANSING (AP) — Defenders and enemies of the State Conservation Department's deer management policies will square off in verbal combat tonight.

The biggest citizen turnout of the year is anticipated at a public hearing in the Capitol on bills to reduce or wipe out department authority over the state's big deer herd.

Rep. Hans Rasmussen, R-Ludington, committee chairman and staunch supporter of the conservation department's deer management program, labeled Rep. Walter G. Nakkula, R-Gladwin, "a publicity hound."

Nakkula, committee vice chairman and long-time foe of widespread doe and fawn shooting, accused Rasmussen of "foot-dragging" on the two controversial bills.

Nakkula is sponsor of one of the measures, which would empower county boards of supervisors to veto antlerless deer seasons the department schedules for their areas under its program to keep the herd in balance with the available food supply.

The other bill, introduced and defeated almost annually, would take away all the department's deer management authority, banning doe and fawn harvests altogether.

Some Say Yes, Others No

Are Townships on Shelf?

FLINT (AP)—Raymond Wilcox, an official of Lansing Township for 30 years and its supervisor for more than half that time, had his office annexed out from under him twice in the past 11 years. Previous sites were annexed to the City of Lansing.

Even now, his township hall is in the City of Lansing. There are few appropriate places left for the office out in the township. In fact, the township itself is down to three scattered areas and its population is only half what it was 10 years ago.

Attrition by annexation may spell the end of Lansing Township. Some are predicting an early death for all townships, saying they are outmoded in 20th century urbanity.

But Joseph A. Parisi, ardent champion of the township as "the last bastion of democrary," disagrees. And when Joe Parisi, executive director of the Michigan Townships Association, disagrees with somebody, they know they've been disagreed with.

Parisi points out that of the state's 83 counties, township population now exceeds city population in 40 and township tax assessments top city assessments in 66.

"Does this sound like townships are on their deathbed?" he asks. Without waiting for an answer he goes on to state, "The townships are rising to a new role in Michigan's metropolitan areas."

School districts and townships reap the tax benefits of seven big General Motors plants in the Flint suburbs. Dow Chemical Co. built a $100-million plant in the Bay City area—outside the city itself. Industrial plants dot the countryside around Grand Rapids and Saginaw.

Earthquake for Movie Is Two Days Late

By EARL WILSON

ROME — In Italy, even the earthquakes are late.

"You want to attend an earthquake?" a fellow asked me here in the Excelsior bar. "Sure," I said, "I never attended an earthquake."

WILSON

This was an earthquake scheduled for 3 p.m. Friday in a movie studio and it was supposed to bring the house down (joke). It was supposed to destroy the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah in a picture of the same name.

So there I was, waiting and waiting for the earthquake, and so it wouldn't be a total loss, I talked to a beautiful, shapely Japanese gal named Mitsuko who dances in the movie.

Mitsuko mean 'hahnee' sweet," Mitsuko said. "I from north Japan, I danced and singed New Frontier, Las Vegas. I danced and singed, Ginbashi Crub, Honolulu, and Pigalle Crub, London. Where I learn English? All de place."

MITSUKO

Next day I went out to the studio and saw the earthquake had earthquaked beautifully.

"What time last night earthquake earthquake?" I asked Mitsuko.

"Earthquake no earthquake rast night," Mitsuko said. "Earthquake earthquake today, very rate."

I asked Mr. Aldrich for details and he said, "Look, it's very simple. There was a button that was supposed to trip something and pull the walls down but it didn't trip. Everybody said, 'Don't touch the button!' Well, you could have laid on the button, you could have stood on the button!"

He rolled his shoulders. "So today we get the trip working and the quake quaked."

"One day late," I needled him.

"Two days really," he said. "And you know—that's early . . . for Italy!"

Joey Bishop Was Busy Worrying Last Night

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joey Bishop, who has done for worrying what Perry Como has done for napping, is having a busy year. Last night for example, he appeared on the tube twice.

Bishop made a guest appearance on CBS-TV's "Danny Thomas Show" and then ran NBC-TV's "Jack Paar Show" for Jack the Rapper, who is on vacation.

The success that Bishop has achieved as a comedian is based upon a tried-and-true formula. He has developed a sympathetic public personality as a hapless unsmiling character.

Somehow, tough luck always seems to be dogging his heels. To the public, Joey might come across as a Las Vegas version of Garry Moore. He might be the hard-working son who missed getting his bet down on a horse race because he had to run an errand for his mother. And the horse won; at 15-to-1. He's the cabdriver whose battery went dead during the height of the downtown rush hour. So Joey doesn't smile.

On the Paar show, where his style fits so well, Bishop doesn't have to press for laughs. He can settle for three or four crackling ad libs during an evening, frown the rest of the time, and score nicely for himself. There's no apparent effort involved.

In it, Bishop would be a sad sack advertising agency junior executive who hobnobs with celebrities, lives with kookie parents and glib, unmarried sisters, gets himself into jams.

Despite the friendly laugh track, there was little glory in it for Bishop. And I'm sure the effort involved a lot of hard work. In theory, the next step for Bishop is his own TV series. But if it's anything like last night's sample, I think Bishop will regret leaving the comparative ease of the Paar format.

Indiana College Alumni Get Together April 4

Herman B. Wells, president of Indiana University, will be the speaker at a dinner for alumni in the Detroit area at 8 p.m. Tuesday, April 4 in the Veterans Memorial Building, Detroit.

★ ★ ★

A social hour, beginning at 7 p.m., will precede the dinner. Arrangements are being handled by James O'Neil Jr., of Livonia.
