N. Viet Air Action

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A U.S. Air Force jet shot down a Communist MIG17 over North Viet Nam today, bringing to three the number of enemy jets downed in the past two days.

A U.S. spokesman said an F4-C Phantom shot the MIG out of the sky with an air-to-air Sidewinder missile when four of the Red jets attacked a flight of Phantoms with cannon fire 100 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The plane's crew consisted of Capt. Lawrence H. Goldberg, 33, of Duluth, Minn., and 1st Lt. Gerald D. Hardgrave, 28, of Jackson, Tenn., the spokesman said.

Another F4C Phantom shot down a MIG with a missile yesterday and a second MIG crashed while trying to escape during the same encounter.

U.S. Air Force pilots have downed five MIG17s since last Saturday and one late model MIG19, all in dogfights north of Hanoi and several within 25 miles of the Communist Chinese border.

U.S. Defense Department officials have identified the planes as North Vietnamese flown by North Vietnamese pilots.

ELEVEN PLANES
The kills in the last two days brought the overall total of Communist planes downed in the Vietnamese war to 11. The count started last June 17.

Three U.S. planes have been shot down in aerial combat.

A Phantom flown by Capt. William D. Dowell, 34, of Tampa, Fla., and 1st Lt. Hubert E. Rossard, 25, of Oklahoma City, Okla., brought one down with a missile about 55 miles north of Hanoi.

Capt. Larry R. Keith, 30, of Peoria, Ill., commander of the Phantom flight, and his crewman, 1st Lt. Robert A. Bleakley, 26, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, broke away from the formation and chased another of the Communist planes.

Keith fired a Sidewinder which missed, and his crewman maneuvered his Phantom behind the MIG and forced it into a sharp dive.

The MIG dove to the ground and burst into a fireball, Keith reported.

Keith and Bleakley are credited with a kill, Air Force officials said.

Two U.S. Air Force planes were shot down by Communist ground fire yesterday.

An F105 Thunderchief was brought down 50 miles north of Hanoi and a Navy F8 Crusader went down 25 miles east of Hanoi in the northern part of the Gulf of Tonkin, officials said.

ROUTINE TEST

He said the defect was discovered during routine testing in the factory but there were a very few cases in which lugs snapped while the cars were in the hands of individual owners. "There were no reports of any wheels coming off," he said.

A Cadillac division spokesman said the defective hood latches were discovered early in the 1964 model year.

King's Goal: Vote Down Dixie Sheriff

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has called on Negroes to "nonviolently retire, forever and evermore" Sheriff James G. Clark, who became a symbol of resistance in the Selma civil rights drive.

King, stumping the state to get out the Negro vote for next Tuesday's Democratic primary, urged a solid vote against Clark who is seeking renomination.

King referred to civil rights demonstrators and said, "We owe it to these people" to defeat Clark.

"Selma wrote the voting rights act," King said last night. "Now we have got to help ourselves."

King moves today into the final leg of his tour.

NEGRO VOTERS

He made his 11th stop in Selma, headquarters for his major 1965 drive that led to the voting rights law and swelled the number of Negro voters in Alabama to 230,000, about 20 per cent of the electorate.

Again King urged a massive blue vote in the primary. "Stick together, work together and vote together," he told the Negroes at rallies in the rural area and the cities.

Another speaker, the Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth of Cincinnati, said the objective is to defeat Clark and that Wilson Baker, former Selma public safety director, is the less objectionable of the two.

There is no Negro running for sheriff in Dallas County.

ENDORSEMENT

In six other counties, King endorsed the Negro candidate for sheriff.

Hundreds of Negroes packed into a frame church at Lickens today they had no need to fear reprisal for the way they voted.

King said the ballot is secret and white employers would not know how Negroes voted.

"You can tell them you voted for Mr. Wallace when you voted for Mr. Flowers," he said. That was King's only mention of a candidate's name in the governor's race.

LITTLE DOUBT

King aides and Negroes attending the rally left no doubt that they will try to deliver the Negro vote to Atty. Gen. Richmond M. Flowers, the only candidate who has openly sought this bloc.

Flowers said last night in Chicago he will defeat Gov. George Wallace's wife, Lurleen, in the race for governor.

Students 'Victorious' No Deadline -- Principal Is Ousted on Start of Quiz

DETROIT (AP)—Students who boycotted Detroit's Northern High School halted today the removal of its principal as "a battle that we won."

Principal Arthur T. Carly was pulled off his job yesterday by Schools Supt. Samuel M. Brownell.

"It was a battle that we won," said Charles Colding, 17, a senior who helped lead hundreds of youngsters out of classes in a four-day protest.

"It was a victory for education in the inner city," Colding said.

The predominantly Negro school has an enrollment of 2,300.

Brownell assigned Carly, 64, to the Detroit school system's central office where, the superintendent said, Carly will work on Northern's problems.

Most Northern students returned to classes Tuesday after demonstrating for four days to protest what they said was substandard education at the school. Ouster of Carly was their most frequent demand during the rebellion.

Increasing cloudiness and a little warmer is Monday's forecast.

A mild 43 was the low in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. At 1 p.m., a high of 56 was recorded.

Ambassador at OU Tuesday

A public speech by Arthur J. Goldberg, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, will climax the conference of the Michigan U. N. Association at Oakland University Tuesday.

University officials have invited the public to hear Goldberg, who is scheduled to speak at 2:30 p.m. in the Howard C. Baldwin Memorial Pavilion, home of the Meadow Brook Music Festival.

In case of bad weather, the session will be held in the Sports and Recreation Building.

Goldberg's speech will bring to a close the day-long conference of some 50 delegates on campus.

Walter P. Reuther, United Auto Workers president, will deliver the keynote address in the morning.

The three are honorary chairmen of the annual conference.

Following Reuther's address, three speakers will discuss the conference theme, "The U. N. and Survival."

The panel will include Cislir; Ernst Benjamin, Wayne State University political science professor recently returned from Ghana; and Lyman M. Tondel Jr., New York attorney and chairman of the Committee on World Peace Through Law.

Massachusetts Fire Kills 4, Injures 6

BROCKTON, Mass. (UPI)—Four persons were killed and six others injured early today when a fire of suspicious origin gutted a three-story business and apartment block near the downtown area.

Authorities said one of the victims, Pearl Sullivan, was killed when she jumped out a third-floor window in an attempt to escape her blazing apartment.

The others, identified as William Sargent, Robert McNeil and Frank P. Bielskis, 58, died from burns, police said.

Dodd to Get Plenty of Time to Prepare

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., will be given plenty of time to prepare for public hearings on his relations with Chicago public relations man Julius Klein, members of the Senate Ethics Committee indicated today.

It was understood that no specific deadlines have been set for the start of the hearings. But one committee member scoffed at a suggestion that hearings might open in a month or two.

The six-member ethics committee announced yesterday it would conduct the hearings to bring out the facts about the alleged relationship between Dodd and Klein.

Before the public hearings, however, committee members said they would hold closed sessions to determine what activities in the relationship between Dodd and Klein.

7 More Killed as Property Damage Rises

College Campus Hit
by Tornado; Rains
Increase the Flooding

By the Associated Press
Waves of giant thunderstorms smashed a cross North Texas again yesterday, taking seven more lives and adding to the millions of dollars in property damage.

Texans looked skyward today for some sign of relief but saw only dark gray clouds. One Dallas suburban official whose city has been especially hard hit summed up the despair of most: "This water has no place to go."

A tornado dipped onto the campus of a small college northeast of Fort Worth; a boy drowned in a submerged car; a pilot perished when his plane clipped a guy wire of a cloud-obscured television tower, and five persons were killed on rain-swept highways.

Twelve persons died in the Dallas-Fort Worth area during the two days of violent storms. Eight of the victims drowned.

In Washington, the Small Business Administration declared Dallas County and adjacent counties disaster areas.

TORNADO HITS

The tornado hit Fort Worth Christian College with an enrollment of about 1,500.

President Curtis Ramey, who was in the administration building when the wind ripped the roof from over his head, said at least three buildings were damaged. One person was injured.

Rain, hail and wind lashed downtown Dallas as thousands of persons were leaving offices and stores for the day.

Michael Deuly, 6, was riding in a car with his mother, Claudia Burkes, and his two sisters when the auto suddenly plunged into Turtle Creek on the north edge of downtown Dallas.

Three men removed the mother and two girls but could not get the boy.

Rezoning Bid Action Is Due

Tops Agenda Facing Waterford Board

The Waterford Township Board is slated to take action Monday night on a rezoning request to change from single-family residential (R-1A) to multiple dwelling, residential (R-2) property on Malcolm Drive, north of Cooley Lake Road.

In Acre Heights Subdivision, the property would be used for construction of 88 apartment units. The applicant is Edwin L. Adler.

The township planning commission and county coordinating planning and zoning committee previously recommended that the zoning change be approved, both by unanimous vote.

A request by Director of Inspections E. R. Lawson for additional personnel and equipment in the building department will be considered by the board.

Lawson proposes hiring three full-time inspectors.

The board also will weigh a request of Planning Director Vern Higgins for salary increases for himself and his assistant, Curtis Rossow.

Wiggins is currently paid $8,549 a year, while Rossow's salary is $6,686.

Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe has planned to attend Monday's meeting to discuss the June 13 school election.

Nab Suspect in 4 Slayings

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A 27-year-old suspect in the slaying of a Berwick, La., mother and her three children was captured today aboard a freight train.

The man, Roy Mehia, was caught by Southern Pacific Railroad detectives in nearby St. Charles Parish.

Mehia, accused of killing Mrs. Barbara Verret, 32, and her three children, had been the object of a week long search.

Authorities had ringed off a wild swamp along the Mississippi River when a man identified as Mehia fled into the marshlands.

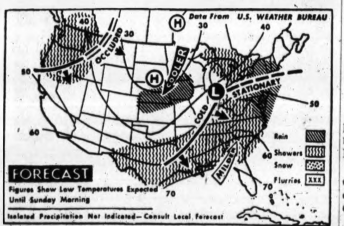

However, the search switched to Lafourche Parish, near Gold on Meadow, yesterday after officers received numerous reports he was driving south towards Grand Isle.

The bodies of Mrs. Barbara Verret and her three children were found last Sunday and Monday.

Candidate for Governor Blasts Scholle on 'Snub'

DETROIT (AP) — Former union worker Paul F. Livingston rapped Michigan AFL-CIO President August Scholle today for being left off the invitation list to a political meet-the-candidates labor meeting.

Livingston, suburban Birmingham businessman challenging State Democratic Chairman Zolton Ferency for the party's nomination for governor, wrote Scholle in protest.

"I'm sure you don't intend to make the Democratic party a closed shop," Livingston said.

Livingston, a onetime organizer for the Teamsters and the Hotel and Restaurant Workers unions in Minneapolis, described himself in his letter as "alone of the candidates" with a rank and file union background and a record as a professional unionist and union officerholder. He now heads a company that specializes in union benefit plans.

Scholle announced earlier this week the AFL-CIO was inviting major candidates for governor and the U.S. Senate to the AFL-CIO meeting June 1 in Lansing.

Each is to state his case to delegates to a meeting of COPE, the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education. All are expected to attend.

Highland Park Talks Resume

Judge Prods Efforts in Teachers' Strike

HIGHLAND PARK (AP) — Negotiations in the 2-day-old strike by the Highland Park Federation of Teachers were to resume today at the urging of former Michigan Gov. John B. Swainson.

Swainson, now a Wayne County Circuit judge, presided at a show cause hearing Friday. At his request, leaders of the union agreed to resume talks with representatives of the suburban Detroit school board at Michigan Labor Mediation Board offices in Detroit.

The school board asked for an injunction to halt the strike under a state law that forbids strikes by public employees. It also asked for punitive damages.

Swainson, governor of Michigan from 1960 to 1962, said he would resume the hearing Monday morning if both sides fail to reach agreement in weekend bargaining sessions.

EFFORTS FAILED

The teacher's union struck the school system, which has 10,000 students in 10 schools and a junior college, Thursday after a 29-hour negotiating session failed to produce a new contract.

The teachers sought a $500 annual raise plus fringe benefits. The school board, claiming a lack of funds, offered $375.

The system has 467 teachers, of which 384 teach at the elementary and secondary schools and 83 teach at the college.

Personnel Director Paul Armstrong said 179 failed to show up for classes Friday.

ON HALF DAYS

Classes at Highland Park High School were on half days Thursday and Friday. The school system and the college maintained regular schedules with the help of some 200 nonstriking Highland Park Education Association teachers, substitutes and administrative personnel.

Optimists to Observe Bike Week

The Optimist Club of Lake-Waterford will hold another Optimist organizations throughout the world in sponsoring bicycle Safety Week Monday through Saturday.

The program is designed to urge youths and adults to ride and drive safely for the protection of children.

A highlight of the week will be the observance of a bicycle club for youths and adults by Community Activities, Inc., 5600 William St., Lake, Waterford Township.

The program will consist of planned rides and a continued effort to make safe bicycle trails and "bikeways" available to enthusiasts.

As the program gets under way, bicycle trail signs will be erected — to designate the way and to advise motorists that cyclists are in the area and to drive with caution.

In addition, the Waterford Township Police Department will launch its annual bicycle licensing program.

Further information can be obtained by contacting Eugene Weddell, CAI executive director.

Senator: Joint Chiefs Favor Air Step-up

BLOXI, Miss. (AP) — Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., said today it is an open secret that the Joint Chiefs of Staff favor intensifying U.S. air strikes against North Viet Nam.

In a speech for the Mississippi Broadcasters Association, the senator — who heads the Senate Armed Services subcommittee — called anew for an all-out assault on oil, power and arms plants in the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial areas of North Viet Nam.

Stennis said the air war "has not achieved and, under current and restrictive ground rules, will not achieve its objective of substantially halting or curtailing the flow of men, materials and supplies from North to South Viet Nam."

"We should close the ports of North Viet Nam by whatever method our military leaders deem to be appropriate," he said. "We should destroy the petroleum facilities in the Hanoi-Haiphong complex. We should also attack power producing facilities and plants producing military equipment and supplies and other tools of war."

SHORTEN WAR

"These things are necessary to protect our fighting men, to shorten the war, and to minimize the loss of valuable American lives. The majority of the high ranking military leaders with whom I have talked agree with me on this," he said.

Use New Road to Beat Rains

Thousands of Trucks Are in Operation

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist North Viet Nam, seeking to rush equipment and supplies south before the monsoon season sets in, has built a 200-mile road network in the Laos Panhandle.

An estimated 1,500 to 3,000 trucks are operating there, it was learned today, in an effort to get the tons of goods the Communists need into South Viet Nam before the rains come.

The road network includes an estimated 35 miles that the Communists have sought to camouflage by building bamboo trellises and lacing them with branches to hide the roads from prowling U.S. aircraft.

It was learned that this buildup is part of a decision by Hanoi to increase the number of main-force units in South Viet Nam. The military objective of North Viet Nam is to push tons of material South during the dry season and continue the infiltration of men by foot after the rains begin in mid-May.

MAIN ROUTE

The main motor route for infiltration from North Viet Nam through Laos is the Mu Gia Pass area along the Laos border. The secondary route is the Na Pa Pass just to the north of Mu Gia.

The Mu Gia Pass, 65 miles south of the North Vietnamese city of Vinh, has been the site of repeated attacks by American war planes.

U.S. Air Force B52 bombers hit the pass last April 12 and American spokesmen said it was completely closed. A few days later, however, it was reported that thousands of workers had reopened the pass, which carries Highway 15 through the mountains to the so-called Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos.

It is in this region, just across the border in Laos, that the buildup of a road network has been going on since the last monsoon season.

City Teen Finds $530, Turns It In

"This is what we would expect him to do."

That was the modest comment of a Pontiac mother today after her 13-year-old son turned in to police a wallet he found containing $530 in cash.

Melvin Stoenwall Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stoenwall of 663 Lenox, saw money being scattered by the wind near Joelyn and Markie yesterday.

The youth scooped to gether the loose bills, found the wallet a short distance away, and with his mother brought it to police.

Police said identification in the billfold indicated it belonged to a Walter T. Pace of Detroit.

7 Abducted During Holdup

$18,000 Taken From Store in N. Carolina

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Two gunmen took an estimated total of $18,000 from a Charlotte supermarket safe early today after having abducted the assistant manager and six other persons, including three newspaper carriers.

Charlotte police, who were piecing together the details of a bizarre robbery, gave this account:

The two robbers went to the trailer home of Thomas C. Dutton, 22, an employee of Park and Shop No. 2, about 12:45 a.m. They forced Dutton and his wife, Katherine, 21, to drive to the home of Thomas F. Cashion, 28, the store's assistant manager.

They bound the Duttons and Mrs. Cashion and forced Cashion to accompany them to the closed store, about eight miles away. But on arrival at the store the gunmen found three adult newspaper carriers outside awaiting their papers.

ENTERED STORE

The robbers forced Cashion and the deliverymen, identified as W. M. James Jr., Query Gallo, both of Charlotte, and J. C. Penninger of Harrisburg, into the store.

Dutton was forced to open the store safe, and about $10,000 in cash, plus $8,000 in checks, was taken.

Cashion and the three newspaper carriers were then forced to drive back to the Cashion home, where they were tied up. The gunmen then took the Duttons and Mrs. Cashion to the Dutton home and left them tied up.

The first alarm was turned in by Cashion, who squirmed out of his bonds, at 3:23 a.m. The robbers were described as being in their late 20s.

Producer Not Impressed by January's 'Thaw' Try

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Lovely blonde January Jones all too vividly remembers her first interview with a Hollywood producer.

"My first manager, who was also my husband, asked me to wear a bikini under my coat and, when I got to the producer's office, to take off my coat . . .

"I didn't want to do it but my first manager, who was as I said, also my husband, insisted. I thought he knew more about the business than I did, and so I wore a bikini.

"I didn't get the part. I don't remember the producer's name and I hope he has forgotten mine."

With the help of Johnny Carson's "Tonight" show, January Jones of the green-blue eyes and twice-broken too-short little nose, has become one of the best known singers. Next month she'll be at the Camden Latin Casino with Jimmy Dean, heading later for the Las Vegas Sahara with Johnny Carson.

But the other night as we walked around the Latin Quarter I pointed out to her that she was practically equally billed there with Pinky Lee.

"Isn't it amazing?" she said. "Just a few years ago, I was a cocktail waitress at the Dunes in Las Vegas and Pinky was the star in the big room."

Born in Chicago, reared in Pasadena, she'd started at the bottom.

"I was voted 'Miss Posture,' and I got my first singing work. I was too scared even to smile on stage. Then I met my first manager—we got married after two weeks—and he insisted I change my name . . . Jacqueline Allison . . . to January, or he wouldn't manage me. He wanted to associate me with a calendar. He said I was like a Vargas girl in Playboy."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "The only war I ever approved of was the Trojan War. It was fought over a woman, and the men knew what they were fighting for." — William Lyons Phelps.

EARL'S PEARLS: Marcel Marceau was asked his ambition. "Something," said the pantomimist, "I will never achieve—a hit record."

Pentagon Feels Viet 'War Declaration' Not a Proper Step

WASHINGTON (AP) — Re- flexibility in seeking a solution to the conflict.

On balance, a declaration of war would significantly reduce the flexibility of the United States to seek a solution among extremely complex factors, and reduce the chances that our adversary will take a reasoned approach to a solution," the report explains.

It was submitted by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in response to questions raised at a Feb. 2 hearing. The paper, now made public by the committee, presumably represents the over-all administration position on the question of a declared war in Viet Nam.

There has been some contention in and out of Congress that the United States is committed illegally in Viet Nam in the absence of a declaration of war.

Neither the U.S. Constitution, the guidelines of international law nor the issue of prisoner treatment requires a formal declaration of war, the Defense Department paper said.

"To declare war would add a new psychological element to the international situation, since in this century, declarations of war have come to imply dedication to the total destruction of the enemy," the report said. "It would increase the danger of misunderstanding of our true objectives in the conflict by the various Communist states, and increase the chances of their expanded involvement in it."

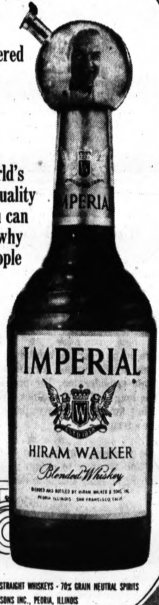

But in the case in Viet Nam, the report concluded, Johnson had an expression on Congress- ional intent — the joint resolution of Aug. 10, 1964, "explicitly is waging an unconstitutional war in Viet Nam. A move to repeal the resolution, led by Morse, was overwhelmingly defeated in the Senate earlier this year.

Allocation for County Schools Set

Allocations totaling $356,227 for library resources, instructional materials and textbooks have been approved for Oakland County public and nonpublic schools by the State Department of Education.

The sum is part of the $4 million made available to Michigan under provisions of the Federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. Funds were allocated on a per capita and need basis.

Of Oakland County's appropriation, $307,029 is for public schools and $49,198 for non-public schools.

Waterford Township Schools are entitled to $27.82 of the grant. Pontiac and Bloomfield Hills school districts chose not to participate in the federally financed program.

Michigan schools participating in the program will receive 68 cents for each student, teacher and other professional personnel on their staffs.

49 PCT. ALLOCATED
About 40 per cent of the funds were allocated on this basis.

The remaining $24 million received by Michigan is being distributed on the basis of need as determined by information gathered in a survey conducted by the state library division of the department of education.

Schools can spend up to 10 per cent of their funds for library resources or instructional materials such as books, periodicals, documents, pamphlets, maps, charts, globes, recordings, slides, films, tapes and any other printed and published or audiovisual materials.

Up to 15 per cent can be spent for textbooks used as a principal source of study for a class or group of students.

Private schools must select texts used by some public school in the state.

Junior Editors Quiz on MUSIC

QUESTION: What were the ancestors of our musical instruments?

ANSWER: The music-making impulse is very old, for we find traces of primitive instruments in the Stone Age. In our picture we show four ancient types, suggesting some of the modern instruments derived from them.

Any hollow log served as a primitive drum; a bit of hide stretched across the top provided a strong sound.

From such ancestors descended our modern snare and bass drums, and the tympani, whose note can be changed by adjusting the handles.

By cutting the end off a conch shell and compressing the tips, primitive man could blow a powerful blast. Hollow horns were used in the same way. The horn principle led to our modern bugle, trumpet, trombone, tuba and others.

Recently, an ancient flute, found in Peru, was estimated at 9,000 years old—possibly the oldest musical instrument in the world. Made of bone or reed, these were the ancestors of the woodwind and organ families.

Tapping a bowstring gave the primitive hunter a slight sound. Putting one end of the bow in his mouth made it stronger.

Then came the idea of attaching the string to a hollow gourd or box—and so came the very large and important family of stringed instruments.

FOR YOU TO DO: Have you a bow or do you know someone who has? Try tapping it with a stick and then with one end in your mouth—you will hear the difference in the sound, and realize your mouth is acting like the body of a guitar.

Youth Takes Bitter With the Sweet

Eleven-year-old JOHN DANIC is experiencing the ups and downs of life at an early age.
A short time ago, he dutifully reported the find of a billfold containing $710. Subsequently it was taken over by Waterford Township police and returned to the owner who had previously reported the loss.
Although JOHN was suitably rewarded for his honesty, it is a safe assumption that it was prompted by principle, not by thought of gain.
But the gods of chance had not finished with him. Three days ago he was shaken by the theft of his $75 bicycle which you can be sure was dear to his heart.
In saluting the young man on his exemplary sense of honor in the first instance, we share, in the second, his sorrow over the loss of a prized possession.
We are sure, however, that JOHN is enough of a philosopher to know that that's the way the ball of life unaccountably bounces.

Rule of Law Serves As Democracy's Bulwark

Tomorrow is "Law Day USA." Giving local significance to its observance was the presentation yesterday by the Oakland County Bar association of "Liberty Bell Awards" to four county laymen in recognition of service performed in consonance with the American Constitution.
For 175 years our government has served as a beacon light for oppressed peoples of the world who seek freedom, justice and equality.
The heart and sinews of this system is Law. It distinguishes our governmental form from those operated by the rule of force. The freedom and justice grounded in a just system of laws, protected by the courts, is the keystone of America's strength and her principal claim to moral leadership in the world community.
Laws are made not alone to curb the evildoer, but to give reasonable regulation to the lives of all people. It is through this dual function of law that Americans enjoy liberty and the opportunities inherent in a free society.
No citizen is relegated to the sidelines in the fight to preserve law and order as our way of life. Each day we can strengthen our system in some way — by respecting and obeying all laws; by aiding public officials in the prevention of crime; by bearing witness against crime; and by serving on juries when we are called.
"Law Day USA" is not just another meaningless "Day." On the contrary, it symbolizes the foundation of our society.

Steam, Steed Show Speed During Derby Week

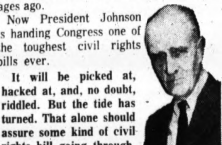

The first Saturday in May has a special status as Kentucky Derby Day. A hundred thousand-plus race fans jam Churchill Downs to watch the three-year-olds and quaff the indigenous mint juleps.
But, though given scant notice, there is another race equally steeped in colorful Southern tradition that will be watched by a multitude comparable in number.
It takes place on the Tuesday before Big Saturday and is the 12-mile Ohio River contest between the two sternwheelers that regularly ply the stream.
This year's classic matches the 50-year-old Belle of Louisville against the younger Delta Queen.
Each vessel will carry 500 passengers at $10 each, and it is estimated that 100,000 persons will line shorelines from Louisville to Six-Mile Island.
The Belle won the race in 1964, but the Queen regained the crown last year, winning by a nose—er, row.
In passing, let no one think that there is little more to steamship racing than firing the boiler to capacity, signaling full speed ahead and hoping for the best.
There is, on the contrary, a challenge to skippers in the exercise of tactical ploys. Like their counterparts astride Derby mounts, they must continually jockey for position.

Our Worst Troubles Come in Best Packages

A noted British psychiatrist — none other than Dr. JOSUA BIERER — attributes most of our troubles in America to prosperity and women.
Well, if you have to have troubles — and we understand even England has a few now and then — can the doctor think of nicer ways to have them?
Or is he suggesting that we switch to poverty and an all-male population?

Rights Bills Boredom Is Past

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — No more hush. Boredom used to be the response in Congress when any, including a president, proposed a civil rights bill. That seems ages ago.
Now President Johnson is handing Congress one of the toughest civil rights bills ever.
It will be picked at, hacked at, and, no doubt, ridiculed. But the tide has turned. That alone should assure some kind of civil rights bill going through.
There's another reason. MARLOW — This is a congressional election year, which is all the more inducement for Johnson to put the pressure on for action.
In the Senate there is no ban on a filibuster unless the Senate feels inclined to vote a stoppage, and, until recently non-Southerners felt strongly enough about civil rights to do the stopping.
So the Southerners had all it to themselves from 1875, the last time a civil rights bill was passed, until the mid-20th century.
Then the Supreme Court cut the ground from under Congress in 1954 by taking a monumental civil rights stand, which Congress continually had failed to do; it outlawed segregation in public schools.

That broke the back of Southern resistance, for in 1957 — with Lyndon B. Johnson, the Senate's Democratic majority leader, driving the Senate — Congress passed the first civil rights bill in 82 years.
The Southerners in the Senate were never able again to block civil rights legislation, and Congress passed more civil rights bills in 1960, 1964 and 1965.
Thursday Johnson, as President, asked for new legislation to federalize discrimination in housing, state and federal juries, and schools, plus legislation to combat Ku Klux Klan type terrorism in the South.
He proposed a law to prohibit any interference with the exercise of fundamental rights by threats or force, by any person — whether as an individual or in a group and whether privately or officially.
The President specifically named fundamental rights — voting, education, housing, employment, jury service and travel.
A civil rights murder could mean a federal penalty of life imprisonment, with lesser crimes bringing lesser penalties. The present law makes no distinction among such crimes, providing only a five-year penalty for conspiring to deprive others of their rights.

The POWER of FAITH by WOODI ISHMAEL

Captain James J. Romer was a man who was fundamentally dissatisfied. He felt that anyone satisfied with his lot in life no longer is making a contribution to society.
As a member of the United States Air Force in Panama, Romer spent every spare moment on civic action in Central America. A devout Roman Catholic, his one aim in life was Christian service to others. On one of his many visits to a remote village in a rugged mountain area, Jim Romer died in a plane crash. Over 200 villagers in that Latin country mourned the death of a friend, for they had benefited spiritually and materially from his visits. He had taught sanitation, showed them how to dig wells and use concrete. He had made firm friends for the United States.
On the new Health Center of Vera Cruz there is a plaque with his name and rank in memory of his participation in that work.
There are many "James Romers" around the world who have and will pay the supreme price for trying to make a better world for the love of God and mankind.

Confident Living:

'Don't Think Any Old Thoughts'

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE
Don't let the "time neurosis" get you. "This obsession itself may be the cause of definitely premature aging." So say a group of medical specialists in reports of a conference on the aging individual.
According to a news dispatch these doctors decided that "years alone need have no effect in bringing about degenerative disorders." It is evidence that Dr. PEALE human a tissue can live on indefinitely — given suitable conditions and treatment. So, in the opinion of these experts, anybody who thinks he is in a decline just because his years have added up is suffering from the "time neurosis."
This ought to mean something to the many old-age-conscious people we have nowadays. We talk about slowing down at 50, and at 60 being on the way out. And then comes 65 and they give you a dinner, present you with a watch and put you on the shelf. From then on you just hang around home. The wife, who married you for better or for worse, complains she didn't bargain for having you on her hands 24 hours a day.
Having accepted current superstitions about age you smile bravely and glumly admit, "I'm not what I once was." This expectation of inevitable deterioration is certainly one of the most dismal notions ever entertained by human minds.
If thinking you are growing old and weak can make you so, it follows that thinking you are full of youth and health can keep you vital all your life. I have known any number of people who impressively demonstrate this fact. One was my friend Lawrence Townsend, at 91 one of the most youthful, vigorous, vibrant persons I have ever known.
A distinguished diplomat who served in our legation in Vienna and later as United States Minister to Portugal and to Belgium, Lawrence Townsend was a man of keen, scintillating intellect and of many accomplishments. He translated works on international law from French and German into English. He was for some years a rancher and a superb horseman — and a top-notch golfer. He was also, curiously, an expert cabinet-maker. Such work with the hands is occupational therapy, a good way to rest the mind, he would say.
When Lawrence Townsend was 91 I visited him at his home in Florida. In back of the house he showed me an enclosure round to the sky, walled round so that he could not be seen by neighbors. He explained that this was where he came each day, rain or shine, to disrobe and expose his body to the "lifeliving elements." "I draw myself up as tall as I can, carrying the crown of my head high. I let the sun fall upon me," he said, "or if it's raining I let the rain wash over me. Or if there's an overcast and a strong wind blowing I let it massage my body."
Stripped to the waist he stood as fit and lithe as an Indian. The muscles rippled under his bronzed skin. And what a waistline! "Lawrence," I exclaimed, "you can't be 91! No man of 91 has physique like that! How ever do you do it?"
"Ah I stand here every day," he replied, "I affirm the life force. I say aloud, 'Inimitable life from Almighty God is pouring through my body, through my mind and soul. I affirm that the divine life force is re-creating me.'
This man so young, so gloriously alive in his 90s, reminded me of the old legend that somewhere there's a fountain of eternal youth. No wonder the Spanish Conquistadors like Ponce de Leon, who sought so avidly, never found it. They weren't looking in the right place. You find it in the mind. Affirming and believing that the divine life force constantly pours in upon your body, mind and soul, you actually open up your entire being to its rejuvenating flow."
The saying that you're only as young as you think isn't just some old bromide. It's an honest-to-goodness fact. You really do not have to become an old, worn-out person. James A. Farley made one of the best comments about the matter I ever heard. Asked about his own repulse of age he explained, "I just don't think any old thoughts."

'Federal Restrictions Are Not the Answer'

There is a movement to bring Federal restrictions and jurisdiction to the automobile industry. This will not aid but will hinder the American public in the guise of safety measures. The auto owner should inquire as to the price of an airplane. Federal government restrictions placed the aircraft out of the consumer pocket. This also was for safety and the government has only helped aviation through use and not restriction. A drivers' association formed by citizens can accomplish more toward safety and better automobiles than the government.

'U. S. Must Defend Freedom in Viet Nam'

In rebuttal to George Long's letter, our main argument for being in Viet Nam is not primarily to win friends and influence people. We are there to protect the South Vietnamese from a forced take-over by their Communist cousins. This country is bound by its very nature to defend freedom. It is too small a world to say we will do so only on our own soil.

There is no courage exhibited by withdrawal from Viet Nam, only foolhardiness. Mr. Long's premise fails to take reality into consideration. The peoples of the world have suffered too long and their bellies are too empty for them to reason that the fellow who walks away while they are being beaten is a friend.

We are fighting communism because it believes in force, revolution and tyranny to this goal that we know does not exist on earth. To deny this is to deny your country and your God.

'Congressmen Have Proved Themselves'

Four of our seven freshman congressmen are in trouble. These four congressmen are in the 89th Congress that has been the most productive in our time. Why should they be in trouble when they have proved themselves in Washington? Why does the Governor want to unseat these men just because they are Democrats?

Our 18th District once had a freshman congressman, William Broomfield, and he turned out to be a very good man. We have freshman Billie Farum who is proving himself in Washington and has a record that the 19th District is proud of. Vote for the man, not the party.

Mother Offers Advice on Teen-Age Dating

A 15-year-old wonders where her 22-year-old boyfriend can take her to dance. Where is her mother? Not many would approve of a young girl dating a man of 22. I suggest she waits around her own living room, in calling distance of her mother, until she is dry behind the ears.

If I heard of either of my girls dating a fellow that much older, they would have blisters on their rears for a month, and they know it. I am a square and only wish there were more. I'm sure there would be less problems in the world.

Reader Agrees With Detroit Student Protest

The person who commented on student protests at Detroit Northern High School apparently lacked adequate knowledge of the situation. These students had good reason for their protests. They could swallow this inferior education, but students who wish to advance further would find it difficult to pass entrance exams. I agree "an American should be proud of the chances he has for an education," and this is the reason the students are trying to get their share.

Hope to End Stall Next Week in Tariff-Cutting Talks Between U.S., Common Market

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials said today they are hopeful that next week will mark the turning point in the long-stalled tariff-cutting negotiations for a Western trade partnership between the United States and the European Common Market.

Administration sources said if the six Common Market countries can agree next week on agricultural policy — the main obstacle hindering negotiations — then it will be possible to bring the Kennedy round of international trade talks to a successful conclusion despite the perilously close deadline imposed by Congress.

Under the 1963 U.S. Trade Expansion Act, President Johnson has authority only until June 30, 1967, to negotiate tariff cuts as high as 50 per cent. The long and complicated negotiations had been stalled for six months by a crisis precipitated by French President Charles de Gaulle, who wanted an assurance that each of the Common Market nations will preserve a veto over major economic decisions. De Gaulle got his way last January.

EXPECT ACCORD

Ministers of the European community nations meet May 4-5 and, if necessary, again on May 9-10. They are expected to agree on the financing of the Common Market's agricultural exports.

Such an agreement, in turn, would enable the six to return to the Geneva negotiating table to seek methods of reduction of tariff and nontariff barriers to trade.

Optimism about next week's negotiations caused the administration to disregard the advice it received this week from Danish Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag, who urged President Johnson to personally remind the Common Market nations that time was running out. Officials, reporting this, recalled that the administration considered similar persuasive action last winter. The idea was dropped, however, when the argument prevailed that the United States should not prod the Europeans to solve a problem which is first and foremost theirs.

Four-Year-Old Pixie Guards Toy In Living Room Carpeted In Sand Beige Frieze

Pixie Steals Show As Diane, 15, Karen, 8, And Robbie, 12, Watch TV In Family Room

Chinese Scene In Study Painted By Mrs. Haskill From Slide Taken By Her Husband

background for LIVING

Family Room Is Home's Social Center

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

Hub of the Cyle Haskill home on Woodbine Drive, Waterford Township, is the family room overlooking the back yard.

Designed by the Haskills, the walnut paneled room is an addition to the original floor plan.

Above the cream Roman brick fireplace hangs a black and brass sunburst clock. Completing the grouping are matching sconces with white candles.

Throw pillows of aqua and antique green on the raised hearth complement the room's aqua sofa highlighted by threads of turquoise and antique green.

Folding louvered doors permit the closing off of the adjoining study carpeted in sand-beige frieze.

Interested in art, Mrs. Haskill painted the colorful Hong Kong water scene on the wall above the room's kneehole desk. As her model, she used a slide taken by Mr. Haskill during a world tour.

Mementoes of his trip are displayed on the area's side-wall built-ins.

Repeating the color background of the study is the rose beige living room. The cornice boards duplicate the wall coloring while the draperies follow the sand beige of the room's frieze carpeting.

A wicker basket filled with Florida shells decorates the colonial fireplace's black marble hearth.

"The shells catch the eye of all the youngsters who visit us," said Mrs. Haskill, "and they make perfect playthings to keep children from becoming bored."

Walnut sideboards flank the turquoise sectional before the front window. Rose beige ceramic lamps with white parchment shades light the arrangement.

The room's maple rocker was given to Mr. Haskill by the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce as a parting gift marking his 1958-59 presidency of the club.

Home Trend Blends Styles

The trend in home decorating is toward greater warmth... a hominess that happily blends furnishings from the past and present; uses treasures from Great-Granddad's house and from the far corners of the world; whisks back in time to the comforting atmosphere of mellow board paneling, burnished wood floors, fine millwork; exhibits the rich tapestry of modern colors and fabrics... and is intensely personal.

Why has this happened? It's the mid-20th century regard for the home and for family life, expressed so well by the famed designer Milo Baughman, who evolved from one of the purest of pure modern to one who appreciates heritage and individuality.

Baughman's statement was "The home is the last refuge for escape from the pressures of 20th century civilization."

"More, it is the place where certain universal basic emotional needs are fulfilled, or should be - the need for love, warmth, security, protection, beauty. We've been starved for visual pleasure."

Air Cleaners Are Growing Very Popular in Home

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) - Electronic air cleaners are fast becoming one of the most popular appliances in the $4 billion home comfort field.

"They are being installed at a rate of nearly one in 25 homes now, according to the residential division of Honeywell Inc. and could hit a rate of one in 10 by 1970.

Independent surveys of home owners indicate the electronic air cleaners are most popular among people with houses valued at more than $25,000 and that the reason most frequently given for purchase is "an allergy problem."

New home buyers in the next two years will find such cleaners an integral part of a "total comfort" package; at least four furnace manufacturers soon will be using the units in this way.

MODERN FARMHOUSE: There's a world of traditional charm in this rambling ranch, with an L-shape design which permits either of two sides to be used as the front in the event that the owner's lots calls for placement other than shown here.

Farmhouse Ranch Suits Any Setting

The modest rambling farmhouse type of ranch has continued to have major appeal throughout the years, even during those periods when there have been population moves to the urban areas.

The charm of this style makes it popular on the farm, in the suburbs and even in the cities.

Whatever the setting, the farmhouse ranch has a natural ease with which it graces most any piece of land in any neighborhood.

It is easy-going and simple, yet tasteful and attractive; unpretentious, but dignified and interesting.

The layout is the convenient off-the-foyer type, with most rooms accessible from the foyer and center hall.

Entering the house from a wide, covered portico which precedes the main entrance, there is an immediate view through the living room to the rear, large bay window.

Highlighted in the living room is a stone-faced fireplace with a flush stone hearth adjoining a paneled wall.

DINING ROOM
The adjacent dining room has a sweep of 20' from its side windows to the living room fireplace.

To the left of the foyer is a family room with its own bay window overlooking a side patio.

The area in front of the bay window is excellent for an informal dinette table, since it is right next to the U-shaped kitchen.

The kitchen features a large, double-bowl sink, dishwasher, built-in wall oven and 21' of counter top.

Meals or snacks can be easily served from the kitchen to the dinette area of the family room on one side and to the regular dining room on the other.

On the opposite side of the family room, within a short distance from the kitchen as well as a side door, are a lavatory and a laundry room.

Also located here are the inside entrance to the two-car garage and the stairway to the full basement.

There are three bedrooms and two baths in the wing at the right side of the house. The master bedroom is at the end of the hall.

It has a bay window, a private bath and a stall shower. The two other bedrooms look out to the rear.

Two closets and a cabinet act as sound buffers between one of the bedrooms and the living room.

Serve A Double Dip of CARPET COLOR

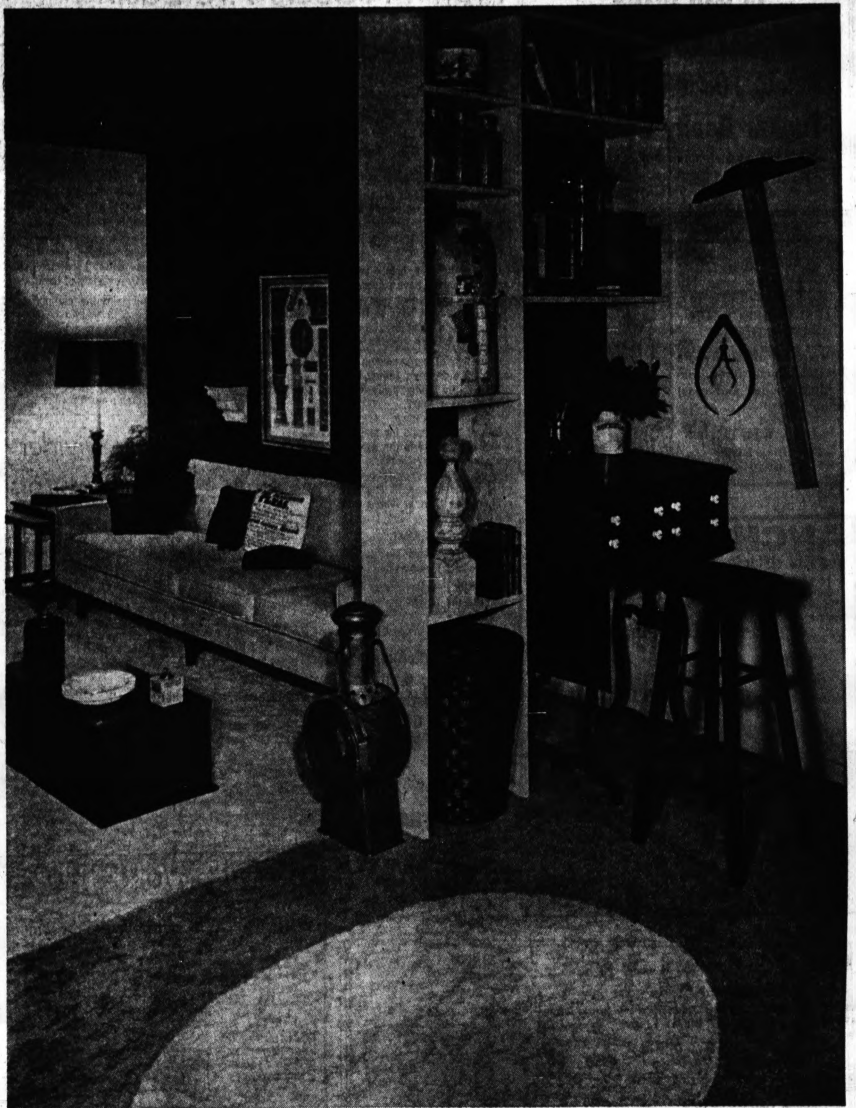

What two heads can do for the planning of a project, two carpets can do for the planning of a room's decor. The use of carpet in two sharply contrasting or subtly harmonizing colors can create any special effect you want, to give your room a truly individual decor.

Ideal for this new and daring manner of decorating are carpets of Creslan acrylic fiber, because of their exceptional affinity for color. These luxurious carpets come in the widest range of hues, from an almost ethereal group of pastels to the most intense deep shades. There's a color to create any effect you have in mind.

For example, a narrow room looks wider if the carpet is laid in broad stripes of contrasting color. Similarly, a "frame" of a contrasting color around the edges of a large, rambling room can make it look more contained and warmer.

You can unify two separate rooms by repeating the carpet of one in an inset in the other. A dining room, for example, gives the appearance of blending in with a living room when treated to an inset "accent rug" of the same carpeting as that used in the living room. By the same token, you can emphasize a prized piece of furniture, such as a cocktail table, by placing it on a carpet inset of a different color from that used in the main part of the room.

The possibilities are limitless, and only a few generalities apply: work closely with a skilled carpet layer to insure just the effect you want. Remember to use the same carpet in two different colors. Carpets that differ in construction and texture are harder to join effectively, and tend to give a choppy look. And, be sure that both colors you choose go well with the other furnishings in the room.

The lovely look of light and shadow, created with the dramatic use of two colors of a carpet, separates — yet unifies two adjacent rooms. The inset of light carpet is a beautiful accent in the smaller area. The true, clear colors of Patcraft carpets of Creslan acrylic fiber are ideally suited to unusual treatments such as this. Note that in the room with the dark wall, the carpet is light; in the room with the light wall, the darker shade is used.

Accent—the element that lifts a room out of the ordinary. Here, it is done with a Berven carpet in two sharply contrasting colors. The darker inset in the lighter wall-to-wall carpet of Creslan acrylic fiber gives the appearance of an area rug, and matches the carpeting on the sides of the strikingly designed chaise.

False ID Sale Worth 45 Days

St. Clair Shores Teen
Is Arrested at EMU

YPSILANTI (AP) — An Eastern Michigan University sophomore was sentenced to 45 days in jail Friday when he pleaded guilty to furnishing false identification to minors for the purchase of intoxicants.

He is 19-year-old William L. Farrell of St. Clair Shores and Municipal Judge Edward Deake sent him to jail.

Sheriff's Detective Chester Wilson said Farrell had more than 100 false pieces of identification when arrested Friday on the university campus.

Wilson said Farrell manufactured false identification material with a copying machine and sold it for $5 per piece. He added law enforcement agents of four southeastern counties had been seeking the source of a flood of bogus identification papers.

Wilson said ages had been falsified on such material as Michigan and Ohio driver's licenses, Selective Service cards and identification cards of Eastern Michigan University, Central Michigan University and Schoolcraft College.

Report Due on 7-County Study Plan

A progress report on the $3.6-million transportation and land use study being conducted in the state's seven southeastern counties is scheduled Monday in Detroit.

Called TALUS, the study is a special project of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission.

It seeks to gather data, projecting 1990 needs, to develop a coordinated plan for transportation and general land use patterns for Oakland, Washtenaw, St. Clair and Livingston counties.

R. J. Alexander, director of the Oakland County Department of Public Works and chairman of the regional planning commission, will be one of the principals in the report program.

All 82 state legislators from the metropolitan area have been invited to the 9 a.m. session at the Veterans Memorial Building.

The TALUS study began last July and will continue through 1968.

Dismiss Suits for $400,000

Three lawsuits asking damages totaling $400,000 from the Detroit Edison Co. for injuries sustained by three construction workers were dismissed yesterday by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

The damages were sought by James R. Recknagel, Robert C. France and George W. Bodin, employees of the S. D. Solomon & Sons construction firm after they were injured on the job July 7, 1961, in Pontiac Township.

The men were severely burned when electricity from a power line traveled down the boom of a crane and into a section of drain pipe they were installing for the I-75 expressway at Lake Angelus and Joslyn.

In ruling that there was no cause for action, Ziem said that Edison wasn't negligent because it could not reasonably foresee this type of accident.

Area Bank Offers Interest Rate Hike

Birmingham-Bloomfield Bank has announced the payment of 5 1/4 per cent interest on time deposits.

The new higher guaranteed bank rate will be paid on one-year savings time deposits of any amount over $1.

Thomas H. Wagner, chairman of the board of the bank, said today the new rate becomes effective immediately, and to his knowledge, is the highest rate in the state.

Auto Engineers Defend Cars, Blame Poor Drivers

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill. (AP) — Nader's book, "Unsafe At Any Speed," four auto industry safety engineers said Friday, but it's the driver, not the designer, who makes them that way.

The comments were made in speeches before the Illinois Editors' Traffic Safety Seminar.

The engineers, representing General Motors, Firestone, Chrysler and American Motors, contended that cars are safer now than they have been, but that they will become even safer, but that all improvements will be lost if drivers refuse to take advantage of them.

"There is no such thing as a safe car—one in which no one will be injured," a Chrysler Corp. engineer said, setting the tone of a session which the safety experts defended their product and fired back at recent criticism, including Ralph more complex than self-appointed critics and dogooders would have you believe," said L. H. Nagler, safety engineer for American Motors.

The auto industry is concerned that 49,000 persons were killed in auto accidents last year, he said, but added that the total must be considered in context with the vastly increased amount of auto travel.

"We now have 100 million drivers," he said, "and they drive a total of 900 billion miles a year. Our fatality rate is 5.6

deaths for each 100 million miles. This means the average driver would have to drive 1,800 years before he would be killed in an accident."

Another speaker criticized the man behind the wheel.

DRUNKS ON ROAD

"About half of all auto fatalities are attributed to drunk drivers or drunk pedestrians," said Roy Haeusler, chief engineer for auto safety of Chrysler.

"There's impressive evidence such people have histories of alcoholism," he said. "We don't seem to have enough gumption to take alcoholics off the road."

He urged drivers to wear their seat belts and to order their new cars with shoulder straps. "There is no going to be much we can do to make cars safe for drunks," Haeusler said. "We are going to make cars safer for you and me."

American troops engaged in the war with Spain totaled exactly 280,565 and of these 1,704 were killed in action or died of their wounds.

Women Alone, Subject for Special Conference

Oakland University's continuing education division has designed a special conference for widows and divorcees May 21.

According to a university spokesman, purpose of the 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. program is to focus the attention of widows and divorcees upon themselves and each other, their common meeting ground of "aleness" and their similarities and differences. "They know loneliness, frustration and grief, and for them there are no easy answers."

Months of candid "give and take" in planning sessions of widows and divorcees preceded scheduling of this program on the OU campus. Growing out of the expressed need of women who had attended previous conferences and were dissatisfied with the lack of emphasis on their particular needs, this new all-day program has been prepared by just such women.

Common experiences. Those involved in the planning sessions discovered four stages of common experience as the result of the abrupt loss of a husband.

First, was the misfortune itself, a state of grief, guilt, anger, insecurity and the initial shock of being alone.

Next, there was a convalescence, then, a transition period in which each woman attempted to cope with the situation insofar as children, residence, finances and social life were concerned.

Building toward a new future was the final phase.

Professionals, selected for their insight and experience, will explore the crisis of divorce and widowhood and present some practical solutions at the session in Oakland Center. Present will be well-known men and women in the fields of law, health, psychology, human relations and money management.

Conference speakers and panelists include: B. James Theodoroff, vice president and chief trust officer of the Detroit Bank and Trust Company; Dr. Ralph S. Green, psychiatrist; Dr. Harry A. Pearce, medical director of Crittenton General Hospital, Detroit; and Edyth Fern Melrose, Detroit television's "Lady of Charm."

Mr. Ralph Guiney, planning consultant, Services to the Aging, United Community Services of Detroit, and Mrs. Raymond F. Giffels, administrative assistant of Giffels & Rosetti, Inc. have a major role in the day's program.

Dr. James McHugh, vice president and psychiatric consultant, Foundation of the Mentally III Child, Southfield, and Dr.

Gertrude Montgomery, certified consulting psychologist and marriage counselor of Birmingham will discuss children and remarriage respectively.

Also available in panel discussion groups will be: William R. Beasley, attorney, director of Oakland County Legal Aid Society; Mrs. Barbara Gordon, librarian and biologist with Space Research Corp., Birmingham; and Mrs. Olive C. Harcke, Snyder, Kinney and Bennet, realtors.

Luncheon speaker will be Detroit Free Press feature writer Jeanne Duran.

Oakland staff members include: Mrs. Walter N. Jackson, director of conferences, who will outline purpose of the meeting; Mrs. Dorothy Hope, director of placement; Mrs. Eleanor Driver, orientation interviewer for Continuum Center; and Mrs. Edwin H. Olson, conference Coordinator.

LOOKS AND LEISURE

Mrs. Bonnie Miller will moderate "Your Looks and Your Leisure." Also participating will be: Mrs. W. Lloyd Kemp, Bloomfield Hills; Mrs. Cella Coffin Alderson, Rochester; Mrs. Dorothy Howard, Windsor, Ontario, Canada; and Mrs. Samuel J. Chafetz, Pontiac.

Rev. T. H. Michael Nesbitt, associate rector of Christ Church Cranbrook will discuss social life problems for the group.

The university's conference department is handling reservations and additional information regarding the conference.

Will Meet Sunday

The Zonta Club of Pontiac has scheduled its annual May breakfast Sunday at 9 a.m. in Devon Gables.

Mom Steals the Whole Show With Her New Fur Piece

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended a wedding at a small country church. At the beginning of the ceremony an usher came down the aisle with a mink stole over his arm, and with a grand gesture draped it over the pew where the bride's mother was to sit, after which he escorted the bride's mother to that pew.

ABBY

It looked to me like she wanted to be sure everybody knew she had a new mink stole. The family is not that well off, and can hardly afford a mink.

What is your opinion of this whole vulgar performance?

WAS THERE

DEAR WAS: Perhaps in an effort to be less conspicuous, the bride's mother sent her mink stole down the aisle with the usher rather than wear it herself.

Alas, poor woman, she could not win. It seems her stole stole the show anyway.

DEAR ABBY: My doctor told me some months ago that I should have a little surgery. It's nothing serious and need not be done immediately, but he advised me not to put it off too long.

I find myself postponing it for the silliest reason. Please don't laugh at me when I tell you why. I am afraid of what I might say while I'm under the anesthetic.

The doctor belongs to our club and we have many mutual friends, and it could get very embarrassing if I talked too much. Can you help me?

AFRAID OF THE TRUTH

DEAR ABBY: Go ahead and have the surgery and don't worry. Most doctors listen attentively to their patients' babbling during their conscious moments, but will happily tune them out when they're under.

Besides, the chances are he'll be much too occupied at the time to recall what he hears.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to invite a boy who is in the navy to our senior ball, but he may not be in town to go to it. If he's not in town for the ball, I don't want to be left sitting without a date.

But if he is in town, he's the one I want to go with. Is there any way to work this?

SAILOR'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: If you are really his "girl," you shouldn't be so determined to go to the ball, knowing your sailor won't be having one.

But if he's just another boy friend, and you know a boy who'd come to your rescue at the last minute, should the sailor shove off, ask him.

Speaker for the event will be Caroline Bird of New York City, author of "The Invisible Scar," a story of the great depression and its impact on life today.

The Gerhard Bruehls of St. Joseph Avenue announce the engagement of her daughter, Charlotte Lange, to Joseph L. Keller, son of the Martin J. Kellers of Menominee Road. Aug. 13 vows will be spoken.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Hancock of Meadow Loan Drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Brenda Sue, to Herman Jackson, son of Rev. Homer Jackson of Corbin, Ky. and the late Mrs. Jackson. May 28 vows are planned.

The Lawrence Hansens of Salt Lake City, Utah, announce the engagement of their daughter, Georgia, to Larry D. Vaughn, son of the Alfred C. Vaughns of Eason Street. He is a freshman at Oakland Community College. Aug. 27 vows are being planned.

Mrs. and Mrs. Verne C. Lease of Ormsby Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Candice M., to Lawrence M. Walter, son of the George W. Walters of Mapleleaf Drive. He is attending Oakland University. Fall vows will be taken.

Old Fashions Come to Life in Her Hobby

LAKEWOOD, N.J. (UPI) — "Retired" is the same thing as re-treading a tire to Mrs. Isabelle Bugman, 67.

She retired to Leisure Village here last year and turned to work bringing the famed Godey fashion prints of the 1800's back to life in three dimensional reconstructions in materials of clothing of that day.

Her shadow-boxed collector's items sell in such shops as Saks Fifth Avenue and Neiman-Marcus. The price: well over $100 a set.

The Godey dolls, as they are called, date back to Louis Antoine Godey, an American publisher of the 1800s, whose publications were the outstanding observers and reporters of the fashions of his time. The Godey illustrations today serve as the authority on fine dress for the period.

Polly's Pointers

It Reminds Them

DEAR POLLY — We have a keepsake as warm as toast. Pleasant dreams. —PEGGY.

Occasionally the other party will take the phone off the hook and forget to put it back. When this happens I turn up the radio so it is very loud and hold the transmitter very close to it. The other party usually investigates the source of the loud voice, and hangs up the receiver. — LUCILLE.

DEAR READERS — With your usual generosity you came to Sharlene's assistance. The three solutions given below were sent in by many others, too, and were definitely the three preferred methods used by our readers. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — If Sharlene cannot find clips in the store that will hold her comforter on the bed, she can make her own. Use two thin pieces of wood about nine inches by three inches, two 12-inch lengths of round hat elastic and two clip cloths.

Drill a hole about three-fourths inch back from one narrow end of each board. Thread a piece of elastic through the hole and then through the hole in the spring of the clothespin. Tie the ends of elastic together. These boards can be slipped under the mattress at any point along the sides of the bed and the comforter can be securely fastened with the clothespins. — B.W.

DEAR POLLY — I am happy to return a favor by answering Sharlene. I took two of our beautiful comforters and folded each one in half with the fold toward the middle of the bed. We slide in between the two layers and we each have our own sleeping bag. This works beautifully and

How to Marry the Boss

Starting a New Course for the Secretary

LONDON (AP) — A school for secretaries who aim to marry their bosses has just opened here.

"Each of my girls should marry her boss," said Leslie Clayton. "The boss will be much better for it, of course."

Miss Leslie, as she is known professionally, should know. She married her boss nine years ago.

DECORATIVE, DUTIFUL

The school will produce girls who are as decorative as they are efficient, the owner says. She said the students will be groomed by her, taught hair-styling by one of London's best known hairdressers, coached in makeup by an expert, and trained to cook by professional chefs.

If they don't know it already, they will be taught etiquette and such other social niceties as flower arranging, dancing, interior decorating and design.

They will then go on to learning about walking gracefully, antique furniture, art appreciation and public relations.

"The girl who finishes our course will be a knockout in any office," said Miss Leslie. She emphasized that her students also have to spend long hours learning dictation and typing.

Cost for each three-month term — $238. A bright girl can get through the school in six months.

British girls generally should have no difficulty landing jobs for years to come. Eric Terry, chairman of the Employment Agents Federation, said Britain has a "desperate shortage" of secretaries and stenographers. He blamed a rapidly expanding economy and the fact that girls are marrying younger.

KEEP WORKING

"If girls marry their bosses," said Miss Leslie, "that should help the problem. Of course they must keep working for their boss-husbands."

Today many Chinese still call themselves Men of T'ang. The Chintaoans in many American cities are called T'ang-jen Chieh which, literally translated, means Streets for Men of T'ang.

If the ancient time of the sage-kings was China's Golden Age in legend, the T'ang dynasty (618-906) was such in fact.

The barbarians were subdued and Chinese sovereignty was acknowledged from Korea to the gates of India.

In power and extent, in population and culture, no contemporary civilization would compare with the T'ang.

By 755 the population was more than 53 million. To the capital of Ch'angan came merchants and envoys from all over the known world. In culture, the greatest flowering of the T'ang was in poetry and painting.

In religion, Buddhism reached its apex, though the pessimistic teachings of the Gautama had been greatly modified by the basically optimistic Chinese.

BOUNCED BACK

In reply to the challenge of Buddhism, the native Taoism, which had degenerated into a cult of alchemists and magicians, enjoyed a "counterreformation."

But as Buddhism declined, Confucianism gained, particularly as the basis for the civil service examinations. Under later T'ang emperors, Buddhists were persecuted.

Other religions — Mohammedanism, Zoroastrianism, Nestorian Christianity — also entered, but none had Buddhism's success.

It was during the T'ang that the first book, a Buddhist text, was printed with wood blocks.

INVENTIVE GENIUS

This invention, together with such things as gunpowder and the compass, are familiar to the West, but the extent of Chinese inventive genius is not generally appreciated.

Among their innovations was a "south-pointing carriage," a form of compass that worked by a system of gears; and deep-drilling techniques for extracting natural gas and brine — both dating back to Han times. Another was the simple foot stirrup.

According to Prof. Joseph Needham, the authority on Chinese science, if gunpowder shattered European feudalism with its castles and knights in armor, it was the foot stirrup that had made it possible in the first place.

The relentless cycle of dynasty — proceeding from the vigor of youth to the corruption of old age — eventually overtook the T'ang. Following the last weak emperor came a half-century of contest between rival families — a period noted for the beginning of the custom of binding women's feet.

Finally, in 907, a new dynasty — the Sung — gained the "Mandate of Heaven."

Men of 'Bloody Bravo' Are as Near Hell as One Can Be in War

By TOM TIEDE
BIEN HOA, Viet Nam (NEA)
— The boy dropped his duffel bag in the middle of the tent and looked around at the dust.
He was a replacement... youngish, a peeling nose, and dripping skin.
"Uh," he mumbled, "this B Company?"
A man in the rear was washing his socks. Others slept. One played with a dog. Somebody was scratching out a letter.
"This is it, fella."
The boy felt hollow. His pants seemed too tight, his feet hurt, he was thirsty. He stood ill at ease and removed his cap.
"IT'S TOUGH"
"What kinda outfit is it?" he asked.
At that the room stirred. Several people chuckled. A guy blew his nose.

The man washing his socks said: "It's tough, boy, tough. Just wait'll you see us jump without parachutes."
"Huh?"
"This is Bravo Company, kid... welcome to hell."
"Gee," the lad gulped, "no kidding?"
No kidding. Hardly, anyway. B Company, 2/503rd Infantry is as near hell as one can come in this combat. Fifteen dozen men from 18 to 38 who are bed-fellows with death.
"BLOODY BRAVO"
They call it Bloody Bravo here, and the name fits like a grape skin.
For 11 months they have forfeited more wounded, faced more hostilities and survived more calamities than most comparable units in this war.
Last May a Bravo sergeant became the first casualty of the conflict for the 173rd Airborne Brigade. It was prophetic.
Since then the beleaguered men from B have spilled enough blood in the jungles of Viet Nam to beggar the imagination.
110 PURPLE HEARTS
They have more Purple Hearts than salt tablets... some 110 have gotten one, dozens have two, a few three and one, Jacob Rosado of New York, has four — one each for arm, leg, shoulder and chest wounds.
Such is the mortality rate, in fact, that of 138 men on the original company roster, only 66 are left... and, of them, only 26 have survived unmarked.
All six of the original officers have departed — either on carry-alls or otherwise. Nine sergeants have been killed or evacuated.
One platoon has gone through three lieutenants.
The company is under its fifth captain.
And no wonder. Bravo has taken part in a dozen major operations, scores of lesser firefights and thousands of patrols.
The First Platoon alone has been down to 10 survivors or less three times. In January they lost 28 in a single two-hour battle.
But, for all of it, Bravo's battered have seen at least as much heroics as horror.
Two have been submitted for, or received, Distinguished Service Crosses, four for Silver Stars, thirty-three for Bronze Stars and 14 for Army Commendation Medals.
One of them, a Negro who cared for men of every race, is both typical and unique. He forfeited his life for his fellows... on top of an exploding grenade.

Courses On Marriage at YMCA

Where will we live? How do we manage money? What about children? Will I make a good companion? These are but a few of the many questions young men and women who are planning to marry in a few months ask as the wedding day draws near.

Thinking men gravely concerned over the alarming divorce rate are trying to save marriages by giving guidance and instruction before the wedding.

The Rev. Jack H. C. Clark, executive director of Pontiac Area Council of Churches, and pastor of First Christian Church, announced this week that plans are completed for a course entitled "Education for Marriage."

"It is designed specifically for those anticipating marriage in the next few months. The need for this sort of program in our community is quite evident in the problems that confront modern day society especially marriage and the home," Pastor Clark said.

Pastors of the Pontiac area requested that this program be drawn up to supplement the premarital counseling done by ministers, rabbis and priests.

OPENS MAY 9

The course will begin May 9 with a presentation by Dr. Arthur Riewald, a well known psychologist who has led Pontiac Area pastors in marriage counseling classes over the past year. All sessions are held in the YMCA at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Riewald of Birmingham will speak of the inter-personal relationship and the dynamics of marriage.

On May 23, Dr. Everette Gustafson, local physician, will speak of the problems arising out of the physical relationship of marriage.

BANKER SPEAKS

Harold Keith, an assistant vice president at Pontiac State Bank, will speak on money matters and budgets.

The counsel of Circuit Court Judge Arthur E. Moore was sought as well as that of Dr. Riewald in preparing the program.

The course has several aspects that are comparable to the one offered by the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Churches. Sessions are $1 per person.

An extensive survey was made of programs of similar there will be a minimum of participation that are offered in communities throughout the United States in a class. Registration for couples may register for the course by calling the Pontiac Area Council of Churches.

The coordinating committee for the program consists of Dr. Emil Kontz of Bethany Baptist Church; Rev. Boyd Glover, Perry Street Church of Christ; Rev. C. George Widdfield, All Saints Episcopal; and Rev. Charles A. Colberg, Gloria Dei Lutheran Church.

Other leaders include Rabbi Ernst J. Conrad of Temple Beth Jacob and Rev. Mr. Clark.

Counselors include Rev. James L. Hayes of St. Michael's Catholic Church; Judge Moore and Dr. Riewald of Oakland County Marriage Consultation Service.

The 3Ds, a trio composed of Dick Davis, Denis Sorenson and Duane Hiatt, was formed when the group was attending Brigham Young University.

"Charge of the Light Brigade," "Jabberwocky" and "Casey at the Bat" are among the numbers given the 3D treatment. In addition to the popular music, the trio handles traditional blues and folk songs.

The trio's concert varies in instrumentation from bongos to kanger, and in appearance from Kansas farmers to California philosophers.

Appearances with Bob Hope, Jonathan Winters and Bob Hart have given the 3Ds national recognition. They have appeared with James Stewart, Art Linkletter and in TV's "Bonanza."

Ball Hits De Gaulle Ambitions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unpopularity of State George W. Ball says the "self-centered" policies of French President Charles de Gaulle may return Europe to a dangerous system of national rivalries that could once more lead to world war.

In a speech Friday night before the American Society of International Law, Ball accused De Gaulle of trying to make France a first-class power while keeping its European neighbors in an inferior role.

"This is a desire on the part of the French government to carve out a special place for itself which trifles a great reduction in the kind of cooperative effort which has been going forward in Europe and within the Atlantic world," Ball explained in a later television interview.

"I think this can only weaken the West and create problems where we may have, again, old national rivalries reasserting themselves and a beginning of the kind of troubles that we have known so often and so disastrously in the past," he said.

NATO PURPOSE

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization was created after World War II, the undersecretary said, in an effort "to remove the underlying causes" that had created so many of the past disasters.

In his speech before the society, Ball also:

— Warned that France's pull-out from the NATO defense system would weaken the common shield against the Soviets and thus delay chances for settling East-West problems like German reunification and disarmament.

— Portrayed European unity as the right road to true European independence, big power status and equality with the United States.

— Said NATO is in crisis over De Gaulle's announced intent to pull French forces out of NATO's integrated military structure by July 1 and oust NATO units from French soil within a year.

Ball said this and other De Gaulle moves are aimed at separating France from the other Atlantic countries and giving her "a special position of primacy in Western Europe." Paris is aiming for a first-class power position from which the deal "to its own advantage" with the Soviet Union and the United States, he said.

But because of France's middle-ranking size of 50 million population and limited resources, Ball said, "No matter how adroit (its) diplomacy may be, it cannot achieve first power status."

The meeting will be held at Pierce Junior High School, according to Elmer Johnson, club president.

Election Film Listed for Waterford GOP

A commentary film on election strategy, narrated by Ronald Reagan, Republican candidate for governor of California, will be featured at the 8 p.m. Tuesday meeting of the Waterford Township Republican Club.

The meeting will be held at Pierce Junior High School, according to Elmer Johnson, club president.

Romney Asks Help in Youth Talent Hunt

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney asked youth leaders, citizens, schools and organizations to help find outstanding Michigan youth to nominate for national bravery and humanitarian service awards.

Awards for 1965 acts will go to persons under 19 who exhibited exceptional courage in an effort to save a life or who achieved outstanding or unusual recognition for character and service.

Awards are provided under a 1959 congressional act. Michigan youths won both honors in 1960. The Michigan Youth Commission, Ann Arbor, is screening nominations. Deadline for submission of names is July 1.

Soapy Replies on Red China's U.N. Role

By United Press International
The question of Red China's admission to the United Nations popped up again yesterday in the Democratic primary campaign for U. S. Senate.

Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, in a speech at Lansing, said Red China must be brought into the "mainstream" of world politics, but not on her terms alone.

Williams made the statement in apparent reply to his opponent's remarks on the subject.

Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh had said Red China should be admitted to the U.N. Williams quoted remarks he made six years ago that "a peace policy requires a China policy."

2-CHINA POLICY

He said that today "I believe in a two-China policy which includes reciprocal recognition of Red China, Nationalist China and the Free World."

Cavanagh was in Amsterdam, Holland, leading a trade and travel mission of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

In a statement issued through his Detroit office, he attacked proposals in Congress to cut back on the community action portion of the War on Poverty. He said he was "shocked" at reports that House Democrats on the Education and Labor Committee are prepared to shift funds within the poverty program away from the urban problems sections.

"the spiritual revolution"

a public address by Erwin D. Canham
editor in chief of
The Christian Science Monitor

A searching look at the spiritual concepts and forces that are reshaping our world... an hour of deep probing with a journalist-statesman who is one of the world's respected thinkers... explores these questions:

- What's behind the explosive breakthroughs taking place in mankind's material knowledge?... What is their effect on the life and purpose of the individual?
- Are science and religion really in conflict?... Can the scientific approach help to affirm the existence and deeper meaning of God?

ABOUT MR. CANHAM... Rhodes Scholar, former president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and vice president for religious leaders of the American Safety Council.

He has served in the American delegation to the United Nations Assembly and was vice chairman of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations Conference on Freedom of Information at Geneva.

Admission free and open to the public.

Ruling Provides Southern Runners With Relay Mark

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—A year in the Penn Relays. The controversial ruling among the word was the Wildcats were dead.

That was far from a pack of dead Wildcats scampering around Franklin Field Friday on the first of the two-day Penn Relays—72nd edition.

Coach Jim (Jumbo) Elliott's rebuilt Villanova squad upset favored Georgetown in the double, 22-7 event, only relay title settled on the opening program.

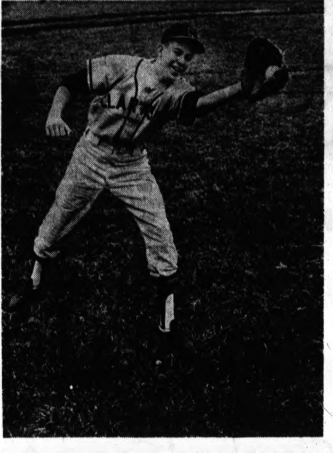

Villanova also qualified for the 220 and 440 yard relays. The Wildcats are favorites in the two and four mile relays today.

Falcons, Avon Score Victories in Prep Track

Avondale and Rochester squeezed out victories in track action yesterday.

John Early and Laurey Kessel won two events each as Rochester nipped Clawson, 57-52; and Ken Hebel won both hurdle races as Avondale (51) trimmed Utica (47) and Romeo (36).

CLARKSON THREAT — Infielder Randy Nicolson has played a key role in Clarkson's early bid as a Wayne-Oakland League baseball race contender.

Walled Lake Triumphs

Skippers Win, 5-4

A two-out single by Paul Thomas in the seventh inning chased Gary Western across with the winning run as Waterford (5-0-1) stayed unbeaten with a 5-4 triumph over Farmington.

The victory was Waterford's first in Inter-Lakes League play and left the club in a tie with Pontiac Northern for the lead.

In another game involving an I-L team, Terry Lehman started a pair of hits and teammate John Burgess knuckled in a couple of runs as Walled Lake downed league newcomer Livonia Stevenson, 6-1.

In Wayne-Oakland League action, Dan Fife fanned 11 batters to run his four-game strikeout total to 54 in pitching Clarkson (4-2) to an 8-4 win over Bloomfield Hills, (4-3) and West Bloomfield (2-4) handed Holly (0-7) its sixth league loss, 4-3.

File gave up only two hits, and he helped himself at the plate by clouting a triple and single and batting in three runs. Clarence Vick picked up two RBIs for West Bloomfield.

OLSM LOSSES

In parochial league games, Royal Oak St. Mary romped to a 10-0 victory over Livonia Stevenson.

Wayne-Oakland League action, Dan Fife fanned 11 batters to run his four-game strikeout total to 54 in pitching Clarkson (4-2) to an 8-4 win over Bloomfield Hills, (4-3) and West Bloomfield (2-4) handed Holly (0-7) its sixth league loss, 4-3.

BOILING

The top prize in the West Side Lanes Classic Bowling League will be at stake Monday night when Gorman Golf Products and the host establishment's team collide in the position round.

The final night pairings will pit the only two teams in the running for the top spot, although numerous other places in the standings will also be on the line.

A big 242-248-223-713 by Joe Morys featured this week's action, and Les Penell's 270 took the Classic's high game honors.

Dave Szabo (203) and Steve Sheiko (211) paced the Pontiac Cherokees to high team game and series (768-2079) in last Sunday's Teen Stars Classic at Thunderbolt Lanes.

The Perry Drug team placed third that same afternoon in the state Blind Bowlers Tournament at Saginaw. Ada Dobson, Irene Palko, Dick Beadle and Ruhl Rohr were the team members.

Pontiac's Marge Stevens of the Huron Bowl No. 2 team was 56 pins above average to lead all entries at the state competition.

Several league champions have been added to the list of those previously reported. At Airway Lanes, Net's Well Drillers took the honors in the Wednesday Knights of Columbus circuit, and Pontiac File won the Monday Four Towns Methodist Church Mixed League.

The Lakewood Lanes title winners include Star Hickey Ford in the Wednesday Night Women's League; Powell Construction in the Thursday Class A loop; and the Slocum Pines on Sunday night's Mixed Pinspilers.

Victories in seven events carried Orchard Lake St. Mary to a triangular track meet victory Friday at Country Day School in Birmingham.

The Eagles won both relays and had five different individual winners while compiling 56 points to 45 for host Country Day and 36 for Whitmore Lake. Country Day won three events, two of which were captured by sprinter John Means.

Deny Rumors Lynda to Wed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House—and Lynda Bird Johnson—say there is nothing to published reports that Lynda and actor George Hamilton are planning a pre-Christmas marriage.

But the betting is that it was the timing, not the prospect of marriage itself, that was being denied.

"That's ridiculous," Lynda said, when asked by a Dallas morning news reporter of a report by a Houston Chronicle columnist that the two friends she and Hamilton planned to wed at the White House.

"I didn't tell anybody anything," she added.

A similar story, built on a gold "friendship" ring from Hamilton that Lynda constantly wears, burst into print with banner headlines in the New York Daily News.

When asked of this story, a White House spokesman issued a simple denial.

Lynda, a 22-year-old University of Texas senior, was in Austin, Tex., last night being initiated into Phi Alpha Theta, a national honorary fraternity.

FRIENDS SAY LOVE
But nearly all of her weekends have been spent with the handsome, black-haired movie star since their romance began last fall. And her friends do say that she is in love with Hamilton.

The Daily News story said the couple planned to be married before the end of this year in a White House ceremony.

American Jets Bag 3 MIGs in Two Days

Missiles Down Two and Third Crashes in
N. Viet Air Action

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A U.S. Air Force jet shot down a Communist MIG17 over North Viet Nam today, bringing to three the number of enemy jets downed in the past two days.

A U.S. spokesman said an F4C Phantom shot the MIG out of the sky with an air-to-air Sidewinder missile when four of the Red jets attacked a flight of Phantoms with cannon fire 100 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The plane's crew consisted of Capt. Lawrence H. Goldberg, 33, of Duluth, Minn., and 1st Lt. Gerald D. Hardgrave, 28, of Jackson, Tenn., the spokesman said.

Another F4C Phantom shot down a MIG with a missile yesterday and a second MIG crashed while trying to escape during the same encounter.

U.S. Air Force pilots have downed five MIG17s since last Saturday and one late model MIG21, all in dogfights north of Hanoi and several within 25 miles of the Communist Chinese border.

U.S. Defense Department officials have identified the planes as North Vietnamese flown by North Vietnamese pilots.

ELEVEN PLANES

The kills in the last two days brought the over-all total of Communist planes downed in the Vietnam war to 11. The count started last June 17.

Three U.S. planes have been shot down in aerial combat.

A Phantom flown by Capt. William D. Dowell, 34, of Tampa, Fla., and 1st Lt. Halbert E. Rossard, 25, of Oklahoma City, Okla., brought one down with a missile about 55 miles north of Hanoi.

Capt. Larry R. Keith, 30, of Peoria, Ill., commander of the Phantom flight, and his crewman, 1st Lt. Robert A. Bleakley, 26, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, broke away from the formation and chased another of the Communist planes.

Keith fired a Sidewinder which missed but the American pilot maneuvered his Phantom behind the MIG and forced it into a sharp dive.

The MIG "dived to the ground and burst into a fireball, Keith reported.

Keith and Bleakley are credited with a kill, Air Force officials said.

Two U.S. Air Force planes were shot down by Communist ground fire yesterday.

An F105 Thunderchief was brought down 50 miles north of Hanoi and a Navy F4 Crusader went down 25 miles east of Hanoi, the spokesman said.

ROUTINE TEST

He said the defect was discovered during routine testing in the factory but there were a very few cases in which lugs snapped while the cars were in the hands of individual owners.

There were no reports of any wheels coming off," he said.

A Cadillac division spokesman said the defective hood latches were discovered early in the 1964 model year.

King's Goal: Vote Down Dixie Sheriff

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has called on Negroes to "nonviolently retire, forever and evermore" Sheriff James G. Clark, who became a symbol of resistance in the Selma civil rights drive.

King, stumping the state to get out the Negro vote for next Tuesday's Democratic primary, urged a solid vote against Clark who is seeking renomination.

King referred to civil rights demonstrators and said, "We owe it to these people" to defeat Clark.

"Selma wrote the voting rights act," King said last night. "Now we have got to help ourselves."

King moves today into the final leg of his tour.

NEGRO VOTERS

He made his 11th stop in Selma, headquarters for his major 1966 drive that led to the voting rights law and swelled the number of Negro voters in Alabama to 230,000, or about 20 per cent of the electorate.

Again King urged a massive bloc vote in the primary. "Stick together, work together and vote together," he told the Negroes at rallies in the rural area and the cities.

Another speaker, the Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth of Cincinnati, said the objective is to defeat Clark and that Wilson Baker, former Selma public safety director, is the less objectionable of the two.

There is no Negro running for sheriff in Dallas County.

ENDORSEMENT

In six other counties, King endorsed the Negro candidate for sheriff.

Hundreds of Negroes packed into a frame church at Lisman were told they had no need to fear reprisal for the way they voted.

King said the ballot is secret and white employers would not know how Negroes voted.

"You can tell me you voted for Mr. Wallace when you voted for Mr. Flowers" he said. That was King's only mention of a candidate's name in the governor's race.

LITTLE DOUBT

King aides and Negroes attending the rally left little doubt that they will try to deliver the Negro vote to Atty. Gen. Richmond M. Flowers, the only candidate who has openly sought this bloc.

Flowers said last night in Chicago he will defeat Gov. George Wallace's wife, Lurleen, in the race for governor.

Students 'Victorious' No Deadline -- Principal Is Ousted on Start of Quiz

DETROIT (AP)—Students who boycotted Detroit's Northern High School halted today the removal of its principal as "a battle that we won."

Principal Arthur T. Carly was pulled off his job yesterday by Schools Supt. Samuel M. Brownell.

"It was a battle that we won," said Charles Colding, 17, a senior who helped lead hundreds of youngsters out of classes in a four-day protest.

"It was a victory for education in the inner city," Colding said.

The predominantly Negro school has an enrollment of 2,300.

Brownell assigned Carly, 64, to the Detroit school system's central office where, the superintendent said, Carly will work on northern problems.

Most Northern students returned to classes Tuesday after demonstrating for four days to protest what they said was substandard education at the school. Ouster of Carly was their most frequent demand during the rebellion.

Increasing cloudiness and a little warmer is Monday's forecast.

A mild 43 was the low in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. At 1 p.m., a high of 55 was recorded.

NEW LEADER

Brownell said he was putting Asst. Principal George W. Donaldson in charge at Northern.

The superintendent said the issue of academic standards for schools of predominantly Negro enrollment was threatening to "tear apart our city."

He removed Carly, Brownell said, "to prevent that very real possibility from happening and in order that schooling for all pupils in the public school system may continue without further confusion."

Authorities said one of the victims, Pearl Sullivan, was killed when she jumped out a third-floor window in an attempt to escape her blazing apartment.

The others, identified as William Sargent, Robert McNeil and Frank P. Bleiks, 58, died from burns, police said.

7 More Killed as Property Damage Rises

College Campus Hit
by Tornado; Rains
Increase the Flooding

By the Associated Press
Waves of giant thunderstorms smashed across North Texas again yesterday, taking seven more lives and adding to the millions of dollars in property damage.

Texans looked skyward today for some sign of relief but saw only dark gray clouds. One Dallas suburban official whose city has been especially hard hit summed up the despair of most: "This water has no place to go."

A tornado dipped onto the campus of a small college northeast of Fort Worth; a boy drowned in a submerged car; a pilot perished when his plane clipped a guy wire of a cloud-obscured television tower, and five persons were killed on rain-swept highways.

Twelve persons died in the Dallas-Fort Worth area during the two days of violent storms. Eight of the victims drowned.

In Washington, the Small Business Administration declared Dallas County and adjacent counties disaster areas.

TORNADO HITS
The tornado hit Fort Worth Christian College with an enrollment of about 1,500.

President Curtis Ramey, who was in the administration building when the wind ripped the roof from over his head, said at least three buildings were damaged. One person was injured.

Rain, hail and wind lashed downtown Dallas as thousands of persons were leaving offices and stores for the day.

Michael Deuly, 6, was riding in a car with his mother, Claudia Burkes, and his two sisters when the auto suddenly plunged into Turtle Creek on the north edge of downtown Dallas.

Three men removed the mother and two girls but could not get the boy.

Rezoning Bid Action Is Due

Tops Agenda Facing
Waterford Board

The Waterford Township Board is slated to take action Monday night on a rezoning request to change from single-family residential (R-1A) to multiple dwelling residential (R-2) property on Malcolm Drive, north of Cooley Lake Road.

In Acree Heights Subdivision, the property would be used for construction of 88 apartment units. The applicant is Edwin L. Adler.

The township planning commission and county coordinating planning and zoning committee previously recommended that the zoning change be approved, both by unanimous vote.

A request by Director of Inspection E. R. Lawson for additional personnel and equipment in the building department also will be considered by the board.

Lawson proposes hiring three full-time inspectors.

SALARY RAISES
The board also will weigh a request of Planning Director Vern Wiggins for salary increases for himself and his assistant, Curtis Rossow.

Wiggins is currently paid $8,549 a year, while Rossow's annual pay is $6,696.

Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatro has planned to attend Monday's meeting to discuss the June 13 school election.

The coed says she has talked to six of the men who replied and is still considering several of the other offers. In the meantime she remains single.

10 Railroads Sue Union; Allege Walkout Damages

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten railroads have sued the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers for damages they allege were caused by the union's four-day strike that started March 31. The railroads, which filed suit Friday in U.S. District Court here, also asked the court to assess contempt of court fines of $50,000 against the union and $5,000 against its president, H. E. Gilbert.

The carriers said they had not yet determined the total amount of damages. They originally estimated the strike cost them $5 million daily and that the striking firemen lost $320,000 a day in wages.

The railroads are the Pennsylvania, Boston & Maine, Grand Trunk Western, Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific, Illinois Central, Central of Georgia, Seaboard Air Line, Spokane International and the Texas & Pacific.

NO COMMENT
In Chicago Friday, Gilbert refused to comment on the matter until he had seen a copy of the suit.

But he did say employee-employer relations now are at their lowest point since he became affiliated with the union in 1925, adding that "what they are

Highland Park Talks Resume

Judge Prods Efforts in Teachers' Strike

HIGHLAND PARK (AP) — Negotiations in the 2-day-old strike by the Highland Park Federation of Teachers were to resume today at the urging of former Michigan Gov. John B. Swainson.

Swainson, now a Wayne County Circuit Judge, presided at his request, leaders of the union agreed to resume talks with representatives of the suburban Detroit school board at Michigan Labor Mediation Board offices in Detroit.

The school board asked for an injunction to halt the strike under a state law that forbids strikes by public employees. It also asked for punitive damages.

Swainson, governor of Michigan from 1960 to 1962, said he would resume the hearing Monday morning if both sides fail to reach agreement in weekend bargaining sessions.

EFFORTS FAILED

The teacher's union struck the school system, which has 10,000 students in 10 schools and a junior college, Thursday after a 20-hour negotiating session failed to produce a new contract.

The teachers sought a $500 annual raise plus fringe benefits. The school board, claiming a lack of funds, offered $375.

The system has 467 teachers, of which 384 teach at the elementary and secondary schools and 83 teach at the college.

Personnel Director Paul Armstrong said 179 failed to show up for classes Friday.

ON HALF DAYS

Classes at Highland Park High School were on half days Thursday and Friday. The other schools and the college maintained regular schedules with the help of some 200 nonstriking Highland Park Education Association teachers, "substitutes" and administrative personnel.

Norman Boze, president of the local, termed Swainson's request for new negotiations an "order," but told teachers at a union meeting to maintain pickets at the ready.

A union spokesman said the teachers would stand up again if no settlement is reached.

Optimists to Observe Bike Week

The Optimist Club of Lake-Lake-Waterford will join other Optimist organizations throughout the week in sponsoring Bicycle Safety Week Monday through Saturday.

The program is designed to urge youths and adults to ride and drive safely for the protection of children.

A highlight of the week will be formation of a bicycle club for youths and adults by Community Activities, Inc., 5640 Williams Lake, Waterford Township.

The program will consist of planned rides and a continued effort to make safe bicycle trails and "bikeways" available to enthusiasts.

As the program gets under way, bicycle trail signs will be erected — to designate the way and to advise motorists that cyclists are in the area and to drive with caution.

POLICE PROGRAM
In addition, the Waterford Township Police Department will launch its annual bicycle licensing program.

Further information can be obtained by contacting Eugene Weddell, CAT executive director.

JOHN STENNIS

Senator: Joint Chiefs Favor Air Step-up

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., said today it is an open secret that the Joint Chiefs of Staff favor intensifying U.S. air strikes against North Viet Nam.

In a speech for the Mississippi Broadcasters Association, the senator — who heads the Senate Armed Services prewarfare subcommittee — called anew for an all-out assault on oil, power and arms plants in the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial area of North Viet Nam.

Stennis said the air war "has not achieved and, under current and restrictive ground rules, will not achieve its objective of substantially halting or curtailing the flow of men, materials and supplies from North to South Viet Nam."

"We should close the ports of North Viet Nam by whatever method our military leaders deem to be appropriate," he said. "We should destroy the petroleum facilities in the Hanoi-Haiphong complex. We should also attack power producing facilities and plants producing military equipment and supplies and other tools of war."

SHORTEN WAR

"These things are necessary to protect our fighting men, to shorten the war, and to minimize the loss of valuable American lives. The majority of the high ranking military leaders with whom I have talked agree with me on this," he said.

The fire started at 9:30 a.m. and was put out about two hours later by the Romeo and Washington fire departments.

Romeo Fire Chief Walter Werth said occupants of the house, a mother and her two children, were not hurt.

Use New Road to Beat Rains

Thousands of Trucks Are in Operation

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist North Viet Nam, seeking to rush equipment and supplies south before the monsoon season sets in, has built a 200-mile road network in the Laos Panhandle.

An estimated 1,500 to 3,000 trucks are operating there, it was learned today, in an effort to get the tons of goods the Communists need into South Viet Nam before the rains come.

The road network includes an estimated 35 miles that the Communists have sought to camouflage by building bamboo trellises and lacing them with branches to hide the roads from prowling U.S. aircraft.

It was learned that this buildup is part of a decision by Hanoi to increase the number of main-force units in South Viet Nam. The military objective of North Viet Nam is to push tons of materiel south during the dry season and continue the infiltration of men by foot after the rains begin in mid-May.

MAIN ROUTE

The main motor route for infiltration from North Viet Nam through Laos is the Mu Gia Pass area along the Laos border. The secondary route is the Na Pa Pass just to the north of Mu Gia.

The Mu Gia Pass, 65 miles south of the North Vietnamese city of Vinh, has been the site of repeated attacks by American war planes.

U.S. Air Force B52 bombers hit the pass last April 12 and American spokesmen said it was completely closed. A few days later, however, it was reported that thousands of workers had reopened the pass, which carries Highway 15 through the mountains to the so-called Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos.

It is in this region, just across the border in Laos, that the buildup of a road network has been going on since the last monsoon season.

City Teen Finds $530; Turns It In

"This is what we would expect him to do." That was the modest comment of a Pontiac mother today after her 13-year-old son turned in to police a wallet he found containing $530 in cash.

Melvin Stoenwall Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stoenwall of 663 Lenox, saw money being scattered by the wind near Joelyn and Markie yesterday.

The youth scooped together the loose bills, found the wallet a short distance away, and with his mother brought it to police.

Police said identification in the billfold indicated it belonged to a Walter T. Pace of Detroit.

The two robbers went to the trailer home of Thomas C. Dutton, 22, an employee of Park and Shop No. 2, about 12:45 a.m. They forced Dutton and his wife, Katherine, 21, to drive to the home of Thomas F. Cashion, 25, the store's assistant manager.

They bound the Duttons and Mrs. Cashion and forced Cashion to accompany them to the closed store, about eight miles away. But on arrival at the store the gunmen found three adult newspaper carriers outside awaiting their papers.

ENTERED STORE

The robbers forced Cashion and the deliveriesmen, identified as W. M. James Jr., Query Galloway, both of Charlotte, and J. C. Penninger of Harrisburg, into the store.

Dutton was forced to open the store safe, and about $10,000 in cash, plus $8,000 in checks, was taken.

Cashion and the three newspaper carriers were then forced to drive back to the Cashion home, where they were tied up.

The gunmen then took the Duttons and Mrs. Cashion to the Dutton home and left them tied up.

THE FIRST ALARM

The first alarm was turned on by Cashion, who squirmed out of his bonds at 3:23 a.m. The robbers were described as being in their late 20s.

7 Abducted During Holdup

$18,000 Taken From Bank in N. Carolina

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Two gunmen took an estimated total of $18,000 from a Charlotte supermarket safe early today after having abducted the assistant manager and six other persons, including three newspaper carriers.

Charlotte police, who were piecing together the details of the bizarre robbery, gave this account:

The two robbers went to the trailer home of Thomas C. Dutton, 22, an employee of Park and Shop No. 2, about 12:45 a.m. They forced Dutton and his wife, Katherine, 21, to drive to the home of Thomas F. Cashion, 25, the store's assistant manager.

False ID Sale Worth 45 Days

St. Clair Shores Teen
Is Arrested at EMU

YPSILANTI (AP) — An Eastern Michigan University sophomore was sentenced to 45 days in jail Friday when he pleaded guilty to furnishing false identification to minors for the purchase of intoxicants.

He is 19-year-old William L. Farrell of St. Clair Shores, and Municipal Judge Edward Deake sent him to jail.

Sheriff's Detective Chester Wilson said Farrell had more than 100 false pieces of identification when arrested Friday on the university campus.

Wilson said Farrell manufactured false identification material with a copying machine and sold it for $5 per piece. He added law enforcement agents of four southeastern counties had been seeking the source of a flood of bogus identification papers.

Wilson said ages had been falsified on such material as Michigan and Ohio driver's licenses, Selective Service cards, and identification cards of Eastern Michigan University, Central Michigan University and Schoolcraft College.

Report Due on 7-County Study Plan

A progress report on the $3.6-million transportation and land use study being conducted in the state's seven southeastern counties is scheduled Monday in Detroit.

Called TALUS, the study is a special project of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission.

It seeks to gather data, projecting 1980 needs, to develop a coordinated plan for transportation and general land use patterns for Oakland, Washtenaw, St. Clair and Livingston counties.

R. J. Alexander, director of the Oakland County Department of Public Works and chairman of the regional planning commission, will be one of the principals in the report program.

All 82 state legislators from the metropolitan area have been invited to the 9 a.m. session at the Veterans Memorial Building.

The TALUS study began last July and will continue through 1968.

Dismiss Suits for $400,000

Three lawsuits asking damages totaling $400,000 from the Detroit Edison Co. for injuries sustained by three construction workers were dismissed yesterday by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziern.

The damages were sought by James R. Recknagel, Robert C. France and George W. Boothby, employees of the S. D. Solomon Sons construction firm after they were injured on the job July 7, 1961, in Pontiac Township.

The men were severely burned when electricity from a power line traveled down the boom of a crane and into a section of drain pipe they were installing for the I-75 expressway at Lake Angelus and Joslyn.

In ruling that there was no cause for action, Ziern said that Edison wasn't negligent because it could not reasonably foresee this type of accident.

Auto Engineers Defend Cars, Blame Poor Drivers

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill. (AP) — "Cars are indeed 'unsafe at any speed,'" four auto industry safety engineers said Friday, but it's the driver, not the design, that's the problem.

The engineers, representing General Motors, Firestone, Chrysler and American Motors, contended that cars are safer now than they have been, that they will become even safer, but that all improvements will be lost if drivers refuse to take advantage of them.

"There is no such thing as a safe car—one in which no one will be injured," a Chrysler Corp. engineer said, setting the tone of a session which the safety experts defended their product and fired back at recent criticism, including Ralph

Nader's book, "Unsafe At Any Speed."

The comments were made in speeches before the Illinois Editors' Traffic Safety Seminar.

The auto industry is concerned that 49,000 persons were killed in auto accidents last year, he said, but added that the total must be considered in context with the vastly increased amount of auto travel.

"We now have 100 million drivers," he said, "and they drive a total of 900 billion miles each year. Our fatality rate is 5.6 deaths for each 100 million miles. This means the average driver would have to drive 1,800 years before he would be killed in an accident."

Another speaker criticized the man behind the wheel.

"About half of all auto fatalities are attributed to drunk drivers or drunk pedestrians," said Roy Haessler, chief engineer for auto safety of Chrysler.

"There's impressive evidence such people have histories of alcoholism," he said. "We don't seem to have enough gumption to take alcoholics off the road."

He urged drivers to wear their seat belts and to order their new cars with shoulder straps. "There is not going to be much we can do to make cars safer for drunks," Haessler said. "We are going to make cars safer for you and me."

American troops engaged in the war with Spain totaled exactly 280,565 and of these 1,794 were killed in action or died of their wounds.

COMPLEX PROBLEM

"Automotive safety is far a more complex than self-appointed critics and do-gooders would have you believe," said H. H. Nagler, safety engineer for American Motors.

Old Fashions Come to Life in Her Hobby

LAKEWOOD, N.J. (UPI) — "Retired" is the same thing as re-reading a tire to Mrs. Isabelle Bugman, 67.

She retired to Leisure Village here last year and turned to work bringing the famed Godey fashion prints of the 1800's back to life in three-dimensional reconstructions in materials of clothing of that day.

Her shadow-boxed collector's items sell in such shops as Saks Fifth Avenue and Neiman-Marcus. The price: well over $100 a set. The Godey dolls, as they are called, date back to Louis Antoine Godey, an American publisher of the 1800s, whose publications were the outstanding observers and reporters of the fashions of his time. The Godey illustrations today serve as the authority on fine dress for the period.

DEAR POLLY — If Sharleen cannot find clips in the store that will hold her comfortably on the bed, she can make her own. Use two thin pieces of wood about nine inches by three inches, two 1/2-inch lengths of round hat elastic and two clip clothespins. —B.W.

Drill a hole about three-fourths inch back from one narrow end of each board. Thread a piece of elastic through the hole and then through the hole in the spring of the clothespin. How to Marry the Boss

Starting a New Course for the Secretary

LONDON (AP) — A school for secretaries who aim to marry their bosses has just opened here.

"Each of 'my girls should marry her boss," said Leslie Clayton. "The boss will be much better for it, of course."

Miss Leslie, as she is known professionally, should know. She married her boss nine years ago.

DECORATIVE, DUTIFUL

The school will provide girls who are as decorative as they are efficient, the owner says.

She said the students will be groomed by her, taught hair-styling by one of London's best known hairdressers, coached in makeup by an expert, and trained to cook by professional chefs.

If they don't know it already, they will be taught etiquette and other social niceties as flower arranging, dancing, interior decorating and design.

They will then go on to learning about walking gracefully, antique furniture, art appreciation and public relations.

"The girl who finishes our course will be a knockout in any office," said Miss Leslie. She emphasized that her students will also have to spend long hours learning dictation and typing.

Cost for each three-month term — $238. A bright girl can get through the school in six months.

British girls generally should have no difficulty landing jobs for years to come. Eric Terry, chairman of the Employment Agents Federation, said Britain has a "desperate shortage" of secretaries and stenographers. He blamed a rapidly expanding economy and the fact that girls are marrying younger.

KEEP WORKING

"If girls marry their bosses," said Miss Leslie, "that should help the problem. Of course they must keep working for their boss-husbands."

Scouts Host Open House

The Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council is holding open house today from noon to 7:00 p.m. in the new headquarters on South Telegraph Road.

Dr. Donald O. Tatroe, superintendent of Waterford Township Schools was guest speaker Friday at a brunch in Holiday Inn preceding the dedication conducted by Mayor William H. Taylor and Mrs. Evelyn Tripp, Girl Scout council president.

Plaques honoring them for service to Girl Scouting were presented to Mrs. Leonard Methner, Mrs. John McNeely, Mrs. Ivan Wilcox and Mrs. Carmel Odell.

Julia Pockson, 17, is a student in the new London secretarial school for girls who aim to marry their bosses. Courses in grooming, etiquette, cooking and the social niceties are designed to move the boss to propose, while courses in dictation and typing enable the girl to hold the job until he does.

FACTS ABOUT PHARMACY
by HOWARD L. DELL
Your Neighborhood Pharmacist is Ten Minutes Worth a Lifetime!
is 10 minutes worth a lifetime? Of course, but are you not all but dead for the four minutes while your family pharmacist compounds and dispenses your prescription? That 10 minutes could be worth a lifetime... after 10 minutes, your pharmacist checks and rechecks to be certain the medication prescribed is actually what the physician intends for you to have and that the medication dispensed is accurate in every detail. Check... check... and recheck.
