'Noncandidate' Romney Back in Washington

BY JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan comes to town today for a fresh demonstration that even if a man isn't running for the presidency it's nice to keep the prospect alive.

Romney, who has said repeatedly that "I am not going to become a candidate" for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, is booked for a luncheon speech and question period before the National Press Club.

This is hardly the forum for the "Michigan Week" address aides said they expected him to make. Nor could the governor be assured of bringing down the house with an explanation of how his administration had jacked up the state's financial status.

What the Washington press corps wants to know—and may or may not find out—is whether Romney is going along with a move by his state's GOP congressional delegation to make him a favorite son candidate.

DELEGATION PROPOSED

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, who seldom ventures out on the end of a political limb, has proposed the state's 48-vote delegation go to the party nominating convention pledged to Romney.

This would be a device calculated to promote the kind of "vigorous, controversial convention" Ford thinks the party needs as a prelude to a ripsnorting campaign against President Kennedy.

In the viewpoint of Ford and a great many other politicians, Romney has made an impressive start as governor. But they think he is too new to the job to be sprouting publicly any ambition to be president.

Romney has had some difficulty dodging the bouquets thrown his way by some highly placed friends. The latest of these was from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who said the governor would have to be considered for the 1964 nomination if he "does a good job in Michigan."

For the time being, while the political situation shakes itself down, Romney's friends are happy to keep him in the "considered" class. There is every evidence the governor is cooperating in that objective.

Ailing Pontiff Halts Audience on Short Notice

Doctor's Suggestion Limits Pope's Activity to Blessing of Crowd

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII, reported suffering from a new and severe setback in the illness that felled him last fall, curtailed his activities today on doctor's orders.

The 81-year-old Roman Catholic pontiff canceled his regular weekly general audience in St. Peter's Basilica on short notice.

However, he appeared at his apartment window to bless a crowd of 15,000 in St. Peter's Square below.

The Vatican press office explained in a statement that Pope John was "following the suggestion of his doctor" in limiting himself to blessing the crowd in the square.

Vatican sources said the Pope planned to appear at his window again tomorrow to recite the noon Angelus prayer.

Pope John looked very pale as he delivered his blessing from his third-floor apartment today, but he spoke with vigor.

Referring to the Feast Day of the Ascension tomorrow, he said: "We follow with our desire the Lord who ascends into Heaven. And, not being able to follow him, we remain on earth, in his holy church, imitating the example of the apostles who gathered, invoking the Holy Ghost."

DOCTORS CALLED

An informed source said one of Rome's top surgeons, Pietro Valdoni, spent the night in the Apostolic Palace and that another doctor, Piero Mazzoni, also was there part if not all of the night.

Mazzoni takes care of the Pope when the pontiff's personal physician, Prof. Antonio Gasbarrini, is at his home in Bologna.

Valdoni was consulted when the Pope first became seriously ill with anemia and a stomach disorder six months ago. At that time, doctors ruled out surgery.

Gasbarrini, reached at Bologna, said he had no immediate plans to come to Rome. He declined comment on the Pope's condition.

The cancellation was the first

Start Perimeter Road at Ceremony Today

Years of planning began to bear fruit today as State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie and city officials broke ground for Pontiac's $3.3 million perimeter road.

The ground-breaking ceremonies took place at 11 a.m. in front of City Hall.

The first leg of the loop highway follows Parke northward past City Hall.

A sudden storm earlier threatened to move the long-awaited event indoors, but by 11 the sky had cleared and the program proceeded under sunny skies.

Mayor Robert A. Landry opened the ceremonies and acted as master of ceremonies for the brief program.

Landry introduced city commissioners, City Manager Robert A. Stierer and other administrators attending the event.

Mackie, in his brief remarks, said it was a pleasure to be able to participate in the groundbreaking.

He praised the city for being prepared "to use the construction of this highway facility as part of an imaginative program of downtown revitalization."

Following his talk, officials formally turned over the first shovel full of dirt symbolizing the start of perimeter road construction.

The event was being filmed by the highway department as another link in the movie to be produced about the perimeter road from first planning to the completion of construction late in 1964.

FIRST IN STATE

Mackie said that "Pontiac will the first city in Michigan to complete a downtown loop highway.

"It will be a tremendous shot in the arm to the economy of this city," he said.

Mackie credited the enthusiastic interest of city officials and civic leaders for moving the project ahead of the originally scheduled construction date.

In his opening statement, Landry noted that this was "indeed a red-letter day for the City of Pontiac."

Administration Loses

Sound Loud 'No' on Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wheat growers have sounded a loud "no" to President Kennedy's program for stricter controls on their crops, raising a cloud of confusion over the nation's farmland.

The administration's program, which needed two-thirds of the vote in yesterday's referendum, failed even to muster a majority, getting only 47.79 per cent of the 1.14 million votes cast.

But farmers who rejected the program of high price supports and tight controls on production in hopes Congress would write new legislation this year got a rude jolt from the reaction of the administration.

Oakland County wheat farmers rejected the Kennedy administration's proposed wheat control plan with a vote of 517 "no" and 201 "yes."

In Chicago the stinging defeat of the President's program for stricter controls on wheat drove wheat futures prices down as much as 9 cents a bushel in early trading on the farmland.

But the losses were pared in later transactions.

Traders said the drop was a psychological impact inasmuch as the wheat futures currently being traded are not affected by the wheat farmers' rejection of the proposal. The control program would have applied to the 1964 crop.

Yesterday's referendum means an alternative program of low price supports for those who voluntarily cut production, but none for those who reject any acreage controls, will govern the 1964 wheat crop.

Administration spokesmen from Kennedy on down made it clear they plan to hold the farmers to their choice.

Kennedy said the administration accepts the judgment of the wheat farmers, who "voted for the right to produce whatever they desire in 1964, for whatever the market will pay, rather than for higher prices and limited production."

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, who before the vote said defeat of the administration plan would be "chaotic," today said flatly the alternative provided by the referendum "will be in effect for the 1964 wheat crop.

"The point of view which prevailed in the referendum is entitled to a full and fair trial," he said.

Resolution Would Hike Tax Levy

By DICK SAUNDERS

The City Commission last night introduced a resolution setting the groundwork for major changes in Pontiac's fiscal policies.

The immediate effect of the resolution would be to raise the city's 1963 tax levy by approximately $235,000 and put the tax levy on a state-equalized valuation base for the first time in the city's history.

Long-range, the resolution recognizes a need to accomplish two things:

1 — Eventually re-establish the city's July tax collection to conform with the start of the budget year (January), or vice versa.

2—Abolish the annual reappropriated surplus appropriation in the interests of sound fiscal policy.

LONG HISTORY

The resolution stems from a long history of fiscal difficulty resulting from the manner in which Pontiac's city charter prescribes the city budget and tax collection be executed each year.

The charter says that Pontiac's city budget must be adopted on a calendar year basis, Jan. 1 - Dec. 31.

However, the charter sets July as the time that city taxes are to be collected to finance the annual budget.

Only a vote of the general public can change provisions in the city charter.

Flashing his grin as he drove up the legendary "Canyon of Heroes" under an almost blinding shower of confetti and ticker tape that piled into his open car, whipped around light poles, and gusted to the tops of the skyscrapers, Cooper told in his laconic twang how he felt about it all.

"Fine, just fine."

Then, on the front of the city hall steps, he told the throng in the plaza before him:

"I'd like to point out one thing. This program belongs to you, the people—the program of putting a man into space for scientific purposes. . .

"We (the astronauts) are the ones who have received all the glory, but there are other people involved who are just as dedicated. They are freguently not noticed at all."

And Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who was in the parade, echoed him and said: "All the nation has its eyes on New York. We are very grateful for your tribute to Major Cooper and the other spacemen."

The "Canyon of Heroes" along lower Broadway, was officially renamed "Mercury Way" for the day, but it seemed from the noise that bounced and boomed along the skyscrapers that it might more properly be "Orbit Alley."

LOOK OVER BUDGETS — E. M. Estes (left), general chairman of the 1963 United Fund campaign, looks over one UF agency budget request with Henry D. UF Official Asks Caution of Budgeters

The Pontiac Area United Fund's 1963 general chairman, E. M. Estes, counseled UF budget committee panel members last night to be "cautiously optimistic" in setting their budget goals for this year's fund drive.

Addressing more than 60 members of the eight budget panels at a dinner sponsored by the Community National Bank, Estes advised them to arrive at a "fair compromise" between the money requested by the 54 member agencies and that raised during this year's drive.

"You must be realistic in comparing the need for services with funds that will be available," the Pontiac Motor Division general manager cautioned.

Panel members will hold a series of daily meetings next month to go over budget requests from each agency receiving aid from the United Fund.

South Remains Racially Tense

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Racial unrest showed no sign of subsiding here today as more than 900 Negro students were released from jail to the custody of North Carolina Agricultural and Technical College.

But some progress was reported in racial disputes elsewhere in the state.

A court order issued by City-County Judge, Judge Herman Enochs Jr., virtually cleared three temporary jails set up in Greensboro to house more than 1,200 persons, held on various charges resulting from racial demonstrations.

Judge Enochs' order, directing the sheriff to turn over the prisoners to the custody of the president of Agricultural & Technical College here, contained no reason for the move.

A court order issued at the suggestion of Gov. Terry Sanford virtually cleared three temporary jails set up in Greensboro to house more than 1,200 persons, held on various charges resulting from racial demonstrations.

More than 1,500 persons have been arrested during the last week.

The college students were placed in custody of Dr. L. C. Dowdy, acting president of the state-supported college. They were ordered to appear in court for trials beginning Thursday.

Included among those released were 162 persons—including several juveniles—arrested during demonstrations Tuesday night. Approximately 300 other demonstrators, mostly Bennett College students, remained in jail.

SHUTTLE RELAY

Officers set up a three-hour shuttle relay starting about 12:30 a.m. to move the students from a former polio hospital and the Greensboro War Memorial Coliseum to the A&T College campus. Nearly 250 students housed in an armory were released early Tuesday night. Many of the girls sobbed as they left the converted hospital building. Several male students staged a sitdown for nearly an hour to assure the release of the coeds first.

About 150 students at Bennett College, a Methodist school for girls, refused freedom and were retained at the hospital site.

Demonstrators housed in a jail at nearby High Point and on a county farm near here were to be released today.

In other racial news:

● At Durham, N.C., newly installed Mayor Wense Grabarex reported a temporary truce while he and Negro leaders attempt to work out their differences. Seven restaurants have agreed to desegregate. Arrests total 1,380.

● In Montgomery, Ala., "freedom marcher" Eric Weinberger, 31, of New York City, begins the seventh day of a hunger strike in Kilby prison. A doctor expects to decide shortly whether to send him to a hospital.

City Eyes Policies of Fiscal Plan

increasingly difficult to finance city operations during the first six months of each year due to constantly rising operating costs without corresponding increases in our income from taxes," said City Manager Robert A. Stierer.

The problem of operating from January through June before income is available for that operating period would be easy if it were possible to operate a city on credit.

However, it is impossible to pay employes with "credit" for six months each year. It takes cash.

Thus, the proposed resolution recognizes the need for "a new program looking toward the solution of this problem."

It states the new program should consist of "building up cash balances for several years" until enough is accumulated to carry the city over the January-June budget period.

This would be accomplished "by maximum economies in operation and appropriations, and by a tax rate . . . sufficient to produce additional revenue."

Thus, the resolution determines it will be necessary to raise some $4.55 million by the tax levy this year, compared to the $4,314,240 originally established as the tax levy when the budget was adoptetd in January.

It also determines that the tax rate will be applied to the city's state equalized valuation.

Formerly, the city's taxes had been levied on a local assessed valuation.

The effect of the change would generally be to increase tax bills somewhat.

The tax rate needed to accomplish this will be determined by the city assessor and finance director.

Since the move requires that the 1963 budget appropriation ordinance be amended, or changed, the proposed resolution orders City Attorney William A. Ewart to prepare the necessary amendments.

Wallace Draws Lines of Battle

Sets Out to Block University Integration

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace, thrusting state sovereignty into the path of federal authority, has set out to block court-ordered desegregation of the University of Alabama.

The youthful Alabama governor laid his constitutional authority on the line Tuesday after the university board of trustees had agreed to admit two Negroes and U.S. refused to delay the June 10 enrollment.

"I embody the sovereignty of this state," declared Wallace, a veteran of battles with the federal government, "and I will be present to bar the entrance of any Negro who seeks to enroll at the university."

Thus, Wallace embarked upon the same course followed last fall by Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi who barred Negro James H. Meredith from the University of Mississippi. Meredith later enrolled behind federal forces.

Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, a political foe of Wallace, warned defiance of federal court orders may lead to violence. He said those who defy such orders may be to blame if federal troops are used in Alabama as they were in Mississippi.

WHITES WILLING

A sampling of sentiment of students and faculty members at the university campus at Tuscaloosa indicates that while white students may not like the idea, they are willing to accept Negro classmates peacefully.

On other fronts:

— The simmering Birmingham racial situation remained quiet as 3,000 federal troops stood by at military bases and more than 1,300 state, county and city law enforcement officers kept watch over a 28-block area where rioting broke out May 12.

— The Birmingham School Board reversed itself and began hearing grievances of the 1,081 Negro pupils it expelled or suspended Monday for participating in racial demonstrations. A hearing was scheduled today on the injunction petition.

Bloomfield Hills Ballot Includes Swimming Pool

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The addition of a swimming pool to the Bloomfield Hills High School will be considered by voters here June 10.

The board of education last night agreed to put the proposition on the ballot after receiving a petition from property owners in the district.

Supt. Eugene L. Johnson expects to receive a cost estimate on the project within a week, but said it will probably be in the neighborhood of $500,000.

A 25-year bond issue would support construction of the pool, natatorium, showers, locker rooms and spectator facilities, Johnson said.

District voters rejected a pool proposition two years ago when they approved construction of an addition to the high school, now six years old.

Johnson said the pool would supplement the school's physical education facilities which were designed for 700 students.

High school enrollment, currently 960, is expected to be over 1,000 next year.

The board authorized Johnson to begin a study of transportation control in the district.

With a fleet of 28 vehicles, the district now buses 80 per cent of its students. The administration is to investigate the possibility of extending walking areas.

Board members last night agreed to finance half the cost of an organ for the high school music department. The other half of the estimated $3,600 cost has been raised by the department.

As part of the Birmingham Public Schools' participation in Michigan Week, an all-school art show will be staged at Derby Junior High School Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Hours Friday will be 7 - 10 p.m. From 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. students will demonstrate their skills in various art fields.

The free exhibition will be open to the public from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. Saturday and from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Sunday.

There will be about 1,500 objects displayed, representing all of the elementary and secondary schools.

Art areas to be included are painting, drawing, print making, commercial art, charcoal, pen and ink, pencil, murals, copper embossing, plaster carving, sculpture, ceramics, jewelry, weaving, papier mache, crayon, puppets and masks.

riculture Committee, said he would do all in his power to prevent any further wheat legislation this session.

"Democracy has spoken and the wheat farmers have voted themselves out of a program," Ellender said. 'I wish them well."

The administration stand promised to put heavy pressures on Congress. Many Republicans have new programs drafted and plan to introduce them at once.

Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, which played a leading role in piling up the heavy "no" vote in the referendum, hailed the results of the election as "a bright day for agriculture" and added:

"The way now is open for the Congress to solve the wheat surplus problem on a basis consistent with the maintenance of the market system."

The administration had thrown its prestige and strength behind its program and suffered a stinging defeat. Complete returns gave 547,176 votes for the plan and 597,776 against it.

Michigan wheat growers, turning out in surprisingly high numbers, defeated the program by an emphatic 4-1 margin.

Complete unofficial totals compiled by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in East Lansing showed 61,066 voted "no" and 15,523 voted "yes" on a proposal requiring a two-thirds national "yes" vote to go into effect.

Clarence Prentice, secretary-manager of the Michigan Farm Bureau, said bureau officials had expected the wheat plan to be defeated in Michigan, but had not expected so wide a margin.

Cold Outbreak Expected as One of State's Worst

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Farmers in western Michigan were warned today by the U.S. Weather Bureau in Grand Rapids to expect "one of the most intense late spring cold outbreaks we've had in recent years."

Chief meteorologist Fred Baughman said the predicted frost tonight will catch most of the fruit in western Michigan in a very vulnerable stage of development.

The forecast expected temperatures below the danger point in most sections of western Lower Michigan, ranging generally in the neighborhood of 30 degrees and down as low as 25 to 28 in the northwest portion.

Romney Backs State's Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. George Romney, defending state's rights, said today that states are more than just political subdivisions of an all-powerful federal government.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the National Press Club, Romney said there is still a "vital and progressive role for states to play in our constitutional structure."

But, he added:

"Too many people, it seems, are for state's rights because they want to keep things from happening. They are afraid or opposed to change. They want to make states into roadblocks on the path to progress."

Romney, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination spoke to the Press Club on the occasion of 'Michigan Week."

"I came here today to sell Michigan, and I hope that while I succeed in that, I will also succeed in convincing you that that is my only purpose," he said.

Romney has repeatedly declared that he is not and will not be a candidate for the GOP nomination, but he has not flatly ruled out a draft.

The governor, whose election last November ended a 14-year Democratic grip on Michigan's executive reins, outlined what he said were the steps being taken by Michigan to improve its national image.

These included adoption of a new state constitution—which is being challenged in a recount — and legislation to accelerate an economic boom in Michigan.

"Our economy is booming," Romney said. "The automobile industry is headed toward the best year in its history. Nonfarm employment was up 113,000 in March of this year over last year. Unemployment was down over 62,000 over the same period."

Goldwater Move Runs Into Snags

Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor's "Volunteers for Goldwater" — announced only Monday — is already in the pangs of a membership declined.

Four of the five persons named by Taylor as members of the new group besides himself have denied being members, and the fifth said he was an "involuntary volunteer."

All five are assistant prosecutors or Taylor's staff.

Taylor named them as members when he announced formation of the new group to back U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

But, when the five were asked about their membership yesterday, it was discovered that:

Three denied being members or having been asked to join.

One said he knew nothing about it.

One said he was an "involuntary volunteer."

Especially perturbed was Donald M. Reddy, a county assistant prosecutor since last June.

"I was never consulted about it," said Reddy. "Maybe I'd join, I don't know. But I should be asked first. I am not a member."

Two other's said they also had not been asked to join, although one of them had agreed with Taylor that such a group should be formed.

Another said, "I heard some talk about it, but didn't know it was serious."

Besides Reddy, Taylor named assistant prosecutors Robert Templin, Edward H. Shigley, Robert L. Shipper and Barry M. Grant as members of the new group. He said there were 10 other members, who he did not name.

Pearson Asks Unity to Guide NATO Allies

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson called today for an equal partnership between North America and Europe in the direction and guidance of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Pearson addressed the opening session of a three-day NATO ministerial session which seeks to patch up differences over the future role of nuclear weapons in its defense plans.

NATO Secretary-General Dirk U. Stikker and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, president of the NATO Council, also appealed for continued solidarity in the face of persisting Communist threats.

Pearson declared the NATO allies cannot afford a European community and a North American community, "each controlling its own policy and moving away from the other as a common menace recedes."

FACES PERILS

"It would be a sad day for peace and security," he said, "if a united Europe played a separate role."

Stikker warned the council that the West still faces worldwide Communist perils, even though there is no open crisis in Europe.

Foreign and defense ministers of the 15-nation alliance met in the Canadian House of Commons chamber. The Atlantic allies, in the face of a Soviet warning, prepared to form an inter-Allied nuclear strike force.

Russ Won't Pay Full U. N. Bill

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union served notice today that beginning this year it will refuse to make payments for certain parts of the regular U.N. budget.

Soviet Delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko told the General Assembly's 111-nation budgetary committee that his country would decline to help pay for:

—Any interest or principle on the U.N. emergency bond issue.

—Expenses of the U.N. commission for the unification and rehabilitation of Korea or the U.N. memorial cemetery in Korea.

—The U.N. truce supervision organization for Palestine.

—The U.N. field service, which provides personnel for various peacekeeping missions.

Fedorenko also said the Soviet Union will no longer pay its share of the budget devoted to the regular U.N. technical assistance program, but will make voluntary contributions for technical assistance financed outside the budget.

Faith 7 Is a Fitting Name for Craft of Religious Astronaut

WASHINGTON (AP) —From a spacecraft fittingly named Faith 7 came fresh evidence that American astronauts believe that something more than computers guides them through the skies.

It was a prayer offered by Maj. Gordon Cooper at the close of his eight-minute address to Congress Tuesday—a prayer he spoke into his tape recorder last week as he whizzed around the earth on his 16th orbit. His mother, sitting in the House gallery, bowed her head and covered her eyes, then wiped away the tears and smiled.

The astronauts do not like to talk about their religious beliefs. When asked, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will reply that religion is not listed on the records of the spacemen.

Cooper himself is not a regular church-goer but he said recently he considers religion important "in all the things we do." As a youth he attended the Methodist church and his family, a space agency official said, belongs to a Methodist church in Seabrook, Tex.

At the first news conference of an American spaceman, Alan Shepard Jr. would only say of the astronaut's religious beliefs that: "I think that all seven of us have that religious faith which we express in our own individual ways. I think that is about all I care to comment."

But, since then, some of the astronauts have struggled over their hesitancy and revealed evidences of belief, sometimes strong belief, in God.

Perhaps Cooper's prayer was the most potent evidence, for it came in so public and significant a place. Here's the prayer he offered in his spacecraft, and repeated Tuesday: "Father, thank you, especially for letting me fly this flight.

"Thank you for the privilege of being able to be in this position; to be up in this wondrous place, seeing all these many startling, wonderful things that you have created.

"Help guide and direct all of us that we may shape our lives to be much better Christians, trying to help one another, and to work with one another rather than fighting and bickering.

"Help us to complete this mission successfully.

"Help us in our future space endeavors that we may show the world that a democracy really can compete, and still are able to do things in a big way, and are able to do research, development and can conduct many scientific and very technical programs.

"Be with all our families. Give them guidance and encouragement, and let them know that everything will be okay.

"We ask in Thy name.

"Amen."

'ABIDING FAITH'

'I have what I consider an abiding faith which sustains me at all times," Carpenter told a newsman, "I think it presumptuous to pray for yourself in time of peril."

The first American to orbit the earth, John H. Glenn Jr., expressed similar sentiments in February 1962 when he testified before a committee of Congress.

Glenn, a Presbyterian, was asked if he had prayed during his flight.

"I can't say that while in orbit you sit there and pray, or anything like that. . ." he said: "My religion is not of the fire engine type—not one to be called on only in emergency and then put God back in the woodwork for a 24-hour period. I am trying to live as best I can. My peace has been made with my maker for a number of years, so I had no particular worries on that line."

Clean-City Campaign

Trash Basket Demands Attention

NEW YORK (AP) — In Times Square, a trash basket began talking Tuesday. So passersby talked back.

It started when a woman tossed a chewing gum-wrapper on the sidewalk, ignoring the trash basket nearby.

'Madame!" exclaimed the basket. "A cleaner New York is up to you."

The woman turned slowly and glared at the basket.

"I'm Lively Louie," said the basket by way of introduction. "I'd like to be of use."

Passersby gathered and began inspecting the garrulous receptacle.

"Is there a midget inside?" someone asked.

There was not a midget inside, but there was a small transmitter-receiver. Two stories above the street, with a microphone, was a Department of Sanitation worker.

It's all part of a campaign to make New Yorkers more conscious of the trash basket's presence—and its uses. But the gum wrapper-tossing woman didn't know that, so she had a bit of a conversation with the basket.

"What's your name, madame?" asked the basket courteously.

"My pen name?" she asked.

"Any name."

"I don't talk to trash cans. I'm a writer, and my work does not belong with you."

A few more words were exchanged, and then the unidentified woman bade the trash can farewell.

"Goodbye," said the basket.

Wife of Violinist Stern Has 3rd Child, a Boy

NEW YORK (AP) — Violinist Isaac Stern has become a father for the third time.

His wife gave birth to a nine-pound boy yesterday at Beth Israel Hospital. The child will be named David.

The Sterns, who live in Manhattan, have a daughter Shira, 7, and a son Michael, 3.

2 Held for Examination on Robbery Charges

DETROIT (AP)— Richard Troy, 42, of Warren and Richard Firth, 43, of Detroit are being held under $5,000 bonds for examination May 29 in Recorder's Court on armed robbery charges.

Troy is a police prisoner in a Detroit hospital. He was shot in the abdomen last Thursday by an off-duty patrolman while allegedly attempting to hold up a Detroit bar.

What have we done for you lately?

Back in 1931 when Osmun's was new . . . charge accounts weren't.

But until recently there has been virtually no change in the routine: Your charge enabled you to buy a suit or a topcoat without immediately spending a cent of cash. Then, later, when the bill came, you paid. The whole amount. At one time. Today, though, your Osmun's charge can be as flexible as your needs.

Want to pay your bills in full as they fall due? Fine. Prefer to maintain a low monthly charge balance? A higher balance? Be our guest. We want to make your purchasing as easy and practical as possible.

That's why you can rely on Osmun's to continue to offer you the newest services as well as the very cream of America's brand name clothing and accessories . . . like "Botany" 500, Eagle, Petrocelli, Dobbs, French-Shriner, etc.

Incidentally, it only takes 4 minutes to open a convenient Osmun's charge. We can do it in three minutes if you're rushed.

After all, we're flexible, too.

Politician Runs...Fast

HANNA, Wyo. (AP) —Don Shipman is a politician who didn't choose to run — and meant it.

After spending four years as mayor, Shipman announced he wouldn't seek re-election. He was elected anyway, in a write-in vote last week.

Shipman said he wouldn't accept.

Voters Want to Keep School Grade 9-12

United College Fund Is Worthwhile Cause

We heartily endorse the campaign for financial aid being conducted by The United Negro College Fund.

The interest of the organization is the support of 32 Negro colleges, all but one in the South.

Since most Southern Negro families are unable to meet normal costs of higher education, these colleges hold their fees below cost.

The differential which the College Fund equalizes opens the academic door which would otherwise be closed to a multitude of ambitious Negro youths.

Events during the past years have indicated one of the main causes of the diverse sociological problems affecting the Nation.

It is the inadequate education of countless citizens. Furthermore, the accelerating birth rate of the United States points to aggravation of the situation.

This weak link in the citizenship chain leads to eventual collapse, as hordes of the uneducated cannot meet minimal employment requirements — at a time when industries are begging for skilled workers.

Thus shunted into a life of idleness, the misfits swell unemployment and relief rolls, and account for a sizable percentage of the Country's increasing crime.

But countering this serious educational deficiency, graduates of the colleges supported by the Negro College Fund have done outstanding work where most urgently needed.

Gifts to the fund are investments in the Nation's welfare.

Salvation Army People Merit Commendation

This is Salvation Army Week.

The PRESS heartily congratulates this fine organization on the observance and the global humanitarian influence it exerts.

At thought of the Salvation Army, the image that comes to the minds of most is that of the black kettles, tinkling bells and red-piped uniforms featuring cheery workers as they seek support for their cause at Christmastime.

But this is only complementary to the vast year-in, year-out program of physical and spiritual rehabilitation which has raised millions of human beings from depths of despair to heights of hope.

Founded in England in 1865 by WILLIAM BOOTH, it was not until 1880 that the Army crossed the Atlantic to the United States.

Today, with 26,000 officers and 1 million lay members, it spreads the Gospel in 86 countries and 140 languages.

In the U.S. alone, there are 1,300 evangelical centers and 125 rehabilitation centers.

The latter provide residence for 10,000, while some 75,000 of the physical and mental needy annually receive therapy of some kind.

Pontiac's rehabilitation center held open house last Sunday in connection with the general celebration. It also marked the fifth anniversary of the local facility.

Whenever there is a flood, holocaust or other emergency, the Salvation Army is a familiar messenger of mercy, acting as an auxiliary aid to the disaster unit in charge.

And there is hardly a World War I veteran who does not recall the smile of a lassie as she served doughnuts and coffee behind the lines in France.

During World War II, the organization became more modernized and far-flung. More than 3,000 service units, including 1,000 mobile canteens, were strategically located throughout the world.

Salvation Army officers live a life of service. All are ordained ministers. They live in Army-owned houses and can marry only within the service. Regardless of rank, they are paid no more than $75 a week per couple.

These inspired men and women are indeed God's soldiers, meriting a humble salute to their dedication.

Sit-In Rulings Part of History

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court's decisions this week on sit-in demonstrations made one thing clear, left another up in the air and may mean one of the justices disagrees with his ancestor.

MARLOW

The decisions have their roots far back in American history. Working up to them a step at a time, from the past to the present, makes them clearer.

After slavery was abolished by the 13th Amendment (1865), the 14th Amendment (1868) not only gave newly freed Negroes citizenship but assured them of equal treatment with whites.

Nevertheless, Southern states upon returning to the union began putting restrictions on Negroes. To offset this, Congress passed a number of civil rights laws. For instance, one that protected Negroes' voting rights.

INNS, THEATERS

The last one, passed in 1875, assured Negroes of the "free and equal enjoyment" of public transportation, inns, theaters and other places of amusement.

It seemed to mean there could be no discrimination against Negroes in a privately owned inn or theater.

But in 1883 the Supreme Court said Congress had gone too far and misunderstood the protections guaranteed by the 14th Amendment when it passed the Civil Rights Act of 1875. The court declared the act unconstitutional.

The court made its decision on five cases, only one of which came from the South. For example: two of them, one from San Francisco and one from New York, involved exclusion of Negroes from theaters.

Didn't the 14th Amendment say this couldn't be done? No, the court said. It said the 14th Amendment simply meant states could not pass laws, like a segregation law, to discriminate against Negroes.

It made clear the 14th Amendment didn't apply to what private business, like a theater, did on their own.

But one justice on the court at that time—John Marshall Harlan, grandfather of Justice John Marshall Harlan, who is a member of the present court—disagreed with that majority ruling in 1883.

He said, in effect, that railroads, restaurants, and places of amusement are not really private in the sense that a man's home is because they are "charged with duties to the public," are subject to city and state regulations, and therefore are instruments of the state.

LITTLE SYMPATHY

The court in those days had little sympathy for the Negro's hopes for full acceptance in the American community.

A few years later (1896) the court majority—again with Harlan disagreeing—went even further and said it was all right for states to segregate Negroes so long as their treatment was equal to that given whites.

This remained the law of the land until 1954 when the modern court, reversing the court of the 19th Century, ruled that separate meant unequal and knocked out segregation in public schools.

Then this week the court ruled on a batch of cases in which a number of Negroes had been arrested, mostly on trespass charges, for sit-in demonstrations at lunch counters where they were refused service along with white people.

A court majority threw out the convictions. The reason: The store managers had been under pressure not to serve them. The pressure, the court said, came from state or city laws or local officials.

'I Stand On My Constitutional Right To Knock Your Block Off'

David Lawrence Says:

High Court Rewrites Constitution

WASHINGTON — The phrase "private business" may soon vanish insofar as freedom to hire whomever the employer pleases is concerned.

Likewise, the "private school" could lose its right of privacy in selecting students for admission.

LAWRENCE

This is the trend indicated by the latest decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States. They go so far as to say that a demonstration can be carried on by any number of persons on the premises of any so-called "private business" and that, if it leads to disorder by other persons, the demonstrators — if their cause is just — are to be regarded as blameless.

Even though ordered by the proprietor to leave, the intruders cannot be lawfully arrested by the police if some city official has denounced or deplored the demonstrations in advance.

For a local officer to express an opinion contrary to what is in the 14th Amendment is ruled the same as an "official command" to violate "the law of the land" and is deemed "coercive."

It is evidentally not to be protected by the free speech clause of the Constitution.

When outsiders remain on the premises against the wishes of the owner, this is apparently not "coercive" at all.

It has always been called "trespassing," but will be no longer.

For Chief Justice Warren has decreed in behalf of the court that, since the objective was presumably to secure constitutional rights, there is in these demonstrations no incitement to disorder or trespassing on private property in violation of the law as the court construes it today.

Justice Douglas, however, has gone even further. He issued on Monday a concurring opinion in which he said he feels it is necessary "to state with more particularity" what is involved if the state judiciary or local police intervene allegedly to preserve order when a demonstration over constitutional rights is involved.

OPERATING LICENSE

Justice Douglas points out that almost every business must obtain from a state or city a license to operate. He might have added that this could apply also to private schools, for they get a tax exemption from the government.

All this, in the legal gobbledygook of today, is called "involvement with the state."

This means that any form of discrimination related to race or creed or color is vulnerable from a legal standpoint.

It could mean, too, that access by applicants to jobs is directly involved and that the FBI could conceivably be ordered by the attorney general to demand copies of all applications made by Negroes for jobs in any business, compare them with those for whites who were accepted, and submit the data as a basis for entering suits to require that more Negroes, for example, be hired.

This could also be the means of requiring that more Negro students be admitted to private schools or more Negro applicants be allowed to rent apartments in any building which opens its doors to other citizens for housing purposes.

The legal theory is that the apartment owners, for instance, are "inn-keepers" in the traditional sense.

This all adds up to one simple fact — the Constitution has been rewritten by the judges.

The people, therefore, have only one remedy — to secure the adoption of a constitutional amendment which shall define the limits of government control over the conduct and management of any private businss or private institution, whether it is in the field of education or housing or communication or in the various professions.

Bob Considine Says:

One Thing's Sure: Reds Aren't Going to the Dogs!

NEW YORK — Radio Free Europe (RFE), which keeps a peeled onion eye glinting icily at what's what behind the Curtain of Iron, may have just solved a question that has gnawed at me through six trips to the Soviet Union.

CONSIDINE

The question is "where are the dogs?" You can go for days, weeks, and never see one in Moscow.

"Dogs?" the people from Intourist say, surprised that you should ask, but ready for an answer.

"Everybody's got a dog. You just haven't noticed them. They walk their dogs at night, that's why."

So we've sometimes stayed up all night in Moscow and seen all sorts of things, including pink elephants and fire-breathing dragons. But no dogs.

"Dunavsko Delo," a party line Bulgarian newspaper which was frisked by RFE monitors probably has unwittingly supplied the answer to the pooch question.

It is not an appetizing answer, should you want to stop reading this piece now.

The Bulgarian government, certainly acting on orders from the Kremlin, has ordered all dogs killed which do not protect installations related to the Red government or those who impose Communist rule.

A number of ordinary dog lovers have been arrested for disobeying the orders handed down by the Ministries of National Defense and the Interior to kill their pets or turn them over to a government pound to be destroyed.

All this must be done, the poor stiff who wrote the story for "Dunavsko Delo" had to explain, "to stop the spread of infectious diseases."

Imagine.

Why did Castro demand that half the ransom he charged for the return of the Bay of Pigs prisoners be confined to drugs?

Well, the "Vision Letter," the reputable weekly analysis of Latin American affairs, points out that better than 90 per cent of Cuba's pre-Castro pharmacists have gone into exile.

Cubans bought $115 million worth of assorted drugs the year before Batista went down the drain.

Today, it is hardly 20 per cent of that. One fifth of Cuba's 3,640 drugstores have closed for lack of supplies.

The 50 drug laboratories have shrunken to eight. A bottle of aspirin that costs 89 cents in the U.S. goes for $3 in Havana and is next to unobtainable.

The popularization of headaches has done nothing to drive down the price.

Voice of the People:

'Conservatism Is Finally Making Ground in U.S.'

Americans are asking: "What has been going on? Since we were put to sleep in 1932, communism has gobbled up another billion human beings. Our country has bankrupted itself. The Monroe Doctrine has gone up the flue. Our enemy has entrenched himself 90 miles away. We have been surrounded by the military powers of the Reds. Nothing has been done about these disasters."

Americans have been the sleepiest Rip Van Winkles of history. But the voice of conservatism is heard in the land — very loudly, very clearly. The Liberal-Socialist Establishment is stuffing its ears. November, 1964, will mark the climax in nine years of struggle — against the shafts of Communist-appeasing enemies.

Says County Needs Vocational School

Backers of the Oakland County Tri-Community College Plan offer a $67,812,500 project, but only provide funds totaling $10 million.

A total bill of almost $68 million is what I get out of the printed material offered by the proponents of this plan. Nowhere is the total figure mentioned.

We are told our children can't get in the big colleges and universities because they have poor records but great potential.

Did it occur to the community college oracles that perhaps children who have acquired poor records will probably continue to do so through college?

Oakland County needs vocational training for graduates who can't get into universities. Let's give our youth what they need, not some vague college which will accomplish only mediocrity.

Vote "no" on June 10 and then work to shape the Community College proposal to fill the needs of our young people.

I see a single little rose
Within my sunny garden grow
And why a thing like that should be I certainly will never know Each day my garden has received With tenderness the finest care
And so I cannot understand
Why just one rose is growing there Now you would think in such a place A host of them would surely bloom
And I would always have enough To decorate my living room But all I have is just a rose A tiny lonely
one to see And nothing else is there about To smile upon or comfort me But I have learned a single rose
Upon my spacious garden ground
Can be more lovely to the eye Than if a hundred

Fear

The Christian Science Monitor

The American author and editor Christian Bovee wrote: "There is great beauty in going through life without anxiety or fear. Half our fears are baseless, and the other half discreditable."

If everyone in the world would suddenly stop being fearful what peace and freedom there would be!

The four Gospels never mention fear in regard to Christ Jesus. Actually, he was fearless. His clear, spiritual understanding that God is infinite Spirit, Life, and Love, gave him power and dominion in every situation.

Jesus could feel God's loving presence and power everywhere. Instead of seeing a poor, suffering, sick, or dying mortal, he saw the immortal, spiritual selfhood of each individual that he healed.

The consciousness of the Master was so filled with love for God and for each one who needed help that there was no room for fearful thoughts.

Trials or problems become opportunities to gain a more spiritual concept of God, divine Mind, and of man as His image. This correct view of the creator and His creation destroys fear and brings healing and peace.

The more one claims this unity with God, his spiritual identity as God's perfect child, the more one sees the nothingness of fear and its effects. God's allness assures the nothingness of fear. Thus fear has no past, no present, and no future.

Perhaps some people have been holding on to dark, fearful thoughts for many years. When they have the correct understanding of God and His creation, perfect man, the light of spiritual truth can destroy these fears instantly and reduce them to their nothingness.

Eliminate Saucer?

The Grand Rapids Press

A place called Sandy's Snack Bar near Newark, N. J., has cut the price of coffee, with cream, to 5 cents a cup in the hope that this will help bring back the nickel beer and the 5-cent cigar.

We're afraid, however, that the campaign is doomed to failure. In fact, it isn't even likely to bring back the nickel coffee.

The trend seems to be the other way. Witness the announcement by a restaurant operator in Winnipeg, Manitoba, that the 10-cent cup of coffee is on the way out—to be replaced not by the 5-cent cup but the 15-cent cup. He blames labor costs for pushing up the price.

The Newark operator is trying to beat labor costs by eliminating the use of saucers. Since almost no one in this country saucers his coffee nowadays to cool it, this may prove no hardship.

The situation in Winnipeg may be different. At any rate they're not doing away with saucers up there.

New Anthem?

The New York Daily News

The esteemed Guy Lombardo endorses a resolution introduced by Rep. Joel T. Broyhill, R-Va., to have Congress adopt an official version of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Lacking an official version, the public is too often afflicted by alleged musicians and singers who render the national anthem in swing or rock 'n' roll or some other oddball tempo.

We'll agree with the Guy on that point; but we think we have a better plan for the "Banner" than he and Broyhill have.

As we've suggested before, let's give this song an honorable discharge and adopt a new national anthem. The present one has such a wide note range that few can sing it properly, and fewer know more than a thimbleful of its words.

Why not replace it with "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean" or "God Bless America" or (if our southern friends will consent, which seems doubtful) the greatest patriotic song of them all: "The Battle Hymn of the Republic"?

Government Spending Called Economy Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

THE ECONOMY: Government spending and a buildup in business inventories were cited as the big factors in expansion of the economy in the year's first quarter.

The Commerce Department announced Tuesday that the Gross National Product increased to an annual rate of $572 billion in the first three months.

The Gross National Product represents the value of all goods and services.

MEDICAL CARE: House Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., advised visiting members of Boston's Golden Age Council Tuesday that President Kennedy's legislation for health care for the aged has a good chance of enactment by next year.

"We are close to having a majority in the Ways and Means Committee," said McCormack.

The plan was bottled up in that House committee last year, and it lost by a narrow vote in the Senate.

KENNEDY TRIP: President Kennedy's trip to New York Thursday will be a mixture of presidential, private and political business.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said Kennedy is expected to land at Idlewild at 11:25 a.m. and will motor to Battery Park to dedicate a memorial in honor of servicemen who lost their lives in the Atlantic in World War II.

At 8:30 p.m., the President is scheduled to attend a political fund-raising banquet.

Salinger said it was also possible the President will have several private business appointments before flying back to Washington late Friday.

GOING UP: On Thursday, Trans World Airlines will put in effect a 5 per cent increase in economy round trip fares between the United States and Italy.

The higher fares had been ordered by the International Air Transport Association despite protests here. Similar increases already have been made in fares to Great Britain, Switzerland, France, Germany and Portugal.

North Korea Avoids Talk About Pilots

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — Communist North Korea evaded again today demands for the return of two American helicopter pilots forced down Friday in Communist territory.

The North Korean delegate to a special Armistice Commission meeting refused to disclose the condition of the pilots, refused to discuss the case and instead demanded a U.N. pledge against what he called another "deliberate act of aggression."

The unarmed helicopter carrying Capt. Ben W. Stutts of Florence, Ala., and Capt. Charleton W. Voltz of Frankfort, Mich., was fired on and forced down 17 miles north of Seoul while checking border markers. The U.N. command said the pilots made a navigational error.

In Detroit Schools

Teachers Threaten Boycott

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's largest teacher organization threatened yesterday to seek a boycott of the city's school system if the Detroit Board of Education curtails school services or cuts the teaching staff or teacher salaries.

The Detroit Education Association (DEA), which claims to represent about 5,000 of the city's 11,000 teachers, made the threat as the school board — already plagued by financial problems — held its customary hearings prior to setting a budget for the coming year.

* * *

DEA President Bernice Frederick said the group is prepared to "call upon the 65,000-member Michigan Education Association and the 88,000-member National Education Association (NEA) to declare Detroit a school system wherein conditions are incompatible with standard necessary for professional service."

She added that the DEA would "counsel teachers in other states and communities not to accept school positions in Detroit."

Miss Frederick said the threat was applied against the community as a whole which turned down school finance proposals in the April 1 election rather than against the board of education or the Detroit school administration.

She added that whether teachers employed by the school system would be advised not to sign new contracts would depend upon the economy plan adopted.

"We realize that economies are necessary," she said. "We just want to be sure they are spread around a little."

Due to Detroit's shrinking tax base, the school system faces a decrease of about $7 million in income next year.

It is estimated that at least $40 million will be lost the following year when the present school tax expires.

A tax of $12.80 per $1,000 of equalized assessed valuation, which included the present $7.50 tax due to expire July 1, 1964, was turned down by voters April 1.

The school board made no comment on the DEA threat.

Sylvan Lake Loses Official

DPW Superintendent Won't Return to Post

Earle Knapp, who has been the center of a controversy that provoked the resignation of a veteran councilman, will not return to his position as superintendent of public works for the city of Sylvan Lake.

City Manager Leroy Trafton said yesterday that Knapp, who suffered a heart attack last fall, has indicated he will not be able to return to work.

Trafton also announced that Joseph Colgate of 1606 Maplewood, Sylvan Lake, has been named DPW superintendent. Colgate has been with the city nine years.

At last month's council meeting, Knapp was awarded three week's pay for unused vacation time. Edwin F. Clark, a six-year veteran on the council, protested the payment.

Urging the council to adopt a set of work rules to avoid future disputes over the payment of sick leave and vacation time, Clark resigned "to bring this matter to the public's attention."

Mayor G. Richard Jarvis defended the council's action. He said the council had no other choice under the existing work rules.

Youth Placed on Probation for Burglary

A 19-year-old Waterford Township youth was placed on two years' probation and ordered to pay $100 probation costs yesterday for a March 15 burglary.

Gary Sprague, of 5560 Crescent, was given the sentence by Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Sprague pleaded guilty May 6 to breaking and entering Gene's Paint and Wallpaper, 4835 Dixie Highway, Waterford Township, and taking sports equipment.

A 19-year-old Pontiac youth who also pleaded guilty to the burglary, John Lankford, 727 Reynolds, was given a 1½- to 10-year prison term yesterday for violation of probation.

Lankford was placed on three years' probation Jan. 29 after he was found guilty on an indecent liberties charge.

Will Get Bids on New School

Offers on Proposed Junior High Are Due

Bids for construction of the School will be presented to the Pontiac Board of Education tomorrow night.

The bids, which were received by the school administration Monday, will be tabulated for the board's consideration.

The school board will also receive a recommendation from School Supt. Dana P. Whitmer for the adoption of a teachers' salary schedule for 1963-64 and 1964-65.

In negotiations with the teacher organizations, the school administration has presented proposals for a two-year pact. If the two-year proposals are accepted by the teachers, Whitmer will present the recommendation to the school board.

The school superintendent also will recommend an increase from $3 to $4 per hour for teachers who receive extra pay for handling an extra class load and must do class preparation outside of the regular school day.

Pontiac school board members will pass on a resolution supporting the proposed Oakland County community college, which will be voted on June 10.

In addition, the school board will receive several reports. One report will be on the learning readiness program instituted in seven elementary schools last year.

Students Get Reminder on Their Studies

SYDNEY (AP) — Asian students in Australia have been reminded they are not permitted to neglect their studies to take jobs while in Australia.

About 11,000 Asian students are in Australia studying privately at universities, colleges, or secondary schools. Another thousand are here under the Colombo Plan.

Some students studying privately have taken jobs as taxi drivers, waiters, kitchen hands, etc., without official approval.

An immigration department spokesman said approval to work was given only if the part-time jobs, after normal school hours or during vacations, did not affect the students' studies.

The department has received reports that some Asian students have been having a gay time on money earned in part-time jobs, and paying little attention to their studies.

Pals Raise Cash to Bring Grad's Folks From Italy

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) —His graduation isn't until Sunday, but Lake High School senior Franci Ladarro received one present, probably the best, Tuesday.

Franci, president of the senior class, has been attending school in the United States since his seventh grade, living with an aunt and uncle in Walbridge. His family lives in Fossia, Italy.

The senior class of 117 students called Franci to a special assembly Tuesday and told him they had raised enough money to bring his parents to Walbridge to attend the graduation. Franci's parents will arrive Friday.

The students raised the money by washing cars and running dances. Some of the boys even contributed money earned on jobs last summer.

Rochester Gets Grant

Renewal Plan Alive

ROCHESTER — The $999,160 urban renewal program here which was "dead" for 30 days prior to the installation of three new councilmen is now very much alive—and thriving on a $48,271 grant.

Announcement of the advance funds for survey and planning activities was made yesterday by the Urban Renewal Administration.

Although the council had applied for a $62,660 grant for preliminary study of the program, no explanation was forwarded telling why the total amount was not offered.

Village Manager Paul York said today a letter would be coming soon, giving a breakdown of the funds received.

"We're very pleased that the grant application has been approved because there is a lot of interest in planning this project and getting it underway," he added.

NIXED 4-3

In February the council voted 4 to 3 against addition of a nondiscrimination clause in the grant application, which in effect killed the request.

On March 25 after installation of three new trustees the vote was unanimous to add the clause, which reactivated the fund application.

Included in the tentative renewal plans are the straightening of Paint Creek, the elimination of the Third Street blight area and the construction of two new bridges to replace the old ones in that section of town.

Net cost of the project, which includes a deduction for land disposal funds, amounts to $728,263.

Before actual construction begins on the undertaking a public hearing must be held. Then the council must make a final decision on proceeding with execution of the project or dropping it.

It is expected that three-fourths of the net cost would be paid by the federal government.

Village planning consultants Vilican Leman & Associates, Inc. of Southfield have indicated that Rochester will legally and logically qualify for a federal grant to help finance the project.

WED 50 YEARS — Mr. and Mrs. William Ovink will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday with an open house at their home, 5918 Long Point, Springfield Township. The Ovinks have a daughter, Mrs. Wilson Yoemans, and two sons, William and Henry, all of Southfield; 10 grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren. Married May 24, 1913 in Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Ovink are former residents of Southfield.

Bell to Herald Day at the Fair

Kingsbury School Sets Fund Raiser

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — A call to a country fair will be sounded by the old bell at Kingsbury School here Sunday.

That is the day of the independent school's 10th anniversary, as well as its annual fund-raising fair.

Providing education for some 70 students in grades kindergarten through nine, the quaint school draws children from Romeo, Rochester and the Washington areas as well as Clarkston, Lake Orion, Oxford, Metamora and Lapeer.

The fair at the enlarged and remodeled country schoolhouse is expected to draw people from all these areas and even farther away, according to chairman West H. Gallogly of Metamora.

While the small children ride ponies or fish in the toy-stocked pond, the older ones will have a chance to practice fly casting.

Another feature of this year's fair will be an outdoor art display with paintings and on-the-spot sketches for sale.

This exhibit will be provided by the Village Friends of Art, Clarkston.

Fun for everyone is promised in other events, such as a basketball toss and various types of games. A candy and flower booth will be set up and tastetempting delicacies will be offered at the bake sale.

The school will be open during the fair from noon to 5 p.m., so that parents and other interested persons can see displays of the students' work.

Proceeds from the yearly event will be turned into the nonprofit institution's general fund.

The school is located at Hosner and Oakwood roads.

VIRGINIA ANN THALNER

The engagement of Virginia Ann Thalner to Larry D. Spencer is announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thalner of Batavia, N.Y. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Spencer, 583 S. Lapeer, Oxford Township. No date has been set for the wedding.

Board to Get Revised Budget

School Figures Based on Sought Mill Hike

OAK PARK — A revised budget will be presented to the board of education tomorrow night by School Supt. Dr. James N. Pepper.

The new figures are based on anticipated passage of a 3.5-mill tax increase to be voted on in the June 10 school election.

This is the third tentative budget Pepper has submitted to the board.

The first was vigorously criticized by the Survey Our Schools Committee (SOS) because it included $108,000 for a contingency fund and $105,000 for salary increases.

The committee says that the money raised by the tax hike should be used for the opening of the new junior high school and the maintenance of present facilities.

When district voters turned down a request for a five-mill tax hike last June and a 6.5-mill increase in February, the board set a year-long moratorium during which no tax levies would be sought.

This meant that without a tax increase, the new junior high could not open.

Under pressure from three major citizens' groups, the board agreed to put the modified tax proposal on the June ballot.

Oxford Set for Carnival Saturday

OXFORD—Water battles and horseback rides are just two of the events to be offered at Saturday's "Dad's Club Carnival" at the Oxford High School.

Participating in the affair, to start at 1 p.m., will be the high school clubs and classes, as well as the fire departments of Orion, Addison, and Oxford townships and Metamora.

After donning their protective clothing, the firemen will take their places on the gridiron battlefield and attempt to force a huge rubber ball into the other team's goal, using water from fire hoses as their weapons.

Semi-finals will be in the afternoon with the two winning teams meeting at night for the playoff.

Inside the school will be booths of all kinds and a refreshment stand, all open during the eight hours of the carnival.

Tickets will be available at the school. Proceeds from this event will be used by the Dad's Club to resod the football field, a $2,700 task. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Councilmen Survive Recount of Ballots

FARMINGTON—The three incumbent city councilmen re-elected April 1 once again retained their seats in Monday's recount.

The three whose votes were unaltered by the recount are Howard W. Thayer, 1,359; Hugo E. Peterson, 1,157; and Henry B. Forrest, 1,037.

Virgil Cornwell, who received 1,016 votes on the ballot, petitioned for the local recount.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Joanne Hill Married in Evening Ceremony

MRS. LARRY R. HUMMEL

ROCHESTER — Wearing a white floor-length gown of peau de soie with a chapel train, Joanne Beverly Hill was wed to Larry Russell Hummel in St. John Lutheran Church Saturday evening.

Rev. Richard Schlect performed the ceremony.

With her gown the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hill, 391 Elmhill, chose a Dior bow of peau de soie to hold her veil of imported silk illusion.

She carried a cascade of lilies, Stephanotis and ivy.

Mary Stewart was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Nancy Carter and Karen Hummel, both of Rochester, Janet Lichvar of Clarkston and Sandra Hummel of Rochester, N.Y.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hummel of Rochester, N.Y., the bridegroom asked Kenneth Hummel of Rochester, Mich., to act as best man.

The guests were seated by Eric Ellison of Royal Oak, Howard Hinke, of Rochester, Bob Furness of Utica, Greg Demanski of East Detroit and John Berquist of Denver, Colo.

A reception was held in the church's Fellowship Hall after the nuptials. Upon their return from a brief honeymoon in Northern Michigan, the newlyweds will reside in Rochester.

Novi Okays Extension of Water Lines

NOVI—The extension of Detroit water lines to 10-Mile Road and Haggerty was approved by the Novi Village Council last night.

Date for lateral line work to begin is dependent upon the outcome of negotiations with the Paul LeBost Water Co., according to Novi Administrative Assistant Harold N. Ackley.

LeBost's firm now serves approximately 400 Novi homes. The city has been negotiating for more than a year to gain control of the company.

A contract for paving of streets in the Willow Brook Estates subdivision was let to the Oakland Paving Co. of Northville for $10,777.

Gingellville Couple Off on Honeymoon

GINGELLVILLE — Announcement is made of the marriage Monday of Mrs Ruth M. Gilbert, 3459 Elmy, to Robert R. Harris, 3400 Elmy, at Houghton Lake.

The ceremony was performed by the bride's brother-in-law, Rev. Orval Himebaugh.

Following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, through the eastern states and the Smoky Mountains, the newlyweds will reside in Gingellville.

Walled Lake Improvements to Get Quarter of Tax Dollar

WALLED LAKE — About 26 cents of every tax dollar collected in Walled Lake this year will be used for capital improvement under the newly adopted budget of $134,383.

Although the tax rate has jumped from 15 to 17 mills, Clerk Shirley J. Ryden pointed out that only 12.5 mills would be used for operational expenses.

Last year, the operational allocation was 11.95 mills, she said.

This year's budget is up $21,542 over last year's total of $112,841.

However, the new figure is about $17,000 lower than that proposed by the City Council's Budget Committee.

The council has been working since the middle of April to trim the proposed budget which would have been based on a 29-mill levy.

Largest chunk of the capital improvement funds is earmarked for engineering fees on lateral lines from the Walled Lake-Novi sewage treatment plant, also in the planning stage.

The $16,200 appropriated for this purpose is about half the total estimated fee. The other half is to come from next year's budget.

Also in the $30,100 capital improvement program is $9,400 set aside for road and drainage reconstruction.

PROBLEM ROADS

This includes seal coating of Decker and improvement of other "problem roads," such as East and West Walled Lake Drive and Barston.

The council added $4,500 to reserve accounts, among them local improvement, public improvement and revolving fund.

Walled Lake's planning commission will receive $2,500 to start work on the city's participation in the federal 701 program.

This sum would be half of that needed to fulfill the city's obligation were it given federal funds for a master plan.

If the 701 application is accepted, the federal government would pay 75 per cent of the cost of the plan, Mrs. Ryden said.

With property owners paying $17 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, the city anticipates collecting $81,008 from them. The rest of the revenue will come from other sources.

The 1963-64 budget is based on a total assessed valuation of $5,123,870. Last year, the valuation was $4,916,865.

No Foul Play Found in Death

Autopsy Performed on Berkley Mother

ROMEO — Foul play was ruled out in an autopsy performed on the body of a young Berkley mother found dead in a swamp near Lakeville May 12.

Dr. Richard E. Olsen, pathologist at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, said there was no evidence that Mrs. Mary Hockey, 24, had met with any violence.

The woman's body had been found by a Romeo bird watcher hiking in the area after she had been missing from her home at 1240 Harvard since Oct. 26.

According to Romeo State Police, an empty bottle believed to have contained sleeping pills was found near the corpse which was badly decomposed.

Identification was made by the husband, Jerry Hockey, through clothing and jewelry and state police at the time he reported.

The husband had told Berkley police at the time he reported his wife missing last Oct. 24 that she had a "slight mental problem."

Plan Your Memorial Day Menu Early

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

If the weather man is kinder to us on Memorial Day than he has been recently, he will give us picnic weather.

You may want to have that picnic in your own back yard since we have become a nation of patio and backyard cooks and eaters.

Here are a few new ideas.

A gigantic sandwich made with pumpernickel bread and heated on the grill makes easy work for the hostess. This is a whole meal sandwich.

Meal-In-One Picnic Loaf

Yield: 8 servings.
6-ounce package sliced bologna
6 ounce package sliced pickle and pimiento loaf
½ head cabbage
½ cup dairy soured cream
1 tablespoon wine vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
1½ teaspoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
¼ teaspoon ground marjoram
2 loaves unsliced round pumpernickel bread
Softened butter
Mustard
16 ounce (1 pound) can baked beans, drained
Catsup

Shred or chop cabbage fine. Combine sour cream, vinegar, sugar, lemon juice, salt, pepper, and marjoram. Pour over cabage and stir until well blended.

Slice both loaves of pumpernickel horizontally into 4 layers. Spread cut surfaces with softened butter. Spread both bottom layers with mustard and the baked beans. Cover beans with 3 to 4 slices bologna on each loaf. Top with the second layers of bread.

Spread with catsup and 3 to 4 slices of pickle and pimiento loaf for each sandwich. Cover with third layers and spread each with the coleslaw mixture.

Top with the upper crust layers. Wrap loaves loosely in foil, sealing ends.

Heat on baking sheet over outdoor grill for 15 to 20 minutes (or in 400-degree oven).

Remove foil. Cut each loaf into quarters to serve. Garnish with carrot curls and celery sticks.

Note: Sandwiches may also be served cold, if desired.

If you are invited to a cooperative dinner and want to take a macaroni salad that will serve everyone, here's your recipe. This is a different version of the usual macaroni salad.

Macaroni Supper Salad

¼ cup salt
12 quarts boiling water (3 gallons)
2 pounds elbow macaroni
4 large cucumbers, sliced
4 packages (10 ounces each) frozen peas and carrots, cooked and drained
1½ cups prepared French dressing
2 large onions, finely chopped
¼ cup prepared horse-radish
1 tablespoon salt
2 teaspoons dill weed
2 teaspoons lemon juice
4 cups (2 pints) dairy sour cream

Add ¼ cup salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Rinse with cold water; drain again.

Combine macaroni and vegetables in bowl. Mix French dressing with horse-radish, 1 tablespoon salt, dill and lemon juice. Toss salad with dressing; chill. Before serving stir in sour cream.

*Cook macaroni in one or more pots, according to sizes available. Use proportion of 4 to 6 quarts rapidly boiling water and 2 tablespoons salt to each pound of macaroni.

Another recipe for the grill comes from the Roquefort cheese people. They blend their cheese into ground beef for kebabs.

Have the meat and cheese mixed, the other ingredients ready. Let your guests assemble and grill their own kebabs.

Grilled Kebab Sandwiches

1 pound ground beef round
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
½ cup crumbled Roquefort cheese
½ teaspoon garlic salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 medium-sized green pepper, cut in quarters
1 medium-sized firm tomato, cut in quarters
4 whole cooked white onions
¾ cup melted butter or margarine
4 individual loaves French bread

Combine beef, parsley, cheese, garlic salt and pepper; mix well and shape into 16 balls. Arrange beef balls, green pepper wedges, tomato wedges and onions on skewers.

Brush with some of butter or margarine. Broil 3-4 inches from source of heat or cook on outdoor grill 5 minutes on each side, or until beef balls are desired degree of doneness. Brush often during cooking period with remaining butter or margarine.

Arrange meat balls and vegetables on bread to make sandwiches. (Makes 4 servings.)

Mushroom Relish a Good Keeper

When a group of friends come over for hamburgers and fixings, here's an extra-special relish to add savor.

Mushroom Relish

2 cans (6 ounces each) chopped mushrooms
¾ teaspoons salt
¼ cup sugar
½ cup cider vinegar
1 teaspoon mixed pickling spices
1 large onion, chopped
1 jar (4 ounces) pimientos, drained and diced

Drain mushrooms well; pour ½ cup of the mushroom liquid into a saucepan. Add salt, sugar, vinegar, spices; stir over low heat until sugar dissolves; bring slowly to a boil; strain.

Pour over mushrooms, onion and pimiento. Cool; cover and chill overnight or as long as a week.

Cheese Storage

Remember to wrap highly flavored and mild cheese separately to prevent transference of flavors. Then store your cheese in the refrigerator. The cooler the temperature, the longer the cheese will keep without any change in texture, flavor and color.

No wooden mallet in the kitchen for pounding meat for Swiss steak? Use the edge of a heavy saucer.

Don't Visit Boy Friend on Impulse

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My boy friend attends a college in another state and has asked me to visit him some weekend.

My mother would let me go if the college was sponsoring a special event of some kind, but she feels that it isn't proper for me to go there just to visit him. His college is a small one and does not have many social events, such as a spring carnival or a special dance.

I can't see what difference this makes and feel that she is being unreasonably strict. What is your opinion?

A: There is a difference. To be invited to a college along with many other girls to attend a special event, is quite proper, but to go with no excuse other than your own impulse to run to see him, would be very cheapening.

Q: I am the society editor of a small suburban newspaper and have been told by quite a few people that I am listing the names in the newspaper incorrectly.

In the case of a widow, I always list her, or refer to her, as Mrs. John Jones. One person told me this used to be correct but times have changed and that a widow is now known as Mrs. Mary Jones.

Has this rule of etiquette changed?

A: Mrs. John Jones is still the correct name for a widow.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Army Wives Say Sergeants Not So Well Paid After All

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Where did Curious get her information about what a sergeant makes and what he spends? His meals at the N.C.O. Club are not free!

ABBY

If he tears his uniform, he can't have it repaired; he has to buy a new one. And they aren't cheap!

Tell Curious that if she's looking for a man with money, she had better find herself a civilian.

SERGEANT'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: My father was an Army man and I am married to an Army man. I wouldn't trade this life for anything in the world.

A sergeant doesn't "take home" any $375 a month. Not after he gets through paying his Army Emergency Relief donation, income tax, social security and insurance.

We in the service don't have many material things, but we have many interesting lives, the satisfaction of contributing something to our country, and hospitalization when we need it. I have had seven children for seven dollars. Who can top that?

PROUD ARMY WIFE

DEAR ABBY: To prove to my husband that people will eat anything at a cocktail party, I made up some canapes of cat food. I decorated them nicely and everyone ate them and raved about their unusual flavor.

Several of the women asked me for the recipe. I certainly cannot tell them the truth, can I? Also, is it against the law for a husband to blackmail his wife?

"AGGIE"

DEAR "AGGIE": Solve all your problems by telling anyone who asks that the canapes were cat food. They'll never believe it.

DEAR ABBY: May I add my little statement to the wedding ring topic: Twenty-six years ago I married a man who did not give me a wedding ring.

The only things of value he gave me were three wonderful sons. After 14 years of miserable marriage, he left me for another woman.

For a number of years his mistress has been wearing the wedding ring he gave her, although they are not married. So what does a wedding ring mean?

Financial Freedom Depends on Standard

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

"How much money is financial independence?" asks E. R. P. in East St. Louis, Ill.

MARY FEELEY

In a word, E. R. P., the answer is: Enough.

Enough for what? Enough to support a way of life that keeps your family in good health, that allows for credit but not debt, that provides a means of educating your children, that permits some satisfaction in simply living.

Ask any 10 people to add all that up into money — and you'll get 10 different figures. For instance, a young wife in Dayton, Ohio, feels she and her husband have it made on $75 a week, take home pay:

Dear Miss Feeley: I was so glad to see a letter in your column recently from the woman whose husband's pay was under the $8,000 group, and yet they had a home, a new car paid in full, and many other enjoyments and assets. I'd like to shake her hand, for there aren't very many of us around nowadays, of if there are, they're hiding.

My husband and I are 22 years old. His take-home pay is $75 a week. Yet we have a new 3-bedroom brick home that is one-third ours, a new car three-fourths ours, and still go out to eat and see a movie once a week.

I worked a year after marriage and we now have a baby on the way. By doing without a lot of unnecessary things — and the desire to do it — we have accomplished this perfect living pattern.

Yes, our furniture is paid in full as well as the washer, dryer, and my husband's gun collection. It was buying one piece at a time when we had the cash that did it.

My husband's company pays hospitalization and life insurance, and we even have enough left over to put into our savings account for vacations, our children's college fund and the most important — old age. For my husband and me, peace of mind and less worrying is our goal.

Neither of our parents helped us out, either. That's what gives us complete satisfaction and a little pride in ourselves.

"Anonymous"

So there you have one answer. Financial independence can be had on $75 a week.

Another reader, in Rochester, N. Y., writes: "Other home has been paid off for years, we have some money in the bank and some good stocks. I like to think we are well off!"

This wife is encouraging her husband to retire on $400 a month, which she feels will permit them to live comfortably, be independent financially.

Managing your money isn't the only route to success. You have to manage your aims and desires as well.

The pattern for living you set for yourself must have some relation to your present and potential income. Otherwise the question "How much money is financial independence?" has no more meaning than "How far is it from here to there?"

Dear Miss Feeley: Granted adult children living with parents should pay board and room. But what about parents living with children?

Basically, I banish the thought that I could ever accept one cent board payment from my own mother who raised me and sacrificed to see me through college.

However, now mother is widowed and living with me, and we notice bills have just about doubled . . . heat, lights and water bills (she leaves the hot water running for hours), to say nothing of the food bill, the cost of chauffeuring her to the doctor and visits to her friends, which take so much of our very scarce time that we have almost lost contact with our own friends.

My husband, in his seven-day-a-week job at his own service station — in which I often have to assist and always keep the books — earns about half what my engineer brothers do with far shorter working hours.

Mother, who is in her 80's, talks about leaving her estate equally to her descendents which may be about $1,400 to each of her four children and five grandchildren.

Since we are now paying all her routine living expenses, it doesn't seem quite fair to my husband. She is willing to pay board.

Would it be right for her to pay her basic expense to us of about $50 to $60 a month?

Mrs. A. S., Gervais, Ore.

Dear Mrs. S.: Such situations as yours can certainly get you all tangled up. However, I think you should consider your husband in this matter. The "expenses" of taking a member of your family into your home always involve more than money.

The emotional problems can only be balanced by love and a sense of duty. But the financial ones can be arranged more easily. As long as your mother is willing and able to pay her own way, I think you should accept it.

(You can write to Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press.)

Difference in Calories

Why Do Charts Vary?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "There is a great difference in calorie charts. I notice on one that it says that one egg has 85 calories. On another it says 75 calories. Breads differ greatly. Why is this?"

A. Well of course the size of the egg and the kind of bread make a difference. I think most charts try to stay as close to the average as possible. These differences are so small that doesn't really matter which count you use. It will not make a great difference in your daily intake.

Q. "Someone told me that alcohol is not stored as fat. Is this true? If so, why are cocktails fattening?"

A. Alcohol is burned up and is not stored as fat. However, it supplies heat and energy and therefore your body does not call on your fatty deposits for the energy which the alcohol supplies. Therefore you do not reduce your fat as you would otherwise.

If you are going to have alcoholic drinks when reducing, you must count in their calorie count, including the mixings. Remember that these are "empty" calories—in other words they do not give you vitamins and other essentials for good nutrition and good health.

Q. "I am 38 years old, 5 feet 5½ inches tall and weigh 115 pounds. My bust measures 34 inches, waist 27 and hips 36 inches. I have a small frame, but have a huge tummy. My legs are extremely thin. Is there any improvement possible for me?"

A. Yes. In the first place you are underweight. Even with a small frame you should gain around eight pounds. This will help fill out the legs and the bust measurement. Exercise will help reduce that "huge tummy." Try this one:

Lie on your back, arms down at your sides, feet together, knees straight. Bend both knees up close to your abdomen. Straighten the knees, pointing the legs and feet toward the ceiling. Lower the legs slowly to the floor, keeping them straight. Repeat four times the first day.

If you (or any of my readers) would like to have my waist and abdomen slimming exercises I have used in my classes, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflets No. 3 and 6. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Q. "Is it true that water is fattening?"

A. No. If you drink a lot of water and use a lot of salt your tissues may retain an unusual amount of water, but this is not true fat.

Chinese Get Navy's Water

HONG KONG (AP)—Ships of the U.S. 7th Fleet and British Navy in Hong Kong harbor will make surplus water from their distillation plants available to Hong Kong's 3½ million drought-stricken population, navy commanders said today.

Water ration is down to four hours every other day in one of the worst droughts in Hong Kong history. The American and British warships can supply an estimated 10,000 to 20,000 gallons a day.

Voters End 76 Dry Years

BARTOW, Fla. (AP)—After 76 years and 12 previous elections, Polk County has finally decided to legalize the public sale of liquor.

The wets outvoted the drys 24,880 to 20,859 Tuesday to allow beer, wine and whisky to be sold in public.

Polk County, situated in the heart of the citrus belt, has been dry since 1887, although drinks could be bought through key clubs and fraternal organizations.

From 1917 to 1952 the U. S. government paid hunters in Alaska a bounty to kill the bald eagle as a pernicious predator. More than 100,000 were slaughtered.

Moslem Nation Outlaws Film Favoring Hebrews

ALGIERS (AP)—"Ben Hur" has apparently run his last chariot race in independent Algeria.

He's Just Too Clumsy to Be a Counterfeiter

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — A Federal Appeals Court ruled, in effect, yesterday that Charles Smith Jr. simply was too clumsy to be tried seriously as a counterfeiter.

The court said in dismissing charges against Smith that his attempts to reproduce a legitimate bill on a blank piece of paper resulted in very faulty words and symbols, all of which "read backwards."

Junior Editors Quiz on COLORADO

QUESTION: What gave Colorado its name and fame?

ANSWER: After the Spaniards conquered Mexico they kept hearing tales about northern cities of pure gold. Our upper picture shows the sad story of Coronado's frustrating search.

He didn't know it, but just a little way to the north of his trail lay the great region we now call Colorado, where gold deposits actually did exist, along with priceless wealth in silver, lead, tungsen, zinc, petroleum, copper and—that precious mineral of our modern days—uranium. On his return journey, Coronado touched the southeastern part of Colorado without finding treasure.

In 1830 the first whites settled in Colorado, named because the Colorado River ran between banks of red stone — the name meaning "colored red" in Spanish.

Most of Colorado became U. S. property with the Louisiana Purchase in 1803, the rest was ceded by Mexico in 1848. In 1858 gold was discovered and a gold rush began—settlement and development soon followed.

In 1876 Colorado was admitted to statehood. Great agricultural and mining activities have made the state prosperous, and it's a favorite vacation ground for tourists.

FOR YOU TO DO: Color the picture of a happy group of vacationers having a wonderful time in Colorado. The car could be brilliant red and the trailer blue. Make closeup water blue but put some pure white on the distant water to make it glitter.

Ex-Mau Mau Likely to Head Kenya

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

As the British Crown Colony and Protectorate of Kenya passes into African hands this week, one of the most controversial of all African leaders is the man tagged the most likely to become its premier.

He is Jomo (Burning Spear) Kenyatta, who spent nine years under imprisonment and house detention as chief organizer of Kenya's dreaded white-hating Mau Mau.

NEWSOM

Said his convicting judge in 1953:

"It is my belief that . . . you started to organize Mau Mau, the object of which was to drive all Europeans from Kenya, and in doing so, to kill them if necessary. I am satisfied the mastermind behind this plan was yours . . . You have turned the clock back many years."

Former Kenya Gov. Sir Patrick Renison called him "the African leader to darkness and death."

A man long acquainted with Kenya politics said of him:

"He is the only wholly evil man I have ever known . . . a Communist . . . a true retrogressive who wants to drive out the whites and browns and return to the terrorist Africa of old."

To all of which Kenyatta retorted:

"My leadership has not been to darkness and death but to light and prosperity . . .

"I am a true African nationalist . . .

"Anyone who says I am or was a Communist is a liar. I went to Russia for an education. I also lived in England for a long time but that does not mean I became an Englishman."

Kenyatta did live in England for 15 years. There he shared a flat with American Negro singer Paul Robeson and later married a white English woman, whom he later abandoned to return to Africa.

During his imprisonment, there were reports that Kenyatta had become an alcoholic degenerate with a hopelessly clouded mind.

But visitors found him in top mental and physical condition, apparently deeply interested in Buddhist philosophy and the nonviolence teachings of Gandhi.

He has declared he would like to stay clear of both East and West and added:

"When two elephants fight, it is the grass that suffers. If East and West fight over Africa, only Africans will suffer."

Such were the conflicting word pictures of the man now expected to become the first premier of an autonomous government which within a year is to lead Kenya to full independence.

Kenyatta is a member of the Kikuyu tribe, whose one million members make it by far the largest among Kenya's more than eight million people.

His political party is the Kenya Africa National Union which has promised that whites, Indians, Arabs and black all will be accorded equal treatment in a new government.

Kenyatta's chief opposition comes from the Kenya African Democratic Union whose spokesman is Ronald Ngala. Ngala speaks for the minority tribes and favors a loose regional administration. His people fear the landhungry Kikuyus will seize control of all of Kenya once white rule departs.

What Kenya's 66,000 white settlers think of Kenyatta's promises is of small moment, of less moment than a dust devil stirred by Africa's "winds of change."

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Talk about thieves leaving their calling cards!

Police say the person who broke into the Bob Thaw Auto Service and stole a car left a major clue that cracked the case. The clue was a wallet, which contained a picture of the man, his social security card and other identification.

It didn't take police long to track down Robert Hyland, 19, of nearby New Hyde Park, who was charged with burglarizing his former place of employment.

Disaster Shelter Exhibit

TARENTUM, Pa. (AP) — A mock disaster shelter exhibition scheduled here had to be canceled.

Red Cross workers who were to supervise the public exhibition were called to duty at two real disaster shelters as a result of flood emergencies in the area.

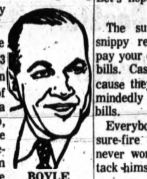
College Grads Are Getting Smarter Every Year

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) —Jumping to conclusions:

College graduates are getting smarter every year.



BOYLE

Members of the class of 1963 know more than did members of the class of a generation ago, 1933, because more was demanded of them while they were in the classroom. College work has become more difficult.

But it is doubtful if the present corp of graduates is as tough a breed as the crop of 30 years ago.

There were no "help wanted" signs out in 1933, and Joe College had to fight hard for a start in life. The 1963 graduate, however, is inclined to view the world rosily, and to feel his sheepskin is a passport to social security. Let's hope it will be.

The surest way to annoy a snippy restaurant cashier is to pay your check every day with $2 bills. Cashiers dislike them because they fear they will absentmindedly mistake them for $5 bills.

Everybody knows at least three sure-fire cures for hiccups that never work when he gets an attack himself.

I somehow distrust a man whose hair, fingernails and shoeshine are always impeccable. He gives an impression of putting up a front, and I suspect him of being a con man at heart—or a head waiter.

SUPERSTITIOUS

People who say that as a matter of caution they never walk under ladders are liars. The real reason they don't walk under ladders is that they are superstitious—just like the rest of us.

Rich folks aren't as neighborly as poor folks. You never hear of one of them knocking on the back door of another and asking, "Could you lend me a cup of money until tomorrow? I just ran out."

Every man is sublimely sure no professional pickpocket could make him a victim — until it happens.

I never heard of a man who became a top executive because of the number of memos he dropped in the office suggestion box. You don't get ahead merely by putting ideas in a box—you have to sell them to somebody.

NEW JOB

Anybody who needs more than two coffee breaks a day also needs a new job that will interest him more.

An ancient Irish monk as a form of penitence once pledged never to scratch himself the rest of his life. That's the worst self-torture I ever heard of—much more difficult than sleeping on a bed of nails.

The silliest delusion in the business world today is the belief that if you gulp three vodka martinis at lunch nobody in the office can tell you've been drinking because they can't smell it on your breath.

There'd be more true morality in this country if women were allowed to go naked in the streets—but arrested if they appeared in public wearing revealing sweaters.

MANCHESTER, England (AP) —The school-age children of a Manchester textile magnate became millionaires this week through a deal carried out by their father.

Michael Miller sold the family clothing companies to chain store tycoon Isaac Wolfson for 4,325,000 pounds ($12,110,000). The companies' 900,000 shares were held by Carol Miller, 15, and her brother Stephen 12. The money will be held in trust for them and they will not have to pay inheritance taxes on it.

What Functions Should the Community College Serve?

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The following story—The third in a three-part series on community colleges in Michigan—offers comment from state educators on what such schools do to better serve the needs of their students and community.)

By STUART GROSS
Education Writer
Saginaw News

LANSING (AP) — The philosophy of the community college includes the belief that such a school should be a place where a student who didn't perform well in high school can get a second chance at an education.

"In my opinion," said Dean Lewis R. Fibel, Flint Community College, "a community college should have opportunities for further education for virtually all high school graduates. However, these opportunities will not be the same for all of these people and there will be selection of students for specific courses.

"This philosophy certainly suggests a community college will offer remedial work and remedial work is expensive, but I do not think it is necessarily any more expensive in a college than in a high school."

With such an open door policy for students, community colleges of necessity have examinations used for placement of students in various courses.

A student who performed poorly in the academic subjects in high school, for example, isn't put on a baccalaureate degree course without first proving in remedial courses that he can handle regular college courses.

This problem adds to the guidance responsibility, which Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state school superintendent, views as one of the vital functions of a community college. But he also contends not all community colleges have adequate guidance programs.

TECHNICAL ORIENTATION

Another philosophy community colleges have is that great stress must be placed on technical or job-oriented courses.

Dr. Norman C. Harris of the University of Michigan Center for the Study of Higher Education said efforts to convert the community college into a prep school for the university should be ended, and junior college presidents should develop as much enthusiasm for the occupational education programs as they have for the university transfer programs.

Fibel agrees: "A substantial portion of the programs of community colleges should be of the so-called technical-terminal or occupationally oriented kind.

"There is every indication that the needs of industry in this area cannot be met except by the contribution of the community college."

Preston N. Tanis, director of Northwestern Michigan College, Traverse City, said if the need is present in the community then courses in auto mechanics in a community college can be justified if no other facilities are available.

"However," he added, "in practice the proposition is generally not that simple and clear-cut. My own feeling is that too often community needs are identified in the light of a community's difference from, rather than its similarity to other communities.

"This often leads to an emphasis on unique occupational needs that obscure a basic need shared by all American communities: the need for broad-minded, informed, moral and articulate individuals who are incidentally prepared to exercise intelligent participation in civic affairs."

Community college officials are convinced that the community college can perform all of these functions capably—degree oriented students and job-oriented students.

VARIED PROGRAM

"Of course this is possibe," Dean Fibel said, "and should be the goal at all times. If a community college, as it should, assumes a multiple function, it should make every effort to have excellent, although dissimilar programs in each area.

"There is in my opinion no justification for selecting one of its functions for concentration."

The Michigan Council of Community College administrators believes the Michigan development of autonomous community colleges not associated with any degree-granting college or university is the best, Michigan is not alone in this.

The pattern Michigan follows is followed in Texas, Florida, California, Kansas and Illinois. But it isn't the only pattern.

Some states prefer community colleges to be organized as branches of existing state universities. This is the pattern in Wisconsin.

Indiana just completed a study of higher education needs, a study similar to the one the blue-ribbon committee is making in Michigan.

It came up with the conclusion that branches of existing state universities was the better way, although the committee did recommend legislation be passed to permit communities to vote to establish their own community colleges.

Delta College of Saginaw, Bay and Midland Counties is the latest of Michigan's community colleges to get into the occupation area seriously.

Delta is investing $250,000 in equipment for a technical education wing.

The equipment will be mostly machines. Delta did considerable investigation of technical education at the two-year level.

It found the type of technical training needed to equip a student for a job in industry required a high school graduate who had studied science and math through trigonometry in high school.

Further investigation of Saginaw area industries revealed while industry needs these two-year trained technicians they want the courses open-ended so the person can pursue later a degree if he wants to advance himself.

Ford-Canton Issue: Minor Walkout to Major Struggle

By RICHARD PYLE

LANSING (AP) — On April 20, 1953, employes of the Ford Motor Co. forge plant in Canton, Ohio, walked off their jobs complaining of a production "speed-up."

This relatively minor labor dispute, involving 3,500 workers and lasting 35 days, led to one of the most bitter political controversies of modern times in Michigan: the Ford-Canton dispute.

This week, 10 years after the original walkout, Gov. George Romney will sign into law a bill aimed at resolving the controversy by making changes in the language of the state's unemployment compensation laws.

Michigan Democrats and labor leaders say the bill he will sign is a victory for big business — namely the auto industry — and they say its language almost certainly will be court-tested.

Business leaders say the bill fails to adequately provide the protection they sought and is therefore unsatisfactory.

* * *

Romney emphasizes the dissatisfaction on both sides and says the bill is, as a result, "in the public interest, giving no advantage to either party."

LONG SEQUENCE

A long sequence of events brought the Ford-Canton affair to where it stands today.

The shutdown in Canton cut off the supply of forgings flowing to several Ford assembly plants in Michigan. As a result, upwards of 11,000 workers were laid off.

Idled workers filed claims for unemployment compensation on grounds they were not involved in the strike or stood to benefit from it in any way.

The original claims, according to the UAW, would have run to about $1 million. When they were paid years later, after a court ruling, they totaled only $28,000.

The company charged the UAW had cooked up the strike as a subterfuge to force reopening of negotiations on a five-year contract then in its third year. The union did, and does, deny this.

But Ford's legal argument was based on a concept in the law since a 1941 Michigan Supreme Court decision (involving Chrysler Corp.), that plants which were "functionally integrated," or dependent on one another for production, were part of the same "establishment," and idled workers having "direct interest" in the same "establishment" could not collect jobless benefits.

The Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) ruled in Ford's favor. So did its referees, its appeal board, and Circuit Court Judge John Brennan of Wayne County when the case came to court.

TWO TEST CASES

From there, two cases — combined into one for the litigation and known to lawyers as Park V. MESC — went to the Michigan Supreme Court.

The high court, on Jan. 12, 1959, handed down its findings in a 5-2 split along party lines.

The majority opinion by Justice George Edwards overturned the 1941 decision (a case involving Chrysler Corp.) by determining that the "establishment" could not include both the Canton and the Detroit-area plants.

Edwards said it was not the intent of the legislature to deny benefits to workers in such a situation.

Justices Leland Carr and John Dethmers, in a dissent, pointed out that lawmakers had never sought to change the concept of the 1941 decision.

The result of the ruling was that the workers became eligible for jobless pay.

The UAW praised the finding as a "bread and butter" victory. Auto firms protested the ruling, contending that through payment of unemployment compensation fund assessments they would in effect be forced to finance strikes against themselves.

FORD LOSES APPEAL

Ford Motor Co. lost an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

At this point, the issue — for the sake of simplicity — acquired the name "Ford-Canton" and moved into the state political arena.

In 1959 and 1960, Republicans tried to amend the law but lacked the votes in a House divided 55-55.

In the next two years, the Republican-controlled legislature, with industry's support, pushed through bills to change the language of the strike benefits law.

Both were vetoed by Democratic Gov. John Swainson, whose position was supported by the UAW and the Michigan AFL-CIO.

Swainson, in 1962, said the 1959 court decision "merely protects workers unemployed through no fault of their own" and branded the complaint that firms would be financing strikes "a false, dishonest charge."

He also criticized GOP lawmakers for making the Ford-Canton language, which they almost certainly knew would be unacceptable, part of a larger bill to increase employer payments into, and worker benefits from, the jobless pay fund.

The then Republican State Chairman George Van Peursem charged that Swainson, by vetoing the bill "traded away the people of Michigan for the continued support of a few labor bosses . . ."

Romney, coming into office on Jan. 1 as the first Republican governor in 14 years, made a solution at the Ford-Canton problem one of the foremost parts of his legislative program.

He said the Ford-Canton issue had been blown out of proportion, with the result that adverse national publicity had damaged Michigan's reputation as a locale for business and industrial investment.

Both labor and industry agreed with Romney on these points, but they differed sharply on whose responsibility it was.

"Although we believe no legislation to be necessary," said UAW Vice President Leonard Woodstock, "we have not opposed legislation on this matter."

MANAGEMENT'S VIEW

Said the Michigan Employers' Unemployment Compensation Bureau, a leading spokesman for management:

"The governor agrees with what we have tried to convince the two former governors for over four years, that the Ford Canton dispute has had a tragic effect on the national reputation of a good business image for Michigan. . . ."

Romney named three university professors as consultants and called on representatives of both labor and management to help in drafting legislation.

Speaking for the trio, Dr. Charles Killingsworth of Michigan State University said the professors have taken no position on the final version of the bill because they haven't seen it:

"We lack information on the circumstances leading to the changes, and we have not had the benefit of analysis by labor or management attorneys or by legislative draftsmen of the affects of this complex new language," said Killingsworth.

He said he hoped to find time to study the bill and get the advice of lawyers on both sides, and added: "as of now, we neither endorse nor reject the bill."

Romney's proposal, when introduced in the Senate, set down sample criteria for determining whether a worker in one plant laid off by a strike in another with which it was functionally-integrated, would have a "direct interest" in the outcome.

Romney said the "direct interest" concept, generally applied, would mean whether the result of a strike could "reasonably be expected" to have a potential effect on the wages, hours or working conditions of the claimant.

It also surprised Republicans and pleased labor by including a provision giving workers idled by a strike in the same plant a chance to collect compensation.

GOP SIDETRACK

This provision was withdrawn, however, before the bill passed the Senate and went to the House, where GOP leaders were waiting to sidetrack it in favor of more restrictive language of their own.

Democrats screamed when they discovered the House version bore strong resemblance to language proposed in a hearing by Frank Cooper, a management attorney.

They objected most strenuously to a provision which, in effect, would have automatically disqualified all members of the UAW — the union most concerned — from jobless benefits.

It would have done this by disqualifying all workers whose local union lacked full contract bargaining powers. The contracts of all UAW locals are subject to approval by the international union headquarters.

In another part of the bill, the House version said workers, under certain conditions, would be "deemed" to have direct interest in a strike, instead of the softer term "presumed," which Romney had agreed to use at union leaders' request.

Romney and his legal aide, Richard Van Dusen, pronounced the House version "unacceptable" and went to work on a compromise with House and Senate Republican leaders.

This tug-of war ended April 18 when they produced new language holding to Romney's original idea that laid-off workers "in the same grade or class" as the strikers would be ineligible only if direct interest were shown.

The actual "compromise" in the revised bill concerned the vital "deemed" vs. "presumed" issue, saying direct interest would be "deemed to exist, in the absence of substantial and prepanderating evidence to the contrary."

Van Dusen said this would assure the claimant the right to challenge proofs offered by the company to show he did have a direct interest.

PARTY PASSAGE

The revised bill passed both houses on straight party-line votes.

Romney had said any further changes toward disqualification would not be acceptable, but said the bill as passed was "absolutely consistent" with his demands.

His only complaint was that the Ford-Canton language again had been tied to the employer tax and employe benefit boosts in the compensation fund.

He, like Swainson, said these matters should have been dealt with separately.

Democrats and labor disagree with Romney's view that the bill fits his requirements, Michigan AFL-CIO President August Scholle called it "an outrageous betrayal."

Scholle and UAW President Walter Reuther took issue in particular with the matter of workers furnishing evidence to back up claims disputed by their companies.

Rep. Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, the UAW lawyer who is his party's House minority leader, says the bill is still so unclear that "it will take three of four Supreme Court cases to determine what it really means."

Labor officials also predict trouble for small industry, arguing that tne auto firms, seeking protection under the law, will tend more and more to do their own subcontracting work rather than distribute it to outside firms.

One aspect of the Ford-Canton case, often overlooked in the exchange of bitter political charges, is its actual impact since 1959 The favorite figures are that less than $50,000 has been paid out in jobless benefits, including that paid to the Ford workers themselves.

Several other cases are in litigation now, among them one which concerns the definition of a "functionally-integrated establishment" as applied to Flint's Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants of General Motors.

The two are separated only by a wall.

Now You Can Trump Your Partner's Kennedy

BY MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON — Backstairs at the White House:

It was bound to happen—an Atlantic City specialty company is now offering at $1 per deck playing cards featuring the heads of President Kennedy and his family on the face cards.

The President naturally is the ace of spades, and his face shows in the center of the big single spade. Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy is the queen of hearts. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy is the king of diamonds; Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., is the king of clubs.

Other members of the family are featured on other face cards.

The artwork with some major charity might be ranked as good as the pictures on the garish "Jack and Jackie" dinner plates sold in souvenir shops of the Washington area.

SECURITY TIGHTER

Now that the Kennedys are using the place almost every weekend, security around Camp David, Md., appears to be tighter than possibly at any time since World War II.

U.S. park rangers see to it that no automobiles, even those driven by reporters and photographers with White House credentials, are permitted to park beside an otherwise public road in the vicinity of an athletic field used by presidential helicopters as a landing pad.

The field also serves as a riding ring for Mrs. Kennedy and this is where she schools Caroline on her pony.

The Navy always has maintained tight security around Camp David when a president was in residence, but the rangers seem to have new orders. Their diligence in preventing reporters from being anywhere near the landing area is unusual.

This solicitude, however, by the rangers, seems rather unnecessary at this time of year.

Trees are in full leaf, and the underbrush is so thick that no pictures could be made from the road which is some 200 yards from the landing area.

ENTERTAINING

The Kennedys have been entertaining relatives at Camp David on the weekends, but it is impossible to supply the names of these visitors most of the time since the White House keeps their identities secret.

For the most part, the guests are transported from Washington by helicopter and dropped down into the secluded camp far removed from any public sightseers.

This is an interesting contrast with the setup at the Gettysburg farm of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower when he was in office.

On a Sunday afternoon when the Eisenhowers were preparing to drive back to Washington, state police and secret service agents would permit several hundred spectators to gather around the farm gates.

When Eisenhower began using helicopters between the farm and Washington during the latter part of his term, spectators also were permitted to watch the whirlybirds take off and land, but naturally the people were not permitted inside the large fence encircling the Eisenhower property.

They had to watch from several hundreds yards away.

Offer Free Rice Meals to Arkansas Travelers

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas, which grows a lot of rice, is giving away samples of its product.

A rice kitchen has been opened on a highway near here as a joint enterprise of the Home Demonstration Council and the Chamber of Commerce.

The aim is to entice travelers to taste rice prepared in the form of salads, desserts and main dishes.

Airliner Returns for Stranded Pair

WEST END, Grand Bahama, B. W. I. (AP) — A Mackey Airlines four-engine airliner took off from Marsh Harbour for West End, then wheeled about and returned to the field.

Two men climbed aboard and the craft took off.

An American tourist later asked the pilot what had happened. The pilot replied that after takeoff he spotted the two men waving, so he went back. He said, "If I hadn't gone back they couldn't have caught another plane until next week."

Planes stop at Marsh Harbour thrice weekly.

Troupe Stages Marriage —This Time for Keeps

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — They'd done many a scene together on the stage. This one was for keeps.

The couple getting married were actors from a local troupe. The Town Council member who performed the marriage happened also to be employed in his evening hours as their stage director. Said he after the ceremony, "This is one scene that won't be repeated."

Takes Care of Everything

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — Eddy Roy Alston, 73, was driving in a residential area in Lawton when his car collided with another auto at an intersection, veered into a truck coming from the opposite direction, jumped the curb and ruined two lawns, bounced back into the street, hopped the curb again, flattened fences in front of three homes, crashed into a parked car, bowled over a fire plug which spewed water curb deep, knocked down at street marker and smashed into another fence before halting.

No one was injured.

Suffer in Studies

NEW YORK (AP)—Children who stay, as well as those who move, are influenced adversely in their studies by a high turnover rate in school.

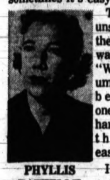
Here's Why Ours Is The Most Bored Generation in History

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — The very young journalism student said, "I guess it's pretty tough, isn't it, writing a column every day?"

The answer had to be, "Sometimes it's tough. But then again, sometimes it's easy."



This was most unsatisfying and the young man wanted to know, "Well, which columns turn out better — the ones that come hard, or the ones that come easy?"

PHYLLIS BATTELLE thought about that before, and said so.

The man, being very young, said, "Well, I imagine when you get around to thinking about it, you'll find the ones that came easy are the best. That's the way it is with me."

For some reason, his instant-analysis troubled me. Maybe the shades of my pioneering ancestors were rising up in protest over this idea of the best things in life being a breeze.

Maybe I just didn't like being classified with this facile freckle-face. Whatever it was, I went home determined to analyze my work and discover whether it's really true, that easy does it and diligence doesn't.

After pouring over a few weeksful of columns, I discovered I have no concept of which could be considered by readers to be better (if any), the easy-to-write or the belabored ones.

However, the ones I, myself, considered better were the columns which had been written an inch at a time, where every adverb had been a chore to come by, and every adjective an elusive effort.

To put it simply, there simply is no comparison in one's own evaluation of easy work and hard effort. The job which is easy may be satisfactory to others — but the job that is challenging and difficult is more satisfying to the man doing it.

After thus analyzing work, I extended the analysis to the other things I do. And I realized suddenly that if, as some critics have stated, ours is the most bored generation in history — there is good reason for it.

Everything is too easy today. Work AND pleasure. Thus, none of it means quite as much as when it was harder to come by . . .

Pleasure loses its punch when it's available, on a television set, 24 hours a day. Remember the days when we used to get dressed up, make a date, pay money and make a party out of going to the movies? Now life is one long, monotonous night at the movies.

Culture cannot really be appreciated when all you need to do to get it is stick a record on a turntable, flip a stereo switch, and have a concert at home. A Russian proverb says that joys cheaply gotten quickly dull.

A man named Clement McNaspy has written a comment with which most of us must agree, "Just as one can cheapen friendship by being too informal or by making visits too commonplace, one can belittle Bach by casually making the B Minor mass background music for shaving or sweeping or (God forbid) conversation."

Our cooking is too easy today to be appreciated. Once we savored food aromas, tasted and tested for hours, licked pans down to the last sticky ingredient. Now we pop an icebound box into the oven and it comes out dinner.

We no longer work hard for our leisure time. It is written into our union contracts, and is taken for granted.

Our national working man goal is to put in as little man-hours as possible for the maximum paycheck.

Everything comes more easily to everybody these days. Everything that is, except happiness and peace of mind. And if we need those, all we have to do is go to a psychiatrist and let him do our difficult thinking for us.

Ah, but who worries just because life seems a little dull?

Remember the national motto: Take it easy.

Afghanistan: Race Crossroads

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — Pick your way through the crowded back-alley bazaars of Kabul, being careful of the mud holes. You'll see a crossroads collection of humanity:

Bearded and turbaned cloth merchants wearing secondhand U.S. Army officers' coats and youths in U.S. Air Force sergeants' jackets selling pomegranates from the backs of donkeys;

Moslem women in chadaris that cover them from head to toe, with only a lace opening for the eyes—and other women in the knee-length coats and kerchiefs, wearing the officially decreed costume for those who have come out of purdah;

Leather-jacketed Russian technicians and, by local standards, almost indecently undressed American women tourists;

Blunt-nosed Mongolian faces and sharp-featured Arabian faces, dark Indian faces and light Uzbek faces, horizontal eyes and slanted eyes and occasionally a pair of blue eyes left by one of Alexander the Great's men.

In the narrow alleys between mud-walled houses and little hole-in-wall shops, and along the Kabul River where shoemakers and rug merchants squat, and even along the broad streets between the modern new office buildings on the Left Bank, you can see that the Central Asian kingdom of Afghanistan has been a historic meeting ground.

It still is a meeting ground. Russian taxis and American buses, powered by Russian gasoline, run on streets that were paved with Soviet aid downtown and American aid in one suburban area of new government offices.

The ruins of an 11th Century fort on a protective mountain are silhouetted against the southern sky; the snowy peaks of the Hindu Kush march across the northern horizon.

North of the Hundu Kush, plains slope down to the Oxus River, the point at which Czarist Russia halted its 19th century expansion after seizing the fabled sultanates of Bukhara and Samarkand that had been part of the same general culture as Afghanistan.

CARAVANS TO SHEEP

Across the plains, caravans once passed on the silk trade from imperial Rome to mysterious Cathay. Now Karakul sheep—the tightly curled wool is known as Persian lamb to the irritation of Afghan pride but the benefit of its pocketbook — graze near cities like Balkh that were beacons of knowledge in Europe's dark ages.

To the south, Americans and Afghans are working together to restore to desert areas the fertility they had before Genghis Khan's barbaric horsemen destroyed the irrigation system in the Helmand Valley.

Most of the ancient invaders passed on through Aryana, as this area was known in classical times. They were more interested in the lush plains of India than the bleak mountains and tiny green patches of Central Afghanistan.

The route to India lies over the Khyber Pass, a rugged slash in barren hills that British India incorporated and passed on to Pakistan.

All of the pass now lies in the northwest frontier of Pakistan. A stone and mud fort in the best traditions of Gunga Din guards its western end where an American-built road leads toward Kabul.

Buddhism came this way 2,000 years ago, flourished in a few valleys, and disappeared before the sword of Islam.

The mosque is the center of village life and Afghanistan remains one of the most traditionalist of Moslem countries. Purdah began to end only four years ago.

Beneath the chadari, though, many women had for years been wearing western styles of clothing.

AMERICAN CLOTHES

In the towns, many Afghans wear secondhand western clothes. Old American overcoats rub against blanket shawls as men cluster around braziers to keep warm on cold mornings.

In the countryside, a swaddling of rags is more common clothing for a large part of Afghanistan's population, the Nomads. Their caravans of camels and donkeys, with chickens contentedly perched atop loads, frequent roads that replaced ancient trails.

Their black sin tents appear in the most unlikely places. No matter how arid it is, they offer a cup of tea to anyone hearty enough to drink it.

There has never been a census, but the interior ministry makes a precise guess: 13,799,037. Of these, 2,431,296 are listed as Nomads.

Whatever the number, it is a population of rugged people who kept their independence when surrounding areas were falling under foreign rule.

The mixture of faces in the Kabul bazaar still shows a proud, free spirit.

Tigers Make Tactical Error Against Orioles

Birds Continue Southpaw Feast by 4-2 Count

Only Senators Keep Bengals From Last Place in AL

From Our News Wires

BALTIMORE — Hoping for another brilliant performance from one of their rookie pitchers, the Detroit Tigers gave lefthander Mickey Lolich a starting assignment against Baltimore last night.

But they apparently hadn't paid attention to what the Orioles have been doing to southpaws all season long.

Lolich became the 13th straight left-handed starter to fail to finish against Baltimore. The Orioles defeated the Tigers 4-2 and continued to share first place with the Chicago White Sox. The Orioles are 11-1 against lefties this season.

For the Tigers the setback was just another galling defeat that continued the Tiger slide toward the American League basement.

Now the Tigers can only remember the good ol' days when eighth was as low as the team could fall.

Detroit is now ninth and the only thing that keeps it from falling in the basement is Washington's poor play. The Senators are 10 games off the pace in the basement with a 14-26 record while Detroit is eight full games back with a 14-22 mark.

Last year beating Baltimore was so easy it seemed the only thing the Tigers had to do to gun down the birds was to trot unto the field.

But this is a new season — and it looks like a long one.

After beating the Orioles 16 times in 18 tries last year, Detroit has a feeble 1-4 mark against the birds this year.

SLUMP CONTINUES

The loss last night erased the hope that the two victories over Washington over the weekend were a sign the Tiger slump was over.

Detroit has now lost seven of its last nine games.

The Tigers are 2-5 on the current road trip which winds up tonight when the Tigers play the birds in the last game of their three-game series.

But before coming up Friday night to play the Boston Red Sox, the Tigers stop at Syracuse, their top farm club, for an exhibition game.

The way the Tigers have been going, it may be hard to tell the teams apart.

Lolich made his first major league start and pitched a good game but didn't get too much support. Joe Gaines homered in the second for Baltimore and Norm Cash tied it up in the top of the sixth inning with his fifth homer of the year off Chuck Estrada.

But in the last of the sixth, Baltimore pushed across two runs and Detroit never caught up.

Jake Wood singled home Dick McAuliffe in the seventh inning to cut Baltimore's lead to 3-2 but the Orioles added an insurance run in the eighth on a sacrifice fly by Brooks Robinson.

Even No. 1 Tigers in Shaky Position

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A pair of once-beaten teams threaten the No. 1 collegiate baseball ranking of the Missouri Tigers.

In the latest poll released today by the Newspaper Collegiate Baseball, the Tigers are still on top but threatened by Western Michigan, 18-1, and West Virginia, 27-1. Missouri is 21-5.

Second-ranked Western Michigan drew 14 first-place votes and West Virginia, in third, received 12. Missouri had 17.

Rounding out the Top Ten were: 4, Wake Forest, 25-9. 5, Temple, 20-1. 6, Texas, 19-5. 7, Southern California, 27-15. 8, Oregon, 23-5. 9, St. John's, N.Y., 21-4. 10, Arizona 30-15.

The final poll of the season will be released in two weeks, just before the college world series at Omaha. If the latest poll is any indication, the battle for No. 1 looks rugged.

'Unofficial' Agenda for NFL Meeting

ST. LOUIS (AP)— On the eve of their annual spring meeting, National Football League club owners did most of their talking privately about suspensions, trade rumors and alleged betting by Baltimore Colt President Carroll Rosenbloom.

Nothing startling was expected to merge from the two-day meeting, which officially opened with a private session today.

The owners are meeting for the first time since Commissioner Pete Rozelle suspended Paul Hornung of the Green Bay Packers and Alex Karras of the Detroit Lions for betting on games.

When questioned Tuesday on how soon the suspensions would be reviewed, Rozelle answered:

"I said at that time (last April) that the earliest possible time these cases could be reviewed would be after the end of the 1963 season or sometime in 1964. That still stands."

Asked what will go on at the meeting, Rozelle replied that "We're going to try to settle some of the things we tabled at our winter meeting in Miami. Outside of that, there shouldn't be anything startling."

VIDEO RIGHTS

On the agenda will be discussions of television and radio rights, the Pottsville, Pa. plea for the return of the 1925 NFL title, a disaster plan, player limit, players benefit fund and rule change recommendations.

A decision had been expected on the alleged betting by Rosenbloom on league games some 10 years ago, but Rozelle said the case would not be brought up during the meeting because of a delay in the investigation.

Among those items that will be discussed is the league's future television policy. The NFL is operating on the last year of a two-year $9,300,000 package with the Columbia Broadcasting Co. The recently-completed one-year contract for $926,000 with the National Broadcasting Co., for the championship game also will be discussed.

A decision may be made on the player benefit plan of money from the new television contract for the title game, and a decision is possible on the Pottsville plea for the 1925 championship, which was taken away and awarded to the former Chicago Cardinals.

Rule changes to be discussed include an amendent to increase the roster from 36 to 38 players.

Wolf Mapping Pistons' Plan

Eyes Summer Session to Study Rookies

DETROIT (UPI) — Charley Wolf, who yesterday became the fourth coach of the Detroit Pistons since the franchise was moved here in 1957, today started mapping out his plans to bring the Pistons out of obscurity in the National Baseketball Association.

Wolf, 37, who takes over a team that has finished third four times and second twice in its six years in the Motor City since it was shifted here from Fort Wayne resignated his post as head coach of the Cincinnati Royals to take the Detroit job.

The first program Wolf is planning is a summer camp where he'll take a long look at the players the Pistons drafted last month and some of the veterans who didn't play much last year. He wants to find out which players can help the team most.

Although he admits the Piston job is a "challenge," Wolf is optimistic about Detroit's chances in the NBA in the future.

"Next year I think any one of the five teams in the western division could be a threat. Los Angeles showed it was vulnerable in the second half of last season and St. Louis had to get the best out of its players to finish second," Wolf said.

NEED FAST START

"The most important thing could be a good start," he said. Last season Detroit got off to a poor start and just edged out San Francisco for third place in the western division standings.

Although he won't have the big player at Detroit like he had in Oscar Robertson at Cincinnati, Wolf says that balance is often more important than having one star. He hopes for a team that has all ten players capable of averaging in double figures.

Wolf replaces Dick McGuire, who resigned April 15 after coaching the club for 3½ years.

208 Golfers in Pro-Am Before Memphis Open

MEMPHIS (AP) — The $4,000 pro-am prelude to the $50,000 Memphis Invitational Open Golf Tournament was scheduled to begin today with 52 professionals and 156 amateurs competing.

Firing in the open itself begins early Thursday and continues through Sunday.

Ken Rosewall Clinches Pro Net Championship

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — —Ken Rosewall successfully defended his pro tennis championship by defeating Rod Laver 6-2, 6-2 Tuesday night.

There are five matches remaining in their 20-match tour, but Rosewall now has an 11-4 edge.

Still in doubt is the battle for third place between Andres Gimeno and Earl Buchholz. Gimeno won Tuesday night 8-4 to take a 9-6 lead. A crowd of 1,200 was on hand.

Doug Ford Golf Winner

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP)—Doug Ford, home for a brief visit before rejoining the pro tour at Memphis, won the Westchester Professional Golfers Association championship Tuesday. He shot a 77-67—144 for the 36-hole one day tourney.

MANAGERIAL RESTRAINT — Manager Billy Hitchcock of the Baltimore Orioles restrains Jim Gentile as the big first basement charges umpire Ed Runge in last night's game with the Tigers. The umpire had just ejected Gentile from the game for something he said to Runge as the Orioles took the field for the top of the fourth inning. Baltimore Won, 4-2.

Orioles' Pitching Staff Weakens Against Tigers

BALTIMORE (AP)—The pitching staff of the Baltimore Orioles is showing signs of weakening.

The Detroit Tigers rapped out the almost disgraceful total of seven hits Tuesday night. That's the second highest amount yielded by Oriole pitchers in their last nine games.

During that span the Baltimore mound staff has thrown two 3-hitters, two 4-hitters, two 5-hitters a 6-hitter, and (blush) an 11-hitter. Six of the starters finished their games, and the combined earned run average for the span is 1.43.

The phenominal pitching has resulted in seven victories, and lifted the Orioles into a tie with the Chicago White Sox for the American League lead. One of the two losses during the streak was suffered when the New York Yankees scored two unearned runs in the ninth inning to win 2-0.

Baltimore pitchers led the league in earned run average the past two years, after finishing runner-up three seasons in a row. The team ERA for 1963 has dropped to 3.22.

SIX INNINGS

Oriole starter Chuck Estrada, still bothered by a sore elbow, lasted only six innings Tuesday. But he picked up his third victory after allowing just three hits, including a home run by Norm Cash.

The Tigers added another run on three hits to chase reliever Stu Miller in the seventh inning, but they failed to score any more against rookie Dave McNally and Dick Hall. With two Detroit runners on base and Baltimore leading 3-2 in the eighth, Hall came in to strike out Bill Freehan and Dick McAuliffe.

Estrada, after missing almost three weeks because of the sore elbow, has gone seven, five and six innings in his three starts since returning to action.

"His arm hurt him again," Manager Billy Hitchcock said after Tuesday's game, "but not as much as last time. He threw more breaking balls and change-ups. They don't bother him as much as fast balls."

Mantle Blasts Two Homers

Yankees Beat 'Cousins' Again

By The Associated Press

It's bound to be a bonanza season for New York — as long as the Yankees keep getting rich against their Kansas City cousins.

Mickey Mantle drove across five runs with a pair of well-tagged homers, powering the Yanks over Kansas City 7-4. That made the Bombers 3-for-3 against the A's, a club they have manhandled outrageously since it moved west from Philadelphia eight years ago.

In the night's other AL game, Minnesota's surging Twins poured across seven runs in the third inning and whacked Boston 8-2. The Los Angeles Angels-Indians game at Cleveland was rained out.

Mantle poled a three-run homer in the first inning against Orlando Pena, then struck the deciding blow for the Yanks in the fifth when he connected with one on off Diego Segui. New York got 11 of its 12 hits and all seven runs against Pena and Segui in the first five innings. Roger Maris also homered for the Yanks, and Elston Howard rapped three singles.

FIFTH VICTORY

Jim Bouton won for the fifth time in six decisions although he was far from overpowering. He gave up six hits, including homers by Norm Siebern and Gino Cimoli, and five walks before being replaced by Steve Hamilton in the sixth.

The Yankees' won-lost bulge over the A's in eight seasons plus now stands at 127-44.

The White Sox built up a 4-0 lead at Washington with the help of a three-run sixth inning, but barely outlasted the Senators.

Held to four hits and one run through eight innings, the Senators made it a squeaker against reliever Hoyt Wilhelm when Don Lock homered with one on in the ninth and Ken Retzer singled—all with none out. But the knuckleballer turned away the next three men, saving the victory for John Buzhardt, now 4-1.

Mike Hershberger's third straight single triggered the White Sox' decisive sixth. Joe Cunningham followed with a double, Floyd Robinson singled, and Ron Hansen whacked a two-run single after a walk to Dave Nicholson.

The Twins collected their seven runs in the third against Red Sox rookie star Dave Morehead and reliever Jack Lamabe on Vic Power's triple, and double by Bob Allison, four singles, two walks and a wild pitch. It paved the way for Minnesota's fifth victory in the last six games and made it a breeze for right-hander Jim Perry. He evened his record at 2-2 with an eight-hitter.

Earl Battey socked a homer for the Twins, while back-to-back homers by Lu Clinton and Dick Stuart in the fourth accounted for the Boston runs.

The days of the vagrant athlete or league jumper may be over.

These are the athletes who take an athletic scholarship to one school, transfer to another school, become eligible after sitting out a year and even dare to repeat the whole procedure.

These are the athletes who think because they are high school heroes on the football field, basketball court or any athletic arena, they will be the big men among college recruits.

These are the high school stars who should be a little more humble and do a little less back-patting of themselves.

And these are the boys who have parents who are out trying to get the big gain for junior without conisderation for the important reason of college—studies.

NO LONGER PREVAIL

There was an attitude which often prevailed among the athletes heading for college that they would try the big time football school and if they should fizzle they could always drop a niche and get into a school of lesser prominence.

Conference around the country have decided to put an end to these campus rovers.

The new inter-conference letter-of-intent program which now includes the Big Ten, Atlantic Coast, Southeastern, Big Eight, Missouri Valley, Southwest, plus some independents, means the athlete will have to make his choice of schools and stay there. The days of the "better deal" will be few and far between.

Another important factor in the "intent" program will be the boys' scholastic standings. To put it bluntly, study or flunk out: and if he flunks out, he may get one more chance in the same school but will find people ignoring him should he try to better his grades and his athletic talents at another institution.

The number of "full ride" scholarships is dwindling among universities, and high school athletes had better look carefully at this double clause when they consider a college—put out, in the classroom and on the athletic field—or get out.

A real fine local athlete recently was bemoaning this fast prevailing college policy. He had all the assets to have a great college athletic career. He was warned repeatedly about his high school studies, but was told by some of his predecessors all he needed was the high percentage on the field.

"How wrong I was. I wish these players getting out of school today would realize the importance of those report cards," he said after his work day of broom pushing.

Those final report cards will be due at all area high schools in a couple weeks. It will be the time for separating the student athlete from the vagrant athlete.

U. S. Cage Team Faces Puerto Rico

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The United States' troubled basketball team, loser of two of its three starts, goes against winless Puerto Rico tonight in the World Basketball Tournament.

The United States, beaten by Yugoslavia and Russia, has only a slim chance of overtaking the leaders in the seven-team round robin championship bracket.

Defending champion Brazil and the powerful Russians lead the field. Each added to the margin Tuesday night. The Russians bombed Puerto Rico 64-55 for their third victory without loss while Brazil won its fourth straight, beating France 77-63.

Puerto Rico is now 0-4 and France 2-3.

Russia plays Italy, 0-3, in the other game tonight.

LUNKER TROUT — This 6-pound, 3½-ounce brown trout was caught Saturday at the Fenton trout ponds by William C. Gallant, 17, of Oxbow Lake. He used a No. 12 grey squirrel-tail streamer and needed 45 minutes and a borrowed net to land the largest brown ever reported from county waters.

Large Brown Trout Caught; 13-Ounce Bluegill in Lead

William C. Gallant rolled up his pant legs and waded into the two Fenton trout ponds Saturday just after sunset.

An hour later he waded out with the heaviest brown trout ever reported caught in Oakland County waters.

The 17 - year-old Adelphi Academy student, who lives at 637 Lakeview, Oxbow Lake, had just completed a successful 45-minute battle with the 6-pound, 3½-ounce brown. It was 23 inches long and had a girth of 14⅞ inches.

The trout was taken on a No. 12 grey squirrel - tail streamer attached to a 2-pound test tippet.

William realized he was in trouble when the fish began to tire. He didn't have a net nor did his father, William D. Gallant. The landing equipment was home in the garage.

His father solved the problem by going to the caretaker's house, which is on the shore of the small pond, and borrowing a net. The fish will be mounted.

The trout does not qualify for The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby because there is only a rainbow division, none for browns.

DERBY LEADER

The Derby does have a leader in the bluegill division.

Harold Pace, 1132 Humphries, caught a 13-ounce bluegill about 7:30 p.m. Sunday while fishing Square Lake The fish was 10 inches long.

Pace said he was wading out from shore fishing with a night-crawler when the fish hit in about six feet of water. He also took several smaller gills.

A 4-pound, 7-ounce rainbow tops its class.

The pike leader is 4½ pounds. No entries will be accepted in the blackbass division until the season opens June 1. The winners are determined by weight only. The Derby is open to residents of Oakland County and the fish must be caught in county waters.

Fish taken from private and commercial waters are not eligible.

Because of the unpredictable weather and occasional high winds, fishermen are staying away from the lakes.

Some good catches of rainbows were made last weekend on Elizabeth, Maceday and Orchard Lakes. Evening fishing for bluegills in shallow water has been productive on Lake Oakland, Union and Spring Lakes.

A No. 16 light cahill dry fly is a good bet for evening fishing at Davisburg trout pond. But the small bluegills there are becoming a nuisance.

Walleyes are now in the St. Clair River, but catches have been inconsistent because of the weather and the fish are small.

Commission Eyes Change in Dunes Bill

Michigan's Conservation Commision has speled out two possible changes to the Hart-McNamara bill calling for joint agreement between state and federal officials on hunting and fishing matters within the proposed Sleeping Bear Dunes national recreation area.

The amendments would require the combined approval of the Secretary of the Interior and Conservation Department in designating when and where hunting would be permitted, and in setting jurisdiction over enforcement of the state's hunting and fishing laws.

Each of the commission's proposals is suggested should its adoption become necessary to insure the department an equal voice in decision-making on these matters.

Present terms of S792, the Hart-McNamara bill, provide for this, but a move may be made to strike them out.

The Commission has not endorsed either of two bill before Congress which would establish a national recreation area in Benzie and Leelanau counties.

Moose Increase Noted

Lynx Making Comeback

The day may not be far off when a once-lost member of Michigan's wildlife family — the Canada lynx — will regain his place as an established resident of the Upper Peninsula's densely-forested areas.

That's the way things look to William Laycock, of Marquette, the Conservation Department's regional game supervisor.

He reports that 10 lynx were killed above the Straits last year, the most recorded since the animal dropped out of the state's picture — or nearly so — as a result of Michigan's virgin forests being cut over.

There is a good chance that more lynx were taken than reported, because they can easily be mistaken for their little brother, the bobcat. In other words, some lynx kills may have passed for bobcats.

This, in turn, points to the possibility that the Upper Peninsula's lynx population may be even higher than kill reports have indicated in recent years.

Department game men in the field have noted signs which suggest that lynx numbers are building up slowly, but surely.

They also have good evidence that the moose, another scarce species since the logging days, is increasing gradually in the Upper Peninsula, mostly in the eastern end. These giants of the antlered world also have two small colonies in the central part.

The rise of the lynx and moose is more than a mere coincidence, according to Laycock. Their comeback is traced to changing forest conditions, namely the return of the big timber — the very thing which is working to the disadvantage of deer, grouse and snowshoe hares.

BLUEGILL LEADER — Harold Pace of Pontiac holds the 13-ounce bluegill he caught Sunday evening while fishing Square Lake. The fish leads The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby's bluegill division.

Children Big Problem for Proud Lake Area

Al Massini, manager of the Proud Lake recreation area, has a problem — too many school children.

The youngsters aren't overrunning the Proud Lake area or taking part in vandalism. They simply can't get there unless they go with their parents on a weekend outing.

The nature program at the area is causing the problem, according to Massini.

"Our outdoor nature program is booked 18 months in advance," said the manager, "and it could be five years ahead if the rules would allow it."

School classes make up the bulk of the program, he said.

"Most of the classes come from Oakland County with a few from Detroit. We could have 16 weeks from Canadian schools if we had the manpower and facilities."

NO CLASSROOM

There is only one naturalist available for the program and no classroom building.

"We are working on getting a building where classes can be held," said Massini. "Then we will be able to handle more groups."

Earthen dams will be constructed on Long and Twin Lakes in Lapeer County this summer. The Conservation Department feels this will improve the fishing.

Rainbow fishermen have been having trouble at North Twin because the beavers engineered a dam in the wrong place — for fishing — and the two lakes have become almost one.

Part of a Woodland Caribou antler was found in an old peat bog near Lapeer last summer, the second piece of recorded evidence ever unearthed to indicate that the animal once ranged over southern Michigan.

The first discovery was made in 1940 near Minden City in Sanilac County.

The last known caribou in Michigan was found on Isle Royal near the turn of the century. Today, caribou are found only across the northern most part of the North American continent.

Holiday Season Opens Memorial Day

More State Campsites Ready

LANSING (UPI) — To make the 1963 summer vacation season as alluring as possible to Michigan campers and out-state tourists the State Conservation Department has spent millions of dollars improving outdoor facilities.

Improvements include more than 700 campsites added through a multi-million dollar bonding program which is underwritten by vehicle sticker sales for admission to the state parks.

Come Memorial Day, the official vacation-launching date, outdoor enthusiasts will find some 260 new campsites ready to use at Baraga, Brimley, Fort Wilkins, Lake Gogebic, McLain and Porcupine Mountains state parks in the Upper Peninsula alone.

Conservation Department officials say 60 campsites are being readied at Cheboygan state park in the Lower Peninsula, which will be in business for its first full season. Another 15 sites have been added at Harrisville state park.

Southern Michigan campers will have their pick of 395 new sites at Hayes and Port Crecent state parks and the Pinckney recreation area.

There is one small catch and conservation people are hoping the citizens will take it all in stride. Starting June 1 the daily camping fee in state parks will go up from $1 to $1.50.

Without the boost, department parks officials say, the improvements wouldn't have been possible because of an already serious shortage of funds.

RIVER CAMP

Also new to the U. P. this season are a river campground, nature trail and parking lot at Van Riper state park; rest room and shower buildings for campers at J. W. Wells and Tahquamenon Falls state parks; and changecourts for bathers at Lake Gogebic.

Other toilet and shower facilities have been built or remodeled at Harrisville state park in the northern Lower Peninsula. Ludington state park's outdoor center has a new dormitory and craft building. New picnic areas with parking lots for 290 cars and a boat launching ramp await visitors in the snug harbor section of Muskegon state park.

Orchard Beach state park has added a self-guiding foot trail and at Traverse City state park electricity is available for all campsites. Benzie state park, a popular fishing spot, will feature a lighted fish cleaning house for late-returning anglers.

Other improvements have been made at Yankee Springs and Proud Lake recreation areas; Port Cresent and Warren Dunes state parks; Teeple Lake Beach! Dodge state park and Big Fish lake at the Ortonville recreation area.

Bonefishing Causes Problem

Oscar Goofs; Jimmy Bowlegs Glares

By OSCAR FRALEY

WEST END, Grand Bahamas (UPI)—Here in this plush island paradise a mere 55 miles east of Palm Beach there are two names which spell the epitome of fishing.

One is Jimmy Bowlegs. The other is bonefish.

Together they are Al Hirt on a trumpet, Willie Shoemaker banging down to the wire on a stakes horse, Frank Sinatra singing the blues, Jimmy Brown buffeting the middle of the line and Picasso with a palette.

You can have your tarpon, sailfish or marlin. I'll take Jimmy Bowlegs poling from the deck of his skiff and a battling bonefish on a light spinning rod.

Jimmy Bowlegs is an artist in stalking the spooky Tigers of the flats nearby the luxurious Grand Bahama Hotel. Fishing has been his life for most of his 50 years and the Bahamas are part and parcel of his heritage.

Because this tall, rangy man with the slow smile and the soft voice is a descendant of Billy Bowlegs, a Seminole chieftain who was the only Indian pirate and scourged these rainbow waters along with such as Blackbeard, Henry Morgan and Black Caesar.

But Jimmy Bowlegs puts as much excitement into bonefishing as anything ever seen along these storied shores.

The bonefish is the spookiest thing you ever saw, Jimmy explained in a whisper as he ghosted the skiff over two and a half feet of water. "Usually you get one chance and if you blow it, you've had it.

"What you do," he added, baiting the hook with shrimp, "is lay it out there in front of him. Then give it one little careful jiggle, just enough to attract his attention but not to spook him. Then let it lay there, sit quiet and pray, mon."

Jimmy crouches on the poling deck, moving the skiff with stealthy care so as not to strike the side of the boat and squinting over the water for a tell-tale ripple. Suddenly his arm points cautiously and you see a faint shadow. "Throw it ahead of him," he whispers.

Well, you make a mistake and throw it behind him and the bone is gone. Jimmy gives you a look that a couple of centuries back Billy Bowlegs pinned on a character about to walk the plank.

Big Night for Hitters in City Softball Action

Recreation softball results were heavy with runs last night except for two city American League contests that were fine pitching duels.

Both Waterford Township contests were 9-3 victories for Lakeland Pharmacy and A&W Root Beer.

Martin & Associates and Harvey's Colonial House piled up the tallies in city Class A play, the former taking a 13-1 win and HCH conquering 300 Bowl, 10-1.

The pitcher's duels saw Dave's Boys nip Elks No. 810, 2-1, behind Cal Atwood; and Arro Realty's Harvey Avesian shutout Mouicatti, 2-0.

Avesian, who fanned 11, was embroiled in a scoreless battle of one-hitters with Lee Sherby until his mates erupted for back-to-back doubles and then singles for two runs in the home half of the sixth inning.

WINNING H. T.

Atwood drove in the winning run with a two-out ground ball to right field in the last inning that scored Bob Overcashier from second base as the Elks lost a heart breaker.

Six hits and seven runs in the third inning gave Harvey's the runs it needed against 300 Bowl. Jim Long and Gene Shell had back-to-back doubles in the frame.

Monty Tipton climaxed a 12-run first inning for Martin & Associates with an inside-the-park home run in its 13-1 shellacking of Howe's Lanes.

In the township Class C action, Lakeland Pharmacy's John Strong drove in three runs with a single and double as the winners posted their second straight success. Losing Haskins Chevrolet contributed seven walks and four errors to the winners' cause.

Algie Black hurled one-hit ball in relief for three-and-a-third innings as A&W bombed Huron Bowl in the other township clash.

Tonight, there will be a Class C twin bill at Beaudette park with Poponea's Market playing Pontiac Millwork, and Local 653 meeting Bud & Lou's Bar.

At Northside there will be a Class B doubleheader with Pontiac State Hopital to clash with Circle Inn, and Bob & Larry's Bar to play Motorcar Transport.

The Drayton Plains diamond will have two Class C contests, Dixie Bar vs. Dinky's Hideaway and Rockcote Paint vs. Lakeland Pharmacy. All games will begin at 7 p.m.

Thousands Pay Homage to Grid Star

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — Ernie Davis, a football hero cheered by thousands, received the homage of thousands more on the eve of his funeral today.

The service, scheduled for the Monumental Baptist Church, was shifted to the First Baptist Church, which can accomodate 900 persons.

Nearly 10,000 persons filed through the gymnasium of neighborhood House Tuesday to pay respects to the 23-year-old athlete voted the nation's outstanding collegiate football player in 1961. Davis died Saturday in Cleveland of leukemia.

Charles J. Kromer, executive director of Neighborhood House, said more than 9,200 had passed the bier between 10 a.m. and 10 p.m. Lines during the evening stretched for two, long city blocks.

Many came in work clothes, others in mink. Some were from nearby Pennsylvania.

WORE UNIFORM

A woman passed the bier in a wheelchair. A 9-year-old boy wore his football uniform.

Few words were spoken. Prayers were many.

Among those who arrived early for the funeral were Ben Schwartzwalder, Davis' coach at Syracuse University and Arthur Modell, president of the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League, for whom Davis was to have played. Davis was stricken with leukemia before he ever had a chance.

Berlin Enters Delayed Bid for Olympics

BERLIN, Germany (AP) — Avery Brundage and other leading Olympic officials have thrown support behind the surprise bid of Berlin to play host to the 1968 Olympic games.

"It would be a victory of sport over politics," Otto Mayer, chancellor of the International Olympic Committee said in Lausanne, Switzerland, Tuesday.

He said the IOC welcomed the surprise bid by Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin.

"This would be a great triumph for amateur sports and the Olympic movement and it would put political wrangling to shame," Brundage, president of the IOC, said in Chicago.

Hazel Park Track Closed by Virus

DETROIT (UPI) — Hazel Park Harness Raceway yesterday followed the path of other harness tracks in the nation and suspended operations because of a coughing epidemic which has affected several horses.

The suspension will be lifted for racing Friday night if conditions permit it.

Three other harness tracks — Maywood Park in Chicago, Brandywine in Wilmington, Del., and Northfield Park in Cleveland — have already shut down because of the mysterious virus.

Maloney No Joke to National League Batters

By The Associated Press

Jim Maloney signed with Cincinnati on April Fool's Day, but he's no joke to National League batters.

The 22-year-old right-hander who admits "I babied my arm too much" in his early days with the Reds, tied the modern major league record of eight consecutive strikeouts and fanned a total of 16 in a 2-0 victory over Milwaukee Tuesday night.

Signed for an estimated $100,000 bonus in 1959, Maloney has had a slow rise to fame, but now stands along with 26-year-old Jim O'Toole as the aces of the Reds' staff. Between them they have recorded 12 of Cincinnati's 18 victories and pulled the club up to .500.

Things weren't so good for Maloney last year. When the Reds broke spring camp, he found himself farmed out. "I babied my arm too much, and I learned," says Maloney, "that I couldn't last nine innings just by standing out there on the mound and humming the fast ball."

LEARNED QUICKLY

Maloney apparently learned quickly. He finished the 1962 season with the Reds, posting a 9-7 record, and now is 6-1 with a sparkling 2.25 earned average. He is third in the league in strikeouts with 57, behind Los Angeles' Sandy Koufax and one behind the Dodgers' Don Dyrsdale.

The Dodgers got a five-hit pitching performance from Johnny Podres, defeated the New York Mets for their seventh straight victory 4-2 and remained one-game behind league-leading San Francisco. The Giants beat Philadelphia 3-2 as Billy O'Dell won his sixth without a loss.

St. Louis edged Chicago's Cubs 5-4 and Pittsburgh nipped Houston 6-5 in other games.

Maloney allowed only two hits in the 8 1-3 innings he worked. He started his string of eight straight strikeouts with Eddie Mathews in the first inning and kept whiffing Braves until Hank Aaron grounded out in fourth inning. He had fanned 15 in the first seven innings, and had a good chance to tie or surpass the single game record of 18 held by Bob Feller and Koufax. He managed only one the rest of the way, however.

Maloney left after walking two men in the ninth and running the count on Norm Larker to two balls and no strikes. Bill Henry took over and finished up without any trouble. Frank Robinson drove in both runs against Braves' starter Bob Hendley with a first inning single and a third inning sacrifice fly.

Shutout by Galen Cisco for five innings and trailing 2-0, the Dodgers put it out of reach with three runs in the sixth inning on a two-run double by Willie Davis and a single by Dick Tracewski knocked in what turned out to be the deciding run. Ron Fairly chipped in with two roubles and a single in support of Podres, now 3-3.

Avondale Hopes Rise

Avondale's hopes for a Oakland A baseball title received a boost yesterday in the highlight of the prep diamond scene.

The Yellow Jackets posted their sixth straight victory (fifth in the league) by defeating Fitzgerald, 9-5, with two big innings.

Other scores saw Clawson continue on top the circuit by edging Troy, 14-13; Pontiac Northern defeated Southfield, 6-5; Berkley clinched a tie in the Inter-Lakes race with an 8-4 win over Waterford; and Walled Lake nipped Farmington, 2-0.

Pontiac Central was beaten by Flint Northern, 4-1; Royal Oak Kimball remained undefeated by taking Hazel Park, 8-7; OLSM beat St. Fred's, 6-2; and RO St. Mary stopped Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows, 5-4.

Avondale's ace hurler Lynn Thorpe was driven from the box in a five-run third inning by Fitzgerald, but sophomore Mike Meyers stopped the Spartans cold thereafter.

Dennis Acker drove in five runs with a single in the four-run Avondale first and a bases-loaded double in the winning five-run sixth-inning rally.

There were 23 hits in the Clawson - Troy struggle. The Colts scored three times in the bottom of the seventh but couldn't put across the tying run.

NORTHERN RALLY

Pontiac Northern's Dave Bihl singled three times against Southfield yesterday. The second one brought in two runs to tie the score in the sixth inning after two were out, and his final two-out blow in the eighth inning plated the winning marker for the Huskies.

Berkley tallied four times in the eighth frame to break open a close contest with Waterford. Dick Kakkuri's triple was the big blow. Gary Grant had a two-run triple for the Skippers.

Walled Lake's Don Rickard hurled a one-hitter to stop Farmington. Dave Fagerlie's triple was the key blow as the Vikings scored twice in the sixth inning.

Lane Ellis' three - run homer in the second was all Charley Pitts needed to defeat PCH on a five-hitter. Paul Oliver hurled two sharp innings of relief ball for the Chiefs.

Ted James' three - run homer in the sixth brought Kimball within one run of tying the score, and the Knights pulled out the game when Lee Wulfmeier's windblown fly was dropped with two out in the seventh permitting the final two Knights' runs to score in an 8-7 win over Hazel Park. The winners are 10-0.

Larry Janiszewski fired a two-hitter and fanned nine to beat St. Frederick, 6-2, for Orchard Lake St. Mary. The winners remained tied in the Northwest Catholic League race with ROSM which edged FOLS, 5-4, on a last inning run - scoring single by Frank Butler.

Hawks Fire Rudy Pilous as Coach

CHICAGO (AP)—Rudy Pilous was the most successful coach in Chicago Black Hawk history. But today, the victim of his own success, he's looking for another National Hockey League job.

Pilous has learned the hard way that in Chicago, security as a coach is about as easy to hang onto as a hat on a windy day.

The Hawks fired Pilous Tuesday "because the management decided to make a change." That was the only reason given in the statement, drafted by general manager Tommy Ivan and issued in Chicago. Ivan is vacationing in Miami.

A successor to Pilous was not named but rumors are that former Toronto Maple Leaf Coach Billy Reay will get the job. Reay last season coached Chicago's American League farm club, the Buffalo Bisons, to their first league and playoff title.

Pontiac Northern ended its tennis slump with a 3-2 win over Southfield and Orchard Lake St. Mary took a 77 2-3 to 31 1-3 track victory from Grosse Pointe St. Paul.

Northern tennis wins were posted by Barry Buffington 6-1, 5-7, 6-3 over Don Miller, George Kovach 6-1, 6-4 over Rick Feinberg and the doubles team of Larry Howard and Dayne Thomas 6-1, 7-5 over Jim Eary and Bill Christian.

Southfield's Bill Winter beat Bill Basinger 6-2, 4-6, 6-2 and Tom Jannette-Ed Haubert topped Dwight Coe and Roy Hinson 7-5, 4-6, 6-1.

Joe Plieger won the high hurdles, low hurdles and was second in the broad jump to score 13 points for OLSM.

Weather Helping Walker Cup Team

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)—The weather, which has ranged from foul to good, may have been a help in the preparations of the United States' Walker Cup team for its weekend golf matches with England.

Two U.S. teams, led by reigning U.S. amateur champ Labron Harris of Stillwater, Okla, and Richard Davies of Pasadena, Calif., last year's British amateur champ, shot 73s Tuesday in the first sunny weather in four days.

The Walker Cup matches are scheduled over the 7,025-yard Turnberry course Friday and Saturday.

In practice rounds Tuesday, U.S. twosomes alternated shots.

Harris teamed with Downing Gray of Pensacola, Fla. on their 73 and Davies played with Charlie Smith, Gastonia, N.C.

Is Miss Wright Better Than Babe?

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — Is 28-year-old Mickey Wright a better golfer than the late great Babe Zaharias?

Yes, said four women professional golfers who have played with them both. All four—Betty Jameson, Betsy Rawls, Marlene Hagge and Mary Lena Faulk—rated Miss Wright ahead on the golf course over the late Babe, a fantastic woman athlete who excelled at golf and other sports.

"That Babe was a better putter than Mickey and great getting out of trouble," said Miss Jameson in an interview during a woman's tournament here. "She was marvelous around the greens.

"But she was always in trouble."

SCIENTIFIC APPROACH

The Babe could belt the ball off the tee and Miss Wright doesn't hit her drives any farther, Miss Jameson said. "But Mickey has the scientific approach and she has made an art of driving. She hits the ball with authority and she knows where it's going."

Miss Jameson added that Babe, who didn't turn pro until she was 32, "probably never reached her full potential. But Mickey is just coming into her own."

Miss Rawls, whose one season money record of $26,774 is threatened by Miss Wright, said "Mickey is a much better golfer than the Babe.

"The Babe was better around the greens but Mickey is a better all-around player."

BEST SWING

She added: "Mickey has the best swing in golf, better than any of the men."

Mrs. Hagge was more emphatic: "Mickey is far and away the better. There is no comparison." Miss Faulk said, "I would say that Mickey has the stronger game."

Babe captured the fancy of the public with her great competitive spirit. Does Miss Wright have this?

"Yes," said Miss Rawls, "although she is not the poor loser that the Babe was. She's not the competitor in that way. But that's the way the Babe was in everything. Winning was everything to her."

Miss Wright demonstrated some of her competitive spirit during the tournament here. After the third round she was involved in a controversial penalty against Marilynn Smith for slow play. The two-stroke penalty dropped Miss Smith from a tie with Miss Wright to second.

In the final round, Miss Wright shot a two-under-par 68, equalling the course record, then told newsmen:

"I just wanted to prove that I don't need to ask anyone to slap a two-stroke penalty on one player so that I can win a tournament."

JFK Honeymoons With Dixie Dems

By VINCENT J. BURKE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two years and four months after he entered the White House, President Kennedy is enjoying a belated honeymoon with Southern Democrats in Congress.

This runs counter to the historic pattern of presidential relations with Capitol Hill.

According to the traditional script, the President is accorded a brief honeymoon after taking office, whereupon lawmakers of both parties gradually become more difficult to deal with.

This year, congressional Democrats from the South provided a bigger margin of support for Kennedy's "must" legislation than they did in either 1961 or 1962.

The rise in party loyalty among House Democrats from states of the old Confederacy has enabled Kennedy's lieutenants to win every one of their five big battles in the House this year despite marked stiffening of opposition from Republicans.

Mississippi's five Democrats are still voting almost solidly against Kennedy but there has been a good deal more support from the 10 other Old South states' 90 representatives.

Since only one of the five House battles was over passage of a brand-new Kennedy program, the White House is under no illusions that its 1963 victories have cleared the way for passage of other disputed administration programs.

Nonetheless, Kennedy aides are pleased with the progress this year to date.

GRADUAL WEANING

Kennedy's success in weaning a significant number of Southern Democrats away from the long-standing "coalition" with GOP House leaders has been achieved so gradually that it has received scant public attention.

Yet it constitutes the most impressive political triumph of the Kennedy administration and ranks as one of the most surprising developments in recent political history.

The causes are many. Foremost among them is that Kennedy and his aides have assiduously wooed and lobbied the Southerners and painstakingly cultivated their friendship.

Influential Southerners, such as Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., the dean of the House, have thrown their support to Kennedy on issue after issue.

Federal funds have been liberally dispensed for construction projects in the South. Patronage has been used with a view to winning support in Dixie. Moreover, Kennedy has been willing to compromise on legislative issues to gain support for victories.

Re-apportionment of House seats after the 1960 Census helped by shifting some seats from conservative to liberal areas in the South.

The rise of Republican voting in the previous "one-party" South apparently has helped more than hurt Kennedy's cause. Faced with the prospect of Republican foes, some Southern Democrats have edged closer to the national party line.

Whatever the causes, the results are plain to see in the record of the roll-call votes in the House this year.

On the crucial final roll-call in each of the five House battles, 41 of the 95 Southern Democrats did not cast a vote against Kennedy. On these showdowns, 20 others voted with the administration forces more often than not.

Only 12 die-hard Kennedy foes failed to cast one vote in support of the administration.

Consider the five 1963 struggles.

HOUSE RULES

On Jan. 9, the House on a 235-196 roll call kept lawmakers friendly to Kennedy in control of the powerful House Rules Committee which regulates the flow of legislation to the House floor.

Southern Democrats supported the President 50-44. This compared with a 62-36 vote they cast against the administration on the same issue two years earlier.

PUBLIC WORKS

On April 10, the House voted 228-184 to restore $450 million in public works funds which Republicans and conservative Democrats had stripped from an appropriation bill in committee.

Republicans, voting 151-20, provided a 131-vote margin of opposition. Democrats, voting 208-33 for the money, provided a 175-vote margin of support. The Southern Democrats voted 60-30 in support of the administration.

DOCTOR TRAINING

On April 24, despite opposition from a majority of Republicans, the House approved an administration plan to provide federal loans for needy medical students. The vote was 239-171.

Republicans opposed it 138-33. Democrats supported it 206 to 33. Southern Democrats favored it 53-32.

FEED GRAINS

On April 25, the House by a 12-vote margin passed a two-year extension of the administration's surplus-curbing feed grain program.

Republicans opposed it 168-1. Southern Democrats voted yes 71-18. Democrats from other areas supported the bill 136-10.

DEBT CEILING

On May 15, partylines tightened further on passage of legislation to raise the legal ceiling on the national debt. The vote was 213-204.

Voting no by 172-1, Republicans raised their net margin of opposition to Kennedy-backed legislation to a new high of 171.

This was overcome by a 212-32 Democratic vote, with Southern Democrats helping, 60-29.

Rep. George Huddleston Jr., Democrat from Birmingham, Ala., supported a boost in the debt limit a year earlier. On the recent vote, he opposed it.

Except for that, there was no sign that Kennedy's action in stationing federal troops near Birmingham after the outbreak of racial riots there might have cost him Southern support on unrelated legislative issues.

In fact, four Southerners from other states who voted against an administration-proposed debt limit increase in June, 1962, voted yes this time.

Asked whether Birmingham developments had influenced his vote, Huddleston said he always votes "on the merits of legislation."

Princess Soraya Tells Inside Story About Shah

NEW YORK (AP)—Princess Soraya says she could have averted divorce from the Shah of Iran if she had agreed to let him take a second wife.

The Shah divorced the glamorous Soraya in 1958 after she failed to provide him with an heir during their seven years of marriage.

She discusses her marriage and subsequent life in an article in the June issue of McCall's Magazine.

It was she, and not the Shah, who first broached the idea of a divorce, she said.

She related that in rejecting a proposal to allow him a second wife, she told an emissary the "shah could never manage it. It's contrary to his entire character."

RECOMMEND COUP

The princess also said she recommended to the shah the 1953 coup d'etat which ousted Iranian Prime Minister Mossadegh.

The shah initally opposed the plan, she said, but finally agreed.

Despite her divorce, the princess still writes of her ex-husband in admiring terms and says she never regretted her marriage to him.

"Our marriage originally had not been a love match," she said. "But with each passing year, we had come closer and our affection for each other was a very real thing."

But she said she realized the people of Iran were becoming impatient because there was no heir to the throne and she "initiated the decisions" which led to their divorce.

POLYGAMY ACCEPTABLE

Under Moslem law, polygamy is acceptable for a monarch.

The princess insisted she has no bitterness about her husband's decision not to follow the example of the Duke of Windsor, who gave up the throne of Britain for "the woman I love."

"Such a step was never discussed between us," she declared, "and could certainly never have crossed his mind. Ancient Persian tradition guided him: No woman, no matter how beloved, could count more than his throne and his desire for an heir."

She said the divorce settlement gave her a sum of money "considerably less than was commonly believed" and that since then she has received no additional sums.

The shah, however, had given her money during their marriage, the princess said, and as a result of investments she had a "modest fortune" when they were divorced.

Blind Boy Scouts Get Records for Projects

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Dr. Robert M. Lacy, a research engineer, did his good turn for blind Boy Scouts.

He made seven recordings which supply the information a Scout needs to work for higher ratings. The discs are distributed to the sightless through national scout headquarters.

New Hampshire Sweepstakes Shatters Old Puritan Image

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—If it's been asked once, it's been asked a thousand times in recent days: How could New Hampshire, of all places, go for a sweepstakes?

How could the staid old Granite State become the only one in modern times to sanction a legal lottery?

"It's like coming upon one's maiden aunt playing the slot machines in Reno," Methodist Bishop James K. Mathews said recently. "A cherished image has been shattered."

The image the bishop referred to has always seemed clear enough: New Hampshire—land of Daniel Webster, of the Great Stone Face, of sparkling lakes and mountain scenery, of a flinty, frugal people steeped in Protestant morality and the no-nonsense conservatism of their forefathers.

All this, in the view of Bishop Mathews and many others, fell into a million pieces when Democratic Gov. John W. King signed into law a sweepstakes bill passed by the Republican legislature.

About a year from now, New Hampshire hopes to begin running two sweepstakes races annually at Rockingham Park, the big horse track near the Massachusetts line. The proceeds—hopefully estimated at $4 million a year from the sale of lottery tickets at $3 each—will go entirely to schools.

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — AP SPECIAL REPORT

There is some debate over whether the people of New Hampshire want this sweeps action.

The governor contends that indeed they do, and that no politician will dare run on an anti-sweepstakes platform in the future.

He's certain to be challenged on that point, but the sweepstakes had extensive backing—even in the rural hamlets with their colonial homes, village greens and gleaming white churches.

"We can preach morals all we want," says State Sen. Margaret Delude, a Republican from Unity (pop. 708), "but my people have had it. They want help, and they want it from the sweepstakes."

Many members of the New Hampshire Legislature—with 424 lawmakers—said that even though they were personally opposed to the sweeps, a majority of their people seemed for it.

TAX CONTINUATION

"I'm not even sure we can call it a taxpayers revolt," says David L. Mann, executive secretary of the New Hampshire Municipal Association. "It's just that we have a 30-year history of voluntary taxation, and the sweepstakes seems to be a continuation of it."

To many opponents, the sweeps just postpones the day when New Hampshire will have to turn to "involuntary taxation" in some form.

"Sooner or later," says Franklin Hollis, chairman of the State Board of Education, "our people will realize that we must have a sales or income tax to raise the $20 million or so that we need for our schools. We are running out of stop-gap measures."

But for now, you can come pretty close to getting a free ride in New Hampshire if you don't own property and if you don't drink, smoke, nor play the ponies. Fully 70 per cent of the $26 million in general fund revenues New Hampshire collects each year is derived from taxes on liquor, tobacco and the race track. Property taxes are imposed on local levels.

Of that $26 million, an estimated one-third is paid by out-of-staters who flock here on vacation, visit the race tracks and take advantage of New Hampshire's low prices on liquor and cigarettes. An estimated 90 per cent of the $6.5 million New Hampshire takes in each year from three race tracks is attributable to tourists.

The state expects the biggest part of the sweepstakes tab to be picked up by the same tourists—particularly those from neighboring Massachusetts.

The Reading Chronicle, a weekly newspaper published in suburban Boston, put it this way recently: New Hampshire finds it "less painful to collect Bay State money" than to try to pry it loose from its natives.

Russ Start Propaganda Campaign on Polaris

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia has started a campaign of fear propaganda in an effort to arouse opposition in North Africa, the Middle East and southern Europe against the operation of U.S. Polaris submarines in the Mediterranean.

The campaign was timed to begin with the meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization council in Ottawa but the real purpose as seen by U.S. officials is to stir up fear of nuclear war around the shores of the Mediterranean.

HIGHTOWER

The kickoff was a Moscow note delivered to the State Department Monday night. It was also sent to a number of other countries including those in the Mediterranean area.

The note proposed that the great sea between Europe and Africa be declared a "zone free of nuclear missiles."

The Russians said they are prepared to join with the West in "reliable guarantees that the area of the Mediterranean Sea would be regarded, in case of any military complications, as being outside the sphere of nuclear weapons."

'GO ALONG, OR . . .'

The note said that if the Western powers did not go along with its proposal, then Russia would have no choice but to keep its rockets aimed at the Polaris patrol routes, at Western-aligned nations on the Mediterranean and at Polaris submarine bases. Nor would any of the neutral nations in the area be safe in event of conflict, the Russians added.

Three Polaris submarines have been assigned to the Mediterranean to help guard the southern flank of the NATO area. They are replacing land-based nuclear missile installations in Turkey and Italy.

President Kennedy has said the replacement means an increase in effective firepower since the Polaris missiles—16 per submarine—are more modern and less vulnerable than the older land-based weapons.

The State Department dismissed the eight-page Soviet note as a propaganda document delivered "on the eve of the NATO meeting."

"What the Soviets are proposing," the department said in a statement, "is that we eliminate the Mediterranean which is one of NATO's most effective counters to repeated Soviet threats to use their own nuclear weapons against members of the NATO alliance."

The department declared that Russia has nothing to fear from "any defensive measures of the NATO countries." It added sharply that Moscow could contribute "more to the cause of peace by a positive attitude in disarmament talks than by propaganda notes and threats against its peaceful neighbors."

Africa Leaders Meeting to Map Unification Plan

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (UPI) —Leaders of 31 African nations from the Mediterranean to Madagascar gathered today for a summit meeting to lay plans for African unity.

President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana told a foreign ministers' meeting prior to the summit that Africa must "unite now or perish."

The 29 years of state or government attending also include United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser, Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella, and the host, Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie.

Two other nations, Morocco and Libya, are represented by lower-ranking delegations.

Colonialism and demands for a stronger voice in the United Nations are among the topics for discussion and action. But African unity will have precedence in the four-day meeting.

Nkrumah backs a plan for swift unification and the formation of a tightly knit organization of African states with powers to fight "colonialism and imperialism."

Nkrumah's United Africa would have unified armed forces and a common economic and foreign pclicy.

But observers foresee only minority support for this plan.

The difficulties in following the same economic or foreign policies would be immense for nations ranging from monarchies to left-leaning republics, from old-established regimes to brand new governments formed by former colonies.

3rd President of Israel Takes Oath of Office

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — To the sound of a ram's horn, Zalman Shazar took the oath of office as Israel's third president in parliment today.

He said the hand of Israel—regarded with hostility by its Arab neighbors — is outstretched for peace.

Parliament elected Shazar to the persidency yesterday to succeed Izhak Ben-Zvi, who died April 23.

The new chief of state is a 73-year-old labor leader, editor and author who once served as minister of education. He is a member of the Jewish Agency Executive.

The chamber was packed for the inauguration. Spectators included the chief rabbi and Christian and Moslem church dignitaries, supreme court justices and members of the diplomatic corps.

Flags decorated Jerusalem. Street crowds cheered Shazar as he drove to and from the parliament building in bright sunshine.

Dem Leader Hits New Law

Calls Ford-Canton Bill 'Unworkable' Solution

LANSING (AP)—The Democratic minority leader of the House predicts the Ford-Canton strike benefits bill signed into law by Gov. George Romney will prove as "unworkable" as the law it replaces.

Rep. Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, a United Auto Workers Union attorney, said it would take as long as eight years for some benefits to be paid to laid-off workers.

"It probably would take that long to determine in the courts what these anti Ford-Canton provisions mean and then they would be subject to further manipulation," said Kowalski.

He accused Romney of using "totalitarian tactics" by questioning the motives of opponents of the bill, and said the governor himself has made "many untrue and indefensible statements" on the bill.

Romney has refuted as "false and misleading" Democratic charges that a conflict of interest will result from the bill as it affects American Motors Corp., of which he is a major stockholder.

The charges concern the fact that AMC is one of 19,000 firms which could apply for forgiveness of so-called "negative balances" in the state unemploymet compensation fund.

"Negative balances" are deficits used in determining rates at which companies pay taxes into the fund, but are not collectible in the sense of an ordinary debt.

At Assembly of Churches

Call for Peace-Making Efforts

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The United Presbyterian General Assembly neared its close today with a call for greater peace-making efforts among nations, among the separate bodies of Christianity.

It applauded the new "cordiality in associations" between Portestants and Roman Catholics.

It appealed to the U.S. government to work with "patience and persistence" to obtain a workable agreement with Russia for controlled disarmagment.

Delegates also approved a church constitution revision requiring local congregations to make "certain that membership is not refused because of color, origin or worldly condition."

This action, subject to ratification by local Presbyteries, was described as putting teeth in the 3½ - million-member denomination's declared objective of a "nonsegregated church in a non-segregated society."

A-Reactor Simmers Down for Dedication Ceremony

By HARRY REED
Managing Editor,
The Pontiac Press

Consumers Power Co.'s atomic tea kettle lost its steam yesterday, but no one was upset.

The $27 - million boiling water reactor was shut down for dedication ceremonies and tours by newsmen and officials.

Located in the heart of the Lake Michigan resort area, five miles north of Charlevoix, the plant was begun in the spring of 1960, and achieved a controlled chain reaction for the first time in September 1962.

It is being used until 1966 by the General Electric Co. for experiments for the United States Atomic Energy Commission. Under study are the life lengths of atomic fuel.

During the test period, the electricity it produces is added to the power pool of the state.

The plant is capable of supplying all the power needs — industrial, commercial and residential — of a city of 65,000.

Michigan is the only state with more than one atomic power plant ready to operate. The Enrico Fermi plant near Monroe is about to go into operation.

USE COMPUTER

The Big Rock Point nuclear power plant is the only one in the county which is using a computer to get the maximum use of ts fuel.

Consumers experts point out that the computer is not running the reactor, however, and a short circuit or bad tube is not going to trigger an atomic accident.

Electric power is generated in the atomic plant much as it has been for many years by coal or oil burning.

The difference is that uranium, rather than coal or oil, is the source of the heat for the production of steam to turn the turbine generator.

Big Rock Point is the largest electric generating station in Michigan north of the Bay City and Muskegon areas.

At the end of its initial research and development period, the plant will be available for full-time service as a commercial generating unit.

Two of the questions most visitors ask — is it safe, and does it affect the Lake Michigan water it uses — are answered quickly in the negative.

Several safety systems, operating independently of each other, make sure than no atomic misfire will wipe out this section of Michigan.

The Lake Michigan water is used to cool condensing tubes and goes back to the lake unchanged for its atomic power work.

The water in the reactor is turned to steam and later condensed and recirculated.

Present at the dedication ceremonies were Gerald L. Phillippe, president of General Electric Co.; Dr. Robert E. Wilson, of the Atomic Energy Commission; and A. H. Aymond, chairman of the board of Consumers Power Co.

ROMNEY SPEAKS

Gov. George Romney also spoke briefly. He was welcomed by James H. Campbell, president of Consumers.

Campbell, a former Pontiac resident, is the son of Birum G. Campbell, formerly a Consumers Power manager in Pontiac.

Chinese Want to Believe Own Exaggerations

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The people of Red China often confuse glories promised for tomorrow with the facts of today. In this third article in a special series, a British author and poet who just took a travel-agency tour of Red China tells how the people behind the Bamboo Curtain feel about what has been accomplished to date.)

By RICHARD P. LISTER

PEKING (AP) — They call the Communist revolution in China the Liberation. The date is Oct. 1, 1949 when Mao Tze-tung declared the founding of the People's' Republic. As of that date there was not a single factory capable of making needles and pins. So, at least, the Chinese declare.

Now, they say, a very high proportion of all consumer goods and industrial equipment used in China is home-made.

Whatever view may be taken of the means used by the Chinese to hoist themselves up—the harshness of the system and its ruthlessness toward many individual live — the achievement seems to be real and impressive. To judge the measure of its success, it is only necessary to compare the present state of China, 14 years after revolution, with that of Russia in 1931.

It is all the more peculiar, then, that the Chinese do not always seem content to let real achievement speak for itself. They are also full of the glories of tomorrow that sometimes they confuse them with the facts of today.

There's a steelworks at Wuhan, the university town on the Yangtze. Begun in 1957, it now employs 40,000. It reminded me of the old fashioned plant where I worked, as a trainee graduate metallurgist in England, in 1937-39.

There is nothing discreditable to the Chinese in this. The Wuhan Iron and Steel Company may be 25 years behind the times but not so long ago industrial China was 2,000 years behind. It did not exist at all.

NOT CONTENT

All the same, the Chinese are not content. The planned output, they told us, is three million tons of steel a year. Very good; when would this target be achieved? This was one question they could not or would not answer. When pressed, they estimated the present output of this particular plant at one and a half million tons. But that didn't matter; what counted was the three million of tomorrow.

There were six open hearth steel furnaces but only Nos. 1 and 5 were working. This was a rather low proportion of the steelmaking capacity. One answer for this soon became apparent. The heavy rolling mill, we were told, will produce rails, girders, plate, sheet and tubes.

They are proud of their rolling mill but—it is not yet built.

Today, the main output is pig iron from the three blast furnaces and cast iron, largely in the form of parts for agricultural machinery.

Still, they do produce steel, bar, rod and strip. And since they started from scratch six years ago, this is a miracle in itself.

Our traveling group encountered this confusion between achievement and future reality all over China. At a children's palace in Shanghai — where middle school children come after hours for the usual cultural and recreational activities with a strong ideological tinge, we asked if they were especially selected.

Of course not, we were told: all children can come. Yet among the hundreds there was not one who did not wear the red neck scarf of the Pioneers, the young Communist society

There was no conscious deception here. The Chinese really wished to believe that the children's palace was open to all, just as they wished to believe that every Chinese citizen is free to choose his own work and to come and go as he pleases. As with some other peoples, what they tell themselves three times is true.

I treasure the memory of our visit to the Wuhan steel works not only because it gave me a glimpse into a fascinating aspect or the Chinese mind but also because it greatly increased my personal prestige.

At Wuhan, hobnobbing with the open-hearth men, I disclosed that I once had been a steelworker myself. Steelworkers in China, like poets, have considerable prestige. At once, my status as the steelworker-poet became unassailable.

The description of myself as a former steelworker was perhaps not absolutely accurate but it was near enough. And I felt no twinge of conscience about it; one good gap between the ideal and the reality deserves another.

County Plans to Study Cost of Airport Survey

The Oakland County Clerk of Committees Office will investigate the cost of a proposed study of airport needs in the county.

A decision to learn what this cost would be was reached yesterday by the aviation committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

Committee chairman Charles B. Edwards Jr., said a study and subsequent report by airport consultants is the next logical step toward possible development of county-owned Allen Airport in Orion Township.

The Federal Aviation Agency already has approved plans to expand the airport as local needs dictate.

The county is proceeding on the assumption that area industries will require more airport facilities in the next seven or eight years.

"Just what direction this development should take can only be determined by aviation experts with no locally-vested interests," said Edwards.

The report, he said, would recommend a type of authority under which Allen and possibly other airports should operate in the county.

SERVICE AREA

The report also would delineate the area to be served by local airports, and recommend a time schedule for development and a method of financing such development, Edwards added.

He assured Pontiac city officials that the county's study would include Pontiac Municipal Airport in determining the overall aviation needs of the area.

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, has voiced the opinion that all airports in the county should come under a single authority to assure future coordination.

The clerk of committee's office stated that it would be contacting several consulting firms within the next few days to ascertain costs of a report.

One of these is almost certain to be Landrum & Brown Inc. of Cincinnati. This firm conducted an aviation study for the six counties in the metropolitan area several years ago.

The ensuing report led the board of supervisors here to purchase Allen Airport for a proposed major jet terminal.

The jet airport proposal was then killed by the Federal Aviation Agency "for lack of air space."

Landrum & Brown's study was initiated at prompting by the federal government to consider future aviation needs of the area, Edwards noted.

Later events discounted the need for another major airfield, he concluded.

Plans Progress for Fire Station

Pontiac moved ahead with plans for a branch fire station on the North Side last night as the City Commission okayed advertising for construction bids on the proposed project.

The resolution offered by Commissioner Winford E. Bottom authorizes City Clerk Olga Barkeley to advertise for bids to be opened at 2 p.m. June 10.

Commissioners approved the purchase of a site next to Sno-Bol Co., 25 W. Walton, at least week's meeting. Price of the land is $9,420.

Estimated cost of the fire station is $120,000. It will be modeled after the branch station on West Huron at Genesee.

Think Tshombe Losing Power or Making Retreat

LEOPOLDVILLE. The Congo (AP)—Diplomats believe Katanga President Moise Tshombe is either being gerrymandered out of power in Elisabethville, the Katanga capital, or else beating a strategic retreat.

That was their reaction Tuesday after the lower house of the Congolese parliament voted to cut Tshombe's Katanga province in two.

The new province, the Congo's 23rd, will be named Lualaba and include all of western Katanga, Tshombe's home and base of political power. It will include the key mining center of Kolwezi.

OK Food Contracts

The City Commission last night awarded contracts for concessions at city parks this summer to Michael Haroutunian and Blue Island Sales pending approval of the health department.

Haroutunian, of 111 Douglas, Bloomfield Hills, was the only bidder on the contract to supply mobile food and beverage concessions at parks.

City Manager Robert A. Stierer recommended the contract be awarded to Haroutunian who "has met all provisions and specifications" for the job.

Mrs. Florine Matakas, of 5217 Dixie Highway, Drayton Plains, owner of Blue Island Sales, was the only bidder on the ice cream concession.

Stierer recommended Blue Island Sales be awarded the contract as soon as the health department okays the company's storage facilities and trucks. Blue Island Sales held the ice cream concession contract last year.

CITY PERCENTAGE

Both bidders offered 12 per cent of gross sales as payment to the city for exclusive concession rights in their respective classifications.

Blue Island Sales paid 11 per cent of gross sales in winning the ice cream concession last summer.

Commissioners approved renewal of the annual lease of control tower facilities in the terminal building at Pontiac Municipal Airport to the Federal Aviation Agency.

The FAA pays an annual fee of $3,495 for use of the tower facilities. The new lease will expire June 30, 1964.

Also approved was renewal of a five-year lease on a 10,000-square-foot lot in the airport's north central section. The parcel is rented to Maynard and Alicia V. Easley at $50 per month.

Commissioners approved an amendment to the lease agreement passed earlier this year providing for a Detroit Edison substation on the new water plant site at Opdyke and South Boulevard.

The amendment merely agrees to move the proposed location of the station about 25 feet so that it won't be located over water mains.

Also approved was an ordinance requiring future installations of utility lines, cables, pipes and conduits to be made underground in the central business district and perimeter road right-of-way.

The ordinance also provides that such utilities now above ground in the area, be placed underground within two to seven years.

The ordinance was first introduced March 26 and tabled for study. It was revised somewhat by city officials and representatives of utility companies and reintroduced at last week's meeting.

An ordinance to rezone from residential to Manufacturing-1 part of Lot 1, Assessor's Plat 80, was introduced and slated for public hearing June 11.

The property, owned by Oakland Coal & Paint Co., is located at the south end of Thomas.

Tentative approval was unanimously granted a request to transfer the location of a Class C and SDM licensed business, the Bicmar Bar, 94 W. Huron, to a point 60 feet north of its present location.

The move will be necessitated by perimeter road construction. Properties on the northwest corner of W. Huron and Cass (the perimeter road) will be torn down to allow widening of the intersection.

The Bicmar is one of those establishments that must go to make way for a wide turn designed to improve traffic movement from the perimeter road onto westbound West Huron.

USED STATE OK

Final approval of the transfer is contingent on formal approval by the State Liquor Control Commission.

A petition asking that a sanitary sewer be built on the northwest side of Montcalm, from the west line of Lot 282 to the east line of Lot 289, Dixie Hills Subdivision, was accepted by commissioners.

Submitted by residents and property owners in that area, it requested that the sewer be included as a public necessity in this year's public improvement program.

Cost estimates will be prepared and submitted for commission approval and public hearing at a future meeting.

Accepted and referred to the planning commission was a request from Neal Smith, 19 Gillespie, requesting that a lot at the corner of Gillespie and Branch be rezoned to allow a beauty salon to operate on the site.

A public hearing was held on the city's plans to replace curbs and resurface a portion of Mohawk. Special assessment rolls covering the project will be prepared for presentation at the June 4 commission meeting.

Public hearings were scheduled for the June 4 meeting on special assessment rolls covering proposed resurfacing and curb replacement projects on parts of Menominee and Owego.

Public hearings were completed on rolls covering 15 proposed paving projects. Work can now begin on the projects as soon as contracts are awarded for the city's 1963 paving program.

The public hearings involved paving portions of Beverly, Cameron, Carlisle, West Chicago, Columbia, Dewey, Emerson, Fairview, Fourth, Hollywood, Madison, Robinwood, Scottwood, Second and West Tennyson.

Commissioners also approved a month-to-month agreement to rent three vacant urban renewal lots to Gay Brothers Construction Co. for storage of water pipes and related equipment.

The firm will be iinstalling new water mains in the R20 urban renewal area as part of the R20 site improvement program prior to resale of the land.

Involved in the lease are Lots 32, 33 and 34 in the area of Urban Renewal Plat No. 1 bounded by Willard, Center, Perkins and Cottage. The rental fee will be $1 per month for all three.

In other business, a request from owners of Johnnie's Tavern, 76 W. Huron, to approve upgrading of their tavern license to a Class C license was filed for future study.

A request from Charles Eilender to rezone Lots 77-79, DuPont Heights Subdivision, from residential to Commercial 2 was referred to the planning commission.

Mayor Robert A. Landry offered a resolution congratulating Fr. James L. Hayes, pastor of St. Michaels Catholic Church, on his 25th year as a priest. The resolution recognized his many contributions to the community.

Who Foots Bill? Zoning Waits

Action by City Hangs on Pay for Service

Action by the city on a request to rezone 24 acres of county-owned land today hangs on the question of who will pay for water and sewage service for the land.

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors had requested that the vacant parcel bounded by Oakland, West Boulevard, Kennett and the Belt Line Railroad be rezoned from residential to commercial.

Lloyd Realty Co. wants to buy the land from the county for the site of an automobile dealership and service building.

The only hitch seemed to be getting the land rezoned.

The city wondered about water or sewers.

City officials estimate the cost of running water lines and sanitary sewers to the parcel would be in excess of $50,000.

The city doesn't want to foot the bill. Neither do the prospective owners, nor the county.

Last night the City Commission accepted a recommendation from the city planning commission that the land be rezoned only if Lloyd Motor Sales pay the cost of supplying sewer and water service to the 24-acre parcel.

Commissioner Loy L. Ledford moved that Lloyd Motor Sales be asked to submit a petition to the city asking that the services be installed and the cost be paid by the firm in special assessments spread over a period of years.

His motion was approved unanimously by the commission. Action on the zoning request was deferred until the petition is submitted.

Rambler Set for Venezuela

PIN-WORMS

A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1-out of every 5 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

EXCEP-TIONAL CHILD

In the education of handicapped children, there are two concepts, fundamental to all education, which are so basic that they are frequently overlooked. The first of these is that public education is one of the inalienable rights of every child. This concept allows for no exceptions, even among the handicapped. The second is that handicapped children are essentially like so-called normal children. They are children first, and handicapped children second.

Any plans for the education of handicapped children must be based on recognition of both their basic needs as children and their special needs as handicapped children. Frequently, the special needs of these children are such that they can be met best with those services we term "special education."

Sound educational principles dictate that these special education services should be applied only when they are demanded by the needs of the child. The regular classroom is the best educational environment for any child to meet his basic needs. Achieving social and emotional maturity is not easy even for the child without disabilities; it is frequently very difficult for the handicapped child. It can be attained only through relationships which build mutual confidence and respect.

This is one of a series of Michigan Press Association Education features published as a public service by The Pontiac Press.

Trading Is Active

Blue Chips Hold Mart Pace Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Blue chip industrials, rails, and utilities continued to pace a market advance early Wednesday afternoon in active trading.

Regaining the leadership which they abandoned temporarily to secondary issues, the high-quality stocks maintained a moderately higher tone, despite some casualties here and there.

The gains were chiefly fractional, although some went to a point or more.

Sugar stocks continued irregular, some taking losses on profit taking, others moving higher. Some of the specialty issues which have zoomed on speculative excitement backed away once again.

STEELS GAIN

The leading steels displayed a string of fractional gains. Motors leaned higher on balance. Oils nudged ahead consistently. Rails were ahead despite some prominent laggards.

Ford gained a fraction, Chrysler was firm, General Motors eased. American Motors and Studebaker traded about unchanged.

American Stock Exchange prices were generally higher in fairly active trading.

Bond Prices Irregularly Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—Bond prices were irregularly higher this morning.

Over-the-counter dealers in U. S. government securities quoted some intermediate maturities up 2-32 although most long bonds were unchanged from yesterday's close.

Prices steadied yesterday after two days of decline. Trading was moderately active in the early hours.

Ad Exec Asks for Retirement

Will Stay in Posts Until Middle of '64

The partial retirement of Leo A. Hillenbrand Sr., secretary-treasurer and director of the Bloomfield Hills advertising agency MacManus, John & Adams, Inc., was announced today by Ernest A. Jones, agency president.

Hillebrand, who joined the agency 45 years ago, will retain his posts as vice president, secretary and director until mid-1964, at which time he has asked that his retirement be made complete, Jones said.

"He has served our company well and ably and we accede to his request for partial retirement with considerable regret," he added.

Hillebrand will be succeeded by Harold F. Stephenson of 4524 Stoneleigh, Bloomfield Hills.

Stephenson comes to MJ&A from Outdoor Advertising, Inc., of New York, where he has served as secretary-treasurer since 1957.

Hillebrand joined the Bloomfield Hills agency in 1918 as a bookkeeper and became a vice president in 1934, shortly after the firm's incorporation.

During his administration as chief financial officer, MJ&A has grown from a company with 20 employes in 1934 to one with 500 stationed throughout the world.

Rochester Company Increases Earnings

The Higbie Manufacturing Co. of Rochester has announced net earnings for the first nine months of the current fiscal year at $479,507, a 24 per cent increase over a similar period last year.

Earnings per share of common stock were set at $1.33, company president Carlton M. Higbie Jr. reported.

Net sales over the nine-month period totaled $7,184,425, up 14 per cent over 1962 figures.

The totals include sales and net earnings of the Franklin Products Co. of Franklin for the month of April, Higbie pointed out.

The purchase of the new subsidiary was made earlier this year.

Wheat Vote Brings Heavy Mart Selling

CHICAGO (AP) — Rejection by producers of the proposed new wheat control program in yesterday's referendum brought heavy selling and a sharp break in prices in active early dealings today on the board of trade.

All wheat contracts started off with setbacks of more than three cents and the March delivery was down more than nine cents for a while during the first several minutes. Some of the loss was quickly recovered, however.

Other grains and soybeans also weakened.

Airline Plans Service Increase at Metro

By DICK BUCK

The nation's largest airline plans a 10 per cent service increase for Detroit when it moves from Willow Run to Metropolitan Airport in 1965.

United Air Lines (UAL) Vice President (facilities and property) Dan C. Meenan told a press conference in Detroit yesterday that the company is "anxious to move in as Metro as rapidly as we can."

New facilities at Metro for United and the other five airlines now using Willow Run are scheduled for completion in October 1965, according to Meenan. He said planners hope the move actually can be made by March of that year.

Meenan acknowledged that United's operating costs would be considerably higher at the newer airport. But he quickly added that UAL expects substantial gains in passenger and cargo revenues because of the switch.

More modern terminal facilites, improved interline connections and a shorter ride to the airport for most Detroit area passengers were listed as factors which make the move seem lucrative.

MORE COMPETITION

The projected 10 per cent service boost will involve more frequent use of jets. It also is likely to see United giving more vigorous competition from both an equipment and scheduling standpoint on routes shared with airlines already at Metro.

United has in many cases been forced to play second fiddle on these routes because of the disadvantage of being at the more distant Willow Run.

A new terminal northeast of the present building at Metro will house United and North Central, Lake Central and Mohawk airlines. These other three, all local-service carriers, also will be immigrants from Willow Run, along with Trans World and Eastern.

A "finger" concourse from the new terminal will lead to a five-gate hexagon boarding area to be used only by UAL. The company will have two more gates on the concourse.

JETWAY SERVICE

The hexagon will feature four telescoping Jetways which let passengers board or leave their plane at the second - floor level without stepping outside. The four Jetways, costing $75,000 each, will serve two planes.

They'll be part of $750,000 United plans to spend after the terminal has been built for the airport's operators, the Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners. Another extra United plans is undergound fueling to speed servicing.

UAL is seeking a site near the new terminal for a cargo terminal. Meenan said the firm expects its Detroit cargo business to double.

Negotiations between the Willow Run airlines and the Metro management have continued many months. With United and presumably others anxious to move, why the long delay before finally signing contracts?

The main holdup came because of price changes on which compromises had to be worked out. These didn't all come quickly.

Successful Investing

Q) "At present I find my income tax far too high and think it is time for me to switch some shares into tax-exempts. Please give me suggestions." D. R.; D. G.

"In your column of April 15, you spoke of municipal bonds. Please tell me where these bonds can be bought." E. K.

A) It is good to encounter a rising interest in tax-exempts. These bonds not only give a high taxable equivalent yield to investors in the upper income brackets, but for the most part they are extremely safe, as well.

To the individual in the 38 per cent bracket, a 3.10 per cent return on a tax-exempt bond is equivalent to 5 per cent from a taxable security. Tax-exempts include state, municipal, housing and other special revenue obligations.

At present I suggest Oakland, California Housing Authority 5's of 1974 to yield 3.10 and State of Maine 3.20's of 1995 on a 3.10 basis.

Tax-exempts can be bought through most banks and investment firms.

Q) "I am getting older and must have more return on my investments. My present holdings are Standard of New Jersey, American Telephone, Standard of Ohio, U.S. Steel, and Bethlehem Steel. I would like to sell Standard of Ohio and Bethlehem. What would you as replacements?" A. F.

A) As this market has moved up, more and more people like yourself—dependent on income—are finding it necessary to review their holdings.

I think you are on the right track—in your circumstances—to sell Bethlehem and Standard Oil of Ohio.

Bethlehem's reduced dividend is not entirely secure. Although the company is well-managed, its far-flung shipbuilding operations may be a drag on earnings.

Standard of Ohio is a fine stock, but even on this year's increased dividend the yield is only 3.7 per cent.

As replacements I suggest Norfolk & Western, yielding 5 per cent, and Tennessee Gas Transmission 5¼ per cent debentures, selling on a 5.02 per cent basis.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

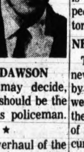
Rules Forming

Mart Overhaul Due?

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — The Supreme Court has added new pressure to a probable overhaul of stock market regulations.

New rules for policing the spreading securities market already are in the formative stage.



DAWSON

The millions of Americans who own stocks could be affected by what Congress may decide, this session or next, should be the government's role as policeman.

Pressures for an overhaul of the rules and their extension into new fields have been building up for more than a year. Scandals involving members of some of the exchanges, but particularly the huge over-the-counter market for stocks unlisted on any exchange, triggered the drive.

The market collapse just a year ago aroused public interest as to "just what is going on in the securities market anyway."

The Securities and Exchange Commission started an investigation. Major stock exchanges revised their rules and tightened the policing of the members.

The SEC already has asked for more policing power, particularly of the over-the-counter market and the qualifications of stock salesmen. It is about to release the final portion of its report. This is expected to cover matters especially close to the small investor, such as the mutual funds.

NEW COURT NOTE

The Supreme Court added a new note of uncertainty Monday by ruling that the stock exchanges weren't entirely immune from the antitrust laws in their policing of members when nonmember security firms are affected.

The uncertainty is over just how much policing power the exchanges have and now they can exercise it. The uncertain could be cleared up by future court rulings on specific cases.

But it also could be cleared up if Congress included the matter in any new regulations for the entire securities industry which it may draft as a result of the SEC report and request for new powers.

Basic to the whole question is how much of a role the government should play in the protection of investors—notably the small and unsophisticated ones. Since the war they have poured into the market in hordes. Estimates have 17 million Americans owning at least one stock issue. Other millions are involved through the purchase of corporate securities by the funds—mutual pension, of trust.

The exchanges feel they can best police their own member brokerage firms. The Supreme Court decision raises some doubt as just how far they can go in this policing.

But just as the big stock market crash of 1929 and the following great depression led Congress to set up the SEC to put the government in the policing business, so the present pressures may lead to an overhaul of current regulations.

They seem likely to widen the policing powers to stock dealings the SEC barely touches and to making sure the exchanges can, and do, set rules that protect the little investor and the novice a little more than in the past.

Quit School for Job? Don't Be Choosey!

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

Are you planning to quit school this semester or end your formal education when you get that high school diploma?

DR. NASON

If so, you'd better take a cold, hard look at the world of work. First, you have to decide from a variety of jobs what kind of work you're aiming for eventually. But don't be choosey now.

Unemployment in your age group, 17 to 21 years, is the highest in the nation for any age group. You may need to start out on just any job you can get, rather than hold out for the one you're dreaming of.

Get a job and establish the fact that you are a good worker. Then work toward a better job.

You are lucky if your city has a program such as the one in Los Angeles, where the city and state employment services cooperate to find job opportunities for students ending their education with high school. There, graduates are given interviews, tests and counseling.

In 1962 this citywide program helped an estimated 10,000 students find jobs, according to Jack P. Crowther, superintendent of Los Angeles schools.

If such a program is not open to you, take advantage of services offered by your state employment office. It can help you decide what kind of work you are best equipped to do and can get you started finding the right job.

It can advise you about job prospects in your locality, as well as apprentice or trainee possibilities.

But don't expect anyone to solve your problem quickly. Discovering your talents and cultivating your abilities is a long process.

It is your responsibility to find the kind of work in which you can be happy and successful.

JOB GUIDE

Once you get a job, don't drift. But if you're dissatisfied, continue to prepare yourself for better jobs. This will be much more effective than if you stop trying and go through life feeling trapped.

Each time you obtain the goal of a better job, keep on going. Study the situation, set a new goal, and work intelligently to prepare yourself for the next move.

The U.S. Department of Labor has just published the 1963-64 edition of "Job Guide for Young Workers." This is written specifically to help you.

It describes the characteristics of jobs most often available to people your age and with your training. It details qualifications, employment prospects, advancement opportunities and points out where the jobs are found.

The "Job Guide" is for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C., for 45 cents.

Army Mobility Office Opens Vehicle Contract

DETROIT (AP)—The Army Mobility Command announced yesterday the opening of an estimated $80-million contract for the manufacture of 30,000 quarter-ton M151 general purpose vehicles.

Col. Frank L. Havel, general purpose vehicle project manager, said the award will meet requirements for the vehicle for 1964, 1965 and 1966.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Today's hand comes from an Oregon reader. His comments were: "In my opinion the worst bid a bridge player can make is to pass one trick below game. If the hand plays badly the contract won't make. If it plays well there will be overtricks and game would be there for anyone who had the sense to bid it."

JACOBY

It seems that the bidding had gone as in the box. West had opened the deuce of hearts. East rose with the ace and returned the suit. My correspondent, who was South went after spades and wound up losing two spades and two hearts. Since the club finesse was on for him there was no defense to beat three no-trump and South was annoyed at his partner.

I agree with South in part. Anyone who gets in the habit of passing his partner's two no-trump bids is going to miss plenty of games, but this time North had a good reason. He had heard his partner's original pass and felt that it was most unlikely that three no-trump could make.

Hence in my opinion the blame for missing the game rests 99.99 per cent on South's shoulders. South had committed a real bridge crime. He had passed an opening bid!

Even then he had a chance to correct things. No one was twisting his arm and ordering him to bid two no-trump. He could have jumped right to three no-trump and saved all the trouble.

New-Con Count in Second Day

Margin of Approval Is Slightly Narrowed

LANSING (AP) — Recount teams began their second day today of rechecking the vote by which a new state constitution apparently was adopted—with the margin of approval narrowed slightly.

Reporting on a check of 141 precincts, canvassers in 16 counties trimmed the edge to 7,753 at the end of their first day's work. Seventy-six votes were cut from the original margin of ratification.

Unless it is called off beforehand, the canvass will check a total of 1,969 precincts in 77 counties.

All but 78 of the precincts are being checked at the request of the Democratic party, which opposed adoption of the revised constitution at the April 1 election.

The Coordinating Committee for the New Constitution at the April 1 election asked for the recount of 78 precincts in a counter-filing to the Democratic petitions.

If the Democrats are to upset the new constitution, they will need to gain nearly four votes per precinct. In the first day of counting, they picked up only one-half vote per precinct.

Biggest error discovered in yesterday's count was a 100-vote difference in Greenwood Township of St. Clair County. Election-night workers had reported 162 "yes" and 112 "no" votes, whereas the vote should have been the other way around.

But while opponents of the new document gained in St. Clair County, they lost 51 votes in Genesee County where the "yes" column gained 36 and the "no" tally lost 15.

Iron Workers Reach Accord With Firms

Preliminary agreement was reached between labor and management yesterday in the 21-day-old strike of 1,600 iron workers in eastern Michigan.

The strike, which began over a contract dispute, halted work on construction projects in 34 counties, including several in Oakland County.

Henry E. Cooper, business agent for Detroit Iron Workers Local 25, said that if the union-backed agreement is approved by the membership, iron workers will be back to work by Monday.

While both union and management officials agreed not to release the terms of the contract, it is known that the local was asking for wage rates above $4.50 an hour with improved fringe benefits.

At present, iron workers are receiving $4.20 an hour with fringe benefits amounting to an additional 40 cents.

Cab License Law Passed

Those Operating Daily Eligible for Renewal

When taxicab licenses come up for renewal in June, they'll be renewed only for cabs that are operated on a daily basis by local cab companies.

The City Commission passed an ordinance last night specifying that at the end of each license year, commissioners will determine the total number of licenses to be issued, and how many are to be issued to each cab company.

The ordinance, in a sense, says the issuance of taxicab licenses will be on a "use-it-or-lose-it basis."

Determination of how many licenses are issued to each cab company "shall be . . . based upon the record of the total number of taxicabs operated by such licensee in daily use during the expiring license year, the ordinance reads.

The new law was adopted by a 6 to 1 vote without a public hearing as an emergency ordinance.

Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. cast the lone vote against the ordinance.

The document states further that "where licensed taxicabs have not been operated in daily service during the expiring license year, no renewal license shall be issued."

It makes exceptions for vehicles which are not operating because they are undergoing "major repairs."

Included in the ordinance are provisions for the transfer of licenses to another person in event of death of the licensee and from one vehicle to another contingent on approval of the commission.

The commission will have the right to revoke any license for any violation of the ordinance.

Currently there are three cab companies with a total of 87 licensed cabs in Pontiac. Yellow Cab Co. has 58 licenses, Chief Pontiac Cab Co. holds 17 licenses and Oakland Cab Co. has 12.

Graduate at School for Police

Revolvers and badges rather than caps and gowns identified a goup of graduates today.

The 150 graduates were policemen from counties in southeastern Michigan, who have completed law enforcement training courses.

The commencement exercise followed a noon luncheon at Devon Gables restaurant in Bloomfield Township.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department led the list locally in the number of men who have completed the courses, sponsored by the Southeastern Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It had 10 graduates.

Other area departments with men graduating were Waterford Township, 4; Bloomfield Township, 4; Sylvan Lake, 3; Troy, 2; Rochester, 1; and Birmingham 2.

In all, Oakland County was represented by 63 graduates, followed by Wayne, 56, Macomb, 17 and Monroe, 10.

The graduating officers represented almost 40 departments in an area bounded by Durand on the north, Monroe on the south, Garden City on the west and St. Clair Shores on the east.

More than 200 hours of study, 120 in classes, were required for graduation from the basic school, while 300 hours, 144 in classes, were required for the detective school.

The basic police course was introduced in October 1951 and has continued every spring and fall since that time. A total of 3,563 student policemen have enrolled during the past 13 years.

Approve School Millage

JACKSON (AP)— Voters in the Henrietta School District approved by 13 votes yesterday a 7.5 operating millage proposal for two years. The vote was 187 to 174.

City Bans Strolling in the Streets

Pontiac police, school and city officials have become increasingly disturbed over the growing habit of students — mostly teen-agers — of walking in city streets on the way to and from schools.

Several motorists recently reported nearly hitting "students just wandering aimlessly along in the street," so last night the City Commission did something about it.

It is now clearly illegal to walk in the street where there's a sidewalk.

The city ordinance regulating the use of vehicles on public highways was amended to "require that pedestrians walk on sidewalks where they are provided along public highways."

The amendment, already a state law, now is incorporated in local ordinances by unanimous approval of the commission.

In offering the amendment, Commissioner Dick M. Kirby commended school officials and police for their cooperation in trying to solve the problem of the wayward teenagers before serious injury resulted.

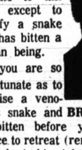
—BOX REPLIES—
At 10 a.m. Today there were replies at The Press office in the following boxes:
5, 8, 11, 14, 15, 16, 19, 20, 22, 34, 45, 50, 56, 61, 64, 75, 76, 78, 79, 80, 82, 86, 87, 90.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Pack Treatment Kit in Snake-Infested Area

Since most of the snakes found in this country are not poisonous and since all snakes perform a useful service by preying on small rodents that destroy crops and compete for man's food supply, it is a great mistake to kill them except to identify a snake that has bitten a human being.



BRANDSTADT

If you are so unfortunate as to surprise a venomous snake and are bitten before you have a chance to retreat (remember that no snake in his right mind is going to chase you), you are going to need prompt treatment.

Only most important first aid measures may save your life.

The use of a tourniquet and the making of a series of incisions has been advocated for so many years that most persons are afraid not to apply these measures, although there is growing evidence that they do little or no good.

On the other hand, such measures can do harm in that when a tourniquet is applied there is always danger of tissue damage, due to deprivation of the limb below the tourniquet of oxygenated blood.

This increases the danger of gangrene, and incisions increase the danger of infection. If incisions are made they should be few, and should be made only in the vicinity of the bite.

Incisions can do no possible good unless made within 30 minutes of the bite. They should never be made on the hands or feet.

Ice packs or immersion in ice water (but never iced salt water) have been advocated.

Although they are not universally recommended, they may aid in slowing absorption of the venom.

The sooner after a snake bite that antivenim is given, the better. If it is not readily available at the nearest hospital or pharmacy, try the nearest board of health or the nearest zoo.

One word of caution is required. The antivenim contains horse serum, and in anyone who is sensitive to this substance, the cure may be worse than the disease.

MANY SURVIVE

Remember: many persons have survived a snake bite without antivenin.

This may be because the snake has recently killed a rodent and has not fully recharged his battery, because the snake is small, because after the fangs penetrated the clothing they didn't get very deep into the skin, or because effective first aid measures were promptly applied.

As soon as possible after the emergency measures have been taken, a booster of tetanus toxoid and an antibiotic should be given, since snake bites are usually grossly contaminated with various disease germs.

So if you are going into an unknown area, you should find out about the kinds of venomous snakes that you might encounter.

When tramping about in the woods, knee-high leather boots will give you some protection.

Look well where you step and where you place your hands. Be sure to carry a snake bite kit with you if the area is known to have poisonous snakes. If you never use the kit, it is still money well spent.

Eleven Indicted in Jury Probe

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A federal grand jury has so far indicted eleven persons — four of them yesterday — on charges of attempting to tamper with a jury in the 1962 James R. Hoffa conspiracy trial here.

More indictments may be forthcoming.

The jury was placed on stand-by call after Justice Department attorneys told the court "the government may have additional matters to present."

Hoffa, president of the International Teamsters Union, and six others were named here May 9 in similar indictment stemming from a four-month-long investigation ordered by U.S. Dist. Judge William Miller at the conclusion of Hoffa's trial.

The Teamster president was accused of conspiring to violate the Taft-Hartley Act, but the nine-week trial ended Dec. 23 when the jury reported it was hopelessly deadlocked 7-5 for acquittal.

Body Found in Woodshed

METAMORA — The body of 54-year-old George F. May Sr. was discovered on the floor of a woodshed behind his home at 4416 Metamora Road yesterday.

Mrs. Margaret Gilbert, a neighbor, found the body and a 12-gauge shotgun in the shed about 4 p.m. yesterday, according to Lapeer County sheriff's officers.

Mrs. Gilbert told police that May had been despondent since the death of his wife in December.

U.S., Euromart Compromise

Rules Established for Tariff Cut Talks

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and the European Common Market nailed down today the guiding principles for what they hope will be the biggest round of tariff cuts in history.

The world's two biggest trading units ended six days of tense bargaining with a compromise agreement on how to get the negotiations started.

Their compromise will permit the "Kennedy round" of tariff negotiations to begin on May 4, 1964, although much preparatory work remains to be done.

Ministers and negotiators of more than 70 nations belonging to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) unanimously endorsed an agreement reached earlier in United States and the six nations of the Common Market.

The ministers instructed trade experts to go to work immediately on some of the detailed problems still to be solved. The experts are to draw up a working plan by Aug. 1 for the Kennedy round, so called because it got its impetus from the President's 1962 Trade Expansion Act.

CONCESSIONS MADE

Kennedy's chief trade negotiator, former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, told a news conference important concessions were made by both the United States and the Common Market.

Herter and the Common Market negotiators engaged in drawn-out bargaining which gradually brought their conflicting views closer together. Until Tuesday, the argument threatened to block the tariff negotiations next year.

The final agreement, while giving GATT the green light for the Kennedy round, left much of the basic argument over tariff levels unsettled and likely to be revived when the experts meet.

The main problem is to decide how to treat a group of exceptionally high American tariffs. The Common Market countries maintain that even if these are cut in half—as authorized by the Trade Expansion Act—they still will be out of balance with corresponding European tariffs.

To meet this problem, the Common Market demanded that high American tariffs should be reduced automatically by a larger percentage than the corresponding European tariffs.

The agreed compromise provides that most tariffs will be cut by an equal percentage on both sides. Where the rates are very different, special rules are to be set up to compensate for the difference.

Detroit Seeks Funds Lost in DPW Bribe

DETROIT (AP) —The City of Detroit yesterday filed what was said to be the first suit in a series in an attempt to recover the $1.25 million lost in a bribe scandal at city incinerators.

Thirty former Department of Public Works employes and a refuse-hauling firm were sued for $500,000 in a suit filed yesterday in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Assistant Corporation Counsel John D. O'Hair said other suits will be filed to seek recovery of money lost while the conspiracy was in effect.

Officials of six private refuse-hauling firms and 28 of the 30 DPW employes were convicted in Recorder's Court on criminal charges in the case.

Here's Guide for You Scholar-Watchers

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Invitations to spring graduation exercises are falling around us now like the gentle rain from Heaven.

A person never realizes how many nephews he has until the commencement season begins.

There is, however, a silver lining in this shower of sheepskin importuning. In most cases, we are not really expected to attend.

WEST

The great aching void created by our absence can usually be assuaged by a small gift.

At times, of course, the ceremony cannot be avoided. It is to those of you who are facing such an ordeal this spring that I address this message.

Take heart, kind friends. I may be able to point out a way to make it bearable.

I have found that I can better endure the gaseous orations and the seemingly endless processions by occupying my mind with a pleasant little diversion called "scholar watching."

Scholar watching is closely similar to bird watching. The object is to see how many different types of scholars you can identify by their colors and plumage.

I happen to have at hand a scholar watcher's pocket manual that I obtained from the publishers of the Encyclopedia International. From it, I have gleaned a few tips that you might find useful.

INSTANTLY RECOGNIZE

Almost anyone who has ever been to a graduation exercise can instantly recognize the familiar "Black-tasseled Bachelor." But, not everybody can distinguish it from the "Black-tasseled Master," which also is a fairly common species.

The trick is to study the cut of their gowns. The bachelor has long sleeves with cuffs that flair down into points, whereas the master has oblong sleeves that are open at the wrist.

The "Gold-tasseled Doctor" also is easily spotted, but it appears in a variety of subspecies that provide a real challenge to the scholar watcher.

Among those most often found in the Western Hemisphere are the "Purple-hooded Lawyer," the "Blue-hooded Philosopher," the "Yellow-hooded Scientist," the "Pink-hooded Musician" and the "Scarlet-hooded Theologian."

The plumage of the doctorate genus is not always uniform, however. You may see a "Scarlet-hooded Theologian" with scarlet bars on the gown. On the other hand, the bars may be black.

On rare occasions, the scholar watcher may spot an European savant among the domestic flock. Most likely its coloration will be richer and more varied. But that doesn't mean that it is any smarter.

As a matter of fact, a neophyte watcher should never attempt to identify scholars by their I.Q. The one at the bottom may be your sister's oldest boy.

Actress Is Improved After Having Stroke

NEW YORK (AP)—Winthrop H. Brooks, 73, former president of Brooks Bros., New York City's oldest men's clothing store, died Tuesday after a long illness. He was a great-grandson of the founder of the firm.

Flights Over for Mercury—Maybe

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. space officials have locked the door against any more Project Mercury space flights—but have left the key handy just in case.

"Only a fool never changes his mind," said Abraham Hyatt, director of planning and program evaluation for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. But, he added, "at this moment, plans are to end the Mercury program as of now."

He and NASA Chief James E. Webb spoke Tuesday at a meeting of the Rocket Club. Webb said officials plan to take "a good hard look" at the data from Gordon Cooper's 22-orbit flight before the final decision is made.

"Unless we find a gap in the information—this will be the last shot," he said.

Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. said he and the other astronauts would like to see the project—putting a single man in earth orbit—go on. He said they are particularly interested in a proposed three-day, 54-orbit flight.

The next space project is Gemini—two-man flights.

City Approves Parking Funds

Cost Appropriated for Free Lot Share

City commissioners last night officially appropriated money to cover free parking in downtown municipal parking lots through June 30.

An amendment to the 1963 appropriation ordinance allocating $8,625 to cover the city's share of the cost was passed by a 5-to-1 vote following a public hearing on the measure.

The amendment was a legal necessity since no money had been appropriated for free parking on metered lots May 1-June 30 when the budget was adopted in January.

The annual appropriation ordinance is merely the city budget in legal form. It determines how the money will be spent.

Voting against the amendment was Commissioner Charles H. Harmon. He had formerly argued that it was "morally wrong" to use general funds, rather than parking meter revenues, to pay off bonds which financed the lots.

Voting for the amendment were Mayor Robert A. Landry and Commissioners Winford E. Bottom, Dick M. Kirby, Loy L. Ledford and William H. Taylor Jr.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry arrived later and didn't vote on the measure.

Total cost of three months free parking on metered lots is $13,625, of which the Downtown Pontiac Business Association will pay $5,000.

The amendment appropriates the city's $8,625 share by transferring $5,000 from the capital improvement fund and $3,625 from the contingent fund to the parking lot fund.

Latin From Manhattan Hailed by Spaniards

By EARL WILSON

MADRID — Madrid's Spaniards waived their berets at Cesar Romero, that Latin from Manhattan, during the bullfighting world series this week and saluted him like a hero toreador.

WILSON

"I think it's curiosity rather than fame," Cesar said with characteristic modesty.

But guys in donkey carts in Toledo yelled at him, too.

There were two reason for his resurgence. First, he recently was in a movie made here, and second, he's "Petrocelli's ambassador of fashion." He glamorized the men's fashion show which Sam Eisenberg staged at the Castellana Hilton with Stephen Body, Barry Sullivan and Brett Halsey ogling men models instead of dames for once.

Romero, 6-ft.-2, trim-waisted, with a wealth of wavy, almost gray hair, wears clothes heroically. He goes along with the Petrocelli idea that future dinner jackets won't be uniforms. Romero wears a breast pocket handkerchief with a dash of color, though many jackets at the fashion show had no kerchief pockets.

Cesar will have a long Spanish run, for he and Elizabeth Allen will make another movie here, "The Invisible City." It means lots of wonderful eating and drinking.

For example, we had a great Spanish Sunday brunch at the home of AP correspondent Harold Milkes, a Fort Wayne, Ind. boy.

Yes, a terrific Spanish feast. Pancakes and country sausage!

6 Youngsters Win Auto Club Awards

DETROIT (AP)— Six youngsters, four of them from Shrine School in Royal Oak, have won cash prizes totaling $725 in the national safety poster contest.

Top Michigan money winner was Pamela Liposky, 16, of Royal Oak, who won a $500 savings bond. Other winners from that city, and their winnings, were Jane Potter, 14, $100; Madeline Gleason, 14, $25, and Steven Lenihan, 13, $25.

Richard Moore, 11, of Redford Township, and Susan Dudzynski, 16, of Berkley, each won $50.

Students Erect Own Building

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — Eastern Montana College students took up carpentry Tuesday night to protest what they called delay in construction of a dormitory, library and classrooms at the school.

Members of the student legislature worked through the night to erect a one-room schoolhouse, facing the school's main administration building. They painted it red, with a sign saying: "We want the best education we can get. Crowded library and living off campus deter us from this goal."

Robbed of Blue Jeans

BERLIN (UPI) — A 16-year-old apprentice, clad only in shorts, told police today a pair of teen-agers robbed him of his "elegant blue jeans" at a subway station.

Fail to Defeat Tax Boost Veto

DETROIT (AP) — Council members who predicted a $1-million increase in the estimated income tax yield in Detroit's 1963-64 budget failed yesterday to override Mayor Jerome Cavanagh's veto of the boost.

The council split five to three, casting the same vote as on May 2 when the increased yield was first approved.

Seven votes are needed to override a budget veto.

The council had boosted the yield in order to finance a reduction in the property tax rate of 22 cents for each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

As a result of the failure to override the veto, the property tax rate of $25.22 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation will remain unchanged in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The council also upheld Cavanagh vetoes of four other items in the $351-million budget.

These dealt with council deletions of four new jobs at an annual cost of $23,385. The jobs will be returned to the budget and will be financed by council-ordered reductions in other appropriations.

View Good, Not Rosy, for Economy

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's short-run economic outlook is bright, "but not perhaps so gloriously rosy as some would paint it," Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said today.

"Our present economic upturn is heartening," he said. But he emphasized that the President's proposal for a substantial tax reduction this year "is our best hope of accelerating the forward pace of our economy."

Federal revenues might top estimates by as much as $1 billion in fiscal year 1964, Dillon said in remarks prepared for the sixth annual University of Connecticut Loeb Awards luncheon at which awards are given for excellence in business and financial writing.

"But," he added, "even such a result would not lead to any appreciable improvement in our employment situation. For that, we must look to tax reduction."

Declaring that the most urgent economic business before the nation is the President's proposed tax program, and its tax-cut features, Dillon expressed confidence that the version hammered out by the House Ways and Means Committee "will be one that we can all support wholeheartedly."

Mother, Infant Son Die in Car Collision

YPSILANTI (AP) — A two-car rear-end collision on the I-94 expressway killed a Southgate mother and her 10-month-old son and injured five other persons last night.

Police identified the victims as Mrs. Elizabeth Newton, 30, and her son John.

Injured in the crash were Mrs. Newton's husband, Thomas B. Newton, 30; three other Newton children, Robert, 2, Thomas J., 5, and Beth Ann, 4, and Miss Thelma Albritton, 30, of Ypsilanti.

Police said a car driven by Miss Albritton apparently struck the rear of the Newton vehicle, sending both cars plunging through a guard rail and down an embankment.

Order Motorboat Driver Not to Drive for 2 Years

DETROIT (UP) — Traffic Court Judge John D. Watts Tuesday ordered Terrance C. Purdie, 22, of Detroit not to drive a motorboat for two years.

Purdie had been convicted of reckless operation of a boat after his craft was involved in an accident Aug. 8, 1961. A passenger, Linda Nance, 18, of East Detroit, drowned following the accident.

Cuba Claims Crush of Mantazas Rebels

HAVANA (AP) — The government said Tuesday it had wiped out a rebel band in unruly Matanzas province. It was the third such claim in less than a week.

The government said security police discovered the band on a farm near Colon, 116 miles west of Havana.

It said they had murdered two policemen, burned sugar plantations and committed other acts of sabotage.

The Cubans claimed they were "criminals directed by the Central Intelligence Agency."

Decisions Aid Dixie Negroes

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A federal court order sent a thousand Negro children back to school today and a state court ruling gave this racially beleaguered city a new government.

The Negro pupils, ousted for antisegregation marches, returned to classes under an appellate judge's ruling that reversed a Birmingham district judge.

Fast-breaking legal developments then produced an Alabama Supreme Court decision which put newly elected Mayor Albert Boutwell, a comparative moderate, and nine councilmen in charge of the city's government.

The state tribunal upheld a lower court and said a change-of-government special election superseded any title to office by vetern police commissioner Eugene Connor, an arch-segregationist, and two other commissioners.

School Supt. Theo Wright said the 1,081 pupils were being reinstated immediately in compliance with the decision rendered last night by Chief Judge Elbert P. Tuttle of the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

School board attorney Reid Barnes said he would press for a new hearing on Tuttle's decision.

The Atlanta judge said the children were illegally arrested. He ruled that the city school board could not prevent the pupils from completing this term.

Seven days remain in the school term.

OVERTURNS DECISION

Tuttle overturned a decision by U.S. Dist. Judge Clarence W. Allgood of Birmingham within eight hours after Allgood refused to reinstate the 1,081 pupils expelled or suspended Monday.

Tuttle said the school board's reason for its action was a policy of suspending or expelling any pupil arrested for any cause.

He ruled, however, that the pupils "were engaging in legally permissible activities" and were "illegally arrested for exercising this constitutional right."

RECOUNT — Oakland County's three-member board of canvassers checks records before starting to recount the April 1 vote on the new constitution in Birmingham yesterday. From left are Carlos Richardson, Mrs. Sally Dixon and Mrs. Hope V. Gorman. The county's two recount teams have turned up no vote changes in 24 precincts so far recounted. There are 182 precincts to go.

GOP State Leader Urges Dems to Call Off Recount

LANSING (AP) — Republican State Chairman Arthur Elliott Jr. urged Democrats today to call off the recount of the vote ratifying the new constitution—but the request was rejected.

"We have no thought whatever of abandoning the recount at this time," said Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency. "We are finding numerous irregularities and glaring errors."

Ferency said the Democrats do not expect to overturn the original 7,829-vote margin of ratification, but that the recount is showing up a need for legislation to protect the sanctity of the ballot box.

Only a slight change in the ballot totals has developed so far with about 20 per cent of the recount completed. Ironically, the recheck was widening the margin of approval rather than cutting it down.

With 405 precincts counted, the "yes" votes gained two and the "no" lost two—for a net increase of four votes in the margin.

In urging that the Democrats call off the recount, Elliott said that if all of the precincts covered by petitions are recounted it will cost taxpayers between $80,000 and $90,000.

"This would be a cruel waste of valuable state money," he declared. "Surely the Democratic leaders recognize that it is useless to continue this needless and expensive recount operation."

Elliott added:

"Let's stop this political quibbling and all go to work to implement a document which will be good for Michigan."

The Democratic party, which demanded the recount of part of the April 1 vote, had hoped to upset the result.

Special recount teams have been assigned to check 1,969 precincts in 77 counties. The job is expected to be completed in about three weeks.

Largest error reported in the first two days of counting was in St. Clair County, where the constitution's opponents picked up 104 votes.

Voices Hope Wallace Won't Spark Conflict

Supreme Court Asked to Deny Request for No Federal Action

WASHINGTON (AP) President Kennedy has made it clear he will use U.S. troops and marshals if needed next month to crack racial barriers at the University of Alabama.

But he voiced hope at his news conference yesterday that Alabama's segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace would back away from the threatened federal-state collision by heeding court orders to integrate the school.

A federal court at Birmingham told the university Tuesday it must admit two Negroes June 10—one at the main campus at Tuscaloosa, the other at the Huntsville branch.

Wallace has declared that he personally "will be present to bar the entrance of any Negro who attempts to enroll. This is legal resistance and legal defiance."

Alabama is the only state with all its public schools still segregated.

In his news conference that ranged from flights to space to his trip to Rome, Kennedy also discussed another facet of the civil rights problem: the recent outbreaks of racial violence at Birmingham, Ala.

The President said he will decide in the next few days whether to propose additional civil rights legislation. He did not go into details, but a Justice Department spokesman said any additional proposals would be in the fields of education and public accommodations.

The Birmingham situation prompted Kennedy on May 12 to order 3,000 troops into Alabama military bases—so they would be nearby should they be needed to quell any disturbances in Birmingham.

Wallace challenged the President's authority on the troop move in a suit filed Saturday with the U.S. Supreme Court. Kennedy said he welcomed the governor's court suit, declaring, "This is where these disputes should be settled."

In another development the government today asked the Supreme Court to reject a suit brought by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace seeking to bar the use of federal troops in the racial crisis at Birmingham.

Solicitor General Archibald Cox said in a brief that the court should deny Wallace's petition for permission to file a complaint against the United

Keeps Saying No

Romney Is Persistent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several times again Michigan's Gov. George Romney has said "no" about presidential candidacy in 1964.

But feelings persisted today that he could be available for the Republican nomination.

The impression was left in the wake of Romney's appearance at the National Press Club yesterday—his sixth Washington visit as Michigan's governor.

President Kennedy indicated clearly he felt that Romney, among others, would accept a GOP nomination.

At the Press Club, where he made a speech and answered questions, Romney repeated he would not seek the nomination.

However, he left the door open to a possible draft. He also sidestepped a question of whether he would be Michigan's favorite-son candidate at the GOP convention.

President Kennedy was asked about Romney at a White House news conference that was held subsequent to the Michigan governor's Press Club appearance.

"I would say," said Kennedy, "that if the party comes to them they will answer the call."

The President added, "and I would say that is my position, too," indicating he'd accept such a bid from the Democratic party.

PUSHES MICHIGAN

Romney, alternately applauded and laughed with by his capacity-house Press Club audience, said his purpose in the Washington visit was to push Michigan Week, his state's annual achievement celebration.

But in his speech, he ranged over a wide field, including political and economic subjects.

Romney said he felt it is too early to know whether the next Republican presidential nominee might become a "sacrificial lamb" in opposition to Kennedy.

Romney got an ovation for a statement he made on civil rights.

Declaring extension of civil rights had been too long neglected in America, Romney said:

"I don't believe this country can realize its world responsibility without eliminating the widespread human injustice that exists in America. We had better get these injustices corrected."

He contended that the nation's problems cannot be solved from Washington but only by an aroused citizenry at home.

On the wheat farmers' rejection of the Democratic administration's control program, he said this was a symptom of the failure of the United States to "strengthen our economic thinking."

He said American industry and agriculture cannot continue to operate on a solely national economic basis but must adjust to international factors.

Rate Accepted Reluctantly by Blue Shield Officials

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Medical Service (Blue Shield) Wednesday accepted a consent agreement allowing a 16.8 per cent rate increase to take effect June 1, 1963.

The rate boost, which would cover the next 18 months, was arbitrated and announced earlier yesterday by Wayne County Circuit Judge Theodore R. Bohn.

A 23.4 per cent rate hike was approved earlier by Insurance Commissioner Sherwood Colburn for Blue Cross (hospital insurance).

Blue Shield Deputy Executive Director Frank Starr said the increase was "accepted reluctantly" by the board which considered the amount less than adequate for the proper operation of Blue Shield.

"In consenting to the judge's order, which could have been returned to the court without prejudice, the Blue Shield board weighed the financial burden of a mounting deficit at the rate of $45,000 a day," Starr said.

Colburn had said earlier he thought the increase was too high, but added that he would go along with Judge Bohn.

The board decision ended a 5-month-old rate controversy between Blue Shield and Colburn. It began when Colburn turned down an original 23.9 per cent but Blue Shield refused to give in to the commissioner.

Colburn rejected a second request and Blue Shield ordered a 19.3 per cent rate increase effective June 1 without Colburn's approval.

Colburn countered by filing suit in Wayne County Circuit Court requesting an injunction against Blue Shield.

Bohn issued a temporary injunction. The consent agreement grew out of the lawsuit. Both sides agreed to let Bohn set the premium increase somewhere between 12 and 22 per cent.

91-Year Mark Is Broken by Record Cold

Temperatures in downtown Pontiac broke a 91-year record low for the day with a 32-degree reading at 5 o'clock this morning.

A low of 34 was recorded in 1917.

Warmer temperatures are on the way, the weatherman said. Tonight will be fair with a low of 40. Partly cloudy and warmer, the high near 64 is tomorrow's forecast.

At 2 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 56.

Pope Appears at His Window

Strengthened by Rest, Blood Transfusion

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A vigorous-looking Pope John XXIII, strengthened by a reported major blood transfusion and a full night's rest, stood in his studio window for about three minutes today and blessed a crowd of 15,000 persons in St. Peter's Square.

He looked vastly improved and a high Vatican source said that he was, that the blood transfusion had been "a real tonic." This informant said the Pope appeared rallying well from his most recent relapse.

He is suffering from anemia and a stomach disorder, believed to be an ulcer or cancer.

The appearance at the window was his second since Tuesday, when he reportedly suffered the setback.

Through binoculars the Pope still appeared pale. But he gestured with more vigor than he displayed yesterday as he gave his blessing during a similar appearance at his window.

As soon as he appeared, a tiny figure in white to those standing in the square, applause rose. Many motorists blew their horns.

City Pleases Osteopaths Seeking Site for College

Officials of the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons (MAOPS) came to Pontiac today in search of a possible site for a proposed $30-million college.

They went away pleased with what they saw and indicated Pontiac would be seriously considered when it came time to decide on the location of their medical college.

City officials and civic leaders outlined four sites which could be available for such a venture in a meeting at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

Although they couldn't comment on how their committees would react to local offers, Dr. Donald L. Cummings, Grand Rapids, and Dr. Allen Potts, Royal Oak, both expressed pleasure at the local reception.

"The cooperation of local officials was outstanding," said Dr. Cummings, chairman of the MAOPS college development committee.

Indicating the high interest of local officials in obtaining such a facility, he said that "Pontiac is the first city that has come to us with proposals."

Dr. Potts, chairman of the building and sites committee, said that "the presentation of factors favoring our locating here reflected a great deal of thought on the local level."

He was particularly impressed with "the wide variety of alternate site possibilities available in Pontiac.

Pontiac Twp. Housewife Hit by Auto, Dies

An 18-year-old housewife was killed last night when she was struck by a car on a Pontiac Township road.

Mrs. Roxanne Stockinger, 2738 Hatton, Pontiac Township, was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital with a broken neck following the 9:50 p.m. accident on Perry just south of M24.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said she was walking on the highway with a companion when she was hit by a car driven by Harry F. Green, 47, of 656 Miller, Lake Orion.

Green told police he was blinded by the lights of oncoming autos and failed to see the woman or her companion who was not injured. Green was not held.

He said he was traveling south on Perry at 40 miles per hour. Mrs. Stockinger was knocked 73 feet by the impact.

Says the Record

'Mohawke' Is Legal

There was a time when you could trim a "Mohawke" with barber's shears.

That's when it was an unconventional although briefly popular hair style among male teen-agers.

Nowadays, it takes a legal petition.

City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling, his curiosity aroused by the recent rumble from residents questioning the spelling of Mohawke Road with an "E," did some research on the topic.

"The original subdivision plat recorded in April 1924," he noted, "lists the street name as spelled with an 'e.'

"This is the way the city must spell it on records and the street sign because the plat is the legal instrument as far as name spelling goes."

City Manager Robert A. Stierer said that residents could have the Mohawke trimmed to Mohawk by petitioning the City Commission or planning commission.

"Because the subdivision plat was originally approved by the City Commission, only the commission can order a change in the document," Stierer noted.

Houston Ready for Astronaut

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut Gordon Cooper was returning home today and Houston readied a ticker tape parade to welcome America's newest space hero.

Cooper, his wife Trudy and daughters Camala, 14, and Janita, 13, were due to reach Houston's International Airport at 3:30 p.m. Pontiac time.

Mayor Lewis Cutrer will greet Cooper at the airport. Mrs. Cutrer will present flowers to Mrs. Cooper. Then police will escort the party to Sam Houston Coliseum, where the parade will begin.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Gov. John Connally and members of the Texas congressional delegation were invited to take part in the parade, the fifth for Cooper since he completed his 34-hour space flight last Thursday.

Johnson sent word he would be unable to attend. He will speak at the President's birthday party in New York City tonight.

Cooper rode up Broadway Wednesday to a roaring, adoring ticker tape accolade from New York's millions.

Later, at a civic luncheon in the Waldorf-Astoria, 1,900 dignitaries rose to their feet in ovation as he received the city's medal of honor.

The 36-year-old Air Force major made one of the shortest acceptance speeches in memory:

"I don't generally say very much. I'm so impressed that today I'm going to say even less. On behalf of myself and the entire Mercury team, I want to thank you very much."

His words delighted the audience, which included former President Herbert Hoover.

Cooper sat in the back of a limousine leading the 15-minute parade. Besides him was his wife. Vice President Johnson rode with the couple.

MOTHER, DAUGHTERS

In the third car was the astronaut's mother, Hattie Cooper. Cooper's daughters rode in the fourth car.

Also in the motorcade were fellow astronauts M. Scott Carpenter, Alab B. Shepard Jr., Donald K. Slayton, Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Virgil I. Grissom.

At City Hall, Mayor Robert F. Wagner told Cooper:

"New York goes for you in a very big way. America owes much to you, to each and all of you, in bringing closer the day when man will reach the moon."

Cooper responded:

"I'm certainly very impressed. I never dreamed that I would find myself at a reception like this. Thank you for turning out and paying us this tremendous honor. I thank you for all of us from the bottom of my heart."

Johnson and Hoover voiced brief tributes to all the space men.

Houston's welcome will be confined to the parade except for official greetings by a reception committee at the airport.

Houston public schools dismissed pupils for the day. City employes planned to end their work at 3 p.m. in order to watch the parade. At least three high school bands were to participate.

Have Enough Cash for Hospital Payroll

A tight cash position at Pontiac General Hospital has eased enough to allow the hospital to meet payroll demands today.

The cash situation, created by an increase in operating costs this year without a corresponding increase in patient rates, was the topic of concern at last week's regular board of trustees meeting.

At that time, it appeared the amount of cash on hand might not be enough to cover today's payroll.

However, at a special meeting of the board last night, administrator Harold B. Euler told trustees that the hospital's cash position from patient billings received had improved enough to avert any immediate crisis.

"We can get by this payroll (today) and probably will meet the next one June 6," he said. "Our tight period will come in the last half of June."

Euler explained that part of the problem was caused by the fact that there are 26 payrolls and only 24 Blue Cross payments to the hospital each year.

This difference is annually felt in June, creating a temporary period when expenses usually exceed income.

"This year there is less than a five-per cent gap between our potential income and our operating expenses," Euler explained.

"Most hospitals try to maintain at least a 10 per cent edge between expenses and potential income.

"We have maintained our rate structure while our labor and operating costs have increased."

Trustees had considered transferring $100,000 from the hospital's depreciation fund to help solve the current cash problem, but last night decided to give the matter further study at least until the money was needed to meet payroll demands.

Might Use Troops in Integration Move

States and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Cox made these two points:

1. Wallace's action, filed last Saturday, failed to state a claim which would justify the court's issuance of an order restraining future action by McNamara and President Kennedy. The President has "ample constitutional and statutory authority" for any action taken or contemplated in the Birmingham situation.

2. The complaint against the United States cannot be entertained by the court because the government has not consented to the suit.

In the suit, Wallace contended that, under the Constitution, federal troops can be sent into a state to quell domestic disturbances only at the request of the governor or the state legislature. He said no such request had been made.

He contended that a post-Civil War statute under which the troops were dispatched was unconstitutional and asked the court to rule that way. The law is the same as that under which federal troops were sent to Little Rock, Ark., during the administration of former President Dwight E. Eisenhower.

Freeman Given Wheat Powers

Can Prevent Glutting by U. S. Sale Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has given Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman special power to prevent dumping of American wheat on world markets if the U.S. price on next year's crop plummets, as Kennedy has predicted.

The White House announced today that Kennedy signed last night an executive order granting Freeman broad authority to deal with possible dumping under the provisions of the international wheat agreement act.

The President moved after wheat growers voted Tuesday to reject a program of strict production controls and high price supports.

Unless new legislation is enacted, farmers will be permitted to grow unlimited quantities of wheat in 1964 but without any government-supported price floor.

Kennedy has forecast that as a result the price of wheat will drop from the current level of about $2 a bushel to $1.10. Should this happen, American prices would drop below the world level of $1.45 to $1.50 and — if action weren't taken — American wheat might glut foreign markets.

The executive order authorized Freeman to "prohibit or restrict the importation or exportation of wheat or wheat-flour and issue such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary in the implementation of the international wheat agreement."

Cold Wave Threatening State Fruit

A crop-damaging Canadian cold wave blew into Michigan early today, bringing with it snow, freezing rain and near-record low temperatures that threatened the state's multimillion - dollar fruit industry.

The crop damage could result in higher food prices for housewives.

The frontal fringe of the mass of cold air moved through the Upper Peninsula late yesterday and headed into the northern portions of the lower peninsula by early evening.

The temperature in the Traverse City area dipped to 24 degrees for about two hours and to 28 degrees for another six.

Traverse City is in the heart of the cherry-growing section of the state, a large area encompassing Grand Traverse, Manistee, Leelanau, Benzie and Antrim counties.

Clarence Mullett, horticultural agent for the area said the cherry crop was "in very sad shape."

"I don't see how we can avoid damage," he said. Mullett said about 50 per cent of the crop was destroyed during a particularly harsh winter and "now most of the blossoms are gone too."

He predicted one of the smallest cherry crops in modern times.

More than two-million cherry trees are planted in the area and they account for a large portion of the nation's cherries.

Last year 105 million pounds of cherries were harvested in a 10-county area and 15 million pounds were lost because the crop was too large.

K Bids Adieu to Fidel, Warns U.S. on Cuba

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev, addressing a huge farewell meeting for Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, warned today that the situation in the Caribbean carries possibilities of becoming worse than last October.

In a speech of more than an hour, Khrushchev, in shirt sleeves and bareheaded in a broiling sun, declared:

"If the U.S. government does not show necessary common sense and understanding of the situation and permits itself to be drawn into a dangerous path, a situation even more formidable than that of last October might arise in the world.

"If such a situation is created by the aggressive forces of imperialism, clearly it would be much more difficult to emerge from the crisis than it was in 1962.

"A breach of obligations assumed by the United States would not be regarded otherwise than perfidy. This would radically undermine trust and make coming to terms more difficult."

He pledged that the Soviet Union would defend Cuba if the United States should attack that nation.

Responding, Castro thanked the Soviet people for their cordial hospitality during his visit in this country.

"An avalanche of love fell upon us," he declared.

He was unable to begin speaking for several moments after he stood up because of roaring applause.

In pledging again to come to the aid of Cuba, Khrushchev said:

"If the U.S. government does not strictly observe the agreement that has been reached and aggravates the situation, we shall have to discharge our international duty, our obligations to the fraternal Cuban people and come to their assistance.

"We must say with all seriousness, do not play with fire gentlemen, and do not play with the destinies of the people."

He proposed that the situation in the Caribbean could be normalized on the basis of principles put forward by Castro, including American surrender of Guantanamo naval base.

More Than 100 Attend Second English Banquet

More than 100 students, teachers and parents attended the second English Communications Arts Banquet last night at Pontiac Northern High School.

The banquet honored the contribution of students to the two school publications—the yearbook and newspaper—the debate team and the play production group, the Northern Players.

Harold A. Fitzgerald, publisher of The Pontiac Press, was the featured speaker. He discussed the newspaper's responsibility to the community and the people.

He urged the students to learn to speak and write correct English.

In addition, Fitzgerald suggested that the students learn one other language and stressed they should be able to use it.

Awards were given to staff members of the yearbook, "The Avalanche," and the student newspaper, "The Polaris."

Student contributions to the debate team and Northern Players were also recognized at the annual banquet.

sure Pontiac will be given thorough consideration."

The osteopaths plan a college campus in the neighborhood of 80 acres, with an educational scope including doctors, nurses and technicians.

The primary site considered is immediately east of the hospital and could contain 60 to 108 acres. It might require a third urban renewal project.

Osteopaths said their tentative plans called for spending $160,000 on land and $160,000 on improvements. They hope to have the site selected and building started in two years.

Two U.S. Teams Hit Everest's Peak

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Two American teams scaled Mt. Everest from different sides today, missed each other at the exact peak but staged a dramatic meeting at the slightly lower south summit.

It was the first such encounter in history and the first time any nation had four of its citizens atop the mountain on any one day.

Expedition leader Norman R. Dyhrenfurth, Santa Monica, Calif., said Barry C. Bishop, Washington, D.C., and Luther G. Jerstad, Eugene, Ore., got to the top via the traditional south col.

He said they looked for William F. Unsoeld, Corvallis, Ore., and Thomas F. Hornbein, San Diego, Calif., who were struggling up the hitherto unconquered west ridge of the 29,028-foot mountain.

When they didn't see them at once, they started down the way they had come. Then, Dyhrenfurth said, they discovered that Unsoeld and Hornbein had made it to the top and also started down the southern route.

DOWN TOGETHER

They waited for the other two and had their reunion at the south summit before going on down together.

Unsoeld and Hornbein had, thereby, made the first traverse of Everest in history.

The four, said Dyhrenfurth, bivouaced outdoors because they could not find Camp 6 in the dark. They were without sleeping bags, tents and probably without oxygen.

"We are all very proud," said U.S. Ambassador Henry Endicott Stebbins.

Dyhrenfurth said the traverse exploit had been the "dream of mountaineers for decades."

There was wild cheering at the American embassy as the radio reports reached here.

Gov. Romney Intervenes

GREENVILLE (AP) — Gov. Romney stepped into the breach between Gibson division of Hupp Corp. and its United Auto Workers Local 137 today with agreement from both sides to a one-week "cooling off period."

The governor acted by telegram to C. J. Gibson, president of the division; Local 137 President George Truesdell and Kenneth W. Robinson, UAW regional director.

It arrived in advance of a possible zero hour for a decision whether to pull Gibson operations out of Michigan and move to Mississippi.

The decision was to have come after a meeting between labor and management and a public announcement here today of the results. (See earlier story Page B-6.)

No to Romney on EMU Report

LANSING (AP) — The State Board of Education today refused to provide Gov. George Romney with a copy of a North Central Association report on conditions at Eastern Michigan University, saying it is "not at liberty to release it to anyone."

The flat rejection of the request was conveyed to the governor in a letter from Dr. Lynn Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction and secretary of the board.

He said that although Romney could not have the report, the board would be most happy to discuss the report with the governor at a mutually agreeable time and place.

The report by North Central Association, accrediting body for Michigan colleges, universities and high schools, is based on a study last fall which found extensive weaknesses in the administration of the school.

The board has refused to reach the contents of the report on grounds that it contains references to "personalities" and "would not serve any purpose by being made public."

Members of the state board met in Ypsilanti yesterday with EMU administrators to discuss the report.

Wealthy Virginia Physician Joins Astronaut Adventure

TOKYO (AP)—A Virginia aristocrat who says he got tired of living off his inherited fortune has embarked on an adventure he hopes will make him the first American physician on the moon.

He is Dr. Stuart Ragland Jr., an internal medicine specialist who left a lucrative practice in Richmond to join the Navy and get into the Mercury astronaut program.

He hopes to qualify for a seat on the space ship that American officials hope to land on the moon before the end of this decade.

The doctor, 40, a handsome, dark-haired 6-footer who looks 30, is not just a physician.

He says he is a "damn good" jet fighter pilot, a balloon explorer and a man vitally interested in physical adventure combined with the intellectual challenge of space.

During astronaut L. Gordon Cooper's 22-orbit flight around the earth last week, Ragland was aboard a U.S. ship 300 miles southwest of Japan to keep tabs on Cooper's physical condition.

ABLE TO JUDGE?

While he considers America's astronauts the finest pilots in the world, capable of dealing with any mechanical situation in space flight, Ragland is concerned about their ability to forecast accurately what effects space flight of several weeks will have on the human body.

"Gordo (Cooper) said he wasn't warm up there," Dr. Ragland explained. "Yet he recorded a temperature of 100 degrees. You can't trust a nonmedical man to even say whether or not he's warm."

Why did Ragland, a wealthy man with six children, pass up the family bank or the horse breeding estates for the rank of lieutenant commander in the Navy and a job in the Mercury project?

"Adventure. That's exactly what I'm after," he said in a Virginia drawl.

Embezzling Exam Waived by Woman

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Mrs. Ann L. Ramey, 39, waived police court examination yesterday after her arrest on a charge of embezzling $17,931 from an advertising agency where she worked as an accountant.

She was released on $5,000 bond to await Superior Court arraignment.

Detective William Moermand, who made the arrest, said the woman allegedly typed her name over those of companies to which 48 agency checks were made payable in a series dating back to last June.

England Considering Building of N-Freighter

LONDON (UPI) — Transport Minister Ernest Marples told Parliament last night the government is considering the possibility of building a nuclear-powered freighter like the U.S. ship Savannah.

Marples said that if the government decides to go through with the plan, the ship could be in service by the end of 1967.

Russia Sets Lead for No U.N. Funds

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The other Soviet bloc nations and Cuba are expected to follow Russia's lead in refusing for the first time to share the cost of items on the regular U.N. budget of which the Communists disapprove.

Soviet Chief Delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko told the 111-nation Budgetary Committee yesterday Russia will stop paying its budget assessments for five items totaling $7,759,754 out of the 1963 budget of $93,911,050.

Fedorenko pinpointed assessments earmarked for pincipal and interest of the $200 million emergency bond issue, the U.N. Memorial Cemetery in Korea, the U.N. Korean Reunification Commission, the Palestine Truce Supervision Organization and the field service for peace mission personnel.

He also said the Soviet Union will pay no budget items for the U.N. technical assistance program but will make a voluntary contribution of $1.1 million in rubles that can be spent only for Soviet experts and equipment.

The Soviet Union has been paying its assessments for all regular budget items while refusing to contribute to peacekeeping operations in the Congo and Middle East.

Blanket refusal by the Communists to pay for items cited by Fedorenko would mean a loss to the U.N. of $1,652,827.60. The 10 Soviet Bloc nations and Cuba are assessed 21.3 per cent of the budget.

Fedorenko made plain the Soviets also will continue refusing to shoulder any part of the special assessments for support of U.N. forces in the Congo and Middle East, for which it already owes $46,271,050.

He accused the West of trying to blackmail nations into helping pay for these peacekeeping operations, he apparently referred to U.S. stress on a charter provision that says any country falling two years behind in its U.N. assessments shall lose its vote in the General Assembly.

No U.N. member has lost voting rights, since the charter says they can get off the danger list by paying part of their contribution or by proving that nonpayment stems from conditions beyond their control.

About 40 nations — including France — are in arrears for the Congo operation, and more than 20 for the Middle East, bringing the unpaid bill for the two operations to more than $100 million.

Fedorenko repeated the Soviet claim that the United States and its allies should pay the whole cost of the Congo and Middle East operations on grounds that they created the need for them.

The Middle East operation was set up in 1956 after Israel, Britain and France invaded Egypt.

The Congo force was mobilized after Belgian troops re-entered the turbulent African state in 1960 to re-establish order.

U.S. Delegate Francis T. Plimpton accused the Soviet Union of trying to bankrupt the United Nations, and said well-meaning members will "stand fast in their determination that this organization shall not be bankrupt and shall survive."

The United States pays 32.02 per cent of the U.N. regular budget. While insisting it will not agree to any large assessments, it has indicated willingness to continue its additional voluntary contributions to the peace-keeping operations provided other industrialized countries do likewise.

Greek Freighter Hits, and Sinks Pleasure Boat

A crewman who was the only person aboard the yacht swam to safety.

Prelate, Others Get Sokolsky Awards

NEW YORK (UPI) — Francis Cardinal Spellman, two newspaper columnists and a former U.S. ambassador to Cuba today received the first George E. Sokolsky awards for their "complete devotion" to American democratic principles.

Besides Cardinal Spellman, the recipients were syndicated columnist Henry J. Taylor, New York Journal-American television columnist Jack O'Brian and former Ambassador Earl T. Smith.

The awards, presented at a luncheon ceremony, were established by the American Jewish League Against Communism to honor the memory of Sokolsky, the nationally syndicated columnist who died earlier this year.

'Noncandidate' Romney Back in Washington

BY JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan comes to town today for a fresh demonstration that even if a man isn't running for the presidency it's nice to keep the prospect alive.

Romney, who has said repeatedly that "I am not going to become a candidate" for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, is booked for a luncheon speech and question period before the National Press Club.

This is hardly the forum for the "Michigan Week" address aides said they expected him to make. Nor could the governor be assured of bringing down the house with an explanation of how his administration had jacked up the state's financial status.

What the Washington press corps wants to know—and may or may not find out—is whether Romney is going along with a move by his state's GOP congressional delegation to make him a favorite son candidate.

DELEGATION PROPOSED

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, who seldom ventures out on the end of a political limb, has proposed the state's 48-vote delegation go to the party nominating convention pledged to Romney.

This would be a device calculated to promote the kind of "vigorous, controversial convention" Ford thinks the party needs as a prelude to a ripsnorting campaign against President Kennedy.

In the viewpoint of Ford and a great many other politicians, Romney has made an impressive start as governor. But they think he is too new to the job to be sprouting publicly any ambition to be president.

Romney has had some difficulty dodging the bouquets thrown his way by some highly placed friends. The latest of these was from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who said the governor would have to be considered for the 1964 nomination if he "does a good job in Michigan."

For the time being, while the political situation shakes itself down, Romney's friends are happy to keep him in the "considered" class. There is every evidence the governor is cooperating in that objective.

Ailing Pontiff Halts Audience on Short Notice

Doctor's Suggestion Limits Pope's Activity to Blessing of Crowd

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII, reported suffering from a new and severe setback in the illness that felled him last fall, curtailed his activities today on doctor's orders.

The 81-year-old Roman Catholic pontiff canceled his regular weekly general audience in St. Peter's Basilica on short notice.

However, he appeared at his apartment window to bless a crowd of 15,000 in St. Peter's Square below.

The Vatican press office explained in a statement that Pope John was "following the suggestion of his doctor" in limiting himself to blessing the crowd in the square.

Vatican sources said the Pope planned to appear at his window again tomorrow to recite the noon Angelus prayer.

Pope John looked very pale as he delivered his blessing from his third-floor apartment today, but he spoke with vigor.

Referring to the Feast Day of the Ascension tomorrow, he said:

"We follow with our desire the Lord who ascends into Heaven. Aand, not being able to follow him, we remain on earth, in his holy church, imitating the example of the apostles who gathered, invoking the Holy Ghost."

Cooper Clan Received in Rose Garden

4 Million Greet Coop in Ticker-Tape Rain

NEW YORK (AP)—Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper flew here today for a ticker tape parade and one of New York's greatest welcomes ever to a national hero.

Police estimated four million persons were along the streets to cheer the slim Air Force major who orbited the earth 22 times.

The parade in a shower of tape and confetti was the highlight of the welcoming program, but the accolade began the moment the spaceman's plane touched down at La Guardia Airport from Washington.

The astronaut was accompanied by his family and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson as the National Aeronautics and Space Administration plane touched down at 11:01 a.m.

A red carpet had been rolled out for them.

A loud roar from spectators greeted the smiling Cooper as he stepped from the plane.

Cooper, wearing a dark civilian suit, raised his hands to the crowd and then saluted a massed honor guard.

Related Story, Page A-4

The spaceman's wife wore a white coat and white organdy hat. Their daughters, Camala, 14, and Janita, 13, wore coats and white pillbox hats.

Mrs. Hattie Cooper, the astronaut's mother, also was in the party.

Cooper was welcomed officially at the airport by Richard C. Patterson Jr., of the city's department of public events.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner waited at City Hall to present a medal to Cooper.

2,000 INVITED

About 2,000 guests have been invited by the city to a luncheon honoring the 36-year-old Air Force major, who blasted off to fame last week with his 22-orbit space flight.

Pearson Warns NATO on Split

OTTAWA (UPI) — The NATO spring council opened today with a stern warning from Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson against the perils which would stem from a split between the North American and European members of the alliance.

Pearson, welcoming the foreign and defense minister of the 15 nations of the alliance, said the trend toward European unity was an "exciting development" but it would be "a sad day for peace and security if a united Europe played a separate role."

NATO Secretary General Dirk U. Stikker, another speaker at the formal opening ceremony in the chamber of the House of Commons, called for prompt approval of plans to coordinate existing nuclear forces in Europe under NATO command.

Stikker said that after approving the limited inter-Allied nuclear force being pushed by Britair. and the United States, members of the alliance should go ahead with work on the more ambitious sea-borne NATO force of 200 Polaris missiles.

He acknowledged, however, that this project was not ripe for consideration by the council at this time.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union put another unmanned satellite, No. 17 in its Cosmos scientific series, into orbit around the earth today, the news agency Tass announced.

Plants Face Threat of Scattered Frost

Scattered frost may nip tomato plants unless covered tonight. The forecast calls for temperatures to dip to a low of 37.

The weatherman said tomorrow will be fair and warmer with the high climbing back into the mid 60s.

Friday will continue mild but the weekend will be somewhat cooler, the high near 59 and the low about 39.

Precipitation for the period will total about one-quarter of an inch in scattered showers Saturday and again Monday.

Today's northwesterly winds at 10 to 25 miles per hour will diminish tonight, becoming westerly at 5 to 15 m.p.h. tomorrow.

Forty-one was the lowest mercury reading before 8 a.m. The temperature was 51 at 1 p.m.

School Sets Education TV Shows

County residents who visit the Oakland County Board of Education during its open house tomorrow—Education Day of Michigan Week—will be treated to closed-circuit television programs reviewing highlights of the educational process.

Visitors can sit back and relax while monitoring activities on four television sets in the county's general demonstration room.

The role of the county in the education of handicapped children will open the television schedule at 10 a.m.

Viewers can watch as the camera picks up a regular lesson being given to a deaf two-year old by a specially trained instructor.

They can watch a child's reaction to a psychological examination given by Dr. Leon Hall, coordinator of psychological services for the board, starting at 11 a.m.

Kennedy Will Hold Farmers to Choice for Low-Paying Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wheat growers have sounded a loud "no" to President Kennedy's program for stricter controls on their crops, raising a cloud of confusion over the nation's farmland.

The administration's program, which needed two-thirds of the vote in yesterday's referendum, failed even to muster a majority, getting only 47.8 per cent of the 1.14 million votes cast.

But farmers who rejected the program of high price supports and tight controls on production in hopes Congress would write new legislation this year got a

Traders said the drop was a psychological impact inasmuch as the wheat futures currently being traded are not affected by the wheat farmers' rejection of the proposal. The control program would have applied to the 1964 crop.

For Perimeter Road

Hold Ground-Breaking Rites

Years of planning began to bear fruit today as State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie and city officials broke ground for Pontiac's $3.3 million perimeter road.

The groundbreaking ceremony took place at 11 a.m. in front of City Hall.

The first leg of the loop highway follows Parke northward past city hall.

A sudden storm earlier threatened to move the long-awaited event indoors, but by 11 the sky had cleared and the program proceeded under sunny skies.

Mayro Robert A. Landry opened the ceremonies and acted as master of cermonies for the brief program.

Landry introduced city commissioners, City Manager Robert A. Stierer and other administrators attending the event.

Mackie, in his brief remarks, said it was a pleasure to be able to participate in the groundbreaking.

He praised the city for being prepared "to use the construction of this highway facility as part of an imaginative program of downtown revitalization."

Following his talk, officials formally turned over the first shovel full of dirt symbolizing the start of perimeter road construction.

The event was being filmed by the highway department as another link in the movie to be produced about the perimeter road from first planning to the completion of construction late in 1964.

Following the ceremony, highway department and city officials joined with local civic leaders for a luncheon at Kingsley Inn.

City Reviews Fiscal Policies

Proposed Resolution Sets Base for Change

By DICK SAUNDERS

The City Commission last night introduced a resolution setting the groundwork for major changes in Pontiac's fiscal policies.

The immediate effect of the resolution would be to raise the city's 1963 tax levy by approximately $235,000 and put thetax levy on a state-equalized valuation base for the first time in the city's history.

Long-range, the resolution recognizes a need to accomplish two things:

1 — Eventually re-establish the city's July tax collection to conform with the start of the budget year (January), or vice versa.

2—Abolish the annual reappropriated surplus appropriation in the interests of sound fiscal policy.

Action on the resolution was deferred for study until next Tuesday's meeting at the request of Commissioner Charles H. Harmon.

LONG HISTORY

The resolution stems from a long history of fiscal difficulty resulting from the manner in which Pontiac's city charter prescribes the city budget and tax collection be executed each year.

The charter says that Pontiac's city budget must be adopted on a calendar year basis, Jan. 1 - Dec. 31.

However, the charter sets July as the time that city taxes are to be collected to finance the annual budget.

Only a vote of the general public can change provisions in the city charter.

"Over the years, it has been increasingly difficult to finance city operations during the first six months of each year due to constantly rising operating costs

UF Official Asks Caution of Budgeters

The Pontiac Area United Fund's 1963 general chairman, E. M. Estes, counseled UF budget committee panel members last night to be "cautiously optimistic" in setting their budget goals for this year's fund drive.

Addressing more than 60 members of the eight budget panels at a dinner sponsored by the Community National Bank, Estes advised them to arrive at a "fair compromise" between the money requested by the 54 member agencies and that raised during this year's drive.

"You must be realistic in comparing the need for services with funds that will be available," the Pontiac Motor Division general manager cautioned.

Panel members will hold a series of daily meetings next month to go over budget requests from each agency receiving aid from the United Fund.

South Remains Racially Tense

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Racial unrest showed no sign of subsiding here today, as more than 900 Negro students were released from jail to the custody of North Carolina Agricultural and Technical College.

But some progress was reported in racial disputes elsewhere in the state.

A court order issued at the suggestion of Gov. Terry Sanford virtually cleared three temporary jails set up in Greensboro to house more than 1,200 persons, held on various charges resulting from racial demonstrations.

More than 1,500 persons have been arrested during the last week.

The college students were placed in custody of Dr. L. C. Dowdy, acting president of the state-supported college. They were ordered to appear in court for trials beginning Thursday.

Included among those released were 162 persons—including several juveniles—arrested during demonstrations Tuesday night. Approximately 300 other demonstrators, mostly Bennett College students, remained in jail.

SHUTTLE RELAY

Officers set up a three-hour shuttle relay starting about 12:30 a.m. to move the students from a former polio hospital and the Greensboro War Memorial Coliseum to the A&T College campus. Nearly 250 students housed in an armory were released early Tuesday night. Many of the girls sobbed as they left the converted hospital building. Several male students staged a sitdown for nearly an hour to assure the release of the coeds first.

About 150 students at Bennett College, a Methodist school for girls, refused freedom and were retained at the hospital site.

Demonstrators housed in a jail at nearby High Point and on a county farm near here were to be released today.

● At Durham, N.C., newly installed Mayor Wense Grabarex reported a temporary truce while he and Negro leaders attempt to work out their differences. Seven restaurants have agreed to desegregate. Arrests total 1,380.

● In Montgomery, Ala., "freedom marcher" Eric Weinberger, 31, of New York City, begins the seventh day of a hunger strike in Kilby prison. A doctor expects to decide shortly whether to send him to a hospital.

● The Englewood, N.J., board of education has refused to change present school assignment policies for the remainder of this term, saying it will not condone any more sit-ins.

Wallace Draws Lines of Battle

Sets Out to Block University Integration

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace, thrusting state sovereignty into the path of federal authority, has set out to block court-ordered desegregation of the University of Alabama.

The youthful Alabama governor laid his constitutional authority on the line Tuesday after the university board of trustees had agreed to admit two Negroes and U.S. refused to delay the June 10 enrollment.

"I embody the sovereignty of this state," declared Wallace, a veteran of battles with the federal government, "and I will be present to bar the entrance of any Negro who seeks to enroll at the university."

Thus, Wallace embarked upon the same course followed last fall by Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi who barred Negro James H. Meredith from the University of Mississippi. Meredith later enrolled behind federal forces.

Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, a political foe of Wallace, warned defiance of federal court orders may lead to violence. He said those who defy such orders may be to blame if federal troops are used in Alabama as they were in Mississippi.

WHITES WILLING

A sampling of sentiment of students and faculty members at the university campus at Tuscaloosa indicates that while white students may not like the idea, they are willing to accept Negro classmates peacefully.

On other fronts:

— The simmering Birmingham racial situation remained quiet as 3,000 federal troops stood by at military bases and more than 1,300 state, county and city law enforcement officers kept watch over a 28-block area where rioting broke out May 12.

— A hearing was scheduled during the day in federal court on a request for reinstatement of more than 1,000 Negro pupils suspended or expelled from Birmingham schools for taking part in antisegregation demonstrations.

Bloomfield Hills Ballot Includes Swimming Pool

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The addition of a swimming pool to the Bloomfield Hills High School will be considered by voters here June 10.

The board of education last night agreed to put the proposition on the ballot after receiving a petition from property owners in the district.

Supt. Eugene L. Johnson expects to receive a cost estimate on the project within a week, but said it will probably be in the neighborhood of $500,000.

A 25-year bond issue would support construction of the pool, natatorium, showers, locker rooms and spectator facilities, Johnson said.

District voters rejected A pool proposition two years ago when they approved construction of an addition to the high school, now six years old.

Johnson said the pool would supplement the school's physical education facilities which were designed for 700 students.

High school enrollment, currently 960, is expected to be over 1,000 next year.

The board authorized Johnson to begin a study of transportation control in the district.

With a fleet of 28 vehicles; the district now busses 80 per cent of its students. The administration is to investigate the possibility of extending walking areas.

Board members last night agreed to finance half the cost of an organ for the high school music department. The other half of the estimated $3,600 cost has been raised by the department.

As part of the Birmingham Public Schools' participation in Michigan Week, an all-school art show will be staged at Derby Junior High School Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Hours Friday will be 7 - 10 p.m. From 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. students will demonstrate their skills in various art fields.

The free exhibition will be open to the public from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. Saturday and from 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. Sunday.

There will be about 1,500 objects displayed, representing all of the elementary and secondary schools.

Art areas to be included are painting, drawng, print making, commercial art, charcoal, pen and ink, pencil, murals, copper embossing, plaster carving, sculpture, ceramics, jewelry, weaving, papier mache, crayon, puppets and masks.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, who before the vote said defeat of the administration plan would be "chaotic," today said flatly the alternative provided by the referendum "will be in effect for the 1964 wheat crop.

"The point of view which prevailed in the referendum is entitled to a full and fair trial," he said.

And Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said he would do all in his power to prevent any further wheat legislation this session.

"Democracy has spoken and the wheat farmers have voted themselves out of a program," Ellender said. 'I wish them well."

SEE HEAVY PRESSURE

The administration stand promised to put heavy pressures on Congress. Many Republicans have new programs drafted and plan to introduce them at once.

Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, which played a leading role in piling up the heavy "no" vote in the referendum, hailed the results of the election as "a bright day for agriculture" and added:

"The way now is open for the Congress to solve the wheat surplus problem on a basis consistent with the maintenance of the market system."

The administration had thrown its prestige and strength behind its program and suffered a stinging defeat. Complete returns gave 545,776 votes for the plan and 595,851 against it.

Michigan wheat growers, turning out in surprisingly high numbers, defeated the program by an emphatic 4-1 margin.

Complete unofficial totals compiled by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in East Lansing showed 61,066 voted "no" and 15,523 voted "yes" on a proposal requiring a two-thirds national "yes" vote to go into effect.

Clarence Prentice, secretary-manager of the Michigan Farm Bureau, said bureau officials had expected the wheat plan to be defeated in Michigan, but had not expected so wide a margin.

City Eyes Policies of Fiscal Plan

OPERATING PROBLEM

The problem of operating from January through June before income is available for that operating period would be easy if it were possible to operate a city on credit.

However, it is impossible to pay employes with "credit" for six months each year. It takes cash.

Thus, the proposed resolution recognizes the need for "a new program looking toward the solution of this problem."

It states the new program should consist of "building up cash balances for several years" until enough is accumulated to carry the city over the January-June budget period.

This would be accomplished "by maximum economies in operation and appropriations, and by a tax rate . . . sufficient to produce additional revenue."

Thus, the resolution determines it will be necessary to raise some $4.55 million by the tax levy this year, compared to the $4,314,240 originally established as the tax levy when the budget was adoptetd in January.

It also determines that the tax rate will be applied to the city's state equalized valuation.

Formerly, the city's taxes had been levied on a local assessed valuation.

The effect of the change would generally be to increase tax bills somewhat.

The tax rate needed to accomplish this will be determined by the city assessor and finance director.

Since the move requires that the 1963 budget appropriation ordinance be amended, or changed, the proposed resolution orders City Attorney William A. Ewart to prepare the necessary amendments.

Cold Outbreak Expected as One of State's Worst

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Farmers in western Michigan were warned today by the U.S. Weather Bureau in Grand Rapids to expect "one of the most intense late spring cold outbreaks we've had in recent years."

Chief meteorologist Fred Baughman said the predicted frost tonight will catch most of the fruit in western Michigan in a very vulnerable stage of development.

The forecast expected temperatures below the danger point in most sections of western Lower Michigan, ranging generally in the neighborhood of 30 degrees and down as low as 25 to 28 in the northwest portion.

Romney Backs State's Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. George Romney, defending state's rights, said today that states are more than just political subdivisions of an all-powerful federal government.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the National Press Club, Romney said there is still a "vital and progressive role for states to play in our constitutional structure."

But, he added:

"Too many people, it seems, are for state's rights because they want to keep things from happening. They are afraid or opposed to change. They want to make states into roadblocks on the path to progress."

Romney, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination spoke to the Press Club on the occasion of "Michigan Week."

"I came here today to sell Michigan, and I hope that while I succeed in that, I will also succeed in convincing you that that is my only purpose," he said.

Romney has repeatedly declared that he is not and will not be a candidate for the GOP nomination, but he has not flatly ruled out a draft.

The governor, whose election last November ended a 14-year Democratic grip on Michigan's executive reins, outlined what he said were the steps being taken by Michigan to improve its national image.

These included adoption of a new state constitution—which is being challenged in a recount — and legislation to accelerate an economic boom in Michigan.

"Our economy is booming," Romney said. "The automobile industry is headed toward the best year in its history. Nonfarm employment was up 113,000 in March of this year over last year. Unemployment was down over 62,000 over the same period."

Goldwater Move Runs Into Snags

Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor's "Volunteers for Goldwater" — announced only Monday — is already in the pangs of a membership declined.

Four of the five persons named by Taylor as members of the new group besides himself have denied being members, and the fifth said he was an "involuntary volunteer."

All five are assistant prosecutors on Taylor'sstaff.

Taylor named them as members when he announced formation of the new group to back U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

But, when the five were asked about their membership yesterday, it was discovered that:

Three denied being members or having been asked to join.

One said he was an "involuntary volunteer."

Especially perturbed was Donald M. Reddy, a county assistant prosecutor since last June.

"I was never consulted about it," said Reddy. "Maybe I'd join, I don't know. But I should be asked first. I am not a member."

Two other's said they also had not been asked to join, although one of them had agreed with Taylor that such a group should be formed.

Another said, "I heard some talk about it, but didn't know it was serious."

Besides Reddy, Taylor named assistant prosecutors Robert Templin, Edward H. Shigley, Robert L. Shipper and Barry M. Grant as members of the new group. He said there were 10 other members, who he did not name.

Kennedy Gives U.S. Wishes for Confab Success

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy told the African Summit Conference today it "provides a dramatic illustration of African prominence in world affairs" — and possibly an inspiration to other nations.

He said "from your actions, other nations may draw renewed inspirations to continue their search for improved ways to understand each other."

Maloney No Joke to National League Batters

By The Associated Press

Jim Maloney signed with Cincinnati on April Fool's Day, but he's no joke to National League batters.

The 22-year-old right-hander who admits "I babied my arm too much" in his early days with the Reds, tied the modern major league record of eight consecutive strikeouts and fanned a total of 16 in a 2-0 victory over Milwaukee Tuesday night.

Signed for an estimated $100,000 bonus in 1959, Maloney has had a slow rise to fame, but now stands along with 26-year-old Jim O'Toole as the aces of the Reds' staff. Between them they have recorded 12 of Cincinnati's 18 victories and pulled the club up to .500.

Things weren't so good for Maloney last year. When the Reds broke spring camp, he found himself farmed out. "I babied my arm too much, and I learned," says Maloney, "that I couldn't last nine innings just by standing out there on the mound and humming the fast ball."

LEARNED QUICKLY

Maloney apparently learned quickly. He finished the 1962 season with the Reds, posting a 9-7 record, and now is 6-1 with a sparkling 2.25 earned average. He is third in the league in strikeouts with 57, behind Los Angeles' Sandy Koufax and one behind the Dodgers' Don Dyrsdale.

The Dodgers got a five-hit pitching performance from Johnny Podres, defeated the New York Mets for their seventh straight victory 4-2 and remained one-game behind league-leading San Francisco. The Giants beat Philadelphia 3-2 as Billy O'Dell won his sixth without a loss.

St. Louis edged Chicago's Cubs 5-4 and Pittsburgh nipped Houston 6-5 in other games.

Maloney allowed only two hits in the 8 1-3 innings he worked. He started his string of eight straight strikeouts with Eddie Mathews in the first inning and kept whiffing Braves until Hank Aaron grounded out in fourth inning. He had fanned 15 in the first seven innings, and had a good chance to tie or surpass the single game record of 18 held by Bob Feller and Koufax. He managed only one the rest of the way, however.

Maloney left after walking two men in the ninth and running the count on Norm Larker to two balls and no strikes. Bill Henry took over and finished up without any trouble. Frank Robinson drove in both runs against Braves' starter Bob Hendley with a first inning single and a third inning sacrifice fly.

Shutout by Galen Cisco for five innings and trailing 2-0, the Dodgers put it out of reach with three runs in the sixth inning on a two-run double by Willie Davis and a single by Dick Tracewski knocked in what turned out to be the deciding run. Ron Fairly chipped in with two roubles and a single in support of Podres, now 3-3.

Avondale Hopes Rise

Avondale's hopes for a Oakland A baseball title received a boost yesterday in the highlight of the prep diamond scene.

The Yellow Jackets posted their sixth straight victory (fifth in the league) by defeating Fitzgerald, 9-5, with two big innings.

Other scores saw Clawson continue on top the circuit by edging Troy, 14-13; Pontiac Northern defeated Southfield, 6-5; Berkley clinched a tie in the Inter-Lakes race with an 8-4 win over Waterford; and Walled Lake nipped Farmington, 2-0.

Pontiac Central was beaten by Flint Northern, 4-1; Royal Oak Kimball remained undefeated by taking Hazel Park, 8-7; OLSM beat St. Fred's, 6-2; and RO St. Mary stopped Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows, 5-4.

Avondale's ace hurler Lynn Thorpe was driven from the box in a five-run third inning by Fitzgerald, but sophomore Mike Meyers stopped the Spartans cold thereafter.

Dennis Acker drove in five runs with a single in the four-run Avondale first and a bases-loaded double in the winning five-run sixth-inning rally.

There were 23 hits in the Clawson - Troy struggle. The Colts scored three times in the bottom of the seventh but couldn't put across the tying run.

NORTHERN RALLY

Pontiac Northern's Dave Bihl singled three times against Southfield yesterday. The second one brought in two runs to tie the score in the sixth inning after two were out, and his final two-out blow in the eighth inning plated the winning marker for the Huskies.

Berkley tallied four times in the eighth frame to break open a close contest with Waterford. Dick Kakkuri's triple was the big blow. Gary Grant had a two-run triple for the Skippers.

Walled Lake's Don Rickard hurled a one-hitter to stop Farmington. Dave Fagerlie's triple was the key blow as the Vikings scored twice in the sixth inning.

Lane Ellis' three - run homer in the second was all Charley Pitts needed to defeat PCH on a five-hitter. Paul Oliver hurled two sharp innings of relief ball for the Chiefs.

Ted James' three - run homer in the sixth brought Kimball within one run of tying the score, and the Knights pulled out the game when Lee Wulfmeier's windblown fly was dropped with two out in the seventh permitting the final two Knights' runs to score in an 8-7 win over Hazel Park. The winners are 10-0.

Larry Janiszewski fired a two-hitter and fanned nine to beat St. Frederick, 6-2, for Orchard Lake St. Mary. The winners remained tied in the Northwest Catholic League race with ROSM which edged FOLS, 5-4, on a last inning run - scoring single by Frank Butler.

Hawks Fire Rudy Pilous as Coach

CHICAGO (AP)—Rudy Pilous was the most successful coach in Chicago Black Hawk history. But today, the victim of his own success, he's looking for another National Hockey League job.

Pilous has learned the hard way that in Chicago, security as a coach is about as easy to hang onto as a hat on a windy day.

The Hawks fired Pilous Tuesday "because the management decided to make a change." That was the only reason given in the statement, drafted by general manager Tommy Ivan and issued in Chicago. Ivan is vacationing in Miami.

A successor to Pilous was not named but rumors are that former Toronto Maple Leaf Coach Billy Reay will get the job. Reay last season coached Chicago's American League farm club, the Buffalo Bisons, to their first league and playoff title.

Milford Captures W-O Track Crown

Milford returned to the Wayne-Oakland League's track throne room yesterday after an absence of two years.

The Redskins piled up 52½ points to edge Clarenceville, 49, in a meet at Northville that was highlighted by eight new league records.

Bloomfield Hills, the defending champion, was third with 44½. Then came Holly 26, Northville 10, West Bloomfield 7, Clarkston 5, and Brighton 4.

Roger Stewart of Bloomfield Hills was the top scorer in the meet with 11¾ points. He won the 220 down a straightaway in a record 22.2 and copped the 100. He anchored the Hills winning 880 relay team.

Milford had dominated the league in track until Bloomfield Hills won the crown the last two years.

RECORD TIME

Setting W-O records were Sam Graves of Clarenceville in the high hurdles, 15.6; Northville's Don Biery, 440 in 51.4; Tom Hoopengardner of Bloomfield, 880 in 2:00; Bob Richards, Bloomfield, mile in 4:29.4; Milford's Ron Jackson in the 180 lows, 21.1; the Milford mile relay team 3:34.9; and Milford pole vaulter Dan Mullins, 11-6.

Bloomfield Hills won five first places to three for the Redskins, but Milford's depth clinched the victory.

Weather Helping Walker Cup Team

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)—The weather, which has ranged from foul to good, may have been a help in the preparations of the United States' Walker Cup team for its weekend golf matches with England.

Two U.S. teams, led by reigning U.S. amateur champ Labron Harris of Stillwater, Okla, and Richard Davies of Pasadena, Calif., last year's British amateur champ, shot 73s Tuesday in the first sunny weather in four days.

The Walker Cup matches are scheduled over the 7,025-yard Turnberry course Friday and Saturday.

In practice rounds Tuesday, U.S. twosomes alternated shots.

Harris teamed with Downing Gray of Pensacola, Fla. on their 73 and Davies played with Charlie Smith, Gastonia, N.C.

Is Miss Wright Better Than Babe?

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — Is 28-year-old Mickey Wright a better golfer than the late great Babe Zaharias?

Yes, said four women professional golfers who have played with them both. All four—Betty Jameson, Betsy Rawls, Marlene Hagge and Mary Lena Faulk—rated Miss Wright ahead on the golf course over the late Babe, a fantastic woman athlete who excelled at golf and other sports.

"That Babe was a better putter than Mickey and great getting out of trouble," said Miss Jameson in an interview during a woman's tournament here. "She was marvelous around the greens.

"But she was always in trouble."

SCIENTIFIC APPROACH

The Babe could belt the ball off the tee and Miss Wright doesn't hit her drives any farther, Miss Jameson said. "But Mickey has the scientific approach and she has made an art of driving. She hits the ball with authority and she knows where it's going."

Miss Jameson added that Babe, who didn't turn pro until she was 32, "probably never reached her full potential. But Mickey is just coming into her own."

Miss Rawls, whose one season money record of $26,774 is threatened by Miss Wright, said "Mickey is a much better golfer than the Babe.

"The Babe was better around the greens but Mickey is a better all-around player."

BEST SWING

She added: "Mickey has the best swing in golf, better than any of the men."

Mrs. Hagge was more emphatic: "Mickey is far and away the better. There is no comparison." Miss Faulk said, "I would say that Mickey has the stronger game."

Babe captured the fancy of the public with her great competitive spirit. Does Miss Wright have this?

"Yes," said Miss Rawls, "although she is not the poor loser that the Babe was. She's not the competitor in that way. But that's the way the Babe was in everything. Winning was everything to her."

Miss Wright demonstrated some of her competitive spirit during the tournament here. After the third round she was involved in a controversial penalty against Marilynn Smith for slow play. The two-stroke penalty dropped Miss Smith from a tie with Miss Wright to second.

In the final round, Miss Wright shot a two-under-par 68, equalling the course record, then told newsmen:

"I just wanted to prove that don't need to ask anyone to slap a two-stroke penalty on one player so that I can win a tournament."

Large Brown Trout Caught; 13-Ounce Bluegill in Lead

William C. Gallant rolled up his pant legs and waded into the smaller of the two Fenton trout ponds Saturday just after sunset.

GALLANT

An hour later he waded out with the heaviest brown trout ever reported caught in Oakland County waters.

The 17 - year-old Adelphi Academy student, who lives at 637 Lakeview, Oxbow Lake, had just completed a successful 45-minute battle with the 6-pound, 3½-ounce brown. It was 23 inches long and had a girth of 14⅞ inches.

The trout was taken on a No. 12 grey squirrel - tail streamer attached to a 2-pound test tippet.

William realized he was in trouble when the fish began to tire. He didn't have a net nor did his father, William D. Gallant. The landing equipment was home in the garage.

His father solved the problem by going to the caretaker's house, which is on the shore of the small pond, and borrowing a net. The fish will be mounted.

The trout does not qualify for The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby because there is only a rainbow division, none for browns.

DERBY LEADER

The Derby does have a leader in the bluegill division.

Harold Pace, 1132 Humphries, caught a 13-ounce bluegill about 7:30 p.m. Sunday while fishing Square Lake The fish was 10-inches long.

Pace said he was wading out from shore fishing with a nightcrawler when the fish hit in about six feet of water. He also took several smaller gills.

A 4-pound, 7-ounce rainbow tops its class.

The pike leader is 4½ pounds. No entries will be accepted in the blackbass division until the season opens June 1. The winners are determined by weight only. The Derby is open to residents of Oakland County and the fish must be caught in county waters.

Fish taken from private and commercial waters are not eligible.

Because of the unpredictable weather and occasional high winds, fishermen are staying away from the lakes.

Some good catches of rainbows were made last weekend on Elizabeth, Maceday and Orchard Lakes. Evening fishing for bluegills in shallow water has been productive on Lake Oakland, Union and Spring Lakes.

A No. 16 light cahill dry fly is a good bet for evening fishing at Davisburg trout pond. But the small bluegills there are becoming a nuisance.

Walleyes are now in the St. Clair River, but catches have been inconsistent because of the weather and the fish are small.

Commission Eyes Change in Dunes Bill

Michigan's Conservation Commision has speled out two possible changes to the Hart-McNamara bill calling for joint agreement between state and federal officials on hunting and fishing matters within the proposed Sleeping Bear Dunes national recreation area.

The amendments would require the combined approval of the Secretary of the Interior and Conservation Department in designating when and where hunting would be permitted, and in setting jurisdiction over enforcement of the state's hunting and fishing laws.

Each of the commission's proposals is suggested should its adoption become necessary to insure the department an equal voice in decision-making on these matters.

Present terms of S792, the Hart-McNamara bill, provide for this, but a move may be made to strike them out.

The Commission has not endorsed either of two bill before Congress which would establish a national recreation area in Benzie and Leelanau counties.

Moose Increase Noted

Lynx Making Comeback

The day may not be far off when a once-lost member of Michigan's wildlife family — the Canada lynx — will regain his place as an established resident of the Upper Peninsula's densely-forested areas.

That's the way things look to William Laycock, of Marquette, the Conservation Department's regional game supervisor.

He reports that 10 lynx were killed above the Straits last year, the most recorded since the animal dropped out of the state's picture — or nearly so — as a result of Michigan's virgin forests being cut over.

There is a good chance that more lynx were taken than reported, because they can easily be mistaken for their little brother, the bobcat. In other words, some lynx kills may have passed for bobcats.

This, in turn, points to the possibility that the Upper Peninsula's lynx population may be even higher than kill reports have indicated in recent years.

Department game men in the field have noted signs which suggest that lynx numbers are building up slowly, but surely.

They also have good evidence that the moose, another scarce species since the logging days, is increasing gradually in the Uppr Peninsula, mostly in the eastern end. These giants of the antlered world also have two small colonies in the central part.

The rise of the lynx and moose is more than a mere coincidence, according to Laycock. Their comeback is traced to changing forest conditions, namely the return of the big timber — the very thing which is working to the disadvantage of deer, grouse and snowshoe hares.

BLUEGILL LEADER — Harold Pace of Pontiac holds the 13-ounce bluegill he caught Sunday evening while fishing Square Lake. The fish leads The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby's bluegill division.

40-POUNDER — Thomas Brown, 4601 Linwood, caught this 40-pound, 7-foot, 2-inch sailfish recently while fishing out of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. He was aboard a charter boat skippered by Cal Erickson, Bahia Mar Yacht Basin.

Children Big Problem for Proud Lake Area

Al Massini, manager of the Proud Lake recreation area, has a problem — too many school children.

The youngsters aren't overrunning the Proud Lake area or taking part in vandalism. They simply can't get there unless they go with their parents on a weekend outing.

The nature program at the area is causing the problem, according to Massini.

"Our outdoor nature program is booked 18 months in advance," said the manager, "and it could be five years ahead if the rules would allow it."

School classes make up the bulk of the program, he said.

"Most of the classes come from Oakland County with a few from Detroit. We could have 16 weeks from Canadian schools if we had the manpower and facilities."

NO CLASSROOM

There is only one naturalist available for the program and no classroom building.

"We are working on getting a building where classes can be held," said Massini. "Then we will be able to handle more groups."

Earthen dams will be constructed on Long and Twin Lakes in Lapeer County this summer. The Conservation Department feels this will improve the fishing.

Rainbow fishermen have been having trouble at North Twin because the beavers engineered a dam in the wrong place — for fishing — and the two lakes have become almost one.

Part of a Woodland Caribou antler was found in an old peat bog near Lapeer last summer, the second piece of recorded evidence ever unearthed to indicate that the animal once ranged over southern Michigan.

The first discovery was made in 1940 near Minden City in Sanilac County.

The last known caribou in Michigan was found on Isle Royal near the turn of the century. Today, caribou are found only across the northern most part cf the North American continent.

Capital investments for new production equipment in Michigan pulpmills exceeded $10 million in 1962. Mill expansion underway or announced at year's end is expected to maintain the rate of increase in pulp production in the state at 60 per cent above the national average.

They are members of the Pontiac Area Campers Club which will stage an educational camp out for the public Saturday and Sunday at Hawthorne Park. Camping equipment will be displayed from 10 a. m. to dark Saturday and from noon to 5 p. m Sunday. Holiday Season Opens Memorial Day

More State Campsites Ready

LANSING (UPI) — To make the 1963 summer vacation season as alluring as possible to Michigan campers and out-state tourists the State Conservation Department has spent millions of dollars improving outdoor facilities.

Improvements include more than 700 campsites added through a multi-million dollar bonding program which is underwritten by vehicle sticker sales for admission to the state parks.

Come Memorial Day, the official vacation-launching date, outdoor enthusiasts will find some 260 new campsites ready to use at Baraga, Brimley, Fort Wilkins, Lake Gogebic, McLain and Porcupine Mountains state parks in the Upper Peninsula alone.

Conservation Department officials say 60 campsites are being readied at Cheboygan state park in the Lower Peninsula, which will be in business for its first full season. Another 15 sites have been added at Harrisville state park.

Southern Michigan campers will have their pick of 395 new sites at Hayes and Port Crecent state parks and the Pinckney recreation area.

There is one small catch and conservation people are hoping the citizens will take it all in stride. Starting June 1 the daily camping fee in state parks will go up from $1 to $1.50.

Without the boost, department parks officials say, the improvements wouldn't have been possible because of an already serious shortage of funds.

RIVER CAMP

Also new to the U. P. this season are a river campground, nature trail and parking lot at Van Riper state park; rest room and shower buildings for campers at J. W. Wells and Tahquamenon Falls state parks; and change-courts for bathers at Lake Gogebic.

Other toilet and shower facilities have been built or remodeled at Harrisville state park in the northern Lower Peninsula. Ludington state park's outdoor center has a new dormitory and craft building. New picnic areas with parking lots for 290 cars and a boat launching ramp await visitors in the snug harbor section of Muskegon state park.

Orchard Beach state park has added a self-guiding foot trail and at Traverse City state park electricity is available for all campsites. Benzie state park, a popular fishing spot, will feature a lighted fish cleaning house for late-returning anglers.

Other improvements have been made at Yankee Springs and Proud Lake recreation areas; Port Cresent and Warren Dunes state parks; Teeple Lake Beach! Dodge state park and Big Fish lake at the Ortonville recreation area.

Bonefishing Causes Problem

Oscar Goofs; Jimmy Bowlegs Glares

By OSCAR FRALEY

WEST END, Grand Bahamas (UPI)—Here in this plush island paradise a mere 55 miles east of Palm Beach there are two names which spell the epitome of fishing.

One is Jimmy Bowlegs. The other is bonefish.

Together they are Al Hirt on a trumpet, Willie Shoemaker banging down to the wire on a stakes horse, Frank Sinatra singing the blues, Jimmy Brown buffeting the middle of the line and Picasso with a palette.

You can have your tarpon, sailfish or marlin. I'll take Jimmy Bowlegs poling from the deck of his skiff and a battling bonefish on a light spinning rod.

Jimmy Bowlegs is an artist in stalking the spooky Tigers of the flats nearby the luxurious Grand Bahama Hotel. Fishing has been his life for most of his 50 years and the Bahamas are part and parcel of his heritage.

Because this tall, rangy man with the slow smile and the soft voice is a descendant of Billy Bowlegs, a Seminole chieftain who was the only Indian pirate and scourged these rainbow waters along with such as Blackbeard, Henry Morgan and Black Caesar.

But Jimmy Bowlegs puts as much excitement into bonefishing as anything ever seen along these storied shores.

The bonefish is the spookiest thing you ever saw, Jimmy explained in a whisper as he ghosted the skiff over two and a half feet of water. "Usually you get one chance and if you blow it, you've had it.

"What you do," he added, baiting the hook with shrimp, "is lay it out there in front of him. Then give it one little careful jiggle, just enough to attract his attention but not to spook him. Then let it lay there, sit quiet and pray, mon."

Jimmy crouches on the poling deck, moving the skiff with stealthy care so as not to strike the side of the boat and squinting over the water for a tell-tale ripple. Suddenly his arm points cautiously and you see a faint shadow. "Throw it ahead of him," he whispers.

Well, you make a mistake and throw it behind him and the bone is gone. Jimmy gives you a look that a couple of centuries back Billy Bowlegs pinned on a character about to walk the plank.

Mart Higher, Blue Chips Steady

NEW YORK (AP) — Blue chips put on a steady performance as cross currents reigned in a slightly higher stock market early today. Trading was active.

Key stocks were unchanged to fractionally higher, with a few rising a point or more.

The sugar stocks, recent favorites, continued mixed, with some snapping back from yesterday's profit taking.

Du Pont (ex dividend) advanced more than 2 points as it continued its latest role of bolstering the averages. General Motors, Ford and Chrysler all nudged ahead fractionally.

The leading steels and oils edged to the upside on balance.

Radio Corp. added a full point. Gains of about a point were posted for IBM, Polaroid and U.S. Smelting.

American Crystal Sugar rose a couple of points. South Puerto Rico Sugar and Holly Sugar added fractions. Great Western Sugar eased. American Sugar Refining lost a fraction.

Rochester Company Increases Earnings

The Higbie Manufacturing Co. of Rochester has announced net earnings for the first nine months of the current fiscal year at $479,507, a 24 per cent increase over a similar period last year.

Earnings per share of common stock were set at $1.33, company president Carlton M. Higbie Jr. reported.

Net sales over the nine-month period totaled $7,184,425, up 14 per cent over 1962 figures.

The totals include sales and net earnings of the Franklin Products Co. of Franklin for the month of April, Higbie pointed out.

The purchase of the new subsidiary was made earlier this year.

In the last five years, the National Merit Scholarship program has awarded $25 million in scholarships.

Ad Exec Asks for Retirement

Will Stay in Posts Until Middle of '64

The partial retirement of Leo A. Hillenbrand Sr., secretary-treasurer and director of the Bloomfield Hills advertising agency MacManus, John & Adams, Inc., was announced today by Ernest A. Jones, agency president.

Hillebrand, who joined the agency 45 years ago, will retain his posts as vice president, secretary and director until mid-1964, at which time he has asked that his retirement be made complete, Jones said.

"He has served our company well and ably and we accede to his request for partial retirement with considerable regret," he added.

Hillebrand will be succeeded by Harold F. Stephenson of 4524 Stoneleigh, Bloomfield Hills.

Stephenson comes to MJ&A from Outdoor Advertising, Inc., of New York, where he has served as secretary-treasurer since 1957.

Hillebrand joined the Bloomfield Hills agency in 1918 as a bookkeeper and became a vice president in 1934, shortly after the firm's incorporation.

During his administration as chief financial officer, MJ&A has grown from a company with 20 employes in 1934 to one with 500 stationed throughout the world.

Wheat Vote Brings Heavy Mart Selling

CHICAGO (AP) — Rejection by producers of the proposed new wheat control program in yesterday's referendum brought heavy selling and a sharp break in prices in active early dealings today on the board of trade.

All wheat contracts started off with setbacks of more than three cents and the March delivery was down more than nine cents for a while during the first several minutes. Some of the loss was quickly recovered, however.

Other grains and soybeans also weakened.

LOOKING INTO FUTURE — This scale model of planned expansion at Detroit Metropolitan Airport shows the new terminal (1) with the United Air Lines concourse and hexagon gate area (2). Above the terminal is the general services building (3) with the present terminal (4) at extreme left.

Airline Plans Service Increase at Metro

By DICK BUCK

The nation's largest airline plans a 10 per cent service increase for Detroit when it moves from Willow Run to Metropolitan Airport in 1965.

United Air Lines (UAL) Vice President (facilities and property) Dan C. Meenan told a press conference in Detroit yesterday that the company is "anxious to move in as Metro as rapidly as we can."

New facilities at Metro for United and the other five airlines now using Willow Run are scheduled for completion in October 1965, according to Meenan. He said planners hope the move actually can be made by March of that year.

Meenan acknowledged that United's operating costs would be considerably higher at the newer airport. But he quickly added that UAL expects substantial gains in passenger and cargo revenues because of the switch.

More modern terminal facilites, improved interline connections and a shorter ride to the airport for most Detroit area passengers were listed as factors which make the move seem lucrative.

MORE COMPETITION

The projected 10 per cent service boost will involve more frequent use of jets. It also is likely to see United giving more vigorous competition from both an equipment and scheduling standpoint on routes shared with airlines already at Metro.

United has in many cases been forced to play second fiddle on these routes because of the disadvantage of being at the more distant Willow Run.

A new terminal northeast of the present building at Metro will house United and North Central, Lake Central and Mohawk airlines. These other three, all local-service carriers, also will be immigrants from Willow Run, along with Trans World and Eastern.

A "finger" concourse from the new terminal will lead to a five-gate hexagon boarding area to be used only by UAL. The company will have two more gates on the concourse.

JETWAY SERVICE

The hexagon will feature four telescoping Jetways which let passengers board or leave their plane at the second-floor level without stepping outside. The four Jetways, costing $75,000 each, will serve two planes.

They'll be part of $750,000 United plans to spend after the terminal has been built for the airport's operators, the Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners. Another extra United plans is undergound fueling to speed servicing.

UAL is seeking a site near the new terminal for a cargo terminal. Meenan said the firm expects its Detroit cargo business to double.

Negotiations between the Willow Run airlines and the Metro management have continued many months. With United and presumably others anxious to move, why the long delay before finally signing contracts?

The main holdup came because of price changes on which compromises had to be worked out. These didn't all come quickly.

Successful Investing

Q) "At present I find my income tax far too high and think it is time for me to switch some shares into tax-exempts. Please give me suggestions." D. R.; D. G.

"In your column of April 15, you spoke of municipal bonds. Please tell me where these bonds can be bought." E. K.

A) It is good to encounter a rising interest in tax-exempts. These bonds not only give a high taxable equivalent yield to investors in the upper income brackets, but for the most part they are extremely safe, as well.

To the individual in the 38 per cent bracket, a 3.10 per cent return on a tax-exempt bond is equivalent to 5 per cent from a taxable security. Tax-exempts include state, municipal, housing and other special revenue obligations.

At present I suggest Oakland, California Housing Authority 5's of 1974 to yield 3.10 and State of Maine 3.20's of 1995 on a 3.10 basis.

Tax-exempts can be bought through most banks and investment firms.

Q) "I am getting older and must have more return on my investments. My present holdings are Standard of New Jersey, American Telephone, Standard of Ohio, U.S. Steel, and Bethlehem Steel. I would like to sell Standard of Ohio and Bethlehem. What would you as replacements?" A. F.

A) As this market has moved up, more and more people like yourself—dependent on income—are finding it necessary to review their holdings.

I think you are on the right track—in your circumstances—to sell Bethlehem and Standard Oil of Ohio.

Bethlehem's reduced dividend is not entirely secure. Although the company is well-managed, its far-flung shipbuilding operations may be a drag on earnings.

Standard of Ohio is a fine stock, but even on this year's increased dividend the yield is only 3.7 per cent.

As replacements I suggest Norfolk & Western, yielding 5 per cent, and Tennessee Gas Transmission 5¼ per cent debentures, selling on a 5.02 per cent basis.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

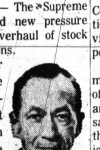
Rules Forming

Mart Overhaul Due?

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — The Supreme Court has added new pressure to a probable overhaul of stock market regulations.

New rules for policing the spreading securities market already are in the formative stage.



DAWSON

The millions of Americans who own stocks could be affected by what Congress may decide, this session or next, should be the government's role as policeman.

Pressures for an overhaul of the rules and their extension into new fields have been building up for more than a year. Scandals involving members of some of the exchanges, but particularly the huge over-the-counter market for stocks unlisted on any exchange, triggered the drive.

The market collapse just a year ago aroused public interest as to "just what is going on in the securities market anyway."

The Securities and Exchange Commission started an investigation. Major stock exchanges revised their rules and tightened the policing of the members.

The SEC already has asked for more policing power, particularly of the over-the-counter market and the qualifications of stock salesmen. It is about to release the final portion of its report. This is expected to cover matters especially close to the small investor, such as the mutual funds.

NEW COURT NOTE

The Supreme Court added a new note of uncertainty Monday by ruling that the stock exchanges weren't entirely immune from the antitrust laws in their policing of members when nonmember security firms are affected.

The uncertainty is over just how much policing power the exchanges have and now they can exercise it. The uncertain could be cleared up by future court rulings on specific cases.

But it also could be cleared up if Congress included the matter in any new regulations for the entire securities industry which it may draft as a result of the SEC report and request for new powers.

Basic to the whole question is how much of a role the government should play in the protection of investors—notably the small and unsophisticated ones. Since the war they have poured into the market in hordes. Estimates have 17 million Americans owning at least one stock issue. Other millions are involved through the purchase of corporate securities by the funds—mutual pension, of trust.

The exchanges feel they can best police their own member brokerage firms. The Supreme Court decision raises some doubt as just how far they can go in this policing.

But just as the big stock market crash of 1929 and the following great depression led Congress to set up the SEC to put the government in the policing business, so the present pressures may lead to an overhaul of current regulations.

They seem likely to widen the policing powers to stock dealings the SEC barely touches and to making sure the exchanges can, and do, set rules that protect the little investor and the novice a little more than in the past.

New-Con Count in Second Day

Margin of Approval Is Slightly Narrowed

LANSING (AP) — Recount teams began their second day today of rechecking the vote by which a new state constitution apparently was adopted—with the margin of approval narrowed slightly.

Reporting on a check of 141 precincts, canvassers in 16 counties trimmed the edge to 7,753 at the end of their first day's work. Seventy-six votes were cut from the original margin of ratification.

Unless it is called off beforehand, the canvass will check a total of 1,969 precincts in 77 counties.

All but 78 of the precincts are being checked at the request of the Democratic party, which opposed adoption of the revised constitution at the April 1 election.

The Coordinating Committee for the New Constitution at the April 1 election asked for the recount of 78 precincts in a counter-filing to the Democratic petitions.

If the Democrats are to upset the new constitution, they will need to gain nearly four votes per precinct. In the first day of counting, they picked up only one-half vote per precinct.

Biggest error discovered in yesterday's count was a 100-vote difference in Greenwood Township of St. Clair County. Election-night workers had reported 162 "yes" and 112 "no" votes, whereas the vote should have been the other way around.

But while opponents of the new document gained in St. Clair County, they lost 51 votes in Genesee County where the "yes" column gained 36 and the "no" tally lost 15.

Iron Workers Reach Accord With Firms

Preliminary agreement was reached between labor and management yesterday in the 21-day-old strike of 1,600 iron workers in eastern Michigan.

The strike, which began over a contract dispute, halted work on construction projects in 34 counties, including several in Oakland County.

Henry E. Cooper, business agent for Detroit Iron Workers Local 25, said that if the union-backed agreement is approved by the membership, iron workers will be back to work by Monday.

While both union and management officials agreed not to release the terms of the contract, it is known that the local was asking for wage rates above $4.50 an hour with improved fringe benefits.

At present, iron workers are receiving $4.20 an hour with fringe benefits amounting to an additional 40 cents.

Last night they journeyed to the Bronx, to Yankee Stadium, to do honor to a native son — Tom Tresh. Tresh not only calls Michigan home but he is getting his degree from Central Michigan University the hard way — one semester at a time, when the Bronx Bombers can spare him.

Miss Michigan Bean Queen, otherwise Marsha Ann La Fave, 19, of Owendale, is a classmate of Tresh at Central Michigan "U" but, "he's married, darn it." Miss La Fave, a farmer's daughter, hopes to be a mathematics teacher.

Cab License Law Passed

Those Operating Daily Eligible for Renewal

When taxicab licenses come up for renewal in June, they'll be renewed only for cabs that are operated on a daily basis by local cab companies.

The City Commission passed an ordinance last night specifying that at the end of each license year, commissioners will determine the total number of licenses to be issued, and how many are to be issued to each cab company.

The ordinance, in a sense, says the issuance of taxicab licenses will be on a "use-it-or-lose-it basis."

Determination of how many licenses are issued to each cab company "shall be . . . based upon the record of the total number of taxicabs operated by such licensee in daily use during the expiring license year, the ordinance reads.

The new law was adopted by a 6 to 1 vote without a public hearing as an emergency ordinance.

Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. cast the lone vote against the ordinance.

The document states further that "where licensed taxicabs have not been operated in daily service during the expiring license year, no renewal license shall be issued."

It makes exceptions for vehicles which are not operating because they are undergoing "major repairs."

Included in the ordinance are provisions for the transfer of licenses to another person in event of death of the licensee and from one vehicle to another contingent on approval of the commission.

The commission will have the right to revoke any license for any violation of the ordinance.

Currently there are three cab companies with a total of 87 licensed cabs in Pontiac. Yellow Cab Co. has 58 licenses, Chief Pontiac Cab Co. holds 17 licenses and Oakland Cab Co. has 12.

Graduate at School for Police

Revolvers and badges rather than caps and gowns identified a goup of graduates today.

The 150 graduates were policemen from counties in southeastern Michigan who have completed law enforcement training courses.

The commencement exercise followed a noon luncheon at Devon Gables restaurant in Bloomfield Township.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department led the list locally in the number of men who have completed the courses, sponsored by the Southeastern Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It had 10 graduates.

Other area departments with men graduating were Waterford Township, 4; Bloomfield Township, 4; Sylvan Lake, 3; Troy, 2; Rochester, 1; and Birmingham 2.

In all, Oakland County was represented by 63 graduates, followed by Wayne, 56, Macomb, 17 and Monroe, 10.

The graduating officers represented almost 40 departments in an area bounded by Durand on the north, Monroe on the south, Garden City on the west and St. Clair Shores on the east.

More than 200 hours of study, 120 in classes, were required for graduation from the basic school, while 300 hours, 144 in classes, were required for the detective school.

The basic police course was introduced in October 1951 and has continued every spring and fall since that time. A total of 3,563 student policemen have enrolled during the past 13 years.

Approve School Millage

JACKSON (AP)— Voters in the Henrietta School District approved by 13 votes yesterday a 7.5 operating millage proposal for two years. The vote was 187 to 174.

City Bans Strolling in the Streets

Pontiac police, school and city officials have become increasingly disturbed over the growing habit of students — mostly teen-agers — of walking in city streets on the way to and from schools.

Several motorists recently reported nearly hitting "students just wandering aimlessly along in the street," so last night the City Commission did something about it.

It is now clearly illegal to walk in the street where there's a sidewalk.

The city ordinance regulating the use of vehicles on public highways was amended to "require that pedestrians walk on sidewalks where they are provided along public highways."

The amendment, already a state law, now is incorporated in local ordinances by unanimous approval of the commission.

In offering the amendment, Commissioner Dick M. Kirby commended school officials and police for their cooperation in trying to solve the problem of the wayward teenagers before serious injury resulted.

At 10 a.m. Today there were replies at The Press office in the following boxes:

5, 8, 11, 14, 15, 16, 19, 20, 22, 34, 45, 50, 56, 61, 64, 75, 76, 78, 79, 80, 82, 86, 87, 90.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Pack Treatment Kit in Snake-Infested Area

Since most of the snakes found in this country are not poisonous and since all snakes perform a useful service by preying on small rodents that destroy crops and compete for man's food supply, it is a great mistake to kill them except to identify a snake that has bitten a human being.

BRANDSTADT

If you are so unfortunate as to surprise a venomous snake and are bitten before you have a chance to retreat (remember that no snake in his right mind is going to chase you), you are going to need prompt treatment.

Only most important first aid measures may save your life.

The use of a tourniquet and the making of a series of incisions has been advocated for so many years that most persons are afraid not to apply these measures, although there is growing evidence that they do little or no good.

On the other hand, such measures can do harm in that when a tourniquet is applied there is always danger of tissue damage, due to deprivation of the limb below the tourniquet of oxygenated blood.

This increases the danger of gangrene, and incisions increase the danger of infection. If incisions are made they should be few, and should be made only in the vicinity of the bite.

Incisions can do no possible good unless made within 30 minutes of the bite. They should never be made on the hands or feet.

Ice packs or immersion in ice water (but never iced salt water) have been advocated.

Although they are not universally recommended, they may aid in slowing absorption of the venom.

The sooner after a snake bite that antivenim is given, the better. If it is not readily available at the nearest hospital or pharmacy, try the nearest board of health or the nearest zoo.

One word of caution is required. The antivenim contains horse serum, and in anyone who is sensitive to this substance, the cure may be worse than the disease.

MANY SURVIVE

Remember: many persons have survived a snake bite without antivenin.

This may be because the snake has recently killed a rodent and has not fully recharged his battery, because the snake is small, because after the fangs penetrated the clothing they didn't get very deep into the skin, or because effective first aid measures were promptly applied.

As soon as possible after the emergency measures have been taken, a booster of tetanus toxoid and an antibiotic should be given, since snake bites are usually grossly contaminated with various disease germs.

So if you are going into an unknown area, you should find out about the kinds of venomous snakes that you might encounter.

When tramping about in the woods, knee-high leather boots will give you some protection.

Look well where you step and where you place your hands. Be sure to carry a snake bite kit with you if the area is known to have poisonous snakes. If you never use the kit, it is still money well spent.

Eleven Indicted in Jury Probe

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A federal grand jury has so far indicted eleven persons — four of them yesterday — on charges of attempting to tamper with a jury in the 1962 James R. Hoffa conspiracy trial here.

More indictments may be forthcoming.

The jury was placed on standby call after Justice Department attorneys told the court "the government may have additional matters to present."

Hoffa, president of the International Teamsters Union, and six others were named here May 9 in similar indictment stemming from a four-month-long investigation ordered by U.S. Dist. Judge William Miller at the conclusion of Hoffa's trial.

The Teamster president was accused of conspiring to violate the Taft-Hartley Act, but the nine-week trial ended Dec. 23 when the jury reported it was hopelessly deadlocked 7-5 for acquittal.

Mrs. Gilbert told police that May had been despondent since the death of his wife in December.
