Egbert Prods Lathrup to Act on Interceptor Sewer Issue

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — City Manager Donald C. Egbert said today he was "concerned" about an article that appeared Sept. 9 in a nearby daily newspaper.

It quoted the council of the City of Lathrup Village as "firing an opening barrage against the cost of the Evergreen Interceptor sewer, in an effort to trim the city's share of the $2.7 million project."

According to the report, the council said Lathrup's allocation of capital costs, $179,000, "was not equitable."

Costs in the project have been apportioned on the basis of ultimate population. Sharing in the project are Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Lathrup Village, and Southfield, Bloomfield and Troy Townships.

All but Troy were cited for pollution of the Upper Rouge Valley by the Michigan Water Resources Commission.

"We have checked with the legal and financial consultants for the project, to be sure the allocation was fair in their case," Egbert said. "The consultants pointed out that the lot-ratio per acre in Lathrup Village is higher than in other areas."

"Lathrup has no parks or school or church sites, or other exempt properties," he added.

"When those factors are taken under consideration, Lathrup's share is comparable to the other municipalities. Any further reduction in their percentage of the costs could not be justified," said Egbert.

Speaking for the city commission, Egbert said, "We feel Lathrup Village should definitely be a part of the project, but we cannot wait for indecision on their part. We agreed that the project should proceed without them, unless a decision is reached immediately."

"We want them to join—they can't handle the sewage problem any other way. But the advisory committee has attempted to work with them for several months, so they can't say we're rushing them."

The Lathrup Council will meet tonight, for further discussion.

Heaviest contributor to the project would be Southfield Township, which also has not yet agreed to the cost split-up.

Egbert said he understood tentative approval had been given by Southfield, and he anticipated formal approval at a meeting tonight.

Plans for the group's forthcoming play, "Space Happy," will be discussed when members of the Children's Theater hold their opening tea from 1 to 3 p.m. tomorrow at the Warren court home of Mrs. George Green.

The three-act play about an adventure on Mars was written by member Mrs. Walter Patton and will be presented for school children on Oct. 15. Director of the play, Mrs. Gilbert Gove, will be assisted by Mrs. Patton.

Women's Fellowship of the Congregational Church will have its first fall meeting at 8 tonight at the church. Following the business meeting a program will be presented by the Christian education committee, with Mrs. Robert D. Dewey as chairman.

It was announced that the junior choir of the church will hold its rehearsals from 4:45 p.m. Wednesdays at the church, under the direction of Mrs. Carl Vigstedt. The choir is composed of children in grades three through six.

Through a mix-up the program scheduled for last week's Kiwanis Club meeting will be given tonight, when Kiwanians meet at the Community House for a 6:30 dinner. Jack Sterling will speak to the group on the "Big Brother" movement.

"A Missionary Program, for Youth" will be discussed by the Rev. Robert W. Gibson Jr., minister to youth at the First Presbyterian Church.

Chinese Reds Fail to Deliver American Trio

HONG KONG (INS)—American officials waited patiently but in vain for the second straight day today for the Chinese Communists to return three Americans held prisoner for more than 17 months.

The men whom the Communists announced Sunday they would release are International News Service correspondent Don Dixon of New York, National Broadcasting Company correspondent Richard Applegate of Medford, Ore., and Merchant sea captain Ben Kramer of New York.

The possibility remains that the trio will be expelled from China by some other route although the exit into Hong Kong is a frequent one in such cases.

The three were captured by the Reds on March 21, 1953, soon after they started a vacation cruise on Applegate's yacht, Kert, from Hong Kong to the Portuguese colony of Macao on the mainland.

They were scheduled to be returned yesterday, but the officials waited in vain for any sign of the Americans.

Editor Warns of High Costs

Hills Points to Trend Toward Fewer Papers; Urges Joint Effort

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (U. S. —) Lee Hills, executive editor of the Miami Herald and Detroit Free Press, said today publishers and unions should work together to turn out better newspapers.

Hills pointed out that newspapers are "becoming fewer and bigger, with many of the big ones shrinking. The casualty rate is too high."

Last year 22 dailies died or merged, leaving 32 per cent of all towns and cities having newspapers with only one daily. Nearly 850 newspapers have disappeared in the last 25 years.

He said that "the best pension plans and all the security clauses in the world are worthless if a company goes broke."

Hills told the 51st annual convention of the International Stereotypers and Electrotypes Union that both management and labor should take advantage of improved tools, methods, processes and equipment to produce more with the same amount of effort.

"If publishers and newspaper unions worked together with this idea as a fundamental principle I believe the back-breaking problem of newspaper production costs could be on the way to solution," he said.

"It would be a forward step away from such self-defeating ideas as made-work, featherbedding and restrictions on better equipment, machinery, methods and controls."

Democrat Elected Governor of Maine

In 1948. They have two children, Stephen 5½ and Ellen, 3½.

Muskie's mother and father—the latter a retired tailor, live in the little paper mill town of Rumford, where Ed was born.

Muskie was a Phi Beta Kappa at Bates College in Lewiston when he graduated in 1936. Three years later he got his law degree from Cornell.

During World War II, he served as a lieutenant aboard a destroyer in the Pacific.

Muskie served as minority leader in the Maine House of Representatives in 1949 and later headed the Office of Price Stabilization in Maine.

Although the adage "as Maine goes so goes the nation" long since has been outmoded by events, Democrats were jubilant over their gubernatorial victory. The last time they carried the governorship in Maine was in 1934.

Early Republican comment for quotation was restrained. For instance Sen. Carlson (R-Me.) would only say: "I don't believe I should make a comment on the Maine election at this time."

Nixon, who flies West tomorrow in the first of a series of campaign tours aimed at retaining Republican control of Congress, said before the election that the Maine vote would provide "the first statewide test of the Eisenhower administration." Nixon apparently was talking primarily about the senate.

Drunk Driver Fined
Farmington Justice John J. Schulte Jr. sentenced Detroit's Gilbert Habich, 30, to 10 days in Oakland County Jail yesterday for driving with a revoked license, and fined him $100 and $25 costs for drunk driving. Habich pleaded guilty to both traffic counts. If his fine and costs are not paid Habich will spend another 60 days in jail.

Police Continue Safety Program

Urge Drivers to Keep On Alert for School Children

Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley today urged motorists to continue their cooperation with the city's current traffic campaign to avert any mishaps involving children returning to school during September.

The program is being held in connection with the Michigan Safety Commission's annual "Watch Out for Kids" month.

Straley said that each year motorists need to be reminded that children are returning to school and that there is a special need to watch out for them—"many of whom have just returned from carefree vacations have not adapted themselves to the routine of going to and from schools in traffic."

According to Chief Straley, over 3,000 children ranging up to age 14 were struck down by autos on Michigan streets and highways during the last twelve months. He added that 223 of them died and many were crippled for life.

"Our department will pay particular attention to speeding near schools during September as a forceful reminder to all motorists to check their speed and watch out for children in school areas," Straley said.

A state-wide educational program using several hundred thousand leaflets and thousands of posters is underway. In every community motorists can expect to see the poster depicting a little girl running out from between a parked car with the slogan, "Watch Out for Kids."

The leaflets advise parents to teach their children the following rules: Stop at the curb; Look both ways; wait until it's safe to cross; and walk across the street.

In conclusion Straley said, "Hitting a little girl or boy with a ton and a half of steel is not a pleasant thing to think of. You, as a driver in such an accident, would find small comfort in the fact that the police may decide that the mishap was caused primarily by the child's own carelessness."

Woman Driver Praises Polite City Policeman
A Mt. Clemens woman, who has driven for 27 years with a horror of traffic policemen, learned in Pontiac that cops, too, can be regular fellows.

The motorist, only identified as Marjorie in a letter to Police Chief Herbert W. Straley, says: "On going through your city Sept. 1 on M-50, I heard a whistle. Looking to my left, it was not the kind that makes a 'grandma perk up.'"

"The officer politely asked me for my driver's license and my registration. Then he cautioned me about the speed limit in your city."

The letter continued: "I had heard a lot about the hard-boiled policemen, who roughly ask you, 'Where's the fire? but where was that bossy tone I had heard about when this Pontiac Policeman stopped me?'"

Following a brief investigation, Chief Straley learned that the "polite" officer was Patrolman John A. Feltz who was not mentioned in the letter.

4-Car Pileup Caused by Golfer's Inaccuracy
WASHINGTON (INS) — Police said today that an unidentified golfer's inaccuracy with a golf ball resulted in a four-car pileup.

It all started when the golf ball whizzed over a car cruising past the White Flint Golf Course. The ball hit a rock, bounced through the car window of Mrs. Fred Goings of Washington and forced her to brake to a hurried stop.

Two other cars behind Mrs. Goings also stopped suddenly but a fourth rammed into the rear of car No. 3, which resulted in the four-car pileup.

Score: Damage to four cars estimated at $1,000; cuts and bruises to the four drivers.

About 500 cases of all types were dismissed for lack of progress in Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday.

The move was necessary to prevent unclosed cases from piling up on the court's docket.

All cases in which there has been no action for one year are read off during court sessions. Unless an interested party requests that a case be saved, it is officially dropped.

5 Youths Held in Money Theft

Juveniles Face Court on Charges They Took Stolen Cash

Five Hazel Park youths will appear in Oakland County Juvenile Court on charges that they stole or borrowed money which two other lads reportedly stole in a $6,000 Hazel Park supermarket break-in Aug. 27.

The two accused of burglarizing the Food Fair at 330 W. Nine Mile Rd., broke out of the Oakland County Children's Home Friday but were apprehended over the weekend.

Two other youths, each 17, have been sentenced to 90 days in jail for implication in the crime, according to Hazel Park Lt. Harold Hill.

Hill said the seven borrowed about $800 from the pair, and in addition stole $608 from the bedroom of one of the youngsters as he slept.

Another $200 hidden in an oil tank behind one of the accused thieves' homes, was also taken.

"About $4,000 of the stolen money has been accounted for," Hill said.

Police recovered $1,800 in an attic, and uncovered another $295 buried in the back yard of the other's home.

Two Persons Injured as Car Hits Embankment
Two Pontiac persons were injured yesterday on US 10 at Waterford Hill, when the car in which they were riding hit an embankment.

Treated at Pontiac General Hospital for elbow cuts and ankle bruises was the driver, Charles W. Wright, 38, of 192 Wenden St. Mrs. Vivian Atkins, 23, of 82½ S. Saginaw St., was treated for multiple bruises.

Michigan State Police of the Pontiac Post said Wright stated that he came over the hill crest and applied his brakes to avoid a slow-moving truck ahead and his car skidded into the bank.

Plumber Stands Mute on Arson Charge
Donald J. Roller, 23, a Detroit plumber who police say has caused $100,000 damage by setting seven fires since July 24 yesterday stood mute on an arson charge in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Judge H. Russell Holland entered a plea of not guilty for Roller and directed that a trial date be set. Roller was returned to Oakland County Jail.

Roller's attorney said a psychiatric examination is planned for the alleged firebug who has stated he doesn't know why he started the fires because "the urge just came over me and there was nothing I could do about it."

Arrested by state police Sept. 8, Roller told officers he set fire to six homes and an old school house in Oakland and Wayne Counties and then returned to help firemen put out the blazes.

Police Restrain Jeering Pickets

UAW, UE Try to Block Return to Square D by 247 Employees

DETROIT (INS)—More than a thousand UAW-CIO and other union members showed up at the strikebound Square D plant in this morning's drizzle to taunt police and jeer the workers going into the plant.

Despite the mob, often threatening to get out of hand, a company spokesman said 247 hourly rated employees reported for work this morning, of which 43 were workers formerly on strike. He also claimed there were 60 applicants for jobs today.

In addition to the hourly employees, the company said more than 100 supervisory employees were in the plant.

The efforts of 150 grim-faced policemen made it possible for the workers to go to their jobs safely. On at least three occasions mounted police were called up to move pickets who for a brief period blocked entrances to the plant and tried to get behind police detachments.

At one point, Paul Silver, president of Local 351, UAW-CIO, was threatened with arrest by Inspector Charles O'Brien for failure to comply with an order to get off the street and back into the picket line.

Mayer Cobe and Police Commissioner Piggins stated emphatically yesterday that they intend to use as many police officers as necessary to keep law and order in the three-month-old strike.

While the International UAW-CIO Executive Board has taken no official action on the strike, an international spokesman said: "We approve the local unions taking action to support the strike."

UAW leaders have deplored the company's back-to-work movement as an attempt at union breaking and have strenuously objected to what they consider police interference with the independent United Electrical Workers pickets.

In another development, 22 union leaders and strikers were scheduled to appear before Judge Frank B. Ferguson today. They had been ordered to appear yesterday, but most failed to show up, claiming they were illegally subpoenaed or not served at all.

Two Are Injured in Auto Accidents
Wet pavements in Oakland County yesterday accounted for at least two accidents when motorists involved lost control of their autos and skidded into trees.

Mrs. Edith McVittie, 29, of 3446 Detroit, Davisburg, a registered nurse, suffered a concussion when her car skidded into a tree as she rounded a curve on Milford road in Highland Township south of Livingston road. Mrs. McVittie was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital where her condition is listed as fair.

In a similar accident, Charles E. McQuire, 47, of North Branch, a passenger, Ralph Johnson, 31, of Columbiaville, were treated at Pontiac General Hospital for scalp cuts. McQuire lost control of his auto on Baldwin road in Orion Township, about 500 feet south of the Clarkston-Orion road.

Reveals Plot to Attack Ike

Puerto Rican Claims Same Group Executed Shooting in Congress

NEW YORK (AP)—A Puerto Rican Nationalist has testified that conspirators who masterminded the shooting in Congress last March 1 also planned an attack on President Eisenhower.

The testimony was given by Gonzales Lebron Sotomayor yesterday at the trial of 13 Puerto Ricans charged with seditious conspiracy to overthrow the U. S. government by force and violence.

The witness is a brother of Dolores Lolita Lebron, who was seized along with three men after they scattered bullets into the House of Representatives, wounding five congressmen. The four already have been sentenced to terms of 16 to 50 years in prison for the shooting.

Miss Lebron is one of the 13 now on trial for conspiracy before Federal Judge Lawrence E. Walsh and a jury. The sessions continue today.

Another defendant is Julio Pinto Gandia who Lebron Sotomayor said had told him of plans for attacks on Congress, "the Presidency" and on Ferns Isern, resident commissioner for Puerto Rico. The witness said this was in November, 1953, when Gandia was a Nationalist party leader in New York.

The Nationalist party seeks complete independence for Puerto Rico. This aim is opposed by the majority of Puerto Ricans who turned down an offer of independence and voted to become a commonwealth of the United States.

Distillers Have Own Hangover

Yugoslav Brewers to Be Punished for False 'Whisky' Labels

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Some of Yugoslavia's alcohol distillers have their own hangover now. The government has begun prosecution of those among them who have been peddling their wares under British labels describing the contents as "Scotch." They have been selling this stuff at rates lower than the imported variety.

"Whisky" labeled as American has been put on the market at prices which would affront the pride of a Prohibition run runner in the United States. So would the contents.

An English diplomat with a hangover, after buying a bottle of the ersatz cheer, lodged a formal complaint. So did an American who protested that Yugoslavia's own brandy was preferable. He added he was a Southern Democrat who had nothing against "stump" whisky but that he wanted it smooth.

The official Yugoslav press reported the fraudulent distillers would be visited with "severe punishment." One sidewalk wag suggested "proper punishment" might require them to drink their own brew.

Cancer Claims Mrs. Astaire

Dancer's Wife, 46, Dies
in Beverly Hills Home
After Long Illness

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (U.P.)—Cancer has claimed the life of dancer Fred Astaire's 46-year-old wife.

Phyllis Livingston Poter Astaire, the dancer's wife for 21 years, died in their Beverly Hills home yesterday after an illness of several months. Astaire was by her side.

Mrs. Astaire was a wealthy young Park Avenue socialite when she and the nimble performer married in New York in 1933. She had divorced Eliphail Nott Potter II, a broker, in 1932 after a five-year marriage.

She remained in the background during her husband's career in musical comedies and movies but they were often seen together at social affairs. She leaves three children, Fred Jr., 18; Ava, 12, and a son by her first marriage, Peter, 25.

Bride Quits Job, Hubby Refuses to Support Her

RIO DE JANEIRO (U.P.)—A family court judge Monday ruled against a husband who refused to support his wife because she quit her job after marrying him.

In ordering Silvio Peixoto to contribute to the support of his wife, Mirtela and their child, the judge said it was a "grave error with evil consequences" for a married woman to work.

Maurice Chevalier and Champagne Both Sparkle, Improve With Age

By EDDIE CANTOR

Maurice Chevalier, like champagne, bubbles and sparkles and leaves you with a nice happy feeling. And like champagne, he gets better with age. The last time he was in America I went to see him in his one-man show. He held the audience enthralled for two and a half hours just with the aid of a piano.

Backstage, when I congratulated him, he said, "Eddie, this is my life. To have a packed house laugh and applaud and enjoy what I have to give, there's nothing in the world like it—and the pay is so good!"

Leo Durocher was there that night, too, and when Maurice met the baseball manager of the Giants, he shook hands and said, "I want you to know I'm the French Leo Durocher." Durocher shook his head and said he didn't get it. Chevalier explained, "Over there I'm known as The Lip." Leo laughed and said, "Mr. Chevalier, the only difference is that yours has made you a fine fortune—mine has cost me a fortune in fines."

I had a lot of fun one night in Cannes, France, when Chevalier invited me to appear on his radio program which was beamed to the States. He wrote out the chorus of "Louise" phonetically and I sang it in French, but I got a real bang when the orchestra went into "If You Knew Susie" and Maurice clapped his hands, rolled his eyes and jumped up and down.

When he stopped, he could hardly catch his breath. "Eddie," he panted, "I don't know how you can sing these songs and jump at the same time." "Maurice," I answered, "you could do it too if you'd take off that heavy money belt." He's loaded, you know. The French Crosby.

Chevalier's a living Horatio Alger story in French. Maurice, himself, says, "I think you'll agree I have come a long way from the days of my childhood when a butcher who felt sorry for me would slip me a piece of horse meat. Then my greatest ambition was to earn enough for soup and bread."

For more than 25 years, Maurice has averaged about 10,000 bucks a week. That's how he got that famous protruding lower lip.

You see, in playing a lot of out-of-town spots, the minute he would get his salary check, he would mail it to the Bank of Paris. Sometimes he sealed the envelope after he had dropped it in the box.

That famous straw hat, Chevalier lip, and the French charm—it's amazing to think that even at 65 he still has the gals swooning wherever he appears. He thinks girls have changed. "In the old days," he says, "when a girl heard a naughty story, she blushed. Today she memorizes it."

Test Hop at 110 M.P.H. Costs $100, Night in Jail

EL RENO, Okla. (U.P.)—A test hop in his new expensive automobile proved costly for Lt. James Joseph Zentgraf, 24, Vance Air Force Base, Enid.

The airman spent a night in jail and paid a fine of $100, after highway patrolmen clocked him at 110 miles per hour.

Zentgraf told the authorities his car was new and he wanted to see how fast it would go.

With 600,000 motor cars, 350,000 motorcycles and 250,000 motorized bicycles, Sweden claims she is the most motorized country in continental Europe.

New Barrier Against Reds

Although the SEATO alliance, as expected, falls short of being a second NATO, it nonetheless reflects an important advance in free world collective security.

When the eight Nations meeting at Manila signed the treaty, we gained two new allies against Communist aggression in Southeast Asia—Pakistan and Thailand. The five other signatories already are aligned with us—Britain and France in NATO, Australia and New Zealand in Anzus and the Philippines through a mutual assistance treaty.

There is one main difference between the SEATO accord and NATO. In the latter an attack on any signatory would be considered an attack on all. In SEATO such an attack by Communists would be considered a danger to all but each country would act in accordance with its constitutional processes.

For the United States this would mean that Congress would have to vote approval of any military reaction to further aggression by Reds. Secretary DULLES also agreed to a stipulation which is accorded in the pact.

This provides that in the event of aggression from other sources in the SEATO area, our Government would consult with member states but wouldn't feel bound to intervene. Both of these are wise limitations.

Among the most important effects of the treaty is its promise of military protection and economic aid to the states of Cambodia, Laos and Viet Nam. This provision recognizes that if Communism is to be halted there, the people have to be convinced that the free world is interested in their economic well-being and political independence.

Good for Baseball

Unless all previously reliable signs fail, the Cleveland Indians have done the seemingly impossible by knocking the New York Yankees out of the American League pennant race.

What's more, they did it in decisive fashion by winning both ends of Sunday's crucial double-header from the New Yorkers in the Ohio metropolis. It was fitting that the victories which apparently ended the Yankee hopes should be witnessed by the largest crowd that ever saw a regulation American League game, 84,600.

After the last out, STENGEL and his crew were eight and a half games behind the Indians with 11 games to play. Only a miracle could overcome that handicap. But the Yankees shouldn't feel downhearted. To their credit is a feat never before accomplished—the winning of five successive World Series.

We congratulate the Indians on their impending triumph in the belief that it is good for baseball. We think it would have been even better for the national game if some team outside New York could have won the senior league race. There have been far too many subway series in recent years.

Japanese Growing Taller

For proof that diet exerts great influence on stature one need go no farther than Japan.

A Reuters news dispatch points out that as a result of revolutionary changes in diet, Japanese boys and girls are growing taller and heavier. One of the factors is a new appreciation of the food value of milk and wheat bread.

Another is the spreading practice in Japanese schools of serving partial or complete balanced meals to children. A recent checkup showed that in the aggregate the physical measurements of children exceed those of 1938. That is the year when optimum prewar health and bodily development were reached.

These changes in a national diet, formerly dominated by rice and fish, are transforming the Japanese into a tall, straight limbed, well built people.

Keep Up the Good Work

The people of Michigan deserve credit for the record low total of only 3,500 acres of timber damaged by fires so far this year.

This shows that motorists, campers, hunters and sportsmen generally are practicing commonsense precautions against forest and brush fires. Nothing has happened, however, which gives any one the right to relax these precautions.

Actually the fire danger is greater now than at any time since the opening of the outdoor season. Moreover, because of the drought the danger will increase between now and the first hard Fall rains.

It takes nature many years to replace timber destroyed by fire. The only way to prevent such loss is never ending care in snuffing out cigar and cigarette stubs and quenching camp fires before leaving them. Similar care should be taken to see that leaf and grass fires don't get out of control.

Let's continue the good work. Remember nine out of 10 forest fires are caused by human carelessness.

The Man About Town

Want $300?

Then You Must Get Busy on Your Football Entry

Daffynition

Synthetic yarn: What some men think they can produce for their wives.

If you want that $300 in U. S. Bonds, it is time to get busy on your entry in the football contest. All that is necessary is to write your predictions on each of the following games. Or you can clip this list and check the teams you think will win. If you predict a tie game, do not check either team. Attach it to a piece of paper bearing your name and address, and see that it reaches the Pontiac Press office by noon on next Saturday, Sept. 18. Here's the list:

Sept. 18—Maryland vs Kentucky
 Sept. 24—Waterford vs Pontiac High
 Oct. 3—Detroit Lions vs Cleveland Browns
 Oct. 9—Pennsylvania vs Princeton
 Oct. 16—Michigan State vs Notre Dame
 Oct. 22—Tulsa vs Detroit
 Oct. 30—Indiana vs Michigan
 Nov. 6—Wayne vs Omaha
 Nov. 13—Michigan State vs Michigan
 Nov. 20—Southern California vs U.C.L.A.
 Nov. 25—Brown vs Colgate
 Nov. 27—Army vs Navy

The $300 goes to the entry making the closest predictions. It is an elimination contest—you are in it only as long as you forecast correctly. Every member of your family may compete, but each entry must be on a separate piece of paper.

myself. Believe me, when I say it's something the kids really need, that will keep many of them out of trouble, and give many a way to pass their time. Right out here where I live, in Waterford, there isn't much of anything to do but hang - out and roam the streets. Sure, there are drive-ins and shows, but you get tired of them in a little while. That is, if you can afford to go very often, as most kids can't.

This building should be a place where we could dance and play games and associate, etc. The majority of the boys and girls I know like to dance or would like to learn. It would be chaperoned by elders most of the time. We need this place right now, especially during the summer, and I for one am willing to start right now to raise the money for it. And I know I could get a lot of help!

What do you say, teenagers?

What Has Happened to the American Home?

I read that a high school asked 356 students who were 14 to 18 years old if they were happy and contented in their homes. Thirty-six were, the rest were not. You cannot teach a child to love anything that isn't loveable.

Children are smarter than that. What has happened to the American home? I think it's time to ask God to forgive us and start to pray for the new generation.

I doubt if He can possibly forgive this nation's looseness in home life to the young. I hope you all remember prayer without sincerity is a waste of time.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

These are the generations of the heavens and of the earth when they were created, in the day that the Lord God made the earth and the heavens.

—Genesis 2:4

Sunday, that day so tedious to the triflers of the earth, so full of beautiful repose of calmness and strength for the earnest and heavenly minded.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Never Break Up a Happy Marriage Just for Thrill of Stranger's Kisses

Dick is worried. He wonders if maybe he married the wrong girl. He didn't but he has a mistaken idea of sex. So be sure you scrubbook this Case Record. And NEVER upset a happy homelife because of the stagefright effect of stolen kisses. "Forewarned is forearmed," so this case can save many a marriage.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
 Case M-314: Dick M., aged 27, has been married for 2 years.

"Dr. Crane, I am puzzled," he confessed. "The other night at a party at the Country Club, I was dancing with another married woman of our social set.

"And we finally wandered out upon the veranda. Well, I kissed her and I found that my heart began to pound so fast I thought I would choke.

"I got all trembly and excited. Yet I know I love my wife ten times more than this woman.

"But my wife doesn't affect me like this. On the road home that same night I kissed my wife in the car just to compare results, and my heart didn't do a somersault at all.

"So I am confused. Do I really love this other woman more than my wife?"

When a young couple get married and live together for a few years, they usually level off in their emotions.

By that, we psychologists mean they are deeply in love, but the stagefright effect wanes. For stagefright means novelty or mysteriousness.

And after you live with a person as husband or wife for a few years, you get accustomed to each other. The situation is not strange or novel.

Instead your love is a calm, deep and comforting experience. But unless you married folks have been forewarned, you may throw away this real love for the stagefright effect of a stranger's kisses.

Never make the stupid mistake of breaking up a good marriage just because somebody else's kisses thrill you more than those of your mate.

For if you were to marry the stranger, and get accustomed to her as would be true in a year or so, then her kisses would be no more exciting than those of your first wife.

If a third woman then happened along and kissed you in a romantic setting, her kisses would now inflame you far more than would the kisses of wife Number Two.

So get wise to psychology before you wreck a good home. Every married person, though admittedly in love with his mate, will get more of an emotional reaction out of a stranger's kiss in a romantic situation.

For that is the stagefright or novelty effect. Indeed, movie stars are especially glib in this regard, which is why Hollywood is notorious for divorces.

Some women are classified as nymphomaniacs, which means they lose all good sense regarding men and constantly shift from one admirer's arms to another, regardless of the fact they may be married.

But such women, as well as the Don Juan male, are simply frightened lest they be losing their erotic charms. So they require the extra bit of the stagefright clandestine affair to make them feel up to par.

They really aren't passionate, but are just panicky. They have a sexual inferiority complex. Their supposed excess sexual ardor is above the eyes.

Thus, they use male attention, like cosmetics, as a tonic to their frightened female ego. It is sex vanity rather than a specific prurient desire which motivates them.

As a physician and psychologist I have never seen one passionate woman as measured by the masculine view of sex. There is a cosmetic need to bolster their ego:

David Lawrence Says:

Americans Don't Expect a War Over Formosa

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The American people are not expecting a war over Formosa or the Quemoy Islands—near the mainland of China—because they have never been told that an attack on Formosa is equivalent to an attack on the United States.

Somewhere in the records there's a definition of America's "defense perimeter" as being a line from Japan southward to the Philippines without mention of Formosa.

Dean Acheson, as secretary of state, described that line in a speech in January 1950. The Communists immediately assumed that he was excluding Korea, and they moved southward across the 38th parallel in June of that year.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

That was a pretty good thing Adlai Stevenson wrote to Mendes-France about Americans sticking together like gummed labels.

Reason we just got around to it was we were thinking of writing to Winston Churchill. If England joined up with European defense it would bring France up with a round turn like a country hair-cut.

France won't hook up on the dotted line because it harkles its wattle thinking of an armed Germany. We have pointed out it's downhill from Berlin to Paris.

When the Pied Piper of Hamelin piccolothes his fascinating tune there's a patter of little hobnailed boots on the belligerent ramps. The French have had it three times since Bismark cooked up the ems telegram.

Three times has France worn the feathers at the Turkey Shoot.

This time we figure Mendes-France is dilling up the skeleton in the hope chest. An armed Germany has no more chance of starting a war than you have of hanging your hat off the Crescent moon.

It was France's fault Shickelgruber got started the last time. They had a chance to choke him off like a valet tying a tenor's four-in-hand.

Mendes-France pulled out of Indochina on a down-beat. We'll bet you a straw hat the price he paid was dictated by Moscow. Right now France is on its colonial hubs with more trouble in North-Africa than a peg-legged farmer in a swamp.

Stevenson didn't just cuff-write that note on the spur of the moment. First he quizzed Secretary Dulles through regular diplomatic ruts. When you crease a paper these days you've got to be sure there isn't a wolf in the fold.

Mr. Dulles gave Adlai the proud hiss. That's the triple nod.

Then Adlai dropped the egg in the diplomatic pouch and broke the sound barrier of partisan politics.

It was a mighty fine thing to do provided Mendes-France doesn't shake the letter first to see if there's a check in it.

Tonsillectomies Just One Method of Keeping Operating Room Busy

For ordinary tonsillectomy or electrodesiccated (diathermy) or leveled with 20 per cent silver nitrate.

The observation made by Dr. D. F. Smiley, medical adviser to students in Cornell University, that young adults who had had operations on nose or throat were more susceptible to respiratory infections than those who had not had such operations, is more significant, it seems to me, than the mere notion of the every ready operator that "you'll be susceptible to sore throat and colds until you have had those bad tonsils out."

Likewise the finding of Dr. Warren E. Forsyth that there were more respiratory infections in the course of a year in tonsillectomized students (you know, the youngsters whose parents fell for the ever ready operators' line about "those bad tonsils") than in a group of students of the same age whose tonsils were intact.

Oh, well, after all, somebody must use the operating room.

Two City Schools Reported Entered

Thieves broke into two schools last night, stealing 20 dozen cups of ice cream from the Bagley School and ransacking two offices at Jefferson Junior High School, according to Pontiac Police.

Sgt. Detective John A. DePauw said the ice cream was taken from a deep freeze in the cafeteria after entry was gained by removing a rear window.

Nothing has been determined stolen from Jefferson school where a rear door was pried open. Police said the principal and secretary's offices were ransacked.

DePauw added that juveniles may be responsible for both breaks.

Commission Will Consider More Off-Street Parking

Pontiac City Commission tonight is expected to consider a plan to install about 90 off-street parking meters at 40 Mill St. and transfer the Department of Public Works headquarters to a 10-acre site at N. Saginaw and E. Russell Sts.

The former County-City Market on the Mill street land would be dismantled and reassembled at the new DPW location for warehouse use.

The new parking area would serve as an addition to the first municipal lot at Park and E. Pike Sts., commissioners point out, and would make the short-term parking area more easily seen from the Saginaw street business section.

The present six-acre DPW site on Lake street is badly overcrowded, they say. Besides yielding more room, the proposed new site in Aaron Perry Park would bring the department closer to its center of work in northern Pontiac where most of the paving and other public improvements yet to be done are located.

Other planned action includes a resolution naming the new branch library at E. Russell St. and Glenwood Ave.

A resolution is scheduled answering the request of a group of local builders to purchase Pontiac Municipal Golf Course for development as a residential area.

Action is slated on a proposed increase in the special assessment rates for installation of water mains.

Authorization is expected for the city manager to proceed in buying furniture and other equipment for the new city hall.

Resolutions are scheduled to receive special assessment rolls for construction of:

Concrete pavement on Alley north of Huron from Telegraph to Cuyahoga.

Sidewalk on both sides of Auburn from East Boulevard to the Bell Line Railroad.

Sidewalk on the northwest side of Telegraph from south of Walton to the Hawthorne School.

Discussion is expected on a proposed agreement between the city and Morris Shaw for installation of sewers on Kettering.

Acceptance is scheduled of a deed from John and Peggy Hubert and John and Yvonne Stebbins for part of lots 19 through 22 of assessor's plat 97.

Execution is planned of a deed to Smith Homes Inc. for lots 8 and 16, assessor's plat 16 and lot 16 of assessor's plat 17.

Public hearings are slated on special assessment rolls for:

Curb, gutter and drainage on Young from Montclair to Kennett and Wing from Montclair to Kennett.

Sidewalk on the east side of East Boulevard from Pike to Auburn, west side of N. Jewell from Michigan to Hazel Bend, east side of N. Jewell from Piddie to Hazel Bend and west side of Joslyn from Walton to Collier.

A petition is expected from residents on E. Montclair protesting truck traffic on the street.

Other scheduled action includes:

A report from the city manager on requested street closing in Highland Subdivision.

Consideration of a request to add partners on a BDM package beer and wine license at 700 Auburn Ave.

First reading of an ordinance relating to Residential 2 lots 20 and 21 of Crystal Lake Subdivision.

Discussion of complaints from Mrs. William F. Scheibel and Daniel M. Scott against a licensed sidewalk builder.

First reading of an ordinance authorizing sale, issuance and delivery of temporary notes by the Pontiac Housing Commission totaling $1,632,000.

American farmers grow about 350 different crops.

DePauw said the boys also had a sawed-off shot gun in their possession when arrested.

Authorities said they would question the boys further about other offenses, according to DePauw.

Emptying of Jail Is Ruled Illegal

Nashville City Judge Orders Rearrest of 31 Freed Prisoners

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—Ruling that Mayor Ben West's order to empty the old city jail was a violation of the Nashville charter, City Judge Andrew J. Doyle has ordered the 31 prisoners re-arrested.

The order now probably will be bounced to the city legal department for an opinion. John Milliron, police chief, said he would ask the department what he can do legally after he is presented with the re-arrest order.

Judge Doyle, ruling on a petition by a Nashville housewife, Mrs. E. J. Saverio, said yesterday he would issue the orders as soon as the necessary information on the prisoners is obtained from court records.

Mayor West ordered the prisoners released last Wednesday after the Davidson County Health Department ruled that the city jail and workhouse building were unfit for human habitation.

"If I arrest them, I'll have to have some place to put them," said Milliron and he added if he put them in the county jail several problems would occur, including the housing expense.

The 31 were committed to the workhouse after failure to pay fines imposed by city court. The jail section of the building was used as a holdover for prisoners prior to sentencing.

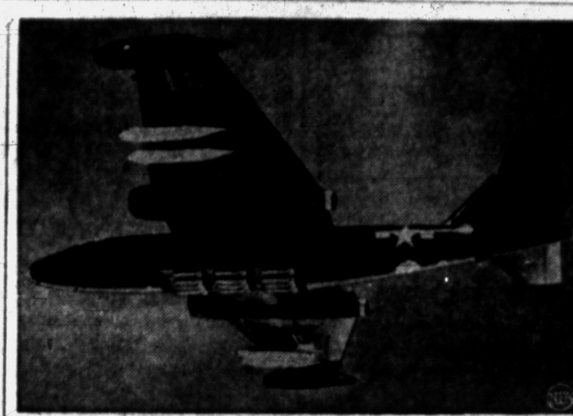

Hunters Learning Archery Hazards

CHICAGO (UP)—Robert Baacke, 25, and his wife, Diana, 24, have abandoned plans to hunt deer with a bow and arrow.

They have been using guns to hunt animals for the last five years, they said, but decided to learn to use a bow and arrow "to give the animals a sporting chance."

They were practicing how to shoot in their back yard Sunday when Baacke aimed an arrow at a target on a tree. The arrow struck Mrs. Baacke's right ear as she stood five feet away from the target. Six stitches were required to close the wound.

"Gotta give my wife a sporting chance, too," Baacke said.

Mrs. Small Files to Divorce Dentist

DETROIT (UP)—A suppressed divorce suit has been filed on behalf of Mrs. Edith S. Small against Dr. Kenneth B. Small, the acquitted slayer of his wife's suitor.

Mrs. Small filed the suit last Thursday, the day after the Detroit dentist was freed from Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane. Details of the suit will not be made public until proceedings reach open court.

Dr. Small shot and killed Jules Lack of New York last May 29 at a Lake Michigan summer home where Lack and Mrs. Small were weekend with other house guests.

The 31-year-old dentist was found innocent of the slaying by reason of insanity. Last week he was found sane and released.

Patrols 'Mercy' Flight Aids Sweltering Troops

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP)—The Highway Patrol, which is always running mercy missions for others, flew one of its own to help the troopers beat the heat. After authorization of a change in uniform, sports shirts for troopers to replace their heavy wool blouses arrived by air in Oklahoma City.

At dawn the next day, two Highway Patrol planes took off to deliver the shirts to the district headquarters where they were distributed to troopers in the field.

All troopers were wearing the light-weight short-sleeved shirts by nightfall.

Rita's Daughter to Receive Part of Aga's Estate

LOS ANGELES (UP)—The papers are not yet signed but an attorney says Rita Hayworth's 5-year-old daughter, Yasmin, will inherit "a very substantial amount" from the vast fortune of her grandfather, Aga Khan.

This will come about, attorney Bartley Crum said yesterday, after Miss Hayworth and Yasmin's father, Aly Khan, sign and legalize an agreement on custody and support of the youngster.

He said that under Moslem law Yasmin then will "officially and irrevocably become the heiress to a one-fifth share of her father's fortune, and he will inherit from the Aga Khan."

Crum, who represents Miss Hayworth, declined to estimate the possible amount in dollars and said the financial arrangements will be confidential between the parties. The agreement now nearing completion will be submitted to the Nevada court which gave Miss Hayworth her divorce from Aly Khan.

The actress and her present husband, singer Dick Haymes, are now in Glenbrook, Nev.

Firemen Need Practice

MAQUOKETA, Iowa (UP)—The volunteer fire department says the firemen need some old buildings which they may set ablaze in order to practice new fire-fighting methods.

Nurse Awarded $5,000 for Filly

Late Employer Gave Racing Horse to Her in Lieu of Pay Raise

MEDIA, Pa. (AP)—A nurse for the late Samuel D. Riddle, well-known turfman, has been awarded $5,000 in settlement for a horse Riddle gave her in lieu of a pay raise.

President Judge E. Leroy van Roden of Delaware County Orphans court approved the award to Miss Edythe Mills yesterday.

Her attorney told the court that Riddle asked Miss Mills to take the horse, a grey filly, when she asked for a pay raise.

Miss Mills said she chose the horse in late 1950 at Riddle's breeding and training farm at Lexington, Ky. She said a trainer was ordered to prepare the horse for racing at no cost to her.

Riddle died in January, 1951, leaving an estate of three million dollars. The executors of the estate sold the horse for $6,000 in August of that year.

John Carradine Asks Divorce, Claims Infidelity

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor John Carradine asks a divorce from actress Sonia Sorel, accusing her of numerous infidelities.

Neglect of their three children and appearances before guests in her underclothing also were alleged in the suit filed yesterday in superior court by Carradine.

He asked for custody of the children. The couple wed after the 1944 breakup of Carradine's marriage to Ardanelle McCool.

Miss Sorel is the daughter of socially prominent Henry R. Henius of Burlingame, Calif. She is 31, Carradine 48.

Gotham Health Board Proposes Fluoridation

NEW YORK (AP)—The Board of Health has recommended adding fluorides to New York City's water supply to reduce tooth decay among children and adults.

It was estimated that one million dollars would be needed to install fluoridation equipment, and the cost of operation and supplies thereafter would be $680,000 to $800,000 a year.

Before fluoridation can be started, it must also be approved by the City Council's Committee on Health and Education and the Board of Estimate must provide the funds.

GI Money to Provide Korean Hospital Beds

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—U.S. servicemen in this area have contributed more than $150,000 to provide 400 additional hospital beds for Koreans.

Money raised during the five-month drive will build, enlarge or equip seven hospitals, the Army said today.

Pusan, a city of more than one million, has only 15 beds in general civilian hospitals. In addition there are 45 beds for children and 30 maternity cases, the Army said.

Ike to Dedicate 2 Laboratories

Bureau of Standards Facilities Are Located in Boulder, Colo.

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—President Eisenhower travels here today from the summer White House in nearby Denver to dedicate the seven million dollar laboratories of the federal government's Bureau of Standards.

The President was scheduled to speak briefly and informally at the ceremonies. Also attending were Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Dr. Allen V. Astin, director of the bureau.

The ceremonies mark completion of the nation's largest radio research laboratory, which cost about four million dollars. Also being dedicated is a three million-dollar laboratory which was completed two and a half years ago by the Bureau of Standards for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Much of the work at both laboratories is classified as top secret.

A statement by the Commerce department, parent agency of the Bureau of Standards, describes the AEC project as a cyrogenic laboratory specializing in experimental work in extremely low temperatures—ranging down to 450 degrees below zero.

The new radio research laboratory is designed for study of the ionosphere, the electrically charged gas layer high in the earth's atmosphere.

U.S. Jury Quizzes Associate of White

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury yesterday questioned Harold Glasser, former Treasury employee who once refused to answer more than 100 questions of a Senate subcommittee on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

He was closeted with the grand jury for three hours.

Glasser, who resigned in 1947, was for a time director of the Treasury Department's Monetary Research Division. Atty. Gen. Brownell has said he was a close associate of the late Harry Dexter White, named by Brownell as a Soviet spy.

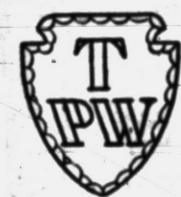

Glasser's refusal to talk about possible Communist associations came in a 1953 appearance before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

Charge Thwarted Bride Set Fire to In-Law's Home

TOKYO (AP)—Teisaburo Fukuda refused his son permission to marry a 27-year-old Japanese girl but that didn't quench the blaze ignited by her love. It required the fire department.

O'Dwyer Contests $9,699 Tax Claim

WASHINGTON (AP)—William O'Dwyer, former Democratic mayor of New York, contends that "political and other ulterior considerations" are back of a $9,699 federal income tax claim against him.

A suit filed on his behalf in the U.S. Tax Court yesterday disclosed the Internal Revenue Service has filed a claim for that amount against O'Dwyer and his former wife, Sloan Simpson, for the years of 1949 and 1950.

O'Dwyer's petition, filed by his brother, New York attorney Paul O'Dwyer, contested a government claim that he had underpaid his income for the two years. It said there had been only an inadvertent omission of $155 in dividends received by the former Mrs. O'Dwyer.

Don't Spare the Rod-- Double It, Solve Problem

This is an artful little curtain, designed to solve problems. It's hung from rings on a rod, cafe curtain-style at the top, and smooths down its airy folds with rings on a rod against the bottom.

A desk top can fit right under a window when the curtaining is styled like this. The curtain can be the weight needed, heavy enough to filter in very little light, or sheer to control only the strongest rays, but either way, anyone working at the desk suffers no discomfort in facing the light.

Because the curtain is set inside the window frame and is anchored there, no playful folds drift across the working area or whip in the breeze. This same double-rod styling can be the answer to curtaining a door so the fabric does not catch as the door is closed, and it's an idea for the narrow glass panels on either side of an entrance door or for the window on a stair landing.

Better to Judge Him Yourself

Reader Wants to Know If Date with 'Stranger' Is Right

By EMILY POST
A business girl writes: "About two weeks ago while standing on the corner one morning waiting for the bus, a young man, who often waits on this same corner, spoke to me. The conversation was about the bus service, which seemed to be delayed on that particular morning.

He was very friendly and it seemed natural to talk to him. We talked all the way to town on general subjects, including where each of us worked. When I got off at my stop, he tipped his hat and said that he was glad the bus had been delayed.

I saw him again last week and he asked me to have lunch with him. As I had another engagement for that day, I thanked him and declined. If he asks me again, may I have lunch with this stranger, about who I know nothing except that he is very pleasant and seems a perfect gentleman?"

In the slang of today, this may be called a "pick-up" which certainly is not supposed to be approved by etiquette. On the other hand, you are a business woman, and, therefore, supposed to be a fairly good judge of whether a man is a gentleman or not. Also, since he has told you who he is and where he works, which you can verify easily if you care to, I see no great harm in your lunching with him.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon at an evening wedding. The men in the wedding party will wear tuxedos. My fiancé thinks that he and the best man should wear white ties with their tuxedos to set them apart from the ushers. Will you please tell me if this is correct?

A white tie with tuxedo would be unthinkable. They could wear white flowers in their buttonholes and the ushers none.

Dear Mrs. Post: Are shot gloves correct with an evening dress, or must they always be long?

Either are correct but I think long gloves look better.

Promptly Remove Paint From Clothes

The best time to remove paint from clothing is as soon as it is splattered or rubbed on. The local laundry can remove paint on clothing but it is best to dab the spotted area with turpentine before it is sent.

Be careful with the turpentine, however. It may harm the fabric. To see whether it does, apply the solvent to some hidden area like a hem, shirt-tail or inner cuff before going after the unwanted paint spots.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

Either say you will or say you won't. The person who is vague about his plans when they involve others may make things easy for himself but at the expense of others. So whether you are discussing whether or not you will drop by to see the Joneses tonight or go shopping with Mrs. Smith tomorrow, make up your mind.

Either "yes" or "no"—but not "maybe."

Plan for the city spotlights a novel treatment. The collar is the cutaway pinned model. The tie is a representative repp pattern in dark tones.

Taking Medicine Easy, Pleasant With New Drugs

"Taking your medicine" is no longer the unpleasant task it used to be. For drugs nowadays come in various sizes, forms and flavors that make them as easy as possible for the patient to use.

Only the doctor can decide which dosage form of a drug is best for a specific illness but he does take into consideration the patient's ease, taste and convenience.

For example, many antibiotics are prepared as flavored liquids—penicillin comes in peach, tetracycline in raspberry—to taste as much like candy and be readily accepted by children.

Sugar-coated tablets and capsules are two other easy-to-take forms that the adult patient can painlessly swallow.

When a doctor wants a high blood level of a drug quickly—usually with hospitalized patients—he may inject it directly into a vein.

For out-patients this concentration was almost impossible to obtain with any wide-range antibiotic. Recently the situation was remedied with the development of an intramuscular form of tetracycline, which gives the proper quantity in a simple manner.

Troches are good for high concentration of a drug in local mouth or throat infections. They dissolve slowly, giving prolonged contact between the medication and the infected area.

On the other hand, some tablets are designed to dissolve very quickly when placed in liquid—excellent for use in infant formulas.

The modern pharmaceutical laboratories work constantly to equip the doctor with drugs that are the most medically effective—and the most pleasant for the patient.

Invisible Legs Give Furniture Unearthly Look

PARIS (INS)—Furniture with an unearthly Salvador Dali look is the latest craze among young Parisian interior decorators.

The mystery touch is given by fitting transparent legs of plastic material to tables, desks and chairs.

The resulting effect is uncanny—the furniture seems to be floating on air.

One Paris decorator has furnished a room with colored, cushioned chairs, a black-topped table and a metallic desk, all standing on transparent legs.

Another interior decorating novelty is an egg-shaped fireplace.

It's cut open in half—like a sliced hard-boiled egg. The lower shell stands on four legs, while the upper half is held about 2 feet higher supported by the stovepipe.

Made of black cast-iron, it uses either coal or wood.

Placed in the center of a room, it serves to bring people together around it campfire fashion.

Still another Paris-designed table is composed, like a puzzle, of several parts. Small, square and triangular tables, each fitted with legs, can be hooked together to form one large family-size dining table.

Individually, each table can be used for tea, or again fitted to form different patterns to be placed in a corner or used as a bar or U-shaped table.

Plan for a solid color suit favors stripes and small checked pattern shirts. Spaced pattern silk neckwear lend a dramatic contrast.

Darker Clothing Pointed Up With Gay Shirts, Ties

Emphasis on darker clothing for fall has resulted in much greater use of light colors and fancy models in shirts. Along with solid colors, club stripes on Oxford cloth, hairline stripes on fine broadcloth, small pin stripes on different shaded grounds coordinated dramatically with the dark greys, black-browns and dark blues are found in suits for fall. Many shirts spotlight the medium spread shorter point collar. French cuffs provide greater use of unusual cuff links.

For men who like to incorporate novel ideas in their wardrobe, regular shirts, ties and sports shirts are coordinated, using the same color in some area. A black crest insignia on the shirt is carried out in the back ground of the tie.

The cross stripe bosom shirt is one of the season's fancy styles. The stripes are shown against a white ground. The pink stripe against white offers a handsome contrast to darker fall suits. The shirt back is in a vertical stripe, in contrast to the cross stripe front.

Stripes and small checked pattern shirt accentuate solid tone suits. The spread collar of medium proportions and the rolled button down collar are among the popular models.

Fall neckwear uses many new tones which lend a dramatic effect to the dark fall suits. A new color that is expected to be seen in many urban centers is, helio. This shade is shown in a variety of patterns. Other fall neckwear features simple designs, spaced patterns and group stripes.

Our Monroe County fairs were so exciting that I doubt if I or any of my crowd would have had time to spare for a beauty-contest or celebrity-ogling. I had a pass because my papa was a fair director and I was there every one of the four days from early morning until the gate closed. It was all thrilling—first riding in grandly with Papa and nothing to pay, then the merry-go-round with its galloping horses, and finally sody-pop, ice cold from the bottle, pink and white cotton candy, taffy in greased paper. All year I saved egg money and gifts from uncles.

Pre-fair days were frenzied, for everybody was making something to show. "I don't know what was the matter with that last batch of floss," you'd hear. Or, "My angel food fell flat as a pancake. Must be the stove."

Floral Hall held a magnificent array of emerald, topaz and amethyst jellies that had been strained through flour sacks and jelled in clear glass, loaves of bread with delicate brown crust, rolls that were poems of fine-grained perfection. As for cakes, in Monroe County lived undoubtedly the champion cake-bakers of the world—Miss Sade, Miss Kate and My Aunt Mame.

Be Prepared With Reply to Question

It Doesn't Hurt To Have Answer for Emergency

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD
I'm not keen on crossing bridges before you come to them. But it doesn't do any harm to look around and see what kinds of bridges there are to cross. Pays to be prepared if there's a toll.

Which is why lots of girls begin doing a lot of thinking about going steady before they've even started to date around. They wonder what they're going to do and say if some boy pops the big question. And that's what's on this girl's mind. She writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm just starting high school and I realize that my dates will be getting more and more serious and I might some day be asked to go steady. But I don't want to! I want to meet different types of boys so I can be sure when the time comes that I'm marrying the right man. Maybe that's old-fashioned, but it's what I want.

"I know I'll undoubtedly find a boy in high school that I will like very much—one I'll want to continue to go out with. If I refuse to go steady with him, he might get the wrong impression. He might think I can't be bothered with him. What can I say so he won't be hurt and drop me flat?"

Theoretical as all this is, there's no time like right now for getting ready to party an invitation that might come your way. The chances are that it will, and it can be embarrassing all around, if you still feel then as you feel now.

It might be safer to start out your dating so that the question doesn't get asked. This means maintaining a casual but friendly and utterly unromantic relationship with all of the boys you meet and date. Like them very much—but don't fall for anybody, and try to keep the boys from getting romantic notions about you. When one begins to think things are pretty special between you, date someone else to change the atmosphere.

But if the question should be popped despite your efforts to ward it off, how 'bout this (or any part of it) for an answer?

"What a nice compliment! You're sweet to like me that much. I like you too—ever so much. But I've wondered about this going steady stuff. It's so horrible when it stops—somebody always gets hurt! And there are so many misunderstandings all the time! One of us might have to have a date with somebody else (friend of the family or something) and the other would be so cross. One of us might get to expecting too much of the other. I don't know, but I think I'd rather be with you because I knew you really wanted to see me and not because we had a sort of arrangement. It wouldn't be fair to you either. Maybe we ought to wait and think it over some more. I want to do what is fairest to you—so let's go along as we are until we decide. How 'bout that?"

Chili Gives Pork Chops Added Zest

Mrs. Dean Fidler's Recipe Is Excellent Fall Meal

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor.
An excellent way to fix pork chops for cool fall-eating comes to us from Mrs. Dean Fidler. She uses a chili mixture to give added interest to the chops.

Because her daughter is a member of the Girl Scout troop at Hickory Grove School, Mrs. Fidler is one of the troop's sponsors. She and her husband are enthusiastic about square dancing and the whole family roller skates.

CHILI PORK CHOPS
By Mrs. Dean Fidler

Brown pork chops in a small amount of fat. Place in roaster. Slice one small onion over chops. Combine 1 can tomato paste and 1 can water (or 1 small can tomatoes cut up). Add chili powder to taste. Pour over chops and onions. Add mushrooms if desired. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

Bake in a 350-375 degree oven until tender. The length of time will vary with the thickness of the chops, enough chili mixture is given to cover 6-8 chops.

Busy, Happy Baby Not Troublesome

If baby is kept happily busy, there's less chance that he'll get into trouble. It's important to see to it that he has a variety of things to do since he'll tire quickly of any one activity. And active play should be varied by quiet play if baby is not to get tired out.

Fairs Have Changed, Not for Better

Yoshida Called for Questioning

Jap Prime Minister to Ignore Summons From Diet Committee

TOKYO (AP)—An opposition-led Diet committee, in an unprecedented action, today summoned Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida to appear tomorrow for questioning in connection with a shipbuilding kick-back scandal.

The 76-year-old Prime Minister indicated he would ignore the summons.

An administration spokesman said Yoshida had no intention of postponing his world tour scheduled to start about Sept. 26.

The Prime Minister is not involved personally in the reports of big kickbacks from shipbuilding companies in return for subsidies and favorable legislation. Some high members of Yoshida's Liberal party have been linked with the scandal, however.

The summons was issued by the Audit Committee of the House of Representatives, which is controlled by opposition members. One Liberal member voted in favor of the summons and was promptly expelled from the party, a spokesman said.

No Japanese Prime Minister ever has been called as a witness before a standing committee.

If Yoshida fails to appear without a "justifiable reason" he faces possible fine or a jail term.

A Soviet veto in the Security Council has blocked 14 of the applicants. The others have failed to win the necessary seven votes in the 11-member council. New members must be recommended by the Security Council before the 60-nation Assembly can pass on them.

Five-Year-Old Takes First School Day In Stride

ONCE IN A LIFETIME—Jackie Wittkopf, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wittkopf of 791 Cameron St., Pontiac, joined 12,000 other Oakland County youngsters Monday in their first day of school. A kindergartner at Emerson School, Jackie attends the morning session with 44 other five-year-olds. This class size is duplicated in the afternoon. Left photo, 6:30 a. m. as he descends the stairs to face the big day of his life. Center, Mrs. Wittkopf straightens his collar and gives him last minute pointers on behavior becoming to a new kindergartner. At the right, Jackie bids his mother goodbye at the door, fortified by older brother, Larry, aged 7, who has promised to escort him to his right room, show him where to hang his coat and point out some of the other boys and girls who will be in his class. Jackie enjoyed the same pre-school orientation provided for all five-year-olds today in a modern education program. The schools hold pre-school conferences with mothers and fathers, distribute literature which tells about the child's beginning in school and invites the future-kindergartner to school in the spring before he comes to school.

A BEAD FOR THE TEACHER—Jackie's new teacher, Miss Eleanore Eurich, is new at this business, too, she confided in him. This is her first job in Pontiac. Telling him how to select colors and shapes, Miss Eurich is shown getting acquainted with her new student. Assisting Miss Eurich with her first day's program was Mrs. Ruth Waite, principal of Emerson School. She finds that each new kindergartner class is also her concern. Working with the new teachers in developing a coordinated school program, Mrs. Waite often takes over in the classroom during the school year.

PLACE FOR EVERYTHING—"You will share this locker with David," said Miss Eurich in showing Jackie that in kindergarten there are certain rules and regulations all must follow, and sharing is one of their first lessons.

FIL WALK YOU HOME—Five years old is not too young to learn chivalry, decided Jackie Wittkopf. He walked his fellow student and neighbor, Ellen Sue Hayward home from their first day of school Monday.

Kindergartner's First-Day

By HAZEL A. TRUMBULL

It was a day of joy, laughter and an occasional tear. It was a day filled with stomach butterflies and stars in the eyes.

It was a day which comes but once in a lifetime to each and every child in the nation—the first day of school.

It happened to five-year-old Jackie Wittkopf, 791 Cameron St., Pontiac at the Emerson School Monday; it happened to 12,000 other Oakland County five-year-olds too.

From the time of remembrance, every child talks of the beginning of school and their first day in kindergarten. They approach the threshold of this new era of independence filled with hope, keen anticipation, and secretly, a few misgivings.

Thanks to modern education, boys and girls today have been pre-oriented to this new life they will lead for the next 13 years. Contemporary educators believe in preparedness.

Hence the pre-kindergarten conferences, mothers' teas and the complete pre-school literature that goes into every future kindergartner's home. These booklets are written around individual school programs so the youngsters can feel right at home in their new surroundings.

There are physical examinations and dental check-ups. There are family talks and the last minute quest for the birth certificate to prove that he/she is or will be five before Dec. 1 of this year which is the generally accepted deadline for kindergarten acceptance.

Jackie Wittkopf's first-day was just like the others. He awoke a whole hour before he generally did (6:30 a. m.), tried awfully hard to remember the things he had been told for so long would happen to him on this day.

Mom and Dad said: "Eat a good breakfast. Brush your teeth. Tighten up that shoe lace. Keep your shirt tucked in and remember to smile to the children you don't know. You can help someone else's first day at school by being friendly."

At school, he found 44 other youngsters. All sitting in scaled-to-size chairs. Some were gay, others sat very quietly and watched and still others shed tears at the newness of the experience. There were mothers, too, and for some reason a few looked like they were ready to cry.

And there was a new teacher—a Miss Eleanore Eurich. She was young and pretty and said that they would have fun together, learn together and should share the toys and books. They were taught how to sit with their legs crossed (just like Indians), how to lock their lips and throw away the key and then it was time to go home.

Shortly after 11 a. m., Mrs. Wittkopf asked the question asked by thousands of mothers Monday and for generations before. "And how was your first day in kindergarten?"

Mustering the nonchalance of five many years, Jackie replied, "Nothing to it really. Boy, am I hungry."

Cheaper Super-Heat is Goal of Atomic Research

(On this second article of five on "Atoms for Peace," two distinguished scientists tell what Americans can expect from the "atomic furnace" of the future—the production of cheap, super-heat capable of changing the face of the earth and revolutionizing industry and transportation.)

By EDWIN DIAMOND

CHICAGO (INS)—A physicist has a simple way to convey the real implications behind the technical-sounding "breeders" and "reactors" that produce atomic power. He calls nuclear energy "cheap super-heat."

And, given time and opportunity for private development, he believes this cheap heat can:

1. Help irrigate vast dry regions like Lower California by transforming nearby salt water into fresh water.
2. Generate low-cost electricity on a large scale for factories and homes.
3. Produce power to run factory turbines and generators.
4. Spark propulsion motors for sea-going vessels, locomotives and eventually aircraft.

The physicist, Dr. Samuel K. Allison, director of the Institute of Nuclear Studies at the University of Chicago, is a scientist and not a seer.

But, asked about the future peacetime uses of atomic energy, he said:

"Speaking in practical, everyday terms, the atom could mean bigger heads of lettuce in California's Imperial Valley, reduced house heating bills for the average home owner, nuclear-powered merchant ships capable of carrying more payload longer distances on a non-stop basis, and new unprecedented power supplies for fuel-starved nations.

Dr. Enrico Fermi, Nobel prize winner in physics and a colleague of Dr. Allison, added a few possibilities of his own:

Atom-electricity cities completely heated and lighted by nuclear-produced power—and therefore smoke-free.

Nuclear-propelled airplanes capable of carrying 1,000 passengers. All this is possible—and not too far in the future—said Dr. Allison, because of nuclear reactors. He likened the reactor to an eternally glowing volcano, explaining:

"A reactor can be a never-ending source of power, consuming so little fuel that this figure is inconsequential in cost calculations.

"But on this tiny consumption of uranium fuel, it can glow, so to speak, for centuries, producing steam heat which in turn becomes electric power."

Dr. Allison is convinced the "whole scale of peacetime uses of atomic energy" will be determined by generation of power from these fission furnaces.

The task of developing atomic furnaces for the United States has been assigned to Argonne National Laboratory in Lemont, Ill., near Chicago.

Argonne scientists have produced a series of nuclear reactors which Dr. Hillberry says "makes the original reacting pile look like a Model-T."

Though conservative by nature, Dr. Hillberry gave an unrestrained opinion of the Argonne reactor program—"spectacular."

Sketching the stranger-than-science-fiction progress in the development of reactors and breeders, he told of:

Such simple things as bigger heads of lettuce. Such happy things as smoke-free cities . . . Such amazing things as 1,000-passenger airplanes . . .

This is only the smallest hint of things to come through "atoms for peace"—the full application and utilization of atomic energy for the betterment of mankind.

In the accompanying article, one of a series of five, experts give you a closer look at this potential bright new world, and what it holds for mankind.

An Argonne-built reactor which generated the first electric power from nuclear fission at the National Reactor Testing Station in Arco, Idaho—producing light for a building.

An Argonne-Oak Ridge, Tenn., designed reactor propulsion unit to be installed in the submarine Nautilus in time for tests at sea this year.

A reactor to generate enough by-product heat for the entire Hartford, Wash., AEC installation at an estimated annual fuel saving which will pay for the project's cost in seven years.

Latest development in Argonne's line of atomic power models is the spectacular "EBR"—experimental breeder reactor—which produces more precious nuclear fuel than it consumes in the process of generating power!

It is like putting a nickel into a soft drink dispenser and getting a drink and six cents back at the same time. Or, in scientific terms:

With "EBR" it is possible to use all the uranium ore found in natural state (U238) on the earth's surface—rather than just the seven-tenths of one per cent "pure" uranium (U235) found in the ground.

With this one development, our fission fuel supply is increased 140 times.

What about the peacetime uses of these reactor and breeder energy producers?

Hillberry sees a boon for shipping nations like Norway and England in the small-size, sea-going thermal reactor.

Hillberry also described the atom-powered locomotive designed by his friend Dr. Lyle Borst, formerly of Chicago and Utah Universities and now of New York University.

Dr. Borst has drawn up plans for a "water boiler" reactor which would run on uranium fuel. Also in the blueprint stage is a central station nuclear power plant to produce a minimum of 60,000 kilowatts of electricity for the Duquesne Light Company of Pennsylvania.

The plant, to be built near Shippenburg, Pa., outside of Pittsburgh, will provide power for factories and homes.

The reactor will use a uranium fuel core to "superheat" water and make generator-turning steam.

Further in the future is the atom-powered airplane. At Oak Ridge, Tenn., a "lower shielded" facility has been erected to study the radiation "scatterings" thrown off from reactors suspended in the air.

Dr. Fermi, who has predicted atomic airplanes capable of carrying 1,000 passengers non-stop around the world, has cautioned that a feasible reactor shield must be found to absorb the radiation.

Here, according to the best sources, is what Americans can expect from this atom-powered airplane:

It will fly faster than sound and higher than most radar instruments can "see."

It will travel around the world non-stop several times with no need to refuel—and always under cover of darkness since it would easily outpace the sun.

Lady Godiva Takes Her Ride
at Universal

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Today Universal City will be harder to get into than Oak Ridge, Tenn. The reason: Lady Godiva is taking her ride.
Sound like a publicity stunt? Could be. But Universal-International Studios is playing it very straight-faced.
Last week a memo went out to all departments. "Gate officers have been instructed to honor no passes on this date (14) and all regular studio tours have been canceled." The edict added that the studio's back lot would be "off limits" to all workers except those connected with the picture, "Lady Godiva of Coventry."

You'd think they were demonstrating a secret weapon or something. On second thought, maybe they are.
Her name is Maureen O'Hara, but she wouldn't go along with the studio's gag. Not Maureen, who has an innate Irish modesty to curb her even if the Johnston office didn't put up barriers.
But first we'll let Arthur Lubin, the director, have his say, although

I must warn you that Maureen's version and Arthur's do not agree. Says Lubin, a little puckishly: "I plan to shoot the scene as sort of a strip tease. I'll show a little leg, then a little shoulder and so forth. Actually, it will be in the best of taste."

"When I discussed the ride with Maureen and her agent, both were horrified. But I argued that we would be cheating the public if we used a double or tried to fake it. She finally gave in."
"She'll wear as little as we can get away with. A fig leaf here and there. The saddle will come up high in back, and her back will be bare. Her hair will cover up the bare essentials."

(Stick around for the O'Hara version!)
I asked Lubin what advice he had received from the Johnston office.
"Oh, they wanted the whole thing done by shadows on the wall," he replied. "Shadows on the wall? We couldn't do that to the public. People will expect the ride, and we'll give it to them, even though it will occupy only a small part of the picture."
"As a matter of fact, the Johnston office didn't want the picture made. Many times in the past, they have turned down titles with 'Lady Godiva' in them."
Now comes Miss O'Hara, in a full-length costume, with red hair—most of it belonging to the studio—streaming down her back about four feet.

She confessed, with no relish, that she was getting ready for G-Day.
What about those fig leaves and such, I asked.
"Fig leaves!" she exclaimed. "Do you know what will be between me and the outer air? A leotard, that's what!"
A leotard is a close-fitting seamless garment. You've seen 'em on acrobats. If you've ever been to a circus. Of course, Miss O'Hara's will be flesh colored.
"A girl must preserve her modesty," said Maureen. "An actress may not always maintain dignity, but she can be modest."

'Y' Fun Club
Workers Enjoy
Trip to Camp

Volunteer workers and leaders of the Pontiac YMCA, who gave six weeks of their summer to the "Y's" Summer Fun Club, were rewarded with a weekend at Camp Hayo-Went-Ha at Central Lake City on Torch Lake.

Instructors who joined the group for a vacation and as camp staff, were: Harvey Griswold, craft shop instructor, George Balch, boys' and girls' director, Don Porritt, swimming instructor, and his family, Floyd Wainwright, physical director, and his family, and Maureen Season, craft shop instructor.

Members of the Fun Club staff were: James Cornforth, Roger Klair, Terry Tolson, Dennis Simonson, Dick Willard, Ruth Tower, Marcelene Dennis, Kay Walser, Carol Penn, Dorothy Ostrander, Sandra Filer, and Joy Netch.

They were joined at the camp by seven "Y" Adult Club members, Delwin Richardson, Jean Widdie, Barbara Stout, Marian Cannon, Marilyn Main, Donald Remington, and Ken Huttala.

The groups entertained themselves with song fests, boating, square dancing, swimming, horseback riding, and other outdoor activities, according to Balch.

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Pentagon sounded its annual warning today that Christmas parcels to servicemen overseas should be mailed between Oct. 15 and Nov. 15.

All the articles normally banned from the mails are contraband for overseas shipment, plus two others — lighterfluid and matches of all kinds.

Tallulah Seeks Raves for Her Nice Shoulders

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Tallulah Bankhead—away from the Broadway stage for five years—returns to it next week, and I suppose it's natural that The Wham from Alabama is anticipating rave notices for a white dress she will be wearing, more or less, in the third act.

"It was a red dress that got all the attention when we played in summer stock, darling," Tallulah told me in her Elysee suite, "and it usually got a hand."

"Why?" I asked, idiot-like.
"I suppose my bones looked good in it when I came down those stairs," Tallulah replied, sipping coffee, as it was early.

"I hope your bones will look good in the white number," I said.

"Honey, you're usually safe with a white dress!" Tallulah meant by that remark, I dared to believe, that a white dress is a sure man-catcher. "But I always have a red one ready for the second night, just in case, darling."

"But what is it about the dress?" I asked.
Tallulah was very lady-like. She didn't even give me a look that said, "Why it was me, you damned fool!" She merely said, "I have nice shoulders and I show them."

And so "The Body" MacDonald, "Legs" Dietrich, and all those other anatomically-nomenclatured stars will give way now to "Shoulders" Bankhead in her new play, "Dear Charles." Get ready, men.

"Will there be any chance for a feud of any kind in this play?" I inquired.
"Who've I ever feuded with? Those were bloody lies! Bette Davis! I didn't know her well enough to fight with her." "Will you give up TV?"
"Of course not, darling! But it's just like being shot out of a cannon. It's a mechanical thing and I don't understand it. With the theater, they take you or leave you . . . and I hope they'll take me."

"But you told me you'd never play Broadway again?"
"Sure, darling, and I said I'd never marry again, too! I quit Broadway because I was a lazy girl. Now I'm restless."

"Will you be going to night clubs much?"
"You know I don't go to night clubs, darling. The papers had me over at one club playing the drums every night. I never touched a drum in my life, darling."

Tallulah had a cold—and an appointment to do a radio interview along with Willie Mays—so I felt I'd better let her rest. She had been chain-smoking, and I said, "You don't seem to be very scared about smoking cigarettes."

"Oh, good Lord, darling," she burst out, "I'm ready to go when my time comes—and I hope I go with a cigarette in my hand."

Gen. Douglas MacArthur—who's lost 40 pounds—told a friend, "Old generals DO fade away" . . . The air compressors' union is having an internal struggle. Over which member gets to blow Marilyn Monroe's dress over her head for "The 7 Year Itch" here.

President Eisenhower's friends are concerned because he doesn't respond to rest like he once did. But he'll not slacken his work . . . A new nylon (the shaggiest yet: 72-10) sells for $5.10 a pr. . . Frank Sinatra, suffering throat trouble, went to Palm Springs to rest. . . El Morocco's big fall reopening saw Eleanor Holm with Bernie Kamber, Anita Colby with Charles Cushing, and many socialites.

Serge Rubinstein's rented Errol Flynn's Beverly Hills home at $550 a month . . . Bandleader Kirby Stone and Nick Condos almost came to blows over a contract hassle . . . Pretty Martha Hyer (of Ft. Worth) is in the film, "Down Three Dark Streets."

Today's Best Laugh: A cynic's guy who insists that some Hollywood marriages must be made in Heaven—"cause there's no earthly reason for 'em."

Wish I'd Said That: "If Patrick Henry thought taxation was bad without representation, he should see it with representation."—Harry Sosnik . . . That's earl, brother.

But Material Is Good

Wilkinson Says Sooner Eleven Is Overrated

KANSAS CITY (U)—Just about the time Oklahoma was picked as the nation's No. 2 team in pre-season calculations, Sooner Coach Bud Wilkinson declared in effect: "It isn't so."

Wilkinson called this year's version of the perennial Big Seven champions "the most overrated team" ever produced by the school and suggested the people who pick Oklahoma on top "are considering us the same team as last year."

The Sooners, however, still have plenty of the material that found them rated fourth nationally at the end of last season, along with an Orange Bowl victory over No. 1, Maryland.

Powerful ends Max Boydston and Carl Allison still are on the line and in the backfield are veterans Gene Calame, quarterback; Buddy Leake and Bob Herndon, halfbacks and Bob Burris, fullback.

Oklahoma was picked as the second best team in the pre-season Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters, behind Notre Dame.

The Sooners open Saturday in a nationally televised game with California at Berkeley—the team rated 12th in the AP poll.

At Kansas, Coach Chuck Mather shifted five second stringers to the varsity and said he expected Bud Laughlin and John Handley, two of his three ailing fullbacks, in the lineup against Texas Christian Saturday.

Coach Dal Ward replaced sophomore ends Les Lotz and Wally Meyer at Colorado with Lamar Meyer, a service-returned junior, and sophomore Ken Schlager.

Coach Vince di Francesca rested his Iowa State squad after a light morning workout and scheduled a rough drill today. The Cyclones play South Dakota State at Ames Saturday.

At Kansas State, which meets Colorado A & M this weekend, there was only a light workout. There were five lineup changes at Nebraska, which will not open its schedule until Sept. 25. Missouri also will wait until Sept. 25 for its opener.

Experts Expect Title Bout to Be Short, Explosive

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (U)—Boxing insiders, gathered here from near and far for the Rocky Marciano-Ezzard Charles heavyweight title fight tomorrow night at Yankee Stadium, envision a short and explosive battle.

The general viewpoint of boxers, managers, trainers, and promoters was more or less summed up by Charles Johnston, manager of champions Archie Moore and Sandy Saddler.

"I think Charles will tear out and try for a quick knockout," said Johnston. "He'll probably shoot the works in an effort to cut Rocky's eye like he did in the first fight and try and put him away."

"If he doesn't get Rocky in six, he's going to get flattened himself," said Johnston.

The majority opinion, too, was that if there was going to be any flattening, Rocky would be the guy to do it.

Charles himself has indicated from time to time during his training that he planned to go right after the champion. Others have said that and done things a lot differently when the bell rang.

"I'm going to try and make these combinations work," said Charles after finishing his training in a four-round boxing drill yesterday at Kutscher's Country Club. "I know I've got to put punches together and use more power. I had him hurt in the early rounds and I know I should have thrown more artillery at him."

If Charles gets off fast, Marciano plans to be ready.

"I've got a good 15-round fight under my belt now," said the 30-year-old champion. "I think my timing is much better now than the last time. I want to get off faster because I know he might try something early."

While Charles completed his training with a boxing drill, Rocky contented himself with some light exercise and road work yesterday. Both left their Catskill Mountain training camps today and went into seclusion in New York.

With the fight close at hand, there was a reported spurt in betting, mostly on a knockout. The odds are 5-12 that Rocky stops the 33-year-old ex-champion.

If you like Charles to win on a kayo, the odds are 6-1. On the outcome itself, the odds favoring the undefeated Brockton Blaster have moved up to 1-5.

Prospects of a punching bee and a U.S. weather bureau forecast of "mostly fair and warm for Wednesday night sharpened interest in the Yankee Stadium clash.

Promoter Jim Norris said that hurricanes Carol and Edna hurt the advance sales slightly.

"We've got about $250,000 in now," he said late yesterday as the box office did a brisk business.

"We're geared to do $250,000 to $300,000 on the last day if the interest develops. We sold around 20,000 tickets the last day (June 17) for a total of about $150,000."

HOW THEY STACK UP—Heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano will be slightly shorter and lighter than challenger Ezzard Charles when they meet in their title bout at Yankee Stadium, Wednesday. His younger age, however, will help make up for what the Rock lacks in weight, height, and reach in defending his crown against the ex-champ.

Miss Faulk Paces U.S. Test

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

PITTSBURGH (U)—You can't improve on perfection.

That's why defending champion Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., Mrs. Carmen Baez Castex de Conen of San Andres, Argentina, and Barbara Bruning of Armonk, talent-loaded field went into the N. Y., were standouts today as the second day of the Women's National Amateur golf championship.

Miss Faulk, playing rather poor golf, achieved perfection in one way when she won 10 straight holes to beat Mary E. Nelson of Manos, Pa., 10 and 8 in yesterday's first round at the Allegheny Country Club at Suburban Sewickley.

That's a record that can't be beaten in an 18-hole match. It hadn't been done in the women's championship since 1938, when Patty Berg won 'em all. And as far as the old-timers could remember that was the only other victory of its kind. But yesterday two others almost equalled it.

Mrs. De Conen, the short Argentine woman with the long name, won the first nine holes from Mrs. Nancy Lewis of Warren, Ohio. At this stage Mrs. Lewis was ready to walk off the course and concede, but she was prevailed upon to play the 10th and got a half in, bogey sixes.

Miss Bruning, a freckle-faced girl who wears a Wellesley blazer around the clubhouse, won nine of the first 10 from Mrs. Maitland Alexander of Sewickley, but a half on the third spoiled her perfect record.

Oddly, only one of the three, Miss Bruning, played good golf to gain those big margins.

Barbara shot the front side in 13, hitting par on every hole except the short eighth, which she birdied. That score was matched by blonde Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., in the course of an 8 and 7 victory over Mrs. John Derr of Upper Montclair, N. J., and Mrs. Marjorie Lindsay McMillen of Decatur, Ill., went them two strokes better.

The former Curtis Cup star, sinking putts from all distances and holing out from a trap on the first hole, had a 33 on the front nine, then began three-putting and finished over par to beat Mrs. George Valentine of the British Curtis Cup forces, 2 and 1.

That set up a "natural" for the third round today. The draw sent Mrs. McMillen against the winner of another of yesterday's best matches, Mrs. Grace de Moss Smith of Coral Gables, Fla. Mrs. Smith squeaked out 2 and 1 decision over Mrs. Mae Murray Jones of Rutland, Vt.

Today's program called for the winners of yesterday's first-round matches to play their second round early and then double up so the field could be reduced to 64.

NFL Re-Schedules Browns-Lions Tilt

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The National Football League, "conceding" that the Cleveland Indians are going to be in the World Series, today re-scheduled the Oct. 3 game at Municipal Stadium between the Cleveland Browns and Detroit Lions for Dec. 19, Baseball commissioner Ford Frick said last week he would not permit any large rival sports attraction to be held in the same town during a World Series date.

That set up a "natural" for the third round today. The draw sent Mrs. McMillen against the winner of another of yesterday's best matches, Mrs. Grace de Moss Smith of Coral Gables, Fla. Mrs. Smith squeaked out 2 and 1 decision over Mrs. Mae Murray Jones of Rutland, Vt.

Today's program called for the winners of yesterday's first-round matches to play their second round early and then double up so the field could be reduced to 64.

New Gopher Coach Seeks Pilot to Handle Split-T

By JERRY LISKA

MINNEAPOLIS (U)—Murray Warmath, Minnesota's new football coach, is looking for "the guy with the stiffest jaw" to direct his unprecedented split-T Gopher attack. With an able quarterback, Minnesota could be a surprise.

Warmath has installed the system he employed with distinct success at Mississippi State at a school steeped in single wing tradition.

But the 41-year-old Gopher coach has no Jackie Parker, his Mississippi State whiz, to do the flouting power tricks a split-T quarterback is supposed to do.

He well might have used Minnesota's superb halfback Paul Giel, who finished last season, to handle the job one of three quarterback hopefuls are seeking.

Warmath has Geno Capelletti, Dale Quist and Don Swanson scrap-

Tigers, Yanks Open 2-Day Set

Series Is Important to 4th-Place Hopes of Bengals

DETROIT (U)—Detroit Tigers, hanging on 4th place ropes in the American League's 1st division, open a two-day stand today against the New York Yankees.

The fast fading Yankees have all but yielded the league crown to Cleveland and have only a day's gap to make in the two remaining games. But the series is of prime importance to the Tigers.

With a sweep of a double-header from the Washington Senators Sunday, coupled with a double loss by Boston, Tigers moved back into 4th place by a slender half-game margin.

Now it is up to Detroit to protect or enlarge its advantage through the stretch run of 11 games.

After an open date Thursday, Tigers play the Indians in a three game series at the Bengals' home park. Tribe plays the final night game of the Detroit season Friday and single contests Saturday and Sunday.

Tiger manager Freddie Hutchinson is expected to start southpaw Al Aber (5-10) and right-hander George Zuverink (8-11) against the Yankees. Tom Morgan and Bob Grim are expected to pitch for New York.

Joyce Games Sought

St. Frederick coach Ken Hulslander seeks to arrange junior varsity football games for Monday afternoons. Any school with a joyvee squad interested in playing the Rams' juniors should contact Hulslander at St. Frederick's High School.

Tigers Sign Prospects to Minor League Pacts

Detroit Tiger minor league contracts have been signed by James N. Griffy, infielder from Detroit, and Douglas N. McDonald, outfielder from Millersburg, Michigan. Both worked out at Briggs Stadium and will report to Tigertown in 1935.

Griffy, a 23 year old right-handed power hitter, is a 1948 graduate of MacKenzie High School, and also played American Legion ball.

Stengel Hints He'll Be Back Next Season

Yanks May Experiment With Berra at Third, Mantle at Short

DETROIT (U)—Manager Casey Stengel, his once-unbeatable New York Yankees all but dead as far as the American League pennant chase was concerned, spoke in the dignified tones of a funeral director today.

He indicated:

1. He'd be back next year (indirectly).

2. The Cleveland Indians have won the pennant.

3. There will be some radical changes in the club in '35.

4. Cleveland will be even stronger next year.

"Maybe this will do us all some good," said the professor, who was seeking his sixth straight world's championship. "There must be an awakening. Like the Yankees of old, we'll do something."

That was his hint that he'd be back at the helm next season, although in answer to a direct question, he snapped:

"I won't talk about it because I don't have to. My contract ends this year. I can be fired by my owners. But I'm not worrying about that. I'm thinking of the club and what has to be done to improve it whether I'm here or not."

Then he went into his plans for next year and they have Yogi Berra at third base and Mickey Mantle at shortstop.

"I wouldn't hesitate to put Berra at third and Mantle at short," he said. "That is, if I can find a hitting catcher and a center fielder."

"I've got the best trading material of anyone," he snarled. "The other clubs need help much more than I do. They can't lie dead the way they did this year."

"In fact the whole league better wake up. This Cleveland team has the best pitching in the league and will be better next year when they bring up that Herb Score from Indianapolis."

That the league is completely unbalanced is obvious. Detroit the fourth-place team is 39 1/2 games behind Cleveland. Pittsburgh, the last-place team in the National League is the same distance behind the league-leading New York Giants.

Marion Appears Top Choice for Richards' Post

White Sox' Manager Reportedly Is Ready to Make Move

By JAMES DAILEY

CHICAGO (U)—Marty Marion, former manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and Browns, appears to be top choice to succeed Paul Richards as manager of the Chicago White Sox if and when Paul decides to go with the Baltimore Orioles.

The one-time star shortstop of the Cardinals currently is in direct line of ascension to the throne as Richards' No. 1 assistant and coach of the Sox.

Richards has been unable to reach an agreement on a new Sox contract, and reportedly has committed himself to the dual job of building a winning club for the Orioles as field and general manager.

In speculation over Richards' successor the names of Phil Cavarretta, Charley Dressen and George Kell, also have been mentioned.

The Sox brought Cavarretta into the American League as a utility player last May after he had been dismissed last spring as manager of the Chicago Cubs. Cavarretta, who had been with the Cubs 20 years, has become popular with the Sox fans and management after bailing out the club during a period of stress as a successful replacement for the injured first baseman Ferris Fain. Tonight has been designated Cavarretta night at Comiskey Park and he is expected to receive even more than the usual array of "day" gifts from fans.

Dressen, former Brooklyn Dodger manager, has had a fairly successful year in lifting Oakland of the Pacific Coast League into the first division.

Kell, former Detroit and Boston Red Sox star and veteran third baseman currently with the Sox, is considered by some to be ready for a shot at a managerial post.

Marion, 36, a Richburg, S. C., native joined the Cardinals in 1940 and played with them through 1950.

After managing the Cards to a third place finish in 1951 he was fired, and a few days later was signed as a player-coach by Bill Veeck, then president of the Browns. In mid-season of 1952 he succeeded Rogers Hornsby as manager. The Browns finished seventh under Marion's leadership. Marion was dismissed when the Browns became the Orioles.

Giants Flaunt Confidence, Open Series Tickets Sales

By BEN PHLEGAR

Associated Press Sports Writer Opportunity knocks tonight for the last time for the Milwaukee Braves.

The injury-riddled third-place club limps into the Polo Grounds for its last three games with the league-leading New York Giants, knowing that it's win or else.

The Giants' front office flaunted its confidence by opening public sale of world series tickets today, although the club has three games left with Brooklyn as well as the current set with Milwaukee.

The Braves move into New York in Philadelphia. They took last night's game 7-4. The Giants edged the Cardinals 1-0 in an afternoon contest, and Brooklyn wasn't scheduled. Pittsburgh shut out Cincinnati 6-5 in the only other major league action.

Catcher Del Crandall moved into the cleanup spot at Philadelphia last night and delivered three hits.

The Pirates' pitching staff which gave up 24 runs to Cincinnati in Sunday's doubleheader, achieved some revenge when pitcher Dick Littlefield singled home the winning run against the Reds last night. Ted Kluszewski's homer spree was stopped but he singled twice in four appearances.

Passing Drills Keep UM Busy

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Passing drills with the emphasis on younger squad candidates featured the opening of Michigan's 3rd week of football practice yesterday.

Sophomores Jim Maddock and Terry Barr teamed with veteran Duncan MacDonald and Lou Baldacci to do most of the tossing. Oosterbaan spent a good part of his time detailing the fine points to the younger men.

Looking impressive on the receiving end of the drills were Ron Kramer of East Detroit, Tom Maentz of Holland and Mike Rotunno of Canton, Ohio. All are sophomores.

Right halfback Tony Branoff, who missed Saturday scrimmage because of a bruised knee, took part in the workout yesterday.

Wolverine practice continues today with scrimmage and two-day drills for the rest of the week.

Notre Dame Leads '54 Pre-Season Gridiron Poll

By JOHN CHANDLER
NEW YORK (AP)—Just like last fall when Notre Dame squeezed out a close decision over Oklahoma in their opening football battle, the Fighting Irish were voted the No. 1 college football team of 1954 today in the annual pre-season Associated Press poll.

Oklahoma's Sooners received the largest number of first-place votes, 74 to 52 for Notre Dame, but the Irish got 18 more points. On the basis of 10 points for first, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc., Notre Dame received 1,449 points and Oklahoma 1,431.

A total of 171 votes were cast in a nationwide poll of sports writers and sportscasters. The pre-season poll will be followed by the weekly AP poll after the pigskin season swings into action next Saturday.

Maryland, which was voted the No. 1 team at the end of the 1953 season only to be shut out 7-0 by Oklahoma in the Miami Orange Bowl, was ranked No. 3 in the pre-season calculations. The Terrapins got 13 firsts and 910 points to beat out Texas, with 10 firsts and 834 points.

Others in the top 10 are Illinois, No. 5 with 811 points; Michigan

State, No. 6, 616; Georgia Tech, No. 7, 558; U.C.L.A., No. 8, 548; Wisconsin, No. 9, 383; and Mississippi, No. 10, 358.

Seven of the teams voted "most likely to be up there" this fall were in the top 10 at the end of last season. Along with Maryland, they were Notre Dame, 2; Michigan State, 3; Oklahoma, 4; U.C.L.A., 5; Illinois, 7, and Georgia Tech, 8.

Last year Notre Dame met Oklahoma in the opener for both teams, and the Irish came off with a 28-21 thriller. The teams do not meet this season.

But, the ratings will get a quick test, just the same.

Notre Dame opens its season Sept. 25 with Texas, while two weeks later Oklahoma and Texas do battle.

Maryland opens with Kentucky Saturday, then meets U.C.L.A., Oct. 1. Oklahoma also invades the West Coast to play California.

Conley Faces Maglie

Braves, Giants Meet in 3-Game Series That Could Decide National League Race

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—With only a .300 hitter in the lineup, the Milwaukee Braves invaded the Polo Grounds tonight for the first of a three-game series that quite possibly could decide the National League pennant.

No matter how the three-game set ends, the championship won't be settled mathematically. But if the Braves sweep it—just as they did the last series here—the red-hot Brooklyn Dodgers could pull into such an advantageous position that only a flop would lose it for them.

On the other hand, should the Giants win all three, the Braves would be out of it and Leo Durocher's men would be over their biggest hurdle.

Manager Charley Grimm of the Braves, ever his chipper self, said he would send towering Gene Conley against the Giants tonight, then follow with Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette. The fact that he's using the last two indicates his precarious position. They'll be pitching without their full rest, but he's got to go with his best.

Joe Adcock, the team's only .300 hitter, will not play. Grimm indicated. His injured wrist has not healed enough for him to take his post at first base, so Roy Smalley will be at the bag.

Grimm is taking a calculated gamble by assigning Conley to the opener. The big rookie was shelled from the mound by the Dodgers Saturday without retiring a man. But neither club has been hitting much, so unless one of them snaps out of it, the series should be dominated by the pitchers.

Durocher plans to send ancient Sal (The Barber) Maglie in the first game. Durocher has not announced his pitchers for the second and third games, but they probably will be Reuben Gomez and Johnny Antonelli, the latter going with only two days rest.

IOWA BACKFIELD SPARKS—Quarterback Jerry Reichow (left) passes off to fullback Binky Broder, Hawkeye captain. They are the standouts among a group of good backs on the Iowa football squad this fall. Coach Forest Evashevski says Reichow is the most improved man on the squad, while Broder led the Big 10 in punting and the Hawkeyes in ground gaining last season.

Speedy Pair Is Backbone of UD Offensive Plan

DETROIT (AP)—Lee Riley and Bob Burgmeier, a pair of high-scoring halfbacks, will carry most of the offensive dynamite for the University of Detroit this fall, and coach Wally Fromhart expects them to explode loud and often. Titans open at home, Saturday night, against Cincinnati.

"These boys are as good as any backs in the Midwest," is Fromhart's bold appraisal. "Give them a little line play and we'll surprise a lot of people."

Fromhart, bull-voiced, 40-year-old former Notre Dame star, is starting his first year as head man at U of D, having replaced Dutch Clark.

"We have our problems," he says. "We're making no promises and will offer no excuses."

In Riley and Burgmeier, Fromhart has a lethal one-two punch unmatched in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Leafs Get 4 Places on Il's All-Stars

MONTREAL (AP)—The pennant-winning Toronto Maple Leafs captured four of 11 positions on the International League All-Star team and the Montreal Royals and the Rochester Red Wings landed three spots apiece.

The All-Star squad was announced through league headquarters today by Al C. Weber of Rochester, president of the circuit's Baseball Writers' Assn. Thirty-two writers voted in the elections.

Catcher Elston Howard of the Maple Leafs, named last week as the league's Most Valuable Player, was the only unanimous choice.

Rain Doesn't Halt Spartans' Football Drills

MICHIGAN STATE BACKS GET CHANCE TO HANDLE WET, SLIPPERY BALL

EAST LANSING (AP)—M.S.C. football coach Duffy Daugherty knows how to seize the breaks—even if it's just a rainy day.

Monday's steady drizzle provided Daugherty with what he has been seeking for a long time—a chance to work out his passers and receivers in the delicate art of handling a wet and slippery ball.

Quarterbacks Earl Morrill, Pat Wilson and Clarence Peaks got the heavy end of the passing drill.

The pass drill came in handy because Daugherty had ordered light workouts for the last two teams following their rugged scrimmage last Saturday. Signal drills occupied most of the afternoon, followed by a half-hour blocking session. There was no scrimmage.

Ellis Duckett, one of Daugherty's more flashy ends, was out of uniform because of a continued upset stomach.

Daugherty said he probably would drop two-day football drills Wednesday or Thursday and work his charges out only once a day thereafter.

FISHERMAN SCORES DOUBLE PLAY CATCH

BERLIN, N. H. (AP)—Big league double plays have little on the one pulled off by Anthony Dube and his son, Donald.

Dube, about 60, and his 33-year-old son were troling from different boats in Maine's Lake Richardson. Suddenly a vicious strike tore the elder man's rod from his hand and into the water.

Seconds later Donald felt a strike and reeled in to find his line had tangled with another. Attached was father's rod, reel and a 23-inch lake trout.

Tallulah Bankhead Points Giants Toward Pennant

By PHYLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Here Leo Durocher thought it was prowess that's pointing his New York Giants toward the '34 pennant—and all the time it was actually Tallulah Bankhead.

"Yes, darling, I went and did it," confessed the well-modulated thunderclap. "I literally went and did it. I go away all summer, they win. I stay here and watch, they lose."

"One can only conclude that my devotion, in proximity, puts the whammy on them. Thank God, darling, it's not that way with all men!"

Tallulah sniffed lightly (it wasn't all drama; she had a cold) as she slumped in her hotel suite and discussed her strange, ill-starred love for the Polo Grounds Heroes who face perhaps the decisive pennant series with Milwaukee starting tonight.

"I'm frightfully emotional about the Giants, you see," she said, "so I hope I haven't jinxed them by coming back too soon." (She has just completed a tour of the barn circuit.) "You know when they won in 1951? I was in Europe that summer, simply dying because I couldn't find out how they were doing until the day after they did whatever they did. They did superbly...."

"Ever since then I have known that what they need most from me is distance. This summer I have been very good. I suffered, but I did it my way, and I got them way out ahead. But I simply had to come back. For the sake of Willie Mays and everyone, I didn't want to—but I simply had to, because of commitments."

The commitments are Miss Bankhead's obligations to New York audiences who are already buying tickets weeks in advance to see her in "Dear Charles," her first Broadway role in several years. It opens Sept. 15, which means she'll be too busy to do much personal whammying at the Polo Grounds.

"I do hope to get out to the World Series, though, because if they get into it they'll win it. You can't tell me any group of men called Indians could beat the Giants. It's not logical, darling."

And the Yankees? What if they are in the series?

"Once my Giants get to the series," she evaded, "they are on their own. My personal responsibility ends with the pennant."

Tallu says she doesn't know exactly how she started cheering the Giants except that she "always needed something to root for." At first, of course, she rooted only for herself, because this is more or less a requirement to breaking into Broadway. "And then I needed something better to root for and—well, it was probably through a friend—I got swept up by the Giants."

"They're the logical team, from the name alone. Dodgers! Who could root for anybody dodging anybody?"

The star hopes to get a small, quiet TV set installed in her dressing room for World Series days when she has matinees.

This could be dangerous, however, because of a superstition in the Bankhead brain which dictates: When a Giants' half of an inning starts with a hit, the "status quo" must be maintained around her until the inning is completed.

"If my butler is serving drinks when one of my boys gets a hit," she says, "he simply cannot leave the room until the thing is seen through. Once a small boy came into my box at the beginning of a potentially successful inning at the Polo Grounds, and I had to buy him both ice cream and a hot dog to keep him there till it was over."

Miss Bankhead concedes that such a situation must not be allowed to delay the curtain for her play "Dear Charles."

"I've been in this business long enough to know the show must go on, darling, so I'll make some kind of arrangement," she promised, "even if Willie is up."

Professor Remembers the Early Struggles of Campus Radio

ANN ARBOR — It was the late 20's and radio, was still an infant whose cries had yet to be heard over most of the nation.

In a room on the fourth floor of Angell Hall on the University of Michigan campus, a weird tent of old painters' canopies rose like a circus arena.

Inside a singer was finishing "Every Little Movement Has a Meaning All Its Own." The program ended with another musical selection of the times: "Whose Baby Are You?"

That was one of the university's first radio programs. The painters' canopies were used to deaden sound. The programming was amateur, but interesting.

But under the direction of Prof. Waldo Abbot, WUOM-FM has grown into a mature, fully equipped station whose material is used in Michigan, the nation and Europe.

To set up their programs in the old days, Prof. Abbot says, they had to carry telephone company equipment up the four flights of stairs.

Today in four modern studios above the university Administration Building, he adds, the station's own equipment compares favorably with most commercial stations.

The university's broadcasting efforts have been Prof. Abbot's baby. He has headed them since 1925, gradually building into the modern station that has become a headquarters for educational broadcasting in Michigan.

The station produces something like 150 educational tape recordings a week for distribution as public service material to stations all over the state.

Now the station is planning to double its power to some 90,000 watts, with Federal Communications Commission approval.

Prof. Abbot smiles when he tells how he was chosen to head university radio. "I had a radio speaker in 1925 and they were darned scarce on campus," he recalls.

But he is dead serious when he points out that WUOM is the only contact thousands of Michigan families have with their university.

Queen Mother Sails for U.S. on Oct. 21

LONDON (INS) — Clarence House announced last night that Queen Mother Elizabeth will leave on her visit to the United States and Canada aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth on Oct. 21.

According to the announcement from the Queen Mother's residence, she will return aboard the liner Queen Mary on Nov. 1.

The announcement said "details of the program of her majesty's stay in the United States and Canada will be announced later."

Crafty Thieves Enter Building Without Key

HARTFORD, Conn. — With in a few weeks, a store was burglarized 10 times. Each time the intruders smashed a big window. Tired of sweeping up broken glass, the owners hung this sign on the window: "If you need the key, let us know and we'll leave it for you."

Again the place was entered. The window broken. Written on the sign was this message: "No thanks, we don't need a key."

U.S., India at Odds Over U.N. Chieftain

NEW DELHI — Reliable sources say Prime Minister Nehru's government has decided to support a European candidate for president of the U.N. Assembly rather than an Asian backed by the United States.

These sources said India would support the Dutch nominee, Dr. Eelco N. van Kleffens, and would oppose the U.S.-backed candidacy of Thailand's foreign minister, Prince Wan Wattayakorn.

"New Delhi considers the Prince is not a representative spokesman for Asia," the informants said, adding that the Indians also were irked because Thailand had signed the Southeast Asia defense treaty rather than boycotting it as India did.

Hawaiian lobsters have been found 12,000 miles away along the coast of South Africa. First known only around the Hawaiian Islands, the migrating species already has half-circled the globe.
