

GOVERNOR ROMNEY

Romney 'Austerity Budget Detailed

ONE COLOR

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney today made public what he termed his "austerity budget" — a proposed cutback in state spending if the Legislature fails to approve fiscal reform.

The proposed austerity budget would cut $185 million from the governor's initial $1 billion, $153 million budget proposal.

The standby budget represents a 16 per cent cutback from Romney's original spending proposals.

Largest cuts would be taken from the money appropriated for education, mental health, state employment and the building programs for colleges and universities.

"I have announced this austerity budget today to emphasize what I have said many times," Romney declared. "We must live within our income."

Romney said his original budget provided for little more than essential state services at present levels and presumed tax reform action before the new fiscal year.

ROMNEY CONFIDENT

"I am confident that such action is forthcoming," Romney added, "and it remains my primary objective."

Under the state constitution, Romney reminded, spending in any given year cannot exceed available revenue. He estimated available revenues for the next year, lacking tax reform, at about $968 million.

Romney said this makes the budget slash necessary.

"We do not want this," Romney said.

"We do not believe such a cut would meet our responsibilities to provide sound public services for the people of Michigan."

"But we are prepared to do what may be necessary to meet our obligations to preserve Michigan's fiscal integrity and national reputation."

Romney said approximately 47 per cent of the proposed budget cut would be in the field of education.

Schoolmen, in particular, were unhappy with Romney's original budget proposals for school spending, claiming much more was needed.

Johnson, 18 Latin Leaders Sign a Pledge for Progress; Ecuador Refuses to Join

PUNTE DEL ESTE, URUGUAY (AP) — President Johnson and the chiefs of 18 Latin American nations signed today a "declaration of the Presidents of America" to speed economic progress, but Ecuador broke the united front and refused to sign.

The declaration of the inter-American summit conference pledges the nations long-term common action to assure the hemisphere's economic growth. In addition to Ecuador, which had demanded more U.S. aid, Bolivia did not attend the conference.

Even so, Johnson, in turning home-ward, could feel that he had helped to bring about a show of unity.

He was relaxed and smiling as he arrived at the final session of the 24-day meeting. He remarked that the summit had "turned out better than we really expected." He called it "an extremely valuable" conference.

The 19 nations agreed to a 10,000-word declaration and action program whose outstanding pledge is to create a common market in Latin America by 1965.

TRIED UP TO LAST

Johnson tried up to the last to persuade Ecuador to change its mind.

President Otto Arosemena of Ecuador met with Johnson yesterday and they parted amicably.

"I do not consider that the document contains anything damaging to my people, but I consider it incomplete," Arosemena told the other chiefs of state.

The 42-year-old Ecuadorian president evidently feels the Alliance for Progress is not the answer to Latin American problems and that the United States should treat the area as it did western Europe after World War II, when billions were pumped into the European economy.

STARES AT TABLE

Most listened impassively as he spoke. Johnson, wearing earphones to follow the English translation, stared fixedly at the table.

Argentina's President Juan Carlos Ongania, first to sign in alphabetical order, glowered at Arosemena as did Uruguay's President Oscar D. Gestido, who, as host, declared the final meeting ended shortly before 11 a.m.

Shortly before, he had rung the bell to bring the meeting to order but Johnson appeared not to have heard and kept a round of chatty handshaking he had begun from the moment he entered the conference room a half-hour before.

Preparing to leave, Johnson issued a statement saying "Economic and social development is a task not for sprinters but for long distance runners."

Speck's Defense Ends; Case Goes to Jury Saturday

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The defense has ended its surprisingly brief testimony in the Richard Speck murder trial, and the case of the murdered eight nurses will go to the jury tomorrow.

Public defender Gerald Getty called only 11 witnesses to rebut the state's contention that Speck, 26, strangled and stabbed the young women last July 14 in a townhouse on the South Side of Chicago.

The defense's final witnesses yesterday were a man and his wife whose testimony provided an alibi for Speck's whereabouts at the time of the murders.

Murall Farmer, a bartender in a waterfront restaurant, told the court he saw the defendant twice July 13. The first time, Farmer said, was at 8 p.m. "The next time I saw him, it was pretty close to midnight," Farmer said.

His wife, Gardena, said she saw Speck sometime after 11:30 p.m. "I served him a hamburger and a glass of ice water," Mrs. Farmer said she did not see Speck leave but she estimated the time of his departure at 12:30 a.m. July 14.

Getty, Cook County public defender, asked Farmer if he was certain he had seen Speck on the dates and times specified.

SLAYING SUSPECT — Jonathan L. Putnam, 20, of East Tawas is booked by turnkey Joseph Nephew today at the Oakland County Jail. Putnam walked into the Pontiac State Police post early today and told officers he had slain a woman in the Iosco County community. A woman's body was found at 6:25 a.m. today southwest of Tawas City. She was identified by her husband as Mrs. Viola Stern of Tawas City.

Iosco Youth Tells of Killing After Turning Self In Here

A 20-year-old Iosco County youth walked into the Pontiac State Police post early today and told officers he had slain a woman in East Tawas last night, police said.

Taken to Oakland County Jail about noon today was Jonathan L. Putnam of East Tawas.

Accompanied by his wife and his mother-in-law, the suspect surrendered to Pontiac State Police at about 5 a.m., according to Detective Robert Neigbauer.

Putnam is expected to be returned to Iosco County today.

The body of Mrs. Viola Stern, 33, of Tawas City, was discovered in a roadside ditch eight miles west of U. S. 23 on Town Line Road this morning by East Tawas State Police after conferring with Pontiac State Police.

Police said she had been stabbed.

The victim was identified by her husband, William Stern who had reported her missing shortly after 6:30 a.m.

He told East Tawas State Police Mrs. Stern had gone to the laundromat last night and hadn't returned home. Her car was found parked outside the laundromat.

An autopsy was to be performed later today in Saginaw to determine the cause of death.

The case is being investigated by East Tawas State Police, the Iosco County Sheriff's department and the Iosco County prosecutor.

Westmoreland Sees No Fast End to War

SAIGON (AP) — Despite an impressive string of allied battlefield victories and searing Communist desertions, Gen. William C. Westmoreland believes the end of the war is not in sight.

The U.S. commander in Vietnam said in an interview that his battle plan remains the same: "We'll just go on bleeding them until Hanoi wakes up to the fact that they have bled their country to the point of national disaster for several generations. Then they will have to reassess their position."

"My strategy is to put the pressure on the enemy everywhere and that includes the major bombing campaign in the North."

"The only way I know how to fight a war is by putting the maximum pressure on the maximum amount of the time."

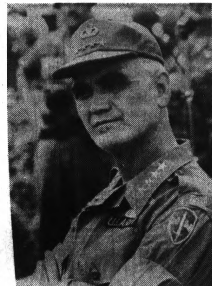

Westmoreland believes Hanoi is still pouring troops south in the mistaken belief that they are winning great victories even though they are suffering terrible casualties.

VICTIM OF PROPAGANDA

Intelligence reports show Communist commanders are claiming 5 to 20 times the number of allied troops actually killed in fighting. The U.S. command believes that in this sense Hanoi is a victim of its own propaganda.

The Communists have suffered more than 22,500 casualties since Jan. 1 but are still capable of launching regimental attacks with regularity.

Although U.S. intelligence rates the morale of various enemy units at poor to adequate, leadership and fighting spirit remain quite high.

Westmoreland tells his commanders: "The only way to defeat the Vietcong totally is to defeat his morale, discredit his leaders and to make him see only death awaits him in the future."

TROOP INCREASE

The Pentagon has agreed to boost U.S. troops strength this year from the present 438,000 to about 500,000.

Westmoreland declines to discuss strength ceilings, but other senior U.S. officers are known to believe far more are necessary.

GIs Reinforce Area

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. command today announced a major shift of American troops to bolster defenses in five northernmost provinces of South Vietnam menaced by steady Communist infiltration and 35,000 North Vietnamese regulars.

The 4,000 men of the U.S. 196th Light Infantry Brigade were sent into the 1st Corps area, a sector defended until now solely by U.S. Marines and some South Vietnamese troops.

The arrival of the infantrymen allowed the Marines to move a similar number of men northward to the sensitive sector just below the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

The troops of the 196th were airlifted from Communist war zone C near the Cambodian frontier across the country to the east coast area around Chu Lai.

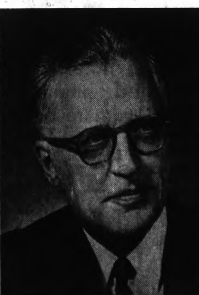

It was the first time a major Army infantry unit was deployed in the 1st Corps area to stay.

U.S. intelligence reports say the Communists have about 35,000 troops in and around the demilitarized zone and strong guerrilla forces scattered throughout the five provinces of the 1st Corps area.

COMPLETED

U.S. headquarters in Saigon said the 196th Brigade completed the air movement to Chu Lai today. The headquarters said the brigade was assigned operational tasks under the control of the U.S. 1st Marine Division in the Chu Lai area and will shield the revolutionary development or pacification program in Quang Tin Province and the northern part of Quang Ngai Province.

GM Officers Earn 9 Pct. Less

FREDERIC G. DONNER

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. paid its officers and directors $15.6 million last year, 9 per cent less than in 1965, the firm's proxy statement showed today.

The 61 executives and directors received the remuneration in salaries, fees, bonuses and contingent stock credits. The firm said it paid 63 officers and directors $17.2 million in 1965.

The decline in payments reflected reduced earnings by GM.

The company's profits fell to $1.8 billion on sales of $20.2 billion last year from the 1965 profits of $2.1 billion sales of $20.7 billion.

Frederic G. Donner, board chairman and chief executive officer, remained the nation's highest paid corporate executive. He received $700,000, comprised of $300,000 in salary and $400,000 in bonuses.

Donner, 64 and nearing retirement age, was paid $824,964 in 1965, but the decline largely reflected the GM policy against granting stock options to executives within 18 months of their automatic retirement dates.

Donner will be 65 in October. Under usual policy he would step down Nov. 1.

The proxy statement also revealed that Gen. Lucius D. Clay and R. Samuel McLaughlin are stepping down as directors.

It said McLaughlin, a board member for almost 50 years, and Clay have decided not to stand for reelection. McLaughlin is 95 and Clay will be 70 this month.

The other 22 directors and three new nominees to succeed Clay, McLaughlin and Ormond E. Hunt who died in January — were designated for election May 19 at the annual stockholders meeting.

Trapper Seized in 2 Shootings

Policeman, Cottage Owner Hurt in U.P.

CALUMET (AP) — A State Police trooper and a cottage owner were shot and wounded Thursday night in a wooded area near La Belle of the Lake Super shore where a trapper was shot and killed. The trooper, Russell Oja of La Belle was shot and severely injured in the knee while walking toward his cabin about midnight. Oja, about 40, was reported in fair condition at the hospital.

Police surrounded the cabin. When fog lifted in the morning, they lobbed tear gas grenades into the windows, flushing out Jack Noopa, 36, a trapper who spends much of his time in the wooded area.

RECEIVED REPORT Officers said they first received a report from a woman bar owner that Noopa was acting strangely, and they went to the area to investigate.

As trooper Riley and his partner approached in their patrol car, the windshield suddenly was shattered by a bullet which slammed into them and killed Riley.

Riley was cut on the hand by either a bullet fragment or a glass splinter. He was treated at a nearby hospital and returned to the scene to aid in the search.

Houghton County sheriff's deputies arrived at the scene about the same time as the State Police. They said they had planned to serve papers on Noopa committing him to a state hospital.

Scene of the shooting was in the Keweenaw Peninsula, the most northerly section of Michigan.

This Is U. S. Spy Plane Prior To New Mexico Crash

Crew Is Unhurt in Crash of Jet

LAS VEGAS, N.M., (AP) — The pilot of an Air Force SR-71 spy plane was found alive to report several hours after the plane crashed in flames. Maj. Earl M. Bonne was found after a night-long search, "apparently in good shape," a Kirtland Air Force Base spokesman said in Albuquerque.

The other crewman on the two-passenger, 2,000-mile-an-hour plane, Maj. Richard E. Sheffield, was picked up Thursday night by a military helicopter soon after the crash.

"They both seem to be okay," the Air Force spokesman, Jim Harvey, said. "We don't know any more about the finding of the pilot except that he's apparently in good shape."

Harvey said the plane was on a mission to collect intelligence over the Soviet Union when it crashed in the desert near the border with Mexico.

200 Bills Survive in Legislature

LANSING (AP) — Time ran out at midnight Thursday for a vast pile of bills which ranged from legalizing abortions to banning topless waitresses. But over 200 bills including Sunday liquor, public employee strikes, dog racing and immunity - granting powers for prosecutors made it to the legislative calendar, beating the deadline for committee action.

Thursday's deadline applied to all bills - of original bills not involving taxes, appropriations or lower court reorganization. Other measures now dead for the year would have given police "stop and frisk" powers, created a state ombudsman to act on citizen complaints, switched primary elections from August to September, required special licenses for motorcyclists, abolished the one-man grand jury system and instituted compulsory arbitration of teacher labor disputes.

CONTRIVERSIAL MEASURE Among the most controversial of the bills which died in committee was one to permit abortions in cases where a prosecutor and three doctors recommended termination of a pregnancy caused by rape or incest.

A bill to permit counties to adopt Sunday liquor sales died in the House, but a similar measure was reported in the Senate with the aid of its opponents.

A bill to permit Detroit to legalize Sunday liquor by popular vote also survived Thursday's cutoff.

One measure which made the House Calendar would legalize greyhound dog racing during the times that the horses are not running in Michigan.

Survival in the House of the public employee strike bill is likely to cause a bitter partisan debate, with Democrats expected to oppose the bill - tough measure.

It would require that a circuit judge who finds that a strike exists by public employees, including teachers, shall order the strikers back to work. It includes a binding fact - finding procedure in disputes involving fire and police employees.

Firemen and policemen would be forbidden to join labor organizations representing other types of employees, and no public employee could be affiliated with any body claiming the right to strike against government.

Also reported on Thursday was a bill to outlaw promotional "games" for which materials must be obtained at retail outlets such as gasoline stations or stores. A measure to abolish trading stamps, however, died in committee.

Surviving the cutoff was a bill that would allow county prosecutors and the state attorney general, with a circuit judge's approval, to grant immunity from prosecution to a witness who might incriminate himself by testifying during criminal proceedings in court.

Petitions Are Circulated for Restrictions on Dogs

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Petitions are being circulated requesting the township board to pass an ordinance restricting dogs.

Several incidents of dog bites have been reported to police recently. The township board has discussed the issue at a recent meeting and it will remain on the agenda for the board's next meeting, April 24 at 8 p.m.

At 8:30 that night, the township will hold a hearing on the largest budget in its history, $1,125,382.

The figure is about $250,000 over last fiscal year, which was $878,000. Of that amount, $754,032 is set aside for police and fire protection.

CONTRIVERSIAL MEASURE The board has also approved a carry-over liquor license for Sherman Drugs, 3669 W. Maple. The board had balked at approving the license at its previous meeting pending an inspection of the establishment.

BIRMINGHAM — Officers have been elected for the Birmingham Power Squadron for the 1967-68 year.

The squadron conducts boating safety classes for area residents and fall classes are to be held in May.

Pontiac Man Is Charged With Assault

A Pontiac man was overcome and apprehended early today by six city policemen, two of whom fell at the suspect in the belief he carried a loaded gun.

Jerry L. Emblem, 24, of 568½ Mount Clemens faces a charge of felonious assault stemming from the melee in front of his house. Police said a starter's pistol was taken from Emblem after he was subdued.

Police, responding to a "trouble" call at Emblem's residence, said he came from the house waving a small handgun and threatening to shoot anyone who got in his way.

Emblem dropped the weapon, police said, when patrolmen saw his gun, but then picked it up again when Patrolman Travis A. Lively rushed Emblem in an attempt to apprehend him.

As Emblem leveled the gun at Lively, police said, Patrolman Norman R. Kilmer fired a 12-gauge shotgun at Emblem's gun hand, narrowly missing. A shot from Lively's service revolver also missed the suspect.

SUBDUED Before more shots were fired, Lively, Kilmer and four other patrolmen knocked Emblem to the ground and disarmed him.

Emblem was struck in the mouth in the struggle, police said, and was treated at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital before being jailed.

Kilmer received treatment at Pontiac General Hospital for injuries to his right hand.

O'Brian Awaits Arraignment in First-Degree Murder Case

GRAND LEDGE (AP) — Alleged rapist slayer Donald V. O'Brian awaits circuit court arraignment on a fugitive charge and a second circuit court arraignment May 11 on a first-degree murder charge.

O'Brian is to be arraigned at Lonia in connection with his escape from the Lonia State Hospital when Judge Leo Belcon sentenced him to life in prison for a second circuit court arraignment May 11 on a first-degree murder charge.

O'Brian was bound over to circuit court Thursday in the death of 10-year-old Roma Cypher of Grand Ledge. Justice of the Peace Louis Belcon sentenced O'Brian to life in prison for a second circuit court arraignment May 11 on a first-degree murder charge.

The 40-year-old Pontiac man already was held in lieu of $25,000 bond on a charge of escaping from Lonia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane. He had been committed as a criminal sexual psychopath.

SIGNED STATEMENT O'Brian signed a written statement Wednesday, telling of the death of the little girl, Police Chief William Eveleth reported.

"He described details that only the murderer would have known," Eveleth said. The chief refused to elaborate.

Home Electronics Experts Can Tune In Space Photos

WASHINGTON (AP) — For could be many others that we as little as $100, do-it-yourself electronic experts are getting satellite-eye views of the earth's cloud cover.

It's almost as easy as plucking a television program out of the air with a commercial set in the home — and as with network television, there are three channels to choose from.

The transmissions can be picked up from three photo-taking weather satellites in polar orbits 800 to 900 miles above the earth — Eos 2 and 4 and Nimbus 2. All are equipped with APT, the Automatic Picture Transmission system that permits a receiving station about the size of a desk to receive the television pictures if it is within range of the satellite's orbital course.

David Johnson, director of the Commerce Department's National Environmental Satellite Center at Suitland, Md., explained that APT has a TV camera which snaps pictures and broadcasts them immediately at a very slow rate. It takes three minutes to transmit a picture, compared with one picture every 1-30th of a second for conventional television.

ANYONE CAN RECEIVE

Anyone who builds a relatively simple ground station can receive the cloud pictures, Johnson says, adding that some amateurs have built stations for as little as $100 — compared to the commercial cost of $6,000 up to $30,000.

In the United States, stations are owned by government agencies, military installations and number of private organizations, including television stations which use the pictures in their own weather reporting programs.

"Overseas many sets are operated by governments, universities and private groups," Johnson said. "We are aware of about 200 ground stations. There

Johnson explained that person on the ground simply turns on his receiver and gets a picture whenever a satellite is within range, usually up to 12 minutes at a time.

UTILITY

The utility of cloud photography by satellites, as a means of keeping up with weather conditions over any given local area, was emphasized Thursday by a report that air commanders in South Vietnam are using graphs from satellite photos to redirect bombing missions around storm areas and toward targets shown to be clear of clouds.

READY, AIM . . . —Pupils from the Oakley Park Elementary School in Walled Lake learn the proper way to handle a gun during their week's outing at Proud Lake State

Walled Lake School

6th Graders Go on Camp-Out

By JANICE KLOUSER
COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Walled Lake's outdoor education program might be school-connected, but it sure beats sitting in a classroom.

At least that's the way the district's sixth graders appear to feel about it.

This week, about 85 youngsters from the Oakley Park Elementary School traded classrooms for camping gear and a week-long adventure out-of-doors at the Proud Lake State Recreation Area near Milford.

To the casual observer, the children are spending a fun-filled week at camp, but directors of the program are quick to point out it is a classroom moved outdoors.

For eight weeks during the school year, sixth-graders from each of the district's elementary schools get a week at the camp for science and conservation instruction. With the help of teachers, principals and park employees, the children study biology, plants, trees, soil and water conservation and wildlife, all in their natural habitat.

In addition they are given instruction in art, riflery and archery.

"We find the children learn more this way, particularly those who have difficulty reading and working with textbooks," said Ethel Mugler, principal of Wixom Elementary School, and director of the outdoor education program.

"It also helps the top students to delve deeper into scientific classifications."

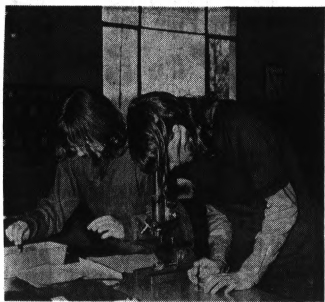

FRINGE BENEFITS

There are fringe benefits for children and teachers alike as they get to know each other on a more informal basis, thus developing a better relationship.

Many of the children also develop an increased interest in science, develop hobbies along scientific lines and even consider it for a career as a result of the program, according to Miss Mugler.

The program has social advantages as the children learn to live with others and develop a sense of independence away from home and dad.

"We find that the program gives the students an introduction to and appreciation of the outdoors, which we feel is important," said Miss Mugler.

Committee Posts Filled in Avon Twp.

AVON TOWNSHIP — New Trustee George Ennis was seated at the recent Township Board meeting and he found the job brought with it several other responsibilities.

The neophyte was appointed to the industrial park, liquor, fire and miscellaneous committees of the township.

Board appointees Earl Borden and Philip Trimble were also invested with several committee duties as were political old-timers William McCullough and Thelma Spencer.

The Avon Township Board, while having only one newly elected member, actually has three new men — Trimble and Borden having been recently appointed to fill vacancies created by the resignation of Wayne Holman and Clarence Shaw.

The resignations occurred as a result of Holman's and Shaw's failure to meet township residency requirements following the incorporation of Rochester.

AMENDMENT
The board approved an amendment to its new zoning ordinance giving the building inspector more leeway in approving or disapproving building permits other than residential.

Livorno, had been appointed to its three-man body. Mrs. Shirley Gray was named deputy clerk, and Mrs. Mary Loeffelberg and Mrs. Lolla Walls were named deputy registrars.

In other business, a go-ahead on the preparation of a water and sewer ordinance was given, with action deferred at the present time to a unification of all existing water systems within the township.

A petition from Springhill Subdivision requesting sanitary sewer service was referred to the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

The township is presently awaiting implementation of the Clinton-Oakland Sewer Interceptor System before expanding such services.

A rezoning request for an administrative and professional building on Walton opposite the Danish Old People's Home was denied.

A request for pay raises by Brooklands Volunteer Fire Department members was referred to the fire committee.

a mandatory Planning Commission function.

Supervisor Cyril Miller was authorized to work with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and legal counsel to prevent groups congregating in the township and creating a disturbance.

Action was taken as a result of complaints received from residents on Sheldon who report frequent motorcycle rallies in the area.

LEGAL OPINION

A legal opinion on the township's right to intercede on a garbage pickup fee escalation was sought. Complaints had been received from residents of a doubling in rates charged by one company. Since the township provides no pickup, contracts are on an individual basis.

A rezoning request for an administrative and professional building on Walton opposite the Danish Old People's Home was denied.

A request for pay raises by Brooklands Volunteer Fire Department members was referred to the fire committee.

Teacher Vote Retains Agent in Imlay City

IMLAY CITY — The militant Imlay City Federation of Teachers has been retained by a narrow margin as sole bargaining agent for teachers here.

The vote yesterday was 38 for the federation and 34 for the Imlay City Education Association.

The federation, which last fall took the proposed dropping of the district's Head Start Program to Circuit Court and lost, is now appealing the case. Wilson Nickels, president, said a decision should be forthcoming shortly.

Contract negotiations for the teachers are due to start shortly. They had been held up until after the election, held under the auspices of the State Labor Mediation Board upon petition of members of the staff.

A preliminary school budget, up $83,060 from the current year, has a recommendation for the Citizens' Advisory Committee for an additional 5.8 mills for new school construction forecasts an expensive school year here.

WAS ADOPTED

The budget, totaling $906,215, was adopted by the board of education recently.

The projected increase allows for hiring of new teachers and purchase of additional temporary classrooms.

The 5.8 mills recommended by the citizens' group would build a new junior high school and add 11 other classrooms and a library to existing buildings.

School Budget Is Approved

West Bloomfield Sets Total at $2,066,032

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A preliminary budget totaling $2,066,032 has been approved by the West Bloomfield Board of Education.

Expenses for instruction, the largest single item in the budget, are estimated at $1,488,548, an increase of $247,869 over the current budget.

Schools Supt. Dr. Leif A. Hougren explained that the increase will cover 25 new teachers to be hired, partly to staff the new $1-million addition to the junior high school expected to be opened in the fall.

Other items of expense include plant operation, $228,976; administration, $99,702; transportation, $88,513; capital outlay, $61,980; plant maintenance, $641,749; fixed charges, $36,596; health services, $3,396; and an item covering student body activities, $6,000.

The new budget, which is up $344,017 over the current budget, represents a 20 per cent growth in student population from 3,180 this year to 3,754 next year.

FURTHER PLANS

Dr. Hougren said that with additional income, if it becomes available, the board hopes to reduce the pupil-teacher ratio and to increase curricular offerings.

Dublin Session Earlier
WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — The Dublin School Board of Education will meet at 7 p.m. instead of 8 p.m. Monday.

Appointments at Issue

Terry Answers Critics

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Former supervisor Leonard Terry is still very much concerned with township government, although he is a patient at Pontiac General Hospital.

Chafing under attacks by board members against his appointments to the township planning commission, Terry called The Pontiac Press yesterday—his old foe much in evidence despite better than a month's confinement.

"Our zoning is practically ruining our township," he said in support of the appointments. "1-75 is like a railroad track running all the way through the area. You can't have green grass and pretty houses all the way along such an area.

"Those men I appointed to the commission were chosen after two weeks investigation. I didn't think I had to send a certified letter to the board members, and on top of that, they approved the appointments."

Terry fears disagreement with the appointments may sink the planning commission.

School Board OKs Lake Orion Budget

LAKE ORION — A tentative school budget of $2.3 million—up $333,089 over this year—has been approved by the Lake Orion Community School Board.

Expenditures for the 1967-68 school year are figured to hit a total of $2,376,238, according to a report submitted by Schools Supt. Lewis F. Mundy.

Estimated revenue stands at $2,217,407, giving the district a tentative deficit of $158,831.

Rising operating costs reflect the need for new teachers to meet the district's increasing enrollment, the purchase of nine new school buses and general salary improvements, Mundy reported. Negotiations with the Lake Orion Education Association are due to start later this month, Mundy added.

PUPIL INCREASE
He estimates a 281-pupil increase in enrollment for next year over the district's current student count of 4,534.

Estimated revenue, he said, is based on a projected increase in the school district's tax base and the present state aid formula.

At the recent meeting, board members also heard from school architects who are doing feasibility studies for additions to existing school buildings.

A citizens' advisory committee report is due the last of May, Mundy said. At that time a determination as to the need for a bond issue will be made by the board.

Three new faces could conceivably help make the decision. Three board posts will be open in the June 12 elections—two for four-year terms and one for a one-year term.

The board is currently reviewing its smoking policy with an eye to extending it into the junior high and elementary schools. The current policy deals only with senior high students, but Mundy said incidents of smoking were also cropping up at the lower levels.

A decision to expand the office practice course at the high school and to offer for the first time classes in data processing and key punch was made by the board.

The program will be divided into two separate phases, Mundy said. The first semester will be devoted to clerical and office procedures and the second to office machines.

Citizens' Report on Schools Slated

LAKE ORION — The Junior High School PTA will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the school cafeteria to hear a citizens' school study committee report.

Schools Supt. Lewis Mundy and Rev. Dean Beckwith, a member of the committee, will speak.

Officers will be elected.

At the time a determination as to the need for a bond issue will be made by the board.

Missionary Confab Near

Planned at Baptist Church in Gingellville

ORION TOWNSHIP — Gingellville Baptist Church will conduct a six-day missionary conference beginning tomorrow with a 6 p.m. dinner.

Rev. Edward Caes of the Greater European Mission in Italy will be guest speaker.

Sunday's 11 a.m. service will feature Dwight and Barbara Grady, Wycliffe Bible Translators in Vietnam.

The 7 p.m. service will consist of slides and a talk by Rev. and Mrs. Vernon Garvey who serve with the Conservative Baptist Foreign Mission Society in the Philippines.

Rev. and Mrs. David McQuilkins, Irish Child Evangelism Fellowship workers, will speak at 7 p.m. Monday. Miss Woodworth and Carol Dibble, with the missions in the Congo, will speak at the 11 a.m. service April 23.

Other activities will include a special youth service Sunday evening and a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. April 18 featuring a panel discussion by women missionaries.

Mortgage Burning Planned at Church

ROCHESTER — Mortgage burning ceremonies will be conducted at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services Sunday, at First Congregational Church, according to Rev. Robert Jacobson, pastor.

Dr. Duane Vore, minister for the Michigan Conference of the United Church of Christ, will discuss "Mission Impossible" at both services.

The church, now with a membership of 981, formed a building council in 1963. A parsonage was completed in 1965 and ground was broken for the present chapel and educational plant in 1960.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, States through television accounts of the war in Vietnam and crime at home.

"Every day, bombs dropping, riots taking place, crime, corruption," said Humphrey, "That's what some people think it is being portrayed abroad."

Humphrey, whose strong civil rights views caused a Southern stampede in the Democratic convention in 1948, has a date with Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox who once defended his restaurant against integration by waving a pistol, and a question-and-answer session with students at the University of Georgia.

Fresh from a two-week mission to Europe, Humphrey told some 1,000 Jewish women Thursday night that Pope Paul had told him "with tears in his eyes" that America's moral power is being eroded "by the way America is interpreted to the world."

Humphrey told the national convention of Jewish Women, "The world is getting a bad picture of us."

His complaint, he said, has been a long time building. "I've been wanting to get this off my chest."

America, said Humphrey, "needs to tell the world of the lives it is saving. We need to be known as a nation of peacemakers, not just peace-marchers."

Snags County Government Revamp

This week the Michigan Supreme Court handed down an advisory opinion that a new law requiring one man-one vote reapportionment of county boards of supervisors is unconstitutional.

The advisory opinion points up a major conflict between our state constitution and Public Act 261, the law prescribing the procedure for reapportioning county governments on a one man-one vote basis. The law limits the board of supervisors for a county of over 600,000 population to 25 to 35 members. Oakland falls into this category.

There are 24 townships and 23 cities in Oakland County. Reapportionment of the county board under state law, therefore, would necessitate some cuts. Sparsely populated townships were the most likely to succumb. That's what happened. The county's reapportionment committee came up with a plan dividing Oakland into 27 districts by population, thus eliminating some present township supervisors.

But, there is a clause in the State constitution that says every township must be guaranteed representation on the board of supervisors. The high court's opinion advised that the constitution is right, the law is wrong.

But the problem remains. Each township, regardless of population, has one member on the board. Thus we have a situation where one voice speaks for an estimated 1,500 people in Rose Township and one voice represents some 55,000 or more in Waterford Township.

To make things worse, cities generally have more than one member on the board. For example, Birmingham has a population of about 27,000 has four supervisors, while Waterford Township with almost 30,000 more people has one.

Without a change in the current formula for selecting supervisors, this inequity will become worse in future years. Population studies predict that Waterford Township will have a greater population by 1980 than the City of Pontiac, which currently has seven supervisors.

The Supreme Court opinion has merely eliminated one question mark in the over-all problem. The need for reapportionment is still with us. The search for an equitable solution should not be abandoned.

Safety Suggestions Aired for Kite Flyers

This is the season that kids take to the air—with their kites, that is. It is fine exercise, not only in its physical aspects but in the ingenuity essential to keeping a kite airborne.

There are, however, a few kite-flying pitfalls to be guarded against. They are associated mainly with mishaps that entangle kites with power installations or expose flyers to street or other traffic.

As a safeguard, power companies and the National Safety Council urge kite flyers to pursue their sport in open spaces away from power lines, airports, trees, city streets and TV aerials.

It is important, too, that only dry material be used in constructing kites, and never wire or cord containing metallic particles. Such materials conduct electricity, and can cause injury or even death if contact is made with electric equipment or wires.

A utility company spokesman especially warns against attempting to retrieve a kite entangled in utility wires or high trees. If it's snagged on a power line, call the utility company; if in a tree, forget it. Don't risk a life for a kite.

Incidentally, a youngster can acquire a free kite by applying at the Consumers Power Co. office for its list of kite-flying safety rules.

Why not be a double winner by doing it?

Journalist Reveals a Nose for Nose Counting

The quadrennial presidential election campaigns are not only a time for inflated speeches. They also herald a return of that phenomenon known as inflated crowd estimating—or deflated estimating depending upon which party you listen to.

Now a new development may throw some honesty into the latter preoccupation of politics.

HERBERT JACOBS, a lecturer in journalism at the University of California, has devised what he calls "Jacobs' crowd formula."

The formula calls for walking off the length and width of a gathering, then adding the two figures. If the crowd is densely packed, this is multiplied by 10; if loosely assembled, by seven.

The average person occupies from six to eight square feet in most crowds, he says. For sit-ins, the figure is 6.7 square feet.

JACOBS reportedly perfected his formula by studying a student strike rally at the university, which various observers estimated as numbering from 5,000 to 10,000 participants. JACOBS actually counted heads in an enlarged photo and came up with 2,804.

and at this point probably unsure of themselves, are not hesitating to take positions.

The Republicans—and Michigan's Gov. George Romney is the shining example—have backed Johnson on the war, which makes it awkward if they later try to change their position or make the war an issue.

Meanwhile, the Department of Commerce said Wednesday the economy stood still in the past three months for the first time since its expansion began six years ago.

GOODS, SERVICES
The value of all goods and services—the Gross National Product—went up $5 billion but was absorbed by price increases. Johnson administration economists said they weren't alarmed.

They said they had figured the economy would get sluggish the first half of this year and then pick up again. With this in mind, Johnson had asked Congress to boost taxes to help pay for big government spending and frustate inflation.

Congress has been chilly about it, being intent on cutting spending. But if the economy goes down, spending cuts will not be needed or wanted.

Worrying about that alone should keep him busy, but that's only a bit of the problems which cover practically everything for a man who likes the White House.

HEAT OF WAR

He won enormously in 1964 but his popularity melted under the heat of the war, so much so that a recent public opinion showed Romney ahead of him in a "test election" last month.

Right now, the end of the war is invisible. If he can wind it up before the election, by victory or negotiation, much that he lost in public esteem will probably be recaptured.

Harlem Vote Hurts Civil Rights

WASHINGTON — The eyes of the nation were on the election in Harlem on Tuesday of this week, and now that the tragic results are known, the

The American people have listened for several years to the cries that discrimination has been practiced against Negroes. When, however, three Negroes ran for public office this week—one of them under serious charges by the House of Representatives—the voters in the Harlem district apparently decided that, no matter what Adam Clayton Powell had done, he must be returned to the House of Representatives.

They were convinced that he had been discriminated against by the House because he is a Negro.

But how many of the voters actually had read the report of the committee of the House of Representatives which told of Powell's misdeeds?

How many knew of the Harlem congressman's various statements scolding the members of the House and of his refusal for several months to come back to his district to get the views of his constituents on the problems of the day?

FIRST CONSIDERATION

Many people now are saying that the Negroes in Harlem—by the overwhelming majority given Powell—have proved that prejudice supersedes every other consideration.

It is significant that out of the approximately 33,500 persons—virtually all Negroes—who went to the polls, only 4,500 voted against Powell. This was the total vote received by the two other candidates, both Negroes.

It has been argued again and again that Negroes are capable of exercising the duties of citizenship on a par with the majority of their white brethren.

The Fifteenth Amendment of the Constitution says that the right of every citizen to vote shall not be denied or abridged "on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude."

Many states have set certain qualifications for all voters. But the Supreme Court has gradually removed such restrictions, so that even literacy tests are questionable today, though it is contended that they may still be applied provided they are not utilized as a device for discrimination.

Certainly the election in Harlem will encourage a movement for the clearer study of the qualifications of voters.

If a survey were taken of the citizens of Harlem, it would undoubtedly be found that a relatively small number of those who voted for Adam Clayton Powell had learned or actually understood the facts about what had happened in the House of Representatives.

It is doubtful whether the text of the important paragraphs in the report of the House investigating committee ever reached the majority of the voters in Harlem.

These are the tragic aspects of the latest election of Adam Clayton Powell. Resentments will arise that will tend to build up new obstacles to the equal rights crusade.

Bob Considine Says:

Years Thin the Ranks of Doolittle's Raiders

ALAMEDA, Calif. —What better place than this, for the 25th anniversary of the Doolittle's raid on Tokyo?

The still incredible guy was born here 70 years ago and took off from here with his men and machines to throw the first counter-punch at Japanese war lords who were still bowing and toasting one another after the tremendous victory at Pearl Harbor and Hickam Field.

The years have withered the ranks of Jimmy Doolittle's men. The original 80 raiders are reduced to 54.

Only 11 are still on active duty, two of them generals, seven colonels, one lieutenant colonel and one senior master sergeant.

Nine retired last year, including Col. Edward J. (Ski) York, pilot of the B25 that landed in Russia after dropping its bombs.

York and his crew were interned for several years and shabbily treated by the Russians, who were not then at war against the Japanese.

There is no group from World War II or perhaps any other war that is quite as closely knit as Doolittle's men.

They were a special breed from the start and remain true to type today.

They walk a little taller, wear their special jackets with a bit more aplomb.

They look out for their own, chip in each year to send a worthy lad to a university course in aerospace science, solemnly reward this or that service which meets their standards of "safety."

As younger men, of course, and all volunteers for the raid, "safety" was as far removed from their minds as snark.

As ever, during this reunion, Doolittle and his men will retire behind closed doors and attend to drinking of a toast to those who no longer are alive.

The cognac will be poured into small silver cups which bear the names of the survivors.

Each cup is engraved twice with the owner's name, one name upright the other upside down.

When a man dies, his cup is turned over and placed in its appointed place behind the cup of another fallen man.

Eventually there will be only two survivors.

They are to drink from a special bottle of brandy that has been part of the toasting ritual for years.

Wonder who the other guy will be who'll be drinking that day with Jimmy?

Gives Timely Reminder of Government Spending

On the eve of the deadline for paying our Federal Income Tax let us be reminded. The tax load on each man, woman and child in the United States in the year ending June 30, 1966, rose to $899 from $860 in fiscal 1965, the tax foundation reports. Of the new figure, $597 went to the Federal Government, $161 to State governments and $141 to local governments.

If this increase is continued year after year and our elected representatives do not curb the Government's unsatiable appetite for money, the average American taxpayer is facing bankruptcy.

Let's put the brakes on wasteful government spending before it's too late.

Because of this moralistic attitude toward supporting the poor, because it is assumed that the poor will try to cheat, the whole welfare system is designed not only to support the poor but to punish them for their poverty.

It is generally forbidden, for example, for a poor family to get child-support payments if there is an employable man in the house; therefore, a poor man can help his family by deserting it—or pretending to; therefore, to prevent cheating, the welfare people stage nighttime raids in search of hiding husbands.

Similarly, if a jobless man earns some money, he is penalized for it by having his welfare payments reduced.

The result of the system is that the number of people on the dole grows every year, until there are now a million families on welfare. The cost of simply administering the mess amounts to more than $800 million annually.

In the past few years some imaginative people in and out of Government have begun to try figuring out alternative solutions. There are various plans, but most of them center on some form of guaranteed income.

The basic idea is generally credited to Dr. Milton Friedman, an economic adviser to Barry Goldwater, who argued for a "negative income tax" that would guarantee a basic income of about $1,500 for a family of four; but would also permit the poor to add to their earnings.

These plans need a great deal of further study and testing, but they seem to be gathering support. To that trend, we add our own support.

U.S. Judge Stays 50 Florida Executions

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A federal judge who blocked the executions of all 50 men on death row at Raiford State Prison will put Florida's capital punishment laws under a legal microscope.

U.S. District Judge William A. McRae, in his order Thursday, went beyond a petition by the American Civil Liberties Union when he granted an indefinite stay of execution for all Florida prisoners while the case is before his court.

He set a hearing for May 31 to hear arguments from lawyers for the ACLU and the state on how he should proceed in the case, believed unprecedented in the United States.

Depending on the results of that procedural hearing, "further hearings, if any, as may be necessary will be set by the court at a later date," McRae said.

HABEAS CORPUS

The Civil Liberties Union filed a habeas corpus petition on behalf of six condemned men and "all others similarly situated," saying that their executions be delayed until the men had exhausted all their legal resources.

Its suit also contended that death by electrocution is cruel and unusual punishment in violation of the 8th and 14th Amendments to the U.S. Constitution.

An ACLU lawyer indicated its petition for delay was intended to apply to all condemned men who were unable to afford a lawyer to carry through on their appeals.

Judge McRae went beyond that point and applied it to all the 50 men, most of whom said in death row cells throughout the two-year administration of Gov. Haydon Burns, who refused to sign death warrants.

LAST EXECUTION

The last execution at the Raiford State Prison was May 12,

Drop Reported in Local Fires

Total fire damage in the City of Pontiac during the first quarter of 1967 is down some $6,500 from last year's figure, according to a three-month report issued by the city fire department.

An estimated $79,601 damage has been caused by fires thus far in 1967 as opposed to some $87,000 through March 1966.

These values are reflective of the number of fire calls responded to during the compared periods.

Alarms were sounded for 207 fires of all kinds through March 1967, while 146 fires were reported through March of this year.

Substantial decreases have come in the number of building and motor vehicle fires, with building fires 32 fewer than through March 1966.

Total calls other than fires were 386 during the first quarter of 1967 — 13 more than in the first quarter of this year. Of these, only rescue calls have increased, up from 212 to 217.

Fulbright Award to MSU Professor

EAST LANSING (AP) — Dr. William M. Seaman, professor of classical languages at Michigan State University, has been awarded a Fulbright lectureship in Egypt. He is to teach Greek philology next year at Ain Shams University, Cairo.

Dr. Seaman, an MSU faculty member for 20 years, is a research consultant to the U.S. office of Education and serves as associate editor of "Classical Outlook," published by the American Classical League.

1964. Two men died in the electric chair for separate killings.

But Gov. Claude Kirk has been quoted as saying he believes in capital punishment. However, he has given no indication when he would sign his first death warrant and said it would definitely, if at all, be after the next state parole board meeting.

An ACLU spokesman said recently he had reliable information that death warrants were about to be signed for 14 of the 50 condemned men. This led to the petition.

One of the things McRae cited as a reason for his broad action is the requirement in Florida law that the death penalty is mandatory for first degree murder and rape unless a jury recommends mercy.

CONDEMNED CALM

Warden Dewitt Sinclair said the men on death row took the news calmly.

"They didn't seem to pay much attention," Sinclair said. "It might have made them feel better but you won't be able to tell it."

Shutdowns Mount in Chicago Dispute

CHICAGO (AP) — Plant shut-downs mounted, violence flared and reports of an impending drug shortage arose as a trucking strike-lockout continues in the Chicago area.

More industries were feeling the pinch of the 5-day-old contract dispute between Chicago truck drivers unions and trucking firms. One spokesman said the situation was "reaching the paralysis stage."

The Hammond Organ Co. halted production Thursday at its five Chicago area factories, idling 1,200 workers. Honeywell Inc., an electronics firm, put four suburban plants, putting some 750 persons out of work.

Thomas H. Coulter, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, said some drug stores have been unable to fill prescriptions because they haven't had deliveries for several days. One union spokesman, however, said "deliveries of drugs and medicines are being made on schedule."

Detroit Mayor Raps Romney

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most state governors are long on talk but short on action in dealing with the problems of big cities, Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh said last night.

He cited his own, Michigan's Gov. Romney, as an example in remarks delivered before a dinner meeting which closed a two-week conference on metropolitan problems.

Cavanagh said he specifically asked Romney to support the model cities and anti-poverty programs which Congress will be considering later this year.

"I received only vague answers about proposed state legislation that holds little promise of meeting the problem," the mayor said.

He also was critical of the federal government which he said does not give the cities the "high priority" they deserve.

CITY PROGRAMS

"City programs must be among the first funded and the last out," Cavanagh said. "They must become the untouchables in the federal budget."

Pair Adopts 4 Children of Fire Victim

The four oldest children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rivard, burned out of their West Bloomfield Township rented home two weeks ago, have been adopted by the woman who cared for them in previous emergencies.

Mrs. James Matthews, 15 Gingle, revealed that she and her husband have signed preliminary adoption papers for Tammy, 6; Penny, 5; Terri, 4; and Cindy, 3.

The Matthews have a daughter of their own, Debbie, 10. Matthews is a repairman at Pontiac Motor Division.

The four girls are Rivard's by his deceased first wife. Since remarried, he and his current wife are the parents of 6-month-old Donald.

The couple now living at 864 Mt. Clemens, and have been furnished with all the necessities of a new life. Mrs. Rivard is still under doctor's care for an advanced ulcer condition.

JOBS IMPERILED

Another official of the association warned that the trucking shutdown imperils the jobs of more than 168,000 workers in the electrical machine industry — "the largest manufacturing segment in employment in the Chicago area."

Earlier in the week, three television manufacturers — Zenith, Motorola and Admiral — announced production stoppages which idled some 25,000 employees because of parts shortages. Three railroads ordered embargoes on piggyback trailer shipment to Chicago.

The strike was being felt in some food stores but the flow of ample food supplies continued.

One chain store spokesman said incoming shipments to the firm's warehouses were reduced by 90 per cent. Another chain step in."

Contract talks have been stalled since Tuesday night, and the deadlock had an impact on Thursday in Washington where policy committees of both the Teamsters union and trucking employers postponed action on a tentative agreement for other areas reached Wednesday.

UNION WARY

Sources said the union committee is wary of asking approval of a settlement which might bring less than a new Chicago contract.

The independent union and Teamsters in Chicago are asking an increase of 90 cents an hour. Terms of the tentative settlement were not announced, but it was believed to place an over-all cost on employers of 70 cents an hour by the end of the three-year contract. Pay scales now range from $3.25 to $5 an hour.

Ray Nelson, an Elroy, Wis., truck driver, told police his truck was stopped by three carloads of men who smashed his truck's windshield with a hammer. Another driver said he was pulled from the cab of his truck and beaten.

Seven shots were fired into the offices of the Chicago Casket Co. which is being struck by members of the Chicago Independent Truck Drivers union.

PACT SESSION

A contract meeting was scheduled for today by federal mediators after attempts to hold two sessions Thursday failed.

YOWS TO SHOOT — Mrs. Martha Schatz, 78-year-old Detroit widow, vows she will shoot to kill anyone who tries to harm her again. She was terrorized Wednesday by two teen-agers who beat and cut her as they tried to find her gun. She bought the gun — a .38-caliber revolver — 50 years ago and says she knows how to use it. The intruders failed to find the weapon which was covered by a gown.

The yearbook staff of Emmanuel Christian High School is beginning to wonder if there is no end to the mail.

After having completed the '66 yearbook, they have now undertaken the job of publishing a biweekly newspaper, called The Day at school. Representatives from Oakland Community College, Olive and Michigan State University talked to the juniors interested in attending the various colleges.

Northern Awaits 'Pajama Game'

By DEBBIE KILLEN

Pontiac Northern High School is presenting the Adler and Ross musical, "Pajama Game," April 21 and 22.

Whether the workers will receive the raise, and whether love is possible between labor and management are questions that will be answered at any one of the performances of "Pajama Game."

Teresa Dean and Nancy Harroun will portray Babe; Dennis Vineyard, Sid; Johnnie Madar and Monica Patterson, Gladys;

Charles Ross, Hines; Lillian Ristich and Carol Taylor, Mabel; Ralph Bartles, Prez; and Phyllis Daniels and Pam Green, Mae.

College Survey Shows

Stronger Dosage in Education

By PHILIP WERDELL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
A report just released by the U.S. Office of Education indicates that education is psychodrama. College students are taking more of the stuff in stronger doses all the time.

During the academic year ending June 1965, more degrees were won than ever before. Master's degrees showed a greater rate of increase than bachelor's and doctorates had the greatest percentage increase of all, the office reported.

As in previous years, the field of education was the most popular among those earning bachelor's and master's degrees. Among those receiving doctorates, education was second to physical sciences by a small margin.

The Office of Education annual survey showed that, in all, 667,592 degrees were earned by 410,573 men and 257,019 women. The total is eight per cent more than in the 1963-64 academic year.

But this year's increase may not be so great. Students planning to apply for a student loan this spring may have problems getting it.

The government loan program has been hit by a combination of unexpected supply and demand headaches.

On one side are mounting student applications for loans. Over three-fourths of American colleges and universities have recently raised tuition and board, according to surveys by the Life Insurance Management Association.

Tuition and room fees for at least 25 schools are $3,000 and costs are expected to rise.

On the supply side, the government program, which depends heavily on the willingness of bankers to extend interest credit over a relatively long term, has collided with a money market tighter than it's been in 40 years.

In 1965, Congress set the maximum allowable interest at 6 per cent simple, 6 per cent seemed reasonable.

Profits for banks would not be very high on the loans, but the administration was counting on bankers' traditional sense of community service as an inducement for industry participation. Unfortunately, today banks are not offering their best corporate borrowers much better than 6 per cent. Under these conditions, the student loan program becomes a distinctly losing proposition.

Luncheon Set for Volunteers

Some 150 volunteer workers at the Oakland County Children's Village have been invited to a luncheon Monday at the village.

James W. Hunt, director of juvenile services for the Oakland County Probate Court, will be main speaker and some of the children who live in the village will present a program for the guests.

Among those attending the luncheon will be the county's three Probate Court judges—Donald E. Adams, Norman R. Barnard and Eugene A. Moore and their wives.

The volunteer workers come from all areas of the county to work with the children and assist the staff at the village.

Name Change Proposed for Civil Defense Office

A name change for the Oakland County Office of Civil Defense was proposed yesterday by the civil defense committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

Suggested as the new name is the County Department of Disaster Control and Civil Defense.

The proposed change, which committee members feel will more accurately headline the organization's function, will be referred to the bylaws committee of the board of supervisors.

Civil defense committee Victor Woods said that the addition of the disaster control designation scope of the civil defense function is being considered by several.

The program, now in its third year, is open to women responsible for the management of homes with at least one person other than themselves.

VA Strives to Inform Viet Men of Benefits

By JERRY T. BAULCH
 Associated Press Newswriters

The Veterans Administration is putting into high gear its program to inform Vietnam fighting men of their veterans benefits just before they leave the services.

The program is now in effect in all 74 hospitals that handle Vietnam ill and wounded.

Necessary papers are completed in the hospitals so there will be no delay in entering them in programs for rehabilitation and education.

Want to Be an Officer?

Expansion is going on at the U.S. Military Academy, which means there's a better chance for outstanding young men to get into West Point.

The Army is urging enlisted men to apply for enrollment through the academy's Preparatory School.

Applications should be submitted before June 30 through your unit commander to the Commandant, U.S.M.A. Preparatory School, Fort Belvoir, Va., 22060.

GI Taxpayers' Hero

Thanks to the persistence of Maj. Frederick W. Young Jr. of Augusta, Ga., who retired from the Army last May, men in service now can list as income tax deductions the cost and maintenance of fatigue uniforms—their working clothes.

Young figured it costs a soldier about $15 a year for laundering, repairs and other maintenance of fatigue uniforms.

Finally, Internal Revenue Service agreed with him.

Vietnam Scrapbook

For fighting men in Vietnam too busy to keep their own scrapbooks the Army is offering readymade "scrapbooks."

These consist of reproductions of newspaper accounts, with separate scrapbooks for each of the major units in Vietnam.

Monthly issues are being published and individuals may receive copies covering their period of service by writing to the U.S. Army Command Information Unit, Washington, D.C. 20315.

Want Out?

Secretary of Defense McNamara has announced that a reserve officer may not be retained on active duty without his consent provided he has completed any definite term which he has expressly agreed to serve or which he is obligated to serve.

May 1 is the Army's deadline for making application for such release.

We can keep you in hot water.

Illegal Drug Use Might Bring Ouster—Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — "If a student is stupid enough to be easily misled by a number of misuses of his time here fooling around with illegal and dangerous drugs," says John U. Monro, dean of Harvard College, "our view is that he should be expelled from the university."

The statement, along with a medical description of the effects of marijuana and LSD, were distributed to Harvard freshmen at their dormitories Thursday night.

"The college is prepared to take serious disciplinary action up to and including dismissal," Monro said, "against any student found to be involved in the use or distribution of illegal and toxic with the criminal underworld."

"The taking of drugs," the doctors said, "is becoming a widespread menace to users than even the addictive narcotics."

DECISION NOT ADVISABLE

"We consider it inadvisable for an individual who takes even one dose of LSD to make a major decision about himself for at least three months."

The five-page booklet on the students who wish to assert their independence by breaking the law and offending their parents and who wish to experiment with marijuana and LSD are worth, director of Harvard University Health Services and with new physical and psychological examinations." Dr. Curtis Prout, chief of medical services at the university, said in the opinion of many least three months."

Close associates of Princess Maria Beatrix, 24, say she will leave Spain soon to live with her mother in Geneva. The fun-loving daughter of exiled former King Umberto II of Italy suffered a near-fatal chest wound in a shooting incident in mid-March.

A family spokesman said later she had been wounded by the accidental discharge of a pistol she claimed to have been cleaning.

Prior to the accident, she had been dividing her time between the study of nursing in Madrid and appearing with various bullfighters socially and at their fights.

Italian Actor Says Yanks Miss Point

Movie lover Marcello Mastroianni says he's no Clark Gable of the 1960s and Americans who consider him as such may have missed the irony of his roles.

"Perhaps the Americans find a European actor more interesting than their own," Mastroianni said.

"Only because I am an Italian, they attribute to me a sexy charm which is unknown here," he told an interviewer.

"Perhaps they misunderstood me for a great seducer because I actually played that role in my movies. But I did not take that role seriously. I handled it with irony. Perhaps the Americans did not get this irony."

Gary Lewis, Bride Arrive in Manila

American singer Gary Lewis and his Filipino bride of one month arrived in Manila yesterday from Los Angeles for a "surprise visit" with relatives.

Mrs. Lewis, the former Sara Jane Suzara, said they kept their flight plans secret "because we wanted to surprise our parents."

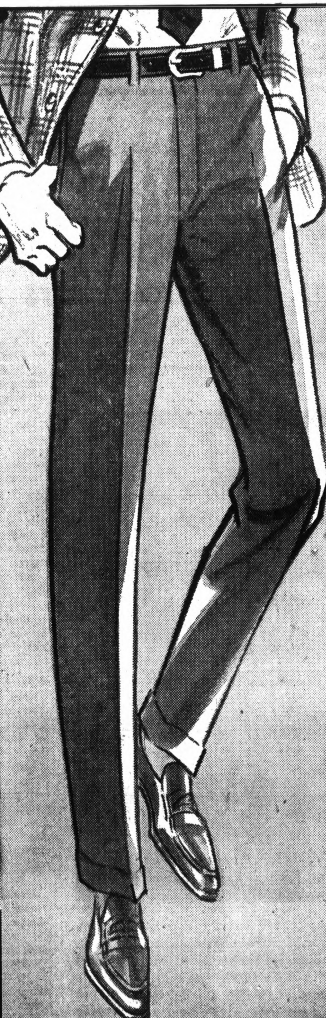

The couple, who were married in Los Angeles last month, will stay here for about 10 days. "We are just here to visit the family and have a nice time," Mrs. Lewis said.

Local People Participate in Various Festivities

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

Mrs. George S. Harris of Birmingham Road decided this was the year to have a special birthday party for her mother, Mrs. Howard A. Steele of Dearborn.

Invitations went out to 28 friends with the wording "Come join us in a great huzzah for The Spirit of '76." The friends are still chuckling about its wording and all the fun they had.

State Unit Elects Area Resident

Mrs. Kenneth Dickstein of Illinois Avenue was elected recording secretary to the state board at the recent convention of the Michigan Federation of Temple Sisterhood, District 11. Delegates at the confab in Flint this week included Mrs. Morton Metzger, Mrs. Dickstein and Mrs. Isaac Grahelsky.

Others attending were Dr. Kenneth Dickstein, Mrs. Harry Arnkoff, Mrs. I. E. Gordon, Mrs. Hal Blenheim, Mrs. Sidney Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Steinman, the Herman Dicksteins and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Winkelman.

Robert Gordon and William Chafetz of the state and national Temple Youth groups gave talks.

"The Three Faces of Sisterhood" was the theme of the convention where Mrs. Steinman was one of the participants in the workshop of action.

It has all the charm of the old wood stove, but is as modern as tomorrow. Below are an electronic oven (left) and a "cool-bake" oven which also can serve as a refrigerator first (right). The surface units on the left are embedded in a smooth glass surface. Center is an electric rotisserie and right is work space with two more surface units at the rear. There's storage space between the ovens. Start saving pennies for something like this within the next 10 years.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Forget This Incident

Return to Old Sweet Self

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: While I was out of town recently, my husband accompanied a very attractive friend of ours to a dinner party. (Her husband was also out of the city.) Upon questioning him, he told me he took her home and went in with her after midnight and had a drink.

I have not drawn a happy breath since. Although I don't think anything serious happened, it could have, as both his woman and my husband are very physically attractive. Now I am uncomfortable in this woman's presence. I feel she is smirking, and knows something I don't know. We are constantly thrown together, and after being friends for years I have actually developed a dislike for her.

I keep imagining there is something between her and my husband. When I mention it to my husband he says I am "foolish." How can I get this thing out of my mind, Abby? It is eating my heart out.

MISERABLE
DEAR MISERABLE: Your "misery" is a classic example of what imagination can do. This may sound like a preposterous over-simplification, but I can give you two magic words which will solve your problem. "FORGET IT!"

If you nag your husband, or show your contempt for the lady, you will tempt your husband and this woman to join forces against a common "enemy." YOU! Say nothing, ask no questions, and be your old sweet self.

DEAR ABBY: I answered an "ad" in a magazine for information about joining a flower club. All I wanted was information about joining, but before I knew it, they started sending me all kinds of seeds.

I didn't want these seeds and did not order any seeds, so I just put them aside. I may have even thrown some away. Now I am getting letters from this flower club telling me that if I don't either send them the money or the seeds they are going to sue me. Abby, I am worried sick. Can they sue me? For God's sakes, help me! I have six children and no money to go to court to fight this thing.

CAN'T SLEEP
DEAR CAN'T: Throw their letters in the waste basket. No one is obligated to pay for or RETURN — anything that is sent to him unsolicited.

DEAR ABBY: One day while cleaning the living room, I came across an unfinished letter my daughter was writing her girl friend. It was hidden behind the sofa cushion. Here is what I read:

"Dear B—, This afternoon Mr. R. came over. He's Mom's and Dad's best friend. Mom was out. He hung around and hung around. Finally he pulled me closer and gave me a real passionate kiss on the lips. I told him he'd better leave, but Kiddo, was I scared. I'll never tell my folks as it would break up a beautiful friendship."

Needless to say, Abby, I cooled that friendship quickly. With "friends" like that, who needs enemies? I am glad I read that letter as there are some things a daughter won't tell regardless of her relationship with her mother. You say you are against "snooping." Do you still think I was?

"WRONG, WRONG WRONG"
DEAR WRONG: You were cleaning your living room, not "snooping," when you came across your daughter's letter. There's a difference. And in this case, your daughter could hardly charge you with mistrust or prying. You did what came naturally and your daughter knows it.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Peek at Tomorrow Stirs Some Excitement

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

"Born 30 years too soon" may be the name of a cartoon, but it's also the way I felt when I saw some of the new household conveniences promised for the future.

In the upper photograph there is no indication of anything but a wall with an abstract painting on it. But when the painting is swung down and the doors opened, you have a work surface and food from the freezer (on the left) or another refrigerated unit (on the right) is easily available. At the far right a wine cooler. A curtain of cold air keeps the interior temperature down even though the door remains open.

At a presentation by Kelvinair appliance division of American Motors Corporation earlier this week, six designers' dreams were displayed.

These six ideas, incorporated into INTRO 70 are working models that could be in our homes by the 1970's.

We'll program our dinner and have it ready by 7 p.m., even though we leave home at 7:30 a.m.

How?

With the Gourmet Cooking Center.

This unit has a "cool and cook" oven. You put a roast in it early in the morning and set the time for it to be refrigerated. At the proper time, controls turn off the cooling system and turn on the electric oven.

QUICK CHANGE

When the roast is done, another control changes the temperature to keep the roast at the proper heat until serving time.

That's not all. This cooking center also has an electronic oven and an open charcoal grill with electric rotisserie. Four surface units are embedded in glass on one side and two in individual copper units are in the rear.

Ultrasonic units in a food preparation and cleaning core help dispose of waste, clean fruit and vegetables and provide a quick clean-up for a few dishes.

Everything is controlled by means of foot pedals. A regular sliding cutting board covers the area when it is not in use.

Also in this center is closed circuit TV and a tape recorder for appliance maintenance suggestions, recipes, or entertainment.

A combination washer-dryer that can be installed in a bathroom vanity top, but large enough to do three shirts is an exciting possibility.

Not only can this be a boon in homes, but its use in motels, hotels and apartments could be unlimited.

CHARM, or Central Household Air Refrigerated Modules, is a central refrigerating system in the basement or utility room. With it you can have wall refrigerators in any room.

Two-section plastic ducts in the walls carry cold air to the various units. An outer chamber returns the warm "used" air which also acts as insulation for the inner cold air.

Among the boxes suggested is a beverage cooler for the family room and a dairy compartment opening two ways as a milk chute.

Further application of an idea introduced a year ago is a refrigerator mounted flush with the wall.

AIR CURTAINS

This year's refinement is to have a curtain of cold air flow in front of the opening when the door drops down to become a work counter.

The principal is similar to stores that have an air curtain in place of conventional doors.

The sixth new presentation is an all-plastic molded refrigerator with plastic foam insulation. Any pattern, texture or permanent color is incorporated in the manufacturing process. Only the solid state power unit which is easily removed is metal.

Frankness, Sympathy Can Help Child

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Dear Mrs. Lawrence: Because my husband enjoys reading, my son's wife keeps the magazines they subscribe to for him. She and our two grandchildren drove over last week to deliver a bundle.

After they left I found that two $1 bills had disappeared from the sideboard where I'd put them with some change. We are sure that the older child took them. She is 10, the daughter of my son's wife by her ex-husband, and a problem. I think her mother should be told of our suspicion but my husband says to keep quiet...

ANSWER: If you dislike this child, I think that her mother should be told of your suspicion. If you are fond of her, your affection entitles you to deal with it yourself.

Were I in your position, I would confide my suspicion to the child. I'd make occasion to see her alone. I'd say:

"I've got the notion that you took two dollars from the sideboard when you were here last week. Did you? If you did, I want you to keep them. You can have them as a present, but only on one condition—that you tell your parents you need a bigger allowance. Because the way to get money we need is to ask for it instead of stealing it."

It is very dumb to steal and you are not dumb. It's dumb because sooner or later people take away what you've gone to so much trouble to steal and punish you, too. Now all the worry, all the scariness, all the planning goes for nothing.

Now let's go out to the kitchen and make some cocoa while you decide whether you accept my condition. Incidentally, I'll back you up on your request for an extra 50 cents a week. If you don't ask for it, I'll have to have those two dollars back. And I don't want them. I don't want them because I know that you needed them."

This would not be weak, nor noble nor sentimental in me. For 10-year-old stealing just does not fill me with moral indignation. All it does is tell me that, for some sad reason, a youngster is unable to discuss his wants with his parents. So the point of his theft to me would not be his stealing but his lonely conviction that nobody cares about his wants.

Under these circumstances it would be clear to me that he couldn't care about anybody else's wants either.

I don't think you like this child. Because she's a "problem" child, maybe nobody likes her. In that case her mother should be told of your suspicion so that external controls can be put on her, so that the truth can be wrung from her and punishment can increase her sense of loneliness and impoverishment. A wonderful solution, isn't it?

Why Grow Old?

A recent letter says, "I know how much exercise can beautify a figure. Some years ago, I was out of proportion. My bust was 36, my waist 30 and my hips 36 inches. This wasn't build but just fat accumulated around my middle."

With a 30-inch waist it is hard to believe that I wasn't overweight but I wasn't, and I did not diet.

"After a few months of faithful daily exercise (ones you recommended), I brought my waist down to 26 inches. Now my problem is that I have moved into a tiny apartment and simply do not have room to do some of the exercises I have liked best and found most effective over the years. "Can you give me any really good ones which require very little room? I want to keep my figure and my health, too."

MORE ROOM

It is certainly true that many exercises, in fact most of them, do require more room than you realize until you begin shoving the furniture around. Some of the best take up a lot of space.

Of course, isometric exercises are excellent for this reason because many of them take no space.

For instance, this one for flabby thighs. Sit on the edge of a chair with your feet separated, 8 to 10 inches apart. Place the palm of your right hand on the inside of the left knee and the palm of your left hand against the inside of your right knee.

Try to push your legs apart with your hands while you pull in with your knees. Hold for six seconds.

Isometric exercises do not take the place of isotonic exercises (the other kind of exercise). Isometric exercises are wonderful to combine with isotonic exercises and are space exercises.

CIRCULATION

Here's an isotonic exercise which will stir up your circulation and is also a good exercise for the abdominal muscles and for the legs.

Stand tall. Walk in place, lifting your knees up high in front of you, like a prancing drum major.

If you would like to have my "Isometric Exercises for Women" which take no space and only a FEW SECONDS a day send 20 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it. Address to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Enhance Flavor

Mrs. Robert Kennedy, wife of the Democratic senator from New York, holds her new son, Douglas Harriman, as they leave Georgetown University Hospital for home. The baby, born March 24, is the 10th child of the Kennedys. Standing behind the baby is two-year-old Christopher Kennedy.

Painful Foot Problems Are Not New by Far

NEW YORK (UPI) — In this research-conscious age even the ingrown toenail is not escaping learned attention.

"The ingrown toenail," according to the New York State Journal of Medicine, "has vexed medical practitioners for at least 900 years."

Authors of the journal's dissertation were Drs. Harvey P. Koepell, Walter A. L. Thompson and Jay Winokur of the New York University School of Medicine.

Because the problem has been with mankind so long, Dr. Koepell reassured some answers to the problem might be found in antiquity.

"I asked myself," he said, "what does the normal toenail look like? I didn't know. It occurred to me that the Greeks, in their pursuit of the divine bodily form must have the answer in their statutes."

The clinician therefore spent hours at the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art photographing only the toes of classic Greek statues. He claims to have learned from studies of the photos that the Greeks probably also knew the ingrown toenail. Toes on some of the statues, he said, had the definite "dome shape" that usually characterizes the affliction in adults.

Along with his two associates Dr. Koepell also found in his research that an Arabian surgeon named Albucaissam, described as the author of a standard medieval text on surgery, reported the treatment of ingrown toenail by "excision and cauterization" in the 11th century.

Since then, according to Dr. Koepell, "there has been no generally accepted procedure for its cure."

The three clinicians reported their belief that ingrown toenail is produced by an underlying bony abnormality in the terminal joint of the toe, and that the condition can be relieved by surgical correction.

In the surgery an incision is made permitting the nail to be lifted from its bed and the bony abnormality cut out, to make the top surface of the bone flat. The nail bed is then sutured back into place.

According to Drs. Koepell, Thompson and Winokur, Greeks in some post-operative pain which can be relieved. But says Dr. Koepell, women who wear open-toed shoes need not worry about disfigurement. The operation, according to the doctor, "leaves a tolerable cosmetic result."

Area Gals Plan Dinner for Society

Area women have a hand in planning this year's Matrix Table dinner of Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism society.

Mrs. Edwin Olson of Priscilla Lane, Avon Township, is general chairman of the event to be held Monday at Monte's Rathskeller in Detroit.

William Sheehan, vice president and director of television news for the American Broadcasting Company, will speak on "Television News and the Vietnam War."

Sheehan was news editor at WJR in 1953, became news director of the station in 1957 and held that post until he joined ABC News in 1961.

Working with Mrs. Olson are Mrs. John H. Bryant, Mrs. Julie Candler, Mrs. William DeGrace and Mrs. Robert Coughlin of Birmingham; Mrs. W. E. Bedford Jr. of Warren; Paula Kroger of Royal Oak; and Mrs. David Eichler of Westacres.

Plan Luncheon

A luncheon in Haven Hill Lodge on Monday is planned for members of the Waterford Township Book Review Group. Mrs. Henri Buck is taking reservations.

Mrs. Ralph Eaton will review the book "Mrs. Clemens and Mark Twain," a biography, by Justin Kaplan.

Cohostess for the day will be Mrs. Don L. Harrison and Mrs. Lyndon Salathiel.

Invisible Holder

If you find you have no candle holders when you want to decorate a birthday cake, try sticking the ends of the candles on toothpicks. This keeps them in place and has the added advantage of leaving no visible holes in the frosting.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin S. Bugajski of Shelby Township announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Louise, to Charles Thomas Nolan III, son of the junior Nolas of Bancro Court. August 11 vows are planned for the couple who attend Western Michigan University.

Enrollment Is Available

Women who are interested in learning more about the cars they drive may still enroll in the Powder Puff Mechanics class.

Sponsored by the Pontiac WYCA, this class meets Wednesday from 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. William Kennerly teaches the course in his Standard Service station on West Huron Street.

Further information may be had by calling the WYCA.

Case No. C-516

Just Keep on Smiling

By Dr. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE C-516: Amelia D., aged 28, is an airlines stewardess.

"She was rejected during her first personal interview, just because she looked scared. 'Why,' the personnel director explained, 'you probably don't realize it, but you look as if you would jump out of the window in fright if anybody said 'Boo.'"

DR. CRANE

"So I'll give you a second chance if you will follow my advice. 'For you can re-train your facial muscles till they will remain in a smile, even when your face is in its natural state of repose."

"Oh, at the outset, you will feel very self-conscious."

"It will seem that you are permanently retaining that forced, artificial smile we all turn on when having our picture taken."

"But eventually you will no longer feel foolish or self-conscious."

"And within a couple of weeks, your smile will then become the natural appearance of your face."

"So smile at yourself in the morning as you brush your teeth."

"And as you walk along the street downtown, look at your reflection in the store windows and keep smiling."

"Then come back in two weeks and I think you will get an O.K. to become one of our airline stewardesses."

MUSCLE TRAINING

Amelia faithfully followed his prescription.

She admitted that for a few days, she felt very foolish at flashing a smile all the time, even when nobody was looking.

"But, Dr. Crane," she added, "in a couple of days, I no longer was so conscious of the new position of my facial muscles."

"And at the end of 10 days, a little old lady walked up to me on the street and complimented me on my cheery smile."

"Yet I hadn't even realized I had been smiling!"

"So that convinced me that the personnel director was correct."

"And at the end of those two weeks I returned to his office for my personal interview."

"He gave me an O.K. and praised me for the change I had made in my face."

"And I have been delighted with my new job."

SIGN LANGUAGE

Readers, when you smile, you indulge in wholesome sign language that buys up the morale of those around you.

For a smile is a non-verbal compliment.

It tells your companions that you are friendly and delighted at meeting them.

Which obviously inflates their ego and changes their outlook on life.

Everybody is born with this famous motto tattooed on his chest:

"I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT!"

But we get chewed out and reprimanded, scolded and deflated a dozen times for every compliment.

In fact, compliments are so unusual that most people don't know how to receive them, so they just gurgie in blushing confusion.

But compliments spread cheer and happiness, both the smiling or "sign language" compliment, plus the spoken words of praise.

So send for my booklet on "The Compliment Club," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents and start yourself on the road to happiness!

Fuller of that city will host another open house in his home. There are two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

BPW Promotes Two

Put Woman on Federal Bench

WASHINGTON D.C. — The nation's largest organization devoted to promoting the interests of all business and professional women has asked President Johnson to consider the appointment of a woman to the Supreme Court to fill the impending vacancy resulting from the resignation of Associate Justice Tom C. Clark in June 1967.

In a telegram to the President, the National Federation of Business and prominent women judges — Judge Sarah T. Hughes, Judge of the Northern District of Texas, and Justice Lorna Lockwood, Chief Justice of the Arizona Supreme Court.

Said Federation President Sarah Jane Cunningham, "Our National Federation, which is composed of nearly 178,000 women actively engaged in business and the professions, is justly proud of the records attained by these women, and the appointment of one of them to the United States Supreme Court should be received with deep approval by our members. Your favorable consideration of our endorsements will be greatly appreciated."

FIRST IN USA

Judge Hughes was appointed the first woman Federal Judge in 1961. In 1965, she was named by Secretary of State Dean Rusk to a three-year appointment as a Representative of the Federal Government to the United Nations Commission for UNESCO.

She has been active in politics, her name being offered at the Democratic National Convention in 1952 as a candidate for the vice presidency of the United States.

In 1953, she won a long-time fight for women to serve on juries in Texas.

Justice Lockwood was elevated to chief justice of the Arizona supreme court in 1965. Her noteworthy bench career includes sponsorship of organizations designed to counsel the disturbed and delinquent youth of the state, as well as a "delinquency control institute" for training peace officers, probation officers and others interested in the problems of delinquency.

She is a descendant of Abram Lincoln and daughter of a lawyer who served Arizona as Chief Justice for 18 years.

Can't Always Choose Own Traditions

ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I disagree with you on your answer regarding two men giving a bride away. My sister-in-law was married in December. The clergyman thought it would be a good idea if the parents of BOTH the bride and groom walked them up the aisle.

It was a beautiful wedding because of the parents. When the clergyman asked, "Who gives this woman," they both (her parents) said, "We do!" Therefore, I cannot understand why two men cannot escort a girl down the aisle. — Marcia

Dear Marcia: Why not? Because if you care about having your wedding correct according to Christian tradition, it's wrong if you don't care, you can do anything you want.

In Orthodox Jewish weddings, the bride and groom are escorted down the aisle by their parents, and this is undoubtedly the origin of the clergyman's idea.

Obviously a bride may arrange her wedding in any way she wants, but if she wishes to adhere to tradition, she will accept the customs that are considered correct.

If her mother wishes to join her husband in saying "We do," that is all right; but if the distance is not too great, she may step to her husband's side to make the response.

She may not walk down the aisle, nor should the groom and his parents. I'm sure the wedding you attended was lovely — it was not traditionally correct. "How to Plan and Budget Your Wedding" by Elizabeth L. Post, is available to readers of this paper. Ideal for brides-to-be, their fiancés and parents, this sixteen page booklet will help in preparing for the "perfect" wedding.

To get a copy, send 25c in coin to cover booklet and shipping expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Requested Recipe Is for 15 Dozen Cookies

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor
In response to our request for the recipe for OK Cookies, Grace Hollingswood came to our aid. This recipe should satisfy any mother with a large family.

4 cups sugar
3 eggs

Add enough more flour to make a dough you can roll. Chill for easier handling.

Roll out to desired thickness and cut with cookie cutters. Bake 10 minutes at 350 degrees.

If you like, you may add chocolate chips, chopped nuts or coconut to the dough.

Makes 15 dozen medium sized cookies.

Polly's Pointers

Can't Lose Belt

DEAR POLLY — When my children get new robes I place the tie belts evenly and flatly in place through the loops. I leave the same length on each front side for tying. Then I machine stitch along the top of the belt across the back, from loop to loop, and about one-inch toward the front beyond the loops.

Now there is no strain on the belt loops. They are not pulled off, perhaps causing a tear in the robe, and the belts are always on the robes and not misplaced.—M. C.

DEAR POLLY — To remove dark deposits from her aluminum utensils, Mrs. H. H. should fill the pan with enough water to cover the stain and add about two teaspoons of cream of tartar for each quart of water. Bad stains may require more.

Boil gently for about 10 minutes and the utensil will be bright and clean. Also, an acid food, such as rhubarb or tomatoes, cooked in the pan will usually remove such stains.—MRS. R.H.

DEAR POLLY — If you attach a small suction cup to the end of your tapeline, you will find it much easier and more accurate to measure distances and areas since it holds taut.

When kids lose a hub cap off of a toy car, replace it with a bottle cap.—D.D.S.

Dear Polly—When I'm taking a small baby on a short trip and do not want to carry along several large boxes of cereal, I put a few varieties in baby food jars. Before closing the jars, add a small amount of sugar. When it is time to feed baby, just add some formula and you are all set.

My daughter, 7, complained of soap and water getting in her eyes when having her hair shampooed. Then she thought of placing a towel in front of her on the sink edge. Now she wipes her eyes while her hair is being washed. No more complaints.—MRS. A. E.

DEAR POLLY — My three-year-old has left greasy handprints on the wood paneling behind our kitchen table. How can I take these off and in the future keep the paneling neat and clean-looking?—MRS. B.

You will receive a dollar if Polly uses your favorite home-making idea. Polly's Problem or solution to a problem. Write Polly in care of this newspaper.

Annual Report of Waterford Planners Made Public

The Waterford Township Planning Commission recently revealed its annual report for 1966, entitled "Groundwork for Implementation."

A compact, easy-to-read document, the 17-page report is dedicated to the late Fred V. Haggard, a charter member of the commission when it was created May 29, 1961.

President of Local 596 at the Fisher Body plant in Pontiac from 1953 to his death last June, Haggard was held in high esteem by township planners.

Teaming with Vernon R. Wiggins, director of planning and zoning, and Asst. Planner Curtis Rossow, the planning commission made great strides last year laying the groundwork for implementation of the township's comprehensive development plan.

The plan involves zoning ordinance, subdivision regulations, code enforcement program, local citizen understanding and support, capital improvements, land use, thoroughfares and community utilities and facilities now through 1980.

FEATURE OF REPORT

Headed by Carlos G. Richardson, the nine-member planning commission is charged with serving in an advisory capacity to the Township Board on matters related to the growth and development of the community.

A feature of the legible report is a recommendation by Wiggins for establishment of a citizens' committee to work toward the elimination of the "several blighted areas" in the township and for prevention of the "blighting process now beginning to show its ugly head in several areas in the community."

Wiggins said the proposed citizens' committee would not be charged with the task of locating blighted areas because "this has already been done."

"Their function would be to make specific recommendations to the Township Board for eliminating them from our community."

The report indicated four subdivisions, with a combined 150 lots, were begun in the township last year. The commission conducted 65 public hearings in 1966, including 38 zoning petitions, 20 requests for special approval and two combined proposals.

Mention was made of the third-year "701" planning program which will strive to inform the public about the comprehensive development plan.

Plans call for the distribution of brochures explaining the plan, to every household in the township.

"Through this educational process, the commission hopes to assess the plan's effectiveness and begin the implementation part of the planning program with the full support of the community," the authors said. Other members of the planning commission, besides Richardson, are William A. Shunck, E. Frank Richardson, Joseph A. Filka, Mitchell J. Sioma, Donald W. Ringler, James Clarkson, Paul VanRoelckel and Dr. John F. Naz.

Preps in Mansfield Relays

Tipton Leads Hurdles Event in Ohio Meet

Thinclad Gathering
Draws 216 Schools to Midwest Classic

S P O R T S

"You're lucky to get a point," said Pontiac Central Coach Dean Wilson this morning while discussing the Mansfield (Ohio) Relays.

Most other coaches feel the same way. Reason for the rather dim outlook is the fact that 2,100 thinclads representing 216 high schools will be carving up the points starting tonight with the two-mile run and the four-mile relay.

Fourteen events are scheduled tomorrow. Preliminaries start at 10 a.m. and the finals at 1:30 p.m.

PCH received good performance from sophomores yesterday as the Chiefs ran away from Saginaw and Arthur Hill in their outdoor debut at Wisner field.

Central chalked up 73 points to 57 for Saginaw and 18 for Arthur Hill.

Bill Tipton, who is favored to repeat as hurdles champion at Mansfield, ran away from the competition yesterday, taking the high sticks in 14.42 and the lows in 19.4.

Tipton set the Mansfield high hurdle standard of 14 seconds last year and will be gunning for the record of 19 seconds in the lows. He finished in 19.3 in 1966.

PCH is the only Michigan school to win the team trophy in the 35 years the meet has been held. The Chiefs won in 1956 and 1958 and just barely missed in 1960.

In 1964, Akron South won the title with 18 points. Should Tipton win both hurdles this would give the Chiefs 12 and help in other events could put Central in contention.

There is a good chance Oakland County handymen will finish 12-3. Mel Cole of Pontiac North and Bloomfield Hills' Greg Myhra also are scheduled to compete.

There will be 43 Michigan schools in the large field.

Sophomore Roland Garcia won the broad jump in 20-4 for the Chiefs in yesterday's triangular. Other first year runners who turned in top performances were Mike Martin, second in the 890, and Bob Johnson, second in both hurdles.

Junior Jesse Bennett was second in the 100 and fourth in the 220.

Arlester Johnson won the two mile in 10:42.9. Five of the Chiefs top distance runners were out of the meet so they could compete tonight in the four-mile relay and two-mile run at Mansfield.

Jim Palmer Winner

Orioles 'Flapjack' Minnesota, 7-1

By The Associated Press

About the only thing left over from last season that has disappointed the world champion Baltimore Orioles this year is the syrup for Jim Palmer's pancakes.

The unbeaten Orioles won their second straight game this season by crushing Minnesota 7-1 Thursday as Palmer hurled a four-hitter, but the superstitious right-hander probably would insist defeat was only a bottle of syrup away.

The syrup is a carry over from last season—that was the problem—when Palmer became a hit by eating pancakes before his eight victories from last June 3. His only loss in that span came when flapjacks were missing from his breakfast table that day. He finished with 16 triumphs, including one in the World Series.

"I only had four (pancakes) today," the 21-year-old pitcher said after Thursday's triumph. "I ruined four others when I poured some syrup which had been in the house since last fall. It had fermented, and I had to throw the pancakes away."

LIGHTS OUT
The California Angels and the Cleveland Indians also had an unusual problem, but neither could solve it. A power failure at Anaheim Stadium left them without lights and forced cancellation of their night contest that is expected to be rescheduled in June. Workmen tried in vain for an hour and six minutes to fix an overloaded transformer before the game was called off.

In the only other scheduled American League game, Boston's trouble—a fielding collapse—was more routine. The Red Sox made three errors in the ninth inning and the Chicago White Sox cultivated them for five runs and an 8-5 victory in Boston.

Palmer, who pitched only 11 innings in spring training because of a sore shoulder, was in command all the way except in the last inning.

This year, June 6, Tam will be the site for the USA Open sectional qualifying. This is just prior to the start of the Buick Open.

Tam O'Shanter Country Club was reported seeking the 1970 PGA tournament. However, the club where Warren Orlick is head pro may have the event in 1969.

The tourney in 1969 was scheduled for Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., but the owner of the Florida course has lost his interest in hosting the event.

Orlick admitted that golf architect Robert Trent Jones is had visited the course last fall and was impressed with the layout.

During the sectional qualifying, a PGA committee is expected to tour the course. The final decision should come during the PGA meeting at Denver, during the 1967 tournament July 20-23 at Columbine Country Club.

MINOR CHANGES
Tam O'Shanter just completed course and clubhouse modernization, and thus expects to make only minor changes if the tournament should be awarded to it.

The 1968 tournament will be held in San Antonio, which means the PGA would be interested in bringing it back to the Midwest or East for 1969.

In 1955 when the PGA was last held in Michigan, Doug Ford was the winner at Meadowbrook.

Wally Burkemo was at Franklins Hills when he won at Birmingham CC in 1953 and in 1947 Jim Ferrier was the winner at Plum Hollow.

PCH Golfers
Trim Dondero

The wet Pontiac Municipal links couldn't prevent Pontiac Central's Chiefs from easily toppling Royal Oak Dondero Thursday in the PCH golf opener.

Dave McNeely and Tom Pinbo of the winners set the pace with 37s. Dondero's low man was Bill Srdka with a 41. PCH's Rich Kallis also had a 37 as the reserve team thumped the Oaks.

State Woman Triumphs

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—A Grand Rapids woman won her table tennis match as the U. S. men's and women's teams gained easy triumphs in the world championship team event Thursday. Connie Swerri bested Thorngren Knudsen 21-17, 21-14.

McAuliffe is continuing to use Dick Tracewicz at short stop in place of Ray Oyler who has a bad leg.

Jake Wood, who filled in at second base for ailing Dick McAuliffe, was set to play against the Twins.

McAuliffe has a sore right hand. He was hit with a pitched ball in LA.

"It's pretty swollen," he said before the team left Los Angeles.

HAWKS TAKE LEAD — The puck hits high in the net to the left of Toronto goaltender Terry Sawchuk last night, after a shot by Chicago captain Pierre Plante (3) in the first period of the National Hockey League semifinal playoff at Maple Leaf Gardens. Bobby Hull (9) skates past Sawchuk while the Leafs' Ron Ellis (8), Tim Horton (7) and Red Kelly (4) can only watch the Black Hawks' second goal in a 4-3 victory.

Canadiens Await Next Rival

By The Associated Press

It will be the Montreal Canadiens against the survivor of the Toronto-Chicago semifinal series for the Stanley Cup.

The Canadiens, winners of the National Hockey League's prized post-season playoff trophy in each of the last two years, advanced to the finals by completing a four-game sweep of the New York Rangers 2-1 Thursday night.

Chicago, the NHL regular season champions, tied the best-of-7 series against Toronto at 2-2, beating the Maple Leafs 4-3 in Thursday's other game.

John Ferguson, who scored eight of his 20 regular season goals against the Rangers and three more in the four-game playoff series, was the hero for the Canadiens. He swept a loose puck into a gaping New York net after 6½ minutes of sudden death overtime.

NEW YORK GOALIE Ed Giacomin had stopped the initial shot, sliding out of the net. But he lost control of the puck and Ferguson found it at his feet.

He swiped at it once, missed and then swung again, sweeping it into the net.

"I couldn't believe the puck Chicago needed it when Mike Walton pulled the Leafs within one late in the period, but the Hawks hung on.

Giacomin said he thought he had the rubber in his glove. "It hit in the webbing," the New York goalie said. "Then I moved away and saw it laying there."

Eric Nesterenko and Bobby Hull scored the third period goals that carried the Black Hawks to their victory over Toronto.

Fife Loser Despite Effort

2 No-Hitters Thrown in Prep Play

A pair of no-hitters highlighted prep baseball action yesterday, but wildness marred the performance of one of the hurlers and he was saddled with a loss.

Clarkston's Dan Fife, an All State basketball player, made his '67 baseball debut by hurling a no-hitter but walks and wild pitches proved his downfall and he and his teammates suffered a 3-1 setback at Oxford.

Armada's Lee Thompson had better luck.

The 6-1 Thompson, who's headed for Western Michigan next fall, pitched a perfect game as Armada blanked Brown City, 5-0.

Thompson faced only 21 batters and struck out 16. Brown City batters hit only one ball out of the infield, that coming with one down in the ninth. It was a lazy fly ball to center for the second out and Thompson ended the game by fanning the final batter.

Clarkston staked Fife to a 1-0 lead in the top of the fourth inning, but in Oxford's half of the same frame, the winners came up with three runs on three wild pitches by Fife along with two walks and an error.

The wildness marred an otherwise sharp pitching performance for Fife, who fanned 14.

Senior Mel Cole turned in a sparkling individual performance yesterday in a losing effort as Pontiac Northern dropped a 68-50 track decision to Royal Oak Kimball.

While PNH was losing, Waterford (1-2) won its first of the season by downing Wayne John Glenn, 74-44.

Cole won four events — long jump (20-2½), high jump (6-4), high hurdles (15:5) and low hurdles (20:7) but it wasn't enough to offset Kimball's team balance.

Kimball's Marc Dutton set a record with a 9:56.4 clocking in the two-mile race and Bill Turowski equalled the mile mark with a 4:30 time. Ron Farce helped the winners with wins in the 100 and 200-yard dashes.

Larry Biskner went over the bar at 13-feet-5½ inches to set a Waterford pole vault record.

Ex-Spartan Tanker Cracks YMCA Mark

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Ed Glick of the Huntington, Ind., YMCA smashed a national record and his team moved into first place Thursday in the opening session of the 40th annual YMCA men's swimming and diving championships.

The 21-year-old former Michigan State swimmer from Fort Wayne, Ind., clocked 4:55.7 in the 500-yard freestyle event, breaking the mark of 5:03.3 set by William Swisher of Chicago's Lawson YMCA.

Defending champion Jud Alward of Grand Haven, Mich., won the one-meter diving event with 423.80 points.

Teen Sets Record in AAU Swim

CLEVELAND (AP) — Seventeen-year-old Claudia Kolb proved herself a woman of her word as well as one of America's classiest swimmers as she smashed to an American record in the 200-yard individual medley at the AAU National Women's Indoor Swimming Championships.

The Santa Clara, Calif., lass equaled her own record-setting time of 2:11.8 in qualifying events as the meet opened at suburban Fairview High School Thursday, and vowed that she would better that time in the finals.

She kept her word, sprinting to a 2:09.7 to capture the title Thursday night.

RECORDS FALL

Altogether, three American records were set in the four events, with two of them pocketed by the defending champion Santa Clara Swim Club.

The Santa Clara A Team, with Miss Kolb swimming breaststroke, set a record in winning the 400-yard medley relay.

Their time of 4:05.4 was six-tenths of a second better than the former record, which was set by the Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia last year.

Pam Krause, 16, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., set a record of 5:06.9 in the 500-yard free style to defend her title successfully. She needed to do it in record time, edging 14-year-old Debbie Mayer of Arden Hills, Calif., Swim Club, by just a stroke.

The listed record of 5:15.5 set by Miss Krause last year, was bested six times in Thursday's qualifying and final events.

Beard Leads Vegas Golf

Champions Crowded Behind Leader

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Fourteen golf professionals, including some fellows named Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Tom Watson, and Bobby Nicklaus, were jammed within a spread of five strokes as play resumed today in the second round of the $100,000 Tournament of Champions.

Ambitious Frank Beard of Louisville, Ky., who wrapped up a six-under-par 65 Thursday led the field, but his margin was tenuous at this stage, with 54 holes to go.

Beard's 65 established a competitive course record. This is not too significant, however, because this is the first time a major tournament has ever been played on the Stardust course, aside from the Ladies PGA.

For the past 14 years, the Tournament of Champions had been played at the neighboring Desert Inn Country Club, a longer par-72 affair.

Two strokes back of the 27-year-old Beard were Doug Sanders, 35, and George Archer, 34, who were tied at 68.

Don January, 35, and Bobby Nicklaus, 34, were tied at 69.

2 Upsets Feature Badminton Action

FLINT (UPI) — There were two major upsets during the second day of play Thursday in the U.S. Open Amateur Badminton championships as two of last year's champs were defeated.

In the senior men's singles class, Charles Thomas of New Orleans, last year's champ, was dropped 10-15, 15-7 and 17-15 by Hank Andersson of Phoenix.

In the senior doubles, defending champions Bill Anderson of Detroit and Bob Traquair of Buffalo were defeated 15-10, 9-15 and 15-5, by Charles Randolph, Downey, Calif., and Ed Sprull, Covina, Calif.

Tom-seeded Erland Krops, of Copenhagen, Denmark, moved into the quarterfinals in the men's singles by defeating Tom Carmody, Shreveport, La., 15-0, 15-14.

NBA's Final Playoff Beginning in East

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The effort in silencing the big gun of the Boston Celtics, ending the perennial championships reign by a 4-1 landslide in the Eastern playoffs.

Some Philadelphia fans wondered if their team could get "up" for the San Francisco series.

Coach Alex Hannum, who was fired at the end of last season as the Warriors' coach, held a strategy meeting Thursday to make sure the winning attitude was still there.

"They (the Warriors) look for what I call the opportunity shot. Hannum said, 'they break down the floor and try to fire it up before Wilt Chamberlain is in position to rebound.'

The 76ers, for their part, showed a tremendous defensive

Frisco Pitcher Allows Four Hits

Giant 'Willies' Help Perry to 2-0 Win Over Braves

By The Associated Press
Gaylord Perry was scared of one better, but it looks as if National League hitters may be spending another season worrying about Gaylord Perry.

A 21-game winner last season, the San Francisco pitcher allowed Atlanta just four hits in his 1967 debut Thursday night as the Giants rode homers by Willie Mays and Willie McCovey to a 2-0 triumph over the Braves.

"I was scared to death when Hank came up," Perry related later in the dressing room. "He's the toughest out in the league."

State Kicker Signed

MARQUETTE (AP)—The San Diego Chargers of the American Football League Thursday announced the signing of Tony Richardson, Northern Michigan University's place-kicking specialist for the past two seasons, to a free agent. Terms were not disclosed.

But Aaron became Perry's fourth strikeout victim and two fly balls later the game was over.

FOURTH VICTIM

Mays' home run, the 943rd of his career, came in the first inning off Tony Cloninger, who provided the Reds with their also gave up McCovey's shot in the third and took the defeat.

The game was Atlanta's home opener and was played before 33,225 fans.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati edged Houston 5-4 and New York nipped Pittsburgh 3-2. Philadelphia at Chicago and Los Angeles at St. Louis were rained out.

Deron Johnson's three runs batted in, two coming on a home run in the fifth inning. Chuck Hiller's pinch double in the eighth inning drove in the winning run for the Mets. Jerry Buchek started the inning with bases loaded.

Maury Wills and Roberto Clemente drove in the Pirates' runs with singles off rookie New York pitcher Tom Seaver.

Minor Leagues Show Increase

Number of Entries, Attendance Surging

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The least publicized of baseball's recent changes has been the growth of the minor leagues.

Anyone who predicted four years ago that the minor leagues were ready to expand probably would have been put away with the guy who predicted the New York Yankees were three years away from a last place finish.

In 1963 the minors comprised 18 leagues with 130 teams, and attendance was under 10 million. All the figures represented low-water marks at the end of a steady skid begun in 1950.

In 1949 the minors' 59 leagues had 448 teams and attendance totaled 41 million. But the line-up for the 1967 season has 141 teams operating in 19 leagues. The minors are aiming for their fourth straight year over the 10-million mark in attendance.

Phil Piton, president of the minor leagues with headquarters in Columbus, says the main reason for the leveling off is that "we are at an irreducible minimum for player development."

Push Panic Button for Site of Fight

CHICAGO (AP)—It looks as if the panic button is being pressed for a site for the Cassius Clay-Floyd Patterson title bout April 25, three days before the heavyweight champ is scheduled for military induction.

The governors of Nevada and Pennsylvania turned thumbs down for the fight in Las Vegas and Pittsburgh.

But Herbert Muhammad, Clay's manager, says the match still is in the works for April 25 and possibly may land in Albuquerque.

In Atlanta, officials of the Atlanta Braves baseball team said they have had discussions with Clay's advisers about the possibility of staging the fight in Atlanta Stadium.

Vandals Put Fight Profit to 'Flames'

With a turnout of about 800 fans at a boxing show at Pontiac Central Wednesday night, a quick look at the gate receipts revealed that St. Michael Church, sponsor of the event, would net about $1,000.

But then vandals took charge and his (or their) little trick wiped out the $1,000.

Harold Duggan, a former pro boxer and employee at Oakland County Children's Center, was matchmaker for the show.

To protect the floor in the PCH gym, Duggan borrowed a piece of canvas — 100 by 90 feet — from Cranbrook School to cover the surface.

After the show, Duggan and his son, Pat, and other helpers disassembled the ring and rolled up the canvas. They finished about 2 a.m.

LOADED CANVAS

Duggan and his son put the canvas — which weighed about 500 pounds — in the back of a pickup truck owned by Pat, who drove home and parked the truck in front of his home at 99 Franklin.

Sometime during the early morning hours, the vandal vandals piled some loose programs from the show around the canvas and set fire to it.

The canvas, valued at $1,000, was heavily damaged. Duggan wasn't sure how extensive the damage was. He was hoping the receipts would cover the loss. Police are investigating.

Golf Victory for Kettering

Kettering made it two in a row last night with a 194-202 golfing victory over Southfield at Pontiac Country Club.

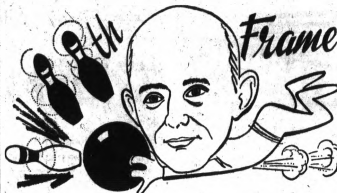

Charles Patrick and Dan Larkin led the winners with two-over-par 38s, while Dave Molteni and Gary Quittiquit posted 38s. Jim Richardson rounded out the Kettering scoring with 40.

WASN'T FUNNY TO HER—What normally is only seen in cartoons was anything but funny to Penny Mears when the Decatur, Ill., high school senior went bowling in physical education class. Penny's third finger became stuck in the bowling ball. Finally, proprietor Paul Schaefer had to drill a hole into the finger hole while Jerry Hoffman steadied the ball and Penny watched apprehensively (left photo). The "operation" was a success (right).

Now that the regular season is coming to a close, a check of the highest scoring by both men and women in the Pontiac area reveals some perhaps unsuspected trends.

Many of the men in the area won't be surprised at the disclosure that Rochester's North Hill Lanes reported nearly twice as many individual high scores as any other establishment.

But proprietor Lou Koprince Sr., can't boast of having the individual high game or series in any category.

Currently, the highest series that have been reported were Pat Treacy's 759 in men's action at Sylvan Lanes, Bev Kuschel's 670 at Fairgrounds Bowling among the women, and Mike Popratsky's 715 in junior bowling at Airway Lanes.

North Hill, however, has produced the next three highest in men's action: Ed Marsh's 753, Koprince's 748, Ed Gibbs' 748. Sam Robbins hit 746 at North Hill, matching the West Side Lanes' high by Dr. Harold Alexander.

West Side can also claim a 745 by George Bishop — one of three local men with sanctioned 300 games this winter — a 739 by Paul Rodriguez and a 730 by co-proprietor Jerry Perna.

Wonderland Lanes had the eighth best men's series, 742 by Pat Memmer, and 728 by Al Schuppach.

Also on the top 16 list (those with 725 or better) are the 740 by Jerry Harnack and 735 by Jerry Hoffman at North Hill, the 730 by Cooley Lanes co-owner Dick Viles, and the all-time Holly high of 735 by Dick Bayer at Mavis Lanes.

UNOFFICIAL

Also included unofficially is the 300 Bowl high mark this season, a 731 by Monroe Moore in the unsanctioned 700 Club Tournament.

Airway Lanes, which had its first 700 series in seven years, also had its initial 300 game. "Sonny" Green did it in the fall.

He was followed in recent weeks by Bishop at Sylvan, and then Manfred Herscher at Huron Bowl.

Huron also reported the second best women's series and the top two women's games. Marie Reynolds rolled a 241 game to achieve a 667 series, and Shirley Pointer had a 240 there.

Sylvan, too, had a woman score well. Nancy Buffmyer posted a 659 threesome.

Several establishments recorded their own scoring milestones this past season. There may have been other scores worthy

Chioan Takes Singles Lead in ABC

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Frank Perry, Lorain, Ohio, moved into first place Thursday in regular singles by firing 722 in the American Bowling Congress tourney.

The 50-year-old factory worker had games of 285, 227 and 231 to top by six pins the previous leader, Dale Remley, Pontiac, who dropped to second place.

In regular all-events, Louis Amorino, Apollo, Pa., racked up a 1938 total to take second place.

He had 705 series in team competition Wednesday, came back to shoot 577 in doubles and 656 in singles to fall 12 pins short of the leader, Jack Esper, Dearborn.

Arley Rodberg and Paul Crickberger, West Palm Beach, Fla., continue to dominate the doubles with 1326 rolled last March 27.

Bowling Results

Lakewood Lanes reached the scoring high point of the season this week in a two-day span. Bowling on the house team, Tom Yerik set a season high series mark Sunday afternoon with 227-286-708 in the Men of the Moose League. Bill Bull posted 214-237-633.

New Way Asphalt leads the circuit. The Lakewood team's 3187 and Bud and Lou's 1131 are the top team totals in the circuit.

Tuesday night in the Lakewood House circuit, Dale Remley — the stocky construction worker from Pontiac who rolled a 717 in the American Bowling Congress regular singles event — hit 844-367-708 to pace Powell Construction to the league title.

The team entered the final night tied with Chandler Heating, but needed Remley's scoring to slip past its opponents by 10 pins total to gain the top spot.

Last Friday's Huron Bowl Classic had solid scoring by Bill Kirkland of Felice Quality Market and Roger Foly of West Side Lanes. Kirkland nipped Foly by five pins, 240-254-689 to 236-231-679.

Bill Bull had 268 (667) for the league-leading Moose Lodge No. 182 and teammate Chuck Beach matched the 258 in a 661 series. High game laurels, though, were taken by Les Smith, a 265 for Calbi Music.

Lee Smith had a 256 for Hazelton Lettering Monday night in the West Side Lanes' Classic, but it fell short of Ron Rothbard's 204-276-681 that swept the honors for Calbi.

Art Newby hit a 268 for Dale Cook Construction, Jerry Perna notched a 259 for Atlas Food Market, and Dick Beamer rolled a 258 for Felice's.

State Holds Out Hopes of Landing A-Smasher

WASHINGTON (UPI)—There was still faint hope today that Michigan might land the $75 million atom smasher that it lost last December to Weston, Ill.

The hope was held despite a prediction of Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill., chairman of the research and development subcommittee, that the funds for the atom smasher will be approved within three weeks.

Ann Arbor Mich., was six finalists in the bidding for the huge scientific prize but lost out to Weston.

However, serious doubt about the approval of funds by the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy was raised because of alleged discrimination in housing in the Weston area.

Civil rights groups have urged the committee to withhold its authorization until Illinois has an open housing law.

AFC CHAIRMAN

The warning that Weston could lose the 200 billion electron volt proton accelerator came from AFC Chairman Glenn Seaborg.

He said an open housing law could insure Weston of getting the facility.

Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., said Seaborg's assessment of the problem was correct.

"Clearly, if it is a fact that minority groups are not able to find decent shelter on equal terms (at Weston), this country has no business forcing the installation in that place," Hart said.

Hart also indicated the Weston site may be in trouble on another front.

Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has written the committee which must approve funds for the project raising the question of the area's water supply.

Hart quoted Kelley as saying the Chicago area has been seeking permission to increase its diversion from Lake Michigan, and is urging Congress to be very sure that there will be enough water to operate the atom smasher at Weston.

EGG CARE INSTRUCTIONS — Rev. Frederick George, a resident of Lourdes Nursing Home, 2300 Watkins Lake, Waterford Township, and nurse Mrs. Jack Runyan, 3996 Lamont, Waterford Township, study directions for the care of the quail eggs in the incubator. Father George received the eggs and incubator as a gift from a cousin. Expected to hatch about April 21, the eggs are causing quite a bit of excitement at the nursing home.

Quail Eggs Get Special Care

Nursing Home Is Expecting

The chicken-egg sequence puzzler may never be solved. But at Lourdes Nursing Home, 2300 Watkins Lake, Waterford Township, the egg definitely came first.

Ever since one of the home's residents, Rev. Frederick George, received an incubator with five quail eggs in the mail last week, an air of curiosity has gripped the nursing home.

Will they hatch or won't they? That's the question that has nurses, patients, sisters and others associated with the home scratching their heads.

CHICK HATCHERY

Utility room-unit A temporarily, at least until April 21 when the eggs are expected to hatch, has been reclassified as the chick hatchery.

Nurses have prescribed a TLC formula for the care of the eggs — tender loving care.

The eggs must be rotated one-fourth turn every four hours, according to instructions. In addition, an even temperature must be maintained in the incubator.

An aide at the home apparently didn't think she had sufficient specialized training to cope with the egg-turning procedure.

NURSES' TASK

A heart-stroke patient at Lourdes, Father George received the unusual gift from a cousin in Wyandotte. Original embarkation point, however, was Savannah, Ga.

One egg broke in the mail for the only mishap.

"This cousin of mine has been like this for years," said Father George. "He could send anything. Anything can happen."

ASSEMBLED INCUBATOR

The incubator was assembled by Lourdes Administrator Sister Benedicta who then entrusted the project to the nursing department.

"I think it's wonderful if they survive," said Father George, who was chaplain at Mercy Hospital in Port Huron before coming to Lourdes three months ago.

A Catholic priest since 1951, the 61-year-old clergyman is a graduate of the University of Louvain in Belgium.

Marie Hickey, director of nursing at the home, believes the egg incident is typical of the lively atmosphere at Lourdes.

WIDE RANGE

Offered to patients are bingo, cards, style shows and other activities.

The home, which boasts a staff of 91 to care for its 104 patients, also is equipped with a barber-beauty shop, dental facilities, a physical therapy and rehabilitation center and X-ray equipment.

"They can be very active," said Miss Hickey, who firmly believes it's time something is done to change the image of nursing homes.

All but two of the patients at the home are at least 65 years old. The youngest is 49 and the eldest 94.

Associated with the Archdiocese of Detroit, the home is operated by the Dominican Sisters of Oxford.

Woman's Hike Creates 2-Hour Traffic Tie-Up

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Margaret Shea of Taylor Township did what many a woman had done before her when she got a flat tire on the family car Wednesday.

She hiked to a phone to call her husband for aid.

The only trouble, Taylor Township police said, was that she left her car in the left hand lane of a busy four-lane highway causing a traffic tie-up that lasted over two hours.

The situation was not helped any when a semitruck trailer, loaded with 50,000 pounds of bundled scrap, overturned as the driver swerved to avoid the abandoned car.

TICKETED

Police ticketed Mrs. Shea for obstructing traffic.

Junior Editors Quiz on TASTE

QUESTION: Why is it that things taste different?

ANSWER: It is said that everything we taste can be divided into four main groups—salty, bitter, sour, sweet or some combination of these.

All of us know that it is the tongue which does most of our tasting, but few realize that different parts of the tongue are especially responsive to these main kinds of taste.

In the upper left, we look at the tongue and show where these sensitive areas are. Notice that the center of the tongue is not as sensitive to the taste as the edges.

Taste is really the reaction of the taste buds, located on the tongue and certain other areas, to the chemicals in materials we take into our mouths. The membrane of the tongue has many little pits (lower right). These are lined with minute taste buds, the point of each projecting into the pit.

Food taken into the mouth is partly dissolved by saliva, and some of this liquid fills the little pits. The points of the taste buds contact it and send a report along a nerve to a taste center located in the brain.

Mass Anti-Viet Protests Planned in NY, Frisco

NEW YORK (AP) — Demonstration New York and San Francisco strikers in "peace trains," today for what was developing buses and on foot headed to as possibly the nation's largest mass protest against the Vietnam War in both cities said they were prepared to handle a half million "spring mobilization" marchers Saturday.

Security measures tighter than any known in New York since the 1959 visit of Nikita Khrushchev are being prepared. Authorities feared violence might grow out of a scheduled mass draft-card burning in Central Park or a series of speeches by civil rights leaders Dr. Martin Luther King, Floyd McKissick and Stokely Carmichael.

Some 200 known agitators were expected to attempt to provoke incidents, police said, and the department indicated concern about the arrival from Vietnam Saturday of the carrier Wasp and its crew of 5,000 men.

New York City police, FBI and U.N. authorities estimated that as many as 400,000 persons might participate in the demonstrations here. Organizers predicted a West Coast turnout of about 100,000.

SPECIAL TRAINS

Special trains and buses from Chicago, Detroit, Baltimore, Cleveland and Philadelphia are scheduled to bring marchers to New York. In the west, some 40 San Jose State College students are walking the 50 miles from their campus to San Francisco. Other groups will travel from Stanford University and the University of Nevada at Reno.

A similar protest demonstration was scheduled for the campus of the University of Texas at Austin.

Highlights of the rallies will be speeches by King in front of the United Nations here, and by his wife and Georgia legislator Julian Bond in San Francisco's 60,000-seat Kesar Stadium.

Some 10,000 placards have been assembled for New York marchers to carry from Central Park to the headquarters of the world organization.

American Indians will join the demonstration following charges that the FBI and South Dakota state police harassed 30 Sioux of the Rosebud Reservation at Mission, S.D. as they boarded a bus for New York Thursday.

The FBI and the U.S. attorney's office in Sioux Falls, S.D., denied the charge.

Allium Giganteum Wins New Friends

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newfeatures

Almost as fast as you could say Allium Giganteum, we planted five of them, in keeping with our aim to try something new whenever possible.

We heard about Allium Giganteum from C. M. van der Mey of Lisse, Holland, whose firm, he said, introduced the spectacular, big bulb to this country some years ago.

The plant is 4 to 5 feet tall and has a large, compact purple ball-shaped flower 6 to 8 inches across. The flower, Van der Mey says, will last for weeks on its sturdy stem or when cut.

In Europe, the grower related, Allium Giganteum is used extensively as a cut flower alone and in floral arrangements.

When the flower has dried, it may be spray-painted and used for winter arrangements.

PURPLE FLORETS

"The height and size of the flower, composed of a million small purple florets, makes it so outstanding that it beats all other Allium varieties," Van der Mey said.

Allium Giganteum is a giant garlic plant, a large Asiatic ornamental herb grown for flowers.

The bulbs we planted were in the shape of half a large pear.

They should be planted in the fall (or may be planted in the spring) in loose, well-drained soil.

BULB COVER

The bulb should be covered with about 4 inches of soil and planted 3 feet apart. If water is permitted to stand where the bulbs are planted, the bulbs may drown.

At this point, we were told that stocks were limited and advance ordering was recommended in this country.

The Van der Mey company is best known, perhaps, for its extensive varieties of hyacinths.

Quality Fertilizers Are Economic Buy

Quality fertilizers for the lawn are especially designed for grass.

Cheaper fertilizers are manufactured for garden and farm use and do not serve the same purpose when applied to grass.

Lawn grasses need slow release fertilizers with trace elements such as iron, calcium and magnesium.

They cost more initially, but last longer and feed better in the long run.

C. M. van der Mey and Allium Giganteum

Bee Keepers Set Seminar

All Southeastern Michigan beekeepers, large-scale or hobby-size, are invited to an all-day beekeeper seminar at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds tomorrow. This will be an all-day affair beginning at 9 a.m. sharp, with shared picnic luncheon at noon and adjournment at 4 p.m.

The seminar is arranged by Wayne County's Extension agent in agriculture, Ed Kidd, with assistance from the Southeastern Michigan Beekeepers Association.

The program will feature staff members from MSU Apiculture department, apiculture suppliers, local beekeepers, bee movies, display and demonstrations of bees and bee equipment, and an open-to-everyone honey and wax contest.

There are about 2,000 beekeepers in Southeastern Michigan, some of them with bee yards in downtown Detroit. Many others are located in the suburban areas of Southeastern Michigan. Most of them regard their beekeeping operations as a sideline hobby-type enterprise. All of these apiarists, however, are invited to the seminar.

The Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds is located just north of Belleville. It can be reached by taking Edsel Ford Expressway to the Belleville interchange. Then follow the northside service road across Belleville Road alongside the expressway going west about one-half mile to Quirk Road, and then north (right) another half-mile to the fairgrounds on the right.

Open to the public, the meeting will begin at 2 p.m. in the Royal Oak Women's Club, 404 S. Pleasant at Fourth, Royal Oak.

Green Lawn Sets Background

A fine, green lawn is basic to the appearance of any home. It's the backdrop against which you display flowers, shrubs, trees—the house itself. It makes everything else sparkle and look its best.

Like any other plant, grass grows best when it has an ample supply of food, water, and care. Whether you're starting a new lawn, or planning to improve your old one, you'll find step-by-step procedures and answers to your special questions in the newly revised Better Homes and Gardens New Garden Book.

An entire chapter of the book is devoted to the development of the perfect lawn—a velvety-green, close-cropped carpet surrounding your home—with all the information you'll need to know for starting it, watering, feeding, weeding, mowing, and repairing it.

It is a handy guide for every would-be gardener whether it's trees, flowers, vines, or lawns he's interested in. It contains the latest information on landscaping, pruning, and fertilizing, as well as directions for constructing fences, waterfalls, pools, screens, patios, and paths.

Of the three ways to start a beautiful lawn, seeding is the least expensive. A mixture of two or three varieties or species gives greater assurance of a successful lawn.

PERMANENT GRASSES

Mixtures should contain at least 90 per cent permanent grasses—bluegrasses, fescues, and bent grasses in the north. High percentages of ryegrass, reseed, or timothy won't produce attractive, permanent lawns.

To obtain best results, sow cool-climate grasses in early fall or early spring. Almost all northern types can be started from seed.

Sodding is the fastest way to start your lawn, but also the most costly. The value of any sod depends on the species and the presence or absence of weeds. Buy only the best quality available.

Don't let soil dry out until the soil establishes a firm union with the soil. Reserve the sodding of cool-climate grasses for spring or fall if possible. Mid-summer operation often involves considerable risk.

Sprigging is the only way for some grasses to begin. Sprigs are bare-root pieces of grass planted end to end in rows. They spread by sending out runners or rhizomes and eventually cover the entire lawn. If you want zoysia, you must start it by sprigging.

Repairing bare spots in our lawns is another problem most of us are faced with at one time or another. Patching these bare areas is like starting a new lawn in miniature.

This generally means tilling, or scarifying the surface to provide lodging for seed, ample fertilizer, good seed, and mulching.

FIND CAUSE

Most important is to find what caused the bare spot in the first place. A new seeding may suffer the same fate unless the reasons for failure are corrected. Perhaps there is a buried trash? Perhaps a "poisoning" of the soil by spilled chemicals, or a low spot where water impounds, or maybe a localized grub infestation?

If the soil has been made toxic for any reason, it will have to be dug out and then replaced before you undertake seeding the area.

To upgrade the poor lawn, as with patching, the first order of business is to determine the cause for poor quality. Perhaps the wrong seed was used initially?

Perhaps the lawn mower has been set too low, and scalps the lawn? Perhaps tree roots take too much fertility and moisture, or maybe no fertilizer has been applied, or the timing of operations has been contrary to the best interests of the desired grass.

Having ascertained as nearly as possible the cause for poor or thin turf, and taken steps to remedy it, you must decide next whether the lawn is so poor that it best be plowed under, or whether there is sufficient good grass to make the desired quality lawn by overseeding and feeding.

Lawns with surprisingly little good grass can be markedly improved by such techniques, and patching.

CORNER CONSCIOUS—The corners of homes offer a real opportunity for home owners to use their imagination. They can be lovely or ugly. An Atlantic cedar, a hemlock and a couple of azaleas add a striking effect.

Flowering Plants Bring Spring Inside Iron Needed by Plants

The beauty of flowering plants inside the home eases the strain of too-tense living — and this sense of rejuvenation, after all, is the very heart of spring.

Lilies, azaleas, hydrangeas, and chrysanthemums — the traditional favorites — provide beauty and fragrance to rest the eyes and lift the spirit.

One single plant can be a focal point in the dining or living room. Depending upon the mood of the beholder, it will provide a note of excitement and joy, or it will be an object for serene appreciation and contemplation.

A grouping of several flowering plants can bring a feeling of nature's luxuriance into the home. For massed, rainbow color effects, pink azaleas, snowy white hydrangeas, and golden chrysanthemums are easy to arrange and are breath-taking in their beauty.

And fortunately either the single flowering plant or a group of plants are within the budget of the economy-minded householder.

DON'T THROW AWAY

When these flowers have faded, the plants should not be thrown away. The happiness they give can last well beyond Easter.

Save and carefully water — not too much, not too little — and enjoy them as foliage plants throughout the spring and summer.

The greenery can become a beautiful summer backdrop on balconies, patios, porches, or in living and dining rooms.

More and more amateur flower lovers and even horticulturists are doing precisely this, especially those who live in high-rise apartments where daily life affords little or no contact with woods, fields, green lawns, or gardens. All indoor growing greenery becomes a precious addition to their lives.

Lilies, azaleas, hydrangeas, and chrysanthemum greenery will thrive on summer balconies or in high-rise living rooms with minimal routine care. This means: water frequently, always allowing soil to dry moderately between waterings. Don't let any plant stand in water. In time, this would cause it to rot.

Tip each plant regularly to encourage rich, wide growth rather than overpowering tall development of leaves.

Three types of iron compounds are available to prevent and correct poor growth in plants caused by iron deficiencies in the soil. They are chelates, sulphates and micronized iron. Chelates and sulphates have been treated with chemicals to make them water soluble. In contrast micronized iron is finely divided natural iron which eliminates any danger of burning or overfeeding.

An evergreen tree, native of Central America, and commonly called the Marmalade Plum, is the source of chicle, the basis of chewing gum.

Early Spring Hard on Lawn Grasses

Lawn and sports turf is most likely to suffer winter injury during the months of March and April, warns a Michigan State University turfgrass researcher.

Dr. James B. Beard has found that the critical period for winterkill of turfgrasses is during late winter thaws or in early spring fertilization (before the grass has started to grow) will increase the potential injury hazard. On the other hand, adequate levels of potassium in the soil will assist in winter survival of turfs.

Another important cause of winterkill is snow mold disease, says Beard. There are two basic types, gray and pink snow mold, which are active under the snow cover or just at the time of thaw.

Snow mold can cause total kill of lawns or other turf areas. The disease is usually characterized by dead circular lawn areas ranging from 6 to 12 inches in diameter.

INVESTIGATIONS

"Investigations at MSU indicate that there are several lawn management practices that can decrease winter injury," says Beard. "For example, research on Kentucky bluegrass indicates that cutting heights below one and one-half inches result in increased kill to turfs."

"Another factor is proper nitrogen fertilization. Either late fall fertilizations or excessively high fertilization rates will increase the degree of injury."

"In addition, premature early spring fertilization (before the grass has started to grow) will increase the potential injury hazard. On the other hand, adequate levels of potassium in the soil will assist in winter survival of turfs."

Another lawn problem that can make grass more susceptible to winter injury is thatch—the accumulation of dead leaves stems and clippings between the green vegetation and the soil surface.

Beard points out that thatch elevates the crowns and rhizomes of turfgrasses out of the protective soil layer so they are much more susceptible to low temperature injury and desiccation. In addition, thatch provides an ideal environment to encourage snow mold.

In his Michigan experiments, Beard included 11 turfgrasses for evaluation. They are listed in order from most to least tolerant of low temperature kill:

- bentgrass
- roughstalk bluegrass
- Kentucky bluegrass
- annual bluegrass
- red fescue
- redtop
- tall fescue
- perennial ryegrass
- zoysia
- annual ryegrass and
- Bermudagrass.

Beard concludes that maximum winter survival can be insured by using the more winter-hardy grasses, by avoiding excessive or late fall nitrogen fertilization, by insuring adequate soil potassium levels and by avoiding thatch accumulation.

Gov. George Romney has proclaimed April 23-29 as Arbor Week this year.

As in the past, the governor will plant a tree on the State Capitol lawn furnished by the Michigan Association of Nurserymen, Inc.

The M.A.N. will also place a potted evergreen tree on the desk of each member of the legislature during the Arbor Week.

Continuing to cooperate with the nurseryman's association, the Michigan Education Association will urge all school superintendents to hold tree planting programs on their school grounds.

Henry J. LaBrosse of Lansing, chairman of the M.A.N. Arbor Week Committee, points out that Michigan should lead in observance of the traditional celebration since the founding, 135 years ago, was J. Sterling Morton, a native of Monroe.

"Michigan has more seedling growers and produces more tree seedlings than any other state," said LaBrosse.

City Shooting Warrant Eyed

A warrant for attempted murder will be sought against a Pontiac man who allegedly shot a woman in the head last night, according to Pontiac police.

Detective Dallas J. Fleisher said police would lodge the charge against L. C. Chatmon, 25, address unknown.

Witnesses told investigators Chatmon came to the home of Zera Demming, 25, of 258 S. Paddock about 9:50 p.m., brandishing a small handgun.

Police were told Chatmon made threatening remarks to several other people in the home, then fired the gun at the Demming woman. The bullet apparently grazed her head.

She was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for a scalp laceration and released.

Junior High Students Go 'Politicking'

More than 1,000 Madison Junior High School students attended a political convention yesterday, complete with a keynote speaker, nominations and radio, television and press coverage.

The convention was in their own school. Three students were nominated for president, vice president and secretary-treasurer of the student council at the all-day gathering.

It had all the ingredients of a national political convention: delegates form home rooms, closed circuit television, a tape and a press room and spot "radio" announcements and interviews via the public address system.

W. Patrick Strauss, associate professor of history at Oakland University, delivered the keynote talk.

And even the filibuster was permitted.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Since 1958, the mock convention has been held in conjunction with social studies instruction. For two weeks prior to the convention, the students were eligible to vote.

Sixth Graders' Hot-Air 'Gadgets' Start Forest Fire

ROME, Ga. (AP) — Sixth graders, who sent homemade objects flying over forest lands near here this week, were blamed for setting fire to a mountain side of timber.

Forestry officials said some of the plastic laundry bowls, propelled by hot air from burning candles attached by soda straws, flew more than a mile at heights of about 1,000 feet.

Several hundred acres of woodland burned on Mt. Atlatl Tuesday night and officials blamed the blazes on the contraptions.

The children were let off with a warning not to send up any more of the objects.

Pontiac police are looking today for a man who allegedly walked into a downtown store yesterday and took from a clerk two rings valued at $200.

A woman employee of WKC, Inc., 108 N. Saginaw, said the man came in and asked to look at two trays of rings.

After examining one of the trays, police were told, the man appeared to conceal something in his right hand and then left the store, despite the clerk's warnings to wait.

Ths rings, one a woman's diamond ring worth $200 and the other a man's wedding band valued at $30, were discovered missing minutes later.

Investigators were told the thief was Negro, about 35, weighing 180 pounds and bearing a vertical scar on his lips.

ONE COLOR MAKE OVER PAGES

SAIGON (U) — Despite an impressive string of allied battlefield victories and searing Communist desertions, Gen. William C. Westmoreland believes the end of the war is not in sight.

The U.S. commander in Vietnam said in an interview that his battle plan remains the same: "We'll just go on bleeding them until Hanoi wakes up to the fact that they have bled their country to the point of national disaster for several generations. Then they will have to reassess their position.

"My strategy is to put the pressure on the enemy everywhere and that includes the major bombing campaign in the North.

"The only way I know how to fight a war is by putting the maximum pressure on the maximum amount of the time."

Westmoreland believes Hanoi is still pouring troops south in the mistaken belief that they are winning great victories even though they are suffering terrible casualties.

VICTIM OF PROPAGANDA

Intelligence reports show Communist commanders are claiming 5 to 20 times the number of allied troops actually killed in fighting. The U.S. command believes that in this sense Hanoi is a victim of its own propaganda.

The Communists have suffered more than 22,000 casualties since Jan. 1 but are still capable of launching regimental attacks with regularity.

Although U.S. intelligence rates the morale of various enemy units as poor to adequate, leadership and fighting spirit remain quite high.

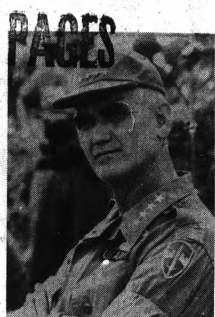

Westmoreland tells his commanders: "The only way to defeat the Vietnamese totally is to defeat his morale, discredit his leaders and to make him see only death awaits him in the future."

TROOP INCREASE

The Pentagon has agreed to boost U.S. troops strength this year from the present 438,000 to about 500,000.

Westmoreland declines to discuss strength ceilings, but other senior U.S. officers are known to believe far more are necessary.

The new traffic system is expected to be in operation by Sept. 1.

'Austerity Budget' Detailed by Romney

LANSING (U) — Gov. George Romney today made public what he termed his "austerity budget" — a proposed cut-back in state spending if the Legislature fails to approve fiscal reform.

The proposed austerity budget would cut $185 million from the governor's initial $1 billion, $153 million budget proposal.

Largest cuts would be taken from the money appropriated for education, mental health, state employment and the building programs for colleges and universities.

"I have announced this austerity budget today to emphasize what I have said many times," Romney declared. "We must live within our income."

Romney said his original budget provided for little more than essential state services at present levels and presumed tax reform action before the new fiscal year.

4,000 GIs Shifted to Menaced Area

SAIGON (U) — The U.S. command today announced a major shift of American troops to bolster defenses in five northernmost provinces of South Vietnam menaced by steady Communist infiltration and 35,000 North Vietnamese regulars.

The 4,000 men of the U.S. 196th Light Infantry Brigade were sent into the 1st Corps area, a sector defended until now solely by U.S. Marines and some South Vietnamese troops.

The arrival of the infantrymen allowed the Marines to move a similar number of men northward to the sensitive sector just below the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

The troops of the 196th were airlifted from Communist war zone C near the Cambodian frontier across the country to the east coast area around Chu Lai. It was the first time a major Army infantry unit was deployed in the 1st Corps area to stay.

U.S. intelligence reports say the Communists have about 35,000 troops in and around the demilitarized zone and strong guerrilla forces scattered throughout the five provinces of the 1st Corps area.

COMPLETED

U.S. headquarters in Saigon said the 196th Brigade completed the air movement to Chu Lai today. The headquarters said the brigade was assigned operational tasks under the control of the U.S. 1st Marine Division in the Chu Lai area and will shield the revolutionary development or pacification program in Quang Tin Province and the northern part of Quang Ngai Province.

Giant Air Force C130 transports made more than 400 flights to transfer the infantry brigade.

No announcement was made of the new deployment of the Marine forces which until now have been assigned to the Chu Lai coastal area.

The 196th Brigade took part in Operation Junction City from Feb. 2 to April 8. Junction City, the biggest operation of the war, is still under way and is a sweep of the Viet Cong stronghold in Communist war zone C close to the Cambodian border.

Speck Defense Ends; Case Goes to Jury Saturday

PEORIA, Ill. (U) — The defense has ended its surprisingly brief testimony in the Richard Speck murder trial, and the case of the murdered eight nurses will go to jury tomorrow.

Public defender Gerld Getty called only 11 witnesses to rebut the state's contention that Speck, 26, strangled and stabbed the young women last July 14 in a townhouse on the South Side of Chicago.

The defense's final witnesses yesterday were a man and his wife whose testimony provided an alibi for Speck's whereabouts at the time of the murders.

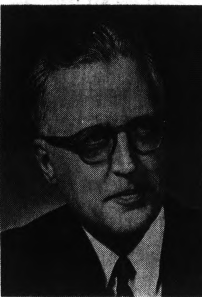

Murrl Farmer, a bartender in a waterfront restaurant, told the court he saw the defendant twice July 13. The first time, Farmer said, was at 8 p.m.

"The next time I saw him, it was pretty close to midnight," Farmer said. His wife, Gardena, said she saw Speck sometime after 11:30 p.m. "I served him a hamburger and a glass of ice water," Mrs. Farmer said she did not see Speck leave but she estimated the time of his departure at 12:30 a.m. July 14.

Getty, Cook County public defender, asked Farmer if he was certain he had seen Speck on the dates and times specified.

"I'd stake my life on it," Farmer answered.

This conflicted with the prosecution's timetable of Speck's activities the night of July 13. Cororan Amuroso, 24, who survived the massacre by hiding under a bed, has testified that the intruder entered the townhouse at 11 p.m. July 13.

Political Aid Law Loses in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted — in a slap at President Johnson — to repeal the presidential election campaign financing law. But the measure's chief backer vowed today the fight isn't over.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., "author of the law, told newsmen he considered the defeat "a small skirmish in a long war."

But Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., sponsor of the repeal move — which won 48 to 42 — said he's fully confident the law will be wiped off the books effective July 1.

The repeal move still faces House action.

GM Officers Earn 9 Pct. Less in 1966

DETROIT (U) — General Motors Corp. paid its officers and directors $15.6 million last year, 9 per cent less than in 1965, the firm's proxy statement showed today.

The 61 executives and directors received the remuneration in salaries, fees, bonuses and contingent stock credits. The firm said it paid 63 officers and directors $17.2 million in 1965.

The decline in payments reflected reduced earnings by GM.

The company's profits fell to $1.8 billion on sales of $20.2 billion last year from the 1965 profits of $2.1 billion sales of $20.7 billion.

Frederic G. Donner, board chairman and chief executive officer, remained the nation's highest paid corporate executive. He received $790,000, comprised of $200,000 in salary and $590,000 in bonuses.

POLICY REFLECTED

Donner, 64 and nearing retirement age, was paid $224,964 in 1965, but the decline largely reflected the GM policy against granting stock options to executives within 18 months of their automatic retirement dates.

Donner will be 65 in October. Under usual policy he would step down Nov. 1.

The proxy statement also revealed that Gen. Lucius D. Clay and R. Samuel McLaughlin are stepping down as directors.

It said McLaughlin, a board member for almost 50 years, and Clay have decided not to stand for reelection. McLaughlin is 95 and Clay will be 70 this month.

The other 22 directors and three new nominees—to succeed Clay, McLaughlin and Ormond E. Hunt who died in January — were designated for election May 19 at the annual stockholders meeting.

Dodd Evidence Being Reviewed

WASHINGTON (U) — Senate ethics committee sources indicated today that evidence gathered against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd is being reviewed in response to a request for reopening of committee hearings.

The appeal for additional public hearings into misconduct charges against Dodd was made by four ex-employees of the Connecticut Democratic Party. All four admittedly rifled Dodd's files to disclose what they said was serious wrongdoing.

Their letter to the bipartisan committee said areas not covered in hearings last summer and last month "constitute the heart of the Dodd case."

Although the committee already is at work on a report to the Senate of its findings and recommendations, an authoritative source said that Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., has never foreclosed the possibility of additional hearings.

Stennis is expected to issue a statement on behalf of the committee, although this was left somewhat up in the air last night after he and other committee members conferred informally.

Reshuffle in Hungary

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungary's heads of state and government resigned today in a major reshuffle of the Communist hierarchy following national elections held last month on a Communist-dominated one-party ticket.

President Istvan Debi, 69, stepped down for apparent reasons of failing health after having served since 1952. He was replaced by Pal Lozonci, a 48-year-old farming expert and minister of agriculture since 1960.

High temperatures will dry up soggy lawns so grass can be mowed.

The official U.S. Weather Bureau report looks like this:

TODAY — Mostly cloudy and warmer with showers and thundershowers likely this afternoon and continuing into tonight. High 68 to 74. Low tonight 50 to 55.

Morning winds southeasterly at 15 to 15 miles per hour becoming 12 to 25 miles this afternoon and tonight.

TOMORROW — Partly sunny and mild.

SUNDAY — Partly cloudy and mild.

Baby Surprise to Mother

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two months ago Sylvia McKnight says she left District of Columbia General Hospital thinking her premature baby was dead.

This week, the hospital asked her when she was coming to take the infant home — the baby girl, now weighing 5 pounds, 7 ounces, was ready to be discharged.

"I was really shocked," Mrs. McKnight said last night.

"I didn't even know I had a baby. They told me she was dead."

Mrs. McKnight, who has two older children, was admitted to the hospital Jan. 31. The next day she gave birth to a 2-pound, 9-ounce girl, four months premature.

"When I asked the nurse about my baby, she said 'she had died,' Mrs. McKnight said.

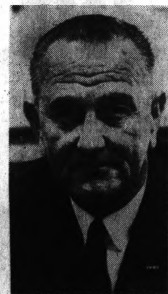

"Then they discharged me and I didn't hear anything more about it."

Hospital officials said the baby was placed in an incubator immediately after birth and was considered in critical condition for weeks.

District Health Director Murray Grant said he could find no record that anyone informed Mrs. McKnight her baby was dead.

"It had to be a misunderstanding," he said.

LBJ Said Pleased by Summit

PRESIDENT JOHNSON

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (U) — President Johnson turned homeward from the Inter-American summit conference today, and U.S. sources said he was fairly well pleased with the results.

Some of the participants hailed the milestone session as one of the most important meetings in Latin American history.

But a note of caution remained: It would not be an unqualified success until there was assurance that the nations involved would carry out its decisions and intentions. In Latin America, that is an important reservation.

Johnson came to the meeting of hemisphere chiefs of state at a moment when disharmony reigned. He was able to leave today on at least a superficial note of harmony. U.S. sources considered it a personal achievement for Johnson.

CARRY A MESSAGE

They also are taking home a message from President Johnson: That the building of that future must be largely a do-it-yourself job, with the United States standing by to give friendly help, but help which falls short of what many a Latin American leader sought.

A "Declaration of the Presidents of America" was the fruit of long debate among hemisphere foreign ministers and two days of discussion by their chiefs.

The final act of the 30-nation conference will be the signing ceremony today.

Fife Loser Despite Effort

2 No-Hitters Thrown in Prep Play

A pair of no-hitters highlighted prep baseball action yesterday, but wildness marred the performance of one of the hurlers and he was saddled with a loss.

PNH Loses in Track to RO Kimball

Senior Mel Cole turned in a sparkling individual performance yesterday in a losing effort as Pontiac North dropped a 68-50 track decision to Royal Oak Kimball.

While PNH was losing, Waterford (1-2) won its first of the season by downing Wayne John Glenn, 74-44.

Cole won four events — long jump (20-2½), high jump (6-0), high hurdles (15-5) and low hurdles (28-7) but it wasn't enough to offset Kimball's team balance.

Kimball's Marc Dutton set a record with a 9:56.4 clocking in the two-mile race and Bill Turowski equalled the mile mark with a 4:30 time. Ron Farac helped the winners with wins in the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Larry Biskner went over the bar at 13-feet-5½ inches to set a Waterford pole vault record.

Clarkston's Dan Fife, an All-State basketball player, made his '67 baseball debut by hurling a no-hitter but walks and wild pitches proved his downfall and he and his teammates suffered a 3-1 setback at Oxford.

Armada's Lee Thompson had better luck. The 6-1 Thompson, who's headed for Western Michigan next fall, pitched a perfect game as Armada blanked Brown City, 5-0.

Thompson faced only 21 batters and struck out 16. Brown City batters hit only one ball out of the infield, that coming with one down in the ninth. It was a lazy fly ball to center for the second out and Thompson ended the game by fanning the final batter.

EARLY LEAD
Clarkston stalked Fife to a 1-0 lead in the top of the fourth inning, but in Oxford's half of the same frame, the winners came up with three runs on Chasiea 000 000 6-0-2-1 South Lyon 013 010 3-2-4-3 ALLEN, B. Harvey (2) and M. Harvey: Don DEATON and Byrd.
