Ike Discovers Many Problems in Test A-Alert

Thinks That Exercise Has Proven Value by Spotlighting Flaws

WITH President Eisenhower on Operation Alert (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the first hours of the government's fire drill against atomic attack turned up "more complications . . . than I ever believed possible."

The President's comment to reporters outside his secret hideout indicated he felt the great test exercise had already proven its value in bringing into sharper focus some of the problems which would confront the government in an atomic war.

Eisenhower talked with the newsmen before motoring in bright sunshine to the highly secret underground Pentagon to meet with his National Security Council.

The scheduling of the NSC session led to an assumption among some members of the President's party that theoretical military defense and retaliatory problems would be considered.

But Eisenhower said that was a misunderstanding.

"This is entirely a matter of civil defense and relocation," the President said. "No military problem is assumed at all under this fictitious situation. We are trying simply to see whether, under conditions assuming the destruction . . . the government could continue to function."

Before leaving his base for the NSC meeting, the President worked at his desk, signing documents and reading official papers concerned with the routine conduct of government and not with the civil defense emergency.

Cameramen were allowed to photograph the interior of his office, but were not permitted to take any pictures from the outside since geographic features conceivably could be a tip-off to its location.

On his desk were a combination of expensive and cheap communication equipment. There was a big "talk box" connected directly with an all - government radio circuit, and a microphone into which the President could talk directly with officials at any or all of the 31 relocation centers scattered over a 300 - mile radius from Washington.

There also were two "toy" telephones serving as intercommunication sets so the President could talk with his personal secretary, Ann Whitman, and his staff secretary, Col. Andrew J. Goodpaster.

In handling routine papers, the President was in fact running the government from his mountain hideaway as well as dealing with the make believe problems arising from the assumed "enemy" assault yesterday on 61 U. S. cities and territorial possessions.

Operation Alert Suddenly Was Operation Snafu

ASBURY PARK, N.J. (AP)—For days radio station WJLK urged listeners to tune in during Operation Alert for latest information. Yesterday, when the alert finally came, a short circuit had put the station temporarily off the air. It didn't get back on until the test was over.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—At the height of yesterday's civil defense test, the 11th Naval District alerted centers that an atom bomb had just "devasted" Long Beach. "It wasn't in our scenario and we had enough other bombs to worry about," an official confessed later, "So we just ignored it."

National Open Is Under Way

Field of 162 Leading Pros, Amateurs Playing at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ted Gwin of Fort Worth, Tex., sliced the opening drive of the National Open golf tournament into the rough today as the 55th annual test got under way on the Lake Course of the Olympic Country Club.

Russ R. Arnold of Englewood, Colo., teeing off behind Gwin in the initial threesome, hooked into the left with his first drive, but Bob Moore of Fairfax, Calif., smacked one straight down the middle for about 250 yards to wind up the starting trio.

The field of 162 top professional and amateur golfers will play 72 holes before the tournament concludes Saturday afternoon.

The weather was cool and cloudy as the tournament started, but the almost daily early morning fog which customarily envelopes the course on the edge of the Pacific Ocean was missing.

Breakey Explains Constitutionality Stand on Turnpike

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Circuit Judge James R. Breakey Jr. called a conference late today to explain specifically to opposing lawyers his opinion holding that the Michigan Turnpike Authority Act is constitutional.

Judge Breakey announced the meeting after attorneys expressed opposite views on certain points in his ruling.

Breakey said he would amplify particularly his ruling to effects of the so-called "consent provisions" of the state constitution.

Nub of the issue is whether the Turnpike Authority can build a toll road through a city without getting the city's consent to condemn property for the right of way.

Authority spokesmen indicated they felt Judge Breakey had held a city's consent was not needed. Attorneys for the City of Dearborn, which challenged the act, interpreted the ruling as meaning city consent was needed.

Davy Daze Goes Swanky

CROCKETT CAP CRAZE — The Davy Crockett cap craze has reached new heights atop the head of actress Ann Miller. Seven-year-old Ronny Anton accuses her of being a copy cat. "Not cat — sable," says Ann. Ronny's coonskin headgear cost $1.98. Ann's sable one was a mere $1,200.

Lower Age For Women

Dems Pave Way for Move to Broaden Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP)—Broad and costly revisions of the social security program were given a legislative go-ahead today by Democratic House leaders.

Plans agreed on at a meeting attended by Speaker Rayburn of Texas, Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts and Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee call for action at this session on a bill to benefit principally women and all disabled employes.

The Ways and Means Committee, which like the House is under Democratic control, may start consideration of the proposals next week.

Changes backed by the Democrats, and likely to have substantial Republican support, would:

1. Lower the pension eligibility age for women from 65 to 62 years, affecting immediately a million women and costing an estimated 350 to 400 million dollars a year.

2. Provide for immediate benefit payments to insured workers permanently and totally disabled, regardless of age. This would cost up to $1,400,000,000 a year and affect from 1,200,000 to 1,700,000 persons. At present such workers don't get benefit payments until they reach 65.

3. Continue benefit payments for children past the age of 18 who are physically or mentally incapacitated. The cost of this would be relatively small, sponsors said.

Although no agreement was reached, the legislation also may extend coverage, on a voluntary basis, to some professional and self-employed groups not now covered.

The proposed changes would require eventual adjustment of the present schedule of payments into the social security fund by employes and employers. Each now pays 2 per cent on the first $4,200 of the worker's yearly earnings.

Republican committee members complained that they were not consulted over the Democrats' plans, but there were no threats of united opposition to the changes.

Detroit Claims Only 57,600 Died in Raid

DETROIT (AP)—The fate of some 40,000 Detroiters was in the hands of local and national officials of the Federal Civil Defense Administration today—at least on paper.

They couldn't agree on what time the mock atomic attack on Detroit took place yesterday during "Operation Alert." Nor could they agree on how many persons theoretically were killed or what type bomb was used.

National authorities announced 96,000 persons were killed in an H-bomb raid that came without warning.

But Major Gen. Clyde E. Dougherty, Detroit and Wayne County civil defense director, said 57,600 persons were killed in an A-bomb raid for which the city had a 2½ hour warning.

Dougherty said the advance warning gave CD workers time to evacuate about 40 per cent of the 96,000 who would have died if the attack had come without warning.

Morever, it couldn't have been an H-bomb he said. An H-bomb would have killed many more than 96,000 citizens.

And there the argument rested.

Horrified Sister, Brother, Three Other Youngsters Watch Victim Sink

Eleven-year-old Carl Riddell, of Farmington Township, drowned after he dove fully-clothed into a small pond yesterday afternoon.

The body was recovered in about seven feet of water by Oakland County Depty Sheriff William Addis at about 2 p.m., 40 minutes after the victim sank from sight before the horrified eyes of his sister, brother and three other young companions.

His brother, Douglas, 13, said Carl dove from the bank of the 80x50-foot pool, swam across and started back when he shouted for help and sank.

The victim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Riddell of, 33667 Harlow Rd., was wearing a pair of heavy high-top boots, according to his companions.

Addis said the body was recovered only about 15 or 20 feet from shore.

Douglas, and Carl Lewis, 12, ran nearly a half-mile to summon aid while the victim's sister, Virginia, and two other boys, Gary McCulloch, 9, and Stephen Morris, 12, attempted to reach the boy with a long pole.

The boy was pronounced dead at the scene by Deputy Oakland County Coroner Dr. Lee Halsted after revival efforts by Novi Township firemen failed.

The pond is located on the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Lancaster, of 35353 W. Nine Mile Rd. Mrs. Lancaster, who was away from home at the time, said the youngsters were playing near the pool without permission.

'Local Issues Unsettled' Says Pontiac Union

Pontiac Motor Division Local 653 (UAW-CIO, today dispatched a letter to UAW President Walter P. Reuther saying "local issues (here) have not been settled."

Unless the local issues are solved "our delegates to the National General Motors Conference will vote against ratification of the national agreement and we will request strike authorization," said Local President Charles S. Curry.

"We have and still are requesting our members to stay on the job pending further negotiations.

"It was stated in many meetings . . . that this was one set of negotiations that were not going to be concluded until all local issues were satisfactorily settled, even if it meant taking them all to Detroit and laying them on the bargaining table . . ." Curry asserted.

Fire Hits Bloomfield Hills Home of Detroit Executive

Fire of undetermined origin this morning raged through the Bloomfield Hills home of Detroit department store president Otto Kern as more than 20 firemen from three communities battled to control the blaze.

The fire, which started on the roof of the 20-room wooden colonial-style home, was finally brought under control at 10:45 a.m. Bloomfield Township Fire Chief Ralph Hemmerly said he believed damage to the house and furnishings would exceed $100,000. An official estimate of damage was not immediately available.

A cook, Clara Brown, turned in the first alert when she heard what she described as a "scraping" sound on the roof above the north wing of the converted farmhouse, located on a 120-acre estate on East Long Lake road.

When the noise continued she went outside, she said, and saw a patch of flames on the roof.

The family, according to a care taker, was on an outing on the Detroit River. Only servants were in the house.

Firemen said much of the furniture and valuables had been removed before they arrived by a crew of carpenters who were working nearby.

Kern, who uses the home only on weekends, is president of the Ernst Kern Co., a Detroit department store.

Firemen from Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield Township and Troy Township were called to the scene.

American Motors Sets Tuesday Talks

DETROIT (AP) — Bargaining talks between American Motors Corp. and the CIO United Auto Workers were adjourned today until next Tuesday with both sides apparently trying for a compromise on the union's demand for a wage contract.

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president, said the union would consider "all pertinent economic factors" in working out a new contract to cover American Motors' 22,000 workers.

The company, which makes Nash and Hudson cars and household appliances, contends it is not in a position to grant the same benefits the union obtained from Ford and General Motors. Ford and GM settled with the union for a supplimentary unemployment pay plan.

Pontiac Lawyer Seeks Judgeship

Clark J. Adams Asks to Be Considered for Circuit Post

Pontiac attorney Clark J. Adams today said he has asked Gov. G. Mennen Williams to consider him for appointment as Oakland County's fourth circuit judge.

Oakland Democratic Chairman Carlos G. Richardson said yesterday that Adams has been endorsed for the post by the county political group.

The fourth judge is to be appointed by Williams and begin serving Jan. 1 next year.

Adams, 50, of 2755 W. Walton Blvd, Waterford Twp., began law practice here in 1927 and was a state representative from 1937 to 1943. In January 1949, he was named Williams' legal adviser.

The governor appointed the attorney to the State Supreme Court Aug. 14, 1952. Adams lost the post by 2,054 votes in the April 6, 1953 election. On April 15 this year Williams placed the local man on the State Corrections Commission.

The governor has not indicated how soon he will make the fourth-judge selection. The appointee will serve until November 1956 when an election is slated for the position.

Elusive Water Leak Puzzles City Workmen

An elusive water leak is what's causing all the digging at Saginaw and Lawrence Sts.

James P. Clancy, Water Dept. service supervisor said crews have been searching out a slow leak which has caused water to seep into the basement of the Pontiac State Bank Building.

The department knows the water is collecting in a Michigan Bell Telephone Co. conduit at the intersection, but that is about all, Clancy said.

The leak only uses about as much water as a drinking fountain, he said, making it hard to detect. If it were a larger flow it would be easier to locate, he explained.

Today, workmen are tunneling through to the Bell conduit in hopes of tracking down the mystery trickle.

"We've been working on it for three weeks, on and off, Clancy said. "We'll find it — if it takes us all summer," he added hopefully.

Early Reports Say Army, Navy Leading Fight

Rebel Aircraft Bomb Dictator's Office; Firing Heard in Streets

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Revolt broke out today against the government of President Juan D. Peron shortly after the Vatican excommunicated him and other government leaders.

There was a pitched battle in the center of Buenos Aires and planes bombed Government House, the seat of government. Revolutionists fired mortars, machine guns and rifles against the presidential guard.

The revolt was reported to have spread to Rosario, Argentina's second city, although the government claimed the country was quiet outside Buenos Aires.

"There have been some disturbances, due to uprisings of units of the air force and the navy," the state radio said in a statement attributed to President Peron. "Army troops are fighting to restore order.

"One airplane has been shot down. Three others have been obliged to land."

Later the radio said only naval aviation was involved, not the air force.

The center of the city was virtually alive with troops, and bands of workers could be seen running in the direction of Government House shouting "Peron, Peron!"

Radio Mitre, apparently seized by revolutionaries, announced that the city of Rosario was completely in control of revolutionaries. Rosario has 500,000 population and is Argentina's second largest city.

Radio Mitre's announcer shouted "This is a democratic revolution."

An unidentified voice was heard shouting "The tyrant is dead." There was no additional explanation and this may have been a phrase used in a thetorical sense. At this point the radio's power supply apparently was cut off.

In Buenos Aires a detachment of troops, described as large, was marching into the center of the city from a nearby army base.

The number of planes which bombarded Government House was not learned immediately.

Government House is the seat of government, the office of President Juan D. Peron. He does not live there, however.

Troops cleared civilians from the streets in the Government House area before the fighting began, but then the soldiers wasted little time getting into action.

As the sound of gunfire swept through the area, business houses pulled down their iron shutters.

Ambulances removed casualties from the Plaza de Mayo, in front of Government House. A detachment of about 50 troops was seen rushing into the building's side door, apparently to reinforce the soldiers defending it. Government House is known as the Casa Rosada, or Pink House.

Buses were reported converging on the center of the city carrying workers in response to an appeal from the labor federation.

Within a block or two of Government House, curious throngs ducked behind walls and into doorways, trying to get a look at the shooting.

Walkout May Tie Up Atlantic, Gulf

NEW YORK (AP)—A "no contract, no work" stoppage called by union seamen along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts today threatened to tie up half of the American merchant fleet.

The CIO National Maritime Union wired its "no contract, no work" recommendations to union locals in 18 ports after negotiations for a new contract were broken off.

Reaction came first from Philadelphia, where an NMU spokesman said the union was withdrawing its members from all ships in the Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey docks.

The union reported some 2,000 men stayed on 30 ships tied up in New York harbor but were not working. Work stopped on 12 ships in Baltimore, and one tanker was tied up in New Orleans.

Boston had only one tanker in port, and the union said it will not sail.

The stoppage affected passenger ships, including transatlantic liners—dry cargo vessels and tankers.

The first large passenger ship likely to be affected is the American Export Lines Independence, due to sail for the Mediterranean Saturday. The largest to be affected, if the stoppage continues, is the U.S. Lines United States, due to arrive from Europe Tuesday.

NO TALKS SLATED

Disagreement over union demands on an unemployment insurance fund led to the work stoppage recommendations.

Contract negotiations between the four unions and two employer groups had been going on for weeks, and federal mediators stepped in last night. No further talks were scheduled.

When NMU negotiations with the two employer groups broke down, a spokesman for the AFL International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots said the effect would be that "no ships will sail."

The other unions involved are the CIO Marine Engineers Beneficial Assn. and the CIO American Radio Assn.

City Faces Tax Increase Following OK of Budget

BIRMINGHAM—A 20-cent tax hike per $1,000 of assessed valuation for the 1955-56 fiscal year faced property owners today, following adoption by the City Commission of a $1,415,808 budget.

The budget is $79,953 higher than the current 1954-55 budget. The fiscal year runs from July 1 to June 30.

City Manager Donald Egbert in his tentative budget for 1955-56 maintained the present property tax levy of $19.50. However the City Commission decided it was not flexible enough to allow for operational emergencies, and approved a $10,500 boost and the $19.70 levy per $1,000 of assessed valuation to cover it.

Departmental appropriations under the newly-adopted budget total $927,905. Of the total, the Police Department will receive $200,000, the Fire Department $161,605, the Department of Public Works $245,000 and the Forestry and Parks Department, $67,000.

Among other appropriations are: $105,000 for the capital improvement fund; $99,161 in payments on debt interest and principal; $67,000 for the library; $65,612 for insurance for city employes, $40,000 for street resurfacing, and $14,500 for the recreation board.

The source of incoming revenue to balance expenditures includes $1,047,500 for tax revenue and $368,308 for non-tax revenue.

A breakdown of non-tax revenue in the new budget shows $238,050 will come from shared taxes such as state sales, liquor and gas; $18,550 from building permits; $16,028 from available surplus; $65,550 from such things as traffic tickets, garbage and rubbish collection; $11,730 from property rental; $9,200 from licenses; $7,700 from fines and tax penalties and $1,500 from miscellaneous sources.

Traffic accidents in Birmingham during May totaled 55, 36 more than the total for the comparable period last year. Property damage last month, according to Police Chief Ralph Moxley, totaled $11,801 or $6,521 more than in May, 1954.

Moxley, in his monthly accident summary, said last month's accident toll brought to 222 the total number of accidents reported in Birmingham this year.

Two violations, "following too closely" and "violation of right-of-way," has been responsible for 109 accidents or almost 50 per cent of all accidents reported, he said.

In Miami Police custody is Irwin H. Fisher, 28, an advance man for the Cole and King Brothers Circus which played here June 4.

He is charged with converting $210 of advance ticket sale money to his own use and embezzling $1,055 from John A. Benson, of 549 N. Saginaw St.

If Williams approves the extradition, he will forward the papers to the Florida governor who also must authorize it, said Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor William E. Lang.

Cox Says He Won't Report to Cleveland

WASHINGTON (AP)— Billy Cox told the Cleveland Indians today he intends to quit baseball and won't report to the Indians.

The veteran infielder was acquired by Cleveland yesterday in a trade with the Baltimore Orioles. The Indians also acquired outfielder Gene Woodling and gave up outfielders Wally Westlake and Dave Pope and cash.

Hank Greenberg, the Indians' general manager, said it's too early to tell just what can be done. He said he hasn't given up hope that Cox might change his mind.

School Opening to Negro Family

6 Children in Kentucky Will Get First Taste of Formal Education

MONTICELLO, Ky. (AP)—Wayne County schools won't wait for organized desegregation. And, as a result, the six children of Clark Stonewall will go to classes for the first time next fall.

Ira Bell, superintendent of schools, was told officialy yesterday that Kentucky's day law requiring segregation in public schools went with the wind when the U.S. Supreme Court ordered integration recently.

Bell said that was all he wanted to know. Negro children will be admitted to white schools starting with the fall term.

Stonewall started the ball rolling. His is the only Negro family in an area served by a one-room school for white children. His home is too far from the county school bus route that brings other children to school in Monticello.

Because of this, Stonewal has borrowed text books up to the fifth-grade level from the School Board and has attempted to teach his children.

He asked Bell to let his children go to the one-room Griffin school.

Bell was told yesterday by the state attorney general's office that nothing in the law prevented him from going ahead with integration immediately.

A governor's committee is studying the problem for the rest of the state.

Wayne County will become the first in Kentucky and one of a known three in the South to comply with the Supreme Court order. In Arkansas, the small Clarkson school and the Fayetteville High School have integrated. The high school and junior high at Oak Ridge, Tenn., will integrate next year.

Centerville Lad Dies in Hay Feeder Mishap

CENTERVILLE (AP) — Andy Huff and his pal Wally Bowman, both 9, were having great fun yesterday on the George Rice farm.

Farmhands were feeding hay into a machine that poured it into a moving wagon. Andy and Wally were running alongside and climbing into the wagon to watch the hay pile up.

Later, back at the barn, Wally missed his friend. He told farmhands. They searched the fields. No success. Then Wally suggested they look in the wagon.

There, under a pile of hay, they found Andy's body. He had been trapped in the falling hay and had suffocated.

Detroit Trying TV for X-Way Control

DETROIT (AP) — Two television cameras will begin scanning Detroit's expressways tomorrow in a test of traffic control. If successful, the plan may become permanent.

During the two-week check officials will determine how far one camera can "see" efficiently, how many cameras would be necessary to cover the entire routes of the John C. Lodge and Edsel Ford expressways, and how much such an operation might cost.

One object is to learn whether police could dispatch emergency vehicles to scenes of accidents faster than at present.

The test also is designed to show whether police by watching the flow of traffic on TV screens can analyze it and get traffic cops there soon enough to prevent bottlenecks.

13 Feared Dead in U-Boat Blast

Royal Navy Submarine Blows Up in Harbor; 7 Injured Slightly

PORTLAND, England (AP) — The Royal Navy submarine Sidon blew up and sank in Portland harbor today. Thirteen men were feared lost.

The Admiralty announced seven other crewmen were injured slightly.

The announcement said it was not possible to express any firm opinion on "chances of survival of those who had not got clear" before the Sidon sank in 35 feet of water.

Salvage and lifting vessels steamed toward the big naval base at Portland to try to lift the sub. Immediately after she sank, a mooring ship came alongside and threw a wire around her stern.

Those who jumped were picked up by rescue craft.

State's First Tent Theater Stages Musical

The premiere of Michigan's first musical tent theater—the in-the-round style of presenting famous musicals—will be staged in Farmington tonight, when Melody Circus opens its initial summer season with Jerome Kern's popular "Show Boat" for an 11-day engagement.

The summer musical has proved a top hit in numerous sections of the country. It is based on the successful entertainment-at-your-ease formula by St. John Terrell at Lambertville, N. J., seven years ago.

The grounds of beautiful and historic Botsford Inn at Grand River and Eight Mile Road, will be the settings of Melody Circus' huge tent. A feature will be the individual, elevated arm-chair seats.

All productions, featuring first-flight New York casts, will be directed by Bobby Jarvis.

Uranium Hunter Makes Rich Strike: Samples

WELLINGTON, Utah (AP) — A California prospector slammed on the brakes of his car as his scintillometer needle jumped to the "uranium - near" position. He jumped out, hurriedly staked a claim and drove away with a multi-million-dollar grin on his face.

Two men standing nearby grinned, too. They were standing in front of their store, where they had several hundred pounds of their own uranium samples.

Brazil Bursts With Business

Planes Are Opening Up the Wild West Frontier; Cities Burgeoning

WASHINGTON — Brazil, colossus among Latin American nations is bursting into an industrial future of opportunity.

Low-flying planes have been fired at — and hit — with Indian arrows in a Brazilian West as "wild" as that of the young United States, the National Geographic reports. The air has become a modern pony express route.

New airports spawn new towns so far in the interior that people become familiar with planes without ever having seen a railroad train. As the inland push has opened new farms and mines, the country's airports have doubled in number in five years.

Brazil's burgeoning cities mirror its prosperity. The annual coffee crop accounts for more than half of the world's total. The Territory of Amapa in the north recently reported large discoveries of manganese, essential to steelmaking, as well as chromium and iron.

Latin America's largest steel center has been built at Volta Redonda, 60 miles from Rio de Janeiro, to use the country's high-grade iron deposits. At capacity the mills can produce 600,000 tons of rolled steel a year.

Brazil's textile industry supplies nearly all her needs. New business and factories are springing up with as much zeal as Rio's Cariocas give to their carefree pre-Lenten carnival or Brazil. Sao Paulo mushrooms at the rate of 35 new buildings a day; Rio completes 16 each 24 hours.

Despite westward pioneering, three-fourths of Brazil's 57,098,000 people still live within 100 miles of the coast.

Rio de Janeiro, "River of January," or simply the City Marvelous — Cidade Maravilhosa — to its 2,650,000 Cariocas, has become a tangle of factories and assembly plants, a distribution center and transportation terminal, as well as capital and cultural leader.

Below the bare-rock exclamation point of Sugar Loaf, 5,000 ships and 70,000 planes now land at and leave Rio annually.

Modern tower apartments line the Atlantic along Copacabana in almost solid phalanx. Yet on the curving beach beneath them fishermen still hand-haul their heavy nets, and black voodoo priestesses in flowing white robes walk to the ocean's edge each New Year's Eve to cast flowers upon the waves.

Spray Dispensers Gaining Popularity

CHICAGO (AP)—Spray dispensers which were first used to spread insect killer in World War II jungle fighting have developed into a major U. S. business. About 185 million units were filled last year by 105 firms for a 190-million-dollar business.

More than 300 products from shave lather to paint remover are now packaged in spray cans under 500 brands. Included are hair oil, deodorants, suntan oil, hand lotion, perfumes.

George Barr, who heads one of the largest firms, says prospects are that you will be using even more spray cans in the future. Not only is the market for present products expanding, but more products are being spray-can-packaged, he reports.

Himself handicapped by a missing leg, Barr says the work of filling the cans is important in employment of handicapped people.

Reuther May Be 1960 Presidential Candidate

With the general automotive situation fairly well resolved, attention again drifts back to the presidential candidates in the ensuing election.

One of the interesting corollaries of the current bargaining is the emergence of WALTER REUTHER as a presidential possibility on the Democratic side. No one envisions the fiery C.I.O. leader as a possibility in 1956, but he is cautiously mentioned for the 1960 race, if the Democratic choice is beaten in 1956.

Of course, if the Donkey standard bearer in 1956 is elected, he will automatically qualify as an incumbent-candidate in 1960. Reuther's chances would fly straight out a very open window in this case, for 1964 is too far away for current prognostication. An entirely new set of boys may have crossed the horizon by that time and taken charge. Kings and king makers are often ephemeral.

It looks as though President DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER were a cinch to head the Republican ticket in 1956. Also, it looks as though he would be a very hard man to beat.

Yes, very.

Hence, he should knock off the Democratic nominee, leaving the way open for Reuther in 1960 if that's the way the wind blows.

One political figure asserted that if this happened and if REUTHER were elected in 1960, it would mean the end of the Democratic party. He felt that REUTHER's union would assume the role of the current Democratic organization. Whether this was wishful thinking or fear, deponent sayeth not.

As time passes, the pointer is definitely centering more and more on EISENHOWER as far as the Republicans are concerned. Hardly anyone else has dared lift his head and declare himself a candidate. Mrs. EISENHOWER's health seems to be the only obstacle that could prevent the President from running again.

These are interesting days.

As someone said: "These are the most exciting times to have lived in all world history."

Crop Surpluses Mounting

So far there has been no indication that many farmers have taken seriously the argument of those politicians who want to return to rigid high parity price supports.

But just in case there are some who might be deceived by this kind of propaganda, it is timely to take another look at the crop surplus record. As the just released figures for April 30 now show, the taxpayers' stake in the farm crop surpluses is continuing to grow. In fact during the last year the value has increased by $1.2 billion to $7.3 billion.

Of this huge total $2.7 billion represents outstanding crop loans. The rest represents actual surpluses owned and being stored by the Government. These include 889,000,000 bushels of wheat, 603,000,000 bushels of corn, 1,700,000 bales of cotton and 329,000,000 pounds of butter.

One need not be a professional economist to realise that these stored commodities exert a heavy downward pressure on farm crop prices. To argue that we should return to the system that produced these surpluses without giving flexible supports a fair trial, is just plain economic nonsense.

Refugee Act's Rescuer

PIERCE J. GERETY, a former newspaper reporter, not only holds one of the Nation's toughest jobs but is fully aware of that fact.

Until he was appointed administrator of the 1953 law, GERETY was general counsel of the Civil Service Commission. Now 41 years old, this second of nine brothers studied law at night while covering a news beat for the Bridgeport (Conn.) Post. Later he joined the law firm once headed by the late WENDELL WILKIE.

His big task is to make certain that the provisions of the law are carried out. In other words he is charged with arranging admissions of 214,000 refugees and relatives by the end of 1956.

GERETY is anxious to have the act made more workable. To that end he says he will plug for prompt Congressional approval of the 10 amendments suggested by President EISENHOWER.

But failure of the lawmakers to act on the President's recommendations won't discourage the new administrator. Regardless of what happens, he said he will do everything he can to make the law work.

---

You may be certain now that spring has definitely arrived. Arguments over whether or not women should wear shorts in public are busting out all over.

Local Boys' Club Members Learning and Doing Things

Keep your head: What you should do in an argument, even if it does make you labor under a handicap.

We like that job of manhood building being done at

Boys' Club of Pontiac, Inc.

whose facilities are in use by 1,400 boys. A typical example, picked out by

William V. (Bill) Coulacos,

Delbert Zimmer,

of 219 Willard St. He did all of the press feeding by hand on a booklet just issued by the club, amounting to 40,000 impressions. This profusely illustrated booklet was made up and entirely put out by the boys themselves, as the club has no instructor in that line at the present time. It is a fine example of the printer's art.

DELBERT

A former Pontiac resident,

Morrison Osborne,

here from his home in Detroit for the City Hall dedication, said, "It's magnificent, but the court house should have been combined with it."

In answer to several inquiries, I find that the first concerted observance of

was in 1910 at Spokane, Wash., where it was the idea of

of that city. It did not come into general observance until comparatively recent years.

of Shannon Free Airport, Clare County, Ireland, who are vacationing here. After a perusal of the names on the tombstones in the cemetery at St. Patrick's chapel on Union Lake Road, they feel that our early settlers also noticed a resemblance.

That pioneer of square dancing in Oakland County,

Groveland Grange Hall,

is to resume its festivities in that line after a short suspension on account of illness in the orchestra. It has been an unceasing exponent of this manner of tripping the light fantastic for well over a century.

Supervisor of Troy Township and Chairman of that new city's charter commission, facetiously remarks that Pontiac is surely a highly prized "suburb."

Norman R. Barnard

As a sequel to our story about sassafras tea, several mail and phone comments have been received. They generally are along the line of that from of Drayton Plains; who tells of its beneficial effects and terrible taste. She wonders if its method of curing anything isn't worse than what ails you.

David Lawrence Says:

Soviet Must Show Hand at Big Four Conference

NEW YORK—This is the beginning of the greatest exploration that diplomacy has experienced in our times. With every earnestness and sincerity the foreign secretaries of Great Britain, France and the United States are seeking a way to peace.

In a few days, at San Francisco, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov will join the conversations which are to pave the way for the big meeting "at the summit."

But unless there is something tangible forthcoming at the four-power conference of the foreign ministers it is likely that the session to be participated in later by President Eisenhower, Marshal Bulganin of Soviet Russia, Premier Faure of France and Prime Minister Eden of Great Britain will be only a gesture of outward friendship without any real progress toward peace.

There is no secret about what the three Western governments want. They want a secure peace and not a piece of paper with lofty language. To get a secure peace, there must be an end to war. This means there must be an end to the "cold war."

GLOBAL 'COLD WAR'

The "cold war" is world-wide. The Soviet regime uses international communism to penetrate the territories of other countries and seeks the overthrow of governments as well as institutions. There can be no trust—no feeling of safety—while international communism is unrestrained.

Back in 1933 the Soviet government gave its solemn pledge to the United States government that it would refrain from imposing international communism within our borders. This promise has been repeatedly violated. Recognition was extended on the basis of these Soviet pledges. America is back to the same fundamentals today.

Since 1945 Communist imperialism has spread its authority over many hundreds of millions of people and, although ten years have elapsed since hostilities ceased on the western front, the Soviet has not been willing to declare the state of war at an end.

Instead, small countries like Poland and Czechoslovakia which were promised their independence have been converted into Soviet colonies. Communist colonialism has robbed the people of their freedom and given them puppet governments controlled from Moscow with an elaborate military apparatus.

UNDEFENDED STATES

The press dispatches from Moscow say the Soviet government doesn't want to talk about the status of the satellite states and isn't anxious to discuss the problem of a reunified Germany. But how can there be a secure peace if there is a belt of undefended states across eastern Europe through which the Red armies can march at any moment and threaten the peace of the Western countries?

These questions can be resolved without much trouble if the Soviet government really means to make peace in Europe. But if it's just a game—a maneuver to retain military control while at the same time offering to "relax tension"—then the attitude of the Soviet government will become transparently clear after a few exchanges of views.

In the past Molotov has usually been unwilling to make any substantial concessions on anything. He expects the other side to trade with him but he offers only a few crumbs—like the release of prisoners who ought never to have been kept in captivity so long anyway.

The eyes of the world are fixed on the forthcoming conferences with the Soviet and judging by the preparations which have been made thus far the United States, Great Britain and France are not going to adopt either a belligerent or a craven attitude but will lay the facts on the table. Those facts tell the story of why there is a "cold war."

OLD STORY

It's a simple story and an old one—the thirst for power by autocracy. This time it is tied into a fanatical ideology with a conspiracy that reaches around the globe. The Soviets can end the cold war because they started it. They know what is involved. And the whole world knows it too.

The Communists are on the spot, for they have claimed they want peace. They now have a chance to demonstrate their intentions by concrete evidence of a desire to withdraw their forces and their agents back to Soviet Russia and let the rest of the world alone.

Only then will peace be secure.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Therefore thus said the Lord God, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation: he that believeth shall not make haste.—Isaiah 28:16.

These fair stores remind us that ere long it will be our privilege to worship God in a place of greater beauty and dignity than has thus far been our lot.—S. C. Edsall.

Doubts That So-Called Wildcat Strikes Were Unauthorized by Union Officials

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature

The public report to the effect that the strike which occurred at Pontiac Motor on Monday was "wildcat and unauthorized" was not true.

The Union took a strike vote. In the last meeting with management in the wee hours of Monday morning (June 13, 1955), the Union rejected management's last offer for a settlement of the issues. That meeting was attended by an International Union representative (UAW-CIO), the president of Pontiac Motor Local Union No. 653, and the chairman of the Union Shop committee.

Pickets appeared at the gates of Pontiac Motor with strike placards one hour later.

Wildcat-unauthorized strike?

My contribution to this ill-advised action by union representatives was $21.52 in lost wages.

Reflective

Editor's Note: Charles S. Currie, president of Pontiac local UAW, said the Pontiac local had authority from its members to strike, but that sanction would be needed from the union's international headquarters.

Mrs. D. Weston Praises Honesty of City Woman

It is a pleasure to bring to your attention a recent happening which shows that there are honest people around. I had lost my billfold containing a large sum of money and valuable papers in downtown Pontiac. After retracing my steps and with the help of store employes searching, I still could not find it.

I returned home, but I had not been there a few minutes when a Mrs. Hamilton, who works in the Pontiac State Bank Building called to say she had found my billfold. She not only returned my billfold but would not accept any reward.

Hal Boyle Says:

Marguerite Piazza Hopes to Enjoy 150 Lively Years

NEW YORK (AP)—Many people may wonder why science is trying to find a way to prolong the average life span to 150 years—but not Marguerite Piazza.

"The greatest fear I have is that I won't live long enough," said the young singer who turned from opera to become one of America's top supper club entertainers.

"There are so many things to do, and so little time to do them in. I'd like to live 150 years—and die traveling and still having fun."

Miss Piazza, who was named after a front porch and certainly presents a fine-looking facade, has a number of good reasons for wanting to live 150 years. She is happily married to a successful snuff merchant, she has three handsome children—and she earns up to $20,000 a week. Why not live forever?

There was many a lifted eyebrow when Miss Pazza, after a couple of seasons with the Metropolitan Opera, turned to a night club act in which she sang everything from Puccini to jazz numbers.

The eyebrows went even higher when, in the middle of her act, Miss Piazza changed her costumes right on the floor, behind the provocative barrier of a portable dressing screen.

Such antics by a typical overstuffed operatic star of the past would be as painful to watch as an elephant trying to skip rope. But not in the case of Miss Piazza, who has a panther grace and beauty.

She proved so popular with the sophisticated patrons of the Hotel Pierre's Cotillion Room the management presented her with a gold key to her suite.

Miss Piazza says the change in style has been good for her personally as well as financially.

"It has given me more freedom," she said. "They are always telling an opera singer, 'Oh, you can't do that—it isn't dignified.'

"But many people are afraid to enjoy themselves because of conventions that are really meaningless. Why should anyone say a song is boring, merely because it is either jazz or operatic?

"Any song that moves you to joy or tears has greatness. Each thing in life should be enjoyed for what it is.

"But so many people had seen me only wearing crinoline and wigs they were getting the idea that I was old and fat."

Miss Piazza very definitely is neither. She is slender, dark-haired, black-eyed, and has a complexion like a freshly plucked rose petal.

A singer and dancer since the age of 2, she came here from New Orleans to carve out a musical career. She was at first so lonely and shy she was unable to force herself to call on producers to seek a job. Her mother, a determined lady, then arrived and took her daughter in hand.

Miss Piazza won star status after her first audition—has been a star ever since. Now she'd like to act in a Broadway play, have her own TV program, try the movies. But she has no wish to go back permanently to the limitations of pure opera.

"It doesn't offer you either the scope or the money," she said frankly.

Between engagements she flies to her home in Memphis, Her husband, William Condon, a vice president of the American Snuff Co., often flies to meet her on weekends when she is on tour.

Miss Piazza is so cheerfully happy in her success I asked her if she could sum up her philosophy.

"The most important thing is to have happiness in your heart," she replied. "But you can't have happiness unless you have peace, and you can't have peace unless you have harmony in your home.

"I do have that, and I feel it is the most wonderful thing in the world. So I'm not fighting anyone."

Smiles

There is many a beau who doesn't know it, but he's playing second fiddle.

It depends on how many there are in the family how many vacation spots will satisfy everybody.

Soft-Hearted Landlady Lets Roomers Depart Without Paying Up Their Rent

Beware lest you develop the habit of letting people get something for nothing. Soon they will bite the hand that feeds them and verbally knife you in the back. So don't even put your own children on the "allowance" plan or make a remittance man out of your college son. Let them earn their money. Otherwise, they will paint you as a foe, as Ethel explains below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-358: Ethel R., aged 27, is a young Chicago housewife.

"Dr. Crane, I was interested in your case earlier this week about the physician who canceled a $500 medical bill to a poor family and then found that they patronized a rival doctor when the husband got a job," she began.

"Your explanation finally explained something I had puzzled over. For my husband and I live with a kindly old lady who has a large home that is rented out for rooms and small kitchenette apartments.

"This landlady of ours is really a generous person but she has little business sense, so she is going bankrupt.

"For example, she will listen to the sob stories of her tenants and let them go along for weeks and sometimes even for six months without making them pay their rent.

"Then they leave her with as much as a half year's rent unpaid. One of those who cheated her out of several months' rent, tried to justify his beavior by saying she never furnished him enough towels and other linens.

"I suppose this was his attempt to depict her as an enemy so he could then free himself from any sense of obligation, wasn't it?"

SUBCONSCIOUS STRATEGY

Yes, a person feels like a hypocrite or cheap skate if he imposes on a friend too long.

So his pride demands that he either square accounts by paying up, which may equire struggle and rigid economies to do so, and which is thus hard work.

Or he may indulge in the devious subconscious strategy of painting his former benefactor as an enemy.

That's why his tenant used the argument that he didn't owe his kindly landlady anything because she had mistreated him by failing to furnish adequate towels and linens.

By thus depicting her as an enemy, he freed his ego from that deflating sense of prolonged and unrequited obligation to her.

ONLY HUMAN

For it is a human characteristic that we don't feel belittled when we rob a foe or best an enemy.

Even the American Indians lauded the fact that their braves would steal ponies from enemy tribes, though they would punish them severely for robbing a fellow tribesman.

All through history, therefore, it has been a cause for boasting when you defeat an enemy. And you feel no embarrassing sense of obligation when you get something from a foe.

So millions of Americans try to appease their consciences by manufacturing reasons why their former benefactors actually were enemies, after all.

For when they can convince themselves that the former supposed friend was not a real friend at all, then they feel no guilt about ducking out with an unpaid board bill of $50 or even an unpaid rent bill for $500.

The best way to prevent this subconscious trickery, is to make people pay their way. Operate on a "cash & carry" basis.

POOR PSYCHOLOGY

Don't indulge people until it becomes a habit. Oh, it is OK to give an occasional gift, as on birthdays and Christmas, but don't even put your own children on the "allowance" plan. Instead, let them earn their own spending money.

For the dangerous psychology of the dole soon develops in people who are chronically indulged with free medicine or free food or Marshall Plan funds.

They will bite the hand that feeds them and knife you behind your back, at least verbally, when you finally curtail your former habitual generosity."

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Dr. Brady Says:

'I'd Consult an Osteopath If My Back Troubled Me'

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

Nearly fifty years ago Dr. Joel Goldthwait published the first description of strain of the sacro-iliac joint (JAMA, 8-31-'07).

Until Dr. Goldthwait illuminated the subject the medical profession had regarded the joint or junction between the sacrum or keystone at the base of the spine and the ilium or flank of the hip bone on either side as fixed and immovable and therefore not subject to strain, sprain, relaxation or partial dislocation (subluxation) as are other joints.

Dr. Goldthwait said strain or relaxation of the sacro-iliac junction or joint caused pain at the seat of trouble or pain refered down the leg, even to the foot. This pain is worse at night or whenever the patient is recumbent, but is relieved by upright posture. Among other remedial measures he suggested was this:

"Sometimes the ilium has become slightly displaced on the sacrum—a slipping forward of the sacrum"—or slipping backward of the ilium, one might say.

TABLE TREATMENT

"In such cases replacement must be tried by hyperextension of the spine. The patient lies with chest and shoulders on one table, thighs and legs on another, face downward, thus allowing the body to hang, tending to pull the sacrum forward on the ilium."

A plaster-of-Paris jacket, a pelvic belt or strapping with adhesive plaster, to support the joint in corrected position is then applied.

Although Dr. Goldthwait did not mention it, and few orthopedic surgeons today do, it seems to me that Goldthwait had the osteopaths in mind when he spoke of "slipping" — for they were diagnosing and treating "slipped innominate" (the innominate if the haunch, pelvic or hip bone) before even Goldthwait recognized the trouble.

It is characteristic of the spirit of medicine that the medical authorities discussing sacroiliac sprain, strain, relaxation or subluxation today not only pretend they never heard of Goldthwait but they reveal their petty prejudice in such language as this:

MECHANICS

"Unless the medical profession wakes up to the fact that our bodies are built on mechanical principles and that many things that we have groped in the dark about are due to a mechanical fault of one kind or another, we are going to allow those who are little better prepared to practice medicine than mechanics."

The precious pair who uttered that banality reproved the profession for failure to recognize a mechanical fault and at the same time continued braying at those in the profession, the healing profession, who do recognize and correct mechanical faults — the osteopaths, I mean.

To the best of my knowledge there's nothing a licensed M. D. (Doctor of Medicine) can do or should do that a licensed D. O. can't do or shouldn't do, nothing of any particular importance.

When it comes to the treatment of sprain, strain or "crick" in the back or backache or low back pain, if it were my back I'd consult a good osteopath first.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

City Manager Birthplace Is Also Proud of Mayor

STAUNTON, Va. (AP) — This city, which claims to have given birth to the city manager form of government, is also proud of its mayor, William A. Grubert.

Mayor Grubert, now 85, has been mayor since 1943, a member of the city council since 1932 and the only living man who had a hand in the formation of the city manager form. He was president of the Board of Alderman from 1906 to 1908 and it was on January 13, 1908, that the city manager program was adopted.

4 Traffic Police Solve Case of 'Injured' Woman

DENVER (AP)—Four traffic patrolmen were assigned to an accident. They found an unconscious woman in the back seat of a car, where witnesses had placed her.

One witness insisted the woman had been struck by the car; another said she was the victim of an assault; hospital attaches believed she might be suffering from shock. After all the confusion police found she merely was drunk.

Whallops Wrong Boy; Irked Assailant Fined

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Late one night a car drove by and someone yelled out of the window, asking pedestrain Eddie Smith, 19, if he wanted to fight. The next day, Smith located Herb Worthington, another 19-year-older, and inflicted the following damage: Cut lower lip, requiring five stiches to close, and a broken partial dental plate.

Smith readily admitted a charge of assault and was fined $25 and costs and given a suspended 10-day jail sentence. He also had to pay Worthington's medical and dental expenses. To top it off, Smith learned it wasn't Worthington at all who asked about a fight in the first place.

Adenauer Asks Armament Cuts

Says U.S. Should Prod Russians for Agreement on Weapons Controls

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany asked the United States today to prod Russia again for an agreement on controlled arms reduction.

"The fate of this world and of peace" rests in the hands of "the two great world powers, the United States and the Soviet Union," the 79-year-old German leader said in a speech prepared for Harvard University commencement exercises.

"Unless these two great powers agree on an important step in the direction of controlled disarmament," he said, "the present state of conflicts short of a major war will continue . . ."

President Eisenhower is scheduled to meet at Geneva July 18 with the Premiers of Russia, Britain and France. Adenauer has just concluded talks in Washington with Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles and others.

Adenauer said:

"I would be especially gratified if the United States would take the initiative in this matter and discuss this question with Soviet Russia. The United States is the strongest nation on earth; Soviet Russia fears her and her only, and this fear certainly influences Soviet policy to a considerable degree.

"By taking the initiative in this, the United States would carry forward the policy announced by President Eisenhower in his address in April 1953: that is, controlled disarmament and the use of some of the means thus saved for the benefit of underdeveloped nations."

Adenauer emphasized that conferences on the subject "have up to now achieved no real success."

In the past, the United States and its allies have insisted that any disarmament plan must be accompanied by an effective system for inspection. The Soviets long shied away from such inspection. However, last month the Soviet Union proposed a new plan providing for a control organ with some inspection rights. Western reaction was that this proposal represented a concession by Russia but that it still left much area for disagreement.

3 Men Launch Leukemia Fund

Project Triggered by Death of Teenage Boy Four Years Ago

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP)—An all-out fight against fatal leukemia and other mysteries of the blood—triggered by the death of a teen-age boy—is gaining force here under the leadership of three public-spirited men.

While the research and training program is aimed directly at finding the cause and cure of blood cancer, it is expected also to throw some light on the government's probe of the effects of atomic radiation.

The three spearheading the attack—Hyman J. Mandell, Harold S. Rand and J. Mallory Loos—are currently incorporating the country's first National Leukemia Foundation. Funds raised by the foundation will be granted to medical centers for unrestricted research of blood abnormalities.

The impetus for this fight traces back four years to the leukemia death of Mandell's nephew, David S. Smalline.

Mandell went to Dr. Lawrence E. Young, associate professor of medicine and director of the University of Rochester's blood research. Mandell asked why David died.

Leukemia, the doctor explained, is a malignant disease of the white blood cells which causes widespread disturbance in the blood and blood-forming tissues of the body.

At present, the disease causes more than 12,000 deaths in the United States each year and its incidence is increasing about 10 per cent annually. It is the leading cause of death in children between 2 and 5 years of age.

Mandell, an energetic and bustling pharmacist, recruited Rand and Loos to help him organize a local drive for research funds. Then he urged his international pharmaceutical fraternity, Rho Pi Phi, to adopt the leukemia fight as its public service project.

The drive raised $27,000 in a one-night canvass and was sufficiently encouraging for the trio to aim at an annual nationwide campaign. With the help of Rho Pi Phi's 8,000 members in 40 U. S. and Canadian cities the men plan similar canvasses across the continent.

Dr. Young believes the program, with its wide scope, will shed light on investigations of other diseases as well as leukemia. He noted, also, that answers discovered through the program will be shared with government scientists working on radiation.

Strike Eases in Singapore

Government Trucks Take Children to School; No General Walkout Seen

SINGAPORE (AP) — The strike situation eased in this great Far Eastern port today as 2,000 taxicabs returned to the streets and the government marshaled trucks to take children to school.

A government spokesman described the situation as "much better" in the British crown colony, adding that "nowhere near a general strike has materialized."

Thousands of trishawmen—operators of bicycle pedicabs—joined with taxi drivers in defying strikers' threats which for the past two days had kept them off the streets. The city's 6,000 busline employes have been out since Sunday.

Organized labor opposition to the strike was developing. The powerful Trade Union Federation of 25,000 workers and the Singapore Trade Union Congress, embracing 30 organizations, condemned the continuing walkouts as "completely unwarranted."

Chiefs of other unions, many of them Communist-dominated, had called the "general" strike for Monday to demand the release of six labor leaders jailed by the government Sunday under emergency regulations.

The strike leaders had predicted 70,000 of the colony's 150,000-man labor force would answer their call but the number has remained at about 17,000.

Girl and Her Mother Are Both Sophomores

BIRD CITY, Kan. (AP)—Mrs. Ernest Bressler and her 15-year-old daughter are both sophomores in high school. Mrs. Bressler's mother's death left her with the job of keeping house for her father and brother, cutting short her girlhood school days.

Now she's a student again — as well as a member of the board of the Kansas Parent-Teacher Assn. Her three children and her husband — who owns a couple of farms and two implement firms—are enthusiastic boosters in her return to school.

Offers Law to Fine Parking Spot Usurpers

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Sen. John Shuford introduced a bill in the General Assembly which would impose a $10 fine of motorists who park in private parking lots clearly marked with the name of the person to whom the space is leased.

The senator was peeved because he frequently found his space taken in the Capitol lot.

New Painless Method Collects More Fines

BURLINGTON, Wis. (UP)— The city of Burlington has found an almost painless method of collecting fines for overtime parking.

Small metal boxes are attached to the parking meters, and motorist who have been tagged for parking violations can put the required amount of money in an envelope attached to the ticket and drop it in the box.

Police Chief Roy McCourt said the number of fines paid has increased under he new system since it is so much easier to do now. Under the old system, the violator had the option of going to the police station to pay the fine or mailing it in.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Quadruplets were born to a New Haven woman here yesterday. Two of them died last night.

One died early today.

The four, all boys, were two months premature. They weighed about two pounds each. The two weaker ones were placed in an air lock apparatus designed to aid breathing. These two died, seven hours after birth.

Kenneth G. Barnes, 32, the father, is an aircraft worker. Told of the deaths, he commented: "It was God's will."

The Barnes have another child, Dominic, 2.

$50,000 Homes Won't Face Back of Betters

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Just because they're poor folks, relatively speaking only, owners of $50,000 homes don't have to face the back doors of $100,000 homes here.

That was decided by the city planning commission which turned down a developer Hal Anderson's proposal to build a group of $100,000 homes fronting away from the $50,000 homes.

His promise to spend $25,000 beautifying each back yard with a swimming pool, patio and sunken garden left the commission unmoved.

Uses Unpaid Tickets for Blotting Lipstick

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—Patrolman Calvin Hutchinson tagged a car for overtime parking, then happened to look in the open dashboard compartment. There he saw a stack of old, unpaid traffic tickets. Each was smudged with red. They had been used to blot a lady's lipstick.

Hutchinson waited for the woman to appear, then escorted her to police headquarters. She forked over $14 for the old tickets, plus 25 cents for the fresh one.

The department charges a maximum $1 for old tickets.

Patients Now Taking Own Blood Pressure

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — The do-it-yourself fad has invaded a field formerly dominated by experts. Outpatients at St. Michael's Hospital are now reading their own blood pressure. To keep their own records, hypertension patients are provided charts, stethoscopes and spygmomanometers.

Wants National Rose Garden

Club Prods Congress for 27-Acre Tract Near Monuments

WASHINGTON (UP) — A Washington garden club wants Congress to establish a 27-acre national rose garden here comparable in splendor to the capital's famed cherry blossoms.

The Potomac Rose Society proposes that the garen encircle the famous reflecting pool in Potomac Park between the Lincoln and Washington monuments.

There would be display areas for the yearly first award and all American rose selections, another for the prima donnas of the rose world and also a "glamor garden" featuring beautiful varieties of roses.

More plants would line the reflecting pool. Outside the display area would be stately gardens of shrub and old-fashioned roses.

There is one thorny problem to be removed before this rosy vision can become a reality, however — much of the land is now occupied by "temporary" government buildings.

These squat, gray "tempos" sprang up during World War II in areas which always had been earmarked for lawn and landscaping. The rose-lovers insist that now is the time to prune out the unsightly buildings.

Albert E. West, chairman of the society's West Potomac committee, said:

"We should get rid of the ugly 'tempos.' It's a shame we don't have a national rose garden to compare with those in Europe."

The committee held a symbolic ceremony in West Potomac Park Dec. 4 to plant a "Golden Masterpiece," a new hybrid tearose.

"This was a token planting," West said. "We have to be the salesmen for the garden."

The capital has been without a national rose garden since 1949. The old Potomac rose garden had to give way to a new bridge spanning the Potomac River.

For nine years, National Capital Parks has had plans for the garden as soon as the "tempos" are uprooted. But first, Congress must approtriate the funds and secure office facilities for the temporary buildings' present occupants.

Those Idle Hands

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — Arfield Johnson's court hearing on charges of possessing moonshine whisky was postponed from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. At 11 a.m., police picked Johnson up with 33 half-gallon jars of moonshine.

No Slam This Week

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — A milkman found this note in an empty bottle on his route: "Will you please be kind this week and not slam front door? Am on vacation and do not have to rise at 7 a.m. You can begin slamming it again next week as I have to get up anyhow. Thanks."

It costs the U. S. about $70,000 to train each military jet pilot.

Automatically Figured

COLUMBIA, S. C. (UP)—Salesman R. E. Ray got some accurate figuring done this time without his automatic money counting machine. Returning to his truck after a snack, he found that someone had stolen the instrument. The cost, automatically set without benefit of the machine: $300.

Most dangerous day of the week to drive is on Saturday.

Mrs. Ralph Potter, the animal's owner, said Marilyn spent most of her time swinging from tree to tree in the Pottawatomie Bayou. She was spotted numerous times but all efforts to get her to come out of the woods failed until she left her hideaway for a slice of bread and was captured.

Patent Office 165 Years Old

Nation's Most Famous Inventors Have Names Recorded There

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States patent law was 165 years old in April.

The builder of a better mouse trap has had the right to protect his invention by contract with the government since April 10, 1790. His ownership lasts 17 years, after which the patent becomes public property.

U. S. Patent No. 1, signed by George Washington, went to Samuel Hopkins of Vermont for a method of "making pot and pearl ashes."

Since then, the patent roll has listed the names of many men of genius — Eli Whitney, cotton gin; Cyrus McCormick, the reaper; Alexander Graham Bell, the telephone; Samuel F. B. Morse's "telegraph signs"; Charles Goodyear vulcanized rubber; Thomas Edison with the record of 1,100 patents; the Wright brothers for powered flight.

It took 121 years to reach patent No. 1,000,000, issued in 1911. Patent No. 2,000,000 arrived in 1935. Now each year sees about 40,000 additional patents.

The patent system, called by Lincoln "the fuel of interest to the fire of genius," has produced more real wealth than all the gold mines on earth, the National Geographic Society says.

Lincoln was once asked what he thought the first invention was. He is reported to have replied: "Man's first discovery was the fact that he had no clothes—whereupon he invented aprons."

Traffic Slowed Up by Motorized Lads

HAINES CITY, Fla. (UP) — The Schoolboy Safety Patrol has been motorized. The junior high school faces Highway 27, a busy traffic artery on which motorists try to make time. It was a dangerous situation.

Charles M. Conrad, the principal, had a talk with police officials. The upshot was that five safety patrol boys who own motorbikes or motorcycles were given the job of patroling the road in the vicinity of the school.

They make no arrests, but when a motorist whizzes along at dangerous speed, they ride beside him and signal him to slow down. They take posts at intersections to remind motorists they're in a school zone.

Traffic which formerly averaged 40 miles an hour through the zone now moves at 20 miles an hour.

OUR BIRD FRIENDS—4

The Kingfisher

What is the most common bird around here? Ask your friends and parents and teachers and you probably will get a lot of different answers.

A big noisy bird like the crow may seem much more common than it is, while a small, shy woodland bird like the red-eyed vireo may actually be very common indeed.

The kingfisher pictured here is not very common but it is found in nearly every part of the country. That can be said of only a few birds.

As his name indicates, he fishes for a living. The way he does this is to hover in the air over the water until he sees a little fish in the right position. Then he dives in head first and grabs the fish with that big bill of his.

Mr. Kingfisher, shown farthest away from us, has a slate colored head, bill, wings, tail and collar around his throat. Beneath the collar is a white area, and then a reddish colored band across the breast and down the sides. The female, nearest us, also has grey head, wings and tail but lacks the reddish band. The patch on her shoulder is white.

Tomorrow: The Red headed Woodpecker.

Elephant Herds Face Extinction on Indian Island

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UP)—This island's elephant population has dwindled to about 900 and faces possible extinction.

The head of the Ceylon government wild life bureau, C. W. Nicholas, says there probably are not more than 25 "tuskers" in the jungles. These are mature elephants, with fine tusks, highly valued as sources of ivory.

Thousands of elephants once trumpeted their way around Ceylon. "But now," Nicholas says, "the meager total may be near the biological minimum below which breeding ceases and extinction follows."

Ceylonese elephants are easier to domesticate than African elephants. This trait started them on the way out. They proved valuable for plowing, road construction jobs, transportation and jungle clearing. They also made ideal participants for parades and religious ceremonies.

The Dutch, who conquered Ceylon more than 200 years ago, started a valuable export trade in elephants, shipping the animals off for heavy work. Tuskers were killed for their ivory.

Today the spread of civilization is raising a new threat. Peasants have taken to shooting the animals in an effort to protect rice and other crops.

MUSKEGON (UP) — Patrolman Donald Robbins was just about to wave Harry Bacon's car through a safety inspection. It had passed everything. But Robbins decided to look inside.

Futuristic Train to Be Economical

GM Playing Good Samaritan to Nation's Railroads

NEW YORK (UP)—General Motors Corp., whose cars, buses and airplane engines helped bring on the railroad industry's $700,000,000 hangover, now is playing the role of the "good samaritan."

It has offered the railroads a much-needed aspirin in the form of a low-cost, revolutionary passenger train designed to carry the passenger end of their business out of the red.

GM, the world's largest automaker, announced last week it had designed and was building an experimental 10-car train capable of carrying 400 persons at sustained speeds of 100 miles an hour or more.

The futuristic train, a prototype of those which soon will be whisking you between cities, will cost less than $1,000 per seat, GM says. Present passenger coaches cost anywhere from $2,000 to $3,000 per seat.

DEBUT THIS SUMMER

GM, whose Electro-Motive Division is a leading builder of diesel locomotives, hopes to unveil its "dream train" this summer. It will be available to the railroads for test runs later in the year.

Armed with passenger trains capable of "highballing" along at speeds averaging close to 100 miles per hour or more, railroad men feel sure they can recapture a big chunk of business lost in recent years to the automobile, bus and airplane.

At that speed, with rain-or-shine schedules into downtown stations, industry officials say they will be back in the competitive race. The lightweight trains will be cheaper to build, operate and maintain, they add.

The combination, it is held, should help the railroads sharply reduce or eliminate their staggering losses from passenger operations, now running around $700,000,000 a year.

These fast, revolutionary trains of tomorrow will slash the running time between cities as much as 50 per cent or more in some cases, the experts note, and will enable the railroads to give the airlines stiff competition on runs up to 400 miles.

OTHERS IN MARKET

In addition to GM, three major railroad car builders also are building snake-like trains which will whip around turns at speeds unheard of today. They are the Budd Co. ACF Industries, and Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Co.

GM, incidentally, will not engage in the production of passenger trains. President Harlow H. Curtice says GM designed the ultra-modern train "as a service" to its railroad customers. GM, he adds, is primarily interested in building and selling its diesel locomotives.

Top railroad officials, however, have expressed keen interest in GM's train—sight unseen.

Outwardly the lightweight trains under construction will be similar in design—a series of short trailer units each riding piggyback on the unit ahead. Internally their construction resembles an airplane fuselage.

The cars are much lower, lighter and shorter than present coaches. The low-center-of-gravity enables the trains to negotiate turns safely at very high speeds.

Some day, it is ventured, they may be made of laminated fiberglass plastic, instead of aluminum and steel as at present.

No Dull Boys There

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — George Baerreis of the Ford Motor Co. says industrial firms benefit "will out of proportion to the cost" in providing recreation for employes. Baerreis told a recreation workers' conference that more than 20,000 companies have recreation programs with over 24,000,000 employes participating.

About 9 per cent of U. S. children up to the age of 14 are orphans.

Body of Water Gets Name From Teacher

KINGSTON, R. I. (UP) — Sometimes a body of water by some other name smells sweeter.

At least, Steacy D. Hicks oceanography instructor at the University of Rhode Island, seems to think so.

Through Hicks' labors, a formerly unnamed body of water south of Narragansett Bay was dubbed Rhode Island Sound by the U. S. board of geographic names. Hicks conducted extensive surveys of the unchristened area and then held lengthy negotiations with the board.

Rhode Island Sound is sandwiched between Block Island Sound on the east and Buzzards Bay and Vineyard Sound on the west. Maps used to call it things like "approaches" and "offshore."

Abundant Sage Growth Gives Farmers Headache

LAKEVIEW, Ore. (AP)—Centuries ago the Arabs and Turks cultivated Mediterranean sage as a remedy for aches and pains. Today this same sage is giving Lake County farmers a headache.

The sage has taken over an estimated 200,000 acres of grass range land and is still spreading there as well as in other areas of Oregon, Washington and California.

Range experts say the sage can be killed by spraying with 2, 4-D.

Only Molotov, Opera House Unchanged

World Has Changed Since U.N. First Met

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The United Nations is 10 years old next week.

Viacheslav Molotov and the San Francisco Opera House are not much changed since the historic charter signing ceremony there on June 26, 1945.

But little else is the same.

The decade has seen a bewildering shift in the world's alliances and enmities. It has seen a multitude of changes of governments. It has witnessed the retirement, defeat, death and dishonor of men who played the opera house stage at the U.N.'s birth.

Molotov, now as then Russia's foreign minister, will be the only chief representative of the 1945 "Big Five"—United States, Russia, Britain, France and China—returning to San Francisco for next week's anniversary session.

President Eisenhower, who addressed the opening session Monday, had returned from Europe exactly 10 years ago Sunday to a tumultuous hero's welcome from 4,000,000 in the streets of New York. President Truman, who spoke to the new U. N. organization 10 years ago, is writing his memoirs in Independence, Mo.

HISS' ROLE RECALLED

Alger Hiss, the bright young man who served as secretary-general of the conference, has served a prison term for lying about turning government secrets over to the Reds. He is living quietly today in a small Manhattan apartment.

There was a hint at those first meetings 10 years ago of the struggles, disappointments and frustrations to come.

The poker-faced Molotov rose at the very first business session to object to U.S. Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius Jr. serving as conference president throughout.

Molotov demanded—he did not ask—that Russia, Britain and China alternate with the United States. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, now Britain's prime minister, took a conciliatory role and Molotov's demand was accepted. It was a minor token of massive battles to come.

MEMBERSHIP DISPUTES

There was argument then, too, about admitting Argentina and whether the Communist or London-exile government of Poland was entitled to a U.N. seat. That, too, foreshadowed the membership disputes still raging.

Stettinius, who headed the American delegation, is dead. His chief adviser, Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, is dead now, too. Others of his assistants were Harold Stassen, Sen. Tom Connally and John Foster Dulles, who leads the American delegation next Monday.

The French mission was led by Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, no longer in the government, and the Chinese by T. V. Soong who now lives quietly in New York.

The 1945 session lasted 63 days, from April 25 until June 26 when 50 member nations signed the U.N. Charter. It was a dull and dry session for the most part. The New York Times remarked on the lack of excitement or demonstration even at the opening meeting.

VETO POWER

But during those two months the delegates hammered out the document that stands as the United Nations "constitution." The most controversial issue of the whole conference was a veto power for the big five nations in matters involving peace and security.

Many of the little nations fought hard against the veto but they lost. Now there are many who wonder if they were not right all along.

In these 10 years the United Nations has assessed its members a total of $368,776,798 for operation of the headquarters in New York and offices in Geneva. Special agencies have cost additional sums.

The United States has paid more than one-third of the total but, even then the cost to the American taxpayer has amounted to less than nine cents per year for each man, woman and child.

Of course, it would be undiplomatic to mention the name of the distinguished American senator who, upon meeting the director general of UNESCO (the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural organization), exclaimed: "Ah, yes. UNESCO. A gallant little country! It deserves more aid."

TV Receiver Sales Jump Half Million

WASHINGTON (UP) — More than 7,000,000 new television receivers went into American homes in 1954, the Radio-Electronics-Television Manufacturers Association reported.

The 7,161,362 total represented an increase of nearly half a million over the 6,704,193 sets shipped in 1953.

New York led other states with 653,852 new receivers; California was second with 517,935.

The states with the lowest number of new TV sets were sparsely populated Wyoming with 8,088 and Nevada with 8,596.

In the territories, Hawaii added 10,263 while Alaska received 3,166.

In most so-called underdeveloped countries about 40 per cent of the population is under 15 years old.

Piggy Was Wiggly

MT. PLEASANT (UP)—A pig in a poke caused Charles P. Donnelly, 27, of Saginaw, a lot of trouble when it escaped from the bag in his car while he was driving along highway U.S. 27.

As Donnelly reached down to grab the poker, his car went out of control, jumped a curb, slammed into a sign post and crashed into a parked car in a used car lot, causing damage estimated at $500.

The U. S., corn crop tops three billion bushels a year.

Feet Grow Larger in Hawaiian Islands

HONOLULU (UP) — Chiropodist, shoe wholesalers and retailers agree that children in Hawaii have larger feet than those on the mainland because they often go around barefooted.

A shoe store manager said island youngsters' feet average about a size and a half larger than normal, especially in width. He said many take widths up to triple-E, and a few need size quadruple-E. Some can't even be fitted with children's shoes and must wear adult sizes.

Dr. L.N. Beers, a Honolulu chiropodist, disagrees with those who maintain it's healthy to go barefooted. It's all right to go without shoes on soft sand and grass, he said, but a hard surface breaks down the foot and makes it spread and splay until it "looks like a suitcase."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate yesterday confirmed President Eisenhower's nomination of John D. Hollister as administrator of the foreign economic aid program.

Hollister, Cincinnati lawyer and onetime law partner of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R-Ohio), will head the International Cooperation Administration. This new agency, part of the State Department, will take over the economic aid program after the Foreign Operations Administration goes out of business June 30.

Used Car Dealers Taking New Name

DETROIT (AP) — The National Used Car Dealers Assn. has become the National Independent Automobile Dealers Assn. Some industry sources suggested the change meant there will be a lot more new car selling by dealers not franchised by the car makers.

Some used car dealers claim that despite statements that new car bootlegging is on the way out many new cars still are available to them on a wholesale basis. In new car bootlegging a dealer with excessive stocks sells at wholesale prices to used car retailers in distant areas. Frequently the used car dealer then re-sells at prices below the prevailing figure in his area. This has resulted in loud protests from enfranchised dealers.

Of this, $284,376 was profit. An average of 25,000 automobiles a week parked in the garage. Retirement of bonds issued to finance the project will begin next year, he said.

Orchestra Going Strong on First Birthday

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Today is the first birthday of a young one whose clarion call can be heard 'round the world.

The noise, which usually starts precisely at 8:30 p.m., will originate tonight in Bangkok, Thailand. Repercussions will be felt tomorrow in—of all places—Carnegie Hall, New York City. No other 1-year-old (excepting utterly precocious prevaricators) can make this statement.

All similes aside, this is the birthday of the "Symphony of the Air," 92 men who make beautiful music together. These are the boys who for many years worked under the charmed baton of Arturo Toscanini and who decided, after the maestro retired, that they could not, would not, die. Or seek other jobs in less familiar orchestral surroundings.

"I would imagine that on this first anniversary they will have not only cake, but also prayers of thanks," said Martin Front, one of their representatives here in New York.

Being in Bangkok, they may even turn toward Mecca and give Mohammed a concert of thank yours for the handicaps they've overcome and the success they've achieved.

AMAZING GROUP

For nearly 100 men who were bemused and out of work a year ago, they are about the most amazing organization in modern music history.

It started on this day a year ago when a bass player in the group named Michael Krasnapolsky called a meeting in the cellar of his house, and at that meeting the men voted, unanimously, not to die.

Four months later, in Carnegie Hall, they presented the now-famed "conductor-less concert." It was excellent. Toscanini was gone, critics wrote, but his "ghost" was directing as expertly as ever.

Completely unfinanced, except by private contributions, the men went on to new concerts and successes and, when they left April 28 for a State Department-sponsored tour of Asia, they received the greatest ovation of all.

Government officials in Japan describe the tour as "the greatest thing America has done for Japan since the war." Critics throughout Asia have pulled out the most dramatic adjectives, and one in Japan described the orchestra's music—without bitterness—as possessing "dynamism, like bombs. But members of the audience forgot their nationalities," he wrote, "and racial differences. Their hearts all merged on the universal beauty of music."

In Manila, it was written: "No United States goodwill export, excepting dollars, ever made a bigger impression here."

WIVES TO CELEBRATE

Proud wives of the "Symphony of the Air" crew, who will not see their husbands again until July 3, when their 20,000-mile tour is through, will celebrate the first anniversary in Carnegie Hall tomorrow. They too will have cake, but the bigger feature will be the exchange of letters.

"Did you hear how they carved out the side of a mountain in Korea to build a shell for the boys to play in?" Mrs. Grace Mancini will say, showing off the letter from Johnny.

"Herb was scared about playing in Hiroshima," Mrs. Herbert Fuchs will probably point out, "but they got a packed house and tremendous reception. He says they somehow felt they ought to play their very best there—and they did."

"They start standing in line about 1 a.m., four and five abreast," Mrs. Joseph H. Kahn will report, "because they're starved for good music. And after a concert they don't leave—just sit there clapping and waving their hands."

UPLIFTED MORALES

And all the women will be able to report that all the men are coming home with the most fabulous gifts—and the most uplifted morales—in the musical world.

"If the old maestro (Toscanini) could see them now...." somebody is sure to comment.

He would be relieved, we predict, and whistling.

New Camera Takes Photos Inside Eye

COLUMBUS Ohio (UP) —An improved camera for taking pictures of the retina of the eye and thus making possible studies of diseases not connected with the eye, has been developed at Ohio State University.

The professors who developed the camera pointed out that the retina is the only area of the body in which arteries and veins can be directly observed while functioning. This makes it possible for doctors to look at the retina and diagnose not only eye diseases but ailments such as diabetes and high blood pressure.

The advantages of the new camera are that it has produced better color pictures of the retina than have been obtainable with other types of cameras.

Educator Takes Frequent Prizes Winning Contests

CLEVELAND (UP) — Prize contests aren't usually aimed at college faculty members, but John Stewart of Case Institute of Technology doesn't always go by the book.

Stewart, director of student activities, sends in coupons. He also ends limericks and writes sales slogans.

There have been many prizes in the 17 years since he wrote why malted milk made him happy. They have included: a radio-phonograph, two electric deep-fry units, a tape recording machine, all-expense vacation trip to Florida for himself and his wife, and a batch of cash returns. That's just a small part of the list.

"I spend a few hours Saturday evenings and Sundays scratching out contest blanks and tearing off box tops," Stewart said.

One of the contests resulted in a new taste thrill for the Stewart family. Stewart bought six boxes of a washing powder, tore off the box tops and dumped the powder into a kitchen receptacle. Mrs. Stewart used it in corn muffins.

Death Has 3 Lives

by Brett Halliday

Copyright 1955 by Brett Halliday

Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Lucy Hamilton, frightened by threats, does not tell Mike Shayne, her boss who is a private detective, that a wounded man named Jack Bristow, has taken refuge in her apartment. When police try to search the apartment, Mike resents the intrusion and forcibly ejects one of them. Then Lucy tell's Mike about the fugitive. Mike runs to call the police back.

IV

LUCY didn't lift her head until he returned. There were deep trenches in his gaunt cheeks, and his eyes were cold. He jerked his head in negation and said, "Too late. Sergeant Loftus and his crew have already gone." He strode past her to the bedroom door and turned the knob.

The door did not budge.

Shayne turned angrily and demanded, "Did you lock him in?"

"No," faltered Lucy. "There's a bolt on the inside. He must have closed it."

Shayne turned and thundered his fist against the door. When this brought no response, he shouted hoarsely, "Unlock the door before I break it down."

He paused and there was complete silence in the apartment. Shayne waited for no more than 10 seconds, then took one step back and crouched a trifle, drove his shoulder against the edge of the door.

Filimsy wood splintered under the impact and the door flew open. Lucy sat motionless on the divan, the back of her hand pressed tightly against her mouth when Shayne implacably stalked inside the dark bedroom. She realized now, that she didn't know whether Jack was armed or not.

She heard Shayne's heavy footfalls inside the bedroom.

There was nothing for the space of at least half a minute. Then the sound of Shayne's measured tread returning across the bedroom. His features were set in an expressionless mask and his voice was toneless when he re-entered the room.

"So, you really pulled a fast one, Lucy. He's gone. The window screen opening onto the fire escape is ripped open and I heard running footsteps in the alley below, but it was too dark to see anything. So we've sent a murderer out on the streets of Miami to kill again if he wants to just because I was fool enough to trust you.

LUCY HAMILTON sat frozen to the divan for a long moment while Shayne waited to be connected with the police. His back was toward her, shoulders squared and stiffly uncompromising.

"Hello," he barked into the phone. "Mike Shayne talking. Who's handling . . .?"

That was as far as he got. With strength and courage born of her despreate need, Lucy dropped to her haunches and seized the telephane cord with both hands yanked back with all her weight and jerked it loose from the box. She went sprawling on her back as the cord came free, and lay there looking up into Michael Shayne's face with an expression of horror at her own temerity, mingled with grim determination.

"You have to listen to me, Michael," she gasped.

Shayne looked down at her for a moment with an expression of icy detachment. He slowly replaced the disconnected receiver on its prongs and said wonderingly, "You're being stupid, Lucy. A little delay won't help him much."

"You're the one who's being stupid, Michael Shayne." Tears of rage and mortification ran down Lucy's cheeks. "Just because you're angry at me, you're acting like a college boy. You just said a little delay won't help much." Her voice rose sharply, "Good heavens, Michael, they'd get your license. Drive you out of business in Miami."

"Is my license more important than letting a killer excape?" His voice was remote and cold.

"It's not only you, Michael," she wailed. "They'll nail Chief Gentry to the cross also, because you used his name to send those men away."

She reached one hand up to him imploringly. "Jack Bristow is shot in the stomach and certainly can't get far from here. They had traced him here and must be searching nearby."

SHAYNE disregarded her outstretched hand. He turned on his heel without a word and went back to pick up his drink. Wearily, Lucy dragged herself to her feet and stood watching him, wondering what to say next, how to make him understand that she hadn't really meant to harbor a fugitive, that she had believed Jack when he protested his innocence, that, if she'd had the slighest idea he was involved in anything as serious as murder she certainly wouldn't have . . .

Murder! For the first time in the hetic series of events the word acturally impinged on her consciousness.

"He isn't of course," she cried out happily. "There's some mistake. Not Jack. A purse-snatching or burglary, maybe. But not . . . murder."

"This Jack," he said slowly, "Bristow, was it? How long was he with you, Lucy?"

"Not long. Not more than half an hour before you came."

"What did he tell you to get you to take him in?"

"That he was in trouble and needed time to stay free of the police to avoid being framed for something he hadn't done. I wasn't sure about his innocence at first when I thought it was something minor," she hurried on ingenuously, "but I know he'd never kill anybody. He just isn't the type."

Youngstown Feet Good

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Youngstown policemen have better feet than most people, a study by the Mahoning Valley Chiropody Society shows. It found 68 per cent had some kind of foot ailment, but added that 80 per cent of American adults have foot trouble. There's a smaller percentage of flat feet among policemen than in most American males, say the chiropodists.

Electricity is available to an estimated 98 per cent of all the people of Sweden.

RAPS DEM PLAN—Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education and welfare, is pictured above as she testified before the Senate Labor and Welfare Committee. Mrs. Hobby said a Democratic plan to provide free polio vaccine to all children might lead to "socialized medicine by the back door." She termed the plan "unnecessary and undesirable."

Chicken for Father's Day Good Bet on Lower Prices

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fix up a chicken dinner for Dad on Father's Day. Or tempt his palate with a roast of beef.

That's the advice food specialists are offering this week to budget-minded housewives. Chickens for broiling or frying (on the kitchen stove or the backyard barbecue) are probably the best buy you'll find in most U. S. food stores this weekend.

Turkeys are being offered at reduced prices in some cities, and one big food chain is featuring roast ducklings in its Midwest stores. And there's a nationwide promotion this week in behalf of Cape Cod cranberry sauce, at marked-down prices.

Beef specials include rib roast and top and bottom round. Sirloin steaks, however, are higher in price in most major cities.

Pork prices are still climbing—in some cities as much as 10 cents a pound. Prices of pork on the hoof are the highest since last September, and market analysts say they won't come down before July. Supplies—almost always on the short side in May and June—are tighter than usual this year. Much of the pork that would normally be available this month was sent to market during the fall and winter.

GREENS ABUNDANT

Garden-fresh vegetables are in abundant supply in most areas of the country. Outstanding buys include cabbage, and the ingredients of a crisp, hot-weather salad: lettuce, beets, cucumbers, radishes and green onions. Also plentiful and attractively priced are stringless beans, peppers peas and corn.

With Maine and Idaho potatoes out of season, there are plenty of top-quality spuds available from other areas. You can buy "long whites" and "round reds" grown in California, round whites from Virginia and North Carolina, and sebagoes from South Carolina.

Citrus fruits are still in season and moderately priced, with limes, oranges and grapefruit offering the best values. Cantaloupes and red plums from the Southwest are arriving in big city markets in increasing volume; prices are moderate and should get still lower in the weeks immediate ahead. Strawberry prices are about as low as they'll get this year, however.

SEAFOOD GOOD

There are plenty of good buys in seafood: Halibut steaks, frozen fillets of cod, haddock or ocean perch, frozen shrimp.

Canned tuna gets the nod this week on the U. S. Agriculture Department's list of outstanding food bargains.

"The attention of thrift-minded homemakers is now directed to the exceptionally heavy supplies of canned tuna fish," says the department. "The large pack of domestic tuna last year, together with imported tuna, totaled some 13 million cases, about 3 million cases above the normal supply."

Don't limit tuna to salads and sandwich spreads, the department advises, but serve it hot as a main dish. One suggestion: tuna and cheese biscuit.

Visit Right Spot

HEBRON, Conn. (UPI) — Firemen who went to the home of First Selectman Winthrop S. Porter to discuss an addition to the fire house had to postpone the conference. Porter's chimney was on fire.

$8,111 in Old Scrip Unclaimed in Bank

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP) — August Kineman, manager of Rochester's clearing house, has $8,111 which he wishes someone would take off his hands.

The money is left over from the "bank holiday" declared in 1933 by the late President Roosevelt. Rochester banks issued $2,000,000 in scrip, good only in the city.

Most of the scrip was redeemed at the end of the holiday, but apparently a few people forgot. Or, said Kineman, they may be keeping some of it as souvenirs.

At any rate, Kineman would appreciate it if those holding the scrip would come along and collect. He said he can't balance his books the way things are now.

Need No Interpreters for Pakistan Sailors

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UP) — The Pacific Fleet Training Command scurried around for interpreters when told the Pakistan Minesweeper Muhafiz was coming for training in American Navy ways.

When the ship arrived, its skipper, Lt. Cmdr. Mak Lodi said: "We look forward to visiting this community. We've heard a lot about it."

He and all the crew speak English. He said it was a Pakistan navy requirement.

Russian Women Offer $2,000 for Husbands

VIENNA, Austria (UP) — Russian women are offering up to $2,000 in Austrian money to Austrians willing to marry them, the Vienna newspaper Weltpresse reported today.

The women, now serving with Soviet occupation troops in Austria want to remain here when the Soviet troops will be withdrawn under the recently concluded Austrian state treaty, the newspaper said.

Police Believe Judge, Wife Victims of Kidnap-Murder

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Authorities leaned toward a kidnap-murder theory today in the mysterious disappearance of Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth, prominent Florida jurist, and his wife.

"I hope this is only a kidnaping," said Sheriff John F. Kirk. "We are still at a loss as to what happened and as to what motive they might have had."

The tall, thin, 58-year-old jurist and his wife Marjorie, 57, were last seen by friends in Palm Beach Tuesday night and were reported missing from their oceanside summer home at nearby Manalapan yesterday morning.

Slender clues baffled state, county and city police investigators.

Judge Chillingworth, a native of West Palm Beach, had been county judge for two years and circuit judge for 32.

State Atty. Phil O'Connell discounted a theory that a prisoner recently released may have been responsible, but said he had no other possible clues.

There were footprints in the wet sand, what appeared to be bloodstains on a beach walk and a smashed spotlight outside the concrete and frame beach house, indicating violence.

"We are working on the theory that they were attacked and carried away either by boat or by car," said John R. Hiatt, Palm Beach County investigator.

'Geraldine' Becomes 'Teacher's Aide' at Central School

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

Teachers today can have dozens of "helping teachers"—if they will use their imaginations and let these "aides" come into their classrooms.

It doesn't guarantee that their jobs will be easier. In fact, it actually makes the job a little more difficult.

But the value to the teacher who is imaginative enough to invite these "aides" into her classroom comes from the sparkling eyes and the live and searching minds which each day take on a new zest for learning.

A case in point is the story of Mrs. Mae Hale, first grade teacher at Central School and Mrs. Ann Galbraith, principal, who together proved the value of "Geraldine" as a fine teacher's aide.

Now handling Geraldine, although she was a conscientious contributor to the cause of education, required quite a bit of manual labor. It also called for an alert mind on the part of Mrs. Hale who each day had to anticipate the score of questions which Geraldine's presence in the room brought forth.

Thirty first graders, predominantly city dwellers, were awed into a million queries about this gentle Geraldine, a soft-feathered Plymouth Rock, who had consented to hatch a batch of chickens in a specially contrived pen in the first grade room.

To Mrs. Hale it meant finding a wired pen, preparing a clean straw bed, obtaining cracked corn mixed with a dash of mash, frequent changes of fresh water and designing lessons which fit into the most important 21 days in Geraldine's life.

Geraldine's presence in the first grade was an educational project. She was not just a source of entertainment or a child pet specimen.

She taught new words daily to these beginning readers—each day each of the students wrote another page in their "Story of Geraldine."

Their vocabularies and their understanding grew to include such new words as "kindness, care, consideration, incubation period, embryo, patience, science, heart."

Complete sentences came from the pencils of these youngsters who in their own choice of words wrote, "Our hen is Geraldine. She has 13 eggs."

READING MOTIVATOR

Interested lips were sounding out the syllables in words that now had new meaning because they had come alive with the visit of Geraldine.

A 21 day incubation chart was prepared on the blackboard. Each day the youngsters took turns marking off another 24 hours which brought the great day closer.

Geraldine was giving those boys and girls a lesson, too, in the story of reproduction. They were able to watch a familiar object, an egg, grow into a chicken in a very natural way.

They observed the friendly Plymouth Rock sit contentedly day by day on her nest of eggs, periodically turn them over, get off the nest and stretch a bit, eat and give herself a bath and then return to patiently care for the eggs.

At different periods in incubation, Mrs. Hale broke an egg to show the growth of the embryo within the shell.

Finally on the 19th day the young chicks could be heard peeping inside the shell and it was difficult to tell the 30 youngsters that at 3:15 each afternoon it was time to go home.

It was a hushed and awed silence which fell on the room on a recent Friday morning (the 21st day) shortly after bell time. Geraldine was pecking the shell of the last egg to help one more chick to come into the world.

Mrs. Hale and Mrs. Galbraith were pleased with the lessons learned with Geraldine.

"It created a desire on the part of these first graders to learn to read, to find the words which were now familiar to them in connection with the visit of Geraldine. It proved to be a motivating factor in vocabulary building and in the development of the initiative to record in writing (printing for first graders) the story day by day," said Mrs. Hale.

Mrs. Galbraith said she was impressed with the other lessons learned such as kindness and consideration for small animals, and the chance the students had to watch Mother love at work. It was their introduction to science and the story of life, she said.

These two women who are dedicated educators recorded the story of Geraldine by taking their own film of the visit of this hen to the classroom. It will be incorporated in the story film called, "This is Our School."

Geraldine? She has gone back to the farm with her healthy young chicks and the entire first grade from Central accompanied her on her return trek as one of their school-ending excursions. But the lesson learned from Geraldine may very well be with them throughout their lives.

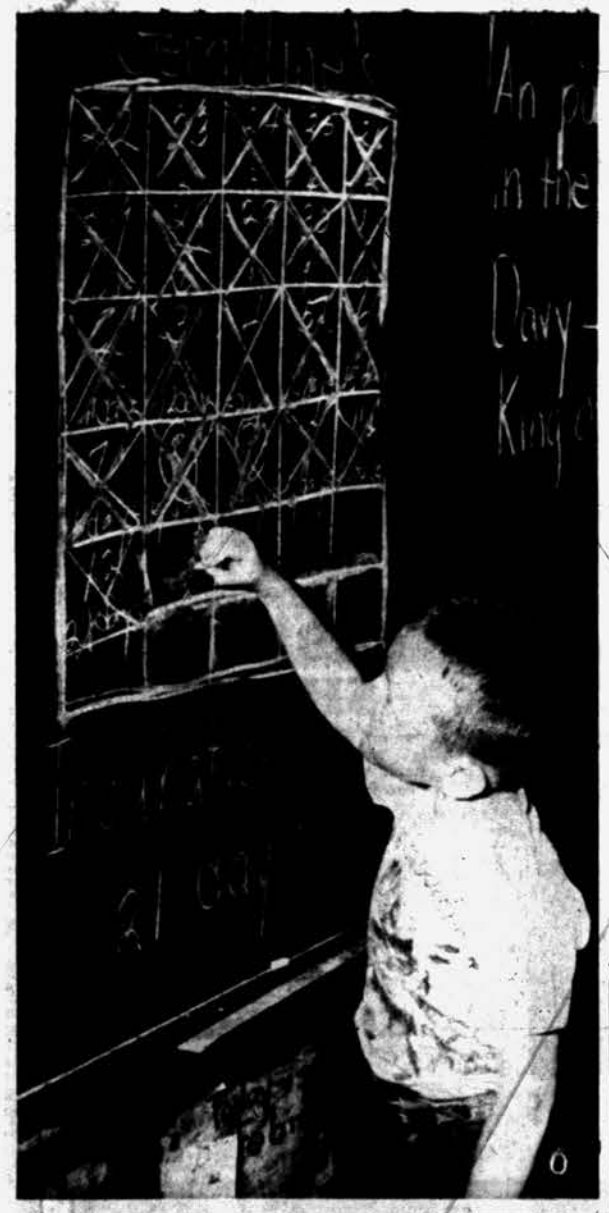

Pontiac Press Photos by James Mahar

LIFE IS THERE — Wide-eyed children watch as Mrs. Ann Galbraith, principal of Central school, shows them the tiny chick which has prematurely broken through the shell. This happened just two days before the 21-day incubation period was complete and the chick lived with extra care from the mother hen and the teachers in Central School.

CAROL AND GERALDINE— "I know you are busy keeping those eggs warm. How about a few kernels of corn?" proffers Carol Carr, first grader in Central School. Geraldine is the gentle mother hen who lived in Mrs. Mae Hale's first grade for almost a month while she hatched a batch of chickens. This fine-feathered foul served as an educational project for the children of this school. The photo at the left shows Geraldine in full rebellion when picked off her nest of half-hatched chicks. The students of this grade shared in the complete growth cycle of the 13 chicks.

Expatriated GIs Are Liable for Crimes on Return Home

EMERGENCY PRESS HEADQUARTERS, Operation Alert (AP)—The government announced today it will arrange the return home of any of the 21 American war prisoners who chose to stay in Communist China after the Korean War, but who now have changed their minds.

However, the White House, and the State, Defense and Justice departments warned in a joint statement that any who do come back to the United States will be held accountable "for any wrongful act" they may have committed.

The government announcement said, "The military departments will instruct their field commands that if any of the 21 presents himself to military authorities as an American desiring return to the jurisdiction of the United States, he will be turned over to the custody of the nearest United States consular representative."

The State Department, it went on, will instruct its representative that "immediately upon making contact with any of these persons they would inform him that in event of return to the United States he, of course, would be subject to the laws of the United States including the U.S. Code of Military Justice for any wrongful act which he may have committed."

The State Department then will arrange for the return to the continental United States of any of these men who say they want to come home, the announcement said.

"Upon the return to the United States of any of these individuals," it added, "the appropriate federal authority will determine whether further action will be taken."

New Legislation Plugs Loopholes in Tax Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower yesterday signed legislation plugging two loopholes in the 1954 tax revision law.

Sections of the 1954 law repealed would have allowed many business firms to deduct from taxable income not only their actual business expenses in 1954 but funds put into reserve to meet future expenses, and to defer tax payments on income received for services to be performed in future years.

The bill gives business firms until Dec. 15, 1955, to pay the additional taxes without penalty or interest.

Windsor Tot Drowned at Home in Bathtub

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Eighteen-months-old Kelly Good drowned Tuesday night in the bathtub while her mother was clearing up toys in another room. Mrs. George Good said she had left the child for only five minutes.

Artificial respiration applied by neighbors and efforts of a fire department inhalator squad were futile.

WHAT'S UP, DOC? — "Snoky," two-month-old kitten belonging to Mrs. Lee Rice, of Greenville, Tex., looks questioningly at the photographer because she can't see anything unusual about having six paws. Snoky has, on each of her front feet, three extra toes, complete with pads and claws. Her mother also sports six paws as do all her brothers and sisters. Snoky has never seen any cats other than her family, so she thinks all cats run around with two spares.

Cannon Shells Shot Through Artificial Rain

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—An aircraft company makes artificial rain in a pipe and shoots cannon shells through it. The purpose is to find out what the rain does to the shells—not vice versa—and is a project for the U. S. Air Force.

The study is to determine the amount of rain erosion, or damage, to objects traveling through it at supersonic speeds up to 2,000 miles an hour. The 20 mm. cannon are fired through a 500-foot pipe, into which water is sprayed through the holes. The shells explode 1,500 feet beyond the pipe's top and parachutes float the test specimens down to the researchers.

Traffic accidents killed 7,700 pedestrians in the U. S. in 1954.

Movie Bosses Meet Kefauver as Probe Starts

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The movies' big bosses, most of them blunt-talking men, tangle with the Kefauver Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee today on charges that a score of recent movies stressed too much sex and violence.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) and his counsel James H. Bobo said the Senate probers will be "critical" of the folowing movies:

"Blackboard Jungle", "The French Line," "Women's Prison" "Crashout," "Black Tuesday," "Rebel Without a Cause," (unreleased), "Ten Wanted Men," "The Prodigal," "Big House, U.S.A.," "New Orleans Uncensored," "I Died a Thousand Times," "Chicago Syndicate" and "Son of Sinbad."

Bobo said the moviemen also will be questioned about the recent relaxing of the motion picture production code.

"We want to know why these pictures were approved," he said, adding: "We also want box office figures. We want to know if the movies make sex and violence pictures because they make more money than others."

How to Handle Your Money

Widows Offered Advice on Investing Inheritance

Following is the final installment of a ten-part interview with Benjamin Graham, security analyst and Columbia University professor, who answers questions to the how's, why's and when's of investing your money.

Q—By definition, isn't the growth company one you think of as putting a large part of its profits back into growth instead of paying it out in dividends?

A—That should be the idea of a growth company—

Q—Unless you think of a uranium company—

A—Well, that's another type of thing. But basically a growth company is one which (a) will be expanding its business and its profits at more than the average rate, and (b) will in the course thereof be investing a large part of its profits back in the business.

Q—When you get into the growth stocks, you get in'> a situation where a man needs a good deal of knowledge?

A—I think so. But even then it's hard to tell how good your knowledge is, because growth stocks lead to the future, and you don't really ever have any knowledge of the future. You may have a more expert guess than the other man, but it's still a guess. And many mistakes have been made in buying growth stocks on the theory that the future will duplicate the past.

Q—In trying to buy something for long-term growth, you ordinarily have to recognize, one, that you are taking a chance and, two, you perhaps have to sacrifice income along the way in order to achieve a long-term growth. Isn't that ordinarily the case?

A—Yes. The chance is basically related to the point that you pay a higher price for a security in terms of its past and current earnings and dividends than you would for nongrowth securities, and there is always a possibility of disappointment. The company would have to be better than the average company to justify the price you pay for it. Maybe it won't be but you think it will

SACRIFICE INCOME

You start with a sacrifice of income generally and you are apt to find it continuing for some years. But that is not particularly important to people if they are right in their estimate of the company's future expansion. The fact that the income is small is not a real sacrifice if you don't need the income to spend.

Q—What about a widow who gets her husband's insurance of, say, $50,000? How should she invest it? Or should she leave it all in the insurance company, drawing monthly payments?

A—Well, the widow would like, if possible, to earn enough income to pay her living expenses. Naturally there is a great aversion against using up capital. Yet, for most widows of whom we are talking, those particularly within the $50,000-to-$100,000 capital range, that's almost an insoluble problem.

Q—You mean with those sums there isn't enough income to leave the capital alone?

A—Not if she were dependent upon the income from that money—unless she were living in rather unusual conditions, a very small town, and so forth, where her wants were extremely limited. But the average widow wants to live somewhat in the style to which she was accustomed when her husband was accumulating $100,000 in one way or another, including insurance, and she would find it very difficult to make it do. And that, as you probably know, is one of the most difficult problems that investment counsel have to deal with nowadays.

Q—How is it usually resolved—by a compromise?

A—Yes, it's usually resolved by a compromise. There's been a tendency through recent years to be bolder and bolder in advice to widows, suggesting that they consider getting up prety high in the percentage of investments in common stocks on the twin grounds, first, that they do need the income badly and, secondly, that it's not unsound or risky for them to put their money in well-selected or representative common stocks. And that advice was really good advice at a time when one could say with conviction that the price level of common stocks was an attracive one.

Q—That's for the widow with $50,000. Now, for the widow drawing a smaller amount, $10,000 or $15,000, you would not suggest that she put any part of it into common stocks?

A—I think not. I'm afraid that, when you take into account the psychological factors in that kind of thing, which can create real problems, and compare that with the monetary advantages of a small common-stock investment, the psychological dangers far outweigh the monetary advantages.

Moonshiners' Still Found in 37 Years

LONDON, Ky. (UP)—Sheriff Harve Steele has found that moonshine still which vanished 37 years ago. When Steele spotted the still during his first term in office in 1918, he left it unmolested in hopes of catching the moonshiners. But when he returned to the wooded area the next day, the still had vanished.

The 84-year-old sheriff was sitting in his office recently when deputies brought in a still. It was the same elaborate one Steele had remembered all these years. The moonshiners still weren't around.

Tavern Wall Displays 2 Opposing Politicians

DENVER (UP) — Frank Gould, City Council candidate, is a man who won't take no for an answer.

He took a campaign poster to a tavern and asked proprietor Lionel Zinn for permission to tack it up. Zinn said no, he didn't want to take sides.

Gould returned the next day with his poster and one for his opponent, Sonny Mapelli.

The posters were tacked on the tavern wall.

Big Buddies All

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — Mrs. Marshall B. Kindy said today a dog and gosline she has in her home are such good friends they eat from the same dish and drink out of the same bowl.

Hotel Coffee Shop Displays Paintings

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Crullers and canvases are available to patrons of the Pfister Hotel's coffee shop.

The hotel formally opened its "Transient Art Gallery" with 14 paintings by three local artists. New paintings will be displayed every six to eight weeks.

The Pfister, known for its valuable collection of 19th century originals, will display Wisconsin artists' works which have been selected by Wisconsin Painters and Sculptors, Inc. The paintings are for sale, but all transactions must be made directly with the artists.

Pupil Calls Hemingway; 'Papa's' Advice Gets 'A'

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UP) — When Barbara Blake, 17, a high school student, needed help on a theme about Ernest Hemingway she telephoned his home near Havana, Cuba.

After a long conversation "Papa" advised Barbara to "judge your theme hard, cut out the junk."

Salty U.N. Delegates Put On a Good Show

Editor's note: The United Nations, being made up of humans, has often added up to a good show from the spectator's standpoint. This article in connection with the U.N's 10th anniversary observance discusses personalities whose antics have helped pack the spectator galleries.

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., June 15 (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and Andrei Y. Vishinsky always drew the crowds for their battles in U.N. sessions but the old Russian died during a spell of unaccustomed peace with his foe.

Some of Vishinsky's U.N. wishers wondered if peace were too much for him.

Whether he was liked or disliked, the Soviet delegate, who wept when Joseph Stalin died, was the star with the longest run in the U. N. Lodge, who was appointed after President Eisenhower's election in 1952, shook hands with Vishinsky only when protocol required it. Sometimes Lodge went out of his way to avoid having to shake hands. But the day came when Lodge wanted a unanimous vote endorsing President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan. So he called on Vishinsky to explain the resolution.

It so happened that Vishinsky was at that time pursuing the Georgi Malenkov policy of peaceful coexistence, so he listened.

Whether Sniff or Kiss, It Still Costs $25

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Said the trial judge: "This is not the first time that a girl has been kissed in a car. But at least park it first."

"I wasn't kissing the girl, said Preston Watson. "I was just leaning over to sniff some rare perfume she was wearing."

"H'mm," said the judge. "Twenty-five dollars fine and keep your eye on the road."

Lodge and Vishinsky agreed on the resolution. Vishinsky's last official call before he died last November was to Lodge's office for a final discussion on the proposal. He collapsed at his desk and died before the U. N. voted unanimously.

After he died, his temporary successor, Jacob A. Malik, told the U. N. that a Soviet doctor performed an autopsy. Malik said the doctor found Vishinsky had the brain of a 30-year-old man and the heart of a 70-year-old.

Vishinsky was not always the agreeable diplomat. He often provoked people to booing fury. In 1947 he opened Moscow's "warmonger" campaign against John Foster Dulles and other Americans. Sudden boos broke out in the Assembly press gallery as Vishinsky spoke. Reporters looked around and saw they came from U. S. Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY). Celler was giving Vishinsky a real American razzberry — but "Vish" kept going.

Another time, Vishinsky described an official report of the U. N. Balkans Commission as a "pile of garbage." Again, he said Western proposals on disarmament were so funny they kept him awake with laughter all night.

Vishinsky feuded with Trygve Lie until he drove him from the office of secretary general. But in Lie's successor, Dag Hammarskjold, Vishinsky found a man of a different character. Hammarskjold knew what he wanted when Vishinsky came to talk about getting a high U.N. job for a Russian. Hammarskjold, unyielding, gave Vishinsky back, diplomatically, as good as the Russian sent and had his way. Thus he won Vishinsky's respect and kept it until Vishinsky died.

Politics is politics, in the United States or in Russia. Once Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko was enjoying a scotch and soda—the international drink in the U.N. incidentally—when a photographer aimed his camera. Mrs. Gromyko quickly reached over and took the glass out of camera range. Gromyko slipped his hand into his coat, a la Napoleon. After the picture was taken, Mrs. Gromyko returned the drink. Maybe it costs votes in Moscow to be seen drinking.

The U.N. has had its tragedies. There was the assassination of Count Bernadotte of Sweden, the U.N. mediator in Palestine. This was the useless slaughter of a man dedicated to peace. U.N. guards and observers have died in field service.

Staunch Chick Drowns After Surviving Fire

BLOOMFIELD, Ky. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brewer's brooder house caught fire and it appeared that all their 100 chickens perished.

But when the blaze was extinguished and the door opened, wobbled to a water trough, fell in out walked one surviving chick. It wobbled to a water trough, fell in and drowned.

'Pennsylvania Dutch' Taught at University

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) — Pennsylvania State University has a series of language courses that may be unique. They teach "Pennsylvania Dutch."

The language, a form of German brought to this country by early Pennsylvania settlers 250 years ago, is spoken by some 300,000 residents of the state.

There are two courses in reading, writing and speaking the language and a third on life and culture among Pennsylvania "Dutchmen."

Most birds move their wings in unison, but the swift, a champion speedster, beats its wings alternately.

Doctors Put Window in Stomach of Cow

STARKSVILLE, Miss. (UP) — Two Mississippi State College professors have come up with a "plastic window" to peek into the stomach of a steer.

Dr. John Alford, anxious to analyze frequent samplings of the forage digested by a Hereford steer, called on Dr. J. W. Scales for help. They decided on fitting a flanged, plastic tube through a four-inch incision in the side of the steer, connecting it with the stomach.

A screw cap permits observers to look directly into the stomach and remove samples of food. Alford says the animal has been comfortable except for a tenderness of the side when the tissues began to heal around the plastic tube.

All-American Chief

Fish Holds Floor

AUGUSTA, Me. (UP)—Weighty matters were put aside when the statehouse doorkeeper, Clarence P. Chase, presented a five-pound pickerel he caught while ice-fishing to House Speaker Willis Tratton. The lawmakers unanimously demanded to know what bait Chase had used. He reluctantly told them—a live smelt.

Seeking Slayer of 2 Teenagers

Police Hunt for Killer Who Used 14 Bullets on Pair of Girls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police searched today for a .22 - caliber weapon and the killer who sprayed 14 shots from it into two teenage girls heading for school on the term's last day.

Yesterday's double slaying in a suburban rustic park was first reported as a stabbing, but Dr. John T. Maloney, Prince Georges, Md., county coroner, said an autopsy showed the 14 bullet holes and no stab wounds. He said neither of the girls was sexually attacked.

Victims of the daylight shooting were Nancy Marie Shomette, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Shomette, and Michael Ann Ryan, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Ryan. Both families live at Lane Manor, Md., a housing development near College Park, Md., and only about three blocks from the park where the bodies were found.

Ryan is a Washington policeman, and other members of the metropolitan police force volunteered to help county officers in searching the park for clues. Formal aid from the department also was offered. County Police Chief George Panagoulis canceled all detectives' leaves to speed the search.

Crude attempts had been made to cover both bodies with branches Panagoulis said.

STANDARDS HEAD — Dr. Carl L. Larson, director of the Rocky Mountain laboratory of the National Institute of Health, will head its new Division of Biologics Standards. Problems the new division will deal with include those of virus vaccines.

Mother Kangaroo Rejects First Baby Born in Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 10-inch baby kangaroo named Josie may not be able to get back in her own marsupial mother's pouch but she's getting plenty of tender loving care from the human race instead.

Josie was the first kangaroo ever born in the Baltimore Zoo. Her mother, apparently disgusted because Josie has a limp, expelled her from her home. Josie can't get back of her own accord.

Arthur Watson, zoo director, has put her in the care of Mrs. Louella Earl, who feeds her with an eye dropper.

And Dr. Robert P. Wagers, a veterinarian, has discovered the reason for the limp—a tendon has slipped out of place on one hind leg. He thinks surgery can be slipped back in place with the aplication of a cast.

A-Books Go to Argentina

Curtice, Colbert Support Michigan 'Highways for Survival' Proposals

DETROIT (UP) — Michigan is among the 26 states which now rank vacation travel as one of their three major industries.

That explains the growing participation by Michigan industrialists in the national "Highways For Survival Committee" which was organized to press Congress for legislation improving main highways across the country.

Among the Michigan representatives on the committee are L. L. Colbert, president of Chrysler Corp., and General Motors President Harlow Curtice.

On the subject of better highways, Curtice and Colbert are in almost complete agreement with a man with whom they often don't see eye-to-eye — CIO President Walter P. Reuther.

Reuther, who also heads the CIO United Auto Workers union, was quoted as saying that "the problem of the present and growing congestion on our highways is of great concern to the union I represent." He said Congress "ought to assume its rightful share of the responsibility and provide the necessary leadership to insure coordinated and adequate road building program."

NEED BETTER ROADS

The highways for survival committee has spent many weeks compiling facts and figures on why the country needs better highways to link cities with cities and cities with vacation areas.

The committee said that this year eight out of every 10 vacationing Americans will travel by car. It said Americans spend nearly $22 billion a year for domestic travel alone, counting only those trips which involve overnight stops. Of these, it said, 85 per cent are by car.

James Bossemeyer of the Association of Travel Organizations said the tourist has become "one of the great distributors of wealth" in the United States.

"He needs all types of roads and highways to get to the countless objectives which attract him," Bossemeyer said. "But, most of all, he needs a modern interstate highway network to make it possible to get to all parts of the country without undue delay."

The committee said better roads don't stop with the tourist. It said a better highway system would be a boon to both farming and industry and provide civil defense with the tools it needs for better advance planning.

Arthur O. Dietz, president of the C.I.T. Financial Corp., and chairman of the National Highway Committee, said the United States now has but one mile of modern highway for every 1,500 miles of roads.

"Bad roads are costing us an estimated $3 billion a year in excessive expenditures for gasoline, brakes and tires, in accidents and in time lost on hopelessly jammed roads," Dietz said. "We are paying more in lives and money for bad roads than good roads would cost us."

Dog, Says Car Thief

ST. LOUIS (UP) — The thief who stole the auto of John Michalski, United Press telegrapher, was thoughtful if not appreciative. When Michalski's car was found abandoned, this note was in the glove compartment: "Thanks, Man, is this a dog! By the way, you need oil."

Girl's Good Grades Bring Award

By JEANNE LUDTKE

Being in the upper tenth of the Pontiac High School graduating class, which numbers 360, wasn't easy—but in Lena May Sewell's case, it paid off.

"Lee," whose scholastic average lies halfway between an "A" and a "B" according to figures computed to March, captured a $200 scholarship — one which has been awarded for the past nine years by the local Delta Kappa Gamma, international honorary teachers' society.

The society annually seeks out a senior who plans a teaching career and will arrange his or her college courses accordingly. Qualifications for what the group terms "selective teacher recruitment" bring further challenge to applicants.

Potential ability, personality, an interest in people and teaching, character and definite plans to teach . . . these are a few of the standards set up.

Lee lived up to all of these to top a total of 11 applicants—any one of whom, according to Ora Hallenbeck of Auburn avenue, chairman of the scholarship committee, "would have made us proud to say, 'This is our student'."

MEANS HARD WORK

Measuring up to the prerequisites also means hard work, something Lee managed to do along with sandwiching two part-time jobs into her extra-curricular activities for the past two years.

In addition to working in a Birmingham restaurant and Pontiac High School's attendance office, Lee found time to be a reporter on the "Tomahawk," PHS school paper.

Despite handicaps like her father's death eight years ago, Lee and her mother, Mrs. Lucille Murphy, have teamed together to help Lee "attend school and have the things I need."

Lee, who lives with her family (she has a younger brother) at 112 Seneca street has always listed reading, studying and children among her top interests, "which teaching combines," she says.

It wasn't until last year that she decided she wanted to teach, Lee said, and then she started concentrating on history, which is what she'd like to teach eventually. This fall she'll enter Michigan State Normal College in Ypsilanti.

"PLEASED, HAPPY"

"I'm very pleased and happy," commented Lee, who will be 18 on July 14, "and will do my best to make the group think they chose the right person."

Vera Mae Adams of Middlebelt road is president of the society. She and Mrs. Ralph Forman of Chippewa road, who is on the scholarship committee, were on hand when Lee received her award, one which fluctuates in amount, depending on the society's sales project each year.

"We intend to stay with Lee while she's going through her four years," added Miss Hallenbeck.

Lee is the third person the local group has helped. The other two are the former Naomi Smaltz, now teaching in Midland, and Helen Cate of West Huron street, a teacher at Wisner School.

Spencers Hold Reunion Dinner to Greet Couple

A reunion dinner was held at the Franklin road home of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Spencer to welcome Sgt. and Mrs. Jerome Guilds to Pontiac.

Mrs. Guilds is the former Louise Walz. Sgt. Guilds has been in Germany for the past six months. The recent family get-together was the first in 16 years.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Guilds and daughters, Rose Marie and Sylvia; Ronald Vincent and John Fry of Berkley; Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Leslie and daughter, Roberta, of Williams Lake, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cale and sons, Harry and Stewart, of Watkins Lake.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Wall and daughter, Beatrice, and Mrs. Clarissa Harquen and son, George.

Sgt. and Mrs. Guilds left after the visit for Ft. Riley, Kan., where he will be stationed before going on foreign duty.

Marion Evans, Paul C. Burton Exchange Vows

To reside at Ft. Benjamin Harrison in Indiana are Pvt. and Mrs. Paul Crain Burton.

The bride is the former Marion Louise Evans, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Carl Strutz of LeGrande avenue. The bridegroom is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Malcolm Burton of Mary Day avenue.

The Rev. Theodore Allebach performed the 8 o'clock candlelight ceremony Friday evening at the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church. Members of the immediate family and a few friends witnessed the double-ring rite.

Janet Bird of Royal Oak attended her cousin as maid of honor and Barbara Evans was her sister's bridesmaid.

Ralph Pasternack of Royal Oak served as best man and Jack Hendrickson was an usher.

The couple left on a short wedding trip following a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Irish visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Brendan O'Regan of Shannon, Ireland, spent the weekend with Oakland County relatives.

Schultes Entertain Shannon Couple

Visitors Bring a Bit of Erin to County

His is a charm that might have come from kissing the Blarney Stone; hers is sweet and unassuming. Brendan O'Regan, caterer comptroller of the Shannon Free Airport, County Clare, Ireland, spent a few days recently visiting Oakland County relatives. With his lovely dark-haired wife, Rita, he stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Schulte of Cooley Lake.

Mr. O'Regan is manager of the world's first duty-free airport; he is in charge of all business outside of the actual flying.

In 1948, by special declaration, the Irish Parliament made its principal airport a free one. Since then it has become an international center through which goods flow without duties or excise taxes. It is a distribution and export center for air cargo.

Flights are routed through Shannon purposely in order to give passengers a chance to shop. Not only is Irish merchandise to be found there, but excellent bargains from all over Europe are available.

MANAGES HOSTEL

What started out to be a small souvenir counter is now a large store and mail-order house. In addition to supervising this business, Mr. O'Regan is in charge of the passenger hostel at the airport, runs a school for hotel executives, and is managing director of a hotel in nearby Ennis.

The catering part of Mr. O'Regan's job has to do with meals both on the ground and in the air; he calls it "aircraft victualling."

As Shannon is the last large land base on the European side, planes pick up the major portion of their food for mid-Atlantic eating there.

Thus the Irish chefs are competing with food from London, Paris and Rome. They are proud of the fine reputation they have among transatlantic plane passengers.

Mrs. O'Regan lets her husband do most of the talking for the family. She was willing, however, to answer questions about herself. She is English—says her husband married her just to prove how tolerant one Irishman could be.

Irish wives stay home and keep house rather than go out to work like so many American girls. Their housekeeping is more complicated and time-consuming than ours, with fewer modern conveniences. Unlike many of their compatriots, the O'Regans do own a refrigerator.

Brendan and Rita O'Regan like America, American food and, most of all, American hospitality. On their side they proved to be delightful guests. The Schulte children were particularly enchanted with Mr. O'Regan's fairy tales.

Mrs. Buchner Becomes Head of Phi Chapter

Mrs. Park Buchner was installed as president of Phi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority following a picnic held Tuesday evening at the Woodhull Lake home of Mrs. H. G. Richardson.

Other new officers are Mrs. Richardson, vice president; Mrs. John Whitehead, recording secretary; Mrs. C. E. Ball, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. William Killen, treasurer.

Following the picnic the last business meeting of the season was held, with members planning to attend an August performance at Will-O-Way. The next meeting is scheduled for Sept. 13 at Hotel Waldron.

BPW Conducts Dinner Meeting and Installation

Members of the Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club gathered Monday evening at Hotel Waldron for a dinner meeting. Mrs. Albert Leighton, emblem chairman, explained the emblem of the club and ideals for which it stands to those present.

Mrs. Hazel MacGirr, membership chairman, assisted by 12 past presidents, conducted an initiation of new members.

Officers were installed for the coming year by Jane Danton. She took her theme from the club collect and presented each officer with a rosebud as she pointed out the respective duties.

Those taking office July 1 will be Mrs. C. William Salton, president; Grace McLaughlin, first vice president; Mrs. John Dow, second vice president; Mrs. John Kish, corresponding secretary, and Harriet Gates, treasurer.

Vera Bassett is auditor, Violet McCoy, recording secretary, and Harriet Gates, Mary Mitchell and Mrs. Melvin C. McPherson, directors.

Guests at the meeting were Gertrude Hock, Maude Lawrence, Eloise Riley of Walled Lake, Lenore Stephens and Mrs. William Reynolds.

Hostesses for June are Mrs. Harry Randall, Mrs. George Shillaire, Mrs. Charles J. Barrett, Mrs. MacGirr and Talmee Surola.

Likes 2 Boys But 12-Year-Old Needs Help

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm 12 and I like two boys very much. One of them likes another girl so it makes me feel 'left out' as far as he's concerned.

"The other boy acts as though he likes me but doesn't tell me, so it leaves me hanging in air.

"My parents are another problem. At the very mention of boys they start teasing me. I've never told them I like boys, but they suspect it.

"Next fall when I go to junior high I'm really going to have trouble with them.

"I'd counted on having the help of my best girl friend when I tell them—but she has moved away from here and that leaves me up a tree! Can you help me with any of my problems?"

Answer: Knowing for sure and for certain is a crutch and a prop to a girl's self-confidence. And so is the moral support of a crony. But a girl can't always count on knowing the answers to come of her big questions.

Nor is a helpmate always handy. A girl has to stand on her own two feet, independently and alone. She has to use her head to keep herself from dangling from a long limb.

Take your wandering boy friend for instance. Instead of feeling left out because of his interest in some other girl, develop a positive interest in the boy who acts as though he likes you.

Feeling left out is completely negative, makes you sorry for yourself, does you no real good. So why bother with it?

And why not be content with your other boy friend's actions? He doesn't have to say it right out—not if he's showing you that he likes you. His actions can speak louder than any words.

And don't for a minute think your parents aren't perfectly well aware of your interest in boys. Their teasing is a gesture that they hope will keep you from being serious about boys. They figure it's too soon for that.

WAIT TILL NEXT YEAR

Next year or the year after they'll be more open-minded, and you won't have to make any formal announcements of any kind, with or without help.

Your social life will change, there will be specific invitations to be coped with. It will all happen in due course.

At the moment everything looks uncertain and problematical to you. Looking ahead always does. But there's no good in manufacturing problems for yourself.

Take things as they come, one at a time. And let next fall's puzzles wait until you catch up with them next fall.

Today and tomorrow are enough for you to handle right now. If you tell yourself that the big questions in your mind have nothing to do with today and tomorrow, you'll find yourself down out of that tree, with your feet firmly on the ground.

Your Best Tonic Is Hidden Energy

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Years ago, when I was in my teens, I got in the way of an angry bull in a field. I ran and jumped over the fence in the nick of time.

I ran then, faster than I had ever run in my life—before or since.

Years later, I stayed up two days and two nights with no sleep at all—a thing I never believed possible. My baby was deathly sick and I nursed him back to health.

And just a month ago, I gave an ad-libbed talk to a group of over a thousand people, without a bit of nervousness, because I was so fascinated with the subject.

MIRACULOUS POWER

We've all had experiences of this sort—times when we have accomplished more than we ever thought possible; times when some miraculous power gave us strength, persistence and skill we never seem to have possessed before.

If we analyze this, we'll learn something pretty important about our natures, something we can apply to our lives with great profit.

Success at a time like this can be attributed to one thing: interest charged with emotion.

In the first instance, I was interested, violently, in staying alive.

In the second, I was interested in saving the life of someone I loved; and in the third, I was so interested in a subject that I forgot all about myself and my limitations.

SECRET OF YOUTH

This, really, is the secret of youth.

The man who retires from his job, for example, and takes up a hobby or activity which fascinates him, is going to live longer and have incredibly good health.

I know one such, today, who is a vigorous and healthy eighty-seven.

But the man who retires to some dull, time-killing busy-work, is going to get all the ills the flesh is heir to and will never have a chance to call on the tremendous resources which lie in all of us.

READ THIS BOOK

Next time you feel tired and old and think you are losing your grip, go to your public library and get a book which was written by William James, the philosopher, back in 1907.

It is called "The Energies of Men" and tells all about how to harness the hidden energies which only emotion and deep interest can bring out.

It will do more for you than a new hat, a fudge sundae or a good cry!

Don't Inflict Own Talents on Visitors

Wait to Be Asked Before Showing Musical Ability

BY EMILY POST

A reader asks: "When entertaining in one's own house, is it proper for the host or hostess, to play the piano or any other musical instrument, without first being asked to do so by one of the guests?

"I have heard different opinions on this and would like to be enlightened as to the correct thing."

Answer: A host, or hostess, should not play unless encouraged by the guests to do so — or unless the guests were invited especially to hear either one of them play.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon and would like to know what the correct wording should be for my wedding invitations under the following circumstances:

"My mother is not living and my father and I are almost complete strangers. He is not even coming to my wedding. I haven't any other near relative.

"Must my father's name appear on the invitations even though he will have nothing to do with it?"

Answer: If your father will not be present at the wedding his name cannot appear on the invitations. Under the circumstances you describe, the invitations would best be worded in this way:

The honour of your presence is requested
at the marriage of Miss Mary Jane Smith
to Mr Henry Worthington
etc.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a person is leaving the 'wake' of a friend and the husband of the deceased says, 'It was nice of you to come' or 'Thank you for coming,' what is the proper reply to make?"

Answer: As a rule you give the person a warm handclasp and say nothing, or perhaps you say, "I am so deeply sorry." Or if the deceased was a lifelong friend you might say, "I loved her dearly."

RICHARD W. PERRY

Richard W. Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Perry of Crocus road, was graduated June 11 from the University of Michigan Medical School. He will leave soon with Mrs. Perry and their son, Richard Jr., for California, where he will intern at San Bernardino County Charity Hospital.

Shower Given for Bride-Elect

A surprise miscellaneous shower feted bride-elect Georgianne Schultz of West Pike street, who will be wed on June 25 to Lawrence V. Mason.

The party was given by Pauline Woodin and Connie Pokela of Ottawa drive. Hanging above the buffet table centerpiece was a mobile designed by Miss Woodin, in which 10 small kitchen utensils had been incorporated.

There were 16 guests attending the recent gathering.

Parents of the couple Mr. and Mrs. George Schultz of St. Paul, Minn., and the Matthew Masons of Boston, Mass.

Father Son Banquet Held at Church

A father and son banquet was held by members of the Central Christian Church recently. The invocation was given by the Rev. Paul McComber and toastmaster for the event was Arthur Webster.

Singing was led by Stait Lloyd and Merlin Sanderson. Jerry Sanderson and Wallace Lacey presented the father and son toasts.

Mrs. Merlin Sanderson was chairman of the dinner with Mrs. Joe Carter and Mrs. Jack Storm assisting her.

Mrs. Roy Deem Feted by Lucky 13

Mrs. Roy Deem was honored Monday evening when members of the Lucky 13 Club met at her home on Sheridan street to celebrate her birthday. She was presented a gift by members of the club.

The next meeting will be held at the LeBaron avenue home of Mrs. Harold Dayner.

Red Cross Role in War Clarified

Organization President Says Defense Planning Part of Job

ATALANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — President Ellsworth Bunker of the American Red Cross states the organization has been holding "intensive discussions" with federal officials to clarify its role in civil defense planning.

He said it is "entirely clear that government is responsible for the care of the Civil population in the event of war." The role of the Red Cross, on the other hand, is "that of an organized, established and trained group of citizens who have a contribution to make to national defense planning" before a war breaks out.

These citizens, he added, can "best make the contribution through the organization and under the banner of the American Red Cross."

In a report prepared for the 30th national ARC convention, Bunker told delegates a fueure war would make demands on the Red Cross exceeding "anything we have ever known before." He said the Red Cross must be geared now to carry its "responsibilities to the civil population under emergency conditions."

"In any future conflict," he said, "what the Red Cross does could well tip the balance fo morale in our favbr."

The sunspot — with a diameter 14 times that of the earth — was first noted June 10. It has moved from the eastern side of the sun's western hemisphere to the center, they reported.

Train-Truck Crash Kills Driver, Strews Candy

CENTERVILLE, Calif. (AP)— A train and truck collided near here last night, killing the truck driver, strewing candy bars over a quarter-mile area and setting off a bank burglar alarm.

When the Southern Pacific freight and the truck met, the wreckage tore down poles on which the alarm wires were caried. Police rushed to the bank, then to the crash.

The driver was identified as Leo Murphy of Pasadena.

Court Orders Mental Exam for Pontiac Man

An Oakland County Circuit Court order was issued yesterday to have three psychiatrists examine Lester L. Wathen, 26, of 1055 Vinewood, who is charged with indecent exposure.

Their reports will be aired at a hearing in Circuit Court July 19, said Assistant Prosecutor Homer G. Gerue, when a decision will be made on whether Wathen should be committed to Ionia State Hospital for the criminally insane.

Wathen pleaded guilty to the exposure charge Monday. He admitted an improper advance to a woman at Saginaw and Huron Sts. June 3. At the time, he was on route to spend the weekend in jail under terms of a previous assault conviction.

The American Bible Society distributed more than nine million Bibles and parts of Bibles in the United States in 1954.

Feed Father Royally on His Day

TOSSED SALAD

HOT ROLLS

STRAWBERRY BAVARIAN PIE

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

You feed him well every day in the year. But on HIS day you give him his favorite dishes for all three meals.

We'll leave breakfast and lunch or supper up to you and concentrate on dinner menu suggestions. We picture here some of the dishes we have been led to believe men most enjoy. We hope you will get inspiration from these recipes. As for Father—a wonderful day to him!

Let's really splurge and start dinner with a shrimp cocktail. Don't worry if you don't have regular cocktail glasses. Use a large sherbet glass or even small plates with a little container of sauce on each place.

Perhaps you would like to cook your shrimp in Court Bouillon which is the French term for "short broth."

To Cook in Court Bouillon

1 quart water
½ stalk celery
1 carrot, sliced
1 small white onion, sliced
Juice of ½ lemon
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 lb. raw shrimp, fresh or frozen

Put water in saucepan. Add all ingredients except shrimp. Bring water to boil. Add shrimp and let water come to boil again. Turn heat down so water just simmers. Cover saucepan and let shrimp cook 2 to 5 minutes, never longer. Drain shrimp.

Every family has its own individual preference in steaks. Often the pocketbook determines the final choice. The steak we show here happens to be a carefully braised piece of round steak. It could just as easily be a sirloin, club or porterhouse.

To cook the onions as pictured slice them over the steak 20-30 minutes before the meat is done. To serve onions with broiled steak, fry or french fry them separately.

Take the steak out of the refrigerator just before broiling it, and trim excess fat from the edge. Gash fat edge every few inches to keep it from curling (this is particularly important for a thin steak). If you're going to spread the steak with a browning sauce, do it now. The longer the broiling time, the farther from the heat you should place the steak, to keep it from charring before the inside is done.

Here's a timing chart to help you cook better steaks: Broil first side; season; turn; finish broiling. Then season second side. To check doneness, make cut near bone (meat will be rarer there.)

With a steak there is no better salad than a tossed one. There is a marvelous assortment of salad greens in the stores now so that your salad can have variety. Serve it with a simple french dressing which brings out the flavor

Glaze Cinnamon Rolls

Glaze freshly baked cinnamon rolls with powdered sugar, mixed to spreading consistency with a few tablespoons of frozen concentrate for lemonade. Spread lightly over the hot rolls just after taking them from oven—the glaze cooks as they cool, and its lemon flavor is particularly good.

Use Cooking Liquids

Planning to serve creamed shrimp with green peas? Use the cooking liquid from the peas and some of the stock the shrimp was cooked in for the sauce. The peas, of course, should be cooked in a small amount of water so there won't be much liquid in the pan when they are done. The shrimp stock should have bay leaf, a clove, a few peppercorns, some celery leaves and salt.

Cut the top off a green pepper and remove seeds and membranes; fill the pepper with a cheese spread; you'll need three ounces of the spread for a small pepper. Chill until cheese is firm, slice crosswise and serve on salad greens with dressing.

of the greens but doesn't mask them.

French Dressing

1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon powdered dry mustard
½ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 clove garlic
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 cup salad or olive oil
⅓ cup fresh lemon juice
¼ cup vinegar

Combine first 7 ingredients and let stand for at least 1 hour. Remove garlic. Add remaining ingredients. Beat with a rotary or electric beater. Serve over salad greens, vegetable or fruit salads. Makes 1½ cups.

Hot rolls add a touch of glamor to any meal. These golden brown twists are fun to make and delicious to eat.

Twists

2 packages yeast, compressed or dry
½ cup warm (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
1 cup milk
⅓ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
¼ cup shortening
5 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
2 eggs
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind (if desired)

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add flour to make a thick batter. Mix well. Add softened yeast, eggs and lemon rind. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise in warm place until doubled (about 1½ hours). When light, punch down. Cover and let rest 10 minutes.

Divide dough into pieces and roll under hand to ½ inch thick and 8 inches long. Fold length of dough and roll back on itself. Twist ends around each other. Pinch ends together and seal. Place on lightly greased baking sheet and let rise until doubled (about ½ hour. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 15 to 20 minutes.

You'll make whatever pie Father likes best, naturally. We'd like you to try a Strawberry Bavarian one if you are open to suggestion.

Strawberry Bavarian Pie

1 crumb crust
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1½ cups milk
2 eggs, separated
½ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup heavy whipping cream
1 cup sliced fresh strawberries
¼ cup chopped nuts, if desired

Soften gelatin in cold water. Scald milk. Beat in egg yolks slightly and add ¼ cup sugar and salt. Gradually add milk. Cook over hot water until mixture coats a metal spoon, about 8 minutes, stirring constantly. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Chill.

Add vanilla and mix well. Beat egg whites stiff and gradually fold in remaining sugar. Whip cream until stiff. Gradually fold egg whites, whipped cream, strawberries and nuts into slightly thickened gelatin mixture. Pour into crumb crust and chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream and whole fresh strawberries just before serving. Serve cold.

Lots of men prefer cake to pie. Chocolate cake, of course. This cocoa cake is made with brown sugar which gives it a delectable flavor.

Mahogany Cake

1-3 cup brown sugar, not packed
½ cup milk
1-3 cup cocoa
½ cup butter
1 cup brown sugar, not packed
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 egg yolks
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk

Bring the first three ingredients to the boiling point and remove from the heat. Cream the butter, then add the brown sugar. Add the vanilla and egg yolks and beat well. Sift together the flour, soda, and salt, and add alternately with the milk. Add the warm cocoa mixture to the batter and beat until smooth and creamy. Pour into two buttered and floured 8-inch round cake pans and bake at 375 degrees for 25 minutes. Frost with Chocolate Butter Frosting.

For the father who must diet to kee pdown his waistline, we suggest a dish of strawberry sherbet made with nonfat dry milk. It's delicious nutritious eating and definitely low-caloried.

1 pint strawberries, washed and hulled
¾ cup sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
3 cups liquefied nonfat dry milk
2 egg whites
2 tablespoons sugar

Set refrigerator control at coldest point. Place strawberries, ¾ cup sugar and lemon juice in saucepan. Heat to boiling point. Cool. Stirring constantly, slowly add liquefied nonfat dry milk to strawberry mixture. Pour into refrigerator tray and freeze until almost firm, about 2 hours. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in 2 tablespoons sugar.

Turn frozen mixture into bowl; beat until double in bulk. Fold in beaten egg whites. Return to two refrigerator trays and freeze until firm, about 2 hours. Makes 2 quarts.

Dome Dessert Easy to Make

Easy-to-make desserts — That's what we need for summer! But easily made dessert doesn't rule out the possibility that it will be easy on the eyes, too, and a Strawberry Dome Cake is certainly that.

Surrounded by cups of fresh and fragrant coffee, it's a pretty and welcome sight on a warm day.

You'd never believe, just by looking at it, how very easy this dessert is to put together. Baker's sponge, a package of instant pudding mix (we suggest vanilla, but you can use your own favorite flavor), fresh strawberries, some whipping cream. There's nothing to cook, no special mold required.

Stawberry Dome Coke is chilled right in the mixing bowl it is made in, turned out straight onto the serving platter.

From then on, all you have to do is frost it with whipped cream, make fresh hot coffee to go with it—and eat it! Then see if you don't agree that this quickly made and decorative dessert is every bit as delicious as it looks.

Strawberry Dome Cake

1 package baker's sponge cake (two layers)
1 package instant vanilla pudding
1 cup whipping cream
1 quart strawberries, sliced and sweetened

Split sponge cake layers in half to make four round layers. Prepare pudding and let set as directed on package. Press one of the cake layers into a medium-sized mixing bowl. Spread with one-third of the pudding.

Add second layer and another third of the pudding. Repeat with third layer and remaining pudding. Top with fourth layer. Chill several hours or overnight.

Unmold on serving dish. Whip cream. Spread over surface of cake. Surround with sliced, sweetened berries.

Garnish top with a few whole berries, if desired. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Golden Kernels Dot Hamburgs

Here's a new twist to a perennial favorite—Chili-Corn Burgers. Whole kernels of the golden vegetable dot the ever-popular hamburger patties.

Chili sauce, chili powder and grated onions add zest to the dish.

Canned corn is a staple on your grocer's shelf; it is a thrifty buy at any season of the year. And the quality of the canned corn is tops. Use it often as an energy food.

Chili-Corn Burgers

1 pound ground beef
1 can (1 pound) whole kernel corn, drained
1 egg beaten
¼ cup catsup or chili sauce
2 tablespoons grated onion
1 to 1½ teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
6 hamburger buns

Combine all ingredients, except buns; shape into six patties. Cook in frying pan in small amount hot shortening until browned, turning once.

Place on toasted buns; top with onion rings, if desired. Serve with additional catsup or chili sauce. Makes six patties.

Pork Prices Due to Remain Lower

With pork supplies for the next four months expected to run 15 per cent larger than a year ago, prices of many cuts, both at wholesale and retail, should continue at unusually attractive levels, the American Meat Institute reported today.

An institute statement said:

"Cuts of pork are among the greatest food values now available to consumers. Sliced bacon, for example, is selling at retail 31 per cent lower than at this time last year.

"Pork loin roast is down 26 per cent, while bulk sausage is 28 per cent lower than a year ago and ham 19 per cent.

"Consumer demand for bacon, encouraged by the heavy supply and lower prices, has been unusually heavy in recent weeks. The average volume for the first four months of this year was 28 per cent larger than during the same period a year ago."

Delicious Waffle Sundae Crowns Summer Menu

Summer's the time for impromptu desserts — for the kind you can whip together from frozen and packaged ingredients.

The glamorous concoctions that can top off your warm-weather meals are as limitless as your own imagination and your family's sweet-tooth.

From a dozen or more "lazy day desserts" in a current magazine, here's one fi' to set before a Dagwood:

Waffle Sundae

1 jar (12 ounces) red currant jelly
¼ cup water
2 pints prepackaged vanilla ice cream
1 pint fresh raspberries, washed
1 package (5 ounces) frozen waffles

Mash jelly with fork in medium-size saucepan; add water; beat with rotary beater until well blended. Cook over low heat, beating often with rotary beater, until jelly melts and mixture is smooth; cool completely.

Just before serving, spoon ice cream into chilled serving bowl; spoon jelly sauce over top; sprinkle with raspberries. Serve on hot waffles, toasted at the table according to directions on package. Makes six servings.

Serve sundae with the currant-jelly sauce and fresh raspberries, or top sundae with Sugaring-Off Sauce.

Sugaring-Off Sauce

½ cup blended maple syrup
8 marshmallows
½ cup chopped walnuts

Cook syrup and marshmallows in small saucepan over low heat, stirring often, just until marshmallows melt; remove from heat; cool. Just before serving, stir in chopped walnuts. Makes 1½ cups sauce.

Chocolate Bear Soda Prepared With Dry Milk

Junior woodsmen who pitch tents in the backyard and shoot imaginary bears when schoolbooks are put away need to stop every once in awhile to refuel, and mom has the answer — a nourishing Chocolate Bear Soda made with instant nonfat dry milk and served with animal cookies.

Instant nonfat dry milk dissolves immediately, even in ice water. So it's no trouble for mom to give her youngsters plenty of nourishing and inexpensive instant milkshakes and sodas.

She can come up with an endless variety of milkshakes by blending instant nonfat dry milk easily with syrups and flavored drink powders, and she can make the keenest sodas at home by combining instant nonfat dry milk with orange, sarsaparilla, cream soda, black cherry, lemon, lemon-lime or black raspberry sodas.

And now for the Chocolate Bear Soda:

Chocolate Bear Soda

2 cups liquefied instant nonfat dry milk
8 teaspoons chocolate syrup
4 teaspoons honey
2 (7-ounce) bottles sarsaparilla
8-10 ice cubes

Pour one-half cup liquefied instant nonfat dry milk into each 12-ounce glass. Add 2 teaspoons syrup, 1 teaspoon honey and 2 ice cubes. Stir until well mixed and chilled.

Gradually add sarsaparilla, stirring briskly. If desired, garnish with whipped topping. Makes four servings.

Garnish With Grapes

Frost small bunches of grapes to garnish molded salads. Here's how: Dip the grapes first in frozen concentrate for lemonade, undiluted; then in granulated sugar. Chill in refrigerator before using.

Give Package Cake Homemade Flavor

Chocolate Cake Dessert

3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons dark brown sugar
1½ tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup finely chopped nutmeats
¼ package (1 pound and 3 ounces) pre-creamed devil's food cake mix
Chocolate sauce

Stir flour and brown sugar together in a bowl; rub in butter with fingers until combined. Work in nutmeats.

Make up half the cake mix (one envelope-package) according to directions on box and turn into pan; sprinkle batter with topping mixture. Bake according to package directions.

Serve warm or cold with chocolate sauce—homemade or prepared from a package of chocolate fudge frosting mix. Makes eight servings.

GLAMOROUS RICE PUDDING — A cool, colorful combination is this chilled rice pudding and ripe, red strawberries. # Here's How to Choose Sharp and Efficient Knives

One of the commonest causes of dissension in the average American home is the carving knife. When Pop starts to carve the roast and finds the knife dull, anything can happen.

How to select a knife that will keep a sharp edge is something that baffles the average housewife. To shed some light on this troublesome problem, Evelyn Andrews has compiled some pointers on how to buy a good knife.

Miss Andrews is head of the consumer service department of the Carvel-Hall Cutlery Co. Her pointers.

1. The quality of steel determines the efficiency of the knife. Blades which take and hold a razor sharp edge are made of high carbon and vanadium steel.

These are the knives preferred by chefs, and the blades have a gray look rather than the shiny finish of stainless steel.

They have one disadvantage for the housewife—the blades may darken or rust if they are not wiped carefully after each use.

HARDER TO RESTORE

2. Stainless steel is easier to keep clean, but the edge doesn't last as long and is harder to restore.

3. Grinding determines the excellence of a blade edge. There are two main types of grinding—hollow and flat. Properly done, they should have equally good cutting edges.

If you examine a well-ground knife edge under a high-power microscope, you will see a series of fine saw-teeth like the edge of a feather. When the knife gets dull, this edge bends over.

If it is a good quality steel, a few light strokes with a sharpener will restore the edge. If it is poor quality steel, the edge probably is gone forever.

4. When buying a knife, draw your thumb and forefinger from the back of the blade to the edge. The thinness of the edge will tell you how sharp it is. It should taper gradually from back to edge.

FLEX KNIFE BLADE

5. The blade of a well-constructed knife should extend at least half way into the handle, and be secured by rivets.

6. One way to test the temper of a blade is to flex the knife blade on a table top. How much does it give? Well-tempered steel has little give.

7. Examine the back edge of the knife along the heel of the blade. The thickness will tell you how much steel there is in the blade. Better knives have more steel in them.

Minimum knife equipment for the average kitchen is said by experts to consist of five basic knives, as follows:

1. A 3 or 4-inch paring knife, for peeling potatoes and a dozen incidental uses.

2. A 6 or 7-inch utility knife, for halving oranges, slicing tomatoes, and such chores.

3. An 8-inch cook's knife, for trimming meats, mincing vegetables, and many other uses in preparation of food.

4. A carving knife, for carving hot roasts and fowl.

5. An 8-inch narrow slicer, for making thin slices of cold meat, turkey and chicken.

To preserve the efficiency of your knives, store in a special knife holder. Never throw them loose in a drawer with other cutlery.

Soup 'n' Cereal Are Good Team

Breakfast a problem? It is in most households, and doubly so, come summer. For you may have been able to keep the small fry at table long enough to see they were properly fortified for school, but when the myriad outdoor delights beckon, it's another matter!

Here's a simple, speedy solution to the breakfast dilemma—a child-filling meal that's built around hot soup and your youngsters' favorite cereals.

Startling? Perhaps, but the novelty may be just the thing to appeal to the younger set. Now for the basic menu:

Hot Soup in a Jug
Pick-up-and-Sprinkle Cereals
Mixed Fresh Fruit
Milk, Flavored Milk or Cocoa

It's possible to compose infinite variations on this basic soup and cereal theme. For instance, how about a steaming bowl or mug of chicken with rice soup with crunchy cornflakes or bits?

Scotch broth takes kindly to a sprinkle of almost any kind of ready-to-eat cereal. Cream soups are always a good breakfast choice, and vegetable and tomato, too, may be made with milk for added nutrition.

In the fruit department, combine several of the season's fresh plentifuls in a fruit cup.

Or, for children in a real hurry to be out and doing, section several firm fruits—say an apple, orange, and pear—then put one or more sections of each together to form a round, securing the whole with toothpicks. Perfect for out-of-hand munching on the way to that ball game!

P.S. Grownups, too, can reap extra energy profits from this basic breakfast plan.

Increase Appeal of Rice Pudding

When it comes to pudding for the dessert course, creamy rice pudding is an all-time favorite. Furthermore it is a dessert that takes naturally to glamorizing.

It can be served in sherbet glasses with a heaping tablespoonful of raspberry preserves or marmalade swirled through it in a marbled effect. Or topped with a cloud of meringue and flavored with almond extract, it is a dish fit for a king.

Or you can serve it in brandy snifters with a middle layer of luscious ripe red strawberries for a colorful tasty combiation.

Any way you serve it, you can pack lots of eye appeal as well as taste appeal into the dessert course.

Rice pudding made with this recipe featuring sweetened condensed milk is just as good as it looks. This rich, smooth combination of whole milk and sugar comes in a 15-ounce can.

* * *

Added to the cooked rice and eggs, sweetened condensed milk gives the pudding an extraordinary creamy consistencey. Try it once on your family and you'll be serving it often.

Creamy Rice Pudding

½ cup uncooked rice, washed
3 cups boiling water
1½ teaspoons salt
1½ cups (15-ounce can) sweetened condensed milk
½ cup raisins, if desired
2 eggs, slightly beaten, if desired
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Put rice, water and salt in top of double boiler. Cover and put over bottom of double boiler containing rapidly boiling water. Cook until rice is tender, about 40 minutes.

Stir in sweetened condensed milk and raisins. If eggs are not used, continue heating over rapidly boiling water until mixture thickens slightly, about 12 minutes.

If eggs are used, reduce heat and add eggs slowly while stirring rapidly; continue to heat until mixture coats a spoon, about six minutes.

Remove from heat and stir in vanilla and nutmeg. Spoon into sherbet glasses or brandy snifters alternating layer of rice pudding with layer of strawberries.

Top with one large strawberry. Serve warm or cold.

Use Lemonade to Make Easy, Cooling Treats

When you want to serve something long, cool and lemony, surprise your guests with a Lemonade Freeze, made with frozen concentrate for lemonade.

The handy little cans of frozen lemonade from sunny California contain pure California lemon juice packed with just the right amount of sugar to make lemonade when water is added according to directions.

To make Lemonade Freeze, you just make lemonade by adding water in the proportion directed on your can of frozen lemonade, and then blend two scoops of lemon sherbet with each cup of lemonade.

Blend the lemonade and lemon sherbet until fluffy in an electric blender or other mixer.

The easy way to make lemon sherbet is with frozen lemonade, too. Here is a simple recipe:

Easy Lemon Sherbet

1 large can evaporated milk
1 can frozen concentrate for lemonade
Sugar, to taste

Chill the can of evaporated milk, whip the milk until stiff, blend in the frozen concentrate for lemonade, add sugar to taste. Pour in ice tray and freeze. Stir twice while freezing.

Pack Chewing Gum in Your Picnic Basket

It's time to haul out that picnic basket, Mom, because this time of year nothing beats a picnic for good, old-fashioned family fun. What to put into that basket? You're the expert on that, with your experience at picking picnic foods that are tasty, easy to fix and easy to eat.

And don't forget those little packs of chewing gum that add to the fun and top off the picnic meal to a peak of perfection! Pass some gum around on your way to your picnic spot. It will keep the kids in a patient mood without spoiling their appetites.

Chewing gum after lunch is a good idea, too. It helps cleanse the teeth, aids digestion and adds extra pleasure to picnic activities.

So remember to pick up some packages of chewing gum when you're doing that picnic shopping. Those popular packages will perk up a picnic every time.

Watercress, to be fresh, must be bright green, crisp and clean. Wilted or yellowing leaves means the cress is getting too old for use.

Don't Store Foods in Your Car Trunk

LANSING (AP)—Don't store picnic foods in the trunk of your car, the State Health Department urged motorists planning summer picnic trips.

If the sun is hot, the department said, the trunk will turn into an oven to hatch out any bacteria that might be in the food.

"Then your family might come down with food poisoning," said Dr. F. S. Leeder, head of the department's division of disease control.

The department said although there are only a few deaths each summer in Michigan from food poisoning, it is "quite common" in the summer and can be very severe.

Serve 'Cuke' Sticks

Cucumbers, sliced into pencil sticks, are a refreshingly new accompaniment to any meal. Soak the sticks in mildly acidulated salted water until crispy. Drain well. Don't forget to pass the salt shaker!

ZIPPY SALAD DRESSING — When the mercury starts to rise, a simple salad of tomato slices will be appreciated. Such a salad is delightful served either for luncheon or dinner. Serve with a unique dressing that contains sauerkraut juice.

Kraut Dressing Peps Up Salads

Be particular about the way you dress your salads. For instance, a salad dressing made with kraut juice has lots of zip and flavor and will enhance the simplest salad and add appetite appeal.

The tanginess of kraut juice makes it an ideal dressing ingredient.

Zippy Salad Dressing

2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¾ cup sauerkraut juice
1 egg, well beaten
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup sour cream

Combine sugar, flour, paprika and mustard. Blend in sauerkraut juice and egg. Cook over boiling water, stirring occasionally, until thickened.

Add butter or margarine and stir until melted; cool slightly. Chill. Fold in cream. Serve with tomato slices. Makes about 1¼ cups.

Chives Impart Onion Flavor to Green Salad

Your daily salad, so important to good health, has a delicious and mild onion flavor if you cut a few stems of chives in with the head lettuce you are using.

Remember nature's pattern in planning salads. Use lots of green lettuce. Accent it with smaller amounts of foods and flavors that blend.

How much dressing to use on a green salad? Don't be wildly generous . . . just add enough so, when tossed together, dressing nicely coats each leaf.

The best-liked dressing for either green salads or head lettuce is the simplest to make. Use three parts oil to one part lemon juice or vinegar. Then add seasonings to taste.

Easiest dieting is to begin both lunch and dinner with a crispy head lettuce salad. It's a filling but low-calorie food.

Introducing a new food to your baby? Give him a tiny taste first. As he gets used to the food and seems to enjoy it, increase the amounts.

Harassed Wives Now Dial 'M' —for Menus

LONDON (INS) — Harassed wives in Hull, Yorkshire, who cannot decide what to give hungry husbands for dinner, will soon be able to solve their dilemma by reaching for the telephone and dialing "M" for menu service.

Hull is the only city in Britain with a municipally owned telephone service.

Everywhere else in the country the telephone services are operated by the Government owned British General Post Office.

Every day a different menu, with recipes planned by experts will be tape-recorded and played to Hull housewives for the cost of a two-cent call to the local exchange.

The "Dial for a Menu Service" idea was suggested by the Hull municipal authorities by bachelor Councillor George Waddington.

His proposal quickly met with approval and the municipal authorities will put the menu service into operation shortly.

Berry Glace Pie Looks Professional

Here's a delightful, delicious strawberry pie with a professional looking glaze.

Strawberry Glace Pie

3 pints fresh strawberries
1 cup sugar
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
1-16 teaspoon salt
9-inch baked flaky pie shell
½ cup heavy cream
1 tablespoon sugar

Wash, hull and slice strawberries. (Save six large berries for garnish.) Mix sliced berries with one cup sugar. Place in a strainer to drain for 45 minutes. (Add water to juice to make one cup, if necessary.)

Thoroughly mix the juice, cornstarch and salt until there are no lumps. Cook, stirring constantly and vigorously over moderately low heat, until thickened—4 to 6 minutes. Cool.

Place strawberries in pie shell. Pour glace over. Chill for two hours. Top with cream beaten with one tablespoon sugar.

Hollow Out Cucumbers and Fill With Cheese

Score the skin of a cucumber with a fork. Hollow out the center of the unpeeled vegetable. An apple corer helps. Mash cream cheese, a little cream and some ripe Liederkranz cheese. Only a very little cream should be used as the mixture should be quite firm.

Stuff the cucumbers with the cheese mixture and chill in the refrigerator. Slice with a sharp knife and serve on rounds of pumpernickel bread. 'S wonderful!

Blend Mocha Drink

Like mocha flavor? Put a teaspoon of instant coffee and a teaspoon of instant cocoa into a cup. Fill with boiling water and add cream and sugar to taste.

Rich, Tantalizing Cream Sparks Any Food Flavor

Cream is a dairy food with such a rich, delightful flavor that it enhances the flavor of any food with which it is used.

According to federal standards, cream should not contain less than 18 per cent butterfat.

Light cream, which is also called coffee or table cream, contains between 18 and 30 per cent butterfat. It is chiefly used for coffee and tea, on cereals, and on berries and fresh fruit. Combined with milk, it is particularly good in oyster stew.

Half and half is a product consisting of a mixture of milk and cream which contains between 10 to 12 per cent butterfat. It has many of the uses of light cream.

In addition, half and half is delicious just heated and seasoned for serving over vegetables such as peas, lima beans and whole kernel corn.

TEMPTING FLAVOR

Whipping cream is a form of cream with a tantalizing flavor that makes it popular for dressing up desserts. Light whipping cream contains at least 30 per cent butterfat, but less than 36 per cent butterfat. Heavy whipping cream contains not less than 36 per cent butterfat.

It's easy to whip cream if certain tricks are followed. The cream must be cold, and both the bowl and beater should be well chilled in the refrigerator.

Thirty-eight degrees is a desirable temperature for the cream; then it requires only a small amount of whipping to fluff and thicken it. Of course, cream that contains at least 30 per cent butterfat should be used.

The size of the bowl should be in proportion to the amount of cream to be whipped. If only a small quantity of cream is to be used, a small bowl is the best choice. The bowl should be deep with straight sides.

A little granulated sugar can be folded in for a slight sweetening when the cream is almost stiff.

Whipping cream lends a glamorous touch to gingerbread, spice cake, pie, puddings, ice cream sundaes and parfaits. A spoonful of lightly salted whipped cream dresses up any cream soup; sprinkle a bit of paprika on top for color.

Bacon and Asparagus Are Tucked Into Rolls

Folks are never too old or too young for pleasant food surprises and here is one to serve with the salad luncheon or supper. It's Bacon and Asparagus Brown 'n' Serve Sandwiches.

Split large brown 'n' serve dinner rolls in half horizontally and butter. The filling: One slice of crisply cooked bacon folded to fit, two spears of asparagus and a 1-inch strip of thinly sliced Cheddar cheese.

Fasten sandwiches with toothpicks and place in a greased, shallow pan. Bake at 400 for 12 minutes. Brush with melted butter and serve hot.

Pineapple Ham Patties

Pinapple Ham Patties: Here's an excellent suggestion for using up those last odds and ends of ham which are suitable only for grinding:

Mix 2 cups of ground cooked ham with one-third cup of bread crumbs, a dash of cloves, 2 teaspoons of brown sugar and one beaten egg. Form into four patties and place on four slices of canned pineapple in a shallow baking pan.

Pour one-half cup of pineapple syrup over patties and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for 20 to 25 minutes.

Ever add bits of anchovies to eggs you are scrambling? Good!

Contrast Vegetables

Combine cooked and raw vegetables in a salad for taste and texture contrast. Use crisp celery or cucumber, for instance, with cooked beets, peas, snap beans or asparagus cuts.

Bake Biscuits to Please Dad

Come Father's Day, give Dad his bacon and eggs for breakfast but add something special. Put him in a nostalgic mood by whipping him up a batch of baking soda biscuits, the type that Grandma used to make, and dress them up a bit for the occasion.

You might give the following recipes a dry run some evening when Dad is working late and see which the youngsters think he'll like best. Then on Sunday morning, bring the winners steaming hot to the table and watch Dad dig in.

Upside Down Biscuits

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons water
- ¼ cup pecan halves
- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons granulated sugar
- ⅓ cup shortening
- ½ cup white (distilled) vinegar
- 6 tablespoons milk

Combine butter or margarine, brown sugar and water in saucepan. Heat, stirring constantly, until sugar melts. Do not boil.

Pour a scant tablespoon of this syrup into each of 16 2½-inch muffin cups. Arrange pecans over the syrup.

Sift flour, baking soda, salt and granulated sugar together. Cut in shortening. Combine vinegar and milk; add to dry ingredients. Stir with fork until flour is dampened.

Knead one-half minute on lightly floured board. Roll or pat out about one-inch thick. Cut with floured 2-inch cutter. Place a biscuit in each muffin cup.

Bake in 400-degree (hot) oven about 15 minutes, or until lightly browned. Serve hot.

Give Desserts Glamor With Applesauce Whip

Beat two egg whites until stiff, adding one-fourth cup powdered sugar while beating. Add 1 cup junior applesauce and an extra one-fourth cup powdered sugar alternately as beating continues.

When very stiff, add extra flavor dividend of 1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice.

This whip does not store. Use at once over gingerbread, macaroons, gelatin desserts, fruits — such as peaches or sliced bananas. Luscious filling and topping for chocolate layer cake.

Children love it over crumbled plain cookies or graham crackers.

Care of Strawberries

When you bring fresh strawberries home from the market, dump them out of their containers into a flat container where each berry will have plenty of room. Cover with waxed paper and place in the refrigerator. Do not wash or hull the berries until you are ready to use them. Don't slice and sugar them, either, until shortly before using.

Heifer calves mature into milk-producing cows in approximately three or four years; the longest production cycle of any major food product.

Dry Milk Can Be Used in Macaroni and Cheese

Casserole dishes are favorites at our house at all times of the year for they are satisfying, economical and easy to prepare.

Just about the most favorite of all is that old reliable, Macaroni and Cheese. And the version most preferred is a recipe with tomatoes and crumbled bacon added.

And speaking of "preferred lists," many food shopping lists these days are highlighting instant nonfat dry milk which is winning friends and influencing family meal budgets — both penny-wise and nutrition-wise.

Instant nonfat dry milk fills all milk uses in the home—drinking, cooking and baking—we tried it in our Macaroni and Cheese Favorite recipe.

VALUE MINUS FAT

Instant nonfat dry milk gives real milk nourishment without the fat for it is top-quality pasteurized milk from which only the fat and water are removed. In other words, it is a valuable source of protein, calcium and riboflavin. And it is most economical too.

It is available at the grocer's in two sizes: A 1-pound package which makes five quarts of nonfat milk for as little as eight cents a quart and a pre-measured package containing three individual foil-lined envelopes, each of which makes one quart of nonfat milk.

Macaroni and Cheese Favorite

- 4 tablespoons butter
- 1 medium-size green pepper, diced
- 2 tomatoes, cut in eighths
- 1½ cups liquefied instant nonfat dry milk
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ½ pound sharp processed cheese food, shredded
- 3 strips crisp bacon, crumbled (optional)
- 1 package (1½ pound) elbow macaroni, cooked and drained

Melt butter in small skillet. Saute green pepper and tomatoes until tender. Pour liquefied instant milk into top of double boiler. Sprinkle combined flour, salt and pepper over surface. Beat with rotary beater until just blended.

Cook, stirring constantly, over hot water until thickened. Add cheese; cook stirring until cheese melts. Add vegetables and crumbled bacon; blend well.

Place cooked macaroni into 1½ quart casserole. Pour cheese sauce over macaroni, mix lightly.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 20 minutes. If desired garnish with bacon strips. Serves four to six.

Frozen Salad Is Dairy-Rich

June is Dairy Month—the time for focusing special attention on milk and milk products. The green grass grows all round, all round, meaning more pasture for this country's 24 million cows. And as a result we get more milk, with all the good things made from milk.

A delicious way of serving up some of these nutritious dairy foods is with a Frozen Fruit Salad. This recipe teams fruit with creamy smooth cottage cheese.

The flavor and nutritive value are heightened with fresh-frozen orange juice concentrate. Because most of us are counting calories these days, only a little cream is added for extra richness.

Freeze until firm, then unmold onto crisp lettuce. For extra garnish, a small bunch of watercress, fresh and fragrant as a bouquet of Parma violets, will add an appealing fillip to your salad's good looks.

Frozen Fruit Salad

- 1 cup cottage cheese, sieved
- ½ cup heavy cream
- ½ cup milk
- 1 can (6 ounce) frozen orange juice (undiluted)
- 1 cup diced melon
- Watercress, melon balls (optional)

Blend all ingredients together except watercress and melon balls. Line ice cube tray with waxed paper, extending 1-inch over edge of tray, and fill with mixture.

Set refrigerator dial for fast freezing and place mixture in freezing compartment. When firm, unmold on platter. Garnish with watercress and melon balls, if desired.

May be served with mayonnaise. Cut crosswise to serve. Approximately six to eight servings.

Don't Be Influenced by Food Faddists

Miss Oberhelman, extension food and nutritionist specialist of Purdue University, states that the health of a vast number of people is being endangered by the unsound dietary recommendations of food faddists.

People should beware of food faddists or as they are more aptly called "nutritional quacks." They can be spotted because they almost always have something to sell. They are apt, also, to make sensational claims against familiar foods.

Some faddists have been known to rule out even milk and enriched bread although research and use have shown how important they are to the health of young and old alike.

No one food is able to supply all the nutrients necessary for the normal person. Actually it is important to eat a great variety of foods.

Daily portions of meat, eggs, fresh fruit and vegetables, milk, enriched yeast-raised bread and cereal and butter are all necessary for a healthy body. Food fads which deprive a person of one or more of these foods can be quite dangerous indeed.

Team Rhubarb, Strawberries in Luscious Pie

Do try a rhubarb and strawberry pie if you want something luscious.

For a 9-inch pie, we use 2 cups of rhubarb cut into ½-inch pieces and 2 cups of whole strawberries. We mix the rhubarb and berries with 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 1¼ cups sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, and turn them into the pastry-lined pie plate.

Then we dot the fruit mixture with 1 tablespoon of butter or margarine and top with latticed pastry strips.

The pie is baked in a hot (425 degrees) oven for about 45 minutes or until the syrup boils with heavy bubbles that do not burst. Prepare your flakiest pastry for this pie so it will be a true match to the filling.

And here's a dessert youngsters usually like: Rhubarb sauce over sliced bananas.

Rhubarb conserve is delectable with toast and tea. If you choose a recipe that calls for rhubarb, oranges, sugar, raisins and walnuts, you'll have a particularly delectable combination.

Frozen Sentiment

As an unusual "extra" for the bride and bridegroom, offer to freeze two pieces of the wedding cake in your freezer, says Sara Walls, home economics director for a freezer company. One year from the day of the wedding, see that the happy couple receives the wedding cake for their anniversary dinner.

Broiled Swordfish Simply Prepared

Called Broadbills by sportsmen to distinguish them from other big game fish like marlin and sailfish, swordfish is one of the most popular seafoods sold in the United States.

So distinctive is its flavor, as a matter of fact, that it needs only a minimum of attention from the cook and only the gentlest suggestion of seasonings.

Here's a delicious way to cook this gourmet fish, recommended by the National Fisheries Institute.

Broiled Swordfish

Sprinkle swordfish steaks with lemon juice, salt and white pepper. Brush with melted butter. Put on preheated greased broiler pan. Place pan 2 inches from source of heat. Broil three minutes.

Turn carefully, brush again with melted butter, and repeat seasonings. Broil five minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serve on heated plater garnished with parsley and lemon wedges.

Perk Up Vegetables With Buttery Topping

Vegetables can have glamor with very little extra trouble, and can be served as a separate course, as they are in France. This buttery topping is particularly good with cauliflower and asparagus.

Place one-half cup butter and one-third cup fine bread crumbs in a saucepan. Season with salt and pepper. Saute until browned.

Stir in one-fourth cup grated Parmesan cheese. Makes about three-fourths cup topping.

State Berries to Be Plentiful

Strawberries, the first of the homegrown fruits to mature in Michigan each year, are appearing in volume on the markets throughout the state, and are providing the chief ingredient of that favorite dessert, strawberry shortcake.

Mashed, strawberries also make excellent topping for ice cream and many other desserts. Thousands of housewives will can or freeze strawberries for use during the months to come.

That the 1955 crop now being harvested will be larger than last year's crop in Michigan is doubted by few market observers, despite a May freeze. On the morning of May 9 a freeze in most strawberry-producing sections of the state killed blossoms, some immature berries as well as some buds, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

But the acreage in the state was larger than that last year. Michigan had an estimated 11,000 acres for the 1955 season, a thousand acres more than the year before. The acreage was the largest east of the Pacific Coast among the late-producing states.

Besides that ample rainfall last fall put strawberry plants into the winter in excellent condition. A good winter for them brought strawberry plants into the spring with prospects of a crop greater than the average crop during the five years from 1949 to 1953. The average those years was 1,390,000 crates of 16 quarts each.

Being a shallow-rooted plant, the strawberry is greatly subject to weather conditions. With ample moisture following settings of blossoms, there are plenty of plump, red berries. But dry weather, coupled with high temperatures, means smaller, less juicy berries.

The Weather Man is the deciding factor with strawberries, but irrigation on some farms is providing moisture when needed.

Let Husband Star at Outdoor Supper

A patio supper that spotlights the man of the house is another pleasant summer possibility. Not only will he be the center of attraction as he performs his culinary magic, he'll be the one bending over the fire . . . and too happy to care.

There will always be a certain amount of preliminary organization to do, but cleaning up will be a breeze, especially if you indulge in paper plates and paper napkins. Here's a dinner designed especially to star your husband as cook:

Ham Frizzle
Roasted Corn
Tossed Green Salad
Pickles Olives
Blueberry Shortcake With Cream
Iced Coffee

Ham Frizzle

1 small onion, minced
⅓ cup catsup
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons melted margarine or butter
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 pound boiled ham, thinly sliced

Combine onion, catsup, brown sugar, vinegar, mustard, margarine or butter and seasonings. Grill ham slices, basting frequently with the sauce. Serve on toasted enriched yeast-raised buns with any remaining sauce. Makes six servings.

Use Frozen Lemonade as Dessert Flavoring

Remember frozen lemonade is a handy seasoning — particularly good with frozen fruits. Mix a few spoonsful of the frozen concentrate for lemonade with the partially thawed berries or fruit, and let mellow until serving time.

This pure California lemon juice, which has sugar already added, brings out the flavor and adds a special lemon tang.

Fine Cooking is Specialty with Congressman's Wife

Maine has its fine cooks. One of them is Mrs. Clifford G. McIntire, wife of Congressman McIntire of Maine.

Her curried cabbage and cherry parfait are two proofs that a public-minded woman can also be interested in family recipes.

Mrs. McIntire is helping to fight juvenile delinquency. She works through her church and with the schools trying to improve conditions in her state.

Nevertheless, her Sunday dinners are famous for bounty and originality.

Curried Cabbage

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 clove garlic, sliced
1 pound head cabbage, shredded
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ teaspoon curry powder
2 cups diced fresh tomatoes (optional)

Melt butter or margarine in a large saucepan. Add garlic and brown. Stir in remaining ingredients. Cover.

Cook over medium heat only until crisp-tender. Makes six servings.

Cherry Parfait

2 egg whites
¼ cup sugar
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
1¼ cups fresh sweet cherries
6 whole fresh cherries for garnish

Beat egg whites until they stand in soft peaks. Gradually beat in sugar. Fold in whipped cream.

Arrange alternate layers of cream mixture and crushed sweet cherries in parfait glasses. Chill.

Top each with a whole fresh cherry just before serving. Makes five servings.

Strawberries, Honey Yummy on Ice Cream

Here's an easy way to fix strawberries to serve over ice cream:

Wash a pint of berries in cold water and drain; hull and slice. Mix the sliced berries gently with a quarter cup of honey; refrigerate about an hour so the berries and honey will be kin! You'll have about 1½ cups—enough for six scoops of vanilla ice cream.

Topping for broiled tomatoes: Fresh bread crumbs mixed with olive oil and grated Parmesan cheese.

Delicious Stuffed Eggs

Want those stuffed eggs you're taking along to the picnic to taste extra good? Mash the yolks with deviled ham, mayonnaise and a bit of grated onion. Of course the eggs must be hard-cooked and cut in half before you start this deviling process.

Frozen lemonade's an ideal punch base—adds zest and tang to other fruit juices. For extra sparkle, mix with gingerale.

Corned Beef and Cabbage Is Not an Irish Dish Say Emerald Isle Guests

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Corned beef and cabbage isn't a typical Irish dish! We hate to disillusion you like that, but we've had the word of an Irishman who is visiting this country.

Mr. and Mrs. Brendan O'Regan of Shannon, Ireland were weekend guests in the Cooley Lake home of the Gordon Schulte's. We had known for some time of the impending visit and had asked for some typical Irish recipes. Mr. O'Regan who is in charge of all the catering at the Shannon Airport had the chef get a set of recipes ready for us.

First, let's clear up this corned beef and cabbage business. Mrs. O'Regan concedes the boiled cabbage as Irish, but says it would be most likely accompanied by boiled bacon. Irish and American bacon differ. Theirs is more lean than ours which Mrs. O'Regan considers too fat.

The Irish have good meat; they grow most of their own and even during World War II didn't have the meat shortages of other European countries.

The Irish diet is less varied than the American one. This according to Mr. O'Regan, is due to several factors. Because Ireland is in the same latitude as part of Hudson Bay, the growing season is short and cool. Agriculture has not progressed so far nor so rapidly as in the United States. And fruit like oranges must be imported.

While some of the recipes we received sound interesting and delicious, they are not usable here, as one or more ingredients are unobtainable. The recipes themselves make good reading for bits of folklore are written in here and there.

This first recipe is for shrimp, or what the Irish call prawns.

Prawns in Clover

20 Jumbo shrimp

Frank Dexter, association president, said that residents wishing to contribute to the project and insure a wider spraying could still be included if they acted immediately. Cost to property owners is approximately 23 cents per foot of lake frontage.

Ex-Trailer Dweller Wants to Sell Bath

WAKEFIELD, England (AP)—Norman Pickersgill is trying to sell his bathroom.

It stands all alone in the middle of a 3½-acre field—a neat little structure of rustic brick with a red tiled roof. The equipment is most modern.

The real estate agent explained that Norman, a grocer, used to live in a trailer in the field. Since the trailer did not boast a bath, Norman spent 400 pounds $(1,120) building one.

Last month he moved into a house. Now he wants to sell his field—and whoever buys it will have to take the bathroom too.

The use of marines (soldiers on warships) dates as far back as naval history.

Summer Play Programs Set at Five Waterford Schools

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Playground programs are being conducted this summer with regard to the concentration of population and the limitation of recreation department finances, Superintendent Thomas Belton has announced.

Five elementary schools in the township have been selected for playground programs: Donelson, Covert, Four Towns and Stringham for half days each, and Drayton Plains for full days.

"Frequently asked questions by parents sending children to playgrounds are: who can come; how can they get there; what will there be for them to do; are the leaders responsible people; and is there any cost?" stated Belton.

Some answers to these questions continued Belton are that "all township and school district children 5 to 14 years of age are eligible, but of course we expect the majority of attendance to be from the playground neighborhoods."

Parents are requested to to provide transportation when homes are not within walking distance of the playground.

MANY ACTIVITIES SCHEDULED

Programs throughout the summer will feature arts and crafts, athletics, special activities like pet show, a bicycle parade, hobo hikes, trips to the Detroit Zoo and Recreation Day Camp, archery lessons and dramatics.

All playground leaders are experienced and will have participated in a full week of pre-playground staff training, Belton said. An adult leader and teenage assistant will be on each playground.

There will be no charge with the exception of a few pennies cost of arts and crafts materials.

The playground program will open June 27, and will run Monday through Friday.

DRAYTON ON FULL-DAY PROGRAM

The Drayton Plains playground will be open from 9-12 and 1-5 p.m. daily.

The Covert School grounds will be used from 9-12 a.m. June 20-July 22; and 1-5 p.m., July 25-August 19. The Donelson School has just the reverse, afternoon sessions from June 20-July 22, and morning hours from July 25 to August 19.

The Stringham school will begin wtih morning sessions from June 20 to July 22, and then switch to 1-5 p.m. daily from July 25 to August 19. Four Towns School has just the opposite times.

But Williams Wants It Back

On-Again Off-Again Bill Abolishes Judicial Council

LANSING (AP)—You remember the bill that passed Legislature but didn't pass, the agency that was abolished but wasn't abolished and other antic matters which indicated Michigan's Senate had sort of lost its grip?

Well, Gov. Williams has given both sides a victory.

He signed a bill to abolish the State Judicial Council — then recommended it be revived next year.

It's too long a story to recapitulate in full, but you may recall that the Legislature voted to abolish the Judicial Council because it wasn't doing anything. Created in 1929 to recommend changes in Michigan judicial procedure, the council's duties have been taken over by the new state court administrator operating under the State Supreme Court.

Then, you will certainly remember—having followed these matters closely—that Williams asked the Senate to recall the bill to save him the embarrassment of vetoing it.

MORE SUPPORT

It seems that Associate Justice Henry M. Butzel of the Supreme Court and Prof. Edson R. Sunderland of the University of Michigan Law School, wanted the council preserved. They are both members of it.

Some senators said they wanted the prestige of membership on the council.

Then you will also remember that the Senate refused to recall the bill.

Then it developed that some Senate staff man had recalled the bill anyway. So the Senate passed the bill a second time and told Williams to go ahead and veto it if he didn't like it.

Well, he didn't. He signed it, abolishing the council.

But then he sent a letter to Justice Butzel bewailing the fact that since the Legislature had passed the bill he didn't feel like he could veto it.

NEW FUNCTIONS

But he said he thought the council ought to have some functions to perform that other state officials weren't performing now.

So he asked Justice Butzel and Prof. Sunderland to draft a bill for the next Legislature to re-establish the council.

"I should be happy to support such legislation," Williams said.

How to Enjoy Old Age—4

Work Keeps Oldsters Solvent . . . and Happy

This is the last of four articles providing expert advice on how to achieve a long and happy life, and how to prepare for your later years.

By EDWIN DIAMOND

CHICAGO (INS)—In a very few years, almost one out of every seven Americans will be 65 years of age and older.

What will they be doing, where will they live, how will they spend their time, how will they earn the extra money it may take to keep them independent and secure?

Mdical science has given us extra years to live—but what is being done to make them happy and useful ones?

Here are some examples of action and planning for "senior citizens" around the country:

BUSINESS CONSULTANT

In Wilmington, Del., Maurice DuPont Lee became tired sitting around after retirement. He organized the Consulting and Advisory Service, Inc., to "rescue" floundering small businesses. There is a similar group in Rochester, N.Y., and Experience, Inc., in St. Louis, Mo.

At Fort Pierce and Lake Wales, Fla., a retired Wisconsin machinery manufacturer named Curt Joa set up plants on a four-hour, double-shift basis using engineers and designers who had retired there.

In New Hampshire, the League of Arts and Crafts makes furniture, jewelry, pottery, weavings, etchings, metalware and other craft objects. There are 3,750 members of the league. Most of them learned their craft or art late in life.

Mrs. Philip Lafollette of Madison, Wis., organized the Woman's Service Exchange to provide job opportunities for older women. The exchange finds work and prepares women through guidance tests and counseling.

SUNSET INDUSTRIES

In Haverhill, Mass., a group of businessmen formed Sunset Industries, a non-profit corporation to provide work for older men and women. So far, three enterprises have been launched, making items from shirts to hockey sticks.

The Council of Social Agencies in Portland, Ore., started "Senior Craftsmen of Oregon"; the first items marketed were 100 bean-bag clowns. That order was filled in less than two days.

Around the country older people have organized clubs based on mutual interests or problems as an alternative to life in a rocking chair.

In Pasadena, Calif., one group calls itself the Vanguard Fellowship and meets in the Westminster Presbyterian Church. Among its activities are an opportunity shop (light factory work on a piecework basis), sewing club, arts and crafts shop, garden club and camping group.

"THE FOSSILS"

In Washington, D. C., retired professional men call themselves "The Fossils" and hold regular sessions. In Cleveland, the public library sponsors the live-long-and-like-it club, one of the largest older groups in the country.

Now 10 years old, the Cleveland club meets weekly for lectures, book reviews, discussion groups, music and movies. It has 700 members.

In San Francisco, the Senior Recreation Center occupies a wing of the Maritime Museum in Aquatic Park. More than 1,000 oldsters are dues-paying members of the center.

They take courses in subjects ranging from millinery to world affairs. Each member is responsible for serving on one committee a month—underlining the emphasis on responsibility and self-dependence.

ADULT COURSES

In the field of formal adult education (college-work or organized study), there are an estimated 4,500,000 adults taking classes ranging from anthropology to Swedish and the "great books" to "common sense about common stocks."

Malcolm Knowles, administrative co-ordinator of the adult education association, declares there are a whopping 49 million adults engaged in educational activity of some kind today.

Proper diet, good housing, adequate medical care, books and television, neat appearance, travel; and tuition for schooling all cost money.

Clark Tibbitts and Wilbur J. Cohen, both of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, note that this problem is getting increasing recognition. Writing in the magazine Adult Leadership, they say:

PENSION PLANS

"This recognition lies behind current efforts to promote employment, to extend and increase Social Security benefits, to broaden voluntary health and disability insurance coverage, and encourage the growth of private pension plans."

But there is much the individual can do to promote his financial stability. Insurance expert Ray Giles, author of "How to Retire and Enjoy It," urges:

"Know your assets."

He recommends you have an accurate knowledge of the present and future cash value and possible retirement income on your life insurance, of the income value of your pension plan if you have one, and of your Social Security old age payments.

Planning for retirement involves many considerations.

In recognition of this, a pioneering program to make the period of later maturity a happy and useful one has been developed by the Industrial Relations Center of the University of Chicago, under the direction of Drs. Robert Havighurst and Margery J. Mack.

It is called "Making the Most of Maturity" and is designed for use in private industry. Small groups of employes, aged 55 or over, meet in 10 conference sessions at the plant for discussion based on assigned reading.

The readings are on such subjects as nutrition, mental health, leisure and living in later years, the medical facts of aging, financial planning for retirement and living arrangements.

Each one is written in simple, understandable style by an expert in the field—a banker, psychiatrist, doctor, gerontologist.

The course hopes to supply facts, stimulate thinking and generate action on the part of the individual to make positive use of the extra years now within grasp.

Busy Traveler Picks Spot for Retirement

NEW YORK (AP) — Where in the world would you go if you had the whole earth to pick from? Harold White, retiring from the presidency of Thomas Cook and Son after 46 years spent in travel and tourism, picks 10 spots:

London, Rome, Palestine, Paris, Switzerland, New Zealand, Holland, Japan, Bermuda and Hawaii.

And with the whole earth to pick from, where has White picked for his own retirement?

He will live in Harrison, a suburb of New York City. He will spend his summers at Fourth Lake in New York's Adirondack Mountains.

But What'll He Do When He Nabs One?

IRONTON (AP)—A cock pheasant which chases automobiles, much like a dog, has taken a mile of country road as his domain. He often startles motorists rushing from a roadside field and charging along with the front wheels, his hackle feathers bristling.

Glen Williams of Ironton believes the pheasant is one of a flock he raised last year as a sportman's club project. And Williams thinks he likely is guarding a harem in a roadside field or at least "showing off" for a lady love.

As news of the car-chasing bird spread, more and more motorists started swinging into his doman and driving 10 miles an hour to see the bird run, crowing and cackling.

Judge Declines Offer

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (UP) — Charged with speeding at 55 miles per hour, Orlando Froio offered to give his car to anyone who could drive it faster than 40. Judge Charles Alberti didn't take up the offer but proved the car would go 55 and fined Froio $25.

AMA Offers Advice to Men for Long Life

CHICAGO (INS)—Women live longer than men, and the reasons for it may offer some tips to men seeking to lengthen their lives.

Experts say, first, that there is evidence the female of the species is biologically stronger than the male—more male babies die than female.

Since 1920 male death rates, the AMA reports, have gone up fast from heart disease and peptic ulcer while female deaths have decreased from these causes in the same period.

The AMA points out "these diseases are commonly associated with excessive nervous tension."

The AMA adds that the relatively higher death rates from various disease, alcoholism, homicide and accidents for men "may be due to their greater aggressiveness and lack of cdution."

162 H.P. V8

180 H.P. V8

See that fine fat mountain yonder?

You can iron it out, flat as a flounder . . . and easy as whistling!

Just point one of Chevrolet's special hill-flatteners at it (either the 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" or the 180-h.p. "Super-Turbo-Fire"*) . . . and pull the trigger!

Barr-r-r-r-o-o-O-O-OOM!

Mister, you got you a flat mountain!

. . . At least it feels flat. For these Chevrolet V8's gobble up the toughest grades you can ladle out. And holler for more. They love to climb, because that's just about the only time the throttle ever comes near the floorboard.

And that's a pity. For here are engines that sing as sweetly as a dynamo . . . built to pour out a torrent of pure, vibrationless power. Big-bore V8's with the shortest stroke in the industry, designed to gulp huge breaths of fresh air and transmute it into blazing acceleration.

So most of the time they loaf. Even at the speed limit they just dream along, light and easy as a zephyr, purring out an effortless fraction of their strength.

. . . Until an emergency screams "NOW!" . . . until your foot bangs down and that V8 explodes into action . . . a tornado of fiery concentrated urge that snatches you ahead to safety like the crack of a whiplash!

An engineer can run his eye over the specifications of these V8's and instantly understand why they are so hyper-efficient . . . how friction is held so low they need just four quarts of oil instead of the usual five or more . . . how big valves and short manifolds let them "breathe" deeply for maximum power . . . how the 12-volt electrical systems (exclusive in Chevrolet's field) provide twice the punch for cold-weather starts and faultless high-speed firing.

But you don't have to be an engineer to know that these are the sweetest running V8's you ever piloted. Just come in, slip behind the wheel, point the nose at the nearest hill, and feather the throttle open. These V8's can do their own talking . . . and nobody argues with them!

*Optional at extra cost.

Favorites Plentiful as National Open Begins

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Golf's blue ribbon tournament, the 55th annual United States Open, gets underway today with 161 players launching a bid to win the crown worn by Ed Furgol, a man who may prove tough to dethrone.

Seventy-two holes of competition lay ahead of the field of 130 professionals and 32 amateurs, concluding with the exacting double round of 36 Saturday. Most of the experts predicted the winning score would be over par 280 for the route.

The great, the near great and the hopeful were entered, ranging from 58-year-old Bobby Cruickshank of the old-timer division, Ben Hogan of the present era to a 17-year-old youngster from Washington, D.C., Beane Deman.

Few of the sideline observers could settle on a single favorite. The list of so-called solid threats included Furgol, the defending champion; Hogan, hoping to become the first golfer to win this event five times; Cary Middlecoff, Sam Snead, Byron Nelson, all of the established star ranks. Then there are Gene Littler, Mike Souchak, Bo Wininger and others of the younger men, as well as perhaps the leading amateur in the lineup, ex-British Amateur champion Harvie Ward, Jr., of San Francisco.

First threesome booked to tee off was the lesser-known Ted Gwin of Fort Worth, Ralph Arnold of Englewood, Colo., and Bob Moore, Fairfax, Calif., set for 8 a.m. Pacific Daylight Time.

The better known players, for the most part, were scheduled to tee off during the afternoon.

The rolling, tree-trimmed lake course of the Olympic Country Club is the scene.

It measures a comparatively short 6,700 yards, with par 35-35—70. But the rough has been allowed to get extra rough. And trouble, at least in practice rounds earlier in the week, was not hard to find.

Furgol won the open last year with a 4-over-par 284 at Baltusrol in New Jersey, and while the St. Louis pro could hardly be expected to win it twice in a row, he entered this one sharp after taking top money in the international event at Washington last Sunday.

Only five players, Hogan included, have scored successive triumphs in the Open.

Hogan, in what might be his last shot at No. five, first won this tournament in 1948 with a record 72-hole score of 276, set at Riviera Country Club in Los Angeles.

Middlecoff, 1955 Masters champion and 1949 National Open victor, is another threat who is on top of his game.

Sarazen Picks Littler to Win National Open

Veteran Discounts Sam Snead, Gives Nod to Younger Players

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — Veteran golf champion Gene Sarazen picked California's Gene Littler today to win the National Open which gets underway in San Francisco today.

The old pro describes Littler as "the finest prospect I ever saw" and says he believes the 24-year-old San Diego golfer would amass a collection of titles that would outshine Bobby Jones and Ben Hogan.

Sarazen eliminated Sam Snead as a possibility because he has been mentally knocked out of the event so often and said he didn't believe Hogan could win his fifth try at the cup.

Sarazen described the new crop of golfers as "young, strong and confident," he said:

"They are the greatest hitters of the ball the game has ever known, playing with the most perfect equipment man can devise and on courses laid out to accent their tremendous drive."

He also mentioned as strong contenders for the title, Mike Souchak, former Duke gridder; Frank Holscher; former amateur titleholder Billy Maxwell; Francis (Bo) Wininger of Oklahoma City and Arnold Palmer, last year's national amateur champ.

'Raised' on Open Course, Rosburg Selects Middlecoff

NEW YORK (NEA) — Bob Rosburg practically was raised on the 2 courses of the Olympic Club of San Francisco. The brilliant newcomer to the tournament ranks has played more than 500 rounds over the Lake Course, site of the U. S. Open championship, so speaks with intimate authority.

Rosburg picks Dr. Cary Middlecoff to win the Open with a score of 285. He adds that this is no place for a darkhorse, and sees only name shotmakers composing the first 10 finishers.

"The Lake Course is a genuine and fair test," he says. "It's a tee shot course because it's heavily wooded and rough has been allowed to grow alongside of pinched fairways. You've got to keep the ball on the fairway to finish the round, let alone score."

Rosburg warns the combatants not to be fooled by Ed Furgol's 72 when the defending champion shot against the nation's men players on Golf Day.

"It was 89 degrees in San Francisco that afternoon," he points out, "and there wasn't a breath of air. It's rarely above 74 and also you don't know where the tees were. When Hogan shot the 64 at Baltusrol on Gold Day last year, the tees were far forward."

Because there are more dogleg left than right, Rosburg stresses that the Lake Course is set up for a right to left player. To name 2 famous names, Julius Boros is a right-to-left player. Hogan is a left-to-right.

Middlecoff is as straight as it is possible for a golfer to be. Sam Snead is straight enough on courses where the penalty is not too severe for straying, but his best friends are afraid Sammy will wander when he gets to steering shots in the Open.

Description of Open Course

Here is a hole-by-hole description of the Lake Course of the San Francisco Olympic Club, where the nation's leading golfers begin firing today in the 55th U.S. Open Championship.

The course measures 3,325 for the 1st nine with a par of 35, and the incoming nine totals 3,375, par 35 for a total of 6,700 yards and a par of 70.

No. 1—530 yards, par 5. A tree-lined fairway, with a 2-level target area. Calls for 2 prodigious wood shots to reach the green in two.

No. 2—423 yards, par 4. One of the more treacherous par 4s on the course. A hook-shot to the left-tilted target area brings the ile below fairway level and stymies the shot to the green.

No. 3—220 yards, par 3. Difficult short hole with an elevated tee playing to a green below tee surface. Bold green surfaces require exact putting.

No. 4—433 yards, par 4. A left dog-leg with the tee pushed back so the shot is through an avenue of trees. Green is blind and fringed with rough.

No. 5—457 yards, par 4. This hole dog-legs to the right, and the slightest error in hugging the trees, cutting off the corner, makes a difficult shot to the green.

No. 6—427 yards, par 4. A strong par 4, trapped at 240 yards. Undulating green is protected by a dip. A narrow entrance makes a tough second shot.

No. 7—266 yards, par 4. A short par 4 but the target area is small, hard to hit and surrounded by rough.

No. 8—139 yards, par 3. This hole is well trapped, with the green about 20 feet above the tee.

No. 9—420 yards, par 4. A strong hole, downhill to a tilted target area. Best play is to the right side of fairway, making second shot easier.

No. 10—417 yards, par 4. A right dog-leg, threatening rough and a small green. Pin positions well protected.

No. 11—429 yards, par 4. Green is elevated with a strong trap at right. Green contouring is rolling and treacherous if green is fast.

No. 12—387 yards, par 4. Difficult green cannot be seen from the tee. Trapped to the left and right, making an interesting and difficult pitch.

No. 13—187 yards, par 3. Avenue of cypresses make a treacherous hazard; green is long and narrow.

No. 14—410 yards, par 4. A deep gully is a big threat on this strategic hole.

No. 15—144 yards, par 3. A short shot to a narrow, island-type green flanked on three sides by traps.

No. 16—603 yards, par 5. Could decide the title. Longest hole on the course, requiring two full wood shots and possibly a 4-iron.

No. 17—461 yards, par 4. Green is a large target, trapped to the right and requires considerable power. Takes big shots to get home in two.

No. 18—337 yards, par 4. A fine finishing hole. A drive and possible 9-iron reaches a narrow tilted green.

Linksmen Aim at Conrad in Dixie Golf Tournament

LINVILLE, N.C. (AP) — The field gets its first crack at defending champion Joe Conrad today as match play began in the Southern Golf Assn.'s 49th annual amateur tournament.

Joe appeared ready for the challenge. The 25-year-old redheaded Air Force lieutenant from San Antonio, Tex., hurried here in quest of his unprecedented third straight Southern title after winning the British Amateur and reaching the semifinals of the French Amateur earlier this month.

Conrad headed the upper half of the draw as as he met Jack Lumpkin of Athens, Ga.

On top the lower bracket was 18-year-old Teddy Garrison of nearby Morganton who won the medal with 66 yesterday for a 144 total. Garrison, who won the Carolinas Junior title last week, is a 125-pound North Carolina State College student.

His 31-35 was the only sub-par round in two days of qualifying play.

Garrison drew Frank Edens, a dangerous fellow Tar Heel from Lumberton, as his first-round opponent.

Match Play Starts Friday

Strong Field Bidding for Title Flight Berths in 6th Annual Pine Lake Tourney

A fine field of golfers from Detroit district clubs made qualifying bids for the 16 openings in the championship flight of the annual Pine Lake Invitational golf tournament, starting Friday.

The scotch 4-ball affair will include 112 teams, but only 16 will be in championship competition.

Actually, a few qualifying rounds by the 2-man teams already have been turned in, with a 74 by Tom Sheehan and Bud Gould the best score up to now.

Defending champion Tony Skover is back, but will team with Bob Whiting, since his 1954 title partner, Dick Whiting, Bob's brother, is unable to compete. Also returning are last year's runnersup, Bill Nettle of Pine Lake and Bill Pettibone of Red Run.

Other top-rated entries include Randall Ahearn and John Driver; the Red Run combine of Perry Byard and former state amateur king Tom Draper; Art Olfs and Dick Wibel; Harry Linklater and Doug Williams; and a pair of young stars, Joe Grace Jr., and Tom Chisholm.

Match play begins Friday morning and pairings will be drawn up tonight, following the conclusion of qualifying rounds.

The beautiful, tree-bordered fairways and tricky greens of the Pine Lake course are in perfect shape for the 6th annual affair, a fixture on the summer golf schedule for Detroit-area players.

Teams select the best driver on each hole, then play alternate shots. Close competition is the rule rather than the exception in this event. Last year's finale went to the 18th green where Skover and Whiting edged Nettle and Pettiboone, 1-up.

Quarter-finals are slated for Saturday and the surviving teams will play dual rounds on Sunday, semifinals in the morning and the finals in the afternoon.

6 From Area in Open Field

Harbert, Burkemo Are Top-Rated State Links Stars in Frisco Test

Nine players from the Michigan area are in the field for the National Open golf tournament, starting today in San Francisco.

Six of the state's qualifiers have affiliations in the Oakland County area. Leading the "locales" in the big tourney are National PGA champion Melvin (Chick) Harbert of Meadowbrook Country Club, and former PGA king Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills.

Pete Cooper, new pro this year at Knollwood Country Club, was medalist in the state qualifying trials, and others playing the 1st round at the Olympic Club today are Max Evans, veteran tourney-circuit player from Utica; Joe Thacker, an assistant at Knollwood; and 25-year-old Fred Challen, new assistant pro at Birmingham CC.

The other Michigan qualifiers are Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., Bob Inman of Detroit Golf Club, and Larry Tomasino.

Here are the Thursday and Friday starting times (EST) of the players of local interest:

10 08-1-44—THACKER, Elmer Reed, Bill Waryan.
11 04-2 36—BURKEMO, Chandler Harper, Lawson Little
11 36-2 12—HARBERT, Lloyd Mangrum, Ted Kroll
12 16-3 52—HORVATH, Ernie Vossler, Fred Haas.
12 24-4 00—CHALLEN, Gene McNulty, Don Hoenig.
12 40-4 16—TOMASINO, Jack Fleck, Walker Inman Jr.
12 48-4 24—COOPER, Ed Meister, Al Besselink.
1 36-10 00—INMAN, Louis Bisoro.
1 44-10 08—EVANS, Bob Duden, Bill Moran.

Gosper Wins 3 Titles

Michigan State's Kevan Gosper, Australian born dashman, captured both the indoor and outdoor Big Ten 440 titles and the conference indoor 600-yard championship during the 1955 season.

Tigers Stagger, but Top Yanks

NEW YORK (AP)—The Detroit Tigers today were trying desperately to solve their 9th inning "sinking spells" that have seen them blow one game and almost blow another in the space of two days.

The Tigers outlasted the New York Yankees 8-6 yesterday but it came mighty near being a repeat of Tuesday night's fiasco when Detroit frittered away a three-run lead in the last of the ninth inning.

At one time the Tigers held an 8-1 margin over the league leaders and they still were on the long end of an 8-4 score with the Yanks coming up for their last bat.

But Gil McDougald opened the 9th with a single and when Andy Carey walked, manager Bucky Harris got Billy Hoeft out of there in a hurry and tossed in rookie Babe Birrer.

Pinchhitter Joe Collins eased the tension by popping up and Mickey Mantle made the second out with a long fly. Irv Noren, another pinch swinger, doubled home two runs and that brought up Eddie Robinson.

The Yankee first baseman had two home runs to his credit for the day but Birrer took a little off a fast ball and forced Robinson to loft a lazy fly that Al Kaline hauled in for the final out.

The Tigers did all their hitting and scoring in the first four innings off Johnny Kucks and Tom Sturdivant, then were held hitless the rest of the way by Sturdivant, and veteran Jim Konstanty.

Back to back homers by Jim Delsing and Frank House in the 4th accounted for three of the Detroit runs. Delsing's blow came with a man aboard.

A single game today closes out the current activity against the Yankees. Frank Lary was due for the Tigers against Tommy Byrne. After the Yanks the Tigers travel to Baltimore for a four-game set starting Friday night.

On the trading front the Tigers made one deal before the Wednesday midnight deadline, buying first baseman Earl Torgeson from the Philadelphia Phils. The price, as usual, wasn't announced but the guesses ranged around $25,000.

The Tigers settled for Torgeson, a left handed hitter, when they failed to land Ed Robinson from the Yankees. To make room for the newcomer the Tigers sent pitcher Leo Cristante to Buffalo.

However, the Detroit front office indicated Cristante would be back almost immediately. Bonus rookie Bob Miller can be farmed in a week, opening a spot.

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP)—Patty Berg, who moved into the national golf picture 20 years ago, and Louise Suggs, leading money winner of the year, carried a substantial lead into the third round of the $8,700 Round Robin tournament at the Grossinger Country Club today.

Miss Berg, from St. Andrews, Ill., had a score of plus 38 on a medal tally of 74-72—146. Miss Suggs, from Sea Island, Ga., was nine points back after turning in a 72-hole score of 72-75—147 over the 6,370-yard course.

Birmingham and Rochester Victors

Birmingham and Rochester were winners in the 18th District American Legion baseball Wednesday night. Rochester's record was leveled at 1-1 on a forfeit victory from Berkley.

Meanwhile, Birmingham notched its 3rd straight win by tripping Clawson, 7-2. Clawson, which outhit the winners, 7-5, grabbed a 2-0 lead in the 4th inning, but it was short-lived.

In the home half, Birmingham put together 2 walks and doubles by Bill Apple and Ray Podulka to take a 3-2 lead which never was relinquished. Terry O'Connor was the winner and Tom Raines was tabbed with the loss.

Jackson Victor in Trans-Miss

DES MOINES (AP)—Jimmy Jackson, the Walker Cup player from St. Louis, went to work today against John Morrell, a Chicago veteran, in the second round of the Trans Mississippi golf tournament.

Jackson, a 32-year-old salesman and the defending champion, hasn't had a difficult job selling himself as a favorite to repeat. Right around par in practice rounds, Jimmy went one under yesterday in sweeping to a 7 and 6 victory over Glen Oatman of Kansas City.

Jackson and Morrell were first off in a 16-match afternoon field from which three of the eight seeded players were missing.

Jim English of Topeko, Kan., the 1950 Trans champion and ranked No. 8; Ed Hopkins of Abilene, Tex., holding the No. 6 position, and George Clark of Ottumwa, Iowa, No. 5 in the 64-man field, were first round casualties.

MANHASSET, N.Y. (AP) — You can't blame Mrs. John Isselmann of Manhasset if she is wondering today what is so tough about the game of golf.

Mrs. Isselmann has been playing less than two months but yesterday she stepped up to the tee for the 165-yard third hole at the Plandome Country Club and promptly dropped her drive into the cup for a hole-in-one. She used a four wood.

Injury Mars Lions' Win in Softball Tilt

Waterford Lions nosed out Richardson Dairy, 2-1, in Waterford Township Softball League play Wednesday night, but the game was marred by the injury to Richardson's catcher Frank Keelean.

Keelean suffered a fractured leg in the 5th inning while sliding into 3rd in a vain attempt to get 3 bases when his fly ball to right was dropped.

The Lions broke a 1-1 tie in the 5th for the winning run as Leslie walked and advanced on a sacrifice, wild pitch and Jim Long's single. "Fat" Keith was the winner on a 2-hitter, while loser Jack Nelson gave only 4.

Western Sends Ace Southpaw Into NCAA Tiff

Wake Forest won a berth in the finals last night by blanking Oklahoma A. & M., 2-0, behind the four-hit pitching of John Stokoe. Western drew a bye last night because it was the last team to lose in the double-elimination tournament.

Tonight's battle will be the 3rd meeting between Wake Forest and Western Michigan. The Michigan team won the first game, 9-0, while the Deacons took the second, 10-7.

Graham, a senior who has chalked up a 7-1 record in the tournament, will be backed by Miki Schwartzkoff, of Utica, a sophomore right-hander who has won eight straight in tournament play.

Drobny Gets Toughest Task of Any of Top Netters at Wimbledon, Says It Is Just What He Wants

LONDON (AP)—Reigning champion Jaroslav Drobny took a look at the draw for the All-England tennis tournament opening at Wimbledon Monday and said: "It's just what I hoped for."

It sounded hard to believe.

The veteran ex-Czech southpaw, rated No. 6 in the seedings, faces the toughest fight of any of the big names.

If things work according to form to get to the final he would have to beat favored Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and two top Australians —Mervyn Rose and Lew Hoad.

Trabert is the top seed for the battle for the worlds top tennis title. Ken Rosewall of Australia is seeded second and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia third.

Said Drobny: "I've never played Trabert but I think I have the game to beat him."

Said Seixas: "It's just as wide open as ever but there has to be a favorite then Trabert is my choice."

Before clashing with Drobny, Trabert looks set for a second-round battle with Britain's dark horse, Roger Becker. The British experts think this agressive young Londoner is the home forces first real chance to break the recent overseas monopoly on the title. But they do not expect him to make it this year.

Seixas is of the opinion that eight or nine players have a good chance to win the championship.

"Lots of things can happen in two weeks of play and you need a lot of luck," he said. "But Tony has been playing well back home and he'll take a lot of beating."

The handsome Philadelphian made this forecast yesterday after he and Trabert were upset by the Italian Davis Cup team of Orlando Sirola and Nicola Pietrangeli in the third round of the men's doubles in the London Grass Courts championship. The Italian won 6-4, 6-4.

IOC Group Awards '60 Games to Rome

By Press Wire Service

PARIS (INS)—The 1960 Olympic summer games will be held in Rome.

The International Olympic Committee announced its decision after representatives from 42 nations cast their ballots at today's meeting in Paris.

Seven cities had been competing for the summer games, and Rome had been favored, along with Lausanne, Switzerland, to win the nod. The delegates followed tradition and ignored a proposed "free ride" to Detroit.

The occasion marked the 2nd time the summer games have been awarded to the Italian capital. The 1908 games were due to be held in Rome. Eighteen months before they were to start, the Italians said they could not stage the big sports festival and London had to step in.

Rome's early failure was harped upon by its competitors this week.

The Romans have more than enough money this time. "Totocalcio," a national football (soccer) lottery, brings in about half a billion lira ($800,000) every Sunday during the nine months season.

Rome is well-equipped for the games—with hotels, transportation facilities, bulk of population to draw from, communications, a reservoir of officials thoroughly familiar with the olympic sports, and with such necessities as a stadium, training grounds, pools and playing fields.

The 100,000-seat stadium which Dictator Mussolini began, is ready and appropriately named, "Olympic Stadium."

The stadium is in the center of a sports complex called "Foro Italico" on the right bank of the Tiber River.

The complex includes two smaller stadia, three indoor swimming pools and two marble buildings to house such events as basketball, cycling, wrestling, boxing, weight lifting and gymnastics.

Detroit, considered to have a better chance for the 1964 games in view the 1956 games will be held outside Europe, came up with its revolutionary offer yesterday.

Fred Matthaei, head of the Detroit delegation, made the offer that caught the committee members by surprise. He said that funds from television sponsors would be used to pay the travel expenses, which he estimated at an average of $300 for each athlete.

The voting on the site for the winter games will be tomorrow.

The sites involved are Squaw Valley, Calif.; Innsbrück, Austria; Garmisch - Partenkirchen, Germany and St. Moritz, Switzerland.

Squaw Valley has developed from a little known contender into a very serious challenger. Innsbruck shapes up as the most serious competitor.

Podoley to Quit Grid?

DETROIT (UP) — Jim Podoley's football future at Central Michigan College may depend on his showing at the national decathalon championship in Indiana next month.

Podoley is aiming for a spot on the 1956 U. S. Olympic team. If he makes a particularly good impression in the decathalon, he'll probably drop football and devote his full time to track.

The Detroit Lions have sold more than 32,400 season tickets for 1955 in their drive to top the unofficial record of 34,000 season tickets, claimed by the Washington Redskins years ago. Six seasons ago, in 1950, the Lions sold only 8,685 season tickets.

When Chuck Davey makes his comeback fight in Saginaw this summer, it will be against one of four fighters: Alan Kennedy, Pat Manzi, Pat Lowry or Bob Rossie.

"We're matching Rossie with Lowry and Kennedy with Manzi," said promoter Julius Piazza today. "Whichever one looks the best will get the fight."

Rossie and Lowry are paired this coming Tuesday in the Motor City Arena, but the Manzi-Kennedy match will have to be held off until Kennedy gets over a case of the mumps.

Somebody asked general manager Jack Adams of the Detroit Red Wings is he out to make some more hockey trades.

"Nope," he replied, with a sly smile. "I'm not out to make any more trades. If someone wants to trade, he'll have to come to me."

Which means the Red Wings seem set for the 1955-56 season.

Earl Torgeson, the Detroit Tigers' new first baseman, never hit .300 in his major league career, but walloped 47 home runs in two successive seasons with the old Boston Braves in 1950-51.

Franklin, GMC Winners in City Softball League

An 8th-inning triple by Dick Ramsey and a follow-up single by Burt gave Franklin Products a 2-1 overtime victory over Chuck & Louie's Market Wednesday night at Beaudete Park in city league softball. The game-ending blows came after two were out.

Franklin's Cal Bidwell and C & L's Louie Styles staged a fine mound duel. Bidwell spaced four enemy hits, struck out 6 and walked 2. Styles was touched for six safeties. He fanned four and issued two passes.

GMC trounced the Elks, 8-2, in the nightcap at Beaudette, collecting 11 hits off Don Hill. Alan Dennis hurled for the winners, allowing six hits. He struck out 10 and walked none.

Two girls' contests were featured at Northside Park, GMC and Giles Realty winding up on top.

GMC staved off a last-inning rally by Shaw's Jewelers to score a 13-12 win. Shaw's chased home five runs in the 7th inning of a wild game, but fell one short.

Giles Realty handed Avondale a 9-3 thumping in Northside's opener. Bernice Dennis pitched three-hit ball, while her teammates were banging out an 11-hit attack. Giles assured themselves of the win with 5 runs on an equal amount of hits in the 5th stanza.

Don Nicholie 9 Tops Unionmen

Real Estate Team's 1-0 Victory Features Duel Between Lewis, Hruska

Don Nicholie Real Estate baseball team scored one run in the 1st inning Wednesday night at Wisner Field. It proved to be the only run of the game, which handed the CIO club a 1-0 setback in the Class A city league.

Contest was featured by a brilliant pitching battle between Nicholie's Dick Lewis and the Union nine's Jack Hruska. Only three singles were garnered off the offerings of the two hurlers, Lewis permitting two of them.

The lone hit off Hruska, by 2nd baseman Dave Zittel in the 4th, did not figure in the scoring. The run which beat Hruska was unearned.

Lewis struck out eight Union batsmen while issuing four abses on balls. He also hit one batter. One of the two safeties he allowed was an infield hit. Hruska fanned nine and walked two. Five of his whiffs were consecutive and he struck out the side twice.

Game-winning tally in the 1st stanza was scored by centerfielder Jack Cole. He reached 1st on a fielder's choice, stole 2nd, and advanced to 3rd on an infield out. He then crossed the plate on a fatal error by 3rd sacker Dick Ayling.

HURONS' ACE—Danny Searle (above), former Pontiac High School athletic star, was the pitching ace for the Michigan Normal College varsity club this season. The Pontiac southpaw posted a 6-1 record and against Western Illinois was the winner in both ends of a double header. He won both contests in a relief role. Although he batted only .133, he hit a grand slam homer to help win the final game of the season, once again as a relief hurler.

Agase Versatile Star

Michigan State's defensive line coach, Lou Agase, won football, wrestling and track letters in his freshman year at Illinois, then concentrated on football the next three years to rate as one of the best all-around tackles in the Big Ten.

Marion's Juggling Earns Split

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Manager Marty Marion's busier than a one-legged man in a sack race these days what with keeping his Chicago White Sox within range of the New York Yankees and holding off the Cleveland Indians.

He really had a workout last night, juggling players and shuffling pitchers while splitting a twi-night with Baltimore. The Sox lost the first 6-5, but won the nightcap 2-0. That put them two games behind the American League-leading Yanks, who lost to Detroit, 8-6, and a length ahead of the Indians, who lost at Washington 3-0.

Trailing 5-4 in the first game, Marion pulled center fielder Minoso in to play third and moved third baseman George Kell to first in place of young Ron Jackson so he could keep pinch-hitter Bob Nieman in the game. Nieman, a long-ball threat, played left field.

Nieman wound up hitless but Nellie Fox tied it at 5-5 with a homer. And when reliefer Millard Howell went 3-0 against Harry Dorish in the seventh, Marion brought on Sandy Consuegra to pitch. Sandy got out of the frame, but was tagged for a run-scoring single by Bobby Young in the eighth that broke a four-game Chicago winning string.

In the nightcap, Mike Fornieles breezed along for six innings on a 1-0 lead after Fox had swatted his second homer of the night. But when Fornieles issued his first walk to open the seventh, Marion called in Billy Pierce. And when Pierce faltered with a 2-0 lead in the eighth, Consuegra showed up again to pack it away.

It was the third appearance in 24 hours for Sandy.

Fox was the hitting hero, getting 3-for-4 in both games while stretching his hitting streak to 11 contests. Fox tops the Sox at .323 now.

Boston made it seven out of eight in the other AL game, beating Kansas City 9-6.

In the National, Brooklyn lost to Cincinnati 5-2, but stayed 11½ games to the good as second-place Chicago lost to New York's Giants 7-2.

St. Louis belted three home runs to beat Pittsburgh 7-3 and Philadelphia blanked the Milwaukee Braves 4-0.

Washington ended a seven-game losing streak as Dean Stone three-hit the Tribe. It was the third victory and third complete game of the season for the lefthander.

Five runs in the ninth broke up a 2-2 ball game for the Giants, with reliefer Paul Giel hiting a double to start the rally that brought his first major league victory.

Al Schoendienst and Solly Hemus homered to get the Cards rolling, but Bill Virdon's two-run clout put it away in the seventh.

Mel Parnell won his first of the season for the Red Sox, with help from Tom Hurd in a four-run Kansas City ninth. Jackie Jensen hit a two-run homer in the 11-hit Boston attack as winless Ray Herbert lost his sixth.

'Jawbreaker' Peacock KO's NBA Bantam King Macias

LOS ANGELES (AP)—With a jaw-fracturing left hook, Billy (Sweetpea) Peacock knocked out National Boxing Assn. bantamweight champion Raul (Raton) Macias in the third round last night.

Peacock, of Los Angeles, didn't gain the title, for it wasn't at stake, and that one devastating punch assuredly delayed the Sweetpea's chance of a rematch for the title, for X-rays show the right jawbone is broken in two places.

It took Peacock two rounds to discover there was no use boxing the Mexico City boy. Getting nowhere in the feint-and-jab business, he started a slugging bee in the third, and 2 minutes, 29 seconds later Macias was counted out.

Macias entered the ring a 13-5 favorite, chiefly because he stopped Peacock in the ninth round of their bout in Mexico City last year. Peacock suffered a bad eye cut in that one. The Mexican started out fast last night too. He had Peacock's nose bleeding in the second.

The fight, held in the Olympic Auditorium, was nationally televised. It drew 8,519 fans who paid $37,570.

Macias weighed 122¾, Peacock 121½. It was Macias' first defeat in 15 fights. Peacock's 25th victory against nine defeats. He earned a rematch for the title.

Indians Obtain Woodling, Cox From Orioles

Baltimore Sends Byrd to White Sox; Tribe Signs Ted Gray

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cleveland Indians, battling to retain their American League championship, and the Baltimore Orioles produced the only important deal as the major league deadline for trades passed at midnight last night.

The Indians, seeking reserve strength, acquired veteran outfielder Gene Woodling and utility infielder Billy Cox, an ex-Brooklyn Dodger, in exchange for a pair of veteran utility outfielders —Wally Westlake and Dave Pope—and a bundle of cash.

A hitch developed, however, when Cox went to his home in Newport, Pa. Billy was reported to have said he didn't want to report to the Indians.

Hank Greenberg, Indians general manager, was trying to reach the third baseman by telephone last night. Cox has 72 hours to report.

The Orioles, in another deal, sold Harry Byrd, righthanded pitcher, to the Chicago White Sox for undisclosed amount of cash but in excess of the $10,000 waiver price.

The Detroit Tigers, giving up hopes of dealing with the Yankees, acquired veteran first baseman Earl Torgeson from the Philadelphia Phillies for an estimated $25,000. The Tigers were desperately in need of a first sacker since both Ferris Fain and Jack Phillips are hobbled by knee injuries.

To make room for Torgeson, the Tigers sent Leo Cristante, a right-handed relief pitcher, to Buffalo on option.

In other transactions:

The Cleveland Indians signed Ted Gray as a free agent. Gray, who saw action against Washington last night, was released last month by the Chicago White Sox because of a sore arm.

Press 'Big Fish Derby' Opening Saturday

Along with the opening of the bass season Saturday is the start of the 1955 Pontiac Press "Big Fish Derby".

For many years, this event — a 3-way contest — has attracted many entries from the countless anglers in Oakland County. A $50 U.S. Savings Bond goes to the winner in each division.

Those fishermen landing the biggest fish — judged by weight only — in the northern pike, bluegill and black bass groups will be the recipients of the bonds.

Entries in the bass division will include both large and smallmouth varieties. The contest will run from Saturday until Labor Day.

The rules are unchanged from other years. They are:

1—Entries are confined to FULL-TIME residents of Oakland County Summer residents are not eligible. Members of the Pontiac Press or their families also are excluded.

2—Fish must be taken in Oakland County waters by hook and line.

3—Fish must be brought to the Press' sports department for weighing, measurement and photographing. Where it is impossible to bring in an entry immediately, weight slips, signed by the store man who weighs it, plus the signature of at least one disinterested witness, and the fisherman, himself, must be approved.

4—In cases where weight slip is used, the fish must be weighed on approved, inspected scales.

Lucky anglers from 3 different Oakland villages were bond winners in the 1954 "Derby".

Bruce Reynolds of Milford took the prize for the largest bass, James Sherrod of Oxford was the winner in the pike division, and Dick Roach of Walled Lake took honors in the bluegill class.

Reynolds' prize fish was a 6-pound, 8-oz. largemouth, caught on July 27 in White Lake. Sherrod's pike, taken from Tan Lake, near Oxford, measured 36 1-2 inches in length, and weighed in at 10 pounds, 13 ounces.

The husky 'gill that won Roach his bond was a 1-pound, 10-ounce specimen landed in a private lake near Milford.

Entries in the contest will be accepted between the hours of 8 a.m. and 3 p.m., Monday and Friday. On Saturdays, entries will be taken until 12 noon. None are accepted on Sunday.

However, in the bass division, the lead changed hands on several occasions before Reynolds came up with the winner — by a single ounce! There likewise were several changes of leadership in the bluegill class before the end of the contest.

Quick-Thinking Hurdler Saves Race for Buddy

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Here's how a bit of teamwork helped a prep school hurdler get his buddy into the race.

Pal was busy with a field event and it appeared as though he would be late for the race. So the quick-thinking teammate jumped the gun and scampered over three hurdles before the starter could flag him down. The stall was just enough to permit the tardy hurdler to line up for the second start of the race.

Sad ending: The late hurdler failed to place.

Bonus Pick Shaw Is Signed by Colts' 11

BALTIMORE (AP)—George Shaw, one of the nation's top college quarterbacks last season and Baltimore's bonus pick in the National Football League draft, signed to play with the Colts today.

Don Kellett, president and general manager of the Colts, said the fleet Oregon back had signed for one year. No salary terms were announced.

AAA Midget Auto Show Set Friday at Flat Rock

The Flat Rock Speedway, Telegraph and Newburg Roads, will reach a notable milestone Friday night when the first AAA midget auto race ever presented there will bring many of the finest drivers in the Midwest to the oval.

Promoter Andry Barto will present the slick speed wagons — little beauties that can go at a breath-taking clip — in a thrill-packed program of six big events topped by a 75-lap feature.

The early favorite in the AAA midget show is rugged Rex Easton, who has been one of the foremost midget drivers in the country for more than two decades. Easton won the Midget AAA championship last year and missed capturing the national AAA crown only by the scantest of margins.

Easton also won the Motor City midget championship last year. He will be tough to beat. He's got a fast-moving car, he has the experience and he is one of the most coldly daring pilots in the business.

Vic Carter, the leading driver at the Motor City oval in 1952 and 1953, is another leading contender. Neal Carter, his older brother who came out of a short retirement to become an AAA midget ace again, will also take part in the race.

Final entry list has not been received but Barto expects a turnout of perhaps 35 of the best midget chauffeurs in the business.

Among those who will likely take part are such outstanding drivers as Shorty Templeman, Gays Biro, Jack Turner, Al Herman, Bill Doster and Gene Hartley.

Time trials are at 7 p.m.

Shepherd Dog Show Sunday

Detroit's German Shepherd Dog Club will hold its 20th annual puppy match and obedience trial Sunday, June 19. Site of the match is R. W. Buchmann's Woodland Shores Kennels at Square Lake off Telegraph Road.

Entries are open to German Shepherds only. Confirmation classes will be judged for dogs between the ages of two months and one year. Puppies reaching one year of age the day of the show are ineligible.

Competition in obedience will be held in all classes—novice, graduate novice, open, and utility. Obedience entries are open to all ages.

Well-known area judges will officiate and a large entry is expected. The deadline for entries is 1 p.m., with the show getting under way half an hour later. The public is invited.

Oak Wheelmen Bicycle Derby Listed Sunday

7 Events Scheduled In Royal Oak Test; Approved By ABLA

The 2nd annual Oak Wheelmen Bicycle Derby will be held in Royal Oak on Sunday at 1 p.m. The derby is sanctioned by the Amateur Bicycle League of America, and has been approved by the Royal Oak City Commission, Chamber of Commerce, and Superintendent of Schools.

The races will be run over a half-mile course, the starting and finishing lines at Washington and Sixth. The cyclists will pedal north on Washington to Fifth, east of Fifth to Center, south on Center to Lincoln, west on Lincoln to Washington, and north on Washington to finish at Sixth.

Seven events are definitely in the offing, with possibility of another. Races scheduled are: one mile, junior; half-mile, tourist; one mile, class C and novice; one mile, senior, classes A and B; one mile, girls; five miles, class C and juniors (five sprints); and 15 miles, classes A and B (six sprints).

A half-mile girls tourist event may be held if enough entries warrant its running.

Ray Hayward, Royal Oak police chief, will have the streets blocked off during the races for the protection of the riders. Trophies, merchandise, and other prizes will be awarded.

Funds have been contributed by service clubs, sport shops, business men, industrialists, and resident in the Royal Oak area to support the Oak Wheelmen's promotion of the derby.

JCC Tennis Tournament Set Saturday Morning

Six entries, all in the Junior division, have been received thus far for the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce tennis tournament. Event is Saturday morning at Oakland Park.

Dick Mineweaser of the Jaycee chapter is tourney chairman. The affair is being co-sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

Play is scheduled in two divisions—Juniors, 18 years of age and under, and the Boys class, 15 years old and below. Entrants are ineligible if they reached the indicated age limit before January 1, 1955.

All tournament competition will be singles and trophies will be awarded to the winner and runnerup in each division. The four top netters in each group will take expense-paid trips to the state Jaycee tourney at Kalamazoo July 11-13.

Application blanks may be obtained from the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce office, the Department of Parks and Recreation, and chairman Mineweaser. The tennis coaches of Pontiac and Birmingham high schools also have entry blanks.

There is no entry fee for the tournament. The deadline for applications is Friday, June 17, at noon.

Netters entered so far are Len Biallas, Jack O'Dea, Ed Dingler, Bill Bonner, Gary Wylie, and Bob Erb. All are from Pontiac except Dingler, who lives in Birmingham.

Bonner, Wylie, and Erb were members of Pontiac High School's tennis team this year.

Huntwork Wins First of PYC's Race Series

Les Huntwork skippered his Lightning sailboat to victory in the Pontiac Yacht Club's 1st of a series of 10 Wednesday night races at Cass Lake. Judy Huntwork and Harold Callahan comprised the winner's crew.

Al Gray, assisted by Jerry Gray and David Davies, came in 2nd. Larry O'Dell and his crew of John O'Dell and Jerry Liston finished 3rd.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees was the first player in the American League this season to hit home runs against every club.

Smith Swings Big Bat

Michigan State's second baseman George Smith won the 1955 Big Ten batting title with a .485 average and the team title with a .408 mark. He then gave up his final year of eligibility to sign a non-bonus contract with the Baltimore Orioles.

Parfello Is Feature Winner at Gay-Day

Chuck Partello won the 25-lap hardtop feature Wednesday night at the Gay-Day Speedway. Two track records were broken during the program, with Ken Schon topping the 1-lap qualifying mark in 21.96 seconds and Bill Dillard setting a 15-lap record in the semi-final in 6 minutes, 05.05 seconds.

Dillard also won a heat race and one of the 2 pursuit races. Rusty Kelly took the 2nd pursuit and was 2nd in the feature.

Other heat winners were Benny Howell, Partello and Cliff McKinney. Norm Wagner won the only old model stock race of the program. Hardtops run again at Gay-Day Sunday at 7 p.m.

hickory AND horsehide

By DIZZY TROUT

Since ol' Diz mentioned a few ball players' pet superstitions on the air recently, there has been so much comment that I decided to explore the subject further. The results are extremely interesting.

Tiger Manager Bucky Harris pats a resin bag with two fingers when the team is in trouble. If we're winning games, he insists on the same player writing down the line-up that Bucky dictates for the umpire. But the moment we lose, he has a different player write it down.

Ray Boone never kneels in the batter's circle, always just outside of it. Bill Tuttle wears the same sweatshirt when the team is winning and the same shorts when he's hitting consistently.

Our trainer, Jack Homel, opens a pair of scissors and jabs the points in the direction of the opposing pitcher if he thinks the enemy hurler is doing too well against our batters.

Ferris Fain has a superstition that many others subscribe to. When he sees a white horse, he licks his thumb, presses the thumb against the palm of his other hand and then pounds the dampened palm with his fist. This is supposed to bring him many base hits.

Two most universal superstitions in baseball are never allowing bats to get crossed in the bat rack and never putting away the bats until the game is over—no matter how many runs you're ahead.

Harvey Kuenn is convinced that chewing tobacco helps his batting.

At the trainer's insistence, Harvey gave up the habit in the spring of 1954 and bet him $100 he would not renew it. Thereafter he couldn't buy a hit.

Finally, in desperation one day, Harvey took a chew and got three-for-four. He continued to chew and wound up the season with a .306 average.

Harvey lost a hundred bucks but more than made it up in his 1955 Hickory and Horsehide contract.

Bob Considine Says:

Wives, Tots Abroad Dramatize U.S. Policy

ISTANBUL (INS) — You must travel to far-flung places to comprehend the extent of our commitment abroad.

At Gander, Newfounderland, tired but uncomplaining Air Force and Army wives fussed over formulas for the babies in arms, tried to keep the toddlers from being trampled underfoot, and munched listless hamburgers.

Uniformed husbands, their sleeves a zebra's leg of hash marks, their left breasts ablaze with ribbons, wandered about and policed their children or marched them off to the bathrooms.

The same tableau was on tap at the London airport, and one can see it any day at Paris, Milan, Rome, Athens, Istanbul, Jidda, all across North Africa, Karachi, Hong Kong, Seoul, Tokyo, on Formosa, Manila, Iwo, Wake, Guam and back again.

It is the most dramatic translation of our expansion within a few years from a nation of rugged isolationists to the greatest dispensers of goods and know-how in history.

Wet, wailing American babies being lullabied between planes halfway around the world from the leafy U. S. village whence the parents most likely sprang strike me as a more eloquent sign of our times than the B47 plumes I saw in the wide blue yonder over Munich.

And more eloquent than the atomic cannons we have pointed at the passes through which the Red army must advance, if it does.

The far-traveling dependents are winning this cold war, too.

LEO GETS APPLAUSE

Leo Carillo, the 110 per cent American actor who speaks with a delightfully droll Spanish accent, came up with the line which wrung the heartiest applause from Turkish dignitaries on hand for the opening of the Istanbul Hilton.

"In our country when we want to speak or hear the truth we look each other in the eye and say, 'Let's talk turkey,'" Carillo said, bringing down huge portions of the only hotel Mr. Hilton has on the Bosphorus.

The Istanbul Hilton got off to the same somewhat eerie start as the Caribe Hilton in San Juan, P.R., and the Castellano Hilton in Madrid. The electric circuits failed on opening night, casting the stars and their minor satellites into exterior darkness.

With some of Hollywood and Broadway's most beautiful women about, I got stuck in the stygian night with Art Buchwald and Oz Cocke, the TWA veep. And Vice versa.

MEETS THE WIVES

A parched traveler in from Saudi Arabia reports that Mollie Thayer of the Washington Post and Times-Herald (Mollie's a reserve Air Force lieutenant colonel on the side) got an unprecedented welcome during her recent trip there, including unheard-of receptions by the plural wives of the royal family.

He revealed, too, that there is no power on earth quite as absolute as that of King Saud and his abundant family.

A Convair of the bustling Saudi Arabian Airlines was about to take off with a full pay load of customers and freight not long ago when a member of the royal household drove up with his party and said he needed the plane for a gazelle hunt. Everybody and everything had to be unloaded.

There were so many traffic accidents during the last pilgrimage to Mecca that a simple preventive law has been laid down: Any driver who needlessly causes the death of another person will suffer the loss of his own life.

Two bus drivers were beheaded in a public square in Jidda recently, and all road traffic in the oil-soaked country is now moving at a snail's pace, minus.

ALWAYS AN ENGLAND

Picked up a "there will always be an England" item in the London Daily Mirror, coming through. To wit:

"Viscount Samuel, aged 84, is giving up the leadership of the Liberal Party in the House of Lords—a position he has held for 14 years—it was announced last night.

"He wishes to have more time for writing."

About 7.4 million of the U.S. farmers belong to one or more farmer co-ops.

Window Breaking Faster Than Repairs

CHICAGO (UP) — Windows in public schools here are being broken faster than they can be replaced.

Thomas Brett, director of plant engineering for the board of education, said 50,915 windows were broken last year.

He said most of the damage was done by vandals and that the board has placed watchmen from the Chicago welfare department in many schools in an effort to curtail the breakage.

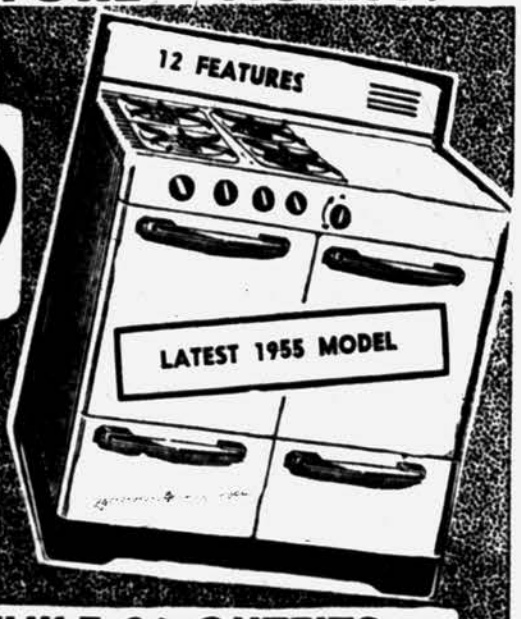

At year's end, he said, 57,267 panes were replaced but there remained a backlog of 20,569. He estimated expenditure for repairs at about $366,000 for 1954.

Plan Proposed to Aid Churches

Presbyterian Unit OKs Program to Keep Pace With Population Shift

ALMA (AP)—A plan to help Protestant churches keep pace with expanding, shifting populations in urban and rural areas has gained the approval of the Presbyterian Synod of Michigan.

Dr. Kenneth Niegh of Detroit, president of the Michigan Council of Churches and a synod executive, outlined the plan yesterday at the closing session of the synod's annual meeting at Alma College.

Under the program churches of all Protestant faiths could obtain financial aid as well as information on population trends and potential sites for church construction.

The plan proposed development of a large capital revolving fund from which churches could obtain long term loans for building purposes at low interest rates.

Studies of population trends would enable churches to purchase property in growing areas before costs became prohibitive.

Dr. Neigh said the Presbyterian sybod would present the plan to the Michigan Council of Churches and the Detroit Council of Churches for their consideration.

In other action the Rev. Donald F. Lomas of Bay City was named moderator of the synod, succeeding Dr. Lauren E. Brubaker of Harbor Springs.

Man, 92, Son, 67, Camp at Wilkins State Park

LANSING (AP) — What the state parks lost in quantity last week because of cold weather they made up for in uniqueness.

Officials of the Fort Wilkins State Park on the tip of the Keewenaw Peninsula said that a 92-year-old man camped at the park with his 67-year-old son and that some sort of a record was set when a man and wife, four sons and 17 grandchildren also camped out during the cold, wet week.

New Road to Be Built in Porcupine Park Area

LANSING (AP)—Road builders will open the dense southern part of the Porcupine Mountain State Park to motorists this summer.

In conjunction with the federal government, the State Conservation Department said it would build six miles of south boundary road at the park. Thereafter, the Ontonagon County Road Commission will maintain the road.

Japan's railroad system sold 3½ billion tickets in 1954, 17 million more than ever before.

MATCHING CONFECTION — Beverly Schenke, in Cleveland, Ohio, isn't exactly eating her hat, but she seems to have the idea. She's digging into a "coolie whirl," a strawberry and whip cream creation which matches her Oriental topper.

Dyed Chick Trade Hit by State Ruling

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh struck another blow today at the dyed baby chick business—an Easter trade practice long condemned by anti-cruelty agencies.

Kavanagh held that a merchant who gives away a baby chick to every customer who buys a certain amount of merchandise is selling the chick.

Kavanagh's opinion was requested by the State Department of Agriculture which reported some merchants were attempting to evade a law forbidding the sale of baby chicks as Easter gifts by giving them away with merchandise.

Consumers Gives $5,000 to 4-H Club Foundation

EAST LANSING (AP)—Consumers Power Co. has contributed $5,000 to the Michigan 4-H Club Foundation, the foundation announced today.

The funds will be used to promote urban 4-H club work, help establish a state 4-H club center in the north-central part of the state and aid the International Farm Youth Exchange program.

Splash Guards Required on All County Trucks

LANSING (AP)—An attorney general's opinion held today that trucks owned by county road commissions are commercial vehicles and hence must be equipped with spash guards.

The opinion, requested by Pros. Atty. Joseph L. Bauer of Eaton County, said, however, that road graders were not so classified.

Strike by British Seamen Halts Queen Mary Sailing

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP)—Britain's wildcat seamen's strike forced the 81,000-ton liner Queen Mary to cancel her New York sailing today and squeezed Britain's harried passenger lines into a tight corner.

The strikers had pinned their hopes on tying up the Mary, a pride of the great Cunard fleet. They were convinced her sailing would doom the walkout which already has tied up the 32,000-ton Mauretania and five other transatlantic liners.

The strikers failed last week to hold up the Queen Elizabeth, flagship of the line.

Cunard's attempts to get the Mary under way were blasted just 10 minutes before sailing time, when 120 crewmen joined 500 others of the 1,267-member crew who had walked off the ship yesterday.

Many of the 120 pullouts said they had not sympathized with the unauthorized strike. But they charged the line during the night had brought aboard 150 recruits whom the seamen called "scab labor."

Some 1,100 New York-bound passengers began disembarking as the Mary's loud-speakers blared out the news. Among them were 50 members of the D'Oyly Carte opera company en route for a Gilbert and Sullivan tour of the United States and Canada.

"The Cunard company deeply regrets, despite assurances which the crew gave to the master, that certain sections have elected to strike," the announcement said. "It will therefore be impossible to sail the Queen Mary."

Anticipating the tieup, Cunard had two trains ready to take the passengers back to London. It also told them attempts would be made to obtain "alternative transatlantic transportation." Many of the passengers immediately began phoning airline offices to book flights for New York.

Most of those involved in the wildcat walkout that has struck Liverpool and Southampton are cabin and dining room stewards. They are asking for a 48-hour week and increased shore subsistence. The seamen's union, however, has refused to approve the strike.

Box Car Wheels Appeal

SPARTANBURG, S. C. (AP)—Police had a real case of high-jacking on their hands. Thieves jacked up 37 box car wheels on a railway siding and stole journal brass fittings, worth about $240.

Medical Insurance Upped for Motorists

LANSING (AP)—Insurance companies affiliated with the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters are combining their extended medical payment policies for motorists with their basic medical policies.

State Insurance Comm. Joseph A. Navarre said that policies with basic medical payments outstanding on May 25, 1955, will be interpreted as including extended coverage from May 25 to the expiration date of their policies with respect to accidents occuring on or after May 25.

For policies with an effective date of May 25 or later, Navarre said, the combined medical payments will be charged at the rate in effect on that date.

Just Like Newsmen

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A news reporter finished taking a group of Brownie Scouts on a tour of the new publishing plant and asked if there were any questions concerning the printing of a newspaper.

"Yes," the girls yelled. "Can we go back upstairs and put some nickels in the candy machine?"

West Solidifies for Big 4 Talks

Three Prime Ministers Hold New York Confab to Map Strategy

NEW YORK (AP)—The West began today to unify its secret strategy for Big Four talks in San Francisco and Geneva.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles arrived yesterday for the meetings here with the British and the French.

British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pina, due in by plane this morning, completed the group for the first talks this afternoon.

West Germany joins the conference tomorrow and separate British-German talks were arranged through Saturday.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, in Boston today to receive a Harvard degree, will join the Big Three at lunch tomorrow.

Strong security precautions surrounded preparations for the meetings, aimed at presenting a united front in San Francisco next week when the Westerners meet Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Nine Survive Crash

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP) — A Brazilian airliner bearing 24 persons crashed in a heavy fog five miles from Asuncion early today and 15 were reported killed or unaccounted for. Officers of the line, Panair do Brasil, said there were 9 known survivors.

Radiation Effect Is Minimized by AEC Scientist

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Atomic Energy Commission scientist says the genetic effect on humans caused by all nuclear detonations up to last Feb. 15 would be "one failure of a fertilized egg to develop normally out of 320 billion opportunities."

Dr. Earl L. Green, member of the AEC's Biology and Medicine Division said he based his figures on an AEC bulletin. Green spoke Tuesday at a dinner conference of health physicists at Ohio State University.

The bulletin, published last Feb. 15, he said, indicated that the average amount of radiation exposure to Americans from all atomic blasts up to that time was about 1 10 of one roentgen (A unit for measuring radiation).

"We may seriously over or under-estimate the risk," said Green. "Nevertheless, it must be clearly recognized there is a risk, (and) that it is not zero."

The geneticist said any changes in genes—the body factor that determines inheritance—will be relatively small if the number of atomic explosions being set off in the U.S. and elsewhere does not increase appreciably.

Funds Still Not Freed for Cadillac Jet Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — Funds for a jet plane base the Air Force wants to build near Cadillac still were tied up today by the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee.

Chairman Mahon (D-Texas) said yesterday there will have to be more hearings on a dispute over a site for the proposed 8 1/5 million dollar base before the money is unfrozen.

Elks Honor Area's Naturalized Citizens

Over 300 persons jammed the Pontiac Elks 810 Temple last night for the annual Flag Day services honoring citizens naturalized in Oakland County during the past year.

Members of Miss Janice Antona's citizenship classes at Pontiac High School presented a program outlining constitutional history and significance of the Flag.

Charles Snyder, past governor of Michigan Optimistic Clubs, was introduced by County Clerk Lynn D Allen, Elks Americanism chairman.

Snyder praised Miss Antona for "giving to America the kind of people you have through guidance in your classes."

"EVERY DAY FLAG DAY"

He asked the audience to "consider every day Flag Day" by remaining always conscious of what the Flag represents.

"Our land is in jeopardy of infringement of civil rights by those who don't have those rights . . . we must pick up the challenge and preserve this great country . . .

"We must join hands now regardless of creed or original nationality."

Allen presented winner of the Elk's flag-display contest Jim Barnowsky, 16, of 132 E. Rundell St., and the runnerups, Mr. and Mrs. John Sluka, of 274 S. Tilden Ave.

Some 800 flags were displayed on Flag Day Tuesday in Pontiac, compared with 500 last year, Allen stated.

Former members of Miss Antona's classes who took part in the program included Joe Zdunic, who recited the American's Creed, Alice Hadden, who read a paper on "What American Citizenship Means to Me," and Inger Madsen, who talked on "Our Flag."

PRESENTED OUTLINE

The present class of 15 presented an outline of the United States Constitution.

Reds Want GIs to Leave Japan

Papers Claim Russia Hinges Peace Treaty on Troop Withdrawal

TOKYO (AP) — Major Japanese newspapers said today Russia had demanded that the United States pull its troops out of Japan and Okinawa within 90 days as the price of a Soviet-Japan World War II peace treaty.

Similar stories in Tokyo dailies said Russia made a "drastic proposal" at Tuesday's session of the USSR-Japan peace talks in London which embraced the demands the Soviets failed to win at the 1951 San Francisco peace conference.

The newspapers quoted "authoritative sources."

Earlier, Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu said Russia has renewed almost the same demands on Japan which the Soviets failed to win at San Francisco.

The Russians tried unsuccessfully then to force Japan to oust U.S. troops from Japan and Okinawa within 90 days.

Russia refused to sign the San Francisco peace treaty. Japan at the same time signed a security treaty with the United States providing for U.S. troops to defend Japan.

Kyodo news agency said Jacob Malik, chief Russian delegate at the recently convened London peace talks, had renewed the Soviet demands:

1. Withdrawal of foreign troops and bases from Japan within 90 days after the effective date of a peace treaty. Extension of Japan's sovereignty to the Ryukyus and the Bonin Islands.

* * *

2. Recognition by Japan of Russian sovereignty over Sakhalin and the Kurile Islands. Japan has been demanding return of south Sakhalin and the Kuriles, given by the Allies to Russia at the Yalta conference.

3. Recognition by Japan of Communist China's sovereignty over Manchuria and Formosa, both held by Japan in World War II.

4. Inclusion of Red China in the proposed Japan-Russia peace treaty. Nationalist China has signed the San Francisco pact.

Lighthouse Salvage Bid Fails; Parking Lot Wins

ST. JOSEPH (AP)—A "Save The Lighthouse" campaign failed to save the 96-year-old St. Joseph Lighthouse.

The city commission voted to go ahead with plans to raze the structure, built in 1859, after campaign leaders said they hadn't obtained enough money to move the building to a new site. They had hoped to convert it into a museum.

The site will be used for a municipal parking lot.

Wisdom Oftimes Found in Mouths of Babes

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania's House of Representatives has been asked to be on its best behavior.

State Rep. Samuel Frank made the request yesterday after noting that after 11-year-old Norman Batcheler's visit recently, he described the house in a newspaper interview as being "like a theater before the movie begins—and the show never started."

Frank has invited the boy to return as his guest in an attempt to correct the impression.

The number of U.S. people working on farms reached a peak in 1910 at 11,600,000, exclusive of summer seasonal labor, and has been declining ever since.

Business Doubts Spread of GAW Through Industry

CHICAGO (AP) — Some business leaders attending a National Assn. of Manufacturers seminar yesterday expressed doubt whether the modified guaranteed wage could spread through American industry.

Members of a panel on the theme of the day-long forum: "America's Economic Crisis—the Guaranteed Annual Wage," mostly were in agreement that the issue still is in doubt.

They held this view despite the recent settlement in Detroit between the CIO United Auto Workers and the Ford Motor Co. and the General Motors Corp.

For one thing, they said, the Ford and GM agreements actually are not the guaranteed annual wage but a compromise guaranteed wage.

Said Frank Rising, general manager of the Automotive and Aviation Parts Manufacturing Co. of Detroit:

"The agreements are full of unanswerable questions. We really don't know what the guy in the shop thinks of the deal, or what the average guy on the street thinks, which is all important.

GOT OFF SPOT

"Ford and GM got out of a bad spot, but the whole thing is still very experimental. Nobody knows whether it will really work."

He advised the audience of about 500 of the nation's top business executives "not to reach for the crying towel yet."

Frank R. Sligh Jr., of Grand Rapids, president of the NAM, listed numerous reasons why he thinks the guaranteed, privately supplemented wage system cannot work. He said these included:

It could actually work as a subsidy to keep a man out of the labor market.

The mobility of the labor force would be lessened, because employes would be reluctant to leave a job where they enjoyed a layoff pay.

A company's flexibility would be lessened along with its ability to weather periods of diminished business.

Costs and prices to the consumer would be bound to rise.

It would discourage company expansion and the introduction of new and improved products.

SHRINK MARKET

It would put a premium on keeping a company's labor force at a minimum and would shrink rather than expand the market for jobs.

And above all, said Sligh, "I fear the impact on small business. Many small and medium sized manufacturers say that a guaranteed annual wage on a private supplementation might force them to close their doors."

He added that it is all but inevitable that "UAW will drive to push this company-financed unemployment compensation from its present 60 per cent to 75 per cent and finally—to the hilt—100 per cent.

Dr. Robert E. Wilson, chairman of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) said earlier that a real guarantee of annual wages would boost prices and weaken industry's ability to provide more and better jobs.

Democrat Peace Drive Prospers

Butler Moves Toward Dallas in Attempt for Party Consolidation

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Chairman Paul M. Butler of the Democratic National Committee, pleased with his reception, took his "peace tour" of Texas eastward today after an invasion of conservative-voting Dallas.

Butler's efforts to iron out differences between feuding Texas Democrats apparently was bearing fruit, but there seemed just as much evidence that he had not breached the hard core of conservatism within the state party.

In his speech before 1,000 or more of north Texans here last night, he promised national committee help to defeat Dallas' Republican Rep. Bruce Alger, the only Texas Republican holding elective office in Washington, and said that "Texas Democrats are capable of taking care of themselves."

"If given time they can settle all their differences by themselves without any help from me or the national committee," he said.

He also attacked what he called "the controlled segment of the Texas press' and singled out the Dallas Morning News. He said "that to put it mildly the News is not dedicated to dessiminating the views of the Democratic party."

The crowd, which paid $10 a plate for a barbecue buffet dinner, applauded loudest when Butler spoke of "unity not unanimity" as his aim for the party and received a standing ovation when he was introduced by former State Atty. Gen. Gerald C. Mann, of Dallas.

His east Texas tour today took him to booming Tyler, Tex., and later in the day to Waco, where one of the largest crowds of his trip was expected.

Street Sweeper Collects Bonanza as Contest Prize

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—Ramon Angel, a $200-a-month street cleaner, his wife Guadalupe and their five children are $25,000 richer today.

But they haven't decided just what they are going to do with the money.

"We're going to think about it for a day or two," Mrs. Angel says.

The money, all in silver dollars weighing 1,562 pounds, was presented to the family yesterday. Ramon, 34, won it as first prize in a national sweepstakes contest sponsored by B. F. Goodrich Co.

Turks Keep Up to Date on Who's Who in Films

By EARL WILSON

ISTANBUL—Down in a bazaar here in old Constantinople, in the land of Mohammed, I heard two Turks arguing—about Hollywood stars. One insisted that a girl whose picture was in a shop window was Olivia de Haviland. The other contended that it was "Merleuburn"—Merle Oberon.

★ ★ ★ ★

They know our stars, and the friendly Turks literally leaped upon Ann Miller, Terry Moore, Mona Freeman, Diana Lynn, Irene Dunne, Sonia Henie and Merle Oberon when they toured the bazaars of Istanbul.

DIANA LYNN

But Keefe Brasselle — the only male star here for the big Hilton hotel opening—noticed that the Turks are friendlier to our females.

"I bought 20 newspapers to look at our airport arrival pictures," he said. "Not one man's picture was used."

Perhaps in the future, "B.C." here will stand for "Before Conrad." Hilton's glistening white new hotel has greatly modernized life in this city of over a million—for example, it has brought the Turks such civilization as the Martini.

For the festive opening, the keeper of Joe's Bar at the Semiramis in Cairo was flown here. Vermouth was scarce. After preparing gallons of Martinis, he put in the vermouth, using—literally—an eyedropper.

Shouts of "Shut up" were heard constantly from us guests at the formal dinner to which Nicky Hilton escorted Terry Moore. We weren't quarreling. We'd found that "Shut up" is Turkish for "wine."

★ ★ ★ ★

"Icky," a derogatory term in America, means "two" here. Elaine Sheppard of Washington got on an elevator and told the operator, "Icky," whereupon Louella Parsons remarked, "I know I don't look very good, but I didn't think it was that bad."

The big hits of the floor show here were Carol Channing, Mimi Benzell, Keefe Brasselle and an 11-year-old boy belly dancer. Tex and Jinx McCrary did a special dance, as 'twas their anniversary.

MURIAL

All of us agreed that a foreign-looking beauty was one of the most stunning women here.

"She's Eurasian," Hedda Hopper and I decided, and asked her name. She's Miss Jeanne Hansen, secretary to John Houser, a Hilton executive—and comes from Sidney, Neb.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Jerry Lewis says he'll vacation with his family in Bermuda: "That's where they grow those cute shorts" . . . Hollywood and B'way star Ricardo Montalban has signed up for Elia Kazan's Actors' Studio classes—and he hopes they'll accept him . . . French singer Robert Clary (of "Seventh Heaven") is dating Eddie Cantor's gal, Marilyn.

Jan Murray canceled his Las Vegas date to stay on TV here . . . Modern note: The bride's and groom's romantic first dance together (at Buddy Hackett's wedding at the Concord) was a mambo . . . Murial Williams is one of the attractions on CBS-TV's "Brighter Day" soap opera.

NBC execs are joyous about signing up Bob Hope again . . . ex-Mayor William O'Dwyer has an offer for his memoirs . . . Both major networks want Marge and Gower Champion to stage and star in TV spectaculars.

Elizabeth Taylor, a youthful 23, plays the mother of an 18-year-old in "Giant." Montgomery Clift's bobby sox fans don't recognize him 'cause he wears glasses when he's around (usually with Libby Holman).

Visitor Gets Jitters as Alarm, Siren Wail

BARDSTOWN, Ky. (AP) — When a visitor rattled the door of a hardware store the burglar alarm sounded, and police and spectators came running. Then the town's fire siren began screeching.

The fellow had a bad case of jitters until it was explained that the burglar alarm had gone off accidentally and that the siren just happened to sound at that time.

Murphy Aims at Fight Realism

Hero-Actor Trains 9 Weeks for Ring Scene in New Picture

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The bell rang and the actors came out of their corners. But this was no ordinary fight—they exchanged real blows.

After a couple of minutes of hefty slugging, the bell rang again. Even the hardened crowd of movie extras applauded the fighting.

One of the fighters, war hero-actor Audie Murphy, sported red on his cheek. This was no make-up; it was the real thing.

He didn't complain. A stickler for reality, he had trained for nine weeks to get himself down to welterweight and into shape for his role as a boxer in "World in My Corner." He looked in top condition and was still slugging after three grueling days of fight scenes.

His opponent was well chosen for the role. He is Chico Vejar, not only one of the country's top welterweights, but also a dramatic arts major at New York University.

While Chico was in the ring, his manager Steve Ellis provided some background on the lad. Managing is "an avocation" with Ellis. He's also a top-fight announcer, broadcasting the weekly bouts on ABC radio.

"Chico came to me about five years ago," recounted Ellis. "He said he wanted me to manage him. He was only 17 and had dropped out of high school. I told him the only way I would consider it was if he would return to his home in Stamford, Conn., and finish school."

Chico, who has Mexican-Italian blood, returned to school. When he was graduated, Ellis started him in as a fighter. His record has been impressive: four losses in 68 fights. He's now in line for a shot at the title.

His many TV appearances drew Chico to the attention of producer Aaron Rosenburg and director Jess Hibbs. And when they learned he was also a drama major at NYU, he was a cinch for the job.

After finishing a rugged round, Chico paused to talk. He shrugged off an eye cut that Audie had opened the day before.

"Jess said to really mix it up, and that's what we've done," he said. "I've seen the rushes and the stuff looks great. It's the first time I've ever seen a fight that looks real in a movie."

Grandma Breaks Her Leg Stealing Second Base

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Norma Miller, 52, was feeling mighty good. As playground director, she had just lined out a hard single in a kids' softball game.

Then she pressed her luck. Trying to steal second, she slid and broke her right leg.

She was reported in good condition at Seaside Hospital. Incidentally, she was called out on the play.

See French Versus French in Uneasy North Africa

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The assassination of a French newspaper publisher in Morocco has brought into the open a new and dangerous aspect of the situation in French North Africa.

Publisher Jacques Lemaigre-Dubreuil was killed by a machine gunner last Saturday as he came out of an office building in Casablanca.

Lemaigre-Dubreuil was not murdered by native terrorists, as so many Frenchmen have been in Morocco, Tunisia and Algeria.

There seems to be no doubt that he was shot by a fellow Frenchman—an agent of those French settlers who are fighting to the bitter end against increased home rule for France's North African possessions.

Lemaigre-Dubreuil was one of the Frenchmen in North Africa who favor home rule.

RECEIVED THREATS

These Frenchmen say that the natives must be given the greatest possible measure of self-government if Morocco, Tunisia and Algeria are not to go the way of Indochina.

Lemaigre-Dubreuil, who only recently had become the principal owner of the Casablanca newspaper Maroc-Presse, had received a number of threatening letters. Other Frenchmen who favor home rule have received similar letters.

The French government has taken an exceedingly serious view of Lemaigre-Dubreuil's assassination.

Some people in Paris hold that, in the long run, the most serious struggle in Morocco at least will not be that between the the French and the natives but between Frenchmen themselves.

As soon as the news of Lemaigre-Dubreuil's murder reached Paris, the government sent Roger Wybot, chief of the French Secret Service, to take charge of the investigation into it.

TO PROBE POLICE

Wybot was ordered to investigate the French police force in Morocco as well as the murder itself.

There have been strong complaints, some of them by officials, that while Moroccan terrorists are punished drastically by French courts, French counter-terrorists who kill Moroccans escape punishment.

French Premier Edgar Faure presided last night at a Cabinet meeting in Paris to consider the counter-terror situation.

There are two organized French groups in Morocco. "Presence Francaise" (French presence) represents the anti-home rule settlers. "Conscience Francaise (French conscience) represents those elements who believe that home rule is essential.

The French government now believes that the anti-home rulers, or some group of them, have organized a definite terrorist group and that the machine gunner who ambushed Lemaigre-Dubreuil was a member of it.

BOSTON (AP) — Twins are being studied at Massachusetts General Hospital in an effort to determine wheather heart disease is inherited or the result of environment.

Thousands of cases will be studied, however, before the doctors reach any conclusions.

Soy Tumbles; Grains Quiet

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans tumbled as much as 2¾ cents a bushel on the Board of Trade today.

Offers overnight of upwards of 10 million bushels of government-owned beans caused the break. The July delivery underwent the larger setback.

Once the initial shock was absorbed, however, the market stabilized at the new levels.

Grains were quiet and a little easy to start, but then firmed.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was unchanged to ¾ lower, July $2.01; corn was ⅛ to ½ lower, July 1.43⅜; oats were ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, July 66⅞, and rye was unchanged to ¼ lower, July $1.05¾. Soybeans were ½ to 2¼ lower, July $2.42¾, and lard was 5 to 13 cents a hundred pounds lower, July $12.60.

Learns New Methods

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Jones H. Williams, 75, served many years with the Coast Guard and participated in many rescues along North Carolina's windswept coast.

Then Williams broke a shoulder on the outer banks near Ocracoke. A Coast Guard helicopter — Williams served before the whirly birds came—quickly delivered the injured man to the hospital. CG man at the controls, of course.

LANSING (AP) — Oldsmobile reported yesterday its retailers delivered 18,788 new cars in the first 10 days of June, the largest number of sales in any first 10-day period in the company's history.

Oldsmobile retail sales from Jan. 1 through June 10 numbered 278,743. This compares with 174,517 new car sales in the comparable 1954 period. From Jan. 1 through June 11 of this year Oldsmobile new car assemblies were unofficially estimated at 296,235.

Ann Arbor Co. Paid as Congress Passes Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to pay the Ann Arbor Construction Co. $8,953 has been passed by the Senate and sent to the House.

The company would be reimbursed for losses suffered when the Army forced it to move a concrete mixing plant during construction of Willow Run airfield in 1942.

The U. S. Court of Claims last November ruled the company was entitled to the money.

Authorities Close Dawson Dealership

Dave Dawson Inc., Lake Orion auto agency, was ordered closed yesterday afternoon by civil authorities on a $40,000 Circuit Court writ of attachment.

The writ was secured by the Universal CIT Credit Corp., here, after they charged agency owner David P. Dawson, 31, with embezzling some $28,000 from them between October 1954 and May of this year.

Dawson, Lake Orion auto dealer for the past three years, is currently being sought by authorities on an embezzlement warrant.

Dangers of Big Business Being Debated on 2 Fronts

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The power of big business to smother small rivals—if it likes—is being debated today on two fronts.

1. The three smaller auto companies are complaining that they cannot match the 20-cent-per-hour wage-benefit package which General Motors and Ford granted their workers. The Little Three say they fear that the guaranteed wage would force them out of business.

2. Congressional inquiries into how big the top steel companies should be allowed to get are focusing on proposed mergers—and on the asserted need for still bigger companies to meet a huge new demand for steel in the future.

The public's interest has been centered for some time now on the plight of the three small auto companies—before their wave of mergers there were six—in what has been termed the fiercest sales competition ever among the Big Three.

To stave off a strike and keep their assembly lines going, General Motors and Ford have come to terms with the union. The size of the 20-cent package has startled many executives in other industries. For the three smaller auto concerns it's a major problem—perhaps, as they contend, even one of survival.

Senatorial curiosity—notably during the Fulbright stock market inquiry—has been turned before this on the threat of the auto sales race between Ford and GM squeezing out competition.

Both senatorial and House groups are taking a look this week at the question of bigness in the steel industry.

A House subcommittee studying antitrust problems heard this prediction from Ernest T. Weir, Chairman of National Steel:

"The country is very evidently going to have bigger and bigger businesses. There is nothing wrong with big business so long as it's the result of natural internal growth."

But on the problem of big business getting bigger by merging large companies within an industry, Weir had this warning:

"Business has now reached a size where every merger should have the most detailed investigation."

Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube had their day before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee studying antitrust problems. The two big steel companies want to merge but the Justice Department opposes out of fear of creating a situation where some giants in the steel industry might smother the small companies.

Officials of both Bethlehem and Youngstown contend that their merger would aid them to expand steel capacity to meet the future needs of the nation.

Arthur B. Homer, Bethlehem president, says: "We see growth ahead and we want to be able to meet it." He says within 15 years the industry must expand to a capacity of 180 to 190 million tons a year—that's around 50 per cent more than the 125 million it has today.

Second Garage Leased by Pontiac Retail Store

To speed service operations, Pontiac Retail Store yesterday moved some of its operations into the old Wilson GMC garage at 77 E. Huron St., manager Henry E. Gotham announced.

Gotham said a two-year lease has been taken on the 9,000-square-foot building. In it will be carried on used car reconditioning, undercoating and new car preparation, he said.

The move will provide more space in the main building at 65 Mt. Clemens St. for repair service, acording to the manager. In addition, he said, more mechanics have been added to the service staff.

First Lassie Retires at 15, Son Takes Over TV Job

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — This article should be hidden from children, but I'm still reeling from the blow of uncovering one of the biggest impersonations in show business history.

One of the top 10 TV stars isn't that star after all.

This one quietly began acting under the old man's name and not one viewer knew the difference.

The original Lassie of those MGM movies is retired at the ripe old age of 15. His three-year-old son, also named Lassie, took over during the current "Lassie" CBS-TV series and has reaped one of the most amazing successes of the year.

"The original Lassie did the first couple of TV shows," said trainer Rudd Weatherwax today on the set of the popular series.

"Then I noticed he was watching me too much for cues. His eyesight isn't so good and he would be looking for me instead of acting. So his son, his stand-in, took over."

Young Lassie is also a female impersonator, as he portrays a lady dog on the program. (Dog actors are usually male because female dogs, unlike two-footed ladies, don't retain their complete fur coats the year around). Despite this double illusion, the beautiful collie dog zoomed ahead of many top-rated shows starring two-footed actors, even those wearing coonskin caps.

Lassie ran home with an "Emmy" award and other honors from groups. He is so rich he sports a $150 blue rhinestone-studded jacket. His earnings have bought a 150-acre ranch, with plenty of trees and hydrants for his master and the Weatherwax stable of movie-TV dogs. He even supports three wives (the pups are given away on the TV program).

"We've had to turn down $200,000 worth of personal appearances for Lassie," the trainer said. "He accepted several for this summer, and his price now is $2,000 a day."

Lassie even guested on a grown-ups' show, Bob Hope, and proved such a smash hit in a satire on "This Is Your Life" that even Hope collapsed laughing on the stage.

"After that show my phone didn't stop ringing for days," smiled Weatherwax. "Lassie got thousands of letters."

Weatherwax bought the rights to the name "Lassie" for $40,000 from MGM when the contract ended for Lassie movies. Now, chuckled the trainer, the studio "wishes they had the name back and I hear they want to borrow Lassie for a movie."

Young Lassie lives in an air-conditioned room at Weatherwax home. His co-star, Tommy Rettig, often week-ends at the house and the two sleep together.

Meantime, the old retired Lassie misses his former glory. "When we leave for the studio the old dog stands in the window and barks," Weatherwax said.

"That's what these dogs live for, you know — to come to the studio and be petted and fussed over."

Seven-Months-Old Baby Strangles on Bonnet

BAY CITY (AP)—A seven-month-old baby girl stranged on her bonnet string when she slid down in her stroller Tuesday night. The victim was Mary Ellen Vogt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Vogt of nearby Kawkawlin.

State Police rushed the infant to Mercy Hospital in Bay City but efforts to revive her were futile.

Claims Collar Bone Unnecessary to Body

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Drs. LeRoy C. Abbott and Donald B. Lucas of the University of California medical school here maintain that the collar bone is a "surplus part of the skeleton."

The doctors said one of the collar bone's functions is to protect the large blood vessels and nerves around the neck, which was "probably important in sword-fighting days," but "none of the functions of the clavicle is essential to the mechanism of the shoulder joint."

They said that if detached muscles "are properly repaired" after removal of the collar bone, "normal function is regained about two months after surgery."

Nosedive Into Beer Fatal for Parakeet

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (UP)—D-D, the pet parakeet of John Gibbons, drowned his sorrows. A glass of beer caught his fancy. He perched on the rim, dipped his beak into the foam for a nip and fell into the glass.

Gibbons rescued the drenched bird but D-D was found dead on the floor of his cage next morning.

Admits Eye Is Glassy; in Fact, It's Glass

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UP)—Police testified at the drunk driving trial of James T. Smith that evidence of intoxication at the time of arrest included glassy eyes.

Smith disclosed to the municipal court jury that one eye was glass. The jury accepted his version that the police were mistaken about the other and freed him.
