

Last Rites Held for Dr. Stevens

First Cranbrook Head Died at 72 in New York on Saturday

Funeral service was held this afternoon in the Church of the Ascension in New York for Dr. William O. Stevens, first headmaster of Cranbrook School in Bloomfield Hills.

Dr. Stevens, 76, died Saturday in New York, where he had lived in recent years at 29 W. Ninth St. He is survived by his widow, Claudia, and a son, Hugo.

After 11 years as an instructor and professor of English at the U. S. Naval Academy, Dr. Stevens came to Cranbrook in 1927 and stayed until illness forced his resignation in 1935.

One of the dormitories at the school is named in his honor, and a memorial service was held at the school assembly this morning.

Harry Hoy, present headmaster, spoke of Dr. Stevens' contributions to the school, and Walter Young, chaplain, took part in the service.

After leaving Cranbrook Dr. Stevens served for a time as dean of literature and journalism at Oglethorpe University. He was born in Rangoon, Burma, of missionary parents, and was a graduate of Colby College and Yale University.

Fugitive, 19, Faces Kidnaping Charge

DETROIT (UP) — A 19-year-old fugitive was jailed for investigation of kidnaping today after forcing a Northville man at gunpoint to help him make his getaway from the Detroit House of Correction.

The youth, Merton Colegrove, was arrested last night after his captive, William Myers, 21, dropped him off at the apartment of a 16-year-old girl. The girl, accused of giving Colegrove civilian clothes, also was arrested.

Myers said he was getting into his car when Colegrove forced a gun against his back.

"This guy told me he had just escaped from the House of Correction and needed my car," he said. "I didn't want him tearing around in it. So I told him I'd drive him where he wanted to go."

Curice Sees New High Economy Peak

that "technological improvements do not wipe out jobs."

Curice said bringing General Motors 1955 models to market required an outlay of more than 600 million dollars. That, he said, was nearly twice the amount spent for 1954 models.

General Motors' sales of cars and trucks in the United States and Canada last year, he said, totaled 3,450,000 units against 3,496,000 in 1953. It was GM's third best year. In passenger car sales 1954 was GM's second best year, exceeded only by 1950.

In dollars, GM's 1954 sales were within 2 per cent of 1953, he said, despite a 30 per cent decline in defense deliveries.

Defense products represented 14 per cent of GM total dollar sales, as against 19 per cent in 1953.

"Given a world at peace, sound national policies and a people willing to work for the things they want," Curice concluded, "we can look forward to an ever more dynamic and prospering national economy. That is the goal to which we in General Motors are dedicated."

from either the State Department or the Pentagon regarding the U. S. role in the border patrol, it was understood that the U. S. has enough personnel available in Panama to contribute to the patrol action.

A clarifying statement from U. S. high officials was expected today.

Meanwhile, the five-nation committee investigating the explosive Central American situation telephoned to Washington and underscored Costa Rica's need for help.

Committee Chairman Louis Quintanilla of Mexico reported that rebel aircraft were attacking and machine-gunning the town of Liberia at the very time he was talking.

The rebels claimed a "complete triumph" late Sunday night in the two-day-old battle for the northern Costa Rica town of Santa Rosa. Government forces, however, said heavy losses were inflicted on the insurgents.

Lower Budget Is Presented for Year Starting July 1

reverts to 273 billions next July 1.

The President told Congress his fiscal philosophy—stated before in similar words—is this: "A liberal attitude toward the welfare of people and a conservative approach to the use of their money."

He said that "stern requirements" of defense are the chief obstacles to further spending cuts now, but that since the nation is not currently using up its defense production in a shooting war, "our defense expenditures are now bringing about a steadily growing strength."

"It is our purpose, working in concert with other nations, to banish the threat of atomic warfare which now confronts the world," Eisenhower said, adding that the fiscal 1956 atomic energy program "provides for greater expenditures than ever before on projects to develop 'peaceful applications of atomic energy.'"

He recommended atomic energy spending totaling two billion dollars in fiscal 1956, some 30 millions less than this year. Operating costs would rise, Eisenhower said, but construction and equipment costs would fall next year because work will be completed on production plants now abounding. Eisenhower said there would be a "higher level" of raw uranium purchases.

The President described a growing nucleus of atomic-powered submarines. He said his 1956 budget provided for "additional" similar submarines. Four already have been authorized.

In addition, Eisenhower said the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department are collaborating to "expand and accelerate" the application of nuclear energy to airplanes and to develop a "small transportable" reactor package.

Here are the highlights of Eisenhower's new defense spending program:

He allotted 15½ billions to the Air Force, slightly less than it got in fiscal 1954, while the fighting was still in progress in Korea, but 400 millions more than this fiscal year.

The Navy got 9½ billions. This was about 3½ billions less than the Navy spent in fiscal 1954, but virtually the same as its share of defense money this year.

The Army was down for 8½ billion. About 4 billions less than in fiscal 1954 but about the same as this year.

Altogether, the Defense Department was budgeted at 34 billion dollars for military functions, slightly less than this year and 6½ billions less than in fiscal 1954.

"Our current military plans," Eisenhower said, "will be subject to continuing review." It is important, he said, that "we do not attempt to fix our minds or plans upon any particular set of numbers. For today's technological changes may make yesterday's numbers and concepts obsolete."

The new budget upped arms aid to U. S. Allies by 450 million dollars to 3½ billion. Eisenhower called for additional spending of a billion for foreign economic aid. He said the total includes provisions for "a program in Asia" but left details to be disclosed later.

"Partnership" between the federal government and state and local governments and private groups was the theme of Eisenhower's civilian budget.

He said agricultural land and water resource development provide a practical basis for partnership in carrying out of a coordinated program for upstream flood prevention, and soil and water conservation.

Natural resource development should cost the federal government 903 million dollars in fiscal 1956, compared with a billion this year and 1¼ billion last year, he said. About two-thirds of the money would go for flood control, irrigation, power and multipurpose river basin development. The President said he was recommending 32 new projects and resumption of work on two others.

Eisenhower said he was making no recommendation for building new power units in the Tennessee Valley Authority grid, because, he said, when TVA is relieved of furnishing the Atomic Energy Commission 600,000 kilowatts through a contract with the Mississippi Valley Generating Co., TVA will have enough power to increase its loads. This referred to the controversial Dixon-Yates contract.

Eisenhower added that TVA is "giving immediate attention to the possibilities of financing further ex-

Asks Diplomacy in Release of 11

Fulbright Against Any Advance Ultimatum in Dealing With Red China

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) urged today that the United States continue diplomatic negotiations for the release of 11 imprisoned American airmen without laying down any advance ultimatum to Red China.

Fulbright, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview he does not believe the American people should expect any "miracle" as a result of the visit to Peking of Dag Hammarskjold, United Nations secretary general.

Fulbright said he thinks it will take time to solve the problem and there will be "no quick answer."

"We ought to negotiate with the Chinese Communists and keep in communication with them, rather than lay down the line that we will ignore them," he said.

"After all, these Chinese Communists are human beings, regardless of how misguided they may be. It is possible that we can make some kind of mutual adjustment with them that we could accept and we ought to find out."

He said, however, he would be opposed to any full-dress conference, with Red China as a participant, which might be used by the Communists as a propaganda sounding board.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), new chairman of the Foreign Relations Far Eastern subcommittee, said that "although he has no official information, he fears that the Chinese Communists may have listed U. N. recognition for them as the price for release of the Americans."

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.), top Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in a weekend speech at Harrisburg, Pa., he would oppose any "hasty, ill-considered, impulsive action... such as a military blockade."

McCarthy Heir Says He Likely Will Request More Peress Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams likely will be asked to give the Senate Investigations subcommittee more information on the Irving Peress case, Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said last night.

McClellan, who succeeds Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) as subcommittee chairman, said in an NBC radio-TV interview he does not think the Army has provided all the facts.

Peress, a New York City dentist, was promoted to major and honorably discharged early last year at a time when McCarthy was demanding he be court-martialed for refusing to answer questions about communism.

McCarthy said Saturday night he had written Stevens charging the Army with practicing a "deliberate deception" on the subcommittee and the American people.

Early this month, the army issued a 10,000-word chronology of the case and listed Adams and Lt. Gen. Walter L. Weible, a deputy chief of staff, as making the final decision to give Peress an honorable discharge.

In his letter to Stevens, McCarthy said neither Weible nor Adams was included in a list of 38 officers the Army last spring named for the subcommittee as those "taking an active part in the personnel actions" concerning Peress.

The Army said Stevens had not yet answered McCarthy's letter. McClellan said he believes the case "has been poorly handled."

1955 Fund Drive Uses Heartbeat

Coca Hunts New Man; Roscoe Karns Is Part of Gleason Enterprise

NEW YORK (INS)—Jane Kean was afraid Ethel Merman mightn't take too well to her broad Merman burlesque and was hesitant to schedule it for TV's "Ship Stoppers," of which the Mermans will be the top star. Ethel, biggest pro in show biz, heard about it and wired Jane: "I'd be honored if you would." ... Bing's man-of-all-words Bill Morrow joins the Gleason TV factory. ... Girls—a sound track of Kirk Douglas' heartbeat will be used on radio for the '55 Heart Fund drive. ... "Life Begins at 80" but its star Georgiana Carhart says she's "too young" to record her memoirs; she's 83.

Stars of the premiere "Modie" telecast were hailed for their debut acting but the management decreed they couldn't be hired again—fates too familiar for a documentary (and Beverly Garland "died" in the debut, 'member?) ... Reason Gleason concentrates on "The Honey-mooners" is—too many memories recall Oliver (of Laurel & Hardy and Ham Hamilton of the silent when viewing his "Poor Soul."

Truth is stranger than fiction item: The "Newlyweds" in "Halls of Ivy" (Whit Bissell and Andre Marden) were just divorced ...

Agencies are grousing about the "Payola" to backstage TV shake-down getting too big to bear ...

CBS flew Claude Dauphin over from Paris for Monday's Studio One. ... It would be pitiful to cast a broken star as a shattered mendicant on TV, as next week's "This Is Hollywood" episode will, except that the actor selected was Victor Moore, who is rich enough to see the fun in the script.

Roscoe Karns' new TV crime-chase for Gleason Enterprises will have the fictional "Mabel" of his Dumbest fun back again, but his son Todd will play the cop this time, with Roscoe along as a clue-happy kibitzer. ... It takes four highly paid TV gagmen to write even so sad a try as last night's Jack Carson show ...

The new "Pulse" ratings gives "Dragnet" exactly two-tenths of a point lead on "Lacy" for first place.

Imogene Coca last we heard was torn between Jack Carter and Hal March to fill the Sid Caesarian void in her TV fun. ... Mark Stevens will write and direct as well as star in three "Big Towns" ... Ray Bolger signed for Max Liebman's Feb. 27 Spectacular ... "Topper" was renewed ... which will send Anne Jeffreys and Bob Sterling off to London happy enough to sing, which they'll do at the Cafe de Paris, where Noel Coward made the place safe for comedy with class.

Top Italian Surgeon Summoned to Russia

ROME (AP)—Dr. Pietro Valdoni, one of Italy's foremost surgeons, left today for Moscow, touching off speculation that he had been summoned to operate on some high Soviet official.

A spokesman at Valdoni's home denied the rumors, saying the surgeon was going to attend a medical congress in the Soviet capital. He said he did not know specifically what congress it was.

Valdoni is generally credited with having saved the life of Italy's Communist leader Palmiro Togliatti after a Sicilian student pumped three bullets into him in 1946.

The U.S. Public Health Service estimates that Americans will have over a half billion colds in 1955.

Wayne Replacing Ousted Mitchum as Star in Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Film actor John Wayne has cut short his New York honeymoon to replace Robert Mitchum, who was dropped last week from the starring role in the 2½-million-dollar picture "Blood Alley."

A Warner Brothers spokesman said that Mitchum was dismissed for "action detrimental to the making of the film."

"There are no hard feelings—we didn't see eye to eye," Mitchum said.

It was reported last week from San Rafael, Calif., the film's location site, that Mitchum had pushed a company transportation manager, George Coleman, into San Francisco Bay. However, Mitchum and Coleman both denied it happened. Wayne, who reports to the location of the film today, married his third wife, Peruvian beauty Pilar Pallete, last Nov. 1 in Hawaii.

Panama to Plan Assassins' Trial

See National Assembly Lifting State of Siege Now in Force

PANAMA (U)—Panama's National Assembly was called to meet late today to begin preparations for the trial of former President Jose Ramon Guizado and others accused of complicity in the assassination of President Jose Antonio Remon.

The Assembly also was expected to lift the state of siege—a modified form of martial law—which was proclaimed after Remon's assassination to aid in the apprehension of his killers.

Remon's widow and Panama's best known woman figure, Cecilia Pinel de Remon, in a recorded broadcast last night pledged her "humble moral and material support" to Ricardo Arias Espinosa, former second vice president who was sworn in as president Saturday following Guizado's arrest and impeachment by the National Assembly.

Held along with Guizado in the machine-gunning on Jan. 2 of Remon are Ruben Miro, a prominent lawyer who confessed he fired the fatal machine-gun bursts with Guizado's full knowledge; Guizado's son Jose Ramon Jr. and two of his associates in a construction firm, Rodolfo St. Malo and Jose Neives Perez; and two former cadets at the Guatemala Military School, Luis Carlos Hernandez and Jose Edgardo Tejada.

The younger Guizado and his associates were mentioned in Miro's confession, while Tejada and Hernandez are charged with selling Miro the German machine gun used in the slaying.

The New York Times in a dispatch from Panama said President Arias Espinosa, in an interview yesterday, said he was "not yet convinced at all" that Miro had been telling the truth about Guizado's part in the plot. According to the Times, Arias Espinosa said Guizado "seems to have had only vague knowledge of a plot and his guilt, if any, seems to be that he did nothing to prevent it rather than having participated actively in it."

Scientists have found evidence that the January thaw regularly predicted in old time almanacs is a reality that takes place in most years, says the National Geographic Society.

Trail of Brink's Robbers Is Still Cold After 5 Years

BOSTON (U)—Among Greater Boston's two million residents, only five men (or was it maybe seven or eight?) knew something nightmarish was going to happen on the night of Jan. 17, just five years ago.

Shadows were heavy around the bare concrete garage - and office building in Boston's North End from which, daily, the Brink's, Inc. armored money - express trucks went on their missions between banks and businesses.

People familiar with the area knew nothing of a strong room in that concrete building, nor of five Brink's employees with pistols near their hands that night while they counted money in millions.

As investigators have reconstructed the scene, a light truck and an automobile drew up outside. When the last visible pedestrian vanished around a corner, men got out—the number was never definitely established. With visored caps and pea jackets, they might have been Brink's guards. But why did they wear gloves and rubbers on this mild, dry night? Why did each carry, under arm, a little white bundle—like a rolled-up laundry bag? And why were their faces grotesque—like those of clowns?

A key unlocked an outside door. Walking with sureness which, hinted familiarity, they passed through five more locked doors in the labyrinth-like interior. Nor did any guard hear them, nor the five men busy with money and money bags behind the counting room grille.

Not until 7:10 p.m., when they heard the bark: "Open up! This is a stickup. Don't give us any trouble." Then the Brink's men looked up and saw the row of grinning masks and the black guns.

Forced to lie prone, tied up, their mouths taped, they saw little more. And the Halloween-masked robbers working like swift robots, dumping heaps of money into laundry bags, spoke only in muffled mutters. The robbers half dragged, half carried their bags with $1,219,000 in cash into the night.

Along dark streets the robbers' car and their light truck—stolen months before—vanished with the stolen treasure.

Neither Boston land and harbor police, metropolitan and state police, nor FBI, in five years ever caught up with that phantom gang or found one dollar of $98,000 in bills whose serial numbers were known. Nor did the FBI ever report any trace of an additional $1,481,000 in unregistered bonds, also allegedly taken that night.

The robbers left no fingerprint or other useful clue. Parts of their stolen truck, dismembered by acetylene torch, were found months later on a suburban dump.

Department of Justice men have impounded secret evidence, however, and they say the investigation is still proceeding.

Says Michigan Is Safe From Lake Overflow

DETROIT (U)—Lt. Col. Edward J. Gallagher, lake survey officer of the Army Engineers Corps, says barring on-shore storms or heavy rains, Michigan should be safe from overflowing lake levels this spring.

Gallagher made the prediction despite the fact that Lake St. Clair's level last month was just four inches under the record December height of 576.65 feet. The record was set in 1951. That spring high waters damaged many shoreline communities in Michigan.

Phenix City Control Returns to Civilians

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (U)—Enforcement of law and order in Phenix City was in the hands of local civilian officials today for the first time since July 22.

The last Alabama National Guardsmen on duty here pulled out a few hours before outgoing Gov. Gordon Persons' order of limited martial rule expired at midnight.

In 25 weeks of occupation, National Guardsmen confiscated and smashed thousands of dollars worth of gambling equipment. Their investigators reopened criminal cases which now ousted local law enforcement officials had ignored or forgotten.

The full-scale cleanup was touched off by the slaying of racket-fighting Atty. Gen. nominee Albert Patterson June 18.
