GM Reveals $2-Billion Improvement Plan

A $2 billion capital improvements program, biggest in the history of General Motors Corp., was disclosed today by Chairman Frederic G. Donner.

Pontiac Motor Division is among more than a score of plants Donner listed for expansion or modernization this year and in 1965, which he said will boost the company's auto output by 20 per cent.

A detailed announcement of how the program will affect Pontiac Motor is expected to be made tomorrow by division officials.

"This will represent the largest total of capital expenditures that General Motors has ever made in any two-year period—about 30 per cent above what we spent in 1955 and 1956 when our last major expansion was under way," Donner said.

★ ★ ★

"These planned plant expenditures may be said to be a measure of confidence by General Motors in the future, its own future in the automobile industry, the economic future of our country and the even broader future of free world trade and investment."

NEW JOBS

Donner predicted the expansion would result in adding some 50,000 new jobs to GM's work force, which already numbers 300,000.

He told of the massive improvement program in a luncheon speech during dedication ceremonies of a new Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac car and truck assembly plant at Fremont, Calif.

Other plants listed in the program include Buick, Chevrolet and AC Spark Plug in Flint; Cadillac, Detroit Diesel and Ternstedt in Detroit; Oldsmobile in Lansing and Hydra-Matic in Ypsilanti.

★ ★ ★

Fisher Body will construct a metal fabricating plant at Kalamazoo and an upholstery trim plant near Tecumseh.

Donner stated that about half the $1.5 billion to be spent in the United States would be earmarked for facilities in Michigan.

Overseas, GM will spend

Military Plane Toll Costs $1.8 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military planes valued at more than $1.8 billion have been lost or badly damaged during the past three years, a Defense Department report revealed today.

Pilot error and "material failure" were listed as the chief causes in more than 2,000 major military aircraft accidents in 1961-1963.

This data was contained in an analysis provided by the Defense Department at the request of the Associated Press.

★ ★ ★

Critics of U.S. missiles systems have suggested, among other things, that there is much more assurance about the reliability of manned aircraft because of many years of experience and thousands and thousands and thousands of flights.

1,100 ACCIDENTS

The Pentagon report said the Air Force suffered some 1,100 major accidents over the past three years causing damage totaling $1.1 billion.

This averages out to about $1 million per accident.

During the same period more than 900 Navy and Marine Corps planes sustained major damage or were destroyed.

The dollar estimate: something over $700 million.

★ ★ ★

The Army, which uses mainly helicopters and other relatively inexpensive aircraft, reported more than 200 major accidents with $27 million in damages.

Nehru Warns: India to Attack if Necessary

'Will End Cease-Fire to Defend Territory Against Pakistan'

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru told a cheering Parliament today that Indian troops will cross the cease-fire line in Kashmir if necessary to defend Indian territory against Pakistan.

"We are not prepared to go across the cease-fire line and attack the territory now under Pakistan occupation," Nehru said, "but obviously if it becomes necessary in the defense of our territory for them (Indian troops) to cross the line, then they will cross it."

Nehru's statement was the strongest made by any top official since the recent outbreak of skirmishing and raids across the cease-fire line in the disputed Himalayan state.

India and Pakistan fought over Kashmir in 1948 and have been quarreling over the state ever since.

★ ★ ★

Commenting on charges that the Pakistan government is instigating the border clashes, Nehru said: "I know it is a regular campaign."

PAKISTANI RAID

Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan told Parliament 25 Pakistanis raided an Indian village 1½ miles on India's side of the cease-fire line Sunday night, killing four persons, including an 11-year-old boy.

Chavan said India had lodged a complaint with U.N. observers in Kashmir.

The Indian government has learned that Communist China and Pakistan have agreed to coordinate foreign and military policies affecting India, a high government official told The Associated Press earlier today.

The official, who declined to be quoted by name, said in an interview that India is revamping its policy on the assumption that in the future it will face two hostile neighbors working together rather than separately.

SEPARATE DEAL

This indicated that the Indian government is discounting the possibility of making a separate diplomatic deal with either Pakistan or Communist China to relieve the pressure on at least part of its northern border.

Officer Visited by Air Force Surgery Expert

Airman 1 of 3 Held After Parachuting Into East Germany

BERLIN (AP) — The Russians today refused a second American request for the release of an injured U. S. flier from a Soviet military hospital at Magdeburg, East Germany.

The injured officer, Lt. Harold W. Welch of Detroit, was visited by Col. John A. Hennessen Jr., a surgical specialist from Air Force Headquarters at Wiesbaden.

A request by Hennessen that Welch "be released for return to U.S. control was denied," a U.S. Air Force spokesman said.

The Russians said they would consider the surgeons request to return to see Welch, the spokesman added.

★ ★ ★

Welch is one of three airmen who parachuted into East Germany March 10 after their reconnaissance bomber was shot down by a Soviet fighter plane.

SPYING MISSION

The Russians charged the men were on a spying mission and held all three.

The United States said the plane strayed over East Germany by accident.

The first request for Welch's return was made earlier this week.

The Russians have brushed aside several earlier demands for release of the airmen: Capt. David I. Holland, 35, of Holland, Minn., Capt. Melvin J. Kessler, 30, of Philadelphia, and Welch, 24.

De Gaulle Asks Exchange Plan

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle proposes that France and Mexico join in a big exchange program but says it wouldn't cut into Mexican relations with the United States.

★ ★ ★

De Gaulle told a joint session of the Mexican Congress yesterday that Latin America is forging into "the foreground of the stage of world affairs." He made clear that he wants to increase French influence in the region.

The 73-year-old French leader suggested Mexico and France begin a large-scale program of scientific, cultural and technical exchanges and become "true and good companions in the work of civilization.

"Without a doubt, such a rapprochement implies that the aim, the attitude, the action, in a word the policy of Mexico City and Paris, should not only be prevented from diverging but should actually be attuned," he said.

★ ★ ★

Any special relations between Mexico and France, he said at the luncheon, are not intended "to put an end or even to diminish the relations that bind us to our neighbors."

County AFL-CIO Council Backs 7 for Commission

The Oakland County AFL-CIO Council today announced its endorsement of seven Pontiac City Commission candidates, including Mayor Robert A. Landry.

Receiving labor approval were Rollie L. Jones, District 1; Allen J. Denham, District 2; Sam Gabriel, District 3; Leslie H. Hudson, District 4; John A. Dugan, District 5; Wesley J. Wood, District 6; and Landry, District 7.

"These candidates were endorsed, but it does not mean the other candidates were not qualified," said Fred Haggard, AFL-CIO Council president.

"They have measured up to the objectives this organization believes is necessary for the City of Pontiac."

★ ★ ★

Haggard said the endorsements were made after 13 of the 14 commission candidates were interviewed by the council's Executive COPE (Committee on Political Education).

DOESN'T ACCEPT

He said only candidate Frederick H. Beedle (District 6) did not accept the invitation.

"The purpose of the meeting was to hear each candidate's view for placing Pontiac back in good government, to take a lead in completing urban renewal and their intention as to new industries and commercial businesses coming to Pontiac," Haggard explained.

Haggard said the council's endorsements for the April 20 election, first made in six years, came at the request of member-unions seeking to clarify election issues and was also due to the charter change for citywide voting.

★ ★ ★

He said local unions will now pass the council's endorsements to their general memberships and possibly invite candidates to speak at membership meetings.

Whipping Bill 'Beaten to Death' in House Unit

There's quite a difference between sympathy and support.

No one appreciates that fact better than Pontiac's Democratic State Rep. Arthur J. Law, whose bill to permit public whipping for juvenile lawbreakers was killed yesterday by the House Judiciary Committee in Lansing.

★ ★ ★

"I guess you could say we beat it to death," quipped Rep. Thomas Whinery, R-Grand Rapids, chairman of the committee."

U.S. Stakes SE Asia Hopes on Viet Plan to Stop Reds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is staking its hopes of saving Southeast Asia from the Communists on South Viet Nam's pledge to use stepped up American aid — possibly as much as $50 million worth — in a plan to clear the Red-infested Mekong Delta.

The White House announced the increase in economic and military aid to South Viet Nam yesterday after President Johnson met with the National Security Council to hear a detailed report on the status of the long and bloody war against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The present rate of aid to South Viet Nam is $1.5 million a day.

The President and the council heard a report from Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, who returned last week from Saigon.

★ ★ ★

Admitting that there have "unquestionably been setbacks" in the war, the White House blamed two factors: increased shipments of arms and men to the Viet Cong, and the confusion created by the changes in government in South Viet Nam.

NEW PROGRAM

The White House said that to counteract this it planned to bolster the government with new infusions of economic aid and an increased military training program.

The increase in aid will be tied to a battle plan devised by Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, new head of the South Vietnamese government.

Khanh plans to put into effect a "national mobilization" program which would set up a stronger antiguerrilla military force and put all Vietnamese in certain age groups into jobs that would aid the war effort.

★ ★ ★

In what was termed a "step by step and province by province" drive against the guerrillas, the White House said Khanh planned to follow up his army with administrators, health workers and teachers.

HIGHER COST

This will involve "substantial increases in cost to the South Vietnamese economy," the White House said, and will be offset partly by the new U.S. aid.

Government sources said the training aid increase would emphasize counter-guerrilla forces, which the South Vietnamese have not built up despite the longtime U.S. pressure on them to do so.

★ ★ ★

This may require sending more U. S. "special forces" troops to Viet Nam to train counter-guerrillas.

State Action Asked

Charge Bias in Bowling

The Pontiac Human Relations Committee has asked the State Civil Rights Commission for "immediate action" on its findings of racial discrimination against Negro bowling leagues in the Pontiac area.

★ ★ ★

Irving Steinman, chairman of the local committee, requested state action in a letter to Governor George Romney "since we are without any powers to enforce our findings and rulings."

Steinman said that 18 Negro bowling leagues in this area had been trying to secure openings at area bowling alleys for several years and that his committee had been working on the problem for seven months.

"The problem is basically that . . . when colored leagues apply they are told that no space is available," Steinman points out in his letter.

"On one or two occasions, they sent a white person to apply to secure leagues for them and when the bowlers showed up they were turned away."

ATTEMPTS FAIL

Steinman explained that committee members met with the

He reads encyclopedias from time to time, magazines and books, but prefers the newspaper. His parents say he frequently scans the newspaper from page one through the classified section and remembers most of what he has read.

"Yes, he definitely can read and understands what he is reading—within the realm of his experience," reported Mrs. Linda Smart, a graduate assistant at Michigan State University's College of Education, who checked into the child prodigy.

"He is a very bright child," Mrs. Smart said.

His mother was particularly anxious to have him read well for a newsman. Paul wanted to ride his new bike.

The boy would read a few sentences at a time, then repeat his plea to be allowed to go out and play.

Chief Named by Waterford

Waterford Township Supervisor James E. Seeterlin today appointed Captain William C. Stokes as township police chief.

Stokes, who had been acting head of the department since former Chief Millard J. Pender resigned Feb. 3, began official duties as chief today.

The new chief outpointed Lt. Frank Randolph in competitive examinations for the top department job.

Results of the examinations were announced yesterday by the township's civil service commission. The commission then recommended that Stokes be named chief.

Seeterlin's letter accepting this recommendation and formally appointing Stokes was written this morning.

Case Goes Up in Smoke, Like the Trees

What's left of John Williams' 1,000 Christmas trees is a heap of dried-up needles and nearly barren branches.

The issue surrounding his abundance of Yuletide leftovers met a similar fate yesterday when his case was dismissed in Bloomfield Township Justice Court.

Williams, 1695 Ward, was charged by the township with storing combustible material on a residential lot and a public thoroughfare.

Williams had inherited the greenery from a boys club during the holidays. Seeking about 100 of the trees to use as cover for wildlife, he had told the youths to bring their unsold inventory to his place.

His wish was granted tenfold.

The snow-covered trees, Williams found, would not burn during February when he was faced with the charge.

He since has been able to start fires in old tires and watch about half of his problem go up in smoke. The rest of the heap is being diminished by chopping.

Williams' case reportedly was dismissed on a technicality.

Justice of the Peace Mrs. Alice Gilbert declined to elaborate.

Won't Go to Planners

City to Eye Rezoning

It took five motions by the Pontiac city commission last night to pass a motion which was erroneously "defeated" at last week's meeting.

The result: a request from Charles L. Langs, a major urban renewal developer, to rezone 16 acres for a proposed town-house-type housing project outside the renewal area won't go back to the city planning commission.

One of the motions passed last night instructs the city attorney to prepare an ordinance to rezone the property from Residential-1 to Residential-3.

It is expected to be introduced at next Tuesday's meeting, at which time a date will be set for a public hearing on the ordinance.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners Dick M. Kirby and William H. Taylor, who voted against the rezoning last week, maintained their position last night.

The confusion revolved around an erroneous interpretation of the state law regarding action on rezoning measures where a protest petition has been submitted by adjacent property owners.

Last week the commission voted 5-2 in favor of rejecting a planning commission recommendation to deny the zoning request.

By the same vote, they favored a motion to accept a recommendation from the city planning staff which favored the rezoning, if certain specifications were met by the developers.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Robert A. Landry declared that motion had been defeated because state law requires a ¾ majority — or 6-1 vote in this case — where a protest petition has been filed.

REFERRED BACK

City Attorney William A. Ewart concurred with this. Langs request was then referred to the planning commission for another public hearing.

However, Commissioner Winford E. Bottom last night questioned application of the state law to last week's motion.

Ewart got out the law book. It stated that ¾ majority was needed for "passage" of a rezoning ordinance under such circumstances.

★ ★ ★

Bottom pointed out that the commission wasn't acting on passage of the ordinance last week since the request hadn't even been drafted in the form of an ordinance yet.

ATTORNEY CONCURRED

Ewart concurred with this.

Thus, last night commissioners voted 5-2 approval of motions to:

1—Reconsider last week's action.

2—Accept last week's "defeated" motion as actually adopted.

★ ★ ★

3—Instruct Ewart to prepare a rezoning ordinance for introduction next week.

4—Rescind a former motion to refer the entire matter back to the planning commission.

FIFTH MOTION

Then Taylor offered a fifth motion instructing Landry to arrange for a group of residents protesting the rezoning to visit similar housing developments with a staff member and Daniel R. Veazey, planning commission chairman.

Taylor's motion was approved without objection.

Taylor said such a tour would give residents a better idea of what type of housing Langs proposes to build on the site if it is rezoned.

★ ★ ★

In any case, unless the protest petition is withdrawn, it will take a 6 to 1 vote of the commission to approve the rezoning when the ordinance comes up for final action.

★ ★ ★

The area involved lies north of Michigan and south of right-of-way for the proposed M59 freeway between Tasmania and Anderson.

Mrs. Marvin (Rosemarie) Clark, 23, of 195 Florence, died at Pontiac General Hospital of a broken neck shortly after being struck by a car while walking across Telegraph near Elizabeth Lake road last night.

James R. Decker, 34, was killed in a head-on collision in West Bloomfield Township. He was dead on arrival at Pontiac General following the 12:25 a.m. crash.

Kathleen E. Modlin, 20, of 1990 Long Pointe, died at 1:15 p.m. at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. She had suffered head injuries in the 12:30 a.m. Sunday accident at Saginaw and Elm.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac police said Mrs. Clark was crossing west to east when she was hit by a car driven by Edward E. Doutre, 45, of Flint, traveling north on Telegraph.

IN A DAZE

A southbound motorist told police that he narrowly missed hitting the woman. Another witness said the pedestrian appeared to be in a daze, supporting Doutre's statement that she appeared to be walking with her head down.

The accident occurred at 8:15 p.m. Doutre was not held.

Decker was driving west on West Maple when his car crossed the center line, about a quarter mile west of Drake, West Bloomfield Township police said, and collided with auto driven by Jeremiah Phelps, 40, of Detroit.

Phelps was not hospitalized, according to police.

Miss Modlin was driving out of a gas station when her car was hit broadside by one driven by Samuel Washington, 30, of 31 Gillespie. He is in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

about $400 million in Canada, Australia, England, Mexico, South Africa and West Germany.

He explained the $2 billion program includes the capacity expansion plus normal capital outlays for plant improvements, research and new model programs.

"First and foremost, we must, in the face of stiff competition keep our products attractive to customers in the forefront of advancing automotive technology.

"This is a continuing challenge that requires substantial outlays every year for research, styling and engineering products as well as for special tools and equipment directly related to new model requirements.

"Second, we must keep our plants modern and efficient and take advantage of all the latest technological advances so we can continue to compete effectively.

"This means we must anticipate the growth in demand early enough to have our plants ready to meet the demand whenever it becomes a reality."

Communist officials in East Berlin have hinted that the three men may be tried as spies.

U.S. officials have insisted that the plane crossed into Communist air space accidentally on a routine training flight.

They have also protested its being shot by a Soviet MIG. The Russians claim the American plane ignored a signal to land.

Charge d'Affaires Walter J. Stoessel read the American statement to Mikhail Smirnovsky, chief of the American section of the Foreign Office.

THREE POINTS

The American Embassy official made three major points:

1. Further delay in releasing the prisoners would jeopardize good relations.

2. American officials had repeatedly stated the plane was not on an espionage mission, and was unarmed.

★ ★ ★

3. American air control officials had made very effort to prevent the plane straying off course and this was known to Soviet officials.

Lapel Pin Sellers Not DAV Group

Persons selling red, white and blue lapel pins in Pontiac shopping areas are not representatives of the Disabled American Veterans organization, Oakland County Veterans Affairs Director Floyd Cremer declared today.

The annual street sale of forget-me-nots in September is the only one authorized by the organization, Cremer added.

Proceeds are used for the welfare of veterans and dependents in need of assistance.

GUIDE GOVERNMENT STUDY — Appointed to head the Bloomfield Township government study committee which held its organizational meeting last night were former Michigan Gov. Murray D. Mrs. Robert Sheldon was elected secretary of the 18-member group undertaking a survey of various forms of government which might be suitable for the growing community.

Former Governor Leads Group

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — With former Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner at its helm, the 18-member Citizens Committee for Local Government set to work last night.

Supervisor Homer Case announced the appointment of Van Wagoner, 3890 Oakland, at the start of the two-hour organizational session.

Charles W. Wiggins, owner of a Birmingham insurance agency who lives at 734 Yarmouth, was named vice chairman.

Members unanimously elected Mrs. Robert Sheldon secretary of the group. Mrs. Sheldon, 3560 Woodale, represents the League of Women Voters.

★ ★ ★

NO DEADLINE

The group has no specific deadline for presenting its recommendations, Case said he only hopes the work will be completed by the time the current two-mill levy for the fire and police departments expires in three years.

Committee members last night got a glimpse of what's in store for them as their deliberations continue. They received a number of fact sheets with statistics outlining the township's present status.

In his introductory remarks, Case listed six basic needs of the township as it attempts to serve a growing population now estimated at 28,000.

★

The supervisor gave top priority to the unit's acquiring the right to determine public necessity "in the interest of the public peace, safety and welfare of the residents."

As an example of his predicament, Case cited poor sanitary sewer conditions in parts of the township.

Installation of a sanitary sewer now must be backed with the signatures of those owning 51 per cent of the property in a proposed special assessment district.

"There can be a few in trouble with faulty septic tanks and the others take the attitude 'I'm not my brother's keeper'," he said.

★ ★ ★

Other needs listed by Case included greater flexibility of administration, broader powers to ordinances and the right to levy taxes within certain limits without a vote of the people.

GREATER POWER

"We need greater selling power on bond issues which would give a lower interest rate, also ability to pledge the full faith and credit of the township," he added.

★ ★ ★

Also sought is a "greater degree of regulatory power over the streets, alleys and bridges of the township."

Before their next meeting, set for 8 p.m. April 21, committee members face a stack of home work, including review of materials distributed last night.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Polasek

Service for Mrs. Elizabeth C. Polasek, 70, of 135 Bloomfield will be 11 a.m. Friday at Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church, Waterford Township. Burial will follow in Lakeview Cemetery, Clarkston.

Mrs. Polasek died yesterday.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Coats Funeral Home, Drayton Plains.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Faust of Clarkston; a son, Joseph F. of Pontiac; three sisters, three brothers; and seven grandchildren.

Sandoe will assume his Cranbrook responsibilities Aug. 1 following the retirement of Harry D. Hoey, who last spring announced his intention of ending a 36-year career at Cranbrook.

The 59-year-old headmaster joined the faculty a year after the school opened. He intends to stay in the field of education, but has no specific plans for the immediate future.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Occasional light snow is forecast tonight for the northern Plateau. Scattered snow flurries are predicted for the northern Plains and upper Mississippi Valley. It will be colder over much of the nation except over the Great Lakes region southward through the Ohio and Tennessee Valley where a slight warming trend is expected. Clear to partly cloudy skies should prevail over the remainder of the nation.

Bowling Bias Is Charged

Bowling Proprietors of Oakland County, "and over a period of seven months, all attempts to place colored leagues failed.

"It is the opinion of this committee that places were available and the colored leagues . . . were turned away because they were colored . . . that openings are available at this time and that colored leagues can be placed at bowling alleys in this area.

"It is further the opinion of this committee that the bowling proprietors do not intend to cooperate," the letter concludes.

Mayor Robert A. Landry and Commissioner Samuel J. Whiters supported the human relations committee findings at last night's city commission meeting.

SUGGEST ORDINANCE

Landry suggested that the city work toward drafting an ordinance which would give the relations committee power to enforce their rulings on such matters.

On School Integration

Leaders View Race Statement

The Pontiac School Board's statement on racial integration in local classrooms drew mild reactions from some Negro leaders.

★ ★ ★

Clarence Barnes, executive director of the local office of the Urban League, said he was disappointed in the statement.

"I don't know what motivated it. I feel that there are other ways to look at it," said Barnes.

The Urban League official added that Negro teachers have not been systematically placed throughout the school system.

★ ★ ★

He said that white teachers are "running away" and have refused to work in predominately Negro schools.

POSITIVE STAND

However, Barnes cautioned that he was not interested in making countercharges, but indicated he would have liked the school board to have taken a more positive approach.

He said the Negro was ready and willing to sit down in a spirit of cooperation to solve "this sensitive problem with cool heads."

A similar reaction to the policy statement came from Dr. Rigoberto M. Guzman, chairman of the NAACP education committee.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Guzman said that blame for segregation in schools had never been laid at the feet of the local school board, although he added that it was obvious that the problem exists.

TENSION MOUNTING

The NAACP spokesman, who was at the school board session last fall when the original charges of "de facto segregation" were levied, said racial tensions are mounting across the country.

Commenting on the proposed teacher exchange plan, Dr. Guzman asked: "Is it undesirable to teach a Negro rather than a white child? As a professional educator, I would think you would teach whoever comes your way."

He said pressures are being put on the conservative Negro, but the problem (racial segregation) should be solved properly so that it will be long-lasting.

In an unexpected public statement last week, the school board detailed its policies on pupil placement, employment and assignment of teachers and educational programs.

'BEST POLICY'

Board President William H. Anderson described the discrepancies between white and Negro enrollments as resulting from "the best available policy."

Anderson hinted that there might have been different practices in the past, but said in recent times that teachers were hired and placed without regard to race, color or creed.

"The board of education believes it to be desirable to continue to strive for an equitable distribution of Negro and white teachers in all schools," said the two-term board president.

He added that educational programs were the same throughout the system, rejecting implied charges that local schools were maintained on a "separate, but equal" basis.

HOUSING PATTERN

Anderson attributed the racial line-up in Pontiac schools to housing patterns.

Charles E. Billings, 236 Gage, originator of the official "de facto segregation" protest before the school board last fall, was encouraged by the board's public stand.

"I was encouraged by the board's awareness of the problem. We'll be very happy to work with them."

Billings added, "It is important to move as quickly as possible. The problem doesn't stand still."

The Detroit junior high school teacher is also one of the planners behind the upcoming Freedom Day demonstration next Tuesday.

Primary Expense Reports All In

All 28 candidates in the March 3 primary have now filed campaign expense statements, according to City Clerk Olga Barkeley.

By the deadline last Thursday, 24 had filed expense statements and one of the remaining four, Curtis L. Webb, had advised the clerk that his statement was in the mail.

The other three — Floyd P. Miles, George Grba and Jack F. Prasil — have since submitted their statements too.

Miles joined two other candidates whose statements showed expenses in excess of the legal limit.

★ ★ ★ ★

Miles, 55, of 160 W. Colombia, one of the candidates who won nomination in District 4, filed a statement showing expenses totaling $368.

The limit, according to a formula provided by state law, is $325. County election officials said they expected no action would be taken in the matter since the law is usually enforced only where the excess is exorbitant.

SLIGHT EXCESSES

Samuel J. Whiters and Wesley Wood also had shown slight excesses above the limit.

Wood, however, has since informed the clerk that one of his expense items was erroneously duplicated in separate statements submitted by himself and his campaign committee treasurer.

The duplication put Wood's total about $46 over the $325 limit. He will submit a corrected statement this week, he said.

★ ★ ★

While the maximum expense limit per candidate was $325 for the primary, it will be $1,236.20 for the April 20 general election campaign, according to the state election law forumla.

LBJ Resists Meat Import Cut; May Mean Election Woe

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Caught in the squeeze of international trade negotiations, the Johnson administration may be stockpiling some election troubles by resisting legislation to cut meat imports.

★ ★ ★

Republicans contend that the Western prairies are on fire with protests of cattle and sheep raisers. Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., contends some cattlemen are "going broke" because of boosted imports of beef, veal and mutton under voluntary agreements with Australia and New Zealand.

That there is Democratic concern over the matter was demonstrated by the action of Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana in proposing quotas which would limit such imports to the average of 1959-63 base period. Mansfield is seeking re-election in November.

Thus far, testimony in support of quotas of one kind or another has been taken by the Senate Finance Committee from North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Montana, Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho, Nebraska, Vermont, Virginia, Oklahoma and Hawaii.

SHOUTING MATCH

Hruska and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman got into a shouting match about the matter in a hearing Tuesday before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

Freeman testified that he is opposed to any legislation to place quotas on meat imports. He said the United States should wait to see if voluntary agreements with Australia and New Zealand don't strengthen domestic meat prices.

★ ★ ★

The secretary contended that only 15 per cent of the decline in prices paid to cattle raisers was caused by imports. He said 85 per cent could be attributed to an increase in domestic production. He promised to review the situation again next year.

Hruska said the cattlemen can't wait.

'MUST LEGISLATE'

"The patience of those people directly involved, who will be broke and bankrupt, will run out and they will say, 'You have to legislate,'" he declared.

Freeman broke in to say that the Nebraska Republican, who is seeking reelection this year, was making "a campaign speech."

"I resent that very much," Hruska fired back. "This is not a political speech. That is the feeling of the people of the Midwest."

Freeman retorted that he knew a political speech when he heard one because "I make enough of them."

LBJ's GOAL

Unmentioned in this exchange was the fact that the Johnson administration is trying to keep its record clear of quota restrictions when it goes into international negotiations in Geneva in mid-May seeking to get the European Common Market to lower some of its barriers against American farm products.

A measure of success in such endeavors would be calculated to raise the administration's standing among farmers generally. It would not necessarily mitigate the resentment of cattle and sheep raisers at the low prices they still may be receiving in November.

SE Asia Nations Talk Tie Resumption

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos have begun negotiations for resumption of diplomatic relations, Premier Nguyen Khanh said today.

Other sources said Khanh met delegations from Cambodia and Laos in the mountain resort of Dalat over the weekend to arrange further negotiations.

★ ★ ★

Khanh told a news conference he is ready to meet with the Cambodian chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, "at any time, anywhere, except in a Communist country."

"With respect to Laos," Khanh continued, "we are ready to send a representative to Vientiane as soon as possible. We want to normalize diplomatic relations there. We are not like Ngo Dinh Diem, who refused to maintain diplomatic relations with Laos after they recognized North Viet Nam. We are ready to receive the ambassador of Laos in Saigon."

U.S. URGINGS

The U.S. government has long urged normal diplomatic relations between Thailand, Cambodia, South Viet Nam and Laos. A U.S. spokesman said today his government "very definitely supports" the negotiations.

Cambodia broke relations with South Viet Nam last August after Diem's police raided Buddhist pagodas in Saigon.

★ ★ ★

Khanh said the talks with Cambodia would cover current frontier problems, presumably including infiltration of Viet Cong units into South Viet Nam through Cambodia. The discussions also will cover the status of islands in the South China Sea claimed by both Cambodia and Viet Nam.

The South Vietnamese Embassy in the Laotian capital of Vietiane announced that it resumed normal operations yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The neutralist premier of Laos, Prince Souvanna Phouma, told newsmen in Vietiane he welcomed the step when South Viet Nam's acting charge d'affaires, Pam Bacong, told him the new Saigon government wanted to "reactivate its embassy here."

Souvanna stressed that there had never been an actual break in relations between the two nations.

When Diem closed the embassy on Nov. 8, 1962, his government also emphasized that this did not mean a rupture in relations.

Laos also recalled its ambassador from Saigon but kept the embassy open.

High School Execs to Visit Collegians

Freshmen at Oakland University will be visited tomorrow by their former high school principals and counselors at a fifth annual conference on campus.

More than 100 Michigan schools, including many from Oakland County, will be represented, according to Herbert N. Stoutenburg, registrar and director of admissions.

Pontiac participants will be Donald McMillen, assistant principal, Pontiac Central High School and Vernell F. Duffy, assistant principal at Pontiac Northern High School.

Stoutenburg said the purpose of the conference is to give the principals and counselors an opportunity to talk with former students about their college preparation and experiences.

He added that this information can be used to better prepare high school students for the transition from high school to college.

Pontiac City Affairs

April 20 Ballot Is Simplified

City commissioners last night took action to make the April 20 general election ballot a little easier on the eyes.

Last week, they approved the ballot form for a proposed ordinance which would shorten the workweek for city firemen if adopted by voters.

Last week's resolution called for the entire ordinance to be printed on the ballot — no less than 181 words in four sections.

An amendment approved last night, cut the required reading for voters to 30 words. The proposal on the April 20 ballot will read:

★ ★ ★

"Shall the ordinance to reduce the workweek of the uniformed members of the Fire Fighting Division of the Fire Department of the City of Pontiac from 63 hours to 56 hours be adopted?"

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, commissioners awarded a $3,978.48 contract to DeAngelus Landscaping Co., of Flat Rock.

The firm will plant some 130 trees in the R20 urban renewal area. They were lower of two bidders for the job.

Appointed to the city's zoning board of appeals were George W. Thompson of 373 Going and S. Arthur Warwick of 231 S. Josephine.

★ ★ ★

They will fill vacancies on the seven-member board left by the death of Floyd H. Smith and the resignation of I. Joe Davis Jr.

BOTH NOMINATED

Warwick was nominated by Commissioner Charles H. Harmon and Thompson by Mayor Robert A. Landry.

Commissioners denied requests to vacate a portion of Tallahassee and an alley north of land at 53 Belmont. Both moves had been recommended by the planning commission.

The commission passed a public necessity resolution calling for construction of a sanitary sewer in a portion of Walton Boulevard.

★ ★ ★

A request to rezone property in the area of 642 Orchard Lake Avenue from Residential-2 to Residential-3 was referred to the planning commission for study and recommendation.

The request came from Kampsen Realty and Building Co.

Trumpeter swans were apparently named by some of the West's first settlers after their deep throated honking sound which can be heard for two miles.

In the death of CLYDE G. TOWNSEND Pontiac loses a highly-respected citizen who had ably served the municipality for a quarter-century. Since his retirement a year ago, he had continued in his post of treasurer and manager of Pontiac Municipal Employes Credit Union.

★ ★ ★

A native Michigander, Mr. Townsend had been active in civic and fraternal affairs of this community, and no call on him for service in any worthy cause went unanswered.

★ ★ ★

His untimely passing at age 66 will be deeply mourned by a host of friends and associates long attracted by his congenial and obliging personality.

Sports Fans Welcome Stars' Reinstatement

Sports lovers will be happy over the restoration to good standing of two outstanding National Football League players.

Detroit Lions' Alex Karras and Paul Hornung of Green Bay Packers were suspended a year ago by the league's commissioner on admitted charges of having bet on league games.

★ ★ ★

Such indiscretion is against league rules and is spelled out in players' contracts. Although no evidence was adduced that gridiron performance was influenced by their wagers, the two were guilty of serious breach of ethics.

The commissioner had a duty to penalize them accordingly, if the integrity of professional football were to be protected.

Long-Overdue Credit Given Li'l Woman

Maybe it's time to mothball a few of the hallowed hallucinations men have long cherished at the expense of women.

These include the supposed ineptitude of the ladies at balancing checking accounts, their quaint ways with simple arithmetic and unfitness for stewardship of their own allowances, let alone family finances.

★ ★ ★

Well, lads, it's time you learned some of the facts of wife. After which you can lay off that patronizing attitude typical of husbands and be thankful that our Heavenly Father in His great wisdom created woman.

For some shattering (from a male angle) Federal statistics show that today women control 65 per cent of the Nation's private wealth through majority ownership of bank accounts, savings bonds and stock certificates.

★ ★ ★

The weaker sex—hah!—in recent years purchased 57 per cent of the stocks acquired and are beneficiaries of 80 per cent of all life insurance policies written.

Although men still earn 80 per cent of the family income, the women spend 85 per cent of it. (Gruff offstage voice: "What's new about that?")

And if all this inflationary data on women doesn't have deflationary effect on men, there's still a blockbuster left in the arsenal: American gals outnumber the guys by more than 1.6 million.

Who was that obtuse observer who once quipped "It's a man's world"?

MOST of us could manage to live rather comfortably within our incomes if several unexpected items of expenses didn't show up every month and knock us for a row of deficits.

De Gaulle Wins 1st Latin Round

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Score one for French President Charles de Gaulle. Big Charley, in his uniform and military cap, did all right without laying a glove on President Johnson.

MARLOW

In his first jostle with Johnson, the Frenchman came through smelling like a rose, even though they were miles apart in their encounter, while the American president put the Latin Americans in a tizzy.

Johnson arranged to make a major speech to Latin-American ambassadors at the Organization of American States on the very day, Monday, that de Gaulle landed in Mexico, uniform and all.

If it went right, Johnson would get as much front-page play in Latin America as de Gaulle since his talk was on how the United States and its Southern neighbors could pull together better. But it didn't go all right.

While de Gaulle did all the nice things in Mexico, Johnson didn't do them here, or at least the ambassadors didn't think so. One reporter, who knows the ambassadors, said they were shocked and astonished at Johnson's speech.

★ ★ ★

This is how it happened. For weeks a special OAS committee had been trying to get Panama and the United States to settle their dispute over the Panama Canal Zone.

OAS ANNOUNCEMENT

The night before the Johnson speech, the OAS announced the two sides had agreed to sit down and discuss and negotiate their differences.

Latin-American diplomats said before the OAS committee released its announcement it had sought and got the approval of Thomas Mann, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs.

U.S. officials now tell another story: that there had been no agreement, that Mann hadn't approved the announcement, that he had said he would need time to consider it, and that he consulted Johnson.

★ ★ ★

At any rate—this was Sunday night—a few hours after the announcement Republican senators denounced it. They didn't think the administration should agree to "negotiate" on the treaty. They said it looked like surrender.

'NO AGREEMENT'

A few hours after the Republicans said what they had on their minds, a so-called "high U.S. source" made a monkey of the OAS announcement by saying there had been no agreement.

The next day, Monday, Johnson went to the OAS to make his speech. He had it all prepared in writing. It turned out not to be a very good speech.

Even so, if this had been all, while it might have disappointed the ambassadors it wouldn't have been enough to astonish them. But Johnson proceeded to astonish them by injecting something that wasn't in the prepared speech.

★ ★ ★

He made official what the "high source" had said the night before. He said there had been no meeting of the minds with Panama.

Thus, in a talk which was supposed to be all about cooperation he (1) injected the sore subject of Panama and (2) in effect, told the OAS to its face that its special committee's announcement was all wet.

David Lawrence Asks:

Who Should Speak for LBJ Foes?

WASHINGTON — The White House has let it be known that not only did it not have the slightest objection to the granting of "equal time" for the expression of an opposition viewpoint after President Johnson's "conversation" last Sunday over three television networks but that this idea was conveyed in advance to the broadcasting companies themselves.

LAWRENCE

★ ★ ★

The big question, however, for the TV networks to answer was who should be selected as spokesman for the "opposition."

If any one of the leading contenders were picked, he would not, as things stand today, reflect any consensus of the entire Republican viewpoint.

And if all three — Messrs. Goldwater, Rockefeller and Nixon — were invited to speak, their views would have to be coordinated by some influence within the party not yet identifiable as wielding any such power of harmonization.

★ ★ ★

But even if the three critics articulated varying positions, points of difference would be revealed which would enable the nationwide audience to realize that at least there is another side to the controversial issues discussed by President Johnson.

NOT NEW

The problem is not a new one.

This correspondent, in a dispatch on Dec. 20, 1962 — a few days after President Kennedy's similar "conversation" over three television networks — wrote that the Republican National Committee planned to ask for "equal time" but hadn't made up its mind who the actors in the show would be.

The same dispatch said:

"Technically, of course, the 1964 political campaign hasn't started and there are no formal candidates, but actually the campaign is already under way.

★ ★ ★

"President Kennedy really has begun to campaign actively for reelection.

POLITICAL IMPACT

"Almost every move he makes nowadays is based on its possible impact on the voters during the next 22 months. Every opportunity for publicity is sought.

"The latest example is the unprecedented interview on radio and television over all three major networks.

"The President could have given every bit of this information at a regular news conference, but it would not have been dramatic enough nor subject to previous editing . . . .

★ ★ ★

"The biggest advantage of all to Mr. Kennedy, however, is that he manages by this method to prevent any rebuttal on the same night that he gets full coverage of his views over the television networks.

"It is not like the 'Great Debates' of the last presidential campaign, when the opposite candidate was at least given a chance to answer point by point . . . .

"It is said they (the three networks) did try to invite national personalities to talk, but there was no way by which the latter could prepare themselves for rebuttal the same evening."

There is a simple solution to all this — the Republican party could set up an "organized opposition in Washington and designate a spokesman in much the same manner as is done by rival parties in the British Parliament.

★ ★ ★

There the line of argument is agreed upon by the party leaders. Rebuttals thus become those of a party of opposition and not just a series of individual speeches by ambitious individuals seeking high office.

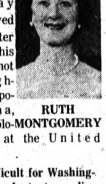
Lodge Better as Diplomat Than on Campaign Trail

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who refuses to pick up his New Hampshire marbles and go home to play in presidential primaries may be well advised.



RUTH MONTGOMERY

The Boston brahmin may have achieved the high water mark of his popularity, not in the rough-and-tumble political arena, but on the diplomatic front at the United Nations.

It was difficult for Washington correspondents to realize that televised daytime U. N. hearings had transformed Lodge into a "national" figure.

To be frank about it, the blue-blooded Lodge personality comes over much better in the rarefied atmosphere of diplomacy than on the political stump.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps it can be blamed on his birthright ("The Lodges speak only to Cabots, and the Cabots speak only to God"), but he has an unfortunate arrogance of manner which has sometimes offended newsmen as well as politicians.

NOT AMONG ADMIRERS

Cameramen who cover Capitol Hill are not among his more enthusiastic admirers.

When he was a senator from Massachusetts, they recall, he used to insist that they shoot his picture from only one side, with the camera pointed upwards.

"He made me practically lie on the floor to shoot from the proper angle," one photographer grouses.

"He thought one side of his face was better than the other, and that shooting from below gave him a firmer chin line."

NOMINATION DOUBTFUL

Despite Lodge's stunning write-in victory in New Hampshire last week, it is doubtful that political pros will nominate him for President even if he returns to campaign for it.

Party conservatives have not forgotten the key role he played in keeping the '52 nomination from "Mr. Republican" Bob Taft, and the pros complain that Cabot "kept bankers' hours" as the vice presidential nominee during the 1960 campaign.

Should he stump the experts by capturing the party nomination, he still would have to face an incumbent President who is currently running away with the public opinion polls.

'Bingo in Wayne County; Why Not Pontiac Area?'

Much money is spent outside the county by bingo players. At a bingo party in the Plymouth area I counted at least 30 persons I knew from the Pontiac area. More than half those players spent money on coffee, hot dogs, candy, etc., besides the money spent to play bingo. We spent $21 on bingo plus money for gasoline and snacks on the way home. We are loyal residents, but senior citizens need some fun. Wouldn't it be better if we could play nearer home and keep money in our own county? Bingo is played seven days a week in Wayne County. Why not here?

Clarkston and Kettering Fans Comment

At the Clarkston tournament game spectators were treated to athletic skill, determination, effort, alertness and excellent conduct.

One of the most enthusiastic games of the year was played between Clarkston and Kettering. Each team showed excellent sportsmanship. Kettering had a victory dance planned if the game was won. Maybe we lost but we're as proud as ever to belong to Kettering:

We subscribe to two newspapers and expect to find advertisements, but we don't have to read them unless we are interested. We also expect radio and TV commercials. But our telephone was not installed for the purpose of listening to long spiels about home remodeling, dancing lessons, magazines, dinner clubs, etc.

Am I being petty or are there others who feel the same? A ringing telephone cannot be ignored.

Government Economy

The National Observer

President Johnson's moves for economy in government are running into the opposition that might be expected.

★ ★ ★

Those that are supposed to economize don't want to do so. Economies put into effect are held up to ridicule.

All this is filtering through the structure of government, and no one who is really "in" at the nation's capital fails to get off at least one snide remark about turning off the lights each day.

Now it is true that shutting off unused lights in the Bureau of Impossible but Worthy Projects isn't going to overcome the spending by the Defense Department.

★ ★ ★

What the snipers aren't bright enough to see, however, is that one is unnecessary spending and the other is necessary.

Certainly there ought not be anything wrong in fostering an attitude of reasonable economy, whether it's turning off lights, or cutting back on limousine service, or cutting down on unnecessary jobs and overtime payments.

As any household budgeter knows, getting a family into an attitude of economy is at least half the battle in bringing spending under control.

Oh, yes, it may all be just a big political gimmick by Lyndon Johnson. But at the very least it is a gimmick in the right direction.

Odds Against It

The Cherryvale (Kan.) Republican

There's only one man in a million who understands the international situation, and it's odd how often we keep running into him.

From Africa to Asia

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch

There died in Hamburg recently a 94-year-old general, Paul von Lettow-Vorbeck, known as the only World War I German general who was not defeated.

From Aug. 4, 1914, until Nov. 25, 1918, when word of the armistice reached him in the jungles of German East Africa, he successfully led 300 Germans and 11,000 poorly-armed natives against 300,000 well-equipped British, Belgian, Portuguese and Indian troops.

Although Lettow-Vorbeck was a product of the Prussian military school, he realized that guerrilla warfare offered him his only hope of survival in the field.

Just as Francis Marion, the Swamp Fox, harassed the British regulars in the Revolutionary War and Gen. John Mosby, the Gray Ghost of the Confederacy, harassed the Union forces in the Civil War, so Lettow-Vorbeck fought the Allies.

After World War II, Gen. Jan Christiaan Smuts found Lettow-Vorbeck poverty stricken in Berlin and raised funds from the German's former African adversaries to feed and clothe him.

There was no trouble in raising funds for Lettow-Vorbeck because his adversaries remembered him as a man who, although he used guerrilla tactics, scrupulously observed the Geneva rules of civilized warfare.

With Lettow-Vorbeck's death goes an unwritten message that extends to Viet Nam: Those who fight in the jungle against guerrillas are engaged in the most deadly and exhausting form of protracted warfare. And in Viet Nam the guerrillas observe no Geneva rules.

Barry: Views Won't Change

Tours N. California on Plane-Campaign

CHICO, Calif. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater goes airport-hopping today, promising California Republicans he won't change his conservative colors to woo presidential primary votes.

★ ★

Goldwater planned a journey to Lakeport, Auburn and Stockton to press his campaign for the state's June 2 primary.

The Arizona senator, his campaign staff and newsmen—who have been traveling by chartered airliner—switched to three light planes for the hops to small town airports.

WON'T CHANGE

Goldwater set out with this promise: "I'm not going to change Goldwater one bit to get one of your votes. If my constituents want me, they are going to get me the way I am."

He said this to a crowd of more than 2,000 persons at the Chico Fair Grounds Tuesday night, telling them that as candidate and as president he would stand for a stern foreign policy and a balanced budget.

★ ★ ★

"I believe the United States must earn the respect that is due her from the other nations of this world," he said.

"This respect can be gained by the United States acting like a world power; not like a world weakling."

BALANCE BUDGET

At home, Goldwater said, the federal budget can be balanced "and I am convinced that I can balance it without damage to any services in this country.

"I can only make you one promise," he added. "I've been imbued with these philosophies too long to change."

★ ★

Goldwater said President Johnson can't change either — "He's so indebted to the left-wing element I don't see how he can get away from it.

"His legislation will be to the left," Goldwater told a news conference. "He is sort of fenced in."

Pretty Cuba Girl Dresses as Man to Escape Reds

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A pretty refugee said today she fled Cuba by stowing away on a cargo ship dressed as a man.

★ ★

The petite brunette, Nelida Del Pilar Fernandez, 21, said she was aboard the Lebanese vessel Toula, carrying Greek crewmen, when it left Havana last November.

In British Honduras, she was discovered, the stowaway said, but was permitted to continue after the ship's captain paid a fine for her. She said she left the ship in Jamaica and was there three months.

★ ★ ★

"I would have started out swimming from Havana to escape the Communist oppression there," said Miss Fernandez.

She was one of 41 refugees arriving in Miami Tuesday.

Korea Navy Chief Asks Antisub Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Korea's top naval officer said Tuesday he has asked the United States to provide more antisubmarine warfare equipment to meet a growing submarine threat.

★ ★ ★

The visiting Korean chief of naval operations, Vice Adm. Lee Maeng-tkee, 39, told a news conference the best present estimates are that: (1) North Korea has more than two Soviet-built medium submarines; (2) Communist China has 32 or more and (3) the Soviet Union has more than 100 submersibles based at Vladivostok and Dairen.

U.S. Eyes 10 Per Cent of Sweepstakes Take

CONCORD, N. H. (AP)—If the federal government attempts to collect a 10 per cent gambling tax from the New Hampshire sweepstakes, officials say they expect the matter to wind up in the courts.

Tickets are now on sale for the nation's only state-operated lottery.

The first sweeps race will be run Sept. 12 at Rockingham Park, and persons holding tickets on the winning horse will collect $100,000. The prize for second place is $50,000, for third place $25,000.

The state expects the lottery to produce more than $4 million revenue for aid to schools.

* * *

Federal officials have raised the question whether the state should be required to purchase the $50 occupational tax stamp required of gamblers and to pay a 10 per cent tax.

STATE'S POSITION

Joseph Millimet, counsel for the State Sweepstakes Commission, says it is the state's position that since the sweepstakes is being run to obtain revenue for schools, New Hampshire should not be required to pay the 10 per cent tax.

He is advising the commission to pay the tax only under protest, the prospect being that the matter can be tested in the courts.

Sweepstakes tickets cost $3 apiece. If the state is required to pay the tax, the price probably will be increased to $3.30.

* * *

Sweepstakes director Edward J. Powers, a former FBI man, contends federal laws are designed to control illegal gambling, not legally established programs like the New Hampshire sweepstakes.

Powers says the state probably would pay the $50 gambling stamp charge without any fuss, but in all likelihood will challenge in court the need for paying the federal tax of 10 per cent.

Ex-Envoy to U.S. Urges Bombing N. Viet Nam

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dr. Tran Van Chuong, former ambassador from South Viet Nam to the United States, says the United States should bomb strategic targets in Communist North Viet Nam.

Among other things, he said, it would prove that the United States is a tiger with teeth — not a "paper tiger," as Communists claim.

(O') Johnson Turns Irish for St. Paddy's Day Speech

NEW YORK (AP)—A self-styled Irishman by osmosis, President Johnson told a St. Patrick's Day dinner, "I have found our nation's greatest strength lies in the dream of America—America, the land of hope; America, the land of opportunity.

★ ★ ★

"All the slings and arrows of our opponents in the world have never succeeded in destroying that image," he said Tuesday night.

With jest and with serious talk, Johnson spoke to more than 2,500 members of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick in a Waldorf - Astoria Hotel ballroom festooned with green streamers hanging from crystal chandeliers. The head table was scarcely visible behind green carnations.

Explaining why he is Irish by osmosis, the President spoke of the Irishmen in high government places—associates in the White House, the speaker of the House, and the Senate Democratic leader.

★ ★ ★

"I woke up this morning," he said with a smile, "and suddenly realized that the Irish have taken over the government. And I like it."

He said the dinner was supposed to be a nonpartisan affair, but remarked that the Democratic party is "so peaceful the Irish may move to the Republican party where the feuding is really going on."

★ ★ ★

Then, turning serious, the President said St. Patrick's Day is one in which America shares in a very definite sense because the Irish who came here had a dream of freedom and dignity.

"Here a man could hold his head as high as any other," he said, "and worship his God as he chose, without ever accounting to a soldier with a bayonet."

★ ★ ★

To an audience that interrupted frequently with applause, Johnson said nothing is more important to him than making this a land whose compassion will be an example to the world's other 119 nations.

He said he wants the United States to be a land where the sick of body can find help and the sick of heart can find hope.

★ ★ ★

"An America that is seeking justice at home and seeking peace with all nations . . . An America that is committed always to the force of law instead of to the law of force . . . An America proud of its unity but ashamed of attempts at uniformity . . . An America where the humblest citizen can speak his piece and write his thoughts and worship his God . . . An America that is both prudent and progressive, that is both frugal and courageous.

EQUAL CITIZENSHIP

"An America that is eager to redeem its promissory notes of equal citizenship, ashamed that they are so long overdue, and determined that never again will they be discounted or denied in the treasury of the American conscience.

"An America that would always remember that in a world of power politics, smaller nations can often have the power of ideas . . . An America that would want the assistance of allies, but never the support of satellites . . . An America that would use its strength to increase the hopes of peace, never using the language of arrogance to others nor whispering the language of fear to itself.

★ ★ ★

"An America that would set the healing and the reconciliation of nations far above all other prizes . . . An America that is powerful without a trace of belligerence . . . An America whose strength would save us from defeat and whose wisdom would protect us from appeasement. . ."

★ ★ ★

Johnson stayed overnight at the Carlyle Hotel.

Death Car Driver Dies of Injuries

DEARBORN (AP) — John R. Gearhart Jr., 32, of Madison Heights, driver of the car which police blamed in the deaths of five persons Saturday night, died in Wayne County General Hospital Tuesday night.

Gearhart, who had a record of eight traffic violations since 1957, succumbed to injuries suffered when his car rammed into the rear of a station wagon bearing a Dearborn Heights family of five, including three children. All five in the station wagon were killed. The station wagon burned.

★ ★ ★

Police said the station wagon had stopped for a red light at an intersection. Gearhart slammed into it as he was speeding from the scene of an earlier, minor smashup in which he had sideswiped another car, police said.

Killed were David R. Olson, 26, insurance salesman; his wife, Geraldine, 25; and their children—Dawn, 7; Beth, 6, and Todd, 3.

Gearhart, a tool and die worker, leaves his widow, Beverly, and two children, Nannette, 8, and John, 2.

Would Relax Ban
Californians Debate New Abortion Bill

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Abortion is an ugly word to most people, synonymous with an illegal operation performed by an incompetent in a back room.

To many Californians, it means hope for women doomed by disease or drugs to bear deformed children. It's a method, they say, of ending an unwanted pregnancy caused by rape or incest.

★ ★ ★

The California Medical Association and the Public Health Department have asked for a relaxation of the state ban against abortions.

More recently, the 70,000-member California Democratic Council, the party's powerful volunteer arm, gave its support to the movement.

GETS BACKING

Throughout the state, women's clubs, church groups and other organizations are discussing the proposed Humane Abortion Act, now under study by a legislative committee.

Debate was intensified by the story of Sherry Finkbine, the Phoenix, Ariz., woman who had taken a tranquilizer which was blamed for deformities in unborn children. She flew to Sweden for an operation after hospitals in this country refused.

The proposed California legislation, introduced by Assemblyman Anthony C. Beilenson, a Beverly Hills lawyer, would allow physicians to perform therapeutic abortions where continuation of the pregnancy "involves substantial risk that mother or child will suffer grave impairment of physical or mental health."

★ ★ ★

Pregnancies resulting from rape or incest also could be terminated—if a court decides such a crime has been committed.

HOSPITAL APPROVAL

Any abortion would have to be approved by a hospital's therapeutic abortion committee, composed of obstetricians, pediatricians, internists and psychiatrists.

But the legislature has shown no sign of changing the present law, which prohibits abortions unless they are needed to save the life of the mother.

★ ★ ★

Leading the opposition is the Roman Catholic Church.

The Rev. Timothy O'Brien, director of the Catholic Conference of Catholic Hospitals, warned legislators against passing laws "which are contrary to the laws of nature."

WANTS ABORTIONS

Replies Beilenson: "Let me suggest that, tragically, too often in the name of saving a deformed or deficient fetus from 'murder' we are murdering the mother."

★ ★ ★

The Public Health Department says the bill is needed to cut down the death and injury toll from illegal abortions. Last year, such operations killed about 20 women in the state.

Dr. Leslie Corsa of the Public Health Department says there is no way of telling how many illegal abortions are performed in California each year.

★ ★ ★

Beilenson pegged the number about 100,000 and said "virtually every single one is a criminal abortion for the simple fact that an abortion is never necessary any more in order to preserve a woman's life."

ACROSS BORDER

Beilenson said he knows of physicians who send patients to clinics across the border in Tijuana, Mexico, for abortions.

Beilenson sees his bill as a medical measure and not intended as a birth control method. It has, he said, "nothing to do with the vast majority of abortions which are now being illegally performed in California and elsewhere."

Alabama, Colorado, New Mexico and Oregon have laws similar to the one proposed by Beilenson, he said.

Romney Asks for U. S. Plans on State U. P.

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George W. Romney has asked President Johnson for a report on federal government plans for the development of the Upper Peninsula.

★ ★ ★

The governor said in a letter to the President Tuesday that Michigan officials want to coordinate state programs with plans the federal government might have for the area.

Romney said he has scheduled a governor's conference on Upper Peninsula economic development in June.

COMPATIBLE PLAN

"We would like to pursue our program with increased momentum," Romney said, "but we want to make sure that our approach is compatible with the efforts of other states and the federal government."

Race Barriers Dropped; City Hires 2 Negroes

FLORENCE, Ala. (AP)—The city commission announced on Tuesday it had dropped racial barriers on the city police force and hired two Negroes who passed civil service examinations.

This northwest Alabama city of 32,000 has experienced no racial demonstrations. The commission denied that the new hirings were related to a recent request by the Lauderdale County Voters League for elimination of all discrimination.

Wallace Says 'Expect Smear'
Warns Supporters of 'Left-Wing' Tactics

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama has told his supporters in the Wisconsin presidential primary campaign that they should expect to be smeared by the "liberals and the left-wing press."

Don't worry, said Wallace, as long as "they spell your name right."

★ ★ ★

"They're going to try to smear you, they're going to try to destroy you," the Democratic governor said, "but our slogan ought to be: 'Stand up for America.'"

The counsel brought applause and cheers from more than 50 persons who jammed a Milwaukee hotel room Tuesday night. Wallace delegates, several of them flown in from Oshkosh on the governor's plane, made up most of the group.

SEGREGATIONIST

Wallace, a militant segregationist, officially opened his campaign for the 46 Democratic National Convention votes at stake in the April 7 primary with a speech to an Appleton luncheon club Tuesday. There, in the hometown of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, a Republican, he said McCarthy accurately forecast communism's threat to America.

The 44-year-old governor said Appleton had given him a "very warm reception indeed," but the 12-degree temperature hadn't made him feel at home.

★ ★ ★

"If the Civil War had been fought here," he quipped, "it wouldn't have lasted more than a week because it's too cold to fight."

Wallace is opposing Wisconsin Gov. John W. Reynolds in the primary. The challenge prompted Democratic State Chairman Louis Hanson to instruct the Reynolds delegates to step up their activity against Wallace.

Ferndale Youth Dies in Accidental Shooting

Will Establish Policies

U Thant Takes Reins of U.N. Cyprus Force

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant says the "terms of reference" of the U.N. Cyprus force are no problem. He alone will issue directives and he won't negotiate them with any government.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman said Tuesday night Thant has already sent the commander of the U.N. peace force a set of principles for the force assembling on the Mediterranean island.

Diplomatic sources said Thant decreed that the force:

—Should not interfere in the internal affairs of Cyprus.

—Should not use its arms to disarm Greek or Turkish Cypriots.

—Should only fire in self-defense.

—Should cooperate with but remain independent of the U.N. mediator who is to try to work out a political settlement between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

RESERVED RIGHT

Thant's spokesman said the secretary-general had reserved the right to issue directives personally because of "the purely international character and responsibilities of the force."

★ ★ ★

He said Thant has given the text of the directive to nations asked to contribute troops. He also told them it was not his intention to negotiate the instructions with any government" either directly concerned in the situation or contributing contingents to the force."

British Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys told the House of Commons Monday that talks were going on between Thant and the countries concerned to set up "clear and effective terms of reference which will enable the force to discharge its task."

★ ★ ★

Sandys seemed to indicate that until the limits of the force's powers and its mission were agreed on, Britain would not contribute troops.

AGREE WITH BRITISH

Thant told the Security Council in a written report, however, that he expected to conclude arrangements with Britain for the United Nations to take over some of the British forces who have been trying to enforce a cease-fire in Cyprus since the Christmas fighting.

Thant hopes to build up a 7,000-man force by absorbing half of the 7,000 British troops policing the island and replacing the rest with soldiers from half a dozen other nations. He has pledges of 1,150 from Canada, 700 from Finland, 700 from Sweden and 50 from Ireland.

★ ★ ★

A 100-man reconnaissance squadron of the Royal Canadian Dragoons was scheduled to sail from Halifax aboard the aircraft carrier Bonaventure late today to join Canadian soldiers already on Cyprus. The carrier also was loaded with equipment for the Canadian contingent.

The Greek Cypriot government sent the Security Council a letter Tuesday accusing Turkey of "flagrant violation" of a council resolution calling for a hands off policy toward the island.

Zenon R. Rossides, the Greek Cypriot delegate, cited Premier Ismet Inonu's warning Monday that Turkey would intervene in Cyprus if the United Nations fails to protect Turkish Cypriots. Rossides said the warning was accompanied by disturbing reports of Turkish military and naval activity at a time of "perfect calm" on Cyprus.

★ ★ ★

Turkish warships based on Iskenderun, 100 miles from Cyprus, returned to port Tuesday after taking part in troop landing exercises 30 miles to the southwest.

Places of worship abound in New York City where there are 7,836 Protestant and 436 Roman Catholic churches and 1,264 Jewish temples.

Self-Confessed Knifer Ordered to Asylum

BIG RAPIDS (AP)—Derwin J. Workman, 33, charged with the Jan. 6 fatal stabbing of his 23-year-old former wife, Dorothy, has been ordered to the State Hospital for the Criminally Insane at Ionia.

A former Midland resident, Workman was quoted earlier by authorities as saying he became infuriated and stabbed the victim after she withdrew what he said was a promise of reconciliation and remarriage.

U.S. Flying Grandfather Rescued After 1st Crash

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—Max Conrad, America's flying grandfather, is reported in "fine shape" after being rescued from the Greenland icecap where he crashed-landed a single-engine plane.

It was the 62-year-old pilot's first crash in nearly 14 years of crisscrossing oceans delivering single-engine planes to customers.

★ ★ ★

By his reckoning, he was making his 100th transatlantic solo flight Tuesday. Apparently trouble with the Italian Procaer Picchio F15 he was ferrying from Italy to Canada forced him down on the barren icecap in subzero weather.

The flier was less than five hours out of Reykjavik, Iceland, when he came down on terrain he described in a magazine article 12 years ago as "mountcle 12 years ago as "mountcoal, no trees, nothing that man could use."

IN LUCK

Luck was with him. He was on the ice only a short time before an Icelandic airliner spotted him. Another plane dropped warm clothing and food.

An Air Force spokesman in Washington said Conrad walked across a glacier from the wreckage of his plane to the spot where a small fishing boat took him off the icecap. He was transferred to a Danish amphibious plane and flown to a U.S. air base in southern Greenland. He was to be flown today to the Air Force base at Goose Bay, Labrador.

★ ★ ★

It was Conrad's first serious accident in 35 years. The last one, in October 1929, happened on the ground. A woman passenger alighting from his plane walked into the propellor and was killed. Conrad tried to rescue her and the still-spinning blade fractured his skull. The injury blanked out his memory for three years and he had to learn to talk again.

Since August 1950 Conrad has specialized in ferrying small planes to and from the United States. He made his first solo crossing of the Atlantic in August 1950 and has flown across the Pacific 19 times. He has also made solo flights around the world.

★ ★ ★

Conrad, who lives in Winona, Minn., has crossed the oceans so many times that he remarked last year that he was getting bored with the ferrying job.

In 1961, he and his son Terry, 17, set a record for small planes by flying around the world in 8 days and 18 hours.

LBJ Shelved 'New Look' Idea of Splitting Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's plans to give the controversial foreign aid bill a new look were shelved after a quiet little White House dinner about six weeks ago, a high source reports.

The main decision involved whether to split the economic aid program from the military aid program and present them to Congress separately. The idea was to change the image of the program and make it more palatable to Congressmen and voters.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara led off the after-dinner discussion by stating the case for making military aid separate, a source who was present said.

He was followed by others who favored this approach, among them Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

SPLITTING BILL

The case for splitting economic and military aid proceeded smoothly as though the decision were "on the rails," the source said, until the President called on Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., Chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

"Mr. President, if you want to lose the foreign aid bill on the floor of the House, then fragment it," Morgan told Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Morgan then repeated his long-held views that the military assistance portion of the foreign aid bill is the only thing that gets it through Congress each year, and that to separate the two sections would be an open invitation to the program's foes to decimate the economic aid, or "foreign aid giveaway," as they call it.

Other important voices backed Morgan's view, the source said.

One of them was Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., Chairman of the Appropriations Subcommittee which handles the foreign aid money bill. He strongly favors keeping the program all in one package so it "can't be hidden from the American taxpayer."

Castro to Run Red Missiles?

Report Russians Train Cubans on Operation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russian forces in Cuba are reported to be training Cubans to operate the advanced antiaircraft missiles that the Soviet Union installed in Cuba in 1962.

Sources here said it was not yet clear whether the Russians planned to turn complete control of the missiles over to the Cubans or whether Soviet officers would remain in charge of them.

Soviet personnel have been manning the missiles, which are the type known as the SA2. Within a few months, however, there will be sufficient Cuban crews trained to man the entire system, it was reported.

The SA2 is a ground-to-air missile capable of hitting a target at 80,000 feet, high enough to reach American U2 reconnaissance planes.

★ ★ ★

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara reported in October 1962, that U.S. aerial reconnaissance showed 24 SA2 locations in Cuba, each including six firing sites.

DEFENSIVE WEAPON

The United States classed the SA2 as a "defensive" weapon, and it was not among the offensive missiles removed from Cuba by Russia at U.S. demand.

Since November, 1962, the Russians have been training Cuban forces in use of jet fighters, torpedo boats, military vehicles and ground weapons.

But the training of Cuban SA2 crews began only recently.

Russia has reduced its military personnel in Cuba from 22,000 to a much lower figure, probably several thousand. U.S. intelligence officials have declined to make public exact estimates.

There has been some speculation in Washington that the Russians might be preparing a more or less complete troop withdrawal.

'Super' Plane Is Observed in California

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The United States' secret A11 jet interceptor turned up undergoing ground tests near an X15 rocket plane.

★ ★ ★

The needle-nosed A11, spewed exhaust Tuesday from its two powerful aft-mounted J58 engines as it sat on an apron a few hundred feet from the X15. It was spotted by a newsman there for a X15 test flight which was canceled for technical reasons.

The X15 flight was to be with an experimental Air Force camera mounted in its nose to take pictures through the superheated turbulent layer of air that rushes along the craft's skin.

MAJOR PROBLEM

Distortion from heat and shock waves in this layer is a major problem of photo reconnaissance at high velocities — the problem the A11 would encounter as a reconnaissance craft.

Says U. S. Would Gain in A-Trade With Reds

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, told newsmen Tuesday that the United States probably would gain more than the Soviet Union in an exchange of atomic energy information.

He said the Soviet Union has an advantage over the United States because more American research results are published and the Russians have a highly efficient system of screening foreign technical journals.

Rochester Buildings Toured by Fire Inspection Teams

By LEE OLSON
Area News Editor

ROCHESTER — "An ounce of prevention" was the aim of fire inspection teams who visited Rochester yesterday.

They made free inspections of 130 business establishments and public buildings and found 85 to 90 per cent of them had some fire hazard.

The project was sponsored jointly by local insurance agents and the Rochester Kiwanis Club.

Starting out in the morning, the 35 inspectors, all members of the Fire Prevention Association, a division of the Michigan Capital Stock Insurance Association, divided into teams.

Some went to local business places while others visited and gave fire prevention talks at various schools in the district.

FOR BUILDINGS

They also toured Avon Center Hospital, the Rochester Post Office, churches and other public buildings in the greater Rochester community.

Village firemen acted as guides. Most of the teams included Boy Scouts and Sea Scouts from local troops.

The inspections were voluntary and conducted mainly to uncover common hazards which could be corrected once the tenant or owner was aware they existed.

"Our primary criticism was poor wiring," said Evans W. Brown of Aetna Insurance Co., Lansing, chairman of the Fire Prevention Association.

OTHER CRITICISMS

"This is followed by improper storage, uncharged or no fire extinguishers and poor housekeeping conditions," he reported.

Red tags were hung on the offending wires, uncharged extinguishers and other hazards.

The association then sends cards to owners who have been listed as having fire hazards in their buildings. These cards are mailed back after corrective measures are taken.

PUBLIC SERVICE

"These inspections were a public service of Capital Stock Insurance Association, designed to save lives and property," he said.

Brown praised the town for its cooperation during the inspection, singling out Fire Chief Lyle Buchanan for special commendation.

The association chairman said that because of the village's awareness of the inspection, the teams' jobs were "much more effective."

Poster and essay projects were conducted in the junior high grades in conjunction with the townwide inspection.

BLANKS SENT HOME

Although the crews did not inspect private residences, inspection blanks were sent home with the grade school children in the district. They were returned yesterday to the visiting teams.

A highlight of the day was a joint luncheon meeting of the visiting inspectors, community leaders, school representatives, Boy Scouts, Sea Scouts, firemen and Kiwanis Club members at Bebout's Restaurant.

Speaker was Captain Fred Beer of the Detroit Fire Department who illustrated his talk with fire prevention demonstrations.

★ ★ ★

Local independent insurance agents said that some businesses could profit indirectly by the inspection, through the elimination of fire hazards that would ultimately reduce their insurance rates.

In any case, today each owner or tenant of an inspected building knows where the hazards are located.

★ ★ ★

It's now up to them to take corrective action.

TAGGED — An unapproved gasoline storage can is tagged as a fire hazard by the inspection team of Evans W. Brown, chairman of the Michigan Fire prevention Association, a division of the Michigan Capital Stock Insurance Association, and Boy Scout John Rebholz, 15, of Troop 125. Evans writes a slip to inform the building owner of the need to remedy this for safety's sake.

TEAM IN ACTION — The storage room and workship at Avon Center Hospital is inspected by Roger Koops, assistant manager of the Michigan Inspection Bureau (left), and James Kunath, sales representative for Zurich Insurance Co., Detroit (right). Both are members of the Michigan Fire Prevention Association. Their guide was Rochester Fire Chief Lyle Buchanan. Among the things they checked were the dates fire extinguishers were last approved.

Rochester Unit Urges 22 New Classrooms

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Citizens Advisory School Study Committee is recommending construction of 22 new classrooms in the near future, calling it the "minimum required expansion."

A subcommittee of the citizens' group which concentrates on building and site problems is advising the board that 16 additional elementary classrooms and six junior high school rooms are necessary to alleviate present overcrowded conditions and the anticipated enrollment increase.

The building and site committee is endorsing two alternate remedies.

One plan calls for construction of a new elementary school in the northwest section of the district, as well as additions to West Junior High School.

★ ★ ★

The other proposal recommends additions to several elementary schools and the West Junior High.

PROVIDE ROOMS

Committee members say addition of the 16 elementary classrooms will provide an average of 27-30 pupils in each room for the next several years, and also avoid the necessity of using activity rooms for teaching.

At Monday's meeting of the school board, members resolved to place a $1.5-million bond issue on a special May 4 election ballot, along with a request for renewal of two mills.

The expansion package agreed upon by the board includes the addition of 12 classrooms at West Junior High School and a total of 18 classrooms to four district elementary schools, Baldwin, McGregor, Brooklands and Woodward.

★ ★ ★

All of the anticipated building is a part of a construction program established eight years ago.

It could be accomplished without any hike in taxes, according to Schools Supt. Dr. William Early.

★ ★ ★

Others on hand for the occasion will include U. S. Senator Philip A. Hart, D-Mich. and Congressman at Large Neil Staebler, D-Mich.

Music will be furnished by the Utica High School Band. An open house will precede and follow the ceremony, from 1 to 2:30 p.m. and 4 to 5 p.m.

16 Charged in FHA Law Violations

DETROIT (AP) — Sixteen persons were indicted by U. S. District Court grand jury Tuesday for alleged violations of Federal Housing Administration laws. They include a former banker, the head of a construction—firm and a nightclub owner.

John W. Dueweke, 38, former assistant cashier in charge of customer credit at the Bank of Dearborn, was charged with fraud or misapplication in approving FHA loans totaling $127,362 from 1959 to 1961.

Dueweke, now a truck driver living at 24341 Sherman, Oak Park, faces nine counts of conspiracy and four of wilfully misapplying funds obtained through fraudulent FHA loans.

Sidney Golds, 38, of 15140 Park, Oak Park, and operator of Modernization Inc., and CMC Plan Inc., is accused of obtaining loans totaling $49,280, using the names of relatives as applicants. Barton Morris, assistant U. S. attorney, said the loans were not used for home improvements.

Michael Chiado, 52, of Dearborn was accused of conspiring with Dueweke and Golds to obtain two fraudulent home improvement loans in the names of Chiado's relatives. Chiado operates the Gay Haven supper club.

Donald A. Thorpe, 38, of 24066 Glenridge, a self-employed swimming pool builder and salesman, was indicted for allegedly having customers apply for FHA loans for home improvements, when actually the funds went for swimming pools. The FHA does not insure loans for pools.

★ ★ ★

Donald C. Finkbeiner, 31, of Livonia a former heating company salesman, was charged with making false statements in aiding an applicant to get a loan which had been rejected by another bank.

Others indicted for conspiracy misapplying FHA funds of making false applications are:

J. William Klem Jr., Walled Lake; Anthony D. Morgan, East Detroit; Warren C. Propp, Livonia; Isadore I. Rubin, Detroit; Lavern J. Bradach, Riverview; and Elisa E. Calabrese, Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Five were accused with Dueweke of conspiring to obtain $44,000 in home improvement loans when the money was used for other purposes. They are: Richard Slavens, 40, of Union Lake; James Lloyd Weikert, who now lives in Florida; John Clinton Wolks, 58, Detroit; Anthony Drost, 45, Ferndale, and Robert Lee Harrington, 30, now of Dallas, Tex.

Bond Issue OK'd by State Agency

A $403,000 bond issue to finance sewer construction in Farmington Township was approved yesterday by the State Municipal Finance Commission in Lansing.

Deputy director of the county public works department, Donald Ringler, said the sale of bonds would be advertised this week and bids would be received April 16.

Construction of the 37,000 lineal feet of sanitary sewer, known as the Tarabussi Industrial Arm, is slated to begin by May 27 and completed by the end of this year.

Total cost of the project has been estimated at $778,000.

The bonds are to be retired over 20 years through connection charges. The remainder of the project's cost is being financed by an accelerated public works grant from the federal government—one of the last received in Oakland County.

INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION

The Tarabussi Arm will open some eight square miles in the southwest corner of the township for industrial expansion.

The arm will connect into the Farmington Sewage Disposal System at Eight Mile and Gill, from where sewage will be piped into Detroit for treatment.

State Farm Rec Group Sets 1st Meeting Friday

Farmers and general landowners interested in harvesting a brand new crop—recreation—will meet to organize a new statewide farm recreation association Friday in East Lansing.

The meeting is for owners and managers of existing farm recreation businesses, as well as those who may be thinking about entering this rapidly growing field, said Louis Twardzik, recreation extension specialist at Michigan State University.

"It is important at this first meeting that a wide range of views in managing farm recreation enterpirses be represented," said Twardzik.

The organization meeting is scheduled to get under way at 1:30 p.m. at Kellogg Center. Further details are available from county extension agents.

★ ★ ★

The need for a statewide recreation association became evident during the recent Farmers' Week.

REQUEST RESULTED

The "Opportunities in Farm Recreation" session that week resulted in a request by farm recreation operators and others interested in converting agricultural land to recreational use to have the Cooperative Extension Service assist in forming a state wide association.

Many farmers have already made the successful transition from agriculture to recreation, but great numbers are still uncertain about the future of such conversion.

The knowledge and skills necessary to operate a successful enterprise devoted to the pleasurable activities of people are vastly different from those required to produce food or fiber, Twardzik said.

★ ★ ★

The farmers were caught without skills or competency in operating, planning, designing, maintaining or financing farm recreation, he said.

"A statewide organization would help alleviate these problems by affording those concerned a chance to pool their knowledge and experience," added Twardzik.

Sparks Fly in Debate on Districts

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A debate between August (Gus) Scholle, AFL-CIO state president, and William A. Hanna, a Republican constitutional convention delegate from Muskegon, erupted into name-calling verbal fireworks here Tuesday.

At one time Hanna called Scholle "a liar" in reporting that four southeastern counties with 52 per cent of the state's population had only 35 per cent of the House seats under the state's old constitution of 1908.

★ ★ ★

Hanna said the percentage never was below 40.

Scholle shot back that it had never been established that he misrepresented figures and said those he quoted came from the League of Women Voters and University of Michigan political scientists.

DEBATE SPONSORS

The debate was sponsored by the Southwest Michigan Party Training Conference, which was in turn sponsored by the Michigan Center for Education in Politics, an organization whose board of trustees is headed by Dr. James W. Miller, president of Western Michigan University.

Scholle said local unions were free to invite anyone they wished to address them, but didn't like "snow jobs."

Judge to Talk in Lake Orion

LAKE ORION — Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt will be guest speaker at tomorrow's 7 p.m. meeting of the Orion Republican Club in the Methodist Church House.

Two lifelong Republicans, Belle Anderson Smith and Harry Stanaback, will be honored at the cooperative dinner planned to open the session.

There also will be orchids for all women attending the affair compliments of Frank and Adele Volant.

Church Choirs Set Concert

CLARKSTON — The Chancel and Wesleyan choirs of the First Methodist Church will present a concert of sacred music at 5 Palm Sunday evening.

MRS. N. D. REDWOOD

★ ★ ★

Guest soloist will be tenor Bruce Francis of Detroit.

Among the choir members also to be featured in solo work is soprano Mrs. Norton D. Redwood, director of the Wesleyan Choir.

Other soprano soloists will be Mrs. William Aldrich, Mrs. Ardie Grubaugh and Mrs. Darrell Wilson and mezzo-soprano Mrs. Robert Wertman.

★ ★ ★

Conducting the program of traditional and contemporary music will be Adele Thomas, director of music.

★ ★ ★

Clarinetist Dennis Urick will accompany the choirs in special arrangements, with Mrs. J. Steiner Clark, organist.

AREA NEWS

Public Lot Sale OK'd at $6,700

Farmington Agrees to Credit Union's Offer

FARMINGTON—The city has agreed to sell its lot across the street from the new Municipal Building to Farmington and Clarenceville Employes Federal Credit Union.

★ ★ ★

The credit union's $6,700 bid was the highest of two.

Plans call for an office building to be constructed on the site in the near future, thus allowing the organization to move from its present one-room office at Farmington Junior High School.

City councilmen now are considering proposals to redistrict the city's election precincts, require performance bonds of remodelers and change board of review hours.

★ ★ ★

Faced with the problem of debris left on the sites of remodeling and garage building projects, the city's building department has asked for the authority to require a $50 deposit from those undertaking such work.

CLEANUP GUARANTEE

The deposits would serve as guarantees that sites would be cleaned up. The deposits would be similar to $100 bonds now required of home builders.

Creation of the city's fourth voting preeinct, established by Clerk Trena M. Quinn, has been approved by the election commission.

The council must amend the city code before the new boundaries can become effective.

★ ★ ★

The additional precinct is the result of population growth predictions. State law requires that each precinct have less than 1,400 voters. Total for the city now is over 3,500 and is increasing rapidly.

★ ★ ★

The council also has been asked to alter meeting hours of the board of review to include an evening session next year.

Educator Sets PTA Address

AUBURN HEIGHTS — John P. Denio, headmaster of Brookside School, Cranbrook, will discuss the objectives of elementary education at tomorrow's meeting of the Auburn Heights Stone PTA.

★ ★ ★

Denio heads a staff of 21 teachers at the private Bloomfield Hills School. He will talk on the goals of primary education and the means of achieving them.

★ ★ ★

Also slated for the 8 p.m. meeting, at the Auburn Heights Elementary, is an explanation of the millage renewal election scheduled here Monday.

★ ★ ★

George Granger, vice president of the Avondale School Board, will be on hand to explain the issue and answer questions.

Some Children Can't Even Hope

By MIRIAM NEAL

Ned is ten years old and in an institution. He and his brother and sister were placed there three years ago when they were made wards of the Probate Court.

They were placed there when, as a result of neglect or abuse on the part of their parents, the Probate Court was petitioned to protect them.

When their parents failed to improve, the court made new plans for them which resulted in their placement for adoption.

OTHERS ADOPTED

Now Ned's brother and sister have been adopted and he no longer sees them. It doesn't matter to him. They'd only make him remember.

★ ★ ★

His sister won't ever remember. She was just a baby when it happened, cute and soft and aware only of food and warmth and wetness.

His brother who was two remembers a little. But caseworkers helped him adjust and he was still at the cute stage so he too was soon adopted.

But who wants a seven-year-old who is too old to be cute and too old to forget?

★ ★ ★

In the institution with Ned are a twelve-year-old girl who wants to be a teacher, an eight-year-old boy who doesn't talk very much and another boy who is always picking fights. There are others too, all between the ages of five and eighteen.

These are residents of Oakland County. They are supported and cared for through taxes and private organizations.

(Editor's Note: Although all information in the following series of three articles has been gleaned from and verified by reliable sources, neither the sources, the children, nor the case histories is identifiable. This precaution is taken for the security of the children, their adopted parents, and the organizations' personnel.)

Too many of them face growing up in institutions.

WANT BABIES

Most people want to adopt babies or very small children. There is too much "risk" in adopting someone who has "been exposed to life," who has formed opinions, been hurt.

★ ★ ★

That is the myth which keeps Ned and others in the sterile halls of childrens' homes, well cared for but without the special comfort of a mother's yelling: "This is the last time I'm going to tell you to clean up your room."

There is, of course, an extra "risk" in adopting an older child, someone who is already an individual, who hasn't been molded into your frame of life.

CHALLENGE

There is also an extra challenge. The challenge of taking a wounded, bitter, frightened child and giving him that sense of security, love and belonging which can become the foundation of a useful life.

It is not melodramatic to call these older children wounded. They have been placed in an institution because they were too great a financial burden or there was no place for them in a broken home.

Perhaps their parents didn't bother to feed them or violence and immorality destroyed their homes. There are a myriad of reasons, few of them pretty.

The tragedy is, they can remember. Maybe it was only one Christmas or one first bicycle or one trip to the circus, but they can remember. Clean but empty halls are that much emptier for them.

Pontiac Press Photo

Alone in the tangled forest of today's world, an older child in an institution dares not hope for the security and guidance of a family. He must face the fact that most adopting couples want "the cuddly kind." In self-defense he often becomes withdrawn or bitter or defiant. He is always alone.

No Answer Is Needed for Cards

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Not long ago you wrote that it was unnecessary to acknowledge greeting cards. May I protest?

People who have grown lax about thanking me for my cards have been stricken from my list.

I think when friends are thoughtful enough to remember birthdays, anniversaries, etc., the least the receivers of these remembrances can do is to say "thank you."

A: It is, of course, always courteous and polite to acknowledge a greeting card if one would like to and has the necessary time, but most people haven't.

There would be few cards exchanged if busy people felt acknowledgements were exacted.

There is, in fact, very special delight in receiving a greeting card because it is the one gift which requires no thank you.

We send cards in return as occasions arise and we do try to remember to thank someone we see for his or her card.

Q: My fiance will receive his medical degree one week before we are to be married. The wedding invitations, however, will be sent out three weeks before at which time he will still be "Mr." Would it be permissible, to have the invitations read Dr. John Brown, or must they be Mr. John Brown?

A: If your fiance is absolutely certain that he will receive his degree, it would be permissible to use the title "Dr." on the invitations.

Q: I am expecting my second child soon and wonder what should be done in the way of announcing its arrival? The first time we sent printed birth announcements.

A: It is curious that so many people have the idea that no announcement is made except for a first child. This is in no way true.

It is just as correct to announce the birth of a second child (or however many one may be blessed with) by sending birth announcements.

Details concerning the remarriage of a widow and divorcee are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Second Marriage."

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Lots of Other Factors

Hair Color Not Important

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Do gentlemen really prefer blondes?

★ ★ ★

Do blondes have more fun? Why do men act so silly over girls with hair that is bleached until it looks like straw?

ABBY

Wouldn't they rather see a natural red-head, or a girl with shining black hair, or chestnut-colored hair with golden highlights?

★ ★ ★

Why do men rave over a girl just because she has blonde hair?

★ ★ ★

I would like to know the answer to this, and so would a lot of other women.

NO DYE HARD

★ ★ ★

DEAR NO: Men like hair that is (a) clean, (b) well-gromed, (c) fragrant, (d) shiny, and (e) soft.

★ ★ ★

If it is all of these things, men don't care whether it's black, brown or gray.

★ ★ ★

I know a girl who has been both blonde and brunette, and she didn't have any more fun as a blonde.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I and another couple went to a dinner show at a night club. Our income requires that we budget carefully.

My husband and I ordered the least expensive dinners, and one drink apiece. The other couple ordered the most expensive dinners and they each had four drinks.

★ ★ ★

When the waiter brought the check, the other man just divided it in half and said, "Your share is $19.90."

The floor show was on at the time, so my husband said nothing and paid up. On the way home he told the other man that he had some money coming, and explained why.

The other man became indignant and said, "If you can't afford an evening out, you should stay home."

Of course he was wrong, but how could this have been avoided?

★ ★ ★

DEAR RUINED: When you ordered, your husband should have asked the waiter to make up separate checks.

DEAR ABBY: Last week I was a witness in court. As I approached the witness stand this 65- or 70-year-old judge shouted at me, "Say, if you're gonna testify in this court, speak loud and with respect!"

★ ★ ★

Then he fell back in his chair, put his feet up on his desk about six inches from my face, and lay back like he was dead.

While I was talking, he suddenly jerked his feet off his desk, sat erect in his chair and shouted at the top of his voice, "SPEAK LOUDER!"

Do you think I should send this judge a bed and a hearing aid?

WITNESS

★ ★ ★

DEAR WITNESS: "Judge not, that ye be not judged." Matthew 7:1.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply write to ABBY, The Pontiac Press. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice: You have told us what "double-faced" fabrics are, now please tell us how to handle them in case we don't want to put a finished braid on the edges. Also, how are the seams finished?
Mrs. H. A.

Dear Mrs. H. A.: Please file these instructions for handling double-faced fabrics in case you need them in the future.

These instructions refer to the type of fabric that has two layers of fabric held together by invisible stitching. This type of fabric makes beautiful reversible garments.

All seams should be cut with a ¾ inch seam allowance. Separate the two layers by cutting the connecting threads.

Pin the three layers together (the two that are still connected and one that has been separated) and stitch on the seamline.

Grade the seams so that each layer is a little shorter. Press these seams to one side, and turn the remaining seam allowance over and pin over your pressed seam.

Slip-stitch to the edge of the seam.

Press seams as flat as possible and machine stitch close to folded edge and again closer to the seam if desired. All seams on the inside of your garment will be finished in this way.

Outer edges, such as front edges, edges of collar, etc., can be finished by separating the two fabrics and trimming one edge slightly shorter than the other. Now fold the two edges together and slip-stitch together, concealing the stitching.

If you finish your seams in this way, you will have a completely reversible garment and they look so professional.

The double-faced fabrics eliminate the use of interfacings, linings, etc. The outer edges may also be finished with braid if desired.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

For dresses that have jewelry necklines that open about five inches in the front and have two ends which refuse to lay smooth, I use the plastic collar stays from 'hubby's' worn out shirts.

Make a casing for the stays by sewing two rows of stitching to the facing and interfacing.

Now slip the stay well into the corner of your dress and the front edges won't curl anymore.

Mrs. B. Howey, Johnson City, N.Y., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix pressing board for this suggestion.

Dear Eunice: One of the most handsome suits I have seen lately had very large buttons that were made of the material and had a braided effect. Can you tell us how to make these?"
Mrs. K. C.

Dear Mrs. K. C.: I imagine these were Chinese ball buttons. It is possible to make a larger button by weaving two of your bias covered cords together instead of one.

Also, instead of forming a ball, you can shape them into a flat button.

The instructions for making these buttons are found in our leaflet number 4, which also tells you how to make covered cording. You may obtain your copy by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents with your request to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press.

I was so excited about this idea that I accidentally stumbled on, I couldn't wait to share it with you. This week I was covering my ironing boards for my classroom, and the only material I had available was a striped, heavy cotton.

I expected it to look gay but didn't know it would be so useful. The stripes make a perfect straight line for lining up the front edges of jackets, coats and dresses when pressing.

If you don't want to make your own cover, there is an answer for you that is just as good. Remove the present ironing board cover, turn it to the wrong side and with a yard stick, chalk mark a line from one end to the other on your cover.

★ ★ ★

Next, with colored thread in sewing machine, go over your marks with a machine stitching. You may stitch this twice so the line will show up better.

Now you will have a perfect guide for pressing anything perfectly straight on your board.

You can see by this, how unexpectedly ideas can pop up. Let me know when you think you have hit upon a new idea so that we may all share and enjoy them.

TRY THIS IDEA!

Mrs. F. A. says: If you've ever had to cut a pattern longer and forgotten on one piece, you'll appreciate this idea. Place a pin extending down below the edge of your pattern, this should be in line with the cutting line of your pattern.

It would be impossible to cut the pattern without seeing the pin, and thus, reminding yourself about the length.

Please send all your sewing questions and little "tips" to to Sew Simple in care of The Pontiac Press.

The Crane Method

How to Read for Learning

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE S-414: Clark K., aged 24, was a G.I. who decided to go back to college when his term of enlistment was over.

"But, Dr. Crane," he protested miserably, "I don't know how to study at the fast clip needed in college.

DR. CRANE

"So I am barely making a 'C' average. Are there any shortcuts to improving my grades and perking up my memory?"

MEMORY IMPROVEMENT

Yes, and the first shortcuts were mentioned yesterday, namely, make a daily "study agenda" to avoid wasting time.

Then "skim read" your assignments by "racing the clock" so you can give a brief "once-over" to maybe 25 or 30 pages in 10 minutes.

Then go back and "pick the meat" out of the assignment but concoct a running true-false or "multiple choice" exam as you read.

★ ★ ★

Suppose you are assigned Chapter II in my college textbook entitled "Psychology Applied." That chapter deals with "Learning and Memory" and runs to 42 pages.

10 MINUTES

Allot yourself just 10 minutes to "skim read" it while racing the clock.

In that 10 minutes you can catch the sectional headings and the tables as well as the 3 basic laws of learning, plus the 6 "objective determinants of attention" in contrast to the 4 "subjective determinants."

You will also see charts and tables, plus several illustrations. Thus, you can get a quick bird's eye view of the entire chapter in just 10 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Then go back and lift out the important items that your professor would be likely to insert in his examination questions.

They usually consist of "definitions") as well as "laws" and such items as "How many objective determinants of attention did Dr. Crane mention?"

Make a game of trying to outguess your teacher! To do this, develop your own exam as you perform your second and slower reading of the total assignment.

★ ★ ★

If your professor usually gives you a true-false quiz over each chapter (as is true of most psychologists who use my textbook) then expand your own test to 35 or 40 statements, just to be sure you overlap his 25.

Polly's Pointers

Ideal Style for Pets

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Plastic place mats make ideal eating mats for dogs or cats.

They are large enough to accommodate a dish of milk, one of water and two food dishes. The mats can be bought in colors to go with your kitchen scheme.

The floor stays clean and always looks neat if someone comes in.

We believe our cats enjoy their meals more when they eat from pretty mats. These mats also make very nice gifts for your friends' pets.—ANNETTE.

DEAR POLLY—I had a letter all sealed and stamped and then found I had failed to include some snapshots.

To open the sealed enelope, I pulled the sealed part back and forth over a hot, lighted electric bulb.—MRS. M. L. S.

DEAR POLLY—If you are tired of noisy, slamming doors, take a child's nylon stocking and wind it from one knob to another on the door.

It lessens the noise.—MRS. L.K.

DEAR POLLY—Your "flag down the visitors" suggestion was excellent but I have a question for other mothers.

What do you do when the clanging bell of the ice cream man invades the neighborhood and awakens every sleeping baby and causes every child to clamor for a coin to buy ice cream whether or not it is lunch time, nap time, supper time or bed time?

I discovered my Pointer quite by accident. To store and preserve good used candles for late use, I took a sturdy plastic bag (size depending on the length and number of candles) and machine-sewed pockets to fit the candles.

★ ★ ★

The case is somewhat like those that flat silver comes in. This can be rolled, keep the candles smooth and clean for later use and the color can be seen without opening the bag.—MRS. R. S.

Grandma Crowned for Losing Weight

A weight loss of 34 pounds since last June won the title of queen of The Fashionette Club for Mrs. George S. West of Keego Harbor.

★ ★ ★

Runner-up at the crowning ceremonies Tuesday evening in Adah Shelly Library is Mrs. Harry E. Ault of Roxie Street. Mrs. John Reichert of Mechanic Street is second runner-up.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. West has resided in the Pontiac area for 45 years. She is the mother of six and grandmother of seven.

★ ★ ★

Her two-year-old grandson Mike sums up the weight problem with childish realism by offering his grandmother a piece of candy and then saying, "Don't eat it, Nanny. It will make you fat and you will have to go to fat club."

★ ★ ★

The Fashionette Club is sponsored by Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

Should 3-Year-Old Pick Up His Toys?

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: At what age should a child be made to put his toys away?

I feel that my nephew, 3, is old enough to start learning to put his away in his toy box when he is finished playing instead of leaving them all over the floor for his mother to pick up.

★ ★ ★

She is expecting another child and should not have to do so much stooping. But the boy has so many playthings she has no time for anything but picking up after him.

ANSWER: We can ask a small child to help us put his toys away if we are willing to be appreciative of his help —and to put most of the toys away ourselves.

★ ★ ★

We owe him appreciation because he is doing us a favor. He has no reason whatever to care about putting his toys away except his pleasure in our appreciation.

For tomorrow doesn't exist for him. So the toys he has finished playing with have lost all importance and interest for him.

He can feel no concern for their care because he cannot entertain the notion of their usefulness tomorrow.

CARE FOR POSSESSIONS

This is the notion which impels you and me to care for our possessions, to garage our cars, put roasts in the refrigerator, invest money, send clothes to the cleaner and otherwise preserve our property.

★ ★ ★

Because the little child has not experienced the arrival of enough tomorrows for them to be real to him, he is just being nice to us when he helps us pick up his toy.

He is indulging our grown-up awareness that he will use them again tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

So far as he is concerned, his toys, like galoshes, chocolate pudding and soap in the bathtub, are always magically appearing and disappearing.

Where they come from or where they go to couldn't be a matter of less consequence to him.

★ ★ ★

If we grownups can properly appreciate his kindness in helping us put away his blocks, old spoons and pot lids, teaching him care of his property can become a pleasure instead of an ordeal of resentful dissatisfaction with him.

LIMIT PLAYTHINGS

Incidentally, it is generally considered wise to limit the number of toys a child plays with at one time.

★ ★ ★

The experts advise this in order to protect the little boy or girl against the "confusion" they feel when too many toys make too many demands on their attention.

They forget to tell us that the fewer toys we make available to him, the fewer have to be stooped for, picked up and put away.

Flowers Must Be Compliment to Easter Dress

Corsages should complete, not compete with, Easter finery. Select them as carefully as any other important accessary.

The Society of American Florists says the following types of Easter ensembles are best complemented by the corsage flowers listed:

Simple, tailored fashions — groupings of gardenias or carnations.

Rough and ready fabrics — rubrum lilies or cymbidium orchids.

Fur — cattleya orchids.

Nubby textures — gardenias and stephanotis.

Print frocks — nosegay of stephanotis and lily - of - the - valley.

Neutral colors — miniature roses or rosy camellias.

Dark colors — cymbidium orchids.

Lodge Meets

Mrs. Genevieve Kent was a guest at the recent meeting of Welcome Rebekah Lodge No. 246. Hostesses were Mrs. John Hocking, Mrs. Forest Cummings and Mrs. Paul Bruce.

Catch the Crumbs

Spread a plastic sheet beneath baby's high chair to catch crumbs and spills. After his meal, wipe it clean with a sponge dipped into hot soap or detergent suds.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd R. Love of Oliver Street announce the engagement of their daughter Candace Jean to Ronald Carlos Hallenbeck Jr., son of the senior Hallenbecks of Gingell Court. The wedding will be in October.

Machines Have High School Education

Automation to Strain Management and Labor

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the third article in a four-part series on automation written by Newspaper Enterprise Association reporter Ray Cromley.)

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — By a strange paradox, automation is going to put heavy strains on both management and the unions.

As in national defense, many gambles in private industry are going to become so big and mistakes so costly, that one or two wrong decisions by a manager may be disastrous.

This is the conclusion of government and private experts on automation, labor and economics interviewed in Washington.

★ ★ ★

OUT OF BUSINESS

Or he can modernize too slowly, like Studebaker's Indiana plant, and be out of business. He can let some tricky little mistake cause a disaster.

Not long ago, a card was punched incorrectly and an $18.5 million rocket was blown to bits.

Relatively simple machines have been replacing the uneducated worker. One expert estimates a good modern machine has the equivalent of a high school education.

★ ★ ★

But this is changing. In the works are machines which can make hour-by-hour or day-by-day decisions common to middle management.

It started out as war gaming in the Pentagon. That same technique is now beginning to be applied to company decisions.

Machines work out the alternatives, describe the results of different possible decisions.

Such machines can for example, be used to "decide" which markets are best for a new product," what research leads are the best to follow, what would be the best way to finance a new plant, what would be the best time to come out with a new product.

These new machines will hit many managers as hard as the first automated machinery hit labor.

Gradually, managers capable of making only routine decisions will become a drug on the market.

The machines will push up the need for managers with roving imaginations and wide backgrounds.

Two instances of this trend are:

Since companies will need more uninhibited creative research scientists to keep ahead of the opposition, the new managers will have to be men able to handle these unusual types and get the most out of them.

WIDER UNDERSTANDING

Since many of the operations of an automated industry will take place in markets that are internationally competitive, the new managers will have to have a wider understanding of the world situation.

The unions in an age of automation are going to have as many problems as the managers.

Most unions have decided they cannot or should not fight automation.

They will drive for security and a share in automation's profits instead.

They will aim at contracts which guarantee that workers won't be laid off because of automation; that declining employment rather will be achieved by attrition as workers retire or change jobs; that part of the slack be taken up with shorter hours and longer vacations; that workers be allotted a share of the new profits or savings created when a plant is automated.

MORE COMMITTEES

They will push for more permanent labor-management committees to adjust to step-ups in automation.

They will seek preservation of seniority when an employe is moved from one plant to another in the same company and a preservation of pension rights when a man moves from one job to another in the same industry.

But there is considerable pessimism now behind the scenes in unions.

★ ★ ★

They fear the first effect of growing automation will be a weakening of organized labor.

SLOW TO JOIN

Scientists, engineers, female workers and a goodly chunk of other white-collar workers have been slow in joining unions.

As automation increases, the percentage and the prestige of union members in the work force will decline and the power of unions in industrial negotiations will go down.

As automation grows, the increasing labor turnover will leave a larger pool of unemployed, which will further weaken the bargaining power of union members.

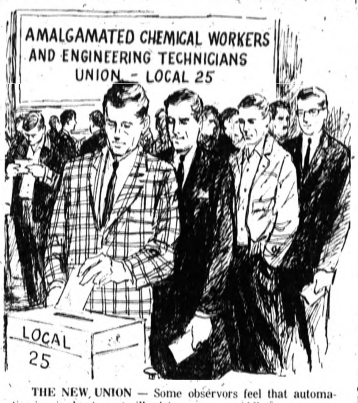
★ ★ ★

There is hope among the union men that as the scientists, engineers and technicians increase in the work force, they will find they must band together to protect their rights.

Some union officials believe that then they can tie the unskilled, the semiskilled, the white-collar engineer-technician groups into companywide or industrywide unions.

This, they believe, will give the less-trained the bargaining influence of the highly skilled groups.

Next: Bigger government.



THE NEW UNION — Some observors feel that automation-inspired stress will drive more middle-management people into unions. Once-routine decisions for management are now made by machines, eliminating need for the unimaginative manager.

Russia Sells Gold in Western Europe

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union resumed selling gold in West Europe again Tuesday — apparently to raise cash for North American wheat.

Market sources said about $4.5 million worth of Soviet gold was put up for sale, mainly in Paris but reaching London before the market closed.

Sources said it seemed likely that the selling was part of the preparations for the main Canadian wheat shipping season which follows the reopening of the St. Lawrence Seaway next month.

Life's Just a Compromise for Star Steve Lawrence

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—In show business, they're never happy all the way until they prove themselves on Broadway.

That's the way Steve Lawrence felt. He had made it big as a television, recording and night club star.

He is starring in a musical about a young Hollywood heel who throws away love and friendship — and just about every other decent human virtue—to keep from being "a loser."

Lawrence has the lead role in "What Makes Sammy Run?"

★ ★ ★

It is a show that didn't stand the drama critics on their ears, but the public is going for it.

The big reason is the bouncy zest that Steve brings to the title role. In every ambitious human heart, there is a bit of willingness to sacrifice others to win our goals, and Steve brings the point home in a memorable way.

Lawrence, who could be making a lot more money singing to supper audience, is having a ball on Broadway.

SEPARATE GLOW

"It's a very rewarding feeling," he remarked over a luncheon of a bloody mary and a pot of tea. "It has a separate kind of glow.

"But I think it would be harder for a performer to go from Broadway to the night clubs than vice versa. The night club field is a lot rougher one."

He is hopeful the musical will be a stepping-stone to the films.

"The more fields you can perform in, the more you increase your chances of longevity. You don't want to outwear your welcome with the public, and you're less likely to do this if you are active in more than a single medium."

EARLY CAREER

Lawrence, the son of a Brooklyn cantor, sang in choirs as a child, quit school in his senior year because a best-selling record put him in the $150-a-week bracket as a club singer. Earlier, he had worked as a singing bus boy at summer resorts.

★ ★ ★

During a two-year stint in the Army, he subsequently studied his way to a high school diploma.

VARIED ACTIVITY

Life is a three-ring circus to Lawrence. Married to singer Eydie Gorme—they have two children—he writes songs and runs a recording company in his spare time. His hobby is watching horror and science fiction films with his wife.

"To me, life is largely a compromise," Lawrence said, "and it's lived pretty much on the 50-yard line of a football field. You never quite make a touchdown.

★ ★ ★

"Everybody has to compromise between what he'd like to have and what he actually gets but you have to pick your own level of compromise.

"Most people defeat themselves. They either go about a situation wrongly, or they give up too soon.

SOME SUCCESS

"But I believe anybody who puts honest dedication, intelligence, and perseverance into his work will wind up with something better than a kick in the face. He'll have some measure of success."

At the height of the depression in 1933 the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported 24.9 per cent of the work force unemployed.

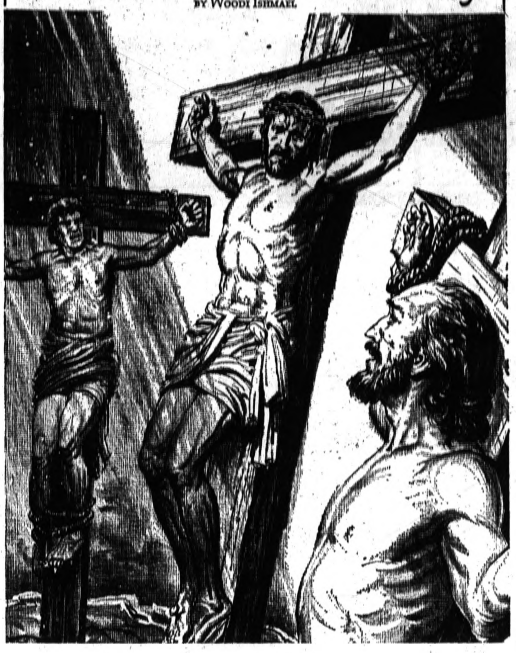
The Lenten Story

BY WOODI ISHMAEL



LORD, REMEMBER ME

They crucified Him between two thieves, one on the right and one on the left.

One of the thieves began to abuse Him, saying: "If Thou be Christ, save Thyself and us."

But the other rebuked him, "Dost thou not fear God, seeing thou are under the same sentence? And we indeed justly, for we are receiving what our deeds deserved, but this man has done nothing wrong."

Turning to Jesus, he pleaded, "Lord, remember me when Thou comest into Thy kingdom."

And Jesus said unto Him, "Verily, I say unto thee today shalt thou be with Me in Paradise." (Luke XXIII:43)

The Good Thief, as he has been known since that day, did not abandon hope in his final hour and went to his reward with his new found Master.

Tax Tips

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The following income tax information is supplied by the Internal Revenue Service as a public service.)

Q: My 20-year-old son is a full-time student at Wayne State University. During 1963 he had earned income of about $800. We suggested that he save all of his earnings for his future. He followed our suggestion and deposited all of his earnings in the oank. His entire support was furnished by myself and my husband. Since he earned over $800, are we prohibited from claiming him as a dependent on our return?

A: You are entitled to a dependency deduction for your son. This is true as long as he is a student in a qualified educational institution for at least five months of the year and you furnish more than half of his support for the entire year. If these conditions are met, the child's age or amount of income will not disqualify you. However, your son must file his own return since his gross income was $600 or more. He, of course, is also entitled to one personal exemption.

For the answer to YOUR question, call your local Internal Revenue Service Office.

Paregoric Regulation Near Vote in House

LANSING (AP) — A bill to declare paregoric a narcotic and make it obtainable only by prescription was moved to a final voting stage in the House today.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. John Toepp, R - Cadillac, is aimed at stemming a growing addiction problem in the use of the opium-containing depressant.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Anxiety Aggravates the Stomach Ulcer

Q — What is the difference between a stomach ulcer and a nervous stomach?

BRANDSTADT

My doctor thinks I have an ulcer but he is treating me for both conditions.

★ ★ ★

A — A stomach ulcer is an organic disease but it is aggravated by worry, anger or anxiety. That is why your doctor is attacking your problem on two fronts.

The typical ulcer pain is localized with a finger tip just above the navel and comes on an hour or two after eating.

The person who has a nervous stomach has a vague pain throughout the abdomen that may be present immediately after eating.

★ ★ ★

It is likely to occur when the victim is nervously upset without any relation to the time of eating.

A doctor does not usually like to make a definite diagnosis of ulcer without X-ray proof, because there is a great deal of variation in the way these conditions affect different individuals.

Q — What causes intercostal neuralgia and what can be done to get rid of it?

★ ★ ★

A — The most common cause of severe neuralgic pains between the ribs is shingles.

The pains may persist long after the acute infection has subsided.

Pills are of little use in treating this condition.

★ ★ ★

If the pain is severe you should consider having the affected nerve injected with alcohol or, for more permanent relief, having the nerve cut.

Q — I am 42 years old and have had nystagmus all my life. What causes it and is there any cure?

A — Nystagmus is a rapid involuntary oscillation of the eyes.

When it occurs in infancy it may be due to a retinal defect, an eye infection, congenital cataract or albinism.

It may develop in later life in miners and in persons with multiple sclerosis, myasthenia gravis, or peripheral nueritis.

★ ★ ★

Temporary nystagmus is present in the type of dizziness induced by whirling around rapidly in one direction. Manganese poisoning and lead poisoning may also cause it. For most of these causes there is no cure.

Q — I am a model. About a year ago I began getting welts or hives on my body where my girdle or my hose pressed on my skin.

My doctor said I was allergic to the soap I was using.

I changed soap and it gradually cleared up but now it has come back and my doctor doesn't know what is causing it.

What should I do?

★ ★ ★

A — You do not say whether your doctor did a patch test when this trouble started to prove that your soap was the cause.

If he doesn't know the cause of your present hives (usually some form of allergy), you should consult a skin specialist or an allergist.

Please send your questions and comments to Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

It's Loverly or It's Orful

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth's husband, Prince Philip, says that it's unfair to make fun of British cooking.

"British food is something like a small child," he told an annual dinner party of the Cookery and Food Association.

"When it's good it's very very good, but when it's bad it's absolutely awful."

Serve Eggs as Protein Dish

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

The egg and you can make a good combination right now. Eggs are abundant and fairly reasonable in price. For Lenten dishes they are excellent.

Which size egg to buy? If there is less than eight cents a dozen difference in the price of medium and large eggs, buy the larger ones.

But unless you are coloring eggs for Easter, don't pay more to get white eggs. All eggs have the same food value, regardless of their shell color.

A casserole with a meat-like taste is made with eggs and wheat germ. Chopped pecans help build up the protein content, too.

Wheat Germ Egg Salad Casserole

6 hard cooked eggs, coarsely chopped
1½ cups thinly sliced celery
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon onion salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¾ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
½ cup wheat germ
3 tablespoons chopped pecans

Combine eggs, celery, seasoning, mayonnaise or salad dressing and parsley; mix. Spoon an equal amount into four 8-ounce individual casseroles or ramekins. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until heated, 20 to 25 minutes.

Combine butter or margarine, wheat germ and pecans; mix. At the end of 15 minutes baking time, remove casseroles from oven, sprinkle the wheat mixture around edges of each casserole and return to oven to finish baking. Yield: 4 servings.

One of the more elegant things to do with eggs is to put them into a souffle. Really not difficult, this dish always lends glamour to the occasion. Take this one, for instance, that incorporates Brussels sprouts.

Souffle Choux de Bruxelle

1 package (10 ounces) frozen Brussels sprouts
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
4 eggs, separated
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese (about 4 ounces)

Cook Brussels sprouts according to package directions; drain if necessary, and chop finely.

Melt butter in large saucepan. Blend in flour and salt. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Beat egg yolks; blend in some hot milk mixture, then add to saucepan. Add cheese and cook 1 minute, stirring constantly. Stir in sprouts. Remove from heat.

Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry, and fold into hot mixture. Turn into ungreased 2-quart casserole. Bake in 300 degree (slow) oven 1½ hours. Makes 4-8 servings.

The following is one of the most unusual egg recipes we have ever read. We want to try it and think you will, too.

Shaker Eggs

6 hard-cooked eggs
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
⅛ teaspoon cayenne
2 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
4 teaspoons vinegar
1 fresh egg
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs

Cut hard-cooked eggs in half, lengthwise. Remove yolks, leaving whites whole. Mash yolks with a fork; add salt, mustard, cayenne, mayonnaise and vinegar. Pack yolk mixture firmly into a egg whites.

To remaining yolk mixture add the raw egg and beat until thoroughly blended. Dip stuffed eggs into beaten egg mixture, then roll in dry bread crumbs. Fry in a hot, well-greased skillet, turning to brown lightly on all sides. Serve hot. Yield: 6 servings.

Grate Celery

Sometimes it's quick to grate celery for a dish rather than to chop it. Use a coarse shredder and you'll find the "strings" on the celery will remain behind to be discarded.

Thin celery crescents and pineapple tidbits folded into sour cream make an interesting go-along for roast pork.

Streusel Topping for Peach Slices

Quick and easy dessert from the pantry shelf.

Peach Crisp

1 can (1 pound, 13 ounces) sliced cling peaches
Grated rind of 1 lemon and 1 teaspoon lemon juice
1-3 cup each flour and dark brown sugar
¼ cup hard butter or margarine
¼ cup finely-chopped pecans

Drain peaches; turn into a deep 8-inch ovenproof glass pie plate; sprinkle peaches with lemon rind and juice. Stir together the flour and brown sugar; cut in the butter until size of peas; stir in pecans. Sprinkle over peaches.

Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until topping is lightly brown and fruit starts bubbling—about 20 minutes. Serve warm with a thick custard sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Germans Seek to Punish Nazis for Auschwitz Barbarity

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — AP SPECIAL REPORT

By LOYAL GOULD

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) —Slowly but fatefully, justice is writing its meager footnote to the incredible story of Auschwitz—nearly 20 years after it became a symbol of Nazi barbarity.

New aspects of the Nazi concentration camp in Poland where 4 million to 5 million persons perished, are being revealed bit by bit to the German people and the world.

The scene is Germany's largest war crimes trial, against 22 Germans who were SS guards or functionaries at Auschwitz during World War II.

★ ★ ★

Since it began last December the trial has boiled down to a relentless account or atrocities. Judge Hans Hofmeyer often pales with revulsion.

Veteran newsmen, many of them correspondents with the Allied or Axis forces during World War II, have wept on hearing former Auschwitz inmates relate their experiences. Six women among the 12 jurors frequently dab at their eyes.

The defendants listen impassively, now and then scribbling notes for their attorneys. Confronted face to face with a witness who recognizes them after so many years, they indignantly insist the witness has confused them with someone else.

Their defense rests mainly on one point — "What I did in Auschwitz, I did on higher orders."

According to the prosecution, the defendants were murderers or accomplices to murder who killed in a variety of ways—by beating, torture, starvation, drowning, burning alive, gassing, shooting and injections of poison.

Former Auschwitz inmates portray them as sadists, often with streaks of sexual perversion, who killed for the pleasure killing gave them.

FREE ACTION

German historians testify that SS guards could do practically anything they wished with prisoners since Hitler's concentration camp system was built to rid the world of what Nazi ideology considered inferior people—Jews, Slavs, gypsies and others regarded as unfit to contribute to Nazi Germany's glory.

The German press has given the trial extended coverage, at times highlighting gruesome details that otherwise don't find their way into the pages of family newspapers.

Some Germans feel that amnesties should be given Germans charged with war crimes. West German Justice Minister, Ewald Bucher, disagrees.

"One cannot demand that the murder of a single individual be punished while at the same time demand that amnesties be given mass murders," Bucher says.

Why did it take almost 20 years to get the Auschwitz trial rolling?

The force behind the trial, Fritz Bauer, chief prosecutor in the state of Hesse, is himself a veteran of Nazi concentration camps.

★ ★ ★

He says part of the difficulty in preparing the case stemmed from the early postwar period when the allied victors held war crimes trials and then shipped Nazi archives to Washington, London or Moscow.

Since this country is organized on a federal basis, coordinated work was difficult. Persons lacking enthusiasm for further exposes of the Nazi era found it possible to hamper investigation and pass the buck from state to state.

Many West German police officials are old colleagues or friends of persons suspected of crimes against humanity.

A defendant Bauer never expected to put on the stand is Emil Bednarek, 56, tracked down by chance.

Bednarek, a former Auschwitz inmate who ingratiated himself with his guards was selling sausages in a German railroad station. Three Polish professors, former Auschwitz prisoners, spotted him as they were returning to Warsaw after making depositions to Bauer.

Other defendants were located largely through patient detective work.

The trial, expected to run about a year, took four years for Bauer to prepare. During this time, 1,300 people were heard in pretrial investigations. About 300 witnesses from 15 countries are expected to testify.

Top ranker among the defendants is Robert Mulka—68, a former SS captain who was adjutant to Auschwitz' first commandant, Rudolf Hoess. The Poles hanged Hoess in 1947.

★ ★ ★

Most of the defendants look like everyday people, the type one rubs shoulders with during rush hours in any German city. All try to hide their faces when passing news photographers outside the court. One of Bauer's assistants suspects they fear that former Auschwitz inmates will recognize them and submit additional evidence.

Auschwitz covered a large swampy area in southern Poland. The area, patrolled by SS men with vicious dogs, included half a dozen smaller camps adjacent to industrial plants put up by such leading German firms such as I. G. Farben and Krupp to exploit slave labor.

★ ★ ★

Like it or not, Germans will be hearing more details of Nazi atrocities.

Max Guede, former federal prosecuting attorney and now a member of parliament specializing in legal reform, says: "In the next five to eight years, about 500 cases involving Nazi crimes will be brought to trial."

Crossing Time Zones

Supersonic Flights Will Beat the Clock

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jet airliners already are flying nearly as fast as the speed of sound. It won't be long before they will be transporting passengers two or three times as fast — and beating the clock, too.

It is not that scientists have figured out how to break the time barrier. It's a matter of time zones around the world.

The British and French are cooperating in construction of a 1,500 - miles - per - hour airliner. American designers are aiming at one that will hurtle through the skies at 2,000 miles per hour.

★ ★ ★

Solving the aerodynamic and technological questions involved in development of supersonic jet airliners is only part of the over-all picture.

The care and feeding of passengers is an important factor in the highly-competitive air transport industry and planners see a new crop of problems associated with the era of faster-than-sound flights.

As an amusing note being circulated among British Overseas Airways managers around the world points out:

"Take New York-London for example. With a three hour flight and a five hour time difference, you will arrive in New York two hours before you left London—on the clock."

★ ★ ★

Britain operates on Greenwich Mean Time (GMT) which is five hours ahead of Eastern Standard Time (EST).

TREND CONTINUES

"As you go in a westerly direction, this trend continues," the note added.

"Departing London at 10 a.m. local time, you will arrive New York at 8 a.m. local time. Departing New York on the same flight at 9 a.m. local time, you will arrive in San Francisco at 8:30 a.m. local time.

"Leaving there at 9:30 a.m. local time, you will reach Honolulu at 9 a.m. local time. Leaving the Pacific Island at 10 a.m. local time, you'll be in Tokyo at 8:30 a.m. local time.

(Actually, it will be the following day since the plane would have crossed the International Date Line and Tokyo is 14 hours ahead of GMT.)

Junior Editors Quiz on DUCKS

QUESTION: Where do the ducks go during the summer?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Although ducks vary in color and shape, they all love water, and have made a way of life by their ability to float like little boats.

They swim by kicking with their webbed feet. Sea ducks often dive deep for their food, but the fresh water duck paddles in shallo water so he can just poke his head down and root around the oozy bottom for plant roots and little edible creatures.

When winter comes and the northern ponds freeze over, a great many ducks congregate in the hospitable marshes of the southern states, where the water doesn't freeze.

With spring, countless ducks head north.

Their breeding season is coming and some deep seated instinct seems to tell them that the now unfrozen fresh waters of the northern U.S. and Canada are the best places to rear their ducklings, with enormous areas where they can spread out and find security and food during the long hours of summer sunlight in northern lands.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: See what wild ducks you can identify in your locality. The mallard is the most abundant wild duck; you may often find it tame in park ponds. Look for the bright green head, white neck ring and rusty breast. The females are brown.

Realism in Music Far Out

NEW YORK (UPI) — High fidelity's recent plunge into space age science is not the first unearthly attempt to reproduce music faithfully.

The quest for realistic sound, which has resulted in applying to home entertainment systems the solid state devices used in rockets and missiles, has spawned some odd noises throughout musical history.

One French composer, striving for authenticity, had a huge airplane propeller put in motion during a portion of Ballet Mecanique, according to researchers of Pilot Radio Corp.

★ ★ ★

It produced the effect he wanted but almost blew the audience out of the theater.

BRAKE DRUMS

Brake drums from old automobiles were used as percussion instruments once by Leopold Stokowski in rendering Canticle No. 3.

Radio technicians, armed with tuning forks, rounded them up from local junkyards just before the performance.

An American composer designates that ballons be burst during his score and another has iron chains rattled at regular intervals.

★ ★ ★

Other nonmusical instruments employed to add a note of realism include automobile horns, typewriters, cannons and firemen.

FIREMEN'S QUADRILLE

The last mentioned were part of the Firemen's Quadrille conducted by Louis Julien in 1853.

★ ★ ★

About midway through the concert a fire alarm was set off and one of the musicians screamed "Fire!"

★ ★ ★

At that point more than 50 firemen rushed on the stage trailing hundreds of feet of hose behind them.

No Complaint for a Change

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Highway Department officials got a pleasant surprise when they notified Philip Frank they wanted some of his farm for a right of way.

Frank told them to take what they wanted, that he would accept whatever payment the department wanted to make.

★ ★ ★

"For years," he explained, "I've plodded over mud roads in Edmonson County. I'm willing and anxious to do anything to get them paved."

Cod Liver Oil Ends Blindness at Night

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

On two occasions, I have cited an English authority, W. R. Aykroyd, M.D., ("Vitamins and Other Essentials," Heinsmann, London), who said:

"The writer has sometimes given Newfoundland fishermen, victims of 'night blindness,' a single tablespoonful of cod liver oil, with the gratifying result that they were able to see on the following night. There are, one fears, few other remedies in medicine so rapid and so reliable."

The active principles of cod liver oil are vitamin A, vitamin D and iodin. The vitamin A is what corrects night blindness.

Yahbut! Who wants to gulp down a whole tablespoonful of cod liver oil?

ANOTHER FORM

If that's too formidable, be pleased to know that it is not necessary, so far as prevention and correction of night blindness is concerned, for you can get more vitamin A in one or two little tablets (tasteless) of crystalline vitamin A acetate than you get in a tablespoonful of cod liver oil.

It is well known among fishermen of the sea that not only fish liver and fish liver oil but rabbit liver, seal liver and chicken liver prevents or corrects night blindness.

Skippers sometimes order members of the crew to eat the liver of a sea-bird such as the gull or puffin. But the value of liver for night blindness was recognized quite a while ago — Aykroyd states that according to Ever's Papyrus (1500 B.C.) a disease supposed to be night blindness was "cured by the roast liver of an ox."

Well, sir, I've been considering and cogitating the matter for years since Aykroyd feared there are few other remedies in medicine so rapid and so reliable as vitamin A.

★ ★ ★

Before I commit myself I beg to remind you that vitamin A is not medicine, and so far as we are concerned neither is vitamin D, or vitamin B-complex, or calcium, or iodin, or complete protein (the essential amino-acids).

Limit the field to straight medicines, drugs, old or new, and I'll say there is no medicine whose specific effect on an ailment is at all comparable with the effect of vitamin A on night blindness, ascorbic acid (vitamin C) on scurvy, calcium and vitamin D on degeneration of joint tissues (rheumatiz) or iodine on adolescent lassitude.

These are all essential for normal nutrition. They correct what medicine can't cure.

★ ★ ★

At present, the manufacture, sale and administration of "wonder drugs" — if a substance is newly introduced and has a parlor - car name it is a wonder drug — is tremendously profitable, but even so, there must be a limit to human credulity, and when the customers no longer submit to a trial of the latest miracle medicine maybe some of them will listen to reason.

Quinine was formerly the classical specific for malaria and mercury the specific for syphilis.

Juinine no longer enjoys undisputed eminence in the prevention or treatment of malaria. Various other medicines are now used with or in place of quinine — notably atebrin, plasmochin and prontosil.

The multiplicity of medicines now used in the treatment of syphilis is the best evidence that mercury is not a specific.

Whipping Bill Is Lashed by Court Official

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — "There is no magic in a whipping," says a Kent County juvenile court spokesman, Lawrence Larsen, of a House bill that would permit judges to authorize whippings in delinquency cases.

The bill was proposed by Rep. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac.

Larsen told a Kent County supervisors' committee that he hopes the bill "gets no place."

He defende dcorporal punishment properly administered by parents as a good thing, but said he felt the bill would serve no useful purpose.

"By the time a youngster comes into juvenile court on a delinquency charge it is ridiculous to assume that a whipping will cure him," said Larsen.

SWEETHEART — The Pontiac Chapter of the Order of DeMolay has selected Mary Shoup as its "Sweetheart for 1964." Mary, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Shoup, 6976 Terrell, Waterford Township, is a senior at Kettering High School.

In Rare Public Appearance

Director Ford Wins Tribute

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — John Ford, who has made more movie classics than any other director, made one of his rare public appearances this week and received the homage that is due to him.

He showed up at UCLA for a program in the extension division's series of tributes to American directors. He turned out to be warm, human and lovable, in contrast to his reputation as an irascible bear.

THOMAS

His arrival caused university and Directors Guild officials to sigh with relief. Ford seldom showed up to collect his own Oscars—"The Informer," 1935; "Grapes of Wrath," 1940; "How Green Was My Valley," 1941; "The Quiet Man," 1952.

★ ★ ★

Ford seemed delighted with all the attention, watched with interest clips from films like "The Informer"—not one of his favorites—"They Were Expendable" and "My Darling Clementine."

Only at his introduction did he seem his peppery self. When described as having been everything in the film industry including actor, he shouted, "I deny it."

HITCHCOCK JEST

Later, however, he wouldn't go along with Alfred Hitchcock's jest that "actors are cattle."

Said Ford: "I would never say that actors are cattle. A good many of them are real pros. I have never run into any temperament in 45 years of directing."

★ ★ ★

If members of the Ford stock company had been present they might have added they wouldn't dare show temper around the old man.

Ford was asked what message his films carry. He turned to director George Sidney and asked "What was it Sam Goldwyn said about messages?"

WESTERN UNION

Sidney supplied the answer: "Let Western Union carry them."

Ford added: "I am of the proletariat. My people were peasants. They came to this country (from Ireland), and I believe they serve it well. I am basically apolitical. I don't believe in messages. If you put one in a picture, nobody will want to see it."

He confirmed a legend which demonstrates his disregard for scripts and for the meddling of executives. He said that the son of a very rich man came down to his set one day and complained that the picture was four days behind schedule. Ford tore out a handful of script pages and gave them to the young man.

★ ★ ★

"Here," he said. "Now I'm three days ahead."

After 20 years in the Navy, Reedy will serve as a full-time minister. He has been an ordained Assembly of God minister for the past 14 years and has accepted a pastorate at Windsor Locks, Conn.

His wife, Ella Mae (Savage), and their 10-year-old son David will join him at Easter.

Staff Sgt. Roland L. McKenzie of 2448 Toby Road in Orion Township has been awarded the United States Air Force Small Arms Expert Marksmanship Ribbon at Selfridge AFB.

Sgt. McKenzie, son of Max E. McKenzie of Glen Ellyn, Ill., is a personal specialist with the 2031st Communications Squadron at Selfridge.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Birmingham citizens are infuriated. And they have a right to be.

A young athlete Jeff Meyer is upset. And he shouldn't be.

The Seaholm basketball team was deprived of a chance to compete for the state title. And this is an unjust penalty.

Meyer has been ruled ineligible. And this ought to be on the conscience of some people at Ferndale.

★ ★ ★

Seaholm and coach Lew Parry were given the proverbial "knife." And this should be on the conscience of Charles Forsythe, the Michigan High School Athletic Association and Ferndale.

Why is Ferndale mentioned an associate villain in this unfortunate situation?

FERNDALE CHAMPS

Let's point to one obvious fact right now. Since Seaholm had to relinquish the EML title as result of the recent ruling, Ferndale, a team the Maples had beaten twice during the season becomes the sole champion of the league.

Now let's see how Ferndale went about to gain this title. Not on the basketball court, that's obvious from the two losses to Seaholm.

It seems when Jeff Meyer took a ride with some friends to Royal Oak's St. Paul Lutheran Church, Sunday, February 23rd, he was asked to get into the game.

★ ★ ★

Before doing so, however, he specifically asked the coach of the Royal Oak church team, if it would hurt him. He was assured it wouldn't.

When the game ended, the coach of the Royal Oak church team immediately asked for the score sheet of the game. This by MHSAA rules was enough to "hang" Meyer

Nothing was said about it until two weeks later.

The coach of the church team decided that Gus Hansen, the athletic director of Ferndale High School might like to know what happened. It was easy for the coach to tell Hansen because that's where he is also employed.

CHOPPED DOWN

It was the perfect ax to chop down Seaholm. Hansen told Seaholm coach Parry about it the day Seaholm was to play its regional basketball game.

Parry, as naturally was expected of him, (at least by his Ferndale 'friends') had to check with Forsythe. After a long session with MHSAA headquarters, Parry was told not to play Meyer in the Wednesday night game with Redford St. Mary and that he would be informed of the decision by Forsythe the next day.

The next day the phone call did come but not from Forsythe. It was from a Detroit newsman, who learned of Seaholm's disqualification and Meyers' ineligibility from Forsythe.

The ethical thing would have been to notify the school and people involved.

★ ★ ★

But, as we have often said in the past, when the MSHAA ever gets around to bringing its antiqued rule book up to 1964 standards by putting the rule making into the hands of athletic people, then a good code of ethics and a realistic 20th century athletic program might eliminate spying, and tattle-telling.

We have no sympathies for Ferndale High School. It is our personal opinion and we've heard it from other newsmen in other cities, Ferndale is the poorest public relations school of any of the 40 in Oakland County.

A year ago we said this in print and our attitude hasn't changed a bit.

Someday, Ferndale school officials may realize how very few friends they have.

At least one thing is certain. The people in Birmingham now know.

AP Has Chiefs in 'Massacre' Over Monroe

Foresees Friday Foe as Sexton's Big Reds in Class A Bid

By the Associated Press

With a four leaf clover in one hand and a crystal ball in the other, it's time to scan the pairings and predict the winners of the 16 quarter-final games of the state high school basketball tournament.

CLASS A

Lansing Sexton Big Reds (20-0) vs. Benton Harbor Tigers (16-3): Even the John Birch Society couldn't go against the Reds this year. Sexton in a game that may decide the state championship.

Monroe Trojans (12-8) vs. Pontiac Central Chiefs (16-3): Unless Monroe has a wooden horse, Central should take it. The Chiefs in a massacre.

Grand Rapids South Trojans (19-2) vs. Saginaw Trojans (15-5): Save your Confederate money. South does have a horse . . . and it isn't wooden.

Warren Orioles (18-2) vs. Detroit Northern Eskimos (15-2): Why walk when you can fly. The Orioles in a breeze.

CLASS B

River Rouge Panthers (21-1) vs. Tecumseh Indians (15-4): The Panthers' second string possibly could win the state title. Goodbye Tecumseh.

Flint St. Michael Warriors (18-2) vs. Fenton Tigers (15-5): Warriors bring a Tiger pelt home to Flint. Fairwell Fenton.

Lakeview Wildcats (18-2) vs. Rudyard Bulldogs (18-2): 'Cats aren't wild enough. Bulldogs in a bark.

Grand Rapids South Christian Sailors (18-3) vs. Allegan Tigers (19-3): The Sailors would need a task force to stop the Tigers. Allegan all the way.

CLASS C

Montrose Rams (14-6) vs. Grosse Pointe St. Paul Lakers (20-2): Lakers' tidal wave will rout Rams.

Wakefield Cardinals (16-3) vs. Gaylord Blue Devils (17-3); There'll be a wake in Wakefield. Gaylord's got it.

Byron Center Bulldogs (16-4) vs. Portland St. Patrick Shamrocks (18-4): Another St. Pat's day. Shamrocks take the bite out of Bulldogs.

Galien Gaels (21-0) vs. Addison Knights (21-1): In Scotland, they say the Highlanders were never conquered. Neither were the Gaels. Goodnight Knights.

CLASS D

Suttons Bay Norsemen (12-10) vs. McBain Ramblers (22-0): No stopping the Ramblers. Norsemen nosed out.

Baraga Vikings (19-3) vs. Pickford Panthers (19-2): Baraga will carry the Upper Peninsula colors to East Lansing.

Barryton Bulldogs (17-3) vs. Flint Sacred Heart Cougars (14-8): Bulldogs will bury the Cougars.

Britton-Macon Tories (20-1) vs. Covert Bulldogs (20-2): The Tories are too tough for Covert. Bulldogs bow out.

SPORTS

'New Season' for UCLA Five

KANSAS CITY (AP) — UCLA won't be bothered by the pressure of an unbeaten season in the final rounds of the NCAA basketball championship.

★ ★ ★

"We feel we're starting a new season," Bruin Coach John Wooden said.

"Our kids were pressing to complete the regular season undefeated. They made it. And that took the pressure off. Now we feel we're starting all over again.

"If we get beat, it won't be because of that kind of pressure. It'll just be because we played a better team."

PERFECT RECORD

The top-ranked Bruins take a 28-0 record into Friday night's semifinal match with Kansas State, the Big Eight champ with a 22-5 mark. Michigan, 22-4, plays Duke, 25-4, in the other semifinal.

UCLA beat Kansas State and Michigan romped over Duke in regular season play, but all four coaches, speaking over a four-way telephone hookup Tuesday, agreed those December results could be discounted.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's Dave Strack, whose Wolverines bombed Duke 83-67, said his team isn't taking the Blue Devils lightly.

"We're not looking past them," Strack said. "No sir. We're not looking past anyone. We're just looking forward to Friday night. We're going in with respect for everyone and fear of no one."

Duke's Vic Bubas said his team had matured since the loss to Michigan.

MORE CONFIDENT

"We think more aggressively, play more aggressively now," he said. "We are a more confident team now. Our scoring balance is better and we're a little better off defensively."

★ ★ ★

The teams took their final workouts on home courts today. All are scheduled to arrive in Kansas City Thursday and will have brief workouts at the Kansas City Municipal Auditorium site of the Friday night semifinals and Saturday finals.

None has ever won the championship.

NBA Division Title on Line

Hawks Play Detroit in Final Contest

By The Associated Press

The St. Louis Hawks will get one more shot at a piece of the National Basketball Association's Western Division crown.

The Hawks trimmed Detroit 115-99 Tuesday night, cutting San Francisco's Western lead to a game and retaining a mathematical chance to tie the Warriors for the title.

★ ★ ★

If St. Louis beats Detroit in its season wind-up tonight and Philadelphia upends San Francisco, the Hawks and Warriors will play off for the No. 1 spot.

The war is over for New York's weary Knickerbockers, who closed out another nightmarish season by losing to Boston 127-121. Los Angeles finished its regular season business on a happier note, trimming Philadelphia 121-97 on the West Coast.

PISTONS FOLD

St. Louis Coach Harry Gallatin rested his regulars after they'd gunned to a 25-point third quarter lead over Detroit, then had to rush in the starters when the Pistons closed the gap to six late in the game. A couple of hook shots by Cliff Hagan, top St. Louis scorer with 24 points, put an end to the Pistons' bid.

Bailey Howell paced Detroit with 20 points, 14 of them in the third quarter.

ARMY OUTMANEUVERED — Willie Ross of Duquesne hauls in a loose ball despite the efforts of Army's Joe Kosciusko and Dick Murray (right) in the first period of a National Invitation Tournament game in New York's Madison Square Garden last night. Army won in overtime, 67-65.

Quarter-Finals Last Barrier to Pairing

Central Seeking Win in Detroit; Big Reds Play Benton Harbor

Pontiac Central's basketball team made its last business trip to the state Class A cage finals at East Lansing in 1960, losing in the final game to perennial powerhouse Lansing Sexton.

★ ★ ★

Ahead on the tournament schedule lies another possible meeting with Sexton.

The Chiefs will attempt to complete arrangements for such a meeting when they take on Monroe High in a quarter-final match tonight at the University of Detroit Memorial Building. The game starts at 7 p.m.

A victory for PCH would put the Chiefs into the semifinals against the winner of tonight's Sexton-Benton Harbor clash.

Sexton is favored to climb past that hurdle.

PCH principal Francis Staley announced today that 1,200 tickets will be available to each semifinalist school for the Class A games Friday.

Should the Chiefs stop Monroe, the Central ticket allotment will go on sale at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in the high school office.

ONLY AT SCHOOL

The ducats, $1 each, will be available only at the school office.

Coach Fred Zittel sent the Chiefs through a one-hour workout on the Memorial Building floor yesterday and he came away from the tuneup pleased with the squad's performance.

The Chiefs will be facing a tall Monroe five that came on strong late in the season and will take the floor this evening with a 12-8 record.

Posing the tallest headaches for the Chiefs will be Marc Drinkhahn (6-4½) and Dave Galiland (6-4). Drinkhahn is averaging 21 points a game.

★ ★ ★

Dangerous from the outside is Darrell Myers (6-0), with a 15-point average.

Getting pivot duty for the Chiefs will be Jim Johnson (6-3). Mel DeWalt (6-0) and Gerald Henry (6-0) will man the forward posts with Al Keel (5-10) and Bill Morgan (5-11) teaming at guard.

Upset-Minded Cadets Reach NIT Semifinal

NEW YORK (AP) — Move back, you NYU Violets, Happy Hairston and Barry Kramer. The Army Cadets, with Mike Silliman, Joe Kosciusko and Bob Siegle, have become the sentimental basketball favorites in the National Invitation Tournament.

Given even a slimmer chance than NYU in pre-tourney forecasts, the Black Knights of the Hudson surprised St. Bonaventure 64-62 in the first round last Saturday and Tuesday night came through with another tremendous upset. They humbled third-seeded Duquesne from Pittsburgh 67-65 in an overtime quarter-final struggle.

Now they are in the feature second game spot of Thursday night's semifinals against second-seeded Bradley from Peoria Ill.

NYU, considered a "bust" during the regular season, but which ousted Syracuse in the first round and knocked off top-seeded DePaul on Saturday, goes against the fourth-seeded New Mexico Lobos in Thursday's opening game.

FURIOUS FINISH

The Lobos from Albuquerque gained their semi spot by surviving Drake's furious closing finish to beat the Bulldogs from Des Moines 65-60 on four free throws by Dick Ellis in the last 27 seconds.

Drake's rally aroused the St. Patrick's night crowd of 11,362 at Madison Square Garden, but the spectators didn't really come to life until Army put on its magnificent second half comeback against the Dukes.

★ ★ ★

Army's chances didn't seem worth a nickel after the first half in which the Cadets fell behind at one point by 16 points at 37-21.

But with the Cadets cheering corps beating a drum and chanting "defense, defense," Silliman, Kosciusko and Sieole played inspired ball after the intermission.

Before Duquesne realized what had happened, Army was ahead 49-47. With two minutes left it was 61-61 and the Dukes and their star, Willie Somerset, played for a final shot that backfired.

Willie dribbled around until seven seconds were on the clock. Then he passed off and cut for the basket, hoping for a return pass. However, Siegle intercepted and the game went into overtime.

And it was three conversions from the charity line by the 5-foot-10 Siegle, all on fouls committed by Somerset, that sewed up the victory.

Canada Curling Team Nearing Showdown

CALGARY (AP) — Canada and Scotland continued their winning ways Tuesday night, heading toward a climactic battle in the 1964 International Curling Championships as Canada trounced Sweden 13-6 and Scotland whipped the United States 11-5.

★ ★ ★

The third-round victories left the unbeaten leaders out of reach of their four rivals. Sweden, the United States and Norway owned 1-2 won-lost records and Switzerland was winless in three starts.

Black Hawks Wait for Montreal's Bid

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Black Hawks, holding a precarious two-point lead in the National Hockey League as the result of a 4-0 victory over New York Tuesday night, now must play a waiting game.

★ ★ ★

The Hawks broke out of a tie with idle Montreal and boosted their point total to 82 against 80 for the Canadiens. But the Hawks are in anything but a comfortable position in quest of their first league title.

Chicago plays its final game against Boston Sunday night and a victory would give the Hawks a total of 84 points. Montreal, however, has three games to play and a potential of 86 points, if such a margin will be needed since the Hawks, a notoriously poor road team, wind up at Boston.

FINAL WEEKEND

The Canadiens will get a chance to move into a tie Wednesday night when they take on Toronto. Montreal is then at home against Boston Saturday and finishes the season at New York Sunday.

The Hawks had little trouble against New York with goalie Glenn Hall posting his seventh shutout of the season.

★ ★ ★

Bobby Hull, the Golden Jet, gave Hall the support he needed with two goals in the first period giving him a league-leading total of 43.

Stan Mikita, the league's leading pointmaker, came up with an unassisted goal—his 39th—in the second period. Mikita boosted his point total of 89 to lead Hull by three.

Red Hay pushed his 22nd goal past Jacques Plante in the final period to round out the scoring before a crowd of 15,214.

Junior Skiers Start Racing at Nationals

ALPINE MEADOWS, Calif. (AP) — Top junior skiers of the United States race today for the downhill championships in boys' and girls' divisions.

The United States Ski Association's Central Division team includes Geoff Smith of Bloomfield Hills.

The youngsters speed down a Ward Peak course that for the boys will start at an elevation of 8,650 feet and cover 1⅜ miles with a vertical drop of 1,550 feet. The girls' course is slightly shorter.

★ ★ ★

Four Durango, Colo., high school boys won the first event on the week's program when they covered the 20 kilometer cross country course in 1:26:10 to finish first among 12 entries.

On the victorious team were Dick Flock, 16, Bob Griffith, 17, Allen Small, 17, and Clark Matis, 17.

They beat out two foursomes from the Eastern Amateur Ski Association, Eastern's team No. 1 of Terry Morse, Richard Haskell, William Kendall and Avery Caldwell finished in 1:28:51 as each skier raced five kilometers.

Eastern's No. 2 team of David Durrance, Terry Aldrich, Wayne Cunningham, and Cary Giberson finished third in 1:29:12.

Baseball's 'Duke' Making Final Fling

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (UPI) — Everyone likes to go out in style and Duke Snider, putting in his last season in the majors, is no exception.

At 37, Snider fully appreciates the fact that he has one more baseball fling left and he's further aware it could be with either the New York Mets or Detroit Tigers.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers, looking around for an extra left-handed hitting outfielder with both experience and the ability to reach the right field seats, would love to have Snider.

Detroit Manager Charlie Dressen, who had the Duke at Brooklyn, makes no secret of the fact he'd like to have him back. There are a couple of hitches holding up the deal, however.

For one thing, although the Mets plan to go with a number of kids, they are rather reluctant to let Snider go because his presence can help them sell tickets to their new ball park in Flushing Meadows, which is only a fungo drive from Brooklyn where Duke once reigned as king.

BOUND FOR DETROIT?

For another thing, the Mets might let Snider go to the Tigers for outfielder Willie Horton but Detroit has no intention of parting with him.

Snider maintains a discreet silence on his preference, but it has to be perfectly obvious.

Which club would anyone prefer to be with, the Mets, who will have all they can do to struggle out of 10th place, or the Tigers, who have at least an outside shot at the American League pennant.

★ ★ ★

"If I stay here," said Snider, tying his shoelaces in the Mets' clubhouse, "I'll do all I can to help. I think I can start 100 or so games. I have no aches or pains."

Duke knows the Tigers are after him.

"Naturally, I think it would be easier for me to play with them. It's not that I'm unhappy here but I've always been used to playing with a contender. I wouldn't mind playing for Charlie again. He's always understood me and I've always understood him.

"No I haven't talked to him about them trying to get me. He was over here one day and I just said hello to him."

Snider, now almost completely grey, appeared in 129 games for the Mets last season, many times as a pinch hitter, and wound up with 14 homers and a way-under-par .243 average.

Casey Stengel admits he used him wrong.

"I couldn't help it," he says. "I had to play him a lot of times when I shouldn't have. But what could I do. I didn't exactly have an all-star bunch to choose from."

Warmer Climates Lure MSU Teams

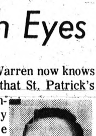
EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State's baseball, golf and tennis teams take off next week for spring training trips in warmer climates.

The 23-man baseball squad will be on tour from March 22 to April 5, playing 11 games against service and college teams in Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

The golf team will train from March 24 to April 4 at Coral Gables, Fla., and will take part in a university tournament there.

Irish Eyes Not Smiling

Orville Warren now knows definitely that St. Patrick's day is indeed, a day for the Irish.



WARREN

The Clarkston bowler in the Pontiac Motor Tuesday Morning League put together 11 in a row yesterday at Huron Bowl.

His 12th delivery was a good one, but a lone five-pin stayed up and the non-son-of-Erin had missed his chance for a perfect game.

Almost proving the presence of a leprechaun on the 12th ball, Warren started game No. 2 with another strike.

He posted a 212 for his second line, leaving him 189 pins shy of a 700 series with one game to go. Oddly enough, 189 is his average in the league.

★ ★ ★

But again it wasn't his day as he fell short of his average in the game and ended with a 671 for the day (and perhaps a bit o' a wish that there was some Irish blood in the family line).

Warren's 299 gives Huron Bowl a record of two 300s, one 299 and two 298s for the season. The latter three have come within the last 11 days.

Phillies Fall, 8-2

Horton Paces Bengals

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Outfielder Willie Horton may muscle his way right into the Detroit Tigers' starting lineup.

The strapping rookie from Detroit's Northwestern High School poked a 410-foot ninth-inning homer Tuesday to cap the Tigers' 8-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

★ ★ ★

It was Horton's second home run of the exhibition season and brought words of praise from Charlie Dressen.

★ ★ ★

"That boy can hit, and he's going to get better," said Dressen. "We'll keep playing him."

Dressen would like to keep Horton on the roster this season, platooning him in left field with veteran Billy Bruton. But General Manager Jim Campbell thinks Horton would be better off with another year in the minors at Syracuse.

"We'll see," mused Dressen.

RINGS, REGISTER

Meanwhile, first baseman Norm Cash slammed a double and a home run to drive in five runs, and third baseman Don Wert collected three hits, including a double.

It was Wert's double that caused Dressen's departure from the game. He argued that the ball cleared the left field fence, but umpire Mel Steiner of the National League disagreed.

★ ★ ★

"If you can't see, then ask somebody else," Dressen said.

"I'm not asking anybody," said Steiner, who ordered the manager from the field.

An inning later, when Steiner saw Dressen still sitting on the bench, the umpire said: "I told you to get out of here."

"Oh," said Dressen, "I thought you threw yourself out."

Dressen left this time, unaware that Commissioner Ford Frick was watching from the stands.

Moore Votes for Patterson

Former Champ Picks Floyd Over Cassius

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Former light heavyweight champion Archie Moore says Floyd Patterson might "knock Cassius Clay kicking" if their proposed bout materializes.

★ ★ ★

Clay, who won the heavyweight title from Sonny Liston, suggested that the proceeds of the Patterson match go to the Black Muslims if he won and to the Catholic church if Patterson won.

Patterson is a Catholic and Clay has announced that he is a member of the Black Muslims.

MORE SPEED

Moore told a television interviewer Tuesday night:

"I think Patterson could more than match Clay with speed, and he packs a much deadlier wallop than Clay.

★ ★ ★

"If Patterson would land one of those hooks on Sir Clay, I believe 'The Mouth' would be lost. Clay didn't take a lot of punches in the head from Liston."

Liston won the title from Patterson.

Moore said he doesn't think the Black Muslims are anything "to become unduly alarmed about.

★ ★ ★

"This is just a Negro organization trying to band colored people together," Moore said.

Sandy Koufax Surprises Mets

By the Associated Press

For the opposition, the discouraging thing about Sandy Koufax isn't his awesome fastball or his sharp-breaking curve or the combination of the two, which renders hitters virtually helpless. It's the thought of him adding another pitch.

★ ★ ★

Koufax made his Grapefruit League debut Tuesday and had New York Met hitters lunging and lurching at an assortment of pitches which included a new weapon — something Koufax needs about as much as J. Paul Getty needs another million.

The addition was a blooper pitch, something like the one Rip Sewell flashed at National League hitters in the 1940s. Sandy displayed it three times, getting it over twice for strikes in his five inning stint.

HE'S SERIOUS

"I'm serious about the pitch," said Koufax. "As long as I can throw it for a strike, I'll use it."

The old Koufax arsenal was more than enough against the Mets, who managed just two hits. In their short history of futility, the Mets have been at their lovable worst against Koufax with a total production of exactly one run in 43 innings of exhibition and regular season action against the Dodger ace since May 1962.

Once rid of Koufax, who fanned seven, the Mets broke loose against old teammate Bob Miller with Frank Thomas' two-run homer the major blow. Los Angeles weathered the storm for a 5-3 victory.

Unbeaten St. Louis handed Cincinnati its first setback 4-2. Starter Harry Fanok doubled home the first two Cardinal runs and hurled three shutout innings to pick up the victory. Vada Pinson homered for the Reds.

Bob Buhl, Cal Koonce and rookie Sterling Slaughter limited the Los Angeles Angels to three hits for a 2-0 Chicago Cub victory. Lou Brock tagged loser Ken McBride for a solo homer.

The Minnesota Twins feasted on New York Yankee frontline pitching for a 7-2 victory, New York's third setback in four starts. Vic Power had four singles and Jimmie Hall a solo home run for the Twins as Al Downing, Ralph Terry and Whitey Ford hurled for the Yanks.

BIG STICK

Felipe Alou slammed a homer and a two-run triple as the Milwaukee Braves unleashed a 13-hit attack for an 8-1 victory over the Kansas City A's.

Rookie Rico Carty also homered for the Braves, who had managed just three runs in two shutout victories before facing the depleted Athletic staff.

The San Francisco Giants bunched four singles for three runs in the sixth inning and then held on for a 4-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Willie McCovey's three hits led the Giants' attack.

Skinny Brown, Larry Yellin and Larry Bohannon allowed just three Baltimore hits as the Houston Colts nipped the Orioles 3-2 in 11 innings. Bohannon's one-out single delivered the winning run for the Colts.

Ted Savage smashed a two-run homer and the Pittsburgh Pirates came up with a run in the bottom of the 10th inning to edge Washington 5-4.

BOWLING

The 300 Bowl team dropped the Wolverine Entertainers into third place and took over the lead last Wednesday with a 6-2 victory in the Huron Bowl "A" League.

Mutt Morse of Triple XXX posted high series honors for the night's action with 224-245—685 and Clarence Stapleton bowled 255 for Primrose Lanes.

In Friday's Huron Ladies Matinee there was a 202—513 by Naoma Johnston and Audrey Spence had 531.

Tim White's 247-225—659 bowling and a 225-208—630 by Bill Denny were the top news in Wonderland Lanes' Men's League that night.

Lakewood Lanes saw some fine women's bowling last week led by Phyllis Wright's 201-224—616 Thursday in the county Women's Employees League.

Phyllis Strickland the same night rolled 201-210—582 and Fran McIlhargie 544. The four Fireball women had a 1928 series.

Wednesday night at Lakewood in the Ladies League Evelyn Johnston bowled 220—527.

100-PLUS

There was a 100-plus performance at Airway Lanes Thursday among the Keglerette bowlers. Sue Sawyer's 119 average was no handicap as she hit 232. Barbara Thomas stood out with a 548 series.

Claire Wilton led the Wednesday Double Trouble 300 Bowl circuit with 248-210—624, and Chuck and Barb Shotwell had 234 and 510, respectively.

The Pontiac Motor Inter-Office circuit that same night recorded a 213-206—609 performance by Bill Covarrubias, a 220 by Floyd Rhue and 136 triplicate by Mike Jenkinson.

The Ladies Classic had Helen Dequis with 200—524 and a 2282 series by Super Chief Drive-In.

★ ★ ★

Friday's bowling at "300" featured a 225 by Walt Conta among the Fisher Body Trios, and 231 and 225 by Dan Kaykp and Doug Austin, respectively, in the Twilight loop.

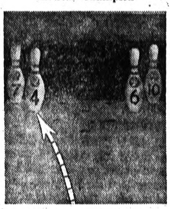
SKILL TO SPARE by Dick Weber

All-Star Champion



ALMOST impossible to make.

Most bowlers have faced the 4-6-7-10 spare, called the Big 4.

They usually shake their heads and promise to do better next time. And they're right. It is practically impossible to make this, so concentrate on picking off the two easiest pins—usually the 4-7 for a right-handed bowler.

There usually are two reasons for this horror spare.

The ball hit the head pin head on and did not mix, created no pin action.

Star Collegians Seeking Berths on Olympic Five

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Five basketball stars accepted invitations Tuesday to represent the National Collegiate Athletic Association in the U.S. Olympic trials at St. John's University, Jamaica, N.Y., April 2-4.

They are Walt Hazzard and Gale Goodrich of UCLA, Dave Stallworth of Wichita, Fred Hetzel of Davidson and Wally Jones of Villanova.

The players were selected by a special committee of the National Association of Basketball Coaches. Six more remain to be heard from.

Three 12-men teams from the NCAA, two from the AAU, two from the Armed Services and one from the NAIA will play in the Olympic trials.

Tourney Ends for Waterford

Waterford Township's last men's recreation basketball tournament contender fell by wayside in the Inter-City upper division competition Tuesday night.

Zilka Heating dropped a 34-23 decision to Livonia in a contest that was burdened with poor shooting.

The township entrant never led and had the count down to 16-14 at halftime for its slimmist deficit after the opening quarter.

But Zilka could only score three field goals in the final half and a total of nine in the game. The winners had 12.

The contest's top scorer was Norm Shifko with 11 for Livonia. Zilka was paced by Chuck Kirken's eight points.

Pontiac's Class B champion, the Bachelor's Club, will start play in the tourney at 9 p.m. tonight against Dearborn at Detroit's Lasky Community Center.

Dayton Picks Cage Mentor

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Don Donoher, University of Dayton graduate and one-time captain of the Flyers' basketball team, will succeed the late Tom Blackburn as head coach.

The Very Rev. Raymond A. Roesch, university president, announced the appointment of Donoher Tuesday. Donoher, 32, had been Blackburn's assistant for the past two seasons.

Blackburn died March 6 of lung cancer after 17 years at the Flyers' helm.

Return No Surprise to Packers' Hornung

By OSCAR FRALEY

MIAMI (UPI) — Paul Hornung wasn't particularly surprised when the news came to him that he and Alex Karras had been reinstated by National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle after a year's suspension on gambling charges.

"It's wonderful news, of course," said the Green Bay Packer halfback. "But we met with Rozelle 10 days ago and I suspected the suspension would be lifted."

★ ★ ★

So did everybody else because the general feeling was that if all facets of the case had been revealed, and there was no reason to suspect that they weren't, then the period in sackcloth and ashes without any time limit seemed pretty strong stuff.

Hornung and Karras, the massive Detroit Lion tackle, were simply doing what comes naturally.

Everybody bets on his own horse.

This is not to condone a pro gridder in making a wager on his own team. The rules say you can't, so you don't. Hornung and Karras admitted they did.

SIZE OF BETS

Their sin in the eyes of the NFL had to do with the size and consistency of their betting plus association with certain sordid citizens.

★ ★ ★

Karras first admitted that he had wagered on games but subsequently said he never bet "more than a pack of cigarettes or a couple of cigars." Rozelle's investigation showed that he had placed "at least six significant bets" on NFL games.

There was no evidence he ever had bet against his own team.

Nor had Hornung. But Rozelle charged that Karras had met individuals described by police as "known hoodlums" and he "continued associating with these individuals after learning of their backgrounds and habits."

Hornung over a period of five years made bets of from $100 to $500. He also counseled a friend who was a West Coast businessman and, demonstrating the scope of their play, Rozelle's report said they "normally talked by telephone twice a week."

KNOCK ACTIONS

Rozelle had to knock this type of action completely out of the box. Association with "known hoodlums" and or wagers of the size announced not only were breaches of the player contracts and league constitution but produced a hurricane of whispers which threatened the whole structure of pro football's big business stature.

★ ★ ★

There is a tremendous amount of betting "action" on pro football games. And it must be significant of something or other that except for one season when he won $1,500, Hornung broke even on his betting. His advice, it would seem, didn't even pay for the phone calls to the coast.

Anyhow, Rozelle asserted that both men have a "clear understanding of the seriousness of the offenses." Of this you may be certain.

Each man lost a year of play — and pay.

★ ★ ★

The most satisfying part of it all is that both men escaped without stigma. They bet on their own horse, period. They were disciplined and they paid the penalty. Their fellow players believed in them all the way and the players association recommended the action which Rozelle has taken.

Bowling Unit Starting Fast in Tourney

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The Nelson Burton Lanes team of Olivette, Mo., got off to the best start of any classic division team in the 61st American Bowling Congress Tournament Tuesday night, rolling a three game series of 2,927.

★ ★ ★

The Burtons need only 2,754 in the second and final block Wednesday to overtake Airport Bowl of North Hollywood, Calif., which has dominated the professional class since March 6 with a modest six game total of 5,681.

Howard Fitter led the Burtons with 622. Nelson Burton Sr., who will be inducted into bowling's Hall of Fame here Wednesday night, bogged down his team with the lowest score, 506. His up-and-coming son, Nelson Jr., tossed a commendable 609.

SEVENTH PLACE

The Lido Lanes of Newark, Calif., took seventh place in the regular team event, but were far off the 3,055 pace set March 1 by All-Coast-Vancouver of Seattle, Wash.

Bob Fannucchi, 25, a salesman, sparked the Lidos with a 665 series. He finished with a 276, the second high game rolled thus far in the regular team division. Lawrence Cavins of Victorville, Calif., shot 278 ten days ago.

★ ★ ★

Frank C. Yick and son of San Francisco, an odd-lot collection of youngsters in their ABC debut, took ninth place in the booster division with 2,722. Bob Esola, 19-year-old bowling center employe, led the team with 591.

There were no significant scores in the singles, doubles or all-events Tuesday.

Aussie Netter Invokes Wrath of Tennis Group

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Wimbledon finalist Fred Stolle left Sydney by plane for Rome Wednesday after rejecting a last minute appeal not to play tennis overseas before March 21—the date set by the Australian Lawn Tennis Association.

By defying the LTAA ban on players going abroad, Stolle disqualified himself from this year's Davis Cup matches.

DOUBLE SUCCESS — Ivan Wischman and his wife, Jeannette, 2191 Odette, made only one fishing trip out of Acapulco, Mexico, recently, but it was very successful. Mrs. Wischman caught a 7-foot sailfish weighing 100 pounds, and her husband returned to shore with an 80-pounder. Wischman caught a second sail that was nine feet long and weighed an estimated 140 pounds. It was released because they already had their limit.

Winter Duck Numbers Up

More Dabblers Seen During Survey

North America's wintering waterfowl population is up 17 per cent over a year ago, according to results of a continental survey run in early January.

★ ★ ★

Biggest increase is traced to southern reaches of the Mississippi Flyway, notably southwestern Louisiana where favorable marsh conditions have attracted larger number of ducks.

Approximately three million more birds were observed in Louisiana than last year. Most of these were dabbling ducks—baldpate, gadwalls, mallards, shovelers and teal.

This January's total count for the Mississippi Flyway, which includes Michigan, was 45 per cent higher than in 1963.

In Michigan, survey crews of the Conservation Department and U. S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife reported seeing nearly 63,700 ducks, almost 24,000 birds above the state's year-ago tally.

★ ★ ★

A special mid-December survey showed that the redhead duck population has bounced back 14 per cent above its long-term average.

Canvasback numbers remain about the same as last year, some six per cent below the 14-year average. Both species have been fully protected throughout the nation during the last four gunning seasons.

Land Owners 'Will Gain' Under Proposed Measure

Private shoreline owners as well as the public "will gain" under provisions of the so-called "inland lakes and streams" bill which is now before the State Legislature.

That's the consesus of the state attorney general's office which recently made a thorough analysis of the measure, H. B. 89.

"There is nothing in this proposed act which limits the riparian's (shoreline owner's) use of his lake or limits him to the use of any particular portion of the lake," explains the attorney general's office.

"The only thing he is prevented from doing is unlawful filling and dredging and building of structures that would even at present be subject to suit for injunction."

★ ★ ★

Besides recognizing existing riparian rights which come under the common law, the bill would assure that shoreline owners control lands to the water's edge. It would legally bar the public from trespassing on these private lands to reach a lake or stream.

One of the bill's key provisions calls for establishing an ordinary high water mark, a clearly-defined dividing line between the water area and land which would set the limits of private and public rights.

This would fix the shoreline owner's outright title to all lands lying above the line, and uphold his ownership of submerged lands that fall below the line. All waters would remain subject to public use.

★ ★ ★

Nothing in the bill would upset the shoreline owner's claim to minerals under these bottomlands which are located above or below the ordinary high water mark.

SAFEGUARDS

In other ways, too, H. B. 89 is "loaded with safeguards" for riparian owners, the attorney general's office points out.

At present, there is no state agency with authority to help the growing number of shoreline owners who are complaining about dredging and filling projects which encroach upon their rights.

The only recourse of these people is to seek court action.

As proposed, permits would have to be obtained through the conservation department before any person or group could fill or dredge inland lakes and streams, or build solid structures in these waters which also include the Detroit, St. Marys and St. Clair rivers.

Department permits would also be required for such beach improvements as placing a layer of sand on submerged lands, but no charge would be involved.

Under terms of the bill, no permits would be needed to build open-structured piers or docks.

Sugar Ray Banned in Canadian Rings

MONTREAL (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, former middleweight champion was suspended by the Montreal Athletic Commission Tuesday night and his twice-rescheduled boxing bout with young Joey Durelle was canceled.

The 10-round fight had been set for March 30 by promoter Regis Levesque. Robinson had said that he suffered an injury while training and later that he was not in shape, causing the two previous postponements.

For the third date Levesque said Robinson was to post a $2,000 bond guaranteeing that Sugar Ray would show up a week in advance to help promote the bout.

But Levesque said the 43-year-old ring veteran has not appeared and the promoter has been unable to collect.

Hazel Park Track Ends Tax Dispute

DETROIT (AP) — Agreement by Hazel Park Racing Association Inc. to pay $46,626 has settled a tax dispute between it and the Internal Revenue Service, Robert B. Pierce, assistant IRS regional counsel, said today.

The IRS had filed suit seeking additional income taxes totaling $74,415 for the year 1958 from the horse race track corporation. It alleged $50,050 delinquency by the corporation.

Pierce said a stipulation showed Hazel Park Racing would pay $46,626 plus 6 per cent interest a year from 1958 to date of payment.

At issue was a deduction the association claimed for premiums paid on the redemption of bonds in 1958.

Sheriff Department Plans Classes on Boating Laws

In an effort to educate the public about state boating laws, the Oakland County Sheriff Department will begin a series of classes next week covering all phases of marine regulations.

The first class will be Tuesday at Waterford Kettering High School, 2800 Bender, from 7 to 10 p.m. Registration is not required.

The sheriff departments of Oakland, Barry and Kalamazoo counties are conducting the classes in cooperation with the State Boating Control Committee.

Results of the courses in the three counties will be studied to determine whether or not this type of program should be expanded throughout the state.

The pilot education program covers the numbering of motorboats, equipment requirements, law enforcement, rules for safe operation of watercraft, water ski safety, scuba diving, local watercraft regulations and control of races and regattas, accident reporting and waterway marking schemes.

SUBJECTS COVERED

These are subjects covered by Michigan law but are not usually taught by such volunteer organizations as the Red Cross, Coast Guard Auxiliary or the U.S. Power Squadrons.

Course materials have been prepared by the Boating Control Committee in order to provide uniform training in each participating county.

Students who pass the new course will be encouraged to take the more advanced seamanship and navigation courses offered free by the Coast Guard and Power Squadrons.

Lt. Donald Kratt, head of the Sheriff's department water safety division, said the course will probably be taught in at least one school in each township.

A schedule of classes, however, has not been completed, he said.

State Seeking New Director for Division

LANSING (AP)— The State Civil Service Commission has announced it will conduct a nation-wide examination for a new fish division executive in the State Conservation Commission.

The post was created on recommendation of a special study committee appointed by Gov. George W. Romney as part of the reorganization of the department. The post will include some of the duties formerly assigned to A. B. Cook, the fish division chief who recently retired.

★ ★ ★

The commission waived its traditional six-month state residency requirement for the job. The post will pay a maximum salary of $14,177 a year after four years under present pay rates but will come under a seven per cent increase at the start of the next fiscal year.

James McFadden of the Institute for Fisheries Research at Ann Arbor is interim head of the division.

Could Die in Committees

Bill Pile-Up Faces Legislature Deadline

LANSING (UPI) — State legislators were in Capitol committee hearing rooms early today to dig deep into the record pile of bills before them on the final day to report the measures out or let them die.

★ ★ ★

House Majority Leader Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, said plans for the day include a short meeting at 10 a.m. and then a recess to allow committees to push out the final flood of bills.

★ ★ ★

Waldron said the schedule meant the question of minimum wage legislation would probably not face the House until tomorrow.

The Senate plans a similar schedule today, only with a 9 a.m. start.

An even 50 bills were reported out of Senate committees Tuesday, with passage recommended for 37, while two went to the appropriations committee and 11 were tabled.

MAJOR BILLS

Heading the list of major bills reported out was the one to require a driver to take a mandatory chemical test for suspected drunk driving — the so-called "implied consent" bill. It was amended, however, to provide a hearing on the mandatory revocation of a driver's license.

The bill to establish the nine-member Court of Appeals was okayed by the judiciary committee and sent to appropriations, thus safeguarding its life at least until April 7.

Two tax measures were among those put on the table after coming out of committee with no recommendation.

★ ★ ★

The first would cut the tax on beer from $6.61 to $2.50 a barrel, and the second would allow buyer of personal property to deduct his trade-in value from the new item cost before computing the 4 per cent sales tax.

HICKORY STICK

Included in the House bills reported to the floor was a measure to allow public school teachers to apply "hickory stick" methods of discipline in their classrooms without fear of lawsuits.

★ ★ ★

The bill was introduced by Rep. Carroll Newton, R-Delton, and would allow the teachers to use physical force on the pupils for either disciplinary purposes or to take away a dangerous weapon while granting the civil action immunity.

Pay Through Nose for Fishy Beaks

LONDON (AP)—The Devon County Bird Watching and Preservation Society triumphantly announced today that it has won vindication for the Phalacrocorax Aristotelis.

For seven long years, the society reported, the Phalacrocorax Aristotelis has been taking a bum rap for the Phalacrocorax Carbo, another member of the Phalacrocoracidae family entirely.

Members of the society want this stopped.

As a starter, they have stopped the Devon River Board in its tracks, although about 250 pounds ($700) too late.

★ ★ ★

In 1957, the river board began playing a bounty of 7 shillings, 6 pence ($1.05) apiece for cormorants. The idea was to protect the fish in Devon's rivers, since cormorants are notoriously gluttonous eaters of same.

BIRDLESS BEAKS

The board paid out upon the presentation of a cormorant's beak as proof that the bird was no longer raiding the rivers. Birdless beaks poured in.

Recently, the bird watching and preservation society became suspicious. They hadn't found a single cormorant's nest in the whole of Devon County for years.

So where, they wanted to know, had the 600-odd beaks delivered to the river board since 1957 come from.

★ ★ ★

The society persuaded the board to let it take a look at its hoard of beaks. The beaks were not those of Phalacrocorax Carbo, the cormorant that eats both sea and fresh water fish.

ANOTHER CULPRIT

They were the beaks of Phalacrocorax Aristotelis — known as the shag, for short. A cousin of the cormorant, it feeds exclusively on sea fish and wouldn't touch a trout.

The river board discontinued the bounty payments forthwith.

"It seems that since 1957 we have paid out over 250 pounds on the wrong beaks," a spokesman said.

State Eyes System of Freeway Phones

LANSING (AP) — Stranded motorists would never be more than a mile away from a telephone on Michigan's freeway system under a plan being considered by the State Highway Department.

Free telephones would be placed at intervals on both sides of the state's 1,100-mile freeway system.

The telephone booths would be connected directly to police agencies or 24-hour service stations.

Pedestrian Is Killed

MUSKEGON (AP) — Sarah Williams, 43, of Muskegon was killed today when struck by a car as she stood in a road about 10 miles east of the city.

Sue Mayor of Dearborn for Damage

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Orville Hubbard of Dearborn was sued for $250,000 damages Tuesday in U.S. District Court, which was asked at the same time to enjoin Hubbard and Dearborn police from "failing to protect the person and property" of Giuseppe Stanzione.

★ ★ ★

Stanzione claims he was assaulted and his Dearborn home damaged by what he describes as a mob that gathered last Aug. 26 when three Negro men and a Negro woman commenced moving Jerry Kilgore, who is white, and his Japanese wife, Michiko, into an upper flat of his home.

★ ★ ★

He said police failed, despite six calls for protection, to disperse the crowd which he said ranged from 25 to 400 persons. Since, he said, there has been "an unexplained fire" which caused $5,000 damage to the two - flat residence.

PREJUDICE CHARGE

Stanzione said he believes the defendants . . . "motivated solely by racial prejudice, deprived the plaintiff of that due process of law required by the 14th Amendment to the Constitution. . . . by tacitly permitting the crowd to assault the plaintiff and inflict injury upon his property. . . ."

★ ★ ★

The Metropolitan Detroit Branch of the American Civil Liberties Union announced it has joined Stanzione's lawyers in the suit and has agreed to underwrite the costs of it.

Doctors Order Tito to Island Vacation

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—President Tito's doctors have sent him to Brioni, his vacation island off the Yugoslav coast, for "treatment and rest," the official news agency Tanjug announced today.

The announcement gave no details of the 71-year-old president's condition.

★ ★ ★

The new U.S. ambassador, C. Burke Elbrick, presented his credentials to Tito Tuesday, and American officials who accompanied Elbrick said the president appeared to be in good health.

'Weird' Death Being Probed

Body Found in Lake; Cause Still Unknown

DELTON (AP) — State police and Barry County officers today sought clues to the death of a housewife under circumstances that one investigator termed "a little bit weird."

The body of 53 - year - old Mrs. Catherine Casto was found floating face - up in four feet of water of Little Cedar Lake beside the family dock Monday. An autopsy Tuesday failed to show the cause of death.

Mrs. Casto had not drowned nor were there any signs of physicial violence that might have caused death, said Chief Deputy Sheriff Gordon Trick. A heart attack also was ruled out, he said.

On the dock were found Mrs. Casto's eye - glasses and a can of bug repellent.

Trick, who called the case "weird," said Mrs. Casto must have fallen from the dock but that this seemed unreasonable since she was known to be extremely careful near water.

Mrs. Casto's body was found by her husband, Fred, about 60, and a daughter, Jacqueline, 17. Casto had returned from his job in Plainwell and Jacqueline from high school to find the house empty.

Trick said neither Casto nor Jacqueline could determine why Mrs. Casto had gone to the dock.

There were bruises on Mrs. Casto's hands and legs but these apparently had been self - inflicted, Trick said.

Delton is a small Barry County town on M43 in an oil well area.

French Public Services Hit by Strike

PARIS (AP) — France's public services were hard hit by a 24-hour strike today.

Estimates of the number on strike ranged from several hundred thousand to six million, a Communist claim. The Communist-led General Workers Confederation took the leading role in the walkout for higher wages, but any Catholic and Socialist workers joined in.

Paris police headquarters said suburban train traffic was halted and no long-distance trains were leaving Paris. Only 22 per cent of the Paris buses and 96 of the 320 subway trains were operating.

Most street traffic lights were out, and gas pressure was down. Electric service was interrupted for varying periods in various sections of the capital.

★ ★ ★

The government pressed 400 army trucks into transport service, and auto traffic was dense.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has given the West German Embassy's counsellor for commercial and economic affairs five days to leave the Soviet Union.

Embassy officials were at a loss to explain the expulsion order for Heinz Naupert, an expert on Soviet oil production. They said Naupert had not been traveling recently in sensitive areas, a frequent prelude to expulsion of Western diplomats.

Naupert has been in the embassy since 1960. He is the first staff member to be expelled since the embassy opened eight years ago.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) —Czechoslovakia's Communist government announced today that a British historian and an Australian schoolteacher are being held on charges of trying to smuggle a Czechoslovak national to Austria.

CTK, the official news agency, said that Norman Stone, 23, of Glasgow, and Janice Wilson, 25, of Sydney, have confessed.

★ ★ ★

The CTK report said the pair used a car lent to them by an Austrian newswoman, Andrea Waldner, 35. The agency did not say what became of Miss Waldner, but a British Embassy spokesman in Vienna said earlier he understood that Miss Waldner also was under arrest.

Miss Waldner is a reporter for Radio Free Berlin in West Berlin. Stone, who is collecting material for a book, and Miss Wilson teach at the British school in Vienna.

Doctors Consider 4

96 Offer Kidney to Child

CLEVELAND (AP)—Doctors have narrowed down to four a list of 96 persons willing to donate a kidney so that 11-year-old Allan Scott Pert Jr. of Garden City, Mich., may live longer.

★ ★ ★

The four include two who say they have three kidneys instead of the usual two. The other two say they have four kidneys each.

Allan was stricken last summer with a kidney disease. His parents were told then he wouldn't live more than a few weeks. He was brought unconscious to Cleveland clinic Feb. 1.

ONLY HOPE

In the last six weeks, he has responded to treatment with an artificial kidney—a machine that cleanses poisonous waste products from the blood. Doctors say a successful kidney transplant is the boy's only hope.

Tobacco State Governor Urges Caution in Cigarette Labeling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three governors of top tobacco states provide the finale today to a three-day showcase of arguments over federal plans to brand cigarettes with a health warning.

First on stage is Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina, followed by Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr. of Virginia and Gov. Edward T. Breathitt of Kentucky.

All are facing the Federal Trade Commission on the last day of hearings over the FTC's proposals to label cigarette packages and advertisements with warnings of health hazard.

Harrison, in his prepared testimony, urged the FTC to "proceed with the utmost caution."

The Virginian said he spoke with awareness of evidence "that immoderate cigarette smoking may be detrimental to health, but with equal awareness that this evidence is not conclusive."

GRAVE MATTER

"With this realization," he added, "and with the tremendous economic implications involved, the matter before the commission becomes one of major and grave significance."

The testimony yesterday covered the full spectrum of support, rebuttal and even the statement by one cancer researcher that the FTC was not going far enough.

Dr. Saxon Graham of Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, N.Y., said he would urge the FTC to prohibit cigarette advertising altogether. He did endorse the health hazard labeling.

Dr. Fred Bock, another Roswell Park researcher, urged the FTC to require labeling of tar and nicotine content on cigarettes.

U.S. STANDARDS

But he said that the measurements should be done by government standards in one laboratory in one machine.

Both he and Dr. Wendell Scott, president of the American Cancer Society, said such labeling would promote a competitiveness among cigarette makers to lower tar and nicotine content.

Both agreed, however, that only zero amounts of tar and nicotine would eliminate the health hazard.

Kennedy Is Undecided on Vice Presidential Nomination

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says he is undecided about whether he would be receptive to the Democratic vice presidential nomination if President Johnson asked him to run.

"I haven't made up my mind what I'm going to do," he said in an interview Tuesday night.

* * *

Kennedy addressed the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick of Lackawanna County and made several public appearances, including brief remarks at a ground-breaking ceremony for a school to be namd after his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy.

* * *

The attorney general received a rousing welcome wherever he went. Police officials estimated the total crowds at more than 10,000 persons, including many shrilling teen-agers and women.

SHAKES HANDS

Kennedy didn't seem to mind. He shook hundreds of hands and signed autographs—even during the dinner.

He did appear somewhat indifferent, however, when a group of college students paraded into the St. Patrick's dinner uninvited carrying signs reading: "Let's keep the Johnson - Kennedy ticket in 1964" and "Mr. President — please ask Bobby to be vice president."

* * *

Later, he remarked about the demonstration: "I appreciate it, but I think it's out of place."

Kennedy said he did not want the people of Pennsylvania to start a campaign for the vice presidential nomination.

* * *

Kennedy called on his fellow Irishmen to "hold out your hands to those who struggle for freedom today — at home and abroad—as Ireland struggled for a thousand years. No problem weighs heavier on the conscience of free men than the fate of millions held in iron captivity."

Self-Discipline Essential

Too Many Advantages Kill Incentive

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

Parents, in their attempt to give children every advantage, often deny them the development of self-discipline, and willingness to do things simply because they need be done. These are essential to success in and out of school.

DR. NASON

Giving a child all the things we adults refer to as "advantages" often leads to self-indulgence. The child develops interests which cause him to neglect the tasks of home and school.

Such children often have the gift of healthy, quick minds which carry them through elementary school with flying colors. They may even be put in advanced reading groups and may skip grades.

* * *

But, by looking closely under the surface one finds they have failed to get adequate backgrounds in spelling, word usage, handwriting or the fundamentals of arithmetic.

School holds less and less interest for them as their faulty background becomes more of a handicap.

Their interests during junior high and high school turn to swimming, surfing, tennis and baseball. Their school marks suffer.

* * *

Feeling that they can succeed in life without an education they look down on the student who applies himself to his work and builds up a background for further education.

NICE CHILDHOOD

Jake is such a boy. He describes his early childhood as beautiful, living near parks and forest lands, with many friends and much adventure.

Elementary school was a breeze. Junior high was not that easy. Sports and outside interests increased their hold on him. High school, not getting proper attention, was disastrous, ending in dropout in the 11th grade.

Jake has innate ability. He took tests and became a postal clerk in an armed service unit. The next six years he made a good income which he spent on his developed interests, expensive vacations and high powered automobiles.

He finally decided to return to college. With his acquired tastes he preferred an Ivy League College. With his egotism he felt he would be a definite asset to any one of them. But they turned him down!

WANTS ADVICE

Jake has now written me for advice. Well, here it is.

From your letter it is obvious you should improve your handwriting. Complete the transition from lettering to cursive writing that you were allowed to neglect in the third grade.

Sign up for a review of high school English. Learn to read and understand precisely. Learn a better choice of words. Give attention to your spelling, it's about sixth grade level.

Two years of work in junior college will prepare you for transfer to a senior college.

INTENTIONS GOOD

With the best of intentions, Jake's parents tried to hand him every advantage. More fortunate is the person who is taught self-discipline as a child. This cannot be given. It must be earned.

Opening lead—♣J

By OSWALD JACOBY

JACOBY

There is one series of bids that always invites a trump lead. That is the old fashioned one, two, three, four in either spades or hearts.

Thus, in spite of his generally unattractive hand, West should have opened a trump. If he had done so, South would have almost surely wound up going down two tricks. West liked his club holding and decided to open the jack of that suit.

This lead would have given South the hand had East not been right up on his toes, but fortunately for the defense East was.

East's first problem was at trick one. Should he rise with the ace or play the seven spot? East decided to play low on the theory that even if this play allowed South to make a singleton king it might not cost the defense anything.

South won with the king, entered dummy with the ace of hearts and led a low diamond.

He hoped West would win the trick, but East had all the high diamonds and was in. It wasn't hard for East to see that it was up to him to lead a trump.

South won and led another diamond. East led a second trump and while South was able to ruff one diamond he had to lose the last one.

Curiously enough, East's first play had not mattered. Had he gone up with the ace of clubs he would have been able to get in three trump leads.

Impassive Jack Ruby Waits for Law to Take Its Course

DALLAS (AP)—At 11:30 a.m. Saturday, when jury foreman Max E. Causey neatly printed the letters "DEATH" with a ball point pen on the blank provided, Jack Ruby sat impassively in his jail cell.

Neither Ruby nor anyone else outside the jury deliberation room knew whether the 52-year-old former strip joint operator had been found legally guilty or innocent of the slaying of President John F. Kennedy's accused assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald.

★ ★ ★

Less than an hour later, Ruby and the world heard Judge Joe B. Brown speak the words "and assess the penalty of death." Courtroom observers noted that the defendant remained outwardly impassive.

Jack L. Ruby continues to appear impassive as the hours, and the days, slip by him in jail.

He plays dominoes and cards by himself. He eats when food is served and shaves with a double-edged razor and takes a shower when so directed.

Only Jack Ruby knows the Ruby thoughts.

"Hi, Phil, how are you today," Ruby greets defense lawyer Phil Burleson. The lawyer visits almost daily.

★ ★ ★

Burleson said Ruby has asked for nothing special since the verdict and has not requested to see anyone but his lawyers and relatives.

"I've talked with him about the appeal and tried to make him understand that it will take time," the Dallas attorney commented. "Jack seems to feel confident that he will get a fair review."

Burleson said Ruby is in good health. His mental framework "is as good as can be expected under the circumstances."

★ ★ ★

Chief jailer E. L. Holman said Ruby seems calmer now than when he was being taken to and from the courtroom twice daily during the trial.

"He's doing all right," Holman says. "He doesn't give us any trouble. He never has."

Ruby has three adjoining cells to himself. A walking area 12x25 feet fronts on the cell tier. It is here that Ruby plays his lone games of dominoes and cards on a bare table.

Holman said Ruby got 10 to 15 letters the day after the verdict. "Now it's dropped back to what it was before, about four or five a day," he said.

★ ★ ★

Ruby wears white jail coveralls. He is watched 24 hours a day "for all possibilities," Holman said.

Belli Leaves for Mexico

Still Damning Dallas, Condemning Trial

NUEVO LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Attorney Melvin Belli, still damning Dallas, left this Mexican border town yesterday by railroad for Mexico City.

He told a San Antonio, Tex., newsman earlier "all I want to do is get that stinking Dallas out of my nose." In Laredo, Belli said "Dallas is sicker now than it was when the president was killed. This trial will go down as the greatest rape of American justice in history."

He referred to the trial of Jack Ruby, who was sentenced to death Saturday for the slaying of President Kennedy's accused assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald. Belli headed the defense team, which plans an appeal.

Last night, Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr told University of Texas law students in Austin Belli became "panic-stricken upon receiving a verdict adverse to his client . . . he lost complete control of himself, and in a shameful exhibition proceeded to insult the opposing attorneys, the court, the jury, the whole city of Dallas and thus our state."

★ ★ ★

"I am confident," Carr added, "the history books will record the story of a supposedly renowned lawyer who, as his 'high moment in history,' lost his sense of judgment and responsibility and forever classified himself as something less than great."

Belli retorted that Carr was "obviously protecting Dallas . . . I think his remarks are in shocking bad taste."

Senate Unit Releases Tax Cut on State Beer

LANSING (AP) — Without taking sides on it, the Senate Taxation Committee released to the Senate Tuesday a bill to slash by half the tax on beer brewed in Michigan.

The present tax on beer is $6.61 per barrel. The bill in its present form would cut this to $2.50.

The gross national product of Nigeria has risen an average of 3.8 per cent annually since 1950.

Playwright Behan Still on Critical List

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Playwright Brendan Behan remained in critical condition at Meath Hospital today with jaundice and diabetes.

"Behan is semi-comatose and his condition is still critical," said a hospital spokesman.

The 41-year-old writer sank back into a coma Tuesday night after rallying Monday. All visitors except his wife were barred from his bedside.

At 9:55 a.m., Pontiac firemen responded to an alarm at 176 Dellwood, the home of Helen M. Bullock.

The two-story house is owned by St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, according to firemen. Cause of the $350 blaze is unknown.

Close Vigil Kept on Fires

Officials in California Fear Renewed Blaze

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Fire fighters kept a close vigil today on the remains of two giant brush fires that could whip into renewed fury if changeable wind conditions worsened.

The two fires in suburban foothill areas to the north and east of this sprawling city were officially declared contained yesterday afternoon — but fire officials warned that a number of "hot spots" could spread with increasing winds.

A third brush fire — in Weldon Canyon about 40 miles to the north in the vicinity of Newhall — continued to burn through the night with containment hoped for by early today.

Insured property damage in the contained Chevy Chase Canyon and Whiting Woods fires north of Glendale has been estimated at $2 million, plus another $1 million in damage to watershed.

At least 24 homes were destroyed and another 200 damaged as flames charred more than 9,000 acres in two days.

2,500 ACRES

More than 2,500 acres was involved in the third fire in the Newhall area.

There were other fires yesterday in Riverside — 65 miles to the east, in downtown Los Angeles and on the Palos Verdes Peninsula to the south.

Temperatures climbed to the highest levels of the year.

A maximum of 84 in downtown Los Angeles was the hottest for the date in 49 years.

$2 MILLION DAMAGE

The strong winds that fanned the destructive fires Monday also caused an estimated $2 million damage to some 11,000 homes and commercial buildings.

Most of the wind-damaged buildings were concentrated in the Van Nuys-Glendale-Pasadena area, with others scattered from the San Fernando Valley to San Bernardino — mostly in the foothills.

Old Crop Wheat Still Going Down

CHICAGO (AP)—The downward trend of old crop wheat futures continued today with both deliveries off about two cents a bushel during the first several minutes of activity on the Board of Trade.

Other grains and soybeans were mostly mixed with price changes generally only small fractions either way from previous closes.

After about an hour wheat was 2¼ cents a bushel lower to ⅛ higher, March $1.94¾; soybeans ¼ to 2¼ lower, March $2.65½; corn ⅛ to ½ higher, March $1.20; oats ⅜ higher to ⅛ lower, March 65 cents; rye ⅛ to ½ lower, March $1.28¼.

Future Recessions Mere Hesitations?

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—Is the business upturn from the 1960 recession catching its second wind or is the economy starting an entirely new cycle of its own?

Most observers have looked on last summer's dip and the mild recovery of industrial production from October through December as just one of those hesitations that come in most recoveries from recessions.

DAWSON

They date the present upturn as starting in February and March of 1961, and now pretty old as recoveries go.

★ ★ ★

But new pep in the economy in recent weeks has given a talking point for the minority holding that last summer and fall could be classed as a new-style recession—the mildest on record, perhaps, but a real one. And thus the current jump in industrial production is the start of a new general upswing.

This point of view is held by those championing the new philosophy that old business cycles are outmoded. If so, this would mean that recessions in the future will be no more than what we've previously regarded as hesitations.

FAR FROM ACCEPTED

It's a heart-warming theory, although far from proved, and far from generally accepted.

What is certain is that the Federal Reserve Board reports its industrial production index made its largest advance in February since last October. Based on the 1957-59 average as 100, the index in February hit a record 127.6, up from January's 127.2, and compared with a year ago figure of 120.2. The index climbed in the first part of 1963 and then dipped by one point in August and September. In all, the seven months prior to February were dubbed sluggish by the old school economists, and a slight recession by the new school.

The February advance is credited largely to the demand for automobiles and other consumer goods. It was accompanied by a rise in retail sales and brisk construction activity.

This consumer demand is working back to manufacturers in the form of new orders. So the gains in industrial output are expected to continue through the spring — whether this be a renewed spurt of an old upturn or the start of a new cycle.

OTHER HELPMATES

Also counted upon to help are tax reduction, corporate profit increases and the heady scent of rising stock prices.

(Q) "I am an Army officer with twenty year retirement in 5 years at age 42. My job potential in electronics engineering is several times my present Army salary. We hold a few good stocks now; have generous savings and insurance coverage. We are considering buying Sears, Roebuck; Bristol-Myers; and Caterpillar Tractor. Will these fit into the growth program we desire?" F. G.

(A) I believe you have picked three excellent stocks for increasing your capital in the years ahead.

Sears, Roebuck and Bristol-Myers are very strong growth issues that I have mentioned before.

Caterpillar Tractor — which is engaged largely in road-building machinery — is not technically considered in the growth category. Partly because of its large foreign operations, the cyclical factor has been pretty well smoothed out. Earnings and dividends have been in a generally upward trend over the past decade, and the stock has been one of the best performers of 1963-4. I think it can be included with the other two for your purpose.

★ ★ ★

(Q) "Realizing the importance of diversification, what do you do when you have a high percentage of your capital in a stock that you have owned for 40 years and whose tax base is practically zero? I'm in that position, and if I sold to secure diversification, I would have to pay a stiff capital gains tax. I would appreciate your views." H. S.

(A) If I were in your position, I would diversify and pay the resultant tax. Diversification, to my mind, is one of the most important of investment rules, and I believe it is unwise to disregard it.

All stocks contain an element of risk. In my long investment experience, I have seen men hurt badly because they have held a disproportionate amount of capital in a single stock — and have seen that stock fall because of a new element of competition, government regulation, or simply fashion.

Over 'Whitewash' Charge

GOP Set for Baker Row

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican senators, claiming at least a partial victory in their drive to keep the Bobby Baker probe alive, braced today for a new partisan row over their charges of an attempted "whitewash."

The Senate Rules Committee's Democratic majority, blocked in its efforts to end the inquiry last Friday, gave every indication of staging more hearings to explore an accountant's charges that his name was forged to some of Baker's federal income tax returns.

The stated aim of the investigation is to learn whether any conflict of interest or other improprieties were involved in Baker's outside business dealings while he was the $19,600 a year secretary to the Democratic majority.

He resigned under fire last Oct. 7.

The committee's chairman, Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., prepared to reply to Republican allegations that he was under orders from some outside source to terminate the probe, and that the Democrats had "blinders on their eyes" throughout the inquiry.

★ ★ ★

Jordan angrily called this an attack on his integrity. He postponed yesterday's scheduled showdown vote on the future of the investigation and announced he would answer the accusations in the Senate itself.

HAIL POSTPONEMENT

The committee's Republican members, outnumbered 6 to 3 by the Democrats, hailed the postponement and steps to investigate the forgery charge as at least a partial victory.

L. P. McLendon, the committee's Democratic special counsel, announced that accountant Milton L. Hauft's forgery allegations in a sworn statement unveiled Friday by the Republicans "are under full investigation at high speed."

Hauft said in his affidavit that he had just discovered that his name was forged to partnership tax returns filed for Baker's Carousel Motel and also to some of Baker's personal federal income tax returns.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and his GOP colleagues on the committee, are demanding efforts to learn whether the purported forgeries occurred before or after the returns were filed with the Internal Revenue Service, and who was responsible.

Baker previously has refused to answer any of the committee's questions, contending his testimony might tend to incriminate him.

New Position at Circuit Court

Moore Is Elected as Executive Judge

In a move aimed at streamlining court administration and reducing the soaring number of divorces, Oakland County's Circuit Court judges have created the new court post of executive judge.

Judge Arthur E. Moore has been elected to serve as executive judge for 1964, according to an announcement today by Presiding Judge James S. Thorburn.

Judge Moore's responsibilities in the new post were listed as:

- Efficiency of county probation services.
- Efficiency of the Friend of the Court's office.
- An attempt to provide serviceable and efficient marriage conciliation services.
- Supervision of the court budget.

Judge Thorburn added that efficiency of the assignment clerk's office, which schedules court cases, would also be part of executive judge's duties.

REVIEWING SALARIES

Reviewing salaries of court staffers would be part of the responsibility in connection with the budget, he said.

Judge Moore, who has long been interested in the court's finding a way to attack the divorce problem through marriage counseling, volunteered to accept the duties of the new post, Judge Thorburn said.

Judge Moore will continue, however, to take his regular turn as presiding judge and handle his normal case load, Judge Thorburn said.

★ ★ ★

He said that the case loads of the seven judges might be readjusted and redistributed at the end of the year, however, if the new duties cause Judge Moore to fall behind in his regular judicial work.

DIVORCE PROBLEM

An effort to make headway against the divorce problem appeared to be the main object of creating the new post, since this has been a pet project of Judge Moore for some time.

He was a leading figure in the formation last fall of a nonprofit corporation of judges and clergymen to inaugurate a countywide marital education and marriage counseling service.

Before his appointment to Circuit Court last February, Judge Moore served 24 years as probate and juvenile court judge.

During this time, he frequently cited broken homes as a main factor in juvenile delinquency.

UAW Delegates Carrying Long List of Goals to Union Confab

By ALLEN PHILLIPS

Pontiac area UAW delegates today are on their way to the big union convention in Atlantic City Friday with high hopes and bulging briefcases.

They carry with them long lists of recommendations for contract bargaining this summer, which if adopted, could result in the broadest range of union demands to face the auto industry.

High on the list is expanding retirement benefits that would materially affect both workers approaching retirement age and others already off active union rolls.

John Maye, president of Pontiac Motor Local 653 and head of a 17-man delegation, termed the "25-30-60" plan one of the biggest things that will come before the convention.

Under this plan, workers would retire after 25 years of service at one-half base pay and two-thirds pay after 30 years.

Anyone at age 60 could retire at double the present benefit rate of $2.80 a month for every year of service.

"Our membership has endorsed this program 100 per cent," said Maye.

★ ★ ★

"We're also concerned with having fully paid up Blue Cross insurance for our retired people."

WORK STANDARDS

Maye said another key area is work standards. This includes safety, speedup and job condition issues that almost brought on a strike at Pontiac Motor Division last November.

These same items were ticked off by Andy Wilson, president of GMC Truck & Coach Local 594, who is leading a delegation of 13.

"Some kind of profit-sharing system will also be discussed," Wilson predicted.

★ ★ ★

"Through automation the companies have been able to make a bigger profit and we expect a fair share of it."

FORESEES GAINS

"I believe this year we'll make some of our biggest gains," he added.

He explained that general provisions of contracts at General Motors plants will be hammered out following the convention, at a conference of GM locals in Detroit late in May.

Fisher Body Local 596's six delegates have goals similar to those of the other two Pontiac locals, stated President Gerald Kehoe.

★ ★ ★

"But we want to see an increase in supplemental pay from 62 per cent to 90 per cent of wages to increase the amount a worker receives when he is laid off," Kehoe said.

ROCHESTER RESIDENT

Oakland County will be represented at the union's top level as well as in rank-and-file. UAW President Walter Reuther is a resident of Rochester.

★ ★ ★

Smaller area units are UAW Locals 540 and 417, which represent small plants and machine shops, and Local 733 at Universal Oil Seal Co.

Several hundred union members are in the small locals, while the large auto plants have a combined membership of about 22,000.

Aides Back Poverty War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara stepped forward today to enlist as a soldier in President Johnson's new "war on poverty."

McNamara and Anthony J. Celebrezze, secretary of the Health, Education and Welfare HEW, were the first of a parade of cabinet members scheduled to support the anti-poverty program in testimony before a special House education and labor subcommittee.

★ ★ ★

The sweeping $962 million measure is designed to offer new skills and environments to poor youths, help finance local anti-poverty projects, establish a domestic peace corps to help run the programs and provide loans and grants to small business and farm operators.

The program would cut across traditional lines of authority of many "old line" federal departments, including Defense and HEW. Congressmen were expected to question the cabinet witnesses for signs of the bureaucratic infighting that held up submission of the legislation for many weeks.

HEAD NAMED

Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver, Johnson's choice to head the new program, gave no indication of the high - level squabbling during leadoff testimony Tuesday.

He denied it would be his job to "knock heads together," but added that the bill gave him both the responsibility and authority to see that the program actually extended help to poor people.

★ ★ ★

Shriver said there would be no "buck passing" possible under the bill, and if it didn't work, congressmen could point at him as the man responsible.

But he firmly declared his faith that the plan would start the country on the road to eliminating "grinding poverty."

Fate of Bills Is Watched by County

Oakland County officials were waiting to learn how much of their legislative program survived today in Lansing.

The program comprises those bills the County Board of Supervisors and other county officials are hoping to get passed by the Legislature.

Supposedly, any bills that haven't gained passage in the house of their origin by today are dead as far as this session is concerned.

As things stood yesterday, most of the county's program missed the boat.

SLIM CHANCE

There was only a slim chance that some sort of county home rule enabling bill would still clear committee by deadline.

An enabling act was one of the chief pieces of legislation being sought by Oakland, among other counties, although none harbored much hope for passage this session.

Many bills that don't pass now will be resubmitted next session.

Only four of the bills sought by Oakland County really stood much of a chance.

These were bills to increase Circuit and Probate Court fees, require doctors to report suspicions of child abuse to authorities, and amend the Public Works Act.

Others still bottled up in committee as the deadline neared were:

A bill to enable the county to compete for new industries by hiring an economic development program director.

★ ★ ★

A bill for state reimbursement to the county for mental patients committed to private hospitals for lack of space in state institutions.

PLANNING ACT

Amendment to the planning act to allow county reimbursement of its planning commissioners for expenses.

Amendment to the drain act to give county drain commission jurisdiction over flood plains for water courses included in established drains.

Also expected to die in committee are bills supported by the County Board of Supervisors but not directly part of its program.

These would increase the state's share of welfare and tuberculosis patient costs to 50 per cent.

2 Youths Get Prison Terms

For a daytime break-in and safe robbery of a Holly Township home, two 18-year-old Flint youths were given 3- to 15-year prison terms yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Gary Estes, who left prison only last October on parole from a term for auto theft, and Paul Thompson were sentenced by Judge Philip Pratt. Both pleaded guilty Feb. 17.

They were accused of breaking into the home of Clare Severance at 1063 Tinsman Jan. 14 and taking a floor safe that contained jewelry and a coin collection.

Pope John's Soul Bared in His Diary

ROME (UPI) — To Pope John XXIII, the Army barracks was terrible and he wrote in his diary, "How ugly the world is, what dirt, what filth!"

That was in 1901, when the late Pope was in the Army.

It is one of the entries contained in the diary which Angelo Roncalli kept from the age of 14 to 81 — a year before his death — and which appeared in Italian book stores today under the title, "Il Giornale Dellanima" (Journal of a Soul).

The Pope spoke with rare bitterness of his military service, saying "I had to submit myself to military service which is an unjust and barbarous imposition on the ministers of God."

★ ★ ★

Later, he drew this lesson from his military experience: "I do not live for other than to obey the signs of God like a little soldier at attention before his superior. . . . I am a servant. . . . and the Lord has shown me his orders. . . . I love health. Here is sickness. God sends it to me. Well, may sickness be blessed then."

Pope John was drafted in November 1901, and served as a noncommissioned officer in the medical corps.

The man who later wrote encyclicals hailed by the working classes and who did more to ease tension between the Vatican and Communist world than any other church figure of this century wrote this way about a May Day demonstration in 1903:

"The workingmen, but without religion and without God, the poor, exploited by the demagogues, the unconscious crowd lives it up today, bawling its mainly utopian ideals which, at times most just, are almost always deformed and profaned."

SPIRITUAL LIFE

The diary is a collection of notes that shed light on Pope John's spiritual life from his young years in seminary until one year before his death in 1963.

★ ★ ★

On July 9, 1961, Pope John told his private secretary Msgr. Loris Capovilla that he could publish the diary, but only after his death.

"My soul," he said, "is in these pages."

More Control Asked in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —The United States and Britain were said today to have suggested to the Soviet Union that the countries that would get the biggest bills for any future U.N. peacekeeping operation should be given more control over the General Assembly's financing of the operation.

The two big western powers also were reported to have put forward the idea, in a talk with the Russians, that the Security Council's position in the origination of such operations should be strengthened.

Diplomatic sources said those points were made at a meeting about two weeks ago among Soviet delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko, British delegate Sir Patrick Dean and U.S. delegate Francis T. P. Plimpton.

They said the American and British delegates now were waiting for Moscow's reaction.

★ ★ ★

The talks, the informants said, are intended to lead to an arrangement acceptable to everybody for the financing of future U.N. peace forces — and also to get the Russians to pay their back bills for the Congo and Middle East forces.

The failure of the Soviet Union, France and others to pay for one or both of those operations has brought the United Nations to the edge of bankruptcy.

Of County Prosecutor

Dems Ask Nonpartisan Choice

By JIM DYGERT

Oakland County's top Democrat today called upon the county's Circuit Court judges to ignore political considerations in choosing a temporary successor to Republican Prosecutor George F. Taylor.

★ ★ ★

Sander M. Levin, chairman of the county Democratic party, urged the judges to "act beyond partisan politics" in appointing an attorney to serve out Taylor's unexpired term.

"The choice by the nonpartisan Circuit judges should not simply represent automatic confirmation of the action of a Republican committee," Levin said.

"Since the unexpired term is relatively short (the rest of 1964 from March 31), what Oakland County needs is the assurance of an extremely competent person during this interim period, rather than embroilment of the prosecutor's office in political jockeying," Levin said.

"Republican officials are apparently seeking to give one candidate a boost in the Republican primary," he charged.

MEET TOMORROW

The GOP executive committee is to meet tomorrow to decide whether to recommend a new prosecutor or agree to a compromise proposal by the judges.

★ ★ ★

The judges want to avoid giving an advantage to any of three announced candidates by naming an interim prosecutor who would not seek election.

Presiding Judge James S. Thorburn had planned to call a meeting of the county's seven Circuit judges Monday, but said yesterday they would meet Friday or next Monday.

Most top county Republicans are backing Senior Assistant Prosecutor Robert L. Templin. Templin and fellow senior assistants on Taylor's staff—Jerome K. Barry and William E. Lang — are announced candidates for their boss' job.

★ ★ ★

Taylor is resigning to run for Congress.

UP TO JUDGES

Choosing his replacement until the fall election is up to a majority of the seven judges, five of whom are former Republicans.

Three of the judges were appointed last year by Republican Gov. George Romney and will be counting heavily on GOP support in their first election campaign this year.

The judges have asked the GOP to concur in appointment of Taylor's chief assistant, Robert D. Long, on the expectation that Long would not seek election.

★ ★ ★

This would avoid giving Templin the advantage of incumbency, leaving him, Barry and Lang to fight it out on even ground in the GOP primary.

Those who control the Republican party organization favor Templin because he's been a more active party worker than the others. They feel they should pick Taylor's successor since Taylor was a Republican.

Waterford Township Board of Education members will hold their regular monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Schoolcraft Elementary School. The public is invited.

The proposal was suggested by board member Donald Porter.

The board tomorrow night will consider a plan to revise present attendance areas of elementary schools for the 1964-65 school year.

★ ★ ★

The revision was necessary due to the two new elementary schools under construction and slated for occupancy this fall.

In other business the board will consider purchasing various school needs such as audio-visual equipment and additional books for school libraries.

A curriculum report on mathematics is scheduled for the meeting. Robert Scrivens, mathematics coordinator for the school system, will discuss the program.

3-Year Probation Is Given in Theft

An unemployed tool and die maker who got $165 from a Farmington store when employes thought he had a gun in his pocket, was placed on three years' probation yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Leslie M. Gingell, 52, of 42300 Eight Mile, Northville, also was ordered by Circuit Judge Philip Pratt to pay $150 court costs and $39.38 restitution.

Gingell, who was first charged with armed robbery, was permitted to plead guilty charged with armed robbery. He admitted robbing a Sanders store at 23310 Farmington Jan. 20.

What Gingell actually had in his pocket was a pair of pliers, according to police.

★ ★ ★

The restitution ordered by the court covered the difference between what was taken and the amount recovered by police from Gingell, who has no previous criminal record.

Wilson High on the Irish, but Tis Not From Alcohol

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—It's the Irish season again (how are you feeling, now?) and I'm not going to be allowed to forget it.

Pat O'Brien has brought his night club act, dripping with Irish stories, to Basin St. East . . . sure and it looks like this'll be the St. Patty's year we'll all want to remember . . . and let's hope we'll be able to!

WILSON

Always there are people who speak of the Irish as being bibulous. But I know an Irishman at our house who has never had a drink of alcohol. So this seems a good time for me to say something about the Irish and make things easier with her at home. Now how will we start?

How about Eugene O'Neill? How many Pulitzer Prize plays do you suppose this hard-drinking Irishman, born on 42d St., wrote? Two? Three?

Four! In 1920, he started, with "Beyond the Horizon," then came "Anna Christie," "Strange Interulde," and, in 1957, "Long Day's Journey Into Night." O'Neill worshipers often wonder how he'd have done if he hadn't drank—or had taken is up seriously.

Once the Irish were heavyweight champions—they learned that was hard work and got into other forms of entertainment.

★ ★ ★

John L. Sullivan was a big man in his day. But did he influence the country half as much as the Ed Sullivan of today? I doubt it. In that same entertainment groove today you have Jackie Gleason—and a lad named Peter O'Toole.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Shirley MacLaine's quickie trip to Switzerland recently was to coax Peter Ustinov to star with her in "John Goldfarb, Please Come Home." (So far, no luck) . . . William Redfield, appearing in "Hamlet" with R. Burton says that Liz Taylor now applies his makeup: "And she's the best makeup artist since Lon Chaney" . . . "Funny Girl," opening March 22, has already cost more than $600,000. Roz Russell and Johnnie Ray attended the 18th birthday party of Judy Garland's daughter Liza: Liza balked at posing for camermen ("This is a private party, not a press party!") but relented.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Harry Stampler recalls his home town: "It was so small that our basketball team had only three players."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: I know of one family that lived within its income—and without everything else.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Time heals our scars. Wrinkles are more stubborn."

EARL'S PEARLS: Human nature is harder to change than a $100 bill.

Bomb Scare Clears School

DRYDEN, N.Y. (AP)—A total of 1,200 pupils missed two hours of classes Tuesday because of a bomb scare at Dryden Central School — but they'll have to make up the lost time, school officials say.

★ ★ ★

The officials declined to say whether they suspected a pupil was behind the high - pitched voice which called the school in this village east of Ithaca and said: "There is a bomb in the school."

No bomb was found.

Free Press Exec Dies

DETROIT (AP) — Harold Chellman, director for the Detroit Free Press, died yesterday at the age of 56. Death came in a local hospital after a long illness.

Judge Releases 20 Teens: 'No Detention Facilities'

DETROIT (AP) — Twenty teen - agers from whom Juvenile Court Judge James H. Lincoln predicted more trouble were freed from the Wayne County Juvenile Detention home Tuesday.

Judge Lincoln, deploring his own act, ordered the youths' release because of what he called "dangerously overcrowded" conditions at the home.

★ ★ ★

"Because of the shortage of space in state institutions, the overflow must be put out on the street," Judge Lincoln said of Detroit's problem and conditions in general in the state.

Coincidentally, Detroit's public school system made a direct plea to parents in an effort to reduce violence at schools and police reported a marked increase in juvenile arrests in February as compared to the same month last year.

62 PER CENT

Arrests of youngsters for misdeeds ranging up to felony-type crime increased by 62 per cent. Police Commissioner Ray Girardin said mild weather may have been partly responsible, especially with regard to auto thefts.

There were 778 juvenile arrests last month compared to 480 for February of last year, the police said.

★ ★ ★

The public schools' plea to parents for aid was in the form of a letter from Supt. Samuel M. Brownell to be taken home by 275,000 pupils.

Brownell asked the parents in the letter to make sure their children do not carry weapons to school.

PLEASE DISCUSS

"Please discuss this matter with your son or daughter," Brownell wrote. "Please make certain that he or she complies."

School violence has concerned police as well as juvenile lawbreaking on the streets.

★ ★ ★

Judge Lincoln said the 20 teenagers he released from the detention home had been ordered sent originally to Boys Vocational School at Lansing but that space there was lacking.

He said the Wayne County home was so crowded that 60 to 75 boys must sleep on mattresses on the floor.

★ ★ ★

Of the released 30, Lincoln said "I have no choice but to release these boys even though they can be expected to repeat their delinquent acts."

Judge Lincoln, advocate of the "halfway house" plan for detention of younger offenders, acted two days before an expected report on the proposal by State Department of Social Welfare. The Department's report is due Gov. George W. Romney Thursday.

Chevrolet Strike in First Full Week

FLINT (UPI)—The strike at the Chevrolet assembly plant entered its first full week today, idling some 4,200 workers here and in suburban Cleveland.

Negotiators held out hope for a quick settlement, however, when it was reported that the list of 175 grievances which caused the strike had been narrowed to below 20.

★ ★ ★

The walkout idled 2,200 workers at the assembly plant and another 2,000 at an adjoining Fisher Body plant. In addition, a body plant near Cleveland was shut last weekend because of the Flint strike.

Blind Players Keep in Perfect Step

LANSING (AP) — Although they cannot see, members of the Michigan School for the Blind Band march in perfect formation, and their playing has won top honors at state and district festivals many times.

The youngsters learn musical scores by Braille, memorize them and practice until they have mastered the tunes.

In marching, the students keep shoulder-to-shoulder contact to form straight ranks. Leonard J. Chard, director of the band, understands their problems.

U.S. Warns Russ on Fliers

Military Plane Toll Costs $1.8 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—More than $1.8 billion in U.S. military planes have been lost or badly damaged in crashes over the past three years, it was learned today.

Pilot error and "material failure" were listed as the chief causes in more than 2,000 major military aircraft accidents in 1961-1963.

This data was contained in an analysis provided by the Defense Department.

The Associated Press asked the report in connection with a running dispute over the relative reliability of missiles and manned aircraft.

★ ★ ★

Critics of U.S. missiles systems have suggested, among other things, that there is much more assurance about the reliability of manned aircraft because of many years of experience and thousands and thousands and thousands of flights.

1,100 ACCIDENTS

The Pentagon report said the Air Force suffered some 1,100 major accidents over the past three years causing damage totaling $1.1 billion.

This averages out to about $1 million per accident.

During the same period more than 900 Navy and Marine Corps planes sustained major damage or were destroyed.

The dollar estimate: something over $700 million.

★ ★ ★

The Army, which uses mainly helicopters and other relatively inexpensive aircraft, reported more than 200 major accidents with $27 million in damages.

Nehru Warns: India to Attack if Necessary

'Will End Cease-Fire to Defend Territory Against Pakistan'

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru told a cheering Parliament today that Indian troops will cross the cease-fire line in Kashmir if necessary to defend Indian territory against Pakistan.

"We are not prepared to go across the cease-fire line and attack the territory now under Pakistan occupation," Nehru said, "but obviously if it becomes necessary in the defense of our territory for them (Indian troops) to cross the line, then they will cross it."

Nehru's statement was the strongest made by any top official since the recent outbreak of skirmishing and raids across the cease-fire line in the disputed Himalayan state.

India and Pakistan fought over Kashmir in 1948 and have been quarreling over the state ever since.

★ ★ ★

Commenting on charges that the Pakistan government is instigating the border clashes, Nehru said: "I know it is a regular campaign."

PAKISTANI RAID

Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan told Parliament 25 Pakistanis raided an Indian village 1½ miles on India's side of the cease-fire line Sunday night, killing four persons, including an 11-year-old boy.

Chavan said India had lodged a complaint with U.N. observers in Kashmir.

The Indian government has learned that Communist China and Pakistan have agreed to coordinate foreign and military policies affecting India, a high government official told The Associated Press earlier today.

'Soviet Action Could Peril American Ties'

Renew Demands for Release of Three Downed by Red MIG

BERLIN (AP) — The Russians today refused a second American request for the release of an injured U.S. flier from a Soviet military hospital at Magdeburg, East Germany.

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States made a new demand today for the release of three American fliers shot down in East Germany and warned that their continued detention jeopardizes U.S.-Soviet relations.

Charge d'Affaires Walter J. Stoessel presented the demand at the Soviet Foreign Office, coupling it with a denial of Soviet charges that the three men were on an espionage mission when their reconnaissance bomber was shot down on March 10.

An embassy spokesman said Stoessel also warned the Russians that "further delay in release and return of the crewmen clearly jeopardized possibilities for expanding areas of U.S.-Soviet cooperation and can affect present efforts in cooperation in various fields."

The Russians have brushed aside several earlier demands for release of the airmen: Capt. David I. Holland, 35, of Holland, Minn., Capt. Melvin J. Kessler, 30, of Philadelphia, and Lt. Harold W. Welch, 24, of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Soviet officials notified U.S. military authorities in Frankfurt Monday that one of the fliers was injured and said an American doctor could visit him.

De Gaulle Asks Exchange Plan

Won't Cut U. S. Ties, Mexicans Are Told

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle proposes that France and Mexico join in a big exchange program but says it wouldn't cut into Mexican relations with the United States.

De Gaulle told a joint session of the Mexican Congress yesterday that Latin America is forging into "the foreground of the stage of world affairs." He made clear that he wants to increase French influence in the region.

The 73-year-old French leader suggested Mexico and France begin a large-scale program of scientific, cultural and technical exchanges and become "true and good companions in the work of civilization.

"Without a doubt, such a rapprochement implies that the aim, the attitude, the action, in a word the policy of Mexico City and Paris, should not only be prevented from diverging but should actually be attuned," he said.

Before Congress and at a presidential luncheon at the National Palace, de Gaulle tried to ease fears in Washington that his visit might affect the closeness of U.S.-Mexican relations.

Any special relations between Mexico and France, he said at the luncheon, are not intended "to put an end or even to diminish the relations that bind us to our neighbors."

Before Congress he spoke of "Mexico which, without in any way underestimating the fact that her massive relations with her great northern neighbor are both natural and fertile, still feels attracted toward the European countries by all kinds of affinities and, in the first place, may I dare add, attracted to my own country."

Labor Unit Endorses 7 in City Race

The Oakland County AFL-CIO Council today announced its endorsement of seven Pontiac City Commission candidates, including Mayor Robert A. Landry.

Receiving labor approval were Rollie L. Jones, District 1; Allen J. Denham, District 2; Sam Gabriel, District 3; Leslie H. Hudson, District 4; John A. Dugan, District 5; Wesley J. Wood, District 6, and Landry, District 7.

"These candidates were endorsed, but it does not mean the other candidates were not qualified," said Fred Haggard, AFL-CIO Council president.

"They have measured up to the objectives this organization believes is necessary for the City of Pontiac."

★ ★ ★

Haggard said the endorsements were made after 13 of the 14 commission candidates were interviewed by the council's Executive COPE (Committee on Political Education).

DOESN'T ACCEPT

He said only candidate Frederick H. Beedle (District 6) did not accept the invitation.

"The purpose of the meeting was to hear each candidate's view for placing Pontiac back in good government, to take a lead in completing urban renewal and their intention as to new industries and commercial businesses coming to Pontiac," Haggard explained.

Haggard said the council's endorsements for the April 20 election, first made in six years, came at the request of membership seeking to clarify election issues and was also due to the charter change for citywide voting.

New Position at Circuit Court

Moore Is Elected as Executive Judge

In a move aimed at streamlining court administration and reducing the soaring number of divorces, Oakland County's Circuit Court judges have created the new court post of executive judge.

★ ★ ★

Judge Arthur E. Moore has been elected to serve as executive judge for 1964, according to an announcement today by Presiding Judge James S. Thorburn.

Judge Moore's responsibilities in the new post were listed as:

- Efficiency of county probation services.
- Efficiency of the Friend of the Court's office.

★ ★ ★

- An attempt to provide serviceable and efficient marriage conciliation services.
- Supervision of the court budget.

★ ★ ★

Judge Thorburn added that efficiency of the assignment clerk's office, which schedules court cases, would also be part of executive judge's duties.

REVIEWING SALARIES

Reviewing salaries of court staffers would be part of the responsibility in connection with the budget, he said.

Judge Moore, who has long been interested in the court's finding a way to attack the divorce problem through marriage counseling, volunteered to accept the duties of the new post, Judge Thorburn said.

Judge Moore will continue, however, to take his regular turn as presiding judge and handle his normal case load, Judge Thorburn said.

★ ★ ★

He said that the case loads of the seven judges might be readjusted and redistributed at the end of the year, however, if the new duties cause Judge Moore to fall behind in his regular judicial work.

DIVORCE PROBLEM

An effort to make headway against the divorce problem appeared to be the main object of creating the new post, since this has been a pet project of Judge Moore for some time.

He was a leading figure in the formation last fall of a nonprofit corporation of judges and clergymen to inaugurate a countywide marital education and marriage counseling service.

Before his appointment to Circuit Court last February, Judge Moore served 24 years as probate and juvenile court judge.

★ ★ ★

During this time, he frequently cited broken homes as a main factor in juvenile delinquency.

U.S. Stakes SE Asia Hopes on Viet Plan to Stop Reds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is staking its hopes of saving Southeast Asia from the Communists on South Viet Nam's pledge to use stepped up American aid — possibly as much as $50 million worth — in a plan to clear the Red-infested Mekong Delta.

The White House announced the increase in economic and military aid to South Viet Nam yesterday after President Johnson met with the National Security Council to hear a detailed report on the status of the long and bloody war against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The present rate of aid to South Viet Nam is $1.5 million a day.

The President and the council heard a report from Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, who returned last week from Saigon.

★ ★ ★

Admitting that there have "unquestionably been setbacks" in the war, the White House blamed two factors: increased shipments of arms and men to the Viet Cong, and the confusion created by the changes in government in South Viet Nam.

NEW PROGRAM

The White House said that to counteract this it planned to bolster the government with new infusions of economic aid and an increased military training program.

The increase in aid will be tied to a battle plan devised by Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, new head of the South Vietnamese government.

Khanh plans to put into effect a "national mobilization" program which would set up a stronger antiguerrilla military force and put all Vietnamese in certain age groups into jobs that would aid the war effort.

★ ★ ★

In what was termed a "step by step and province by province" drive against the guerrillas, the White House said Khanh planned to follow up his army with administrators, health workers and teachers.

HIGHER COST

This will involve "substantial increases in cost to the South Vietnamese economy," the White House said, and will be offset partly by the new U.S. aid.

Government sources said the training aid increase would emphasize counter-guerrilla forces, which the South Vietnamese have not built up despite the longtime U.S. pressure on them to do so.

★ ★ ★

This may require sending more U. S. "special forces" troops to Viet Nam to train counter-guerrillas.

State Action Asked

Charge Bias in Bowling

The Pontiac Human Relations Committee has asked the State Civil Rights Commission for "immediate action" on its findings of racial discrimination against Negro bowling leagues in the Pontiac area.

Irving Steinman, chairman of the local committee, requested state action in a letter to Governor George Romney "since we are without any powers to enforce our findings and rulings."

Steinman said that 18 Negro bowling leagues in this area had been trying to secure openings at area bowling alleys for several years and that his committee had been working on the problem for seven months.

"The problem is basically that . . . when colored leagues apply they are told that no space is available," Steinman points out in his letter.

"On one or two occasions, they sent a white person to apply to secure leagues for them and when the bowlers showed up they were turned away."

ATTEMPTS FAIL

Steinman explained that committee members met with the Bowling Proprietors of Oakland County, "and over a period of seven months, all attempts to place colored leagues failed.

"It is the opinion of this committee that places were available and the colored leagues . . . were turned away because they were colored . . . that openings are available at this time and that colored leagues can be placed at bowling alleys in this area.

"It is further the opinion of this committee that the bowling proprietors do not intend to cooperate," the letter concludes.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Robert A. Landry and Commissioner Samuel J. Whiters supported the human relations committee findings at last night's city commission meeting.

Whipping Bill 'Beaten to Death' in House Unit

There's quite a difference between sympathy and support.

No one appreciates that fact better than Pontiac's Democratic State Rep. Arthur J. Law, whose bill to permit public whipping for juvenile lawbreakers was killed yesterday by the House Judiciary Committee in Lansing.

★ ★ ★

"I guess you could say we beat it to death," quipped Rep. Thomas Whinery, R-Grand Rapids, chairman of the committee.

"Nearly all my colleagues told me they were in sympathy with my idea," Law said. "But they didn't want to go on record in favor of it."

Boy Prodigy, 4, Is Newspaper Fan

LANSING (AP)—Paul Jones Jr., of Lansing is a confirmed newspaper reader at the age of four.

★ ★ ★

He reads encyclopedias from time to time, magazines and books, but prefers the newspaper. His parents say he frequently scans the newspaper from page one through the classified section and remembers most of what he has read.

"Yes, he definitely can read and understands what he is reading—within the realm of his experience," reported Mrs. Linda Smart, a graduate assistant at Michigan State University's College of Education, who checked into the child prodigy.

"He is a very bright child," Mrs. Smart said.

★ ★ ★

Their ambition is a better education for their son.

His mother was particularly anxious to have him read well for a newsman. Paul wanted to ride his new bike.

The boy would read a few sentences at a time, then repeat his plea to be allowed to go out and play.

Finally, he sat on the floor and crossed his arms: "I'm takin' the Fifth Amendment," he said.

Chief Named by Waterford

Waterford Township Supervisor James E. Seeterlin today appointed Captain William C. Stokes as township police chief.

Stokes, who had been acting head of the department since former Chief Millard J. Pender resigned Feb. 3, began official duties as chief today.

The new chief outpointed Lt. Frank Randolph in competitive examinations for the top department job.

Results of the examinations were announced yesterday by the township's civil service commission. The commission then recommended that Stokes be named chief.

Seeterlin's letter accepting this recommendation and formally appointing Stokes was written this morning.

Case Goes Up in Smoke, Like the Trees

What's left of John Williams' 1,000 Christmas trees is a heap of dried-up needles and nearly barren branches.

The issue surrounding his abundance of Yuletide leftovers met a similar fate yesterday when his case was dismissed in Bloomfield Township Justice Court.

Williams, 1695 Ward, was charged by the township with storing combustible material on a residential lot and a public thoroughfare.

Williams had inherited the greenery from a boys club during the holidays. Seeking about 100 of the trees to use as cover for wildlife, he had told the youths to bring their unsold inventory to his place.

★ ★ ★

His wish was granted tenfold.

WOULDN'T BURN

The snow-covered trees, Williams found, would not burn during February when he was faced with the charge.

He since has been able to start fires in old tires and watch about half of his problem go up in smoke. The rest of the heap is being diminished by chopping.

Williams' case reportedly was dismissed on a technicality.

Justice of the Peace Mrs. Alice Gilbert declined to elaborate.

Road Toll Hits 387

EAST LANSING (AP) — Traffic accidents have killed 387 persons in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The death toll at this date last year was 278.

Won't Go to Planners

City to Eye Rezoning

It took five motions by the Pontiac city commission last night to pass a motion which was erroneously "defeated" at last week's meeting.

The result: a request from Charles L. Langs, a major urban renewal developer, to rezone 16 acres for a proposed town-house-type housing project outside the renewal area won't go back to the city planning commission.

One of the motions passed last night instructs the city attorney to prepare an ordinance to rezone the property from Residential-1 to Residential-3.

It is expected to be introduced at next Tuesday's meeting, at which time a date will be set for a public hearing on the ordinance.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners Dick M. Kirby and William H. Taylor, who voted against the rezoning last week, maintained their position last night.

The confusion revolved around an erroneous interpretation of the state law regarding action on rezoning measures where a protest petition has been submitted by adjacent property owners.

Last week the commission voted 5-2 in favor of rejecting a planning commission recommendation to deny the zoning request.

By the same vote, they favored a motion to accept a recommendation from the city planning staff which favored the rezoning, if certain specifications were met by the developers.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Robert A. Landry declared that motion had been defeated because state law requires a ¾ majority — or 6-1 vote in this case — where a protest petition has been filed.

REFERRED BACK

City Attorney William A. Ewart concurred with this. Langs request was then referred to the planning commission for another public hearing.

However, Commissioner Winford E. Bottom last night questioned application of the state law to last week's motion.

Ewart got out the law book. It stated that ¾ majority was needed for "passage" of a rezoning ordinance under such circumstances.

★ ★ ★

Bottom pointed out that the commission wasn't acting on passage of the ordinance last week since the request hadn't even been drafted in the form of an ordinance yet.

ATTORNEY CONCURRED

Ewart concurred with this.

Thus, last night commissioners voted 5-2 approval of motions to:

1—Reconsider last week's action.

2—Accept last week's "defeated" motion as actually adopted.

★ ★ ★

3—Instruct Ewart to prepare a rezoning ordinance for introduction next week.

4—Rescind a former motion to refer the entire matter back to the planning commission.

FIFTH MOTION

Then Taylor offered a fifth motion instructing Landry to arrange for a group of residents protesting the rezoning to visit similar housing developments with a staff member and Daniel R. Veazey, planning commission chairman.

Taylor's motion was approved without objection.

Taylor said such a tour would give residents a better idea of what type of housing Langs proposes to build on the site if it is rezoned.

★ ★

In any case, unless the protest petition is withdrawn, it will take a ¾ majority vote of the commission to approve the rezoning when the ordinance comes up for final action. Whether the ¾ majority refers to the commission or just a quorum has not been spelled out.

The area involved lies north of Michigan and south of right-of-way for the proposed M59 freeway between Tasmania and Anderson.

Mrs. Marvin (Rosemarie) Clark, 23, of 195 Florence, died at Pontiac General Hospital of a broken neck shortly after being struck by a car while walking across Telegraph near Elizabeth Lake road last night.

James R. Decker, 34, was killed in a head-on collision in West Bloomfield Township. He was dead on arrival at Pontiac General following the 12:25 a.m. crash.

Kathleen E. Modlin, 20, of 1990 Long Pointe, died at 1:15 p.m. at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. She had suffered head injuries in the 12:30 a.m. Sunday accident at Saginaw and Elm.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac police said Mrs. Clark was crossing west to east when she was hit by a car driven by Edward E. Doutre, 45, of Flint, traveling north on Telegraph.

IN A DAZE

A southbound motorist told police that he narrowly missed hitting the woman. Another witness said the pedestrian appeared to be in a daze, supporting Doutre's statement that she appeared to be walking with her head down.

The accident occurred at 8:15 p.m. Doutre was not held.

Decker was driving west on West Maple when his car crossed the center line, about a quarter mile west of Drake, West Bloomfield Township police said, and collided with auto driven by Jeremiah Phelps, 40, of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Phelps was not hospitalized, according to police.

Miss Modlin was driving out of a gas station when her car was hit broadside by one driven by Samuel Washington, 30, of 31 Gillespie. He is in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

interview that India is revamping its policy on the assumption that in the future it will face two hostile neighbors working together rather than separately.

SEPARATE DEAL

This indicated that the Indian government is discounting the possibility of making a separate diplomatic deal with either Pakistan or Communist China to relieve the pressure on at least part of its northern border.

Premier Chou En-lai of Red China visited Pakistan last month and won a pledge of close cooperation from President Mohammad Ayub Khan, but there was no public mention of any military or diplomatic collaboration.

Water Supply to Courthouse Cut Temporarily

An 8-inch water main at the County Service Center burst yesterday, cutting off water supply to the courthouse.

A maintenance department crew worked through the night so that service could be restored today.

A 4-inch pipe was run into the building from another main used to feed water into the lawn sprinkling system in the summer.

County Engineer Joseph Joachim said the new source would suffice until the break can be located and repaired.

The break was discovered at 4:15 p.m. when a courthouse guard noticed water spouting about a foot high from seams in the concrete.

West Berlin Police on the border said the ambulance traveled westward along the Autobahn this morning and returned to West Berlin at 3:15 p.m.

Army and Air Force spokesmen declined comment on the purpose of the trip.

A possibility was that medical supplies or Red Cross welfare items were taken to the hospital for the injured officer.

HINT SPY TRIAL

Communist officials in East Berlin have hinted that the three men may be tried as spies.

U.S. officials have insisted that the plane crossed into Communist air space accidentally on a routine training flight.

They have also protested its being shot by a Soviet MIG. The Russians claim the American plane ignored a signal to land.

★ ★ ★

Stoessel read the American statement to Mikhail Smirnovsky, chief of the American section of the Foreign Office.

THREE POINTS

The American Embassy official made three major points:

1. Further delay in releasing the prisoners would jeopardize good relations.

★ ★ ★

2. American officials had repeatedly stated the plane was not on an espionage mission, and was unarmed.

★ ★ ★

3. American air control officials had made very effort to prevent the plane straying off course and this was known to Soviet officials.

Lapel Pin Sellers Not DAV Group

Persons selling red, white and blue lapel pins in Pontiac shopping areas are not representatives of the Disabled American Veterans organization, Oakland County Veterans Affairs Director Floyd Cremer declared today.

He said any solicitor representing himself as such is violating the law and should be reported to police.

The annual street sale of forget-me-nots in September is the only one authorized by the organization, Cremer added.

Proceeds are used for the welfare of veterans and dependents in need of assistance.

"These guys who are selling pins now are part of a team that moves from community to community selling for their own benefit," said Cremer.

GUIDE GOVERNMENT STUDY — Appointed to head the Bloomfield Township government study committee which held its organizational meeting last night were former Michigan Gov. Murry D. Van Wagoner (left), who will serve as chairman, and Charles W. Wiggins, vice chairman. Mrs. Robert Sheldon was elected secretary of the 18-member group undertaking a survey of various forms of government which might be suitable for the growing community.

Birmingham Area News

Former Governor Leads Group

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — With former Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner at its helm, the 18-member Citizens Committee for Local Government set to work last night.

Supervisor Homer Case announced the appointment of Van Wagoner, 3890 Oakland, at the start of the two-hour organizational session.

Charles W. Wiggins, owner of a Birmingham insurance agency who lives at 734 Yarmouth, was named vice chairman.

Members unanimously elected Mrs. Robert Sheldon secretary of the group. Mrs. Sheldon, 3560 Woodale, represents the League of Women Voters.

★ ★ ★

NO DEADLINE

The group has no specific deadline for presenting its recommendations. Case said he only hopes the work will be completed by the time the current two-mill levy for the fire and police departments expires in three years.

Committee members last night got a glimpse of what's in store for them as their deliberations continue. They received a number of fact sheets with statistics outlining the township's present status.

In his introductory remarks, Case listed six basic needs of the township as it attempts to serve a growing population now estimated at 28,000.

★ ★ ★

The supervisor gave top priority to the unit's acquiring the right to determine public necessity "in the interest of the public peace, safety and welfare of the residents."

As an example of his predicament, Case cited poor sanitary sewer conditions in parts of the township.

Installation of a sanitary sewer now must be backed with the signatures of those owning 51 per cent of the property in a proposed special assessment district.

"There can be a few in trouble with faulty septic tanks and the others take the attitude 'I'm not my brother's keeper'," he said.

★ ★ ★

Other needs listed by Case included greater flexibility of administration, broader powers to ordinances and the right to levy taxes within certain limits without a vote of the people.

GREATER POWER

"We need greater selling power on bond issues which would give a lower interest rate, also ability to pledge the full faith and credit of the township," he added.

★ ★ ★

Also sought is a "greater degree of regulatory power over the streets, alleys and bridges of the township."

On School Integration

Leaders View Race Statement

The Pontiac School Board's statement on racial integration in local classrooms drew mild reactions from some Negro leaders.

★ ★ ★

Clarence Barnes, executive director of the local office of the Urban League, said he was disappointed in the statement.

"I don't know what motivated it. I feel that there are other ways to look at it," said Barnes.

The Urban League official added that Negro teachers have not been systematically placed throughout the school system.

★ ★ ★

He said that white teachers are "running away" and have refused to work in predominately Negro schools.

POSITIVE STAND

However, Barnes cautioned that he was not interested in making countercharges, but indicated he would have liked the school board to have taken a more positive approach.

He said the Negro was ready and willing to sit down in a spirit of cooperation to solve "this sensitive problem with cool heads."

A similar reaction to the policy statement came from Dr. Rigoberto M. Guzman, chairman of the NAACP education committee.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Guzman said that blame for segregation in schools had never been laid at the feet of the local school board, although he added that it was obvious that the problem exists.

TENSION MOUNTING

The NAACP spokesman, who was at the school board session last fall when the original charges of "de facto segregation" were levied, said racial tensions are mounting across the country.

Commenting on the proposed teacher exchange plan, Dr. Guzman asked: "Is it undesirable to teach a Negro rather than a white child? As a professional educator, I would think you would teach whoever comes your way."

He said pressures are being put on the conservative Negro, but the problem (racial segregation) should be solved properly so that it will be long-lasting.

In an unexpected public statement last week, the school board detailed its policies on pupil placement, employment and assignment of teachers and educational programs.

'BEST POLICY'

Board President William H. Anderson described the discrepancies between white and Negro enrollments as resulting from "the best available policy."

Anderson hinted that there might have been different practices in the past, but said in recent times that teachers were hired and placed without regard to race, color or creed.

"The board of education believes it to be desirable to continue to strive for an equitable distribution of Negro and white teachers in all," said the two-term board president.

He added that educational programs were the same throughout the system, rejecting implied charges that local schools were maintained on a "separate, but equal" basis.

HOUSING PATTERN

Anderson attributed the racial line-up in Pontiac schools to housing patterns.

Charles E. Billings, 236 Gage, originator of the official "de facto segregation" protest before the school board last fall, was encouraged by the board's public stand.

"I was encouraged by the board's awareness of the problem. We'll be very happy to work with them."

Billings added, "It is important to move as quickly as possible. The problem doesn't stand still."

The Detroit junior high school teacher is also one of the planners behind the upcoming Freedom Day demonstration next Tuesday.

Barry: Views Won't Change

Tours N. California on Plane Campaign

CHICO, Calif. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater goes airport-hopping today, promising California Republicans he won't change his conservative colors to woo presidential primary votes.

★ ★ ★

Goldwater planned a journey to Lakeport, Auburn and Stockton to press his campaign for the state's June 2 primary.

The Arizona senator, his campaign staff and newsmen—who have been traveling by chartered airliner—switched to three light planes for the hops to small town airports.

WON'T CHANGE

Goldwater set out with this promise: "I'm not going to change Goldwater one bit to get one of your votes. If my constituents want me, they are going to get me the way I am."

He said this to a crowd of more than 2,000 persons at the Chico Fair Grounds Tuesday night, telling them that as candidate and as president he would stand for a stern foreign policy and a balanced budget.

★ ★

"I believe the United States must earn the respect that is due her from the other nations of this world," he said.

"This respect can be gained by the United States acting like a world power; not like a world weakling."

BALANCE BUDGET

At home, Goldwater said, the federal budget can be balanced "and I am convinced that I can balance it without damage to any services in this country.

"I can only make you one promise," he added. "I've been imbued with these philosophies too long to change."

★ ★ ★

Goldwater said President Johnson can't change either — "He's so indebted to the left-wing element I don't see how he can get away from it.

"His legislation will be to the left," Goldwater told a news conference. "He is sort of fenced in."

Pretty Cuba Girl Dresses as Man to Escape Reds

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A pretty refugee said today she fled Cuba by stowing away on a cargo ship dressed as a man.

★ ★ ★

The petite brunette, Nelida Del Pilar Fernandez, 21, said she was aboard the Lebanese vessel Toula, carrying Greek crewmen, when it left Havana last November.

In British Honduras, she was discovered, the stowaway said, but was permitted to continue after the ship's captain paid a fine for her. She said she left the ship in Jamaica and was there three months.

★ ★ ★

"I would have started out swimming from Havana to escape the Communist oppression there," said Miss Fernandez.

She was one of 41 refugees arriving in Miami Tuesday.

Korea Navy Chief Asks Antisub Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Korea's top naval officer said Tuesday he has asked the United States to provide more antisubmarine warfare equipment to meet a growing submarine threat.

★ ★ ★

The visiting Korean chief of naval operations, Vice Adm. Lee Maeng-tkee, 39, told a news conference the best present estimates are that: (1) North Korea has more than two Soviet-built medium submarines; (2) Communist China has 32 or more and (3) the Soviet Union has more than 100 submersibles based at Vladivostok and Dairen.

Machines Have High School Education

Automation to Strain Management and Labor

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the third article in a four-part series on automation written by Newspaper Enterprise Association reporter Ray Cromley.)

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — By a strange paradox, automation is going to put heavy strains on both management and the unions.

As in national defense, many gambles in private industry are going to become so big and mistakes so costly, that one or two wrong decisions by a manager may be disastrous.

This is the conclusion of government and private experts on automation, labor and economics interviewed in Washington.

★ ★ ★

OUT OF BUSINESS

Or he can modernize too slowly, like Studebaker's Indiana plant, and be out of business. He can let some tricky little mistake cause a disaster.

Not long ago, a card was punched incorrectly and an $18.5 million rocket was blown to bits.

Relatively simple machines have been replacing the uneducated worker. One expert estimates a good modern machine has the equivalent of a high school education.

★ ★ ★

But this is changing. In the works are machines which can make hour-by-hour or day-by-day decisions common to middle management.

It started out as war gaming in the Pentagon. That same technique is now beginning to be applied to company decisions.

Machines work out the alternatives, describe the results of different possible decisions.

Such machines can for example, be used to "decide" which markets are best for a new product, what research leads are the best to follow, what would be the best way to finance a new plant, what would be the best time to come out with a new product.

These new machines will hit many managers as hard as the first automated machinery hit labor.

Gradually, managers capable of making only routine decisions will become a drug on the market.

The machines will push up the need for managers with roving imaginations and wide backgrounds.

Two instances of this trend are:

Since companies will need more uninhibited creative research scientists to keep ahead of the opposition, the new managers will have to be men able to handle these unusual types and get the most out of them.

WIDER UNDERSTANDING

Since many of the operations of an automated industry will take place in markets that are internationally competitive, the new managers will have to have a wider understanding of the world situation.

The unions in an age of automation are going to have as many problems as the managers.

Most unions have decided they cannot or should not fight automation.

They will drive for security and a share in automation's profits instead.

They will aim at contracts which guarantee that workers won't be laid off because of automation; that declining employment rather will be achieved by attrition as workers retire or change jobs; that part of the slack be taken up with shorter hours and longer vacations; that workers be allotted a share of the new profits or savings created when a plant is automated.

MORE COMMITTEES

They will push for more permanent labor-management committees to adjust to step-ups in automation.

They will seek preservation of seniority when an employe is moved from one plant to another in the same company and a preservation of pension rights when a man moves from one job to another in the same industry.

But there is considerable pessimism now behind the scenes in unions.

★ ★ ★

They fear the first effect of growing automation will be a weakening of organized labor.

SLOW TO JOIN

Scientists, engineers, female workers and a goodly chunk of other white-collar workers have been slow in joining unions.

As automation increases, the percentage and the prestige of union members in the work force will decline and the power of unions in industrial negotiations will go down.

As automation grows, the increasing labor turnover will leave a larger pool of unemployed, which will further weaken the bargaining power of union members.

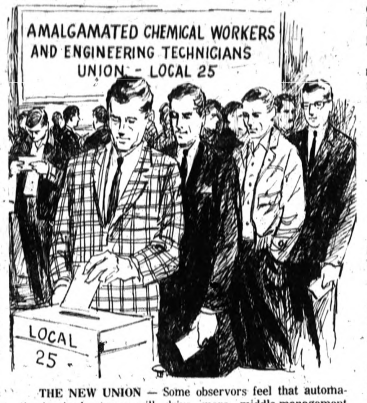
★ ★ ★

There is hope among the union men that as the scientists, engineers and technicians increase in the work force, they will find they must band together to protect their rights.

Some union officials believe that then they can tie the unskilled, the semiskilled, the white-collar engineer-technician groups into companywide or industrywide unions.

This, they believe, will give the less-trained the bargaining influence of the highly skilled groups.

Next: Bigger government.



THE NEW UNION — Some observors feel that automation-inspired stress will drive more middle-management people into unions. Once-routine decisions for management are now made by machines, eliminating need for the unimaginative manager.

Russia Sells Gold in Western Europe

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union resumed selling gold in West Europe again Tuesday — apparently to raise cash for North American wheat.

Market sources said about $4.5 million worth of Soviet gold was put up for sale, mainly in Paris but reaching London before the market closed.

Sources said it seemed likely that the selling was part of the preparations for the main Canadian wheat shipping season which follows the reopening of the St. Lawrence Seaway next month.

Prices Mixed on Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels, motors and airlines gained in a mixed stock market today.

Coppers backed away from recent gains made on price increase news. Cigarette issues were a little lower on balance following news that cigarette sales fell sharply in February in the wake of the government report on smoking and health.

Close Vigil Kept on Fires

Officials in California Fear Renewed Blaze

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Fire fighters kept a close vigil today on the remains of two giant brush fires that could whip into renewed fury if changeable wind conditions worsened.

The two fires in suburban foothill areas to the north and east of this sprawling city were officially declared contained yesterday afternoon — but fire officials warned that a number of "hot spots" could spread with increasing winds.

A third brush fire — in Weldon Canyon about 40 miles to the north in the vicinity of Newhall — continued to burn through the night with containment hoped for by early today.

Insured property damage in the contained Chevy Chase Canyon and Whiting Woods fires north of Glendale has been estimated at $2 million, plus another $1 million in damage to watershed.

★ ★ ★

At least 24 homes were destroyed and another 200 damaged as flames charred more than 9,000 acres in two days.

2,500 ACRES

More than 2,500 acres was involved in the third fire in the Newhall area.

There were other fires yesterday in Riverside — 65 miles to the east, in downtown Los Angeles and on the Palos Verdes Peninsula to the south.

Temperatures climbed to the highest levels of the year.

★ ★ ★

A maximum of 84 in downtown Los Angeles was the hottest for the date in 49 years.

$2 MILLION DAMAGE

The strong winds that fanned the destructive fires Monday also caused an estimated $2 million damage to some 11,000 homes and commercial buildings.

★ ★ ★

Most of the wind-damaged buildings were concentrated in the Van Nuys-Glendale-Pasadena area, with others scattered from the San Fernando Valley to San Bernardino — mostly in the foothills.

2 Navy Jets Collide on West Coast

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Two Navy jets collided Tuesday night about 15 miles west of La Jolla and went down in a ball of flames, the Coast Guard reported.

One pilot was rescued minutes after the crash. A search is being conducted for the other.

Rescued was Lt. Spencer J. Thomas, 31, of San Diego. Missing is Lt. (j.g.) Ernest M. Colvin III, 26, of Washington, D.C.

★ ★ ★

Both were attached to the Miramar Naval Air Station. The Coast Guard said they were headed out to sea on a routine training flight when they collided. Colvin was a wingman to Thomas on the flight.

A Navy spokesman at Miramar said, however, that he could not confirm there was a collision.

HEARD THUD

Thomas said he was flying at about 5,000 feet when he felt a jolt and heard a thud. "The next thing I knew the plane was on fire—so I ejected."

Hundreds of persons reported seeing an enormous fireball over the ocean and it was first thought a single plane had exploded in flight.

★ ★ ★

Lt. John Hancock, pilot of the helicopter that rescued Thomas, was on a training flight in the vicinity, and was at the scene within 4 minutes.

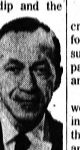
Future Recessions Mere Hesitations?

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—Is the business upturn from the 1960 recession catching its second wind or is the economy starting an entirely new cycle of its own?

Most observers have looked on last summer's dip and the mild recovery of industrial production from October through December as just one of those hesitations that come in most recoveries from recessions.



DAWSON

They date the present upturn as starting in February and March of 1961, and now pretty old as recoveries go.

★ ★ ★

But new pep in the economy in recent weeks has given a talking point for the minority holding that last summer and fall could be classed as a new-style recession—the mildest on record, perhaps, but a real one. And thus the current jump in industrial production is the start of a new general upswing.

This point of view is held by those championing the new philosophy that old business cycles are outmoded. If so, this would mean that recessions in the future will be no more than what we've previously regarded as hesitations.

FAR FROM ACCEPTED

It's a heart-warming theory, although far from proved, and far from generally accepted.

What is certain is that the Federal Reserve Board reports its industrial production index made its largest advance in February since last October. Based on the 1957-59 average as 100, the index in February hit a record 127.6, up from January's 127.2, and compared with a year ago figure of 120.2. The index climbed in the first part of 1963 and then dipped by one point in August and September. In all, the seven months prior to February were dubbed sluggish by the old school economists, and a slight recession by the new school.

★ ★ ★

The February advance is credited largely to the demand for automobiles and other consumer goods. It was accompanied by a rise in retail sales and brisk construction activity.

This consumer demand is working back to manufacturers in the form of new orders. So the gains in industrial output are expected to continue through the spring — whether this be a renewed spurt of an old upturn or the start of a new cycle.

OTHER HELPMATES

Also counted upon to help are tax reduction, corporate profit increases and the heady scent of rising stock prices.

On the level of prices for other things, the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., New York, notes in its March survey today that "the firm tone of economic activity has been accompanied by additional selective increases in the prices of industrial goods." It cites fabricated aluminum products, copper and brass tube and pipe, and some industrial chemicals. Previously, steel products rose selectively.

★ ★ ★

But the bank economists add the reassuring note that "price pressures are still the exception rather than the rule, thanks in part to the continuation of conservative inventory policies by business in general."

Whatever today's general business upturn is dubbed, it is expected by almost all the experts to last through most of this year. Some are doubtful about next year, but the hardy band championing the new economic theory think 1965 will see further improvement.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

(Q) "I am an Army officer with twenty year retirement in 5 years at age 42. My job potential in electronics engineering is several times my present Army salary. We hold a few good stocks now; have generous savings and insurance coverage. We are considering buying Sears, Roebuck; Bristol-Myers; and Caterpillar Tractor. Will these fit into the growth program we desire?" F. G.

(A) I believe you have picked three excellent stocks for increasing your capital in the years ahead.

Sears, Roebuck and Bristol-Myers are very strong growth issues that I have mentioned before.

Caterpillar Tractor — which is engaged largely in road-building machinery — is not technically considered in the growth category. Partly because of its large foreign operations, the cyclical factor has been pretty well smoothed out. Earnings and dividends have been in a generally upward trend over the past decade, and the stock has been one of the best performers of 1963-4. I think it can be included with the other two for your purpose.

★ ★ ★

(Q) "Realizing the importance of diversification, what do you do when you have a high percentage of your capital in a stock that you have owned for 40 years and whose tax base is practically zero? I'm in that position, and if I sold to secure diversification, I would have to pay a stiff capital gains tax. I would appreciate your views." H. S.

(A) If I were in your position, I would diversify and pay the resultant tax. Diversification, to my mind, is one of the most important of investment rules, and I believe it is unwise to disregard it.

All stocks contain an element of risk. In my long investment experience, I have seen men hurt badly because they have held a disproportionate amount of capital in a single stock — and have seen that stock fall because of a new element of competition, government regulation, or simply fashion.

Over 'Whitewash' Charge

GOP Set for Baker Row

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican senators, claiming at least a partial victory in their drive to keep the Bobby Baker probe alive, braced today for a new partisan row over their charges of an attempted "whitewash."

The Senate Rules Committee's Democratic majority, blocked in its efforts to end the inquiry last Friday, gave every indication of staging more hearings to explore an accountant's charges that his name was forged to some of Baker's federal income tax returns.

The stated aim of the investigation is to learn whether any conflict of interest or other improprieties were involved in Baker's outside business dealings while he was the $19,600 a year secretary to the Democratic majority.

He resigned under fire last Oct. 7.

The committee's chairman, Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., prepared to reply to Republican allegations that he was under orders from some outside source to terminate the probe, and that the Democrats had "blinders on their eyes" throughout the inquiry.

Jordan angrily called this an attack on his integrity. He postponed yesterday's scheduled showdown vote on the future of the investigation and announced he would answer the accusations in the Senate itself.

HAIL POSTPONEMENT

The committee's Republican members, outnumbered 6 to 3 by the Democrats, hailed the postponement and steps to investigate the forgery charge as at least a partial victory.

L. P. McLendon, the committee's Democratic special counsel, announced that accountant Milton L. Hauft's forgery allegations in a sworn statement unveiled Friday by the Republicans "are under full investigation at high speed."

Hauft said in his affidavit that he had just discovered that his name was forged to partnership tax returns filed for Baker's Carousel Motel and also to some of Baker's personal federal income tax returns.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and his GOP colleagues on the committee, are demanding efforts to learn whether the purported forgeries occurred before or after the returns were filed with the Internal Revenue Service, and who was responsible.

Baker previously has refused to answer any of the committee's questions, contending his testimony might tend to incriminate him.

Russ Sets Appeal in Fraud Case

MOSCOW (UPI) — Arkady Grinberg, 67-year old leader of a $6.6-million fraud ring, today appealed the death sentence he was given yesterday in Moscow's second major economic crimes trial in recent weeks.

Grinberg was the only defendant sentenced to death.

Twelve other members of the ring were given prison sentences of from 1 to 15 years, and 8 other persons were acquitted.

In a similar case last month, 10 of 23 defendants were sentenced to death.

★ ★ ★

Eight of the defendants in the Grinberg case were identified as Jews.

NO ANTI-SEMITISM

The preponderance of Jews in the earlier case brought criticism from abroad, but the Soviet government denied anti-Semitism was involved in its prosecution.

According to the charges, Grinberg ordered yarn from a Soviet cotton factory in Tomsk and sold it to a knitting factory in Lvov.

The yarn was obtained through orders illegally issued on behalf of Communist party organizations.

★ ★ ★

The ring operated from 1956 to 1962, and during that time did a business totaling $6.6 million.

PERSONAL PROFIT

Grinberg was said to have made a personal profit of more than $152,000.

Testimony identified him as an "unemployed idler."

The trial was open to the public, and many of the 83 spectators appeared to be relatives of the defendants. One Western correspondent attended.

★ ★ ★

Women burst into tears when the sentences were read, and some of them had to be helped out.

★ ★ ★

Four of the defendants were Communist party members said to have sold raw materials from cotton factories to the Grinberg ring.

ELLISON

Plywood Distributors handles plywood and supplies related to home building and general construction.
