

Welcome to Italy

Rainy Rome Greets Ike

Weather and Electronic Failure Delay Plane 20 Minutes

ROME (AP)—Ancient Rome gave President Eisenhower a rainy but warm welcome today at the start of his 22,000-mile "mission of peace and good will."

Even the Communists, taking a cue from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, joined in the welcome with banners saying: "Communists of Rome salute President Dwight Eisenhower."

A heavy overcast and the rain resulted in a 20-minute delay in landing.

The American President told greeters at Rome's Ciampino Airport that his message for each of the 11 countries he visits is one of friendship and freedom, and he hopes it "will be heard in every country where communications are allowed freely."

Eisenhower expressed pleasure in landing "in this great city which was for so long the very center of all Western civilization."

He said he was glad to come to Italy, too, because of the "ties of blood which unite our two countries."

New GMC Head Arrives

Werner at Home in Pontiac

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Publisher, The Pontiac Press

He just came to town. But he looks at home. Calvin J. Werner, new General Manager of the Truck and Coach Division, showed back from his desk in the big South Boulevard institution.

"I'm very happy to come to Pontiac and I certainly regard this new post with General Motors as a real challenge, a tremendous opportunity — and one that I accept eagerly."

"I'll give it all I have." He smiled. "In a way, I feel at home. You see, I've been with General Motors 36 of my 52 years—all of my business life. I was only 15 years old when I started part time for DeLoe while I was in high school." He smiled again. "Before that, I was in your business. I started selling papers in Dayton when I was eight."

Calvin J. Werner is a personable, fine looking man whose appearance belies the 52 years his Dayton birth certificate shows. He has a quiet sort of restless energy that bespeaks a good executive.

"I'm certainly well acquainted with the great products this place turns out. We used them in Dayton. In fact, we bought trucks and were suppliers, also. This is a tremendous line of vehicles. They're built to do every kind of job there is and I really glory in their performance. It's an honor to head this big division of General Motors and from all indications, the truck business should have a definite upswing in the years ahead. As new, better and bigger roads are produced, the demand for trucks should keep pace."

Werner is of a distinctly inventive frame of mind, as is proven by the fact there are (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

List Top Brass as Golf Guests of Contractor

Twining and Douglas Entertained by Martin in The Bahamas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and a score of other officers were named today as guests of a defense contractor for golf jaunts in the Bahamas.

Testimony made public by a House investigating subcommittee also listed Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas as a visitor at the golf resort on Eleuthera Island, the Cotton Bay Club—but said Douglas paid his own expenses.

Listed as a guest of the Martin Co. at the club was retired Air Force Lt. Gen. E. R. Quesada, at the time a special assistant to President Eisenhower and now administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency.

Other Air Force and Navy officers listed as Martin guests included Gen. Emmett O'Donnell Jr., now commander in chief, Pacific Air Forces; Rear Adm. F. M. Hughes, commandant of the Fifth Naval District, Norfolk, Va.; and Gen. S. E. Anderson, now commander of the Air Materiel Command.

Douglas and Quesada were at the club for a weekend in February 1958 when other visitors included Twining, Mrs. Twining, their son, married daughter and infant grandson, the subcommittee was told.

Twining informed the subcommittee he had made three visits to the resort, one each in the years 1957, 1958 and 1959. He said he spent $40 to $50 for caddy fees, tips and personal necessities. "The trips were made for recreational purposes, i. e. golfing, swimming and relaxation," he wrote. "During each of my three visits, I received the normal courtesies extended by a host to a guest."

Various of the other officers named said they had considered themselves guests of personal friends who invited them, rather than of the Martin Co. and some said they had tried without success to pay part or all of their expenses.

Most of them said they had no direct contract relationships with the Martin Co. and did not consider the entertainment an effort to gain favors. Company officials had emphasized the same point earlier.

The names of the Air Force and Navy officers were given to the House Armed Services investigations subcommittee by George (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Ike's Plea Fails; Steelmen Mulish

WASHINGTON (AP)—Steel labor and management negotiators clung firmly to their entrenched positions today despite President Eisenhower's urgent new plea that the nation's economy requires a prompt settlement.

Neither side showed any sign of budging. The industry said again its proposals are fair and reasonable. And the union, without proffering any new terms, charged the employers were being obstinate.

Eisenhower, as part of his radio-TV address to the nation Thursday night before leaving on his goodwill mission abroad, said the nation's economy and its defense posture before the world are suffering from the threat of a renewed strike.

"Day after day, throughout the economy," the President said, "uncertainty, indecision and hesitation are growing as a result of this continuing controversy."

The dispute has been going on since May. A record 116-day strike ended a month ago under an 80-day Taft-Hartley injunction that expires on Jan. 26. The union then will be free to strike again.

McDONALD HAS IDEA

David J. McDonald, Steelworkers Union chief, proposed Thursday night that the President's steel inquiry board make settlement recommendations. He said he was sure it would result in a prompt contract agreement.

There were a couple of serious drawbacks to this idea. One is that such Taft-Hartley law inquiry boards are apparently barred from making settlement recommendations. The other is that the industry is unwilling to go along.

McDonald, asked about the legal basis for his suggestion, said he thought it could be done if the industry agreed to the procedure.

R. Conrad Cooper, U. S. Steel Corp. vice president and top industry negotiator, accused the union of dodging its responsibility and trying to have a settlement "decreed by government action."

In Philadelphia, Dr. George W. Taylor, chairman of the Eisenhower-appointed board, declined comment.

Eisenhower previously has sided with industry views that government boards should not ordinarily make labor dispute recommendations.

Residents are being polled for their reaction on changing the name of the place from hard-sounding Inkster to musical Cherry Hill Heights or Dearborn Hills—or anything but Inkster.

A spokesman for the chamber said a long time ago Inkster was pegged as a "poor community." But it's not that way anymore, he claimed, and they want to change the name.

At 10:15 a.m. winds were southerly at 10 miles an hour. The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 31 degrees. The mercury read 40 at 1 p.m.

Expected to Keep Falling

A few light showers may fall late this afternoon or evening with temperatures in the Pontiac area dropping tonight to a freezing 32 degrees, the weatherman predicts.

Sunday should be a little warmer but Monday and Tuesday cold again. Precipitation is expected to total about a quarter-inch as showers or snow flurries Monday or Tuesday.

At the close of business Nov. 30, there were 1,849 welfare cases or some 5,593 persons relying on welfare assistance in Oakland County.

There were 3,080 cases open Jan. 1, according to George H. Burt, director of the social welfare department.

"The trend in cases is going the right way for us, for a change," Burt said. "It should continue this way as local plants are calling men back to work."

"Nothing cures welfare like a job," declared John A. Macdonald, chairman of the Social Welfare Board.

Going hand in hand with the decrease in the caseload, Burt said, is a decrease by $520,089 in welfare costs during the first 11 months of this year compared with last.

January through November of this year saw $1,774,132 in net commitments. For the same period in 1958 the total was $2,294,241.

Welfare costs, split between the county and the state on a 70-30 basis, with the county carrying the heavier load, have been a big drain on county funds for about two years.

County officials are hopeful that the gradual decrease experienced this year will continue.

It is a monthly accounting of cases opened and closed during each month, employment, increased earnings and other changes in economic picture contributed the most to the decrease, Burt said.

Goodfellow Paper Sale This Weekend

Police and firemen augmented by hundreds of other volunteers, will be on the streets this weekend selling Goodfellow editions of The Pontiac Press to see that no child goes without a Christmas.

The "newsboys" will be selling papers in Addison Township, which includes Leonard, Lakeville and Campbell's Corners, at all the main intersections in Troy and in the Avondale district today and tomorrow.

The big Goodfellow drive for funds will be held in Pontiac, Waterford and Highland tomorrow. Proceeds from the sales are used to fill baskets for needy families with food, clothing and toys, and in the case of Addison Township and Avondale, to cover cost of Christmas parties for youngsters.

Forget Standby Gifts for That Man This Year

Well, you may give that man ties, socks or a new shirt if you insist. But keep your mind open until after you have read the following suggestions.

Several stores are carrying little brass tanks cleverly decorated and with appropriate titles. The first one on top and was marked we saw had a penny glued

Does he enjoy serving distinctive after-dinner cordials? Then get him some silver cordial cups.

They are miniature mugs, so attractive that the lady of the house will like to keep them on display.

For the smoker there is a set of four walnut match box holders. Each has a different metal decoration and is masculine looking. The set comes from Denmark.

One of the gaudiest night shirts we ever saw has big red circles on a white background. Some of the circles have canopy beds in them; others say "George Washington Slept Here."

How about an official dunker's cup? It is large enough to float a whole doughnut. On it are printed the accepted rules of dunking.

The song is gone, but the melody lingers. . . want that gentleman you love to own a pair of blue suede shoes? We saw some handsome ones.

Speaking of shoes reminds us: One of the most useful gifts to give a man is an electric shoe polisher. It is small enough to fit into one's hand. Some come in a wooden box with a foot rest on top. The best thing about this gift is that it encourages younger males to keep their shoes polished, too.

Plan $8 Million Area Buildings

Schedule Construction of Northland Towers in Southfield

Plans for an eight million dollar office building center in Oakland County were announced today by Detroit and Cleveland businessmen.

Located in the City of Southfield, the twin office buildings, each 12 stories high, will be built on an 18-acre tract known as Northland Point.

The center will be bounded by Northland drive, Northwestern highway, Greenfield road, and Eight Mile road.

Northland Center Corp., which owns an adjacent shopping center; J. L. Vokes Co. of Cleveland, the general contractor; and Halley H. Lipp of Cleveland, the developer, will own the building jointly.

"The center will be called Northland Towers."

Construction of the first building is expected to start next spring, with completion scheduled for mid-1961.

Each building will contain 122,000 square feet of office space and will cost roughly four million dollars each to build.

The buildings, of contemporary design, will be set in a park-like mall.

Glass and exterior walls are planned with lobby walls of black and white Italian marble, the floors will be of Venetian Terrazzo with walls of upper levels surfaced with vinyl fabric.

BULLETINS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today sent a monkey up in a capsule such as will be used in later efforts to put a man in space.

A Little Joe rocket carrying the capsule was fired at Wallops Island, Va., at 11:15 a.m. (EST).

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration here announced the launching. It said reports from the scene were that "the launching looks good," and that everything proceeded smoothly.

Plans called for the capsule to be released from the rocket 40 to 75 miles above the earth, parachuted back and recovered.

If all went well, the capsule was to be recovered from the ocean some 300 miles offshore some 15 to 20 minutes after the launch.

The Pontiac Police Vice Squad arrested 10 persons shortly before noon today for investigation of conspiracy to violate state gambling laws.

The arrests were made at GMC Truck & Coach Division plant No. 2, in cooperation with plant protection officers.

Police Lt. William Nesbitt said the investigation had been under way since Oct. 30.

CFM Meeting Date Is Changed

Session to Be Dec. 14 for Romney Speech; New Location, Too

A general membership meeting of the Oakland County committee of Citizens for Michigan will be held Dec. 14 instead of the originally announced date of Dec. 15.

The place of the meeting, too, has been changed, according to Murray D. Van Wagoner, county CFM chairman. It will be in the auditorium of Pontiac Central High School. It had been set for Pontiac Northern.

The time—8 p.m.—remains the same.

Van Wagoner said the date change was necessary to permit George Romney, state chairman and founder of CFM, to attend as featured speaker. Romney will be in Chicago Dec. 13 he said.

It is not necessary to be an enrolled member of CFM in order to attend or to participate in the discussion Dec. 14, the former Democratic governor of Michigan emphasized.

"The purpose of the meeting will be to encourage the formation of study groups in Oakland County so that citizens concerned with state government problems may meet locally with others to analyze facts and formulate recommendations for their solution," Van Wagoner said.

62 patents issued in his name. All are assigned to General Motors and, interestingly enough, one of them has a direct part in the new GMC truck development: namely, the shock absorbers.

"I've inherited a great organization and a great group of men, both in the offices and out in the plant," he declared. "GMC Truck and Coach Division has a fine name in the trade for over-all personnel as well as completed products."

This year marks a big swing in the life of the Werner family. Daughter Nancy is a senior at Otterbein College, Westerville, Ohio, and twin sons Charles and Robert are freshmen at Otterbein. In September of 1959, for the first time, all three left home for college. "And now," he grinned, "we're leaving the old homestead in Dayton. Of course, we plan to live here and Mrs. Werner will come right after the holidays. This will be home."

The GMC plant is nothing new in

Werner's life as he has been here many times over the years through business relationships. "I always admired the place," said he, "but I never dreamed that I'd be here in person." Both Mr. and Mrs. Werner were born in Dayton and have lived there steadily. He is a past president of the Engineers' Club of Dayton, Fellow of American Institute of Engineers, life member of American Ordnance Association, member of Society of Automotive Engineers, and active in civic affairs.

On August 16, 1930, he married Margaret Mathews of Dayton. Daughter, Nancy, is 21, and the twin sons, Charles and Robert are 18.

The Chief Pontiac Organization of local businessmen will entertain him at a reception at The Bloomfield Hills Country Club right after the first of the year.

I just met Mr. Werner for the first time, and already I think he's a great guy. He's destined to "win friends and influence people" in Pontiac.

Would Hit Pontiac, 2 Other Cities Meet to Avert Bus Strikes

Company and union negotiators were reported ready to meet once more in Saginaw today in an attempt to avert bus strikes in three Michigan cities — including Pontiac.

Today's meeting is the first since negotiations on a new contract broke off in a deadlock a month ago.

The meeting is between officials of National City Lines, Inc., of Chicago and the Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric, Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America, AFL-CIO.

Pontiac City Lines is operated by National City Lines. The company also operates bus lines in Saginaw and Kalamazoo.

The company's contract with Pontiac Local 1097 of the union expired last March 31.

It expired the same day in Kalamazoo and Oct. 31 in Saginaw.

The union has been seeking a 48-cent package increase, while the company has reportedly offered only to continue the expired contract without any new benefits.

Peiping's hostile line tended to strengthen the feeling of Western observers here that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Red China's Mao Tse-tung do not see eye-to-eye on the need for ending the cold war.

It underscored Red China's increasing suspicion against any relaxation of tension in Asia.

The official Peiping People's Daily headlined its story of the presidential trip: "Eisenhower acknowledges decline of U.S. influence; aim of his overseas visits is to sell sham 'peace' goods."

It was performed by Army Surgeon General Leonard D. Heaton who operated on President Eisenhower for ileitis in June 1956.

A band hurriedly played excerpts from the American and Italian national anthems, there was a quick exchange of greetings and then the officials hurried to the airport veranda for the welcoming speeches.

HEARTY APPLAUSE
The spectators applauded heartily as the President arrived and at the conclusion of the translation of his remarks. Outside the airport, another crowd cheered in the rain as the two presidents drove off for the trip into Rome over the 2,000-year-old Appian Way.

Despite the rain, small crowds of Italians under umbrellas lined Rome streets to watch the President go by on his way to the 400-year-old Quirinal Palace, his residence for his two-day stay in Rome. The weather kept the numbers of the crowd down, but those who did turn out cheered lustily.

Some signs bobbed up along the way. Said one: "The people hope for an end to the cold war." Another said "Summit immediately." These had the ring of Communist slogans. But the Communists here profess to be happy about the Eisenhower visit.

Eisenhower's daughter-in-law, Barbara, was escorted to another apartment—one usually given to the wives of chiefs of state.

Eisenhower's son and other top members of the party were given lesser apartments.

Two area men reported to Pontiac police early this morning that they were robbed at the west end of Harris street.

Harlie W. Ross, 40, of 3405 Pine Knob Rd., Independence Township, and Leon Compton, 41, of 2961 Chrysler Ave., Waterford Township, said they were jumped on by three bandits.

The thieves fled with the bill-folds of their victims. One contained $95, the other an uncashed $95 check.

Scores of other bodies draped in sheets were placed in rows along corridors of the Frejus Hospital and in makeshift morgues at St. Raphael and Puget-Sur-Argens. Hosts of stricken relatives of the missing paced slowly back and forth, scanning the uncovered faces.

Rep. Meader Mulls U.S. Senate Race

ANN ARBOR — Republican Congressman George Meader of Michigan said today he still hasn't counted himself out of next year's race for the GOP nomination for the U.S. Senate.

"The question needs to be studied. I haven't yet made up my representative told the Associated Press. "Of course, before I do seek the nomination, I'll have to have the party's support — without any strings attached."

The five-term GOP congressman said Republican changes of defeating Democratic Sen. Pat McNamara in next year's race appears very bright.

Rome's Rain Can't Ruffle Ike's Barbara

ROME — The rain didn't dampen Barbara Eisenhower's spirits today.

President Eisenhower's daughter-in-law, his official hostess of his 11-nation good will tour, was smiling and cheerful as she stepped from the presidential plane onto Italian soil.

It had been her first flight in a jet.

A steady rain beat down on Rome's Ciampino Airfield. Barbara pulled a transparent plastic cover over her hat.

The hat matched her outfit—a blue tweed suit with a three-quarter length coat-jacket. She wore no other coat although the President and his Italian greet-ers sported heavy overcoats.

Barbara didn't seem to mind. She talked amiably with an Italian official. Someone handed her two dozen yellow roses. She smiled.

This afternoon Barbara was free. She had no official engagement until tonight, a banquet given by Italian President Giovanni Gronchi.

What did she plan to do in her free time?

"I want very much to see everything in Rome, — if the weather permits."

Red China Slaps President's Trip

But Moscow Reacting Kindly Toward Tour Promoting Peace

TOKYO (AP)—Red China today denounced President Eisenhower's goodwill tour in a note out of tune with the Soviet Union and other Communists.

Peiping let loose with a propaganda barrage charging the President is on a mission "to sell a false peace."

In sharp contrast, Moscow radio gave Soviet listeners favorable reports on the start of the President's trip and Italian Communists saluted Eisenhower with welcoming posters on his first stop in Rome.

Peiping's hostile line tended to strengthen the feeling of Western observers here that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Red China's Mao Tse-tung do not see eye-to-eye on the need for ending the cold war.

The Day in Birmingham

Bloomfield Hills Schools War Against Secret Clubs

BIRMINGHAM—A crackdown on secret societies in Bloomfield Hills schools was revealed today by Superintendent Eugene L. Johnson.

In a letter to parents, Johnson refers to the existence of secret societies at the school as a situation which seems to "bob up" annually.

"People, though they differ widely in their attitude toward sororities and fraternities, feel strongly about this matter," he said.

"However, regardless of how one might feel about secret societies, such organizations are illegal under Michigan law, in fact, illegal in most states."

"Not only are they illegal, but the law charges the school administration and the board of education with the enforcement of the law."

The act was passed by the State Legislature in 1929, and its constitutionality was upheld by the Michigan Supreme Court in 1931. Johnson, in his letter, asks that in the best interest of the children, parents help discourage them from joining the illegal organizations.

Failure of the student to obey the law will automatically be noted on the permanent school record, he said.

Should there be a second offense, a refusal to conform as requested would lead to expulsion, he added.

Ike Sets Out to Break All-Time Travel Record

IKE is off on his globe-trotting good will mission.

President DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER's plans for his trip are more ambitious and extensive than ever before attempted by a President of the United States.

The free world will devoutly pray for the fulfillment both as to substance and purpose to sustain the President in this arduous undertaking.

In all, President Eisenhower intends to visit eleven national capitals on three continents, sandwiching among them a three or four day Western summit conference in Paris.

He will go to countries where no American President has ever preceded him. He will crowd into a split second schedule conferences with more heads of state than anyone has ever attempted in like time.

The trip sounds like a back breaker for any average tourist. Ike is not average, and he is not going like any other tourist. All possible precautions will be taken and he will travel ultra first class the entire distance.

The itinerary reads like a Cooks tour in the three-month vacation plan.

First there will be Rome and then Ankara, Turkey. From there, the President will go to Karachi, Pakistan, and on to Kabul in Afghanistan and New Delhi, India. Teheran, Iran, is next, then Athens, Greece, and Paris. After the summit meeting he will stop over in Rabat, Morocco.

All this he plans to do in 19 days. We wish him Godspeed.

Hatcher Would Clean Up TV, Magazines, Music

TV dramas featuring violent aggression and anti-social behavior, where disputes are volcanic and settled by fist, gun or knife, are one of the evils we must attack to halt juvenile delinquency, according to HARLAN HATCHER, President of the University of Michigan.

In a recent speech before the Congress of American Industry Hatcher pointed out that defective industrial products would be investigated. He said that industry would go to the root of evil to overcome waste and loss.

Mr. HATCHER emphasized that to curb juvenile delinquency we must start at the bottom and clean out cheap magazines, dramatic violence on TV and rock-and-roll juke boxes.

We are inclined to agree with Mr. HATCHER and feel that some mass cleanup is in order. Many of today's crimes are perpetrated by something the young hoods have been exposed to.

Perhaps the President of our great State University would go a step further and outline some plan to accomplish his suggestions.

Overseas Forces Work Toward Understanding

Although the United States has nearly 300,000 servicemen overseas, the surprising thing is that so few of them get into trouble in foreign lands. If they do, that fact is given wide publicity sometimes out of all proportion to the incident.

When it became apparent that American servicemen would be stationed on foreign soil for a long time, our Defense Department took measures to insure as little friction as possible. Traditionally the serviceman abroad is in a difficult position. He usually is the object of local misunderstanding and suspicion.

U.S. military leaders set up a detailed program directed first at the individual. When he arrives overseas he gets a thorough briefing on the country, people, laws and customs. He is encouraged to learn the language and to mingle with the people. Public relations are carefully considered and understanding and co-operation sought.

In Germany, for example, where the U. S. has over 200,000 men, community councils including military officials and officials from neighboring areas, are formed. They confer on mutual problems concerning health, safety, traffic and law enforcement and sponsor joint celebrations on holidays. Once a year every army and air force base holds open house for its German neighbors.

As a result there are very few serious incidents in Germany involving our armed forces. The same can be said of other nations where American troops are based and where similar programs are in operation.

The Man About Town

Keego Is Booming

Suburban City Is Taking on Definite Metropolitan Airs

Christmas: What merits more sober thought than any other holiday.

A letter from that irrepressible Jack Loveland tells me that Keego Harbor's new Chamber of Commerce President, Dr. Rudolph L. Jannik, is to be installed at a gala Christmas party on Dec. 7, with

John Hirlinger, Managing Director of the Pontiac Area C. of C. as master of ceremonies. Jack also says that

Ernie Hull will soon have a whole clinic of doctors, technicians, etc., in his new building, which reminds me that

Bud Godhardt, the Keego happy funeral director, has expanded into a new chapel, and Dieterle and Roberts are to have new offices. Keego City Attorney

Tom Dillon now represents three new municipalities, with headquarters, of course, in Keego, which is bustling at the seams, and when sewers are installed next year you'll hear some more worthy bragging.

There's a Pontiac area touch in the recent organization of Swartz Creek in neighboring Genesee County as a city. The stream for which it was named has its source in a little lake in Oakland County, in Groveland Township.

The most unselfish Santa Claus letter that has been brought to my attention comes from

"Cissie Ann," with a Pontiac postmark. She asks for nothing for herself, as I have most everything, but wants a fur coat for mother and new watch for dad, a catnip ball for the cat and a rubber bone for the dog, "flavored with meat."

David Lawrence Says:

Ike Asks Reds for Mutual Trust

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's speech to the nation, delivered over television and radio just before his departure on a 22,000-mile journey in the Eastern Hemisphere, was a unique example of what might be called implicit rather than explicit expression.

It was purposely couched in general phrases. It was pacific in tone but it never heeded carried words of warning to the Soviet Union.

The man to whom the words were directed will not fail to know what is meant. Thus, for example, the President called for good faith on the part of Nikita Khrushchev, but didn't define it in specific terms. Here is how Mr. Eisenhower put it:

"I shall try to convey to everyone our earnestness in striving to reduce the tensions dividing mankind — an effort first requiring, as indeed Mr. Khrushchev agrees, the beginning of mutual disarmament. Of course, I will stress that the first requirement for mutual disarmament is mutual verification."

The phrase "mutual verification" could mean a mutual obligation to tell the truth. It could mean that truth must be clearly established on controversial subjects before there can be mutual agreement.

But whatever specific meaning the President had in mind, it will be interpreted widely as a declaration that there can be no progress toward mutual disarmament without mutual trust.

Mr. Eisenhower devoted some of his speech to the task of countering the Soviet propaganda in Asia and Europe which constantly tells the peoples of the world that the United States pursues only "materialistic goals" and puts "war above peace."

The mere fact that the President referred to such unjust descriptions of American purposes reveals that he is fully conscious of the very misrepresentations carried on by the Soviets which make mutual trust difficult to attain.

'BELIEF IN CREATOR'

The President pointedly emphasized America's fundamental "belief in a creator who has endowed all men with inalienable rights, including life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

He did so by way of contrast with a system that teaches a disbelief in God. Incidentally, Mr. Eisenhower referred for the first time to "atheistic imperialism."

Speaking of the ideals behind America's "mutual security program," the President declared: "In a world sorely troubled by an atheistic imperialism, it (the mutual security program) is a strong instrument of hope and of encouragement to others who are eager, with us, to do their parts in sustaining the human spirit and human progress."

Mr. Eisenhower did not make any direct reference to the Soviet government by name, but everyone who heard him knew what he had in mind.

Another implicit comment was contained in the following paragraph later on in the President's address:

"We have heard much of the phrase, 'peace and friendship.' This phrase, in expressing the aspiration of America, is not complete. We should say instead, 'peace and friendship, in freedom.' This I think, is America's real message to the world."

The point the President was trying to convey is that the Communists prate about peace and friendship and they want Americans to accept "peaceful coexistence" as a sort of validation of the injustices committed behind the Iron Curtain.

Nikita Khrushchev, in a speech in the last few days, insisted that it was necessary in 1956 to murder hundreds of Hungarian patriots and that today it is necessary for Soviet troops to remain in Hungary to squelch the aspirations of the Hungarian people for independence.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Here Is How to Make a Superior Humidifier

"Some time ago," writes an Ontario reader, "you told about the wicking or Turkish towelling contraptions you built and used to humidify your home during the winters you lived in Buffalo."

"Now, perhaps, you have forgotten how hard the Sahara dryness of the indoor atmosphere is on our skin, mucous membrane, furniture, book bindings, musical instruments, growing plants and dispositions."

"We do not begrudge your enjoyment of natural air conditioning — we consider it your just reward — but still you can do much to alleviate our discomfort by telling us how to build our own humidifiers. (O. H. W.)"

The ones we used in Buffalo were built and marketed by a man or firm in Minnesota that later went out of business, but a handyman can make them.

These humidifiers are five to six inches deep galvanized metal tanks the length and width of the radiators on which they are to stand.

A helical or spiral wire frame is soldered to each end of the tank, to support long strips of wicking or towelling so that the folds or loops of the material shall dip into the water in the tank.

All around the tank, above water level, are louvers or holes to permit free circulation of warmed air through the folds or loops of wicking or towelling and evaporation of water into the air of the room.

The tank is covered with a lid of galvanized metal, all painted to match the radiator so that it is not at all unsightly. The tank holds a gallon, on the smallest radiator, to four or five gallons on larger radiators.

Just one such humidifier, on radiator, register or stove, makes a material difference in the condition of the atmosphere. Eight or 10 of them on all or most of the radiators will convert the indoor Sahara into a balmy atmosphere which is kind to skin, mucous membranes, furniture, instruments, bindings, and growing plants, not to mention the saving in fuel.

If you equip your home, office, shop or store with efficient humidifiers, everybody is more comfortable in an atmosphere with a temperature of 68 or 69 degrees F., and a fair relative humidity (50 per cent or so) than in an atmosphere heated up to 73 or higher and having a relative humidity of only 30 per cent or less.

The latter atmosphere causes excessive evaporation of moisture from the body and this gives a feeling of chilliness, which makes the poor souls back there in purgatory demand still more heat which makes them sweat still more and so on, in a vicious circle.

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Outlines Main Causes of Divorce

When I was in Pittsburgh recently, I compared the Marriages with the Divorces that were published that day in the Post-Gazette. Notice the tragic contrast. Yet most of those 34 divorces could have been prevented by the sound marital advice below. Send for the sex booklet that prevents jealousy.

By GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE D-417. When I was in Pittsburgh on my last speaking trip, I noticed the "Applications for Marriage Licenses," as shown in the Post-Gazette.

There were 26 on that typical day.

But in the adjacent column, headed "Divorce Proceedings," how many divorces do you guess were granted that same day?

Alas, the number was 34. No mention was made of the innocent children—thus rendered insecure by this break-up of their parents.

And why do you suppose those 34 couples got divorces? Well, the standard reasons that apply everywhere in the U.S.A. are as follows:

(1) They didn't pick compatible mates in the first place. They went across entrenched racial or religious lines to marry people of very different backgrounds.

"Opposites attract," runs a faulty precept from the past. The "opposites" indicated in that adage refers to sexual opposites, not radical differences in religion, race, habits, hobbies and ideals. For example, a normal woman is not attracted to a sissy, effeminate

'Downtown Music Saves Day, but Keep It Cheery'

If I've got to shop, I like it with music. While I'm spending the family income and mulling into my carcoat that I wish we could go to Europe or send the youngsters to college with this money, I buy more gladly with less worry if there's music in the streets. If I have to buy this stuff, I like to be lured.

Furthermore I enjoy the good manners and pleasant ways of Pontiac store clerks. The fact prices and selections are good in Pontiac compared to Detroit helps, too. These things, and the music make it bearable.

But as a Christian I resent actual hymns of my faith used for shoppers' mood music. And if hymns must be played for shoppers, why play the sad-sounding ones?

Why not gay, Broadway-style tunes that make a shopper feel like shopping? When my insteps are folding like tents in a typhoon, do I have to hear a dying organ mewling away with "Away in a Manger?" Why not play "Deck the Halls With Boughs of Holly" or "Winter Wonderland" to pump those insteps back up for the next lap in the shoppers' handicap?

'How Can Anyone Stoop This Low?'

This is about what I consider the meanest human species in Pontiac—those who'd stoop so low as to shoplift from the Goodwill Store. I wonder if they know why this store operates.

Its sole purpose is to give work to the handicapped. Some are blind, some with one or no legs, some have no arms, others are in wheelchairs or dragging their pain-ridden bodies by crutches, some wearing braces.

These people are happy because they've regained their self-respect by earning their own living. Now, you big, healthy men and women who try to take food out of their mouths, what about your self-respect? Can you look in a mirror and see anything you can be proud of? I doubt it.

Sale of Senate Fixtures to Lawmaker Stirs Up Teapot Tempest

LANSING (AP)—A set of Senate chandeliers that often swayed to blasts of oratory stirred up a small storm in the capitol.

But the teapot tempest was dying today as senators agreed not to call for an inventory of chandeliers, windows and other movable Senate property.

Sen. Charles R. Feenstra (R-Grand Rapids) said he bought two chandeliers and some glass panels removed from the Senate ceiling.

He added the purchase was made in 1956 from Cosmo Calkins, a deceased Senate handyman, during a Senate remodeling project.

Feenstra said there was nothing improper about the transaction and that he presumed the money went into the general fund. He recalled paying $10 each for the chandeliers but couldn't remember the price of the glass panels.

He said they were placed in his summer cabin on the Muskegon River near Newaygo.

Joseph B. Bilitzke, deputy attorney general, said the attorney general's office was looking into the matter "to find out what it's all about."

"It's not an investigation," Bilitzke added.

Sens Basil W. Brown and Stanley Novak, Detroit Democrats had prepared a resolution asking for an immediate inventory of all Senate property but dropped it after the matter was "pooh-poohed" by fellow-members.

The resolution referred to "recent charges that certain Senate properties have been disposed of in an improper manner."

"Somebody is trying to take a jab at me," said Feenstra. "I don't know what the ruckus is all about."

We're Ahead of Russians in One Field—Feet

State Adds 55 Miles of Xway Monday

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Ribbon-cutting ceremonies here Monday will signal the addition of 55 miles of U.S. 12 to Michigan's expressway network.

One section stretches 45 miles from east of Battle Creek to Paw Paw. The other runs 10 miles from Hartford to Coloma.

The State Highway Department said the two sections represent the largest amount of mileage ever added to Michigan's expressway system.

The Battle Creek-Paw Paw strip, it said, is the longest continuous stretch of expressway to be opened to traffic in Michigan.

Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said the opening means motorists driving from Detroit to Indiana will bypass four of the five major cities on the route—Ann Arbor, Jackson, Battle Creek and Kalamazoo.

Cost of the project was $12 1/2 million dollars. Nearly one million barrels of cement was used—more than the 922,218 barrels used in the state's entire road program in 1958.

The first Baptist church in the United States was organized in Providence, R. I., in 1638.

First Sales Tax Refunds Coming

Expected to Be Mailed by Next Week, 3,706 Checks Total $101,276

LANSING (U)—First refunds on the short-lived one cent use tax increase are expected to be mailed out next week.

The State Revenue Department reported it has approved 3,706 refund claims totaling $101,276. More than 12,000 claims remain to be processed by the refund section.

Most are for automobile purchases and the average refund check amount to $28.90.

The refund section said it was first processing the cases that could be easily proven. Borderline claims—like one for 11 cents on a grocery bill submitted by a thrifty housewife—will be set aside for study later.

James W. Miller, state controller, said the refund orders would go through the auditor general's office for recording before being relayed to the state treasurer for payment.

Red China Pardons Wartime 'Emperor'

TOKYO (U)—Communist China announced today it has pardoned Henry Pu Yi, Japan's former puppet emperor of Manchuria.

Since the war he has been imprisoned in Red China on war crimes charges.

The decision was reported by Peiping Radio which said Pu Yi was one of 33 "war criminals" pardoned by the Supreme People's Court "in accordance with the order of the Chairman of the People's Republic of China on granting pardons." This order was issued last Sept. 17.

Of the 33 released, 30 were identified as former members of the "Chiang Kai-shek clique." No Americans were listed.

See Work Increase if Steel Holds Out

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Labor Department predicts a year-end increase in jobs and a possible January jump in factory hiring if steel supplies are adequate.

The forecast came yesterday as another department report showed there were more man-days lost because of strikes in 1959 than in any year since 1946. Chief blame as pinned on the steel strike.

In 1793, a yellow fever epidemic took the lives of one out of every persons living in Philadelphia.

Hart Would Use Force if Reds Eye Caribbean

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich) says if there were danger the Communists might take over in Cuba or Panama "I'd be willing to go to the ultimate to stop it."

However, he said in a radio interview that he did not think such action would be necessary.

Hart said he had "very grave doubts" that Fidel Castro's Cuban government is Communist.

But if a Communist government threatened to take over Cuba, Hart said, he would favor using U.S. force to stop it.

Conservation Unit Has Eye on Park Ban and Fishing License Hike

LANSING (U)—Proposals to increase fishing license fees and ban dogs and cats from state parks were up for consideration today by the State Conservation Commission.

The commission was told at an informal meeting yesterday that a deficit in the game and fish protection fund, supported by license fees and federal appropriations, might reach one million dollars by June 30.

An increase in fishing license fees has been proposed to bring in an estimated $741,000 a year.

The present $2 resident fishing license would be hiked to $3. Wives who now fish free on their husband's license, would be charged $1.50 for a separate license.

Non-resident license fees of $5 a year and $4 for a 15-day period would be unchanged.

It was proposed to charge non-resident wives $2.50 for the season and to add a $2, three-day, nonresident license.

A proposal to ban dogs and cats from state parks and recreation areas from May 1 through Sept. 30 drew some protests.

Pets now are prohibited in beach areas. The all-out ban was advocated because 139 dog bite cases have been recorded in state parks the past two years.

Detroit Neurosurgeon Dr. Schreiber, Dies at 62

DETROIT (U)—Dr. Frederick W. Schreiber, noted physician and head of the department of neurosurgery at Detroit's Harper Hospital, died yesterday at 62.

He was born in Grand Rapids and was past president of the Harvey Cushing Society. Dr. Cushing, who trained Schreiber, was known as the father of neurosurgery.

He was a member of First Methodist Church and Modern Woodmen of America.

Surviving are his wife, Cora; two sons, Leslie J. of Commerce and Donald R. of Pontiac; a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Argo of Baldwin Park, Calif.; nine grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Parrish died Tuesday at his home in Florida after a long illness.

E. JOHN GASS
E. John Gass, formerly of Pontiac, died of a heart ailment yesterday at his home, 15381 Plainview, Detroit. He was 76.
Mr. Gass had been an officer at the former Oakland County Savings Bank here.

He is survived by his wife, Elsie.
Service will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Schmalcreidt Funeral Home, Grand River at Asbury Park, Detroit.

Former Rep. Engel Succumbs to Injuries

LAKE CITY (UPI)—Funeral service will be held tomorrow afternoon here for former Rep. Albert J. Engel Sr., who was known as the "watchdog of the treasury" during his eight terms in Congress.

Engel, who would have been 74 New Year's Day, died yesterday at Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids of complications of injuries suffered in a traffic accident Sept. 30.

Engel served in the House of Representatives from 1934 to 1950. During World War II he made a one-man investigation of Army waste, traveling about 4,400 miles about the country.

In 1950 Engel was unsuccessful in seeking the Republican nomination for governor.

He was a state senator for eight years and one-time Missaukee County prosecutor. In recent years Engel operated a Christmas tree plantation east of here.

Funeral service will be at Lake City Presbyterian Church with burial in Lake City Cemetery.

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Keith Neville, 75, former governor of Nebraska, died in a hospital here today. Neville was governor in 1917-1919. He was a Democrat.

He underwent surgery Saturday. Neville was known as the boy governor during his term. He was 33 years old when he took office.

Jinxed Grain Boat Strikes Bottom—Twice, Not Once

DETROIT (UPI)—Some days it doesn't pay to get out of berth.

Hard-luck grain carrier Theodoros A. a Panamanian ship with a Greek crew, continued her jinx yesterday.

The ship, impounded for unpaid bills on its trip from Duluth to Venezuela with grain, was to make a short run from its berth to a grain elevator nearby where it could unload.

She ran aground twice during the trip.

Cosmetics Gift Is Enjoyed All Year Long

In the department of "gifts that go on giving," there are those that have to do with grooming.

Even the youngest family members take pleasure in good looks. For example, a kit of shampoo, bubble bath and a very young scent will make a hit with a pre-teen girl. And her brother will be thrilled with his own set of military brushes.

For dad or older brother, an electric shaver is a gift of importance. This year an ultra-modern rotary action speed-shaver is especially handsome and efficient and features easy flip-top cleaning.

A fine mother-to-daughter gift (or vice versa) is a kit of cosmetics, matched to skin tone and type. It's an attractive encouragement to daily beauty care.

Teen-age girls and their mothers are electric shaver enthusiasts, too. A new type looks like an over-size lipstick and is pink and even perfumed.

Scientists speculate that the dust on the moon may contain a record of the origin of life.

Basic Metals Prices Probably Will Climb

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The chances

seem growing today that manufacturers may have to pay higher prices next year for basic metals. This seems so despite the insistence of steel management that it is set on holding the price line.

Whether steel prices go up awaits the settlement of the dispute in that industry over wage increases and working rules. But when the government steps in—as is now threatened if labor and management can't come to an agreement—the historical pattern has been to grant wage increases which the companies contend must be offset by price hikes.

HARD TO RESIST

With manufacturers' steel inventories so low, they could put up little fight against paying what the steel companies might ask. Copper prices have firmed up already, due to a supply shortage in that strike beset industry. Final labor contracts will help set the price pattern there—perhaps still higher prices.

The aluminum industry makes no bones about wanting to raise prices—if it can get away with it in the face of foreign competition. Aluminum companies also have labor contracts to hammer out. These are being held up awaiting the outcome of the wage and rules dispute in the steel industry.

But aluminum management contends that even without another pay boost the present prices already are too low under current operating costs.

If industries where contracts have been signed this year, the wage scales plus fringe benefits have gone up an average of 10 cents an hour.

Still other industries will increase wage payments next year under old contracts providing for them. And thousands of workers get more pay when the cost-of-living index reaches new peaks.

Several Things to Remember on Decorations

There are several things it is well to keep in mind when you decorate your home for the Yule season.

Decorations should harmonize in color.

Decorations should be kept to a size compatible with the size of the room.

Simple ones are often the prettiest.

Be sure to include some symbol of the season, a Madonna or some religious decoration, or your home decorations will not be complete.

Fresh flowers add an extra something to home decorations. Red roses, red carnations or a blooming poinsettia do nicely.

Encourage the children to make decorations.

Outdoor Lights Require Spots

Here Are Some Ideas on Right Size Bulbs and Angles for Yard

Christmas is no time for selfishness. Why board your Yuletide decorations and lights?

Festive outdoor decorations require a small amount of cash and effort and a bushel of imagination. Richard Kerwin, says the secret of successful outdoor Yule displays is in dramatic lighting that focuses full attention on one or two features without "whitewashing" an entire home or yard.

Proper selection of narrow-beamed spotlights are the keynote to a striking setting.

This Christmas, try these ideas. Extend a mammoth MERRY CHRISTMAS to the neighborhood by spelling out the words in letters made of reflector tape, available at any hardware store.

After applying the tape to the front wall surface of the home, place three sealed-beam 150-watt spotlights on the lawn approximately six feet from the wall. Four are necessary if letters extend more than 20 feet.

To highlight a large "Santa" and "reindeer team" for roof placement select a double lamp-holder with mounting flange which can be bolted temporarily to shingle or gutter at roof edge. Place this about eight feet from the display.

To focus attention on a Nativity scene placed on front lawn, try two 150-watt spotlights attached to swivel bracket atop extension poles. Place on each side of display at 45 degree angle about six feet from subject.

To feature a doorway bedecked with holly border and central wreath, place a triple-spotlight fixture approximately 10 feet from the subject with the three-light cluster spread to cast a 60 degree beam. For the average doorway, the cluster should be adjusted to about eight feet in height.

LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan Ready-Mixed Concrete Assn. today protested a threatened hike in cement prices.

Royal Oak's Fredericks Has Work in Auditorium Estimate 54,150 Cars This Week's Output

PORT HURON (U) — Michigan's most unusual and largest clock has been set into a wall of the new $1,300,000 Henry McMorran Memorial Auditorium here.

It is a sunburst clock, sculptured by Marshall Fredericks of Royal Oak, and its over-all diameter is 22 feet.

The new building itself was designed by another Michigan man famed in the arts world who has teamed with Fredericks to create some of the state's outstanding landmarks. He is Alden Dow, Midland architect.

The "sun," which is the clock's center, and its 60 "rays" of varying length, are in golden anodized aluminum. Electric power will drive the works and hands.

It is the centerpiece of the outside memorial wall's theme depicting the unalterable progress of time and the hope and growth that accompanies it.

IN LIMESTONE
The wall, facing Huron avenue, is 61 feet high and 55 feet wide. The clock was fitted into it Monday and Tuesday.

The setting for the big bowl-shaped clock face was cut in the white limestone blocks making up the wall. The face and the rays are recessed in the limestone and will be illuminated at night.

In contrast to the sun, a number of stars, 13 and 17 inches in diameter, will grace the memorial wall. They will be raised from the limestone to stand out in bas relief. These stars will be made from a clear plastic that can be illuminated at night.

The grounds in front of the memorial wall will be landscaped and have a scenic pool and fountains.

Fredericks has designed two human figures to represent day and night for this area. Spray from the fountains will play around the figures which appear to be floating on their bases. The bases on which the figures rest will represent the flora and fauna of Michigan.

The auditorium is a gift to Port Huron from Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Murphy and the late Mrs. Clara E. MacKenzie.

It will seat 1,160 and is a memorial to the late Henry McMorran, Port Huron titan of business, industry and politics and the father of the women donors.

DETROIT (U) — Automotive News Thursday estimated auto production for this week will reach 54,150 units — a rise of more than 7,000 cars from last week.

The trade paper said the industry hopes this will be the last week of sharply curtailed production brought on by steel shortages. A year ago this week the industry built 147,361 cars.

Cadillac, four Chevrolet plants, Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, Valiant and Imperial all will resume production next week.

Truck production also increased this week with 12,178 vehicles against 9,309 last week and 22,572 in the comparable week of 1958.

General Motors and Chrysler have suspended production in Canada, too, because of steel shortages, cutting total Canadian production for the week to 2,560 cars and 565 trucks compared with 3,201 cars and 775 trucks last week. A year ago Canadian plants turned out 8,915 cars and trucks in the comparable week.

Ike Will Host Italians at Historic Villa Taverna

ROME (U) — President Eisenhower will be host to a dinner for Italian leaders tomorrow night at the Villa Taverna, the storied residence of the U. S. ambassador to Italy.

This is the 17th Century villa where Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, then the ambassador, fell ill in 1956. She blamed arsenic poisoning from flakes of crumbling paint that fell from her bedroom ceiling.

Two years ago this month somebody made off with $30,000 worth of jewelry which the wife of the new American ambassador, James D. Zellerbach, had in her bedroom. Police later made several arrests and recovered part of the jewels.

To reach the Villa Taverna, Eisenhower will go down a garden driveway bordered by 12 giant umbrella pines named for the 12 apostles. The Judas tree was planted out of line with the others. The villa stands in a great walled park in Rome's high society Parioli district. It was built in the 17th Century by Cardinal Consalvi.

The United States government purchased it in 1948 for $840,336 — a bargain.

Italy bought vast amounts of U. S. war surplus materials left here when the war ended. The specification was that Italy could pay in line and the money would be spent here.

With that money, the United States bought Villa Taverna and also the embassy itself, the Villa Margherita, on fashionable Via Veneto. This was the palace of Margherita, United Italy's first queen.

Ann Arbor Principal Heads State Association

DETROIT (U) — Gene D. Maybee, principal of Ann Arbor's Tappan Junior High School, was named president Wednesday of the Michigan Assn. of Secondary School Principals.

Maybee, 49, succeeds W. Earl Holman, principal of Jackson High School. Harold W. Jones, principal of Mount Clemens High School, was named to fill Maybee's vacated first vice president position.

The association opened a three-day meeting here yesterday. About 700 principals are attending the conference.

Expects U.S. to OK Flag at Canal Zone

PANAMA (AP) — Panama's ambassador to the United States, Ricardo Arias Espinosa, Wednesday night said he expected the U. S. government to approve the flying of the Panamanian flag in the Canal Zone in about 30 days.

Returning to start his active campaign for the presidency in 1960, Arias said he expected Washington to reply in that time to Panama's note asking to fly the flag in the zone as a symbol of Panamanian sovereignty over the areas. He said he expected an affirmative reply because he sees no reason to justify a rejection.

Select U.S. Teams for Bridge Tourney

CORONADO, Calif. (AP)—The last two of four open teams which will represent the United States in the World Bridge Olympiad next April at Turin, Italy, were announced Wednesday at the 33rd annual American Contract Bridge League fall tournament.

Low Matthe and Ed Taylor, both of Los Angeles, were teamed with Charles H. Goren, Mrs. Helen Sobel, Howard Schenken and Harold Ogust, all of New York City.

Donald Oakie, San Francisco, and William Hanna and Meyer Schleifer, both of Los Angeles, were named to a team including Ivar Stegkold, Washington, D. C.; Leonard Harmon, New York City, and Sidney Lazard, New Orleans.

The two other U. S. teams were announced in March and August. Mrs. Sobel is the only woman member of the two teams.

In tournament play, Mrs. Dorothy Hayden, New York City, and John R. Crawford, Philadelphia, won the National Masters Mixed Pairs championship, scoring 494 points.

Two pairs tied for fifth with 451 points. They were Mrs. Sobel and Paul Hodge, Abilene, Tex., and Harry J. Fishbein of New York City and Mrs. Sylvia Stein of Detroit.

How About a Portable Sewing Machine?

Do a Switch This Year, Give Gift for the Home

Perhaps this is the year to switch from a personal gift for him, or her, and give something for the home.

Any housewife likes to have her household chores eased. Perhaps she could use a new automatic washer with matching dryer. One of the new washers comes equipped with a dispenser that automatically performs the bleaching chore.

If she's an amateur seamstress, she will be forever enamored with a sewing machine—a new streamlined portable, or one of the stylish cabinet models, depending on her needs.

If she or he—or both—has a weight problem, a reducing couch or belt that will reduce weight as well as tension.

A reclining lounge chair will win the approval of the man of the house. And for a musically inclined family, a portable electric organ or a stereo-phonograph hi-fi set will win applause.

Buying for a young couple? How about a table lighter, one of the beautiful new models fired by butane gas that will light for more than a year on one filling? Or for a conversation piece, a photoelectric cell clock that obtains its energy from the sun; the price of conversation is only $3700.

Other ideas: A clock radio, a giant-sized plastic ice bucket to help on the entertainment front, a set of party glasses. Just make sure the gift fits the decor of the home.

If the couple is getting ready to build, surprise them with a decorative mailbox, a door knocker, or—a truly novel idea—a decorative lock for a door.

Muskegon to Double Foreign Pulp Load

MUSKEGON (UPI)—The Port of Muskegon has been designated the dominant port on the eastern shore of Lake Michigan for wood pulp imports from Scandinavian countries, it was announced.

The designation is expected to double foreign tonnage into Muskegon Port during the 1960 shipping season, officials said.

Gordon Judge, chairman of the traffic committee of the American Association of Wood Pulp Importers, announced Muskegon's new shipping role.

Judge said the Green Bay, Wis., port will have a comparable role on the western shore of Lake Michigan.

The bulk of the pulp moving through Muskegon will be consigned to the Kalamazoo Valley papermaking industry, Judge said.

According to the latest figures, wood pulp shipments into western Michigan ports two years ago totaled about 20,000 tons. Judge said he expected this to be doubled next year.

Muskegon's foreign tonnage during the season just ended was estimated at about 40,000 tons, a 100 per cent increase over 1958.

Missile Vessel Said to Have Top Control Center

BOSTON (AP)—The Navy's new guided-missile destroyer leader, Dewey, to be commissioned Monday, has the most advanced intelligence data and control center of any ship in the fleet, her builders says.

The 512-foot Dewey, 140 feet longer than World War II destroyers, was turned over to the Navy Wednesday after a run from Bath, Maine, where she was built. Capt. Stanley M. Alexander, Navy shipbuilding superintendent at Bath Iron Works, predicted her performance will be a "revelation" to her crew.

She can fire both Terrier and Asroc missiles. Terrier is a surface-launched antiaircraft weapon. Asroc is a rocket-launched homing torpedo for use against submarines.

Stamp Honors 1st Surgery

By JULES LOH

DANVILLE, Ky. (AP)—On a frosty Christmas in 1809 a young country doctor—actually he had no medical degree—operated on a woman who had a painfully swollen abdomen.

He first asked her "if she thought herself prepared to die."

The woman did not die, and Thursday the nation honored the surgeon for performing the world's first major abdominal operation. A maroon on white four-cent postage stamp went on sale here bearing the likeness of Dr. Ephraim McDowell.

Doctors and statesmen gathered for the first-day-of-issue ceremonies. The 120 million stamps will go on sale throughout the rest of the nation Friday.

The ceremonies will be at the red brick apothecary shop here where Dr. McDowell performed the historic operation.

The shop, vintage of 1792, has been restored—drug room in front, office in back and a "secret" cellar where, some whispered, the curious Scotsman dissected bodies.

The momentous operation was the removal of what Dr. McDowell had diagnosed as an ovarian tumor in Jane Todd Crawford, who lived at Greensburg, 60 miles away.

Two other physicians thought Mrs. Crawford's trouble was twins.

The woman, prepared to die, journeyed to Danville on horseback. There was no anesthetic, and she recited Psalms. Dr. McDowell removed a 22 1/2 pound lump, then "stitched up the wound and she was perfectly well in 25 days."

Where Fashion Leads Merry Chase

What's next in fashion? Will we have a revival of ancient Egyptian fashions? Can we expect a return to classic Greek draperies? Or will we go patriotically nostalgic and bring back the sweeping skirts and fish of Martha Washington's day.

Anything is possible in the world of fashion, as designers and textile manufacturers throughout the world agree. For that reason, the world's Manufacturers of cotton textiles, recently meeting in Vienna, studied and analyzed a panorama of 5,000 years of cotton fashions, in a serious attempt to find clues to future fashion trends. Included in the historic style show were 50 originals and authentic reproductions of costumes through the ages, modeled at the Museum fur Volkerkunde.

They were viewed by delegates to the International Federation of Cotton and Allied Textile Industries convention. Working on the theory that the future borrows from the past, delegates examined the ancient fashions with sharp attention to line and detail, found many original sources of current fashion details.

Only 43 days after President William McKinley died of a bullet wound, his assassin, Leon F. Czolgosz, was executed in Auburn, N.Y., State Prison on Oct. 29, 1901.

Princess Anne—She's a Knotty Little Pixie

EDITOR'S NOTE — Stately old Buckingham Palace takes on an air of childish gaiety each Tuesday at 5 p.m. That's the day Princess Anne and her Brownie pack meet to learn to tie knots and set the tea table.

LONDON (AP) — If anyone at Buckingham Palace needs a reef, knot tied in a hurry there's an expert close at hand — 9-year-old Princess Anne.

And the curly haired daughter of the Queen also is getting pretty good at knitting.

Knotting and knitting are accomplishments the lively princess owes to the enthusiasm she throws into her tasks as a member of the Brownies.

Brownies are girls serving a sort of apprenticeship to qualify as Girl Guides, British counterpart of the American Girl Scouts.

Princess Anne became a Brownie last May. Now Tuesdays are special days at the palace. If anything threatens to conflict with the Brownie sessions the marshal of the court just has to change his program. The princess is engaged after 5 p.m.

SPECIAL PACK

A special pack of Brownies was organized at Buckingham Palace, at the direction of Queen Elizabeth, so the princess could get going in the Girl Guide program.

There were 23 under-teen girls in the pack at last count, not all of them bluebloods. One of the ideas of the Brownies is that girls should make friends in all stations of life.

If the princess were just any girl she would belong to the pack of the Holy Trinity Church, near the palace. But a princess making regular appearances in public attracts too much attention. So the Holy Trinity group became the Buckingham Palace pack.

The gatherings take place in the palace if it's cold and in the roomy summer house on the palace grounds if the weather is fine. There the princess meets such friends as 8-year-old Susan Lewis, daughter of a taxicab driver and Carol and Sally Lewis, 9 and 11, whose father is a hotel maintenance man.

Summer house days are special fun because there are rather unusual facilities for play. There is a sand pit, a tiny tennis court and a miniature golfing green.

PLAY RESTRICTED

But play is not permitted to take too much time from the Brownie program of constructive activities. Miss Mary Millican, 33, a teacher who is the pack's "Brown Owl," and Miss Mercy Edgedale, 30, who as "Tawney Owl" is second in command, stick pretty close to the Brownie agenda of knot-tying, flower recognition, setting up a tea and washing the dishes.

Sometimes there are little talks on public affairs, as the one in which Brown Owl spoke on world refugee year and suggested knitting garments would be one way to help. The princess said she couldn't knit, so that project was started a little early. Later comes darning, cycling, swimming, cooking, sewing on buttons and setting table for dinner, not just simple tea.

As individuals Brownies develop slightly differing characteristics and interests. So, to fit herself into the most comfortable groove, a Brownie may choose to be classified an elf, an imp, a pixie or a fairy. Princess Anne has chosen to be a pixie.

The princess is chic in the Brownie uniform. It consists of a brown dress, hat, belt and shoes, white ankle socks and a triangular necktie which is tricky to get straight.

There will be more difficult assignments soon — how to bandage a skinned knee, what to do when someone's clothes catch fire, and how to set a compass.

Even a princess needs to know which way is north.

Elect Officers at Sorority Dinner Meeting

Alpha Sigma Nu sorority elected officers for 1960 at its December dinner meeting Monday in the Hotel Waldron.

President will be Clarabelle Amidon; vice president, Mrs. J. K. Helvey; secretary, Mrs. William G. Looney; treasurer, Mrs. Guy Donnell; and historian, Mrs. Daniel Hackett.

Mrs. Harold W. Diekmann, hostess, introduced Dr. Nan K. Koh of the Oakland County Health Department, who spoke about Korea and her experiences in America.

Guests were Mrs. Lee L. Kennedy of La Jolla, Calif.; Mrs. Maynard Peters, Harold W. Diekmann, Russell Evans, Andrew Mitchell, Leonard McKinley and the Frank Allens.

Mrs. Parks Smith, Mrs. Floyd A. Compton and Mrs. Fred Elliott served on the hospitality committee.

Color on Campus

Coats go to the campus straight from the horse's back. The coats are bright plaids inspired by horse blankets. They come in ponchos, short jackets, and full, belted and straight styles.

Guaranteed to keep toes snug on Christmas morn and sugar plums dancing in dreams on Christmas eve are these machine washable cotton knit sleeper sets. Ideal gifts for the small fry, they come in red and white diamond print with non-skid plastic soles and are gift-wrapped with a carol book.

Says Use of Herbs Is Needed

BEATTYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — People don't know much about herb doctoring anymore and it's a shame, Mrs. Melvin Kincaid—Aunt Cinda—says.

"If women raising babies these days would dose the precious little things with warm catnip tea," she says, "they wouldn't have to be running to a doctor every other night."

Aunt Cinda has been using herbs most of her 75 years. She dosed all her own children with catnip tea. It's good for croup and colds, she says, "And it makes a baby sleep so good."

No one who drank tea made from gravel plant ever suffered from gallstones, Aunt Cinda says. "It's a good kidney medicine, too."

Skullcap and boneset yield a bitter tea which will "settle the nerves" and break up colds and fevers, Aunt Cinda says.

Wild cherry bark steeped in water is a good cough syrup and helps bolster the appetite.

A salve made from Balm of Gilead buds, elder and buttersweet bark, mixed with tallow, reputedly heals sores, cuts and bruises. And prickly ash tea is recommended for asthma sufferers.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture seems to agree. It lists over 250 different species of roots, herbs and bark which are of great value in the manufacture of drugs.

Do Plastic Surgery, When?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Question Box)

Q. "I am going to be 16 years old very soon. I once read that when you are 16 you are eligible for nose surgery by a plastic surgeon. Is this true? I would appreciate it very much if you would also tell me what the average cost of such an operation is."

A. Surgeons used to prefer waiting until the age of 18 before changing the nose and some of them might still feel this way. However, I believe most of them will operate when a person is 17. Discuss the details of this operation with a well-qualified plastic surgeon.

Q. "Is there any way to add an inch or so to the hips without gaining any other place?"

A. The only way to increase this measurement without gaining weight is to develop the hip muscles with exercise.

Q. "I am middle-aged and considered attractive, but I have protruding ears. I have worn my hair short because of this. Now I would like to wear it back in a bun. My husband admires people with long hair but I look horrible with it pulled back because of my ears. Can I have plastic surgery done?"

A. Yes this operation is done successfully. Also you could have long hair but cut it short at the sides and curl it. You still could wear the back hair in a bun. You would not look your best with the ears exposed.

Q. "In what stage of development does a girl begin to wear a bra? Mom comes from a different country and when I went with her to visit the girls there were well developed but did not wear a bra. In school here a lot of the girls who are smaller than I wear a bra. Please answer soon. This has caused me many a tear."

A. A brassiere should be worn whenever a bust has become large enough to require support or to make the girl self-conscious. Talk this over with your mother and explain to her that in this country it makes you feel conspicuous to be different from your friends.

Q. "Last summer you wrote of your wonderful travels in Austria and the joyous people. My people came from there. It is the land of the waltz. The children learn to dance on the grass with the music coming out through the windows. It is so lovely and heartlifting. Also here in America I miss hearing men and boys whistle. I used to hear them whistle going down the street or just for sheer joy while working. Why don't we hear so much of it any more?"

A. I think we hear less of this because life has become so hurried and complex. It seems too bad because it does sound gay and heartwarming and makes the one who whistles feel that way, too.

Plum Pudding Recipe Favored in New Zealand

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor
Last spring and summer Mrs. Ethel Berry of Auckland, New Zealand was a house guest of her daughter, Mrs. Stephen Oliseck, of Drayton Plains. She gave us this recipe then, but we wanted to wait until the holiday season to use it. We're sure her daughter will send her a copy of the paper.

Mrs. Berry, a spry 76-year-old, is an expert knitter. She says her family of 11 children is her hobby.

PLUM PUDDING
By Mrs. Ethel Berry
1 cup finely cut dried beef suet
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup bread crumbs
1 cup raisins
2 teaspoons mixed ground spices
Dash of salt
6 eggs
2 1/2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 cup cold tea
Beat the eggs and sugar thoroughly. Add baking powder to cold tea and pour into egg mixture. Stir until well mixed. Add rest of ingredients. Pour into mold and steam 4 hours (the longer the better, says Mrs. Berry.) The tea gives the pudding a "lovely" color. Serve warm with your favorite sauce.

Isn't Mom Pushing Early Marriages?

By RUTH MILLET

Mom, who claims she can't understand why so many of today's teen-agers are marrying before they finish high school, is the very gal who is promoting these pitifully young marriages.

All the while mom is clucking against the stupidity of kids who don't even have the braces off their teeth thinking they are grownup enough to get married, she is pushing her own kids into the accelerated dating pace that so often results in teen-age marriage.

It's mom who gives sis an evening dancing party on her 16th birthday, and who later tells her friends how "adorable" the little girls looked in their party dresses, and how "cute" the little boys were who escorted the girls to the dance (one of the boys' parents, of course, being foolish enough to play chaffeur for the evening).

It's mom who gives her five-year-old a permanent wave and begins by the time she enters the first grade to set in motion the social mechanism for making little Betty or little Sue "popular."

It's mom who can't say "no" when 14-year-old Betty or Sue decides to go steady—because, though mom claims she doesn't approve, she would rather have Sue going steady than have any other mama think her little girl isn't popular.

It's mom who lets a 16-year-old girl cut herself off from friends by spending every possible minute with one boy. In fact, there's more than a little pride in mama's voice when she says, "I got so tired of having Sue's boy friend under foot all the time, but I suppose I should be thankful they spend so much of their time at our house."

It's mom who makes junior high and high school such a gay social whirl that by 16 her daughter is sick of flouney formals, takes corages as a matter of course, and is blasé about almost everything.

Then, when daughter runs off at 16 or 17 with her steady and comes home married, mama cries, "How could this have happened to my little girl?"

2 Tunic Types

The tunic silhouette, back in force, has two main shapes—the slim tunic for daytime costumes and the bell shape for evening.

Stole jewelry, borrowed from the fur stole, is cleverly designed in pseudo-diamonds for luxurious appearance. Graceful earrings, pin and matching bracelet may be used individually or as an ensemble.

Don't Mask It 'Interpret' Your Face

CHICAGO — Make up should "interpret" a woman's face, not mask it, says one expert. Syd Simon, who teaches the gentle sex how to apply cosmetics for the best results, said make-up should "bring the features of the face into balance."

His pupils are taught to highlight and shadow the face, to make the most of good points and minimize the un-attractive ones.

Simon offers two courses in make up. One instructs the woman in how to pretty-up for daytime or informal occasions. The second includes coaching on how to achieve a more exotic appearance for evenings.

REQUIREMENTS
The beauty needs which Simon said should be found in every woman's dresser are:

—Cleansing tissue and cotton-tipped sticks.
—Cleansing cream or lotion, moisture cream, lubricating cream for very dry skin and freemore for oily skin only.

—Foundation cream or lotion, powder, cream rouge, "two or three eyeshadows because this should match the lady's dress," three lipsticks in blue, clear and yellow reds, blue and black mascara, and a soft lead pencil in lieu of an eyebrow pencil.

CAN CAMOUFLAGE
Simon can work almost any magic with make up. He has camouflaged black eyes and birthmarks, and during World War II he made up white FBI agents as Negroes.

He turned down one prospective customer, however, a young man who asked to be made up to look like someone else, "just anyone else." Suspicious, Simon pressed the caller on why he wanted to shed his identity, and finally drew the confession that he planned to stage a hold-up.

Cassius Capers

The lean and hungry look in men's wear rates A on the campus, reports a manufacturer who keeps tabs on the market and sales. Slacks are tight fitting, with tapered legs and pleated styling. They ride low on the hips to emphasize leanness.

According to a 1959 American Bankers Assn. survey, more banks will use newspapers for their advertising than any other medium—in fact, more than will use TV, radio and magazines combined.

Growing Older? Dress Your Age

Young fashions do not belong on middle-aged women. Button caps, frivolous flats, layers of petticoats, giddy handbags with poodle trim all belong to the youngsters. You'll find many attractive fashions designed just for you.

Abby Judges Guilt

This Office Manager Managed Too Well

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Here are the facts: A young (and very good-looking) girl in our office was fixed up with a very attractive man. The office manager arranged the date and TOLD the girl that this man was married but not working at it. The girl is 3 times 7 and knows the score.

A great big romance developed. And I mean BIG! Now the girl's family is on the office manager's back. Would you say the office manager deserves the blame for all this? Or isn't a girl over 21 responsible for her own conduct? The office manager intended to arrange only a "date"—not an "affair."

IN THE MIDDLE
DEAR IN: The "office manager" is Enemy Number One for leading these two weaklings into temptation. The rest of the blame should be shared equally by the two who couldn't resist it.

DEAR ABBY: I'd ask you to send me a personal reply, but I'm afraid my mother might see it and punish me for taking my problem to somebody else. You see, I'm almost 13 and, Abby, my skin is so bad at times I'm ashamed to go to school. Some of my friends have skin trouble, too. But their mothers take them to doctors and they get creams and special soaps to use. My mother says "beauty is only skin deep." But that's no help. What can I do?

PIMPLES

DEAR PIMPLES: Beauty is only skin deep, but at 13 that is deep enough. Do stay away from sweets, chocolates and fried foods. If, after a few months, there is no improvement; try again to convince your mother to take you to a doctor.

DEAR ABBY: I found out that my fair lady was not all I wanted her to be. So I wrote her a registered letter explaining that I felt our engagement was a mistake. (We are 1,000 miles apart). She wrote back, ignoring my letter, and carried on as though she had not received it at all. I sent her another registered letter repeating my sentiments and I told her she could keep the diamond engagement ring. Then I returned all of her letters.

She wrote again, making no mention of my letter. Where do I stand? Can I consider our engagement officially terminated? Or can she possibly sue me for breach of promise?

ANOTHER JOHN DOE

DEAR JOHN: Your "fair lady" sounds anything but fair. Consult a lawyer. With a gal who so obviously refuses to take "no" for an answer you will need all the help the law allows.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DEBIE: You were not "picked"... you were "picked up." Checking up on a man should be the first thing you do—not the last.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FEELING FOOLISH": The only "stupid" questions are those that aren't asked. Send me your name and address.

Stars Name Committees

Committees were appointed when Oakland County Gold Star Mothers Chapter 34 met Wednesday at the Bemis-Olsen Amvets Post on Oakland avenue.

President Mrs. Olive Burgess appointed the chairmen who are Mrs. Cecil Briggs, ways and means; Mrs. Elma Riddle and Mrs. Clarence Sutton, membership; Mrs. Edward McDonald, social; Mrs. Leone Haeberg, publicity; Mrs. Irma Rutherford, telephone; and Mrs. Luisa Mayotte, hostess.

Mrs. Eva Welch, hospital chairman, gave a report which was followed by arrangements for remembering at Christmas the veterans at Battle Creek Hospital, the Facility Home in Grand Rapids, Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, and Pontiac State Hospital.

Seventy-five favors will be readied for the veterans' New Year's party in Ann Arbor. Members also will remember Mrs. Welch's son, a serviceman stationed in Italy.

Plans were discussed for a Christmas dinner and party when secret pals will be disclosed. Mrs. Edward McDonald and Mrs. Sutton are in charge of the program.

Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Burgess served refreshments.
