Israel Is Silent on Arab Charge

Egypt Claims Troops of Jewish State Hold Points on Aqaba Coast

CAIRO (AP) — Israel and the United States were silent today on an Egyptian charge that Israeli troops still occupy two points on Egypt's Gulf of Aqaba coast.

There also was no immediate comment on another Egyptian charge that U.N. troops in the Gaza Strip are crossing the border to fraternize with Israeli women soldiers.

An official Egyptian source complained that Israeli troops were still stationed at Taba, a small town six miles southwest of the southern Israeli port of Eilat, and at Ras el Nakb, apparently a point in the Sinai Peninsula 20 miles north of U.N.-held Sharmel Sheikh.

The Egyptian source said the Israelis had indicated they would not quit the two areas until Eilat is enlarged and fortified. He said they had ignored a withdrawal request from the commander of the U. N. Emergency Force unit at Sharm el Sheikh, which commands the entrance to the disputed gulf.

The United Nations declared officially March 8 that all Israeli forces had left Egyptian territory and the Gaza Strip. The announcement came after the United Nations and the United States called repeatedly for Israel to withdraw from territory it seized in its October-November invasion of Egypt.

The fraternization complaint was made by Egyptian army officers in Cairo. They claimed U. N. troops had been crossing the Gaza-Israeli border to get acquainted with pretty Israeli girls patrolling the other side of the line.

Israel has refused to let UNEF set up patrols on its side of the border. The Egyptians, now governing the Mediterranean coastal strip, pressured the United Nations to take its troops out of the strip towns and put them along the frontier but refused to allow them to cross into Israel while off duty.

★ ★ ★

The Egyptian officers' charges apparently stemmed from pictures in the weekly newspaper Akhir showing girls in Israeli army uniforms dancing with UNEF soldiers to accordion music provided by Israeli soldiers.

In Cairo, meanwhile, U. S. Ambassador Raymond A. Hare met last night with President Nasser to continue discussions on the future operation of the Suez Canal.

Farmington Justice Ingle Refuses to Lower Costs

By PETE LOCHBILER

Farmington Justice of the Peace Allen C. Ingle today said he will buck moves that would radically trim local revenues from justice courts.

★ ★ ★

Ingle declared he will continue assessing violators court costs in excess of what the attorney general calls the "actual costs of prosecution.".

"I'm going to do as I see fit, and I don't see why anybody should complain," said Ingle, head of the county's justice association.

"We aren't bound to follow the opinions of the attorney general or anyone else in the executive branch of government. But the Supreme Court has ruled costs must be 'reasonable,' and that's what I think I'm charging," Ingle added.

Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh says justice costs should be limited to statuatory fees, such as the justice's own fee—usually $4.30—and other minor charge set by law. This would leave nothing left over to be returned locally.

So-called excess costs end up in either county or township coffers and represent a big source of income, especially to the smaller communities.

Kavanagh's opinion came in January along with threats by Aud. Gen. Frank Szymanski of possible prosecution if the lucrative system practiced generally in Oakland County was not stopped.

"Members of the judicial association decided then to limit the maximum cost for any case generally to $10, and that's what I'm going to keep on doing," Ingle said.

Other county justices, however, have fallen into step with Kavanagh after the attorney general's opinion was backed last month by Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

Ingle pointed out that the total penalty charged in Oakland County justice courts generally is less than in surrounding areas, especially Detroit.

"If someone objected to our sentences, he could take it to court. But no one does," he said. "People are happy that the penalties are lower and don't care how much is levied as costs and how much as straight fine."

"But Szymanski is trying to make the people think they're being fleeced. And there are a lot of other critics trying to do the same thing."

Under the Oakland County system, so-called excess costs for violation of local ordinances have been returned to the township and for violation of state law to the county. Fines, however, in both cases, go to the state school library fund.

Income Tax Cut Prospect 'Good'

Dem Speaker Rayburn Hopes for Early Action; May Be Party Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Income tax reduction at this session of Congress became an increasing possibility today.

Speaker Rayburn of Texas, leader of the controlling Democratic majority in the House, said prospects are "good" for a tax cut effective next Jan. 1. He commented after an unusual policy meeting yesterday with Democratic members of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

Rayburn's statement reflected Democratic determination to make tax reduction at this session of Congress a party issue — and possibly beat the Republicans to the wire before next year's elections.

Appraising the tax situation, Rayburn made clear his belief that Congress can pass a tax reduction bill in time to apply to next year's income—provided the government's tax revenues hold up at anticipated levels, and Congress continues its budget-cutting campaign.

House Republicans, who thus far have taken no official position, displayed an eagerness to get into the act on their own. President Eisenhower and his tax advisers have taken a wait-and-see position on tax reduction, with suggestions that revenue surpluses be applied first to debt reduction.

Reject Pontiac Merger Proposal

Oakland Townships UF to Join Detroit Foundation

Representatives from the 15 townships of the Oakland County Townships United Fund have agreed to affiliate with the United Foundation of Metropolitan Detroit instead of the Pontiac area United Fund.

Vern Willard of Farmington, president of the Townships UF organization, announced yesterday representatives met Monday at the Waldron Hotel and voted to join the Detroit United Foundation, which includes Macomb and Wayne Counties except for Plymouth Township.

The Townships UF organization was approached last month by the Pontiac Area United Fund with a merger proposal.

The township organization represents 15 Oakland County Townships with a total population of 90,000. At present, four townships in South Oakland County (Bloomfield, Troy, Southfield and Royal Oak), with a total population of 385,000, are included in the United Foundation's Torch Drive.

The four townships in Oakland County which are independent in fund-raising are Avon, Oakland, Orion, and Holly. Pontiac and Waterford Townships are in the Pontiac Area UF.

MERGER IN PROCESS

John P. St. Clair, chairman of the Detroit Area Study Committee for the United Foundation, said the process of adding on the townships group was now in a "transitional" stage. He hoped plans would be completed for the drive next fall.

★ ★ ★

Included in the townships drive are Groveland, Brandon, Oxford, Addison, Rose, Springfield, Independence, Highland, White Lake, Milford, Commerce, West Bloomfield, Lyon, Novi and Farmington townships.

Scores of Persons Sick

Chlorine Gas Escapes

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa. (AP) — Chlorine gas escaping from a leaking railroad tank car early today made a score of persons ill and forced evacuations of a large area near this western Pennsylvania community.

Firemen, using fog nozzles, sprayed water over the tank car and surrounding buildings in a continuing effort to decontaminate the area.

The tank car, parked on a railroad siding, was estimated to contain perhaps 50,000 gallons of a chlorine compound used in the manufacture of a bleaching fluid.

Township Board in Waterford Faces Police Cut

Loss of Revenue Due to Traffic Ticket Ruling Forces Curtailment

A curtailment of the Waterford Township Police Department faces newly-elected members of the township board when they meet in a budgetary session tonight.

Income problems created by the loss of justice court revenue indicate a reduction in the 16-member law enforcement branch which cost $103,489 last year.

"There is no doubt that the police force will have to be cut down, due to the lack of funds that formerly were returned from the justice of the peace," Supervisor Elmer Johnson said today.

On March 30, Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem instructed county justices to heed Attorney General Thomas Kavanagh's opinion that court costs should be only the actual cost of prosecution.

Possibility that "home rule" legislation pending in Lansing would help solve the knotty problem of how to finance the police dimmed last week.

Fines and costs assessed lawbreakers would remain in the townships, under the new law, instead of being split with the state.

However, income from tickets on state highways was excluded from the bill. Most of the Waterford Township revenue-producing tickets were issued on state highways—U. S. 10 (Dixie Highway) or M59.

The township police department, headed by Chief Frank Van Atta has been criticized recently for allegedly running a "speed trap" along the Dixie Highway.

Officials of the Automobile Club of Michigan claimed that the strict traffic enforcement along the Dixie Highway was more in the interest of producing revenue than promoting safety.

This was denied by Van Atta, and former acting Supervisor Louis Barry. Prosecutor Ziem had earlier ruled that "speed trap" charges leveled by Flint residents were without evidence.

Plane Falls in Brazil; 24 Die, 4 Survive

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Four persons survived the flaming crash of a Brazilian airliner on Anchieta Island last night. All 24 others aboard perished, an official report said.

The plane of the Real Airline went down in a storm while en route from Rio de Janeiro to Sao Paulo. The plane exploded, setting fire to the surrounding brush. The survivors — two adults, a child and the plane's stewardess—were not found until daybreak. Their condition is serious.

Jordan Caught in Power Struggle

Troops Reported Backing Hussein

LONDON (INS)—The Arab Legion reportedly moved to the support of King Hussein today as tiny Jordan was squeezed in an Arab power struggle which could explode into war.

Reports from Tel Aviv told of heavy troop movements in and around Jordan by Syrian, Saudi Arabian and Iraqi units.

Israeli informants in Tel Aviv said the 20,000-man Arab Legion has taken control of Jordan, severed its telephone and telegraph links with the outside world and thrown up barricades to prevent rioting by adherents of ousted ex-Premier Suleiman Nabulsi.

War or peace in the Arab world was said to hinge chiefly on two frontiers—Jordan's army and her street mobs.

Nabulsi, who was fired yesterday by the young King, had the backing of much of the illiterate populace. But Hussein apparently retained the loyalty of the Legion, widely believed to be the Arab world's best fighting force.

The King asked Dr. Hussein Fakhri Khalidi, a senator and former foreign minister, to form a new government. Khalidi reportedly was given 24 hours to choose a cabinet that can win support from Parliament.

SPOTTY RECORD

Mukli has a spotty record on Israel-Jordan relations. As defense minister under Hussein's father, King Abdullah, Mukli tried to negotiate a non-aggression pact with Israel.

★ ★ ★

As Hussein's first premier, Mukli, who currently is ambassador to Egypt, was hostile to Iraq, suspecting that kingdom of plotting to annex Jordan. Recently, however, Mukli has been friendlier to Iraq.

The Israelis said they believe Bahjat Talhouni, chief of Jordan's royal cabinet, is the man calling the turns for Hussein.

He was the person who persuaded Hussein to invite Iraqi troops to enter Jordan during the Middle East crisis of last fall. And he was the delegate who yesterday brought Nabulsi the word that his services no longer were desired.

A move by any of the Arab antagonists to take over the shaky little kingdom would tempt Israel to march in self-defense into the Jordanian sector of Palestine, which includes part of the city of Jerusalem.

Although the 46-year-old Premier was shorn of official power, he probably controls the loyalty of the street mobs, which caused the fall of several governments last year when Jordan was about to join the Baghdad pact.

Offers Proposal to Aid Craftsmen in Negotiations

Change in Constitution Would Encourage Them to Stay in Fold

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) —Walter P. Reuther is offering a plan today to the United Auto Workers convention to keep craft unions from taking skilled workers from the big industrial union.

Reuther, who was unanimously re-elected UAW president yesterday for a seventh term, already has pledged his supporters to amend the union's constitution to take care of the demands of skilled workers.

The proposed changes would permit skilled groups to negotiate supplemental contracts for pay increases substantially beyond contract minimums.

Reuther said the changes did not mean abandonment of industrial unionism. He called it "refining the industrial structure of our union."

The changes also are designed to carry out Reuther's program of organizing engineers, technicians and other white - collar workers.

Reuther argued that these groups "can best solve their problems and advance their common individual interests only as they stand together through the instrument of a single powerful industrial union."

The UAW leadership has had difficulty keeping skilled tradesmen happy ever since the current contracts were negotiated in 1955. Some skilled workers complained they were getting only about 20 cents an hour more than unskilled production workers.

At present the average pay for production workers is $2.34 an hour. The average rate of skilled workers ranges upward from $2.60 an hour.

MEMO TO CAESAR

Followers Urged to Pray

(Another in a Lenten Series)

When Pontius Pilate reported to Caesar on the trial of Jesus, he enclosed with the documents several written memoranda from the agent Junius, covering the events which preceded Jesus' arrest. Here is the first:

. . . After the Nazarene had finished supper with his apostles on the night of the great feast he returned to the Mount of Olives as was his custom. I followed and observed that he went away from his followers into a place where he might pray alone.

The place where Jesus knelt was near enough that a few of his words were audible. This much I heard clearly enough to repeat with certainty:

"Father," he said, "if thou be willing, remove this cup from me: nevertheless, not my will but thine be done."

(At first I assumed he was referring to the goblet of wine at the supper, but I see now he was using a figure of speech. The man certainly knew that his enemies were closing in on him and that soon he would be drinking the bitter cup of persecution and probably death.)

He prayed for some time in an agonized voice that to me seemed to mingle courage with dread, and faith with indecision. In the end his voice became calmer and stronger so that I knew courage and faith had triumphed.

He returned to his followers and found them fast asleep. It had been a long and wearisome day for both him and them but obviously he was much too keenly aware of the crisis he faced to bother with sleep.

Somewhat sternly he roused them, and urged them to pray.

While he was still speaking, a raucous rattle of voices broke through the quiet on the hillside. Up through the darkness the crowd, which had now all turned against him, was coming. . . .

Workers Salute UAW's Reuther

Bus Contract 'Long Way Off'

No Immediate Prospect of Agreement on Pact, Says Union Head

Although settlement on a new contract between city bus drivers and Pontiac City Lines, Inc. is a "long way away," there is no immediate sign of a walkout of drivers, John Sytsma, president of drivers' union, said this morning.

Some 40 drivers, members of Local 1079 of the Amalgamated Assn. of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America, have been under a day-by-day agreement since their old contract expired March 31.

Drivers are asking a substantial 20 cent hourly pay hike during negotiations for a new pact. They also seek fringe benefits including six paid holidays a year and undisclosed insurance benefits. Their present pay is $1.65 an hour.

E. W. Dreasher, transportation superintendent of the company, said earlier the pay request would drive the firm "out of business."

The fourth bargaining session between the union and the company is scheduled for April 17.

Although Sytsma discounted any signs of strike, he did add however, that negotiations are a "long way away from where we have to go."

He declined to say if a strike vote would be taken at an April 17 union meeting if the company-union session proved unsuccessful.

Company officials were out of town and unavailable for comment on the progress of negotiations.

Special Election Registration Deadline Set

Pontiac City Clerk Ada R. Evans announced that April 22 will be the deadline for city voters to register for the May 20 city special election to finance city hospital expansion and a sewage treatment plant.

Voters can register any weekday from 8 a.m. until 5 at the clerk's office in the City Hall, 35 S. Parke St.

Mrs. Evans asks that persons who have moved since the last election report their change of address, and that voters not previously registered here do so before April 22.

Voters will ballot on a $4,550,000 general obligation bond issue to complete and equip the new Pontiac General Hospital, build a 300-unit parking lot there, and finance a new sewage treatment plant. A corresponding one-mill tax increase will be voted on also.

Arthur B. Tyrrell, member of the newly organized council, said civic organizations in the township will be invited to send representatives to the next meeting scheduled for April 23, 7:30 p.m., Waterford Township Hall.

In the future, the council plans to form committees to study the local safety problems.

Others attending the initial meeting were Ronald Holland, Robert D. Prunty, William Sebring, George Scantland, Richard D. Trella, Rowland M. Thompson Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Brown Williams.

Louvre Party Endangers Art Treasures

Mollet Fetes Royal Guests

PARIS (AP)—France's highest society used the Venus de Milo's pedestal for a cocktail table and ancient Greek vases for cigarette butts at the party last night for Queen Elizabeth.

Prince Philip, the Queen's husband, smoking a big Havana cigar, came dangerously close to Raphael's painting of St. Michael.

It all happened at a gala dinner and reception given by Premier Guy Mollet and his Cabinet for the visiting Queen at the Louvre museum. The party lasted into the early hours today.

More than 3,000 guests swarmed around the Queen in efforts to get a close look at her.

The museum's centuries-old statues and paintings probably never witnessed such a celebration. The museum keepers and guards certainly were never so nervous as the buffet guests lit cigarettes while waiting for the Queen to come out of the dining room.

"Can you imagine that!" said one veteran on the staff. "I have never seen anybody smoke inside the museum before. Let's hope they won't start a fire."

The smokers were in good company. Philip left the dining room with his cigar burning. French President Rene Coty had one going too.

The royal procession after coffee set off a rush that deserted the buffet. Tail-coated men helped ladies in bouffant skirts onto 5,000-year-old Egyptian statues to have a better look at the sovereign. The crush almost smothered the Queen, but her smile never wavered.

Elizabeth missed the Venus and most of the masterpieces for which the Louvre is famous. It was just as well. Three museum attendants took turns removing the guests' empty glasses from the armless Greek lady's base; then finally gave up. Neck-craning lookers obscured other statues and paintings. Cigarette ends smoldered in two empty Greek vases.

If the museum surrendered part of its authority over its valuable pieces, it took no chances with possible thieves. A plainclothesman stood outside in the chilly night by each of the 48 windows.

SS Tells Solons 'Vote Money Now for May Grants'

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Social Security Administration says some elderly Americans won't get public assistance checks next month if Congress does not provide more money immediately.

Social Security Administrator Charles I. Shottland told a House appropriations subcommittee that unless Congress gives him some money by April 20, the agency will not be able to process grants for May "and some states will not be able to make assistance payments."

A supplemental appropriation of 275 million dollars for the Agency is tied up in a House-Senate conference over the question of how much money should be given the states for administering the Social Security program.

The House wants to write a limitation into the measure but the Senate is opposed. Both sides agree that the agency should have the 275 million dollars for May and June payments.

Shottland, whose testimony was made public today, termed it a "critical situation."

Medical Staff Ask Intervention

165 Members Oppose Suit Filed by 6 Doctors Against City Hospital

The medical staff at Pontiac General Hospital yesterday filed a plea for intervention into a law suit, filed last month by six of their fellow doctors, which seeks to stop enforcement of certain surgical regulations now in effect at the city hospital.

The 165 doctors, represented by Attorney Harold E. Howlett, seek to show "the grave threat to the community inherent" in the suit filed by the doctors.

A hearing has been granted for April 15, at which time the staff, through its attorney, will attempt to show that it claims an interest in the case.

The six doctors, all general practitioners, filed their suit March 15 claiming the rules and regulations at the hospital "prohibited unrestricted use of their licenses."

A show-cause hearing will be held April 23 at which time Miss Lauretta Paul, hospital director, must show why she shouldn't be enjoined from enforcing the rules. She was named defendant in the suit.

The staff charges in their request that the relief requested in the doctors' suit would mean loss of accreditation of Pontiac General by the Joint Committee on Accreditation of Hospitals.

The plea further states that it would result in the discontinuation of the intern program, and "adversely affect the professional reputation of the hospital and its medical staff."

The staff states that the disputed rules and regulations are "recognized and respected by the medical staff as a suitable and reasonable protection of the health and welfare of the community."

The six charge that only the Michigan State Board of Registration in Medicine can regulate rights of surgeons and physicians to practice in public hospitals.

Attorney Reveals Settlement Terms

Pontiac attorney Bernard Girard today disclosed terms of an out-of-court settlement that resulted in dismissal of charges of brutality against a Pontiac policeman Tuesday.

A $15,000 damage suit against Officer Wayne E. Long was dismissed by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty after payment of $100 to opposing attorneys, Girard said.

This represented an "amicable agreement," Girard said, which led to a motion by attorney Philip E. Rowston to dismiss charges by his client, Clifford A. Mero that Long and another officer had "severely" beaten him and verbally abused him.

"The money did not represent payment of damages but only a settlement that means the suit was dismissed with prejudice in favor of Long and can't be started again," Girard said.

Mero, 21, of 34 W. Columbia charged Long and Patrolman Patrick J. Weaver forced him into their patrol car early Sept. 3, 1955 on the pretext he "was in the wrong part of town."

The Day in Birmingham

Postmaster's New Ruling to Affect Saturday Mail

BIRMINGHAM — Postmaster R. W. Reese said today that unless he hears to the contrary tomorrow, the new mail delivery rulings will go into effect in Birmingham.

Reese said that the post office windows would be closed and all deliveries halted on Saturdays. Collections from drop boxes on Saturday will take on the same schedule as Sunday and holidays.

The Postmaster continued, that, unless the money is forthcoming which Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield has requested, April 15 will mark the curtailment of another postal service. At that time, stamp sales and other "window services" will be operated only eight-and-one-half continuous hours each day.

George Ransford, president of Gleaner Life Insurance Society, is officiating at the 4 p.m. cornerstone ceremonies today at the new office building on North Woodward avenue, designed by O'Dell, Hulett, and Luckenbach. The new million dollar building will house the insurance, accounting and media departments of MacManus, John and Adams, Inc.

The modern structure is incorporating some of the newest in architectural and decorative design. It might well be called "local" enterprise.

The embedded glass concrete slab exterior was supplied by a Royal Oak firm and the grounds are being landscaped by Lawrence Smith of Birmingham.

Among building highlights is the boiler room, where all pipes are in bright contrasting colors, making it possible for maintenance engineers to easily distinguish the various utility lines.

Man Against the Weather

Radar Speed Cop Sights Tornado

(The deadly tornado long has plagued weather forecasters because of its elusiveness. How radar is helping track down this most vicious of all storms is outlined in this third of a series on man's battle against the weather.)

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Weather Bureau is planning a variation of the "radar speed cop" technique in a new attempt to detect tornadoes before their deadly funnels can be seen by the human eye.

The plan is to try to apply to the sleuthing of tornadoes — the most violent of all storms — the same kind of unique radar set that cops use to detect a speeding motorist on the highway. It's called a "doppler effect" radar.

Bureau tornado hunters plan to have the radar ready by June. That's normally the beginning of the maximum tornado season for the central plains area, one of the most tornado-prone sections of the whole country, although twisters have occurred in every state in the nation, and no particular month is immune.

Scientists at Cornell University are modifying the radar for the bureau in this newest electronic attack on the tornadic storms that annually kill an average of 200 Americans (794 in the record death year of 1925) and cause property damage in the high millions.

RECEIVES ECHOES

Whereas conventional-type radar used by the weather forecasters track storms by means of electronic echoes from raindrops in a cloud, the doppler would be used to get echoes from high-speed circular air blasts within or extending sideways from thunderclouds.

That is, it would be a kind of remote-control speedometer for a whirlwind.

Bureau scientists believe the speedier these air blasts are, the more severe the thunderstorm—and if there were some way of clocking them by electronic means, it might be possible to say immediately whether an oncoming storm was: (1) a rain storm; (2) a hail storm; or (3) a potential tornado.

Conventional rain-echo radar has provided some assistance to tornado hunters—especially in detecting storms that might brew them — but bureau men say it's less than perfect as a sure-fire means of identifying tornadoes.

VISIBLE ON RADAR

Occasionally, an air-blast pattern from a thunderhead will emerge as a hook-shaped affair which, because it is laden with moisture, can be seen on a regular radar scope. These hooks have often been characteristic of tornadoes.

But more often than not the air blast may remain within the storm cloud and thus be indistinguishable from echoes given by raindrops.

This circular air-blast, incidentally, is to be distinguished from the rotating funnel-shaped cloud which, in a tornado, extends towards the ground from the base of a thundercloud.

CAUSES HAVOC

It is this funnel-shaped affair which, with its roaring winds, causes the tornado's terrific havoc. Horizontal winds in the column have been estimated as high as 500 miles an hour; the upsurging vertical winds have never been measured.

As distinguished from tornado forecasts, tornado warnings are issued when a twister is actually sighted. So far, the best warning that can be given to pinpoint a specific city or town is about 5 minutes. Thousands of volunteer spotters—from farmers to filling station attendants — contribute to a warning network coordinated by the Weather Bureau. And the bureau has numerous testimonials that the forecast and warning system is paying off in lives saved.

The bureau says that of 512 tornadoes reported in 1956, 305 were in or near areas for which forecasts had been made—a batting average of 60 per cent.

In 1954 there were 196 "hits" out of 514—an average of only 38 per cent.

MORE UNDERSTANDING

Bureau scientists attribute most of the improvement in the last few years to increased understanding of meteorological conditions likely to breed tornadoes.

But they say conventional radar has helped—especially since more radar sets have become available—and there also has been aid from special instruments for measuring "pressure jumps," and from an electronics system called "sferics"—short for atmospherics.

The latter tunes in on lightning strokes. It is the concept of Dr. H. L. Jones of Oklahoma A&M College, who believes that lightning develops from tornado-brewing storms at a much more rapid rate than lightning from other storms.

Stock Graze Happily, Then Bottom Falls Out

FRANKLIN, Ky. (AP) — When week-long rains hit Simpson County, they left Noble Lanier's livestock faced with a long dry spell.

His 1½ acre pond sprang a leak during the downpour and disappeared, the result of a cave-in deep in the soggy underground. All that had remained in the pond, where water had been available for more than 50 years, was 15-feet of mud.

Lanier later plugged the leak in hopes future rains might create a new pond — if the bottom doesn't drop out again.

Less than one-sixth of Scotland is suitable for agriculture.

Singapore Discussions May Lead to Self-Rule

A delegation from Singapore is again in London to negotiate self-rule for Britain's last important base between Cypress and Hong Kong.

Last year a similar group under the then Chief Minister David Marshall failed. At that time it was expected the British possession would be in for a period of intensified Communist activity and disorders.

However, no rioting occurred and now the new chief minister, Lim Yew Hock, a member of the moderate Labor Front, is pleading the colony's case. The able Mr. Lim is an ardent supporter of a democratic solution for Singapore and was most successful last fall in putting down a Communist directed agitation in the schools and factories.

The obstacle to a settlement last year was control of internal security. It was mutually agreed that Britain was to have charge of foreign and external affairs. But the British also wanted to keep the right of intervention within the city in case of serious trouble.

This is understandable because three-fourths of Singapore's population is Chinese, many of whom are sympathetic to Peiping. Now Mr. Lim proposes the creation of a defense and security council consisting of three Britons, three Singaporeans and a representative of the nearby Malayan Federation. It would act in the event of a threat to internal security and could call on the British troops stationed in the colony.

Singapore commands the sea route to the East and the British have spent a great deal of money there. The $170 million naval base alone covers 21 square miles and there are great dry docks and bases.

Surely some agreement will be reached to let the city run its own affairs while protecting it from attack from without or subversion from within.

If You Live Here Know Your State

Throughout Michigan regional, county and local committees are busy this month preparing for the fourth annual Michigan Week, scheduled May 19 to 25.

Michigan Week is a special time set aside in the spring of each year to focus attention on our state—its resources, its heritage, its almost boundless opportunities.

It provides a special occasion for Michigan's seven and a half million citizens to increase their knowledge and appreciation of all that makes Michigan great.

Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland is chairman for Pontiac City, and Thomas F. Wiethorn, manager of the Fisher Body Plant in Pontiac, is general chairman for Oakland County In addition to Pontiac other communities in the county are preparing their own celebrations.

Slogan of the week this year is "It's Great to Live in Michigan" and the symbol a proud, singing 'robin, Michigan's state bird since 1911.

We take the liberty of adding another thought to the official slogan.

"It's Great to Live in Michigan."

It's likewise good and proper to know all you can about your state.

The week of May 19-25 will give us all a chance for a much-needed refresher course.

"Nothing has been accomplished by the many efforts made in recent months to establish peace and goodwill between the Arabs and Israelis," says a commentator. He is mistaken. Less than nothing has been accomplished.

Let's be optimistic, and possibly charitable, and assume there are more honest men among officials of the Teamster's labor union than there are crooks.

Going to Let That Prize Be Won by Somebody Else?

Easy Street: What $250 is a stepping stone to.

"There goes another opportunity." That's what you'll be saying if you don't get your baseball contest entry into The Pontiac Press Office by Saturday NOON of THIS week, April 13, which is only day after tomorrow.

The prize of $250 in U. S. Savings Bonds, the best investment in the world, is given for the nearest correct answer to:

What player who has been at bat at least 25 times will be leading the American League on the night of Friday, April 26 and what will be his batting average?

You can beat yourself out of $250 by not getting your entry in on time. Last year 85 entries were disqualified because they were too late.

Every member of your family is eligible to compete. A minute or two of your time may be worth $250 to you. Or would you rather see one of your neighbors get the prize?

First to report croaking frogs this spring was

Mrs. Marguerite Conover,

who heard a whole chorus Wednesday near her home at Pontiac Lake.

Exactly ten years ago today, according to a letter from residents along Pontiac Creek were cleaning up after one of the worst floods they ever experienced.

Thomas Shipley

of Drayton Plains, who celebrated his 82nd birthday on Jan. 31.

In a neck and neck run for leading the entries in our baseball contest are the trio of but they're being crowded by a couple of others. What do you think?

One of the 40 winners in a national photography contest is

Jane Booth,

14-year-old Rochester girl, who submitted a picture of her cat.

It comes to my attention that

Mrs. Merle Kinney,

now postmaster at Dryisburg, is a great-great-granddaughter of

Cornelius Davis

who in 1836 was the first settler there and started the post office.

We're in absolute agreement with a letter from which says that the beautifully printed seed catalogs are the only thing that can fool an otherwise credulous person year after year.

A Home Away From Home

Ike Unruffled by Criticism

WASHINGTON—What a sensible philosophy Dwight Eisenhower seems to have about criticism directed at him — and there has been plenty of it lately. Much of it is petty and of the sniping sort and much of it is ill-disguised partisanship.

LAWRENCE

But Eisenhower is not ruffled by it. What he said to his press conference this week reveals so much tolerance, good nature and wise understanding that the exact words he used are worth repeating. He said:

"I think I am old enough and philosophical enough to try to separate the personal attacks from those that are honest differences of opinion and conviction. The latter I respect, and the first I ignore. And that is the way I try to conduct my life, because I have just got one thing to do — to do my duty. That is what I am trying to do."

The subject came up because the reporters, many of them as usual interested in the trivial gibes and sneers that come from partisans on Capitol Hill, try to obtain the President's reaction to them on the theory that this is news of more importance to their readers than anything else nowadays.

MORE IMPORTANT

Partisan squabbles are important sometimes, but nowadays there would seem to be things far more important than how the President likes the scolding he got because his chauffeur exceeded the speed limit or whether a helicopter procured to move the President quickly from the White House to an airport might also be used once in a while to transport him to a golf course.

One would think that some of the critics believe the American people begrudge the President an opportunity to maintain his health by regular exercise.

But aside from the efforts to provoke party fights and rifts inside his administration, the questions at the press conferences do reflect to no small extent the Stevenson-Truman viewpoint about the administration. There is no reason why this shouldn't be reflected in the press conferences, but it seems passing strange that some of the affirmative or more positive developments in the world scene get little or no attention at all.

Thus, just a little less than six months have gone by since the whole world was fearful that the military action taken by the British and the French at Suez would lead to a more serious conflagration. Today the Suez Canal is open and there is no war. The issues have by no means been resolved, but they are being tackled by negotiation and through the inexorable moral force that must be applied if a world war is to be prevented.

There is peace today. American boys are not being drafted for battle. Prices aren't being controlled and materials are not being allocated or wages frozen. The national economy is moving along and the American people, while not entirely relieved of their worries in the international situation, are not on the verge of having their personal and business affairs disrupted.

It is a cause for congratulation, in which the British and French people can share. For they also have been saved the horrors of a big war. True enough Nasser hasn't yielded, but there is reason to believe that he is far from certain himself that he is the victor, as so many news articles describe him to be.

PEACE POSSIBLE

Time and patience can bring a peaceful result in the Middle East. It is the Soviet government's turn to worry, as it writes more and more notes complaining about the overseas bases of the western powers.

This is the broad picture of world affairs—and by no means an unimportant one—but the President's press conference this week didn't reveal a single question about the state of affairs ushered in by the reopening of the Suez Canal. Maybe peace isn't interesting and only friction makes news.

Criticism of Eisenhower or of any president is logical and desirable but, when it is filled with personal innuendoes and efforts designed to give the impression that the President either lacks integrity or fidelity to his job, it goes too far. That is why Eisenhower's own temperate reaction to all this is a salutary example of self-restraint and tolerance.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

And Jesus said, Are ye also yet without understanding? — Matthew 15:16.

★ ★ ★

It is the same with understanding as with eyes; to a certain size and make, just so much light is necessary, and no more. Whatever is beyond brings darkness and confunion.—Shaftesbury.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Skin Can't Absorb Poison, but You Can Inhale It

Many medical authorities of yesteryear flatly asserted or implied that this or that food, chemical, medicine, or poison may be absorbed through the unbroken skin.

★ ★ ★

There are on record numerous reports of serious or fatal poisoning from arsenic solution spilled over the feet, from spilling nicotine solution on the clothing and failing to change the clothing immediately, from applying a poinsonous shoe dye to shoes on the feet, from prolonged use of hair dye containing lead, or from careless handling of tetraethyl lead (anti-knock) gasoline.

DR. BRADY

In all of these instances, I am confident—cocksure, if you like—that whatever poisoning occurred was from inhalation of the poison, not from absorption through the skin.

Even though I claim nothing is absorbed through the unbroken skin, various liniments or embrocations are, nevertheless, good remedies. Spirit of camphor or camphor liniment (camphorated oil) may give considerable relief when applied to the chest, for bronchitis; over the brow for neuralgia; over the bridge of the nose for coryza.

MAKE IT YOURSELF

Camphor liniment (camphorated oil) is made by dissolving about two ounces (three heaping tablespoonsful) of gum camphor, coarsely powdered, in enough olive oil or cottonseed oil to fill a pint bottle. Add to camphor liniment a little aromatic spirit of ammonia (an ounce to the pint) to make a good rubbing liniment to relieve or prevent muscle soreness or stiffness.

How can these external applications have any effect if they are not inhaled? Who says they are not inhaled?

Aside from the perhaps insignificant amount of camphor or ammonia inhaled when volatilized by the body's warmth, these and numerous other agents applied externally are more or less irritating or rubefacient and so they act as counter-irritants.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

LIL ONES

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Complaint About Youth Is Age-Old

How many of you agree with Prof. S.? Better save this case record for discussion at PTA or church meetings, for it is most enlightening. And never grow pessimistic about the future of mankind. Human beings can adapt wonderfully to changing external conditions.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-352: Prof. S., aged 70, has this to say about youth:

"The children now love luxury. They have bad manners and contempt for authority.

CRANE

"Children are now tyrants, not the servants of their households. They no longer rise when their elders enter the room.

"They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up the dainties at the table, cross their legs and tyrannize over their teachers."

A great many of you readers may agree with this criticism of modern young people.

For Prof. S. is Socrates, famous Greek philosopher who lived from 469 to 399 B.C.

It closely parallels yesterday's lament by the old man in Babylon perhaps 2,000 years before the birth of Socrates.

For every generation since Adam has always looked back to its childhood as the golden age.

Adam was probably the only grandpa who didn't boast about his youth, for Adam apparently had no childhood. And neither did Eve.

So their children were the only teenagers in human history who escaped the reiterated refrain, "Now when I was your age, etc. etc."

PSYCHOLOGY ETERNAL

Chemists and engineers and astronomers are offering us some very new inventions. The world seems to be careening along at terrific speed and many folks worry as to whether mankind can stand the new tempo of living.

Don't worry about that. Whether you travel from New York to San Francisco in 60 minutes or in the 100 days it took by horseback in pioneer times, always reassure yourself of these facts:

People still get hungry three times per day and require their starch and carbohydrates.

They are still just as eager for love and affection. And a "lingering" kiss is still in demand despite the swifter tempo of transportation.

Moreover, we still run the gamut of the same emotions that troubled Adam and Eve, as the latter stood grieving at the death of Abel.

Nobody is interested in dashing through a wedding or a funeral service in 60 seconds just because we are now in the age of rocket ships.

The eternal verities still exist. Religion and morality and charity and music are just as vital as they ever were.

For man's psychology remains the same. His external tools may alter and the tempo of travel may accelerate.

GOD'S SCHOOL ROOM

Earth is apparently at least one of God's school rooms. The Almighty surrounded us with scientific laws and placed innumerable raw materials around us to insure us a more abundant life.

★ ★ ★

But weeds still are a farmer's great foe. And similar psychological "weeds" slow down our spiritual growth.

For the mobs that have arisen regarding desegregation of schools and the racial bias against certain foreign nations, are as vicious today as they were in the age of Socrates.

But we are learning to control inner psychological forces and channel them more productively, just as we likewise are steering atomic energy for human betterment. So take heart.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Who Can Blame Anyone for Moving Out of State?

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

How many taxpayers know the total outstanding public debt in Michigan—state and local—is over one billion, six hundred million dollars? (Compiled by Leigh H. Thomas of the Legislative Audit and Appropriation Committee as of Jan. 1.)

Sounds like we should pay our debts—not increase our expenses.

Who can blame anyone for not wanting to move in and assume his share of this debt? Who can blame anyone for moving out of this state to avoid such a burden?

'Out-of-Towners Shop in Pontiac'

Sometimes it takes an outsider to call your attention to the obvious. While talking to some Birmingham people about shopping, I was interested to hear them say they really enjoy coming to Pontiac to shop. Besides enjoying the stores, they commented on the exceptional service they've had in dealings with Pontiac businessmen, in contrast to poor service they seem to find elsewhere. Maybe Pontiac folks should take a better look at things right around home.

Woman Reflects on Wyatt Family

When I think of the slow, painful efforts through the ages to accomplish more humanity of man toward his fellow man, I think of the Wyatts. We can get along without our great intellect, and most of us do, but we can't get along without our emotions. I know of the tears and sorrow as well as wild campaigns it takes to stir up prejudices, and I hope someday to understand all the elements it takes to constitute a personality capable of committing atrocities of which Mrs. Wyatt is accused. I think of the attorney who defended her because he believes all men are entitled to defense under our Constitution, and I like to remember that every step in the progress of the world, in reference to crime, has come from human feelings of man.

'Should Cut Speed of President's Car'

I'm glad the newspapers printed the facts about President Eisenhower's speeding automobiles. I had some friends in Washington in the motor division and Eisenhower isn't the first President who has driven too rapidly too often.

The chief man of the nation has no business doing that for two reasons. First, he has no right to jeopardize his own life. He owes that to the 170,000,000 million people he represents. Secondly, of all people, he should obey the safety laws first.

FEDERAL DEPT. STORES - SAGINAW AT WARREN, PONTIAC OPEN MON THURS FRI SATURDAY NIGHTS TO 9

Bob Considine Says:

Cancer Crusaders March Onward

ALLENHURST, N. J. (INS)—All over the United States, in places as small as this fine little borough and in boroughs as large as Brooklyn, people like my neighbor Hazel Dickson are knocking on hearts—collecting contributions to the American Cancer Society.

It is not easy work. People have taxes to worry about, grocery bills, school bills.

Other Hazel Dicksons have been around to speak for the Heart Fund, polio, Community Chest, arthritis, nephritis, Boys Clubs, and all the other fine works of charity and do-good. The Hazel Dicksons are running into some closed doors. But being people of good spirit, they persevere.

Their battle to meet a quota is a reflection of a bigger, dramatic crusade — the work these people are endeavoring to underwrite. Cancer yields its secrets with sullen reluctance, taking a savage toll along its path of retreat.

Those who have lived with a cancer victim can find no real solace in the occasional, heavily guarded laboratory progress reports. Only a St. Lo breakthrough, the rupture of a Siegfried Line, the seizure of a Rhine bridge—in the medical research sense—could stir them.

As for the victim himself, who can plumb the depths of his doubt or scale the peaks of his numb hope?

TO FEEL IMPACT

Only when one looks back as many as 20 years can the impact of the inroads science has made against cancer be felt properly. In 1937 three out of every four cancer patients died. Period.

It was not a field of research the young scientist was likely to embrace with an enthusiasm. Newspapers avoided the word. Obits said "died of a lingering illness."

Only a limited number of people then knew the symptoms of cancer: Unusual bleeding or discharge, a lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere, a sore that does not heal, persistent change in bowel or bladder habits, persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing, or change in a wart or mole.

Cure rates — through improved surgery and radiation—have risen 33 per cent in the past decade. Surgeons now do things unheard of before World War II.

They can remove the stomach, a lung, all the organs of the pelvis, part of a liver, the vital adrenal glands, even the master gland, the tiny pituitary at the base of the brain—when these are sources of cancer.

They can paint the area from which a tumor has been removed with cancer-destroying nitrogen mustard, or flood the site with radioactive colloidal gold which can destroy stray cancer cells which might be escaping.

LIFE RESTORED

More powerful rays can reach the innermost recesses of the body, guided by beacon-like radioactive isotopes. Life in terminal cases cases has been restored fully, if temporarily, with hormones of bewildering origin and, conversely, by the removal of hormone-producing glands.

Drugs, once scoffed at, have proved they can cure certain experimental cancers in animals — completely. Drs. Margaret Reed Lewis and Boland Hughes of the University of Pennsylvania inject lethal lymphatic cancers in two rates. One dies in three weeks. The other, fed quinolinium, gets well with no after-effects.

Men and women work 'round-the-clock, at heavy cost, with natural and synthetic hormones and vitamins, antibotics, antimitotics, antimetabolites, poison gases, bacterial products, soil specimens from the ocean floor, and mountain heights, herbs, organ extracts, made-to-order molecules, and viruses galore.

The mighty dream, in the latter case, is to produce a virus which lives only on cancer cells and which will roam through the patient's body seeking out the cancers and demolishing them, as other viruses attend to other diseases.

Some have been isolated which kill cancers in chickens, but then kill the chicken, but that is a form of progress.

Finally, there is sleepless research in quest of a vaccine.

The Salk of cancer has not emerged from the shadows of the lab. But there were those in polio work who despaired of ever seeing him, too. Yet he appeared, just as surely as will the Hazel Dicksons who seek to enlist you in a great work.

BIRTHSTONES

4. Ruby, Peridot and Sardonyx

July's birthstone is the ruby — a stone that ancient Hindus once called the "gem of gems."

The Hindus prized it because they believed the wearer would be warned of approaching danger by the stone's losing its bright red color.

In ancient times Indian rajahs possessed gems, including rubies, by the bucketful and had cloaks and scarves covered with them. Here is an Indian rajah for you to color. He wears a beautiful ruby in his turban and one in the hilt of his dagger.

The birthstone for August is the peridot, or the sardonyx. If you were born in August, you can take your choice.

The peridot is a lovely pale transparent stone of light olive green. The darker the green, the more valuable the stone.

The sardonyx has bands of brown and white.

In early days, rulers wore many jewels as a sign of high position and wealth, and Queen Elizabeth I of England was one of them. The Queen is shown here wearing one of the jeweled gowns for which she was famous.

Mailmen to Get Three-Wheelers

Postal Dept. Orders 1,500 Vehicles to Aid Bicycle, Foot Carriers

LINCOLN, Neb., (INS) — Some 1,500 U. S. Mailmen who currently cover their routes by bicycle or on foot are going to get a break.

The "break" is the "Mailster," a three-wheel motor vehicle manufactured by the Cushman Motor Works, Inc., of Lincoln, Neb.

The General Services Administration, for the U.S. Post Office Department, has placed a $1.4 million order with Cushman for 1,500 of the vehicles for use in post offices in the Southeast, Southwest and California. For two years, the Post Office has been experimenting with 300 of the machines in Florida cities.

Powered by a four-cycle air-cooled aluminum head engine, the vehicle features a tough fiber glass enclosed cargo body and cab.

It has a large safety glass windshield, complete with electric windshield wiper, and two smaller triangular windows on either side. There also are two rear windows.

Side curtains and removable canvas front apron insure the carrier complete protection for himself and the mail during foul weather.

Almost 40 cubic feet of storage space for mail and parcel post is provided in the Mailster's cargo section. A special shelf arrangement, placed forward of the operator, is designed to hold "working" mail.

Personnel gradually returned but no one was happy and visitors were brief. Complete relief was not obtained until chemical warefare was taken beneath the floor boards.

Lawyer Finds Clients on Both Sides of Case

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Attorney John H. Gately found himself in a "most unusual situation" in a court case here. He had one client too many.

Gately was representing Luther Alto Robbins. He found he had the case, too, of Jerome H. Duchon Jr. Cars belonging to Robbins and Duchon were involved in a highway accident.

Gately, a bit red faced, told Justice of the Peace H. C. McShane he didn't realize his clients were on opposite sides of the same accident. The judge permitted Gately to withdrew.

The oompah of the tuba is disappearing from South Africa's music world, Johnnessburg reports. Only in Army brass bands does it still find a place.

Are You Scared of Anesthesia?

Sleep - Inducing Drugs Less Risk Than Driving Car, Says Experts

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Of all the words that patients mutter under the effects of anesthesia, doctors report that the one most commonly heard is "mama."

Describing the various stages and effects of anesthesia, a national magazine reveals that doctors and nurses in the operating room, while paying little attention to the unconscious ramblings of their sleeping patients, must be careful

Many a surgeon has been flabbergasted after an operation to censor to their own conversations. have the patient say, "I heard everything you said, doctor," and repeat some incautious remark.

Modern anesthesia, actually exposes you to less risk than you run behind the wheel of your car. With 10,000 Americans making the trip every year, the route is well marked.

Stage one is called analgesia or that "don't-give-a-darn" stage. It begins in the patient's room and somewhat approximates the feeling of having drunk two or three fast cocktails. This, of course, is to relax the patient for what is to follow.

Stage two takes place on the operating table with the introduction of sodium penthothal or another appropriate sleep inducer.

This stage is comparable to the boisterous stage of drunkenness. The way a person reacts depends on the kind of person he is.

Drunk Driver Almost Ruins Cab Company

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A visiting motorist almost put the St. Helen's Cab Co. out of business.

He ran off the road and into a parking lot. The car struck the rear of a cab, jamming it into another, then veered to the right and hit the side of a third cab. It in turn struck a fourth cab.

The accident put four of the company's seven cabs out of commission and sent the visitor to jail on charges of drunken driving, public drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Bay State Plans Water Survey

Appoints Commission to Inventory Resources Above Ground, Below

BOSTON (INS)—With traditional Yankee thrift, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts is going to take a complete inventory of its water resources above and below the ground.

The Bay State expects to learn just how much water will be available in the future for industry, for play, and for life itself.

Preliminary estimates indicate such a survey will cost about $1,000 per square mile for below-surface explorations. The survey will be spread over 25 years.

A Water Resources Commission, modeled upon recommendations by the Presidential Advisory Committee on Water Resources Policy, was set up.

Six of the nine members of the Commission have, in the nature of their jobs, different views as to which water problems are the most important.

The chairman is the Commissioner of Natural Resources. His primary concern is to preserve water and prevent erosion.

Then there is the Commissioner of Public Works. He usually wants to get rid of water as quickly as possible.

The chairman of the Metropolitan District Commission worries mostly about the distribution of water, sewage and playgrounds.

The Commissioner of Commerce wants to attract industry and develop recreational facilities and tourist attractions.

There are three public members, representing those who use water and are concerned with the harnessing of watersheds.

Their Yuletide Lasts All Year

Workers Make Items to Be Used at Christmas 2 Years From Now

Mention Christmas to a friend one of these days and you'll be greeted by a quizzical look. After all, it's months away.

But today is Christmas for thousands of working men and women in one of America's most interesting specialized industries — the designing and manufacture of Christmas gift-wrapping paper and supplies. In factories from Massachusetts to California, these people actually work year 'round to make the coming Yule season brighter and gayer for 170,000,000 fellow citizens.

Oddly enough, some of them right now are working on Christmas, 1958. Colors and patterns for gift wrappings change with consumer preferences, and they must be decided upon more than a year in advance. That's to allow time for making engravings, printing, packing and shipping the products to the warehouse and store "back rooms" from which they'll move on to retail counters in time for the Yuletide shopping spree.

Perhaps the most significant recent development in styling and design of gift wrap papers has been a trend to more religious subject matter. Last year Americans bought sizable quantities of wrappings showing such subjects as the Three Wise Men, churches, angels, and the Holy Night scene.

RELIGIOUS THEMES

"The trend to religious themes will continue this coming Christmas, and is figuring importantly in our design work for Christmas, 1958," says one member.

Humane Society Buys Hi-Fi Set for Its Pets

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Music is going to the dogs — and the cats — and any other animal at the Wisconsin Humane Society Shelter.

A hi-fi system, paid for and installed by society people, has been put into operation "to help quiet the animals and give them a more relaxed, homey atmosphere."

"Of course," a spokesman added, "it also will help relax visitors and employes."

Driver Produces Baby in Court as Speed Alibi

OMAHA, Nebr. (AP) — A motorist charged with driving while his license was suspended and leaving the scene of a property-damage accident brought a 10 pound alibi to traffic court and won dismissal of his case.

He pleaded he was rushing his wife to a hospital when his car struck another. Offered as an exhibit to substantiate the alibi was a new daughter, born a few hours after the accident.

Judge James O'Brien cleared the motorist of the charges, saying the dismissal was a gift to the mother.

Cabbie Learns Lesson

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Robert Rich will turn a deaf ear to future back seat scraps between passengers in his taxicab. He learned his lesson when he picked up two women. When the women started fighting, Rich attempted to intervene. They quickly forgot their own difference and attacked Rich. Shortly thereafter, the cabbie turned up at a hospital with teeth marks in his right ear.

Pair Accused of Spying Plead Guilty in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A New York couple arrested on spy charges pleaded guilty yesterday to a count carrying a maximum prison term of 10 years.

The couple, Jack Soble and his wife Myra, pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiring with Russian nationals to obtain documents and other material relating to U.S. defense.

They had been indicted also on a charge of conspiring to transmit to the Soviet Union secret information vital to U.S. defense. The maximum penalty for this is death.

Soble, 53, and his wife, 52, stood pale and motionless before U.S. Dist. Judge Richard H. Levet as their plea was entered by their attorney.

They were indicted, along with Jacob Albam, 64, on six counts. One count, conspiring to transmit to the Soviet Union secret information vital to U.S. defense, carries a death penalty on conviction.

The government did not say immediately whether it intends to prosecute the Sobels on the other five counts.

Judge Levet scheduled the Sobles' sentencing for May 3 on the charge to which they pleaded guilty.

When the Sobles' attorney informed the judge that they wished to make the plea, Soble reached out one hand toward his wife. The judge asked them:

"Do you understand the significance of such a plea and the possible sentence which may accrue?"

"Yes, we do," the Sobles answered in unison.

"Have you been promised by the U.S. attorney's office or anyone else anything in return for the giving of that plea?"

"No," the couple answered together in a loud voice.

Their attorney told reporters that the couple told him they "wanted to recapture their souls for the first time since they came to this country" in 1941. Both were natives of Soviet-dominated territory.

"The motivating factor was the long arm of Russia," said the attorney, who added that indications were that the Sobles "were unwilling tools of the Soviets, forced to do its bidding."

Their attorney also indicated that the couple would be "cooperative" in the government's continuing investigation of espionage.

"They had a burden they wanted to get rid of. They told me they wanted to recapture their souls for the first time since they came to this country," their attorney said.

"They were anguished individuals, suffering intensely from experiences they had gone through before they emigrated to this country and since."

Soble and Albam were born in Lithuania. Mrs. Soble was born in Russia. The Sobles' son, Lawrence, 17, was born in Lithuania.

The Sobles entered the United States on visas issued in Kobe, Japan, in 1941, and became citizens in 1947.

Soble recently underwent more than three weeks of psychiatric examination at Bellevue Hospital. Only yesterday Judge Levet pronounced him capable of standing trial with his wife and Albam. The judge had set May 22 for the start of their trial.

In addition to the 10-year prison term, each of the Sobles could receive a fine up to $10,000.

The Sobles' son, shocked and dismayed by his parents' arrest, told reporters at the time he was unable to believe his mother and father were members of a Soviet spy ring as claimed by authorities.

Ethiopia Free for 2,000 Years

Rich Soil, Rain Produce 2 Crops Yearly; Wealth in Metals, Water

WASHINGTON—Ethiopia, mountainous and isolated on the northeast shoulder of Africa, boasts one of the world's oldest traditions of independence. Italy's brief, six-year conquest that ended in 1941 marks the only break in more than 2,000 years of Ethiopian sovereignty.

The African kingdom has an equally ancient tradition of Christianity, having embraced the Coptic form in 330 A.D., says the National Geographic Magazine.

The heart of the country is a high and rugged plateau, rising in individual peaks to heights up to 15,000 feet and dropping to deep gorges through which torrential rivers flow. Along such a ravine the Blue Nile rushes from its source on Lake Tana on a winding course that brings life-giving water to the Sudan and Egypt.

The capital, Addis Ababa, is a hodgepodge of old and new. Limousines honk at sheep herded through the city of 400,000 residents.

Ethiopia's extensive tablelands make the nation a farming paradise. It ranks with the American middle West and the Russian Ukraine as among the earth's most fertile regions. Rich soil combines with abundant rainfall to produce two crops a year. Ethiopia, along with the United States, is one of the few nations to enjoy a food surplus.

Coffee is the leading export. A particularly well regarded variety from the Province of Kaffa may even have given the beverage its name.

Experts believe that Ethiopia possesses an almost unlimited industrial potential. In addition to sizable uranium deposits, coal, copper, tin, gold and other minerals have been discovered. But the nation's single most promising resource is hydroelectric power, presently being surveyed with the aid of the International Bank.

Reb General Ordered Attack in Underwear

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP) — Edwin C. Bearss (cq), historian at Vicksburg National Military Park, says he has uncovered a new story of confederate Gen. Thomas (Stonewall) Jackson which he has been unable to authenticate but which he is reasonably certain is true.

The story:

After successfully repulsing a Federal drive at Fredericksburg, Va., Dec. 13, 1862, Jackson proposed a night attack, relatively rare in those days.

"But," an aide said, "in the darkness, how will we be able to distinguish our men from the enemy?"

Council Picks Up Check for Local Seeing Eyes

JANESVILLE, WIS. (AP) — Never did the old maxim about putting money where your mouth is come closer to a direct hit than upon the Janesville city fathers after they adopted a resolution to issue licenses free to the city's guide dogs for the blind.

The action taken, the councilmen were informed that the licenses were outside their jurisdiction. Strictly county business.

Optician Can't Close Shop for New Babies

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Five years ago optician Robert S. Valent put a sign in the window of his office. It read "Closed for Day — Wife has Twins."

Two years ago another sign appeared — "Closed for Half a Day — Wife has Only One Baby This Time."

The other day the latest message appeared — "Closed for an extra hour at lunch time to see wife and baby. Can't afford to close for any longer with four children to maintain."

Work has started on a turbine factory at Larne, County Antirm, Northern Ireland, to cost $22,400,000 and employ over 300 workers.

New Plastic Package Protects Cheese, Meat

CLEVELAND — A new transparent plastic material has been developed by a Cleveland company for use in packaging such air-sensitive products as luncheon meats and cheese.

★ ★ ★

No discoloration can occur in such items packed in the material, the manufacturer claims, and no airborne bacteria can develop inside the package.

Plant Spending Rises

NEW YORK — A recent business survey indicates that capital expenditures for new plants and equipment in the United States totaled some 39 billion dollars in 1956, an increase of 30 per cent over expenditures for such purposes in 1955.

Drogheda claims to be the most rat-free area of Erie, following a squad effort against rats by its "Pied Piper," health inspector J. J. Maguire.

Big Job for 'Peewee'

NEW YORK — A tiny electronic device about the size of a penny box of matches has been developed to aid in controlling deadly supersonic guided missiles. Yet 6,000 of these devices together would require less electricity than is required to light a 60-watt lamp.

A little girl from the lonely isle, Tristan de Cunha, needing dental treatment, has been taken 2,000 miles to Cape Town on a Navy frigate.

Sight Tests Successful

NEW YORK — Free vision tests offered by several hospitals recently were taken by more than 2,000 New Yorkers in a five-day period. Half the people tested were advised to get glasses.

Canary Islands Charm Tourists

Ancient, Modern Mix on City Streets; Noted for Flower Festivals

WASHINGTON — The ill winds that banged shut the Suez Canal gateway blew more shipping to Spain's "Fortunate Isles," the Canaries, off the opposite coast of Africa in the Atlantic.

Las Palmas, the islands' chief port, is a busy fueling station even in normal times. Lately, it has been besieged by vessels — from tramps to luxury liners—forced to detour around the tip of Africa.

Since Columbus put in there on his first voyage of discovery in 1492, Las Palmas has been a favorite stopping point for world-ranging skippers, says the National Geographic Society.

More than 6,000 ships, carrying about a quarter of a million pas-Palmas. The port also is served by an airport that may handle up to 18 flights on a busy day of the peak winter season.

Vacationists in recent years have discovered the Canaries' charms in climate, scenery, and the low prices of customs - free ports. An American artists' colony is reported developing at Las Palmas.

ACCENTS FROM AFRICA

The city itself takes its culture and customs from the Spanish motherland, 640 miles away. Architecture recalls that of southern Spain, with African accents in flat roofs and dazzling-white, sun-heated walls.

In the streets, women in Spanish mantillas and market girls with baskets on their heads, brush against foreigners in latest Paris sportswear. Moroccan troops strut in blue sashes and red fezzes. Expensive cars and venerable taxis pass donkey, goat carts, and farmer-driven cows delivering milk directly from producer to consumer.

Behind the color and variety of Las Palmas lie the two basic factors of Canary economy — a volcanic soil that is highly productive where adequate water exists, and an equable and delightful climate. Nature's bounty put "fortune" in the Fortunate Isles' nickname.

Las Palmas and its rival port, Santa Cruz on near-by Tenerife, export bananas, tomatoes, and vegetables. Increasing tourist trade brings additional income, for which both Gran Canaria and Tenerife compete.

But the islands' liveliest rivalry is over the creation of living carpets of geraniums, dahlias, lilies, and roses that cover streets of Las Palmas and other cities during the annual summer festival of Corpus Christi.

Then housewives, fishermen, priests, doctors, schoolteachers, and civil servants take personal and civic pride in shaping cartloads of petals into religious figures, and floral and geometric patterns—destined for a brief hour of glory before being swept away by street cleaners.

Buys Full-Page Ad to Mark Anniversary

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP) — Haywood Waters, a print shop employe, celebrated his 15th wedding anniversary by buying a full page, $120 ad in a weekly newspaper.

A heart was centered on the page and underntath it this message:

"Today marks a very important time for me. For it was on this day 15 years ago that my wonderful wife Margaret was married to me . . . These 15 years have been the happiest, fullest, most joyful that any man could hope for. My love for you Margaret has multiplied a thousand times and . . . the years ahead promise even greater love. Happy Anniversary, Margaret."

Said Mrs. Waters, "He sure is sweet."

'Lone Star' Lawmakers Star in Busy-Bee Frolic

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas House of Representatives held a busy 45-minute session recently. In formally approved resolutions, the House:

1. Wished Rep. Louis Anderson a happy birthday; 2. Congratulated the Baylor University football team on winning the Sugar Bowl game; 3. Wished Miss Wanda Gann of Waco good luck in a TV appearance; 4. Defeated a proposal that 35 cents found under the speaker's desk go to the Appropriations Committee; 5. Gave the 35 cents to Uncle Henry, the House porter; and 6. Adjourned.

Tale of Hector's Tail — and Washing Machine

LISBON, Ohio (AP) — Maybe Mrs. William Vaughn and her neighbor Robert Adkin in East Liverpool didn't invent washing machines, but as far as Hector, the Persian cat is concerned, they share responsibility.

★ ★ ★

Hector's tail got caught in the gears of Mrs. Vaughn's washing machine. When she tried to free him, Hector let her have it with his claws. Then Adkins tried. Same result.

★ ★ ★

O. E. Scott, city dog warden, finally got Hector loose. From past experience, Scott uses leather gloves.

Honey Bees Practice Share and Share Alike

BOSTON — Experiments have shown that a single sample of sugar or nectar brought into a beehive by a forager is participated in by all the members of a family—all progeny of a queen—which may number more than 50,000 individual bees.

Thus all get essentially the same diet and acquire a common odor by which they can recognize each other. This odor consitutes a "scent language" which is a basis of the extremely complex social life among bees.

New Zealand's population was 2,164,755 at the end of 1955. Auckland, its metropolis, expects population of 400,000 by May, 1958.

Bandit Looks Familiar

BALTIMORE (AP) — It had been many years but the two women employes of the self-service laundry thought they recognized the holdup man.

Mrs. Edith Dedmon and Miss Cora Nickens turned out to be right. Benjamin J. Plater Jr., 29, charged with the robbery, was the fellow they had gone to Booker T. Washington Junior High School with about 15 years ago.

Polio Fight Gave Power to FDR

Late President Learned Compassion, Patience From Hardship

NEW YORK, N.Y. — The dreaded disease—polio—did not make the difference between Franklin Delano Roosevelt becoming President or not. But it may well have made the difference as to the kind of President he became.

"Fighting polio, Roosevelt developed a new power, a new sympathy, a new self control," says Pulitzer Prize winner Arthur Schlesinger Jr. "He was able to enlarge his compassion and deepen his understanding."

Schlesinger, who is one of America's most vigorous and important social historians, draws a sensitive portrait of FDR—from his years of despair after he was first stricken with polio—to his moment of triumph and hope on the day of his inauguration as President.

It was not that polio "made" Franklin Roosevelt, says the author in a recent article, but that he learned much in the arts of patience and perspective. When asked in later years whether things ever got him down, he would reply: "If you had spent two years in bed trying to wiggle your toes—anything else would seem easy."

During his convalescence, even the sense of being a cripple began to recede from FDR. Those about him lost all consciousness of his infirmity. When stories amused him, he would exclaim: "It's as funny as a crutch," or when he wanted to end a visit, "I'm sorry I have to run," or, "I just got out of bed on the wrong foot this morning."

Russia Claims Drills Superior to America's

MOSCOW (AP) — Petroleum engineers claim a new improvement on Russia's turbo-drills which American experts tested and found superior to those now used in American drilling. The lower and upper sections of the drills are now joined at an angle of two degrees instead of vertically.

The result, says engineer A. A. Movsumov, who proposed the change, is greater ease in sinking inclined wells and to make changes in the direction and curvature of well shafts.

Patrons Become Heated

QUINCY, Ill. (AP) — Fire department crews answering an alarm at the 606 Club tavern were told that there had been a fight and that the fire alarm number was dialed by mistake.

Emerald Isle Is Best Vacation Buy

SHANNON AIRPORT — That articulate Irishman, George Bernard Shaw, once wrote: "There is no magic like that of Ireland. There are no skies like Irish skies. There is no air like Irish air."

★ ★ ★

Today, there is no holiday like an Irish holiday — when it comes to cost, color and comfort. The Emerald Isle, as most travel agents agree, is one of the best vacation buys in Europe.

Ten dollars a day covers luxury travel with a guide anywhere from Blarney Castle to the glens of Antrim, first-class hotels, hearty meals and trips.

Nearest European point to the United States, Ireland is less than 2,000 miles from the Newfoundland coast, another 1,000 down the line from Boston — headquarters of its early emigrants. The 10-hour flying time from New York will be cut almost in half with the arrival of the jet age in 1959. The island is also accessible via transatlantic steamer through the port of Cobh. The flight time from London is just over an hour, and just under three hours from Paris.

The tourist who prefers to travel by rail will find fast new diesel-electric trains with restaurant cars operating from Dublin to all major centers.

A $20 Thrift Tour Ticket, valid for 1,000 miles of travel on Irish or British railways, means a considerable saving. The ticket, unobtainable abroad, must be purchased from a travel agent in the United States.

Those who want to move about at their own pace will find it a simple matter to rent a car. A small auto with a dainty appetite for gasoline costs $3.30 a day plus five cents a mile. Traffic is to the left, as in England, and there is room on the road for everybody.

BEST BET

The best bet, however, for travelers who want to forget details and economize is an organized port Company, called C.I.E. The circle tour starts off Sunday mornings from Dublin, heading north through the historic Valley of Boyne to Belfast. After sightseeing in this great city of ships and linen, the drive continues along the lovely Antrim coast to the Giant's Causeway, stretching north as far as the Isle of Skye in Scotland.

The journey turns south from the pirate coves near Portrush through rugged Donegal to Sligo, the region immortalized by Yeats. The road from Sligo to Mulrany skirts the sandy coast. The gem of the district is heather-covered Achill Island with its subtropical gardens. On the way south to Galway is Knock Shrine, the Irish Lourdes, famous for remarkable cures.

Galway is Leenane, one of Ireland's best fishing and mountain climbing resorts. South through Limerick lie the poetic glens, loughs and cairns of Killarney, where tourists cruise on the lakes and do the famous ring of Kerry by jaunting cart.

Like thousands of Irishmen before them, tourists in Cork stop off to kiss the Blarney Stone.

The products of Ireland are as much a bargain for visitors as hotels and sightseeing facilities. Heavy Irish tweed in a variety of colors runs $3 a yard. A blackthorn shillelagh is a good souvenir at $2. Selective shoppers will also find a variety of bargains in Limerick lace, Waterford glass, old Irish silver, Belleek china and Arklow pottery.

SEE NO EVIL — Chimpanzee, right, tried to throw a right cross but succeeded more in preventing his opponent from seeing what's up in the annual Shrine Circus at Medinah Temple in Chicago. Battling for the title of "Chimp Champ," the sluggers had spectators roaring. They had their own simian handlers, two of whom carried the loser out. Chimps are members of the Bertram Mills Troupe.

Coin Collecting Very Old Hobby

Rarity, Beauty, Interest, Condition Are Factors to Determine Value

WASHINGTON — Some persons work hard to collect money they don't need and can't spend.

To them a Lincoln head penny can be worth $120. Confederate dollars more valuable than United States bills; and apparently plain old nickel worth $6,500.

Coins and bills take on this sort of value in the eyes of nuismatists, collectors of money.

The hobby is far from new. The first minted coins appeared, scholars believe, in the Near East about 700 B. C. and about the same time in China. Collectors followed shortly after. Augustus Caesar had a collection, and the Chinese are believed to have collected in this period.

Later, the Renaissance spurred the hobby in Surope. With awakening interest in classic arts, the coins of Greece and Rome came to be in demand. In the United States, the Numismatic and Antiquarian Society of Philadelphia, believed to be the first such group incorporated in the country, is 100 years old this year.

To fanciers, the value of a coin depends on its scarcity, condition, beauty, and historical interest rather than its intrinsic worth.

Age is unimportant in determining value. A Roman copper may bring only a few cents, while a 1914 penny, with a mint mark "D" showing it was made in Denver, Colorado, can be worth $120.

Sometimes the slightest difference in the piece will make a tremendous difference in its price. In 1841, for example, "quarter eagles" — gold coins worth $2.50 — were minted in Philadelphia; Charlotte, North Carolina; and Dahlonega, Georgia, where gold was mined during the 19th century.

The Philadelphia coins bear no mint mark. They sell for $5,000. Identical pieces with the telltale "C" or "D" are valued at $17.50.

Ten Women Attend Party for Females Over 70

Another Crosby Makes It!

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Less than three years ago, Cathy Crosby was seriously planning to run away from home.

Not only was she hemmed in by a myriad of teenage anxieties, but she was faced by the torment of living up to a show-business name already made famous by her father, Bob Crosby, and her Uncle Bing.

The first flush of fame is, however, in marked contrast with the internal conflicts that plagued Cathy Crosby during her most formative years. Being a child star is difficult enough, but Cathy wasn't just a Crosby—she was a Crosby "Girl."

She had dates, but when a boy asked her what Uncle Bing was really like, or how it felt to see her father on TV, something within her died.

When she asked her father if she could change her name, he suggested that she change his as well—to Sam Crosby. The suggestion wasn't funny to Cathy.

TROUBLE IN SCHOOL

From 10 to 14, Cathy had her troubles in school. She failed to mix with other children. She was shy and often deeply antagonistic. The normal child's need to conform was impossible for her.

Enrolled in another school, she fluctuated between extremes of mood, long periods of melancholy and silence. At school she was homesick; at home she brooded.

"It seems like yesterday, because it was yesterday, that Cathy was a pudgy youngster with a small pleasant voice," says the article. She is now the proud possessor of a network contract. Her trim, pert figure is the home of a voice that is rich in range, volume and emotional timbre.

Analyzing this amazing transition from child to woman, it is safe to conclude that Cathy Crosby has grown up.

One American firm sold $1,000,000 worth of small gasoline motors at the 1956 Osaka Fair in Japan.

Filing Time Enhances Dependents

Tax Experts Ready to Assist

The value of an outstanding ancestor can be of great importance to many people, but at income tax time the ancestor receives second billing to a much more valuable member of the family tree — the dependent.

Deadline for tax forms to be in the office is midnight Monday.

Those who were seeing their genealogist to find out if their deductions about family background are true, are now interested in deductions of another kind.

The current mecca for many Pontiac citizens is 42½ W. Huron St. Here in the offices of the Internal Revenue Service there is a multitude of tax experts assembled to ease a long line of troubled minds each day, Monday through Friday, from 8 to 4.

C. E. Coddington has announced that, "We will be open this Saturday from 8 to 2 and on Monday from 8 to 4:30." Their phone service will also be available between these hours. The number is FE 2-0208.

NO VACATION

After Monday there will be no vacation for the weary experts, but possibly a slight lull. Coddington said, "Our main job is the examining of returns after they are filed." This consumes months of his time.

The "Taxpayers' Assistance Program" accounts for the remainder of the year. "This year's self-help program," said Coddington, "is designed to help people gain a better knowledge of their tax forms."

According to his experience, "If people are forced to read their instructions thoroughly and fill out their own forms, they suddenly realize deductions they never realized before."

He continued that "For years people have been taking the standard 10% but if they would learn to itemize and list their deductions, they would most likely find they had more than the 10%.

Coddington and his assistants will not fill out a form. They merely help people with specific items of confusion. This, too, does not mean that some deductions listed are improper.

LADY LISTS DOG

A wry smile came to Coddington's face as he related a recent situation. "One lady listed $360 as deductible for medical expenses, however it was her dog that was sick." This of course was not allowed. "It was a champion dog, though," he quickly added.

Failure to print or write plainly, forgetting to sign the return, not reporting all income, and simple mathematical errors are most common, Coddington said.

* * *

Incidents concerning pets are rather common, according to the Internal Revenue National reports A Philadelphia taxpayer listed as dependents his dog and his mother-in-law. He was informed the animal could not be claimed, but further investigation revealed he had spent about $50 more on support of the dog than of the mother-in-law.

Although we all dream of a fat refund, the Internal Revenue Service sometimes has refund checks returned undelivered.

One taxpayer in Missouri, afraid that chances of his district office locating him were remote, thoughtfully advised them of his new address. It was the State Penitentiary at Jefferson City.

His change of residence, he explained was "unexpected." It is extremely fortunate that most tax experts have a good sense of humor or events such as these, and the thought of the last minute rush, might drive them crazy.

Fortunately the last minute rush can only last until Monday evening. Until then, they will patiently help as many people as possible. Or as Coddington would prefer to say, "Help people help themselves."

BRIDGE IN FLIGHT — A hovering helicopter once again proves itself almost as versatile as an Army jeep as it lifts a section of bridge weighing 2,900 pounds during a test operation at the Fort Belvoir, Va., Corps of Engineers Research and Development Laboratories. The huge helicopter is designated the H-21C. The lift would presumably be used for swift transportation of portable spans during combat operations.

STEM-WINDER — A Seattle service station attendant went along with the gag when this small foreign car pulled up recently with a big wind-up key on its back. Postmaster General Says:

'We Tried to Stick to Postal Budget'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Summerfield has told a House Appropriations subcommittee "we made every effort humanly possible' to live within the Post Office Department's budget.

His testimony last week, requesting 47 million dollars more to maintain normal mail service in the last three months of this fiscal year, was made public today.

* * *

The committee later voted to give him 17 million dollars but delayed a vote on the other 30 millions until Friday.

The postmaster general, insisting on the full amount, then ordered post offices to prepare to halt virtually all Saturday mail services, starting Saturday.

He told the subcommittee the Post Office already had put a freeze on extension of any routes in the quarter ending June 30.

* * *

And, he said, "frankly, if we do not use every effort to economize, 47 million dollars is not going to be enough to maintain the present service, without an extension of additional city carrier routes."

* * *

The hearing record showed that Rep. Cannon (D-Mo), committee chairman, said three times Summerfield had had notice "that you were to live" within the $2,113,440,000 Post Office budget.

"You have failed to prepare for a situation which must have appeared inevitable," Cannon said.

Summerfield has said unforseen expenses arose from unexpectedly heavy mail volume and an increasing need to serve spreading residential areas.

* * *

Meantime, the Post Office Department's Citizens Advisory Board yesterday unanimously backed the postmaster general's stand, saying in a statement:

* * *

"It is paradoxical and regrettable that this wealthiest nation in the world faces serious reductions in postal service because of congressional failure up to now to appropriate the funds needed to operate regular mail service without interruption for the last quarter of the present fiscal year."

Ordnance Men Dig for Cause of Small Crater

SAN GABRIEL, Calif. (AP)—Sheriff's deputies stood guard today at the spot where demolition experts believe an unidentified object crashed into the ground.

* * *

A small crater, like one left by a dud bomb, touched off a search that yesterday took Army Ordnance experts 10 feet deep into the back yard of a San Gabriel home.

"A falling object caused the crater," said an Army spokesman. "We want to get to it to make sure it isn't dangerous."

What residents thought was a sonic boom rocked the San Gabriel Valley, a Los Angeles suburb, early Tuesday.

Later, Pat Murphy, 10, found the crater in the back yard of his home. He told his father Oscar about it. Murphy called sheriff's deputies, who called the Army.

* * *

By dark last night a hole about 10 feet wide and 10 feet deep — shored with heavy timbers — had been sunk into sandy soil without discovering anything more menacing than a rusted baby carriage.

Ordnance men said that the crater could have been caused by a falling missile, a meteor, a 100-pound dud bomb or any other object about six inches in diameter.

Army Offers City Tank Instead of Old Cannon

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The City Council must make a weighty decision within 30 days on its plans for decorating the park.

The Council recently asked the Letterkenny Ordnance Department at Chambersburg, Pa., for a couple of Civil War cannons to use as decorative relics.

The department is fresh out of Civil War cannon. It offered as a substitute a 74,000-pound medium tank equipped with a 76mm. gun.

The Council can have the tank if it will pay freight costs—about $720. The department wants a yes or no within 30 days.

Withdraws 80 Troops

CANBERRA (AP) — Defense Minister Sir Philip McBride announced today that Australia's 80 troops in South Korea will be withdrawn. But he said Australian warships will continue to serve in Korean waters to support the United Nations' mission to maintain peace in that area.

Son Gains Revenge for Knifing of Father

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Claude F. Newsom Jr., whose father was stabbed to death six years ago by a holdup man, shot and killed a masked bandit who tried to rob his drugstore last night, he told police.

Newsom was creased in the head by a bullet from the bandit's gun, but was not seriously hurt.

Pastor Quotes John 8:7

Matrimonial Exchange Draws Kindly Comment

MILLBRAE, Calif. (AP) — The pastor of two suburban couples who plan to trade mates says he will ask his congregation to reserve judgment.

* * *

"I will deliver my regular Palm Sunday sermon next Sunday," the Rev. R. F. Winkelman said yesterday, "and add without comment the 7th Verse from the 8th Chapter of John:

"He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her."

"That leaves most of us out," added the minister of Community Methodist Church in this San Francisco suburb.

Planning the swap are Dr. Frank Schwartz, 38-year-old eye surgeon, and his wife Jean, 32; and Martin Brooks, 35-year-old owner of a pet and garden supply store, and his wife Betty, 35.

The couples met two years ago and became increasingly friendly at Cub Scout meetings, Parent-Teacher Assn. conferences and at church choir practice. Dr. Schwartz and Mrs. Brooks sang in the choir and Mrs. Schwartz taught a Sunday school class.

Except for them, the minister declared, "no one . . . knows all the factors in this case."

Mrs. Schwartz and Mrs. Brooks, who are sharing a small apartment in Reno while they obtain divorces, are and have been good friends, their husbands said.

* * *

The plan disclosed by the husbands is for Brooks to move into the Schwartz residence and adopt the Schwartz's 9-year-old son and 4-year-old daughter and for Dr. Schwartz to move in with the present Mrs. Brooks and adopt the 9-month-old baby girl and the three boys, aged 4, 8 and 10, there.

Freckles Plays Tag With Pal Dynamite

MONTAGUE (AP) — There's no room for pride between Freckles and Dynamite.

Freckles is a kind of horse-sized dog and Dynamite is a kind of dog-sized horse, but the two of them are the best of friends.

Freckles, a 10-month-old St. Bernard, is still a "puppy" but already she is approaching the size of Dynamite, an 8-month-old Shetland pony.

Now Freckles spends much of her time leading Dynamite around the Bennet Schol farm, and both of them trail after Schol when he rides his tractor across his fields.

So much for work. For play, the out-sized pair engages in tag, hide and seek and ring around the straw stack with the two school children, 8-year-old Sheryl Ann and 3-year-old Stuart.

SHE'S NOT LAUGHING — It's all in fun, but somebody apparently failed to let dour "Gretchen," the dachshund in on the joke as she faces the prospect of becoming a live hot dog for enthusiastic three-year-old Russell Chaney Jr., of Denver, Colo. The low-slung pooch avoided becoming a sandwich, though, and went on to be judged top dog in her class at a local kennel show.

Boom Crosses Mexican Border

Lower California Sees Tourists, Oil, Minerals Bring New Wealth

WASHINGTON — California's postwar economic boom has spread below the border. Spurred by agricultural development plans and a stepped-up mining program, Baja — or Lower — California is adding new productive capacity to Mexico's expanding economy, says the National Geographic Society.

At the same time, visitors in record numbers are pouring into the legend-shrouded peninsula from the United States. Tijuana and Mexicali, both on the border, are the largest cities and the centers of tourist activity.

Farther down the peninsula, vacationers can try their luck in waters that teem with gamefish, sun themselves on beaches of white sand, or explore the remains of historic missions.

Ensenada, on the Pacific coast, is a favorite resort. With its beautiful setting, mild climate, and low prices, Ensenada has become a mecca for retired Americans.

Except for the border area, Baja California is sparsely settled. But in 1950 the government organized a land-development program that brought a wave of colonists to the southern region and has caused crop output to double each year. Principal products are cotton, alfalfa, and wheat. In the coastal areas, commercial fishing is rapidly becoming an important industry.

Rich deposits of copper, gold, silver, mercury, and sulphur are being mined at an accelerated pace. Last year the discovery of oil climaxed an intensive drilling program. Roads to transport this new mineral and agricultural wealth to market are being built on a large scale, and recently the first rail connection was completed between Baja California and the rest of Mexico.

Issued to Immigrants 80 Years Ago

Print Maps of Early West

CHICAGO (AP) — During recent weeks the United States has spread out a red carpet for Hungarians fleeing oppression in their native country and seeking a new start in America.

★ ★ ★

Vice President Nixon toured refugee camps in Austria, giant transport planes lifted the immigrants across the Atlantic, the arriving Hungarians were interviewed to match their skills with offers of jobs coming in from across the nation.

Eighty years ago a homeless Hungarian was apt to be met, if he was lucky, by a railroad agent whose colorful wares were maps of the West.

WONDERS UNFOLDED

Unfolding them, the agent would show the American-to-be the wonders of the prairies, the Rocky Mountains and the green valleys beyond.

The first atlas of this kind contained maps of 17 states and territories and today is a rare collector's item.

ONLY 6 REMAIN

Andrew McNally III, greatgrandson of the founder and now president of the firm, says the huge folio edition of 5,000 copies was produced after a survey disclosed only six copies of the original 1876-77 Atlas were known to be available to historians and lovers of Americana.

Called a "Pioneer Atlas of the American West," it graphically illustrates the westward movement. Proposed railroads, old wagon trails, locations of forts and gold fields are shown. The text is by Dale L. Morgan.

The original atlas contained maps based on government sponsored land surveys. It represented a new phase in the development of the Old West. The era of early exploration was coming to an end. The scalping Indian no longer was a serious threat to pioneers and prospectors in the Black Hills.

STATE MAPS

Maps of Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, New Mexico, Texas, California Nevada, Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, Washington and Alaska showed the emigrant where to locate.

The promotional material on the folder said millions of acres of land were available at bargain prices of $2.60 to $4.00 per acre.

SPRING BEST

"The best time to come to the Golden Northwest, either Minnesota, Dakota, Montana, Washington or Oregon on the line of the Northern Pacific, is in the spring. But farmers can come to this favorable region at any time, properly outfitted and make a fortune.

"The breaking season extends from about May 15th to July 15th. Three horses or mules, each weighing from 1,200 pounds, upwards, or two yoke of oxen, constitutes a good breaking team for sulky or plow.

"The settler opening a new farm can always find plenty of work among his neighbors after he has done his own breaking and backsetting (plowing) and cut his hay.

"Liberal provision is made by law for schools and the towns and country settlements; schoolhouses and churches of the several denominations abound. The people who come to this country believe in these institutions."

UNCAS, Okla. (AP)—It looked as if Mrs. Don Jones' 12-year perfect attendance record to Home Demonstration meetings would end because she was out of town. However, the members got together and decided to do something about it.

Nickel Essential to Modern Life

Alloys Impart Strength, Toughness to Metals; Has Countless Uses

WASHINGTON — Nickel is as much at home in the seething heat of a jet engine as in a five-cent piece.

And as new industrial techniques come into being — through atomic energy, fantastic temperatures, and speeds limited only by air friction — the white metal will take on additional uses, the National Geographic Society says.

Already a vital part of many machines and processes, nickel is tough, strong, wear resistant, and noncorroding. When alloyed with other metals, it gives them its own prized qualities.

Automobiles and trucks have gears, shafts and other parts strengthened with nickel alloyed into the steel. Cleanliness in kitchen and pharmaceutical house is aided by nickel alloys that do not react to food acids and are easily kept spotless.

Thermostats regulate furnaces and air conditioners by making use of the different expansion rates of various nickel alloys. Books and magazines are printed from plates coated with nickel. A nickel compound is the active element in the positive electrode of a storage battery.

Low-grade oils become gasoline with the assistance of a nickel catalyst. Stainless steel is stainless because nickel and chromium are added. Radio tubes, fluorescent lights and electric heating elements rely on nickel.

Essential in wartime for armor plate, gun barrels, automotive equipment and communications, nickel was one of the first metals put on the priority lists of World War II, and one of the last taken off.

Although production and prospecting are increasing in tempo, there isn't enough nickel today for all the uses to which man wants to put it. Some authorities believe the shortage won't be overcome until 1960.

An asphalt-surfaced runway will make Tabriz Airport, Iran, a year-around field.

Cop Doubles as Hunter

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—George S. Elmore, for 27 years a member of the police department here, finds his downtown beat anything but dull. He killed a big snake at King and Washington streets, then bagged a possum a few blocks away.

Florida Doctor Advises Men:

Release Tension in Tears

MIAMI (INS) — Men were advised today to follow the example of their physical superiors — the female sex.

When something is bothering you, Dr. James O. Bond recommends sit down and have a good cry.

Dr. Bond, who is state epidemiologist for the Florida Board of Health, said this might add years to the life of harassed modern man.

His views were contained in a paper read at the 131st national meeting of the American Chemical Society in Miami.

The Florida physician produced figures showing that "the male is indeed the weaker sex." Since 1900, he pointed out, mortality rates for women declined at a progressively steeper rate than for males, and by 1950 male death rates were 40 per cent higher than for women.

He declared:

"Properly humbled by these facts, men should devote what time they have remaining to an intensive search for the causes.

"It is posed that perhaps some male equivalent for tears is needed. Men must learn more from women either how to avoid emotional tension, or deal with it in less damaging ways than development of coronary artery disease."

Dr. Bond said men must realize "their badge of masculinity, their masculature, is no longer an advantage in the competition for survival in today's world."

"Indeed," he asserted, "it may even be a handicap due to the psychological role it forces men to play in a world that no longer accommodates that role."

Vet Can Appeal If VA Rejects Pension

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

A World War I veteran who has his claim for a pension from the Veterans Adminstration (VA) rejected may appeal the decision if he feels it shouldn't have been turned down.

If you've been turned down, about the only requirement you must meet to appeal is to do so within a year after you've been mailed the rejection notice. After a year has passed you must file a completely new application.

Since there are three general requirements you must meet to be eligible for a pension, you've probably been turned down for one of these requirements:

1. You must be considered permanently and totally disabled by the VA from a disability which has no connection with your military service, and

AT LEAST 90 DAYS

2. You must have served in a U.S. military service under conditions other than dishonorable for at least 90 days — some part of it within the World War I period (April 6, 1917 to Nov. 11, 1918), and

3. You must not have a yearly income of more than $1,400, if you have no dependents, or $3,700 if you have dependents.

Suppose, for example, the VA says it doesn't consider you totally and permanently disabled. You thought you were when you applied for a pension and you still think so.

You should probably have a talk with an officer of one of the local veterans oragnizations. He'll no doubt be able to tell you whether there's any purpose in making an appeal and whether you have any chance of getting the VA to change its mind.

If, after the talk, you decide to appeal, your first move should be to file an appeal application with the VA office which originally received your pension application. You may make the application yourself or ask a representative of a vet's organization to do so.

If you've moved since you filed your pension application, you may file your appeal with any VA office, but it'll be sent to the original office for consideration.

ASK HEARING

You may ask that the VA hold a hearing on your appeal if you feel it will bolster your case. And, you may appear personally at the hearing or send a representative with power of attorney. You also may have witnesses appear in your behalf.

Once you've filed your appeal application and, if you desired, a hearing has been held, all the information on your case is sent to the Board of Veterans Appeals. This board will make a final decision.

That's the end of the line unless you can show that a rejection of your application involved an obvious error which prejudiced your case. Then, the appeals board will reconsider your application. It also may reconsider if you come up with some new or material evidence to back up your application.

All veterans organizations have trained men you can turn to at any time during the appeal, so there's rarely any need for you to hire a lawyer to handle your case.

Dems Won't Bother Ziegler Road Plans

LANSING (AP) — John C. Mackie, state highway commissioner-elect, said today Democratic state officials would not attempt to interfere with the construction program of out-going commissioner Charles M. Ziegler during the final three months of his term.

Mackie, who takes over his new post July 1, said the Governor's administrative board had agreed any new construction contracts proposed by Ziegler would be considered "without prejudice."

"We could refuse to approve highway contracts he proposed during the coming months," Mackie said, "but the net result would be to hamstring practically all highway building for 90 days and lose precious time during the coming warm weather construction season."

Mackie said the state "cannot afford to have partisan or personal differences interfere with the rapid acceleration of its highway program."

Legislator Second Time After 47-Year Lapse

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — Rep. Marvin J. Howard of Londonderry is serving his second term in the Vermont legislature this year! After a lengthy interval. He served the first one 47 years ago.

Howard was a member of the House in 1910. He says his business — undertaking — kept him away from the capital for nearly half a century.

Farmer Cares for Fawn, Paid by Pet's Affection

TORONTO (AP) — Ontario Lands and Forests Department received a bill from a farmer who cared for a new-born fawn, found near Sudbury and turned over to him by a provincial forest ranger.

It listed such items as "Bottle feeding three times a day for two months, care of pen, straw, gathering feed daily and taking the deer out for exercise." It was marked:

Do Dems Want Hollister Out?

Humphrey Says Some Would Like to Replace Foreign Aid Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said today some Democratic members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee are seeking replacement of foreign aid chief John B. Hollister.

Two other committee members, declining use of their names, said they too had urged top officials of the State Department to seek Hollister's removal.

But Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) backed Hollister, saying he thought the foreign aid administrator "is doing the best he can." Republican members also appeared satisfied.

Humphrey said in an interview he has "felt all along that Mr. Hollister is not fully in sympathy with President Eisenhower's philosophy."

He added the administration will need a "dynamic leader" to help sell the country its "new approach" foreign aid program.

Details of the new program are still in the drafting stage. It involves establishment of an economic development fund to make loans abroad up to 750 million dollars annually, and the separation of military arms aid and defense support from excusively economic assistance.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), noting criticism of the aid program, said in an interview the country should "think twice, and then think again before substantially cutting foreign aid."

Sparkman contended that if the foreign aid program is scrapped, the United States might have to draft "50 per cent of all males between 18 and 40" and spend nearly 111 billion dollars annually on its own armed forces.

Doctor Seeking Persons Likely to Get Maladies

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

BOSTON (AP) — A humanitarian manhunt test is on — to try to find likely candidates for high blood pressure and coronary heart disease before such maladies develop.

Dr. Caroline Bedel Thomas of Johns Hopkins School of Medicine said today the idea of the search —under way for a decade among students at her school—is this:

1. To find young people having a combination of certain physical and psychological characteristics which with a parental history of high blood pressure or coronary disease, are believed by Dr. Thomas to mark high susceptibility to these diseases.

2. To take such a group of youths, divide it in half, and place half on a program designed to test various preventive measures — utilizing the other half as an untreated "control" group.

The objective, the woman scientist told the 38th annual meeting of the American College of Physicians would be ultimately to work out means of preventing these diseases in the general population.

She said that some of the individual characteristics which indicate some degree of susceptibility to the disease are: higher-than-normal heart rates, overweight, athletic build, high blood cholesterol (a fatty substance) and high sensitivity to certain forms of stress.

"However," she told the doctors, "No one trait alone is thought to be significant. A constellation of these traits appearing in a normal person in the presence of a positive parental history mark a group in which the susceptibility to high blood pressure and coronary heart disease is thought to be high.

"Measures are becoming available for the prevention of these diseases. The stumbling block is the selection of a susceptible group."

She said studies designed to identify such a group have been under way since 1946 among healthy medical students at Johns Hopkins.

AP NEWSFEATURES

The Suez Canal crisis—which returned wartime gasoline austerity to British motorists—has heightened interest in a "car of the future" now reaching advanced stages of development in Britain.

The car is the Rover T3 gas turbine sedan, a two-seat sport model powered by a turbojet engine yielding 150 horsepower. Unlike the reciprocating engines requiring high test gasoline, the Rover turbine burns kerosene.

LOW FUEL CONSUMPTION

The T3 is a descendant of the Rover Co. Ltd.'s JET I, which the company calls the world's first gas turbine car. The early model underwent road tests in 1950 and achieved speeds of over 150 m.p.h. The T3 has a somewhat slower top speed, but boasts an engine less than half the size of the original and drinks far less fuel—getting about 12 miles out of each gallon of kerosene at 60 m.p.h.

The company claims its latest turbine model is designed to take full advantage of all the features which make the turbine power plant attractive.

The main advantages are the lightness of the engine in relation to the power it is capable of delivering, the absence of a clutch and multi-speed gear and absence of any water cooling equipment.

The T3 has a glass reinforced plastic body and four-wheel drive. The exhaust duct is located in the top of the trunk, throwing the hot (392 degree Fahrenheit) exhaust gases straight into the air.

EASY TO DRIVE

As with all turbo cars, the only pedal in addition to the accelerator is the brake, which together with the hand brake and the reverse gear constitute the total controls.

Rover Ltd. explains that the chief hold-up in producing practical turbo engines in the past was the difficulty of mass-producing the blades for the turbine.

This has reportedly now been overcome, but much more testing is expected before the Rover car moves from enticing display at auto show to dealer showrooms.

Home Life Never Dull With 2 Monkeys Around

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — If you want to liven up your home, try raising a couple of young monkeys, advises Mrs. A. H. Stuckey.

Of Chee Chee and Jerry — the monkeys that livened her home — she reports:

Host Power Experts

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The city will be host June 23-28 to more than 1,000 plant maintenance and power experts who are expected at the National Assn. of Power Engineers convention.

Yes, They Like Ike, Whoever That Is

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Junior Samuel F. Adam, of New Canaan, Conn., doubted a statement in his political science class at Temple University that some persons of voting age in Philadelphia didn't know the names of important political leaders.

Adam was assigned to research the statement as a term project and found:

Only 60 per cent could name the mayor as Richardson Dilworth; only 39 per cent could name the junior senator from Pennsylvania as Joseph Clark, although Clark had just completed a four-year term as mayor; seven per cent didn't know the President's name.

One person guessed the President was "Ike Hoover."

Air-Hammer Cuts Power

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — An air-hammer wielded by a workman on a crew installing new city street lights cut a power cable Tuesday and caused a 30-minute power outage to eight major firms in downtown Grand Rapids. Among those affected were Bissell Carpet Sweeper Co., Leitelt Iron Works and the Manger Rowe Hotel.

200,000 Britons Leave Homeland to Pioneer a New Life in Canada

By JAMES MONTAGNES
NEA Special Correspondent

TORONTO, Canada (NEA) — Since the end of World War II, almost 200,000 British immigrants have settled in Toronto. Most of them like everything about their new homeland — except the impersonal supermarkets.

They're used to the tiny shops in England, where personal service is the thing. In Canada—especially the big cities like Toronto—they find the huge shopping centers and the huge schools somewhat disconcerting.

"Most British immigrants fit in after a year," says John M. Bunker, himself a newcomer and president of the Toronto branch of the British Overseas League.

"The woman of the family is the least adaptable—shopping, you know. But usually after a year they become accustomed to Canadian ways of life. We find that less than one per cent of the immigrants express a desire to return to the old country."

FLYING BACK

One of those who isn't sure is pretty Margaret Buck. She's flying back to England, to visit her family, this summer. She and her husband, Robert, had a tough struggle at first in Canada.

They came over in August, 1955. Bob wanted to study botany, which he'd been doing in England, but found he wasn't eligible for work at Canada's famous experimental farm at Ottawa until he'd been a Canadian resident for a year. So the Bucks came to Toronto.

"Jobs were not too easy to get when we arrived here," Bob says. "After a week, we were down to our last dollars. Margaret found a job selling hats, and I started selling vacuum cleaners door-to-door. After making a sale at the first house I called on, I found a job waiting for me when I arrived home that evening."

PAINT LAB

Since that first frightening week, Bob's been working at a paint laboratory. Margaret worked for a year as a bank teller, then switched to her first love, taking care of children. She's working in one of Toronto's children's nurseries.

Others have found it easier. Bert Harrison, an aircraft designer in England, answered an ad in an English newspaper for designers needed by a Canadian plant. He had his job before he ever left home.

It took the Harrison family—there are two children — a few weeks to find a suitable house. But now they're settled in a new home, new job, new schools and Mrs. Harrison is even getting to like the supermarket.

DIFFERENT CASE

The Muggeridges are a different case. Don, a 37-year-old municipal clerk in England, decided to pull up roots and come to Canada. He and his wife left their son, Derek, 13, at home. He'd applied for some jobs in Canada and had had encouraging letters, but nothing definite.

BRITISH FAMILY IN TORONTO — Mr. and Mrs. Don Muggeridge and son Derek study plans for tour of new homeland. Derek has toughest time getting used to the change.

"We had our initial difficulties," Don says. "It took four weeks to find the first job—handling merchandise in a warehouse. Not exactly what I was looking for. Then came the first break, a clerical job in a custom broker's office. In September one of the letters I had written before leaving England landed me my present job in the secretarial department of a large concern. We sent for Derek."

Derek is having the hardest time of all the Muggeridges in fitting in. He isn't happy in the large school he attends—it has more than a thousand pupils, against the snug little school he knew in England. But they expect that will work itself out, and meanwhile they're saving their money hoping to buy their own home soon.

SUCCESS STORY

One immigrant who already has a success story to tell is Gerald Peters. A theater manager in England, he had to leave for his health. When he arrived in Canada, he worked as a chauffeur. Then he started in his old trade, managing a new movie house.

That led to his own weekly musical radio show on a Canadian network, then he started a trucking firm, and a year ago he opened the Piccadilly Club, where Canadians and new British arrivals can mix socially.

"Only in Canada," says Peters, "are there such opportunities to get ahead fast."

As the flood of immigrants from England increases — this coming summer, alone, at least 100,000 are expected—jobs are getting harder to find. Skilled workers have the least difficulty in catching on.

Professional people have the hardest time, mainly because Canadian professional organizations rexaminations before licensing people to practice. This applies to doctors, lawyers, architects and to some degree engineers and other trained groups.

But that doesn't seem to stop the restless British. Canada, in mid-March, started an airlift of 350 flights from England and France. Half of these will bring immigrants to Toronto, which now has a population of 1,500,000. And it's growing fast.

Prison Writer Dies Serving Life Term

FORT MADISON, Iowa (AP)—Tom Runyon, 51, Iowa life-termer who was nationally known as a writer, died of a heart attack at the penitentiary here yesterday.

Runyon, a free-wheeling bank robber in the 1930s, was serving time for the 1935 slaying of an Iowa farmer. He was also under life sentence in Minnesota for the $3,100 robbery of an Eyota, Minn. bank.

In 1943 he figured in a sensational escape from the Iowa prison. Before he was recaptured five days later he had abducted five persons and engaged in two gunfights.

Runyon was widely known for his short stories and articles and was the author of a biography, "In for Life." As editor of the prison magazine in the late 1930s he wrote editorials critical of the Iowa parole system.

Third Son of Policeman Trains to Join Force

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Gramkes are a family of cops. Sgt. Joseph B. Gramke, with 30 years on the Cincinnati police force, is the head man. Then follows his two sons, Patrolmen Ralph Gramke and Joseph Gramke, with six and nine years' service, respectively.

★ ★ ★

Gerald R. Gramke, another son, hopes to be with pop and his brothers soon. He began a 15-week training period at the Policy Academy recently.

Mayor Gets County Job

MONROE (AP)—Mayor Milton J. H. Knabusch, serving his second year as mayor of Monroe, was elected chairman of the Monroe County Board of Supervisors—only the third city representative so honored in the last 30 years. He is the first city official elected to the post since 1946.

Rugs Depict History of Iowa Farmhouse

MAQUOKETA, Iowa (AP) — The hooked rug runners which cover the stairway risers in the farm home of Oscar Skott near here are made up of pictures which show highlights of the farm's history.

Skott's sister, Mrs. Margaret Siders of Maquoketa, made the pictorial rug and the story it tells begins with settlement on the farm by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Skott, in 1866.

Other pictures show the original farmhouse, its successor, the rock garden begun in 1871, the first team of mules purchased in 1890, the building of the first silo in 1903 and the coming of electricity to the farm in 1922.

An Argentine expedition, with 20 sherpas and 300 porters, has started a second attempt to scale 26,795-foot-high Dhaulagiri in Nepal, Katmandu reports.

Ike Plans Equal Care for Dependents of Servicemen Using Civilian Hospitals

WASHINGTON (NEA)—A wrong which has bothered President Eisenhower ever since he was graduated from West Point has now been righted.

Until recently the wives and children of servicemen who did not happen to live near a military hospital were cheated out of the medical care normally due them. They had to pay their own doctor and hospital bills while those — by accident of assignment — who lived close to an Army or Navy hospital got free medical attention.

Today, however, thanks to the untiring, personal efforts of the President, an estimated 800,000 dependents, of men in service in the U.S. have begun to receive government paid-for medical care by civilian doctors and in civilian hospitals.

At the same time overseas dependents will soon get medical care from local civilian doctors paid for by the government.

The cost of this program is estimated to be about 75 million dollars per year. But as President Eisenhower told Congress, it is expected to pay for itself by helping to reduce the expensive turnover among members of the armed forces.

"This program removes one of the greatest sources of worry to our servicemen around the world," the President says. "I have been personally interested in it and feel strongly that it will have a far-reaching effect on service morale," he adds.

It is reported that Ike's interest in the measure stems partly from his days as a young officer when his own medical bills were a serious financial burden.

Under this new program medical care for dependents in military hospitals remains about the same. These are the new provisions:

Dependents can go to a civilian hospital of their choice and get semi-private accommodations up to 365 days for each admission. This includes all regular services plus medical and surgical care during that period.

Wives of servicemen can get complete maternity care from civilian doctors including prenatal and postnatal care.

Free Ports Aid to World Trade

Opportunity for Tourist to Buy Foreign Goods at Bargain Prices

WASHINGTON—When Holland's newly authorized free port at Amsterdam's Schiphol Airport opens on April 15, it will become the world's second shopping paradise catering exclusively to air travelers. Shannon, Ireland—a stopover point for most transatlantic flights—first adapted the free port concept to the air lanes in 1947.

Following the modern trend, the majority of free-trade areas are tightly restricted zones within cities, inaccessible to the public.

Only a handful of internationalized ports such as Hong Kong and Singapore still preserve the old freewheeling traditions, with doors open to all comers and few or no duties imposed on imports.

TOURIST BAIT

Several resorts have established free ports to lure dollar-wise tourists. Bermuda, the Virgin Islands, and Jamaica all maintain free port shops where visitors can buy high-quality imports at prices up to 60 per cent less than in the United States. In order to compete with her Caribbean neighbors, Haiti last year also instituted a duty-free shopping plan.

Free ports in the modern sense first sprang up in the medieval Hanseatic League of German cities, grouped together for purposes of trade. Hanseatic free zones stretched from Bergen, Norway, to Leghorn, Italy, as far east as the ancient Russian principality of Novgorod.

With the decline of the Hanseatic cities, the free port idea fell into disuse until the nineteenth century when Hamburg's revitalized zone contributed to the economic rise of Germany. Raw material poured into Hamburg from every part of the globe. With no import duty to inflate costs, German craftsmen were able to process the goods and undersell their competitors in the world market.

There are presently four free ports — officially designated Foreign-Trade Zones—in the United States. The first, at Stapleton, Staten Island, opened in 1937 to serve New York harbor. Others were subsequently authorized in San Francisco, Seattle, and New Orleans.

Pay Check, Then Run

KAW CITY, Okla. (AP) — A sign in Wright's Cafe reads:

Los Angeles Puts Posse on Wings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The ultimate in modern cops and robbers plots reached a climax recently—appropriately near movieland—with the capture from the air of a thug named Melvin Evans.

Evans, hiding out in a remote canyon after shooting a man, suddenly found himself looking up at a helicopter bearing the star of the Los Angeles sheriff's office. He scurried deeper into the brush—too late.

Capt. Sewell Griggers set the 'copter down and put a detective armed with a tommygun on a ridge behind Evans. The fugitive surrendered, was brought in, and later was convicted of attempted murder.

Although Evans, as far as is known, is the first criminal to be successfully tracked, spotted and captured by helicopter, the idea of putting wings on the old sheriff's posse has spread far since Los Angeles organized the nation's first aero detail in 1929. More than 350 law enforcement agencies now have an air arm, but none is as mighty as Los Angeles'.

Its strength lies in the 100-plane squadron of expert pilots who stand ready to volunteer their time, skill and aircraft for any task to which the aero detail summons them—and in the slim, 51-year-old airman who leads it.

Capt. Griggers, as head of the aero detail, is the squadron commander, and says of his winged posse: "There isn't any other group in the world that has such an accumulation of flying time."

"We can put everything from jets to Cubs in the air in a matter of minutes," says Griggers who can remember when the aero details had one detail missing—namely planes.

That was back in 1933 when Griggers closed up the little airport he had been running since 1926 and joined the sheriff's office in order, as he puts it, "to get a meal ticket" during the depression.

SLOW START

The aero detail, then four years old, was a ground-bound, one-man outfit charged with enforcing flying regulations by checking out complaints. There was no room in it for Griggers and he was placed in charge of the pistol range.

The volunteer squadron also got its start in 1933, born as the result of the big earthquake that shook up a large part of the county and adjoining areas. With communications out, planes were needed to survey the damage and co-ordinate rescue work and private pilots were deputized for the job.

Griggers finally moved into the aero detail in 1941, by which time the volunteer squadron was losing altitude fast as its members flew off to war. And the detail still had no planes of its own.

Actor Robert Taylor came to the rescue at this point, donating a four-place, single-engine plane to the sheriff's office. The venerable craft is still flying.

Movie director Clarence Brown, a squadron member, bestowed another light plane on the detail in 1950, and a year ago it purchased a helicopter to round out its own little force.

In the years since the war, Griggers has startled many a person unaccustomed to having the eagle eye of the law peering down from the skies.

HARD ON PLAYBOYS

The first to feel the chill gaze were the buoyant, carefree private pilots. Fond of buzzing the houses of girl friends or scaring the daylights out of ocean bathers by skimming the waves, the flyers found it hard to believe they were no longer as free as the birds.

"We had eight of them in jail at one time," Griggers said. "They were all doing from 30 to 90 days. Didn't have much trouble after that."

The volunteer squadron does most of its flying in search of downed or missing aircraft. A map in Griggers' office has 109 pins spotting accidents—most of them in the San Gabriel Mountains—which Griggers and his men have found, and from which they have removed 216 bodies and 30 survivors.

Hospital Fund's Leader Solicits From Sickbed

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—J. Wiley Richardson accepted co-chairmanship of the special gift division of the St. Anthony Hospital expansion fund, and he got some first hand facts.

Richardson broke a knee and had to be hospitalized for a long period in traction. He had a special phone installed and used his time soliciting over the phone.

New Miracle Alloy Found for Aircraft

NEW YORK (AP) — Molly, a Cinderella element found 50 years ago in the Colorado Rockies, may provide aircraft designers with the metal battering ram needed to crash through the "heat barrier" — the greatest of the obstacles now blocking man's progress in the skies.

Steelways, official publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, says that the element molybdenum, nicknamed Molly, when properly coated to resist oxidation, has the ability to retain tremendous strength at the searing temperatures that come with supersonic-plus speeds.

Using the alloying element, designers hope to overcome the heat problems that at some speeds and altitudes cause materials in today's planes to fuse or pull apart.

Steelways says the resistant quality of Molly — it does not melt at temperatures as high as 4,750 degrees Fahrenheit — is only one of its many virtues. The element also allows steelmakers to make extremely hard steel without sacrificing toughness and minimizes the threat of stresses or cracks during fabrication and fabrication and heat treating.

Name Hollywood Church for Rudolph Valentino

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — A church dedicated to the memory of the late Rudolph Valentino has been opened here.

The opening service of the "Valentino Memorial Church of Psychic Fellowship" was conducted on a recent Sunday evening. The program included piano selections from music used with Valentino's last movie, "The Son of the Sheik."

The pastor, Rev. Carol E. McKinstry, said all fans and friends of the late Valentino, as well as spiritualists, are invited to attend the chrch.

Avoids Fine by Music

DENVER, Colo (AP) — Mrs. Ricarda Mooney, a violinist with the Denver Symphony Orchestra, had to play her way out of jail. "A friend and I were arrested for speeding," Mrs. Mooney explains, "and the policeman made me play 'My Wild Irish Rose' before he would let us leave the station. We didn't have to pay a fine."

'Pain in the Neck' Real — When One Is Irritated

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The person who first made the remark: "He gives me a pain in the neck," was quite right, according to an authority on emotional causes of diseases.

Dr. John Schindler, addressing a convention meeting, said you can get such an ache through annoyance toward another person. This causes the pituitary gland to shoot a hormone through the body that will cause the neck muscles to tighten until they hurt, he said. Schindler is a Monroe, Wis., physician.

To Serve Hot Lunch

FOND DU LAC, Wis. (AP)—Truck driver George Post timidly explained to his employer he arrived with stewed tomatoes and fried bananas because a gasoline heater used to keep the produce from freezing in winter, flared up and cooked everything.

Good Tour Salesman — He Took It Himself

HUNTINGTON (AP) — Dave Sable of a Huntington travel agency, billed to take part in a TV interview about one of his firm's cruises, failed to show.

He had become so interested in doing research on the tour that he took it himself, and failed to return in time.

Real Adventure No Stranger to Mountbatten

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Richard Mountbatten, Britain's present first sea lord and member of one of England's most famous families, once narrowly missed assassinating the chief of the British air staff during World War II, says a national magazine.

The incident occurred at the Quebec Conference in 1943.

Comparing a sample of a pykrete material to be used for marine platforms against an ordinary block of ice, Mountbatten decided upon a dramatic way to prove the comparative strengths of the two substances.

He drew a revolver and fired at the ice. It shattered.

He then fired at the pykrete. The bullet ricocheted off and just missed the air force dignitary.

Even Mountbatten's marriage was not brought about in any ordinary way.

The proposal took place when the Prince of Wales lent Montbatten the key to his private sitting room because the couple could find privacy nowhere else.

Spray Keeps Deer Out of Farm Crops

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (INS) — Pennsylvania State University researchers believe they may have the remedy to the farmer's problem of what to do about rampaging deer herds.

They have developed a chemical solution that, when mixed with water and sprayed in a band around orchards or fields, irritates the deer's notoriously keen sense of smell. Some who have tried it say the spray-band turns back even the hungriest buck, no matter how tempting the morsel on the other side.

The chemical solution can be mixed with ordinary insecticides, fungicides and weedkillers for convenience or can be used by itself. It is said to maintain its effectiveness for about a month.

Planned municipal improvements and building in Riyadh, capital of Saudi Arabia, now amount to an estimated $100,000,000.

Dog Packs Outfox City's Dogcatchers

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — A resident on Oliver Street says the dogs are too smart for the dog catcher.

She says huge packs roam the neighborhood.

"I have called the police and they refer you to the Health Department. When the Health Department truck comes by there is not a dog in sight.

"They tell me to catch the dogs and confine them but how are you going to go out and grab other people's dogs?

"Something is going to have to be done or we will have to move out and leave the city to the dogs," she said.

1 Uncrowded School — for Undertakers

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The bumper crop of post-war babies is crowding schools everywhere—except mortuary schools. There could be a shortage of undertakers.

Dr. Otto S. Margolis, dean of the American Academy of Funeral Service, New York, said here that 1,200 will graduate this year from 20 mortuary schools. Prior to World War II the average was 1,800.

Foreign Service Offers Rewarding Life

Job Comes Ist to Diplomat, Advises Frances E. Willis

By INS

Miss Frances Elizabeth Willis, newly named U. S. Ambassador to Norway, is sold on diplomacy as a career for women.

Her advice to those who contemplate going into the foreign service is simple and direct: make them think of you as a person who does a job — not as a woman.

Miss Willis has followed this formula successfully ever since she joined the state department 30 years ago to get experience that would help her in what she thought was her chosen career, teaching political science.

Recently, she said that while the foreign service is not glamorous or easy, it is "as interesting a life as it is humanly possible to have."

★ ★ ★

Speaking like the talented diplomat her male colleagues say she is, Miss Willis said the major reward is the feeling that "you are able to contribute to the solution of some of the big problems of the world — no matter how small your contribution might be."

MEETS REAL TEST

Miss Willis' diplomatic ability got a real test four years ago when she was named Ambassador to Switzerland, where women are not even given the right to vote.

There was some resentment at the beginning and many Swiss thought it a very bad joke, but she won the respect of the Swiss by her plain good sense and by "working just like a man," as one official put it.

Miss Willis, 57, a native of Metropolis, Ill., was graduated from Stanford University and in 1923 became instructor of history at Goucher College. A year later she was appointed assistant professor of political science at Vassar, teaching there until 1927, when she joined the foreign service.

TO CHILE FIRST

Her first assignment was in Chile. From there, she went to Sweden, Belgium, Spain, Washington, London and Finland.

She was the first woman career ambassador in U. S. history. The other well-known lady ambassadors, such as Perle Mesta and Clare Boothe Luce, were political appointees.

Miss Willis is a tall, slender, well-groomed woman with a serious but at the same time, animated and friendly manner, who frequently puts in a 15-hour day.

As she puts it, her only hobbies are a "well-run office, well-run home, a job well done and good food."

Big Name Band Mystery Solved at Record Shops

AP NEWSFEATURES

Whatever became of the big band?

You remember, the big name band with the big name singer and the high priced arranger and the big talking press agent that used to travel across the country in a great big bus making big, big music and heap big money?

What happened to it?

Folks down in Tinpan Alley used to ask this question the way people inquired after the whereabouts of Judge Crater and the passenger pigeon. But before any of them got around to answering it the big name band was heard again through the land—on records at any rate.

Sammy Kaye, Russ Morgan, Glen Gray, Vaughn Monroe and a lot of the other big names were back at the same old band stand, making the same sweet sounds, just as if they'd never been away.

DOWNFALL IN '40s

Historically, this is what happened: The era of the big band came in with the '20s and the Charleston, hit a peak in the '30s when jazz stood still long enough for a crooner to catch the beat, and then disappeared suddenly in the '40s because of a combination of rising costs, television and wartime restrictions on travel.

Guy Lombardo, Lawrence Welk and Fred Waring, it is true, have just about always been with us, but many of the big bands went out of business or formed into more economical combos.

HI-FI REBIRTH

Then came the postwar phenomenon called high fidelity and a resulting boom in record sales. The same type of audience that boosted Welk into top television ratings and made Lombardo a musical Creosus set up a clamor for more and more dance music of the big name band variety. Fortunately, the told tapes, the old arrangements and in many cases the old musicians were still around, ready to begin a second life.

The era of the big band may be dead, but its melody lingers on at the record counters. The old names and the old tunes have been wrapped up in bright new packages and are winning back old friends and gaining a lot of new ones.

Glen Gray is as smooth and saxaphony as ever doing "Sunrise Serenade," "Smoke Rings" and other old standbys in Capitol's "Casa Loma" in Hi-Fi. Vaughn Monroe was never better than in Decca's "Dreamland Special." Sammy Kaye, Xavier Cugat, Les Brown and a half-dozen other big name bands bring back the good old days in Columbia's "Dance, Be Happy."

Police Thwart Bootleg Gang

Four College Students at Mississippi School Peddled Liquor

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—A spokesman for the University of Mississippi said a perfect set of record books helped officers break up what they called a student bootlegging ring on the campus.

The spokesman said John W. Ellis of Vicksburg had records showing he had paid the state "black market" tax on the liquor seized by a police raiding party in a university dormitory Tuesday.

Ellis, a School of Commerce sophomore, pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace W. A. Fulmer yesterday to liquor charges. He was expelled permanently from school.

Robert L. Gilliam, liberal arts sophomore from Union City, Tenn., and Paul F. Hajj, School of Commerce sophomore from Vicksburg, who were suspended until Sept. 1.

* * *

All excet Gilliam pleaded guilty in Justice of the Peace Court yesterday to liquor charges and paid $100 fines.

Seized in the raid were three cases of whisky, bottles of gin, vodka and champagne, and about 20 punchboards.

* * *

Ellis pleaded guilty in court to possession of liquor and possession of punchboards. Inzina, Hajj and Jones pleaded guilty to the sale of intoxicating liquor.

Appoint Blue Cross Head

DETROIT (AP)—Edward Carrington, 36, enrollment and service representative for the Benton Harbor office of Blue Cross-Blue Shield, has been named manager of the Benton Harbor district. Carrington replaces E. J. Szymanski, who resigned to enter the real estate field in Toledo.

HOBBY WITH A WALLOP—Many a headache for the wrongdoer has come from the backyard woodworking shop of H. O. Harper, a Columbia, S. C., policeman. He turns out night sticks, those handsome shillalahs which are the patrolman's symbol of authority. At left, he displays a piece of stovewood from which he fashions the persuaders on his lathe at right. He uses hickory or oak. Most of the Columbia force carries his sticks and many have gone to colleagues in other cities.

Foreclosures Increase

DETROIT (AP)—Circuit Court land contract foreclosures are nearing the level set in the depression years of the early 1930s, Circuit Court Commissioner William Krueger said Wednesday. He said the court foreclosed 1,820 land contracts, an increase of nearly 500 over 1950. He blamed the low down-payments on homes following the Korean War and extended consumer credit.

Man Who Weds for Gain Pays Highest Tax of All

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Prickly prejudices of a Pavement Plato:

You can't trust a man who never has a dog around his house except the breed currently in fashion.

* * *

A SMALL MIND

The most dangerous thing in the world is a small mind in the grip of a big idea.

There is no such thing as a born housewife; it takes the best years of a man's life to train one properly.

Education reaches its peak for most students in the kindergarten—from then on they memorize more than they discover.

A SMALL WORLD

Nobody knows how small the world really is more than a man who tries to keep up a home and a love nest in the same town.

Show me a guy who puts on rubbers and grabs for an umbrella at the first sign of a cloud in the sky, and I'll show you a guy with a secret passion for buying wildcat oil stock.

It is possible to admire anyone who prides himself that he never asks a favor; what's impossible is to like him.

No man who hates himself can find lasting satisfaction in all the world outside him.

I don't mind young people who don't know who Mary Pickford is. The ones who really make me feel old are those who ask, "Who was Shirley Temple?"

Detroit Posts Mail Cuts

DETROIT (AP)—Postmaster Edward L. Baker Wednesday posted official notices of curtailment of postal service in all Detroit postoffices. The notices said in accordance with orders of Postmaster Gen. Summerfield there will be no mail deliveries on Saturday, with the exception of special delivery and further curtailments would eliminate the need for 575 substitute carriers.

Court Orders Probe of Usury

Home Loan Transaction Sparks Investigation of Illegal Interest Rates

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne Circuit Judge George E. Bowles yesterday asked the Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission to investigate possible usury by home loan companies.

* * *

He canceled all interest charged in a home loan transaction brought before him yesterday.

Harry Kolton of Dearborn testified that H & H Investment, Inc., demanded $6,000 for a $5,000 loan, in addition to the legal maximum interest of 6 per cent on the $6,000.

* * *

He said the extra $1,000 was a "bonus" he had to pay to get the loan.

The company started foreclosure proceedings against him when he fell behind in payments after repaying nearly $3,000.

* * *

Kolton stopped the foreclosure against his property, valued at $15,000, with a circuit court restraining order, and filed a counter claim alleging illegal interest rates.

Red Skelton Doesn't Find It So Easy

The Hollywood Lad, Dad Who Never Stop Laughing

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — This is about a little boy in Hollywood who never stops laughing.

Richard's very first laugh, when he was only 18 months old, meant more to his dad than the acclaim of millions. Even if Red did have to squirt ink all over his famous face and expensive clothes, and was late to the studio that morning.

At nine, Richard's still laughing. More than ever.

His daddy want it that way.

"What are you giving up for Lent?" he'll ask Richard.

"My school homework."

There's an expensive model train set covering two ping pong tables in the sitting room outside Red's bedroom. Richard, an engineer's cap atop his red hair, sits on a stool. Red wears an engineer's cap, too, and with the comedian at the controls the wreckage is something fearful.

There's a makeup table in the Skelton home. Richard sits there while Red plays "movie makeup man." Finally Richard gets to look at himself in the mirror. He sees Freddie the Freeloader, junior edition.

SEES DADDY'S SHOW

Richard is old enough now to watch his daddy's TV show which doesn't come on the air until 9:30 in Hollywood. Red talks back to himself on the screen as they watch the delayed kinescope, and stay up past his bedtime and Richard never stops laughing.

* * *

"Now in this scene," Red announces to Richard, "you pick up the book, throw it at the wall and then you sneak outdoors and push a chair into the swimming pool."

Richard never stops laughing.

"Why does a chicken cross the street?" Red suddenly will ask Richard at the dinner table. "To get on the other side," replies Richard. Then both fall on the floor and roll around—and Richard never stops laughing.

The Air Force sent Richard one of those test pilot helmets—the Man From Mars type. Red puts it on, struts around and then tries to take it off. It won't budge.

"Daddy's caught again!" Richard alerts everyone in the house.

Everyone rushes in and for half an hour Red struggles to free himself, making it look so difficult it's fabulous.

* * *

Red Skelton frequently wanders through the novelty and toy stores in Westwood Village near their Bel-Air Home. His arms are full of packges when he returns home to hide them in a closet. Now and then Red announces to Richard:

"Here's a little present I bought for you."

It's easy when you are trained for it.

But not so easy sometimes, as any comedian will tell you.

RICHARD LAUGHS IT UP — Dad, sister laugh too.

Pooch Has Dry Feet but Not Much Energy

PARIS, Ky. (AP) — The baby sitter told little Bruce Dillon "your dog is tracking up the kitchen with his wet feet."

A few minutes later the girl heard muffled cries from the basement.

Bruce had dropped the pooch into the clothes drier and flipped the switch. The pup was in sad shape when rescued—but he sure was dry.

Tulip Business Hardy Perennial

Worth Many Millions to Growers, Festivals Reveal Dutch Influence

WASHINGTON — The tulip, an artistocratic creation of centuries of crossbreeding, recently was set back a thousand years.

British scientists reported they could revert the tulip to a primitive form by treating it with atomic rays.

Despite the awesome prospect of evolution in reverse, it is unlikely that any Dutch or American bulb growers took alarm. Today's highly cultured descendant of the wild tulip is a multimillion-dollar commodity, says the National Geographic Society. The tulip business is a hardy perennial.

Along with tulips, the tulpenfeest has migrated to North America. The most famous of American tulip festivals transforms Holland, Michigan, into a spectacular Dutch treat. Other annual festivals are held in such widely scattered cities as Tarrytown, New York; Pella, Iowa; Plankinton, South Dakota, and Hardwick, Vermont.

A member of the lily family, Tulipa apparently first spring up in Asia and southern Europe. Turkish hybridizers tamed and groomed the plant for what turned out to be a striking international career. And since its debut, it has been an attention getter.

Going on to new fields in western Europe, the tulip was a rage. The Dutch, by tradition wise and level-headed, raced into the wildest kind of tulip speculation in the 1630's. Burghers and scullery maids alike dabbled in the tulip market. Fortunes were made and lost.

Demand for exotic new varieties was such that single bulbs could bring $10,000. A brewer swapped his entire factory for a specimen. One tragedy concerns a rich merchant who obtained six rare bulbs, his witless servent promptly popped the "onions" into a stew.

A capricious flower, the tulip is subject to a virus that affects only the color. Mutation specialists carefully watch the fields for a "break" that may be developed into a beautiful — and profitable — new type.

Singapore Churchmen Oppose Late Drinking

SINGAPORE (AP) — Experts trying to make the colony a tourist attraction have roused the antagonism of church leaders by suggesting late drinking.

The experts, at a meeting, were also told that nightspot and hotel managers have been barred by the Singapore Musicians Union from bringing in foreign bands to improve their musical offerings.

Rev. J. R. Fleming, secretary of the Malayan Christian Council, said: "We do not want to attract tourists by making it easier to drink."

Argentine receipts from sheep sales recently jumped 40 per cent over the average for the preceding five years as a result of the impetus of a Soviet Russian order for 20,000 tons of mutton.

Woman's Number Up in Prayer Confusion

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — The Daily Progress here published a story about a telephone prayer service in Mullins, S. C. All a person had to do was dial a specified number to hear a recorded prayer.

Trouble was lots of folks didn't notice that this was in Mullins, S. C. — not Charlottesville. And the number happened to be the same as that of Mrs. M. E. Patterson here. After her telephone rang most of the night she asked the Progress for help —an item to make it clear that the service was in far away South Carolina.

Women Forge Ahead

MOSCOW (AP) — Women are moving into the big jobs in the Soviet Union.

The Communist Party magazine "Kommunist" said women now comprise 53 percent of all specialists with higher education, including more than ten thousand with degrees of bachelor or doctor of science.

In addition women hold 2,209 seats in the Supreme Soviet and Supreme Soviets of the various republics and more than half a million seats in local soviet (government) organizations.

Coal is now mined in 32 of the United States.

Dr. Adams May Practice Again

Relaxes After Ordeal of His Murder Trial in Rustic Hideaway

LONDON (INS)—Dr. John Bodkin Adams may soon return to the practice in Eastbourne he was forced to abandon last December when arrested and charged with murdering one of his many wealthy widow patients.

But for the next few days the 58-year-old bachelor will rest at a country hideaway after successfully undergoing the longest murder trial in English criminal history.

A jury acquitted Adams Monday of a charge that he murdered Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell with overdoses of narcotics so that he could benefit from her will. The Crown then announced it was dropping a second murder indictment involving another wealthy widow who died while under his care.

The jury's decision confirmed forecasts Adams made to friends in letters since his arrest.

Several letters, reiterating his innocence and faith in British justice, were printed in London newspapers, some of which the doctor has threatened to sue for libel because of the manner in which they reported his troubles.

Adams told newsmen after he walked out of court a free man that he had not lost a night's sleep since his arrest. He said he felt confident all the time that "God would see that right is done."

U. S., Canada Push Move to Use Weight

Bushel May Be Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bushel may be on its way out as a unit of measure.

Both American and Canadian governments as well as trade groups in both countries are pushing moves to measure grains by the hundredweight instead. The U. S. Agriculture Department has made a survey of the matter and will make a report on findings at a convention of the American Feed Manufacturers Assn. in Chicago May 1.

The American Feed Manufacturers Assn. has been spearheading a drive for such a change. It contends that the bushel as a unit is outmoded and is a cause of much confusion.

Confusion in the use of the bushel arises in part out of the fact that it is not a uniform unit in all countries using it and also because of the fact that there is great variation in the weight of a bushel of various grains.

The standard bushel in the United States contains 2,150.42 cubic inches. The Canadian bushel contains 2,219.6 cubic inches.

In this country a bushel of wheat weighs 60 pounds, rye, flaxseed and shelled corn 56 pounds, ear corn 70 pounds, barley 48 pounds and oats 32.

In recent years, the Agriculture Department has succeeded in getting the hundredweight adopted in place of the bushel in measuring potatoes, sweet potatoes and fresh vegetables.

Ignores Lesson, Issues Fine

Judge Overrides Cabbie

CHICAGO (INS)—Cab driver John Rockwell learned the hard way that it does not pay to try to teach the English language to an obstreperous judge.

He tried to give traffic court Judge Joseph H. McCarry a lesson in semantics while defending himself against a charge of making a U-turn in an intersection.

Rockwell argued that the city code actually permits U-turns within intersections because it prohibits them, according to section 27-46, "at any point closer than 100 feet to a street intersection."

The cabbie stressed the word "to" which he said terminates the application of the 100-foot rule.

USE 'WITHIN'

He said the code should prohibit U-turns "within' such an area if it is meant to apply there.

Rockwell noted that he had gained acquittals with the argument three other times.

Judge McCarry listened impatiently and then ordered Rockwell to pay a $25 fine and $10 court costs, although the fine and costs recommended by the municipal court total only $10.

Rockwell commented that he is often misunderstood by "people who go to college and study platitudinous phraseology, but fail to learn the meaning of words, especially prepositions like 'to.'"

Later, assistant corporation counsel Julius S. Cordell admitted that the cabbie probably was right in his criticism of the law.

Doctors Hail TB Treatment

Cure Made Completely on 113 Trial Cases at Denver Hospital

LOS ANGELES (INS)—A treatment of tuberculosis that some medical men consider as significant in this field as Salk vaccine is in polio was described in Los Angeles yesterday.

Dr. Gardner Middlebrook, research director of the National Jewish Hospital in Denver, where the treatment was developed, told newsmen it has been 100 per cent effective in the first trial group of 113 cases.

The new treatment involves a new way of using anti-TB drugs and a minimum of bed-rest and hospitalization.

Several years ago, when the powerful anti-TB drug, isoniazid, was first developed, it was hailed as the answer to tuberculosis. But some patients mysteriously developed a resistance to the drug.

BECOMES IMMUNE

In these cases, the tubercle bacilli became immune to isoniazid after a short course of treatment and the disease took hold again, generally becoming worse.

The explanation offered was that these patients had a particularly violent form of disease.

Dr. Middlebrook reported, however, that he and his colleagues showed that instead of being a result of an especially virulent bacillus, the resistance came about because the patients had different chemical atmosphere in their bodies.

★ ★ ★

To counteract this, the Denver group takes what it calls biological assays of each patient to determine the individual need for isoniazid and then tailors the dose to fit the requirement.

District Attorney Seen at Gambling Night Club

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A Portland police officer testified yesterday that he saw Dist. Atty. William Langley in a roadhouse where a private gambling party was going full blast.

He is Detective Sgt. Dan Mitola who was called by the state to help prove its charge that Langley deliberately failed in his duty of prosecuting gamblers.

Mitola said he was at Jack and Jill's night club on the night of Feb. 25, 1955, "on business" — knowing there were gamblers and other underworld figures there. He said he and Langley sat at a table just inside the door of the place and that he saw gambling equipment.

Asked by Langley's attorney if it occurred to him to try to stop the gambling, Mitola said: "No, it didn't."

The state contends that Langley's failure to take action at the time was incidental to a conspiracy to open Multnomah County to gambling.

Another witness yesterday, Mrs. Ruth Hennessey, testified she saw Langley in the room of the night club where she was operating a "high dice" game.

She said she was employed to run the table for the annual fund-raising party of the Paint, Lacquer and Varnish Assn.

Elliott Cummings, who is prosecuting the case against Langley, said that William B. Nettleton and Portland racketeer Big Jim Elkins were partners in the gambling operation. Last month Elkins was a star witness before the Senate racketeering.

Langley also was a witness at the hearing. He cited the Fifth Amendment to protect himself from possible self-incrimination when asked certain questions about vice conditions here.

Should Langley be found guilty of the charge on which he is being tried, he would be removed from office and possibly fined. There also are a number of other indictments pending against him including accusations of malfeasance, perjury and conspiracy to accept a bribe and obstruct justice.

This is the first major case to come to trial after a year long investigation of vice and corruption here. Some 30 persons have been indicted.

Circuit Judge Frank J. Lonergan, who is trying the case, declined a request by Langley's attorneys that television and newspaper photographers be banned from the courtroom. The photographers have been permitted to take pictures with natural light only, flashes being barred.

Money Taken by Wage Deductions

Reds Halt Cash on 'Loans'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government is stopping the payment of either principal or interest on 260 billion rubles lent to Moscow by Soviet citizens. And Nikita Khrushchev had told the people they can expect no payments for the next 20 or 25 years.

The money has been collected over the last 20 years in state loans taken from the people's wages through deductions.

Khrushchev also said that effective in 1958 there will be no more annual loan drives. During these drives Soviet citizens have been contributing each year up to one month's pay in return for the bonds.

Anticipating a skeptical attitude abroad to this measure, Khrushchev declared:

"The capitalist merchant who would cut his father's throat for one-half per cent of profit will never understand this.

"He will never understand the soul of the Soviet people. He will never believe you are doing this of your own free will. He will read the papers and say they have intimidated the workers and peasants into accepting this measure."

Cite State Tourist Boom

MARQUETTE (AP) — The Upper Peninsula Development Bureau's resort and tourist division cited increased sales tax returns as evidence that tourist business is booming in Upper Michigan. The division said in the last five years July business went up $5,510,504, while January business increased $2,872,881.

GOP Opens 1st Study Session

Omaha Site Emphasizes Farm Problem; Seeks Realistic Appraisal

OMAHA (AP) — Republicans from eight Midwest states open the first of six "how to win" sessions today in the heart of traditionally Republican territory.

But even here, the urgency of the Republican problem is apparent, for the GOP suffered losses in the farm states in 1936.

Seven of the eight states represented were in the Republican column last year but the GOP actually lost ground in four — Iowa, Kansas, Colorado and South Dakota.

Only two of the eight maintain solidly Republican Congressional delegations. They are Nebraska and North Dakota. Minnesota's congressional delegation is split — five Republicans and four Democrats. Oklahoma has five Democrats and one Republican.

National Republican Chairman Meade Alcorn, who will preside at the meeting, says, "The campaign in the farm states will be tough. We are not conceding anything, but we are being coldly realistic."

Selection of Nebraska — where Rep. R. D. Harrison of the House Agriculture Committee won re-election by 246 votes — for the meeting site emphasizes the importance of the farm problem in the initial meeting.

Nebraska National Committeeman T. H. Maenner of Omaha, conference host, said he is hopeful that the meeting may unearth more of "what the farmers really feel."

Special committees will work behind closed doors, starting tomorrow, on Republican organization, formulation of state, congressional and county conferences. Democratic weaknesses and Republican goals. The budget and "Modern Republicanism" probably will be discussed. The finance committee meets today.

Chairman Andrew Schoeppel of the Senate Campaign Committee and Chairman Richard M. Simpson of the Congressional Campaign Committee will be at the meeting.

National committee members, state chairmen and vice chairmen, state finance chairmen, Young Republican chairmen and state presidents of the Federation of Republican Women have been invited to bring the planners "frank answers, not unrealistic hopes," Alcorn said.

Governor Defends Business Taxes

LANSING (INS)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams states business is not leaving Michigan because of the state's tax policy.

Williams revealed a study which "utterly demolishes" the claim that business is fleeing.

The study showed Detroit taxes are higher than all suburban communities and this, coupled with industry's need for more space, "plays a considerable role" in business moving out of Detroit.

A Northwestern University professor compiled the report which was financed by an affiliate of the Ford Foundation. It was co-ordinated by the University of Michigan School of Business Administration.

Singer Belafonte Wed to Julie Robinson

Will Ask Investigation of VA Hospital Order

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—Rep. August E. Johansen (R-Mich) says he will ask the House Government Operations Committee to look into an order that bread-baking operations be halted at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Fort Custer.

Bread-baking at the hospital was halted April 1, the hospital announced, to get the government agency out of competition with private business. The cost to the hospital was estimated at about $845 a year.

Brothers in Navy Serve Together After 25 Years

HONOLULU (AP) — The Swinson brothers enlisted in the Navy together as apprentice seamen in 1929. In 1932 they married sisters.

Wayne Geography Prof Dies of Heart Attack

Thief Proud of 'Trade'

MILWAUKEE (AP) — George Hunt, 27, who told police he was proud of being a thief has been sentenced to six months in the house of correction on a charge of shoplifting.

Hunt was arrested after running from a store and said "I'm proud of being a thief and I intend to steal all my life." Police records showed he was convicted five times earlier for larceny.

So You Hate Cold? Read and Be Glad!

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (INS) — Residents of Mother Earth would have to start climbing if all the ice in the world melted.

A noted geographer, Dr. Richard J. Russell, professor of geography and dean of the graduate school at Louisiana State University, says everything less than 200 feet above sea level would be inundated if all the ice melted.

However, Dr. Russell explains it isn't likely to happen overnight. He told a University of Michigan audience recently that it's taken 18,000 years for enough ice to melt to raise the sea level some 450 feet. That's less than three and a half feet per century.

Youth's Mother Finds 'Toy' Pistol to Be Real

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Tommy Jones' mother suspected that the cops and robbers pistol he was playing with was real.

Mrs. John Jones looked it over and found her suspicions were well founded. It was a loaded .32 caliber automatic. He told Patrolmen Jack Beecher and John Roake that he found it in a rose bush in his back yard.

THIS "GRADE A" BLENDED WHISKEY HAS NOT GONE UP IN PRICE...STILL $3.65 A FIFTH!

Do you know the A-B-C's of judging blended whiskey?

A means a "Grade A" blend...whiskies with the highest proportion of aged whiskies and less neutral grain spirits. Three Feathers is a "Grade A" blend, skillfully made with older and finer whiskies to give you a smoother, mellower drink.

B means a "Grade B" whiskey which contains a smaller amount of aged whiskies and more neutral spirits. Three Feathers is not a "B" blend.

C means cost. Practically all "Grade A" blends have recently gone up in price. Three Feathers has not. It still costs the same as most "Grade B" whiskies.

This is the evidence...you can check it yourself any time at your liquor store. Your verdict has to be: Three Feathers is America's Greatest Blended Whiskey Value! Try a drink at your friendly tavern or buy a bottle today!

Food for Easter Needs Special Touch

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Easter is coming to be as special a season for food as are the winter holidays. We think of certain foods as traditional for this time of year; like ham for Easter dinner; and creamed eggs the next week to take care of the dozens left by the Easter bunny.

In addition to planning your meals for Easter day itself, some of you homemakers will have to plan additional meatless meals for Saturday as well as for the usual Friday. We thought we would try to suggest some new ideas for all these meals.

We were guests at a dinner party the other night where the hostess served delicious salmon steaks. She had covered them with canned tomatoes, added seasonings and poured half a cup of margarine over the fish. Then she baked them in a moderate oven until tender. They were juicy and a treat to eat. Thirty to forty minutes would be about the right baking time.

Here's another fish dish, one you can make in a hurry. It serves only two people so is ideal for Mrs. Working Wife. She can pick up a package of frozen shrimp on her way home from work.

Skillet Tomato Shrimp

1 large tomato
1 package (7 ounces) individually frozen shelled and deveined shrimp
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 clove garlic, crushed
¼ cup minced parsley
Salt and pepper

Plunge tomato in boiling water for a few seconds or hold stem end over gas flame; remove skin and stem end. Slice, discard seeds and dice.

Turn shrimp into nine or ten-inch skillet over fairly high heat to remove glaze; turn as necessary and keep moving with a wooden spoon. There should be very little liquid in pan.

Add butter or margarine and garlic to skillet with tomato and parsley. Cook, tossing shrimp almost constantly until cooked through. Cut one or two shrimp in half to make sure they are opaque. It should take only three or four minutes. Sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste. Serve at once. Makes two servings.

Many people like to entertain at Easter Brunch. They go to early church, then plan to have a festive meal with good friends afterwards. Brunch menus usually follow the same pattern.

They start with fruit. Then there is a meat and-or egg dish with breadstuff. Usually one kind of sweet bread is offered. Lots of good hot coffee should be planned to go along with the conversation that always follows.

Your fruit can be broiled grapefruit. Before broiling, sprinkle fruit with sugar and cinnamon, or cover with a spoonful of maple syrup or molasses. Broil slowly about 15-20 minutes.

Hot muffins will hit the spot if your brunch includes regular or Canadian style bacon. These are made with canned yams. Nuts are mixed into the muffin batter, while cinnamon and sugar top each muffin.

Yam Nut Muffins

1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons brown sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts
2 eggs, well beaten
¾ cup milk
1 No. 2 can yams, drained and mashed or 1½ cups cooked mashed yams
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
Cinnamon
Granulated sugar

Sift flour, salt, brown sugar and baking powder together. Add walnuts and mix well. Combine eggs, milk, yams and butter or margarine; mix well. Add yam mixture to dry ingredients all at once and mix only until ingredients are combined.

Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Sprinkle lightly with cinnamon and granulated sugar. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees) 25-40 minutes, or until done. Makes 12 muffins.

A different hot bread may be made with packaged biscuits. The Prune Turnovers will take even less time to make than the muffins.

Prune Turnovers

2 packages ready-to-bake biscuits
1-3 cup sweetened condensed milk
1½ cups (one 4-oz. pkg.) shredded coconut
1 cup (one 16-oz. jar) whole cooked and pitted prunes
1 egg beaten with 1 tablespoon sweetened condensed milk

Roll prepared biscuits to ¼-inch thickness to make 3-inch rounds. Blend sweetened condensed milk with coconut. Stuff each prune with about 2 teaspoons of this mixture. Place stuffed prune in center of each biscuit round. Fold in half; seal edge by pressing together with the tines of a fork.

Prick tops of turnovers and brush with egg-milk mixture. Bake on greased baking sheet in a hot oven (400 degrees) for 12-15 minutes.

If you are entertaining Easter afternoon for the children, you'll want to have a cake. Cover it with a Magic Chocolate Frosting and decorate it with fondant eggs or with jelly beans. The magic part of the frosting is sweetened condensed milk.

Magic Quick Chocolate Frosting

1 1-3 cups (1 15-oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
1 tablespoon water
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 squares (2-oz.) unsweetened chocolate
½ teaspoon vanilla extract

Put sweetened condensed milk, water and chocolate in top of double boiler. Mix well. Add chocolate. Cook over rapidly boiling water, stirring often until thick (about 10 minutes). Remove from heat. Cool. Stir in vanilla. Spread on cold cake.

Whatever your plans may be for Easter, include something in the way of special food. Menus a little out of the ordinary are rarely more difficult to prepare. And they pay tribute to a special day.

Babies Need Vitamin D

To supplement sunshine and food, babies and young children usually need to take a special vitamin D preparation or one of the fish-liver oils regularly. These oils from halibut, shark and cod are the richest natural sources of vitamin D known.

Cereal Nests Hold Candy Eggs for Easter

To millions of children, Easter means the coming of the Easter bunny — with gifts and gay colored eggs. Little do they realize that the Easter egg tradition is as old as history itself.

Back in the time of the ancient Persians the Easter egg was a symbol of a rebirth. They believed the world was hatched from an egg one spring.

The first association of the rabbit with Easter is not definitely established, but the rabbit was used in pre-Christian fertility lore as a symbol of new life and the reproduction of nature.

For a novel egg nest, try these pretty little edible nests, filled with colored eggs. It's an easy and inexpensive kind of enchantment for children and fun to make.

Easter Nests

½ cup sugar
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup dark corn syrup
¼ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
3¼ cups corn soya flakes

Combine sugars, corn syrup, salt, water and butter. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until sugars are dissolved. Continue cooking, stirring only enough to prevent burning to 245 degrees. (Firm ball in cold water.) Remove from heat.

Add corn soya flakes and mix thoroughly. Drop at once by tablespoonfuls onto a greased surface and shape quickly into nests. Fill with candy eggs. Yield: Approximately 8 nests.

Exotic Javanese Sauce Made With Molasses

What's in a name? It's glamour! And it transforms this crunchy tart-sweet ice cream sauce, made with everyday ingredients, into exotic "Molasses Sauce Javanese."

Combine ½ cup peanut butter (the chunky kind), ¼ cup New Orleans molasses and ¼ cup milk. Mix well, then gently stir in ¼ cup whipped cream. Spoon it over vanilla ice cream . . . taste . . . and listen to the temple bells ring!

Odor Will Betray Them

Scallions, called green onions in some parts of the country, should be wrapped tightly before they are stored in the refrigerator. A transparent plastic bag, the sort carrots come in, is fine to use for the wrapping. Twirl the end of the bag tightly and fasten with a rubber band.

Blue Cheese for Dressing Pleases Men

Tomato Juice — Crackers
Broiled Steak — French Fries
Green Peas — Crusty Rolls
Hearts of Lettuce with Blue Cheese Dressing
Apple Pie — Beverage

Blue Cheese Dressing

½ cup firmly-packed blue cheese
1 hard-cooked egg
½ cup peanut oil
¼ cup white wine tarragon vinegar
1 teaspoon paprika
2 teaspoons finely grated onion (pulp and juice)
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper.

Have blue cheese at room temperature; press through a fine strainer into a small bowl with a wooden spoon. Press egg through same strainer into bowl. Add oil, vinegar, paprika, grated onion, salt and pepper. Beat well with a fork.

Store in tightly covered container in refrigerator. Shake well before serving. Serve over wedges of iceberg lettuce. Makes about 1 cup dressing.

Leftovers often help to make poultry stuffing taste wonderful. A few pickles, finely chopped; a handful of pecans or walnuts; a half cup of cooked peas and carrots — all these may be added to a simple bread dressing.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat? A. Club Steak.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the short loin and is the smallest steak in that section. The tenderloin has practically disappeared. It contains the feather bone and may or may not contain part of the rib bone.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. It is usually broiled or panbroiled. Club steaks cut 1 inch thick require 8 to 10 minutes per side for rare steak; 10 to 15 minutes per side for medium done steak. Steaks cut 1 inch thick are placed 2 inches from the heat and steaks 2 inches thick are placed 3 inches from the source of the heat.

Walnut Apple Juice Cake

1 cup shortening
2 cups sugar
4 eggs
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons nutmeg
1 cup apple juice
1 cup chopped walnut meats
*Apple Juice Filling
Butter Frosting or Frosting Mix

Cream together shortening and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each. Sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and nutmeg. Add alternately with apple juice to creamed mixture. Add nut meats.

Pour into two greased 9-inch deep layer pans. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, 35-40 minutes. Cool five minutes. Remove from layer pans. Cool on wire rack.

Spread filling between layers. Spread frosting. Garnish center of cake with stemmed maraschino cherries.

Apple Juice Filling

½ cup sugar
4 tablespoons cornstarch
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup apple juice
2 egg yolks
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt. Gradually add apple juice, cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cover. Cook 10 minutes. Beat egg yolks, gradually add hot filling, beating constantly until well blended. Add butter, lemon rind and juice; mix well. Enough filling for 9-inch cake.

Quick as a Bunny Dinner

Busy day? Don't feel like fussing? Then it's can opener night! Take canned spaghetti, for instance, and work some quick flavor magic. For two servings, heat together a large can of spaghetti, a minced garlic clove and a tablespoon real New Orleans molasses. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. Definitely different!

Candy Eggs Top Easter Pie

Easter means youthfulness, rejoicing and a fresh green spirit, that's why this delicious eggnog Soften 1 envelope unflavored gelpie fits the picture.

Easter Eggnog Pie

atin in ¼ cup cold water and set aside. Combine 2 egg yolks, ¼ cup sugar and ¼ teaspoon salt in a saucepan. Gradually stir in 1 cup milk. Cook over low heat until custard coats a metal spoon.

Stir in softened gelatin, 1 teaspoon rum extract and ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg. Chill until mixture begins to thicken.

Whip ½ cup heavy cream and fold into mixture. Beat 2 egg whites until they stand in soft peaks. Gradually add ¼ cup sugar and continue beating until stiff. Fold into custard. Turn into a baked, cooled 9-inch pie shell. Chill until firm and ready to serve. Garnish with a wreath of whipped cream.

Arrange 6 mounds of green-tinted coconut on whipped cream wreath. Make a depression in the center of each mound and fill with jelly-bean Easter eggs.

EGGNOG PIE — Eggnog Pie fits into the frame of Easter's joyful spirits. In good keeping with the festive day, this dessert is topped with whipped cream mounds filled with jelly bean eggs.

Glamorize the Carrots

If youngsters balk at the sight of a carrot, it's up to you to make that vitamin-rich vegetable a treat to eat. Take six or seven large carrots, scrub or peel, cut in half and boil till tender. Brush with melted butter and place in a skillet with ½ cup New Orleans molasses. Cook and keep turning carrots until they're candied. Note to mothers—the iron in molasses adds nutrition, too!

A little leftover rice or some noodles in the refrigerator? Add to canned consomme or bouillon.

Use Recipe Tricks to Cut Meat Budget

If you want to cut the meat bill, wield your imagination and learn how good inexpensive meats can taste when combined with vegetables. Here are a few suggestions for dishes which you'll enjoy—dishes which will be kind to your budget.

Planked Burger Dinner

Season ground beef with black pepper, onion, thyme, chopped celery and parsley. Shape into nice, round cakes.

Brush with melted butter and broil about 5 minutes. Place neatly on a plank and dress with a border of fluffy mashed potatoes.

Place under broiler until potatoes have browned. Place mounds of cooked peas and carrots and grilled tomatoes around burgers.

Ground Beef and Sweet Potato Casserole

Sweet-and-Sour Beef Cubes

Brown beef cubes in oil and cook until almost tender in a sweet-sour sauce seasoned with mustard and ginger. Add wedges of green pepper and turnip; continue cooking until meat is tender. Serve over hot, fluffy rice.

Lamb Shanks in Spiced Cranberry Sauce

Brown lamb shanks in skillet. Boil cranberries in water until skins pop. Add cinnamon and cloves. Place lamb shanks in a casserole and pour spiced cranberry mixture over them. Cover and bake.

★ ★ ★

Spicy Veal Loaf with Tomato Gravy

Mix together ground veal, chopped salt pork, eggs, milk, bread crumbs, seasonings, mustard and marjoram. Bake in loaf form.

★ ★ ★

Read Label Before Buying Ham

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

When you go to buy a ham, are you confused by all the different kinds of hams set out for your choice? Perhaps we can help a bit and make it easier for you to decide what you want.

You can buy a whole ham, half a ham, a ham slice or a canned ham. You may choose smoked, uncooked ham, tenderized ham, ready-to-eat ham or Smithfield ham. Any one of them will give you good eating, but you must know what you have.

Only Smithfield, Virginia or Kentucky hams need to be soaked before cooking. If you get a ham of that type, follow instructions on the label. In fact, look for instructions on any label. It's amazing what you'll learn.

The difference between a shank and butt half and a shank and butt portion is that center slices have been removed from the latter. From a butt or shank half you will get about three servings per pound; from the portions about two and a half.

Count on three servings to the pound with a whole ham and four to the pound from slices. From a canned ham figure four.

Thirty minutes before the ham is done remove it from the oven and score the fat. That means to cut through the fat at intervals, making a diamond shaped pattern. Then it is ready for the glaze.

Moisten ¾ cup brown sugar with a little pineapple or orange juice; if desired, add a little grated orange rind and season lightly with ground clove. Spread glaze on ham.

Outline the edge of an orange slice with whole cloves and place in center of ham. Place pineapple wedges around orange slice and center the "flower" with a maraschino cherry. Secure fruit to ham with toothpicks. Return ham to oven for another 30 minutes.

Another interesting glaze is made with pineapple preserves. Spread one cup of the jam evenly over top of ham after scoring. Stud each diamond with a whole clove. Mix ⅓ cup dill pickle juice (from jar of pickles) and two teaspoons curry powder.

Drizzle half of mixture over ham. Bake 15 minutes; drizzle remaining juice - curry mixture over ham. Bake 15 minutes longer.

A third and easily made glaze combines ¼ cup molasses with ¼ cup prepared mustard. Brush part of this on ham. Bake, then glaze again. This amount will glaze an 8-13 pound canned ham.

Baking a ham is really one of the easiest things you can do for a dinner. Make your choice at the store and have a good dinner.

You will want to know the roasting times. The following table will help.

PEARADISE BASKET SALAD — Nest your eggs for an Easter salad. In this case the nest is made of toasted coconut, while the eggs are cream cheese. Colorful gelatin cubes add interest and texture to the salad.

Celebrate Easter With Basket Salad

Whether your home is teeming with eager little egg hunters or is inhabited entirely by wordly sophisticates, this infectious Easter salad is bound to make a hit . . . not only because there is a good bit of the child in us all, but also because a pear-gelatin salad is a perennial favorite no matter WHAT shape it takes.

On this occasion, the pear half is nestled in a bed of strawberry gelatin, about which toasted coconut is frivolously arranged. The "eggs" in the pear cavities are made of creamed cheese.

There are dozens of other interesting pear-gelatin combinations too, of course. One features strawberry flavored gelatin, with gingerale used as part of the liquid and set in a circular mold, with the pear halves forming a design.

Pear-gelatin salads are particular favorites with those who must keep an eye on the waistline. Sweet tasting canned pears are often recommended for weight-reducing diets because they contain Vitamins A, B1, B2 and C.

Despite their low calorie count, canned pears are a satisfying food because their levulose sugar is quickly changed in the body to energy. For added bulk (and Protein) reducers often find it wise to add cottage cheese to their gelatin pear combinations.

Pearadise Basket Salad

4 canned Bartlett pear halves
1 package strawberry flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
¾ cup pear syrup
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup lightly toasted coconut
1 3-oz. package cream cheese

Add hot water to gelatin and stir until dissolved. Stir in pear syrup and lemon juice; chill until firm. To assemble salad cut gelatin into small cubes. Line 4 salad plates with gelatin cubes; place 1 pear half, cut side up, in the center of each. Circle outside of plate with ring of toasted coconut.

Roll cream cheese into shape of small eggs and place 2 or 3 in each pear cavity. Serve with salad dressing if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Bake Layers of Smelt With Mushroom Soup

Bake smelt in mushroom sauce. To do this arrange a layer of smelt in the bottom of a greased casserole. Dilute one can of mushroom soup with milk and pour half of it over the fish. Put a second layer of fish in the casserole and cover with the remaining soup.

Bake 30 to 45 minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) or until most of the soup has been absorbed by the fish.

Bavarian Cream Recipe Updated With Frozen Juice

Like a sunbeam on your Easter table is a ring mold of golden yellow Tangerine Bavarian. From a frozen foods test kitchen comes this recipe for a velvety smooth, tangy dessert that's so right for eating after the rich flavors of Easter ham and all the trimmings.

Food customs at Easter vary in different countries. In the Russia of the old days, roast pig and pashka, a wonderful dessert made of cheese, were popular. In Italy, egg dishes and roast baby lamb star on the menus. Lamb too, is a favorite in Greece.

With us, however, pink, juicy ham has become a tradition. In every country though, eggs — both for eating and decorating are featured. The coloring of eggs for this Spring festival goes way back to the early Egyptians — it's a very ancient custom.

Today, we can decorate our eggs with crepe paper that's flame proof — beautifully colored — and with designs as intricate or simple as we wish. For Easter too, we star this Tangerine Bavarian — using 4 eggs, to give the perfect finishing touch to your Easter menu.

Tangerine Bavarian

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
4 egg yolks
½ cup sugar
2 cups hot milk
1 6 oz. can frozen tangerine juice, thawed and undiluted
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Place gelatine and water in small saucepan and dissolve over low heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Beat egg yolks with sugar until thick and lemon colored. Add hot milk slowly, beating constantly. Place egg-milk mixture in top part of double boiler. Stir constantly over hot, not boiling, water until mixture thickens and coats back of spoon. Remove from heat, cool slightly.

Stir in melted gelatine, frozen tangerine concentrate and lemon juice. Blend thoroughly, then pour into lightly oiled 9-inch ring mold. Place in refrigerator to set, several hours, preferably overnight. When ready to serve, loosen around edges with small spatula and gently turn out on serving plate.

If desired, the center may be filled with the following meringue. Serves 6-8. Serve with a colorful sauce of frozen raspberries (thawed).

Meringue Filling (Optional)

egg whites
½ cup sugar

Beat egg whites until stiff. Add sugar gradually, beating constantly. When all sugar is used, pipe meringue into center of Tangerine tube.

Barbecue Variety Meat

Plan a unique dinner meal featuring Barbecued Pork or Veal Heart. Simply wash the heart and remove the hard parts. Cut hearts in half and dredge in flour and brown in lard or drippings. Prepare the family's favorite barbecue sauce. Pour the sauce over the heart and simmer 2½ to 3 hours.

How Names Originated

Do you know that the names of various kinds of meat come from many languages and represent different eras in history? Steak comes from the Scandinavian word steik meaning "meat on a stick" which is how the early Norsemen and some modern cooks prepare their meat. eventually became bacon. Bacho meaning "smoked pork"

Don't Skimp on Protein

It is advantageous to include some protein in each meal and you do this when you have milk to drink, or on your cereal, and an egg for breakfast. For lunch and dinner, meat, poultry, fish and cheese will fill the bill in supplying top-rating protein.

No waxed paper in the house to use for lining the bottom of a cake pan? Cut a piece of typewriter paper to fit the bottom of the pan and use it. Grease the pan before putting the paper in it.

More U.S. Families Use Skim Milk Now

Slim, trim and skim. They rhyme, of course, and it's possible their close association in the minds of most people accounts for the fact that the typical American family has stepped up its use of skim milk much more rapidly than it has increased its use of regular whole milk.

Americans are using 22 per cent more skim milk than they did two years ago, but only about 4 per cent more whole milk and butter. Even though the increase in skim milk purchases is spectacular, regular whole milk is still the choice of four out of five families, while only about one family in five buys skim milk. But that proportion is increasing.

One of the pleasant ways to get the health benefits of milk is in soup. Quick Carrot Soup, for instance. Grate raw carrot to make one cup. Heat 1 quart of milk; brown two tablespoons of onion in butter for a few minutes; add two tablespoons of flour; add the hot milk and grated carrots. Salt and pepper to taste. Cook for about ten minutes stirring frequently. This recipe makes four ordinary size servings.

Bake Man-Tailored Bran Prune Pudding

Much talk is made of luscious desserts—the kind of luscious desserts that are greeted with oh's and ah's at luncheon parties and coffee sessions. However, these are not the desserts that get the popular male vote, for most men prefer those that are less elaborate—and less conspicuous!

With that in mind, here is a "man-tailored" pudding dessert that's not luscious and elaborate—but simple, substantial and truly good-tasting.

Nutty flavored with whole bran cereal and not too rich, this pudding is an upside down variety.

A cooked and pitted prune is placed in the bottom of the custard cups before the pudding is added, and after baking the dessert is turned out upside down. It's then served hot with a clear amber prune sauce, lightly tanged with fresh lemon.

Bran Prune Pudding

½ cup whole bran cereal
⅔ cup milk
1 cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
8 prunes, cooked and pitted

Combine bran cereal and milk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Blend shortening and sugar.

Add egg and vanilla; beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with bran mixture, stirring with Prune Sauce. Yield: 8 servings.

Prune Sauce

1 tablespoon cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup sweetened juice from prunes
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind

Combine cornstarch and salt in small saucepan. Add juice from prunes gradually, stirring until smooth. Cook over low heat until thickened and clear, stirring constantly. Stir in lemon juice and rind. Serve hot over Bran Prune Pudding. Yield: About 1 cup sauce.

Glazed Berries Nestle in Cups

It's easy to make a party of any meal when you serve these dainty, elegant French Party Tarts. Juicy, red strawberries over a cream cheese filling on spongy shortcake dainties from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department will bring Spring to your table in a bright big way. Chopped pistachio nuts garnishing the edge of each tart put the final gourmet touch on this Continental treat.

To prepare French Party Tarts you'll need the following:

2 3-oz. packages cream cheese
¼ cup cream
1 teaspoon powdered sugar
1½ teaspoons vanilla
4-6 shortcake dainties
2 cups fresh strawberries
1 tablespoon cornstarch
⅓ cup sugar
½ cup water
⅓ cup chopped pistachio nuts

Mix cream cheese, cream, sugar, and vanilla together. Fill center of shortcake dainties with cream cheese mixture. Chill.

Mash ½ of the berries and add sugar. Combine cornstarch and water and stir until free of lumps. Add to strawberry mixture. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until clear and slightly thickened. Set pan in cold water and stir until sauce is cool. Fold in remaining berries halved or left whole.

Top cream cheese with berries. If desired, garnish edge of each tart lightly with chopped pistachio nuts. Serves 4 to 6.

Make Own Special Salt

Mix salt with powdered thyme, powdered bay leaf, paprika, oregano, pepper, garlic, onion—or any of your other favorite spices or herbs. Use proportions to suit your taste, but remember with herbs and spices, a little goes a long way. Keep each of your seasoned salts in an inexpensive glass salt shaker.

For stiff, high, simple, beautiful meringue, beat 3 egg whites with ¼ teaspoon salt until frothy. Gradually add 6 tablespoons of sugar. Then beat again until moist peaks are formed.

Layer Apples and Cheese for Tempting Salad

A refreshing salad that's appropriate for luncheon or dinner is made with fresh Delicious or Winesap apples, cored but not peeled. Cut apples into slices and spread with softened cream cheese or roquefort. Stack the cheese-and-apple slices, allowing about four to a serving. Add walnut meats if desired and top with French dressing.

Poaching Eggs Is Easy

Perfect poached eggs every time. Add generous amount of salt and 1 tablespoon of vinegar to water and bring to boil. Then slip eggs into water and allow to simmer. This helps the egg whites to set firmly, evenly.

FLAKO-Easier! Tastier! Flakier!

Clabber Girl's modern version of Quick Easter Buns

QUICK EASTER BUNS

Yield: 2 dozen buns

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2½ teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground allspice
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup shortening
½ cup currants
1 egg
½ cup milk
Milk for glaze

Sift together flour, Baking Powder, spices, salt, and sugar into a mixing bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Blend in currants. Beat together egg and milk and add all at once to dry ingredients. Stir lightly with a fork, just enough to moisten all the flour. Knead gently about ½ minute on lightly floured board. Break off pieces of dough about 1½ inches in diameter. Form each into a ball. Place on lightly greased baking sheet. Brush with milk. Bake in a 450° F. (very hot) oven 12 to 15 minutes. While warm, with confectioners sugar icing, form a cross on top of each bun.

Do-It-Yourself...

Remember, it's the fresh ingredients in your home-baked recipe that make things taste better, stay fresh longer.

Cook 1 package frozen cut corn according to directions on the package. Drain, reserving liquid for soups, sauces, and gravies. Pour the contents of 1 (10½ oz.) can condensed celery soup over corn in saucepan and heat while stirring. Serve at once. Serves four.

Lima Beans with Tomato Sauce

Cook 1 package frozen lima beans according to directions on the package. Drain, reserving liquid for soups, sauces, and gravies. Pour the contents of 1 (10½ oz.) can of tomato soup over beans in saucepan. Heat while stirring and serve at once. Serves four.

Toast Cups for Sauce-y Vegetables

Cut crusts from eight thin slices of fresh bread. Brush one side with melted butter or margarine. Press each slice, buttered side down, into small-size muffin pan cups. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees) about 12 minutes or until brown. Serve two cups with vegetable in sauce per person.

Garnish Easter Roast

A roast leg of lamb at the Easter dinner table just seems to denote something special. Therefore, special garnishes are expected. For variety, minted carrots act as a restful and colorful accompaniment. Pineapple chunks rolled in minced mint are delicious. Pitted black olives on carrot strips enhance any meat cut. Of course, plain mint or currant jelly is always a timely stand-by for a lamb entree.

Instant Cream Added to Juice Equals Soup

With all the many new foods that appear on the market, it is amazing that the old favorites still keep top billing with some beginners as well as experienced cooks. Just take for an example, Cream of Tomato Soup and the way it continues to hold its own as America's favorite.

The amazing number of new soups are good and people really like them, but always there comes a day when the taste buds send out a signal and say "we want tomato soup." Naturally, we realize that almost everyone would use canned soup.

However, some homemakers like to vary their recipes and it is with this thought in mind that we are recommending a superb tomato soup made with instant powdered cream. So here goes for this ageless treat made by an intriguing new method.

Instant Cream Tomato Soup

6 tablespoons instant cream
1 tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
2 cups tomato juice
1 cup water
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Mix instant powdered cream with flour and seasonings in saucepan. Add tomato juice and water, stirring to blend. Bring to boiling point over low heat, stirring occasionally. Add butter. Makes 4 servings.

Variations: 2 cups of vegetable cocktail juice can be used instead of tomato juice.

Sulphur, Molasses Wasn't Like This

There is nothing quite like rhubarb for perking tired appetites. Now that Michigan hothouse rhubarb is in season, why not give the family a spring treat?

A double treat of rhubarb in sauce or pie with fresh frozen strawberries is a suggestion made by Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Information Agent. If the rhubarb is young and tender, and most of it is, leave the peeling on for bright rosy color.

Go easy with water when cooking rhubarb. If rhubarb is baked, two tablespoons of water is plenty for two pounds. For flavor interest, one fourth cup of orange juice to a pound of rhubarb will make appetites take notice.

Jellied Apple Rings Call for Whipped Cream

Core but do not peel 4 apples. Cut each apple crosswise in three slices. Boil together 1 cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, 1½ cups water and 2 teaspoons butter or margarine, for 4 minutes. Add apple rings and bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for 25 minutes. Remove the apple rings to a shallow serving dish and pour sirup over them.

When cool, the rings and sirup will be jellied. Top with whipped cream. Serves 4.

Water Chestnuts Glamorize Fish

Since virtually every kind of frozen fish is easy to obtain nowadays, it is no trouble to vary the family's finny food fare during Lent. Nor is it difficult to create an impressive company entree utilizing fish if you remember "it's the sauce that makes the dish".

For baked fish or broiled fillets, water chestnut-butter sauce is an unusual glamor dressing. You'll find water chestnuts readily obtainable in grocery stores in handy 5-ounce cans.

To prepare the sauce in a jiffy, all you do is melt ¼ cup butter in a skillet. Stir in 3 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, and ½ cup slivered water chestnuts; heat thoroughly. Serve over fish.

Second Day Potatoes Are Fluffy as First

Mashed potatoes can be just as light and fluffy the second day as the first.

Simply place the potatoes in top of double boiler over hot water, advise home economists. Cover pan and heat until piping hot. Then add a few tablespoons of hot milk and a generous lump of butter. Whip with a fork until puffy and feather light. Add more salt and pepper if necessary.

Salad for men: paper-thin onion rings on a variety of crisp greens sprinkled with Roquefort cheese and oil-vinegar-and-mustard dressing.

Ilona Yearns to Tell Ike Her Plans for Hungary

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON (INS) — Ilona Massey, the dazzling Hungarian-born screen star who met her current husband six years ago while pouring the woes of Hungary into his ear at the White House, is trying for another White House interview.

Now the wife of Donald Dawson, erstwhile assistant to former President Truman, Ilona has already picketed the White House in behalf of a free Hungary—and wants inside.

She believes she might be as successful as in 1951 when Dawson, after hearing the blonde beauty for 45 minutes, persuaded Truman to threaten retaliation unless Communist Hungary stopped deporting political prisoners to Siberia. Hungary stopped, at least temporarily.

Ilona is convinced that President Eisenhower is wrong in announcing that we have "about exhausted the possibilities of the parolee method" for admitting Hungarians to America.

She wants to tell Ike about her own scheme: Divide up the remaining Hungarian refugees in Austria among all the free nations, including America, and stop the Red regime from exiling freedom-lovers to Russia.

SURE OF SUCCESS

"If I could only get an audition (that's what she calls it) with the President," she sighed prettily, "I'm sure that I could persuade him."

Dawson, who came under political fire during the Truman regime for alleged free-loading at Florida hotels, might be surprised to hear that his new wife thinks Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy is "just too sweet for words."

She's never met Joe, but she was "touched" when he telephoned her last week to see if the 10 Hungarian boys who were arrested for picketing outside the Red Hungarian legation during a "freedom" party needed any help. Ilona was also picketing.

"They didn't, because my husband had gone down to police headquarters and bailed them out with funds from the American-Hungarian Federation," she confided. "But Sen. McCarthy offered to pay out of his own pocket if the boys themselves were fined."

Ilona says the Hungarian situation looks hopeless now, but that we "mustn't feel that way. If America leaves these people stranded, it means that they must commit suicide—that's what they're doing."

WORK RULED OUT

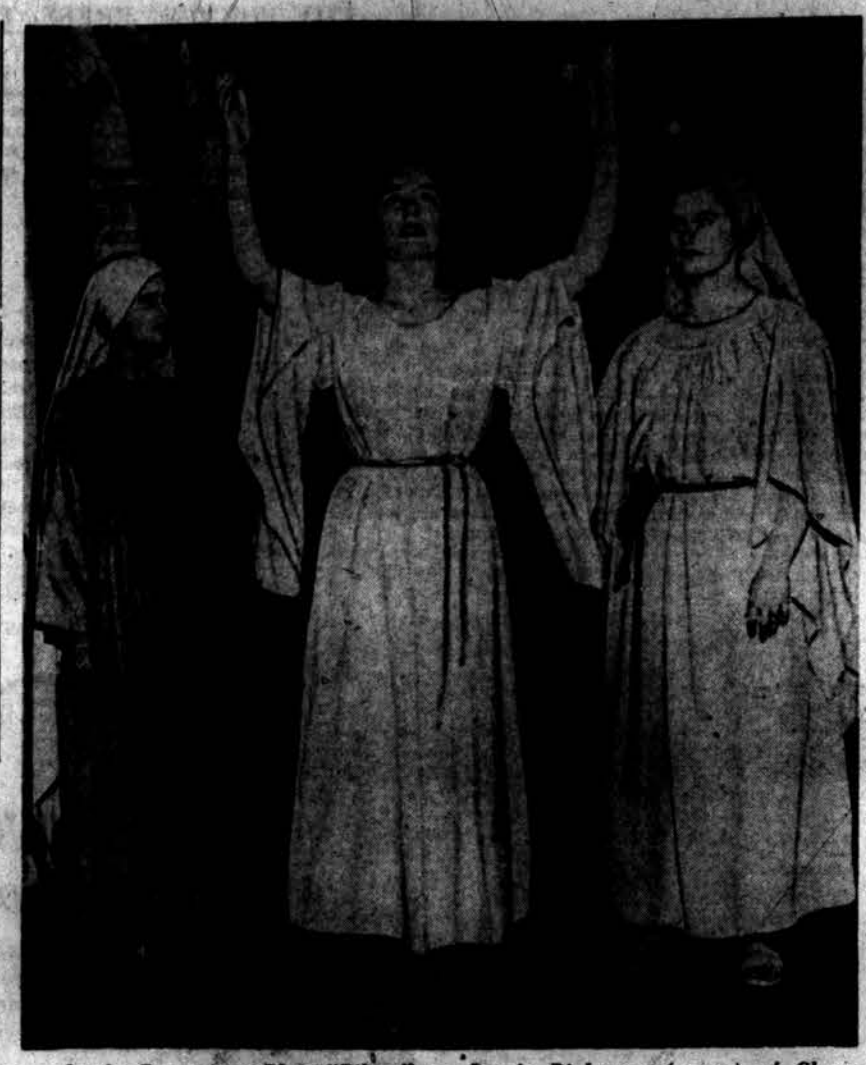
Dawson's former wife, from whom he was subsequently divorced, was working for the government as a file clerk at the time he met Ilona. Now he doesn't want Ilona to work.

The blonde bombshell who made 12 movies in Hollywood before marrying Dawson said she has received two recent offers for Broadway starring roles. One was a comedy which she was anxious to accept, but Don talked her out of it.

"He said if it was the success I hoped for, I would have to live in New York while he practiced law here," she shrugged. "He's right, of course. Your marriage must come first."

As a consequence, Ilona is spending most of her days collecting old clothes from friends, and wheedling vitamin donations from stores to send to Hungarian refugees.

"All I do is pack, pack, pack," she sighed, "but things would be different if I could get an audition with President Eisenhower. I know!"



In the Passion Play, "Pilate," scheduled for 8 o'clock on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday evenings in Kirk in the Hills, Catherine Booth (left) of Dakota circle will appear as Martha of Bethany, Laurie Pinkerton (center) of Clarenden road as Mary, mother of Jesus, and Elaine Palmer (right) of Middlebelt road as Joanna.

Claudia tells Pilate, her husband, of the new teacher, Jesus. Pilate, the governor, says he has already heard of him, and of the discontent of the priests and elders. "One more uprising," says Pilate, "will spell the end of Jerusalem and my position with Caesar." Thomas J. Little of Shallowbrook road will represent Pilate and Suzanne Boyd of Ayrshire drive will portray the part of Claudia in "Pilate," a drama of the Crucifixion to be given by the Fireside Youth Group at Kirk in the Hills.

After they had put a crown of thorns upon Jesus' head and mocked Him, the Roman soldiers led Him away to crucify Him. Portraying the part of the soldiers in the play, "Pilate," to be given at 8 p.m. Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday in Kirk in the Hills will be John C. Palmer Jr. (left) of Middlebelt road and Harlan Davis (right) of Franklin road. James Varnum of Westwood street, Birmingham, will appear as Jesus.

Kirk in Hills Group to Stage 'Pilate' on Three Evenings

Altogether about 50 young people will aid in the production of the play written and produced by Matthew A. Vance, a member of the church.

Jesus of Nazareth will be portrayed by James Varnum. Other members of the cast include Thomas J. Little playing the part of Pilate, Suzanne L. Boyd as Claudia, Laurie E. Pinkerton as Mary, mother of Jesus; Sheilah James, Salome; Tamera Badenoch, Mary of Bethany, and Catherine Booth, Martha of Bethany.

Former professor of philosophy at Olivet College, he was also at the head of speech and drama at Adrian College and spent several years working with the Army at the rehabilitation center at Percy Jones Hospital.

"More than 1,500 saw the play when it was presented two years ago in Avondale," said Mr. Vance, "and people were turned away in Toledo, Ohio, and in Iowa. We expect capacity audiences will see 'Pilate' at the Kirk in the Hills."

Dr. Fink Outlines Reasons for Organization of Group

Thirty people representing business, industry and the medical profession met to organize an Oakland County Chapter of the Michigan State Mental Health Society, Wednesday at Kingsley Inn.

* * *

Dr. L. Jerome Fink, a board member of the state society, pointed out ways in which such a chapter could make use of community resources, and how it could help in the development of better resources.

Important in any public venture such as this is a well-informed public, Dr. Fink declared, and he told the members that it is their responsibility to see that the citizenry has this understanding.

This group will help in the promotion of better legislation regarding the mentally ill by informing the public of some of the laws affecting this problem as it now stands.

* * *

Pointed out as means of education in mental health were the use of special films and workshops designed for groups and organizations.

AID TO INDUSTRY

Mental health understanding can be an aid to industry in helping the employer deal effectively with the emotional aspects. This knowledge also can aid industry in the rehabilitation of valuable workers who have become mentally ill.

* * *

This has been a problem for the person who has become mentally ill and who later is discharged from an institution. His acceptance back into industry often is difficult and prolonged.

The same problem has been encountered by state hospital patients returning to their communities. Where communities are cold and uninformed, patients cannot make the adjustment outside of the hospital, it was pointed out.

Relatives of mental patients must understand mental illness if they are to help the patient; community leaders must take interest in this problem, and the importance of correlation of local services was pointed out.

* * *

Harold G. Webster, executive director of the Michigan State Society for Mental Health, explained some of the areas of progress since the group of lay and professional people began in 1937, including the progress in treatment of emotionally disturbed children. The state now has 17 clinics in operation, he said.

Mental Health Week Set April 28-May 4

The National Association for Mental Health has announced dates for Mental Health Week 1957. Programs on state and local levels we will be held during the four-day period, April 28 through May 4. The slogan is "The Mentally Ill Can Come Back—Help Them."

Stress will be on the hopeful aspect of the fight against mental illness.

She Leaves After Wait of Half Hour

But Tardy Friend Is Irked at Failure to Keep Date

By EMILY POST

A woman asks: "When one makes an appointment to meet someone at a certain place at a certain time, how long is one supposed to wait beyond the meeting time for that person? I waited a half hour for a friend the other night and, thinking that she wasn't going to come, I departed.

"She called me the next day and asked me where I was. I told her I had waited a half hour for her and when she didn't turn up, I left. She was very much put out over it. Was I justified in leaving?"

Answer: In my opinion, you waited long enough to be justified in leaving.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a person is invited to a party where liquor is served and he (or she) doesn't care for anything strong, is it poor etiquette to ask the hostess, or host, for a nonalcoholic beverage even though there is no alternative on the tray?"

Answer: I have always insisted that a host must have a nonalcoholic beverage for those of his guests who may not want a strong drink. However, if none is proffered, you cannot really ask for one.

The only thing you can ask for is a glass of water. Then the host could say, 'Would you like some lemonade?' or whatever he might have that is nonalcoholic.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have had to postpone my wedding date to one month later because of serious illness in the family. I had my invitations printed and addressed.

"Must I order new invitations or can I cross out the old date and write in the new one? I would appreciate hearing from you soon so that I will know what to do."

Answer: Under the circumstances, surely no one will criticize your writing in the changed date.

'Tied to My Mother's Apron Strings? Me? Never!'

Teens Deny They're Mamma's Darlings

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Thirty years ago, author Philip Wylie wrote that America was being ruined by something he called "momism."

★ ★ ★

Wylie charged in his controversial book, "Generation of Vipers," that American youth had grown soft through too great an attachment to their mothers.

Our latest survey shows, however, that most young people today disagree with him.

"Tied to my mother's apron strings? Me? Never!" said a 17-year-old boy.

A 16-year-old Missouri girl added: "Anyone who says I'm a mamma's girl should have his head examined. I'm independent. No one can call me 'chicken.'"

MAJORITY OPINION

These youngsters reflect the opinion of 77 per cent of the boys and 64 per cent of the girls questioned in the nationwide survey.

Other typical comments from this group were these from two Midwestern boys:

"Call it anything you want, but I'd prefer freedom to servitude, even if it is to my own mother."

"I broke away from my mother when I got into high school. No one can tell me what to do. I make my own decisions."

And the majority of the 36 per cent of the girls and 23 per cent of the boys who said they feel they are presently firmly bound to their mothers are not in favor of the situation.

AWAITS BIRTHDAY

"Listen," said a 15-year-old New Jersey boy, "I may be a weakling now, but just wait until my 17th birthday. When I get my senior driver's license, away we go."

A girl of 18 says: "I'm off to college in the fall, and I can't wait to be a free agent at last."

Despite these statements, 76 per cent of those questioned said they felt close to their mother. 78 per cent said they liked her and 79 per cent said they respected her.

It's the charge of "momism," as defined by Wylie, that most don't agree with.

This statement by a 16-year-old girl is typical of those given by the 8 per cent who said they liked being closely attached to their mothers:

"If I am as you say tied to my mother's apron strings, what's wrong with that?

"I listen to her opinions because they are worthwhile, and I spend a lot of time with her because she's fun to be with. It may be unfashionable these days, but I like it this way."

OBEY MOTHERS

Our survey revealed that most of the young people did pretty much what their mothers said until they were 15 or 16 or until they entered high school.

Then they felt a little more independent and some said they purposely rejected their mothers' advice to display that independence. However, most were mellowed within a couple years and, as one girl said:

"When I was 18 I suddenly gained a little more respect for Mother, and I felt sorry for some of the nasty things I'd said and done to her in the last two years."

She attributed this change in feeling to a little more maturity.

The teenagers also contended that their friends are not overly tied down by their mothers. Sixty-four per cent of the boys and 73 per cent of the girls said their girl friends are not too greatly influenced by their mothers.

And by a greater margin — 81 per cent of the boys and 88 per cent of the girls — they said their boys friends were not held by maternal attachments.

HARD TO ADJUST

Eight out of 10 of the young people did not think their mothers babied them too much.

Some said their mothers took more time than necessary in adjusting to the fact they were no longer children, but "they eventually came around," as one teenager put it.

Eighty-one per cent said they were satisfied with their mothers' attitude in the home.

"Mother might be tough on me at times, but it's not the way she would be tough on a kid," a 17-year-old boy said.

"As far as she is concerned I'm an adult."

A girl commented: "Mother respects my opinions and listens to everything I have to say. I like being thought of as a member of the family rather than as a cute little girl."

"I'm actually the head of the household since Dad died," said a 15-year-old boy.

SPANKINGS RARE

The "spare the rod, spoil the child" adage appears to have won many adherents among today's parents.

The survey showed that spanking isn't too popular a disciplinary device. Only 46 per cent of the boys and 29 per cent of the girls said they received spankings during childhood.

Of these, 81 per cent of the boys and 71 per cent of the girls said they seldom were paddled.

Nineteen per cent of the boys and 29 per cent of the girls said they were spanked occasionally, while no one said he was spanked frequently.

Sterner discipline would not have made any noticeable differences in their actions, said 80 per cent of the girls and 64 per cent of the boys.

LOTS OF DISCIPLINE

"Believe me, even if I wasn't smacked, I got plenty of punishments," a 17-year-old boy recalled.

"People don't turn out any better because they are beaten up or severely punished as children," a sophomore girl said.

"If they're going to be good citizens or crooks, they will be no matter how disciplined they are by their parents."

At what age should a boy or girl leave home?

Twenty-five per cent of the boys said 18 or under, 41 per cent said 19 or 20 and 34 per cent said 21 or over.

With the girls it was a different story, as marriage entered the picture. (Girls normally marry younger than boys do).

Thirty-two per cent of the girls said a girl should leave home at 18 or under, 57 per cent said at 19 or 20 and only 11 per cent said 21 or over.

The 50 members of Pontiac's Fashion Your Figure Club would hate to see the return of any of those hard-to-lose pounds which they have lost during the past four years. Lost pounds equal approximately one ton.

This evening at Ted's, old members and new, from the plumpest to the smallest, will gather to celebrate the fourth birthday of the reducing organization, which is sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

Gains and losses during the past year will be as eagerly reviewed as those of any stock market investor. Mrs. George Stafford, president, will call for tributes to those who have proved good members by losing the most pounds.

Among these will be Mrs. Clarence Edwards who reduced three years ago from 170 pounds to her present perfect weight of 130. She remains in the club for her own protection and to help others who need it.

Others are Mrs. George Cunningham, who went from 228 to 130 two years ago, and Mrs. Lawrence Nichols, who once tipped the scales at 215 and is now down to 160.

These are the most dramatic, but many, many others have been successfully attending the Thursday evening meetings at Adah Shelly Library, where they share together the battle of the bulge.

REWARDS HELP

Trophies and prizes for winners and pigs for backsliders, plus pats on the back and good-natured scoldings help the Fashion Your Figure members achieve their goals.

Along with reducing hints and talks come lessons on how to improve the whole personality and appearance, for the club is devoted to achieving improvement in every way.

The club was the idea of Mrs. Joseph McLeod, still an active member. Mrs. McLeod obtained the sponsorship of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

According to Leonard Buzz of the department, they had some misgivings about starting such an organization, and no one was more surprised than they at the success of the Fashion Your Figure Club and its sister club which meets on Tuesday nights, the Fashionettes.

Kathleen M. Bell Speaks Vows in Birmingham Rite

A waltz-length gown of white organdy and lace over pink taffeta was worn by Kathleen Margaret Bell for her marriage to William Henry Aughey III on Wednesday afternoon.

Her gown was fashioned with a high neckline, long full sleeves and a full skirt. Her half-hat was of pastel flowers and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and gardenias.

Kathleen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Bell of Benson, Ariz., formerly of Birmingham. Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Aughey of Wilmington, Del., are William's parents.

The Rev. Harold E. Towne performed the afternoon ceremony in St. James Episcopal Church, Birmingham, in the presence of the immediate families.

For her duties of maid of honor, Pamela Keena of Grosse Pointe chose a pale blue jacket dress with matching accessories and carried a bouquet of pink camellias.

JUNIOR ATTENDANT

A pink peau de soie gown with matching hat and a gardenia corsage was the choice of Mrs. Bell for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Aughey wore a Dior blue gown with matching accessories and a gardenia corsage.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harris O. Machus on Glenhurst drive in Birmingham.

The newlyweds will resume their studies at the University of Michigan where William will receive a master's degree in Business administration in June.

The port of Hong Kong is about 10 square miles in area.

Modern Pairs Are Real Partners

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I think young married people today are wonderful! They seem to be able to get along financially and emotionally even while having babies and finishing an education. During the past few years there has been a big change in the psychology of marriage and in the viewpoints of the two people involved.

One of the most noticeable differences is the active part the young father plays in the care of the children and in giving a hand with the housework. These young men often change their babies' diapers, bathe them and give them their bottle. They pitch in whenever and wherever it is needed.

I do not know just why this has come about unless it is because few modern wives can afford regular help and many cannot afford any at all since it has become so expensive. Also many wives today work outside the home. Then, too, young people today plan larger families than was the custom a generation ago.

The father of the past would no more have thought of caring for his young in such an intimate manner than he would of taming a wildcat. That was the woman's part and his was to make the living.

I think modern marriage is much more a partnership than the average marriage of the past. The man gives his wife some relief from the strain of small children, which she has had all day long, while she is a companion in his work and dreams and ambitions. Also fathers enjoy their little children more this way.

BUT NOT 50-50

There is one danger. Where the wife doesn't work, she should not fall into the habit of thinking in terms of 50-50 at home. This would be far too great a strain on the man. After all he has done a full day's work at the office.

★ ★ ★

In discussing the problems of the modern wife and mother, the Public Affairs pamphlet "The Modern Mother's Dilemma" not only warns against losing sight of yourself as a person but against husband and wife losing sight of themselves as a couple.

It is true that these two factors contribute greatly to the depression and bewilderment which attack many middle-aged women after their children are grown and are no longer at home.

If the man and the woman think of one another as only a parent if they have no time for relaxation or entertainment without their children they are bound to lose that man and woman sense of romance.

To quote from "The Modern Mother's Dilemma," they need time together and leisure together so that they may continue to know and appreciate the individual persons they are; it is not enough to remember the sweethearts they were. This does not mean that they will forget their children, forget that they are parents even for a little while.

THEY CARE ENOUGH

"But it does mean that during those short intervals of recreation they will not think of one another primarily as parents — but as a man and woman who care enough for one another to spend their lives together."

The Public Affairs pamphlet really is a helpful one. If you would like to have it, send 25 cents to Public Affairs Pamphlets, 22 E. 28th St., New York 16, N.Y.

Reuther Offers Plan to Benefit Craftsmen

stricted to workers already employed in plants. This would give production workers an opportunity to train themselves for better jobs.

* * *

Re-elected unanimously with Reuther were five other international officers — Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey and Vice President Richard T. Gosser, Norman Matthews, Leonard Woodcock and Pat Greathouse.

They all will receive pay boosts of $4,000 annually.

The increase will move Reuther up to $22,000, Mazey to $18,000 and the four vice presidents to $16,500.

Members of the international executive board will get a $2,500 hike to bring their salaries to $12,500 and salaries of international representatives will move up from the present maximum of $5,980 to $8,000.

LOWEST PAID

But despite the increases, officers of the UAW will still remain among the lowest paid executives of any international union in the country.

For example, the United Steelworkers pay their president, David J. McDonald, $50,000 a year.

The last time officers of the UAW received a raise was in 1951. Reuther has gone on record as being opposed to a pay raise for himself, arguing he has no need for more money.

* * *

In regional meetings, delegates re-elected 18 members of the International Executive Board and elected one new member, E. T. Michael of Hagerstown, Md. The Executive Board members, who serve as regional directors, are all supporters of Reuther.

* * *

The convention elected Paul Lawson of Philadelphia as a trustee for a full six-year term. Treva L. Berger of Waukegan, Ill., was elected trustee for four years to fill a vacancy.

The UAW constitution was amended to provide that the biennial convention to be held in October instead of April.

School Board to Adopt Budget

Record Expenditures to Necessitate Use of Full Levy Available

Adoption of the 1957-58 budget will be the major concern of the Pontiac Board of Education at its meeting tonight.

The budget is expected to call for expenditures of a record $7,535,324 and will include the levying of the full 8.75 mills approved by the voters three years ago.

The budget may also indicate the board's stand on salary boosts asked by the system's 800 teachers, maintenance men and secretarial help.

The teachers have requested increases totaling $448,000 or about twice the amount set aside for all salary boosts in the tentative budget.

Other matters to be discussed will be school boundaries, the Franklin road site for a proposed elementary school and the shortage of parking space near the Pontiac High School.

The board will be asked, also, to set a date for a special meeting at which bids will be opened on a bond issue to finance school construction, especially the new high school.

Pretoria and several neighboring South African cities have an aggregate of 1,100 vacant jobs for postmen. No sooner do employes become trained than they find better jobs in industry, the postal authorities complain.

Ike Seeks Better Airway Controls

3-Man Modernization Board Is Proposed in Special Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower asked Congress today to set up a new agency to decide on ways of modernizing the nation's airways control system so it can handle increasing traffic.

"This measure will greatly expedite the improvement of air traffic control and air navigation and I therefore urge its early enactment," the President said in a special message.

His recommendation accompanied a report by Edward P. Curtis, who was appointed a special presidential assistant more than a year ago and assigned the job of tackling the air traffic problem. Curtis has been an Eastman Kodak Co. vice president and an Air Force general.

Curtis proposed a three-member airways modernization board to decide what devices and systems are needed to control civil airplanes which, he estimated, will fly 70 billion passenger miles a year by 1975.

He noted, too, that military and civil planes share the same airspace and he said the over-all traffic control system "is an essential part of our national defense against air attack."

Curtis said present government efforts to cope with the problem are too "scattered" to be effective.

The board, as contemplated by Curtis, would serve for three years. Its chairman would be appointed by the President. The departments of Commerce and Defense would each supply an additional member.

Officias said the proposed new agency would, for all practical purposes, replace the Air Navigation Development Board which was set up in 1948. It would not, however, interfere with the regulatory work of the Civil Aeronautics Administration or the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Albanian Leaders Greeted in Russia

LONDON (AP) — An official Albanian delegation headed by Premier Mehmet Shehu and Communist party boss Enver Hoxha reached Moscow today.

Moscow radio said they were welcomed by top Soviet leaders, including Premier Bulganin, Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and ex-Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov, now one of the secretaries of the party's powerful Central Committee.

The Albanians are the last group of officials from Russia's European satellites to make the pilgrimage to Moscow since the anti-Russian Hungarian revolt last fall. The previous delegations have issued joint declarations with the Soviet leaders firmly supporting Kremlin policies. In return they received promises of increased economic aid.

Estate Asks Suit Against Texas on Civil War Bonds

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The House has approved a resolution allowing a suit against the state for some Civil War bonds which a representative said could cost Texas up to three million dollars.

The resolution allows Mrs. W. B. Bufort of New Orleans and George B. Lindler of Houston, Tex., to sue for $46,000 worth of Civil War bonds issued by the state in 1861 and allegedly never redeemed. The sponsor, Rep. Carlton Moore, said Linder is the administrator of the estate of Jeff Chandler, who originally owned the bonds.

Rep. Tony Korioth failed in an effort to knock off the provision allowing the interest. He said the 8 per cent interest on the bonds could run the total owned to three million dollars if the suit was successful.

Approval to sue the state does not acknowledge liability. The case still must be tried in a state court if the resolution passes the Senate.

Teaching Wages Upped

MANISTEE (AP) — Teachers in the Manistee public school system have been granted a salary increase of $400 a year. It raises the minimum starting salary of degree-holding teachers from $3,600 to $4,000 and the maximum from $4,800 to $5,200. Non-teaching employes of the system were granted $200 raises. Sports coaches, who also teach, were granted raises of $50 to $200 besides added athletic pay.

Schools Ready Pageant

MONROE (AP) — Children from nearby Custer schools will participate in a pageant depicting the musical history of the nation during Michigan Week, May 19-25. Some 1,700 turned out to see the program last year in unfavorable weather. Nearly 450 children will take part.

Are Semi-Clad Poses Decent?

Mail Inspector Argues 'Art' Company's Photos Violate Law

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Post Office Department may be called upon to rule when a bikini bathing suit is not a bikini.

This point was raised during a hearing on the department's move to deny use of the mails to a New York firm selling photos of scantily clad models via sultry recorded telephone solicitation.

New York City Post Office Inspector James F. Kenny testified before a department examiner that he, as part of his duties, sent one dollar for the advertised "four exciting and interesting pictures" described by a woman's voice on the telephone.

NEARLY UNDRESSED

He described them as showing a woman "wearing a minimum amount of clothing," or as "nearly undressed."

New York attorney David Berman, defending the accused firm, "Eldorado Arts," and its owner, Saul Hayes, contended that the views—at worst— were only those of a girl "wearing a bikini bathing suit."

Since one picture was of a model on a staircase, O'Brien commented: "Even if true, it is not the custom of the country for women in bikini bathing suits to go swimming on a staircase."

COST $5

A second packet of pictures, ordered from a mailed solicitation, cost the Post Office Department five dollars. They included more pictures, and one eight-by-ten enlargement.

O'Brien described them as showing models "almost completely undressed, or partially clothed, whichever you prefer."

Berman contended in rebuttal that in some of the pictures, the model was wearing as much as many women do on bathing beaches.

He argued that "two people look at the same picture and see different things," and that there is no flat rule on when a picture is objectionable.

But hearing examiner Edward Carlick ruled out of order Berman's attempt to learn if specific rules on admissable and barred pictures have been set out by the department.

Carlick will rule after attorneys for both sides present written arguments, which he said should reach him in three weeks.

School Returns Item Lost by Student's Dad

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Central High student named Bill Labkoff stopped by the school office and was handed a mechanical drawing case by secretary Anita Tobias.

"I found this here," Mrs. Tobias said. "It must be yours. It has your name on it."

Bill examined it and said, "No, it's my father's." Inside the set was printed "L. Labkoff, Sept. 1925."

The elder Labkoff, (Leon J.) said he lost the set that year when he was a student at Central. The school has moved since then but the drawing set went with it.

Don't Throw It Away— Give It to White House!

WASHINGTON (NEA) — When people have something they want to give away — or maybe even throw away — they think of the White House first.

It could be a painting, a statue, a vase, a plaque — almost anything. More than likely, however, it'll be an object connected with Abraham Lincoln.

That's what Linton R. Wilson has discovered as Secretary and Administrative Officer of the Fine Arts Commission. It's his job to backstop the seven volunteer members of the commission, and that means deciding what's suitable for the White House, among other things.

Broadly speaking, the job of the commission is to try to keep the capital looking up to snuff, and that means upholding standards laid down by George Washington.

BATTLE UPHILL

It's an uphill battle, however, due to lack of money, and authority.

"We operate on $35,000 a year at the most," says Wilson, an architect and veteran of Pacific action during World War II. This goes mainly for his salary and three members of his staff. The seven members of the commission from the fields of art, architecture, painting and sculpture give their time free of charge.

"We have to pinch pennies all the time," adds Wilson with a wry smile. "I could use a side table next to my desk, but it would take $21 out of the budget and we can't afford that."

Despite his own lack of equipment, Wilson makes sure that the White House and other government agencies get a crack at furniture and other objects donated by citizens.

OVER-STUFFED

Difficulty is that very few gifts can be squeezed into the already over-stuffed White House where most people want them to be placed.

"We try not to brush off offers, but diplomatically fit them in somewhere," explains Wilson.

For example, a retired older man recently carved the Great Seal of the President in wood, painted it and sent it off to the White House.

Although a well-done piece of work, there was no appropriate place for it in the executive mansion. The seal was then given to the Daughters of the American Revolution who were delighted to have it for their national headquarters here. Everybody, including the owner, wound up happy.

DIDN'T ARRIVE

A gift that did not reach the White House not too long ago was an original President Monroe sofa donated by a descendent. The piece was refurbished and put in one of the private bedrooms.

Most of the gifts involve Lincoln at a rate of 10 to one, according to Wilson. He notes that some of the finest statues and paintings of Lincoln are already in the White House.

"We are very much like a doctor's office here," says Wilson, describing the commission's activity. "People come to us with their problems and we give advice and try to help them out. But we have no way of forcing them to take our advice."

LACK AUTHORITY

This lack of authority hampers the commission's operation, although Wilson claims that it maintains considerable influence on the standards of architecture and art in Washington.

"Sometimes we don't win, but we say what we think," he stresses.

Right now members of the commission are going over designs for the courts and landscaping of the new State Department Building with architects from the General Services Administration.

Wilson deplores the fact that only $200,000 is being spent on the $57 million building for artistic embellishment such as landscaping and decorative sculpture.

★ ★ ★

He terms it "a pathetic amount for that purpose" and a small percentage of the total cost compared to most buildings constructed these days.

★ ★ ★

He also takes a dim view of attempts of Rep. Frank Thompson (D-NJ) to broaden the scope of the commission to include representation in music, drama and dance, literature, graphic arts, motion pictures, radio and television and crafts.

★ ★ ★

He feels Thompson is playing politics in his attempts to change the commission which basically needs more money and more authority to operate effectively.

Mayor Files All Letters Telling Him Drop Dead

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mayor Richardson Dilworth keeps a "Hate File" on his desk. There he stores all anonymous "drop dead" letters he receives and shows them to people who wonder what it's like to be mayor.

Dilworth says, however, that most of the 50 to 100 letters he gets a day are from citizens with real problems or serious questions. The mayor of Philadelphia has to keep many people happy — he has more citizens to report to than 22 governors.

Big Radio Telescope Being Built by Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has announced that it is building near Riverside, Md., one of the largest radio telescopes in the world to pick up radiations from the planets and celestial bodies.

The antenna, which will be constructed principally of aluminum will look like a dish about 84 feet in diameter and will be mounted on top of a steel tower.

The radio telescope was designed by the D. S. Kennedy Co. of Cohasset, Mass. The Navy said it will be the largest one of its kind to be mounted with one axis parallel to that of the earth. This mounting will permit automatic tracking of celestial objects.

Using smaller and less powerful radio telescopes, the Naval Research Laboratory has in recent years reported the first detection of radio radiation from the planets Mars and Venus.

All the northbound highways out of Florida this week are leading to one of the ball parks in the Major Leagues and it won't be long before the familiar cry of "play ball" is heard.

Around here, naturally, the big question is "Where will the Tigers finish in 1957?"

A lot has been said about the new era of Tiger baseball and before spring training even got underway most everyone including some of the nation's top baseball authorities were hailing Jack Tighe as the man to deliver the Tigers to the upper bracket of the American League.

The Tigers' dismal showing in the Grapefruit Circuit has caused many to scratch their brows. For a team which is supposed to give the Yankees a run for the flag there was little in the Grapefruit record to bear this out.

But don't give up on the Bengals. After watching the team for several weeks in spring training we could not see Detroit becoming a threat to the Yankees or even a runnerup which will probably be some 10 games behind.

We can see the Tigers however getting as high as third but no further. We hope we're wrong, but third is better than fifth.

Actually when you look at it, there isn't a club in either league which has strengthened itself to force a change in the 1956 standings. A few trades merely replaced a loss and hardly strengthened anyone, except the Yankees.

Imagine a team using pitchers like Art Ditmar, Tommy Byrne, Bob Grim, or Bob Turley as relief hurlers while four teams in the league are trying to find at least three starters.

The Tigers are figuring on their big three, Frank Lary, Billy Hoeft and Paul Foytack and hope that either Don Lee or Duke Maas will be the 4th starter. Jack Crimian will definitely help in relief as should Jim Bunning, but unless Foytack shows something more than he has in Florida the staff may be narrowed down to the "big two."

You can add Frank Bolling to the big line of fire to go with Harvey Kuenn, Al Kaline and Charley Maxwell, but even to get to third place there has to be some help coming from "experimental" positions—first and third.

We'll wager that when the best lineup is found, it will be Ray Boone at third and Earl Torgeson on first. So, an end to all the "ifs" and "buts" and away with the predictions for the American League race.

As we see it:

1. New York
2. Chicago
3. Detroit
4. Cleveland
5. Boston
6. Kansas City
7. Baltimore
8. Washington

NEW COACH—Bill Rohr, head basketball coach at Miami University of Ohio, yesterday was named to a similar post at Northwestern University. He succeeds Waldo Fisher who resigned to become the school's assistant athletic director. Rohr received a 3-year contract.

Same Tiger Tale, Another 1-Run Loss

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — This was "second guess the manager day" for Detroit Tiger fans.

Since Jack Tighe is a first year manager in the majors, there probably will be other days during the regular season when he will be second guessed. But this still is spring training and the fans might as well get in on the act when the conditions are as good as they are this time.

The Tigers lost again yesterday, 3-2, in 10 innings to the Pittsburgh Pirates at Atlanta. Three managerial decisions by Tighe figured in the outcome. It just happened all three went awry.

Here was the situation:

Jim Bunning for Detroit and Bob Friend for Pittsburgh hooked up in a good pitching duel. The Tigers got a pair of runs in the 6th and Bunning held the Pirates scoreless on four hits until the 8th when Lee Walls homered.

The Tigers failed to score in the top of the 9th and Bunning went into the last half of the inning with a good chance of becoming the first Detroit pitcher to last nine innings this spring.

But here, from the play-by-play account of the game, is what happened:

"Pittsburgh 9th—Powers batted for Maseroski and was called out on strikes. Skinner batted for Mejias and flied deep to Maxwell. Virdon singled down the first base line. With a count of two balls, no strikes on Long, Bunning was replaced by Wojey who finished walking Long on 3 pitches. Foiles ran for Long. Kuenn juggled Thomas' grounder for an error, filling the bases. Walls walked, forcing in Virdon with the tying run. Kravitz grounded out to Bolling. One run, one hit, one error, three left."

All spring Tighe has been leery of Bunning's stamina and he wasted no time in yanking him in the 9th, although Bunning had walked only one previous batter in the game. That was his first decision.

Then in the 10th came the second. With runners on first and second and two out, Jimmy Small came to bat against bonus rookie Art Swanson. Swanson threw one ball. This time it was Pittsburgh manager Bobby Bragan who yanked his pitcher, sending in lefty Bob Kuzava.

Tighe played percentages. He lifted the left-hand-hitting Small and sent up Mel Clark, who hits righthanded. Clark promptly grounded into a forced play for the third out.

Steve Gromek was the third Tiger pitcher and after retiring two men in the last of the 10th he served up a home run ball to rookie Johnny Powers and the game was over.

For the record it was the Tigers' 16th loss of the spring, their 11th by one run. They've won eight.

The Pirates, their opponent here again today, are tops in the Grapefruit league with an 18-8 mark.

Bruins Try Home Ice

BOSTON (AP)—The scrappy Boston Bruins are dead if they don't beat Montreal tonight in the third game of the Stanley Cup hockey championship series — and they know it.

Les Canadiens hold a 2-0 advantage in the best-of-7 final set going into the Boston Garden match.

The two teams play here again Sunday but if the powerful redshirts from "Mohn-ray-all" win tonight it's no secret the fight will be over.

Toronto in 1942 was the only team in history ever to recover after falling behind 0-3.

Coach Toe Blake of Canadiens promises his team will "get the jump on Boston" even on the Bruins' ice.

"I am not going to make any predictions about winning this series in four straight," Blake said. "That would be crazy. Our fellows know what the Bruins did to us in the regular season—seven victories against our four and three ties. We won only one game there during the season.

"But I'll say this. We are going to get the jump on Boston. Our team is up for the game and we're going to try to win it."

Jean Beliveau, brilliant Montreal forward whose goal beat Boston 1-0 Tuesday night, expects to play tonight despite a charley horse which caused him to limp yesterday.

The Bruins, facing the task of winning four of a possible five remaining games in order to take the coveted top prize, are not faltering.

"I sincerely feel this series is far from settled," said Coach Milt Schmidt.

"And I feel that way mainly off the way we finished up Tuesday night. We were getting stronger and I feel they were getting weaker.

"I'm not down and neither are the players. We've been down so many times this year and battled back that I'm confident we'll keep right on doing it."

★ ★ ★

Boston survived a nearly unanimous pre-season nomination as the worst team in the NHL, the midseason walkout of goalie Terry Sawchuk and numerous serious injuries to finish third in the league, then polish off champion Detroit in five games of the semifinal series.

State Hoop Tournament Set Gate, Attendance Records

LANSING (AP) — Gate receipts and attendance both hit a new high for the state high school basketball tournament this year, the financial report showed today.

★ ★ ★

Charles S. Forsythe, state high school athletic director, reported that gross receipts for all tournament games totalled $308,063. This was an increase of $19,175 from last year.

Attendance at district, regional and state tournament games totalled 459,200, an increase of 25,686 over 1956.

"The weather was excellent, unlike some years when we've been hit by blizzards at tournament time," Forsythe said.

"Also, a lot of the schools are building new gymnasiums and these were available for district and regional games to give us added seating capacity."

Attendance at the quarter-final, semi-final and championship tournament games was 69,471, an increase of 8,962 over 1956.

Forsythe estimated that if seats had been available, an extra 8,000 to 10,000 tickets could have been sold to the semi-final and final games.

The state association retained $118,836 of the tournament take compared to $104,252 last year. Competing schools in the tournament received $63,709 from the total and entertaining schools $72,213. The association yearly votes back an additional sum from its share to the schools, however. Last year this amount was $20,275.

Included in the gross taken in by the tournament was $4,854 in fees paid for broadcasting the games.

Expenses included $30,873 for officials, $15,864 for trophies, medals, administration and miscellaneous expenses, $4,065 for timers and scorers, $2,886 for basketball, and $1,881 for insurance.

Forsythe said the new gross was reached although there was no increase in the price of tickets.

Kite-Skiing New Fad for Sport on Water

By ED MARKAITY

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — They say once you've tried water skiing, you can get pretty high on the sport.

Lyle White, 26-year-old foundry employe and water ski devotee, sometimes gets as high as 60 feet in the air behind a speedy boat. White has introduced to Michigan a new version of the sport, probably best described as "kite-skiing."

It also probably is best described as a sport for the very hardy.

Behind a motorboat traveling at least 35 miles an hour into a 15-mile wind, the skier soars through the air while hanging from hand holds on a huge kite.

"The idea was developed in California about a year ago," White says.

The kite, canvas stretched on a 14-foot main brace with cross braces of 9 and 6 feet, is manufactured commercially. White has obtained the first Michigan dealership.

"Flights last as long as you want to stay up," he says. "The limit is about three minutes, but in that time you can reach a height of 100 feet and travel about half a mile."

White, whose home is situated on the banks of the Grand River, has been water skiing since 1947. "I practiced all winter hanging from a trapeze bar to strengthen my arms and hands so I could use the kite," he disclosed.

Pro Net Event Nears Windup

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dick (Pancho) Gonzales will face Tony Trabert and Ken Rosewall will oppose Francisco Segura in the semifinal round of a professional tennis tournament at the Cleveland Arena here tonight.

Gonzales pounded out a 6-2, 6-3, victory over Frank Parker last night in the opening round of play.

Rosewall, Australian Davis Cup star, won his first three games last night against Bobby Riggs without removing his jacket. He won the match, 6-2, 6-2.

Down, 5-1, in the first match, Segura rallied to beat Dinny Pails 8-6, 6-4.

In a one-set match in the opening round, Frank Kovacs eliminated Joe Whelan, 6-1. Kovacs was beaten by Trabert, 6-3, 9-7. Al Doyle was elimiated by Riggs, 6-2.

Hialeah, Miami's beautiful race track, is opened to the public all year. Last year 503,000 sightseers visited the track during nonracing days.

Celtics at St. Louis

NBA Playoffs Continue

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The scrappy St. Louis Hawks have their backs to the wall in the National Basketball Assn. title playoff with the Boston Celtics. But that's a familiar position for St. Louis.

The Hawks have been doing it the hard way all season in their rise from last place at the All-Star Game break to contention for the $10,000 first prize.

Bowlerama Qualifying Times Listed, Page 57

The dazzling Celtics, one of the most powerful scoring clubs in NBA annals, can win their first NBA playoff championship tonight. If they lose, the seventh game will be played in Boston Saturday afternoon.

"We've had our back to wall all season," declared St. Louis Coach Alex Hannum. "We can win if we get the rebounds."

Despite the phenomenal shooting of the Hawks' Bob Pettit and the great Celtic backline of Bill Sharman and Bob Cousy, rebounds have told the story every game.

St. Louis won the two games in which it controlled the rebounds.

Rookie Bill Russell, the 6-10 Celtic center, has been the big man of the series under the boards, although twice outdueled by Pettit.

Russell needs 19 rebounds tonight to break the NBA playoff record of 207 set by George Mikan of Minneapolis in 1952. In eight playoff games, including Boston's three-game sweep over Syracuse, Russell has 189 rebounds for a 23.7 average per game. Mikan needed 12 games to set his mark.

Through the five games with St. Louis, the Celtics have averaged 68 recoveries to 57 for the Hawks.

Fight Scoreboard Inventor Hopes TV Will Use It

CHICAGO (AP)—A Portland, Ore., man who invented an electrical boxing scoreboard giving round-by round results today said he would offer the device free for a test on televised bouts.

"I'd just like to let the nation's fight fans get a look at it," said Mike Mesi. "I know they'd go for it the same as Portland fans did."

Mesi said he was disappointed that the International Boxing Club decided not to use a round-by-round scoring technique in last night's nationally-televised feather weight fight between Davey Moore and Gil Cadilli in Miami.

Trotters Win Again

SEATTLE (AP) — The Harlem Globetrotters chalked up their ninth victory in 11 starts against the College All-Stars, 81-68, last night.

St. Mary Wins Triangular

Orchard Lake St. Mary's track team won eight events and took five runner-up positions to defeat Detroit DeLaSalle and Oak Park Wednesday afternoon in a triangular meet at Orchard Lake.

The Eaglets compiled 74 points in their 1st outing of the season. DeLaSalle came in 2nd with 50 points while Oak Park scored 13.

Pete Madelans led the Eaglets with 14¼ points. He captured both hurdles and tied with teammate Chet Rock for 1st place in the pole vault.

Other St. Mary victories were recorded by Jerry Ostrowski in the 880, Andy Zambrzycki in the 440, Larry Harris in the mile, Stan Koper in the shot and Bob Kush in the high jump.

Jim Moran, victor in the 220, made 11 points for DeLaSalle. Fred Minkow won the broad jump and scored nine points for Oak Park.

Pontiac Team Bowls in ABC Tournament

Five of this area's outstanding bowlers are en route to Fort Worth, Texas, today where they will compete in the big ABC tournament this weekend.

Competing as the only Pontiac team entry in the major keg event of the year will be Joe Bonfiglio, Les Rothbarth, Bill Lee, Monroe Moore and Pat Sweeney. The group will also take part in singles and doubles.

Smelt Run at Tawas

First sizeable run of smelt in the Tawas area began Wednesday night, reports from the upstate section said today. Fish were running in the Whitney Drain at Singing Bridge, outlet for the East Branch of the Au Gres River. The spot is 12 miles south of East Tawas.

Only a few fishermen were on hand last night, it was reported, but they took many fish. If warmer temperature continues, the run was expected to grow within the next few days.

Cranes Beaten by Ferndale 9

Ferndale's baseball team handed Cranbrook a 7-0 lacing Wednesday on the Crane diamond behind the shutout hurling of Wes Klewicki.

Klewicki limited the Cranes to three hits and strong-armed his way to 13 strikeouts while walking only one. Outfielder Jack Smith paced the Railsplitters at the plate with two hits and three RBI's.

Dave Campbell pitched creditable six-hit ball for the Cranes, but his teammates were guilty of five errors.

Cranbrook also took it on the chin on the tennis court yesterday, bowing to visiting Grosse Pointe, 6-1. Pete King defeated Bob Stamour in three sets for the Cranes' lone win.

Beats Giants on Two Hits

Score Looks Like a Million

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Herb Score looks like a million bucks and the lefty strikeout sensation loomed today as the new ace of the Cleveland Indians' pitching staff.

Bob Lemon has been just so-so on the exhibition circuit. Early Wynn is unable to get going because of a hip injury and Mike Garcia has been pitching like a Little Bear instead of a Big Bear the past two seasons.

Score also has some excellent credentials to show new Manager Kerby Farrell and that makes it a good bet that the 24-year-old southpaw will be used in most of Cleveland's key games once the major league baseball campaign gets under way next week.

Score's credentials include a big league strikeout record for rookies in 1955 (245) and a 20-9 won-lost record and 263 strikeouts last season. He was voted American League Rookie-of-the-Year and then followed it up with Sophomore-of-the-Year acclamation.

Too, in the opinion of the Boston Red Sox, the 6-2, 185 pound resident of Lake Worth, Fla. is worth one million dollars. The Sox offered that much for him last March 18 but were turned down.

Last night, Score turned in his best effort of the spring training season. He gave up only two singles and fanned seven in a seven inning stint as Cleveland whipped the New York Giants 4-1. Willie Mays accounted for the Giants' lone run by hitting a home run off Don Mossi in the eighth inning.

Another fine pitching job was turned in by Don Drysdale of Brooklyn. He went the nine-inning distance as the Dodgers blanked the Braves 5-0. Drysdale permitted only four safeties and only one Brave got as far as second base. Randy Jackson walloped a two-run home run for the winners.

The New York Yankees, warming up for next Tuesday's opener against Washington, trounced Savannah of the Sally League 8-4. Mickey Mantle, Hank Bauer and pitcher Whitey Ford homered for the world champions. Ford went seven innings, giving up all four runs and seven hits.

Gus Triandos got four hits as Baltimore defeated the Chicago Cubs 7-3. The Orioles jumped on starter Bob Rush and four other hurlers for 15 hits while getting a good six-inning effort from Bill Wright, another ex-Yankee.

Sherm Lollar hit a 3-run homer that carried the Chicago White Sox to a 9-7 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals. Ron Northey and Larry Doby also connected for the Sox, who chalked up their third straight victory over the Redbirds.

All-Star Mat Card Tonight

Oakland County's top amateur wrestling event of the year takes place tonight at Southfield High School when a touring Japanese team squares off against the Michigan All-Stars in a dual meet.

As an added attraction, the Japs will meet the Ford Recreation Club of Dearborn in a Greco-Roman style nightcap. The Ford grapplers won the Greco-Roman National AAU title last Saturday at Waynesburg, Pa.

Among the Michigan stars will be 157-pound Mike Rodriguez, University of Michigan captain; MSU's 191-pound Tim Woodin, who won the National AAU crown last week, and Berkley High School's 115-pound ace, Jack Santa.

★ ★ ★

Ford and Snead Lead Big Field at Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Doug Ford and Sam Snead, winner and runner-up, respectively, in the Masters tournament at Augusta, Ga., four days ago, headed a field of about 130 today in the first of four rounds in the $15,000 Greensboro open golf tournament.

They've been "masters" here too, over the years.

Between them they have accounted for the last three Greensboro titles and Snead has won the tournament six times.

Eddie Olson, coach of Huntington, W. Va., in the International Hockey League, played nine seasons with St. Louis and Cleveland in the American Hockey League.

Names Listed for Final Qualifying

Preparations were completed today for the staging of the final round of qualifying Saturday afternoon and evening in the big Pontiac Press Bowlerama being held at three local keg establishments.

A total of 233 bowlers, 108 of them women, will be in action at various times during the day in hopes of finishing up in the top group among 494 candidates for Oakland County honors and the big money.

Two hundred sixty-one men completed their qualifying last weekend with the leaders now anxiously awaiting this weekend's final results in hopes they will be eligible to continue on in the grand finale at Huron Bowl a week from Saturday.

Tournament manager Les Rothbarth completed the pairings yesterday for the completion of qualifying. A total of 93 have been assigned to bowl at Dixie Recreation, 80 at Auburn Lanes and 60 at Land-O-Lakes.

Shifts begin at Auburn and Land-O-Lakes at 12 noon and continue at 1:30 p.m. There will also be a 2:30 shift at Auburn. The Dixie starting times will be 3:30 and 8 p.m. for the benefit of those people who work Saturdays.

The noon shifts will be exclusively men. The 1:30 Land-O-Lakes group and the 2:30 shift at Auburn will be made up of women contestants only. Both Dixie shifts will be mixed.

The outstanding scores of this final qualifying day will be combined with the previous high marks posted to determine the championship rivals.

Finalists will be selected on the basis of the top 10 per cent of the scorers at each of the three qualifying locations. Any bowlers who were in the select group after last weekend can be eliminated or dropped lower in the standings by better showings this Saturday.

Such scores as Howard Compton's 694, 683's by Frank Pavlinac and Lester Smith, Bob Rickett's 680, 664 series by Gene Shell and Ben Postal, a 662 by R. K. Bone and many others are certain to be hard to beat but anything can happen in a tournament of this type where the just average bowler has the big handicap advantage going for him.

Saturday should be a banner day from noon to late in the evening as these remaining contestants go all out for their best efforts with the chance to finish in the money just by qualifying.

At least 50 bowlers will gain the final round which will mean better than one out of every 10 entries will finish in the prize money.

The men's champion will receive over $400 and a desk calendar set with many other fine cash awards to be given. First place for women will be good for $200 and a desk set with other awards made in accordance with the entries.

A total of 12 prizes are guaranteed in the two divisions with the others scattered down the list depending on the place of finish. The Press will present handsome trophies to the leading qualifiers at each participating alley.

Qualifiers are certain of winning at least $5 while having the opportunity to shoot for the high stakes.

Here Is List of Qualifiers

This is the list of times and sites for the 233 bowlers, including 108 women, who will qualify Saturday in the Press Bowlerama.

Teenage Champion Top AAU Fighter

BOSTON (AP)—A 16-year-old New York high school junior who hopes to become a doctor reigned today as the outstanding performer in the 1957 National AAU boxing championships.

Vince Shomo, who has been fighting since the age of six, captured the top individual award of the 69th annual tournament last night after stopping Joel Patrick of Indianapolis for the 139-pound title.

"I've been fighting since 1947," said the soft-spoken youngster who turns into a tiger in the ring. "I started as a 55-pounder in the Catholic Youth Organization and have won so many trophies I've lost count. But this is really a big one."

Vince is too young to turn pro right now, but he appears to have all the qualifications—punch, boxing ability and speed—if he decides to making boxing his career.

In his quarter-final Tuesday, he floored his opponent once with a right and again with a left hook in gaining a technical knockout at 1:56 of the first round.

He outpointed Sidney Adams of Philadelphia by a wide margin in last night's semifinals and then came back to stop Patrick in 58 seconds of the third round for the championship.

Williams, 24-year-old father of three, brought New England its first heavyweight championship in 34 years by pounding out a unanimous decision over defending titlist Jim McCarter of Seattle.

The only other defending champion, Albert Pell of New York, retained his flyweight crown by outclassing Bobby Le Febvre of Winooski, Vt., representing the Albany, N.Y., team.

Denny Moyer, 17-year-old Portland, Ore., high school senior, won the middleweight title in his second appearance in National AAU competition. He was defeated in the welterweight semifinals last year.

Southpaw Don Hullinger of Lima, Ohio, won his first championship in four National AAU and as many National Golden Glove appearances by surviving a first-round knockdown and defeating Willie Moran of Louisville, Ky., in the welterweight division.

BOSTON (AP)—The 1957 National AAU boxing champions crowned last night at the Boston Garden:
112-pound—Albert Pell, New York.
119-pound — Ramon Marquez, San Francisco.
125-pound—Ruben Pizarro, New York.
132-pound—Gene Gresham, New York.
139-pound—Vincent Shomo, New York.
147-pound—Don Hullinger, Lima, Ohio.
156-pound—Dennis Moyer, Portland, Ore.
165-pound—Alex Ford, Youngstown, Ohio.
178-pound—Lindy Lindimoser, Vancouver, B.C.
Heavyweight—Lee Williams, Boston.

PHS Will Test Skippers in Friday's Track Event

Waterford High School's track squad will get a rather stiff introduction to the 1957 outdoor campaign Friday at 4 p.m. at Wisner field. Skippers oppose Pontiac's Chiefs, in the 2nd of the PHS dual meet schedule. Dean Wilson's outfit outscored Flint Central for its 1st victory, Tuesday afternoon, 55 2-3 to 53 1-3.

Wilson will use about the same lineup of starters as in the Indian dual test. Some changes may be made in the relays, but most other events will find the same boys who faced Central Tuesday afternoon.

Al Cuthrell, who hasn't had a chance to see his squad in action outside this spring, today lested his possible starters. Skippers had a meet slated for Monday, but it was cancelled because of the weather. Waterford faces Ferndale there next Wednesday, goes to Royal Oak on the 22nd.

Waterford may be good in the dashes, the pole vault (Cecil Dumbrigue is doing around 11 feet), the broad jump (Dumbrigue, Jim Green, Stan Jones all good for around 20 feet), and in the relays.

Detroit Fighter Wins

BOSTON (AP) — Gene Gresham was the only Detroit fighter to win a championship in the National AAU boxing tournament that closed here last night.

Gresham outpointed Billy Day of Philadelphia in the semifinals of the 132-pound class, then stopped Frank Talaga of Seattle in the third round of the championship bout.

Louis Eggeston, the only other Detroit fighter to gain the final round, was outpointed by Ruben Pizarro of New York in the 125-pound class.

WEDNESDAY'S FIGHTS
MIAMI, Fla. — Davey Moore, 128½, Springfield, Ohio, outpointed Gil Cadilli, 129¾, San Francisco, 10.
BARCELONA, Spain—Boby Ros, 133¼, Madrid, outpointed Francisco Bufala, 134½, Barcelona, 12. (for Spanish lightweight title).

RATES HIGH—Bobby Richardson, 21-year-old infield prospect of the New York Yankees, is being given high ratings as a top - ranking American League rookie. He hit .328 at Denver last year and is sticking with the Yanks.

Davey Moore Beats Cadilli in TV Bout

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Davey Moore, 23, a minister's son from Springfield, Ohio, earned himself a spot among the featherweight boxing title contenders last night when he pounded his way to an easy decision over Gil Cadilli.

★ ★ ★

It was Moore's first big chance as a pro fighter and he grabbed at it eagerly. He was on top of Cadilli, the seventh-rated contender from San Francisco, at the opening bell and never lost command of the fight.

★ ★ ★

Performing for the first time before a television audience, Moore won lopsided votes from all three officials. Judge Jerry Sherrard and Referee Petey Sarron each gave him a 98-98 vote. Judge Sam Margolis scored it 99-93 and The Associated Press 100-92.

Worst Easy Winner in Cue Title Match

In his first defense since he won the title in 1954 at Buenos Aires, Worst took 14 out of 20 blocks from challenger Chamaco in a 1,200 point series that closed last night.

Worst piled up 1,200 points to 1,021 by Chamaco, who won the final two blocks, in 1,130 innings. The champion averaged 1.06 billiards per inning.

Grand Haven High Rifle Team Seeks 5th Title

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Grand Haven High School's rifle team seeks its fifth straight state championship Saturday at Ann Arbor in the National Junior Rifle Tournament Sectional.

The meet will be held at the University of Michigan range.

Last year it drew 112 individual shooters and 22 teams from Michigan and Ohio. The Grand Haven school has won the state title seven times in the last nine years. Last year its reserve squad finished second to the varsity in high school competition at the tournament.

Manager Mike Higgins of the Boston Red Sox in 1930 went from the University of Texas to the Philadelphia Athletics and played 14 games.

No wonder the new slim, trim continental lines have made such a big hit with American men! They add much to a shoe, both style-wise and comfort-wise. This good-looking Jarman "Patio" style, for example, is a shoe that is easy on the eyes and still easier on the feet. Why not come, try a pair-and see what we mean?

Portugal Seeks New Golden Age

Far Flung Territories Recall Peerless Men Who Sailed Her Fleets

WASHINGTON — In the golden age of seafaring, Portugal's captains courageous explored and claimed half the world.

Present-day Portugal seeks to revive its maritime power. Huge ships again take shape along the shores of the Tejo River. The tiny country also has bought many freighters abroad to create a new fleet of 200 modern merchantmen. Shipping companies are required to put aside part of their profits to modernize or replace old tonnage.

The immense effort is paying off in brisker trade between Portugal, its far-flung possessions, and former colony, Brazil.

Though Portugal is only 360 miles long and roughly 140 miles wide, it administers possessions totaling hundreds of thousands of square miles, the National Geographic Society says. Administratively, Madeira and the Azores are considered a part of continental Portugal. Overseas territories include: The Cape Verde Islands in the Atlantic; Angola, Mozambique, and Portuguese Guinea in Africa; Goa in India; Macu on China's coast, and part of Timor in the Malay Archipelago.

The genius of a 15-Century prince, Henry the Navigator, set the stage for Portugal's days of glory. He fused the best scientific talents of the time into a pioneer school of navigation. Among the early students was Christopher Columbus.

AGE OF DISCOVERY

Henry did not live to see his dreams fulfilled. But his work inspired a dazzling series of adventures starting with the exploration of Africa's west coast. Vasco da Gama's epochal voyage opened a passage to India around the Cape of Good Hope. Cabral discovered and claimed Brazil. Affonso de Albuquerque founded Portugal's colonial empire in the Orient. And it was a Portuguese, the great Magellan, who blazed a watery trail around the world.

Chestnuts Ready to Grow Again in Michigan Area

ANN ARBOR — Chestnut growing, KO'd decades ago by blight, is all set for a comeback in Michigan.

So says a University of Michigan forest pathologist who has developed two winter—hardy, blight—resistant, high—yielding Chinese chestnut trees after 30 years of tests with more than 2,000 seedlings. "These two," says Professor Dow V. Baxter, "are immediately sure of success in Michigan."

Professor Baxter views the chestnut's case history as an example of the need for disease prevention in the conservation of natural resources. By exterminating the chestnut, blight did what no forest fire, has ever been able to do, Professor Baxter says. "No forest fires, regardless of how big or disastrous, has ever wiped out a forest tree from its commercial range."

Early in this century, chestnuts were a profitable crop for farmers in Michigan and elsewhere who had access to large groups of Southern European heritage. Venders hawked roasted chestnuts on the streets, and housewives used them in holiday dressings. Then the blight struck, and ever since, America's chestnut supply has been imported, mostly from Italy.

"The blight was first observed in 1904. When it became obvious its spread could not be stopped in its course through our eastern forests, the U.S. government sent an expedition to the Orient to find possible resistant trees in areas from which the blight came," Professor Baxter explains. "These foreign seeds were grown in a nursery in Maryland for two years, then distributed to federal collaborators for testing in different environments."

Say Exit Well-Timed, Charge Thrown Out

"How fast were you going?" asked Traffic Judge Carleton Jewett.

"About ten miles an hour," Williams replied. "My car was on fire and I had to abandon it."

"I guess that's the time to abandon it — case dismissed," said the judge.

NEW ELECTRIC WATER-HEATING SERVICE

Now Detroit Edison has joined with leading electric water heater manufacturers to bring you the most advanced electric water heating method at down-to-earth cost. With Edison's new Super-Supply Plan you get much more hot water than ever before for only pennies a day. No waiting for water to heat. No hot water shortages.

How Does It Work?

New 1957 electric water heaters are built to give you large quantities of piping hot water automatically. Each tank has two elements —one near the top, one near the bottom— with greatly increased wattages. In fact, because they are designed to supply hotter water faster, you can get more than twice the supply from the same size tank. And operation is completely automatic.

What Is Edison's Super-Supply Plan?

To make these 1957 electric water heaters more economical, Edison is offering a new plan. The new Super-Supply Plan provides much more hot water than ever before at a surprisingly low flat-rate charge. This means you have plenty of hot, hot water on tap all of the time to meet all of your family's needs.

Why Buy an Electric Water Heater?

Electric water heaters are the safest water heaters ever built. And these new models offer other advantages, too. There's no soot to clog heaters. No flues to limit where the heater must be installed. Put your new electric water heater where you want it, even in the kitchen or utility room. There's no flame to worry about. No odor from fumes. And insulation makes them cool, and they're noiseless. You can put your confidence in an electric heater built to Edison's rigid specifications for years of trouble-free operation.

Veal and Fresh Vegetables on Suggested Food List

If spring appetites are lagging, look for real values in veal to add variety. Western storms are still affecting fresh pork and beef supplies. These as well as poultry, have advanced in price this week. Smoked ham is slightly lower, and canned ham is offered on sale in some stores.

Asparagus, potatoes and cabbage are leaders in the fresh vegetable department with many canned vegetables marked as thrifty items. Fresh fruit supplies are fewer, but prices are very reasonable on citrus and bananas. Frozen strawberries are "easy on the pocketbook."

MEATS—Veal offers variety and value from the standpoint of quality and price. Many stores are offering it as a suggestion for Palm Sunday. In most cases the roasts from the leg, rump and sirloin are about 10 cents a pound more than those from the shoulder.

Shoppers will find a wide variation in veal prices, reports the Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. This is because of the difference in size and quality. Look for veal with a bright gray-pink lean with a maxium of fat on the outside.

Since veal is naturally a lean meat of delicate flavor, it is best to cook it slowly at a low temperature of 300 degrees F. Added moisture or strips of bacon or other fat are used to keep veal from drying while cooking.

Signals are that money spent for ham may buy more this week than next. Usually increased Easter demand has a tendency to raise prices just before the holiday. Whole smoked ham is 17 to 23 cents a serving, while some canned ham is offered on sales for about the same cost.

Beef chuck roasts are the thrifty choice for pot roast. Shoppers may select from aged grain-fed cattle that has much flavor and more fat, or from young animals that have less distinctive flavor but more lean.

EGGS & DAIRY—According to some retailers, customer demand for eggs at this season will likely cause a slight price increase. However, store checks show most large size eggs priced about as they have been—between 40 to 50 cents a dozen.

Cheddar cheese and ice cream are dairy products to add extra calcium along with the regular milk in the daily diet. These are specially priced in some departments.

FRUITS & VEGETABLES—Currently, the top vegetable item, due to low prices and abundant supplies, continues to be potatoes. Other fresh vegetables at reasonable cost include asparagus, cabbage, and carrots.

Shoppers may notice a 10 cent difference in stalks of Pascal celery from California and Florida. There will be a quality difference also.

Tube tomatoes are increasing in supply and better quality is available. Be sure to include plenty of head lettuce and a few other salad greens to make spring salads more interesting.

Several canned vegetables packed in 303 cans are from 10 to 13 cents a pound. With so many values in frozen vegetables at about 15 to 17 cents for the 10-ounce packages that will serve three people, the homemaker has an interesting choice to make between fresh, frozen and canned.

This is the season when fresh fruit supplies become somewhat smaller, but there is plenty of citrus at 8 to 10 cents a pound. Bananas are a timely selection for lunch boxes, cereals, and fruit cups.

A few fresh strawberries, even though expensive, may add the festivity needed for a company or family treat. While a serving of frozen strawberries is less than half the cost of fresh berries, this is a good time to think of ways to include them in the weekly meal plans.

Detroit Racial Feud in Recorder's Court

DETROIT (UP) — Two policemen were scheduled as witnesses today in the trial of Mrs. Rose M. Petransky, a housewife accused of disturbing the peace in connection with recent racial trouble in a northwest Detroit neighborhood.

Mrs. Petransky lives on 13573 Cherrylawn, near a residence bought and occupied early this year by Mrs. Ethel Watkins, a Negro seamstress. Mrs. Petransky is white.

Police Lt. Francis Arbanas, the arresting officer, yesterday told Recorder's Judge Paul E. Krause and a six-member jury that he took Mrs. Petransky into custody the night of last Feb. 24 after watching her lead a group of 20 white persons down Cherrylawn and hearing her yell epithets against Negroes. The six jurors are all women.

Lt. Arbanas said he and another policeman placed Mrs. Petransky in a patrol wagon after she refused to come peacefully.

Mrs. Petransky pleaded innocent. She is expected to testify later in her own defense.

Suit Being Filed Against Romeo

Question Civic Center Site

Group of Residents Act on Ordinance for Rezoning

ROMEO — Suit will be filed in Macomb County Circuit Court within the next few days against the village of Romeo for rezoning the property offered as the site of the proposed civic center.

The 4.3 acres in question was zoned residential prior to the ordinance adopted by the village council on March 20, changing it to multiple-occupancy classification. The latter category covers community buildings.

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Church, 382 Morton St. and "other interested citizens" are initiating the court action in an attempt to declare the rezoning ordinance invalid. Representing them is the Ferndale firm of Forsythe and Beasley.

The Church home is located across the street from the property offered by Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Sheetz as the site for the building. Supporters of the Church suit live in the same immediate neighborhood.

The village council vote of five to one, favoring the rezoning, followed a public hearing several days before.

H. O. Evans Jr., Community Building Authority Chairman, received official notification of the impending suit at noon yesterday. His group was warned to proceed with construction at their "own risk and peril"—not to do anything until the case was settled.

Meanwhile projects to raise funds for the center continue—such as "Chicken Day" at a local restaurant today and the Romeo Players productions Friday and Saturday evenings in the local high school auditorium.

MR. AND MRS. BOYD R. TITUS

Wanda Lou Kohn Wed in Episcopal Ceremony

ORTONVILLE—Before an altar banked with bouquets of calla lilies and gladioli, the marriage vows of Wanda Lou Kohn and Boyd Robert Titus were exchanged. The candlelight ceremony on Saturday was held in St. Mary's in the Hills Episcopal church at Lake Orion.

The bride is the daughter of the Horace Kohns of Ortonville. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Titus of Oxford.

The bride was wearing a floor length gown of white satin with a short train. Her fingertip veil was fashioned with a Queen Anne head dress. She carried a white Bible and on it was a white orchid with streamers trimmed in green leaves.

Her sister Mary Jane was maid of honor, with bridesmaids Barbara Wood of Pontiac, and Sherra Lee Nugent of Grand Haven.

Best man was John S. Gill of Detroit; ushers were Robert Watts of Lake Orion and Richard Lee Geisler of Oxford.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. The new Mr. and Mrs. Titus left on their wedding trip in Northern Michigan. On their return they will live in Detroit.

House Readies Obscenity Law

Courts Would Decide if Publications Should Be Banned to Public

LANSING (AP) — A bill to set up a new obscene literature law in Michigan was ready for final action in the House today.

It also would authorize Circuit judges to issue injunctions banning sale of such publications after they have been adjudged as obscene. Failure to comply with the court order would bring a contempt of court charge.

Rep. Theodore Hughes (R-Berkley), the sponsor, said his plan also should overcome objections of the U. S. Supreme Court to the state's current law controlling sale of obscene materials.

The high court ruled the act unconstitutional in allowing a blanket ban on literature considered objectionable only to a certain segment of the population, such as juveniles.

Hughes' bill would permit Circuit Courts, on complaint of the Attorney General or county prosecutors, to prohibit sale to certain classes of persons.

"There may be loopholes or shortcomings in this bill," he said, "but it's a starting point. What we need to do is find something that the Supreme Court will uphold."

A bill passed and sent to the Senate would allow any school district to take over state lands put up for sale by paying an amount equal to 105 per cent of the highest bid.

The measure was drafted primarily to permit the Adrian School District to purchase a piece of property on which bids already have been received. The land is needed for school construction.

Awaits Arraignment on Break-In Charge

Paul Edward Hicks, 19, of 25 Stowell St., waived examination yesterday and was bound over to Circuit Court by Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan on the charge of breaking and entering a grocery at 20½ E. Huron St. Tuesday.

He was committed to the Oakland County Jail under arraignment in the higher court Monday after he failed to furnish a $100 bond.

Hungarian Reds Oust U.S. Aide

Legation Officer Flees to Austria; Says Charge of Spying 'a Lie'

NICKELSDORF, Austria (AP) — The assistant military attache at the U. S. legation in Budapest, expelled by Hungary's Red government on spy charges, drove across the Austria-Hungary border today. He said the espionage charge was a "typical example of Communist lying."

Gleason said he would make no other statement on the Red charges against him until he had read reports on his case and had instructions from Washington.

The Reds questioned Gleason and Col. James C. Todd of Tulsa, Okla., the military attache in Budapest, for five hours on April 3 after accusing them of photographing a military barracks 55 miles southwest of the Hungarian capital.

Both Americans insisted they were only photographing scenic sights and Gleason gave up a roll of color film he said showed only family groups and landscapes. Last Tuesday the Hungarian government accused Gleason of "open espionage" and gave him 48 hours to get out of the country.

The Gleason family arrived in a legation station wagon. They said they had no difficulty until they reached the border — where they had a flat tire. They said they encountered no police or military checkpoints en route.

Gleason said living conditions in Hungary had improved recently because a stoppage of food exports since the anti-Communist revolt had made more available for the Hungarians.

Gleason and his family will remain in Austria until reassigned by Washington.

Duke of Bedford Won't Don Robes for U.S. Tourists

LONDON (INS)—The Duke of Bedford certainly will not wear his coronet and robes of nobility in an attempt to put on a good show for American tourists visiting his stately home at Woburn Abbey this summer.

"Never heard of such nonsense," roared the tax-pinched duke when informed of the rumors.

"Can't possibly wear the coronet," said he. "My father lent it to some duke or other and never got it back. Don't know which duke it was."

Bill Protested by Police Chiefs

Hit Measure Requiring Explanation of Arrests Without Warrants

Area police chiefs yesterday protested a bill passed by the House of Representatives providing that Michigan police chiefs and sheriffs submit a weekly report to a circuit judge of the number and names of persons arrested without warrants.

The legislation, discussed yesterday at an Oakland County Law Enforcement Association meeting, states also that any police department head failing to submit such a report would be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to penalty by law.

"Departments are bound to get entangled in this sort of legal red tape," said Waterford Township Police Chief Frank Van Atta, president of the association. "Many of the chiefs in this organization have expressed their opinion that the judges would not welcome this sort of bill either."

Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons said that he had been notified by the Michigan Sheriff's Association that the association was opposed to the suggested legislation. Said Irons:

"It is the feeling of every department I have spoken to that the bill would cause confusion and load an unnecessary amount of work on already busy and overloaded courts and law enforcement agencies."

Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley described the proposed law as "another attempt on the part of certain groups of legislators connected with lawyers to interfere with the due process of law and enforcement agencies."

"Pontiac officers don't make a habit of arresting people unless they have a good reason," said Straley. "Arrests are work for the policemen and money for the lawyers.

"This is another attempt to stifle police officers in their work. We don't pick up people for the fun of it. We realize the problems and responsibilities involved.

"One must remember that the primary intent of the police is to protect, benefit and be a service to law-abiding citizens," he added.

The network expects to develop a quiz program featuring Van Doren next season, and may also use him in educational projects.

"Pilate," the passion play, will be presented to the public on three consecutive nights at 8 o'clock, Monday through Wednesday, at Avondale High School.

Beginning with the priest's ersauding Judas to betray Christ, and ending with the trial before Pilate, the play includes the petitioning of Pilate by Mary, mother of Jesus.

Matthew Vance, author-director of the play, and Mrs. Clarence J. Norman, producer-assistant director, have chosen the following cast:

William Lyle is Pilate; Mrs. R. Grant Graham, Pilate's wife, Claudia; Miss Jane Levigne, Claudia's maid; James Greenlees, Tiberius; Timothy Mulholland, Romulus; and Everett Hysmith, Caiaphas.

Other members of the cast include: John Warden as Zadok; Leonard Passint as Josiah; Paul Gross as Abiram; Sam Sheehy as Judas; and Mrs. Fred Phillips as Mary, Mother of Jesus.

All profits from the play are going to the foreign exchange student fund at Avondale. Admission is free, with tickets being contributed by various groups in the community.

Two Plus Two Two Too Many, Judge Decides

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Delaware County Judge Henry Sweney used grade school arithmetic yesterday to rule that two dogs and two dogs make four dogs, or two more than allowed by the Radnor Township Zoning Board.

He upheld the board's ruling that William and Mamie Kerr get rid of two of four dogs after complaints by neighbors.

Seeking to have the ruling upset, the Kerrs used a different kind of mathematics. They said the code permitted two dogs, two cats and one horse, adding up to five animals. Then they pointed out that two dogs and two puppies add up to only four animals, or one fewer than the law allows.

Study Gases' Effect on Driver

Machine Sniffs at Air to Determine Amount of Monoxide Fumes

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A carbon monoxide "sniffer" to determine what, if any, relationship exists between the odorless gas and automobile accidents is being used on Detroit's expressways.

The study is being carried on by the University of Michigan's School of Public Health and Institute of Industrial Health and the city of Detroit.

Warren A. Cook, head of the Michigan school, said although there is no direct evidence that carbon monoxide gases from car exhausts have anything to do with the cause of accidents, it is known that certain physiological responses take place by excessive inhalation of the gas.

Cook said loss of visual sharpness, increased drowsiness or headaches result from chemical reaction which occurs when carbon monoxide meets the blood.

To study amounts of the gas in the air machines have been set up on Detroit expressways and placed in moving vehicles. This, plus other methods of collecting data, will be correlated to look for any changes in accident frequency under comparable traffic loads when carbon monoxide concentrations vary due to different meteorological conditions.

Gas Union to Vote on Strike Settlement

DETROIT (AP) — Striking members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers met today to consider a new offer by Socony Mobil Oil Co.

The offer, aimed at ending a six-week-old strike, was made at a bargaining session yesterday.

State Labor Mediator Hyman Parker said he believed that if the Socony offer is accepted by the union it will lead to settlement of the union's strike against seven other major gasoline and fuel distributors in the Detroit area.

Terms of the offer were not disclosed.

Teenagers Cite Need for More Discipline

ELY, Nev. (AP)—A panel of teenagrs say high school youngsters need more discipline, from both their parents and police.

Six students appeared on the panel yesterday with six adults at the Nevada Parent-Teacher Assn. convention.

The boys and girls criticized police for failure to halt drag racing on the main street of Ely and for a lack of enforcement of laws against the sale of liquor to minors.

They added that stricter discipline at home also is needed.

Administration in Quandary on Keeping Canadian Security Information Secret

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials said today it may be difficult to withhold from congressional committees security information given to this country by Canada.

A Canadian demand for such a pledge was presented to Undersecretary of State Christian Herter yesterday by Ambassador A. D. P. Heeney.

Under the terms proposed by Canada, information given the United States in future on such matters as Communist subversion could be passed on to committees of Congress only when the Canadian government specifically agreed.

The Canadian move stems from Canada's anger over the suicide death of its ambassador in Cairo, E. H. Norman, last week. Norman had been accused before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee of having once been a Communist. The subcommittee made public the testimony on this point.

No information obtained from Canada was involved in the Norman case, but Canada criticized the action and said she must protect her citizens.

In Ottawa yesterday Lester B. Pearson, minister for external affairs, told Parliament that the Canadian government was taking steps to deal with the situation involved in the events which preceded Norman's death.

About the same time, Heeney presented the new demand to Herter and received an answer to an earlier Canadian protest against the subcommittee's actions. The March 18 protest called the charges against Norman "irresponsible allegations." It emphasized that Canada had given Norman "a clean bill of health" in 1951 after careful investigation.

The American answer to the March protest expressed regret at Norman's death but said that the executive branch of the U.S. government had no responsibility for the subcommittee's behavior. President Eisenhower had made a similar comment at his news conference earlier in the day, expressing hope "that the thing can now be dropped" and good relations restored.

State Department authorities declared that the new Canadian demand would be given the most serious consideration. It appeared evident that they, at least, hoped that some kind of an agreement satisfactory to the Canadian government could be worked out.

At stake is the continued U.S.-Canadian exchange of information on Communist activities. The Canadian note declared that unless the demand for assurance was met "the Canadian government must reserve the right in future not to supply security information concerning Canadian citizens to any United States government agency."

Gets 90 Days in Jail for Stealing Hubcaps

Peter Walter Greenwood, 17, of 67 Henry Clay St., was committed to the Oakland County Jail for 90 days yesterday when he pleaded guilty to stealing four hub caps from an auto.

He was arrested Thursday with a 16-year-old boy who was released to his parents pending juvenile court action.

Pittsburgh Symphony Unique

Provides Serious Music for Smaller Communities

WARREN, Pa. (AP)—A symphony orchestra, says Conductor William Steinberg, faces a great challenge "to preach the gospel of music wherever we can."

★ ★ ★

As leader of the Pittsburgh Symphony — steadily winning acclaim as one of the world's great orchestras — Steinberg believes in meeting that challenge. Their concert last night in this northwestern Pennsylvania city of 15,000 marked the final stop in a series unique among musical organizations of similar stature.

★ ★ ★

The symphony entourage of more than 100 persons travelled 80 miles to play the single engagement, before a capacity audience of 600. Today the orchestra returned to Pittsburgh where weekend concerts will conclude the winter season of 121 performances in 51 cities scattered among 15 states from Michigan to Florida.

Is such a strenuous schedule, venturing off the beaten path of large musical units, worth while? Definitely so, Steinberg says.

"Even if one concedes that so-called 'popular' music is better understood, one finds the American people very receptive to all kinds of serious music," he told an interviewer.

Major orchestras in the U. S. and Europe regularly go on tour. But usually they visit other large cities.

Last night's concert in Warren, and five other stops during the season were, on the contrary, big musical events in relatively small communities.

All costs were paid by Manufacturers Light & Heat Co., a natural gas firm serving western Pennsylvania area outside Pittsburgh. The utility scheduled the concerts as a public service. Local sponsors kept all proceeds from ticket sales for use in local projects.

★ ★ ★

Steinberg, a native of Cologne, Germany, conducted throughout Europe and Israel before he was persuaded to come to America by the late Arturo Toscanini. He emphatically approves of this semicommercial sponsorship, says it's infinitely superior to the European system in which similar orchestras are maintained by tax funds.

Accused of Corrupt Influences

Top Teamsters to Debate Defense Against Charges

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — The Executive Board of the giant Teamsters Union has chosen this sunny Gulf port for a secret strategy meeting next Tuesday.

The emergency meeting was reported to have been called for one main purpose — to decide whether the union will defend itself on AFL-CIO charges that it is substantially dominated by "corrupt" influences.

The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee has given the Teamsters the date of May 6 for a hearing in Washington if the Teamsters organization wants to defend itself.

An AFL-CIO finding that the corruption charges are true could lead to ousting of the Teamsters from the federation. The union is considered the largest single AFL-CIO affiliate, with about 1,350,000 members.

Disclosures about Beck's admitted personal use of large sums of Teamsters Union funds, as well as involvement of other Teamsters top officials in various charges, have shaken the huge labor organization to its roots.

★ ★ ★

It is reported some of the union's top officers will insist that the union appear before the AFL-CIO committee May 6, but other union officials, including Beck, were reported to be balking and counselling instead that the union snub the entire AFL-CIO proceedings, whatever the consequences.

The split could further strengthen what appears to be a growing opposition to re-election of Beck at the next union convention in September.

Hollywood Headlines

Marjorie Steele Proves She Didn't Buy Stardom

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A lovely young actress named Marjorie Steele is nightly enjoying the last laugh on the doubting Thomases of this town.

Miss Steele is appearing in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof"—and doing a whale of a job—at the Huntington Hartford Theater. The reason for her special satisfaction: she is Mrs. Huntington Hartford.

"A lot of people were saying Hunt built the theater just for me," she laughed, indicating such was not the case.

In justice to the scoffers, it did seem likely. Hartford, heir to grocery chain millions, sunk a million dollars into making over an old radio theater into a showcase theater for the legit. Meanwhile, his wife was attempting to gain a name for herself on the stage after an extremely minor achievement as a film starlet.

But Marjorie fooled them all. She played summer stock and won herself enough experience to tackle big-time audiences. Her first hit was in the London company of "Sabrina Fair," in which she drew rave notices.

Elia Kazan, a cool customer for acting talent, chose her to succeed Barbara Bel Geddes in Tennessee Williams' "Cat." Marjorie filled out the New York run and has been drawing plaudits on the road tour.

"I'm often asked that," she mused. "Why do actors have to act? I suppose there are four basic urges: money — that's the most common need; sex — the younger ones hope to find a mate; fame — that helps satisfy the ego; and, well — art.

★ ★ ★

"I guess with me, art is the thing that drives me on. It's a real satisfaction to be able to build a role and hold an audience with a performance. It's a challenge that I feel I must have."

Siamese Twins Surgery Planned

Physicians to Operate Though Survival Odds Are Rated Poor

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Although odds against its success are high, an operation to separate the heads of Siamese twins Larry and Terry Powell may be performed soon at Children's Hospital.

The 1-month-old sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Powell, Gardena, Calif. are joined, one at the back of the head to the side of his brother's head. The fused area is 3½ inches in diameter. X-rays taken simultaneously with the injection of a dye substance into the cranial soft spot of one showed a confluence of circulation.

A team of neurosurgeons is conducting tests which may or may not tell them whether they can separate the twins. They doubt if any available test will show whether the brain tissue is confluent. If it is, the chance of survival would be small indeed.

The children might live for several years, joined as they are, but hospital authorities say the parents have consented to an operation if the surgeons approve. The operation would be in stages, with the twins getting time to recuperate between the processes.

Siamese twins are rare and of the six known to be born alive with heads joined, only one survived out of three operations. He was Rodney Dee Brodie, who was joined to his brother at the top of the head. The brother died a few weeks after the surgery in Chicago.

Charged With Larceny, Man Bound to Court

Claude E. McCord, 49, of 2348 Pauline St., Drayton Plains, waived examination on a larceny charge when he appeared before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum and was bound over to Circuit Court.

McCord is accused of taking $2,000 in tools from Pontiac Motor Div. Plant 9.

Polynesians Come From Borneo: Doctor

HONOLULU (AP) — A Honolulu doctor believes he may have solved the riddle of where the Polynesian peoples came from. He based his conclusions on his work in tracing the spread of the disease filariasis —peculiar to Polynesians.

★ ★ ★

Dr. David D. Bonnet says first surveys of his evidence indicate the Polynesians were once native to the area around Borneo, and then migrated eastward as far as Hawaii.

Bonnet's conclusions are based on blood samples from 1,900 natives from west of Borneo to Hawaii.

Scientists have advanced various theories on the origin of the Polynesians. The raft Kon-Tiki made its famous voyage in an effort to establish migration route.

Troopship of 2 Wars Slated for Junkyard

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — There was a bit of sadness when the SS Matsonia left here on her last voyage.

Once queen of the Pacific tourist trade, the Matsonia carried thousands of troops in two world wars before being berthed with the idle fleet in the James River. The last voyage was to Baltimore where the Bethlehem Steel Corp., will junk her.

But enroute she passed at her birthplace, the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, a new Matsonia under construction. The new ship will have room for 761 first class passengers when she enters the Hawaiian service June 11.

Foreign visitors will find their trip to India less irksome under new rules now in effect, New Delhi reports. Many restrictions have been relaxed.

Railroad Conductors Sign With Punches

NEW YORK (AP) — Every day 10,000 men across the country sign their names with a punch.

★ ★ ★

They are the nation's railroad conductors, and each has an iron and steel punch which leaves a hole as distinctive as his handwritten signature.

★ ★ ★

These designs range from a goat's head to a miniature Scotty dog, and the Cross of St. Andrew to a boxing glove.

★ ★ ★

Steelways, official publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, said the practice of punching signatures was introduced more than a century ago by Pappy Ayers of the Erie Railroad who saved his railroad thousands of dollars annually by foiling free riders.

Wheat Rallies From Downturn

CHICAGO (AP) — Selling based on the government's crop report forced futures prices lower on the board of trade today. Wheat prices rebounded from the early downturn, however.

The visitors will use their observations to help in planning a military educational program in their own country.

The delegation included Maj. Gen. Moriya Wada, Cols. Toshio Haraki, Ichiai Nozaki and Takeshige Yoshi; and Yutaka Shimaja.

The appointment of Avrel Mason to head a new division of Birmingham's Cargill Detroit Corp. has been announced by company officials. The new unit was formed to handle engineering, manufacturing and sales on automatic gauging and size controls.

Post Office Drivers Cited for Safety

Pontiac's Post Office has been cited by the Chicago Region for an outstanding record in traffic safety, Acting Postmaster Leslie L. Dean, said today.

Robert R. Justus, regional director, informed Dean that Pontiac postal vehicle drivers in 1956 had a much better safety record than the average for the region.

"We are very proud of the award, considering the traffic condition in and around Pontiac," said Dean. The post office operates some 50 vehicles with 80 drivers.

Briton Suggests Glamorous Gals as Spur to Sales

LONDON (INS)—The president of the British board of trade has suggested to the House of Commons that the sale of British exports in overseas markets could be increased by employing glamorous sales girls.

Sir David Eccles admitted he got the idea recently when he bought some Italian textile designs in an English town. The debonair Eccles said he never would have made the purchase if it had been manufactured by an English firm but that he had fallen for the charms of an Italian saleswoman.

Sir David said he later learned that many foreign firms were turning to women to sell goods in the export market.

Steels Decline but Sugar Rises

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels were down on profit-taking but sugars rose in an irregular stock market early today.

Leading issues fluctuated from fractions to around 2 points in fairly active trading.

The steel shares, leaders of the vigorous advance of the past two sessions, had their gains skimmed as traders cashed profits.

Sugars, however, were higher and in active demand following reports of a large sale of raw sugar to Russia and a rise in sugar commodity futures.

Lukens Steel, the sensation of recent sessions, fell 2¾ to 77 on an opening block of 2,500 shares, extended its gain to more than 3 then cut its loss to a point or so.

GOP Legislators Discuss Tax Policy

LANSING (AP) — Republican senators and house members will meet late today in an attempt to find common ground on the two overshadowing issues of the 1957 legislative session, spending and taxes.

Although still a few weeks off, the time is growing near for a showdown on whether the state's 1957-58 budget and taxation patterns are going to bear the stamp of Gov. Williams or the Republican leadership.

Key budgetary figures in the Republican ranks, working long hours to get major appropriation bills in shape, still say they are going to hold recommended budget expenditures to about the level of anticipated income from existing sources — roughly 335 million dollars.

But there has been talk, particularly among newly elected GOP legislators, that a retreat from this stand should be considered.

French Hike Bank Rate

PARIS (INS)—The French bank rate was raised today from 3 to 4 per cent. The increase was the government's latest measure in an "austerity program" to curb inflation.

McLeod Parries New York Times Editorial Blows

GENEVA (AP)—Scott McLeod today said the "morale of the U.S. foreign service has never been as high as it is today."

He was commenting on a New York Times editorial opposing his nomination as U. S. ambassador to Ireland.

The Times assailed McLeod's record as State Department director of security and immigration and said "no one man has represented in the public mind more than Scott McLeod all the evils of McCarthyism as applied to diplomacy."

"Scott McLeod," the editorial said, "is the symbol in the State Department of all that has happened in the last four years to lower morale so drastically and to drive from the diplomatic career some of the best officers we had."

★ ★ ★

McLeod, who is chief U. S. delegate to the Geneva meeting of the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration, said:

"Statistics show that we have more applicants for the foreign service now than we have ever had in our history. In 1952, there were less than 500 applicants, while today there are about 6,000.

Hope to Crack Marcus Slaying

Chicago Police to Quiz Pair Who Claim They Saw Banker Killed

CHICAGO (INS)—The first real break in the 12-day-old slaying of Chicago banker Leon Marcus, 61, may come today when police question a couple who say they were eyewitnesses to the murder and have a partial license number of the killers' car.

Police gave no names of the new witnesses but said a resident of the southside neighborhood, where Marcus was shot down, has furnished them with the names of the couple.

Marcus, a former owner of the Southmoor Bank and Trust Company, whose business deals involved many an underworld mobster, was killed March 31, minutes after leaving the apartment of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rado.

Marcus' body was dumped in a parking lot six blocks from the Rado apartment, where a carload of men kidnaped him.

A man told police yesterday that he and a girl friend were also witnesses to the murder but his story was discounted when it was discovered he could not have seen the slaying from where he said he was parked.

Police said the man, Robert Neveau, 31, was a former mental patient.

Hit Destruction of Maple Trees Along Highway

LANSING (AP) — Two Republican legislators have called upon their colleagues to save trees, "particularly maple trees," that line Michigan's highways.

In a resolution introduced yesterday, Reps. George A. Gillespie (R-Gaines) and Louis C. Cramton (R-Lapeer) registered their protest against cutting down of many trees to build highways.

Both state and local agencies, they complained, have made a policy of "indiscriminate destruction of trees without a resultant gain in efficiency of the road."

Many were planted by early settlers in Michigan, they added, and these have been "a source of beauty to all who drive, and a living memorial" to early residents of the state.

Gilbert & Sullivan on TV Wins Acclaim

NEW YORK (AP)—The TV presentation last night of Gilbert & Sullivan's "The Yeomen of the Guard" received hearty huzzahs from two critics and a qualified assent from another.

J. P. Shanley of the New York Times termed the show "a melodic treat" with a fine cast and the right projection of humor.

Steven Scheuer of the New York Herald Tribune said the program was performed "with verve and skill by a troupe headed by Alfred Drake and Celeste Holm."

Ben Gross of the New York Daily News capsuled the performance "beautiful and dull" — "music mellow and tuneful, lyrics clever and graceful, the book dull and heavy."

Jury Weighing Murder Charge

Oil Promoter Accused of Slaying Estranged Wife's Lover

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A jury of eight women and four men is weighing a first-degree murder charge against Robert Earl Sutton, 29-year-old Dallas oil promoter accused of slaying his wife's lover.

Death in Arizona's gas chamber is a possible penalty.

William K. Boone, 28, a one-time Phoenix disc jockey, was shot Dec. 4 outside the home of Sutton's estranged wife, Freddie Davis Sutton, 26.

Mrs. Sutton acknowledged on the witness stand she and Boone registered at several motels as man and wife while she still was married to Sutton.

The closing arguments in Maricopa County Superior Court concentrated on whether Sutton shot Boone in the back.

Defense attorney Marvin Johnson contended the first bullet hit Boone as he turned to confront Sutton and three others hit him as he whirled away.

'Alices-in-Wonderland' Sitting Pretty in Vegas

By EARL WILSON

LAS VEGAS—I'd like to be a showgal in this crazy town. The showgirls at one of the new hotels get $200 a week. All they have to do is walk.

A Houston oil man named Frank Waters bets about $5,000 every time he rolls the dice. He tossed a few chips at Betty Magowan, a showgal from New York, the other night.

"When she finished playing about two o'clock the next afternoon," her roommate, Honey Merrill, told me, "She'd made almost $2,000.

"But she took a couple of pills and was back in the line that night."

RHONDA

A dancer named Tybee Afra won $1,700. She asked Monte Proser, producer of the show, "How should I invest it? In government bonds or real estate?"

"Give it to me, dear, and I'll get a little bet down with it," he said.

But he was kidding. Proser's signing beautiful Rhonda Fleming to follow Eddie Fisher. But he feels that there's no attraction like fresh, young, lovely showgirls.

"I'll pay 'em $300 or even $400 a week if they're pretty enough—and all they have to do is look beautiful," he says.

Those "insult cards" have added these: "Use Your Head! It's the little things that count," and, "Think! New experiences are good for you." . . . Tex O'Rourke to Gene Tunney: "I wish I'd been in your corner when you fought Jack Dempsey." Tunney: "I wish you'd been in the ring!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. . . .

Claire Bloom's reported set for "Marjorie Morningstar" . . . Ed Sullivan became a grandpa for the third time . . . Barbara Hutton's son, Lance Reventlow, drives to Las Vegas from L. A., to see singer Ann Mason . . . Singer Rita Ellis says former TV sponsor frowned on leggy photos: "He was selling peanut butter, not cheesecake."

Congress Deadlock Perils Public Grants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unless a deadlock over a deficiency money bill is broken soon, Sen. Hill (D-Ala) said today, federal funds will not be available for many public assistance grants including those to the aged.

The bill, first money measure of this session, has been tied up in a bitter fight between the Senate and House since it passed the Senate Feb. 18 with most of the House cuts restored. The House passed it Feb. 5.

Biggest item in the bill is 275 million dollars for the monthly assistance grants to needy persons. This deficiency allotment for the last two months of the current fiscal year ending June 30 was made necessary because Congress increased the federal share of such payments in passing the Social Security bill last year.

Committee Gets School Aid Bill

Backers in No Hurry to Get Measure Before Entire House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to grant two billion dollars in federal aid for school construction takes its next congressional step today — full committee consideration.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Bailey (D-WVa) said in advance he would recommend approval of the bill by the House Education and Labor Committee.

Indications were that backers were in no hurry to get the bill to the floor in the present atmosphere of budget cutting.

Rep. Powell (D-NY) said he would offer in committee his amendment to deny federal aid to school districts practicing racial segregation in the classrooms. His amendment was adopted last year by the House which then sent a school aid bill back to committee.

The bill would provide federal grants to the states, totaling 400 million dollars a year for five years. Each state would match its grant on a 50-50 basis.

Half of the 400 million would be distributed on the basis of school age population. The other half would be distributed on the basis of need.

The measure also would set up a federal fund of 750 million dollars for purchase of school construction bonds which local districts cannot market at reasonable interest rates.

Threw Bottle, Hit Patron —Now He Must Pay

Theodore Burton, 62, address unknown, changed his plea to guilty when he was tried yesterday before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan for throwing a beer bottle into a local restaurant window and hitting a patron.

Burton was placed on 90 days probation and ordered to pay $25 court costs and $47.70 for the broken window of the Red Lion Cafe, Inc., 73 S. Saginaw St.

The complainant, Frank Durso, 635 E. Beverly St., was struck in the back. Burton had pleaded innocent to the charge when he was arraigned Saturday.

Andrews Sisters Lose 25 Pounds

'Road Work' Trims Trio

By LEE BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — The on-again, off-again Andrews sisters, whose earnings in 17 years of vocalizing add up to a whopping 10 million dollars, said today they have lost 25 pounds between them "just getting back on the road."

Patty, Maxene and Laverne have appeared on five network TV shows and have recorded an album, "The Andrews Sisters in Hi-Fi," since they rejoined forces last July.

"We've never worked so hard in our lives," Laverne declared. "And we won't say what happened to the first 10 million dollars.

"But we have signed enough contracts to start us on the first million of the second 10 million. I guess we're just lucky. And then, of course, we had sense enough to get back together again."

The famed sisters, whose recurring split-ups have been caused not so much by personality clashes as sister-brother-in-law difficulties, will record another album before swinging off on a month's personal appearance stint in San Francisco and a cross-country tour to wind up in New York next spring.

"After that we go to Europe for a bunch of appearances and then I think we'll have to take a rest — to gain back our 25 pounds," Laverne added.

Practically an American institution, the girls found an eager audience awaiting their return to the entertainment world.

FLOOD OF LETTERS

"When we separated," Laverne admitted, "we got a flood of letters protesting our break-up. Most of them said we had "no right to do such a thing."

"Now that we are back together we have received some wonderful letters from people all over the world. Some of them said they felt their own family had been reunited.

The Andrews sisters trace their entry into show business back to ages of six to 10. Their first date was a kiddie revue followed by one amateur show after another until they auditioned for Larry Rich.

Rich took them on the road until they were signed by Ted Mack and his band. Later, they were signed to a recording contract and their first disc, "Bei Mir Bist du Schoen," sold over a million copies and made a fortune for Decca records.

Daughter Played Hookey but Papa Got Caught

Glenn Leo Foss, 49, of 182 Seminole St., was given a suspended sentence Thursday after he showed up in court with notes from school attendance officials stating he had made certain his daughter was in school daily for one week.

Foss was arrested on a warrant filed by Paul Allison, director of the Pontiac Board of Education Child Accounting, which accused him of failing to send his daughter to school.

He had pleaded innocent to the charge when he was arraigned by Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan and freed on a $100 personal bond March 29.

Urges U.S. Aid in Seaway Cost

Project Can't Succeed Unless Congress Helps, Says Spokesman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soaring construction costs are pointing up the need for congressional help in holding down tolls on the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway, Dr. N. R. Danielian said here yesterday.

Dr. Danielian, chairman of the users committee on St. Lawrence Seaway tolls, told a House committe that higher building costs will make it "difficut" to make the seaway a success.

If congressional aid is not exercised to hold down tolls, he said, shippers will use transportation competitive with the seaway.

Rep. Buckley (D-NY) suggested that Danielian wants "subsidies" whereas he once said the seaway would pay for itself.

NOT EXPECTED

He told the members of the House Public Works Committee that the estimate for annual operating costs has risen from $14,600,000 in 1953 to $28,339,000 at present.

Rep. Scherer (R-Ohio) asked if Danielian would have asked Congress to support the seaway if he knew in 1953 how much it would cost.

"I would have supported the measure just as strongly," he said, "with possible warnings it was going to be difficult."

Other witnesses at the hearing included John C. Beukeman of Muskegon, Mich., president of the Great Lakes Harbors Assn.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Sidney Flum donated his 44th pint of blood to the Red Cross to put him over the five-gallon mark. He said he was wounded on the USS Yorktown in the Battle of the Coral Sea in 1942 and was given a lot of blood transfusions and plasma and thought he ought to square the account.
