Deaths Increase to 13 as Floods Become Worse

More of South Faces Threat; Damages Run Into Millions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The toll of death and destruction mounted today as new heavy rains fed one of the worst floods in the history of the Appalachian Mountain region and carried the threat deeper into the South.

Thirteen were dead in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia—first to be struck when floodwaters rolled out of the mountains four days ago.

President Eisenhower declared portions of Kentucky and West Virginia a disaster area as damages ran into millions of dollars.

Virginia Gov. Thomas B. Stanley, also requested disaster designation for six southwest counties where 2,000 were homeless and 18,000 knocked out of their jobs.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, president of the American Red Cross, said it was allocating half a million dollars for flood relief in the three states.

★ ★ ★

But even as already devastated areas began the herculean task of getting back to normal, new flood warnings were raised in Tennessee, western North Carolina and northeast Georgia.

RISING SWIFTLY

Farther south, the Warrior River was rising swiftly in Alabama, where the Tombigbee also was expected to go out of its banks.

Heavy rains continued to pound east Tennessee from Chattanooga to Knoxville. Eight and a half inches have fallen in 12 days, more than twice the normal amount for the month.

Two hundred families fled their homes at Sevierville, 26 miles

Shiny Models Await Crowds

Knudsen Opens Display

By L. JAMES BINDER
News Editor, Pontiac Press

Souped-up, fueled and fussed over for weeks by eight of the city's leading car experts, the 1957 Auto Show sprang into life without a sputter this morning and began to throb as efficiently as any of the engines that power its more than 30 gleaming "stars."

The ignition key was a pair of scissors used by Pontiac Chief Semon E. Knudsen to slash the ceremonial ribbon spanning the entrance to the show floor, located at Oliver Motor Sales' new service building, 40 Walnut St.

Business and government leaders who witnessed the ceremony were the first of estimated thousands of area residents who are expected to crowd into the bunting-bedecked building to see the three-day event.

Sponsored by eight dealer-members of the Pontiac Automotive Trades Assn., the exposition will be highlighted by a series of variety shows, fashion displays and the crowning of "Miss 1957 Auto Show."

The building's main floor, 16,000 square feet in area, will be occupied largely by 11 different makes of cars from the showrooms of local dealers. Special displays include three General Motors Corp. "dream cars," the Pontiac Bonneville and La Parisienne, and Buick's Wildcat.

A special feature of the show will be a booth at which visitors may cast ballots, at 10 cents each, for their choices among the three candidates who will vie for the title of "Miss 1957 Auto Show."

Manned by the Women's Auxiliary of Pontiac General Hospital, the booth's entire proceeds will be turned over to a special fund for helping to finance the hospital's new wing.

The winning candidate will be presented to crowds at a 7 p.m. coronation ceremony Sunday night. Nominees, who will appear on

Airplane Tests Over California End in Tragedy

Victims Include 2 Boys and 5 Aboard Craft; 73 Are Injured

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Three 13-year-old schoolboys, who were among more than 70 youngsters cut down by the flaming wreckage of an airliner-jet collision that took seven lives, battled for survival today.

A flaming DC7B commercial airliner plunged crazily into a crowded schoolyard in suburban Los Angeles yesterday after a collision in flight with an F89 Scorpion interceptor jet.

Four persons aboard the airliner were killed, the pilot in the jet died and two children playing below perished.

Seventy-one youngsters and two adults were injured.

The disaster brought a sharp demand for an end to test flights over the Los Angeles metropolitan area. Both planes were being test flown at the time of the collision.

Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles appealed directly to President Eisenhower for action after parents and public officials raised a cry for a halt to such tests.

The ill-fated planes were flying at an altitude of 18,000 to 25,000 feet when they apparently met with terrific impact. The big luxury DC-7B went into a spin and then began to disintegrate in the air just before it crashed.

A moment before the plane hit the earth, Archie Twitchell, 50-year-old co-pilot of the big Douglas plane and a part time actor, shouted over the ship's radio:

"My God, we're going to hit!"

★ ★ ★

There was a pause and then he continued in the voice of a man who is about to meet death:

"Mid-air collision! mid-air collision!

"We're going uncontrollable—uncontrollable!

"Say goodbye to everybody . ."

Control Demands Seen

WASHINGTON (INS) — New demands for stepped-up electronic control of all plane flights were certain today in wake of the tragic crash of a jet fighter and an airliner over a northern Los Angeles schoolyard.

AFL-CIO Will Refuse Ike Plan to Limit Wage Boosts

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The AFL-CIO is expected to turn thumbs down today on President Eisenhower's inflation control plan to limit wage boosts to changes in productivity.

Members of the AFL-CIO Executive Council were reported ready to approve a policy statement blaming the current wave of inflation on high prices rather than on high wages.

Eisenhower in his State of the Union message to Congress several weeks ago expressed deep concern with rising living costs.

He called on business to be cautious in raising prices and on labor to avoid seeking wage boosts beyond what is needed to compensate for rise in productivity — or improving industrial efficiency — and to adjust for higher living costs.

The AFL-CIO economic policy statement was reported to contend that many factors beyond productivity and living costs adjustment must be considered in union bargaining for wage increases.

Companies making high profits, for example, the union leaders believe, should share the earnings in the form of higher wages.

Judge Finnegan, Police in Hassle

Feud Flares as Jurist Asks Pontiac Patrolman to Take Lie Test

A long feud between Pontiac Vice Squad officers and Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan erupted yesterday following adjournment of an illegal liquor sale case.

Officers questioned Finnegan's suggestion that Patrolman John Bridgewater take a lie detector test. They complained they said, because Bridgewater was forced to identify "informants" from the witness stand. Lt. William F. Nesbitt, vice squad head, said,

"We can't operate if we let everyone know who tipped us off or helped us get into an illegal place."

Backing the officers up, Police Chief Herbert W. Straley said, "An officer's word should be taken before a lawbreaker's. Questioning our work and statements like that is an insult."

Finnegan, however, minimized the seriousness of the charges. His suggestion of the lie test, he said, was casual and was aimed at the defendant. "If he had refused to take the same test the officer agreed to, that would have seen an indication of his guilt."

WERE WITNESSES

The so-called "informants" in this case, he said, actually were witnesses because Bridgewater testified they accompanied him into the alleged after-hours place.

"Therefore the prosecution should have produced them in court," he argued.

"Of the action, Straley said "That's catering to law violators."

He referred to repeated clashes which have led to the unwritten municipal court policy that all vice squad cases come up before Judge Cecil McCallum and not before Finnegan.

PUBLIC HAS 'RIGHT'

"The public has a right to know why a judge consistently refuses to take certain cases," Straley said

★ ★ ★

Yesterday's trial, scheduled for Finnegan's court in McCallum's absence, was a rarity. The defendant, Willie H. Stratton, 64, is charged with selling Bridgewater a bottle of beer after hours in his home, 76 Wessen St.

Stratton, convicted of illegal sale three times in the past two months was freed under $200 bond pending continuation of the trial Feb. 14. The case was adjourned to allow the prosecution to prepare its brief.

Press Corrects Story of Doctor's Testimony

In a January 19 story concerning the assault trial of ex-Pontiac patrolman James B. Sexton, The Press erroneously reported that defense witness Dr. A. Tauber of Pontiac testifed that he had not personally examined Sexton.

Sexton was charged with the off-duty shooting of two friends, and Dr. Tauber testified that Sexton had suffered a temporary brain injury sufficient, in his opinion, to explain his behavior.

Dr. Tauber had examined Sexton. The Press regrets the error.

Death Toll Jumps to 13 in Flood Areas southeast of Knoxville, as water from the Little Pigeon River rose to two and three feet deep in the center of town.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Asheville, N. C., sounded flash flood warnings for the mountain section. The Southern Railroad reported three freight trains stalled by landslides in western North Carolina.

Homes were evacuated between Robbinsville and Upton, where streams fed by 24 hours of continuous rain covered sections of U. S. Highway 129.

In Tennessee, portions of Knoxville and Gatlinburg already were under water. Schools were closed and highways were cut off.

The latest drowning victim was a 11-year-old Kentucky girl, Janice Smith, swept away when floodwaters partially destroyed her home at Feds Creek in Pike County.

Gov. A. B. Chandler, returning red-eyed and unshaven from a hurried tour of flood-ravaged southeastern Kentucky, described "the most distressing scenes I've ever encountered."

He said the devastating Ohio River flood 20 years ago "wasn't anything like this one, not nearly as destructive.

"The water crept up then, slowly and menacingly, and with a warning. This one was water and force."

Twenty-three counties in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia were designated by the Small Business Administration as disaster areas.

Overcast skies held the threat of more rain and grounded Army helicopters, waiting to air-lift typhoid vaccine, medicines, food and other supplies into the flood area.

The devastated area in Kentucky followed the course of the Kentucky, Big Sandy and the Cumberland, which also reaches into Tennessee.

Among the hardest hit in Kentucky were Hazard, Pikeville and Prestonsburg, where National Guardsmen patrolled streets to prevent pilfering while portable generators and water purifiers were trucked in.

7 Perish as Planes Crash Near School

grade boys frolicked in a schoolyard below, unaware of the impending disaster.

The sprawling school, located on the northern side of the crowded San Fernando Valley, is a series of new one-story structures housing the Pacoima Junior High School, the Terra Bella Elementary School and the Pacoima Congregational Church.

FALLS TO PIECES

The airliner flew apart as it fell. The wings hurtled into space, the tail snapped off. The port engines caught fire and revved wildly, trailing smoke eerily through the mid-afternoon sky.

The main portion of the wreckage hurtled into the schoolyard "like a bomb," one witness said, and mowed the gymsuit-clad boys down with hot, flying plane parts that filled the air like jagged shrapnel.

In a few seconds, the schoolyard was littered with the motionless forms of children. Those who were not badly injured went into shock and cried hysterically.

The boys who were killed were Ronnie Brann and Bobby Zallan, both 13 and both of Pacoima. The four men who died aboard the DC-7 were William Carr, 36, of Pacific Palisades; Twitchell, of Northridge; Waldo B. Adams of Los Angeles, and Roy Nakazawa.

The pilot who died in the jet was Roland E. Owen, 36, of Palmdale, Calif. His radar operator, Curtis Adams, 27, of Palmdale, bailed out and suffered severe facial burns and cuts and bruises.

IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Three of the youngsters, all 13, were in critical condition. They are Albert Ballou, Vito Gallasso and Raymond Lafinier.

Hundreds of other children were in the school buildings at the time of the crash and several hundred youngsters at the Terra Bella School narrowly escaped because they had just gone inside after recess.

The large schoolyard was littered with broken fragments of the plane and the roofs and lawns of houses for blocks around the school were covered with twisted pieces of fuselage. On one street, the trees were surrealistically ornamented with bits of debris.

In the schoolyard were torn clothing, shoes and scorched gym equipment.

One of the boys who was injured told of the scene of horror in the playing field. Twelve-year-old Floyd Negrate said:

"When the plane hit, parts were flying all over the place. Everybody started to run away. Some boys tried to climb fences, some were hit by flying pieces of the plane.

"I tripped and fell and hurt my head and broke my left arm.

"I saw part of a body flying at me . . ."

There has been no explanation of how the collision could have occurred. It happened in broad daylight in perfectly clear weather.

Two Seek Reelection; Filing Deadline Feb. 23

BIRMINGHAM—With a Feb. 23 deadline for filing petitions, City Clerk Irene Hanley said today two incumbents had already expressed their desire to seek re-election.

City commissioner, Florence Willett, filling a two-year vacancy term, will seek to return to the post for a full three-year term at the April 2 election.

Seeking his second full three-year term is commissioner William Roberts.

James Allen, mayor of the city, was elected first in 1953, winning a four-year term. He has said he will not seek an additional term.

Miss Hanley reminded office-seekers that each petition must contain signatures of at least 25 qualified voters and not more than fifty. She stressed that all signers must use pen and ink.

Your Income Tax

This is one of a series of articles prepared by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service to help you prepare your Income Tax Return.

SELF-EMPLOYED?

If you carry on a business as a sole proprietor or if you render services as an independent contractor or as a member of a partnership — you will have self-employment income. If you had at least $400 of net earnings from self-employment — you must file an annual return of self-employment income on Form 1040. The maximum amount subject to self-employment is $4,200.

If you had wages subject to social security — subtract the total wages from $4,200 to arrive at the maximum amount subject to self-employment tax.

The self-employment tax rate is 3 per cent of the net earnings from your business but not to exceed the limitations discussed above. The self-employment tax is a part of the total tax to be paid with your tax return. Income derived solely from salary or wages, dividends, interest on investments, capital gains, annuities or pensions, is not self-employment income.

(Further information on income tax problems is available without charge at the Internal Revenue Service office, 53½ W. Huron St. Phone FE 2-0208.)

Mrs. Wilson Defends Husband, Tells Ike Off

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

WASHINGTON — The most fascinating argument in Washington this week is not between President Eisenhower and King Saud of Saudi Arabia, but between Ike and an embattled woman.

★ ★ ★

That lady is the formidable Mrs. Charles E. Wilson of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., whose outspoken husband is Ike's secretary of defense.

Mrs. Wilson, in a no-holds-barred, to-heck-with-the-consequences interview, has lambasted the President, like the outspoken Charlie would never do, for daring to call a statement of her husband's "unwise."

The statement in question was Wilson's decaration that a lot of draft dodgers entered the National Guard during the Korean war to avoid active duty.

EAGER TO GO HOME

Mrs. Wilson, to whom official Washington has given ulcers, is eager to pack up her husband and go back to Michigan where he was "appreciated."

★ ★ ★

"I've always made it a point to remain in the background," said Mrs. Charles E. Wilson when her husband was named defense secretary four years ago. "But I suppose it will be different now."

Today, the 67-year-old wife of the Cabinet member was very much in the foreground for her defense of her husband against what she called the criticism of President Eisenhower. It is the first time Mrs. Wilson has been embroiled in a public controversy at the capital.

★ ★ ★

The President had said at his news conference Wednesday that Wilson made "a very . . . unwise statement, without stopping to think" when he mentioned draft dodging in connection with the National Guard.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Wilson termed the comment "uncalled for."

"I think the President should have stood back of Mr. Wilson instead of spending his time commenting on how wonderful Foster Dulles, the secretary of state has been," she said.

WANTS PAT ON BACK

"I think you need a little pat on the back once in a while. Mr. Wilson has been trying to do a good job, and I think he has done a good job."

★ ★ ★

A son, Edward E. Wilson, described his mother as a "lioness when any of the people she loves are attacked."

This "very remarkable woman" was born Jessie Ann Curtis, daughter of a construction engineer in Costello, Pa. "It's a little two-by-four town about 40 miles south of the New York state line," she says.

★ ★ ★

When she was 10, the family moved to Pittsburgh. At 22 she married Charles E. Wilson — an $80-a-month electrical engineer for Westinghouse Electrical Corp. He already had designed the first electric automobile starter produced by Westinghouse. Wilson later rose to become president of General Motors Corp.

Mrs. Wilson has reared three sons and three daughters and has helped raise 15 grandchildren.

WILSON PROUD

Wilson is proud of his wife for speaking her mind in his behalf and he is especially pleased that she spoke up initially without consulting him.

The secretary expressed his pride to associates and friends. Cabinet wives by custom do not air their views on matters concerning their husbands and President.

Actually, Eisenhower administered an almost unprecedented rebuke at Wednesday's news conference when he labeled the secretary's statement about the National Guard as "unwise."

A White House official, however, said Eisenhower has great respect for Wilson's "know-how" and thinks he has done a "terrific" job in a role which the chief executive considers the second toughest to the presidency.

Ike has taken the position that next to the White House itself, the most difficult job in the world is the secretaryship of defense. Its budget is the biggest, its pressures are almost unsurmountable and if it doesn't work nothing does.

Because of this, he leans over backwards to support Wilson, although an aide said he simply could not bring himself to give a blessing to the secretary's slur against the National Guard.

★ ★ ★

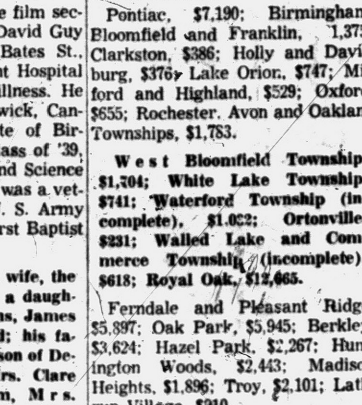

Mrs. Wilson, who hates Washington and believes her husband is unappreciated here, has rolled up her maternal sleeves to take on the President himself. Her husband's lips may be sealed. Hers are not.

Air Raid Sirens' Test Tomorrow at 1 P.M. in City

At 1 p.m. tomorrow Pontiac's trio of air raid sirens will be tested.

Included in the five minute test will be two additions to the system. They are located atop Madison Junior High School on Perry at Madison, and at Owen School, 43 E. Columbia Ave.

These will be tested along with the larger 180 h. p. siren located downtown on top of the Pontiac State Bank Building.

Robert A. Stierer, assistant Civil Defense director for Pontiac, said the three sirens will be tested regularly the first Saturday of each month.

Bauxite production in Malaya reflected a gain of 50 per cent with a six-month output of 99,000 tons, Singapore learns.

Police Quiz 2 Men in Breaking, Entering

Pontiac Police are questioning two Pontiac men regarding the breaking and entering of Kuhn's Auto Wash, 149 W. Huron St., between 6 p.m. Wednesday and 8 a.m. Thursday.

Willie Merriman, 2353 Mount Royal St., told police merchandise valued at $37 (cigarettes and candy) plus $19 in cash from the candy and soft drink machines were missing.

Entrance was gained through an unlocked window of the west side of the building, according to police.

A memorial "to all who fought, suffered and died in Ireland's cause" is to be erected on Waterford Quay, Eire, at an estimated cost of $8,400.

Two Small Children Die in Detroit Fire

DETROIT (AP) — Timothy Caldwell, 5, and his 2-year-old brother Wainsley, died yesterday in a fire that broke out in their home on Detroit's west side.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Caldwell, were shopping when the blaze started.

Detective Lt. Glenn Bennett of the police arson squad said the fire apparently was caused by an overflow of oil from a space heater.

Fred Glover of Cleveland scored at least one goal in 14 straight games in 1950-51 while playing with Indianapolis. It is still an American Hockey League record.

King Saud Comes Calling in Dream

By SAUL PETT
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—I had a crazy dream last night. Real crazy.

We were sitting in the living room when the front door chimes chimed. My wife said, "If it's that salesman again, you handle it."

★ ★ ★

I opened the door and there he was, in person, tall, bearded, smiling, imposing in his long robes — King Saud of Saudi Arabia. He was, of couse, surrounded by his 70 fellow travelers, including the guards with gold sabers and tommy guns. They filled up the walk and two-thirds of the dead crab grass.

An interpreter explained that the King thought it might be informative if he could drop in, unannounced, at an average American home. See how Americans live, that kind of thing. I said come in and they did, most of them.

Eight guards remained out front standing guard on the dead crab grass. Eight others slipped around the back to case the yard. The others filed into the living room and it quickly filled up like a crowded cocktail party in costume. Saber sheaths clanked against furniture. We lost two small vases.

★ ★ ★

I introduced my family. My wife looked faint. The two girls gawked. The younger one, a ham who has learned all about Moselm etiquette from TV, made a broken-legged curtsey and murmured exotically, "Aahib." Her sister kicked her.

"This is your only wife?" the King asked politely through his interpreter.

"The one and only," I laughed.

"But surely there are others — other women who . . ."

"Oh, no, no, no," I hiccoughed.

"That small vehicle out there—it is some kind of small Cadillac?"

"Oh, no, just an old Plymouth."

★ ★ ★

The King said it must have been made in Europe. I said it was made in America, that we make many cars besides Cadillacs. An aide noted that down. The King, after a pause, asked, "how much oil do you possess?"

"At the moment, I'd guess, about 200."

"Wells or fields?"

"No, 200 gallons, in the basement tank."

The aide was taking notes furiously by now.

The King's ears suddenly perked up. "You keep animals in your home," he asked.

I explained that the sound he heard came from the kids' record player upstairs. I decided not to explain about Elvis Presley.

"Drink, gentlemen? I asked, rubbing my palms together in my best suburban host manner. "We have scotch and—." It was my wife who kicked me this time. She remembered, from the papers, that the King didn't drink.

There was an awkward pause and to fill it, I invited the visitors to dinner. The King said he would be delighted. Getting up off the floor, my wife made some choking noises, excused us, and dragged me into the kitchen.

"Listen, Mr. Dulles," she hissed, "You gone crazy?"

I suggested she dash out to the delicatessen and lay off the hot pastrami. Just then an aide came in and explained that only the King would be dining with us. My wife said, in that case, fine, he could share our tuna fish casserole.

Two official tasters came in and tried the casserole. One paled under his robes, the other shuddered. Some mumbled Arabic passed excitedly between them. Shortly after, the King and his party left. Something was said about having to get back to the Arabian Embassy.

"Well!" my wife snapped.

"I hope we don't lose those air bases," I said.

See Check Handling Soon Automated

ANN ARBOR (INS)—A conference of Michigan bankers was told that many of the nation's larger banks will be using automated check handling and bookkeeping systems within the next three to five years.

Duane Watts, associate director of Management Advisory Services for Price, Waterhouse and Co., of Boston, told the group magnetic ink will be used to imprint information on checks processed with automated equipment. This will eliminate many of the manual sorting operations now necessary in check handling.

The first bank handling each check would imprint the dollar amount in magnetic form. Since this imprinting does not require elaborate printing equipment it can be done in the first step of the proofing and sorting operation.

"All subsequent operations, in theory at least, will be done completely automatically, both by the first bank handling the check and by all others including finally the bank on which it was drawn."

Itensify Drive for Suez Peace

U.S., Canada Push Plan to End Israeli-Egyptian Deadlock

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and Canada intensified their drive for agreement on their plan to end the Israeli-Egyptian deadlock as the General Assembly today took up the crucial Middle East situation again.

Bolstered by unexpected backing from India, the two Western nations sought further Asian-African support for their proposal before the 80-nation Assembly.

★ ★ ★

The two-part U. S.-Canadian plan calls for Israeli troops to quit the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba coast of Egypt's Sinai Desert, and for troops of the U. N. emergency Force to move into the disputed areas.

However, the American-Canadian effort produced no public acceptance from Israel and Egypt, the two nations on whose concurrence the plan depends.

★ ★ ★

Israel still insisted on tight guarantees that the Gaza Strip would not again become a base for Arab raiders into her territory and that Egyptian guns on the Aqaba coast would not again bar her shipping from the gulf.

The Egyptians were reported still balking at any suggestion of U. N. troops taking up "occupation" duty on Egyptian soil. Egypt has insisted Israel must pull out of both Gaza and the Aqaba area without any guarantees.

British-U.S. Ties to Be Strengthened

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan says British-American friendship — seriously strained during the Suez crisis — will be rebuilt stronger than ever.

Macmillan spoke at a dinner given for retiring U.S. Ambassador Winthrop W. Aldrich. The guests also heard a message from President Eisenhower paying tribute to the "abiding strength of the partnership between our two countries."

Aldrich, a 71-year-old banker who has represented his country in London for four years, called on Britons and Americans to "put recriminations behind us." He added the two nations should try to building a "working partnership that cannot again be betrayed by the shock of events."

MUSKEGON (AP) — Sheriff Arthur Davis reported that Muskegon County's new radar car nipped 46 speeders in a 4½-hour period Monday, first time the device was placed in action by his department.

Taylor and Todd Wait License OK for Wedding

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor and producer Mike Todd plan a gala wedding tomorrow night if their application for a license is approved by then.

The plans call for the wedding and reception at a mansion in Puerto Marquez, about four miles from Acapulco. Miss Taylor moved Tuesday into the house on a small, quiet bay. She is recuperating there from a spinal operation and was said to be greatly improved.

★ ★ ★

Their friends say the wedding will be as elaborate and colorful as a Hollywood production. Movie stars, producers and other celebrities are expected to fly down for it.

★ ★ ★

The couple found out around midnight Wednesday that Miss Taylor had been granted a Mexican divorce from actor Michael Wilding Saturday. Todd said a quirk in legal proceedings had delayed notification of the decision.

Wilding flew here to help expedite the divorce, going later to Mexico City en route back to Hollywood. Mexico has outlawed the quick divorces it used to grant to one mate without notification of the other.

German General to Head NATO Ground Forces

Announcement that a German General, 59-year-old Hans Speidel, has been named to command all NATO ground forces in Central Europe, shows how things have changed in the last 12 years.

★ ★ ★

General Speidel is a thoroughly trained and experienced German Army officer of World War II. He was charged with being implicated in the "generals' plot" to assassinate Hitler and was imprisoned for the rest of the war. The General is credited with having saved Paris by resisting Hitler's order that the city be destroyed.

★ ★ ★

After the war and until he was called back into service in 1951, Speidel was a professor of economics at his alma mater, the University of Tuebingen. He took over as the chief German representative at French headquarters of NATO in 1955, and is well liked among his associates.

Chancellor Adenauer invited him into the West German government in 1950. He is credited with gaining the Allies' confidence during talks leading to Germany's admission into NATO.

★ ★ ★

General Speidel will command the U.S. Seventh Army and the British Army of the Rhine, totaling 10 first rate divisions. There also will be small units of French and some from Belgium, Denmark, the Netherlands and Norway.

★ ★ ★

Five German divisions have been promised by the end of the year. But a lot depends on the parliamentary elections in September. The appointment of General Speidel may overcome some German reluctance to rearm.

European Unity in Sight

The French Assembly's approval in broad principle of a six nation common market has brightened prospects for the economic and political unification of Western Europe.

At the recent Brussels meeting, France, Italy, Germany and the Benelux countries agreed to preliminary financing for a "European Common Market." This would eliminate all tariffs and other economic barriers against each other.

It eventually could mean the free flow of capital, labor and goods in an area with a population of 250 million. Joint development plans for atomic power for both military and peaceful purposes also have been completed under another organization called "Euratom."

Other European nations, including Britain and the Scandinavian countries are considering a broader free trade area in which tariffs would be eliminated gradually. Members, however, would retain individual control of their tariffs against non-members.

★ ★ ★

Britain, which held off in the past because of Commonwealth interests, now is pushing European Union. Suez and the ensuing economic upset drove home to the British government the necessity for such action.

The London Economist reminds its readers of the advantages of mass production for a European mass market. It also draws attention to the opportunity for each nation to exploit its special resources.

There are difficulties ahead, of course. But there also is a new optimism over results of the Brussels meeting and new determination to overcome obstacles.

Thorough Airing Needed

An encouraging development is the action of the AFL-CIO Executive Council at its current meeting in Miami.

The Council ordered its 141 unions to remove from office any union official refusing to give testimony before a Senate Investigating subcommittee. The only vote against this resolution was cast by Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters Union, the largest AFL-CIO affiliate. He rejected the ultimatum barring leaders from invoking the Fifth Amendment.

★ ★ ★

The Senate met some union objections that Chairman McLellan's committee has no jurisdiction. A special bipartisan committee has now been appointed to investigate the union's huge welfare fund.

★ ★ ★

Although there is no Federal law to force a union to open its books, the Taft-Hartley act requires that unions and their leaders file financial statements with the Labor Department. These statements can not be examined by any Government agency nor by the Senate. Unions and their financial operations are tax exempt.

★ ★ ★

Alleged irregularities in the conduct of union affairs are serious. The average dues paying member should be more than interested in bringing out all the facts.

Pessimist: An alumnus of the school of optimism.

A letter addressed to me reads as follows:

"The Wall Street Journal says the New Pontiac Bonneville Convertible will sell for $5,782. I haven't seen that in The Press. Is this price correct?"

Well, I talked to my two old friends, "Bunkie" Knudsen and "Bob" Emerick, about this and they tell me there's no price tag on it right now as they only plan to build 1,500.

These 1,500 will go to dealers around the country as an experimental showing to see how the public reacts and how the cars actually handle under all conditions and climates.

Hence, there is no price at the moment. However, I'll say this without fear of contradiction: the Bonneville is the greatest looking automobile these wide eyed peepers ever glimpsed and it won't go for hay.

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Has Irresponsible Budget Plan

WASHINGTON — If this correspondent were asked to say what is the biggest news development in the national capital nowadays and yet the one that is being given relatively little attention, it would be the story that surrounds the federal budget involving $72 billions of expenditure.

The recent incident in which Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey expressed his chagrin at the size of the spending program submitted to Congress by the President was generally assumed at first to be merely a difference of opinion between a cabinet officer and the chief executive.

But the President said it wasn't. What was behind it really was a sense of frustration over the invisible influences that force items into the budget which the nation cannot afford.

* * *

The popular impression is that the Secretary of the Treasury makes up the budget and that the President then sends it on to Congress. Actually, under existing law, the Secretary of the Treasury has nothing to do with the proposed expenditures listed in the budget. He is commanded by law merely to furnish estimates of incoming revenue and to propose ways and means of raising money if there is a deficit. As for the individual items of expenditure in the budget, he doesn't see them in advance and has no more to do with their inclusion in the budget — outside of his own department — than does the Secretary of the Interior or any other cabinet officer.

America's irresponsible budget system, its weaknesses and its failures constitute a serious problem, yet, because it is an unspectacular subject and involves such a wide variety of items, the public doesn't come to grips with it.

In fact, no concentrated attention is given to the spending programs as a whole even in the executive branch of the government except in the office of the President. This is a full-time job and a president cannot give it detailed attention.

As a practical matter, what this means is that the director of the budget collates the data and is in a position to explain to the President what each item means. But the budget is by law made the responsibility of the President and not of the director of the budget or of any member of the cabinet.

Also, there is no way by which a President can judge or be advised about the relative importance of one item to another in the entire picture. He is aware of what the pressure groups want. He knows that his cabinet officers are under pressure, too, and that often they are convinced that their items should be approved.

But who makes a studied judgment of the budget as a whole in cannot afford? Nobody—not even terms of what the nation can or the secretary of the treasury.

Nowhere in modern government is there such a glaring example of irresponsibility as in the slipshod way the American budget is put together and authorized by Congress—and now it involves $72 billions a year. It is something for the nation to begin to understand or, as Mr. Humphrey says, one of these days there will be a depression that "will curl your hair."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Books, Erotic or Biotic, Contain Lessons of Life

When I was young and ill-advised I did read some fiction, such as David Copperfield, Tom Sawyer, Robinson Crusoe, David Harum and Black Beauty.

Only the last named book made a lasting impression, a life-long impression.

After I had served 18 years in the mines—in Siberia, that is—I became engrossed in murder mysteries and for some years I read nothing else, aside from medical literature.

Finally I became disgusted with who-dun-it stuff or rather with the booze and fornication the publishers served in lieu of plot.

EMULATED FATHER

Then I tried to emulate a blacksmith and railroad crossing guard, my father, whose favorite reading was history, biography and poetry. I found most of it beyond my depth. I did enjoy Knut Hamsun's "Growth of the Soil," which I thought was autobiographical. Maybe that quality was what won the Nobel prize.

I forget now just how I happened to pick up "The Friendly Arctic"—probably because the title suggested that one might learn from such a book something about the actual effects of exposure to cold. I learned more than that.

I learned a good deal about the cause and prevention of scurvy and about the harmlessness of exposure of an isolated person to cold and wet and about the prevention and treatment of frostbite.

COLD, WET, HEALTHY

Later, when I met the distinguished author, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, when he and his colleague, Karsten Andersen, were living for a year on an exclusive meat diet, under the observation and study of scientific experts, I learned that neither he nor any member of his party ever suffered any illness consequent upon exposure to cold and wet in the five years they lived in the arctic.

"But we had been infected as soon as we reached Cape Bathurst and repeatedly during the fall we 'caught cold' afresh upon coming to some new settlement of whites or Eskimos." Somehow the members of the party had not become sufficiently "hardened" to withstand the rigors of civilization.

Stefansson and Andersen finished the year on exclusive meat diet in better all-around health than they had when they began eating nothing but meat.

"We averaged about a pound and a third of lean per day and a half a pound of fat," said Stefansson, in "Adventures in Diet." This is about like eating a two-pound broiled sirloin with all the fat such as a steak usually has on it.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Sounds to me like the proposal to up drunk driving fines to $500 is an excuse to get publicity. Fundamentally it may teach people not to drink when driving, but it will probably put more people in the poor house. Let's be practical. Lengthen the jail sentence or something else.

'Is City Engineer Only for Our Use?'

Concerning Pontiac's traffic engineer . . . I am wondering if we have his exclusive use or if we can loan him out periodically to Birmingham and Rochester to iron out their troubles, too. Every time I read The Press I see where he is telling someone how to control traffic or decontrol pedestrians. In Pontiac he has succeeded in making pedestrians out of car owners and the city itself the biggest land baron.

Offers Comments on Flying Saucers

I have read a lot of reports on UFO (flying saucers), one of which is all facts written by Major Donald E. Keyhole, USMC (retired). He, in my estimation, is a qualified man on this subject.

I have read a lot of books by people who would have us believe that this is a good fiction story. I do not say that you or anyone else should believe in this strange phenomenon, but it certainly should be looked into.

When our best and most reputable pilots report these and yet they continue to fly our large airliners, there must be something to it. A pilot has a pretty stiff test to pass before he can fly, and it seems to me that after he reports such as this, he would be grounded, as the CAP is very strict as to who flies our citizens around.

Our Air Force says no more reports are to be made public. UFO have been reported as far back as 600 B.C. So you see it is nothing new to us of the 20th Century.

We, the people of free America, should demand a full report from our government. I think we the people are fully prepared to take whatever answer they may know. As one parting statement, may I refer you to your Bible, Ezekiel, first chapter, verses 1 through 20.

'Maintain Defense in Critical Times'

Some of the sweetness-and-light boys think there are no particular danger spots in the world where war might break out. The U.S. cites these: Israel, Saudi, Turkey, Arabia, Jordan, Iraq, Iran and Yemen. That's too healthy a list for comfort.

Perhaps the President of the United States hasn't put enough into his budget for the Department of Defense, Perhaps we aren't sending enough money to Europe and the countries bordering Russia. It's the cheapest way I know about to defend ourselves right now.

These are critical times. Do you want to lower your guard when the enemy is standing there looking you over and when he's the possessor of a real hefty offense himself? I'd rather look as though I were ready to swing.

'Saud Welcome Is in Character'

That Mr. Saud got a very mixed welcome. Three loud cheers were his in Washington and a muffled Bronx cheer in New York. Well, we've always had a reputation of trying to go north and south diplomatically at the same moment. Mr. Saud will simply conclude we're in character.

One That Didn't Cheer

Saud, Sandys in America on Missions That Clash

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

King Saud, the colorful guest of President Eisenhower, supports little Yemen's attempt to grab the British protectorate of Aden at the lower end of the Arabian Peninsula.

His visit to Washington happens to coincide with that of British Defense Minister Duncan Sandys, whose talks with U.S. leaders involve Britain's growing inability to meet her defense bills.

Part of Britain's defense bills includes the cost of keeping King Saud's troops out of the Buraimi oasis and other disputed sections of eastern Arabia, as well as curbing Yemeni territorial ambitions.

King Saud's hostility toward Britain primarily dates back to the quarrel over Buraimi, site of prospective oil riches.

Saudi Arabian troops occupied the oasis area in August 1952. After years of unsuccessful negotiations British and native troops ousted the Saudi Arabians in October 1955.

The British claim that Saudi Arabia has been increasingly greedy ever since 1935, making wider and wider claims on the territories of other Arab states leaders who have treaty protection from the British.

JOINTLY CLAIMED

Buraimi is jointly claimed by the Sultan of Muscat and Oman—ruler of the largest state in the eastern section of Arabia along the Persian Gulf—and the Shaikh of Abu Dhabi. Their troops officered by the British kicked out the Saudi Arabians.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Suggests Novel Ideas for Parties

If you have trouble planning the games or recreation for a party or social affair, you will be interested in Bill's dilemma and the partial solution thereto as described below. Keep a scrapbook of all ideas such as these, and then consult it when you must plan the entertainment for a crowd.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-389: Bill A., aged 20, is president of the senior class in a neighboring university.

"Dr. Crane, we're organizing for a big dance in a few weeks," he announced, "and would like to make it different from the usual party.

★ ★ ★

"So, what would you suggest to add a little novelty or uniqueness to our program?"

FUN FACTS

Well, I offered Bill an idea which had been used at a party held at our Northwestern University Law School a few months ago.

There the students inaugurated a plan which may be familiar to many of you readers, for it isn't original. They based their admission charge on the weight of each girl.

Each boy thus had to pay one-third of a cent per pound for his girl friend. Thus, if she weighed 120 pounds, his admission to the fiance was 40 cents.

★ ★ ★

In order to flatter their own vanity, as well as save their escorts a few cents on the admission charge, most of the girls tactfully removed their coats, before stepping on the scales.

NOVEL TICKET CHARGE

However, if a girl was so afraid of the scales that she refused to be weighed, then her companion had to pay $1.00, so most of the coeds dutifully stepped upon the scales.

The members of the faculty were also subjected to this same "weighing in" process. A popular Dean magnanimously handed over $1.37 for his wife, saying she weighed 137, and was easily worth a cent per pound, in contrast to the other girls who rated but one-third that price.

Needless to say, this new form of admission charge proved very entertaining and also productive of a great deal of laughter and good fun. It broke the ice.

I also recommend it to the churches as an interesting method for setting the price for a church supper or other admission charge. Those who are worried about revealing their real weight can avoid this embarrassment by simply paying a higher fixed price.

Such a plan might also encourage dieting on the part of our middle-aged people, many of whom are so fat they waddle when they walk.

As a variation of the "weighing in" process for admission to parties, I have seen the punch board device employed, whereby the price ranged from one cent to $1.00, and the couple paid whatever amount was on the slip which they punched from the board.

At other social events, the prices were sealed in plain envelopes, and the boys selected one of these at random, grab bag style, and then paid the admission charge written on the enclosed ticket or slip of paper.

Except for dancing and card playing, hostesses are often at a loss regarding other interesting forms of entertainment.

Many such parties degenerate to children's games or else develope into contests of wits, which frighten those who aren't well educated or particularly alert.

To cover up their ignorance and protect their vanity, these guests may then profess boredom or refuse to participate in the intellectual games at all.

One way by which to enlist their active cooperation, yet protect their vanity, is to team them up in pairs or threes and fours, letting each group serve as a unit. Then they can pool their combined knowledge in trying to solve the mental game or test.

And if they don't make a high score, they will not feel so humiliated, for the stigma is spread over the entire group who cooperated. As long as misery has company, misery is not so uncomfortable or embarrassing.

★ ★ ★

Remember, pencil and paper games are very entertaining and easy to prepare, but they seldom prove popular unless the hostess thus divides her crowd into these small competing sections, letting them cooperate as an entire group so their individual ignorance is masked or hidden.

If you wish my set of "Party Games" that work far better than cocktails to promote fun and informality, send a stamped envelope plus 20 cents.

They break the ice in a hurry and produce quick audience participation.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Bob Considine Says:

Ship Points Up Hoover's Economy

NEW YORK (INS)—Then there's the story of the fellow who crossed a parrot with a very mean tiger. A friend inquired what the result was like.

"Well," said the experimenter in cross-breeding, "it don't look like much, but when it speaks, by gosh, your listen!"

The only living President or ex-President ever to have a ship named for him is Herbert Hoover—and he's had two. The most recent, the 494-foot luxury liner "President Hoover" of the American President Lines, is a symbol of the elder stateman's conviction that the government can save money if it tries.

The "President Hoover" was formerly the SS Panama, owned and operated by the U.S. as part of a fleet of three ships used chiefly in transporting government personnel — and junketing congressmen — from New York to the Panama Canal Zone.

The Hoover Commission, in its vast study of government expenditures, recommended flatly that two ships would be more than adequate to serve the needs of the government on this route. It urged the government to sell the third.

★ ★ ★

George Killion, president of the American President Lines, entered the successful bid. The treasury got the dough and the traveling public soon will have a handsome new ship on the Pacific run.

It took a lot of talking, but Killion finally persuaded Hoover to lend his name to the vessel.

Its maiden voyage out of San Francisco is set for Feb. 11. It will save the taxpayers money and carry the American Flag to far-flung seas.

INTERESTING GUY

Sidney Poitier, the foremost dramatic Negro actor, is an interesting guy. The star in Metro's "Edge of the City" and "Blackboard Jungle" was the Bahamanian version of a Dead End Kid.

His share-cropping family gave up on him, shipped him to a brother in Florida, who found him unmanageable, bought him a bus ticket to New York and bade him both goodbye and riddance.

Poitier worked as a dishwasher here and was fired for breaking too many. It was while working along the docks that he read an ad soliciting actors for the American Negro Theater.

He had only a year and a half of schooling, but someone saw through his stumbling lines the makings of the great actor he was to become. He studied grammar, disposed of his Nassau accent by keeping his radio on hours at a time and repeating what it said to him.

★ ★ ★

His first bit was in "Lysistrata," off Broadway, but the part paid so little he had to push a handtruck in the garment district by day to make ends meet. His first break was as an understudy in "Afina Lucasta."

The movies were becoming interested in him, but Poitier was skeptical. He sought security by means of putting his money into a barbecued spare ribs joint, and held on to this and one like it as recently as last year.

He now commands $35,000 per picture and did four in 1956, as well as many TV shows. The one-time delinquent has a driving interest in life: The curbing of juvenile delinquency.

PRELATE'S WORK

Speaking of curbing delinquency, and reshaping young lives, let us consider the work of an Irish monsignor named Carroll-Abbing.

On Christmas Eve, 1944, he was shocked to see hundreds of homeless youngsters huddled in doorways in the slums of Naples—to which city the priest had just been assigned. He resolved to do something about it. The something became "Boys' Town of Italy."

Since that time his clubs, schools, clinics, nurseries and the like have fed nearly 200,000 children, clothed 50,000, extended medical care to 27,000 and dental care to more than 2,200.

Thousands of children were placed in foster homes, and with them went 240,000 sheets, blankets, etc., 28,000 beds and 270,000 pieces of equipment.

★ ★ ★

Next ambition: "Girls' Town of Italy." The address is Msgr. Carroll-Abbing, Boys' Town of Italy, Rome. He needs a helping hand.

Plan U.S. Appearance of German Boys' Choir

BERLIN (AP) — Germany's most famous boys' choir, the Thomanerchor of Communist-ruled Leipzig, is planning its first postwar appearance in the United States next summer.

Communist East Germany's Neue Zeit newspaper said the choir will sing at a meeting of the Lutheran World Federation in Minneapolis in August.

The choir is sponsored by the Leipzig Thomaskirche, an Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Pick Temporary Leader for State GOP Parley

LANSING (AP)—Francis B. Criqui of St. Ignace, Mackinac County Republican chairman, will be temporary chairman of the Republican State Convention Feb. 9 in Detroit.

His selection was announced by John Feikens, Republican state chairman.

Feikens said sub-committees working on a proposed convention platform will meet Saturday at state headquarters.

Thieves seized liquor valued at $36,400 in a series of 18 raids on a licensed Johannesburg, South Africa, establishment.

Statue Proves Versatility of Uses for Fiber Glass

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

To illustrate their philosophy that the "sky's the limit" in the use of fiber glass in manufacturing, the Testaguzza brothers have turned out another product which stands today over the entrance of the Holy name Catholic Church in Birmingham.

Towering above the entrance is a gleaming white statue of Jesus holding a piece of bread in the left hand and about to lift a chalice in the raised right hand.

At first glance the nine-foot figure would appear to be as heavy as any conventional bronze or stone statue. "That's the strange thing," said 42-year-old Gino Testaguzza, "this statue weighs about 100 pounds."

★ ★ ★

This is made possiple because the statue is made from fiber glass, which is the coming material for many products according to its foremost exponents.

Headquarters for the Italian-born men, Gino, and Cesare, 47, and brother-in-law Carlo Massacesi, is a Drahner road studio just outside Oxford and down the road from Camp Oakland. The men built the shop themselves.

The statue—considered by the brothers as the largest of its kind—was designed by the Parducci Studio and the firm of Diehl & Diehl Architects of Detroit.

The trio received the plaster cast of the figure from the Detroit studio. Around this, the artist formed a 22-piece mold, quarter inch in thickness, of woven glass fabric hardened by the addition of polyester with several chemicals added.

MONTH TO MAKE

When this mold is cured or air dried, it is taken apart piece by piece and then reassembled to give the finished product of fiber glass which was reinforced with steel tubing. The process took about one month, Gino said.

Gino, who is the Master Modeler for the Ford Motor Co., listed the advantages of fiber glass as light in weight durable, non-corrosive, easy to handle in manufacturing, and less expensive.

★ ★ ★

Producing fiber glass products is nothing new for Gino and Cesare who came to this country in the late 20's, and to their present site in 1952. In that year, some 20 sleek La Saetta sportscars, designed by them in fiber glass, were sold for $4,500 each.

Sitting in their workshop today are the molds for La Saetta II which the pair hope to put on the market.

Both succeeded in convincing automobile manufacturers of the expense that could be saved by using fiber glass prototype models prior to production. They both foresee many auto bodies being made from the substance in the future.

The Army took to the Testaguzza theory and bought their design of fiberglass enclosures for jeeps and canopies for larger trucks.

Cesare, a boating and speed boat racing enthusiast, sparked another product of the firm called Testaguzza Brothers. This is the production of prototypes for 27-foot cruisers which will be manufactured by sub-contractors.

★ ★ ★

Limited by a pending court suit which threatens to prevent their continuation in the residential area, both have hopes to continue designing in the present studio and branch production work into Oxford and Detroit.

★ ★ ★

In 1955, the trio produced a Guardian Angel statue for a Detroit church. This started their statue work with fiber glass. Besides the one in Birmingham, two other religious statues have been turned out.

"We feel the use of fiber glass in statuary work has great merit," Gino, also a painter and pianist, said.

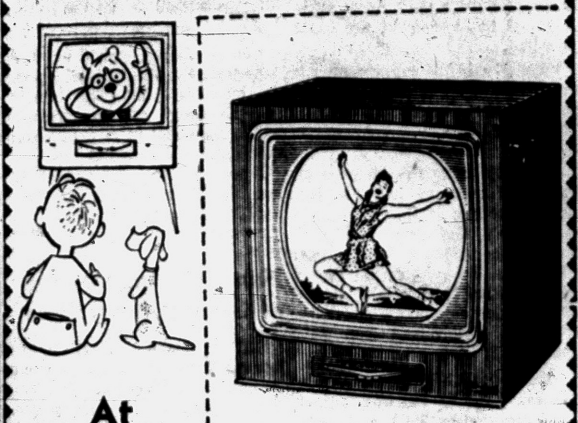

ANOTHER TESTAGUZZA PRODUCT — This is the statue of Christ made of fiber glass by Gino Testaguzza (left) and his brother, Cesare, and brother-in-law Carlo Massacesi (on ladder), which is at the entrance of the Holy Name Catholic Church in Birmingham. The trio work out of a studio near Oxford. Foremost exponents of the use of fiber glass, they have produced three other statues, prototypes for cruisers, a sportscar and enclosures for Army vehicles.

Offer Classes Via TV to U. of D. Students

DETROIT (AP) — Students at the University of Detroit will be able to take up to two-thirds of their college work from an easy chair at home beginning next September.

The college plans to start an educational TV program designed to help solve a classroom shortage and enable short-staffed faculties to reach more students. Even the college tuition may be adjusted to offset the price of a TV set.

Big Haul—and Heavy

CONCORD, Calif. (UP) — Thieves stole three 35-foot sections of a giant crane boom and its big rotating base.

Of about 224,000 miles of railroad in the U.S., there are about 99.74 per cent that are of standard gauge.

These Are Answers to Pot-O-Gold

The following are answers and explanations for Pot-O-Gold puzzle which appeared in last week's Pontiac Press.

1. A RIND or fruit peel is apt to be moist and slippery when stepped on, causing a fall. There are many careless steps on a Rink, but usually a skater is prepared for them and knows how to keep his balance by changing his posture, or using his arms.

2. A thieving BOY as companion for her son would distress his mother. More serious grief than distress is in store for the mother whose lad is associated with a thieving Mob, or Job.

3. A woman should certainly REACT, or respond to her husband's ambitions. He has a right to expect more than just a dumb look when he discusses his plans! She is not necessarily stupid if she is unable to Cater to his work, or furnish any help.

4. Earning MORE money seems to be part of the drive toward success. Even a very wealthy man needs this sense of achievement; few millionaires sit back on the sidelines, leaving their capital unused. But many rich men enjoy traveling, or moving about with the climate, without rooting themselves in a definite Home.

5. There is said to be a FLAW in every so-called perfect crime, and the potential criminal should keep that fact in mind. It's likely that—except for knowing he is doing wrong—he knows or cares little about the Laws.

6. Fixing the BRAKE of his bicycle would probably require more skill than a young boy could be expected to have. A Break could be of a minor nature, easily mended with a screwdriver, a piece of wire, etc.

7. A local MAN usually knows his own vicinity, and could direct you when you're lost. A Map, even though local, doesn't always help you with those detours, or that side road you got onto.

8. JOLLY friends of course are best to cheer the convalescent. No matter how Loyal they are, the solemn or gloomy type are not very cheering.

9. An EXAM at school gives the bright student a chance to excel, and naturally he often enjoys this. Many a school Gahe is of a vbgk cal character, and the bright student might not be good at this at all.

10. A troublesome TRIO may well bring the police into action. The phrasing "may well" rule out Riot which would have the police there in no time flat.

11. BOOTS is suggested by the word "awkward"; sometimes it's quite a problem to get out of Boots. "Awkward" hardly covers a rather more serious situation of being unable to get out of a Booth.

12. CHUCK is a specific answer, indicating a certain cut of beef, the "of beef" being needed to rule out CHUCK of lamb. Chunk is too vague here, meat not being ordinarily ordered in CHUNKS.

13. PASTE is useful for light paper work; it is not strong enough for a toy airplane. Tapes can be sturdy and very adhesive, and would hold the parts of a toy plane together quite well.

14. A comedian's SUIT is often designed to help get laughs—"help" suggesting a secondary role. His Skit—if he has one—or his Wits—is the foundation for the comedy, not a helping role.

15. A SHIFT, or a change in position, can be skillfully employed to throw the attacker off balance, or avert his blows. In a surprise attack, the thug's first move would be to make sure that his victim was unable to use his Fists.

16. Ice cream CONES are a part of American life for children. Though the idea has spread to other countries, they are not sold in every drugstore as they are here. Seeing so many of them would put ideas into the head of a little foreign visitor. A Scone is a cake or biscuit, rather taken for granted in Scotland, and hardly likely to be such a treat that a visiting Scottish child would demand one.

Red Economic Report Features Gains, Admits Some 'Serious Shortcomings'

MOSCOW (UP)—The Soviets say they exceeded their 1956 economic plan by nearly 11 per cent, but they admit some "serious shortcomings." The grain harvest was the biggest in Russian history.

Covering the first year of the current five-year plan, it was one of the rare Soviet announcements containing actual production figures. In Stalin's time, only percentages of quota fulfillment or ratios to the previous year's output were reported.

★ ★ ★

The report said production in heavy industry was 11.4 per cent above the target figure, while output of consumer goods was 9.4 per cent over the quota.

Soviet national income last year was reported up 12 per cent over 1955. No actual figures were given but the statistics department implied an increase in living standards. It said average wages and salaries were up three per cent.

★ ★ ★

Among the industries cited for shortcomings were coal, ferrous metallurgy (iron products) and building materials.

Soviet steel production last year was 48,600,000, also 107 per cent of 1955. Iron ore was 78 million tons, 109 per cent.

Cotton goods production — crucial for the Soviet Union — fell eight per cent below the goal. The output was 100,648,000,000 yards. The bad cotton crop in 1955 was blamed.

★ ★ ★

Industries praised for their production included oil, gas, aluminum, electric power, turbines and diesel engine factories, and plants turning out prefabricated houses.

The report noted that while 465,000 motor vehicles were produced, or 104 per cent of the 1955 output, the production of 98,000 passenger cars was only 91 per cent of last year's figure. Trucks totaled 358,000 and buses 9,000.

The United States turned out 7,905,000 passenger cars alone in 1955.

Shoe production totaled 314 million pairs — 1½ pairs per person and 105 per cent of the 1955 figure. Radio and television receivers totaled 4,300,000 units, or 106 per cent; electric refrigerators 224,000 units, or 106 per cent, and watches, 22,600,000 units, 115 per cent.

Cigarette production totaled 203 billion, 103 per cent of 1955. The United States produces about 500 billion cigarettes a year.

Forms Foundation for Giveaway Money

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UP)—A trustee who found the process of giving away a fortune too slow has legal approval to speed it up by formation of a foundation.

★ ★ ★

Walter Haas, trustee of two trust funds for the estate of Mrs. Lucie Stern, said he has given away more than two million dollars since she died in 1946. But he still has more than half a million and, under the will's terms, time is getting short for completing the distribution.

Superior Judge W. W. Jacka approved formation of the Lucie Stern Foundation. She asked that the money go to public and educational institutions.

$1 Billion Tax State If Budget Gets OK

LANSING (UP) — If the budget proposed by Gov. Williams is accepted, Michigan will have a billion dollar governmental operation for the first time in history, Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), chairman of the House General Taxation Committee asserts.

★ ★ ★

The billion dollar figure, Conlin said, would be made up by the difference between the 411 million dollars asked by the governor for general purposes and tax money brought in for restricted purposes such as highways, schools and conservation work.

"Just a few years ago, we looked with horror on a federal budget of a billion dollars," Conlin said, "Now, if Gov. Williams has his way, Michigan will be a billion dollar tax state."

Experts in the state budget office said Michigan's tax revenues this fiscal year would be "very close" to a billion dollars. They said there was a question whether all the money received this fiscal year would be spent this year but that Michigan right now is close to the billion dollar spending figure.

No Toll for Airplane on Kansas Turnpike

WICHITA, Kan. (UP)—Jack Wilson got lost in a patch of fog while flying his light plane home from Emporia, Kan., so he landed on the Kansas Turnpike and taxied six miles to its nearest service station.

Officials said this violated several regulations but they decided not to prosecute.

In fact, they arranged for highway patrolmen to stop traffic on the toll road long enough to let Wilson take off again.

Home for Gruenther Red Cross Problem

WASHINGTON (INS) — A legal tangle based on whether the owner would be acceptable to the neighbors has held up an American Red Cross effort to buy a home for its new president, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther.

Gruenther, until recently supreme commander of NATO, is a close personal friend of President Eisenhower. Objections are not raised against him — but against the Red Cross, because it is a corporation.

Principals involved said they hoped events today would straighten out complications regarding transfer of the property in Washington's swank Spring Valley section, where Vice President Richard M. Nixon now lives.

An attorney for the firm which developed Spring Valley said there has been a consistent refusal to convey any of the properties to any corporation. If it did, he said, the developers would then "have no control over who would occupy the premises or whether the occupants would blend in with, or be acceptable to, other home purchasers."

The Red Cross is a non-profit corporation, chartered by Congress.

No More Draft Horses in Rockview State Pen

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (AP) — Rockview State Penitentiary has freed horses from work on the prison farms. The animals were sold.

Warden Frank C. Johnston said increased use of machinery did not justify the expense of keeping the horses. The prison at one time had 68 big draft horses; 24 were left at the final sale.

Twenty-Third in a Press Series by Don Whitehead

Study Crime Today to Avoid It Later

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is the twenty-third in a series of 30 highlights from "The FBI Story," a book about the Federal Bureau of Investigation by Don Whitehead, Pulitzer Prizewinner.)

By DON WHITEHEAD

Of the postwar crime problem which confronted the FBI and local law enforcement officers in the wake of World War II, Director J. Edgar Hoover had said in 1944:

"It is well to analyze the conditions that breed crime today, in order that we may prevent it tomorrow.

One of the primary causes of the alarming increase in crime among our young people, for example, has been the disintegration of the home as a guiding influence.

"The tremendous number of parents who have entered the armed services and war industries no longer can exercise sufficient control over their sons and daughters."

★ ★ ★

Much of the crime increase could be accounted for by the increase in the nation's population. But that wasn't the whole answer by any means.

From 1945 to 1955, population increased 24.3 per cent while crime increased 44.5 per cent.

JUVENILE RATE HIGH

A few statistics tell a part of the story. The major crimes committed in 355 cities in the prewar years 1937-1939 averaged 630,257 each year.

These were crimes of murder, man-slaughter, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and automobile theft. In these same cities, the major crimes in the postwar years 1946-1955 averaged almost 800,000 each year.

In 1955, a serious crime was committed on an average of every 13.9 seconds.

★ ★ ★

The most shameful part of the postwar crime record was the number of teen-age children involved in major law violations.

Boys and girls under 18 were involved in 42.3 per cent of the arrests made for major crimes; and almost half of these were under 15.

The reports showed that 62.2 per cent of those arrested in 1955 for automobile thefts and 52.7 per cent of those arrested for burglary had not reached their 18th birthday.

The bare statistics standing by themselves gave the frightening impression that young people had no moral restraints and were running wild. Such an impression was false, of course, but the situation was disgraceful and there was confusion across the land.

FBI STARTS SCHOOL

As early as 1946, Hoover considered the problem so pressing that he directed the organization of an FBI Juvenile Delinquency Instructors School in which special agents were assigned to a broad research project, supplemented by lectures from well-known authorities in the field of juvenile delinquency.

The information gathered in these studies is being made available through FBI training schools to police departments to help them in developing their own programs to combat juvenile delinquency.

One of the most misunderstood facets of law enforcement is the FBI's responsibilities and limitations in the field of civil rights.

The Constitutional amendments known as the Bill of Rights provide for freedom of religion, speech, press, assembly and petition; freedom to keep and bear arms, from enforced quartering of troops, from unlawful search and seizure; freedom from being a witness against oneself; freedom from excessive bail or fines; from being deprived of due process; from cruel and unusual punishment; and the right to a speedy and public trial by jury.

ARE GUARANTEES

These are primarily guarantees against oppression of individuals by the federal government. The relationships between private persons are matters which are largely reserved to the states.

Thus a mob might lynch a victim in violation of every concept of decency and fair play, but this action does not necessarily mean that the mob has violated a federal law.

And unless a federal law is violated, the FBI has no jurisdiction.

The two basic civil rights statutes which more or less form the framework of the FBI's responsibilities in this field are found in Sections 241 and 242 of Title 18, United States Code.

Section 241 deals for the most part with involuntary servitude, peonage and voting rights. Section 242 applies largely to the actions of law enforcement officers who, "under color of law," wilfully deny a person the rights guaranteed by law and the Constitution.

Heavy pressure was put on the federal government in 1955 to have the FBI investigate the murder of Emmett Louis Till, a 14-year-old Negro youth from Chicago who was slain in Mississippi after he allegedly made indecent remarks to a white woman.

The Justice Department's Criminal Division decided that the FBI should not enter the case.

LOCAL PREJUDICE

The reasoning behind this decision was that while murder no doubt had been done, the federal government had no authority to investigate and prosecute murder unless a federal law had been violated.

Unless and until Congress passed a law covering such cases, federal intervention would be an invasion of states' rights.

One of the greatest barriers encountered by the FBI in civil rights violations had been local prejudice. Juries have refused to convict even when defendants confessed.

In 1947 in South Carolina, a cab driver was fatally stabbed near the town of Liberty. A Negro suspect named Willie Earle was arrested and taken to the Pickens county jail for questioning. He protested his innocence.

Word of the arrest spread. Soon a mob armed with shotguns and knives were racing for the jail. Earle was dragged from his cell and pushed into an automobile. Near the Saluda Dam the caravan halted and the prisoner "confessed" to the crime.

★ ★ ★

The mob beat Willie Earle and stabbed him with knives. Finally shotgun blasts snuffed out the last small flame of life.

CONFESSIONS FROM 26

The Justice Department authorized the FBI to conduct a full investigation because Earle had been in custody of an officer and there was a possibility that his civil rights had been denied "under color of law" by his jailers' willingly giving help to the mob or being derelict in his duty. The FBI's investigation exeronated the jailer.

In the investigation, 28 persons were arrested and 26 confessed to taking part in the lynching. The defense offered no testimony. But the jury found all 28 defendants "not guilty" despite the confessions.

Whenever a police officer or an official of a state institution is accused of a possible civil rights violation, the FBI investigates if the Criminal Division of the Justice Department so instructs.

For the most part, the FBI has found local law enforcement officers willing to cooperate in civil rights investigations.

An attitude has developed—and is growing—that if a police officer has treated a prisoner brutally and and denied him his civil rights, then the officer deserves to be exposed, punished and fired for the good of the entire force and law enforcement generally. But if the charges are untrue, then the officer's innocence should be established beyond doubt.

Keego Couple Loses Everything in Fire

A young Keego Harbor couple found themselves possessionless yesterday after an early morning fire swept their rented trailer home, 2061 Galloway Rd.

Mrs. Idella Buell, 18, said she was sleeping when an over-heated oil stove started the blaze shortly after 1 a.m. She fled in her pajamas and coat, she said, to a neighbor's and called firemen.

Her husband, Garrett, 21, was driving home from work. When he arrived, the trailer was gutted.

The couple is staying temporarily with the neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Smith, 2061 Galloway, who owned the trailer. Mrs. Smith said the loss was about $1,500.

Chamber Strides Toward Goals

The Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce took new steps in 1956 toward its dedicated goal of continued improvement of the Pontiac community.

The first giant step toward fulfilling a dream of a civic auditorium for the city, was taken when the Chamber's Centennial Committee, under the direction of Ralph T. Norvell, was organized.

This committee was one of six new committees, composed of Chamber members, formed in August with aims of betterment of the community, according to John W. Hirlinger, Chamber manager.

Funds in the amount of $15,000 from the Pontiac Foundation have been allocated for development of preliminary plans and a scale model of the auditorium hoped to be dedicated during the city's 100th anniversary in 1961. These are expected in May, Hirlinger said.

During the course of the year, the Chamber supported the need for more municipal parking and the installation of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad's industrial support yard.

The Chamber adopted its new name last year realizing that more than 10 per cent of its members were situated outside the city.

Safety programs were not overlooked as the Fire Prevention and Safety Committees staged successful programs. During the May automobile inspection campaign, more than 20,000 cars were checked.

JOHN W. HIRLINGER

AIR SERVICE

The Chamber sparked a drive, still underway, to bring commercial airline service into Pontiac Municipal Airport. Completion of the new 4,000-foot runway has permitted installing the service here.

Another achievement of the Chamber, as the result of the work of the Safety Committee, was the establishment of an Oakland County Safety Council.

The National Girl Scout Roundup was held in the area through the efforts of the Chamber.

EDUCATION MEETING

The Education Committee initiated the all-day EBI conference at which education, business and industry officials gathered to look into the constantly changing needs and desires of each group.

★ ★ ★

In 1956, the Business Ethics Board of the Chamber greatly reduced solicitations, door-to-door selling, and unworthy businesses in Pontiac.

Another branch of the Chamber, the Retail Merchants Assn., also experienced a successful year. They supported the installation of more municipal parking, sponsored "Fun-In-The-Sun" and "Back To School" programs, and staged a "Pontiac Salutes Industry" parade.

Designer Stresses Simplicity

Mr. Mort Visits Pontiac With Fashions for Juniors

One of New York's fastest rising dress designers, Mr. Mort, appeared in stores in the Pontiac area yesterday to show fashions from his spring line.

Three years ago his talent was recognized and women with junior figures have been dressing in high fashion ever since. Mr. Mort has brought to the junior field a fresh, smart look with a feminine feeling.

Simplicity keynotes the entire line, but severity and mannish tailoring are not his idea of the way a woman should be garbed. Neither does he believe in crinolines and frou frou.

As an example, a basic sheath, given the Mr. Mort touch, might have a flying panel, a streamer of chiffon, or a bloused jacket. As he puts it, "uncluttered, but still soft looking.

STATE OF MIND'

"Junior is not an age," Mr. Mort explained, "But a figure type and a state of mind."

Having spent all of his life in the dress business, Mr. Mort left his father's manufacturing firm seven years ago. At this time he felt there was a real void in fashion style for juniors — then considered teens.

Today dsigners know that age has nothing to do with size. And Mr. Mort brings high fashion to the junior figure at a popular price level.

"I feel that Grace Kelly epitomizes the look that we try to achieve," Mr. Mort concluded. "She has that cool, simple loveliness that looks so expensive."

NANCY JANE BOLLMAN

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Holler of Payton avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Jane Bollman, to Norman Patton. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Patton of Richard street. A June wedding is planned.

Don't Rob Youngster of Giver Role

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Kenneth needed shoes, so he and his mother went shopping for them in a downtown store. Then she bought some hat veiling, imported cheese and bed linen she found on sale.

By the time she'd finished, Ken was so bored by his counter-high view of life that he looked exhausted. His mother proposed a drugstore sundae.

★ ★ ★

But Ken couldn't finish it. He'd just tapped an unsuspected well of hot fudge sauce under his ice cream when his mother exclaimed, "Look at that clock! Come on, Ken. We've got to leave right now if we're going to get our bus. . . ."

He protested, of course. But when he realized that his mother really wanted to leave, he put down his spoon and helped her collect the packages.

★ ★ ★

Settled in the bus, his mother said, "Really you are a nice boy. It was hard to leave that ice cream. I enjoy having a child who can be as understanding as you were just now."

She did not add, "And because you have been kind to me, I will give you a lollipop when we get home or 50 cents or something else." She just acknowledged herself Ken's debtor—and let it go at that without trying to pay him off.

KINDER THAN USUAL

That's why he's kinder to her than is usual with children of 8 years.

★ ★ ★

They would be kinder, too, if their parents could ever bring themselves to endure the part of taker without going to pieces under the strain.

Unfortunately, many of us seem to find it impossible to bear. If a child does us a favor, we're miserable until we've grabbed the part of giver from him—and "rewarded" him by immediate payment of our debt.

This uneasiness with any obligation to children is a chief cause of irresponsibility in young people.

As little boys and girls, they weren't allowed to feel themselves givers long enough to ever get accustomed to it.

★ ★ ★

Why do we insist on paying Ken for his kindness with money, candy, some privilege?

DISCREDIT GRATITUDE

Well, our old problem—materialism—has many forms. We pay off Ken with coins or candy because we really discredit the value of our gratitude to him. We simply see it as worthless compared with the material candy he can eat and the coins he can touch.

Yet it is out of our unmaterial gratitude that he has to build his unmaterial self-respect.

Wife Proves Her Loyalty in Small Yet Vital Ways

She Respects Husband's Confidences and Avoids Criticizing Him in Public

By RUTH MILLETT

A wife proves her loyalty to her husband in many seemingly small ways.

★ ★ ★

She doesn't encourage the children to keep secrets from their father, imagining that if she and the kids stick together, they can "handle" the man of the house.

She respects her husband's confidence and withholds the things she suspects he wouldn't want her to tell.

Whether or not she is on the best of terms with his family, she is careful never to say anything that can be construed as critical of them when she is talking to outsiders.

She doesn't broadcast her husband's faults to her friends or cry on their shoulders when she and her husband have a misunderstanding.

IT'S HIS BUSINESSS

She doesn't talk about her husband's business affairs, figuring it is his business to tell as much or as little as he wants to.

She doesn't embarrass him by talking in front of him about her old beaux, especially the ones who have been more successful than her husband.

★ ★ ★

She doesn't talk "Poor mouth," but keeps her necessary economies to herself.

She doesn't make her husband look silly by bossing him around or treating him like a little boy who always needs to be prompted or reminded.

She doesn't criticize his manners in front of others.

She does nothing to hurt him in his job or to keep him from advancement.

If he disappoints her, she doesn't let the world know it.

These are only a few of the seemingly small but actually important ways that a wife proves her loyalty to her husband.

Pale Pink Lipstick Best for Girl, 13

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "I am 13 years old and want to wear lipstick but my mother won't allow me to because she thinks I am too young. All my girl friends wear lipstick and I don't see why I can't wear it. Please tell me what you think in your question box."

A. Thirteen does seem quite young to begin wearing lipstick, however, if all your friends do, perhaps your mother would be willing for you to use a very light pink shade when you dress up and go to parties. I think it is much better taste at your age not to wear it to school or generally.

★ ★ ★

Q. "How can I develop my thighs?"

A. Deep knee bends are good. If necessary place one hand on a chair or the wall for balance. Slowly bend your knees all the way down. Do not keep the heels on the floor. The important thing is to keep your back straight. Do not bend at the waist. Slowly straighten the knees. Continue bending and straightening legs."

★ ★ ★

Q. "Is it all right to use a blackhead remover to remove blackheads? If so, where can I buy one?"

A. Care should be taken not to bruise the tissues. Also be sure that the tool you use is sterile and use alcohol afterwards. It really would be better to go to a dermatologist for this.

★ ★ ★

Q. "I am 14 years old. I am 5 feet 7 inches tall and weight 152. My measurements are 36, 26, and 36½. Please tell me if I am overweight."

Deep knee bends are good for developing the thighs.

A. Your measurements are perfect but you are overweight. If you have a very heavy frame you should lose a few pounds.

★ ★ ★

Q. "How can I correct sway back? Is there any way to do it?"

A. In the first place, remind yourself many times each day to watch your posture.

Pull your abdomen in and tuck your hips under. Then do the following exercise:

Lie on the floor. Bend both knees and place your feet on the floor. Press your back down toward the floor, trying to touch as much of your back to the floor as possible. Hold while you count to 10 slowly. Relax and repeat.

Get on Beauty Track

The beginning of the new year is a good time to get back on the beauty track. You may not need to go on a diet but you may very well have to eliminate most rich foods from your daily fare. Substitute protein and green leafy salads and you'll start to feel better at once.

Girl Sends GI Friend Five Dollars

She Now Wonders if She Broke Rule of Etiquette

By EMILY POST

A young girl asks the following question: "I would like to know if I committed such a terrible breach of etiquette as a friend of mine seems to think I have.

"A boy I have been dating for the past year is now in the service. Two week ago he had a birthday and as I hadn't the least idea what to buy him, I enclosed five dollars in a birthday card and sent it to him.

I would very much like to know what you think about?"

Answer: I am very sorry to have to tell you that your friend is right. If you were a very old lady and he a young man that would be all right. But to give a boy friend of yours a gift of money is really all wrong.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married in about six weeks' time and am starting to address my wedding invitations. The question has come up as to whether or not invitations should be sent to my two married sisters and two married brothers who live in this same city but have homes of their own.

"They know of the wedding and that they are certainly invited, but even so, is it necessary to send invitations to members of one's own family?"

Answer: The reason you send them invitations is because they are most interested in seeing how your invitations look.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When entertaining a rather large number of guests at a buffet supper, is the hostess the first one to go to the buffet table so that others will follow suit? It seems each guest is reluctant to be the first one to go to the table and they all sit back waiting for someone else to start."

Answer: The hostess would go up to the table first and ask others to follow and then fill the plates for a few of her guests. She should not ever be the first to help herself to food.

Study of Art Can Enrich Your Life

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"What's the sense of studying the arts?" a reader writes. "You can't make any money out of it. I like to sketch, and have thought of taking lessons, but then, what would I get out of it?"

★ ★ ★

If you don't think ours is a preponderantly materialistic civilization, think how many times you've heard remarks like that.

Nobody wants to study anything just for fun, or love, or cultural development. Whatever they study has to guarantee them a quick boost in salary.

And when they say "She has to work," they invariably mean that she will starve to death if she doesn't get a job. The psychological need to work is ignored.

★ ★ ★

To get back to the reader who thought the arts were a waste of time, I wrote and suggested that she study sketching anyway. Most adult education programs today, I pointed out, have courses that are either free or very inexpensive.

I told her that studying sketching might not help her to earn money but it would heighten her awareness of the world around her and make her notice and enjoy things she never saw before.

WONDERFUL LETTER

Seven months later, I received a wonderful letter from her. Her sketching class was a great success. And now she's studying water color.

★ ★ ★

"The funny thing is," she writes, "that I do it awfully well. This gives me such a wonderful feeling of self-confidence and makes me do all the other things better, faster, and more easily. I've become so much more interested in things, the world is really my oyster.

"In turn, it must make me more interesting to others, because I've never made so many new friends!"

The arts may not give you a five-dollar raise, but they can enrich your life in many unexpected ways.

If you'd like to begin a course in the arts, check your local board of education and see what courses they have.

If they have none, write me, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and I'll send you a list of good books on sketching and painting.

Last night, at Mt. Holly Ski Area, they crowned a winter sports queen, and at the same time presented a new and permanent addition to the area's "staff." Above are the queen, Susanne Devereaux, 19, a Flint secretary, and her escort, "Barry Bourbon," the year-old St. Bernard who has made himself the pet of the skiers. He will be fitted with a Red Cross cask and will be on duty to aid fallen skiers. A former polio victim, Suzanne will compete at Grayling for the state winter sports queen title Feb. 9-10.

You can put an old dress back in fashion with the always fashionable bolero. And we might add, the bolero is flattering to every age and size. Tiered fashions via skirt or jacket as here the bolero in any three colors most flattering to you.

Let's Look at Eyeglasses

Women have finally been sold on the idea of pretty, decorative eyeglasses. But there are indications that they've been oversold.

The idea is to pick a pretty frame that does something for you. The "something" should make you more attractive.

The overdecorated frame flatters few, if any, women.

Frames in vivid stripes, in strange, elongated shapes, in violent green or red, are no great help to beauty.

They are meant only for startling people, for startling occasions. They do not "wear well."

The frames you wear most of the time should be chosen for relationship to the facial structure and for a soft color which becomes you. If they make you look hard or freakish, you're wasting your money.

And while rhinestone frames are fun for evening wear, that's exactly what they were intended for.

Baby Sitters Are Hunted in Capital

New Congressmen Have Record Crop of Offspring

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — While their husbands are getting ready for business on Capitol Hill, wives of new congressmen are equally occupied.

Most have found living quarters by now and are busy unpacking belongings and installing personal touches to make their new Washington residences a "home away from home." They've got to get the kids in school, check on shopping centers and look up baby-sitters.

This last, for many who have small children, constitutes a major problem.

Members of Congress, especially the newcomers, are swamped with invitations to social functions, official and otherwise, which capital protocol obliges them to accept.

These include luncheons, receptions, teas and dinners given by local hostesses, government bigwigs, clubs, colleagues and constituents.

★ ★ ★

"It won't always be like this?" pretty Mrs. Frank M. Coffin, wife of the new Democratic congressman from Maine, asked at one big shindig.

I told her I was afraid partying in the capital was a merry-go-round that barely slowed down while Congress was in session.

LOOKED WORRIED

Mrs. Coffin, a former social worker, looked worried.

"I don't mind a little of it, in fact I really enjoy it," she explained, "but where do people get the babysitters?"

★ ★ ★

The Coffins have four youngsters, three girls and a boy, ranging from 2 to 11 years of age.

Sizeable families seem to be the rule among the new members. Democratic Rep. and Mrs. George S. McGovern of Mitchell, S. D., have five children, four girls and a boy, ranging from 18 months to 10 years.

The 34-year-old former college professor and his family are living in a rented house in nearby Maryland.

★ ★ ★

The Democratic congressman from Oregon, Charles O. Porter, brought his wife, three boys and a girl, aged 1 to 12 years, from Eugene in a station wagon. They have rented a house in Falls Church, Va.

One More Way to Bake Chicken

Origin of This Dish Is Penn-Dutch, Sour Cream Used

By JANET ODELL

Ever try baking chicken with sour cream? This is a Pennsylvania Dutch dish, one we think you will like to copy. It's easy to do too.

The recipe comes from Mrs. E. H. Vieriech. She has one daughter for whom she likes to sew and knit. China painting is one of her hobbies. Her name is listed in the membership of the Parent Guidance Club.

CHICKEN IN SOUR CREAM
By Mrs. E. H. Vieriech

Season chicken pieces and saute until golden brown, using your favorite cooking fat. Put browned chicken in baking pan and cover with sour cream, thinned with sweet milk.

Bake in 350-degree oven until chicken is tender and has been thoroughly permeated with sour cream gravy. This will take at least an hour. Whenever sour cream thickens during the baking, add more sweet milk.

Serve in a flat casserole covered with gravy and sprinkled with parsley or chopped chives.

10B's Stumble Way Into Whirlwind of PHS Life

By JACK HENDRICKSON

The activities at Pontiac High School are gradually gathering momentum and bulk after a lean period when everyone was engrossed in exams.

A new crop of 10B's adds a few chuckles to the daily schedule, also. They can usually be found right in front of the room, to which they are requesting to be directed.

For many of these 10-B's looking for activities to familiarize themselves with PHS life, the service clubs are a happy bunch. Hi-Y, Y-Teens, Ushers, and Projectionists all are of service to their school.

Marion Lehner, adviser to the Projectionists Club, said that four new 10-B's had signed up early this week, but she is looking for more people to join her club from this new group.

She explained that the high school movie schedule is different than the junior high's. That the operators are not taken out of their classes to show movies to other classes. They may show movies only in their own classes or during their free hour (study hall, late classes, or early classes).

This is one of the few clubs open to both boys and girls.

Two graduating seniors from Future Homemakers, Myra Goines and Margaret Christenson, spoke at the recent club meeting briefly on their future plans and their most memorable experience while they were in the club.

Club officers were elected, also, to be installed at their next meeting Feb. 7. Addie Taylor is president, with Janet Carlisle, vice-president; Judy Ross, secretary; Sylvia Wallace, treasurer; and Oretha Baker, historian.

Folk and square dancing prevailed at the recent "Le Cercle Francais," (PHS French Club) meeting held in the Vocal Room. The French Provincial dances included "Gavotte De Pont-Aven" and "Gavotte De Geumere." Afterwards they did the "Virginia Reel" and "Duck the Oyster."

Mrs. Frances Martz, club adviser, played the "Virginia Reel" on the piano. Phyllis Peters was official accompanist, with Jack Schatzley honoring the meeting as a guest caller for the dances.

The entertainment committee has been chosen for the next social meeting a costume dance, "Mardi Gras." Kay Johnson is chairman, with Sharon Arnold Sharon Holland, Alan Higgins, and Phyllis Peters as assistants.

On the refreshment committee under Chairman Barbara Le Cornu, assistants are Gertrude Beam, Ann Pirochta, and Margaret Thrasher.

Club members only will be allowed to attend. Each may bring a guest.

In the PHS Debate Department the annual Spring Speech contest tryouts begin today at 3:15 p.m. for the five classes; oratorical declamation, extemporaneous speaking, original oratory, humorous readings, and sophomore declamation.

PHS will enter a team in the statewide contest in which the state's top speakers will finally meet after the regional eliminations.

Teachers John Youngpeter and Wesley Maas are organizing a new extra curricular activity to give a limited number of chosen students actual experience in field biology. They will meet after school every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

To qualify one must have finished the available biology course, have a real interest in the subject, and have a personal interview with either Youngpeter or Maas.

The eight members will study the history of biology, work on field equipment, and every Friday, will take an actual field trip. On these trips they will practice observation, identification, and using their field equipment.

Their first main project will be a complete study of a local lake. The text "A Guide to Fresh Water," will be used in this project. Later they will study the text "How to Make a Miniature Zoo."

It is possible that this organization will be the forerunner to a Biology III course when school facilities permit.

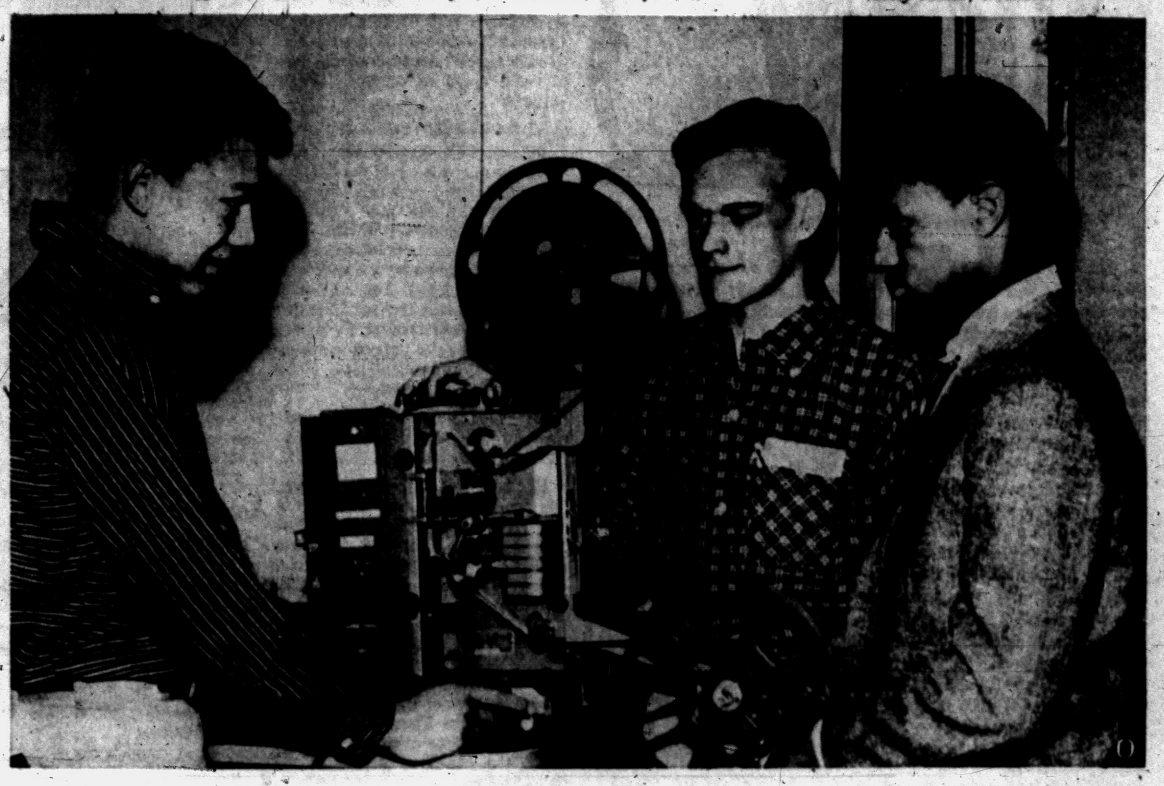

Cheerleaders have a new sponsor, Julie O'Brian. Helping her in her new job will be Barbara Berg, captain, and Bonnie Crager, secretary.

A Capella Choir officers were announced for this semester. They are; Jack Hutchinson, president; Barbara Fair, vice-president; Emmanuel Williams, secretary; and Sally Maier, treasurer.

DRESS REHEARSAL — In a romantic moment, Dick Heltsley declares his love to Carole Tynan during a dress rehearsal of "Patience," the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta which will be presented at Waterford Township High School Thursday and Saturday, Feb. 7 and 9. Separate casts will do the production on the two days.

This is for an educational program conducted through the American Field Service in New York. Esther will travel to some country in Europe in the last part of June and will stay with a foreign family.

Waterford Skippers tangle with the Berkley Bears tonight in an away game. Then they play at home on Tuesday, against Avondale. Game time for both events is 7 p.m.

Thursday brings an assembly, the first in the new semester, entitled "Adventures in Chalk."

New Term No Bar to Junior High Activity

The customary confusion which marks a new semester at the junior high schools has not completely dampened the round of school activities. Dances, club projects and sports are still much in evidence.

AT MADISON

An all school assembly will be held at Madison Junior High on Thursday afternoon. This will mark the unveiling of the school's new bleachers. The assembly will feature a "basketball game" between faculty members and varsity players.

Faculty members have been busy all week running from teacher to teacher to have mock eligibility cards signed.

Feb. 8, Madison will be the scene of an annual Valentine Festival, with participation by the parents students and teachers. Features of the festival will be a dance, a dinner, a variety show and various games.

AT EASTERN

A new semester has begun at Eastern Junior High. Once again classes have been reorganized and students have selected clubs for the new term. The recent graduation was the last that will be held at Eastern at mid-year and in the future promotion will be on a yearly basis only.

Eastern is currently making plans for a program of outdoor education involving school camping. This spring, 50 eighth grade students will encamp at Sleeper State park near Caseville (Mich.) Eastern's teachers will act as counselors.

Last week, two of Eastern's ninth grade civic classes visited the Oakland County Circuit Court to witness a criminal case in session. Judge H. Russell Holland spoke briefly to the students on the procedure of how a case is tried.

Most activities have ceased temporarily until the new semester gets underway. However, the Y-Teens Club under the leadership Iris Ocetnik, sponsored a candy sale Wednesday afternoon.

New clubs this semester are: A record club, girls' leaders club, boys' leader corps, chess club, track club, block print club, math study club and boys' story club.

AT ROCHESTER

A ninth grade home-room held a bake sale Tuesday in an effort to pay back a loan. Although they had a fair-sized amount of sweets, it was all sold out in 20 minutes.

Rochester's seventh and eighth grade basketball teams made their first successful start in their own gym Tuesday as they swamped the Romeo teams. The seventh graders won 12-6, and the eighth graders by 29-6.

AT LINCOLN

Lincolnites are off to a big start as a new semester begins. After the first few days of making new adjustments, all the students now have swung into the new routine of classes and actvities for 20 more weeks of exciting school experiences.

Twelve band members qualified to enter the city solo and ensemble contest at Pontiac High School Thursday evening. The winners in various types of instruments will represent Pontiac at the Southeastern Michigan Band and Orchestra Association Festival for solo and ensemble competition.

The playoffs will be held in Ypsilanti on Saturday, Feb. 9. Eldon Rosegart, maestro at Lincoln, has held special rehearsals for the past few weeks preparing for this outstanding event.

Larry Sherwood and Paul Atkins have combined forces to sponsor a hobby club which specializes in building and flying model control planes. Many club members are already experienced in this sport.

Host of Events Planned by Area High Schools

A talent show, a mid-winter prom, choral activities and interschool debates highlight activities as a new semester begins for area high schools.

AT WALLED LAKE

The Walled Lake Student Council has been lining up talent for the annual talent show which will be held in the hear future. Tryouts were conducted before a committe from the council and Oliver Rose and Mrs. Ronald Lamontagne, representing the faculty.

So many wished to take part that two assemblies will be held to present the show to the students. Bill Brown, council vice president, will be master of ceremonies.

When the new semester opened Tuesday the students looked at their report cards and determined to do better in the future. The sophomore class led with the number who maintained a B or better average for the semester, having 25 per cent of their number on the list. The juniors and seniors each had about 16 per cent on the roll.

The sophomores also led in the all A department and in those who had five A's and one B. These were Susan Alm, Eric Brown, Sally Collins, Frank Crawford, Nancy Gottschall, Tom McClelland, Susan Merkle, and Carol Sommer. Susan, Eric and Nancy had all A's.

The sole all A student in the junior class was Peggy Emmert, but Richard Daugherty and Gladysann Wenz each had five and one B.

Marilyn Glowacke had the only all A record for the seniors and none of her classmates came close to her.

AT TROY

The Senior and Junior classes of the Troy High School sponsored the semi-formal, mid-winter prom, "Let It Snow," on Jan. 26.

On Jan. 19, Betty Kujala, John Holbrook, Larry Butcher, Dale Tino, and Brenda Brown, of the speech class, appeared on the WWJ-TV program, Quiz-'em. They competed with Harper Woods School and won a television set for Troy High.

The group, sponsored by the speech director at Troy High, was asked questions about recent world events.

The Girls' Athletic Assn. at Troy met Jan. 17 and decided to start league bowling. The girls will bowl on Monday nights and the girls who have the highest bowling averages may receive gold loving cups.

AT LAKE ORION

Monday night the parents and friends of the Lake Orion Community Schools who attend the Blanche Sims PTA meeting will be privileged to hear the Boys' Chorus in two selections. "Blow Trumpets Blow" by Will James and "Savior of All" by Theodore Dubois, directed by Evelyn Micheletti.

This group is made up of boys in the vocal classes; plus some who join in practice on the lunch hour.

The Boys' Chorus, plus the A Capella Choir, the Mixed Chorus and the Girls' Glee Club, are active in many functions throughout the area, and will participate soon in the District Music Festival.

Seniors are a busy lot this week. While final pictures for the Dragon, the yearbook, are being taken, they are being measured for their gowns and are deciding how many invitations to order for their graduation.

The student council committee for the March of Dimes contest planned for the school met with Jack Schaeffer to lay final plans. The students have participated the last several years.

AT AVONDALE

Avondale High School marked their first win in the new debate series with Troy High School Monday night before the Troy PTSA.

A special gavel being prepared by the Troy Industrial Arts Department will be displayed in the trophy case of the winning school. Three wins will give the school permanent possession of the gavel.

Freshmen debaters, Irvin Gingrich and Dale Stuart, will have their names on this year's inscriptions. Avondale's debaters completed their state competition with five wins in eight tries.

Avondale will hold its sixth annual College Career Night Monday evening, Feb. 11.

Purpose of the event is to furnish information to the students and their parents as to what schools and occupations are offered to students after graduation.

CHARITY DANCE — Preparing display materials for the March of Dimes dance are St. Frederick High School students Marie Lewandowski and Joe McLaughlin. The fund-raising affair will be held Saturday evening at the parish hall.

The team showed real spirit as they downed St. Benedicts of Highland Park, 43-47 in the closing seconds. Tonight they meet St. James of Ferndale here.

The girls' team is tied for first place. They scored over St. Marys of Mt. Clemens, 15-21, and meet St. Michael Sunday.

SMH Starts Term With Recollection

By JUDY NIEDJELSKI

After a hard week of exams, the student body at St. Michael's High School spent Monday, the first day of the second semester, as a day of recollection.

Studies and conversation were set aside for spiritual readings and conferences under the supervision of Father McAnoy from St. James, Ferndale.

The girls' basketball team triumphed over St. James, 24-22. High scorer was Joyce Dropps with 17 points. The girls will play St. Fred's girls this Sunday.

A White Elephant Sale was sponsored by the sophomore class for the benefit of the missions.

High school students received their report cards Tuesday.

St. Mike's boys team played St. Rita's Tuesday and St. Clement's Thursday.

Symphony Group Slates Concert for Students

The Women's Assn. of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra will present a first "student only" concert for Pontiac High School and junior high school students at 3 p. m. Wednesday at PHS.

Students from the city's schools will be able to attend the concert, which will be conducted by Francesco di Biasi with Celia Merrill Turner as commentator, for 25 cents.

Bus transportation will be furnished by the Women's Assn. and the City Bus Lines. Buses will leave the junior highs at 2:30 and return to the schools at 4:15.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

STRANGE CREATURES — 5
Some You Can Make

Many years ago, kings and nobles designed strange creatures for their shields and banners. They combined all sorts of animals, birds and reptiles to create a strange and usually frightening creature. Sometimes they would take the head of a bird, the body of a serpent and the legs of a lion.

Many of these creations can be seen today, carved on ancient castle gates, woven on tapestries, painted on banners or wrought in metal shields and rings.

Here is a chance for you to make some strange new creatures of your own. You have a choice of two bodies — a tiger and a penguin. There are three heads — a rabbit, a lion and a giraffe. Also provided are two tails — a leopard and a bird.

Paste this page on cardboard, color brightly with crayons and cut out the parts carefully. Cut the slits on the necks of the tiger and penguin as well as the slit bythe tiger's left forefoot and the penguin's left wing. Slip the tabs into the slots at the top and the ends of the tails into the slots at thebottom.

How many combinaions can you make?

(First to contribute this idea was Dorothy Fountain, Holyoke, Mass. If you send a usable idea in care of this newspaper you may win the Junior Editors $10 award. Violet Moore Higgins AP Newsfeatures.)

Justice Stanley Reed Will Retire From High Court

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower announced today that Associate Justice Stanley Reed, 72-year-old Kentucky Democrat, is retiring from the U.S. Supreme Court on Feb. 25.

In deferring to Reed's decision to retire, the Chief Executive warmly praised the jurist's "long and splendid record in public service." The President also paid tribute to Reed's "dedication and devotion."

The justice reached the age of 72 last Dec. 31. A supreme court spokesman said Reed's health is good and that he is leaving the high bench simply because of his age. He will retire on full pay, $35,000 a year.

ONLY 1 OLDER

Justice Felix Frankfurter, 74, is the only member of the tribunal older than Reed, who was named to the court by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1938.

There was no immediate indication as to Eisenhower's choice of a successor to Reed. The names of Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. and ex-Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York have figured in speculation as possible candidates to fill a supreme court vacancy.

Reed, a Democrat, was named to the high court 19 years ago by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

His resignation gives Eisenhower his fourth opportunity to select a supreme court justice. Chief Justice Earl Warren, and associate justices William Brennan and John Marshall Harlan were named by Eisenhower.

The White House gave no inkling of the President's choice of a successor to Reed, who has been considered one of the more conservative members of the high tribunal.

It has been Eisenhower's practice to select associate justices from the ranks of jurists in the lower courts.

Reed's retirement will leave the court with five Democrats and three Republicans — Warren, Harlan and asosciate Justice Harold H. Burton.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., has figured in speculation each time a vacancy has occurred on the supreme court during the Eisenhower administration. Whether he would give up his cabinet post for a seat on the court is debatable, however.

Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, also has long been considered a possibility for nomination to the high court. But intimates have said he is not interested in any judicial post.

RETIRE ON FULL PAY

Reed is retiring under a provision which permits him to continue to draw full pay. He will technically remain on call, in case his services are needed, but it has not been the practice to recall a retired justice.

★ ★ ★

Reed, who was appointed to the supreme court in 1938, previously had held high government posts in the New Deal administration.

He was solicitor general of the U.S. from 1935 to 1938, a special assistant to the attorney general for a brief period before that, and general counsel of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. from 1932 until he entered the justice department in 1935.

Under President Herbert Hoover, Reed was general counsel of the Federal Farm Board.

After his appointment to the supreme court, Reed served from 1939 to 1941 as chairman of the president's commission on civil service improvement.

★ ★ ★

A native of Mason County, Ky., he entered public life with election to the Kentucky legislature in 1912. He was an army lieutenant in World War I.

He practiced law in Kentucky for several years after the war before entering federal service at the invitation of Hoover in 1929.

Singing Star's Father, Alberghetti, Dies; 53

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Daniele Alberghetti, 53, who guided his daughter Anna Maria to stardom as a singing star, died yesterday of brain cancer at the family home in Hollywood.

Alberghetti, a cellist and musical director from Pesaro, Italy, guided Miss Alberghetti, now 20, to a successful concert career before her Hollywood debut as a child singer in 1950.

Ann Arbor Man Dies

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Merle H. Pfotenhauer, about 33, of Ann Arbor was found dead last night, apparently by asphyxiation, in a market which he owned. Police are investigating to determine if death was accidental.

Delaware is divided into only three counties.

Water Tap Causes 'Fit'

TWIN FALLS, Idaho (AP)—Police, advised that a man was "having a fit or something" in the middle of the street, sent officer Angus A. Spence to the address. A man was indeed squirming around in the street, but he explained to Spence that he was only trying to turn a water tap set in a hole in the road.

Ike Gets Tough About Policies

First Term 'Soft Words' Turn to Blunt Sentences Hitting at Critics

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Is President Eisenhower changing? He shows signs of getting tougher, of more willingness to criticize. If so, he can expect to be repaid in kind and his second term will be rougher than his first.

A soft word turneth away wrath was the policy of his first four years. It worked pretty well.

But at a news conference this week he was unusually blunt twice within a few minutes: first, about Secretary of Defense Wilson; second about critics of his foreign policy.

★ ★ ★

He said stingingly Wilson made an "unwise" statement in suggesting the National Guard had been a refuge for draft dodgers. This was the sharpest rebuke he had ever handed a member of his Cabinet.

If he wondered how this approach would work, he soon found out. Mrs. Wilson told reporters Eisenhower's statement was uncalled for, and a pat on the back might have been more in order. This was the first time the wife of a member of his Cabinet had hit at him.

★ ★ ★

Dulles has been a kind of whipping boy for Eisenhower. Critics of the administration's foreign policy have, for some reason, been reluctant to go after Eisenhower. They beat on Dulles instead, and recently Dulles has been under the most severe criticism of his life, particularly from Senate Democrats.

At his news conference Eisenhower took full responsibility for all that Dulles has done. Then, having put Dulles critics' on notice that they have been criticizing Eisenhower all the time, the President blasted his critics:

". . . These critics . . . don't bring out any particular project. They just talk about great blundering and lack of leadership. I have seen no proposals, no constructive proposals, for what even should have been done with the benefit of hindsight."

This in a way was Eisenhower taking off the gloves.

Look for Psychiatrist to Find Show People

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—You practically have to hit the psychiatrist's couch nowadays to cover Show Biz.

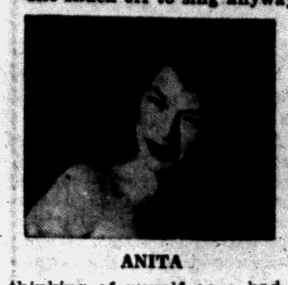

★ ★ ★

Anita Ellis is the latest to tell me how a headshrinker helped her. She's a scared mousey little babe from Canada and Cincinnati who dubbed the voices of Rita Hayworth, Jeanne Crain and Vera-Ellen in Hollywood.

Now she's had the courage to bring out her own album titled, "I Wonder What Became of Me."

★ ★ ★

"My mother was a brilliant singer, but my father was rich and he wouldn't let her sing; so one time in Montreal she snuck off to sing anyway and took me with her. I was 3," Anita told me the other night.

ANITA

"I was so jealous of her that when my father asked where she'd been, to get his affection, I told on her. He took her rouge and lipstick and threw it away.

★ ★ ★

"Later when I tried to sing, I couldn't do it because I kept thinking of myself as a bad girl as my father had thought of my mother . . ."

When the psychiatrist plucked this all out of Anita, she began singing well.

"One song I did for Rita was, 'Put the Blame on Mame' in 'Gilda.' She tried and they did about 192 takes, but it was no good. I felt sorry for her. I should feel sorry for Rita Hayworth!"

While Hollywood goes ahead with the fiction of its big stars' singing, the American Federation of Musicians doesn't, and Anita's happy that she's got plenty of proof.

Suggests Lottery to Aid Schools

Solon Says Financing by Sweepstakes Plan Would Ease Taxes

LANSING (AP) — A lottery plan, similar to the Irish sweepstakes, has been suggested as one solution to the problem of financing Michigan's schools.

Rep. Edwin A. Fitzpatrick (D-Detroit) said he will introduce a bill asking that the state abandon its ban on lotteries and sponsor two sweepstakes a year to finance public schools.

★ ★ ★

"Burdens to taxpayers have increased to the point where they are heavier than need be," Fitzpatrick said.

"Yet everyone knows that the Irish sweepstakes is a highly profitable venture that hurts no one except those eager to take a chance. Michigan is a heavy contributor to the purchase of $3 sweepstakes tickets.

"If the state eased up its restrictions," Fitzpatrick said, "and sponsored such enterprises for the sole purpose of building the school aid funds, it would solve the problem and relieve local taxpayers and provide money for other purposes."

The lottery plan would require approval of a constitutional amendment by a two thirds vote of both houses and also approval by the voters.

At present, even such games of chance as bingo and beano played by church and fraternal groups are illegal in Michigan.

Viennese Actress Signed for New Movie 'Fraulein'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—You may remember reading in this column about Anna Maria Duringer, the Viennese actress I met at the O. W. Fischer party and who I said looked like Marlene Dietrich.

Well, Buddy Adler told me that he has signed Anna Maria for "Fraulein," based on the James McGovern book, which will be filmed in April in Berlin.

Anna Maria speaks German, naturally, and English very well. Walter Reisch, the producer, and Henry Koster, director, will travel to Berlin to make all arrangements.

Speaking of Fischer, the first day of shooting on "My Man Godfrey," he introduced himself to every technician on the set. Made a hit, too.

For the first time, Playhouse 90 will present three dramas to be filmed (instead of live) with imposing casts. The first of these is the story of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondolet, whose mother house is outside of Tucson.

For this, Helen Hayes, Katy Jurado, Janice Rule and Ralph Meeker have been signed. The local order of the Sisters of St. Joseph is at St. Martin of Tours, and when Sister Georgine Marie read the script, she said it deserved an "A plus."

The other two films are "Without Incident," starring Errol Flynn, Ann Sheridan, Julie London and John Ireland, and "Lone Woman," with Kathryn Grayson, Scott Brady and Vincent Price.

NOVEL-BUYING BINGE

I would say that Jack L. Warner is really on a novel-buying binge. His latest move in that direction is the purchase of "Home Before Dark" by Eileen Bassing, which is the emotional story of a young woman mentally disturbed.

Random House is the publisher of the book and Ingo Preminger made the deal. When I asked who would be starred, I was told it is intended for Carroll Baker. Seems they are lining up stories for her.

I don't like to call a child a prodigy, but 13-year-old Frank Sinatra Jr. comes close to qualifying in that class. He played the piano for us at a buffet dinner Nancy Sinatra gave in honor of Lorayne Brock Busse and Joseph Hall, who will be married Feb. 14.

Young Frankie doesn't care for rock 'n' roll, and says he's never seen Elvis Presley. But he feels that Elvis came up too suddenly and that he should work as hard as Frank Sr., Bing Crosby and Perry Como did for their success.

We played Frank Sr.'s new record, and Frank Jr. congratulated Jimmy McHugh on "I Didn't Sleep a Wink Last Night," included in the album. Believe me, coming from Frankie that was a compliment.

DIVORCE PLANS

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Rex Harrison stayed over in New York to await the arrival of Lilli Palmer from Europe so they can discuss divorce plans.

We may soon have a member of the Astor family in our Hollywood movies. John Jacob Astor's son, William, is coming here to have a try at acting.

Bells are not ringing for Judy Holliday and Sid Chaplin, who are reported feuding.

At the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce dinner, Gordon MacRae told me that he and his wife, Sheila, are not expecting a baby as was reported in several New York columns.

Jim Bishop sends me the cover of his book, "The Day Christ Died," and writes: "Harper's sent me this today. I'm a lucky guy. There were 25 lean and hungry years before 'The Day Lincoln Was Shot,' and now this, of which 75,000 copies already are sold."

Health Insurance Beats Population in Growth

NEW YORK—Insurance figures show that almost as many Americans have purchased voluntary health insurance during the past 25 years as comprised the total United States population in 1930, when the health-insurance movement began.

The population of the United States increased by 35,000,000 in the past 25 years and during the same period the number of persons with health insurance increased by 98,000,000.

Mexico will have a new $12,000,000 newsprint mill with an annual capacity of 30,000 tons.

Celebration of Navy Day was League of the United States originally sponsored by the Navy 1922.

Navy Orders 3 Atom Subs

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Navy late yesterday awarded contracts totaling more than 66 million dollars for the construction of three more nuclear-powered submarines — two at Pascagoula, Miss., and one at Groton, Conn.

The contracts will bring to 10 the total of atom-driven subs under construction. Two others, the Nautilus and the Sea Wolf, have been completed.

In addition, the Navy has been authorized by Congress to build two submarines for which contracts have not yet been negotiated, and four more authorizations are sought in the budget now before Congress.

In all, this would bring the nuclear-powered undersea fleet to a total of 19 vessels.

Yesterday's contracts were for $40,998,770 with the Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp. of Pascagoula, which will build two submarines, and for $25,800,000 with the Electric Division of General Dynamics Corp. at Groton.

Judge Lederle Vetoes Branch

Federal Official Rules on Troy Operation on Basis of 1945 Law

DETROIT (AP) — Federal Judge Arthur F. Lederle ruled today that the National Bank of Detroit could not open a branch in Troy, a suburb north of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The Wayne Oakland Bank, which already has a branch operating in Troy, opposed the National Bank of Detroit in its move to open a Troy branch.

The National Bank of Detroit already had erected a new $75,000 building for a Troy branch.

Judge Lederle said he made his decision on the basis of a 1945 Michigan law which provides that no bank may establish a branch in any city or village where another State or National Bank already is in operation.

★ ★ ★

The National Bank had applied to the U.S. Controller of the Currency in January, 1956, for a certificate to open the Troy branch. It was notified in March that the application had been approved.

N.Y. Papers Delivery Halted by Union Strike

NEW YORK (INS)—Delivery of most New York city morning newspapers was halted in suburban areas today when the newspaper and mail deliveries union walked out on strike.

The walkout against the city's newspaper and magazine wholesalers was voted last night by the union's membership after the labor organization's executive board reportedly had approved proposed new contracts with the news dealers.

In the morning newspaper field, the Times and Herald Tribune were hardest hit by the walkout. Delivery of these two newspapers was halted not only in the suburbs but in many city areas as well.

However, the Daily Mirror and the Daily News, which operate their own delivery trucks in the city, were not badly affected except in the suburbs.

Solon Would Put Strict Control on Idaho Rainfall

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Senate bill 78 just introduced in the Idaho legislature calls for establishing a "state board of rain control" with enforcement vested in the liquor law enforcement division.

The bill says in part: "If Idaho is to gain her rightful place in the economy of the west, it is essential that the whimsy of the elements be placed under rigid and planned control. . . ."

The tongue-in-cheek group of lawmakers who introduced the measure was headed by State Sen. R. M. Wetherell, a Democrat.

Convict Fourth Member of Gang

Roundup of Participants in Fox, Hounds Holdup of '53 Now Complete

A prison inmate's testimony yesterday led to the conviction of the fourth and final member of a gang which staged a $5,600 holdup at the Fox & Hounds Inn more than three years ago.

★ ★ ★

Andrew Thompson, 34, was convicted of armed robbery by a jury which needed an hour to consider testimony of another gang member, James "Ted" Sullivan, 34, who is serving a 5-20 year term in Marquette State Prison.

★ ★ ★

Returned from Chicago to face the charge, Thompson was remanded to Oakland County Jail under $10,000 bond pending sentencing by Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams Feb. 11.

Sullivan, who confessed the crime, repeated testimony which had led to the conviction of two other gang members. They are Charles Clark, 33, serving 20-40 years in Jackson Prison, and John Graham, 31, serving 10-20 years.

Sullivan testified that he, Thompson and Clark entered the inn just before closing time on a Monday morning, Nov. 30, 1953, with guns in their hands. Graham remained in the getaway car.

The bookkeeper and two waitresses were tied up and $5,600, the weekend's receipts, were taken from the safe.

★ ★ ★

Sullivan was arrested the next day. Thompson, however, escaped with $1,372 of the loot, he testified.

Thompson was arrested recently in New York and sent to Chicago to face another charge. He was released and returned here.

Money Waiting for Right Entry to Pot-O-Gold

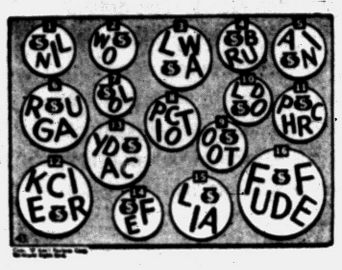

Put on your thinking caps and look below. A new puzzle is waiting for you to solve and $500 is waiting to be won. The right combination of words in the answers below can mean money in your pocket, so read the rules and clues carefully.

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

Dine-and-Skate Idea Going Over Great

CHICAGO (INS) — A Chicago restaurant is putting its customers on ice and they love it.

Diners are working up their appetites on a 150-foot square outdoor skating rink in the patio of the restaurant.

Co-owner Edward Morton explained that the patio looked pretty barren with all the snow on it, so "we flooded it, put up spotlights and provided music."

"It's going over great," he added.

Now Morton is planning to install a swimming pool for summer trade.

School Bonds Sold

DETROIT (AP) — A $350,000 bond issue to finance an addition to the Cedarville School in Mackinac County has been purchased by a syndicate headed by First of Michigan Corp. The district serves Clark Township, part of Marquette Township and Les Cheneaux Islands in Lake Huron.

Government Decline in Civilian Employes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Byrd (D-Va) has reported that there were 2,389,792 regular civilian employes of the federal government in December, a decline of 4,532 compared with November.

He noted that the total still showed a net increase of 5,369 since the current fiscal year started last July.

Byrd is chairman of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Non essential Federal Expenditures.

The latest report showed major decreases for December in the Agricultural and Interior departments, and increases for the Post Office and Health, Education and Welfare departments.

Want Papa to Reassert His Dominance, Authority

Men Agree They Must Reform

By LEE CARSON

NEW YORK (INS) — Men are contrary creatures — when you least expect it they start making sense, resolutely don the toga of senior members of society and begin to assert themselves.

★ ★ ★

Not long ago I wrote a piece taking their hides off for being "baby boys" instead of full-fledged men.

So the mail flooded in and gingerly and fearfully was opened by a girl in an asbestos suit. With one exception the letters were from the opposite sex and —amazingly—they agreed.

With eyebrows akimbo I decided to pick out a sort of cross-section of males and find out person-to-person what they had to say about the raging American battle of the sexes.

★ ★ ★

First: A tall, bearded, youngish former naval commander now editor of the male's last literary bastion—a magazine solely for, about, and by men.

A MAN'S WORLD

"This is a man's world and in our culture the role of the male is to be successful, aggressive, potent, dynamic, courageous and masterful," said Navy man and sportsman Doug Kennedy. (An assortment of virtues not many dolls would argue about overmuch.)

★ ★ ★

"However this does not mean the back-to-the-cookstove-and-bedstead era. It simply means that both men and women will be happier if the old boy reasserts his dominance and authority. You just show me one of these free-livers or lovers or whatever they are who is happy about it."

In editor Kennedy's strictly-for-the-boys magazine, the male of the species never appears as a hen-pecked joke, is never bested by the little girl with the big brown eyes, and gets on with the business of being a full-fledged man without the maneuvering of wives, delectable sweethearts or casual but exotic dames picked up in a bar in the Casbah.

As a married man of many years standing, Mr. Kennedy concludes:

"Have absolutely nothing against women. They're wonderful. But let's just turn this whole thing back to the men."

★ ★ ★

Second: A personable, prominent and very successful TV producer, now turning such classics as Mayerling and Romeo and Juliet inside out to fit entertainment into education.

Mort Abrahams, 40, sees the whole problem tied into both TV and movies.

"Somewhere along the line men began to lose their guts and initiative in many ways. They decided oh-well let's let things alone. It's working all right so why rock the boat. The assertive, aggressive and pioneering spirit went down the drain.

★ ★ ★

"It was and is the least line of resistance. But it can't last either in the theater or any other entertainment medium. And it for sure can't last at home. Wives need to be helped and they need male steering."

Our third man on the dangerous totem-pole of quizzing the men was Robert Lamaison, a Free French hero and presently the vice president and general manager of Rennault in this country.

No girl in her right mind could fail to notice that Monsieur Lamaison is tall, dark, handsome, very blue-eyed and has definite ideas on the man-woman subject.

★ ★ ★

"Your men—they chase. Your women are lovely, delightful, but have very odd ideas about just what is a man. The man must be master of his own house but at the same time he must fully contribute to the management, the well-being and the security of his home. At all times and in all things his wife comes first"

Men are contrary critters.

Soup, but No 'Crackers

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Don Toy tactfully told his guests at a Chinese New Year's Day dinner last night that they could not follow the usual Chinese custom of shooting firecrackers. Toy pointed to one of the guests—Police Chief Bernard Brannon. It is against the law to shoot firecrackers in Kansas City.

Coal prices are up, in India.

Handwriting on the Wall!

DALLAS (AP)—Asst. Police Chief J. E. Curry ordered the police training school to give instructions in block lettering to rookie policemen. He took the action after courts, warrant offices and records personnel reported difficulty in deciphering handwritten reports—especially traffic tickets.

El Salvador has doubled cement output.

Farley, Old Sparmate in Political Ring, Says Both Parties Rely on Young Blood

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
INS Staff Writer

Younger men are needed in both political parties in the opinion of James A. Farley.

"Success of any party depends on young blood," said businessman Farley who, in his time, was one of America's greatest political strategists.

In a talk at his office—he is chairman of the board of Coca-Cola export corporation — Farley told the writer that although he is now immersed in business he retains a keen interest in politics—and always will.

Nowadays "Genial Jim" deals chiefly with personalities in the business world but he keeps in touch with people in other walks of life, including politicians. He participates in community activity as much as he can.

PERSONAL REQUISITES

Asked what the young politician of today has to have to get elected, Farley replied:

"The same rules apply today as applied years ago: He must have character, energy, ability and personality.

"But in campaigning he must use modern tactics. The days of histrionic oratory are gone. Modern methods of communication—particularly television—put candidates on the spot. They must ring true, or the voter will peg them for what they are.

"Voters sit in their living rooms and scrutinize a candidate as he is making a speech, or submitting to a press conference. They notice how he reacts when hit by a blunt, hard-hitting question. His facial expression may be the giveaway, no matter what he answers. It is an interesting development in politics.

BETTER EDUCATED

"People are better educated than they were 25 years ago. Most of them have gone to college. The candidate must have something to say: He can't get away with flamboyant oratory, or by evading the issues."

Farley said that when he was recuperating in the hospital recently from two eye operations he used to lie in bed, his eyes bandaged, and listen to how politicians reacted on radio interviews. This made him realize how extensively modern communication media are affecting politics.

HAPPIEST MOMENTS

His happiest moments these days are meeting with old friends. He realizes he's getting up in years—he will be 69 in May.

Since the death of his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Farley, in January 1955, he has been living in an apartment in the Waldorf-Astoria. The Farleys were childhood sweethearts in Haverstraw, N. Y., and were married for 35 years

Farley keeps in close touch with his two daughters, his son and his eight grandchildren—six girls and two boys. His daughter, Betty, is Mrs. Glenn Montgomery of Scarsdale, N. Y., and has three girls; his other daughter Ann, is Mrs. Edward F. Hickey 3rd of Grosse Pointe, Mich., and she has two girls and a boy. His son, James A. Farley Jr., lives in Scarsdale and is a member of the New York Boxing commission—a job Farley himself held more than a quarter of a century ago.

"Genial Jim" looks physically fit despite his recent hospitalization. He has traveled all over the world since he gave up politics to handle his company's soft-drink business in foreign countries. He left politics and Washington, D. C. in debt but is now well-fixed financially as a top level New York executive.

HAS GOOD HABITS

He is a steady church-goer and a man of good habits. He has never smoked or drunk. His career is a success story of politics. He was born in Grassy Point, N. Y., on May 30, 1888, the son of a brick maker who was killed by a horse when Farley was ten.

His greatest fame, perhaps, was his achievement of putting Franklin D. Roosevelt over twice for the presidency. As former Democratic National Chairman and former postmaster general, he was as close to FDR at one time as any man in the country.

"I've had a good life," says Farley, philosophically. "And I've got some wonderful memories."

Ocean Liners Not Affected Yet

New York Tugboat Strike Shuts Off Food, Coal, Oil

NEW YORK (AP) — A strike of 4,000 crewmen of tugboats and oil barges began today in a contract dispute over improved wages and working conditions.

The two-year contract of the crewmen, members of Local 333, United Marine Division of the National Maritime Union, expired at midnight.

Federal and city mediators, who conferred last night with both the union and management, represented by the Marine Towing and Transportation Employers Assn., scheduled another meeting today.

The city has been preparing for several days against effects of a strike, but fuel oil and coal supplies could be seriously affected should the walkout last more than a week. Supplies of sand, gravel and some foodstuffs would be affected by any prolonged stoppage.

Idled by the strike are some 300 commercial tugboats and 90 oil barges.

★ ★ ★

Current hourly wages range from $1.76 to $2.80.

The effect of the strike on ocean vessel traffic was not expected to become severe until the middle of next week. Cargo ships and smaller-sized passenger ships can dock unassisted unless wind and water conditions are very bad. The bigger ocean liners, including the liner United States due next Wednesday, can run into more trouble.

BUILT-IN SUPERCHARGER!

A Studebaker-Packard exclusive so good other cars will have to copy it!

It's like having two engines in one—an economical engine for normal driving, and, when you want it, a super-powered engine for acceleration . . . for safer passing, hill-climbing and high altitude operation.

Today, only Studebaker-Packard brings you an engine with a built-in supercharger which has been tested and proved in service. Already, its high efficiency and remarkable performance have shown it to be the power plant of the future. Here, graphically, is proof:

The acceleration curves shown on this chart were obtained by plotting miles-per-hour against time, in seconds. The solid line shows the performance of Studebaker's supercharged Golden Hawk. The dotted line is the performance curve for the average American family sedan. Notice how much steeper the Studebaker curve is. It's the direct result of the supercharger pouring pressurized fuel-air mixture into the engine.

You can see how much more power the supercharged engine has in reserve for instant acceleration—at any speed—when you need it.

Montreal Rips Wings, 5-3

MONTREAL (AP)—"You tell me which team does the best in these last six games against each other and I'll tell you which will be the next champion," said Detroit coach Jimmy Skinner before the Red Wing - Montreal game last night.

If Skinner's observation is accurate, the Canadiens have the edge in the National Hockey League championship race.

The Habs produced four goals in the last 14 minutes last night to grab a 5-3 victory away from the Wings.

There are only five games remaining between Detroit and Montreal, including a rematch Sunday at Detroit.

Twice the Wings came from behind to tie the score, before Dicky Moore whipped in the winning goal at 14:46 of the final stanza. Bert Olmstead fired in an insurance tally after the Wings had pulled Goalie Glenn Hall in favor of an extra forward.

Although Hall was out of the game in the last few minutes he wasn't out of the play. Sitting on the team bench after being yanked, Hall reached out and deflected a passing puck with his stick. Olmstead recaptured it for the Habs and went on to bang it in the empty net.

Tom Johnson opened the scoring and gave Montreal its lead at 9:22 of the second period. Billy Dea evened the tally just a little more than 10 minutes later.

The Rocket Richard and Claude Provost clicked for quick goals in the third period to push the Canadiens to a 3-1 margin.

Gordie Howe and Norm Ullman wiped out the lead before Moore put Montreal ahead to stay.

★ ★ ★

In the other NHL game Boston defeated Chicago, 2-0, on goals by John Pierson and Jerry Toppazzini.

The Wings play the New York Rangers Saturday afternoon in a nationally televised game.

ENDS CAREER—Billiard Champion Willie Hoppe won another championship in Philadelphia this week and afterward announced it to be his last competitive appearance, ending a brilliant career as the world's greatest billards player.

Player Demands for Organizing May Be Okayed

Redskin Owner Against Association; Kerbawy Gives Approval

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A discussion of the players' assn., talk about possible expansion to a 14-team league and proposed rules revisions are on the schedule for today's second session of the annual National Football League meeting.

★ ★ ★

The 12 NFL clubs completed their annual 30-round player draft yesterday and today go behind closed doors in executive session to take up various problems confronting the league. Commissioner Bert Bell who last night was awarded a $10,000 boost in salary to $40,000 a year and a $10,000 bonus for 1956, presided.

Bell was expected to submit the results of his two-day meeting with player representatives Kyle Rote of the New York Giants, and Norman Van Brocklin of the Los Angeles Rams and their attorney, Creighton Miller, former Notre Dame football player.

★ ★ ★

The players ask for formal recognition by the owners and the league, a minimum salary of $5,000, expense money in training season, a $12 minimum for board and lodging between the end of the training season and the first league game, an injury clause guaranteeing a full season's pay and a shorter training season.

★ ★ ★ ★

Subject to negotiation on some of the proposals, the assn. appears to have an excellent chance of getting what it demands. A poll of NFL owners or their representatives showed six in favor, one definitely against, four non-committal, and the 12th, George Halas of the Chicago Bears, declining to comment since his players are not involved.

★ ★ ★

As expected, George Preston Marshall of the Washington Redskins, is against the assn. Marshall, who in the past few days has been sued for half a million dollars and picketed here at the meeting for alleged discrimination against Negro players, said, "It would be extremely difficult to have a player assn. in a contact sport such as professional football. The rules which apply to baseball don't apply to us in any respect."

On the other side of the fence, Nick Kerbawy, general manager of the Detroit Lions, expressed the opinion that, "If it makes them (the players) feel better, let them have it. We already give them most of the things in their proposals. Detroit has a player liaison committee which meets with me three or four times a year to discuss player relations. Also, I feel Rote and Van Brocklin have handled this thing in a most dignified manner."

★ ★ ★

On the subject of expansion, Buffalo representatives are on hand to present their proposition to the league. Bell said he also has applications or "feelers" from Louisville, Denver, Seattle, Kansas City, Houston, Tex., and Minneapolis.

The commissioner has said before and still feels that the league needs slightly more balance before expanding. He would like to have the last place club win at least four games before taking in new members. The owners are thinking in terms of 1958 if there should be any immediate vote to expand.

★ ★ ★

Among rule changes recommended will be:

To extend the goal posts some 25 feet above the cross bar to aid officials in judgment of field goals, a regulation requiring all visiting teams to wear white uniforms; a better definiation of intentional grounding of a forward pass.

Allowing the punter only 10 yards behind the line of scrimmage to do away with too many air catches, a new out of bounds kickoff rule allowing the receiving team the choice of taking the ball at the spot it goes out of bounds or a second kickoff, and a rule allowing the receiving team to take the ball at the spot of an illegally recovered onsides kick.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Sports as advocated the American way is truly the link of fellowship among all professions.

Even the men dedicated to teaching God's Word find the sports field to be a natural outlet for activity and relaxation.

Many clergymen have taken renown positions in athletics, and many have helped others to engage in clean, wholesome sports.

★ ★ ★

One such clergyman in Pontiac is Fr. John J. Hoar, zealous young priest of St. Benedict's Church, who gives more of his free time to "his boys" than he does to himself.

For the young men in his neighborhood, Fr. Hoar has become not only their spiritual advisor, but friend, counselor, coach, referee, and 6th man on the basketball team if necessary.

★ ★ ★

St. Benedict's school has been in existence hardly three years, but for Fr. Hoar, in his first assignment to a parish, the success of his athletic program speaks for itself.

"I hardly knew where to start, and the task seemed mammoth for a first assignment," said Fr. Hoar, "but the response from the adults and enthusiasm of the kids was terrific."

There was nothing with which to start. No facilities, no equipment and no resources to obtain them.

STARTED WITH DISCARDED THINGS

Fr. Hoar became mender and patcher of all the discarded and tattered athletic equipment which could be found or obtained.

Today, two years later, enough equipment to completely dress 45 boys in football, 30 in basketball and additional equipment for 50 girls, are in St. Benedict's wardrobe of sports apparel.

Last year's first annual sports banquet attended by 450 was beyond expectations.

"I know Fr. Hoar had his doubts when we planned the benefit banquet last year, and he was really amazed at its success," said Tobe Parle, publicity chairman.

Monday, the men of St. Benedict's, hold their 2nd annual benefit banquet with the same goal but a more expanded reach of "sports for more youngsters."

"We don't expect a banquet to buy a gym, but it is the means to give them athletic equipment," said Fr. Hoar.

Cubs Want First Division

"Progress" Is Chicago Goal

Another of a series of managerial views on the pennant races, written under the managers' own bylines—Chicago Cubs.

By BOB SCHEFFING

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Chicago Cubs will be gunning for a fresh start in 1957. We expect no miracles, but we certainly are out to end the string of second division finishes. We have one idea in mind and it can best be wrapped up in three words:

"Progress next season."

We realize we've got a big job ahead of us. We've got to work and build, when spring training starts the boys can expect lots of batting practice, of course.

★ ★ ★

But we will also spend as much time as possible on fundamentals. These things can mean the difference between winning and losing several games in the course of a season and we want to be as proficient as possible at them.

I think we are moving in the right direction. We proved we don't intend to sit by and let nature take its course by engaging in a couple of trades during the winter. We are in the market for more.

★ ★ ★

We feel we've added a little power, helped our catching staff and made our pitching a bit sounder through those deals.

We feel we still need a good outstanding center fielder and some more punch and we're making every effort to correct that situation.

Our biggest weakness last year was lack of power, inadequate catching, inferior center fielding and mediocrity at third base.

Since then, we've added three catchers, namely Charlie Silvera from the Yankees, Ray Katt from the Cardinals and Cal Neeman, a Yankee farmhand whom we obtained as the first choice in the draft.

There is no question in my mind that this trio will solve our biggest problem of 1956. Silvera is one of the ablest defensive catchers in the majors, Katt has lots of power and Neeman is young and has lots of promise.

I realize we can use more help, but I believe we are quite a bit stronger than we were last year.

Since I'm new in the league as a manager I won't hazard a guess as to our team's pennant chances, but we all start even on opening day.

Chamberlain Continues NCAA Point Lead; Top 10 Includes Ebben

NEW YORK (AP) — South Carolina's Grady Wallace and Mississippi State's Jim Ashmore have moved up to challenge Wilt Chamberlain and Chet Forte in the scoring race among major college basketball players.

★ ★ ★

With Chamberlain, the 7-foot Kansas ace, and Forte, Columbia's little hotshot, idled by midterm exams, Wallace and Ashmore used a couple of top production games to make it a four-man race.

Detroit's Bill Ebben fell three notches despite a pair of 30-point efforts, due to the outbursts of several players while Detroit was out for mid-semester break.

There's no stranger in first place in team defense. Again, it's the Oklahoma Aggies of Hank Iba, with only 774 points permitted in 14 games, a 53.1 average. California is next with 53.2.

Charmed Number Is '9' as Chiefs Meet Central

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The lucky number in the charmed circle tonight is "9". That's what Pontiac High will be shooting for when it tangles with scrappy Detroit Catholic Central on the Shamrock court tonight.

★ ★ ★

The Detroiters would like nothing better than to knock the Chiefs from their perch as the state's 2nd ranked basketball team, and to end Pontiac's 8-game winning streak. Coach Bill Foley isn't keeping it a secret that he will throw everything he has against Pontiac.

"We could have won that first game at Pontiac earlier in the season," said Foley, "and even though I know the Chiefs are improved, I figure we are a little better also."

In attempt to match Pontiac's height, Foley has switched his lineup around to utilize his tallest boys in the front line.

★ ★ ★

Tom Kramer, 6-feet-2, who previously played at center will start at forward to make room for 6-feet-2 Bob Bishop who will now be in the pivot.

Kramer is the team's leading scorer with a 15-point average. He will team with John Edwards at forward.

Al Moran, the team's second best scorer was switched from forward to guard. In the first game against Pontiac it was Moran who dropped through several baskets in the crucial moments of the game to keep Catholic Central within one point right up to the last five seconds.

Despite the epidemic of colds which struck the PHS squad this week, all are expected to be in uniform, although regular forward Dick Whitmer may be a doubtful starter.

★ ★ ★

Whitmer missed a couple practice sessions due to a sore throat along with four other Chiefs who had the sniffles.

"We know we will have troubles on their court, because they always hit well at home, but if we play the type of ball we are capable of playing, we will do okay," said Coach Art Van Ryzin.

The school located on Outer Drive and Hubbell can be reached via Northwestern with a right turn on Outer Drive. Game time is 8:00 p.m.

Capitol Barber Increases Lead in P.T.T.A.

Capitol Barber increased its lead in the Pontiac Table Tennis League Thursday night with a 5-1 victory over runner-up L. H. Cole Oil. The Capitol team now has 72 points compared to 67 for Cole.

★ ★ ★

In other matches last night, Moote Electric defeated Bethany Baptist, 4-2; General Conveyor downed Frayer's, 4-2; Newberry Market decisioned Pontiac Varnish, 4-2, and Pankey's Grill beat Fleet Carrier, 4-2.

★ ★ ★

The No. 1 match of the evening saw Jim Reed upset Dale Wheeler in men's singles, 17-21, 23-21, 21-19.

Campbell Happy Over Grid Pick

PLAINFIELD, N. J. (INS) — How does the world's greatest all-around amateur athlete feel about being drafted to play football with the Cleveland Browns?

★ ★ ★

"Pretty good," is the way Milt Campbell describes it. "I think it's a great honor although I still have a year to think about whether I'll actually play pro or not."

Campbell, the Olympic decathlon recordholder, is a sailor based at San Diego, Calif. But he's on temporary additional duty in the East now and living at his Plainfield, N. J. home in between track meets.

Yesterday the Browns chose the 23-year-old Negro star in the fifth round of the National Football League player draft in Philadelphia.

★ ★ ★

"I never saw the Browns play except on television," Campbell, a halfback at Indiana, said, "but I know they have a good club."

Youth Leads Phoenix Open

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The accent was on youth today as two former United States Amateur golf champions, Billy Maxwel, and Arnold Palmer, led the way into the second round of the $15,000 Phoenix Open.

★ ★ ★

Maxwell, 1951 winner of the Amateur title, and Palmer, the 1954 champion—and both pros for less than three years—had four-under-par 66's starting off this morning at the par 34-36—70 Arizona Country Club.

One shot back was still another newcomer, a 25-year-old novice pro named Gene Bone from Pontiac, Mich. Representing the old guard of tournament golf was Lloyd Mangrum, also listed at 67.

It was just the other night that two baseball characters out here for spring training—Bob Scheffing of the Chicago Cubs and Bill Rigney of the New York Giants—told a visiting general that they would be better off if the Army would let their youngsters stay home and play baseball.

★ ★ ★

To which Cary Middlecoff of golf fame cracked that it would be all right with him if the Army snared all the young golfers coming up.

Middlecoff, the 1955 winner of the Phoenix event, came through poorly yesterday.

The best he could do was a 69 and a tie for 14th place around—and in back of—such young fellows as Doug Higgins of Midland, Tex.; Billy Casper Jr., of Bonita, Calif.; Don January of Lampasas, Tex.; Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N. Y.; as well as messrs. Maxwell, Palmer and Bone.

★ ★ ★

Maxwell, 27, from Odessa, Tex., made his score with 32-34, Palmer, 25, from Latrobe, Pa., reversed the figures for the club's 6,684-yard par 34-36—70 challenge.

Here are the first-round results of Michigan entries in the Phoenix Open golf tournament:

Bob Inman, Detroit, 33-35—68.

Walter Burkemo, Franklin Hills, 34-35—69.

John Barnum, Belmont, 36-34—70.

Activity at the new site of the Ivory Polo Rangers, 9960 Cooley Lake road in White Lake Township, has perked up with free pony rides offered to children each weekend.

Since acquiring the 140-acre site for the Ranger team, polo magnate John F. Ivory has given the area an extensive face-lifting. There are 47 ponies in the stables with six pony hitches available for the youngsters.

Rides are given Fridays and Saturdays at 2:00 p.m. and Sundays starting at 1:00 p.m.

Bald Mt. New Site for Habitat Work

Oakland County Sportsmen's club will hold its 2nd game habitat improvement work bee on Saturday at Bald Mountain Recreation Area. The working party will convene at the club in Waterford, at 8:30 a.m. and leave promptly at 9 a.m.

Between 40-50 are expected and an invitation has been extended to any one interested in the project of bettering cover for game.

Workers should take their own axes, saws, power-rigs. Hot stew and coffee will be served at noon.

Hockey Game Tonight

The Klett Cadillac hockey team of the Detroit Recreation League will collide with the Union Lake Bulldogs tonight in an exhibition hockey game at the North Side ice skating rink, Montcalm and Edison streets. Game time is 10 p.m.

Lose Draft Choice

Lions Pick—Canadians Get

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Canadian football handed the Detroit Lions a second blow yesterday in the second half of the National Football League player draft.

The Lions picked John Barrow, a guard from the University of Florida in the 5th round of the draft yesterday.

On contacting Barrow, Detroit learned the all-southeastern conference lineman had already signed to play with the Hamilton, Ont. Tigercats.

Last November, the Lions' No. 1 draft choice was lineman Bill Glass, a Baylor All-American. When Detroit tried to sign him, he had already signed with the Edmonton Rough Riders in the Canadian League.

Coach Buddy Parker claimed Barrow had assured Detroit before the current draft session, he would await the NFL draft before signing any contract.

The Lions concentrated yesterday's draft choices on linemen selecting 19 as opposed to seven backs.

State-Ranked Area Quints Risk Spots

Four Class B high school basketball teams from the Oakland County area are currently accorded high recognition in state circles and three of them will risk that prestige tonight.

Walled Lake, Utica, Rochester and Troy are all ranked among the top 10 quintets in Michigan in the latest state-wide poll of 'B' prep cage powers.

The undefeated Vikings, ranked No. 2, will gun for their 9th victory of the season tonight at Walled Lake in an Inter-Lakes Conference battle with Southfield.

Walled Lake will be a heavy favorite to repulse the Jays, who share the Inter-Lakes cellar with Waterford. But the improving Jays are an unpredictable outfit and cannot be regarded too lightly.

Rochester, rated 8th, faces the most trouble. The Falcons journey to Lapeer to meet a dangerous Panther club, which boasts one of the state's highest point-makers in Tom Wilson.

"Stop Wilson" cries are ringing in the ears of the Rochester cagers as they head north. Wilson, a fabulous schoolboy athlete, has scored 81 points in his last two games and his presence alone spells woe for the Falcons, who are protecting a 9-1 record.

Troy should have the easiest hurdle of the bunch. The 10th-ranked Colts play host to a weak Oak Park team and there seems to be little danger to their 8-2 mark.

The Colts were unbeaten in the Oakland B League until last Tuesday night when resurgent Avondale rudely shocked them with a 79-56 upset. Their only other setback came at the hands of Class A East Detroit.

Utica, the only team to beat Rochester this season, is not scheduled tonight. The Chieftains (7-1) are rated 7th.

Shamrocks Race to 74-36 Victory Over St. Clement

Center Line St. Clement's bedraggled basketball team has been battered from pillar to post by every Suburban Catholic League opponent during the 1956-57 campaign.

★ ★ ★

Last night it was St. Michael's turn to do the battering and the Shamrocks did it for the 2nd time this season.

Coach Bob Mineweaser juggled his starting lineup and the changes sent the Shamrocks merrily on their way to a 74-36 rout of the downtrodden Crusaders in the St. Mike gymnasium.

★ ★ ★

The alterations found Chuck Steinhelper switching to forward with Chuck Brown, Bob Mineweaser moving to guard with Ken Halpin and Dan Dropps taking over the center position in an attempt to better utilize his agility around the backboards.

Dropps responded by meshing 19 points, tops for the evening. Halpin came through with 15 points, Brown tallied 14 and Steinhelper added 11.

★ ★ ★

St. Clement trailed by only four points when the 1st quarter ended, 15-11, but an 18 to 4 bulge for the Mikes in the next period decided the argument. The 2nd half was just exercise.

Dick Hein and Tom Daldine scored 11 and 10 points respectively for the Crusaders, who absorbed their 9th straight loss.

The victory gives the Shamrocks temporary sole possession of 3rd place in the SCL with a 6-3 record. St. Frederick (5-3) can tie them again by beating Ferndale St. James tonight in the southside gym.

★ ★ ★

Runner-up Orchard Lake St. Mary spreads out the welcome mat for weak Hazel Park St. Rita and league-leading Highland Park St. Benedict goes to Royal Oak St. Mary in tonight's remaining SCL games.

Detroit's Harbert Ties Course Mark

San Juan, Puerto Rico (AP) — Chick Harbert of Detroit fired a course-equalling record seven-under-par 65 to take a first round lead yesterday in Puerto Rico's $5,000 open golf tournament.

Harbert had five birdies on the first nine, two coming home and 11 pars as he hit each of the 18 greens in regulation figures. He compiled his 65 with a 31-34.

Ex-Champs in Elks Meet Saturday

A defending champion doubles team will make its bid for a repeat performance as the Michigan State Elks Bowling Tournament moves into its 3rd weekend of play here Saturday and Sunday.

The Niles pair of J. Bierwagen and E. Deeds could take over the lead in actual pinfall by matching last year's winning total of 1248. E. Walker-K. Haviland of Detroit currently pace the division with 1217.

The 2nd 1956 champion to appear will be in action Saturday night at 8:30. The Chuck's Shack team of Pontiac was eliminated last Sunday failing to even make the top ten in its attempt to regain handicap honors.

Plymouth's Lee Butler, part of the duo which won in handicap in 1951 with 1351, will also be competing but with another partner. The present handicap high is 1321.

★ ★ ★

The appearance of these topnotch doubles stars will put that department in the spotlight this weekend but there is also plenty of action planned in team and singles play with several of the record 41 lodges entered to be represented.

Detroit, St. Joseph, Ferndale, and Hillsdale will be some of the other cities sending bowlers here this week.

Dickies Service of Pontiac is the team to beat. The locals head both actual and handicap play as does John Gavie in singles. Leading scores in both departments could very well stand up all the way, according to Elks officials.

Battle Creek's H. Zook, who sparked that city in a fine overall showing here last weekend, has taken command in the battle for all-events victor with 1843 points.

Snow Queen Crowned

Nighttime Skiing Popular

By H. GUY MOATS

Devotees of the spectacularly-growing winter sport of skiing, and tobogganing in the Pontiac area have turned to a new angle of the bracing exercises. They are now going "ski-length" for night skiing and thrilling after-dark sled runs at several lighted slopes in this metropolitan section.

Mt. Holly, most active staffed conservation department ski area around here is getting a heavy run of evening patronage. The entire area is illuminated for night sport.

For instance—this week groups from Detroit and Canada enjoyed night-time skiing. One youth group of 25 or more from Assumption College, Windsor was there on Wednesday night. On Tuesday evening the Detroit Metropolitan Ski Club used the facilities.

Then, last night Mt. Holly area crowned its first snow queen. She was 19-year-old Susanne Deyereaux, petit brunette Flint secretary. Between 300-400 skiers witnessed the crowning.

Also during the week a mariners troop of Girl Scouts (No. 19) from Northeastern Detroit went out, took some lessons and had a fine time.

And one Boy Scout, seeking a ski merit badge took his certified test at Mt. Holly. Saved a long trip upstate, say area operators.

Light snow, Thursday, on top of early snowfall this week left area slopes in good condition, and if no change occurs in the weather skiing will continue very good for the weekend. Mt. Holly reported a 12 inch base with two inches of new powder. All tows are in operation. Conditions are about the same for all other winter sports spots in the area.

GMC Tourney Continues

The second and final weekend of the GMC doubles tournament is on tap at the Pontiac Recreation alleys Saturday and Sunday with over 220 teams completing the competition.

A similar number took part a week ago in the event open to all Truck & Coach employes and immediate members of their families who are bowling in a sanctioned lead.

A mixed unit of Paul Bada and Wilhelmina Bone topped the list of keglers seeking the numerous cash prizes to be awarded leading finishers with their combined total of 172 pins over average last weekend.

★ ★ ★

Bada, a noted area golfer, also has the high actual game thus far with 247. Oz Jewett-Dick Carmichael lead in high actual series with a combined 1203. Carmichael also had the best solo series with 659.

Ruby Keller, H. Clark, D. Robitaille and Red Foster are pacing the women's individual scoring.

First place over average winners are guaranteed $100. Special doubles and individual awards totaling $165 and trophies will also be presented.

Blue Devils Forfeit Two

The Blue Devils of the City Basketball League's Class D National division used an ineligible player against the Elks on Jan. 8 and Beedle's Cut-Rate on Jan. 16 and therefore had to forfeit both games, the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department has announced.

The corrected Class D National League standings now read:

Elks	4	1	Home Lunch	1	4

Cranbrook Seeks 1st Mat Victory Saturday

The winless Cranbrook Cranes make their 5th attempt at posting an elusive initial wrestling victory Saturday afternoon playing host to Shady Side Academy in a 3:30 match.

Cranbrook has suffered decisive beatings in all four starts but in each case it was against one of Michigan's outstanding prep teams.

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Tom Newhof scored 22 points and Ed Start hit for 20 to lead Calvin to an 89-63 basketball victory over Aquinas last night.

Big League Trade Rumors Start

NEW YORK (AP)—Trade rumors, fresh and stale, bounced around town today as club executives of the National and American Leagues arrived for a weekend series of meetings.

★ ★ ★

Richie Ashburn, Philadelphia's popular centerfielder, was in the midst of the rumor-popping bee, although many baseball men felt the Phillies couldn't afford to trade Richie after swapping off Del Ennis.

According to one report, Ashburn might wind up in Milwaukee in exchange for Bill Bruton and another player. A Brooklyn-Phillie deal on a more limited scale than the December proposal that involved pitcher Harvey Haddix and Ashburn of the Phils and Outfielders Carl Furillo, Sandy Amoros and Gino Cimoli and pitchers Ed Roebuck and Ken Lehman still was in the mill. If the Dodgers got Ashburn, he probably would play left field.

The Chicago Cubs also were reported interested in Ashburn with second baseman Gene Baker as bait. Failing to get Ashburn, the Cubs might settle for a Baker swap to Milwaukee for outfielder Bob Thomson.

★ ★ ★

Red Schoendienst, veteran second baseman of the New York Giants, again was in the rumor mill. One story had Schoendienst going to Milwaukee for second baseman Danny O'Connell, pitcher Ray Crone and Thomson. The Giants also are reported interested in first baseman Dee Fondy of the Cubs.

★ ★ ★

It was getting close to the time for the annual New York Yankee deal with one of the "have not" teams in the American League. Chuck Stobbs of Washington might wind up at the Stadium in exchange for a hatful of youngsters and some expendable veterans.

Both leagues were scheduled to meet separately today with a joint meeting on the Saturday schedule. The veterans committee will meet Sunday to consider new oldtimers for membership in the Hall of Fame.

★ ★ ★

The weekend also is expected to see player of the year Mickey Mantle sign a New York contract for an estimated $55,000. The 25-year-old owner of the triple batting crown received support from an unexpected quarter in his salary battle yesterday. Yankee co-owner Dan Topping, speaking at a luncheon, urged Mickey to "get what you can — you deserve it."

Feller Calls Ted Toughest Hitter

BOSTON (AP)—Bob Feller, Cleveland's old fireballer who made baseball history during two decades with the Indians, says Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox is tougher to pitch to than New York's Mickey Mantle.

★ ★ ★

Feller received the Paul Shannon Memorial Bowl for outstanding achievement at the Boston Baseball Writers' 18th annual dinner last night.

Feller retired from baseball recently in favor of private business.

Maple Swim Team Rallies for Win

Coming from behind in impressive style, the Birmingham High swimmers gained revenge for an earlier beating by downing Plymouth 50-46 last night.

Every Maple performer posted his best time of the season as the home tankers copped seven 1st places in gaining their 6th triumph in eight starts.

Pete Sintz was the individual star of the meet winning 100-yard butterfly and 150-yard individual medley. Other victors were Tom Bechtel, Dave Smith, John Overgard and Klaus Parsch.

Overgard's win tied the score late in the match and Birmingham went ahead to stay as Parsch finished strong in the 100-yard breaststroke. Smith, Bechtel, Overgard and Dave Cook teamed to win the medley relay event.

Captain-Sponsor Tourney Under Way This Weekend

Plans are being completed today for the opening of the 7th annual Captain-Sponsor Bowling Tournament Saturday at the Land-O-Lakes alleys. All competition will be in doubles.

The event, which is being sponsored by the Bowling Proprietors Association of Greater Pontiac, will continue through Sunday and conclude Feb. 9 with a banquet at the Old Mill Tavern.

Entries are reportedly pouring in daily for the tourney which is held each year to help create better relations between teams and sponsors. Each doubles unit will include a team member and the sponsor or his representative.

Champions will be determined in both actual and handicap divisions. All awards will be presented at the post-meet banquet. The "sponsor of the year" will also be named at the fete and given the rotating trophy now being held by Sam Felice of Waterford.

★ ★ ★

There will be no cash awards but several trophies and medals will be given for the top scores, most strikes, youngest and oldest keglers, unusual splits, etc.

Detroit bowling stars George Young and Lou Sielaff and Fred Ziem, Oakland County prosecutor and sports enthusiast, are expected to be guest speakers at the awards banquet.

Royals, Walled Lake Breeze to City Wins

The Lakeside Royals and Walled Lake Super Market conquered City League basketball foes Thursday night in adult American division games at the Pontiac High School gymnasium.

★ ★ ★

Willie DeWalt again paved the road for the Royals. The ex-PHS star bagged 28 points as Lakeside routed Booth Homes, 88-53, for its 7th win in nine starts. Rudy Hill netted 25 for the Royals while Booth's Bill Dunstan scored 15.

Walled Lake led all the way in defeating Stadium Inn, 51-46, for its 6th triumph in nine outings. Jim Bates again sparked the winners, this time collecting 22 points. Maurice Stack topped Stadium with 14.

Berkley Matmen Hand Southfield 1st Loss

The Berkley Bears continued their dominance of the Oakland County wrestling scene last night by handing Southfield a 42-10 whipping.

It was the 4th straight triumph for the Bears who are now 5-1 for the season. The loss was the 1st in three starts for Southfield in its initial try at the mat sport. Berkley has now beaten four of the other five county teams.

Pontiac's Foster Wins TV Bowling Contest

Joe Foster, one of Pontiac's outstanding bowlers, won a new car by beating out a Detroit kegler in a contest televised recently in the Motor City.

He rolled a 604 to his opponent's 557 handicap score to win easily after posting a 686 actual total in qualifying. Foster is a member of the Triple X Hamburg team of the Classic League here and tops West Side Recreation keglers with a 196 average.

GM Charges Abuse of Cadillac Name

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The United States patent office is studying a complaint from General Motors Corp., which contends a Michigan boat firm has infringed on the Cadillac trademark.

Ray Wagemaker, president of the Wagemker Co. in Grand Rapids and owner of the Cadillac (Mich.) Marine & Boat Co., said the patent office will take testimony from GM next month in support of the corporation's claim. The boat firm will present testimony later, he said.

Robert C. C. Heaney, Wagemaker's attorney, said General Motors contends the word "Cadillac" applied to a boat infringes on GM's exclusive trademark. "But we contend that since the plant producing the boats is in Cadillac, there is no chance for confusion," Heaney declared.

He explained the plant first began turning out boats bearing the word "Cadillac" in 1953.

Market Lower in Early Trade

NEW YORK (AP)— The stock market was irregularly lower in moderate early trading today.

While a number of leading stocks were higher by fractions, there was a liberal assortment of losers running to around 2 points.

Bethlehem Steel was down around 2 from its New York close of yesterday and about 3 from its close on the Pacific Coast where the stock had a rise after dividend action announced yesterday.

★ ★ ★

U. S. Steel was off around a point and Youngstown well beyond that.

Among gainers were Montgomery Ward, General Dynamics, American Smelting, Westinghouse and Sinclair.

Coppers weakened following news of the price cut in the red metal. Kennecott was off more than a point, Phelps Dodge and Anaconda fractions.

United Airlines dropped around 2 on news of a reduced cash dividend and payment of a 4 per cent stock dividend.

Chrysler lost a major fraction but Ford was steady.

Caterpillar and North American Aviation were down about a point apiece.

Opening blocks included United Airlines off 1⅜ at 37⅛ on 1,200 shares, North American Aviation off 1 at 32¾ on 3,500, General Dynamics up ½ at 59⅛ on 2,000 and General Electric unchanged at 53¾ on 1,000.

Another block of 5,000 shares of United Airlines was traded at 36½ off 2.

Smoot Judged Insane; to State Hospital Today

An accused murderer, who attempted suicide and bit off a turnkey's finger in the Oakland County Jail, was taken to Pontiac State Hospital today after being adjudged insane and committed by Probate Court.

Zachoris Smoot, 39, of 206 Wessen St., was charged with shooting his common-law wife to death Oct. 14.

A pair of fellow inmates prevented Smoot from killing himself a month ago when he slashed his throat with a razor blade. Two days after the incident, Smoot attacked deputy Jesse Whitlock as he was being moved from one cell to another.

Now It's Official! Two Cannot Live Cheaply as One!

WASHINGTON (INS)—Two cannot live as cheaply as one, the U. S. government announced today. The old axiom is true, the government said, only if one of the two doesn't eat.

★ ★ ★

In an official report on food consumption, the government revealed that the single person living alone uses $11.17 worth of food a week, but two people eat up an average of $23.56 worth of food weekly.

The cost goes up with each additional member of the family, so that the figure is $31.73 for a family of three and $37.49 for a family of four.

Detroit Hospitals Increase Room Rates

DETROIT (AP) — Hospital rates continue to increase throughout the Detroit area.

Ford Hospital yesterday boosted room rates $1 a day.

Sinai Hospital increased ward and semi-private room rates $1 and private room rates $2.

Children's Hospital upped its daily rate from $31 to $35. (This is a flat inclusive rate.)

Women's Hospital said a rate increase is being worked out.

Harper Hospital in Detroit, Pontiac General Hospital and William Beaumont announced rate increases last week.

All the hospitals have blamed the rate boost on increased nurse salaries.

Higher nursing pay was recommended earlier this month by the Detroit Area Hospital Council.

As yet, the increase in hospital costs hasn't been reflected in Blue Cross premiums and other prepaid hospital care plans. But Blue Cross officials said it undoubtedly will be—although not immediately.

Increase Nikes for Air Defense

Brucker Says Missile Will Be Used at 70 Pct. of Bases by 1958

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker says that by midsummer of 1958 about 70 per cent of the antiaircraft battalions in the continental defense system will be armed with Nike missiles.

He also has told the House Armed Services Committee that the first "Missile Master" system is now being installed "at a key installation in the continental United States."

★ ★ ★

The Missile Master, developed by the Glenn L. Martin Co. for the army, provides automatic, high-speed electronic control for detecting approach of enemy planes, selecting the batteries which should open fire and launching the missiles at the proper time for interception.

At present, a number of major metropolitan areas, including the New York-New Jersey region, are defended by a combination of the new Nike weapons and the older 90-millimeter gun batteries. The guns are gradually being replaced by the newer weapons.

45.2 Per Cent of Total to General Motors; Ford Second With 33.9

DETROIT (AP) — A tabulation of 1957 model passenger car production from late last year through Jan. 26, shows total assemblies of 2,150,000 such units, Ward's Automotive Reports says in its current issue.

★ ★ ★

The agency says the unit breakdown discloses General Motors accounted for 45.2 per cent of the total of 6.1 per cent below its share of the over-all 1956 industry output. Ford, with 33.9 per cent was 4.5 per cent ahead of its 1956 volume, while Chrysler at 17.2 per cent was up ½ per cent.

"Individually," Ward's says, "Ford division bested Chevrolet for leadership in 1957 model industry output, 28.7 per cent to 25.7 per cent. Plymouth took third place, 8.8 per cent, ahead of Buick's 7.1 per cent."

The agency also says in this week's issue that the high-price car field in 1958 will make the industry's "first complete break away from conventional auto styling." It adds:

★ ★ ★

"At least one producer in this price class is planning to build only two and four-door hardtops and convertibles next year, discontinuing the conventional four-door sedan."

Asks OK to Sell Hodge's Hotel

Illinois Has $550,000 Bid on Florida Property of Convicted Ex-Auditor

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)— The state yesterday asked court approval to sell former auditor Orville E. Hodge's plush St. Petersburg, Fla., apartment-hotel to a Detroit firm for $550,000.

Lloyd Morey, appointed trustee of the estate of the now-imprisoned Hodge, asked the Sangamon County Circuit Court to permit sale of the structure to the Michigan Typesetting Co.

The Michigan firm some time ago submitted a $550,000 bid for the hotel, with notice that the bid will expire Feb. 9. Morey's petition stated that at two public auctions other bidders did not match the $550,000 figure presented by the Detroit firm.

Morey also asked permission to sell three cars formerly owned by Hodge, which are stored in Chicago, and 160 shares of common stock in the Paramount Insurance Co., owned jointly by Hodge and his wife, Margaret. The petition said the state has an offer of $7,200 for the cars. Worth of the stock was not assessed.

The hotel, the cars and the stock were among items turned over to the state by Hodge and his wife in partial restitution for Hodge's 1½ million dollar raid on the state treasury.

HOPEFUL OUTLOOK — Comedienne Jeannie Carson believes her TV show, "Hey, Jeannie," has a very good chance of being renewed by the sponsor. However, the fate of the situation comedy, televised Saturdays at 9:30 p. m. over CBS, won't be certain until March.

She Considers Prospects Good

Actress Won't Be Told Until March Whether Show Will Continue

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This is the ulcer season in TV.

Now is the time when all good men run to look to their ratings. The next few weeks will determine life or death for many a TV series. Already Noah's Ark has bitten the dust, and The Brothers may follow.

★ ★ ★

One of the new shows that may succeed is Hey, Jeannie, starring a cute little Scottish-English redhead named Jeannie Carson.

"We won't know until March," said the actress, "but it looks very favorable. The ratings have been climbing all the time, and the sponsors appear to be very happy with it. However, they never make a decision one way or the other until March."

Another favorable sign is the fact that a hefty bankroller has come in on a cosponsorship deal. Even with such good tidings, Jeannie must wait. It's sort of like listening for the other shoe to drop upstairs.

★ ★ ★

If Hey, Jeannie is renewed, it will be a triumph for the actress' considerable talents. She started the show virtually unknown to American audiences, having appeared only on four spectaculars and a few guest spots. A stage star in England, she was brought here by Max Liebman.

"I was appearing in a musical version of 'Daddy Long Legs,'" she explained. "The show had been running 2½ years, and he saw me in the last week of the run!"

★ ★ ★

Jeannie figures it was fate that brought her here, and she isn't one to fight fate. She and her husband-manager Bill Redmond have decided to settle here. They're shopping for a home and have taken the first step toward citizenship.

Girls Willing to Shave Heads for Good Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Nineteen girls, pretty and young, are proof that an actress will do anything—even to shaving off her hair — for a good role.

★ ★ ★

Universal - International studios placed an advertisement in the trade papers which read:

"Wanted— immediately. Beautiful girl with long hair— willing to have it shaved off for a leading role in Universal - International's 'Stalin Is Alive.'"

The role is that of Stalin's mistress. According to the script, he liked to shave off the hair of girl friends who displeased him.

Producer Al Zugsmith frankly was overwhelmed at the turnout. "I thought we would have to dress up Yul Brynner in girl clothes," he said.

The part calls for a week's work in the picture at $285 but Zugsmith said a 10-week publicity tour also is in the offing.

One of the prettiest of the group was Asa Maynor, 21, a New York actress. She had beautiful red hair.

★ ★ ★

"I'm really a brunette, and I was thinking anyhow of going back to my original color," she told a reporter. "This way it will come in natural and I won't have to pay for a dye job."

★ ★ ★

But she was too tall and didn't get the part.

The girl who did is Natalie Daryll, a pretty brunette. She had an advantage over the others — she was born at Samferopal, in Russia's Crimea. Now 24, she came to this country five years ago.

★ ★ ★

Her accent is real.

Our neighbor's boy is very nice. When the kids ask him to play, he says, "No, I got to stay in and help my father do my homework." . . . England's got a new magazine called "Paunch" (says Bernie Richmond of Montreal). Editor: Jackie Gleason.—Earl Wilson.

Meany Holds Labor Spotlight

Man Who Outtalked Lewis Now Leads Union Parley

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Keeping the American labor movement unified while driving out its racketeers and Communists ought to be a relatively simple job for George Meany. He once outtalked John L. Lewis.

That was 10 years ago. The powerful Lewis, head of the Mine Workers Union, was back in the fold of the American Federation of Labor at the time. Meany, 14 years younger than Lewis, was merely secretary-treasurer of the AFL.

The question was whether members of the federation's executive committee should sign non-communist affidavits as required by the Taft-Hartley Labor Law. In his usual rolling phrases, Lewis said no. In his vigorous, direct way, Meany said yes.

The AFL accepted Meany's arguments. Lewis, rejected one of the few times of his life, quit the federation shortly thereafter.

POWER GREW

The 200-pound, cigar-chomping Meany went on to become the most powerful man in the American labor movement. Today, he is the central figure at the tension-packed meeting of the AFL-CIO executive committee in Miami Beach.

In 1952, following the death of William Green, he was elected president of the AFL. In 1955, he became head of the 15 million union members joined together by the AFL's merger with the Congress of Industrial organizations.

Meany, more than any other one man, was responsible for the merger. Her convinced the AFL that it was time to stop demanding that the CIO repent for splitting away from the federation in the 1930s. He convinced the CIO that merger would mean peace with honor.

The 62-year-old Meany, once a journeyman plumber, son of a union local president and a union member for 41 years, has battled the government frequently, and fought other labor leaders. He has won some victories and suffered some defeats, but he has proved he was a man who couldn't be pushed around.

In 1953, he called before a Senate committee investigating alleged racketeers in the Internation Longshoremen's Association.

When one senator demanded that Meany kick the ILA out of the AFL, the union president retorted: "What we do is something we decide. You won't decide it."

Before long the ILA was out of the AFL—but George Meany, father of four daughters, ex-plumber, had made the decision.

Builds City of Future

BERLIN — Berlin is building a "Community of Tomorrow," a huge building project designed after many conferences among architects, sociologists, public-health experts, teachers, psychologists, economists, and housewives. The aim is to make living as simple as possible. The unique result mixes modern with classic design, the most utilitarian of each being employed.
