Best yet, put them together into a super coatdress of Fortrel® knit. Word is that some of the snappiest coatdresses are making fashion points in something called Fortrel® Superknit of Celanese® Fortrel® polyester. Neat, narrow shapes with back belts and/or double breasted buttons make a powerful, practical impact in new knitted textures. Such as the two town coatdresses here in a smart twill knit and the evening coatdress with a sculptured surface. Because they're of Fortrel®, they have a lot more going for them. ## Facility Valued at $350,000

Dedication of Boys' Club Addition Near

The community of Auburn Heights will mark a milestone tomorrow night with the dedication of an addition valued at $350,000 to the Auburn Heights Boys' Club at 220 S. Squirrel, Pontiac Township.

The result of considerable community cooperation, the addition also received financial help totaling $100,000 from the Detroit Area United Foundation and $30,000 from the late Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson.

Club Director Sam Sheehy said total cost of the addition had been reduced to $256,000 through additionally donated services and materials by people of the community.

The building, to be formally dedicated at 7:30 p.m. features a gymnasium and shower rooms, a snack bar, games room, a community meeting room with kitchen facilities, a quiet room, administrative offices and a facility for large group meetings and activity.

An art and crafts area is also planned.

OPEN HOUSE

A community open house is planned from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday. The open house will feature dedication of the American Legion flagpole at 10:30 a.m., and the release of 4,000 balloons bearing the Boy's Club address at noon.

Present for tomorrow night's program will be Paul Lemmon of Chicago, regional director of Boys' Clubs of America, plus local officials including Harold Davis, president of the Auburn Heights Club.

Rev. F. William Palmer, pastor of the Auburn Heights United Presbyterian Church, will dedicate the building.

The presentation of further donations by local service clubs is scheduled at that time.

CLUB FINANCING

Continuing programs of the club are financed by the Detroit, Avon and Pontiac Area united funds with the help of local service clubs.

A survey is presently under way to determine the greatest needs of the community and how the club can meet those needs, according to Sheehy.

He said the directors are also planning a second phase of construction enabling the club to serve a broader segment of the community.

Founded in 1957, the club met in the basement of the American Legion Post No. 143 until the Auburn Heights Community Club donated its headquarters at 220 S. Squirrel in 1962.

REMODELED IN 64

By the fall of 1964 the club had remodeled and equipped the facility and gained sufficient United Fund support to hire a full-time director.

It also launched a year-round program replacing the previous part-time program.

Membership presently stands at 532 with another 200 expected to be enrolled by next spring.

Junior Biologist Post Filled by Parke, Davis

RÖCHESTER — Parke, Davis & Co. today announced the appointment of Christine E. Zick, 33 Terry, as a junior biologist at its Parkdale Biological Laboratories here.

Dr. George Truffell, superintendent, said Miss Zick would be assigned to the biological control department, headed by Dr. Harry Joswick.

Miss Zick has an A.B. degree in biology from the University of Michigan.

Shelby Twp. Wage Raises Pave Way for New Budget

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Approval of new wages here for township employees has paved the way for revamping the general fund budget, which runs to July 1.

"It was necessary to rework the budget set up last July," said Supervisor Kirby Holmes, "because of the passage of the 2.5 mills on Aug. 7 for the operation of the police department."

He explained that the millage which begins to come in March will free about $20,000 this fiscal year from the general fund. Police salaries will be paid by the general fund until March.

"Next year, though," said Holmes, "we will have about $120,000 clear to provide better services to the township. Raises took up all the slack other than the $20,000 this year."

The $20,000 freed this year necessitated reworking the budget and will probably be put toward streets, parks and recreation, and lighting, he added.

NEGOTIATIONS DELAY BUDGET

The finalizing of the budget was held up until now, said Holmes, because of negotiations on the fire and police chiefs' salaries settled last month and the employees wages just agreed upon. These all come from the general fund.

Township employees received their first pay hike since July, 1966 including a $1,200 raise for the assessor, from $10,300 to $11,500; a hike for the building administrator, from $8,800 to $9,300; an for the inspectors, from $6,800 to $7,800. The employee package increases are retroactive to July 1, but will not be paid until March.

Holmes, who voted against the $11,200 salaries of both the police and fire chiefs, stood firm on his stand that $10,300 was the maximum for department heads by voting against the assessor's hike said Clerk Mae Stecker.

RAISES SPECIFIED

Office clerks, depending upon their classifications will receive about $500 more a year, said Mrs. Stecker. The bookkeeper will get an increase from $5,800 to $7,500 and will shortly be assigned an assistant to help in the work load.

Salaries for the township's firemen excluding the chief are paid out of a $900,000 bond issue approved by voters at the same time as the police millage — Aug. 7. Funds from the bond issue will also go for building at least two new fire stations and equipping them, said Holmes.

Postmark of Auburn Heights Returns After 7-Year Absence

The Auburn Heights postmark is showing up again on canceled mail after an absence of seven years.

Mrs. Marian Dyer, supervisor at the Auburn Heights branch, said its usage was resumed last week in accordance with a directive from Donald L. Swanson, director of the Chicago regional office for the Post Office Department.

Its use coupled with a speedup in Auburn Heights mail delivery was the result of a letter to Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., by Pontiac Township Supervisor Roy Wahl and Monte Bodman, township Democratic chairman.

The letter noted that approximately seven years ago the Auburn Heights Post Office — which was at that time a second-class independent office — became a branch of the Pontiac office.

The letter said: "This was definitely contrary to the wishes of the greater number of the residents of Auburn Heights. We were given to understand at that time as a post office as we would still mail our letters from the branch and mail was to have been postmarked 'Auburn Heights, Mich.," and so canceled.

"This is not the case at the present time and has not been so handled since the day we became a branch," the letter stated. "Mail is picked up at the branch, taken to Pontiac and is canceled with a Pontiac postmark."

It continued, "I know that it is the wish of the businessmen and many of the residents in this area that consideration be given to again making this an independent post office."

Another letter from Edward V. Dorsey, deputy assistant postmaster general to Sen. Hart said, "Reestablishment of the Auburn Heights Post Office would entail an appreciable increase in operating costs and would not improve the postal service which the community is receiving."

Dorsey had also informed Hart that use of the Auburn Heights postmark would entail additional expense and would not improve the service.

"This latter report was apparently overruled by the Chicago Regional Office where Donald L. Swanson, director, promised the Auburn Heights cancellation on letters processed locally."

Rezoning Requests Attest to Novi's Bustling Growth

NOVI — Many of the village's fields which have been vacant are growing with businesses, industry, homes and apartments.

The growth isn't slow, either, attests Village Manager Harold Ackley.

He bemoans a shorthanded staff to process the constant requests for sewer and water service, to inspect the many 10 Mile and Novi roads, is now zoning construction plans.

The business before the recent joint meeting of the Planning Board and the Village Council gives the background to Ackley's claims of this village's bustling growth.

Following a public hearing which heard no objections, the board and council rezoned 136 acres from agricultural to business classifications to permit a varied development by Richard Gabel.

The land, in the southeast corner of 10 Mile and Novi roads, is now zoned 14 acres for professional office and research, 30 acres for general commercial, 25 acres for light manufacturing, and 67 acres for restricted manufacturing.

After the second public hearing, one and a half acres at the southwest corner of 10 Mile and Haggerty was rezoned to general commercial from restricted multiple family residential. This request was made by Victor Almas, Detroit.

The board and council did not grant the rezoning request of John Merlino, Novi, for eight acres west of Novi Road and north of 10 Mile. He had asked for a general commercial rezoning to operate the Glenn Catering Co., a firm he owns in Detroit.

The board recommended that the parcel remain light manufacturing according to the master plan.

A public hearing on a restricted manufacturing rezoning request was set for 8 p.m. Nov. 27. The parcel is five acres on the east side of Novi Road south of the C. & O. railroad tracks and north of 10 Mile.

The rezoning request of James Michael, developer from Grosse Pointe, for 80 acres at the northwest corner of Nine Mile and Meadowbrook was referred to planning consultants Waring and Johnson. Michael, a village official said, he plans to develop a subdivision on the parcel.

Two rezoning requests were sent to committees for study:

- A request from O. H. McCollum, Novi, to change his three lots on the southeast corner of Grand River and Lanny's from general commercial to restricted manufacturing.

- A request from Civil Works Constructors, Detroit, to rezone a parcel east of Novi Road, north of 10 Mile from restricted manufacturing to light and heavy manufacturing.

Used Book Sale Slated at Library

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Several thousand books await customers at the annual used book sale of the Friends of the West Bloomfield Township Library.

The sale will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m., and Tuesday from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the main library, 5030 Orchard Lake.

Included in the sale collection are books for all ages and interests, encyclopedias, paperbacks, magazines and records.

The Friends, a nonprofit volunteer citizens group, collect the sale items year 'round.

Proceeds of the sale are used for the benefit of the library. Last year's sale netted about $600, part of which has provided an ample selection of Pearl Buck books.

Cochairmen of this year's sale are Mrs. Don Somers, 3150 Hartslock Woods Drive and Mrs. Lloyd Strausz, 6386 Northfield.

Troy Will Buy Additional Land at Site of Park

TROY — The City Commission has approved the purchase of additional acreage on land previously announced for a park site in the northeast corner of the city.

In August, the commission agreed to purchase 51.3 acres bordered by Square Lake Road, South Boulevard, John R and Dequindre for $1,600 an acre, said Manager Paul York.

"Since discovering the parcel contains 67 acres which the owners are willing to sell, we have decided to go ahead and purchase the additional land at the same rate," said York.

Total funds allotted for the park site will total about $105,000 and will come from the parks and recreation capital budget fund, he added.

City Attorney Stanley Burke has ruled that a proposal for setting up a millage election for a new library was illegal, said York.

Petitions now will probably be circulated in order to get the issue placed on a general millage election which may come next Spring.

The proposed zoning ordinance amendment regarding Planned Neighborhood Development (large apartment complexes) has been tabled until next week for further study.

Reports Completion of Sidewalk Project

HOLLY — Village Supt. Jim Herrington announced this week that $8,000 worth of sidewalk construction had been completed over the summer on most of Holly's major paved streets.

"We have never before done that much work at one time on sidewalks," he said.

Most of the work was done on Maple, Saginaw and Center streets, said Herrington.

All of the work was contracted to Graham and Sons Contractors of Holly.

State Parking Ramp Hit as 'Hoodlum Haven'

LANSING (UPI) — Two state representatives say the new State Capitol parking ramp is becoming "a haven for hoodlums."

Rep. Raymond L. Baker, R-Farmington, and Phil O. Pittenger, R-Lansing, said they would ask the Michigan Legislature to do something about it.

They wrote a resolution that would create a special committee to "study and investigate the security problems of the State Capitol complex."

For Apartment Complex

Residents Oppose Rezoning Plan

ORION TOWNSHIP — Strong opposition to a plan to allow rezoning for the construction of apartments on the north shore of Long Lake was expressed last night.

About 60 nearby residents attended a public hearing on the matter conducted by the township planning commission.

Reasons for opposition included traffic control on Long Lake, concern about a tax base as provided by apartments compared to that provided by residential development, and an expected additional burden on the district's already overcrowded schools.

Opposed are 500 one- and two-bedroom units. The rezoning request was made by the Detroit developing firm of Holtzman and Silverman.

No decision was made last night by the planning commission, but one was promised at its next open meeting Dec. 6.

W. Bloomfield OK's Sewer Assessment

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The $352,212 special assessment roll for Brookfield Highlands lateral sanitary sewers has been approved by the Township Board.

The sewers will serve about 180 lots in the subdivision, said Township Supervisor John N. Doherty. He expects construction of the laterals to begin in March or April.

Before that, the township must obtain approval to sell bonds from the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission. Then it must also award bids for the construction work, explained the supervisor.

The board has set a public hearing on the New England Estates sanitary sewer special assessment improvement for Nov. 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Township Hall.

SEWER ACTION DELAYS

The board tabled action on the Bel-Aire sanitary sewer special assessment improvement because engineering plans are not yet completed.

All laterals to be constructed will be connected to the Walnut Lake Arm of the Farmington Evergreen Interceptor at 14 Mile and Inkster.

In other business the commission recommended approval of a plot plan for development of a plastics plant on industrial property on M24 near Brown Road.

The petitioner was T. D. Shea Manufacturing Co. of Detroit which plans to build a 20,000-square-foot building as the initial step in moving full facilities to the area.

Net worth of the Detroit company was said to be more than $450,000.

SOMETHING MISSING — A telephone pole, shattered in a traffic accident yesterday on Auburn Road east of the Clinton River bridge in Pontiac Township, hangs ghostly in the rain. The impact snapped out a center portion at least 20 feet up from the base.

Moon Flight by Russia Eyed

Manned Circumlunar
Trip Seen for Spring

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A U.S. space expert predicted today the Russians will send men around the moon and back sometime next spring.

They would have done it by now, he said, if the first test flight of their Soyuz spacecraft had been a success.

But the flight of Soyuz 1 failed last April 24 when it tumbled out of control and crashed and its pilot, Vladimir M. Komarov, was killed.

This, the authority said, set the Russian lunar program back by "the better part of a year."

As U.S. officials see it, Komarov's flight would have included — if the craft's stabilization equipment had not failed — a rendezvous and docking with another vehicle, presumably a fueled rocket.

WOULD HAVE PROVED

This experiment would have proved Soyuz' ability to go up, complete a docking operation, and return with crew intact to earth.

The sequence after that, it is believed here, would have involved an automatic assembly of similar craft in orbit followed by an unmanned dash around the moon and back.

With those tests out of the way, the Russians then would have been in a position to attempt the same thing with men aboard. U.S. observers believe the Soyuz spacecraft can accommodate at least three cosmonauts.

The circumlunar schedule went off the tracks, however, when the Soyuz flight failed last April. Since then the Russians have set themselves to correct the reentry problems which killed Komarov, and this they apparently have succeeded in doing.

FLEW TOGETHER

This week the Soviets docked two spacecraft, Cosmos 186 and Cosmos 188, in orbit and flew them together for a while. Then they brought Cosmos 186, apparently a corrected version of Komarov's Soyuz 1, to a gentle landing on earth.

Cosmos 188 seems to have been a "rocket module" which could have propelled Cosmos 186 to the moon and back if the time had been right.

But the timetable had been messed up by last April's failure. Otherwise, officials believe, both unmanned and manned flights around the moon would have been completed by now.

Good times for shooting at the moon occur at intervals of about 28 days, and the October chance is now gone.

Observers here now believe the Russians will attempt an unmanned circumlunar flight late this month or next — when the moon "windows" are open again — and follow it up with a manned trip in the spring.

Two Charged in Slaying of Girl, Hippie

NEW YORK (AP) — Indictments charging murder and rape have been filed against two men in the deaths of an 18-year-old girl, member of a rich Greenwich Conn. family, and her hippie boyfriend during an LSD party in the East Village.

The Manhattan grand jury indictments were handed up Wednesday against Donald Ramsey and Thomas Dennis, both 26.

The victims were Linda Fitzpatrick and James Hutchinson, 21, who was known as "Groovy" in the East Village hippie colony where he was a chieftain of sorts.

In addition to the murder charges, Ramsey and Dennis are accused of raping Miss Fitzpatrick. The two men have been held without bail since their arrest shortly after the bludgeoned bodies of Miss Fitzpatrick and Hutchinson were found in a tenement house basement Oct. 8 by Fred Wright, 31, assistant superintendent of the building.

A separate indictment handed up Wednesday charged Wright and Ramsey with raping a 22-year-old woman in the same building just before the murders. Wright has been held in lieu of $50,000 bail.

Arizona Jury Meets Responsibility

We heartily commend the Phoenix, Ariz., jury who convicted ROBERT SMITH of first degree murder, the penalty for which is death in the gas chamber.

The murderer had gone berserk a year ago and killed four women and a child in a beauty college. Two others survived the lethal assault.

Defense of the accused rested on a plea of mental illness.

plea increasingly heard in criminal trials and one that too often evokes sympathy for the criminal while ignoring the fate of the victim.

At a time when leniency and misguided compassion unduly influence the administration of justice, the realistic and forthright action of the seven-woman, five-man jury strikes an encouraging note for society.

Slow Flow of Diplomacy Rights River's Twist

President JOHNSON's recent trip to El Paso to hand over to Mexico the 620 acres known as El Chamizal ended an exercise in slow-motion diplomacy that has dragged on for more than a century.

El Chamizal originally was Mexican territory. But a shift of the Rio Grande between 1852 and 1864 left the land on the American side of the river. Mexico has been trying to get it back ever since.

As early as 1852, President BENITO JUAREZ instructed the Mexican ambassador to Washington to present a formal claim to El Chamizal. After negotiation proved fruitless, an international boundary commission was formed in 1889. It, too, was unable to agree on a solution, whereupon the United States and Mexico submitted the dispute to arbitration.

But in 1911 the United States rejected an award which gave Mexico the best of the bargain. President Taft nevertheless expressed hope in his annual message of 1912 that the Chamizal question would be "satisfactorily and definitely settled at an early day."

That day did not come until Aug. 29, 1963, when a treaty giving the disputed area back to Mexico finally was signed. President JOHNSON and Mexican President ADOLFO LOPEZ MATEOS traveled to El Paso on Sept. 25, 1964, to dedicate a marker commemorating the treaty. The story might have ended there, but it did not.

To compensate Americans who owned land in El Chamizal, Congress in 1964 authorized appropriations of $44.9 million. Only $30 million of that amount was appropriated in fiscal 1965, $6.6 million in fiscal 1966, and $4.2 million in fiscal 1967. The fiscal 1968 appropriation is expected to be about $2.8 million, which still would leave a balance of about $1.30 million.

All of these complications suggest that El Chamizal was aptly named—the English translation is "Big Thicket."

Teacher Strikes Accent Educational Problems

The recent rash of teacher strikes in various parts of the Country bring two factors to mind which could have a significant bearing on our children and on the Nation's educational system.

First of all, the ability of parents to have a voice in shaping the educational experience of their children depends upon the independence and discretionary power of local school boards.

Federal and emergency state aid to local school districts brings with it regulations and restrictions on this independence. As government assistance grows, community control over schools will decline. But we can get into such a deepening educational predicament by accident unless local communities retain the will and provide the resources to meet the legitimate needs of both teachers and students.

Teacher strikes raise another question. Since most states have some kind of legislation prohibiting strikes by public employees, a teacher on strike is violating the law.

This seems highly inappropriate since one of the responsibilities of every teacher is to instill respect for the law in the minds of students.

Either the law should be changed or violators prosecuted. The alternative is that teachers stand before their students as living proof that you can successfully flout the laws of society. This is plainly unacceptable.

A related source of discord in the educational system is the diversity of teacher salary scales and administrative involvement granted by the boards of individual school districts. In effect, it pits district against district in the common objective of maintaining adequate teaching staffs.

Although the idea has had little public discussion, the impracticability of the present pattern suggests the eventual establishment of a statewide civil service agency empowered to standardize compensation for teachers and define the extent of their participation in executive and procedural aspects of public education.

Thieu Peace Offer Sure to Be Ignored

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The new president of South Vietnam, Nguyen Van Thieu, having taken the oath of office, now has gone through the motions of proposing some kind of peace talk with North Vietnam. He had been promising to do it for weeks, once he took office, but the result will almost certainly be zero. An agreement by Hanoi to talk with him would mean, in effect, recognition of his newly elected government.

Thieu will be in good company, since all the proposals of President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and others have been rejected or ignored. Johnson made his last bid in a speech Sept. 28.

North Vietnam's official newspaper, Nhan Dan, called by Hanoi to talk with him would mean, in effect, recognition of his newly elected government.

"The newspaper repeats the Communist terms for peace in Vietnam."

They include an unconditional halt in U.S. bombing of the North. But neither Johnson nor Thieu has ever proposed talks that didn't have some condition attached.

IN GOOD FAITH

Johnson, for instance, offered to stop the bombing if doing so would lead to "productive discussions" and if there was a willingness on the other side to begin negotiations in good faith.

But trying to get the North Vietnamese to talk peace even on their terms is such a tall order that the big interest is in Thieu and his new government.

The United States has pushed the idea of a new government democratically elected—a president and a general assembly made up of house and senate—to get South Vietnam on the road to the modern world.

The elections were held in September and this month. And Thieu at his inaugural outlined a general program to build democratic institutions and begin social reform.

In order to do a real job he'd have to change a way of life. On top of that his new government is not starting out under ideal circumstances, even if there wasn't the war.

There has been ill will between him and his vice president, Nguyen Cao Ky.

In addition to that, South Vietnam doesn't have anything so peaceful, orderly or helpful as a two-party system, such as this country has.

MEASURE OF POWER

Under Vietnam's new constitution Thieu starts out with a large measure of power, which means it may take a while before the House or Senate can exert genuine influence.

At this moment it doesn't look like a safe bet for anyone to predict fairly how long this government can stand. It gets into shattering intrigues and power plays, particularly between Thieu and Ky.

David Lawrence Says:

Riots Not Entirely Accidental

WASHINGTON — Congress has at last started to use its investigative powers to find out the true causes of the 76 major riots across the country in the last three years which resulted in the loss of 118 lives, including 12 police officers.

DAVID LAWRENCE and the wounding of 2,424 persons, of which number more than 100 were policemen.

Were these riots spontaneous, or were there subversive elements which took advantage of the unrest either to foment trouble or intensify it when disorders broke out?

A committee of the House of Representatives and a Senate subcommittee are digging into the background of the disturbances. They are collecting testimony which in a few weeks will be summarized and presented to the country.

It is already apparent, however, that the riots were not entirely accidental but in many instances resulted from deliberate planning.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate subcommittee, said at the outset of the hearings this week:

"Calculus and deliberate disregard for law and order, spurred on by inflammatory speeches and proclamations of those who publicly advocate the use of violence as a means toward accomplishment of their objectives, have reached proportions that may well constitute a tangible threat to the preservation of law and order and our internal security."

Intelligence sources state that orders for organized riots on a worldwide basis have been issued by Communist committees in Moscow.

This doesn't mean that the majority of the persons involved in the "demonstrations" in this country are themselves aware of the Communist plots and intrigues. But evidence is accumulating that the provocative acts in many of the marches were planned in advance.

The names of "target cities," of course, are made public beforehand, and Communist newspapers notified their followers of the scheduled "demonstrations."

Fred Cobb of 2000 N. Woodward; 95th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rewold of Rochester; 57th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Logan Sparks of Walpole Lake; 56th wedding anniversary.

Many of the cities where riots have occurred had been making substantial progress in dealing with the race problem, particularly in relieving unemployment. But they have been the victims of riots just the same.

CASUALTIES TABULATED

The Senate subcommittee not only has tabulated the casualties in the riots in the last three years, but has listed

7,985 cases of arson and $210-million of property damage, along with an economic loss estimated at $504 million.

When Congress makes known all the facts, it would not be surprising if laws are passed defining "incitement to crime" and even restricting street "demonstrations" that could be inflammatory.

Humphrey Not Worried Over Viet Trip Danger

SAIGON — As his big jet raced him toward unpredictable adventures in Vietnam, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey calmly assessed his latest assignment, the riskiest of his life.

"I just can't waste time worrying over the danger involved in this CONSIDINE trip," he told this reporter: In his lounge on Air Force 2.

He was dressed in slacks and wore a gray sweater more suited for golf at Burning Tree or a back yard cookout than for a foray into what Hanoi has promised would be the terror-ridden inauguration of Nguyen Van Thieu and Nguyen Cao Ky.

"When the President called me in to talk about the inauguration he said, right off, that he was not going to ask me to go. I said, 'Mr. President, I want to go and I am. We're sending a lot of men out there, so what's the special about me, and why shouldn't I be sent?'"

"So here I am," he said with a tough smile. "Public officials are soldiers, in a sense. And by and large they have the same discipline. I'm going to Vietnam because I support our commitment there and because I think I might do a little good."

"For example, I think it will be useful to visit with Thieu and Ky and exchange ideas. I think it will be encouraging to the Americans who are doing the fighting to be reminded that we're behind them no matter what they might read about some isolated demonstrations back home."

"I can't understand some of my liberal friends in this dobate. We are not in Vietnam as a warrior nation, we're there as a nation-builder. We are building, strengthening, supporting nations all over the world, just as we did in Italy, Germany, Japan and Korea."

"I think that what has happened in South Vietnam over the past year has been one of the most momentous periods in history and I want to be there at its climax, the inauguration."

"Those people have held five elections in that period, five elections in the face of war and persecution. No other nation ever did that, and yet there are people at home who belittle all of it."

Almanac

By United Press International Today is Thursday, Nov. 2 the 366th day of 1967 with 59 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1917, British Foreign Secretary Arthur James Balfour proposed a Jewish homeland in Palestine.

In 1920, a Pittsburgh radio station KDKA began the first regular schedule of broadcasts by reporting the returns of the presidential election.

In 1948, President Harry Truman and vice president Alben Barkley were elected.

In 1965, Baltimore Quaker Norman Morrison set himself on fire in front of the Pentagon with his 1-year-old daughter in his arms to protest the Vietnam war. The daughter was saved, but Morrison died.

No, Gwendolyn, the fact that the boss has been named vice president has nothing to do with his personal habits.

'Conservative Viewpoint Has Had Good Coverage'

Bravo to Joan Richardson for her recent letter in this column, and bravo to The Pontiac Press for printing it and other voices crying in the wilderness. The Pontiac Press has given the conservative viewpoint much better coverage than any other paper in the area.

If your paper wants to listen to a voice speaking up, why don't you do a thorough study, pros and cons, of the Council of Governments issue? Most people don't know what the original plan was and how it differs from the much better one, Special Session Bill No. 6, recently passed by the Senate.

Given facts of both bills, No. 6 (Senator Huber's), would win hands down. But who is going to tell the people what is being planned for them?

ELIZABETH L. CHURCH
441 MINOT, ROMEO

(Editor's Note: Thank you for the suggestion. We are working on an in-depth study which will be published shortly.)

Readers Give Views on Open Housing Bill

For many days we have heard the pros and cons on open occupancy. I have talked with various legislators and very few have heard from people in their districts. Whatever your stand, Senator L. Harvey Lodge would like you to write and let him know how you feel. Address your letter to: Senator L. Harvey Lodge, Michigan Senate, Capitol Building, Lansing 48901. Legislation is everyone's business. Let him know how you feel.

INTERESTED VOTER

When Gov. Romney offers 50 foot lots on either side of his home for sale and when Joseph Hudson removes the stone wall from around his home so he can see his neighbors, I will give credence to their sincerity regarding open housing. When your home is on a 40 or 50 foot lot, neighbors can be a joy or a veritable horror. Bed the advocate of this bill that deprives a property owner of just about the last freedom of choice that remains to him put his home where his mouth is.

'Many Voters Opposed Plan From Start'

"Taubman plan officially dead" — just so. As an interested attendant of the meeting at Pontiac Central High School and after listening to all the pleas from the public for further study of the plan and for postponement by the City, my opinion of the decision to go ahead with it, I was amazed that regardless of no favorable discussion from the floor concerning this program the Commission bulldozed it through. Next time, listen to voters.

Discusses Decision by U. S. Supreme Court

The recent news that the U.S. Supreme Court refused to grant an appeal from a decision of the Kansas Supreme Court against Amish farmers, pointing to a strange anomaly in this "land of the free." No provision of our constitutional heritage has stronger meaning than the right to worship God according to the dictates of one's own conscience.

While crime stalks our streets and corruption runs rampant through our government, the action of small-minded school officials makes mockery of the sacrifices of our young men in Vietnam.

It appears that our itinerant Governor has forgotten how the same persecution forced his birth in a foreign land. With all the power of his high office he gives weak lip service to these modern martyrs. Meanwhile groups of Amish God-fearing men, women and children track the same trail that Romney's family took to Mexico.

'Senior Citizen Will Be Hurt by Transaction'

In the recent Bell Telephone transaction with the City for more property, it is necessary to demolish Lee's Diner which is too old to be moved. What about this senior citizen who owns the diner? Business has not been so good for several years but he is making a living. He will be badly hurt in this transaction. I think Bell Telephone should compensate him with a few thousand dollars to get started somewhere else.

'Enjoyed Article About Rochester Teacher'

The article about Mrs. Elmer Fischer, a Negro teacher in Rochester, was a joy to read. She must be a wonderful woman — not only a tribute to her race but also to America. It is good to hear about our good citizens for a change. Articles like this do more good for racial prejudice than 20 protest marches or ten meetings. We must learn to know and respect each other as individuals regardless of color. I commend The Pontiac Press for this type of news and will be looking for more.

Question and Answer

A few months ago I read about toasters, irons, and small appliances getting hot because they lacked too much electric current. My iron and waffle iron cords get too hot and I'd like to know if they're safe to use and if they will cause a fire when they get too hot. Also, can they be repaired?

MRS. H.

Reply

Mr. White of Consumers service department tells us you don't have to worry about current leaking into the air. That is a term to describe certain types of faulty equipment. He says there isn't too much danger of a hot cord causing fire, but it should be taken care of. As a general rule, it could be repaired unless it requires parts no longer available. The service department of your power company can check the appliances to see if repairs are necessary.

Water Safety Law Reviewed

"According to surveys, we have as many boats on Oakland County lakes during a peak summer weekend as five or six states put together," said the safety director.

He also listed some of the other major points in the new law.

SKI-TOW REQUIREMENTS

Next year, both an observer and a rear-view mirror will be required on every boat towing water skiers. Up to now, only one or the other was required.

Beginning Jan. 1, all water craft — canoes, rowboats, sailboats and motorboats — will be required to contain U.S. Coast Guard approved lifesaving gear for every person on board.

Cushions will be sufficient in certain small craft, while jackets are required in larger boats.

Certain classes of boats under 26 feet long which are built or offered for original sale in Michigan after the effective date of the law must display a plate showing their maximum passenger and load capacity. In the case of outboard motorboats, maximum horsepower limits must also appear on the plate.

RECKLESS OPERATION

If these load or horsepower limits are exceeded, it will be considered sufficient evidence of a boat's reckless operation of his craft.

The penalty for injuring others through reckless boating will be stiffened from the present $100 fine. Violations of this nature will be handled as a felony and carry a possible two-year jail sentence and a $2,000 fine.

Michigan's three-year, $3 A license and sister who last registration fee for motorboats will be raised to $5 in January 1969, when new registrations are due.

Fees collected from these registrations are parceled out to burg, last saw his sister, Nun counties to underwrite marine insurance, when she was 4 years law enforcement and water old. He has not been back to safety. State grants provide Italy since that time.

$1.43-Million Budget Adopted

Some $8,000 is available for other township employees who also had been offered $480.

Township firemen expressed dissatisfaction with the board's offer.

Li Donald Somerville, president of Waterford Township Professional Fire Fighters, Local 1335, served as the group's spokesman.

NOT RATIFIED
Said Somerville: "The members of Local 1335 did not ratify the economic package offered to us last (Tuesday) night."

Somerville later confirmed that the vote was unanimous.

Johnson said contracts with the three employee unions — police, firemen and other township personnel — still are unsettled and that negotiations will continue.

By resolution, the board approved salary increases, effective Jan. 1, from $11,000 to $15,000 for the supervisor, from $9,500 to $12,500 for the clerk, and from $8,000 to $12,500 for the treasurer.

The increases were questioned closely by residents.

A LOT OF MONEY
One man asked how the board arrived at the pay boosts, adding that "33,000 to 44,000 in the case of the supervisor is a lot of money."

Johnson commented that the increase for the three elective officials was the first in seven years and that some other department heads now receive more wages with longevity pay.

"It should have been done before," said Johnson.

It also was pointed out by board members that the increases are reasonable compared with what officials of other Oakland County communities are receiving.

HE THINKS IT'S FAIR
"I think it's very fair," said Trustee E. Frank Richardson. "If the people want good responsible officials, they are going to have to pay for them."

Also, the pay for members of the board of tax review was increased from $15 to $24 for each day they work.

Another budget change made the past two days was the transfer of $5,000 from the consulting engineers expenditure to the police department's capital equipment fund which, consequently, was increased from $10,000 to $15,000.

Arabs Expected to Switch, Back Red China in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — na's mouthpiece in the United (AP) — The General Assembly Nations, has again put in a resolution expected to keep Red China out of the United Nations and the expulsion of the Nationalist Chinese who now hold the seat.

The United States and 13 other nations have put in a draft resolution reaffirming the Western stand that the China question is a matter for issue which requires a two-thirds vote for adoption.

EXPRESSED SURPRISE
Diplomats who have been following the Chinese situation have expressed surprise that the attacks on foreign diplomats by Mao Tse-tung's Red Guards and wholesale blasts against both East and West by Peking have not cost the Communist government more votes.

"The vote would swing more in our favor if some governments would only examine the situation more realistically," said Ambassador Liu Chieh, Nationalist China's chief delegate.

"Some of these votes are decided by internal problems, enough to tip the balance, since where governments feel they are not being deceived in 1966 by what we have to show that they are not a vote of 57-46 with 17 abstentions."

He cited Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia, the Cambodian Chief of State, who recently likened of whom have thrown out pro-Mao's Cultural Revolution to "a Communist regime, might as well be a Communist in fishes."

Despite this attack, Cambodia is a cosponsor of the Albanian resolution to seat Red China, viewed as Red China.

Mentality of a Middle-Ager:

Who's That in My Yearbook?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Middle age is that period of life when the faces in your high school yearbook begin to look hauntingly unfamiliar—including your own.

You no longer open an envelope with the idea that it might possibly contain something for nothing.

It isn't as easy as it used to be to beat a nimble-footed old lady to an empty taxicab.

If you casually encounter someone you used to know, you tell him how well he looks and congratulate yourself secretly because you haven't aged so much as he.

You never buy anything without first inspecting its price tag in the hope that it has been reduced.

The mail brings more and more invitations to do things you don't want to do and to go places where you don't want to be.

When you come to a flight of stairs, instead of going up them two at a time, you automatically look in all directions to see if someone just happened to build an escalator nearby.

You have pretty well figured out whom you would lend money to in an emergency—and how much.

Whenever the phone rings and before your hand can pick up the receiver, your mind begins to wonder who's in trouble on the other end of the line, or whether it's the one at your end of the line.

Your hairline isn't receding so much as your forehead is getting nobler looking.

If you have a friend of the same vintage as yourself, you think it is a great joke when you meet to ask each other, "Confidentially, when does the fun begin?"

It is easier to wear something that doesn't quite fit you than it is to go through the bother of taking it back to the store and having it exchanged.

NOT WORTH IT
Anything that leaves you feeling too darned tired is hardly worth doing.

There are a lot more people who say "sit" to you than those who say "stand." You are slowly becoming accustomed to this difference in greeting.

The tougher the sport being played, the more you enjoy being an innocent spectator.

Although you sense a slight slowdown in your physical prowess, morally you are getting so much stronger that about half the time you can whip temptation with one arm tied behind your back.

Every cocktail party you attend reminds you of at least three others you can remember at which you made a fool of yourself.

You have a wistful desire to gossip about other people less and help them more.

When you go to church, you find yourself nodding in agreement with the preacher before he has even reached the verb in the sentence he is saying. After all, you know there's a lot of truth in what he has in mind.

Now and then you have the urge to improve yourself and add to the depth of your culture, such as by reading a good new book by a fresh and interesting author. You'd do it, too, if you just knew where to find one.

You brood vaguely about what life might possibly be like if all the bills were paid up and nothing you owned had a mortgage on it.

No longer do you retain youth's careless way of taking nature for granted. Each tree and bird and flower assumes its own individuality, and you are at least dimly thankful that each is there.

Yes, that's middle age. Middle age is what you make it—and what it makes of you.

Postmaster Gen. Lawrence F. O'Brien reminded the public today of suggested mailing deadlines for Christmas mail.

Suggested deadlines for mail to all members of the Armed Forces overseas are:

- Nov. 11 for gifts weighing more than five pounds sent by surface postage rates.
- Dec. 1 for gifts of five pounds or less plus letters and greeting cards sent at surface rates. These go by air on a space-available basis.

Domestic military and civilian mail deadlines for surface mail are Dec. 4 for gifts to distant states; Dec. 10 for greeting cards to distant states and Dec. 13 for gifts and greeting cards to nearby areas.

Overseas air mail deadlines are Dec. 1 for remote areas off main air routes and Dec. 10 for areas on heavily traveled air routes.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — To and his panel of scientists to get back to flying saucers — unclear things up. This was all to unidentified flying objects (UFOs) the good. A lot of scientists have thought it was time to pay some

The North American Air Defense Command (NORAD) knows what it thinks about serious attention to UFO reports, including their psychological implications, if any.

NORAD News Service, published in Colorado Springs, carried an article headlined somewhat this way:

Perils Pregnancy

Married hostesses on commercial jet planes run the danger of miscarriage as well as other physical complications, a German physician finds.

Dr. H. G. Mutke of the German Aerospace Medical Association in Munich reported his findings to the world congress of gynecology and obstetrics in Sydney, Australia.

A large number of married women who fly 700 to 800 hours a year made repeated complaints of menstrual disturbance, gastric troubles, chronic tiredness, heart palpitations and inability to concentrate, Dr. Mutke said.

New State Laws Take Effect Today

LANSING (P)—If you're a drunken driver, a glue sniffer, a prisoner or a credit card thief, this is a special day for you.

New Michigan laws which are aimed at you take effect today.

This is the 90th day after the Legislature adjourned its regular 1967 session. That means all bills passed during that session and not given immediate effect become law today.

Leading the list of new laws is the controversial "implied consent" bill, under which a motorist arrested for drunken driving can lose his license if he refuses to submit to chemical tests.

Other major new laws provide:

- That all motor vehicles must have outside rear-view mirrors on the driver's side.
- That breaking jail by using violence, threats of violence or a dangerous weapon is a felony.
- That seeking kicks from sniffing toxic glue, or encouraging somebody else to do so, is a misdemeanor.
- That parents of a child who maliciously destroys property or causes injury are liable for damages up to $1,500 (the old limit was $500).

- That using a forged driver's license with unlawful intent is punishable by up to a $500 fine, one year in jail and revocation of the license.
- That driving without a license carries minimum penalties of three days in jail (instead of two) and five days (instead of three) for subsequent violations.
- That a motorist's license may be suspended for up to one year if he uses an altered or canceled license, borrows or lends a license or makes a false statement in applying for one.

- That it is a felony to steal, forge or, with intent to defraud, alter a credit card or to run up a telephone bill of over $100 by unauthorized use of a telephone credit card (if the bill is $100 or less, it's a misdemeanor).

Other bills taking effect today will put incumbents' names at the top of the ballot lists of primary election candidates and regulate carrying of pistols by private police.

Senator Hits MFT Pledge of Defiance

LANSING (UPI) — State Sen. James G. Fleming, R-Jackson, yesterday expressed his "shock" over statements by the Michigan Federation of Teachers official that the MFT would defy any restrictive laws against teacher strikes.

Fleming was referring to statements made by Thomas Hill, director of the organization for the MFT, at the annual meeting of Michigan United Press International editors last Saturday at St. Clair.

Hill said he anticipated punitive legislation would be passed next year that would be aimed at striking teachers, but he added: "The MFT will defy any new laws. We will defy injunctions. We will go to jail. We will refuse to pay fines."

Fleming was highly critical of that statement and of Hill's admission that the MFT is "trying to destroy local school boards."

"He is openly advocating the abolishment of that form of government which gives the people of this state the right to elect their leaders..." said Fleming in a speech on the Senate floor.

Fleming said if Hill's "type of thinking or philosophy" is allowed to prevail "we would have unbridled anarchy in our public schools."

New Hoffa Probe Begins

Star Witness Doesn't Testify

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A federal grand jury has begun probing into the legal maneuverings of James R. Hoffa, apparently without hearing an expected star witness who says he has been marked for death.

Mary Ann Gordon Francis, who was taken away from a local hospital by federal marshals earlier in the day, apparently did not appear before the grand jury Wednesday.

Mrs. Francis, former secretary for Teamsters Union Local 515 here, had been expected to testify before the panel about threats she said she received in connection with testimony she gave at a trial connected with Hoffa's third new trial motion.

However, Mrs. Francis, who was hospitalized with a gunshot wound suffered last week, was not seen entering the jury room, and the Chattanooga Times reported that she probably will not be called to testify.

WHISKED AWAY

Mrs. Francis was whisked away from the hospital a few hours after she was involved in an unsuccessful attempt by police to trap a man she said had offered to kill anyone she wanted.

A federal officer attempted to arrest the man, but he escaped after at least one shot was fired.

Mrs. Francis said she was marked for death because of testimony she gave which was adverse to Hoffa, the imprisoned Teamsters Union president.

At least one witness, Knoxville garage operator W. "Buster" Keys, was called before the grand jury Wednesday. Keys reportedly did some work on an automobile belonging to Benjamin David Nichols who gave an affidavit in a Hoffa new trial motion, alleging the government used wiretapping to secure Hoffa's jury tampering conviction here in 1964.

WAITED IN HALL

Two other subpoenaed witnesses waited in the hall but were not called. They were Hamilton National Bank Vice President Ira Smotherman and Curtis Ball, a hotel employee.

Several men who worked as hotel bellhops at the hotel where the Hoffa jury was quartered in 1964 have been subpoenaed. Also called were long-distance telephone records of certain numbers in Chattanooga, New England and Michigan.

It was in the perjury trial of a prostitute who had claimed she engaged in sexual relations with jurors in the 1964 trial that Mrs. Francis testified recently. Mrs. Francis said she saw a prostitute holding more than $1,000 when she was called in to notarize an affidavit.

After her testimony Mrs. Francis said she had been threatened and was assigned a guard for a short time. She told officers she suffered her wound last Thursday night after she had been abducted and tried to escape.

The two daughters were in bed covered with blankets. Police said Michael Belluscio, 44, apparently was tormented by repeated arguments and fights with his 40-year-old blonde wife, Mamie. The couple had separated several previous times, police said.

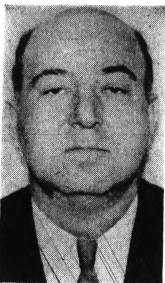

Neighbors described Belluscio—a balding, husky 200-pounder—as a "nice, quiet guy," but said he had a short temper. Last April, police reported, he was fined $30 and given a 90-day suspended sentence for assaulting his wife.

The mass shooting occurred in the family's $40,000, 10-room colonial home Wednesday.

BOTTLED EXEC
Belluscio, general district manager for a bottling company, was on his way to work when he was shot. He was found in a nearby Atlantic City, telephone booth. He was home Taggart and said calmly, "I just killed my family, I'm going to kill myself."

Then Belluscio put down the receiver and went to his upstairs master bedroom where he shot himself in the chest with a 22-caliber rifle, which he used to wipe out his family.

Nets to Catch Runaway Jets

A gigantic emergency system, capable of stopping the largest four-engined jet aircraft on the runway without discomfort to passengers, is being developed for the French Ministry of Transportation.

The system consists of a nylon net made by the Aerazur Co. of France, which engages the aircraft for the full width of its wing span. Net and airplane are brought to a slow stop by energy absorbing devices located along the sides of the runway.

Labor Disputes Idle 200,000 in U.S.

By The Associated Press
Labor disputes across the country kept more than 200,000 workmen off the job today and partially tied up production in a variety of industries ranging from automobiles to machine guns.

Also involved were such diverse service-type employees as bus drivers, newspapermen and hospital nurses.

Largest, and least optimistic of settlement, was the industry-wide copper strike which entered its 111th day. The walkout widened overnight and there was little hope of settlement before the year's end. More than 50,000 have been idled since the bulk of U.S. copper production was halted July 15.

Although a new national contract between Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers union was ratified and signed days ago, assembly lines remained at a standstill over the sometimes thorny issue of the plant agreements on the local level. Twelve UAW Ford locals were yet to come to terms on these supplements to the national contract.

GUN PRODUCTION
Production of the M60 machine gun, widely used in the Vietnam war, was halted Wednesday night when 1,500 men of the New England workers struck the New England division of the Maremont Corp. at Saco, Maine. Some 1,000 members of the Textile Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, voted Tuesday to reject a new 34-month contract offer. No further negotiations were scheduled.

A walkout by six men in Colorado, equipment installers for Western Electric Co., spread into New Mexico, Arizona, Texas and Utah. A spokesman for the Communications Workers of America, Local 8490, said before the overtime assignment dispute is settled, all 900 of the local's members may be on strike in the seven states where Mountain States Telephone Co. operates.

"The lengthy copper industry dispute hit one of the last two major production sites Wednesday," he said.

Capital Corridors Closed

LANSING (AP)—Gates will be the Capitol and the barrier the public from corridors of the State Capitol this weekend security problems grow, said officials study methods for John Galner, state property manager, said.

TWO PER SHIFT
There has been discussion with the (Ingham County) sheriff, the State Police and Lansing Police about how to guarantee the security of the Capitol and the parking lot area, said Robert Danhof, executive assistant to Gov. George Romney.

The discussion, Danhof said, has been going on for some time, but "interest was sparked" by this summer's disturbances in Grand Rapids and Detroit. "But that is not the total reason," he stressed. "As the Capitol complex, which land division of the Maremont Corp. at Saco, Maine. Some 1,000 members of the Textile Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, voted Tuesday to reject a new 34-month contract offer. No further negotiations were scheduled."

day night when 1,100 members of United Steel Workers Local 4985 struck Anaconda's International Smelting & Refining Co. at Perth Amboy, N.J.

The strike by the Independent Amalgamated Transit Workers union, Cincinnati's first transit walkout in 54 years, began when the union's contract expired at midnight Tuesday. Limited operations were resumed at the (Sterling) J.U. Community Hospital with volunteers filling in while a labor dispute with the hospital's 139-member nursing staff still shuddered. The hospital had been virtually shut down since Oct. 7. The nurses accepted a last week rather than resign at that juncture that enjoined them to end the walkout over salary demands.

A three-day photographers' strike that shut down both of Cincinnati's daily newspapers ended today when the union and publishers signed a new contract. The union and publishers of The Morning Enquirer and the afternoon Post & Times-Star said the contract calls for a wage increase for the photographers of $26 a week during a 33-month contract plus fringe benefits.

Of the 102 million drivers in the U.S., 30 million will be charged with some traffic offense this year.

Despite a temporary court injunction ordering 800 bus drivers and maintenance men back to work in Cincinnati, Ohio, there were no buses on the traffic-clogged streets. Lawyers for

the 69.95 suit
that should sell for $100

For years, there has been a great need for a better quality suit at a modest price. Two years ago, Robert Hall decided to do something about it. To design and tailor a suit that would give a man the fabric, the fit, the appearance of a $100 suit, without the $100 price tag. The first step was to get the best man for the job. We found him—leading men's suit designer, Joseph Salvatore, with many years of experience in the higher-priced clothing field. He has spent the past eighteen months designing and perfecting this suit. It is with great pride that we introduce the suit that fills the need for a better quality suit at a modest price...the Crown Juilliard...the 69.95 suit that should sell for $100!

Salvatore!

After years of designing and controlling the quality of America's two most famous $85-$145 suits, Salvatore creates the 69.95 suit that should sell for $100.

Salvatore says:

"Our imported fabrics are equal to and many are superior to those used in the $100 and up men's suits."

Salvatore says:

"Our styling is as distinctive and forward-looking as the most expensive men's suits in the country."

Salvatore says:

"Seven of the $100 and up men's suit makers use the same inner canvas we have in our 69.95 suit."

Salvatore says:

"There are details in the $100 suit that add to the price without adding to the appearance or life of the suit. We put the significant details in our 69.95 suit."

Salvatore says:

"We use the same shoulder pads found in the $100 and up suit."

Salvatore says:

"Our hand-tailored shoulder work is found in suits that sell for $100."

Salvatore says:

"The $100 and up men's suit has the same sleevehead construction, as our suit at 69.95."

Stubbornly Practical Carpet with Beauty Made to Last

...Defies Matting, Marking, Soil and Stains

Enduring Loveliness Lasting Durability

Woven on the famous Wilton loom, this fine Acrilan® acrylic pile carpet will wear for years and years, still retaining its original beauty. Only the Wilton weave can create such delicacy of detail in pattern and texture... a carpet treasure you'll be proud to own.

Spring-Back Strength That Won't Get Tired

The thick, dense texture of this carpet won't bend under the feet of a marching parade because it has a stand-up resiliency. 3-ply yarns of Acrilan® acrylic woven together form a full-bodied texture that resists soiling and staining... springs back when it's walked on giving you constant carpet elegance.

Carpet With More Carpet In It

Beauty, resiliency and resistance to matting depend upon the amount of pile yarn per square yard. Here is carpet with 72.8% more Acrilan® acrylic than is standard. Why? Sears cares how your carpet wears. Enjoy carpeting that will look lovelier for years.

Dollie Cole Fills New Role Lightly

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor
Dollie Ann Cole is a slim ash blonde who wears her new role as wife of the president of General Motors Corp. lightly and happily.

She is not particularly impressed with herself, nor does she think her life is going to be greatly changed.

A completely feminine individual Mrs. Cole is deceiving in appearance. Inside, she's a human dynamo — perfectly controlled.

Our talk with her on a rainy afternoon was punctuated with phone calls, the arrival of flowers, the arrival of telegrams. But the liveliest wire in the house — Edward Nicholas Cole Jr., was not in evidence; it was nap time.

MATERNAL NATURE

"I am the sole tender of Nicky," says his mother, "except when we have to be away. Then I have a full time baby sitter."

Mrs. Cole also does the cooking for the family, sews many of her own clothes, loves to garden and does it efficiently and tries to keep up with sports.

"I'm a terror-stricken skier and a devout coward on the slopes. But I have advanced to panty-waist No. two slope now. And when I'm freezing cold and my nose is red and my eyes are streaming, I say to my husband, 'Tell me what a good time I'm having.'"

In order to spend leisure time with her husband, she has taken up several sports. Jeff, Anne and Joseph (her three children by a previous marriage) love it all and tease her about her timidity.

"But I've never tried to be a pal to my children. I say to them, 'I'm your mother and what I say goes.' I have no patience with people who can't control their children."

Fifteen-month-old Nicky hasn't taken to the ski slopes yet, but he trots everywhere in the house overlooking Island Lake.

A fountain surrounded with rocks in the living room absolutely fascinates him. His mother dreads the day when he learns how to turn on the water.

She's thinking of giving him a bag of rocks for a Christmas present.

LIKES PEOPLE

But Dollie Cole thinks people in general are wonderful. Her whole philosophy hinges on the theory that people are nice and she can get along with all of them.

"Happiness," she says, "is being surrounded by people you love. It has nothing to do with material things."

A resident of the Detroit area for just three years, Mrs. Cole has made a place for herself in the volunteer world. The first time we met her was at a planning luncheon for one of the Meadow Brook Scholarship balls.

Earlier this fall, she served on the women's committee for the annual Cinderella Ball of the TB and Health Society.

She thinks Detroit area women are unusual in their concern for others and their devotion to volunteer work.

"They are not satisfied with just a social life. If you're just a taker and give nothing, life is shallow."

Fund raising here is a way of life and she credits Mrs. R. Jamison Williams with getting her involved in the first place.

Her chief interest is in Project Hope. She likes its philosophy in that it helps people get on their feet and then lets them walk alone.

Mrs. Cole is easy to talk with. She looks directly at you with her clear, deep blue eyes. She gestures with capable looking hands which can hold a baby tenderly, plant a bulb or drive a golf ball.

Sewing is one of her favorite pastimes. It is quiet. It can be done at night while her husband is reading papers. It's easy to carry when she travels by air. And it's a creative outlet. Asked if she were a frustrated designer, she laughed and said, "No, but by designing my own clothes I never go to a party in a dress anyone else has."

Like all women who sew, she can't resist fabrics and has "a closet full of them."

She Announced Their Return, Still No Calls

By ELIZABETH L. POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: A few days after we were married in May, 1966, my husband and I moved to a city 350 miles from our home town. He was in the Air Force at that time. We kept in touch with a few close friends and relatives through letters."

Eight months later, when we moved back to our home town, I sent out little notes to about 75 friends and acquaintances, announcing our new address and phone number. I thought this would be sort of a "hint" for each one to contact us, rather than my calling 75 people.

Now after seven months, we have not received any phone calls or letters from any of these people. Was I wrong in not telephoning them? — Kathleen A.

Dear Kathleen: You were perfectly right in sending cards. I would not expect the more remote acquaintances to do more than file your card for future reference for Christmas cards, etc., but it was remiss of close friends not to call you.

Although it is really up to the residents to welcome the new arrival, why don't you give a very informal open house for those you really want to see — just to get the ball rolling?

Today's Woman

Asset to Her Family, Community

By JUNE ELERT

Mrs. Bernard Stickney is today's woman. She builds her life around her family and her community.

A husband, two sons and three daughters are at the center of her activities as homemaker and mistress of the substantial brick home on South Francis Street. When daughter Ellen, 17, drives off to school in a pink corduroy car coat to match the 1926 pink and white Model T Ford, it is a tribute to the mother who taught her to sew (and the father who purchased and restored the car).

When Ellen and Claire, 13, perform as members of swimming teams, they reflect their mother's interest which is exemplified in the adult swimming class she teaches for the YWCA.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

Mrs. Stickney's chief occupation outside the home is as chairman of group organization and member of the board of directors of the Camp Fire Girls.

A Camp Fire girl herself as a child, she volunteered as a group leader nine years ago and has shepherded her three girls through their membership.

She was the first volunteer camp director for the organization's integrated day camp near Clarkston.

Ellen mirrors her mother's interest, having recently completed two years' training as a camp counselor.

Mrs. Stickney is homemaker representative for Zonta Club of Pontiac and recently cochaired its annual fair. She is also membership chairman.

Last summer she and her husband served as chaperones for the Eastern Junior High School's Bellringers on their trip to England. Daughter Beth Anne was one of the group.

Beth Anne's musical interest continues at Pontiac Northern, where she plays saxophone in the band and sings a mean soprano with a pop group called the "Howling Huskies."

Son Jeffrey, 19, and Gregory, 21, are temporarily out of the parental nest. Jeffrey is a second-year pre-med student at Michigan State University and Greg, a plumber-apprentice, is serving in Vietnam with the Seabees as a third class petty officer.

At the time of our interview, Mrs. Stickney had just put the finishing touches to a pink lace cocktail dress for a special night out with her husband, who works for Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

In between times, she can pickles and jellies. When she has nothing to do, she rearranges the furniture.

Dean Tells School View on Timely Drug Topic

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am with you all the way on your stand against marijuana and LSD. Don't let anyone tell you that the best colleges and universities are indifferent to its use by their students.

I am enclosing a letter to the editor of the Keene, N.H. Evening Sentinel, which also runs your column. Readers always read Dear Abby, so I hope you feel this letter is worthy of publishing in your column.

MUNSONVILLE READER
DEAR READER: Thank you for your fine suggestion. I agree, the letter is worth republishing. Here it is:

"The dean's office has been repeatedly pressed by members of the freshman class for a statement of the college's administration position with respect to the use of drugs including marijuana and LSD. If it will help anyone, I am pleased to clarify my position.

"As anyone bright enough to be at Harvard knows perfectly well, possession of, or distribution of marijuana and LSD are strictly against the law, and taking the drugs involves users in psychological dangers and contacts with the criminal underworld.

"The college is prepared to take serious disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal, against any student found to be involved in the use or distribution of illegal and dangerous drugs.

"In sum, if a student is stupid enough to misuse his time here fooling around with illegal and dangerous drugs, our view is that he should leave college and make room for people prepared to take good advantage of a college opportunity."

"OFFICE OF THE DEAN, HARVARD"

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Smokes Pot," who insists it is not dangerous. I recently did a science report on "pot" and to drive home my point, I'll quote from the Encyclopedia Britannica: "Marijuana intoxication usually leads to mental and moral degeneration. By releasing inhibitions, impairing judgement, and causing extensive distortion of time and space, it can make its victims entirely unaccountable for their actions and may cause them to commit violent crimes. Many emotionally unstable persons known to be associated with major crimes, prove to be marijuana users. Any existing character weaknesses can be magnified by its use." Sign this, KNOWS BETTER IN N.C.

DEAR ABBY: At 19 I married without my parents' consent. My husband and I then moved to another state.

At first my mother wrote to me addressing the letters to Mary Smith which was my maiden name.

I kept returning those letters unopened marked "No such person here."

Finally she compromised and started addressing my letters to Mary Jones (Jones is my husband's name). Those I accepted and read, but a year has passed and she still refuses to address me as "Mrs."

This may strike you as being a trivial matter, but it is very important to me. What do you make of this?

MRS. ROBERT JONES

DEAR MRS. JONES: Your mother is determined to remind you that she hasn't as yet recognized your marriage, which doesn't make you any less married. Ignore it.

Covers Events Jan. to Aug.

Ready New Cultural Calendar

The Pontiac Area Community Arts Council, which introduced its first Cultural Calendar in September, is in the process of readying its second edition for the balance of the 1967-68 season.

All organizations sponsoring cultural events are asked to submit details of planned affairs to the Council's headquarters at the YWCA of Pontiac by Nov. 15.

The booklet will carry listings from Jan. 1 through August, 1968. It is being underwritten by Pontiac Motor Division.

George H. Putnam, chairman of the Pontiac Area Council, reports that it is now incorporated, and an organizational meeting will be held after mid-November to elect officers and establish policies.

The Council will have as its purpose the expansion and promotion of the area's cultural activities, and persons who are interested are asked to contact him, other members of the Council or the office at the YW.

The Council also has started a general calendar of events and encourages all clubs, organizations and associations, regardless of size, to list their activities at its office.

Soon, a large leaf-type calendar covering a 12-month span will be in position in the YWCA foyer and will be attended by a volunteer committee.

Besides serving as a convenience, this general calendar, if properly used, should help eliminate duplicate scheduling of events for the area's groups.

The YW is open from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday, and until noon on Saturday.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. Maxwell L. Shadley, cochairman; John C. Carlisle, Oakland Community College; Earl Krepes, Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. W. J. Emerson, YWCA; Mrs. C. J. Odell, The Pontiac Press; Mrs. D. Richard Veazey and Mrs. John Bils.

Stress Competence in Consumers' Week

Better living through consumer competence is the theme of National Consumers' Week Nov. 6-10, sponsored in this area by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service.

The challenge of being a sharp shopper is getting much attention this decade.

But being a competent consumer means having a well-balanced idea of what consuming really is, according to Mrs. Lea Whitfield, assistant director of the MSU Extension Service.

To let people know of the consumer education available, each county staff in Michigan will develop their own consumer information programs for Consumers' Week.

Generally, two home economists serve a two or three county area.

Mrs. Whitfield said, "one of the strongest parts of the consumer education effort is the training given by Extension home economists to volunteer leaders. These leaders help other consumers become better informed by re-teaching the lessons to their families and friends."

LOCAL PLANS

Mrs. Rosalie Hawley, Extension home economist for Oakland County, has prepared a display for the Pontiac Mall during Michigan Consumers' Week, which coincides with the national observance.

"Competency as a consumer means more than developing buying skill," she explains. "It means knowing the values that are important to you as an individual and using them in making your decisions in selecting goods and services."

"It means making efficient use of an item after you buy it, and giving it the proper care."

"Competency as a consumer includes making the best use of talents, skills, knowledge, time, income and other resources."

While home economists with the Extension Service are most closely involved with consumer information, staff members working with agriculture, marketing, natural resources, and 4-H Youth programs will join in the observance of Consumers' Week.

Keep your eye on this column for further information on "Consumer Competence-Better Living."

And visit the Mall display and pick up consumer bulletins and information flyers that will be there for your convenience.

Read the Tags

Be sure to check the manufacturers' tags when you shop for materials for the home. They will tell you whether or not the material is washable and give explicit washing instructions.

Here is a preview peek at the "Consumer Competence-Better Living" display readied for the Pontiac Mall in observance of Michigan Consumers' Week, Nov. 6-10. Mrs. Rosalie Hawley, Michigan State University's Oakland County Extension Service home economist, invites would-be sharp shoppers to visit and pick up available information bulletins.

Clubs Meet at College

The Oakland County Federation of Women's Clubs will be joined by the Rochester Junior Club.

Nov. 10 at Michigan Christian Junior College as guests of the Rochester clubs.

Mrs. James Hill, president of the Rochester Women's Club, will welcome the clubwomen at the gathering which will hear reports on "Conservation," "Educational Problems" and "International Affairs."

Mrs. Harry Vernon of W. Russell Street, will announce the winners of the Federation's Nurses' Scholarship grants.

Honored guests will be Mrs. Herbert E. Norris, Vice president of Michigan State Federation of Clubs, and Mrs. Lindell Ross of Madison Heights.

Those daisies or beauty spots, recently named "Michigan State Junior Clubwoman of the Year," can all be whisked away with baby oil.

Cover the face with the oil. Mrs. Delbert Hammer, of the Juvenile Club of Oak Ridge Women, will give a demonstration.

It's also a softening treatment for your legs.

Following luncheon, the Michigan Christian College Chorus will present several musical selections.

Dr. Sarah Van Housen Jones, a member of an Avon Township pioneer family, will speak on "Memories" at the afternoon session. She will be introduced by Mrs. Charles E. Earl, of Clawson.

NEW YORK (AP) — Bulova Researchers report that women are much tougher on watches than men. A man usually owns one watch, wears it daily and avoids mishandling it. A woman in contrast, usually has a "wardrobe" of two or more watches, but neither of them is regularly on her wrist.

The women's watches can usually be found stuffed in a crowded handbag or dresser drawer, together with cigarettes, face powder, perfume and a variety of scratchy objects.

Vaporized perfume can quickly destroy the lubricants in a watch movement; face powder is a menace because it slowly filters into the watch and clogs it; finely shredded tobacco can have the same effect. Scratchy objects can easily crack the crystal of a watch. A cracked crystal permits perfume, water, other liquids, as well as powders, lint and dust to enter the watch.

'Holiday Recipes' Displayed for Unit

Members and guests of the Home and Family Study Club saw and heard a demonstrated lecture on "Holiday Recipes" at Wednesday's meeting in the Consumers Power Company offices.

Plans were made for a Christmas party slated in December at the Kettering Avenue home of Mrs. Delmer Logan.

Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. William Forsyth and Mrs. Bud Millman.

Fashion Show to Be Held

Members of the Altar Guild of St. Hugo of the Hills will present their "Fashion Fiesta" luncheon with styles from Saks Fifth Avenue in Oakland Hills Country Club on Nov. 8.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. Patrick A. Smith with assistance from Mesdames: Edwin S. Gerner, Robert Horvath, John Curran, David G. Kelton and Thomas Sansone.

Others involved are Mrs. James Coleman, Mrs. William J. Carry, and Mrs. Bernard Hafeli.

Prizes will include a trip to Mexico City for two, a name designer gown and several Mexican souvenirs.

Why Grow Old?

Study after study, among them The Iowa Breakfast Studies at the College of Medicine, State University of Iowa, have proven over and over again that the habit of skipping breakfast is not conducive to successful reducing.

To the contrary, the would-be reducer is apt to nibble during the day or to overeat at the other two meals. It has also been proven that this habit leads to less physical and mental efficiency during the later morning hours.

Research indicates that the ideal plan is to eat a breakfast which contains about one-fourth of the daily calorie requirement and protein intake. I do not know why breakfast ever got such a black eye. I suppose it is because people are in such a rash getting off to work in the morning or getting the children off to school.

You can build up the calorie count for growing children or a thin member of the family by adding jam or jelly to the bread or—toast and cream to the milk.

If you are to avoid that late morning drag and remain peppy and efficient until lunch time, eat a breakfast which contains approximately one-fourth of your daily calorie allowance and gives you at least 15 grams of protein.

If you would like my free leaflet "Count Your Calories" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Christmas card designs by the American Artists Group have not been influenced by mod, pop and art. They are colorful, but sentimental, gay and reverent. In the top row are a "collage for peace" by Ivan Chernagayeff (left) and Marie Nohmst. Bohlen's "Holiday Feast." Left in the middle row is a group of antique door knockers by Albert John Pucca with festive

Policeman Questions Motherhood

Our Pursuit of Justice Is Often Blind

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I've been working part time ever since my three children were born. Now that the older ones are teen-agers, I feel I owe them more of my time. But whenever I mention quitting my job, my husband gets tense.

ANSWER: If your husband stopped supporting this woman, she would be helpless. She'd have to rely on her mother-in-law for help. Don't be silly. Even if she wouldn't. Nor would she get a job even if one were offered her.

So what would be the probable consequence of your quitting work and thus withdrawing your contribution to her support? If you haven't considered it, available to any of us. And so would have to go on to realize that 90 per cent of my rage was due not to my mother-in-law's self-indulgence but to my own secret conviction that I was entitled to perfect justice, that glorious ideal we Americans so constantly talk about but which actually exists only in the oratory of politicians.

It would be a realization that would settle me right down and make it possible for me to continue to tolerate the injustice life had dealt me instead of allowing my rage to invite a worse one.

Fashion Okays the Any-Season Dress of Cotton

The any-season dress has won fashion's vote of approval, reports the National Cotton Council.

For transitional wear, the classic "dark cotton" is still much in evidence. However, the new dress for all seasons comes in a wider range of fabrics, like bonded cotton knit, crisp canvas, poplin, ribbed twill, or textured cotton tweed.

Also, instead of the dark shades, it's the "lights" that show up most often in any season styles. For instance, new dress year-round cottons come in fresh pastel colors or neutral shadings of beige.

Perhaps the most elegant-looking fabrics being used for any-season dresses and suits are double-woven cottons with reversible surfaces. The two-firm interwoven patterns in- clude checks, plaids, or diamond designs.

Sleeve Pressing by Rolling Pin

To do a really good job of pressing, many suit and dress sleeves require a sleeve board. If you do not have one try wrapping a rolling pin of the large size with several, clean turkish towels. Pad in this way until you get it of sufficient size. The towels give a nice firm padded surface, which can be clipped into the sleeve and draped over.

They have four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Reduces Birth Risk

DETROIT (AP) — Obstetricians have discovered a simple way to prevent brain damage in some births is to roll the mother on her side during labor, a research obstetrician reported Wednesday.

Dr. Edward H. Hon, associate professor at the Yale medical school, made the observation at a symposium sponsored by Wayne State University medical school.

RELIEVES PRESSURE

Hon said putting the mother on her side often relieves pressure on the umbilical cord.

The pressure frequently builds up during the contractions of labor, he said, and can lead to a reduction of the baby's oxygen supply.

In the past, he said, many doctors noting a sudden drop in an unborn baby's pulse rate have chosen to perform a caesarian section before brain damage was done or — in extreme cases — the baby died.

Doctors normally monitor a baby's heart rate with a stethoscope on the mother's abdomen. The rate is normally 120-180 beats per minute, but can drop to 60 in a matter of seconds.

Hon said about 90 per cent of the damage to babies during labor and birth is a result of compression of the umbilical cord.

In the future, he predicted, wider use will be made of electronic monitoring devices to check on the progress of unborn babies during labor.

Diabetes in the mother is one of the causes of delivery of oversized infants.

New Pantie Relieves Back Fatigue!

Fashion Hour Foundation of Chicago has developed a new pantie girdle designed especially for women being troubled by muscular fatigue and nagging backaches.

Fashion Hour's new BACK-SAVER pantie features a unique 6" wide Halenca back elastic that embraces the lower back with gentle firmness.

According to the Chicago manufacturer, millions of women are being robbed of good looks and vitality, due to the lack of support in the lower back.

Another unique feature of Fashion Hour's new BACK-SAVER pantie is a narrow insert of mesh elastic placed about three inches below the back waist to give the garment extra length in the sitting position, and allowing added freedom of movement.

The BACK-SAVER pantie is made of the finest Du Pont Lycra spandex materials to give excellent tummy and derriere control.

This fine pantie is available in our foundation department in sizes S-M-L-XL. It's made for you in White and priced at just $13.50. Style No. 4993.

Also available in girdle at $12.50, style no. 4992.

He Prefers 'Casual Look' at Parties

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's 4-month-old grandson has made a midnight debut into White House society. Wearing blue pajamas and a slightly bored expression, little Patrick Lyndon Nugent was proudly carried down the long red carpeted main hallway by his grandfather Wednesday night and introduced to late-staying guests at a formal state dinner given in honor of the king and queen of Nepal.

The President held his grandson aloft, then nibbled the baby's ear as the Marine band's pianist played Brahms's lullaby. The king and queen had already departed for their guest quarters across the street at Blair House and missed the President's impromptu presentation. But guests still on hand gathered around the cooed at the round-faced, blond, 18-pound presidential grandchild, now visiting the White House with his mother. The baby had just had his midnight bottle, the President explained, adding: "He just eats and sleeps, that's his job." Little Lyn's mother, Luci Johnson Nugent, 20, was out for the evening, attending mass on a Catholic Holy Day of Obligation and visiting friends.

Aunt Lynda Bird was the official baby sitter. Dressed in a pretty black-topped, rose-skirted formal gown, Lynda took timeout from the dancing to give Lyn his midnight bottle.

Her fiancé, Marine Capt. Charles Robb, provided military escort on the baby detail.

You can wax freshly painted window sills and they will not get as dirty or absorb as much moisture. Just remember to remove the wax before repainting.

Even a Beginning Cook Can Make Cheesecake

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Cheesecake has become the "in" dessert. This delicious sweet is so simple to make that no one should hesitate to try.

Mrs. Harvey W. Perry contributes her recipe. A member of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale, she shares her love of music with patients at the State Hospital as a volunteer in music therapy.

CHEESECAKE
By Mrs. Harvey W. Perry

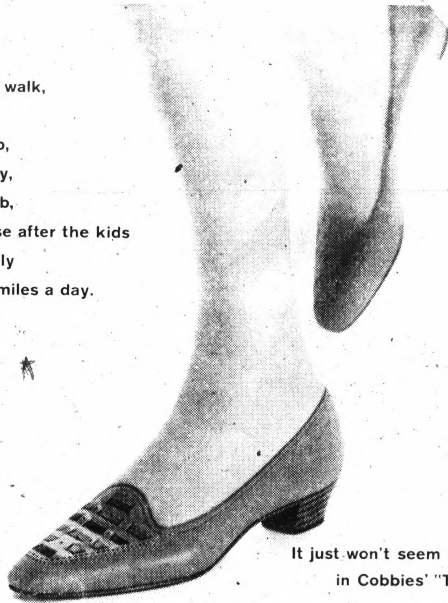

20 graham crackers OR 2 cups graham cracker crumbs
1 stick butter (no substitute)
1/2 cup sugar
Roll crackers into fine crumbs. Brown butter and mix with crumbs and sugar. Pat into a 9-inch pan.
3 packages (3 oz.) cream cheese
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream the cheese and mix well with other ingredients. Put in crust. Bake 25 minutes at 350 degrees. Do not over-bake.

Let cool and top with one can prepared blueberry, cherry or pineapple pie filling. Serves 8-9.

Month Long Drive Begins

Scouts to Sell Calendars, Candles

Wednesday marked the beginning of a month-long fund-raising effort by Northern Oakland Girl Scouts. The workshops are financed by Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. foundation and a federal grant. The workers receive full benefit from the wholesale price.

The Girl Scout calendar for 1968 is being sold by all Scouts.

As in years past, it depicts some of the many phases of Scouting. Usable for wall or desk, it provides ample space for memos, daily reminders and appointments.

Cadette and Senior Scouts will also sell "Flame of Hope" candles, in addition to, or instead of the calendars.

The candles are made by mentally retarded persons in 12 workshops throughout the nation. This project was begun last year to demonstrate that

Solomon's Test for Male Identity

Have you heard the anecdote about how King Solomon was once asked to tell which were boys and which were girls when 12 children, dressed exactly alike, were lined up before him?

Solomon called for 12 wash basins, told the children to wash their hands, and then sorted them out correctly. The boys, it seems, washed only to their wrists while the girls washed to their elbows!

The Northern Oakland Girl Scouts have, for three years, cosponsored Camp Courage, a two-week summer day camp for retarded children in the area. Older Girl Scouts act as program aides for these day camps.

Local troops and the Girl Scout council will share in profits from the sales of these two items. The calendar sells for fifty cents; candles (in red or white) $2.75 pair.

Sales chairman for the council is Mrs. Hazen Burnham of Auburn Heights.

Tricks Help Dieting

By POLLY CRAMER: DEAR POLLY — I am a working girl with a serious weight problem and I want to pass on a Pointer to help one stay on a diet. I take my lunch to work so as not to be tempted by other goodies. I eat it, then spend the rest of my lunch hour wandering through the Junior department of a department store.

I cannot wear any of those clothes NOW but the adorable styles and the fact that they do not come in size 20 are a powerful deterrent to nibbling on the job.

When I get bored in the evening, I stave off any nibbling by thumbing through my stack of catalogues. I make a point of looking at dresses I could not possibly squeeze into.

I have to buy sweets for the children but avoid buying any of my particular favorites when possible. It is much easier to refuse something you do not particularly like.

I have lost 16 pounds this way and have had to start looking for some new clothes because all of my dresses are too large. I am buying inexpensive clothes as replacements as I hope I cannot wear these next year.

Some of you may say that I am only fooling myself but to that I can answer that I know it is working. I may never look like Twiggy, and never really want to but, believe me, I do not intend to look like this forever. —SOMEWHAT THINNER.

Three cheers! With that determination I know you will make it and let us know when you get down to those Junior sizes. —POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My cat sharpens his claws on the furniture. I have tried giving him a scratching post but he will not use it, so the furniture is being ruined. I hope someone will give me a cure. —TROUBLED

DEAR POLLY — My wife never had a nice place to keep her shoes. As I am a jack-leg carpenter I made shelves on a side wall of a closet. They are 25 inches wide and go from floor to ceiling.

They are 41 inches deep except for the first one which I angled out until it was 12 1/2 inches. The first several shelves are about 5 1/2 inches apart and then some are nine inches at the top. The lower shelves hold shoes and at the top I have a place for my hat boxes. These shelves are really useful and do not take too much space from the closet. —HENRY

As Politicos Say, 'That's Show Biz'

By BETTY CANARY

After months of anxiously wondering "will she or won't she," both Republican and Democratic party leaders heard Shirley Temple Black declare her candidacy.

Everyone, especially the opposition within her own party, had spent months searching law books and scrutinizing the Constitution, but nowhere could they find that a woman candidate had to prove she had: • an ugly face; • no record as a movie star; • an unhappy home life, or • no money.

Those on her side naturally were happy about this and said, "If she wins the first race within her party surely she will win against any Democrat and she will be the girl who has everything!"

Immediately, the Democrats put a frantic trace out on Jane Withers. Opposition Republicans wondered why they had not thought of this in the first place. Alas, nobody had yet found Jane Withers and the word is that she was last seen on a television commercial showing she knew how to use a certain brand of scouring powder.

"Anyway, how do you know Jane would run if you found her?" the Democrats were asked. "Perhaps she does not belong to your party."

"Party, schmarty," they replied. "Of course, she will run. Remember what she suffered in all those pictures playing op-

Godfrey Sperling Jr., manager of the Washington bureau of the Christian Science Monitor, will be guest speaker for the Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall on Wednesday. Following his speech, "Behind the Nation's News," which will be presented at the Huron Theater at 10:30 a.m., the lawyer journalist will be honored at a luncheon given at Dev-on Gables.

"But what if Jane won and then Shirley made a bid for the Senate?"

"She would get it. Then she would not be the girl who has everything but merely the girl with the most."

It was pointed out that then both parties would be even. Both would have a child star on the national scene.

"That would never do! Of course, we could run Deanna Durbin for the House of Representatives."

"Well, don't be too confident — there's always Gloria Jean!"

"Lots of the younger voters won't know who they are. How about Ann Blyth and Katherine Grayson?"

"Sorry about that."

"You're right. We'd have to update. How about Debbie Reynolds and Elizabeth Taylor?"

"Look, pal, I thought we were talking about a contest — you sure you want to start a war?"

Washday Helper

There are many things that eager pre-schoolers can do to help mommy—and never is such willing help to be found!

When sorting clean laundry, a little helper can match up socks. He can collect things that will need no ironing, and carry small stacks of folded articles to the proper rooms. If wash is hung outside to dry, even a tiny helper can hand up clothespins — and learn to count at the same time.

Byword of Marine General: Plan Ahead

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — The job of commanding the U.S. war effort in the toughest part of South Vietnam is in the hands of a Minnesotan who survived Guam and Iwo Jima.

Lt. Gen. Robert Everton Cushman Jr., U.S. Marine Corps, stepped into the shoes of Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, a man who impressed bystanders as a rough and ready Marine.

Cushman is better known as an organizer, marshaler of facts, contributor to tactical theory.

Besides being chief of U.S. forces in the five northern-most provinces below the Demilitarized Zone, Cushman is senior adviser to Vietnamese commanders and director of the U.S. side of the pacification program.

Since assuming command May 31 he has presided over the steady expansion of the Marines' civic action platoons and the infusion of additional U.S. Army units into his command, all part of a design drawn up before Walt was called back to the Pentagon.

TRIES TO KEEP AHEAD

"I figure I get paid for thinking and trying to keep ahead of the enemy, getting out into the areas to see how the fight is going," Cushman says.

"The divisions themselves are all hung up in administration and logistics as well as fighting. They don't have time to think too far ahead."

Most of the thinking comes after a full day of briefings and planning sessions.

At about 8 p.m. Cushman is usually alone in his modest corner office in a refurbished French army compound along the indolent Da Nang River.

UNTIL MIDNIGHT

He's there until midnight, occasionally poking out in the anteroom, in his socks to ask an aide to rustle up more facts or a snack.

He relishes trips to the field—"You don't get the beat and the mud in the briefing room"—or trying his hand on the stick of his Huey helicopter.

On one trip to the Demilitarized Zone his questions ranged from the supply of paper plates his Marines had on hand at Gio Linh to preparations for an anti-infiltration strip anchored at Con Thien.

Inside an artillery control bunker he told some surprised, uneasy privates: "Go on with your job. Don't interrupt the war for me."

'LOOKS KINDA OLD'

At Con Thien, Cpl. Richie Costa, Plymouth, Mass., seeing Cushman for the first time, said, "He looks kinda old. I guess this war makes everybody look old, though."

He sees progress, but is not given to smashing proclamations.

"Militarily, we're doing quite well," he says. "The way I get the picture the enemy seems to be concentrating in the 1st Corps. We may have to do quite a bit more fighting up here."

"I have hopes for the Vietnamese pacification teams. We are making slow progress. When a team leaves a village you have to keep an eye on it. The Vietcong may move back and the program will backslide."

OUT IN THE BUSH

"What's tricky is locating the political cadres and putting them out of action. We must have 6,000 of those guy's names. They're out in the bush somewhere and they come home once a week."

"Hopefully, once we start developing police forces they won't even be able to come home that one night."

Cushman was born in St. Paul, the son of a banker whose military career got no further than a Navy training base during the Spanish-American War.

At 16 Robert Jr. was appointed to the Naval Academy and chose to take a Marine commission upon graduation in 1935. He asked for China duty among the Marines who helped provide security for foreign enclaves before World War II.

LYING IN BUNK

Capt. Cushman was half awake in his bunk aboard the battleship Pennsylvania in Pearl Harbor when the Japanese attacked in 1941.

He was to finish the war as a lieutenant colonel.

As commander of the 2nd battalion, 9th Marines, on Guam, he led a platoon which plugged the line in the face of a three-day Japanese counterattack. That won him the Navy Cross.

Walt says Cushman was "the best battalion commander I've ever known."

Cushman's bitterest recollection of the war is Iwo Jima. Three Marine divisions fought shoulder to shoulder against 30,000 Japanese in superb fortifications.

"The casualties kept eating away at my battalion's strength," he recalls. "I landed with 850 men, got 150 replacements, and ended up taking 800 casualties, including two sets of officers."

"Every one of my squads was trained to take a pillbox. That's the only way any of us ever got through it. The worst part was seeing my men get cut down."

After the war came the inevitable round of staff schools and appointments. He served as head of the amphibious warfare branch at the office of Naval Research.

NO WONDER THEY MOVED — Moving the barber chairs is proving less of a problem than shifting this 85-foot philodendron plant from a Hackensack, N.J., shop to new quarters nearby. Here, barbers William De Vries (foreground), Ulysses Remigio and Frank De Rosa snake the huge plant along a Main Street sidewalk as they try not to trim leaves from the stem.

Nasal Allergy Mistaken for Child's Cold

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — If a child wakes up coughing and sneezing with a stuffed-up nose, most mothers decide at once that he has a cold and should stay in bed. But a California pediatrician told a seminar here that these symptoms can mean allergy.

Nasal allergy so closely resembles a common cold that it can be difficult for even an expert to tell one from another.

Itching and rubbing of the nose particularly suggest allergy, Dr. William C. Deamer, chief of the University of California pediatric allergy clinic in San Francisco, said. Other members of the family won't catch it.

Allergy of the lung—asthma—also is confused with infection. Severe asthma may be mistaken for bacterial pneumonia. Even the presence of fever is not a reliable way to differentiate the two, since asthma itself can be accompanied by a moderate fever.

Asthma may exist without the severe wheezing and struggle to breathe that are usually associated with it, Dr. Deamer explained. In mild cases, wheezing may not be heard at all, but coughing during sleep and on exertion will occur.

TREATMENT NECESSARY
Parents should not wait for a child to outgrow his allergy, but should check the causes of chronic cough and the condition may become worse with time.

Taxicab Driver Subs for Stork in Toledo Suburb

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — It wasn't the stork that delivered this baby, but a taxi driver.

A 12-pound, 2½ ounce boy arrived at the Miami Children's Center in suburban Maumee, in a taxi.

Taxi driver Elizabeth Beck told authorities she was sent to an address where a well-dressed young woman gave her the baby and told her to take him to 2500 River Road, the address of the children's center.

While police checked into the case the baby was put in a hospital for observation. The infant is about 3 months old.

Ford, Heller Split on Surtax

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—House the 6,000 drugists, disagreed. Minority Leader Gerald R. Heller, now with the department of economics at the University of Minnesota and former chief economic advisor to the late President Kennedy, said it is inconceivable that Congress would let the surtax proposal die.

Ford addressed the 69th annual convention of the National Association of Retail Druggists. Heller said the surtax is needed to curb inflation, to keep interest rates "somewhere within reason," to keep the U.S. international balance of payments, within bounds and to provide a vehicle for rapid post-Vietnam war adjustment.

He said once the Vietnam war is over "a responsible Congress would immediately remove the surtax" and thus provide a quick stimulant to the economy.

"Control of the purse is the fundamental prerogative of the Congress," Heller said. "To give it away would be the height of irresponsibility."

Ford argued that while Congress approves appropriations as "lines of credit" to various departments, it is up to the President to say whether or not those departments will have the authority to spend the money.

Ford said federal spending "has run wild."

While the population grew 14 per cent in 1960, the "civilian bureaucracy of the government grew 10 per cent, the cost of federal civilian payrolls rose 37 per cent and total federal spending went up 80 per cent," Ford said.

"Is this because of the Vietnam war?" Ford asked. "while defense spending rose by 68 per cent during the sixties, non-defense spending went up 97 per cent—from $48.6 billion in fiscal 1960 to an estimated $95.6 billion for fiscal 1968."

Romney Insult of V.I. Official Charged

NEW YORK (AP)—City New York governor to repudiate Gov. Romney's presumption. Councilman J. Raymond Jones at his endorsement of Romney has accused Michigan Gov. Romney of insulting an official of the Virgin Islands.

"Addressing a Republican conference there," wrote Rockefeller, "Romney referred to Sen. Otley as a derogatory term among no one before his speech and who said there would be no immediate comment from the governor."

Jones, a Democrat, alleged that the GOP governor ridiculed and insulted Earl B. Otley, West Indian for an "evil spirit."

Jones said that the term was president of the Virgin Islands. He said, "I can only wonder, Senate, at a GOP fund-raising dinner — with many of the people of the Virgin Islands — cause 'his bad manners' should disqualify him as a candidate whom you could support."

"I prefer to believe it is the result of a second brainwashing performed by the few economic royalists in St. Croix, who entertained the governor the afternoon before his speech and who could never forgive either Gov. (Ralph M.) Paley or Sen. Otley for changing the feudal system of St. Croix," he said.

Jones said that Rockefeller should repudiate Romney because "his bad manners" should disqualify him as a candidate whom you could support.

Hearing Examiners Are Entitled to Gripe

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Federal regulatory agencies have what are known as "quasi-judiciary powers," as in the expression, "Dig those quasi-judiciary powers!"

Now the men who preside over the cases that come before these agencies are generally recognized as being up-right, sagacious, equitable, earnest and kind to their mothers — in short, men of high repute.

Nevertheless, they brood a lot. And one of the reasons they have moody spells is because they are called "hearing examiners."

Being called a "hearing examiner" is, of course, better than being called "quasi-judge." But the regulatory officials feel the title is not in keeping with the dignity and status of their office.

For one thing, it sometimes gives people the impression that they are ear specialists.

FOUND A CHAMPION

Thus far, there has been no great welling up of public compassion for the plight of the examiners. But not long ago they found a sympathetic champion in the person of Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan.

In a speech delivered at their annual seminar luncheon, Carlson said he favored "elevating the status and dignity of your position . . . to the level enjoyed by our courts."

He suggested "administrative judge" and "federal trial judge" as possible titles to replace "hearing examiner."

The proposal also received the implied consent of Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, who had Carlson's speech reprinted in the Congressional Record.

MUCH REJOICING

There was, I understand, much rejoicing in the regulatory agencies over this show of support.

But at the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB), jubilation was tempered by legislative reality.

Some NLRB personnel wondered whether even two such influential Republicans as Dirksen and Carlson would be able to bring about the change without President Johnson's backing.

So they dreamed up what they think is a sure-fire plan for winning the President to their cause.

Federal judges, it was noted, use initials after their names to signify their positions — "CJ" for circuit judge, "DJ" for district judge, and so forth.

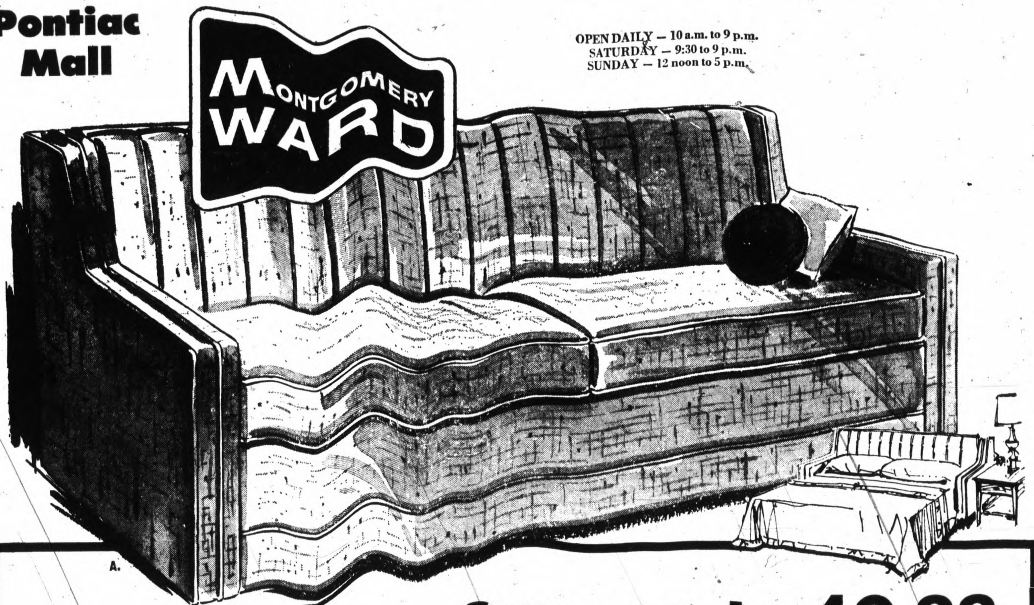

Therefore, at the NLRB the title of "hearing examiner" would be changed to "labor board judge" so that each could write "LBJ" after his name.

Scientist Feels Monster Real

Could Be Several in Loch Ness, He Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Roy P. Mackal, a native of Milwaukee, received a Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago in 1953.

He has done biochemical research at the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington and at the University of Chicago of which he is now a research associate.

As of last month he was in Scotland. What was he doing there? He was looking for the Loch Ness monster, popularly known as "Nessie."

Is there a Loch Ness monster? In the September-October issue of Oceanology International magazine, Mackal says he thinks there probably is.

Actually, he suggests, there may be several "nessies" — as, indeed, there would have to be to perpetuate a line which, if it exists, must be very ancient.

CARNIVORE

Judging by what evidence there is, Mackal has concluded that "Nessie" is a gill-breathing carnivore 40 to 60 feet long which feeds on salmon, among other things, and occasionally basks briefly on the surface when the days are sunny, warm and calm.

Mackal is a member of the Loch Ness Phenomena Investigation Bureau Ltd., a nonprofit organization created to search for Nessie.

Ness is a 25-mile-long lake which once apparently was a tongue of the ocean that became landlocked when the glaciers melted thousands of years ago and the land rose.

For more than 1,500 years, now, there have been reports of strange things seen on the surface of Loch Ness' cold waters. Are they figments or hoaxes? Survivals of prehistoric beasts? Or something unknown to science?

'EXTINCT' FISH CAUGHT

A few decades ago if you had announced you had seen a coelacanth pronounced sea-kant, scientist would have scorned you with scorn. Coelacanths as every marine biologist then knew, had been extinct for 70 million years.

But in 1938 some fishermen, ignorant of paleontology, caught a 5-foot coelacanth off the coast of South Africa. Some 28 other specimens of this primitive fish have been caught since.

So now scientists believe, as they just about have to, that the ocean still holds many surprises. But that certain freshwater lakes also could harbor large and unknown creatures "is not considered probably by most scientists," Mackal noted.

He does not himself, as a matter of fact, believe in one theory that Nessie's a fresh-water survival of prehistoric marine reptiles such as the 50-foot plesiosaurs which flourished in the saltwater seas of millions of years ago.

CONSISTENCIES CITED

For one thing, Loch Ness is too cold (39 to 42 degrees) for reptiles, even if they had somehow learned to adjust from salt to fresh water.

But Mackal believes a mollusk, a sort of cross between a giant squid and an enormous sea slug, might have been the ancestral prototype of today's Nessies.

Mackal cites consistencies in tales going back 15 centuries plus the evidence of latter day photographs to support his argument. But he concedes the data are contradictory in places and admits his ideas are speculative.

How do "nessies" reproduce their kind? The evidence of this score is so meager that, according to Mackal, "Little can be said about the sex lives of the Loch Ness creatures."

Mackal would be pleased, of course, if research substantiated his theory that "nessies" are giant mollusks.

"But," he said, "I personally would prefer the final explanation to be something entirely new to science."

The world's lowest temperature, within less than a millionth of a degree of absolute zero, has been achieved under laboratory conditions.

Campus Police Chief Controversial Figure

By DICK ROBINSON

Almost every college campus has a "whipping boy," a school official, students criticize and blame for student discontent.

At Oakland University, it has frequently been the relatively new director of public safety, Tom D. Strong.

Ever since he was hired to organize a university Department of Public Safety almost a year ago, Strong and his police force have been embroiled in a student controversy.

Campus police are almost always under the close scrutiny of students, but still Strong is not as unpopular with students as it appears, a campus source conceded.

First, students took issue with the hired private security service from Ann Arbor which served mainly as building watchmen.

A NEW CRY

When their service was discontinued last March and the Department of Public Safety came into being, students took up a new cry.

Then, they called the university a "police state," labeled the police force the "gestapo" and accused Strong of tapping telephone lines.

The big issue last spring on campus was whether a campus force should carry guns and when they should use them.

It stemmed from an alleged incident where a campus officer faced resistance in an arrest, pursued the resistor off campus by car at a high rate of speed and eventually shot out his car tire.

RESERVED PARKING

This year, students have taken issue with a raise in car registration fees from $2 to $10 a year and with reserved parking lots for faculty and staff and for students.

University officials have increased the registration fee in order to provide Oakland with enough money to lay needed additional parking lots within the next five years.

Students want parking spaces on a first-come, first-serve basis because they are too lazy to walk from outlying lots which have 200 vacancies at peak periods, according to Strong.

The 35-year-old director is too busy expanding the public safety department and worrying about campus problems to pay much attention to a few who criticize him.

SEVEN-MAN FORCE

He directs a seven-man police force which patrols the university's 1,600-acre campus, a 200-acre faculty subdivision and the multimillion dollar Meadow Brook Hall grounds.

Strong's force had had to assume the large responsibility of protecting the 200-room Meadow Brook Hall mansion upon the recent death of the university's benefactress, Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson.

A former Secret Service agent, Strong would immediately hire three more qualified officers today if he could find them. In the next few years, he has plans to acquire fire fighting equipment and train policemen to operate it.

Right now, OU has to depend on the Pontiac Township Fire Department to protect its $27 million worth of buildings. The problem is the township doesn't have equipment to fight fires in Oakland's high-rise buildings.

GROWTH EXPECTED

More manpower needs are evident since the 6,500 people on campus today will grow to some 20,000 in more than 15 years, according to Strong.

At present, the department has two radio-equipped cars, and Strong says he is hopeful of getting a third one soon if the department's $65,000 budget permits.

With about 2,500 cars on campus, traffic and parking are prominent headaches, but Strong reports that simple larcenies, such as stealing books, are one of the highest campus offenses.

Of course, then there are the less frequent but occurring offenses of vandalism, assaults, perversion, voyeurism and narcotics, said Strong.

OUTSIDE PROBLEMS

"The majority of our campus problems come in from outside the university," he noted.

He pointed out that a record of complaints on campus shows a need for a university police force, a notion that has gained acceptance at most colleges throughout the country.

"A university police role is one of a service organization to support education and academic expression without outside influences from such people as criminals," the Michigan State University police administration graduate remarked.

Strong a native of Grand Rapids, cited the fact that university students may have certain privileges on campus not found in the community. If a student is intoxicated, he may be referred to the dean of students office for punishment rather than being locked in jail and fined.

SEEK SANCTUARY

"Students seem to have an ambivalent attitude," Strong contended. "They are against the university for its power, but then they return to it as a sanctuary from such things as the draft."

Tom Strong and his public safety department are likely to remain at the center of campus controversy. In fact, it surprises him not to find his name mentioned in the student newspaper.

But the students remember him and want to meet him face-to-face.

Once Strong was walking professor of sociology at Calvin down a hall past a room where College in Grand Rapids, to a Students for a Democratic Society youth opportunity city meeting was breaking up. One of the students in this radical group which has strongly downgraded Strong, invited him to meet the others.

"No, they don't want to meet me," Strong stammered for the moment, told the student. He went anyway.

California Carries Smog Fight to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Canned California smog is being used in a campaign to persuade the House that the state should be allowed to maintain its separate, stricter auto exhaust control program.

A House vote was expected late today on an amendment to remove a section requiring equal standards in all states, administered by the federal government, unless a state can convince officials to exempt them.

The issue, which has produced a steady verbal duel between Detroit and California, is the only controversy in a $428.3 million, three-year extension and strengthening of federal programs aimed at air pollution.

The most significant part of the bill would give the federal government authority to seek federal court action, if states fail to act, in cases where a particular source is causing pollution that presents an "imminent and substantial endangerment to the health of persons."

The bill, which has been endorsed by the Republican Policy Committee, rejects President Johnson's proposal for federal authority to set federal emission standards in favor of a two-year study of the feasibility of such standards. Its principal sections are similar to a bill passed earlier by the Senate.

The controversial part of the bill, authored by Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., and supported by auto manufacturers, would displace a Senate amendment offered by Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., permitting California to continue to set and administer its own exhaust standards.

The amendment to restore the Senate provision was to be offered today by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., with the support of the entire 38-member California delegation.

Cans of "Los Angeles Smog"—complete with skull and crossbones markings—were handed out Wednesday as a warm-up for today's test.

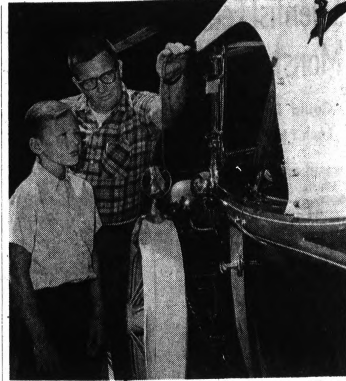

Aerial views of the smog-shrouded city were also put on display.

And Reps. Lionel Van Deelen, D-Calif., and Ed Reinecke, R-Calif., held a demonstration near the Capitol Wednesday at which they displayed 30 sacks of mail they said contained more than 300,000 letters mailed to congressmen in response to a series of radio programs on air pollution in Los Angeles.

"The Dingell amendment would benefit the auto manufacturers and no one else," they said.

Los Angeles County officials, meanwhile, voted on direct action to show its feelings on the issue. The county board of supervisors declared it will buy no more motor vehicles until the Dingell amendment is defeated and the Murphy bill is approved.

The county presently buys about $1 million worth of motor vehicles each year.

Sociologist Hired

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—The City Commission has hired Dr. Henry Holstegge Jr., associate professor of sociology at Calvin College in Grand Rapids, to develop a youth opportunity program to secure jobs and recreational activities for young people. Last summer, Holstegge helped Mayor Presto Kool organize a "highly successful" program aimed at providing work for persons in low income groups.

Jimmy Waits for Death at the Age of 7

DETROIT (UPI) — Jimmy Rice is 7, and he probably won't live to be 8.

He went trick-or-treating on Halloween night and he roamed the streets as long as he could with the other ghosts of the neighborhood.

But he got tired long before anyone else did, and his sister had to carry him home.

Five weeks ago, Jimmy got up in the morning at his parents' home in suburban Garden City. He told his mother that he didn't want to eat his breakfast and didn't want to go to school.

"I saw his face and I knew he was in pain," said Mrs. William Rice.

LEUKEMIA
She took him to a doctor.

The doctor told her Jimmy has leukemia, and it's in an advanced stage, and there's nothing doctors can do for him.

He's got a few days, or a few weeks, to live, doctors said.

They didn't tell Jimmy this, Mrs. Rice said.

'STARTED CRYING'
"But he grabbed me and started crying. The doctor didn't say any more in front of him," she said.

So while he waits, Jimmy plays with Pixie, his fox terrier. Occasionally, he looks at a letter from President Johnson hanging on the wall of his bedroom and an autographed picture of the President.

A friend of Jimmy's parents wrote to Mr. Johnson about Jimmy's illness.

He's a good student at Memorial Elementary School, and he'll keep going to classes in the afternoon as long as he can. "He doesn't look much different," said Mrs. Rice. "But I try not to think of the next day."

Judges Lament Marriage Duty

Too Much Time Taken,
Nine in Detroit Say

DETROIT (AP) — Nine Detroit judges are lamenting that civil marriages—3,000 of them this year—take too much of their time on the bench, and there's no justice in that.

Until recently, neighboring cities like Bowling Green, Ohio, and Angola, Ind., have been the nearest semblance of marriage mills but Detroit seems to be taking over.

Michigan law allows couples 18 years old to be married without parental consent after a statutory three-day wait. In Ohio, the age without consent is 21 for both sexes, with a waiting period of five days. In Indiana, the age is 21 for men and 18 for women, with a wait of three days.

POCKET FEES

Detroit judges, whose salaries are $25,000 a year, pocket the fees collected from the couples. Since there is no statutory fee, the judges charge what they wish—usually up to $10 for the three- to 10-minute ceremony. Judge Joseph Pernick, who refers to himself as a "sort of marryin' Sam," said he instructs his clerk to tell the couple they may contribute whatever they wish as a fee. Pernick has performed 348 weddings this year.

No public records are kept of the fees received, but most judges share the donations with their clerk and court reporter because the aides frequently serve as witnesses.

The bulk of the marriages are performed on Saturdays, with some 25 to 40 weddings the rule. The judges rotate their assignment so that each works every ninth Saturday as miscellaneous presiding judge.

'MILL' TAG DISLIKED

Some judges dislike the expression "marriage mill," and complain that the wedding business interferes with the judicial function of the court.

Judge John B. O'Hair said the court probably performs more marriages than the so-called mills.

"But a marriage mill usually connotes a place that encourages marriages, induces them and advertises for such business," he said. "We don't do that."

Dairy Industry Is Facing New Threat—'Imitation' Milk

WASHINGTON (AP) — The to milk sales from an inexpensive new substitute.

economically troubled U.S. dairy industry — still feeling the effect of oleomargarine's inroads on its once lucrative but now market—now faces a threat prices several cents a quart be-

And like oleomargarine, the new milk uses vegetable fats in "filled" or "imitation" milk, the place of the more expensive dairy fats.

thing the National Milk Producers Federation will debate at its convention in Miami Beach, Fla., Nov. 12-16.

Filled milk is already well established in Western states and making its way east. Its rising sales curve comes at a time when many dairymen claim inadequate milk prices are forcing them out of business.

Some dairy leaders want new of their butter market to oleomargarine. Laws barring sale of the product — just as efforts of kind were used for years to limit sale of oleomargarine. Four million young people reach driving age every year in the U.S.

HONEY GLAZED DUCKLING — Duckling roasted and basted with orange juice comes to the table with a delicious, crisp, fragrant skin. Slices of orange and onion make an attractive garnish.

HONEY ALMOND BRAID — A fragrant braid of orange bread filled with honey and almonds brings family and friends back for more. Honey Almond Braid, glazed with toasted blanched almonds and honey, is as handsome as it is delicious.

Ever Add Sage to Bean Dish?

"Sage and Bacon Beans Chicago" sounds fancy and is, but it's easy to fix and will give a nice "lift" to your dinner menu. Sage, onion, celery and lemon juice are used to season canned Blue Lake green beans, and then crisp, crumbled bacon is sprinkled over the top for a flavorful garnish.

Don't heat the Blue Lakes too long. They should retain their customary firmness to be consistent with the tender-crisp texture of the celery in this Oriental-style vegetable dish. Serve it with chicken or turkey or pork.

Sage and Bacon Beans Chicago
2 cans (1 lb. each) French style Blue Lake green beans
2 strips bacon
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup diagonally sliced celery
¼ to ½ teaspoon sage
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Heat beans in their liquid. Cook bacon in skillet until crisp; drain on paper towel, then crumble. Add onion, celery, sage and salt to drippings in skillet. Sauté about 3 minutes until celery is tender-crisp.

Drain beans; gently combine with onion mixture. Add lemon juice. Heat 1 or 2 minutes longer. Serve hot with bacon sprinkled over top. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Apple Milk Drink

A cool fall lift is Apple Lifter, a nutritious after school snack idea. Combine 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon sugar, ½ cup apple sauce or apple juice and ¼ teaspoon vanilla. Shake. Pour into tall glass. Top with vanilla ice cream and garnish with cinnamon or nutmeg. Makes 1 delicious serving.

Honey Gives Special Taste to Food

By JANET ODELL,
Pontiac Press Food Editor

In spite of new foods coming to market all the time, there is one that dates back thousands of years and remains unchanged.

Honey. Honey as a sweet is referred to in the Bible and in other ancient writings.

Man has never succeeded in making honey. Why should he when the bees do it so well? All man can do is provide the right kind of environment for the bees and collect the finished product.

Don't try substituting honey for sugar in recipes. Honey adds moisture which means adjusting the liquid measures.

You may use honey instead of molasses or corn syrup without difficulty. Otherwise, stick to recipes devised for honey.

Last summer in London, I found a cookbook devoted entirely to honey.

One recipe is for honey fudge, a recipe requested a long time ago by a reader, and one I couldn't find.

HONEY COFFEE FUDGE
2 pounds granulated sugar
¼ pound butter or margarine
1 can evaporated milk
½ cup fresh milk
1 tablespoon instant coffee
Stir all ingredients together in saucepan and cook until mixture reaches 237 degrees, or the soft ball stage.

Remove from heat. Beat with wooden spoon until it begins to thicken. Pour into buttered pan. When set, cut into squares. Store in airtight tins.

HONEY-GLAZED DUCKLING
1 5-pound duckling
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
½ teaspoon paprika
½ cup honey
½ cup orange-flavored liqueur or lemon juice
1½ teaspoons dry mustard
5 thin slices lemon
5 thin slices onion

Clean duck and prick skin to allow fat to drain off when cooking. Combine salt, seasoned salt, poultry seasoning and paprika; rub inside and outside of duck.

Place in a 450 degree oven for 15 minutes; drain off fat. Reduce oven to 350 degrees and bake 1 hour, draining off fat as necessary.

Combine honey, liqueur and mustard; brush duck with mixture. Secure sliced lemon and onion on duck with toothpicks, and continue to bake for 45 minutes, brushing occasionally with honey glaze.

Both filling and glaze of a delicious coffee bread are made with honey.

HONEY ALMOND BRAID
1 envelope active dry yeast or 1 cake compressed yeast
¼ cup warm water
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground cardamom
¼ cup sugar
½ cup shortening
1 egg, slightly beaten
1½ teaspoons grated orange rind
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour

Filling
1 cup all blanched almonds, ground
¼ cup honey
½ cup melted butter or margarine

Glaze
¼ cup blanched toasted almonds
½ cup honey
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
Sprinkle or crumble yeast into warm water; stir until dissolved. Scald milk; pour over salt, cardamom, sugar and shortening in large mixing bowl, stir to dissolve sugar and melt shortening. Add egg and orange rind, mixing well.

Stir in 1½ cups flour, then yeast mixture. Add remaining flour, beating well to make a soft dough. Scrape from sides of bowl, cover with damp cloth. Let rise in warm place until doubled, about 1½ hours. Punch down and let rest 10 minutes.

Divide dough into three parts. Roll each into 16 x 5-inch rectangle. Spread ½ of filling on each and roll up from long side, like jelly roll, pinching sides and ends to seal.

Place on greased pan and braid rolls, tucking ends under firmly. Cover and let rise until light, about 30 minutes.

Bake at 400 degrees 20 to 25 minutes. Remove from oven and spread Glaze over top. Serve warm or cold. Make 1 (12-inch) braid.

Glaze
2 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
¼ cup honey
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda

Combine egg yolks, sugar and honey. Beat well. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, baking soda and spices. Add flour mixture and coffee alternately to honey mixture. Mix well. Stir in nuts and vanilla.

Beat egg whites stiff. Fold in. Spoon into deep greased and floured 9-inch square cake pan. Bake at 350 degrees for about 1 hour or until cake tests done.

Caraway Is Natural With Pork, Sauerkraut

When a caraway meets a caraway coming through the rye it's rye bread, of course! Although that's where the caraway seed is most likely to be found, these snappy aromatic seeds rally in a wide range of recipes.

Although Asia Minor is the ancient home of caraway, it is a pet spice in northern and middle Europe. An old German cookbook notes that "the Germans have such a regard for caraway seed, they always put it into their pie crusts, mix it in their bread and add it in great measure to their sauces."

You will find caraway soup recipes in Polish and Viennese cookbooks too, while no less a historian than William Shakespeare records an invitation to "Pippin of my own graving, with a dish of caraways."

Recipes for caraway cookies came to America generations ago from kitchens in England and northern Europe.

Pickled herring seasoned with caraway is another old English favorite.

While caraway is famous as a seasoning of pork combinations, it gives intriguing tang to other meats, stews, soups and cheese dishes. Sauerkraut is twice as good cooked with caraway seeds.

Caraway Port Loin With Sauerkraut
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon onion salt
1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper

2 tablespoons caraway seed
4 pounds pork loin
1 tablespoon currant jelly
1 cab (1 lb. 11 oz.) sauerkraut drained

Combine salt, onion salt, black pepper and 1 tablespoon of the caraway seed. Rub into meat on all sides. Place pork, fat side up, on rack in an uncovered roasting pan.

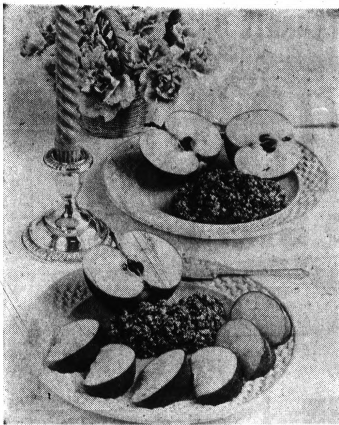

Roast in preheated slow oven (325 F.) about 2 hours. Pour off fat in roasting pan. Spread currant jelly over pork.

Place sauerkraut around pork in roasting pan. Sprinkle with remaining 1 tablespoon caraway seed. Roast 1/2 to 3/4 hour longer or until done. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

CARAWAY ROAST PORK LOIN—Here's a hearty pork dish seasoned with snappy caraway seeds. Bake sauerkraut with meat during last part of roasting time.

NEAPOLITAN SPREAD—Combine one pound creamed cottage cheese; 1/2 cup sugar; two squares unsweetened chocolate, grated; 1/4 teaspoon almond extract and 1/2 cup chopped walnuts. Serve for dessert as a spread for sliced apples. Makes about 12-18 servings.

Add Mushrooms to Squash

Try Hubbard squash with a special touch of broiled-in-butter mushrooms.

Coarse Pepper Is New Food Demand

NEW YORK (UPI)—Remember when you could tell the difference between the salt and pepper shakers by the size of the holes in the shaker tops?

Don't count on making that distinction much longer.

Edward A. Dubiel, president of the American Spice Trade Association, says that growing numbers of restaurants are putting salt shaker tops on pepper shakers because their customers prefer pepper granules that are as coarse as table salt.

Dubiel added that coarsely-let. Cook over low heat until ground pepper is more pungent than the same ones. Add drained mushrooms and parsley. Heat thoroughly.

Harvest Squash

1 can (3 oz.) chopped broiled mushrooms
1 1/4 cups cooked Hubbard squash or 1 pkg. (12 oz.) quick-frozen squash
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/16 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Cook bacon in skillet over moderate heat until crisp. Remove and drain on a paper towel. Add onion to fat in skillet and cook 1 minute.

Drain mushrooms, reserving broth for use in soup, sauce or gravy. Add mushrooms, squash, salt, pepper and parsley to Association, says that growing numbers of restaurants are putting salt shaker tops on pepper shakers because their customers prefer pepper granules that are as coarse as table salt.

Service topped with crumbled bacon. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Variation: Add frozen squash, salt and pepper to onion in skillet and cook 1 minute.

Form Eggplant Mixture in Balls to Fry

When selecting an eggplant, heft it. It should be firm, and heavy in relation to size, with a uniform dark, rich purple color, and free from scars or cuts. Choose pear-shaped eggplants from three to six inches in diameter when possible.

Store it in the refrigerator. If you must keep it, slip it into a film bag. This will prevent wilting for several days.

EGGPLANT BALLS
1 pound eggplant
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup finely chopped fresh onion
3/4 cup finely chopped fresh green pepper

1 1/2 cups dry bread crumbs
1 egg
1 tablespoon grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1 1/4 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 egg, beaten

Tomato Sauce, optional
Peel and dice eggplant. Place in saucepan and fill with 1/2-inch boiling water and salt. Cover and cook 15 minutes or until tender. Drain off water and discard.

Cool eggplant and mix with onion, green pepper, 1/2-cup of bread crumbs, one egg, cheese, salt, paprika and pepper. Cool until thoroughly chilled (2 to 3 hours or overnight).

Drop a heaping teaspoonful at a time into flour and roll to coat completely. Using two forks, dip into beaten egg and into remaining fine bread crumbs, being careful to keep as round as possible.

Fry in hot salad oil until browned. Drain on brown paper.

Serve with tomato sauce, if desired. 18-19 inch balls.

1 teaspoon cider vinegar
1 small bay leaf
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon whole black pepper
2 cups diced peeled fresh tomatoes
1/4 teaspoon ground thyme
Dash cayenne

Saute onions until lightly browned in butter or margarine. Stir in flour and cook until browned roux is obtained, stirring constantly. Add water, vinegar, bay leaf, salt, pepper and tomatoes. Simmer 10 minutes. Add thyme and cayenne 5 minutes before cooking time is up. Put through sieve, if desired. Serve over eggplant balls.

FRESH TOMATO SAUCE
1/2 cup sliced onion
1/4 cup butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup water

A big fat offer from the skinny tuna.

Buy two 7-oz. cans of Empress White Tuna and get one 7-oz. can free.

Just send the labels and the coupon below to Empress, and you'll get a coupon back—good for a free 7 oz. can of the skinny tuna.

We call it skinny because of the way it's packed. In no-calorie water. Which keeps the tuna tasting like it does when it's fresh caught. And keeps your waistline in shape. Try it. You'll never want oil-soaked tuna again. Even if they're giving it away. Empress, the skinny tuna.

Send this coupon to: Empress Tuna, 400 Canal Street, Box 402, New York, N.Y. 10013. Enclosed are two labels from Empress White Tuna cans and a coupon good for one 7 oz. can of Empress White Tuna. Please send this coupon to the address above.

FRESH 18-CARROT DISH — It couldn't be simpler—this combination of fresh carrots and mushrooms—but the flavor is excellent, color attractive.

Eating Fresh Carrots Is Vitamin A Booster

If the carotene content of a hand of between-meals nibbling — meaning its vitamin A — could be rated by carrots, as is the purity of gold, the deeper the orange-gold of this admirable root, the more nearly it would be a "24-karat" carrot.

Rich color is a sign the carrot has a good store of this "multi-effect vitamin."

A single fresh carrot, 5½ inches long by one inch in diameter, will supply more than the daily recommended allowance of vitamin A for an adult.

Carrots have so much vitamin A that at the rate they are eaten in the United States, they alone in a year provide enough for 3.4 billion man-days of consumption. This is allowing 5000 International Units per day, which is the recommended daily intake for an adult.

In short, carrots have such an impressive amount of this vitamin, that we tend to forget that they have a wide range of other vitamins and minerals as well. Keep nice crisp carrots on hand.

Do, however, cook them in just that bit of water needed to keep them from scorching. Season with salt and perhaps a bit of sugar.

Fresh 18-Carrot Dish
18 small fresh carrots
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced or coarsely chopped
¼ cup chopped fresh parsley
Scrape carrots, wash and cut off end. Cut each carrot in half lengthwise and cut each length in half crosswise. If pieces are thick, cut again lengthwise.

Add carrots to 1-inch boiling water to which the ½ teaspoon salt has been added. Simmer until crisp-tender, about 15 minutes. Drain and keep hot.

While carrots are cooking, melt the butter or margarine in mushrooms and cook over low heat, stirring frequently, until tender. Add chopped parsley; toss gently.

Arrange carrots on a serving dish. Yield: 6 servings.

Applesauce Is Part of Punch

One of the favorites for fall and winter entertaining is a spiced hot cider punch. Serve in mugs. Good with it are doughnuts, or fruit cake, sandwiches, especially cheese sandwiches.

This punch can be made at table in chafing dish — but remember to use only silver chafing dish or one of the porcelain-lined dishes. Do not boil; let come to steaming hot, then serve.

Mulled Apple Punch
3 lbs. cooking apples
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon nutmeg
3 cans frozen lemonade concentrate
1 red apple
Whole cloves
1 gallon cider

Wash apples; do not peel or core; cut into eighths. Cook in small amount of water until very soft. Put through food mill or sieve. Stir in spices. Add frozen concentrate; heat gently until lemonade is thawed.

Stud red apple with whole cloves; place in heat proof punch bowl; add spiced apple mixture.

Heat cider (do not boil). Pour into punch bowl. Serve in mugs. Makes about 20 1-cup servings.

MULLED APPLE PUNCH — Apples cooked and put through a sieve are added to frozen lemonade concentrate and cider for an unusual fall and winter beverage. Stick a whole apple with cloves to float in the punch bowl.

Medicine Hat, Alta., is built over a natural gas pool and its streets were illuminated with natural gas as early as 1890. They glowed day and night as it was cheaper to let them burn than to hire someone to turn them on and off.

Soviets Prepare Parade to Celebrate Revolution

The parade Tuesday will be a key event in the celebration of 50 years of Communist power, with military hardware dramatizing the history of the Red Army moving through Red Square.

Advanced rockets and new armored cars will represent the current Soviet armed forces.

Other displays planned

snubbed Russia's invitation to the big party.

Communist sources said they expected the current discussions to lead toward a world Communist conference at which the Soviet concept of proper Communist policies could be officially endorsed and China's confirmed.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE SUN

QUESTION: How does the sun get its energy?

ANSWER: Since ancient times, people have associated the sun with a ball of fire, but no one knew what fuel it was consuming.

The puzzle was solved in 1925 when scientists realized that nuclear fusions, the process used in a hydrogen bomb, caused the sun to burn steadily.

Many astronomers believe the sun and planets were born from an enormous cloud of gas and dust. As gravitation pulled the sun's mass inward, the sun became a ball; the great heat created in the process caused hydrogen particles to race violently around. These particles collide, starting nuclear fusion.

In this process atoms of hydrogen are changed into helium, releasing energy and heat; it is this energy that provides the earth's warmth.

***

The sun will not use up its hydrogen for billions of years. In the meantime, we can all return from vacation sunbaked and bursting with energy, like Jack in the picture.

Study Faster - 10

Learn How to Use the Library

By The Reading Laboratory
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"I can never find anything in a library!"
Is that a familiar complaint? How many times have you said it yourself?

Unfortunately, many students feel this way about the library, and avoid it whenever possible. But if you take time to learn about your library, you will enjoy using it.

The first thing you should do is to visit your library - before you have to use it.

Poke around. See what's there. Find out where materials are and how you can locate them.

GOOD FRIEND

Remember, your librarian is a good friend to have. She knows a lot about books and magazines that are under her care, and she will be happy to give you assistance.

Let's begin by finding out what's there.

Obviously, all libraries have books. Some of these, such as fiction, biography and general books, circulate.

Others are used only in the library for reference - specialized books such as dictionaries, encyclopedias or atlases.

PERIODICALS

Libraries also have periodicals - several daily newspapers and assorted magazines.

Sometimes these circulate and sometimes not. Many libraries also have special materials such as records, tapes or films. You are fortunate if your library does.

Locating specific books is no problem once you know that there are several standard systems for classifying books. Your library probably uses a combination of these. We will describe one, but you'll have to explore your own library to discover its unique system.

All materials in the library are organized. Fiction is kept together in one section, arranged alphabetically by author. Each book may have an "L" stamped on it to indicate it's fiction.

Biographies are arranged in another section, alphabetically by the name of the person being written about. These may be written about "B."

The rest of the books in the library are classified by subject. All history books are kept together in one place, all science books in another.

Within these broad areas there are more specific divisions. For example, in the history section, American history is all in one place, ancient history in another.

IDENTIFYING NUMBERS
In most public school libraries, these books that are organized by subject are probably assigned identifying numbers according to the Dewey Decimal System.

For example, a history book has a number between 900 and 999, depending upon the kind of history it is.

This number is known as the "call number," and is your key to finding a book on the shelves.

However, in college and university libraries the more common practice is to assign call numbers to all books - fiction and nonfiction - in accordance with the Library of Congress scheme.

For every book in the library, there are several cards in the card catalogue. You can look up either the author of a book, or its title. You can also look up a general subject and find a card for every book the library has about that subject.

(NEXT: Books That Circulate.)

'Dying From a Broken Heart Possible'

By Science Service

People do die of broken hearts. Scientists in both Britain and the United States confirm this "romantic" notion with cold statistics.

Deaths among newly bereaved family members were six times greater than those among nonbereaved families in one Welsh community.

A recent London study showed that heart-attack deaths of widowers during the first six months of bereavement were largely caused by grief.

Since reports in both Britain and the United States point to the influence of bereavement on physical and mental health, doctors should prepare themselves to help.

"What can doctors offer? A willing ear, tolerant of confusion and anger, and a knowledge of community resources are probably more important than tonics and sedatives," the British Medical Journal concludes.

mattress and box spring

Here is the new standard of excellence in sleeping comfort - the Perfect Sleeper Imperial. It has our patented Sertaliner construction with the new TwinEdge® design that connects the coils, and lets you sleep on all the mattress, right out to the edges. These exclusive patented features work together to give you just the right combination of comfort and support. A scientifically designed box spring works coil for coil with the mattress for lasting, balanced support. They're all wrapped up in a beautiful golden damask cover, quilted to an extra, cushiony layer of polyurethane foam, to give you the finest sleeping 'surface' you can find. That's the Perfect Sleeper Imperial - something great to sleep on, made only by Serta.

Choose from regular or extra length, firm or extra firm, innerspring or foam latex,* at no extra cost.

RIDING OUT AN ISSUE—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is caught in the crush as he rides the subway in New York yesterday in his first visit to the subways since his campaigning for reelection last year. Rockefeller said it was his first visit to the subways since his campaigning for reelection last year.

TESTIFIES IN WASHINGTON — Samuel L. Price, deputy director of the Harris County Community Action Association, which includes Houston, Tex., told a Senate riot investigating committee in Washington yesterday that two Negro men indicted in the slaying of a policeman were hired in a federally financed summer job program. Price said the two men were dismissed from the poverty program, not because of misbehavior, but because of local pressure and "orders from Washington."

WHERE POISON WAS FOUND — DeSoto County (Fla.) Sheriff Frank Cline (left) explains to Judge Gordon Hays where he found the bag of parathion poison in a shed behind the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Richardson of Arcadia, Fla. The Richardsons' seven children died last Thursday of poisoning. The parents are charged with child neglect and are being held in jail pending outcome of a coroner's inquest today.

Smiles ... Frowns of Faces in News

PROTESTER GETS CARRIED AWAY—A girl on charges of disturbing the peace after interviews with Marine Corps recruiters in the building were interrupted. The girl was hauled from the steps of the Iowa Memorial Union at Iowa City, Iowa, yesterday by police in riot gear. About 150 demonstrators were arrested.

LEAVING HOSPITAL — Carrying his baby daughter Joely, singer Eddie Fisher and Connie Stevens, reportedly his wife, leave St. Joseph Hospital in Burbank, Calif., yesterday. The child was born to the couple Sunday. "It's a beautiful girl," said the singer. "I want 10," said the actress.

TOUGH BUT GENTLE — Tommy, a male gorilla, who tips the scales at over 500 pounds, is a real roughneck when he cavorts with his master, Robert Noel of Tarpon Springs, Fla. But his brute strength ebbs when the mammoth monk plays with a little puppy.

FIRE VICTIM REMOVED — A police sergeant hands 8-year-old Derron Canty to another rescuer in the Bushwick section of Brooklyn yesterday after firemen brought him from the burning tenement in the background. The child and four others died of burns and smoke inhalation. The fire was believed to have started when some cleaning fluid ignited.

Work is also under way to develop armor to protect the neck, sides, shoulders and lower torso.

Air Force crewmen flying in Southeast Asia are wearing a new type of body armor and special helmets as protection against enemy ground fire.

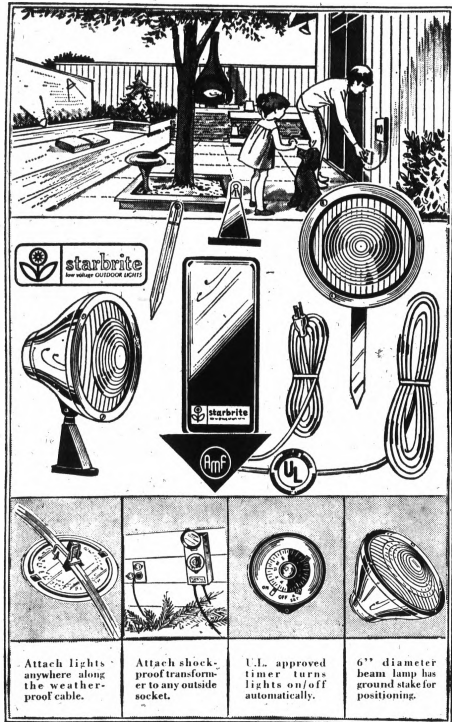

The armor, which covers the back and chest, is made of a ceramic material backed with nylon to prevent pieces from flying off if struck by small arms fragments.

Hard Liquor Proves Bonanza for State

LANSING (UPI)—Every time a tippler bellies up to a bar in Michigan, the state ought to propose a toast.

The state's drinkers of hard liquor are Michigan's only retail customers. They pour more than $100 million into the state treasury every year.

Michigan is one of 18 states in the nation that has a monopoly on the sale of wholesale liquor. During the last fiscal year, the state sold 10.3 million cases—or approximately 120 million bottles—of booze. That's about $260 million in over-the-counter value.

The Liquor Control Commission (LCC) runs 92 liquor stores and three warehouses and has been holding an inventory that is worth about $30 million.

Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken and LCC Chairman Stanley Thayer announced that a new computer system will enable the inventory to be cut to $12 million. They said the state can convert $18 million in liquor into hard cash for the state's general fund.

Thayer said the inventory reduction will be made slowly. "If we have a problem of maintaining adequate distribution, then we'll stop and find out why," he said.

Michigan has been in the liquor business since the end of prohibition in 1933, and Thayer thinks the state is going to stay in it. There have been periodic attempts to take the state out of the business and give it to private wholesalers.

"If you turned it over, probably $50 million to $60 million would be put into somebody's pocket," Thayer said. "And the state would have to find taxes to replace the money."

Whether you agree with it philosophically or not, at that point, the pocketbook talks.

Beer and wine—the state doesn't bother with anything that's less than 16 per cent alcoholic—are handled by private distributors. The LCC controls and licenses beer and wine distributors and, of course, collects taxes on their sale.

Anything that contains more than 16 per cent alcohol is sold by the state, which distributes it to bars and grocery, drug and party stores that in turn sell it to the consumer.

Because the state is running the business does not mean the customer can drink more cheaply in Michigan than in other states where it's handled by private businesses. The state operates on a 45 to 50 per cent profit margin.

In a submarine, noise levels must be held to an absolute minimum. Vibration interferes with the sub's sonar system and can lead to detection by enemy vessels.

A lot of people buy when they have the money in one hand and the Yellow Pages in the other.

And that puts them just the other side of your cash register. A good time to be there . . . in the Yellow Pages with all the information they need to help them make the buying decision. It's good business to be there . . . in the Yellow Pages. Here's proof:

TAILORS—ALTERATION & REPAIRING

"Even during the so-called slow season my ad brings in as many as six calls a day, for a gross of several hundred dollars a week." A.G. Marchese, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

EMPLOYMENT CONTRACTORS—TEMPORARY HELP

"A check of our records reveals that in a period of 240 days, the Yellow Pages produced 59 definite orders for our service." Joseph Witt, Witt, Inc., Detroit, Michigan.

FURNACE DEALERS

"In a 7-month period, our ad has produced in excess of 300 calls." George L. White, Dearborn Heating Co., Dearborn, Michigan.

PUMPS

"I have found that 90% of all new business comes from the Yellow Pages." Willis Swagerman, Holland Pump & Well Service, Holland, Michigan.

UPHOLSTERERS

"I have found that 50% of my gross comes from the Yellow Pages. On one Saturday alone I received 50 calls!" Howard M. Austin, Austin Upholstering Co., Grand Rapids, Michigan.

SERVICE STATIONS—GASOLINE & OIL

"I receive as many as 100 calls daily from the Yellow Pages, and my total program is directly responsible for 30% of the $1,000,000 that I gross yearly." Dick Yeznick, Martin & Gratzel Standard Service, Roseville, Michigan.

SEWING MACHINES—HOUSEHOLD

"People with vacation cottages in our area call me for vacuum cleaner service. The results I receive from these calls alone justify my Yellow Pages program." L.L. Porter, The Bobbin Shop, Traverse City, Michigan.

WASHING MACHINE, DRIER & IRONER SERVICE

"I couldn't operate without my Yellow Pages ad. It produces 90% of my calls." Walter M. Soule, Soule's Washer Repair, Battle Creek, Michigan.

Payroll Taxes

Senate Unit OKs 15%

Social Security Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee, which has approved a 15 per cent Social Security benefit increase, now is thinking about ## paying for it by boosting payroll taxes as much as $190 next year.

"We're going to start paying now for the new benefits rather than paying later," said Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La.

"But if the people don't want to pay for it, they can let us know at the polls next year."

According to Long, the committee yesterday approved "at least" a maximum $4.84 payroll tax increase, starting Jan. 1, to finance the across-the-board benefit increases. The panel also ## approved a raise in the monthly minimum pension payment from $44 to $70. The House approved a $50 minimum.

The committee's cash benefit package was just what President John F. Kennedy needed in the first year of operation. $1.5 billion more than the House-passed Social Security measure calls for.

At a hurriedly called news conference yesterday in the White House Cabinet Room, Johnson touched on topics ranging from Vietnam to the stock market but time and again came back to the theme that things are not going his way in Congress.

Later, this prompted Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-D., to suggest the President should look to his own party.

With a heavy majority in both House and Senate, "The Democrats must take the blame or credit for what is done or not done," Mundt said.

Asked about his high-priority request for a tax increase, the President said he is still planning to try it, but that his fate rests with the House Ways and Means Committee.

"We think that it will cost the American people much less to take up his new duties. He is by taking the tax route that we have suggested than by taking the inaction route that is now being followed," said.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield responded to the prodding by replying "we'll do our best to give him what he wants."

Bazaar and Turkey Dinner. Four Towns Methodist Church, corner of Cooley Lk. and Loe, have Nov. 4 p.m., dinner at 7 p.m.

Q—We have been buying Ceco on a payroll plan. Is it worth continuing? It just split the stock. What does that mean?

A—Ceco is a sound stock, in my opinion, with a good earnings record in spite of its relationship with the cyclical building industry. I advise you to continue your payroll plan up to a reasonable proportion of your resources and then turn to something else. The two-for-one stock split gives you additional shares with no increase in your proportionate ownership. It is principally a means of bringing stock down to a lower price level where more potential buyers may be attracted.

Economic Dief Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP)—As the economic boom enters its 81st month, it has about the same physical resemblance to its early years than an adult has to its youth. It's the same person at right, but an awful lot has changed.

Imbalances and disruptions protrude everywhere, and the very economic diet of taxes and spending that takes credit for the expansion is, itself, being questioned.

This is not to say the boom will bust, for there are indications that it will soar along for a many months more.

But it is far from the fine-tuned, non-inflationary early years of the 1960s.

As the expansion approaches a record length, disruptions in labor disputes, automotive troubles, rising interest rates, falling profits and administration-congressional discord.

It is also now an expansion budget deficits, and slowed by sustained more and more government spending rather than civilian spending. It has become more of a war economy, and some of the disruptions.

As Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, told the Associated Press:

"We have learned well enough how to stimulate the economy when it is threatened by slack. We also must show that we have the self-discipline to apply necessary restraint when the economy is threatened by overheating."

At the same time, the concept of the New Economics is seriously endangered if not on theoretical grounds then on practical grounds that it is dependent on political considerations.

If the concept is unworkable because of political reasons—as it is now—then it is an utopian ideal held by naive idealists, a source of frustration, and utterly worthless as a practical guideline.

What tags the New Economics is the belief that their theories have worked before and can work again if given a chance.

Draft-Reagan Drive Launched

He'd Run, Asserts Oklahoma Politician

By The Associated Press

At least one Oklahoma politician is discounting California Gov. Ronald Reagan's repeated assertions that he's not interested in the Republican presidential nomination.

In announcing formation Wednesday of a draft-Reagan movement, State Sen. Richard Stansberry, R-Oklahoma City, said the first-term California governor left the impression during a recent Oklahoma visit that "if the Republican party comes knocking at his door he won't turn them away."

Stansberry said the draft movement has no sanction from Reagan. But he predicted that Oklahoma's 22-man delegation to the 1968 GOP convention would be split down the middle between supporters and Reagan and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon on the basis of current poll findings.

Nixon, a likely but still undeclared candidate for the nomination, plans speeches in Oregon on Nov. 29 and 30, it was announced.

WILLING TO ACCEPT
Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., announced meanwhile he would be willing to accept a favorite son designation at the convention if it helped hold the state's delegation together.

Case also said he wouldn't rule out the possibility the nomination might go to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller despite the New Yorker's repeated assertions he won't seek it and doesn't really aspire to the presidency.

Doctor Links Diseases to Refined Food

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—The more civilized a person and the more exquisite his tastes, the more likely he is to become blind or deaf," a renowned eye, ear, nose and throat surgeon theorized yesterday.

Dr. Izak Fick of Pretoria, Republic of South Africa, said refined foods apparently caused the secretion of insulin in the pancreas and led to diabetes.

Whereas many elderly persons in the civilized world suffer from partial or total deafness and blindness, "persons living in the rural areas of South Africa—where they do not have access to the refined foods—may live to be 70 or 80 and never show any signs of these diseases."

The physician, who has won international acclaim for his studies on the effects Western ways of eating and living have on disease, said the insulin secretion overworks the pancreas and causes a breakdown of the metabolism process and resistance to disease.

In one language, the translation for diabetes is "rich man's disease," Dr. Fick said. The rich people in this race ate highly refined foods, did little work and subsequently had a high diabetes rate, he said.

More money should be spent on research concerning such metabolic disorders, he said, terming the problem "almost as great as, if not greater, than, cancer."

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has had a brief reunion with a soldier whom he swore into the army more than 20 years ago.

Willie Case Jr., a native of Brookhaven, Miss., received the oath from Eisenhower when he first entered the U.S. Army at Vicksburg, Miss. This week, Case, now a sergeant first class, reenlisted for another three-year hitch.

Eisenhower, who is vacationing at the Augusta National Golf Club, in Augusta, Ga., talked over old times with the sergeant.

2 Grid Stars Get Flying Duty in Viet

Felix (Doc) Blanchard, one of the U.S. Military Academy's greatest football players, and John M. (Max) Minor, an Army teammate, have been assigned to flying duty in Vietnam, the Air Force said yesterday.

Blanchard, a three-time All-America at fullback and winner of the Heisman and Sullivan Trophies in 1945, will join the 388th Tactical Fighter Wing at Korat Air Base in Thailand on Feb. 25, 1968.

Minor, who played halfback, will join the 460th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing at Tonson Nhut Air Base in South Vietnam on Dec. 13. Both men are lieutenant colonels and will fly F105 fighter planes.

Blanchard was Mr. Inside to halfback Glenn Davis' Mr. Outside in the famed Army backfield that led the Cadets to unbeaten seasons in 1944, 1945 and 1946. Only a scoreless tie against Notre Dame in 1946 prevented Army from winning three straight national championships.

Papal Cross, Ring Auctioned for $64,000

A papal cross and ring Pope Paul VI donated to the United Nations two years ago, which had been appraised for $150,000, was auctioned off here for $64,000 to a Chicago jeweler.

"I was amazed at the price," said Harry Levinson after he outbid 10 others for the jeweled prize in a five-minute auction in New York yesterday. "I was prepared to pay much more for them."

Pope Paul gave away the cross and ring to help alleviate "human suffering." The proceeds go to four U.N. agencies.

The cross is gold mounted, set with 12 diamonds weighing 59 carats and 426 diamonds and rubies.

The platinum ring holds a 12.75-carat diamond and 96 diamonds and rubies.

Blind Man Prefers His Farm Home

Home to Tom Stefanski is the farm he settled in 1911, the house where he reared his 10 children, the place he prefers to live though he is now blind at 83.

Each spring he returns to the rundown house in Fairmont, Minn., staying alone through the summer until the cold finally drives him back to a daughter's place late in fall. With all his children married and his wife dead since 1926, he is accustomed to being alone, although a son, Carl, looks in on his father each day.

Outdated U. S. Fishing Fleet Being Left in Wake of Russia's

By EVERETT S. ALLEN
Assistant to the Editor New Bedford, Mass., Standard-Times

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—A streamlined and efficient Soviet trawler fleet now outfishes U.S. rivals off the New England coast.

Huge Soviet hauls from Georges Bank have raised fears that the area is being overexploited. There are demands from the American fishing industry for sharply increased spending on fisheries research.

Georges Bank, 8,500 miles square, is a main habitat of the haddock, the fish species most valuable to the United States.

In 1965 the Soviets caught 82,000 metric tons of haddock in this area, the United States only 55,000. The total catch by all nations which fish the bank was the greatest ever, but the U.S. catch was about average for the past two decades.

Within 10 years, the Russians have overtaken U.S. fish production, doubled their catch to more than 5 million tons in 1965; acquired an 18,000-vessel fleet; and now propose to add 7,500 new vessels during the next five years.

By contrast, the total U.S. catch has remained static, slightly below three million tons, and Harold E. Crowther, director of the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, estimates that 90 per cent of the American fleet, 12,000 vessels over five net tons, ought to be replaced because of age. At present, there are about 60 Soviet vessels in Georges Bank; during 1962-63, there were 200-400; the Russian trend is to produce more tonnage with fewer and more modern ships.

The Soviet fishing operation is sophisticated. Medium trawlers—125 feet—with bottom-tending or midwater trawls nets—their midwater fishing capability is generally superior to American—and their catches on nearby processing and refrigerated transport vessels.

Large refrigerated trawlers, 190 to 230 feet, have canning and fish meal plants; these vessels are used as fleeters or scout ships, and have homing beacons to direct fleets of vessels to the fishing areas.

Russian factory stern trawlers—most American vessels still use the earlier method of fishing from the side—have fish processing and dehydration plants. They can catch, freeze, salt or can fish and produce fish meal; they carry a crew of 100.

Tropik class factory trawlers—260 feet—have freezing equipment and are capable of long lining, purse seining and other trawling—the three basic methods of catching fish at the surface, at middepth and on the bottom.

Often, a U.S. vessel requires three weeks to change from one type of fishing to another; a majority cannot be changed at all.

Soviet ships operate as a fleet, constantly exchanging information by radio; exploratory vessels find the fish, and notify the fleet. Most Soviet vessels have been built since 1950.

By contrast, Americans send to Georges Bank a vessel of from 80 to 125 feet; more often wood than steel and more likely built before 1950 than since, with a crew of from 8 to 16, and capable of bottom trawling only.

It cannot freeze or process; it can only catch and ice fresh fish, and after five or six days on the grounds, must make the 100-plus-mile run back to port.

Fish capacity may total 200,000 pounds, but usually, catches per trip are considerably less than half of this.

Because U.S. skippers compete, if a boat finds fish, it keeps the news to itself; individual captains may spend days exploring for more fish.

Crowther added: "On a catch per man-hour basis, our better vessels are more efficient than theirs. But their mother ships enable catchers to work constantly. Less than 50 per cent of our vessel time is used in fishing; we have to turn home and back, many times without even filling up, because we need to preserve the quality of the fresh product."

The greatly intensified Soviet effort in the northwest Atlantic has raised a serious question of overexploitation.

In an unprecedented move, U.S. and Russian scientists afloat are examining this fishery resource cooperatively.

Ashore, U.S. and Russian spokesmen are trying to work out an Atlantic fish conservation agreement patterned after a similar, successful West Coast arrangement between the two nations.

Washington officials are hopeful, believing the Russians want to preserve both the resource and a world image as a responsible fishing nation.

But conservation won't help American fishermen compete with foreign fish imports. Only 1 per cent of Russia's catch is exported to the United States, but this is expected to increase. Seventy per cent of Canada's catch is shipped to the United States.

The United States is now spending $28 million annually on fisheries research. Based on last year's U.S. catch value of $2 billion, authorities believe the United States should be spending $160 million a year in this category.

They suggest a 10-year program thus financed would aim at: designing new, versatile vessels, heavily automated, to cut production cost; producing gear to find fish faster, and catch them more quickly with less manpower—youth is not coming into the industry—and developing equipment for automatic separation of species, containerized storage, quick unloading and highly automated processing plants.

AFTER REBOUND — Detroit Pistons' John Tresvant goes over the top of San Francisco Warriors' Clyde Lee (43) to make a shot as two other players charge in looking for a rebound in the first half of their NBA game in Detroit last night. At left, Detroit's Dave DeBusschere (22) gives the hip to Warriors' Rudy LaRusso (35) as they watch the shot. Warriors won, 137-132.

Refs, Pistons Lose; 'Frisco Wins, 137-132

DETROIT — Wednesday night was a bad night to be in the referee business at Cobo Arena.

Two hapless officials — Don Murphy and Ed Rush — took on the partisan crowd of 3,198, the whole Piston bench and at times the San Francisco Warriors before ejecting Pistons coach Dennis Rutter whose club came out on the short end of a 137-132 decision.

In the fourth period Butcher, angered by several close calls, finally blew up and started shouting at the refs, daring them to throw him out after a warning.

INVITATION TO FIGHT

They did and he departed with an invitation to meet Murphy outside after the game.

Gambling Raid by Police Nets Colts' Hawkins

BALTIMORE — Someone on the Baltimore Colt roster was to be put on waivers today, and one name in some people's minds was that of Alex Hawkins.

Hawkins, who only last week won the game ball for his performance against the Washington Redskins, is in the Colts' doghouse after being arrested in a gambling raid at 4:45 a.m. Wednesday by Baltimore county police.

Colt coach Don Shula said a stiff fine would probably be in store for Hawkins, but Shula would not predict beyond that.

TWO ACTIVATED

Two Colt players were scheduled to be activated today — flanker Jimmy Orr and defensive back Preston Pearson — and there is only one vacancy on the roster. Defensive back Jim Welch, who is injured, cleared waivers Wednesday.

But Shula could not dismiss the fact that Hawkins was out late on the day before a hard practice and three days before the Colts meet the Green Bay Packers in a crucial game for both National Football League clubs.

"Our curfew, particularly this early in the week, isn't rigid," said Shula. "But after all, 4:45 a.m. is overdoing it quite a bit."

Also arrested in the police raid was Bert Bell Jr., a former business manager of the Colts, and son of the late commissioner of the National Football League.

Andover Posts 2 Wins

Bloomfield Hills Andover came through with soccer and cross-country victories yesterday.

The Andover team lost Groves in a soccer match, 4-1, and Brice Evans posted a 1:13 time in the rain to lead the Barons past Walked Lake, 27-29.

Coin, Pankner Hold Spotlight for Big Game

With the gloss rapidly fading from Pontiac Northern's 1967 football record and Waterford Kettering still struggling to maintain a .500 pace, Friday night's annual meeting may develop into a personal duel of spotlight runners.

Host Kettering (3-4) will try to spring barreling fullback Gene Pankner (free against a sometimes stingy PNH defense.

The Huskies' (4-1), meanwhile, have built their attack around tailback Dana Coin, another power runner whose ability to pass and kick make him especially dangerous.

Both are outstanding All-County prospects and potential All-Staters — though the efforts of their teammates have an added bearing on that type recognition. All too often the All-State selections are overly influenced by team records.

Both boys have impressive similarities. Coin stands 6-2 and weighs 265, Pankner carries 215 pounds on a 6-3 frame. Each operates frequently at defensive end in addition to his demanding duties on offense.

OVERPOWERERS

Pankner tends to overpower tacklers rather than elude them since he isn't blessed with consistent blocking. Coin has more opportunity to follow his blocking but still attracts more than one defender before he goes down.

The WKHS star is gunning for the school rushing record tomorrow night after upping his season total to 852 yards and a 5-plus per carry mark with a one-game record 212 yards last week in the sometimes ankle-deep mud at Russellville.

Coin already owns all the Northern school rushing records — game, season and career. He leads the county scorers in conversions with 12, and has five touchdowns. Pankner has more points on 10 touchdowns and 11 PAT's.

The three-season veteran has a 5-plus average this season and a 4.5 career tempo at PNH. His rushing total this by the fact quarterback Craig Deaton season is just over 500 yards—held back shares the ball carrying duties and due to injuries.

In addition, he has 20 completions for 500 yards and two touchdowns, has a 28-yard average for 45 punts and has two field goals on his career record.

TEAM EFFORT

WKHS is on an upswing after a rocky start and could salvage a still dismal campaign with wins over Northern and arch-rival Township. The Huskies have lost three-of-four since three opening victories.

"We're not getting the team effort we were before," explains PNH mentor Dave Schmidt.

However, the slender PNH coach offered praise for other regulars in addition to Coin. Junior Len Conley has played well at linebacker and Greg Adit, another junior, has been the most consistent defensive tackle.

Two unsung hardworkers along the offensive line are guard John Willson and tight end Tom LaCourse, both seniors.

Kettering's Jim Larkin also singled out tackles Don Pottle — coplain along with Pankner — and Dennis Wilson. Both are seniors and play both ways, though Pottle moves to a linebacker berth on defense.

Harry Booker and Bob Earls are two-way performers in the backfield, with Booker showing a fine pair of pass receiving hands.

PNH is favored but Kettering has a definite chance to extend its domination of the Huskies' gridiron to three conquests in the last four years.

Former PCH-PNH Stars Aid Firebirds

Former backs from Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern are helping the Pontiac Firebirds to their current streak of five straight wins and a shot at the Midwest Football League title this year.

Chuck Stein and George Tanner, former PCH gridgers and Chris Payne, ex-PNH running star, are all members of the Firebirds' secondary which has become one of the better units in the league.

Stein, with four interceptions this season, leads the Pontiac squad in this department and is one behind Chuck Thornton the league leader from Dayton.

The Firebirds who play their last home game of the season Saturday night when they tangle with the Detroit Steelers at Wisner Stadium, have nailed 17 enemy aeriels thus far this season.

Veteran of the Pontiac secondary is Mike Pryor, who has played in the MFL for six years. Pryor, who played at Hamtramck and Michigan State, has been playing with the handicap of a broken finger since the start of the season, but still has two steals to his credit.

OTHER DEFENSIVE STEALS

Another ex-PCH player, George Tanner has three interceptions, while former all-county star from Northern, Chris Payne has two.

Another member of the secondary, Bob Lulek, a sturdy tackler from Detroit, also has two interceptions.

Tanner and Lulek are also the run-back men for the Firebirds on punts and kickoffs.

John Lane of Oxford is also a part of the Pontiac 6-man defensive backfield.

Stein and Lane are employed at General Motors Truck & Coach while Payne is an auto salesman at Vandepute Buick in Pontiac.

The Firebirds are expected to win their 6th straight against the Steelers who are in the cellar of the MFL, however coach Tom Tracy has fear of overconfidence.

"The Steelers did something to other team has been able to do in the league when they scored first against Mt. Clemens and then scored again before losing 30-12," he said, "they're improving and over-confidence would ruin our title chances."

The big game Saturday night is at Ypsilanti, where the Vikings host Mt. Clemens. Should Ypsi beat Mt. Clemens and Pontiac win, the league will be thrown into a three-way tie.

No. 2 Wolves Visit PCH

Luck it that something extra that good football teams seem to have.

It's been that matter of luck that has helped Bay City Central this season.

The Wolves have a 7-0 record. They are ranked second among the state's Class A powers, and they've been extremely fortunate in a couple of the victories this season.

Pontiac Central will get a look at the Wolves tomorrow afternoon at Wisner Stadium with the game slated to start at 3 p.m.

Coach Paul Dellerba and the PCH Chiefs, one-touchdown underdogs for the Saginaw Valley Conference match, are in an excellent position to pull an upset.

The Chiefs have a 2-2-2 record, all in SVC play, and they made it an even mark last Saturday with a 20-13 victory over Flint Central.

RALLIES TO WIN

That was the same Flint team which Bay City defeated in its season opener, 20-9, coming from behind in the final moments of the game to take the decision.

The win over Flint Central ended a four-game winless string for the Chiefs and they'd like nothing better than to improve their record at the expense of the Wolves.

Dellerba pulled one surprise last week by starting end Mike Shorters at fullback, and the 6-0, 200-pounder responded with some timely blocks and scored a touchdown.

Halfback Hardiman Jones remains the workhorse in the Chiefs backfield. The quick, 170-pound Jones, a junior, has scored six touchdowns for the Chiefs to pace the team in scoring.

Quarterback Larry Froede, backs Walter Terry and Willie Ramsey are

ON THE LINE

Charles Mason (265) and Bob Hunt (185) have been going at tackles for the Chiefs, Mike Shanbolt (165) and Bob Danie (165) at guards along with Mike Stone (175) at center. Shorters, Mike Prince (175) and Robert Copeland (195) handle the end spots.

The Chiefs will be playing on a muddy field and they'll be giving away weight to the Wolves, who are bidding for their second unbeaten season and their seventh SVC championship under coach Elmer Engell.

The Wolves came to Pontiac two years and ran up their first unbeaten campaign by downing PCH, 11-12, last year. Bay City won on its home ground, 20-14.

This year, the Wolves are big on the line and light and quick in the backfield. Quarterback John Ewing (165), Cornell Berry (155) and Lloyd Blasingame (140) share the ball — carrying duties, while Jim Vandenberg (205), Fred Carroll (205) and John Loop (205) provide the blocking in the line.

One of the Wolves' top performers is end Tom Huiskens, a 6-2, 190-pounder who is the top receiver on the squad and who plays roverback defense.

Putnam Paces Pioneers

Top Harriers Vie in OU Meet

Two of the top cross country runners in the nation will match strides in the Oakland University Invitational meet Saturday.

Ron Ellis, who is the Michigan AAU champion and a undefeated in dual competition, will represent Eastern Michigan. Western Michigan's strong team will be led by Mike Hazilla, who holds a 19:40 clocking the four miles this fall.

They will participate in the university division event which will start at 1:45 p.m.

Oakland University's Louis Putnam, who is rated a chance to gain some college All-American honors, will lead the favored Pioneers into the college division race at 1 p.m. The distance in both events will be six miles.

Joining Eastern and Western will be in the university division with Michigan, Bowling Green, Michigan State and Central Michigan.

Toledo, Wayne State, Grand Valley, Aquinas and Hillsdale will vie with Oakland University.

Hazilla, a Pan-American finalist, has lost once this year. Western's strong team has won the NCAA championship two of the last three years.

Ellis, representing Canada, placed second in the six-mile run of the Pan-Am games last summer. EMU is the 1966 NAIA title.

Michigan State, a perennial Big Ten power, is led by Ken Leonard of Hazel Park. Michigan's balanced team, considered a contender for national honors, includes Tom Kearney of Bloomfield Hills and former Birmingham Seaham runner Jamie Dennis.

Kearney was the individual state high school champion in 1965.

Putnam, senior captain from Caro, has set seven course records in as many outings this fall. The Pioneers have piled up a 13-4 record in dual and double dual meets.

Putnam's best four-mile time is 20:20. He holds the OU course mark of 21:50.

Other members of OU's team and their best times are sophomore Don Colpitts, Walled Lake (20:55); freshman Marc Dutton, Royal Oak Kimball (21:15); sophomore Bruce Anderson, Farmington (22:39); junior Don Bakkwell, Walled Lake (22:42); freshman Randy Petiprin, Pontiac Northern (23:02); and sophomore Tom Merchant, Portage (23:09).

The Pioneers will compete in the NCAA small college championship Nov. 11 at Wheaton College.

NEW YORK (AP) — A 94-714 yards while Mike Garrett of New York for second, Kansas City is third with 479 each with 35.

Another Jet, Emerson Boozer, slipped from second to fourth, scoring his 13th touchdown for a total of 78 points. Teammate Jim Turner is a distant second with 56 points.

San Diego's Lance Alworth has replaced Hewitt Dixon of Oakland as the top pass receiver.

Alworth, last year's titlist, caught 10 passes against Oakland and has 41 for the season. Dixon is tied with Don May-

Northwood Star Pulling Away in Point Race

By the Associated Press

Hugh Davidson of Northwood Institute, racking up four touchdowns in his team's 20-7 rout of Milton of Wisconsin last Saturday, continued to dominate the individual performances of Michigan college football players this week.

Davidson also rolled up 294 yards rushing in 34 carries against Milton. His season total of 92 points scored puts him 32 ahead of second-place Craig Tett of Central Michigan.

The program will have four hourly sessions covering the fast break, two-man plays, offensive rebounding, defensive fast break, zone and combination zone defenses, offensive center and forward play.

Advance registrations should be sent to Mel Harold at Flint JC, 1401 East Court.

Cage Clinic Set at Flint

Basketball coaches and players are eligible to attend a Coaches Clinic sponsored by the Flint Community Junior College Saturday Nov. 11 at the IMA Building.

The Industrial Mutual Association and Flint's Class A High Schools are joining Flint JC in sponsoring the clinic that will feature Coach George Ireland of Loyola of Chicago and Detroit Piston scout Earl Lloyd.

Japanese Gals Win

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Japanese women's volleyball team ripped an American women's team 15-7, 11-5, 15-8 and 15-10 Wednesday.

The second game of the match, won by the U.S. girls, was the first game lost by the Japanese since 1965.

BOSTON BLUES — Ron Stewart (12) of the St. Louis Blues made the first period a little blue for the Boston Bruins last night in St. Louis as he scored twice in the opening frame. Stewart's first goal came on this play as he swept the puck past fallen goalie Gerry Cheevers. Boston's Ted Green (6) and Don Awrey (26) attempt to block the shot while the Blues' Norm Beaudin (21) blocks Awrey. The Blues won, 5-1.

High Altitude Slows Swimmers, Say Doctors

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Goddard and McGill, who did studies to a camp he says they in Miss Caretto's longer conditioning at Albuquerque's altitude.

He said that both swimmers stayed in Albuquerque for two days after the meet and Miss Meyers subsequently passed

Miss Caretto in physical performance ability.

After six days at the altitude Miss Meyers' heart beat rate at a maximum work load was 20 to 30 beats less than on her arrival, Goddard said.

He says that when an athlete makes a big change in altitude, his blood cells automatically multiply. He said this has a thickening effect on the blood, making it that much more difficult for the heart to circulate the blood.

Paul Andrea and Keith McCreary hit for Pittsburgh in the first period but Minnesota's An-

Goddard credits the large number of gold medals won in Miss Meyers held the world's record. Goddard attributed that to extended conditioning at altitudes similar to Mexico City there.

There's no seller without a buyer!

The store looks big. It employs lots of people...has hundreds of yards—maybe miles—of shelves with tens or even hundreds of thousands of items—all neatly packaged and arranged.

And yet, there's nothing bigger in the store than you. No detergent, no can of soup, no great new frozen idea.

Because no matter how hard the seller sells, if you don't like what he sells—there's no deal.

That's how the system puts you in control. You tell the seller whether you like his wares—or not.

He'll get the message. It's very brief: "You pay your money and you take your choice."

Leafs Rely on Aging Bower

By The Associated Press

His hair is growing thinner, his hemstitched face looks more weatherbeaten, but like O' Man River, Johnny Bower just keeps rolling along.

Bower, one week away from his 43rd birthday, held off Montreal's high-speed Canadiens Wednesday night as Toronto blanked the Habs 3-0 in a National Hockey League game.

The veteran goalie kicked out 40 shots including 17 in the first period and registered his 32nd career shutout. Five different players scored for Toronto with three goals inside of five minutes midway through the second period snapping a scoreless tie.

OTHER GAMES

In other NHL action Wednesday, expansionist St. Louis rocked Boston 5-1, Pittsburgh dropped Minnesota 4-1 and New York blanked California 2-0.

Dave Keon, Frank Mahovlich and Bob Pulford showed three quick goals past Rogatien Vachon giving Bower the second period edge. Then George Armstrong and Mike Walton scored in the final period, wrapping it up.

Ex-Bruin Ron Stewart led St. Louis past Boston with a pair of goals in the first period as the Blues scored their first victory over an established NHL team.

Glenn Hall kicked out 30 shots for St. Louis but lost his shutout in the final 2½ minutes when Ross Lonsberry beat him on a 30-footer.

Andy Bathgate scored his eighth goal of the year for Pittsburgh as the Penguins took over second place in the West Division by beating Minnesota.

Paul Andrea and Keith McCreary hit for Pittsburgh in the first period but Minnesota's Andrea Boudrias cut the lead in East Division, two points ahead Gilbert produced the New York half before Bathgate clicked off idle Detroit, in extending goals in the third period while Art Stratton's third-period power play unbeaten streak to eight at goalie Ed Giacomin turned in his first shutout of the season, the expense of California.

Loop-Leading Wings Playing Host to Leafs

DETROIT (AP) — The high-flying Detroit Red Wings, tied for first place in the National Hockey League's Eastern Division, go back to action tonight against Toronto with Norm Ullman and Gary Bergman still listed as doubtful starters.

Ullman, out 12 days with a shoulder separation, worked out Wednesday but was unable to shoot hard. A team spokesman said a decision on Ullman's availability would be made later today.

Bergman, who suffered a chipped bone when struck by one of Bobby Hall's shots in a game with Chicago Sunday, still couldn't put his swollen foot into his skate boot.

The Wings, who had won three games against expansion clubs on their way to the division lead, play three more against Toronto and the Toronto game, starting with the St. Louis Blues in St. Louis Saturday.

Purdue Runner Leads Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Leroy Keyes of Purdue has taken over the scoring lead among the nation's major college football players, the latest statistics disclosed Wednesday.

Keyes scored four touchdowns in the Boilermakers' 41-22 victory over Iowa last Saturday, increasing his point total to 72. This is 12 more than Rick Eber of Tulsa and Butch Colson of East Carolina, who are tied for second.

Gay Brewer Hot in Hawaii Tuneup

HONOLULU (AP) — Gay Brewer carried pro-amateur honors into today's start of the $100,000 Hawaiian Open golf tournament at his favorite course.

Brewer carded a 69 that included a 32 on the back nine Wednesday of the 7,000-yard par-72 Waialae course. He won the first Hawaiian Open over the course in 1965 and last year tied with Billy Casper for second place.

"I'm ready to give it my best shots," he said after he had recorded a 69 that included a 32 on the back nine.

Eskimos End Campaign

EDMONTON (AP) — The Edmonton Eskimos came from behind with three touchdowns in the final period and whipped the Winnipeg Blue Bombers 24-8 Wednesday night in a Canadian Football League game. The victory gave the Eskimos a final regular season record of 9-6-1.

Hoopie Message Bad for Three Top Teams

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

Father of the Belly Series

Egad, friends, would you believe that only this Saturday there will be only 41 shopping days until Christmas? I trust —ask-tsk—Santa has passed the word to my millions of adherents that I don't need any ties this yuletide!

At last count your favorite correspondent had enough handsome cravats to take care of his needs for the next 18 years, seven months and 14 days—um-kumph!

But enough of this chit-chat and back to the important business of piggins prognosticating.

As the football season turns the corner and starts down the homestretch we have some tasty tidbits for you.

In a game that has a definite bearing on the national rankings, undefeated UCLA will entertain the rugged Oregon State Beavers, who pulled off one of the upsets of the year when they stopped Purdue two weeks back.

We look for the State lads to prove that was no fluke as they top the Uclans, 13-6—kaff-kaff!

For those of you who would scoff at such a daring prediction as that, permit me to remind you it was the Hoople System that gave you the Tennessee Vols to end Alabama's 26-game unbeaten string and then followed that by picking the exact score by which the Vols beat L.S.U. — 17-14 — har-rumph!

Two other Hoople selections that will raise some eyebrows are Oklahoma to whip Colorado, 22-20, and Georgia's Bulldogs to outscore Houston in a close N.C. State 32, Virginia 22 one, 24-22. Believe me, fans, So. Carolina 24, Wake Forest 9 that's what's in the cards for those two thrilling contests.

In a pair of traditional battles that always bring out the best in the contestants, we foresee Southern California taking the neighboring California Bears, 29-10, and Ole Miss climbing up in the ratings by whipping a strong L.S.U. eleven, 27-18.

Now on with the forecast: Michigan 21, Northwestern 16 Army 28, Air Force 7 Arizona 25, New Mexico 12 Arkansas 18, Texas A&M 10 Auburn 21, Florida 14 Baylor 31, T.C.U. 18 So. ## League Rivals of Tomahawks Sign Players

The Lansing Capitals of the North American Basketball League have signed forward Bill Curtis, formerly of Michigan State University, to a contract for the coming season.

The Pontiac Tomahawks, in the NABL's eastern division along with Lansing, will meet the Capitals for the first time Thanksgiving Day in Lansing.

Lansing is also talking trade with Grand Rapids regarding ex-Capitol and MSU star Star Washington, whom the Tomahawks have suspended.

The Tomahawks' foes in their NABL debut Nov. 11, the Holland d Carvers, have come to terms with flashy forward Bob James.

A six-year veteran of the NABL and his predecessor the Midwest League, James is an aggressive 6'3 forward whose style plays him a crowd pleaser.

Midget Lakers in Grid Victory

Bobcats Fall, 51-0, to Lakeland Squad

The Lakeland Lakers and the weatherman combined to snap the Waterford Bobcats' 49-game victory string in midget football with a deluge Wednesday night at Wisnor Stadium.

Playing in a steady, soaking rain, Lakeland swamped the Bobcats with an eight-touchdown spree for a 51-0 victory.

Tim Simon's four touchdowns spun sparked the onslaught. Pat Saffron, Jim Panaretos, Todd Glover and Ray Emsley added six-pointers. Emsley and Herb Cooley shared the signal calling for the unbeaten Lakers.

Soccer Players Fear for Safety

LONDON (AP) — Glasgow Celtic will call off Saturday's World Cup Soccer playoff in Montevideo unless they get guarantees for their players' safety, British soccer correspondents reported today.

Celtic's goalkeeper Ronnie Simpson was felled by a bottle just before the kickoff of Wednesday night's second leg match with Racing of Buenos Aires. Racing won 2-1 to tie the series at one-game each.

SWAMI ASSOCIATION OF THE GRAPEVINE

Well friends of the Swami Association, while Swami Spears continues to pull away the gaps gets closer among the three other challengers.

There's another great schedule this week and the Swamis are divided on their selections between Clarkson-Milford, Almont-Dryden, OLSM-St. Thomas, Mississippi-LSU, Florida State-Memphis State, Cards-Redskins, but solid on the Wolverines, Spartans, Lions and Firebirds.

MSU Indoors; Michigan Works in Rain

From Our Wire Service
EAST LANSING — Rain forced the Michigan State Spartans indoors for the second day in a row Wednesday as they practiced for the upcoming Big Ten meeting with Ohio State.

Coach Duffy Daugherty had his regular quarterback, Jimmy Raye, back in the lineup for the workout and said he would most likely start Saturday.

Wolverine middle guard Dennis Monthei was listed as out of the Minnesota game two weeks ago for the season after undergoing an operation for torn cartilage in his knee.

WOLVERINES SPLASH
The University of Michigan Wolverines practiced for two hours in a steady rain Wednesday at the Big Ten indoor practice facility.

Michigan's defense was stressed with coach Murray Warmath predicting that Iowa will do a lot of passing whether Podolak or sophomore Mike Citek is at quarterback.

Northwestern — Junior halfback Denny White is assigned to police Michigan's ace pass catcher, Jim Bertine. White tops the Big Ten in breaking up passes with seven.

Illinois — Speedy halfback Dave Jackson left the hospital Wednesday after treatment for a high fever. He is expected to be ready Saturday.

Indiana — After being forced to drill for the second straight day indoors because of rain, coach John Pont expressed concern in maintaining sharpness for Wisconsin.

Wisconsin — Coach John Goalt said his team will be 100 percent ready physically for Saturday.

Ohio State — The Buckeyes worked inside and coach Woody Hayes said, "We couldn't put forced indoors by rain, concentrated on running plays for Illinois."

Notre Dame—Coach Ara Parseghian warned his squad that Navy has a flexible offense and a quick-hitting defense, and that the Midwestern match, Notre Dame's 4-2 record. Rain washed out the scheduled freshman game Wednesday between the Irish and Michigan State.

Atlanta Favors Milwaukee Bid

ATLANTA (AP) — A top Atlanta baseball official says he has an open mind and no prejudice against Milwaukee being included in National League expansion plans even though the Wisconsin city bitterly opposed moving the Braves' franchise to Georgia.

William C. Bartholomay would cast the Braves' lone vote if the league decides to expand, even though that vote involved Milwaukee, San Diego, Calif., Dallas-Fort Worth, Tex., and Milwaukee are cities listed prominently in expansion speculation.

Possible expansion to 12 cities from the present 10 will be discussed when league owners meet Nov. 13 in Chicago.

Regarding Milwaukee, Bartholomay told the Atlanta Journal, "The Braves' official position is that no emotions at all will affect our decision. Bygones are bygones as far as that case goes." He added that he might vote for Milwaukee "if their case is the soundest."

Bartholomay said that in his opinion the best plan would be to attend the Chicago meeting "with an open mind," with no prejudices and waving no banners for any certain city.

He said Honolulu and Montreal, among other cities, have contacted him regarding consideration for a National League franchise. He said, however, he has not heard from the Milwaukee group attempting to obtain another franchise.

Sal Loses Bosox Job

Maglie Blasts Williams

BOSTON — Deposed Boston Red Sox pitching coach Sal Maglie has blasted Manager Dick Williams on several counts, in Niagara Falls, N.Y., where including claims that Williams is in a position of using poor judgment in the use of a neck injury suffered in an automobile accident in Buffalo later lacked "the courage or decency to tell me I was fired."

The usually quiet Maglie made his comments in a telephone interview published in the Boston Herald Traveler.

HURLER POUNDED
Maglie said Williams "never listened to me," including during the seventh World Series game when Boston right-hander Jim Lonborg was pounded by the victorious St. Louis Cardinals before being relieved.

"It was obvious Lonborg didn't have it. Williams should have gotten him out sooner, and I told him so. It was a crime that he let a man who'd done such a great job for him all season take a pounding like that. It was degrading," Maglie said.

As for his own situation, Maglie said Williams told him after the last Series game, "I'll be talking to you."

"I'm still waiting," the former pitching great said. "He's never had the courage or decency to tell me I was fired."

Warriors Meet Divine Child

Brother Rice in Soup Bowl Clash

The best football season in the history of Birmingham Soup Bowl, at Titan Stadium. Brother Rice approaches an uncertain climax with the Warriors riding the surge of a six-game winning streak.

Brother Rice will tangle with Dearborn Divine Child Friday night in its initial appearance in the Detroit Catholic League's annual championship game, the story of Birmingham Soup Bowl, at Titan Stadium.

Both teams will enter the game with 6-1 records and an exciting backfield performer. The Warriors' lone loss came in the season opener against U of D. High School, 147, when these shortcomings were convincingly corrected.

Since then the Central Division co-ops have powered to a ninth-place rating in the weekly Associated Press state Class A poll.

STINGY DEFENSE
The Warriors' six-game victory string has seen them yield the most exciting runner in the only four touchdowns and just two in the last five starts. A But Brother Rice has a stand-out victory over Divine Child would quarterback in Bill Rose who sent them into the Goodfellow is the Warriors' offensive cornerstone. When he isn't passing for big yardage to Pat Lynch or Dave Kreuz, the 175-pound senior is darting around and out of the grasp of defensive linemen on running plays.

The Warriors won only two games in their first three seasons, but they have had the victory machine in high gear the last two years posting six wins each fall and need just one more triumph tomorrow in the choral as the United States Soup Bowl to set a memorable goodwill ambassador of tennis school record.

Mrs. King Nets Tough Triumph in Argentina
BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Mrs. Billie Jean King continued her more triumph tomorrow in the choral as the United States Soup Bowl to set a memorable goodwill ambassador of tennis school record.

Mrs. King of Long Beach, Calif., winner of the Wimbledon and U.S. National titles this year, advanced to the semifinal round on the basis of a tough Wednesday over Francoise Durr of France.

The U.S. split its representation in two men's singles championship, are the American quarterfinal matches as Cliff Canham of Dallas, eliminated team statistically, according to Pinto Bayo of Chile 6-4, 6-2, 9-7, figures released Wednesday.

The Jets are second in both wood, Ohio, dropped a 6-3, 6-2, team offense and defense, averaging 379.6 yards a game and Okker on the rain-swept surface limiting their opponents to an average of 225.4.

Death Claims Supervisor of County Stores

Elvis S. Shinkard, Central Stores Supervisor for Oakland County, died yesterday. Shinkard, 61, of 6135 Paramus, Independence Township, was 41.

Surviving besides his wife, Velma, are his mother, Mrs. Jewel Shinkard; a daughter, Mrs. Arnold L. Taylor both of Clarkston; a son, Gary W., at home; three sisters, including Mrs. Harold Wilson and Mrs. Adrian Holcombe, both of Clarkston; and a brother, Dempsey O. of Clarkston.

Shinkard began working for the county in 1951 as a storekeeper.

As Central Stores Supervisor, he was in charge of distributing food and clothing to county agencies such as the sanatorium, jail and children's center.

Shinkard was past worshipful master of Austin Lodge No. 48 F&AM, Davisburg; past associate-gatekeeper of Jobs Daughters Bethel No. 25, Clarkston; and worthy patron of the Order of the Eastern Star No. 396, Davisburg.

Sale of Land Fund Said in 'Good Shape'

At least one city fund is in good shape despite a general financial pinch, Pontiac Finance Director Edward R. Gallagher reports.

Gallagher said the sale of land fund with an unappropriated surplus as of Sept. 30 of $266,039 is relatively liquid and can be used for land acquisitions of modest size.

Principal transactions from January included liquidation of a land contract with a resultant increase in cash over the year from $3,000 to $155,000.

The city also sold 13 acres of land north of Columbia and west of Cloverlawn for $36,300 for development of apartments. Other minor pieces were sold.

The city bought a five-acre piece for the western extension of West Columbia for $18,756. Police and city leaders in Washington, D.C., Nov. 17.

The conferences, recommended by President Johnson's Commission on Civil Disorders and financed by the Justice Department, will deal with techniques for controlling and preventing riots.

Hospital Staff Woes Blamed on Fund Cut

Pontiac State Hospital's medical superintendent says gross employee shortages cited in a petition signed by 340 employees is a result of a cutback in funds from the State Legislature.

The employees urged alleviation of the shortage in the petition presented to Supt. Dr. Donald W. Martin yesterday.

Attendant Harry Dunigan, who collected the signatures, said the petition was mailed to state senators and representatives and organizations involved in mental health.

"(A shortage) results in a steady decline in morale and a lack of enthusiasm to come to a job where management apparently doesn't care about the shortage and does not have physical contact with hostile combative patients," the petition said.

Martin reiterated that staffing has been inadequate for years, but he pointed out that it is worse this year.

42 JOBS ELIMINATED

"Forty-two attendant nursing positions were eliminated this year because the legislature only gave us $6.8 million for salaries and wages," Martin remarked.

"We would have needed $400,000 more to continue at last year's operational level plus taking into account a 7 per cent pay raise for employees. We more money before the new fiscal year," Martin said.

PONTIAC SOLDIER — Spec. 5 Herbert C. Donaldson Jr., of 58 Myra died Sunday while on an evacuation mission in Vietnam.

Donaldson, a medic with the helicopter ambulances known as "dustoffs," was killed on a mission when his helicopter crashed after an apparent mechanical failure.

City Police Chief Will Serve on National Panel

Pontiac Police Chief William K. Hanger is one of two Michigan police officials named to serve on a 13-member national panel which will plan a series of conferences on civil disorders.

Hanger and Col. Frederick E. Davids, director of the State Police, will meet with other police and city leaders in Washington, D.C., Nov. 17.

The conferences, recommended by President Johnson's Commission on Civil Disorders and financed by the Justice Department, will deal with techniques for controlling and preventing riots.

At best, the superintendent figures his staff is two-thirds adequate. The hospital is allocated 512 nursing personnel jobs — a result of a cutback in funds from the State Legislature.

The employees urged alleviation of the shortage in the petition presented to Supt. Dr. Donald W. Martin yesterday.

Attendant Harry Dunigan, who collected the signatures, said the petition was mailed to state senators and representatives and organizations involved in mental health.

Knife-Wielder Robs Woman

A woman shopper at Miracle Mile Shopping Center, Bloomfield Township, yesterday reported to police that she had been held up by a knife-wielding purse snatcher.

Mrs. Dorothy Richmond, 51, of Sterling Township, told Bloomfield Township Police the purse snatcher, who was wearing a bandana around his head, entered her car in the parking lot, a male Negro, in his 30s, about 5 foot 10 and wearing a bandana around his head, entered from the passenger side.

She told officers he pulled a knife about 12 inches long and demanded her purse. He then fled.

A search by township police aided by Pontiac City police failed to turn up either the suspect or the purse, according to Sgt. Lyle Howard of the Bloomfield Township Police Department.

Zoning Advised Disputes at 12 Ford Locals Put Strike in 57th Day

Planning commissioners last night recommended approval of two rezoning requests which would lead to construction of 210 new apartment units.

A rezoning recommended for approval on a 12-acre site north of University, east of Eberhart and Kettering and south of Baltimore would see development of 170 apartments.

The commission withheld approving a site plan for the development pending some changes.

The planning commission did give site plan approval to a planned 34-unit apartment complex on W. Kennett at Carlyle. Rezoning was not necessary.

In other action, the commission recommended rezoning for construction of a neighborhood grocery store at southeast corner of Telegraph and Hazel and a beauty shop-barbershop at the northeast corner of Baldwin and Hamilton.

Also approved was personal service zoning for four lots on the south side of West Huron in east of Chicago, with one of the lots to be a dentist's office, and a building expansion for the Assembly of God Church, Perry at West Wide Track, which plans to add 16 feet to its building.

TV Sets Stolen From School

Three portable television sets valued at more than $400 were stolen from the Whittier School, 6000 Motor, it was reported to Pontiac police yesterday.

A custodian told officers the sets were taken from three separate rooms which were entered by smashing out the glass in each room's door.

Investigators said the building was entered through an unlocked window.

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers' strike against use of overtime continues.

Both companies issued their reports without comment. Chrysler also has been accused by the union earlier of taking advantage of the strike against Ford to increase its share of the automotive market. Chrysler denied it.

Latest of the UAW locals to settle on local issues was Local 723 representing about 1,600 UAW members at Ford's key Monroe, parts plant. A ratification meeting is set for noon today.

A union spokesman refused to speculate on when all workers could return to their jobs and production resume. "At the pace they're going, I would think it would be in a week's time," he said. "But the pace could quicken."

TECHNICALLY ON STRIKE

The union, which called a walkout at midnight Sept. 6 in search of a pattern-setting national contract for the industry, is still technically on strike.

Ford has called back to work some 20,000 of the 160,000 UAW members who walked off their jobs in the strike.

But a company spokesman said production can't resume until all or virtually all plants are ready to resume operations due to the highly integrated nature of the production process.

Meanwhile, General Motors and Chrysler announced October production figures in the wake of a union warning to GM not to use extra overtime to stockpile cars against a possible nationwide strike against the giant auto maker.

The union said 21 of GM's 23 assembly plants operated on overtime Saturday and said local strikes might be authorized if requirements for the proposed facilities.

Boys' Club Unit Picks City Man

Pontiac druggist Howard L. Dell was elected chairman of the Michigan Area Council of the Boys' Clubs of America at a recent council meeting at Eastern Michigan University.

Dell, owner of Pharmacy, 219 Baldwin, served two years as president of the Pontiac Boys' Club and as treasurer and vice chairman of the area council. He was the recipient of the national Man and Boy award given for outstanding service to youth.

Dell will be coordinating the national and state programs with the local Boys' Clubs in the state.

He commented: "The greatest need today in Boys' Clubs is for a qualified staff. There are just not enough trained people available for the tremendous job that must be done. The day is long gone when a man with only good intentions and little training can handle the complex problems of running an on-going Boys' Club program."

County Unit Gets Report on Morgue Need

A report was submitted to an Oakland County Board of Supervisors committee yesterday that indicates a growing need for a county morgue facility.

Dr. Bernard Berman, health department director, gave the report to the law enforcement committee. The group is considering recommendations for a morgue and crime lab in the jail to be built at the County Service Center.

Dr. Berman's report showed that since 1954, county deaths requiring a medical examiner increased from 32 to a year to 1,204. In this time, deaths requiring an autopsy went from 63 to 410.

Autopsies currently are performed at area hospitals. This work is done on a low-priority basis, Dr. Berman said, because doctors feel their first responsibility is toward their own hospital's patients.

He explained the subsequent delay was sometimes detrimental to law enforcement in the cases of homicide.

Also at the meeting were police chiefs from several communities who offered suggestions on a county crime lab.

The committee will later offer recommendations as to space requirements in the new building for the proposed facilities.

Man, 38, Run Over by Car in City Lot

A 38-year-old Pontiac man run over by a car in a city parking lot yesterday is reported in satisfactory condition today in Pontiac General Hospital.

Police said Joseph Wells, 60 N. Roselawn was injured when a car driven by Lynn Hardy Medcalf, 45, of 37 W. Cornell ran over him in the lot at 22 E. Kennett about 5:30 p.m.

Medcalf was held for questioning last night and the incident is under investigation, according to police.

Nerve Stimulation Will Cure Hiccups

A remedy for hiccups—usually a minor matter but sometimes fatal when uncontrolled—really works, but it should be used only by physicians, the Journal of the American Medical Association says.

The treatment involves inserting a flexible tube through a nostril and stimulating the pharyngeal nerves at the back of the mouth where nasal passages join the throat.

Home remedies such as swallowing ice or water are also ineffective because they also stimulate these nerves.

Dietary fats consumed in excess are believed to cause heart disease and deafness as well as the minute arteries nourishing the ear become clogged and hardened from fats in the blood.

4-Car Crash in Dixie Kills 7, Injures 5

BAY ST. LOUIS, Miss. (UPI) -

A car loaded with young persons sideswiped two vehicles and slammed into a station wagon on U.S. 90 near the Mississippi-Louisiana line yesterday, killing seven persons and injuring five others.

The dead included four of the youths and three members of a New Orleans family. Three children in the family were seriously hurt.

Killed were Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Nienaber and their daughter, Irene, 14; of New Orleans; Archie Thomas, 23, Waveland, Miss.; Richard C. Burton, 24, Pearlburg, Miss.; Wilbert Williams, 19, and his brother Ralph E. Williams, 14, of Bay St. Louis.

Three of Nienaber's daughters, Cynthia, 14, Carol, 9, and Theresa, 6, were injured, along with another passenger in the station wagon, Michael Trejal, 15, also of New Orleans. Larry Christmas, of Pearlburg, an occupant of the youths' car, also was hurt.

Police said the car containing the young people sideswiped a car driven by Charles Seber, 65, Metairie, La., who was not injured, and careened into another car driven by Philip Schuyler, 28, a sailor en route from California to Oceana, Va., with his wife and two children. The Schuylers were not hurt.

The out-of-control car glanced off the Schuyler vehicle and crashed head-on into the oncoming station wagon.

Surgery Waits for a Reunion

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) -

Henry Glenn was told several weeks ago that he should undergo surgery for the removal of his right arm because of cancer. But until after Wednesday, Nov. 1, he said, "I have a feeling that my son will be home."

His son, David, telephoned Tuesday night from San Francisco that he was en route home from Vietnam on a brief leave. Father and son met at Charlotte airport Wednesday. Now, their hands gripped, "That's what I wanted," said the elder Glenn. "I wanted to shake hands with my son."

Glenn, a carpenter, planned to check into Charlotte Memorial Hospital today.

Parley Target: Lake Pollution

CHICAGO (AP) - Attorneys

general from Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin will meet here Friday to join legal forces against the pollution of Lake Michigan.

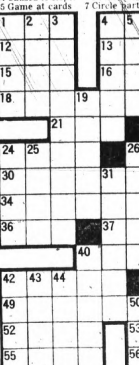

Atty. Gen. William Clark of Illinois, host to Bronson LaFollette of Wisconsin, Frank J. Kelley of Michigan and John J. Delaney of Indiana said "It would seem greatly more effective if the legal powers of these four states united their efforts against pollution wherever it exists."

Clark said "It does not make sense to begin long legal battles between the states bordering Lake Michigan. We learned from the exhaustive Lake Michigan water diversion suits that everybody loses in terms of time, money and legal effort."

Waterford Board Adopts a $1.43-Million Budget

By HUDSON WILLSE Jr.
A revised $1,431,117 budget for 1968 was adopted last night by the Waterford Township Board, which managed to meet the Nov. 1 budget approval deadline by just a few hours.

The township property tax rate for next year was set at $9.23 per $1,000 assessed valuation as equalized. The tax rate this year was $8.21.

The over-all tax rate, including schools and county, will be $96.74 for 1968 compared with $96.03 this year. Tax bills will be mailed next month.

Township receipts next year are estimated at $1,427,928. This includes $562,178 from the local tax levy, $445,000 from the state sales tax and $110,000 from the new state income tax.

The six board members present at last night's public hearing voted to approve the budget which had been changed three times by Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson.

DID NOT ATTEND

Democratic Trustee Robert E. Richmond, who has been critical of the budget for numerous reasons, did not attend the meeting.

The public hearing began Monday night, but was recessed for further discussion among the board, department heads and representatives of township employes unions.

The major change in the budget approved last night as compared to the $1,410,617 budget proposed Monday night was the placing of $20,000 in a reserve fund to finance additional estimated wage increase for township employes.

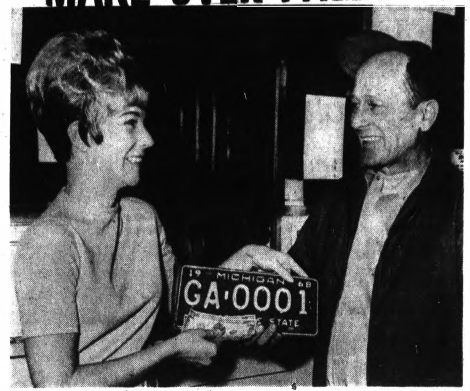

The estimated balance at the end of 1968 was reduced from $107,730 to $87,230.

$800 WAGE HIKE

The additional $6,000 laid aside for the police department would amount to a wage increase next year of $800 per man instead of $600.

With an additional $4,600, firemen would receive an across-the-board pay hike of $600 per man instead of $480.

Safety Course Mandatory

Boat Law Cited

By DON VOGEL

Pontiac Press Outdoor Editor

Nearly 15,000 youngsters in Oakland County are expected to take an extra course in school before the lakes re-open to boating next spring.

They will be complying with one of several key provisions of Michigan's new marine safety law that goes into effect Jan. 1, 1968.

Youths between 12 and 16 must take and pass a state-approved course in safe boating before they can operate a motorboat of six horsepower or more without adult supervision.

Otherwise, they will have to be accompanied by a person at least 16 years old. Youngsters less than 12 must be accompanied by an adult all times under the six-horsepower rule.

The water safety division of the Oakland County sheriff's department is preparing to teach the required course at public, parochial and private schools in the county.

"We plan to start offering the course in junior and senior high schools the first week in January," said L. Donald Kratt, director of the safety division.

Drizzle Will Stop but May Return

Pontiac area residents should be thankful for the intermittent rain or drizzle that's expected to end today.

A year ago today the weatherman surprised the community by dumping five inches of snow on the area.

There's a chance of rain late tomorrow, and warmer with rain is the forecast for Saturday.

Temperatures will be a little cooler tonight, the low near 40. Southwesterly winds at 10 to 18 miles per hour will shift to northerly tonight.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today and tonight 50, tomorrow 40. The low in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 45. The sunshine had warmed the area to 52 by 1 p.m.

"The class work should be completed by April."

FIVE HOURS

The students will receive five hours of instruction — one hour per day for five days. They will be tested the final day and a certificate will be issued to those who pass.

This certificate must be carried while operating the boat when not accompanied by an adult.

"We hope that all school districts will cooperate on this," said Kratt. He is attempting to arrange a meeting with superintendents later this month.

If arrangements can be made with all systems, the deputies will teach classes in nearly 140 junior and senior high schools.

40-STUDENT LIMIT
"Each class will be limited to 40 students and those participating must furnish written permission from the parents or guardians," Kratt said.

There nearly 67,000 registered watercraft in Oakland County.

Johnson Blasts Congress on Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, accusing Congress of "taking the inaction route," says its refusal to approve his proposed income tax hike already is costing Americans by feeding inflation.

At a hurriedly called news conference yesterday in the White House Cabinet Room, Johnson touched on topics ranging from Vietnam to the stock market but time and again came back to the theme that things are not going his way in Congress.

Later, this prompted Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., to suggest the President should look to his own party.

With a heavy majority in both House and Senate, "the Democrats must take the blame or credit for what is done or not done," Mundt said.

Asked about his high-priority request for a tax increase, the President said he is "plugging for it, but that its fate rests with the House Ways and Means Committee."

'WILL COST LESS'

"We think that it will cost the American people much less by taking the tax route that we have suggested than by taking the inaction route that is now being followed," he said.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield responded to the prodding by pledging, "We'll do our best to give him what he wants."

Mansfield said he agrees with the President that Congress should stay in session until it passes a tax-increase bill.

Open-Housing Bill for State Introduced

LANSING (AP)—An open occupancy bill, permitting $2,000 fines against real estate dealers and damages up to $500 from private individuals was introduced in the House yesterday by Speaker Robert Waldron as the principal sponsor.

The bill was referred to the House Civil Rights Committee.

Waldron, R-Grasse Pointe, said he did not know when the House would take it up.

Two other Republicans and 13 Democrats, including House Minority Leader William Ryan, D-Detroit, joined Waldron in sponsoring the bill.

The bill includes a substantial list of actions which it would define as unfair housing practices and provides remedies for victims of such practices.

COULD BE FINED

The State Civil Rights commission could fine a real estate dealer or financial institution $1,000 the first time it was found to have engaged in such a practice and $2,000 for a subsequent violation of the bill.

An individual could not be fined by the commission, but could be required to pay up to $500 in damages to the complainant.

Exempted from the bill would be transactions involving duplexes in which the owner lives and rental of rooms in a family home, transactions not publicly advertised, and cases in which religious organizations give preference to members of the same religion.

A person named in a complaint which later was dismissed would be able to sue the state for damages and costs.

Embalmer's Eye Saves 'Dead' GI

WASHINGTON (AP) — A young American soldier, pronounced dead of booby-trap wounds, showed signs of life while under the knife of a U.S. Army embalmer in Vietnam and now is recovering at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

Spec. 4 Jacky C. Bayne, 22, of Fort Mill, S.C., was pronounced dead near Chu Lai last July 16 after doctors had worked for 45 minutes trying resuscitation.

His seemingly lifeless body was sent to an Army graves-registration section nearby and it was sometime later — no one knows exactly how long — when the embalmer's knife made its first incision.

There was a faint flicker of life, and Bayne was rushed back to a field hospital. After more resuscitation and numerous blood transfusions there were other signs of life.

Today, more than three months later, Bayne is moving toward at least limited recovery at Walter Reed.

DOCTORS AMAZED

Army doctors at Walter Reed call the Bayne story "amazing" and "astounding." No doctor interviewed could recall such a case before.

An official spokesman at the hospital emphasized that the Bayne case is a medical rarity and should cause no worry to relatives of men fighting in Vietnam.

"Every effort," said the hospital spokesman, "is made to apply resuscitative measures whenever there is any hope of saving a patient."

In the Bayne case, all these signs of death were apparent. "By all the accepted criteria he was dead," said one Army doctor.

ROBBERY SUSPECT

Area Police Still Hunt Bank Robber

Area law enforcement agencies are continuing the search for the man who held up the main office of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Bank in Birmingham Friday and escaped with about $8,600.

The man, described as white, about 30, with a slender build, light brown hair and a rough face, entered the bank about 3:20 p.m. and demanded cash at gunpoint from two of five women on duty.

He was believed to have fled in a 1962 or 1963 Chevrolet with out-of-state license plates.

TOOK TWO MINUTES

The robbery, which took place in about two minutes according to bank President S. Tenney McGraw, was the first in the bank's seven-year history.

Witnesses' descriptions were used in a composite drawing made for the Birmingham Police Department.

GM Reorganization Revealed

General Motors Corp., the world's largest manufacturing firm, yesterday announced a reorganization of the giant auto making company. Several executive promotions of area men also were announced.

The firm's operating divisions have been discontinued and divided into two groups.

ROGER M. KYES

SEMON K. KNUDSEN

The first, to be known as the car and truck, body and assembly, automotive components group, will be headed by Roger M. Kyes, executive vice president, Kyes of 945 Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills, will report directly to new GM President Edward N. Cole.

The second group, called overseas,

Canadian, nonautomotive and defense, will be under Semon K. Knudsen, executive vice president. Knudsen of 31500 Bingham, Bingham Farms, will report directly to Board Chairman James M. Roche.

Delco Moraine, Inland, Manufacturing and Packard Electric Divisions, formerly part of the Dayton, household appliance and engine group, will become part of the automotive components group.

OTHER PROMOTIONS

Other executive promotions include Philip J. Monaghan of 940 Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills, appointed group executive in charge of body and assembly divisions group.

Vice President Monaghan, who has been in charge of the former Dayton household appliance and engine group, will continue as a member of the administration committee. Monaghan was general manager of GMC Truck and Coach Division here from 1953 to 1959.

Vice President Harold G. Warner of 1865 Rathmore, Bloomfield Hills, was appointed group executive in charge of the car and truck group. Formerly in charge of the body and assembly group, (Continued on Page A-2, Col. 3).

Jobs Program to Be Presented

A program aimed at creating more jobs for the hard core unemployed and getting more mileage out of training programs will be presented to some 80 Pontiac area employers at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday at Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills.

Sponsoring the unusual session is the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce. Much of the impetus for a community-wide approach to unemployment and training has come from Operation Opportunity at Pontiac Motor Division.

Operation Opportunity is a program whereby Pontiac Motor and the Pontiac Area Urban League have jointly worked to provide job opportunities for persons, primarily in Negro neighborhoods, who were previously classified as unemployable.

Edward E. Barker Jr., president of Pontiac State Bank, heads the program committee.

Program speakers will include Barker, Merrill Walls, director of the Pontiac Branch of Michigan Employment Security Commission; Edward Revis, director of the neighborhood youth corps program for the Oakland County Commission of Economic Opportunity; Gary P. Drew, labor relations representative for Pontiac Motor Division; Mansfield Samples, chairman of the follow-up committee for Operation Opportunity; and Kenneth Huffman, supervisor of apprentice and manpower programs for the Pontiac School District.

Antipoverty Official Cites Value of Hiring Two Negro Militants

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Houston antipoverty worker credits the hiring of Negro militants under a federally financed program with heading off a racial crisis in the Texas city last summer.

But the chairman of a Senate panel probing U.S. riots suggested such a move amounted to "paying off" dissatisfied Negroes just to obey the law.

The executive committee of the Senate subcommittee continued its Senate-ordered probe of the causes of Negro riots.

Samuel L. Price, a Negro and a deputy director of the Harris County Community Action Association, told the panel that the program — called Project Go and paid for with $600,000 in federal funds — was organized in the month after a riot at Texas Southern University in Houston. Officials from Texas Southern were to testify today.

Among those hired, said Price, were two men under indictment for the slaying of a policeman during the May 16 uprising at the state's largest Negro university.

Establishment of Project Go represented a policy decision by city and poverty officials "to actively involve the dissenters, the agitators, troublemakers, and the militants in constructive activities," he said, adding that such persons were among 691 persons hired and put to work on a variety of community jobs at $1.40 to $2 an hour.

"How did it work out?" asked Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

"GAMBLED AND WON" "Perfectly well," Price replied. "We gambled and won. You think the $600,000 spent contributed to peace and preventing further violence?" asked Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

"I know it did," said Price. Then McClellan asked if the poverty worker if he advocated a national program of hiring Negro agitators, in effect "paying off" Negroes for not violating the law.

"MUST BE A PART" Price said he didn't. Then he added: "We are going to have to create a climate where these people can work and feel they are an integral part of society."

Price further testified that the "conservative element" in Houston put pressure on the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington and forced the latter to send the Negro militants to work in the city.

The East Lansing Democratic Club passed resolutions which came just one step short of the resignation of Secretary of State Dean Rusk and an open party convention in 1968 committed to any candidate for President.

Ferency, who has been under heavy fire from the club state Democrats for his anti-Johnson comments, led the club in passing the resolutions.

About 50 members, many of them intellectuals and academicians from nearby Michigan State University, unanimously endorsed the resolutions.

"The secretary of state has repeatedly admitted that he has been altogether unsuccessful in bringing about diplomatic negotiations or otherwise bringing hostilities to an end in Vietnam," the resolutions stated.

"MORE OBJECTIVE VIEW" Therefore, "Be it resolved that the East Lansing Democratic Club joins Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., and Zoltan Ferency in urging . . . Dean Rusk to resign as soon as possible," it continued.

Wider Probe Covers 12 Children's Deaths

ARCADIA, Fla. (AP) — The investigation into the poisoning of seven children broadened today as authorities held an inquest in Arcadia and studied records in Jacksonville to determine how 12 of a fruit picker's 15 children died.

Sheriff Frank Cline, who jailed the children's father—

Seven of Richardson's children, ranging in age from 2 to 8, died last week after eating pork and beans that Cline said had been laced with parathion, a deadly poison sometimes used as an agricultural pesticide.

Cline and County Judge Gordon Hays said Wednesday they had enough evidence "to file murder charges against Richardson," but agreed to convene a coroner's jury at the request of State Atty. Frank Schaub.

At a news conference, Cline said Richardson was "motivated by a remuneration for life insurance," Richardson took out $1,000 double indemnity life insurance policies the night before the children were stricken, Cline said.

FATHER OF 15 Cline said he did not know how the Richardson children died in Jacksonville, where Richardson lived until 1961, but had information indicating they died mysteriously. Cline said that, by Richardson's "own account, he is the father of at least 15 children, and 12 of these are now dead."

REGAIN STRENGTH The pontiff went back to bed to rest and regain strength for the operation, and his doctors found him strong enough Wednesday to make a brief appearance at the window of his apartment.

4 Shots Miss Congressman

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Four rapidly fired shots missed U.S. Rep. John Rarick, D-La., candidate for governor in Saturday's Democratic primary, today.

Police began a search for three, possibly four men, in a black compact car from which the shots were fired.

Rarick had been at a television station WWL-TV preparing a message for use in the final days of the campaign.

The shots were fired as the 43-year-old congressman, his wife, and Executive Assistant Neal Edwards returned to their hotel in the French quarter and left their car in the garage.

NO ONE INJURED Edwards said that when the first shot was heard, the group either fell down or ran between cars parked in the garage. No one was injured. One shot chipped part of the garage.

Four Science Programs Due to Start at Institute

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Four morning science programs at the Cranbrook Institute of Science for children in grades 4-6 will begin this Saturday.

The four programs — "Our Changing Earth," "Fish and Their Characteristics," "Introducing South America," and "What is an Invertebrate Animal" — will be held at 9 and 10:30 a.m. on each Saturday in November in the Cranbrook School Auditorium, said instructor Martha Schaefer.

Color motion pictures, demonstrations and the use of museum specimens will be included in the sessions, she said. Students are welcome to bring personal collections for display.

Student members of the institute will be admitted free with nonmembers being charged 50 cents.

The Institute is at 500 Leno Pine.

A curriculum conference on sex education for principals, teachers, administrators and school board members from several Michigan and Ohio schools will be held on Nov. 11 and 18 in the Cranbrook School Auditorium with sessions beginning at 9 a.m.

Dr. Richard Hettlinger, author of the book "Living with Sex: The Student Dilemma," and a professor of religion at Kenyon College in Ohio, will be the keynote speaker on Nov. 11.

Three general areas will be

U.S. Viet Toll Dips for Week

SAIGON (AP) — The number of Americans killed in action last week in the Vietnam war dropped slightly while those of South Vietnamese and other allied forces climbed sharply. Enemy casualties were reported lower.

In its weekly summary issued today, the U.S. Command said 166 Americans were killed, 966 wounded and 14 missing or captured. A week earlier there had been 193 killed, 949 wounded and seven missing. Of those wounded last week, 419 did not require hospitalization, the command said.

South Vietnamese military headquarters listed government losses last week at 229 men killed, 693 wounded and 41 missing. This was a marked increase over the 81 dead, 355 wounded and two missing reported for the previous seven-day period.

Other allied casualties were put at 60 killed, 120 wounded and none missing last week. This was the highest weekly toll listed for these forces so far in the war. A week earlier these forces had seven killed and 23 wounded.

Expenses at Vegas Confab Eyed

Sheriff in State Faces Probe

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Wash-ton County Sheriff Douglas Harvey was to be subpoenaed for his testimony on his spending of an estimated $450 of county money on a June trip to Las Vegas to attend a sheriffs' convention. Harvey's appearance before the county board of supervisors was scheduled after County Prosecutor William Delhey said he had the trip investigated. Delhey, who said he made the investigation on the request of unnamed citizen, said it turned up evidence to warrant questioning Harvey on his accounting of some expenses. Harvey, who was to return Wednesday night from three days in Utah on departmental business, was not available for comment.

The ways and means committee of the county board of supervisors had appropriated $50 for a trip to Las Vegas and a $10 storage bill for parking Harvey's county-owned car at Chicago's airport. Harvey has been paid the original $450 appropriated by the committee, but not the additional $120-$150 for motel bills and meals. Delhey said he had submitted to the county treasurer's office his own plane ticket and another ticket "for which he did not request payment" and which he said was for "another person." Harvey did not identify the person. Delhey said Harvey had submitted a request August 2 for payment of expenses for him and Owing, but that there is some cause to doubt that Owing went. Delhey added that the ques-

Payroll Taxes

May Increase

Senate Unit OKs 15% Social Security Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee, which has approved a 15 percent Social Security benefit increase, now is thinking about paying for it by boosting payroll taxes as much as $190 next year. "We're going to start paying now for the new benefits rather than paying later," said Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La. "But if the people don't want to pay for it, they can let us know at the polls next year." According to Long, the committee yesterday approved "at least" a maximum $84 payroll tax increase, starting Jan. 1, to finance the across-the-board benefit increases. The panel also approved a raise in the monthly minimum pension payment from $44 to $70. The House approved a $50 minimum.

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — As the economic boom enters its first month, it has about the same physical resemblance to its early years than an adult has to its youth. It's the same person all right, but an awful lot has changed. Imbalances and disruptions protrude everywhere, and the very economic diet of taxes and spending that takes credit for the expansion is, itself, being questioned. This is not to say the boom will bust, for there are indications that it will soar along for a number of months more. But it is far from the finely tuned, non-inflationary early years of the 1960s. As the expansion approaches a second length, disruptions include labor disputes, automotive troubles, rising interest rates, falling profits and administration-congressional discord. WAR ECONOMY It is also now an expansion sustained more and more by government spending rather than civilian spending. It has become more of a war economy, and some of the disruptions...

of the Council of Economic Advisors, told the Associated Press:

"We have learned well enough how to stimulate the economy when it is threatened by slack. We also must show that we have the self-discipline to apply necessary restraint when the economy is threatened by overheating." The relentless administration pressure for a 10 percent surcharge on income taxes has, however, merely helped to grind itself against an immovable Congress. No matter how much the New Economics demands a tax increase, it is help less before Congress, which alone can translate theory into law. Some administration critics suggest that the discipline referred to should have been applied in 1965 when they feel quick action to raise taxes would have helped avoid the present inflation. They feel also that discipline could be shown by less administration spending, a situation the administration says cannot be helped. If this explanation is to be accepted, it is an admission that the New Economics theory may be impractical.

NAGGING BELIEF

What nags the New Economics is the belief that their theories have worked before and can work again if given a chance. They believe, for example, that the economy can be spurred by tax cuts and government spending regardless of budget deficits, and slowed by higher taxes and less spending. In 1964 they spurred the economy. Now they feel a need to restrain it or lose out to inflation. As Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, told the Associated Press:

Death Claims Supervisor of County Stores

Elvis S. Slinkard, Central Stores Supervisor for Oakland County, died yesterday. Slinkard of 6135 Paramus, Independence Township, was 41.

Funeral service will be 1 p.m. Saturday at the Dixie Baptist Church, Clarkston. Burial will be in Lakeview Cemetery, Independence Township, by Lewis E. Wint Funeral Home, Clarkston.

Surviving besides his wife, Velma, are his mother, Mrs. Jewel Slinkard; a daughter, Mrs. Arnold L. Taylor, both of Clarkston; a son, Gary W., at home; three sisters, including Mrs. Harold Wilson and Mrs. Adrian Holcombe, both of Clarkston; and a brother, Dempsey O. of Clarkston.

Slinkard began working for the county in 1951 as a storekeeper.

As Central Stores Supervisor, he was in charge of distributing food and clothing to county agencies such as the sanatorium, jail and children's center.

Slinkard was past worshipful master of Austin Lodge No. 43 F&AM, Davisburg; past associate guardian of Jobs Daughters Bethel No. 25, Clarkston; and worthy patron of the Order of the Eastern Star No. 396, Davisburg.

Sale of Land Fund Said in 'Good Shape'

At least one city fund is in good shape despite a general financial pinch, Pontiac Director Edward R. Gallagher reports.

Gallagher said the sale of land from an unappropriated surplus as of Sept. 30 of $296,039 is relatively liquid and can be used for land acquisitions of modest size.

Principal transactions from January included liquidation of a land contract with a resultant increase in cash over the year from $3,000 to $155,000.

The city also sold 13 acres of land north of Columbia and west of Cloverleaf for $30,300 for development of apartments. Other minor pieces were sold.

The city bought a five-acre piece for the western extension of West Columbia for $19,750, purchased three lots in the city's proposed industrial park for $17,750, and purchased a strip to extend Palmer to University for $14,700.

In 1966 U.S. law-enforcement officers arrested 90,246 juvenile runaways.

Hospital Staff Woes Blamed on Fund Cut

Pontiac State Hospital's medical superintendent says gross employee shortages cited in a petition signed by 340 employees is a result of a cutback in funds from the State Legislature.

The employees urged alleviation of the shortage in the petition presented to Supt. Dr. Donald W. Martin yesterday.

Attendant Harry Dunigan, who collected the signatures, said the petition was mailed to state senators and representatives and organizations involved in mental health.

"(A shortage) results in steady decline in morale and lack of enthusiasm to come to a job where management apparently does not care about the shortage and does not have the physical contact with hostile, combative patients," the petition said.

Martin reiterated that staffing has been inadequate for years, but he pointed out that it is worse this year.

42 JOBS ELIMINATED
"Forty-two attendant nursing positions were eliminated this year because the legislature only gave us $6.8 million for salaries and wages," Martin remarked.

"We would have needed $400,000 more to continue at last year's operational level plus tax increase to account a 7 per cent pay raise for employees. We should have gotten $7.2 million."

At best, the superintendent figures his staff is two-thirds as adequate. The hospital is allotted 512 nursing personnel jobs; there are usually about 10 vacancies — and should have 600 to 700 attendant nurses.

During an average day the hospital serves some 2,000 patients, according to Martin.

'SITUATION AGGRAVATED'
"The situation is aggravated because we have been admitting more and more patients for the past few years," Martin explained. "About 1,600 patients now enter each year."

"Good" employees are always leaving the hospital because of salaries (average yearly salary of an attendant nurse is $5,700) and because of an inadequate staff, he noted.

Martin reported the employee turnover at 30 per cent, which he said is "not too bad for an industrial area."

Petitioning employees presented the following average attendant-capacity patient ratios for a typical day, Oct. 8, in various areas of the hospital: 1:32 ratio for the halls (two halls with no attendants), 1:11 for receiving, 1:16 for geriatrics and 1:66 for cottages.

"Hopefully, some relief might still be possible if the governor and legislature appropriate more money before the new fiscal year," Martin said.

Pontiac GI Medic Dies in Vietnam Copter Crash

Spec. 5 Herbert C. Donaldson Jr., of 58 Myra died Sunday while on an evacuation mission in Vietnam.

Donaldson, a medic with the helicopter ambulances known as "dustoffs," was killed on a mission when his helicopter crashed after an apparent mechanical failure.

Donaldson, 21, was with the original "Dustoff" unit in Vietnam, the 57th Helicopter Ambulance Medical Detachment.

City Police Chief Will Serve on National Panel
Pontiac Police Chief William K. Hanger is one of two Michigan police officials named to serve on a 13-member national panel which will plan a series of conferences on civil disorders.

Hanger and Col. Frederick E. Davids, director of the State Police, will meet with other police and city leaders in Washington, D.C., Nov. 17.

The conferences, recommended by President Johnson's Commission on Civil Disorders and financed by the Justice Department, will deal with techniques for controlling and preventing riots.

Knife-Wielder Robs Woman

A woman shopper at Miral, Mile Shopping Center, Bloomfield Township, yesterday reported to police that she had been held up by a knife-wielding purse snatcher.

Mrs. Dorothy Richmond, 51, of Sterling Township, told Bloomfield Township Police the purse contained $133. She said that she entered her car in the parking lot, a male Negro, in his 30s, about 5 foot 10 and wearing a bandana around his head, entered from the passenger side.

She told officers he pulled a knife about 12 inches long and demanded her purse. He then fled.

A search by township police failed to turn up either the suspect or the purse, according to Sgt. Lyle Howard of the Bloomfield Township Police Department.

Funeral arrangements are being made by Donelson-Johns Funeral Home.

Zoning Advised Disputes at 12 Ford Locals for Apartments Put Strike in 57th Day

Planning commissioners last night recommended approval of two rezoning requests which would lead to construction of 210 new apartment units.

A rezoning recommended for approval on a 12-acre site north of University, east of Emerson and Kettering and south of Baltimore would see development of 170 apartments.

The commission withheld approving a site plan for the development pending some changes.

Another request would have 40 one-bedroom units at 211 to 229 E. Pike. Site plan approval here was withheld also.

The planning commission did give site plan approval to a planned 34-unit apartment complex on W. Kenett at Carlyle. Rezoning was not necessary.

In other action, the commission recommended rezoning for construction of a neighborhood grocery store at southeast corner of Telegraph and Hazel and a beauty shop-barbershop at the northeast corner of Baldwin and Hamilton.

Also approved was personal service zoning for four lots on the south side of West Huron east of Chippewa, with one of the lots to be a dentist's office, and a building expansion for the Assembly of God Church, Perry at West Wide Track, which plans to add 16 feet to its building.

TV Sets Stolen From School
Three portable television sets valued at more than $400 were stolen from the Whittier School, 600 Motor, it was reported to Pontiac police yesterday.

A custodian told officers the sets were taken from three separate rooms which were entered by smashing out the glass in each room's door.

Investigators said the building was entered through an unlocked window.

The union, which called a walkout at midnight Sept. 6 in search of a pattern-setting national contract for the industry, is still technically on strike, even though the national pact with Ford was signed and ratified last week.

Ford has called back to work some 20,000 of the 160,000 UAW members who walked off their jobs in the strike.

But a company spokesman said production can't resume until all or virtually all plants are ready to resume operations due to the highly integrated nature of the production process.

Meanwhile, General Motors and Chrysler announced October production figures in the wake of a union warning to GM not to use extra overtime to stockpile cars against a possible nationwide strike against the giant auto maker.

The union said 21 of GM's 23 assembly plants operated on overtime Saturday and said local strikes might be authorized if what it considers excessive use of overtime continues.

Both companies issued their reports without comment. Chrysler has also been accused of taking advantage of the strike against Ford to increase its share of the automotive market. Chrysler denied it.

Latest of the UAW locals to settle on local issues was Local 723 representing about 1,000 UAW members at Ford's key Monroe, parts plant. A ratification meeting is set for noon today.

A union spokesman refused to speculate on when all workers could return to their jobs and production resume. "At the pace they're going, I would think it would be in a week's time," he said. "But the pace could quicken."

Boys' Club Unit Picks City Man

Pontiac druggist Howard L. Dell was elected chairman of the Michigan Area Council of Boys' Clubs of America at a recent council meeting at Eastern Michigan University.

Dell, owner of the Baldwin Pharmacy, 219 Baldwin, served two years as president of the Pontiac Boys' Club and as treasurer and vice chairman of the area council. He was the recipient of the national Man and Boy award given for outstanding service to youth.

Dell will be coordinating the national and state programs with the local Boys' Clubs in the state.

He commented: "The greatest need today in Boys' Clubs is for a qualified staff. There are just not enough trained people available for the tremendous job that must be done. The day is long gone when a man with only good intentions and little training can handle the complex problems of running an on-going Boys' Club program."

County Unit Gets Report on Morgue Need
A report was submitted to an Oakland County Board of Supervisors committee yesterday that indicates a growing need for a county morgue facility.

Dr. Bernard Berman, health department director, gave the report to the law enforcement committee. The group is considering recommendations for placement of a morgue and crime lab in the jail to be built at the County Service Center.

Dr. Berman's report showed that since 1956, county deaths requiring a medical examiner increased from $32 a year to $1,294. In this same time, deaths requiring an autopsy went from 63 to 410.

Autopsies currently are performed at area hospitals. This work is done on a low-priority basis, Dr. Berman said, because doctors feel their first responsibility is toward their own hospital's patients.

He explained the subsequent delay was sometime detrimental to law enforcement in the cases of homicide.

CRIME LAB
Also at the meeting were police chiefs from several communities who offered suggestions on a county crime lab.

The committee will later offer recommendations as to space requirements in the new building for the proposed facilities.

Police said Joseph Wells of 69 N. Roselawn was injured when a car driven by Lynn Handy Medical, 45, of 37 W. Cornell ran over him in the lot at 22 E. Kennett about 5:30 p.m.

Medcall was held for questioning last night and the incident is under investigation, according to police.
