10 Richest Nations Air International Financial Crisis

BONN, Germany (AP) — Financial leaders of the world's 10 wealthiest nations met today in emergency session to discuss the future of the hard-pressed French franc and try to stabilize the international monetary system.

Central figures in the gathering were officials of the nations principally concerned: Economics Minister Karl Schiller of West Germany, current president of the group; Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, Roy Jenkins; and Finance Minister Francois-Xaviet Ortoli of France.

U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler and William McChesney Martin, chairman of the board of governors of the U.S. Federal Reserve System were on hand. But the United States appeared to be taking only a standby role in the crisis.

★ ★ ★

The other nations participating were Belgium, Canada, Italy, Japan, Netherlands and Sweden. Switzerland, a stronghold of international banking, was represented by an observer.

FRANC DEVALUATION?

The meeting was held at the West German Economics Ministry, a converted army barracks in the Bonn suburb of Duisdorf.

Guenther Diehl, the West German government's chief spokesman, told newsmen the meeting was likely to discuss whether the franc would be devalued. It is now officially worth a fraction over 20 cents — 4.970 to the dollar.

Diehl added that a whole series of other measures were also possible, including international action to support the value of the franc.

He said Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's government sees changes in parity and international support actions as furnishing to long-run solution. He did not suggest that such a solution might be.

Most Western money markets were shut to check speculators' attacks on major western currencies—the dollar, the pound and the franc. It was the second international monetary crisis of the year.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. dollar plunged through its official floor in relation to the Swiss franc at Zurich, the only major West European market open. The price for $1 at the close ranged between 4.2948 and 4.2953 Swiss francs, compared to 4.2955 francs at the close yesterday. It was the fourth time since June that the dollar, the only major Western currency traded at Zurich during the day, had closed below the point for government intervention.

★ ★ ★

Speculators switched to bullion markets and boosted quotations for gold, though they found few holders willing to sell, gold closed in Zurich at $40.25 to $40.50 an ounce. The mid-session high had been $40.875.

Blasts Trap Coal Miners

MANNINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Thundering explosions ripped through a rich coal mine early today, trapping as many as 75 miners. But the Marion County sheriff's office and coal company officials said 21 had been located or rescued.

Smoke and fire billowed from one entrance to the mine and smoke clogged others.

Sheriff Robert Tennant said eight men had been found at the bottom of a shaft and were scooped out, two at a time, by a bucket lowered into the shaft by a crane.

The mine is the Mountaineer Coal Co.'s No. 9 located just west of Mannington in the coal country of north-central West Virginia, near the Pennsylvania state line. Mountaineer is the state's third largest coal producing company and is a division of Consolidation Coal Co.

Mountaineer president Dave Davis said 13 miners had come out of the mine at the slope opening near the coal preparation plant.

"The severity of the explosive forces in the Llewellyn portal area were of such great magnitude as to place in jeopardy the lives of the employes working in the immediate area," Davis said.

★ ★ ★

The company said 360 men work the mine in three shifts. The more than 70 men on the third shift were due off about 7:30 a.m. (CST). But the first explosion rumbled through the long shaft about an hour and a half earlier.

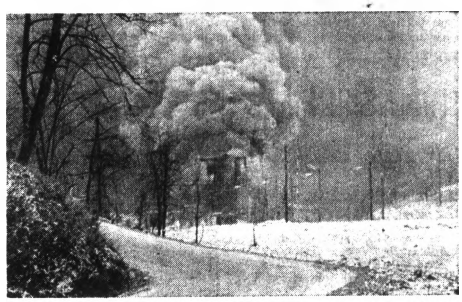

Wives and children of the miners rushed to the extrance, as did rescue teams from across the area.

REACH SURFACE EARLIER

Tennant said seven to nine men reached the surface safely just after the first blast. The force of the blast, Tennant said, blew machinery through the Llewellyn portal and destroyed it.

Rescuers concentrated on the Farmington portal, about one mile from the Llewellyn entrance.

West Virginia Gov. Hulett C. Smith said in Charleston that he sent mine experts to the scene and that he had received an offer of assistant from Washington.

Six Die in 2 State Fires

From Our News Wires

Five children and one adult perished in two fires in Michigan homes early today.

A father and all three of his children died in an early-morning blaze that destroyed their two-story frame home on Pickerel Lake four miles north of Petosky.

Two children died and their mother was severely burned this morning at an apartment building east of Owosso.

Killed in the Petosky fire were Harold Hershey, 28, and his children Diane, 6; Clarence, 3; and Sandy, 2.

Killed in the Owosso blaze were Jerry Van Over, 9, and Dawn Lee Van Over, 7. Their mother, Shirley, was taken to Owosso Memorial Hospital, suffering severe burns.

Authorities said Hershey, an employe of a Cheboygan paper company, got out of the house when the fire was discovered about 5 a.m. He ran across the street for help, called the Petoskey Fire Department and dashed back into the house after the children.

The house collapsed with Hershey inside.

Firemen said the blaze was out of control by the time they arrived.

About four hours before the Owosso flames broke out, the Shiawassee County sheriff's Department logged a telephone call from a man who identified himself as a resident of the building.

The man said he had "problems" and wanted to be committed to a state hospital, the department log said.

Officials said they were investigating the call.

Chicago Terror for City Couple

CHICAGO (AP) — Police yesterday named two fugitives from a federal prison as suspects in the robbery of a newly married couple and rape of the bride in a motel Sunday night.

Police declined to identify the victims of the terrorists but said they were from Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Patrick D. Kane, 43, and Dale G. Wilson, 24, who escaped Thursday from a U.S. marshal in Warrenton, Mo., are being sought by the FBI. They escaped while being transferred from the Leavenworth, Kan., penitentiary to a federal court in St. Louis.

Chicago police said they have asked the FBI in Washington for photographs of Kane and Wilson to see if the honeymoon couple could identify the men as their assailants.

FAMILY TERRORIZED

Kane and Wilson have also been named as suspects in terrorizing a family in Bridgeton, Mo., Friday.

The newlyweds were terrorized for three hours Sunday night by two patrons of a Chicago motel, where the couple was honeymooning. The couple's car and wedding gifts were taken by the men when they fled, authorities said.

Investigators said the two patrons impersonated security guards and entered the couple's room five minutes after they checked in.

1st Major Snowstorm Hits North Michigan

By The Associated Press

Plunging down from Canada, the first major snowstorm of the season left up to 18 inches of snow in northern Lower Michigan late yesterday and caused the usual wintry problems of slippery highways, gale winds on the Great Lakes and closed schools.

Snow flurries were forecast for today throughout the state, with drifting and blowing snows and the temperature staying below freezing for most of the day.

Accumulations ranged from 12 to 18 inches at Grayling and Gaylord in northern Lower Michigan to two inches at Kalamazoo, the Automobile Club of Michigan reported.

★ ★ ★

Highways were reported very slippery from Gladwin north to Gaylord, with poor visibility due to blowing snow late yesterday, the weather bureau reported. Many side roads, particularly in the northern section, were closed by drifting snow.

U.P. ROADS COVERED

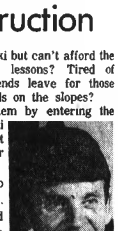

All roads in the Upper Peninsula were snow-covered and slippery except for the Stephenson area where roads were reported dry.

Man Is Arrested in Jetliner Fire

From Our News Wires

DENVER, Colo. — An explosion and fire endangered a Continental Airlines 707 jetliner as it approached Denver yesterday from Los Angeles carrying seven crewmen and 63 passengers.

The fire was put out, and when the plane descended from 18,000 feet and landed safely on a foam-covered runway, FBI agents arrested a passenger, Lawrence B. Havelock, 47, of Lake George, Colo.

Havelock was arrested after a stewardess told investigators she saw him enter the rest room wearing a pair of rubber gloves shortly before the fire broke out.

"It was like a sonic boom," said Helga Wood, 31, a hostess. Mrs. Wood and another hostess used fire extinguishers to put out the blaze.

SUSPECT ARRAIGNED

Havelock was arraigned before a U.S. commissioner in Denver on charges of violating the federal aircraft destruction statute and was held in lieu of $10,000 bail.

Mrs. Havelock, in Lake George, said her husband had undergone follow-up surgery about three weeks ago in connection with earlier removal of a tumor from beneath his skull.

Test of Good Samaritans: Cute Coed Skirts to Victory

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Standing forlornly beside an automobile stalled just off the Pacific Coast highway stood, on different days: (1) a shapely lass of 19 in a miniskirt and (2) a grandmotherly type of 75.

It was a test of who does best among ladies in distress.

Within three minutes after pretty Temre Jaco took up her position beside the car, the first of a parade of males stopped to try to rescue her. Each time the scene was restaged at a different location, she had an offer of assistance within three minutes.

But 17 minutes went by before the first good Samaritan stopped for the older hitchhiker, Ula B. Scanlon.

TEST STAGED

The Long Beach Independent Press-Telegram staged the test.

A photographer lurking on the other side of the heavily traveled highway reported he got finger cramps from snapping pictures of males who wanted to help Miss Jaco.

Her offers included one of a ride "anywhere."

"They were all nice," she reported. "I think people are willing to get involved."

A junior at California State College in Long Beach, she conceded that the miniskirt encouraged involvement.

Mrs. Scanlon drew Sir Galahads, after the initial try, at an average of one every eight minutes. She said her would-be helpers were nice, too.

As to the comparative roadside fortunes, she offered this philosophical comment:

"That's show business. The young ones have more to show than the old ones."

AP Wirephoto

NO SHORTAGE OF HELP — These two young men were eager beavers when they saw 19-year-old Temre Jaco standing forlornly next to a seemingly stalled car in Long Beach, Calif. In a newspaper stunt, Temre, a student at California State College, and grandmotherish Ula Scanlon, 75, took to the road to see who does best among ladies in distress. Drivers stopped for Temre at a rate of one every three minutes. For Mrs. Scanlon, it was one every eight minutes.

The Hall of Fame currently is administered by the journalism department of Michigan State University. Photographs and records of Michigan newspapermen who have been outstanding leaders in their profession hang in the MSU Journalism Building.

Haas was a newsman devoted to his fellow man, in life and in death.

'MR. OAKLAND COUNTY'

In a newspaper career that began as a newsboy at age 7 and ended at 84 as the "Mr. Oakland County" beloved by thousands, Joe Haas served others.

Generations of youngsters were aided by his devotion to the Boy Scout movement and the 4-H program. His name continues to live today for youngsters, with a Scout camp lodge built with funds left in his will, and descendants of animals he gave to 4-H members for breeding.

★ ★ ★

Haas was born in Waterbury, Conn., June 18, 1877, and moved to Holly, Mich., at the age of six months. At the age of 24 he founded the weekly Holly Herald with borrowed capital of $50.

★ ★ ★

He was on his way to becoming a newspaper legend in Michigan. He joined The Pontiac Press in 1914 and began writing editorials and a popular "Man About Town" column which was featured on the editorial page.

Nixon May Stall Action on N-Spread Pact

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon intends to reassess the international situation, particularly that in Czechoslovakia, before deciding when he wants the United States to proceed with the treaty to control the spread of nuclear weapons.

A source close to Nixon outlined that position today as the President-elect neared the end of a five-day vacation in Florida and the Bahamas.

* * *

This left unclear the timing the new administration will seek on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, which Nixon has endorsed and promised to implement. He has maintained, however, that ratification by the United States should await a normalization of the situation in Czechoslovakia. Nixon took that position as a candidate after the Soviet invasion last Aug. 20.

A Nixon source said that remains his view, that he has set no timetable for U.S. ratification, and that he will not announce a judgment until the matter is once again before the Senate, which has yet to approve the treaty.

That probably will be shortly after Congress reconvenes on Jan. 3. Nixon takes office on Jan. 20.

Indications are that President Johnson would like to see U.S. action on the treaty completed before he leaves office. But Washington sources indicate they do not believe such swift action would be possible without Nixon's concurrence and full support.

* * *

There has been talk in Washington of a possible special session of Congress to speed Senate action. But a Nixon aide said the President-elect has no indication that this is going to happen.

In a series of campaign position statements, Nixon said that, "at a later point, when the situation may be more normalized," the United States should act on the treaty.

DELAY 'PROPER'

On Oct. 26, Nixon said Senate approval and ratification of the treaty had been properly delayed "because of the sudden, brutal Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia . .

"In January the Senate will undoubtedly reassess Soviet intentions in Central and Western Europe; I am hopeful that we can then proceed with this important treaty."

* * *

Nixon, sources said, has not yet discussed the timing of treaty action with his top diplomatic advisor, Robert D. Murphy. Presumably, Murphy, Nixon's representative at the State Department, would share in any discussions leading to a decision on timing.

Nixon, who returned yesterday from two days of seclusion on Grand Cay in the Bahamas, planned to confer today with two of his top advisers: Lt. Gov. Robert Finch of California and John N. Mitchell, a partner in his law firm and his presidential campaign manager.

EXPECTED BACK

He was to leave Key Biscayne late in the day to fly to New York. But he is expected to return to the Florida resort soon, perhaps for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Thieu Still Firm on Talk Boycott

PARIS (UPI) — South Vietnam again today rejected taking part in Paris Vietnam talks under present conditions, Vietnamese sources said. At the same time allied diplomats said Moscow appears to be telling the Communists to make it easier for Saigon to end its boycott and come to the negotiations.

* * *

The diplomats said the Kremlin even wants the Communists to slow down military action in South Vietnam.

* * *

In Vung Tau, Vietnam, Vietnamese sources said President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam reaffirmed the talks boycott in a closed-door speech there to political followers.

* * *

MOSCOW'S ADVICE

In Paris, allied diplomats said Moscow apparently is advising North Vietnam and the Vietcong to be more flexible in arranging terms to bring Saigon to the talks.

* * *

South Vietnam's boycott is based mainly on a refusal to give the Vietcong full conference status. Thieu wants the Cong seated only as part of the Hanoi delegation.

STORM SCENE—Scenes like this one in Cadillac were common throughout northern Michigan yesterday as a snowstorm swept through the area, leaving up to 18 inches of snow, blocking roads and closing schools.

Canada May Change Defense Commitment

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian government is considering whether to increase its forces assigned to the North American Defense Command, decrease them or pull out of NORAD, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau told the House of Commons yesterday.

* * *

Trudeau said Canada's part in the command, in which it, the junior partner to the United States, is "indirectly" included in a government review of foreign and defense policy now being made.

* * *

3 SF Police Shot; Probe Demanded

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph L. Alioto called for a grand jury investigation of the Black Panthers following a gun battle yesterday in which three policemen were wounded, two critically. Eight Negroes were arrested.

The shooting erupted within 100 yards of a police station after two cruising patrolmen stopped a panel truck minutes after a service station holdup.

Police said Sgt. Robert Flynn, 51, was shot in the groin while questioning the driver of the van.

Lt. Dermott Creedon, 49, was shot in the chest as he stepped out of the patrol car, revolver in hand, police said.

Creedon and Flynn remained in critical condition today.

Lt. Michael O'Mahoney said: "I saw three men pour out of the van and I ordered them to halt, but they fired at me and ran into an area-way next to a church."

O'Mahoney was wounded in the hand, but said the three came out with their hands up after he fired three warning shots.

Worst Loss in 4 Years for Red China at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Advocates of U.N. membership for Red China suffered their worst defeat in four years yesterday. By a vote of 58-44 with 23 abstentions the General Assembly rejected a resolution to expel Nationalist China and seat the Chinese Communists.

A similar resolution was defeated last year by a vote of 58-45 with 17 abstentions. The pro-Peking forces came closest to victory in 1965 when the vote was a 47-47 tie.

* * *

This year's resolution was sponsored by 15 nations headed by Albania, Peking's mouthpiece in the United Nations.

Only two other Communist nations, Cuba and Romania, joined in sponsoring the draft. The Soviet Union, locked in an ideological dispute with the Chinese Reds, voted for the proposal after giving it only perfunctory support.

PREVIOUS POLICY

The assembly adhered to its previous policy of requiring a two-thirds vote.

Italy's proposal to set up a study group to sound out governments on the idea of a two-China solution — seating both the Reds and the Nationalists—was defeated for the second straight year. Both Peking and Formosa have vowed they would never agree to a two-China deal.

The United States supported the study group proposal and indicated during the debate it might throw its support behind a two-China proposal.

* * *

U.S. Ambassador J. R. Wiggins said Peking's supporters were automatically excluding the Communists from a seat by insisting that the Nationalists be expelled.

Britain and France, which have extended diplomatic recognition to Peking, voted again to kick the Nationalists out. HP145aes Nov. 20

Enemy Gunners Shell Da Nang; Damage Is Light

SAIGON (AP) — Communist gunners stepped up their rocket and mortar attacks last night, giving Da Nang its heaviest pounding in three months and hitting two American infantry units, five district towns and one provincial capital.

Casualties and damage generally were light. But one of the mortar attacks, on a night bivouac of U.S. 1st Division infantrymen 24 miles north of Saigon, was followed by a ground attack by enemy soldiers hurling grenades and blazing away with machine guns.

* * *

Artillery and gunships drove the attackers off at daybreak after three hours of fighting. U.S. Headquarters said the bodies of 12 of the enemy were found just outside the American lines and 14 weapons were captured.

One American was killed and 12 were wounded.

OTHER ATTACKS

Military spokesmen said in the other attacks one American and nine South Vietnamese were killed, and nine Americans and 13 South Vietnamese were wounded.

Sixty-five rockets and mortar rounds hit U.S. and South Vietnamese military installations in Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city and the biggest military complex north of Saigon.

* * *

Several shells slammed into a U.S. Navy hospital area, but initial reports said they caused no damage or casualties.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said among the district towns shelled was Camlo, 10 miles below the demilitarized zone, which was hit by 35 mortar rounds. One American serviceman and six South Vietnamese civilians were wounded.

DMZ IS QUIET

No new incidents were reported inside the DMZ.

In the Mekong Delta, Vietcong shells hit a base camp of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division in Dong Tam, 35 miles southwest of Saigon. Light damage and casualties were reported.

The South Vietnamese spokesman said there now have been 74 rocket and mortar attacks on population centers since President Johnson halted the bombing of North Vietnam Nov. 1. He said 33 civilians have been killed and 192 wounded in the attacks.

Slayer of Girl Gets Life Term

A mental patient at Pontiac State Hospital was sentenced today to life imprisonment for the slaying of his girlfriend.

Edward J. Stockwell, 26, found guilty Oct. 30 of second-degree murder in the knife slaying of Dannelda Stewart, 19, received the sentence from Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

* * *

Miss Stewart, the daughter of J. M. Stewart of 43498 Bordeaux, Utica, also was a patient at the state institution.

Her body, containing from 60 to 70 stab wounds, was found by a security guard in a seldom-used building on the hospital grounds.

PREMEDITATION?

Assistant Prosecutor Alex McGarry had argued that the murder was premeditated because of a suicide-murder pact made between Stockwell and the girl.

Defense attorney Leonard Peres, in turn, had attempted to prove during the two-week trial that Stockwell was insane when he killed Miss Stewart.

* * *

Stockwell, who has been institutionalized off and on since 1957, had the privileges of a trusty and was allowed to work for a landscaping firm during the day. He lived at the hospital at night.

In October, three psychiatrists testified that even though he had a background of mental disorder, he was legally competent to stand trial.

Birmingham News

Cluster-Home Law Referred

BIRMINGHAM — Proposed amendments to this city's cluster-housing ordinance have been referred to the planning board by the City Commission.

The amendments, designed to increase lot sizes in cluster developments, were stalled two weeks ago when City Manager Robert S. Kenning advised the commission that the new state plat act might affect both them and the present ordinance.

* * *

City Attorney Dean G. Beier's report to the commission on the act, presented Monday night, confirmed Kenning's opinion.

The new legislation, Beier said, "may seriously affect the practicality of a 'cluster housing' provision in the zoning ordinance."

Under the act's provisions, Beier said, the owner of a cluster development with more than four units must have the property platted whether the unist are to be sold or leased.

The attorney said the act "imposes substantial burdens on the developer."

* * *

The commission also authorized the Department of Parks and Recreation to begin seeking bids for the city's 1969 elm spraying program.

Chester K. Hunter, superintendent of park maintenance and forestry, had recommended the move, citing possible competition for helicopter services.

METHOD GETTING POPULAR

Next year for the first time Detroit will begin aerial spraying, Hunter reported, and other cities may do so too. Birmingham was one of the first cities in the state to use the aerial spraying method.

The engineering department was instructed to prepare construction drawings for the permanent improvement of the parking lot at Bloomfield Art Association, 1516 S. Cranbrook.

* * *

Construction of the improvement was delayed this year because of grading and paving projects on Cranbrook near the entrance to the lot.

City Engineer William T. Killeen has estimated total cost of the improvement at $10,900.

EQUIPMENT CONTRACT

The commission also awarded contracts for the replacement of four police cars and standby snow removal equipment.

* * *

The police car contract went to the low bidder, Stark Hickey Ford of Royal Oak, for $7,266. Three of the cars will replace others now in use. The fourth will replace a vehicle [illegible]ly damaged in a collision Oct. 1.

* * *

The supplement[illegible]ow removal equipment contract went to the only bidder, Oak Construction Co. of Royal Oak.

The contract is on a retainer basis, with the company being paid $300 a month. The company will supply up to six trucks at $11.48 per hour each, two road graders at $31.70 per hour each, and one front-end loader at $40 an hour.

METER TAKE INCREASES

City parking meter revenues have increased 14 per cent during the past year, according to a report from Chief of Police Darryl L. Bruestle.

Average meter revenue for the week of Oct. 12-18, Bruestle said, was $3.05, up from $2.58 during a comparable period in 1967.

The police chief also reported a rise in gross revenue from the Lot 5 parking structure, on Woodward north of Willits.

Danger Ended; Fuel Oil Found

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said today they have recovered all of the containers of a dangerous mixture of gasoline and fuel oil mistakenly sold at an Avon Township service station Monday.

No incidents involving the mixture were reported.

* * *

The last seven gallons of about 80 gallons sold were accounted for late yesterday, according to Capt. Leo Hazen, chief of sheriff's detectives.

The situation arose when 3,500 gallons of gasoline were pumped into a large tank at the Save-U station at 1700 Auburn.

'PRIMARILY FUEL OIL'

Hazen said that 500 gallons of fuel oil were in the tank at the time.

However, he pointed out that because gasoline is less dense than fuel oil, most of the mixture sold, having been drawn from the bottom of the tank, was probably primarily fuel oil.

"Even so," Hazen added, "we had no idea who might have bought mostly gasoline, so it was like having 80 gallons of gas to recover."

Deputies drove slowly through area streets Monday night, using the public address systems in their patrol cars to warn residents.

The warning was passed along in The Press and on the radio and Hazen credited public cooperation with the successful recovery of all of the mixture.

Liberal House Dems Seek Shake-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Liberal House Democrats are eying a vacancy on the ways and means committee from which to launch an assault on conservative control of other key committees.

If they can capture the seat their next goal would be to put members of their own choosing on the controversial committee on un-American activities and the judiciary committee.

* * *

In the long run, the liberals hope to weaken, if not eliminate, the rigid seniority system that now dominates the committees.

The Democrats on the ways and means committee make the committee assignments for their majority colleagues.

During the first days of a new session the 15 ways and means Democrats sit as a committee on committees and fill any openings that have occurred since the previous Congress.

* * *

Any vacancies among the Ways and Means Democrats are filled before Congress begins by all the Democratic members voting in a party caucus.

* * *

It will be at such a caucus Jan. 2 that the liberal-moderate group will try to fill the single open position on Ways and Means, which by most estimates now is split 7 to 7 between conservative and liberals.

If they succeed, they could be in a position to push their candidates through the committee on committees onto other committees.

SLIGHT CHANGE

Although the recent congressional elections produced slight change in party lineups, retirements helped swell the number of committee vacancies.

Of the five Democrats on the un-American activities committee for instance, only two will return.

On the judiciary committee, there are four Democratic seats to be filled, all formerly held by conservative southerners who frequently voted with the Republican minority to exercise effective control of the committee.

In the weeks remaining before the new Congress begins, liberals hope to find candidates for these vacancies behind whom they can unite.

LEADING THE DRIVE

There are about 140 northern and western congressmen who belong to the liberal-moderate Democratic Study Group, which is leading the drive. They are an absolute majority of the 243 Democrats in the 91st Congress and can control the caucus if they vote together.

Crucial to their success, however, is the attitude taken toward their endeavor by Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass. So far, they have heard nothing to indicate he will oppose them.

Gorilla's Body Found in Desert

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — County detectives got ready for a murder investigation Monday when an 11-year-old boy reported he found part of a human foot in the desert. Homicide detectives uncovered not only a foot, but a hand and later a body—of a 600-pound gorilla.

Detectives are puzzled. No one has reported a missing gorilla.

Mobile Homes Plan Stirs Controversy

A proposed mobile home development for Springfield Township has proved a controversial item for the County Board of Supervisors Coordinating, Zoning and Planning Committee.

* * *

The development had met with disfavor with the township's zoning board. County officials, however, expressed approval at their meeting Monday.

* * *

Under consideration is a 58-acre parcel in the extreme north central part of the township between Holly and Oakhill roads, west of Dixie where a mobile home park with 336 sites is proposed.

* * *

The property, because of its nearness to Dixie Highway, is zoned partially manufacturing and partially agricultural-residential. Rezoning to "trailer coach park" is sought.

Though the township zoning board voted 4-0 for disapproval, the county's technical adviser from the planning commission, Thomas Varhol, recommended approval. The supervisors' committee was unable to get a majority vote, so the matter is to be reconsidered at 2 p.m. on Nov. 27.

Mrs. Jean McDonnell of Southfield was the only supervisor opposing the positive recommendation. Two other supervisors were in favor, but two were absent so a majority vote was not obtainable.

* * *

Varhol said the mobile home site was consistent with good planning for the area. He was backed by Robert Dieball, Waterford Township planner, who said he had been asked to represent the developer in presenting his case.

All final decisions will be made by elected officials on the township board. The committee's duty is to see the proposed zoning regulations conform with law and with sound planning areawide. The committee's findings are weighed by township officials and by courts if it becomes a matter of litigation.

OKAY IS GIVEN

In other business the committee gave approved recommendations to several other rezoning matters, most of them involving permission for denser population.

Among approved recommendations for rezoning were:

- West Bloomfield Township: 157-acre parcel, north of 14 Mile, east of Haggerty, from single family to multiples.
- Avon Township: 55 acres adjacent to Rochester between Parkdale and Romeo, from single family to multiples.
- Oxford Township: 217 acres between Seymour and Drahner and east of Coats from suburban farms (five acres per lot) to single family (12,000 square feet per lot).
- Springfield Township: 22 acres north of Crosby and east of Eagle Lake, from agricultural - residential (10 acres per lot) to single family (18,000 square feet per lot).
- Lyon Township: 83 acres, southeast corner of 9 mile and Pontiac Trail, from agricultural to single family.
- Farmington Township: 43 acres between Orchard Lake, 14 Mile and Ravine, from single family to multiples.

High School Bid Opening Delayed

The opening of bids for construction of the first phase of the new Avondale High School, to be built adjacent to the junior high on Waukegan, has been postponed until 8 p.m. Nov. 27 at the high school, 1435 W. Auburn.

* * *

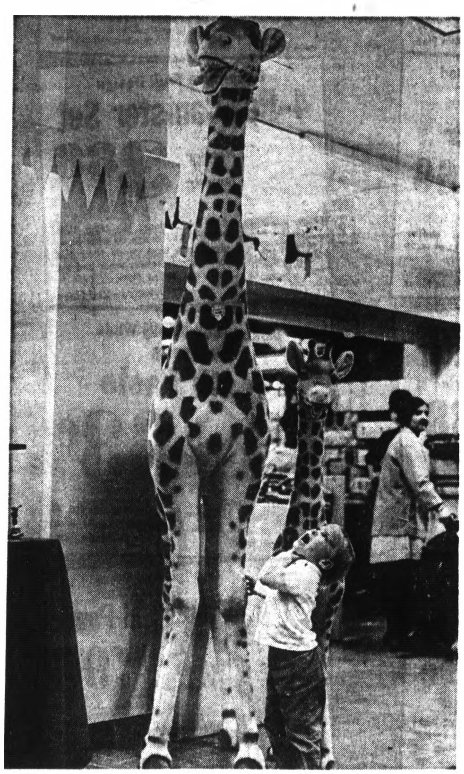

The board of education Monday discussed but took no action on a proposed division of voting precincts in the district. There are only two precincts, one at Avondale Fire Hall and one at Auburn Heights Fire Hall, serving the 6,000 voters of the district.

Dedication ceremonies for R. Grant Graham School, Bloomfield Orchards, were announced for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the school. An open house will be conducted in conjunction with ceremonies.

Dillard Brewer Home In Independence Township Stands Gutted And Unlivable

New Misfortune for Family ---Home Is Gutted by Fire

By JEAN SAILE

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — The Dillard Brewer home at 4622 Hillcrest would have been clear of debt in January.

Last night it burned — the interior gutted — and there was no insurance to cover the loss.

* * *

Brewer was released just a week ago from Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital where he had undergone surgery for repair of a beating allegedly administered by neighborhood ruffians.

Brewer, his 27-year-old wife and their six children — Joanna, 7, Dean, 6, Patty, 5, Angie, 4, Stella, 2, and Lisa, 1 — are currently staying at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Omer Brewer, 5785 Clarkston. The parents are north deer hunting. They haven't yet learned of the young family's latest misfortune.

EXPLOSION IN CLOSET

According to Mrs. Brewer, flames broke out about 1:30 a.m. following an explosion in a closet located in the central portion of the one-story frame house.

Independence Township Fire Marshal Frank Ronk said there was no indication of arson, but that his department is still investigating.

* * *

The children had fallen asleep with their clothes on, Mrs. Brewer said. Her 36-year-old husband, unable to sleep soundly since his release from the hospital, was able to dress and attempt to get the flames out while she took the children and ran outside in her nightclothes. None of the children had shoes.

She thinks all the clothing was destroyed. The three older children who attend classes at Pine Knob Elementary School were unable to attend classes today, because they had no shoes.

WASN'T INSTALLED

The Brewer car, inoperable because of the need of a new regulator, still sits by the burned out house. The regulator, purchased yesterday but not yet installed, burned with the house.

Brewer, who was employed at GMC Truck and Coach Division, has not been able to return to his job since his release from the hospital.

* * *

The obscene words scrawled on the exterior of the house before Brewer was beaten were still visible to firemen. There's been no one to take them off.

One of the youths reportedly involved in the beating, Gregory Simpson, 17, of 6075 Cramlane is still waiting preliminary examination in Waterford Township Justice Court on assault charges. The proceeding was postponed from Nov. 13 until after Brewer was out of the hospital.

NOT CHARGED

Two other youths allegedly involved in the fight were turned over to juvenile authorities. A fourth youth was questioned by police, but was not charged.

Brewer was in the hospital for ten days. He underwent surgery for a broken nose and was treated for cracked ribs, facial lacerations and bruises.

Police said that several days before the assault someone using a spray paint wrote obscenities on his house and later broke almost all of the windows.

The trouble, Mrs. Brewer said, started about two months ago.

* * *

"I was happy just to get the kids out," said the mother.

County to Get $1,507,481 as Highway Funds Share

The Oakland County Road Commission will receive $1,507,481 from the third-quarter distribution of Motor Vehicle Highway Funds, it was announced by the State Highway Commission.

The collections brought payments about 12 per cent higher than the same period last year.

* *

Most of the increase is attributed to the cent-a-gallon increase in gas tax which took effect Jan. 1.

Statewide some $67 million was collected, up about $11 million.

The state retains 46 per cent of all collections with the counties receiving 34 per cent. Cities and villages get 20 per cent. Amounts going to various Oakland County communities include:

Alleged 'Fixer' for Mafia Under Heavy Guard

TROY — Peter Lazaros, reportedly an informer on Detroit-area activities of the Mafia, is under stiff police protection in his home in this city.

Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley confirmed yesterday that Lazaros, who has been questioned by the State Police, is "under protective custody in his home."

* * *

The Detroit News said it had learned State Police and Internal Revenue Service investigators have been dispatched as far away as Florida in a probe of statements attributed to Peter Lazaros that Oakland and Macomb county law enforcement officials and Detroit police officials had accepted bribes.

The paper said it had learned from an "authoritative source" that Lazaros, in interrogation sessions with investigators, had described himself as a "fixer" for the Mafia.

OUT OF PRISON

In the jargon of the underworld, a fixer is a man who pays public officials in order to obtain favorable treatment or illegal services.

Lazaros, 34, who is out of Southern Michigan State Prison on bond and awaiting a new trial on a fraud charge, has been a virtual prisoner in his home as a result of the police protection accorded him.

* * *

A reputed Detroit-area Mafia kingpin, Joseph Barbara Jr., is charged with extortion of $4,000 from Lazaros' wife, Delores, on the promise he would be able to arrange Lazaros' release from prison. He also is charged with raping Mrs. Lazaros while her husband was imprisoned.

Assistant Michigan Atty. Gen. James J. Wood said earlier this week his office would withdraw an appeal against a federal court order granting Lazaros a new trial on the charge of defrauding a loan company of $127,400.

Wood said the decision to drop the appeal was made at the request of the State Police.

Farmington OKs Road Bond Sale

FARMINGTON — The City Council has awarded the sale of $197,000 in bonds for street improvements to the Kenower MacArthur Co. of Detroit.

The bonds are for three different projects. The largest portion, $125,000 is the city's share of the cost of widening Farmington Road. The project is expected to cost about $500,000.

* * *

General obligation street bonds totalling $15,000 and and $57,000 in special assessment bonds will go for paving of streets in the Alta-Loma subdivision.

In other recent action the council and some 25 residents of the Farmington Meadows subdivision heard a report on the traffic count on Salvadore.

200 CARS DAILY

City Manager John Dinan reported that about 200 cars use the road daily. He said this amount of traffic is not substantial enough to warrant it's opening to through traffic. The street again will be closed to Farmington Meadows residents as soon as a barricade can be erected.

* * *

The street had been closed for seven years but was opened last spring at the request of the Oakland County Road Commission and Farmington Township during construction on Farmington Road.

* * *

A comprehensive engineering study of flooding conditions in the Bel Aire subdivision was presented to the Council. Council set a special meeting Nov. 26 for discussion and review of the report before it acts.

Council approved the formation of an eight-member Historical Preservation Committee.

APPOINTMENTS POSTPONED

Two scheduled appointments to the board of review were postponed until the next regular City Council meeting, Dec. 2.

Hubert Calls for Greater Space Effort

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Declaring America's space program a wise investment, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey predicts the nation "will pay the price" for not investing more funds for future space research.

"The space program has contributed greatly to the structure of our nation," Humphrey told National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials meeting here Tuesday to review preparations for an around-the-moon flight by the three Apollo 8 astronauts at Christmastime.

* * *

"I have felt it has been underfunded at times and we will pay the price," the vice president said while explaining that Congress and the Johnson administration cut space spending because of other priorities.

"I feel it is a wise investment on the part of Congress and the public," Humphrey said referring to space research. "I'll do what I can as a private citizen and a former chairman of the space council to see it is funded."

VEEP VISITS CAPE

Humphrey, who as vice president is chairman of the National Aeronautics and Space Council which advises President Johnson on space policy, visited Cape Kennedy for five hours Tuesday en route to Washington from Miami, where he and his wife, Muriel, were vacationing.

He received a first-hand report from the three Apollo 8 pilots who plan to fly around the moon at Christmastime—Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders—then made like an astronaut himself by performing a make-believe rendezvous inside a mock spaceship.

* * *

The vice president said he may return to Cape Kennedy to watch the crew blast off Dec. 21 atop their 363-foot-tall Saturn 5 moon rocket.

Lying on the command pilot's couch inside the spacecraft simulator, Humphrey operated controls while two other astronauts involved with the Apollo 9 mission scheduled for launching in February, Air Force Lt. Col. David R. Scott and Navy Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon, told him how to perform a rendezvous.

CLOSING TOO FAST

"I think you better stop that, Mr. Vice President," Gordon quipped one time when sightings on a spaceship television screen indicated Humphrey was approaching the target too rapidly. "You're going to run right through it."

Humphrey received briefings at the base of the Apollo 9 moon rocket inside its huge assembly hanger, then went out to the Apollo 8 launch pad where he took an elevator to the spacecraft level of the Saturn 5 rocket —320 feet above the ground.

* * *

"I want to thank you for what you've done, which is to give the American people a lift. Without this program, this nation would feel very much behind in the international picture," Humphrey told Apollo program officials.

Aid-Eligibility Rule Proposed

Suits in 26 States Ask Wider Food Programs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Involved investigations about welfare eligibility will be replaced by simple statements of need under a proposed federal rule.

On another poverty front, private lawsuits were announced in 26 states, including Michigan, Tuesday to extend federal food programs to nearly all the estimated 500 counties that do not now have them.

All 50 states would be required to base eligibility for five federal welfare programs on potential recipients' statements of need under a proposed rule published today in the Federal Register.

It would become effective in 30 days, giving interested people time to comment on it.

ROLLS MAY GROW

Welfare rolls may grow temporarily because eligible people will be able to get on them faster, said Stephen Simonds, director of the U.S. Assistance Payments Administration.

But he said the 22 states already using the procedure have found the number of ineligible people getting on roles to be no greater, and sometimes lower, than the 1½ per cent average for all welfare programs.

* * *

Investigations still would be conducted in suspicious cases and applicants claiming disabilities still would have to get medical certification.

Programs affected would include Medicaid, old-age assistance, aid to families with dependent children, aid to the blind and aid for the permanently disabled.

The lawsuits seeking either federal food stamp or commodity distribution programs in hundreds of counties contend that depriving food because of a person's place of residence is unconstitutional, violating the equal protection clause.

Birmingham Man Elected

A Birmingham man, Walter Ruffer of 1869 Birmingham, has been elected president of the Camp Mahn-Go-Tah-See, Inc., a YMCA camp near Hale.

All Mahn-Go-Tah-See applications are handled by the Greater Pontiac Area Young Men's Christian Association.

* * *

Also elected to office are Lester Doughty of 369 Beverly Island, Waterford Township, vice president; Dr. Charles Murray of 600 Waddington, Bloomfield Township secretary; and Roger Rummel of 4025 Lakewood, Waterford Township, reelected treasurer.

The camp's board of directors called the 1968 camp year one of the best in nearly 40 years of operation.

Retiring camp President Ralph Eastridge of 4722 Dow Ridge, Orchard Lake, said that 319 campers used the facilities last summer. More than 1,200 people used the camp during the year.

School Board Errs in Decision

The Pontiac Board of Education has decided to build its proposed super high school on Pontiac State Hospital property.

The board reached this decision alone, without asking any support publicly from the Pontiac City Commission.

The school will be built by the school district alone, not as a comprehensive effort toward over-all City redevelopment.

★ ★ ★

The school board asserted the point that it—alone—is the decision-making body for the school district, with full power and authority to overrule recommendations from its advisory bodies.

★ ★ ★

Thus, the board, alone, must bear the burden of the effect of its decision on the community.

THE PONTIAC PRESS feels the board's decision was wrong.

We feel that the board of education should have delayed any final decision long enough to find out if the City Commission would, in fact, have supported a federal neighborhood development program necessary to build the school at the alternate "center" site on some 55 acres near Bagley and Orchard Lake Avenue.

★ ★ ★

The center site was endorsed by the Pontiac Area Planning Council and the Pontiac School District's Citizens Committee on Human Relations. Both advisory groups also recommended a delay in the final decision pending word from the City Commission as to whether or not the City would support a comprehensive school project on the center site.

Without City cooperation, the board would have absolutely no choice but to decide on the hospital site. And without City Commission cooperation there will be no Neighborhood Development program.

Monday night's decision by a 4-3 vote of the board was a slick job of taking the City off the hook. While the City now has no reason to become involved it has not gone unnoticed in these quarters that our City Commission has, during the past few months of study and debate, successfully skirted any involvement in this issue.

We might suggest here that controversies regarding future development in any community, demand a posture of leadership and direction from the governing body of that community. Our governing body has chosen not to lead, but avoid its public responsibility in this instance.

Finally, it should not be overlooked that in choosing the hospital site, the school board is deciding in favor of a plot of land for which there is no absolute guarantee of purchase. As far as we know, there has been no formal, written commitment from any State authority, guaranteeing that the State will sell the property to the school district.

In any case, the decision is made and the school board alone bears the responsibility for its effects. We think the four members who voted against a delay were wrong.

Wolverine Grid Season a Brilliant One

That shining light you see in the national pigskin firmament is the ascendancy of the star named Wolverine.

After three so-so seasons, the University of Michigan's football fortunes never looked better as the Maize and Blue prime for Saturday's climactic clash with the Buckeyes of Ohio State. On the outcome hinges the Big Ten representative which will engage Southern California in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1.

★ ★ ★

After dropping the first game to powerful California, Michigan has won eight straight games, rolling up 256 points while giving up but 84 to its opponents.

Although the season has been marked by sparkling individual performance and superb team play, the names of two players rate top billing.

The quarterbacking of DENNY BROWN will be long-remembered, while the superlative week-to-week play of halfback and team captain RON JOHNSON has outrun descriptive adjectives.

Last Saturday, in Michigan's 34-9 defeat of Wisconsin, the latter set or tied a fistful of U-M and Conference records.

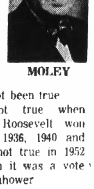

★ ★ ★

As Wolverine supporters within and outside the State breathlessly await the crucial game in Columbus Saturday, we think the battle cry that inspired Detroit's Tigers to their World Series triumph might well be amended to: "Sock It to 'Em Michigan."

Did Voters Signify Desire for Change?

By RAYMOND MOLEY

A favorite bit of Sen Everett Dirksen's philosophy is that a political party doesn't win an election; the other one loses. This implies that people vote against and not for a candidate or party.

MOLEY

Sometimes that has been true. More often it has not been true.

It was not true when Franklin D. Roosevelt won reelection in 1936, 1940 and 1944. It was not true in 1952 and 1956 when it was a vote for Gen. Eisenhower.

But in such "watershed" elections as 1800, 1828, 1860 and 1932 it was true. For in those years the electorate clearly voted to end regimes which had been in power for some time.

Now, what about 1968?

CALLED FOR CHANGE

There were two candidates, Richard Nixon and George Wallace, who called for a change. Their combined vote was about 40 million.

Hubert Humphrey, who received some 30 million votes, represented the Kennedy-Johnson Administrations which followed the policies and traditions of the long Democratic ascendency from 1933 to 1953. The Eisenhower years historically will be classified as an interlude in the 35-year span of Democratic power.

To be sure, the appeals for change by Nixon and Wallace differed greatly in degree and emphasis. And in the case of Wallace, the racial implications were quite obvious. But the import was the same: "Vote against the Johnson-Humphrey regime."

The over-all pattern of the vote shows clearly that this election, despite its special issues and circumstances, foreshadows a fundamental restoration of the two-party system.

OLD ORDER GONE

The old order in which the Republican party could win an election only after conceding the deep South and most of the Border States to the Democratic candidate is gone, perhaps forever.

For with a new and vital Republican party in those states and with the patronage now possible from a Republican President, all of the states will be a battleground for the two parties.

★ ★ ★

This may or may not be a "watershed" election like the ones mentioned above. We shall have to wait until after 1970 and 1972 to determine that.

'See If You Can Get A Man Into Those LBJ Political Science Lectures!'

David Lawrence Says:

Powell Ruling Stirs Speculation

WASHINGTON -- When it was announced this week that Spyros Skouras, United States would hear the case of Adam Clayton Powell, who has just been elected again to the House of Representatives, all sorts of inferences began to be drawn.

LAWRENCE

Some observers took it for granted that the high court would rule in favor of the Harlem minister and affirm his right to a seat in the House. Others assumed that the Supreme Court naturally could not afford to ignore Powell's appeal as it raises a constitutional question, and felt obliged at least to listen to what his lawyers had to say before making a final ruling.

★ ★ ★

An examination of the record, however, will show that the House of Representatives in March 1967 — when, by a vote of 307 to 116, it passed a resolution denying Powell his seat — declared that he was guilty of "gross misconduct."

The argument of the Powell lawyers is that the Constitution merely requires that a representative in Congress shall be at least 25 years old, a citizen of the United States for seven years, and an "inhabitant" of the state from which he has been elected.

2 OTHER PROVISIONS

But there are two other provisions in the Constitution which read as follows:

"Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members.

"Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior and, with the concurrence of two thirds, expel a member."

★ ★ ★

The case of the former Congressman has been in the courts since March 1967, and the United States Court of Appeals on Feb. 28 upheld the lower court ruling that, under the constitutional doctrine of "separation of powers," federal courts had no jurisdiction to hear his suit. An appeal then was filed with the Supreme Court.

The high court could have acted many months ago, but permitted the appeal to rest in its own docket until after Powell was reelected on Nov. 5.

LIMITED APPLICATION

One reason for this perhaps was that his attorneys had argued that his exclusion applied only to the 90th Congress, which adjourned on Oct. 14.

Powell says he has received an invitation to attend the caucus of Democrats prior to the opening of the next session.

★ ★ ★

This presents a problem for the Democratic caucus because many of the members who will attend that conference will have to vote on the seating of Powell in January.

The Supreme Court may not get around to hearing the case before February, and the decision could conceivably not be rendered until some time in May or June.

Greek-Americans Repay the U.S. With a College

NEW YORK—It's the Year of the Greek. So take it away, Spyros Skouras, you once told off Nikita Khrushchev, so why not my readers? It's all yours:

CONSIDINE

"Some time ago, a group of patriotic and dedicated Americans of Greek origin formed the Hellenic University Foundation, of which I am honored to be a part. The efforts of this group resulted in the formation of Hellenic College, Brookline, Mass.

"We all felt that we wanted to repay in some way the debt we owe to this wonderful adopted country of ours, which has given us so much, and that there was not a better way for us to do so than by the gift of a great cultural heritage from which many benefits would flow into the stream of our American culture and science.

"Without the Hellenic epoch, this would be a dark world and our civilizations would be lifeless. The very word "Hellenistic" symbolizes the Golden Age of Greece, a time of the flowering of the arts and sciences of ancient Hellas.

DEEPLY CONCERNED

"So as an American of Greek origin, I am naturally very deeply concerned that all that was best in the educational philosophy of Greece, which has given so much to the growth of civilization and culture of the world, be preserved and rendered in modern terms which would be most meaningful to contemporary American life."

Friends of Skouras, who is 75 this year, are helping erect a $10-million building at Hellenic College to be known as "the Skouras Center for the Creative Arts," named not only for Spyros but his late brothers George and Charles, also film pioneers.

★ ★ ★

"I am seeking the help of the more important and imaginative philanthropies for education and culture in the United States to share in the future plans of this unique institution of higher learning.

"We visualize broadening the school's involvement into graduate levels in medicine, law, education, architecture, engineering and other areas.

"Cordially — Spyros."

'Too Much Medication Can Be Cause of Death'

Modern living, with its many blessings, has almost as many dangers. One serious but little appreciated danger is that of too much medication. Three types of popular drugs lead to accidental death: sleeping pills, tranquilizers and reducing or pep pills.

★ ★ ★

In a series of 60 coroner's autopsies done this year by one pathologist, six have been accidental deaths from self-administered medications. Five of these have been in middle-aged women and one in a middle-aged man. In each case there were several drugs prescribed by a physician or physicians. The patient took the drugs, became confused and continued until a fatal dose had been consumed.

★ ★ ★

People taking reducing pills seem to think that if they overeat more pills should be taken. This leads to overstimulation of the heart and very sudden death. Each of the medications, properly taken, is of value. Improper overuse is fatal.

'Traffic Problems Caused by No Left Turns'

I add my protest to the one of the Waterford police regarding the no left turn off M59 onto Elizabeth Lake Road. Not only is this road a direct route to the Mall, but the best road with the least congestion going into Pontiac. The Michigan State Highway Department states its decision is based on a safety factor, with many accidents in the past.

★ ★ ★

Around 75 per cent of the drivers are traveling about 500 yards past the intersection, with great difficulty and no center turn lane, shortcutting across the heavy westbound traffic and through the bank driveway. This is causing a real bottleneck and will be highly dangerous if allowed to continue. It would be far wiser to allow the left turn for both safety and convenience.

Campaign Costs

New York News

Now that the 1968 elections have entered into history, what did the multitude of campaigns for all the thousands of public offices cost? It's a highly important question.

★ ★ ★

The Associated Press' Gordon Brown, citing various research experts, comes up with an estimate of between $250 million and $300 million — and recalls the late Will Rogers' crack that "politics has got so expensive that it takes lots of money even to get beat with."

★ ★ ★

It is much to be hoped, we feel, that long before the 1972 elections Congress will have done something constructive about this problem.

Reasonable deductions for campaign contributions could be allowed income tax payers. Or Congress could adopt the often-discussed proposal to let anyone so minded check off $1 on his income tax each year for his favorite political party.

Or the federal government might be employed to finance outright the presidential and perhaps congressional campaigns of the major parties. Or all three steps could be taken.

★ ★ ★

The main thing is to get some reforms on the books before public office becomes the more or less exclusive property of wealthy persons. We're headed in that direction now — and fast.

Humperdincks . . .

The Grand Rapids Press

To opera-goers, small children and the audience of the old Ford Motor Co. Radio Hour of fond memory, Engelbert Humperdinck was the composer of "Hansel and Gretel."

To the go-go generation of today, Engelbert Humperdinck is a British pop singer of immense popularity — though the older generation might call it notoriety.

The latterday Humperdinck is in no way related to the 19th century Humperdinck. In fact the present one isn't a Humperdinck at all. He used to be just plain Gene Dorsey. But as Gene Dorsey he didn't make enough money to keep him in throat lozenges. So he borrowed from the past and now is rolling in wealth.

★ ★ ★

Any day now we expect to see emerge from the battalion of rock and roll singers a new, updated Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. Or at the very least, a new Dietrich Buxtehude.

Either one ought to be able to send a generation that can master today's chant, "Bring on Engelbert Humperdinck."

Joe Haas was on a first-name basis with the leading candidates of the day, and his coverage of the the conventions was eagerly received by thousands.

* * *

Scouting rewarded him for his years of service with the highest honor it can bestow — the Silver Beaver award. The Oakland County Board of Supervisors made him county historian, and his preface appeared annually in the county directory.

Crowds flocked to his Holly home each year to see his 6,000-tulip garden, and then returned at Christmastime to see the most-decorated tree in the county with 1,500 lights.

In 1959, the Detroit chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalism society, honored him as the dean of working newsmen in Michigan.

* * *

His wife, Winifred, died in 1959. His will left $60,000 to the Clinton Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America, and it was used to erect a lodge in memory of Joe and Winifred.

Also named to the Hall of Fame at the same time was Philip T. Rich, retired former publisher of the Midland Daily News.

Waterford Crash Hospitalizes Man

A Waterford Township man was injured in a two-car crash at 6 p.m. yesterday at Walton and Lake Oakland Shores in the township.

Bernard D. Poole, 21, of 3425 Plains, was in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital today.

Township police said Poole's car collided with one driven by Virginia M. Kaul, 46, of 3202 Loon Lake, who was not seriously injured.

Troy Woman Hurt in Plane Crash Called Improved

The condition of a Troy woman injured in a private plane crash Sunday is reportedly improving, a Pontiac General Hospital spokesman said today.

Carolyn Kimmel, 25, of 1044 Woodslee suffered chest injuries when a twin-engine craft owned and piloted by Hudson U. Beatty, 46, of 2870 Pine Lake, Orchard Lake, crashed near Oakland-Pontiac Airport while on a landing approach.

* * *

Beatty was killed in the crash.

Miss Kimmel, who was found by searchers about two hours after the accident, is undergoing treatment in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Area School Board to Hear Students

The Waterford Township Board of Education will hear from two student groups at its 7:30 p.m. meeting tomorrow at the administration building, 3101 W. Walton.

The Waterford Mott group will give a progress report on its school and students from Mason Junior High will speak about their football field.

Other items on the agenda include a progress report on the Learning Improvement Center and staff appointments.

Breakout Bid Thwarted at County Jail

An attempted jailbreak by three or four Oakland County Jail prisoners was quelled late yesterday when two deputies succeeded in holding the men at bay until help arrived.

Capt. Leo Hazen, chief of sheriff's detectives, said the attempt came about 8 p.m. when turnkeys ordered a group of inmates in a bullpen area to return to their individual cells.

* * *

One of the prisoners approached Deputy Charles Corbin and asked him a question, then attacked him, Hazen said.

When Deputy Joe Durand came to Corbin's aid, several more prisoners joined the fray and the inmates succeeded in taking the turnkeys' chemical Mace and several keys, it was reported.

MAKESHIFT WEAPON

At least one prisoner was armed with a spoon filed to a sharp edge, Hazen said. He said reinforcements were able to subdue the prisoners and move them into cells.

No serious injuries were reported.

The incident is under investigation, and charges of attempted jailbreak may be forthcoming, according to Hazen.

Threat Ends Near Albion

Natural Gas Leak Is Plugged

ALBION (UPI)—A huge pocket of natural gas, which for 16 days had caused geysers of water to spout through layers of porous soil, was plugged near here yesterday.

The pocket, tapped some 4,500 feet down in a search for oil, was sealed by sandwiching expandable plugs between layers of cement 300 feet deep. Some workers had been brought in from as far away as Oklahoma and Colorado.

★ ★ ★

Pressure caused by tapping into the pocket Nov. 2 had forced water to spout throughout the area, about eight miles northwest of this southern Michigan city. One geyser leaped two to four times the height of a two-story house near which it erupted.

Several families were evacuated to a local motel after their water supplies were affected by the leaking gas. Only one fire was reported as due to the gas seeping through the muck soil.

'NO LASTING DAMAGE'

Gerald E. Eddy, chief of the geological survey division of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, said he didn't believe there would be "any lasting damage."

He said that gas seeping through lower strata was not unusual in the Albion area where 30 to 40 of the 500 wells drilled have similar problems.

"The oddity about this well is the way it got into the underground water supply," he said.

The well was drilled by Perry Fulks, an Albion businessman, on the farm of Earl Midlam in Lee Township. Portions of two county roads near the site had to be closed because of water seepage.

A similar freak drilling incident a year ago forced the evacuation of 150 families living between Muttonville and New Haven in Macomb County. There, gas seeped through faults and into abandoned wells, forcing water through pipes into homes.

Cub Leaders Training Set

Adult leaders in the Cub Scout program of the Clinton Valley Council are urged to attend a training pow wow Saturday at 1700 Baldwin.

The once-a-year pow wow is a place to exchange ideas and information and to train in Cub pack and den activities.

Registration is from 12:30 to 1 p.m. and the session ends at 6 p.m.

Cost is $1 per person to cover materials and refreshments. Participants are asked to bring a game or display to help in an exchange of ideas.

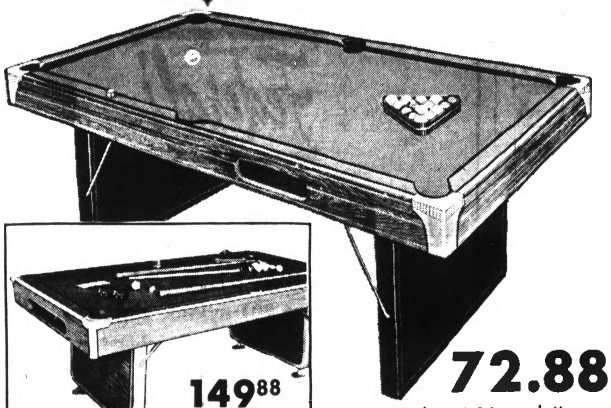

Jailed for Holdup

BAY CITY (AP)—Richard V. Cummings, 32, Midland, convicted in the holdup of the Saginaw County Bank last May, received a 15-year sentence Tuesday from Federal Judge Stephen J. Roth. More than $4,000 was taken in the holdup.

Presently there are some 12,276 interns and residents serving in U.S. hospitals who graduated from foreign medical schools. The largest number are from the Philippines, India and Korea.

2 Police Face Discipline in Cobo Incident

DETROIT (AP)—Disciplinary action will be initiated against two Detroit policemen involved in a confrontation between police and members of the Poor People's March at Detroit's Cobo Hall last May.

"Certain corrective action is indicated," Detroit Police Commissioner Johannes Spreen said Tuesday.

* * *

Spreen said charges against the two patrolmen would be handled at a commissioner's hearing "in the near future," but declined to specify the nature of the charges. The men were not suspended, Spreen added.

The incident erupted when police ordered the Poor People's contingent to remove a car from a driveway in which parking is prohibited.

BATTERY DEAD

The marchers said the car—identified as a communications vehicle for the rally—had a dead battery and could not be moved immediately.

A number of the marchers ringed the vehicle to prevent police from towing it away, and —they later charged—mounted police swept into their ranks with nightsticks swinging. Nineteen marchers suffered minor injuries.

* * *

"There is evidence," Spreen said, "that some within the Poor People's March seemed to be intent upon creating incidents or confrontations with the police that they evidently felt would serve to focus attention on their cause."

The police commissioner said the biggest problem of the day of the incident was that "members of the crowd were inadvertently caught between two police forces, each acting as they evaluated the situation at that time."

INSIDE AND OUT

He said the two forces were officers outside the building "attempting to resolve the situation" in the drive and police inside Cobo Hall intent on keeping disorder out of the building.

Spreen said the incident revealed the need for improvements including:

- Training for supervisory officers and subordinates.
- Camera crews with sound equipment, so situations could be evaluated for later training.
- More effective loud hailers and public address systems.
- Additional supervisory officers "to insure adequate control of the forces in contact."
- Expansion of the Citizens Complaint Bureau "in personnel and scope."
- Institution of a community relations unit within the police department.

The patrolmen against whom disciplinary action was started are John Kursteiner of the Tactical Mobile Unit and John Kress of the Motor Traffic Bureau.

Mass for JFK Set for Friday

DALLAS (AP) — A Mass will be said at Holy Trinity Church Friday for the late President John F. Kennedy. The Very Rev. Oscar L. Hubert, former priest at Holy Trinity, administered the last rites to the President at Parkland Memorial Hospital.

Kennedy was shot five years ago Nov. 22 as he rode through Dealey Plaza in a motorcade. A $100,000 memorial to him, to be located two blocks from the plaza, is scheduled for completion in October of 1969.

The population of England and Wales is expected to grow by 4.5 million people to a total of 53 million by 1981.

2-Lane Rural Roads 'Killers'

LANSING (UPI)—The Michigar Sheriff's Association said yesterday a survey showed 75 per cent of the fatal automobile accidents in 63 of Michigan's 83 counties last month occurred on two-lane rural highways.

* * *

S. Don Potter, Lansing, the group's executive secretary, said a similar study will be made during November.

* * *

"Two-lane rural roadways are killers and call for special enforcement emphasis," said Potter.

* * *

The association said the 63 counties involved in the survey recorded 3,776 accidents during October. It said 74 of these resulted in at least one fatality, with total deaths listed at 102. There were 1,307 injury accidents reported, with 1,190 persons hurt.

Farm Worker Is Labeled Forgotten Man in U.S.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The farm worker is described as "America's forgotten man" by two University of Michigan specialists in American studies.

Ignorance of the farm worker's plight is attributed, among other things, to the growing trend toward urbanization, according to Robert A. Sklar, assistant professor of history, and Nicholaus C. Mills, instructor in English.

* * *

General prosperity and hard-to-change 19th century attitudes toward agriculture and rural life also contributed toward the farm worker being overlooked, the educators report.

* * *

They report the farm workers' average income is less than $1,800 a year, well below the so-called poverty level of $3,000, and he is excluded specifically from coverage of the National Labor Relations Act and therefore denied collective bargaining rights, a minimum wage or unemployment insurance.

MOST STATES BAR HIM

Most states, they also report, bar him from workmen's compensation statutes and disability insurance.

* * *

His children, unprotected by the child labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act, drop out of elementary school to begin a lifetime of work in the fields, according to the teachers.

* * *

"The migrant worker, especially, has simply gone out of the national consciousness," Sklar said in an interview. "As the population has become more urbanized, farm issues have become less pressing.

* * *

"No one really thinks about these people unless he happens to pass a truck of workers on the turnpike."

Drawing Ends Vote Deadlock

LANSING (UPI)—A cut of the cards and an ancient Michigan election law combined yesterday to break a vote deadlock for Ingham County's 19th District Board of Supervisors post.

Candidates Ray Burgess and Dick Warren of Lansing tied with 1,394 votes apiece in the Nov. 5 election. Under a 93-year-old state law, the winner had to be determined by drawing lots.

The question was which candidate should draw the first lot?

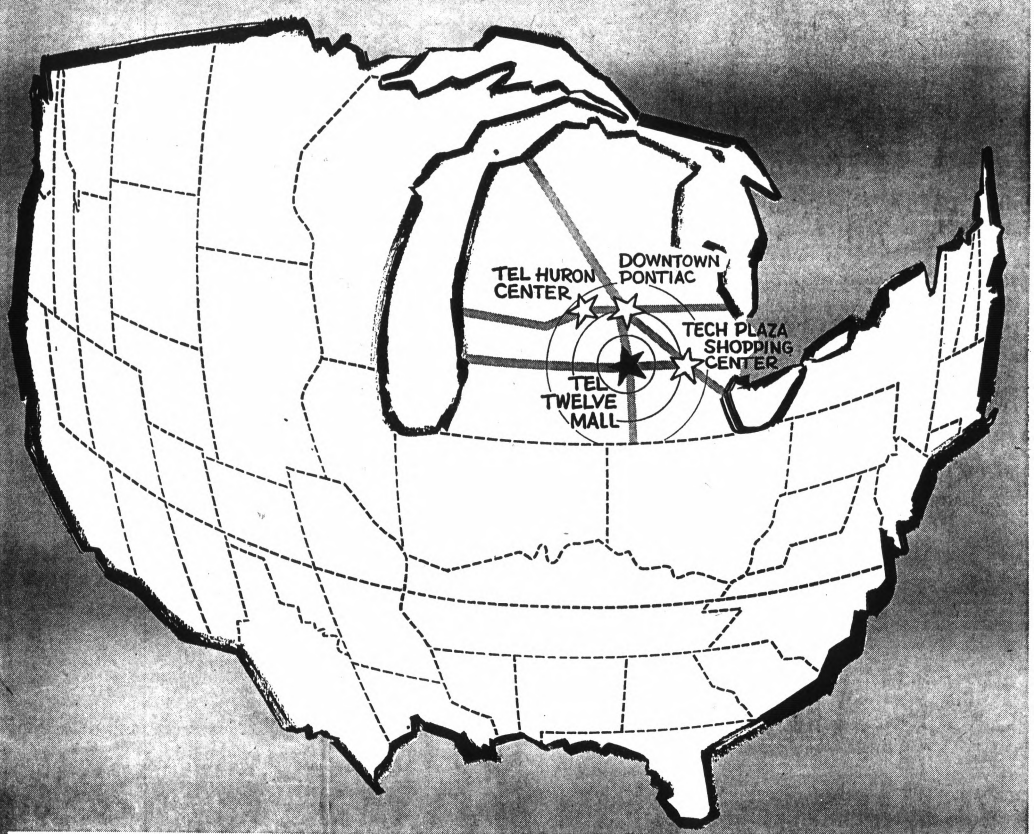

It was agreed to cut cards for that privilege. Burgess cut a seven of hearts, Warren a five of spades.

* * *

Burgess followed up by drawing the "elected" lot.

The county clerk said it was the first time the law had been used in Ingham County to break a tie. Warren said he will petition for a vote recount.

Yule Cards Tell of Peace Hope

NEW YORK (UPI) — Judged by the trend in Christmas cards this season, the predominant mood of the average American in these turbulent times is for peace, and for a return to some of the values of yesteryear, according to a trade survey.

The survey, conducted by the American Artists Group, also indicates continued strong demand for greetings of a religious nature. Depictions of the Madonna and Child still rank as the most sought after. Scenes of churches, both city and country, are popular.

* * *

The hundreds of artists and illustrators who create the Group's annual collections have taken note of the current nostaligia and wish for peace.

Typical are such scenes as a little girl in turn - of - the - century dress arranging her own creche in a cupboard that today would command a handsome price as an antique.

TREE FOR PEACE

The theme of peace among nations is reflected in the picture of a Christmas tree formed by persons garbed in the native dress of many countries. Another shows a globe sprouting greens in a plea for amity.

* * *

Businessmen, the survey showed, are abandoning the heavily ornate, impersonal formal greeting and landscape stereotypes for personal expression through contemporary scenes, both urban and rural READYING FIRST BATCH — Merck Sharp & Dohme employes use special hypodermic syringes to inoculate eggs with influenza virus. Millions of fertile eggs are required to make the chick embryos on which the deadly virus strain breeds.

100,000 Doses Ready to Use

New Flu Vaccine Batch OK'd

WEST POINT, Pa. (AP) — The first government-approved batch of Hong Kong influenza vaccine yesterday began the fast trip to hospitals, pharmacies, and doctors' offices all across America. Officials are hopeful of checking a possible Asian flu epidemic.

* * *

Merck Sharp & Dohme, one of six drug firms working round-the-clock since September to produce the vaccine, announced approval of its first lot—100,000 doses—at its suburban Philadelphia plant here by the Federal Division of Biological Standards of the National Institutes of Health.

* * *

Other manufacturers expect to make shipments in a week or two.

William E. Keppler, vice president of production, said Merck hopes to produce 7.5 million doses—or a third of the anticipated supply—and have it shipped by mid-January.

CRASH PROBLEM

He said that flu vaccine normally takes from 4 to 6 months to produce, but a crash program cut the time in less than half.

Keppler said Merck's first shipment actually is two weeks ahead of schedule.

* * *

Millions of fertile eggs of high quality are required to make the chick embryos on which the deadly virus strain breeds. A shortage of lovemaking roosters and hens reportedly had slowed the vaccine-making process.

Federal health official say they expect sufficient quantities of the vaccine will be produced to protect the most critical segment of the population, the 30 million Americans over 65, and those who are chronically ill.

* * *

The Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association has said no one knows when or if the flu will reach epidemic proportions. Immunization against the flu reportedly is effective within two or three weeks after injection of the vaccine.

Murder Charge

DETROIT (AP) — Inspector Delore Ricard of the Detroit Police Department homicide bureau requested a murder warrant Tuesday against Gary Holleran, 22, of East Detroit in the fatal shooting of Henry Doc Savage, 50, in a weekend brawl outside a bar. Savage was a widely known Detroit bondsman.

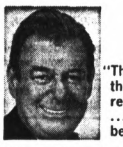

Land Swap OK'd

LANSING (AP) — The State Administrative Board has approved a $103,000 property exchange between the Department of State Highways and the First Church of Christ Scientist of Jackson. The property will be used for construction of the I-94 business loop in Jackson.

U.S. to Loft Stargazer Satellite

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —U.S. scientists are preparing to orbit a bundle of telescopes to open a new era in astronomy and perhaps provide clues to the origin of the universe.

The 11 telescopes are packed in the Second Orbiting Astronomical Observatory (OAO-2), scheduled for launching from Cape Kennedy late this month into a 480-mile-high circular orbit.

* * *

From its lofty outpost, OAO-2 will give astronomers their first look at thousands of stars from above the distorting influence of the earth's atmosphere, which absorbs much of the telltale energy emitted by solar sources.

"It will open up a new window on the universe," said Dr. Fred L. Whipple, director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, Cambridge, Mass.

'NOT OBSERVABLE'

"We will be looking at a completely different energy region that has not been observable from the ground."

Dr. John F. Clark, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Goddard Space Flight Center, said OAO-2 "may prove to be as great a step forward in astronomy as was the invention of the telescope centuries ago."

* * *

Clark reported the spacecraft has undergone considerable change since the first OAO failed in April 1966, because of a battery problem after only two days in space.

"This new OAO is unique," he said, "the most challenging and most complex automated scientific spacecraft yet developed by this country."

ADDED COST

The changes have added greatly to the cost of a single satellite — from $60 million for OAO-1 to $75 million for the present payload.

The satellite was built by Grumman Aircraft Engineering Co. It has a stabilization system developed by General Electric Space Systems Organization which is designed to aim the telescopes with an accuracy equivalent to distinguishing between a man's right and left eye at 500 feet.

* * *

OAO-2 contains two major experiments, a cluster of four telescopes developed by the Smithsonian Observatory and a roup of seven telescopes designed by the University of Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin package basically will inspect individual stars to observe chemical composition and the pressure and density of each stellar structure.

TO STUDY STARS

The Smithsonian experiment is to scan large portions of the sky, studying more than 700 stars each day to obtain data on the ultraviolet portion of the electromagnetic spectrum.

Studies indicate that space not only includes old stars, perhaps 10 billion years old, but also young stars perhaps only 100,000 years old. The visible light from these stars tells us much about them. But much of the light, particularly in young stars, is ultraviolet which cannot be seen on earth because it is filtered out by the atmosphere.

* * *

"By going into the ultraviolet as we can with OAO," Whipple said, "we can then find out what really happens in these stars.

"We want to measure many stars, particularly hot stars, most of them very young," Whipple said. "But we also want to observe some of the very old stars, because these carry the story of what the matter was in the universe when it was new. They will give us the answer whether the universe is almost entirely hydrogen or whether there was quite a bit of helium. And this will give us some of the answers with regard to how the universe came into being."

* * *

Whipple said most scientists agree that at one time the entire matter of the universe was concentrated in a very small volume.

"It became exceedingly hot," he added, "and as a result blew out at a tremendous rate—the actual rate at which it exploded would determine how much hydrogen and helium there was in ratio. This is one of the objectives we hope we can get out of OAO."

Lovelorn Rhino, Gus, Is Seeking a Mate

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI)—There's a lovelorn wail wafting from south Florida's simulated game preserve.

The preserve's most unique citizen, a 7,600-pound rhinoceros called Gus, is mooning for a mate.

* * *

In his specifications, weight poses no problem. In fact, a 7,000-pound female would fit the bill ideally.

"He's lonely," says Dan Brennan, zoological manager of the 6,400-acre Lion Country Safari. "We called in veterinarians to check Gus for any organic ailments, but they found none. Their diagnosis—Gus needs a girlfriend.

VALUABLE PROPERTY

"Gus has been pawing at the ground and I think every red-blooded male knows what that means."

Gus, the lone rhino among hundreds of African animals roaming the preserve, is valuable property. With his enormous horn and doleful eyes, he has become the darling of photographers.

Gus is a square-lipped or, more commonly called white rhino. This type of rhino was almost exterminated by hunters in Africa who received exorbitant prices for the horns from Arab traders. The traders in turn sold the horns to Orientals who thought they had aphrodisiac qualities.

PROTECTED ANIMALS

Rhinos are now protected in game reserves in South Africa, Uganda and southern Sudan.

But how does a matchmaker go about finding a mate for a half-ton certothium simum? He can't just frequent area dance halls and saloons, or feed the salient facts into a computer.

* * *

Brennan has decided to approach an organization called International Animal Exchange, with outposts throughout the world.

We've got to keep Gus happy and contented," says Bill Dredge, manager of the tourist attraction, "and seeing they say a bride will do it, that's just what we're looking for."

Indian Youth Aim Higher

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — A program designed to inspire Indian boys and girls to continue their education beyond the secondary level is being carried on in a series of eight-week residential projects at Arizona State University.

Many of the 85 students from 11 Arizona tribes traveled 300 to 400 miles from home to join their classmates in the nation's first all-Indian Upward Bound program.

* * *

Project Director George Gill, an Omaha Indian from Nebraska, set up an ungraded curriculum.

His staff of six teachers, 10 tutors, a counselor and recreation director constantly advised the students of their progress, helped them to study for tests, kept homework at a minimum and generally assisted in relieving the pressures on the students.

The program began last summer. Upon completion of the first eight-week session, Gill began a 10-month follow-up plan in which he and his assistant visited the students on reservations for testing, evaluations and counseling to determine the effects of the experiment.

He found that the grades of the participating students had risen one full level.

Appeals Bench for Thorburn?

Area GOP Is Backing Royal Oak Judge

An Oakland County Circuit Court judge who last year served as county grand juror has been recommended by area Republicans to fill a vacancy on the State Court of Appeals.

THORBURN

James S. Thorburn of Royal Oak, named to the circuit bench by Gov. George Romney in 1963, will be recommended officially for the appeals post in a letter from the county GOP committee to Romney.

* * *

The vacancy was created this month by the election of Appeals Court Justice Thomas G. Kavanagh to the State Supreme Court.

John Cartwright, Republican chairman for the 19th Congressional District, moved to recommend Thorburn at the GOP fall convention held last night at Andover High School in Bloomfield Hills.

FORMER POSTS

Thorburn, 49, was formerly city attorney for Pleasant Ridge and Huntington Woods, and attorney for the Birmingham School District. A graduate of Michigan State University and the University of Michigan law school, he served 12 years on the Royal Oak Board of Education.

In other business, the convention elected 46 members to the county executive committee.

* * *

The new members will join the party's 46 candidates for state and county legislative offices, who are members of the committee by state law, making a total of 92.

Members of the committee will serve two-year terms, and must meet within 10 days to elect county officers—chairman, vice chairman, secretary and treasurer—for the party.

Tenant Parley

DETROIT (AP) — A conference on tenants' rights and code enforcement will be held Saturday at the University of Detroit.

* * *

Mr. Thibodeau had been employed with General Motors Fisher Body Division prior to joining Ford in 1945. He was the founder of the Thibodeau Engineering Co. of Birmingham. He resided at 550 Billingsgate.

Surviving are two sons, Paul J. and Robert E., both of Birmingham; three daughters, Mrs. Tudor Marks of Southfield, Mrs. William C. Brown of Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. James L. Wolford of Birmingham; 16 grandchildren; and three brothers.

3 Get Pontiac Div. Promotions

A realignment of responsibilities within Pontiac Motor Division's accounting department has resulted in the promotion of three area men.

A Waterford Township man, Frank V. Elliott of 3085 St. Jude, assumes responsibility for cost analysis, plant analysis and property accounting.

ELLIOTT

An assistant divisional comptroller, he also will retain responsibilities of budget, forecasts and tool analysis, product program and pricing, contract administration, tax and insurance and economic analysis.

* * *

Robert S. Geyman, assistant divisional comptroller, has been assigned direct charge of systems and net work scheduling. Geyman of 1941 Malibu, Bloomfield Township, also will handle data processing operations and programming in the advanced planning and application areas.

GEYMAN

* * *

Reporting to Geyman will be William E. Hoglund, named general administrator of accounts payable, accounts receivable, billing, general ledger, salary payroll, hourly payroll and timekeeping.

HOGLUND

Hoglund of 1099 N. Glenhurst, Birmingham, has had previous experience with the GM Assembly Division and central office financial staff. He joined Pontiac in 1965.

* * *

Geyman came to the division two years ago after serving as assistant general director of operation analysis with the Chevrolet Motor Division.

* * *

Elliott joined Pontiac in 1960. He has been assistant comptroller since 1963.

OCC May Fill Trustee Post

The Oakland Community College Board of Trustees may select a trustee to replace Ralph F. Tyndall at its regular meeting tomorrow.

Tyndall, former assistant superintendent of Berkley Schools, resigned as a trustee in September for personal reasons. His four-year term expires in June 1970.

A number of other routine items are on the board agenda. The trustees are scheduled to meet 8:30 p.m. on the third floor of the Sawyer Building at Pontiac State Hospital.

There were 56 incidents directed at American facilities abroad last year causing damage of about $188,000.

National Unit Gives Mayor Taylor Post

Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. has been appointed to the resolutions committee of the National League of Cities.

* * *

In announcing the appointment, Philadelphia Mayor James H. Tate, president of the group, said the committee will play an important part in the league's policy development at the forthcoming national convention.

Bound Together by Tragedy

Kennedys to Mark Nov. 22

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — "Sometimes I wonder if there is something about my family which invites violence."

This thought by Mrs. Rose Kennedy probably is on the minds of the rest of her family as they reflect on the tragedy in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963 — five years ago tomorrow — when President John F. Kennedy was assassinated.

* * *

Each member of the Kennedy family will, in his or her own way, honor the memory of JFK on the grim anniversary.

Though they may be miles apart, the Kennedys will be bound together by the fabled Kennedy spirit and family strength. There will be fleeting thoughts of what might have been but — more characteristically — more of what will be.

TO ATTEND MASS

Rose, the mother of the brood that has known immense personal suffering down through the years, will attend a concelebrated Requiem Low Mass in memory of JFK at 7:30 p.m. at St. Francis Xavier (Roman Catholic) Church in Hyannis. The father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, has been confined to a wheelchair since 1961. He will remain at home.

Edward M. Kennedy, the young Massachusetts senator on whose shoulders now rests the weight of the Kennedy burden and glory, was undecided about his plans. He may remain in Washington and pay respect to his brother's memory in his own personal way, or he may join his mother in Hyannis Port.

* * *

It was not known whether he or any other member of the Kennedy family planned to visit the late president's grave site at Arlington National Cemetery.

The president's widow Jacqueline, now Mrs. Aristotle Onassis, arrived back in New York this week, but her plans for tomorrow were not immediately known. A spokesman said she would probably attend a memorial Mass in New York with her two children, John Jr., 7, and Caroline, 10.

TO APPEAR ON TV

Tomorrow morning Rose Kennedy is to appear on a taped segment of the "Today" television show in New York to announce the designation of the day as national Flame of Hope Day because, she said, her son's life "has been a flame of hope to so many millions of people." Flame of Hope is a project for the mentally retarded which designs products that can be manufactured by and sold for them.

* * *

Much has happened to the family since those sad days five years ago, recalled most vividly by a photo of John Jr., saluting as the casket bearing his father passed by. The Kennedy spirit and courage have been repeatedly tested.

* * *

The family knew deep grief before the president was slain as he rode in an open car under sunny skies in Dallas. Eldest son Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., was killed in World War II, followed shortly by the death of a daughter in a plane crash.

Edward survived a brush with death four years ago in a plane crash. Then, this June 5, Sen. Robert Kennedy fell victim to the same fate as JFK, murdered by an assassin's bullet.

When the president was slain, Robert became the leader of the fast following the Kennedys had amassed. He had picked up the standard of his fallen brother and, this year, decided to enter the presidential race.

On the night of his victory in the California primary, Robert was murdered. The tragedy that seems to haunt the Kennedys continued.

What Robert had tried to do was passed on to Edward. Many urged Edward to seek the presidency this year. He declined, a move his mother said was the "right decision," but she also said "He should go on in politics."

Edward, 36, said after Robert's death, "There is no safety in hiding." He said he must pick up the "fallen standard of his brothers.

Bad weather never stopped a determined woman. Mrs. Forbes S. Hascall, Pine Hill Drive (left) and Mrs. Sheldon Marston, Birmingham, unload treasures from the fields after a chilly expedition. The dried arrangements they make are being sold for the benefit of the chapel fund at Lapeer Home and Training School.

Volunteers Benefit Lapeer Chapel Fund

When children are grown and their mothers have more free time, concern for children in general takes over. It is not to say that younger women do not volunteer their time and efforts, but their families must come first.

* * *

The children at Lapeer Home and Training School have many people looking after their welfare. In addition to the paid staff on daily duty, there are parents in the Lapeer Parents Association (LPA) and other volunteers.

* * *

One of the latter is Mrs. Sheldon Marston of Birmingham. For many years she has given time to Lapeer children, helping with parties, dressing dolls the year around and assisting at the annual LPA fall bazaar.

* * *

It bothers her that there is no chapel on the grounds. Since the old one burned down 30 years ago, chuch services are held wherever there is space. A little deafmute patient once brought her a picture of a church and indicated it was a place he would like to be in for worship.

CHAPEL FUND

Single-handedly, she can't build a chapel or even raise enough money for one to be built. But she can help increase the chapel fund that does exist.

Her present project — one for which she has drafted members of the Birmingham Women's Club fine arts department as helpers — is to make and sell as many arrangements of dried flowers and weeds as possible. All proceeds go to the chapel fund.

* * *

The hardier women in the group tramp the fields to gather materials. With Mrs. Marston and other volunteers, they dye and spray their loot. The final arrangements in all kinds of containers are charming. Jars, cheese crocks, flat cat food cans; all are used.

* * *

Anyone wishing to purchase an arrangement may contact Mrs. Marston, Mrs. Forbes S. Hascall of Pine Hill Drive or Mrs. Hans Schjolin, Birmingham.

Coast Visitor Here

Mrs. A. J. Theiler of Glendora, Calif. has arrived to spend a week with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Albert Weber of East Iroquois Road.

Plans Under Way for Spring Events

Long range planning is essential when everyone is so busy. Already, the dates for the annual May visit of the Metropolitan Opera week in Detroit have been announced.

* * *

Monday, at a luncheon in the Lake George Road home of Mrs. Stephen DuBrul, area chairmen and their committees worked on details of "Overture to Opera."

* * *

Mrs. Ralph McElvenny, Grosse Pointe Farms, general chairman of the Detroit Grand Opera Association, was present. Other guests were Dr. David DiChiera, director of "Overture to Opera" and Dr. Walter S. Collins, dean of Meadow Brook School of Music at Oakland University.

* * *

There is to be one evening performance of "Overture" on March 10 in Pontiac Northern High School. An afterglow in the Pontiac Creative Arts Center will follow.

* * *

Dr. DiChiera and his family depart the following day for sabbatical leave in Rome.

Be Friendly but Firm on Money Matter

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: How do you handle a situation in which you are one of a group of riders in someone else's car and another rider suggests, "Let's all pay Mary $3 apiece to pay for parking."

The parking will be only about $2 and there are four riders in all, and you feel that it is unfair for another rider to stipulate the exact amount you and everyone else is to pay — especially when the amount is impossibly high.

Another time it was $5 apiece for gasoline. I also object to this when it is my car and I am driving. — Anne.

* * *

Dear Anne: If the same riders have gone along on other trips for which no one paid anything, you just accept the $3 charge. If, however, this is just a one-shot affair, simply say, "I'd be delighted to share but $9 seems a lot for a $2 parking fee.

"Why don't we each contribute $1 each time we accept a ride?"

BETTER

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I have recently moved into our first home. We just received a mirror to be hung over our mantle, from a relative, which does not go with our living room decor.

How can I tactfully tell him that we can't use his gift? Incidentally, I had previously told him exactly what I wanted to hang in that particular area. — Laura C.

* * *

Dear Mrs. C.: Can't you use the mirror in the hall or dining room? Then, when he sees it, you can just say how absolutely perfect it seemed for that particular spot.

If not, you'll just have to ask his permission to exchange it, claiming that the shape or size was not quite right.

Rochester Gals Set Charity Ball

Green foil dancing slippers with glittering buckles, displayed in Rochester store windows, will remind the community of the Rochester Junior Woman's Club's upcoming Hospital Charity Ball.

The seventh annual affair is scheduled at the Rochester Elks Lodge Nov. 30.

* * *

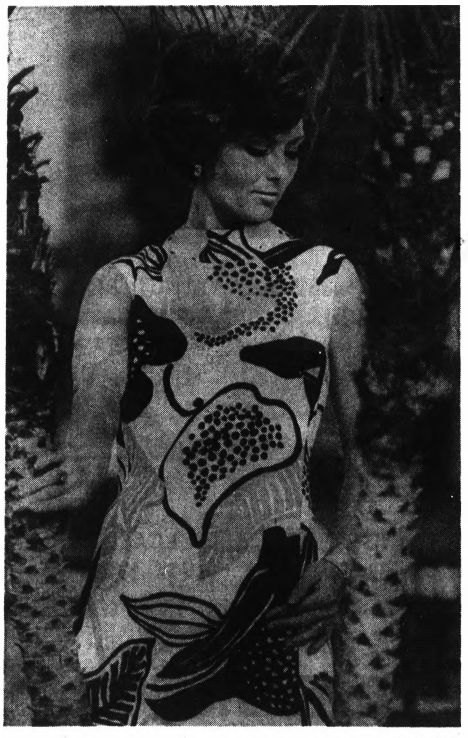

Decorations, including the traditional Chrismas tree, will be in blue and green with Christmasy centerpieces on each table.

Cochairmen Mrs. John O'Donnell and Mrs. Neal Pocock have engaged the Frank James orchestra to play from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. when a buffet will be served.

* * *

Proceeds of the dance are allocated this year to the furnishing and decorating of a patient lounge in the obstetrics department of Crittenton Hospital, continuing a tradition of support for the hospital which was begun with a pledge of $10,000 to the building fund in 1961. That pledge was paid by 1965.

Committee chairmen are Mesdames: Lloyd Lake, William Keinath, William MacDuff and Peter Vernia. .

Mother Lies a Lot

If All Else Fails, Try the Truth

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and have a beautiful baby whom my husband and I both adore. I was six months pregnant when I got married, but my husband and I are very much in love, and we are not ashamed of it. My problem is my mother. She is so ashamed of me that she's gone around saying we were "secretly" married for six months, and I guess some believe her and some don't.

ABBY

I just tell people the truth.

* * *

We're going to a family wedding out of state soon and my mother says if she hears me tell anybody we were married in January and the baby was born in April she will take me bodily from the room. I told her I wasn't going to lie about it, but she has already lied so much she looks silly. Now she says I don't have the right to make a liar out of her. So what would you do?

NO LIAR

DEAR NO LIAR: If you have been telling people the truth, I doubt if your mother's story has fooled many. Don't volunteer any of the specific dates, but if you're pinned down, stick with the truth.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Enclosed is a yellowed, dog-eared clipping from your column. It appeared about three years ago, and you can't imagine how much sustenance I've drawn from it over the years. It's been an "instant tranquilizer." Would you please run it again for mothers who may have missed it?

A READER

* * *

DEAR READER: With pleasure, and here it is:

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of three daughters, ages 11, 13, and 15. These girls are driving me crazy! There is never a peaceful minute in this house. They are always fighting. When they were small they were constantly at each other's throats, but I thought they would get along better when they got older.

Well, they've gotten worse, not better. We have done everything to teach them love and respect for each other, but we've failed. My husband still insists they will "outgrow" this hatred they seem to have for one another. Will they? If so, when? GOING CRAZY

DEAR GOING: Be patient. Girls between 11 and 14 are generally stubborn, selfish, and moody. They will become more reasonable and considerate of each other when they mature. Unfortunately by that time, they'll be ready to leave home. Sorry, Mother, but why should it be any different at your house?

'Servant Feud Upsets Onassis N.Y. Household

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Jackie Onassis arrived at her New York apartment Monday for the first time since her Greek wedding, she found a feud between her servants and those of her husband.

Society columnist Maxine Cheshire reported from New York the feud centers around insufficient space for servants in Mrs. Onassis' apartment. The apartment has four servants' bedrooms.

"Aristotle Onassis' butler and valet began moving themselves and their master into the midst of the former Mrs. John F. Kennedy's tranquil domestic scene earlier this week," Mrs. Cheshire wrote.

* * *

"There has been nothing but emotional turmoil in the kitchen and back corridors ever since," she added.

O'Donnell with club president Mrs. John F. Allen.

More than 9,000 hours of service have been contributed by these three volunteers at Pontiac General Hospital; each received a service pin with two diamonds at an awards luncheon Tuesday in the Elks Temple. Wear Light Reflectors

WASHINGTON, D.C. — If you're a night person, be a light person as well. This advice comes from the U.S. Public Health Service (PHS) which is urging Americans to wear garments that reflect light as they go about their night-time business.

More than half the 160,000 pedestrians killed or injured last year were struck down at night. To cut this fearful toll, the PHS urges that retro-reflective materials be worn on the person. These materials are impregnated with tiny glass beads that bounce the light back to its source in such a way that a person can be picked out by a car's headlights at double the normal distance.

Retro-reflective materials, which can be purchased at paint and hardware stores, come in a variety of guises: as iron-on tape, as fabric that can be sewn onto clothing, as slip-on arm bands, as dangle tags on string.

February vows are slated.

Get Rid of Tub Ring

To eliminate the proverbial bathtub ring that occurs with hard water, pour a little household detergent into the tub before pulling the plug. Then swish the water around to loosen grime so it can go down the drain.

The engagement of their daughter, Maureen Sharon, to Dennis M. Hackett is announced by the George J. Yezbicks of Schoolhouse Drive. Miss Yezbick's fiance is the son of the Edward Hacketts of Hammond Lake. The couple, both students at Eastern Michigan University, is planning to wed Feb. 1.

Father Officiates for Daughter's Vows

First United Methodist Church of Pontiac was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Carol Ann Ratcliffe and Glenn Paul Small. The ceremony was performed by the brides father, Rev. Walter Ratcliffe.

For the afternoon nuptials, the bride chose an A-line gown with lace accents. She held a chapel bouquet of white roses and carnations.

Dr. Pomeroy's Book Tells of Boys and Sex

NEW YORK — Tell it like it is, the young urge their elders, and along comes an adult who tells it like it is — and about sex, at that. Out of a lifetime's experience as a sociologist of sex (he co-authored the Kinsey reports), Dr. Wardell Pomeroy has written a book called Boys and Sex which is just what the title says.

* * *

Straightforward, packed with information, unpreachy — it presents sexuality as healthy, normal, pleasurable, and a central part of life. A question and answer chapter deals with the most common questions boys have about sex — in language that combines the vernacular, as used by boys, with the scientific terms young people often don't know.

* * *

Published by Delacorte Press, Boys and Sex costs four dollars — and would make a most valuable addition to anyone's library.

* * *

Dr. Pomeroy promises a sequel: Girls and Sex.

PTA

PTA groups at Frost and Wisner Schools have slated open houses in conjunction with their regular business meetings Thursday evening.

Frost's open house will follow the business program which begins at 7:30 with Dick Goodwin, principal, introducing this year's teaching staff.

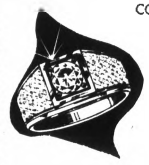

Wisner's meeting will conclude their open house scheduled from 7-8.

CORRECT DATE

The Drayton Plains School PTA will meet Friday at 7:30 for the showing of "Catastrophe Clarence" a fourth, fifth and sixth grade production, instead of Thursday as incorrectly reported in Monday's Pontiac Press.

A book fair will highlight the regular business meeting Thursday at Burt School, Waterford Township. The agenda is slated to begin at 7:30 p.m.

"Mystique" by

If the look of this setting makes you feel a little starry-eyed, that's what it was designed to do. Six individual diamonds create a fire-and-ice aura around a solitaire. But a star-like effect isn't all that you find in this ring. There's a little orange dot inside the band, that makes it very down-to-earth. It symbolizes a guarantee that will replace the ring during the first year of purchase, if it's lost, stolen or damaged. Now for the first time, a diamond is really forever. Mystique, by Orange Blossom.

Give of Yourself as a Christmas Gift

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

When you're pondering your Christmas gift list to relatives and close friends, consider this: there's one thing the individual who has everything hasn't got—that's you. You'd be surprised to find how good you'd look tied up with a big red bow.

The package would include a couple of helping hands, a willing heart and some know-how.

* * *

There's lots of merchandise around on Christmas morning, but very little in the way of offers to help with some job

that needs doing. I think giving your own services in one way or another makes just about as welcome a Christmas present as you could think up.

It's a pretty good guess that every relative and close friend you want to wish Merry Christmas to has some job or project he could use some help with — minding the children, repairing the furniture, retiling the bathroom, keeping the lawn cut next summer.

* * *

One of the fastest climbing cost increases in the average family's budget can be summed us as "services." Consumers spent $204 billion for services last year alone. In the past seven years, the cost of getting things done by other people has gone up 44 per cent.

While each service, each time, doesn't seem to amount to so much in money, the sum total of what the average family needs in a single year can bruise the budget. The willing worker is no substitute for the pro, of course, when a pro is needed.

But there are a lot of jobs that can get done well by "gift labor." For instance, these are some that could be offered on a Christmas card — or if you want to go glamour, write your offer on a little scroll and gift-wrap it and tie it with ribbon and a sprig of holly.

Baby sitting for the young couple who never get to go out to dinner because the dinner itself is expensive enough — and if they have to add the cost of a sitter, it's back to the kitchen for Mom.

And thinking of the kitchen, how about cooking up the recipient's favorite dish and putting it in containers that can be put into the freezer and enjoyed on those "tired" nights?

A little carpentry work, if you're handy at it. It's hard to find a handyman anymore. If your brother-in-law is all thumbs and his wife is dying for some new cabinets or shelves, or the front steps need fixing, there you are.

Role of Newsmen at Riot Spelled Out

ATLANTA, Ga. (UPI) — The Freedom of Information Committee of Sigma Delta Chi said yesterday it is in society's best interests for newsmen to be present as "uninvolved observers" to report on rioting such as wracked Chicago during Democratic National Convention week.

★ ★ ★

But the watchdog committee of the professional journalism society warned that newsmen must use "judgment and restraint" in covering such confrontations and must take care to avoid being identified with either side.

★ ★ ★

The committee's annual report said that during 1968 the police billy club was added "to the already formidable arsenal of weapons used to cut off the press from access to information about public affairs."

★ ★ ★

It said that, while estimates vary, it would appear that some 35 or so television reporters and cameramen and as many newspaper reporters and photographers were clubbed during a five-day period of the "Battle of Chicago."

'SHOCKING'

"Though a number of columnists and some publications have taken issue with the treatment of the convention story by newspapers and television, few will argue that the treatment of newsmen themselves was anything but shocking," the report said.

The report was released here at the opening of Sigma Delta Chi's annual convention.

It also said:

● President Johnson is leaving office with "perhaps the worst record for credibility of any president in our history."

● The information situation at the Pentagon has not improved and, in the opinion of some correspondents, has gotten worse during the last year, with Defense Department officials continuing to suppress and manage the news.

★ ★ ★

● News media received a major setback in the continuing debate over fair trial — free press problems when the American Bar Association's House of Delegates approved the Reardon Report "designed primarily to stifle release of pretrial information in criminal cases."

Destructive Deer

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP) — A whitetail deer crashed through the plate display window at a furniture store Tuesday. The deer then jumped back onto the street, bounded out of town and into the woods about a mile away.

Junk-Car Ordinance Approved

City commissioners last night approved a new junk-car ordinance aimed primarily at persons who store and keep inoperable and wrecked cars in their yards or in service station lots.

The ordinance prohibits anyone from storing, wrecking or dismantling any inoperable car without first obtaining a $50 license from the city clerk.

* * *

District 4 Commissioner Jack Douglas said the only complaints he had received on the ordinance were from persons who feared the ordinance would prevent them from keeping campers or trailers in their yards or drives. Douglas said the ordinance does not prohibit this.

The ordinance calls for violators to be subject to a $100 fine or 90 days in jail or both.

STREET EXTENSION

In other action, the commission:

• Approved preparation of plans for extension of Lawrence Street from its present terminus on Mill to Pike. The move was made because of Bell Telephone Co. plans to construct an addition onto its present building on East Huron at Mill.

* * *

Director of Public Works Joseph E. Neipling said the construction would cut off pedestrian and vehicular access from the parking lots east of Mill to the downtown area.

Neipling said extension of Lawrence has long been recognized as a necessary step to creating the proper traffic flow for the downtown area.

HEARING SCHEDULED

• Set a Dec. 17 public hearing to consider a request of General Motors Corp. to rezone to Manufacturing 2 the Grand Trunk Western Railroad right-of-way on the eastern side of the city from East South Boulevard to the southern city limits. The railroad property was recently purchased by GM.

• Deferred for one week consideration of bids for construction of an equipment building and personnel building for the city planned sanitary land-fill site on Collier.

* * *

Three bids ranging from $467,508 to $494,094 were received. The bids were about 30 per cent higher than engineering estimates of the costs.

• Approved utilizing a $37,700 trust fund created in 1937 to help defray expenses incurred by the city paving roads in the city's planned industrial park subdivision.

NEVER SPENT

The fund was originally established by the City Commission and the developer of the South Park Subdivision — the area of the new industrial park — for public improvements in the subdivision but was never spent. City Attorney Sherwin Birnkrant said the money could be used to defray expense of some $109,000 worth of newly completed street paving.

• Deferred for one week a request of Frank Slaybaugh to transfer the Class C liquor license of a defunct bar at 374 Franklin Road to his restaurant business at 22 W. Montcalm.

* * *

• Passed a resolution honoring the late wife of District 7 Commissioner James H. Marshall. She died Sunday.

Commission Position on School Defended

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. last night defended the City Commission's position in the controversy swirling around the Pontiac Board of Education decision to locate its super high school on Pontiac State Hospital grounds.

The commission discussed for more than a hour its position on the school and on proposed redevelopment in the southwest section of the city in face of repeated questions from the audience.

* * *

Persons in the audience said they got the impression at the board meeting Monday night that the City Commission had not cooperated with the school board in helping those members make a decision on the planned high school.

Taylor said the commission had taken no stand on the location of the high school because the commissioners felt it was the school board's decision.

'COMMISSION STAND'

He said it was the commission's stand that the school board members should first decide where they wanted to locate the high school, and if the board wanted to select a central city site, the commission would then decide whether it would get into the federal programs needed to acquire the land for the school site.

Commissioners said they had been invited to have a dinner meeting with the school board two weeks ago — a verbal invitation from the school superintendent to the city manager — but declined to meet with the school board.

* * *

Taylor said if the commission had met with the school board, "We'd have been in the middle . . . They were elected to make that decision."

District 5 Commissioner Robert F. Jackson said the commission did not know exactly why the dinner meeting invitation was issued but "figured it was going to involve the central city site."

. . . 'THEIR DECISION'

"To a man, we figured let them make their decision, then we will help them," Jackson said, and added that in this light the commission turned down the invitation.

In order for the board of education to construct a high school on the central city site — 45 to 65 acres around Bagley and Orchard Lake Avenue — it would have been necessary for the city to apply for federal funds to purchase the property, raze buildings in the area and relocate residents.

* *

Taylor said the city is still investigating the federal program — the Neighborhood Development program (NPD) — and next week will vote on whether to enter the program.

He said that, regardless of the school location, the city could still utilize NDP to redevelop much of the southwest section. He said that under the program, the city, would receive the same amount of credits — matching federal dollars — for construction of the high school, no matter where it is located.

What's Romney Going to Do?

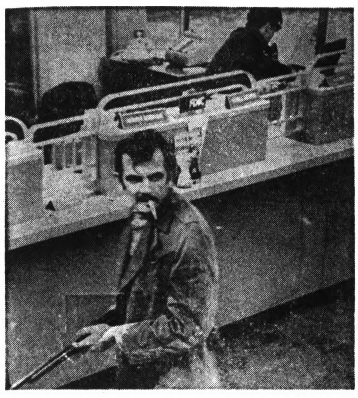

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan's most popular parlor game in the election aftermath is called "What's Romney going to do?"

Everybody seems to be playing it — even Gov. George Romney.

The 51-year-old governor still has two years left on his four-year term but has hinted he'd resign from office ahead of time if the right offer comes along.

* * *

President-elect Richard M. Nixon could hold that offer in the form of a Cabinet appointment. But he's not saying if any feelers have been sent Romney's way.

AP Wirephoto

CAUGHT ON CAMERA — Police are studying moving pictures of two bandits taken Monday as they robbed the Holyoke, Mass., National Bank of $7,300. A bank employe tripped a hidden switch to film the men.

The fact that Romney failed to deliver Michigan's 21 electoral votes to the Nixon column Nov. 5 could affect the president-elect's thinking on the matter, but most state Republicans don't think so.

THREE POSTS NAMED

Political observers in Washington and Michigan have Romney in the running for secretary of commerce, secretary of housing and urban development and secreaary of health, education and welfare.

Romney will say only that he'd give "serious consideration" to any Cabinet offer. But he insists no promises have been asked for or received.

* * *

Nevertheless, in Michigan Republican circles, there is widespread talk that Romney will go to Washington and Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken will ascend to the chief executive's chair.

Milliken, a Republican and close friend of Romney's, is a former State Senate majority floor leader. He has served as lieutenant governor since 1965.

CHAIR-SHUFFLING

Senate Majority Leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, hopes that Romney's political future will be decided before Senate Republicans undertake their midterm reorganization next week at Cadillac.

Senate Republicans would have to go through some chair-shuffling if Milliken is sitting in the governor's office when the 1969 Legislature convens Jan. 8.

* * *

For one thing, Senate President Pro Tempore Thomas S. Schweigert, as the unofficial actiny lieutenant governor, would become the Senate's permanent presiding officer and thus be forced to give up his collateral job as chairman of the Senate Affairs Committee — a key position especially coveted by some of the Republican conserfatives.

With Milliken would go the Republicans' access to the lieutenant governor's vote in a tie situation Schweigert, as presiding officer, would have only his regular vote. Republicans control the chamber 20-18, commanding the bare number of votes needed to pass a bill.

AF Will Test Attack Missile

HOLLOMAN AIR FORCE BASE, N.M. (AP) — The guidance and computer systems of the Air Force's new air-to-ground short range attack missile (SRAM) are to be tested Friday over White Sands Missile Range.

The Air Force is saying very little about the missile except that it has a range of more than 100 miles and can be launched by aircraft well out of range of enemy defenses.

Lottery Lawsuit a Family Affair

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — Two sisters have filed suit against their mother for a share of a $100,000 prize in the New York State lottery, alleging they each put up 25 cents for the winning $1 ticket.

* * *

In a civil suit filed Tuesday, Mrs. Mary Ann Pineiro, 27, and Mrs. Carmen Farjado, 48, both of Elizabeth, asked for $25,000 apiece from their mother, Mrs. Carmen Nieves, 76, of Roselle Park, as their share of winnings on a ticket marked "Carmen Nieves and family."

Superior Court Judge Walter L. Hetfield ordered the attachment of the $100,000 by the county sheriff until the court can determine the legal meaning of "family."

* * *

The sisters claimed in an affidavit that their mother was planning to move to Puerto Rico with the $100,000. Mrs. Pineiro also said that when she went to her mother's home last week she found the clothing had been removed.

When the money was won in October, Mrs. Nieves, a widow, said, "It is money from heaven."

Metro Airport Hangar Hang-Up

Cagy Jaguar Keeps 4 at Bay

DETROIT (UPI) — Jim White opened the hangar door at Metropolitan Airport yesterday and saw a snarling jaguar wiggling through the mesh of its cage.

The cat lunged White and three co-workers fled. The cat missed its flight to New Orleans, and White and the others lost four hours work while their guest roamed the hangar.

The jaguar, a 120-pound adult en route to the Audubon Park Zoo in New Orleans, had been left in the hangar to await a 2 a.m. flight. The flight was put off until 4:30 a.m. but by that time the cat had managed to make its bid for freedom.

"I opened the door and saw the cat wiggling through the mesh, about three-quarters of the way out," White, 30, said. "I closed the door fast."

After four hours a humane society worker arrived with a tranquilizer gun to render the cat harmless. The cat was found — not waiting at the door to pounce — but curled up asleep on a mattress.

Thomas Hunt of the International Animal Exchange in Ferndale, who was selling the cat to the New Orleans zoo, said it was "a cage animal — on the employe quiet side, not like one brought in from the wild."

"It was a rather small one really," Hunt said, "about the size of a big German shepherd dog." He said he hoped to ship it today, once the effects of the drug wear off.

Dave Palk, another hangar bothered to find out just how big the animal was while it was loose.

"We took a peek and closed the door," he said. "Nobody went in to take a close look or pet it."

CAGE PRIZE—Most talked about basketball player on the college scene across the country is the 1968 star of the U.S. Olympic team, Spencer Haywood, who begins his college career Saturday night for the University of Detroit. Haywood, who stands 6-9, is an all-stater from Pershing High in Detroit.

COUNTDOWN IN PROGRESS—Final preparations continue at Ann Arbor and Columbus, Ohio, as the countdown for Saturday's Rose Bowl and Big Ten Title elimination reached three today. Tuesday at the University of Michigan football practice field (top photo), fullback Garvie Craw (48) blocks while quarterback Dennis Brown (with ball) looks for his receivers during a passing drill. The emphasis was also on the aerial game at the Ohio State campus (bottom) where reserve Ron Maciejowski (84) and starter Rex Kern (right) loosen up under the scrutiny of coach Woody Hayes (left).

Buckeyes Plot Defensive Trap

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A couple of behind-the-scene strategists could be Ohio State's strongest asset Saturday when the Buckeyes battle Michigan for the Big Ten title and a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Defensive Coordinator Lou McCullough and Assistant Coach and Head Scout Esco Sarkkinen will be working overtime this week devising a defensive trap to stymie Michigan's high-powered attack.

Their main chore will be to stop tailback Ron Johnson and quarterback Dennis Brown, the Wolverines' classy 1-2 punch.

Sarkkinen, often described as a super spy as a scout, and McCullough, have teamed up twice this season to put the skids to a pair of conference standouts — Purdue's Leroy Keyes and Ed Podolak of Iowa.

And head coach Woody Hayes has earned a reputation down through the years of keying on an opponent's superstar. Former greats Alan Ameche of Wisconsin and Jim Grabowski of Illinois had their troubles piercing the Ohio State line.

KEYES STOPPED

In Ohio State's 13-0 upset of Purdue earlier this season, Keyes was limited to 19 yards in seven rushes and caught only four passes for 44 yards.

Last week, the Buckeyes checked Podolak with only 45 yards in 15 chances after the Iowa flash ripped Northwgestern's defense for 286 yards, a short-lived Big Ten rushing record.

* * *

Now comes Johnson, a bonafide All-American candidate, who set a national record with 347 yards against Wisconsin. He also scored five touchdowns and 30 points, equalling conference marks set back in 1924 by immortal Red Grange.

"Johnson can be stopped," Sarkkinen predicted, "But you need to have everything going for you.

"Basic fundamentals are a key and so is technique and execution by each defensive player. And against a player like Johnson, a real workhorse and breakaway threat, you need ultra fine tackling."

Sark doesn't figure a set defense to stop Johnson is the answer. You've got to make adjustments and you've got to be equipped to handle Brown. They have so many ways to beat you," he said.

Haywood Fuels U. of D. Hopes for 'Blastoff'

DETROIT (AP) — Officials of the University of Detroit Tuesday formally announced plans to make the school a top basketball power in the country once again as it was in the Dave DeBusschere era of the early 1960s.

The first big move in that direction was the recruiting of Spencer Haywood, the Olympic basketball star who is now a sophmore at U. of D.

But it won't end there, said the Rev. Malcolm Carron, president of the university.

"I feel very confident with the athletic board we have," he said. "We have the administrative works to have a strong functioning team now and to continue to have one in the future."

Father Carron spoke at a press luncheon at the Albert Fisher mansion, which the Fisher family donated to the university a year ago.

WHOLE SCHOOL

"Our scholarship award is the same," he said, "but now we are out to show these players that the whole university wants them, not just Bob Calihan."

U. of D. is authroized full basketball scholarships.

"Our problem is not to go from a Bill Ebben to a Dave DeBusschere to a Spencer Haywood," said Dean of Students Fred Shadrick, "but to go from a Spencer Haywood to a team that is a consistently top performer."

Ebben starred with Detroit in the mid 50s and is now on the university athletic board. DeBusschere, one of the top college forwards in the early 60s, now plays with the Detroit Pistons on the National Basketball Association.

"We have fixed up the Memorial Building among other things," Ebben said. "We're going to make something of this effort or die trying. We might as well go first class and stop fooling around."

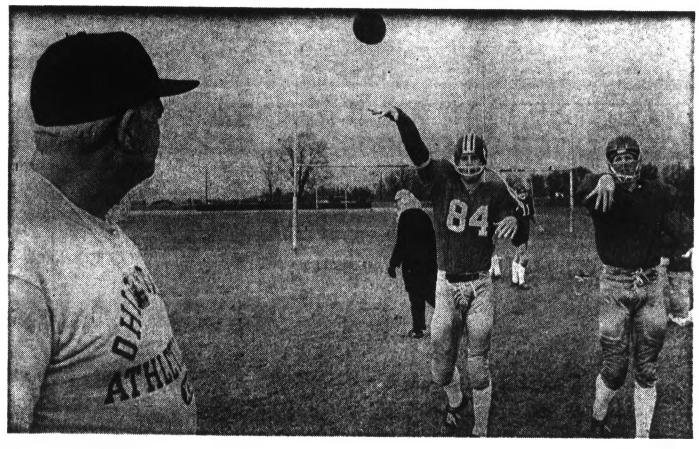

SOUND FINANCING

"We're in pretty good financial shape to predict we'll be able to carry this effort out," said Father Carron of the Jesuit School of 9,000 students.

"Efforts in the last few years have brought us a star (Haywood) and I think this effort will continue in the future."

Shadrick added that "our new commitment to athletics is just part of our over-all commitment to our urban responsibilities."

"The charismatic qualities of Spencer Haywood will mean something to this city just like the (Detroit) Tigers meant this year," Shadrick added.

Winner Takes All in Michigan-OSU Clash at Columbus

CHICAGO (AP) — The winner of the Michigan-Ohio State football game Saturday automatically will go to the Rose Bowl to play Southern California without formality of a vote by athletic directors, Bill Reed, Big Ten commissioner, said Tuesday.

Normally, conference athletic directors are polled to vote for "the most representative team," and the commissioner announces the vote.

This time the directors decided to have the game's winner be the automatic choice.

The directors will have a post-game vote only if the game ends in a ties, Reed said.

Ohio State and Michigan each is 6-0 in the conference entering the season finale at Columbus, Ohio. Michigan last won the Big Ten crown in 1964 with a 6-1 record and went on to defeat Oregon State 34-7 in the Rose Bowl.

PASSED BOWL

Ohio State last took the title in 1961 with 6-0 but refrained from going to the Rose Bowl. Minnesota went instead and defeated UCLA 21-3. The last time the Buckeyes went to the bowl was in 1957 when they captured the Big Ten title with 7-0 and downed Oregon at Pasadena 10-7.

Last year, Ohio State finished the Big Ten campaign in fourth place with a 5-2 mark as Indiana, Minnesota and Purdue shared the crown with 6-1.

Mich. Christian Squares Record in Final Tuneup

Michigan Christian Junior College squared its record Tuesday night with a 100-84 triumph over Lansing's Great Lakes Bible College in a warmup for Friday night's league opener at Avondale High School.

* * *

The Warriors, now 1-1, needed a big second half from Garth Pleasant of Flint to overcome a 45-43 halftime deficit and pull away from the visitors.

Pleasant pumped in 16 of his 25 points in the closing 20 minutes of play. Mike Reminder of Bay City added 11 to finish with 24, and Mike Fields hit 10.

* * *

MCJC outshot Great Lakes, 39-28, from the field to offset the effective gunning of Tim Beckwith (28) and Tom Haynie (27).

The Warriors whil entertain Grace Bible at 8 p.m. Friday, they will be host to Baptist Bible Saturday night as they begin their state Christian College AA schedule.

Bruins' Defense Respected

Simpson Wary of UCLA Unit

LOS ANGELES (AP) —O. J. Simpson knows he's being compared with football's great rushers from Red Grange to Gale Sayers and he tries to ignore it.

"You might get to thinking I'm so-and-so and I can't be tackled," reasoned the All-American halfback from Southern California. "And that's when you get it."

* * *

He looks at Saturday's nationally televised game against UCLA in somewhat the same vein.

"We don't look at UCLA as an inferior opponent," Simpson asserts despite the 3-6 record of the cross-town foe. "I look over their defense and see about everybody we played last season and I've said before that was the toughest defense we faced."

A year ago with both USC and UCLA in contention for the mythical national championhip, Simpson smashed through on a 65-yard touchdown run with 10:38 left to bring the Trojans a 21-20 victory, the Rose Bowl bid and the collegiate title.

HEISMAN AWARD

In 1967 it was UCLA quarterback Gary Beban who won the Heisman Trophy, awarded the player voted the best in the nation. Simpson placed second and this year stands as the prime candidate.

Rated No. 1 again this time, the Trojans boast an 8-0 record with UCLA and Notre Dame remaining. Already they have clinched the Pacific-8 Rose Bowl bid.

Pistons Thrive on Home Court

By United Press International

The Detroit Pistons are winning at home like they're losing on the road—consistently.

The Pistons continued their home-court mastery Wednesday night by outscoring the Cincinnati Royals 71-57 in the second half to take a 121-107 National Basketball Association victory.

* * *

It was the sixth straight victory at home for the Pistons, who managed only one win in their just-completed five-game West Coast road trip.

The Pistons broke loose from a 50-50 halftime deadlock to take an 81-74 lead over the Royals at the end of the third quarter. Paced by Hap Hairston and Dave DeBusschere, Detroit increased its margin with a 40-point fourth quarter while the Royals could only manage 33.

TOP SCORER

Hairston led all scorers with 30 points while DeBusschere netted 25.

Connie Dierking and Oscar Robertson were high for the Royals with 23 points each while Jerry Lucas and former Piston Tom Van Arsdale each had 21. Lucas scored the 8,000th point of his NBA career which began in 1963 with Cincinnati.

* * *

In other games, the Los Angeles Lakers defeated the Boston Celtics 116-106, the San Francisco Warriors beat the Chicago Bulls 121-109, the Milwaukee Bucks downed the Atlanta Hawks 119-98, the Philadelphia 76ers romped over the Phoenix Suns 126-110 and the San Diego Rockets scored a 113-107 win over the New York Knicks.

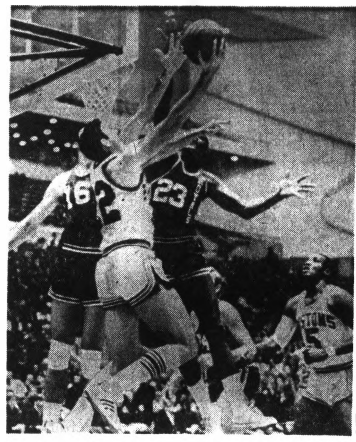

The Lakers blitzed the Celtics with a 34-21 third period and went on to a victory that stretched their winning streak to nine games and snapped the Celtics' five-game streak. The loss also dropped the Celtics into second place in the Eastern Division, a half game behind idle Baltimore.

Elgin Baylor and Johnny Egan led the Lakers' third-period breakout from a 56-50 halftime deficit to an 84-77 lead going into the fourth period but they were not the only Los Angeles heroes.

In addition to 30 points by Baylor and 11 by Egan, Jerry West had 29 points and nine steals and Wilt Chamberlain outscored Bill Russell 16-6 and outrebounded him 22-21.

John Havlicek led the Celtics with 32 points and Sam Jones had 17.

Nate Thurmond equalled his career high of 41 points and Rudy LaRusso added 24 for the Warriors, who squared their season record at 8-8. Thurmond scored 13 of his points while the Warriors broke open the game with a 37-19 spurt in the third period. Clem Haskins scored 29 points for the Bulls.

BIG DAVE HAS THE REACH — Detroit Piston standout forward Dave DeBusschere (with ball) outstretches Cincinnati's forecourt regulars Jerry Lucas (16) and John Tresvant (23) to flip up a basket last night at Cobo Arena during the first period of their National Basketball Association encounter. The Pistons' other forward Happy Hairston (5) awaits a possible rebound; and he led all scorers in the game with 30 as the Detroiters won, 121-107.

BOWLING

Terry Grant continues to sparkle as a bright young woman bowler in the area. Her 612 in last Thursday's Huron Bowl Ladies' Classic gives her three league series above the 610 mark this fall.

She had to share the laurels last week, though, with Lorraine Cloutier who rolled a 241 game and had a 605 actual. Sylvan Plumbing and Heating 2561 team actual is the sixth best reported by the women this season, the Huron Bowl team took over the high game lead with a 956.

The women at 300 Bowl aren't lofting the ball too much either. Pat Wagner's 217-222—616 is the seventh best series reported to date. Mary Foster rolled a 240 for another 300 Ladies' All-Star highlight.

Nancy Buffmyer hit 222, Dot Chambers and Lanie Dulzo both had 214s, and Gladys Stafford a 210.

The 300 Classic men also are finding the pocket with better accuracy. Joe Foster's 225-239—664, Ray Kasat's 205-244—650 and Joe Gauthier's 221-232—647 underline the upswing.

Ditka, Ballman Suspended

Eagles' Coach Sharpens Ax

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ends Mike Ditka and Gary Ballman of the winless Philadelphia Eagles have been suspended and placed on waivers for granting interviews critical of Coach Joe Kuharich.

Ballman and Ditka, over the past seven years two of the top pass catchers in the National Football League, both confirmed they were set down indefinitely by Kuharich, also general manager of the Eagles.

* * *

"He called me in and told me in his little way that I was a troublemaker and was suspended indefinitely," Ditka said.

"I'm on suspension and believe he asked waivers on me," Ballman asserted.

The Eagles made no announcement. Kuharich said, "When we have something to announce we will. These rumors you get from people you have to take with a grain of salt."

FORMER BEAR

Ditka, played six years for Chicago before being dealt to the Eagles in 1967.

Ballman was drafted by Pittsburgh in 1962, and was acquired by the Eagles a year ago.

Ditka has been sidelined with various injuries and hasn't played much this season as the Eagles lost their first 10 games.

He said he was asked in New York if he would play again for Kuharich.

"What I replied was: 'No I don't think he wants me to play for him. And I don't want to play for anyone who doesn't want me,'" Ditka said.

* * *

Ditka was quoted as saying at a luncheon in New York Monday: "There is a need for a change somewhere. We're not that bad a ball club, not bad enough for an 0-10 record.

"The whole problem is discipline. We had it in Chicago and won a championship with what actually wasn't the best team in football that season."

Ditka said he plans to appeal the suspension if Kuharich tries to make it stick. He said he already was in touch with the Players' NFL Association for advice.

* * *

Ballman's apparently was suspended because he was being openly critical of the Eagles' offense and quarterback Norman Snead. His relations with Kuharich, however, have been strained.

Ballman, a split end, said Snead seldom threw deep passes to him.

Table Netters in Hot Races

Action will resume Thursday night in the close races marking both divisions of the Pontiac Table Tennis Association League in the Central High School girls' gymnasium.

Cosponsored by the city Parks and Recreation Department, the table tennis league's initial experiment with the two-divisional setup appears to be a success. Eight teams can consider themselves contenders presently.

Last week the American and National pacesetters met and split six points. Richardson's Dairy gained the runner-up spot in the National by edging C.O.P.S., 4-2, while Mr. Steak was losing to Dawn Donuts by the same count.

Cheryl Golding of Club 99 pushed state YMCA Women's champion Karen Klemm of Francis Fuel to the limit before bowing, 12-21, 23-21, 27-25.

Derby Decision Still 'Bottled'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A small bottle labeled 3956U may help answer one of racing's greatest mysteries: what really happened on Derby Day?

From that bottle State Racing chemist Kenneth W. Smith says he extracted a urine specimen which, under testing, showed traces of Phenyloutazolidin.

* * *

Because the medication is banned at Kentucky race tracks, Dancer's Image was deprived of the first price of $122,600 and his owner, Peter Fuller, is now trying to reverse that decision by Churchill Downs stewards.

* * *

Smith, who has been conducting tests for the state since 1940, told the Kentucky Racing Commission Tuesday that he deviated somewhat from his normal procedures in checking out this sample.

WOULD GOVERNOR R_____ WEAR SOUTHWICK GROSVENOR TO THE INAUGURATION?
Probably, if he was reasonably sure it wouldn't make his constituents think he was spending too much money on clothes. For a suit of Southwick Grosvenor cloth looks about $50 more than it costs. It's a smooth, firm worsted that holds its shape indefinitely. And it's woven into brand-new plaids, checks and stripes that are nothier than ever this year. Come in and look over the natural shoulder styles. There's a casualness about them that never looks old hat and always feels just right. Ask the Governor. From $135.00

Oversight by Scouts Doesn't Worry R.J.

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — According to a sports periodical, professional football scouts don't think Ron Johnson will be picked in the first round of the college draft.

But that doesn't worry the University of Michigan candidate for All-American halfback. Not even a little bit.

* * *

"That's all right," he said when told he wasn't ranked in the top 26 college players in the country. "They don't have a football team anyway."

Of course the survey of the men who determine which youngsters are likely to be selected by pro teams early was taken before last Saturday, when Johnson set about a million records with a five-touchdown explosion against Wisconsin.

ANOTHER HONOR

For providing an excuse to replace certain pages of three record books, the 6-foot-1, 195-pound halfback was named Midwest back of the week by United Press International.

Johnson, not a sprinter but certainly an under-10-seconds man for the 100-yard dash, broke the modern Big Ten scoring mark with his five scores, which came on runs of 35, 67, one, 60 and 49 yards.

The Detroit Lions, who badly need another good halfback to take some of the pressure off Mel Farr, were sort of hoping Johnson would slip by until the second round of the draft. They dealt away their first choice to Los Angeles in the deal for quarterback Bill Munson.

Programs Slated

The Troy Recreation Department will organize volleyball and basketball programs at a meeting 7:30 p.m. Monday in the high school gymnasium.

Only eight teams will be accepted for both leagues, so all interested parties are requested to have a representative at the meeting, or contact Lee Osborn at the recreation office.

Browns' Kelly Gains Ground

NEW YORK (UPI) — Leroy Kelly of the Cleveland Browns is almost three football fields ahead of his closest able-bodied rival today in the race for the National Football League's individual rushing title.

Kelly, who led the league in 1967 with 1,205 yards, has gained 909 yards in 184 carries this season for a 4.9 average.

Gale Sayers is second with 856 yards and a 6.2 average but the Chicago Bear star is sidelined for the remainder of the season and Kelly's closest "rival" is Ken Willard of the San Francisco Forty-Niners.

Willard, however, has gained only 632 yards and trails the Cleveland ace by 277 yards. Tom Woodeshick of the Philadelphia Eagles is fourth with 620 yards and Dick Hoak of the Pittsburgh Steelers is fifth with 603.

Don Meredith of the Dallas Cowboys leads the passers with 147 completions in 255 attempts for a .576 percentage and 2,116 yards, Phil Clark of the Cowboys leads in scoring with 78 points and Clifton McNeil of the Forty-Niners is No. 1 in pass receiving with 53 catches.

British Riders Place 1-2 in Scurry Horse Stakes

TORONTO (AP) — Two British riders scored 16 points for their team Tuesday night when they placed first and second in the International Scurry Stakes at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair Horse Show.

Alison Westwood rode Maverick over a 12-jump course without a knockdown in 46 seconds flat to win the $500 first prize. Harvey Smith finished second when O'Malley scrambled over the course in 42.9 seconds. However, one knockdown added six seconds to his time for a final course time of 48.9

* * *

Team standings after seven of 11 international events for the over-all team championship are: United States 52; Canada and Britain 36 each; Australia 26, and Brazil 16.

The Scurry Stakes was limited to four horses from each country and a time limit of 54 seconds on the 12-obstacle course. Six seconds were added to the rider's course time for each knockdown, as well as one second for each second over the time limit.

The competition was the third and final qualifying contest for the final round to determine the Canadian championship Friday night. First prize is $2,000.

U.S. riders jumped poorly although the best time early in the round was 52 seconds set by Mary Chapot of Wallpack, N.J., on White Lighting.

Teammate Frank Chapot, of Manon, Carl Hoffman, of North Branch, N.J., and Neal Shapiro of Old-Brookville, N.Y., riding Blue Plum, had a total of seven knockdowns.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By John Carter

Of all the football stadiums in America today, which one is the oldest? . . . Answer is Harvard Stadium which was the first concrete football stadium built in the United States . . . It was opened in 1903.

* * *

Here's one that's very hard to believe but it's true . . . The head football coach at Iowa State, John Majors, has a mother and father whose names are Shirley and John—except that his father's name is Shirley and his mother's name is John! . . . This is absolutely true . . . His father is Shirley Majors, who, incidentally, is also a football coach . . . Shirley Majors is the coach at Sawanee . . . His mother, meantime, was named John because that name was in the family tradition and when no boys came along in her generation, she inherited the name.

* * *

Here's a football oddity . . . When the very first All-America team was selected, in 1889, ALL the players were from one of just three colleges, Harvard, Yale and Princeton!

* * *

I bet you didn't know . . . In spite of all the big ads hawking cheap tires — a basic truth shines through — they're a poor buy for today's crowded high-speed highways. We won't drive them on our car and won't recommend them to you.

Among Class C Preps

Zwemer Best QB

An Oakland County prep with pro size was fitted into the quarterback's position today by the Associated Press on the Class C All-State football team.

The big man is Jack Zwemer.

Pontiac Press Photo

ALL-STATER — End Gary Johnson of Ferndale St. James has gained a spot on the Class C All-State football team. Johnson helped provide the spark that carried the Dales to an 8-1 season and a share of the Northwest Catholic League championship.

a 6-2, 210-pounder from Birmingham's Detroit Country Day, who shared the spotlight for four years with the Yellow Jackets, climaxing his career with a sparkling performance this season.

Zwemer is one of two Oakland County players on the dream team, which is a little on the small size as all-state squads go.

SMALL TEAM

The entire team averages 195 pounds. Two players stand only 5-feet-8 and the biggest is 6-feet-1 and 215 pounds.

* * *

Along with Zwemer from Oakland County is end Gary Johnson of Ferndale St. James, who sparked the Dales to an 8-1 record and the Catholic League Second Division championship.

In addition, Utica St. Lawrence tackle Glenn Neiderhoffer was a second team selection despite the Mustangs' so-so record.

RECRUITERS LOOKING

Zwemer's size and statistics are being studied with some interest by college recruiters.

During the '68 campaign, Zwemer rolled up a total offense of 1,553 yards. He completed 80 of 153 passes for 1,134 yards and eight touchdowns and four PATs, and he ran for 419 yards and a quartet of six-pointers.

On defense, Zwemer intercepted four passes, running one back for a touchdown, and during his three years as quarterback, he led the team to a 15-9 record. He's a B student and lauded by his coach Larry Masteller as an all-around leader.

'EASY TO COACH'

St. James coach John Shada describes Johnson as "easy to coach and the type of player any coach would be pleased to have."

The captain and a tremendous blocker, Johnson averaged eight unassisted tackles a game. Shada said three quarters of all the team's plays were run Johnson's way on the right side of the line.

Others named to the team were:

End Larry Zabel of Hemlock; tackles Ray Goudreau of St. Ignace and Howard Kniffen of Dundee; center Craig Heenan of Flint Holy Redeemer; guards Dave Trinklein of Frankenmuth and Mike Hoewe of Freeland; and running backs Jerry Maitland of Montrose, Jim Essian of Detroit St. Martin and Jim Kolenko of Waterflet.

DEFENSIVE ACE

Zabel is at his best on defense, although he caught 10 passes in what his coach Bob Wallace described as "critical situations." Zabel's defensive ability caused opponents to try the opposite side of the line 75 per cent of the time, said Wallace. A B-plus student, Zabel is the first All-Stater Wallace has had in his eight years at the school, which was 8-0 this year and ranked fifth in the class.

* * *

Goudreau led St. Ignace to a 7-1 record by collecting the most tackles of any player in the Upper Peninsula, 96 of them unassisted. He was voted to the first team All-Upper Peninsula on offense and defense as a tackle.

HEADS 'C' SQUAD—A lure to many college football recruiters is quarterback Jack Zwemer of Detroit Country Day, who was named to the signal-calling post today on the All-State Class C team by the Associated Press. The 6-2, 210-pounder started for three years at the helm for Country Day.

Harvard vs. Yale

Grid Unbeatens Collide

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The Yale football team, which has a longer winning streak than any Yale team since 1906, meets a Harvard team Saturday that could be Harvard's first undefeated, untied team since 1913.

* * *

The struggle between the two squads with 8-0 records at Cambridge, Mass., matches surprising Harvard against Yale, which rose to greatness in 1967 and has improved its position since.

Harvard was not expecting much after losing the 35 seniors who made up the nucleus of the 1967 team, but Coach John Yovicsin had high hopes for a few veterans and a flock of talented youngsters, and there's only one hope left to be realized.

* * *

Yale Coach Carmen Cozza's Bulldogs have won 16 consecutive games since a season-opening loss to Holy Cross in 1967.

Harvard, edged by Yale 24-20 in the 1967 finale, has rebuilt around a nucleus of 11 lettermen to the point where "a versatile offense and a quick, talented defensive team complement each other well," the Yale coach said Tuesday.

* * *

It's considered The Game by Yale and Harvard alumni, who grabbed up all seats in the 40,000-capacity Harvard stadium more than two weeks ago.

It's also the biggest game between the two schools since 1909—the last time both schools entered their traditional season windup undefeated and untied.

* * *

The score since the rivalry started in 1875 stands at Yale 46 victories, Harvard 31 and seven ties.

Bahnsen Named AL Rookie of the Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Stan Bahnsen always wanted to travel. When he was a kid in Council Bluffs, Iowa, he used to dream about being a big league ball player.

The dream came true for Bahnsen last season when he turned in a 17-12 season that was a major factor in the New York Yankees' rise to fifth place. A a result, he has been named the American League's Rookie of the Year by a landslide 17-3 vote.

* * *

The only other votes from the 20-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, two from each league city, went to Del Unser, Washington's center fielder, son of Al Unser, former big league catcher with Detroit and Cincinnati and currently a scout with Atlanta.

"New York scares you at first," said Bahnsen Tuesday, a 23-year-old bachelor who is spending the winter in Fort Lee, N.J.

BANQUET CIRCUIT

Bahnsen is well used to city life now, spending the winter making talks at baseball dinners under arrangements with the Yankees.

* * *

Ralph Houk, Yankee manager, said he had half expected Bahnsen to make the grade in 1967 and has planned on him being a starter that year.

"I stuck with him until we played an exhibition game at Houston and he couldn't get the ball over," said Houk who farmed out the pitcher to Syracuse of the International League. "I told him last year he had a spot on the club if he could get the ball over. A game in Anaheim last spring really put him on the right track."

Deer Hunts Near Home Yield Problems, Bucks

By DON VOGEL
Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press

Hunting deer in Southern Michigan can be exasperating . . . and rewarding.

The difficult part is locating the deer and then trying to get permission to hunt if the whitetails are on private property. If both of these obstacles can be overcome the rest is up to the hunter.

* * *

Many landowners in the farmbelt cast a jaundiced eye at deer hunters. They either don't want the deer shot or want to hunt without competition from outsiders. Many are fed up with constant trespassing. Whatever the reason, it's a problem stalking whitetails on private lands.

This means that the largest concentration of hunters from the city is on state land. Most of these gunners have a pretty good idea where the deer are located in public areas and getting a spot along a productive runway can be a problem opening day. The deer are quickly pushed into the protective confines of private lands.

OVER HILL AND DALE

Another handicap is that Southern Michigan deer have wanderlust. They may be here today and gone tomorrow. Northern deer have a tendency to stay in the section where they were born.

Now that the disadvantages have been discussed, let's look on the bright side. Hunting pressure is greatest on weekends and during the Thanksgiving weekend. At other times, few nimrods are out.

When the hunters leave, deer slowly filter back to favored haunts. Early morning trail watching and mid-day stalking can be effective. Snow is a big help as tracking is easier in the south because the land is more open.

* * *

Deer-hunting landowners and their friends with unused tags return from the north and start moving the whitetails holed up on private lands. They like to drive and many deer are pushed back onto state holdings.

The well-fed bucks of the farmlands are larger than their cousins in the Northern Lower Peninsula. They compare with the big deer of the U.P.

"Stalk them along fencerows and the top of hills," recommends Lynn Hutchinson, assistant park supervisor of the Ortonville recreation area.

SIX OUT OF SEVEN

He has tagged six deer in the last seven years and the last three have been near home. The latest was a 14-point buck downed at 7:30 a.m. Monday in the Holly recreation area.

Working for the Department of Natural Resources has its advantages because it enables Hutchinson to keep an eye on deer movements in the Ortonville area. This produced results in 1966 and 1967 when he flushed bucks out of fencerows.

"I hunted three days near home and saw only one fresh track," he said. "So I decided to change locations."

* * *

It was a previously scouted spot where an uncle of Lynn's was supposed to be sitting opening day. But the uncle decided at the last minute to go north.

Hutchinson suggests scouting around for deer sign during the pheasant season. This will help pinpoint the local deer movement.

"I like to take a stand in the woods early and then start working the fences," he said. "Deer seem to prefer bedding along overgrown fencerows. Bucks also like to lay on top of hills where they can see."

* * *

When he doesn't get a deer in the south, Lynn goes across The Straits for Thanksgiving with his parents. This year his rifle will stay home. The shotgun loaded with slugs ruled again.

Pontiac Press Photo

HOME GROWN — Large deer such as this 14-pointer turn up frequently in Southern Michigan. Lynn Hutchinson, 4826 Fox Lake, Hadley Township, collected this 5½-year-old buck which weighs about 180 pounds while hunting in the Holly recreation area.

After Firing Five Shots

Short Deer Season for Hunter

The deer hunting season ended almost before it started for George L. Sloas, 15 Virginia.

Sloas took a stand at dawn last Friday near Iron River in the extreme western Upper Peninsula. Fifteen minutes later a large buck came loping along.

* * *

"I knocked him down with the first shot," related Sloas, "but he got up and started running right at me. I shot three times and one of the bullets clipped his chin.

"He turned and the fifth shot hit him in the neck." The Pontiac hunter was using a 35 caliber Marlin.

NEW LEADER

The buck weighed 199 pounds and is the new leader in The Pontiac Press Big Deer Contest. It replaces the one-day leader of 190 pounds taken near Trout Creek in the U.P. by Fred Hudson, 4810 Stanton, Brandon Township.

Sloas' buck carried a 10-point rack that bore the scars of battle with other deer. One point was broken off and two others chipped.

* * *

The contest is open to residents of Oakland County. Only deer taken in Michigan during the firearm season are eligible. Dressed weight is the determining factor.

The deer must be weighed on state-approved scales and the weight slip signed by the hunter, one witness and the person operating the scales. The deer must be seen by a member of The Press staff.

* * *

Entries will be accepted Monday through Saturday from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. Deadline is noon Monday, Dec. 2.

FOUL WEATHER

Poor weather cut sharply into hunter success on last Friday's opener. It rained most of the day in all but the western U.P. where it snowed. More rain Saturday afternoon hampered hunters.

Department of Natural Resources game experts feel that there is a good number of bucks yet unharvested in Northern Michigan. A heavy snow from Gaylord north should be a benefit.

* * *

Hunting pressure was lighter than normal in the Oakland County area Friday and Saturday, but picked up Sunday. A covering of snow that disappeared by afternoon brought the hunters out after two days of rain.

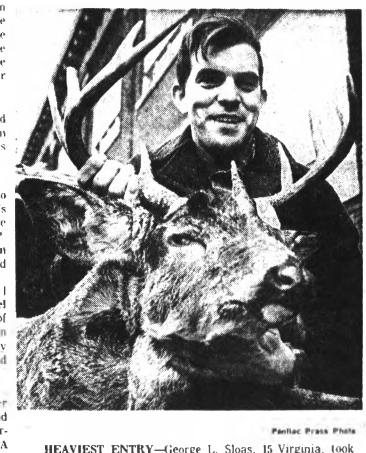

BUCKS TAGGED

Conservation officers report the best success in Rose and White Lake Townships and in Livingston County just west of the Oakland line. Two dozen deer, mostly bucks, have been tagged in the Holly-Davisburg area.

Hunting in the Hadley Hills is reported to be poor. Few deer are currently using the area. A few deer have been taken in the Oxford-Leonard area. Hunting pressure in Highland Township has been light.

* * *

General condition of the deer coming out of Northern Michigan is reported to be good. Racks on bucks are larger and most of the whitetails are running slightly heavier. The season ends Nov. 30.

Pontiac Press Photo

Bond Funds Support Drive

Attack on Pollution Scheduled

When will Michigan's first clean water and recreation bonds be sold? And when will the programs actually get going?

Those are questions in minds of this state's voters following their passage of the twin bond proposals.

Sale of the bonds will be handled by the Treasury Department, report Michigan conservation leaders.

Loring F. Oeming, retiring executive secretary of the Water Resources Commission, has said his agency could begin doling out bond money to local governments for pollution control projects as early as next spring.

The exact timing will depend upon such factors as when the bonds are sold, whether federal and local matching funds are available and legislative action.

LOCAL LEVEL

Every dollar of the $335 million clean water bond issue will be disbursed to local units. None will be spent at the state government level, and none will go to pay administrative or operating costs.

More than 200 communities have applied for financial help in controlling local pollution problems. It has been estimated the bond money will help pay for 210 new sewage treatment facilities, improvements to 126 existing plants and sewers for about 3½ million people not now served by them.

Glenn C. Gregg, the Natural Resource Department's Deputy Director for recreation, says it will be sometime after next July 1 before first expenditures from the Recreation bond fund are made.

The Legislature must approve every project for which bond money is spent.

The first group of items will appear in the department's 1969-70 budget bill, which won't be passed until late spring.

As with the Clean Water bond issue, none of the Recreation dollars will go for administration or operations. It will be spent for land and facilities, with emphasis on the latter.

As now planned, $30 million of the $100 million Recreation issue will be dispensed as grants to local governments for community-type recreation projects. The remaining $70 million will be spent by the Department for parks ($40.8 million); fish ($17.7 million), game ($7.5 million), and forestry ($4 million) developments. The legislature could change this split, however.

Platt River Ban Removed

Salmon Egg Project Comes to End

The Platte River has been reopened to fishing from US-31 Bridge east of Honor down to 500 feet above the Natural Resource Department's fish weir at the mouth of the stream.

The Platte River was closed to angling from the end of the regular trout and salmon season in early September.

In re-opening the stream, the department reported this fall's salmon egg take was completed.

* * *

The department recently hit its target of collecting about 10 million coho eggs at its Platte spawn-taking station, which will be used to rear fish for its 1970 salmon plantings.

Workers have passed some 850 steelhead above the lower Platte weir in the stretch of the stream that was re-opened last Friday.

* * *

About 850 steelhead have been allowed to move above the weir on the Little Manistee River, which should provide action on steelhead from that point up to 18 Mile Bridge.

Dogs Fatally Injure Deer

A blind yearling deer, recuperating from a fractured leg, was attacked by dogs last week at the Drayton Nature Center and was fatally injured.

* * *

The deer had been turned over to the nature center after being hit by a car. A veterinarian set the leg.

Jim Shea, manager of the center, said Waterford Township police will destroy any stray dogs on the premises. "We are losing too many animals to dogs," he pointed out.

A drive is under way to raise funds to fence the 60-acre center which is the site of the old Drayton Plains hatchery.

Pontiac Lake Fish Biologist Going North

STEVE SWAN
Moving to Gaylord District

Steve Swan, acting district fish biologist at Pontiac Lake, is losing part of his title and transferring to Gaylord.

He has been promoted to a full-fledged district biologist with the Department of Natural Resources and will have charge of fish projects and research in the Gaylord district beginning Sunday.

* * *

Keith Rubin, who came to Pontiac Lake from the Cadillac district earlier this year, will assume the fish biologist's duties on an acting basis.

Swan was instrumental in starting the much needed research of Oakland County's many lakes which led to a continuing program of treating some waters with chemicals to revitalize fish populations that have become stunted.

LAKE PROJECT

He also was in charge of the first in-depth research on the Lake St. Clair fishery which is still under way.

* * *

In another change at the Pontiac Lake district office, Marvin Hartwig has become the business executive. He formerly was fire officer at Pontiac Lake and more recently worked in the Detroit information office.

New Home for PKC Show

The Pontiac Kennel Club's annual winter show is moving to more spacious surroundings.

The Jan. 19 event will be in the county-owned Waterford Oaks Activities Building on Watkins Lake Road. This is a former church and is large enough so that more entries can be handled.

* * *

Winter shows in recent years were at the CAI Building and entries were restricted because of the size of the building.

With the exception of chihuahuas, the January offering will be an all-breed show. Judging assignments were announced this week by Mrs. E. A. Kraft, secretary of the Pontiac Kennel Club.

William H. Ackland, Washington D.C., will judge hounds, all terrier and non-sporting breeds; Joseph Faigel, Detroit, will select working, all toy and miscellaneous breeds; Nelson R. Groh, Poland, Ohio, will judge in the working and hound groups.

Haworth F. Hoch, Villa Ridge, Mo., will have bassets, boxers, collies, German shepherds, Great Danes and St. Bernards; and Glen M. Sommers, Wayne, Ind., all sporting breeds.

* * *

Sommers also will select the best-in-show winner of The Pontiac Pres Trophy. Bow Dog Show Organization of Detroit is superintending the licensed show. Entry deadline is Jan. 7.

Bloody WW II Battle Will Be Marked

LONDON (AP) — The 25th anniversary of the U.S. Marines' victory in the Battle of Tarawa, one of the bloodiest operations of the Pacific War, will be commemorated Saturday on tiny Betio Island.

It took the 2nd Marine Division 3½ days to recapture the island, which was heavily fortified and defended by Japanese Marines. A thousand Americans were killed and more than 2,000 wounded. The Japanese lost 4,690 men.

* * *

To mark the 25th anniversary, the government of the Gilbert and Ellice Islands Colony is arranging a number of local events, the Crown Agents for Overseas Governments and Administrations announced in London. A commemorative plaque will be placed at Betio harbor. An official U.S. military detachment will be among the visitors. Commemorative postage stamps are being issued.

* * *

There are plenty of relics to remind the visitor to Betio of the carnage a quarter of a century ago. But veterans of the battle will find the island once again covered with coconut palms and pandanus pines. New buildings line the small harbor and the place is swarming with people.

SMALL ISLAND

Betio, which is only 2¼ miles long by half a mile at the widest point, is one of the islands which make up Tarawa atoll.

The Japanese moved in soon after Pearl Harbor, but for a time they did little to fortify the Gilbert and Ellice Group, except to build a seaplane base on an Island of Makin atoll. From this base their planes were able to attack shipping between the United States and Australia.

* * *

In August 1942, to divert Japanese forces from Guadalcanal, the Americans launched a raid, led by Lt. Col. E. P. Carlson, on the seaplane base.

It was successful, but its immediate effect was to cause the Japanese to rethink their defenses in the group. They concentrated on Tarawa and turned Betio into a fortress, covered with a maze of bunkers, pillboxes and interconnecting trenches. Heavy coastal guns, sold to Japan by Britain during the Russo-Japanese war, were installed at either end.

PUT ON DEFENSIVE

In 1943 the Japanese were forced to the defensive. They were under heavy pressure in New Guinea and the Solomons. The Japanese fleet was badly mauled at Rabaul on Nov. 5.

The American forces mounted Operation Galvanic against the Gilbert group. Its three objectives were to capture Makin atoll with its seaplane base, Tarawa atoll and Abemama, an atoll some 75 miles southeast of Tarawa.

* * *

The 2nd Marine Division, commanded by Maj. Gen. Julian Smith, was assigned to the attack on Tarawa.

In the early hours of Nov. 20 the guns of three battleships, five cruisers and nine destroyers opened up with a preliminary bombardment of Betio. Under cover of this barrage, the assault troops moved in.

LIMITED NUMBER

The tide was very low and the only assault craft which could cross the reef about 1,000 yards from shore were amphibious tractors, of which there was a limited number.

Col. David Shoup led the first troops which hit the shore just after 9 a.m. and, despite heavy losses, managed to establish a toehold. The slaughter began when the landing craft with the following waves grounded on the reef and the Leathernecks were forced to wade waist-deep for hundreds of yards to the beach through cross fire.

By the end of the first day a beachhead some 300 yards deep had been established. The following day the issue remained in doubt until about noon, with reinforcements coming under very heavy fire.

Gradually the tide of battle turned, and the Americans advanced from pillbox to pillbox.

* * *

More reinforcements were landed on the island Nov. 22. A Japanese counterattack that night was beaten off.

The next morning the mopping-up operation continued and at 1:12 p.m. on Nov. 23 Betio was declared secured. In a short ceremony, the American and British flags were hoisted on adjacent palm trees.

Daydreams Should Top Priority List

By HAL BOYLE

BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Many busy people begin the morning by sitting down and writing pompous little memos to themselves headed: "Things simply Must Get Done Today."

The list is rather nonearth-shaking: "Get car washed." "Buy two bottles milk of magnesia — one with mint flavor." "Drop by bank and explain why overdrawn." "See dentist about loose bridge." "Call Myrtle." "Call Joe." "Call Jim."

* * *

It is by dealing with these minutiae of daily emergency that we spend most of our waking hours. But they are on the dull side, aren't they?

* *

How much more exciting it might make living seem if we started off each day by writing memos about our unachieved daydreams. These could be headed: "Things Must Be Sure To Do By Day After Tomorrow At The Latest."

FEW POSSIBILITIES

Here are a few suggested possibilities:

Become a pool shark on the sly and beat Minnesota Fats.

Swim the English Channel, using only the butterfly stroke.

Run for sheriff and create the only truly crime-free county in America.

Invent a new international currency that would take the place of money and never have its value dented by inflation.

*

Organize a sociable society for unsociable hermits.

Find a way to improve parents so noticeably that they would become impressive even to their teen-age children.

Open a bargain basement thrift shop in the Taj Mahal.

Discover an injuryproof plastic knee that would fit any pro football tackle or running back —and last at least for five seasons.

NEW RELIGION?

Come up with a new religion that would sweep the Soviet Union with fervor.

Present the world's largest white elephant to your next-door neighbor, who now has the world's noisiest dog.

* * *

Pass the buck back to someone at the office who has been passing it to you for 20 years.

Throw a cocktail party so successful that it would make both Truman Capote and Perle Mesta go into public mourning.

Raise a turkey with enough meat on it to last through both Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Yep, if you're in the habit of scribbling things-to-do memos to yourself, why not make them more fun by giving priority to those really most worthwhile?

Always put your daydreams first.

Mao's Cultural Revolt Spawns Unschooled Foes of Intellectuals

HONG KONG (UPI) — Chairman Mao Tse-tung's cultural revolution is spawning a generation of political fanatics devoid of a basic education and taught to regard intellectuals as enemies of the state.

This is the picture that emerges from a study by China analysts attached to the American Consulate General in Hong Kong after a recent assessment of developments on the main land.

Education has been a major casualty of the three-year old cultural revolution, these experts concluded. A report of the study released Friday termed the damage done to schools as "one of the most lasting legacies of this turbulent time."

China's schools simply ceased to function during academic years 1966-67 and 1967-68, the study states. The unleashing of youthful Red Guards who roamed the country on Mao's crusade for pure communism in that period virtually emptied the classrooms.

REVOLT ENCOURAGED

With their newly bestowed powers, students were encouraged to turn on their teachers who, as "intellectuals, were a primary target."

"Under the Red Guard onslaught, whatever control school teachers had over their students dissolved," the U.S. report said. "The pre-1966 curriculum was denounced as both not revolutionary enough and not practical."

★ ★ ★

Only in the "past few months" have Chinese schools been permitted to reopen as the progress of the cultural revolution moved from chaos to consolidation of Mao's victories in the struggle against "revisionism."

Evidence of a back-to-school movement has reached this listening post in publications and monitored radio broadcasts. Radio Canton broadcast on Oct. 12 that 700,000 primary and middle school students were returning to classrooms in that south China city.

'A LARGE TASK'

"This has been a large task'," the American report stated, "considering the demoralized teachers and undisciplined students."

Nor have conditions returned to the pre-1966 period. "Large numbers of student-age young people apparently are not going back to school," the report said. Numbered among them are the former Red Guards, now ordered disbanded and powerless.

"There is only one place for former Red Guards to go under the new rules: to work.

"It is apparent that the entire middle-school graduating class of 1967 and 1968 — who did not really graduate — are being sent to the farms and factories to do manual labor," the American analysts said. In some localities, they added, "the movement extends even to primary school graduates."

Whether former students ordered to work will ever return to their studies is not known, but the chances are slim for some. "... Red Guards are being sent unceremoniously to farms and factories, sometimes for life," the study said.

For those left to attend classes, formal study of basic subjects has been replaced by lessons in political indoctrination. "Both in adult classes and in the schools the highest priority is given to the creative study and thought of Mao Tse-tung," the report said.

Additionally, four years had been slashed from elementary and middle schooling and senior middle schooling, equivalent to high schooling, has been eliminated as "too bourgeois."

Nine years of schooling is all a student can have in China now. There is a period of farm or factory labor lasting four years after graduation and when this is completed, "a fraction" of the graduating students is selected for college training.

GUIDED BY ARMY

In charge of the schools are "workers and peasants ... guided in their task by local army units." The aim here is to discredit scholars and intellectuals who are continually subjected to "reform" and "reeducation" sessions by their semiliterate superiors.

An article in the party publication Red Flag set out the reasons for these "reforms" on Aug. 25:

"It is essential for the workers and peoples' liberation fighters to go into those places where the intellectuals are concentrated ... to break down the complete domination by the intellectuals ... in this way the unhealthy atmosphere and thinking that exist where intellectuals are concentrated can be changed and the intellectuals can be remolded and achieve liberation."

Veteran's Visit to White House First Since 1906

SEATTLE (AP) — A man who says he "used to take Teddy Roosevelt's kids to roller skate" plans to return to the White House tonight for his first visit since 1906.

William R. Fletcher, 84, commander-in-chief of the United Spanish War Veterans, and his wife have been invited to a White House reception for the heads of the nation's veterans organizations.

★ ★ ★

Fletcher said his earlier White House visits came while he was stationed at a gun factory in Washington.

★ ★ ★

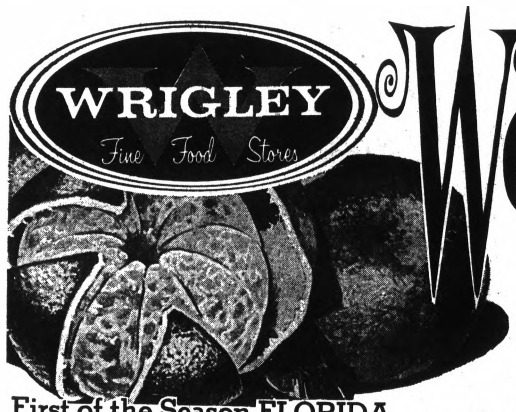

"I used to take Teddy Roosevelt's kids to roller skate Saturday mornings," he said. "I guess it was because I was a pretty good roller skater. I used to pick them up at the White House."

But Czechs Hip to Fashions

No Clothes Bargains in Prague

By LINDA C. JACKSON

PRAGUE (UPI) — The one good thing about a Communist department store is that shoppers need not worry about getting knocked down in a rush for the bargains. There aren't any.

A trip to Prague's biggest department stores by an American accustomed to long U.S. ready-to-wear racks showed that prices are not only steep for the Czechs. They are steep for the Americans.

A woman's winter coat without any fur trim costs around 700 of Czechoslovakia's unstable crowns, or $100 at the official rate of exchange, or one-fourth of the monthly wage of a woman sales clerk.

It would pay the rent on a comfortable two-bedroom apartment, or buy 50 decent meals at an ordinary restaurant.

The coat can be had in any style, as long as its last year's and in two sizes: too big and too little.

'FIRST' IN FASHION

Despite the styles and the painful prices, Czechoslovakia is the most fashion-conscious of the East European communist bloc nations and its women are often dressed more stylishly than the ladies of Vienna or Munich where miniskirts are still considered a bit daring.

Through a combination of western fashion magazines and hardworking clothing industry employes, the Czechoslovaks have managed to partly overcome an economy that plans fashions down to the bottom buttonhole in much the same manner it plans steel production.

* * *

In fact, tucked away on a hidden Prague rooftop is the only boutique in town, so unique that it is simply called "Boutique." Shoppers who know where to look can climb two flights of stairs leading from the central Wenceslas square and emerge on a tarpaper roof.

Across it is a tastefully decorated little shop with straw lamps hanging from the ceilings and charming salesgirls who show off a limited selection of dresses, sweaters and dozens of berets which have become highly fashionable in Prague.

The dresses, which cost as much as 400 crowns and tend to be schmaltzy, are from the regular department-store stock but the best has been chosen for "boutique."

MADE AT HOME

Most of the short skirts and western-style coats do not come from store racks but from home sewing machines. Most women, and many men, know how to make their own clothes and the most valued gifts from abroad are German-language fashion magazines from Austria or West Germany.

Possibly with thirfty Czech women in mind, the magazines have included foldout patterns that Czechs transform into fashionable clothes at prices far below those in the department stores.

It is the custom among foreign businessmen seeking to influence important factory managers to bring copies of fashion magazines for the manager's wife.

The Czechoslovak interest in fashion has made it the least-Communist-looking of the East Bloc nations, and the difference between the Czechoslovak women and their Moscow counterparts was never more apparent than since the late summer invasion of the Soviet-led Warsaw Treaty armies.

State to Air Bell Proposal on Pontiac Zone

The Michigan Public Service Commission has scheduled a public hearing at 10 a.m. tomorrow on the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. request to enlarge the base rate area of the Pontiac zone of the Pontiac District Exchange.

The hearing will be held in the Lewis Cass Building in Lansing.

The request is prompted by the building of more than 200 town houses and 50 apartments in the area, according to the telephone company.

The zone mileage charges for 231 customers will be eliminated or reduced, if the request is approved, and combined savings will total $4,021 annually.

Three rural customers in this area also will be required to change to one- or two-party service as rural eight-party service is not offered within the base rate area.

* * *

These customers may have a two-party telephone service for 10 cents a month more than their eight-party service.

They could alternatively subscribe to budget service which would be $1.50 less than they pay now.

"Take my personal coupon and get 10¢ off new Axion."

Soaks out stains and dirt bleaches can't bleach out, detergents can't wash out!

You've probably seen Arthur Godfrey recommending Axion on television. Now he's offering you ten cents off your next box. An incredible new discovery, Axion is entirely different from any detergent. Entirely different from any bleach. Axion is an enzyme-active pre-soak that cleans away stains as no other kind of washing product has ever been able to do.

Works on your whole wash.

You see a striking difference in your entire wash every time you pre-soak with Axion. All you do is sort as usual. Your whites are noticeably brighter and cleaner. And pleasantly fresh smelling. Not only does Axion clean off tough dirt and stains, you can use it effectively on colored synthetic fabrics you wouldn't dare bleach. In fact, once you start using Axion, you find yourself pre-soaking everything you wash, every time you wash.

AXION attacks stain after stain.

Axion's active enzymes biologically break down the molecular structure of the most stubborn stains. Blood. Gravy. Sauces. Chocolate. Fruit stains. Dirt on white socks. Grass. Yellowing on pillowcases. Baby foods. Perspiration stains. Diaper stains. Grime on shirt collars and cuffs. And many more.

Now is the time to get Colgate's AXION.

This coupon will save you ten cents on any size box of Axion. Take it to your grocer.

Be sure to watch "The Doctors" in color, NBC, Monday through Friday, 2:30-3:00 p.m., N.Y.T.

Increased Global Crops Cut Demand for U.S. Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP) With more of the world's developing nations learning how to feed their hungry millions, the United States faces the problem of what to do with food surpluses.

This crunch in world supply and demand for farm products was underscored today in separate reports from the Agriculture Department and the Agency for International Development—AID.

* * *

In a summary of the quarterly wheat report, the Agriculture Department says indications are that carryover stocks next July 1 will be 600 million to 650 million bushels, compared with 537 million this year.

The preliminary report also said the department's 1968-69 export target of 750 million bushels "looks increasingly difficult to attain" and that exports definitely are not expected to match the 761 million shipped abroad last year.

The situation today includes a problem of world plenty, the department said.

The report stated there has been a slackening of imports by big customers in the world market, notably the Soviet Union and Red China. Food aid recipients, including India and Pakistan, also have reduced their requirements from previous levels.

* * *

"Thus, at least for the current year, the world not only has more than enough wheat for its needs, but the grain is so adequately distributed that trade expansion is not expected," the report said.

A speech by the administrator of the Agency for International Development offers an explanation for the excess in wheat and other products.

'GREEN REVOLUTION'

In a talk prepared for the International Development Conference, William S. Gaud cited India, Pakistan, Turkey and the Philippines among the nations that have launched a "green revolution" through the use of new high yielding seeds, better use of water and fertilizer and more effective economics policies to double and triple their yields of rice and wheat.

He said that India's most recent grain harvest topped the previous record by more than one-third and the country expects to be self-sufficient in wheat early in the 1970s.

He said Pakistan's May-June wheat crop was up 50 per cent and that country is expected to become self-sufficient in food grains by the end of this decade.

* * *

"The Philippines have already ended more than a half-century of dependency on rice imports," he said. "The issue is no longer whether the Philippines can become self-sufficient in rice but how soon they can become exporters of rice to countries which cannot yet meet their own needs."

MORE THAN A HOPE

He said the green revolution is more than a hope, it is now here in parts of east and south Asia and the Middle east. The question is whether it will be sustained and will spread, he added.

Mt. Etna in Sicily probably has erupted most frequently of any of the world's volcanos.

Tomorrow's Birthday to Find De Gaulle Hale, Hardy

CHARLES de GAULLE

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle, who has described old age as a "shipwreck," turns 78 tomorrow in robust health and in a fighting mood to keep afloat the French franc, now 170 years old and foundering.

For De Gaulle there will be no birthday celebration — just another working day as the living symbol of France's past, present and future.

* * *

But the aging general, who twice came to leadership in times of serious crisis, was facing more than a routine day in his fight to shore up the franc and protect the French prestige he's tried so hard to restore since World War II.

According to Elysee Palace spokesmen, De Gaulle is in excellent health and a long way from giving up the helm or turning away from the battle. A recent medical examination showed him to be in "robust" shape, a spokesman said.

'HEAVIEST' CROSS

Neither age nor events have mellowed the tough, remote, crusty Frenchman, once described by Winston Churchill as the "heaviest" cross he had to bear in the Allied cause against Adolf Hitler's Germany.

When De Gaulle broke into a coughing spell that interrupted the classic French rhetoric of his last news conference in September, there was widespread talk that he was ailing.

* * *

Not so, said the Elysee Palace. And as if to prove that he was still in good health, De Gaulle plunged ahead with a regorous schedule that included visits to West Germany and Turkey, where for five days he watched parades, shook hands all around, spoke at endless receptions and dinners, and saw a respectable number of tourist delights.

His main physical problem is with his eyes. Several years ago he underwent surgery for cataracts and he needs glasses to see clearly. But he is rarely seen in public wearing them, preferring to memorize his speeches and answers to planted news conference questions.

'YOU WILL KNOW'

Once when a reporter asked him about his health, De Gaulle replied: "Don't worry. You will know when I am no longer here. Incidentally, I am a bit afraid there won't be a dearth of heirs."

Or, as he put it on another occasion, "After me, the flood."

* * *

De Gaulle enters his 78th year with his dream for a "Europe from the Urals to the Atlantic" shattered by the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia that punctured his claim that friendly relations with the Soviet Union would lead to one happy European community.

* * *

Friendlier relations with the United States appear to be on the horizon.

* * *

This does not mean, however, that De Gaulle will not continue to fight to prevent the take-over of French businesses by American companies, that he'll crawl under the U.S. nuclear umbrella and discard his own, or that he'll endorse American policies throughout the world.

* * *

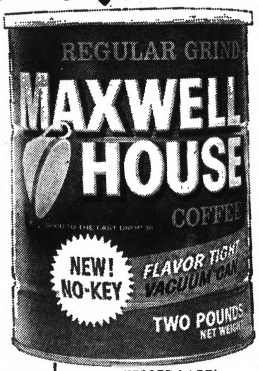

De Gaulle's credo remains now — as before — to return France to the grandeur of earlier days, to make France a world power independent in her own right and proud as he is.

* * *

"France," he once said, "is I."

Scientists Say: Heed Suicide Warnings

LONDON (UPI) — Scientists believe people contemplating suicide give an early warning which doctors and nurses should be trained to recognize.

Often a patient suffering from depression is actually signalling that he intends to take his own life. But the doctor may simply regard this as a temporary disturbance and provide the very tranquilizers his patient uses to kill himself.

* * *

The problem of suicide is receiving concentrated attention among researchers because in an increasingly complex world, more and more people find it a way out of what they regard as insoluble personal problems.

According to the World Health Organization (WHO), there are at least 1,000 deaths by suicide a day in the world and perhaps 8,000 unsuccessful attempts. In most European and North American countries it ranks among the first 10 causes of death.

A WHO publication, "prevention of suicide," says Hungary has the highest suicide rate in the world, 34 per 100,000 of population. Sweden has 21.7 per 100,000. England has 15.1, and Italy the lowest rate, seven per 100,000.

The latest U.S. figure is 11 per 100,000.

* * *

Methods of suicide vary from country to country. American men tend to kill themselves with firearms, American women are more apt to use pills or gas. Britons prefer gas. In Africa hanging is the most frequent method, and in Brazil it is poison.

* * *

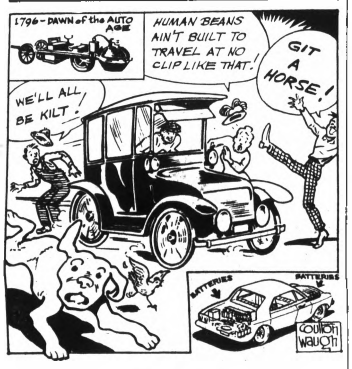

In Japan, suicide among the young is decreasing, but there is evidence from other areas that it is on the increase in the teen-age and postteen-age group. In Britain, for example, the rate among men at Oxford and Cambridge universities is five times the national average.

CAUSES CITED

Love, home or parental problems lead large numbers of Swedish and Scottish girls to attempt suicide. A survey in Britain showed that male students at universities with few women students are more likely to kill themselves.

Suicide is most likely, according to the survey, among the elderly and lonely, especially those unprepared for retirement or who have lost a loved one, and the mentally ill.

Junior Editors Quiz on ELECTRIC CARS

QUESTION: How did the first electric cars work?

* * *

ANSWER: Strange contraptions like the one at upper left, driven by a steam engine, ushered in the age of cars in the 1790's. By the 1880's, inventors in Europe were trying out the idea of an electric car. A successful one was built in 1893. By 1895, an American electric, the Electrobat, had beaten a gasoline-powered car in a famous race.

Such early electrics were powered by motors of from 2 to 4 horsepower, the electricity coming from a battery carried in the car. They did not have to be cranked to start like a gasoline car. Also, they were quiet and clean.

But after 1910, their popularity died out. The electric car was too slow. Above all, its batteries had to be changed or recharged every 50 miles. The much faster, more attractively styled gasoline cars caught the public eye. After 1928, electric cars were no longer manufactured on a large scale.

But what's that in the lower right? You guessed it, a super-modern electric!

Engineers are experimenting with the electric idea again. The heavy batteries electric cars must carry are still the problem, but someone may find a way around it.

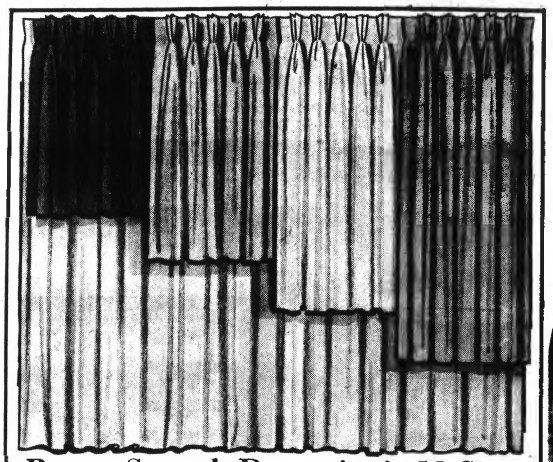

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Fill Hamburger Cups to Serve

Ground beef is always welcome because of its great flavor and economy, but Stuffed Burger Cups give the favorite meat new appeal and glamour.

To make these interesting burger cups, shape a well-seasoned ground beef mixture on the outside of custard cups that have been covered with heavy foil. Remove the custard cups before broiling the meat and cook the meat slowly until it holds its shape.

* * *

After the meat is cooked, turn the cups right side up, remove the foil and fill the cups with hot instant mashed potatoes, buttered peas and top with a zippy cheese sauce. Here're good, old-fashioned hamburgers but with a real elegance.

BROILED STUFFED BURGER CUPS

2 pounds ground beef, chuck, round or hamburger
2 eggs
⅔ cup fine corn flake crumbs
½ cup catsup
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
6 aluminum foil cups (directions below)
3 cups hot seasoned (instant) mashed potatoes
⅓ cup sliced green onion, or as desired
2 cups hot cooked buttered peas
1 cup favorite hot cheese sauce

Combine first 7 ingredients; mix well and divide into 6 equal portions.

Make 6 double-thick aluminum foil cups as follows. Cut heavy duty aluminum foil into 12 8-inch squares. Turn 6 5-ounce custard cups upside down. Press a double thickness (2 squares) of foil tightly over outside of each cup. Trim, leaving ½ inch extra foil around edge; press it back to form a rim.

Press each portion of meat into a patty 6 inches in diameter and press it over an aluminum foil cup on custard cup. Remove custard cups before placing meat on oven rack.

Arrange foil-lined meat cups on rack in shallow baking pan. Cook in moderate oven (375 degrees) until meat is firm and holds its shape, 20 to 25 minutes.

SERVING

To serve, turn burger cups, curved side down, and remove foil liners. Combine mashed potatoes and green onion; spoon into center of cups. Surround with peas; drizzle cheese sauce over top. Yield: 6 servings.

THREE-DECKER SUBMARINE- Satisfy those ravenous teen-age appetites with a luscious three-decker submarine made with Brown and Serve Italian Bread.

Bake Italian Bread for Sandwich

If you're looking for something to feed a teenage crowd at a party or informal get-together, there's nothing better than three-decker submarine sandwiches, especially when you start with Brown and Serve Italian Bread.

The aroma that will fill your kitchen as the bread finishes baking will be enough to send the young fry into ecstasies.

Nobody but nobody bakes bread any more. Nobody, that is, except you. And with Brown and Serve, you do it the easy way — in 12 to 15 minutes.

THREE-DECKER SUBMARINE

1 loaf Brown and Serve Italian Bread soft butter
6 slices Genoa salami
6 slices mozzarella cheese
½ jar (8 oz.) mushroom salad mustard
6 slices boiled ham
6 slices Swiss cheese
Lettuce leaves
6 slices tomatoes, seeds removed Mayonnaise
Whole black olives for garnish

With a serrated knife, cut the brown and serve loaf horizontally into three equal slices. Arrange slices separately on a cookie sheet and bake according to package directions.

Baking slices separately give them crustier surfaces which are particularly nice with the tomato and mushroom salad fillings to come.

While bread is still warm, spread bottom third with butter. Arrange salami, then mozzarella cheese, top with mushroom salad; cover with middle slice of bread.

Spread with mustard, then arrange a layer of ham, a layer of Swiss cheese, tomatoes and lettuce leaves.

* * *

Spread last layer of bread with mayonnaise and use as top. Insert six toothpicks and top each with a whole black olive as a garnish.

Cut diagonally into six generous portions.

American, Chinese

East and West Meet in a Dish

STUFFED BURGER CUPS — With a bit of imagination, ground beef can be turned into many a handsome and delicious concoction. Stuffed Dinner Burger Cups look so inviting that no one will count the cost.

Frozen fish sticks are, of course, one of the many easy-to-use foods available to the American homemaker. Heated according to the package directions, the plump fish sticks will be crispy and golden brown on the outside, flaky white inside.

Then the oriental sauce that makes the dish unique can be prepared while the fish sticks heat. It's pungently flavored with two ingredients widely used in Chinese cuisine — soy sauce and ginger. These add a delicious taste to a pineapple syrup-and-water mixture that is thickened with cornstarch.

* * *

Slivers of green pepper and carrot coins are cooked crisp-tender in this liquid. Pineapple chunks are added, too, and the fruited sauce is served over the fish sticks and rice, the staple of all Chinese kitchens.

PUNGENT FISH STICKS ORIENTAL

1 can (8½-ounces) sliced pineapple, drained and syrup reserved
1½ cups pineapple syrup and water
¼ cup sugar
¼ to ½ teaspoon soy sauce
½ medium green pepper, finely sliced
1 clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup vinegar
1 package (16-ounces) fish sticks
3 cups cooked rice

Heat pineapple syrup, sugar, ginger, soy sauce, green pepper, carrot and garlic in skillet to boiling; simmer for 6 minutes or until vegetables are tender.

Blend cornstarch and vinegar; add to simmering mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add pineapple slices cut into sixths, and heat.

* * *

Heat fish sticks as directed on package. Spoon rice into a warmed bowl; top with fish sticks and serve sauce over all. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Keep Breakfasts High in Protein

High protein foods are especially important to students during their periods of rapid growth. Eggs, which are a favorite breakfast food, contain protein of such high quality that it is the standard against which other food protein is measured.

On a morning when the food from the bread group is a sweet roll or a toasted frozen waffle eaten out of hand with butter and jelly, beat up an eggnog to get a high protein into the meal. Or combine the egg with frozen orange juice, water and sugar and whirl them in the blender.

If several slices of crisp bacon just happen to be available, they will soon disappear — and without benefit of plate or fork!

If you want that oven-fried chicken to be on the crisp side, try baking it in a hot (425 degrees) oven.

Parfait Combo Is Unusual One

There's nothing more attractive than a parfait for dessert. An unusual combination contains fruit cocktail and chocolate pudding.

Thicken the juice from a 16 ounce can of fruit cocktail with a tablespoon of cornstarch and add a dash of salt. Add the drained fruit, a little butter and a few drops of peppermint extract for flavor.

Layer with canned chocolate pudding in tall parfait glasses. It tastes as good as your favorite sundae.

Electric Skillet Is Ideal for Whole Ham

Need a change-of-pace menu idea for these bright fall evenings? Why not try a pineapple-orange glazed ham prepared as a one-dish meal with candied sweet potatoes?

* * *

Select one of the fine canned precooked hams at your favorite meat market and have it cut in quarter-inch thick slices. Then follow this recipe developed by home economists of The West Bend Company.

PINEAPPLE-ORANGE GLAZED HAM WITH SWEET POTATOES

1 3- to 5-pound canned precooked ham sliced in one-quarter inch slices, then tied with cord
Whole cloves, optional
1 2-pound can sweet potatoes
¾ cup orange juice
¼ cup brown sugar
6 pineapple slices

Place ham, fatty side up, in covered skillet at 225 degrees. Allow 20 minutes per pound. If desired, 30 minutes before done, insert cloves. Add canned sweet potatoes.

Combine orange juice and brown sugar in skillet. Bring to a boil. Add pineapple slices. Arrange your choice of fruit atop the ham. Pour orange sauce over ham and serve at once. Makes 6-8 servings.

Bake Custard in Ring, Fill With Glazed Fruit

Custard is one of those easy-to-make standby desserts that can be transformed into something elegant with a few flicks of the wrist. In its simplest form it's a blend of eggs and milk or cream, lightly sweetened and flavored.

CUSTARD RING WITH CHERRY-PEAR SAUCE

6 eggs
½ cup sugar
2 cups heavy cream, scalded
2 cups milks, scalded
3 cups water
¾ cup sugar
4 medium pears, pared, cored and halved (or 8 whole Seckel pears, pared)
Lemon juice
1 jar (8 ounces) red maraschino cherries, drained and syrup reserved
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon currant jelly

* * *

Beat eggs with ½ cup sugar until thick and lemon colored. Blend in cream and milk. Pour into a buttered 6½-cup ring mold (or use 1½-quart ring mold and bake any remaining custard separately).

Set mold in shallow pan on rack; fill pan with ¾ inch boiling water. Bake in 325 degrees (moderate) oven 1 hour or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Remove from oven; cool.

When cold, turn out onto serving plate. Boil water and ¾ cup sugar together for 5 minutes.

* * *

Prepare pears and brush with lemon juice to prevent darkening. Poach in sugar syrup about 25 minutes or until tender.

Remove pears; blend cornstarch with ¼ cup reserved cherry syrup; stir into sugar syrup. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Add currant jelly, stirring until jelly melts. Add cherries and pears.

Remove from heat. Cool and spoon into center of custard ring. Makes 6-8 servings.

DRAMATIC CHERRY DESSERT — A beautiful dessert to end your next "big occasion" dinner is this ring of luscious custard encircling a sauce bejeweled with maraschino cherries and pears.

THREE KINGS RAISIN FRUITCAKE

Fruitcake Baked Now Gives It Time to Ripen

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

If you're going to have fruitcake for the holidays, you can't put off baking it. Most of these rich cakes improve with age; some are not best for eating until they have aged.

After mellowing for a month, this raisin fruitcake gets a showy collar of almond paste and a crown of candied cherries.

THREE KINGS RAISIN FRUITCAKE

1 (15-ounce) package dark seedless raisins
1 (15-ounce) package golden seedless raisins
¾ cup candied pineapple chunks
¾ cup halved candied cherries
¾ cup citron chunks
¾ cup halved pitted dates
1 cup sherry
1 cup red currant jelly
½ cup butter
1 cup brown sugar (packed)
1 tablespoon vanilla
¼ cup molasses
4 eggs
2½ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon nutmeg
2 cups sliced or halved almonds

Combine raisins, candied fruits, citron, dates, wine and jelly. Cover and let stand overnight. Beat butter, brown sugar and vanilla together until light and fluffy; blend in molasses.

Beat eggs until light, mix with sugar mixture. Resift flour with baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Combine with fruit mixture and almonds; stir into batter, mixing well.

Turn into greased 9 or 10-inch fancy tube pan. Bake in slow oven (275 degrees F.) 3 to 3½ hours until cake tests done. Cool.

Wrap in heavy foil or saran and store in cool dry place one month or longer. Makes 1 large tube cake.

Note: Batter measures 2½ quarts. Other pans may be used for baking.

Almond Paste Decoration: Decorate cake after aging. Working 1 cup canned almond paste with hands until smooth and softened; shape into ball. Roll out between 2 layers of waxed paper or foil to strip 2 inches wide and 27 inches long.

Trim edges to make sharp, even line. Fit around cake as shown pinching seam edge to hold in place. Make ridges at ¼ inch intervals with knife.

Dip candied cherries in a little corn syrup and stick around top of almond paste collar.

For an unusually attractive fruitcake, try baking it in three graduated pans. Stack the layers and glaze them with apricot syrup.

THREE LAYER FRUITCAKE

¾ cup dried apricots
¾ cup water
1½ cups granulated sugar
¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup pitted ready-to-eat prunes
¾ cup pitted fresh dates
¾ cup candied cherries
3 cups California walnut halves and large pieces
3 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla

Simmer apricots in water five minutes. Add ¾ cup sugar and cook slowly 10 minutes longer, until apricots are transparent and glazed. Lift out of syrup with a fork, and drain well on a wire rack. Save syrup to glaze cake.

Resift flour with remaining ¾ cup sugar, baking powder and salt. Combine prunes, dates, cherries, walnuts and apricots. Add sifted dry mixture, and mix gently.

Beat eggs with vanilla. Add to fruit mixture and mix carefully to avoid breaking up fruit. Turn into greased 9-inch square pan. Bake at 300 degrees about 1¾ hours, until cake is set in center. Cool in pan. When cake is cold, turn out, and brush with heated syrup from glazing apricots. Makes one 9-inch square cake.

Note: Or recipe may be doubled and baked in graduated pans (about 4½ inches, 6 inches and 9-inches square).

THREE LAYER FRUITCAKE

Gumdrops Replace Usual Candied Fruit

Gumdrop Fruitcake is a joy to make, a little easier and a lot less expensive than traditional fruitcakes. Gumdrops, pecans and raisins are the "nibbley" ingredients. Applesauce is used to help keep the cake fresh and moist. And the savory, flavorous taste is a combination of cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg.

GUMDROP FRUITCAKE

2 cups cut-up gumdrops, omit licorice (about ¾ lb.)
1½ cups coarsely chopped pecans
1 package (15 oz.) seedless raisins
½ cup regular all-purpose flour
1 cup (2 sticks) butter
2 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups regular all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup applesauce

Line two loaf pans, 9 x 5 x 2¾-inch with waxed paper. In a bowl combine gumdrops, pecans and raisins with ½ cup flour; toss to coat.

In a large mixing bowl cream butter; gradually add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time; add vanilla. Sift together 3 cups flour, baking powder, cinnamon, baking soda, salt and spices.

Add to creamed mixture alternately with applesauce, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Stir in gumdrop-nut mixture. Divide evenly into pans.

Bake in a preheated 275-degree oven 2½-3 hours or until done. (Have pan of hot water on bottom shelf of oven. Cakes will have greater volume and more moist texture.) Cool in pans.

Remove paper; wrap in foil or saran. Store in cool place; chill before slicing.

Note: Cake batter may be baked in one 10 x 4-inch tube pan. Prepare pan as above. Bake 3-3½ hours.

Size of Pan Has Important Role for Fruitcakes

For larger loaf cakes line pans with brown paper and grease with shortening. Smaller pans such as small loaves, fancy molds or juice cans — grease well. Cupcake pans may be lined with paper baking cups, or well greased.

Bake fruitcakes in slow oven (300 degrees F.) until cake tests done in center. Place a shallow pan of hot water on floor of oven to give a less heavy crust.

1. 8½ by 4½ by 2¾-inch loaf pans — 5 cups batter. Bake about 2 hours.
2. 8 by 4 by 2½-inch foil loaf pan — 4 cups batter. Bake 1 hour 50 minutes.
3. 5½ by 3 by 2½-inch loaf pan — 1¾ cups batter. Bake about 1½ hours.
4. 4½ by 1½-inch round foil pan — 1 to 1¼ cups batter. Bake 1 hour 25 minutes.
5. 3-quart tube pan or mold — 2½ quarts batter. Bake 2½ to 3 hours depending on tube size.
6. 7½-inch ring mold — 3 cups batter. Bake about 1 hour 40 minutes.
7. 6-ounce juice can — ½ cup batter. Bake about 50 minutes.
8. 1¾ by ¾-inch cupcake pans — rounded tablespoon batter. Bake about 20 minutes.
9. 3 by 1½-inch cupcakes — ⅓ cup batter. Bake about 40 minutes.

Film Giant Walter Wanger---Showman, Statesman

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Throughout his long career in films, Walter Wanger seemed torn between two elements of his character: showman and statesman.

THOMAS

Wanger, who died Monday in New York at 74, was a curiosity among movie moguls. For one thing, he was a college graduate — Dartmouth '15. That alone set him apart from the empire-building primitives of Hollywood.

* * *

A man addicted to pipes and tweeds, he seemed almost professorial in manner and appearance. Indeed, he enjoyed visiting campuses to expound to students on economics and international politics, as well as movies. He told of his ambitions to become a diplomat after Air Corps service in World War I.

He served as president of the Motion Picture Academy and sparked industry drives for charity and good will. He visited the White House and offered his advice on national and world problems.

WHEEL AND DEAL

Wanger also knew how to survive in the Hollywood jungle. He could wheel and deal with the toughest studio bosses—Louis B. Mayer, Harry Cohn, etc.—and escape unharmed. He could produce classics like "Stagecoach" and "The Long Voyage Home," as well as "Salome, Where She Danced" and "Invasion of the Body Snatchers." He also managed to precipitate—and survive—one of the biggest Hollywood scandals of the 1950s.

Wanger produced plays in London and New York before starting in films as eastern production manager for Paramount. Film-making jobs at Columbia and MGM convinced him to pursue an independent course, and he started his own company in 1935.

* * *

His films varied between thought-provoking efforts and sheer escapism. Among the former: "The President Vanishes" and "Gabriel Over the White House," about national politics; "Blockade," a drama of the Spanish Civil War; "Private Worlds," mental illness; "Smash-Up," alcoholism.

Among the entertainment films: "Foreign Correspondent," first-rate Hitchcock: "Algiers," which made stars of Charles Boyer and Hedy Lamarr; "Eagle Squadron;" "Arabian Knights;" "Trade Winds," "Stand-In"; "Joan of Arc;" "Tap Roots;" etc. etc.

SHOOTING INCIDENT

In 1951, Hollywood was shaken by the news that Walter Wanger had fired a pistol at Jennings Lang, agent for Mrs. Wanger, actress Joan Bennett.

"I shot him because I thought he was breaking up my home," Wanger told police. Lang recovered from a groin wound, and Wanger pleaded guilty to assault with a deadly weapon.

He was sentenced to four months in jail.

* * *

Wanger demonstrated his own recuperative powers by resuming his career and marriage after serving time. He capitalized on the experience by writing magazine articles on penology and producing a film against capital punishment, "I Want To Live," which won an Academy Award for Susan Hayward in 1958.

Wheeling and dealing again, Wanger sold 20th-Century Fox on a big-budget "Cleopatra." A series of troubles bloated the budget to $40 million and nearly sank 20th-Fox into bankruptcy.

* * *

Wagner's powers of recovery seemed to fail him after "Cleopatra."

He announced projects but never managed to put the deals together. Despite heart attacks dating back to 1956, he kept trying. Last August he was here with plans to make a film about today's youth.

* * *

"There's a whole new generation of film makers," he told me. "I don't understand them, but I'm ready to work with them."

Tonnage carried through the St. Lawrence Seaway declined 10 per cent in 1967 because of lower wheat sales and a five-

Argentine Births Pay Off

BUENOS AIRES, (AP) — President Juan C. Ongania is trying to counter pressure for birth control by offering to increase allowances for families with many children.

* * *

Economy Minister Adalbert Krieger Vasena says family allowances will be increased by the end of the year for families with more than three children.

* * *

The allowance now is 2,100 pesos or $7 monthly per child. It is paid by the parent's employer until the child is 18 years old.

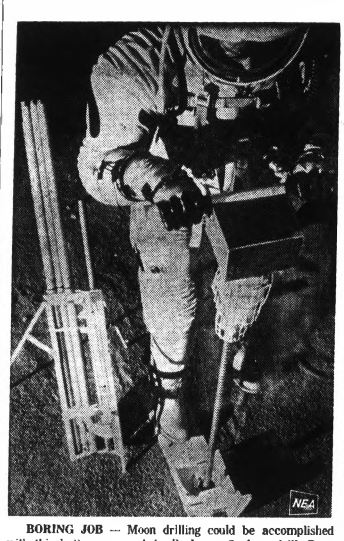

* * *

President Onagania, siding with the conservative bishops who control the Catholic Church in Argentina, has asserted obedience to the Pope's ruling on artificial birth control. The Atheneum of the Republic, a Church-oriented cultural club to which many top government officials belong, said in a statement that birth control violates the Pope's directives and church doctrine.

TO DEVELOP COUNTRY

Many Argentines claim more births are necessary to populate and develop their country, where 24 million people live in an area half the size of the United States.

Some economists say that Argentina's birth rate of 1.6 per cent is too low for such a vast country with rich, untapped resources. This situation contrasts with that of smaller, poorer Latin American nations with birth rates which exceed the rate of economic growth.

BORING JOB — Moon drilling could be accomplished with this battery-powered Apollo Lunar Surface drill. Present plans call for astronauts to drill two 3-meter-deep holes in the moon's surface into which temperature sensors will be placed for measuring the lunar heat flow. Built for NASA by Martin Marietta, the drill also can be used to obtain core samples for return to earth.

Opening lead—♣Q

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

In chess, a gambit is a sacrifice of a piece or pawn in order to gain advantage in position. In George Coffin's ABC of card play, G stands for gambit and he defines a bridge gambit as a sacrifice of a trick to gain two or more in return.

JACOBY

We don't recommend South's bidding of today's hand but he did bid the slam and it was up to him to try to make it.

Many players would lay down a high trump at trick two. If this dropped the nine, bidder would enter dummy to discard his losers on the ace, king and queen of hearts.

If the nine failed to drop, South would run off several more trumps and eventually try to get to dummy with the queen of spades. This will not work because East holds the king, and South would be set a couple of tricks.

* * *

The gambit play is far better. It consists of leading a low diamond at trick two. This gives the defense a surprise trick with the nine, and establishes an entry to dummy for the good hearts and will bring home the small slam, provided the third heart doesn't get ruffed.

Not only does this play work but it represents a far better method of attack than the play of the high trump first.

There would be no play for the slam if West had happened to open a spade, but West had a normal club lead. A lead from queen-jack-10 always looks good, while a lead of a doubleton looks dangerous.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	1♣	Pass	1♠
Pass	2♦	Pass	3♣
Pass	3♠	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

♠Q10854 ♥A10 ♦53 ♣7654

What do you do now?

A—Bid four spades. No guarantee goes with this bid, but it is worth-while to try for this game.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding two diamonds, your partner jumps to three diamonds over your one spade. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

Yule Will Crack Record Firms

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Each passing year brings the music-recording industry in this country closer to the bring of collapse.

WEST

The breakdown will come that year when the record companies are finally unable to think up any more new ways of doing Christmas music.

In looking at advertisements for 1968 Christmas albums, I can already detect an air of desperation. Some of the record-makers obviously are grasping at straws in the manger.

It is only a question of time until the strain of devising different arrangements for the old Yuletide carols becomes too much for them.

TJADITIONAL DEMAND

Attempts to forestall a crisis by introducing new songs seldom succeed. The public demands traditional music for Christmas, and about one new number a year is all it will tolerate.

For an indication of how pressing the problem has become, let us drop in on a conference among top officials of the Uptight Record Co.

* * *

"All right, men," the president says. "Has anyone got any ideas about how we can handle 'Silent Night' this year?"

The production director looks at his catalog and says, "Perhaps we can come up with something through the process of elimination."

VARIED ARRANGEMENTS

"The catalog shows we have recorded "Silent Night" vocally with male and female soloists, a mixed chorus, an a capella choir, a college glee club, a boys' choir, a madrigal group and an opera company.

"The sales manager says, "How about giving it a country-western treatment? That type of music is very big this year."

"Not bad," the president says. "Any other ideas?"

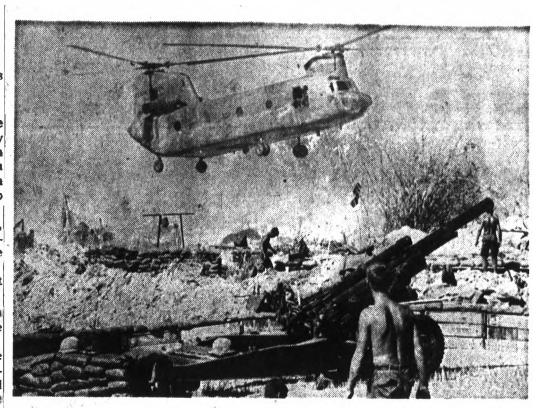

"I had in mind a Mexican marimba band," the vice president says.

"I'm glad to see we still have a few options open," the president says. "I was afraid we had exhausted all of the possibilities."

"Not yet," the production director says. "If we can sign up Gregory Peck to recite the lyrics of 'Silent Night' as a dramatic reading, we should be able to keep going at least until 1975."

Saved From Mud

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP) — In the fog James P. Turley, 28, got his car stuck in a marsh. Nearly two hours later Tuesday his cries reached nearby residents. Sheriff's deputies in a dinghy rescued Turley, mired chest-high in mud—about a half-hour before the rising tide would have swallowed him.

'He Killed Thousands'

Tale of Death Related

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — The widow of a Finnish diplomat told today of meeting a former Nazi leader and contriving to help him commit suicide by throwing himself to leoards in the Himalayas.

"I gave my word of honor that I would never disclose his identity," Birgitte Valvanne says. In a book of travel sketches she describes a brief encounter with a masked, dirt-covered and gaunt man at a remote monastery.

"He tore off the mask," she writes. "I saw a face tanned and parched by the sun. I looked into a pair of eyes burning with pain and fear. I thought I recognized that face. A chill ran down my spine. He had killed thousands in concentration camps."

During a tense conversation that followed, she relates, the German said he was traveling in the Himalayan foothills on horseback, waiting for death to come. He told Mrs. Valvanne he had already tried to throw himself to the wild animals in the area, but even the leopards were afraid of humans.

PELT OF DOG

"I advised him, matter-of-factly, to wrap himself in the pelt of a dog because then the leopards would attack him." Mrs. Valvanne recalls "Remember, he had killed thousands. Perhaps the dead possessed me."

The book says he walked away, and next morning a torn dog's pelt and some bones were found near the monastery. The lamas gave Mrs. Valvanne a note in German saying: "Through you, my own kin sentenced me. Thank you. The sentence has now been carried out".

Mrs. Valvanne dodges questions on whether she would keep silent if West German or Jewish authofities asked her to identify the man in the monastery. She said she still has the note.

OUR FAIR LADY

Every U.S. citizen and taxpayer knows her—we own her. She is a symbol of our country for people throughout the world. She is, in fact, so familiar a figure that perhaps many of us never stop to think about the precise details and history of her unique presence.

SHE COMES FROM FRANCE. The statue commemorates the alliance of France and the United States during the American Revolution, and is a pledge of abiding friendship. The French people raised the entire cost of the statue by popular subscription. The model for the statue was the mother of Auguste Bartholdi, the sculptor.

SHE WEARS GREEN MAKEUP and she's never had a bath. She is made from sheets of hammered copper supported on a steel frame. The exterior is never cleaned, since that would remove its patina, a protective verdigris resulting from oxidation. Cleaning would soon wear out the sheeting which is only about as thick as a silver dollar.

THERE IS ABSOLUTELY NOTHING WRONG WITH HER RIGHT ARM. The legend that it had been weakened by an explosion in Jersey in 1916 gave officials a welcome excuse to close the arm to visitors. The balcony round the torch can only hold ten people at a time, resulting in severe traffic problems.

SHE STANDS IN NEW YORK. Both New York and New Jersey share the waters around the island, but after much argument a pact between the two states was agreed on in 1833. New York policemen protect the island and the island's residents pay New York taxes.

HER ISLAND IS INHABITED. At present the island has a population of 21 persons, who make up the four families of the statue's staff members.

SHE FACES BROOKLYN. In spite of what Brooklyn people might claim, the positioning of the statue was probably determined by the shape of its base. The statue stands on the remains of old Fort Wood, which forms an 11-point star. For the sake of symmetry the statue faces the most prominent point.

SHE'S OPEN EVERY DAY OF THE YEAR. Fog is the only thing which can prevent ferry sailings and keep visitors away. The lady has been unable to play hostess on only one occasion in the last 20 years.

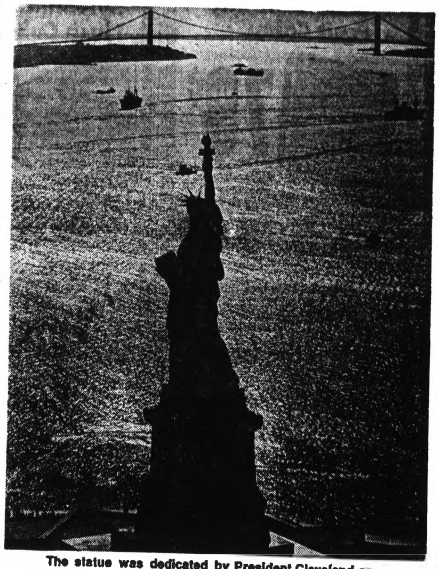

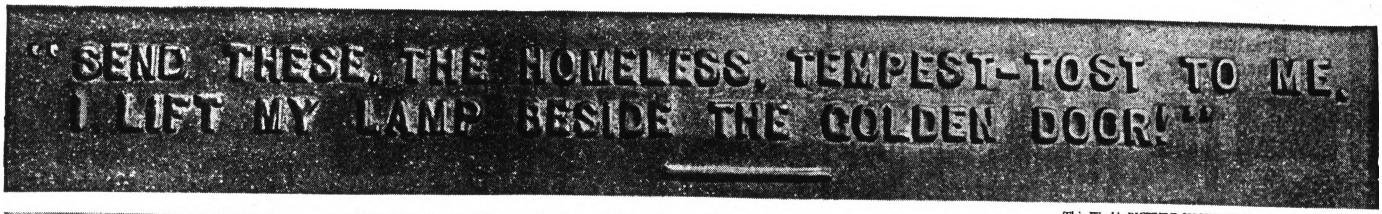

Spiral staircase inside the statue leads to the observation platform beneath the crown.

Paris, 1884. The statue waits to be shipped to New York.

Company to Drill for Oil Under LA Civic Center

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Signal Oil & Gas Co. will start drilling for oil under the downtown civic center, digging under and around the music center, hall of records, the courthouse and the county jail.

* * *

The contract was awarded Tuesday by the board of supervisors on Signal's high bid of $137,005. The county will get one-sixth royalty on all produced in the 65-acre lease.

In a separate lease, the county retirement board accepted Signal's high bid of $421,180, plus one-sixth royalty, to drill under 20 acres held by the board—including the hall of administration.

Local governmental units receive several million dollars annually from oil royalties.

Burglars Use Gum and Mop Handles

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police say burglars used two mop handles and chewing gum to net $385 from a financial institution.

* * *

The thieves removed insulation and ceiling paneling from atop a vault at the Mayflower Saving & Loan and extended taped-together mop handles to the money below, the police said Tuesday.

* * *

The burglars entered the building through its basement, took the mop handles from a tool room and crawled through a hole above a wash room to obtain the spot above the vault.

Shapely Singers Outpoint Their Male Rivals in NY

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—The girl singers—who long ago were called "canaries"—and later "chanteuses" or "chantootsies"—have taken over New York, with not a male singer starring currently in one of the major saloons.

WILSON

Jane Morgan, Monique Van Vooren and Julie London are so bustaceous that one ringsider mentioned that they have a couple of things in common. Anyway, their sex appeal doesn't seem to hurt.

The girls are all doing great business—no help to the shrinking male ego.

* * *

Richard Nixon made himself beloved in the 21 Club Set when he ordered Scotch. He only had one drink . . . Chuck Anderson, one of the 21 greeters with a special affection for celebs, was off when RMN (Richard Milhous Nixon) came in, and friends said, "How could he dare to come in on Chuck's night off?" (RMN told Joel Grey he used to sit in the upper balcony at the Palace as a young man.)

* * *

Nate Cummings, the rich Chicagoan and owner of Consolidated Foods, gave a party at his princely hotel suite here where one of the guests, looking at all his art masterpieces, asked Cummings how many paintings he has in N.Y. "I think it's 100," Cummings said . . . "No, it's 101 now," said an employe, gesturing toward "Le Pont Neuf" by Pissarro which Cummings just bought for $210,000.

"What was the first painting you bought?" Cummings was asked. "Also a Pissarro, which I bought in Paris just 25 years ago—for $3,000," Cummings said.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Rosemary Murphy missed her dachshund so much while in London for "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running" that she and some other American friends who can't take their pets to England because of the quarantine, started a "Rent-a-Dog" service . . . Director Morton Da Costa's butler used to be on the Queen Mary. The other night the butler announced after dinner, "Coffee will be served in the lounge."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Marty Allen heard a rumor that George Hamilton's practicing writing letters that start, "Dear Miss Nixon . . ."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: There never was a man yet who could tell what a woman was thinking by listening to what she was saying. —Evan Esar

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "An actor's success has the life expectancy of a small boy about to look into a gas tank with a lighted match."—Fred Allen

EARL'S PEARLS: One small town is so dull that they ring in New Year's Eve at 8 p.m.

Joe E. Lewis suggests that Onassis and Jackie are coming here because it's so easy now to get on the New York relief rolls. That's earl, brother.

'College Strife Is Inevitable'

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Turmoil on college campuses today is "the inevitable characteristic of a rapidly changing world," says the president of the California Institute of Technology.

"An educational system not in turmoil," Dr. Lee A. Dubridge said Tuesday in his annual report to the school's trustees, "would be one that is surely dead.

* * *

The universities' success—not failure—have brought on disruptions, Dubridge said, adding that "despite its faults, our educational system gives more and better opportunities to young people than any other in existence—or in the history of civilization."

ELECTRIC RACER — This battery-powered vehicle whisked across Utah's Bonneville Salt Flats at an average speed of 138.62 miles an hour yesterday. The Ford racer was powered by 20 regular production lead acid batteries and a General Electric motor. The batteries were wired in series to power the rear-mounted motor similar to those used in forklift trucks. Driver Jerry Kugel demonstrates the position a driver must take.

A Look at TV

2-Parters Are Chancy

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — A favorite television device is the two-parter, particularly among 60-minute shows. This is the story that calm and balanced evaluation of starts one week and ends with the good and the bad, the sucthe cliff-hanger. A week later, it cessful and the failures. resumes a dnocencludes.

* * *

In theory, this is dandy. The viewer is presumed to become so interested that he will make a special point of returning for the windup hour. And coincidentally, the two-parter can also be spliced together, some of the fat trimmed away, and the result is a full-length film which, in foreign theaters, may pick up a little extra money.

* * *

Occasionally in television this process is reversed—a theatrical film is chopped in half to make two TV shows.

Sometimes, however, things don't work out so well. On Monday night, for instance, NBC started to show "El Cid," a 1961 superspectacle set in the 11th century and full of big battles with Charlton Heston being terribly brave.

FIGURES ANTI-LIKE

Like so many of these huge-canvas movies in the De Mille style, the story moved along slowly and the figures were reduced to ant size on the small TV screens. Thus when the second two hours of "El Cid" followed Tuesday night, a lot of viewers who might have been tempted to sample the NBC movies gave a yawn and looked elsewhere.

A little earlier, ABC was broadcasting the second part of a story on "It Takes a Thief" which started the week before. Perhaps most of the audience which had seen the first part were on the edge of their chairs, but the viewer who had missed the first show spent just about the first half hour trying to figure out what was going on. Why was Robert Wagner in jail? And why was the secret safe under Lenin's bust. As a matter of fact, this viewer never did catch up.

* * *

CBS devoted a half hour to some interesting film shot recently in Cuba in a short documentary evaluating change in that island's economy and life in 10 years of Castro rule.

While the film, often showing happy smiling workers, sometimes looked like propaganda stuff, the commentary by the network's Bert Quint seemed a shows. This is the story that calm and balanced evaluation of Al Morgan, producer of NBC's "Today Show" since 1962 when Hugh Downs took over from John Chancellor, has been replaced by Stuart Schulberg, writer and producer of TV actuality programs.

Morgan, author of a number of books including "The Great Man," a best-seller of several years ago, has been named head of a new NBC unit to develop science and adventure specials of rearly-evening family viewing.

* * *

Morgan's departure came after Downs had negotiated a new contract and made a point of wanting a new producer. The men have not seen eye-to-eye for a long time and although NBC News, which controls the show, was happy with Morgan, Downs made his request stick.

Sooner History Figure Is Dead

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The man who drove the covered wagon carrying the state seal when the Oklahoma capital was secretly moved late at night from Guthrie to Oklahoma City has died.

William E. Kile died Monday night at the age of 89.

Kile was among a small band of citizens who slipped into Guthrie on the night of June 11, 1910, and took the state seal to Oklahoma City.

A few hours after Oklahomans had voted to move the state capital. The secret transfer was made to forestall legal maneuvering by Guthrie citizens.

French Government and Students Wary of Future

PARIS (AP) — Education Ministry officials and the once-rebellious French student are looking nervously at the future — and each other.

The students forced a radical reform program with their strike and street battles in May and June. After five months of standstill, university life is now resuming.

* * *

Some 200,000 of the 600,000 French university students already have returned to school. They apparently have not yet decided whether to go quietly back to work and accept the deep changes that resulted from their revolt, or to continue their agitation until all demands are met.

The general feeling, both on campuses and in Education Ministry circles, seems to be that the great majority of the students want to get back to real work. Still, there's pressure from extremists' groups who say the reforms are "limited," and consider them a maneuver to stop revolts like the one that made the nation tremble last spring.

MAY SPREAD

There is some fear that the action of the extremists may spread to the moderate students if the new university program worked out by President Charles de Gaulle's government cannot be implemented quickly.

Education Minister Edgar Faure has worked out a revolutionary law modifying the 150-year-old system. His reforms were based on two main principles: autonomy for each university and student participation in the college administrations.

* * *

The law aims at putting an end to both the centralization of teaching under the control of the minister and the authority of the teachers over the students. The bill was so radical that it first started a flurry of protests from the tradition-bound Gaullist group in the National Assembly.

But with De Gaulle's personal pressure, the bill eventually got through Parliament earlier this month without serious amendments. Only a few deputies abstained from voting.

MAY COST TIME

Education Ministry officials admit there will be a long period of "experiments," and some of them privately reckon the implementation of the far-reaching reforms may cost a year of study to some students.

* * *

On the other hand, authorities must reckon with the total opposition by the extremists who say no reform in the university is possible as long as there is no basic change in the social system. They demand total liberty on the campuses.

* * *

Officials say they are depending on the good will of the moderate students.

* * *

The government is also accelerating the election of school councils for secondary schools which will include pupil members.

W. Europe Governments Act to Ease Financial Crisis

LONDON (AP)—Western Europe's major foreign exchange markets were closed today, finance ministers gathered in Bonn, and the French government cut its budget $400 million as Western governments battled another major international financial crisis.

The crisis resulted from massive selling of French francs to buy West German marks; at present the world's strongest currency. The widespread belief among speculators that the mark would be revalued upward also put pressure on the British pound, but so far the franc was hardest hit.

In an attempt to check the flight to the mark, the West German government announced that it would not revalue the currency but instead was making tax changes to reduce the large foreign trade surplus responsible for the expectation of revaluation.

In what London's Financial Times called a "back-door revaluation," the Bonn government said it would reduce its tax on imports and the tax rebate it pays on exports. This should reduce the flow of West German exports and increase imports, resulting in a reduction of the surplus trade balance.

PROPOSAL APPROVED

To strengthen confidence in the franc, the French National Assembly approved Premier Maurice Couve de Murville's proposal to reduce 1969 budget expenditures $400 million, which he said would cut the deficit for the year to $1.88 billion.

★ ★ ★

To give the governments a breathing space while the financial community evaluated these measures, the French government closed all financial markets today. West German markets were closed because the day is a national holiday, and the British government ordered the London foreign exchange market closed.

The French government announced that the Paris stock market, gold market and foreign exchange market would remain closed "until further notice." Officials said they would not reopen until Monday.

★ ★ ★

West German Economics Minister Karl Schiller called an emergency meeting in Bonn today of the "Group of 10," the finance ministers of Belgium, Britain, Canada, France, West Germany, the Netherlands, Italy, Japan, Sweden and the United States. U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler already was there, taking a roundabout route back to Washington from the NATO meeting in Brussels last week.

★ ★ ★

But the United States so far appeared to be taking only a standby role in the crisis.

Offers Of Help Pour In For Lass . . .

Test of Good Samaritans: Cute Coed Skirts to Victory

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Standing forlornly beside an automobile stalled just off the Pacific Coast highway stood, on different days: (1) a shapely lass of 19 in a miniskirt and (2) a grandmotherly type of 75.

It was a test of who does best among ladies in distress.

★ ★ ★

Within three minutes after pretty Temre Jaco took up her position beside the car, the first of a parade of males stopped to try to rescue her. Each time the scene was restaged at a different location, she had an offer of assistance within three minutes.

But 17 minutes went by before the first good Samaritan stopped for the older hitchhiker, Ula B. Scanlon.

TEST STAGED

The Long Beach Independent Press-Telegram staged the test.

A photographer lurking on the other side of the heavily traveled highway reported he got finger cramps from snapping pictures of males who wanted to help Miss Jaco.

Her offers included one of a ride "anywhere."

"They were all nice," she reported. "I think people are willing to get involved."

A junior at California State College in Long Beach, she conceded that the miniskirt encouraged involvement.

Mrs. Scanlon drew Sir Galahads, after the initial try, at an average of one every eight minutes. She said her would-be helpers were nice, too.

As to the comparative roadside fortunes, she offered this philosophical comment:

"That's show business. The young ones have more to show than the old ones."

70 Feared Entombed

Blaze Traps Coal Miners

MANNINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Explosions rumbled through a coal mine today, triggering a fire that may have trapped as many as 70 miners. Marion County Sheriff Robert Tennant said reports indicated seven to nine men made it to the surface safely.

"Contact has been made with eight men at the bottom of the shaft," Tennant said. "They're going to send a bucket down."

Tennant's office confirmed the eight men in the shaft, later identified as the Mohan's Run shaft, were alive and efforts were being made to rescue them.

There was no further report on those missing but in Charleston, the state capital 200 miles south, Col. W. L. Pike of the West Virginia State Police said 75 miners were "unaccounted for."

FAMILIES RUSH TO SCENE

The mine is the Mountaineer Coal Co. No. 9 and is located in the rich north-central coal area of West Virginia, about 35 miles south of the Pennsylvania state line. Mannington is about 11 miles west of Fairmont and the mine is located just west of Mannington.

★ ★ ★

Wives and children of the men at work rushed to the mine's entrances where smoke billowed from the shafts.

The explosion virtually destroyed the Llewelyn entrance, a new entry-way to the long mine tunnel, as smoke obscured vision and prevented any entrance.

★ ★ ★

Rescue efforts centered at the Farmington Portal, about one mile from the Llewelyn shaft.

FIRST BLAST AT 6 A.M.

Tennant said the first explosion was just before 6 a.m. EST but he added there were "at least" two more explosions around 8:30 a.m.

★ ★ ★

Most of the men were due off their shift at 7:30 a.m. The mine normally employs about 360 men who work in three shifts.

★ ★ ★

State Mines Director Elmer Workman rushed to the scene to direct rescue efforts.

★ ★ ★

This was the second mine incident in West Virginia this year. Last May, a crew of miners broke through a wall into a flooded abandoned mine near Hominy Falls, in the south-central section of the state, and 25 men were trapped by water. Four men died but the other 21 lived through it, six of them after spending 10 days in a dark and flooded shaft without food.

Chicago Terror for City Couple

CHICAGO (AP) — Police yesterday named two fugitives from a federal prison as suspects in the robbery of a newly married couple and rape of the bride in a motel Sunday night.

Police declined to identify the victims as the terrorists but said they were from Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Patrick D. Kane, 43, and Dale G. Wilson, 24, who escaped Thursday from a U.S. marshal in Warrenton, Mo., are being sought by the FBI. They escaped while being transferred from the Leavenworth, Kan., penitentiary to a federal court in St. Louis.

Chicago police said they have asked the FBI in Washington for photographs of Kane and Wilson to see if the honeymoon couple could identify the men as their assailants.

FAMILY TERRORIZED

Kane and Wilson have also been named as suspects in terrorizing a family in Bridgeton, Mo., Friday.

The newlyweds were terrorized for three hours Sunday night by two patrons of a Chicago motel, where the couple was honeymooning. The couple's car and wedding gifts were taken by the men when they fled, authorities said.

Investigators said the two patrons impersonated security guards and entered the couple's room five minutes after they checked in.

Man Is Arrested in Jetliner Fire

From Our News Wires

DENVER, Colo. — An explosion and fire endangered a Continental Airlines 707 jetliner as it approached Denver yesterday from Los Angeles carrying seven crewmen and 63 passengers.

The fire was put out, and when the plane descended from 18,000 feet and landed safely on a foam-covered runway, FBI agents arrested a passenger, Lawrence B. Havelock, 47, of Lake George, Colo.

Havelock was arrested after a stewardess told investigators she saw him enter the rest room wearing a pair of rubber gloves shortly before the fire broke out.

"It was like a sonic boom," said Helga Wood, 31, a hostess. "Like the whole tail was blowing off."

SUSPECT ARRAIGNED

Havelock was arraigned before a U.S. commissioner in Denver on charges of violating the federal aircraft destruction statute and was held in lieu of $10,000 bail.

Mrs. Havelock, in Lake George, said her husband had undergone follow-up surgery about three weeks ago in connection with earlier removal of a tumor from beneath his skull.

The FBI said a concussion was felt 12 minutes before the plane was to have touched down.

Mrs. Wood said a lavatory door was blown off. She said she ran to the cockpit, shouted to the pilot, Ken Tiegs, Littleton, Colo., "There's a fire back there!" and grabbed a fire extinguisher.

By the time she got back, another hostess, Gunnel Eriksen, 31, was calmly spraying the fire with another extinguisher.

Accumulations ranged from 12 to 18 inches at Grayling and Gaylord in northern Lower Michigan to two inches at Kalamazoo, the Automobile Club of Michigan reported.

Michigan Newspaper Honor

Joe Haas Is in Hall of Fame

JOE HAAS

Long-time Oakland County newsman Joe Haas has been named to the Michigan Newspaper Hall of Fame.

Haas died May 10, 1962, after many years as a Pontiac Press writer and community leader.

The Hall of Fame currently is administered by the journalism department of Michigan State University. Photographs and records of Michigan newspapermen who have been outstanding leaders in their profession hang in the MSU Journalism Building.

Haas was a newsman devoted to his fellow man, in life and in death.

'MR. OAKLAND COUNTY'

In a newspaper career that began as a newsboy at age 7 and ended at 84 as the "Mr. Oakland County" beloved by thousands, Joe Haas served others.

Generations of youngsters were aided by his devotion to the Boy Scout movement and the 4-H program. His name continues to live today, for youngsters, with a Scout camp lodge built with funds left in his will, and descendants of animals he gave to 4-H members for breeding.

★ ★ ★

Haas was born in Waterbury, Conn., June 18, 1877, and moved to Holly, Mich., at the age of six months. At the age of 24, he founded the weekly Holly Herald, with borrowed capital of $50.

★ ★ ★

He was on his way to becoming a newspaper legend in Michigan. He joined The Pontiac Press in 1944 and began writing editorials and a popular "Man About Town" column which was featured on the editorial page.

Nixon May Stall Action on N-Spread Pact

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon intends to reassess the international situation, particularly that in Czechoslovakia, before deciding when he wants the United States to proceed with the treaty to control the spread of nuclear weapons.

A source close to Nixon outlined that position today as the President-elect neared the end of a five-day vacation in Florida and the Bahamas.

This left unclear the timing the new administration will seek on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, which Nixon has endorsed and promised to implement. He has maintained, however, that ratification by the United States should await a normalization of the situation in Czechoslovakia. Nixon took that position as a candidate after the Soviet invasion last Aug. 20.

A Nixon source said that remains his view, that he has set no timetable for U.S. ratification, and that he will not announce a judgment until the matter is once again before the Senate, which has yet to approve the treaty.

That probably will be shortly after Congress reconvenes on Jan. 3. Nixon takes office on Jan. 20.

Indications are that President Johnson would like to see U.S. action on the treaty completed before he leaves office. But Washington sources indicate they do not believe such swift action would be possible without Nixon's concurrence and full support.

★ ★ ★

There has been talk in Washington of a possible special session of Congress to speed Senate action. But a Nixon aide said the President-elect has no indication that this is going to happen.

In a series of campaign position statements, Nixon said that, "at a later point, when the situation may be more normalized," the United States should act on the treaty.

DELAY 'PROPER'

On Oct. 26, Nixon said Senate approval and ratification of the treaty had been properly delayed "because of the sudden, brutal Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia . .

"In January the Senate will undoubtedly reassess Soviet intentions in Central and Western Europe; I am hopeful that we can then proceed with this important treaty."

★ ★ ★

Nixon, sources said, has not yet discussed the timing of treaty action with his top diplomatic advisor, Robert D. Murphy. Presumably, Murphy, Nixon's representative at the State Department, would share in any discussions leading to a decision on timing.

Nixon, who returned yesterday from two days of seclusion on Grand Cay in the Bahamas, planned to confer today with two of his top advisers: Lt. Gov. Robert Finch of California and John N. Mitchell, a partner in his law firm and his presidential campaign manager.

EXPECTED BACK

He was to leave Key Biscayne late in the day to fly to New York. But he is expected to return to the Florida resort soon, perhaps for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Thieu Still Firm on Talk Boycott

PARIS (UPI) — South Vietnam again today rejected taking part in Paris Vietnam talks under present conditions, Vietnamese sources said. At the same time allied diplomats said Moscow appears to be telling the Communists to make it easier for Saigon to end its boycott and come to the negotiations.

★ ★ ★

The diplomats said the Kremlin even wants the Communists to slow down military action in South Vietnam.

★ ★

In Vung Tau, Vietnam, Vietnamese sources said President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam reaffirmed the talks boycott in a closed-door speech there to political followers.

★ ★ ★

Thieu's aide had ordered 20 newsmen to leave the revolutionary development center before he spoke. The reporters had driven 60 miles to Vung Tau from Saigon.

MOSCOW'S ADVICE

In Paris, allied diplomats said Moscow apparently is advising North Vietnam and the Vietcong to be more flexible in arranging terms to bring Saigon to the talks.

★ ★ ★

South Vietnam's boycott is based mainly on a refusal to give the Vietcong full conference status. Thieu wants the Cong seated only as part of the Hanoi delegation.

Canada May Change Defense Commitment

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian government is considering whether to increase its forces assigned to the North American Defense Command, decrease them or pull out of NORAD, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau told the House of Commons yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Trudeau said Canada's part in the command, in which it the junior partner to the United States, is "indirectly" included in a government review of foreign and defense policy now being made.

★ ★ ★

Canada and the United States have the right to withdraw from NORAD on a year's notice.

STORM SCENE—Scenes like this one in Cadillac were common throughout northern Michigan yesterday as a snowstorm swept through the area, leaving up to 18 inches of snow, blocking roads and closing schools.

Birmingham News

Cluster-Home Law Referred

BIRMINGHAM — Proposed amendments to this city's cluster-housing ordinance have been referred to the planning board by the City Commission.

The amendments, designed to increase lot sizes in cluster developments, were stalled two weeks ago when City Manager Robert S. Kenning advised the commission that the new state plat act might affect both them and the present ordinance.

★ ★ ★

City Attorney Dean G. Beier's report to the commission on the act, presented Monday night, confirmed Kenning's opinion.

The new legislation, Beier said, "may seriously affect the practicality of a 'cluster housing' provision in the zoning ordinance."

Under the act's provisions, Beier said, the owner of a cluster development with more than four units must have the property platted whether the unist are to be sold or leased.

The attorney said the act "imposes substantial burdens on the developer."

★ ★ ★

The commission also authorized the Department of Parks and Recreation to begin seeking bids for the city's 1969 elm spraying program.

Chester K. Hunter, superintendent of park maintenance and forestry, had recommended the move, citing possible competition for helicopter services.

METHOD GETTING POPULAR

Next year for the first time Detroit will begin aerial spraying, Hunter reported, and other cities may do so too. Birmingham was one of the first cities in the state to use the aerial spraying method.

The engineering department was instructed to prepare construction drawings for the permanent improvement of the parking lot at Bloomfield Art Association, 1516 S. Cranbrook.

★ ★ ★

Construction of the improvement was delayed this year because of grading and paving projects on Cranbrook near the entrance to the lot.

City Engineer William T. Killeen has estimated total cost of the improvement at $10,900.

EQUIPMENT CONTRACT

The commission also awarded contracts for the replacement of four police cars and standby snow removal equipment.

The police car contract went to the low bidder, Stark Hickey Ford of Royal Oak, for $7,266. Three of the cars will replace others now in use. The fourth will replace a vehicle extensively damaged in a collision Oct. 1.

★ ★ ★

The supplemental snow removal equipment contract went to the only bidder, Oak Construction Co. of Royal Oak.

The contract is on a retainer basis, with the company being paid $300 a month. The company will supply up to six trucks at $11.48 per hour each, two road graders at $31.70 per hour each, and one front-end loader at $40 an hour.

METER TAKE INCREASES

City parking meter revenues have increased 14 per cent during the past year, according to a report from Chief of Police Darryl L. Bruestle.

Average meter revenue for the week of Oct. 12-18, Bruestle said, was $3.05, up from $2.58 during a comparable period in 1967.

The police chief also reported a rise in gross revenue from the Lot 5 parking structure, on Woodward north of Willits.

3 SF Police Shot; Probe Demanded

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph L. Alioto called for a grand jury investigation of the Black Panthers following a gun battle yesterday in which three policemen were wounded, two critically. Eight Negroes were arrested.

The shooting erupted within 100 yards of a police station after two cruising patrolmen stopped a panel truck minutes after a service station holdup.

Police said Sgt. Robert Flynn, 51, was shot in the groin while questioning the driver of the van.

Lt. Dermott Creedon, 49, was shot in the chest as he stepped out of the patrol car, revolver in hand, police said.

Creedon and Flynn remained in critical condition today.

Lt. Michael O'Mahoney said: "I saw three men pour out of the van and I ordered them to halt, but they fired at me and ran into an area-way next to a church."

O'Mahoney was wounded in the hand, but said the three came out with their hands up after he fired three warning shots.

Worst Loss in 4 Years for Red China at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Advocates of U.N. membership for Red China suffered their worst defeat in four years yesterday. By a vote of 58-44 with 23 abstentions the General Assembly rejected a resolution to expel Nationalist China and seat the Chinese Communists.

A similar resolution was defeated last year by a vote of 58-45 with 17 abstentions. The pro-Peking forces came closest to victory in 1965 when the vote was a 47-47 tie.

★ ★ ★

This year's resolution was sponsored by 15 nations headed by Albania, Peking's mouthpiece in the United Nations.

Only two other Communist nations, Cuba and Romania, joined in sponsoring the draft. The Soviet Union, locked in an ideological dispute with the Chinese Reds, voted for the proposal after giving it only perfunctory support.

PREVIOUS POLICY

The assembly adhered to its previous policy of requiring a two-thirds vote.

Italy's proposal to set up a study group to sound out governments on the idea of a two-China solution — seating both the Reds and the Nationalists—was defeated for the second straight year. Both Peking and Formosa have vowed they would never agree to a two-China deal.

The United States supported the study group proposal and indicated during the debate it might throw its support behind a two-China proposal.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Ambassador J. R. Wiggins said Peking's supporters were automatically excluding the Communists from a seat by insisting that the Nationalists be expelled.

Britain and France, which have extended diplomatic recognition to Peking, voted again to kick the Nationalists out.

Enemy Gunners Shell Da Nang; Damage Is Light

SAIGON (AP) — Communist gunners stepped up their rocket and mortar attacks last night, giving Da Nang its heaviest pounding in three months and hitting two American infantry units, five district towns and one provincial capital.

Casualties and damage generally were light. But one of the mortar attacks, on a night bivouac of U.S. 1st Division infantrymen 24 miles north of Saigon, was followed by a ground attack by enemy soldiers hurling grendades and blazing away with machine guns.

★ ★ ★

Artillery and gunships drove the attackers off at daybreak after three hours of fighting. U.S. Headquarters said the bodies of 12 of the enemy were found just outside the American lines and 14 weapons were captured.

One American was killed and 12 were wounded.

OTHER ATTACKS

Military spokesmen said in the other attacks one American and nine South Vietnamese were killed, and nine Americans and 13 South Vietnamese were wounded.

Sixty-five rockets and mortar rounds hit U.S. and South Vietnamese military installations in Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city and the biggest military complex north of Saigon.

Several shells slammed into a U.S. Navy hospital area, but initial reports said they caused no damage or casualties.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said among the district towns shelled was Camlo, 10 miles below the demilitarized zone, which was hit by 35 mortar rounds. One American serviceman and six South Vietnamese civilians were wounded.

DMZ IS QUIET

No new incidents were reported inside the DMZ.

In the Mekong Delta, Vietcong shells hit a base camp of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division in Dong Tam, 35 miles southwest of Saigon. Light damage and casualties were reported.

The South Vietnamese spokesman said there now have been 74 rocket and mortar attacks on population centers since President Johnson halted the bombing of North Vietnam Nov. 1. He said 33 civilians have been killed and 192 wounded in the attacks.

Whirling Moves Bullet in Brain

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — A bullet inside the brain of a holdup victim was repositioned yesterday by whirling him in a centrifuge normally used in space research by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Joseph Barrios, 63, a cook, was wounded during a restaurant robbery last Oct. 7. He was strapped into the scientific whirligig at the NASA's Ames Research Laboratory and spun at speeds subjecting him to as much as six times the force of gravity.

He emerged smiling and talking after one test of 30 seconds at four GS and a second which whirled him at 5GS for 20 seconds and at 6GS for five more seconds.

Doctors at O'Connor Hospital at San Jose had removed bone and bullet fragments from Barrios' head, but the main part of a 22-caliber bullet remained. Then it shifted into a more critical area of the rain, the third ventricle.

★ ★ ★

As he took the spin the big centrifuge, which has the names of many astronauts on its log, sensors recorded his heartbeat and respiration. He was under constant observation by closed-circuit television.

The motion moved the bullet out of the third ventricle into a safer area — a lateral ventricle where it cannot return to the dangerous third ventricle area, the doctors said.

Danger Ended; Fuel Oil Found

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said today they have recovered all of the containers of a dangerous mixture of gasoline and fuel oil mistakenly sold at an Avon Township service station Monday.

No incidents involving the mixture were reported.

★ ★ ★

The last seven gallons of about 80 gallons sold were accounted for late yesterday, according to Capt. Leo Hazen, chief of sheriff's detectives.

The situation arose when 3,500 gallons of gasoline were pumped into a large tank at the Save-U station at 1700 Auburn.

'PRIMARILY FUEL OIL'

Hazen said that 500 gallons of fuel oil were in the tank at the time.

However, he pointed out that because gasoline is less dense than fuel oil, most of the mixture sold, having been drawn from the bottom of the tank, was probably primarily fuel oil.

★ ★ ★

"Even so," Hazen added, "we had no idea who might have bought mostly gasoline, so it was like having 80 gallons of gas to recover."

Deputies drove slowly through area streets Monday night, using the public address systems in their patrol cars to warn residents.

The warning was passed along in The Press and on the radio and Hazen credited public cooperation with the successful recovery of all of the mixture.

Hall of Fame Picks Joe Haas

With his flowing hair and stately appearance, he was frequently mistaken for a top political candidate at the national conventions which he covered beginning in 1944.

Joe Haas was on a first-name basis with the leading candidates of the day, and his coverage of the the conventions was eagerly received by thousands.

* * *

Scouting rewarded him for his years of service with the highest honor it can bestow — the Silver Beaver award. The Oakland County Board of Supervisors made him county historian, and his preface appeared annually in the county directory.

Crowds flocked to his Holly home each year to see his 6,000-tulip garden, and then returned at Christmastime to see the most-decorated tree in the county with 1,500 lights.

In 1959, the Detroit chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalism society, honored him as the dean of working newsmen in Michigan.

* * *

His wife, Winifred, died in 1959. His will left $60,000 to the Clinton Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America, and it was used to erect a lodge in memory of Joe and Winifred.

Also named to the Hall of Fame at the same time was Philip T. Rich, retired former publisher of the Midland Daily News.

Breakout Bid Thwarted at County Jail

An attempted jailbreak by three or four Oakland County Jail prisoners was quelled late yesterday when two deputies succeeded in holding the men at bay until help arrived.

Capt. Leo Hazen, chief of sheriff's detectives, said the attempt came about 8 p.m. when turnkeys ordered a group of inmates in a bullpen area to return to their individual cells.

* * *

One of the prisoners approached Deputy Charles Corbin and asked him a question, then attacked him, Hazen said.

When Deputy Joe Durand came to Corbin's aid, several more prisoners joined the fray and the inmates succeeded in taking the turnkeys' chemical Mace and several keys, it was reported.

MAKESHIFT WEAPON

At least one prisoner was armed with a spoon filed to a sharp edge, Hazen said. He said reinforcements were able to subdue the prisoners and move them into cells.

No serious injuries were reported.

The incident is under investigation, and charges of attempted jailbreak may be forthcoming, according to Hazen.

Zwemer Best QB

An Oakland County prep with a 6-2, 210-pounder from Birmingham's Detroit Country Day, who shared the spotlight for four years with the Yellow Jackets, climaxing his career with a sparkling performance this season.

The big man is Jack Zwemer.

Pontiac Press Photo

ALL-STATER — End Gary Johnson of Ferndale St. James has gained a spot on the Class C All-State football team. Johnson helped provide the spark that carried the Dales to an 8-1 season and a share of the Northwest Catholic League championship.

Zwemer is one of two Oakland County players on the dream team, which is a little on the small size as all-state squads go.

SMALL TEAM

The entire team averages 195 pounds. Two players stand only 5-feet-8 and the biggest is 6-feet-1 and 215 pounds.

* * *

Along with Zwemer from Oakland County is end Gary Johnson of Ferndale St. James, who sparked the Dales to an 8-1 record and the Catholic League Second Division championship.

In addition, Utica St. Lawrence tackle Glenn Neiderhoffer was a second team selection despite the Mustangs' so-so record.

RECRUITERS LOOKING

Zwemer's size and statistics are being studied with some interest by college recruiters.

During the '68 campaign, Zwemer rolled up a total offense of 1,553 yards. He completed 80 of 153 passes for 1,134 yards and eight touchdowns and four PATs, and he ran for 419 yards and a quartet of sixpointers.

On defense, Zwemer intercepted four passes, running one back for a touchdown, and during his three years as quarterback, he led the team to a 15-9 record. He's a B student and lauded by his coach Larry Masteller as an all-around leader.

'EASY TO COACH'

St. James coach John Shada describes Johnson as "easy to coach and the type of player any coach would be pleased to have."

The captain and a tremendous blocker, Johnson averaged eight unassisted tackles a game. Shada said three quarters of all the team's plays were run Johnson's way on the right side of the line.

Others named to the team were:

End Larry Zabel of Hemlock; tackles Ray Goudreau of St. Ignace and Howard Kniffen of Flint Holy Redeemer; guards Dave Trinklein of Frankenmuth and Mike Hoewe of Freeland and running backs Jerry Maitland of Montrose, Jim Essian of Detroit St. Martin and Jim Kolenko of Waterflet.

DEFENSIVE ACE

Zabel is at his best on defense, although he caught 10 passes in what his coach Bob Wallace described as "critical situations." Zabel's defensive ability caused opponents to try the opposite side of the line 75 per cent of the time, said Wallace. A B-plus student, Zabel is the first All-Stater Wallace has had in his eight years at the school, which was 8-0 this year and ranked fifth in the class.

* * *

Goudreau led St. Ignace to a 7-1 record by collecting the most tackles of any player in the Upper Peninsula, 96 of them unassisted. He was voted to the first team All-Upper Peninsula on offense and defense as a tackle.

HEADS 'C' SQUAD—A lure to many college football recruiters is quarterback Jack Zwemer of Detroit Country Day, who was named to the signal-calling post today on the All-State Class C team by the Associated Press. The 6-2, 210-pounder started for three years at the helm for Country Day.

Harvard vs. Yale

Grid Unbeatens Collide

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The Yale football team, which has a longer winning streak than any Yale team since 1906, meets a Harvard team Saturday that could be Harvard's first undefeated, untied team since 1913.

* * *

The struggle between the two squads with 8-0 records at Cambridge, Mass., matches surprising Harvard against Yale, which rose to greatness in 1967 and has improved its position since.

Harvard was not expecting much after losing the 35 seniors who made up the nucleus of the 1967 team, but Coach John Yovicsin had high hopes for a few veterans and a flock of talented youngsters, and there's only one hope left to be realized.

* * *

Yale Coach Carmen Cozza's Bulldogs have won 16 consecutive games since a season-opening loss to Holy Cross in 1967.

Harvard, edged by Yale 24-20 in the 1967 finale, has rebuilt around a nucleus of 11 lettermen to the point where "a versatile offense and a quick, talented denfensive team complement each other well," the Yale coach said Tuesday.

* * *

It's considered The Game by Yale and Harvard alumni, who grabbed up all seats in the 40,000-capacity Harvard stadium more than two weeks ago.

It's also the biggest game between the two schools since 1909—the last time both schools entered their traditional season windup undefeated and untied.

* * *

Bahnsen Named AL Rookie of the Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Stan Bahnsen always wanted to travel. When he was a kid in Council Bluffs, Iowa, he used to dream about being a big league ball player.

The dream came true for Bahnsen last season when he turned in a 17-12 season that was a major factor in the New York Yankees' rise to fifth place. A result, he has been named the American League's Rookie of the Year by a landslide 17-3 vote.

* * *

The only other votes from the 20-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, two from each league city, went to Del Unser, Washington's center fielder, son of Al Unser, former big league catcher with Detroit and Cincinnati and currently a scout with Atlanta.

"New York scares you at first," said Bahnsen Tuesday, a 23-year-old bachelor who is spending the winter in Fort Lee, N.J.

BANQUET CIRCUIT

Bahnsen is well used to city life now, spending the winter making talks at baseball dinners under arrangements with the Yankees.

* * *

Ralph Houk, Yankee manager, said he had half expected Bahnsen to make the grade in 1967 and has planned on him being a starter that year.

"I stuck with him until we played an exhibition game at Houston and he couldn't get the ball over," said Houk who farmed out the pitcher to Syracuse of the International League. "I told him last year he had a spot on the club if he could get the ball over. A game in Anaheim last spring really put him on the right track."

Share Gridiron Award

Linebacker George Trimm and quarterback Bill Baker were named cowinners of the Most Valuable Player award on the 1968 Lake Orion football team last night at a banquet at the high school.
