Taubman Plan Is a Giant Step

By L. GARY THORNE

Pontiac measured off a giant step early yesterday with the passage by the City Commission of the Taubman plan agreement.

The agreement sets forth conditions and procedures for the creation of a $40-million shopping center on downtown urban renewal land.

The 13-page document, drafted a total of eight times, was revised as late as Tuesday. Two important areas are covered by the latest modifications.

First, language changes were made that would permit cooperation between the developer, A. Alfred Taubman, and advocates of the design recently offered by the University of Detroit School of Architecture.

The latter proposal, while not backed with finances or developers, presented a concept for a "deck" approach to building and rebuilding nearly all of Pontiac, including downtown.

LANGUAGE CHANGE

The change in language stipulates that the total required land area (now rated at 63 acres including the city-owned parking area) may be reduced in the final version of the Taubman plan.

A limit of 37½ acres is placed on the land reduction. This is essentially the area the U. of D. plan thinks necessary for the downtown shopping center.

Also, there are wording changes that would permit the city to add "decked" pedestrian walkways, again advocated in the U. of D. design, in the final plan.

The agreement specifies that the city is responsible, particularly financially, for providing for parking and pedestrian traffic.

Segregationist Georgia Victor

Defeats Moderate of Dem Governor Nod

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Lester G. Maddox, an ardent segregationist running a shoestring campaign, has captured the Democratic nomination for governor — upsetting a moderate candidate and Georgia's middle-road racial course.

Maddox, a furniture merchant who quit the cafeteria business rather than serve Negroes, decisively defeated Ellis G. Arnall, a former governor, in yesterday's primary runoff. Arnall had led a six-man race two weeks ago.

"God and the people are my campaign managers," exulted Maddox, 56, after pulling off a major upset without big-money backers or the support of high-ranking politicians.

With 1,742 of 1,908 precincts reported: Maddox 419,557, Arnall 358,078.

A fiery opponent of the federal government, President Lyndon B. Johnson, liberalism, socialism and communism, Maddox says he shares the racial views of Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace. But Maddox said very little about racial issues in his campaign.

American Toll for Past Week Highest of War

Casualties Linked to Hard Fighting Near Demilitarized Zone

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. forces suffered more casualties in South Viet Nam last week than in any week of the war, the U.S. command announced today.

The high toll apparently resulted from the hard fighting south of the demilitarized zone, where American Marines are battling North Vietnamese regulars.

American casualties during the week total 970, the U.S. command said, including 142 men killed, 825 wounded. Three Americans were reported missing in action or captured.

The previous highest number of American casualties was during the week ending last May 21, when 146 U. S. troops were killed and 820 wounded, a total of 966.

S. VIET TOLL

American casualties last week were nearly three times as high as South Vietnamese losses. South Vietnamese dead numbered 98, the wounded 280, the Vietnamese command said.

The highest American death rate in one week came last November when 240 were killed, most of them in the battle of the Ia Drang Valley. In that week, 470 others were wounded.

Enemy losses rose also. Viet Cong and North Vietnamese dead last week totaled 1,165, the commands said. There were 722 the previous week.

Many of the American and enemy casualties apparently were suffered in Operation Prairie, the U. S. Marine operation just south of the demilitarized zone.

Hurricane Inez Rakes Dominican Peninsula

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Hurricane Inez battered the southern tip of the Dominican Republic's Barahona peninsula today with 160-mile winds, whipping up high tides over coastal areas from Santo Domingo to the Island of Beata.

The Weather Bureau warned of severe flooding in valley areas over the entire island as heavy rains spread over all of Hispaniola. Inez already has left 23 persons dead, 500 injured and 10,000 homeless on Guadalupe. In an 8 a.m. EST bulletin, the Weather Bureau located the center of the hurricane about 10 miles east of the southern tip of the Barahona peninsula, or about 500 miles south of Florida.

It was heading west-northwest at 12 miles an hour on a course that could spare the rich, sparsely populated farming district 110 miles west of Santo Domingo.

There were no reports of damage or casualties from Hispaniola during the night.

INCREASE IN TOLL

Latest reports from Guadalupe caused the casualty and damage toll to increase. The hurricane struck that island Tuesday.

Commercial communications with Barahona were cut off but the navy and army had contact through shortwave radio.

'LITTLE CHANGE'

"Little change in size or intensity is anticipated for 24 hours," the bureau's 6 a.m. advisory said, indicating that it no longer saw any chance that the storm would get rid of some of its fury on the mountains of southern Hispaniola.

German Force Cutback Is Due

Some U. S., British Troops to Pull Out

LONDON (UPI) — A partial American as well as British troop withdrawal from Germany is now virtually certain, diplomatic reports said today. The troop cut will be part of wider changes in NATO's future posture, the reports added.

The size of the projected reduction has not been determined, but a figure of up to 75,000 for the U. S. forces was being tentatively mentioned.

British reductions will be smaller, in relation to the smaller British force in Germany. They may involve some 5,000 men at the outset.

Details will be worked out later by the proposed tripartite commission, composed of the United States, Britain and West Germany, in consultation with the NATO allies, the reports said.

The NATO Ministerial Council meeting in mid-December will in turn review future force goals for the alliance.

American and British moves for a part reduction of their forces are determined by financial strains on the economies of the two nations.

They will also be determined by the reassessment of the Soviet threat to Europe which is considered to have receded considerably.

Walkout Halts Production at Fisher Body

Production at the Fisher Body plant in Pontiac was at a halt this morning while union and management officials met to discuss an unauthorized walkout.

A spokesman for Fisher Body said it was expected that everyone would be back on the job when the second shift begins late this afternoon.

Picketing at the plant had stopped by 9:30 a.m. before leaders of UAW Local 596 and management were to hold their conference.

Albert Lighthall, vice president of the local, said he did not know the exact cause of the walkout, but added that it had not been ordered by any union leader.

"There were some problems in the trim shop," said Lighthall. "It seems to amount to a number of people being unhappy and walking out."

He said he was unsure if the protest was a result of a report of a number of unsettled grievances.

A continuation of the walkout could, however, result in a shutdown of the Pontiac Motor Division Plant.

A GM spokesman said there normally was only a four- to five-hour supply of bodies on hand at the plant.

"There's no backlog to speak of because there is no place to store them," he said.

An Editorial

Pontiac's City Commission has wisely approved the Taubman plan for downtown development.

The main outline has been under discussion with City Commissioners and downtown leaders for nearly a year, in spite of the erroneous assertion at Tuesday's meeting that it arose recently and has only been considered for a short time. Our blighted downtown area needs rehabilitation as soon as possible.

Let's start now. Further delay is a travesty.

The University of Detroit design encompasses the whole city and is much more comprehensive but the enormous cost includes no means of raising the money. In any event, some features of this can be incorporated in a later venture following the downtown requirements of the Taubman plan which was tailored to fit the pressing needs of the moment.

The U. of D. idea embraces a magnificent view of the World of Tomorrow and it's certain that "Tomorrow" will be with us, but today's problems deserve first consideration.

Pontiac has frequently been accused of dragging her feet in downtown rehabilitation. Many plans for piecemeal buildings have been considered and studied. They possessed merit. But the Taubman plan embraced the whole affected area in one great package and thus seemed worth the delays that have ensued. Meetings were held on this matter nearly a year ago and the matter has progressed definitely but slowly ever since.

Thousands of details were faced and they haven't all been solved yet, but the matter is substantially "in hand." The Commission faced the necessity of accepting this plan or the U. of D., and the Taubman idea appears more workable at the outset. The most worthwhile features of the U. of D. plan can be considered when the downtown job is well under way.

UAW-CIO's Kenneth Morris injected the matter of housing into the picture Tuesday evening at great length. The Press accepts his statements of dire need and absolute necessity without question. Mr. Morris volunteered definite help and financial assistance from his union and both are heartily welcomed by the community at large.

Housing shouldn't wait for downtown action but should go along concurrently. In fact, even greater haste may be possible in facing the housing situation. The Press strongly supports recognition of this problem and urges a strong committee to dive into it pronto. Pontiac Motor Division is expanding while General Motors Truck definitely moves onward and upward.

Action is needed NOW. Let's accept the union offer and back it in every way possible.

Any help that can accrue from the U. of D. plan in regard to this housing should be embraced promptly. Further, Congressman Billie Farnum could be included in the over-all picture for assistance in Federal funds. "Time marches on." It marches swiftly. We cannot lag behind.

Downtown rehabilitation and the whole housing situation demand immediate attention and action. Those that espouse the cause of further delays, fumbling and reconsiderations are dragging their feet in an emergent hour.

To summarize, The Press believes the Taubman plan should be launched as soon as possible; and we realize that even then we face exasperating delays. Precisely the same holds true for housing. Let's start our drives NOW.

San Francisco Rioters Erupt Again

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Negro rioters and snipers broke out of control again Wednesday in sweltering San Francisco. They were put down quickly by National Guardsmen with "shoot to kill" orders.

As the temperature soared to a 95 degrees, 1,200 guardsmen joined the patrol of Negro districts in the city. They were ordered to "shoot to kill" orders.

Another 1,200 stood in the city and still another 2,000 were posted in suburban areas.

Lt. Col. Harland Smith, their commander, told the guardsmen: "If you are attacked or fired upon, shoot to kill. Don't fire over anybody's head." About 75 per cent of his heavily armed men had helped put down racial rioting a year ago in the Los Angeles Watts area.

They immediately moved against tense knots of young Negroes in the streets. "All right, this is it—move. Now!" they ordered.

CURFEW SET

Mayor John F. Shelley and Gov. Edmund G. Brown declared a state of emergency and imposed a curfew Tuesday when the first rioting followed the killing of a Negro youth by a white policeman. The patrolman, Alvin Johnson, said the youth, Matthew Johnson, 16, fled from a stolen car and refused to halt despite warning shots.

Police controlled that after guardsmen moved into the city and called for help by gun-slinging, rioting, arson, looting, beatings and brick throwing continued in the Hunters Point-Bayview area in the city's southeast corner and in the Fillmore district, five miles to the northwest.

Police said 42 persons were injured Wednesday, including three policemen, although there has been no death.

More than 80 persons were arrested and many stores, including several selling liquor, were looted.

SNIPER FIRE

Shooting was sporadic and "almost continuous" although no policeman was hit by a bullet.

Guardsmen moved in after one policeman was hit and injured by a bottle. His nose was broken.

More than 20 police cars, two California highway patrol cars, eight Fire Department vehicles and two buses were damaged.

As guardsmen sealed off the Negro districts, forcing everyone from the streets, police patrols concentrated on nearby areas against hit-and-run attacks by Negro youths in cars.

BAYONETS USED

Without hesitation, tough guardsmen halted cars at bayonet point, yanked out the occupants and shook down the cars for looted goods.

For the first time, heavy police patrols moved on Market Street, the city's main thoroughfare. They had not been seen there in such numbers since sailors rioted on V-J Day.

At least 50 police bullets riddled a large car in the Hunters Point area after a sniper, who was shot, took refuge behind it. He was arrested.

First photographs of the moon were made in 1840.

Oil Drilling Halt Sought by Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—A Detroit official Friday will ask the Ontario government to halt an oil well drilling project the city fears could result in contamination of its water supply.

Robert Reese, city attorney, plans to meet in Toronto with John Simmette, Ontario minister of energy and resources management.

SMALL-TOWN TRANSFORMATION — The green of the countryside is giving way in Rochester to a construction boom. Here the formerly undeveloped Mill Pond area sprouts apartment house rows. Construction crews are busy all over the 1.6 square miles of town.

$5 Million in New Apartments

ROCHESTER — To enter Rochester from the south on M150 is to get the impression of a picturesque small town, far from the hustle of the big city where many of its residents work.

The town looks alive, but unburied. Modern stores grace Main Street and homes encountered on the route through town look well-kept and substantial.

This year the peaceful facade covers one of the biggest building booms ever experienced in its 1.6-square-mile area.

Building Inspector Thomas Turkette estimates over the approximate $5 million worth of new luxury apartments now completed or in the process of construction.

All but one of the complexes have been financed with private capital, he says.

Financier Bernard Head of Royal Oak will this year complete 60 of an eventual 288 units in his Oakhill complex located at South Miller and Baldwin. The development includes garden-type apartments and townhouses.

In the old Mill Pond now tied to downtown Rochester by a new bridge over Paint Creek and an extension of East University Drive, B. D. Becker of Clawson is building 114 apartment units with occupancy slated the first of the year. He calls the project Leland Valley.

Rochester Manor, new building on Plate Street, will offer 64 apartments in about two months' time. Leo Stein of Oak Park is the builder.

George Rubin of Huntington Woods is constructing 26 apartments at Parkdale and Elizabeth Streets. These are luxury one and two-bedroom apartments.

CORAL RIDGE
Joe and Milt Dressner are developers of Coral Ridge apartments located at First and Wilcox streets. Forty-four of 186 apartments are due for completion next month. This is the only project being developed with the help of an FHA loan.

A new Elks Temple valued at $254,000 is three-quarters complete, Turkette reports.

One of the most modern sports stores in the state, according to Turkette, will open the end of the month with a stocked valuation of $100,000.

The store, the Golden Ram, is a project of Sidney Tegau, longtime Rochester financier. It is located at the site of the old Texaco station on Main at Second.

OLD LEGION HOME
Foundation construction now marks the place where the old American Legion Home once stood on West University at the foot of Walnut.

Site of the new Service Plaza, the building will house a bank, stores, restaurant and offices. The initial part of the project is valued at $490,000. Sidney Weinberger, contractor for a group of area professional people, says the building will be enlarged later.

Even the churches are getting in on the act with St. John's Lutheran now starting to add an addition to its existing edifice on West University at a cost of $410,000.

All this construction is in addition to Rochester's Urban Renewal program which has now reached the stage where families are being relocated. Next step will be the demolition of existing dilapidated structures.

26-ACRE AREA
The land has all been optioned in the 26-acre area by buyers who plan to create an industrial park. Total cost of the project is $1 million.

In Independence Twp.

$1-Million Building Project Set

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Construction is slated to begin this week on a $1-million building project fronting on Van Norman Lake.

An addition to the existing Independence Square complex, the project will consist of 48 apartments and a shopping center with 11 modern shops. Also to be built is a medical clinic.

earmarked for the $300,000 shopping center, to be known as "Independence Commons," are a drugstore, party store, beauty salon, barber shop, dry cleaners and selective apparel shops.

Presently, there are 82 apartment units on the property, according to Donald E. White, a co-owner, with James G. Rarrick of Birmingham and Clare S. Snell of Bloomfield Hills.

Target date for completion of the project is May 1, according to White. When completed, it is expected to increase from 168 to 250 the number of occupants living at the $2.5 to $3-million development.

20 ACRES
Consisting of 20 acres, the development includes a separate clubhouse, swimming and beach areas, a marina and other recreational facilities for residents.

Sixteen of the new apartments will provide lake-front luxury living, consisting more than 1,400 square feet and including two full baths, two bedrooms, a dining room and a 30-foot balcony.

All units will be carpeted and air-conditioned and will contain ranges, refrigerators and storage rooms.

Burglars Hit 2 Businesses in Orion Twp.

ORION TOWNSHIP — Burglars struck two township business firms early yesterday, taking nearly $1,500 cash from a tavern and about $100 from a service station.

Targets of the break-ins, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies were the Catalina Lounge, 4313 Baldwin; and Gingeville Sunoco Service, 4016 Baldwin.

Deputies said entry to the bar was made by breaking a rear window and then dropping some 10 feet into the basement of the building.

Norman Witte, owner of the lounge, said $1,311 was taken from his office, with $162 missing from a juke box and cigarette machine, both of which had been jammed.

The front door of the nearby service station had been pried open, deputies said, and two vending machines rifled of $100 in change.

A power chisel found in the station had been used to split open a cash box, according to deputies, but the box had reportedly been emptied by the owner the night before.

Avon Twp. Future Plans Aired by Board Members

AVON TOWNSHIP — Future planning, including water and sewer arrangements, concerned the Township Board at its meeting last night.

A public hearing on the new zoning ordinance and map was slated for 7:30 p.m. Oct. 19 at the Avon Playhouse on Washington Road. Copies of the text and map are available for review at the township office.

Fraud Charges Are Dropped

WALLED LAKE — Charges against City Manager Royce L. Downey of conspiracy to cheat and defraud a Detroit man were dismissed yesterday in Detroit's Recorder's Court.

Downey repaid $6,000 to Wilbur White of Detroit who had named Downey as one of three men who allegedly defrauded him of $25,000 involving proposed construction of a 28-unit motel at Tiresman and Seebaldt, Detroit.

According to Detroit Asst. Prosecutor Robert Sage, Downey will appear as a prosecution witness against the other accused men, William O. Smith of Miami Beach and Theodore Jefferson of Detroit.

Downey reportedly was an officer in a company when White sought a mortgage for a proposed motel. White complained that the three cheated him out of the money by failing to build the motel or refund the money.

Get Top Scores to Qualify

36 Students in Scholarship Semifinals

Thirty-six area high school students have been named semifinalists in the 1966-67 National Merit Scholarship competition. They are among 14,000 of the nation's highest scoring students on the qualifying test administered last spring.

They can advance to finalist status by receiving the endorsement of their schools, substantiating their qualifying test performance on a second examination and submitting information about their achievements and interests.

Merit scholars will be selected from the finalist group. They will be announced next May. Each Merit Scholarship is a four-year award covering the undergraduate years of college.

articles of incorporation for a joint utility authority with the village of Rochester. The authority now awaits ratification by village officials.

First project of the authority is expected to be construction of a Paint Creek sewer arm to the village sewage disposal plant. The arm would serve Crittenton Hospital and expected development of residential area north and west of the village.

A special meeting was announced for 4 p.m. Monday at which time township officials will meet with the Oakland County Department of Public Works in regard to the proposed Clinton-Oakland Sewer Interceptor.

TOWNSHIP PLAN
Avon is the only governmental unit involved in the six-township plan which has failed to sign an agreement regarding construction of the interceptor.

The township signified its willingness to continue in a Regional Planning Commission with Rochester and Pontiac Township to solve mutual problems. Avon recently set up its own planning board.

The board voted authority to sign an agreement with the Oakland County Road Commission to repair Winkler Mill bridge, northeast of Rochester, on a temporary basis, and to try to work out a solution which would provide for construction of a two-lane bridge there within a year.

In other business, the board okayed the Zoning Board recommendation to allow residential construction by the Meadowbrook Development Co. on land abutting Pontiac Township, and to allow for a freeway service district on land along the new M59.

The board raised the price of filing a zoning application from $25 to $75 to cover the planning consultant's fee for review of the application.

5 Hearings on Water Set

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Five public hearings will be held the last week in October on special assessment districts to provide water facilities for five subdivisions.

If the special assessment districts are approved, the five areas will tap in to the Detroit water system. They presently use well water.

A hearing will be held Oct.

24 for Staman Acres Subdivision; Oct. 25 for Farmington Hills and Glen Orchard subdivisions; and Oct. 26 for LaMura Estates and Springland subdivisions.

Estimated costs to the areas involved are LaMura Estates $28,900; Farmington Hills, $97,500; Springland, $156,270; Glen Orchard, $113,540; and Staman Acres, $167,600.

Township Supervisor Curtis H. Hall said individual costs will vary from $725 to $1,050 per homestead.

Youth Open House Starts on Tuesday

ROCHESTER — A weekly open house for high school students will get under way at St. Philip's Episcopal Church next Tuesday evening.

Dancing, games and cooperative study will be provided for during the hours of 7 to 9 p.m. each Tuesday.

Charles Schoch, sponsor of the high school youth group, and Rev. W. R. Schutze, rector, will be available for consultation and conversation during the programs.

Rochester Area Blood Drive Set

ROCHESTER — Residents of the area will be asked to donate blood during a Blood Bank program from 2 to 8 p.m. Tuesday, at St. Andrew's Catholic Church, Walnut and Third.

No appointments are necessary, according to Mrs. Russell Nowels, long-time Rochester chairman.

The Rochester Junior Woman's Club will assist.

Also nearly complete with in the village is the Kivans shelter which will grace park land behind the Municipal Building, and provide a focal point for the next Art Festival Festival next fall.

These figures light up the eyes of Village Assessor Frank Kelly who says when the projects are all completed an additional $32,125 will be added to village tax collections alone.

Counting all taxes, including township, schools and county, the new construction should add $137,500 to collection totals once the projects are complete.

Building permits accepted by the village to Sept. 8 of this year total $3,239,575 as compared with last year's complete total of $1,465,000.

The construction of apartments leads the field. As an indication of property holders' attempts to keep present buildings up to date, totals for the addition and remodeling of commercial buildings stand at $30,300.

While land within the village limits is fast filling, Turkette believes Rochester is in for a long run of prosperity.

Old City Hall Out

Library Site Nixed

TROY — Upon recommendation of the Wayne County Librarian, Troy City Commission has decided not to use the old city hall as a library.

The building was vacated when city government moved recently to a new civic center.

The commission instead agreed to lease quarters to the secretary of state for a local drivers' licensing bureau and to provide space for the Youth Protection offices and for the Troy Historical Society.

The secretary of state's office was to move in today.

Location was given as the main reason for rejection of the library proposal. The building

IN HIGH SCHOOL
The present library is contained in the Troy Senior High School.

In other business the commission voted to initiate sanitary sewer projects on Talbot, Kilmer, Ellenboro, Harland, Louisa, Troy, Frankston and Helena. Plans and cost estimates were asked for the project, which is an effort to halt pollution of water in the area, according to City Manager Paul York.

Nonresidents Can Get Lapeer Service

LAPEER — The City Commission this week instituted a policy of providing utility service to residents outside the corporate limits.

Such customers would be required to pay the total cost of installation for water or sewer lines, one-and-a-half times the rate charged in the city, and a yearly payment in lieu of taxes equal to a city assessment.

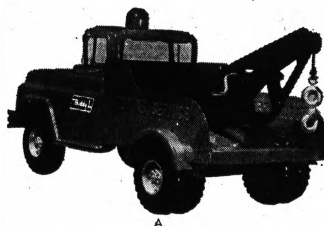

In other business this week the commission set Oct. 17 as the date of a public hearing on the renewal of the Detroit Edison franchise for electrical service in the city.

Nazis No Threat in West Germany

By WELLINGTON LONG

BONN (UPI) — The question must first-time visitors to Germany ask is: Whatever happened to all the Nazis?

Periodically, the question is rephrased: Are the Nazis really returning to power?

The answer to the first is that Nazis, unlike leopards, can and do change their spots. To the second, the answer is a resounding no.

Although West Germany's three parliamentary parties — the Christian Democrats led by Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, the Free Democrats led by Vice Chancellor Erich Mende and the Social Democrats led by West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt — disagree on many things, on this one issue they form a common front.

Nazism will be prevented at whatever cost.

SUPPORT

The mass of the people support them. Among them the three parliamentary parties receive more than 85 per cent of the popular vote.

The avowedly neo-Nazi groups have never since the war done better than five per cent, and for the last 15 years, they have managed to win no more than 2 per cent of the vote.

The National Democratic party of Germany is the latest rally disfigure on many things, on

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) —

The Michigan Licensed Beverage Association elected Dean H. Wilkinson of Edwardsburg as its president Wednesday. He succeeds Leo Wilson of Midland, who was elected alternate director to the National Licensed Beverage Association. M. J. Edmore was reelected director to the national association.

In November, the NPD is opening the Eastern frontiers to permit a Russian advance to the Elbe.

They committed history's most monstrous crimes, making all the German people the world's scapegoats. To this must be added complete exposure of the Nazi record and freedom to discuss it.

Few German political leaders would consider it a danger to democracy if the NPD did win a couple of places in Bavaria's Landtag legislature.

The neo-Nazis, they point out, had a dozen seats in the Bundestag federal parliament in its president Wednesday. He is 1949, and proceeded to lose the lot within four years.

Tranquilizers Signal Weakening Morale

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

The enormous propensity the latter-day specialists have for prescribing tranquilizers, and the abandon of people who cultivate the tranquilizer habit are disturbing signs of weakening national morale.

Doctors who prescribe or OK the use of such drugs know perfectly well the drugs cannot cure or correct what ails the patient, but will only dull or, for an hour or two, lessen consciousness or awareness of the trouble.

This is just a little less reprehensible than introducing the patient to the dope habit. Indeed some unfortunate immediately switch from tranquilizer to morphine or heroin.

With a vain notion of helping drug takers to come back, I said in my syndicated health column:

"If you take or feel the need of a tranquilizer, analgesic (pain-killer), sedative or narcotic (such as alcohol) every day or regularly, answer me this: Why do you take the dope? While you are trying to compose a plausible answer, I'll tell you why you take it: You want to forget for an hour or two the ache, pain, shame, sorrow, fear, worry, inferiority complex, remorse, or loneliness that haunts the wrong way of life."

I invited anyone who could tell me a good reason for resorting to any of the drugs mentioned to do so, frankly and, of course, confidentially.

I received a lot of answers, mostly from persons, nine out of 10 of them women, who were introduced to the tranquilizer habit by their physicians. Some of the misfortunes or disappointments they described were indeed pathetic but still scarcely warranted self-destruction—and cultivation of a drug habit is a step toward self-destruction.

The doctor who prescribes or dispenses tranquilizers, sedatives, hypnotics or narcotics as a routine of everyday practice is in the position of the character in the crowd on the street who shouts at the poor soul hesitating on the ledge of the building: "Go on, jump!"

In any circumstance, if the use of a tranquilizer or a narcotic is indicated, of course the doctor should use it, but he should administer it himself or give the nurse or attendant specific directions to do so. A prescription for such drugs should never be written, in my judgment.

Pepper Plants Next for Space

Satellite Experiment Set for Late This Year

By Science Service MADISON, Wis. — Pepper plants are next in line for space flight.

Now that men, monkeys, mice and other creatures have had their turn in space, scientists are preparing pepper plants, wheat seeds and a weedy flower called spiderwort for a three-day trip in a special biosatellite day trip in a special biosatellite late this year.

Leafy members of these first orbiting plants have been subjected to earthbound laboratory tests simulating space conditions, said Dr. T. W. Tibbitts of the University of Wisconsin.

He had been working with S. P. Johnson of North American Aviation, Inc., under a National Aeronautics and Space Agency contract.

Using a machine called a lino-stat which slowly rotates plants on a horizontal plane at right angles to gravity, the scientists, simulated the weightless environment of space.

ZERO GRAVITY

Under zero gravity in the clinical, leaves of the pepper plants curled downward. They recovered their natural position when turned upright again.

By studying how plants react to space, scientists hope to understand optimum growing conditions for cultivating space plants and also how to grow better crops on earth.

Medicare 'Sleeper' Fiscal Nightmare

Title 19 is a provision of Medicare designed to help anybody under the age of 65 who needs medical care but cannot afford it. This provision may turn out to be the medical and fiscal sleeper of the century.

Title 19 provides grants to the states from the Federal government ranging from 55 per cent of medical costs in the richer states to 83 per cent in the poorest. Title 19 allows the states to provide care to the medically indigent but is extremely vague as to who are to be considered medically indigent.

Two of the first states to qualify for Title 19 aid — Oklahoma and Minnesota — have set amounts ranging from $2,448 to $2,800 as the annual income below which a family is considered medically indigent. New York State, on the other hand, passed a law that established $7,500 annual income and $3,000 in the bank as a minimum before a family need assume payment of its own medical expenses.

The New York law immediately qualified 8 million New Yorkers for free medical care — 44 per cent of the State's population.

Fortunately, the law was modified. But, implementing Title 19 of Medicare in New York State will cost the Federal government nearly a quarter of a billion dollars this year. No one knows what the total bill for Title 19 will be when all the states have submitted their plans, but it is a certainty that it will run into billions of dollars.

Congress should rewrite Title 19 to assist in the medical problems of those truly in need... without bankrupting the rest of us.

Plan to Take Bugs Out of 'Moon Men's' Return

The toughest part of the trip for America's three Apollo astronauts may not be the voyage to the moon and back, difficult and dangerous as that will be.

Their real ordeal will begin after they land safely on earth.

A plan currently under consideration by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration calls for wrapping the capsule in a big plastic bag as soon as it is retrieved from the ocean and flying the whole kit and kaboodle — men and machine — to the Lunar Receiving Laboratory at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston. There the astronauts would be kept in quarantine for 30 days.

Scientists think the probability of there being any form of life on the moon is very low. Then again, there is no proof that there isn't, and NASA is working out elaborate precautions against any deadly lunar micro-organisms being loosed on earth.

The plastic bag would be equipped with an airtight and a separate chamber to allow the astronauts to leave the capsule for comfort. Thus they will have a certain measure of freedom during the month of observation, which is considered the maximum time necessary for the incubation of possible moon bugs.

Only at the end of the period, after the swarm of doctors is finished with them, will the moon voyagers be permitted to emerge from their plastic wrap with a clean bill of health — though hardly sandwich fresh.

Civil Fights Do Damage to 'Civil Rights'

Some Americans who say they are for civil rights are losing sight of a basic principle of that cause: Non-discrimination.

Negro and white demonstrators who recently sparked a physical attack on the principal of a Harlem school, tried to force his replacement for one reason only — he is white. The dissidents say the principal should be a Negro.

It is significant that the school's staff, half of which is Negro, refused to accept executive transfer of their principal under pressure from the demonstrators. It is even more to the point to quote the Negro who had been chosen to replace the school head to satisfy the protesters: "I object to being chosen on the basis of color, not competence."

That is what the civil rights movement is all about. Those who think otherwise—that one kind of racial discrimination should be replaced by another—have badly lost their way.

Says 'Hawk' and 'Dove' Labels are for the Birds

A bird in the hand is not the same by any other name.

No less an authority than Dr. S. DILLON RIPLEY, ornithologist and head of the Smithsonian Institution, claims that officials in Washington who label themselves — or are labeled by others — as either hawks or doves are warbling the wrong terminology.

True hawks, says Dr. Ripley, are "sensible, long-lived, full of wisdom and nonferocious."

As for doves, all animal behavior studies show that they "are not bright, but cruel and insensate and far more bloodthirsty."

Maybe we'd better drop the name-calling entirely. The Viet Nam situation is confused enough

'Arrows' Hit Press Grid Contestants

It's long been said, you know, that 10 million Frenchmen can't be wrong. We don't really know about that—it's one for de Gaulle to worry about.

But we do know that last evening the 1,875 Press Football Contest entrants who 11 who laughed off superstition and predicted that the opponents would run a dead heat—if you can put up with a mixed sports metaphor.

How now, Brown Cow, about the third game of the contest schedule, Saturday's tussle between Alabama and Mississippi? We're glad you asked—look the words right out of your mouth. Well, of the afore-said 1,875 who moved a game nearer the contest's winning award of a $500 U.S. Savings Bond, 1,529 are hot for Alabama, only 322 smolder for Mississippi, while a lukewarm 24 see a no-decision finish.

Considering that the dopesters give Alabama but a 7-point edge, the lopsided majority given the Crimson Tide by our contestants is a bit surprising.

However, as the saying is "Ours not to reason why," I, so-o-o, keep calm, cool and collected until Saturday. A week later, we have Michigan going against Michigan State. WOW!

Victory Is In The Eye Of The Beholder!

David Lawrence Says:

Advice to Church Is Paradoxical

WASHINGTON—This might be called the time of paradoxes in American history.

One week the Congress of the United States refuses to adopt a proposed constitutional amendment to permit voluntary prayer in public schools because it is argued that "church and state" are supposed to remain separate. But this week President Johnson tells an audience of bishops of the African Methodist Episcopal Church that their ministers should get into politics and involve themselves in the controversies of government.

Apparently the President is unaware of the bitter controversies that are going on inside the churches in all sections of the country, as laymen protest that their ministers should not participate actively in political movements.

The answer usually made by churchmen who are active in politics is that most of the questions being discussed nowadays are important from a moral and social viewpoint.

The clergy has always played an influential part in community life and has performed a valuable service in pointing out the need for personal integrity, righteousness and honesty in all walks of life, as well as helpfulness to one's fellow man. But this is a far different thing from lobbying in Washington or engaging in activities of a political nature, and giving the impression that the minister is reflecting a consensus of his own congregation.

ONE INTERPRETATION
The President's comment that "the church cannot afford to stand aside from the great problems of our times" will be interpreted as just another way of saying that the church and the state are not separate.

We should stop bombing North Viet Nam because we have not stopped the influx of troops and supplies from North Viet Nam. It is impossible (he asserted) to choke off the Ho Chi Minh trail.

RECRUIT BY TERROR
But only 10 per cent of the fighting strength of the VC actually comes from the north he said. The rest is generated in South Viet Nam's rural regions, mostly by terror tactics.

If he were running our show Sir Robert would bloody well deploy just enough troops to hold what we've now got secure and assign the bulk of the fighting forces to plunge into the hamlets, win them, secure them, and thus cut out the heart of the VC's recruiting system, its logistic terminals and its rise.

Lots better than perpetual chasing the VC around the boondocks.

most every community has always been a church."

The President expresses the hope that "the cry for freedom" will not become "the sound of a brick cracking through a store window."

He cautions that "if that sound should drown out the voices of reason, frustration will replace progress and all of our best work will be undone."

President Johnson's remarks this week will be the subject of controversy for a long time to come. For he touched on one of the hottest and most delicate questions in the whole "civil rights" crusade and in the relationship of church and state.

We live ten miles from town on two acres of land in an area where everyone has acreage. We willingly drive the extra distance so we might have small animals. We kept our animals clean and well fed.

One complaint from one neighbor caused us to lose all our animals including our pets. Is this fair? We have lost food for our table along with the pride and satisfaction of raising it. We have lost the education of nature and its ways. And we have lost a father's hobby that didn't take him away from his home and children.

Our whole family enjoyed these animals and we want every one to know what one regretted complaint has done to us.

Miss Bowman, Friend of the Court, says standard procedure is to leave at least $30 a week in garnishments going through that office. If you know your check will be unusually small, call Friend of the Court as soon as possible to see about payment reduction. For garnishments in Municipal Court, Deputy Clerk Mrs. Wheeler says under the law in first garnishment a married man supporting a family is allowed not less than $30 nor more than $50. After the first judgment exemption drops to not less than $12, not more than $30. However, any credit union dues, bond deductions, etc., must also be taken out, so take home could be less than the amounts above. If you also pay child support, adjustment will be made upon proof of such payment. Adjustment of garnishment terms must be negotiated through the Court to avoid additional garnishments.

Shattered Cells Doggedly Rebuilt

By RAY CROMLEY
MANILA (NEA) — There's a lesson here for the Viet Nam War.

Frequent confirmed reports from the Philippine hill areas tell of a vigorous regrowth of the old Communist terrorist movement — particularly in central Luzon.

The Philippine government is now building up its counter-guerrilla action units.

Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos, in his recent trip to the United States, made it a point to ask for aid to equip 10 Philippine army engineer battalions to work in a stepped-up civic action campaign.

This is like the rerun of an old movie. A number of years before Viet Nam, the Philippines, with American cooperation, organized a vigorous campaign to wipe out the Communist Huk movement and its political and terrorist underground.

That anti-Huk campaign was well-run. It combined excellent military tactics with a successful forgiveness and resettlement program for those rebels and rebel cooperators who gave themselves up.

When that series of anti-Huk campaigns was over — and it took years — the Communist underground movement seemed dead militarily and politically.

Time passed. It is now clear the Huk movement is not dead. It is growing. The Huk control areas, run active terrorist programs and have their organizers out in surrounding territories as part of an aggressive expansion program.

The Huk movement as of today is no serious threat to the government. But that isn't the point. It's that, like Bermuda grass, these Red undergrounds keep coming back underfoot. They're not dead. Then, presto, it's alive.

In Malaysia there are still pockets of Red guerrillas despite the highly successful British 10-year campaign which "wiped out" the guerrilla movement.

Mao Tse-tung's Reds fought Chiang Kai-shek's government armies for 20 years before winning. Time and again Mao's Communists were mopped up in bloody campaigns, their numbers reduced to small bands hiding out in isolated areas.

But Mao's Reds kept coming back — regrouping and expanding again with a handful of political-military organizers.

The war cannot stop with military victory or even with the establishment of a stable, democratic government.

For even with all this, underground cells will not have been destroyed.

There will need to be a continual alert and counteraction. There is no easy formula for achieving this vaccination against recurrence.

There will have to be experimenting with one technique after another until the answer is found.

Western Envoys See NATO Shuffling Off to Brussels

PARIS (UPI) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) permanent council will move from Paris to Brussels, responsible western diplomatic sources said today.

However, the sources said the actual move probably will not take place for about a year because of a need to find a new headquarters building in the Belgian capital.

That would be about six months after NATO's Supreme Allied Headquarters (SHAPE) also moves from France to Belgium.

French President Charles de Gaulle has ordered SHAPE as well as United States and other allied bases and troops out of France by April 1, 1967.

De Gaulle did not give similar get-out orders to NATO's political headquarters. Until recently, the other 14 NATO member countries were badly split on whether to stay in France or to follow the military headquarters to Belgium.

LED OPPOSITION

Canada, which for internal political reasons opposed doing anything that might annoy the French, led the battle against moving. Denmark and Portugal also opposed it.

The United States, Great Britain and West Germany all favored moving.

Reliable diplomatic sources said the opponents of a move now appear to have yielded and that a decision by the council to leave Paris is likely by mid-November.

They said no decision had been reached yet on whether to hold the December meeting of the NATO council of ministers in Paris as usual or whether to hold it in Brussels or possibly The Hague.

But most NATO officials were said to feel that if, as expected, it already has been decided before December, the ministerial meeting should not take place in Paris, where there will be no problems of finding a building on short notice to hold it in.

NATO sources said the French have indicated they do not object to the council moving to Brussels and that they would accept their delegation there with it.

Despite their military pullout

July 1, the French have retained members of the permanent council and have attended its meetings regularly.

Nearly 80 per cent of the 650,000 public and private swimming pools in the United States are concrete, with Americans expected to spend more than $25 million in painting them this year, according to the Good-year Chemical Division.

Black-Ruled Africa Nation to Gain Freedom Tonight

GABERONES, Bechuanaland (AP) — Africa gets another nation one minute after midnight as the British protectorate of Bechuanaland becomes independent Botswana.

It will be the first black-ruled country to border white-ruled South Africa. Prime Minister Seretse Khama, who will be sworn in as president married a blonde British typist 18 years ago. They have four children.

Bonfires will blaze from the hillsides as the Union Jack is hauled down at midnight tonight and the blue, black and white flag of the new republic is run up.

Bechuanaland, ruled by the British since the 1880s, is bordered by South-West Africa, white-ruled Rhodesia and South Africa. It is an arid country dominated by the vast Kalahari Desert and the Okavango swamps.

"Pula," the traditional greeting means rain, a scarcity in this dry, landlocked country. Whites and blacks live in harmony here, in sharp contrast with the racist troubles in surrounding countries and territories.

Bechuanaland's economy is based on the export of cattle. Several years of drought has reduced its stock by nearly 500,000 head, or about one third of the total herd. About 30,000 of its 576,000 citizens work in South Africa, many of them in the gold mines.

Both Khama and Chief Leabua Jonathan, prime minister of Basutoland, recognize that their economic and political survival depend in large part on friendly relations with South Africa.

Basutoland, an enclave in the heart of South Africa, becomes the constitutional monarchy of Lesotho next Tuesday.

Romney Gets Debate Prod

House Speaker Adds RSVP to Invitation

Governors Get Johnson Plea Today

LANSING (AP)—Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, has added an "RSVP" to House Democrats' invitation to Gov. George Romney to take part in a debate in the House chamber in a letter to Romney Wednesday, Kowalski said.

"Earlier this month the House of Representatives approved a resolution inviting you and (Democratic gubernatorial candidate) Zolton Ferency to use the chamber of the House as a forum for a free and open debate on the issues of the current campaign. A copy of the resolution was forwarded to you on Sept. 12.

'NO RESPONSE'
"As yet, we have received no response from you," Kowalski added.

"It will require some preparation time to arrange for the debates, if they are to be held. Consequently, it would be helpful if we could have an early response from you," he said.

The two gubernatorial candidates have debated once so far in the campaign — before the committee on political education of the AFL-CIO Tuesday. They are scheduled to debate next week before the Economic Club of Detroit.

State Solon Blasts FCC

AP Regional Service
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., said Wednesday crime prevention, traffic safety and small business are being adversely affected by what he called inaction of the Federal Communications Commission.
The FCC, he said, has failed to allocate an additional share of radio frequencies for hand mobile radio use in spite of rapid development of this two-way communication system.

Sen. Dirksen Loses on 'Spending Test'

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — In what Sen. Everett M. Dirksen called an anti-inflation test, the Senate has rebuffed President Johnson's plea to hold spending down to budgetary levels.
By a 65-3 vote the Senate passed and sent back to the House Wednesday a $10.5-billion bill for the Labor and Health, Education and Welfare Department.

Before the vote, Dirksen forced a test of whether the Senate was willing to cut the measure $390 million — the same amount its appropriations committee had added to budget requests.

He lost by a 40-24 vote the Republican leader said "shows who stands where on cutting spending" to cope with inflation. Of the 21 Republicans who voted, seven opposed Dirksen's move.

MORE FUNDS
Dirksen told reporters that "Johnson ate me up" at a recent White House meeting about Congress' action in voting more funds than he had requested.

As it turned out, 33 Democrats and 7 Republicans voted to sustain the higher spending level.

FINAL VOTE
In the final countdown, only Dirksen mustered 14 Republicans and 10 Democrats for his move.

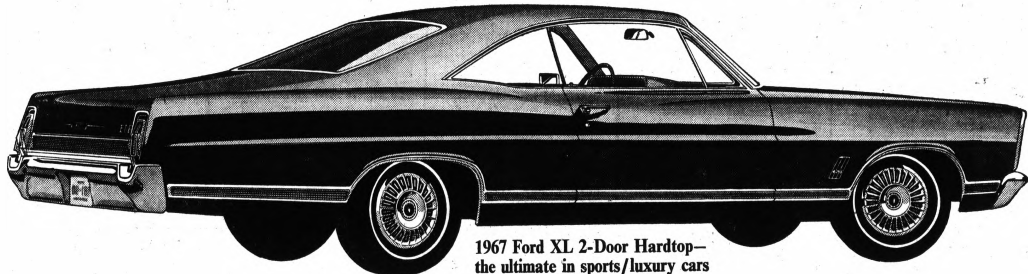

They noted that Johnson had the House, but contained $7.5 million to finance the national teacher corps operation in poverty-stricken areas. The House had denied any funds for this purpose.

Hawaii Primary Remains

Congress Casualties Total 11

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The primary elections are all but concluded and the casualty toll in the present Congress stands at 11. Eight House members and three senators lost re-election contests.

The one remaining primary, in Hawaii Saturday, is not apt to change the figures. Democratic Reps. Spark M. Matsunaga and Patsy Mink have primary opposition but are odds-on favorites.

Looking back on the primaries, there was no general inclination among voters to throw out present officeholders. The defeated list is low. In 1964, eight House members but no senator lost primary contests.

House casualties this year were men caught in redistricting squeezes which pitted them against other members in situations where one incumbent had to lose.

BIG SURPRISES

Perhaps the major surprises of the primaries were the losses by Sen. A. Willis Robertson and Rep. Howard W. Smith in the Virginia Democratic primary. Robertson, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, has been in Congress 34 years — 14 in the House and 20 in the Senate. Smith, chairman of the House Rules Committee, had 36 years of service.

Both went down before younger challengers in close races in which their age appears to have been a factor. Robertson is 79, Smith 83.

Age also was a factor in the defeat of Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr., R-Mass., 81, who has been in Congress for 42 years. The other senators defeated in primaries were Ross B. Sells of Tennessee and Donald S. Russell of South Carolina, both Democrats.

HOUSE RACES

The House members who ran against other members due to redistricting were:

D. R. (Billy) Matthews, beaten in the Florida Democratic primary by Don Fugua.

Landley Beckworth, beaten in the Texas Democratic primary by Ray Roberts.

Other House members defeated in primaries were Reps. James H. Morrison, D-La.; Tom Murray, D-Tenn., and J. Russell Tuten, D-Ga.

These defeated candidates, plus 25 others who did not seek reelection, give Congress at this time a total of 36 lame ducks or members who will not be in the new Congress.

DECIDE TO RETIRE

Senators who decided to retire are Leavett S. Saltonstall, R-Mass.; Milward L. Simpson, R-Wyo.; and Marjane Neuberger, D-Ore.

Of 22 House members who did not try for reelection eight sought other offices.

Reps. Robert B. Duncan, D-Ore., Teno Roncallo, D-Wyo., and Prentiss L. Walker, R-Miss., are candidates for the Senate.

Reps. James D. Martin, D-Ala., and Howard H. Callaway, R-Ga., are running for governor.

Rep. Carlton R. Sickles, D-Md., lost a bid for his party's nomination for governor and

Rep. Robert F. Ellsworth was beaten in a try for the Republican Senate nomination in Kansas. Rep. Robert E. Sweeney, D-Ohio, is running for state attorney general.

Diabetic Mouse Discovery

Key Break for Researchers

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Discovery of a laboratory animal with hereditary diabetes resembling the human disease is reported here in Science by three scientists of The Jackson Laboratory, Bar Harbor, Maine.

This is important news to researchers, who up to now have lacked a suitable animal model of human diabetes for investigation.

Already 300 diabetic mice make up The Jackson Laboratory colony, and as soon as the colony is large enough, specimens will be shipped out on request.

Two women scientists, Drs. Katherine P. Hummel and Margaret M. Dickie, with Dr. Douglas L. Coleman, all of The Jackson Laboratory, report the research, which is being expanded to accommodate the numerous scientists doing basic research as well as those seeking a cause and cure of the disease.

To have diabetes in full form, the mice must inherit the gene from both parents. Such mice are infertile, and a special ovary-transplantation technique has to be carried out to keep the line from dying out.

The diabetic female's egg cells carry the diabetes gene, and so her ovaries are transplanted to a healthy female that is then mated with a male that is fertile because he carries only one diabetes gene.

About half the mice born of such matings carry two diabetes genes and consequently develop the disease.

At first the mutant mice appear to be normal but soon get fat. In spite of fasting and losing weight, with lowered blood sugar, they soon regain weight and blood sugar levels after plenty of food is restored.

Attempts to control weight by restriction of food, as has been successful with the obese, have failed.

Comments on the research, Dr. Hummel said that later as the mice lose weight drastically as from both parents. Such mice happen with human diabetes. Between three months and six months of age the animals enter a terminal phase and usually die.

Other ways in which the animal disease parallels that in humans include sensitivity to stress, excretion of large amounts of sugar in the urine, and strikingly abnormal changes in a part of the pancreas.

These pancreatic changes are in small irregular cell masses called the islets of Langerhans. It is these cells that produce the hormone, insulin, necessary for the metabolism of carbohydrates. Malfunction or degeneration of these cells leads to a diabetic condition.

Some of the diabetic mice have responded to insulin treatment but the proper dosage remains to be worked out.

Attempts are being made to prolong the animals' lives so that degenerative changes in the pancreas and other organs can be studied. One animal has lived nearly a year although most of them die at least by the end of six months.

The DRC Story

A WOMAN'S PROPER PLACE

IS IN THE BARN AT DAWN

The Lady Has A Romance Going With A Horse.

It really is more than a Romance. It is a symbol of Faith and Hope. It is Confidence in her own ability and that of a Thoroughbred, with which others had lost their patience.

Mrs. Mildred Kerr is one of those dedicated persons who keep The Romance of Racing alive. She is a rare individual whose contributions to a Sport can not be measured in the cold statistics of victories or money won.

Mrs. Kerr is a Thoroughbred trainer, following her trade at the Detroit Race Course. She is one of the many reasons a growing number of Michigan Sports Fans find Racing an interesting and fascinating means of entertainment. We race daily, except Sundays, through November 5. I think you would enjoy seeing the fine horses Mrs. Kerr and her associates condition at the DRC.

Mrs. Kerr is the owner and trainer of Stanislas, the Cinderella horse who catapulted to fame by beating the brilliant Tom Rolfe, Amberoid, Staunchness, Big Rock Candy, Beaupe, Selani and the other highly-rated stars in the recent $100,000 added Michigan Mile.

Mrs. Kerr claimed Stanislas for $16,000. After her partner in the deal lost faith in the horse, she bought his interest. Her confidence was rewarded with the victory over the Nation's best in the classic Mile.

Training Thoroughbreds isn't a vocation which attracts many women. It is a demanding and trying profession . . . one which requires being in the barn at dawn every day, and endless hours of hard work, for which there is an uncertain return.

Mrs. Kerr absorbed the fine points of Thoroughbred training while assisting her husband, the late Charlie Kerr, who was one of the Mid-West's most highly respected and talented trainers. After his death, she took over. The climb has been difficult, but now she is established as one of the Nation's foremost feminine trainers.

The role of Women In Racing is a growing one. We have a number of prominent women owners racing with us. And the list of our feminine fans increases each season.

We have Ladies Day each Thursday at the Detroit Race Course. There is FREE ADMISSION to all Ladies. In addition, there are 10 valuable prize awards, including a color television set.

It is our constant aim to provide the best in Racing entertainment in surroundings of beauty, comfort and convenience. We have a new $3,000,000 Clubhouse, with two excellent dining terrace restaurants. In "Ye Olde Tired Horse Pub," where there is never a cover or a minimum charge, you can get a snack or a refreshing beverage.

We have close-in parking for 12,000 cars. There are Easy-In, Easy-Out entrances and exits off Middlebelt, Schoolcraft and Inkster Roads.

WASHINGTON — You can make your own three-dimensional equipment, thanks to a method worked out by John Landry who will be a graduate student at the University of California in Santa Barbara this fall.

The cost, however, is about $400, making the method more practical for schools and clubs than for an individual.

The "photograph" is actually a hologram, the recording of an interference pattern reflected from an object.

From this recording, the object's image can be reconstructed visually in three dimensions, so that the viewer can peer around it by moving his head, just as he could if the object were actually there.

Although holography is a form of photography, no lenses are required and the exposed film bears no resemblance to an ordinary negative.

BRIGHT LASER

Holograms have been made with ordinary light, but most are made using the intensely bright light of a laser.

The laser Mr. Landry used to make his coffee-table hologram is a Spectra-Physics Model 130, which costs about $300.

Anybody Need Nuclear Bomb Cover?

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some critics of U.S. defense policies claim America has enough nuclear bombs in its stockpile to kill every enemy two or three times.

They call this potential "overkill."

Not knowing how many bombs or enemies we have, I am unable to enter the argument on either side. I can tell you, however, that we definitely have an "overkill" situation in bomb covers.

By that I mean we have more bomb covers than we have bombs that need covering. Maybe about $650,000 worth.

The bomb cover surplus recently came to light in a report submitted to Congress by the General Accounting Office (GAO). Permit me to bring you into the picture.

If you were building nuclear bombs and wanted to conceal their size and shape, you would make covers for them. Wouldn't you?

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) naturally did the same thing.

And if you reached the point where concealment became unnecessary, you would stop making the covers. Wouldn't you?

That apparently is where you and the AEC differ.

In 1960, according to the GAO, "the external dimensions of many types of nuclear weapons were declassified." Which is to say they were declared nonsecret.

Nevertheless, the AEC continued for the next four years to turn out "security covers" at the same ratio (one cover per bomb).

Between January 1961 and March 1965 it spent about $650,000 to provide security covers for four types of nuclear weapons.

Although concealment still was needed in certain circumstances, the GAO concluded that a "substantial portion" of that outlay "could have been avoided."

STORAGE PROBLEM

It said the covers were creating a storage problem and that some of them would be sold as surplus property. This was the part that intrigued me.

I am wondering what use anyone would have for surplus bomb covers.

The GAO didn't describe them, but logic suggests they would have a weird appearance.

If you wanted to be really crafty, you might make it like a huge barrel with five cylindrical appendages. Then, if to have around the house.

a spy came snooping around, you could pretend there was an elephant inside.

It may be, of course, that the AEC's covers were less cunningly contrived. Even so, they would be rather unusual objects to have around the house.

Gathered around Mrs. Kenneth W. Crowder of Windcroft Drive, nursery supervisor, are children of members of the Pontiac Tuesday Musicale Chorus who are in rehearsal for this season's programs.

The Pontiac Tuesday Musicale Chorus began rehearsals for the Christmas season Wednesday in the Central Methodist Church music room with Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer of Hammond Lake directing. Mrs. Walter A. Schmitz of West Kennett Road is accompanist. The music was written by the late Rev. Bates Burt, former rector of All Saints Episcopal Church and Wihla Hutson former organist of the church.

It was a perfect day for a pre-rehearsal stroll in Central Methodist Church gardens for Mrs. C. F. Larkey Jr. of Strathdon Way (from left) chorus chairman. With her are Mrs. LaVon A. Ryden of Pioneer Drive, librarian, and Mrs. James R. Hon of Coleman Street, assistant chairman for the Pontiac Tuesday Musicale Chorus.

Arriving for the Pontiac Tuesday Musicale Chorus rehearsal is Mrs. Walter Lagerquist of Lakewood Drive with three-year-old son David.

Chorus Rehearsals Start

By MADELEINE DOEREN
The Pontiac Tuesday Musicale Chorus began rehearsals for the Christmas programs, Wednesday, in the Central Methodist Church music room.

This choral group within the Pontiac Tuesday Musicale, organized in 1953 by the late Charles Frederick Morse of Detroit, offers an opportunity for fellowship and self expression in choral singing.

Former directors have been the late Mrs. Dora Dawson, Mrs. Donald Hogue and Mrs. George Putnam. Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer is beginning her 16th year as director, broken by Mrs. Putnam's five-year stint. Mrs. Walter Schmitz, president of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale, is accompanist.

The chorus presents two programs a year for the club. It appears before other groups, including Pontiac State Hospital, and nursing homes. Last year, it sponsored the Dollars-for-Scholars benefit for the club.

A church-approved woman cares for children of members during Wednesday rehearsals which begin at 9:30 a.m. These end the second week in December and are resumed in January and run through March.

The chorus membership of more than 40 includes five soloists and small-voiced chorists of varying age levels and from all walks of life.

Area women who have had choral experience may call a club member or the director for information and an audition.

He has also written several others.

He is minister of the Marble Collegiate Church in New York City where he conducts a service twice each Sunday morning for 4,000 people.

He is also editor-in-chief of Guideposts, an inspirational magazine with over one and a half million subscribers.

The dynamic Dr. Peale is also president of the American Foundation of Religion and Psychiatry. The movement's objective is to bring religion and psychiatry together.

Engagement Is Sounding Off

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and my fiancé is 20. He is in the navy. When he was home last we became engaged with intentions to marry when he gets his next leave.

This meant nearly a year's wait which is a long time for a girl to sit home, so I went out with my friend.

It wasn't anything serious, just a friendly date, so I wrote my fiancé and told him about it.

He wrote back saying he didn't want me to date ANYBODY, and if I did, our engagement was off. Well this isn't fair because when he wrote and told me he dated a couple of girls in keep from going nuts, I didn't get mad, so why should he? Where do we stand?

ENGAGED
DEAR ENGAGED: In trouble. Where I come from, when a couple becomes engaged, neither dates others. But since you don't want to "sit home," and he has to go out to "keep from going nuts," don't look now, but that sound you just heard was your engagement cracking up.

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 years old and here is my problem. Our school is having a dance and I would like to go but I don't know how to dance. I don't have anybody who can teach me either. I just don't know what to do because at this rate I will never learn, so how do I get started?

JEFF
DEAR JEFF: Since when do you have to know how to dance to go to a school dance? Go anyway, watch the other kids, and do what they do. After shuffling around the floor a while with a girl of your choice, if SHE doesn't offer to give you a few lessons, ask her.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "INFORMATION, PLEASE" Each has his own definition of "good manners." This is my favorite:

'Fall Coffee' Attended by Needlework Guild

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

Presidents and directors of the Birmingham-Bloomfield branch of the Needlework Guild of America, several weeks ago received invitations reading "Fall Coffee" at the home of Mrs. Lynn A. Townsend. They in their turn invited members of the Guild.

It was a large and happy gathering Wednesday at 10:00 a.m. when Mrs. George W. Davis, guild president, informed members of the need of their help in carrying out the worthwhile work they have set out to do.

Last year, 6,063 garments were contributed as well as $4,000.00 in cash. Such organizations as Pontiac State Hospital, American National Red Cross, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Family Service of Oakland County, Juvenile Court for the County of Oakland, Oakland County Department of Social Welfare were the beneficiaries.

This year the fall ingathering date is Oct. 18 at the Birmingham Unitarian Church, Lone Pine Road and Woodward.

Assisting the hostess were: Mesdames: George Calver, Charles DeVlieg, Jess D. Chamberlain, Don Laus. In

PATRON'S RECEPTION

Leader, F. W. Misch, Raymond T. Perring, William A. Reid, George Russell, Herman Scarney, Wright Tisdale and Harry L. Winston Jr.

The National Religious Art Exhibition will open to the public at the Cranbrook Academy of Art on Oct. 7, and will run through Oct. 30.

This trio of Birminghamites gathered in the Lynn Townsend home on Island Lake to receive last-minute instructions for the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills branch of the Needlework Guild's

"Ingathering" which will take place Oct. 11 at the Birmingham Unitarian Church. From the left are Mrs. John H. Rose, Mrs. John H. Forsnew and Mrs. William E. Hulbert.

She Sings the Same Old Song

Chiquita Has Birthdays Too

By JANET ODELL
The Pontiac Press
Women's Editor

BOSTON — If you don't mind feeling old, consider this: Chiquita banana is winding up her 21st birthday year.

We met her Wednesday morning at breakfast. Eliza Miranda is a stunning dark-haired woman who sings about bananas with as much enthusiasm as she did when the singing commercial was first begun. She sang for us, then took us on a pictorial visit to a banana "farm" in Honduras.

Bananas are hauled from the huge stalks is carefully cut down until they reach your grocer's shelves. They now travel in specially designed boxes instead of on the stalk.

Miss Miranda still likes bananas in several forms for breakfast.

After some of the high-calorie meals we have been eating, luncheon with the California Canners and Growers was a welcome change. This company puts out Diet Delight Foods, a line of low-calorie fruits and vegetables.

Clear soup, chicken with low-calorie mandarin orange sauce, a green salad, green beans and apricot fluff dessert made up a more than adequate meal without adding to our "automation waistlines."

TRANQUIL MOMENT

In a week of hectic days and nights, one tranquil session can work wonders in restoring us and enabling us to finish the conference. Pet Incorporated gave us just such a session.

Buses took us to the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum, one of Boston's show places. It was put at our disposal for several hours.

Built like a venetian palace with a center courtyard visible from balcony windows on all four floors, the museum houses a fantastic collection of art. Mrs. Gardner's will bequeathed it "for the education and enjoyment of the public forever."

Raphael, Titian, Botticelli, Della Robia, Sargent, Rembrandt, Van Dyck, Manet, Corot . . . one could go on at great length. It is beauty in a fascinating setting with flowers and music as an added attraction.

Happily, the Pet people let us wander as we liked for almost an hour. Then after high tea, they presented a brief resume of the past year and announced some new products. Many of the latter were offered on the tea table.

That's a Boston Tea Party 1966 style.

The day that began with Calypso ended in pure elegance. The Sterling Silver-Smiths Guild of America joined forces with the Pillsbury Company to present a leisurely and delightful dinner at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel.

Nine different table settings were matched to the personalities of today's celebrities; each setting was repeated three times.

The table I drew was named "Nancy Sinatra." It was completely contemporary in feeling. Scarlet napkins lent the one note of color to an otherwise black and white decor.

Each set of tables had a different dessert, using Pillsbury mixes and convenience foods as ingredients. Ours, named "Celia Conners," looked like giant ice cream cones filled with frozen cream that started out as a box of frosting mix.

This is elegance in Boston this week.

Keep Prisms Sparkling

Chandelier and candlestick prisms are meant to sparkle and reflect light, so keep them that way with a bath now and then.

Some non-electrified pieces are small enough to dunk as a unit, while others have parts that can be unhooked for easy washing. The stationary sections can be sponged "on location."

Always use hot, but not scalding, soap or detergent suds. Rinse very carefully, adding a dash of ammonia toward the end. Then pat prisms, pendants, and other parts dry with a lint-free towel.

Brains and Emotions Have Very Important Jobs

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The experience I am going to use to try to illustrate the difference between brain knowledge and the supreme kind — emotional knowledge — belongs to a woman I know who is under psychoanalytic treatment.

As a child, she had a very disappointed time. Because her father had deserted her mother, her mother had to send her away to school at seven in order to work and support her.

At 18 she married an alcoholic who could not keep his promises to stop drinking during their 25 years of marriage. After his death, she knew herself to be a disappointed woman but where this knowledge ended was in her brain.

Several weeks ago, her overworked physician-employer took a vacation. Before leaving, he told her to refer any patients' calls to a pinch-hitting colleague instead of divulging his vacation phone number.

But one afternoon, in response to an hysterical patient's pleas and threats, she gave him her employer's number.

Disturbed, frightened by her compliance with the patient's demands, she reported her feelings to her psychoanalyst. He said: "It is very hard for you to impose disappointment on anyone, isn't it? I wonder why."

That did it. In a flood of tears, in a great swell of that supreme knowledge — the emotional kind — she knew why she'd given her employer's phone number to the hysterical patient.

The brain knowledge of herself as a disappointed person broke free of its confines in her head and took all of her in — her heart, her blood, her instincts, her memories — so that she knew herself to be a disappointed person in a totally new and different way.

She had acquired emotional knowledge of herself. She knew that she'd not been able to inflict disappointment on the hysterical patient because of her own disappointments had been so bitter, so pointed.

It is Sigmund Freud's great contribution that he discovered the difference between brain knowledge and emotional knowledge.

In its way, it's just darling of this country's education hierarchy to want to give children emotional knowledge of everything they read about. It is also impractical.

We'd all be dead if we all had to experience everything we read about. Our nervous systems just couldn't stand it.

Brain knowledge is our protection against too much emotional knowledge. Which is why youngsters have to learn to read by that disgusting thing — brain knowledge.

Full Time Worker-Student Needs Budget

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: My boy friend cannot save money! I think he needs your advice. He's 19, works full time earning $300 clear a month while attending the university on a full-time basis. All living expenses except insurance, are his responsibility.

Here's how MARY FEELEY spends his money: $80 a month for room and board at home; $360 a year for tuition and books; $140 a year for gifts. (He's the fifth child in a family of six).

He owns an 8-year-old car and pays for its upkeep. How would you suggest he budget his earnings?

C.A.S., Chicago

Dear C. A. S.: I wouldn't call your boy friend a spendthrift. Sounds as if he's carrying a pretty heavy load, with a full-time job and full-time study. Of course that $140 a year for gifts is generous, even with a big family and a girl friend to keep happy.

He'd do well to cut that figure down and put some of it into regular savings. You might use your influence there.

I suspect snacks and lunches away from home account for a substantial amount of money — but this is justifiable, as he probably can't always run home for a bite between classes, or on the job! So let's make allowance for eating-out costs.

How about this budget on a monthly basis: Room and board, $80 (that's a little over one-quarter of his income, which is fair); clothing, $30; medical $5; personal allowance, $45 (for snacks, lunches, haircuts); gifts $7 (or $85 per year); entertainment, $23 (not much, I admit — but when would he have time to spend?); tuition and books, $360; car, $50; savings, $10. Total $300.

If he'll put the $10 in the savings account first thing on payday, he'll find the habit isn't too hard to develop.

Dear Miss Feeley: During the past three years, I bought bonds totaling $2,000. I put the name of my married son and daughter as co-owners. My husband knows nothing of these bonds, as I saved the money from my household allowance. My husband and I have our own bonds. We also have some savings in a joint account.

Now I'm worried. I want to turn in some of my own bonds, but have been told I would have to declare the interest on my husband's income tax returns, which I also must sign.

Is there a way for me to pay the interest without his finding out about the bonds?

Reader, East Coast

Dear Reader: Your son or daughter-in-law could redeem these bonds for you and declare the interest on his or her tax return. A bond held in co-ownership requires only one signature to cash it in.

Dear Miss Feeley: If you want to sell a house, how would you determine the retail price on it? Thank you for your help.

Mrs. T. S. Brooklyn

Dear Mrs. S.: You can ask an appraiser, who can be contacted through any real estate agency, to come and look at your property. He will guide you in establishing a logical market price. Of course there would be a fee involved, but a moderate one.

Dear Miss Feeley: I was under the impression that when bonds are cashed, they are not subject to state or local income taxes.

However, I have had to pay taxes on the interest of the E bonds that I have cashed for the last two years.

The man in the tax office said that I had to pay on them and so did a man in a private income tax office.

Who's right — me or the State of Indiana?

E.C., Farmland, Ind.

Dear E. C.: Series E bonds are not subject to local income tax, says the Treasury Department's U.S. Savings Bonds Division.

Polly's Pointers

She Burned Leg

DEAR POLLY — I want to thank Terry for writing about fastening the seat belt through the steering wheel when getting out of the car as a reminder to use the belt. I know my son-in-law and daughter will now do this every time they get out of the car as it will serve another purpose.

Last week they got into their car to go to the beach. The son had been heading down on the car seat and the buckle to the seat belt. When my daughter sat down she burned the back of her leg. She was really branded and had a bad blister. Had they fastened the belt through the steering wheel this would not have happened. — MRS. D.C.

DEAR POLLY — I saw a great deal and have discovered a short cut for fitting a dress. Most dresses and skirts are lined these days so I make the lining first and fit it. I find it a notebook full of those appreciable to make the necessary adjustments in just the lining.

Pin marks and tailor's chalk marks do not show or matter on the lining. I know just where to make changes in the garment without a lot of fitting and re-fitting. This really saves me! Pointers.

time. — A CONSTANT READER.

DEAR POLLY — When I was little we made prints of our hands in a plaster mixture and put in a tab to hang the dried results. I would like to make some of my children's hands but am not sure how we did this. Does anyone have the recipe for the proper mixture? — MRS. G.H.

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for anyone going on a trip or even to another town on a shopping trip. If those in the group are to be separated for a few hours, be sure to put a note in your billfold next to your identification card stating where and what time you plan to meet the group again.

In case of an accident or sudden illness the proper authorities will be able to contact others in the group and let them know what happened. Thanks for the wonderful ideas. I have a notebook full of those appreciable to my needs. — AVERIL

Anyone submitting a Polly's Problem, a solution to a problem or a favorite homemaking idea will receive a dollar if Polly uses the item in Polly's fitting. This really saves me! Pointers.

It's Time to Dream..

Once again you are a young man, alive with youthful radiance. Tonight you make your debut... Ah! There, you grow... surely the most lovely creation in all of the world... and the shoes... truly Cinderella must live again. Soify you brush your hair... a halo for your lovely young face. Would you like to recapture that night of long ago? Red Debut has a very special line-smoothing formula that goes a long way toward bringing back that youthful look. It makes your facial skin drink small but sufficient quantities of water... facial lines temporarily smooth out, as the water beneath the skin's surface pushes them upward out of sight. A Beauty Hint

Margaret Merrill advises that it is quite simple for every woman to promote an English countryside complexion. Her hint to gain a peaches-and-cream loveliness is to damp a cloth with cold water from your refrigerator and press it over your face for a few minutes once or twice a day. Then, to hold the good of the complexion-beautifying cold water smooth on a little tropical oil of Clay. This oil is rather scarce and expensive but your drug store should be able to get you a small supply.

The Platonic Marriage

Wives, Get Suspicious

By Dr. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE A-545: Horace Z., aged 41, is a dynamo of civic leadership.

"Dr. Crane," his wife protested, "Horace is away from home almost every night."

"But it isn't because he drinks or is carousing with some pals."

"For Horace is active in so many constructive projects, like the DR. CRANE Boy Scouts, the YMCA and lodge or church groups."

"If it isn't banquets, then he must preside at committee meetings or help in raising funds."

"So the children and I hardly see him, except for Sunday dinner."

"And I fear his health will break under this excessive strain."

"Besides, I feel we are becoming a platonic couple, too."

CIVIC PARAGONS

Horace is another example of the escape mechanism. But he is fleeing into good works with such excessive zeal that a psychiatrist would immediately grow suspicious. Perhaps you recall Shakespeare's superb warning about "protesting too much?"

Well, when a married man past 40 begins to burn himself out in zealous devotion to moral and civic works, grow a little suspicious.

For many such men are fleeing from a secret terror that they are on the shelf, sexually.

Note how Horace's wife has intimated this fact when she says their marriage is largely platonic.

When men have been married for 15 or 20 years, they often turn their attention to themselves, especially in the erotic realm.

And then they may panic. For their wife is probably a stodgy, motherly old soul!

And their own physical vigor is not as great as when they were 21.

Moreover, they are now channeling their erotic verve into business planning and the many headaches incident to operating a factory or professional practice, farm or retail store.

So they suddenly realize these are rather platonic. This usually shocks them into an attempt to revive their former courtship emotions.

But the average wife doesn't sense the danger of this crisis, so she may irritably or sleepily exclaim, "Oh, Horace, act your age!"

Well, that is the proverbial straw that sends such a fearful husband into a sex panic.

So he may run away from home to parks unknown, as 35,000 husbands do each year.

Or he may flee into drunkenness to hide from his terror.

Or he may become a reckless gambler, speedster with his car or dedicated poker player or bowling alley addict.

Again, he may rush into excessive good works to deceive his wife into thinking his lack of affection is simply due to his extreme fatigue from being at civic meetings every night.

So you wives should become better analysts of your husband's emotions. Pick up your cues when he tries to revive your courtship ardor.

And by all means send for the booklet "How to Prevent a Platonic Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Once again, this is a year for binding or braid on the edges of your garment. Here's an idea that will give you a completely new look from an old suit. Machine stitch about 1 1/4 inches from the outer edges of your suit jacket, then cut off the outer edges, leaving inch remaining past the stitching line. This will eliminate the buttons and buttonholes and give you a new ensemble type jacket.

Bind the outer edges in a finished woad braid (if you haven't done much sewing) and use the same skirt to match the jacket. As extra skirt and shell can be mixed up and worn many ways. You will get quite a lift from your new suit, perhaps you will even like it better than you did originally.

P. S. This is an excellent way to cover up worn places on coats, bind the edges of sleeves, front of coats, or whatever. One of my friends bound the edges of her husband's hunting jacket with contrasting leather that can be purchased in strips. The sleeves and pockets were threadbare but after she repaired it, he continued to wear it and since she used leather instead of fabric, it probably never will wear out.

Dear Eunice Farmer:

Please help me solve the problem of what size pattern to buy. If I get a size 16 pattern, it is too big for me. A size 14 is just right except that it is too tight across the back.

Almost everyone in our sewing class at school ended up buying the wrong size pattern. If they fit the top, they don't fit in the skirt. Our teacher ended up having everyone get a pattern much too large for them just so they won't ruin their fabrics. There must be an easier way.

Mary T.

Dear Mary:

Ordinarily, you will find that a pattern should not be marked with the same bust measurement as you have, the pattern should be 2 inches smaller. Example: If you measure 34 in the bust, a pattern marked 32 would probably fit you better in the bodice. This is the mark of a garment that is most difficult to fit because it involves the sleeves, collar, etc. Each and every one of you must compare the measurements of the waist and hips against your own measurements and add any additional width necessary.

In your case, since your bust isn't large, your back must be wider than average. Silt the pattern from the center of the shoulder to the waistline and separate it about 1/2 inch. You will have to take a 1/4 inch dart at the shoulder to compensate for the extra width. You may also have to adjust the dart at the waistline in back or else take the extra fabric out of the side seam when fitting.

Pattern alterations must be studied carefully so that you know exactly what changes must be made before cutting. Each and every one of us have a measurement variation and the pattern must be made to fit you. Nothing can be more discouraging than to complete a garment only to find out it doesn't fit.

You will find my leaflet "Your Pattern and You" invaluable. I have discussed almost every possible pattern alteration. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press for your copy.

Why Grow Old?
by JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. I am a 22-year-old mother of three youngsters, ranging from 1 to 5. I have been on a 1000 calorie diet for four months and have lost 30 pounds. I would like to know how much more I should lose to my ideal weight. I am 5 feet 5 1/2 inches and weigh 165 pounds.

A. If you have a medium build, you should weigh about 138 pounds. Your measurements are in good proportion. Congratulations on your past loss. I am sure you will come through with flying colors in the future and you won't feel like an old lady, either.

Q. My hair is white, not grey, and it has yellow streaks in it. It would be rather pretty except for these streaks. What can I do about this?

A. There are rinses especially for this. Ask your beauty operator about them.

Q. I am in the 10th grade. My problem is that my face is very oily. I wash it often, except at school, when I only have a chance to wipe it off and apply more medicated makeup. Will this make it worse?

A. Get up in the morning in time to wash your face with soap and water. Use an astringent. Can't you take a little kit to school and give a hurry-up washing at lunch hour? If not, be sure to wash your face when you arrive home and before going to sleep at night.

A. Apply an astringent at night also. Frequent scrubbing is important in order to avoid blackheads. Cut down on greasy, oily, rich foods.

Q. What can I do to stop blushing? I get embarrassed easily and I hate to turn red.

A. That's the reason you blush, because you are shy and nervous. Try to make a game of concentrating on other people. When you meet someone or come into a group deliberately concentrate on how others look, how they carry themselves.

Count the number who have blue eyes — anything to get your mind off yourself. Also use one of the cover-up make-ups which can even hide birthmarks. Your self-consciousness about blushing makes you blush all the more. If the blush is hidden, that might help.

A fashion "strike" wherever it is seen. You can't miss any target in this mock turtle ribbed poor girl sweater with checked and belted hipster skirt. Eggplant with mustard for that special dish. Wall Tones Determine Your Lighting Needs

The woman who invests in expensive carpets and draperies and slumps on her lighting is going to be unhappy with the results without knowing why.

Casting some light on this very common problem in homes is a company executive who has spent more than 40 years in the business.

Sid Feltman, a vice president of Ligholier and in charge of its Manhattan showroom, is equally rough on the average consumer and the lamp sales persons.

Quite bluntly he says that there probably aren't 50 salesmen in the country who know good lighting and how to sell it. "If they did they could up sales 250 per cent."

TIP ON LIGHTING

With this in mind, Feltman gives some pointers to help consumers help themselves when buying portable lamps. He firmly feels that if more shoppers brought a checklist to the store they would be happier with their purchases. He also urges they stop buying lamps for appearance only rather than for good lighting. Both areas can be combined. Here's how to do this using a list. You need to know:

- Size and height of table to hold lamp.
- Kind of furniture style, color of wood and upholstery.
- Type of ceiling and color for reflecting light.
- Available light from ceiling fixtures, windows, recessed lighting.
- Color of rugs, floors or carpeting.

In selecting shades Feltman points out a simple guide as a starter. If you have dark walls, select opaque shades; light walls require luminous shades.

DIFFUSERS AND REFLECTORS

Although Feltman believes the consumer is buying a lot more lamp for his money than in previous generations, he still says many will not pay extra for better lighting features. These include diffusers and reflectors. As a result many lamp manufacturers do not engineer these into portable lamps for use in living rooms and bedrooms.

Youngsters are more fortunate since the move is to better study lamps based upon recommendations by the Illuminating Engineering Society. Those that comply with the specifications carry a Better Sight Bureau hang tag.

Donald Carros, Assistant Administrator of the hospital gave a talk on "The Expansion of the Emergency Room and facilities and other expansion projects at the hospital." He cited figures showing increased use of hospital facilities and how new needs will be met. Funds for the project will be utilized under the Hill-Burton Federal Act.

Diversional Therapy and the Visiting Ladies, two new patient services, will be started by the Auxiliary.

It was decided that Mrs. Edward Dalton will chair the annual Auxiliary dance, December 2, at the Elks Temple. The theme will be "High Fever Frolic."

Dentists Spot Emotional Ills

By SCIENCE SERVICE
CHICAGO — Emotional illness is often first diagnosed in the dentist's chair, a Texas dentist reported here.

Excessive smoking, tooth grinding, pencil chewing and ringing in the ears are among symptoms suggesting some kind of emotional disturbance which may itself be the cause of the dental disorder.

Dr. Melvin Land of Dallas said in the Journal of the American Dental Association that dentists are becoming more and more aware of the psychosomatic and neurotic factors complicating dental problems.

"A patient with an inordinate amount of anxiety will fear the simplest of dental procedures," he said.

Treatment easily accepted by most patients can cause fear bordering on severe panic in a disturbed patient.

MOUTH MOISTURE
Changes in the moisture of the mouth and throat are indications of emotional trouble, Dr. Land said.

Chemical changes in a person's saliva brought on as a result of emotional reaction can have harmful effects on teeth.

Signs of a severe overlay of mental illness are noted in one out of 10 dental patients, Dr. Land reported.

Temperature of Comet Is Measured

By Science Service
CHICAGO — A comet's temperature has been taken for the first time. It heated up from 700 degrees F. when it was 45 million miles from the sun to 1,200 degrees when some 20 million miles from the sun.

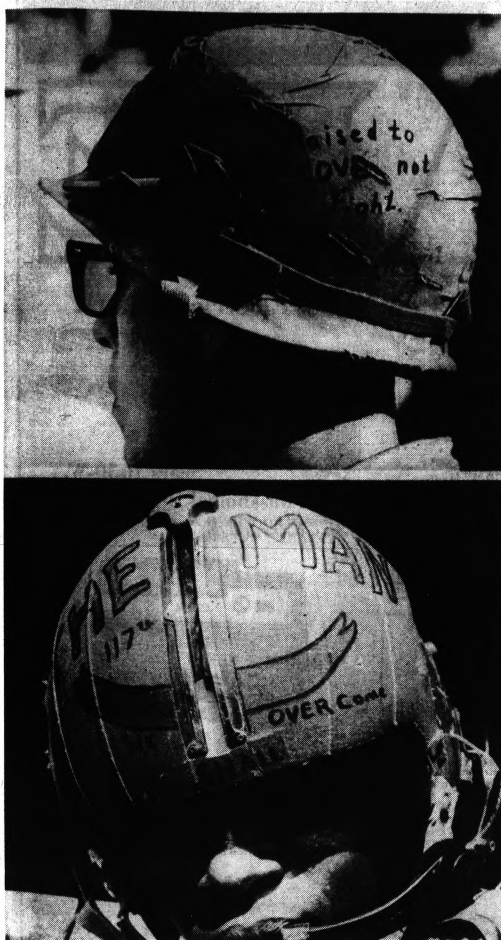

As Comet Ikeya-Seki sped away from the sun, it cooled down to the same temperatures at the two distances. When the comet was within 20 million miles of the sun, solar radiation drowned out the infrared signals on which the temperature measurements were based. Its energy was too faint to be detected when it was more than 45 million miles from the sun.

Eric E. Becklin and James A. Westphal of California Institute of Technology made the infrared observations for 19 days starting Oct. 14, 1965, using the 24-inch telescope at Mt. Wilson Observatory, operated jointly by Caltech and Carnegie Institution of Washington.

Details on the infrared studies which were supported by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, are reported here in the Astrophysical Journal, published by the American Astronomical Society.

"The steady increase and decrease in temperature with distance from the sun strongly suggests that the temperature of the comet was entirely dependent upon the sun," Mr. Westphal said. "So does the fact that the nucleus, or head, and the tail had the same temperatures."

The observations, he noted, make it difficult to believe that comets are composed mainly of chunks of ice and dirt, as some astronomers have suggested. However, there could have been a small amount of ice to "glue" the nucleus together. Instead of a significant amount of dirt and gravel, the comet evidently consisted of large amounts of metallic material.

LOVE AND HATE ARE AKIN—Writings on helmet covers have, to a large extent, taken the place of tattooing with our "new breed" of fighting men in Viet Nam. The "lover" at the top, a radio operator of the 2nd Battalion, 5th Cavalry, fighting in central Viet Nam, is as tough as the "tiger" gunner with the 17th helicopter company supporting the 1st Cavalry Division on the coastal plains near Bong Son. Both "shall overcome" in their own manner.

Starting today you can enjoy the Continental life '67 style.

Today people enjoy life more than ever. They can do more things than ever before, if they want to. Teach their children to ride. Enjoy boating. Own a good home—and even a second home.

And own a Lincoln Continental. Continental is the luxury car that belongs in today's good life. Designed for the uncluttered taste of our times, it is engineered to be the best car America has to offer.

Inside the 1967 Continental you'll find a new design instrument panel. A new warning light cluster. A new lane-changing signal that operates at a touch. A new ventilation system that can change the air inside your Continental even with the windows up.

Luxury options? Certainly. A power seat with a power adjustable headrest and new reclining feature. An improved automatic temperature control system. A new automatic speed control operated by a push button at the end of the turn-signal lever.

For 1967, Continental has also redesigned the configuration of the taillights and restyled the grille. But the basic contemporary design remains unchanged. We don't believe in change merely for the sake of change. A Continental idea that gives you lasting investment value.

It's a good car; built to the highest standards in the world. Your Lincoln Continental dealer invites you to see and drive the 1967 Continental. To discover how close you may be to owning a Continental. And to add the model of your choice to the good things in your life this year.

Viet Fatality Rate of U.S. Officers Higher Than Korea, Below World War II Level

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officers are being killed at a 30 per cent higher rate in Viet Nam than during the Korean War, Defense Department statistics showed today.

But the figures, supplied on request, also showed that a higher percentage of officers fell during World War II.

Through August, the Pentagon reported that 649 officers and 4,232 enlisted men had been killed in Viet Nam, an officer-enlisted man ratio of 13 per cent.

For the length of the Korean War, 2,963 officers and 30,000 enlisted men were killed, an officer death rate of slightly less than 10 per cent.

The officer death rate in World War II was nearly 17 per cent as 41,637 officers were killed 349,000 enlisted men.

ADVISORY ROLE

One obvious factor boosting the rate of officer deaths in Viet Nam, officials said, was matter where he is, "one source said. "The key difference is there."

Before the U.S. buildup last summer, scores of American officers were killed while aiding South Vietnamese army units.

But military men said the differences in officer-loss rates in the three wars also can be explained in terms of the various kinds of air wars being fought.

"A ground war officer does basically the same thing no matter where he is," one source said. "The key difference is there."

In Viet Nam, he added, "there is a greater percentage of pilots committed than in any other war."

Statistics show that through July, the Air Force lost 198 officers in Viet Nam and 56 enlisted men and the Navy 60 officers and 76 enlisted men.

As in Viet Nam, most of the warplanes flown in the Korean struggle were one or two-pilot fighters. Officials noted "we didn't have as high a percentage of pilots in Korea" and thus pilot officer losses were less, as was the over-all officer-enlisted man death ratio.

Explaining the higher officer death rate in World War II, officers said the crucial difference was that "then we had thousands of bombers flying with many officers aboard."

When 10 bombers were lost in a raid, they said, as many as 40 officers would be killed.

Another factor in World War II was the enemy's capacity to stage behind-the-line bombing attacks, something rarely done in Korea and yet to be done in Viet Nam.

For example, a spokesman said, "You had some (U.S.) officers killed in London during air raids that normally were not committed to battle or exposed."

Other officers, however, protested that any comparison of World War II death losses and losses in Viet Nam would be like comparing apples and

"How can you compare wars with defined fronts — where we have frontal engagements with whole divisions committed — when we can't even get a Viet Cong battalion to stand up and fight?" one general asked.

'Drivers at 19 Biggest Risk'

LANSING (AP)—The 19-year-old "is the most dangerous driver on our roads," Secretary of State James Hare reported Wednesday.

"More than 50 per cent of Michigan drivers who accumulate enough points for action (12 violation points in two years) are between the ages of 19 and 24," Hare said.

A computer study of nearly 100,000 drivers confirmed the findings of an earlier accident survey, he said, adding:

"At 19, drivers seem to begin picking up points which lead to re-examinations and other driver improvement actions at the age of 20."

"At 18 and under, point violators are relatively few although there are indications that some 18-year-olds are already headed for trouble with their driving," he added.

$32,700 Holdup Foiled in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit police foiled a $32,700 holdup at a branch of the National Bank of Detroit Wednesday, rescuing a police officer who had been disarmed by one of three bandits.

Two of the bandits were arrested. A third escaped empty-handed, leaving behind the money stashed in a valise, folder and canvas bag, officers said. The third man escaped in a car. It was found abandoned a few blocks from the East Side bank.

we think this Van Carr two-trouser suit is the best two-trouser suit you can buy at 69⁵⁰

so do an awful lot of our customers

You can't keep selling something, year after year, unless it's what people want. And a lot of people want our Van Carr two-trouser suits; in fact, half of our Van Carr sales are repeat sales. Why? Because we drive a hard bargain with the people who make the Van Carr Line. We insist on fabrics of high quality. We insist on tailoring that's considerably better than usual. We insist on up-to-the-minute styling. And we insist that the price be kept below suits of comparable quality. Under most circumstances, a manufacturer couldn't afford to make a suit this good and sell it for so little. But, fortunately, we sell so many that the large quantity justifies the small price. Now: What will you find in our Van Carr line this fall? Remarkably luxurious wool worsteds in oxford weaves, hairline stripes, tone-on-tone weaves, plaids, and solid shades—in classic and contemporary colorings. They're styled in two- and three-button models, and the trousers—both pair—are permanently pressed. And we carry Van Carr two-trouser suits in a big range of proportioned sizes. If you don't like to waste time and waste money finding a good value, come in and look at our Van Carr suits. There isn't a suit we know of that gives you so much quality at anything near the price.

Airline Hijackers' Invasion Easily Thwarted in Falklands

BUENOS AIRES, Arg. (AP)—The armed extremists from — Britannia still ruled the little Falkland Islands in the South Atlantic today despite an invasion by 18 young Argentine nationalists who hijacked an airliner with 48 persons aboard and forced it to land on a racetrack in the Falkland capital.

The four-engine Argentine DC4 was stranded on the 3,600-foot racetrack, with one wheel stuck a foot deep and the track apparently too short to permit a safe takeoff with passengers and fuel aboard.

The hijackers were reported holed up in the airliner, while the 25 other passengers and five crew members were lodged in homes in Port Stanley, the Falkland capital.

Humphreys Moving to Plush Apartment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The three-bedroom home in suburban Chevy Chase, Md., for the Hubert H. Humphreys are joining the ranks of city cliff dwellers and moving into a fancy high-rise apartment near Capitol Hill.

One of the reasons? So Humphrey can go home for lunch.

"This is something we've thought about for a long time," Mrs. Humphrey said in an interview. "We're excited about the move."

The vice president and his wife plan to move within the next month, but say, "We're taking our time."

DECORATING

There's decorating, for instance. "I haven't had time to give it much thought," Mrs. Humphrey said. "But I think it'll be fun. You have to live a while with a place to get used to it."

She plans to use furniture from their pleasant two-story boat pond.

What won't fit probably will be divided up among the three married Humphrey children. Robert A. Humphrey and his wife, Donna, married only a month ago, are furnishing an apartment in Mankato, Minn.

The new apartment is on the eighth floor of a nine-story cooperative in southwest Washington, along the Potomac River. A cooperative is an apartment in which tenants buy space as one would purchase a house.

The Humphreys haven't disclosed the price, but similar apartments range in the $60,000 to $75,000 bracket. The building has an indoor swimming pool, a sun terrace, gardens with playground equipment and a sailboat pond.

Navy's 'Ready Group' Shows Its Claws in Viet Assault

and HORST FAAS
ABOARD Iwo Jima off Viet Nam (AP) — Action seemed to spring up with the dawn, everywhere at once.

Landing craft filled with fighting men spun from two large ships, maneuvered into assault lines and churned white streaks in the sea toward the beach.

Helicopters with more troops swirled up from flight decks, closed into formations and darted inland.

The men, and the tanks and artillery that would follow, were the special landing force of the U.S. Navy's 7th Fleet Amphibious Ready Group — a fast-moving assault force.

CLOSE TO ZONE

It was hitting just three miles south of the demilitarized zone. The mission was to find and destroy a regiment of the North Vietnamese Army's 324B Division that had infiltrated into South Viet Nam through the neutral zone.

The operation was called Deckhouse Four, the latest in more than 20 assaults into Viet Nam by the Amphibious Ready Group since March 1965.

The group's punch is simultaneous sea and air assault. While one Marine element hits the beach, another Marine force is landed to put the enemy in a squeeze.

HIT ANYWHERE

The full force of men, artillery and warships can strike anywhere along the Vietnamese coast within 48 hours.

The group can sail 500 miles a day — all ships can make at least 20 knots.

Nearly 2,000 Marines of the 1st Battalion, 26th Regiment, 5th Division, are aboard the three key vessels — the carrier Iwo Jima, the transport Vancouver and the Thompson, a dock landing ship.

Rocket ships capable of blasting out hundreds of five-inch rockets every minute join the booming five- and eight-inch guns of destroyers and a cruiser to plaster enemy positions.

AIR SUPPORT

Air support wings in from the nearest land bases or from carriers at sea.

Navy Capt. William J. Maddocks of Arlington, Va., has the final word on all operations: "The Marines establish a command group inland."

Operations then come under Marine Col. H. D. Wortman of Alexandria, Va., commander of the special landing force. Maddocks and Wortman work together and have headquarters on the Iwo Jima. This flagship, that had infiltrated into South Viet Nam through the neutral zone, is the nerve center of the amphibious ready group.

BASIC CONCEPTS

Although each operation is tailored for particular ends, Operation Deckhouse Four illustrates the basic concepts. It incorporates maneuvers by sea, air, land and even under water. Submarines of the 7th Fleet, aided by aerial and other sea-borne reconnaissance teams, sought the best landing beach.

The ready group pulled into the strike zone at night with the destroyer Mullinix, the heavy cruiser St. Paul, the rocket ship St. Francis River, and the high-speed transport Diachenko.

They ran without lights and observed radio silence as they moved into positions a few thousand yards offshore.

Two marine companies, about 150 men, formed into six-man groups in the Iwo Jima's hangar flight deck. A guide led each group in a jogging run to helicopters. Rotor blades were at the ship until the whole force was airborne. In formation, they headed for landing zones 10 miles inland.

One by one, the helicopters

Below the aircraft, landing craft moved troops from the Vancouver and Thompson toward the beach. The men were in 36-ton, steel-hulled amphibious tractors — amtracs — that bobbed low in the water. Each carried 30 Marines.

A few minutes behind them, landing craft floated from the Vancouver's docking well inside its hull. The craft were loaded with troops and equipment in the well, then discharged through a large gate in the stern.

As the amtracs rolled onto Blue Beach, the helicopters landed in two jungle clearings called Sparrow and Wren. Air Force helicopters from Da Nang escorted them into the landing zones.

The whole landing force was ashore within six hours. Helicopters lifted in 106mm artillery, mortars and the command group. Landing craft brought tanks and tracked vehicles mounting six 106mm recoilless rifles and six .50 caliber machine guns.

These boats moved up the Cam Lo River and unloaded. Two companies of Marines and simultaneous sea and air assault, was hitting three miles south of the Viet Nam demilitarized zone to find and destroy a regiment of the North Vietnamese Army's 324B Division that had infiltrated southward.

Mercury unleashes Cougar!

Untamed elegance! America's first luxury sports car at a popular price.

This is the day of the Cougar. An entirely new kind of driving machine from Mercury.

Mercury Cougar is a true luxury car. With an ice-cool elegance. With a European flair and thrust to its styling. With a roomy, full-width rear seat! With standard features found, until now, only in expensive cars. Examples:

Sequential rear turn signals are standard! They flash in three steps (at the rate of 70 times a minute) to point the way you're turning.

Rolling its eyes. Naturally. Doors open or close over the headlamps with a flick of your light switch. Inside, vinyl-covered bucket seats, cushioned with molded foam, are standard! Floor-mounted stick shift, standard! 3-spoke sports-type steering wheel, standard!

And in a car this luxurious, you'd expect a V-8 engine.

Concealed headlamps are standard! They hide by day and—cat-like—open at night. The sealed-beam lamps are fixed—can't wiggle and roll on the bumpiest road. (Cougar opens its eyelids instead of

Cougar has it. A 289 cu. in. V-8. Compression ratio 9.3:1. And it uses regular fuel! When we say Mercury unleashes Cougar, we mean it. Cougar is a superb sports car

It moves on cat feet. Tracks true. Rides smoothly and quietly on rear springs nearly five feet long. The price! Less than you'd expect. At previews, people have overpriced the price by $1,000! It's one reason we believe Cougar is the best-equipped luxury sports car for the money. And at Cougar's price, you can indulge yourself in such better-idea options as: Styled steel wheels, 4-speed stick or Select-Shift Merc-O-Matic that lets a man run it through the gears... lets his wife leave it in automatic. Better Design Urged for Personality Tests

NEW YORK — Psychologists were urged today to design personality tests that are free from privacy-intruding questions on sex, religion, political ideology and similar subjects. Dr. Alan F. Westin, a lawyer and professor at Columbia University, told psychologists attending the American Psychological Association meeting here that current tests do violate a vital area of privacy. Their use by employers in personnel selection "is inappropriate," he said.

Dr. Westin, who, with the New York Bar Association, is engaged in a major study on "the impact of technology on privacy," does not believe laws forbidding involuntary personality testing are the answer.

Continued wiretapping, though illegal, illustrates the difficulty in enforcing such privacy laws, he said. The best solution is self-regulation and new tests by psychologists, he recommended.

Many testing advocates say they cannot create a test that measures job capability without violating private aspects of the personality. But this has never been proved, said Dr. Westin.

If psychologists can work diligently on designing a "culture" test to measure intelligence without discriminating against minority groups, they should be able to give as much time and money to developing a "privacy-respecting" personality test, he said.

Federal Wheels Roll Anew on City Ills

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is coming to grips anew with what just about everybody agrees is the "crisis of American cities."

The House is expected to take up next week the Johnson administration's "demonstration cities" bill, already passed by the Senate.

This is a new, experimental, coordinated approach to a long list of city ills, including housing blight, poverty, lack of education, shortage of skills, poor health, halting transportation.

Over the years, as the farm population dwindled and cities

grew explosively, the federal government has devoted much attention and money to their problems. Some 200 federal programs aimed to help them are in existence.

UNCOORDINATED

But these are largely uncoordinated, one hand is not always sure what the other is doing. The new legislation aims at a teamwork effort to help cities raise the quality of life in whole neighborhoods, especially hard-core slums. The idea is to reverse decay, not only of buildings but of people.

The bill would authorize $300 million — $400 million for the fiscal year beginning July 1,

1967, and $500 million for the succeeding fiscal year. President Johnson originally asked for a five-year program costing $2.8 billion. But congressional committees decided on two years, after which they presumably would take a new look to decide how the experiment was panning out.

Since the bill sets no minimum or maximum for grants to individual communities, there's no way to tell how many cities or towns might be helped under funds appropriated for a fiscal year.

How would the program work?

Piggins' Jury Records Sought

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne County's new one-man grand jury asked the Supreme Court Wednesday for access to the full records of the grand jury's immediate predecessor.

The requesting petition contended that release of the records to the new grand jury would violate neither the letter nor the spirit of Michigan's grand jury law.

The law forbids the utterance, publication or disclosure in any other way of testimony given to a grand jury.

JUDGE PIGGINS

Judge Bowles' grand jury successor to the one-man grand jury of his colleague, Judge to Edward S. Piggins. The Piggins grand jury expired in August after returning numerous indictments against police officers and others on various charges. The petition to the court said the request was reasonable in order to save time and money.

The petitioners, attorneys Edward P. Frolich and William M. Ellman and Prof. B. J. George Jr. of the University of Michigan Law School, said if the request were denied, Judge Bowles would have to recall all the Piggins grand jury witnesses to determine if they have information useful to the new grand jury.

Catalysts are substances which, when added to certain raw materials, set off the reaction and also enable reactions to take place that would otherwise be impractical or difficult.

These existing federal programs cost the cities, and in some cases, the states, money, because many of them are on a matching basis. But under the new legislation, the federal government could make a supplemental grant amounting to 80 percent of the city-state share.

Robert C. Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development, emphasizes the program would be available to little cities as well as big ones.

In explaining the program, the department cites several examples, including a hypothetical city of 10,000 population.

"It might be a city unit in the countryside — a pocket of poverty, when added to certain raw materials, set off the reaction and also enable reactions to take place that would otherwise be impractical or difficult."

Smog Decried by Astronomer

Stargazing Affected by Haze, Bright Lights

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Bright lights and dirty air are ruining stargazing, an astronomer says.

Increasing air pollution is now becoming one of the astronomer's greatest burdens, says Prof. Orren C. Mohler, chairman of the University of Michigan astronomy department.

"Air pollution is no longer merely an earthly problem," says the professor. "It is affecting our observations of the stars."

Mohler explained that there is a growing haze in the atmosphere. Coupled with greatly increased night lighting, the haze already has made observations of faint heavenly bodies impossible with optical telescopes situated near big cities.

DRIVING IN FOG

It's like switching on your car's bright lights when driving through dense fog, he said.

"Smoke and haze first began to interfere with observations 40 years ago," Prof. Mohler said. "But the tremendous industrial growth of recent years is greatly increasing the difficulty."

New MSU School Opens Doors to 26

EAST LANSING (AP) — Healing the sick requires skilled personal involvement, which "typically" has been left to chance," says the dean of a brand-new medical school.

Dr. Andrew Hunt told the first 26 students at Michigan State University's new College of Human Medicine: "It is our intent not to leave it to chance but to consider this a part of basic educational process."

Classes start today in the two-year medical school, from which graduates must transfer to other schools to complete training for a medical doctor degree. MSU already is seeking permission to expand to a degree-granting program.

Dr. Lester Evans, a visiting professor in MSU's medical school, told the students:

"Since our scientific technology does not help us solve all our patient's problems, we should not sign off those we can't handle or those in which we are not interested as imaginary, emotional or even nonexistent."

'PAIN IS PAIN'

"A pain is a pain whether a physical or other identifiable cause is found to explain it," Dr. Evans said.

Dr. Evans suggested that starting new medical schools can be better than expanding existing ones.

"I believe there is a need for new schools, if for no other reason than to get a fresh start," he said.

Free Rent Belief Not the Czech Way

Not the Czech Way

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh is proposing that Detroit use taxpayers' money to buy houses and rent them to families displaced by urban renewal projects.

Cavanagh told key department heads to work out details of his plan, scheduled to be brought before the city council this week.

He is proposing that the city buy 30 to 50 large houses, each for $13,000 or less, and rent them for $40 to $75 a month to "large families who face emergency situations."

VIENNA (UPI) — A Communist radio broadcast has warned Czechoslovakian citizens that living in a worker's paradise does not mean free rent.

Radio Bratislava complained today that some persons were not paying rent because desired repairs were not made in their apartments and confusion among "rent-collecting offices."

But the worst offenders were "those who think that since we already have communism, it is simply not necessary to pay for housing."

The broadcast warned that if "persuasion" failed to open the wallets of this third group, their electricity and gas would be cut off. If they still failed to pay up, they would simply be evicted.

More than 40,000 Americans are serving as trustees on public library boards.

Officers Ticketed

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's new meter maids are impartial. City councilman William G. Rogell said he had been told by police officers that one of the meter maids ticketed a squad car in a no-parking zone while the officers were answering a call.

Junior Editors Quiz on GERMS

QUESTION: Are all germs harmful?

ANSWER: Many people make the mistake of thinking of germs as evil little bodies which do nothing but cause disease.

This is far from the truth. A germ is a microbe, a tiny body which can be seen only with a microscope (upper picture).

Some of these are extremely dangerous and do cause disease, but many of them, especially of the group called bacteria, are highly useful to man—so much so that without them we could not live.

Consider the ones causing the decay of dead animal and plant matter. They break this matter down into humus in the soil and gases in the atmosphere.

If it were not for them, the matter would pile up and the earth would become uninhabitable.

Or think of the wonderful little nitrogen-fixing bacteria. They have this name because they take nitrogen from the air and change it into compounds which greatly enrich the soil.

These friendly little germs are responsible for the fine appearance of the farm in our picture, although Suzy did not realize it until her father explained it to her.

FOR YOU TO DO: Color the picture—the sky blue with white clouds, and the grain gold. The people could have clothes of bright cheerful colors.

Viet Villagers Feel the Sting, Agony of Warfare

LINH HOI, Viet Nam (AP)—This is the way life goes in a village caught in the vortex of war.

Artillery shells burst among the flimsy thatched huts of Linh Hoi's first cries briefly through coconut trees and corn.

Far below the splintering shrapnel, in a deep earth bunker, the sounds of a newborn baby's first cries briefly drowned out the holocaust overhead.

The aged village midwives ceremoniously dug a hole for the placenta, nodding to each other wisely. This baby would live long. Wasn't a child's life span measured by the depth that his placenta is buried? And they already were 30 feet below ground.

TIME MOVES ON

The hours moved on. In normal times, the good spirits might well take note and coax the newborn child to manhood through the barriers of disease and malnutrition that kill half the peasant Vietnamese before puberty.

But these were not normal times. War had become part of the disease of Viet Nam. Within 24 hours, the sleeping baby awakened and choked on smoke seeping down in the bunker. The midwives, the neighbors and the visitors who had crowded into the bunker when the artillery and aircraft first came over, swarmed out into the bright light above.

Men of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division (Airmobile) had swept through the village once without locating a soul. Now they were systematically burning the houses to the ground. They were amazed as hundreds of women, children and old men poured from the ground.

The mother and her baby stayed below.

YANK PLATOON

Much later that day, Lt. Jasper Campesi of Chicago, leading his platoon around the edge of Linh Hoi, saw the pair. The mother, probably 18 years old, was "kinda holding herself in," said Campesi.

An old man, a conical straw hat perched on his head, was tenderly clutching the naked baby. His tiny fists were clenched instinctively over his eyes to close out the light.

Campesi beckoned to one of his men. They put the young mother in a string hammock and tied it under a long bamboo pole. They placed the baby on her stomach, threw a mat over the pole to shut out the sun, and moved off across the paddy fields to where the helicopters were coming. It was a crude but effective ambulance.

By the time Campesi arrived, the helicopters had stopped coming in. There were just too

Will Ask State to Pay 30 Pct. of Pollution Costs

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—A Macomb County official is proposing that the Legislature provide 30 per cent of the cost of water pollution control programs.

Thomas Welsh, county drain commissioner, said Wednesday that if the state contributes 30 per cent, the federal government, under current law, could provide 50 per cent of local water pollution control costs.

Without such state participation, the federal government will grant only 40 per cent of a program's cost, he said.

Welsh intends to present his proposal to the legislative committee of the Intercounty Board of Supervisors, representing six southeastern Michigan counties.

many people to evacuate, and there was no question that they were all Viet Cong sympathizers. So why move them? Linh Hoi was in one of the tiny valleys streaking into the foothills along the central Vietnamese coast. Leave the people where they were: that was the decision.

"But we can't leave here," said Campesi, looking down at the mother lying on the dry paddyfield dike. "Her belly looks split open. She needs medical attention."

Another officer commented, "Are you kidding? These people are tough, they don't need our help. I bet she could get up right now and walk back to her village."

The troops started taking sides, but the argument was resolved simply enough. The radio failed and they couldn't get more helicopters away.

The mother was pulling at Campesi's trouser leg. The fear had left her eyes. There seemed to be arrogance there now, sharpened by what looked like scorn at the bickering and indecision of the troops. She pointed back at her smoldering village, and patted the mother pole beside her.

WALKING AWAY

"Take me back," she was saying. The little old man had picked up the pink-skinned baby and was walking away. Campesi and another soldier hoisted the pole, with the mother slung underneath, to their shoulders.

The fate of the baby was now in the hands of the spirits.

Just a few hundred yards away, a young man was dying, punctured by shell fragments and bullets probably in the battle earlier that day. A member of the local Viet Cong militia force, now he was home with his family to die.

His wife wept uncontrollably on the earth floor beside his crude bed. Two young children were in her arms, another child at her knee. The man's mother wailed at the American troops and pointed to the sky.

TAKE MY SON

"Take my son and make him well," she was saying, but it was all too late. Carried out to the open paddyfield, the young man died.

The Americans offered to bury him. The wife and mother decline.

They told an interpreter,

"Just let us take him across the river to bury him at the pagoda."

He was born here, he has died here. So let us have him.

Campesi shook his head.

"This place gets me down, let's move on," he called to his platoon.

Flint Downed, 25-14

Local Arrows Find Right Track

ARROWS AWAY—Jesse Parrish, the fleet little defensive back and kick return specialist for the Pontiac Arrows, gets away on a 47-yard punt return against Flint at Wisner Stadium last night where the Arrows won 25-14. He also had two pass interceptions in the game.

Stadium last night where the Arrows won 25-14. He also had two pass interceptions in the game.

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The Pontiac Arrows were on the right track on a Wide Track night at Wisner Stadium last night.

Before a dampened crowd of 3,500, the Arrows outlasted a scrappy Flint team 25-14, in a Midwest Football League game which saw Lions' last quarter back Tommy Myers throw for three touchdowns and Jim Johnson, a native from another Indian village (Tecumseh, Mich.), score three times.

The Blue Devils, who have been a nemesis for the Arrows in the MFL for two seasons, showed a strong offense against Pontiac but lost the ball three times on pass interceptions and three more on fumbles.

On the first play of the game, Jesse Parrish, the fleet little defensive back, intercepted a Mace Segel pass on his own 45 and returned to the Flint 42.

Two plays later, Myers hit Johnson at the 20, and the strong legged flanker back eluded four Blue Devils to go in for a 29-yard touchdown play. Ed McQueen added the point.

Flint wasted no time in retaliating. Jim Long took a screen pass at his own 11-yard line two plays after the next kickoff and he was brought down three by Parrish.

Long then went in for a two-yard touchdown on the second play and with Wes Parr's point it was 7-7.

SCORE AGAIN

Parrish returned the ensuing kickoff to the Flint 42 and with Myers hitting in deadly accuracy, the Arrows marched the remaining 35 yards in seven plays.

Tony Odoneal grabbed a seven-yard aerial from Myers to make it 13-7.

In the second quarter after Jerry Ratazak recovered a fumble on the Flint 40, it took four plays for the Arrows to score, the payoff coming when Myers hit Johnson with a 24-yard strike to make it 19-7.

It was a brilliant catch for Johnson, who took the ball away from a Flint defender. Last Saturday Johnson made two fingertip catches for 60- and 17-yard touchdowns.

In the second half, the big Flint line put a strong rush on quarterback Ron Bishop, hitting him seven times for losses.

A 45-yard runback of a punt by Parrish got the Arrows started on the Flint 15 for a first down but the drive died there.

However, it kept Flint deep in their own territory, forcing the Blue Devils to punt from their end zone and giving Pontiac another chance from the 35.

THIRD TD
This time it took six plays and Johnson scored his third TD on a six-yard burst to make it 25-7.

Flint started clicking with passes in the final eight minutes and at 7:49 left to play Segel hit Ernest Long with a 23-yard touchdown play. Parr added the point to make it 25-14, but Flint wasn't through. Another drive started on the 10 but it ended when Arrows' linebacker Steve Sabo intercepted at midfield and returned to the Flint 43.

Myers went back in at quarterback and had another sure touchdown passing but it was dropped in the end zone and the game ended with Pontiac on the Flint five-yard line.

City officials, headed by Mayor William Taylor, Pontiac Motor and Retail car officials and MFL commissioner John Abel attended the evening's festivities which included a halftime presentation of the 1967 Pontiac line of cars.

The Arrows have only one home date left, that with powerful Dayton, Saturday night October 8th in a game which could be a deciding factor in the MFL title chase.

They have to go on the road for the final four games.

Kaliné's Homers Spark Tigers

Bengals Edge California, 5-4

Al Clouts Two-Run Blast in 10th

DETROIT (AP) — He's 31, has spent almost 14 years in major league baseball and has stepped up to the plate 6,874 times—but Al Kaline is still swinging a mighty bat.

The Detroit rightfielder smashed a two-run homer in the sixth inning that boosted the Tigers to a 5-4 victory over California Wednesday night, ending a three-game series at Anaheim, Calif.

It was the knee-mannered Kaline's 25th homer this season, equaling the personal high mark for a season that he set in 1962.

SOLO HOMER

Coupled with his solo homer in the sixth inning, Kaline upped his batting average to .290, third best in the American League.

Detroit's victory gave the team a 1½-game hold on second place in the league. Third-place Minnesota slipped a little by losing to Cleveland 4-0.

The Tigers rested today in preparation for their last three games of the season, starting Friday night in a series at home with Kansas City.

The Detroit victory was as costly setback for the Angels who had been scrapping for fifth place and a sliver of the World Series money pie. Their loss put them two games behind fifth-place Cleveland.

With Detroit leading 3-2 in the ninth, California's Norm Siebern fired to Kaline, allowing Bubba Morton to score the tying run from third.

Jose Cardenal hit a fly to Kaline in the bottom half of the 10th inning, allowing Jay Johnston to score California's fourth run.

ENDS CONTEST

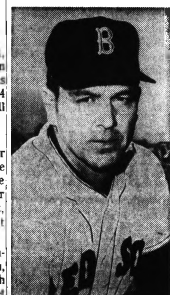

Then, relief pitcher Larry Sherry ended the contest by getting Frank Malone out on called strikes. Sherry, who replaced Dave Wickham in the eighth inning, was declared the winning pitcher.

Detroit opened the scoring in the fifth inning when Dick McAuliffe smashed a two-run homer, his 22nd scoring Orlando McFarlane.

In the eighth inning, the Angels scored two runs on singles.

Bosox Pilot Named; Cards Keep Skipper

BOSSOX — Former major leaguer Dick Williams (above) was hired as manager of the Boston Red Sox yesterday.

By the Associated Press

The baseball season is coming to an end and the manager-changing and retaining season is beginning.

Dick Williams was named manager of the Boston Red Sox Wednesday to replace the ousted Billy Herman and Red Schoendienst was given another contract to manage the St. Louis Cardinals.

Also there was a report that Preston Gomez, now a coach with the Los Angeles Dodgers, would take over at Cleveland. He would replace Birdie Tebbets, who quit last month and George Strickland, who replaced Tebbets as interim manager.

The other clubs where the managerial situation is not set are Atlanta, where interim Manager Billy Hitchcock would seem to have the inside track, and Detroit, where Pittsburgh coach Johnny Pesky and ex-Chicago White Sox Manager Al Lopez are prominently mentioned.

Williams, 37, managed Boston's International League team club in Toronto to two straight playoff victories. He had a 13-year playing career as a utility infielder and becomes the fifth Boston manager since 1959.

Schoendienst goes into his third year as manager of the sixth-place Cards after a 19-year playing career. Owner August A. Busch Jr. said he was "confident that (Schoendienst) will lead the Cardinals through a successful rebuilding program."

Gomez was reported in line for the Cleveland job by the San Diego Union, but would not comment on the report. Neither would Indians' President Gab Paul.

Injuries, Illness Hit 'M'

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The start with the Wolverines against two of two starting players and North Carolina Saturday in Ann Arbor.

Rosema, a senior from Grand Rapids, is suffering from mononucleosis and will be out indefinitely.

Coaches held a light practice Wednesday, experimenting with possible replacements for the injured players. Warren Sipp, a sophomore from Akron, Ohio, was being considered to replace Wilhite. Terry Salma, a junior from Wakefield, may step in for Rosema.

Pass Attack

for Illini Tilt

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State drilled on passing under slippery conditions Wednesday as it prepared to meet Illinois, a team which has outplayed its opponents 302 yards to 192 in two games so far.

A light rain fell through most of the practice. The Spartans quit after an hour's drilling when the rain turned into a downpour.

Behind a fired-up line, quarterback Jimmy Raye threw to end Gene Washington, who caught two touchdowns passes last weekend and sophomore Al Brenner.

In Saturday's game at Champaign, Ill., the No. 1 ranked Spartans will be opening defense of their Big Ten title, and also trying to win their first game in Memorial Stadium in five tries. MSU has beaten two nonconference foes and Illinois has lost twice so far.

Vikings Triumph

Walled Lake's Vikings used a variety of junior varsity lineup yesterday in handling Inter-Lakes League newcomer Livonia Stevenson a 23-36 cross-country setback.

Dan Gilbert led the way for the winners with a first-place finish in 11:40. Livonia's John Gores and Bill Fryer ran three, followed by Walled Lake's Rich McArthur and Doug Lahti.

Bucs Take Doubleheader

State Pitcher Blanks Dodgers

By the Associated Press

Larry Jaster, in his place, but the Los Angeles Dodgers would like to pinch him, just once, to be sure.

The Dodgers are certain there's life in the Pittsburgh Pirates, however. They can feel the heat on their backs again.

Jaster, St. Louis' enigmatic left-hander, blanked Los Angeles 2-0 Wednesday night, running his shutout string against the Dodgers to five games and stalling their National League pennant drive.

The Pirates, meanwhile, scraped their way to a 2-1, 4-2 doubleheader sweep over Philadelphia and inched within 1 1/2 games of first place in the stretch race.

Jaster, a 22-year-old rookie from Midland, Mich., who has been less than sensational against the rest of the league, tied a 50-year-old shutout record by checking the Dodgers on stage.

Only one other modern-era pitcher, Grover

Alexander, had shut out one club five times in one season, and the Hall of Famer did not make his mark in successive starts.

FIVE STRAIGHT
Jaster's five straight shutouts over the Dodgers topped the record of four in a row set by Fred Fitzsimmons of the New York Giants against Cincinnati in 1929. Alexander, pitching for Philadelphia blanked the Reds five times in 1916.

"I can't see any reason why we can't hit him," said Dodger second baseman Jim Lefebvre.

"It's weird. He has trouble against everybody else in the league."

Jaster, 11-5 on the year, has made 21 starts. Take away his 45-inning hex on the Dodgers and he's left with one complete game and a 4.83 earned run average.

"It's kind of an unbelievable modern-era pitcher. Grover thinks he's different against the Dodgers than anyone else. I pitch the same against them."

"I think maybe they ought to pinch Jaster again tonight," chirped Harry Walker, whose Pirates are idle while the Dodgers, complete their four-game set at St. Louis. After that the Dodgers wind up with three games at Philadelphia while the Pirates close with three at home against San Francisco.

The third-place Giants kindled their faint pennant hopes with a 2-1 victory over Atlanta Wednesday night. Elsewhere, Chicago beat New York 4-1 before losing 1-0 in their doubleheader nightcap and Cincinnati divided a twin bill with Houston, losing 4-3 after taking the opening 7-1.

Ed Spiezio's two-run double with two out in the fourth inning backed Jaster against the Cardinals, whose best shot at the loaded bullpen was a home-runned threat in the fourth that died when Lefebvre filed out.

Jaster, who has not yielded an extra base hit to the Dodgers all year, outpitched rookie Don Sutton, who was a victim of Dick Schofield's error during the Cards' two-run fourth.

Orioles' Timetable Clouded by Rain

By the Associated Press
The Baltimore Orioles have been away from the playing field so long they should have recovered even from the after-effects of their rousing pennant-winning party.

Braves' Leader Crows Over Atlanta Support

ATLANTA (AP) — Bill Bartholomay, sharply criticized in the North for bringing the Braves to Dixie, says attendance in Atlanta's first campaign should silence critics of the move.

"Going over the million and a half mark at home this year is the most remarkable attendance any club has ever had in a new city," Bartholomay said.

"If the Braves had been a contender we would have drawn more than two million. 'Some of our critics in the North may have to revise their opinions now,' said the Braves' chairman of the board.

FINAL HOME GAME
The Braves drew 23,148 Wednesday night in their final home game of the year, boosting the 1966 turnout in Atlanta Stadium to 1,539,801.

The Atlanta turnout was higher than attendance in Milwaukee during any of the last six years, and nearly three times attendance in 1965, the Braves' lame-duck season in Milwaukee when only 555,589 watched the team.

However, the Atlanta total fell short of attendance in Milwaukee in the Braves' first year there, when 1,826,397 saw the games in 1962.

"The Braves were in contention all the way and finished second in the National League season in 1962," Bartholomay said. "If we would have had that kind of season this year we would have drawn two million."

Brazil Netters Named
RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Thomas Koch, Edson Mandrino and Ivo Ribeiro were tentatively picked Wednesday as the Brazilian team for the Davis Cup tennis match with the United States at Porto Alegre Nov. 5-6-7.

Manager Hank Bauer mercifully rested some of his regulars during the weekend series against the Angels, and Monday was an off day.

RAINS 2 DAYS

But two days of rain have caused postponements since the Orioles returned home and now Bauer is beginning to check the weather forecasts. The rain already has messed up his pitching plans in preparation for the World Series.

"I don't know how the rain will affect us," Bauer said after Wednesday's doubleheader against Kansas City was called off and rescheduled for today.

"All I can say now is that we're not as much prepared as we hoped, but we're more rested."

Bauer had planned to give Dave McNally and Jim Palmer, the likely starting pitchers in the first two series games, two tune-up assignments in the last week of the regular season. Now they probably will get only one start apiece.

Weather permitting, McNally was to pitch today for the first time in eight days. Palmer, who hurled the pennant clincher last Thursday, was to start the second game.

Only two games were played in the American League Wednesday.

Detroit beat California in 10 innings 5-4 on a pair of home runs by Al Kaline. The Tigers are now 14 games in front of Minnesota, who lost to Cleveland 4-0.

Twins hurler Jim Katt, tied with Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles for the most victories in the majors with 25, missed his chance for win No. 26 as he gave up six hits in eight innings including Joe Azcue's eighth home run.

Canadian's Hopes Rise

VANCOUVER (AP) — The chances of a Canadian winning the Canadian Open Golf Tournament for the first time in more than 10 years soared Wednesday when Toronto's George Knudson led three amateurs to the team victory in a pro-am contest and finished only one stroke off the pace of the leading professionals.

The flashy 25-year-old Knudson, veteran of eight years in the pro ranks, carded a two-under-par 69 on the rain-soaked, hazy, hazy golf course.

He was only one of three touring pros who overcame the adverse conditions and broke par on the 6,907-yard layout.

Vikings Meet I-L Newcomer

MAY SURPRISE
Stevenson dropped a close decision at Wayne Glenn last week after a victorious opener. It could surprise a few I-L opponents who might take the Livonia squad lightly.

PNH has to regroup after rough treatment at Flint Northwestern last week. The Huskies won easily in their opener with Troy, apparently affirming the preseason confidence in them shown by opposing mentors.

Farmington, meanwhile, wasn't considered a strong I-L eleven based on its backfield losses and a new coach, Bob Mistle. But the Falcons stand 2-0 and rate two favorite's role tomorrow.

Northern's offensive line and pass defense showed weaknesses in its defeat. The Huskies found lanky Farmington end Jerry Tinkle a nuisance last fall and must protect against his receiving.

UNDEFEATED
Waterford also is traveling into the lair of an undefeated team, East Detroit.

The Skippers' defense weakened as they lost at Southfield though coach John Moffat didn't fault defensive end Andy Hunt whom he named lineman of the week at WTS.

He chose Steve Rogers as the Waterford Back of the Week. Offense hasn't been the problem it once was. But East Detroit's Shamrocks also have shown a potency for moving into pay dirt.

Tomorrow night's contest could develop into point parade similar to the games both teams played last week.

Tackle Joins Broncos

Jackson and Copeland also have been playing offense. The Chiefs play Flint Northern at Wisner Stadium tomorrow night.

PCH Eleven Tries Spoiler's Role

The shakedown period in the Saginaw Valley Conference football race was rough on Pontiac Central.

"It takes two or three games before anyone can get a line on the other teams in the league," said PCH coach Paul DeLorber before the season opened.

Although "shaken" out of little contention by two straight losses, the Chiefs still are the league's biggest potential spoilers.

They get their first chance in the new role Friday at 8 p. m. in Wisner Stadium against Flint Northern. The Vikings have won their first two games and are tied for first place with Bay City Central and Midland.

Although showing some early season weaknesses on defense, Bay City's Wolves have a potent offense and are heavy favorites to run away with the title.

The battle for second place is shaping up as a close one. Even with two losses, PCH can't be counted out. But the Chiefs can't afford another setback—at least until they meet BCC late in the season.

Flint Northern is loaded with veteran talent, but the Vikings still haven't corrected a problem that has plagued them for the last three seasons.

They have been strong on defense, but the offense has been woefully weak. There was hope that opening games with Bay City Handy and Saginaw, rated the SVC's weakest teams, would help open the scoring door.

The Vikings were hard-pressed to get past Handy, 16-13, and Saginaw, 7-4.

William Wade, a junior, is the FM quarterback. He was a regular last season. The big line is anchored by tackle Jerry Dermaid.

The Chiefs have been slow getting into the scoring column, too, but this can be attributed to inexperience in the line. End Mike Shorters and tackle Fred Edwards were impressive on defense in the loss to Midland and center Sam Ewalt on offense.

Quarterback Lee White is improving with each game and completed three of seven passes against the Chemics. Two were dropped.

Warm Pistons Meet Chicago

Detroit Duels Bulls on Holland Court

HOLLAND (AP) — The Detroit Pistons, with a 4-1 National Basketball Association exhibition record, take on the Chicago Bulls at Holland tonight.

The game will be the first for the Bulls, newest NBA entry. The Bulls are powered by guard Guy Rogers and forward Bob Boozer.

The game will be the first of five exhibitions in Michigan for the Pistons within the next 10 days. Detroit meets Baltimore at Lansing Tuesday, the New York Knicks at Ypsilanti Wednesday, New York again at Battle Creek next Thursday and Chicago at Flint on Oct. 10.

Forward Ray Scott leads all Pistons scorers with a 28.8 average, followed by player-coach Dave DeBusschere, 15.8, and rookie guard Dave Bing, 14.8. DeBusschere said he has been pleased with the progress of center Reggie Harding, back with the team after a year's suspension for conduct allegedly detrimental to the NBA.

Medalist Ousts Ex-Golf Champ in Seniors' Play

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Medalist Curtis Person blazed his way into today's second round of the USGA Seniors Golf Tournament by sideling former U. S. Amateur champion Jack Westland.

The Memphis, Tenn., businessman fired six birdies in whipping Westland, of Pebble Beach, Calif., 3 and 2 in the start of match play Wednesday. Person faced Jim Ferrie, Long Beach, Calif., who eliminated G.W. Addison of Jalisco, N.M., 4 and 3. Merrill Carmichael, a two-time winner, won 2-up over Randall Ahern, Royal Oak, Mich., in the journey for golfers 55 and older. The field was cut to 16 as a strong wind swept the Tucson National Golf Club course. The championship round is Saturday following two rounds today.

DAVIDSON, N.C. (AP) — George Leight, a 6-foot-3 junior on the Davidson College basketball team, told Coach Lefty Driesell Wednesday that he would not play this season in order to concentrate on his pre-medical courses.

JOINS AIR FORCE — Former National AAU diving champion Mick King, 19 Norton, takes the oath of enlistment being administered by Air Force Capt. John P. Moore. Steady Round Brings Victory for Mrs. Cova

Mrs. Midge Cova of Novi fired a steady 40-44-84 yesterday to lead a field of 80 at Rannetter Golf and Country Club in Utica in the final outing of the 1966 season for the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association.

Mrs. Max Evans of Southfield fired an 86 to take second and Mrs. Nick Panasiuk of Elmwood, Ont., came in third with an 87.

In a business meeting following the round of golf, Mrs. Betty Reno of Royal Oak was elected president of the WMGA for the 1967 season.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. George Todd of Plymouth, vice president; Evelyn Schwarz of Grosse Pointe Woods, treasurer; Mrs. William Foster, Detroit, assistant treasurer; Phyllis Chandler, Hamtramck, recording secretary; Mrs. Lee Pearsall, Oak Park, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James Frye, Royal Oak, handicap chairman; Mrs. G. F. Langford, Dearborn Heights, publicity.

Charles Benton (Benny) Coward, a 205-pound, six-footer, as "unusually active, strong."

Vanderbilt also has a line-backer whose name is not destined to instill fear in the hearts of foes. He's Steve Kiss. Not to be outdone on romantic nomenclature, Florida State offers Larry Kissam, a tackle. Wake Forest nominates halfback Charles Kiss and Mississippi State brings forth tackle Bill Dear.

Then there's defensive specialist Charles De Baby of the University of Tampa.

Kentucky has the South's ritziest sounding ends — Doug Van Meter and Jeff Van Note. The University of Richmond counters with tackle Greg Van Doorn. More awesome, on paper, are Florida State lineman Dave Gurr and Wake Forest guard Howard Stanback.

There's a wealth of names guaranteed to thwart sports headline writers, frustrate sports announcers and inspire nick-namers.

LONG NAMES
For a starter, how about quarterback Ed Nawastowski of Tampa? Or fullback Ray Fratarangelo of Memphis State?

Would you believe: halfback Robert Schmalzried of VMI? Defensive back Tom Omiecinski of Miami? Tackle Marcellus Gabryelski of South Carolina? How about guard Kenneth Strykowski of George Washington, tackle Dean Haledjian of Clemson, and Bill Serravezza of Duke, tackle Art Brzustowski of Maryland, and Paul Yewisiak of Maryland, and Paul Yewisiak of Virginia and wingback Lou Campomenosi of Tulane?

It would be an appropriate clincher to add that Robert Shue, a fullback, is the kicking specialist for George Washington. He is not. Sorry about that!

This Gridiron Coward Doesn't Play Like One

ATLANTA (UPI) — The University of Mississippi football team has a Coward at line-backer.

How does that grab you for the start of a little tale about a 1966 brochure of collegiate grid squads in the South?

Sayers Tells Why to Stay in Classroom

CHICAGO (AP) — Gale Sayers, star rookie halfback of the Chicago Bears, declined assignments at Wendell Phillips High School Wednesday.

"I'll tell you a story about a man who had a chance to go to college and study law," began the University of Kansas product who has astounded National Football League fans.

"A relative, who was a lawyer, said if that man would finish high school, he'd send him through college."

"But the man wasn't interested, so he dropped out in the 10th grade. Today, he is working as a car polisher at a used car lot in Omaha, Neb. He makes $75 a week, works long hours and comes home beat."

Laughter interrupted Sayers, who paused and then said: "The man I'm talking about is my father."

"He gave me the incentive to get an education."

Buster Mathis Posts 14th Win

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Undefeated heavyweight Buster Mathis of Grand Rapids scored his 14th straight victory Wednesday night with a third round technical knockout of Earl Averell.

Mathis, Olympic trials champion in 1964, had a 57-pound weight advantage, 250 to 193, over Averett of Canton, Ohio, who had been unbeaten in three pro fights. Their scheduled six-round ended at 0-45 of the third round.

NEW YORK (AP) — Students will be asked to design the uniforms American athletes will wear at the 1968 Olympics, the U.S. Olympic Apparel Committee said Wednesday.

The committee will sponsor a national competition for college and professional school students, with the winners to be flown to the Olympic Games. Clothing and textile manufacturers have agreed to donate material for the uniforms.

OUT OF THE FLYING PLANE

Leg pockets packed with extra gear, a team of smoke jumpers run toward a waiting plane for patrol duty over forests.

In some remote area of our nation's forests, perhaps at this very moment, two parachutists drift down from a small plane orbiting overhead into a blazing inferno. They're smoke jumpers, out to extinguish the blaze before it spreads.

Parachuting fire fighters into remote forest areas began experimentally in 1939. The first actual fire jump was made in 1940. Since then, the men of this unique service have saved countless acres of our nation's timber from fire.

There are roughly 390 smoke jumpers with the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Forest Service, plus a number of others with the Park Service and Bureau of Land Management, stationed near our forests.

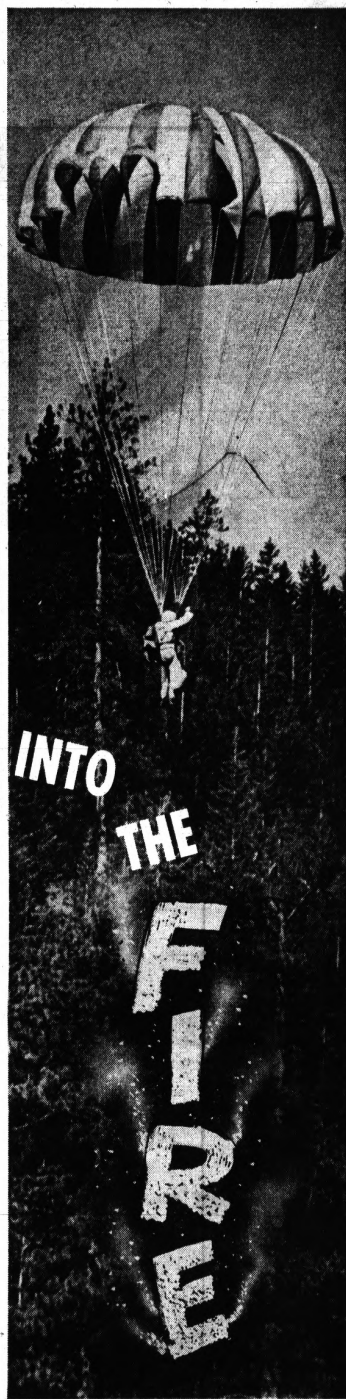

Each jumper averages 8 to 10 actual fire jumps per season—usually July through September.

Most fires are caused by lightning. During storms, jumpers suit up and patrol their areas, airborne and ready to leap to a blaze moments after it has started.

Fire jumps are usually made by two-man teams. Tools, a two-day supply of rations and paper sleeping bags are parachuted in with them. On the ground the men put out the fire, then retrieve their parachutes, pack their gear and hike out to civilization.

Many of today's smoke jumpers are college students who do it as a summer job. Applicants must be between 18 and 28 to qualify.

Rookies take two weeks of physical training before making seven qualifying jumps. Then they're assigned to a team similar to this one at a base near Winthrop, Washington.

Leaving his parachute in a tree where he landed, a smoke jumper must immediately tackle the fire.

Mechanical digger, for building fire break lines, plus tools, rations are dropped with smoke jumpers.

After fire is out, jumper retrieves parachute, packs gear and hikes back out to civilization.

Project Foreman, Francis B. Lufkin, foreground, and assistant, dispatch jumpers from main headquarters.

(1) Just about everybody in your trading area will see your ad. (2) They won't be knitting or driving to work or holding a conversation or sleeping when your ad comes on. People have to concentrate in order to read. And your ad in the newspaper gets the undivided attention of your best prospects. So if you have something to sell, think of newspaper readers. Progress in Afghanistan

U.S. Aid Saga: Cricket and the Bridge

By RAY CROHLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Fifty years ago, a 15-year-old boy in a side valley near Afghanistan's Khyber Pass twisted ropes from local fibers and built a suspension bridge across the Alingar River.

The bridge had four rope strands — two for handholds and two to support a walkway of poplar branches.

With a span of 150 feet, the bridge swayed sickeningly and supported one pedestrian at a time. Children sometimes fell between the ropes and were swept to their deaths in the waters below.

Nevertheless, the boy was a hero to the five villages in this isolated valley. For these villagers have contact with the outside world only by climbing the mountains which hem them in or by crossing the swift-flowing rivers.

No goods move in or out from these villages except on the backs of men.

BECOMES KEEPER

The boy became the self-appointed keeper of the bridge.

When the waters rose, he tightened the ropes to keep the river from sweeping the bridge away. When ropes frayed or branches rotted, he replaced them.

He never grew very big. He was called Cricket. No one could remember his real name.

When Cricket grew too old to farm, the villagers gave him food and clothing and he continued to maintain the bridge.

Two years ago, a young governor was assigned to the province, a man named Khaliki. He was convinced the people must help themselves.

SEEKS NEW SPAN

Under his leadership, the people of Laghman Province dug a 17-mile irrigation canal to open 2,000 additional acres for cultivation. They started a junior high school.

Then Gov. Khaliki saw Cricket's bridge and suggested it be replaced.

Every year a dozen or more children were lost crossing the river. Many others could not get to school. Sick people could not get to doctors. Farmers could not get their crops to market.

But good bridges posed a more difficult technical problem than digging canals or building schools. The governor turned to American aid men in Afghanistan for help.

Members of the U. S. Corps of Engineers supervising construction of the $42-million Kabul-Kandahar highway had already been contributing their weekends to help another American-trained governor build good gravel farm-to-market roads with the voluntary labor of local farmers and their donkeys.

U. S. aid men promised $3,000 for imported steel cables and hangers for new bridges if the people would contribute local materials and labor.

Shortly after the agreement was signed, Khaliki was transferred to another province. But his successor wanted to carry through. He decided to begin with a bridge to replace the Bridge of the Cricket.

Living in the governor's compound was Peace Corps volunteer "Big John" Barbee who had some construction experience. He began to round up materials and people.

Barbee collected 32,800 Afghanis ($435) from the villagers for cement, lime and timber. The corps of engineers obtained and delivered the cable, hangers, clamps and miscellaneous steel fittings needed and the work began.

LACK FAITH

Despite the scale model that had been built, the people could not visualize what the new bridge would look like and had no faith in its completion. Few showed up for work.

Big John soon tired of walking the 12 miles from town to the bridge site and pitched a tent next to the river where he and the pre-arranged mason lived by the governor's word.

Eventually, after months of back-breaking work, the piers were built and the 26-foot towers fabricated.

The original Bridge of the Cricket was essential for workers to get back and forth over the raging spring torrent. But both the old bridge and Cricket were growing feeble. Fortunately, the old bridge held while the cables were strung.

Then one day Cricket clambored out on his bridge to replace a missing poplar stick, lost his footing and was drowned.

One month later the new bridge was finished. Four days later the river rose suddenly. Without Cricket to pull up the ropes, the old bridge was swept away.

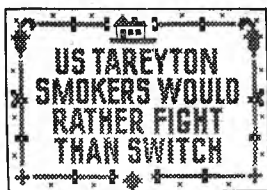

At the dedication ceremony the new bridge was named the Bridge of the Cricket, and Cricket's brother was appointed keeper.

When the mullah finished his prayer and the ribbon was cut, Cricket's brother stood and cried. Sixty people walked across the bridge.

After the ceremony slackers came up and promised that now they would work. Already, the piers are finished upstream for a second bridge. Downstream, a village is clamoring to start a third.

$500,000 a Year to Be Gambled on 'Keep Them Well' Program

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Food Employers Council is about to gamble $500,000 a year that a new "keep them well" program will cut the rising cost of medical care. It provides for 22,000 union workers.

Russia's thermonuclear fusion program costs $40 million a year, that of the U.S. $20 million. Russian fusion scientists outnumber those in the U.S. by ten to one.

dent, in fact, that the center already is equipped to handle 100 persons a day and was built with the idea of being easily expanded."

The program starts Monday with the opening of the union's predictive medicine center in a clinic that used to be a Hollywood Boulevard night club.

Director Emanuel Cherskin, who holds both medical and dental degrees, has equipped the center's nurses and technicians with airline-stewardess-type suits "to dispel the connotation of sickness that usually goes with white uniforms."

PREDICT PROBLEMS

"This is a health center, not a sick center," he said. "Our function is not curative — we will treat no diseases here — but rather to predict health problems before they develop into diseases, and to educate people to take better care of themselves. When we find disease, we will refer the patient to his or her own physician."

Robert K. Fox, president of the Food Employers Council, which represents food suppliers and markets, said the program is experimental.

"There's no way of telling how the union members will take to the idea," he said, "but we hope and believe our only problem will be one of taking care of the number of people who want to join."

"This or something like it is imperative to reduce the cost of medical and hospital care which is rising about 7 per cent every year."

Joseph T. DeSilva, executive secretary of the union, said that under a recently negotiated contract the employers pay medical fringe benefits of 30 cents an hour, including medical, hospital, dental, and psychiatric care, and even prescriptions. Of this, one cent an hour goes to support the new predictive medicine program.

He estimated the one cent an hour per member will yield about $500,000 annually. The union members who join the plan, which is voluntary, pay a registration fee of $5.

About 600 signed up after an advertisement in the union paper two weeks ago, DeSilva said, "but we are confident many more will join — so confident

'The Crunch and Goo' Tactic No Little Ordeal to Him

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—One of life's little ordeals is what to do with the tidbits served at cocktail parties, sometimes known as "the crunch and goo."

If they merely threw a platter of it in a guest's face, as if he were playing a role in an old Keystone Comedy, he could wipe it off—and laugh it off.

But hostesses are determined that a fellow eat the stuff, and he does that in the grim knowledge that he thereby becomes another statistic in, however, the guests must sur-

BOYLE

America's alarmingly rising ulcer rate.

In planning a cocktail party, a lady invariably exclaims to her sympathetic girlfriends in pretty dismay:

"But what in heaven's name will I serve them to eat?"

SAME PROBLEM?

Presumably, Lucretia Borgia, a noted hostess of the 15th century, had the same problem. She solved it on occasion, according to legend, by servicing artful poisons.

The modern hostess, somewhat restricted by edicts of the U.S. pure food and drug law gets the same results by serving artful canapés.

Before the canapés arrive, comes another statistic in, however, the guests must survive earlier adventures in crunch and goo.

A BOWL OF GOO

The crunch and goo consists of a bowl of potato chips and a bowl of goo called "the dip."

Every hostess has her own secret dip recipe and keeps it locked in a safe deposit box at the bank. Chemists who have broken them down, however, say most dips consist basically of a can of onion juice, mayonnaise, cream cheese and one or two jars of library paste, depending on the size of the party.

If the hostess has dipped a homeless clam in it, she refers to it as a clam dip; if she had dipped a lamb in it, it would be called lamb dip.

The main idea about the potato chips is to get them so soggy or thin that they either bend or snap in pieces when you try to use them to scoop up some of the dip. It is usually better to wait until no one is looking, then dip your hand into the dip, bring it up enough to wipe on the potato chip, gulp it down and slip hurriedly into the bathroom and wash.

IT'S MANDATORY

Everybody gives a mandatory "ooh-h-h" when the canapés are brought in with a flourish. This is in tribute to the decorative skill of the hostess, for canapés arranging now has become as formal an art in America as flower arranging is in Japan.

It is true that the canapés would make a lovely picture, if everybody would be health-ier if they were simply photographed and then dumped.

Who are canapés made of? Is that sliced bread or crepe paper? Are those huddled little black dots real Russian caviar or merely tapica cleverly camouflaged in India ink? Is this itty-bitty sandwich made of slivers of turkey, veal, or chicken—or itty-bitty wallboard shavings?

Whatever it is, it tastes the same. It also tastes like it had been left out on the fire escape for three nights in the rain to make it completely sodden. The only thing a man can identify for sure is that red thing that looks like a rosette. It's a radish.

Fast Senate OK Seen on Department

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Quick Senate approval was expected today for a bill creating the government's 12th Cabinet-level department — the department of transportation.

Little opposition was expected among the election-minded senators whose legislative pace quickened in time with their efforts to finish work and speed adjournment.

The bill, only slightly different from the House-passed version, would commit $5 billion to organizing the new department which would combine under one secretary the government's role in shipping, aviation, highways and railroads.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, still sticking to his Oct. 15 adjournment deadline, set aside only one day for the measure with debate opening yesterday on the administration's $2.5-billion anti-poverty program.

When the anti-poverty plan is out of the way, sometime next week, the Senate will turn to a $3-billion money bill for another year of foreign aid.

By a 55 to 3 vote yesterday, the Senate approved a $10.5-billion appropriations bill, providing money for the Health, Education and Welfare and Labor department programs. The measure now goes to a House-Senate conference committee.

Meanwhile, other Senate committees were near final action on important legislative programs. The Senate Labor Committee, for one, was ready to approve a $7.5-billion program of federal aid to elementary schools.

The education program is typical of others in that it exceeds President Johnson's budget for fiscal 1967.

Yesterday's appropriation bill was $390 million over Johnson's request. The anti-poverty bill is almost $900 million more than the administration asked.

It all adds up to a bigger more inflationary budget deficit than the White House planned.

ANXIOUS PARENTS—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Amersiv listen intently as they hear reports on heart surgery performed in Minneapolis yesterday on their son, Alexander, 12. Critical Shortage Reported

Navy Losing Its Experienced Officers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has a critical shortage of experienced line officers for surface ships and is looking for ways to interest them to stay in uniform longer, officials said today.

Navy statistics show that the over-all retention rate among officers in the three Navy services — submarine, aviation and surface line — has fallen to a present low of 38.7 per cent, meaning barely one in three officers decides to stay on in the service.

For the noncareer officers the retention rate is 20.7 per cent. Officials report that it is even lower than that for surface line officers, although the Navy does not provide specific breakdowns.

The low retention rate has resulted in a shortage of 4,500 officers — about 43 per cent — among the commander, lieutenant commander and lieutenant ranks of the submarine and surface line services.

"We're desperately short because of an extremely unsatisfactory retention rate," one top Navy officer said. "There are problems in all areas — but the major retention problem is among the surface line community."

STUDY PROBLEM

A Navy task force has been studying the retention problem for the past 20 months and recently reported to Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze that, among other things, "the surface line community is in critical shape."

Current manpower statistics, supplied on request, indicate that the Navy is meeting all its officer requirements on an over-all basis despite the sharp shortage among the surface line services.

To make up for this shortage, the Navy now has about 2,500 more ensigns than authorized serving at sea.

"The Navy may be sailing at full strength quantitatively, but qualitatively most assuredly not," one Navy officer said. "We just don't have enough experience aboard destroyers, cruisers and minesweepers."

Vessels that make up the Navy's major surface line operating forces to solve its problems, he said, the Navy is "either putting junior grade officers in lieutenant's jobs or transferring men from one warfare specialty to another to try to make do with our total resources."

UAW Goals 'Unaffected' by Rollback

DETROIT (AP)—Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers union, said Wednesday price cutbacks by Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. would have no effect on his union's 1967 contract demands. Ford and Chrysler rolled back their prices this week after General Motors had announced its 1967 auto price chart, substantially lower than the original Ford-Chrysler listings.

Reuther said his position on GM's price increases is the same one he expressed when Ford and Chrysler announced their prices — "completely indefensible by any standards."

He made the remarks at the Michigan AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) convention in Detroit.

IT'S STILL AN INCREASE

"When you raise prices $100 and then reduce the raises $75 you still have a price increase," Reuther said.

He said the major UAW goal in the upcoming bargaining with the Big Three auto makers still is "substantial wage increases."

"We have made it very clear in the past that we believe the auto companies should cut prices," he added.

Asked if he thought there might be presidential intervention in the 1967 auto labor talks, Reuther said:

"There has been no presidential intervention in auto negotiations since 1945. I see no reason whatsoever why there should be in the 1967 collective bargaining between the UAW and the auto industry."

Reuther demanded a congressional investigation of auto pricing policies by the Big Three when 1967 auto price increases first were made public.

Increase in Enrollment of 700 Students Likely

Enrollment in Pontiac schools is on its way to marking a 700-student increase over last year's official figure.

Administrators expect that there will be some 23,475 students registered at the schools by tomorrow, when official fourth-Friday tabulations are made.

The figure for last year was 22,772.

Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer noted the anticipated increase is nearly double what it has been in recent years. It is some 500 students over enrollment projections.

Board of education members last night also received reports on two situations involving overcrowded classrooms.

Assistant Supt. William J. Lacy said 121 kindergarten pupils, assigned to Wiener Elementary School were to report for their first class meetings today.

Pontiac School Affairs

The youngsters have not been attending school because the portable unit to be used for two kindergarten classrooms has not arrived.

The four kindergarten classes will be held in the school's gymnasium until the unit arrives and is installed.

Reportedly now en route to Pontiac, the unit should be ready by Oct. 10, according to Assistant Supt. Richard C. Fell.

PURCHASE AGREEMENT

Fell also reported he had signed a preliminary purchase agreement for a house adjacent to McConnell Elementary School, to be revamped and used for kindergarten classes.

With 960 square feet of floor space, the three-year-old house is to be purchased for $12,000 from the Arthur N. King Realty Co. of Detroit.

Moving kindergartners to the building will create additional space for now-crowded fifth and sixth grades at the school.

In other business, the school board recognized Local 719 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees as official representative of 284 operational and food service personnel.

The bargaining unit does not include about 25 skilled maintenance employees whose representation is being contested by the Detroit Building Trades Council.

The board has not yet received an opinion on the matter from the Michigan Labor Mediation Board, which held a hearing on the question in June.

Course Still Open at OU

High school juniors and seniors still can apply for Oakland University's October study skills program which begins Saturday.

Emphasis of the 15-week course is on improving study habits, reading speed and comprehension. It also generally helps to prepare students for academic and dormitory life in a college or university setting.

The classes are held from 8 a.m. until noon Saturdays. Further information can be obtained from the Continuing Education Department at OU.

Teachers' Group to Meet Monday

The Michigan Education Association's Department of Classroom Teachers will hold its first business meeting of the school year Monday at Kennedy Junior High School.

At the 5 p.m. dinner meeting department president Joe Sullivan will speak on the theme "With Pride, With Purpose." Sullivan will be introduced by Mrs. John Ellsworth, Lincoln Junior High School teacher who heads the Oakland County area of the department.

Reservations can be made by contacting Margaret Elmleaf, 2476 Voorheis, Waterford Township.

Seven in Semifinals of Merit Competition

Seven Pontiac and Waterford Township high school seniors have been named semifinalists in the 1966-67 competition conducted by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Listed among the nation's ablest students are Gordon E. Mapley of Pontiac Central High School and Patrick F. Leonard, Alan G. Livingston, Donald J. McGeen and Robert D. Tucker of Pontiac Northern.

Also named were Brent J. Barnes and Ronald McAllister of Waterford Township High School.

The competition is used as the basis for awarding scholarships from the corporation and 340 other organizations and individuals.

4 Rezoning Bids Sent to Township Board

Recommendations on four re-Lakeview for a B. F. Goodrich zoning requests, two favored and two opposed by the Waterford Township Planning Commission, have been forwarded to the Township Board for future action.

The planning commission gave an affirmative recommendation Tuesday night on a request to rezone from local business to general business three lots on the north side of West Huron near Josephine for a health club, drug cleaning establishment and office.

Paul and Jim Felice's proposal was favored by a unanimous 4-0 vote.

Also recommended for approval was a request to rezone from single family residential to local business a lot on Telegraph between Fremont and

First Baptist Church of Drayton Plains.

The church, which plans to relocate, wants to sell the Sashabaw property.

Tabled was a request to rezone from business and single family residential to multiple dwelling residential property with frontage on Walton and Meigs near Meinrad for apartments.

ASK SITE PLAN

Planners will consider the proposal when an adequate site plan is furnished and when information is received from the Oakland County Department of Health about soil conditions regarding the suitability of on-site sewage disposal.

Applicants Lyle and Mary Sawin indicated the proposed project involves construction of about 40 to 50 apartment units.

In other recent business, two special approval requests were withdrawn by applicants.

The commission announced it will conduct public hearings on four special approval cases and two rezoning proposals Oct. 25. Planning Director Vernon Wiggins, his assistant Curtis Roscoe and a member of the planning commission were given authority to attend the annual meeting of the Michigan Society of Planning Officials Oct. 30 in Petoskey.

Udall Says Indiana Cool Toward Park

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall said Wednesday that what he termed "lack of interest" on the part of the state may lead to loss of administration support for establishment of an Indiana National Lakeshore.

"No state in the union has shown less zest for having a national park," Udall told news conference. "It doesn't have much zest for people who don't have any zest themselves."

The secretary made his remarks in commenting on a hearing held at Valparaiso, Ind., Monday on a proposal by Bethlehem Steel Co. to build

Police Disperse St. Louis Mob

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — An unruly crowd roamed the streets in downtown St. Louis Wednesday night throwing objects at cars and store windows after a demonstration at police headquarters.

Police estimated the mob at 100 persons, and said most were Negro youths. They were dispersed. Several car and store windows were shattered. A fireman was struck on the chin by a rock.

2nd Soviet Official Ousted by Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — The Thai government ousted the second Soviet diplomat in as many days yesterday, the Bangkok Post said today.

The ousted Russian was identified as Alexei Aboukhov, second secretary of the Soviet Embassy here. Leonid Manurin, chief of the Soviet trade mission here, was ordered out of Thailand Tuesday.

AMC Offers Same as Big 3 on Warranties

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. Wednesday kept pace with the auto industry's Big Three by announcing its 1967 model cars will be covered by extended warranties.

AMC extended its five-year or 50,000-mile warranty on power train components to include front and rear suspensions, steering mechanism and wheels. The warranty on drive line components is, like those of General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp., in addition to a 24-month or 24,000-mile warranty on virtually all other parts of the car except tires.

The warranties apply to cars produced and sold by AMC in the United States and Canada. The original owner and subsequent owners within the warranty periods are protected against defects in material and workmanship.

The Big Three announced warranty extensions earlier this week.

LBJ Mulling Asian Stops

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson has made no concrete plans to expand his Far East trip next month but there are indications he may visit a number of countries besides the Philippines.

Informal sources said today that it was unlikely the chief executive would travel 10,000 miles across the Pacific and make only one stop — at Manila for the seven-nation "war and peace" conference on Vietnam.

Australia, New Zealand, Japan, South Korea and even North Vietnam were believed to be under consideration by the President for his itinerary.

During an informal chat with reporters two weeks ago, Johnson offhandedly mentioned that he would some day like to visit the first four countries.

The fifth — South Vietnam — where more than 300,000 U.S. servicemen are stationed — is only an hour's jet flight from Manila.

TRIP HINTED
Earlier this month, he hinted he might make a trip to the war zone. In a Sept. 5 speech at Ballis Creek, Mich., Johnson said, "In the near future, I plan to meet some who are working the miracles of medicine on far off battlefronts."

The President's reference was to Army, Navy and Air Force doctors and nurses working in Vietnam.

Officially, however, there has been nothing beyond Johnson's announced intention to attend the Manila conference on or about Oct. 18.

White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said the President has not mentioned any additional intentions. Leading State Department officials insist no expanded plans have been made.

NO FIRM DATE
According to official sources, the seven chiefs of state attending the Manila conference have not yet set a firm date. Johnson would have to wait until the date was set before making any other travel plans.

But one source speculated that if he decides on an expanded tour, the President might be away for as long as two weeks.

Japan was regarded as a question mark. Times have changed since Japanese students took to the streets of Tokyo and forced the cancellation of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's scheduled visit in 1960.

N. Y. Hair Laws Ensnarl Briton

NEW YORK (AP) — Britain's top society hair stylist, Victor Sassoon, banned from barbering here, vows to change the standards of American women's hair which he says are mostly "bad joke."

He blames antiquated state licensing laws and political schematics for "horrifying situation."

Sassoon — prices for one of his geometrically-designed haircuts start at $25 — came to the United States last year and built up a lucrative jet set trade.

With his temporary license about to expire, Sassoon, 38, found he would have to take a test in such things as pin-curling and finger waving which he called "asinine and obsolete."

Flexibility Seen on Retirement

ANN ARBOR (AP) — In the future, workers who want to stay on the job after age 65 won't face mandatory retirement, a University of Chicago sociologist predicted Wednesday.

Dr. Philip M. Hauser told the 19th annual Conference on Aging at the University of Michigan that, "The time will come when those who want to keep on working after 65 will be permitted to do so at lesser hours and lesser pay as their productivity cuts off."

"The unions are bucking this now," he said, "but they will accept this."

SEES PROBLEMS

Hauser, who foresees increasing problems for retirees as more social changes occur, said income from pensions will have to be tuned to the cost of living. Medicare will have to be re-examined many times, he said.

He predicted "a flood" of elderly persons in the United States after the year 2011.

"The 80 million babies of the birth boom following World War II and lasting up to 1965 will then be reaching the age of 65," he said.

Hauser said racial conflict will continue in major cities, with Negroes comprising more than 50 per cent of the population of urban areas.

More than 80 per cent of the projected population of 300 million by the year 2000 will live in cities and suburbs, Hauser said.

Hoover Gives Beagle to LBJ

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson has a new beagle — Edgar — a gift from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

The 4-month-old puppy replaces another beagle, Kimberly, in the White House kennels. Kimberly, offspring of the late "Him" was taken to Austin, Tex., by Mrs. Luci Nugent, the President's daughter.

And there may be several more beagles around the executive mansion soon. Kimberly's sister, Freckles, has been bred with a Philadelphia main line beagle, Jonathan Brooklyn Buddy, owned by Mrs. Marcia DuPont. Freckles is due in late October.

What's New?

What's new? Many things at Consumers Power. Even our symbol is new. We just can't let "old enough" alone. Indeed, we are constantly seeking new and better ways of doing things. Increased use of electronic computers and modern business machines helps us give our best to customer service. We think of time as an added dimension for customer contacts at our service centers.

Consumers Power
Where "C.P." stands for Continuing Progress

Producing electric power with nuclear energy is another important area of research and development. The first test of uranium can operate our Big Rock Point nuclear plant for two years. Producing the equivalent amount of steam with coal would require 400,000 tons.

Whether it's nuclear power or electronic computers, Consumers Power keeps learning "what's new" and utilizing that which will ensure the highest standard of service at the lowest possible cost to its customers.

Ripe Olives Go in Many Dishes

Have you noticed ripe olive lately? They're hard to miss. You might even find them in your breakfast pancakes. In soup they are natural floaters. Good mixers, too.

You'll find them in all their glory at cocktail parties, dark and handsome in a bowl of crushed ice, and in hundreds of spreads for canapés and dips for chips.

They taste wonderful in creamy tart coleslaw and with all the fresh sweet fruits of summer.

California ripe olives have gone international — off to Hungary for the goulash and paprikash, and into everything that is Mexican and of French haute cuisine.

These world travelers have a flavor that is distinctively ripe olive, yet mellowly unobtrusive with others flavors.

You'll see what we mean by versatility when you send for your free copy of Ripe Olives From California Kitchens. This handsome booklet has been developed by the Olive Advisory Board.

Along with all the collector's recipes, you'll find a chart with the actual sizes of all the ripe olives on the market. Since the cost of ripe olives is directly proportional to size, this information is worth something.

For your free copy, simply write Ripe Olive Recipes on a postcard and mail to Home Economics Dept., J. Walter Thompson Co., 320 California Street, San Francisco, Calif. 94101. Don't forget your name and address, please.

Convenience Foods Help Cook With Frozen Dessert

Who says a flair with food means hours in the kitchen? Certainly not the home economists who fashioned this Cherry-Cream Freeze.

With convenience foods—the traditional sweetened condensed milk and the modern canned pie-filling — it's made in minutes.

Cherry-Cream Freeze
1½ cups (15-oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
¼ cup lemon juice
2½ cups (1 lb. 5 oz. can) cherry pie-filling
¼ cup (4-oz. can) crushed pineapple, well-drained
¼ teaspoon almond extract

2 cups (1 pint) heavy cream, whipped

In large-size mixing bowl combine sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice, pie-filling, crushed pineapple, and almond extract; mix well. Gently fold in whipped cream until evenly blended.

Turn mixture into a 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Cover tightly with aluminum foil. Freeze for 24 hours or until thoroughly firm.

Unmold onto serving tray. If desired, additional whipped cream may be piped through decorative tube to garnish top and base.

A Finale From The Freezer

CHERRY CREAM FREEZE — Let the meal end in a grand finale with this pink 'n' pretty frozen dessert. It's so easy to make with sweetened condensed milk and canned cherry pie filling.

Use a Freezer Dessert Mix for New Two-Tone Bombe

Nine different table settings, keyed to celebrities' personalities, served as showcases for fashions in sterling silver and food Wednesday night at the Food Editors Conference. Dinner hosts were the Sterling Silver Smiths Guild of America and The Pillsbury Company.

At the table designed for "Tonight" host Johnny Carson, the theme was Spanish, the color scheme rich and warm, with the dinnerware adding a touch of flame.

Richly worked, massively elegant sterling flatware was reminiscent of lavish Spanish silver craftsmanship which flourished after the discovery of silver mines in the New World in the 16th century.

A dinner finale to match all this splendor arrived with the waiter's parade of desserts. This, designed with the table's Spanish motif in mind, was named Bombe Grande. The frozen dessert looks impressive, tastes wonderful, and — surprisingly — is simple to turn out at home.

If you have a large mold tucked away, the recipe below for the bombe is a fine excuse.

BOMBE GRANDE

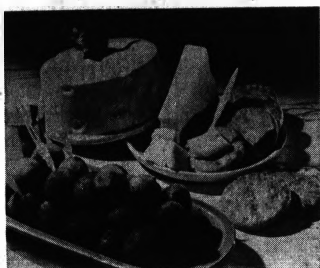

to use it — if not, a bowl will do nicely.

BOMBE GRANDE
2 packages Pillsbury Creamy Vanilla Something Different Freezer Dessert Mix
6 tablespoons butter, melted
¼ cup chopped almonds
2½ cups milk
2 tablespoons brandy flavoring
1 teaspoon instant coffee
Grease a 2½-quart mold or bowl. Place two 1-inch wide strips of aluminum foil across bottom and up sides of bowl. Reserve ¼ cup crumbs from 2 packages Something Different.

Combine remaining crumbs with melted butter and almonds. Press onto bottom and up sides of the mold or bowl. Blend milk with 2 packages filling mix in large mixing bowl. Beat until mixture thickens, about 6 minutes.

Pour half of mixture into bowl. Fold the ¼ cup reserved crumbs, brandy flavoring and instant coffee into the remainder. Pour over vanilla mixture in bowl. Freeze until firm, at least 4 hours.

Unmold by dipping quickly in hot water. Invert onto serving plate. Keep in freezer until serving time. Makes 10-12 servings.

FROMAGE FRITTERS

Three Kinds of Cheese Go Into Fritters

Cherry Hill Old Yellow Cheddar was one of the new products presented when Pet Incorporated (formerly Pet Milk Company) entertained food editors at the tea table.

Shish Kebabs of Ham Are Flavorful

More adventuresome barbecue chefs have discovered that contrary to general opinion, shish kebabs don't always have to feature lamb. Almost any combination of meat and vegetable chunks can be transformed into shish kebabs. Various beef and pork cuts can serve just as well as lamb.

Ham, for example, makes a deliciously different shish kebab. Just soak the ham with a marinade sauce and alternate with green pepper squares, pineapple chunks, and mushrooms for a flavorful feast for family and friends.

Ham Shish Kebabs
1 cup brown sugar
¼ cup vinegar
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
½ teaspoon cloves
1 pound cooked ham, cut into 1-inch cubes
1 green pepper, cut into 1-inch squares
1 can (13½-ounces) pineapple chunks
½ pound mushroom caps, sautéed in butter
Combine brown sugar, vinegar, prepared mustard, and cloves in a saucepan. Simmer for 10 minutes. Pour mixture over ham cubes and marinate several hours in refrigerator.
Alternate ham cubes, green pepper squares, pineapple chunks, and mushroom caps on

Brazilian Beef Is Hot, Sweet

It's a long way from Boston to Brazil. But it was at the annual Newspaper Food Editors Conference in Boston that this new recipe for Beef Brazilian Style comes. The recipe was developed especially for editors attending the conference by the White Cap Company, division of Cogginham Can Co., Inc. Beef Brazilian Style starts with an economical cut of boneless beef chuck cut into cubes, browned, and cooked until tender as a dream. It goes on to become a gourmet's delight with the addition of garlic, onion, lemon juice, pepper, bay leaf, preserves, curry powder, dried almonds, and chunks of oranges and bananas.

Pour all of this into a nest of fluffy rice.
BEEF BRAZILIAN STYLE
2 tablespoons shortening
1 clove garlic, sliced
2 pounds boneless beef chuck cut into 1½ inch cubes
1 cup coarsely chopped onion
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup water
1½ teaspoons salt

onion, lemon juice, water, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, and bay leaf.
Cover and simmer gently until meat is fork tender, 2 to 2½ hours. Add ½ cup marmalade, preserves or jelly, and curry powder to meat. Cook uncovered over low heat to thicken sauce. Add oranges and bananas and allow to heat.
To prepare rice, brown almonds lightly in butter or margarine. Add rice, water, remaining ½ teaspoon salt and remaining ½ cup marmalade, preserves, or jelly. Bring to boil; cover and let stand for time suggested on rice package label.
To serve, spoon beef mixture onto rice. Yield: 6 servings.

Heat shortening in large fry pan, with close fitting cover. Add garlic, brown, and remove from oil. Brown meat well in hot shortening, turning pieces as needed to brown evenly. Add eggs, cheeses and ¼ cup bread crumbs. Roll into about 40 balls. Dip balls in 2 eggs and then ½ cup bread crumbs.

Fry in deep fat heated to 375 degrees (high moderate) 1 to 1½ minutes, or until balls float to surface. Serve immediately.

FROMAGE FRITTERS

two 3-oz. pkgs. cream cheese, softened
½ lb. grated Old Yellow Cheddar Cheese (about 2 cups)
4-oz. Blue Cheese, crumbled
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs
Mix in a 1½-quart bowl,

Grilled Apples

To grill-bake apples, wash and core apples, place on foil squares and fill each apple center with a bit of sugar and cinnamon and four miniature marshmallows. Add a small bit of butter. Wrap apples in foil. Put them around the edge of the coals, then turn once or twice.

Gardner Thumps Proponents of De-Emphasizing Research

By Science Service
BETHESDA, Md. — Loose talk about basic research being de-emphasized by the National Institutes of Health in favor of applied target scientific research was denounced here by Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John W. Gardner.
Speaking before an impressive array of consultants including such scientists as Dr. Michael E. DeBakey of artificial heart fame and Dr. Albert B. Sabin, whose live polio vaccine has been of practical use to thousands of children all over the world, Secretary Gardner warned that "it is possible to waste vast amounts of money under the banner of practicality" if there is no scientific base.
The individual efforts of the basic researcher will always be in danger of neglect and always in need of special encouragement in our practical-minded society, he pointed out. It would be "incredibly short-sighted if at this time of swiftly expanding horizons in the biological sciences we were to conclude that basic research should be deemphasized," he said.
At the same time there have been rumors afoot that applied research is being neglected by the National Institutes of Health, the Secretary said, stating that approximately 60 per cent of NIH research expenditures are for work that most scientists would describe as "applied."
"The question of whether one of these activities should be given greater or less emphasis is a question that is not unique to the biomedical fields," he said. "It is an old chestnut and it has been debated in every field of science and scholarship."

REFLECTION OF STRENGTH — An M48 tank, with troops of the 4th Marines aboard, moves along the bank of a monsoon-swollen river about seven miles south of the demilitarized zone in South Viet Nam. Fighting between the Marines and North Vietnamese troops broke out in the area while the Marines were on Operation Prairie.

Quasars Pose Added Mystery

Study Doppler Effect for Space Peculiarity
By Science Service
LONDON — Another mystery has been wrapped here around what are already the most puzzling objects yet detected in the sky, the peculiar sources of radio waves known as quasars.
Many astronomers believe quasars are the most distant objects observed in the universe, as far as 10 billion light years away. One light year is six million million miles.
Other astronomers have concluded that at least some of the quasars are actually relatively close, astronomical light years away — and are associated with peculiar radio galaxies.
Scientists determine distances to stars by measuring the changes in the positions of spectrum lines in the star's light, a yardstick indicating the speed at which the star and earth are receding from or approaching each other.
If this Doppler shift is toward the red end of the spectrum, the source is receding; if toward the blue end, it is approaching.
SEARCH UNFRUITFUL
Astronomers have been searching, so far unsuccessfully, for blue-shifted quasars. Three California scientists have now concluded that if the large red shifts observed for quasars are actually due to the Doppler effect, then many more quasars with blue shifts than with red-shifted light should be visible.
They also conclude that if the red shifts are a Doppler effect, quasars have not been ejected from peculiar radio galaxies. If, on the other hand, quasars are associated with the peculiar galaxies, then the observed red shifts result from some factor other than the Doppler shift.

Man on the Move Film Boss Reels Off Mileage

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — Man on the move: Jack Valenti.
Early each Monday morning, Valenti leaves his Washington, D.C., home for the airport and takes the plane to New York, where he heads quarters until Wednesday night. His fifth avenue office is president of the Motion Picture Producers Association of America. Then he flies home and spends the rest of the week at his Washington residence.
Why does he keep his home in Washington when the film business is centered in New York and Hollywood?
"Washington is a gracious and fascinating town," he explains. "It is the hub of the world. Since so much of our business comes from foreign countries, it is important for me to remain in touch with the embassies."
ON RESENTMENT
Once a month, Valenti flies to Hollywood — "to try to blot out the resentment against a president of the producers association who lives in the East."
Next week he leaves for a tour of Europe; he plans to visit South America in November, Asia in January.
"During this first year, I expect to be putting in double time so I can learn the business thoroughly," said the former Houston advertising man. "But it's not so bad, really. When I was working at the White House, I left home at 7:30 and got back at midnight."
Valenti gives the impression of disciplined energy. He talks tirelessly about the movie medium and his hopes for it.
So far, his travels have been solitary. His wife, a secretary to President Johnson when he was senator, gave birth to a son, John Lyndon, July 30.
RELATIONSHIP
The Valentis, who also have a 4-year-old daughter, chose Lyndon B. Johnson as godfather for their son, and it is apparent that the warm relationship between the two men continues. It's possible, though not too probable, that Valenti may be able to improve the President's movie attendance.
"His wife and daughters are great movie fans," reported Valenti. "Lynda and Luci used to run movies at the White House almost every night, and Mrs. Johnson often joined them. The President is not anti-film; he simply works too hard to see movies."
"However, I did see him in a showing of 'Seven Days in May' (in which Pentagon generals attempt to take over the presidency). He had a wry smile on his face after that one."
"Down at the ranch, we used to run movies for the staff on a 16mm projector we set up in his office in the evening. One night, the President came in and asked what we were showing. I told him it was 'In Harm's Way,' and it might interest him because it was about the Navy in the Pacific war. Also I said, 'Your friend Kirk Douglas is in it'; he's very fond personally of Kirk and Gregory Peck."
"So he sat down and watched the movie. But I never found out whether he liked it or not."

Negro Protests History Book

DETROIT (AP)—Charging a ninth grade history textbook is "anti-Negro and white supremacist," a Negro father said Wednesday he would keep his daughter out of her world history class.
Richard B. Henry of Detroit, president of the Group On Advanced Leadership, said he took his daughter, Marilyn, 14, from the class Monday at Winterhalter School. However, she remains in other scheduled classes, he said.

Britons Protest Role in Viet

Miss F. Livingstone, 76, of Dorking carried a placard she had made herself. It read: "Don't buy American goods — there's blood on them."

Litterbugs Are Being Caught

NEW YORK (AP) — The danger of arrest is an increasing hazard for litterbugs.

Police throughout the nation are making more arrests than ever before for littering, and courts are handing down more convictions and levying stiffer fines.

A sampling of states by Keep America Beautiful, a national organization, reveals the following:

In Wisconsin last year, 335 people were arrested for littering lake shores and ice on the lakes.

New York City's Sanitation Department issued 61,923 summonses for littering, and collected more than a quarter of a million dollars in fines.

MAINE ARRESTS

The state police in Maine arrested 113 litterbugs and got 111 convictions. Fines ran up to $10.

The Texas highway patrol filed 585 charges against motorists for throwing trash on highways, and obtained 533 convictions. The highway patrol also issued some 2,900 warnings.

Exam Is Postponed in Barmaid Slaying

Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCulligan granted a one-week delay in the pretrial hearing for Julian H. Moore, 27, of 319 E. Wilson.

Moore is accused of the fatal shooting of a barmaid at a city tavern Sept. 8. He is held without bond at the Oakland County Jail.

County Unit Hears Charge

'Poverty War Forget Latins'

Latin Americans are the "forgotten minority" in Oakland County's war on poverty, a leader of the Pontiac Latin community charged yesterday.

Speaking at a meeting of the County Commission on Economic Opportunity, Tom Chavez told fellow commissioners that many complaints on poor service from the antipoverty operation have been made by Mexicans and Puerto Ricans.

"I'm all for the war on poverty," Chavez said, "but I want more help for the needs of the small minority, the Latin Americans."

Chavez, who is president of the Latin Americans United for Political Action of Pontiac, cited employment help as a major need.

He said the antipoverty personnel placement function properly coordinated.

Chavez pointed out that the Latin Americans have been an isolated group who avoid sit-ins and demonstrations.

"But, I'm telling you today," Chavez said, "that the Spanish-American community is beginning to complain."

$1.6 Million Funding Set for County Poverty War

The Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity yesterday set $1.6 million as the funding for the 1967 war on poverty operation in the county.

An additional $600,000 is sought for school-related programs.

The general operating budget will be sent to the regional and County of Economic Opportunity in Chicago.

It requests $1,255,977 in federal funds and specifies that $375,599 will be provided locally for the 1967 programs.

James M. McNeely, director of the county's war on poverty, said that the local share is made up almost entirely of "in kind" contributions such as building space, heat, maintenance or equipment.

DAVID M. WAGES

More than half of the proposed general operation cost for 1967 will be in salaries and wages. This totals $993,487.

A total of $798,255 is budgeted for salaries of the 131 full time staff employees.

Hourly rated workers are budgeted for $65,232.

During the current year federal.

al funding of $1.7 million was approved for Oakland County and the actual allocation was $1,100,000.

McNeely said that specific salaries will be set by the county commission when the regional office rules on the proposed 1967 budget.

CWA Urges Return to Jobs

DETROIT (AP) — The Commission Workers of America, AFL-CIO, urged workers to return to their jobs Wednesday as negotiations with Michigan Bell Telephone Co. might resume.

The CWA's contract with the telephone company expired last Friday but members were asked to stay on the job on a day-to-day basis while talks on a new contract continued.

However, some 800 replacement and installers in Detroit, Pontiac, Royal Oak, Roseville, Mount Clemens and Piquette staged wildcat strikes. Strikers in Birmingham went back to work Wednesday. The company refused to continue talks until the strikers ended.

Meanwhile, the company has continued operations with the use of supervisory personnel.

There's One, Maybe Two

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A woman on a telephone the HTumane Society of St. Louis said a boa constrictor was resting on the beams in the basement of a building she owned.

Jack Plummer and a coworker, Dan Ombus, looked at each other rather skeptically, then set out for the designated site.

Sure enough, there was a 5-foot boa constrictor in the basement. The reptile was removed by the two men. The building owner, Mrs. Alice Boom, explained:

"The people who used to run a nightclub here had a couple of boa constrictors in a kind of African setting. I guess they kept them in a cage behind the bar to amuse the customers who hadn't seen large snakes before. The snakes disappeared months ago. Except one, guess."

City Plan Adoption Is Big Step

By L. GARY THORNE
Pontiac measured off a giant step early yesterday with the passage by the City Commission of the Taubman plan agreement.

The agreement sets forth conditions and procedures for the creation of a $40-million shopping center in downtown urban renewal land.

The 13-page document, drafted a total of eight times, was revised as late as Tuesday. Two important areas are covered by the latest modifications.

First, language changes were made that would permit cooperation between the developer, A. Alfred Taubman, and advocates of the design recently offered by the University of Detroit School of Architecture.

The latter proposal, while not backed with finances or developers, presented a concept for a "deck" approach to building and rebuilding nearly all of Pontiac, including downtown.

LANGUAGE CHANGE
The change in language stipulates that the total required land area (now rated at 63 acres including the city-owned parking area) may be reduced in the final version of the Taubman plan.

A limit of 27½ acres is placed on the land reduction. This is essentially the area the U. of D. plan thinks necessary for the downtown shopping center.

Also, there are wording changes that would permit the

The National Meteorological Service located the storm, bearing 160-mile-an-hour winds, 45 miles south and east of the peninsula at 5 a.m.

Dominican Navy headquarters here reported at 6:30 a.m. that strong winds and rain squalls had swept across the peninsula, and that there had been no reports of damage or casualties.

Commercial communications with Barahona were cut off but the navy and army had contact through shortwave radio.

23 NOW DEAD

The storm's toll climbed to 23 dead as latest reports from Guadeloupe came in.

The storm struck that island Tuesday. Reports said 500 persons were injured and 10,000 made homeless.

The Weather Bureau in Miami said Inez was expected to pass near or a little south of the Barahona Peninsula, the southern extremity of the island of Hispaniola, early this morning.

At 6 a.m. EDT, the storm was about 45 miles east southeast of the peninsula's southern tip and moving slightly north of west at 12 miles an hour.

'LITTLE CHANGE'

"Little change in size or intensity is anticipated for 24 hours," the bureau's 6 a.m. advisory said, indicating that it no longer saw any chance that the storm would get rid of some of its fury on the mountains of southern Hispaniola.

"Present indications are that the center will pass near the island of Beata just off the southern tip of the Barahona Peninsula early this morning and along the Haitian Peninsula today and tonight," the advisory said.

Drizzle, Drizzle... Forecast's a Fizzle

Showers starting early this morning are expected to continue through the night.

The weatherman predicts partial cloudiness with a chance of a few brief showers tomorrow. Fair and cool is Saturday's forecast.

Temperatures will hit lows of 60 to 67 tonight, then climb to highs of 55 to 63 tomorrow. Today's southwesterly winds at 15 to 30 miles per hour will shift to northeast late today and diminish to 10 to 20 miles tonight.

A low of 53 was registered prior to 8 a.m. today. At 1 p.m. the mercury reading was 54.

Segregationist Pulls Upset in Georgia Race

Defeats Moderate to Win Dem Nomination in Bid for Governor

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Lester G. Maddox, an ardent segregationist running a shoestring campaign, has captured the Democratic nomination for governor — upsetting a moderate candidate and Georgia's middle-road racial course.

Maddox, a furniture merchant who quit the cafeteria business rather than serve Negroes, decisively defeated Ellis G. Arnall, a former governor, in yesterday's primary runoff. Arnall had led a six-man race two weeks ago.

"God and the people are my campaign managers," exulted Maddox, 59, after pulling off a major upset without big-money backers or the support of high-ranking politicians.

With 1,742 of 1,908 precincts reported: Maddox 419,557, Arnall 356,078.

A fiery opponent of the federal government, President Lyndon B. Johnson, liberalism, socialism and communism, Maddox says he shares the racial views of Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace. But Maddox said very little about racial issues in his campaign.

AX HANDLES

Arnall, 59, who scored a major upset two decades ago to win the governorship over the popular Eugene Talmadge, had charged in the runoff fight that Maddox was radical and extremist, a man whose symbols were ax handles and pistols.

Maddox, in resisting integration in 1964 and 1965, once waved a pistol to chase Negroes from his place and provided ax handles for white patrons.

Arnall met Maddox to concede personally.

U. S. Casualties Hit Weekly High in Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. forces suffered more casualties in South Viet Nam last week than in any week of the war, the U.S. command announced today.

The high toll apparently resulted from the hard fighting south of the demilitarized zone, where American Marines are battling North Vietnamese regulars.

American casualties during the week total 970, the U.S. command said, including 142 men killed 825 wounded. Three Americans were reported missing in action or captured.

The previous highest number of American casualties was during the week ending last May 21, when 146 U. S. troops were killed and 820 wounded, a total of 966.

S. VIET TOLL

American casualties last week were nearly three times as high as South Vietnamese losses. South Vietnamese dead numbered 98, the wounded 200, the Vietnamese command said.

The highest American death rate in one week came last November when 240 were killed, most of them in the battle of the Ia Drang Valley. In that week, 470 others were wounded.

Enemy losses rose also. Viet Cong and North Vietnamese dead last week totaled 1,165, the commands said. There were 722 the previous week.

HARD FIGHTING

In hard fighting there Wednesday a company of Marines seized a heavily fortified hill, killing 50 North Vietnamese, and held their ground against three Red counterattacks and heavy mortar fire through much of the night.

The casualty report for last week was the fourth this year in which American casualties exceeded South Vietnamese losses.

The U.S. command said more Americans were wounded than in any previous week of the war.

Other allied forces in Viet Nam reported eight men killed and 28 wounded. The week before there were three killed and 18 wounded.

Yanks Rescue Cong Captives

Prison Compared to Concentration Camp

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Ten battered Vietnamese have been freed from a Communist prison camp that one American officer said "looked like Dachau all over again."

The prisoners had spent from one to 19 months in the Viet Cong stronghold in coastal Phu Yen Province, about 200 miles northeast of Saigon.

They were suffering malnutrition, boils, pneumonia, skin infections and deformities caused by unsanitary conditions, said Capt. Stephen M. Wilson of 3279 Carolete St., Baton Rouge, La.

Wilson is a physician with the 1st Battalion, 327th Infantry of the 101st Airborne Division which rescued the prisoners Saturday.

The U.S. command said today a South Vietnamese army private who had escaped from the prison led American units back to it.

CONG KILLED

Americans killed two Viet Cong and wounded three in liberating the camp. But the brief clash gave other Viet Cong the chance to herd more prisoners away.

Walkout Halts Production at Fisher Body

Production at the Fisher Body plant in Pontiac was at a halt this morning while union and management officials met to discuss an unauthorized walkout.

Picketing at the plant had stopped by 8:30 a.m. before leaders of UAW Local 596 and General Motors Truck definitely moves onward and upward.

Albert Lighthall, vice president of the local, said he did not know the exact cause of the walkout, but added that it had not been ordered by any union leader.

"There were some problems in the trim shop," said Lighthall. "It seems to amount to a number of people being unhappy and walking out."

He said he was unsure if the protest was a result of a report of a number of unsettled grievances.

NO COMMENT

Plant officials would not immediately comment on the situation.

A continuation of the walkout could, however, result in a shutdown of the Pontiac Motor Division Plant.

A GM spokesman said there normally was only a four to five hour supply of bodies on hand at the plant.

"There's no backing to speak of because there is no place to store them," he said.

An Editorial

Pontiac's City Commission has wisely approved the Taubman plan for downtown development.

The main outline has been under discussion with City Commissioners and downtown leaders for nearly a year, in spite of the erroneous assertion at Tuesday's meeting that it arose recently and has only been considered for a short time. Our blighted downtown area needs rehabilitation as soon as possible.

Let's start now. Further delay is a travesty.

The University of Detroit design encompasses the whole city and is much more comprehensive but the enormous cost includes no means of raising the money. In any event, some features of this can be incorporated in a later venture following the downtown requirements of the Taubman plan which was tailored to fit the pressing needs of the moment.

The U. of D. idea embraces a magnificent view of the World of Tomorrow and it's certain that "Tomorrow" will be with us, but today's problems deserve first consideration.

Pontiac has frequently been accused of dragging her feet in downtown rehabilitation. Many plans for piecemeal buildings have been considered and studied. They possessed merit. But the Taubman plan embraced the whole affected area in one great package and thus seemed worth the delays that have ensued. Meetings were held on this matter nearly a year ago and the matter has progressed definitely but slowly ever since.

Thousands of details were faced and they haven't all been solved yet, but the matter is substantially "in hand." The Commission faced the necessity of accepting this plan or the U. of D., and the Taubman idea appears more workable at the outset. The most worthwhile features of the U. of D. plan can be considered when the downtown job is well under way.

UAW-CIO's Kenneth Morris injected the matter of housing into the picture Tuesday evening at great length. The Press accepts his statements of dire need and absolute necessity without question. Mr. Morris volunteered definite help and financial assistance from his union and both are heartily welcomed by the community at large.

Housing shouldn't wait for downtown action but should go along concurrently. In fact, even greater haste may be possible in facing the housing situation. The Press strongly supports recognition of this problem and urges a strong committee to dive into it pronto. Pontiac Motor Division is expanding while General Motors Truck definitely moves onward and upward.

Action is needed NOW.

Let's accept the union offer and back it in every way possible.

Any help that can accrue from the U. of D. plan in regard to this housing should be embraced promptly. Further, Congressman Billie Farnum could be included in the over-all picture for assistance in Federal funds.

"Time marches on." It marches swiftly. We cannot lag behind.

Downtown rehabilitation and the whole housing situation demand immediate attention and action. Those that espouse the cause of further delays, fumbling and reconsiderations are dragging their feet in an emergent hour.

To summarize, The Press believes the Taubman plan should be launched as soon as possible; and we realize that even then we face exasperating delays. Precisely the same holds true for housing.

Let's start our drives NOW.

New Routine on Permit Fee

HONG KONG (UPI) — A new burst of anti-Western Red Guard activity swept south China as Peking made final preparations today for Saturday's celebrations of 17 years of Communist rule. Reports said Chinese with relatives in the United States and Canada were the main targets.

As the Chinese capital geared itself for a massive rally and demonstration in Peking's "Gate of Heavenly Peace," reports reaching here told of the new turn in the teen-age Red Guard campaign that has led to at least 100 suicides.

The Hong Kong newspaper Tin Tin Yat Po said that Red Guard youths, the vanguard of Mao Tse-tung's "cultural revolution" purges, were carrying out rampage of persecution against Chinese with relatives in the United States and Canada.

The people have been "subjected to all kinds of humiliation," made to stand before kangaroo courts and often roughed up, the newspaper said in an article based on letters received from the mainland by Hong Kong residents.

The suicides occurred among the residents of Toishan, 65 miles southwest of Canton. Most of those who killed themselves were Chinese with relatives abroad, the newspaper said.

BUILDINGS REPAINTED
The official Communist New China News Agency (NCNA), meanwhile, reported that buildings on Peking's main square were being repainted and huge new portraits of Mao, Marx, Engels, Lenin, Stalin and Sun Yat-sen dominated the square.

Millions of placards bearing Mao's image are being produced and plastered all over the city by Red Guard units, NCNA said.

The Red Guards have even prepared a special, giant oil painting of Mao which will be carried at the head of a massive parade Saturday, the agency said.

"The young hosts advance to welcome their comrades in-arm as the trains pull into the station, beating drums, singing songs and waving the red-covered books of quotations from Chairman Mao," the agency said.

Peking radio reported today that Mao was in good health. The broadcast quoted Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi as telling a group of overseas Chinese business men in Peking that "our great leader chairman Mao Tse-tung and his intimate fellow-soldier Lin Biao are very healthy."

State to Spy on Motorists

LANSING (AP) — Electronic gimmicks installed by the State Highway Department will study auto movements on freeway ramps.

The department installed Wednesday the first of 22 "ramp loop detectors." It went on the northbound exit of 194 to US 27 near Marshall.

All cars on the ramp will be counted, the department said, but those entering the freeway down the exit ramp — if any can be distinguished by the detector.

The department is trying to find out how many drivers end up going the wrong way on Michigan's freeways as the first step toward finding out how to prevent it.

Brains and Emotions Have Very Important Jobs

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The experience I am going to use to try to illustrate the difference between brain knowledge and the supreme kind — emotional knowledge — belongs to a woman I know who is under psychoanalytic treatment.

As a child, she had a very disappointed time. Because her father had deserted her mother, her mother had to send her away to school at seven in order to work and support her.

At 18 she married an alcoholic who could not keep his promises to stop drinking during their 25 years of marriage. After his death, she knew herself to be a disappointed woman but where this knowledge ended was in her brain.

Several weeks ago, her overworked physician-employer took a vacation. Before leaving, he told her to refer any patients' calls to a pinch-hitting colleague instead of divulging his vacation phone number.

But one afternoon, in response to an hysterical patient's pleas and threats, she gave him her employer's number.

Disturbed, frightened by her compliance with the patient's demand, she reported her feelings to her psychoanalyst. He said: "It is very hard for you to impose disappointment on anyone, isn't it? I wonder why."

That did it. In a flood of tears, in a great swell of that supreme knowledge — the emotional kind — she knew why she'd given her employer's phone number to the hysterical patient.

The brain knowledge of herself as a disappointed person broke free of its confines in her head and took all of her in — her heart, her blood, her instincts, her memories — so that she knew herself to be a disappointed person in a totally new and different way.

She had acquired emotional knowledge of herself. She knew that she'd not been able to inflict disappointment on the hysterical patient because of her own disappointments had been so bitter, so pointed.

It is Sigmund Freud's great contribution that he discovered the difference between brain knowledge and emotional knowledge.

In its way, it's just darling of this country's education hierarchy to want to give children emotional knowledge of everything they read about. It is also impractical.

We'd all be dead if we all had to experience everything we read about. Our nervous systems just couldn't stand it.

Brain knowledge is our protection against too much emotional knowledge. Which is why youngsters have to learn to read by that disgusting thing — brain knowledge.

Temperature of Comet Is Measured

By Science Service
CHICAGO — A comet's temperature has been taken for the first time. It heated up from 700 degrees F. when it was 45 million miles from the sun to 1,200 degrees when some 20 million miles from the sun.

As Comet Ikeya-Seki sped away from the sun, it cooled down to the same temperatures at the two distances. When the comet was within 20 million miles of the sun, solar radiation drowned out the infrared signals on which the temperature measurements were based. Its energy was too faint to be detected when it was more than 45 million miles from the sun.

Eric E. Becklin and James A. Westphal of California Institute of Technology made the infrared observations for 19 days starting Oct. 14, 1965, using the 24-inch telescope at Mt. Wilson Observatory, operated jointly by Caltech and Carnegie Institution of Washington.

Details on the infrared studies which were supported by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, are reported here in the Astrophysical Journal, published by the American Astronomical Society.

"The steady increase and decrease in temperature with distance from the sun strongly suggests that the temperature of the comet was entirely dependent upon the sun," Mr. Westphal said. "So does the fact that the nucleus, or head, and the tail had the same temperatures."

The observations, he noted, make it difficult to believe that comets are composed mainly of chunks of ice and dust, as some astronomers have suggested. However, there could have been a small amount of ice to "glue" the nucleus together.

Instead of a significant amount of dirt and gravel, the comet evidently consisted of large amounts of metallic material.

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is coming to grips anew with what just about everybody agrees is the "crisis of American cities."

The House is expected to take up next week the Johnson administration's "demonstration cities" bill, already passed by the Senate.

This is a new, experimental, coordinated approach to a long list of city ills, including housing blight, poverty, lack of education, shortage of skills, poor health, halting transportation.

Over the years, as the farm population dwindled and cities

grew explosively, the federal government has devoted much attention and money to their problems. Some 200 federal programs aimed to help them in existence.

UNCOORDINATED

But these are largely uncoordinated, one hand is not always sure what the other is doing. The new legislation aims at a teamwork effort to help cities raise the quality of life in whole neighborhoods, especially hard core slums. The idea is to reverse decay, not only of buildings but of people.

The bill would authorize $900 million — $400 million for the fiscal year beginning July 1,

1967, and $500 million for the succeeding fiscal year. President Johnson originally asked for a five-year program costing $2.3 billion. But congressional committees decided on two years, after which they presumably would take a new look to decide how the experiment was panning out.

Since the bill sets no minimum

Piggins' Jury Records Sought

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne County's new one-man grand jury asked the Supreme Court Wednesday for access to the full records of the grand jury's immediate predecessor.

The requesting petition contended that release of the records to the new grand jury would violate neither the letter nor the spirit of Michigan's grand jury law.

The law forbids the utterance, publication or disclosure in any other way of testimony given to a grand jury.

JUDGE PIGGINS

Judge Bowles' grand jury is successor to the one-man grand jury of his colleague, Judge Edward S. Piggins. The Piggins grand jury expired in August after returning numerous indictments against police officers and others on various charges.

The petition to the court said the request was reasonable in order to save time and money.

The petitioners, attorneys Edward P. Frolich and William M. Eilman and Prof. B. J. George Jr. of the University of Michigan Law School, said if the request were denied, Judge Bowles would have to recall all the Piggins grand jury witnesses to determine if they have information useful to the new grand jury.

Catalysts are substances which, when added to certain raw materials, set off the reaction and also enable reactions to take place that would otherwise be impractical or difficult.

um or maximum for grants to individual communities, there's no way to tell how many cities or towns might be helped under funds appropriated for a fiscal year.

How would the program work?

CREATIVE PROPOSAL

First, a city would be expected to come up with an acceptable, creative proposal to use existing federal programs in a coordinated attack on the ills of a neighborhood — in smaller cities it might be the entire slum or slums.

These existing federal programs cost the cities, and, in some cases, the states, money, because many of them are on a matching basis. But under the new legislation, the federal government could make a supplemental grant amounting to 80 percent of the city-state share.

Robert C. Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development, emphasizes the program would be available to little cities as well as big ones.

In explaining the program, the department cites several examples, including a hypothetical city of 10,000 population.

"It might be a city out in the countryside — a pocket of poverty and misery where families, long resident in the area, had been left in the backwash of national growth and prosperity," the department says.

Smog Decried by Astronomer

Stargazing Affected by Haze, Bright Lights

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Bright lights and dirty air are ruining star-gazing, an astronomer says.

Increasing air pollution is now becoming one of the astronomer's greatest burdens, says Prof. Otten C. Mohler, chairman of the University of Michigan astronomy department.

"Air pollution is no longer merely an earthly problem," says the professor. "It is affecting our observations of the stars."

Mohler explained that there is a growing haze in the atmosphere. Coupled with greatly increased night lighting, the haze already has made observations of faint heavenly bodies impossible with optical telescopes situated near big cities.

DRIVING IN FOG

It's like switching on your car's bright lights when driving through dense fog, he said.

"Smoke and haze first began to interfere with observations 40 years ago," Prof. Mohler said. "But the tremendous industrial growth of recent years is greatly increasing the difficulty."

New MSU School Opens Doors to 26

EAST LANSING (AP) — Healing the sick requires skilled personal involvement, which "typically... has been left to chance," says the dean of a brand-new medical school.

Dr. Andrew Hunt told the first 26 students at Michigan State University's new College of Human Medicine: "It is our intent not to leave it to chance but to consider this a part of basic educational process."

Classes start today in the two-year medical school, from which graduates must transfer to other schools to complete training for a medical doctor degree. MSU already is seeking permission to expand to a degree-granting program.

Dr. Lester Evans, a visiting professor in MSU's medical school, told the students:

"Since our scientific technology does not help us solve all our patient's problems, we should not sign off those we can't handle or those in which we are not interested as imaginary, emotional or even nonexistent."

"PAIN IS PAIN"

"A pain is a pain whether a physical or other identifiable cause is found to explain it," Dr. Evans said.

Dr. Evans suggested that starting new medical schools can be better than expanding existing ones.

"I believe there is a need for new schools, if for no other reason than to get a fresh start," he said.

Wants Detroit Free Rent Belief to Buy Houses Not the Czech Way

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh is proposing that Detroit use taxpayers' money to buy houses and rent them to families displaced by urban renewal projects.

Cavanagh told key department heads today that some of his plan, scheduled to be brought before the city council this week.

He is proposing that the city buy 30 to 50 large houses, each for $13,000 or less, and rent them for $40 to $75 a month to "large families who face emergency situations."

Officers Ticketed

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's new meter maids are impartial. City councilman William G. Rogell said he had been told by police officers that one of the meter maids tickled a souped car in a no-parking zone while the officers were answering a call.

VIENNA (UPI) — A Communist radio broadcast has warned Czechoslovakian citizens that living in a worker's paradise does not mean free rent.

Radio Bratislava complained today that some persons were not paying rent because dealers repairs were not made in their apartments and confusion among "rent-collecting officers."

But the worst offenders were "those who think that since we already have communism, it is simply not necessary to pay for housing."

The broadcast warned that if "persuasion" failed to open the wallets of this third group, their electricity and gas would be cut off. If they still failed to pay up, they would simply be evicted.

Hills' Barons Favored to Corral Broncos

Holly will try to cause a and Northville travels to breakdown in Bloomfield Hills finely tuned football team Friday.

But the only kicking the Broncos are expected to do will be in frustration. The Barons are heavy favorites to take the measure of twice beaten Holly in the 3:30 p.m. Wayne-Oakland League game at Bloomfield Hills.

In action Friday night, Milford goes to West Bloomfield, Clarenceville is at Clarkston ville. Offensively, the team has been handicapped by injuries.

The fanning of Dick Kraatz and the passing of Bob Calhoun gives Bloomfield a potent 1-2 punch on offense. Oak Park and Clarkston failed to move on the ground against the Barons.

The only problem that has developed is close to 200 yards in penalties assessed against the Barons.

Clarkston's main offensive threat—Dan Fife's passing—received a setback against the Barons when the Wolves' No. 1 receiver Tom Allen was helped from the field.

He may not be able to play against Clarenceville. The Trojans could be a sleeper this season. Long the football doormat of the league, the Trojans shocked Milford last week.

Preseason reports indicated that Clarenceville could be a surprise eleven.

Milford will try to rebound against the hard-nosed Lakers who are gaining experience with each outing and should be tough before the season is over providing injuries don't knock out key players.

West Bloomfield has racked up three touchdowns in each of its two games, but the defense isn't one of the strong points.

Groves Opens League Play at John Glenn

Maples Play Winless Hazel Park; Title Sought by Warriors

The beginning of league play finds Birmingham Seaholm and Birmingham Groves gridders anticipating fine seasons; while Brother Rice may be anticipating its first football title.

Seaholm has won two straight and will enter the Southeastern Michigan Association race at winless Hazel Park Friday night.

The Maples have the potential to develop into a SEMA contender if they can add to their momentum. They have an excellent speedster halfback in Chris Charlton, and the passing attack has also looked good this season.

Defending champion Royal Oak Dondero will visit Berkeley in its opener and both teams are still seeking win No. 1 Southfield (2-0) hopes for a quick SEMA start against surprisingly winless Ferndale.

ON ROAD

Groves lost to Seaholm in its opener, then held off a determined rally by Cranbrook to win its second start. Now the Falcons must visit Wayne John Glenn for Friday's Northwest Suburban AA League debut.

They haven't shown enough defense to merit title consideration, yet, but the Falcons conceivably could develop enough to be troublesome in the race.

Rep. Celler Sets Hearing on Grid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said Wednesday he would hold hearings Oct. 12 on legislation dealing with the proposed merger of the National and American Football Leagues.

With Congress driving for an Oct. 15 adjournment, the late hearing date would make final Congressional action difficult.

Celler, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and its antitrust subcommittee, has said he wants to study fully a Senate-passed bill that would exempt the merger from the antitrust laws.

The Senate passed the bill without hearings or debate and Celler said he wants to make sure Congress "isn't buying a pig in a poke."

He said he would call officials of the leagues and representatives from the Justice Department to testify at the hearings.

KC's Quarterback Takes Grid Honor

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Len Dawson, veteran Kansas City quarterback, is the Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week in the American Football League for his five-touchdown game against Boston.

Dawson hit 20 of 32 passes for 291 yards. Was it his best game?

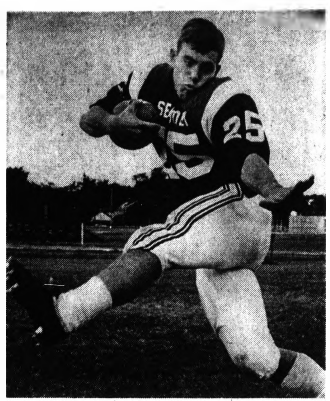

"I don't go by that," he said. "It's whether you win or lose."

The unbeaten Chiefs won 42-24. They are going for No. 4 this Sunday in their home opener against Buffalo.

"Dawson took over the AFL passing lead with his big game in Boston. He is 31 years old and a veteran of 10 years in pro football."

Fearless Forecaster Picks Upset of MSU

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

The Original Drawback

Egad, friends, pigskin prognostication is a perilous profession indeed. There was, for instance, great consternation among my staff last Saturday when downtrodden Ohio U., winless since 1965, walloped Boston College. And Oregon

State bounced back from a humiliating 41-0 defeat to trounce classy Iowa, 17-3!

Undaunted by such amazing form reversals, your Fearless Forecaster has prepared a flawless card for you this week.

The Hoople System sees most of the contests going according to the coaches' game plans, with the favored eleven finishing on top, the major exception being the Illinois-Michigan State meeting.

The Fighting Illini, who have shown improvement every weekend, will prevail over the visiting Spartans, 28-22, in a torrid struggle — har-rumph!

Britons Protest Role in Viet

LONDON (AP) — More than 300 demonstrators marched to the headquarters of Britain's governing Labor party Wednesday night, charging British complicity in the Viet Nam war.

They chanted "Yankee murderers" and "Out with Wilson" and carried banners reading "Viet Nam for the Vietnamese" and "Wilson, stop backing the aggressor."

There's One, Maybe Two

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A woman on a telephone the Humane Society of St. Louis said a boar constrictor was resting on the beams in the basement of a building she owned.

Jack Plummer and a coworker, Dan Ombus, looked at each other rather skeptically when set out for the designated site.

Sure enough, there was a 5-foot boar constrictor in the basement. The reptile was removed by the two men. The building owner, Mrs. Alice Boom, explained:

"The people who used to run a nightclub here had a couple of boar constrictors in a kind of African setting. I guess they kept them in a cage behind the bar to amuse the customers who hadn't seen large snakes before. The snakes disappeared months ago. Except one, I guess."

Litterbugs Are Being Caught

NEW YORK (AP) — The danger of arrest is an increasing hazard for litterbugs.

Police throughout the nation are making more arrests than ever before for littering, and courts are handing down more convictions and levying stiffer fines.

A sampling of states by Keep America Beautiful, the national organization, reveals the following:

In Wisconsin last year, 335 people were arrested for littering lake shores and ice on the lakes.

New York City's Sanitation Department issued 61,923 summonses for littering, and collected more than a quarter of a million dollars in fines.

MAINE ARRESTS

The state police in Maine arrested 113 litterbugs and got 111 convictions. Fines ran up to $100.

The Texas highway patrol filed 565 charges against motorists for throwing trash on highways, and obtained 530 convictions. The highway patrol also issued some 2,000 warnings.

Vital Pass Good for a Touchdown

SALINA, Kan. (AP) — Dan Zook is director of the Salina Recreation Department, and he didn't fumble this vital pass when it came his way.

As he waited to cross an intersection, a car swung around the corner with a back door open. Sitting in the back seat was a small boy, in danger of falling out.

Zook waved his arms at the mother, who was driving, but couldn't attract her attention, and the youngster tumbled into Zook's open arms.

It was a touchdown catch. Neither Zook nor the boy was hurt.

County Unit Hears Charge

'Poverty War Forgets Latins'

Latin Americans are the "forgotten minority" in Oakland County's war on poverty, a leader of the Pontiac Latin community charged yesterday.

Speaking at a meeting of the County Commission on Economic Opportunity, Tom Chavez told fellow commissioners that many complaints on poor service from the antipoverty operation have been made by Mexicans and Puerto Ricans.

"I'm all for the war on poverty," Chavez said, "but I want more help for the needs of the small minority, the Latin Americans."

Chavez, who is president of the Latin Americans United for Political Action of Pontiac, cited employment help as a major need.

He said the antipoverty organization doesn't have its personnel properly coordinated.

SOUGHT INTERVIEW

"One day I tried to have some Latin Americans interviewed for possible jobs but I couldn't find the person responsible for this," Chavez said.

"I ended up going directly to the top man, Mr. (James M.) McNeely, and he was kind enough to do the interviews himself."

Chavez pointed out that the Latin Americans have been an isolated group who avoid sit-ins and demonstrations.

"But, I'm telling you today," Chavez said, "that the Spanish-American community is beginning to complain."

TOM CHAVEZ

Office of Economic Opportunity in Chicago.

It requests $1,255,977 in federal funds and specifies that $375,599 will be provided locally for the 1967 programs.

SALARIES, WAGES

More than half of the proposed general operation cost for 1967 will be in salaries and wages. This totals $893,487.

A total of $798,255 is budgeted for salaries of the 131 full time staff employees.

Hourly rated workers are budgeted for $85,222.

During the current year federal funding of $1.7 million was approved for Oakland County and the actual allocation was $811,000.

McNeely said that specific salaries will be set by the county commission when the regional office rules on the proposed 1967 budget.

The trio allegedly robbed at gunpoint a service station attendant and three customers, taking about $60.

Exam Is Postponed in Barmad Slaying

Preliminary examination of a Pontiac man charged with first-degree murder was postponed today to Oct. 5.

Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCullum granted a one-week delay in the pretrial hearing for Julian H. Moore, 21, of 319 E. Wilson.

Moore is accused of the fatal shooting of a barmad at a city tavern Sept. 8. He is held without bond at the Oakland County Jail.

Noted Landmark Will Be Razed
