No Card Games in Cars at Straits for '57 Deer Hunters

MACKINAW CITY (AP) — No more hamburgs selling like hot cakes at $1 each at 4 o'clock in the morning.

The Indians won't be threading their way along the line of stalled cars peddling salt fish from a basket—the ideal snack with a cold beer.

There won't be any visiting with the cars stopped ahead and those behind and discovering a hunting buddy from another season.

No more card games in stalled cars . . . or singing around fires built along the road . . . or comparing notes on how many hours you had to wait for the ferry . . .

Modern progress and the Straits and Mackinac Bridge have made those 20-hour waits and 15-mile lines of cars just a memory for the hunters heading for the Upper Peninsula and the opening of the deer season.

There was no jam-up of hunters as of late yesterday. Cars were whipping across the Straits Bridge like commuters on a superhighway.

Only four of the six toll gates and two of the four lanes were needed yesterday to handle the one-way stream of hunter traffic.

The main crush was expected today, just before the Friday opener. Five toll gates and three lanes will be used if necessary.

Spokesmen for the Bridge Authority said that 7,986 cars passed over the span between the hours of 6 p.m. Tuesday and 10 p.m. yesterday, about double the amount that usually pass over during these hours.

But with the miracle bridge able to handle better than 1,000 cars an hour—its full capacity has yet to be tested—Prentiss M. Brown, Chairman of the Bridge Authority, expressed confidence there would be no waiting.

Since 1923, when the State Highway Department first took over the Straits ferries, the long wait to get aboard has been a traditional part of the opening of the hunting season.

In most recent years, the slow-moving lines have extended back 15 miles to Cheboygan on U.S. 23 and some 10 or 12 miles, past Carp Lake, on U.S. 31.

PART OF THE FUN

"It was part of the fun of going, part of the roughing it," explained a veteran sportsman in a reminiscent mood.

"Once we hit the line, we'd have one fellow drive and the rest of us would just sit and play cards. Looking back, it was the best part of the trip."

The good people of Northern Michigan with an instinct for a fast buck swarmed in once the hunter cars lined up.

Everything imaginable was peddled up and down the mile after mile of waiting hunters.

Food was the best selling item—hamburgers, sandwiches, hot chili, coffee and soup.

"I'll always remember the 'Quick Fire Lady'," recalled one hunter. "She'd sell these little packets containing charcoal and sticks so the fellows could light fires along the side of the road to warm themselves. You could look out and see the fires flickering for miles ahead."

Many a hunter can tell a story of getting out to visit when the line was stopped, missing his party when it started and winding up with new and congenial friends.

Murphy Cutler, photographer with the State Highway Department, worked out of Mackinaw City for a number of years during the hunter crushes.

REGULAR PARTY ABOARD

I remember one year after the war," he said, "when a party of four fellows had a huge army truck designed to carry troops fitted out with a bar and a kitchen.

"They kept picking up people as they went along and there were 19 of them in there enjoying a rip - roaring party when they finally got aboard the ferry. I don't know if any of them ever got to their original parties."

Cutler also recalled seeing left-behind hunters running until they dropped trying to catch up with their parties after the line had started.

A merchant in Cheboygan had happy memories of what he termed "the big line" of 1952.

"They were stopped dead all the way through the city and into the outskirts," he said. "Business was terrific. The bars were jumping with hunters and nearly every place along the route sold out of beer and bottled goods."

Gas stations along the highways came up with a neat contrivance to meet the situation—100 foot extensions to the hoses that could "fill her up" for the cars without forcing them to swing out and lose that precious place in line.

Those were the bad old days before the bridge. But some will still recall them as the 'Good Old Days.'

Ike Tells U.S. Space Defense Will Cost More

AP Wirephoto

FORETELLS BOOST — President Eisenhower warned the nation in a television-radio speech last night that a "very considerable" hike in U. S. defense spending is coming, to meet the cost of space age weapons. The President declared that Congress will have to make cuts in nonessential national programs, adding that some of these programs may have to be eliminated entirely. The President spoke from Oklahoma City.

Evacuate Homes in Wake of Huge Seattle Cave-In

Sewer Break Creates 60-Foot-Deep Crater; 75 Flee Danger Zone

SEATTLE (AP) — Seventy-five persons were evacuated today as a gaping hole 60 feet deep opened in a North End boulevard and threatened to swallow nine houses and an apartment house.

The ugly black crater, the stubby ends of broken water, gas and sewer pipes jutting from its sides, was 150 feet long and 75 feet wide.

At one point the lip of the hole was only nine feet from the foundation of one of the threatened homes.

The hole, caused by a break in a sewer 145 feet under Ravenna boulevard, nearly doubled in size in a few minutes. The edge crumbled away at the rate of about a foot a minute.

The dirt was being sucked into the sewer.

Fifty persons evacuated at the orders of police were residents of the nine homes and the five-unit apartment house directly threatened by the hole. The others lived in homes flooded by backed up sewers.

The boulevard at the hole ceased to exist. The attractive parkway and a tree-lined center strip ended in the muddy hole.

Workmen just managed to save tons of steel beams and a crane sent to the scene only yesterday. The steel beams were to have been used to shore up the sides of the hole.

Several of the beams sunk into place yesterday were twisted like soft wire when the sides of the hole started crumbling again.

The danger increased when a gas main broke.

The hole is a few blocks north of the University of Washington.

Water backed up in sewers also threatened a number of other streets in the area. Backed up water gushed from storm sewers in the area served by the broken trunk sewer.

In the University Village Shopping Center, a multimillion-dollar development a few blocks from the crater, water spouted three and four feet into the air from storm sewers.

Names Central, Northern Taken for 2 City Highs

Pontiac Senior High School has a new name. As of last night it is Pontiac Central High School.

The action was taken by the Board of Education in naming the new high school Pontiac Northern.

Board Member Monroe Osmun ended a two-month discussion on naming the new school when he moved that Northern be the name. He was quickly seconded by Dr. Walter Godsell and it passed unanimously.

The board also officially adopted boundaries for both schools as proposed at a previous meeting and announced in the Pontiac Press.

The boundaries, from west to east follow the following streets: Kennett, Grand Trunk Railroad, Rundell, Paddock, Mt. Clemens and Featherstone.

It is estimated that about 1,000 students will attend Pontiac Northern when it opens next fall, while 2,100 will remain at or enter Pontiac Central.

Brewer Eyed for Roads Post

May Be Offered Job as Coordinator to Push Expressway Plans

Willis M. Brewer of Pontiac may be offered a newly created county post to expedite future Oakland County expressways.

The post would be as "road coordinator" with the Oakland County Road Commission, a position which could be combined with the job of commission personnel director, said Sol D. Lomerson, commission chairman.

Brewer, a top Pontiac Democrat and member of the executive board of the Oakland County Democratic Committee, would spend part of his time in Lansing with the State Highway Department.

"The task there would be to coordinate and expedite State Highway Department plans with those of Oakland County," said Lomerson.

The road coordinator also would be asked to unify the various highway needs and desires of Oakland County's many communities into a coordinated, workable plan, Lomerson said.

"We all know that right now

Asks Congress to Cut Spending on Nonessentials

Suggests Program for Increasing Scientists to Meet Red Threat

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — President Eisenhower last night warned the cost of space age weapons means a "very considerable" boost in defense spending is coming.

He said Congress will have to face the tough task of cutting nonessential national programs.

He said Americans won't tolerate sacrificing security to the worship of a balanced budget.

This impending boost will mean sharp cuts in some nonmilitary spending programs in next year's budget to offset a part of the hike, he said.

Some of these programs may have to be eliminated entirely, the President declared. He departed from his prepared text to add: "And pressure groups will wail in anguish."

In a nationwide television-radio address, the President also called for a stepped-up educational program of training scientists to meet the Russian threat.

He suggested the program include such incentives as fellowship grants to provide more science teachers. But he did not go into detail on his suggestion.

He also called for greater concentration on basic research, saying "the warning lies in the fast rate of increase of the Soviet effort" in that field of science.

Making the second of a series of "chins up" talks designed to bolster United States confidence in free world defense capabilities, Eisenhower said Russia's challenge is being met and will continue to be met.

He cautioned that the Soviet Union's recent achievements in development of weapons of the future mean "there is danger ahead for free men everywhere."

The President, addressing an overflow audence in the 6,000-seat Municipal Auditorium, recalled that Nazi dictator Hitler once boasted he would bury the free world.

"Not enough people took him at his word," Eisenhower said in likening the situation then to the Russian threat today.

"We shall not make that mistake again," he declared.

TAX CUT UNLIKELY

Eisenhower's assertion that defense spending on missiles and other weapons of the future must be hiked by "a very considerable figure" quite likely killed any re-

Hits County Neglect of the Mentally Sick

Dr. L. Jerome Fink, a Pontiac psychiatrist, remained firm today in his belief that Oakland County should provide emergency hospital facilities for the mentally ill.

Dr. Fink, as chairman of the Oakland County Medical Society's Committee for Mental Health, has been one of the leaders in a movement for such facilities.

The movement received a setback yesterday when space which has become available at the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium was recommended for use by the Oakland County Children's Home.

Fink had urged last week that the space be used for an emergency hospital at which the mentally ill could receive care while waiting for commitment to an institution.

The Board of Supervisors' Welfare Committee heard Fink's plea but did not act on it. Committee chairman Hope F. Lewis, of Birmingham, said she thought the state should pay for psychiatric emergencies, not the county.

In the face of these two reverses,

Supported by United Fund

Girl Scout Work Grows

The character building, useful training and recreational opportunities offered Pontiac area girls by the Girl Scouts grow constantly.

Mrs. Evelyn Copeland, executive director of the North Oakland County Girl Scout Council, pointed out today that 75 per cent of the council's funds are derived from the Pontiac Area United Fund, which is now conducting its annual campaign.

GUIDED BY ADULTS

The Girl Scout Council now has 5,111 girls enrolled, plus 1,701 adults who guide them.

Divided into three groups, Brownies, 7-10; Intermediate, 10-14; and Seniors, 14-17, the Girl Scouts participate in more than a dozen different activities.

Included are: Homemaking, outdoor sports and games; agriculture; international friendship; inter-troop activities; art; music, and dramatics.

In addition, the Girl Scouts Council maintains Camp Sherwood on Davis Lake, near Lapeer, which serves 96 girls a session in four summer sessions.

Girl Scouts also go camping in troops at state parks, while many girls attend day camps during the summer in their own neighborhoods. There were 12 such day camps this past summer, attended by 1,200 to 1,500 girls.

"Perhaps our most important contribution," Mrs. Copeland said, "is the encouragement and opportunity the girls get to grow in understanding and appreciation of their own cultural and religious heritage and those of others around the world."

"With the support of the public through the United Fund, we are able to train thousands of girls in citizenship, democracy and brotherly love."

Why Are Plants Leaving Michigan?

UAW's Power Feared by Industry

(Third in a series of articles on taxes and industry.)

By ROGER LANE

LANSING (AP)—The name Reuther acts on conservative Michigan Republicans and business leaders as a red flag does on a bull.

The great economic and political power of Walter Reuther and his United Auto Workers in the state is acknowledged and feared.

The UAW, always boring in, pioneered supplemental unemployment benefits (inaccurately called the guaranteed annual wage) and now is trying to blaze the trail for a four-day week.

SMALL FIRMS PAY

These things cost employers money, lots of it. And where the auto Goliath, bowing to union pressure, calls the tune, small industry within its shadow likewise must pay the piper.

The Daisy Manufacturing Co., and employer of 700 in making air rifles, recently announced plans to move from Plymouth to Rogers, Ark., in the Ozark Mountains.

Cass Hough, executive vice president, said the firm expected at the new location to pay wages about $1 an hour less than its present average of $2.24, including fringe benefits.

"Small industry in Southeast Michigan doesn't have a chance," said Hough, a close associate of the late Republican Gov. Kim Sigler. "We're forced to pay what the giants of industry are made to pay by the UAW."

House Speaker G. M. Van Peursem, a Republican, said the Daisy firm's situation typifies that of thousands of small manufacturers, which, he said, unlike the big auto makers, face life and death competition from rivals elsewhere.

Gov. Williams says that Daisy, which has an independent union, is attempting to avoid paying union wages. And he called the decision to move "cruel and ruthless."

Mr. Hough's frank admission that he is moving to Arkansas to cut wages reveals the real target of the current campaign against Michigan," the governor said. "The target is not taxes, but wages."

When Jones & Laughlin settled on an Ohio location, rather than one near Monroe, for a 16-million dollar plant, Mike K. Schnurr, president of the corporation's stainless steel division, explained:

'PLUS THE OUTLOOK'

"The decision was based on the existing tax situation in Michigan, plus the outlook in Michigan, compared with existing conditions in Ohio."

The words "plus the outlook" are significant.

Williams also disputes that taxes were an important consideration in this case, asserting the deciding factor was existence of steel production facilities on the Ohio site.

Charles F. Moore, president of Diamond Crystal Salt Co., said his concern is shifting operations whenever possible from St. Clair to Akron, Ohio.

He said Michigan taxes per 1,000 tons of salt produced were $531.86. Ohio taxes for the same

Drivers Aren't Pleased With Bag

2 Bucks Already Killed

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Michigan's deer hunting season hasn't started yet but two Macomb County men already have killed bucks—with their cars. They probably aren't too happy about it.

Donald Coppola of Warren was driving 27 miles southwest of Newberry in the Upper Peninsula when he struck and killed an eight-point buck. Damage to the front of his station wagon was estimated at $200.

Thomas Craig killed a deer with his car in Macomb County when the animal leaped from roadside brush. His auto was damaged and he suffered facial cuts. Conservation officers confiscated both carcasses.

Selling Venison Sends 2 to Jail

Out-of-Season Deer Also Cause Fines, Loss of Hunting Licenses

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Charges of operating a black market in venison led to jail terms and fines for three men yesterday.

Pleas of guilty were entered before Municipal Judge Ormond Danford by Jay Newmarch, 22, and his brother Floyd, 34, both of Kingsley, and Dale J. Strange, 20, of Kalkaska.

Michigan Conservation Department officers said a search of Jay Newmarch's barn disclosed butchering tools, meathooks, a blood-spattered tub holding parts of deer carcasses and eight fresh deer hides.

Newmarch was sentenced to 90 days in Grand Traverse jail and ordered to pay $114 in fines and costs after pleading guilty to shooting deer out of season. He was also made ineligible to hold a deer license for three years.

Strange was sentenced to 30 days in jail after pleading guilty to a similar charge. He was ordered to pay $114 in fines and costs and lost his license eligibility for two years.

Floyd Newmarch was given a 15-day suspended jail sentence and ordered to pay $114 in fines and costs after pleading guilty to possessing a deer out of season. He also was placed on probation for two years and lost his deer license for the balance of 1957.

Dragging Lake St. Clair for 2 Missing Hunters

DETROIT (AP) — Dragging operations were to begin again in fog-shrouded Lake St. Clair today in the search for two suburban St. Clair Shores duck hunters who apparently drowned yesterday.

The search was called off late yesterday when dense fog rolled in over the lake.

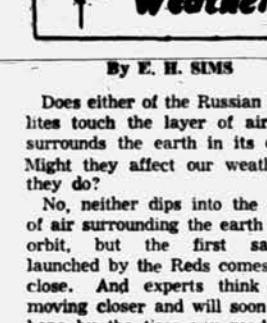

The missing men are Kenneth A. McGowen, 41, 19821 Shady Lane, and Howard Frazier 25530 Santa Rosa.

Two persons reported hearing calls for help coming from the lake yesterday. A police launch investigated. An overturned boat and several duck decoys were found.

VOICE OF DEMOCRACY WINNER—Charles Syers (center), 17, of 98 Cadillac Ave., a Pontiac High School senior, last night was selected as Pontiac's entry in the state "Voice of Democracy" contest, at a dinner held by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Syers' winning script on "I Speak for Democracy" was judged the best from among three finalists. Shown here presenting Syers with his certificate is Peter C. Kalinke, of Birmingham, featured speaker for the night. He spoke on his experiences of being imprisoned by the Russians while he was a German war correspondent. Looking on (left) is Robert Weddle, chairman of the annual Jaycee contest. Syers' script will now be entered in a state contest.

By E. H. SIMS

Does either of the Russian satellites touch the layer of air that surrounds the earth in its orbit? Might they affect our weather if they do?

No, neither dips into the ocean of air surrounding the earth in its orbit, but the first satellite launched by the Reds comes very close. And experts think it is moving closer and will soon (perhaps by the time you read this) begin to skim into the earth's layer of air.

That layer of air extends outward for perhaps more than 200 miles. Sputnik I has been orbiting on an in-and-out course which has brought it within a few miles of the air layer of the earth. The most distant point of the orbit has been something over 500 miles, the nearest something over 200 miles.

Since all weather occurs within about eight to 10 miles of the earth's surface, neither of the satellites will have any effect on our weather, even when they descend through the lower altitudes. By then they will probably be burnt up by friction caused by the heavier air. Even if they are not, they will not affect our weather.

Hits County Neglect of the Mentally Ill

Fink today maintained that "Oakland County has failed to assume its obligation to provide some sort of bed facilities for the mentally ill."

He said that the obligation is not the state's but the county's:

"Oakland County is the second largest in the state, and yet it is the only one in this area that has no hospital, or hospital arrangements, for emergency mental cases."

In other counties, he said, emergency cases can be taken to hospitals, but in Oakland County emergency cases must either stay at home or be taken to Oakland County Jail.

"Very infrequently, room for emergency cases can be found at Pontiac State Hospital or at private or public hospitals. But usually, emergency patients, who often have dangerous tendencies against themselves or others, have no place to go during the long period it takes to get them committed."

More than 1,000 persons from Oakland County are being committed every year to Pontiac State Hospital, he said.

"But the waiting list to get into the hospital is so long that sometimes it takes months or years.

"I'm going to continue my campaign, definitely, until some sort of county facility is provided. The present situation is scandalous, I think."

Tells Deer Hunters to Care for Hearts

DETROIT (INS) — The Michigan Heart Association, warning that more than deer will be in danger during the coming hunting season, has these tips for hunters:

—See your family doctor and have a complete physical examination before going hunting if you have any doubts about your heart.

—Get proper rest before hunting; don't depend on naps in the car while on the way.

—Rest often; exhaustion is bad for the body in general and the heart in particular.

—Don't use stimulants to give you strength; getting tired is nature's way of warning it's time to take a rest.

—Eat and drink moderately.

—Know when to give up. A deer isn't worth losing your health.

Sues for False Arrest in Shooting of Reuther

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union and five police officers have been named in a $4,500,000 damage suit resulting from the 1948 shooting of UAW President Walter P. Reuther.

The suit, which opened in Circuit Court yesterday, was filed by Carl Renda, 37, a scrap metal dealer. Renda was one of four men charged with conspiracy after Reuther was seriously injured by a shotgun blast at his home.

Renda is suing for alleged false arrest and malicious prosecution. The charges against the four men were later dropped, after Donald Ritchie of Windsor, Ont., admitted that the story he told implicating them was false.

Safe Driving Day Set

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams has proclaimed Nov. 17 as traffic safety Sunday in Michigan, saying "This is a time when we all need to feel more acutely our personal and moral responsibility when we drive."

Legislator Says Williams Letting Daisy Co. Move

LANSING —A Republican legislator has rapped Gov. Williams for failure to do more to save the Daisy Manufacturing Co., for Plymouth, his home town.

Rep. Sterling Eaton (R-Plymouth) said, "You would think he would have used his high office to allay Daisy's apprehension about his tax policies and to assist its employes in solving their mutual problems."

"Instead of taking such positive action, the governor contented himself with the defeatest expedient of simply castigating business in general.

"His course may have been calculated to please some of his political allies, but it did nothing to save the jobs of 700 Daisy employes," Eaton said.

Daisy announced plans last week to move to Arkansas.

The governor was out of the state, and his office had no immediate comment.

there are factions in various places in the county which have highway proposals that conflict with one another," he said.

AT $8,500 SALARY

The combined posts would pay about $8,500 a year together. The new job of coordinator could be created independently of the board of supervisors, Lomerson said.

Brewer today said he was "interested in the job, but undecided whether to accept it or not, if it is offered to me."

Lomerson said that the job of personnel director has been vacant for about a year. "We didn't want to fill it with a full-time man, nor do we think that the post of coordinator by itself needs a full-time man."

Brewer, who Lomerson said is the only candidate under consideration at present, has been a Pontiac supervisor 14 years and heads the supervisors' salaries committee.

He might be asked to resign as supervisor if he accepts the road commission post.

Brewer manages the secretary of state's Pontiac office and is chairman of the Board of Trustees of Pontiac General Hospital.

President Explains High Defense Costs

maining hope for a tax cut next year.

The President's talk here climaxed Oklahoma's 50th anniversary "arrows to atoms" celebration of its statehood. He headed back to Washington by plane immediately after the speech.

In his address, the President indicated some areas in which increased spending loomed:

1. The stepped-up dispersal of Strategic Air Command bases.
2. Improvements of the warning system for any possible enemy attack.
3. Development of an active missile defense against missiles.
4. Additional money where needed in the development of long-range missiles.
5. A pay raise for military personnel.

Of the U. S. satellite and missiles program, he said: "We intend to carry forward our programs in a way that will do credit to our scientific tradition and insure our security over the years ahead. This, again, will involve substantial costs.

"Now, all these new costs, which in the aggregate will reach a very considerable figure, must be added to our current annual expenditures for security. There is no immediate prospect for any marked reduction in these recurring costs."

Eisenhower did not estimate how much defense spending will have to be increased after paring the budget wherever possible on nonmilitary categories. But he did say: "By whatever amount savings fail to equal the additional costs of security our total expenditures will go up.

"Our people will rightly demand it. They will not sacrifice security worshiping a balanced budget.

"But we do not forget, either, that over the long term a balanced budget is one indispensable aid in keeping our economy, and therefore our total security, strong."

Flying Boy, Girl Sent to Corrective Institutions

CENTERVILLE, Mich. (AP)—Two teenagers, who flew a stolen plane some 80 miles from Michigan into Indiana last Monday, have been ordered placed in corrective institutions.

Fred Harter, 14, was ordered sent to the Michigan Boys Vocational School at Lansing by Probate Judge Robert Polleys yesterday. His companion, 13-year-old Diana Ayotte, was held for transfer to the Girls Training School at Adrian.

The two boarded the plane at Sturgis, Mich., and took off with Harter, who had never flown a plane before, at the controls. He crash-landed the craft in the Dunes State Park near Chesterton, Ind.

Teenage Court Sentences 5 to Write on Safety

BIRMINGHAM — The November session of the Birmingham Teenage Court saw one of the six offenders draw a 15-day suspension of his drivers license. The other five violators are required to write 500 to 750 word themes on traffic safety.

The Court was holding its second session. Judge, court officers and 20 jurors are chosen from seniors at the high school.

They work under the adult supervision of Detective Sgt. Robert Schaule, and a member of the civic staff at the high school.

Three youths stood mute yesterday on an arraignment of larceny from a building, according to Bloomfield Township police.

They said that the trio was arrested Saturday night, at a gas station at 1415 South Telegraph Rd.

Lawrence Marsino, 18, of 370 East Tennyson St., Pontiac and Michael Ivendurgh, 18, of 42 Allen St., Pontiac were charged with larceny from a building, while their companion, Ray Olmstead, 18, 1111 Airport Rd., Pontiac, received an added charge of felonious assault with a knife.

Norman Farber of Mt. Clemens, station attendant, was cut on the wrist when attacked by Olmstead. He said the three brought their car in for repairs shortly after midnight.

While he was working on it he noticed two of the boys removing items from the shelves. Olmstead's attack came when Farber reprimanded them.

Edwin F. Kirbert, executive secretary of the Birmingham Y, will attend the seminar on "Why Administrative Practices," at MSU, Nov. 18-20.

Birmingham chapter OES 220 has completed final plans for the annual bazaar and turkey dinner to be held Saturday at the Masonic Temple.

Added feature will be a booth of items for children, including stuffed toys and doll clothes. Another new attraction will be the snack bar, which will operate from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The dinner will be served from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Reservations may be made through any chapter office. Mrs. Charles Martz is general chairman. Blanche Brooks is dinner-ticket chairman with Mrs. Wallace Matthews in charge of the dinner.

Allie E. Cook

Service for Allie E. Cook, 79, of 283 Townsend, will be at 1 p.m. Saturday from the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Roseland Park Cemetery.

Mr. Cook died this morning at Grove Crest Manor Convalescent Home, Pontiac, after a long illness.

Born in Southfield Township, he married Mabel Louise Shea in June, 1900 in Detroit. He had attended Birmingham schools.

Formerly a carpenter, Mr. Cook was a custodian in the Birmingham School system.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Harry Millward of Detroit and Mrs. Russell Berger of Birmingham; a son, Grover Cook of St. Joseph; two grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Chemistry Set Starts Career

14-Year-Old Noel Hurd Scores Early Credit in Electro-Physics

ALAMOSA, Colo. (INS) — A child's chemistry set purchased at the age of seven has become the means to a career and fame for Noel Hurd.

Now 14 years old, Noel already has two successes in the complex field of electro-physics to his credit and has attended college classes in chemistry, physics, and other sciences at Adams State College in Alamosa, Colo.

His most important discovery concerns the effect of electricity on certain molecular behaviorisms. A machine developed by the young scientist measuring these effects is being perfected in secret. It will be useful in commercial and research work.

Young Hurd sold Christmas cards to buy his first chemistry outfit. Since then, he has launched far into a new career with the aid of professors at Adams State.

He has constructed a 50-cent instrument for measuring optical rotation, the effect certain molecules have on polarized light, which does the same job as a $350 machine in the college laboratory.

Still in high school at Durango, Colo., the youth uses the library at the college for his science reading and experiments. The college has allowed him to take advanced courses—including tests — which seniors find tough to pass.

The algae and the fungi are plants that have neither flowers, fruits, seeds nor roots.

Toy Device Combines 4 Music Instruments

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—A new electric toy vibraphone is being manufactured by a North Hollywood concern which says its product combines four instruments — the vibraphone, marimba, xylophone, and orchestra bells.

The device, powered by two batteries, is said to produce music of about the same quality as that of a full-size instrument.

Albany became the capital of New York state in 1797.

U.N. Turns Back to Disarmament

West Hopes to Present Compromise Proposal for Negotiations

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Assembly turned to the thorny disarmament issue today as the West sought to bring Russia back into negotiations by agreeing to add 10 nations to the Disarmament Commission.

Western delegates hoped to introduce a compromise proposal after the Assembly vote on a 24-nation resolution calling for new disarmament negotiations based on the latest Western proposals.

The resolution, which cleared the 82-nation Political Committee 57-9 last week, was certain of Assembly approval.

The compromise plan appeared headed for trouble, however. A Soviet spokesman told a reporter his delegation did not agree with the political makeup of the proposed additions. They reportedly include only one Soviet bloc member—either Poland or Czechoslovakia—and would have pro-Western Tunisia represent the Middle East.

The Russians have announced they will not negotiate on either the 12-nation commission or its five-nation subcommittee as presently organized. This would render pointless the Western call for new arms talks and cripple the whole U. N. disarmament machinery.

There were also rumblings of dissent from India, which originally proposed enlarging the commission by 10 nations. India's plan which the Russians openly favor, would add both Poland and Czechoslovakia to the commission as well as Communist Yugoslavia and pro-Soviet Egypt.

Russia demanded earlier that the arms negotiations be extended to include all 82 U. N. members. She later indicated she would go along with the Indian compromise.

Steam Locomotives Still Used Abroad

PARIS — Although the United States has only about 3,000 steam locomotives still in operation, Western Europe has more than 40,000.

In the British Isles 18,000 steam locomotives are in use. Germany has 11,000, France 7,000, Italy has 2,000 — the youngest of which is 27 years old — and Spain has 3,000 and is building more.

Holiday Season Needs Downtown Yule Tree

To most people the Christmas tree is the symbol of the joyous holiday season. The vast majority of us will again have a tree this year. It may not be large, but it will be a cheery decoration for the home. It is an integral part of the yule season.

The same Christmas spirit holds true in most communities.

Not Pontiac. We are the exception.

For many years Pontiac practiced this time worn custom. But for some unknown reason, we have decided that the idea of a community Christmas tree is obsolete.

For many years it was the authentic sign that the Christmas season had arrived in Pontiac. It was a pleasure to shoppers, along with everyone that had business downtown.

Our apparent feeling that it is small-townish seems lacking in reality, since this does not hold true around the country. New York, Chicago and Detroit all have their trees.

Instead of being out of step when we are surrounded by communities that adhere to this policy, why not join them.

LET'S HAVE A PONTIAC CHRISTMAS TREE.

The Courthouse lawn at the corner of Huron and Saginaw streets is the ideal location. A tree, 60 to 70 feet high, prettily decorated and lighted, would be a tremendous boost for all downtown Pontiac.

France's New Premier

After five weeks of wrangling, France has a new Premier, the 24th since the end of the war.

President COTY's fifth nominee, 38 year old Finance Minister FELIX GAILLARD, was supported by all parties except those of the Left and Right. Time was running out. France had to have a government for the coming NATO conference in Paris.

The appointee is something new in French premiers—a young man—and that could be what France needs. He will seek to end the costly Algerian war and will propose austerity measures to help the nation's economy. Premier GAILLARD is an economist, a vigorous statesman and has had some political experience. He also is a realist who knows nothing can be gained by not facing his country's crises.

Of course the Premier will have strong opposition in the Aassembly. The coalition is the largest since the war and many in it have opposed nearly everything he tried to do as Finance Minister.

France's intermittent chaos reemphasizes the weakness of the Fourth Republic's executive branch.

Sound Barrier Broken Ten Short Years Ago

The recent record set by Gen. CURTIS E. LEMAY reminds us that this is the tenth anniversary of man's penetration of the sound barrier. This was first accomplished by U.S. Air Force Capt. CHARLES E. YEAGER, in a rocket powered, experimental aircraft.

Since that high point in aviation a decade ago, experimental manned aircraft has attained speeds of three times the speed of sound and altitudes of 126,000 feet.

The significance of these operations is the fact that these production aircraft are powered by turbojet engines, not rockets.

With our new scientific development branch of the government getting into operation the prospect for the future is bright. The prospect is for power-turbojet and rockets; ramjets and rockets which will push manned flight into the hypersonic reaches.

For the layman, all this speed is hard to comprehend. Obviously it is quite necessary to keep up with the world of today. Just a few short years ago this traffic speed caused quite a sensation; today it is just another routine military operation.

If the advancements of the next ten years are as rapid as the last ten I am sure we are safe in saying air flight of the future is beyond all comprehension.

The Man About Town

It Was Perry Day

Name Figured Prominently in Pontiac Area Marriage

Sunrise: What it is great to face for 23 miles every morning.

It surely was a big Perry day at a recent wedding at Lake Orion. The bride (Dora Schmidt) is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Schmidt. The groom, James F. Perry, is the son of Mrs. John Perry of 713 Perry St., and the late John Perry.

The deer trek already is well under way, although the season doesn't open until Friday. According to who works at a Drayton Plains gas station, the northbound traffic is nearly at twice its usual proportions.

The parakeet at the home of

Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard Mott

in Keego Harbor is again on the loose. Last year when it first was AWOL it was found by a Sylvan Lake woman who identified its repetition of its family name.

"Congratulations to The Pontiac Press, Michigan's best newspaper," phones of Birmingham, who asserts a Detroit paper has been running stories about where the best autumn color tours are located—after the leaves have fallen.

Remember: Qualifications for our Verbal Orchids are: 80th birthday or more and 50th wedding anniversary or more.

Last spring's Miss Lake Orion,

Opal May Sage,

has both beauty and good sense. She was recently married to a Pontiac Motor Division man—who also prepared the wedding cake, which the 250 guests declared a masterpiece.

Ronald Schons,

With proper grafting, apples and pears are grown on the same tree, and of Farmington is getting a flavor mixture in both that he says is more than delicious.

Prominent scion of the family in whose honor Pontiac's beautiful suburban Gingellville was named,

Fred W. Gingell,

died on Tuesday, aged 76. He had held many public offices in his community.

A phone call just received from

of Rochester suggests that we have more contests. We're getting up one that we think is quite unique, to be announced in this column in a few days, with a good prize for the best solution.

Verbal Orchids to—

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Davidson

of 18 Lorraine Court; fifty-fifth wedding anniversary, also his eighty-third birthday

Herman Silversteel

of Bloomfield Hills; eighty-fourth birthday.

Goldilocks and the 3 Bear-State Politicians

David Lawrence Says:

Ex-President Speaks Out of Turn

WASHINGTON — Friends of former President Truman who know what happened in the missile program under his administration are frankly amazed at his comment that a missile program which he started was deliberately abandoned by the present administration.

LAWRENCE

Truman was referring to the mission which he gave K. T. Keller, formerly the head of the Chrysler Corporation, to coordinate missile planning. He says he gave him full charge, but he really didn't. The work of Keller was not terminated by the Eisenhower administration, but by the auto executive himself.

MEMORY REFRESHED

The facts were given on Nov. 1 by Arthur Krock in the "New York Times" after a talk with Keller. The former President had ample opportunity to have his memory refreshed by reading the newspaper article, but he ignored it and preferred instead to charge the Eisenhower administration with a refusal to continue Keller in the task begun prior to 1953. Krock wrote:

"When the Truman administration was replaced, President Eisenhower asked Keller to remain and to take on the role of plenary administrator that he had declined when proffered by President Truman, and now once again declined.

"He was then 'importuned' to remain on his own terms, and did so remain, as an analyst and 'appraiser' until late 1953. At that point, estimating the missile program to be progressing effectively and at a satisfactory rate, and having spent himself physically, Keller on his own insistence retired.

NEVER IN CHARGE

"So the difference between the former President's recollection and those of others principally concerned is fundamental: Keller was never in 'full charge of the missile program;' he refused the role. He was not 'dismissed' by President Eisenhower, but urged by the executive as by his predecessor to stay on. And Keller remained with the new administration in his original capacity as long as he chose."

Keller, in his role of adviser and analyst, did a monumental job. Everyone here knew he had the confidence of the White House, and he was able within the machinery of the government to get all the cooperation he needed.

Truman in his speeches lately has been banging away at the Eisenhower administration on the Little Rock controversy. He criticizes Governor Faubus of Arkansas for having, as he says, failed to uphold the Constitution but fails to recall that he himself seized the whole steel industry of America without legal authority.

REVERSED ORDER

The Supreme Court of the United States said so in its opinion in June 1952 reversing the seizure order, declaring the action of Truman had no justification under the Constitution.

Now the former President says that the Little Rock affair could have been handled by Eisenhower "without calling on the Army for help."

Yet the officials under Truman did rely in the steel case in 1952 on precisely the same arguments employed by the Department of Justice a few weeks ago in defending the dispatch of Federal troops to Arkansas. Strange what a passion for partisan politics does to a former president's recollection of history in just five years.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

But if ye be without chastisement, whereof all are partakers, then are ye bastards, and not sons. — Hebrews 12:8.

Those who inflict must suffer, for they see
The work of their own hearts, and this must be
Our chastisement or recompense.
—Percy Bysshe Shelley.

Dr. William Brady Says:

'Doctors Pass the Buck on Delivery-Room Rules'

"I have had two babies. Different doctors each time. Both doctors said my husband could remain with me if the hospital would allow it. Both times we found the hospital would not allow it.

"Our 5-year-old son had to have something done to his ear. The doctor took him to the hospital and my husband went along. At the door the nurse took the boy and told my husband he'd have to sit in the waiting-room . . . So when they came at the boy with the gas mask . . .

"If you were five and they took you into such a frightful place, with a lot of strangers staring at you and . . . wouldn't you yell?

(Mrs. T. G.)"

I believe I would yell my head off under such cruel circumstances. But you can't put all the blame on the hospital, ma'am.

The doctors are to blame for it. They, not the hospital, make the rules and neatly duck responsibiliy by saying certainly your husband can share the miracle of childbirth with you IF the hospital will allow it. Tell me, ma'am, how can you put your faith in a doctor who deceives you like that?

If any hospital superintendent, physician, nurse or other "authority" questions the sanitary or aseptic propriety of an expectant father in the delivery room, I'll describe a few observations I have made in respect to that question.

It has been a long while since I have been chided by a woman about indelicacy; and I hope it won't happen again, for my stomach is pretty well settled now.

The reason why certain doctors want to keep what goes on in the delivery room a secret is not at all what you poor untutored customers are led to believe. A husband in the delivery room is no more likely to contaminate the atmosphere or to infect anybody than is a doctor or a nurse.

In the hospital they put asunder what God hath joined together because it is much easier for the doctor to shift responsibility or to leave the patient in the hands of nurses or other attendants if the husband is isolated or confined in the monkey cage with other goofs.

The Country Parson

"If you know what kind of a man you want to be, you ought to shoot a little beyond the mark—like you do when you're shooting ducks."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Gives Cure for Nervous Tremors

Helen has stage fright. But she knows she should talk before a crowd. So follow the advice given below. Learn how to make your hand quit trembling. And learn the strategy of getting more "audience participation," for this strategy makes you less 'selfconscious and perks up the crowd, too.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-352: Helen R., aged 20, is president of a church Young People's Society.

"Dr. Crane, I am a nervous wreck," she began, "for I get terrified when I try to talk before a crowd.

DR. CRANE

"The rest of the young people voted me into office and wouldn't listen to my protests.

"Now I am petrified with fear at the thought of our first meeting next Sunday night.

"I am to preside. But I know my hands will shake so badly I can't even read my notes. And I'll blush and choke up. Oh, I feel terrible!

"I don't believe I can go through with it, do you?"

SPEECH STRATEGY

Everybody is nervous and a victim of stage fright at the start. So don't use that alibi to avoid doing what you know is good for you, and it adds to your social assurance to perform in public.

When you hold your speech notes in one hand, they will probably shake and rattle.

So seize them with BOTH hands and pull gently in opposite directions. Then they will be almost motionless, for the two hands will neutralize each other's tremor.

If you sing in public, use this same strategy for keeping your music from trembling.

And to divert attention from herself, Helen should shift it to somebody in the audience, but do so in a complimentary way.

"This week I saw Jack perform a very Christian act," she may start, as she directs attention to a member of her audience.

Then Helen can explain in more detail what it was. Meanwhile, the crowd will focus attention more on Jack than on Helen so she will not feel so conspicuous and self-conscious.

OFFER CHOICES

In conducting a discussion meeting, it is also well to offer the audience a choice of two alternatives.

Don't bluntly inquire of the crowd, "What do you think about belonging to church?"

That is too vague a query to elicit much response, so the audience will sit still and fail to pick up its cues.

Instead, give folks a chance to make a choice and they'll be more likely to jump into a lively discussion.

"Do you think church members are healthier than non - church members?" can be a way of starting the debate.

"Are active church people as likely to get a divorce as the non-church members?"

"During a Red Cross or Community Chest Drive, do the church folks contribute more or less than the non-church people?"

4-ANSWER TESTS

If you wish to stimulate more interest in Bible study, offer the crowd a 4-answer, mimeographed or typewritten quiz, containing relevant items, such as:

"The Apostle who didn't believe Jesus had risen from the dead was

. . . PETER - JOHN - THOMAS - PHILIP."

People like to take a chance, so they relish this type of quiz, especially if you let them pool their knowledge with several teammates. Then they don't feel so embarrassed if they make a low score.

For further advice, send for my booklet "Psychology of Public Speaking," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Always Hoping

Space Dog Gets Varied Reactions

I'm neither a pessimist nor an optimist, just skeptical. That man will ever move about the cosmos is utterly fantastic. Rockets to the moon, in my estimation, will remain a figment of imagination. Sending Laika in Sputnik is just a confirmation of Russian brutality, sending a life, even a dog's life, into a fate unknown is inhuman. What constructive purpose is hoped to be gained? It isn't God's will for mankind to explore these planets. No thanks. No tickets for me or my sad-eyed pooch. I'm privileged to live on earth and am a firm believer in counting my blessings.

Skeptical

The more I think about Furious' letter about the dog, the madder I get. You yell your head off because the Reds take a dumb animal and misuse it. But have you ever written about the way humans are treated? You're willing to fight for a dog, but you just sit back blissfully and pay no attention to humans. I hope Furious finds the right goal and fights for that. I think you got off on the wrong train of thought. Remember, a dog is good as long as it isn't spelled backwards.

16 and Really Worried

First I want to congratulate your column for not being one-sided. It is one of the fairest American columns I know.

I'm not a scientist but have seen enough of the world to know right from wrong. I'm in favor of the Russians sending their dog into space for scientific knowledge. In other Russian doings, I firmly disagree.

Not long ago I read about farmers shooting fox hounds because they unknowingly trespassed. Each day in this wonderful, and I mean wonderful, country of ours, various dog pounds gas thousands of dogs. I love my dog, but I'd gladly give him to my country if he could help better its knowledge in various fields.

Death Penalty Not Answer

Statistics show that states which have abolished the death penalty have lower crime rates. It has also been proven that the death penalty is no longer an effective deterrent to crime. Businessman mentioned he didn't like supporting persons serving life sentences. But think of the gas bill we'd save if capital punishment were abolished. Many prisoners do get out, but it's rare when they fail to change themselves into model citizens.

When people have yet to learn discipline, the death penalty is unavoidable, but in a place like the U.S. of today, people are so far advanced that the death penalty actually proves we're afraid to bring justice the humane and righteous way.

I say abolish the death penalty in all states and let there be life.

'Give Us Chance; Hire Beginners'

Why do we teenagers have trouble finding a job? They say you should have experience, but they won't give us a chance to prove we can do the work. Experience isn't the only thing, but ability and determination to do a job right should count, too. As someone said, this is a factory town, and all of us can't have high school educations. Let's have some of you stores break down and hire someone with no experience.

Asks Better Lights at X-way Turns

These new expressways are really a great improvement, but more lights should be erected at the entrances. On a bad night it's almost impossible to see around some of the curves, especially when you're making a sharp right turn. Your lights focus straight ahead and it's hard to tell if you're on the road or off. Just one good light at curves would be a great help.

Asks Cooperation on Hospital Issue

As much as I dislike the mess the city is in over the hospital issue, I sure hope residents will start giving as much cooperation as possible. No matter who's to blame, the thing is in such a turmoil it will take an army of geniuses to untangle it, and without a little community support, the City Commission and all concerned will really have a rough time. If we have to vote again, let's not make everyone suffer for the mistakes of a few.

NATO Studying Sky Platforms

Researcher Also Says Sub Missile Launchers Being Considered

PARIS (AP)—NATO's aeronautical research director said today the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is studying plans to build aerial platforms for the launching of nuclear missiles.

These, Dr. Theodore von Karman told a news conference, would be in addition to the submarine nuclear platforms whose production U.S. Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) urged yesterday.

Jackson told the newsmen today the United States is going ahead with development of a nuclear-powered intercontinental ballistic missile. He said it would be a one-stage rocket and more efficient than chemically propelled missiles after 2,000 miles.

Von Karman, former chief scientific adviser to the U.S. Air Force and now director of NATO's aeronautical research and development program, said plans for aerial launching platforms are still only preliminary. He said the underwater ones — using atomic submarines — are not envisaged before 1960.

Von Karman said France's "Flying Atar"—a weird hovering aircraft—could serve as a prototype for the sky launchers.

The scientist, described by Sen. Jackson as the world's greatest aeronautical engineer, said that missile-launching subs would have the advantage of being able to approach close enough to targets to use rockets propelled by solid fuel. These, he said, are much simpler than the elaborate three-stage long-distance missiles.

Von Karman said he believed the Soviet successes with intercontinental ballistic missiles and artificial satellites showed they "have put the fuels of the future into practical use sooner than we did."

"These are not miraculous fuels," he said, "but ones which are only in the development stage in our countries."

NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak opened today's session of the NATO Parliamentary Assembly with a speech saying the Soviet Sputnik "is NATO's most powerful ally and I am very grateful to the Russians for launching it."

Spaak said the satellite put new life into the 15-nation North Atlantic Alliance.

Study to Sift Noise as Violence Factor

NEW YORK (AP)—A psychologist says noise contributes toward violence in both humans and animals.

Dr. Fabian Rouke, head of the psychology department at Manhattan College, has been asked to organize a research group and conduct a study of noise hazards for New York's "quiet city" campaign.

Rouke said, "It is known that high-frequency sound waves can induce forms of epileptic behavior in laboratory animals." He said the epileptic type reaction often is the underlying cause of crimes of violence.

"People working under noisy conditions require more energy to perform their tasks, and they have an increased error factor," he said.

Jury Sniffs Moonshine to Convict Bootlegger

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A court jury sniffed and sipped of moonshine yesterday and convicted a man accused of possessing a five-gallon jug of the stuff on which no tax had been paid.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert Nunez and Revenue Agent Oliver Sills laboriously upended the jug to pour samples into a paper cup.

The cup was passed around, some taking a smell, others a sip.

Federal Judge W. J. Barker commented from the bench with a smile: "If you want a chaser, gentlemen, we'll supply you with that."

The Proxy Murder

By ERLE STANLEY GARDNER

Copyright 1957

THE STORY SO FAR: Jerry Conway is alarmed by an advertising campaign Gifford Farrell, a discharged employe, is conducting to obtain proxies and oust Conway as a stockholders' meeting. In a mysterious telephone call a woman calling herself Rosalind offers to supply Conway with a list of the proxies Farrell has acquired. Though he suspects a trap, Conway agrees to follow directions and obtains a key to a hotel room for the meeting, but instead of finding Rosalind there's a young woman scantily attired. She points a gun at him, which he takes from her. Since the gun has been fired recently, Conway suspects a frame-up and calls Perry Mason, attorney. Mason and Paul Drake, detective, go to the hotel room and find a woman murdered. Mason traps Evangeline Farrell into admitting she is Rosalind. She's divorcing Farrell and wants to help Conway. Farrell is having an affair with Rose Calvert, a secretary. Mrs. Farrell obtains carbons of the proxy list. Mason identifies the body as Rose Calvert. The proxy list planted in Conway's car doesn't compare with the list Mason has, nor is the gun Conway gave the District Attorney the murder weapon. Farrell is trapped when Mason asks him about the bikini bathing suit he bought Rose Calvert, in which he took her picture. Police dig up a revolver from the yard of the motel where Conway stayed. Conway denies substituting guns. If it's the murder weapon Conway will be charged with murder. Searching the hotel room Mason finds a small round hole in the mattress.

Chapter 28

The detective, Inskip, ran the wire up inside the hole in the mattress for a few inches, then said, "Here it is. I can feel the wire hitting something hard."

"Can you make a hook on that wire and get it out?" Mason asked.

"I can try," Inskip said, "by putting a loop on the thing and working it over.—I'll see what I can do."

Inskip used his pliers, then again put the wire probe in the hole in the mattress, manipulated it back and forth, up and down, said. "I think I've got it," then pulled. He pulled something back for a couple of inches, then the probe slipped loose.

"Have to get another hold," Inskip said. "I think I can widen that loop a little now."

He again worked on the wire, then once more pushed it up in the hole, said to Mason, "I've got it now." He pulled back on the wire. A metallic object popped out of the hole and fell down between the springs.

Inskip retrieved it, "A .38 caliber bullet," he said.

Mason stood motionless, his eyes half-slitted in thoughtful concentration.

"Well?" Inskip asked.

"Let's get the bed back into shape," Mason said. "Turn the mattress the way it was."

"Now what?" Inskip asked.

Mason said, "Take a sharp knife, take the pointed blade of the knife and make some kind of an identifying mark on that bullet so you can recognize it. Better put it on the base of the bullet. Try not to disfigure the bullet any more than possible."

"Then what?"

KEEP THE BULLET

"Keep that bullet with you," Mason said. "Don't let it out of your possession at any time, no matter what happens."

"Now wait a minute. You'd better keep it," Inskip said.

Mason shook his head. "I wouldn't want to be a witness in a case I was defending. I want you to keep that. And I want you to keep it with you. Don't let it out of your possession. Get some soft tissue and wrap it up so you don't destroy any of the striations on that bullet."

"Then what?" Inskip asked.

"Then," Mason said, "we make up the bed and you can go to sleep."

"But how the devil did that bullet get in that mattress?" Inskip asked.

"That," Mason said, "is one of the things we're going to have to find out."

"Do we want to tell anyone about this?"

"Not now," Mason said. "The police would laugh at us and claim we were faking evidence."

"Later on it'll be just that much worse," Inskip pointed out.

"That's why I want you to keep the bullet. What's your background? How long have you been in this business?"

"Quite a while. I was a deputy sheriff for a while, then I drifted up to Las Vegas, and worked there. I did some security work when Hoover Dam was going through. I've been with the government and now I'm working as a private operative."

"Ever been in trouble?"

"No."

"Nothing they can throw up at you? You're not vulnerable in any way?"

Inskip shook his head. "My nose is clean."

"All right," Mason told him, "sit down and write out notes on what has happened, so you can testify if you have to. Remember the time, the place, the persons who were present, and what you found. Save that wire probe so you can show it if you have to."

"What's the significance of that bullet?" Inskip asked.

"I don't know," Mason told him. "That is, I don't know yet."

"Okay, you can call on me anytime."

"You going to tell the police about this?" Mason asked.

"I'd like to, Mr. Mason."

Mason said, "Hold it until ten o'clock tonight anyway. I want first chance to tell the police about it. Then you can . . ."

"Let's not talk time schedules," Inskip interrupted. "Let's leave it this way: I suggest to you that I think the police should know about this, and you say that you're going to tell them. Okay?"

"Okay," Mason said, "we'll leave it at that. I didn't say when, did I?"

"No. You didn't say when. I told you to report to the police. You said you would. I assumed you meant right away. However, because of that assumption, I didn't pin you down. That was my mistake. That's all it was, a mistake."

"A mistake," Mason agreed.

THE TRIAL STARTS

Judge Clinton DeWitt nodded to Hamilton Burger. "Do you wish to make an opening statement, Mr. Burger?"

Burger nodded, got up from the counsel table and lumbered over to the jury box.

"Ladies and gentlemen of the jury," he said, "I am going to make one of the briefest opening statements I have ever made. We expect to show that on the sixteenth day of October the defendant, Gerald Conway, was president of a corporation known as California & Texas Global Development & Exploration Company, usually referred to as Texas Global.

"Mr. Conway was engaged in a proxy fight with a former official of the company, one Gifford Farrell. There were advertisements in the newspapers asking stockholders to send in proxies to a committee which was pledged to vote Mr. Farrell into power. That stockholders' meeting, ladies and gentlemen, is now three days away. At the insistance of the defendant this case has been brought to trial so that the issues could be clarified before the meeting.

"We expect to show that the decedent, Rose M. Calvert, was employed by Gifford Farrell in a confidential capacity to make an ultra-secret list of the proxies which had been received. She typed out that list and gave it to Mr. Farrell.

"We expect to show that, in some way, the defendant found out the decedent was typing that list. When he found that he could not bribe her, he tried to take the list away from her at the point of a gun. She resisted and was shot.

"Thereupon, we expect to show that the defendant released to the press and gave to the police an utterly fantastic story designed to account for his presence in the room where the murder had been committed. We expect to show that the defendant went to his present attorney, Perry Mason, and consulted that astute lawyer long before anyone knew a murder had been committed. We expect to show that Perry Mason immediately started working out what he hoped would be a good defense for the defendant.

"The defendant was spirited to the Gladedell Motel where he occupied Unit 21 during the night. We expect to show, at least by fair inference, that during that night the defendant went out and buried the weapon with which the crime had been committed."

Brussels Sprouts Grow Mostly in California

SAN FRANCISCO—Commercial production of Brussels sprouts in the United States is largely centered in California—from San Francisco south for 100 miles along the coast.

The only other large growing areas are in the Long Island and Catskill sections of New York. Brussels sprouts are marketed fresh from late August through March.

Electrolytic-Analysis Method Very Sensitive

MADISON, Wis.—A rapid method developed at the University of Wisconsin is said to permit the measuring of metals in solutions a thousand times more dilute than those analyzed previously. The electrolytic method is said to be able to measure one part of lead in five trillion parts of solution. It is so sensitive that lead absorbed into the solution from the glass walls of a container will upset readings

Cotton Wasn't Known in Ancient Egypt

CAIRO — Although cotton was cultivated in India in ancient days, it was not known to the ancient Egyptians.

This plant, now called Egypt's "white gold," never figured on Pharaonic bas-reliefs or tomb representations and not a single hieroglyphic text mentions it. Mummies were wrapped in bands of linen cloth, never of cotton.

Sugar cane comprises the largest crop in Cuba.

Mailman Finds Bite Put on Him by Angry Woman

NEW YORK (AP) — Mailmen occasionally have unfortunate experiences with dogs, but carrier Leroy Hunter said he had the "bite" put on him by a woman.

In Felony Court yesterday, Hunter charged he was bitten on the wrist by Mrs. Gloria Rohan, 21, because he refused to hand over her relief check and put it in her mailbox—in accordance with postal rules.

Mrs. Rohan's lawyer said she has false teeth and therefore it could not have been much of a bite.

Magistrate Neal P. Bottiglieri held Mrs. Rohan in $500 bail on a charge of third-degree assault.

GETTING SET—Part of a 50-voice Waterford Township chorus, these young lads rehearse for their first performance at 8 p. m. today at the Lambert P. T. A. meeting. Director Mrs. David Manigold, coaches Terry Jones, Steven Thomas, Kenneth Banes and Gary Heichel.

Waterford Lads Vie for Chance to Sing

Boys' Chorus to Give Concert

"Most boys like to sing." That is the candid opinion of Miss Mary Phipps, Music supervisor of Waterford Township schools.

Proof of her opinion is a unique 50-voice chorus made up of boys from the 4th, 5th, and 6th grades, who will present their first concert tonight.

Not every boy is eligible to join this talented group. Only three from each school may qualify to sing in the chorus, and rigid tests are made before he is accepted.

He must have outstanding general music ability, and meet standard scholastic requirements as well as be able to read music. Tests are made by the music teacher of his individual school, then he is recommended for auditions.

The real trick is to get the boys from all the schools together once a week at the vocational building at the high school, according to director Mrs. David Manigold.

"The parents have cooperated fully and solved the transportation problem by organizing a musical car-pool," Mrs. Manigold said.

After passing the tests, the boys are impressed by the honor of being accepted, consequently they are proud to participate in the chorus, Mrs. Manigold added.

GIRLS WANT THEIRS

Not to be outdone by the boys, a chorus strictly for girls is about to begin rehearsals. Voice tests have been given and the girls have been selected, with the first singing-bee slated for Tuesday.

"We hope to combine both choruses in special performances some day, but each will remain as an individual organization," Mrs. Phipps said.

The first concert of the season will be presented at the Lambert P.T.A. meeting at 8 p.m. today.

Standing on four-tiered portable platforms, the young musicians always open every performance with their theme "Singing Time."

Their first presentation will include "Michael Finnigan" and the "Mariner's Hymn," closing with the serious number, "Prayer of Thanksgiving."

Janet Grimes is assistant director, and Carol Roeser is accompanist.

Newaygo Post to Open

LANSING (AP) — The new Newaygo State Police Post will open about Dec. 15 under command of Sgt. Russell Olson, Commissioner Joseph A. Childs said today. Olson, now at East Lansing, is being promoted from corporal and transferred. The post will occupy leased quarters in a cement block building being constructed on M37 south of Newaygo.

Civil Rights Fight, Not Red Sputniks Irking Truman

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry Truman says the nation should stop worrying about Russia's Sputniks and concentrate on civil rights, including the problem posed by Little Rock.

Truman, speaking last night at a dinner of the Joint Defense Appeal of the American Jewish Committee and the Anti-Defamation League of the B'nai B'rith, said:

"Don't worry about the Sputniks. We can take care of that situation.

"Let's make sure we preserve the greatest inspiration we can give the world, the liberties and rights we profess through one of the most wonderful documents in the world—the Constitution of the United States."

He added: "Our attitude on this vital struggle for equal opportunity and human liberty is being watched by the world."

Before the dinner at the Commodore Hotel, Truman told newsmen the Eisenhower administration "inherited a bipartisan foreign policy, and they threw it out the window, and it's a little late now to start one."

Hadrian's Wall, built 1,800 years ago across the north of England as protection from the original natives of Scotland, still stands in part. Originally the wall was 73 miles long and 20 feet high.

IN 58 DAYS A '58 PLYMOUTH RAN 58,000 MILES—EQUAL TO

MORE THAN TWICE AROUND THE WORLD

AND IT DROVE EVERY INCH OF THE WAY!

We knew this car was tough.

We designed it that way.

That's why we weren't afraid to give Plymouth the toughest, true test run of all time... with all America as the "track."

We didn't coddle this Plymouth. Didn't crate it and ship it from place to place. We aimed it out of Los Angeles one misty morning and sent it through a course that ran 58,000 miles through 37 states.

The time limit? Only 58 days.

A thousand miles a day!

The equivalent of 6 years' driving crammed into little more than 8 weeks!

Three times this Plymouth crossed the Rockies. Three times it wound its way up and down across the country... passing through more than 1200 cities and towns. Whipping over turnpikes... creeping through city traffic... arrowing down super-highways... feeling its way through 500 miles of rutted detours. And when the drivers turned the key to end the marathon, it still looked, ran and rode like new.

This is what lasting value really means. The ability to take everything that American roads and weather can dish out—and come up grinning. Why don't you give Plymouth a test drive yourself—today? You'll see what we mean.

That's the Plymouth "track"... and just look at that route! Every possible road and weather condition. Plymouth ran every inch of that murderous route 3 times in just 58 days. What greater proof of lasting, built-in stamina!

Star of the Forward Look... Plymouth ahead for keeps!

Hobby Maintains Interest, Zest for Life

A picture on a magazine cover and an interest in woodworking is the combination that has kept Walter Chadwick from boredom for most of the 12 years since he retired.

The magazine cover provided the inspiration. And the skill he learned in woodworking has kept him busy — sometimes 12 hours a day.

"It all started," he recalls, "when I picked up a magazine to thumb through it. On the cover, was a picture of an old man making birdhouses.

"I said to myself: 'That son-of-a-gun is smart. Maybe I could do something like that when I quit work. Might even be able to make a little money at it.'"

That was in 1945 and Chadwick didn't realize just how close he was to leaving his job. A few months later when the Naval Gun Factory in Washington started cutting its wartime staff, machinist Chadwick found that he'd been retired at 57.

This was the time to use his birdhouse-building urge. He had a civil service retirement annuity to help him live.

While he worked part-time as a ticket-taker at Griffith Stadium and superintendent of a Masonic building, he checked with some of the local pet shops to see if they could use any birdhouses.

But, before he got to the birdhouse stage, one of the pet shops asked him to solve another problem:

"Would you be interested in assembling some parakeet toys?"

From that challenge — which he accepted — he turned to filling other pet shop requests. One was for a cage in which a serviceman's dog could be shipped overseas.

Gradually, the pet cage business grew and he made more and more cages.

In time, he was doing nothing but building pet cages. Orders came from pet shops, airlines, ship companies, freight handlers, servicemen, government workers. Chadwick began to realize he'd accidentally discovered an interesting and profitable avocation.

Today, at 69, he builds all the cages he has time for — about 400 a year. He has worked out his own system of mass production. In the winter when things are slack — he says not nearly as many people move with their pets in the winter as in the summer — he cuts the wood for the cages. In the summer, he does most of the assembling.

"I work when I feel good, sometimes 10 or 12 hours a day. When I don't feel good I lock the doors on my shop and rest. I don't feel bad very often." His plans for quitting?"

"I don't ever want to quit. My work keeps me in touch with people. I want to go on meeting people. I never want to get out of touch with what's going on. If I did, I'd be lost. Sure, the same hills are a little higher than they used to be and the same stairs are a little steeper.

"But, to me, age is like a number on a clock. Unless you got someplace to rush to, you never

Western Desert Begins Boom

Rich, Poor Leave City; Irrigation Creates Lush Agricultural Lands

WASHINGTON — There's a new land rush in the West — to sandy acres once considered fit only for jack rabbits and rattlesnakes.

A tour of California deserts shows that millionaires and poor folk alike are quitting crowded cities to settle in wide open spaces. Paved streets, then houses appear in scorched patches of creosote bush. The boom, which has already brought fortunes to real estate men, has only begun.

Many city-dwellers are leasing two to five acres of bleak Government land and building weekend cabins. Others are settling down for keeps because they like the mild winters, healthful dry air, or desolate beauty of the deserts.

Armed services favor the uninhabited wastelands as test sites for bombs, artillery shells, and flame throwers.

FARMERS THRIVE, TOO

Farmers have gone into the deserts, too. Thanks to irrigation, agricultural empires have been created in the Imperial and Coachella Valleys. Given water, desert land produces lush crops 12 months a year.

Palm Springs, which was a dusty Indian camp 50 years ago, has grown into a fashionable resort with a winter population of 50,000.

Lots in Palm Springs that once sold for $35 an acre bring a walloping $4,000 now. The city shimmers with the green of 1,400 swimming pools. A newspaperman said, "If you haven't got a pool here, you are either broke or eccentric."

In Apple Valley, 100 miles northeast of Los Angeles, another real estate boom is going full blast. A mild winter Sunday found 50 salesmen in cowboy regalia waiting to help prospective buyers. This area gets water from an underground reservoir fed by snow-capped mountains.

IMPORTED WATER

It is imported water, of course, that has made California deserts start to bloom. Construction of the Imperial Dam across the Colorado River in 1938 gave birth to California's All American Canal and Arizona's Gila Main Canal. One result: Imperial Valley is the Nation's seventh-ranking county in the value of farm products.

Students Hold Reunion

RICHMOND, Va. (INS) — Allen Goolsby III, Cotesworth Pinckney and John Vlener, all leaving to enter Yale University, got together to talk over preparations. That's when they discovered they had been roommates of former years. Goolsby was born Oct. 19, Pinckney Oct. 23 and Vlener Oct. 18 of 1939 and all were in the nursery at St. Luke's Hospital at the same time.

He was back a half hour later, explaining:

"I forgot my money."

Tipsy Drivers Rapped

GREELEY, Colo. (INS) — A meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was told that nearly 50 per cent of all fatal highway accidents in America involve drinking drivers. Insurance man William N. Plymat of Des Moines said tests in Montana and Delaware showed the presence of alcohol in about half of traffic fatalities.

Transistor Intercoms Developed for Homes

CHICAGO — An intercommunication system has been developed for home use by a Chicago concern, which says its product consumes less electricity than an electric clock.

Since it uses transistors instead of vacuum tubes, the company claims, the intercom emits no heat and will last almost indefinitely.

Bob Considine Says:

Reds Display 'Atoms-for-Peace' Projects

MOSCOW (INS) — Russia will be producing two-and-one-half million kilowatt hours of electric power from atomic reactors in six power plants by 1960, we were told today, in the course of a tour through the Soviet Union's "Atoms-for-Peace" exhibit at the nation's huge, permanent industrial exhibition.

Our proudly confident guide was a stocky, friendly girl graduate of Moscow University who, when thanked at the end of the tour, straightened up like a soldier and said, "It is my duty."

She showed us models of two power stations, one of 5,000 kilowatts power, completed in 1954 at Dubno, about 100 miles south of Moscow, and another type capable of producing, she said, 400,000 and 600,000 kilowatts.

The girl guide, in a red woolen dress, led us next to a wall map and a model of "Lenin," Russia's first atomic-power vessel. It will be an icebreaker capable of staying at sea for one year opening ice-bound ports.

Then came the feature of the exhibition, a 150-kilowatt operating reactor. To this layman's eye it was a great deal like the hundred-watter the United States sent to Geneva for our own atoms-for-peace exposition following the summit conference.

But it seemed shallower. At the bottom of a tank of distilled water about 20 feet deep glowed Uranium 235 nuggets which gave off an arctic blue radiance. She did not show the control board at which the power is turned on and off by alternately removing neutron-absorbing carbon and graphite rods from the nest of uranium bars and then replacing them. They are "blotters."

When the rods are pulled out, a controlled chain reaction takes place and heat which is transformed into energy is generated.

There followed a trip down the line of machines built to detect by radioactive isotopes flaws in metal and machined parts, count bottles of pop as they pass through a tiny radioactive beam aimed at a production line belt, treat cancer and trace the effects of various radiated foods on humans and animals. There were especially graphic "before and after" pictures in the cancer section of the exhibit.

The "before" of a woman patient showed a horrid foot-square open cancer on her back. The "after" looked like the back of Venus de Milo. Radioactive cobalt nails were exhibited as well as X-rays of what they purportedly had achieved after being drawn into malignant bones of cancer victims.

The industrial exhibition was part of a huge show on grounds marked by permanent buildings in the distinctive architecture of 15 Soviet republics — Russian Federation, Ukrainian, Byelorussian, Uzbek, Azaka, Georgian, Azerbiajan, Lithuanian, Mildavian, Latvian, Armenian, Turkmen, Estonian, Kirghiz and Tajik.

Our guide as we first entered the atomic hall was a young Russian named Victor who apologized to Bill Hearst for not speaking better English. Bill assured him his English was just about perfect, which it was. The young man shook his head sadly and said, "It is only my second extra language."

Victor pointed with pride to the bearded picture of Dmitry Ivanovich Mendeleyan (1834-1907), who won world-wide fame for his work identifying elements in nature. Victor then led us to a showcase containing 80 different types of ore mined in the U.S.S.R. Victor said, "each contains uranium."

He asked Hearst to put on the earphones of the Russian version of our geiger counter, then held a metal wand near the window of the showcase. The earphones ticked madly.

"International language," Victor said with a tight smile.

Senate Probers Call 'Professor'

To Quiz Anastasia Pal; Squillantes to Testify on Garbage Contract Bids

WASHINGTON (INS) — A mysterious "professor," identified as the "watch dog" of slain underworld lord Albert Anastasia, was summoned today in the Senate probe of crime in New York's garbage collection industry.

Investigators, beaten by an assassin's bullet last month to Anastasia himself, hoped to pry more deeply into the garbage scandal with the aid of "Professor" C. Don Modica, close friend of Anastasia and tutor to Albert Anastasia Jr. and children of other gangland figures.

Slated as a second prize witness at today's session was Nunzio Squillante, identified as boss of the "whip" company that beat down garbage collectors who refused to bow to the "bid rigging" of his brother, Vincent J. Squillante.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said the committee planned to quiz Nunzio Squillante on alleged collusion between his firm, the General Sanitation Company, and hoodlum-dominated Teamsters Local 813.

Kennedy explained that the committee is especially interested in the activities of General Sanitation Company along Manhasset's plush "Miracle Mile" shopping center.

The young committee counsel told newsmen Modica has prepared a "thesis on legislation to deal with labor racketeers" which he will carry with him to the committee room when the hearing begins at 2 p.m.

Kennedy said the committee also would quiz three previously missing witnesses: James Rosetti, president of the Greater New York Cartmen's Assn.; Anne Daria, secretary of the association, and Genaro (Gerry) Mancuso, former executive director of the Intercounty Cartmen's Assn.

TESTIMONY CONFLICTING

Yesterday's hearing reached a fever pitch as one Long Island garbage collector called another a "--- ---- liar" during conflicting testimony over Vincent Squillante's attempts to rig bids at Mitchel Air Force Base.

Angelo Recchia of New Hyde Park hurled the accusation at Carmen de Cabia of the same area.

Recchia said he purposely overbid de Cabia on a government garbage hauling contract at Mitchell Field under instructions from Vincent Squillante.

In bidding on the Santini Housing Project contract, also at Mitchel Field, Recchia said, he got confused and underbid de Cabia, thereby getting the contract.

To make peace with Squillante and de Cabia, the witness explained, he let de Cabia take over the job on a subcontract.

Recchia said he had to do this or "have my head chopped off my shoulders."

Child Protection Group Eyed to Avert Problems

Prevention of delinquency is a local community's responsibility, and a good way to catch the kids before they get into trouble could be through a city ordinance which establishes a "Child and Family Protection Committee."

This was the theme as Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore met with county police department heads to explain his theory and offer the juvenile courts staff to assist in setting up the prevention program.

Police representatives from Pontiac, Waterford, White Lake, and Highland Townships; Huntington Woods, Southfield, Pleasant Ridge, Oak Park, Ferndale, Walled Lake, Birmingham, Royal Oak and the Sheriff's department heard the judge's proposal at a luncheon yesterday at the Oakland County Children's Home.

WITHOUT COURT ACTION

Moore explained that there are many inadequate families, maladjusted children and predelinquent youths who can be helped before and without going to juvenile court.

The "Child and Family Protection Committee" would be composed of respected community leaders from "all walks of life" with representation from the medical, judicial, and educational professions as well as service organizations, Moore said.

After the committee is organized they should request the enactment of an ordinance which recognizes the committee as a community project. The committee would not have any power of law, but would have the power of public opinion, Moore explained.

CASEWORKERS ADDED

Since the county board of supervisors recently approved the addition of five case workers for the juvenile court beginning the first of next year, Moore said these people would be available to the various communities to help establish and carry out the work of the committees.

Police, schools and individuals may refer problem families and children to the committee for help. The committee of lay citizens or the case worker assigned to the committee would investigate the case and then refer it to any child welfare agency capable of handling the matter.

"You know as well as I do that we are aware of many families or children who are heading toward trouble and delinquency but, until they get into trouble, the court and police have no authority," Moore told the police officers.

AVERT TROUBLE

Such a committee could assist the child and families before they get into trouble, he said.

Hazel Park established such a committee four years ago with the assistance of Moore. Juvenile court cases from Hazel Park have dropped considerably since the establishment of their committee. The first year, a 40 per cent drop was evident, according to Moore.

Berkley is also in the process of organizing a similar committee and setting up an ordinance, he added.

Help, not punishment, is the aim of the committee, Moore said.

Sees Detroit as Hub of Vast Market Area

DETROIT (AP) — A newspaper executive said last night that Detroit may soon be the hub of a vast interurban area extending into Indiana, Ohio and Illinois.

Detroit's market area already extends throughout southeastern Michigan and is growing rapidly and dramatically, said Lee Hills, executive editor and vice president of the Detroit Free Press.

Hills outlined Detroit's "10 billion dollar spread" at the 60th anniversary dinner of the Bankers Club of Detroit.

"Retail outlets in Southeast Michigan are growing into a huge network of one-stop centers," Hills said, "with downtown Detroit still the biggest of all."

Hills said experts recognize that the national "interurbia phenomenon" is dramatically reflected in the Detroit area.

In addition to producing most of the nation's automobiles, Hills said the region also ranks first in manufacture of pharmaceuticals, adding machines, foundry products, machine tool accessories, ranges and heating devices, and paint and heavy chemicals.

3 Flint Children Die in Flames; 8 Escape

FLINT —Three small children lost their lives last night when a flash fire swept through a two-story frame house here.

The victims were Rodney William Harvey, 2, and two cousins: Gloria Bernice, 8, and Patricia Ann Harvey, 9.

Six other children and their mothers escaped from the flames unharmed.

The blaze was believed to have started on the house's second floor while the children's fathers were at work.

The children's mothers — Mrs. Leesella Harvey, 20, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mildred Harvey, 28—told firemen they were able to carry the six surviving children to safety but could not reach the others.

Resume Barmore Trial on Slaying of Boy, 12

MUSKEGON (AP) — The murder trial of Herman Barmore, 44, resumed today with the prosecution calling several more police officers to the witness stand.

Barmore, an ex-convict, is charged with second-degree murder in the fatal shooting of 12-year-old Peter Gorham near Camp Wabaningo in July, 1955.

Prosecutor Robert A. Cavanaugh said he hopes to wind up the prosecution's case today, and tomorrow at the latest.

Among witnesses who appeared yesterday were Sheriff Arthur Davis and State Police Sgt. Milton Swingle who testified they were present when Barmore was taken to the place where Peter's body was found.

Also on the stand was Lt. Lester Coykendall, state police firearms expert, who testified that the .22 caliber rifle alleged to have been the murder weapon could not have been fired accidentally as alleged in one of Barmore's statements.

Freud's Son Got No Facts of Life From Father!

LONDON (AP)—A son of the late Sigmund Freud, who revolutionized the Western world's thinking about sex, said today the subject was never mentioned in their house.

"I didn't know the full facts of life until I was 17," said Martin Freud, 68, who runs a tobacco and candy shop.

Freud was interviewed in connection with his forthcoming book, "Glory Reflected," about life with the pioneer psychoanalyst.

"My father never talked about his work," Freud explained. "Like all children of those days we had to find out about life for ourselves."

Martin Freud was a lawyer in Vienna but fled to Britain when the Nazis took over. He worked as a plumber's assistant, an auditor, and as helper to an undertaker before settling down in his little shop in the Bloomsbury district.

"The son of a genius remains the son of a genius," he said moodily. "The chances of his winning approval of anything he may do hardly exists."

NROTC Offers Chance to Join

To Give Competitive Exams in December for Boys 17 to 21

Pontiac High School seniors and graduates interested in seeing the world via the U. S. Navy will have the opportunity to participate in the 12th annual national competitive examinations for the Navy's Reserve Officer Training Corps.

Applications for the test to be given December 14 must be returned by Saturday according to Vice Admiral James A. Holloway Jr., Chief of Naval Personnel.

The NROTC program is designed to supplement the officer output of the Naval Academy. A young man may earn a commission while studying at the civilian college of his choice which has a NROTC unit.

All tuition, fees and books are furnished by the Navy and each student receives an annual retainer of $600 for four years.

During the summers, students board ship on training cruises as midshipmen. After college, they are commissioned in the regular Navy or Marine Corps for active duty.

Those applying and qualifying may be assigned to flight training and naval aviation work.

Those boys, 17 to 21 years of age who are high school seniors and graduates may apply for the NROTC aptitude test. Those qualifying will be given rigid physical exams early in 1958. Approximately 2,000 men will be selected to begin naval careers next September from all applicants.

The college training program is also open to enlisted men on active duty with the Navy and Marines. Separate quotas are established for these applicants.

Application forms are available at all high schools, colleges and Navy Recruiting Stations or from the Chief of Naval Personnel, Washington 25, D.C.

Clock Thermostat Made

MINNEAPOLIS — A new household thermostat that can be set like an alarm clock to turn on the heating system to warm up the house by "get-up time" has been developed by a Minneapolis company.

EYE SEE YOU — Modern art is probably the best way to describe this eye-catching topper. It is being modeled by Mrs. J. Harris Ward during an exhibition of the works of Pablo Picasso in Chicago.

Pluto Averts Mixups

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Walt Disney's family of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Pluto, etc. is helping Englewood school children to avert school buss mixups.

Each bus at the Montgomery County school has a different Disney character pasted on the door. Each pupil riding a bus has a corresponding picture, so by putting two Plutos together everybody gets on the right bus.

Don't Like Substitute for Report Cards

Rap Parent-Teacher Confabs

A proposed plan to permit elementary schools to substitute parent-teacher conferences for report cards under certain conditions brought strong protests from parents at the Pontiac Board of Education meeting last night.

Parents from Crofoot School said they would go for conferences along with reports, but not in place of them.

The board was unable to decide on the recommendation by the superintendent that it approve conferences and give teachers the equivalent of four days a year release time from classes in order to meet with parents.

Dr. Dana Whitmer, superintendent, said that his plan would permit schools to try conferences for one year on an experimental basis only if the majority of parents agreed.

In other action, the board let construction contracts for a five classroom and one kindergarten addition to the Owen sschool.

Schurrer Construction Co. received a $111,751 contract for architectural trades; Sylvan Plumbing and Heating won the mechanical trades contract for $41,200; and Schultz Electric Service got the electrical contract for $9,900.

Total contracts came to $162,851 for the addition.

The board also voted to seek estimates for removal of trees and graveling of Pontiac Central High School grounds adjacent to the gymnasium to provide additional teacher parking space.

The new lot, plus a redesign of the existing lot, would add 49 spaces for parking.

The board received a communication from Rev. Richard H. Dixon Jr. in which he stated the dissatisfaction of the Negro community with Jefferson Junior High School.

A meeting will be held at the school later this month for Negro leaders and the school staff and administration to discuss the issue, Dr. Whitmer told the board.

The board approved a policy of paying half the cost of public transportation of children attending Wever School who live on Meadowlawn, Cloverlawn and Cherrylawn between W. Columbia and Ypsilanti. These youngsters have no direct access to their school due to railroad tracks they must cross.

The board also agreed to consider transportation for nine handicapped children to the Willis School who had formerly attended the Emerson School.

In an earlier executive session the board considered applicants for the post of assistant superintendent in charge of personnel. Several candidates were picked for personal interviews and consideration later in the month.

Marlette Hospital Used to Aid County's Aged

MARLETTE — In view of the fact that Marlette is badly in need of a convalescent home for the aged, George Cooper, Marlette Community Hospital board president, and Jack Croes, administrator, recently appeared before the Board of Supervisors. There they offered the Marlette Hospital facilities for use in connection with a Sanilac County Convalescent Hospital.

Eye Police, Fire Regulations

Group Set Up by Civil Service Commission to Draft Rules

The Pontiac Police Officers Assn. met last night and chose Det. Eugene Hendren as its representative on a committee to draft rules for the Pontiac Police and Fire Depts.

The committee, authorized by the Civil Service Commission last month, has already been functioning and met yesterday for the second time.

Members are: Hendren, Police Chief Herbert W. Straley, Fireman Howard White, Fire Chief John Schroeder, City Personnel Director Harold Marshall, City Attorney William Ewart and Assistant City Manager Robert Stierer.

The committee was established after the Civil Service Commission failed to agree on a set of rules. Three sets have been submitted — from the police and firemen, from commission chairman Theodore Carlson and from Ewart.

The committee has been reviewing these proposed rules and striking out those in conflict with the State Civil Service Act.

Next Wednesday it meets again to begin adopting rules for the departments.

Added Feature of Education Week

Green School PTA to Hear About Reading Program

WEST BLOOMFIELD — As an added feature of National Education Week, a demonstration, "The How of the Reading Program at Green School," will be presented when Green School PTA meets tonight.

Mrs. Flora White, second grade teacher, will direct the program and will be assisted by several second grade pupils.

Starting at 7:30 p.m., a brief business meeting will precede the program. The serving of refreshments will round out the evening.

Four Towns

The Four Towns School PTA is meeting tonight at the school, from 7:30 to 8.

Parents may meet with their children's teachers and after the regular business meeting, the guest speaker will be Steven Navarre of the Oakland County Sheriffs Dept. A film will be shown, following with a period of discussion on "Safety."

Refreshments will be served by the third grade home room mothers, under the leadership of Mrs. Merle Baylis and Mrs. Bernard Genack.

Sashabaw Plains

An Open House will be held at Sashabaw School on Maybee Road tonight when the PTA meets at 8. After a brief business session, parents are invited to visit the classrooms. Teachers will be present to answer questions and help parents to become better acquainted with the school program.

Refreshments will be served by the fourth grade room mothers.

3 Jailbreakers Back in Cells at Cheboygan

A former Southfield Township youth and his two companions were back in their cells at Cheboygan County Jail today after being captured in a police chase that began Tuesday night when the trio sawed their way through an attic window in the jail.

Recaptured were Hubert McCurdy, 17, formerly of 20129 W. Hampton Rd.,; Randy Tracy, 17, of Manistique and William Hitchcock, 19, of Lansing.

McCurdy and Tracy were recaptured yesterday afternoon. Hitchcock was recaptured yesterday morning.

McCurdy had been held in Cheboygan as a fugitive from Michigan Boys Vocational School in Lansing, to which he had been committed from Oakland County Juvenile Court in 1955.

Halversons Tour Western States

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—Traveling through the West are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Theron Halverson, who were united in marriage Nov. 9 in Emmanuel Baptist Church, Pontiac. They will make their home in Hanna, Wyoming.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rexford Taylor, 2265 Maddy Lane, Keego Harbor, Dorothy Ann Taylor spoke her nuptial vows in the presence of 150 guests. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Halverson of Hanna.

Wearing a gown of pure silk and Chantilly lace with lace bodice and sweetheart neckline, its silk-and-lace paneled skirt ending in chapel train, the bride chose a rhinestone-and-pearl tiara to secure her pure silk veil. Her flowers were orchids and stephanotis, and she wore a pearl necklace, gift of the bridegroom.

Bridal attendants were Jean and Ruth Slavin, and flower girls were Laurie Ann and Carrie Lynn Brown.

Serving as best man was Edward R. Taylor, student of MSU, while Fred Slavin Jr. of Plymouth and Norman Brown of Pontiac ushered.

MR. AND MRS. DANIEL HALVERSON

Still No Trace of Missing Stratocruiser

HONOLULU (AP)—It has been almost a week since Pan American's Stratocruiser Romance of the Skies vanished with 44 persons in the Pacific—and still no trace has been found.

A Pan American sister ship, reported spotting some debris late yesterday but the Coast Guard said it was of doubtful significance.

The carrier Philippine Sea continued an intensive search along the missing airliner's flight route.

MONA WHEATON

Mrs. Oliver Gould of 225 Rawles St., Romeo, announces the forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Mona Wheaton, to William Kreisch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kreisch of Almont. The couple is planning a spring wedding.

Joan Katheryn Blacklaw Speaks Vows

Couple Wed in Home Rite

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP — Joan Katheryn Blacklaw and Anthony Peter Olivich Jr. spoke their marriage vows Nov. 9.

The Rev. Robert Secrest, pastor of the local Methodist church, officiated at the 6:30 p.m. candlelight double-ring ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, with members of the immediate families present.

Joan, given in marriage by her father, James A. Blacklaw, chose a gown designed of imported Viennese lace with fitted bodice, butterfly neckline, short sleeves, and a bouffant nylon tulle and net skirt over white satin. Her veil of nylon tulle was secured by a crown of seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and ivy, nesting a corsage of pale pink miniature roses.

Annette Blacklaw served as maid of honor, while Carl Tornow of Novi was best man. James E. Blacklaw of Berkley was organist.

The wedding supper was held in Farmington, after which the party returned to the Blacklaw residence for the cake cutting.

After a brief honeymoon, the newlyweds will live in Northville.

Ortonville Rotary Anns Sponsor Dance Party

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — Dance Party sponsored by the Rotary Anns of Ortonville will be Saturday, in the Brandon High School Gym., at 8 p.m. Mrs. Marvin Featherston is chairman for the affair.

Mrs. Ralph Kushman of Clarkston will be present to instruct children from the sixth grade through the eighth in all phases of ballroom etiquette and dancing. Membership fee is twenty-five cents a person. Parents are invited to attend.

Named to Dean's List

Francis H. Lewis Jr., 3212 Middle Belt Rd., has been named to the Dean's List at Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N.J.

Sift Credit Union Irregularities

U.S. District Attorney Probing Chief Pontiac Firm's Transactions

The U. S. District Attorney's office is investigating "irregularities" at the Chief Pontiac Federal Credit Union which holds funds of workers at Pontiac Motor Division.

George Woods, chief U. S. assistant district atorney, said today that an investigation is under way but no charges are pending against anyone. He declined further comment.

Admission that there were some irregularities at the Credit Union came from Bud Barker, assistant director of field services for the Michigan Credit Union League.

He said that there was no evidence to date that any money was missing, but that some transactions had been handled in ways other than those provided by the rules of the U. S. Bureau of Federal Credit Unions which chartered the Chief Pontiac Credit Union.

Barker pointed out that the Chief Pontiac Credit Union is bonded for one million dollars against loss and has a value of more than four million dollars.

Eyes Science Academy

DETROIT (INS)—Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich) says Russia's sputniks may result in the United States establishing an academy of science comparable to the Army, Navy and Air Force academies.

Comes out striped — pink and white!

New toothpaste with magic pink stripes

even better than using both!

Yes, new STRIPE* actually comes out in pink and white stripes! Those stripes tell you STRIPE is double magic!

1st, it's the only toothpaste to bring you Hexachlorophene, the famous germ-killer so widely accepted by the medical profession.

2nd, it has the finest cleanser known to dental science. Tests prove STRIPE destroys millions more bad breath and decay germs than any leading toothpaste plus a mouthwash!

A single brushing with STRIPE will protect you against the cause of decay and mouth odors hours longer than any other toothpaste you can buy.

By JOHN H. MARTIN

Two western world developments this week appeared to be part of the effort to counteract some of the big propaganda dividends the Russians are getting through "Sputnik diplomacy."

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay flew a giant U.S. Air Force stratotanker from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., to Buenos Aires, a distance of 6,350 miles, in 13 hours and two minutes.

This was the longest flight without refueling by any jet, Soviet or otherwise. And LeMay himself said with a grin:

"Missiles can't think."

Then, in Paris, Lt. Gen. Thomas S. Power, head of the Strategic Air Command, in succession to LeMay, said his atomic airmen have been on a 15-minute alert all over the world since Oct. 1.

He said that soon he will be able to get a third of his atomic bombers into the air in just 15 minutes to meet any missile threat.

Power said a good proportion of the SAC bombers have been on the 15-minute alert while other bombers "are aloft every minute of the day or night."

WARNING TO RUSSIA

This in itself was a warning to Russia, and a slapt at Soviet party boss Nikita Khrushchev, who has said bombers are obsolete because the Russians fired some earth satellites.

SAC, or the Strategic Air Command, long has been the western world's shield against any sudden Russian aggression. The airmen could not prevent any aggression, but the big deadly birds are ready to give that "massive retaliation" which has been considered the best deterrent to war.

Power says the bombers, which "are not carrying swords or bows and arrows" for weapons, have been alerted since Oct. 1.

This means that the alert—which may be just a reiteration of a standing alert—was given at the time the Soviets were manufacturing that propaganda about an imminent Syrian-Turkish conflict.

Sputnik I, the first satellite fired into space by Russia, was announced Oct. 5, and was followed by the internal struggles reflected by Khrushchev's ousting of Soviet Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov as defense minister.

Not all western scientists, of course, have taken at face value the Soviet news of their Sputniks. One such is Sir Bryan Matthews, a distinguished British physiologist who has worked on various RAF projects.

He suggests that the Russians have not really created such big satellites as they say, but he admits that the response to Sputnik II "is a triumph for the Russian brain warfare experts."

Second Sputnik May Last Year

Report U.S. Scientists Close to Clearing Pad for Firing Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. scientists say that Russia's second satellite may continue circling the earth for a year or more.

Some earlier thought among scientists at the Naval Research Laboratory was that the half-ton Sputnik II might plunge earthward earlier than Sputnik I. There have been predictions the first satellite, a small sphere, will fall out of orbit Dec. 11.

The scientists said Sputnik II is apparently slowing down more gradually than they previously believed.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the U. S. space satellite program, Project Vanguard, said American scientists are "now pretty close" to asking that the launching pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla., be cleared for firing the first U. S. satellite test sphere.

Announced American plans call for launching small test spheres next month and firing the first fully developed satellite in March.

A spokesman for the Grand Central Rocket Co., Mentone, Calif., said his firm was notified by the Navy Tuesday night that the first U. S. test satellite, a sphere 6.4 inches in diameter, would go aloft Dec. 1.

In Washington, the Navy said no exact date has been set, although it said it still plans firings next month.

Claims U.S., Russians Could Destroy World

VIENNA (AP) — Nuclear pioneer Otto Hahn said last night that both the United States and Russia possess enough atomic and hydrogen bombs to destroy "entire mankind."

But the noted German scientist and Nobel Prize winner told a lecture audience both major powers are "perfectly aware" of the consequences of using nuclear weapons "and they will therefore refrain from starting a 'hot' war."

Marine Convicted of Punching Sailor

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP) — One U. S. Marine was convicted and another acquitted today as the Navy began trials of 16 Leathernecks accused of brutality to brig prisoners at Sasebo naval base.

* * *

Cpl. Glenn W. Fredericks, 21, Fleetmute, Alaska, was sentenced to 14 days at hard labor and reduced to private rank for punching a sailor while Fredericks was on guard duty in the Navy brig at the south Japan Navy base.

The conviction and sentence are subject to review.

A similar charge against Cpl. Dayton W. Dierkson, 21, St. Lawrence, S. D., was dropped when the complainant, fireman Carlos E. Vota, 18, Amarillo, Tex., told the court he could not remember being hit by the Marine. Dierkson is due for discharge from the Marines Friday.

Reno Acts to Correct 'Discriminatory' Ruling

RENO (AP) — The City Council listened patiently to complaints that an ordinance requiring the photographing for work permits of Chinese employed in gambling houses was discriminatory.

It passed a new ordinance—requiring that everyone be photographed.

Police Chief T. R. Berry said he needed photographs because otherwise he couldn't tell one Chinese from another.

Stone 'Hooked' Fish

DENVER — An ingenius forerunner of the fishhook was the gorge, a small elongated stone tapering off to points at both ends. A string was tied to the middle and baited in such a way that the gorge was swallowed lengthwise by the fish. When the string was jerked, the stone turned crosswise in the fish, thus holding it.

Total taxes paid by insurance companies in the U.S. in 1956 were $573 million dollars.

'Carpet Call' Rail Term

NEW YORK — "To call on the carpet," meaning to reprimand, was originally a railroaders' phrase, railroad exectives being among the first American businessmen to have offices with carpets on the floor. Such grandeur did not extend to the offices where the railroad clerks toiled or to the stations and shops.

The world's largest amphitheater, the Rome Colosseum, was once a marble quarry.

Delivery Free in 1863

WASHINGTON — In 1863 Congress authorized a letter unit of half an ounce, and a uniform letter rate, regardless of distance, was established. In the same year free city delivery of mail was inaugurated, doing away with the system by which the postman charged for either collecting or delivering mail.

Peru is the oldest of South American nations.

She Was Modern Day Mata Hari

Jane Helps Soble Spy on OSS

(This is the fifth of 12 articles in which confessed Soviet spy Jack Soble tells the innermost secrets of an espionage ring in the U.S. of which he was a leader for 15 years.)

By JACK SOBLE
(Written with Jack Lotto)

Jane Foster Zlatovski spelled sex appeal.

This slim, trim modernist artist, who had been born and raised on aristocratic Nob Hill in San Francisco, willingly turned her asset into a Soviet spy weapon. Coldly, methodically, the attractive woman worked on American military and intelligence agents to shed their inhibitions — and secrets.

If anyone could be described as a modern-day Mata Hari, that would be the hard-drinking, intensely-jealous Jane. For nearly 10 years she turned in her reports — with photographs — on American intelligence and counter-intelligence agents. She did her job well and never complained about the fact that she received $75 a month, plus expenses.

When I first met this dedicated Communist Party member, she had just finished a three-year job with the super-secret Office of Strategic Services.

Like her German spy prototype, Jane was married to a ne'er-do-well Army officer, George Zlatovski, of Duluth, Minn., at the time a lieutenant in U.S. Army Intelligence.

TERRORIZED REFUGEES

He also became a Soviet agent under my command. His work was to bring terror and fear to many refugees who had fled to the safety of the U.S. from behind the Iron Curtain.

Her first report, apparently, also made a big impact in the Kremlin. I received verification of this fact in February, 1946, when I picked up a newspaper less than two months after Jane had turned over a report on Indonesia she obtained while in the employ of the OSS.

"Manuilsky Charges British in Indonesia Threaten Peace," I read. My interest aroused, I perused the story of the hot debate at the United Nations Security Council meeting in London.

DEMANDS INQUIRY

Ukrainian Foreign Minister Manuilsky — a long-time collaborator with Stalin — was demanding that a commission be appointed to investigate his charges against the British.

As I read his speech, which accused the British of suppressing the nationalist ambitions of the Indonesians, I thought I recognized statements I had seen before.

Then it hit me. Manuilsky was fortifying his attack with quotations taken word for word from the report Jane had handed to me.

Her document was given to me around Christmas of 1945 at the home of Alfred and Martha Stern, wealthy "angels" of Communist causes and financiers of business fronts for Soviet spy activities.

(Mr. and Mrs. Stern and the Zlatovskis recently were indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy to commit espionage. The Sterns, who were living in Mexico when indicted, renounced their U.S. citizenship and went to Russia. The Zlatovskis live in France, which has declined to extradite them to the U.S. for trial.)

No sooner had I entered the Sterns' apartment overlooking Central Park when Martha threw Jane into my arms, exclaiming:

"Here's a wonderful girl, Jack. She wants to do some work for you."

Jane told me how she had worked for the OSS in Indonesia while married to a Netherlands envoy. With this remark, she reached over for her handbag and extracted a white envelop with about a half dozen sheets of closely typed material. Jane explained that my "friends" might find the material useful.

The next day, I met "the professor," a Russian courier by the name of Stepan Choundenko, and turned over Jane's report.

A few days later, Choundenko left the country. At our last rendezvous, on the street near my home, he had one final parting instruction for me:

"Engage in no activities during 1946, and await your final citizenship papers. Then, report to Moscow for your next mission."

Soon after I was naturalized in 1947 I moved to Paris.

In September of that year, I opened my door at the Hotel Racine in response to a gentle tapping. Jane was standing there, smiling.

"Comrade," she greeted me, with a hug and a kiss, "Can I be of some service?"

Antarctic Has Minerals

WASHINGTON — Antarctic experts believe there are valuable mineral deposits in the far-south continent. Traces of gold, copper, lead, chromium, molybdenum, antimony, zinc, and tin have been found, says the National Geographic Magazine, but none in exploitable quantity or quality.

French Kill 45 Rebels

ALGIERS (AP)—The French today reported killing at least 45 rebels in the Oran area of West Algeria, 30 of them in a large-scale mopup by planes and artillery n the Ouarsenis Mountains.

Four American communities are named Shamrock.

Istanbul Rebuilding in Modern Pattern

ISTANBUL — A city familiar with the glory and decline of two empires, Istanbul is currently rebuilding in the pattern of the twentieth century.

Not since the rule of the sultans ended and Ataturk came to power in 1923 has Turkey witnessed such a whirlwind of renovation.

Whole sections of the city, crumbling from age and neglect, have been swept away, as a result of Premier Adnan Menderis' clean-up program.

Cobblestone alleys are being widened into spacious boulevards, and approaches to the Grand Bazaar, a medieval maze of tiny shops, have been cleared.

Dusty wharves and slums along that fabled arm of the Bosphorus, the Golden Horn, are being pulled down to make room for a scenic drive around the shore. Everywhere, bulldozers are demolishing commercial clutter and crumbling masonry in a mighty effort to refurbish the city almost overnight.

SUBWAY UNDER GOLDEN HORN

Ardent fans of American "know-how," the Turks go so far as to envision a subway under the Golden Horn, and a bridge across the Bosphorus, connecting Europe and Asia. An opera house is being designed to grace Taksim Square, says a Pan American on-the-spot report, and a super highway stretching from Beyazid Square to Emperor Theodosius fifth century walls is already under construction.

Though the face of the city is taking on a new look, its classic landmarks remain unchanged. Many of Istanbul's historic sights, however, its ancient ramparts, mosques and towers are being painstakingly restored to reflect the old glory of Byzantium.

Despite the sweeping changes, Istanbul of the old story books lives on in a legion of monuments. No relic of the salad days of the sultans is more popular than Topkapu Museum. This former palace of the Sultans is now a treasure house, crammed with all the exorbitant riches accumulated by the sultans during four centuries. Here is a kitchen scaled for a thousand cooks, and whole galleries stocked with priceless Chinese porcelain.

The treasury, a temple of wealth, contains chessman of silver and gold, pistols, pipes, saddles and sugar bowls, encrusted with gems. There is a box of precious stones, big as walnuts, and a caseful of white turbans, stuck with diamonds and egret feathers. An ornate bronze gate leads to the old harem quarters. From the balcony of the harem, one can look out to Florence Nightingale's hospital, now a barracks, and to the tracks below that carry the Orient Express north to London.

CURRENCY BONUS

Istanbul's current face-lifting extends to its hotels. The last word in luxury, of course, is the 300-room, American-operated Istanbul-Hilton, a glass and marble palace overlooking the Bosphorus. There is also the Turkish-run Hotel Divan, a well-appointed establishment in the center of town.

Visitors will find hotel rates low, since Turkey offers a bonus of almost two-for-one in currency. Although the official rate is 2.8 Turkish liras for the American dollar, a law which went into effect last year gives the Yankee traveler a special rate of 5.25 liras for the dollar. This new exchange rate has already proved effective in increasing the influx of tourists.

Vets in Antarctic to Get Out by Yule

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)—The Navy's "old explorers," veterans of the long dark winter in the antarctic, were told today some but not all of them might get out by Christmas.

Rear Adm. George J. Dufek, Navy commander in the antarctic, told an assembly of the men due for rotation they could leave any time their one-year assignments are up and their jobs completed, if weather and ice conditions permit planes and ships to take them out.

Nineteen veterans of the recently ended polar winter have left. More than 60 others remain.

Dufek said to Navy ships, the Greenville Victory and the icebreaker Atka, are due to leave Christchurch, New Zealand, Nov. 22 with supplies for the U.S. stations at Little America and McMurdo Sound. They will take out some veterans and others will be flown home, the admiral said.

Says He Recorded Beat of Laika's Heart Nov. 6

TOKYO (AP)—A scientist said today Japanese radio monitors may have recorded a broadcast of heartbeats from Laika, the dog in the second Soviet earth satellite.

Dr. Takashi Hayashi, a professor of medicine, said he was analyzing a recording made Nov. 6 as the satellite passed over Japan. "I found a set of waves which I believe came from the dog," Hayashi reported.

Do-It-Later Club Finally Crowns Its 1956 Queen

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Procrastinators Club of America, dedicated to doing-it-later, has finally got around to crowning its 1956 queen.

She's 17-year-old Beth Swinand, who, like the other club members, believes it's better to do tomorrow what you might have done today. Lester Waas, 37-year-old head of the club, says procrastination is relaxing, healthful and leads to success in life.

The club is planning a Christmas party — for April or thereabouts. Members postponed a decision on the exact date.

It Wasn't Any Gag —He Was Gagged

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Maricopa County (Phoenix) Superior Court Judge Fred J. Hyder warned the defendant in an arson trial yesterday to keep silent.

But James Van de la Bogart, 65, of Mesa, Ariz., continued to interrupt court proceedings with loud cries of "I'm being railroaded. I demand my constitutional rights."

Judge Hyder issued another warning.

Van de la Bogart yelled back, "Why don't you gag me?"

Judge Hyder answered by instructing Sheriff's Deputy Kenneth Love to put a dish towel over the defendant's mouth.

The gag stayed there until a jury was selected.

Ike's Two Nationwide Talks Show U.S. Caught Napping

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration—judging from President Eisenhower's two nationwide talks—was caught napping by the Russians.

Either that, or it needed two Sputniks to get it moving.

For weeks the administration had been working on the budget—the cost of running the country—which he will present to Congress in January.

There had been no talk of increased spending for defense or of a rush in missile and satellite development.

Then the Russians fired their Sputniks, ample testimony to the amazing progress they have made in satellites, in rockets to propel them, and in the industrial ability to produce them.

Eisenhower took to the air a week ago to reassure the country it was in no immediate danger.

But as evidence of his realization of the need for speed, he appointed a special assistant to push scientific, satellite and missile development.

And in his nationwide talk last night he called for heavier spending on defense. How much? He didn't say. Will taxes have to go up in 1958? He didn't say. One thing seems sure: they won't be coming down.

He talked of the need — as at least part of the means for meeting increased defense costs — for cutting down on the spending on domestic programs.

If he was vague on costs, it's understandable. His administration presumably was at work on a pre-Sputnik kind of budget but now, after the Sputniks, is in a scramble to revise its thinking.

Between now and the time the budget finally is unveiled before Congress, this country may be treated to a campaign of conditioning to get it ready for the spending ahead.

And since the whole country was startled by the Sputniks—and members of Congress already are talking of willingness to increase defense spending—the administration shouldn't have much trouble selling its program.

Yesterday, a few hours before Eisenhower talked, Secretary of Commerce Weeks did a missionary job for the administration on spending.

Weeks indicated in a speech that Eisenhower—when he presents his budget — will call for increased military and foreign aid spending while cutting down on civilian programs.

He said: "The emphasis now is on less butter and more guns."

Eisenhower and his administration weren't putting the emphasis on less butter and more guns before the Sputniks.

Quarry Eludes Officers in City Park at Boise

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Mayor R. E. Edlefsen yesterday ordered law enforcement officers to the city park. The orders were to track down and kill.

It was not a manhunt. Four persons reported they were bitten. They said it was a squirrel.

Said the mayor: "This squirrel is obviously mad."

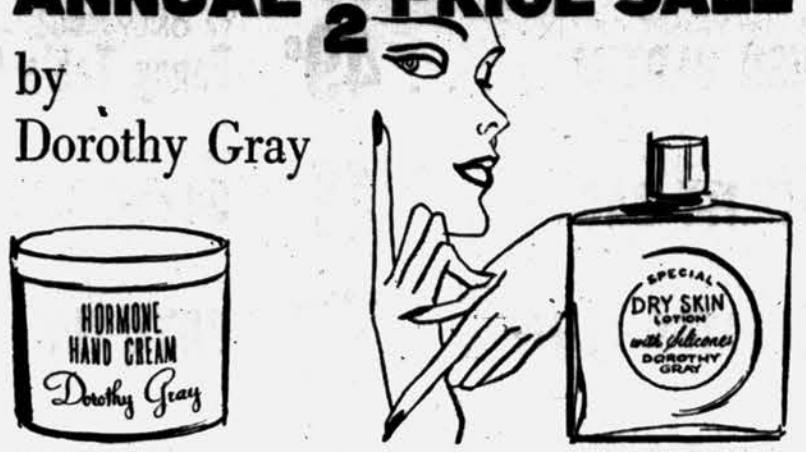

The angered (or crazy) little thing had eluded the dragnet by nightfall.

Salvation Army Serves the Unfortunate

Aid, Counsel, Rehabilitation Is 3-Fold Goal

On a stormy night six months ago a man, call him Joe, entered the Citadel of the Pontiac Salvation Army at 29 W. Lawrence St. and begged for a night's shelter.

Only 34, the man was completely down and out, a habitual drunk who had bummed his way half way around the country from his home in Arkansas.

Joe got his shelter and a meal too, but in a talk with Capt. Magnus A. Michalsen, commanding officer of the Pontiac Corps, the next morning he said he wanted to re-enter the stream of the living from which his drinking had isolated him.

He told Capt. Michalsen that he had a wife and three young children in Arkansas and other family, but he had lost his job and finally turned to the life of a bum.

The Salvation Army mobilized its forces to aid Joe, just as it has done for 76 years since its founding.

Discovering Joe's strong religious background, he was invited to pray for guidance and strength to begin life anew.

Capt. Michalsen gave him a job driving a truck for the Army's Red Shield store. After a week, it was found Joe needed physical rehabilitation and he was sent to the Detroit Men's Social Service Center where he received medical attention, alcoholism treatment and work therapy.

With his physical and spiritual strength restored, Joe found himself a job in Detroit and wrote to his family in Arkansas. When a sister wired him that his mother was ill, the Salvation Army loaned him money to visit her which he repaid promptly from his wages. He was finally reunited with his family and is a happy man today.

Joe illustrates but a part of the Salvation Army's work for the unfortunate. Supported in its social work by the Pontiac Area United Fund, the Army offers food and lodgings to transients down on their luck, and a counseling and rehabilitation program for those who want to recover.

The Army, as Capt. Michalsen points out, is a blending of the spiritual and material.

"We are a church, complete with a devout and active membership, but we are also a social agency," he said. "It is as an agency that we derive UF support."

"We don't force religion on anybody who needs our help," he continued, "but it is available if they want it."

In addition to aiding individuals, the Army does family counseling and supplies food, clothing, medicine and housing to desperate families.

Under its welfare program it gives Christmas baskets to the needy and sends mothers and their children to a fresh air camp in the summer.

Pontiac Press Photo

COME UNTO ME — Capt. Magnus A. Michalsen, head of the Pontiac Citadel Corps of the Salvation Army prays with a man in the Army's church at 29 W. Lawrence. Although religion is not forced on anyone seeking help from the Army, Capt. Michalsen says that it is often a great aid in straightening out the ruined lives of the derelicts who come to the Army for help. Funds from the Pontiac Area United Fund make most of the welfare and rehabilitation work possible.

OPERATE REPAIR CENTER

As a separate and self-supporting enterprise, the Army runs its Men's Social Service Center, now nearing completion at 118 W. Lawrence St. Here men repair furniture and clothing donated by householders and sell it through the Red Shield Store. The men have their living quarters and dining facilities in the building.

Transients are given tickets which entitle them to a bed in downtown hotels and to meals at local restaurants.

Through Detroit Salvation Army Corps, medical attention and rehabilitation work is available and in Detroit, too, the Army has a hospital where unwed mothers may have their children.

In 1956, the Pontiac Corps, using money from the UF and from its own congregation, gave 2,986 families assistance in the form of food, clothing, housing and medicine.

It aided 875 transients, distributed 469 Christmas baskets, found jobs for 40 unemployed, located missing persons for 10 families and sent 75 youngsters to camp.

In addition, the Army made 49 visits of comfort to jails and local hospitals, and assisted 28 unwed mothers to plan for their children. And hundreds of families in distress benefited from wise counsel.

"To continue our social and welfare work," Capt. Michalsen said, "we count largely on continued support from the community through the Pontiac Area United Fund. They make our work possible."

Science Seeks Depths of 7 Miles in Ocean

SYDNEY, Australia—With new sounding instruments now available, oceanographers are trying to determine if there really is a place somewhere in the Pacific where the ocean is seven miles deep, Sydney, Australia reports.

Scientists believe so but have never proved it. Not long ago they plumbed a six-mile depth in the Pacific known as the Tongan Trench.

They also found an underwater extension of New Caledonia extending toward New Zealand, underwater mountains as high as Everest and a plateau one-third as big as Australia.

All the greatest depths in the world are in the Pacific and every year brings evidence that it is deeper than was thought.

Bootees, Gloves Worn by Oil-Burner Men

FREEPORT, N.Y. — Oil-burner repairmen wearing white gloves and white bootees are becoming a familiar sight to Freeport housewives.

The servicemen put on the bootees and gloves after the housewife opens the door. They explain that they wear them to keep her house clean. The men's boss says his novel idea has paid off in word-of-mouth advertising that has increased his business.

PETER KAPITZA AT CAMBRIDGE — "Local boffin makes good."

Hero of Cambridge ---Sputnik's Designer

By TOM A. CULLEN

(First of Two Dispatches)

CAMBRIDGE, England (NEA)—The big hero at Cambridge University these days is Dr. Peter Kapitza, the Russian who designed Sputnik and got it off the ground.

In the Common Rooms, where tweedy Cambridge dons gather for sherry, they talk of nothing but the Russian satellite and its designer. And as they talk, a note of pride creeps into the voice.

WONDER BOY

Why? Because Kapitza, the wonder boy of Russian science, is a Cambridge grad. He spent 14 of the most fruitful years of his life at Cambridge's Cavendish Laboratory—years of which the Russians are now reaping the harvest.

What is more, he pursued his atomic research at Cambridge with all the facilities the British could place at his command—facilities which no amount of Russian rubles could buy at the time.

No wonder the tweedy boffins, as the British call their scientists, are puffed up with pride. Kapitza is strictly a case of "Local Boffin Makes Good."

And a pin-up boy, too. I found photographs of Kapitza everywhere at the Cavendish Laboratory, where the atom was first split.

"I hope you aren't going to write horrid things about Kapitza," observed a white-smocked research assistant, button-holing me in a corridor. Another physicist warned me off a book about Kapitza which has recently appeared in America. "There isn't a word of truth in it" he assured me.

Yes, Cambridge is very much on the defensive where the Soviet scientist is concerned. It's very much a closed shop, "old school tie" deal.

I discovered other things. I found that there is a pretty constant flow of British scientists to Russia to renew contact with Kapitza. As recently as July a party of British physicists were Kapitza's guests in Moscow.

The traffic is all one way, however, for Kapitza has never dared to set foot in Britain after having left it in such a hurry in 1934. After having taken the best in training and equipment that Britain could offer, after having picked the best of British scientific brains, so to speak, Kapitza ducked hurriedly behind the Iron Curtain, leaving his British colleagues in the lurch.

If Cambridge is elated over Kaptiza's success with Sputnik, British government officials are not. There are red faces in the Defense Ministry, in the Foreign Office and among the men in charge of atomic energy.

The Kapitza story makes sorry reading in 1957. As a cautionary tale, it belongs alongside the sagas of Klaus Fuchs, Pontecorvo and Nunn May, those other scientists who placed their brains at the disposal of the Communist dictators.

Kapitza's connection with Cambridge is well known. What is not well known (and what successive governments have tried to hush up) is that:

1. The British government subsidized Kapitza during most of the 14 years he spent at Cambridge. Not only that, but it helped to finance a special laboratory for Kapitza to use in atomic research, research which is now paying off so handsomely to the Russians.

2. After Kapitza fled to Russia, Cambridge University sold his equipment to the Soviet government, at the latter's urgent insistence, for $90,000. The university also sent two lab assistants to Moscow to help Kapitza install his equipment, and Sir John Cockcroft himself went along to lend a helping hand. Meanwhile the British government stood idly by during these negotiations.

3. The reason why the Russians were so anxious to get hold of Kapitza's Cambridge equipment was to keep it from falling into British hands.

4. Cambridge scientists, of their own volition, agreed to drop all research in Kapitza's field of low temperature physics. Why? Because it would not be "cricket" to compete with Kapitza in his own field, the scientists held.

The agreement gave the Russians a clear field, as far as the British were concerned, in the study of magnetic effects at low temperatures, an important branch of modern physics.

What it cost Britain in terms of retarded research no one here will venture a guess.

Most of Kapitza's Cambridge work had a direct application to industry. And one British scientist with whom I talked estimates that in failing to follow up Kapitza's research, Britain, at the very least, forfeited an early lead in developing atomic energy as a cheap source of fuel and power.

Government officials know that while Britain may not have given the Russians the satellite, it gave the Soviets something better—Dr. Peter Kapitza, the man who launched the satellite.

Next: Kapitza's crocodile.

Guinea Flesh Eaters Like Tilapia Fish

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea —The success of Tilapia fish ponds in New Guinea, to supply protein for the natives diet, may save the lives of many an aged native, old time residents of Port Moresby say.

In a dietetic sense the natives' most urgent need is protein.

Birds and beasts have been almost cleared out of the jungles near the heavily populated areas.

Some tribes are notorious for the fact that when grandma reaches the end of her usefulness, she may be tapped on the head and fricassed.

These tribes usually eat their dead, it is claimed. But Tilapia fresh water fish, which flourish in ponds, now are being widely grown and are liked by the natives.

Ventilated Treads Keep Jet-Plane Tires Cool

AKRON, Ohio—A new cooler-running jet-aircraft tire has been developed that will take up to three times as many 200-mile-an hour take-offs and landings as conventional tires designed for use on jet aircraft.

The key to the tire's improved performance is said to be a ventilated tread design effective under extreme loads at speeds above 200 mph.

The new tread pattern is said to permit heat to flow uniformly from the tire while spacious grooves between its ribs circulate cooling air to eliminate the formation of localized "hot spots."

Sun Lights Cigarettes

NEW YORK — Something decidedly different under the sun, a solar cigarette lighter, is now on tthe market.

The New York manufacturer says it's a 4½-inch polished, shaped aluminum disc with a coiled wire mounted in the center to hold the cigarette and keep your fingers from being burned. It's said to be simple but effective — on sunny days.

Moroccon King Reunites Arab Nations in Rich, Strategic Land Both Old, New

WASHINGTON—The late November state visit of King Mohammed V of Morocco will introduce to Americans the Moslem leader of one of the world's youngest independent nations. Even his title is new except in Morocco.

Sidi Mohammed ben Youssef long has been called "malik" or king at home, but it is only lately that diplomatic officials were asked to use the more modern term instead of the Arabian Nights "sultan."

The substitution is an indication of recent dramatic changes in the northwest African land that commands the Gibraltar-Mediterranean gateway.

After decades of colonial rule, a united, sovereign Morocco was born in 1956. Mohammed V became its temporal and religious head by popular will and a dynastic succession reaching back to the mid-17th century.

Most of his 9,000,000 subjects are Arabs and Berbers, plus half a million Frenchmen and other European settlers, and 200,000 native Jews.

UNITES DIVIDED LAND

The bulk of the kingdom is made up of former French Morocco, about the size of California. With the coastal strip of Spanish Morocco and the one-time international zone of Tangier, the total area is now roughly 173,000 square miles.

The figure is indefinite because of undefined borders with neighboring Algeria and Spanish Sahara. But there is nothing vague about Moroccan scenery as it unrolls in striking shifts from green coastal plains to the towering Atlas Mountains and rocky, preSaharan wastes.

Morocco has rich mineral resources, notably phosphates, coal, iron, and manganese. Its strategic importance as a link between the Americas, Europe and Africa is underlined by United States air bases set up there.

American GI's landed at Morocco's big west coast port, Casablanca, for the African campaign of 1942. Later, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill met there for a historic wartime conference.

ONCE RULED EMPIRE

Despite its status as a newcomer among sovereign nations, Morocco has had a long and colorful history dating from early Roman times.

In the land that Arabs call Maghreb el Aksa (Farthest West), advanced Moslem rulers established a powerful medieval empire whose territories stretched from mid-Africa to Spain and southern France.

The destinies of Morocco and the young United States crossed in the early 1800's, when American victory in the war with Tripoli put an end to the Barbary pirates' operations from the North African coast.

In recent history, riots and terrorism marked the struggle for independence. Sidi Mohammed spent nearly three years in exile before returning to head his people in 1955.

Today, under a regime of cooperation and moderation, Morocco shows visitors a blend of Moslem-Arab and European cultures.

Mosques and minarets share city skylines with supermodern hotels and apartments. Jet bombers fly over plodding camel trains and farmers tilling their fields with Biblical-time implements. At swimming pools, Arab girls exchange veils and flowing robes for abbreviated bathing suits.

The king himself is an example of East-West interests and activities. He speaks French and Spanish as well as Arabic, and he enjoys French cooking, Western sports, fast cars and movies.

As a devout Moslem who claims descent from the Prophet Mohammed, he officiates at ancient sacrificial rites and observes the strict tenets of his faith. Yet he favors the emancipation of women, including the abandonment of the veil and progressive education for girls as well as boys.

Lightweight Jai Alai Made in Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS — A new game has been developed by a Minneapolis firm to approximate jai alai, using a lightweight plastic scoop for throwing and catching a ball about the size of a softball.

The scoop is smaller and lighter than that used in regulation jai alai, and is hand-held instead of being tied to the player's arm. The ball, perforated and weighing only 2 ounces, is said to virtually eliminate danger of breaking windows when used indoors or in confined areas.

'Elephants Never Die'

WASHINGTON — Some Indian tribesmen believe old elephants never die, because elephant carcasses are so rarely seen. Actually, animal rmains of any kind are seldom found in Indian forests, thanks to clean-up squads of ants, vultures, jackals, and hyenas, aided by torrential monsoon rains and occasional forest fires.

Ear Plug Sellers Near Air Base Face Lean Times

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Lean times are ahead for ear plug merchants hereabouts.

No longer will the loud roar of jet engines being ground-tested assault the eardrums of the local citizenry if the maintenance engineers of nearby McClellan Air Force Base have their way.

The base has installed new type noise suppressors to be used on the line where the powerful engines are tried out.

Big, pipe-like devices, the suppressors swallow the roar, soften it and deflect it skyward.

William L. Steele, maintenance foreman, said the sound-softening part consists of a perforated fiberglass chamber and a curtain of water, used mainly to reduce exhaust temperatures ranging up to 2,000 degrees.

A recent demonstration showed the massive L-shaped mufflers could all but eliminate noise at a distance of 250 yards.

Drivers in Cuba Lax

HAVANA (AP) — Police, checking up on Cuban drivers of taxis and private cars, found 48,000 of them had neglected to renew driving licenses since 1951. There are approximately 100,000 chauffeurs in all of Cuba.

RADAR WARNING — The Portsmouth (N. H.) Air Force Base boasts a new high in auto safety since the installation of an electronic warning device. Pictograph above shows how it works. Radar waves are bounced back from an approaching car to a control box that computes the speed at which the car is traveling. If the driver is exceeding a set speed limit, the neon sign (left) lights up.

Billy Parker, 499 Nevada was ordered to furnish financial responsibility for unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle and Effie M. Kingsley of South Lyon had her license suspended indefinitely for being unable to pass tests.

Snakes Rarely Inject All Venom at One Time

ATLANTA—The severity of a snakebite depends largely on the snake's size. In fact, venom from the tiny pygmy rattlesnake is considered stronger than some larger rattlers.

All rattlers are believed to carry enough poison in their sacs to kill a man, but snakes rarely inject all their venom in one bite.

State Industry Fears Power of UAW

Moore added that unemployment compensation taxes paid in Michigan by Diamond Crystal Salt on an operation only slightly larger than the one in Ohio amount to $44,000 annually as compared with $1,000.

The unemployment compensation tax is one of the most galling to Michigan businessmen. On the average, Michigan pays an unemployed worker the highest weekly check in the nation, running up to $55.

Michigan's two main general purpose taxes on business will raise about 125 to 130 million dollars this fiscal year. The unemployment compensation tax yield will just about equal this figure. Businessmen must pay the unemployment levy whether they make or lose money, and whether their employes benefit.

One of the general purpose levies is the business activities tax, enacted in 1953 and expected this year to produce 75 million dollars. It falls heaviest on industries whose payrolls are a big share of production expense.

53 MILLION DOLLARS?

The other is the corporation franchise tax, a levy on net worth expected to bring in 53 million dollars this year.

Michigan is one of about 20 states without a state income tax, either on individuals or corporations. Its three per cent sales tax yields a little over 300 million dollars a year, school districts and other local governments.

Michigan is one of only three states which foots more than one half the bills of local schools from state collected taxes.

Tax authorities say it is virtually impossible to take a truly "representative" corporation and make a meaningful comparison of the state and local tax impact in Michigan as compared with other locations.

They say the bite of nearly any tax, or combination of taxes, changes dramatically with a number of variables, such as the proportion of production expense resulting from payrolls, capitalization, earnings and loss.

MRS. HARRY ATEN

Former Teacher in Pontiac Dies

Mrs. Aten Succumbs to Heart Attack While at School Meeting

Mrs. Harry Aten, a teacher in the Pontiac Public School system for many years, was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital yesterday.

She suffered a heart attack while attending a meeting of the League of Women Voters last night at the Crofoot School.

A graduate of Central Michigan College and Wayne State University, Mrs. Aten had taught in the Whittier and Lincoln Junior High schools, retiring in 1945.

Formerly president of The Pontiac League of Women Voters, she served on the Board of the YWCA and was a past president of the Pontiac Junior Women's Club.

Mrs. Aten, 54, was a member of First Presbyterian Church, the December group of her church and a former member of the Teachers' Exchange Club.

She leaves her husband and parents, Ed and Minnie Adams Diehl of Mt. Pleasant; a son, Robert at home; two sisters and four brothers.

Service will be at 2 p.m. Saturday from the Donelson - Johns Funeral Home with her pastor, Dr. William H. Marbach officiating. Burial will follow in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery. Mrs. Aten's body will be at the funeral home at 7 p.m. today.

Glass Eye on Stump Kept Boys at Work

CHAUVE CAVES, New Guinea —One of New Guinea's best known old-timers, Bill Tracey, may have started a new industry as a result of exploring the Chauve Caves.

For centuries the caves have housed bats and Tracey now is promoting the sale of bat guano to farmers for fertilizer. However, Bill, who has only one eye, will always be best known for his one-time method of keeping native laborers at work in his absence.

When he had a job on and wanted to go elsewhere, he took out his glass eye and placed it on a stump, told it to watch the laborers and report to him—and departed. Under that cold, implacable stare, the boys kept to their tasks. The sequel is that the eye lost its power when some bright lad thought to drop a hat over it.

New Revenue Sources Needed for Schools

NEW YORK—State legislatures are looking for new sources of revenue to finance school construction needed to handle an expected nationwide enrollment of 13,467,000 by 1960.

Nevada seeks $29,760,000 while California requires $1,956,000,000 to pay for the durable materials, such as glass, brick, and ceramic tile. All told, for the 48 states the bill comes to a whopping $15,841,000,000.

Security for You

Many WW I Veterans Eligible for Pension

By RAY HENRY

More and more World War I veterans are retiring because of age. And, as a result, more and more are looking for sources of retirement income.

Yet, it seems as if relatively few are aware that they may be entitled to monthly pension payments for their war service from the Veterans Administration (VA).

To be sure, not all are eligible. The VA makes a veteran show that he meets certain requirements before it'll give him a pension.

But, for most veterans who've reached 65 and retired, the requirements are not too tough to meet, particularly if their other income isn't large.

There are three basic requirements:

1. He must have an income of $1,400 or less a year, if he had no dependents, or $2,700 or less, if he has dependents.

* * *

Just what's considered as income by the VA under this requirement is a matter for the VA to decide after a veteran applies for a pension.

There are, however, some general rules covering the income requirement.

For example: The pension itself isn't counted as income against the limits. Neither is income his wife might have.

Here are the major types of income which are counted:

Retirement payments from the federal or state governments or from private business organizations. This includes Social Security payments. But, payments from retirement funds, including Social Security, doesn't count against the limits until the amount of the veteran's personal contribution to the funds have been repaid to him.

Total income from wages, salaries, bonuses, earnings, investments and rents. Income from businesses and professions.

Gifts and charitable donations from any source. Proceeds from bequests or inheritances.

2. He must have served at least 90 days in one of the military forces of the United States, with some part of the service during the World War I period, and received a discharge under other than dishonorable conditions.

3. He must be considered by the VA to be totally and permanently disabled.

Whether a veteran qualifies under this requirement depends on a physical examination given by a VA doctor when the veteran applies for his pension.

If the doctor finds that any part of the body isn't functioning properly, he'll decide how much the disability bothers him and how much it limits his ability to make a living.

After the VA gets the doctor's report, it will rate the disability ranging from zero to 100 per cent.

Up to age 55, the VA must find that the disability is 100 per cent disabling for the veteran to qualify for a pension.

If the veteran is more than 55, the VA considers advancing age itself a disabling factor and does not require the disability to be 100 per cent.

Between 55 and 60, the VA only requires that the disability be rated at 60 per cent and between 60 and 65 only 50 per cent. After 65, the disability need only be rated at 10 per cent.

Thus, if a veteran is 65 or over almost any kind of a permanent disability makes a veteran totally and permanently disabled so far as the VA is concerned.

For veterans over 65, the pension is $78.75 a month. A veteran under 65 usually draws $66.15 a month. If a veteran is blind and needs the regular aid and attendance of another person he may draw $135.45 a month.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

River Has 19 Canyons

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz.—The Grand Canyon is a titanic gorge, four to 18 miles wide and 217 miles long, cut by the Colorado River as it hurries to its delta at the upper end of the Gulf of California. The Colorado, the second longest river in the United States, has cut 19 major canyons along its 2,000-mile course.

World's Biggest Copter Used by Oil Industry

FORT WORTH—The world's largest commercial helicopter, designed to carry field crews and heavy equipment, has been introduced to the oil industry.

It can carry a 25 per cent higher payload over a 100-nautical-mile radius than earlier military models now in use. It can cruise at 88 knots, has a range of 315 miles, and has a service ceiling of 10,600 feet.

Junior Editors Quiz on CITIES

QUESTION: What is the biggest city in the world?

ANSWER: Unless you live in a big city, it's hard to imagine a million or more people crowded into a small area. But there are 66 cities in the world that have a population with more than one million. Ten of these cities are in China. Five are in the United States.

The largest in the world is Tokyo, where a recent census counted 8,471,637 persons. This census gave the rapidly-growing Japanese capital the lead for the first time over London, which was in first place for many decades. London estimates its present population at 8,379,000 persons.

The third largest is New York City, with a recent estimate of 7,910,000 people. Other United States cities over the million mark are Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Detroit.

FOR YOU TO DO: Consult an almanac and make a list of all 66 of the million-population cities, then locate them on a map.

Lebanon Expels British Reporter

No Reasons Stated for Orders to Depart Within 48 Hours

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The government today expelled Michael Adams, Middle East correspondent of the British Manchester Guardian, and ordered him to leave the country within 48 hours.

The expulsion order was signed by Farid Shebab, director of the security department.

With the exception of Egyptians, this is believed to be the first time a foreign correspondent has been expelled from Lebanon.

The Manchester Guardian apparently has also been banned from the country. No issues have been seen in Beirut for several days.

Adams said he has not been told why he is being expelled.

The action is believed to have stemmed from an exchange between Adams and Premier Sami solh at a recent news conference.

The Premier summoned foreign newsmen and complained they had been filing exaggerated reports on the security situation and a strike of garbage collectors.

Adams defended his story, saying Beirut residents solved the latter problem by tossing their garbage in the streets.

The entire backbone of the island of Java is volcanic.

Nutritionists Now Say We're Eating Better Diet

WASHINGTON (INS)— Nutritionists assert that three of every 10 Americans aren't getting enough calcium—largely because they don't drink enough milk.

But things are improving. The percentage of people considered to be eating "poor" diets has fallen from 30 to 10 in the last 20 years.

Ever flavor a raisin-rice pudding with grated lemon rind instead of vanilla?

Bake Peas in Oven With Sunday Roast

When serving frozen peas with Sunday's rib roast, bake them in a casserole while the roast is in the oven:

Turn package of frozen peas into greased casserole and top with onion rings made by slicing one large white onion. Top with 2 tablespoons butter or margarine and sprinkle with ½ teaspoon salt and pepper if desired. Cover and bake in moderate oven at 325 degrees for one hour, stirring after 30 minutes of baking to combine vegetables well with seasonings. Serves three to four.

Apple sauce, just as it comes from can or jar, given a sprinkle of nutmeg and served with a spoonful of hard sauce on top, can take a bow as a dessert any time.

Apricot Tree Yields Prize Peaches for Boy

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)—Five years ago Sydney Mendelsohn ordered some fruit trees from an Illinois firm later convicted of mail fraud. He got five trees right away — all about eight inches tall — marked plum, apricot, pear, cherry and apple. The plum seedling didn't grow and the apple tree was barren.

But Mendelsohn figures he got the last laugh. His 9-year-old son took some peaches from what was supposed to be the apricot tree — and won first prize at the Montgomery County fair.

When roast veal from Sunday dinner is left over, try teaming it with diced apples and celery and French dressing. Serve on crisp greens.

Vary Curry Toppings

Pour a curry sauce over cooked rice and top with deviled eggs. Heat quickly in the oven. Serve with flaked coconut, chutney, salted peanuts for a party lunch.

Orange Flavored Rice, New Trick With Poultry

Rice makes an especially good team-mate with pork and poultry. And especially fine when it is orange flavored and colored.

Melt 3 tablespoons butter in a heavy saucepan. Add 2-3 cup diced celery and 2 tablespoons chopped onion; cook until onion is tender. Then add 1½ cups water, 1 cup orange juice, 2 tablespoons orange rind and 1¼ teaspoons salt. Bring to a boil, and add 1 cup uncooked rice. Cover, reduce heat and cook 25 minutes for 6 servings.

For that extra something you want to serve for dinner, fix Parsley - Buttered Onions. Heat drained canned onions in butter. Sprinkle with chopped parsley to serve.

Ham Loves Fruit Sauce

When you serve pineapple rings as part of a fruit salad, you may have the syrup left over. Add a tablespoon of soy sauce to it and boil gently in a small saucepan until reduced in quantity and serve with a slice of broiled cooked ham.

You can use either a teaspoon of vanilla or a half teaspoon of grated lemon rind and one teaspoon of lemon juice to flavor a four-egg sponge cake.

Sweeten the Bacon

Try broiled bacon with a molasses glaze for a very fine meat accompaniment with waffles. Just place strips of cooked bacon in a pan. Dribble a combination of unsulphured molasses and prepared mustard over the bacon. Place in a moderate oven for 5 minutes or until molasses starts to bubble.

When you cook snap beans for small fry, cut off the ends but leave them whole. Nice, this way, for finger food!

CRANBERRY SOUFFLE SALAD — Here is the newest version of a souffle salad — that wonderful combination of gelatine and mayonnaise, plus any other ingredient you wish to add. This one will be a pretty addition to your upcoming holiday meals.

Cranberry Souffle Salad Delightful Time Saver

Just when homemakers and-or hostesses are in a mood for new ideas for fall and winter menus, Cranberry Souffle Salad is here to take a proud bow. So tart-sweet, so colorful, so quick to prepare, this new salad starts with the fresh pack of canned whole-cranberry sauce now on every grocer's shelves.

It's perfect as a side enhancement of chicken, turkey, duck, pork or lamb for dinner. As the main attraction for a luncheon or afternoon party, it needs only thin chicken or turkey sandwiches along with it to present a pretty and satisfying plate for man, woman or child.

Like all molded salads, this one is fine for doing ahead. It stores beautifully in the refrigerator for whipping out with other prepared-ahead foods by a hostess who has been enjoying her own party right up to serving time. But also this Cranberry Souffle Salad is the life saver of the woman who learns at five o'clock that she's to have spur-of-the-moment dinner guests.

She needs a fast luxury touch to make the meal special. Time is short, but fruit-flavored gelatin and mayonnaise, basic to every Souffle Salad, can (in combination) be popped right into the freezing unit without changing controls for the necessary 15 to 20 minutes.

It was the discovery of this possibility that changed the whole concept of a molded salad from one which required hours from starting to serving time to one which can be served handily a little over 60 minutes from the moment its ingredients are put together.

Cranberry Souffle Salad

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
⅛ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
1 1-lb. can whole-cranberry sauce
½ cup chopped celery
1 9-oz. can crushed pineapple, drained

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add mayonnaise, lemon juice, salt and ½ cup of the cranberry sauce. Blend thoroughly with rotary beater. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and chill (without resetting control) 15 to 20 minutes, or until firm about 1 inch from edge but soft in center.

Turn into bowl and whip with rotary beater until fluffy. Fold in remaining cranberry sauce, celery and pineapple. Pour into 1-quart mold. Chill until firm (about 1 hour). Unmold and garnish with salad greens. Serve with additional mayonnaise, if desired. Yield: 6 servings.

Fritters Good With Meat

Banana chunks, orange sections, apple slices, canned sliced pineapple and canned peach halves may all be dipped in fritter batter and deep-fat fried. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and serve hot as an accompaniment to baked ham or for dessert.

Excellent Pork Cuts Good Pre-Holiday Food

To market, to market to buy pork! Several retailers report that due to shorter supplies, some pork prices have moved up slightly since last week. But if you compare it with other red meats, you'll keep pork on the market list.

For the best of health your list should include fruits and vegetables, citrus fruit or juice, whole grain cereals and breads, dairy products and eggs in addition to several meat choices.

MEATS—Two pork cuts now offering good eating at little cost are Boston butt and picnics.

The Boston butt is from the fleshy part of the shoulder and is the leanest of all pork cuts. It contains about 54 per cent lean, 11 per cent fat and 5 per cent bone. It will yield three servings from each pound and will cost 13 to 20 cents a serving at this time.

The fresh Boston butt is often cut to make two meals—one a lean pork roast and another of braised pork steaks. Another way of serving Boston butt is to have the blade bone removed; then roll the roast and tie it. This becomes a boneless cut that may be roasted as is or stuffed with a tasty dressing.

The picnic comes from the lower part of the pork shoulder and includes part of the front leg. It may be sold fresh or smoked. The picnic is about 61 per cent lean, 21 per cent fat, 4 per cent skin and 14 per cent bone. It will yield two servings per pound at 16½ to 20 cents a serving this week. A picnic weighing between 4 to 6 pounds is from a small lean animal.

Roasted fresh picnic is tasty company for sauerkraut or a boiled dinner with fresh carrots, onions, potatoes and turnips. Smoked picnic has an "almost like ham" flavor.

Low cooking temperatures keep pork tender and juicy. Fresh pork is roasted at 350 degrees until a meat thermometer inserted to the center meat is a grayish white all the way through. Smoked pork is roasted at 300 degrees and is done when the thermometer, properly inserted, reaches 160 degrees.

Ground beef, variety meats, stewers and turkey fit into the budget - stretcher's plans.

From now until December, Michigan's outdoors will be filled with deer hunters. True deer is a meat you won't buy at the market, but an estimated 75,000 families will be having venison on the menu.

Whether venison is a treat depends upon the care and handling of the deer from the time it is shot until it reaches the dinner table. For a free copy of the MSU bulletin, "Venison," contact Mrs. Josephine Lawyer at the Cooperative Extension Service, 1260 West Boulevard, Pontiac. This booklet gives complete instructions for dressing deer in the woods and many recipes for cooking venison.

Hunters, and you at home, may want to take advantage of special offerings on bacon and hams.

Cold weather appetites will welcome fuller flavored vegetables. Capitalize on the cabbage family — cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli and Brussels sprouts. They give much for the money in flavor and nutrition.

Cauliflower shows signs of good quality by having a jacket of bright green leaves insuring freshness. Compact creamy-white flowerts indicate tenderness. Small and large heads may be equally good, so choose the size that fits your needs.

Brussels sprouts are the "doll-size" cabbages. Round, compact heads with green, fresh - looking leaves are a sign of good quality. November is the month of peak supply with about 26 per cent of the year's crop in our stores. A quart will serve five people for about 6 to 8 cents each.

Apples, grapefruit and oranges wear similar price tags when you check cost per pound. Brighten up the fruit bowl, use them for snacks or at mealtime. Fruits add good supplies of vitamins and minerals to the daily food needs.

Both medium and large size eggs are 41½ to 45½ cents per pound this week. If you can find small sizes of Grade A quality, they are slightly less on the per pound basis.

Serve Salad on Avocado

Peel a Florida avocado and then slice it in rings for an attractive individual salad base. Add greens and pimiento, or whatever your choice; top with French dressing. The buttery texture and bland flavor of the Florida fruit makes it most adaptable.

Advice to career girls: stew fruits and make a simple gelatin dessert over the weekend for beginning-of-the-week use.

Casserole Variations Use Packaged Onion Soup

The first casserole was undeniably invented for company. Confronted with a passel of people, an ingenious hostess must have logically thought a one-dish meal would solve several problems all at one fell swoop.

Combining a whole meal in one dish saves on dish washing, it allows the hostess to spend her time in the living room rather than the kitchen, saves time and work, and there's no limit to the number of casseroles that can be concocted, or the manner in which the ingredients can be varied.

Here for example is a delicious casserole that has a basic foundation. It comprises a package of noodles which has a sauce of onion soup mix, sour cream and milk mixed in.

The distinctive flavor of this casserole though is the package of onion soup mix. The savory flavor of golden toasted onions and beef stock permeate the whole dish giving it a highly original flavor.

The variations involve the feature ingredient. You can devise a tuna casserole by adding a can of drained tuna fish. It can also be a ham casserole by turning in two cups of diced cooked ham. A pound can of salmon or two cups of diced chicken will also turn it into something entirely different. This illustrates the possibilities of casserole cookery.

Tuna Fish Supper Casserole

1 package (8 oz.) medium noodles
1 package onion soup mix
½ pint sour cream
1 cup milk or ½ cup heavy cream
1 can (13 oz.) tuna fish, drained

Cook noodles according to package directions; drain. Stir onion soup mix into sour cream, beat with rotary beater and slowly stir in the milk or cream. Heat, but do not boil. Combine cooked noodles and tuna fish, which has been broken into bite-size pieces. Stir in sauce and turn into a 2-quart casserole. Cover and bake in a moderate oven 20-30 minutes. Makes 8-10 servings.

Variations

Ham Casserole: — Replace tuna fish with 2 cups cooked, diced ham.

Salmon Noodle Casserole: — Replace tuna fish with 1 pound can of salmon.

Chicken Casserole: — Replace tuna fish with 2 cups diced chicken.

After you have turned a cake out on a cooling rack, place another cooling rack over the bottom of the cake and invert cake again on rack to have top side up.

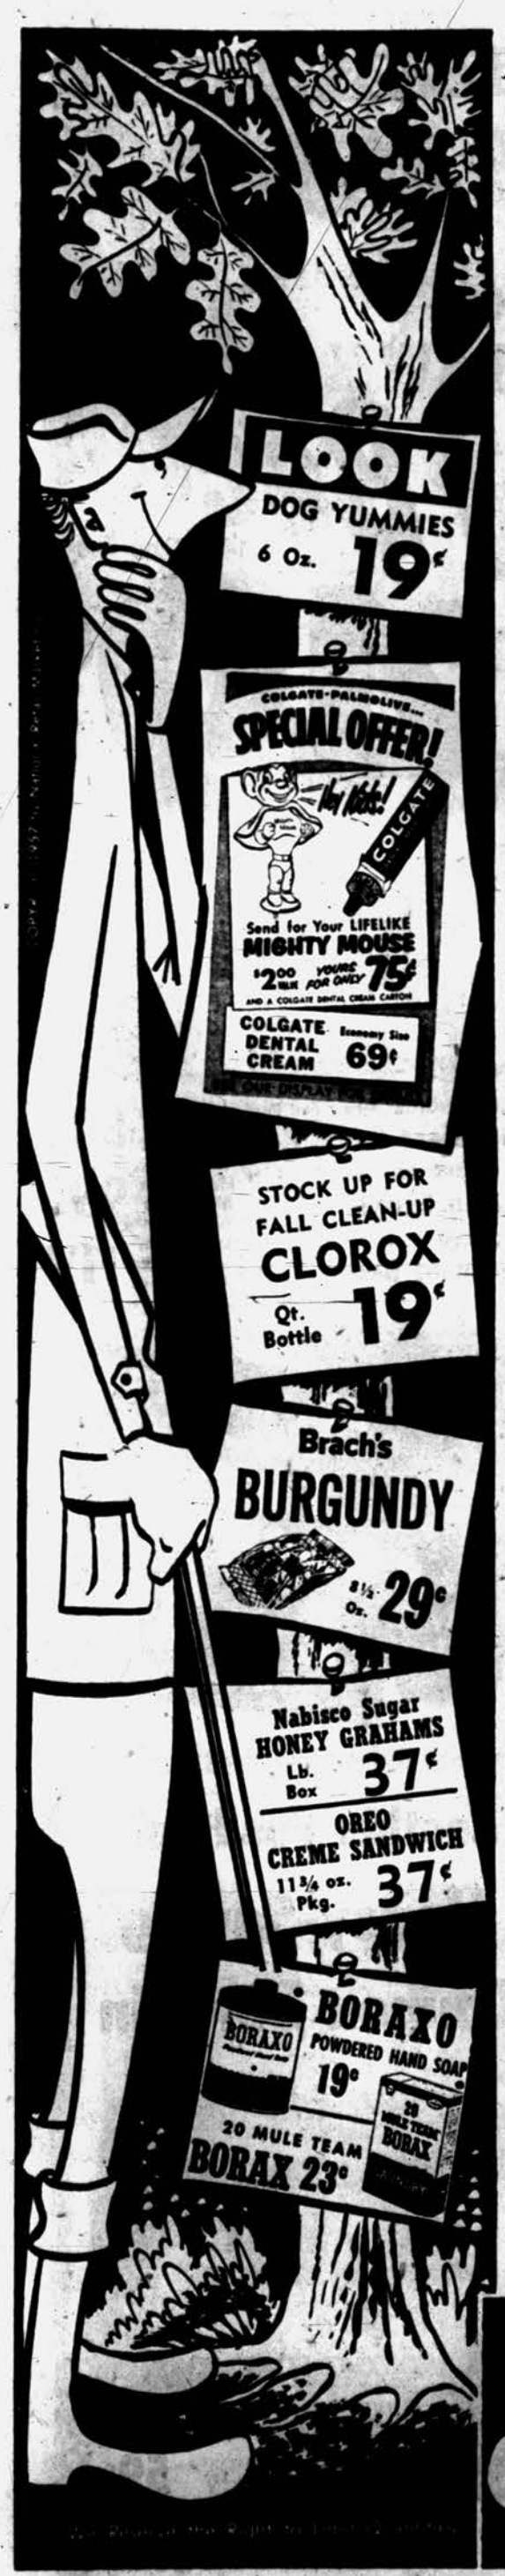

Cherries Top Melt-in-Mouth Nut Cookies

These Holiday Nut Balls are crisp until they reach the tongue when they literally melt away. Too much flour makes them tough, so use only the amount that is suggested.

If the dough is too soft, be sure to chill it thoroughly, then form into balls in palms of your hands. Chilling the hands by running them under cold water helps, too.

Cream butter and sugar together until light. Add egg yolk, orange and lemon rind, lemon juice and vanilla; mix well. Add flour, mixing well. Chill thoroughly.

Form dough into ½ inch balls; roll in egg white, then nuts. Place on ungreased cooky sheets. Press piece of cherry in center of each. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 minutes. Makes 2½ dozen.

Use of Wine Pleases French Manufacturer

The delightful and beneficial qualities of wine — a fact well known by Frenchmen for the past 2,000 years—has at last been discovered by large portions of inhabitants on this side of the Atlantic.

"Americans, in ever increasing numbers, are learning of the beauties of wine with meals," says Edouard Kressman, a French wine manufacturer.

With true Gallic reverence for the juice of the grape, coupled perhaps, with a sharp eye on the cash register, Kressman feels that no meal — however elaborate — should ever be without wine.

To him, a wineless meal is like ham without eggs; salad without French dressing, or Paris without the Champs Elysees.

"Americans are learning this, too," he added. "And as a result they also are learning how to live more gracious and amiable lives, despite the hectic pace of modern existence."

The mass acceptance of wine in this country stems from World War II, Kressman opinioned, when the tens of thousands of GI's returning from Europe brought with them the continental taste for the amber and white beverage.

And since that time, wine drinking was aided and abetted by the tremendous number of American tourists who flocked to Europe, he added.

The increase in wine consumption is especially evident in the middle west.

"Before the war the use of table wine was practically nonexistent in the middle west," Kressman said during a stopover in New Orleans, on his tour across the nation. "But since then wine drinking in the area has snowballed tremendously."

"Despite the increased popularity of wine in this country, the French wine maker feels that Americans "are a little afraid" of drinking it.

He hastened to add that this fear has nothing to do with the inebriating propensities of the beverage, but, as he put it:

"Americans have made the drinking of wine a complicated business. They seem to expend all their energy on which is the proper wine to drink with the different types of meals."

But Frenchmen don't bother with that sort of thing, he said, adding:

"We're not so fussy in Europe. The only thing that should be avoided is bad wine."

Kressman believes that the French government's current drive to cut down on the consumption of alcoholic beverages is "greatly misunderstood" in this country.

He said that the government drive is aimed at in-between-meals drinking and the manufacture of "home-made" wine.

"Wine with meals has been a French tradition," he asserted, "ever since the first vineyard was planted in Bordeaux 2,000 years ago and the government would never attempt to halt something that has become a national institution."

Allow your roast poultry to "rest" for about 20 minutes after you remove it from the oven. This way the bird will absorb juices and carving will be benefited. This rest period also gives you time to make gravy and remove cord and skewers.

Rich Cookie Filling

Mincemeat left from your Thanksgiving pie-baking? Use it as a filling for your favorite sugar cookies, and bake them sandwich-style to serve with hot cocoa as a nourishing after - school snack. Pick up the flavor of the mincemeat, if you like, by grating in a touch of lemon or orange rind.

Apples to be stewed should be peeled and cored and then cut in quarters or eighths.

Gingersnap Crumbs Add Surprise Taste to Salad

It's surprising what can be done with a few simple ingredients and a little imagination. Most housewives, for example, have the makings of this Pearadise Ginger-Cream Salad on hand all of the time. Chances are this simple salad will be greeted with exclamations of surprise and delight and no wonder, for it combines crisp red apple slices with juicy, spicy canned Bartlett pears.

The flavor of both fruits is accentuated with balls of cream cheese which have been rolled in gingersnap crumbs. Of course, there's no need to mention that the flavor of gingersnaps and canned pears go together like small boys and peanut butter.

This is a salad which is extraordinary enough to serve at bridge luncheons or company dinners, but which can be whipped up in a jiffy for that hurry-up dinner.

Pearadise Giner-Cream Salad

6 canned pear halves
2 red-skinned apples
1 3-oz. package cream cheese
1 tablespoon milk or cream
1 cup gingersnap crumbs
Endive or other salad greens

Arrange endive or salad greens on individual salad plates. Wash and slice apples into thin wedges; arrange 4 or 5 on each plate. Place canned pear half atop apple slices and put giner-cheese ball in center. Serve with choice of dressings.

Ginger-Cream Cheese Ball

1 3-oz. package cream cheese
1 tablespoon milk or cream
½ cup gingersnap crumbs

Soften cream cheese, combine with milk. Divide into 6 equal portions; roll in gingernsap crumbs, making soft balls.

Now that broccoli's at its peak, be sure to marinate the cooked flowerettes in oil and vinegar and then add them to an assortment of crisp greens before tossing with a tangy salad dressing.

Try Simple Trick for Fresher Eggs

When you hear the call for "eggs sunny side up," is there anything more frustrating than having the egg yolk burst and run over the frying pan the moment you drop in the egg?

If so, it may help you to learn that not all such disasters can be attributed to your egg-breaking technique, or even to a "bad" egg.

Even Grade A fresh eggs sometimes perform this way. It oftentimes depends on the way they are stored in the refrigerator.

According to authorities, you should place eggs narrow-end-down in your refrigerator storage compartment. Experience has shown that the yolk of an egg, even a fresh Grade A egg, tends to rise to the top during refrigerator storage when it stands too long with the broad-end-down.

Potato Soup and Cress Equal Potage

American version of a delicious French soup.

Quick Potage Cressoniere

1 can (1 lb. 4½ ounces) clear chicken broth
½ bunch watercress
1 can (10½ ounces) frozen condensed cream of potato soup
2 tablespoons heavy cream

Empty the chicken broth (undiluted) into a medium-sized saucepan. Cut the stems from the watercress right up until the leaves; wash stems and leafy tops separately in colander; drain thoroughly and keep separate.

Add stems to chicken broth; heat slowly to boiling; boil 3 minutes. Pour into food mill or strainer; do not try to get all the watercress stems through, just enough puree to give good flavor. Return to saucepan with undiluted frozen potato soup.

Heat slowly, stirring occasionally, until soup comes to a boil. Add leafy watercress tops and simmer a few minutes. Stir in cream. Makes 2½ cups.

MOCK PIZZAS — Pizzas have moved into the appetizer classification. Made with miniature shredded wheat biscuits, they are tangy bites to serve with your favorite drink. Other toppings include a deviled ham spread and a wine-cheese spread.

Baby Pizzas Have Base of Shredded Wheat Bites

Take one chilly autumn afternoon, one favorite football team, and a few hours of cheering, and what beter reason could you have for inviting friends back to your house for an informal supper. Everyone will be discussing that sensational run or maybe it will be a defense play so serve a hot mulled drink and a pick-up snack to warm their bones and their conversation.

Then while everyone is relaxing, you can pop a casserole into the oven to heat. For the rest of the supper, serve a big tossed green salad, some buttered garlic bread, and for dessert a big tray of fruits with a variety of cheeses.

For the drink, we suggest a hot mulled cranberry flip and for a snack, several different spreads served on crisp junior-sized shredded wheat biscuits. Here's a new canape base that stays delightfully crunchy under moist or heated spreads.

Mock Pizzas

1 (6 oz.) can tomato paste
½ teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon onion salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon salt
24 junior-size shredded wheat biscuits
¼ pound Mozarella cheese, cut in ⅛-inch strips

Mix tomato paste, oregano, onion salt, pepper and salt together. Spread on shredded wheat biscuits. Top each biscuit with a cheese strip. Place on baking sheet and bake for 5 - 8 minutes at 400 degrees or until cheese is melted and slightly browned. Makes 24 canapes.

Zesty Canapes

1 (2-¼ oz.) can deviled ham
½ (4-½-oz.) can liver pate
1½ teaspoons finely chopped onion
2 aspoons prepared horseradish
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
24 junior-size shredded wheat biscuits

Mix deviled ham, liver pate, onion, mustard, horseradish and Worcestershire sauce together. Spread on shredded wheat biscuits. Garnish with pimento strips and parsley. Makes 24 canapes.

Cheese Dreams

½ pound processed cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons dry red wine
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
32 junior-size shredded wheat biscuits

Grate the cheese. Add the wine and mix with a fork until smooth. Stir in mustard and Worcestershire sauce. Spread on shredded wheat biscuits. Place on baking sheet and bake for 5 to 8 minutes at 400 degrees, or until lightly browned. Sprinkle with paprika. Makes 32 canapes.

Hot Mulled Cranberry Juice

2 cups cranberry juice cocktail
1 cup canned pineapple juice
1 1" stick cinnamon
3 whole cloves
2 oranges sliced, cut in half

Mix cranberry juice and pineapple juice together. Add cinnamon stick and cloves. Bring mixture just to boil. Reduce heat and simmer gently for 10 minutes. Remove cinnamon and cloves. Serve hot. Makes four servings.

Q. What is the name of these cuts of meat?

A. Pork Rib Chops.

Q. Where do they come from and how are they identified?

A. They come from the loin section of pork and contain just one muscle. Depending on the thickness, they may or may not contain a rib bone. They are easily identified by the solid eye of loin.

Q. How are they prepared?

A. They are most often cooked by braising, a moist heat method of meat cookery. They are browned on both sides, seasoned, covered tightly and cooked slowly. To cook pork rib chops cut ¾ to 1 inch thick, it will take approximately 45 minutes to an hour.

Tang of Apricots Scores in Filling

Orange juice and rind give just the right piquancy to the rich filling of double-crust Apricot-Nut Pie.

Apricot-Nut Pie

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup shortening
3 to 5 tablespoons cold water

Apricot-Nut Filling

3 cups mashed cooked apricots
¼ cup orange juice
2 tablespoons grated orange rind
⅔ cup sugar
½ teaspoon almond extract
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons water
½ cup chopped pecans

Sift together flour and salt. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Sprinkle with water, mixing lightly until dough begins to stick together. Turn out on floured board or pastry cloth and press dough together. Cover or wrap in waxed paper while preparing Apricot-Nut filling.

Combine apricots, orange juice, orange rind, sugar and almond extract in saucepan. Heat. Mix cornstarch and water. Stir into apricot mixture and cook about 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Cool. Add pecans.

Divide pastry into halves. Roll one half to circle ⅛ inch thick and fit into 9-inch pie pan. Roll remaining half of dough for top crust. Turn filling into bottom crust. Arrange top crust over filling. Trim and flute edge. Prick or slash pastry top to allow steam to escape. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Sausage Fruit Patties Really Are Different

Bulk pork sausage becomes a festive standout when made into these Sausage Cornettes. Combine 1½ pounds bulk pork sausage with one 1-pound can crushed pineapple which has been drained. Shape the meat and pineapple mixture into 8 patties.

Dip patties into 1 beaten egg then roll in ¾ cup crushed corn flakes. Brown patties in 1 teaspoon melted lard. Cook turning occasionally, until done, about 45 minutes.

Milk Produces Glazes

You won't go amiss if you paint the surface of fruit cake better with milk just before setting the pans in the oven. According to cooking experts the slight additional moisture of the milk produces a shiny glaze.

When you don't want to stuff a duck, quarter and core a couple of apples and insert in a body cavity before roasting.

Substitute Milk in Cereal

Substitute milk for half of the boiling water called for when preparing oatmeal these cold, wintry mornings. It makes a more nourishing breakfast starter and the cereal cooks in the same length of time.

Add a few miniature marshmallows to custard cups before pouring in the custard mixture and baking. Youngsters like this!

Barley Must Be Soaked

Put a quarter cup of pearl barley to soak in the evening. Next morning, cook it in four cups of water until it's tender. Add the cooked barley to a beef and vegetable soup.

Try Brazil Nut Fruit Cakes

Fruit cakes, rich as their name implies with dried fruits and nuts, stand for thoughtful gift giving from the kitchen and for traditional holiday fare. Brazil nuts give an extra richness in these cakes.

Fruit cake baking is much simpler these modern days by calling on citron and candied fruits ready diced and packaged in cans or glass. Dried fruits are also ready for immediate use.

To make the fruit cake job an easy assembly one, have the Brazil nuts shelled ahead of baking time. To crack Brazil nuts, cover with cold water; bring to a boil and boil about 5 minutes. Drain and cover nuts with cold water for a minute; drain and the nutmeats are easily removed.

Brazil Nut Tropical Cake

3 cups Brazil nuts (2 pounds unshelled, 1 pound shelled)
1 pound pitted dates
1 cup (1 8-ounce jar) drained maraschino cherries
¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla

Put Brazil nuts, dates and cherries into large bowl. Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt over nuts and fruit; mix with hands until nuts and fruits are coated. Beat eggs until foamy; add vanilla. Stir into nut-fruit mixture until well mixed.

Turn into greased and waxed paper lined pan 9½x5¼x2¾ inches. Spread evenly in pan. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) 1 hour 45 minutes. Cake must be cooled before slicing. Yield: 1 3-pound cake.

Brazil Nut Fruit Cake

1¼ cups shelled Brazil nuts
3 ounces finely cut candied orange peel
6 ounces thinly sliced citron
1 8-ounce package pitted dates, finely cut
2 cups raisins
1 cup currants
½ cup well-drained maraschino cherries
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ cup shortening
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
4 eggs
3 tablespoons unsulphured molasses
½ cup orange juice

Cover Brazil nuts with cold water and bring slowly to a boil and boil three minutes, or until the nuts can be sliced easily. Drain and cut in thin, lengthwise slices. If desired, reserve perfect slices for decorating top of cakes.

Combine remaining Brazil nuts in bowl with orange peel, citron, dates, raisins, currants and cherries. Sift together flour, baking soda, salt and spices; mix ½ cup with the fruit and nut mixture.

Cream shortening with orange rind in large mixing bowl; add brown sugar and cream well. Beat in eggs one at a time. Combine molasses with orange juice and add alternately with dry ingredients to shortening mixture. Mix in prepared Brazil nuts and fruit.

Turn into 4 loaf pans 6x3x2 inches, or 4 6-inch round pans or into a 10-inch tube pan, which have been greased and lined on the bottom with waxed paper.

To decorate cakes, arrange Brazil nut slices to form flowers; press additional cherries in center. Bake in a very slow oven (275 degrees) 1 hour and 30 minutes for loaf pans and round pans, and 2 hours for tube pan. Remove from oven and brush with glaze. Yield: 4½ pounds fruit cake.

Fruit Cake Glaze

1 tablespoon light corn syrup
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Combine corn syrup, brown sugar and water. Stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved; bring to full boil; add lemon juice.

BRAZIL NUT FRUIT CAKE — Brazil nuts highlight fruit cakes. The cake shown above has chopped citron and chopped nuts in its tempting dark goodness. Boiling the nuts before cracking them makes this an easier job.

Ignore Clock; Trust Taste to Cook Pasta

OMAHA (INS) — An Italian journalist who dubs as an expert on cooking spaghetti and other pasta dishes says American house wives cook too much by the clock.

Instead, Dr. Pasquale Barracano says, they should check the progress of their cooking by constant tasting.

Dr. Barranco and his delegation of 15 Italians are in this country to study possibilities of using American wheat in pasta making.

The group, composed of newsmen, pasta manufacturers, chemists and a geneticist, will investigate wheat marketing and processing facilities.

Italy imports from 15 to 18 million bushels of wheat annually for the pasta industry.

Gumdrops Spice Oatmeal Cookies

Gumdrop Oatmeal Cookies are so easy to prepare. They keep well for several days if stored in an airtight container and out-of-bounds of the children.

Gumdrop Oatmeal Cookies

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup fat (at room temperature)
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons milk
1½ cups quick or regular rolled oats, uncooked
¾ cup finely cut mixed spiced gumdrops

Sift together flour, soda, and salt into bowl. Add fat, sugars, egg, vanilla, and milk. Beat until smooth, about 2 minutes. Fold in rolled oats and gumdrops. Drop from a teaspoon onto greased baking sheet and bake in moderate oven (375) degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 3½ dozen cookies.

Add Zip to Chicken Soup

Spice up a can of chicken noodle soup with a teaspoon of parsley flakes, a teaspoon of sesame seed and a dash of garlic salt for zip. Serve at lunch, as a dinner appetizer or for an in-between snack.

Whipping Cream Tips

There's a trick to whipping cream successfully that bears repeating for the beginner in cookery. First, use a small, deep bowl. Chill bowl, beater and cream. Whip cream with a rotary beater until thickened. At this point add sugar to taste and continue whipping until cream barely stands up in peaks.

Mix Cheese, Marmalade

Cottage cheese mixed with orange marmalade makes a delicious spread for crackers or bread. Try this combination as a salad, too. Serve it on crisp greens and garnish the top with minced parsley.

Pieces of Turkey Blend Well With Cheese Spaghetti

For those tag-ends of the turkey which frequently include portions the family has so far spurned, here's a delicious turkey Tetrazzini.

Natural cheddar cheese and ripe olives lend flavor to the spaghetti combination.

Turkey Cheese Tetrazzini

3 cups cooked spaghetti
¼ cup butter
¼ cup each of chopped onion, green pepper
¾ cup diced celery
1 cup light cream
1½ cups grated natural cheddar cheese
½ cup chopped pimiento
1 cup pitted, chopped ripe olives
2 cups cooked turkey, shredded
Salt and pepper

Melt butter, add onion, green pepper and celery. Cook until tender. Add cream, 1 cup of cheese, pimiento and olives. Heat slowly until cheese melts. Add turkey.

Blend mixture lightly with spaghetti; season to taste. Fill buttered 1½ quart casserole. Top with rest of cheese. Bake at 350 degrees 25 minutes.

Don't cut or grind that leftover cooked meat until you are ready to use it in this form.

Tip on Shelling Nuts

Shell Brazil nuts ahead of use in order not to delay your cookie baking schedule. (The nuts keep well in a covered container in the refrigerator.) To shell the nuts more rapidly, cover with cold water; bring to a boil and boil 3 to 5 minutes. Drain; cover with cold water a minute, then drain and crack.

Good glaze for a boneless pork shoulder butt: a half cup of light brown sugar mixed with a little tarragon vinegar—just enough to moisten the sugar.

Mushrooms Good Eating in Raw or Cooked Form

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Out in the country where we live we have seen dozens of people hunting mushrooms this Fall. Now when it comes to mushrooms, we are perfectly willing to get ours in little boxes with cellophane windows.

We know you can eat some of the ones you find in the woods, but we're not taking any chances. And after the fiasco we had with trying to grow our own—we told you about that a year or so ago—we'll stick to commercially raised mushrooms.

This is Mushroom week. We had a letter telling us so from the American Mushroom Institute. That's a new organization, whose existence we never knew of before. Anyway, the mushroom people are blowing their own horn this week and telling us how to use their product.

We just read what the World Book has to say about mushrooms. According to that authority there are about 38,000 known species of mushrooms; some 1,000 species are edible. While they do not have a great deal of food value, they make such good eating that they are worth including in your meals occasionally.

Mushrooms can be eaten raw and should make an interesting addition to the hors d'oeuvres tray. Just wash them, quarter them through the stems and let chill in ice water until serving time. Dip them in any dunking sauce, barbecue sauce or cheese sauce.

It is not necessary to peel mushrooms before cooking them. Wash carefully and trim the stem ends. Canned mushrooms may be used in practically every recipe where fresh ones are called for.

Raw Mushroom Appetizer

Fresh mushroom caps
Olive or salad oil
Lemon juice or wine vinegar
Salt
Pepper
Tarragon or oregano

Select perfect fresh mushrooms and cut off stems near the caps. (Save the stems for use in cooking). Wash and dry.

Mix oil and lemon juice or vinegar, using about one cup oil to one-quarter cup lemon juice or vinegar. Add seasonings to taste and pour over mushrooms. Let stand at room temperature several hours, stirring a few times. Serve with picks as a cocktail accompaniment.

Potato cakes are a grand way to use up leftover mashed potatoes. When you add mushrooms, you have an entirely new dish.

Mushroom Potato Cakes

½ pound fresh mushrooms or 4-ounce can, drained
2½ cups unseasoned mashed potatoes
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons cream (about)
3 tablespoons grated sharp cheese
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
Nutmeg (optional)
Flour
Oil or butter

Slice fresh mushrooms and cook, covered, in one-quarter cup water three minutes. Drain. Chop either type mushrooms very fine. Mix mushrooms, potatoes, butter, cream, cheese and egg yolks and season to taste. Shape into 12 flat cakes. Coat with flour and brown on both sides in oil or butter. Serves six.

It's the BALANCE of ingredients in baking powder that governs its leavening action. Only when these are scientifically balanced can you be sure of uniform action in the mixing bowl plus that final, balanced rise to light and fluffy texture in the oven . . . That's the story of Clabber Girl's balanced double action . . . Better Baking everytime!

BALANCED double-action means Better Baking!

PORK CROWN ROAST — Fashion of the year is this pork crown roast . . . ready for the Thanksgiving holiday. The pork loin roast is fashionably dressed in white ruffles and escorts an Apple Herb Stuffing.

Consider a Crown Roast

The pork crown roast is often a forgotten meat specialty, because it must be prepared, on request, by your meat retailer.

Reba Staggs, meat expert, suggests serving the pork crown roast during the Thanksgiving season.

Your meat retailer will fashion the pork crown roast from two 7-rib center cut loins. Have the ends of the rib bones frenched . . . this will give you a chance to decorate the roast with paper frills.

Either an apple-herb or chestnut stuffing would be an excellent choice to fill the center of the roast. For the garnish simply use a few spiced pears on the platter.

Roasting the Meat Cut

Before roasting the pork crown, season the meat with salt and pepper. Then place the crown roast, rib ends down on a rack in an open roasting pan. Do not add water and do not cover. Roast in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 1 hour.

Then remove the roast from the oven, and invert it so the rib ends are up. Now is the time to add the stuffing. Then insert a roast meat thermometer into the thickest part of the roast, being careful that it doesn't rest in fat or on bone.

Continue roasting in a moderate oven until the thermometer registers 185 degrees. Allow about 40 minutes per pound for roasting.

Apple Herb Stuffing

¼ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup drippings
3 cups soft bread crumbs
1 cup finely chopped tart apples
¼ teaspoon marjoram
¼ teaspoon thyme
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup brown sugar
¾ cup water

Cook onion and celery in drippings, about 5 minutes. Combine with bread crumbs, apple, seasonings, sugar and water. (Makes about 2 cups of stuffing)

Bake in center of pork crown roast or place in baking pan and bake in moderate oven (300 to 350 degrees) during last 30 to 45 minutes of roasting time.

Broil Canned Mackerel for Hearty Brunch

For a lazy weekend brunch "fit for a king" treat your family to broiled canned mackerel. Be sure to fix plenty for it's a dish that invites hearty eaters to ask for seconds. Drain canned mackerel and place split sections in a greased shallow baking dish. Season with lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, marjoram, thyme, salt, pepper and bay leaves.

Arrange half slices of bacon over the mackerel, dot with butter and sprinkle with paprika. Broil until heated through and the bacon is crisp. Serve with canned vegetable juice cocktail, fried potatoes, coffee and English muffins.

Small fry enjoy a combination of peanut butter and honey in a sandwich or as a spread for toast.

Get Busy With Plans for Thanksgiving Menu

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Are you having company for Thanksgiving this year? Or are there just two or three of you to sit down to our most typically American holiday meal? Regardless of the size of your guest list, you have to do some planning.

If you have roast turkey, cranberry sauce, sweet potatoes and pumpkin pie, you'll be repeating the menu that has been standard since early Colonial days. The very first Thanksgiving meal included such items as shellfish, eels, wild game, corn bread, roasted Indian corn and an assortment of fruit and nuts for dessert. The feast continued for three full days!

Fortunately, we today have to plan for only one meal, at the most two. I like Thanksgiving dinner late in the afternoon. Then if anyone is hungry again before bedtime, he can always have a turkey sandwich.

This year I'll need a large bird because we're having company. But if we were alone, I'd be tempted to have either a Cornish game hen for each of us or buy part of a turkey. You can find a turkey of almost any size nowadays.

If you're not sure what kind of dressing your guests like, stuff the turkey with one kind and have a casserole of a second kind to pass. Make one regular, old-fashioned plain bread dressing, I say.

If it's traditional to have mashed potatoes, candied sweet potatoes and mashed squash, have them. But sweet potatoes and squash preceding pumpkin pie seems too much of the same thing. I think we'll have mashed potatoes and baked pieces of squash, but no sweet potatoes.

This is one meal in which I think you can have a first course or a salad. Personally, I like the appetizer course, then a big tray of relishes to pass.

If your family objects strenuously when you try to change any part of the Thanksgiving menu, you won't be able to tamper with dessert. That means both mince and pumpkin pie. For a small family, make both fillings in one crust, by using piece of aluminum foil to separate them during the baking process. Remove before serving.

For a decided change you might consider a molded pudding. This one is light as it can be, but it contains such old favorites as mincemeat and molasses.

Molded Mincemeat Pudding

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ cup molasses
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup water
3 eggs, separated
3 tablespoons sugar
1 cup mincemeat

Soften gelatin in ¼ cup cold water. Stir cream of tartar into molasses and add cinnamon, salt and half cup of water. Beat egg yolks and add molasses mixture. Cook over hot water, stirring, until slightly thickened. Add softened gelatin; stirring until dissolved. Chill until syrupy.

Beat egg whites stiff, beat in sugar and fold into gelatin mixture with mincemeat. Spoon into mold. Chill until firm. For a festive touch, garnish with marzipan fruits and huckleberry leaves. Serve with whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

Better sit down with a pencil and paper right now and make your plans for the 28th. It's only two weeks away.

Breakfast Bread Boasts Ruby Coat

Cranberry Breakfast Bread has a perky flavor that's a perfect match for an autumn breakfast.

Spread 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, ½ cup sugar and 1½ cups whole raw cranberries in bottom of 8-inch square pan. Pour batter over mixture.

For the batter, sift together 1½ cups sifted enriched flour, ½ cup sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt. Combine 1 egg, beaten, 2-3 to ¾ cup milk and 3 tablespoons melted shortening. Stir into flour mixture, mixing until smooth. Pour evenly over cranberry mixture.

Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) about 25 minutes. Serve warm. Makes one 8-inch square cake.

Taste of Food Tells Difference in Grade

(INS) — The tastebud is quicker than the eye in recognizing a fine steak.

Food tests made by the University of California at Davis checked families on their ability to recognize the difference between choice and good grades of beef.

Miss Marilyn M. Dunsing, assistant professor of home economics, gave loin steaks from carefully fed University animals to more than 400 families.

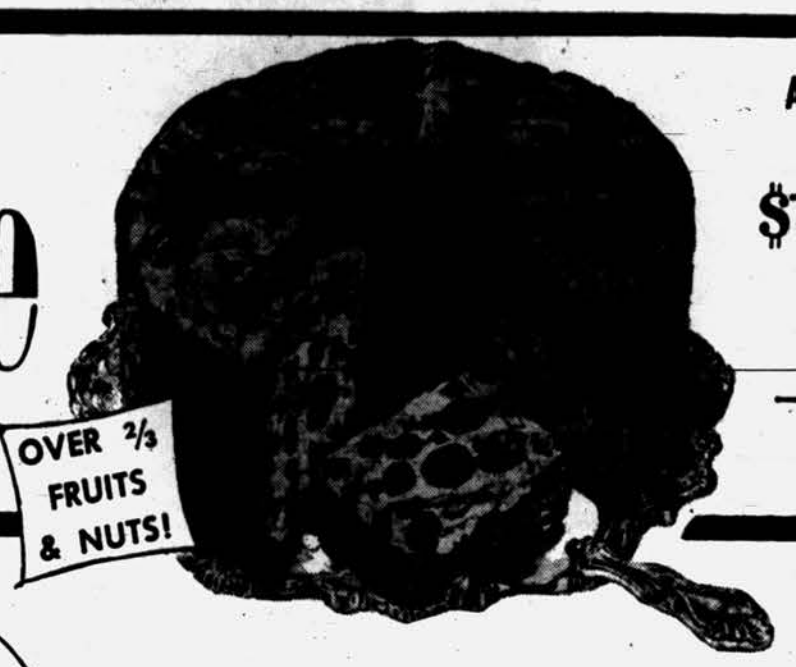

Each family got one piece of meat graded good and a second piece graded choice.

Before cooking, about half of the families preferred the looks of the cheaper cut—the good grade. But after eating, 75 per cent voted for the choice steaks on the basis of juiciness, tenderness and flavor.

Gelatin Adds Protein

Because protein is so necessary in reducing diets, unflavored gelatine has proved to be a valuable daily protein supplement for reducers. An envelope of unflavored gelatine (only 28 calories) taken in fruit or vegetable juice as a between - meal snack not only supplies protein but serves to curb the appetite come mealtime.

Boris Glad Wicked Get Little Rest

Karloff Is Grateful for His Fame as Film Monster

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Fortunately, philosophizes Boris Karloff, there is no rest for the wicked.

For having achieved a place in theatrical history as the embodiment of all that in sinister, macabre and slightly terrifying has kept Karloff in the ranks of the steadily employed for 26 years now.

Which is a good deal more than the urbane, genial Frankenstein's monster can say for the first 21 years of his acting career—a period, he says, in which "no one knew I was acting but me."

A BIT OF LUCK

Emerging from anonymity to capture the starring role in the film that became the all-time ultimate in fright flickers was, in Karloff's view, nothing less than a very large bit of luck.

"You see that window?" the spare, 70-year-old Britisher said, aiming a long finger at a multi-colored window in a Hollywood cafe.

"Well, you could heave a brick through that window right now and hit an actor who could do everything I've done in my whole career, perhaps better than I've done it.

"But he wasn't on the right corner at the right time, that's all. I was. I'm a very lucky man."

The "right corner" for Karloff—who cavorts on Gisele MaKinzie's NBC-TV show Saturday night—was Universal Studio in 1931.

LOOKING FOR MONSTER

The casting department was prowling for someone to play the monster in the original "Frankenstein" film.

The late Bela Lugosi, then the kingpin of such epics, already had tested for the role and been found wanting, but Karloff, with aid of a brilliant makeup man, devised a monstrous face that frightened the wits out of millions, became a trademark of horror and, incidentally, won him the job.

"It changed my whole life," Karloff recalls contentedly now. "Why, I'd been acting for 21 years before that, and I'd never once worked for a solid year. At one point I was down to driving a truck."

Does he ever regret that the monster sits ever behind him in the shadows now as a constant reminder that the name Karloff is synonymous with the darkly evil.

SYMPATHETIC KIDS

"Good heavens, no," he exclaimed. "I imagine you are referring to children and the effect of the role on them. Let me tell you something. Any mail I ever got from children who said anything beyond, 'Send me a picture,' expressed sympathy for the monster—because he really was a pitiable character, you know.

"Stories like 'Frankenstein' are not without significance, either. They actually have their roots in the folklore of all nations.

Junior Group Hears Guest From U. of D.

The Rev. Hugh P. O'Neill of the University of Detroit spoke on "Personality and Mental Health" when members of the Junior Pontiac Woman's Club met at the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building.

Father O'Neill's remarks defined character as "life dominated by principles," personality as "our habitual attitude toward other people," and temperament as "the influence upon our bodies of glandular secretions."

St. Dunstan Will Present 'Witness for Prosecution'

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — St. Dunstan Guild will present a three-act play the evenings of Nov. 15, 16, 22 and 23. "Witness for the Prosecution" by Agatha Christie will be done for the first time by an amateur group in the Detroit area.

Jervis B. McMechan is the director and Mrs. Lewis C. Keenan is production manager. Bea White and Ned Schneider are assistant directors and Marcia Kelley holds lines.

Appearing with St. Dunstan for the first time will be Mrs. Mark T. Jaroszewicz and Robert G. Harris, who have leading parts.

Mrs. F. C. Reith and Richard W. Miner have very important parts, and also in the large cast are Mr. and Mrs. Rogers I. Marquis, Dr. Dwight Ensign, George H. Heideman, Mrs. Fred Bahr, John W. Knecht, Francis Loud, Jack Klaar and many others.

Original costumes from the New York play have been secured and scenery is completed.

Among members who will entertain before or after the show is Mrs. Weslau Wright, who has chosen opening night, this Friday.

She has invited friends for dinner including Mr. and Mrs. McMechan, Mr. and Mrs. Mark T. Jaroszewicz, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Thompson, the John H. Hintermeisters, the Richard B. Darraghs, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Andreae, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Field, the Dave Burnetts, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. King and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh H. Loud.

Gals Find New Fields to Conquer

Job Opportunities Grow Rapidly for U. S. Women

By ALICE K. LEOPOLD

(For Jane Eads)

Few periods in history have offered women of the United States greater opportunities to participate in the mainstream of the nation's business and economic life. Women are accepting the challenge with vigor, determination and confidence.

More than a third of the women in the population are workers, and for the past year women's employment has averaged some 21 million, a record which surpasses that of World War II by about two million. Moreover, women's achievements are not confined to numerical gains.

MOST FIELDS OPEN

Increasingly, they are finding demands for their services in practically all occupations and professions.

Their better qualifications, their demonstrated abilities and the need for additional workers has opened for them one door after another—doors to jobs which offer infinite variety and chances to advance.

This diversity in women's work is one of the most striking developments of recent years, a sharp contrast to the earlier days of women's employment outside of the home.

It is also a trend which is extremely encouraging, particularly to the young women who are daring to prepare for, and aspire toward, careers which have been off the beaten path—that is, for women.

MORE IN SCIENCE

Evidence of the widening of job horizons for women is their greater representation in scientific and technical professions.

As revealed by the last 10-year census, more women now are doctors, chemists, pharmacists, architects, draftsmen—and yes, even engineers.

Gains also have been chalked up by women in accounting, statistics and mathematics, a field of study which can lead to many specializations.

The skills of women have a great significance for all who are concerned with womanpower. They indicate that women are competent to fill many of the shortages which now exist, in technical as well as in other areas of work.

Beyond that, they suggest that women—in growing numbers—can become real partners in providing the planning, the direction and the imaginative genius which are so vital to future progress and welfare.

Hour-Glass Highlights Shoe News

Louis Heel Tops Footwear Styles for Next Season

CHICAGO (INS) — Hourglass curves may not be the latest thing for feminine figures but they are for feet.

New shoe styles for 1958 emphasize the hour glass, or Louis, heel — thin at the center, wider at both ends.

Although the narrow, tapered and pointed toe is still tops in pumps and sandals, stylists are dropping thin spike heels for the lower, curved models.

Generally, heels were lowered one-half to as much as an inch in 1958 models for both street and dress wear in recent exhibits staged in Chicago by the National Shoe Institute.

Albert Biegel of Cincinnati, head stylist for a big shoe firm, said the new heel heights are designed to go with shorter skirts.

"Short skirts and spike heels make a woman look flashy. Heels always go down when skirts go up," he said.

But there's a more practical reason for the Louis heel silhouette. It is broad enough so the heel won't catch in sidewalk cracks and grates. And, although it is actually thicker where it counts, the heel remains graceful because of the curves.

Mrs. Dempsey Gives Address for Secretaries

Mrs. Helen Dempsey, medical librarian for St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, spoke at a dinner meeting of National Secretaries Association, Pontioak Chapter, Wednesday evening.

The speaker, a long-time member of Detroit's Board of Education, assistant principal of Condon Junior High School and now medical librarian, chose as her subject "At Home in the Library."

Mrs. Michael Kerensky and Mrs. Kay Rector acted as hostesses for the meeting in the Nurses' Home.

White Shrine Plans Bazaar

Fifty members attended the Wednesday evening meeting of Pontiac White Shrine held at Roosevelt Temple.

Mrs. Wayne Scott, worthy high priestess, announced the Christmas bazaar and dinner to be held Nov. 30 at the temple. Committees in charge are Mrs. Wayne Reeves, general chairman; Mrs. Florence Wallace, fancywork; Mrs. William Cousins, baked goods and Mrs. Earle Hoskins, dinner.

Mrs. Norma Jean Baker (seated) of Squirrel road became the first Mrs. Wayne State University in the history of the school Wednesday. Mrs. Baker is a sophomore in music education. She and her husband, Richard, have one daughter, Judith Patrice. Runners-up were (standing, left to right) Mrs. Jean Hipps, Mrs. Victoria Amsden and Mrs. Irene Wayne.

New Gloves of Leather Will Wash

No Need to Search for Someone Who Can Clean Them

It's a great age, I keep saying, in which to be a woman. Science keeps thinking up new ways to make us look younger, live longer and enjoy it more.

Even the small annoyances are being solved for us. Take gloves, for instance. Remember how difficult it used to be to keep your fine leather gloves fresh and immaculate.

If you tried to clean them yourself, chances are you'd ruin them. And it was worth your life to try to find a cleaner who could be bothered with cleaning gloves.

Well, that's just one more dividend of modern living. Glove counters this fall are loaded with the new launder-leather gloves, each of which carries a guarantee of washability.

Now being produced by all leading glove manufacturers, the new sure-to-wash gloves come in a wide range of styles and high fashion colors.

Attached to each pair of gloves is a guarantee tag with simple directions for washing and instructions for returning the gloves for replacement or refund if they should prove defective in washing.

Among the new glove colors for fall — all colorfast — are a series coordinated to new costume colors. Deeper tones that are popular include cherry red, loden green, brown, pewter gray, russet and merino, a new taupe with a brownish cast.

Also important are lighter colors such as cottonwood (a warm, creamy beige), wicker tan, nougat (maple sugar color), gold, gray, pink and blue. And of course there are the perennials —black, white and navy.

A favorite glove length this season is about 3 inches above the wristbone — right for bracelet-length and push-up sleeves. Several have ingenious self-leather trim, or discreet touches of embroidery.

And a boon to forgetful girls is the lariat glove, a short pull-on with a leather cord loop and button by which you can lasso the glove to your wrist when you remove it from your hand.

Young Wives Lack Time for Perfect Housekeeping

Homemaker Today Has Many Other, More Important Aims in Life

By RUTH MILLETT

"It's really disgraceful what poor housekeepers most of today's young mothers are," said an older woman. As a babysitter she sees the homes she goes to not when they are slicked up for company, but when they are left "as is" by a mother hurrying to keep an appointment.

Unless you stop to examine her charge that today's young mothers are poor housekeepers you might mark them down as a lazy lot.

But the truth of the matter is that most young mothers don't have the time to be the perfect housekeepers their grandmothers were.

Being a model housekeeper isn't their one big aim in life, nor is being a housekeeper all that is expected of them.

As a young matron today a woman is expected to take a part in community projects. She is expected to make a place for her family socially.

She is expected to be a companion to her husband, which may mean she is off hunting instead of staying at home to give the house a thorough housecleaning while her husband goes without her.

She is expected to take some part in all of the activities that involve her children. And today children are involved in plenty of activities, most of which in some way involve their parents.

Today's young mother is expected to do all of the family's chauffeuring which, if the family lives in a suburb, keeps a woman on the jump.

And to top it all, she is supposed to look as much like a glamor girl as she can manage for as long as she can cheat time.

Is it any wonder then that today's young homemakers aren't always good housekeepers?

Wash Baby's Face With Clear Water

It's best to wash baby's face with clear water, but use plenty of soap for the rest of his body. Wash carefully between fingers and toes, and in all the creases. Then rinse the entire little body.

Dry baby with a big, soft, absorbent towel and apply baby oil or baby lotion to every crease and crevice.

Trouble With Eggs?

If you have trouble achieving that perfect, flimy look with poached eggs try this: Fry the egg in a small amount of fat with the thermostatically controlled gas burner set at 225 degrees. Then add a teaspoon of water for each egg and cover the skillet tightly for just a few minutes. The egg will have a filmy look and may be served over corned beef hash, chicken hash, as Eggs Benedict or any other way you wish to use poached eggs.

Young Adults, Parents Often Clash

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Life with father and mother can be a trying, but frequently rewarding, experience for unmarried sons and daughters in the early stages of adulthood.

In the eyes of our parents, most of us never grow old, never outgrow the need for advice and protection, never completely sever the ties that have bound us to the family circle until we begin a family of our own.

Yet this very solicitude for our welfare, even as an expression of parental love, can develop into a major problem.

Intense interest often breeds interference, robs us of initiative in life and may leave us helpless victims of "momism," the curious affliction that author Philip Wylie once said is sapping the strength and drive of succeeding American generations.

When boys and girls reach the age of 18, they are anxious to see what life has to offer.

CHALLENGES OF LIFE

Understandably, they want to meet some of the tests and challenges that home, school and church have prepared them for—the challenge of earning a living, meeting the right mate and starting a family, pursuing some meaningful goal in life.

Do parents sometimes tend to get in the way of these aims?

To get the answers to this intimate and recurring family problem, we interviewed hundreds of unmarried sons and daughters between the age of 18 and 23 in various cities and towns across the country.

The survey was confined only to the unmarried group of young adults. It did not include child brides and child bridegrooms, whose problems are of a different nature and will be dealt with in a later study.

In assessing the young unmarried group, we found first that 81 per cent of them lived at home, the rest were either away at college or living and working away from home, usually in another city.

DESIRE TO GET AWAY

Of those living at home, 64 per cent of the boys and 48 per cent of the girls expressed a desire to live elsewhere, away from the supervision of their parents.

The Questions Asked

Do you live at home?
Would you rather live away from home?
Are you required to be home at a specific time on weekday nights?
What time?
Did your parents help you make your decision about your job?
Do your parents consider you successful in your work?
Did your father expect you to do as well or better than he had done?
Would you prefer to have your father in place of your present boss?
Do you enjoy doing things with your family?
Do you feel close to your family?

Why?

Perhaps the next four questions provided a clue. They dealt mainly with home life for young adults under the watchful eyes of father and mother.

For instance, 16 per cent of the boys and 37 per cent of the girls said they were required to be home at a specified time on weekday nights.

Remember, these are not adolescents talking, these are young men and women from 18 to 23 years of age.

What time did they have to be home?

Before 11 p.m., answered 31 per cent of those under curfew restrictions. Nearly half were allowed to stay out until midnight, and the remaining 20 per cent could get home at 1 a.m. or later.

FATHER AND FRIEND

Both boys and girls were asked "when you think of your father, which of these words comes to mind: Stern, love, friend, respect, fear, example."

Father and friend went hand in hand with the largest group of boys, 30 per cent, but stern was the word for father to most of the girls, 36 per cent.

Stern took second place among the boys' answers, with 21 per cent, followed by fear (19 per cent), respect (17 per cent) and love (15 per cent).

Among the girls, father besides being stern also suggested fear (28 per cent), respect (23 per cent), love (20 per cent). It is interesting to note that only 12 per cent of the unmarried daughters looked upon father as a friend, his lead category with the boys.

In trying to assess the place of mother in the hearts of her growing sons and daughters, the choice of words was altered slightly to fit her station in life.

MOTHER AND LOVE

The question asked was "when you think of mother, which of these words comes to mind: Love, worry, help, interference, fear, respect."

Love led all the rest among the girls, with a 49 per cent response, but interference spelled mother for 36 per cent of the boys, their top category.

Next in line for the girls' idea of mother came respect (35 per cent), fear (21 per cent), worry (17 per cent) and interference (14 per cent).

Again it is interesting to note that while motherly interference was a main issue with the boys, it was the least consideration among the girls.

After interference, the boys next listed love (32 per cent), respect 14 per cent), worry (12 per cent), help (10 per cent) and fear (7 per cent).

JOB VERSUS HOME

Since most of the young people in this age group are out of school and contributing to the family income, the relationship of their job to their home life was an important one.

Despite the close home ties, 77 per cent of the boys and 64 per cent of the girls said they picked and found their jobs without any help or advice from their parents.

About the same percentage said they never even discussed the subject at home before setting out on a job-hunting expedition.

Only 11 per cent of the boys and 6 per cent of the girls worked for their fathers.

Of these, 69 per cent of the boys and 84 per cent of the girls said they got along with him all right at work and had no complaints."

Boys who did not work for their fathers seemed mighty happy about the idea, but girls working for other bosses seemed to think it would be nice to have father as the boss.

NO IMMUNITY

The question asked was: Would you prefer to have your father in place of your present boss? No, answered 79 per cent of the boys. Yes, said 63 per cent of the girls.

The fact that most of these young people picked their own jobs and in most cases did not follow in their fathers' footsteps did not give them immunity from job criticism at home.

Their independence was curbed somewhat by parental estimates of their success.

Six out of every 10 boys and more than one out of every two girls said their parents did not consider them successful in their jobs and were disappointed with them.

This disappointment is surprising in the light of another survey question that showed less than 45 per cent of the parents expected their children to do as well or better in life than they have done. If they didn't expect too much, why were they disappointed?

ENJOY COMRADESHIP

But despite the curfews, job criticisms and occasional streaks of sternness and interference prevailing at home, 59 per cent of the young men and 66 per cent of the young women enjoyed doing things with their families, took delight in the comradeship of Mom and Dad.

Did they feel close to their families?

That was another matter entirely, one that hit closer to home than mere enjoyment of family activities.

The answer, which should give many parents reason for heavy thought, is that 69 per cent of the boys and 52 per cent of the girls do not feel close to their families.

They may be living at home, but already they are beginning to lead their own lives. They want love but they also want life, and the latter is apt to win in a family tug-of-war.

FEDERAL DEPT. STORES SAGINAW AT WARREN, PONTIAC

Betty Delores Burgess and Malcolm Paul were married Saturday in Beulah. Parents of the bride are the Rev. and Mrs. John Burgess, and the bridegroom's mother is Mrs. Alma Paul.

MR. and MRS. MALCOLM PAUL

Father Conducts Wedding of Betty Delores Burgess

Married in Beulah Holiness Church were Betty Delores Burgess and Malcolm Paul. The bride's father, the Rev. John Burgess, performed the Saturday ceremony before 150 witnesses.

The bride is also the daughter of Mrs. Burgess of South Shirley avenue, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Alma Paul.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of imported Chantilly lace and nylon net fashioned with long tapered sleeves and princess lines.

She wore a pearl tiara which held a fingertip veil of nylon illusion. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white roses, stephanotis and ivy on a white satin Bible.

Mrs. Mervyn Carver of Owosso served as matron of honor and Mrs. James Wilkson and Ovetta Mays were bridesmaids. The attendants were gowned alike in blue velvet with matching skirts of chiffon, and they carried cascade arrangements of enchanting yellow carnations.

GOWNED IN BLUE

Flower maid Marla Jean Burgess, sister of the bride, wore a blue taffeta floor-length gown and carried a basket of white rose petals.

Acting as best man was Mervyn Carver of Owosso. James Wilkson and James Purcell were groomsmen and Jerry Burgess and Marvin Cross seated the guests.

A reception was held in the Union Hall, after which the newlyweds left on a trip. Before leaving the new Mrs. Paul changed to a red and black taffeta dress with black accessories and a white rose corsage. The couple will live in Owosso.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Paul attended Owosso Bible College.

Charles Dugas Named by PTA

It has been announced that Charles Dugas will serve as president of the newly organized Kennett Road School PTA.

Mrs. Theodore Figa will assume vice presidential duties. Others taking office are Mrs. John Couture, mother vice president; Mrs. Paul Hardy, secretary, and Mrs. Harold Watson, treasurer.

Serving as council delegates are Jane Danton, Mrs. Dugas and Harry Roberts. Auditors are Mrs. Merrill Stephens and Mrs. Thomas Childers. Historian for the group is Mrs. Alice Benson.

Don't Follow Fads

Never follow the crowds when selecting a fragrance. A perfume that flatters a close friend may do little for you. If you are the out-of-door type, avoid a femme fatale fragrance. It puts you out of character.

Host Implies That Bachelor Behaved Like a Heel

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am a bachelor and am often invited to dinner at the homes of my married friends. Again the other evening I was asked to dine with friends, and when I arrived there was a young woman (an unmarried friend of the hostess) also present.

"After dinner we played cards until we left about 11 o'clock. I walked the young woman to the bus and waited until she got on it, and then left to go home.

"Several days later, when I was talking with my friend on the telephone, he said he was surprised to hear that I had not taken Mary home. He said had he known I wasn't going to take her home he would have done so. Needless to say, he made me feel like a heel.

"I would like to know from you, Mrs. Post, if I was wrong not to see her home. Had she been my guest I would have taken her home, but as I met her at the home of friends I thought taking her to the bus was sufficient."

Answer: You and your hostess should have had a definite understanding about whether or not you were going to take the young woman home. Actually I am surprised she did not ask you, "Will you take Miss Smith home? She lives on 10th street."

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon in a double-ring ceremony and I would like to know who is supposed to hold the bridegroom's ring. Should the maid of honor hold it, or does the best man take care of both rings?"

Answer: Usually the bride wears the bridegroom's ring over her gloved little finger, from where she can most easily produce it.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I live in a small town where there are no street numbers on the houses. I should like to have a lawn marker with my name on it but I'm in doubt as to how my name should appear.

"I am a widow. Does one use a title on a lawn marker? It doesn't seem right to me. Will you please advise me?"

Answer: Your last name, preceded by an initial if there are others of the same name living near you, will be correct. You should have the sign as short as possible so that it can be read from a moving automobile.

Decorative Stitches Are Chic

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Modern home sewing fans are tricky gals. They can pick the simplest style in the pattern book, whip it up in no time and achieve a haute couture look with a few imaginative touches of their own.

Local sewing center experts point out that trimming possibilities are unlimited if you take advantage of the new decorative stitching possible with new automatic sewing machines or attachments.

An example is a simple one-piece dress of the easy-to-make variety featured by most pattern companies.

Make it in dark crepe or sheer wool, then go to work on decorative stitching for a yoke with a Western flavor.

After the dress itself is completed, make a pattern of the motif you choose on tissue paper and trace it onto the dress. Try the dress on before stitching the design, to be sure it falls in the right place.

VARIED STITCHES

The most effective design uses several kinds of stitches. A plain zigzag stitch may be worked in wide scallops for the top row of stitching, all the way round the yoke. This is one of the basic settings of the new slant needle automatic machines.

The next row may be done in the solid scallop or solid pyramid design.

To make circles, place fabric in an embroidery hoop, set machine for freehand stitching and a satin stitch. Turn hoop slowly and evenly to achieve circles.

Below the circles make a line of plain satin stitching, then three more lines of stitching for a decorative finish.

Chapter Honors Arlene Swanson at Bridal Party

Members of Phi Alpha Iota Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority held a surprise bridal shower for Arlene Swanson Tuesday evening at the home of Marilyn Carlson on North East blulevard.

A pink and blue shower also was given honoring Mrs. Robert Cervenka.

Hostesses were Marilyn Carlson and Donna Moore. Guests attending included Mrs. Ronald McNeal, Mrs. Cervenka, Miss Moore, Miss Carlson, Georgia Wyrick, Marilyn Rowe, Joan Wilson, Carol Kinchla and Mrs. Gerald Moore.

The three requirements for satisfactory children's clothes: Easy on, easy off, easy sudsing.

You Can Turn Rainy Day Into Fashionable Occasion

PARIS (INS) — By wearing a smart waterproofed coat you can turn a rainy day into a fashionable occasion.

Rather than a "rain uniform" Paris designers believe females should face bad weather in coats that suit their way of living.

For college girls and women devoted to sports the classic oilcloth is considered smartest in Paris. Cut trench-coat style, it is worn without a belt, fastened with gold buttons and comes with a sou'wester hat.

Housewives will need a rainproof coat of discreet elegance for shopping or taking the children out.

Givenchy has a smart rain number of black silk with an oversize hounds tooth pattern in white. Double - breasted and collarless it has a separate Balaclava helmet of the same fabric which is string - drawn around the neck.

Career women will want a coat dressy enough to go on for cocktails after work. Lanvin - Castelllo proposes water - repellent cotton velvet in dark forest green. You can wear it with or without a belt and it has a shawl to be worn either as a hood or scarf.

Designer Manguin shows stunning raincoats made of nylon with a lacquered finish. One is printed in silver to look like ermine fur.

The other has a gold pattern imitating gold - brown mink. They have both detachable hoods, which also can be worn over the arm as pouch-bags.

If a store lets you take out some merchandise "on approval" and you decide not to keep it, it is only good manners to return it in perfect condition.

Lounge Wear Makes It Easy to Look Pretty

NEW YORK (NEA) — Looking pretty around the house this season, morning or night, won't be a chore if the designers have their way with you.

They've whipped up the prettiest at-home fashions yet. Even the more tailored hostess coats, culotte pajamas and coveralls have taken on a more feminine look with the aid of bows, ribbons, gold-and pearl embroidery and lace.

Coin - dotted corduroy coats and cozy, quilted challis coats flaunt ribbon bindings and big bows at collarless necklines. Among the most flattering of the new coats is one in white with a ruffled lace yoke set on bands of pink satin ribbon.

Velvet that is at once opulent and practical appears in hostess gowns and coats of quilted nylon velvet or washable panne velvet. These get trim of nylon satin.

For morning wear, gown-and-peignoir sets get high waistlines and yokes plus a froth of lace, ruffles and ribbons.

Don't Feel Injured

If a friend has a party and does not include you, there is no cause for you to feel or show resentment. No one likes to feel he can't ever entertain without inviting a few sensitive souls who are sure to feel hurt if they are left out.

Faulty Routine May Steal Energy

"Bored? It's exhausting!"

By JOSEPHONE LOWMAN

Many small deficiencies in our habitual daily routine add up to a huge loss in energy and can make us feel tired most of the time. They make our tasks difficult to perform, cause us to procrastinate and can sink us into ruts because we fail to add new interests to our lives.

Are you careless about nutrition? A skimpy breakfast may lead to fatigue by midmorning. We need three regular meals a day. So, skipping meals is a bad habit!

Then, of course, WHAT you eat is most important. Your store of energy is greatly impaired if your body lacks some of the elements essential to its well being. If you are to safeguard your energy, you must see to it that you eat a well-balanced diet.

Lack of sleep takes the pep out of living. If you habitually shortchange yourself, this factor alone may be responsible for your weariness. A change in your ways can make you feel like a new person.

Trying to do too much in one day so that you feel pushed and hurried all day long is another formidable reason for chronic fatigue. It is not so much the amount of work you do or the number of things you accomplish as it is the emotional factors involved.

For this reason psychologists tell us to drop a certain number of duties and leave them for the next day whenever we find ourselves buffing and puffing. The chances are that these can wait without any truly dire results.

This is a trick which is prescribed when one has a long piece of work to complete such as a book or a thesis. Attack it piece by piece. Do not look past what you can do today or this week or this month. Women in the home can profit by this technique.

Worry is a big energy stealer. Do what you can about your problems. Talk them out ONCE with someone close to you or get professional help but do not dwell on them. Mulling over your troubles day after day, always conscious of them, will not only tire you, it may kill you!

Overweight can cause fatigue. Those extra pounds give your body much extra work besides the actual job of carrying them about.

Boredom exhausts one.

CHRONIC FATIGUE

Lack of physical exercise can lead to chronic fatigue.

Change just a few faults in your physical or mental or emotional habits and you will discover a big boom in your store of energy.

Kids Help With Family Washing

CHICAGO (INS)—Working mothers are delegating authority in getting the family wash done—much in the same way that business data is collected and weighed.

Or so reports Margaret Spader, director of home service for the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

In surveying job-holding mothers, Miss Spader found they are dividing responsibilities in getting laundry in and out of automatic laundry appliances. She reported:

"Younger children are being assigned pickup and delivery duties while older children who can read are given the job of operating the appliances."

In this 1957 method, said Miss Spader, "Mothers are limiting their responsibility to administrative details—sorting clothes and deciding which temperature, soap or detergents and drying times are best for particular articles of clothing."

Many Victories Gained by Baths

More victories for the human race have been won through baths than through battles. More lives have been lost by lack of sanitation and abuse of cleanliness standards than in the wars of centuries.

Even today, disease thrives on ignorance in countries where cleanliness and sanitation are still backward.

Manicure Should Be Thorough

Avoid Short-Cuts When Working on Your Nails

By VIVIAN BROWN

If you'd give yourself a professional manicure, never take a short-cut on work that will not show.

That's the advice of a professional manicurist whose manicures are known to look lovelier longer. She recommends a simple step-by-step routine, and says a good manicure will take only a few minutes longer than a casual one.

The first job is to condition the nail surface to which polish will be applied. That's the only way you'll get a smooth polish finish.

Remove every trace of the old polish with a sterile cotton ball moistened with polish remover.

Hold the cotton on the nails until the polish softens. Then wipe it from the base to the tip. Work neatly, so you will not smear polish on the skin around the nails.

GOOD SCRUBBING

When you have shaped the nails with the file and pushed back the cuticle with the wide end of the orange stick, give the nails a good scrubbing with a stiff brush and soapy water. Rub each nail vigorously with the towel when you dry your hands.

The scrubbing and towel rubbing should whisk off dead cuticle that might prevent a smooth polish and cause chipping.

Buffing the nails has been revived both by those who wear polish and those who do not. It provides the smoothest base for the polish.

A good buffing method is to stroke from base to tip and from tip to base. That way you'll be sure to buff the entire nail. If you stroke across the nail, you are likely to buff only the raised center, the professional manicurist reminds us.

Give nail polish plenty of time to dry at room temperature. Heat will serve to keep the polish soft, and an electric fan used to dry it may only result in polish blisters.

It's a good idea to do one hand and let it dry. Then do the other. That way if an emergency requires the use of your hand, at least one will be free.

Resist the temptation to dry your girdle hurriedly. Putting it near a radiator or other direct heat will damage the elasticized threads.

Less Spent on Today's Debutantes

Many 'Come Out' Socially With 100 Other Girls

"Do you have to be rich to have a debutante party?" inquires an 18-year-old Midwestern girl.

You would have to be rich to give a debutante party like those that were famous in other generations. But the truth is that even wealthy families today do not squander their money on those fabulous parties.

MASS DEBUTS

Girls who still are introduced in traditional "coming-out" parties do it en masse, with 100 or so other girls.

One reason is that it doesn't make much sense to introduce your daughter, spending a fabulous sum, when she's already been dating for a few years.

The idea behind a "coming-out" party is to introduce a girl to the eligible men in her own social strata.

Today girls date earlier, know the boys in their set, so there is little point in mortgaging the old homestead just to enable a daughter to dance with men she already knows.

PREFER EDUCATION

A great many girls of 18 do not feel they are ready for marriage, anyway, and prefer a college education before settling down to the real serious meaning behind debutante parties—snaring a man.

There's no reason why a girl can't have a modest coming-out-party if her parents can afford it, though, and if there is a need to meet young men.

Many girls live in areas that are isolated and in that instance a list of men may be obtained from a proper source, and a party given for the 18-year-old to launch her into a social whirl.

A very funny book by Petronella Portobello ("Mother of the Deb," Houghton Mifflin) describes the hectic experiences of introducing a daughter to society.

UNIVERSAL APPEAL

The story takes place in England, but it is the kind of experience any mother would have in greater or lesser degree if she tried to introduce her ~~daughter~~ on the old, grand scale. This mother, who had been a debutante herself, found it was a nightmare.

Most young girls will enjoy this book, and some will breathe a sigh of relief at what they escaped.

It surely will appeal to any mother who has been entertaining the idea of putting her daughter into circulation via the traditional route.

Even with all the parental involvement required in this type of "coming out" party and even with young men who are generally the sons of old friends, Mrs. Portobello says the truth of the matter is that "the few wolves who really are 'Not Safe in Taxis' as often as not turn out to have been reared in prize-sheep folds."

Make Your Own

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Last summer this writer looked at the Pontiac High athletic situation in a series of two articles and boiled it down to the fact that facilities and poor coordination of programs between junior high and secondary levels were largely at fault.

During one of the PHS football games recently, one of the visiting athletic officials from a Saginaw Valley school commented on the junior high program and how his school district was planning its development.

"We will continue to have tackle football in our ninth grades," he said, "but not in our lower grades. We believe that developing of skills in the 7th and 8th grades should be just like serving an apprenticeship.

"The boys learn the fundamentals for two years, and starting in the 9th grade they begin to develop that knowledge for the next four years," the speaker continued. "I think Pontiac was wise in changing its system by catering to every size and type of boy, all it should have now is a good uniform plan," he added.

LOOKING AT THE PROGRAM

Except for one dissenter on the school board, the new junior high program was installed and last week the first season of football under the setup was completed.

A total of 415 boys participated in three leagues in the five junior highs this year. This was a retention of 85 per cent of the boys who went out for football, as only 40 dropped out.

A year ago, 345 reported and with a varsity and junior varsity at each junior high a total of 236 were retained, a loss of 109 boys.

A year ago each junior high had two coaches or directors for a total of 10. This year there were 19 faculty men coaching various squads permitting better working contacts with the boys as each team was smaller in size.

MOM GIVES VIEWPOINT

"It broke my heart to have my youngster go out for football and basketball with little hope of ever playing, but this year he played in every football game with boys of his own size, and I must say the boys on that team had all the enthusiasm of the varsity representing its school," wrote this mother.

"I am, however, disappointed at the attitude of some people doing the coaching who feel the program was not working out," she added, "but there are a lot of other parents who feel as I do, and I hope it will carry into basketball."

As it stands now it doesn't appear that the program will prevail in basketball. There is some opposition with the argument that time does not permit arranging the setup and it should be planned for next year.

There is no doubt there were probably many mistakes made in this initial start of the program, but Pontiac waited for 15 years for the old program to jell and it hadn't even started to coagulate.

Besides 109 more boys were made happier this year than the total a year ago. There may be 209 more next year.

INJURED — One of hockey's great players, Maurice Richard, will be out of action indefinitely after suffering an ankle injury last night in beating Toronto, 4-2.

'Rocket' Out of Action Following Freak Injury

MONTREAL (AP) —It took Maurice Richard to stop Maurice Richard.

The fabulous Frenchman, the only 500-goal man in National Hockey League history and off to his best start yet in his 16th season, is off the ice, perhaps for a month or more, and out of the running for the scoring title because of freak, self-inflicted injury.

It's a sad day in Montreal, but they won't be hanging any crepe elsewhere in the NHL.

The 36-year-old Rocket, pappy guy of the league, cut the Achilles tendon above his right heel last night as the Montreal Canadiens padded their first place edge with a 4-2 victory at Toronto.

Richard swept in for a second period shot, got it away, missed and then fell, landing on his skate blade — which sliced into the tendon.

Twenty stitches were needed to close the gash. The foot was to be placed in a cast today.

The Toronto team doctor, estimating Richard would be out a month, at least, said he "received a nasty cut, but was fortunate the tendon wasn't severed."

It looks as though the scoring title isn't meant to be included in Richard's already crowded list of achievements. He twice has missed by just one point, first to Max Bentley of the Chicago Black Hawks in 1946-47, and then to teammate Bernie Geoffrion in 1954-55.

The total points crown and the assists title are the only leads to escape Richard, and assists just aren't his cup of tea.

The stubby southpaw shooter, he's 5-10 without skates, holds the one season record for goals, collecting 50 in 1944-45, and also set the record for the Stanley Cup playoffs with 12 goals in 1944, his sophomore year.

This year it was evident the Rocket was out to get the scoring title, avoiding brawls and rough play for a change in order to have as much time as possible on the ice. Oddly, he picked up his first penalty of the season, a 2-minute boxing for hooking, last night.

The Canadiens, three points ahead of the second place New York Rangers, who were tied 2-2 by Chicago in the only other game scheduled last night, also lost center Don Marshall to injury. He suffered a sprained ankle when checked into the end boards by George Armstrong of the Leafs. X-rays were planned today.

Lions Aim to Throttle 49er 'Overdrive'

Detroit Pro 11 Seeks Revenge Against Frisco

Victory for Motor City Crew Would Deadlock Western Division

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The Detroit Lions have one thing in mind this weekend. That is to take the "overdrive" out of the San Francisco 49ers at Briggs Stadium.

The memory is still fresh of what R. C. "Overdrive" Owens and his 49er teammates headed by Y. A. Tittle did to the Lions on the coast in winning a 35-31 victory with only seconds remaining hardly two weeks ago.

Even last week's 27-16 win over the Philadelphia Eagles, with quarterback Bobby Layne having one of his best afternoons, didn't exactly heal the wounds of the 49ers' victory.

After that game on the return trip from Frisco, members of the Detroit squad were not convinced that San Francisco was the best team in the Western Division despite their 5-1 mark and the Lions swore their vengeance for the return game.

The 49ers started a four-game road trip last Sunday by dropping a 37-24 decision to the Los Angeles Rams before 102,000. This put Detroit and Baltimore, each with 4-3 records, only one game behind the 49ers who are now 5-2.

Another capacity crowd will witness the Briggs Stadium scrap with standing room tickets going on sale early Sunday morning. With good weather the crowd could break the single game record at Briggs Stadium which stands at 58,431 against San Francisco in 1954.

The Lions will have to stop the two-ply offensive attack of the 49ers centered around the running of Hugh McElhenny, third best ground gainer in the league at this point with 452 yards in 94 carries.

Beside watching R. C. Owens and the "kangaroo play" of the 49ers, which is the long Tittle-to-Owens pass, Detroit will have to cover big Clyde Conner who is now second in the NFL in pass receiving with 30 receptions for 412 yards.

Meanwhile a rhubarb had started between the Lions' coaching staff and Buddy Parker, former Detroit pilot now with the Steelers.

Lion coach George Wilson said Parker was putting his staff on the spot by making public statements that "because of better quarterbacking" Detroit would win the Western Division.

"Couple months ago he said this was the worst team he had ever coached, now he puts the team and the staff on the spot by making such statements," said Wilson.

Parker at the same time told the Pittsburgh luncheon group that next season the Steelers would be a "definite contender for the NFL title."

A victory for Detroit and a Baltimore win over the Bears would throw the Western Division into a three way deadlock.

Catcher Also Wanted by Detroit

Tigers Hunt for Shortstop

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers' No. 1 need, says Manager Jack Tighe, is a good-fielding shortstop. The No. 2 need is a front-line catcher.

The ball club is seeking both via the trade route and general manager John J. McHale says the Tigers are "anxious" to trade.

"I believe some of our boys may have better years in 1958," he told an informal gathering yesterday at Briggs Stadium. "But even with improved performances from some of the boys, I don't really think that'll be enough. We can't stand still. We have to make trades."

Now it's up to the other American League clubs. McHale has talked—at one time or another in the past few weeks—with every other team in the league. The Tigers are particularly interested in getting Joe DeMaestri, the Kansas City shortstop, or Bill Klaus, Boston's shortstop.

Right now, Kansas City wants more for DeMaestri than the Tigers are willing to give up. The Red Sox still are interested in obtaining first baseman Ray Boone from the Tigers and there are plenty of indications that Boone is high on the Tigers' trading list.

The Chicago White Sox are willing to part with centerfielder Larry Doby and the Tigers would like to get him—"he'd help us for a year or two," says Tighe—but the Chisox want Harvey Kuenn. And the Tigers don't consider that a fair deal.

McHale reported that seven players off the Tigers' Major League roster and nine other players on their farm team rosters are playing winter baseball.

"We believe it will help a lot of them," said McHale, "particularly after the improvement noted in Paul Foytack, Jim Bunning and Duke Maas."

Bill Hoeft, Reno Bertoia and Al Kaline, three players who live in the Detroit area, are working out in a local gymnasium twice a week with coach Don Lund.

Many other Tiger players have been asked to keep in good condition during the off-season. Pitching coach Willis Hudlin believes winter workouts will strengthen Foytack's shoulder muscles and improve Frank Lary's control.

Tommy Henrich joined McHale, Tighe, Lund and coach Bill Hitchcock in a "personnel" meeting and was introduced to the press later.

Henrich, former New York Yankee outfielder-first baseman who served as a New York Giant coach last season, will be the Tigers' first-base coach and will work with Tiger hitters.

Flu Hits Giants Prepping for Eagles' Scrap

Filipski, Nolan on 'Hospital List'; 3 Defensive Backs OK

NEW YORK (AP) — The Asian flu does strange things. It had the world champion New York Giants talking "trouble" today as they prepared for their Sunday National Football League game with the Philadelphia Eagles.

The flu numbered all-league halfback Frank Gifford among its victims last week, and he promptly ran feverishly for 126 yards Sunday as the Giants whipped the Chicago Cardinals 27-14. That was trouble?

Yesterday the virus clipped Gene Filipski, and Jim Patton came up with an old-fashioned charley horse. Those two lead the club in punt and kickoff returns. Another regular defensive back, Dick Nolan, is still hospitalized with the flu.

Sooner Records on Line Against Irish

Coach Eyes Weather

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—The No. 2 ranked Oklahoma Sooners put a number of records on the line when they meet Notre Dame in a nationally-televised battle here Saturday—and one of them may be broken at the outset of the intersectional battle.

Coach Bud Wilkinson is rumored to have controlled the weather almost as well as he has the scores of Oklahoma's home games.

During his 10-year tenure as head coach the Sooners have never played a home game in the rain. And that's one record which may be snapped this weekend. Rain has fallen in the area the past three days and more showers are forecast through Friday.

Already, the Sooners have had a sample of sloshy football. For two days this week they practiced in the mud, then were driven inside yesterday by rain and pools of water on the practice field.

Coach Wilkinson, fearful of the stormy siege, says the muddy-field practice may come in handy this weekend.

The coach would like to see his Sooners react to rain the same way a previous squad reacted to snow. In 1951 Oklahoma defeated Colorado 55-14 in the snow.

However, the coach is quick to admit that rain and mud hamper his team's fast-break offense, which is based largely on speed.

After the Kansas State game Nov. 2 Wilkinson pointed out the field was slippery, and indicated this may have been a factor in comparatively low score.

Oklahoma won the game 13-0 and has since thrashed the Missouri Tigers 39-14 to run its victory string to 47 straight games—longest in collegiate history.

The victory string is the most important record the Sooners are sticking on the line. Another one which tops all college teams is the string of 123 straight games without being shut out.

The Sooners, who already have clinched their fourth Orange Bowl game Jan. 1, will be seeking to even their series with Notre Dame at 2-2.

The Fighting Irish were the last team to defeat Oklahoma before their current winning streak started in 1953, and also are the only ones to down a Wilkinson-coached team at Norman.

Typically pessimistic, Wilkinson says the Irish are liable to win again, sending his current gridironers to their first college defeat—and shattering a bunch of records.

Wings 'Pressured' — Ted

NEW YORK (INS)—Ted Lindsay, president of the National Hockey League Players' Association, says Detroit Red Wing players repudiated his organization because of "outside pressures."

Lindsay, in a statement released yesterday by Lewis & Mound, attorneys for the association, said he and other officers of the group were "surprised and keenly disappointed" by Detroit's withdrawal from the organization.

He asserted it was "obvious" the Red Wing players were not "free agents" and were "being compelled to do and say things dictated by outside pressures."

The Detroit players withdrew from the association, claiming that they had not been consulted about a $3,000,000 law suit against the league president and club owners. The players said they believed the suit showed a "complete lack of good faith."

PGA Shift Faces Conflict

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Delegates to the National Convention of the Professional Golfers' Assn. of America today were expected to approve a move to change the PGA match play championship to a 72-hole medal play competition.

While no officials would comment directly, the change to medal play might well conflict in public interest with the United States Golf Assn. Open, which over the years has been dominated by the professionals but which is open to amateurs.

A PGA national open would be restricted to professionals and under that title could well draw censure from the USGA, of which the PGA membership in convention here seems well aware. Gate receipts from the USGA Open far outshadow anything the PGA match play tourney gets year in, year out.

A vote on the switch from match to medal was expected late today.

In routine affairs, it was announced that the PGA senior tournament in Dunedin, Fla., for the first time would be a 72-hole event beginning next year.

The PGA also listed these changes:

The "world" championship tournament's prize money will be increased from $100,000 to $105,000 and the event will be an invitational tourney instead of an open, as in past years.

The purse of the May All-America tournament for women will be increased from $7,500 to $8,000 and prize money for the women's version of the "world" will be upped from $15,000 to $16,000.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Oklahoma may get a break in ticket allocations for the Orange Bowl football game.

Chairman Ben Franklin of the Orange Bowl team committee said yesterday that if the Atlantic Coast Conference representative does not want its full allotment, they will let the Sooners have the surplus.

Ken Farris, business manager of the Sooner athletic department, told the Orange Bowl committee that Oklahoma can use 19,000 tickets to the 1958 game. Its normal quota is 12,500.

Grapevine Pickers Have Final Say

Today marks the final appearance of the grapevine for the 1957 football season and each member of the panel voted secretly this week in a last-ditch effort to win the picker's title.

From the way the balloting turned out, it looks like H. Guy Moats is the only picker who can catch Bruno Kearns, who regained the lead over the weekend.

There are a few tricky games on tap this week and the pickers had to flip their coins a little higher than usual. The Lake Orion-Holly, St. Fred-OL St. Mary, Ferndale-E. Detroit and Bloomfield Hills-Brighton games were the toughest.

All four pickers got a sour one off the grapevine last week by selecting Birmingham to beat RO Kimball. Brighton's win over Clarkston also threw the panel while Chuck Abair stumbled over St. Mike and Bill Cornwell lost on Holly.

Farewell to the grapevine for another year. Here's the way we pick them this week:

	KEARNS (86-28-6—.754)	ABAIR (85-29-6—.746)	CORNWELL (82-31-6—.728)	MOATS (82-32-6—.719)

West Bloomfield Will Honor Grid, Harrier Squads

Annual fall honor banquet for West Bloomfield high's football and cross-country squads has been set for next Tuesday, Nov. 19, in the school cafeteria. It is an open school affair and others outside the school are also invited. Tickets are available at the school.

Eastern Michigan's grid coach Fred Trosko, the former University of Michigan star, is the chief speaker and Coaches Art Paddy (football) and Don Bradford (harriers) will award letters. A new system of awards will be used this time, with both major and minor varsity letters, and numerals for freshmen and sophs.

Time for the affair is 7 p.m.

Machen Victor by TKO in 10th

Now Seeks Chance for Title After Winning Over Jackson

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A title fight, low blows and possibilities of retirement formed boxing topics today after undefeated heavyweight Eddie Machen slammed and battered Tommy "Hurricane" Jackson into surrender.

The 195-pound Machen, a 25-year-old battler from Redding, Calif., wants a championship bout with Floyd Patterson. He has an added talking point since his televised fight with Jackson last night goes into the record as a tenth round TKO, the same as Patterson scored over the Hurricane July 29.

Jackson and Manager Lippe Briedbart declared Eddie hit several low blows in taking his 24th straight victory. Machen said he didn't hit below the belt knowingly. Referee Frankie Carter didn't assess any penalties for low punches.

With Jackson's right eye puffed closed at the end of the tenth, Briedbart called Carter over to view the damage and Frankie stopped it. The fight was scheduled for 12 rounds.

"I recommended that the fight be stopped," said Briedbart.

NEAR-PERFECT — In nine years of bowling, George Miller, Huron Bowl house-leaguer, has carded one perfect-300, but he had never before equalled his 298 in league play, turned in last weekend. A pair of "sticky" pins spoiled another 300. His 300 was rolled in 1952, in open bowling. "I just got too nervous on that last ball," George reported. He is shown above with the ball that blasted the 298. Miller averages 185 in the Huron loop, also carries a 191 figure in the Flint Classic league. The 298 is believed the season's best here.

MSU Fears Letdown; Smith Stars at 'M'

Spartans Hope History Won't Repeat Itself

Purdue Loss Followed Rout of 'M'; Gophers Come After Irish

EAST LANSING (AP) — There's only one fear at Michigan State. That history might repeat itself in the football game with Minnesota Saturday.

The Spartans hit a high spot early this season in the 35-6 defeat of Michigan.

Next week there was an awful letdown, the 20-13 defeat by Purdue that gives the Spartans only a slim mathematical chance of a Rose Bowl or conference title.

Notre Dame, a second major rival, was walloped 34-6 last Saturday. So the question is if the Spartans will again stumble.

On paper, it doesn't look as if it could happen.

Michigan State is fourth ranked in the nation while Minnesota doesn't even figure in the standings after Big Ten defeats by Illinois, Michigan and Iowa.

MSU also has the best offense in the Big Ten and the leading passer.

The three confernce teams that ran over the Gophers found out the Gophers were sitting ducks for passes—no speed to catch the ends.

So Ninowski can be expected to do a lot of throwing.

State's senior quarterback has completed 27 of 44 aerials in Big Ten play for 437 yards and a .614 average—a good 50 yards ahead of his nearest rival.

The only quarterback with a better conference passing average shouldn't cause Spartan fans any concern.

He happens to be Mike Panitch, State's No. 2 quarterback, with 10 completions in 15 tries for 153 yards and a .667 average.

Michigan State's series with Minnesota is a young one, dating back only to 1950. State has a 3-2 edge in the five meetings.

Minnesota won 19-13 in 1954, when the Spartans had their disastrous 3-6 season, and 14-13 last year, to knock MSU out of any hopes of a conference title.

Bobby Cox was the quarterback responsible for that one with his running as well as passing. Cox, hampered by weak ankles this season, is less of a threat but MSU still has been working this week on defense against his option plays.

Iowa, Buckeyes in Big Clash

Title Game Saturday

CHICAGO (INS) — College football's most coveted crown — the Big Ten title—will be decided Saturday when Iowa and Ohio State —two of the most devastating powerhouses in the conference — collide at Columbus.

A victory for Iowa will give the Hawkeyes their second straight title while a Buckeye triumph not only will assure the men of Woody Hayes the conference crown but also the Rose Bowl berth.

Iowa coach Forest Evashevski said recently that "going to the Rose Bowl is a poor reward for winning the Big Ten title."

A sellout crowd of 85,000 will jam the Columbus Stadium to see the two Big Ten titans clash for the 20th time. Last year, with the title at stake, Iowa won 6 to 0, when Kenny Ploen tossed Jim Gibbons a 17-yard pass early in the third quarter.

Saturday's game could be an identical affair. Two sturdy lines anchored by powerful tackles will make a determined victory bid.

Evashevski, who designed his seven-diamond defense for the Buckeyes last year, has been engaged in secret practice at Iowa City all week.

Iowa reported that left tackle Alex Karras and sophomore end Don Norton should be ready to go.

Actually there is little to choose between the two teams. Ohio State will rely on its heavier backfield to open up holes in the middle of the line and will run inside the tackles with its big backs leading the interference.

Ohio State's Galen Cisco is excellent on the fullback delay play and the Buckeyes are devastating on their trapping of the guards.

Iowa, boasting a quartet of small halfbacks, none of whom weighs over 170 or stands higher than 5-10, may have a little more speed in its favor.

Quarterback Randy Duncan has been improving weekly and has mastered the roll out play with exceptional poise. Last week, the Hawkeyes ran inside reverses against Minnesota with amazing success and literally pulverized the giant Gopher tackles.

LOOK OUT FOR THORNS

Highly Touted Tackle Suddenly Hits His Stride

Wolverines' Forgotten Man Starts Living Up to Advance Billing

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The dilemma of Willie Smith has been as puzzling as it now is pleasing to the Michigan coaching staff.

Smith, a giant tackle, has been something of a gridiron Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

Highly touted, he joined the Wolverines last season as a sophomore. Coach Bennie Oosterbaan's eyes gleamed with anticipation.

But the catlike 237-pounder from Little Rock, Ark., failed to live up to his advance billing. He played some and soon was relegated to the third team. He shunted back and forth between the second and third strings early this season.

Oosterbaan was at a loss. He couldn't explain why Willie didn't use his football tools.

"I wish a coach could look into a boy's mind," coach Oosterbaan said several weeks ago. "Willie should be a great one, but he seems to lack drive.

Suddenly Smith transformed into a football fury three weeks ago against Minnesota. He was a tackling and blocking demon. He's been that way ever since. Nobody at Michigan can account for the change, but everybody is glad it happened.

"Willie became vicious and aggressive," said assistant line coach Bob Holloway. "He's now a mature man. It happened quickly but some fellows mature overnight."

"He's proud of the job he is doing," Oosterbaan said.

It wasn't necessary for the coach to add how proud he is of Smith. Oosterbaan had applied many different methods to get Smith mad.

None had worked over a two-season span. Then when Smith was about to become the forgotten man, he thrust himself into the limelight with brilliant line play, an area of Wolverine weakness this season.

He has the Indiana and Ohio State games remaining this season and all of next year to attain the stardom originally predicted for him.

Can 'Brat' Rally Bears Again?

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Bears are wondering if history will repeat.

Three years ago they had four defeats, like now, then caught fire behind a Georgia rookie quarterback, Zeke Bratkowski.

He led them to four straight victories down the stretch that gave the Bears second place in the Western Division of the National Football League.

"Brat", who rejoined the club this season after military service, was used sparingly since his return but was turned loose against Green Bay last Sunday and the Bears won 21-14.

"Zeke got a big lift out of that game," says Coach Paddy Driscoll, "and it did a lot for the entire team. I still say a team with four defeats, and maybe even five, can win the division."

The Bears take their 3-4 record against Baltimore's 4-3 Sunday hopeful of avenging an earlier defeat by the Colts.

Bratkowski, who hit on 13 out of 19 tosses for 182 yards and a touchdown in his stint against the Packers, thinks the Bears can hook up a similar winning streak of three years ago — with luck.

"The whole club is clicking now, and all we need are a few breaks," he says. "Had everything gone our way, we could be 6-1 right now.

"We lost at Green Bay when we couldn't pick up less than a yard for a first down. The Packers lost to us the same way. The breaks average up over time—and if we get a few, we can win it all."

"Brat" said the Bears line blocking "was tremendous on that last drive of 58 yards for our winning touchdown against Green Bay Sunday."

"I had all day to throw. And those forwards opened holes on running plays that were terrific. In fact, we've had good protection and good blocking all year."

The 200-pounder, whose home is at Danville, Ill., said it took him some time to readjust to pro football after making All-Air Force and All-Service at Eglin Air Force Base in Florida.

* * *

"You come back and think everything will be the same," he said. "But you soon find out it isn't. Pro ball is just a faster, better game.

Pistons Cut Squad; Put 2 on Waivers

DETROIT (AP) — Coach Charley Eckman today reduced his Detroit Pistons roster to the 10-player minimum by putting forward Jesse Arnelle and guard Doug Bolstorff on waivers.

Arnelle is the former Penn State star who saw brief action with the Pistons two seasons ago. He rejoined the club last week after a service hitch.

Bolstorff is a rookie from Minnesota who saw limited action in three games this season.

Little Utah Star Top Pass Target

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Want a pass caught? Throw it in the direction of stubby Stuart Vaughan, the smallest man on Utah's football team but big man in pass receptions, with 41, in major college statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

The 5-8 senior halfback has caught a half dozen more than anyone, averaging better than five a game, and is within reach of the top total in five years. Vaughan also could become the fourth major college player ever to latch on to 50 passes in a single season by maintaining his average against Utah's last two opponents, Air Force and Utah State.

Lakers Finally Win One in Pro League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ed Fleming, the jumping jack whose jump shots kept Niagara on the fringe of national college powers of recent years, came off the bench and made Minneapolis a winner for the first time this season in the National Basketball Assn. last night.

Fleming, sent in as a defensive measure, got hot for 23 points as the Lakers, winless in seven games, rapped the skidding New York Knickerbockers 124-106 in the only game scheduled.

Vern Mikkelson led the Lakers with 26 points, hitting a perfect 14-14 from the foul line, as the Knicks took their third loss in four games, slipping within a game of last place in the Eastern Division.

Gaylord Drops Its 'Open Town' for Hunter Army

GAYLORD (AP) — Gaylord is abandoning it "open town" for deer hunters tonight, but kept everything open until midnight last night.

Heretofore this town of 2,371 in the heart of the deer country near the top of the Lower Peninsula has kept everything open on the eve of the hunting season.

"We've got thousands here already and it's just like Christmas anyway," a Chamber of Commerce spokesman said. "Our folks decided they just couldn't stay up all night and still meet the demands of the following day, too."

The Chamber of Commerce, however, will continue its "meat pole" in courthouse square to hang slain deer and bear. Annually between 50 and 100 are strung up.

Traffic going through Gaylord was reported "extremely heavy" with northbound strings of cars backing up a block at traffic lights. Season opens Friday.

By BILL CORNWELL

Capable and unpredictable — those words best seem to describe the Flint Central football team which meets Pontiac High Friday night in a Saginaw Valley struggle at Flint's Atwood Stadium.

Coach Bill Doolittle has some talented personnel, but the Indians have been a hot and cold outfit, more often the latter, while compiling a record of two wins, four losses and one tie.

Central opened the 1957 season against Midland, ranked the state's No. 1 Class A squad, and gave the Chemics a battle royal before bowing, 25-7. The Indians held a 7-6 lead in the 2nd quarter and the contest was not as lopsided as the score would indicate.

They posted a 27-25 victory over Muskegon, a team which later defeated city rival Flint Northern, and fought perennially strong Ann Arbor to a 14-14 tie.

Powerful Bay City handed them a 47-6 licking in their Valley opener, then Alpena came down from the north land and triumphed, 26-12.

Central turned in one of its better performances two weeks ago with a 27-12 conference victory over Arthur Hill. Saginaw High downed the Indians last week in a 12-0 mud battle at Saginaw.

"Our squad is a young one," Doolittle said, "and mistakes have hurt us." "Fumbles have hurt us the most — we fumbled six times against Bay City — and penalties have also been damaging," Doolittle declared.

The Central mentor cited the Arthur Hill and Ann Arbor games as his team's top showings of the year.

Central is primarily a running team, with Ron Watkins and Art Thrash, a pair of quick-starting junior halfbacks, sparkplugging the offense. Mike Stillwagon, veteran quarterback, handles a limited passing attack.

Tackles Bill Mills and Ken Hardin are the mainstays of the Central line. Hardin is an outstanding two-way player who spearheads the defensive unit.

The Indians will take the field tomorrow night with a 1-2 Valley record. Pontiac has a 1-3 league mark and Central is the Chiefs' final conference foe.

The Chiefs will end their season a week from Friday against Ferndale in an afternoon game at Wisner Stadium. Central closes out its schedule with Northern in the traditional Thanksgiving Day struggle.

Kalamazoo, Albion Tie for MIAA Title

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Kalamazoo College tied with favored Albion for the MIAA cross country title yesterday, scoring 38 points in topping four other Michigan colleges.

Frank Grimm of Kalamazoo battled his way over the muddy course at Calvin College in 23 minutes, 20 seconds, finishing four seconds ahead of Albion's Jim DeBie over the four-mile route.

Albion had 41 points in the meet, Calvin 73, Hillsdale 110, and Hope 113. Alma failed to bring in five finishers and was disqualified.

The victory gave Kalamazoo a tie with Albion in the conference standings.

South Lyon Wins Final Paced by Underhills

Tom Underhill rambled to two touchdowns and his brother Paul passed for one TD and added three extra points as South Lyon closed its season with a 27-6 triumph over Pinckney yesterday.

Tom went 50 and 20 yards for his tallies. Paul's pass covered 22 yards to Larry Piernan. The other six-pointer was made by Jim Tanner. South Lyon finished with a 6-2 record.

Both Elevens Seek Winning Seasons

Rams, OL Have Same Goals

St. Frederick and Orchard Lake St. Mary will have similar goals Sunday afternoon when they tangle in a Suburban Catholic League football game at Orchard Lake.

Each school is gunning for a winning season. However, only one team will realize its ambition.

St. Fred enters the battle with three wins against three losses and the annual city feud with St. Michael on Nov. 24 follows Sunday's contest.

The Rams can chalk up their 1st winning campaign in many years by taking both of their remaining games. They can guarantee themselves a 50-50 slate by beating the Eaglets Sunday.

It's been a somewhat disappointing year for the Eaglets, who were Suburban Catholic champs in 1955 and 1956 and given a good chance of repeating this fall.

As it turned out, St. Rita won the SCL title with a 19-12 victory over St. Benedict of Highland Park last Sunday in a battle of unbeatens at Hazel Park.

St. Mary got off on the wrong foot this year by absorbing a 38-12 pasting from St. Ben in the '57 opener. Since then the Eaglets have rallied to gain a 3-3 record, good enough for 4th place in the league standings.

Impressive one week and inept the next. Rev. John Rakoczy's charges can end their season on the winning side of the ledger by conquering St. Fred and soothe their ruffled feelings at the same time.

Gene Wright's gridders have a 2-3 league mark and wins over St. Mary and the Mikes would boost them into the 1st division. An Orchard Lake triumph would clinch at least 4th spot and doom the Rams to the 2nd division.

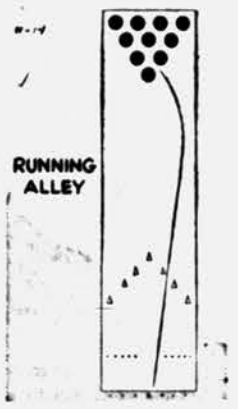

If nothing else, St. Fred has accomplished two major gridiron feats this fall. The Rams won their 1st verdict since 1953 and their 1st SCL decision since 1950.

The kingpin of those milestones and all other St. Fred endeavors thus far has been fullback Jack Lyon, Oakland County's 2nd highest scorer, is the heart of the Ram attack and a giant at defensive guard.

Orchard Lake's offense has alternately roared and sputtered. Fullback Terry Raymond, quarterback Ron Novak and end Art Goisdzinski have been the ringleaders in its erratic success.

St. Fred's game with the Eaglets was originally scheduled Oct. 6, but a flu invasion delayed the argument until now. Starting time is 2:15 p.m.

St. Mike, boasting four straight victories and an overall record of 5-2, rests this week before meeting the Rams a week from Sunday at Wisner Stadium. The Shamrocks are 3rd in the league with a 4-2 mark.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

Know what I mean by a "running alley"?

Sure you do. It's an alley which allows a ball to hook more than normal. It's generally due to a lack of oil or dressing on the alley's surface. Thus, the ball grips the wood quicker and easier, allowing the stuff on the ball to take effect and hook more. In the illustration, you can see how much hook a running alley allows.

On the other hand, a "stiff" or "slick" alley is one with plenty of dressing or oil on it. It slows down the action of a hook or curve ball because its surface is slippery.

In the morning or afternoon, alleys tend to be slicker than in the evening. That's because they've just had dressing or oil applied. After they've had some games bowled on them, the surface is drier; and the alleys tend to run a bit.

Learn to recognize "running" and "slick" alleys. You'll have to make adjustments in your stance and delivery to compensate for the different conditions.

North Branch Loses to Millington, 7-0

Millington spoiled North Branch bid for a share of the South Central Conference championship with a 7-0 victory in a makeup game from a flu postponement yesterday.

The outcome gave the crown to Imlay City which had a 3-1 record. Millington clinched the verdict in the 2nd quarter following a fumble recovery at the North Branch 20. Quarterback George Kish covered the distance in two plays. The losers scored once only to have it nullified by a penalty.

Albion Backs Top Gainers

Poe Is MIAA Scoring King

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Albion's Dick Nash and Don Van Gilder finished just as strongly as they started and wound up as the leading ground gainers in the MIAA.

Nash collected 477 yards and Van Gilder 434 as the two backs carried on more than two-thirds of Albion's rusing plays in league competition. They carried the ball 207 times out of a possible 308.

Nash carried 121 times to lead the league in that department.

Leon Harper of Adrian, trying to repeat his all-state honors of a year ago, led the pass receivers with 352 yards on 16 catches. Bill Klenk of Alma had more receptions (17) but his yardage was just 298.

The scoring leader is Pontiac's Walt Poe of Hillsdale. He scored twice against Adrian in the Dales' league finale last Saturday and finished with 36 points. Three other players tied for second a touchdown behind.

The league's top punter was Tom Dewey of Albion, who kicked 16 times for a 39.0 average. Klenk had a 38.2 average for 20 boots.

New Bridge Shortens Trip to Deer Country

MACKINAW CITY, Mich. (AP) — The new $100 million dollar Straits of Mackinac Bridge, speeding an army of hunters into Upper Michigan's prime deer territory today, has put an end to the long traditional wait for ferry service here.

There won't be hamburgs selling like hot cakes at $1 each at 4 a.m. in the morning.

The Indians won't be threading their way along the line of stalled cars peddling salt fish from a basket—the ideal snack with a cold beer.

There won't be any visiting with the cars stopped ahead and those behind and discovering a hunting buddy from another season.

No more card games in stalled cars . . . or singing around fires built along the road . . . or comparing notes on how many hours you had to wait for the ferry . . .

Modern progress and the bridge have made those 20-hour waits and 15 mile lines of cars just a memory for the hunters eager for and the opening of the deer season Friday.

There was no jam-up of hunters reported as of late yesterday. Cars were whipping across the Straits bridge like commuters on a superhighway.

Only four of the six toll gates and two of the four lanes were needed yesterday to handle the one-way stream of hunter traffic.

The main crush was expected today. Five toll gates and three lanes will be used if necessary.

But with the miracle bridge able to handle better than 1,000 cars an hour, Prentiss M. Brown, Chairman of the Bridge Authority, expressed confidence there would be no waiting.

Since 1923, when the state highway department first took over the Straits ferries, the long wait to get aboard has been a traditional part of the opening of the hunting season.

"It was part of the fun of going, part of the roughing it," explained a veteran sportsman in a reminiscent mood.

Those were the bad old days before the bridge. But some will still recall them as the good old days.

Plan Honor for Prep Mentors

Grabiel, Hanson Among 20 on 'Hall of Fame' List at Lansing

EAST LANSING (AP) — Twenty high school coaches with 25 or more years of service will be inducted into a high school coaches hall of fame Saturday during halftime ceremonies at the Michigan State-Minnesota football game.

The group is the first to be honored by the Michigan High School Coaches Association. The Detroit Free Press, co-sponsors of the recognition, will present placques to the coaches.

Frank Weeber, River Rouge; Perry Deakin, Detroit Southeastern; Harry Potter, Muskegon; Okie Johnson, Muskegon Heights; Art Erwin, Detroit Eastern; Charles Jenks, Detroit Cass Tech; Eddie Powers, Detroit Northern; Harry Anderle, Port Huron; Sam Bishop, Detroit Northwestern; Paul Smarks, Van Dyke Fitzgerald, and Brick Fowler, Port Huron.

Monday Last Chance to Enter 'Y' Loop

A second organizational meeting of the 1957-58 Pontiac YMCA Intramural Basketball League will be held Monday at 8:15 p.m. at the 'Y,' it was announced today by physical director Arthur Mann.

The meeting will be the final chance for interested teams to enter the proposed six-team league. Three teams represented at a meeting held last night were the YMCA, Utica and the Rascals.

A discussion of changes in the 1958 basketball rules will also be a feature of the Monday session. Registered hoop official Maurice Stack will be on hand to explain the rules.

Interesting Grid Games Friday

DISCUSS BIG TASK — West Bloomfield coach Art Paddy, left, and star quarterback John Lucadam have been busy mapping strategy all week for the Lakers' invasion of Northville tomorrow. A win for the locals would keep them in contention for a share of the Wayne-Oakland title.

Skippers Visit Wayne for '57 Season Finale

Keego - Northville Tilt Added Prep Attraction on Fading Schedule

Traditional rivalries and a match of title significance are the prep highlights of Friday night's Oakland County area football activity as the 1957 season nears the finish line.

Except for a few scattered contests a week hence, all area schools will end their campaigns tomorrow night.

Waterford, with only one victory and a tie to its credit in seven outings, calls it quits for this year by meeting Wayne High School under the lights at Wayne.

The Zebras, who went from the top of the Huron-Rouge Valley Conference last year to the bottom this fall, have an unimpressive 3-5 record, but the caliber of their competition makes them favorites to whip the Skippers.

Wayne has encountered mighty Ann Arbor, Edsel Ford and Ypsilanti, this season's Huron - Rouge champion, to mention a few.

The game of championship importance will be played at Northville where the Mustangs play host to dangerous West Bloomfield. Northville can clinch the Wayne-Oakland crown with a victory over the Lakers.

Rochester invades Avondale for a traditional battle. The strong Falcons, Tri-County League champs and holders of a 5-1 record, are heavily favored to dump improving Avondale.

The Jackets will be concluding one of their most disastrous seasons when they face Rochester. They have yet to taste victory in seven games.

Another traditional rivalry takes place at Royal Oak where Dondero and Birmingham lock horns.

This affair will not have the same significance that it once enjoyed, because for many years the two schools clashed on Thanksgiving Day. But the intensity of the rivalry still lingers on.

Tradition will also be in the air at Utica when Romeo clashes with the Chieftains. Romeo will be out to avenge a 27-0 licking by Utica last year, which ruined a perfect slate for the Bulldogs.

Friday's other feature game pits unbeaten-untied Lake Orion against powerful Holly in a climactic duel at Holly.

More Trouble for Dodgers

Election Sought on Site

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The deadline for dropping flies in the Los Angeles Dodgers' baseball ointment is today—and citizens protesting the Chavez Ravine real estate deal say they are set to unload a whopper.

A group called the Committee To Save Chavez Ravine For The People says it has collected at least 51,787 reasons why the Dodgers may not be playing in the forseeable future in Walter O'Malley's proposed dream stadium at Chavez Ravine.

The committee said that before the 5 p.m. deadline a petition with more than the required 51,787 signatures to force a public election on the city's Chavez Ravine deal will be filed with the city election commission.

The petition, if valid, could force a special election within three months, or the referendum could go on the next regular election ballot in June.

In either case, Dodger President O'Malley's plans to begin construction on a 50,000-seat stadium on the 300-acres given the club by the city would be sidetracked, perhaps completely derailed.

The "citizens' committee" was organized after the city council, by a 10-4 vote, transferred the Chavez Ravine property to the Dodgers in exchange for the 22,500-seat Wrigley Field and other considerations.

Spearheading the movement is Councilman John Holland, bitter foe of the transaction.

Backbone of the committee is an organization of small property owners and taxpayers put together by Holland five years ago to fight a federal housing project, which also had plans for the sparsely-settled Chavez Ravine site.

The city clerk has 30 days to check the petitions. If there are enough names the ordinance approving the Dodger deal would automatically be held up pending an election.

Meanwhile, the Dodgers were busy burning their remaining bridges in the Borough of Brooklyn. Vice President Buzzy Bavasi and other Dodger officials have just about closed shop there and are due in Los Angeles sometime this week.

Third Basemen, Catcher Signed by Tiger Farms

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers have announced the signing of three players to minor league contracts.

Dick Jones, a 21-year-old third baseman from Walnut Creek, Calif., was signed to a Class A contract with Augusta, Ga., of the Sally League. Gary Smilee, 18, signed with the Tigers' Class D Valdosta, Ga., team. He also is a third baseman.

The other player is Herb Bramblett, a 21-year-old catcher. Bramblett, a Navy veteran, signed a Class D contract with the Montgomery, Ala., team.

Golf Classes Begin

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's winter golf program opens tomorrow at two locations, and pro Chet Jawor said 500 students are expected to enroll.

State, Irish Defend Cross Country Titles

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan State and Notre Dame will be out to defend honors in cross country running championships at Washington Park tomorrow.

Michigan State is defending Big Ten champion and its squad will run against six other conference teams — Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota and Ohio State.

The Spartans' Henry Kennedy will try to repeat for the individual crown. His chief threat is Deacon Jones of Iowa, the 1955 NCAA harrier titlist who missed the 1956 cross country because of compitition in the Olympics. Another strong contender is Buddy Edelen of Minnesota who defeated Jones last week in a duel meet.

After the Big Ten harriers have covered the four-mile course, Notre Dame will attempt to retain its central collegiate title over the same course in a field of about 13 schools.

Meads Still College Gridder

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The talk about amateurism and professionalism in colleges has nothing on Inter-Collegiate Football in Canada. This is where a athlete can really be a "professional amateur" by experience, if such a thing is possible.

Most area football fans remember Edgar Meads, Michigan's great lineman from Oxford, who captained the 1955 Wolverines.

Meads is now the line sensation of Canadian college football as a center and linebacker at Western Ontario University in London, Ont., and he is playing without violating any rules of eligibility.

In Canada, an athlete plays intercollegiate sports as long as he is in school. He can take four years of undergraduate courses and another two or four years in postgraduate work and play on the varsity of that school.

Western Ontario U. has long been a power in college basketball in Canada because of six year veterans.

In football, Western Ontario was often humiliated by other Canadian schools including the stronger grid team such as McGill in Montreal and Queens in Kingston.

The past season Western Ontario won the Canadian Inter-collegiate title which ended last week, with eight wins in as many games, including two over McGill, two over Queens, two over Toronto, one over U. of British Columbia and one over Ontario Agriculture College.

Coach John Metras of Western Ontario and Canadian sportswriters called Meads the "best Canadian college lineman in 20 years." He played in 55 minutes of each game and Metras, who has been at the school 22 years, commented, "If I had a line made up of Meads, my coaching staff could play the backfield and win every game."

Meads played tackle at U. of M. in 1954 and was shifted to guard in 1955 and was the team's captain.

Meads, who prepped at Oxford High, is doing post-graduate work at Western. Many U.S. grid stars do post-grad work in Canada and continue their grid careers, and without eligibility worries.

GOING GREAT — Edgar Meads, former University of Michigan star gridder, is still making college headlines. Now playing ball at Western Ontario where he is taking post-graduate work, Meads was called by John Metras, the school's coach and by Canadian writers, as the best lineman in 20 years at Western.

Three Local Players on Inter-Lakes Team

Halfback Don Yeargan and tackle Dennis Van Sicklen of Walled Lake and Waterford tackle John Rise were named to the Inter-Lakes Conference all-league team selected recently by the loop coaches.

Others named to the team were: Frank Clappison (Farmington) and Charles Day (Van Dyke), ends; Jim McCann (Southfield) and Ken Nikkila (Farmington), guards; Todd Grant (Southfield), center; and backs Bob Filar (Southfield), Dave Catherman (Farmington) and Tom Ridley (Southfield). Twenty-two others received honorable mention.

Cuban Rebels Destroy Crops

Castro Soldiers Burn Sugar Cane Fields and Tobacco Warehouses

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Soldiers of rebel leader Fidel Castro, putting the torch to sugar cane fields and tobacco warehouses in an attempt to bring down President Fulgencio Batista, were estimated today to have burned crops worth nearly 2½ million dollars.

So far the dent in Cuba's economy was negligible. Qualified sources said the rebels had fired about a third of 1 per cent of Cuba's 3,200,000 acres of cane.

Castro's band of about 600 guerrillas and their supporters reportedly had started 54 big fires in the last four days. All centered around approaches to the rebel leaders hideout in the Sierra Maestra Mountains of easternmost Oriente province.

Other fires have been set in the western province of Pinar del Rio, sources said, and more than 50 tobacco warehouses have been burned there.

Canefield workers in Oriente made no attempt to extinguish blazes after one field foreman who had tried to fight a fire was reported shot and killed by Cuban troops. Troops killed three rebels and wounded two who were trying to burn a field, the government said.

Cuba's economy today depends largely on sugar. Other chief exports are tobacco, copper and manganese.

French Premier Meets U.S., Britain on Arms

PARIS (AP)—Premier Felix Gaillard held an extraordinary meeting early today with U.S. and British diplomats, apparently to discuss arms deliveries to Tunisia.

The United States reportedly has promised to help Tunisia obtain arms from other Western nations to keep the newly independent North African country from turning to Russia for weapons. France objects, fearing the arms may end up in the hands of rebels in neighboring Algeria.

Gaillard met with U.S. Ambassador Amory Houghton and British Charge d'Affaires Sir George Young. The U.S. Embassy called the meeting "a very small affair . . . a family squabble."

Hollywood Headlines:

Jim Cagney Right at Home in New Tough-Guy Role

By BOB THOMAS

NEW YORK (AP) James Cagney, flanked by two New York policemen, walked to the end of Pier 17 through a crowd of tough longshoremen.

The workers greeted him warmly, shouting comments to him. He answered them back in kind, and they were delighted. It was obvious that they accepted him as one of their kind.

Cagney was reporting for a scene in his new movie, "Never Steal Anything Small," which was filming near the Brooklyn Bridge. It's a musical satire in which he plays a tough guy who sings his way to control of a corrupt labor union.

When he did his campaign number before the rugged-looking audience on the wind-swept pier—some actors, some not—he was immensely convincing. James Cagney, ex-hoofer, an actor who has earned millions, still could act the mug.

"That's what growing up in this town did for me," Jimmy said as he sat in the shelter of a truck and surveyed the skyline of New York. "Imagine me trying to play a tough guy if I hadn't been brought up in a tough part of town! Believe me, it has paid off well over the years."

Being back in the scenes of his boyhood prompted some nostalgia on his part. He talked about his early days around 79th Street on the East Side.

"Sure, the kids were tough in those days," he said. "They used blackjacks and knives then too. But there didn't seem to be the organization that there is today. We traveled in gangs, but every guy was fundamentally a free-lancer.

"Today, the kid gangs seem to have taken a note from the mobs in organizing and demanding protection money and that sort of thing. It's vicious."

After 25 years of living in California and New England, he has no yen to return to his native city.

"If you had to live in a city, this would be the place to do it," he observed. "Here you've got the best theater, the best museums, the best schools. But thank heaven I don't have to live in the city."

Asks Army Control of Seaway Firm

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. (R-Mich) has recommended to President Eisenhower that the Department of the Army retain control of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp.

In a telegram to the president Tuesday, Ford said: "Recent disturbing rumors indicate there is a possibility the seaway corporation might be transferred to the jurisdiction of the Department of Commerce.

"Such a transfer at this time would be a devastating blow to the anticipated economic development in the Middle West resulting from the seaway construction," Ford declared.

He added that there is no apparent economic or administrative justification for such a transfer.

Ike Flies Back to Capital After Oklahoma Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower flew back to the capital early today after an Oklahoma City speech in which he told the nation defense spending must be increased in the face of Russian scientific advances.

Eisenhower was wearing a topcoat and a gray homburg hat as he left his plane to enter a limousine for the drive to the White House. He did not appear to have slept.

The President seemed surprised that he was met by a small group of aides on his predawn arrival.

"My goodness," he told them smilingly, "you boys are really ambitious."

Marlon Brando's Back Who Knows Where?

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — A couple Hollywood chaps trying to keep track of Marlon Brando on his N.Y. visit admitted at the Hotel Elysee that, "We don't know what the hell happened to him."

WILSON

Marlon earlier visited old press agent-buddy Jaffe, who urged him to star six-foot Julie Newmar in his next film, "Burst of Vermillion," which Marlon wrote. Brando's interested—as what red blooded All-American boy wouldn't be?

Jed Harris — off to Hollywood on a movie deal after his success with Ernie Kovacs' "Operation Mad Ball"—told me fame no longer enchants him. In the 20s, when the was 28, he had three simultaneous B'way hits, a $40,000-a-week income. EVERYBODY knew about him.

He did a favor for a stranger on a train who asked his name so he could repay him. "I'm Jed Harris," he said—but the stranger'd obviously never heard of him. "But I have three Broadway hits!" Harris exclaimed.

"Never mind," said the stranger impatiently, "when you call just say you're the man on the train."

Irving Berlin's hits have been played about 300 times in the last two weeks in the big 50th anniversary tribute to him, but he hasn't been able to see or hear them on TV or radio because reception is very bad at his Beekman Place home. He wishes Gen. Sarnoff'd send a repair man over.

Mamie's Visit Causes Flurry in Schoolroom

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower caused a flurry of excitement today when she made an unexpected visit to Grant School near the White House.

She was following the President's advice that parents visit schools during National Education Week.

The First Lady, arriving shortly before the noon recess, sat in a tiny chair amid second—and third—graders and talked gaily with the children, telling them she picked their school because "we're all neighbors."

She heard them do an arithmetic problem, looked at their blackboard art and answered questions of youngsters who raised their hands anxiously to talk.

"Where's the President," Lewis Norman, 8, wanted to know.

Doris Tyrrell, 12, gave Mrs. Eisenhower a science news supplement she said she was studying in her sixth-grade class.

The school the First Lady picked for her visit is a 75-year-old three-story brick integrated school named for Gen. U. S. Grant.

Hal Boyle Says:

Early Morning Activities Finish Executvies

NEW YORK (AP)—Everyone is familiar with the tired businessman, who returns home at the end of the day exhausted.

"You're working too hard," his friends tell him. "It's killing you."

But it isn't the work he does at the office that makes the tired businessman so tired. It's the stress and strains of mind and body he must undergo before he gets to the office.

It is said that former President Harry Truman prides himself on the fact he can rise, dress and be able to meet the problems of the day within 10 minutes.

The average business employe, however, isn't that efficient. Here is the schedule of our typical office hero after the alarm clock bugles him awake at 7 a.m.:

Time spent cowering under covers until wife comes and drags him out—10 minutes.

Time spent with head under pillow until wife comes and drags him out second time—10 minutes.

Time spent sitting on edge of of bed, yawning, scratching and wondering why stayed up until 1 a.m., watching that 1935 movie on television—5 minutes.

Time spent doing pushups, deep knee bends, and reaching over to touch floor with knees only partly bent—30 seconds.

Time spent admiring results in bedroom mirror—5 minutes.

Time spent showering, including period spent crawling around on tiles looking for soap—4 minutes.

Time spent dressing and wondering why suits get tighter around stomach every year — 6 minutes.

Time spent trying to get children to breakfast table—10 minutes.

Time spent waiting at breakfast table for burnt toast to arrive—5 minutes.

Time spent silently grimacing at burnt toast—30 seconds.

Time spent listening to wife explaining that, if he doesn't like way bread is toasted, he can go out in kitchen and toast his own—3 minutes.

Time spent trying to read newspaper—2 minutes.

Time spent trying to explain to wife why it is necessary for him to read at breakfast table—4 minutes.

Time spent bawling out children for dawdling over food—1 minute.

Time spent listening to children's replies—3 minutes.

Time spent listening to wife explain why if family doesn't cut down on expenses they all will end in poorhouse—5 minutes.

Time spent in answering her—none.

Time spent in bolting own food—2 minutes.

Time spent kissing wife goodby at door—1 second.

Time spent running to bus stop—2 minutes.

Time spent waiting in line to get on bus—6 minutes.

Time spent explaining to boss reasons why has to show up 10 minutes late every morning, when every other man in office can make it by 9 o'clock sharp—5 minutes.

It is now 9:15, and our hero is so worn out and upset he has to sneak down to drugstore counter for second bicarbonate of soda.

Our tired businessman is already so tired, merely from the ordeal of getting to work, that he will have to loaf on the job all day merely to get up enough strength to make the long voyage home at dusk.

Internal Revenue Service Reports

Taxpayers Who Have Nothing to Hide Can Relax About Expense Accounts

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Internal Revenue Service said today that taxpayers with expense accounts can relax if they are not trying to hide anything or to bilk the government.

Income tax returns for this year will have a new line on the front sheet for deducting "travel, reimbursed expenses, etc." from net income to arrive at the adjusted gross—or taxable—income.

CRACK DOWN

A spokesman explained: "This is only a mechanical difference in how you report it this year compared with previous years."

The IRS has made no bones about the fact that it is going to crack down on unjustified deductions for travel and entertainment, and the new line will make the items easier to spot in checking.

But, the spokesman insisted, no more detailed records will be required than in the past and instructions on expense accounts for 1957 will be the same as those issued in previous years.

YIELD MILLIONS

It appeared, however, that spotlighting expense accounts will yield millions of dollars to the government in income taxes through more honest reporting and easier checking by agents.

If it boosts collections only one-tenth of one per cent, it will mean more than 41 million dollars in additional revenue.

The IRS said the new line will draw attention to "returns where deductions for expenses appear to be disproportionate in relation to the employe's income and occupation."

REFUSE TO DEFINE

The tax collectors refused to define "disproportionate" because it might give some taxpayers ideas about safe limits to stay within. They said it would depend on field agents who are familiar with local costs and forms of entertainment.

It was pointed out that a newspaper reporter who listed $8,000 salary and $5,000 expense account would be just as suspect as a salesman who claimed $25,000 salary and $15,000 expenses.

While admitting that they are aiming at the "big boys," the tax collectors would not say that the "little guy" did not have to list his expense account items—because the law requires it.

Without condoning a failure to comply with the law, the IRS statement implied that enforcement would be no more strict than in the past in cases where actual expenses are reimbursed to the penny and are not listed either as income or as deductions.

Even in itemized expense accounts, the breakdown by items is not required to the penny. A taxpayer should be ready to document items such as hotel bills and plane fares, but the IRS will accept "reasonable approximation" of food, taxis and tips.

It is the employe's responsibility to account for the amount of itemized deductions, and IRS admitted it does not know what companies will do if employes request breakdowns for the year.

The IRS spokesman said employes should be "on notice" to start keeping some records of their own throughout the year.

As it stands, taxpayers who do not itemize their returns get the standard 10 per cent deduction which includes allowances for employment expenses and non-business deductions.

What the government is after is deductions beyond "ordinary and necessary business expenses"—club dues, entertainment, yachts, hunting trips and "front" offices in resort cities.

Expense accounts in addition to salaries have been required listing on income tax forms since 1921, and from 1921 to 1944 the line was on the front sheet of the return as it will be this year.

Caracas Now Building $33 Million Track

CARACAS, Venezuela — A new $33,000,000 race track with every modern facility is being rushed to completion near Caracas, Venezuela.

The new Hipodromo Nacional is to be at La Rinconada, a former plantation about eight miles from the city. The old racetrack at El Paraiso has become too cramped and the ground it occupies too valuable.

La Rinconada will have seats for 35,000 persons, besides the glass enclosed stand for press and radio reporters, photographers and TV and motion picture operators.

Automatic movie cameras will shoot every race from beginning to end. The enclosure inside the main oval track will be landscaped and contain two lagoons. The stables will have 1,200 horse booths.

This is the time of year when we find out that among the many "remedies" that won't really cure a cold, the most popular is whisky . . . A doctor, asked his favorite sports, replied, "Sleighing," and his interviewer said, "No, no, I mean apart from business."—Earl Wilson.

Market Rises in Early Trades

NEW YORK (AP)—Aircraft, missile and rocket fuel stocks surged ahead as the Stock Market rose in early trading today.

Leading issues were ahead from fractions to around 2 points following President Eisenhower's proposal for more military spending.

United Aircraft rose 2½ at 67½ on a block of 5,000 shares but dropped about a point of this in later trades. Boeing rose 1¾ at 39 on a B19 10,000-share block, paring a small fraction from this rise later. Douglas Aircraft was up 1⅞ at 66½ on 2,100 shares but trimmed about half a point from the gain.

Lockheed, North American Aviation and General Dynamics rose about a point each, General Tire a good fraction. Martin Co. held its major fractional advance.

Raytheon, General Precision and U.S. Borax gained around a point or more. Du Pont added 2.

Standard Oil (New Jersey) also rose around a point and trading resumed on rights to its stock issue on a block of 660,000 at 10-64, up 2-64 from yesterday.

Chrysler, also involved in missile work, was ahead more than a point.

Other gains of around a point were made by Lukens Steel, Bethlehem, Caterpillar, American Cyanamid, International Paper, Baltimore & Ohio and Royal Dutch.

Chrysler and UAW Talk to Avert Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Efforts to head off a threatened strike of 20,000 Chrysler Stamping Division workers are scheduled to resume at 2 p.m. today, four hours before the deadline set by United Auto Workers Local 212.

Union officials said the workers will walk off their jobs at 6 p.m. today unless UAW and company bargaining teams reach a settlement on grievances involving production standards, discharges and working conditions.

Negotiators refused comment following a three-hour session yesterday.

The strike would idle a total of 90,000 Chrysler workers in the Detroit area stamping plants which turn out parts and body stampings for Chrysler cars.

Hinges on Influence Stevenson Holds

Ike Hopes for Bipartisan Support on NATO Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration evidently hopes to limit partisan debate on some major foreign issues by bringing Adlai Stevenson into preparation of plans for next month's Allied summit conference in Paris.

The Democratic leader has accepted a bid from the Republican administration to come here next Monday and confer with Secretary of State Dulles. The State Department presumably hopes to have tentative proposals for the NATO meeting worked out by that time.

The invitation to Stevenson and his acceptance were the latest moves in a cautious political and policy negotiation designed to revive bipartisanship in foreign affairs in the face of Russia's gains in military power.

How well the effort will succeed in forestalling sharp party controversy when Congress returns in January depends mainly on two critical factors:

1. The extent to which President Eisenhower and Dulles consult with Stevenson in detail and accept his ideas in shaping their program.

2. The degree of support Stevenson can muster among Democratic leaders in Congress for any plans to which he may decide to commit himself.

Results of the Monday meeting —which could also lead to a talk between Stevenson and Eisenhower—may show clearly how much bipartisan cooperation is to be expected.

Stevenson himself has clearly reserved his right to criticize any proposals with which he disagrees.

Seeks Law on Funds

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Charles E. Potter suggested to the Justice Department today that a new law may be needed to prevent compaign contributions by unions or corporations.

Ford Tractors Increase Power

Other Features: Colors, Better Headlights, More Engine Efficiency

The most powerful tractors ever built by Ford Motor Company are included in its new line being introduced across the nation tomorrow.

In its six most powerful models —those in the "three-four plow" Powermaster class — drawbar horsepower has been increased 10 per cent. The six models of "two-three plow" Workmaster tractors have 8 per cent more power.

In addition to their higher power, the new Ford tractors feature a newly designed front grille, distinctive color styling, improved fender design, brighter headlights for field work and and highway safety, greater gas tank capacity, and restyled instrument panel with an electric fuel gauge.

"The higher horsepowers of these new tractors have a two-fold significance," according to Merritt D. Hill, general manager of Ford's Tractor and Implement Division.

"First, of course, they increase the work capacity of the tractors under all conditions. Of equal or greater importance to the user is the fact that these higher horsepowers are obtained through greater engine efficiency.

Shoot in U.S. Buildings

Animal Lover Finds It Unlawful to Keep Geese

William Combs, of 1710 Duck Lake Rd., Milford Township, has learned that being kind to animals is very creditable, but in some instances there are laws against it.

He was found guilty of harboring Canadian Geese, and placed on one year's probation and sentenced to pay $25 probation costs, by West Bloomfield Justice Elmer C. Dieterle. His fine was suspended.

Combs' goose haven was exposed by Howard Johnson, a conservation officer at the Teeple Lake Park. Combs explained that the geese turned up on his farm when they were small and have been pets, but that they have always had the run of his land and were never confined.

Johnson, while realizing the feathered friends had a natural attraction to their benefactor, said that game laws in Michigan made it unlawful for anyone to possess Canadian Geese, for either love or money.

Communitywide Christmas Lesson Slated by Group

GINGELLVILLE — The Second Chance Extension Club is planning a community-wide "Christmas Lesson" on Tuesday, Nov. 19, at the Gingellville Community Center from 1 - 2:30 p.m.

The program plans to give all ladies in the area, whether members of extension clubs or not, the opportunity to share in the fun of creating some of their own Christmas presents or wrappings.

The lesson will be presented by Mrs. Scherly Green, Mrs. James Murphy, and Mrs. Peter Schuler. They will have patterns and finished products on display.

Grain Futures Mostly Steady

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures were mostly steady on the Board of Trade today.

Wheat started fractionally lower on some commission house selling which was quickly absorbed. There was nothing outstanding in the wheat trade, although traders look for a big boost in defense spending as a result of President Eisenhower's talk last night.

Corn was up fractionally on some good buying of the December delivery by processors seeking quantities of dry corn. A commission house with Eastern connections was buying May corn and selling the December.

Soybeans held steady on commission house buying of the May and January contracts against selling of January by local traders.

At the end of the first hour wheat was ⅛ to ⅜ lower, Dec. $2.19½, corn ⅛ to ½ higher, Dec. $1.18, oats unchanged to ⅛ higher, Dec. 67⅝, rye ¼ to ¾ lower, Dec. $1.31⅛, soybeans unchanged to ¼ higher, Nov. $2.27¼, lard was 5 to 17 cents a hundred pounds lower, Nov. $10.65.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14 (AP) — Opening grain:

Wheat		May	65⅜
Dec.	2.19½	July	62⅞
Mar.	2.24⅜	Rye
May	2.20⅝	Dec.	1.31½
July	1.98½	Mar.	1.33¾
Sep.	2.00⅝	May	1.31⅝
Corn		July	1.26
Dec.	1.18⅝	Lard
Mar.	1.22½	Nov.	10.82
May	1.25⅛	Dec.	12.05
July	1.27⅝	Jan.	11.82
Oats		Mar.	11.97
Dec.	67⅛	May	11.97

California may overtake New York as the most populous state by 1967, according to the census bureau.

Robert Menees Elected Mayor in Sylvan Lake

Robert S. Menees, former mayor pro-tem of Sylvan Lake, last evening was elected by his fellow councilmen as the city's new mayor for the 1957-58 term.

He succeeds Howard E. Wideman, who after 14 years on the council, this year decided not to seek re-election.

Sworn in last night by City Clerk Marjorie Willson was Edwin F. Clark, 46, of 1446 Oakwood Blvd., elected Nov. 5 to fill Wideman's vacancy. He was elected to a three-year term.

Chosen for the 1957-58 term to follow Menees as mayor pro-tem was Councilman William B. Taylor of 1935 Warwick Blvd.

The new mayor is 39 and lives with his wife at 1535 Maplewood Ave. He is a salesman with the wholesale drug firm of Hazeltine and Perkins of Grand Rapids.

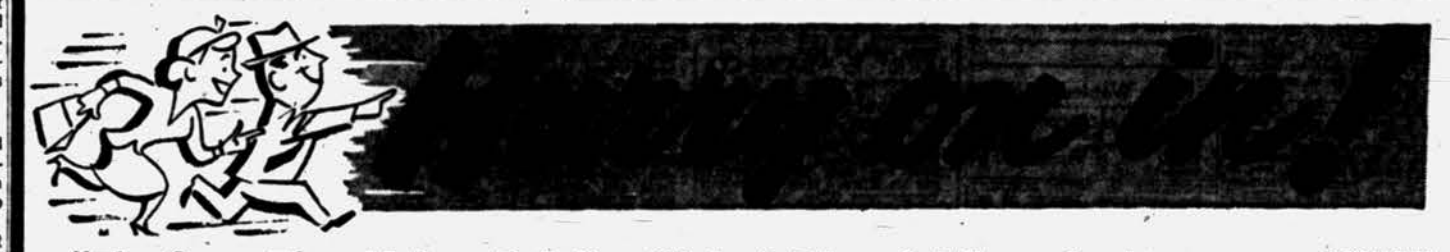

Committee Suspends Doctor at Hospital

Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger was suspended from all medical privileges at Pontiac General Hospital last night for "infringement of certain rules and regulations of the medical staff by-laws."

A special committee of the Board of Trustees and staff will decide his final medical staff deposition at a meeting scheduled for next Tuesday.

Khrushchev Flows Like Cocktails

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev was in his best cocktail party form again last night, tossing off comments on a wide variety of topics. Some remarks of the Soviet Communist party boss:

"I know (the United States) doesn't have the kind of rockets we have and you won't have them soon."

President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles and all other American leaders would be welcomed in Moscow "as dear friends."

Marshal Georgi Zhukov "did not turn out well as a political figure but as a military figure he was a remarkable man. . . ."

"Does anyone doubt" that Britain is a satellite of the United States? Khrushchev immediately apologized for this remark and said he was "ready to take it back."

Khrushchev and most important Soviet government leaders turned up at an Egyptian Embassy reception honoring Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, visiting Egyptian minister of war and joint commander of Egyptian and Syrian troops.

Khrushchev proposed a toast "to our armies—the armies of the Soviet Union, Egypt and Syria." Both the Egyptian and Syrian armies are armed and advised by Russia.

A British correspondent suggested to Khrushchev that the Soviet Union halt firing of its big rockets.

"We have to test them," the Soviet leader said. "What can we do, pickle them?"

"Put them in a museum," a reporter suggested.

"No room," Khrushchev replied. "Let's sink them all at sea. We'd be happy to do that if you do."

An American correspondent asked, "What if we don't have the same type to sink?"

"Certainly," Khrushchev said. "I know you don't have the kind of rockets we have, and you won't have them soon."

The party boss said in answer to questions that he would welcome visits of American leaders to Moscow and an invitation to Macmillan to visit Russia still stands. "Political leaders must not bear grudges" over past differences, he said.

Khrushchev said Zhukov, who was recently ousted from the Defense Ministry and from high party posts, is in Moscow "on a leave he fully deserves."

Yule Workshop Is Conducted by Homemakers

A Christmas workshop was held by the Professional Homemakers Extension Club at the Sashabaw road home of Mrs. H. James Elliott. Mrs. Andrew Macuga was cohostess for the Tuesday evening event.

Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Macuga led the group in teaching how to make tree ornaments, Christmas cards and unusual gift wrappings.

Elected the new vice chairman was Mrs. Elliott. Mrs. Walter Wittkoff was a guest at the affair.

Arms for Tunisia Opposed by France

PARIS (AP) — Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said today the French government will consider any American or British delivery of arms to Tunisia contrary to Atlantic solidarity.

Pineau told the National Assembly's Foreign Affairs Committee that Britain and the United States "are about to effect delivery of arms to Tunisia."

He said France "regretted this Anglo-American initiative."

Pineau announced the Cabinet's opposition to arms for France's former protectorate after an all-night series of meetings and exchanges between Premier Felix Gaillard and British and American envoys.

Fog, Drizzle, Snow Dampen Most of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's weather maintained its wet, dreary pattern today, with rain, drizzle, snow and fog dampening many sections of the country.

A broad belt of precipitation extended over most of the area from the eastern Plains to the Appalachians and during the day was expected to cover nearly all sections east of the Mississippi River.

Thunderstorms, with heavy rainfall, hit sections of the Gulf Coast states. Winds up to 60 m.p.h. lashed New Orleans during the night while at Tupelo, Miss., more than 2 inches of rain fell in a six-hour period.

Stop 'Hooding' Parking Meters

Put Permanent Signs on Posts to Tell Drivers Enforcement Hours

The "hooding" of parking meters in Pontiac has been eliminated in order to provide more officers for other duties during rush hours, City Traffic Engineer Theodore M. Vanderstempel announced.

Instead of placing hoods over the meters just prior to peak rush hours, signs have been permanently attached on the meter posts indicating what hours parking is prohibited.

Parking will not be allowed between 3 and 6 p.m. six days a week on the following streets: west side of North Saginaw between Lafayette and Huron; west side of Perry between Huron and Water; and north side of Orchard Lake between the Cass avenue viaduct and Front street.

"The officers who were formerly required to place these hoods before the rush hours and remove them afterwards will be available for other much needed services," Vanderstempel said.

Michigan Ranks 39th

LANSING (AP) — With less than half the state covered, Michigan ranks 39th among the states in topographic mapping, the State Water Resources Commission reported today. Topographic maps show land elevations by contour lines, and are widely used in water resource management practices.

Singing Idol Hopes to Become Acting Idol in the Future

Brandos Expecting

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Marlon Brando's bride is expecting a baby next summer, her studio reports. "We are delighted," actress Anna Kashfi said yesterday, in confirming the report. She married the actor last Oct. 11 in Los Angeles.

Organizing Hula Girls

HONOLULU (AP) — Jackie Bright of the American Guild of Variety Artists was here today to attempt to organize Hawaiian entertainers —including hula girls.

Video Stations Asked to Shun 'Unseen' Ads

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — The National Assn. of Radio & Television Broadcasters code review board for TV asked stations yesterday not to use a method that flashes commercials to the viewers' subconscious.

The idea has created quite a furore. Don Martin, assistant to the president of NARTB, said that by this method a message is flashed at 1-3000th of a second, and repeated every five seconds during the showing of a movie. He said the viewer does not even see the message, or at least is not conscious of seeing it, but it does reach his brain.

The board held that "any proposal to use . . . 'subliminal perception' be referred to the board immediately for further review and consideration."

Star Is Suing Star Over Sale of House

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Donna Reed and her husband, producer Tony Owen, are suing the adopted daughter of comedian Jack Benny for $20,500 in connection with the sale of their house.

The complaint, filed yesterday in Superior Court, charged that the comedian's daughter Joan and her husband Alan (Bud) Rudolph, a clothing merchant, agreed to buy Owens' Beverly Hills home for $95,000, but later backed out of the deal.

The Owens said they later sold the house, but incurred expenses not contemplated in the agreement with the Rudolphs.

Phony Check Passer Draws Prison Term

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Charles R. Speedie, notorious nationwide phony check passer, has been sentenced to 1 to 14 years in prison.

"You probably will serve most of this sentence," Superior Judge Lewis Drucker commented. "Any time you seek parole you will find eight other states want to extradite and prosecute you."

Speedie, arrested Sept. 5 in a Cleveland suburb, was known as the "Traveler" to police across the country. He claims he passed $300,000 in bogus checks during a 15-year career.

TOMMY SANDS

Video Success Leads to Films

Tommy Sands Aims at Well-Balanced Career in Show Business

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — That dark and handsome "Teenage Crush" lad, high - pompadoured Tommy Sands, is "on the fence"—on and off the screen.

On the screen Hollywood is starring the career-hot Sands as a young Louisiana singer who has to choose between success and the saving of souls in "The Singin' Idol," a big-screen reprise of his TV hit.

Off the screen Tommy has reached a personal problem—he has to choose between lasting success as an actor who can sing or fleeting fame as just another singing idol.

"I'm on the fence," says Tommy, who is smart enough at only 20 to realize, as he told me, "that singers come and go and I still don't know exactly where I'm going."

But there's one place he'd like to go and that's to the top in the same league, he hopes, with Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra, a couple of fellows who have learned it pays to alternate singing with acting, depending on the shifting winds of public favor.

VETERAN PERFORMER

"One balances the other and a good actor is what I want to be more than anything else," says the bright, likable lad who has been singing for his supper ever since his ninth birthday when his mother bought him a guitar and he became the kid who warbled for $2.50 an appearance on radio station KWKH in Shreveport, La.

The movie public's acceptance of Tommy's acting in his first movie, "The Singin' Idol," which is 65 per cent drama, is the key to his future and it's due to be turned early next spring when the film is released.

"There are a lot of things I still don't know about acting," admits Tommy, "and I want to learn them. I'm planning to study with the finest dramatic coach I can find."

But there are plenty of things Tommy already knows about acting.

He studied acting in high school in Houston, Tex., where his mother worked in a department store after divorcing his dad, Benny Sands, onetime pianist with Ted Lewis.

At 16 he won an acting role in the Charles Korvin-Reginald Owen play, "Open House," but the show never reached Broadway and Chicago-born Tommy went back to school and his TV and radio appearances.

SINGING CRUSH

And it was acting which overshadowed his singing when he first appeared in "The Singin' Idol" on Kraft's TV Theater a year ago this January. At the time he was just a teenage TV singing crush.

The 20th Century-Fox studio, now filming the picture, bought the play the next day and then signed Tommy to a five-year contract for one movie a year.

There were all kinds of movie offers at bigger money. "But they were just for quick money," says Tommy, whose career is being guided by Ted Wick, a former Hollywood publicity man wise to the traps of sudden fame.

"I didn't want to just sing a couple of songs in a movie," Tommy told me. "I wanted a chance to prove myself as an actor along with my singing. I signed with Fox because they agreed with me."

Marriage to Molly Bee, his one-time TV singing companion? The rumors keep popping up about Tommy and Molly as sort of a fan's idea of "then they were married and lived happily ever after" story.

FRIENDS, THAT'S ALL

Tommy, who still sees Molly but now dates other cuties, says they aren't true.

He told me: "We're wonderful friends, that's all."

Tommy's still writing songs — his latest is "Man Like Wow" — and he says he has a "gasser" — "Sing, Boy, Sing," coming up in collaboration with Rod McCuen.

He'll be singing these, along with songs from the film, on a coast-to-coast personal appearance tour along about the time "The Singin' Idol" is released.

But acting idol is Tommy's long-range goal.

Brando's Idealism Prevents Return to Stage

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — The enigmatic, uninhibited, boy-faced Mr. Marlon Brando—how do you describe him after the first meeting?

Say he's uneasy, because he cracks his knuckles as he thinks? Say he's relaxed, because he slumps when you talk? Dull-witted, maybe because he thinks 30 seconds before answering "Yeah" to a question? Or brilliant, because the next answer is strung casually with five-syllable words that, from these sensitive lips, make not only sense but poetry?

SITS IN SOFA

He is sitting in the depths of a sofa. Like other, more publicity-hungry, movie stars he has come to subject himself to an interview on behalf of his new movie, "Sayonara." Unlike the others, he's under no compulsion to "puff" it.

"I thought," he says softly, hesitantly, "it was entertaining in many places. It's no great artistic achievement. I thought the women (female stars) were awfully good in it." As for his own performance—after deep thought, eyes focused glumly on shoes—"I think it was rather a rough performance. And not particularly well-paced.

"I had some incorrect reactions. You see, when you shoot scenes out of sequence, you have to be aware of climaxes that haven't been played yet.

"You've gotta get used to—well—the dilemma of not knowing where you are. It demands infinitely more concentration to give a fine performance in a movie than on the stage."

NEVER RETURNED

Several years ago Brando, the talk of Broadway, went to Hollywood to make "just one picture, no more." It was "A Streetcar Named Desire," and he won the Academy Award. He's never returned to the stage. The reason has to do with idealism, Brando's brand of it.

"My primary interest in films is, well, I wanted to do a film about the United Nations, and the Point Four program of technical assistance. Nations behave exactly like children do and they have to be helped and advised, step by step; I could tell you a thousand moving stories.

"Well anyway," he shrugged, embarrassed by his own emotion, "I went out on a research tour to Southeast Asia and you know what I found? No one knows a damn thing about the program, all they know about anyplace else is what they see in the movies. I decided then that motion pictures are probably the most dynamic form of communication between nations. Whereas we cannot communicate by language, we can by pictures.

MOVIE TOO SWEET

"Take a film like 'Sayonara.' It's romantic, a little too sweet, if you will, but regardless of what you think of it as a piece of cinematic art or lack of it—whatever you think, it will help.

"You cannot take Americans to Japan and show that these are not buck-toothed, bowlegged, enigmatic little gnomes, no more than you can bring Japanese here and show that we're not bolsterous, braggart, drunken young brawlers. But one movie producer, using one ounce of responsibility could do it."

About many matters, Marlon Brando is still unsure. But in his reasons for staying in Hollywood he sounds positive:

"I'm not bleeding for the world. But I think anything less than accepting some measure of personal responsibility for its welfare results in a dangerous kind of foot-dragging. And that, in turn, leads to war . . ."

(Next: Part II on Marlon Brando.)

U.S., Britain Develop Antimissile Missiles

LONDON (AP) — A government spokesman said today Britain and the United States are working closely together in the development of antimissile missiles.

In answer to a Laborite question, Defense Minister Duncan Sandys told the House of Commons: "Work is proceeding on this difficult problem in close collaboration with the U. S. authorities."

Poles Warned to Watch Tongues Near 'Spies'

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Poles were warned today to watch their tongues in front of foreigners. Alertness against spies, they were told, is indispensable.

The warning came from Interior Minister Wladyslaw Wicha in an article published in all papers. Wicha is responsible for the security police.

Rocket 83 Miles Up

CANBERRA (AP) — Britain launched a Skylark high-altitude rocket to a height of 83 miles today. Australian Supply Minister Howard Beale announced. The firing was at Australia's Woomera range.

The U.S. National Park Service was established by Congress 41 years ago. More than 627 million visitors have been recorded in this time.
