

Falling Dollar Value Worries Ike

Top Security Advisers to Tackle Gold Drain

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower today called a meeting of the nation's top National Security Council advisers to discuss emergency moves to halt the drain on American gold and dollar reserves.

Military, foreign policy and financial leaders of the Eisenhower administration were told to try to the President's Georgia vacation headquarters for a conference.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, resting in Florida from the political campaign, was to be the only administration leader missing from the roster of NSC advisers.

Central Intelligence Agency Director Allen W. Dulles and Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, were to be the only advisers to discuss the gap between the amount of money it spends and earns overseas.

The President's move was aimed mainly at helping the government close the gap between the amount of money it spends and earns overseas.

This deficit, now running at a near-record rate of $4.3 billion a year, has drained American gold reserves and shaken the prestige of the dollar in international money markets.

HELP FOR KENNEDY

Named to City Hospital Board
Nelson Is Unanimous Choice of Commission as Trustee

City commissioners last night unanimously appointed Robert S. Nelson, president of Universal Oil Seal Co., to the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees.

Nelson, 190 Ottawa Drive, succeeds James Clarkson on the 11-member board. Former board chairman, Clarkson resigned because he moved from Pontiac.

Nelson is president of the Pontiac Area United Fund and of the Pontiac Manufacturers' Association.

Active in many civic affairs, he is a board member of the Pontiac YMCA and chairman of the steering committee of the social service planning division of the Greater Pontiac Community Council.

1,000 Screaming About Integration Turned Back at School Board Office

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Club-swinging police called big fire hoses into action today in an attempt to break up a screaming demonstration against school integration in downtown New Orleans.

Firemen aimed streams of water over the heads of 1,000 or more demonstrators, trying to keep them back from the street around the New Orleans School Board office.

The crowd surged forward chanting, "We don't want to integrate."

But the water deflected from the pavement in front of the crowd and the streams sailing overhead dispersed the demonstrators from the school board office area.

Police loud-speakers blared over the tumult: "Move on, move on. We don't want to injure anyone."

There were arrests, reports from the center of the demonstration indicated. The number could not be immediately determined.

While the impassioned show against the mixing of races in the schools spread to downtown New Orleans, a student boycott virtually halted education at the two schools integrated by four Negro first grade girls Monday.

In Baton Rouge, the Louisiana Legislature heard U. S. Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana tell members "the situation in Washington is likely to get worse. We simply do not have the votes."

STILL FIGHTING MAD
Weary legislators—still fighting mad—began a 36-day special session with no end in sight, trying to find a way out of integration.

A crowd of 1,000 teenagers, bolstered by plaque-carrying mothers, invaded City Hall in a yelling, belting protest at mid-morning.

Then the boisterous group, after the arrest of one girl demonstrator, marched on the New Orleans School Board office a few blocks away.

He had pleaded guilty and thus helped send his sister Ethel Rosenberg and her husband Julius to the electric chair.

Appoints New City Supervisor

Wayne Anable Named Over Charles Beach; Suit Threatened

City commissioners last night appointed a Pontiac Motor Division employee, Wayne O. Anable, 622 First St., to fill a vacancy on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Anable's appointment prompted Charles A. Beach, president of Pontiac Motor Local 633, UAW, to threaten suit to oust Mayor Philip E. Rowston on a legal technicality from his seat on the county's executive board.

Beach was also a candidate for the vacancy, running with the endorsement of the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council.

The support of Commissioner John A. Dugan, another Pontiac Motor employee, helped Anable beat Beach, who had been a council endorsee for the seat which Rowston has held since January.

Last night's appointment was to fill the vacancy in Pontiac's seven-member delegation caused by the resignation of Maurice Croteau two weeks ago.

Defeated in a 4-3 vote, Beach took the floor before commissioners last night and charged those (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Convict Helped to Send Kin to Electric Chair by Pleading Guilty

NEW YORK (AP) — David Greenglass, the convicted atom bomb spy who helped send his sister and her husband to the electric chair, went free today after 9½ years in prison.

The short, meek-appearing man emerged at 8:35 a.m. from the federal house of detention. He was accompanied by his attorney, O. John Rogge, who ruled out any statement.

Greenglass appeared terrified as he confronted 60 newsmen and photographers and heard derogatory shouts from longshoremen and truckers attracted to the scene.

"Drop dead, you lousy Communist," a voice in the hostile crowd yelled as Greenglass and his attorney got into a taxicab and left for an undisclosed destination.

Someone else directed the cable, "Drive him off the pier, right into the river, the dirty rat."

BEHAVIOR GOOD
Greenglass, now 38, was sentenced to 15 years in prison in 1951 for his part in the spy plot. He got time off for good behavior.

He served his term in the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., and was transferred to the Alcatraz Federal Reformatory last weekend to facilitate his release.

What are his plans? Does he have a job? No one is saying.

It was Greenglass's testimony that helped send his brother-in-law, Julius Rosenberg, and his sister, Ethel Rosenberg, to the Sing Sing Prison death chair.

Greenglass, a former Brooklyn electrician, pleaded guilty for his part in the theft of U.S. atomic secrets, which were passed on to the Soviets. He was the government's key witness at the Rosenbergs' trial.

Hunt Gun in Detroit Killing of 2

DETROIT (AP) — Police searched today for the gun used to kill a Detroit junk dealer and his newly married secretary.

The bodies of Abraham Siegel, 61, and Mrs. Dolores S. Pietzang, 36, were found face down on the floor of Siegel's office in the Siegel Iron and Metal Co.

The Wayne County medical examiner said each had been shot once in the back of the head.

SUSPECT HOLDUP
Homicide detectives said they believed the victims were shot while lying on the floor during a holdup.

They said Siegel transacted most of his business in cash and should have been carrying about $200 when he was killed.

Siegel's wallet was empty when his body was discovered, police said. They said the office showed no sign of being trampled.

Mrs. Pietzang's housekeeper Mae Hancy said the secretary was married six months ago to Henry Pietzang, chief engineer for a tool designing firm in Jackson.

Pietzang left Sunday on a business trip to California, Mrs. Hancy said, and is due back Friday.

Mrs. Hancy said Mrs. Pietzang was the mother of two, Penny, 6, and Jimmy, 3½, by a previous marriage. Mrs. Pietzang had worked six years for Siegel.

What Makes Farrell Run?—Yep, Politics

CAREFUL NOW, SON — Trying to brew up a little political magic for his senator father as he sets out on a new two-year term in Lansing is Mark Roberts, 5. Watching the connection take shape in their West Bloomfield Township home is Rep. Farrell E. Roberts, who will be sworn in as 12th District senator in January, and his wife Phyllis.

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

What makes Farrell run is a question that Oakland County's new state senator has a hard time answering.

He's done plenty, too. "You only have one life to live," newly-elected Sen. Farrell E. Roberts philosophizes. "Too many people settle down in one rut and live out their lives."

Roberts, at 38, has already lived a full life—high school scholar, Annapolis graduate, combat Navy veteran, lawyer, prosecutor, state representative, and now senator.

He's been in every state but Rhode Island.

The Salt Lake City, Utah-born globe trotter probably is not through yet. Some day the Pontiac could be his headquarters, or conceivably the Capitol in Washington.

Politics has crept into his blood, because he said, curiously, got the best of him in 1956. The game of politics—the Republican brand—altered his life, which was seemingly headed toward a stable position in the legal profession.

Roberts has never lost an election. Latest political plaudits were heaped his way when he faced his toughest of three campaigns to capture the 12th District (Oakland County) State Senate position.

READY TO QUIT
For a man who was ready to get out of politics earlier this year to share a new law office with his partner, Elmer C. Dietzler, Roberts is just itching to get into the thick of the battle with 11 Democrats. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Macmillan Hoping to Meet Kennedy

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan told parliament Tuesday he is looking forward to meeting President-Elect John F. Kennedy as soon as possible.

Macmillan made his statement in reply to a question in the house of commons. Said the prime minister:

"I certainly look forward to meeting the president-elect of the United States of America on the earliest appropriate occasion, but I cannot at present say when that will be."

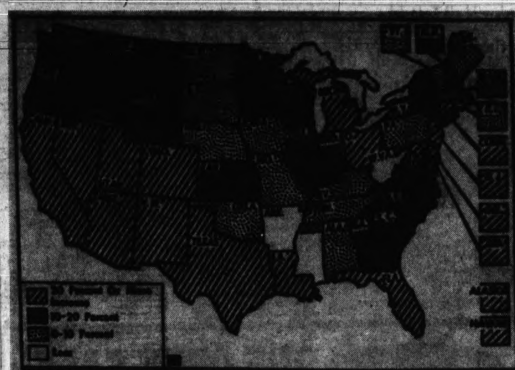

"I look forward to discussion with him of all the various international problems which confront us."

Starts Building GOP Committee for '62 Election

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Thurston B. Morton is calling a meeting of the Republican National Committee here Dec. 9-10 to begin "the tremendous building job we have to do" before the 1962 congressional elections.

"The challenge for the Republican Party lies ahead and we will meet it," Morton said in a statement issued here.

The Kentucky senator announced last week that he will continue as GOP chairman at request of President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Hot Money' Seeks Foreign Marts

U. S. Gold Supply Suffers as Payments Deficit Rises

WASHINGTON (AP) — A flight of "hot money" to Europe caused a sharp increase in the U. S. balance of payments deficit in the July-September quarter.

The Commerce Department issued a preliminary estimate that the deficit reached an annual rate of $4.3 billion during the three months. The rate for the preceding quarter was $2.9 billion.

This situation has led directly to an increased loss of gold by the United States and has prompted top-level moves to stem the worrisome gold-dollar drain.

The balance of payments represents the difference between the amount which foreigners spend and invest in the United States and the larger amount which this country spends, invests and gives away abroad.

As foreigners build up a dollar surplus in their dealings with the United States, they use part of the surplus to buy American gold. The Commerce report showed that gold purchases by foreigners during the third quarter amounted to $637 million compared with $54 million in the preceding three months.

"Gold comprised a higher portion of the next payments to foreign countries than in the earlier quarters of this year," the department said.

The big factor in the increased payments deficit was a movement of "hot money."

This situation may prove temporary, however. Interest rates in Europe have been declining somewhat in recent weeks, whereas the Federal Reserve Board has acted to boost rates on short-term U. S. treasury bills.

Vacuum Cleaner Dries Busy Woman's Hair

NEW YORK (AP) — The housewife can now use her vacuum cleaner to dry her hair. A new water-based paint primer, composed of oils made from farm products, is said to be as effective as a fire extinguisher as it is a coating material. The company introducing the product said the primer is odorless and dries into a hard, durable film.

A brush manufacturer has come up with what it calls a special brush for men's thinning hair. The firm says the brush is "made with extremely soft, natural bristles which gently massage hair and scalp."

The case is wired for sound with a built-in microphone and a sub-miniature tape recorder. The case will pick up conversations 15 feet away, even when closed.

There are also secret compartments for a camera, an extra tape cartridge, an earphone unit, an fast additional microphone-speaker, extra film and flash bulbs.

The company doesn't say if there's also a place for a ham sandwich.

telephone lines

By RAY STORM, District Manager

This is the time of year when "open season" seems to exist on birds, rabbits, deer, fellow hunters, and telephone cables. Each year, there are nearly as many hunter injuries as there are cable damage reports. And in most cases, a telephone comes into use when a hunter's friend quickly looks for help—whether it be calls to the doctor, ambulance, hospital, drugstore or family.

So—let's keep the season "open" on legal game but "close" it on people and telephone cables.

ONE OF CUPID'S BIGGEST HELPERS this 20th century seems to be the telephone. We recently heard via the grapevine (or should we say the telephone wire) that when Crown Prince Akihito of Japan met his present wife, Michiko Shodo, on the tennis courts, they were denied a courtship in the American sense because of Japanese tradition. How did love find the way? By telephone. Akihito called Michiko several times a day, and she accepted his proposal of marriage during one of the conversations.

Cobo Hall Trouble Called Only Gossip

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Louis Miriani told Detroit's city council Tuesday that Cobo Hall convention exhibitor reports of labor trouble were "nothing but kitchen gossip."

Miriani, in obvious anger, also said that some exhibitors have been trying to supply their own labor and depriving Detroiters of jobs.

The mayor's report to the council followed his investigation into complaints by exhibitors of the American Bottlers and Carbonated Beverages Convention.

Some exhibitors charged that they had been forced to pay excessive wages by union groups and also were limited as to their own handling of their exhibit installations.

Miriani said he had been concerned over Detroit's reputation as a convention city. Elaborate Cobo Hall, built at a cost of $54 million, has just been opened as a Motor City attraction for conventions.

GOP Hard at Work Contemplating 1964

Politicians can hardly wait for the final tally in an election before they start speculating about the future. Republicans are already fast at work figuring what they must do in 1964.

First off, they wonder just where Vice President Nixon will figure. Many feel that his close race still leaves him a figure of prominence. Facts show that he is only the third man in history ever to get more than 30 million votes. Eisenhower did it twice and President-Elect Kennedy is the other.

Just what Nixon does for the next four years will have a bearing on where he stands in the eyes of the party for the next election. If he expects to remain in politics he must keep in the public eye and in a position of influence.

GOP leaders are not in agreement as to the strategic effectiveness of Nixon's campaign. There is a very good possibility that they will decide a new face is in order for 1964.

At this early stage it looks like the two men might well be New York's Gov. NELSON ROCKEFELLER and Arizona's Sen. BARRY GOLDWATER.

It would look like Rockefeller was in the choice spot being Governor of our largest state, despite Goldwater's position on Capitol Hill. It must be remembered that the Governor will have to be re-elected in 1962 to remain in the limelight.

Another solid point is that the GOP are blaming him for not delivering New York to Nixon. This may well hurt when the smoke clears. Just how hard did he work for Nixon?

The conservative Goldwater may well gain strength in the years just ahead as his like minded colleagues in Congress.

A conservative-liberal struggle between those two may well develop. The battle could be a bruising one and at this time it is hard to guess what might happen between now and the time for choosing another nominee.

Thinks Brinkmanship Will Settle Dilemma

The Christian Science Monitor has a very thought provoking editorial on the current French Algerian situation. It points out that Gen. de GAULLE's brinkmanship has worked in the past and believes he will solve this dilemma.

We are inclined to agree and are reproducing the editorial.

"French Algerian developments are once more illustrating — over the last few days — a strategy that President de GAULLE has been pursuing ever since he came to power. Again he is pushing the issue of self-determination to the very 'brink,' the brink being the verge of an irreparable break between the government and the French Army in Algeria.

"After his remarkable statement of Sept. 16, 1959, offering the Algerians self-determination, many French and non-French people hoped that Gen. de Gaulle would make a frontal assault on the ultraconservative Army and colonialist position in Algeria. He did not do so.

"But in January he was forced by them — in the 'week of the barricades' at Algiers — to assert his authority over the insurrectionists and many high level Army people. Again it was hoped he would keep on the offensive. But again he let things quiet down.

"For Gen. de Gaulle, this course had had political risks in that disappointment about what appeared procrastination over Algeria has fed other discontents, such as those concerning his successful policy which had a setback in the French Senate a few days ago. But now, once more (and again from a deteriorating position) Gen. de Gaulle has moved forward with his Nov. 4 statement in behalf of an 'Algerian Algeria.' And once more he has had to take harsh measures against rebellious elements in the French administration in Algeria while having his top man in Algeria speak with reassuring words to the Army as a whole.

"In the past this has been the stuff out of which new crises were made. Today it is clear that General de GAULLE is preparing to meet another one. If the pattern of his brinkmanship repeats he will surmount the threat and bring France half a league nearer to an Algerian solution."

"RABBITS are becoming very scarce in some sections of the country," says a sports writer. It most likely isn't the fault of the rabbits.

David Lawrence Says:

Kennedy, Nixon Knit Rifts in U.S.

WASHINGTON — Why did President-Elect Kennedy take the initiative and pay a visit to Vice President Nixon? It was a good move, but lots of people are inquiring as to its meaning. Some of the Kennedy staff are pleasantly surprised at the extent of the favorable reaction to the incident.

Basically, the American people believe in sportsmanship. In an athletic contest the loser and the winner always shake hands afterwards. Quite a hullabaloo was stirred up last summer, for instance, at the Olympic Games in Rome when a Russian athlete, preoccupied after a race, happened to ignore the victor. When he inquired and was told what the boys were about, he hastily congratulated the winner.

But there was something else besides good sportsmanship in the Nixon-Kennedy meeting after the election. It showed the rest of the world, of course, that in America there can be a spirited campaign and yet the two contenders can be friends afterwards.

The underlying reason, however, for the meeting was political in its broadest and best sense. The country revealed a sharp division in the election. The race was close—in fact, closer than either candidate really expected.

There is nothing more important after such a contest than to promote good will on both sides. It is naturally Kennedy's concern more than it is Nixon's.

WANTS TO REASSURE But each has much to gain from such a manifestation of good will. Kennedy, first of all, wants to reassure conservatives that he isn't as haywire on economic policies as the Democratic platform adopted at Los Angeles might imply. He would like to keep the fires of opposition from starting too soon—at least until he has a chance to express his viewpoint on major policies.

He doesn't, moreover, want the country's businessmen to slow up their planning or feel they have to wait for months to find out which way the new administration will turn—to the left or the right or to the middle way.

So far as foreign policy is concerned, this is where the least change is likely to occur. Broad and sweeping phrases about "bold and imaginative ideas" have been bandied about for the last several years by speakers on the Democratic side, especially in the so-called liberal group.

But the time will come—and it is just a few weeks off—when some of these ideas will have to stand the test of practicality, the substitution of action for broad phrases.

Here's how to make good coffee: 1. Purchase coffee in small quantities so that you may consume it soon after roasting.

2. If it is ready ground, keep it in tightly sealed container.

3. See that the pot, urn, percolator or other gadget you use for making coffee is thoroughly clean.

4. Add cold water to the quantity of ground coffee you use for the brew.

5. When ready to serve, heat it up nearly but not quite to boiling point. Do not let it boil even for a moment.

6. If you like to use white egg or white and yolk too, add to the coffee and stir up well, before heating.

Cold War Front
Opens in Africa

Foreign Correspondent
Gives AP Managing Eds
First-Hand Report

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—Independence for African colonial territories has opened a new front in the cold war, Lynn Heinzeling, Associated Press foreign correspondent, said today.

Addressing The Associated Press Managing Editor's Association's annual convention Heinzeling, who recently returned from the Congo, said Africa will become increasingly important in international relations as more territories gain freedom and the Soviets are offered more opportunities of opening up diplomatic relations in Africa and installing their familiar espionage and propaganda networks.

(Harry Reed of Osceola Drive, managing editor of The Pontiac Press, is attending the convention.)

"The Russians suffered a serious and damaging defeat in the Congo, but it is not the end of the Soviet effort in the Congo and other areas of this huge African power vacuum," Heinzeling said.

"The defeat was largely due to Russian clumsiness and their unfamiliarity with African political and social customs, particularly the strong tribal influence," he said.

Heinzeling was one of a panel of three AP correspondents who discussed Communist world pressures at the opening session of the AFME convention. The other two were Reiman Morin and William L. Ryan.

Hitchhiker Takes
Locomotive Cab

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The engineer and his fireman on a Chicago-bound passenger train decided the man must have had a loco motive for climbing into the cab of their locomotive at the station here.

But to Walter Hallman, 31, it was very simple. He was hitching a ride to Chicago and explained that he had tried to catch a freight train earlier but "it was moving too fast."

When Hallman refused to budge from the cab, the trainmen called police. They took Hallman into custody for New York Central authorities.

HOUSE REALIGNMENT — The map shows how population changes revealed in the 1960 census will cause realignment in the House of Representatives. States gaining seats are shown by shading, states losing seats are shown by dots, and those remaining the same, in white. Michigan gained one seat in the House, to total 19 representatives.

This requires a reapportionment of Michigan to create a new district. Figures in each state show the number of seats it will have in the House beginning January 1963 with change from the current total indicated by the plus or minus symbol.

Roof Blaze at Conrad
Hilton in Chicago Is Halted Without Injury

CHICAGO (UPI)—A spectacular fire broke out on the roof of the Conrad Hilton Hotel, the world's largest, late Tuesday and was brought under control without injury to occupants.

Guests of some of the upper floor rooms were asked to leave for a time but returned to their quarters in less than an hour. The fire centered around the towers on the rooftop.

Chief disruption to life at the hotel was in the restricted use of elevators, which were turned over to firemen for the 35-story trip to the scene of the blaze.

Investigation showed a burst of flame from burning grease in a grease chute at the rear of the hotel ignited the roof of the 3,000-room structure. A quick survey of damage showed it was confined chiefly to the tar roof and some concrete railings.

In most of the hotel, guests went about their usual pursuits while firemen worked overhead. Occupants of other tall buildings in the Chicago area watched the smoke and flames mount skyward.

Raff's Estranged Wife

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Film actor George Raff, 55, has been sued for $43,686.57, which his estranged wife alleges he owes her under terms of a property agreement.

Grayce Raff, from whom the motion picture actor has been separated for years, filed the suit in Superior Court Tuesday. Her complaint stated that her claim is based on an agreement she and Raff signed in New York City May 6, 1949.

Gov. Williams Replies to Frondizi Speech in Halting Spanish

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Government sources said Tuesday President Arturo Frondizi may invite Sen. John F. Kennedy to visit Argentina sometime before his inauguration as president of the United States.

Frondizi told 28 visiting U.S. state and territorial governors that "Latin America expects much of the new Kennedy administration."

The Argentine president praised the Latin American policies of U. S. Presidents Eisenhower and Roosevelt, and added that Kennedy's "bold and intelligent vision" made him feel sure that U.S.-Argentine relations would continue to be close.

Michigan's outgoing Gov. G. Mennen Williams replied for the victory, reading a speech in halting Spanish. He explained that he felt he should be able to communicate with the people of Argentina in their own language.

LINCOLN CONTINENTAL

So brilliantly engineered,
so carefully built it is dealer-warranted for two full years or 24,000 miles, whichever occurs first*

"Classic beauty in a smart new size." Here is the first fine car that is truly luxurious to drive in today's traffic. Thoughtful engineering has created a superb six-passenger automobile that is 14 inches shorter—yet as heavy or heavier than other American luxury cars, to provide the solid ride you expect. It also has devised center-opening doors that make entrance far more convenient, contour-zoned seats that are cushioned with nearly three times the usual amount of foam rubber, vacuum-locked doors that bolt shut at a flick of the driver's finger, silent, hydraulic windshield wipers with 50 per cent more power, a quality program that puts every car through a 12-mile road test and brings high precision standards of construction to America's largest V-8 engine. A glance reveals the character of this tremendously advanced car, the enduring beauty of true classic design, the excitement of America's only four-door convertible. But it is only at the wheel that you begin to understand the real significance of the new Lincoln Continental, the brilliant blend of sensible size and total luxury. Why not make that discovery yourself, this week? Lincoln-Mercury Division, Ford Motor Company.

*The terms of the extended warranty provide that for 24 months or for 24,000 miles, whichever comes first, free replacement, including related labor, will be made by dealers, of any part with a defect in workmanship or materials. Tires are not covered by the warranty; appropriate adjustments will continue to be made by the tire companies. Owners will remain responsible for normal maintenance service and routine replacement of such maintenance items as filters, spark plugs, ignition points and wiper blades.

No Matter How You Slice It

Kennedy Wins Tiny Margin Over Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Last Tuesday's presidential election was the closest since 1884, 1888, 1916 or 1948.

It all depends on how you want to measure it.

One way is to count the difference in the popular votes received by the two major party candidates. On that basis, Sen. John F. Kennedy's margin over Vice President Richard M. Nixon was the smallest in 72 years.

With a record high 67,790,481 votes counted, the latest tabulation by United Press International gave Kennedy a plurality of about 255,000 over Nixon.

That's the smallest numerical margin since 1888 when Democrat Grover Cleveland outpolled Republican Benjamin Harrison by 30,728 popular votes but lost the election because Harrison got a majority of the electoral votes.

Another way is to compute the percentage of the vote received by the winner and the loser. Of the votes counted for the two major party candidates, Kennedy Tuesday had 50.26 and Nixon 49.74 per cent.

This was the closest percentage margin in any presidential election since 1884 when Cleveland defeated Republican James G. Blaine by 29,314 votes — 50.15 to 49.85 per cent. Kennedy's percentage margin was the third smallest in history.

A third measurement — and the only one that really counts in determining the winner — is the margin of electoral votes.

On this basis, Kennedy's victory was either the closest since 1948 when Harry S. Truman won with 303, which was 37 more than a bare majority; or the closest since 1916 when Woodrow Wilson won with 277 which was 11 more than a bare majority. It depends on just what Kennedy's final electoral tally turns out to be.

The electoral vote in last Tuesday's election won't be known for sure until Dec. 19 when the presidential electors meet in their various state capitals to cast their ballots. Last Tuesday the people voted indirectly for president by choosing between states of electors who actually will elect the president.

Kennedy was assured of the 269 needed to win. With the vote count still incomplete or unofficial in most states he was leading in states with 348 electoral votes.

Nixon was ahead in states with 191 electors, a state pledged to neither Kennedy or Nixon captured Mississippi's eight electoral votes.

One final way of measuring a close election is to total up the minimum vote switches that would be necessary in key states to reverse the election results.

On this basis, Kennedy's margin is likely to turn out to be the smallest since 1916 when Wilson captured the California electoral votes he needed to win, by a margin of 3,000 votes.

In 1948 Truman carried Ohio, California and Illinois by margins totaling 59,000 votes. If Dewey had carried those states, he would have been elected president even though he trailed Truman by more than 2,000,000 votes in the other states.

On this basis, the final official tabulation is likely to show that Nixon lost the electoral votes he needed for victory by a smaller popular vote margin than Dewey did.

Would Garbage Man Do Such a Thing?

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Christine Tabb didn't investigate the noise on her back porch Tuesday because, she later told police, she thought it was the garbage collector making his morning rounds.

Later, when she decided to wash a few clothes, she learned what the noise was. Her new washing machine had been stolen.

This year give Bourbon

"the better half" — of Bourbon & Branch

This has been the year that bourbon crossed into the consciousness of people of taste. Bourbon and branch (the country expression for fresh water) has been greatly enjoyed at the good parties, the good restaurants, the good places.

This year, therefore, bourbon is more than ever the gift to give—and so nice to receive.

It tastes wonderful. The obvious honesty in Kentucky bourbon is without equal. It has the same inner qualities found in the world's great wines—purity of source, individual character and absolute naturalness. When you pour whiskey you turn to bourbon.

We suggest historic Old Crow as your gift bourbon. It's the bourbon more people choose for themselves than any other—a nationwide testimonial that carries, you must admit, some conviction.

And, there are other reasons, to wit: no wrong sizes—except that the bigger the better. The color is perfectly beautiful. And, so far as we have learned, in 125 years no one has ever returned or exchanged a gift of Old Crow.

Lita Buys a New Pair of Hands, Decides She Wants to Live After 2 Years' Despair

Editor's Note: How the will to live can triumph over the odds of a broken human body is movingly told in this exclusive story made available to The Associated Press by the New Bedford (Mass.) Standard-Times.

By EILEEN LARDNER
NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—Lita Levine of Brooklyn, N.Y., bought a new pair of hands last week.

The story of Lita and her new hands began on the night of Aug. 15, 1948. Northeast Airlines Flight 258—two hours late out of New York because of bad weather—was coming in for a landing on tiny Nantucket Island, off the Massachusetts coast.

Lita, 23, a $73-a-week cashier in a New York brokerage firm, fastened her seat belt and smoothed her brown hair with slim, graceful fingers. She deferred reaching for her gloves. It didn't really matter. Soon Lita would not need gloves.

The big twin-engine C-47 came down through heavy fog and struck the third 300 yards of the runway. It plowed a 300-foot swath through a field of scrub growth and pine trees, then burst into flames.

26 OF 31 DIED
Twenty-four persons died in the crash. Of 10 survivors, two died. Lita was one who lived.

"It happened so suddenly," she recalls. "It was as though it were in a dream, as though it were happening to someone else. One minute everything was fine. The next minute I was pinned under something—I didn't know what."

That something was an 800-pound engine.

"I knew I was badly hurt," explains Lita. "My arms were crossed in front of me and I could see my fingers burning and raw. Your mind sort of turns off at a time like that."

She remembers rescuers struggling to free her. A doctor gave her something to ease her pain. A priest administered last rites. Lita lay on her back, her hair and head burned, her face and body black with oil and burns. She cried, "I can't see."

KILL ME
A man took a handkerchief and wiped her eyes and face. "Please don't let me die," she cried, and then, as pain swept her, "Kill me."

Thirty men lifting with ropes and hands at last lifted the engine and freed Lita. "We were given superhuman strength," one said afterward.

"When I came to, I couldn't see anything. I thought I was blind, remember screaming." A physician, understanding her panic, removed bandages momentarily, giving Lita a brief blurred glimpse that reassured her.

Hospital records show Lita had second- and third-degree burns over 40 or 30 per cent of her body. Her arms and legs were charred, her fingers black. Her right eyelid was deeply burned and there was some impairment of vision. There was almost complete external destruction of both ears and extensive external skull injuries. Her left kneecap was fractured. She had numerous deep scalp-like cuts.

There were days and weeks under sedation. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Levine, were constantly at her bedside. There followed during the next two hours 37 operations. Surgeons tried to save her fingers—and failed.

FINGERS ACHED
Dr. George L. Nardi feared for Lita when she pleaded to see her face, when she should learn about her hands. He brought in a psychiatrist.

But Lita did not worry about her fingers "because I could feel my fingers ache under the bandages." Doctors at last reported "the left eye out of the woods." But there were repeated grafting operations.

There came a victory when Lita stood on her good left leg. And, a month later, the worst loss, when, on Nov. 10, she learned her fingers were gone.

"At first I made myself believe it was a bad dream, that the fingers would grow back on again," she says.

The despairing girl, asking for death, said, "I won't accept it; I won't live without hands." Eighteen hours a day her mother fought a battle of the spirit. In between Lita's father took over, softly speaking hour after hour that she would be all right.

PARENTS' LOVE WINS
The parents' love won and Lita at last accepted the thought, "I have a chance; I had to get better."

Doctors cut V-clients between the stumps of her thumbs and middle fingers. With her maimed hands she could hold a cigarette, or a cup of coffee.

"At last, I could do some things for myself," she says. On June 23 this year, after 101 weeks, she was discharged. She shed by more surgery. She had to have a new right eyelid and lashes. Her brown hair had been replaced with a wig. Her arms and legs were scarred. Plastic surgery may rebuild her ears. A few weeks ago she was awarded a settlement of $375,000 for her injuries.

Now she has plans. She will shop for drapes for the Boston apartment where she and her parents live while awaiting her further surgery. Maybe she will paint. She was good in art while at school.

HOPES TO WORK AGAIN
She hopes to tour Europe for six months or so.

Her invested trust fund should care for her needs for life. But she hopes to work again in a brokerage house.

And now she has bought some new hands. She will wear rings on them. And gloves. She always liked gloves. She always reached for her gloves—just before the crash.

Humans Fall Far Behind

New Machine Defies Belief

BY DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Navy has acquired a new machine which can scan and reproduce about 10 pages of a book in less time than it is taking you to read this paragraph.

In the time it took me to write the paragraph, the machine could transmit coast-to-coast some 30 pages of the same book. And in the time it took me to think of what I was going to write, it could have copied the entire book.

I am not certain that I grasp the significance of all of this, but it certainly seems to prove something. If nothing else, it provides another indication of how rapidly we human beings are falling behind in our race with automation.

The Navy machine is called, for reasons not immediately apparent to me, a "Document Retriever." I assume it was given this name because it was designed to function as a sort of bureaucratic bird dog.

Developed by the Hagen Family Corp. of New York under sponsorship of the Navy's bureau of ships, the "Retriever" is being publicly demonstrated in the Pentagon this week.

It was only two weeks ago that I attended a demonstration of the Post Office Department's new "speed mail" system, which I thought would stand as the ultimate mate in electronic transmission for at least a month.

And yet I was told that the "Retriever" is four times faster than the postal device. Heaven knows what December will bring.

The Navy said the machine is expected to overcome a serious problem in the distribution of diagrams and plans for ships. It said the blueprints for a big ship, such as an aircraft carrier, weigh as much as 300 tons.

An aircraft carrier itself weighs about 70,000 tons. So you can see what the Navy is up against.

Using the "Retriever," it would not be necessary to load some poor yeoman down with 300 tons of blueprints and send him off to the shipyard.

The prints would simply be copied on microfilm and then transmitted electronically to the shipyard. They could, in fact, be transmitted to several shipyards simultaneously.

STAGGERING:
The "Retriever" is capable of transmitting 4,320 square inches of copy every minute. In terms of the printed word, this is equivalent to transmitting a 240-page book every four minutes. Or it can send 180-24-in drawings every minute.

I don't wish to continue to sing for you with comparisons, but more than 500 teletype machines, which usually operate at 80 words a minute, would be needed to keep up with it.

After explaining all of this at the Pentagon demonstration, a company official turned on the machine and we all rushed over to have a look.

Rolling out of it, silently and relentlessly, was a four-page press release, complete with cartoons.

Far be it from me to knock scientific progress. But when I think of some of the uses that can be made of science, it sort of gives me the willies.

Kennedy Kintolk Taking Vacation in Acapulco

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President-Elect John F. Kennedy's brothers Robert and Edward and their wives joined forces Tuesday night on a holiday from their campaign labors. They were en route to the Mexican west coast.

"Our only plans are to rest at Acapulco," said Edward, the youngest of the three Kennedy brothers. "We are convinced as all the Democratic party is, that there is no better or more beautiful place to spend a vacation than Acapulco."

President-Elect Kennedy is at his father's Palm Beach, Fla., home.

Houghton Lake Hotel Hit by $15,000 Blaze
HOUGHTON LAKE — Fire caused an estimated $15,000 damage Tuesday night to the Houghton Lake Hotel. No one was injured.

Tom Heard, the hotel owner, said the blaze apparently was caused by an electrical defect.

He said the blaze began in a first floor wall and did extensive damage to the first and second floors of the three-story wooden structure.

Agree on NATO Nuclear Force

But Accord by State, Defense Depts. Needs Kennedy's Guidance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State and Defense Departments were reported substantially agreed today that the United States should provide the North Atlantic Alliance with its own strategic nuclear striking force.

In spite of this development of policy within the Eisenhower administration, high officials are uncertain what position the United States can take on the problem at a ministerial meeting of the NATO council in Paris next month.

Any decisions which are made now on such a long-range undertaking would have to be carried out by the next administration. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and others here are waiting for some indication of views from President-Elect John F. Kennedy before determining finally the line they will take at the council meeting.

The basic idea behind the strategic nuclear force for NATO is to provide this country's European allies with nuclear weapons which would be committed primarily to their own defense.

ROCKETS ALREADY THERE
Nuclear rockets are already stationed on allied territory in the European area but they are subject to joint control of the United States and the nation on whose territory they are based.

One plan which has been talked about both here and with allied governments would provide for placing a force of Polaris submarines under the direct control of the supreme allied commander of NATO for Europe. Throughout NATO's 12-year history the supreme commander has been an American officer, at present it is Gen. Lauris Norstad. The expectation is that an American will continue to hold this assignment.

Consideration has also been given to stationing modified versions of the Polaris on mobile bases in Western Europe, subject to the control of the NATO commander.

Ford Stock Bid Shakes England and the UAW

DETROIT (AP)—A bid by Ford Motor Co. to take over its British subsidiary has shaken the stock exchange and Parliament and drawn the interest of the United Auto Workers Union.

Ford, which owns 54.6 per cent of the stock of Ford Motor Co., Ltd., of England, announced Monday that it would offer the outstanding stock of Ford of England. There are 17,726,804 such shares.

The bid touched off a wild scramble on the stock exchange Tuesday. The English stock closed at $11.58. It opened Tuesday at $11.58 and closed at $11.59.

This was still well below the Ford of Detroit bid price, indicating at least some doubt on the part of speculators that the British treasury would permit the takeover.

Members of the Socialist Labor party in the House of Commons Tuesday demanded that the government block the deal.

They said that if the proposal were completed it would mean that half the British motor industry would be in the hands of wholly-owned subsidiaries of U.S. firms which already have huge sums invested in car building firms in England.

Under exchange control regulations the American plan must get approval from the British Treasury before the stock takeover can be made final.

Harold Wilson, financial spokesman for the Labor party, said that "if this deal goes through there is real danger that Ford production and employment in this country will be sacrificed not only to Detroit but to the West German subsidiary of Ford of Detroit."

John Selwyn Lloyd, chancellor of the exchequer and chief of the treasury, declined to say what attitude he would take.

"No application for exchange control consent has yet been received," he told the House. "I am unable to say more, but will make a further statement as soon as possible. It should not be later than Monday."

The United Auto Workers Union, headquartered at Detroit, asked Ford for an explanation of the planned deal. The union said it was concerned that there might be a possible loss of jobs if the plan went into effect.

Up to now the only direct marketing tie-in between American Ford and English Ford has been

Government Goes Back to 435 Seats for 1962 Congressional Election

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In reappointing seats for the House of Representatives for the 1962 congressional election, the government Tuesday went back to the old figure of 435 seats — two less than the present membership.

The 435 figure is set by permanent law.

Congress temporarily had added two seats to the House to give representation to Alaska and Hawaii when they became states.

Hawaii gains a second seat under the reapportionment based on the 1960 census. Alaska's House representation remains at one seat.

Since each state gets one presidential elector for each senator and House member, there will be 535 electors in the 1964 presidential election instead of the 537 chosen in last Tuesday's election.

In 1956 before the admission of Alaska and Hawaii added four senators there were 531 presidential electors.

Suspect Ford May Produce U.S. Auto Parts in Europe

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Company's offer to buy all the cars carried out, has asked Ford for an explanation. In an answering letter, Ford acknowledged that the first indication that the parent American company plans to produce parts for American cars in Europe.

The American company already owns 54.8 per cent of the stock of the English subsidiary. It said it was offering to buy all of the stock of the company "to obtain greater operational flexibility and to better coordinate its European and American manufacturing facilities and to integrate further its product lines and operations on a worldwide basis."

There have been repeated reports here that Ford plans to build a "sub-compact" car to compete with the small foreign imports such as Volkswagens and Renault in the American market.

These reports say Ford plans to build the dies, the engine and some other components of this small car in Germany.

The United Auto Workers Union is concerned about the possible loss of jobs in this country if this plan is carried out, has asked Ford for an explanation. In an answering letter, Ford acknowledged that the first indication that the parent American company plans to produce parts for American cars in Europe.

The American company already owns 54.8 per cent of the stock of the English subsidiary. It said it was offering to buy all of the stock of the company "to obtain greater operational flexibility and to better coordinate its European and American manufacturing facilities and to integrate further its product lines and operations on a worldwide basis."

There have been repeated reports here that Ford plans to build a "sub-compact" car to compete with the small foreign imports such as Volkswagens and Renault in the American market.

These reports say Ford plans to build the dies, the engine and some other components of this small car in Germany.

Cool Fashions Hot News for Winter Sportswomen

For exercise on ice, the princess jumper in leopard printed corduroy is smart and functional. Worn over a beige wool shirt, it is brief and graceful and surprisingly warm.

Fashion comes to the bowling lanes in culottes and overblouse designed for action in featherweight pinwale corduroy. Freedom of action, so necessary to the ardent bowler, is one reason the culotte has established itself so firmly in the fashion picture.

NEW YORK (NEA)—If you don't dig the idea of culottes for street wear, you'll find that you can wear them with perfect ease when you go bowling this winter.

They're an obvious choice for bowling, a sport much neglected by designers until this season.

Culottes allow you to look and act a lady when you bowl. Quite often, they keep company with overblouses that are cut long enough not to ride up in action. And they're cut from resilient fabrics: featherweight pinwale corduroy, ribbed cotton knits and wool challis.

CLOTHES DIFFICULT

The estimated number of women bowlers in this country is eleven million. And, until this year, they've had a difficult time finding clothes which allowed them to look pretty and be comfortable in action.

Bowling bags and shoes are getting the fashion treatment, too.

Both snow bunnies and those who are experts on skis will look alike this winter, thanks to handsome but inexpensive ski wear.

Sleek stretch pants now fit into the budget of even the occasional ski weekend. And to wear with them, there are parkas of fake fur, corduroy or prettily quilted cotton.

FAVOR CORDUROY

Experts will take to wide wale corduroy pants and top them with a bulky Scandinavian style sweater.

Modern ice rinks are opening overnight in suburban shopping centers.

If you're learning to skate, dress the part. It's fun. The short jumper dress in flannel or corduroy worn over a sweater or wool skirt is both pretty and practical.

This skier looks sleek in blue and black striped corduroy parka with matching blue stretch pants. The topper

MRS. B. A. LAMPHERE

Victoria Person, flower girl, wore floor-length white silk brocade with Ming blue cummerbund.

On the esquire side were Ronald Joseph, best man, with the bride's brother Alan seating guests with Gary Salisbury and David TerMarsh.

After a reception in the Community Activities Building, Waterford, the newlyweds left for a brief honeymoon. They will live on Pingree Street until the bridegroom leaves for spring training with the Cleveland Indians Baseball Club at Daytona Beach. Their home will then be in Lakeland Fla.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ryden wore a beige brocade sheath dress with chiffon bodice and short fitted jacket, matching accessories and small feather pillow hat. Her flowers were pale green cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Lamphere chose brown accessories to complement her jacket dress of coffee-shade silk brocade. Her corsage was of beige cymbidium orchids.

Entertaining at showers for the bride were Mrs. Clarence Carlson of Bloomfield Hills, with Mrs. Roy Lewis, co-hostess; Mrs. Hudson Hill and Mrs. Frank Perna at the former's home in Rochester; and Judith Rouse and Kay Christopherson.

Antique Show Slated

Eighteen dealers will be represented at the antique show and sale to be sponsored at the temple by the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Jacob Dec. 4, 5 and 6.

Committee chairmen named for the event are Mrs. Harold Chapman and Mrs. Marion Telan, general chairmen; Mrs. Herman Stenback, press chairman; Mrs. Nat Morrison, posters; Mrs. A. J. Simmons, direct mail; Mrs. Benjamin Blagoev, dealer signs; and Mrs. Harry Ackerman, dining room with cochairmen Mrs. Raymond Rapaport and Mrs. Sherwin Birnkant.

Chairman of tickets, Mrs. Sam Stolorow will be assisted by cochairmen Mrs. Arthur Benson and Mrs. Irving Gordon.

A needlework shop selling handmade gift items will be under the direction of Mrs. Eugene Ketchel and Mrs. Malcolm Kahn.

Hours of the show will be from noon to 10 p.m. Dec. 4, from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Dec. 5 and from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Dec. 6. The dining room will be open during the entire show.

Authentic antiques for show and sale will include furniture, glass, china, copper, silverware, jewelry and old coins and stamps.

Pastel portraits will be executed by an artist at a reasonable fee, according to Mrs. Stenback.

Caller May Be Phony

Ignore Nasty Message

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This morning I received a telephone call from a man who would not tell me his name. He just told me to give my husband a message.

The message was please to stay away from his wife. I almost fainted. He said his wife worked with my husband and if I gave my husband that message he would know who the woman was. I gave him the message and he said somebody must be playing a joke on me.

I am expecting in 3 months and am so upset and nervous I can't think about anything else. Should I believe my husband or try to get to the bottom of it?

NERVOUS AND UPSET DEAR NERVOUS: An anonymous telephone call is not worthy of your consideration. It could have been a "joke," a troublemaker, or a wrong number.

DEAR ABBY: I wear glasses. I have had a boy say to me, "I wish you would take off your glasses when I am trying to kiss you." Well, Abby, how is a girl supposed to know when a boy is going to try to kiss her? I would feel pretty foolish taking off my glasses when he didn't even have it in mind.

FOUR EYES

DEAR FOUR EYES: When you find approximately 12 inches between your nose and his nose — if the time, place and the boy are right — slip your glasses off.

DEAR ABBY: My son, who is 19, is in the service and is stationed at a nearby camp. He and a 15-year-old girl who lives in our home town claim to be married. The girl says she doesn't want her parents to know it as they think she's too young.

Every weekend my son comes home and the two of them spend the weekend here in this house like a married couple. I ask them to show me their marriage license and they say one of their friends has it. I'm a widow and don't know how to handle this alone.

WORRIED MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: DO NOT allow your son and this girl to weekend together until they provide proof of their marriage. Married or not, your son needs supervision and so does the girl. Meet her parents immediately and find out what the situation is — or be prepared for trouble later.

DEAR ABBY: You stated that Judo was short for Jujitsu. You are mistaken. Judo is a sport and Jujitsu is the weaponless art of self-defense. The aggressive movements of the attacker are used against himself by the use of leverage and off-balancing techniques. You are forgiven, however, because very few people know the difference.

JUDO INSTRUCTOR

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want To Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

DEAR ABBY: I have been reading a lot lately about people who have "willed" their eyes to a blind person. I am over 21 and would like to do this. How do I go about it, please?

JAY L. DEAR JAY: Get to touch with an International Lions Club or the medical school in your area, for full particulars.

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of The Pontiac Press and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers ALL letters.

Winter Theme for Concert

A theme, "Winter Prelude," has been chosen by the Waterford Civic Chorus for its Dec. 5 concert.

The group under the direction of Richard Meier will present selections from "Music Man" as well as traditional Christmas music at the 8 p.m. affair which will be staged at the Isaac Curry Junior High School.

Individual soloists and ensembles will be heard and the program will be climaxed with community singing of carols.

Sampling their wares are Blue Birds Karen Wilson, 9, (at left) of Fernbarry Drive and Brenda Briles, 8, of Auwater Drive. They are among Camp Fire Girls of the Pontiac Council participating in their annual sale of candy to improve facilities at Camp Oweki near Clarkston. A percentage of their profits is also returned to each group, according to the executive director, Doris Beck.

Learn to Say 'No' to Child's Demands

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Josie's chameleon Lynn lives in the big, beautiful white house on the corner. In it Lynn has her own pink-tiled bathroom to match her bedroom's pinks and soft grays. Recently she acquired a telephone of her own, too—a gray one on which she can conduct conversations in private.

Yesterday after walking home from school with her, Josie used it to tell her mother where she was. So impressed was she with it that as soon as she got home she demanded a private telephone. Her mother exploded. "I never heard of such nonsense in my life!" she said angrily. "A child of 11 with her own telephone!

You're spoiled, that's what you are. Go on, go on up to your room and change your school skirt!"

But tonight after Josie has retired, her mother will ask her father what he thinks of installing an extension in Josie's bedroom. Like millions of us, Josie's mother has a terrible time with self-reproach when she doesn't grant her children's demands. So, like us again, she indulges them.

Our critics ascribe this overindulgence of ours to our "materialism"—to such secret envy of our neighbor's possessions that we cannot stand the thought of denying Josie the same private telephone privilege that Lynn enjoys.

The critic forgot that for years this so-called "materialism" of ours has been encouraged by child guidance experts' promotion of the psychological theory that frustration equals hostility.

Seven times out of 10, we give Josie the thing she asks for, not because we are materialistically curious of the things Lynn's parents give their child but because we fear that denial will make Josie hate us.

Now the child guidance experts, scared by the damage done by their "frustration equals hostility" formula, are hinting that a firm and composed "No" does not destroy a child's affection.

But they do not refer us to authorities who have helped to change their position. They do not tell us that a great modern psychiatrist like the late Dr. Karen Horney wrote:

"In Freud's theory frustration as such is supposed to arouse hostility. Actually, healthy adults and children are well able to endure a considerable amount of frustration without any reaction of hostility."

We need to absorb such words if we are ever to learn again how to say "No" without the anger derived from fear of Josie's hate.

Host Berean Class at Recent Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Bee of Stirling Avenue were hosts to the Berean Class of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church Friday evening.

Mrs. Howard Tanner, Mrs. William Bray and Mrs. Walter Napier were appointed to a committee to plan a show of Christmas gifts for a needy family.

The William Group was in charge of refreshments, and the Levey Group arranged the program.

Sixty Attend Bible Class's Co-Op Meal

Sixty members and guests of the Fellowship Bible Class of First Baptist Church attended a cooperative dinner Tuesday at the church. The Rev. James A. Savage, missionary on furlough from the International Youth for Christ in South America, spoke on various religious and political phases in that continent.

Mrs. T. B. Johnson entertained with a vocal solo and Mrs. Savage joined her husband in a duet and was the accompanist for his trombone solo.

Appointed to represent the class in church visitations were the John McCormicks, the Burnett-Stewarts, and the E. R. Lascumbes.

The program was planned by the Gilbert Wrights and Mrs. Harry Whitley. Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Brown were dinner committee chairmen.

Women Are on the Job in Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Nigerian independence has caused a tremendous boost to women's emancipation in the country's predominantly Moslem northern region.

Girls in the vast spaces of the North who have lived for years in Islamic seclusion are now getting out and about in the world of men.

A Lagos newspaper columnist says Northern women are now getting ready "to work side by side with their men for the progress of our newly born nation. Gone are the days when they were content to leave all the work to the menfolk."

More and more Northern women are taking up teaching, nursing and office work which previously were closed to them. One has made history by becoming the first Northern girl to be appointed assistant manager of a busy Government-financed hotel. Previously women of the North would seldom have been seen in public in a hotel before independence was proclaimed on Oct. 1.

For Better Homemaking

Now is the time to get cupboards, in order before the holiday rush. Clean shelves, restocked, are a busy homemaker's trick for easing holiday strain.

Check Those Supplies

Cupboard Need Cleaning?

Holiday entertaining (and the strain it puts on kitchen facilities) is one compelling reason to get pantry shelves and cupboards in apple-pie order now.

There isn't any fast and easy way to clean a kitchen cupboard or to check supplies.

Every cup, casserole, can, cereal box, spice jar and utensil right down to and including the shelf paper has to be cleaned from shelves.

If you can remove the shelves, do so. This simplifies cleaning in the corners. A bottle brush or long-handled sponge is a useful gadget for reaching deep into cupboard corners.

Homemakers plagued by an unusual number of insect invaders ask if it is necessary to spray cleaned cupboards with insecticide. Whether to spray or not depends,

I'm told, on the type of bug that's bothering you.

Often the presence of bugs in a cupboard has been traced to infested flour or cereal which has been sitting on the shelf all summer.

Removing the source of the trouble plus a thorough cleaning usually solves the problem. Other bugs, like box-elder, are pests for a short time, then disappear.

If you do decide to spray, remember to follow directions faithfully to avoid contamination and permit the spray to dry before restocking the cupboard.

A freshly papered shelf, clean, empty and waiting for its contents, is a rewarding sight. Some shelf coverings are re-usable.

Rubber mats, for example, can be washed and re-used many times. You'll find them good on deep shelves where heavy utensils are stored. They deaden the clatter and they don't slip and tear.

Oil cloth, adhesive-backed plastic and crisp paper are also favorites. If paper curls, try this trick: put short strips of double-faced tape on the shelf edge.

As you restock a shelf, you are apt to find more than one dab of the same spice, two opened sacks of noodles or an oatmeal box with nothing in it. These are the space grabbers which can be quickly eliminated.

Also get reacquainted with what's in the back of the cupboard and bring it forward to be used up.

Separating and arranging pantry foods according to their kind (soup, canned vegetables, etc.) saves valuable time later.

Spicy Drop Cookies Are Good After School Snack

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Cookies and milk make a satisfying afternoon snack for your school-age youngsters. Make up a batch of Mrs. Ernest Howe's Drop Hermits. The nuts in them add some protein to the goodies; the raisins add minerals.

Mrs. Howe of Lake Orion has what she calls a "king size hobby"—redoing an old farmhouse. She is active in the DeMolay Mothers.

DROP HERMITS

By Mrs. Ernest Howe

- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 cup sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 1/2 cup almonds
- 1/2 cup raisins

Cream butter or margarine and sugar. Beat until fluffy. Add beaten eggs. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with milk. Add nuts and raisins.

Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Bake 12-15 minutes at 350 degrees.

Elizabeth Circle Sews Dressings

The Elizabeth Circle of First Christian Church met for a luncheon with Mrs. Levi Geasler Tuesday. Nine members and two guests attended.

Mrs. Paul Colton was in charge of the program. Devotions were read by Mrs. Lula Buckler.

Needn't Look Institutional

Home Office Can Be Smart

CHICAGO (UPI)—The decorator-styled office furnishings and equipment now available are a perfect choice for the home office or office corner in living rooms or bedrooms.

Typewriters in jewel colors, file cabinets encased in walnut or mahogany and swivel chairs upholstered in rich fabrics—all are decorative enough for an office corner even in the most feminine room.

Lightly scaled, but still functional desks in patterned and fine-grained woods also help avoid the institutional look in the home office.

Designer Larry Peabody's version of such a desk features cantilevered drawers and a choice of African zebra wood, walnut or teak finish. It has a 28-by-54 inch work surface, but graceful lines make it look smaller.

Peabody's desk chair, designed expressly for the home office, can double as an occasional and dining chair.

It has a comfortable molded plywood back and upholstered seat. To save space in the home office, there are shelves and storage cabinets that can be hung on the wall.

While most wall-hung units must be permanently positioned, a new group of Danish imports (Royal System) is suspended from wall rails, allowing all units to be slid into any convenient position.

Desk accessories in such vivid colors as pumpkin, turquoise or flame add the final decorator touch to the home office.

Use Constant, Constant Care

Dry Skin Is Winter's Guest

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Since winter is here the problem of dry skin is exaggerated. Cold weather and rugged winds dry out the natural oils in the skin most rapidly. For some women dry skin is a hazard at any season. Even those with normal skin may have trouble during the colder months. When the sebaceous glands in the skin act normally, the complexion will be soft and normal. When these glands are overactive, the skin is oily.

When they are lazy, the skin is very dry. When we remember the heating our face and neck take from the weathering process, and also that the natural oils in the skin decrease with age, we realize how important it is that we protect our outer coating.

During winter months give your complexion an extra amount of lubrication and use a base which is designed for dry skin under your powder. Be faithful in the use of a lotion each time you wash your hands.

Many women who have excessively dry skin experience discomfort following the bath during cold months. The use of a bath oil is a great help. Also be sure to dry yourself thoroughly when you get out of the tub. Then use a creamy, softening lotion.

In order to avoid callouses on the feet massage a cream or lotion into them every single day, or following your bath at night. If these already have developed, use a pumice stone on them while bathing and then follow with the cream or lotion.

Diabetics must not do this, but must treat their feet with meticulous care. If you do not know about this your doctor will tell you.

There are many conditions which can lead to an extremely dry skin.

During winter months give your complexion an extra amount of lubrication. Be faithful in the use of a lotion each time you wash your hands. The use of a bath oil also helps.

A semi-annual sudsing, before help to keep furniture in good condition, applying new wax or polish, will do it.

EMILY POST'S

Good Taste Today
Question: A business acquaintance of my husband and his wife were in our neighborhood the other evening and stopped in to pay us a call. Soon after their arrival, the wife took out a cigarette and started to smoke.

The ash on the cigarette grew longer and longer but she made no attempt to flick it off even though there was an ash tray right beside her. I thought it was going to fall on the floor any minute, so I picked up the ash tray and handed it to her, assuming that she didn't see it.

My husband thinks I embarrassed our guest by doing this. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

Answer: It would have been more polite to have said to her, "Oh, I'm afraid that ash is going to fall on your dress" as you handed her the ash tray.

Question: I am going to give a party for a friend who is soon taking a trip to Europe. She is going by plane. I plan to have a cake made for this party and the question has come up as to whether or not it would be proper to have "Bon Voyage" written on the cake.

I say that "Bon Voyage" applies only to a trip by sea and that "Happy Landings" or something similar would be most appropriate in this instance. What is correct?

Answer: My own first choice would be "Happy Landings."

Question: I am constantly receiving mail addressed to Mr. Jessie Brown. I am Miss. The masculine form of Jessie is Jesse but apparently many people do not know this. In writing letters to people who do not know me, would it be correct for me to sign my name Miss Jessie Brown in order to avoid confusion.

Answer: I'm sorry, but it would not be correct to sign your name Miss Jessie Brown, but you may sign your name with Miss in parenthesis following it in this way—Miss (Miss).

Question: Who is actually required to attend a wake? Is it necessary for a person to go the wake of one he (or she) does not know but who is a relative of a neighbor?

My next-door neighbor recently lost her brother. He lived in this town but was a stranger to me so I did not go to the wake. I understand she is very hurt because I did not go.

Answer: If your neighbor is a close friend and you knew of her brother's death, it would have been no more than right for you to go. The fact that you did not know him personally should not have kept you from going. It is your sympathy for her that takes you.

The speaker emphasized consistency of purpose in forming correct habits, posture, use of hands, ease in sitting and walking and care of the skin. 'Means Premature Imprisonment'

Margaret Mead Raps Campus Marriage

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK (UPI)—Boy meets girl on a college or university campus. But should boy marry girl?
Margaret Mead, internationally famous anthropologist, writer, lecturer, and traveler believes that with rare exceptions the answer is "no."
Too often, she holds, the undergraduate marriage—a growing trend in our nation—means the "premature imprisonment of young people, before they have had a chance to explore their own minds and the minds of others, in a kind of desperate, devoted symbiosis."

Dr. Mead is associate curator of ethnology at the American Museum of Natural History and adjunct professor of anthropology at Columbia University. She discusses the compatibility of college and marriage in an article copyrighted by Editorial Projects for Education, Baltimore, and carried in the current Barnard College alumnae magazine.

"One of the requirements of such a (campus) life," she writes, "has been freedom from responsibility. Founders and administrators . . . have struggled through the years to provide places where young men and more recently young women . . . would be free—in a way they can never be free again—to explore before they settle on the way their lives are to be lived.

"This freedom once . . . included freedom from domestic responsibilities.

"Civilization as we know it was preceded by a prolongation of the learning period . . . in which young people still protected and supported were free to explore the past and dream of the future.

"May it not be a new barbarism to force them to marry so soon?"

Force, she writes, is the right word. The mothers who worry about boys and girls who don't begin dating in high school start the process.

Dr. Mead sees two "ominous" trends in undergraduate marriages.

One, the young people have no chance to find themselves. They start a family, get financial help from parents and "at 30 they are still immature and dependent, their future mortgaged . . . neither husband nor wife realizing the promise that a different kind of undergraduate life might have enabled each to fulfill . . ."

"The second kind . . . is more tragic," she writes. "Here, the marriage is based on the boy's promise and the expendability of the girl." She goes to work "at some secondary job" to support her husband while he finishes his degree, supporting him, "thus underlining his immature status. As soon as he becomes independent, he leaves her."

Dr. Mead concludes that "it may be that any domesticity takes the edge off the eager, flaring curiosity on which we must depend for the great steps that man must take, and take quickly, if he and all living creatures are to continue on this earth."

Saved by a 'Foke'

(UPI)—It's so skin off the leopard's back, but about 100,000 imitation leopard garments will have been sold this fall in stores across the country. The estimate is based on mill yardage figures and cutter reports. Fur coat makers say it takes five leopard skins to make a full coat. The mock garments have "saved" quite a few leopards from extinction.

Next to Nothing

(UPI)—The world's lightest swimsuit for the cruise season weighs just four and one-half ounces — including the built-in bra and zipper. It's so sheer you can read your morning newspaper through it, the manufacturer claims. But it's completely modest when the body's in it. Tied to four balloons during a recent fashion show, the suit floated up and away.

Street Busy With Sightseers

Kennedys' Block Goes National

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What happens to a quiet neighborhood when "the couple next door" becomes the next President and First Lady of the United States?

On weekends it becomes a national thoroughfare, according to the neighbor of President - Elect John F. Kennedy.

But usually the only thing distinguishing the red brick, federal style Kennedy home are the Secret Service men in front, some new "No Parking" signs and an occasional car full of sightseers.

The Kennedys have a three-story home on a tree-lined street in Georgetown—a restored, historic section of the nation's capital.

Their neighbors on N Street seem to like the excitement of having a president-to-be next door. They don't mind the new "No Parking" signs attached to trees across from the Kennedy home despite the scarcity of parking space in the area.

Most neighbors think the traffic was heavier during the campaigning days. One neighbor couldn't stop his car in front of his home long enough to carry in his groceries once when a crowd had gathered to await Kennedy's arrival.

"It's comfortable to have Secret Service men around, however," he said.

The crowds generally appear on Sundays but are relatively quiet and polite, said Helen Montgomery, whose home is across the street from the Kennedy residence. "They clap, but don't cheer," she said.

"I'll lose my job," laughed Alice Burwell, a housekeeper in another nearby home, "from standing in the door watching all day."

The Nixon - for - President signs that adorned a few homes in the neighborhood have now disappeared. During the campaign one prankster painted "Nixon" in oil paints on the brick sidewalk in front of the Kennedy house, but no trace is left now.

Another neighbor, Mrs. Toni Bradley, said occasionally artists set up their easels across the street and sketch the house.

Two houses near the Kennedy home are for sale, but not for political reasons. One has been on the market for many months and having a president - elect in the neighborhood doesn't seem to have helped sell it, one resident said.

Oil Firm Develops Antismog Car Device

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — An Illinois firm reports it has developed an antismog device for autos that soon will be ready for mass production.

Robert E. Sutherland, vice president of the Universal Oil Products Co., said the catalytic muffler would cost about $30 more than the conventional muffler and would greatly reduce exhaust emissions which form smog.

Sutherland told members of the State Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board that the muffler would more than meet proposed state standards for filtering out hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide from auto exhaust. He said mass production would start as soon as present tests are completed.

DETROIT (UPI) — The Automotive Manufacturers Association report U.S. motor vehicle production last week totaled 159,888 units, including 138,843 cars and 21,045 trucks and buses.

This compared with 145,567 cars and 19,090 trucks and buses in the previous week.

Through Nov. 12 the auto industry has turned out 6,838,137 vehicles in 1960, compared with 5, 599,912 at the same time last year, according to the association.

Dodge Truck Warranty Extended to 12 Months

DETROIT (UPI)—Dodge Division of Chrysler Corp. has extended the warranty on its 1961 line of trucks to 12 months or 12,000 miles, which ever comes first.

This is in line with a general industry move this year to extend warranties from the previous standard of 4,000 miles and 90 days.

Methodists Number Nearly 13 Million

Says World War Bred Drunks

Alcoholics Anonymous Cofounder Calls Crop Terrific

NEW YORK (AP)—World War II produced a "terrific" crop of confirmed drunks, says Bill W., the only surviving cofounder of Alcoholics Anonymous.

There are about five million compulsive drinkers in the United States, of which nearly half need help, said compulsive drinkers are getting younger and younger, he added.

Bill W., members never use their last names — was honored guest at two days of conferences and a dinner Monday night sponsored by the New York Inter-group Association of Alcoholics Anonymous in celebration of the organization's 25th anniversary. About 2,000 AA members from 35 states attended.

"Our impression," said Bill W., once a highly successful New York stock broker, "is that alcoholism is on the increase, although statistics are hard to come by. The crop of confirmed drunks turned out by World War II was terrific." He said half of the drunks, who are AA help are in the comparatively young 30 to 40 age group.

Sec. Mitchell Getting Treatment for Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell is in Walter Reed Army Hospital recovering from a back injury incurred during his active campaigning for the Republican cause.

"Somewhere along the line in the latter days of the campaign," an aide said, "he twisted his back and it started bothering him."

Mitchell believes it may have been getting out of a small plane. The labor secretary campaigned in some 16 or 17 states, making 60 or 70 speeches, sometimes several a day.

He entered the hospital last Friday and expects to leave in a day or two. "The injury is described as not serious, only somewhat uncomfortable."

Heart Patient Beep Warner Nearly Ready

BALTIMORE (AP) — The doctor carries a receiver no larger than a pack of cigarettes in his pocket. Somewhere in the city, there is a deviation in the heart rate of the doctor's patient. Instantly, a high-pitched alarm signal comes from the monitor in the doctor's pocket. That's the mode of operation for a new transmitter device which Westinghouse Electric Corp. announced is almost ready for the market. Westinghouse said it will operate up to 2 1/2 miles from the patient. The receiving set will be able to pick up signals from several individual patients. During a normal pulse, it transmits a beep signal.

Bonsal Will Serve on Council of OAS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Philip W. Bonsal, U.S. ambassador to Cuba, will serve as the temporary U.S. representative on the council of the Organization of American States, the State Department announced. Bonsal returned from Cuba for consultation about three weeks ago. At the OAS, he replaces ambassador John C. Dreier who resigned Nov. 15. While Bonsal has kept his ambassadorial post to Havana, there is no indication he will return to Cuba in the foreseeable future. State Department officials refused to speculate on whether Bonsal will be appointed permanent U.S. representative to the OAS. Such an appointment has been rumored here for some time.

Scientists Studying Freight to Satellite

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force has ordered scientists to look into the possibility of "a transport space craft" to deliver essential supplies to future manned earth satellites. Douglas Aircraft Co., Santa Monica, Calif., has been given a $150-

248 contract to study the problem. The Air Force said Monday the vehicle would be "designed to deliver food, water and other essentials to men in earth satellites." An indication of the long-range nature of the project was seen in the relatively small amount of money so far invested in it. The Douglas project carries the code name Slomar, meaning space logistics, maintenance and rescue. The Air Force said Douglas engineers would study the needs for providing "complete logistics support of manned satellites." Receives Study Grant BERKELEY, Calif. White Lake to Hire Experts on Zoning

By JIM LONG

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—Several experts on zoning and land use will be engaged by the township to present its arguments in Circuit Court against the construction of a drag strip here.

The decision to hire two professional land planners was made last night by the township board after receiving a letter from township attorney Paul M. Mandel requesting "expert" witnesses.

The township is being sued by Robert Amos, owner of the Fun-the Speedway on M-16, because he has been denied permission to complete a drag strip he began constructing more than a year ago on his property.

The action last night met with the unanimous approval of the 25 persons gathered for the regular township meeting.

A half-dozen persons, mostly those living in the eastern portion of the township where the drag strip is proposed, voiced objections to Amos' plan.

All regarded the proposed strip as "a nuisance" and felt that if the project is allowed to be built a precedent could be set resulting in a "detritment to the community."

The township board agreed with one woman in the audience that the main objective in winning the case is to "preserve the validity of the township zoning ordinance."

When Amos had already started constructing his drag strip on the speedway he discovered that he needed 15 acres adjacent to his property rezoned from agriculture to commercial.

He was turned down by the zoning board and the zoning board of appeals.

The 15 acres is needed, Amos said, to have the cars make a safe U-turn on completion of the race and return to the starting area.

Amos claims he has spent $50,000 in building the strip so far and another $40,000 would be needed to complete it.

The township board and attorney Mandel will get together before the January hearing to determine what "experts" will appear at the trial.

Gunaca Wins Parole, Will Return to State

MADISON, Wis. — John Gunaca, one-time United Auto Workers Union official convicted on assault charges stemming from the 1954 strike, has won parole from a Wisconsin prison and will be permitted to return to his home state of Michigan.

The State Department of Public Welfare, smoothing the parole, said it had attached a condition that Gunaca avoid further union activity.

Gunaca was sentenced June 16, 1959, to two concurrent three-year terms for assault on a prison guard.

The victims of the alleged 1954 attack were William Bersch and his son, both of whom were killed during the years he was at the Kohler plumbing-firm fire. A UAW strike began April 5, 1954 and continued until this year.

In recommending Gunaca be granted freedom, the parole board said it noted he had no prior convictions either before the offense or during the years he was at the factory fighting extradition from Michigan.

The welfare department said the State of Michigan had agreed to accept responsibility for supervising the parole.

Ernest Shawcross, 58, of Detroit died of a heart attack Tuesday while hunting in Mentor Township, Oscoda County, near West Branch.

Robert Powers, 62, of Oscoda, who was hunting in Willow Township, died shortly after a heart attack and died shortly after the season opened.

Robert Ryan, 36, of 412 Josephine St., Royal Oak, was treated for a gunshot wound in the leg. Police said he and a companion were sitting in a station wagon near Iron Mountain when a rifle fired from a seat and discharged.

Rodney G. Decker, 56, of Flushing, suffered a pierced lung and fractured rib when he was struck by a .22 caliber bullet. Police said the rifle was fired by Michael Taylor, 15, of Newaygo, while the two were hunting in Redding Township, Clare County.

Robert Hill, 15, of Newaygo, was

Orion Committee Chosen Group Will Consider Park Site

ORION TOWNSHIP—Six members of a seven-man committee have been appointed to study the possibility of purchasing a park site to serve both the township and the village of Lake Orion.

The committee, made up of three village councilmen and three township board members, will work toward establishing a joint recreation program for the two communities, according to Village President Irvine J. Unger.

Named to serve on the committee last night were township board members Edward Knickerbocker, William O'Brien and George C. Collingwood.

Appointed as the village's representatives were councilmen

Lake Orion's existing village park is not considered large enough to accommodate both township and village residents so it is likely that another site will be bought, Unger said.

The possibility of the two communities purchasing a new park site was suggested in August following the closing of the village-owned park to township residents.

CRACKDOWN—Lake Orion officials began enforcing a 1956 ordinance last summer following a swimming accident in the park which resulted in serious injury to a Pontiac boy.

The ordinance permits only villagers to use the park.

The Lake Orion council believed that stricter enforcement of the often-ignored ordinance was necessary since the village could not afford to be involved in law suits which may result from injuries sustained by persons from outside the village.

The council also complained that the cost of maintaining the park had risen because of its increased use by outsiders.

Township parents, who suddenly found the park closed to their children, presented petitions, protesting the restrictions being enforced at the park.

Township and village officials then promised the petitioners that the two municipalities would give serious consideration to establishing a joint recreation facility next season.

The cost of buying and developing a park site probably will be financed through a tax levied by the township, Unger explained.

DETROIT (AP) — Trouble shooters were assigned to Cobo Hall by Mayor Louis Miriani today in connection with convention exhibitors' complaints. Miriani said he hoped this could solve the problem.

Exhibitors of the American Bottlers and Carbonates Beverages Convention complained that unions made excessive charges and intruded on exhibit installation work. The unions denied this.

Church members have elected Jack Haupt chapel warden to head the Holy Trinity committee, with Wallace Whitmore secretary and Mrs. James Glensie treasurer.

Until a regular church building can be erected, the congregation is meeting at 9:30 a.m. Sundays in the lobby of Clarkson Elementary School on Walden Road.

Leaders of 7 Counties to Hear Experts Speak

ROME — Community leaders from seven counties will converge on this village Tuesday to take part in an industrial development workshop presented by experts from state and national organizations.

Among the groups to be represented at the workshop are the U.S. Department of Commerce, the Small Business Administration and the Michigan Department of Economic Development.

The day-long session, which is the third in a series to be held in the state, is slated to run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Romeo Community Youth and Civic Center.

It is cosponsored by the MDED and the Romeo Area Improvement Association.

A panel discussion will follow a welcoming address by Acting Village President John Kepler and remarks by General Chairman James W. Cray, secretary of the Romeo Area Development Association.

William F. Jewell, regional area development specialist for the U.S. Department of Commerce, will discuss how the federal government can aid communities in industrial development.

Small Business Administration loan policies will be explained by Robert Lehman, who is chief of the SBA's investment division in Detroit.

Other representatives include Dr. Harlan T. Smith, president of the newly organized Michigan Equity Corp., and George Catlin, director of the Detroit Edison Co.'s area development division.

The purpose of the workshop, according to MDED Director Donald Weeks, is to help community leaders establish a sound and effective industrial development program.

Among the topics to be discussed will be how to make an industrial survey, developing sites for industry, forming an industrial development corporation and the makeup and operation of a working industrial development committee.

Already planning to attend the workshop are civic leaders from Oakland, Macomb, Lapeer, St. Clair, Sanilac, Tuscola and Huron counties.

Sessions on industrial development were held earlier this month at Dowagiac and Clare.

Construction Pact Let for 4,000-Acre Park Northeast of Rochester

Work on the proposed 4,000-acre Stoney Creek Metropolitan Park, three miles northeast of Rochester, will begin immediately, it was announced today.

The first construction contract was awarded to a Center Line firm yesterday, according to Clarence Clinton Metropolitan Authority officials.

At its November meeting the board of commissioners for the authority awarded a $775,000 contract to the E. C. Nolan & Jarvis Construction Co.

The contract is for construction of the upper dam and bridge which will carry parkway traffic within the park.

The park will have a 700-acre lake and space for boating, fishing, swimming, picnic areas, roads for equestrian riding and trails for cross-country skiing.

The park is tentatively scheduled to open in 1963, according to Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, authority director.

RAGGON, Burma (AP)—Police today searched a road 30 miles north of Rangoon for the help of a wealthy Indian industrialist missing from home since Monday night.

Moosa Madha, 31, the heir, was believed to have been kidnapped.

Sources close to the Madha family said the missing man's disappearance was found abandoned with a demand demanding 1,500,000 kyats—$327,000.

The Madha family owns one of Burma's biggest soap and umbrella-making concerns.

Moosa Madha was kidnapped three years ago. The family was reported to have paid nearly $200,000 kyats for his release.

Wirts, a member of the law firm of Stevenson, Erikland and Wirts, was chairman of the wage stabilization board and a member of the Illinois Liquor Control Commission. He has also taught law at the University of Iowa and Northwestern University.

The public review board makes final decision on appeals from individual members of union localities on alleged violations of ethical practices in the UAW.

George A. Roeper, headmaster at the school, will be the guest speaker. He will discuss "Compulsive Education in the U.S.S.R., West Europe, Far East and United States."

Six area schools are members of the association. They are the Bloomfield County Day School, Brookside School, City and Country School, Cranbrook School, Detroit Country Day School, and Kingswood School, Cranbrook.

The group will direct the church's organizational operation.

Top Business, Labor, Government Leaders to Meet Tonight

A citizens' committee of top-ranking government, business and labor leaders will meet tonight at 8 p.m. today to map long-range economic developments in Royal Oak Township.

Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, R-Oakland County, was asked to sponsor a "cooperative citizens effort" for development in the township by Paul D. Bagwell, defeated Republican candidate for governor.

Lodge said today the committee will work toward "assisting in upgrading of the township."

"One of the prime concerns of the committee will be to study job placement and job opportunities for township residents, 50 per cent of whom are on welfare," Lodge said.

TAX SUGGESTIONS

The group also will make suggestions on how to improve the tax base in the township which was developed as a wartime housing community in 1945.

The all-Negro township's Carter School District was annexed to the Oak Park School District Thursday.

Lodge said a nucleus of a leadership group invited to take part in the meeting either will attend themselves or will be represented.

Three major areas to be investigated are vocational training for township residents, establishment of a permanent economic development commission to lure industry to the community and cooperation with state agencies on an employment placement program.

When he suggested the committee, Bagwell cited the township's urban renewal program now under way as bearing "a great deal of promise for the future."

He warned, however, that it will not be completely successful unless it is followed by constructive citizen action.

Clergyman Links 2 Callings

ROCHESTER — Featured speaker at the Rochester Union Thanksgiving Service Tuesday at 8 p.m. will be Dr. Richard K. Toner, professor of chemical engineering at the Institute of Advanced Studies, Princeton University.

Dr. Toner will deliver a sermon on the topic, "Can God Speak to the Scientific World?"

The Rochester Ministerial Association is sponsoring this unique service in the belief that the community at large is interested in the religious convictions of eminent men and women.

Today, an association spokesman said today.

The service will be held in the cafeteria of Rochester High School. Dr. Toner works in his laboratory during the week and on Sunday occupies the pulpit at an Episcopal clergyman. In the midst of a successful career at the age of 38, he became a postulate for Holy Orders in the Episcopal Church.

He studied at General Theological Seminary and was ordained a priest in 1955.

Besides doing his present work at Princeton, he is priest associate of Trinity Parish in Princeton, N. J., and chaplain to Episcopal students at the Fiedler School in Hightstown, N. J.

Holder of a master's and a doctor's degree in chemical engineering, he served at Princeton University. Dr. Toner taught at Purdue, Lehigh and New York universities before going to Princeton.

He also serves as consultant to the Textile Research Institute.

The choir of St. Paul's Methodist Church will sing several Thanksgiving anthems during the union service.

Included on the committee that planned this service were the Rev. Herbert Homan, the Rev. Kyle Elliot and the Rev. Robert Jacobson.

Transit Strike Paralyzes LA

750,000 Daily Riders Stranded in 4-County Area; Court Defied

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Public transportation for 750,000 daily riders in a vast four-county area ground to a halt today.

Nine hundred mechanics struck the Metropolitan Transit Authority at 12:01 a.m., paralyzing local and interurban bus and trolley service.

Police envisaged a monumental traffic problem as hundreds of thousands of workers were left to their own devices—walking, sharing auto rides or driving their own cars to jobs in the downtown area, where parking conditions are critical even under normal circumstances.

The walkout, in defiance of a fresh court order Tuesday night, was called by the Amalgamated Transportation Union after 18 months of fruitless contract negotiations.

Seen as Possible Peace Offering to Kennedy

Rumors Hint K May Release U.S. Fliers

LONDON (UPI)—Diplomatic dispatches from behind the Iron Curtain reported today that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev may be planning to release two American RB47 fliers early in 1961 as a "peace offering" to President-Elect John F. Kennedy.

The reports were in guarded language and did not cite concrete evidence but said there is "reason of belief" Moscow at least is considering releasing the two Americans whose RB47 reconnaissance plane was shot down in the Arctic July 1.

Khrushchev was reported anxious to establish friendly relations with Kennedy as shown by his quick cable of congratulations and the warmth with which the Soviet press and radio reported news of Kennedy's election.

Today's reports stressed that no final decision appears to have been taken. The sources first reported more than a month ago there were strong indications in Moscow of an indefinite delay in the trial of the two Americans on espionage charges.

(The West Berlin newspaper Telegraph reported today rumors in Moscow that U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers might be released, but there was no mention of this in the diplomatic reports received here thus far.)

The two RB47 fliers in Soviet custody are Capt. Freeman B. Sturtevant, the copilot, 34, of Elmira, N. Y., and Capt. John R. McCone, 38, the navigator, of Tongass, Alaska.

They have refused to admit they were on anything other than a weather reconnaissance mission as claimed by the United States. Four men were killed when the RB47 was shot down by Russian fighter planes but only one body was recovered, that of Capt. Willard G. Palm of Oak Ridge, Tenn., who was returned to the United States for burial.

(In Washington, State Department officials said they have heard "rumors and speculation" the two fliers may be released but have no solid reports.)

Seems to Favor Attorney General Post

Bob Kennedy Can Pick His Spot

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON—Robert Kennedy, a bright young lawyer with an indisputable genius for organization, may be the new attorney general in his brother's cabinet. If so, crooked labor leaders can prepare to take a powder.

The amazing, 35-year-old man who served as John F. Kennedy's campaign manager—and I taught the old political pros many a thing or two—can virtually name his own spot in the new administration.

Bobby has not yet decided what that position will be, but he expects to know by next weekend, after spending this week "thinking" in the sun at Acapulco, Mexico, with his hard-campaigning wife Ethel.

Just before taking off for the brief vacation, he told this correspondent: "Three fields interest me most: Crime prevention, defense and farm policy."

"The title doesn't interest me I want to serve my country in government. But I want to be sure that I have the authority and position to accomplish my goals—to put policies into effect."

Since such authority ordinarily rests only with cabinet officers, I

rational abilities I have to pull the missiles programs together."

I asked about the State Department, and he replied: "Probably my chief value there would be in African affairs. Much needs to be done in that field, and although I have traveled a great deal abroad, my chief knowledge probably centers in African affairs."

Bobby for several years has been active in an Afro-American Council, and is also president of the Kennedy Family Foundation which recently made available the travel money to bring African students to this country for higher education.

Bobby's first love is crime prevention, however, and he left no doubt that the attorney generalship should be his.

If he should decide on that post, and President-Elect Kennedy appoints him to the cabinet, a charge of nepotism would be completely out of place.

Bobby Kennedy, after eight years in government and, spectacular success in exposing labor racketeering, is eminently qualified for the position. Like his younger brother Teddy he is a graduate of Harvard University and of the University of Virginia Law School.

Vatican Paper Hails 'Victory for America'

VATICAN CITY (AP)—L'Osservatore Della Domenica, a weekly magazine published at the Vatican, said today that the election of John F. Kennedy "eliminated a prejudice that had no justification juridically or morally."

The magazine said the election of a Roman Catholic to the presidency of the United States constituted a "victory for the American people rather than for Catholicism as such."

The comment on Kennedy's Catholicism was the first published here since the election. The magazine said Americans enjoy religious freedom and this would have continued to be the case regardless of whether Kennedy or Richard M. Nixon had the Maritime Administration.

On Oct. 30, the agency imposed a wind cave, most widely known as the Black Hills, for the transfer, sale or lease, has been explored so far a chartering of U.S. ships to Cuba distance of approximately 10 miles, or to Cuban nationals.

Drive Squeaks by Goal

MUSKOGEE (AP)—The Muskogean United Appeal campaign went over the top Tuesday, seven dollars with final tabulations showing $605,067 subscribed toward a goal of $605,000.

New Ruling on Ships Hampers Cuba, Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Maritime Administration Tuesday announced a new move designed to hamper trade between Cuba and the Soviet bloc.

The agency said that in future any American ship which is transferred to foreign ownership or leased to a foreigner will not be chartered for use in Soviet bloc-Cuba trade.

The comment on Kennedy's Catholicism was the first published here since the election. The magazine said Americans enjoy religious freedom and this would have continued to be the case regardless of whether Kennedy or Richard M. Nixon had the Maritime Administration.

On Oct. 30, the agency imposed a wind cave, most widely known as the Black Hills, for the transfer, sale or lease, has been explored so far a chartering of U.S. ships to Cuba distance of approximately 10 miles, or to Cuban nationals.

Use Corn Syrup Sauces for Topping Ice Cream

Ice cream has become such an everyday dessert these days that it takes a little doing to make it a treat. Dress it up with a fresh fruit sauce, or a special topping and it is once again back in first place position as a favored refreshment.

For youngsters, by all means make the Peanut Butter Topping. It is a blend of peanut butter and maple-flavor corn syrup. Maple, in case you haven't noticed, is a popular flavor. As a quick ice-cream topping, try pouring maple-flavor syrup over ice cream right from the bottle. Top with toasted almonds.

Pineapple Ice Cream Sauce
1 cup light corn syrup
1 cup pineapple tidbits
Few drops green food coloring
Combine all ingredients. Cover and chill. Serve with ice cream. Makes 1½ cups.

Cherry Sauce
1 cup light corn syrup
1 cup cherry preserves
1 cup light or maple-flavored corn syrup
Blend the preserves and corn syrup. Serve with ice cream. Makes 1½ cups.

Peach Sundae Sauce

1 teaspoon lemon juice
1½ cups sliced peaches
1 cup maple-flavor corn syrup
Sprinkle lemon juice over peaches. Pour on corn syrup. Chill. Serve with ice cream. Makes about 1½ cups.

Peanut Butter Ice Cream Topping
1 cup peanut butter
1 cup maple-flavor corn syrup
Combine and stir until well blended. Use as a topping for ice cream. Makes about 1 cup.

Autumn Chowder

A corn and beef chowder makes a wonderful soup for a fall supper. It's so easy, too. Simply cook 1 small onion (sliced) in a little butter until tender. Blend in a can of condensed beef soup, a soup can of water, and a cup of cooked whole kernel corn. Simmer about 5 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Pretzels Can Scoop Dip Out of 'Living' Bowls

"When you say pretzel, smile!" This parody on The Virginian's famous command well applies to the crisp and crunchy treat that is a universal favorite among all ages and orders of mankind. For the pretzel is a symbol of friendship, good companionship, good eating, and good luck. Just hand a pretzel to someone and watch his or her face light up.

Fresh as a daisy, crisp as celery, good eating by itself or with a worldwide host of other good foods and beverages—that's the friendly pretzel. It has held its same allowed shape for 138 years—ever since it was invented in a European monastery in A.D. 610. Even the space men nibbling pretzels on their first trip to the moon, would not change a crisp and delicious bite of them.

Good by themselves, pretzels come into their full glory when served with a sloppy, sloppy dip that's rich with eggs, tangy with cheese, creamy with onion, creamy with mayonnaise, or stilling with spices. At your next party for youngsters or grown-ups, on the first picnic of the season, or just anywhere, any time, try one of these easy-to-make "dips."

Instead of prosaic bowls, use hollowed-out red or green cabbage surrounded by flowers. Or pineapples, sliced lengthwise through the stem, scooped-out and nestled on a bed of green fern leaves. Grapefruit, unpeeled, and one medium onion.

plants, a half of a ripe watermelon with a bowl set into it—all are eye-catching containers.

Daisy Dip

In bowl, combine 3 hard-cooked eggs, shell and grated; ½ cup real mayonnaise, 1½ tablespoons wine vinegar; ¼ teaspoon grated onion, ¼ teaspoon curry powder. Salt and pepper to taste and add few drops of yellow food color for "yellow" effect. Surround container with daisies. Chill before serving.

Green Goddess Dip

In bowl, mash with fork one 6-oz. package of Philadelphia cream cheese. Add a grated small cucumber, unpeeled, and one medium onion.

on grated. Blend well. Season with salt and pepper and a dash or two of Tabasco. Chill well before serving.

Pancake, Waffle Batter Gets Fancy Additions

Run clear out of breakfast, lunch or supper ideas? Make up your favorite waffle or pancake batter, then add a cup of crisp bacon bits or chopped cooked sausage to the batter before baking.

Deviled Tomatoes Get Mustard Topping

NEW YORK (UPI) — Deviled tomato slices with mustard sauce make a savory lunch or supper dish. Slice 3 large tomatoes thickly and coat with seasoned flour made by adding 1 teaspoon of salt and pepper to taste to ¼ cup of flour. Broil until tender and golden brown on both sides. Divide deviled ham from one 4½-ounce can among slices, and continue to broil until ham bubbles and browns lightly. Serve hot with the mustard cream sauce. Blend 3 tablespoons of melted fat with 2 tablespoons of flour, add 1½ cups of milk slowly and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thick. Add 1½ teaspoons of prepared mustard, ¼ teaspoon of seasoned salt and pepper to taste.

You might like to spoon "Tokay Grape Salad" into pretty red cabbage leaves for individual servings; they become a striking background for the flaming grapes, pale pears and light green celery. This is a salad that goes well with practically any kind of entree, but we find it especially compatible with corn and rice or stinky side pears.

Toss together the grapes, pears, celery and chilled Sour Cream Dressing and spoon into lettuce cups for individual servings or salad bowl, lined with greens.

Liver is an outstanding source of iron which helps form hemoglobin, the red substance of the blood. Liver is also rich in vitamin A, needed for growth and repair of body tissues. It is an excellent source of riboflavin and of niacin, also needed for good health.

Enjoy Local Fresh Mushrooms in Season

Pontiac Press Home Editor
Are you aware that about 70,000 pounds of mushrooms are harvested each week in southeastern Michigan during the fall growing season? In March, April and May this harvest is repeated.

Just over the line in Macomb County there's a tremendous mushroom-producing area—1½ million pounds last year. Two-thirds of the crop is canned; the rest appears on the market. This is the time of year to buy and eat lots of fresh mushrooms.

Someone asked us the other day if these mushrooms were perfectly safe. Absolutely. These are cultivated mushrooms. They receive the sort of care one gives a new baby.

They are grown in houses kept at about 55 degrees. They are picked three times a day, rushed to coolers, packed and sent to the stores immediately. Many producers are now air-conditioning their growing houses and hope to spread the mushroom season over a longer period of time.

Mushrooms have vitamin B and minerals in them. They contain just 66 calories per pound. They require only washing and a minimum of cooking. Never peel them. You can eat them raw, if you like.

At a mushroom luncheon last week press, radio and TV people were treated to some new mushroom dishes. One of them was this stuffed mushroom concoction.

Stuffed Mushrooms Parmesan (Italian)

1 pound fresh mushrooms
4 tablespoons olive oil
½ cup onion, chopped
¼ cup garlic, minced
1 cup fine bread crumbs
1 tablespoon Parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon parsley, chopped
½ teaspoon salt
Fresh strepsin

Wash mushrooms and separate stems and caps. Heat 2 tablespoons olive oil in a skillet, and add onion, garlic and chopped mushroom stems. Cook slowly, until onion is golden. Combine remaining ingredients except caps, and add onion mixture.

Fill mixture into mushroom caps, pour 2 tablespoons olive oil in bottom of a casserole. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes.

Really fresh mushrooms are sooty white. But those that are slightly darkened are all right, probably only bruised. Use them within a short time after buying. If you keep them, store them in the refrigerator. Never discard the juice that results from cooking them nor the juice from canned mushrooms.

Some stores sell mushrooms in bulk. If you see these, get a pound (or two boxes of the packaged ones) for this easy recipe.

Mushroom Feast

1 pound fresh mushrooms
1 cup finely sliced onions
Butter
1 cup red wine
½ cup white cream
¼ cup olive oil
1 teaspoon salt

Saute onions in butter. When they are deep yellow, lift out with a slotted spoon and keep warm. Add more butter to the skillet and saute thinly sliced mushrooms. As soon as mushrooms are golden and the edges begin to brown, add onions and stir together lightly. Keep heat low and stir in wine.

Simmer a few minutes and add sour cream. Cook gently 4-5 minutes to heat through; do not boil. Add freshly ground black pepper and salt to taste.

Serve immediately on hot buttered toast. Serves 4.
Mushrooms add inexpensive glamour to any dish. They complement meat, fish or poultry and stand up well as a dish by themselves. On Friday try this new version of Spanish Rice.

Mushroom Spanish Rice

½ cup bacon drippings or butter
½ cup finely sliced onions
½ cup sliced green pepper
1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms or 6-8 oz. cans
1 cup cooked pre-cooked rice
1½ cups hot water
2 cups tomato sauce
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of paprika
1 teaspoon prepared mustard (optional)

Melt fat in saucepan or skillet. Add onion, green pepper, mushrooms and pre-cooked rice. Cook and stir over high heat until lightly browned. Add remaining ingredients. Mix well. Bring quickly to a boil; reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, for 5 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Leftover Rice

When you have cooked rice left over, mix it with drained crushed pineapple and vanilla pudding for a luscious dessert. Nice garnished with a drizzle of whipped cream and cherries.

Whipped Dry Milk Fluffs Up Pudding

NEW YORK (UPI) — Butter-scented peach Bavarian is a light, fluffy version of a rich dessert.

In a saucepan, combine one-ounce package of butterscotch pudding mix with 1 envelope of unflavored gelatin, ¼ cup of sugar and ¼ cup of rehydrated instant nonfat dry milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cool thoroughly.

Add ½ cup of instant nonfat dry milk to ½ cup of ice water in a mixing bowl. Whip 3 to 4 minutes, or until soft peaks form. Add 2 tablespoons of lemon juice and continue whipping 3 to 4 minutes, or until stiff. Using same beaters, whip pudding until light.

Fold pudding and ½ cup of sliced fruit. Fold in ½ cup of whipped milk. Spoon into 1½-quart serving dish.

Eggs Have Everything That's Good

Eggs at 40 cents a pound? Yes! From the simple arithmetic of determining the cost of eight large eggs, the number in a pound, it can be quickly seen they are among the most economical of all foods. Based upon a dozen eggs at 40 cents, this cost for a pound is only a small portion of the egg economy story, according to Mrs. Kathryn Beale Niles, home economics director for the Poultry and Egg National Board.

Explaining that eggs are one of nature's most nutritional foods, Mrs. Niles said that they contain one of the highest forms of protein... so high, in fact, that eggs are used as a standard for measuring the protein quality of other foods.

Yet, with its unique assortment of important vitamins, minerals and complete protein, one egg contains only 77 calories, she said.

"Also, it would be difficult to find a more versatile food than eggs," the home economist pointed out. Eggs can be served in more than 1,000 ways from only nine methods of preparation and are delicious individually or as part of the traditional delights, such as baked Alaska, Mrs. Niles stressed.

"Good nutrition is important at any cost, but eggs, she said, emphasize a point I've often made... wise food selection can make good nutrition good economy."

Baked Fruit

Bake a bright fruit combination in individual servings for warm last-minute dessert. Arrange canned cling peach slices, pineapple chunks, banana slices and maraschino cherries in individual baking cups. Combine some of syrup from fruit with few drops of almond flavoring; pour over fruit, top with coconut flakes and bake in moderate oven about 30 minutes.

Bids $1,575,000 for Parr Ranch

Laredo Man Purchases South Texas Spread of 55,700 Acres

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP)—Laredo rancher, J. O. Walker, 72, outbid three rivals Tuesday to buy a south Texas ranch sold for $1,575,000 to satisfy creditors of political boss George Parr.

The 55,700-acre ranch astride Nueces River west of here was a showplace where Parr often entertained before '37, when he pleaded bankruptcy.

Walker's final bid at an auction on the county courthouse steps topped the last offer of $1,555,000 from a group represented by Henry T. Grace of Wichita Falls, Tex.

Parr's bankruptcy estate will collect 20 per cent of the sale price. Deval County, the onetime private political domain of Parr, gets the rest. Parr had borrowed $662,000 from the county.

Toledo City Council Votes to Scrap Mail

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The City Council today voted 5-4 to end Toledo's downtown pedestrian mail experiment next week.

The vote by the council's committee-of-the-whole came as mail proponents urged that the four-month trial be extended through Christmas.

Workmen will start removing the mail boxes next Friday, after that Thanksgiving.

Lewis Osterman, president of Downtown Toledo Associates, a group of downtown merchants, said the mail had in many ways hindered rather than helped business.

OTA has maintained that mail should be part of an overall plan for city redevelopment. It opposed and later supported this year's experiment.

The three-block-long mail on Adams Street was the second such trial in the downtown area. In 1959 a four-block area was closed to traffic and landscaped.

Osterman, commenting on continuing the experiment through Christmas, commented:

"The mails in our opinion are going to be a detriment during an important season of the year."

The mail technical committee, a citizens group made up of architects and others interested in city planning, asked that the mail be retained.

Vice Mayor J. B. Simmons, who agreed with the technical committee, told Osterman:

"I'm not so sure you speak for the business community. I don't get that reaction. Downtown Toledo belongs to Toledo, not just the merchants. I think we're learning certain lessons and I'm tired of taking them out and putting them in."

Others opposed to extending the experiment were the Community Traction Co., which operates the city bus system; Paul Robinson, city traffic commissioner; and Ralph Girkins, parks commissioner.

Kennedy arranged to take off from his vacation headquarters in the late afternoon aboard a chartered jet airliner. From Palm Beach he flew to Georgetown Air Force Base near Austin, Tex., and switches there to a small plane for about a 60-mile flight to the LBJ ranch at Johnson City.

Johnson, who moves to the vice presidency in January from his powerful post as Senate Democratic leader, arranged to meet Kennedy at Georgetown and escort him to the ranch.

After a tour of the ranch and dinner, the president-elect and Johnson will get down to serious talking about the Kennedy program for moving America ahead in the 1960s.

Scheduled Thursday is a full round of further conferences into the early evening but there may be some time out for recreation.

Next Administration's 2 Top Men Will Map Change of Power

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy flies today to the Texas ranch of the new administration's vice president, Lyndon B. Johnson, for planning of the forthcoming switch of power from Republican hands.

The Kennedy-Johnson talks beginning this evening and continuing through Thursday are expected to deal also with preliminary formulation of a congressional legislative program against the background of campaign promises on a wide range of domestic and international matters.

The Democratic winners will be meeting for the first time since their election last week over Republicans Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge.

Kennedy arranged to take off from his vacation headquarters in the late afternoon aboard a chartered jet airliner. From Palm Beach he flew to Georgetown Air Force Base near Austin, Tex., and switches there to a small plane for about a 60-mile flight to the LBJ ranch at Johnson City.

The agreement stipulates an annual supply of water, fixed for time being at about five billion imperial gallons. The price is about 4 U.S. cents per 1,000 imperial gallons. The water will start flowing as soon as conduit work is completed.

Hong Kong and Reds Sign Fresh Water Pact
HONG KONG (AP)—The Hong Kong government Tuesday night announced the signing of an agreement with the Chinese Communists to buy fresh water.

Rockefeller said Williamsburg collect from a coin box phone but his name was not released.

The operator told him if he would give her his name and address the dime would be sent to him.

Rockefeller is said to have replied: "My name is John D. — forget it, you wouldn't believe me anyway."

Wednesday, Larson presented a check for 10 cents from the C&P made payable to the Rockefeller estate to John H. Colburn, president of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

Pontiac City Affairs

Boundary Jog Is Straightened Out

Pontiac grew by 40 acres in 1959 last night.

City commissioners unanimously voted to annex by resolution that portion of Pontiac Municipal Golf Course south of Golf Drive that has remained part of Bloomfield Township, although owned by the city the past 34 years.

Since no one lives on the golf course, no public vote or petition was required.

Commissioners acted under the home rule act on an annexation petition signed by Mayor Philip E. Rowston.

Although no pressing need for annexation exists at the moment, City Manager Walter K. Willman recommended it as "something we should have done long ago."

STRAIGHTENED JOG
The move smooths out a jog in the city's southern boundary.

Commissioners, in other business, dropped plans until next year for a water main on Ypsilanti Avenue from Baldwin to the subdivision line and for new sidewalks on Willard and Jessie Streets. Public opposition to both projects was cited.

Plans for grading and graveling of Lehigh Street, Highway 20, to the subdivision line, were delayed a week to sound out neighborhood attitudes to the expense.

There were no objections raised at a hearing on plans to grade and gravel Howard McNeill Street, Gillespie to Warner.

Bids for purchase of a city-owned lot at Bagley and Rockwell streets were taken under study for a week after Willman said they were all too low. The highest was $750.

Assessment rolls for the following improvements were confirmed in two annual payments: Paving and widening of Edison Street, Russell to Montclair; and sidewalks on Harvey Avenue south of Dittmar; Seward Street, Osmon to Murphy Park; and along portions of Astor Street.

Two proposed zoning changes were scheduled for hearings Dec. 12.

The first is the controversial plan to rezone the northwest corner of Orchard Lake Avenue and Palmer Street from residential to commercial for a landlomb, a move which the Planning Commission has branded as "spot zoning."

The other is the request of Yellow Cab Local 394, UAW, for rezoning of four lots on East Boulevard at Midway Avenue, site of a proposed new union hall.

The Planning Commission was asked to reconsider the local's request for rezoning the site of its present hall, 90 Mt. Clemens St., from residential to commercial. The local plans to sell it.

Planners were also asked to study a new proposal to rezone four lots at the southwest corner of West Huron Street and Chipewa Road from residential to commercial. A neighborhood petition favoring the move was signed by just slightly more than 50 per cent of the affected property owners.

Commissioners approved the transfer of ownership of the Class C and SMD liquor licenses at 378 Auburn Avenue from Elizabeth A. Bergh to Archie and Rose Webb.

John D.'s Coin Finally Returned—That's Rich

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—The estate of the late John D. Rockefeller is 10 cents richer today, thanks to the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. and a story told about the multi-millionaire.

According to the story related by R. K. P. Larson, an associate editor of Norfolk's newspapers, after John D. returned to New York from Williamsburg one day he suddenly remembered he had left something behind in the restored colonial capital.

Rockefeller called Williamsburg collect from a coin box phone but his name was not released.

The operator told him if he would give her his name and address the dime would be sent to him.

Rockefeller is said to have replied: "My name is John D. — forget it, you wouldn't believe me anyway."

He Makes 3 Appointments

4-Year Term for Governor Advocated by Swainson

LANSING (AP)—Gov.-Elect John B. Swainson feels that Michigan's chief executive should be chosen to fill the post for four years, rather than spending so much time campaigning every two years.

In answer to a question about the length of the governor's term, Swainson told newsmen Tuesday that most political scientists agree a four-year term is more desirable. Most states are becoming four-year adherents, he added.

The longer period, he said, "would cut down on the campaigning and give the governor more time to get on with his long-range programs."

Swainson also would have a longer record to look at when the governor came up for re-election, he said.

"Of course, when you advocate a four-year term, some people then ask 'Why not six or eight years?'" he said. "I believe if the term is extended too long, you are in danger of losing the essence of democracy by giving up the right of periodic review."

Swainson said he had no opinion on whether a limit should be set on the number of terms to be served, such a limitation, he said, might have deprived the state of the services of Gov. Williams, who is stepping down at the end of the year after an unprecedented six two-year terms.

Swainson said his views favoring a four-year term for governor had been stated during the campaign. The Republican gubernatorial candidate, Paul D. Bagwell, also said he would like to see the term extended.

Three executive appointments were announced Tuesday by Swainson, who is acting governor while Williams is visiting South America.

Ira Polley, 43, of Lansing, was reappointed controller for the new administration. Polley served in the $15,500-a-year post under Williams.

Robert A. Derengowski, 44, of East Lansing, presently legal adviser to Williams, was reappointed. His salary will be about $17,000 annually.

Mrs. Margaret Halava, 42, of Lansing, was named personal secretary to Swainson, a pay saving from $7,000 to $3,100. She has been appointments secretary for Williams.

All three appointments are effective Jan. 1, when the new governor takes office.

Swainson also announced that his campaign manager, Joe Collins, 26, of Jackson, will be chairman of the inaugural committee.

Other members of the committee will be Neil Stalter, Democratic state chairman; Adelaide Hart, vice chairman; Alfred Meyers, 17th District chairman; Mrs. Elsie Gilmore, Wayne County Democratic chairman; Mrs. Helen Berthelot, former campaign director for the administrative board; and Rep. T. John Lesinski, lieutenant governor-elect.

Metal Hunks Result of Bad Moon Shot?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two hunks of metal found on a South African farm apparently are parts of a U.S. moon shot that failed.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Tuesday the pieces presumably are from the second stage of a moon rocket attempt made on Sept. 23.

The pieces, a sphere about three feet in diameter and a 28-inch long metal object, were found on a farm in the Transvaal last month and were sent here for identification.

NASA said the pieces normally would have burned up when the rocket re-entered the atmosphere, but apparently made it all the way to the ground because of malfunction of the second stage. It will minimize chances of this happening in the future.

Ready to Take Man 100 Miles Up

X15 Soars With New Engine

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI)—The X15 streaked across the sky with its new space engine for the first time Tuesday and test pilot Scott Crossfield pronounced the research craft ready to rocket a man more than 100 miles above the earth.

"This is like pulling the cork out of what we've been trying to do for a long time," the pilot declared after his 10-minute flight over this desert base during which the X15 rocketed to 80,000 feet and nearly 2,000 miles an hour.

"There was no abrupt, almost explosive acceleration when I cut in the power," the usually taciturn North American Aviation test pilot said, pointing out he held the craft down to slightly less than half thrust during the 1/2 minute power push of the flight.

When the engine shut off a few minutes before his glide back to earth, Crossfield, 39, said he was shoved forward against the straps holding him in the seat of the needle-nosed craft.

"I know the X15 will exceed its expectations," Crossfield continued. "I think it will go higher and faster than it was designed to do."

He estimated it would do more than 100 miles altitude and possibly more than 4,500 miles an hour. Assumed goals of the X15 are 100 miles and nearly 4,000 miles an hour.

The plane's new engine, the XLR-99, develops 37,000 pounds of thrust. On previous flights, the X15 was powered by two smaller engines developing a total of only 16,000 pounds of thrust, less than a third of the big engine.

"Pushing a bird like this around with those little engines is like putting a Model A engine in a Cadillac," Crossfield said.

While he felt the X15 is ready to go "right now," Crossfield said he will make several more low-thrust flights to test the engine's throttle control and in-flight restart capabilities.

"I momentarily will go full thrust to test stability, but not enough to exceed the speeds we've hit so far," Crossfield said.

Although the XLR-99 engine is called "big," it really is small for the power it delivers. It measures 6 feet in length, 40 inches in diameter and weighs 910 pounds with no fuel in it. Engineers said it can deliver nearly twice its present thrust with improved fuels and nozzles.

Ben Friedman, plant manager for the Superior Furniture Manufacturing Co. here, said it will be only a hobby from now on, however.

Three of the animals—Candy, Bobby and Fudge—were put on the assembly line Friday with newsmen watching. By close proximity to their trainers, the animals did one or two simple jobs.

But Al Antonucci, a trainer for the Shrine Circus, left Houston for Kansas City Sunday night and Candy and Fudge went with him. Manuel King, another trainer, is still in Houston with Bobby.

"I'm really serious about this," Friedman said Tuesday. "But it is going to have to be kind of a hobby because there is no profit in it. I'm not going to let the press know when the chimp will be out here because it disrupts things too much."

"All this publicity in Honolulu, Hong Kong and New York hasn't helped me a bit. I haven't made 35 cents on it yet."

He said he didn't plan to replace his factory's 120 workers with chimps.

Chimps-in-Factory Idea Turns Into Hobby Only

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A man "That wasn't my intention at who experimented — with little-al, maybe in 200 years, if so, success — at using chimpanzees, body worked seriously on it and on an assembly line hasn't given pushed it, it might work," he up the test.

Ben Friedman, plant manager for the Superior Furniture Manufacturing Co. here, said it will be only a hobby from now on, however.

Special Plan for McCauley by PNH

By BILL CORNWELL

Dick McCauley, Pontiac Central's brilliant halfback, worried Saginaw Valley Conference football opponents all through the 1959 season.

During the last three PCH games, it was obvious that the opposition concentrated heavily on McCauley and made a concerted rush for the senior speedster every time he lugged the ball.

Despite this, Pontiac Northern Coach Ed Heikkinen plans no special defense against the elusive PCH runner when the Huskies and Chiefs begin gridiron relations Friday night at Waiser Stadium.

"McCauley is the finest back I have seen this year," said Heikkinen, "but Central has too many other fast and dangerous backs to permit us to concentrate on stopping one boy."

"I don't think we can afford to play that way—it's not sensible," Heikkinen said. "If we start focusing our attention on just one player, Central's other good backs might break loose."

Heikkinen was referring to fleet-footed half-carriers like Roy Owsen, Andy Schaefer and Ed beet Hall, all capable of going the distance from any spot on the field if they're given a little bit of daylight.

McCauley, Central's greatest back in at least a decade, has been nothing short of spectacular this season.

The 170-pound, 5-foot-9 flash has compiled some impressive figures on offense and his defensive talents make him the team's best all-around performer.

In eight games this year, McCauley has carried the ball 132 times for 885 yards, an average of 6.7 per try. He's caught three passes for an additional 25 yards and has 11 touchdowns to his credit.

Besides these handsome statistics, he's all over the field on defense. He's a first-rate pass defender, a sound tackler and has already recovered four fumbles. He also does the Chiefs' punting and has averaged better than 30 yards per kick.

McCauley's rushing yardage probably would be higher, but he was injured on the 2nd-half kickoff against Flint Central last Friday and didn't play the rest of the evening.

He nearly broke away for a TD returning the boot before he was knocked out of bounds and hurt. Aside from being on the sore and injured side, he's ready for the Huskies this week.

Both teams are in sound physical condition for this first annual rivalry duel with three exceptions.

End George Fed broke his right thumb in the Flint Central contest and won't see any action against PNH.

Halfback Dave Shields hurt his knee in the Huskies' 33-7 victory over Rochester and is not expected to play against PCH. Tackle Art Craig also has an injured knee and may miss the game.

McCauley leads both teams in scoring with 11 TDs for 85 points. Dave Moczarski, Northern's steady-state back this fall, comes next with seven touchdowns.

Couner follows with five TDs while Boach and Northern's Bill Young have each scored four times.

Central will enter Friday's cross-town feud with a 3-2 record while Northern has a 3-4-1 mark.

It will be the final game of the season for both schools. Kickoff time is 8 p.m.

Ohio U. retains its big lead in the college AP ratings this week. Hillsdale is No. 17 and Northern Michigan 22nd.

Bald Eagle, repeat International winner recently, will enter stud in 1961. The horse seeks top honors for the year Saturday racing against Kelo. Roman horses, which were 3rd and 4th in the International, may be purchased by Americans if permission is granted by Moscow.

Ionis High School has been selected as the site of a twinned state prep gymnastics meet slated for next March 18. The event was dropped in 1951 for lack of interest but is being reinstated in answer to petitions from many schools.

Baltimore manager Paul Richards said Tuesday he didn't know "any of them I would trust behind the plate all the time" when asked if he thought baseball umpires should specialize as referees in football.

The San Francisco Giants are considering signing a pitcher and third baseman from Japan for their top farm club at Tacoma. Owner Horace Stinson says he thinks the pitcher, whose name he can neither spell or pronounce, could make good right now in the majors as a relief man.

St. Benedict CYO Champs Play Sunday

St. Benedict will represent this area Sunday in a battle of CYO football champions to be held at Anderson Junior High in Berkeley at 1:30.

The Suburban League No. 1 winners of seven straight will meet Our Lady of Loretto of Berkeley, which has gone through its last 21 games without a defeat in loop No. 2.

St. Ben completed its regular season recently by whipping Our Lady of the Lakes, 29-14.

Bob Galla coaches the Pontiac team. Halfbacks Mike Samulow, who leads the scoring with 82 points, and Jerry Ogg have been the top runners. The blocking of fullback Rich Hacht, quarterback work of Pete Meagher and strong line play have been other key factors in the big season.

Adios Butler Chosen for Headliner Award

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Harness Writers Association Tuesday night named Adios Butler for the Headliner Award as outstanding horse of the year and selected Del Miller of Meadowlands Farm, Pa., for its Proximity Achievement Award for his contribution to the sport.

Adios Butler is the $600,000 syndicate horse who set a world record of 1:54.3-5 over the famous Red Mile at Lexington, Ky., last month. He ended the season by adjusting the Hollywood Park Classic at Inglewood, Calif.

Robertson's 44 points on 17 field goals and 10 free throws at Cincinnati was his best showing as a pro so far. He outscored Philadelphia's Walt Hazzard, who finished with 36 points.

Baylor scored 34 of his 71 points in the first half and his 28 field goals wiped out the old mark of 27 set by Joe Fulks of Philadelphia against Indianapolis Feb. 10, 1949.

A bigger thrill when he set the previous record with his 64 points a year ago.

"That was against Boston," he recalled. "And the reason it was such a big thrill is that it broke Baylor's 22-game losing streak for us against the Celtics." That happened at Minneapolis where the Lakers played before the franchise was shifted to Los Angeles this season.

It was incidental that Los Angeles beat the Knicks 123-108 in the feature of the Detroit double-header after the Detroit Pistons had wiped out a 20-point deficit to beat the Boston Celtics 115-114 in overtime. Baylor's feat also overshadowed the 44 points scored by Oscar Robertson in Cincinnati's 124-115 victory over Philadelphia, the Warriors' second defeat after a 9-game winning streak.

"I got very nervous when they announced I had set a Garden record at 59 points," Baylor said later. "They tried to feed me as much when the crowd started chanting that I asked the boys to let me make my own plays."

Strangely, Baylor said he got bowling well.

A style change always means a step in average.

That's the reason, when I'm not bowling well, that I always wonder if I'm doing something differently. If I've made just a slight adjustment in my style, it could throw off my game.

I bowled a certain way when I won the ABC Tournament and All-Star in my style, it could throw off my game.

I try to duplicate the style because I know it was right.

Bosox Coaches Signed

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox today announced that coaches Billy Herman, Sam Maglie and Rudy York have been signed for the 1961 season.

Executive Vice President Dick O'Connell said a fourth coach will be named after he confers with Manager Mike Huggins.

Scheffing Is Reported 'In' as Tigers' New Manager

Club Officials Admit Only That He Is Candidate

UPI and Milwaukee Paper Among Sources Naming Ex-Cub Boss

(From Our Wire Services) NEW YORK — Bob Scheffing, former manager of the Chicago Cubs, is certain to be named the manager of the Detroit Tigers, it was reported from several sources today.

The Milwaukee Sentinel reported that Scheffing confirmed by telephone interview from Scottsdale, Ariz., that he had a lengthy conference with Tiger officials last Friday and that he was in prospect for the job.

The United Press International in New York also reported that Scheffing was sure to get the job.

"They told me they had a lot of other prospects to contact and would let me know one way or another," Scheffing told the Sentinel. "I haven't heard from them since. Maybe there'll be something new tonight."

Scheffing declined to disclose details of the interview, but it is believed he insisted on a two or three-year contract.

Scheffing, a 45-year-old former catcher, managed the Chicago Cubs' Pacific Coast League farm in 1955 and '56 and was promoted to the parent club after winning the PCL pennant. He managed the Cubs from 1957 until fired in 1959. He joined the Braves as a coach under Manager Charlie Dressen this year.

In Detroit, the Tigers denied that Scheffing had been named. But they admitted he was a leading candidate along with a few others, including ex-San Francisco Manager Bill Rigney.

"There's nothing definite at all," said Rich Ferrell, assistant to Tiger President John Fetzer, and the man in charge of screening the club's managerial applicants.

"Scheffing is one of the candidates, but no one has definitely been decided on and we're going to wait further developments."

Ferrell said he would be several days before the Tigers get around to picking a successor to Joe Gordon, who quit Oct. 3.

In a phone call, Scheffing's Scottsdale, Ariz., home, he told The Associated Press he met with Tiger officials in Los Angeles and "no agreement was reached."

Leads Probably Won't Hold Up

Mel Melin of Washington State and Harold Stephens of Hardin, Simmons, the nation's total of points and assists leaders in major college football, play their final games of the season Saturday. And the chances are neither will be on top when their rivals finish.

Melin, with gains of 1,487 yards to show for nine games, faces the task of piling up enough yardage to stand off Bill Kilmer of UCLA, now fourth, who will have two games to play after Melin is all through.

If Melin should make it, Stephens probably will lose his points and assists honors. Stephens, who has done most of the pitching for the nation's passing-streak team (and one of the losingest), has completed 113 of 296 for 1,023 yards. Melin is second with 104 completions for 1,450 yards.

CHIEFS SEE RED — Pontiac Central Grid coach Paul Dellerba is taking no chances of undertraining rival Pontiac Northern for Friday's first meeting between the two City Class A schools. Dellerba put the Chiefs through some rough blocking and tackling exercises this week and here he adds some weight to the blocking sled which his offensive linemen pushed around the Waiser practice field. PCH will be favored over PNH Friday. Game time at Waiser Stadium is 8:00 p.m. Both teams will be keyed up for the battle which closes the season for the schools.

Wings Handle Hawks, 3-2; Pistons Beat Celts, 115-114

DETROIT (AP)—Terry Sawchuk, embattled veteran of more than a decade of big league goldfingering may be losing his job to a 27-year-old handyman who has been waiting seven years for a full time job.

Hank Bassen, who had brief trials with the Chicago Black Hawks a few years back, has been in goal seven games for the Detroit Red Wings. The club has lost only once in those seven games.

Bassen, supported by a strong defense, was in goal last night as the Wings tripped the Black Hawks 3-2 on Murray Oliver's third period power play goal.

After the game, coach Sid Abel promptly announced that Bassen would be tending goal again tonight when the Red Wings meet the Maple Leafs in Toronto. And chances are Bassen will play at least one, and possibly both of Detroit's weekend games against Boston and Chicago.

Sawchuk has had his troubles in recent seasons with various injuries and illnesses. His work in the nets has not been sharp in recent games.

Sawchuk has worked 11 games and has an average goal yield of 3.27 while his teammates have won four of those games. The club is 5-1-1 with Bassen, who has an average yield of 2.28.

Bassen appears nonchalant in the nets but he said his appearance is deceiving.

"I suppose I'm as nervous as the next guy out there," he said. "But I know I'm a lot more nervous when I'm not playing."

The Wings had to fight from a 2-0 deficit last night. Ab McDonald and Murray Balfour scored early for Chicago. Marcel Pronovost got his first goal of the season and Alex Delvecchio tied it in the second period with his 10th.

Gordie Howe, who set up Pronovost with a dandy, behind-the-back pass, indirectly had a hand in Oliver's win. The Chicago player went to the penalty box, Oliver got the winner on a rebound from close range.

Delvecchio, off to one of his best starts, has 10 goals in 18 games. It took him 42 to accomplish the same track last season and thanks partly to Delvecchio's early spurt, the Wings are in second place just two points behind the Montreal Canadiens.

In addition to the Detroit-Toronto game tonight, the Boston Bruins will face the Rangers in New York.

Field Goal Feats Pay Off for Dyas

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—The night before he set a new collegiate field goal record, big Ed Dyas disappeared from the Auburn campus.

Spectators at a high school football game spotted him later in the evening surrounded by seven small boys he had rounded up and taken to the game as his guests.

That's typical of the studious, premed student whose spectacular performance against Georgia last Saturday won him acclaim as the Associated Press' back of the week.

The 205-pound fullback from Mobile, Ala., kicked three field goals to give the Tigers a 9-6 victory and establish a national record for the most field goals in a college career—16.

Dyas has booted 12 of them this year, another collegiate record. He has kicked at least one in each of Auburn's eight games.

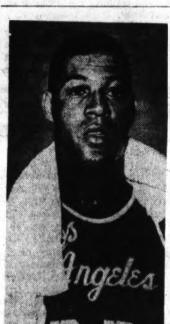

Maryland End Selected Top Lineman by AP

By The Associated Press With 65 seconds left to play Gary Collins capped a drive from quarterback Dale Betty and raced over for the winning touchdown in Maryland's 22-10 victory over North Carolina last Saturday.

That play clinched Lineman of the Week honors today for the lanky Marylander and in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

The winning touchdown capped a tremendous game by Collins, a 6-3, 200-pound junior from Williamsport, Pa. He smeared North Carolina plays time and again. At one stage, when Maryland put on a goal line stand, he made three of the four tackles, that stopped the Tar Heels on the 2.

71 POINTS — Elgin Baylor of the Los Angeles Lakers set a National Basketball Association record by hitting 17 field goals, including 23 field goals, to lead the Lakers to 123-108 victory over the New York Knicks. He held the previous high of 64 points.

Orioles Give Richards New 3-Year Contract

BALTIMORE (AP)—Manager Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles today headed for the American League meeting in New York with a new three-year contract in his pocket.

Richards, the American League Manager of the Year, Tuesday signed the contract which will have him at the helm of the Orioles through 1963. It also squashed rumors that the Washington, D.C. native would move to another club.

Richards, who will be 52 years old Monday, acknowledged that the Detroit Tigers asked that he be sent to Detroit to manage that club next year. "But we never talked seriously," he said.

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Joey Giambra showed that he hasn't lost his artistic left hand Tuesday night as he boxed his way to a 10-round, split-decision over Rory Calhoun in a top-level middleweight fight in Memorial Auditorium.

Giambra, ranked seventh in the 160-pound division, came on fast in the closing rounds after a stale start. At the final bell he had Calhoun retreating around the ring under a hail of punches.

AP Urges Grid Coaches to Mail All-State Ballots

All high school football coaches in the Oakland County area are urged to mail their All-State nominations to the Associated Press office in Detroit.

The 1960 AP All-State team is classes A, B, C and D will be selected next Monday in Lansing and the coaches' ballots are needed now.

As soon as possible, please send your votes to Dave Diles, Sports Editor, Associated Press, 615 West Lafayette, Detroit 26, Michigan.

The AP All-State squad has long been recognized Michigan's official honor squad. The teams are chosen by coaches and sports writers throughout Michigan.

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Pistons have shattered one long-time jinx and will try to smash another when they tangle with the Philadelphia Warriors tonight at the University of Detroit Memorial Stadium.

The Pistons clipped the world champion Boston Celtics 115-114 in an overtime game at New York last night to collect their first victory over the Celtics in 18 games. The last time Detroit defeated the Celtics was Nov. 9, 1958.

Detroit will try to end a Philadelphia jinx tonight. The Warriors played the U-D arena to their liking last season, winning both starts at the stadium.

Gene Shue was the hero of last night's battle. Shue's long set shot just as the buzzer sounded ending an overtime period gave Detroit the victory over Boston in the first half of a national basketball association doubleheader. Los Angeles defeated New York 123-108 in the second game.

The Celtics, who blew a 20-point lead, and the Pistons were tied at 103 at the end of the regulation time. Boston jumped into a three-point lead early in the overtime, but Detroit tied it up at 107-all. Neither side could get better than a two-point lead after that.

The Celtics were leading 112-110 when Walter Dukes scored on a jump shot which tied it once more. Dukes was fouled during his effort and he sank a free throw to put Detroit one ahead. Then with four seconds remaining Frank Ramsey put the Celtics in front with a jump shot. Then came Shue's dramatic and winning shot.

Titans May Be 'Up' for State

By JERRY GREEN
DETROIT (AP) — The smothering that prevailed a few years ago when Michigan State agreed to play Detroit in football has stopped. Now the Titans, no longer a captive of mediocrity, are even talking over cautiously of winning Saturday's game with their big brother from the Big Ten. Until this season — and a seven-game Detroit winning streak — no such talk would have been heard.

But these are days when Detroit is up, and if the Titans can catch the Spartans down, an upset wouldn't be a miracle. Still, it'll be remarkable as Michigan State is the choice by 23 points.

"We'd need breaks — lots of them — and top performances from everyone," Titan coach Jim Miller told the final meeting of the Michigan Football Writers Association yesterday.

But coach Duffy Daugherty has shown enough respect for the Titans to have two Michigan State scouts tugging them. Assistant But Smith and Hank Bullough returned to East Lansing with words of praise for the Titans' poise and ability.

"Both were tremendously impressed with Jerry Gross as a fine passer," Daugherty said. "And he's a better than average runner. Detroit is a hard-hitting team."

The Titans have revolved around the diminutive Gross, a sophomore quarterback from Bay City with the savvy of a veteran. Gross has gained 820 yards passing and 142 running for a total of 1,104 yards in guiding Detroit to its longest winning streak since 1928. He leads the club in both departments.

His efforts have pushed Detroit to sixth in the nation in passing.

And he is blessed with gifted receivers for his soft passes. Steve Stonebreaker and Larry Vargo are fine ends with good hands and quick movements. Halfback Ted Karpowicz also has developed into an excellent receiver.

The Titans' weakness — especially against the manpower-laden Spartans — would seem to be depth. Detroit says noticeably whenever Miller sends in his second unit.

Injuries also are plaguing Detroit. Both Stonebreaker and Vargo are hurt. But Miller said they will play. Karpowicz, Detroit's strongest halfback runner, has a head injury and Miller is counting on him, too. But Tom DeLuca, a hard-hitting fullback, has a bad shoulder and is doubtful.

The two state rivals haven't met since 1934, before Michigan State's climb into the big time. The Spartans won the last meeting 7-6. Saturday's game will be the 14th in the series which has been divided 6-6 with one tie.

Father Was '34 Hero; Son May Be on Saturday

Extra Point Kicking
Big Asset of Both Members of Family

By BOB VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP) — Winning football games from the University of Detroit is a tradition in the Brandstatter family of Michigan State.

The last time the Spartans played Detroit, Art Brandstatter Sr., a fullback, kicked the extra point that gave MSU a 7-6 win. That was in 1934.

Brandstatter Sr. now is director of the university's school of police administration and public safety.

It has been a full generation since Michigan State and Detroit met on the football field. Art Brandstatter Jr. now is the extra point kicker at the Spartans ready for Saturday's game with the Titans.

Young Brandstatter's three extra points made the margin of difference in the 21-18 win over Northwestern last Saturday.

Brandstatter, 20-year-old, six-foot junior right end from East Lansing, is steeped in the Spartan tradition, living as he does only a few blocks from the campus.

He was an AP All-State high school pick when he played for East Lansing under Vince Cartl, now an MSU assistant coach.

The left-footed kicker is the leading Spartan scorer this season with 30 points from one touchdown pass, seven field goals and 15 extra points. His extra point record is 15 successes in 16 tries — one boot was blocked against Indiana.

So young Brandstatter will be trying for a "like father-like son" effort against Detroit here Saturday.

Another noted Michigan State football family will be honored next week.

The Wilson family of Lapeer will be guests of honor at an all-sports banquet to be held Tuesday night by the Lansing Downtown Coaches Club.

The current Wilson starring for Michigan State, of course, is quarterback Tommy Wilson, who has been doing an iron man job as signal-caller.

Two brothers who formerly played for the Spartans will make an appearance, along with the mother, Mrs. Myron Wilson. The father died two years ago of a heart attack suffered while listening to a radio broadcast of the MSU game with Minnesota.

John, oldest of the brothers, played defensive halfback from 1950 through 1952 on teams that lost only one game in three seasons.

He was senior class president, a straight "A" student and a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford. He currently is assistant to the president at the State University of New York.

Pat played from 1954 through 1956, won three football and basketball letters and quarterbacked the 1956 teams. He also was senior class president. He now is an Army first lieutenant.

9 Ex-Players, Coaches Going Into Grid 'Hall'

NEW YORK (AP) — Nine former players and coaches will be inducted into Football's Hall of Fame and 25 former players will be honored as members of the "silver anniversary" team at the awards dinner of the National Football Foundation, Dec. 6.

Ex-President Herbert Hoover will receive the foundation's gold medal at the dinner.

The silver anniversary team, composed of players who have been outstanding citizens, includes Alabama's Don Hutson; Woody Hayes, Ohio State football coach; Minnesota's Francis (Pug) Lund; Army Maj. Gen. Robert M. Stillerman; Marine Brig.-Gen. Odell Center, who played at Texas A&M; and Navy Capt. Slide Cutter.

Michigan to Meet 'Best QB in Big 10'—Hayes

Buckeye Coach Praises Matte in Iowa Loss

Full House Expected for U. of M.-Ohio State Rivalry

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U-P) Coach Woody Hayes has dismissed Ohio's 35-12 loss to Iowa with a few well-chosen words, and spread lavish praise on his quarterback and the Buckeye seniors.

Of the Hawkeyes who knocked Ohio out of a possible share of the Big Ten laurels, Hayes told his weekly press luncheon guests: "Iowa has an extremely gifted team, with fine offensive power. We may have over-committed our defense too much — and if we did, it's my fault."

Then he launched into a long dissertation on the quarter-back, Tom Matte, the Cleveland senior who has picked up 641 yards in 136 carries, and completed 48 of 88 passes for 697 yards and eight touchdowns.

"Matte was the best player on the field Saturday, and is the best quarterback I've seen in the Big Ten in 10 years," Hayes said. "He is our outstanding player, without question — and he's taught me things about quarterbacking. His improvement since the spring of 1959 is unbelievable."

"He does almost half our running, and all our passing and punting — and he does them all well. This probably will whet Michigan's appetite for Saturday's game, but if Matte isn't all-American then I haven't seen very many around this league. It's a shame that he had to appear on national television with a losing club."

Hayes also said the big reason for Ohio State's unexpected 6-2 record (after a 5-51 mark in 1959) was because "every senior has given us his greatest year of football, and for that reason we'd like to wind up the season with a victory Saturday."

Eaco Sarkkinen, the erudite scout who has been spying on the Wolverines the last three games, derided Michigan as an aggressive, hard-hitting outfit which operates from several offensive formations.

"Michigan has 29 letters back from the teams that beat us 23-14 last year," Sarkkinen said, "and has exceptionally good balance. This year's team gambles more than Michigan clubs of the past, and although it doesn't go for the 'home run ball' it can grind out consistent yardage on short gains. The Wolverines will be rough and ready."

Hayes, surveying the Big Ten and national situation, said the league race this year is the "kind that gives an old coach gray hairs."

He insisted that, on strength alone, six of seven Big Ten teams should be in the national top 10. But that record-wise "we're continually gobbling up each other."

A capacity crowd of over 82,000 is assured for Saturday's finale with the Wolverines, into which the Bucks go with a 6-2 mark against Michigan's 5-3.

Russian Table Tennis Stars Beat Americans

BALTIMORE (AP)—A team of Russian ping pong experts trounced a group of American stars here Tuesday night, and confidently predicted that the Soviet Union would soon lead the world in table tennis.

In an exhibition game three Russian teen-agers defeated three Americans 9-0. The Russians seemed relaxed, and used a hard, forehand game that was too much for the Americans.

In Mississippi's first bowl game (1936 Orange Bowl) the Rebels bowed to Catholic University, 20-19.

Frick Is Skeptical About AL Expansion

NEW YORK (AP)—The American League goes into its expansion meeting Thursday with baseball Commissioner Ford Frick casting a skeptical eye on its plans and Congress threatening to take anti-monopoly action if a club isn't placed in Los Angeles. The league wants to place a team in Los Angeles next year and will work to finalize the proposal and put it to the joint major league meeting in St. Louis on Dec. 7.

The first rule of the major league agreement which prohibits the invasion of territory of one league by the other without the unanimous approval of both leagues, will come up for amendment. The American League is expected to propose the amendment and the National probably will veto it. That leaves the deciding vote in Frick's hands.

Frick said he would not vote for the amendment unless "a fair and workable plan is agreed upon by both leagues."

He obviously was referring to Hank Greenberg's syndicate which intends to operate in Los Angeles. Frick maintained that Walter O'Malley, who moved the Dodgers to Los Angeles, has spent about a million dollars for the shift and is entitled to get some of it back by any AL team that wishes to share the territory. "Greenberg's outfit wants to pay nothing, do nothing," said Frick. "I won't stand for it. I don't want anybody thinking that just because I'm for expansion I'm going to vote for it on that basis."

Frick added that he thinks the situation confronting the majors is serious. "But," he pointed out, "it is not an impossible situation. They have until next month to iron it out. I hope they can settle things quietly before then and I'll be able to let them know before hand that I'm going to vote for it."

"If the matter cannot be resolved in time to open the '61 season, there is a possibility that the AL might operate with only nine teams — including the new franchise in Washington and the former Washington club in St. Paul-Minneapolis."

Meanwhile, the spectre of government action loomed. Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), chairman of the Anti-Monopoly subcommittee, warned against any delay in expansion.

"Congress will regulate baseball as strictly a business in interstate commerce if the baseball people break faith with my committee and the public," he said. "This is exactly what professional baseball has feared and has been fighting against."

Said Rand Nixon, subcommittee chief counsel: "If there is any delay in operating new franchises in Washington and Los Angeles, there will be swift action in both houses of Congress to enforce baseball's responsibility to Congress and the public."

As if this didn't spell trouble enough, plans for a joint bid for the new Washington franchise appeared to have broken down.

Elwood R. Quesada, head of the Washington group, said a New York syndicate headed by financier John J. Bergen wanted complete control of the team. Quesada said his group wanted the franchise in the hands of Washington people.

In New York, Bergen said he was not interested in 100 per cent control of the team.

Sale Expected for A's Today

CHICAGO (AP)—Formal sale of the Kansas City Athletics baseball club to a St. Louis syndicate headed by investment broker Elliott Sibin was scheduled today.

Probate Judge Robert J. Dunne ordered the sale Tuesday for a reported $3.5 million after an out-of-court agreement had been reached by co-vendors of the estate of Arnold Johnson, who owned 32 per cent of the club before his death last March 10.

Judge Dunne is to sign the sale papers today.

Mrs. Warren W. Humes, re-married widow of Johnson, and The City National Bank of Chicago — co-executors of Johnson's estate — had been bickering over what was to be done with the stock.

Mrs. Humes wished to retain the 32 per cent but the bank insisted it be sold in order to pay taxes and debts of $1.5 million on Johnson's estate.

Detroit Cup Bid Official

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit has put in an official bid for the 1961 unlimited powerboat Gold Cup race, Leonard H. Thomson, secretary of the Detroit International Regatta Association, said Tuesday.

The chance to hold the 56th Gold Cup race went up for grabs after high winds and rough water prevented the running of the race last weekend at Las Vegas, Nev. Thomson said he had submitted Detroit's bid by a long-distance phone call and telegram to the American Power Boat Association's Gold Cup Committee.

"Naturally I didn't offer any money for the event nor do I intend to," Thomson said. "Our race officials regard boat racing as an amateur sport. The owners are—or should be—sportsmen interested in promoting the sport and the products their boats represent."

"If the owners, drivers and race committees feel they should have prize money, appearance guarantees and the like, they can look elsewhere."

At Las Vegas, winds up to 40 miles an hour kept 15 of the world's fastest boats in their pits Saturday and wiped out the race for the year Sunday during elimination heats.

The race was called off when Detroit's Wild Bill Cantrell in Gale V went into a heavy trough on the second lap of the second elimination heat and Cantrell was thrown from the boat.

That was the testimony of Jon MacBeth, University of Florida player who worked with authorities to trap two New Yorkers accused of bribing him.

MacBeth testified Tuesday that Philip Silber told him players at other colleges were doing the same thing and that there probably was nothing illegal about it.

Silber has pleaded guilty to bribery and turned state's evidence on similar charges against his alleged accomplice, Aaron Wagman.

Scudero Calls It Quits

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Defensive back Joe Scudero of the Pittsburgh Steelers retired Tuesday as a professional football player.

A spokesman for the Steelers said Scudero told Coach Bud Parker he felt he was "a little old, a little slow" to hold his own in the tough National Football League.

Scudero, 32, played for the Steelers for five years, winning a Super Bowl championship in 1959.

Swords Eyes Bowlerama Cash Local Man Bowls 300

The 1st reported 300 game of the 1960-61 bowling season was rolled last night by a local man who plans to enter the Pontiac Press Bowlerama next month.

Douglas Swords of Pontiac Township turned in the 1st perfect effort of his 13-year leg career competing for J. B. Miller Carpentry in the Berkley Senior House League at Berkley Lanes. A 278 had been his best previous single.

Numerous prizes will be headed off in the near future. Bowlerama will present him with a $500 check next week. He will be honored by ABC and also receive a $500 bond from the company which made the bowling shirt he was wearing.

It was the 1st 300 rolled at the southern county "house" since it went into business 14 years ago after several 298s and 288s. The big effort saved Swords from a dismal night giving him a 636 series after a 178-58 start.

"I got my timing back after being way off," was the way he explained the strong finish today. Doug said most of the other bowlers stayed away from him until the finish when he wound up with a Brooklyn hit to top it off.

Morning in Hunting Camps Has Ceremony

By DON VOGEL
CURRAN — "Attention" barked the commandant. "Bugler, sound the colors."
On a small knoll deep in the Alcona County deer country, the United States flag was slowly raised on the rough cedar pole. Eight men stood at attention with hunting caps held over their hearts.
Bugler Jack Patterson of Pontiac managed to puff out the last notes, the flag reached the top and unfurled above the surrounding spruce and pine trees: the group relaxed.

"At ease gentlemen," said Henry McNailey, Rochester, the official "colonel" for the solemn ceremony.

The Sleepy Hollow hunting camp was officially open for business.

Actually, three flags were raised — the U.S. flag, the club colors and another hunting that was more decorative than having any real meaning.

This flag raising ceremony is repeated in almost every camp in the area. No camp is considered open until a march is made to the flag pole and the colors sounded. The ceremonies took place Sunday and Monday.

The deer season opened yesterday. Meaning that all the pomp had to be out of the way before hand.

What are these men doing raising flags in the middle of the north woods?

The answer is part national spirit and part "just having fun," according to Ralph Norvell, Pontiac, of Camp 24.

"It's an opportunity to take life easy and do about what you please," he said. "In many cases, the hunting is incidental."

Looking for "horns" is another day-before-the-open-past-time. Club members walk or ride around the area, looking for deer. The object is to see as many bucks as possible.

Norvell, Jim Jenkins and George Patterson, both of Pontiac, and this writer toured the Camp 24 grounds late Monday afternoon.

About 30 deer could be seen in the open fields and along the road. Only two spikehorns were positively identified. But several deer that "acted like bucks" could be seen sneaking off into the trees.

One young doe stood 25 feet from our station wagon. We continued talking, with the windows down, and instead of spooking like the other four deer with her, the small doe calmly went back to feeding again.

Fortunately for her, there are very few "any deer permit" holders in the area. Most club members, all at Camp 24, prefer to take only bucks and do not apply for the antlerless deer permits.

This area is noted for some good grouse hunting. But only certain spots are productive.

"Some of the boys come up (Pat) hunting," said Norvell, "but they don't seem to have much luck. The birds are found in the Tag Alder swamps and are hard to see when flushed."

Just then, a grouse ran in front of the wagon. Although it narrowly missed being crushed under the left front wheel, the "pat" nonchalantly walked into the woods.

The grouse hopped up on a log and looked at us, knowing it was safe from hunters for another year.

As the sky grew darker, more deer began to appear at the edges of the woods. They looked at the station wagon as it eased down the road.

The next morning, these whitetails found out that another hunting season had opened. They were the new target.

Huge Pheasant Press Derby Winner

Hunters Boost Insurance Boom

NEW YORK — Some of the nation's 15 million hunters are taking along special protection, this fall as they stalk deer, ducks and other quarry in field, wood and marsh.

These are not doming bullet proof vests.

Rather the protection comes from a special hunter's insurance policy—one aimed at heightened risks to life, limb and health that a sportsman faces in the field.

Such policies, long available, stirred more interest until recent years when sales hit an upswing as popular interest in hunting went into a boom cycle, insurance industry sources report.

How risky is it to go hunting? Most counts of hunters killed annually by firearms runs into the hundreds, with about 300 a widely accepted figure. That would be just over two per 100,000 licenses.

National Rifle Association studies indicate non-fatal gunshot victims outnumber fatalities about six to one.

No tab is kept on hunters hurt in falls or automobile collisions or who drown or are asphyxiated. Their number well may loom larger in the accident picture than misdirected bullets.

Besides gunshot wounds and death, some policies insure against falls, bites, burns and injury traveling to and from hunting areas.

Extensive surgery and four hospitalizations followed, with bills totaling $3,998 and $800 more in process.

Continental Casualty Co. of Chicago, insurer in the case, reports premium volume last year rose 38.1 per cent from two seasons earlier.

The man, an electrician, bought for a $10 premium a weekend policy with a maximum medical benefit of $5,000 and death benefit of $50,000.

When he bent to crawl through barbed wire, the hunter grasped his gun by the muzzle. The weapon discharged, shattering his left hand, wrist and lower arm.

Some insurers write property damage policies covering damage to a hunter's gun, decoys, traps or other equipment.

A third type, liability protection, is illustrated by the Elmhurst-Villa Park Sportsmen's Club, which leases 800 acres of hunting land not far outside Chicago.

The club bought $100,000 worth of liability insurance to pay for any damage its 150 members may inflict on the property of another while hunting.

Evidencing increased concern with the problem, 11 states have enacted hunter safety laws since 1949, requiring youngsters to undergo training in firearms discipline to qualify for a hunting license, or providing for permissive instruction in public lands.

Some other states have voluntary programs without legislation.

The Health Insurance Institute said major companies, including some that operate in all 50 states, report hunter's coverage is "growing rapidly in popularity."

On group policy sold to members of West Virginia Sportsmen Unlimited pays $1,500 for fatal injury, $15 a week in disability income for 13 weeks and $5 a day for 21 days of hospitalization.

For $1.55 a year, a member gets coverage for hunting trips, fishing, skeet shooting, pistol matches, archery and field dog trials — in each instance from the time of leaving home until he returns.

HEAVIEST RINGNECK — Joseph Scarlotti, 1375 Scott Lake Road, holds the 5-pound, 6-ounce ringneck that won him a $30 Savings Bond in The Press Pheasant Derby.

LONGEST PHEASANT — A $25 Savings Bond will be awarded to Paul Pace, 3713 E. South Blvd., Pontiac, for bagging the longest ringneck in The Press contest.

Heaviest Bird of Scarlotti Is 5-Pound-6

Longest is 41 1/2 Inches Submitted to Contest by Paul Pace

Joseph Scarlotti, 1375 Scott Lake Road, Waterford, and Paul Pace, 3713 E. South Blvd., Pontiac, are the winners in the 1967 Pontiac Press Pheasant Derby.

Scarlotti will receive a $30 Savings Bond for entering the heaviest ringneck, a 5-pound, 6-ounce monster. Pace gets a $25 bond for the 41 1/2-inch bird he bagged near Rose City.

There were nine changes in the weight division and four in the length class during the contest. Forty-two ringnecks were weighed and measured at The Press, over 160 hunters phoned in check on the leading birds.

The big pheasant downed by Scarlotti is a new record for the contest. It bettered the old mark by seven ounces. The pheasant was shot ten days ago in Independence Township.

Pace used a 28 gauge to drop his winner. He saw the bird in a corn field near Rose City in Ogemaw County, entered the car, got out and flushed it.

The derby officially closed Saturday.

The Pontiac Press derby contest is now under way. Early leaders can be found in another story on this page.

Skier Is Loyal to His Sport

EAST LANSING — Once a person gets to be a skiing enthusiast, he sticks with the sport, a Michigan State University researcher has discovered.

Thomas Richards, a research assistant in hotel management, surveyed 300 skiers last winter at a resort near Harbor Springs.

Among his findings:

Skiers start early in life and stay late. Those interviewed ranged in age from 15 to 77.

The enthusiast continues skiing after marriage, one third of those interviewed were married.

They put their children on skis as soon as possible. More than half the parents said their children skied.

Skiers save their money in the winter and spend it on the sport in the winter. The estimated cost per trip was $35 for a single person and $58 for a married couple. The average enthusiast skies 17 or 18 days a year, mostly on week ends.

They don't mind traveling for the sport. The average round trip to the Harbor Springs area was $80 miles. About 54 per cent came from the Detroit and Chicago area, another 12 per cent from around Cincinnati, Dayton and Toledo.

DETROIT — Twenty-three members of the 1967 Detroit Lions World Championship team are no longer on the roster as a result of trades, retirements, etc.

Deer Contest in Swing

Rain Hampers Early Success for Nimrods

$150 Bond to Winner of Press Contest for Heaviest Buck

The annual Pontiac Press contest for the heaviest deer got into swing yesterday with the opening of the nimrod season.

Deer may be taken anywhere in Michigan during the regular gun season, Nov. 15-30. The contest however is open only to full-time Oakland County residents.

Entries must have a weight slip signed with date, address and person weighing the report, and by a witness. The scales must be approved state inspector food locker, market or fuel company scales.

The prize for the heaviest deer is a $150 savings bond. The deadline for entries is Friday, December 2nd.

Weights must be of dressed out deer.

Bad weather hampered the early kill of deer around Michigan. Heavy thunderstorms hit the upper Michigan area.

First to report a kill was an 18-year-old Millard High School student Ron Chatterbox, who bagged an 8-point 150 pounder in Rose Township early Tuesday morning.

A 165 pounder with 5 points was brought down by Lee Martin of South Staker Drive, Pontiac. He bagged it at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Highland recreation area near Pettibone Lake Road.

This is the third straight year he has come home with a deer. He reported seeing four does before getting his buck.

All entries for the Press deer contest should bring their weight slips in to the sports department.

Heads Marathon Races

CHEBOYGAN (UPI)—Bernard A. Clark, a marina operator from Indian River, has been elected new commodore of the Top-O-Michigan Marathon Association to head plans for the 1967 race.

The 1966 race drew 130 boats, the largest such list in the nation. For a shot at the $7-mile course,

Eagle Survey Planned by Bird Society

NEW YORK — The National Audubon Society announced today it will undertake an inventory of bald eagle numbers in North America.

The study is prompted, society president Carl W. Buchheister told members of the organization in convention here, by widespread reports of a serious downward trend in the population of the great, white-headed bird that serves the United States as its national emblem.

It will be the first continent-wide survey of eagle numbers and distribution ever attempted. The society's research department, headed by biologist Alexander Sprunt IV, will seek the cooperation of federal, state and provincial wildlife officials and conservation officers throughout the United States and Canada.

Local Audubon Societies will help, and the observations of skilled bird watchers as well as professional ornithologists will be sifted and tabulated.

Purchase of Fish Licenses Declines

WASHINGTON (AP)—A total of 19,914,021 fishermen purchased one or more licenses to fish in the 50 states during 1959 and paid more than $1 million for them. The Interior Department reported today.

This was a decline of 1.3 per cent from the number of licensed fishermen reported by the states during 1958. But the 1959 fishermen paid to the states for licenses, tags, permits and stamps a total of $3,374,832, which was $4,964,370 above the 1958 payments.

California led the states in number of paid fishing license holders with 1,475,977. These individuals bought a total of 3,407,196 licenses, tags, permits and stamps, paying $6,230,229 for them.

Minnesota had the second highest number of individual license holders, 1,338,550, although that state's receipts of $2,110,002 ranked sixth.

Michigan's receipts ranked second, with $3,072,276 from 1,238,034 issuances of all kinds to 1,036,462 individuals. Wisconsin was third in receipts at $3,051,755, from 1,032,460 issuances to 1,032,463 individuals.

Private Clubs Hurting Deer

Hunters who belong to private clubs in northern Michigan's deer country should kill more deer, a Michigan State University wildlife expert says.

L. W. Gysel says over population of deer due to under hunting has caused high starvation rates on some club land.

He singled out about a quarter million acres of land in the northern lower Peninsula that is pooled against hunting by the general public because it belongs to private clubs.

The problems caused by cutting timber, and otherwise upsetting the balance of nature, started the over population problem on its way, he said. The least browse for deer, the more that will go hungry.

"Today, the deer population is declining gradually," Gysel said. "But there are still more deer per square mile than the range can support well."

"Small deer, small racks and starvation result," he said.

Hunters, Please Mail Leg Bands to State Office

LANSING (UPI)—Small game hunters who bagged pheasants or open lands have been urged to mail the leg bands to the Conservation Department's game division.

Department game men said hunters should also specify the location and date of kill of banded birds. The band returns were designed to determine how many preserve birds are taken on open hunting lands, officials said.

State to Take Bids

LANSING (UPI)—Bids will be opened Dec. 6 for concession leases at five state parks and the Watersloo recreation area, the conservation department said yesterday.

Sealed bids were being accepted for leases at Indian Lake, Luding, Charles Moore, Palms Book, Sterling and Van Riper state parks in addition to Waterloo, the department said.

Mississippi State's first bowl game resulted in a 13-12 Orange Bowl defeat at the hands of Duke in 1937.

Dr. Bob Breaks His Heart

Christians Very Few Who Do Enough

By PHYLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK—There are millions of people in this country who call themselves Christians.
"They belong to a church and they attend it. They occasionally give money to it. They are conspicuous in the knowledge that their church has a missionary or two it is supporting in far-off lands. But are these Christians doing enough?"

Dr. Bob Pierce, a burly, pink-faced young man who claims his heart "is constantly being broken," thinks not.

He has given himself a title: "There in the side of all Christians who think they have done enough..."
Pierce is an evangelist minister. Like his good friend Billy Graham, but he rarely preaches. Instead he constantly roams the globe, dropping in on missionary outposts, on orphanages, on leprosy settlements, on crude hospitals and struggling church schools—seeking to help.

He finds what they need most desperately. Food, clothing, personnel, equipment, prayers. And then he comes back to the headquarters of an organization he founded called "World Vision," and tries to fill-and foot-the bill.

NOTHING, REALLY.
"I don't do anything, really," says Dr. Bob. "But I find people who do things. All over the world there are heroic and obscure people doing strategic work for Christ, working with almost no money and no equipment."

"Every day their hearts are being broken by the tragedies around them. Well, all I do is seek out people who are willing to let their hearts be broken too, and tell them about those needs."

Because he is so sincere, and because his organization is non-denominational as well as non-profit, his small but growing "World Vision" has worked what many people call miracles.
"People ask why aren't there any miracles any more," Dr. Bob explains. "But I tell them maybe they never tried to do anything worth God's waiting a miracle on." He's started 150 orphanages, four leprosy hospitals, several hospitals. He has humanitarian projects going in 20 countries.

Last year he raised $3 million—with only one large donation of $4,000; the rest of the millions came from 165,000 people contributing from $1 to $5.

"I'd rather have 100,000 people give us one dollar," Pierce says, "and pray for us, than receive $1,000 from one man who thinks now he's done enough, and fails to pray."

Dr. Pierce's work, which is chronicled by Richard Gekman in a new book called "Let My Heart Be Broken," began when he graduated from theological school in 1947. He joined a student group touring China for a summer.

"First, I ran into four little German women taking care of 32 blind children."

"Then, I met an American girl who had rounded up 125 lepers and, all alone, was helping them make bricks so they could found a settlement. All she had was rice and love."

"And then I met a Dutch Reformed Missionary from Grand Rapids who was running a girls' school."

"I gave a sermon for those little girls one day. The next day one of them hobbled back to the school, black and blue."

"She had gone home and told her father she was going to be a Christian. He had whipped her and thrown her out. Finally, I was cornered."

"Finally, I couldn't sympathize and run away. I had, at last, felt my heart break."

Dr. Bob adopted the little girl. And he has been a roving missionary ever since. It would be rugged work for a less religious man, but he describes it as "easy."

Grain Prices Firming in Active Trading

CHICAGO (U) — Prices turned toward firmness today in active grain futures dealings on the board of trade.

Advances generally were small although soybeans were ahead major fractions of a cent on most contracts following word that Japan had bought about 1 1/2 million bushels overnight.

Oats, higher for the second day, moved up about a half cent and other grains by smaller fractions. Dealers said the demand appeared to be mainly short covering, perhaps signaling an end to the week-long decline.

1960 Lake Shipping to Be Ended Nov. 24

CLEVELAND (U) — The 1960 Great Lakes shipping season has virtually ended, with only 30 per cent of the American lake vessels now in operation.

M. A. Hanna Co.'s vessel department reported Tuesday that the 220 vessels in the American lake fleet, only 69 now are in operation. Sixty-two boats have gone into lay-up since the last monthly report.

By contrast, on the same day last year 230 of the 241 boats in the bulk fleet were in operation as part of a heavy push to ship iron ore to make up for the time lost during the steel strike.

Pittsburgh Steamship Division, largest of the American fleet, expects to have the remaining five ships of its St. Lawrence fleet in lay-up tonight. The majority of the remaining boats now operating on the Great Lakes are expected to be in lay-up by Nov. 24.

STOCKS IN DRIFT OF INDECISION

NEW YORK (U) — Major stocks drifted more or less aimlessly today while profit-taking held back some of Tuesday's high-flying issues.

It was an active first hour, but after that the pace simmered down. By early afternoon most stocks were within one point on either side of Tuesday's close.

The mixed groups included steel, rails, chemicals, building materials, aircrafts and electronics. Drugs were mostly a bit higher and metals generally lower.

In the drug section Schering gained 1/2 and Merck 1/4. There has been buying in drugs on the day and Brunswick off only 1/4 by old-age legislation in the next congressional session.

Metal dipped on news of copper held by producers soared to the highest level in two years in October. Kennecott dropped 1/2, Anaconda 1/4 and Phelps Dodge 1/4.

While U.S. Steel and Bethlehem held virtually unchanged, Republic dropped 1 point and Jones & Laughlin 1/2.

Universal Match and Brunswick, two sharply higher issues Tuesday, retreated early under profit-taking. They came back to where Universal Match was ahead 1/4 on the day and Brunswick off only 1/4.

International Business Machines again attracted buying and jumped 1/2.

Proctor and Gamble came into sudden favor and responded by running up 1/4. Addressograph advanced 3/4 at one time but later the gain was shaved to 1/4.

In the chemical section Union Carbide rose 1/4 but Du Pont dropped 1/4.

Hopes of good retail business during the Christmas season again stimulated buying in Sears, Roebuck, up 1/4, and F. W. Woolworth, up 1/4. Montgomery Ward eased 1/4.

Texas Instruments ran up 1 1/2 while Radio Corp., after an early advance, fell back to where it was unchanged. The motor shares were almost unchanged.

Urges Country Fight for Additional Seat

Rep. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac, today urged fellow Oakland County legislators to fight to have the additional congressional seat in Michigan given to Oakland County.

Rep. Farrel E. Roberts, elected to the county's senate seat, said Oakland County has little chance of getting the seat. He said splitting the present 67,611 population between the present 18th and new 19th districts would give each a population of around 338,000 persons.

But growth studies, he said, show Oakland and Macomb being the likely recipients of the seat. "The post may carry county lines," Roberts said.

Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson, R-Waterford Township, a member of the House Appropriations Committee which will pass on where the new seat should go, agreed with Roberts that Oakland had little chance of getting it alone.

"It's probably between Oakland and Macomb," he said. New State Rep. Henry M. Hogan Jr., who'll replace Roberts in the 3rd district, said he favored Oakland receiving the new seat, with the county being split in a north-south direction.

"We've got enough here for two districts already," declared Rep. John C. Hitchcock, D-Hazel Park.

"I'll follow Art (Rep. Law) right down the line," he said. New State Rep. Raymond L. Baker, of the 4th District, was away hunting.

Rep. William Hayward, R-Royal Oak, could not be reached for comment.

Marines Get Regime for Reducing Weight

Marine M-Sgt. John Hearrell, 36, said today that the new regime for reducing weight is a "mighty tough row to hoe" in the corps' new physical fitness program.

Hearrell, a veteran of 17 years in the Marines, is himself about 10 pounds heavier than the Marines would like for him to be and speaks from experience.

"We have to weigh in every Friday," he said. The base doctors keep charts on the progress of each of the overweight men.

The diet and weight tests are part of a new program of the Marine Corps and Army.

The new tests emphasize situations likely to be faced in combat. The old-type physical readiness tests were based on push-ups, pull-ups, and other calisthenics. They have been dropped.

The new system seems to be working well at this Marine base. Capt. John B. Lipard said the new tests appear "to be more practical" — they're actually a part of training.

Here is what male Marines under 40 must do at least annually:

- Simulate uphill climbing by stepping up on an 18-inch high platform and back down again 60 times in three minutes.
- Climb a knotted rope to a beam 20 feet above the floor and climb back down in 30 seconds.
- Run zigzag for 50 yards, lift a "casualty" and carry him back to the starting point—all within 42 seconds.
- Simulate an assault by creeping or crawling 25 yards, then running zigzag for another 150 yards and jumping an eight-foot trench in 34 minutes.
- A forced march of 3 miles without halts in 36 minutes.

Marines who are not successful in trimming off excess weight are barred from reenlistment.

Canaveral Base Will Stay Put

Defense Dept. Assures Sen. Smathers Castro Won't Force Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., said Tuesday full-scale missile-satellite operations will continue at Cape Canaveral, Fla., despite the proximity to that base of Communist agents and arms in Cuba.

The senator said a Defense Department spokesman assured him there are no plans for transfer or cutback of operations at Cape Canaveral, "and no such plans have been seriously considered in the past."

Smathers said there had been reports that the base might be moved because of shipments of Communist arms to Cuba and because Communist agents in Cuba could spy on missile flights.

He quoted the Defense Department spokesman as saying that "unfriendly governments on land areas nearby the U.S. mainland pose no more difficult problems than ships, of unfriendly nations which have free access to international waters adjacent to the missile range."

The spokesman also told him, he said, that interference with missile and satellite testing is blocked by use of special communications systems and electronic equipment.

Smathers said this minimizes the possibility of foreign nations obtaining test data of intelligence value.

Retired Chapter Forming in City

Proposed Group Elects Officers Pending OK by National Office

A proposed Pontiac Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons has elected its tentative officers.

The local chapter's first president will be its organizer Maurice E. Fitzgerald of 10 Liberty St.

Fitzgerald has been working for several months to interest senior citizens in the Pontiac area in forming a chapter of the nationwide organization.

Other officers are George Larson, vice president; Wayne Devor, treasurer; Mrs. Julius Foster, recording secretary; and Mrs. George Larson, corresponding secretary.

Committee chairman are George W. Sprague, membership; William Mustard, program; Mrs. B. H. Ogden, publicity; and Mrs. Howard Harbaugh, special committee.

The chapter will be permanently chartered as soon as the central office, in Washington, D.C., accepts and approves the group's temporary program.

Dehmers Swears In 4 Special Legislators

LANSING (UPI)—Four legislators named in special elections to fill unexpired terms were to be sworn in today by State Supreme Court Chief Justice John R. Dehmers.

Gordon Rockwell, R-Mount Morris, was named to fill the unexpired term of the late Rep. George A. Gillespie, R-Gaines, who died during the last session.

The seat represents the 2nd District of Genesee County.

Nelson Tidale, R-Midland, was elected to fill the Midland County seat formerly held by Rep. John C. Morris, R-Midland. Morris resigned earlier this year when he moved out of the district.

The Presque Isle district House seat vacated by the death of Emil A. Peltz, R-Rogers City, was to be filled by Ross O. Stevens, R-Atlanta.

The district includes Presque Isle, Ogemaw, Crawford, Montcalm and Otsego counties.

Mrs. Maxine Young, Detroit Democrat, was named to fill the unexpired term of former Rep. Frank D. Williams in Wayne County's 2nd District.

3 Negroes Get Silent Treatment in New Orleans

Only 2 of 467 White Pupils Seen Entering Integrated School

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A silent reception greeted three Negro first graders today when they arrived at school as the New Orleans public school integration crisis entered its third day.

Unlike the first two days of the integration dispute, only a handful of spectators turned out at McDonogh No. 19, one of the two all-white schools integrated by federal court order. There were no boos, no yells, no taunts.

But the number of white school children attending McDonogh also fell off.

Only two were seen entering the school — its normal enrollment 467 — when the bell rang.

Louisiana legislators urged white parents Tuesday to keep their children away from the integrated schools.

Fast-moving police cut off the caravan at the canal.

Some of the signs bore the initials "KKK." Youth along the sides of the cars, Char horns sounded a noisy constant blast of noise.

At William Frantz School, the one Negro girl showed up late, nearly at 9:30 a.m.

SMALLER CROWD

The crowd that watched four U.S. marshals escort her into the school was smaller, probably under 200.

Two white children carried an effigy of a little Negro girl through the crowd. There were cheers.

Police escorted the two children a block away from the school before the Negro first grader arrived.

There were cheers for a mother withdrawing her white child from the school, and shouts of "nigger-lover" for parents who brought their children to school.

Hunt Gun in Detroit Killing of 2

DETROIT (AP) — Police searched today for the gun used in a Detroit junk dealer and his newly married secretary.

They were found shot to death in an office Tuesday.

The bodies of Abraham Siegel, 65, and Mrs. Dolores S. Pletting, 38, were found face down on the floor of Siegel's office in the Siegel Iron and Metal Co.

The Wayne County medical examiner said each had been shot once in the back of the head.

SUSPECT HOLDUP

Homicide detectives said they believe the victims were shot while lying on the floor during a holdup.

They said Siegel transacted most of his business in cash and should have been carrying about $200 when he was killed.

Siegel's wallet was empty when his body was discovered, police said. They said the office showed no sign of being ransacked.

Mrs. Pletting's housekeeper, Mrs. Hancy said the secretary was married six months ago to Henry Pletting, chief engineer for a tool designing firm in Jackson.

Pletting left Sunday on a business trip to California. Mrs. Hancy said, and he was back Friday.

Mrs. Hancy said Mrs. Pletting was the mother of two, Perry, 6, and Jimmy, 3½, by a previous marriage. Mrs. Pletting had worked six years for Siegel.

Falling Dollar Value Worries Ike

moves to cut down the amount of money they spend overseas.

His action—only 64 days before he leaves the White House—will put President-Elect John F. Kennedy's Democratic regime in a better position to weather a financial storm which has seriously worried the Republican administration in the last two years.

The President's move was aimed mainly at helping the government close the gap between the amount of money it spends and earns overseas.

This deficit, now running at a near-record rate of $4.3 billion a year, has drained American gold reserves and shaken the prestige of the dollar in international money markets.

HELP FOR KENNEDY

To help solve this continuing problem, Eisenhower also paved the way for the Kennedy administration to get financial help from Allied countries on these two fronts:

1. More contributions from Europe's industrialized nations—such as West Germany, Britain and France—in carrying the heavy burden of economic and technical aid to Communist-threatened areas in other lands.

2. Possible sharing by West Germany of the cost of maintaining six U.S. divisions on German soil as a shield against surprise attack by the Soviet bloc.

Eisenhower authorized Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson to seek this outside aid after a 2½ hour conference at his Augusta vacation headquarters.

The President, beginning the second week of his golfing holiday, met with Anderson and Defense Secretary Thomas C. Gates to review the financial gap.

The unusual conference was set up to make clear Anderson has Enjoy these mild, balmy days while you may, for Ole Man Winter is just waiting to come huffing and puffing into the Pontiac area.

Tonight will be partly cloudy with a low of 40, the weatherman says.

Thursday will be fair and mild with the high about 50.

A few showers are forecast for Friday with little change in temperature. Morning westerly winds at 15-25 miles per hour will diminish tonight.

The lowest thermometer in downtown Pontiac preceding 3 a.m. was 31. At 1 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 33.

Nelson Is Unanimous Choice of Commission as Trustee

City commissioners last night unanimously appointed Robert S. Nelson, president of Universal Oil Seal Co., to the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees.

Nelson, 190 Ottawa Drive, succeeds James Clarkson on the 12-member board. Former board chairman, Clarkson resigned because he moved from Pontiac.

Nelson is president of the Pontiac Area United Fund and of the Pontiac Manufacturers Association.

Active in many civic affairs, he is a board member of the Pontiac YMCA and chairman of the steering committee of the social service planning division of the Greater Pontiac Community Council.

TERM EXPIRES IN 1963

Nelson's term expires in July of 1963. He joins these other board members:

William P. Babcock, chairman; Harold S. Goldberg, vice chairman; Mrs. B. B. Roush, secretary; Robert A. Armstrong, treasurer; the Rev. Theodore R. Allebach, Dr. Lynn D. Allen Jr., Cecil J. Conroy, Dick M. Kirby, Isaac Smoot and John Q. Waddell.

'Dirty Rat' Yells Slap Greenglass as He Emerges

Convict Who Aided in Sending Kin to Chair Seems Terrified

NEW YORK (AP) — David Greenglass, the convicted atom bomb spy who helped send his sister and her husband to the electric chair, went free today after 9½ years in prison.

The short, meek-appearing man emerged at 8:35 a.m. from the federal house of detention. He was accompanied by his attorney, O. John Rogge, who ruled out any statement.

Greenglass appeared terrified as he confronted 60 newsmen and photographers and heard derogatory shouts from longhairs and truckers attracted to the scene.

"Drop dead, you lousy Communist," a voice in the hostile crowd yelled as Greenglass and his attorney got into a taxicab and left for an undisclosed destination.

Someone else directed the cab, "Drive him off the pier, right into the river, the dirty rat."

BEHAVIOR GOOD

Greenglass, now 38, was sentenced to 15 years in prison in 1945 for his part in the spy plot. He got time off for good behavior.

He served his term in the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., and was transferred to the Federal House of Detention here last weekend to facilitate his release.

What are his plans? Does he have a job? No one is saying.

It was Greenglass' testimony that helped send his brother-in-law, Julius Rosenberg, and his sister, Ethel Rosenberg, to the Sing Sing Prison death chair.

Greenglass, a former Brooklyn machinist and U.S. Army technician, pleaded guilty for his part in the theft of U.S. atomic secrets, which were passed on to the Soviets. He was the government's key witness at the Rosenbergs' trial.

A radar expert, Morton Sobell, joined the Rosenbergs in denying their guilt and stood trial with Greenglass.

Weather for Ducks Dunks Deer Hunters

By DON VOGEL
Pontiac Press Outdoors Writer

CURRAN — November thunderstorms Tuesday all but washed out the opening day of deer season.

Only five bucks were tagged by hunters in six camps near this Northwestern Alcona County village.

Camp 24 was responsible for two of the deer and hunters at the Oakland Hunt Club shot three.

A. Floyd Blakeslee, retired Pontiac attorney, was the last hunter to leave Camp 24 Tuesday morning and the first to return with a buck.

He dropped a six-pointer with one shot from his 300-Savage in cutover areas.

Light drizzle fell most of the morning. Deer preferred to remain in resting places and had to be moved by stalking hunters.

A storm hit the area early in the afternoon. The majority of hunters decided to wait out the rain.

The storm passed over by 4 p.m. but it continued to drizzle until dark. Then the skies really opened up and rain poured down until 5:30 morning.

A strong west wind greeted the hunters this morning as they headed into the woods. The sky was still heavily overcast.

QUICK WALKING

The rain left the ground and leaves soggy. This enabled hunters to move quietly through the woods as they hunted for a buck on deer.

Blakeslee started his fifth consecutive deer season Tuesday. "I was just getting comfortable on my stand," he said, "when my brother (Victor E. Blakeslee) shot."

"He missed and the buck came past me and stopped. I dropped it." (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.
What makes Farrell run is a question that Oakland County's new state senator has a hard time answering.

"He's done plenty, too. 'You only have one life to live,' newly-elected Sen. Farrell E. Roberts philosophizes. 'Too many people settle down in one rut and live out their lives.'"

Roberts, at 38, has already lived a full life—high school scholar, Ann Arbor graduate, combat Navy veteran, lawyer, prosecutor, state representative, and now senator. He's been in every state but Rhode Island.

The Salt Lake City, Utah-born state legislator probably is not through yet. Some day the Pontiac is just waiting to be his headquarters, or conceivably the Capitol in Washington.

Politics has crept into his blood, because, he said, curiosity got the best of him in 1956. The game of politics—the Republican brand—altered his life, which was seemingly headed toward a stable position in the legal profession.

Roberts has never lost an election. Latest political plaudits were heaped his way when he faced his toughest of three campaigns to capture the 12th District (Oakland County) State Senate position.

READY TO QUIT

For a man who was ready to get out of politics earlier this year to share a law firm with his partner, Elmer C. Dierker, Roberts is just itching to get into the thick of the battle with 11 Democrats.

Beach Is Denied Supervisor Post

Threatens Legal Action to Oust Rowston From County Board

United Auto Workers Union officials today threatened legal action against the City Commission over AFL-CIO control of Pontiac's board seat on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Refused an appointment to the board last night, Charles A. Beach, president of Pontiac Motor Local 533, UAW, warned he would bring suit to oust Mayor Phillip E. Rowston on a legal technicality from his seat on the county's executive board.

The disputed seat had been labor's traditionally, until Rowston took it over in January.

In a bid for a different seat, Beach had been recommended to the City Commission by the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council but managed by Commissioner John A. Dugan to get the post to a lesser UAW figure, Wayne O. Amabile, 612 First St.

The appointment was to fill the vacancy in Pontiac's seven-member delegation caused by the resignation of Maurice Creteux two weeks ago.

Defeated in a 4-3 vote, Beach took the floor before commissioners last night and charged those who voted against him with breaking tradition and snubbing the council.

Beach said today that he was contacting attorneys to challenge Rowston's right to continue to serve on both the commission and the board.

Beach said he planned a taxpayer's suit, charging violation of a provision in the City Charter that prohibits elected officials, from holding any other post, "compensation for which is paid out of public money."

Supervisors are paid $15 in per diem compensation by the county for every meeting they attend.

Beach complained that the commission was slighting the needs of organized labor, whose county representative traditionally has the job of expediting welfare and assistance cases.

Labor leaders who joined Beach last night said this sometimes involves hundreds of cases a month.

Beach said he had no criticism of Amabile, a Pontiac motor pattern repairman.

But he said, the demands of the supervisor's post requires a full-time union officer, who has the available time and office space for the job.

Amabile, 41, employed at Pontiac Motor 20 years, has been a union committeeman eight years.

Beach criticized the commission for following Dugan's recommendation instead of the council's.

"I don't think the influence of one City Commissioner—who supposedly is a labor man—ought to supersede that of the council, which represents 80,000 Oakland County workers," he said.
