Dairy Farmers Still Picketing Two Creameries

Milk Producers Protest Detroit Prices; May Start Dumping

DETROIT (AP)—Dairy farmers rebelling against prices they get for milk picketed two Detroit creameries today but made no attempt to block deliveries of milk in the city.

But their leaders said milk producers have been called on to start dumping milk. Producers brought bulk milk in tank trucks to the plants for processing as usual.

Milkmen collected their supplies and made deliveries to consumers without interference.

Picketed today were the plant of Ira Wilson & Sons Co. and Borden Co. headquarters. Fifty farmers marched in lines at the Wilson plant. There were about 100 pickets at Borden's.

The striking farmers are members of the Fair Share Bargaining Assn., a rebel group within the Michigan Milk Producers Assn.

Leaders of the Fair Share group, which claims the Producers Association has failed to bargain effectively with the creameries, said the milk brought to the dairies today was yesterday's supply.

CONFIDENT OF SUPPORT

Roland M. Brengle, Fair Share president, said he is "confident producers will aid us by refusing to deliver milk to these companies."

Meanwhile, the AFL teamsters union indicated interest in the strike. Bert Brennan, teamsters business agent, conferred with Brengle in front of the Borden plant.

Brennan said he had no plans for aiding the farmers who are not members of any union. He said he was "merely trying to find out what is going on."

Brengle said he expects farmers will cooperate by dumping milk at their farms until prices are raised.

MILK DUMPING PREDICTED

"We believe milk will be dumped in great quantities in Marlette and Imlay City and other producing centers," Brengle said. "We have men out asking farmers to help us by dumping their milk."

Robert Maas of Van Dyke, a Borden tank truck driver who brought in 36,000 pounds from Marlette today, said he did not know. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Walking Since 1953

Pilgrim Pauses in Pontiac on 10,000 Mile Journey

A nameless gray-haired lady walked into Pontiac yesterday, completing 8,100 miles of her 10,000 mile journey to promote world peace through "disarmament and reconstruction."

"Peace Pilgrim," as she calls herself, spent the night here, and continued on her way early this morning.

Peace started her journey on New Year's Day in 1953. Since that time she has walked coast to coast and border to border. She is now walking at least 100 miles in each state ending at the state capitol of each.

She walked the road from Kalamazoo to Jackson for the second time on this leg of her 10,000 mile journey. "This was the first time I ever traveled a road twice," Peace said, "and it was quite pleasant. I saw many people who remembered me from before."

Peace's pilgrimage is a prayer that you "I shall remain a wanderer until mankind has learned the ways of peace... walking until I am given shelter, fasting until I am given food."

There have been only four meals that I've skipped," she said, "and I have had a bed to sleep in at least three-fourths of the time." There have been nights spent in parked cars or cement floors, she recalls.

Peace Pilgrim is dressed in blue shoes, slacks, and tunic which bears the name "Peace Pilgrim" on the front and "Walking 10,000 Miles for World Disarmament" on the back.

She carries a comb, toothbrush and pencil with her plus any mail she receives along the way.

"This is the effort of one person to promote world peace through disarmament and reconstruction," Peace Pilgrim said of her journey.

New Arab Delay Threatens U.S. Peace Mission

Action May Block Plan to Send Hammarskjold to Palestine

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A new Arab delaying action today threatened a U.S. plan to send U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold on a Palestine peace mission.

In Damascus, Premier Said el Ghazzi told the Syrian Parliament his government wants the U.S. proposal shifted from the Security Council to the General Assembly.

Western sources feared the Soviet Union, in line with its recent pro-Arab policy, would support such a Syrian move.

The 11-nation council agreed yesterday to postpone a vote on the American proposal at least until next Tuesday so Israel and her four Arab neighbors—Syria, Egypt, Lebanon and Jordan—could speak on it.

The delay was opposed by Chief U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., who called on the council to waste no time in "setting into motion the full authority of the United Nations to deal with the present ominous drift."

Should Syria succeed in getting the American proposal transferred to the General Assembly, the larger U.N. group might not be able to act on it until late fall or early winter.

Syria made no secret of her opposition to the U.S. plan. El Ghazzi told the Damascus Parliament the proposal is contrary to Arab interests and contains "completely new matters that should be debated and voted upon in the General Assembly and not the Security Council."

The U.S. resolution would have Hammarskjold, in conferences with all governments concerned, seek agreement on measures to reduce the explosive tensions along Israel's frontiers with the Arab states.

The United States had hoped he could leave next Monday.

Britain, France and Australia spoke in full support of the U.S. proposal. Belgium, Iran and Peru supported it in principle. But those three, the Soviet Union, Yugoslavia and Cuba said they wanted to hear from Israel and the Arab countries before taking a definite stand.

The council finally agreed to meet tomorrow and again next Tuesday.

Passengers on Ike's Train Felled by 'Bad' Gingerale

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (INS)—The Secret Service awaited today a laboratory analysis of several bottles of gingerale to determine whether three upset stomachs signalled a possible attempt on President Eisenhower's life.

Three persons were stricken after drinking the gingerale Thursday aboard the special railroad car which Eisenhower later used on his trip to White Sulphur Springs for his talks with Canadian and Mexican chiefs of state.

Two still are hospitalized.

The gingerale was drunk in Huntington, W. Va., aboard the plush special car maintained for Walter J. Tuohy, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad.

The car was taken the same night to Washington for Eisenhower's Sunday night trip to his meeting with Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada and President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines of Mexico.

The same three persons who drank the gingerale earlier had eaten a pork chop dinner together. That meal could have been the source of the trouble.

ROUTINE INVESTIGATION

Secret Service Chief U. E. Baughman said he was making a routine investigation of the possibility that the gingerale might have been poisoned.

The three stricken persons included a "mechanical service" employee of the railroad and two women relatives of another employee. The employee is in a hospital in Washington and one of the women in Huntington.

The gingerale came from the supply maintained aboard the car, which includes a complete kitchen. The empty bottles were thrown overboard en route to Washington.

Those who drank it complained of its unpleasant taste.

Three bottles of the soft drink and samples of the ice aboard the car were sent to a Baltimore laboratory, which found nothing wrong.

The West Virginia State Hygiene Laboratories at Charleston were scheduled to complete an examination today of eight other bottles.

Good Neighbor Meeting Awaits Expected Report

St. Laurent, Cortines Laud Spirit of Cordiality 'Between Our Nations'

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Canadian and Mexican leaders looked to President Eisenhower today for a full exposition of U.S. world policies, including a discussion of the war-threatened Middle East.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles were understood to have prepared such a report for the only scheduled business session of the good neighbor conference which opened here last night.

Aside from today's business session, the conference schedule included a luncheon meeting and a closing dinner tonight with Eisenhower playing host to Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and Mexican President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines.

The North American Big Three opened their unprecedented meeting with a dinner last night. Ruiz Cortines sat on the President's right; St. Laurent, at his left. Their foreign ministers and other advisers were ranged around the long table in the Greenbrier Hotel.

The talk was entirely informal and the atmosphere cordial and friendly, said White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty.

Although no formal toasts were proposed, Eisenhower raised his wine glass at one point and declared his "hope and desire for health, happiness and friendship among us."

Ruiz Cortines toasted the "continuation of the greatest cordiality between us," then broadened his sentiments to cover the "American continent."

Lester B. Pearson, Canada's minister for external affairs, spoke of continued friendly relations of the three countries and toasted "to the United States, surrounded by the oceans and by Mexico and Canada."

Robert Farquharson, press officer for the Canadian delegation, told reporters, "The President was in great form and carried the conversation, and everybody enjoyed himself."

If any serious business was discussed at the dinner the spokesmen gave no hint of it. All official comment indicated that the main result of the sessions here would be to dramatize friendly relations among the North American powers.

Woodchucks Appear; A Real Sign of Spring

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Zoo director Fred A. Meyer said the woodchucks came out to stay yesterday afternoon, "a real sign of spring."

"They're the only true hibernators we've got," he added. "Two months ago I reached in their den and pulled out a woodchuck," he related. "It was curled up in a little ball and I could just barely detect a heartbeat with a stethoscope."

Stories of Easter—Peter

Mountain of a Man, but Only a Man

(When a mountain falls, great is the fall. This, the fourth in an Easter Week series, is about a mountain of a man—and yet, only a man.)

By GEORGE CORNELL
(AP Religious Writer)

It seemed impossible. But it had happened. Like water seeping into a storm-lashed boat, fear had crept through his body and the great, brawny, indomitable Peter had blurted out his thunderous lie.

"I know not this man, Jesus." Now the words beat in his mind like the hammering of an angry sea. "I know Him not... I know Him not... What sayest thou? ... I know Him not." Three times, with rising truculence, he had said it, venom breeding venom.

Then he had begun to curse and swear, hating himself, hating all of them, hating the sound of that cock crowing in the distance, a cock in Jerusalem where no cocks could be kept, but a cock crowing, all the same.

It was like the mocking death-howl of the wind, like far-off bitter laughter. In the trembling, ominous dawn, as the booting guards lead their bound victim away, Peter sat hunched on a stoop, sobbing convulsively.

The "rock" had turned into sand.

In shame, he plunged back to the moment when the Master first gave him that name. He heard again Jesus' probing questions, heard his own swift ringing declaration of faith: "Thou art the Christ, Son of the living God."

Peter covered his face with his hands, his nails digging into his flesh. What a desecration he had made of the mighty commission art Peter and upon this rock I will build My church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. But he, Peter, the big, brusque, stalwart leader of the 12, had collapsed like rotted timber when the gale struck, when the peril came, when, club-wielding soldiers swarmed the garden and tied up Christ like a thief.

With the others, he had fled in craven alarm and then furtively followed to the scene of the Master's trial before the Sanhedrin. Caught lurking at the door, he went sick with fright at the suspicious questions.

"Aren't you one of them?" they kept demanding. "Weren't you with Him?"

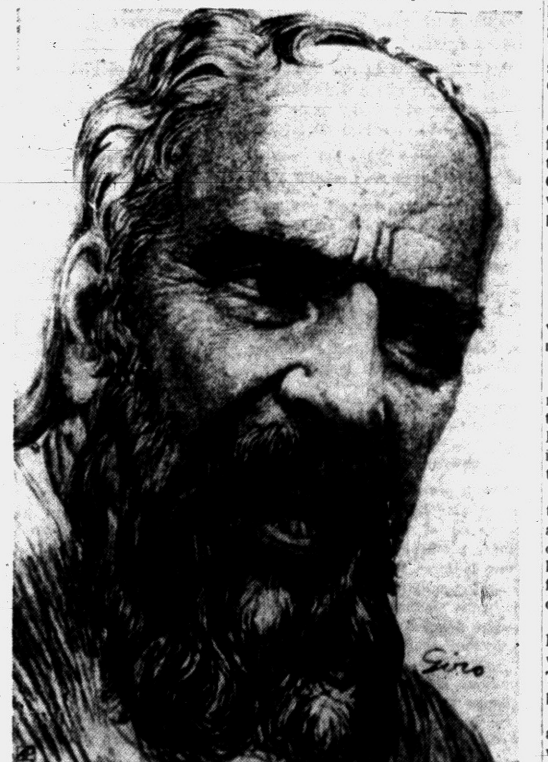

"Man, I am not! ... I know not what thou sayest ... I know Him not!"

At that moment, across the room, the bruise-marked Jesus turned and gazed at him silently. Peter went to pieces, crying, hurling oaths into the night. Too late, too late!

Just a few hours before, when they all supped in the upper room and Jesus spoke forebodingly of coming death and of Peter denying Him, the roughshod, impetuous fisherman had sworn he'd never do it—never!

"Even if I should die with Thee, I should not deny Thee in any way!" he had vowed. "Lord, with Thee I am ready to go both to prison and to death!"

But he had failed, miserably, anxious only for his own life, a weakling with no sap in him like the weeds of the sea; he had disowned the truth the Lord had given him. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Teen Road-E-O Plans Revealed

Jaycees Will Sponsor Safe Driving Event on May 6

The Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a program May 6 to make teenage drivers more safety conscious, according to Cyle R. Haskell, chairman of the safety committee.

Teenage Road-e-os are a national Jaycee project, Haskell said.

Local winners will compete in state semi-finals to become eligible for $3,000 in scholarship prizes for the top three national winners.

Both boys and girls under the age of 20 may enter by means of blanks located at high school offices, Haskell said. Entrants will perform in an obstacle course and undergo written examination, he added.

Mountain of a Man... but Still Only a Man

On him, the trust that he had possessed.

Oh, man of little faith, sounding your own trumpet of hollow courage, your vaunted high resolves crashing on the hidden shoals of self-concern and sudden human frailty. Peter stared numbly at the ground.

His mind choked with memories—the lit that had sprung in his heart at the Master's call, of the fresh, singing vista of life opened to him, the miracles of love, kindness, humility—they buy more than gold.

The voice came back to him like a never-dying echo: "Blessed are the merciful... the peace-makers... those who are persecuted for righteousness' sake... Do good to them that hate you."

The wonder of it had saturated the rustic Peter, enthralled his life, taken him away from his work, his home and his wife in Capernaum, given him a new, overwhelming mission as he traveled with Jesus the road of tenderness.

He had responded instantly when the Master summoned him. He and his fishing partners had been readied for it by the teachings of John the Baptist. So there was no hesitation, only a startled gratitude, a quick willingness.

ALL HAD BLUNDERED

At times, all of them had blundered—their petty, foolhardy arguments over who would be first in the Lord's kingdom, their cringing fear in the storm at sea, Peter's vain attempt to walk on water only to lose heart and sink.

Often, Jesus had to set them straight, to put their values aright, and shore up their convictions. But Jesus had thought, finally, that they would hold fast—even under stress, even though "sifted like wheat."

Like the sealing of a bond, He had divided the loaf at the meal last night and shared it with them, calling it His body, and passed the wine, His blood "shed for many." You, He told them, are the light to the world.

But they had dashed it to shame. They had dozed in the garden—when they should have watched. They had run, covered and denied. Peter's head hung heavy, his body leaden. For him night didn't end as the sun rose that day.

From far off, he watched the crucifixion until he could watch no longer.

Whither now, "rock?" Back to the nets? Back to the Galilee lake to cast for the gray mullet and the blenny before the Jordan carries them down to death in the salt of the Dead Sea? No longer a "fisher of men?"

Then it came back to him, faintly at first, ever so faintly, but with a rising beat, the Master's unworried knowledge. "All ye will fall away. The spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak. But let not your hearts be troubled. The words—the significance—pounded in Peter's veins.

I AM NOT ALONE

"Ye shall be scattered... and shall leave Me alone, and yet I am not alone because the Father is with Me."

"It is expedient for you that I go away... I go to prepare a place for you... Ye shall weep, but your sorrow shall be turned into joy... Abide in Me, and I in you... I am the vine and ye are the branches. In the world, ye shall have tribulations, but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world."

A great warmth flowed over Peter. Even in his ignominy, the Lord understood and pardoned, not once, not seven times, but seventy times seven, a Lord undaunted by denials and death.

So, too, Peter breathed his own spreading foundation for Christ that spread across three continents. It is said he himself was crucified in Rome, head downward at his request in obedience to his Lord, the friend who had told him, "Greater love has no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friend."

Southern California's basketball team in the 1954-55 playing season traveled a total of 16,008 miles.

Area Women Comment on Monday Night Hours

Approval of late Monday shopping hours at downtown Pontiac stores was expressed by 6 of 8 area residents who were interviewed at random last week as the first year of the policy came to a close.

Adopted in March of last year, the 9:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. hours were another year of life when the Retail Merchants Association voted its recommendation that they be continued.

Questioned by a Press reporter in the city's downtown area, shoppers expressed the following opinions:

Mrs. Juanita Verch, 4329 Blanchard Ct., Drayton Plains: "I think Monday night openings are of great benefit to the shopper and I use the extra service quite often. And I believe Monday night is the best night for the shops to remain open."

Mrs. Sharon Piper, 156 1/2 Edison St.: "I like the stores open Monday. It is the only opportunity I have to get downtown and since my husband does not get paid until Saturday, this rules out Friday night shopping and makes Monday nights just perfect for us."

Mrs. Greeta Bergman, 108 Center St.: "I personally don't have any need for Monday night shopping and am able to get most of mine done on Friday or on Saturdays."

Mrs. William Weishaar, 41 Gordon Ave.: "It's very handy to have the shops open Monday night as it offers the working girl one of the best opportunities to shop after work. I use this service often."

Mrs. Edna Kennedy, 95 E. Huron St.: "I'm very much in favor of the stores staying open Monday evenings. I work at the hospital and don't get off work until 6:30 and then I come downtown and do my shopping before I go home."

Mrs. Bergman said she personally doesn't have any need for Monday night shopping and is able to get most of her shopping done on Friday or on Saturdays.

Volcano Erupts for 50th Time

Java 'Fire Mountain' on Earth's Most Densely Populated Area

WASHINGTON—Merapi—"Fire Mountain"—is erupting again in central Java for the 50th time in a hundred years. It has driven 30,000 villagers from their homes.

The volcano has the bad habit of building up a plug of lava in its crater, like a tight cork in a bottle. Great energies are confined under pressure until the top blows with a shattering blast, sending spouts of lava and hot, acrid gases over the surrounding countryside.

Merapi, 9,500 feet high, is particularly menacing because it is in one of the most densely populated areas in the world. The region is jammed with more than 500 people to the square mile, says the National Geographic Society. Some 300,000 live in what is called the danger zone.

Last previous activity of Merapi was a minor eruption in October, 1955. In January, 1954, more than 40 people were killed. Just a year before in January, 1953, thousands fled their homes.

Fire Mountain's worst modern rampage was in 1930 when estimates of casualties ranged from 7,000 to 30,000. Property damage to the surrounding area was in the millions.

A remarkable coincidence occurred in the 1930 tragedy. Another Mt. Merapi located in Sumatra, nearly a thousand miles away, erupted at the same time the Java killer was spouting. Dr. Werner Borchard, a volcanologist working at the crest of the Sumatra volcano, lost his life.

Medal Honorees Plan Meeting

Recipients of Britain's Victoria Cross Slate Anniversary Fete

WASHINGTON—Holders of the Victoria Cross, Britain's small red-ribboned symbol of ultimate courage, will gather in London in June to commemorate the 100th anniversary year of the founding of the decoration.

The heroes, believed to number now about 400, will come from all parts of the world. Queen Elizabeth will greet them in Hyde Park, where Queen Victoria in 1857 personally presented the first 62 awards bearing her name.

The Victoria Cross grew out of the Queen's reflections on the Crimean War of 1854-56, says the National Geographic Society.

There had been no adequate means, she felt, "of rewarding individual gallant services" beyond bestowing such orders as the Bath and Garter. These were available only to fighters of high station.

Following through on January 29, 1856, the Queen signed the Royal Warrant creating the "V.C." It is attainable by anyone brave enough to win it. The medal, she said, "should be highly prized and eagerly sought after by the officers and men of our services." It is now the nation's highest honor.

DESIGN PATTERN
The design, patterned after the four-armed Maltese Cross, is attributed to Prince Albert, the Queen's Consort. Modest in appearance, the medal is of bronze, 1 1/2 inches across, with arms "patee," narrow at the base and broad at the ends.

In the center the royal crest is surmounted by a lion with a semi-circular scroll below inscribed "For Valour." The latter word was selected after rejection of an earlier proposal of "For the Brave."

The medal is still struck from Russian guns captured in the Crimean War. The production was entrusted to Hancock and Co., who continue to make VCs, a few at a time.

Occasionally, counterfeiting poses a problem. The Hancock firm recently was asked to determine which of two crosses bearing the same name was authentic. Neither proved to be. A genuine old cross may bring as much as $600 from collectors.

City Resident, Wife Put on 3-Year Probation
Sam Jones, 57, and his wife, Willie Mae, 35, of 76 Clove St., yesterday were placed on three-year probation and assessed $200 court costs by Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

Ferndale Youth Placed on Three Year Probation
Jimmy McCrary, 18, of 21374 Creston Lane, Ferndale, yesterday was placed on three-year probation and assessed $150 court costs by Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

McCrary admitted March 19 stealing a car in Royal Oak Township March 11.

Admits 2 Traffic Counts, Waterford Youth Fined

The Day in Birmingham

Approve Parking Lot HH With 10-Foot Accessway

BIRMINGHAM—Proposed Parking Lot HH at the corner of Hamilton and Hunter, with a 10-foot walkway to East Maple, was unanimously approved of city commissioners last night.

An interruption in the meeting came when Arthur J. Dubuc of 448 Hamilton, one of the property owners, collapsed shortly after discussion of the parking lot. Dubuc had talked with the commission on the price he is to receive for his land before his attack.

He was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, where he is in fair condition today. The hospital diagnosed his illness as acute asthma.

The parking lot, which will take several lots at the corner of Hunter and Hamilton but leave the Hunter House property, will cost $150,000. This includes an estimated $100,000 for the site, $18,000 for development, $2,750 for meters, and $8,250 for miscellaneous needs.

The site cost estimate includes $20,000 for Dubuc's lot, $50,000 for the Brum property, and $23,750 for the Ellenwood property.

The city's assessor post was given to James Purkiss Jr. temporarily, until the city can hire a new assessor. Assessor Elmer Haack's retirement is effective April 1. Purkiss has been with the city as director of finance.

Posting of certain streets with load limits because of spring thaws will be continued for more than 15 days, commissioners decided. Extension of the time was requested by City Engineer L. R. Gare.

Plans for four of the six communities to tie into the Evergreen interceptor sewer to set up temporary treatment measures received a vote of approval by the commission last night.

City Manager D. C. Egbert's report told of the intention to form an authority for communities north of 14 Mile road. The four towns would use the Birmingham sewage treatment plant, in an equity agreement such as now exists between Bloomfield Township and Birmingham.

State Police said she passed a flagman who was slowing traffic, a road barricade and a caution sign. Smith, father of two, and Huffman, father of three, had been patching the road 80 feet beyond the barricade. They were pinned against a road commission asphalt truck.

Traffic Victim Still in Critical Condition
A critically injured victim of an accident yesterday still was on the critical list in Pontiac General Hospital today.

Albert C. Gross, 22, of Highland Township, hurt in the M59 accident which killed two men, suffered chest and abdominal injuries and lacerations.

Richard Van Maaren, 29, of Orchard Lake, who reportedly swerved off West Maple road in West Bloomfield Township to avoid hitting a car backing into the road, suffered multiple severe head injuries, and is in "fair" condition.

County Youth Jailed for Beer Possession
Pleading guilty to illegal possession of beer, John H. Shotts, 17, of Clarkston yesterday was jailed eight days after failing to pay a $25 fine imposed by Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum.

Urges Wider Vision Testing

Prof of Wayne U. Says Causes of Eye Faults Begin at Early Ages

CHICAGO (U)—An eye expert today urged wider vision testing programs among children of pre-school age.

Dr. Cecil W. Lepard of Wayne University's medical school, Detroit, said detection of eye troubles at an early age can save countless children from needless social, emotional and educational maladjustments.

Dr. Lepard, an associate professor of ophthalmology, made his remarks in an address prepared for the opening meeting of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

DEFICIENCIES FORMED EARLY — He urged the early testing program because "we have found that habits of seeing are formed early and have their greatest effect before the age of six."

Crossed eyes and near and far-sightedness, he said, are most effectively treated in infancy and childhood.

Another speaker, Mrs. Edna Z. Welker, a public school nurse of Rockford, Ill., told of a recent study made in her city. She said it showed that hundreds of children who passed vision tests in the first grade were found to need professional care by the time they reached the third grade.

More than 500 persons are attending the conference dedicated to promoting sight conservation.

Hubby Shoots Wife in Crowded Store

CINCINNATI (U)—Goldie Byrd, 28, is in critical condition after being shot three times at short range in a crowded downtown department store where she worked. Her estranged husband Benny, also 28, was captured by an off-duty policeman. He said he "was sorry the moment it happened but I couldn't undo it."

Byrd was held for investigation. No charges were filed immediately.

75-Year-Old Woman Victim of Swindle

ST. LOUIS (U)—When a swindling attempt failed, a woman grabbed a purse containing $5,000 from a 75-year-old housekeeper yesterday and escaped.

Mrs. Mae Smith told police two women said they found a package containing $9,000 in a downtown store.

Mrs. Smith agreed to put up some cash of her own as a good faith gesture in return for a share of the money. The two women accompanied her to a bank, where she withdrew $5,000.

Mrs. Smith became suspicious when one of them led her into an alley but as she started to leave the woman snatched her purse and fled.

Confederate Jackpot

BIG SPRING, Tex. (U)—Three boys found $1,800 in a treasure chest dug out of an abandoned earthen tank here but neither they nor the internal revenue people are excited. The $1,800 was in $1, $5, $50 and $100 Confederate bills.

Muscle-Bound Thieves

NORTH ARLINGTON, N.J. (U)—Police today were hunting some thieves who may qualify as stolen yesterday from the Hull weight lifters. Sixty-one bars of Manufacturing Corp. The total tin weighing 100 pounds each were haul is valued at $6,100.

Political Rows Cause Gildersleeve Divorce

LOS ANGELES (U)—Actor Harold Peary constantly argued politics and was extremely jealous, actress Gloria Holiday testified in divorcing the onetime Great Gildersleeve of radio.

Superior Judge Burnett Wolfson ruled yesterday that political differences were not sufficient grounds for divorce. But he granted the decree after Miss Holiday, 31, testified Peary, 46, was so jealous that he once demanded they leave a party because she had danced with another man.

Miss Holiday said she is a Democrat and Peary often tried to convert her to the Republican party. She said he called her views "stupid and immature."

Red China Announces Plan for Biggest Bridge

TOKYO (U)—Communist China said today it is building "the biggest steel bridge in the Eastern Hemisphere" with a main span 2,750 feet long, over the Yangtze River at Wuhan.

San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge has the longest single span in the world — 4,200 feet.

Peking radio reported the new bridge will be double decked, with a double-track railway line and a six-lane highway and will be completed next year.

Girl Escapees Admit Guilt in Matron Death

AKRON, Ohio (U)—Five teen-age girls charged with slaying a matron in their escape from the Summit County Detention Home pleaded guilty to manslaughter indictments yesterday and were sentenced to 1 to 20 years.

Common Pleas Judge Ray B. Watters sentenced Ruth Beichler, 17, and Zelda De Cost, 16, to the reformatory for women at Marysville. Three 15-year-olds—Shirley Shingler, Margaret Nicholson and Mimi Cain—were sentenced to the girls industrial school at Delaware until they are 16, when they will be transferred to the reformatory.

Mrs. Edna Bonham, the matron, was overpowered by the girls, who stuffed an ammonia-soaked rag in her mouth before escaping from the home last Nov. 27.

Missionary Held by Communists Returns Home

CHICAGO (U)—The Rev. Harold W. Rigney was back in his native Chicago today after an absence of nine years, including more than four years in a Chinese Communist prison.

The 56-year-old Roman Catholic missionary was greeted by his 77-year-old mother Mrs. Alice Rigney and a crowd of about 150 persons upon his arrival at Midway Airport yesterday from New York. "My son, my dear son," Mrs. Rigney sobbed as she embraced the stocky, graying priest. "This is the answer to my prayers."

Father Rigney, released by the Chinese Communists six months ago, was a rector of a university in Peiping when he was seized in 1951 on espionage charges. He plans a series of lectures to college, church, civic and business groups in the Chicago area after Easter Week.

Discovery in a Seed Store Proof of God's Miracles

By RABBI W. B. SILVERMAN
Nashville, Tenn.

The restaurant was crowded. A man asked whether I would mind if he sat down and shared the table with me. I answered perfunctorily and said that I wouldn't mind at all.

That wasn't quite the truth, because the musty odor that emanated from the man was hardly conducive to good appetite. He was wearing an old shirt, his hands were calloused and work-worn, and I noted that his fingernails were anything but clean.

He introduced himself as Mr. Steele and said that he owned the seed store. After a few preliminary references to the weather, he began to talk about his work, and it was then I realized that I was listening to a devout and deeply religious person.

He spoke about seeds with a sense of awe, and there was wonder in his voice as he described the mystery of a tiny seed, planted in the ground, nurtured and cared for until it emerged transformed by the magic wand of nature into a radish, an onion, a beet, or a beautiful flower.

Here was a man who experienced humility and reverence at the thought of God's creative power, who expressed a conviction that he had an important job to do as a partner with God in the work of creation.

Where did he derive the faith that enabled him to behold the presence of God even in the smallest seed?

FROM HIS PARENTS

"From the best teachers a person can have," he said, "my parents. They taught me how to use my eyes to see God in everything—in the soul of man, in the majesty of the stars in the mystery and beauty of nature.

"Some people may look at a seed and behold a seed. My parents gave me the religious vision to look at a seed and see the wonder and glory of God."

I forgot the hour, wanting to remain and listen. It was Mr. Steele who finally asked to be excused. He had work to do.

I had walked past that seed store hundreds of times, often with a feeling of distaste because of the odors. The next day, when I passed the store, I retraced my steps and went back to look at it again.

HOW GOD WORKS

The seed store wasn't a church or a synagogue. It lacked the religious symbolism or the style of architecture that would distinguish it as a house of God, and yet I realized that God worked behind the counter, preaching sermons in seeds to all who cared to listen.

Standing in front of the window, I bowed my head and repeated the words of the Patriarch Jacob: "Surely the Lord is in this place; and I knew it not."

Sentence Slayer After Appeal

Richard P. Kluckhohn to Serve 1 to 2 Years in Death of Woman

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Richard P. Kluckhohn drew a one to two-year sentence yesterday in the slaying of a woman shopper behind a hotel in Raleigh.

Kluckhohn, 21, pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) to a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

Last June he was sentenced to 5-to-10 years after a jury convicted him of a similar charge in the May 13 pistol shooting of Miss Bernice Seawell, 43, of Arlington, Va. He appealed to the State Supreme Court, which granted him a new trial because the judge's charge to the jury was faulty.

Miss Seawell was waiting for a parking lot attendant to deliver her car during a rainy day when she was felled by a bullet.

Kluckhohn, who described the shooting as a "horrible accident," acknowledged that his German Luger pistol had discharged while he was in a hotel room, but said he did not know it had hit anyone.

Kluckhohn was in this area as a representative of a publishing firm. His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Clyde K. Maben Kluckhohn, are on the Harvard University faculty.

Judge Hamilton Hobgood of Wake Superior Court could have sentenced Kluckhohn to a maximum of 20 years in prison.

History of Pharmacy Told to Junior Pontiac Women's Club

Robert Thom Tells Story in Paintings

Oils Illustrate Talk to Group Gathering at Old Mill Tavern

The history of pharmacy told in oil paintings was presented to members and guests of the Junior Pontiac Women's Club Monday evening at Old Mill Tavern.

The artist was Robert A. Thom of Birmingham who, since 1949, has been portraying the history of pharmacy in paintings.

Thom, in collaboration with George A. Bender of Parke, Davis and Company, does research for the pictures. Thom paints and Bender writes descriptive material.

"An artist has a responsibility to his audience," Mr. Thom told the 90 members and guests, and he said, "he tries to recreate as nearly as possible the actual scene." The object is to have the audience feel that they are there.

Research for the pictures began in the Oriental Institute on the University of Chicago campus. The artist described how a feeling of depth is created and how the third dimension is developed.

The slides shown by the speaker entitled "A History of Pharmacy in Slides" revealed the first intense colors painted by the artist. Then in an attempt to achieve realism, these colors are muted and blended for a realistic effect.

ARTIST EXPLAINS
The artist, Thom stated, works from back to front, painting mass background color, adding embellishment on top.

The first of the series of pictures shown was a scene of cave men as they are thought to look, making a poultice of mud. Others included a scene in Babylonia...an ancient Chinese, and an Egyptian scene, all showing the intense research necessary in developing such a painting.

The artist's next assignment is a series of 40 oil paintings on the history of medicine.

A native of Grand Rapids, Mr. Thom attended Columbus, Ohio Institute of Fine Arts and is a member of the New York Society of Illustrators and the Scarab Club.

Tough New Fabric Tops for Children

There are some items on the market that can keep junior looking presentable even though he submits them to rugged wear.

There's a new cloth for slacks, for example, that blends 65 percent Dacron with 35 percent rayon. According to the manufacturers the "ABC" cloth never requires dry cleaning or pressing and will retain its garment shape despite rough wear.

'Stopgap Job' Can Be Meaningful

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Some people are in such a hurry to get where they're going, that they let themselves be deaf, dumb and blind enroute.

We all know women who say, "As soon as we have a home of our own, I'll really begin to live." Then they just mark time in a pale gray fog for years and years.

Or, the girl who says, "This is just a stopgap job, until I finish my evening classes and get my degree."

Many times they miss a wonderful opportunity which the stopgap worked as a waitress for a while, had only done a good job.

The best bet is to keep your eyes wide open and live every experience to the hilt, because what looks like a dull period in your life may bring the big break. Anyway, that's what happened to Doris.

INTERIOR DECORATOR
Doris wanted to be an interior decorator, but studying for it cost more than she could afford. She worked as a waitress for a while, saved up her money and began selling decorative textiles in a department store.

It was just a stopgap job to give her some near-experience in the field and keep her alive while she continued her courses at night.

But she worked at it as if it were the most important thing in the world.

One day Doris had a customer, a really difficult woman who didn't know her own mind. Doris was patient and did the best she could to show the woman all the textiles in the house.

MADE SUGGESTION
Finally, Doris asked the woman why she didn't get a decorator and explained at length about how helpful a decorator could be.

"She left," Doris smiled ruefully, "without buying a thing."

"But a couple of weeks later I had a call from one of our city's top decorators, asking me to come to see her. She offered me a job as general assistant in her office!"

It seems that the difficult lady had gone to her and told her about the decorator. The thought sounded like just the girl for her!

GOP Women Enjoy Talk at Meeting

John Wilson, assistant organizational chairman of Oakland County Republican Club was the speaker at the Pontiac Republican Women's Club when the group met Monday at Adah Shelly Library.

Discussing "Precinct Organization," the speaker said each one should learn who the precinct captain is and call him for any information. "To be a good American one should register and be sure to vote. If one fails to vote they should never complain of the results of the election."

In closing Mr. Wilson said, "We have an American heritage. That is one of the greatest honors every citizen has, use it."

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Duncan McVean and Mrs. Clarence Senger led the pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. Mrs. Eleah Patten gave the opening prayer and spoke briefly on lasting peace.

A report on the convention they attended in Washington recently was given by Mrs. Grace Shultz and Mrs. Emma Pelican. Mrs. Pelican quoted former Governor Wilbur Brucker when he said, "The quest for lasting Peace is President Eisenhower's ambition."

Mrs. Janette Bathum told of the progress in education and how communism can creep in overnight if the people are not alert and do not keep posted.

Mrs. Kenneth Nichols, federation president, told of the recent Lansing and Washington meetings and Mrs. Arthur Griswold of Bloomfield Hills presented "The Eisenhower Prayer" to the library as a token of good will from the club.

Mrs. W. E. C. Huthwaite was assisted by Mrs. Frank Irons and Mrs. Bathum at the silver tea which followed the meeting. Miss Hilton presided at the silver service.

Guests attending the affair were William Kerklow, Clarence Senger and Frank McGrogan.

Romantic Note Creeping Into Easter Cards

NEW YORK (INS)—Spring is a sentimental season and judging from the greeting cards being shown, Easter is turning into a sweethearts' holiday.

Romance is in the eastern air, with cards for this holiday featuring "missing you," "with love" and "wish you were here, dear" sentiments.

This is reason, according to Jeannette Lee, director of design for a large greeting card firm:

"The romantic element is the story in Easter greetings this year because of loving phrases at the drop of a slim excuse."

Easter cards this year are getting fancier, with some resembling Pennsylvania Dutch designs with geometric shapes and bright, clear colors, and others decorated with gleaming "gem" stones.

There's a big increase in children's cards, too, that include everything from puzzle and games through one with a usable sewing kit.

Exhibit Scheduled

Marianne Strengell will present a textile exhibit in the galleries of Cranbrook Academy of Art, Bloomfield Hills. The exhibit will be open to the public March 31 through April 29 daily from 2 to 5 p.m. except Mondays.

Teamsters Give Beck Full Power

Executive Board Action Means $400,000 Loan Refusal to ILA Union

HONOLULU (AP)—Teamster President Dave Beck is armed with full power today to try to smooth over a dispute that threatened to blow his giant union out of the AFL-CIO. Beck said the power granted him unanimously by the Teamsters Executive Board meant a controversial $400,000 loan to the International Longshoremen Assn. would not go through.

But he said the teamsters will continue to work closely with the ILA, which was thrown out of the AFL in 1953 as racketeer-infested.

IN FULL CONTROL

A full-day meeting of the board's quarterly session in a Waikiki penthouse left the chunky, 61-year-old president in apparent full command of the nation's largest union. Besides handing the hot ILA issue to Beck, the resolution gave him sweeping power to:

1. Clean up corrupt elements in Teamsters ranks, especially in New York and Minneapolis.

2. Launch a huge organizing drive under his personal supervision aimed at bringing a quarter-million new members into the Teamsters.

The meetings end today.

'SATISFY' MEANY

Smiling and relaxed after yesterday's session, Beck said he thought withdrawal of the ILA loan should "satisfy" AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Meany had threatened to suspend the 1,300,000-member Teamsters from the big labor federation if it went through with the loan.

Beck told reporters that the resolution "left no question that I run this union."

His view was backed up by the man who has been accused of trying to take over his job, Vice President James R. Hoffa of Detroit, who had offered the ILA loan.

"There's no question that he's running things," Hoffa said. "Today's board meeting showed that."

Ex-Marine Nabs Fleeing Burglar

Gotham Parolee Jailed After Hectic Flight From Pursuing Detectives

NEW YORK (AP)—A fleet-footed parolee, pursued by two detectives flung glittering gems along Park Avenue yesterday after he allegedly looted two plush apartments. A bullet wound in the left thigh failed to halt his flight, but a 215-pound ex-Marine did.

Police said two detectives saw Louis Basile, 31, stroll out of an East 77th Street apartment house with what looked like a laundry bag over his shoulder. They called to him. He dropped the laundry bag and ran.

DROPS JEWELS IN FLIGHT

Basile scampered onto Park Avenue, tossing jewelry as he fled. The detectives fired seven shots. One hit Basile in the thigh and he dropped for a moment. But before the detectives could reach him, he was up and running again.

Finally, ex-Marine William Morris, a 28-year-old magazine salesman, cornered Basile in one of Park Avenue's fenced-in center islands and threw a wrestler's hammerlock on him.

Basile was charged with burglary. Police said he took more than $10,000 worth of furs and jewelry from the apartments of Marti Stevens, TV actress and daughter of Nicholas Schenck, president of Loew's, Inc.; and Mrs. Anna Co-bean, widow of cartoonist Sam Co-bean.

Basile was on parole after a prison term for unlawful entry.

Posthumous Position

BERKELEY, Mass. (AP)—A month after he died, Allen M. Talbot was re-elected town burial ground commissioner. He died several days after the closing date for nominations. Because he was unopposed in the election, the selectmen and the other two members of the burial ground commission will name a replacement.

Reveal Contents of Sealed Box

Case Beneath Former Governor's Statue Filled With Papers, Book

DETROIT (INS)—The sealed box found last week under the statue of Gov. Hazen Pingree in Detroit's Grand Circus Park was opened yesterday in Mayor Albert E. Cobb's office.

The box was opened by Mrs. Wilson W. Mills, of Grosse Pointe, daughter of Pingree. Pingree was mayor of Detroit from 1890 until he took office as governor in 1897.

Mrs. Mills had ridden in a carriage to Grand Circus Park 52 years ago when the statue was unveiled. She was unaware, however, that the box had been placed under the statue.

Its contents were simple. Four copies of old Detroit newspapers and a large book.

The book was an old fashioned ledger with 176 pages filled with names of those who had contributed to the statue. Many of the names were those of school children who had sent in their pennies, dimes and quarters.

A six-page edition of the Detroit Times of Nov. 30, 1903, was also found in the box. A headline told of a juvenile problem, a case of a ring of girl bandits.

The Pingree statue will soon be moved to a temporary site on Madison avenue in downtown Detroit. After the city's new parking garage is completed the statue will be moved back to the park.

The box will again be placed under the statue and copies of today's papers will be placed alongside those of 52 years ago.

Teamsters to Study Frozen Food Threat

HONOLULU (AP)—Top Teamster officers have called a Washington conference to study the growing frozen food industry which they say threatens to throw thousands of truck drivers out of work.

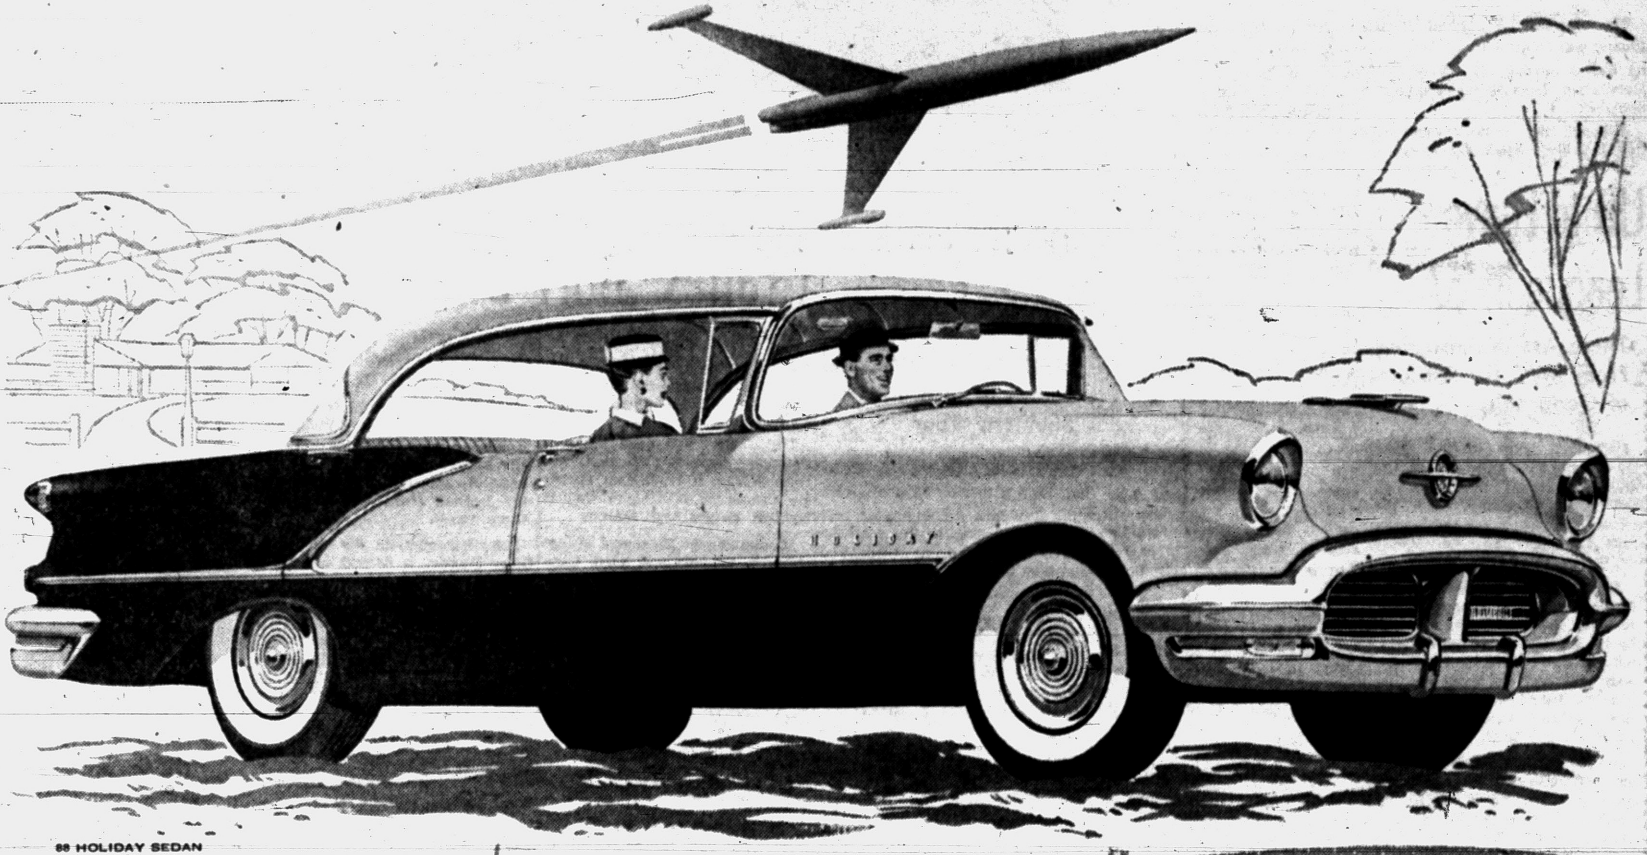

"The frozen food industry is upsetting the normal routine of food distribution," says Teamster President Dave Beck, here to preside over the union's Executive Board meeting.

"It used to be a driver delivered 100 pies fresh daily from a local bakery. Now one man delivers 5,000 frozen pies that keep," he said.

Sea Scouts Given Boat

HART (AP)—Oceana sea scouts plan real sea duty this summer after receiving word Monday that they now own a 45-foot, diesel-powered LCM donated to them by the U.S. Navy. The vessel, berthed on the Fox River in Wisconsin, will be moved to a station at Pentwater as soon as weather permits.
