A front of arctic air rode gusting westerly winds into southeastern Michigan early today, plummeting temperatures to an unofficial 20 degrees below zero in northern Oakland County and to a record-breaking —8 in the city of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The cold snap was partly blamed for a four-township power blackout last night and stalled hundreds of county residents struggling to get to work this morning.

The power failure, struck some 5,000 customers of the Detroit Edison Co.

It cut electricity for two hours to residents of Brandon and Groveland townships and for over an hour to Independence and Springfield townships.

★ ★ ★

Consumers Power Co. officials said the mass restoration of power after the breakdown resulted in furnace problems in the Clarkston area because of a sudden reduction in gas pressure.

Schools and municipal departments throughout the county, however, reported normal operation despite the plunging temperatures.

In many cases, county schools now on semester breaks were attended only by teachers coming in to check examinations and make first-semester reports.

The cold hit an unofficial county low of —20 at Leonard and shrunk the mercury to these other reported readings:

TOMORROW

Bitter cold air sweeping in from the Arctic area bringing subzero temperatures last night will continue tonight with lows of 5 below to 8 above.

The weatherman predicts highs of zero to 8 above tomorrow. Mostly fair and continued very cold with a chance of snow flurries is Sunday's forecast.

West to northwesterly winds at 10 to 20 miles per hour will continue until late today.

Fugitive Denies Slaying Boy, 2

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Alberto Sanchez, wanted by Toledo, Ohio police in the death of Eddie (Pepito) Montalvo, 2, has denied the slaying, Bexar County Deputy Sheriff Eddie Vela said yesterday.

Sanchez, 22, former boyfriend of the child's mother Carolina Montalvo, made the statement after he surrendered to police here, Vela said.

The deputy said Sanchez told him he wanted to return to Toledo where he has been charged with second-degree murder by Lucas County Prosecuting Attorney Harry Friberg.

"I didn't kill Pepito," the deputy sheriff quoted Sanchez as saying.

Sanchez waived extradition when arraigned before State District Judge Archie Brown. Justice of the Peace A. A. Semaan on charges of being a fugitive from justice.

$10,000 BOND

Semaan placed him in the Bexar County Jail under $10,000 bond.

Sheriff's Lt. Alfred Carreon said officers had kept in close touch during the search with an uncle of Sanchez living in San Antonio.

Sanchez arrived in San Antonio earlier this week to visit relatives, who persuaded him to surrender, Carreon said.

★ ★ ★

In Toledo, Ohio, meanwhile, the Lucas County Grand Jury heard evidence in the case. There was no indication when the jury would report.

Sanchez and the boy's mother had been living for a time at Sanchez' mother's home in Toledo when, police charge, Eddie was beaten to death.

Fire Hits Plant in Ortonville

Parts Firm Damage Is Up to $50,000

Fire fighters from five departments battled a blaze this morning that caused an estimated $40,000 to $50,000 damage to an Ortonville auto parts manufacturing plant.

Brandon Township Fire Chief William E. Buckingham said

that the American Water Locks building at M15 and Mill was totally destroyed.

The blaze in the unoccupied concrete block building was discovered at 7:02 a.m. by an attendant at a service station across the street. Cause of the fire is undetermined.

Hampered by subzero temperatures, firemen from Clarkston, Goodrich, Hadley and Oxford joined the Brandon Township department in the fire fighting effort. No firemen were injured.

★ ★ ★

Buckingham said that water was transported in tankers from Keasley Creek, about a quarter mile from the burning one-story, 50-by-120-foot building.

Auto Safety Plans Backed

Four Top Car Execs Oppose U. S. Control

LANSING (AP)—The nation's four top auto executives endorsed a broad range of traffic safety proposals last night but opposed government control of vehicle design.

The four car company presidents and leaders of Michigan government, including Gov. George Romney, Secretary of State James Hare and legislators, met at a dinner designed to add strength to campaigns for traffic safety legislation.

Mandatory vehicle inspection, improved driver education, standarized driver licensing and stricter law enforcement all won strong endorsement.

But James M. Roche, president of General Motors Corp., warned against "the tendency of some persons to urge new approaches to the problem which neither fact nor logic supports."

"It is fashionable in certain quarters to lay most of the blame on the automobile," he said. "Nothing is more unrealistic."

He said automakers are ready to support traffic safety measures but said they do not presume to tell the state what is needed.

DESIGNS IDEAS

Hours before he spoke, Sen. Roger Craig, D-Dearborn, accused manufacturers of failing to deal adequately with auto safety. He proposed numerous design standards.

Roy Abernethy, president of American Motors Corp. and the Automobile Manufacturers Association, delared, however, that no consumer product "is more carefully engineered, re-

4,000 Attend 6 Sessions of Press Cooking School

Some 4,000 Pontiac area women attended the six sessions of The Pontiac Press cooking school which ended last night at Pontiac Central High School.

With prizes donated by area merchants and daily food demonstrations presented by home economists from Consumers Power Co., the school was a Pontiac production all the way through.

Winner of the 18-foot refrigerator was Mrs. Ronald St. Amant, 2077 Opdyke. Range winners were Mrs. Ralph Matney, 681 Brown, Orion Township, and Mrs. William F. McCracken, 3046 Portman, Keego Harbor.

Mrs. Robert Patton, 1190 Bangor, won an automatic washer and Mrs. D. G. Rocosky, 1110 Tee Cee, a dryer.

★ ★ ★

A portable television set was won by Mrs. Norman Russell, 111 Cristy. Mrs. Walter Peters, 120 N. Roselawn, won a gas incinerator.

Sewing machines went to Mrs. Bessie Whitehorn, 3300 Elizabeth Lake, Mrs. Richard Lee, 229 E. Walton and Mrs. Loaneita Bonham, 80 N. Roselawn.

Mrs. Paul Witte, 4235 Welland, West Bloomfield Township, and Mrs. Richard Rudlaff, 140 E. Howard, received range hoods.

Diamond pendants were prizes for Mrs. Elgin Green, 1100 Berkley; Mrs. James Wesley, 340 Harvey Lake, Highland Township; and Mrs. Stephen Kyle, 3080 Royal, Commerce Township.

Cold Wave Gives State the Shivers

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan shivered through its worst cold spell of the winter today with the U. S. Weather Bureau predicting things will get worse before they get better.

Thermometers throughout the state plunged below the zero mark with the Newaygo County community of Grant recording the coldest reading — 24 degrees below zero.

Escanaba reported a reading of 17 below, Lansing registered minus 12, Detroit recorded minus 5, and Grand Rapids reported a temperature of minus 8 at 2 a.m., 3 degrees lower than the old record for the date set in 1925.

Many western Michigan points reported record cold readings, and drifted side roads led to school closings in many west Michigan areas.

The Grand Haven channel to Lake Michigan was blocked solid with slush ice and Benton Harbor was told to expect six inches of snow today.

★ ★ ★

In Detroit, the Automobile Club of Michigan reported a demand for tow truck services greater than during last February's blizzard.

MANY CALLS

Robert Smith, the club's emergency road service manager, said the club received almost 1,900 assistance requests in the first eight hours after midnight.

The club had only 659 requests in the same time span on the first day of the Feb. 25, 1965, blizzard, he said.

The bitter cold may have helped save seven lives in a Lowell house fire.

★ ★ ★

Kent County sheriff's deputies reported Roy De Witt got up at 2:30 a.m. to warm up his car and smelled smoke. He aroused six others in the house and led them to safety before flames destroyed the dwelling.

SCHOOLS CLOSE

Public schools were reported closed in Grand Haven, Spring Lake, Allendale, Portland, Saugatuck, Hudsonville, Hart, Pentwater and Shelby.

Muskegon reported seven inches of new snow for a total of 14 inches on the ground.

Nationally, the coldest weather of the winter spread over much of the nation today and pressed hard freeze conditions as far south as northern Florida.

★ ★ ★

The bitter cold spread zero temperatures over the heavy snow cover of part of the Middle Atlantic area where up to 15 inches of snow accumulated Wednesday and early yesterday from a storm which had passed out over the North Atlantic.

MERCURY DROPS

It dropped the mercury to 37 below zero at International Falls, Minn., and a record -14 at Milwaukee where the former low mark for the date was set at -13 in 1963. Minneapolis and St. Paul had -22 in the early hours of the day, and Chicago's official low was -7 at 2 a.m., and Detroit had -3.

Dead are Robert D. Aten, 20, of 3935 Horton, Bloomfield Township; and David Neitzel, 14, of Royal Oak.

In critical condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with skull fractures and internal injuries is Christopher Ballmer, 13, of Royal Oak.

The car, driven by Aten, started swerving and went into a sidespin on snow-blown West Long Lake Road, according to two other drivers involved in the accident, near the intersection of Pembroke.

Mrs. Gene F. Riegler, 35, of 4145 Normanwood, West Bloomfield Township, said she saw Aten's car coming at her sideways and swerved her car to the right just in time to avoid a head-on collision.

HIT REAR OF CAR

Aten's car hit the rear of Mrs. Riegler's car and then skidded across the road before hitting the tree and coming to rest in an embankment, Bloomfield Hills police said.

Both victims were dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Mrs. Riegler and Robert J. Burger, 33, of Livonia, driver of the third car in the accident, were uninjured.

Star Charged as Shoplifter

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actress Hedy Lamarr, whose six husbands included two millionaires, was arrested last night for shoplifting at a department store.

Police said she had checks totalling $14,000 in her possession when she was stopped by a female store detective in the parking lot of the May Co. and accused of taking $86 worth of clothes and cosmetics.

The booty, police said, ranged from a $40 coat to a $2 string of beads and included a slinky pair of bikini panties.

The 51-year-old brunette, who who parlayed her incredible beauty into film stardom in the 1940s and 1950s, was booked on a petty theft charge and held in jail for about four hours before her attorney posted $550 bail early today.

The seductive Viennese-born actress, who began her film career as a teen-ager with a nude sequence in the Czech movie "Ecstacy," was ordered to appear at a municipal court hearing on the misdemeanor charge next Wednesday.

OFFERED TO PAY

The store detective, identified by police as Helen McGarry, said Miss Lamarr offered to pay for the merchandise after she was stopped. The detective refused and police were called.

"Other stores have let me pay," the detective quoted Miss Lamarr as saying.

Miss McGarry told police she watched Miss Lamarr for about 45 minutes while she allegedly put eight items in her handbag and then transferred them into a shopping bag before leaving the store.

Both the actress and her attorney said the incident was "a misunderstanding."

Building Collapse Leaves 12 Injured

NEW YORK (AP) — Three upper floors of an 103-year-old factory building on lower Broadway collapsed Thursday, injuring 12 persons.

Injured were five workers trapped in the wreckage, six others hurt scrambling for safety and a policeman struck by debris during rescue operations.

The fifth floor apparently collapsed because it was overloaded, officials said, and the rubble plunged through the fourth and third floors.

Viet Fighting Is Heaviest Since Truce

LBJ Holds Another Meeting on Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has held another, unannounced meeting with key national security advisers to consider ending the lull in the bombing of North Viet Nam targets — a pause he concedes has failed to produce brighter hopes for peace.

Although it was said no decision was reached, all evidence pointed toward an early resumption of air strikes against North Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Johnson met Thursday night with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Director William F. Raborn of the Central Intelligence Agency and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

It was one of a series of such top-level sessions.

HAS NO DOUBT

The President, it was learned on high authority, has no doubt in his own mind that the 36-day bombing lull has failed to bring any hopeful response from Hanoi.

Moreover, sources said the pause already has lasted much longer than was urged initially by foreign leaders who suggested to Johnson that a temporary halt of air strikes might prompt Hanoi to try substituting negotiations for bloodshed.

It was learned, too, that Johnson, in considering renewed bombing, has been giving greatest thought to timing and whether to escalate air operations against the North.

At the moment, it was understood, the President's principal concern at home was with the more aggressive "hawks" rather than with such influential figures as Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

WANT CONTINUATION

Both Mansfield and Fulbright have recommended a continuation of the pause. Some "hawks" want a major step-up in bombing of North Viet Nam, including attacks on Hanoi and Haiphong and other moves that would increase the risk of a direct collision with Communist China.

Johnson was pictured as seeking a middle ground — determined to demonstrate the firmness of American intentions but with the minimum force required.

Cong Battling 3 Allied Drives

Copters in Operation Under Intense Fire

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong unleashed heavy small arms fire today as three allied drives pushed deeper into the Communist-held coastal plain. It appeared to be the biggest eruption of fighting since the end of the lunar New Year truce on Sunday night.

★ ★ ★

Helicopters of the U. S. 1st Cavalry (Airmobile) division came under intense fire as they landed troops north of Bong Son, a town on Route 1, lying 280 miles northeast of Saigon. Reports from the battle area spoke of repeated skirmishes. No casualties were reported yet.

★ ★ ★

Since opening Operation [illegible] three days ago, the cavalrymen have killed 37 Viet Cong and taken six prisoners, but today's action was the first major encounter with the guerrillas, a U. S. spokesman reported.

A related operation 20 miles to the south by South Korea's capital division continued to smoke out insurgents along Route 1, the country's main north-south highway which the Communists have long dominated. Korean officers reported 69 Viet Cong killed, 61 captured and 137 bunkers and caves blasted.

3RD SPEARHEAD

The U. S. Army's 101st Airborne Division, forming the third allied spearhead, also encountered heavy Viet Cong rifle, automatic weapon and mortar fire as the paratroopers advanced north of Tuy Hoa, 240 miles northeast of Saigon.

As the fighting picked up, the U.S. Embassy reported signs of slipping morale and serious manpower problems in Viet Cong ranks. An embassy study, based on questioning of more than 500 Communist prisoners and a number of refugees from Viet Cong areas, said the guerrillas are relying almost entirely on conscription to fill their ranks.

★ ★ ★

The report attributed the Reds' problems to a swing of popular sentiment away from the Viet Cong in the many villages and hamlets in which they hold sway.

The report concluded:

—Intensified air raids on artillery shelling were "frightening and effective" and played a major factor in affecting morale. The saturation raids by U.S. Air Force B52s especially instilled fear in the Communist troops.

WAR STALMATED

—Many Viet Cong felt the war was stalemated and the individual Red soldier no longer was too optimistic about his chances of survival.

★ ★ ★

—The guerrillas are losing their support in the villages by imposing heavy taxes and drafting men and boys, some as young as 15 years.

Travelogue to Feature 'Majestic Switzerland'

BIRMINGHAM — Picturesque Switzerland will be the subject of next week's travelogue at the Community House.

The program featuring Ken Richter's all-color film is scheduled for 8 p.m. Feb. 4 and 5.

"Majestic Switzerland" is the title of Richter's new film.

The theme is the successful union of three greatly different peoples — the German, French and Italian — in a confederation which has served them for many centuries.

★ ★ ★

IN HOLLYWOOD

He worked at major motion picture studios in Hollywood for five years.

To make his interpretative films, Richter has lived with head-hunters in Ecuador and nomad Berbers in the Sahara.

He has concentrated his travels in Europe, Africa and Middle East and has conducted pictorial interviews with such notables as Queen Elizabeth, the Shah of Iran, Chancellor Adenauer and President Tito.

★ ★ ★

Preceding the film, a dinner featuring authentic Swiss food will be served. Reservations for the 6 p.m. dinner should be made by Thursday.

No reservations for the film are necessary, although tickets can be purchased in advance as well as at the door.

Joseph Ludack, 31381 E. Rutland, Beverly Hills, recently was installed as president of the Kiwanis Club of Birmingham.

Other 1966 officers include J. Hector Nimmo, first vice president; Robert W. Montgomery, second vice president; Ralph R. Watts Jr., treasurer; and Grant Barber, secretary.

High school juniors interested in entering the U.S. Air Force Academy upon graduation in 1967 have been advised to prepare plans for application now.

Birmingham - Bloomfield area liaison officers said the head start is necessary due to the large number of applications received each year.

They advised students to contact school counselors or Lt. Col. G. K. Anderson, 6635 Halyard, Bloomfield Township, or Lt. Col. Delmer C. Gowing Jr., 1106 Wakefield, Birmingham.

Urge Changes in Olympic Site

LONDON (AP)—Britain's International Athletes' Club demanded Friday that all events of more than 800 meters in the 1968 Olympics be switched from Mexico City.

This follows a report by British medical experts that athletes will need a long spell of acclimatization before competing in the high altitude of the Mexican capital.

The IAC declared that Mexico City was chosen as the site for the Olympics without any consultation with athletes or coaches.

The IAC blast followed a study of the report by medical experts of the British Olympic Association (BOA), who recently visited Mexico City and carried out tests in the high altitude.

The statement condemned what it called "the manner in which the International Olympic Committee IOC autocratically" selected Mexico City.

John Disley, Britain's former Olympic steeplechaser who is chairman of the IAC, said:

"The position is impossible for British and most European athletes from both the point of view of the time needed and for training."

Terms Needed on Petitions

Candidates for probate and circuit court judgeships must specify in their nominating petitions the length of term sought, the Oakland County Election Commission ruled yesterday.

Terms of six and eight years are at stake in the probate court election and of six, eight and 10 years in the Circuit Court race.

County Clerk-Register John D. Murphy, one of the three election commission members, said that only petitions specifying length of term can be accepted.

No petitions have been filed yet, Murphy said.

ONE PER CENT

This represents 1 per cent of the total vote for secretary of state in the last general election.

Judgeship candidates in next November's election will be nominated in the Aug. 2 primary.

Citizens Award Is Endorsed

A new award will be presented annually to a Pontiac citizen who performs an outstanding act in support of the law, law enforcement or the courts.

Endorsed by the Citizens' Committee on Youth yesterday, the $100 award hopefully will be presented for the first time June 3 when the group holds its fourth annual appreciation dinner.

The committee has engaged Michigan Sen. Philip A. Hart to speak at the affair.

Five other outstanding citizens also will be honored for their work with youth.

Local businessmen have been asked to contribute to the new award.

The recipient could be nominated for the $5,000 citizens' award presented annually by the National Council of Crime and Delinquency.

In Pontiac, the recipient will be selected by a subcommittee.

'Institution Life Good for Child'

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Michigan State University psychologist says some children may be better off if they are raised in an institution rather than in their own homes.

The observation was made by Dr. Albert Rabin, MSU professor of psychology, who compared at firsthand the personality of children brought up in Israeli Kibbutz cooperatives with children reared at home.

In Kibbutz communities, Rabin told a seminar of science writers this week, children generally are turned over to a cooperative nursery shortly after birth, with a nurse in charge of each group of four or five children.

Parents visit the child frequently, and as he grows up the child visits them — but does not live at home.

Rabin said his studies of the Kibbutz-reared child alongside the Israeli child reared in the conventional family setting showed that from the age of 10 through adolescence and then army life, those raised in the cooperative displayed higher intellectual development.

In the first year, he said, there was a slight lag on the part of the Kibbutz child.

The advantage of the cooperative system in raising children, Rabin reported, is that the natural parents can devote loving attention to the child while the nurses and teachers are responsible for handling the discipline.

"Kibbutz parents are much in the same position as grandparents in our society," he said. They just give love and affection and "they are not involved in any storm-and-stress period."

Rabin said he felt that the lessons learned from the Kibbutz communities might be applied in this country to cases where millions of dollars are being paid in aid to dependent children whose fathers have deserted the family.

"We might do better by putting this money into a program separating these children from their biological mothers," he said, adding that many of the fatherless children are living in a family which is not a family.

Budget Sum Is Anticipated

Gov. George Romney's recommended new budget appropriations for Pontiac State Hospital and Oakland Community College were about what the two institutions expected.

Dr. Donald W. Martin, medical superintendent at Pontiac State Hospital, said today that the proposal of $1,129,500 in the 1966-67 budget for capital outlay compared with $1.9 million requested by the hospital

"A year ago, we requested $2.5 million and received about $1.5 million in the current budget," Dr. Martin said.

Officials of Oakland Community College had expected an increase of the present $275 in state aid per student to $300 which was recommended in the governor's budget.

The added $25 per student would mean some $100,000 to OCC next year in added income based on an anticipated average enrollment of about 4,000.

Petitions of Candidate Filed for City Primary

Joseph Singleton, 30, of 365 S. Marshall, filed nominating petitions yesterday for the March 7 primary. He will seek the District 7 nomination for City Commission.

Singleton is vice president and branch manager of the Saunders & Wyatt Realty Co.

Area Sites Listed for Car Plates

Pontiac area motorists who have yet to buy their 1966 license plates will be able to purchase the plates at two temporary offices outside the city of Pontiac next month.

Willis M. Brewer, head of the Secretary of State's branch office at 96 E. Huron, said plates will be available Tuesday through Feb. 28 at the Waterford Township hall, 4995 Highland; and the White Lake Township hall, 7525 Highland.

Hours at the two temporary offices will be 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday.

In addition, Brewer said, evening sale of license plates will be held Jan. 31 to Feb. 2 at the Sylvan Lake City Hall, 1820 Inverness, from 6 to 9 p.m.

The deadline to have plates is midnight Feb. 28.

Supplemental Bill Includes OU Aid

Included in a $4.32-million supplemental spending bill approved by the State Senate yesterday was $500,000 to complete plans and start construction on Oakland University's $4.5-million engineering building.

The money is to be spent this year and is not a part of the $79.4-million Gov. George Romney recommended in his budget yesterday for state building in 1966-67.

Construction on the proposed engineering building is expected to begin in April. It will be located between the library and science building.

Consumers Plans Nuclear Power Plant

JACKSON (AP) — Consumers Power Co. today announced plans to build a $100 million nuclear power plant near South Haven for commercial power production.

The new plant would generate more than 700,000 kilowatts.

★ ★ ★

Consumers president James H. Campbell said the proposed facility will be "one of the largest nuclear power plants in the United States."

The plant would produce ten times the amount of power generated by Consumers' first nuclear plant located at Big Rock Point near Charlevoix, Campbell said.

START WORK

Site clearing for the new plant, to be located about five miles south of South Haven, will start this year, and the plant is scheduled to be in operation by 1970, Campbell added.

★ ★ ★

Campbell said the Charlevoix plant has "proven that a nuclear-fueled plant can be applied to our system on a large scale economically and efficiently. So it just makes good sense to use nuclear fuels as well as coal in meeting Michigan's needs for electric energy."

The Big Rock plant, opened in 1962, primarily served as a research and development facility. It started producing commerical power last December.

★ ★ ★

Campbell said when the plant goes into commercial operation it will become part of a Michigan power pool feeding energy into the interconnected systems of both Consumers Power and the Detroit Edison Co.

★ ★ ★

Campbell said that in addition to the new plant, the utility plans to spend more than $480 million during the next five years on other projects for expansion of its electric and natural gas systems.

The new plant will require about 70 new employes, he added.

The atomic power plant will be the biggest Consumer's unit in operation by 1970, he added. It will surpass by about 50,000 kilowatts Consumers' biggest conventional steam-electric facility, the James H. Campbell station near Port Sheldon, which is scheduled to be completed in 1967.

Despite Victory, Wilson Cool to New Vote

LONDON (AP) — British Laborites pressured Prime Minister Harold Wilson today to call a general election soon following the party's smashing win in a special election at Hull.

First indications from Wilson's entourage suggested that the prime minister would resist the argument that, with the political tide running in his party's favor, he might be able to bolster his slim majority in the House of Commons.

Wilson's government won a five-year mandate in the 1964 general election, but the prime minister can go to the voters at any time.

The victory of Labor candidate Kevin McNamara in Hull North Thursday night and the death of Conservative MP Dame Edith Pitt Thursday increased Wilson's majority in Commons from 2 votes to 4.

BY 5,351 VOTES

McNamara, 31, a law lecturer, defeated Conservative candidate Toby Jessel, also 31, by 5,351 votes. It was the biggest margin registered in the district by any political party in more than 15 years and was 4,170 votes more than Labor's winning margin there in the 1964 leneral election.

Wilson's stock has risen similarly in recent public opinion polls, and a corresponding shift in the vote on a national scale would give Wilson a substantial majority in Commons. But his closest confidants report he is convinced the British people have had enough politics in the past few years and wants a period of stable government.

Wilson reportedly reasons the voters might react against another election campaign with apathy or might turn against Labor for forcing another election.

The Hull victory was seen as a personal endorsement of Wilson and a slap at Edward Heath, leader of the Conservative opposition.

McNamara, who fought his campaign on Wilson's policies, polled 24,479 votes or 52.2 per cent. Jessel got 19,128 or 40.8 per cent.

The big loser was Laurie Millward, a Hull city councilor who ran for the tiny Liberal party and polled 2,945 votes. In 1964 her vote was 7,570.

Much attention was paid before the election to Richard Gott, a left-wing independent who campaigned against Wilson's support of U.S. policies in Viet Nam. There was speculation that he would siphon off enough Laborite votes to put a Conservative in, but he polled only 253 votes.

Two fringe candidates, Kelvin Woodburne and Russell Eckley, collected 68 votes between them.

LACK SUPPORT

Gott's poor showing put left-wing Labor MPs on notice that they lack electoral support for their desire to disassociate Britain from the American position in Viet Nam. Gott had predicted he would get 1,000 votes or more.

Even Conservative commentators acknowledged that the election was a dazzling triumph for Wilson. Heath immediately issued a call for unity in his party, which is divided over the Rhodesian rebellion and over economic policy.

The Conservatives were expected to have no trouble regaining the Edgbaston seat, in an exclusive area of Birmingham, which became vacant on the death of Dame Edith Pitt. She won it in 1964 by a majority of 11,759. She died from a brain hemorrhage at the age of 59.

Wilson's forces in Commons Thursday night defeated a Conservative motion to censure the government's econoic policies. The vote was 287-284 with the 10 Liberal party members siding with the Conservatives. The censure motion accused the government of failing to curb the "rapid" rise in the cost of living.

They Belong on the Street

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP) — Randolph G. Whittle, Bluefield city manager, says he had four good reasons for firing two street department employes.

Whittle said yesterday the men were operating a scraper to clear snow and:

Rammed five cars.

Hit a hedge.

Got stuck in a ditch and had to be pulled out.

Ran out of gas and abandoned the scraper on a street.

Rose Twp. to Vote Again on Rezoning

ROSE TOWNSHIP — Rezoning for a mobile home development will be considered at an election for the second time Tuesday.

Registered voters in the township are being asked whether they support the zoning change approved by the township Board 10 months ago.

Tuesday's election was scheduled after a Sept. 28 referendum vote on the matter was ruled unconstitutional.

The question involves 40 acres of property at the end of Cogshall, just south of the Holly village limit.

Bloch Brothers Corp. of Waterford Township wants to develop for mobile home sites the property it owns through Mohave Plantations, Inc.

The firm would duplicate the adjacent Holly Shores development which now contains 99 mobile homes, adding another 95 sites to the subdivision.

With considerable controversy, the Township Board in April of 1965 changed the zoning on the second parcel from industrial to mobile home classification.

Election of a new supervisor, C. Milton Nelson, in the interim has shifted the 3-2 board split on the issue in favor of the opposition to the rezoning.

AREA NEWS

★ ★ ★

After the previous board had ruled in favor of the rezoning, 209 property owners in the township signed a petition calling for a referendum election on the matter.

ZONING CHANGED

The zoning reverted back to industrial when property owners voted 193 to 127 against the use of the property as a mobile home development.

Mohave Plantations, Inc., protested the balloting in a lawsuit filed in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore in December ruled that the referendum election had been unconstitutional because it was not open to all registered voters.

Another point in the lawsuit is the claim of the developers that the only reasonable use for the property is for expansion of Holly Shores Subdivision.

NOT LOGICAL

The firm claims the parcel could not logically be used for industry.

If Tuesday's election does not give the firm a victory, it can ask Moore to decide on this second point.

Prosecutor to Discuss Crime Control

ROCHESTER — S. Jerome Bronson, Oakland County Prosecuting Attorney will speak on "Efforts to Control Crime and Juvenile Delinquency" at a dinner meeting Thursday.

The open meeting for all interested citizens will be held at 6 p.m. in the Williamsburg room at the Big Boy Restaurant on N. Main.

The present ordinance prohibits slaughtering in town.

Experts to Report on Elementary School Program

MILFORD—Educational consultants Tuesday night will present a report on their evaluation of the elementary program in the Huron Valley School System.

The experts, who have been working with the Huron Valley Citizens School Study Committee, will speak at 7:30 p.m. during the group's meeting at Lee Brooks Elementary School, 1000 Hill, White Lake Township.

The program will be preceded by a tour of the school at 7 p.m.

Consultants aiding the committee are from the University of Michigan's Bureau of School Services.

★ ★ ★

The presentation Tuesday will be the first of five in which the consultants will describe the findings of their study.

Area Home Hit by $3,000 Fire

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — Flames which broke out in the bedroom of a Highland Township home yesterday afternoon caused an estimated $3,000 damage before being extinguished.

Firemen from Highland and Milford townships fought the blaze at the residence of John McClenahan Jr. of 3204 Shirley.

McClenahan's wife discovered the fire when she returned to the house shortly after 3 p.m.

Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined.

Damages to furnishings were estimated at $1,000 and to the building at $2,000.

No injuries were reported.

State Is Training 15 for Meat Inspection

The first in a series of schools to train men for the new statewide meat inspection is being conducted by the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Livestock Disease Control Division.

In charge of training programs is Dr. Klaus H. Schwabe, federal technical adviser, who is working with Dr. Ralph Beebe, Michigan supervisor in the new mandatory meat inspection program which began Jan. 1.

Fifteen men make up the initial class. They are undergoing training under veteran inspectors in slaughtering plants now under inspection. They will receive additional technical training at Michigan State University's meats laboratory.

The training will take more than a month. It will be followed by other groups being prepared to be inspectors.

Schwabe has been loaned to the Michigan Department of Agriculture by the Meat Inspection Division of the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service to assist in developing an effective meat inspection program.

WITHOUT INSPECTION

Until adoption of the new state law, meat slaughtered and packed in Michigan for sale in this state was without inspection except where county or city ordinances required it. Meat coming to Michigan from other states had federal inspection which is required where meat is transported over state lines.

★ ★ ★

Schwabe also is arranging a training program for veterinarians who will work on the state program. A veterinary school graduate from a German university, he has had important meat inspection assignments at various points in this country.

Viet Auditors Added Amid Graft Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign aid officials are increasing the number of auditors in Viet Nam amid charges of graft and corruption in administering rapidly expanding U. S. assistance programs there.

★ ★ ★

Officials of the Agency for International Development said the number of auditors in Viet Nam has doubled in the past 12 months to 20 and that more are being sent.

Because the program is so large that it is impossible to check every operation before shipments are made, a post-audit system is being used in which sample transactions are checked. If a violation is uncovered, the officials said, importers are penalized and the South Viet Nam government is asked to pay back the loss.

★ ★ ★

Other recent measures to tighten procurement procedures include an increase in the number of Vietnamese police. AID officials said the force, which numbered 22,000 a year ago, is up to 52,000 and will be increased to 72,000 by June 30.

CHARGES MADE

Charges of black market profiteering and fund diversions were made Wednesday by Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, as the House Foreign Affairs Committee questioned Secretary of State Dean Rusk and AID Administrator David E. Bell about proposed foreign aid increases for Viet Nam.

Bell and Rusk expressed concern at the black marketing reports and asked the U. S. Embassy in Saigon to provide details.

Preliminary reports indicated that some of the profiteering by Americans has been carried out by the dependents of civilians working on construction projects for the Defense Department.

In London, William J. Mazzocco, special assistant to AID's assistant administrator for the Far East, told a news conference that corruption in Viet Nam "is not a new problem and we have been dealing with it and discussing it for some time.

Aides Assure LBJ That Peacetime Machinery Can Handle Viet Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economic advisers have assured President Johnson that the peacetime allocation machinery will suffice to give military orders priority over civilian production during the $15- billion Viet Nam buildup.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers submitted a study showing that the planned outlays for Viet Nam will have far less economic impact than outlays during the Korean War, which created some civilian shortages.

Johnson sent the council's report to Congress Thursday along with his annual economic message. The findings indicated that the White House will not seek added control powers when the Defense Production Act comes up for renewal this spring.

Although the business stimulus resulting from Pentagon spending will be felt throughout the economy, the council said, total defense outlays will claim only 7.6 per cent of national output in fiscal 1966 and 1967.

SHADE HIGHER

That is only a shade more than the 7.5 per cent in fiscal 1965. By contrast, defense spending tripled in the two years after the Korean War began in 1950, climbing from less than 5 per cent of national output to over 12 per cent in 1952.

Largely because of the vast expansion of the nation's industrial capacity since Korea, the council said, it will not be necessary to fortify the present Defense Materials System.

★ ★ ★

The DMS is the allocation program for basic metals. It has been ticking along since the Korean War, routinely assuring that defense contracts get priority over civilian orders for materials and plant capacity in case of any conflict. DMS is managed by the Commerce Department's Business and Defense Services Administration.

With industry operating at rates well below capacity, the allocation system has proceeded "without bumping private demands to any noticeable extent," the council said.

SOME EXCEPTION

It went on: "With (industry's) operating rates now higher than before, there may be some cases where the execution of civilian orders will be somewhat delayed.

"However, these will be exceptional, and will not be such as to require alteration in our present machinery for material priorities and allocations."

★ ★ ★

Neither will there be extreme demands on any individual industries, the council said, even though textile producers and some others which are getting new military orders were already operating at high rates because of consumer demand.

The estimated $6-billion increase from 1965 in defense outlays during this calendar year represents nearly 13 per cent of the anticipated $46-billion increase in gross national product, or GNP — the total dollar value of all goods and services produced.

"These outlays will exert a broad fiscal stimulus," said the council headed by Dr. Gardner Ackley.

"Indeed, because they directly and immediately add to GNP, defense purchases tend to have a somewhat larger and more rapid economic effect than a tax reduction of the same size, which must be respent before it can stimulate production."

The report estimated that 35 per cent of the rise in defense outlays this year will go for the pay and allowances of the increased number of military and civilian personnel, and 10 per cent for training, food, lodging, clothing and transportation costs of the added manpower.

Another 22 per cent represents gasoline, ammunition, ordnance and other mass-produced items. Of the rest, about 18 per cent goes into large, sophisticated weapons systems like missiles, aircraft and ships.

Minimum Speed Said Needed on Freeways

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Col. Walter E. Stone, superintendent of the Rhode Island State Police, says a minimum speed — perhaps 40 miles an hour — should be set on expressways.

Stone said several of the 80 drivers stopped during a two-hour expressway safety campaign were driving too slowly, but could be given only warnings because there is no minimum legal speed for expressways in Rhode Island.

Arsenal Is Testing Weapon of Coils

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Frankford Arsenal is testing a weapon designed to snare an adversary in coils and coils of flying, twisting wire.

About 500 feet of wire is packed into a metal canister eight inches long and three-quarters of an inch around. When fired it can hurl its wire, either a saw-tooth variety to snag skin, or a smooth variety to snare clothes, up to 150 feet.

A second model, for women to use against attackers, is also being tested. It's smaller, but carries 10,000 feet of a much finer wire. Source of the power to fire the wire was not disclosed.

LBJ Taps an Able Man for an Exacting Job

In reaching for a man to head the new Department of Housing and Urban Renewal, President JOHNSON unquestionably found the right one.

ROBERT CLIFTON WEAVER, the first Negro ever to be appointed to a Cabinet post, has been boning up for it for many a day.

The 58-year-old appointee earned three degrees at Harvard (one a doctorate in economics) before entering government service in 1933 as an aide in the Department of the Interior. Thereafter, he held a succession of Government and state posts, most of them in the housing field, along with teaching at three universities, heading the board of the NAACP in 1960, writing a couple of books on Negro problems.

Five years ago, President Kennedy appointed him director of the Housing and Home Finance Agency (HHFA), an "administrative monstrosity" comprising five major subagencies that will form the core of Housing and Renewal.

WEAVER will find his work cut out for him. Reorganization of the sputtering HHFA will be but a starter, for it will be his department which will direct the Federal Government's first comprehensive attack on the problems of metropolitan areas. It is these conglomerate masses, now holding 70 per cent of the Nation's population and slated to double by the end of the century, that spawn the predominance of social ills increasingly plaguing the Country.

★ ★ ★

But WEAVER seems of the type that thrives on challenge, and it is a fair assumption that he will prove equal to this one. We wish him well.

Solon Slates Surgery on Medicare Makeup

Politics and demagoguery being what they are, the proposals of Democratic Congressman JOHN D. DINGELL of Detroit were almost inevitable. But we didn't expect them so soon.

For with the ink of President JOHNSON's signature of enactment on Medicare hardly dry, the representative is all set to introduce revisions of the measure.

Dingell would as a first step extend Medicare coverage to include prescription drugs for the aged, and then broaden the entire plan to embrace lower-age groups.

With the economics of Medicare still an unproved equation and the schedule of payroll taxes to meet it already assuming burdensome proportions, to tamper with the measure now is sheer folly. (Beginning this month, a worker with maximum taxable income will pay annual Social Security taxes of $277 as compared with $174 for 1965).

We devoutly hope that DINGELL and his Congressional colleagues will curb their zeal to make political hay out of ill-timed and unsound advocacy of liberalization of a social concept that in practice has brought fiscal chaos to both France and Great Britain, and proved a thorn in the side of Sweden.

Owners of Industry Are Average Citizens

As a recent census conducted by the New York Stock Exchange shows, some 20 million people now own shares in American business. That exceeds the combined population of 17 of our states and is a remarkable figure by any standard.

Obviously enough, relatively few of those 20 million people are rich. The fact is that the bulk of them are in the middle-income brackets. According to a survey, the average new stockholder has a household income of $8,800 a year. He is 41 years of age. He may hold just about any kind of job. It's interesting to note in this connection that the biggest percentage gain in the last three years, 47 per cent, was among skilled and unskilled workers.

Widespread shareownership, which now extends to one adult out of every six, has been given a fortuitous name — "people's capitalism." And the evidence indicates that the majority of shareowners, new and old, are pretty canny people.

They have definite goals in mind — retirement, education for their children, dividend income to supplement pay and salaries. They investigate before they buy and get the relevant facts concerning a company in which they are interested. They realize that stock prices go down as well as up. And they turn deaf ears to tipsters and high-powered salesmen who promise big profits overnight.

These 20 million people and their families have a direct personal interest in the future of American business. It augurs well for the future of this Nation and the free enterprise system on which our strength and freedoms rest.

9 Men Ponder Poll Tax Issue

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress could have saved the Supreme Court a lot of trouble last year.

But it chose to pass the buck instead, and so the nine justices are wrestling with a problem as old as this country: Is the right to vote fundamental or does it spring from the states?

To the Justice Department "the franchise is a fundamental right implicit in the First Amendment's guarantees of political expression and in other provisions of the Constitution as well."

To the state of Virginia "it is a state-created right" and one of the few "vestigial rights" of the state in an era of increasing federal power.

These historical arguments go to the heart of the justices' current problem — passing on the constitutionality of the Virginia poll tax.

END OLD ARGUMENT

Their decision may, for all practical purposes, finally put the old argument to rest.

If the court rules that the state may not tie a head tax in with voting, much of the emotion will have been squeezed out of the arguments.

When Congress wrote the voting rights law last year it had a lot to say about poll taxes.

Congress directed the attorney general to go to court to test state laws which make payment of a poll tax a precondition to voting.

But Congress did not outlaw the poll tax as a qualification for voting in state elections — as the 24th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution did in 1964 for federal elections.

And so the poll tax as a voting qualification remains on the books in Virginia, Alabama, Texas, Mississippi and Vermont.

Because it does, U.S. Solictor General Thurgood Marshall told the Supreme Court this week, thousands of newly registered Negroes in Mississippi and Alabama who did not pay their poll tax still won't be able to vote.

The poll tax, he said, is "the one weapon remaining" to bar them.

But is the poll tax aimed at Negroes or at any group of people? George D. Gibson, a learned Richmond attorney, said Virginia's tax is not.

"It does not discriminate against a race anymore than a marriage license or an auto license of fixed amount," he said.

"These taxes are neutral on race, creed, color and sex."

Constitutional or not? A weapon of discrimination or a reasonable sort of test to ensure an intelligent electorate? Questions now for the highest court in the land to ponder.

David Lawrence Says:

Labor Law About-Face Needed

WASHINGTON—In the middle of the New York transit strike, this correspondent wrote on Jan. 10:

LAWRENCE

"Organized labor throughout the country has just received the worst black eye it has experienced in half a century. This comes as a consequence of the colossal damage inflicted by union leaders in New York City's transit strike."

Now, on Wednesday of this week, the United Press International carried an interesting dispatch, which reads as follows:

"Secretary of Labor Wirtz said today the New York transit strike has damaged chances for passage of legislation repealing section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act.

★ ★ ★

"The walkout 'left a very bad taste in most people's mouths about organized labor,' Wirtz told a news conference. He said this might be an unfair view but it does exist and has reduced the prospects for Senate passage of the repeal legislation."

NOT WHOLE STORY

This, of course, is not the whole story of what is going on in Washington today in connection with the effort of organized labor to put across a proposal in Congress that the states be deprived of the right to forbid compulsory unionization.

Only the power of a filibuster, whereby endless debate is permitted in the Senate, keeps Congress from enacting a compulsory-unionization law that would strengthen the authority of organized labor over all kinds of businesses.

Thus, at this very time when legislation is needed to prevent strikes against city or state governments, Congress hesitates and is reluctant to take up these needed reforms.

Sen. John L. McClellan of Arkansas, Democrat, urged Congress to consider legislation "that would protect the citizens of our country from being subjected to the antics and impositions of a Michael Quill."

ACTION NEEDED

He also said action is needed on bills to prevent "pilfering" and protect the billions of dollars in union treasuries and welfare and pension funds, to outlaw strikes at missile sites and other defense facilities, and to make federal antitrust laws applicable to certain activities of labor unions in the transportation industry.

Many bills have been introduced to curb the power of labor, and a majority of the members of Congress know in their hearts that such legislation ought to be passed. But the tremendous political strength of organized labor is blocking the passage of laws that are necessary to protect the public interest in the matter of strikes.

Dozens of other abuses are present, such as secondary boycotts, whereby any union can block the construction of a building by forbidding other unions to cross picket lines.

The whole labor situation needs reexamination, for it is evident that the balance of power has shifted. Whereas years ago an employer had the whip hand, it now has passed to the labor unions which are not applying the restraints that are so essential to a stable economic situation.

The present statutes are inequitable because they have been interpreted by the National Labor Relations Board in a manner that not only ties the hands of the employer but gives the unions almost unlimited freedom to coerce the employer and injure his business if he doesn't obey their commands.

★ ★ ★

An overhaul of the entire structure is needed so that a partisan-minded board will not be able any longer to add to the economic chaos which is becoming so characteristic of employer-employe relations.

A solution would be to establish a federal court of special jurisdiction in labor-relations cases and with judges having life tenure.

Bob Considine Says:

'Assassination' of Astor Just Following the Trend

NEW YORK — If they could tear down the Ritz Carlton and Sherry's, and rear in their gentle stead office buildings with about as much glamor as an empty milk bottle, they can assassinate the Astor.

CONSIDINE

It won't quite be like Times Square any longer, when the grimy old haunted boarding house disappears.

But, what the hell, Times Square itself isn't any longer Times Square. It is a sordid wound in the heart of Manhattan, overly lighted, overly populated with outrageous homosexuals who have utter contempt for the police (and get away with it), dope pushers, male and female prostitutes, drifters, grifters, and bug-eyed well-meaning countrymen in from that vast wasteland which Bugs Baer once identified as "all Bridgeport."

The Astor stood out amidst the creeping progress of the claptrap as a staid reminder that once this arena boasted of the glow and sound of decent American playwriting and music, some of the finer restaurants of the world, a place where a couple could stroll, where the whole town wanted to meet at midnight New Year's Eve, to welcome the young year with song and cheer.

Now it will be supplanted by another faceless 40-story office building, and in 10 years the new crowd will have forgotten it ever existed. Where was the Ritz? Sherry's? Considine's?

HANDSOME SUCCESSOR

Perhaps one should not fend too strongly for the status quo. The scruffy old New York Times Tower has given way to the handsome white-marbled Allied Chemical Building.

The Paramount Theater will be another office building.

The building to take the Astor's place will be populated during office hours by industrious working people.

Thus, by day, at least, the tone of the area is on the upswing.

The task of the Broadway Association, headed by Douglas Leigh, the Michelangelo of the Mazdas, is to do something about Broadway's nights, the pornography of 42nd Street "grind" movie houses, book stores and the other pestilences that combined to turn the Crossroads of the World into a muckrake.

Voice of the People:

Birth Record Procedure Outlined by County Clerk

In answer to a letter by Mrs. J. Spitzer, the procedure of recording birth certificates in the State of Michigan is as follows:

The original birth certificate is forwarded from the hospital to the clerk of the city in which the birth occurs. The city clerk makes a xerox copy which is sent to the county clerk's office. The original is forwarded to the Michigan Department of Health in Lansing.

Persons applying for a certified copy from the county clerk's office are sent a xerox copy. The certification is a part of this certificate. The size is 7½ by 9 inches and must be folded to be placed in an envelope. This is a permanent copy and is accepted for any purpose.

★ ★ ★

If you write to Lansing for a certified copy you will receive a photostatic copy. This is a negative copy, on the same type paper, and will also be folded before mailing. The fee in Lansing is also $1.00. The only difference in applying to the Oakland County Clerk's office and the Michigan Department of Health is that requests for birth certificates are mailed by this office the same day they are received. If you wish an unfolded copy, you may apply in person and it will be issued within a few minutes.

★ ★ ★

The Oakland County Clerk's office will also furnish a wallet-size card showing the birth registration number, name, birth date and date of issue. The cost of the card is fifty cents. It bears the seal of the County and is acceptable for some purposes where the birth certificate is required.

Questions Price of Meadow Brook Concerts

I am sorry to see the large increase in the price of tickets for the summer concerts at Meadow Brook. It was an excellent cultural experience which anyone could afford, including families and students. It was a splendid opportunity to introduce our younger children to fine music in a beautiful and relaxed atmosphere at a reasonable price. How many families can afford to pay $15 per child, compared to $5 last year, or how many students can afford a season ticket? What better place for high school and college students!

Many cities, such as Boston and East Lansing where we lived for two summers, offered this type of concert free, which we and many thousands of people enjoyed.

MRS. JOHN MATURO
749 FOURTH

(Editor's Note: Seats under the pavillion are $15 next summer —precisely the same price as before. The seats on the grass have been advanced from $1 to $1.50. This is about the lowest price there is for music of this top level. Individuals and concerns who have made up the huge deficits each year suggest strongly that all prices be advanced sufficiently to pay more of the costs, but this has not been done.)

Reader Comments on Recent Editorial

In an editorial you note that the President's cabinet was instituted to provide the "advice and help of competent assistants." Then you add that Presidents Kennedy and Johnson have dispensed with "these meetings." What meetings, Mr. Editor?

If you believe that cabinet meetings are essential to an informed president, tell us why, but don't substitute indignation for logic. By casually equating cabinet and cabinet meetings you imply that Mr. Johnson is ignoring his chosen assistants. This is a specious argument, not enhanced by doggerel-type name calling. You insult your readers' intelligence and play false your own.

Pedagogues in Orbit!

The Dothan Eagle

There continues an accumulation of evidence that as Americans reach higher plateaus in education they veer further to the left in political philosophy.

★ ★ ★

Consider this item from a recent issue of National Review:

On Oct. 8, 1963, National Review published an extended survey of college students on a dozen campuses. One of the conclusions was that a college climate tended to convert students to liberalism. Of Yale the report said: "Of those students whose political tendencies have reversed course, nearly three-fifths have become more liberal."

On Dec. 10, 1965, several thousand members of the Yale community signed an appeal, published in the New York Times, for U. S. recognition of Red China and Red China's admission to the UN. In the appeal seniors outnumbered freshmen by one-third (even though the freshman class outnumbered the senior class by about the same margin).

Graduate students outnumbered seniors by 100 per cent. Faculty members signing the appeal outnumbered graduate students by about 50 per cent. Nothing like a college education!

It is strange and difficult to understand. Why do remarkably talented people, such as those who rise to the top as educators, become such strong liberals or leftists? How can they who have done so well under the free enterprise system want to change it, and some even to destroy it?

Have the faculties of American universities always been that way? We can't remember it like that in our own time. With scarcely an exception those we knew could not be properly classified as extremists on either fringe.

★ ★ ★

The National Review's survey is enlightening in reference to why so many students espoused the wrong tenets, in our opinion, but what caused the professors in such large percentages to become socialists or even more different from most Americans?

We hope anyone who has the answers to all this will come forward with them. It's a matter of great importance to this country and could even be dangerous.

Sukarno Shuns Cry for Food, Housing

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The writer of this dispatch was for 18 months AP correspondent in Indonesia. Last week he was expelled from the country by President Sukarno, along with other correspondents of American news media.)

By ANTOINE YARED

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — A modern 10-story department store has just been completed in Jakarta's main street. Nearby a 29-story office building is under construction. Opposite is the luxurious 15-floor Hotel Indonesia.

These tall buildings seem like strange icebergs surrounded by a sea of slums and dilapidated streets.

★ ★ ★

Jakarta is Indonesia's capital city, with a population of three million, but in many respects it looks like a worn-down village.

President Sukarno ordered monuments and high buildings despite the country's need of more urgent projects — such as housing.

SHOW PIECES NEEDED

Sukarno maintains that these showy pieces of construction are needed to present Indonesia's greatness.

His hard-pressed people accepted the argument.

★ ★ ★

But lately thousands of students have demonstrated in Jakarta streets to protest against soaring prices of essential commodities. They criticized the policies of "the great leader of the Indonesian revolution," as Sukarno likes to call himself.

Day after day, the students — with the tacit approval of the army which is engaged in a power struggle with Sukarno — shouted:

NEED RICE

"We need rice — not monuments and big buildings!"

The students even scribbled on the walls:

"No more imports of wives and concubines."

Sukarno's third wife is a Japanese.

DENOUNCES ATTITUDE

Sukarno, in an angry speech, denounced the students' attitude.

"Monuments are equally important as rice!" he shouted.

★ ★ ★

Indonesian critics of Sukarno say that he is unaware of the reality of economic conditions prevailing in the country because his aides don't inform him fully.

Sukarno judges the situation superficially, these critics say, but fails to see what is beneath the surface.

BUYING FLOWERS

He observed recently: "With my own eyes I saw ordinary Indonesian people buying flowers in preparation for the Moslem feast of Idu Ilfitri. This alone is enough proof to kill propaganda that the Indonesia people are poor."

The critics say Sukarno does not realize how rising prices of essential commodities are hitting the low-income Indonesians.

★ ★ ★

With the recent increase in their salaries, an average civil servant gets about 50,000 old rupiahs monthly. He has allowances for rice and some foodstuffs, but sometimes these are not enough to meet the needs of a large family.

One liter of rice has shot to 5,000 old rupiahs. It cost 310 last June. A shirt costs 30,000, a pair of shoes 45,000.

ENORMOUS GAP

The gap between rich and the poor is enormous. A middle class is practically nonexistent. Corruption in the government is widespread and is adopted by many civil servants to meet the increasing cost of living. Profiteers take advantage of the situation to amass fortunes.

At the plush Hotel Indonesia, an Indonesian businessman was seen paying three million old rupiahs for a dinner party.

★ ★ ★

"It will take at least 10 years for one Indonesian employe to make that amount from his monthly salary," remarked a foreigner at a nearby table.

Most of the shops in Jakarta are depleted. The goods have either been sold or are being hoarded by merchants.

WONDER

Wide-eyed Indonesians stand in front of the still-empty 10-story department store and wonder what will fill it and who will be able to afford the goods in it.

Sukarno has envisioned making Indonesia a prosperous country in his lifetime. But instead of concentrating on developing and tapping Indonesia's enormous natural resources, he has embarked on repeated political ventures as a way of giving Indonesia a leading place among the world's great nations.

In his recently published autobiography, Sukarno says Indonesians inherited a broken-down country from the Dutch colonizers 20 years ago. Sukarno recounts that the Dutch before leaving wrecked the palace of the former Dutch governor general which he now uses as his presidential mansion. The furniture was broken, the glass windows and the mirrors, and even the door locks were smashed, Sukarno says.

Over the years, Sukarno beautifully repaired his palace.

But he has failed to repair his country.

'Rude Introduction' for Crime Curb Bill

LANSING (AP) — Reverberations through the Senate Democratic caucus followed Thursday in the wake of Majority Leader Raymond Dzendzel's introduction of a so-called stop and frisk bill.

Sen. Coleman Young, D-Detroit, said he'd ask the caucus to discuss rules and procedures to govern a party leader's introduction of major legislation.

The stop and frisk bill was one of a package of law enforcement measures introduced Wednesday by Dzendzel, who declared on the Senate floor Thursday he had introduced the bill solely on his own behalf.

The measure would permit a police officer to question anyone he believed is about to commit a crime and to search the person if the officer found himself possibly in danger.

Such a proposal from Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh has drawn opposition from civil rights groups.

Young said he wanted Dzendzel to declare specifically when he introduced bills whether they were individual or party measures. He said major bills should be discussed in caucus before introduction.

Dzendzel said he did not intend his bills to be taken as a caucus position.

Another Legend for Famed 7th Cavalry

AN KHE, Viet Nam (UPI) — The big gruff sergeant major stood at attention, his eyes locked on the color guard in front of him.

On the flagstaff were half a hundred battle streamers calling to mind the campaigns of the 7th Cavalry Regiment. The names began with Little Big Horn and rolled down through the history of American wars.

Someday another streamer would be added with the name of Chu Pong Mountain, Viet Nam War, 1965.

A gentle breeze rustled the streamers as the command snapped out:

"Awards candidate step forward."

★ ★ ★

The sergeant major did a left face, a right face and advanced ten paces to salute his commanders — Maj. Gen. Harry W. O. Kinnard and Col Hal Moore.

CITATION READ

A major read the citation.

"Sgt. Maj. Basil L. Plumley distinguished himself by heroic action on 16 Nov. 1965 while defending a command post in the Ia Drang Valley, Republic of Viet Nam.

(It wasn't much of a command post . . . just a little ant hill where we all huddled around the radios and the wounded lay quietly waiting for the long ride out.)

"Hostile small arms and automatic weapons fire was coursing steadily and relentlessly into the forward command post and aid station area which was approximaetly 150 meters from the line of contact.

(It coursed steadily all right. The leaves fluttered down into our faces as the bullets pruned the trees overhead.)

"At approximately 0500 hours at the height of the savage attack, a flare, still burning, landed in an open box of fragmentation hand grenades in the pile of small arms, mortar and other ammunition less than ten meters from the battalion command group."

(If it had gone up it would have taken out the colonel, the radios, the wounded and that precious pile of ammo.)

"Sgt. Maj. Plumley, voluntarily and unhesitatingly, rose up in the face of intense weapons fire, dashed to the burning flare, lifting it with his bare hands out of the box of grenades and threw it."

(It was a paralyzing moment. Then his limbs thawed and he moved fast.)

"He then extinguished the flare with his feet as well as other small fires which it had ignited around the ammo area."

(A couple of decades in the army and you learn to make do with what you've got. He didn't have anything but his hands and his feet.)

"Sgt. Maj. Plumley's valorous and extremely courageous action performed under fire with complete disregard for his own personal safety undoubtedly prevented the complete ammunition supply from exploding.

"His gallant actions were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit and the United States Army."

★ ★ ★

The general stepped forward and pinned the medal on Plumley's broad chest. The little Silver Star in the middle of the big gold one sparkled as the sun broke through the clouds.

The general spoke.

★ ★ ★

"This battle you fought so well was important not only because it was a great victory but because it served as a stimulant for our country and all the freedom-loving nations of the world. It set fire to the hearts and minds of the world."

The battle has died away. Historians will pick the bones of the after-action reports and someday a white streamer with its name will be added to the colors of the 7th Cavalry.

No Injuries Reported in Train Derailment

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — Seven units of the crack Silver Meteor passenger train derailed today in this northeastern North Carolina city, blocking Seaboard Air Line's main north-south tracks.

None of the cars overturned and there were no injuries reported. The train was northbound.

Cause of the accident was not known, but the Henderson area received 12 inches of snow Wednesday and tracks were reported icy in spots.

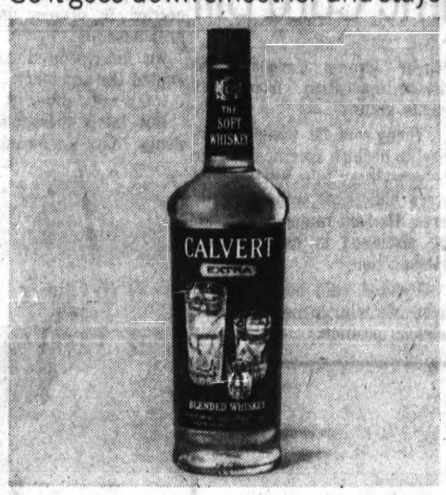
Some people come to Soft Whiskey the hard way.

Some people will go to any length to find the whiskey they want. And their search sometimes takes them to many a strange brew. Of course, others are luckier. They try Soft Whiskey first. And once they do, they never have to try anything else. You don't settle for Soft Whiskey. You drink it only because you like it.

That's because Soft Whiskey does anything any other whiskey can do, only it does it softer. (It's 86 proof.) So it goes down smoother and stays that way all the way down.



We came to Soft Whiskey the hard way (after thousands of experiments). And we make it the hard way, by doing some distilling in small batches instead of large ones. Anything else we could tell you is top secret. Once you find we're the only Soft Whiskey, you'll know why. Even if you did come to it the hard way.

Medical Aid No Immediate Worry in Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Col. Spurgeon Neel is a happy man. He has the tools to do his job: save the lives of wounded U.S. and Vietnamese soldiers in Viet Nam.

Neel, chief surgeon for the Military Assistance Command-Viet Nam (MACV), feels that he has a more than adequate supply of necessities needed for healing — well trained, dedicated doctors and nurses and excellent medical supplies.

He is free, too, of the usual military red tape. His only boss here is Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. military commander in Viet Nam.

An ebullient, loquacious man, Neel has first call on anything in the U.S. Army Medical Corps.

DOCTOR SUPPLY

The supply of doctors to treat wounded Americans is good, he says: "We are in excellent shape both qualitatively and quantitatively."

Military spokesmen estimate there are well over 300 Army doctors and more than 200 Army nurses in South Viet Nam. The Air Force and Navy likely have 150 additional doctors and about 100 nurses.

★ ★ ★

In Viet Nam, Neel has two mobile army surgical hospitals, three field hospitals and two evacuation hospitals. The Navy has its 3rd Medical Battalion with C Company at Da Nang, the "Charley Med" that has taken care of so many wounded Marines.

In addition, the Korean division has an evacuation hospital of 400 beds, 26 doctors and 33 nurses.

6 HOSPITALS

Working with the medical people in Viet Nam, but not under MACV control, are six military hospitals in Japan, one on Okinawa and one at Clark Air Force Base Hospital in the Philippines.

Neel says he sometimes has an unusual problem: overreaction to his requests by authorities in the United States.

Sometime ago, he asked for a flight surgeon, and they sent out a man who had been instrumental in flight-surgeon training at Ft. Rucker, Ala.

"I was glad to have him, and he was enthusiastic about coming," Neel said, "but actually it would have been better if he had kept on training other flight surgeons at home."

FIRST PRIORITY

Neel does have other problems, of course, mainly concerned with logistics. Although he has first priority in the Army Medical Corps, there is still the problem of getting supplies to their destinations at the proper time.

The death rate for soldiers arriving at forward hospitals in World War I was 8½ per cent. By World War II, this had dropped to 4½ per cent, and only 2½ per cent of the soldiers reaching forward hospitals in Korea died.

In Viet Nam, the ratio has been 1 per cent or a trifle less.

Neel is proud of the low rate, but he realizes it could easily change if the Viet Cong start throwing large masses of troops into battle or bring in heavy artillery or air attacks.

"Actually, we haven't been strained too much yet," Neel says. "Our build-up has been gradual enough that we could pretty well project our medical needs and keep up with them. It hasn't been like Korea, where we found ourselves smack in the middle of a war one Sunday."

Beside the first-rate personnel available to him, Neel believes two factors have been important in the reduced death rate: improved anesthetics and techniques and the ability to provide whole blood to surgeons near the fighting.

Amputations have been greatly reduced by improvements in vascual surgery and the fact that more surgeons can now perform such operations involving the blood vessels.

"In Korea at one time we had only one man in one hospital who was an expert at this," he says. "Now vascular surgery is performed at every military hospital. We also have plastic tubing now that we can use as 'spare parts' in replacing damaged arteries and veins."

Swift movement of wounded men from the battlefield improves the chance of survival. In Korea, only 10 per cent of the wounded men were taken out by helicopter. Here it's 90 per cent.

LITTLE MEANING

The titles "field" and "evacuation" hospital mean little in Viet Nam. The 85th Evacuation at Qui Nhon on the central coast, for example, handled many of the first cavalarymen wounded in the Ia Drang fighting, and by no means all of them were evacuated. And the 85th currently is treating about 300 serious malaria cases, most of whom will be returned to duty from the hospital.

Two of the six U.S. military hospitals in Japan handle most of the Vietnamese casualties that arrive in that country. They are Johnson Hospital and Camp Drake, both run by the Army and both recently renovated.

About 1,000 evacuees are in the facilities in Japan, but only 15 per cent are men wounded in battle. The others are sick or were injured outside combat.

Only the less serious cases among evacuees are taken to Japan. They are men who are expected to be returned to duty. Serious cases or those, for example, requiring plastic surgery, are flown on to the United States.

GOOD SUPPLY

U. S. medical authorities in Japan say their supplies and personnel are adequate.

The U.S. Army Hospital on Okinawa has been expanded from 350 to 500 beds. The hospital has a sufficient staff.

One of the key out-country hospitals handling wounded is Clark Air Base Hospital near Manila. At Clark, some casualties remain, but others, usually critical cases that can be moved, are quickly transferred to other military hospitals in the Pacific area, including Honolulu and Formosa. Some are sent directly to the United States.

There are no serious shortages at Clark, but during such major battles as Ia Drang, the hospital was jammed, and doctors and nurses sometimes worked for 48 hours without sleep.

The most serious problem confronting Army doctors is wounded who require brain surgery. There are not many brain surgeons in the Army.

Some U.S. doctors are attached to South Vietnamese units, and many American physicians serve as advisers to the Vietnamese. U.S. medical personnel also hold clinics in every village the Army passes through, passing out medical supplies and treating everything from a scratch to surgery. Indidual treatments, a spokesman says, average 20,000 to 30,000 a week.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — What do four youngsters do when their real mother dies by gunfire and, only nine years later, they must stand with their adopted mother in the glaring spotlight of a murder trial?

If one of them is Martha Mossler, 15, she has bad dreams, and she cries sometimes. But she holds her head high and looks forward to a time when the nightmare will end and she will become a mother, too.

* * *

If one is Danny Mossler, 14, he discovers who are his real friends. And he faces the stares of some and says, "I'm a Mossler and proud of it."

Martha and Danny and their brothers, Chris, 12, and Eddie, 11, are the adopted children of Jacques Mossler, the rich banker who was killed June 30, 1964, in a Miami apartment.

Their blonde second mother, Candace Mossler, is on trial for her life, charged with his murder.

When the four slender, handsome children walked into the apartment that night to find the body of Mossler pierced by 39 stab wounds, they experienced for the second time the shock of a beloved parent's violent death.

* * *

In 1957, similar violence had exploded in their home in Chicago, when they were very young. Their father, Leonard Glenn, shot their mother to death to free her, he said, of evil spirits and he killed their baby brother, Alexander.

Then Glenn, now an Illinois mental patient, took his four surviving children on a wild ride through a blizzard, until his car stuck in a snowdrift and police were able to close in for the rescue.

WANTED THEM ALL

When Jacques Mossler learned that the four were to become wards of the state, he offered to take them. Others also came forward, but only Mossler wanted them all.

Despite the shock and the grief of two family tragedies, Martha, Danny, Chris and Eddie remain remarkably strong and well-adjusted.

* * *

Martha, a tall girl with striking good looks and long dark hair that hangs to her shoulders, smiles as she talks of her plight.

But her eyes mist when she says: "Some people I thought were my friends treat me now like I was something from outer space. But they aren't real friends unless they stick with you. We didn't do anything."

When Mrs. Mossler came from her palatial Houston home to stand trial, she transferred the children to a private school in Miami. But they failed to find the anonymity they had sought.

Before they were recognized, Eddie said, "I made some new friends in Miami and everything seemed fine. But when they found out I was a Mossler, they weren't my friends any more."

* * *

Danny, a member of the National Honor Society, had longed especially for privacy "so I could study." He wants to be a doctor. Because of his scholastic standing, he was allowed to skip a grade in the Miami school.

"I didn't find the privacy," he said, "but I don't let them bother me. We're still proud that we're Mosslers."

GOOD STUDENTS

The other children are good students, too. Eddie is studying "to be a business man — like dad. I'm good at mathematics."

"Yeah," laughed Danny, "that's what you think now, but wait until you get to all that algebra and stuff."

* * *

Chris intends to be a lawyer. "He's fascinated by the law," his brothers say.

Only Martha has no interest in a career. "I just want to get married," she said, "and be a mother."

* * *

Did she leave a special boy friend back in Houston?

"Well — not really."

For Candace, Nephew

Selecting Murder Trial Jury

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Attorneys were rapidly running out of challenges as the effort to pick a jury for the Mossler murder trial neared the end of its second week.

Candace Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, retained only four challenges between them when the 10th day of the trial started today.

Mrs. Mossler, accused of scheming with Powers to murder her wealthy husband, Jacques, 69, suffered an attack of migraine headaches and nausea during Thursday morning's session.

Looking pale and drawn, she was taken to her downtown apartment and placed under a doctor's care.

Early in the morning of June 30, 1964, when Mossler was slain in a Miami apartment, his wife was in Jackson Memorial Hospital being treated in the emergency ward for a similar attack.

The state charges that while she was there she received a telephone call from Powers. She returned to the apartment later to find her husband's body.

Circuit Judge George Schulz allowed the examination of prospective jurors to go on in Mrs. Mossler's absence and by the day's end, the attorneys had run through 135 candidates.

Percy Foreman, chief counsel for Powers who had challenged four women called up earlier, excused a fifth woman Thursday before she had given her name.

DELAYING TACTIC

Schulz said he would not rule before Monday on a defense motion to dismiss the murder indictment. The motion was challenged Thursday by State Attorney Richard Gerstein as merely a delaying tactic.

Studio Lawyers Said Affecting Health of Liz

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A federal judge has ordered suspension of further oral examination of actress Elizabeth Taylor by 20th Century-Fox attorneys, who charge her conduct with Richard Burton inflated the cost of the film, "Cleopatra."

Miss Taylor's attorney, Milton A. Rudin, told U.S. Dist. Judge Thurmond Clarke Thursday the movie star had become ill under the interrogation.

Judge Clarke ruled the studio lawyers may now submit written questions only.

Ski Plans Set at Groves High

By CANDY SPRIGGEL

With the coming of subfreezing temperatures and powder snow, Groves High School skiers have once more taken to the ski slopes.

Those who watched the rain splash down to ruin Christmas skiing have been overjoyed with the recent weather. Equipment is ready and skiers are out to enjoy the thrill of the "white realm."

Groves Ski Club, with Marvin Parent, faculty member, as adviser, already has plans for the winter. Besides the weekly Friday night trips to Pine Knob, Wednesday night trips have been added to compensate for middle-of-the-week snow falls that sometimes melt by Friday night.

Four weekend northern trips are also on the agenda. They include this weekend, Feb. 11-13, Feb. 25-27 and March 4-6.

★ ★ ★

Money for the northern trips was raised by the students through a ski club sponsored sock hop and candy sale.

FIRST TRIP

The first northern trip includes two full days of skiing at Walloon Hills and Nub's Knob.

On the way home Sunday, skiers will enjoy a convivial dinner at the Bavarian Inn, a customary stopping place.

After dinner, the Bavarian Snow Bunny is chosen and rolled in a snow bank, a tradition of the ski club.

★ ★ ★

Teachers chaperoning ski trips are Marvin Parent, chemistry; Roger Herpolsheimer, science; Calvin Vander Woude, speech and drama; Judy Butzbach, history; Mrs. James Blaser, history; and Mr. and Mrs. William Lynam, English and history.

COLORADO TRIP

During Easter vacation, when most skis are put away, 70 of the 300 members of the Groves Ski Club will be skiing down the slopes in Colorado.

Skiers will leave for the Arapaho Basin in Colorado April 8. They will return April 17.

Parent and the Lynams will accompany the group on the trip.

Cadet Teacher Plans Are Told

By KATHY MORGAN

Rochester High School branch of the Future Teachers of America begins cadet teaching next Wednesday in two elementary schools in the Rochester district.

Leaving school at 2 p.m., six girls will go to McGregor School and six to North Hill School.

For the first visit, the girls will observe.

The club will then meet with Harlan Johnson, high school principal, and Mrs. Harvey Rammler, the club's sponsor, to evaluate the trips and decide frequencies of future visits.

★ ★ ★

MARK ENTRANCE

Two big lollipops will mark the entrance while a doorman will open the door for the couples.

Streamers of roses and a lollipop tree will decorate the dance floor.

The "We Who Are," a local singing and instrumental group, will provide the music.

Teachers Attending Institute

By JEAN PRIESTLEY

Waterford Township High School students are having a two-day break as teachers attend an intraschool institute and compile grades for the first semester.

Finishing off the semester's extracurricular activities was a Sadie Hawkins day and dance which had girls wearing their beaus' sweaters, walking the boys to class and buying their lunches as well as taking them to the evening's festivities.

WTHS Camerata Vocale and Men's Glee Club will participate in a Feb. 5 solo and ensemble festival. Barb Humphries and Cathy Ryden will sing two duets and Paul Thomas has prepared a solo.

A new switchboard and several new telephones have been installed this week, causing temporary confusion in the general office.

Five phones have been installed for use in the principal's office, teachers' conference room, Student Council office, journalism office and parking lot booth.

ATTEND CLASS

Mrs. Murlin Vaughn, office manager, and Mrs. James Third, receptionist and office secretary, attended classes to learn how to use the new equipment.

Two hundred WTHS juniors will take the National Merit Scholarship Examination at the school next Saturday.

Debbie McNair, WTHS senior and ski team member, won a third place trophy in racing last weekend.

Casting for the Waterford Playmasters' next production, "Cheaper By the Dozen," will be Monday and Tuesday. Roles will be announced Wednesday.

The women's parts will be double-cast.

At Lake Orion High

Student Council Dance Held

By NADINE WILLIAMS

Student Council members at Lake Orion High School sponsored a dance last night in the cafeteria.

Musical entertainment was provided by the "Shrouds," a group which originated at LOHS.

In the band are Robert Gunnerfelt, Larry Stevens, Robert Stone, Jeffrey Straub and Thomas Berger.

All proceeds were given to the March of Dimes Fund.

★ ★ ★

An auction assembly will take place next week. Students bid for articles, sometimes paying as much as $5 for an item.

2ND CONTEST

Another money-making project will be the "Most Beautiful Legs" contest.

Pictures of some of the varsity basketball team's boys' legs will be displayed in the lounge with a canister by each one.

When the contest is over, the canister containing the most money will be the winner.

Judged on the "beauty" of their legs are Dennis Brophy, co-captain; David Dewey, co-captain; Bradley Kenyon, Roy Kibbe and Timothy Daigle.

★ ★ ★

Money received from the auction and contest will be donated to the March of Dimes.

Students Get Brief Respite

By LINDA WRIGHT

A much deserved vacation was enjoyed yesterday and today by the students at Emmanuel Christian High School.

★ ★ ★

Wednesday at the stroke of twelve, a sigh was heard throughout the school. With the arrival of noon came the end to final exams.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday, after reviewing the results of the tests, the high school faculty voted on new members to be installed in the National Honor Society.

County Schools Are Hubs of Activity

Oxford

By ANN ASHLEY

Returning home late tonight is the Oxford Area Community High School Ski Club.

During the two days' school vacation 47 members traveled to Wolverine Ski Camp in Wolverine.

Skiing took place at Boyne Mountain and Boyne Highlands.

Chaperones accompaning the students were Jean Ray and Robert Bancroft, Ski Club sponsor and OHS counselor.

Senior trip plans are being drawn up by OHS seniors. Washington, D.C. has been selected as this year's site to tour.

★ ★ ★

Record albums were awarded as door prizes at OHS's "Moldie Oldies" record hop last Saturday.

St. Fred's

By ERNESTINE MOORE

Today students of St. Frederick's school had a free day to rest up from all the semester tests.

The rest won't last long, however, for the second semester starts on Monday and report cards are to be given out on Tuesday.

Midway through the school year, the following clubs list achievements:

Future Nurses have visited several open houses and prepared favors and gifts for children in the hospitals and oldsters at Seminole Hills Nursing Home.

★ ★ ★

Several members have become candy stripers at Pontiac General.

Members of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine have had measurable success in teaching Catholic public school pupils their prayers and are now in the midst of getting them prepared for Holy Communion and Confirmation.

The girls' basketball teams are also off to a good start. The varsity team chose Bridget Scully as captain and under her leadership have won two out of three games.

The junior varsity team chose Barbara Tewksbury as captain and lost their first tilt though they fought hard.

Dominican

By DEBBIE VAN NATTER

Dominican Academy's Poster Club, under the direction of Sister Francesca, is busy sketching posters to advertise the Academy's "Valentine Hop" scheduled for Feb. 12.

Amidst the turmoil and studying for midterm exams, the Drama Club continues to plan D.A.'s spring variety show, "Voices of Spring."

Clarkston

By CATHY RICHARDSON

After a hectic week of studying and taking exams, Clarkston High School students are enjoying a one-day vacation. The second semester begins Monday. Report cards will be distributed next Wednesday.

The Future Homemakers of America will sponsor a bake sale Tuesday following school dismissal. Also on Tuesday the Student Government will present an assembly called "Sound, Light and Satellite."

It concerns electrons and will be given by James McClum from Michigan Bell Telephone.

★ ★ ★

The "Hilltopper" staff will reopen its yearbook sales for one week beginning next Monday. The staff, under the supervision of Mrs. Ralph Kenyon, hopes to hit an all-time high in yearbook sales.

Milford

By RICHARD WIXOM

Milford High School will host the monthly Wayne-Oakland County League Student Council meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Ten MHS Student Council members will attend classes at Northville next Friday in an exchange day.

Holly

By LINDA LONGSTRETH

Grade School Treat

Fairyland Delight in Bloomfield Hills

CATCH A FALLEN STAR — Gertrudy, the little witch (Jennifer Squibb of 596 Rudgate, Bloomfield Hills), clamps her black boot on the toe of the clown, Popcorn Pete, (Tom French of 2470 Turner) to prevent him from helping Star (Dawne Miller of 2002 Long Lake Shores) climb back to her home in the solar system. The play, "Popcorn Pete Goes to the Moon," will be presented with "Cinderblossom" in the Bloomfield Hills High School theater today and tomorrow at 1:15 and 3 p.m. Tom and Dawne are residents of West Bloomfield Township.

Four performances of two fairy tales will be presented for grade school children at Bloomfield Hills High School today and tomorrow in the school theater.

★ ★ ★

Under direction of Glenn Wooster, Bloomfield's speech and drama instructor, "Popcorn Pete Goes to the Moon" and "Cinderblossom" will be shown at 1:15 and 3 p.m.

Boys and girls from drama clubs in the high school and Pine Lake, Vaughan, Eastover and Traub elementary school are in the casts.

Bloomfield student Kathleen Miller is assistant director of "Popcorn Pete."

★ ★ ★

CAST MEMBERS

Elementary pupils include Jennifer Squib, Kendra Plaxton and Darcy Dittmer, Vaughan; Jill Grubbs and Dawne Miller, Pine Lake; Jim Elgass, Eastover; and John Staas, Traub.

Judy Wood, Bloomfield, is student assistant director of "Cinderblossom."

High school students taking part in "Cinderblossom" are Karen Elliott, Connie Gipper and Connie Fegley.

★ ★ ★

Pine Lake Elementary School pupils joining the cast are Kathy Martens, Debbie Bradbury, Pat Martin, Bill Bozell, Mike Braunlich and Jeorgann Brown.

Vaughan pupils include Prudy Henderson and Lynne Simmers.

A 'First'

Look! Snow!!

By ALICE TURNER

Lucia Rains and Adela Gimenez, Pontiac Northern's two exchange students from Argentina, saw their first real snow this week.

★ ★ ★

Lucia, who will stay in the U.S. for the remainder of the school year, lives at the home of Carolyn and Troy Bell, both PN seniors.

Adela will be here eight weeks. She is making her home here with Kathy Schweitzer also a PN senior.

Lucia speaks English, Spanish and German well. Active at PN, she is now a member of Ski Club, International Club A Capella Choir and Catalinas.

★ ★ ★

Adela speaks little English. To help her Lucia acts as translator. Adela is a member of the International Club.

INNOVATION

Our changing from class to class proved an innovation to Lucia. In Argentine schools, the teacher changes instead.

Lucia said a normal school day in Argentina lasts from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., but our classes are longer.

She attends ten classes during this time span, six before lunch and four after.

★ ★ ★

Adela was most surprised by the student-teacher relationship at PN.

The faculty is much more strict at her school and students must maintain a great deal of respect for their teachers.

MORE STRICT

Adela attends school in Argentina from 8 a.m. until noon, with a total of six classes.

"Arsenic and Old Lace," scheduled for February, has been cancelled.

★ ★ ★

In its place, a one-act play will be produced in early March.

JUNIOR MISS

The Michigan Junior Miss Pageant will be held today and tomorrow in PN's auditorium.

Northern's debate team, along with those of 13 other schools, will participate in the District tournament to be held Saturday at PN.

WLHS Exams Slow Activities

By RON MOORHEAD

Extracurricular activities were cut short at Walled Lake High School due to semester examinations.

★ ★ ★

Monday, the Political Science Club hosted a talk on the John Birch Society. Guest speaker was Schuyler Rogers, a member of the society.

Besides giving his talk, Rogers also handed out literature concerning the controlversial organization.

In preparation for the spring season, Coach Bernard Stafford and candidates for the track team go through a preseason conditioning program.

★ ★ ★

It includes running in the halls and lifting weights in the gym.

TENNIS TEAM

Candidates for the tennis team have been working out in the gym Wednesday nights.

At a recent meeting of the "Viking" literary staff, Walled Lake's yearbook. Diann Sellers was elected editor.

Editor of the art and layout staff is Janet Winters.

SENIOR WRESTLERS

Seniors John Hellner, Fred Hering, Roger Nicolay, Dennis Craigie, Don Hemming and Dan Oslin will wrestle before the home crowd for the last time.

Following the wrestling meet will be a dance in the gym.

★ ★ ★

Everything Back to Normal After Week of Exams

By CECILIA PARKER

The weekend was a welcome sight to the students of Our Lady of the Lakes High School after a hectic week of semester exams.

Students who plan to participate in the annual Forensic Contest are preparing speeches.

Selections may be interpretative, humorous, original, extemporaneous, multiple reading, or a radio-news commentary.

Contestants will be competing against other area schools.

★ ★ ★

District finals will be held in February and the state finals are scheduled for April 23, at the University of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Prom plans are slowly, but surely beginning to shape up.

DATE UNKNOWN

May 27, has been selected as the date, but the location is still unsettled. General chairman is Ann Longo.

Tonight after the game against St. Michael, the Varsity Club is sponsoring a sock-hop in the school gym until 11:30.

St. Mike's Student Wins '66 Homemaker Award

By MICHAEL THORNBERRY

Mary Cassabon, having received the 1966 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow distinction, has brought recognition to St. Michael's.

She will go on to compete for the Michigan Homemaker of Tomorrow title.

Under the direction of Sister Hilarine, the Future Nurses Club went to Lourdes Nursing Home in Waterford yesterday to volunteer its services.

★ ★ ★

The St. Michael's Chapter of the Tri-County Senior Government Seminar visited the Detroit City-County Building today in conjunction with their study of government.

FREE DAY

Following exams this week, students enjoyed the free day that resulted from the semester's end.

★ ★ ★

St. Michael's has received its membership charter to Quill and Scroll, the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists.

★ ★ ★

As a duly elected member of Quill and Scroll, Judy Crickon, is entitled to all rights, benefits, and privileges of the society.

Dance Will Follow Basketball Game

By MARGIT MISANGYI

Tonight West Bloomfield High will host Clarkston at 6:30, for the Junior Varsity and Varsity games.

There will be an aftergame dance sponsored by the junior class. Featured will be "The Comons."

This group has just recently cut a record entitled "A Young Man's Problem." It is now circulating the various disc jockeys.

The junior class has also decided upon a fantasyland theme for its prom.

★ ★ ★

Civil Rights 'Must'

Dr. King Stresses Negro Family Role

CHICAGO (AP) — The civil rights struggle could be in vain if the Negro family is allowed to deteriorate, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. says.

"For no other group in American life is the matter of family life more important than to the Negro. Our very survival is bound up in it," the Nobel Peace Prize winner told a University of Chicago audience Thursday night.

★ ★ ★

"Nothing is so much needed as a secure family life for a people seeking to pull themselves out of poverty and backwardness," he said.

And the Negro family, because of the strains exerted on it by slavery, oppression, poverty and the "man-made social and psychological jungle" in which it exists, is vulnerable, he said.

RECENT STUDY

"A recent study offers the alarming conclusion that the Negro family in the urban ghettos is crumbling and disintegrating," said King.

"It suggests that the process in civil rights can be negated by the dissolving of family structure and therefore social justice and tranquility can be delayed for generations," he said.

★ ★ ★

The slum setting in which many Negro families find themselves is the particular target of King's current efforts.

He is campaigning against Chicago slum conditions and said Thursday that civil disobedience may, of necessity, be part of the offensive.

PLAN TO REBUILD

"We're not coming here to tear up Chicago but to rebuild it. We want it to be a nonviolent movement through and through," he told 60 police officials, including Supt. O. W. Wilson.

Later, at a news conference, he said: "It may be necessary to engage in acts of civil disobedience in order to call attention to the problems."

★ ★ ★

If this be the case, King said, he would let police know in advance of such activities.

Individuals often have to break a particular law to obey a higher moral law, King said. He added, "I'm prepared to go to jail in Chicago just as I have in other cities."

King has scheduled demonstrations in March aimed at influencing real estate interests and landlords in the drive for improved housing. He has arranged to spend two or three days a week in Chicago and the rest of the week in Alabama, where he heads the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Pair Is Charged With Bribery of Detroit Officer

DETROIT (AP)—Two men arrested in a police raid on a downtown Detroit restaurant stood mute Thursday in Recorder's Court to charges of conspiring to bribe and actual bribery of a police officer.

Peter Vitale, 51, of Mount Clemens, and Costas Colacasides, 67, of Grosse Pointe Park, were apprehended in a raid directed by Wayne County circuit Judge Edward S. Piggins, a one-man grand juror investigating crime in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Judge Elvin L. Davenport continued both men on bonds of $5,000 each pending examination March 2.

The two were charged with conspiring to bribe Detroit Police Sgt. Billy Starks.

Mortgage Coverage Extension Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., Thursday urged extension of FHA-insured mortgages to cover homes and cottages.

★ ★ ★

Hart wrote to Robert C. Weaver, secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, asking his support and ideas.

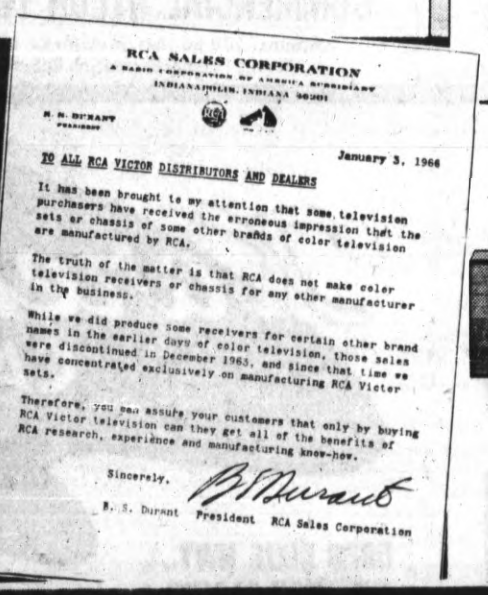
THE TRUTH ABOUT COLOR Television



RCA SALES CORPORATION
INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA 46201

H. S. DURANT
PRESIDENT

January 3, 1966

TO ALL RCA VICTOR DISTRIBUTORS AND DEALERS

It has been brought to my attention that some television purchasers have received the erroneous impression that the sets or chassis of some other brands of color television are manufactured by RCA.

The truth of the matter is that RCA does not make color television receivers or chassis for any other manufacturer in the business.

While we did produce some receivers for certain other brand names in the earlier days of color television, those sales were discontinued in December 1965, and since that time we have concentrated exclusively on manufacturing RCA Victor sets.

Therefore, you may assure your customers that only by buying RCA Victor television can they get all of the benefits of RCA research, experience and manufacturing know-how.

Sincerely,

H. S. Durant President RCA Sales Corporation

U.S. Accuses Soviets of Making a Pretrial Decision on Dead American Salesman

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has accused the Soviet Union of deciding even before his trial the sentence of Newcomb Mott, a young American who died aboard a Soviet prison train.

Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer, said Thursday "the Soviet government appears to have decided even before the trial that Mott should receive a much harsher sentence than anyone else who had crossed the border."

McCloskey made his remarks after a radio Moscow broadcast that accused American officials in the Soviet Union of making no effort to obtain Mott's freedom.

McCloskey denounced the broadcast as "vicious and untrue." Earlier, the U.S. Embassy in Moscow had called the broadcast "a rather distorted version of the facts."

The Soviets say Mott, 27, a book salesman from Sheffield, Mass., slashed himself to death with a razor—"in a state of violent nervous disorder" — on board a train taking him to a prison camp where he was to serve 18 months.

Mott, a tourist, was sentenced for entering the Soviet Union illegally from Norway. He pleaded that he had done so by mistake after getting lost.

The broadcast came after a week of silence in Moscow. Observers said it indicated the Soviet government is uneasy about the effects of the case on world wide public opinion.

Rejecting the broadcast, McCloskey said Mott's parents and the embassy made the strongest efforts to secure his freedom. The broadcast had said his parents also ignored him.

Radio Moscow said no U. S. efforts were made to get Mott free on bail. McCloskey said that efforts to get bail for him had been summarily rejected by Soviet authorities.

McCloskey said the Soviet court refused to allow evidence showing that others who had crossed the border at the same point had received only four-week sentences.

Announcer Goes Back on Air as Police Hunt 2 Assailants

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Peace and quiet and a plate glass window were restored at radio station WTTM today as police searched for two men who attacked Robert Goldman while he was broadcasting Wednesday night.

GOLDMAN

Goldman was knocked unconscious while doing his evening telephone interview show. Thousands of listeners heard him cry for help and hundreds called police.

★ ★ ★

Goldman, 36, a bearded college instructor who doubles as a radio announcer, believes right-wing extremists attacked him. He was alone in the WTTM studio a few blocks from the State House when two men entered the station and smashed a double plate glass window with a weight that hit Goldman.

But he was back on the air the next day telling his callers he intends to continue his two-a-day broadcasts "unless they stop me."

RIGHT WINGERS?

Goldman contends "they" are right-wing extremists because that is the only group he has opposed "with any vehemence and frequency." He said he has no definite proof but that he was once threatened by a man who, Goldman said, claimed to be a member of The John Birch Society.

Goldman said he hopes the police catch the assailants, "but not for punitive reasons."

★ ★ ★

"I'd really like to talk to them," he told one of the many concerned listeners who have been calling him since he returned to the air.

The police found Goldman unconscious when they arrived shortly before midnight Wednesday. They took him to the hospital where he was treated and released.

Senate to Get Longer Hours on 14B Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican and Southern Democratic Senate filibuster teams settled in today for lengthy speechmaking in their fight to block a union shop measure.

Their target is a bill which would repeal the Taft-Hartley Act's section 14B which authorizes states to outlaw union shop contracts.

★ ★ ★

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield scheduled longer hours, including a Saturday session.

So far the bill's opponents have had to use only six speakers. Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, directing the opposition, said he had plenty of orators left.

Mansfield would give no hint as to when he might try to break the filibuster. But his colleagues believe he may decide to file a petition to shut off the debate by the end of next week.

This would bring a showdown vote on cloture before Feb. 10, the date for the start of the annual Lincoln Day recess.

Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., floor leader for the bill, said he saw no reason to make the case for the measure until the bill actually is before the Senate. The present filibuster is against the preliminary motion to bring it up.

Union shop contracts require all employes covered to join the union.

Meg's In-Law Dies

15 Senate Dems Urge LBJ to Consider Their Views Opposing Bombing Start-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifteen Democratic senators who oppose resumption of U.S. air strikes against North Viet Nam targets have appealed to President Johnson to seek "our collective judgment" in making his decision.

The senators made known their views in a letter sent to the President Thursday night.

They expressed general agreement with statements urging continuation of the five-week bombing suspension which have been made by Sens. Mike Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader; J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the foreign relations committee; and George D. Aiken, dean of Republican senators.

"We believe we understand in some small degree the agony you must suffer when called upon by our constitutional system to make judgments which may involve war or peace," the 15 Democrats said. "We believe you should have our collective judgment before you, when you make your decision."

AFTER CONFERENCE

The 15 senators drafted their letter after a White House conference Tuesday night at which 18 of 20 congressional leaders consulted by Johnson were reported to have urged an early end to the moratorium on bombing. Mansfield and Fulbright were reported to be the only two who disagreed.

Both Mansfield and Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said the Tuesday night meeting was the kind of consultation senators have been demanding. "This was consultation in the best sense," Mansfield said.

★ ★ ★

All signs continued to point to an early renewal of the bombing. But the White House said Johnson has made no decision.

A confrontation between some opponents of renewed bombing and Secretary of State Dean Rusk takes place today at a public meeting of the foreign relations committee. It is considering the administration request for $415 million in additional foreign aid funds — $275-million for South Viet Nam.

ON COMMITTEE

Four signers of the letter are on the foreign relations committee — Sens. Frank Church of Idaho, Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania and Wayne Morse of Oregon — as are Fulbright and Mansfield.

McCarthy and Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., argued against a resumption in bombing in speeches to the Senate Thursday.

McCarthy said the "burden of proof" was on the Defense and State departments to show whether the bombings had had any significant effect — political or military — or would in the future.

And McGovern pointed out that administration officials have said that despite the bombing there had been a marked increase in the infiltration of North Vietnamese troops into South Viet Nam. He said this indicated the bombing may have backfired.

The "Little Old Lady of Threadneedle Street" refers to the Bank of England, which stands on London's Threadneedle Street.

Personal Invitation

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. John B. Connally says he plans a weeklong trip beginning Feb. 21 to invite the presidents of South American countries to take part in HemisFair. HemisFair will open April 1968 in San Antonio, Tex., as a Western Hemisphere fair and exhibition.

Figuring Your Income Tax—5

Take Care and Save on Deductible Items

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This article, the last of five, discusses expenses that may be deducted on federal income tax returns, and those which may not be.)

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Looking over some of the personal expenses taxpayers can deduct — and some they can't — may save you money and trouble with your 1965 income tax return.

If your deductions were greater than the standard deduction alloweu everyone for expenses without listing them, claim them in full but then you must itemize them and use Form 1040 for your return.

For details, read the instruction sheet sent taxpayers by the Internal Revenue Service or for 50 cents buy its 160-page booklet, "Your Federal Income Tax," which gives details, rules, and far more examples than listed here.

For example: The details on excluding sick pay from your taxable income cover seven pages.

STATE TAKES

You can deduct state income taxes, real estate and stage gasoline taxes but not federal gasoline taxes — the states and their gasoline tax rates are in the instruction sheet — personal property taxes; state sales taxes — the instruction sheet has a list of the states, their sales taxes, and how much you can reasonably deduct in accordance with your income and family size — interest on a personal loan, on a house mortgage, on delinquent taxes, and on personal property bought on the installment plan, like an automobile or a dishwasher.

You can exclude the first $100 of your stock dividends — $200 if it is a joint return and the husband and wife each owned stock either jointly or individually from which they received at least $100 each — but you no longer can deduct any percentage of the remaining dividends.

You can deduct for union dues and dues in a professional society, fees to employment agencies, alimony payments by the one making them, books and newspapers bought for use in your profession, safety equipment, tools and supplies used in your job, and expenses for your education but only if it is to help maintain or improve your skills required on your present job or to meet your employer's expressed requirement to hold your job.

You can deduct 10 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles and seven cents a mile thereafter for business use of your car. You can deduct what is above the first $100 for each personal loss from vandalism or from theft or casualty, like a storm that damaged your house or an accident that damaged your car, if it wasn't covered by insurance. If your auto accident was due to your wilfulness, you can't deduct at all.

You can deduct transportation costs for going to get medical care — like bus, train, taxi or plane fare — or, if you use your own car, you can deduct five cents a mile.

And if you work free for a qualified charitable organization, and use your car doing so, you can deduct five cents a mile.

You can deduct contributions to charitable, religious or education organizations, such as the Community Chest, United Funds, Salvation Army, churches, Red Cross, heart and cancer associations, tuberculosis societies, nonprofit schools and hospitals; and gifts, but not dues to the YMCA, YWCA, YMHA, YWHA, and organizations such as the American Legion, and to states and cities for public purposes.

You cannot deduct for federal income taxes; federal Social Security taxes withheld from your pay; Social Security payments you make for someone working in your home, like a maid; auto licenses unless based on the value of the auto; drivers' licenses; auto inspection or parking meter fees; taxes you pay for someone else, although you can claim those as part of your support for a dependent; poll taxes; inheritance, gift, cigarette, tobacco or alcoholic beverage taxes; fees for dog tags or hunting or marriage licenses; tolls for roads and bridges, water bills, sewerage and other service charges.

You cannot deduct gifts to political organizations, candidates, relatives, friends or other individuals, labor unions or social clubs.

You cannot deduct federal excise taxes on automobiles, radios, television sets, theater admissions, furs, jewelry, luggage, cosmetics, airline tickets, telephones.

There's no room here for many other kinds of deductions you can take or benefits you can take, like moving or travel expenses if you are transferred to a new job or retirement income credit, or deductions for child care. All those involve detailed explanations.

You'll find them explained in the instruction sheet and the IRS booklet.

LABOR TROUBLE IN ATHENS—Citizens in Athens, Greece board a bus yesterday rented by the government and walk around a pile of refuse. Public transport and municipal employes are on strike for higher wages. The government's steps to counteract the strike include renting buses, sending the army to pick up trash and finding servicemen with baking experience to man the bread bakeries.

School to Teach Horseshoeing

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP) — Construction is under way near here on a federally financed trade school designed to put the village smithy back under the chestnut tree.

Classes begin at the resident school of farriery in May.

★ ★ ★

Even the project's consultants at Virginia Polytechnic Institute had to consult a dictionary to find out that farriery is the trade of shoeing a horse.

Yet, the Small Business Administration has found enough demand for farriers to finance the project with a $15,000 loan.

SCHOOL TEACHER

Recipient of the loan is Luther "Smokey" Ward, 54, who will be headmaster and teacher of the school. He will have a maximum of 16 students for each 12-week course the year around.

Both men and women will be eligible to study at the school on a one acre tract east of this city near the North Carolina border.

Says Ward, who shod his first horse at the age of 12 under the tutelage of his father, "It's a fact there are more horses in the country than ever before — and less farriers.

"And when a horse needs a pair of shoes, he can't wait."

Ward, a personable, folksy man who plays entertaining bluegrass guitar, is one of the best-known horseshoers in the Southeast. He services customers in several states, traveling in a van that is a blacksmith shop on wheels.

Veterans Hear Romney on Benefit Plan

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney's proposed scaled-benefits plan for Michigan veterans is under study by veterans group leaders.

Commanders of state veterans groups agreed to take Romney's plan home for study after a dinner meeting at his Bloomfield Hills home Wednesday.

Romney was to report on the meeting at a news conference today.

Many of the commanders and other representatives had told the House Committee on Military and Veterans Affairs a few hours before meeting with Romney that they were sticking to their insistence on an expansion of the present property tax exemption for disabled or pensioned veterans from the first $3,500.

Romney said about 60 persons attended the dinner. Eight legislators, State Treasurer Allison Green and members of Romney's staff were there.

★ ★ ★

Romney presented the veterans with a plan that would scale exemptions from the first $2,500 of state equalized valuation for widows of some veterans to $5,000 for veterans with more than 80 per cent disability.

Veterans with disability of 30 per cent and less would receive a $3,000 exemption; those from 31 to 61 per cent disabled would receive $3,500; and those up to 81 per ecnt would receive $4,250.

Romney's plan, which he said would affect the same number of applicants as the present program, would cost $9.1 million a year. An estimated $6.1 million was spent in 1964. His figures showed 82,409 applicants in 1964.

NOTHING NEW

Several House members said veterans group commanders felt inequities in the present program would not be corrected by Romney's proposal.

It also would present administrative difficulties, said Rep. Eugene Cater, D-Ludington.

"The federal government now is in the process of reclassifying every veteran with 18 or 19 years of stable disability. This is in line with a 1964 federal law that says any veteran with a 20-year history of unchanged disability never can be reclassified with a lesser degree. "That would mean every township supervisor and assessing officer would have to become an investigator."

FIGHTING FINISHED — Sheriff Ross Boles (left), Miss Oopie Reneau and her nephew, James Reneau III, buried the hatchet yesterday in their dispute over the Celina, Tenn. jail. The Reneaus bought the jail for $35 at public auction and agreed to let the sheriff keep his prisoners there until the new jail is completed. Miss Reneau at first threatened to free the prisoners so she could begin tearing down her jail to salvage the old bricks.

AP Photofax

Feudin' and Fussin' Ends; 'Jailbreak' Off

CELINA, Tenn. (AP) — The Clay County jail seems out of step with the times, even for the mountain country of the upper Cumberland River. It probably would have fit more appropriately into the period of the French revolution.

★ ★ ★

At any rate, the 96-year-old jail at Celina is on the threshold of destruction.

Miss Oopie Reneau, who bought it for $35, has settled her brief feud with Sheriff Ross Boles.

★ ★ ★

He can keep his prisoners in the jail until his new jail is completed. And her 60-day deadline to tear down the jail has been extended until the prisoners are transferred. Until the feud was settled, she had threatened to burn the lock off the jail and free the prisoners.

WANT BRICKS

Miss Oopie and her nephew, James Reneau III, want the bricks in the old jail for future projects and the iron bars for fence gates.

★ ★ ★

The four prisoners now confined there lounge leisurely on the bunks. But there is one advantage — they can do and come as they please, through the front door, during the daytime.

Stashed away in a dingy, narrow corridor is an old moonshine whisky still. Blankets are stuffed into window frames to shut out the 15-degree weather.

★ ★ ★

A pot-bellied stove yields its warmth to all corners of the jail. A single light-bulb, suspended from the ceiling, casts a faint glow.

ALL HAPPY

All of this now belongs to Miss Oopie and Jim Reneau. And Sheriff Boles is happy. Within a few days, he will move his prisoners into the new, well-equipped jail.

★ ★ ★

Until now, Celina apparently has always had its jail troubles. The first one, built of logs a century ago, was destroyed by fire. The existing one, Miss Oopie's, has been condemned by grand juries for three decades.

★ ★ ★

Miss Oopie said a federal prison survey years ago listed her jail as the third worst in the nation.

"If it's not the worst jail in America, I don't know where you'd find the other one," the sheriff said.

LITTLE STEEP

Miss Oopie believes $35 was a little steep, but she wanted the bricks.

★ ★ ★

"Of course, we don't know what we bought," she says. "Those bricks may crumble into dust when we tear it down."

Overlearning Necessary in Some Subjects

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

Dear Dr. Nason: Not satisfied with talking about dropouts and underachievers, educators are now referring to overlearning. Is it possible to overlearn or what is meant by this term?

T. N., Los Angeles

DR. NASON

Strictly speaking, the educators are talking about an adequate degree of mastery. There is really no such thing as overlearning. This is a term used to describe the situation in which a student's response is made automatically rather than through conscious choice. He doesn't have to stop and think.

Overlearning should be attained in many situations. For example, this degree of learning should take place in multiplication tables in arithmetic.

A child should practice until he knows the answer, without thinking. Only with this degree of mastery can he free his mind for solving more complex problems, such as long division.

Dear Dr. Nason: Our son is deciding between two colleges. He is leaving the final choice to us. We find both colleges have excellent accreditation, academic standards, etc. At one college, he would have to board. He could commute to the other. What benefits and disadvantages do you get from either or both?

Mrs. N.G.E., Baldwin, N.Y.

Boarding is more expensive than commuting. Your son, as a college commuter, would need to exercise self-discipline and concentrate on his college work without allowing his home and community contacts to interfere excessively.

Does he have the self-discipline required? Does he need the experience of getting away from home?

If you cannot make the decision yourself, get counseling from someone who knows your son, the family set-up and the two colleges under consideration. There is no simple "Yes" or "No" answer.

Dear Dr. Nason: Our 11th-grade son complains that he is not able to read the textbook provided in mathematics. Since his reading comprehension scores have always been above average, we feel that in this case it just might be the fault of the textbook rather than the boy.

What should be our approach in discussing this matter with his teacher?

T.N., San Diego, Calif.

Students should be able to read and to understand the materials presented in textbooks. If they cannot, the instructor should search out the cause. Your son may lack the necessary background for the course.

Or the teacher may be unaware that his class presentation does not provide his students with enough grasp of the course to understand the new materials being presented.

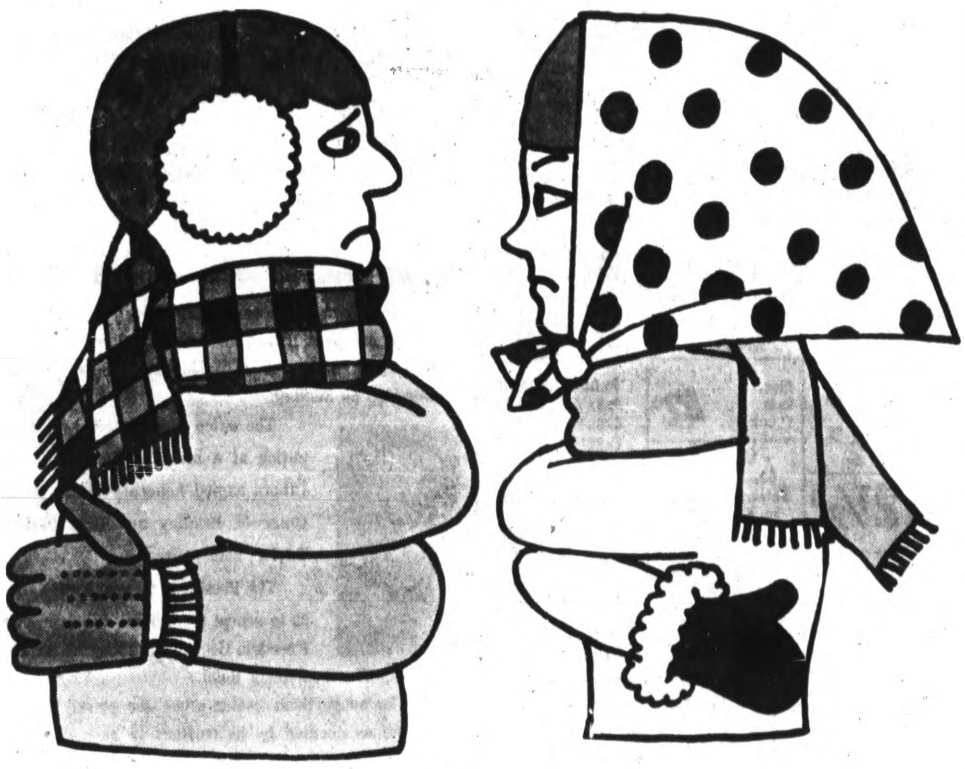
Why do people with hard-to-heat rooms turn to electric heat?



It's pure and simple

Electric heat is the clean, modern heat—no flame, no fumes. It's a snap to install—costs less, too—because it's more compact and needs no flue. And only electric heat is 100% efficient; the heat is created right where it's used.

It's also economical. You can buy an attractive, low-operating-cost unit for as little as $35-$40 (plus thermostat and installation). And we're talking about a unit that can turn a 12' x 20' polar region into a tropical delight. Just dial the exact warmth you want, and you get it. Comfortable heat from head to feet.

So why shiver your timbers in a chilly bedroom, den, or basement any longer? There's a low-cost electric heating unit for every situation, including yours. Give us a call. We'll send an Edison Heating Specialist to discuss equipment, installation, and operating cost with you. There's no obligation, of course.

N-Arms Treaty Talks Said Optimistic

GENEVA (AP) — An atmosphere of cautious optimism about prospects for an East-West treaty to halt the spread of nuclear arms prevailed today at the 17-nation disarmament conference after its first session.

Adding to the mood was an article in the Soviet Communist party paper Pravda which said the Soviet Union is ready to consider charges in its proposed draft of a nonproliferation treaty.

"The Soviet draft offers a good basis for further discussions," Pravda said. "It stands to reason, of course, that it does not rule out any other constructive proposals.

"The urgent need now is to avert a dangerous turn of events, halt the arms race and prevent the dissemination of nuclear weapons."

SAME POSITION

Repeating the position the Soviet Union has taken ever since a nonproliferation treaty was proposed, Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin said Thursday the main obstacle to negotiations was "West Germany's effort to lay its heads on nuclear weapons."

He charged that the U.S. draft treaty contained a "loophole" through which West Germany could get nuclear arms, but that the Soviet draft "prevents cheating and contains no loopholes permitting direct or indirect proliferation."

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Union has opposed any nuclear role for West Germany within the Atlantic alliance, such as its taking part in the proposed multilateral nuclear force.

The U.S.-backed proposal for a force of ships equipped with nuclear arms and manned by mixed crews has been dormant for some time but has never been officially scrapped.

FRANCE OBJECTED

U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has proposed a consultative committee to give West Germany a voice on nuclear strategy within the alliance. It has met once, but France objected to making it permanent.

Asked about McNamara's proposal, Tsarapkin said, "I haven't been given any details. I know nothing about it."

Tsarapkin's obviously feigned ignorance of McNamara's suggestion and his reluctance to make any adverse comment on it encouraged Western officials to believe that such a consultative committee might eventually be accepted by the Russians once the proposed multilateral force is officially scrapped.

British disarmament minister Lord Chalafront has said that in his view the force is "dead." But U.S. delegate William C. Foster has insisted that it is still under discussion within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

British officials are reported irritated at the U.S. refusal to jettison what they see as a major obstacle to reaching agreement with the Russians on a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

Tsarapkin also made an expected blast against U.S. policy in Viet Nam but its tone was mild.

★ ★ ★

"Viet Nam creates difficulties," he said, "but if we obtain a nonproliferation treaty, this creates more favorable conditions for the settlement of other situations as well."

Getty, 73, has rented a furnished castle, Castello di Palo, on Italy's west coast near Ladispoli. He has taken a lease for five years and associates said he will spend most of his winters there.

The oil man has lived in Britain for about seven years, spending much of the time in his 72-room mansion near London.

Johnson Honored Again---Named Church Elder

More honors are coming President Johnson's way.

He has been named an honorary elder of the National City Christian Church, in Washington, where he frequently worships on Sunday.

JOHNSON

The office was created by the congregation at a meeting Wednesday night. Others named honorary elders were Gen. Omar N. Bradley and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, both retired.

The President flies to New York, Feb. 23 to accept the annual Freedom Award of Freedom House at a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The nonpartisan center gives the award annually to the person deemed by its trustees to have done most to advance the cause of freedom.

Middle Age Still Rates a Popular Pastime

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Middle age is getting popular.

It must be—because more and more people are becoming middle-aged.

BOYLE

As a matter of fact, some young folks show signs of being prematurely weary of the problems of youth today, and plaintively wonder when they, too, can enjoy the advantages of middle age.

★ ★ ★

In some cases, couples at the age of 20 who have been going steady since they were 12 do act as if they were already middle-aged. But they are interlopers.

SILVER PASTURE

Only those who have put in the necessary apprenticeship by actual living should be allowed to dwell in the silver pastures of middle age.

Here are some guideposts. You undoubtedly are middle-aged if— You are too old to dance the frug and too young to get medicare.

★ ★ ★

Your appetite is great. You are now able to eat with relish any kind of food put upon your plate which the doctor says is bad for you.

During the day you catnap, but at night it is impossible to sleep eight full hours at a stretch. You invariably wake up in the morning before the alarm clock goes off.

SHOVELING SNOW

It bothers your conscience to look out the window and see your wife shoveling snow. You even consider going out and helping her—but think better of it.

You talk to yourself as you shave, because you realize you probably won't have such a sympathetic audience the rest of the day.

★ ★ ★

It is necessary to send flowers so often to hospitalized friends that you open a charge account with the florist.

When you read a gossip column, you don't recognize the names of eight of 10 of the people being gabbed about—and don't really care what happens to the other two.

'RATE CHEESE'

Any cheese you buy at the supermarket doesn't have the remembered tang of the "rate cheese" sample your old-fashioned groceryman used to give when you were a boy.

At a party you find it much easier to make conversation with women wearing bifocal glasses. They seem to have so much more common sense.

★ ★ ★

You know at least one person who has the gout.

The world is in a mess, but you aren't sure it is worth the bother it would take to unscramble it.

NO VOLUNTEER

If someone asks, "Anybody got a pen?," you hesitate to volunteer yours. After all, over the years you've lost a lot of good pens that way.

Half your working day is spent doodling on ways you can possibly retire ahead of time without starving.

★ ★ ★

You don't cut your toenails as often as you once did. It kind of winds a fellow—bending over that long.

Helping the wife dress isn't so much of a nuisance. You can now zip up the back of her dress without getting the zipper stuck more than twice a year.

MORE CAUTIOUS

You get more cautious. You gulp a couple of antacid pills before—not after—eating cabbage or brussels sprouts.

When you buy a new suit, you feel cheated if a vest doesn't come with it—whether you'd actually ever wear the vest or not.

★ ★ ★

If someone gave you a free roundtrip ticket to Tahiti, you'd sell it. What's in Tahiti for you?

When someone beats you to your favorite parking place, you can't decide whether this is part of a Communist plot—or just another foulup by the government.

You begin to believe that real estate is the only safe investment—so you make the down payment on a cemetery plot.

That's middle age. With benefits like these accruing, you can see why everybody's trying to get into the act early—instead of waiting his turn.

More than 1.2 million Federal employes and their 2.6 million dependents are protected by Blue Cross-Blue Shield through the Federal Health Benefits Program.

Tea for Ticket Sale Has a Fashion Slant

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

The Birmingham home of Mrs. Judge Wesley Bearden was the scene Thursday for a tea.

★ ★ ★

The event was the kick-off of ticket sales for the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Fashionscope to be held in the J. L. Hudson Company's auditorium on March 15 and 16.

★ ★ ★

Proceeds will benefit the maintenance fund of the symphony.

★ ★ ★

ASSISTED

Four past presidents of the association assisted at the tea table: Mrs. Philip C. Baker, Mrs. Warren B. Cooksey, Mrs. Dudley C. Hay and Mrs. Gunnar Karlstrom.

★ ★ ★

Those from this area working on details include Mesdames Charles C. Hilton, Donald Else, James Booth, Elwood Engle, John Denman, and Stephen L. Goodale.

★ ★ ★

Others are Mesdames Lloyd Lake, Harry Nederlander, Robert B. Winter, Edward Nicholas, Ronald Pepin, Richard Ruppel, Phillip Flanders, Donald Walton and Cecil Akroyd.

★ ★ ★

A special feature of this year's Fashionscope will be the presence of designer Vera Maxwell who will award one of her noted costumes to some woman at the tea.

Junior Miss Arrives for New Contest

Patrice Gaunder, America's Junior Miss, is a guest at the Ottawa Drive home of the Harold A. Fitzgeralds. She is here for the 1966 Michigan Junior Miss contest this weekend.

★ ★ ★

Contestants arrived in Pontiac Thursday. They attended an orientation and get-acquainted party last evening at Community National Bank.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the girls, host families and local Jaycee sponsors were among the guests.

HOST FAMILIES

Other area families opening their homes to the teenage girls are Rev. and Mrs. George Widdifield, the Glenn Griffins, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Froede, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hawkins and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nicholie.

★ ★ ★

Others are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bos, the Louis Schimmels, the John Rileys, the William Deans, Mr. and Mrs. Vere Hodges and the David Livingstons.

★ ★ ★

Concluding the host list are Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Mintz, the Herman Dicksteins and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Veazey.

Mrs. Ronald St. Amant, Opdyke Road, is almost overwhelmed as she views the 18-foot refrigerator she won Thursday night at the final session of The Pontiac Press cooking school. Married last June, the St. Amants are house hunting. With Mrs. St. Amant is Al Croff, a representative of World Wide Home Furnishings, Inc., who donated the prize.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Engineer Has Designs

He Likes to Test Them

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a bachelor, 34, and a construction engineer. After six years in the Middle East I have been assigned back to the U.S.

ABBY

I am not handsome, do not own a flashy car, and can't even dance. With these deficiencies one can hardly classify me as a ladies' man. Since returning I have dated many young women, all of them over 21, attractive and from good homes.

As a normal male, I have occasionally made "passes" at girls, but have always ceased and desisted when the girl has drawn the line. Now I find no line is drawn. I considered marriage with two girls, but abandoned the idea when I found them so easy.

Last evening I was a guest in the home of a good friend. His wife made some suggestive remarks to me, which I took as a joke. When her husband left the room to feed the family dog, she let me know she wasn't joking.

I left early and disgusted. Am I old-fashioned? Or, in my absence from the States, has chastity and fidelity been outdated?

DEPRESSED

DEAR DEPRESSED: I am sorry, but I must question the veracity of your reporting. Neither chastity nor fidelity has been declared unconstitutional in this country, and both remain solid virtues observed by normal, well-bred girls.

There are exceptions, of course, and always have been. Either by luck (bad) or by design (perhaps unconscious), you've met the wrong kind of women.

A good engineer ought to be able to figure out a way to meet the right kind.

DEAR ABBY: Re the letter from the woman who complained that her 25-year-old brother is able-bodied, intelligent and unemployed.

She said he lives at home, sleeps 'til noon, plays pool all day and tells his parents he is job hunting. His mother buys his clothes and provides him with a car and spending money. The mother was advised to throw him out, but she won't. The letter was signed "AUS-GESPIELT," which means "all played out" in German.

Our 22-year-old son recently returned from Vietnam and landed a job in one week. He has no car, buys his own clothes and pays board and room. Would you please send him the address of "AUS-GESPIELT'S" mother? He'd like to move in.

Oakland Unit Slates Party

A benefit card party will be held by the Oakland Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. The event is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. Feb. 8 in the Pleasant Ridge Community Center.

Working on committees are Mrs. Roger Burgess, Mrs. Joseph Makowski, Mrs. Edward Kosydar, Mrs. W. H. Ruggles, Mrs. Fred Hornfisher and Mrs. Charles Fowler.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Donald Austin of Birmingham may be contacted for tickets. Proceeds will go into the group's scholarship fund.

Sorority Unit Slates Cards and Hat Sale

Members of the Alpha Beta chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma, are busy planning for a card party and hat sale on Feb. 3 in the First Federal Savings of Oakland Building.

Festivities will get under way at 7:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The event's purpose is to help raise funds for a grant and aid fund for a local student majoring in education.

Hostesses include Mrs. Harvey Bedstrup, Mrs. Albert Kohn, Mrs. Donald Fick, Mrs. Eamer Bigsby and Mrs. Lenn Kennedy.

Cochairmen of the gala are Mrs. Phillip Kinsella and Mrs. Shelton Root Jr.

Dr. and Mrs. Harlow F. Bates of Franklin announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Ann, to John Martin Damanskas, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Damanskas of Kalamazoo. Both are alumni of Michigan State University. Fall vows are planned.

MARY ANN BATES

The N. C. Ruebensaals of Chagrin Falls, Ohio, announce the engagement of their daughter Ann Marie, to Richard Bell Morrow, son of the Earl E. Morrows of Far Hill Drive. Both are seniors at Michigan State University and plan to wed in July.

They're Escape Valves

Lady Boss Needs Mate

Marriage is a decided advantage for women executives says American Home Economics Association president Ruth C. Hall in an article in a recent issue of 'National Business Woman,' official publication of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs Inc.

★ ★ ★

In discussing the "Art of Being A Woman Executive," Dr. Hall says, "The single woman has to be more self-sufficient than the married one and has, in addition, most of the responsibilities — home, family, food, shopping — that continue to belong to women."

Further she says, ". . . husbands — as do wives for their husbands — serve the very important function of escape valves. Female executives, like male ones, must sometimes let off steam.

"Married women executives have a decided edge on single ones for the reason, among others, that their husbands take much in the way of pressure, and even household management, off their wives."

NEEDS SUPPORT

However, she cautioned her business and professional women readers, "if married, the artful woman executive must have not only her husband's agreement to her executive activities, but also his enthusiastic support."

Further, the woman executive must "determine exactly what her values are, set her goals and then choose the methods necessary for her to attain those goals. Successful women executives learn home management very early in their careers . . . so that they have enough time for their husbands, their children, themselves and their jobs."

★ ★ ★

In discussing the performance of women executives, Dr. Hall stressed four skills which must be perfected: getting along with people; making decisions; directing the overall operation, and obtaining the resources with which their employes must work.

SPECIAL PERSON

In summary, Dr. Hall says, "the art of being a woman executive involves a very special kind of woman with unique education and experience. She must recognize and promote the idea that both men and women are necessary to the best solutions to most problems."

She's First Woman Conductor of Major Symphony Orchestra

By JOY MILLER
Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody tried to talk Sylvia Caduff out of her dream of conducting symphony orchestras.

A woman looks ungainly on a podium, they told her in her home town of Chur, Switzerland.

★ ★ ★

How could she get the men in the orchestra to take her direction, asked friends in Lucerne where she was studying piano. What audience would treat her seriously?

NAME ONE!

As a clincher they always ended triumphantly: Name just one woman conductor on the staff of a major symphony orchestra.

Now the slim brunette has an answer: Sylvia Caduff, with the New York Philharominic, an assistant conductor to Leonard Bernstein.

"I'm so happy, so happy," she says, which just about takes care of her working English vocabulary at the moment.

She hopes to be proficient, though by next fall when her stints in New York begin.

Sylvia, 28, was a piano teacher in Lucerne — a fine profession for a woman, everybody thought — until she came to New York early in January for the Dmitri Mitropoulos International Competition.

"I brought my little fur lion along," she said through an interpreter. "I had it with me when I was studying conducting in Berlin at the Conservatory and with Herbert von Karajan from 1962-64. I think it brings me luck."

WINNING BATON

She also carried the baton she had used in reaching the finals in a couple of international conducting competitions in Italy and Denmark.

She would rather borrow someone's toothbrush than use another baton.

The Mitropoulos competition started with 34 contestants from 18 countries, including two women—Sylvia and one from Peru.

Only Sylvia and six young men survived the finals, in Carnegie Hall before a capacity crowd.

★ ★ ★

After the jury of distinguished conductors made their decisions Jan. 17, Bernstein announced the results. Sylvia was one of the four first-place winners.

Two nights later, after the four conducted the New York Philharmonic in Philharmonic Hall, Bernstein announced their new posts:

Three, including Sylvia, would assist him with the Philharmonic next season, the fourth would go to Washington's National Symphony.

Next fall Sylvia should brighten the New York music scene considerably.

She rarely uses makeup, and with her 5-foot-4 boyishly slim figure, brown eyes and dark hair, cut in a short pageboy, she could be called winsomely cute —a description that would horrify her if she understood it in English.

★ ★ ★

She is an intense, no-nonsense, talented professional — from the expert way she handles the baton ("You use it as an extension of the arm, in the right hand for tempo; the left hand is for expression") to her demure long black dress, purposefully unobtrusive so as not to distract from the orchestra and music.

AP Photo

Queen Elizabeth II is shown here as she posed in the white drawing room of Buckingham Palace in connection with her forthcoming tour of the Caribbean. She wears a white satin gown with gold and silver embroidery, the Sash and Star of the Order of the Garter with family orders on the shoulder. Her jewels are diamond drop earrings, a diamond and pearl tiara and a diamond necklace.

Musicale Set by Organists

Jeri Hassock, Sherry Moore, Neal Hale Jr. and Mrs. Clyde Dearing will be featured artists at the Tuesday meeting of the Pontiac Area Hammond Organ Society.

Members and gusts are to arrive at Grinnell's downtown before 7:30 p.m.

Those on the program committee include Dr. and Mrs. James Head, Mrs. Thelma Elwood, John Hausner and the W. A. Collings.

More are the James Ockermans, Mrs. Robert Howland, Shiboy Y. Hayashi and Mrs. Ellen Banfield.

Mexican Visitor

Dr. and Mrs. Jerome Robb of Hiller Road will have as their houseguest Dr. Jose Antonio Quiroz, professor of opthalmology at the University of Mexico, Mexico City this weekend.

Tinted Glasses Poor at Night

NEW YORK (UPI) — Question: Do tinted driving glasses make night-driving safer? Answer: No — according to the Greater New York Safety Council.

The council said even a slightly tinted lens will cut light transmission to the eye 20 to 30 per cent. "Eye doctors, traffic and safety authorities are against them," the council said. "You just cannot see as well or distinguish hazards quickly."

Simple Solution

If you have a plant on the sick list, here's a solution that may help it: Add the shells of several eggs to a milk bottle filled with water and, after allowing it to stand for a day, water your ailing plant with it.

Today's Market Shows Fine Taste of Consumer

Elegant, beautiful and superbly tailored clothes and home furnishings are highlighting the textile market, says Mrs. Carol C. Kurth, area Extension Home Economist in Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Kurth quoted Bernetta Kahabka, textile specialist for Michigan State University's Cooperative Extension Service by saying, "Taste, not necessity, characterizes today's market."

Just what makes all this possible? Miss Kahabka attributes these trends to more money, more mobility, rising educational and occupational levels, more working women and more leisure and sophistication among American families.

QUALITY MERCHANDISE

Indicative of this focus on taste and not necessity are the new images and the higher quality merchandise which chain stores are offering the public.

★ ★ ★

As an example of this growing trend, there has been development in a leading chain store's mail order catalogue for the past 10 years. It has been changing gradually in the direction of better taste and quality.

★ ★ ★

Another important area is art, both in home furnishings and fashions. These range all the way from designer's groups of furniture to towels elegant enough to hang on the wall as a decorative piece.

Prices change too. In some "inexpensive" department stores, sweaters and slacks used to run $2.98 and $3.98. Now they are available up to $12.98.

INFORMATION

Information on clothing and home furnishings for the consumer is available at the Cooperative Extension Service office, 155 N. Saginaw Street, Pontiac, according to Mrs. Kurth.

Letters Pave Visitor's Way for 26 Years

Back in 1940 Mrs. Edwin Johnson of Avon Township began a correspondence with an English girl named Phyllis Haver whose home was just outside of London.

That correspondence flourished. Food parcels made their way to England during the war years. Both girls grew up. And earlier this month they had their first face-to-face meeting.

★ ★ ★

Phyllis Hayer, a nurse who's studying midwifery in Scotland, has been a houseguest of the Johnsons in their Bendelow Road home for several weeks.

She has been sightseeing in the Detroit metropolitan area and has been entertained by many of the Johnsons' friends.

She's gone to dozens of Girl Scout meetings.

Miss Hayer's interest in Girl Guiding (as it's called in England) has been constant since girlhood.

When she was a nurse in Nigeria, she organized a group of native girls into a troop. Later, she became a commissioner of guiding there.

IN PONTIAC

One morning Miss Hayer spent in Pontiac visiting the local Girl Scout office.

At that time she was presented with a senior Girl Scout friendship pin by Jackie Page and Ann Dunlap, senior scouts at Pontiac Central High School.

★ ★ ★

All of this will be in Miss Hayers' 'mention book'. That's what she calls the diary she is keeping of her first American visit. She loves it here.

Area Nurses Are Given Certificates

Ann Arbor Practical Nurse Education Center has awarded certificates to: Mrs. Howard Blackburn, Sharon Conroy, Mrs. Joyce Fox, Mrs. Mary Reynolds, Joyce Smith and Mrs. Dorothy Travis, all of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Darlene Moss, Bloomfield Hills, and Jacquelaine Young, Birmingham, also have graduated from the Ann Arbor school.

MOUNT CLEMENS

Completing studies at the St. Joseph Hospital School of Practical Nursing, Mount Clemens, was Ann Ratliff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ratliff, Rochester.

Takes One Day of 'Cutting Up'

It takes up so much time to cut a garment when you are anxious to get to sewing it. Why not have just a cutting day, if you are one who sews a lot?

★ ★ ★

Cut out a number of garments, place each along with the pattern and suitable thread in a plastic bag. Then when you get ready to sew, the cutting is already done. Also, the cleaning up of the mess made cutting is behind you.

Pontiac Press Photo

Phyllis Hayer of London, England, chats with local Girl Scouts during a visit this week to Northern Oakland County Council headquarters. Miss Hayer was presented with a senior Girl Scout friendship pin. She has been active in Scouting in her home country and in Nigeria.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I would like some information on the use of pinking—when to pink and when not to pink. I have heard many different answers on the subject. Who is right? Mrs. V. L.

Dear Mrs. V. L.:

First, do NOT use pinking shears to cut your garment fabric, they will pull the fabric out of shape, you can't find the notches, and it will need to be re-pinked when garment is completed.

Do not pink seams of a jacket or coat, the lining will cover the seams. If your fabric doesn't ravel, pink the seams of your garment after they are completed. It will create a neat, professional look. If your fabric ravels badly, it will need to be overcast either by hand or machine.

Dear Mrs. F. G.:

The shirred skirt the designers refer to means a soft gathered effect on the skirt. This can be achieved and can be done to any ordinary skirt pattern by eliminating the darts and gathering the entire top of the skirt. With just the darts eliminated, there will be the right fullness that is shown in high-fashion clothes, remember, it takes a very tall and extremely thin gal to get by with it!

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

With the new double-faced fabrics, everyone will be making flat-felled seams; here's my trick! For turning under the material when making felled seams, an emery board is indispensable. It's just rough enough to hold the material in place without pulling any puckers.

Mrs. Helen B. Haaland, Woodbury, Conn., receives a Tailor Trix pressing board for this suggestion.

If you are an average seamstress, one of your greatest problems is sleeves. You'll love the step-by-step instructions in my leaflet, "All about Sleeves." For your copy, send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Eunice Farmer, in care of The Pontiac Press.

MRS. J. A. BALLARD

Miss Miller, J. A. Ballard Speak Vows

Wearing her sister's wedding gown of French lace over white satin, Sandra Jean Miller became the bride of Jerry Allan Ballard, Wednesday in the Clarkston Methodist Church.

★ ★ ★

A heart-shaped headpiece cradled her illusion veil and camellia petals encircled her bouquet of pink Dutchess glamellias.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the couple are the Clark J. Millers of West Seymour Lake Road, Brandon Township, and Rev. and Mrs. R. Kyle Ballard of Ortonville.

★ ★ ★

With Mrs. John Cook, her sister's honor matron were the bridesmaids Marie Massey, Judy Palshan of Ortonville, and Judy Quarles of Pontiac.

Thomas O. Ballard was his brother's best man at the evening rite performed by their father.

★ ★ ★

Ushers were John M. Cook of Clarkston; William Kotowicz of Flint and Claude A. Kitchen of Huntington, W. Va.

★ ★ ★

The bride's nephews Mark and Clark Cook were ringbearers.

★ ★ ★

The couple will live in Flint where he attends Flint Junior College.

Dior Disappoints 7th Ave. Americans

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press International

PARIS — Dior's 1920 Charleston dresses and the ultra short skirts of Paris today stirred up a controversy among American buyers.

Some of them gave the style a flat thumbs down.

A survey showed that so far the favorite spring collection for most buyers was the zippy "sophisticated baby" look of designer Michel Goma at the house of Jean Patou.

The Dior show traditionally is patronized heavily by U.S. store and factory representatives who regard it as the main reason for their business trip to the Paris collection show.

NEVER MAKE IT

But remarks by buyers emerging from the Dior showing Thursday night indicated that designer Marc Bohan's short "bathtub gin" dresses with low-slung belts, blousy bust-hiding tops and pleated skirts may never make it to Seventh Avenue and the mass market.

"No woman will wear those dresses, they don't do anything for the body," said one New York store buyer. Another commented, "women don't have thin hips like Dior models. The low belt and hip pockets and pleats just make hips look wider."

"They'll never sell," one American manufacturer added.

DISAPPOINTING

A Chicago buyer called the Dior show "frankly disappointing." A furrier described it as "good but not outstanding." But the buyers emphasized that although they may not go for the 1920 Charleston line there were plenty of more conventional sheaths, little suits and coats in the huge collection that would be purchased.

Buyers pay from $800 at small houses to $2,000 at Dior to see the shows. The price of entry can be applied to purchases, so the price, called a "caution," insures that anybody who enters will buy something.

★ ★ ★

Buyers' comments in a different survey indicated that the knee-baring hemlines of Paris may not make it across the Atlantic, either.

Paris fashion designers seem to have decreed lively, way-out clothes for girls under 25 and elegant, more serious high fashion for everyone else.

BALMAIN

The more conservative camp was represented by the showing of Pierre Balmain. Jacques Heim and Gerard Pipart of the Nina Ricci salon were ready to join the accent on youth.

Designers advocating the young look of skirts above the knees and stiff, "geometric" coats and skinny dresses, launched in 1964 by Andre Courreges, were in the majority.

Only conservative Madeleine de Rauch presented softly molded suits, printed silk coats and dresses and little black cocktail dresses in the French tradition. Her theory was that most of the women who have money to buy clothes can't wear the "campy" look.

"I have always resisted being led down the easy path of foolish fads," she announced defiantly to press and buyers at her show Monday.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the salon added that her policy of sticking to "elegance" has paid off because in the past year "she has doubled her turnover."

Mme. de Rauch made everything seem normal in Paris again by showing such classic designs as a red coat and skirt with a black-and-white polka dot blouse. Skirts discreetly showed only half the knee and were often accordion pleated.

★ ★ ★

In the old tradition of elegant high fashion also were pin-striped coat dresses with crisp white collars and cuffs, navy blue dresses with white organdy collars, a navy blue suit with a huge white pique collar and a little black softly draped dress worn with a big black picture hat.

The "ye ye" designers would swallow their pins before presenting such "square" classics.

A tropical terrace is translated for indoor living. The light honey colored vinyl tile has a swirled mosaic-like texture. The dramatic Maharani chair, plus a low table and a profusion of throw pillows are informal and fun. This 'How America Can Live' setting is on display at the Merchandise Mart in Chicago. Anyone can copy it.

Cover Foam Pillows With Fabrics

Throw pillows are the frosting on your decorative cake.

They add color and life wherever you use them, especially important during the drab winter months.

They can be covered in any fabric, from satin and velvet to corduroy or felt. They can be beaded, embroidered, ruffled, or embellished in dozens of different ways.

★ ★ ★

A thrifty way to outfit your home with throw pillows is to make them yourself. Ready to cover latex foam rubber pillow cores are available in square, round, or cylindrical shapes from curtain and drapery stores or catalog stores.

The one-piece latex foam cores are easier to use than loose stuffings, and they hold their shape permanently because the latex foam will not shift or mat down.

Very often, you can find suitable covering fabrics in your home. A bright dress, a cheerful towel, an apron, tablecloth, old curtains, or even a swatch of carpeting can be converted into a throw pillow.

To add a professional touch to your project, buy braid, tassels, or decorative fringe. Used on the edge or faces of the pillows in patterns or as a border, the trimming will give your pillow a complete look that matches anything you can buy ready made.

For children's rooms, cut outs of animals, autos, boats and other simple, gay designs can be stitched to the pillows to make them attractive to children.

And to make a few pillows go a long way, sew a zipper into the covers. Then you can switch covers with the seasons, using the same latex foam core.

Throw pillows are easy to make, using ready-to-cover latex foam cores and decorative braid, fringe, and tassels. The trimmings give a finished look comparable to the finest ready-made pillows. The latex foam core is important, because it is easier to use than loose stuffings, and is dust-free, nonallergenic, and never loses its shape.

Grandma's Art Is Good Tonic

SNYDER, N.Y. (AP) — No terrain is too rough nor any perch too precarious for Mrs. Mary K. Cook, 86-year-old great-grandmother, when she goes sketching along with other members of her art class.

An exhibit of her works, including about 30 paintings in oil and water colors, is on display at the Amherst Public Library, and Mrs. Cook recently won an award in another exhibit.

"Shortly after World War II I had a siege of asthma and was bored just sitting around the house," the artist explains. "My son brought me some paints and said 'Mother, get to work'. I did and I've been painting since."

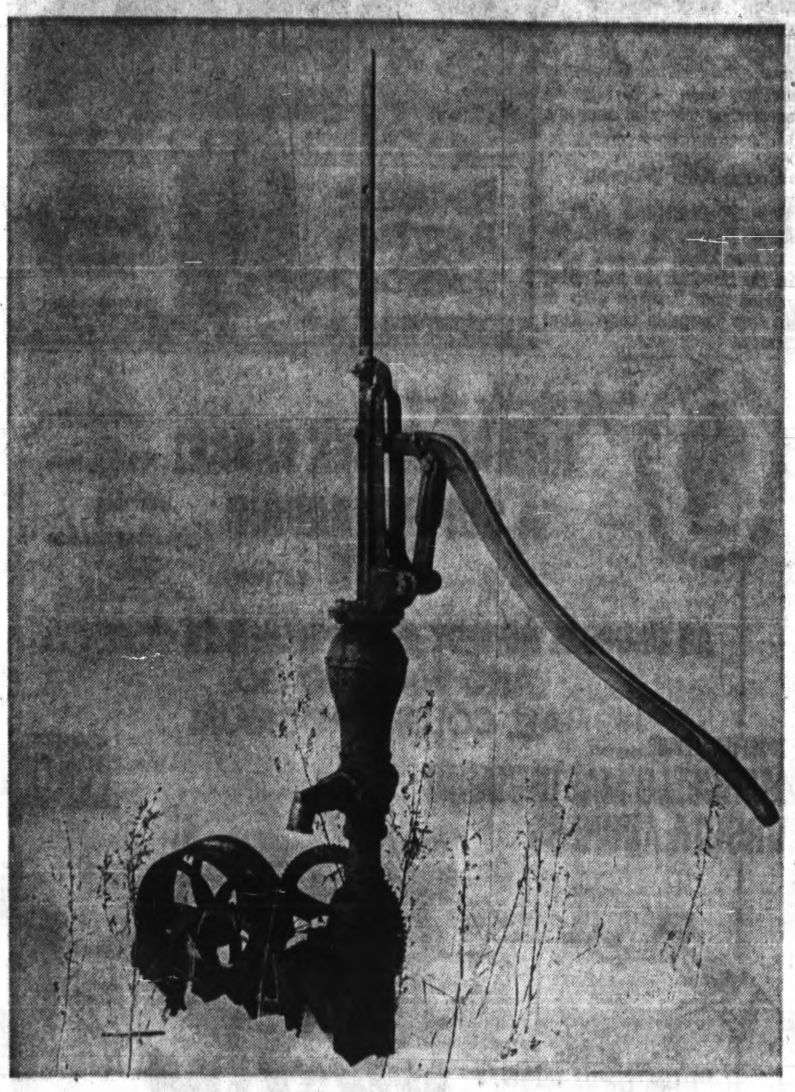
Beauty of Winter Is Found in the Country



Delicate Weed Patterns Contrast Sharply With Curves Of Pump

By BILL EASTHAM
Asst. City Editor—Suburban

Few adults have anything complimentary to say about winter.

It is a time of hardship, discomfort and increased heating bills, and only the ski buff and the coaster sled set can find much in it to enjoy.

There is no place for snow in the city, where it is soon pushed aside by the wheels of progress and blackened by the grime of industry.

But in the country it mostly lies undisturbed, transforming the commonplace into the beautiful.

Such beauty lies unobserved by those of us riding the fast-moving carrousel of life.

DELICATE TRACERY

One does not notice the delicate tracery of weeds gathered around an abandoned windmill pump while traveling down the highway a mile a minute.

And who among the drivers of today's sleek autos can detect the mood of loneliness of an obsolete tractor, pride of a generation past, as it sits abandoned at the edge of a field?

Picturesque rail fences, a vanishing segment of the country scene, are a mere blur to the fast-moving traveler.

★ ★ ★

The mood of contentment of shaggy-maned horses, heading for the barn as dusk approaches, is lost on the weary laborer heading home for a well-earned supper.

BLANKET OF SNOW

Even the homely lines of a modern hay rake are endowed with a certain grace when outlined against a spotless blanket of snow. But who's to notice?

Winter, with its hardships, discomfort, etc., can be beautiful—if one takes time to look for beauty.

Rice Plays Key Role in Shaping Destinies of Many Nations

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Once again a tiny white kernel, loaded with political dynamite, has nations uneasy and governments trembling.

Rice has made and broken governments and caused wars. It can do so again.

★ ★ ★

It is one of the many reasons for today's war in Viet Nam. It is one of the many reasons for the feud which splits the Communist world.

Its political potential shows in Indonesia, where it provoked demonstrations against the government; and in Cuba, where it caused Fidel Castro and the Chinese Communists to snap angrily at one another.

KING IN ORIENT

Rice is king in the Orient. It has been around longer than written history and today plays a role in shaping the destinies of two billion people. To most of them rice is a way of life — in fact, life itself.

From the rice plant the Oriental feeds himself, his family and his cattle, fertilizes his land, roofs his home, distills his brews, fashions his sandals, hats, floor matting, screens and bedding, even makes medicines.

There are only a few rice-surplus areas. In lands with a combined population of 1.5 billion, a deficit is growing more acute. As it does, so do the dangers of violent repercussions.

Ancient habits, inefficiency, political chaos and warlike turmoil contribute to the woes of those who depend on rice. When there is no rice, there is danger of violence. When there is violence, there is no opportunity to attack the problem.

IMPORTANCE OF RICE

The importance of rice is illuminated by the politics swirling about it.

Suppose, for example, the Communists owned all Southeast Asia, the rice-surplus area of Thailand, Burma and South Viet Nam. If distribution of that rice were confined to Communist Asia, it would be a big contribution to easing pressures in China and North Viet Nam. Red nations would be better able to concentrate on industrial and military development to spread their domination.

★ ★ ★

Thus Southeast Asia is an attractive prize for the Communists.

Thailand is rich in rice. Again in 1965 it reaped a big crop: eight million tons, with nearly two million marked for export. Burma, Cambodia and South Viet Nam are surplus areas, but the latter's production now is endangered by war. Most of the rest of Asia — China, India, Ceylon, Indonesia, North Viet Nam, Malaysia, Laos, the Philippines and Nepal — must import rice.

ALARMING SITUATION

India's situation is alarming. A severe drought blasted its hopes for record production of rice and other grains in 1965. Its eastern and southern people rely heavily on rice of which India is chronically short. Efforts are being made to use other grains in rice-eating areas. The pattern is similar in Pakistan.

Ceylon's 1966 crop is expected to be only a bit higher than that of 1965 and it will need to import huge quantities.

★ ★ ★

Indonesia, a fertile country seized by political and economic chaos, must import rice to balance an unfavorable crop. Even in her rice belt there have been reports of severe hunger. Until 1964, Indonesia imported $125-million worth of U.S. rice annually to help feed 105 million people. Then, though the nation lacked prospects for increased production, President Sukarno banned rice imports to save foreign currency. The shortage grew. After an abortive Communist coup last October, it became acute. The price to the consumer is 16 times what it was last June.

PHILIPPINES

In the Philippines, rice is ensnarled in politics. Authorities say the Philippines could produce enough rice to feed its 30 million people three times over. But a government program to mollify the politically volatile consumer holds prices down so production is only marginally profitable. A nation which could export rice to the hungry Orient must import it instead.

Hong Kong and Malaysia import to meet chronic gaps between demand and production. Malaysia's ambitious development program seeking self-sufficiency is showing results, so imports, mainly from Thailand, are being cut. But Malaysia still is only 60 per cent self-sufficient, officials report.

Burma, a surplus area, will have less rice to export this year. Monsoon floods, the worst in 50 years, destroyed 200,000 paddy acres in the rice basin.

Japan imports large amounts. She lost rich supply areas, Formosa and Korea, in World War II, but good techniques made her the world's most efficient rice producer. Production now nears 13 million tons and imports consequently have dropped, but this year, because of spiraling demand, she still must import 900,000 tons.

COMMUNIST PROBLEMS

Communist lands are plagued by rice problems.

In Cuba, where rice is a staple, the crop will be so short that rations will be severely cut while Castro seeks new sources. China refused to sell Cuba any more rice because, it said, of stepped-up shipments to another deficit area: North Viet Nam. There may have been punishment involved, too, since Castro had swung far into the Soviet orbit.

★ ★ ★

Red China, in a rush to build its economy, met disaster with the failure of its "big leap" in the late 1950s. Some areas of rice-eating China experienced severe hunger. The Russians did not help, and this contributed to the Peking-Moscow row.

★ ★ ★

Communist North Viet Nam had a revolt in 1956 because of rice. Troops had to be used in Ho Chi Minh's own home province of Nghe An. As in China, the rush to change everything of the past, stamp out "rich farmers," break land into small, uneconomic units, affected rice production in Tonkin, always a deficit area.

★ ★ ★

So important has rice been to China that once it was a capital offense to export it. For centuries, China imported it from Southeast Asia. Yet, while China never could afford to export rice, she did so under the Communists for political purposes or in search of foreign currency.

The Orient, from Iran to the Philippines, from China's Yangtze Valley to Indonesia, produces perhaps 90 per cent of the world's rice, but swiftly rising population outstrips production.

★ ★ ★

Rice is grown in many other areas. In Egypt, it is the staple of the fellah, the lowly peasant. It is grown in Italy, North Africa, Spain and Brazil. The United States has supplied rice abroad under the Food for Peace program, but rice no longer is considered surplus in this country.

UNDERCOVER AGENT — Actor David McCallum, who plays the part of undercover agent Illya Kuryakin in the television series, "The Man From U.N.C.L.E.," isn't a bit worried his dramatic career will be overshadowed by the irrepressible Illya. "You see, I am Illya only when I appear on 'The Man From U.N.C.L.E.'," he says. In this particular segment of the show, McCallum, as Illya, is dragged across the desert in a parachute.

'Shaking Illya Is No Problem'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD—It seemed like a case for "The Man from U.N.C.L.E.:" How does a Scottish actor named David McCallum escape from the undercover agent Illya Kuryakin?

THOMAS

The plot is complicated because McCallum and Kuryakin are one and the same, as every well-informed American teenager knows. McCallum plays the Russian-born agent of the United Network Command for Law and Enforcement in the popular NBC series.

★ ★ ★

McCallum is no prefabricated teen-age idol. He came to U.N.C.L.E. with a growing reputation as one of England's most accomplished young actors on the basis of such films as "Freud," "The Great Escape" and "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

Like most British actors, McCallum was classic-trained. Hence he seems out of place in the company of rock 'n' roll stars, as he was in the current teen-age musical spectacular, "The TNT Award Show."

CONTENTED TV STAR

Yet McCallum is that rarity: A contented TV series star. He is not at all concerned that his dramatic career will be overshadowed by the irrepressible Illya.

"You see, I am Illya only when I appear on 'The Man From U.N.C.L.E.'," he explained. "When I appeared on the Roger Miller TV special, I was not Ilya, nor did I do a satire of a spy show. I am not Illya on my Capitol record album, 'Music — A Part of Me.' Nor was I Illya in the TNT film.

★ ★ ★

"All this is part of a design to avoid being overly identified with the role I play on TV. It extends to the films I do when the series is not in production."

McCallum's career is branching out in varied directions for the very reason that he realizes the teen-age clamor can be a tenuous base for a career.

TEEN-AGERS FICKLE

"I am grateful for their attention now," he remarked, "but I realize that the teen-agers are enormously fickle. Today's sensation can be quickly forgotten as they grow up. The new generation of teen-agers comes up, and they want to establish their own particular favorites.

★ ★ ★

"But that teen-age following can prove valuable — if you can appeal to them on a different level later on. I hope I can exploit other facets of my career to give teen-agers reason to come back to me when they have grown up."

The system worked to perfection in the case of Frank Sinatra, whose most loyal fans today are matrons who screamed over him as bobbysocked teen-agers. It could happen to David McCallum, too.

Replacement Named to Detroit TV Post

DETROIT (AP)—The appointment of John E. Campbell as general manager of WXYZ-TV was announced Thursday by American Broadcasting Co.

Campbell, who had been general sales manager of WBKB-TV, an ABC station in Chicago, replaced John F. Pival, who resigned Wednesday effective Feb. 11, to form an independent television company.

School Experiment Changes Community

By JACK MILLER

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — School was out for the day, but you would hardly know it.

Girls in black tights pirouetted on the auditorium stage during the ballet class. The school library bustled with activity. Some children were lined up to check out books while others pored over homework assignments.

★ ★ ★

The description might indicate Webster-Davis Elementary School is in one of America's affluent, education-conscious suburbs. Not at all.

It is in one of Richmond's poorest areas, a primarily Negro neighborhood of about 4,000, called Fulton, which lies on low ground in a semi-isolated section of the city's East End.

IN SAD SHAPE

Two years ago, Fulton was in sad shape. Many of its leaders and home owners had left for better areas. A large percentage of its population became transient.

Today there is new life and new hope in Fulton.

★ ★ ★

At the center of the vitality is Webster-Davis School. It is the Fulton headquarters for a human development project sponsored by Richmond public schools and the Ford Foundation.

The project is an assault not only on the deficiencies of children who come from poor and broken homes, but on the homes themselves.

BEFORE CLASS

It begins daily at 7:30 a.m., when youngsters start arriving — voluntarily — for a before-school class of one hour.

Many are there simply to keep warm. Their parents have left early for work and will not permit a fire in the house.

★ ★ ★

Some youngsters are there to take showers, others to talk over their personal problems, others to seek extra help with studies.

Chief of the before-school sessions is Robert H. Kemp, a jolly but serious-minded teacher in whom many of the youngsters confide. He talks to the children about behavior and ranges over many topics, including the daily news.

LIVING PROOF

His No. 1 assistant is an 11-year-old boy who was once a disciplinary problem but now, Kemp says, is living proof of a person's ability to turn over a new leaf.

Kemp pounds away at the theme of self-improvement and the youngsters have adopted as their slogan: "To get a good job, get a good education."

★ ★ ★

"The thing that has impressed me so much is the increased respect the children have developed for law and order. It begins with things like taking care of their books and clothing."

At 8:45 a.m., Webster-Davis has an assembly for the whole school, 15 minutes before the start of regular classes. Called the "quiet hour," it was begun to reduce tardiness.

PROBLEM ENDED

Now, with a surprise program in store each day, tardiness no longer is a problem. Among the programs are movies, music and speakers.

The regular school day is similar to those of most elementary schools. But specialized educators pack extra power into the program.

★ ★ ★

An important extra is special reading help. The school has a full-time reading specialist who conducts classes for children with unusual problems and holds frequent classes for the teachers.

Another extra is the "resources room." Here, classes of children are sent periodically for instruction in such things as good grooming, good manners and home economics.

SCHOOL BANK

To teach pupils thrift, the school has its own bank, and pupils are encouraged to save. one class built up a deposit of $130 before Christmas spending wiped it out.

★ ★ ★

While the school is working with the children, a "visiting teacher," Ollie B. Gee, is working as an intermediary with the parents.

★ ★ ★

During the first two years of the three-year project, Mrs. Gee says, the parents "have become more and more interested and involved in the school."

Webster-Davis daily operation does not end when the library closes and the ballet class is over. At night, it conducts a full program of education for adults and children.

COMMUNITY COG

Elsie G. Lewis, principal of Webster-Davis, says the school has become "the pivotal thing in the community."

"Our idea has been that the capabilities are inborn in all children — even in a poor area," says Mrs. Lewis. "If you give them the opportunities, you can help them become worthwhile citizens. I think it is just a lack of these things that has held so many down."

★ ★ ★

Results of the Fulton project show up quickly in the performance and behavior of the children. The guidance counselor, Doris Bradford, says reading level and achievement test scores have been "surging upward" since the start of the project.

In the community itself, measurement of progress is more difficult. But the signs are unmistakable.

HOMES IMPROVED

Many Fulton residents are paintting their homes, even renters who have bought the paint and done the job themselves. Several new apartment buildings are going up.

Children are coming to school better fed, clothed and rested.

★ ★ ★

But as one project official confided:

"We won't really know what this project has accomplished until these children grow up and we can see what they amount to."

By JACOBY & SON

Albert (Dingy) Weiss played one of the best hands in the trials when he bid a slightly unsound four-spade contract. Everyone else stopped at three spades and made exactly that. Dingy made four.

JACOBY

When asked how he acquired that 10th trick, Dingy replied, "No trouble. They took the first three tricks and I took the next 10."

That is exactly what happened but his taking of those 10 represents card reading plus a nice little squeeze.

Dingy knew that his four-spade bid was a decided push. North's jump to three spades over West's double was by no means forcing but Dingy hoped that his partner would not hold three small diamonds.

West opened the king of diamonds and continued with the ace and a small one to East's queen while Dingy had to follow suit. The East returned a heart and it was up to Dingy.

Certain that West would hold the king of hearts for his double, Dingy went up with the ace of hearts after mature deliberation.

Dingy's next step was to finesse successfully against the king of spades. Then he continued running off the rest of his trumps and discarding everything but the four clubs from dummy.

Dingy retained queen and one heart and ace and one club and West was forced to let a club go in order to hang on to the king of hearts. Now Dingy played the ace and another club and finessed against West's queen. This left dummy with two good clubs and Dingy with his game.

Q—The bidding has been:

You, South, hold:
♠ K 10 7 6 ♥ A 3 ♦ Q 10 5 4 ♣ 8 6 2

What do you do?

A—A pass is very conservative. A three no-trump bid is a trifle optimistic. We favor three hearts slightly in preference to the other possibilities.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid three hearts and your partner bids three no-trump. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

Three of the six wives of Henry VIII of England were named Catharine.

College Voids All Marks on Stolen Exam

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The University of Miami has voided the results of a final examination that was rifled from a professor's office by one student and sold to others.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Armin H. Gropp, vice president for academic affairs, said Thursday the 1,600 students who took the exam will not be required to take another. Instead, the dean's council has ruled that semester grades in the natural science course will be based on previous exam grades.

★ ★ ★

Dr. William R. Butler, vice president for student affairs, said an official university probe indicates that a single student was responsible for stealing the material.

Butler said it is still not known how many students had access to the exam.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Saturday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): Not wise to confuse friendship and business. Ask for more discriminating criticism. Means no-dey to bank on well-wishers or wishful thinking. Where money is concerned . . . BE FIRM.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20): Cycle high. Opposition from some in authority is but temporary. No time to create major issues out of minor disputes. You can overcome most obstacles.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Emphasize fact in dealing with members of opposite sex. Element of JEALOUSY is present. Remember promises to call or write. This could banish tendency toward possible resentment.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Trust intuitive intellect. Be curious to discover answers. Piece together bits of information — come up with complete story. Individual born under AQUARIUS could aid personal project.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): New situations, challenges demand time, attention. Not wise to take things for granted. Be aware of public relations. Better to do more listening than talking. Be safe rather than sorry.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): You are confronted with INDECISION. People look for a weather-vane. You can only provide example with thorough confident approach. Don't attempt to force issues, decisions just now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): If you are active . . . you gain in material sense. If you permit matters to slide . . . delay, discouragement result. Draw upon hidden resources, vitality. Youngster may have bright idea. Listen!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Check property, contracts. Important that you are aware of security. Be sure payments are up-to-date on special agreements. Concentration should be PROTECTION.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): You may be asked to perform extra duties. Personal welfare depends upon your willingness to cooperate. Give and you will receive. Stress maturity . . . help family member.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Dispute involving expenditures could erupt before day is over. Necessary for you to handle added responsibility. Don't delegate duties. Understand future indications.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Talkative associate could create embarrassing situation. Maintain aplomb. Don't base actions on impulse. Study situation. Keep basic facts in forefront.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar. 20): Some persons close to you may be genuinely confused. Be considerate . . . depend upon your own knowledge. Realize others may not possess necessary information.

★ ★ ★

IF SATURDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you are intuitive, often moody — you require creative outlet for your numerous talents. You would gain most in research field, or job where you could work largely independently of others.

★ ★ ★

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for TAURUS, GEMINI. Special word to AQUARIUS: Kin may appear argumentative. Don't compound error.

Seek to Alter Divorce Laws

Want Reform Move on California Ballot

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Divorce American style, described by its opponents as "trial by combat" and "lawyers' blackmail," would go out the window under a proposed amendment to the California State Constitution.

★ ★ ★

Court actions with their personal battles, high law fees and headline publicity would be replaced by decisions of a state department of family relations run by six elected directors.

Backers of the proposal announced yesterday a drive to get the required 468,259 signatures by April 12 to qualify for the June 7 ballot.

The amendment is sponsored by United States Divorce Reform, Inc., an organization with chapters in 43 states, Australia, Germany and West Pakistan. Many of its leaders are losers in state divorce courts.

★ ★ ★

G. J. Winterfield, 50, California director of the reform group, told a news conference that California was chosen as the pilot state because "it leads the civilized world in divorce.

MUST SURVIVE

"We have got to' stop this slaughter of our homes if we are to survive as a nation," said Winterfield, a doctor of chiropractic medicine and divorced father of four children.

"We are destroying homes to get rid of relatively minor problems."

★ ★ ★

Under the proposed amendment the Department of Family Relations would have exclusive jurisdiction, subject to appellate court review, over divorce, annulment and separate maintenance proceedings.

Trading Heavy

Industrials Soften in Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Industrials softened in an irregular stock market early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

The ticker tape ran late as the market slipped into a bog of profit taking, switching and hedging prior to the weekend.

★ ★ ★

Even the aerospace defense issues, which have been very strong most of the week, were patchy as Wall Street awaited President Johnson's carefully-pondered decision on whether bombing should be renewed in North Viet Nam.

Airlines slipped decisively as some long term profits were taken on a broad front.

HIGHER ON BALANCE

Nonferrous metals, rails, drugs and some of the electronics were higher on balance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 369.4 with industrials off .3, rails up .3 and utilities unchanged.

★ ★ ★

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 1.50 at 988.86.

A number of sizable blocks sold at lower prices. Standard Oil (New Jersey), which reported its first annual earnings decline in eight years, lost ¾ at 81 on a block of 70,700 shares.

MOSTLY HIGHER

Prices were mostly higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. American Book gained 3, Carnation, Lynch and Eastern Co. about 2 each. Gains of a point or more were made by O'Okiep Copper, Soss Manufacturing, Xtra Inc., Audio Devices, Brown Engineering, Conductron and Ehrenreich Photo. GTI and Davidson were fractional losers.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Romney Asks for Stiffer Health Laws in Wake of TB Outbreak

LANSING (AP) — Recommendations for legislation to strengthen examinations for tuberculosis were announced Thursday by Gov. George Romney.

★ ★ ★

Romney said he was asking for the stiffened tests after consulting Dr. Albert Heustis, state health director. He called for:

—An annual TB examination for persons who by the nature of their employment could constitute a public health hazard if they were infected with tuberculosis.

—A requirement that persons operating group residence care, education or camping programs for children certify the children have been tested for tuberculosis and protected against communicable diseases.

★ ★ ★

The recommendations were result from a recent outbreak in Garden City, where a teacher spread tuberculosis to 17 nursery school children.

CLOSE CONTACT

Under the proposed legislation, Romney said, the state health director would have rule-making authority to establish the scope of coverage of persons dealing in close contact with the public.

The governor had suggested that the coverage include not only teachers but beauticians, barbers, Santa Clauses, bartenders, all food handlers, professional adult baby sitters and others.

★ ★ ★

Under present law, requirements for TB examinations of teachers are established on a local option basis. Local option laws also are applicable to food handlers.

Heustis, meanwhile, said Michigan had taken great strides in the control of tuberculosis despite the Garden City incident.

MODERN METHODS

Because of modern methods of diagnosis and treatment, he said, there has been a marked decline in deaths from tuberculosis and the number of TB hospitals has been reduced.

State law, he said, requires a TB skin test be included as part of the health requirement for every youngster entering school.

Heustis noted, however, that less than 50 per cent of the state's schools have a program requiring evidence that all school personnel are free of TB.

In a related development, Lynn Kellogg, deputy director of the State Department of Social Welfare, said his office had renewed the license of the Garden City nursery unaware health reports on some staff members were missing or incomplete.

Killing Suspect 'Sane'

ST. JOSEPH (AP) — Willard Schubert, 49, has been found sane and able to stand trial on a charge of murder in the shooting Oct. 13 of Charles Bujack, 33, of Benton Harbor. Bujack was found dead in an orchard near Benton Harbor. His wife, Orine, formerly was married to Schubert.

Phi Beta Kappa, oldest Greek letter college fraternity, was founded at the College of William and Mary.

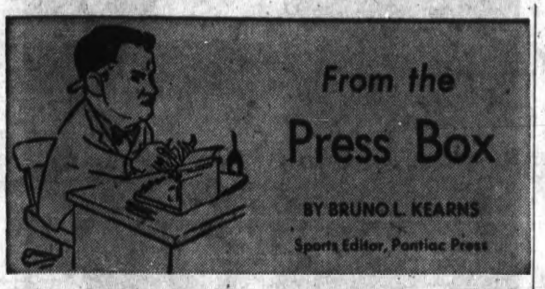
Braves Plan Season Opener at Atlanta



Remember Pete Dawkins, who grew from a scrawny 120-pound sophomore at Cranbrook to a 165-pound senior and then to a 195-pound All-America, Heisman Trophy and Rhodes Scholar winner at Army?

He is now Captain Dawkins, serving with our U. S. Army team, 12,000 miles away, in Viet Nam.

Dawkins recently saw a squib about him in the Saigon Post, written by the Newspaper Enterprise Association (NEA), commenting that he was an "interpreter" in Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Just as observant as he was when looking over opponent football defenses, Dawkins spotted his name and the mention of his duties in that troubled land.

He proceeded to write to NEA:

"It was a genuine surprise and a certain pleasure to see my name in the Saigon Post. It's gratifying that . . . the whereabouts of someone whose sports activities are buried as deep in antiquity as mine would be of any general interest."

"I'm just one of many American officers who serve as advisers to fighting battalions of the Vietnamese army," he wrote.

INTERPRETS INTERPRETATION

He proceeded to clear up what an adviser does and his own interpretation of an interpreter.

"Now, being an interpreter is certainly an honorable occupation but hardly an accurate description — I think — of what I'm currently up to in Viet Nam.

"I'm actually the adviser for the 1st Vietnamese Airborne battalion — the most highly decorated combat unit in the entire Vietnamese Army!

"We're sort of the "fire brigade," in that we're deployed to any part of the country which is a critical area at a given time. We've got over 700 "rompin-stompin'" airborne troopers who do a pretty fair job of giving "Charlie Cong" a bloody-nose whenever we run into him.

"It happens that the battalion commander doesn't speak any English so that I am an interpreter in that to try to communicate with him I do have to speak Vietnamese. But this is just a "tool" essential to my job.

"I'm just one of many American officers who serve as advisers to the fighting battalions of the Vietnamese Army, but I feel this advisory effort is one of the really crucial aspects of the American involvement in Viet Nam.

"By the way, this past football season has been a real corker hasn't it. It was a tough one on the forecasters but certainly never had a dull moment. We've had excellent coverage here and it's a great boost to the morale of the Americans here.

"Keep up the good work — we'll try to do the same on our end."

An interpreter!

Best wishes,
Pete Dawkins

The sports world can certainly hold its head high for having had men like Dawkins on its athletic scrolls.

Here's a person whose humble propriety has always been as fine as his talents.

Baseball Team Left Between 2 Court Orders

Circuit Judge Rules National League 9 'Must Be Prepared'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Atlanta Braves, caught between courts in two different states, are going ahead with plans to play their 1966 home games in Atlanta.

Braves' President William C. Bartholomay said individual game tickets will go on sale Monday. Advance season tickets ales are nearing $1 million.

★ ★ ★

Bartholomay's remarks came Thursday despite a ruling by a Wisconsin judge minutes earlier that the baseball team must prepare to play its 1966 home games in Milwaukee in case it is ordered to do so by the court.

"The Braves," Bartholomay said, "will open the 1966 baseball season in Atlanta Stadium on April 12, 1966."

Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller of Milwaukee ordered the Braves to prepare to play their home games in Milwaukee this year until league expansion akes place with the city gaining a replacement franchise."

Opposing Roller's order is a temporary injunction issued Dec. 17 by Atlanta Judge Sam Phillips McKenzie ordring the Braves to fulfill a contract calling for home games in Atlanta.

Batholomay noted both rulings and said McKenzie "has already ordered that the contract entered into by the Stadium Authority and the Braves is valid and binding.

WILL HONOR PACT

"The Braves fully intend to honor our contract with the Stadium Authority and all our larger obligations to the citizens of Atlanta, of Georgia, and of the entire southeast, as the Braves have always honored our agreement with the county of Milwaukee."

"Until the Milwaukee order "is reversed," Bartholomey said, "the Braves may be faced with the regrettable necessity of choosing which court to obey.

"It has always been the stated intent of the Braves to honor any and all orders issued by courts properly having jurisdiction to issue those orders.

"To play 1966 home games at any place other than Atlanta Stadium would be a direct breach of the order entered by the only court which has before Baseball League and the stadium Authority."

★ ★ ★

Arthur Montgomery, chairman of the Authority, said, "All of us here in Atlanta are looking forward to the evening of April 12 when the Braves will open their National League schedule with the Pittsburgh Pirates in Atlanta's beautiful new stadium."

Bartholomay said the Wisconsin judge's ruling was "the result of a continuing campaign of harrassment and intimidation carried on against the Braves by certain persons."

Cautious Bruin Wrecks Hawks

BOSTON (AP) — Pit Martin of the Boston Bruins scored four goals against the Chicago Black Hawks Thursday night, took a deep breath and stayed a cautious man.

"I don't believe it," he said, despite the assurance of the official scorer and 13,909 frenzied fans who saw him do it. "I don't believe it and I'm not going to believe it 'till I see it in the papers."

★ ★ ★

The 22-year-old former Detroit Red Wing recalled scoring wo goals in one game on two previous occasions. "But never a hat trick," he said, grinning, 'and never four in one."

Martin has scored 11 goals in 12 games since coming to the suddenly aroused Bruins, who defeated Chicago 5-3 to move to within two points of the fifth-place New York Rangers in the only National Hockey League game played.

BIG REASON

And he's a big reason why the usually tame Boston club has won four in a row for Coach Milt Schmidt, two of them in successive Thursday night games with the rough-and-ready Black Hawks.

Another factor in the Bruin uprising has to be the scrappy defensive work of Eddie Westfall. Westfall is something like glue when Chicago's league-leading scorer, Bobby Hull, is in town.

★ ★ ★

In two games against Westfall and the Bruins, Hull has managed only one goal, a 25-foot patented slap shot in Thursday night's game. It was Hull's 40th of the season, which leaves him 10 goals away from the NHL season record of 50 that he shares with several others, with about half the season remaining.

Teddy Green of the Bruins strained ligaments in his right knee in a shoving match with Eric Nesterenko during the first period. There was no word on whether he'll be sidelined.

Martin wanted to share the credit with Johnny Bucyk, credited with assists on all four Martin goals.

"He's beautiful," Martin said, 'his passes are just great."

HOCKEY CHASE—Boston goalie Ed Johnston falls into the cage after stopping a shot by Chicago's Bobby Hull (9) in last night's game. Hull and Boston's Bob Dillabough (left) and Bob Woytowich start after the loose puck. The Bruins won, 5-3.

NHL Writers Ballot

Hull Leads Midseason MVP Voting

MONTREAL (AP) — Superstar Bobby Hull is well on his way toward winning his second straight most valuable player award, the midseason voting for National Hockey League trophies revealed today.

The Chicago left winger collected 79 points in the balloting by sports writers and broadcasters in each of the league's six cities based on performances through the first half of the season.

Glenn Hall, the Hawks' veteran goalie, was second with 21 points. He was followed by Norm Ullman of Detroit, 14 points, and Gordie Howe, also of the Red Wings, 13.

Hull scored 39 goals last year when he won the Hart Memorial Trophy as the league MVP for the first time. He already has 39 goals this year and is within 12 of shattering the NHL record for one season.

Other leaders in the mid-season voting this year were Brit Selby of Toronto, who collected 59 points as the outstanding rookie; Jacques Laperriere of Montreal, 62 points as the best defenseman, and Alex Delvecchio, who had 52 points for the Lady Byng Trophy, awarded for superior performance plus sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct.

The top rookie receives the Calder Memorial Trophy and the leading defenseman gets the James Norris Memorial Trophy.

Bert Marshall, Detroit Defenseman, was the runner-up in the Calder Trophy balloting. He collected 49 points. Gaolie Bernie Parent of Boston was third with 35 points.

★ ★ ★

Pierre Pilote, of Chicago, the Norris Trophy winner in each of the past three seasons, drew 42 points and placed second to Laperriere in this year's first-half vote. Doug Barkley of Detroit was third with 30 points followed by Harry Howell of the New York Rangers with nine.

Closest to Delvecchio in the running for the Lady Byng Trophy were Montreal's Bobby Rousseau, 30 points and Don Marshall of New York, 21.

Each of the leaders receives $250 from the league. Another vote will be taken at the end of the season and the players with the most total points will receive the trophies plus $1,000 from the league.

Unbeatables Closer

The Roy White Unbeatables trimmed the Unbeatables No. 2 team, 78-47, last night to move within one game of first place in the city men's recreation basketball American League.

The winless Tasty Bakery team led for three quarters but slumped in the last period as The Champs prevailed, 56-44, for their initial victory in the other city contest.

Waterford Township Continental League action found Yapo's Five and Ryeson's Market posting convincing triumphs to stay unbeaten.

Yapo's ripped into Bundy Built Homes, 100-57, as five of the winners' six players were in twin figures led by Mike Reed (32) and Bob Peoples (20).

Ryeson's outscored previously undefeated Buckner Finance in every quarter for a 47-32 victory. Zilka Heating cracked the win column with a 57-51 conquest of Wayne's Service.

Skip Eglinton hit 16 and Gene Riabucha 15 for the heating firm which blew a 15-point lead and had to come from five points down to win.

Boston Celtics Down Pistons

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics, perennial champions of the National Basketball Association, aren't doing too badly in their new role of chasing the leader.

In their first game since being knocked out of the Eastern Division lead, the Celtics walloped the Detroit Pistons 131-112 Thursday night in the only NBA game.

★ ★ ★

The victory moved the Celtics to within one-half game of the Cincinnati Royals, who toppled Boston from the top Tuesday night.

Sam Jones led Boston with 32 points, but Don Nelson played a clutch role in two tight spots.

Millrose Athletes Unhappy

Track Games 'Disappointing'

NEW YORK (AP) — The word most frequently heard around the Millrose Games was "disappointing."

"I'm terribly disappointed," said John Pennel after he failed in a bid to raise his own indoor pole vault record to 17 feet. "I thought for sure I had it on that third attempt."

"I'm disappointed in the time but happy with the victory," said Kenya's Kipchoge Keino after a paper-thin victory in the Wanamaker Mile in a dreary 4:03.9 Thursday night.

And Bill Crothers, the Canadian half-miler who had hoped to offer Keino a challenge in the mile was too disappointed to talk after finishing a badly beaten fifth.

TOP STARS

All in all, the sell-out crowd of 16,000 that jammed Madison Square Garden for New York's first indoor track meet of the season had little to cheer about, even though the meet was packed with some of the world's best athletes.

In the end, a panel of sports writers picked Pennel as the outstanding athlete, off his 16-5 winning effort in the pole vault.

★ ★ ★

Belgium's Gaston Roelants, world record holder in the steeplechase, was second off an 8:40.6 victory in the two-mile and Fordham's Sam Perry was third in the voting after he finished the 60-yard dash in 6 seconds flat, a couple of inches in front of Darel Newman.

"I'm confident I can go 17 feet," Pennel said. "It's just a matter of time before I make it. I'll try again in Boston."

He and most of the other top athletes from the meet are scheduled to compete in the Boston A.A. Games Saturday night. Keino is scheduled to go two miles in Boston, but still was awaiting clearance from Kenyan officials today.

NEVER CLOSE

Pennel, who set an indoor mark of 16-9½ last week, was never really close in his three attempts at 17 feet, but said he thought he had a good shot at it on his third attempt until his timing was thrown off.

Keino, who has run 3:54.2 outdoors and holds two world records, was a distinct disappointment.

"I didn't know what to do because I didn't know the other runners," he said. "I knew when I heard the quarter time that I couldn't break four minutes, as I had promised. Then I just waited to see what the others would do. I was afraid to move until the last lap."

Birmingham Skater Fourth in National

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Myrna Bodek of Birmingham, Mich., finished fourth Thursday in the senior ladies school figures of the U.S. figure skating championships here.

Dana Charette of Ferndale, placed eighth in the junior men's school figures.

Peggy Fleming of Colorado Springs, Colo., won the senior ladies school figures.

Atoy Wilson, 14, of Los Angeles became the first Negro ever to win a national figure skating championship when he took the novice men's title.

Beard Leads Lucky Golf

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Kentucky sharpshooter Frank Beard fired past golf's big names with a five-under-par 66 Thursday to grab the lead in the $55,000 Lucky International Golf Tournament.

The 26-year-old Beard, one of the late first round finishers, came in to pass three of the game's 1966 paupers on a sunny afternoon when favored Arnold Palmer sagged to a two-over-par 73 near the middle in the field of 144.

★ ★ ★

Deadlocked in second place, just a stroke off Beard's pace at 67, were Californians Jerry Steelsmith of Santa Barbara and Larry Mowry of Palm Springs, along with Harold Kneece of Aiken, S.C.

Beard played the last nine first, with a 34 that didn't draw much interest. Then he collected three straight birdies with two putts of 12 feet and one of four feet on the third, fourth and fifth holes.

★ ★ ★

He slapped a wedge within 18 inches of the seventh for his final birdie and the putt that gave him the first round lead over the par 71 Harding Park Municipal Course.

Brilliant sunshine and temperature in the 60s greeted golfers instead of the stormy conditions that had been forecast.

Parnelli Sets Track Record

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) —Race driver Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., set an unofficial world one-mile closed track record of 122.574 miles per hour Thursday while testing tires at Phoenix International Raceway.

Jones, former Indianapolis 500 winner, set the mark in a new Meyer-Drake supercharged Offenhauser racer. The car is designed to combat last year's dominance by Ford-powered cars at Indianapolis.

The official record of 121.458 mph was set by Mario Andretti during qualifications for the Bobby Ball Championship last November at Phoenix International.

Jim Gosger Rated Top Bosox Rookie

BOSTON (AP) — Outfielder Jim Gosger, who captured the hearts of Boston baseball fans with his hustle and determination, was honored as the Red Sox "Rookie of the Year" Thursday night by the Boston Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The fleetfooted rookie, who hails from Port Huron, Mich., moved up to Boston from its Toronto farm club midway through the 1965 season and earned a centerfield berth with his ability.

In 59 games at Boston, the 22-year-old Gosger collected 83 hits and drove in 35 runs with a .256 batting average. He scored 45 runs himself, nine of them on home runs.

Baseball Player's Counsel Follows Steps of Father

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — When Judge Robert Cannon was named by major league baseball players as their full time administrator Thursday, he was only following in the footsteps of his father.

The late Ray Cannon, Congressman from Wisconsin, represented the first Players Association.

By the time he was 30 Ray Cannon had won 100 consecutive jury cases. Bob Cannon didn't equal that feat, which he rated on a par with winning 10 pennants in a row, but at 27 he was the youngest elective judge in the nation.

Cannon has been ministering to the needs of major leaguers since 1959. The transition to administrator from part time legal consultant to the Players Association will have only one big outward change — the 49-year-old judge will receive an annual salary of about $50,000 for five years.

He was unpaid while representing the association even though the job took up to one-third of his time. Cannon was noted for settling his cases with speed and he spent weekends and vacations tending to the association's work.

Cannon grew up with baseball. His father was the lawyer for eight Chicago players during the Black Sox scandal of 1919.

The friendships he has established in baseball have served him well. Bob Friend, National League player representative, is a Cannon friend. It was Friend who announced the hiring of Cannon. The action will be formally approved by the vote of all the players during spring training.

Walled Lake, PNH Teams Square Off; PCH Beats Handy

What could be the high school wrestling match of the season for the county is set for tonight at Walled Lake.

Walled Lake's Vikings, unbeaten in 13 straight dual matches over two seasons and champions of the Oakland County Invitational last month, are entertaining also unbeaten Pontiac Northern.

Both coach Bill Willson of PNH (4-0) and Rick Schneider of Walled Lake (8-0) have been pointing to this meeting all season and they agree it will be a tough battle.

In addition to this Inter-Lakes League match, Walled Lake will wrestle in a quadrangular competition tomorrow afternoon at Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows.

The Vikings are favored, but may be pressed by once-beaten Clarenceville. Northville and host Sorrows round out the field. The preliminaries will begin at 3 p.m. followed immediately by the finals.

Strong individual competition is expected in the 112-pound and 145-pound classes in which four undefeated grapplers are entered.

Pontiac Central, which is in the midst of one of its all-time best athletic school years, completed a winning week last night with a 34-6 wrestling win over Bay City Handy.

Lake Orion's Chris Shell and Bill Schultz both won their ninth straight matches but couldn't keep the Dragons from dropping a 23-19 verdict to fast-developing Birmingham Seaholm.

St. Louis Bowlers Dominate Tourney

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — St. Louis bowlers dominated the men's section of the National All-Star Tournament Thursday.

Defending champion Dick Weber and 23-year-old Nelson Burton Jr., both from the Missouri city, topped the division standings at the end of the 10th round of match play.

★ ★ ★

Burton, whose father is in the Bowling Hall of Fame, averaged 246 for 15 games against five differnt opponents to maintain his lead in the National Division.

He opened the day with a 770 series, highest in the tourney to date, and had four others ranging between 738 and 651, finishing the first two days of head-to-head competition with 19 victories in 30 games.

WON EIGHT

Weber won only eight of his 15 games Thursday but moved into a 14-point advantage over Detroit's Bob Strampe, the opening day leader, on series ranging from 646 to 705.

The 16 men's finalists are split into two divisions, American and National, for the 22 rounds of match play. Standings are figured on total pinfall plus a bonus of 50 pins for each game won. The two division winners will meet in a three-game match Sunday for the $15,000 first prize.

'Bulls' Way to NBA Team

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bulls, who snorted up $1.6 million to become the National Basketball Association's 10th member next year, obviously will open as a starless outfit.

★ ★ ★

The Bulls, scheduled to play in the stockyards-centered International Amphitheatre, must start with a collection of 18 secondary NBA players and the 10th, 13th and 14th picks as their top three choices in the May NBA draft.

The new Chicago entry formally was certified by the NBA here Thursday.

The Bulls, backed by a five-man syndicate headed by Dick Klein, former Northwestern University cage star, can't possibly have a shot at such a sure-fire gate attraction as All-America Cazzie Russell of Michigan.

Russell, a Chicago native, is expected to be the first draft choice, either of New York or Detroit — whichever finishes last in the current NBA campaign.

The Bulls will play in the NBA's Western Division.

F. L. Ferzacca Quits Coaching

MARQUETTE (UPI) — F. L. (Forsty) Ferzacca resigned yesterday as head football coach of Northern Michigan University to devote full time to his increasing duties as NMU athletic director.

Ferzacca, a native of Iron Mountain, won 13 major athletic awards and captained his football, basketball and baseball squads while attending Lake Forest College in Illinois.

★ ★ ★

He later received a master's degree from the University of Wisconsin, was head football coach at Marquette University in Milwaukee and briefly held a front office position with the Green Bay Packers before going with NMU.

By JERE CRAIG

October 7, 1965 was one of the gloomiest days in Laura Mead's life.

That was the date the veteran Rochester bowler learned officially she wouldn't be going to Guatemala in November as a member of the United States team in the Inter-American Championships.

Next Thursday the heartbreak of that day will be completely dispelled as she and husband Bob depart by airplane for New Orleans and then on to Guatemala City.

She will be wearing the uniform of the United States team to the Federation Internationale des Quilleurs tournament just three months late.

Financial problems in the host city forced the postponement of the November competition. Since then, new arrangements were made and the action will commence a week from Sunday.

Two autumns ago five men, representing Pontiac's 300 Bowl American Bowling Congress championship team, went to Caracas, Venezuela, for the Inter-American tournament and had the experience of the their lives representing the U.S.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Mead qualified for the women's team by finishing second in last year's Women's International Bowling Congress tourney. The winner was a professional and wasn't eligible for the FIQ's amateur competition.

★ ★ ★

She averaged 202 for nine games in the WIBC action, the best bowling she's ever done. Arrangements were made with National Twist Drill and Tool Co. where she works in Rochester to take her vacation at the tournament time.

The firm, an active sponsor of bowling, permitted her to change the vacation time when the hitch developed last fall.

Mrs. Mead, who has been bowling 20 years, credits Monroe Moore of 300 Bowl and Lou Koprince of North Hill Lanes with helping her improve so that she now carries a 178 average.

Ironically, though she practices regularly on the North Hill lanes, she has posted the average in the 300 Bowl Ladies All-Star Classic.

But the only lanes she is concerned with now are 12 in Guatemala City.

Junior Bowler Cast(s) Spell on 7-10 Split

Ricky Lance, 18, doesn't let a cast on one arm stop him when it comes to completing a spare.

The 300 Bowl Junior Leager converted the very difficult 7-10 split last Saturday. No score was reported for Ricky, however, so it may be the cast did hinder his strike delivery.

For the girls, Jo Anne Lemos had a 204, while the boys were led by Ross Flore's 568 and J. Beseau's 248.

BOWLING

Members of Pontiac's 700 Club will comprise a squad a week from tomorrow in the sixth annual Dublin Community Center Handicap Doubles Tournament at Cooley Lanes.

The three-weekend competition will begin tomorrow afternoon. The entry fee is $10 per team; and any combination of bowlers may comprise a team. A team can bowl as often as it wishes but can only cash once.

★ ★ ★

Squads run every hour and a half beginning at 1 p.m. Saturdays and noon Sundays.

KEG TOT — Mother (Mary Ellen Winter) is one of Tuesday afternoon's Airway Lanes Queens, so three-and-a-half month old Michele, 2500 Peters, is getting an early exposure to the rather tiring — when you're so young — game.

Retains Keg Classic Lead

Gorman Golf Products just managed to maintain its two-game lead in the West Side Lanes Monday night Classic this week by sweeping all eight points from its opponent.

★ ★ ★

Runner - up Sylvan Lounge matched the feat; thus, the one-two teams in the standings gained ground on everyone else.

★ ★ ★

Individually, John Williams led the way with 267-223—696. Ed Jostock nearly equalled Williams' best game with a 266 in a 659 series. The second best series was Al Pietz's 678 (258-212).

A woman stole the spotlight in Sunday night's Mixed Circuit at Lakewood Lanes. Ruth Benson bombed the pins for 245-215—650, one of the top local series this season by a woman.

Owen Collins had a 225—600 and Frank Meador a 230.

Birmingham's Dave Zielinski had 241—566 for the Mohicans to lead all the scorers in Sunday's Prep Teen Stars at Thunderbird Lanes. Pontiac's Dennis Stewart hit 555.

TIRE TALK

John Carter
Nothing so confuses or seems so patently misleading than the current crop of tire sale ads that lean on the old gimmick of "Second tire free" or Second tire ½ off" or Second tire only $5."
Any reasonable tire buyer knows that if he overpays enough for the first tire — any tire man can give him the second tire for ½ price or $5 or even free! If you pay $9,000 for the first Chevrolet, we're sure any car dealer would be glad to let you have the second one "free."
We just won't advertise a tire this way. We think it is unethical. Our everyday sale prices are consistently lower than this ½ price trick—and you don't have to buy two tires to get a bargain!
If, after reading such come-on ads, you think you've had enough—come on down to 370 and talk tires. The prices are straight and understandable—the advice you get sound and professional—the service cheerful and prompt. And those last two items are the biggest bargains you can get.

18 Submit Bids on Sewer Work

Southfield Project Is Divided Into 3 Phases

A total of 18 contractors submitted bids yesterday to the Oakland County Department of Public Works Board on three separate phases of the Southfield-Rouge sewer arm project in Southfield.

Bids were referred to DPW engineers for evaluation. Contract awards and the sale of bonds are scheduled for Feb. 23.

The DPW is acting as agent for the City of Southfield on the sewer arm which will connect to the Evergreen interceptor sewer.

Farino Excavating Co. was low bidder on the two phases of the project requiring ditching and laying of sewer section with bids of $151,389 and $109,742.

★ ★ ★

These respective projects call for installation of 11,668 feet of 36-inch pipe and 6,895 feet of 21 and 24-inch sewer line.

ELEVEN BID

Eleven firms bid on the first project and 15 on the second. High bids were $398,002 and $281,764 respectively.

The third phase of the sewer arm project calling for tunnel work and installation of 10,451 feet of 48-inch section drew eight bids ranging from $672,127 to $1,478,732.

Combining on the low bid were Michigan Sewer Co. and the Jay Dee Construction Co.

★ ★ ★

The sewer arm project will extend from Eight Mile and Berg north to 12 Mile just east of Telegraph.

Mt. Hood, Ore., was once a volcano, but it has been inactive for hundreds of years.

English Educator in Waterford Talk

The teaching profession must move forward to cope with "vastly accelerated" changes taking place in the world today, English educator Sir Ronald Gould told staff members of Waterford Township Schools yesterday.

"The task of the teacher today is not to prepare children for life in a static society," said Gould, "but to prepare children for life in a rapidly changing society."

The 61-year-old Londoner, president of the World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching Profession, listed four major changes teachers must cope with, expanding on each.

Rising population, according to Gould, is "one of the greatest political dangers the world faces."

★ ★ ★

Gould, an eloquent speaker with a characteristic flushing complexion, also regards greater urbanization, faster communication and changes in modern technology as mounting problems.

UNDERSTANDING

"We have to do more than love our own country," he said.

"We must understand and sympathize with people overseas and learn how to live with these neighbors throughout the world."

A drawback, according to Gould, is that people tend to resist change that is uncomfortable and often favor change only in the other person.

★ ★ ★

"This is particularly true in the teaching profession," he said.

CHANGE A MUST

"But we are living in a generation in which change is imperative if we are going to be successful."

He said that education systems must emphasize opportunity for all and offer various kinds of excellence to a maximum amount of students.

Gould also pointed out that students must be guided to find enough satisfaction to make their lives worthwhile.

★ ★ ★

He said school systems should try to get enough teachers, making sure they are of high quality.

MAKE ATTEMPT

"There must be an attempt to make the life of a teacher attractive materially," he said. He also said that an adequate supply of buildings should be available.

He called on teachers' associations to help mold public opinion so that people "will give education the highest social priority and be prepared to pay for its progress."

"It is the people who have to pay in one way or another," said Gould.

He concluded by reiterating his thought that teachers aren't quite ready to meet the challenge created by rapid changes.

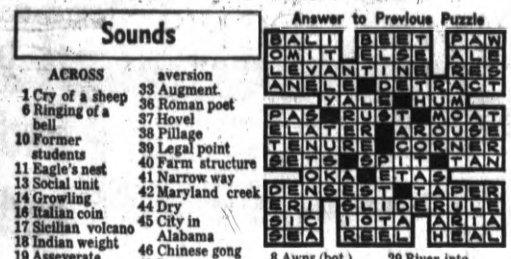
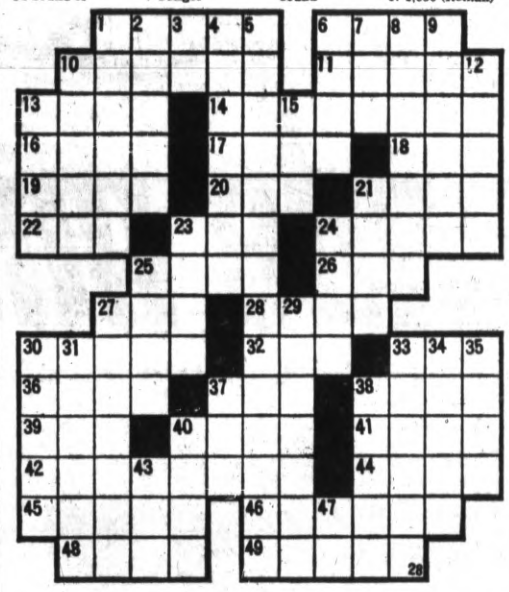
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Regulations Asked on Hearing Aids

LANSING (AP)—A bill to require licensing and regulation the sale of hearing aids was introduced Thursday by Reps. Lucille McCollough, D-Dearborn, and Dale Kildee, D-Flint.

The sponsors said the measure is aimed at curbing abuses uncovered by an investigation conducted by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley.

The measure would create a five-member board of hearing aid sellers to regulate the trade. It also provides for an advisory council of doctors, audiologists and public members.

First regular airmail service in the United States was established between the cities of Washington, Philadelphia and New York.

Freeze Brings Record Lows in Area

A front of arctic air rode gusting westerly winds into southeastern Michigan early today, plummeting temperatures to an unofficial 20 degrees below zero in northern Oakland County and to a record-breaking —8 in the city of Pontiac.

The cold snap was partly blamed for a four-township power blackout last night and stalled hundreds of county residents struggling to get to work this morning.

The power failure, struck some 5,000 customers of the Detroit Edison Co.

It cut electricty for two hours to residents of Brandon and Groveland townships and for over an hour to Independence and Springfield townships.

★ ★ ★

Consumers Power Co. officials said the mass restoration of power after the breakdown resulted in furnace problems in the Clarkston area because of a sudden reduction in gas pressure.

Schools and municipal departments throughout the county, however, reported normal operation despite the plunging temperatures.

In many cases, county schools now on semester breaks were attended only by teachers coming in to check examinations and make first-semester reports.

★ ★ ★

The cold hit an unofficial county low of —20 at Leonard and shrunk the mercury to these other reported readings:

Keego Harbor	—18
Milford Township	—16
Birmingham	—14
Holly	—14
Davisburg	—12
Wixom	—11
Lake Orion	—10
Romeo	—10
Utica	— 8
South Lyon	— 8

Pontiac's early morning temperature of eight degrees below zero cracked the all-time record of —7 for the date set Jan. 28, 1872.

Motorsits unable to start their cars jammed area service stations with calls for assistance.

"I'll be lucky if I catch up with my work by this afternoon," said one harried service station operator.

Attendants at other stations said drivers faced 90-minute delays in getting road service for car engines which just couldn't make it in the chilling cold.

TOMORROW

Bitter cold air sweeping in from the Arctic area bringing subzero temperatures last night will continue tonight with lows of 5 below to 8 above.

The weatherman predicts highs of zero to 8 above tomorrow. Mostly fair and continued very cold with a chance of snow flurries is Sunday's forecast.

West to northwesterly winds at 10 to 20 miles per hour will continue until late today.

Fugitive Denies Slaying Boy, 2

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Alberto Sanchez, wanted by Toledo, Ohio police in the death of Eddie (Pepito) Montalvo, 2, has denied the slaying, Bexar County Deputy Sheriff Eddie Vela said yesterday.

Sanchez, 22, former boyfriend of the child's mother Carolina Montalvo, made the statement after he surrendered to police here, Vela said.

The deputy said Sanchez told him he wanted to return to Toledo where he has been charged with second-degree murder by Lucas County Prosecuting Attorney Harry Friberg.

"I didn't kill Pepito," the deputy sheriff quoted Sanchez as saying.

Sanchez waived extradition when arraigned before State District Judge Archie Brown.

★ ★ ★

He also was taken before Justice of the Peace A. A. Semaan on charges of being a fugitive from justice.

$10,000 BOND

Semaan placed him in the Bexar County Jail under $10,000 bond.

Sheriff's Lt. Alfred Carreon said officers had kept in close touch during the search with an uncle of Sanchez living in San Antonio.

Sanchez arrived in San Antonio earlier this week to visit relatives, who persuaded him to surrender, Carreon said.

★ ★ ★

In Toledo, Ohio, meanwhile, the Lucas County Grand Jury heard evidence in the case. There was no indication when the jury would report.

TEXAS, MEXICO

Sanchez has been hunted in Texas and Mexico since the body of Eddie Montalvo was found in an outhouse on an abandoned Michigan farm several weeks ago.

2 Youths Killed in Auto Mishap

3rd Critically Injured in Bloomfield Twp.

Two youths were killed and a third critically injured yesterday afternoon when their car apparently went out of control on a Bloomfield Township road, struck another car and skidded some 250 feet into a tree.

Dead are Robert D. Aten, 20, of 3935 Horton, Bloomfield Township; and David Neitzel, 14, of Royal Oak.

In critical condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with skull fractures and internal injuries is Christopher Ballmer, 13, of Royal Oak.

The car, driven by Aten, started swerving and went into a sidespin on snow-blown West Long Lake Road, according to two other drivers involved in the accident, near the intersection of Pembroke.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Gene F. Riegler, 35, of 4145 Normanwood, West Bloomfield Township, said she saw Aten's car coming at her sideways and swerved her car to the right just in time to avoid a head-on collision.

HIT REAR OF CAR

Aten's car hit the rear of Mrs. Riegler's car and then skidded across the road before hitting the tree and coming to rest in an embankment, Bloomfield Hills police said.

★ ★ ★

Both victims were dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Mrs. Riegler and Robert J. Burger, 33, of Livonia, driver of the third car in the accident, were uninjured.

Indians in Kerala Protest Food Policy

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Despite a last-minute increase in the rice ration, a general strike spread across Kerala State today and mobs went on the rampage to protest the government's food policy.

The mobs stoned trains, pulled down telephone wires and blockaded roads in the state in southwest India where Communist influence is strong. Some looting was reported.

Film Beauty Charged as Shoplifter

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actress Hedy Lamarr, whose six husbands included two millionaires, was arrested last night for shoplifting at a department store.

Police said she had checks totalling $14,000 in her possession when she was stopped by a female store detective in the parking lot of the May Co. and accused of taking $86 worth of clothes and cosmetics.

The booty, police said, ranged from a $40 coat to a $2 string of beads and included a slinky pair of bikini panties.

The 51-year-old brunette, who who parlayed her incredible beauty into film stardom in the 1940s and 1950s, was booked on a petty theft charge and held in jail for about four hours before her attorney posted $550 bail early today.

★ ★ ★

The seductive Viennese-born actress, who began her film career as a teen-ager with a nude sequence in the Czech movie "Ecstacy," was ordered to appear at a municipal court hearing on the misdemeanor charge next Wednesday.

OFFERED TO PAY

The store detective, identified by police as Helen McGarry, said Miss Lamarr offered to pay for the merchandise after she was stopped. The detective refused and police were called.

"Other stores have let me pay," the detective quoted Miss Lamarr as saying.

Miss McGarry told police she watched Miss Lamarr for about 45 minutes while she allegedly put eight items in her handbag and then transferred them into

Car Safety Plans Backed

LANSING (AP) — The nation's four top auto executives endorsed a broad range of traffic safety proposals last night but opposed government control of vehicle design.

The four car company presidents and leaders of Michigan government, including Gov. George Romney, Secretary of State James Hare and legislators, met at a dinner designed to add strength to campaigns for traffic safety legislation.

Mandatory vehicle inspection, improved driver education, standarized driver licensing and stricter law enforcement all won strong endorsement.

But James M. Roche, president of General Motors Corp., warned against "the tendency of some persons to urge new approaches to the problem which neither fact nor logic supports."

"It is fashionable in certain quarters to lay most of the blame on the automobile," he said. "Nothing is more unrealistic."

He said automakers are ready to support traffic safety measures but said they do not presume to tell the state what is needed.

DESIGNS IDEAS

Hours before he spoke, Sen. Roger Craig, D-Dearborn, accused manufacturers of failing to deal adequately with auto safety. He proposed numerous design standards.

Roy Abernethy, president of American Motors Corp. and the Automobile Manufacturers Association, delared, however, that no consumer product "is more carefully engineered, researched and tested than is the modern automobile."

He cited standard safety features of the 1966 models, including front and rear seatbelts, padded instrument panels and extra-strength windshields.

"We face the choice of increasing the effectiveness of state, local and private safety efforts — or coasting down the road to federal control," Abernethy said.

He said traffic problems are

Fire Hits Plant in Ortonville

Parts Firm Damage Is Up to $50,000

Fire fighters from five departments battled a blaze this morning that caused an estimated $40,000 to $50,000 damage to an Ortonville auto parts manufacturing plant.

that the American Water Locks building at M15 and Mill was totally destroyed.

The blaze in the unoccupied concrete block building was discovered at 7:02 a.m. by an attendant at a service station across the street. Cause of the fire is undetermined.

Hampered by subzero temperatures, firemen from Clarkston, Goodrich, Hadley and Oxford joined the Brandon Township department in the fire fighting effort. No firemen were injured.

★ ★ ★

Buckingham said that water was transported in tankers from Keasley Creek, about a quarter mile from the burning one-story, 50-by-120-foot building.

Jimmy Hoffa Leaves Washington Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, left Georgetown University Hospital Thursday. He was reported in continued satisfactory condition.

Hoffa entered the hospital several days ago for what aides called a routine physical checkup and treatment of a bad cold.

Cold Wave Gives State the Shivers

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan shivered through its worst cold spell of the winter today with the U. S. Weather Bureau predicting things will get worse before they get better.

Thermometers throughout the state plunged below the zero mark with the Newaygo County community of Grant recording the coldest reading — 24 degrees below zero.

Escanaba reported a reading of 17 below, Lansing registered minus 12, Detroit recorded minus 5, and Grand Rapids reported a temperature of minus 8 at 2 a.m., 3 degrees lower than the old record for the date set in 1925.

Many western Michigan points reported record cold readings, and drifted side roads led to school closings in many west Michigan areas.

The Grand Haven channel to Lake Michigan was blocked solid with slush ice and Benton Harbor was told to expect six inches of snow today.

★ ★ ★

In Detroit, the Automobile Club of Michigan reported a demand for tow truck services greater than during last February's blizzard.

MANY CALLS

Robert Smith, the club's emergency road service manager, said the club received almost 1,900 assistance requests in the first eight hours after midnight.

The club had only 659 requests in the same time span on the first day of the Feb. 25, 1965, blizzard, he said.

The bitter cold may have helped save seven lives in a Lowell house fire.

★ ★ ★

Kent County sheriff's deputies reported Roy De Witt got up at 2:30 a.m. to warm up his car and smelled smoke. He aroused six others in the house and led them to safety before flames destroyed the dwelling.

SCHOOLS CLOSE

Public schools were reported closed in Grand Haven, Spring Lake, Allendale, Portland, Saugatuck, Hudsonville, Hart, Pentwater and Shelby.

Muskegon reported seven inches of new snow for a total of 14 inches on the ground.

Nationally, the coldest weather of the winter spread over much of the nation today and pressed hard freeze conditions as far south as northern Florida.

★ ★ ★

The bitter cold spread zero temperatures over the heavy snow cover of part of the Middle Atlantic area where up to 15 inches of snow accumulated Wednesday and early yesterday from a storm which had passed out over the North Atlantic.

MERCURY DROPS

It dropped the mercury to 37 below zero at International Falls, Minn., and a record -14 at Milwaukee where the former low mark for the date was set at -13 in 1963. Minneapolis and St. Paul had -22 in the early hours of the day, and Chicago's official low was -7 at 2 a.m., and Detroit had -3.

★ ★ ★

The frigid readings ran south from the northern Great Plains to Kansas and Missouri.

Readings moderated in the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas after a light freeze early yesterday, but the northern Florida crop section had a hard freeze, although most citrus fruits have been harvested.

Building Collapse Leaves 12 Injured

NEW YORK (AP) — Three upper floors of an 103-year-old factory building on lower Broadway collapsed Thursday, injuring 12 persons.

★ ★ ★

Injured were five workers trapped in the wreckage, six others hurt scrambling for safety and a policeman struck by debris during rescue operations.

★ ★ ★

The fifth floor apparently collapsed because it was overloaded, officials said, and the rubble plunged through the fourth and third floors.

Viet Fighting Is Heaviest Since Truce

LBJ Holds Another Meeting on Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has held another, unannounced meeting with key national security advisers to consider ending the lull in the bombing of North Viet Nam targets — a pause he concedes has failed to produce brighter hopes for peace.

Although it was said no decision was reached, all evidence pointed toward an early resumption of air strikes against North Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Johnson met Thursday night with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Director William F. Raborn of the Central Intelligence Agency and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

It was one of a series of such top-level sessions.

HAS NO DOUBT

The President, it was learned on high authority, has no doubt in his own mind that the 36-day bombing lull has failed to bring any hopeful response from Hanoi.

Moreover, sources said the pause already has lasted much longer than was urged initially by foreign leaders who suggested to Johnson that a temporary halt of air strikes might prompt Hanoi to try substituting negotiations for bloodshed.

★ ★ ★

It was learned, too, that Johnson, in considering renewed bombing, has been giving greatest thought to timing and whether to escalate air operations against the North.

At the moment, it was understood, the President's principal concern at home was with the more aggressive "hawks" rather than with such influential figures as Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

WANT CONTINUATION

Both Mansfield and Fulbright have recommended a continuation of the pause. Some "hawks" want a major step-up in bombing of North Viet Nam, including attacks on Hanoi and Haiphong and other moves that would increase the risk of a direct collision with Communist China.

Johnson was pictured as seeking a middle ground — determined to demonstrate the firmness of American intentions but with the minimum force required.

★ ★ ★

The President is rejecting the idea of limiting American troops to a holding action that would give Viet Cong guerrillas a freer hand in much of Viet Nam. He wants to use U. S. forces to keep the Viet Cong off balance.

A holding operation keyed to coastal enclaves has been urged by retired Gen. James M. Gavin.

SIGN OF WEAKNESS

Johnson was said to be much concerned about possible misinterpretation in Hanoi of his recent and intensive "peace offensive." The President was fearful the North Vietnamese might interpret his peace efforts as a sign of weakness.

If only to counter any such notion, it seemed evident he would order a renewal of bombing soon.

The President was known to believe that the United States is in a "frying pan" in Viet Nam. But he thinks the alternative to opposing there the Communist plan for national "wars of liberation" would be to leap into a hotter fire — merely postponing an eventual stand in Southeast Asia.

ORTONVILLE FIRE — Gray-black smoke visible for several miles erupts from the American Water Locks plant as firemen battle the blaze. The fire occurred this morning. The plant manufactured radiator seals for motor vehicles.

Cong Battling 3 Allied Drives

Copters in Operation Under Intense Fire

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong unleashed heavy small arms fire today as three allied drives pushed deeper into the Communist-held coastal plain. It appeared to be the biggest eruption of fighting since the end of the lunar New Year truce on Sunday night.

★ ★ ★

Helicopters of the U. S. 1st Cavalry (Airmobile) division came under intense fire as they landed troops north of Bong Son, a town on Route 1, lying 280 miles northeast of Saigon. Reports from the battle area spoke of repeated skirmishes. No casualties were reported yet.

★ ★ ★

Since opening Operation Masher three days ago, the cavalrymen have killed 37 Viet Cong and taken six prisoners, but today's action was the first major encounter with the guerrillas, a U. S. spokesman reported.

A related operation 20 miles to the south by South Korea's capital division continued to smoke out insurgents along Route 1, the country's main north-south highway which the Communists have long dominated. Korean officers reported 69 Viet Cong killed, 61 captured and 137 bunkers and caves blasted.

3RD SPEARHEAD

The U. S. Army's 101st Airborne Division, forming the third allied spearhead, also encountered heavy Viet Cong rifle, automatic weapon and mortar fire as the paratroopers advanced north of Tuy Hoa, 240 miles northeast of Saigon.

As the fighting picked up, the U.S. Embassy reported signs of slipping morale and serious manpower problems in Viet Cong ranks. An embassy study, based on questioning of more than 500 Communist prisoners and a number of refugees from Viet Cong areas, said the guerrillas are relying almost entirely on conscription to fill their ranks.

★ ★ ★

The report attributed the Reds' problems to a swing of popular sentiment away from the Viet Cong in the many villages and hamlets in which they hold sway.

The report concluded:

—Intensified air raids on artillery shelling were "frightening and effective" and played a major factor in affecting morale. The saturation raids by U.S. Air Force B52s especially instilled fear in the Communist troops.

WAR STALMATED

—Many Viet Cong felt the war was stalemated and the individual Red soldier no longer was too optimistic about his chances of survival.

★ ★ ★

—The guerrillas are losing their support in the villages by imposing heavy taxes and drafting men and boys, some as young as 15 years.

Terms Needed on Petitions

Candidates for probate and circuit court judgeships must specify in their nominating petitions the length of term sought, the Oakland County Election Commission ruled yesterday.

Terms of six and eight years are at stake in the probate court election and of six, eight and 10 years in the Circuit Court race.

County Clerk-Register John D. Murphy, one of the three election commission members, said that only petitions specifying length of term can be accepted.

No petitions have been filed yet, Murphy said.

★ ★ ★

A minimum number of 2,892 signatures is required on the judgeship petitions, Murphy added.

ONE PER CENT

This represents 1 per cent of the total vote for secretary of state in the last general election.

Judgeship candidates in next November's election will be nominated in the Aug. 2 primary.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Snow and flurries are expected tonight in the northern Plateau, the Lakes area, northern New England and the mid-Mississippi Valley. Rain and showers will fall along the north Pacific and in the lower Mississippi Valley. It will be warmer in the Southeast and colder in the Southwest and mid-Atlantic states.

Citizens Award Is Endorsed

A new award will be presented annually to a Pontiac citizen who performs an outstanding act in support of the law, law enforcement or the courts.

Endorsed by the Citizens' Committee on Youth yesterday, the $100 award hopefully will be presented for the first time June 3 when the group holds its fourth annual appreciation dinner.

The committee has engaged Michigan Sen. Philip A. Hart to speak at the affair.

Five other outstanding citizens also will be honored for their work with youth.

★ ★ ★

Local businessmen have been asked to contribute to the new award.

The recipient could be nominated for the $5,000 citizens' award presented annually by the National Council of Crime and Delinquency.

In Pontiac, the recipient will be selected by a subcommittee.

Arrest Actress in California as Shoplifter

a shopping bag before leaving the store.

★ ★ ★

Both the actress and her attorney said the incident was "a misunderstanding."

INTERROGATION

Miss Lamarr was shaken by her arrest and interrogation by police, but neither advancing age nor the emotional shock could conceal the legendary beauty that brought her fame and fortune.

A leading theatrical producer once described her as "the most beautiful human being I have ever seen" and his appraisal was never seriously challenged.

She was dressed in snug-fitting capri pants and black coat when she faced newsmen at the Sybill Brand Institution for Women where she was booked.

★ ★ ★

"There's just been a misunderstanding," she said. "It happened so suddenly, I'm quite in a shock."

Attorney Arthur G. Lawrence, who posted bail for Miss Lamarr, said she had been shopping at the store and "there was a difference of opinion about certain facts pertaining to certain items she had paid for. In my opinion, any misunderstanding will be cleared up and the whole matter dropped," the lawyer said.

Want 32,900 Men for Draft in March

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department wants 32,900 draftees in March.

The department told the Selective Service system that it wants 27,900 men for the Army and 5,000 for the Marine Corps. The Navy and Air Force sent no requests.

'Institution Life Good for Child'

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Michigan State University psychologist says some children may be better off if they are raised in an institution rather than in their own homes.

The observation was made by Dr. Albert Rabin, MSU professor of psychology, who compared at firsthand the personality of children brought up in Israeli Kibbutz cooperatives with children reared at home.

★ ★ ★

In Kibbutz communities, Rabin told a seminar of science writers this week, children generally are turned over to a cooperative nursery shortly after birth, with a nurse in charge of each group of four or five children.

Parents visit the child frequently, and as he grows up the child visits them — but does not live at home.

MORE INTELLECTUAL

Rabin said his studies of the Kibbutz-reared child alongside the Israeli child reared in the conventional family setting showed that from the age of 10 through adolescence and then army life, those raised in the cooperative displayed higher intellectual development.

In the first year, he said, there was a slight lag on the part of the Kibbutz child.

The advantage of the cooperative system in raising children, Rabin reported, is that the natural parents can devote loving attention to the child while the nurses and teachers are responsible for handling the discipline.

"Kibbutz parents are much in the same position as grandparents in our society," he said. They just give love and affection and "they are not involved in any storm-and-stress period."

MIGHT BE APPLIED

Rabin said he felt that the lessons learned from the Kibbutz communities might be applied in this country to cases where millions of dollars are being paid in aid to dependent children whose fathers have deserted the family.

"We might do better by putting this money into a program separating these children from their biological mothers," he said, adding that many of the fatherless children are living in a family which is not a family.

Rabin said he would like to see members of the Domestic Peace Corps devote two or three years to parental work "to give these kids a better chance in life" away from their usual slum-ridden environment.

RESIGNS—After 13 months as an assistant prosecutor, William R. VanderKloot, 28, of 30015 Cheviot Hill, Franklin, leaves his post today to enter private law practice. He will become associated with attorneys James Hartrick and Louis Fairbrother with offices at 801 S. Adams.

Auto Execs Endorse Car Safety Ideas

"too complicated and varied on a national scale for centralized control. But in recent years we've seen the signs of increasing federal activity and interest —even to the point of regulating vehicle design standards."

Chrysler President Lynn Townsend said mandatory vehicle inspection "offers the greatest promise of quick and gratifying results." Ford President Arjay Miller concentrated on driver education and licensing.

Romney asked the automakers to help create and finance a private traffic safety organization which he said is necessary to support public efforts to reduce highway accidents.

ADRIAN (AP) — Adrian College today said it would open a $15 million development funds campaign in February. One third of the money is to be used for endowment purposes and the rest for improvements and new equipment.

Consumers Plans Nuclear Power Plant

JACKSON (AP) — Consumers Power Co. today announced plans to build a $100 million nuclear power plant near South Haven for commercial power production.

The new plant would generate more than 700,000 kilowatts.

★ ★ ★

Consumers president James H. Campbell said the proposed facility will be "one of the largest nuclear power plants in the United States."

The plant would produce ten times the amount of power generated by Consumers' first nuclear plant located at Big Rock Point near Charlevoix, Campbell said.

START WORK

Site clearing for the new plant, to be located about five miles south of South Haven, will start this year, and the plant is scheduled to be in operation by 1970, Campbell added.

★ ★ ★

Campbell said the Charlevoix plant has "proven that a nuclear-fueled plant can be applied to our system on a large scale economically and efficiently. So it just makes good sense to use nuclear fuels as well as coal in meeting Michigan's needs for electric energy."

The Big Rock plant, opened in 1962, primarily served as a research and development facility. It started producing commerical power last December.

★ ★ ★

Campbell said when the plant goes into commercial operation it will become part of a Michigan power pool feeding energy into the interconnected systems of both Consumers Power and the Detroit Edison Co.

OTHER PROJECTS

Campbell said that in addition to the new plant, the utility plans to spend more than $480 million during the next five years on other projects for expansion of its electric and natural gas systems.

★ ★ ★

The new plant will require about 70 new employes, he added.

The atomic power plant will be the biggest Consumer's unit in operation by 1970, he added. It will surpass by about 50,000 kilowatts Consumers' biggest conventional steam-electric facility, the James H. Campbell station near Port Sheldon, which is scheduled to be completed in 1967.

Travelogue to Feature 'Majestic Switzerland'

BIRMINGHAM — Picturesque Switzerland will be the subject of next week's travelogue at the Community House.

The program featuring Ken Richter's all-color film is scheduled for 8 p.m. Feb. 4 and 5.

"Majestic Switzerland" is the title of Richter's new film.

The theme is the successful union of three greatly different peoples — the Geranm, French and Italian — in a confederation which has served them for many centuries.

★ ★ ★

IN HOLLYWOOD

He worked at major motion picture studios in Hollywood for five years.

To make his interpretative films, Richter has lived with head-hunters in Ecuador and nomad Berbers in the Sahara.

He has concentrated his travels in Europe, Africa and Middle East and has conducted pictorial interviews with such notables as Queen Elizabeth, the Shah of Iran, Chancellor Adenauer and President Tito.

★ ★ ★

Preceding the film, a dinner featuring authentic Swiss food will be served. Reservations for the 6 p.m. dinner should be made by Thursday.

No reservations for the film are necessary, although tickets can be purchased in advance as well as at the door.

Joseph Ludack, 31381 E. Rutland, Beverly Hills, recently was installed as president of the Kiwanis Club of Birmingham.

Other 1966 officers include J. Hector Nimmo, first vice president; Robert W. Montgomery, second vice president; Ralph R. Watts Jr., treasurer; and Grant Barber, secretary.

High school juniors interested in entering the U.S. Air Force Academy upon graduation in 1967 have been advised to prepare plans for application now.

Birmingham - Bloomfield area liaison officers said the head start is necessary due to the large number of applications received each year.

They advised students to contact school counselors or Lt. Col. G. K. Anderson, 6635 Halyard, Bloomfield Township, or Lt. Col. Delmer C. Gowing Jr., 1106 Wakefield, Birmingham.

Area Sites Listed for Car Plates

Pontiac area motorists who have yet to buy their 1966 license plates will be able to purchase the plates at two temporary offices outside the city of Pontiac next month.

Willis M. Brewer, head of the Secretary of State's branch office at 96 E. Huron, said plates will be available Tuesday through Feb. 28 at the Waterford Township hall, 4995 Highland; and the White Lake Township hall, 7525 Highland.

Hours at the two temporary offices will be 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday.

In addition, Brewer said, evening sale of license plates will be held Jan. 31 to Feb. 2 at the Sylvan Lake City Hall, 1820 Inverness, from 6 to 9 p.m.

The deadline to have plates is midnight Feb. 28.

Girl 'Satisfactory' After Collision in Oakland Twp.

A 20-year-old Oakland Township girl is listed in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital after a two-car accident last night.

Mrs. William V. Huntoon of 5450 Brewster was injured in an accident about 8:30 p.m. at the intersection of Adams and Silverbell in Oakland Township.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said a car driven by Mrs. Huntoon's husband collided with a vehicle driven by Ken R. Keary, 19, of Roseville.

Keary told deputies his automobile skidded through the stop sign at the intersection and struck Huntoon's car which was northbound on Adams.

Supplemental Bill Includes OU Aid

Included in a $4.32-million supplemental spending bill approved by the State Senate yesterday was $500,000 to complete plans and start construction on Oakland University's $4.5-million engineering building.

The money is to be spent this year and is not a part of the $79.4-million Gov. George Romney recommended in his budget yesterday for state building in 1966-67.

Construction on the proposed engineering building is expected to begin in April. It will be located between the library and science building.

Hart Hopes Bombing of N. Viet Not Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip Hart D-Mich.,, said Thursday he hopes a decision to resume bombing in North Viet Nam will not be necessary. He told a news conference ,however, it is a combined military and political judgment as to whether bombing should be resumed and he is not in a position to make it.

Despite Victory, Wilson Cool to New Vote

LONDON (AP) — British Laborites pressured Prime Minister Harold Wilson today to call a general election soon following the party's smashing win in a special election at Hull.

★ ★ ★

First indications from Wilson's entourage suggested that the prime minister would resist the argument that, with the political tide running in his party's favor, he might be able to bolster his slim majority in the House of Commons.

Wilson's government won a five-year mandate in the 1964 general election, but the prime minister can go to the voters at any time.

★ ★ ★

The victory of Labor candidate Kevin McNamara in Hull North Thursday night and the death of Conservative MP Dame Edith Pitt Thursday increased Wilson's majority in Commons from 2 votes to 4.

BY 5,351 VOTES

McNamara, 31, a law lecturer, defeated Conservative candidate Toby Jessel, also 31, by 5,351 votes. It was the biggest margin registered in the district by any political party in more than 15 years and was 4,170 votes more than Labor's winning margin there in the 1964 leneral election.

Wilson's stock has risen similarly in recent public opinion polls, and a corresponding shift in the vote on a national scale would give Wilson a substantial majority in Commons. But his closest confidants report he is convinced the British people have had enough politics in the past few years and wants a period of stable government.

★ ★ ★

Wilson reportedly reasons the voters might react against another election campaign with apathy or might turn against Labor for forcing another election.

The Hull victory was seen as a personal endorsement of Wilson and a slap at Edward Heath, leader of the Conservative opposition.

McNamara, who fought his campaign on Wilson's policies, polled 24,479 votes or 52.2 per cent. Jessel got 19,128 or 40.8 per cent.

★ ★ ★

The big loser was Laurie Milward, a Hull city councilor who ran for the tiny Liberal party and polled 2,945 votes. In 1964 her vote was 7,570.

Much attention was paid before the election to Richard Gott, a left-wing independent who campaigned against Wilson's support of U.S. policies in Viet Nam. There was speculation that he would siphon off enough Laborite votes to put a Conservative in, but he polled only 253 votes.

Two fringe candidates, Kelvin Woodburne and Russell Eckley, collected 68 votes between them.

LACK SUPPORT

Gott's poor showing put left-wing Labor MPs on notice that they lack electoral support for their desire to disassociate Britain from the American position in Viet Nam. Gott had predicted he would get 1,000 votes or more.

Even Conservative commentators acknowledged that the election was a dazzling triumph for Wilson. Heath immediately issued a call for unity in his party, which is divided over the Rhodesian rebellion and over economic policy.

★ ★ ★

The Conservatives were expected to have no trouble regaining the Edgbaston seat, in an exclusive area of Birmingham, which became vacant on the death of Dame Edith Pitt. She won it in 1964 by a majority of 11,759. She died from a brain hemorrhage at the age of 59.

Wilson's forces in Commons Thursday night defeated a Conservative motion to censure the government's econoic policies. The vote was 287-284 with the 10 Liberal party members siding with the Conservatives. The censure motion accused the government of failing to curb the "rapid" rise in the cost of living.

They Belong on the Street

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP) — Randolph G. Whittle, Bluefield city manager, says he had four good reasons for firing two street department employes.

Whittle said yesterday the men were operating a scraper to clear snow and:

Rammed five cars.

Hit a hedge.

Got stuck in a ditch and had to be pulled out.

Ran out of gas and abandoned the scraper on a street.

Viet Auditors Added Amid Graft Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign aid officials are increasing the number of auditors in Viet Nam amid charges of graft and corruption in administering rapidly expanding U. S. assistance programs there.

★ ★ ★

Officials of the Agency for International Development said the number of auditors in Viet Nam has doubled in the past 12 months to 20 and that more are being sent.

Because the program is so large that it is impossible to check every operation before shipments are made, a post-audit system is being used in which sample transactions are checked. If a violation is uncovered, the officials said, importers are penalized and the South Viet Nam government is asked to pay back the loss.

★ ★ ★

Other recent measures to tighten procurement procedures include an increase in the number of Vietnamese police. AID officials said the force, which numbered 22,000 a year ago, is up to 52,000 and will be increased to 72,000 by June 30.

CHARGES MADE

Charges of black market profiteering and fund diversions were made Wednesday by Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, as the House Foreign Affairs Committee questioned Secretary of State Dean Rusk and AID Administrator David E. Bell about proposed foreign aid increases for Viet Nam.

Bell and Rusk expressed concern at the black marketing reports and asked the U. S. Embassy in Saigon to provide details.

★ ★ ★

Preliminary reports indicated that some of the profiteering by Americans has been carried out by the dependents of civilians working on construction projects for the Defense Department.

In London, William J. Mazzocco, special assistant to AID's assistant administrator for the Far East, told a news conference that corruption in Viet Nam "is not a new problem and we have been dealing with it and discussing it for some time.

Aides Assure LBJ That Peacetime Machinery Can Handle Viet Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economic advisers have assured President Johnson that the peacetime allocation machinery will suffice to give military orders priority over civilian production during the $15- billion Viet Nam buildup.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers submitted a study showing that the planned outlays for Viet Nam will have far less economic impact than outlays during the Korean War, which created some civilian shortages.

★ ★ ★

Johnson sent the council's report to Congress Thursday along with his annual economic message. The findings indicated that the White House will not seek added control powers when the Defense Production Act comes up for renewal this spring.

Although the business stimulus resulting from Pentagon spending will be felt throughout the economy, the council said, total defense outlays will claim only 7.6 per cent of national output in fiscal 1966 and 1967.

SHADE HIGHER

That is only a shade more than the 7.5 per cent in fiscal 1965. By contrast, defense spending tripled in the two years after the Korean War began in 1950, climbing from less than 5 per cent of national output to over 12 per cent in 1952.

Largely because of the vast expansion of the nation's industrial capacity since Korea, the council said, it will not be necessary to fortify the present Defense Materials System.

★ ★ ★

The DMS is the allocation program for basic metals. It has been ticking along since the Korean War, routinely assuring that defense contracts get priority over civilian orders for materials and plant capacity in case of any conflict. DMS is managed by the Commerce Department's Business and Defense Services Administration.

With industry operating at rates well below capacity, the allocation system has proceeded "without bumping private demands to any noticeable extent," the council said.

SOME EXCEPTION

It went on: "With (industry's) operating rates now higher than before, there may be some cases where the execution of civilian orders will be somewhat delayed.

"However, these will be exceptional, and will not be such as to require alteration in our present machinery for material priorities and allocations."

★ ★ ★

Neither will there be extreme demands on any individual industries, the council said, even though textile producers and some others which are getting new military orders were already operating at high rates because of consumer demand.

The estimated $6-billion increase from 1965 in defense outlays during this calendar year represents nearly 13 per cent of the anticipated $46-billion increase in gross national product, or GNP — the total dollar value of all goods and services produced.

"These outlays will exert a broad fiscal stimulus," said the council headed by Dr. Gardner Ackley.

"Indeed, because they directly and immediately add to GNP, defense purchases tend to have a somewhat larger and more rapid economic effect than a tax reduction of the same size, which must be respent before it can stimulate production."

★ ★ ★

The report estimated that 35 per cent of the rise in defense outlays this year will go for the pay and allowances of the increased number of military and civilian personnel, and 10 per cent for training, food, lodging, clothing and transportation costs of the added manpower.

Another 22 per cent represents gasoline, ammunition, ordnance and other mass-produced items. Of the rest, about 18 per cent goes into large, sophisticated weapons systems like missiles, aircraft and ships.

Minimum Speed Said Needed on Freeways

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Col. Walter E. Stone, superintendent of the Rhode Island State Police, says a minimum speed — perhaps 40 miles an hour — should be set on expressways.

Stone said several of the 80 drivers stopped during a two-hour expressway safety campaign were driving too slowly, but could be given only warnings because there is no minimum legal speed for expressways in Rhode Island.

Arsenal Is Testing Weapon of Coils

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Frankford Arsenal is testing a weapon designed to snare an adversary in coils and coils of flying, twisting wire.

About 500 feet of wire is packed into a metal canister eight inches long and three-quarters of an inch around. When fired it can hurl its wire, either a saw-tooth variety to snag skin, or a smooth variety to snare clothes, up to 150 feet.

A second model, for women to use against attackers, is also being tested. It's smaller, but carries 10,000 feet of a much finer wire. Source of the power to fire the wire was not disclosed.

Another Legend for Famed 7th Cavalry

AN KHE, Viet Nam (UPI) — The big gruff sergeant major stood at attention, his eyes locked on the color guard in front of him.

On the flagstaff were half a hundred battle streamers calling to mind the campaigns of the 7th Cavalry Regiment. The names began with Little Big Horn and rolled down through the history of American wars.

Someday another streamer would be added with the name of Chu Pong Mountain, Viet Nam War, 1965.

A gentle breeze rustled the streamers as the command snapped out:

"Awards candidate step forward."

★ ★ ★

The sergeant major did a left face, a right face and advanced ten paces to salute his commanders — Maj. Gen. Harry W. O. Kinnard and Col Hal Moore.

CITATION READ

A major read the citation.

"Sgt. Maj. Basil L. Plumley distinguished himself by heroic action on 16 Nov. 1965 while defending a command post in the Ia Drang Valley, Republic of Viet Nam.

(It wasn't much of a command post . . . just a little ant hill where we all huddled around the radios and the wounded lay quietly waiting for the long ride out.)

"Hostile small arms and automatic weapons fire was coursing steadily and relentlessly into the forward command post and aid station area which was approximaetly 150 meters from the line of contact.

(It coursed steadily all right. The leaves fluttered down into our faces as the bullets pruned the trees overhead.)

"At approximately 0500 hours at the height of the savage attack, a flare, still burning, landed in an open box of fragmentation hand grenades in the pile of small arms, mortar and other ammunition less than ten meters from the battalion command group."

(If it had gone up it would have taken out the colonel, the radios, the wounded and that precious pile of ammo.)

"Sgt. Maj. Plumley, voluntarily and unhesitatingly, rose up in the face of intense weapons fire, dashed to the burning flare, lifting it with his bare hands out of the box of grenades and threw it."

(It was a paralyzing moment. Then his limbs thawed and he moved fast.)

"He then extinguished the flare with his feet as well as other small fires which it had ignited around the ammo area."

(A couple of decades in the army and you learn to make do with what you've got. He didn't have anything but his hands and his feet.)

"Sgt. Maj. Plumley's valorous and extremely courageous action performed under fire with complete disregard for his own personal safety undoubtedly prevented the complete ammunition supply from exploding.

"His gallant actions were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit and the United States Army."

★ ★ ★

The general stepped forward and pinned the medal on Plumley's broad chest. The little Silver Star in the middle of the big gold one sparkled as the sun broke through the clouds.

The general spoke.

★ ★ ★

"This battle you fought so well was important not only because it was a great victory but because it served as a stimulant for our country and all the freedom-loving nations of the world. It set fire to the hearts and minds of the world."

The battle has died away. Historians will pick the bones of the after-action reports and someday a white streamer with its name will be added to the colors of the 7th Cavalry.

No Injuries Reported in Train Derailment

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — Seven units of the crack Silver Meteor passenger train derailed today in this northeastern North Carolina city, blocking Seaboard Air Line's main north-south tracks.

None of the cars overturned and there were no injuries reported. The train was northbound.

Cause of the accident was not known, but the Henderson area received 12 inches of snow Wednesday and tracks were reported icy in spots.

Some people come to Soft Whiskey the hard way.

Some people will go to any length to find the whiskey they want. And their search sometimes takes them to many a strange brew. Of course, others are luckier. They try Soft Whiskey first. And once they do, they never have to try anything else. You don't settle for Soft Whiskey. You drink it only because you like it.

That's because Soft Whiskey does anything any other whiskey can do, only it does it softer. (It's 86 proof.) So it goes down smoother and stays that way all the way down.

We came to Soft Whiskey the hard way (after thousands of experiments). And we make it the hard way, by doing some distilling in small batches instead of large ones. Anything else we could tell you is top secret. Once you find we're the only Soft Whiskey, you'll know why. Even if you did come to it the hard way.

Medical Aid No Immediate Worry in Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Col. Spurgeon Neel is a happy man. He has the tools to do his job: save the lives of wounded U.S. and Vietnamese soldiers in Viet Nam.

Neel, chief surgeon for the Military Assistance Command-Viet Nam (MACV), feels that he has a more than adequate supply of necessities needed for healing — well trained, dedicated doctors and nurses and excellent medical supplies.

He is free, too, of the usual military red tape. His only boss here is Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. military commander in Viet Nam.

An ebullient, loquacious man, Neel has first call on anything in the U.S. Army Medical Corps.

DOCTOR SUPPLY

The supply of doctors to treat wounded Americans is good, he says: "We are in excellent shape both qualitatively and quantitatively."

Military spokesmen estimate there are well over 300 Army doctors and more than 200 Army nurses in South Viet Nam. The Air Force and Navy likely have 150 additional doctors and about 100 nurses.

★ ★ ★

In Viet Nam, Neel has two mobile army surgical hospitals, three field hospitals and two evacuation hospitals. The Navy has its 3rd Medical Battalion with C Company at Da Nang, the "Charley Med" that has taken care of so many wounded Marines.

In addition, the Korean division has an evacuation hospital of 400 beds, 26 doctors and 33 nurses.

6 HOSPITALS

Working with the medical people in Viet Nam, but not under MACV control, are six military hospitals in Japan, one on Okinawa and one at Clark Air Force Base Hospital in the Philippines.

Neel says he sometimes has an unusual problem: overreaction to his requests by authorities in the United States.

Sometime ago, he asked for a flight surgeon, and they sent out a man who had been instrumental in flight-surgeon training at Ft. Rucker, Ala.

"I was glad to have him, and he was enthusiastic about coming," Neel said, "but actually it would have been better if he had kept on training other flight surgeons at home."

FIRST PRIORITY

Neel does have other problems, of course, mainly concerned with logistics. Although he has first priority in the Army Medical Corps, there is still the problem of getting supplies to their destinations at the proper time.

The death rate for soldiers arriving at forward hospitals in World War I was 8½ per cent. By World War II, this had dropped to 4½ per cent, and only 2½ per cent of the soldiers reaching forward hospitals in Korea died.

In Viet Nam, the ratio has been 1 per cent or a trifle less.

Neel is proud of the low rate, but he realizes it could easily change if the Viet Cong start throwing large masses of troops into battle or bring in heavy artillery or air attacks.

"Actually, we haven't been strained too much yet," Neel says. "Our build-up has been gradual enough that we could pretty well project our medical needs and keep up with them. It hasn't been like Korea, where we found ourselves smack in the middle of a war one Sunday."

Beside the first-rate personnel available to him, Neel believes two factors have been important in the reduced death rate: improved anesthetics and techniques and the ability to provide whole blood to surgeons near the fighting.

Amputations have been greatly reduced by improvements in vascular surgery and the fact that more surgeons can now perform such operations involving the blood vessels.

"In Korea at one time we had only one man in one hospital who was an expert at this," he says. "Now vascular surgery is performed at every military hospital. We also have plastic tubing now that we can use as 'spare parts' in replacing damaged arteries and veins."

Swift movement of wounded men from the battlefield improves the chance of survival. In Korea, only 10 per cent of the wounded men were taken out by helicopter. Here it's 90 per cent.

LITTLE MEANING

The titles "field" and "evacuation" hospital mean little in Viet Nam. The 85th Evacuation at Qui Nhon on the central coast, for example, handled many of the first cavalarymen wounded in the Ia Drang fighting, and by no means all of them were evacuated. And the 85th currently is treating about 300 serious malaria cases, most of whom will be returned to duty from the hospital.

Two of the six U.S. military hospitals in Japan handle most of the Vietnamese casualties that arrive in that country. They are Johnson Hospital and Camp Drake, both run by the Army and both recently renovated.

About 1,000 evacuees are in the facilities in Japan, but only 15 per cent are men wounded in battle. The others are sick or were injured outside combat.

Only the less serious cases among evacuees are taken to Japan. They are men who are expected to be returned to duty. Serious cases or those, for example, requiring plastic surgery, are flown on to the United States.

GOOD SUPPLY

U. S. medical authorities in Japan say their supplies and personnel are adequate.

The U.S. Army Hospital on Okinawa has been expanded from 350 to 500 beds. The hospital has a sufficient staff.

One of the key out-country hospitals handling wounded is Clark Air Base Hospital near Manila. At Clark, some casualties remain, but others, usually critical cases that can be moved, are quickly transferred to other military hospitals in the Pacific area, including Honolulu and Formosa. Some are sent directly to the United States.

There are no serious shortages at Clark, but during such major battles as Ia Drang, the hospital was jammed, and doctors and nurses sometimes worked for 48 hours without sleep.

The most serious problem confronting Army doctors is wounded who require brain surgery. There are not many brain surgeons in the Army.

Some U.S. doctors are attached to South Vietnamese units, and many American physicians serve as advisers to the Vietnamese. U.S. medical personnel also hold clinics in every village the Army passes through, passing out medical supplies and treating everything from a scratch to surgery. Indidual treatments, a spokesman says, average 20,000 to 30,000 a week.

Adopted Children of Mossler Face Tragedy Again; Real Mother Was Slain in 1957

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — What do four youngsters do when their real mother dies by gunfire and, only nine years later, they must stand with their adopted mother in the glaring spotlight of a murder trial?

If one of them is Martha Mossler, 15, she has bad dreams, and she cries sometimes. But she holds her head high and looks forward to a time when the nightmare will end and she will become a mother, too.

★ ★ ★

If one is Danny Mossler, 14, he discovers who are his real friends. And he faces the stares of some and says, "I'm a Mossler and proud of it."

Martha and Danny and their brothers, Chris, 12, and Eddie, 11, are the adopted children of Jacques Mossler, the rich banker who was killed June 30, 1964, in a Miami apartment.

Their blonde second mother, Candace Mossler, is on trial for her life, charged with his murder.

When the four slender, handsome children walked into the apartment that night to find the body of Mossler pierced by 39 stab wounds, they experienced for the second time the shock of a beloved parent's violent death.

★ ★ ★

In 1957, similar violence had exploded in their home in Chicago, when they were very young. Their father, Leonard Glenn, shot their mother to death to free her, he said, of evil spirits and he killed their baby brother, Alexander.

Then Glenn, now an Illinois mental patient, took his four surviving children on a wild ride through a blizzard, until his car stuck in a snowdrift and police were able to close in for the rescue.

WANTED THEM ALL

When Jacques Mossler learned that the four were to become wards of the state, he offered to take them. Others also came forward, but only Mossler wanted them all.

Despite the shock and the grief of two family tragedies, Martha, Danny, Chris and Eddie remain remarkably strong and well-adjusted.

Martha, a tall girl with striking good looks and long dark hair that hangs to her shoulders, smiles as she talks of her plight.

But her eyes mist when she says: "Some people I thought were my friends treat me now like I was something from outer space. But they aren't real friends unless they stick with you. We didn't do anything."

When Mrs. Mossler came from her palatial Houston home to stand trial, she transferred the children to a private school in Miami. But they failed to find the anonymity they had sought.

Before they were recognized, Eddie said, "I made some new friends in Miami and everything seemed fine. But when they found out I was a Mossler, they weren't my friends any more."

★ ★ ★

Danny, a member of the National Honor Society, had longed especially for privacy "so I could study." He wants to be a doctor. Because of his scholastic standing, he was allowed to skip a grade in the Miami school.

"I didn't find the privacy," he said, "but I don't let them bother me. We're still proud that we're Mosslers."

GOOD STUDENTS

The other children are good students, too. Eddie is studying "to be a business man — like dad. I'm good at mathematics."

"Yeah," laughed Danny, "that's what you think now, but wait until you get to all that algebra and stuff."

★ ★ ★

Chris intends to be a lawyer. "He's fascinated by the law," his brothers say.

Only Martha has no interest in a career. "I just want to get married," she said, "and be a mother."

★ ★ ★

Did she leave a special boy friend back in Houston?

"Well — not really."

For Candace, Nephew

Selecting Murder Trial Jury

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Attorneys were rapidly running out of challenges as the effort to pick a jury for the Mossler murder trial neared the end of its second week.

Candace Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, retained only four challenges between them when the 10th day of the trial started today.

Mrs. Mossler, accused of scheming with Powers to murder her wealthy husband, Jacques, 69, suffered an attack of migraine headaches and nausea during Thursday morning's session.

Looking pale and drawn, she was taken to her downtown apartment and placed under a doctor's care.

Early in the morning of June 30, 1964, when Mossler was slain in a Miami apartment, his wife was in Jackson Memorial Hospital being treated in the emergency ward for a similar attack.

The state charges that while she was there she received a telephone call from Powers. She returned to the apartment later to find her husband's body.

Circuit Judge George Schulz allowed the examination of prospective jurors to go on in Mrs. Mossler's absence and by the day's end, the attorneys had run through 135 candidates.

Percy Foreman, chief counsel for Powers who had challenged four women called up earlier, excused a fifth woman Thursday before she had given her name.

DELAYING TACTIC

Schulz said he would not rule before Monday on a defense motion to dismiss the murder indictment. The motion was challenged Thursday by State Attorney Richard Gerstein as merely a delaying tactic.

Studio Lawyers Said Affecting Health of Liz

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A federal judge has ordered suspension of further oral examination of actress Elizabeth Taylor by 20th Century-Fox attorneys, who charge her conduct with Richard Burton inflated the cost of the film, "Cleopatra."

Miss Taylor's attorney, Milton A. Rudin, told U.S. Dist. Judge Thurmond Clarke Thursday the movie star had become ill under the interrogation.

Judge Clarke ruled the studio lawyers may now submit written questions only.

LABOR TROUBLE IN ATHENS—Citizens in Athens, Greece board a bus yesterday rented by the government and walk around a pile of refuse. Public transport and municipal employes are on strike for higher wages. The government's steps to counteract the strike include renting buses, sending the army to pick up trash and finding servicemen with baking experience to man the bread bakeries.

Veterans Hear Romney on Benefit Plan

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney's proposed scaled-benefits plan for Michigan veterans is under study by veterans group leaders.

Commanders of state veterans groups agreed to take Romney's plan home for study after a dinner meeting at his Bloomfield Hills home Wednesday.

Romney was to report on the meeting at a news conference today.

Many of the commanders and other representatives had told the House Committee on Military and Veterans Affairs a few hours before meeting with Romney that they were sticking to their insistence on an expansion of the present property tax exemption for disabled or pensioned veterans from the first $3,500.

★ ★ ★

Romney said about 60 persons attended the dinner. Eight legislators, State Treasurer Allison Green and members of Romney's staff were there.

★ ★ ★

Romney presented the veterans with a plan that would scale exemptions from the first $2,500 of state equalized valuation for widows of some veterans to $5,000 for veterans with more than 80 per cent disability.

★ ★ ★

Veterans with disability of 30 per cent and less would receive a $3,000 exemption; those from 31 to 61 per cent disabled would receive $3,500; and those up to 81 per ecnt would receive $4,250.

★ ★ ★

Romney's plan, which he said would affect the same number of applicants as the present program, would cost $9.1 million a year. An estimated $6.1 million was spent in 1964. His figures showed 82,409 applicants in 1964.

NOTHING NEW

Several House members said veterans group commanders felt inequities in the present program would not be corrected by Romney's proposal.

It also would present administrative difficulties, said Rep. Eugene Cater, D-Ludington.

★ ★ ★

"The federal government now is in the process of reclassifying every veteran with 18 or 19 years of stable disability. This is in line with a 1964 federal law that says any veteran with a 20-year history of unchanged disability never can be reclassified with a lesser degree. "That would mean every township supervisor and assessing officer would have to become an investigator."

School to Teach Horseshoeing

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP) — Construction is under way near here on a federally financed trade school designed to put the village smithy back under the chestnut tree.

Classes begin at the resident school of farriery in May.

★ ★ ★

Even the project's consultants at Virginia Polytechnic Institute had to consult a dictionary to find out that farriery is the trade of shoeing a horse.

Yet, the Small Business Administration has found enough demand for farriers to finance the project with a $15,000 loan.

SCHOOL TEACHER

Recipient of the loan is Luther "Smokey" Ward, 54, who will be headmaster and teacher of the school. He will have a maximum of 16 students for each 12-week course the year around.

Both men and women will be eligible to study at the school on a one acre tract east of this city near the North Carolina border.

Says Ward, who shod his first horse at the age of 12 under the tutelage of his father, "It's a fact there are more horses in the country than ever before — and less farriers.

"And when a horse needs a pair of shoes, he can't wait."

Ward, a personable, folksy man who plays entertaining bluegrass guitar, is one of the best-known horseshoers in the Southeast. He services customers in several states, traveling in a van that is a blacksmith shop on wheels.

DETROIT (AP) — Wilma Hall, 19, of Highland Park died yesterday in a Detroit hospital of injuries suffered in a traffic accident here Jan. 11.

N-Arms Treaty Talks Said Optimistic

GENEVA (AP) — An atmosphere of cautious optimism about prospects for an East-West treaty to halt the spread of nuclear arms prevailed today at the 17-nation disarmament conference after its first session.

Adding to the mood was an article in the Soviet Communist party paper Pravda which said the Soviet Union is ready to consider charges in its proposed draft of a nonproliferation treaty.

"The Soviet draft offers a good basis for further discussions," Pravda said. "It stands to reason, of course, that it does not rule out any other constructive proposals.

"The urgent need now is to avert a dangerous turn of events, halt the arms race and prevent the dissemination of nuclear weapons."

SAME POSITION

Repeating the position the Soviet Union has taken ever since a nonproliferation treaty was proposed, Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin said Thursday the main obstacle to negotiations was "West Germany's effort to lay its heads on nuclear weapons."

He charged that the U.S. draft treaty contained a "loophole" through which West Germany could get nuclear arms, but that the Soviet draft "prevents cheating and contains no loopholes permitting direct or indirect proliferation."

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Union has opposed any nuclear role for West Germany within the Atlantic alliance, such as its taking part in the proposed multilateral nuclear force.

The U.S.-backed proposal for a force of ships equipped with nuclear arms and manned by mixed crews has been dormant for some time but has never been officially scrapped.

FRANCE OBJECTED

U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has proposed a consultative committee to give West Germany a voice on nuclear strategy within the alliance. It has met once, but France objected to making it permanent.

Asked about McNamara's proposal, Tsarapkin said, "I haven't been given any details. I know nothing about it."

Tsarapkin's obviously feigned ignorance of McNamara's suggestion and his reluctance to make any adverse comment on it encouraged Western officials to believe that such a consultative committee might eventually be accepted by the Russians once the proposed multilateral force is officially scrapped.

British disarmament minister Lord Chalafront has said that in his view the force is "dead." But U.S. delegate William C. Foster has insisted that it is still under discussion within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

British officials are reported irritated at the U.S. refusal to jettison what they see as a major obstacle to reaching agreement with the Russians on a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

Tsarapkin also made an expected blast against U.S. policy in Viet Nam but its tone was mild.

★ ★ ★

GETTY

American billionaire J. Paul Getty has finally decided that Britain's lack of central heating is just too much to put up with. He is moving to Italy for the winter months.

Getty, 73, has rented a furnished castle, Castello di Palo, on Italy's west coast near Ladispoli. He has taken a lease for five years and associates said he will spend most of his winters there.

The oil man has lived in Britain for about seven years, spending much of the time in his 72-room mansion near London.

Johnson Honored Again---Named Church Elder

More honors are coming President Johnson's way.

He has been named an honorary elder of the National City Christian Church, in Washington, where he frequently worships on Sunday.

JOHNSON

The office was created by the congregation at a meeting Wednesday night. Others named honorary elders were Gen. Omar N. Bradley and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, both retired.

The President flies to New York, Feb. 23 to accept the annual Freedom Award of Freedom House at a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The nonpartisan center gives the award annually to the person deemed by its trustees to have done most to advance the cause of freedom.

Previous winners have included former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman and the late Sir Winston Churchill.

18 Submit Bids on Sewer Work

Southfield Project Is Divided Into 3 Phases

A total of 18 contractors submitted bids yesterday to the Oakland County Department of Public Works Board on three separate phases of the Southfield-Rouge sewer arm project in Southfield.

Bids were referred to DPW engineers for evaluation. Contract awards and the sale of bonds are scheduled for Feb. 23.

The DPW is acting as agent for the City of Southfield on the sewer arm which will connect to the Evergreen interceptor sewer.

Farino Excavating Co. was low bidder on the two phases of the project requiring ditching and laying of sewer section with bids of $151,389 and $109,742.

★ ★ ★

These respective projects call for installation of 11,668 feet of 36-inch pipe and 6,895 feet of 21 and 24-inch sewer line.

ELEVEN BID

Eleven firms bid on the first project and 15 on the second. High bids were $398,002 and $281,764 respectively.

The third phase of the sewer arm project calling for tunnel work and installation of 10,451 feet of 48-inch section drew eight bids ranging from $672,127 to $1,478,732.

Combining on the low bid were Michigan Sewer Co. and the Jay Dee Construction Co.

★ ★ ★

The sewer arm project will extend from Eight Mile and Berg north to 12 Mile just east of Telegraph.

Mt. Hood, Ore., was once a volcano, but it has been inactive for hundreds of years.

English Educator in Waterford Talk

The teaching profession must move forward to cope with "vastly accelerated" changes taking place in the world today, English educator Sir Ronald Gould told staff members of Waterford Township Schools yesterday.

"The task of the teacher today is not to prepare children for life in a static society," said Gould, "but to prepare children for life in a rapidly changing society."

The 61-year-old Londoner, president of the World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching Profession, listed four major changes teachers must cope with, expanding on each.

Rising population, according to Gould, is "one of the greatest political dangers the world faces."

★ ★ ★

Gould, an eloquent speaker with a characteristic flushing complexion, also regards greater urbanization, faster communication and changes in modern technology as mounting problems.

UNDERSTANDING

"We have to do more than love our own country," he said.

"We must understand and sympathize with people overseas and learn how to live with these neighbors throughout the world."

A drawback, according to Gould, is that people tend to resist change that is uncomfortable and often favor change only in the other person.

★ ★ ★

"This is particularly true in the teaching profession," he said.

CHANGE A MUST

"But we are living in a generation in which change is imperative if we are going to be successful."

He said that education systems must emphasize opportunity for all and offer various kinds of excellence to a maximum amount of students.

Gould also pointed out that students must be guided to find enough satisfaction to make their lives worthwhile.

★ ★ ★

He said school systems should try to get enough teachers, making sure they are of high quality.

MAKE ATTEMPT

"There must be an attempt to make the life of a teacher attractive materially," he said. He also said that an adequate supply of buildings should be available.

He called on teachers' associations to help mold public opinion so that people "will give education the highest social priority and be prepared to pay for its progress."

"It is the people who have to pay in one way or another," said Gould.

He concluded by reiterating his thought that teachers aren't quite ready to meet the challenge created by rapid changes.
