Steelworkers Revive Talks

Great Lakes Freighters Filled With Ore Tied Up in Detroit, Muskegon

PITTSBURGH (AP) — With the five-day-old steel strike about to cut more sharply into the nation's business after a holiday lull, federal mediators undertake today to pinpoint disputed issues and revive contract negotiations.

Joseph F. Finnegan, chief of the Federal Mediation Service, and two aides slated a late-morning session with David J. McDonald, president of the striking United Steelworkers, and an afternoon conference with basic steel industry representatives.

Tomorrow the government intends to clamp a temporary freeze on selected steel items now stock-piled in warehouses to assure that defense producers will have enough supplies to continue work for as long as possible.

Meanwhile, Detroit Steel Corp. became the third nonstriking firm in two days to boost prices in anticipation of added labor costs. Major mill products were boosted $7 to $16 a ton.

47,000 NOTIFIED
Close to 47,000 workers in allied industries — principally railroads and trucking — have been furloined or notified of impending layoffs. The number is expected to climb considerably this week.

Six loaded iron ore carriers are anchored in the Detroit River and three others are tied at Detroit docks. Seven freighters already have found anchorage or dock space in Muskegon Harbor.

And 15 ore vessels, with no place to unload their cargo, docked at the Cleveland Harbor yesterday. "They are coming in all the time," a dispatcher in the harbor tug office said. "I don't know how many will be anchored there before it's over."

Steel company negotiators, in their last offer, proposed a 52-month pact which they said provided a 17.23-cent hourly package increase the first year, including a 7.3-cent-an-hour wage boost.

Union officials called the offer inadequate. They computed the value of the "package" at 14 cents. Just what the union wants in the way of a pay hike and length of contract never has been spelled out publicly.

Prestrike average hourly earnings were $2.46.

Breaks Atlantic Record

DETROIT (AP) — Pan-American World Airways reported today one of its planes has flown the Atlantic from Detroit to Shannon, Ireland, in record time of nine hours and 24 minutes for the 3,660-mile flight, an average of 390 miles an hour. This was 29 minutes faster than a June 1 flight.

Crowds Visit Parks Despite Dark Clouds

The sun was shy yesterday, but Independence Day crowds were not. County parks and lakes were well attended, despite overcast skies and threats of rain.

Highways saw heavy traffic, but only one local fatality occurred in the 36-hour period from 6 a. m. Tuesday to 6 a. m. today.

Frederick A. Freer, 35, of Madison Heights died when the auto he was riding in left Twelve Mile road in Farmington Township at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and struck a tree east of Haggerty road.

The driver, Eugene Buck, 29, of Hazel Park is in critical condition in Redford Receiving Hospital. Both men were pinned under the wreckage 35 minutes.

There were no drownings reported in the county.

Five-hundred and eight cars were lined up at 3 a.m. to enter Dodge State Park No. 4 at Cass Lake. The lead car had been there since 2 a.m., park officials said.

Good attendance was reported at other county parks. Visitors at the Girl Scout National Encampment at the Highland Lake Recreation Area, numbered less than 3,000 persons.

Although no official count was available, thousands attended public fireworks last night at Oakland Park near the Pontiac Motor Division main plant.

Twining Visits Ike on Farm

To Discuss, Possibly Decide U.S. Airpower Question

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (INS) — The politically sizzling question of whether the United States needs to beef up its airpower to keep up with the Soviets may be decided today at President Eisenhower's Gettysburg farm.

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force Chief of Staff, arrived at Gettysburg at 11:33 a.m. to give the convalescing chief executive a first-hand report on the "well controlled" look he got at the Russian Air Force during his visit to Moscow.

Flying up with him from Washington were Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, Air Force Secretary Donald Quarles and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The general is just back from eight days of looking and listening in Russia.

And he had provided an advance hint he was ready to report to his commander in chief that Russia outstrips this country already in number of warplanes and is catching up on quality.

Democrats are demanding that the administration spend the extra 900 million dollars tacked on to the Air Force budget by Congress — mostly to buy more B-52 jet bombers.

Twining's report on the jets shown off by the Soviets could bring a shift in the administration position that there is no need for the extra money.

The Air Force chief will hold a news conference in Gettysburg after his report to the President.

Wilson, who has been doing most of the talking for the Pentagon during the current squabble with Congress on the airpower issue, will take a back seat to Twining today.

82-Pound Hippo, Born June 15, Dies of Neglect

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Zoo's 82-pound baby hippopotamus, which was born June 15 — unwanted by her mother Maude — is dead.

The unnamed little hippo died of neglect, Supt. Clarence Smith said.

Maude didn't like her youngster from the start, and began banging it about almost from the minute it was born.

She wouldn't feed it, so the infant hippo was given milk in a bottle. It wasn't enough.

Anti-Trust Suit in Offing Against General Motors

Charges of 'Monopoly' in Bus Manufacture Will Be Lodged

From Our Wire Services
WASHINGTON — An anti-trust suit against the giant General Motors Corporation is planned by the Justice Department.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. announced last night that GM would be charged with engaging in "unlawful activities which have given it a monopolistic position in the manufacture of buses."

Brownell said the manufacture of automobiles would not be included in the action against the world's largest manufacturing concern, producer of 55 per cent of the nation's cars and an estimated 80 per cent of its buses.

Brownell said attorneys for General Motors have already been informed of the impending action which will be filed in the U. S. District Court for the eastern district of Michigan.

(In Detroit, a GM spokesman said the corporation had received no official word of the pending suit and refused to make further comment.)

Brownell said Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, former GM head, had not yet been advised of the coming anti-trust action.

The suit was recommended by Judge Stanley N. Barnes, who, before leaving the Justice Department to become a judge of the Ninth Federal Circuit Court of Appeals at San Francisco, had been head of its anti-trust division.

RESULT OF STUDY?
GM also manufactures trucks, refrigerators and other home appliances, parts and accessories, locomotives, diesel equipment and aircraft engines.

The Senate monopoly subcommittee conducted a study last year to determine the corporation's impact on the nation's economy.

One of the charges made during the subcommittee hearings was that competing bus manufacturers had been cut off from supplies of GM-made diesel engines.

Noted Engineer Talks at Scout Ceremonies

By JANET ODELL

"We are in need of three kinds of education," Dr. Lillian Gilbreth, eminent engineer, told an audience of 8,000 people Wednesday afternoon at the Girl Scout Roundup celebration of Independence Day.

"We need educated minds that are alert and intellectually curious. We need educated hands that can acquire new skills. We need educated hearts that recognize and love beauty wherever it is found."

Dr. Gilbreth, speaking mainly to the 5,000 teenagers in the arena, said they would find that likenesses between people mean more in the long run than differences. She praised the Scout group for the way in which they are living together during this first Senior encampment.

Dr. Gilbreth has been a member of the national Girl Scout board and its consultant for a quarter of a century.

Commenting that machines are fast freeing people from monotonous work and giving them more free time, Mrs. Gilbreth defined free time as "time when you are at peace with yourself and other people; when you are emotionally serene and can look around for some activity that is satisfying to you."

CELEBRITIES SPEAK
Other celebrities who spoke briefly were Jacqueline Cochran, manufacturer, and Charlton Heston, star of the forthcoming movie, "The Ten Commandments." A message from President Eisenhower was read.

Mrs. Roy F. Layton, national Girl Scout president, presided at the patriotic ceremonies. Following a prayer written by Benjamin Franklin and presented by Mrs. Layton and a Girl Scout verse-speaking choir, a flag ceremony took place.

Scout color bearers carried in 150 American flags, 48 state flags, six territorial flags and half a dozen historic flags. When these flags were formally placed across the arena, Mrs. Layton led the audience in the pledge of allegiance.

Michigan Lists 15 Among Dead in Latest Report

Traffic Fatalities Pass Estimates Despite Cool Holiday Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan reported the most number of Independence Day traffic deaths—10.

Georgia and Illinois each listed eight, Ohio seven and Texas and New York, six each.

At least 15 persons, including 10 in motor traffic, were killed in Michigan.

Crisp, cool weather—unusual for the Fourth—kept down holiday travel to some degree. There was not the customary urge to run for relief from congested cities.

The nation's Fourth of July traffic deaths passed the pre-holiday estimate of 130 in tabulations today and appeared headed for even higher marks.

The nation also had one death attributed to a fireworks accident—the same as in 1955. This death occurred in Wyoming.

With scattered reports of fatalities still trickling in, the traffic toll for the 30-hour period starting at 6 p.m. local time, Tuesday and ending midnight was 131. There also were 74 drownings and 39 deaths from miscellaneous causes for an overall total of 244.

The number of traffic fatalities as well as the over-all total was far greater than that reported on Memorial Day (109 and 174) and compared with a normal traffic toll of 80 for a Wednesday in early July.

The National Safety Council, which before the holiday had said 130 persons might be killed in automobile accidents, said indications were the final toll may approach 150.

In Michigan three drownings were reported. On the highways three persons were killed in one crash and two boys in another when their bicycle was hit by a car.

George McKiernan, 55, of Neebish Island died on the St. Marys River in the Upper Peninsula when his head struck a ship-to-shore cable. His neck was broken.

Train Ploughs Through Crowd

3 Die, 5 Hurt as Illinois Sightseers Block Track Near Fireworks Display

FOX LAKE, Ill. (AP) — A speeding passenger train ploughed into a crowd watching a Fourth of July fireworks display last night from a railroad track. Three persons were killed and five injured.

An estimated 80 to 100 lined the track. Several others were on a nearby trestle when the three-coach Milwaukee Road train neared this northern Illinois resort community.

Some 500 others were in the fenced-in American Legion field in Riverside Island, scene of the fireworks display sponsored by the Legion.

The first bomb in the display was exploded shortly after 9 p.m. when the holiday special, bound for Chicago from nearby Walworth, Ill., approached.

Firemen and legionnaires had warned the group on the track and trestle that a train was due. They urged the crowd to leave the tracks and watch the fireworks display in the Legion field. About 15 minutes earlier a freight train had passed and the group left the track and trestle, only to return.

Fireman Jim Tutz said he saw the passenger train approaching and didn't believe any one was in danger.

"After the train had passed," Tutz said, "I saw seven bodies strewn along the track."

"There was a stunned silence after the accident. There was no panic."

Gotham Baby Stolen From Carriage Police Spread Kidnap Dragnet

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP)—A huge police effort was staged today in the heart of Long Island's suburban residential area to trap the kidnaper of 4-week-old Peter Weinberger, son of a well-to-do wholesale druggist.

The kidnaper, who took the baby from a carriage at his home yesterday, demanded $2,000 ransom under threat of death, saying in a note:

"I hate to do this to you but I am in great need."

The deadline was variously reported as 10 a.m. or noon today. Police kept tight-lipped as to their plans, but it was learned that a package was put in an empty garage about a block from the Morris Weinberger home.

This apparently was in accord with the kidnaper's instructions. However, the package did not contain $2,000, but a sheaf of paper slips cut in bill size with actual money on the outside only.

There was a mystifying development at 9:55 a.m. when a man believed to be Weinberger left the fashionable home and placed a brown manila envelope at the base of a tree about 100 feet from the house.

Then the man walked around the block and returned to the house as he had left it, by way of the back door.

Up to 11:45 a.m. the envelope remained untouched under the tree.

Only two persons went anywhere near it. Between 10:05 and 10:15 a green taxi carrying a woman passed along the street three times and seemed to slow up. Between 10:30 and 10:45 a woman in a red car halted a moment about 10 or 15 feet from the envelope, then drove away.

There was no explanation from police as to why the envelope was placed by the tree, and officers—obviously watching the passers-by—made no attempt to halt either the taxi or the car.

Scores of reporters and photographers earlier had been asked to leave the vicinity, but police permitted one reporter, one still photographer and one newsreel man to remain in a secret place.

The infant boy was temporarily unattended at the time of his kidnapping.

Last Oct. 31, only three miles from the Weinberger home, three-year-old Stephen Damman was snatched from outside a supermarket in the town of East Meadow. Police have been unable to clear up the Damman child's disappearance.

The Weinbergers' other child, Lewis, is 4.

Aid Bill Still Off 700 Million

House - Senate Group Compromise to Reflect Wishes of 2 Lawmakers

WASHINGTON (INS)—House and Senate conferees seek a compromise foreign aid bill today.

They said the final draft will strictly reflect the wishes of two lawmakers retiring from Congress—Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia and Rep. James P. Richards of South Carolina.

Right now, the two veteran legislators, working on their last major proposal after long careers in Congress, are some 700 million dollars apart in their ideas of how large a foreign assistance program should be allowed this fiscal year.

President Eisenhower asked for four billion, 900 million dollars. The House, backing Foreign Affairs Committee Chairman Richards, voted three billion, 900 million. The Senate, with Foreign Relations Committee Chairman George leading the way, approved four and one-half billions.

Members of the group seeking a compromise said nothing publicly about what the final result will be or when it will be reached.

But several of them echoed the sentiment of Rep. John Vorys (R, Ohio), who told a newsmen: "In this case, the two chairmen will sit down and write the bill."

Both men are Democrats.

Anti-Trust Charges Loom Against GM

UNIT REPORT

Shortly afterward GMC Truck & Coach Division was organized in Pontiac.

The GMC Truck & Coach Division is the sole manufacturer of transit and inter-city buses produced by the corporation. Production of the two types of vehicles reached 2,919 units last year.

Local officials of the division had no comment to make today regarding the impending legal action.

The statement showed GM had total sales of all products in 1955 amounting to $12,443,277,000 and net income of $1,189,477,000, both record totals. How much of the over-all sales volume and net profit came from the individual divisions of GM was not indicated.

The report did show, however, that suppliers got $6,073,000,000; employees in wages and salaries $3,378,000,000 and that taxes, federal, state and local, took $1,598,000,000. Net working capital of the corporation stood at $2,038,258,000. Value of real estate, plants and equipment was listed at $2,353,032,000.

Brownell formally announced his plans yesterday at the opening of a new TV show, on which he was the guest.

Some observers saw the move as an election-year action aimed at combatting Democratic criticism that the Eisenhower administration is a "big business administration."

Brownell, however, denied such was the case. He declared:

"I would certainly not agree there are any political overtones in connection with this case whatsoever. It's being handled strictly on the merits."

Both are in good condition, authorities said.

The Day in Birmingham Face Trimming of Costs on Elementary Building

BIRMINGHAM—With low bidder $150,000 above the expected cost for Midvale Elementary School, board members here face the possibility that trimming may be necessary for all four of the elementary schools to be built before 1957.

Midvale was the first of the proposed schools for which bids were taken by the board. Figures are being studied by the school architect following their acceptance at a Monday meeting.

The other three buildings will be up for construction bids within the next two months, predicts Dr. Richard Featherstone, assistant to the superintendent.

Low bid on the Midvale school was $784,500 for total construction work. It was submitted by the Freeman Dargling firm.

The board had expected to pay about $639,000 for the school. Midvale will stand on the northeast corner of the high school site.

Trimming of costs apparently will start when the architect returns the bids to the board at its July 17 meeting, but may not be required for the other three schools.

"Financial conditions might tend towards higher prices for construction now because of the steel strike and because school projects go full force in summertime. Such a job would have to be begun at once and construction schedules may be already crowded," theorized Dr. Featherstone.

He forecast that the other three buildings may have lower costs if the steel strike is settled later, and if other factors change.

He said the board, which must act within 30 days on the bids, may have to reject all of them. A special meeting to consider them is not likely, since vacations for board members hinder securing a quorum.

About 25 to 50 potential voters are registering each day, reports City Clerk Irene Hanley. Approximately 90 registered on Saturday, she says, and the number will probably increase as the Monday deadline nears.

Recreation department director Robert Girardin has released a new schedule for days that the new playground coordinator will visit playgrounds.

The coordinator is Don Hoff, and he began work this week, visiting playground fields and aiding the older boys, especially with ball-game activities. Hour of opening on each playground is 9:30 a.m. daily, with Hoff visiting one field a day.

A tax bulletin was mailed to residents this week, explaining what the new budget includes.

It reveals that 14.7 goes to general administration, 13.44 goes into capital improvements, 17.1 to public works, 14.2 to police protection, 11.98 to fire protection, 5.16 to forestry and parks, and 4.95 to employment protection. Other small items are listed as well.

The total amount is for $1,151,604.

Cyclist Hospitalized After Street Accident

Struck by a car while riding his bicycle yesterday, Richard Van Trease, 14, of 650 E. Beverly Ave., is listed in good condition today in Pontiac General Hospital.

He suffered cuts, bruises and a broken elbow, authorities said.

The driver, Jack A. Lewis, 19, of 1081 Stanley Ave., said the boy suddenly pulled out into Montcalm avenue east of Glenwood avenue at 1:30 p.m., according to Pontiac police.

Richard was thrown against a parked car, they added.

Edward G. Grabman was treated for head cuts and hip injuries in Rochester, Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said.

An on-coming driver, Richard F. Kincannon, 17, of Royal Oak told deputies his car went across the center lane on a curve and rammed into Grabman's car.

Canadian Workers Eat Good Breakfast

OTTAWA—A survey conducted by the Canadian Health and Welfare Department indicates that about 7,500 of the 30,000 federal employees in Ottawa skip on or skip breakfast entirely and most of them do it because they'd rather sleep than eat—at least in the mornings.

cent of the Government workers ate what nutritionists term an "adequate" breakfast. But of the rest, 4,800 skimped and 2,700 skipped. Of those skipping, more than 50 per cent said they just stayed in bed too long and didn't have time to eat.

But about 20 per cent of the nonbreakfast eaters said they just couldn't bear the sight of food in the morning; another 20 per cent said they were on diets. The rest gave various other reasons for not eating.

'Justice for Poor,' Says Mexican Judge

MEXICO CITY—The false concept that there is justice in federal courts only for the rich must disappear.

That was the comment of Judge Jimenez Sierra in ruling that any food left in the streets unwatched may be considered "goods abandoned to the public domain" for anyone to take.

Two men from a poor section had been accused of robbing the nation.

They admitted scooping up several handfuls of beans which spilled on the ground from a hole in a railway car carrying food of the government supply agency.

British Women Divided on TV Sports Issue

LONDON—With more and more sports events finding their way to TV screens, women viewers in Britain are divided into several camps on the subject. Some of them are up in arms because they say far too much television time now is given to sports.

Others say: "Let's keep our hands off. Husbands are only too willing to become baby sitters and that gives the wives a chance to go out with their girl friends."

Still another group includes women who never were interested in sports events before but now are beginning to know more about the subject and to like it.

Venezuela Rates High in Petroleum Output

CARACAS—Nearly 400,000 barrels of oil a year, or 8 per cent of the free world's petroleum output, originates in the region of Venezuela's Lake Maracibo, largest lake in South America.

Oil derricks run as far as 15 miles out into the lake and there are 1,000 miles of pipelines along the bottom. The derricks are erected atop concrete piles and platforms in water often as deep as 100 feet.

2,000-Year-Old Tomb Found in Jerusalem

JERUSALEM—Workers digging foundations for a new home recently uncovered a 2,000-year-old tomb in the heart of a residential section. The tomb cut into solid rock, contained human bones and various artifacts of the Hasmonian era and a number of inscriptions and drawings.

Hiring a Maid Tough Task for Muscovite 'Bourgeoisie'

By CHARLES KLENSCH
MOSCOW (INS)—The domestic help situation is just as tough in Moscow as it is in almost any other big city in the world—with some special Soviet twists, of course.

One of Russia's favorite comedians, Arkady Raikin, has just closed one of his side-splitting revues at Moscow's Variety Theater which included a skit on the "help" problem.

Arkady in falsetto and shawl plays the role of a nursemaid interviewing her prospective employers.

The husband and wife try to get the interview started on a formal basis by asking to see Arkady's letter of recommendation. Arkady ignores this gambit and counters:

"What kind of bed will I have?" He's told that it is a single bed. Arkady stomps toward the door, snorting. "I'm afraid we can't reach an agreement."

MEET DEMANDS

The couple, desperate at the thought that they might lose the bird who seems almost in hand, offer their own double bed, and agree to buy the nursemaid a new, softer mattress to go with it.

Arkady condescends to return to the parlay.

The walkout and capitulation go on and on as the couple knuckle under demands that they exchange their 12-inch TV set for a 15-inch model and provide other amenities for the prospective maid.

Perhaps three-quarters of Raikin's highly appreciative audience

Florida Orange Stock Supply Exhausted

LAKE ALFRED, Fla. (U)—So many new citrus groves have been planted in Florida in the last two years, the State Plant Board reported, that orange planting stock has been used up.

Charles Poucher of the plant board said some nurseries are sold out of pineapple and Valencia orange stocks through next November.

Thousands of acres of new groves have been set out in the citrus section of Central Florida in recent months, most of them oranges, Poucher says.

would be eligible for the middle class in a capitalist society. They are the arm officers, the managers, executives, professional people and citizens of the artistic world—the audience Raikin was talking to.

ONE SOLUTION

A good portion of Russian families solve their maid problem by having grandmother, "babushka," live with them.

A grandmother looks after the kids while the parents are at work. She does the marketing, queues up for milk and pads around from store to store to make household purchases.

But there aren't enough babushkas to go around.

Public notice boards take the place of a newspaper or want ads and employment agencies for contacting a prospective maid.

Here's a typical "help-wanted, domestic," ad from the notice board just around the corner from the International News Service office in Moscow:

"A family consisting of a husband, wife and one child needs a household worker (dom rabotnitsa). Telephone G4-5015. Address: H Meshanskaya Street 35, Apartment No. 12."

There's an implied emphasis here on the size of the family. The bigger the household, the harder it is to get a maid.

The listing of a telephone number shows more than the address about the employer's status. Moscow has less than 50,000 private telephones—with a population of just under five million.

Domestic service hasn't been outlawed by the "proletarian revolution." Technically it's not "exploitation" because the employer doesn't make a profit from the employee's labor.

Nickel Hassle Costly

LANSING, Mich. (U)—He won five cents on principle but it still cost Robert Betcher $13.85 on an overtime parking ticket. He took the case to court to argue that he put two nickles in the nickel-an-hour meter and was entitled to a little overtime. The judge agreed to suspend five cents of a $1 fine. Then he slapped on $7.30 costs and $5.60 witness fees for a total fine of $13.85.

HOWLING GOOD TIME—Sharon Finkelstein, right, is crying because she's going away to camp to have a good time. Sister Caron, 3, is crying because Shelia is crying. Mother, Mrs. Fred Finkelstein, acts as a buffer between the two sobbing sisters and she's probably hiding a tear behind the smile. Vacation time drama pictured is at Reading Station, Philadelphia, Pa., but will be duplicated nationwide many times as camp season gets in full swing.

Sun Operating Australian Still

Used in Removing Minerals From Water; in Experimental Stage

MELBOURNE, Australia—Australia's first commercial solar still, for removing minerals from water, was recently established at Mildura, Victoria.

Although it is in its experimental stages, it is expected to lead to the perfection of cheap equipment for purifying bore water for household and stock use in low rainfall areas.

The device comprises a structure of glass set over a shallow trough of black plastic material. The water to be treated is siphoned into a tray where it is evaporated by the sun. The water condenses, runs into channels surrounding the tray, and from there into pipes.

Officers of the Australian Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization, which supervised the construction of the still, state that it is not necessary to have the direct rays of the sun on the glass canopy in order to make it operate successfully.

WORK ON C

It will function in daylight, even on cloudy days, though best results are obtained in bright sunlight.

It is calculated that the still will purify about five times the average annual rainfall over any square foot of land at Mildura.

It is capable of completely removing the whole of the saline content of bore water. Occasional cleaning of the tray of the still removes the formation of solid salt.

Importing Less Food

BOMBAY — India's food imports dwindled from 4,700,000 tons five years ago to 770,000 tons last year. Most of the 1955 food imports were meant primarily for building up a reserve rather than for immediate consumption.

Latex Paint Sales Soar

AKRON — More than 50,000,000 gallons of latex paint were sold in 1955 compared with 100,000 gallons in 1948, the year when it was first marketed in this country. It now accounts for 27 per cent of all interior-paint sales.

$64,000 Winner Freuchen Leads Exciting Life

Adventurer Returning to First Love—Greenland

NEW YORK (INS) — Bearded, pegleg Peter Freuchen, his adventure lust undimmed by 70 years, leaves Saturday for a memorial expedition to eastern Greenland.

"I want to see how much I remember. It has been 50 years since my first expedition to Greenland." The six-foot, three-inch Dane walked steadily on his leather-cased leg across a room of his New York apartment.

He pulled three small books from an old trunk. "I still have my notebooks. I went on that expedition as a sailor and stoker." He noted with pride, after spanning the Arctic, Hudson Bay and Greenland's ice cap many times:

SAILOR BY TRADE:

"I am a sailor by trade. As a young man my aim was always to see the tropics, but somehow I always got a berth to the Arctic."

He has been for 50 years a man of the sea and of ice, a real Norseman. He has knocked off his frozen toes with a hammer, married an Eskimo and lived with Eskimos, seen men cut in two when trying to climb a ship from a raft, driven a dog sled across Greenland's 1,400 mile ice cap in a still-standing record of 19 days, was first to expose Dr. Frederick Albert Cook's claim to have discovered the North Pole and helped Russian ships sail east through the Arctic Sea to escape the encasing ice.

He twice escaped from Nazi imprisonment, sailed the Baltic and North Sea as an underground smuggler, and has written—in the word of one critic, "magnificently"—more than 50 books.

One of his most successful was an autobiography, "Vagant Viking." His latest book is the story of another great frontiersman. His latest adventure was winning $64,000 Tuesday on television's "The $64,000 Question," where he took on questions about "the seven seas."

FOUNDED THULE

Forty-six years ago, Freuchen and Knud Rasmussen "borrowed" about $3,000, hired an old schooner and set out on an expedition to west Greenland. They settled with the Eskimos and called the village "Thule." Now a huge American air force base occupies the once desolate spot.

"I married an Eskimo," Freuchen said. "I lived with the Eskimos." He had a son and daughter by his wife, Naravana. She died in a flu epidemic in 1921. In 1912 Freuchen and Rasmussen set out by dog sled to cross the 1,400 mile Greenland ice cap. Driven by hunger they made it in 11 marches or 19 days, a record that has never been equalled. They started with 54 dogs. They returned with seven. Freuchen had to ski all the way back.

"Just the other weekend," he said, "one of your healthy American girls asked me if I skied, and I foolishly said yes. She asked me if I had ever jumped. When I said no, she shrugged her shoulders and said, 'well, then, you have never really skied.'"

Foxes, trapped and skinned at

Thule, helped finance an expedition to Hudson Bay where Freuchen stayed four years, got caught in a blizzard, and used a hammer to knock off his frozen, gangrenous toes. His face was frozen, and he gave up painful shaving for his now-white beard. Doctors amputated the lower part of his leg.

BOOKS TRANSLATED

"I was downhearted because I didn't think I could move around as well. I started writing. Later on I found out I could travel just as well, but I couldn't stop writing." His books have been translated into 21 languages including Eskimo.

He took part in many expeditions to the Arctic, talked with President Herbert Hoover about setting up northern air routes, and still chuckles about his career in Hollywood and Alaska where he was technical adviser and script writer for the film version of his book, "Eskimo."

The war broke out, Freuchen said, "I didn't like Hitler and Hitler didn't like me." He escaped twice, the second time fled to Sweden and then "sailed back and forth with refugees, newspaper for illegal papers, ammunition, smuggles . . ." The U. S. government sent for him to act as Arctic consultant.

After the war he lectured on Denmark's underground fight, continued as correspondent for a Danish newspaper and "every summer but last visited Greenland," where he is associated with the Greenland fishing company. In 1945, he married "Dagmar," a Danish-born fashion illustrator who teaches at the art students league in New York.

Much of his writing has been about the Arctic. But his latest work, soon to be published, is the story of another great adventurer, a colored American frontiersman. The book is titled: "The Legend of Daniel Williams."

WASHINGTON — The Air Force reports that the use of electronic simulators in flight training is saving the taxpayers millions of dollars a year. For less than $3 an hour, pilots and crews can "fly" the simulator and gain experience identical to actual flight without ever leaving the ground. It costs about $400 to keep a four-engine aircraft aloft an hour.

WASHINGTON — The Post Office Department requirement that the date of mailing be shown in meter stamps on fourth-class (parcel-post) mail has been eliminated. This formerly caused much trouble for large fourth-class mailers when, for instance, parcels intended for mailing on a certain day were delayed.

Collectors Do More in Garbage System

NOTTINGHAM, England—a new method of garbage collection in use here is said to enable the refuse collector to cover twice as much territory.

In Nottingham the collector takes an empty refuse can to a house, leaves it, and goes away with the filled can, which is then dumped and disinfected before it becomes the empty can at the next house.

The refuse truck is equipped with a power-driven bristle brush that goes inside the can, extracting all the garbage. The inside is dusted with disinfectant before the can is put back in use.

He Can't Lose That Which He Never Possessed

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Kenneth Flietstra has been ordered to report details of his accident to the secretary of state's office or face loss of his driver's license.

Kenneth is surprised at the order. He is 6 years old.

He was in an accident last month. He was bicycling and struck a truck parked across a sidewalk at a gasoline station.

His parents reported the mishap to police when they took the boy to a hospital for first aid. Police also were investigating an injury resulting from an automobile accident.

Kenneth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Flietstra, believe the two reports became mixed up, resulting in the letter from the secretary of state. They plan to explain.

The Foreign Agriculture Service reports that world production of oats in 1955 climbed to 4,465,000 bushels. It exceeded 1954's crop of 4,290,000 bushels and was 100,000 bushels above the 1935-39 average.

Industrial Research in American Industry

Importance of industrial research was emphasized recently by HAROLD P. BURROW, President of Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company. He cited two big reasons why companies which can afford to do so should carry on continuing research work.

The first reason is world position, or national security. The second is industrial leadership. The two are closely related, for a tremendous factor in national security is the ability of industry to provide the materials for defense.

Mr. Burrow said his company is spending three and a half per cent of its total sales on laboratory and product development activities, about eleven million dollars annually. And then he told how important research has been in the growth of the company. "Of our $281 million sales last year," he said, "123 million—over 40 per cent—were in new products and outside acquisitions which were not in existence at the beginning of 1946. The products that go out the shipping room door today reflect technology we didn't have but were seeking five and ten years ago."

But important as are new products, Mr. Burrow cited other reasons for pushing industrial research.

"It provides expanding job opportunities and increased responsibilities for our younger executive group. It also provides the incentives that keep our employees—not just the research staffs—on their toes and eager. It is the means of keeping the company young and dynamic in spirit. This, after all, is a must quality in successful operation of any American business enterprise."

Here is the testimony of a leading American industrialist. It reveals something of the breadth of spirit which has played so important a role in the amazing development of American industry.

Michigan Sideshow

Now up in Northern Michigan something new has been added in a tourist attraction. Three Westerners have come up with what they call a "Mystery Spot."

Queer things happen to visitors at this spot. They find themselves able to walk right up the side of a wall without losing their balance. On almost flat ground they lean over as if standing on a steep hillside. A ball rolls uphill.

Two people stand facing each other in a certain spot. One seems like a giant to the other. The other looks like a pygmy. Some visitors have come back several times, trying to figure out this mystery. The promoters claim they don't understand it themselves.

The writer has never been to this spot. In fact he doesn't think he is ever going to visit it. It is just off US-2, about five miles west of St. Ignace, if you are interested.

It has been our experience that you don't need to bring any mystery into it when you go into the resort country. You will be lean, all right, when you swap rugged, outdoor life for a few weeks for the carefully protected office life you have been accustomed to.

And when you meet up with a few convivial friends from home it will not be too surprising if you are not only able to walk right up the side of a wall. You will go this Upper Peninsula outfit one better. You will trip lightly across the ceiling, and come down diagonally across the opposite wall. There's no mystery at all — just normal procedure.

And that one about the ball rolling uphill. The writer has been on vacations when just having a ball was such uphill work that it finally seemed better judgment to give up and decide the whole affair was a mistake.

So, if you go in for the mysteries, go ahead. Every man to his own liking. I'll lay my thirty cents down where they emphasize the thickness of the steaks, and the greatest uncertainty is the age of the blonde waitress.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER's recent attack and operation was no doubt a greater shock to the Republican Party than to him.

The Man About Town Wheat Is Down Farmers Faced With Loss in the Ensuing Harvest

Suburbs: What are not so far out, the way building operations on the edges of most towns in the Pontiac area are snuggling up to us.

A drive in the country is a joyous revelation. But in the Pontiac area right now it has one very depressing effect. Hundreds of acres of wheat are lodged on the ground, with little possibility of rising before harvest time. According to Oakland County Agricultural Agent

Lyle Abel, this was brought about by recent rains and winds as the heads of wheat were "in the milk" and so heavy that the straw was easily blown over. The wet spring gave wheat a rank growth, with every indication of a big yield. But the fallen grain does not properly mature, and is almost impossible to harvest. Old farmers say the present situation is the worst of its kind they ever have experienced. It is only the best wheat that lodges.

"Most of our good dining places are too dark," writes

David Lawrence Says:

Nixon Has Super Reply to Neutrals

WASHINGTON—Vice President Nixon made in Manila on the Fourth of July the greatest speech of his career. In many respects it was the most important speech that has yet been delivered by any American in addressing the so-called "neutral world." It was doubly important because President Eisenhower specifically requested Nixon to go on his present trip to Asia.

It is a speech that Nehru of India and Sukarno of Indonesia might well read over and over again. It contains the best answer to "neutrality" that has been made. It sets forth what the United States stands for and proclaims, in direct contradiction of Soviet propaganda, a policy of unselfishness and altruism—but a tactical reminder at the same time that there can be no neutrality between right and wrong.

Nixon discussed ahead of time with the Department of State some of the general ideas that he expressed but he wrote the speech himself.

The Nixon speech squares absolutely with the President's views. RIPS RED COLONIALISM With his characteristic forthrightness, Nixon launched a comprehensive attack on Communist colonialism and pointing to the independence of the Philippines, said:

"We are friends. We are Allies. We are equals. In our dealings there is not now and there must never be any so-called big power-little power or big brother-little brother relationships. Our alliance has not infringed upon our independence. On the contrary it has strengthened it."

"I hope that other nations will study this example carefully and realize what it means to walk side by side with the United States of America. Let them contrast your strength and security with the fate of small nations who were not united with us in mutual alliance. You are independent. But are Latvia, Estonia, and Lithuania independent? Is there any freedom in East Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Albania? How much liberty is there in North Korea or North Vietnam? What has happened to ancient Tibet? We must all frankly face this question: Where there is a threat of Communist imperialism, is a nation really safe in striking out alone? I know that if I were an executive in a newly independent nation, I would ponder this question with the utmost care. . . .

"In modern times the really cruel colonialism has been the colonialism of the Communist world. It has enslaved over a dozen nations and has left hundreds of millions to suffer the harshest forms of tyranny. It has not only captured their bodies but tried to dominate their minds and kill their souls."

Nixon pointed to NATO as a military alliance that had checked the expansion of Communist colonial imperialism. He added: "Thanks to NATO and aid from the United States, Western Europe can breathe securely today. These are the facts. Yet the agents of Communist colonialism have the supreme audacity to suggest to the ancient and honored nations of the east that our offers of help are a form of imperialism!"

MORAL DISTINCTION

The vice president said that

Voice of the People 'Democratic Party Goes Hand in Hand With Labor'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters. Letters will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

In the last three and a half years I have not heard any complaints about high income taxes. When the Republicans got in they were going to cut income taxes and do everything so much different from the Democrats. But they are going down the same road.

If they cut any taxes, it would be for the very rich. The average working man could only save enough income tax to buy a package of cigarettes. Now they say they can't cut taxes.

They are just keeping up where the Democrats left off. FDR laid the plans and they are just following up Social Security, old age pensions, accident benefits and higher unemployment benefits.

These all came under the labor unions, and the Democratic party is the one that goes hand in hand with labor. The Republicans have had the same chance, but a few years ago, everyone who belonged to the labor union was a "Communist." Now they want the working man's vote.

I have seen very few working men who are Republicans. About all our leaders are Democrats. That should be well understood. The Democrats haven't tried to break up the unions and destroy them.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Baked Hungarian Goulash One of Doctor's Favorites

"Shades of my Hungarian ancestors! They'd turn over in their graves at the thought of macaroni and ground beef in Hungarian Goulash, not to say ground bacon! And horrors, baked yet!"

Being an unadulterated Hungarian from way back and having grown up with the genuine article, real Hungarian Goulash, I ought to know. Your recipe outrages all Hungarians and the name Hungarian Goulash. All this by way of retort to your description of Micky's Gift to Gourmets. (Mrs. M.E.K.)

All right. All right. I have nothing against Hungarians, except maybe that gosh-awful stew we were served when we sought out a Hungarian restaurant and ordered Hungarian Goulash. If that's the genuine article, all I have to say is the heck with it. But in deference to your predicament we'll no longer call the delectable dish we have enjoyed all these years by that name—we'll call it just Micky's Mistake.

Micky can't remember where she got the recipe originally. I suggested that she tossed odd ends into the aluminum casserole as they accumulated and when the pot was full stirred everything up and "popped" it into the oven to bake.

It isn't quite that easy. The

Lie Detector Usually Accurate

Bill is in a tough spot. He is innocent but in past generations the word of this girl would have been taken instead of his own. Now a lie detector cleared Bill and under it the girl broke down and admitted the truth, thereby saving Bill and his prominent family a grave calamity.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE Case S-304: Bill R., aged 20, is a good hearted young fellow who is now being martyred for his own generosity.

"Dr. Crane, Bill is in trouble," his clergyman informed me, "and I'd like your suggestions in the matter."

"Bill comes from a good home. His parents are members of my church and Bill has been active in the young people's society."

"Last semester, he started going with a pretty high school girl. The latter had been dating a fellow who is now in the Army."

"Last week she accused Bill of being the father of her expected baby. Bill swears he has never been guilty of such illicit behavior and I believe him."

"He says the girl admitted to him that the baby belongs to the soldier, but she is scared and has told her parents that Bill is the father, since she feared them."

"For they had warned her against going with the other boy and she had dated him on the sly. What do you advise in such a situation?"

LIE DETECTOR TEST

One of the best uses of the polygraph or lie detector machine is to protect innocent persons like Bill in what are legally termed "hushy cases."

For many frightened girls do ex-

Justice to an innocent young man in the community.

Until the advent of the lie detector machine, it was customary to take the girl's word against that of the protesting man accused.

Nowadays we find that the lie detector quickly brings out the truth and thus saves thousands of innocent men not only from unfair legal action, but also eliminates the unfavorable publicity for their families.

POLYGRAPH'S AVERAGE

"Yes, Dr. Crane, but how accurate is the lie detector?" you may ask. "And doesn't it make some mistakes?"

The lie detector is probably more delivers them. He said the other day: "God told us in the Bible that He would punish the bad people and by the looks of thing in this paper, He sure is doing it, isn't He?" Teenagers are blessed if just someone would try to understand them.

accurate than your eyes and ears as regards getting the true facts about a case. I'm not exaggerating.

Here in Chicago a recent report indicated that only six errors had occurred in 3,700 cases where the lie detector had been employed.

And the errors result in cases of guilty folks who give dubious or uncertain results.

If you are innocent, never fear taking a lie detector test! It does not classify an innocent person as guilty, regardless of how nervous and tense and frightened you are, due to stage fright and apprehension.

If you are innocent, the lie detector will acquit you and it is the best protection of innocent folks.

Under the administration of a competent operator, I'd rather take the results of a lie detector examination than sworn statements of eye witnesses for we psychologists know how easily hysterical folks can imagine they see things and then in all sincerity swear oaths to that effect, yet they often are proved to be completely mistaken.

The lie detector is not the only tool of criminologists, for fingerprints, truth serum, chemical analyses and other precise scientific techniques are likewise invaluable. But for truly innocent folks like Bill, the lie detector is a quick way to avoid a lot of unpleasantness for the innocent and their families.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane, care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for the psychological charts and pamphlets.

Hong Kong Buys Chinese Goods

However, Bonn, London Are Sources of Products Used in Crown Colony

HONG KONG—This British crown colony at the doorstep of Red China is going to Europe to buy goods produced on the Chinese mainland.

A report from the colony's Department of Commerce and Industry disclosed Hong Kong had purchased 1,850 pounds of Chinese bristles and 49½ tons of shelled peanuts from West Germany, and 3,333 pounds of bristles from the United Kingdom in May.

This is believed to be goods received by those countries in barter deals with the Chinese Reds, then resold to Hong Kong purchasers.

Until May Red China had been Hong Kong's chief supplier of goods since the end of World War II. But the May report showed Japan in first place with Red China second.

The report showed also a big increase in exports compared with May of last year. The figures were $98,100,000 Hong Kong dollars for May of this year, an increase of 106,400,000 over May 1955. The Hong Kong dollar is valued at 17½ U.S. cents.

Among the items passing through Hong Kong was a shipment of 2,500 tons of coal dust from Hongkong, North Viet Nam, to Shanghai.

Among items cleared for export to the United States were processed shark fins, lemon sauce and medicinal wine.

Homecoming Lifts Traveler's Spirits

Oh, What Joy to Hear English Once Again!

By PHYLLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK (INS) — Foreign travel is very broadening (you eat a great deal to keep up strength).

It is also restful (you spend much time in bed with confused stomach from the change in water), and some find it profitable, too (you can buy stuffed alligators and wild boars' teeth for a pittance).

Foreign travel makes you tolerant of the peoples of other lands (if you don't understand what they're saying, what's to be intolerant of?), and certainly it gives you pause to think (in custom offices alone, the inactive pause is worth two week's meditation time in New York).

But the greatest benefit of traveling to foreign lands is the resurgence of life, love and good humor that overcomes you when, once again, you touch toe upon the United States.

Sweet, familiar home. Adrenaline was never like this.

After two weeks of roving through South American lands where Spanish is the language of tongue and pen, and bewilderment is the continual state of the English-speaking tourist, it is glorious to hear those time-honored words: "Okay, lady, which're yer bags?"

TRUTHFUL NEWSPAPERS

And then, when you have declared your stuffed alligator and been cleared of suspicion of small pox and yellow fever, what joy to buy a newspaper whose headlines you not only can understand—but can believe.

You do not realize, until you have spent time in countries where the news is controlled, and where the front pages are filled with advertisements and presidential propaganda, what it means to read a U. S. paper.

Until you've been out of the States, you skip over a newspaper and complain about politics and hate gossip columnists. Now you read and delight in everything.

Mickey Mantle is still hitting homers and to read about them, after a two-week hibernation from baseball, is to be present in Yankee Stadium, helping him punch them out.

The weather, says the lower left-hand corner of the front page, will be warm and humid. How delightful; how typically New Yorkish.

The Democrats and Republicans are wrangling. Marilyn Monroe and Arthur Miller are selling their house, the price of pork is going down, the scalper price of "My Fair Lady" tickets is going up. Ike is in his farmhouse and God is in His heaven.

You were starved, that was the trouble, for the American language. Now, with a newspaper in your lap, you are comfortably approaching home.

The taxi stops, and the driver points. "This your joint?"

It sure is . . .

Steel Strike May Hurt State Highway Plans

LANSING (AP) — The steel strike is not expected to have any immediate effect on the state's road building program, Highway Department officials said.

"If the strike is over soon it won't make any difference in our plans at all. But if it's a long one, we could be in trouble," said Carl A. Weber, deputy highway commissioner.

Weber said the department orders most of the steel needed for bridges and other highway structures from 12 to 14 months in advance of the time work starts on a project.

The next deliveries are scheduled in November, he said, so that the strike could not have much effect on work scheduled for this summer.

"If the strike drags on for months, however, it could hold us back," Weber added.

Oh! A Fireman's Life

BIG LAKE, Minn. (AP) — The volunteer fire crew never dreamed there were so many things in Big Lake that could burn. They got their first alarm at 2 p.m. and kept spraying water steadily until midnight. Their assignments included a grass fire, a burning cottage, another grass fire, one at a brooder house and barn, a flaming car and a third grass fire. Then the car broke out in flames again and had to be doused for good.

Neighborliness in Cities Still Is Prevalent

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Today's cities are not as impersonal, anonymous and cynical as they're supposed to be, says a Whittenberg College sociologist, Dr. Karl H. Hertz.

In a Springfield survey, he found the average person knew at least 75 per cent of the other people in his block. A kind of "impersonal neighborliness" is emerging in today's city, Hertz says. "It lacks the close personal relationships we associate with rural communities, but it's there."

"Impersonal neighborliness" means exchanging favors and possessions without taking an active interest in the other fellow's personal or social life, he explains.

Airlines Sign Pact to Limit Drinking

WASHINGTON (AP)—Airline passengers would be limited to two drinks each on flights within the United States under an agreement reached by six lines which serve liquor aloft.

The agreement, subject to approval by the Civil Aeronautics Board, specifies that no more than two drinks of 1.6 ounces of any distilled spirits shall be served to a passenger on one flight.

The plan was announced by the Air Transport Assn., the organization of scheduled airlines. Parties to the agreement are American, Eastern, National, North-

British Doctor Thinks Radiation Will Raise IQs

WOLVERHAMPTON, Eng. (INS)—Dr. J. Ford Thomas, an English psychiatrist, has advanced the theory that atomic radiation probably was responsible for an increase in the intelligence level of Wolverhampton schoolchildren.

He said he tested the children to measure their innate ability for clear thinking, and not their scholastic attainment.

Dr. Thomas said 611 of the 1,113 children tested would have been classified before the war as well above average intelligence. He said: "This represents an increase of 120 per cent on preatomic era figures."

He reasoned from that the increase in intelligence shown was due to ingested strontium-90, a product of nuclear explosions.

The psychiatrist said he plans to test another 1,000 children in an attempt to strengthen his theory. He suggested, meanwhile, that other investigators repeat his tests to see if they get the same results as those obtained in Wolverhampton.

Wolverhampton is a rail and industrial center with a population of 162,000 in Staffordshire.

It is in the coal and iron region near Birmingham, and has been famous for locks since the 18th century.

U.S. piano sales grew from 145,000 in 1947 to 178,000 in 1953.

Electric Power Use Reaches Record High

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's output of electric power rose last week to a near record high, Edison Electric Institute reported today.

Industry sources attributed the jump in consumption partly to the weather which boosted the air conditioning and refrigeration loads.

Output for the week totaled 11,498,000,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 11,478,000,000 the week before.

Congregational Youth Approves Church Merger

CRETE, Neb. (AP)—The Pilgrim Youth Fellowship Council of the Congregational Christian Church has voted in favor of merging with the Youth Fellowship Council of the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

The action followed a similar decision in Omaha of the General Council of the Congregational Christian Church.

Details of merger of the youth groups would be worked out at a joint biennial meeting in 1958. A site and dates for that session will be announced later.

The Evangelical and Reformed

Church youth group will consider the Pilgrim Fellowship action and have its own vote on a merger during a meeting in August.

State Health Department Frees Salk Polio Serum

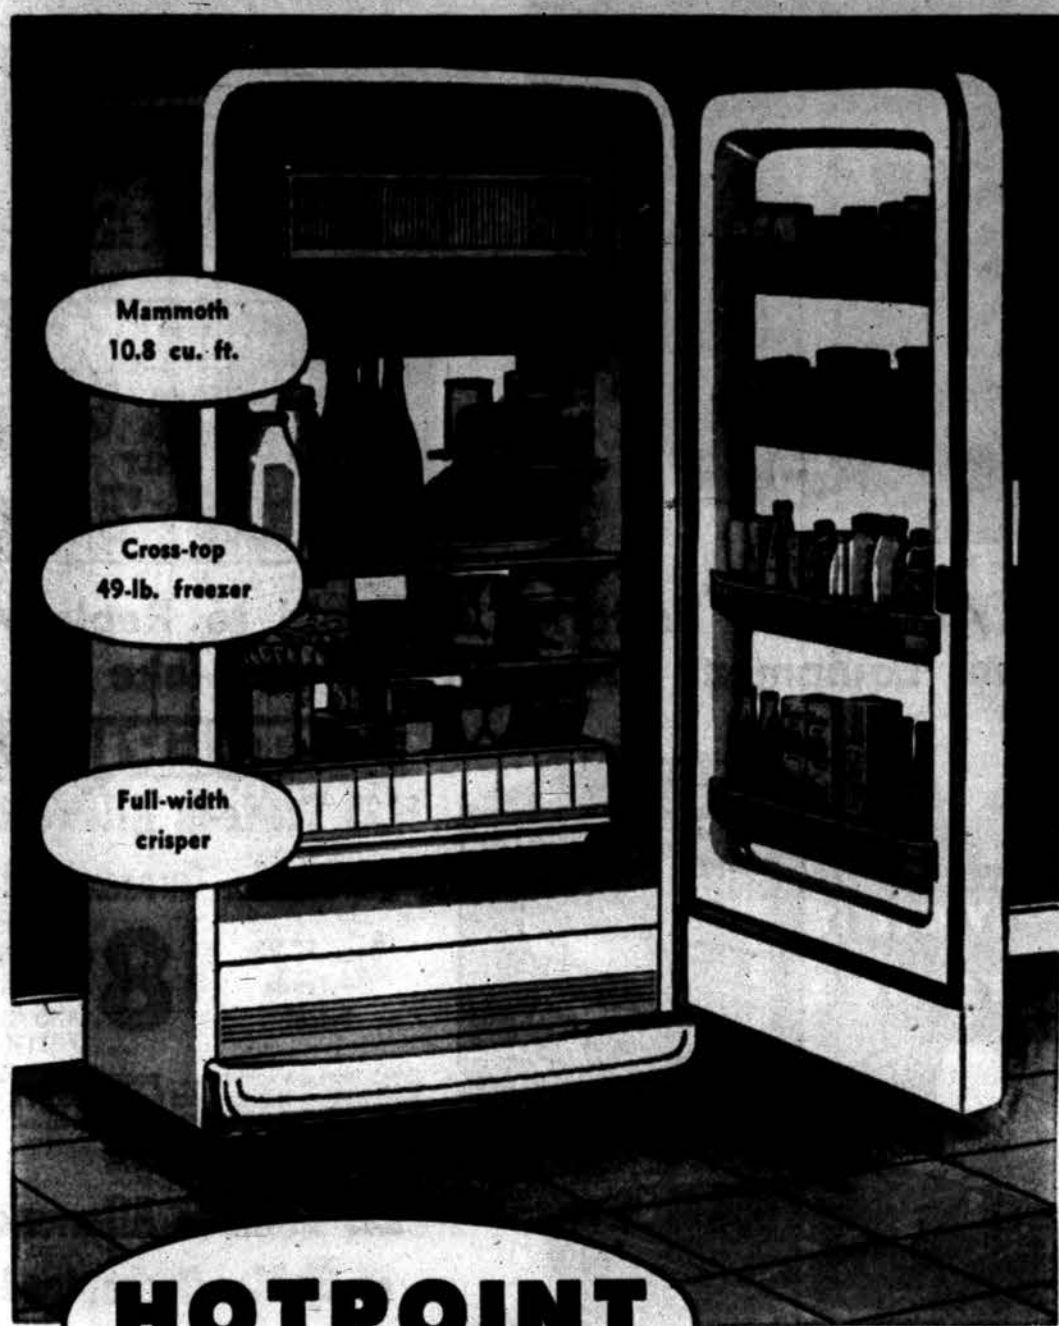

LANSING (AP)—The State Health Department has released Salk polio vaccine to hospital staff members caring for polio cases.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis said the state advisory committee on vaccine distribution had recommended the change. Previously, only pregnant women and children in the most susceptible age groups were eligible for the vaccine.

Portugal Offers Visitors Coast of Awesome Beauty

LISBON—If you are aiming to combine sightseeing and sunbathing, Portugal, with its 500-mile-long coastline is the place. From Lisbon you can go west to the Sunshine Coast at Estoril, north to the white sands of Figueira da Foz, or north to the sunny port of Nazare.

The casino at Estoril is the center of after-dark activity. Complimentary entry cards are issued to foreigners who present their passport. This ornate establishment houses, besides its gambling room, a restaurant with an open-air terrace, a night club, a bar and a theater.

Tourists can hobnob with sunbathing royalty at Estoril's fashionable Tamariz Beach where rows of green and white striped cabanas line the ocean's edge.

In May and October. The Virgin Mary is said to have appeared to three peasant children here on May 13, 1917. The miracle is observed with open-air masses before 50 altars and torchlight processions. A prophecy, said to have been given to the children by the Virgin, which is now in a sealed envelope, will be revealed to the public in 1960.

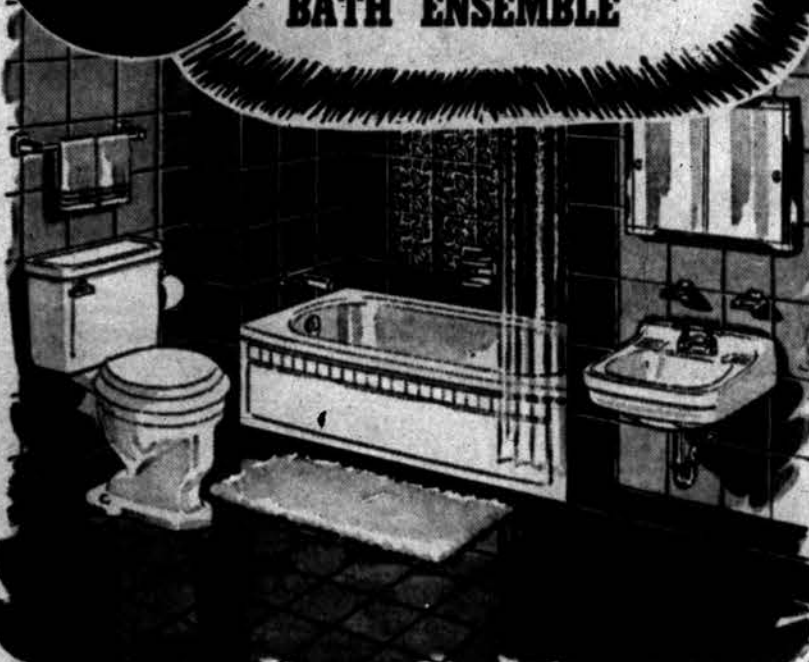

The swimming at Nazare is magnificent, and sunbathers are treated to a daily spectacle. The gaily-colored fishing boats with the days' catch are hauled out of the ocean onto the beach by yoked oxen. The barefooted fishermen are all dressed alike in woolen blouses of brown-yellow-green tartan, baggy trousers and stocking caps.

India plans a five-year oil exploration program which eventually will cover 25,000 square miles in Rajasthan, New Delhi reports.

Delivers Mail by Water Route

Sometimes a Pleasure, Sometimes a Hazard on Hamlin Lake

LUDINGTON (U) — Rural postman Lloyd Davids covers a mail delivery route that is sometimes a pleasure—sometimes a hazardous adventure.

Davids drives a 20-foot motor boat delivering mail to about 100 dockside mailboxes on Hamlin Lake.

He and his wife have had the delivery contract for the past five years.

The Hamlin Lake route opened in 1920 and resumes each year from June 15 to Sept. 16. Davids and his wife spend up to four hours daily, except Sunday, in servicing the route.

In addition, they operate a resort on the lake and Mrs. Davids teaches school in Milliken, near Lansing, during the winter months. Davids says they never have missed carrying out their deliveries, although storms sometimes make it a dangerous job. He recalls one particularly rough time last year off dead man's point.

BOAT ON ITS SIDE

Davids related that storm-whipped waves threw his boat completely out of the water and over on its side. He bent the steering wheel in efforts to hang on. Fortunately the craft righted itself and without the storm, he said.

One of their best "customers," he says, is Camp Douglas Smith—a children's camp—to which parents continually send blankets and sleeping bags.

Europe's Jewry Sees Problem of Survival

PARIS (INS)—A meeting of Jewish leaders has been told that after surviving other dangers European Jewry today faces the problem of survival as a social and cultural entity.

Moses A. Leavitt of New York City, American Joint Distribution Committee executive chairman, said that Jewish communities were weakened by years of war and persecution. He spoke at a joint meeting in Paris of the AJDC and the Conference on Jewish Material Claims Against Germany, of which he is treasurer.

"Capital investment is an investment in Jewish survival," Leavitt said. "We don't want to erect monuments. We want to erect or help maintain institutions that will make Jewish life richer, fuller, and, we hope, more Jewish."

The Claims Conference manages reparations funds awarded to Nazi victims. The AJDC maintains an aid program for needy Jews in 25 countries.

Red Committee Probing Riots

Begin Poznan Rebellion Hearings; Group Given Life and Death Power

BERLIN (U)—A Communist Polish commission pressed its inquiry today into the Poznan riots that left hundreds dead and wounded.

The commission—granted power of life and death by Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz—began hearings yesterday in Poznan, scene of last week's bloody uprising for food and freedom.

The Red body heard evidence from workers on what caused the outbreak. Then it brought in Poznan officials to answer charges of "cowardice and negligence."

The official East German news service said Cyrankiewicz told officials the commission would make recommendations to the Cabinet after it completed its inquiry.

It appeared that the sweeping purge would extend into the ranks of government and party.

Reached by telephone, Lech Jastka, editor of the Communist paper Gazeta Poznanska in Poznan, denied rumors that some rebels already had been executed.

Secret police courts have begun trying scores of workers described as "secondary" violators in the uprising.

The Warsaw radio announced, meanwhile, that Poland's Red Cross had turned down a U.S. offer to send free food to Poznan and other Polish areas.

The broadcast declared the offer was refused because "this was not meant as genuine help for Poland, but had a propaganda character and was connected with the unfriendly attitude toward Poland."

The 534 members of the recent graduating class from Central University of Venezuela in Caracas, included 238 medical students.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR: JUNIOR EDITORS

THE NATION HAS A BIRTHDAY—4

Every man who dipped his quill pen in the silver ink holder—which is still preserved in Independence Hall—and signed the Declaration of Independence, knew he might be signing away his life. It was brave and dangerous enough to do this in the privacy of the Hall, but it was far more serious to read the Declaration in public. That was open defiance of England.

On July 8 a distinguished group of men, including the 70-year-old Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, John Hancock and Robert Morris, left Independence Hall for a platform on Walnut Street, and the first public reading for the Declaration of Independence by a clerk.

The people cheered and hopes were high, but a hard seven-year war on land and sea was ahead, and the new nation had no trained army, little money and not even a national flag.

In colonial days there had been many flags, used by the individual settlements, but now a flag to symbolize the unity of the new nation was needed.

(This idea was first sent in by Mary Hayhurst, Edmond, Okla. Maybe you have a suggestion for a Junior Editors panel. If so, send it in care of this newspaper and if it is used you will win $10. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures).

Span Tops Railroad Cost

YORK, Pa. (U)—The state highway department plans to build a $200,000 bridge to carry the York-Baltimore expressway over a railroad track at nearby Stewartstown. The cost of the bridge would be more than five times the dollar volume of the Stewartstown Railroad's annual business and nearly three times the par value of its outstanding stock. The railroad operates one train a day, five days a week over the single track.

Freedom Aided by Poznan Riots

Stevenson Says West Lacks Leader to Guide Free World

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (U)—Adlai Stevenson said yesterday recent anti-Communist riots in Poland were "a powerful blow for freedom," but the West lacks a leader to be the "calm and confident spokesman for free men everywhere."

Stevenson, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, told a McLean County Democratic Central Committee picnic the meaning of the Poznan uprising.

ing "is as clear in the Kremlin as it is to free men here." Without mentioning the Republican party or President Eisenhower to the crowd of about 1,500, Stevenson said Americans "are being fed a diet of sweet complacency that can only lead to fatty degeneration."

He said this country is "stalled in the middle of the road—adrift, leaderless, in a troubled, anxious world."

Stevenson, who spent his boyhood in Bloomington, today planned to start an automobile tour of Iowa for a study of farm conditions in the state.

New Analyzer Finds Engine Trouble Fast

NEW YORK—A new electronic analyzer, which in seconds can reveal automobile engine ailments, is expected to eliminate much hit-or-miss diagnosis. It is even said to be able to spot coming trouble long before it is evident to a mechanic.

When two leads from the device are clipped to the running engine, patterns immediately begin to appear on a television-type screen. Ignition trouble is revealed in one pattern while other distinctive ones show up burned valves, low compression etc.

The analyzer is reputed to find about 90 per cent of all common engine faults. A car owner can be shown in an instant what's wrong—and afterward the machine can prove to him the trouble has been eliminated.

Security for You

Employing Home Help? Then Follow These Steps

By RAY HENRY
AP Writer

My next-door neighbor was in a mild spin the other day because she'd hired a maid to help her with the housework. She didn't know what to do about the maid's Social Security. And she was afraid she'd get into trouble with the government if she didn't do something immediately.

The maid didn't know what to do either. She just knew the Social Security tax had been taken out of her pay at the place she'd worked before.

My neighbor was relieved to find that the Social Security administration has made it simple for people employing household help to meet the problem. After first deciding whether the payments have to be made at all, there are five simple steps to follow.

Here's the story:
If you pay $50 or more in cash wages every three months to a household worker, you must take the five steps. Included among household workers are cleaning women, cooks, laundresses, chauffeurs, gardeners, baby sitters, nursemaids, handymen.

It makes no difference how many days you employ the household worker. And, it makes no difference how many other persons the employee works for.

The first step is to inform the Internal Revenue office in your area that you employ for example, a maid who comes under Social Security.

You can do this with a special form from your Social Security office, but a postcard or letter will do. The office you inform should be the same one with which you file your income tax. Why this step must be taken will be obvious from later steps you must take.

Your second move should be to ask your maid for her full name and Social Security number. (A booklet entitled "Facts for Household Workers" which you can get from any Social Security office may help you to explain to the maid why you need the number and what Social Security means.)

Step three involves deducting two per cent of your maid's cash wages for her share of the Social Security tax. If your maid objects to paying her part or if you don't want to make the deduction from her pay, you may pay out of your pocket the amount you should deduct. Keep a record of the wages you pay.

The fourth step is filling out a special form at the end of each calendar quarter which the Internal Revenue office will send you. Compute from the wage record you've kept, how much tax you owe the Social Security. The amount must be four per cent — two per cent for your maid and two per cent from you as her employer — of the total cash wages you've paid. Return the completed report and your tax payment to the Internal Revenue office.

Then, as the final step, at the end of each calendar year give your maid a written report showing:

1. The total amount of wages you've paid her during the year, and
 2. The total amount of Social Security tax you've withheld from her wages.
- (You may write Ray Henry in care of this newspaper about your Social Security or retirement problem. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin.)

Triangle Mystery Watch County Clerk Lists Forty New Births

DAYTON, Maine (AP)—Joe Zilenski has an odd, fan-shaped watch, but it won't tell him anything but the time and that's not what the 39-year-old farmer wants to know.

Instead of a round or square face, the watch has a dial like an automobile gasoline gauge. It runs from left to right and the stubby hands spring back to the left to start their journey to the right anew after every cycle.

What Zilenski wants to know is why would anyone make such a watch?

He has tried to get the answer. He started by asking the Connecticut home-owner on top of whose trash barrel the disabled chronometer was found back in 1932.

He got nowhere. So he tried watchmakers everywhere he was stationed while he was in military service for more than four years.

REFUSED $500 OFFER
Joe spent $38 to have the watch repaired. He says he has refused a $500 offer for the curio from a New York jeweler. The latter didn't know anything about it either.

The watch has a 21-jewel movement. Exterior markings include engraved lilies, a pastoral scene and the words "Holy Frs." which he believes means Holy Friars. Inside are two engraved peacocks.

Zilenski says the watch may have been a gift to someone in a religious order and that it was meant to be carried around the neck.

The face bears the name "Elector Watch."

The only clue to its origin has been advanced by Louis E. Albert, a Portland jeweler, Albert said he saw the picture of a similar watch once in a magazine. It was one of a collection of old timepieces and was described as an English-made Sector, also known as "The Flirt."

PUZZLE — Why should anyone make this kind of watch, asks Joe Zilenski.

Portuguese Offer Cheap Tourist Rates

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Portugal offers the tourist some of the lowest prices to be found anywhere in Europe.

The Portuguese escudo ranks with the Swiss franc and the American dollar as the strongest currency in the world.

A double room with meals in Portugal's finest hotel costs only $14 a day, and a cup of coffee at a sidewalk cafe goes for as little as three cents.

A fare of about two and a half cents entitles the visitor to a ferry-boat ride around the capital city of Lisbon, and less than one cent is the price for a trip on a cable car.

One of the largest visitor attractions in Portugal is the ancient fishing village of Nazare. Here, a tourist can get a handknit, turtle-necked sweater for about $4 or a souvenir fishing cap for about fifty cents.

Kefauver Lays Claim to 250 Delegate Votes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sen. Estes Kefauver laid claim yesterday to a "little more than 250 votes now" for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The Tennessee tally, stated at a news conference in Portia, Ark., is something better than half the 400 to 500 delegates claimed by backers of Adlai Stevenson.

That both still are well short of the 686½ votes it will take to gain the nomination at the party's convention in Chicago next month supported the contention of former President Harry S. Truman that the convention "is wide open."

Truman told newsmen in New York he believes "any qualified man has a chance." He denied published reports that he and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York were "plotting" to sidetrack Stevenson.

"That's the first I've heard of it," he said. "Plots are outside my ken. The convention is wide open . . . It wouldn't be fair for me to try to run the Democratic convention, because I have no desire to be a political boss."

Asks Extra Session to Consider Jobless

DETROIT (INS) — UAW President Walter Reuther has called upon the two Republican gubernatorial candidates to use their influence in reconvening the State Legislature to consider increased unemployment benefits.

Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo, and Donald S. Leonard, who won the nomination in 1954, received word from the labor leader concerning a special legislative session. The lawmakers met last month in a special session called by Gov. Williams but the Republican-dominated group failed to take any action on present unemployment laws, postponing consideration until the regular session, scheduled for July 17.

'55 Peak Year for Cars

WASHINGTON — American passenger car registrations during 1955 reached a record 50,954,000 trucks in use climbed to a new high of 10,128,000, and buses rose to a peak of 232,000. Total motor vehicle registration reached 61,334,000 compared with the prewar record of 34,500,000 in 1941.

2 Thieves Commit Suicide As Police Close Up Trap

LAWRENCE, Mass. (AP)—Authorities said today a pair of bungling jewelry store robbers took their own lives rather than surrender after police trapped them in an attic.

The dead men were identified as Warren Dockham, 34, of Malden, a salesman of aluminum windows; and his nephew, Richard P. Witham, 20, of Boston's Roxbury section.

The identifications were made by Dockham's 34-year-old bride of two months, Rita.

Dr. Joseph A. Jachimczyk, state pathologist, said an autopsy showed Witham shot himself in the mouth and Dockham shot himself in the right temple.

The bodies were found by police Tuesday night about an hour after the two men were routed from an Amesbury street jewelry store by James R. Kay Jr., 36, son of the proprietor. Kay said he had intended to hand over jewels the men demanded but became infuriated when the robbers beat him on the head with their pistols.

Despite head wounds, Kay pulled a pistol from a drawer and fired on the two men as they fled. One of the shots struck Witham on the hip.

The pair by-passed their car, parked nearby, and ran into a three-story house, taking refuge in the attic. Police exchanged several shots with the pair and then fired tear gas into the hideout. Later police burst in and found the two bodies sprawled near each other on the floor.

Richard Zartanian, proprietor of the Central Loan Co., Lynn, identified Dockham and Witham as two of three men who robbed him and his daughter, Mrs. Jessie Marokian of Lowell, of $10,780 last May.

Police said Dockham had registered his car at Jacksonville, Fla., where he spent a short time earlier this year.

Both Dockham and Witham had police records, authorities said.

Boats Need Chemicals

BOSTON — Pleasure boats are supplying one of the fastest-growing markets for a host of chemicals and are expected to send profits on some chemicals to record levels this year. These craft last year used some 5,600,000 gallons of special paints and varnishes, 160,000 pounds of nylon lines, and 660,000 gallons of liquid detergents.

HONOLULU — For the first time radar has spotted hidden lightning flashes, some of them 100 miles long, it was reported at a recent American Meteorological Society meeting in Honolulu. The lightning strokes had previously been hidden from direct observation by clouds.

Commies Maintain Hold Despite Change

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Moscow's iron fist is beginning to show through its anti-Stalin propaganda.

Those like Secretary of State Dulles who rushed to claim victories for the West in the current internal Communist upheaval may well prove to have been premature, at least.

Reports from behind the Iron Curtain today provided U.S. officials, including Dulles' own State Department experts, with evidence that the wordy but serious crisis over ideology which has shaken the Communist camp to its dial-ectrical foundations has not weakened nor even gravely threatened its real power.

Though holdouts may yet boldly appear, there are signs that lesser Red chieftains are prepared to follow the Moscow leadership through present policy reverses just as they follow Stalin when he purged old friends in the 1930s.

Heads 'Youth of Unity'

LEE'S SUMMIT, Mo. (AP)—Charles Butterworth, 18, Detroit, was elected president of Youth of Unity at the organization's 20th annual conference yesterday.

and made his turnabout pact with Hitler on the eve of World War II. Here are the signs:

1. In Warsaw the Red regime has created a special commission to investigate last week's Poznan riots and purge leaders of the workers who demonstrated for bread and liberty. Reports are that hundreds have been arrested and some already shot. Ruthless use of naked power to purge critics in the Stalinist manner does not suggest that the Polish regime is about to relax its hold and reform its political and economic policies.

2. In Italy Palmiro Togliatti, veteran Communist leader and close friend of the late Joseph Stalin, approved "without reserve" the anti-Stalin drive of the Khrushchev. Despite his earlier strong criticisms, Togliatti also indicated he would accept a Soviet whitewash statement on the Stalin situation, issued Monday.

3. Radio Moscow reported that the Red high command is blanketing the Soviet Union with "agitators" — a Red term for propagandists — to carry forward and explain the downgrading of Stalin. The action suggests a central control of political thought of the type which was characteristic of the Stalin period.

4. A Budapest radio commentator said that from now on his country will pursue a "policy based on Leninism-Marxism and in line with the tradition of the country." This was regarded by officials here not as a defiance of Moscow, though superficially it might seem to be, but as straight-forward acceptance of the new Kremlin line of greater freedom of action for Communist parties in all countries.

Leaps Bullfrog Fine

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Fred Todd pleaded guilty to illegal possession of a bullfrog and a conservation agent told General Sessions Judge Brown Taylor there is a $25 minimum fine for possessing a bullfrog in mating season. Taylor dismissed the case and observed: "I am not going to fine any man $25 for just having a bullfrog!"

TELEPHONE SET-UP AT SCOUT CAMP—This vast switchboard is required to take care of the phone calls to and from the 5,000 Girl Scouts at National Girl Scout Roundup at Highland Recreation area. Here Pontiac operator

Mrs. John McNeely, of 4740 Forest Ave., Pontiac, takes a call for one of the girls. Mrs. McNeely is a volunteer Girl Scout worker for the two-week period.

Schools Tap Leader Prospects

Four to Prepare for Future Posts

Teachers Will Spend a Year of Internship Under City Plan

A desire to attain top administrators in the Pontiac School system has prompted the local Board of Education to adopt a new type of training program.

Starting in September, four new administrators will begin an "internship" program which will prepare them for future positions as principals in Pontiac schools.

The teachers who will take the year's administrative training are Mel Staeble, Madison Junior High School; Mrs. Lorena Adams, McCarron School; Parido Nounioti, McConnell School and Arthur Bell, teacher at Webster.

The four were chosen from a total of 16 teacher applicants. There were eight applicants for three positions open for elementary principal internships and another eight applicants for the one junior high school principal internship.

The four will gain experience through work in elementary, junior and senior high schools, plus additional training at the Central Office, 40 Patterson and the special education office on Franklin Boulevard.

If the four show competence in this chosen field at the end of the year's internship, they will be promoted to administrative positions, says Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools.

During the year, Dr. Whitmer said, the four will fill in their training background with courses they may have missed during their schooling.

The means by which the four were chosen resulted from the suggestions of a selection committee composed of two teachers, two principals, J. Cecil Cox, assistant superintendent of schools and Dr. Whitmer.

Every candidate submitted information and recommendations concerning his achievements and interests.

The committee evaluated the paper work and then brought the applicants together.

While the committee sat back and listened, the applicants were asked to carry on an hour's discussion regarding a local education problem.

After this discussion, the committee chose its interns.

"This is our way of picking out the people who look like they have talent along administrative lines," Dr. Whitmer accounts. "They are evaluated before they actually go into administrative positions."

"More and more, the leadership role in schools is recognized as crucial. A school is as live and vital and progressive as its principal. That's why we've used this device for choosing administrative people."

Bach Music Soothes Gotham Subwayites

NEW YORK (INS)—Moscow's subway system may be more ornate, but the New York City subway will be the first underground transit system to treat its passengers to the music of Johann Sebastian Bach.

People passing within 10 feet of the directomat in the Times Square station are likely to hear 30 seconds of "Sleepers Awake" from Cantata No. 140, which is interspersed with a short spoken explanation of how to operate the destination finding directomat.

"WOW, LISTEN TO THIS" — These Senior Girl Scouts saw this interesting reflector oven on display at the Roundup and stopped to read directions for making it. Grouped around the aluminum foil concoction are left to right, Barbara Rifkin, Vicki Proschel and Betsy Forkas, all-of Schenectady, New York; and Mercedes Davis and Anne Bouise of New Orleans. Other displays such as this one and daily demonstrations of skills and crafts are open to the public at the Highland camp site.

Busy Network of Wires Ties Roundup to World

"Milford Roundup-1-1956" may not sound like a telephone number but you'll find out by calling the number that you'll be connected to a pretty big undertaking—National Girl Scout Roundup at the Highland Recreation area.

Heston Thrills Campers

Scouts' Hearts Do Leaps as Movie Star Visits Camp

Life was pretty exciting yesterday when some 5,000 Girl Scouts met movie star Charlton Heston at the National Girl Scout Roundup in the Highland Recreation area.

Especially up in the air was the official welcoming committee of seven girls who knew they were to meet one of the honored guests of the day but were completely in the dark about which one.

"I'm shaking," one girl revealed after he gave her his autograph. Another promptly named him honorary "Girl Scout for the Day." Another said, "I thought he'd have a big car and he's driving a Ford. That's what we drive."

In an interview preceding his speech at the Fourth of July pageant, Heston told reporters that his immediate future plans included a trip to New York where he and his wife were taking two months off to play in summer stock.

He plans to do another picture in September, and in November will be traveling throughout this country and Europe in connection with his latest picture "The Ten Commandments."

His wife, Lydia, and his father, Russell Carter, of Detroit, were with him yesterday.

They had just spent time at Heston's farm near St. Helen (Mich.). "The fishing and weather were just fine," Heston reported. "We had a grand time."

The Hestons have one son, 16-month-old Fraser. Heston calls

This unusual and appropriate number was added to the intercity dialing records throughout the country on June 22, the day camp leaders began preparing for the onslaught of 5,000 Girl Scouts from all over the U. S. and several different countries who arrived last Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Lois Regan, chief operator at the roundup, says the calls to and from the camp have doubled daily since the girls have come. Some 200 calls come over the wires the first day.

The call made to the furthest point from the camp at present is Alaska from the Alaska Girl Scout representatives, Mrs. Regan said.

A lot of work went into the preparation for the extensive phone service offered the girls. The General Telephone Co. of Michigan laid 22,000 feet of cable from Highland to the recreation area.

This cable carries the circuits for Western Union, radio and TV circuits in addition to the telephone wires. Everything will be removed July 11.

The camp has 29 circuits, 24 to Detroit and 5 to Pontiac. A specially-built trailer houses the telephone equipment. A regular telephone set with 16 pay phones was set up down in the camp section near the campers for their convenience.

Estimated costs for the two week encampment is $35,000.

Western Union is housed in the same tent as the telephone headquarters. So far 211 wires have been sent over the four circuits provided by Western Union.

Harold C. Bird, senior operator at the Pontiac office, is heading the operation for the two week's stay.

The operation can reach any place in the United States within a matter of minutes, Bird said. Most of the telegrams so far, Bird reveals have been "Hi folks—got here safely, send warm clothes."

In addition to the telephone and Western Union operations, the U. S. Army has set up its own intercommunication system in the camp. Regular field phones go from camp location to another instantly.

These communication operations are just part of the planning, preparation and expense incurred in an undertaking involving such a number of people.

You Dig Jazz, Cat? Visit Crazy Newport

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—Man, if you ain't hep and don't dig it you better stay away from Newport for a while.

But if four-beat gives you a lift and you jump when they play that eight-to-the-bar, Newport is the place to be for the next three days.

The 3rd annual Newport Jazz Festival gets under way tonight for a three-day stand and from a look at the lineup, this meeting at the summit looks like a "complete gas"—in the words of the jazz lover.

The opening session tonight features the driving, swinging band of Count Basie, the cool vocals of Sarah Vaughan, the Modern Jazz Quartet, the "Avant-Garde" quintet of Charlie Mingus, and a group of all-stars assembled by traditionalist Eddie Condon, who plays a "mean pork chop" — guitar, that is.

In addition, two young women jazz pianists from overseas — Toshiko Akiyoshi of Japan and Justa Hipp of Germany—will be making their debuts before Newport jazz society.

Car Wreck Pins Girl for 9 Days

Boyfriend Killed as Auto Rolls Down Hill 300 Ft. From Main Highway

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—An 18-year-old California girl says she heard automobiles passing within 300 feet of her as she lay helpless for nine days under the wreckage of a car. Only 20 feet away lay the body of her fiancé.

Jean Margetts of Sunnyvale, Calif., spoke briefly yesterday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Margetts, as she recovered in a hospital room.

She was rescued Tuesday night after an airplane spotted the wreckage at the bottom of a 300-foot embankment just off heavily traveled U.S. Highway 40 east of Salt Lake City. Highway patrolmen at first thought Jean, as well as her fiancé James Hixon, 22, Salt Lake City, was dead. But when a patrolman lifted a heavy log from her legs, she cried out.

The two had been the object of a statewide search since they disappeared while on a fishing trip June 24. They were to have been married in September.

"She was quite coherent the little she talked to us," Mr. Margetts said. "She said she regained consciousness often and could hear traffic passing along the highway above but was unable to call out because she was so weak."

"Mrs. Margetts and I must have driven within a few hundred feet of her dozens of times and didn't know she was there as we tried to help in the search for Jim and Jean."

"The anxiety and loneliness of those nine days must have been horrifying."

Mr. Margetts said "she probably knew the boy was dead."

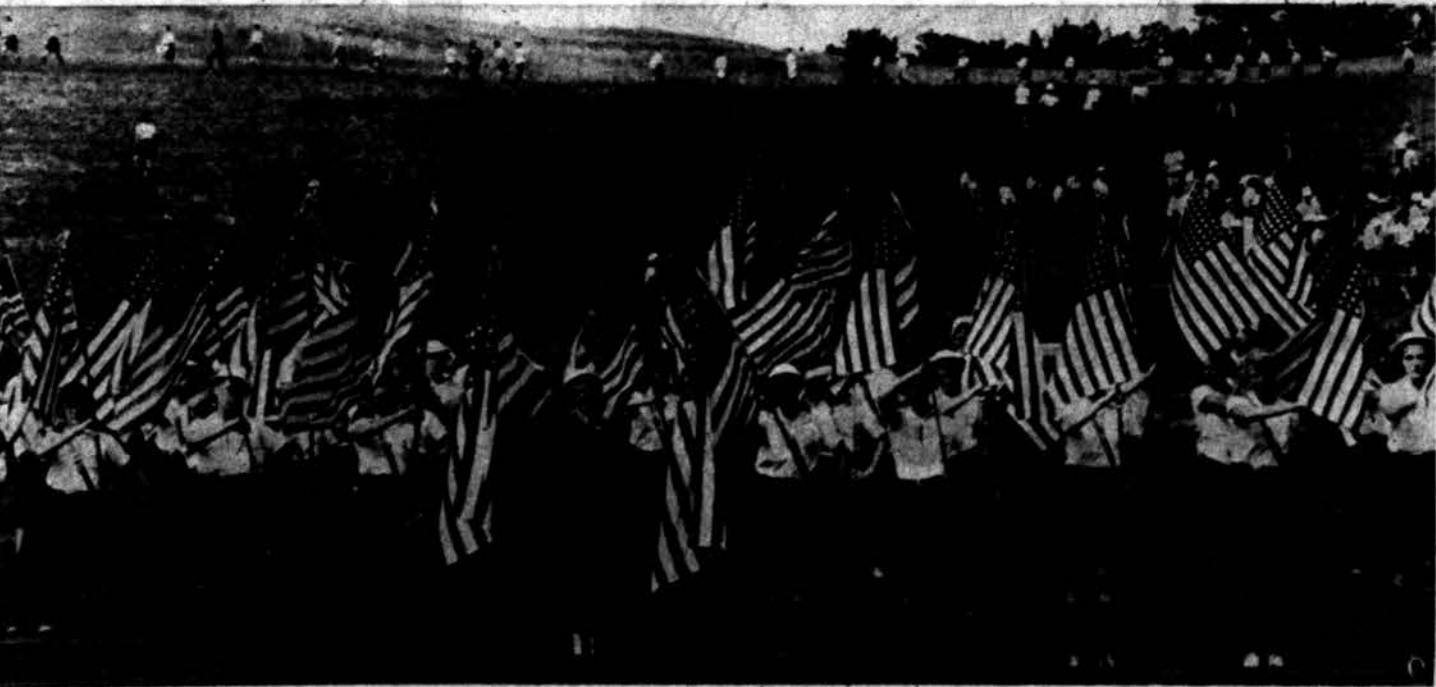

"OH, BOY!" — Girl Scouts from around Riverside, California are thrilled as Jacqueline Cochran, famous aviatrix, comes to the Senior Roundup and presents them with copies of her book, "The Stars at Noon." The Scouts aren't sure whether they'll keep the books themselves or use them as super swap items. Miss Cochran toured the camp Wednesday before addressing the girls in their Fourth of July pageant.

PRIVATE TRANSPORTATION — A patrol of Girl Scouts from Tuscola county, in Michigan's Thumb area, have been carrying their girl leader around on a litter. Shortly before this picture was taken, the lashed poles broke, dumping Janice Gibbs on the ground. She sprained her arm and had to have a stitch taken in a cut on her knee. Patrol mascot, Bill (a stuffed skunk),

MASSED FLAGS — One hundred and fifty American flags were carried into the huge outdoor arena at Wednesday's Fourth of July ceremonies held by the Girl Scouts. Nearly 3,000 visitors joined the 5,000 Scouts in observance of our country's birthday celebration. Flags from the 48 states and 6 territories were also used in the pageant.

The flags get extensive use in the camp, particularly on each morning when state and national emblems are used in impressive ceremonies at the massed flag poles. In the background, several girls form an interested backdrop for the colorful display.

New Gunfight Witness Found

Claims One Accused Other of Breaking Up Home in Oklahoma

STILWELL, Okla. (U. S. A.) — Another witness of Tuesday's gunfight to the death between two eastern Oklahoma political rivals here said he overheard one of the men accuse the other of "breaking up his home."

The new witness, uncovered today, was Dave Kirby, a 61-year-old nightwatchman at nearby Westville, home of Bob Alberty, 32, killed in the quick-draw exchange of gunfire with Adair County Sheriff Chester Crittenden, 51. Each was married and had two children.

Investigators first believed the only witness to the affray had been the jailer, Ike Martin Jr., 25, who was standing alongside Crittenden when he was felled by slugs from Alberty's pistol.

Kirby said today he rode to Stilwell with Alberty to inquire about election returns. He said he and Alberty were standing talking with two men when Crittenden drove up.

"He came over to where we were and Ches commenced cursing and claimed Bob was breaking up his home. Ches said Bob had been lying on him and wrecking his home," Kirby related.

The watchman said Crittenden then told Alberty to come along, that he was taking him to jail. "Bob never refused going. He just went along," Kirby said.

Kirby said a man named J. D. Burnett told the sheriff that Alberty was in jail with a gun.

Kirby said the sheriff declared "Well, let's go up there and see." Kirby said he entered the jail with Crittenden and as the sheriff passed the kitchen door the shooting started.

"I couldn't say who shot first. I was standing there about 20 feet from the spot. They fired three or four shots apiece," Kirby said.

Martin had earlier said Alberty fired from a darkened room. He said Alberty fired twice and he believed one bullet missed but the other caught the sheriff in the chest.

Returns in the contest for the office of sheriff showed Alberty with 1,548 votes to Crittenden's 1,222 in Tuesday's election. Two other candidates, Ed Dudley had 178 votes and George Asbell had 129.

DEER FRIENDS — Discovering that the way to a deer's heart is through his stomach, is 12-year-old Kathryn Hinton, who used her tidbits to the best of her advantage and was a "deer" friend of this pair of zoomates in no time at all.

The deer are residents of the children's section of England's Whipsnade Zoo.

Accounting Methods Change to Save Funds

WASHINGTON (U. S. A.) — Congress has been told tighter government accounting practices undoubtedly would save money, but probably not the four billion dollars a year mentioned earlier by a Hoover Commission unit.

Director Percival F. Brundage, made public today by a House showed that he backed away from the four-billion estimate.

But Brundage, supporting a $405,000 appropriation request to put some of the Hoover Commission recommendations in effect in the Budget Bureau, said he was satisfied improved procedures would save "several million dollars."

Brain to Determine Who Gets Catalogues

CHICAGO — In an effort to determine which persons should receive catalogues in its annual mailing of 50,000,000 copies, one mail-order company is installing an electronic brain. The firm hopes the machine can figure out which prospects are the likeliest to become customers. These will receive catalogues.

Climber Takes Risk at Crash Site

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (U. S. A.) — Two helicopter pilots and a mountaineer today planned to join in a dangerous scheme to reach the main wreckage of a United Air Lines DC7 that crashed in the Grand Canyon with another big airliner five days ago.

In the disaster, worst in commercial aviation history, 128 people were killed.

The helicopter pilots, Capt. Walter Spriggs of Snackover, Ark., and C.W.O. Howard Proctor of Kings Mountain, N.C., volunteered last night to try to fly a mountain climber to the spot where the DC7 crashed, presumably after colliding in flight with a TWA Super Constellation. The wreckage of the Constellation lies less than a mile from where the DC7 went down.

Spriggs and Proctor said they would leave for the crash scene today with Allen Auten of Denver, a member of the Colorado Mountain Club.

If Auten could be dropped safely on the small ridge that holds much of the DC7 wreckage, he could lower ropes to other climbers trying to scale the butte to reach the bodies of the crash victims. The ridge is about 1,000 feet above the Colorado River.

The bodies of only two of the 128 killed have been identified. The two were Marine Capt. James W. Tobias Jr., Philadelphia, Pa., and Carl Matland, Pittsburgh, Pa. Both were passengers of the DC7. Their bodies were found yesterday near the bottom of the butte.

Twenty-six rubber sacks filled with remains of some of the 70 persons aboard the Constellation have been taken from the canyon, but none of the victims have been identified.

Climbers trying to get to the DC7 wreckage from below made it up about three fourths of the way yesterday, driving bolts into the side of the butte and looping them with nylon rope to form a ladder up the precipice.

A single funeral service will be held next Monday in Flagstaff, south of the canyon, for those killed in the crash of the Constellation.

Red China Wives Also Serving Cause of Party

HONG KONG (INS) — The wives of businessmen in Red China are now required to serve the Communist cause.

Madame Chou En-lai (wife of Premier-Foreign Minister Chou) listed five tasks for these women-folk at a "National Conference of Representatives of the Wives of Industrialists and Merchants and Women Industrialists and Women Merchants," held in Peking.

1. The five tasks are:
1. Encourage husbands or relatives to improve enterprise management.
2. Manage household affairs and teach children in a satisfactory manner.
3. Cultivate the habit of working and form the idea that "labor is glorious."
4. Undertake studies diligently and participate in social activities.
5. Cultivate more "activists" and lead the families of businessmen to march forward.

Out-of-State Crash

TRUMBULL, Conn. (U. S. A.) — Nine automobiles were involved in a highway accident, and only the state police car investigating the series of rear end collisions bore Connecticut registration plates. The damaged cars came from Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey and Maryland.

Lady Betrayed Them!

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (U. S. A.) — The University of Illinois Air Force ROTC unit held its annual review without its last year's sponsor, Sara Barry. She was scheduled to appear at festivities this year. Instead she married an Army lieutenant and left school.

Albert Barnett Plans to Show Pictures

Just a year ago Albert Barnett of Keego Harbor made an extended trip to the battle-fields of Europe where he had served during World War I.

At 7:30 p.m. today in the Gillingville Baptist Church on Baldwin road, he will show about 250 pictures in color which he took as he visited England, Belgium and France.

His return trip to France was the result of a vow made years ago while crouching in a shell hole for shelter.

Barnett vowed if his life were spared, he would serve God and fellow veterans the rest of his life. When a companion was killed trying to get medical aid, he also vowed to return some day to France to pay homage to his friend.

Donnybrook Fair Last Held in 1855

DUBLIN — The Donnybrook Fair is still probably the world's most famous fair although the last one was held in 1855. The name has come to mean riotous jollity.

It started in 1204 when King John granted Dublin's citizens a charter to hold an annual trading fair. For the next 651 years it was held on a meadow beside the River Dodder a mile outside the city. Drink was its ruin. From 1790 on, there were campaigns against its drunkenness.

Marquette Plant Closes

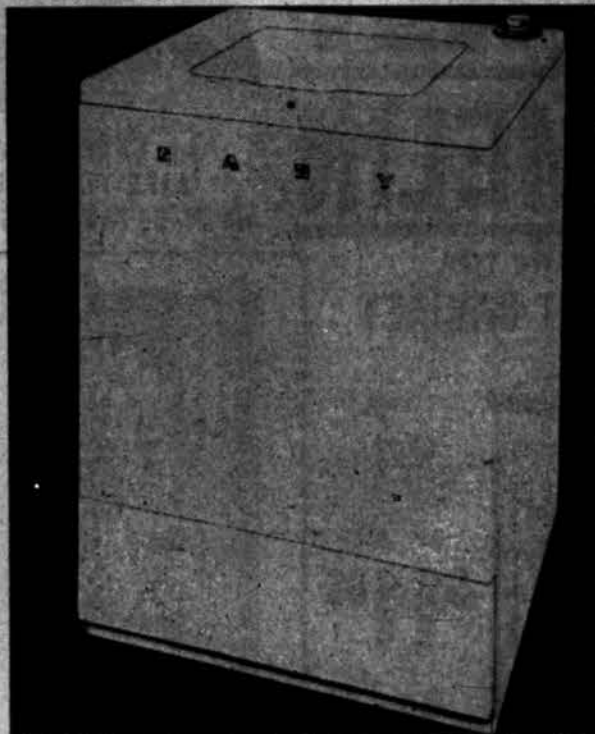

MARQUETTE (AP) — A month-long shutdown of the Marquette plant of Munising Wood Products Co. was announced this week. The company said the layoff was due to a combination of "seasonal fluctuations" in business, vacations and extensive repairs to equipment.

Off to Amazonian Jungle

NEW YORK (INS)—Young Ivan Obolensky has left wealth and comfort behind to help record and decode a strange and perhaps archeology-shaking "river of writing."

The slim, 31-year-old New Yorker—born of Russian nobility and the famed Astor fortune—is vice president of the Amazonia

Foundation, and one of an eight-man expedition which has set out for the plateau of the Aymara tribe and nearby areas in the mountainous border area of Bolivia and Peru.

There on boulders and cliffs of a small tributary to the world's mightiest river, explorers have found undeciphered writings.

These writings, Obolensky said before his departure, seem to have characters and symbols resembling those of Chinese script. He added:

"They may lead us into a new world. They may provide the key to the ages-old civilization whose culture and technological progress will stagger us."

WORKS ON NOVEL

Obolensky, intense and energetic, was born with the much-maligned "silver spoon." He is the grandson of the late John Jacob Astor, who went down in the Titanic disaster. His father is Serge Obolensky, one-time Russian prince and a New York hotel executive.

He wed Claire Elizabeth McGinnis, daughter of the late Felix S. McGinnis—a self-made western railway magnate—in 1946. They have three children.

The young husband, silver spoon or not, sat down to five years intensive work on his first novel, "Rogues' March," to be published soon by Random House. He is active in many philanthropic and charitable organizations.

A VICE PRESIDENT

He recently became vice president, under President George Michanowsky, of the Amazonia Foundation. Michanowsky is a former professor of comparative civilizations, and is leading the expedition in South America.

Obolensky said the undeciphered writings "are the only evidence of the people who once lived there. They seem to have known that a great disaster was imminent. In several places the writings are exactly the same. It is as if they wanted to leave a message and wanted to be sure that we saw it."

"The indications are," he said "that the mountains may have rung up when the people lived there. The upheaval may have wiped out all but a remnant of the race."

Loudspeaker System

ELK CITY, Okla. (AP) — Holly Jean Hancock, infant daughter of the pastor of the First Baptist Church here, had been crying every Sunday when she was left in the church nursery.

However, the attendants in the nursery soon found a way to make the child coo — they switch on the public address system and when the baby hears her daddy's preaching voice she is perfectly happy.

New Guinea Pine Production Rises for Frameworks

MELBOURNE, Australia —Timber from New Guinea Klinki pine trees, particularly in the Wau-Bulolo district, is being used more extensively in Australia for building frame-work, for roof timbers, joinery, and for veneer and plywood.

Annual production of veneer and plywood is up to 50,000,000 square feet of 3-16 inch sheets and 1-8 inch moisture resistant three-ply.

As logging, sawmilling, veneering and plywood manufacture of Klinki pine are now well established, its expected that supplies will become more readily available in the future. In the six months ended in July, 1955, over 1,000,000 super feet of sawn klinki pine timber was used in Australia.

Klinki pine is a softwood, with straight grains, and of close uniform texture. It is easily cut, finishes well with stains, paints, varnishes and lacquers, and does not require the use of a filler.

Can Determine Fish Population Easily

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — It's all right to count fish before they're hatched. In fact, it's the thing today, says Dr. H. C. Hardy, English marine biologist.

The Oxford university authority on fishery predictions told an international symposium: "We can count fish by counting fish eggs. This is so, not because we can predict how many eggs will become fish, but because the number of eggs is an accurate indicator of how many fish there are in the breeding stock."

Detroit Polio Report

DETROIT (AP) — So far this year Detroit has had 17 cases of polio, compared with 18 in a similar period of 1955. The victims included 13 children, of whom 8 had Salk vaccine. Only two of these cases were paralytic.

Seek Real Cause of Accidents

Is It the Driver, Vehicle or Highway? —U. of M. Researchers to Find Out

ANN ARBOR UP—The University of Michigan began a research program this month into which is wrong in a traffic accident—the driver, the vehicle or the highway.

Prof. John C. Kohl, director of the transportation institute and supervisor of the project, and Bruce D. Greenshields, former chief of highway systems for the Army, are top men in the project.

The study will investigate all automobile accidents that occur in Washtenaw County through June 30, 1957. Researchers will visit the scenes of all "significant accidents," to note weather and road conditions.

Using questionnaires prepared by psychologists and statisticians, they will interview victims.

This, Kohl said, will give them a view of the pre-accident behavior, attitudes, mental and emotional states, and reaction to the road of the accident victims.

"This is a pioneer study," Kohl said, "in which we are trying to find the real cause of most traffic accidents."

"Generally the driver is blamed and road and vehicle conditions are more or less ignored. We hope to be able to gain a basis for constructive suggestions as to how accidents may be prevented in the future or to point the way to those phases which warrant further study."

"Too much emphasis is being placed today on highway restrictions—speed limits, red light, radar traps and so on—not enough on methods for facilitating the smooth flow of traffic," Kohl said.

SAFETY EMPHASIZED

"To retain the mobility that the automobile provides," Kohl said, "we must design our facilities so that the greatest number of drivers can be safely accommodated."

Washtenaw County, Kohl said is ideal for a study area. It combines county lanes, expressways, urban and rural traffic.

The State Legislature has provided $33,000 to finance the year-long project. It includes a phase concerned with the non-accident driver too.

The study will try to find out if a driver is thinking about road and weather when he decides to accelerate or slow down. It should also tell how highway engineers can best reach him with warnings on changing conditions.

Reinforced Concrete Lauded by Architect

LINCOLN, Neb. (INS)—A leading Mexican architect says reinforced concrete is "the building material of our times" and predicts that the future appearance of buildings will change radically because of its use.

Felix Candela, of Mexico City, told architectural students at the University of Nebraska that concrete has been widely used in Mexico because it is cheaper than steel. This same situation now exists in the United States for the first time, he added.

To Candela's way of thinking the change will be a happy one. He believes cleaner and more exciting structures can be erected with concrete.

Olive Culture Dates Back to Ancient Civilization

WASHINGTON — Geography plays a large part in deciding whether Americans will pack green olives or ripe olives in their picnic baskets this summer.

Chances are, says the National Geographic Society, that east of the Mississippi the olives will be green. West of the Rockies, they're almost certain to be black. Californians, who grow more than 99 per cent of the ripe olives sold in the nation, consume a third of their own crop.

Though Spain is the chief exporter, all the countries around the Mediterranean have been growing olives for centuries. As old as agriculture, olive culture was born with civilization in Asia Minor.

Like many Mediterranean peoples of today, the ancients ate olives as a staple. Plato often made a meal of them. Epicures feasted on them as relish and as dessert. NAMED 'ABUNDANCE'

Rightly called the "Tree of Abundance," the olive furnished more than food. Its fragrant, yellowish-white flowers and evergreen leaves served as medicines as well as garlands for the heads of victorious warriors and Olympic champions.

Olive trees were planted in California by Jesuit missionaries as early as 1697. Until the 20th century, however, they were grown primarily as windbreaks for citrus orchards.

Then in 1901, Professor Frederic T. Bolelli, at Berkeley, showed that olives could be canned like other fruit. The ripe olive industry was born. Olives that are to be pressed for oil (few in California are) are not picked until fully ripe and nearly black. Olives for pickling—both green and "ripe"—are harvested when mature but still green in color. The "ripe" olives turn black from exposure to air during processing.

RID OF BITTERNESS

Olives right off the tree, at any stage of maturity, are a painful blow to the palate. To rid them of bitterness, they must be bathed in lye, then thoroughly washed.

Once "cut" by lye and changed in color, black olives are soaked in a strong salt solution, washed and finally canned. The green olives are allowed to ferment 6 to 12 months in brine.

Olives are graded in as many as 13 different sizes, from large through giant, jumbo, colossal and supercolossal. The really big ones are super supremes.

Machine Halts Shakes

NEW YORK — Scientists of a New York company have built a simple electronic device that can both absorb and reduce the vibrations of machines.

The device, described as an electronic means of turning vibration against itself through a detecting and amplifying system, is said to respond instantaneously to each motion of the vibrating machine, either by creating an opposite force or by absorbing the motion.

All That Background—and He Lands in Jail

Bob Considine Says:

Reds May Repeat 1944 Betrayal of Poland

NEW YORK (INS) — Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, the last free Premier of Poland, wrote in his poignant memoir "The Rape of Poland" these memorable words:

"A raging question in Poland has become, 'How long will it take them to communize us completely?'"

"To my mind, however, the question is badly framed. I am convinced that human beings cannot be converted to communism if that conversion is attempted while the country concerned is under Communist rule."

"Under Communist dictatorship the majority become slaves — but men born in freedom, though they may be coerced, can never be convinced. Communism is an evil which is embraced only by fools and idealists not under the actual heel of such rule."

"The question should be phrased: How long can a nation under Communist rule survive the erosion of its soul?"

That was written for King Features Syndicate in 1948 after his dramatic escape.

Polish workers have now rebelled so seriously that borders have been shut tighter than ever, tanks and jets have wheeled up to shoot them down, and the Communist government of the saddened land cannot afford to tell the full story.

PROTEST IS CRIME

As this is written, the chief word out of Warsaw is the inevitable (or is it?) word that leaders of the Poznan revolution for bread and better living standards are being rounded up and shot—a demand for bread and a status above that of an animal being a crime behind the Iron Curtain. There is uneasiness in some Polish circles that a parallel exists between the current trouble in Poland and the tragic betrayal of the Warsaw underground in August 1944.

On July 29 of that year, at 2:15 p.m. with the Red Army in the eastern suburbs of Warsaw, the Polish language Moscow radio station ("Kosciuszko") broadcast this call of arms:

"No doubt Warsaw already hears the guns of the battle that is soon to bring her liberation. Those who have never bowed their heads to the Hitlerite power will again, as in 1939, join battle with the Germans, this time for the decisive action . . .

"Its ranks (the underground) will be joined tomorrow . . . they will pursue the enemy westward, wipe out the Hitlerite vermin from the Polish land, and strike a mortal blow at the beast of Prussian imperialism."

"Poland! The time of liberation is at hand! Poles, do arms! There is not a moment to lose!"

This broadcast was monitored by BBC.

42,000 SOLDIERS

Gen. Bor-Komorowski had 42,000 troops in his underground army. 35,000 of them well trained and 20,000 of them armed with rifles and machine guns parachuted in by the British.

He even had a small arms plant working underground. His brave men spilled out of the sewers, the lofts, the surrounding fields and the Nazi slave plants like a surging tide.

Five Nazi divisions under Gen. Stahl and the SS, reinforced by the Hermann Goering Division, rushed up from Italy, the Totenkopf Division from Romania and the SS Viking Division, withdrawn from the Lublin front, butchered these courageous fighters.

Some 35,000 of the people of Warsaw were forcibly evacuated into Germany, as punishment.

The Red Army never lifted a finger to help. Both Roosevelt and Churchill joined Mikolajczyk in appealing fruitlessly to Stalin to send in the Red divisions marking time on the edge of the cruel laughter.

Stalin would not even permit U. S. bombers to land on Russian-held fields beyond Warsaw after bombarding German strong-points in and around Warsaw.

While the true leaders of free Poland died like flies, Stalin signed a pact with the Lublin (Communist) Poles. The ruse to get good men out of the way had worked.

"Did this happen again at Poznan?"

GOD'S JUDGMENT

The last radio message to leave Warsaw before the 1944 uprising was snuffed out read:

"This is the stark truth. We were treated worse than Hitler's satellites, worse than Italy, Romania, Finland.

"May God, who is just, pass judgment on the terrible injustices suffered by the Polish nation, and may He punish accordingly all those who are guilty."

Israeli Deny Arab Charges

Jews Rip Report That She Is Massing Troops at Armistice Line

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel has described as "pure fabrication" Arab charges that she is massing troops near the Jordan-Israel armistice line.

An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman issued the denial last night after a Jordan army representative sounded warnings in Amman.

The Jordanian official charged the Israelis were concentrating forces near the new part of Jerusalem. The area was the scene of bloody fighting in the 1948 Palestine War.

Informants said Jordan's King Hussein had relayed the charges to representatives of the United States, Britain and France who are pledged to maintain the present frontiers between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

The State Department said in Washington it had no word of unusual troop activities.

Canada's gross national product for 1955 climbed to 26.6 billion dollars, an increase of more than 10 per cent over the 24.1 billion achieved in 1954, a recession year.

School Aid Bill Doomed With Antisegregation Rid

WASHINGTON (AP)—House leaders today weighed the unusual course of letting a federal school aid bill, now carrying a bitterly disputed antisegregation rider, die quietly without a final vote.

Key backers of the 1½-billion-dollar school construction measure appeared convinced the bill was doomed by House attachment of an amendment by Rep. Powell (D-NY) to deny federal aid to states which continue to segregate schoolchildren by race.

Over the holiday, Democratic floor managers of the measure considered the possibility of permitting it to die without calling it up again for consideration.

As precedent, they recalled a similar action taken some years ago by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee when an antidiscrimination amendment was attached on the House floor to a bill which had been approved by his committee.

Chairman Barden (D-NC) of the House Education Committee, floor manager for the school aid bill, vigorously opposes the Powell antisegregation provision, as do other southerners.

A number of other proposed changes in the school bill remained to be disposed of before a final House vote.

In its present form, the measure would provide 1½ billion dollars in grants to the states to help them build schools during the next five years. None of the 300 million dollars yearly could be used for current operating expenses.

President Eisenhower has strongly urged such a program to relieve a classroom shortage, although he recommended 1½ billion dollars over five years. The National Education Assn., meeting in Portland, Ore., called on Eisenhower to prod Congress anew to pass the bill.

Birth of Daughter Is Biggest Thing for Ohio Midgets

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 3-foot-7 woman and her 4-foot-7 husband are parents of a 4-pound, 7-ounce daughter.

The parents are Mrs. Trinidad Milano, 35-year-old housewife who weighs 58 pounds, and Joseph James Milano, 35, a machine shop worker. They are former circus performers.

Mrs. Milano gave birth Tuesday, through a Caesarean section, to Mary Ann. Doctors expect the infant to grow to normal stature.

"This is the happiest thing that has ever happened to us," Milano said. "We have wanted a child for eight years. We will try to give her the best."

Algerian Cities Under Guard

Heavily Armed Patrols Follow New Violence by Nationalists

ALGIERS, Algeria (U)—Heavily armed military patrols ranged through Algeria's main cities today in the wake of new nationalist violence and the threat of a general strike.

Nationalist rebels struck in the heart of Algiers last night, setting a public garage afire and sending a suburban vegetable oil plant up in flames with a grenade attack.

The nationalists called for a general strike today — 126th anniversary of the French occupation of Algiers. They threatened to shoot anyone seen on the streets.

The French replied that any violence would meet with stern countermeasures.

The French termed the nationalist action a purely "political" strike.

The rebels themselves have indicated they were unwilling to go too far.

Tracts urging Moslems to remain calm appeared in Algiers last night. They were signed by the Algerian nationalist movement.

Walt Disney Returns for Home Town Honor

MARCELINE, Mo. (U)—Walt Disney returned to his home town yesterday to dedicate a swimming pool, reminded that in his boyhood here "we swam in a cow pond, after we chased the cows out."

The new pool and a surrounding 10-acre park are named in the movie-maker's honor. His appearance attracted a dedicatory crowd of 6,000. Accompanying Disney were his wife and brother Roy.

A local premiere of Disney's latest movie, "The Great Locomotive Chase," preceded the ceremony.

Muskegon Girl Bitten by Lion Out of Danger

MUSKEGON (U)—Little Beatrice Ann Harris was reported out of danger and recovering today from head injuries suffered in the jaws of a performing lion.

Beatrice Ann, 3, underwent brain surgery yesterday at Bledgett Memorial Hospital. Later she was removed from the critical list and was described as in good condition.

The lion seized her head in his jaws Tuesday night when she went too close to the animal, which was chained in a back yard. Her father Gerald Harris freed her by forcing his knee and arm between the lion's jaws.

George DeNio, who uses the lion and a lion cub in a night club act, said the lion might have believed it was playing with a toy when it seized the girl. DeNio said the lion, a 270-pounder, is tame and has not caused trouble before. He said he had warned the girl and her father against going close to the lion.

On orders of Muskegon County authorities, both the lion and the cub are being kept in their traveling cages.

Check Forgery Scheme Fails, Woman Kills Two

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—A petite, 32-year-old wife of an Air Force major told sheriff's deputies today she stabbed her elderly landlord and his wife to death when her check forgery scheme backfired.

Deputies said Mrs. Blanche Jacobs, mother of three, spent three days trying to conceal the deaths of her "close" friends, then told her husband, who took her to police. Mrs. Jacobs walked into police headquarters last night and announced, "I want to report a double murder," police said.

She was accompanied by her husband Maj. Eugene W. Jacobs, 35, who said he had doubted the bizarre story she blurted out to him some time earlier.

Authorities checked and found the bodies of Andrew J. Robinson, 74, and his wife Maude, 73, side by side in the bathroom of their suburban Groveport home. Their bodies showed multiple stab wounds.

Lt. Ellsworth P. Beck of the Franklin County sheriff's office said Mrs. Jacobs gave him a statement admitting she killed the couple last Monday when they learned she had forged a check against Mrs. Robinson's bank account. That check and two others forged by Mrs. Jacobs totaled $1,149, Beck said.

Mrs. Jacobs lived next door to the Robinsons. Jacobs, who is stationed at nearby Lockbourne AFB, described the Robinsons as "very close" friends.

Mrs. Jacobs sobbed intermittently as she told how she cleaned up the blood-spattered Robinson home the day after the killings and dragged the bodies into the bathroom, Beck said.

The lieutenant said Mrs. Jacobs tried to give neighbors the impression that the Robinsons had left town. When she realized she couldn't continue to conceal what had happened, she told her husband, Beck added.

Maj. Jacobs was near collapse when police told him they had found the bodies.

The auburn-haired mother was held in county jail for investigation. No charges have been filed. This is the story, Beck said, that she told the killings:

She received a call from Robinson Monday, asking her to explain a check for about $400 which she had signed in Mrs. Robinson's name.

Mrs. Jacobs made three or four visits to the Robinson home that day. On the last visit Mrs. Jacobs found Mrs. Robinson preparing to make a cherry pie in a second kitchen in the basement.

"They got to talking about the check," Beck said, "then stopped. Mrs. Jacobs said things sort of went blank and she next found herself with a rolling pin in her hand. She hit Mrs. Robinson over the head several times — she doesn't remember how many — and the woman fell to the floor."

"About this time, Robinson came down the basement steps and Mrs. Jacobs ran past him into the first floor kitchen and got a large knife. She ran back to Robinson and began slashing him. They fought up the steps. Robinson collapsed in the first-floor kitchen."

"Mrs. Jacobs turned around and saw Mrs. Robinson, who had got up from the floor, come up the steps and go out into the garage. Mrs. Jacobs ran after Mrs. Robinson, pulled her back into the kitchen and stabbed her numerous times."

Beck said Mrs. Jacobs had received a five-year suspended sentence in Shreveport, La., in 1934 for forging government bonds. He said the major has taken their children, Mike, 12, Sam, 10, and Belinda, 7, to his mother's home in San Antonio, Tex., and promised to return.

Rockets Posing Noisy Problems

WASHINGTON (NEA) — They may have to cancel World War III because it'll be too noisy.

That's the ironical contention of a battery of experts studying effects of the deafening noise of rocket engines being tested for guided missiles.

A few weeks ago the Veterans Administration had to create a new category of disability payments for former servicemen whose hearing had been damaged by too much exposure to rocket and jet noises.

An undisclosed number of men have been forced out of service because of the ailment.

"Loss of hearing discrimination" is the VA's technical term for their trouble. They can hear sound when someone talks. But they can't distinguish words.

Up to $181 per month will be paid to these men.

The services provide ear plugs for men working near rockets and jets. But the men forget to wear them. And medical science has not learned exactly what the physical effects are of these man-made noises of unprecedented intensity.

JET DESIGNS AFFECTED

Jet noises have already affected aircraft design. For instance, it was learned that the noise from the engines on the new B52 bomber shredded the wing flaps. The flaps had to be redesigned to stand this unique strain.

The community relations aspects of jet clatter is old. But the current need to establish more than a dozen rocket engine test sites around the country because of the missile speed-up program brings up a new situation.

There is no danger of ear damage to citizens in towns near rocket firings. But it is a nuisance, with a risk of broken windows and cracked plaster.

The gravity of the community relations problem is revealed at the North American Aviation Co. rocket test center hidden in the remote Santa Susana Mountains 35 miles northwest of Los Angeles. Tests are static firings. No rockets are "launched."

CITIZENS COMPLAIN

People in the area complaining of the frequent fearful blasts have protested so earnestly that serious consideration has been given to closing the elaborate, expensive installation and moving it to some remote spot.

However, transportation difficulties, the need to be near a town for employees and other considerations make it impossible to put all rocket test centers far from civilization.

A rush study of rocket noises, now being made by Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is seeking new information for properly locating test sites. It has been learned that large areas of sand tend to absorb the noises while stone, rock and concrete tend to bounce them.

Weather conditions also have a lot to do with the propagation of rocket noises.

The decibel is the unit of measuring noise. And the powerful engines of the B52 bomber, for example, produce in the neighborhood of 150 decibels.

However, even some of the smaller rockets generate more than 170 decibels.

There is growing evidence that the bigger rocket engines, such as will power the first earth satellite, may be reaching the maximum noise that can be created in the earth's atmosphere. Some wave phenomenon seems to be present at the top noise levels which indicates that there is a maximum.

St. Paul and St. Barnabas took Christianity to the island of Cyprus in 45 A.D.

Mary M. Minter Seeking Funds

Former Screen 'Great' Down to Last $100,000, Wants Trust Dissolved

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Mary Miles Minter, a screen great more than three decades ago, has come out of seclusion in quest of funds for "the necessities of life."

Miss Minter, now 54, and her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, have filed suit against the Title Insurance & Trust Co., seeking to terminate a trust established by Mrs. Shelby in 1924 with some of her daughter's film earnings.

The action was brought under Miss Minter's legal name, Juliet Shelby, earlier in the week. It estimates that the trust now amounts to $100,000.

Mother and daughter ask that the trust be dissolved, the daughter setting forth that when it was established she was "not dependent upon the income from it" but that now she is, "for the necessities of life."

The former star pointed out in the complaint that if she is permitted to manage the trust herself, she will realize more income from it by making more liberal investments and by averting the payment of a commission to the trust company for handling it.

Miss Minter, at the peak of a tumultuous career 35 years ago, went on the stage when she was 4. For the next 10 years she appeared in hit plays with such stars as Nat Goodwin, John Drew, Maude Adams and the Barrymores.

Russians Toast U.S. President, Fourth of July

MOSCOW (UP)—The Kremlin top leaders showed up at the U.S. Embassy to toast President Eisenhower's health and join some 100 American tourists in celebrating the Fourth of July.

Circulating about the garden of Spassko House, residence of U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen yesterday were Premier Bulganin, Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders.

The Russians had a fine time pumping the hands of tourists and patting children on the head.

The tourists had a field day photographing the Soviet leaders, introducing themselves and presenting their sons and daughters.

Bulganin made a brief statement for the American television cameras.

"On behalf of all of us present," he said, "the Soviet government and all the Soviet people, we send greetings to the American people and raise our glasses to the health of President Eisenhower."

One of the guests—Philip Mosely, American historian and former director of the Russian Institute at Columbia University, asked Khrushchev how the Presidium of the Central Committee of the Communist party acted on disagreements.

"We disagree at times," Khrushchev said. "When we do, we take a vote."

Glancing at former Premier Georgi Malenkov and ex-Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, he added, "We've had our differences with them."

Heart Disease Rising

WASHINGTON — Evidence of coronary (heart) disease was found in more than 70 per cent of the autopsies made of 300 young soldiers killed in the Korean War, indicating a marked increase in hardening of the arteries among young people.

Twister-Torn Center Has Vital Comeback

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—Tornado-wrecked Standale — a shopping center on M50, just west of Grand Rapids—is no more.

In its place is a revitalized Standale with the gleaming new facades of 22 business establishments already back in business or preparing to open Aug. 10 for the community's annual two-day celebration.

The return to life of Standale, practically wiped out with a total loss of $3,500,000 in an April 3 tornado, is comparable to a long-shot victory in a major horse race.

Many Grand Rapids businessmen believed the community was finished.

But, just three months later, Standale's long-shot backers—it's now businessmen—have stepped up to the payoff window.

Tornado scars still are evident in jagged tree stumps and some vacant building foundations, but next to them stand the bright new construction built by Standale's courage and faith in itself.

Medical-Study Grant to Assist Brazilians

Woman Murdered in Detroit Restaurant

DETROIT (UP)—A man who had been a family friend, shot and killed a 36-year-old woman last night as she sat with her husband in a downtown cafe.

Detective Lt. Ralph Oberle said Mrs. Catherine Canjar of suburban Van Dyke was shot by Frank Kasum of Detroit.

Kasum, Mrs. Canjar, and her husband Charles, 44, were eating when an argument broke out.

"Kasum suddenly shouted 'I've had enough,' and seized a .45 caliber automatic from his pocket and fired four times at the woman," Oberle said. He was held for investigation of murder.

Canjar said he met his wife after she left work at the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. They drove to a Detroit hotel to pick up Kasum whom they had known since 1942.

The three went to the restaurant together where Mrs. Canjar and Kasum became embroiled in an argument.

The shooting took place about a block from police headquarters. Kasum waited in the restaurant while police were summoned. Oberle said he begged officers to shoot him when they arrived.

OKAY THERE—Checking a patient in the out-clinic is nurse, Capt. Jean Coakley from Harper Hospital in Detroit. Camper Marina Crum from band-aid. I cut my hand!"

SICK BED STAY—A letter home about life in a Girl Scout camp hospital comes from patient Sydney Woolworth of Berkeley, Calif. She writes "I've been here since Friday with tonsillitis. I can hardly wait to get out." Friends keep Sydney posted that she's missing out on quite a few activities!

Girl Scouts Camping Out in Hospital, Too

By JANICE HAYHOW
Two weeks camping in the "wilds" of Michigan plus having the honor of attending the first national Girl Scout Roundup isn't such great stuff to eight patients at the camp hospital in Highland Recreation area.

And talk about hospital! In the midst of 1500 acres of woodland the 325 General Hospital, Army Medical Reserve Unit from Detroit moved in and set up complete hospital facilities for the 5,000 campers and their 1,000 leaders.

Col. Wesley G. Reid, M. C. is commanding officer for the staff of 155 persons.

On duty for the two weeks period are 100 enlisted men, 20 nurses, 20 doctors and 15 administrative officers. They man every kind of operation from X-ray and dental work to optometry, attending hospital wards, physical therapy section, laboratory and pharmacy.

The medical unit even comes complete with surgical tent for service plus the promise of four outside hospitals standing by in case of necessity.

These include St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac General Hospital, Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak and the University of Michigan Hospital at Ann Arbor.

Everything equipment-wise folds into boxes, into crates, iron carriers or some such carrying case for quick and easy transportation. If they run out of space for some department, they just haul up another tent. All tents are complete with electricity and running water.

The medical unit operates five first aid stations in each of the five camps. Twenty dispensaries are furnished throughout the camp grounds by the Girl Scouts.

Work so far for the 155 man staff hasn't been too bad, Col. Reid reports. One girl was taken to Pontiac General Hospital with suspected appendicitis but luckily she didn't have it."

"We've treated many cases of sunburn, sore throats, heat rash and the many cuts and bruises campers can obtain putting up tents and pounding in stakes," he added.

As of Monday 456 girls had been treated in the out-patient clinic, 36 admitted to the hospital for treatment and 5,428 checkups given to campers and staff.

The only people not too happy about the hospital, about camp or the great state of Michigan were the eight spending their hours in the hospital.

One Washington state advocate said she was convinced the one thing that would cure her, was an apple from Washington. "That's the only way to keep the doctor away," she sighed.

St. Augustine's Fort Saved City 3 Times

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. — St. Augustine was settled by the Spaniards in 1565 and burned and looted by Sir Francis Drake in 1586. English pirates plundered the settlement again in 1688.

Erection of Castillo de San Marcos in 1672 ended the town's troubles in this respect. The fort withstood three English attacks.

More than 700,000 miles of rural U.S. highways were surfaced from 1920 to 1935.

Boxcar Will Haul Wood Loads Easier

OTTAWA—Engineers of the Canadian National Railways have developed a boxcar for hauling pulpwood that is said to carry 70 per cent more logs than existing cars and to permit easier loading and unloading. The car has four sliding doors on each side, opens from the top, and also has doors in the floor for unloading the wood by gravity.

Roads linking Kindu and Bukavu, a 69-mile stretch, and Matadi and Leopoldville, 67 miles apart, are planned in the Belgian Congo.

1½-Ton Container Carries Frozen Food

OSLO—The Norwegian State Railways is testing a specially designed insulated container for transporting frozen foods, primarily fish fillets. The container weighs about 1½ tons and can carry more than 4 tons. Its chief advantage is that the food can be delivered directly from freezing plant to destination without reloading. Four containers fit on top of a railroad flat car. A semitrailer can carry two.

Coin-operated vending machines for dispensing water are sought by a concern at Moyo Congo in French Equatorial Africa.

160-Foot-High Dam 'Hand-Made' in India

NEW DELHI—A "hand-made" dam 160 feet high, 6,000 feet long, and containing 1,500,000 cubic yards of concrete, has been built in India. Twenty thousand construction workers, laboring in two 8-hour shifts a day for the past five years, put the masonry in place by hand to complete Tungbhadra Dam, a joint project of two states in southern India.

Astrolabe Still Guides Travelers
Ancient Navigation Aid Was Used by Chinese, Columbus and Others

WASHINGTON—In Scotland's Duthope Museum in Dundee rests a curious brass disk, eight inches across, engraved with numbers near its rim, and fitted with a movable pointer.

The device is a mariner's astrolabe. It bears the date 1555, recently authenticated by experts. Believed to be a relic of the Spanish Armada, wrecked on the coasts of Britain and Ireland, it holds claim as the oldest navigational instrument in existence.

With similar instruments, from the heaving decks of caravels and galleons, Vasco da Gama, Christopher Columbus, and other daring navigators sighted on sun and stars and found their ship's latitude, the National Geographic Society says. Astrolabes, the first scientific instruments for position-finding on trackless seas, made possible the first great voyages of the age of exploration.

In simplest form the astrolabe was a suspended disk or circle of metal or wood. Pivoting at its center, the pointer swung up or down. By aiming along the pointer, the mariner determined elevation of the sun or a star, and thus could compute his distance above or below the Equator.

THEY HAD THEM
Knowledge and use of the astrolabe came down through the Dark Ages in the hands of Arabic astronomers. During the Crusades, Saracen instruments that could take the elevation of stars and mountain summits were treasures to be sent home to Venice, Paris, or London.

When Marco Polo visited the city of Kanbala, he noted the great number of astrologers there. "They have their astrolabes," he wrote, "upon which are described the planetary signs, the hours, and their several aspects."

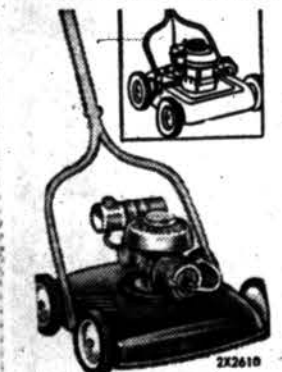

There were far voyages made without astrolabes, of course—indeed, without instruments of any kind. Polynesian and Micronesian sailors came thousands of miles across the open Pacific in outrigger canoes, with only their feeling for weather, sea, and stars to guide them to new island homes.

Norsemen crossed to Britain, Iceland, Greenland, and the shores of North America without compass or chart, astrolabe or sextant. They steered by sun and stars, sniffing the winds, following currents and color of empty waters.

Yet it was the simple circle of the astrolabe that gave the great venturers of Renaissance Europe hope of setting out across the oceans and finding their way to new worlds.

Frescoes depicting the life of Mahatma Gandhi will be placed in the New Delhi pavilion where the Indian leader held prayer meetings.

Wilson's Crash Box to See Tito at Opera

By EARL WILSON

KIEV—Tito got his show on the road—playing the Russian sticks—and my son Slugger and I were amazed at how little protection was being given the head Jug.

We practically fell into the dictator's lap when he and his beautiful wife—and she is—went sirening off to the opera. A few hundred soldiers were standing at ease in front of the opera house. The show was half over.

"Keep walking—don't stop," I advised Slug.

Walking right past the army we crashed the front door. When the woman ticket taker asked for our tickets we pretended we didn't understand her—in fact, we didn't.

Just as though we knew what we were doing, we strode into a first-floor box—and saw Tito, in uniform applauding the actors at the intermission.

And the actors up on stage began clapping for him.

"Let's go to his box," I said to Slug. "He'll probably be having a drink or a smoke."

He was. All I had to say was "Americaneeske journalistee-kee," and we were in a nest of Russky photogs with Rolleiflexes, strobelights and other modern gadgets. In fact, there were two TV cameras in the audience, and a girl told me later, "I saw Tito on television."

Suddenly he swung out of the bar back to his box with his smiling wife, who was in a long, black dress.

He waved to the pop-eyed crowd in the lobby—including the Wilsons, who were almost standing on his toes.

One Russian of semi-official status was remarkably frank when I asked him about Tito's other plans here: "The Council of Ministers makes his plans and prints them in the paper the day after he does them, and that's all we know."

"Is he staying at a villa?" I asked.

"Three villas," he said.

"But the photographers seem to know his plans, because they are going with him."

"In my opinion they are not going with him—they are following him."

"Is he going to the Intourist hotel?" I asked.

"I don't know that, too," he said.

"There must be a press secretary for the Council of Ministers," I said. "Can I get his phone number?"

He looked at me wearily. "You get it?" he exclaimed. "We can't even get it!"

Detroit Steel Firm Increasing Prices

DETROIT (U)—Anticipating a wage increase in the steel industry, Detroit Steel Corp. today increased prices of its major mill products.

The increases were from $7 to $16 a ton on rod and wire products and $8 to $12 a ton on low carbon sheet and strip steel.

Last year Detroit Steel increased its prices at a time when wage boosts were being indicated in steel negotiations.

Basic steel, now shut down by the strike of the United Steelworkers Union, has offered another wage boost in a package which the Union has rejected.

mouth, Ohio, and New Haven, Conn., does not have a strike. Its contract with the Union runs until July 30. The company said an ultimate wage settlement will be retroactive to July 1.

V. R. Bates, vice president in charge of sales, said the company's price increases are based on "what we believe will be incurred in wages and production after the strike is settled in the steel industry."

Close Shave Scientist Offers Tips

NEW YORK (NEA) — There's more to shaving than meets the whiskers. If you're a run-of-the-mill shaver—a lather-and-scrape man—perhaps you'd better hark to the words of Richard Weiner, a pogonomist by trade.

Pogonometry is the science of the beard, a word derived from the Greek word "pogon," or beard, and the Greeks had a pretty fancy collection of pogons. Nowadays, pogons are few and far between.

He's a former geneticist who somehow switched from the study of heredity to the study of whiskers. He's affiliated with the Gem Shaving Laboratory in Staunton, Va., and splits his time between research in the lab and lectures to clean-shaven groups on how to be cleaner-shaven.

Seems science has discovered a few things about your beard you ought to know. For one thing, for its size a whisker is as tough as copper wire.

For another, there are about 25,000 flourishing whiskers per face, which is a pretty fair crop. For a third, the chin grows the sturdiest species of beard—far stronger than the plain old, face whisker.

HOT WATER:
When it comes to removing the beard, the thing that makes the biggest difference in shaving isn't the lather or the blade or the after-shave lotion—it's hot water. It turns out that whiskers, like other kinds of hair, are covered with a substance called keratin (which comes from the Greek "keras," or horn, which should give you an idea).

This is tough stuff, and it takes a lot of hot water to break it down so the blade can slice its way through.

Weiner says a shave is best when the beard has had plenty of soaking in hot water.

He suggests your morning routine should be to soak your face in hot water, brush your teeth, soak your face in hot water, comb your hair, soak your face in hot water, wash your hands, soak your face in hot water, scrub your ears, soak your face in hot water—and then shave.

In other words, get in as much hot water soaking as possible.

Shaving in a shower would be ideal.

MORE HOT WATER:
As for lather versus brushless cream, Weiner shrugs. Seems that's a question of personal taste, like whether or not you like mustard or ketchup on your hamburger.

In fact, you might even try mustard on your face, for all the good any shaving preparation does. What lather and cream do, he says, is to put a little film over the face—which serves to protect it slightly from irritation, and also cuts down the efficiency of the shave.

The best thing to put on your face is—hot water. For a really close shave, Weiner says to shave once with lather and then a second time against the grain without lather.

They've done some studying about time of day, too. The result is the knowledge that the beard grows fastest during the day, so if you could shave somewhere around 4 o'clock in the afternoon you'd catch the bumper crop.

Jealous Suitor Held for Assault

Police Say Oklahoman Beat Up Girl's Parents; Kept Her Prisoner

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. Kathryn Hudgins, 24, released after 29 terror-filled hours as the captive of a former suitor, blamed jealousy on the part of Floyd (Red) Moutaw for her abduction and the brutal beating of her parents.

"Red is insanely jealous of me," she told a newspaper reporter last night, "and I think this is the reason he did this."

Moutaw, 30-year-old Jarbo, Okla., man, was captured by officers yesterday in a thicket about 12 miles south of here. He is charged with three counts of felonious assault in the attack on Mrs. Hudgins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Duggan, and the abduction of Mrs. Hudgins.

Mrs. Hudgins said after she was dragged from her parents' home in Tecumseh, Okla., early Tuesday Moutaw told her "he had started to shoot me through the window but he changed his mind and decided to go all the way and get my folks too."

At the request of Duggan and Mrs. Hudgins, Moutaw was placed under a $1,000 peace bond recently to prevent him from molesting her.

Moutaw denied he intended to harm the Duggans or Mrs. Hudgins.

"I didn't intend to hurt her parents or to take her with me when I went there," he said, "I just wanted to talk to Kathryn."

When asked about the brutal bludgeoning of Mr. and Mrs. Duggan, both still in serious condition in a Shawnee hospital, Moutaw replied:

"I'd rather not talk about that." Mrs. Hudgins, clad only in a nightgown when officers found her with Moutaw, said her captor "told me he was going to shoot me when I went to sleep because he didn't want me to see him do it."

Do You Know Who I Am? Girl Asks Denver Police

DENVER (INS) — A girl, about 17 years old, walked into Denver police headquarters yesterday and asked for assistance in finding out who she is.

A slender brunette, the girl is approximately five feet tall. She told police she believes her home may be either Chicago or New York. Items in the girl's luggage indicate she may have been a pianist, model or actress in Chicago.

Texas had about 10 million visitors in 1935.

ELIZABETH, N. J. (AP) — There were no fireworks but plenty of excitement around the home of Patrolman Chester Paterek for July 4. He got an emergency call at the Second District headquar-

MURDER

By Brett Halliday

THE STORY: Since 9:32 p.m. the house detective at the Hibiscus Hotel has been unable to find the body of a man reported murdered in 318. A woman fleeing from a pursuer has been taken to the headquarters of Private Detective Michael Shayne. And a dark-faced man is apparently trying to trace the woman.

The man was getting his wallet out again. The dispatcher watched his covertly as he reluctantly withdrew another ten.

Then she punched a button and droned, "Calling car 62. Sixty-two. Come in, Archie." She pressed another button and leaned back with her headphones to wait.

After 30 seconds, she said, "Archie. There's a man here wants to know where you took a lady fare you picked up a block from the Hibiscus half an hour ago."

She listened and then asked her question: "Which way from the Hibiscus? North or south?"

He thought quickly, closing his eyes to remember and orient himself. "Tell him north. Just the first block north."

She told Archie that. Then her eyes rounded and she turned to say, "Archie wants to know if you're the guy that was chasing her. That she was so scared of."

THEY'RE IN DANGER

"I tell you she's my sister. That man chasing her—he's the one I'm afraid of. Tell the driver she's in danger and I must get her before it's too late."

She gave Archie this answer over the microphone and listened again. Then she reached out and tweaked the $10 bill from his hand and told him:

"Archie says he guesses it don't matter much either way whether you are the guy or not. Because he took her to see Michael Shayne, the private detective, and if you feel like tangling with that redhead, he'd like to be around to see it."

"A private detective?" The man bit his underlip nervously, then said, "Well, she's probably safe enough then. Did this Archie say where Shayne is?"

"Yeh." She gave him the address of the hotel Archie had relayed to her.

9:48 P.M.

Driving southward at a moderate pace on the right-hand lane of Biscayne Boulevard as it entered the city, Michael Shayne glanced sideways and downward, approvingly, at the brown head of Lucy Hamilton pressed lightly against the shoulder of his white linen jacket.

He was bare-headed, and his coarse red hair was ruffled pleasantly by the night breeze. His big hands were loosely on the wheel and a feeling of contentment and relaxation gripped him.

This was the really good time of the year in Miami, he reflected. The worst heat of the summer had passed, yet the vanguard of sun-seekers from the North had not yet arrived to take over the Magic City. He hadn't a single case in his files, and probably wouldn't have to for a month—or more—until the quick-money boys and the suckers arrived in droves and his particular talents would become much in demand.

Lucy rubbed her cheek unashamedly against his right bicep, and said in a muffled voice, "Wake me when we get home, Michael."

He chuckled indulgently. "I like you when you sort of take your hair down and forget about being the prim and proper secretary."

"As if I were ever that," she scoffed.

"Of course you are. You never make a semblance of a pass at me during office hours. I have to take you out, buy you an expensive dinner before you act properly human."

He stirred uneasily and lifted one hand in an unconscious gesture to tug at the lobe of his ear. Very quietly, he asked, "Would you change things if you could, Lucy?"

She sat up then, and moved slightly away from him as though this tack in the discussion required a little more formality between them. "I don't know," her voice was grave and honestly dubious. "I just don't know, Michael."

ONE OF THESE DAYS

They were below 79th Street now, rapidly approaching the side street that led to her apartment.

"Maybe time has caught up with us, angel. I feel this is a matter for serious discussion. Any cognac at your place?"

"You know there is. Whatever was left in the bottle the last time you were there."

"Can't get it out of my thick head that one of these days you'll start feeding some other guy the stuff."

"Maybe I will. One of these days."

Neither of them said anything more until he drew up to the curb in front of her apartment building and got out. He went around to open the door for her, took her elbow to help her out, then put his other hand under her other elbow and held her a moment looking down into her lightly flushed face. She made no move to push closer or to draw back. She stood quiescent, waiting.

He bent to brush his lips across her forehead just below the tendrils of brown hair, then turned to tuck her arm into his and led her toward the entrance.

He watched her speculatively as she crossed the long pleasant room toward the kitchenette, saying over her shoulder with a faint smile, "Make yourself comfortable."

VI

All right. Why didn't he marry Lucy? Tonight, he decided grimly, he was going to face the question squarely.

He straightened up in the chair as he heard the swish of her full skirt re-entering the room. She carried a tray with a squat bottle of cognac, a four-ounce wine glass, a tumbler with ice cubes in it for herself, another tumbler filled with ice and water for him to sip while the drank cognac from the wine glass.

She set the tray down on a low table in front of the sofa, seated herself in the corner close to Shayne's chair, and filled the four-ounce glass with cognac. Then she poured an inch in the bottom of her tumbler, and held his glass out to him.

Her telephone rang. The shrill, insistent ring of the phone shattered her placidity as the glassy surface of a still pond is shattered by a stone tossed into the center.

She continued to hold the glass out for him, and said hotly, "I shan't answer it. It'll be for you, of course. No one would be calling me at this hour."

A BLONDE?

"All the more reason for you to answer it," said Shayne. "It might be important."

"A blonde?" she asked tautly.

He said easily, "Or a brunette." The telephone kept on ringing. With a gesture of impatience, he rose and crossed to it in two strides. "Miss Hamilton's apartment." Then he said,

"That's right," and listened, his right hand going up to rub his jaw absently.

Watching him, Lucy Hamilton compressed her lips tightly and set his untouched glass of cognac back on the tray. It was a limp gesture of surrender.

With his back to her, he said incisively, "All right, Pete. I'll be there in five minutes."

He replaced the phone and turned, shaking his head sadly though his gray eyes were alert and not at all unhappy.

A BLONDE!

"Sorry, angel. But that was—"

"A blonde," she supplied for him. "A blonde in distress, no less. Just dying to weep on Mike Shayne's broad shoulder."

"You know I'm sorry," Shayne said again. He turned to the door, saying calmly, "Keep that drink for me. I'll be back before midnight."

10:00 P.M.

The lobby of Shayne's hotel was deserted except for the night clerk behind the desk and one young woman smoking a cigarette in an over-stuffed chair on one side facing the doorway as Shayne entered.

She wore a dark skirt, a white blouse with a light gray jacket over it, and had a red patent-leather handbag in her lap.

"I didn't know whether to call you at Miss Hamilton's or not, Mr. Shayne," Pete kept his voice furtively low. "But you did give me that number once, for me to try if I thought it was important. She said it was, see? And acted scared to death. You know, looking back over her shoulder like she thought the devil himself might be after her. And you told me it was all right to send somebody up to your room to wait for you to come back, and so I thought—"

REAL PRETTY

"If she were pretty enough," Shayne reminded him.

"Yeh. Real pretty." Pete's answering grin was relieved by Shayne's evidence of good humor. "Not for my money, anything like as hot as this here other one sitting yonder." He jerked his thumb toward the girl with the red pocket-book. "But then she didn't come in till later, see, so I couldn't very easily send her up, too."

Shayne rested one elbow on the counter and pivoted to look at the girl across the lobby. Watching them closely, it must have been evident to her that she was under discussion.

She was extremely well filled-out for her age, which didn't appear to be more than 20. Her eyes were light blue and had a peculiar glassy quality, lashes and brows so thin and light as to seem almost non-existent. She had too much lipstick on a full and pouting mouth which she spread in a hopeful smile as she came up fast, asking, "Are you Mr. Shayne?"

YOU'VE GOT TIME

Shayne nodded without speaking, studying her through narrowed eyes as she looked past him at Pete and demanded viciously, "Well, why didn't you say so? You promised me as soon as he came in—"

"And I just came in," said Shayne quietly. "I'm afraid I haven't time for—"

"You've got time for me," Her fingers caught his arm and tugged at it, pulling him away from the desk toward a corner where they would be out of ear-shot. "I've been going crazy wondering what I'd do if you didn't get back in time. But it's all right because I know he'll still be there if you go right away. He was there 15 minutes ago. The Silver Glade. It's right down the street."

She had her leather bag open as she spoke, and was digging into it. Her hand came out with a four-by-six photograph of a young man which she thrust into Shayne's hand.

Autos, Whisky Top 'Imports'

Smugglers Work Again—This Time in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—If you're walking along a lonely Brazilian beach and you see a pile of cases of whisky, just walk on—it's none of your business.

And if you're on a hunting trip in the jungle and stumble across a brightly colored 1956 motor car from the United States, don't be surprised.

The smugglers are at work again.

Brazil, which needs its dollars to buy gasoline abroad, frowns heavily on whisky and automobile imports. So they are scarce and the price is high. That means the smugglers make plenty.

Whisky costs $24 a case tax free in Trinidad. It sells for about $150 a case in Brazil. U.S. "low price" cars bring $10,000. This price spread is enough to bring a whole fleet of little boats into action.

The cars are bought in Paramaribo, capital of Dutch Guiana, for around $2,500. Two or three are loaded into a coastal freighter which creeps a few hundred miles down the coast, sticking close to shore. At night it noses into an estuary, ties up to the bank and unloads. Men push the shiny new cars back into the jungle. Pretty soon the impresario of the operation shows up with Brazilian license plates. With those in place the cars are legal and can be shipped farther down the coast to the big markets in Rio or Sao Paulo.

Whisky is even simpler. Small freighters can lie off shore until nightfall, like the prohibition days in the United States. At night a small boat rows ashore, unloads its whisky and leaves. Along comes a truck — and your host offers you a whisky and soda.

Retail sellers make regular rounds off office buildings, bringing cigarettes and nylons and lighter flints and neckties and taking orders for the whisky.

Kite Fighting Popular With Thailand Fans

Kite fighting is a popular sport in Bangkok during the early spring when a steady south wind blows up from the Gulf of Thailand.

The contests are held at the field near the Grand Palace, formerly the Royal Cremation Ground. The kites, made of thin but tough paper on a bamboo framework, are called Chula and Pakpao.

Chula, the "male" kite, is star-shaped while Pakpao, the "female," is diamond-shaped with a starched cloth tail. The idea of the game is for the big and powerful Chula to overcome the Pakpao and carry her off to his side of the field. A wily Pakpao, however, can frequently outmaneuver her adversary and cause Chula to dash itself to the ground ending the contest, and sometimes, even Chula it self.

New Zealand Buys Private Railway Line

WELLINGTON — One of the last private railway lines in New Zealand—the four-mile line between Wanganui and its port at Castlecliff—has been sold. The Castlecliff Railway Company accepted a Government offer to take over the line together with its aging locomotives and rolling stock.

Heart Trouble Told by New Blood Test

CHICAGO — Researchers reporting in the American Medical Association's Journal say they have found that a blood test which measures the amount of an enzyme normally abundant in the heart muscle may be used to diagnose one type of heart failure.

The heart condition is acute myocardial infarction, in which heart-muscle cells die when a blood clot shuts off their blood supply.

The scientists found that the blood level of aminophosphatase, also known as transaminase, increases when an infarction occurs. Aminophosphatase is one of the enzymes or body catalysts. It makes changes in the amino acids. The breakdown of the heart-muscle cells apparently releases the enzyme into the blood.

It's a Great Time to Buy a Buick

Buick Special
4-Door Sedan

(And at the Best Buy Yet!)

WHAT'S IN IT FOR YOU—if you step out and buy yourself a 1956 Buick right now?

Well, first of all — the time is right.

Right now, your present car is at its peak worth.

And, with the whole summer and almost half of '56 still ahead of you, you'll get more enjoyment out of a spirited new Buick this year — if you buy now.

Second, there's the matter of how much more automobile your money buys in the best Buick yet.

We tell you flatly that nowhere but in a '56 Buick can you get so much bounty for so little booty.

It's one big reason why Buick now ranks in the top three of America's best-selling cars. Yet, you'll find it priced right close to the well-known smaller cars.

That sure makes Buick a whale of a lot of car for the money. And look:

Nowhere but in a 1956 Buick can you get the absolute smoothness and the electrifying performance of Buick's terrific new Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

Nowhere else can you get the obedient responsiveness of Buick's big and mighty new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine. Or Buick's matchless new handling ease and ever-level ride buoyancy—or Buick's bold new sweep-ahead styling, and solidity of structure, and stretch-out roominess.

Add it all up and the answer comes out the same, any way you figure it: Now's the time to buy your 1956 Buick.

Will you come in—before another sun sets—and get set with your best buy yet?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Process Speeds Blood Donations

New System Returns Red Cells to Donor; Cuts Waiting Requirement

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — Researchers at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia have developed a new process for turning out blood plasma by separating it from red blood cells and returning the cells to the donor.

Chief advantages of the new method are that such blood does not lose the ability to build up antibodies to certain diseases, and more blood is available because donors can give as frequently as once a week since the individual retains his body-building red corpuscles.

Hospital officials explained that the process, called "plasma-phoresis," extracts a pint of blood from a donor, runs it through a fractionator which separates the plasma from the red cells and then restores the cells in the donor's body.

The plasma is retained for preparation of antibodies containing gamma globulin, albumin, etc.

The officials said the body requires 6 to 8 weeks to replace the red cells lost through donation of a pint of blood. However, there is no loss of red corpuscles in plasma-phoresis and the body replaces the plasma loss overnight.

Through use of the process, researchers said human plasma may be substituted for horse serum in preparing anti-tetanus and anti-diphtheria serums to which some people react unfavorably, and the danger of transmitting hepatitis virus in blood donations can be curbed.

No Federal Quiz Set for Harry Bridges

SAN FRANCISCO (U.S. Atty. Lloyd H. Burke said today he had "no personal knowledge" of any pending federal action against longshore leader Harry Bridges.

Bridges told Honolulu reporters the government was trying "a new gimmick to get me" on income tax evasion charges.

He said "income tax agents are in our office right now going through records" in an investigation of a $500,000 defense fund collected from union members for Bridges' two citizenship fraud trials.

"There is nothing pending in our office which would support Bridges' statement," Burke said.

U.S. Soldier Returns From Red Germany

BERLIN (U.S. Army said today an American soldier has returned after a 17-month absence in Communist East Germany.

He was identified as Pvt. Gayer L. Turner, 20, of Montgomery, Ala.

Turner had been absent from his artillery unit in West Germany since Jan. 31, 1955, the Army said. The announcement quoted him as saying he had been living in East Germany all that time.

The soldier is undergoing a complete medical examination. He will remain in custody until his absence has been investigated.

FOOD SHOPPERS—Nelly Bly Young, 16, of Laguna Beach, California and Marie Arias, 14, of Anaheim were food shoppers from their Scout patrol at the Senior Roundup the day we visited.

Girl Scouts Eat Tons of Food

Pontiac Press Home Editor

You homemakers who juggle food budgets will appreciate the task of feeding some 6000 people and making ends meet. You sometimes wish for newer equipment, or a more convenient kitchen. How would you like to do all your food preparation in the out-of-doors.

The Senior Girl Scout Roundup at the Highland Recreation area brings together 5000 Scouts and 1000 adults. All must be fed three times a day. Every bit of food has to be trucked in from Detroit.

Mrs. Melvin Title of Hartford, Connecticut is the Director of Food Services. Her job is to see that the necessary food is ordered and, once in camp, that it is delivered to the sections where the girls will pick it up and prepare it.

These Girl Scouts are all seasoned campers. They are used to cooking outside in charcoal stoves. They have been in training for many months, learning just which methods and which utensils are most useful.

Their kitchens—all under canvas and open on three sides to the weather—are models of efficiency. Mothers would be delighted to see how their daughters have set up housekeeping. The blood of their pioneer grandmothers is standing them in good stead at this national encampment.

The girls eat well. In fact, they complain that they get too much to eat! The camp budget calls for about $100,000 for food. Over 200,000 meals will be served during the camp session.

We visited the sections one day at lunch time. Our first stop was at the food warehouse where food is stored and where the girls come three times a day for supplies.

Mary Darby of Kingston, North Carolina is Section Food Manager. She supervises nine assistants, a stock control clerk and a warehouseman. All work in a large tent.

Each section feeds 1044 people three times a day. Bins made of Masonite are partitioned off for each of the 120 units to be supplied. All are scrubbed after each meal with detergent.

Outside this tent three Army walk-in refrigerators hum noisily in the wilderness. One is for dairy products, one for meat and the other for produce. All of these are scrubbed daily also.

When the food sorters have completed their job of putting the supplies in each bin, the flat is run up—in this case a red bandana—and the shoppers for the day appear with pack baskets or large canvas sacks.

Girls share the work and alternate jobs. The two who cook today may be fire builders tomorrow. Charcoal is piled in huge stacks near the food warehouse. Thirty-five tons of it were ordered prior to camp opening.

All food is packaged or canned. Nothing is opened ahead of time, and no raw food is touched by any food handler. This makes the cost of everything just a bit higher. Camp officials believe it pays off in increased health and safety standards.

For lunch the day we were there the bins contained two loaves of bread for sandwiches. Fillings were to be raisins and cream cheese and jelly. Small cartons of milk were counted out for each girl.

Cans of vegetable soup were ready to be packed. For dessert there was an apple pie, tied up in a pastry box. "Please return the pie tin," Miss Darby admonished the shoppers.

Everyone has the same menu. The camp staff eating in the cafeteria eats the same food as the campers in the section farthest from the administration area. The only difference is that a professional restaurateur has charge of the kitchen and dining room here. Bottled gas, not charcoal, is the fuel used in the main kitchen.

We were invited to have baked rattlesnake meat the next time the patrol from Midland, Texas catches a Michigan rattler. Rashly, we promised to accept the invitation. But we wonder just how much meat there is on one of our rattlers. And will we like it?

We shall try to get some of the special regional recipes and publish them next week. In the meantime, the next time you go to the grocery store, be glad you don't have to pay for or fix 8000 pounds of chicken. That's what the Girl Scouts had for dinner last Sunday.

 1 cup chopped maraschino cherries, drained (about 12 cherries)
 Combine 1/2 cup water and sugar. Heat to boiling point, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Simmer 7 minutes; cool.
 Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Chill. Pour over ice. Makes 6 servings.

Cherry Orange Soda
 1 pint orange sherbet
 1 cup chopped maraschino cherries, drained (about 20 cherries)
 1 cup fresh lemon juice
 1 cup sugar

"IT'S ALMOST TIME TO EAT"—Marcia Ross puts a platter of sandwiches on the table as Maria Casadei cuts the pie into serving pieces. Sausage, Lamb, Chicken Good Values for Shopper

As temperatures soar, most shoppers are looking for foods that are quick and easy to prepare and that take little or no cooking. If excellent nutrition, economy, and mealtime variety also come with such food, it rates a top spot on the summer market list.

MEAT

Following Independence Day, prices on beef and pork are expected to show slight increases. This usually occurs when a holiday shortens the work week and there are fewer animals in the market.

SAUSAGE MEATS

Sausage meats fit readily into the hot weather menu, suggests Mrs. Josephine Lawler, Consumer Marketing Information Agent.

These meats include fresh sausage, cooked sausage (smoked or plain), uncooked smoked sausage, dry and semi-dry sausage, and the cooked specialties such as ready to eat meat loaves, minced ham, and pickle loaf.

Even though the price per pound of sausage meats may be higher than for other meats, the cost per serving usually places them among the more economical meats. The soft sausage meats serve about five per pound, the dry and semi-dry serve eight.

LAMB AND VEAL

Supplies of both lamb and veal are available in large enough quantities so that prices are more favorable than they were a month ago. Thrifty cuts from the forequarter include shoulder roasts, chops, breast, and stew meat. Because stew meat is lean and the bone is removed, it is a wise choice. Breast is easy on the budget and stuffed with dressing, it can be a pleasing main dish.

POULTRY

Chicken, any day, is a welcome treat in summer. Broiled, fried, baked and barbecued are just a few of the versatile ways chicken can fit into the menu.

This week fryers, cut and ready to cook, are about 46 cents per pound. Stewers that combine so well with other foods for salads are 47 to 55 cents per pound.

FRUIT

Fruit counters are an array of color. Michigan strawberries are available at about 39 to 45 cents a quart, and fit into any meal of the day.

For picnics, strawberries make a perfect dessert if washed and dried, then taken to the picnic with their caps on. A mound of powdered sugar surrounded by red-ripe strawberries is an invitation to good eating.

Large supplies of California Arizona cantaloupe are in the market and prices are reasonable for the fine quality offered. Some of the first Michigan sweet cherries will come to market this week.

VEGETABLES

The green vegetables are in largest supply at the produce counters. Lettuce becomes more reasonably priced as locally grown supplies are added to the out of state shipments.

Remember to check the weight of lettuce. A heavy compact medium-sized head of lettuce is a better buy than a large loose head.

When selecting lettuce, remember that dark green leaves contain more vitamins than pale ones. Short supplies explain the high prices on potatoes and tomatoes.

DAIRY PRODUCTS

A magic way to add protein with few calories, is serving cottage cheese. For cool luncheons, cottage cheese salad is a quick and easy answer. For meals where no meat or small portions of meat are served, cottage cheese is a must.

Broiled Luncheon Meat Dinner
 1 can (about 1 lb. 2 oz.) vacuum-packed sweet potatoes
 1 can (about 1 lb.) peas, drained
 1 cup honey
 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
 Salt and pepper
 Butter or margarine
 2 cans (12 oz. each) luncheon meat or "chopped beef", each loaf cut in 4 slices
 4 canned peach halves drained
 2 tablespoons currant jelly
 Place sweet potatoes and peas in lower part of broiler pan; drizzle potatoes with mixture of honey and cinnamon. Season peas with salt and pepper and dot with butter or margarine.

 Place broiler rack over vegetables; arrange meat slices on rack. Place broiler pan 5 to 6 inches from heat; broil 5 minutes.

Turn meat slices; arrange peach halves on rack; fill centers with jelly. Broil 5 minutes longer.
 Serve with creamy coleslaw and gingerbread topped with apple sauce.

Ice Cream, Sherbet Good on Fruit Pie

Everybody's talking about the wonderful individual frozen fruit pies. And now you can have a choice of peach, blueberry, apple or cherry. Top-dress the peach pies with a scoop of raspberry sherbet. It's the same delightful flavor combination of a peach melba.

Blueberry pies take well to a topping of cool, refreshing lemon sherbet. Both apple and cherry pie are old friends with vanilla ice cream... but for extra goodness, try a sprinkle of cinnamon over the ice cream.

One way to look cool on a torrid day is to use make-up with a cool summer tint. Fresh rose is one of these.

Hearty Club Sandwiches Put Focus on Tuna Fish

Among sandwich fans, tuna is always voted a great favorite. A new suggestion developed for summer eating is Tuna Club Sandwich, a delicious combination of crisp lettuce, cheese, tomato and bacon topped with solid-pack tuna.

A second recipe well suited to hot weather eating is Tuna Relish Sandwich.

Basic Breakfast Easy Outdoors

Travel-wise families know that a good breakfast is the best way to start a long day of driving. The importance of a basic breakfast to the wellbeing of all ages has been demonstrated by research at a leading Midwestern medical school.

Young and old alike not only felt better but they performed better, especially in the late morning hours, after a basic breakfast of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter.

Breakfast by the roadside is a quick and easy way to save time and money. Paper dishes eliminate dishwashing chores. Individual boxes of ready-to-eat cereals, both pre-sweetened and regular types, provide just the right amount for one serving. Variety is easy with the cereals in individual-sized boxes.

Fruit out of hand, such as apples, oranges, bananas, peaches or grapes, eliminates the need for chilled fruit juices. Some families, however, carry chilled fruit juice in vacuum bottles.

STOP FOR MILK

It takes just a short time to stop and purchase fresh milk and rolls in the early hours of the day. Mother and dad can enjoy their morning coffee by preparing a vacuum bottle of hot water before leaving their motel or campsite. Instant coffee can be prepared with ease.

The next time you and your family are on a trip try breakfast by the roadside. You will soon join thousands of other tourists who start the day in the same fashion.

A basic breakfast of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter, plus the opportunity for the small fry to run off excess energy, will make the morning's drive a more pleasant, enjoyable occasion.

Menu for Easy-to-Serve Roadside Breakfast

Delicious Cupcakes — party-festive — are a breeze to make. Prepare small chocolate cupcakes with your favorite mix, cover each with frosting, roll in the luscious new tender-thin flaked coconut... and you have Chocolate Coconut Snowballs.

BREAKFAST BY THE ROADSIDE—The traveling family gets off to a good start with an economical, quick, basic breakfast of fresh fruit, individual boxes of ready-to-eat cereal served with milk, sweet rolls and beverage. This breakfast can be prepared by the roadside in just a few minutes. The entire family will enjoy the freedom of eating when and where it chooses.

Marinate Shrimp, Onion Rings in Zesty Sauce

Marinated shrimp have zest!

- Shrimp—with Onion Rings
- 3 pounds shrimp (cooked and shelled and drained)
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 teaspoons dry mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon dried crumbled thyme
- 1/2 cup olive oil
- 4 tablespoons (about) white wine vinegar
- 2 small onions
- 3 large or 6 small cloves garlic

Cut shrimps in half lengthwise. Put salt, mustard, thyme and olive oil in a large mixing bowl; add 4 tablespoons of the vinegar and beat well with a fork.

Peel onions; cut into thin rounds; separate into rings; add. Peel garlic cloves; crush slightly with heavy-bladed knife; add.

Add shrimp; mix well. Taste and mix in the 2 remaining tablespoons of vinegar if needed for savory flavor; or add more vinegar if desired. Refrigerate in a tightly covered container at least 2 hours (or overnight) before serving; turn shrimp a few times in marinade.

At serving time, remove garlic, arrange shrimp and onion in serving dish, or serve in individual shells.

Serve the marinade along with the shrimp; it's good for dunking with french bread. Makes 12 servings.

Heat store-bought doughnuts. Roll them in a mixture of sugar and grated orange rind. Use either granulated or confectioners' sugar.

ROLLED SHOULDER OF LAMB—It's always "open season" for weddings — why not a shower for the bridegroom? This one offers the tools for barbecue meals from garlic press to the rotisserie itself which holds a Rolled Shoulder of Lamb on the spit. Another lamb roast, piping hot from the host's rotisserie, will test the benedict's carving ability. By the way, when do we eat?

Fine Flavored Lamb - - - Roast It on a Spit

M-m-m! Barbecued Lamb! It takes just one good whiff of the tantalizing fragrance of a rolled lamb roast sizzling on the rotisserie spit, and one good mouthful of a juicy fine-flavored slice of that barbecued lamb to make a man want to try his hand at barbecuing.

And why not encourage him when manufacturers are turning out such satisfying equipment as the rotisseries which work with no eye to the weather. And today's "spring lamb" — tender and succulent — is available around the calendar in most of our markets.

Such lamb takes to the barbecue spit to provide the best of good eating. And so many things go with lamb—roasted or butter-broiled potatoes, corn on the cob, your favorite beans, garden-fresh vegetables, crisp green salads.

Indoors, outdoors; June or December—here is a meal that everyone will enjoy.

ROTISSERIE-BARBECUED LAMB

Plan ahead: For this meal, have your meat dealer prepare for you on order a boned and rolled shoulder of leg of lamb. Additional lamb can be rolled into the boned cut to provide more servings. You'll need to allow 1/4 to 1/3 pound boned roast per serving. Be sure to get the weight of the finished roll.

The boned and rolled lamb makes for perfect balancing on and easy handling by the spit, and is a joy for the carver.

To prepare: Insert slivers of garlic in tiny slashes cut at various spots in the roast. Brush with lemon juice and sprinkle liberally with salt and pepper.

Or, after inserting garlic, rub thoroughly into the surface and ends of the lamb roast a mixture of 1/4 cup granulated sugar, 1/4 teaspoon each of ground cloves and powdered ginger, 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

To Roast: Run the spit through the exact center of the rolled lamb roast. Place in the roast a short meat thermometer specially designed for rotisserie. Arrange spit on rotisserie, as suggested in manufacturer's directions. Start motor for revolving spit.

Time and Temperature: In general it is well to allow around 25 minutes per pound for lamb roast just taken from the refrigerator, but the best guide is the roast meat thermometer.

The accepted internal temperature is 180 to 185 degrees which is well-done. But for real enjoyment, do stop the cooking process just under 170 degrees. The lamb has a delicate pink tinge on the inside and is tender and juicy.

Most motored revolving spits are timed in speed so that they are self-basting. However, while cooking, the lamb may be brushed with a favorite barbecue sauce.

To Serve: Always serve lamb piping hot. The accompaniments can be of your choosing.

Saddle of lamb is a good barbecue meat. Do not have it boned but get your meat dealer to arrange it especially for the spit by preparing with great care, tied carefully so that the roast will be securely balanced on the spit.

Baste often and give it around 25-30 minutes to the pound for roasting time, but no higher than the 170 degrees which your meat thermometer will record. (Special thermometers for barbecuing meat are designed so that the short stem will permit the thermometer to pierce the rolled roast and not protrude beyond the surface.)

Perk Up Wilted Spirits With Flavorful Iced Coffee

"When the glass is at ninety, a man is a fool. Who directs not his efforts to try to keep cool!"

That's what a wise 19th century poet wrote many long years ago. The logic of his simple verse comes back in style each summer as "the glass" zooms up toward 90 or above.

The fact is that it's not only completely sensible to keep oneself as cool as possible in hot weather — it's also the most pleasant and happy way to get along with the heat. How about a long, tall, ice-fizzling drink of something good?

Just about the most refreshing and reviving of all summer coolers is a glass of frosty iced coffee. At its best, iced coffee should be the same strength as hot coffee. Here is an easy, excellent way to make it:

Iced Coffee With Coffee Iced Cubes
Brew extra breakfast coffee and cool it. Freeze into coffee ice cubes, turning temperature control to coldest point for rapid freezing. Then make iced coffee anytime by pouring regular strength hot coffee over the cubes.

You may like your iced coffee plain or you may enjoy it with the extra touch of cream and sweetening. One of the best ways to sweeten iced coffee is with simple sugar syrup. This goes into the solution in an instant and sweetens the coffee thoroughly.

Another interesting way to sweeten iced coffee is with chocolate syrup—this will give you a delightful Mocha Cooler. For flavor variations, you may want to try a touch of bitters or a drop or two of vanilla extract.

Here are several other ways to make delicious iced coffee:

Quick Double-Strength Iced Coffee

Make coffee double strength by using half the amount of water to the usual amount of coffee. Pour hot over ice cubes in tall glasses. The extra strong coffee allows for dilution caused by the ice.

Pre-cooled Iced Coffee

Make regular strength coffee and cool in non-metallic container in refrigerator, not more than three hours. Pour over ice in tall glasses.

Mix twice the usual amount of instant coffee with a little water (hot or cold according to brand) in each glass. Add ice cubes, cold water and stir thoroughly.

Dress up steamed rice when you are serving it to company. Minced parsley, chopped toasted almonds, minced scallions (with green tops included, finely diced green celery, are all fine to add to the rice. Stir them in with a little butter or margarine after the rice is cooked.

Slim Down by Dieting

It's that figure-watching time again, when every woman wants to trade her winter lines in on summer ones. With the help of oranges and a little planned "watching," a low calorie diet can be fun, nutritious, and deliciously appetizing. Eat a medium-sized orange about an hour before each meal; you'll find your appetite is smaller and you won't eat as much at mealtime. And when you get hungry, eat an orange—only 70 calories but filled with valuable nutrients!

In one medium sized orange you'll get the day's recommended allowance of vitamin C, 1/2 the day's requirement of pro-vitamin A, plus calcium; B vitamins and the very necessary proteotins and bio-flavonoids. In any slimming campaign, pick foods which have "full calories," or in other words, many nutrients in proportion to the calories.

Try this at lunchtime: Arrange one orange, cut in chunks, around 1/2 cup of cottage cheese on a bed of lettuce—only 185 calories, and with a slice of melba toast and some skimmed milk, your meal is complete at 297 calories. It's a healthful, filling meal, a low-calorie one, and very good!

For dinner-time dessert, spoon orange chunks over lemon sherbet. Sherbet has fewer calories than ice cream, but gives you plenty of the calcium and B vitamins you get from milk. Remember you need at least a pint of milk a day.

Try these and other tempting low calorie ideas today; you'll see how easy it is to slim down to that sylphlike figure, and enjoy the process as well as the result.

Freeze Fresh Herbs for Winter Seasoning

You can enjoy fresh-from-the-garden seasonings all year-round—even in winter months — if you freeze fresh herbs now, advises Mrs. Sara E. Walls, home economics director for Amana Refrigeration, Inc.

Wrap a few sprigs of mint, parsley, chervil, marjoram, thyme and other herbs in freezer foil or paper, and combine all of the papers in a freezer bag or carton to store in your home freezer for future use.

Main Dish to Please Unexpected Guests

Hunting something quick and easy for dinner . . . that will impress drop-in guests? You'll like this:

Cut 1 1/2 pounds of veal (1/2-inch thick) into pieces about 2-inches square. Brown well on both sides in 1/4 cup shortening. Add 1 cup sliced mushrooms and 1/4 cup finely chopped onion and cook until lightly browned. Blend in 1 can (1 1/4 cups) condensed tomato soup, 1 cup sour cream, 1 bay leaf, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon black pepper and 2 teaspoons paprika. Cover and simmer 1 hour, or until meat is tender. Stir occasionally. Remove bay leaf before serving. Ladle over buttered noodles. Makes 6 servings.

Good Protein Food

One-half cup of cottage cheese supplies as much high-quality protein as one serving of meat. It makes delicious main dishes, whole meal salads, and desserts.

Cereals Are Still Favored in Any Available Forms

From the days of gods and goddesses, to today's modern breakfasts, cereal has been the time honored way of eating grain!

Cereals are available in many forms, under many brands, and in various sized packages. You should check your family needs before you attempt to make a choice of what's available. The information on the label can be of considerable help if you are sure to read it. The number of servings per package will enable you to figure the cost per serving, while the words "whole grain, enriched or restored" will help you to fill the nutritional needs of your family.

CLASSIFICATION

A whole grain cereal is a grain product which has the specific nutrients of the whole, unprocessed grain and which contains natural proportions of bran, germ and endosperm.

A restored cereal is one in which the thiamine, niacin, and iron lost in processing, are replaced so that the cereal contains the same amounts as the original grain.

An enriched cereal is one to which vitamins or minerals or both have been added beyond the whole grain levels; or other nutrients have been added which were not significantly present in the original grain.

KINDS OF CEREAL

Uncooked cereals are cereals which have only the outer husks removed. The whole grain is then ground into meal or broken into small pieces. Cooking is necessary for tenderness. (Oatmeal, cornmeal.)

Partially cooked cereals are uncooked cereals which have been steamed. (Rolled oats, wheat.)

Ready-to-eat cereals are cereals which have been completely cooked in the factory. They need no further cooking in the home. (Bran, rice, wheat, cornflakes.)

SERVINGS PER PACKAGE

In general, it may be assumed that one ounce of cereal equals one serving. So, the number of net ounces a package contains is the approximate number of servings in that package.

Hawaiian Jubilee Salad Ideal for Bride's Party

This year, brides bring new treasured recipes. They taste every bit as good as the best of the traditional ones. But with only the tiniest bit of yesterday's effort.

Hawaiian Jubilee Salad is one of them. With its varying textures and cool as a breeze flavor. So reminiscent of honeymoons... sunshine and flowers.

It's hereby dedicated to brides of all time.

... to grandma, who celebrates her coral (35th) anniversary, on her youngest daughter's wedding day!

And to her daughter too!

Hawaiian Jubilee Salad
2 cans (3-ounce size) boned chicken or turkey
1 1/2 cups drained pineapple chunks

1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup sliced almonds
(lightly salted)
1/2 cup dried apricots, sliced
1/2 cup moist shredded coconut

Empty contents of cans of boned chicken into a large bowl; toss lightly together with other ingredients except coconut. Chill if desired. Serve plain, sprinkling coconut over all; or on crisp salad greens; or on a wreath of coconut, as is pictured. 4 to 6 servings.

Chips Taste Better

You can make potato chips twice as flavorful by skiffing them with celery, onion or garlic salt. Heat first in the oven so that the salt will cling to them.

SPINACH RING — A Spinach Ring served with hot, seasoned cream will be a welcome addition to your menu. To round out an easy meal, a platter of fresh-frozen steaks and frozen French fried potatoes will perk up lagging appetites.

Sure to Go Round & Round -- Spinach Ring With Cream

Spinach comes up smiling when you serve it from a ring mold. It looks fancy as a debutante at her first party — but it's easy to fix and quite delicious.

Take things easy with quick-frozen chopped spinach — you can be sure there'll never be a grain of sand or a touch of grit in your spinach ring.

Vivid green leaves, they are as fresh looking as the day they were picked. They'll stay green, too, if you follow label directions for cooking. Easy does it—never overcook your vegetables.

It doesn't hurt to shake the pan occasionally, while the spinach is cooking. That's what the chefs do — then there's no chance of any leaves clinging to the bottom and getting burned. But be sure to hold the cover down while you're shaking.

Of course, you don't have to serve it with a bowl of hot cream — but it adds a touch of luxury. Just add enough pepper and salt to suit your taste, and you have a delicious sauce. We suggest white pepper here — it's less conspicuous than the black variety.

Then for potatoes, you might want to consider quick frozen

French fries — and really make things easy for yourself.

Spinach Ring
1 (12 ounce) package quick frozen chopped spinach
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup milk
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon grated nutmeg
2 eggs, beaten

Cook spinach following package directions. Drain well. Melt butter or margarine in heavy pan. Remove from heat and stir in flour. Add milk slowly stirring constantly.

Return to heat and continue to stir until mixture comes to a boil. Add seasonings and drained spinach and blend well. Stir in well beaten eggs.

Pour mixture into well oiled 9-inch ring mold. Set mold in pan of hot water to 1 1/2 inches in depth. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes or until cake tester inserted comes out clean. Run spatula gently around edges and invert on serving platter.

Fill center with bowl of hot seasoned cream if desired. Makes 6-8 servings.

Freezing Fruit? Try These Novel Taste-Tempters

When you prepare those farm-fresh strawberries, peaches, raspberries and other fruits for freezing this summer, try making "small fry" popsicles from part of the fruit.

Freeze the fruit popsicles in gelatin or popsicle molds, inserting a handle just before the fruit is entirely hard. Remember to remove the mold or freezer paper before turning Junior loose on the concoction.

As a store-away item, here's a delicacy to please young and old: Prepare whole strawberries (not hulled) with bite-size chunks of fresh pineapple, alternating the fruit on colored cocktail sticks, skewer style. Freeze the skewered fruit on a baking sheet, package in a freezer box, placing freezer cellophane or paper between the layers. Next fall or winter, be sure to serve the strawberry-pineapples ice cold!

To add fun and festivity to summer drinks, drop a few unspiced cherries, with stems on if you like, into the sections of a quick-release ice-cube tray. Cover with water and freeze.

When frozen, pop the cubes into a plastic freezer bag and store until you're ready to serve beautifully decorated iced drinks. Unhulled strawberries, prepared in the same way, look pretty perky afloat on a glass of lemonade, too.

Low-Calorie Appetizers for Casual Entertaining

Now's the time of year when casual open-air parties come into their own. What is pleasanter than enjoying the cool of the evening on a porch or terrace, a frosty beverage in hand and some light, delicate canapés for nibbling?

Well, here are some bright ideas for both food and drink for such an occasion. And these suggestions not only result in fine eating and sipping—they also won't add an inch to your waistline!

Coffee Mist, for instance, has scarcely a calorie in a gallon, and the recipe goes like this: Fill large old-fashioned glasses with crushed ice; pour strong, hot coffee into each glass and serve at once. Of course, you can add sugar if you wish. Any way you drink it, Coffee Mist is a real delight.

Two handsome canapés—Stuffed Mushrooms and Cucumber Rolls—are warranted non-fattening, too. Each has a filling based on skim milk cottage cheese, made subtly piquant with a dash of this, and a pinch of that.

The seasonings used make both fillings taste food—not the least bit flat or uninteresting. No one will feel for a minute that he is dieting.

So why not invite some friends over the very next balmy evening. They can drink as much Coffee Mist as they please, enjoy these low-calorie canapés to the hilt, and not gain a single ounce in the process!

Stuffed Mushrooms
2 cans (4 ounces each) mushroom crowns
1 1/2-ounce package skim milk cottage cheese
2 tablespoons finely cut chives
Dash Tabasco
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard

Drain mushroom crowns and hollow out stem side slightly. Combine remaining ingredients. Top each mushroom crown with cheese mixture. Serve at once.

Cucumber Rolls
Pare 2 cucumbers and remove seed section of each with apple corer. Slice lengthwise with times of fork. Fill with radish-cheese mixture, packing tightly. Cut crosswise in 1/4 inch slices. Top each with thin slice of radish.

Cheese-Radish Filling
1 1/2-ounce package skim milk cottage cheese
1/2 cup minced radishes
1/2 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
1/2 teaspoon curry powder
1/2 teaspoon dried celery flakes
1/2 teaspoon onion powder
Combine all ingredients; mix well.

Interesting Variation of Chicken a la King

Delightful main dish for lunch or supper is "Chips a la King." From your freezer, take a can of new frozen chicken a la king (1 hour). Blend a la king with 1/2 cup completely in warm water (about 1 hour). Blend a la king with 1/2 cup milk in a 1-quart casserole. (No extra mixing bowl to wash!) Mix in 1 cup cooked green peas and 1/2 cup crushed potato chips; top with 1/2 cup of crushed chips. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 20 minutes. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Boxed Cauliflower Economical, Faster

Packaged cauliflower means a food bargain for the housewife. Modern packaging techniques make possible the separation of cauliflower heads and the marketing of the edible portion alone.

This permits the homemaker to buy by "weight" the edible part only and also makes possible speedy preparation in the kitchen. Still another aid to the housewife, announced by the marketing adviser to the Folding Paper Box Assn., is inclusion of a chemical "sprout inhibitor" in the folding cartons. This keeps the vegetable fresher and more tasty.

Make Pineapple Puff

Top off a rich dinner with this simple light dessert: Cut up one pound of marshmallows (or use miniature size) and heat in a double boiler, stirring until melted. Then mix with 1 1/2 cups of crushed pineapple. Chill in sherbet glasses and top with coconut. (Serves 6.)

Picnics and Vacations Represent the Spirit of July

Don't Wear Party Garb for Travel

Too Dressy Outfits Are Awkward on Public Vehicles

What to wear while traveling depends on how one is traveling and how long one is going to be en route.

But how many women who travel demonstrate that they are misunderstanding the basic idea of traveling clothes.

In some sections of the country, it is quite usual to dress elegantly when on a train or plane.

There are six pages in today's Women's Section plane. A good hat, a well-fitted suit and a new handbag are customary in these sections.

In other sections of the country, one travels in slacks or blue jeans and gets dressed up at the destination.

But in neither of these cases should one dress, either on the train or just before arrival, in party clothes.

NOT APPROPRIATE

Party clothes are not for traveling. Not only are they highly unsuitable-looking, but they are uncomfortable and get in the way of the other passengers.

Typical examples of this awkwardness were demonstrated on a recent trip. Several young women wore their newest party dresses and what must have been a total of 20 petticoats.

Every time they walked down the train aisle, their dresses brushed the passengers and twice they woke persons who were sleeping.

One little girl had been dressed by her mother in her best taffeta party dress. Not too surprisingly, the dress was spotted with water at the water fountain and the whole car had to witness the child's spanking.

NO FLOPPY HATS

A floppy party hat makes the going hard in a crowded vestibule. Spike heels are perilous when a train is in motion.

Whatever one wears for travel, it shouldn't be party clothes.

Shower Given for Bride-Elect Grace Cheney

Mrs. Turris McCully entertained in her home on St. Joseph street at a miscellaneous shower honoring Grace Cheney, who will become the bride of Harry Smith on July 14 at Bethany Baptist Church.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Cheney of Dwight avenue, and Harry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Smith of Grand Rapids.

Guests included Mrs. Cheney, Mrs. Wes McCulloch, Mrs. James Traver, Mrs. Walter Willson, Mrs. Helen Craig, Mrs. Frank Marsh, Elda Sutter, Mrs. Harry Buehring and Mrs. I. McLeis.

Mrs. Omer Lewis, Mrs. Lillian Hilton, Naomi Lewis, Mrs. Clarence Woods, Mrs. Gerald Coons, Sharon Coons and Mrs. Telton Rogg completed the guest list.

Newlyweds Will Reside in Minneapolis

To reside in Minneapolis, Minn., following a wedding trip to Mackinac Island are Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Lewis. The bride is the former Daria Elizabeth Gillies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gillies of Flint.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ericson Lewis of Chippewa road.

The ceremony was performed Saturday evening at Central Methodist Church, Flint, by the Rev. W. Leslie Williams of that church. He was assisted by the Rev. William H. Marbach of First Presbyterian Church, Pontiac.

A gown of imported Chantilly lace over satin was worn by the bride. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice, a sweetheart neckline outlined with iridescent sequins and long fitted sleeves. The skirt extended into a train.

She wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her flowers were white orchids and stephanotis.

ATTENDS SISTER

A waltz-length gown of pink tulle and taffeta was worn by Mrs. Ed Ferguson, sister of the bride, who served as matron of honor.

Bridesmaids Janice Winn, Beverly Bruger and Mary Jo Robertson, all of Flint, wore identical dresses in blue. They carried small baskets of pale pink carnations.

Robert T. Lewis was his brother's best man. Ushers were Jack Gibbs of Birmingham, Fred Dreesch of Lansing, Rod Appold, Paul Jankowsky, Terry Williams of Detroit and Ed Ferguson of Flint.

For the reception held at the Gillies home, Mrs. Lewis wore a rose taupe dress of Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta with match-

Summer dark wear is pictured at its most elegant in this lovely blend of silk and cotton in a textured weave. This is also fashion-right for early fall, and comes all the way from Dallas, a Justin McCarty creation. Colors are black and navy.

Wool-Dacron Shirts First in Test

EAST LANSING — If comfort, convenience and appearance in a man's shirt are important to you, try a wool and dacron blend.

This is the advice of textiles researchers at Michigan State University. They recently completed tests on several fabrics for the Detroit Police Department to find which would be best for the police uniform shirts.

"After testing and comparing wool and dacron, rayon and dacron blends and all-wool fabrics, we believe the 55 per cent wool and 45 per cent dacron blend to be the most desirable for uniform shirts," points out Jeanne Gannon, researcher for MSU.

It's a good choice, she explains, because it is strong, colorfast, comfortable to wear, easy to care for and looks good throughout its life.

whether it is dry cleaned or washed by machine.

It is easily washed in warm water with mild soap or detergent. And ironing can be done with a steam iron or a press cloth and an iron set at "wool."

Miss Gannon reports that the wool-dacron blend with 45 per cent dacron excelled in almost every property over fabrics with less dacron.

MORE PRACTICAL

Comparing it to the all-wool sample, she said advantages given the blend by the addition of dacron make it more practical than all wool.

Wool-dacron fabrics should keep you comfortable in hot and cold weather. Their ability to absorb perspiration will allow you to feel less clammy or sticky in hot weather and less cold in cold weather. And, there is enough wool in the blend to provide warmth in the winter.

In testing the other fabrics, Miss Gannon found some characteristics which would make them less desirable for police shirts.

The rayon and dacron blend was not strong enough to withstand constant wear. It had little strength when wet (as in washing, in the rain or with perspiration) and poor resistance to sun fading. The biggest disadvantage of the cotton and dacron blend was its heaviness and stiffness. It did not hold the dye well and any slight rubbing showed white marks on the fabric. These white marks would mar the looks of the shirt at the collar, cuffs and seams in a short time, the report indicated.

Men's Straw Hats Out in Variety

Men's summer straw hats are now making appearances on city and suburban streets. Popular shapes include the porkpie and telescopic crowns with narrow brim. Devotees of the single-crease Belmont dent will be glad, too, to see this model making its debut in straw.

To add variation and color to your everyday attire, it's a good idea to buy several wool challis bands to fit the one or two straws you own. Apart from solid shades in bright colors, paisley and floral designs are good, also wide, bold stripes.

'Bachelors' Plan July 14 Clambake

By RUTH SAUNDERS
BLOOMFIELD HILLS—A wonderful idea dreamed up several years ago by five bachelors is being carried on for the fourth year by the same five young gentlemen, although all but one are in the Benedict class.

Bruce Smith, now happily married, got permission from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wellington Smith, to use their estate, "Romany Acres," and its swimming pool for an all-day clambake. The guests will swim while the seafood is cooking in its pit of stones and seaweed.

Bruce's fellow planners are Eddie Proctor and Jerry Gillette of Wing Lake, both married last year; Jack Moses, a very recent bridegroom, and Pete Whitelaw.

The date is July 14, and about 100 subscription guests are expected.

Michele and Tom Gallaudet are entertaining houseguests Houston Snoddy of New Canton, Va., and Michael Barkman.

Michele and Tom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gallaudet who have improved their Gilbert Lake frontage to make a perfect beach with a springboard and all kinds of swimming appliances.

The Fell family came up last weekend to attend the marriage of Ann Kaegi to John P. Button of Kokomo. Joan was a bridesmaid for Ann, in the same church.

On July 13 Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Klinton will give an outdoor supper party for Joan and John, with Mr. and Mrs. Fell hosting the rehearsal dinner the following evening at Oakland Hills Country Club.

Mrs. John Ridley gave a luncheon for Joan last week, as did Nancy Clark of Detroit.

New Freezer Will Fit Any Kitchen Easily

NEW YORK (INS)—Space saving is an important consideration when outfitting a home these days. This is particularly true of apartments where kitchens—even those advertised as "full size"—leave very little room to walk around in.

As an aid to the housewife who can't figure out how both she and all her modern appliances can fit into the same tiny kitchen, one maker of electric freezers has produced one that can hold up to 175 pounds of frozen foods, but doesn't take up any more floor space than a regular kitchen floor cabinet.

It measures 30½ inches wide, 24½ inches deep and 34½ inches high. This means it can be installed under a standard height kitchen counter.

If this idea doesn't appeal to you, you can install it freestanding, using the top as an extra work counter.

The freezer has a single drawer which rolls out, bringing with it two freezer compartments, one under the other. The freezer is available in white, pink, yellow, turquoise, blue or brown.

Decorators Urge College Art Degree

University Courses Can Develop Future Home Designers

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—America's interior decorators, who have risen in the past 10 years to an economic stature second only to the automotive business, are now campaigning to make the profession a top one in educational circles.

Dr. Winfield S. Wellington, chairman of the department of decorative arts at the University of California at Berkeley told the 25th anniversary conference of the American Institute of Decorators that every college should include a major course in interior design.

He said most art students studying a general course can get a degree in decorative arts at the present time but few colleges offer courses for students majoring in interior design.

"It is necessary to prepare students for interior design as a business as well as a profession," Dr. Wellington told the convention assembled in San Francisco.

HE AGREES

C. Eugene Stephenson, of New York, past president of the AID and chairman-elect of the board, is in enthusiastic agreement. He said:

"We would like the interior decorators of the future to be college trained, intelligently educated and eventually we would like to have our profession licensed as the architects."

"To decorate a home in which a group of individuals can live happily, the designer needs to know psychology, public relations, history, the rudiments of domestic science as well as art and design."

NEED INSIGHT
"It might seem strange, but psychology is really important in our field—a person who does not have the proper environment at home is not a well adjusted individual."

"Therefore, we need to know far more than the proper combination of colors, the proper combination of periods of furniture. We need to have an insight into the workings of the human mind."

Stephenson pointed out that young people today, far more than in the past, are interested in homemaking and decorating, and he thinks that professional knowledge should be made available to them.

INTERESTING WORK

"Decorating in one of the most interesting of professions," he continued. "Every one of us lives in surroundings that we make for ourselves or have someone make for us. It is one of the few things we can control in our life, but we can control the place in which we live."

"If our designer has the proper sense, he can make it pleasant. He can also make it horrible if he doesn't learn our tastes."

"The college student has the opportunity to devote time to studying human nature and the background of our culture can do a tremendous favor to the Americans of the future."

Leather Posies Accent Shoes

Many beach and play shoes have burst into bloom with leather posies grand enough to win a prize at any flower show. They may appear at the side or even, in very tricky numbers, at the back. But usually the flowers are smack in front, covering the entire vamp.

A black patent flat has a yellow-centered white leather daisy. Another flat that comes in kid in black, blue, red and the vivid oriental hues of orange and Persian green has three perky leather flowers in other shades at the toe.

Leather-soled flat moccasins with monk straps just like your husband's or boy friends' are wonderful for wear with ivy-league pants and shorts.

Norma Vaughn Speaks Vows in Candlelight Rite

Honeymooning in northern Michigan are Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Thayer who were married in a candlelight ceremony Saturday at the First Assembly of God Church.

The bride, the former Norma Jean Vaughn, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elzie A. Vaughn of Wolfe street. Mrs. Eva Bunker of LaSalle avenue is Robert's mother.

For the service, performed by the Rev. Wesley Wibley, the bride chose a gown of embroidered nylon tulle with a full skirt. The tiers in the back of the skirt extended into a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil was secured by a cap of Chantilly lace and seed pearls. She carried gamellas centered with pink roses in a cascade arrangement.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Velma Cross. Bridesmaids were Lois Miller and Mrs. John Engstrom. Maurer Daugherty was flower girl.

LIGHT BLUE GOWNS

The bridal attendants wore ballerina-length gowns of light blue crystaline trimmed with a dark blue sash effect in the back. They carried heart-shaped arrangements of dark blue carnations and white roses on light blue lace.

Lyle Thayer of Detroit was best man. Also assisting Robert were Donald Thayer and Melvin C. Pohlkotte. Steven Thayer of Detroit was ringbearer.

A reception for the 300 guests was held in the Fellowship Hall of Emmanuel Baptist Church after the ceremony. Mrs. Vaughn greeted the guests wearing a light blue lace dress with white and blue accessories and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

Mrs. Bunker wore a gray and pink silk dress with matching accessories. A corsage of light pink roses completed her ensemble.

When the newlyweds left on their honeymoon to northern Michigan, the bride had changed to a blue voile dress with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The new Mrs. Thayer will reside in Pontiac until early fall when she will join her husband in California where he will be stationed with the U.S. Navy.

Maxine Godfrey Wears Lace, Satin

Candelabra, palms and baskets of carnations and gladioli decorated the altar of Evangelical United Brethren Church Saturday evening for the marriage of Maxine Helen Godfrey and Harry Milton Bell.

Two hundred and fifty guests witnessed the ceremony performed by the Rev. Arthur Bingham.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Godfrey of South Jessie street, wore Chantilly lace over satin. The ballerina-length gown featured a square neckline.

A crown of seed pearls and sequins held her fingertip veil. She carried a white orchid on a lace-covered prayerbook.

Green nylon chiffon was worn by Mrs. Robert Heathman for her duties as matron of honor. Norma Walker was bridesmaid wearing orchid nylon chiffon. Both dresses were styled with drapery from the back of the neckline to the hemline. They carried carnations tinted to match their gowns.

Harry, the son of the Harry Michael Bells of Central avenue, asked Dale Hampshire to serve as best man. Seating the guests were Clifford Godfrey, brother of the bride, and Roger Berry.

Mrs. Godfrey greeted her guests at the reception held at the Knights of Pythias Hall wearing a dress of white lace over gold with white accessories and a corsage of yellow and white roses.

Mrs. Bell wore an orchid nylon dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Scatterbrained Girl Reflects Mom

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

At 14, Ida is pretty scatterbrained. Before she left for school the other morning, her mother asked her to do an errand. But after school she and a friend fell into a discussion of their feeling for Eddie Fisher. So interesting was it that Ida forgot to pick up the green thread her mother wanted.

When she got home without it, her mother said, "Can't I ever rely on you for anything? I reminded you I wanted that green thread three times this morning."

"No, you didn't," Ida retorted defensively. "You just said you wanted it once as I was leaving so I didn't know it was important and . . ."

"Do you always have to know everything?" her mother interrupted angrily. "And don't tell me I tell lies! You just never consider anyone but yourself."

"Look at where you've plunked your school books again! How many times have I asked you not to put them on the dining room table when you come in . . ."

ALL HER FAULTS

The next minute, Ida and her mother were so involved in argument over all the girl's faults that the one of immediate concern—her forgetfulness—was forgotten and left uncorrected.

That was because Ida's mother is as scatterbrained as her daughter.

The only difference between their brains is that Ida's can be disorganized by Eddie Fisher's charms! and her mother's is disorganized by greediness—the unreasonable urge to correct, not just Ida's forgetfulness, but her inaccuracy, disrespectfulness and untidiness all at the same time.

Until she can collect this wandering brain to correct one of these many times have I asked you not correct none. Like a pack of badly trained hunting dogs after rabbits, her resentful impulses will give chase to so many issues that none will be brought down.

As it was today, she'll go on wasting her energies so that she becomes more and more incapable of the needed, simple, realistic statement, "Please go back and get me the green thread you forgot to get me."

HECK YOURSELF

If we have a chronically scatterbrained child, it is only sensible to check ourselves for the secret greediness that must get everything we want from him at once.

It is this impatience that makes us vulnerable to the temptation to argue with Ida over details and side issues—and allows her to divert our attention from the forgotten errand.

We correct her scatterbrained habits not by attacking them but by consistent demonstration of our own ability to concentrate.

Barbara Lee Amburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Amburn of Mount Pleasant, became the bride of Lt. Darrell D. Whitaker Saturday evening. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Whitaker of Orchard Lake avenue.

MR. and MRS. DARRELL D. WHITAKER

Couple Exchanges Vows in First Christian Church

A gown of crystalet with a bouffant waist-length skirt fashioned in tiers was worn by Barbara Lee Amburn Saturday evening when she became the bride of Lt. Darrell D. Whitaker.

The bodice of the gown was fashioned with a scooped neckline outlined by a wide band of shirring. A coronet of pearls and iridescent sequins held her veil of silk illusion, and she carried a cascade arrangement of carnations, roses and white orchids.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Amburn of Mount Pleasant and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Whitaker of Orchard Lake avenue.

The Rev. D. D. McColl of First Christian Church performed the 8 o'clock double-ring ceremony.

Joan Amburn attended her sister as maid of honor. Other attendants were Carole Lewis, cousin of the bride, and Eloise Ackberg.

The attendants were dressed alike in princess-style gowns of crystalet fashioned with square necklines and brief sleeves. The full, flared skirts were ballerina length. Matching gauntlets and headpieces and nosegay bouquets completed their costumes.

Eugene Thompson served as best man, and seating the guests were Robert Graham and Robert Wright.

Mrs. Amburn received her guests wearing a powder blue linen dress fashioned with lace insets. She wore white accessories and an orchid corsage.

TRAVEL EAST

When the newlyweds left for a wedding trip to Mount Pocono, Pa., the bride was wearing a green and white linen dress with matching duster, white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside in Dover, Del., where Lt. Whitaker is stationed.

Jean M. Bradsher of Fenton became the bride of Gerald W. Merriam Saturday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Bradsher of Holly, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Merriam of Starr avenue.

MR. and MRS. GERALD W. MERRIAM

Newlyweds Travel North Following Rite in Fenton

To reside on Douglas street following a northern Michigan honeymoon are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Merriam. The bride is the former Jean M. Bradsher of Fenton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Bradsher of Holly.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Merriam of Starr avenue.

First Presbyterian Church of Fenton was the setting for the 7:30 o'clock ceremony performed by the Rev. Hartley T. Stockham Saturday evening in the presence of 150 guests. Baskets of pink and white gladioli decorated the church for the candle-light service.

As she approached the altar, the bride was wearing a ballerina-length gown of Chantilly lace over nylon tulle. Cascades of the lace formed scallops that fell over the nylon tulle of the full skirt. A sequined shell-headpiece secured her fingertip-length veil of silk illusion, and she carried a white orchid surrounded by cascades of stephanotis on her white Bible.

ATTEND BRIDE

Betty S. Shields of Fenton served as the maid of honor. Doris E. Beattie of Waterford and Karen L. Bradsher, sister of the bride, were the bridesmaids.

Their Grecian-style gowns were of nylon chiffon in a ballerina length. The honor attendant's gown was of twilight blue, with the other attendants wearing a lighter shade of blue. Each carried a cascade arrangement of pink and white gladioli.

Donald L. Merriam served his brother as best man. Seating the Members of the scrapbook committee include Pat Zielke, Janet Kneale, Carolyn Mills, Maren McClellan, Janet Reed, Suzanne Field and Barbara Lecornu.

If you're having difficulty in wobbling about on those needle heels, don't. Take them to your shoemaker and have them replaced by an ordinary heel of the same height.

Newest chiffon evening fashions are figure-molding and slim. Embroidered chiffon is less sophisticated than the elaborately draped gown. This year's chiffons, all floor-length, make a point of dramatic manipulations; pale blue silver embroidered chiffon costume is womanly, while the elaborately draped chiffon looks best on the tall fashion-conscious woman with her floating scarf.

Boy's Visit Upsets Plan for Evening Girl Irks Friend by Mentioning Date to Attend Movies

By EMILY POST

A letter tells me: "My girl friend and I had planned to go to the movies the other night. When I called for her at her house, a young man she had been dating on and off for the past few months was there.

"He had come over unexpectedly and evidently she had not told him she was going to the movies. When I came in, she introduced him to me and we sat talking.

"My friend made no attempt to leave for the movies and as it was getting late, I finally asked her if she thought we hadn't better get started. With that, the young man got up and said he was sorry he was keeping us from going to the movies and left immediately.

"My girl friend seemed peeved and said that she thought I was rude to have mentioned this in front of the young man. Was I wrong, and if so, what should have been done in the situation?"

Answer: Correctly, your girl should have telephoned you and said that John had come over unexpectedly to see her, and asked if you could go to the movies tomorrow instead of tonight.

However, since she didn't do this, if you really like the girl and knew she was especially keen about the man, you should have said good-night after a few moments and left.

Dear Mrs. Post: My sister is going to be married shortly. My nephew, who lives with us, is engaged to a girl whom my family does not like nor approve of. Under the circumstances, must she be invited to my sister's wedding?"

Answer: If you love your nephew, then for his sake, his fiancée should certainly be invited, and he would have every right in the world to be badly hurt if she wasn't.

Delores Vondra Becomes Bride in St. Michael Rite

A garden reception followed the Saturday wedding of Delores Marie Vondra and Alfred Donald Heck. The couple was married at St. Michael Church in a double-ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nowakowski of Troy are parents of the bride. Alfred is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred F. Heck of North Perry street.

Delores carried a mother-of-pearl prayerbook with a bouquet of white carnations centered by a white orchid.

Betty Nurawsky of Birmingham was maid of honor. Her gown was floor length in iridescent yellow, and she carried yellow carnations. Ann Kuba of Troy and Mary and Margie Heck, twin sisters of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. Miss Kuba's dress was green. The twins wore white nylon dresses and carried pink carnations.

John C. Hanley of Detroit was best man. James R. Vondra, brother of the bride, served as groomsmen.

At the garden reception at the Nowakowski home, Mrs. Nowakowski wore a light blue linen dress with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Heck wore a beige linen dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

For traveling to the Upper Peninsula, the bride changed to a willow green suit with matching hat and coat and beige accessories. On their return the newlyweds will make their home on Putnam avenue.

Native Jewelry Today Emphasizes Use of Bamboos

PARIS (INS) — You don't have to go on a safari to wear "native" jewelry.

Deep in the heart of Paris gals are wearing bamboo jewelry as a new summer gimmick. Bamboo necklaces, bracelets and earrings look smart with sports clothes in town. They also are amusing as costume jewelry for beach wear.

Bamboo necklaces are made of straight short bamboo sticks linked with bits of metal chain. The bracelets are plain, stiff bamboo curved to rings. Since they are light in weight, girls wear three or four of them on one arm.

The trickiest are bamboo earrings. They are bamboo sticks curved into round or oval loops which dangle on short chains from bamboo button earclips. For one model the bamboo sticks are shaped to horseshoes hanging on chains.

The fanciest bamboo necklace combines asiatic wood with rhinestones. Thick, short bamboo links are spaced with rhinestone studded metal rings for a Parisian summer necklace. There are also bamboo chokers, stiff neckrings with a "dog-tag" or medallion as trimming.

A woman likes a strong flexible man so she can wrap him around her finger.

'7-Year Itch' Wins Favor of Audience

A gay pre-holiday audience applauded Will-O-Way's third presentation of the summer, George Axelrod's comedy, "The Seven-Year Itch," had its first performance Tuesday evening and will be repeated nightly, except Mondays, through July 15.

Robert Bryson, long-time favorite of Will-O-Way audiences, plays the part of the main character, Richard Sherman. This is a lengthy and exhausting role, as Mr. Bryson is on stage throughout the entire play.

Five pretty girls provide romantic interest. One, Janet Simpson, is a newcomer to the local straw-hat theater this season.

Others, like Margaret Crosby, Treasa Sikorski and Lillian Roman, are Will-O-Way regulars.

Bette Toti, a favorite on the apple barn stage since 1950, has the leading feminine part. She is also the program director. Young Starr Merrill plays a bit role in "The Seven-Year Itch."

Hair to Go Subtle

The latest prediction of a high fashion style in hair coloring will be a subtle effect. Hair framing the face will be lighter in color. This sort of highlight is similar to a technique used by portrait painters to achieve a soft flattering effect.

Buy Summer Shoes at End of Day

Whatever style shoes you are buying, be extra careful in the summer about their fit. One swallow doesn't make a summer, but a new corn can go a fair way to ruining one.

Better prepare for the worst and buy your shoes at the end of a day when your feet may already be a little swollen. And remember — if you're buying them in an air-conditioned store — that they'll feel better there than they will when they meet the sun outside.

Roughage in Your Diet Is Essential

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN will adhere to a routine for someone in your diet. Fruits and vegetables are helpful. A diet of high-diet to break. However, this can be done if you will be patient and portand that you get enough roughage in this condition.

Acidophilus milk often is beneficial. This increases the number of friendly bacteria in the intestinal tract. If, for some reason such as colitis, you cannot eat foods which give you sufficient bulk, there are products which can be used instead. Your doctor should suggest one for you.

Few people realize what an important part exercise plays in overcoming this condition. Try this as part of your routine: Get up a little earlier in the morning. Drink a glass of ICE COLD water. Wait for a few minutes and then do some abdominal exercises.

This is a good one: Sit on the floor and lean back on your elbows, legs resting on the floor in front of you. Bend the left knee up close to the abdomen. Stretch the left leg up toward the ceiling.

OR TRY THIS ONE

Another: Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor overhead. Bend both knees up close to the abdomen and clasp the knees with the hands.

Pull back gently toward the abdomen. Return arms and legs to the floor.

Such exercises increase tone and massage the intestines. This, plus the ice water, help in starting the peristaltic waves in the intestinal tract.

If you would like to have my leaflet which contains information for overcoming constipation send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 23 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Bring Order to Medicines

Most home safety experts agree that the medicine cabinet should be given a close scrutiny four times a year—in spring, winter, summer and fall. Certainly, they all insist, this should be done every six months at the very least.

It isn't a job that takes any great length of time, and it's not a backbreaking chore like scrubbing floors. But it can be 15 or 20 minutes that you invest and receive better family health and safety as a dividend.

After the contents have been carefully screened—and be sure that you throw away anything that is remotely questionable—put things back in an orderly fashion. Place frequently used items such as toothpaste and brushes, eye drops, and band-aids on the lower, easy-to-reach shelves.

Or, for convenience, and to avoid a crowded cabinet, you might loop a string around every-day-use items like eye drops and vitamin pills and swing it from the toothbrush holder or towel rack.

Razors and razor blades, although used every day, should be stored on an upper shelf to keep them away from curious children. And, of course, all medicines should be kept as high up as possible for the same reason.

Another point to consider in restocking your medicine cabinet is the advice that the number of items stocked should be held to a minimum. This makes storage that much simpler, helps to avoid confusion and makes it possible to find what you are after in the shortest possible time.

Cool Ideas for Hot Head

We all love to run on the sand and let it trickle through our toes. But, did you ever stop to think what a mess it can make of your hair?

Either use a blanket, plus towel or other protection before lying down on those finely granulated particles. When said becomes imbedded in your hair, it takes much time and effort to get it sparkling clean again.

So, in order to stay out-of-doors longer this summer and enjoy the mild weather, make certain that you beauty treat your hair properly.

Suppose your favorite bean decides to take you on an early morning fishing trip. It's true that the sun sparks its greatest fire on our hair around noon, but other elements can foment trouble, too.

Dampness, for example, whether from salt water or fresh water, can cause hair to become limp or straggly. So, again—wear a head covering.

Warm weather, besides making flowers bloom and dogs pant, causes our hair to grow faster.

Cotton in Hairbrush Will Groom Tresses

Hatless days are here again. It's fun to let the breeze give your hair that casual look in the summer, but it can be a dusty look, too, if you become negligent about your hair care.

If this happens to you, take your hair brush and pack absorbent cotton between the rows of bristles and the brush. This will pick up the dirt and remove some of the excess oils.

Powder Puffers Ready for Race

Three Michigan Planes Entered in California to Flint Air Derby

LANSING — Women fliers throughout the nation will turn their attention next week to Michigan, terminus of the 10th annual all women transcontinental air race.

Entrants in the so-called Powder Puff Derby, including three planes piloted by Michigan women, will head East Saturday from San Mateo, Calif., for a flint line at Bishop Airport, Flint, Mich.

More than 50 aircraft are expected to participate. The winners will be saluted in an awards banquet at Flint, July 11th.

WEEK PROCLAIMED
Taking note of the occasion, Gov. Williams has proclaimed July 8-14 "Women in Aviation Week."

"The distaff side has long contributed its abilities to make aviation a part of the everyday lives of all society," his proclamation said.

"Whether as the charming, efficient hostesses of commercial aviation or as licensed pilots guiding their own ships, women have proved that they, too, are air minded."

Mrs. Alice Hammond, Grosse Pointe Farms, will pilot one of the Michigan entries, taking part in the transcontinental competition a fourth time. Her co-pilot will be Helen Wetherill, Detroit.

Another will be flown by Miss Ann Fruehauf, Detroit, with Mrs. Mary-Allen (Pat) Russell, Grosse Pointe, as co-pilot.

The third will be piloted by Mrs. Philip A. Hart, Lansing, with Mrs. Nan Rudolph of Mackinac Island sharing the controls. Mrs. Hart is the wife of Lt. Gov. Hart.

'Clear Zones' Planned

CHICAGO — The American Society of Planning officials reports that about one third of the 205 airports that will receive grants this year from the federal-aid airport program will use at least part of the funds to acquire land for "clear zones" at the ends of runways. Clear zones are areas beyond the take-off or landing strips, half a mile long and 1,000 feet wide, and free of housing or any other kinds of buildings.

Ike, Winnie, and Convicts Among Fans of Art Hobby

WESTPORT, Conn. (NEA)—Are you a part-time painter, a Sunday ceramicist or weekend woodcarver?

If so you are one of tens of thousands of happy hobbyists—currently of interest to psychologists, health experts—and guys who sell art supplies. To the last named you are part of a 300 million dollar annual business.

Two most famous exponents of the art hobby are President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Sir Winston Churchill. Among other housewives, movie stars, professional athletes and convicts.

That's right. Convicts. Albert Dorne, the illustrator who is president of the Famous Artists Schools of Westport, Conn., discovered the convicts among his 10,000 students who take their art by U. S. mails. ALL TIED UP.

It came about this way. Famous Artists always notifies its students when one of its faculty goes out to their neighborhood for a speaking engagement. They sent such a notification to the Detroit area saying that Robert Fawcett was scheduled to appear there.

Back came a cartoon from an enrollee showing the student in convict's garb on a rock pile. The caption: "Sorry, can't attend. All tied up."

A check showed that there were 39 other convicts taking the schools' courses in drawing, painting and art crafts. They were deleted from future mailings of this type—might prove frustrating.

Dorne said prison authorities are enthusiastic about art courses. What relaxes the three businessmen may give a convict a new purpose in life.

MOSTLY WOMEN
Chief Justice Earl Warren heads a committee, which along with the U. S. Public Health department, is striving to foster art as "rehabilitation therapy" for the physically handicapped.

But these groups are only a small part of the picture being painted on home canvases. Most of the new crop of art amateurs are simply women and men who have found that they get a spiritual charge out of depicting with brushes and colors the things that interest them. These subjects may vary from a housewife's bowl of hollyhocks to a shapely model in the businessman's life class.

More than half the amateur painters, potters and sculptors are women, says Dorne.

"You're middle-aged and your children no longer need your full-time attention," says Dorne, "you have appliances to ease the household chores. Managing your husband is no longer the job it used to be. Art then is a natural outlet."

MOVIE STARS, TOO

Commuters find a brisk session with the brushes a restful antidote to train and traffic.

Movie stars Henry Fonda, Charlton Heston, Jane Wyman, Corinne Calvet and Mona Freeman and boxers Mickey Walker and Ezzard Charles are enthusiastic painters.

James W. Rhodes, President of the National Art Materials Assn., which meets in New York this month, agrees with Dorne that it was Eisenhower and Churchill who gave amateur painting the terrific shot in the arm which has multiplied its devotees in the past few years.

"But don't get the idea painting is a sport of statesmen, Rhodes cautions. "It's a sport of the everyday man—and woman."

"The public apparently reasons that if painting relaxes men with tough jobs like Eisenhower and Churchill it is worth a try for them."

Of course the amateur has to be reconciled, when he displays his paintings to friends for the first time, to the inevitable comment: "Aha, a regular Grandpa Moses!"

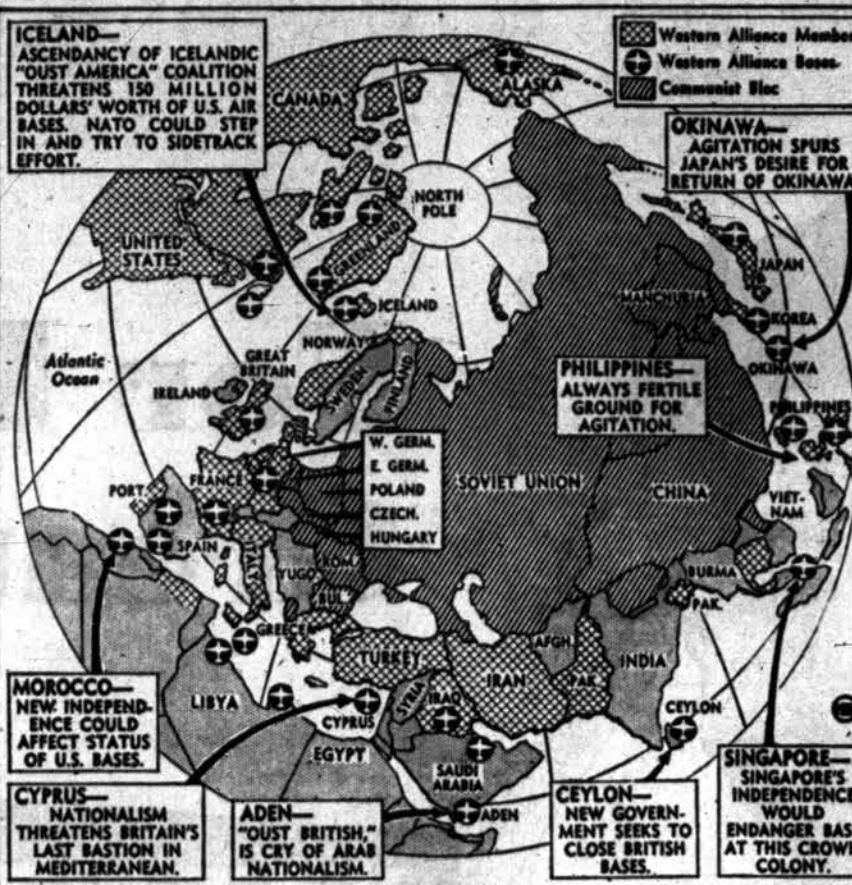

Does This Prove 'Fag' Smoking Held Him Back?

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Ron Bierstedt, 22, cigarette-smoking Colorado college student, ran fifth behind four nonsmokers in a foot race up 14,110-foot Pikes Peak yesterday.

The race, sponsored by KRDO radio-TV of Colorado Springs, was billed as a tuneup for Bierstedt, who has accepted a challenge from tobacco—hating Dr. Arne Suominen of Delray Beach, Fla. He's challenged cigarette smokers in a race up the peak, tentatively set for mid-August.

Monte Wolford, 2, Colorado Springs, won the race up Barr Trail in 3 hours 23 minutes. The record of 3 hours 55 seconds was set in 1936 by Lou Willie.

Late finishers were not timed but Bierstedt was reported about 30 minutes behind the winner.

WEST SUFFERS FROM GLOBE-GIRDING HEADACHE — Newspaper, above, locates some major regional headaches which blend into one big migraine for the Western Alliance. Ascendancy of an "Oust America" coalition in recent Icelandic parliamentary elections has led Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to indicate it may be necessary to cut down the number of USAF bases there. Bright hope: Under treaty between Iceland and United States, Iceland must go for formal advice to NATO on withdrawal of bases at such time as it considers an "emergency" no longer exists. In London, prime ministers of the British Commonwealth are meeting to coordinate actions, under pressure of nationalism and in light of seeming changes in Soviet foreign policy. Hot spots: Cyprus, Aden, Ceylon, Singapore, upon which Commonwealth defenses are based.

The doctor said Weant had suffered serious allergic reaction after previous bee stings.

THE POWERHOUSE

"I read all this stuff about Rocky Marciano and what he should do, and how he should feel about retiring," said Max Baer this day when we sat at the side of a tiled pool under the brilliant California sun.

"No one knows what it's like unless he's been a former world champion. I went through it. I'm older now. I've adjusted myself.

"But Rocky better prepare himself. You know he likes those ice cream sodas. Rocky will get fat. He'll be in the ring some night working as a referee and some ringsider will ask: 'Who did that little butterball ever lick?'"

"I like Rocky. My younger son wears Rocky's T-shirt. My wife told Rocky to quit. But no one can tell Rocky how to adjust to the heartaches ahead."

"He's going to be a Mister Five-by-Five. He may be stung by it all into trying a comeback just to 'show 'em.' That'll be bad."

Baer has certainly matured, if that's the word for the big, gruff, good natured onetime playboy.

"When you first saw me 26 years ago I was whipping in and out of night clubs in that big white wrap-around camel's hair overcoat with a blonde on one arm and a brunette on the other."

"Today you'll probably find me around my home in Sacramento with both arms full of dirty dishes helping clean up after a PTA luncheon or a big Communion breakfast. I keep busy helping the kids. Max Junior is taking law. He is in his freshman year at Santa Clara."

"The girl wants to be a doctor or a nurse. Jimmy goes to the Christian Brothers school. He's a whiz at math. I help out running bazaars and staging shows. I put the arm on some friends in the winery business for prizes at the big raffles. I really work at community projects."

MAXIE GAVE FIELD TO LITTLE LEAGUERS

Actually the generous Maxie deeded over a plot of land he owned in Sacramento to the local bishop for a recreation field.

"They call it Baer Field. I got a big lumber king to build the bleachers. Then I gave the Little League setup the master's touch for showmanship. I installed a public address system.

"You ought to see some of them peewees strut to the plate lugging a bat as tall as they are. They hear their name, position and latest batting or fielding averages come out over the loud speakers and it gives them a real charge."

Pontiac, Rochester Clubs Share Junior Legion Lead

District Junior American Legion baseball league leaders held their respective positions today after three games over the Independence Day holiday. Pontiac Boys' Club, Rochester and Berkley all won yesterday, and now have only two rounds to go before closing the first half of the season on July 11.

Boys' Club disposed of a stubborn Milford Huron Valley team 13-0, while Rochester downed Clawson at Clawson 4-2. Berkley stopped Waterford 4-2, with Birmingham drawing a bye.

Results leave Pontiac and Rochester tied at the top with 5-2 marks. Berkley is next with 4-2.

Pontiac blew a 3-2 lead in the 8th to force the game into extra innings. Bill Coullas' club came back in the 11th, however, to count three times to nail the victory. They led 5-0 until the 3rd. Tying run for Milford was walked in by Jim Skinner, who then hurled fine ball for the next three frames. Skinner had replaced Gerry Moore

Seixas Boomed at Wimbledon

American Netter Shows Temper After Loss to Aussie Star

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Australia's second best tennis player, Ken Rosewall, has defeated America's best player, Vic Seixas, nine times in 10 matches. That gives you an idea just how dark America's hopes are for bringing home the Davis Cup because Rosewall and Seixas are most likely to meet next in the Davis Cup challenge round in Adelaide between Dec. 26 and 28.

Their 10th meeting was late yesterday afternoon in the 70th Wimbledon championships in a semi-final match. Rosewall pulled out the victory with a comeback as fine as any seen here this year. The scores were 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5 in a long rain-interrupted match.

At the finish Seixas showed a fit of temper.

He threw down his racket, refused to thank the officials, and would not go to the net to congratulate Rosewall and finally was consoled—by Rosewall.

The crowd of 13,000, which had been very much for Seixas, turned on him. He was booed off the court.

After the final point, American Davis Cup Capt. Bill Talbot would not do any predicting on Davis Cup matters.

Indians Supply Fireworks, 6-4, 3-1

DETROIT (AP)—The Fourth of July holiday wasn't just like any other day for the Detroit Tigers—it was twice as bad.

While more than 33,000 looked on, the bedraggled Bengals yielded twice yesterday to the Cleveland Indians by scores of 6-4 and 3-1.

Possessed with power in the 1st game and top-grade pitching in the second—two qualities the Tigers failed to show—the Indians forced upon the Detroiters their 3rd twin loss of the year.

The battle-weary Tigers now have gone 15 games without a triumph in Briggs Stadium. Their home record since a doubleheader split on May 27 with Kansas City shows one victory, 14 losses and one tie.

Although they are stuck in 6th place with a 30-41 mark, the Tigers now are over the half-million mark in attendance at home. Yesterday's crowd boosted the total for 37 home games to 503,920.

Former Tiger players keep coming back to haunt their ex-teammates, and in the first game yesterday it was former Detroit first baseman Vic Wertz who did most of the damage.

Wertz slammed across three runs with his 18th home run into the upper right field deck in the eighth inning after the Bengals fumbled themselves into trouble.

The drive cracked a 1-1 tie, and paired with Al Smith's two-run triple an inning later, was enough to cope with a 9th-inning Tiger rally.

The Tigers seldom stirred in the nightcap. They were retired in order by bery Early Wynn in seven of the nine innings and scored only in the 7th when Ray Hoona walked, went to third on Earl Torgeson's single and scored on Tuttle's looper to right.

Duke Maas, who went six innings, pitched creditably though losing for the 5th time without a triumph. He allowed the Indians single runs in the 3rd, 4th and 5th while permitting six hits.

Smith, who was on base seven times during the cloudy afternoon, drove across two of the scores and Chico Carrasquel batted in the other. Smith collected two singles and a double in four trips in the finale after drawing two walks and getting a triple and single in the opener.

Wynn, who now has a 9-4 record, struck out eight batters. He got Kalline and Torgeson twice each and gave up just four singles in going the distance for the 9th time.

Frank Lary, who has run into a flock of sophomore troubles after a 14-15 mark last year, starts for Detroit today in the windup of the Cleveland series and the home stand. He has only four wins in 14 decisions and will be opposed by veteran righthander Bob Lemon (10-5).

State tennis championships in 12 different categories will be held next week, July 11-14, on the red clay courts of Stowe Tennis Stadium at Kalamazoo College.

Al Nagler will make an appearance before the Rotary Club at a luncheon at the Waldron Thursday July 19th. Nagler is the radio sportscaster for the Detroit Red Wings.

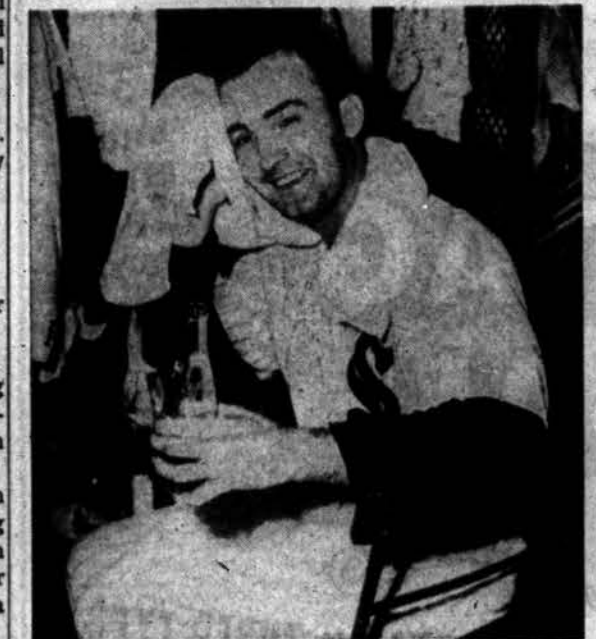

Recent statistics show that better than one of every 12 boys in the U.S. between 8 and 12 years of age now play Little League baseball.

Gil Bogley, former National Junior Tennis champion, who now resides in Birmingham was the Motor City Tennis Champion by defeating Leonard Bros 6-2, 6-3, 6-4 at the Detroit Tennis Club yesterday. Bogley is associated with a Pontiac life insurance firm.

The Cleveland Indians have recalled pitcher Hank Aguirre a 24-year-old southpaw from Indianapolis. He will join the Tribe at Kansas City tomorrow.

Packers Sign Ringo

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Jim Ringo, veteran center for the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League, signed his contract for the 1936 season. Coach Les Blackbourn announced today.

MAJORS' HOTTEST PITCHER — Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox mops his brow as he drinks a bottle of pop in the dressing room after hurling his 13th victory to beat Kansas City, 5-2, yesterday. It makes him the winningest pitcher in the Majors.

Souchak Fires Another 74

HOYLAK, England (AP)—Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N. Y., playing under incredibly bad weather conditions, shot his second round of 74 in the British Open Golf Championship today for a 36-hole total of 148.

Souchak started the round six strokes off the lead, held by Dennis Smalldon of Wales with an opening round of 68 yesterday. The second round began on the 6,950, par 35-36-71 Hoylake course in a driving rain with gusts of wind near gale force.

Today's weather gave promise of much higher scoring than yesterday, when six of the 96 qualifiers bettered Hoylake's difficult par and five others equalled it.

Souchak, with a 38-36-74 score that included two birdies and 11 pars, stands a good chance of qualifying for the final 36 holes.

World Hammer Mark

Cliff Blair Better 216 Feet

NEEDHAM, Mass. (AP)—Olympic-elect Cliff Blair of the New York AC has bettered the world's hammer throw record under comic opera conditions.

The Boston University graduate threw the 16-pound ball and chain 216 feet, 4 1/2 inches yesterday to better the accepted world mark of 211-4/5, set by Mikhail Krivonozov of Russia and the pending mark of 216-6/5, also set by Krivonozov. But the distance of Blair's heave was not decided officially until nearly 4 hours after the event was over.

The throw first was measured at 216-5/8 with three 100-foot tapes. But records can earn official recognition only if measured by a single tape.

While darkness gathered and AAU officials Al Hart and Phil Claxton stood guard, a hurried call was sent out for a 300-foot tape. One finally was located at Harvard Stadium in Cambridge, some 10 miles away.

Four three-run innings in the middle of yesterday's State League baseball tilt at Wmiser Field proved more than enough to sink a Saginaw Jays club, the aggressor all the way, blasting Jay hurlers for a

Tagging Holiday Leaders for Pennant Doubtful

July 4th Standings Show No Winners

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tagging the July 4 leaders as the probable winners in the major league pennant races is a game of chance at best. This year, it's a game of Blind Man's Bluff.

Milwaukee and Cincinnati, each having to battle back to salvage a split, and Brooklyn are so close you could cover them with a Bikini bathing suit after yesterday's National League doubleheaders.

While the New York Yankees still boast a 3½-game edge in the American League, Mickey Mantle's on the bench with an injured knee, who's going to bet on the Yanks without Mantle, the kid with the golden bat and the tin legs?

Great pitching and heavy swingin' won for the three NL leaders. Milwaukee dropped the opener to St. Louis 6-4 on errors, then bounced back 6-1 as Bob Buhl spun a three-hitter to retain the Braves' 5-percentage-point lead. Chicago's Cubs edged runner-up Cincinnati 5-4, but then were bopped by back-to-back home runs by Ed Kuszewski, who had three for the day, and All-Star Frank Robinson in 4-3 nightcap as unbeaten Brooks Lawrence won his 11th.

Brooklyn backed up Don Newcombe's 10th victory with 18 hits for a 15-2 runaway in the opener against New York, then eased up as rookie Don Drysdale and reliever Clem Labine came within two outs of a shutout in the 6-1 afterpiece. That hoisted the Braves within a half-game of first. It also dropped the Giants into the cellar.

A six-run first inning gave Pittsburgh the second game 8-4 after Philadelphia won the opener 4-2. The Yankees broke even by belting the Red Sox 9-4 after losing 7-6 in 11 innings. Second-place Chicago split with Kansas City, winning 5-2 as Billy Pierce claimed his 13th victory, then losing 3-2. Third-place Cleveland swept two from Detroit 6-4 and 3-1. Washington beat Baltimore 10-8, then lost 7-4 in a rain-shortened, six-inning nightcap.

Ken Boyer rapped his 20th home run for the Cards, but it was five unearned runs in the seventh that won the opener for St. Louis and Murry Dickson. Gene Conley lost it. Buhl and Lindy McDaniel were in a scoreless duel until the Braves scored three in the seventh of the nightcap and then Bank Aaron socked a three-run homer in the eighth. Card Manager Fred Hutchinson, just back from a three day suspension, was chased for the fifth time this season in a nightcap dispute.

Mantle pulled some ligaments throwing to the plate after fielding Jim Piersall's bust-up single in the 11th-inning of the opener. The injury wasn't considered serious, but the Mick's hurts have a habit of getting worse before they get better. Ted Williams homered for the Boston and Billy Martin slugged one for the Yanks, who scored four in the ninth only to have the Red Sox tie it with one in the 11th of the ninth.

Shutouts, Slugfests in Church Circuit

Two shutouts and a pair of slugfests marked Tuesday's Church Softball League action. First Baptists kept a win streak going with an 8-0 blanking of Church of Brethren. Memorial Baptists shut out First Presbyterians 11-0 on Ed Atkinson's 3-hitter.

Five Points Community Church outslugged Columbia Baptists 19-14 and Galloway Lake battered Liberty Baptists 14-12.

Tonight's game pit Central Christian and Oakland U.P. at Longfellow field and Five Points against Marimont at Oakland Park. Both games are set for 6:15 p.m.

Yanks Head for New Double Play Record

BOSTON (U.P.)—The New York Yankees are in good position to break the major league club record of 217 double plays in a season set by the old Philadelphia Athletics in 1949.

The New Yorkers' three twin-killings against the Boston Red Sox yesterday raised their total to 110 for 74 games. The Yanks have hit into only 54 doubleplays thus far, maintaining a rate of 2-for-1 against the other clubs in the league.

Pierce struck out eight for his eighth straight victory and seventh straight complete game while the White Sox scored three in the first off Jack McMahon. The A's got three off Gerry Staley in the first to win the nightcap for Alex Kellner, with relief help from Art Dimer and Bobby Shantz.

Al Smith had five hits and two walks for the Indians, stretching his hitting streak to 17 games, and produced a two-run triple in the ninth to win the opener for Herb Score. Vic Wertz, left off the All-Star roster, smacked his 18th homer with two on to break a 1-all tie. Early Wynn spun a four-hitter in the nightcap, with Smith again batting in two runs as the Tigers went through their 15th straight home game without a victory.

Washington had an 8-0 lead after four innings, but barely got home safe in the opener. Baltimore scored four in the sixth to win the nightcap, which Senator owner Calvin Griffith protested. Umpire Ed Hurley, permitting play in a sixth-inning drizzle, called it in the seventh although the Nats. contended the rain hadn't increased. Hurley cited thunder and lightning.

NO PLACE FOR NEWK — Brooklyn's Don Newcombe (left) walks away as umpire Stan Landes calls him out at third while already occupied by teammate Roy Campanella in the game against the Giants yesterday. Newcombe tried to get to third while Campanella was holding the bag on a grounder. Holding the bag is Giant shortstop Ed Bressoud who tagged him with Foster Castleman (12) third sacker watching the play.

Detroit Rowers in Double Win

Take Top Two Awards in Schuylkill River Regatta

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — The Detroit Boat Club had a double barrel-victory to its credit today in winning the National Rowing Championship and People's Regatta on the Schuylkill river in Philadelphia.

Detroit captured the Julius H. Barnes trophy, emblematic of the National Club Championship, and also the Anthony Gallagher Memorial Trophy, top award in the People's Regatta yesterday.

The Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia was dethroned in both events.

Jack Kelly, Jr., U. S. Olympic hopeful in the singles, dropped out of the championship competition. However, he did stroke Vesper's senior squad in a try for the National crown in the class, but the New York AC Crew, stroked by Ed Lynch, nosed out the Philadelphians.

Doctoring Your Golf Game

BY DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF
PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Quitting at ball
DIAGNOSIS: Head sway
TREATMENT: Keeping the head anchored (no movement whatever) on the backswing is a job only half done. The head must by all means be stationary as well in the downswing. The slightest forward motion of the head, a bit of sway, and the mechanics of the swing get loose, fall apart.

When you're quitting at the ball, suddenly checking the swing, concentrate on keeping the head still. Move it forward, and your left side collapses; the arms tighten up, freeze.

It was when I developed a one-piece swing that I finally found it easy to finish with a long follow-through, as sketch shows, the hands high to complete a fully rounded arc.

No uncocking of the wrists until the hitting area is reached. Don't worry about the clubhead catching up. It will. That's how much faster it travels than the left arm and hands. The action is like the old kid game of 'crack-the-whip.' (Copyright 1954, John F. Dille Co.)

Hutch Chased for 2nd Time Inside a Week

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Manager Freddie Hutchinson of St. Louis—the latest Peck's Bad Boy of the National League — would like to know, "What is the game coming to anyway?"

Hutch was thumbed out of his fifth game yesterday less than two days after serving a three-day suspension and paying a $150 fine for a run-in with the umpires at St. Louis Friday.

The freshman pilot left County Stadium premises at the request of plate umpire Artie Gore in the first inning of the second game of the July 4th Cards-Braves doubleheader. The Cards won the first game yesterday, 6-4, but lost the second, 6-1.

"These umpires are awfully quick. I open my mouth and that's it. The bench gets on the umpire—that's part of the game, isn't it?—and what happens. Right away I'm to blame."

Girl Athlete Beats Own Mark for Javelin

WOODBURY, N. J. (AP)—Olympic hopeful Karen Anderson of Lansdowne, Pa., unofficially bettered her own American mark in the javelin throw today with a heave of 163 feet 6 1/2 inches.

The toss by the 17-year-old high school student surpassed her previous mark by 11 1/2 inches while competing in the Junior Chamber of Commerce Track Meet. Officials said it was doubtful the new mark would get official sanction because of lack of sufficient Amateur Athletic Union officials on hand to witness the toss.

Former heavyweight boxing champion Jack Dempsey is 61.

Anti-Freeze Solution Puts Girl in Hospital

DETROIT (INS)—A glass of anti-freeze solution which she thought was apple cider has placed a 14-year-old St. Clair Shores girl in serious condition in Receiving Hospital.

Charlotte Englehart was attending a swimming party along with 23 other young people Tuesday when six boys, 15 and 16, felt the party was dull and remembered seeing two jugs labeled "Apple Cider" in a nearby garage.

the door open and took one of the bottles. They all agreed it tasted "terrible" but brought it back to "liven up" the party.

Charlotte drank a glass of the solution and was taken to the hospital yesterday when she lapsed into unconsciousness.

Police learned the solution belonged to Robert Jurgavich and was a permanent-type anti-freeze which he planned to use again in the winter.

Police Lt. Joseph Nuler said the six boys who admitted taking the party were being held on breaking and entering charges and added they could face manslaughter charges if the girl dies.

Hollywood Headlines Barrymore Permits Wife to Play Poker With Boys

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—Would you husbands consider giving the little woman a night out on her own every week to play poker with the boys?

That's the situation with John Barrymore Jr. and his lovely red-head wife Cara Williams. It sounds odd, but it may be an entirely new approach to marital harmony.

"It works out perfectly," volunteered John. "Cara loves to gamble. I hate it. So every week or so, I let her go out to a poker match with some men while I stay home with the children. She has her fun and comes home refreshed."

"And I have no worries—the other players are all friends of mine."

Added Cara: "I really love poker. But I can't stand the way women play it. They'll look at your hand and say, 'Oh, let's see'."

"We can't help it. We love each other. Why shouldn't we be together?"

The poker night, he agreed, was a good escape valve, since that is virtually the only instance where their interests don't merge. It may sound un-Barrymore-like for John to be sitting home with the children nights, but you'll find that the lad differs in many respects from his famous father.

For one thing, he says, he doesn't drink.

"I'm the worst teetotaler you ever met," he confessed. "I just can't stand the stuff. I don't mean I haven't tried it; you'd be a hypocrite to hate liquor without trying it."

ROK Sends U.S. Thanks for Aid Giving Freedom

Radioactive Mosquitoes Invading Delaware
NEWARK, Del. (INS)—A swarm of radioactive mosquitoes is invading Delaware, but the sting will be no better or worse than that of an ordinary mosquito.

As part of a University of Delaware research project, mosquito larvae are being tagged with radioactive isotopes and released in remote marshes.

Researchers will provide the marshes with Geiger counters to see how far the pests travel from home. Armed with this migratory information, they hope to arrive at better means of mosquito control.

The number of people working on U.S. farms was reduced about 4 per cent in 1955.

Imlay City voters will vote from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m. at the high school, choosing two school trustees for three-year terms. Candidates are Hugh DeCamp, Wallace Johnson and Howard Caldwell.

In West Bloomfield township voters have longer hours for registrations.

Clerk Frank Hallett says the office is being open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. today and tomorrow, and from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Monday.

Wing Bros., Now Eighty, to Mark Twin Birthdays

HASTINGS 48—The double thrill of a twin birthday is expected to be greatly magnified next Sunday in an open house celebration at nearby Coates Grove Church as the Wing brothers mark their 80th birthday.

Rev. Fay C. Wing, for 12 years the pastor at the church, and his twin, Jay C., eagerly look forward to the celebration.

Spry and alert, despite their years, the two still look enough alike to confuse casual acquaintances.

"When we were young," says Rev. Wing, "a farmer neighbor of ours near Cascade used to use both our first names in addressing us. He called us both 'Fay-Jay' when he met either of us alone—that way he knew he was at least half right."

The brothers were born in St.

Legislators to Hear Anti-Nudist Pastor

BATTLE CREEK 48—The Arkansas minister who fights nudism is returning to Michigan to appear as a witness before a legislative hearing.

The Rev. Braxton Sawyer of Fort Smith, Ark., has been invited by Rep. Peter J. Kelly (D-Detroit) to give testimony on Kelly's anti-nudist bill.

On a visit to Michigan two years ago Sawyer was ejected from a nudist camp near Battle Creek. He has toured the country in a campaign against nudism.

Kelly said he is going to reintroduce his bill as the result of a recent incident at the sunshine gardens camp near here. Four men and two women, arrested at the camp Saturday, are to be in court Monday on indecent exposure charges. Kelly's bill failed once before.

Grain Market Wheat Steady

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat held steady in an otherwise irregular grain market on the Board of Trade today.

Grain men said there appeared to be a little additional buying in wheat based on flour business but that demand from this source was not very large.

Corn and soybeans worked lower, particularly the new crop months. Favorable crop growing weather and a private estimate of bumper production of these grains was behind the selling.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1/4 lower to 1/8 higher, July $2.04 1/4; corn 1/4 to 1/8 lower, July $1.21 1/4; soybeans 1/4 to 1/8 lower, July $12.24; soybeans 1/4 to 1/8 lower, July $12.24; soybeans 1/4 to 1/8 lower, July $12.24.

Steels Higher on Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels and Air-crafts were higher but motors were lower as the Stock Market showed a mixed pattern in quiet early trading today.

Steels continued their rise of Tuesday, this time with gains of fractions to around 2 points as mediation talks began in the five-day-old Steel strike.

McGraw-Hill, which enjoyed a rise several sessions ago on a stock split, dropped 3 points on an opening trade.

U. S. Steel opened on a block of 3,000 shares up 1/2 at 58 1/2, later shading this gain slightly.

Bethlehem Steel advanced more than a point. Republic Steel was fractionally lower. Youngstown Sheet & Tube rose around 2 points.

Other opening blocks included Radio Corp. off 1/2 at 42 1/2 on 7,800 shares. Dow Chemical up 1/2 at 80 1/2, on 1,000 and Boeing up 1/2 at 90 1/2, on 1,500. Boeing later stretched this to a point.

Douglas also was a 1-point gainer. United Aircraft rose a fraction. General Dynamics stepped ahead well beyond a point.

Coppers were mixed as were oils. The Stock Market was buoyant Tuesday as steel shares wiped out their losses of the day before. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 70 cents to $182.90.
