THE WEIGHT'S AT THE REAR — Like any good tug-of-war participant can tell you, the best place to have the weight is at the rear—of the tug-of-war team, that is. No question about it, this team of high school girls from North Adams, Mass., was well suited for the occasion. Despite their assets, the team lost. However, the girls vowed to get to the bottom of their problem by the time next year's match rolls around.

Large U.S. Pullout in '70 Seen by Thieu

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu indicated today that a large number of American troops could be withdrawn from Vietnam in 1970 beyond the 60,000 already ordered redeployed this year.

NGUYEN VAN THIEU

Thieu told a news conference in Vung Tau that the South Vietnamese armed forces plan to increase strength by 150,000 to 200,000 men next year.

He said, however, that before more American troops can leave the United States must meet the South Vietnamese armed forces requirements for "material, funds and a reasonable time for training and leadership."

★ ★ ★

Thieu told a news conference in Vung Tau that he would ask President Nixon soon how many more troops the United States wants to withdraw next year. He said he would try to meet Nixon's wishes.

MUM ON FIGURE

Thieu did not disclose how many American troops could be withdrawn next year. However, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said last week that 150,000 to 200,000 American troops could be withdrawn by the end of 1970.

High South Vietnam sources have been reported as saying that present plans call for the replacement of U.S. forces in their country to be completed by the end of 1972, although some American troops still would be required after that date.

The South Vietnamese estimate appeared to cover a longer period of time than President Nixon had in mind when he told a news conference yesterday he is trying to end the war before the close of 1970 or the middle of 1971.

The South Vietnam officials are programming a buildup of their regular army, together with regional and provincial forces, to a total of 953,000 men by the end of 1972.

COMBAT SUPPORT

Their plans, however, would call for American units to continue supplying not only logistic support, but combat support as well, from infantry units, B52 bombers and helicopter gunships.

The first round of U.S. troop withdrawals, 25,000 men, was completed last August. The second round, which will number 35,000 troops and be completed by Dec. 15, began six days ago. The current pullout, ordered Sept. 16, will cut the authorized ceiling of U.S. troops in Vietnam to 484,000.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile the U.S. Command reported that American battlefield deaths in Vietnam so far this year total 8,185 — a 33 per cent decrease from the corresponding 38-week period of 1968.

This is an average of 215 deaths a week.

★ ★ ★

Last year, the command said, 12,214 Americans were killed, or an average of 321 deaths a week.

PCH to Be Closed Monday

Pontiac Central High School will be closed Monday.

★ ★ ★

That decision was made by school administrators late yesterday in the wake of student unrest which boiled over into several fist fights at the school, in which four students were injured and three arrested.

Pontiac Northern High School and Madison Junior High, which were closed yesterday following similar student unrest Thursday, will be open for classes Monday.

★ ★ ★

Central's Principal Garth Errington said that he and his administrative staff will meet with selected students, parents and the faculty Monday to work on a comprehensive program in an attempt to insure the complete safety of any youngster attending school on Tuesday.

START OF TROUBLE

Yesterday's demonstration and student-to-student confrontations started about 8:15 a.m. when five young black men, estimated to be in their early 20s, ran through a school hallway striking two white Central students.

"The young men were not from Central, and I did not see any of them again during the day. At least two of the men had on shirts inscribed with 'Black Disciples'," Errington said.

★ ★ ★

They ran from the building after hitting the Central students, Errington said.

"This started the milling-around process. When the opening bell rang, about 1,600 students went to their classrooms while about 100 continued to roam the halls," he said.

ABSENTEE RATE

The 2,250-student school, about 40 per cent black, had an absentee rate yesterday of about 300-400 students, only about 100 above normal, Errington said.

Many parents apparently kept their children at home yesterday in anticipation of trouble at Central after Northern High School had closed early Thursday. Fights between black and white students at Northern injured at least two Thursday.

Errington estimated that at the peak of yesterday's milling-around at Central, during which adjacent streets were closed off, there were only about 300 black and 200 white students involved.

He added that many in the milling crowd were not Central High students. "One man was identified as being from Oxford," he said.

LEADERS PRAISED

Other Central students either stayed in their classes or went home when parents called for them, he said.

Errington praised white and black community leaders who arrived on the scene to talk to the youngsters.

"They offered some very fine assistance to us on a voluntary basis—none were called," he said.

Errington had asked that Central remain open when plans were made Thursday night to close Northern and adjoining Madison Junior High School so administrators could discuss the problem with parents and to allow for a "cooling-off" of students.

BLAMES OUTSIDERS

"I feel confident that the school day would have been run smoothly had it not been for the five outsiders who caused the early-morning disruption," Errington said.

Although fights broke out between black and white students he said, black students often defended white students from other blacks and vice versa.

He said community leaders indicated to him that they felt little racial tension — that the situation yesterday had more of a carnival atmosphere.

Washington and Eastern Junior high schools also closed early yesterday afternoon — but not because of any disturbances.

'FELT NO RACIAL TENSION'

"I let the youngsters go home for lunch and stay there, because some of the high school students from Central and Northern were around the building. I felt no racial tension here. The kids were excited over their student council election today," Eastern Principal Orlando Burton said yesterday.

"Groups of both black and white high school students milled around Washington, but there was no problem," said Schools Assistant Supt. Richard Fell who was at the school.

Most of the Washington students were bused home from school in the early afternoon, no matter where they lived, Fell said.

He praised black community leaders Albert Munson and Kenneth Walker for their help in disbanding the high school students milling around Washington.

Arab-Israeli Talks Out, Says Egyptian

From Our News Wires

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad said today he told the United States that direct Arab-Israeli peace negotiations were unacceptable.

Riad said in Cairo he told the United States such direct negotiations would amount to "an Arab surrender to Israel."

★ ★ ★

The Arab diplomat, who has just returned from the United Nations, said he did not even ask U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers about the American viewpoint on the matter. "It seems pretty clear to us," he said.

ARAB DEMANDS

Riad said he told Rogers there were three prerequisites, as far as the Arabs are concerned, for peace in the Middle East:

- Withdrawal of Israeli forces from all Arab lands seized in the June 1967 war.

★ ★ ★

- Enforcement of U.N. resolutions which would guarantee Palestinians the right to either return to their homes or get financial compensation.
- Guarantees by the U.N. Security Council for peace and security in the Middle East by enforcing all provisions of its Nov. 22, 1967, resolution.

WORTHWHILE

At the United Nations, meanwhile, Rogers and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko are finding enough worthwhile in their Mideast talks to meet once more privately before they leave New York.

The Middle East situation dominated their 3¼-hour dinner dicussion last night. It was supposed to be their second and last meeting during the U.N's fall session.

But with more ground to cover on guidelines toward an Arab-Israeli settlement, plus other unfinished business, the two men agreed on a third meeting expected to be held Tuesday.

Rogers told newsmen "I'm not discouraged" by the Mideast discussion so far, but refused to say more than, "We hope that progress can be made."

Both Vietnam and Communist China were also discussed U.S. officials said.

Gromyko in addition pressed Rogers for freedom for Soviet vessels to sail into U.S. East Coast ports as they now do on the West Coast.

Clarkston Teachers to Strike Monday

Members of the Clarkston Education Association at a general session last night voted 169-12 to "withhold their services as of Monday . . . in light of the school board's refusal to accept a state fact-finder's report," according to Tom Brown, CEA president.

★ ★ ★

"Clarkston teachers have been working without a contract since Sept. 2. The CEA accepted the fact-finder's recommendation concerning a contract settlement more than a week ago," Brown said.

★ ★ ★

He said teachers felt the fact-finder's report was fair and equitable since a state-appointed officer would have no reason to jeopardize the board's position.

Clarkston Schools Assistant Supt. Floyd Vincent said the school board accepted the teachers' work calendar following the fact-finding, but would allow only one personal day off rather than the two asked by the CEA.

SALARY OFFER

Vincent said the salary offered by the board ranges fsom $7,325 to $12,550, which is about $200,000 more than the estimated income for next year, but about $80,000 less than the salaries asked by CEA.

He said the board's proposed salary schedule is in line with five area districts with similar tax bases — Brandon, Holly, Milford, Lake Orion and Oxford.

"Competitively, I feel the board's offer is not out of line," Vincent said.

He said that the Clarkston School Board and the district's principals will meet tomorrow morning to discuss steps to take concerning the teachers' contract.

The strike would affect 260 teachers in the district, but not all of the teachers are CEA members.

Barbara Fails in Freedom Bid

Reputed Mafia leader Joseph Barbara Jr. lost a bid yesterday to gain his freedom from prison while he appeals his conviction on a charge of extorting money from the wife of an underworld informer.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan Court of Appeals yesterday refused to overrule Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem and grant Barbara his release from the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson.

★ ★ ★

Barbara, 33, of Fraser, was sentenced to a 7-to-20-year prison term on Sept. 19 for extorting $4,000 and a diamond ring from Mrs. Delores Lazaros, wife of former Mafia moneyman Peter Lazaros of 2410 Dalesford, Troy.

★ ★ ★

It is expected that Barbara's attorney, Ivan Barris of Detroit, will now ask the Michigan Supreme Court to grant bail to Barbara. Barbara had been free on $50,000 bond from his arrest to his sentencing.

★ ★ ★

Mostly sunny and cool is the prediction for tomorrow, the high reaching near 63 to 68. Increasing cloudiness and not much change in temperature is the outlook for Monday.

Morning winds southwesterly at eight to 18 miles per hour will shift to west to northwest, becoming five to 10 miles tonight.

Alleged Beret Spy Killer Named

SAIGON (AP) — The Army disclosed more details of its murder and conspiracy case against six Green Beret officers today, naming a 27-year-old intelligence specialist as the triggerman in the execution of a reported Vietnamese spy.

Against strong objections from defense attorneys that it would prejudice the case, military officials made public the charge in which all six men are accused of plotting and carrying out the slaying last June 20.

★ ★ ★

The documents named Capt. Thomas Francis Marasco, 27, of Bloomfield, N.J., as the man who fired the pistol shot that killed Thai Khac Chuyen after it was discovered that he was a double agent working for the North Vietnamese as well as for the Americans.

★ ★ ★

The three top-ranking officers in the case—Col. Robert B. Rheault, 43, of Vineyard Haven, Mass., former commander of the 3,000 Special Forces troops in Vietnam, and Majors Thomas C. Middleton Jr., 29, of Jefferson, S.C. and David E. Crew, 33, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa—were accused of the murder even though the charges said they did not have a part in the actual killing.

Their trial awaits the outcome of the general court-martial, now scheduled for Oct. 20, in which Marasco and Capts. Leland J. Brumley, 27, of Duncan, Okla., and Budge E. Williams, 27, of Athens, Ga., face similar charges.

No charge sheets were issued for CWO2 Edward M. Boyle of New York City, or Sgt. 1.c. Alvin L. Smith Jr. of Naples, Fla.

★ ★ ★

According to military sources, the two have been declared immune from the original charges so that they may testify against the six officers. If they don't they face possible five-year jail terms.

'CARRIED VICTIM'

Boyle, however, was named in the accusations against the others—his part in the incident being that "in order to effect the object of the conspiracy," he allegedly helped Brumley carry the victim to a boat at Nha Trang, the Special Forces' coastal headquarters 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

Brumley is alleged to have given the doomed man a shot of morphine, after which Marasco, the charges said, "did shoot Thai Khac Chuyen with a pistol."

Chuyen's body then allegedly was weighted with chains in a sack and dumped in the South China Sea. A search was conducted in July and August but no body was recovered.

U-M Protesters Call for Strike Monday

From Our News Wires

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Student-protesters yesterday called for a general student-faculty strike Monday in the wake of arrests of 103 persons evicted from a university building early yesterday.

The issue was whether a proposed campus bookstore will be operated under student control. University Regents have voted to establish one under administration control. Students say they fear it wouldn't give discounts.

The strike was proposed at a noon midcampus rally which attracted some 3,000 to 4,000. This was followed by a march to the Administration Building.

★ ★ ★

There Marty McLaughlin, 19-year-old Student Government Council President, demanded that Robben W. Fleming, university president, summons regents to an emergency meeting to create a student board of control for the proposed bookstore.

DEMANDS REJECTED

Fleming told a crowd which had dwindled to some 2,500 that the regents had rejected the student demands.

Whereupon, McLaughlin, from Arlington, Va., grabbed a microphone from Fleming and shouted: "Then we have no alternative but to strike."

★ ★ ★

The crowd then began to chant, "strike, strike, strike," and, with raised fists, marched out of the Administration Building.

The decision to call in police, Fleming said, "may destroy me but it doesn't bother me. This may erode student confidence in me. Maybe somebody else could do a better job. If it means I have to go, that's all right."

In a front-page editorial, the Michigan Daily, the student newspaper, said, "We believe the reason for this tragedy lies squarely on the shoulders of Robben Fleming — his reliance on police action, his unwillingness to seriously negotiate student demands, his blatant, and baseless threats to students and faculty."

But Gov. William G. Milliken said, "We simply cannot allow the takeover of university or other public buildings. We cannot and we will not."

★ ★ ★

All but 15 to 20 of those arrested had furnished $25 bail and been released by midafternoon, and students were busily raising funds to effect release of the others.

★ ★ ★

Arraignment was due in Ann Arbor District Court Monday.

Birmingham Area

New Meeting on Telegraph Dilemma Set

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Bloomfield Township officials and representatives of the Michigan State Highway Department will hold another in a series of meetings concerning the Telegraph Road traffic dilemma in Lansing on Oct. 8.

Township officials have been urging an earlier starting date for the proposed widening project which is not set to begin until 1973-74 at the earliest.

★ ★ ★

The next meeting reportedly would involve a discussion with policy-making representatives of the highway department.

★ ★ ★

The highway department sent a group of nonpolicy-making personnel to hear complaints from politicians, citizens and township officials at a recent meeting at Township Hall.

★ ★ ★

The highway department has consistently maintained that it is impossible to move up the starting date because of a cutback in federal highway subsidies.

BIRMINGHAM — Frederick Pinis, 600 Pierce, has been listed in "Who's Who in American Education," a biographical directory of eminent public school educators.

★ ★ ★

Pinis is director of elementary education for the Warren Consolidated Schools. He was principal of Adams Elementary School in Birmingham from 1957-66.

★ ★ ★

The educator is past president of the Michigan Association of Elementary School Principals and was editor of the Michigan Elementary Principal for seven years.

★ ★ ★

Pinis has served on committees for the National Education Association of Elementary School Principals in Washington, D.C., and has written several articles in national and state publications as well as local newspapers.

The Birmingham Police Department has been authorized to continue its current means of enforcement regarding littering in Birmingham.

The present penalty for littering is a fine up to $500 and up to 90 days in jail.

★ ★ ★

A recommendation that the city post signs throughout Birmingham to publicize the littering problem was rejected by the City Commission on the basis that posting signs is a questionable practice.

The commissioners questioned the effectiveness of littering the city with signs that tell people not to litter.

Czech Cabinet Quits; Dubcek Regime Purged

VIENNA (AP) — The Czechoslovak federal government decided unanimously today to offer its resignation to President Ludvik Svoboda, the official news agency CTK said in a report heard here.

CTK said the ministers made the decision at a morning meeting presided over by federal Premier Oldrich Cernick.

The resignation of the Czechoslovak government came a few hours after the central committee of the Communist party ended a two-day meeting at which several party officials from the Alexander Dubcek regime were reported to have been purged.

The party reportedly made the Dubcek regime the scapegoat for the 1968 Soviet invasion.

The party central committee ended its probe into alleged errors of the past after approving a resolution "on organizational and personnel problems," a party statement over Radio Prague declared.

Names of those hit by the personnel shakeup will be announced tomorrow.

A minister of the Czech state government said there had been "sweeping personnel changes" in party and government and virtually confirmed that former party chief Dubcek had been downgraded again.

Dubcek remained a member of the party presidium after losing the first secretary post to Gustav Husak last April. The latest session apparently removed him from the 11-man presidium.

To Offer Resolution Seeking U.S. Pullout

24 in Congress Back Viet Protest

WASHINGTON — Two dozen Democrats in Congress are preparing to ally themselves with students in escalating the kind of Vietnam policy dissent which has drawn President Nixon's rebuke.

Twelve senators and 12 House members have agreed in general terms to support the plans of students for an Oct. 15 boycott of classes to protest the war.

The congressional dissenters agreed yesterday that on Oct. 8, one week before the student protest, they will propose a resolution seeking U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

One participant said the resolution would not set a flat deadline, but would advocate a systematic pullout.

Sens. Frank Church of Idaho and George S. McGovern of South Dakota, and Reps. John Brademas of Indiana and Morris K. Udall of Arizona are to draft the proposals.

An effort also is planned to get as many senators as possible onto speaking platforms Oct. 15.

Sen. Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., already has proposed legislation to put a Dec. 1, 1970, deadline on U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

President Nixon told a news conference yesterday that such cutoff proposals undercut and destroy the U.S. negotiating position.

Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, Democratic national chairman, called that statement "the same old thing we've heard before."

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, new Republican leader, praised the Nixon statement—even though the rebuke seemed aimed at least partly in his direction.

★ ★ ★

Scott has suggested half the U.S. forces be withdrawn by the end of 1970.

Several labor unions reportedly are considering brief walkouts Oct. 15 in sympathy with a nationwide Vietnam protest.

Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, was mentioned as being "interested in backing the protest. The union might stage one-to-three hours "walkoffs," one source said.

City Policemen Escape Ambush

Two patrolling Pontiac policemen escaped injury early today when they were ambushed by snipers on South Saginaw near Wilson.

Bullets punctured the scout car in two places and a shotgun blast shattered a rear side window. A front tire was also shot out.

★ ★ ★

Patrolmen Robert Bates and Michael Miles said they were traveling south on Saginaw shortly before 2 a.m. when they heard 12 or more shots fired.

★ ★ ★

Bates, the driver, swerved the car, crossing the center line before stopping on the east side of the street.

SHELLS FOUND

Police said that the shots were fired from behind a barricade of old tires stacked up at the side of a gasoline station.

Several spent 7.62mm rifle casings and 12-gauge shotgun shells were found at the scene.

★ ★ ★

A witness told police that he had seen five or six black subjects take a rifle and a double-barreled shotgun from a car. Police have a description of the car.

★ ★ ★

Because of the rapid succession of the shots, police believe that the rifle may be an automatic weapon.

One of the bullets hit just within inches of where Bates was sitting.

Hope Dims for 74 on Bolivia Airliner

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Hope dimmed today for 74 persons reported aboard a Bolivian DC6 passenger plane missing and apparently down in extremely rugged Andean mountain country southeast of La Paz.

The Lloyd Aereo Boliviano four-engine plane last heard from at 3:10 p.m. yesterday had a crew of 5 and a passenger list of 69, including a child and a baby.

There were reports, however, that at least one of the 69 did not board the flight at Santa Cruz as scheduled.

The flight carried the 19-member "The Strongest" soccer team from La Paz which had been in Santa Cruz participating in a tournament.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Showers are forecast tonight for the Northwest and portions of the Northeast and Mideast. Cooler temperatures are expected in the Northeast and Northwest.

Medicare Bill Hiked for Aged

WASHINGTON (AP) — An aged person covered by Medicare who enters a hospital after Jan. 1 will have to pay the first $52 of his bill—an increase of $8.

The announcement Friday by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare came just a day after President Nixon asked Congress to increase Social Security benefits by 10 per cent beginning next April 1.

Instead of the present $44 of a hospital bill that must be paid by a Medicare recipient for hospitalization up to 60 days, the patient will have to pay $52 under the increase in the deductible.

From 60 to 90 days, the patient's share will rise from $11 to $13 of daily costs, and over 90 days the patient will pay $26 per day instead of the current $22.

The President also predicted there would be a "substantial increase" in the current $4 per month which beneficiaries must pay for supplementary medical benefits—helping pay doctor, ambulance, out-patient and other medical costs. The new supplementary rate must be set by Dec. 31 to go into effect next July 1.

In a year, nearly six million of the 20 million Medicare beneficiaries are admitted or readmitted to a hospital. Most are retired and would be eligible for the increased Social Security benefits proposed by Nixon.

The $52 deductible amount is aimed at making the Medicare recipient responsible for expenses equivalent to the average cost of one day in the hospital, said Social Security Commissioner Robert M. Ball. The average Medicare hospital stay now costs $700.

State, County to Weigh Telegraph Upgrade

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department has scheduled an Oct. 8 meeting with Oakland County legislators to discuss improvements on Telegraph Road. Sen. Robert Huber, R-Troy, said the road has a higher accident rate than other roads scheduled for rebuilding.

W. German Vote Tomorrow; Right-Wing Rally Disrupted

BONN (UPI) — West Germany's violent election campaign ended today, following a clash involving thousands of persons who fought with clubs and bottles to protest a right-wing rally in Nuernberg.

More than 33 million persons will vote tomorrow to fill 496 seats in the Bundestag, the lower house of parliament which chooses the president.

★ ★ ★

The main contenders were Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's ruling Christian Democrats and Foreign Minister Willy Brandt's Social Democrats.

More than 10,000 foes of Adolf von Thadden's National Democratic Party attacked his campaign finale rally last night in Nuernberg.

RALLY CLOSED DOWN

Police closed down the rally and ordered the demonstrators to go home.

They chanted "Nazis out! Nazis out!" and battled police for hours.

★ ★ ★

The demonstrators hurled bottles, rocks, ammonia, firecrackers and clubs. Police fought back with clubs and water cannon. The police finally won.

It was the eighth night of election campaign violence in nine days.

Both Kiesinger and Brandt have said one of the main aims of the election is to keep Von Thadden's forces out of parliament. The party already holds seats in seven of West Germany's 11 state legislatures.

Critics say Von Thadden's forces are neo-Nazi. The government has considered banning the party, which Von Thadden denies is Nazi.

Despite their other differences, Kiesinger and Brandt agree that Von Thadden's entrance into parliament could have catastrophic results on West Germany's international relations.

New Latin Junta Ends Oil Code

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — In its first official act, Bolivia's new military junta canceled a law under which a U.S.-owned oil company has been operating.

Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia, who seized power yesterday from President Adolfo Siles Salinas, met with his new cabinet for three hours and then announced the annulment of the nation's petroleum code.

★ ★ ★

The code granted Bolivian Gulf Oil Co. ownership of oil resources and set up a plan of profit-sharing with the state.

Ovando said the legislation was drafted by a New York law firm and was prejudicial to Bolivian interests.

He said the future of the company, a subsidiary of Gulf Oil Corp., had not been decided. He did not rule out the possibility of nationalizing the firm's properties.

★ ★ ★

Ovando said in a message to the peasants that his government would "make more profound the Bolivian land reform" of 1953. And he issued a statement pledging to secure national sovereignty over the sources of production, improve the already nationalized mining industry, promote heavy industry, establish a nationalistic economic policy, and protect workers' rights.

Ousted President Siles, in Santa Cruz for a celebration, took off in a small plane, presumably to go into exile in Chile.

There was some confusion in Washington over whether the United States had suspended diplomatic relations with Bolivia as a result of the coup.

Testimony on Haynsworth Nomination Ends

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee has heard all the witnesses, but there is no indication when it will vote on the nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth to the Supreme Court.

Seven days of testimony came to a close Friday with civil rights leaders firing the parting shots in opposition to the nomination.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he was uncertain whether his committee would vote at its meeting next Tuesday. He said he would be reluctant to report out a Supreme Court nominee if only a bare quorum were present for the meeting.

Eastland noted that Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., who has been studying Haynsworth's financial and judicial records, has reserved the right to recall the judge for more questioning.

And a union spokesman has suggested recalling Haynsworth to testify concerning four cases involving Nationwide Mutual Insurance Co. and Grace Lines, Inc.

Irving Abramson, general counsel of the International Electrical Workers union, told Eastland in a letter that Haynsworth had a "substantial stockholder interest" in the firms and should be asked why he did not disqualify himself when cases involving them came before his 4th Court of Appeals.

Even if Haynsworth is not recalled to testify, Eastland pointed out that the nomination could lay over automatically for a week at the request of any committee member. Such a move would mean Haynsworth could not be confirmed by the Senate before the Oct. 6 start of the new Supreme Court term.

President Nixon at a news conference and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell in an interview Friday reaffirmed their backing for Haynsworth.

Critics of the nomination have conceded they expect Haynsworth to be confirmed.

At the Friday session, Yale law school student J. Otis Cochran said Haynsworth "stands as a symbol of the continued failures of American society to make good on its promises to all its citizens." Cochran is national chairman of the Black American Law Students Association.

MAIDEN VOYAGE — Three years ago, Albert Foster of Hollywood, Calif., decided to build a boat to give his daughter for her 21st birthday. With the birthday coming up tomorrow, Foster discovered that the boat had outgrown the yard. Here, Foster and his wife watch as a crane takes the boat on its first voyage—from the backyard to the front yard. In addition to the $3,000 for materials for the boat, it cost Foster $250 to hire the crane.

Senator Sees Close Vote

DETROIT (AP)—If a Senate vote on confirmation of Supreme Court nominee Clement Haynsworth were held today, he would most likely squeak through, Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., told a Friday news conference.

Bayh told the news conference, held shortly after a meeting of the Wayne County (Detroit) Democratic Committee, he has "grave doubts" whether Haynsworth "has a high enough standard of legal ethics to sit on the court."

Shultz, Unions Air Rail Strike Threat

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Five railroad union negotiators slipped away from a labor convention here today to meet with Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz concerning a threatened strike next week against six major railroads.

Labor sources said the union negotiators hoped to persuade Shultz against recommending that President Nixon declare a national emergency which would postpone the strike for 60 days.

On Wednesday, National Mediation Board Chairman Francis A. O'Neill, advised the White House that efforts to settle the wage dispute by mediation have been unsuccessful and that a strike would cause a national emergency.

Sources said Shultz, after meeting with the union leaders in Washington to hear their side of the wage dispute, will call in industry representatives early next week.

STRIKE CALLED

The four railroad shop-craft unions involved—machinists, electrical workers, sheet metal workers and boilermakers—have called a strike against the six railroads for 12:01 a.m. next Saturday.

The unions, who staged the first nationwide railroad strike in 45 years in 1967, picked only six railroads this time in an effort to avoid White House and congressional intervention.

The 1967 strike was halted after two days by a special law passed by Congress that provided for a forced wage settlement for the first time in peacetime history.

The unions insist that striking the six railroads would not create a national emergency, and they want the White House to let them fight it out with the railroads. They contend the railroad industry will never negotiate realistically as long as it has hope of government intervention to halt a strike.

Ann Arbor Girl Is Charged With Selling Drugs

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—An 18-year-old Ann Arbor girl is being held under $18,000 bond after she was charged with separate counts of selling opium and LSD.

Diane Alice Pena waived examination after her arrest Friday and was bound over to circuit court for trial.

Police also arrested Robert C. Rokos, 19, of Traverse City when they picked up the girl. Rokos was charged with selling LSD and freed on $1,500 bond after demanding examination on the charge.

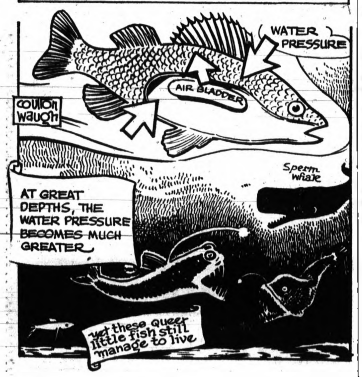
Junior Editors Quiz on DEEP SEA FISH



QUESTION: How can deep sea fish survive all that pressure and darkness?

* * *

ANSWER: A good question. In that world of ocean depth, spoken of by the frightening word abyss, light from above fails to penetrate. Six tons of weight presses down on each square inch of surface.

Yet strange, fearsome-looking fish do survive down there. Our pictures do not exaggerate their grotesque appearance. They survive the pressure because they have air bladders inside which press out, equalizing the outside pressure.

Upper-level fish have these air bladders, too. We show one at top, with a section of skin removed to show the air bladder.

Air, like water, also has weight. Our own bodies have ways of creating inside pressure to balance against that of the air outside.

As to light, the strange abyssal fishes, living in a lightless world, carry their own lighting systems. They have various organs which glow with an eerie, luminescent light, enough so they can grope their way around in their dark world, which in addition to being lightless and under such pressure, is also very cold.

Let's be glad we live up in the sunlight!

Missionary Hospital in Nigeria Is Periled

KANO, Nigeria (AP) — A missionary hospital here last year treated 31,000 patients, yet it is in danger of shutting down because of local hostility.

"I feel our days are numbered here," one American at the hospital told a visitor. "Perhaps the biggest thing is that we're up here trying to make Christians out of Moslems."

* * *

This year four American eye specialists who wanted to join the staff were refused short-visit visas, according to hospital authorities, for no known specific reason. Immigration officials in Lagos commented: "There may be a local problem."

A shipment of eyeglasses and supplies was held up at Kano Airport for seven months before it was cleared recently.

COMMON DIFFICULTIES

Hospital officials aren't sure these difficulties are purposeful — red tape, draconian restrictions and administrative tie-ups are common in this federation at war. Still, they add, it hurts.

Nigeria's North is predominantly Moslem. Kano has been a seat of Hausa-Fulani tradition for centuries, wary of change in general.

* * *

Thousands of Nigerians, from feudal peasants to the elite, owe their sight to the 143-bed hospital founded 26 years ago by Dr. Douglas Hursh of Wheaton, Ill., now retired.

It's now run by Dr. Titus Payne of Atlanta, Ga., who came here in 1967 after a year's practice in Columbia, S.C. He is the only ophthalmologist but there are two optometrists. Six American and five Nigerian nurses are trained to treat minor cases; they refer serious ones to Payne.

LONG SERVICE

One nurse, Delta Bond of Muscatine, Iowa, has been at the hospital 23 years. Helen Vetter of Onida, S.D., has been here eight.

Dr. Payne has done considerable research, studying disease borne in the dust swept down from the Sahara. He and his staff performed 5,000 operations in 1968, including transplants. One local chief from the Rivers States, 700 miles south, came in after Biafran captors put out one eye in a beating and a cataract blinded the other eye.

1 Dead, 46 Hurt at Indiana Prison

PENDLETON, Ind. (AP) — One inmate at the Indiana State Reformatory has been killed and 46 wounded, all of them Negroes, in what reformatory officials said was a racial incident.

Supt. George Phend said guards fired riot guns loaded with bird and double-O shot over the heads of inmates and into the ground Friday when about 100 prisoners threatened to burn down the institution and refused orders to disperse.

Killed was James E. Durr, 20, of Gary, who was serving a 1-10 year sentence for robbery.

Of the 46 wounded, nine remained hospitalized today. The others were treated at a hospital and returned to the prison. Phend said a reformatory doctor reported that about 85 per cent of the wounds were superficial.

BURNING THREATENED

Phend said, "We think there were two white men involved. We want to emphasize that this is a black and white problem. This has been brewing for some years."

Phend said that of the reformatory's 2,325 prisoners, about 880 are Negroes.

He said Friday's trouble started when about 200 inmates in the recreation area threatened to burn down the reformatory. He said the security force tried to disperse prisoners but they headed for the furniture factory.

Inmates set fire to furniture and upholstery material, Phend said, but the reformatory fire department extinguished flames in five minutes and the building was not damaged.

DASH FOR BUILDING

The superintendent said inmates dashed for another building but when a guard fired over their heads they turned back toward the recreation area, which includes an asphalt-covered basketball court. About 100 inmates remained, and an emergency squad of 12 armed guards was summoned, Phend said.

He said the crowd refused an order to disperse and one warning shot was fired over their heads. Another was fired 10 minutes later, he said.

Phend said that after 10 more minutes shots were fired into the ground. One man jumped up, said he'd had enough and the men began scattering, Phend said. It was not known until then that some inmates had been wounded, apparently by ricocheting pellets, he said.

UNHAPPY INMATES — Black inmates of the Indiana State Reformatory at Pendleton, Ind., shout at newsmen following a disturbance yesterday in which one inmate was killed and 46 wounded by guards. On Thursday, black inmates presented a list of demands to reformatory officials, including a demand for release from solitary confinement of four blacks.

Corrections Commissioner Robert P. Heyne said that on Thursday a list of 10 demands was presented reformatory officials by 75 Negroes who gathered in front of a dormitory.

One demand was for release from solitary confinement of four blacks Phend said had been placed there May 25 "for investigation." He did not elaborate.

2 of 4 at Large in Slaying of Four Women

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two men were held under maximum security today while law officers pressed their search for two others accused of taking part in the holdup-slaying of four women.

The lawmen, including FBI agents, were concentrating their search around U.S. 27 near the Kentucky-Tennessee border.

* * *

Each of the four men is charged with four counts of first-degree murder in the Wednesday slayings.

Sought are Watterson Johnson, 22, and John Leigh, 20, both of the Cincinnati area.

The FBI joined the search when it filed warrants charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution—for murder—against the two, last seen walking along U.S. 27 near Strunk, Ky., at the state line with Tennessee.

Raymond Kassow, 24, and Carl Ingle, 31, were held Friday for the county grand jury without bond. Kassow, who lives on the same street as two of the victims, made no comment at the hearing in Municipal Court.

* * *

Ingle, also of Cincinnati, was arrested Thursday night at his home and was charged Friday.

Police have declined to disclose his connection with the case. But Vernon McDaniel, president of the Cabinet-Supreme Savings & Loan association, where the slayings occurred, said Ingle had performed maintenance work on properties owned by the manager of the financial institution in suburban Delhi Township.

TRAINS COLLIDE IN ILLINOIS—Some 30 freight cars, most of them carrying coal, lie crosswise on tracks of the Illinois Central Railroad and a bridge spanning the Calumet River in Riverdale, Ill., yesterday. The accident occurred when one freight train ran into the rear of another. Two crewmen were killed.

'Russia Has Twice as Many Now'

U.S. Won't Vie on Subs—Laird

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin Laird said today the United States, trailing in numbers, has decided for now not to challenge the Soviet Union ship-for-ship in new submarine construction.

He left open the possibility this could change, depending on the outcome of a high-level review of military needs being conducted by the Nixon administraton.

* * *

In a speech prepared for ceremonies launching the new atomic submarine Trepang, Laird said the Soviets currently possess more than twice as many underwater craft as this country.

But he suggested that subs the United States is putting to sea are better from a technical standpoint.

'AHEAD IN WEAPONRY'

"We compete by being ahead in our submarine weaponry, and I for one intend to see that it stays that way," Laird said.

The defense chief said the Soviets have over 350 submarines, most of which can operate worldwide.

"More than 250 of these are attack submarines with at least 20 unclear-powered, and the number is growing steadily," Laird said.

"Another 60 submarines, half of which are nuclear powered, are capable of firing the 400-mile surface-to-surface cruise missile.

SINCE W W II

"In addition, the Soviets have some 45 ballistic missile submarines with at least 15 of these nuclear-powered. All of these submarines have been built since World War II."

By contrast, Laird said, the United States has 124 submarines, 61 of them diesel and 83 nuclear-driven, of which 41 fire the nuclear-tipped Polaris missiles.

* * *

"At present time, we are not competing in sheer numbers, but you should know that a review of all our forces, both strategic and general purpose, necessary for this country's security is underway by the National Security Council," Laird stated.

"The results of these studies, and the decisions which will flow from them will determine our force levels for the decade of the 1970s."

Griffin Scores Again

The election of Michigan's junior senator, ROBERT P. GRIFFIN, to the key post of assistant leader of Senate Republicans is another in a lengthening string of parliamentary victories for the 46-year-old legislator. His 23-20 decision over Sen. HOWARD H. BAKER establishes him in a position of party influence second only to that of Sen. HUGH D. SCOTT, who was elected Senate minority leader following the death of incumbent Sen. EVERETT DIRKSEN.

GRIFFIN

GRIFFIN's political star became visible when during his five-term span as a Congressman from the Traverse City area he co-sponsored the Landrum-Griffin Act which did much to correct inequities in labor legislation.

★ ★ ★

It ascended higher when in May of 1966 Gov. Romney appointed him to fill the senatorial seat vacated by the death of Sen. Patrick McNamara. In the general election later in the year, he scored an upset victory over former Gov. G. Mennen Williams to retain it.

★ ★ ★

Still higher soared the senator's star as he spearheaded a move to replace veteran House leader CHARLES A. HALLECK in favor of Rep. GERALD R. FORD of Grand Rapids, and blocked, against initial odds, the Senate confirmation of President JOHNSON's appointment of ABE FORTAS as chief justice of the United States.

★ ★ ★

Sen. GRIFFIN is to be commended on his outstanding accomplishments and the prominence he has gained in but little more than two years in the upper house. It is a safe prediction that he has far from reached the limits of his political potential.

'Domino Theory' Weighed

Little is heard about the famous "domino theory" these days—the argument that unless communism is stopped in Vietnam it will inevitably spread to the other nations of Southeast Asia.

The theory, whatever its validity, has lost much of its credence among a citizenry increasingly weary of a costly and indecisive war and increasingly wary of the burgeoning influence of the so-called "military-industrial complex" in the national life.

A professor of history now offers a "reverse domino theory" for our consideration.

★ ★ ★

This theory, suggested by Boyd C. Shafer of Macalester College in St. Paul, Minn., holds that "the longer the United States fights a war in Southeast Asia, the more leftists and revolutionaries it creates at home and in other countries outside of Southeast Asia."

★ ★ ★

In fact, thinks SHAFER, the evidence suggests that the United States by its policies and actions in Southeast Asia, has actually created more radicals, especially among the young, than it has eliminated Communists—"even if the body counts of the enemies in Southeast Asia are accurate."

★ ★ ★

One need only think back over the events of the past year—beginning with the clash between youth and authority in Chicago at the time of the Democratic convention—to reach the uncomfortable conclusion that the professor may be closer to the mark than any number of Pentagon or State Department experts.

Fanaticism Flares in India

India, which has a long history of religious strife, has a new outbreak on its hands.

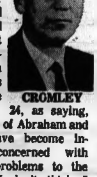
The city of Ahmadabad was recently under martial law, with troops under shoot-to-kill orders after days of rioting which began when a herd of Hindu cattle invaded a Moslem prayer precinct. Hundreds of zealots were slain and many more injured.

The religious differences which spawn such tragedies are very real to those immediately involved. But the extremes to which they can be carried seem so tragically unnecessary to those far removed from India's exotic scene and passions. Possibly even in Northern Ireland.

Cheers for Over-30s Helping Deprived

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A recent newspaper headline announced, "Rothschild to Quit Post with Abraham and Straus."



CROMLEY

The article quoted Walter N. Rothschild Jr., who had been president of the prestigious firm for nine years and with the company for 24, as saying, "As president of Abraham and Straus, I have become increasingly concerned with community problems to the extent that I don't think I am able to do justice to the company . . ."

Rothschild is 49.

In an age when we read that anyone past 30 is "over the hill," this is a heartwarming example of the fact that, all over the country, there are "old" (past 45) men and women who are devoting so much of their time aiding their fellowmen for free that their own work (for which they are paid) suffers. Rothschild noted that he could not do the two jobs. So he quit the one to "explore some of the urgent problems of urban life."

Not every man or woman, of course, can quit his paid employment. But more and more men and women, when they reach retirement and have an income to live on without working, are turning to helping others full time.

★ ★ ★

Thousands of retired businessmen are acting as non-paid advisers to younger men (black and white) starting businesses. Other thousands serve in helping struggling young companies in developing countries in what is commonly called the Paunch Corps and in private aid groups.

But even more important are the millions of "old" Americans who serve before retirement without pay and without recognition in aiding their communities through their churches, their social and civic organizations and service clubs.

The Daughters of the American Revolution, for example, frequently derided by the youthful revolutionaries as "plump old ladies with prehistoric ideas," for years have been fighting an uphill battle for equality and opportunity for the American Indian, whose lot has been even more difficult in some ways than that of the Negro.

In total, the amount of volunteer man hours spent by millions of individuals in thousands of organizations is staggering. The number of handicapped young people and old they have helped to better educations and greater economic and social opportunities is tremendous.

It is easy to stand off and say these men and women and these organizations have not done enough, or that they are part of the "Establishment" or the status quo, or that they are "fuddy-duddies."

But this reporter grew up in a poor area in a poor time (the Great Depression) and all around him he saw people who would not have made it had it not been for these fuddy-duddies.

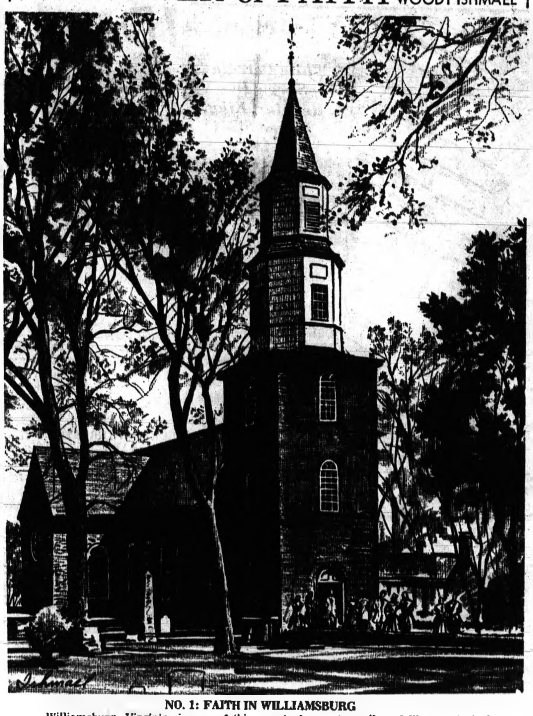
The POWER of FAITH

BY WOODI ISHMAEL



NO. 1: FAITH IN WILLIAMSBURG

Williamsburg, Virginia, is one of this country's great cradles of liberty. And old Bruton Parish Church in Williamsburg is, and has been for almost three centuries, a symbol of faith and liberty and a testimonial to man's service to God.

Bruton Parish came into being when Middletown and Marston Parishes united in 1674. It was named after Bruton, County Somerset, England, home of the then governor of the Virginia Colony, Sir William Berkeley. The present church building was completed in 1683. From 1699 to 1780 when the capitol of Virginia was at Williamsburg, Bruton Parish Church was the center of religious life there and many of the great leaders of the American Revolution — Washington, Jefferson and Madison among others — worshipped there when the House of Burgesses was in session.

In 1761, the present bell was hung in the tower and on May 15, 1776, this bell was rung to proclaim the adoption by the House of Burgesses of the daring Virginia resolution for American independence.

With the restoration of Williamsburg, Bruton Parish Church now has the largest congregation in its long history, as well as many visitors from all over the country and the world. At all services its seats are filled with people mindful of its illustrious past and knowing that with divine guidance the American ideals that originated then can be continued as our forefathers envisioned them.

Confident Living:

'Paradise' Land of No Uprisings

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

This is being written from Paradise. At least that is what Lillian Dickson, veteran Christian worker, calls Taiwan, home of the Free Republic of China. "We have," she declares, "no riots, no strikes, no student uprisings, no hippies and no war. Indeed it is the one peaceful spot on earth today."

DR. PEALE

This is my third visit to Taiwan. The development of this island republic, equal in size to Massachusetts and Connecticut, is spectacular. Lying only a hundred miles off shore from Red China, the Maoists would dearly love to have it, but apparently haven't what it takes to grab it.

★ ★ ★

In 20 years time President Chiang Kai-shek, starting from scratch, has built this into a prosperous, dynamic economy. Business and industry are booming. It is said that anyone who wants to work can get a job here. Unlike some Far Eastern lands, you see practically no beggars on the streets. Trains, planes and buses are thronged with well-dressed, industrious people. And they look and act happy.

The Republic of China may be a bit weak on public relations in the United States, for Americans have little concept of the startling and dynamic remaking of a sizable territory populated by over 13 million people. An increasing flow of Americans is, however, thronging the deluxe and first-class hotels of Taipei, a city of 1,500,000 people.

Taiwan, whose mountain ranges climb to one peak of more than 13,000 feet, has scenery that equals with Switzerland. This vast vacationland is reached by air-conditioned trains operating on split-second schedules and by a top quality network of roads. One, the Cross Island Highway, runs for 150 miles through the highest mountains, reaching an altitude at one point of 8,000 feet and continuing for miles at the 7,000 foot level.

This road, engineered through mountains that not even the Japanese attempted to master in their 50-year rule in the island, was completed by retired soldiers of the Taiwanese Army. In all of my travels I have never seen a road better engineered or affording more spectacular beauty. It passes for some miles through the Taroko Marble Gorge that ranks among the few greatest travel sights this writer has experienced in a half-century of roaming the world.

★ ★ ★

We were overnight guests of President and Madame Chiang Kai-shek, friends of many years. The president is a man of obvious physical health and, even in advancing years, his mind is as keen and clear as ever. I asked the secret of his physical and mental health and he smiled, "I pray three times a day."

This practice, in his case, means prayer in depth for at least 30 minutes, making an hour and a half of praying each day. Madame Chiang, one of the world's most charming women, is also one of the great spiritual personalities of our time.

The same Lillian Dickson quoted above, the foreigner who has been here the longest, 42 years in her case, whose Mustard Seed, Inc., operates 17 children's homes in Taiwan, puts her faith against any and all difficulties and seems to come out on top every time. She has a philosophy for tackling problems. It is described by Kenneth L. Wilson in "Angel at Her Shoulder," the life story of this remarkable woman.

★ ★ ★

It seems that the present dissatisfaction among students in American colleges also simmered in her student days in the Midwest. There was griping against trustees even then. Why couldn't they have a new gymnasium . . ? So here is what she did about it. Who knows, it could work today!

She said to the other dissidents, "What do you say we give the trustees a big banquet and thank them for all they have done for us by giving us this fine college."

"Are you off your rocker? Don't be a dope!" So ran the objections.

★ ★ ★

But Lillian carried her point. They had the big dinner for the trustees who were shocked and unbelieving as the students proceeded to thank them for everything. The Trustee President responded that they had received plenty of brickbats from students, but never any thanks before. And even Lillian Dickson wasn't prepared for a newspaper headline a few weeks later: "Trustees start a million dollar building program. New gymnasium promised."

Maybe the dissident students of America could do with a little smartening up. There is a better way than riots, obscenities and law breaking.

More Readers' Opinions on Waterford's Schools

The Waterford Parents Association makes the demand, "put my child in school a full day" and at the same time says, "but I can't pay any more toward it." What is their suggestion for financing this? I tried to call Mrs. Swindell to ask and found her phone number unlisted. (She had 500 calls over the weekend?)

★ ★ ★

I agree with the Pontiac resident who says we want to have our cake and eat it, too. And I'm fed up with demands—ADC, WPA, etc. If Waterford taxpayers can afford no more toward education, then we'll have to put up with half-day sessions or pack 50 children in a classroom. How can we demand that someone else pay for it?

A WATERFORD PARENT

If "Concerned Waterford Parents" would have been completely honest in a recent letter, they would have made it clear that a second grader receives only one music period per week and one gym period per week, not music and gym each day, as implied. Remember, teachers meet twice as many children per day, which means twice the records to keep and twice the paperwork to correct. One hour of release time per week for each class while the children receive music and gym instructions is necessary for that teacher to be prepared. Teachers who must meet two groups each day need that "precious ten minutes" of recess time. Denied certain breaks from routine, second graders would soon come to dislike school.

CONCERNED WATERFORD TEACHER
RICHARD HILTZ
SILVER LAKE SCHOOL

In reply to "A Pontiac Resident" concerning Waterford's school problem, most Waterford residents aren't unwilling to support higher millage, they are unable to afford it with all the other taxes they must pay that they have no say about. Because many of us use Pontiac's roads to get to work, we are taxed one-half per cent of our income, which most of us would be willing to give to the Waterford school system. The tax structure is set up unfairly to low valuation areas such as Waterford. Cities with industry receive more money per pupil than Waterford and other low-valuation areas. If more Waterford parents would write to Lansing, we may gain some reform to this inadequate tax structure.

'Conditions of Flags and Jail Are Similar'

If citizens ever look up while passing the Oakland County jail they will see the two flags hanging on each side of the main entrance. I doubt whether they would notice that they are dirty and faded, with torn bindings and full of holes. They would not recognize this, just as they won't recognize what I believe are inhumane and obscene things that take place behind the walls of the bluilding on which the flags wave. The condition of the flags represent the condition of the jail and of the minds of those responsible—you and I.

Offers Suggestions to Discourage Rioting

Here we are with school started again—and riots. Let's fire the school executives who condone riots by students and others. Let's fire the inciters of riots and the rioters, and prosecute them. What are we paying taxes for, to harbor the softie executives? If these executives think they are not smarter than the rioting pupils, they should be fired or go to school to learn something. If the students think they are smarter than the school administrators, they are beyond school and should go to work and earn a living.

'Disturbed by Nursing Home Care Report'

I've read the articles in The Pontiac Press about the care the older people receive in nursing homes and it upsets me. This has probably been going on for years without anyone knowing about it, but since Medicare and Medicaid have come into being, it's flourished more because there's an easier buck to be made. The most disturbing part is that they treat these people like animals—tying them to their beds and keeping them drugged.

I've tried to find quilting frames, with no success. Have you any ideas?

MRS. ALTA McCOY
CHERRY HILL RD., APT. 63

REPLY

We had some ideas, but no luck. Quilting frames seem to be a thing of the past, but if we hear from an individual who'd part with some she's been keeping for years, we'll let you know. In the meantime, we found large embroidery hoops available in needlework departments, and they might work for quilting, too.

Question and Answer

What is the percentage of Negroes in the U.S. and what percentage of crime is committed by each race?

KAREN NICHOLSON
CLARKSTON

REPLY

The last census set Negro population at 10.5 per cent. That will probably show considerable rise after next year's census. Percentage of races committing crimes varies with each type of crime, and urban and rural crime rates vary for both races. Because of these and many other variable factors, we feel one total figure wouldn't give an accurate picture, even if such a figure were available. We suggest you ask your librarian for material showing crime rates and trends. Uniform Crime Reports, put out yearly by the FBI, is one of the more comprehensive sources.

Much of Retardation Called Preventable

EAST LANSING (AP)—Eight out of 10 mentally retarded children in America reflect lack of environmental and educational opportunities rather than mental defects, reports a national leader in the field.

Dr. Wesley White, president of the American Association on Mental Deficiency, provided the figure at a Michigan State University Conference on Mental Retardation.

* * *

The great majority of the retarded come from the urban and rural slums, from the most deprived and lowest social economic classes and are intellectually impaired as a result of the environment to which they are exposed, White said.

"These are the truly disadvantaged," he told the conference.

In the future, White contended such retardation can be prevented through proper education and social action.

* * *

White said that the education system itself frequently contributes to the children's environmental handicap by permitting poorer facilities, larger classes and inexperienced teachers in slum areas.

* * *

He said that regional cultural differences, minority group membership and rate of expenditure for educational facilities were major factors in such retardation, asreflected in rejection rates by the Army.

Lamps Are Her Specialty

Woman Uses Cratt for Fun and Profit

By JUNE ELERT

"There just wasn't enough to do here." Thus Sharon Duchene explains how she became interested in "making things" with liquid resin.

Sharon and her husband, Kenneth, and preschooler, Kyleen, (now 6 and a student at Sacred Heart Academy) came to Pontiac from Lansing about 3½ years ago.

Separated from neighbors, family and friends, Sharon found time heavy on her hands, so she decided to put her hands to work.

* * *

This was a natural decision for her since a bout with rheumatic fever when she was a child had conditioned her to hand work and hobbies.

She said, "I loved the grape cluster lamps I'd seen in the stores — but the budget had to be kept balanced and they seemed terribly expensive."

Enrollment in a course in the use of liquid resin showed her how to make the lamps (with a little mechanical help from Ken) and a great many other things, too.

Now Sharon is making the lamps to sell — and is teaching others how to make them at much lower cost and, she boasts, "with much greater satisfaction."

"The process," she says, "is not difficult; the resin is mixed with a catalyst and a few drops of dye in any desired color; it is poured into a mould and decorated with glitter, beads, or anything else an inventive person can come up with."

Centerpieces, decorative candles, switchplates, ashtrays, soap dishes, candle-holders, and keyrings are among the smaller items which can be produced in varied designs and brilliant colors.

* * *

Sharon's hobby long ago eliminated shopping for gift occasions.

More recently, she has become an instructor in the art, holding classes in her basement workshop, and had placed some of her products for sale in a gift shop near her Bloomfield Orchards home.

A bit of bad luck came her way in this respect. The shop was one of the complex in Auburn Heights which was destroyed by fire last week. Sharon lost about $200 worth of materials in the blaze.

Despite this temporary setback, Sharon says, "The possibilities are limitless," of the medium she has chosen to work in.

* * *

One of her pupils, branching out from the ordinary, constructed a Christmas tree, in a mould of aluminum foil, and decorated with discarded jewelry pieces. The addition of a string of tiny lights produced a uniquely effective decoration for the holiday season.

WAGON WHEEL

"Another woman," said Sharon, "came into possession of a wagon wheel. You've seen them sticking in people's lawns? Instead, she put a backing on it, filled the spaces between the spokes with different colored resin — and she had a one-of-a-kind wall decoration."

* * *

Sharon has recently been asked to give demonstrations in this art and made her first such appearance this week at the Newcomers Club in her area. Another demonstration in a private home in the subdivision has also been booked.

* * *

As Sharon's artistic activity has increased, so have her home responsibilities. Darron, two and Dayna, one year, have been added to the family; new friends, bowling and bridge-playing no longer leave room for lagging hours.

Newest Coats Are Minimax

Designers Make Short Work of Fashions

NEW YORK (AP) — It had to happen. The mini-midi-maxi debate has found midiground in the minimax, that is, a coat with three sides maxilengeth and a minifront.

The Georges Kaplan collection was presented recently, featuring minimax coats by Jacques Kaplan with three sides maxi and a short front. One coat in a fringed poncho style was long in front and back, but short on the sides.

* * *

Kaplan, the originator of the fun fur, also broke with tradition and dispensed with the formal runway and commentary in presenting his collection.

Instead, some 70 models were put sculpture-like on pedestals in the Finch College Museum. Sculptor Paul von Ringleheim, designed a $10,000 solid gold belt for several coats. Furniture with fur upholstery was shown and children who modeled scampered freely about the museum.

For the first time, a Georges Kaplan collection included the designs of Mrs. George "Freddy" Plimpton, the company's publicity director who went to the drawing board to design for the petite women, and coats for men by Wyat Cooper, editor of Status magazine and member of the men's Best Dressed list.

LITTLE PEOPLE

"I think that little people need something cut just for them," said Mrs. Plimpton who at 5 feet 4 wears size 4. "I looked like I was wearing my mother's coat in most furs."

Mrs. Plimpton included in her collection, a white grooved rabbit skirt with chocolate wool crepe haltertop, a "thrift shop fur" of dyed spotted rabbit made to look like a used fur and patchwork long skirt topped with a fringed shawl, both made of fur scraps from the workroom floor.

Cooper's collections varied from a Victorian style natural brown midilength toro coat with a shoulder bag of pony to a black Persian lamb pea jacket, both for men, and a black velvet cape completely lined in silver fox, which he designed in tribute to his wife, Gloria Vanderbilt Cooper.

Jackques Kaplan's collection varied from weasel to an elegant blackglama mink with a mink and sequin tie belt but he showed no leopard or cheetah, which he said are fast becoming extinct. Prices ranged from $5,000 for a maxilength ranch mink coat to $325 for a childs gray Persian lamb coat.

The Kerrigans were married Oct. 1, 1919 in Hubbard, Ohio. They have three grandchildren.

Television and Videotapes: Psychiatrists' Latest Tools

NEW YORK (UPI) — Make way for the electronic couch in psychiatry.

Dr. Harry A. Wilmer, of the University of California's San Francisco medical center, calls the newest tool that, but it's really a television camera loaded with videotape.

Videotape makes possible instant replay of sporting and other events on home television.

* * *

Cameras aren't hidden. Patients are told they're on camera. There's nothing sneaky about it. During replay they see an uncontaminated view of themselves.

The technique is called self-confrontation.

Hippies from Haight Ashbury first met the electronic couch at the California Department of Mental Hygiene's Langley Porter Neuropsychiatric Institute, nine bocks from their pads.

* * *

Discussing the technique, Dr. Wilmer told Roche Medical Image and Commentary, a publication for doctors:

DO THEIR OWN THING

"When they come to us they are often withdrawn and unable to relate verbally to others. Our treatment philosophy is to allow the to do their own thing before the eyes of television.

"Confronting one's image on the television screen produces what I call self-awakedness, a sudden turning on of the self."

The monologue technique grew out of a hunch that withdrawn patients might talk more feeely to a solitary camera than to a therapist.

* * *

It wasn't a bad hunch. Many let go as if they were releasing a torrent of repressed thought. However, during a monologue one hippie was practically mute, mugging and waving hands, touching face and body.

Dr. Wilmer interpreted this performance as that of a "forlorn child, bewildered and lost." He described it as a mimicry of a child whose mother has left him.

One girl brought a pillow and a mask as props and acted out a love scene. Another, hallucinating, used her monologue to imitate the accusing voices that spoke to her.

SHOWS FACES

During one experiment, the electronic couch was used to show faces a hippie reveals to therapist, detective, journalist and criminal lawyer.

With psychiatrist, the patient was relaxed and responsive; with detective, narrow-eyed and suspicious and flip; with journalist, a pontifical lecturer; with lawyer, a stiff-lipped answerer of questions.

Leopard Won't Change Spots 'Cause Underneath He's Wolf

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: For 18 years I have been married to a handsome, charming professional man. He is also an incurable philanderer. When we walk into a room filled with strangers, I can pick his victim within 10 minutes.

No one would suspect that he would follow up a cocktail party flirtation, but he does. I have covered up for him many times, and have stayed with him for the sake of the children, hoping each affair would be his last. Everyone thinks we are an ideal couple. They should only know!

Abbey, does a leopard ever change his spots?

LEOPARD'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE. You have your animals confused. Yours is a wolf. Covering up for a philandering husband is no way to cure him. The wife who raises the roof early in her marriage may not change her leopard's spots, but she can train him before he gets too wild.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My darling wife of over 40 years (I'll call her Bertha) has to have a cigaret in her hand every minute or she's not happy. That's not all, she is too vain to wear glasses all the time, so she is always missing the ash tray, so we have cigaret burns in most of our tables and a couple of her favorite chairs. I have brought home ash trays as big as a fry pan, but she misses those, too.

* * *

When we are guests in the homes of friends, the hostess doesn't take her eyes of Bertha for fear she'll burn up something.

* * *

Won't you please say something in your column to let my missus know I love her but I wish she'd quit smoking?

LARRY

DEAR LARRY: You've said it all, Larry. Just see that your missus doesn't miss this column.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: When someone has lost a member of his family by suicide, what should friends do?

It doesn't seem right to just ignore the situation, yet you can't write and say, "I am sorry to hear that your brother shot himself." (Or should I say, "Shot himself — ACCIDENTALLY?" Would that be better?)

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Offer your condolences, but do not mention the circumstances.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard of a big belly getting in the way of true love. In the 15 years Joey and I have been married, Joey gained 55 pounds, and I gained 40. But if he can stand My big belly, I can stand HIS. We both want to thank you for a wonderful column.

FAT BUT HAPPY

DEAR FAT: And I want to thank you for a wonderful belly laugh.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it considered "improper" for a young man and his steady girl jointly to give gifts to either of their relatives or to mutual friends?

Johnny and I are both 18 and we don't have a lot of money, and we can get nicer things if we share the cost.

We have been told that this is "improper" until we are married — or at least officially engaged. What is your opinion?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: When a gift is sent from a couple it is naturally assumed that the couple is in fact a "couple" legitimately. Joint gifts from officially engaged couples, yes. From "John and Mary," who happen to be going together, no!

DEAR ABBY: This is how my husband put an aggressive young secretary in her place. She asked him if they could have lunch together sometime. He said, "Certainly," so the next day he handed her half of a peanut butter sandwich.

STILL LAUGHING

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A group of us were having a serious discussion about the "new morality," and someone said the double standard no longer exists, that what's good for the goose is good for the gander. What is wour opinion?

CHARLOTTE

DEAR CHARLOTTE: GOOSEFEATHERS!

By ELIZABETH L. POST
of the Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: Please explain the "ground rules" (I'm a baseball umpire) concerning the prerogative of the father of the bride.

* * *

The bride wants an evening reception with champagne and hors d' oeuvres. The father, knowing the tastes of the relatives, feels that a "hoity toity" affair would cause many adverse comments, and prefers a reception with a smorgasbord type of meal, beer and whiskey. These people come to eat and while not really heavy drinkers, are the beer and whiskey type. Whose place is it to decide? — Jerry B.

* * *

Dear Mr. B: You must remember that the wedding reception is given for your daughter and her groom—not for you and the relatives. You are undoubtedly picking up the tab, but it is only right that on this one day you give the type of party she wants. Although your friends and relatives may prefer beer and whiskey, champagne is the traditional wedding drink, and if the couple want a traditional wedding, no one has any reason to think her "hoity toity."

* * *

However, the reception should be enjoyed by the guests, too, and you might ask her to compromise by having a bar for the whiskey drinkers, and a round or two of champagne for the toasts and for those who enjoy it.

* * *

Incidentally, people invited to a wedding reception are supposed to come principally to honor the bride and groom—not just for the free meal!

FAMILIES TOGETHER

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a widow with three children. We recently attended a funeral for their uncle on their father's side. My children were put in the car with another niece and nephew for the trip to the cemetery. I was placed with friends. Shouldn't I have been placed with my children? — Mrs. K.

* * *

Dear Mrs. K: Yes, you should have been in the same car with your children. Every effort should be made to see that families are together to give each other comfort and strength. The idea of putting "age groups" or congenial contemporaries together at a funeral is totally unimportant.

NY Museum Gets Noted Art Collection

NEW YORK (AP) — The famous Robert Lehman art collection, which experts say might have brought $100 million if sold, has been given to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

It includes approximately 3,000 objects, among them paintings by Rembrandt, Botticelli, El Greco, Goya, Van Gogh, Renoir, Gauguin, Matisse and Picasso.

Other works, covering the 12th through the 20th century, are Western European bronzes, tapestries, jewelry, furniture and ceramics.

★ ★ ★

Thomas P. F. Hoving, director of the museum, described the collection as priceless and said it was "practically without parallel in the history of private collecting."

The collection was assembled by Robert Lehman of the New York investment banking family, who was the museum's board chairman when he died Aug. 9 at the age of 77.

★ ★ ★

The gift to the museum was announced by his son, Robert Owen Lehman, and Edwin L. Weisl, president of the Robert Lehman Foundation, at a dinner Thursday touching off the Metropolitan's year-long centennial celebration. The 100th anniversary is next April 13.

★ ★ ★

Arthur A. Houghton Jr., president of the Metropolitan, called the gift the largest in the history of the museum and "a crown of glittering and priceless jewels."

The collection is presently housed in the late banker's 18-room apartment and five-floor mansion, both in Manhattan.

AN ENTITY

The collection will be "maintained together as an entity within the museum forever," the museum reported Thursday at a news conference.

Robert Owen Lehman said he and his father often had discussed the future of the art treasures and that together they had decided they would go to the Metropolitan.

★ ★ ★

He said they felt the collection would be "preserved in perpetuity," and would be shared "not only by the people of this country but also the people of the world."

Growing Moustache Can Be Hair-Raising

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Many young men, and older ones, too, are striving to grow moustaches these days, and most of them are botching the job something fierce.

WEST

The damage this is doing to our national morale cannot at this point be measured. But the impact of repeated moustache fiascoes is certain to be traumatic.

★ ★ ★

There is not a more pathetic sight in all of this world than a bungled moustache. No other sense of failure is quite as acute. For a defective moustache is like a horse with a broken leg. Once its flaws become apparent, the only human thing to do is destroy it.

Flubbing a moustache often inflicts emotional scars that will still be showing up under psychoanalysis 50 years later.

UNNECESSARY

The irony is that most of this mental anguish is unnecessary. Up to 90 per cent of the moustache flops could be avoided if the growers exercised some degree of forethought and advance planning.

Instead, they set out blindly, so to speak, without having a final objective firmly in mind and without even a rudimentary grasp of the principles of moustache designing and engineering.

★ ★ ★

What they should understand is that growing a moustache is every bit as complex as building a bridge, and that the same techniques are employed.

No sensible person would try to span a river without blueprints; the same should be true in spanning the upper lip.

STRUCTURALLY SOUND

I myself recently grew a large cantilever moustache. It is both structurally sound and aesthetically pleasing. I could not have done it, however, had I not first read an article on bridge construction in my encyclopedia.

I learned that strands, be they of hair or steel, are subjected to factors known as "loadings and forces." These include such things as "dynamic effects, natural forces set up by wind, change in temperature, snow loads," etc.

★ ★ ★

A moustache may look perfectly safe indoors. But suppose the grower is caught in a blizzard and snow begins to pile up on his moustache? Or what if he encounters a strong wind current? Will it withstand these loadings and forces?

That depends on whether the architect properly designed the spandrel and crown of the moustache, and whether the span might have been weakened by "brittle fracture" or "metal fatigue."

★ ★ ★

Unless consideration is given to stresses, tensile strength and aerodynamic stability, the whole thing is likely to collapse under the left nostril.

Nixon May Yield Pool to Make Room for Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, who favors saltwater swimming, is reported discussing closing his indoor swimming pool to make more working room for White House reporters.

Nixon has made almost no use of the White House pool which was used regularly by Presidents Lyndon B. Johnson, John F. Kennedy and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

★ ★ ★

The President recently took some reporters on a tour of the proposed new location for the press quarters. As for the current press room, Nixon said his dogs have better quarters.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler has acknowledged that Nixon was discussing conversion of the indoor pool but no final plans have been made.

Bridge Limits Set

LANSING (AP) — Weight restrictions will be imposed starting Oct. 1 on the bridge carrying westbound M81 over the Saginaw River in Saginaw, the State Highway Department reports. The restrictions will limit single unit trucks to 13 tons, double units to 16 tons and triple units to 19 tons. Vehicles topping these weights will be rerouted. The restrictions were imposed following a recent inspection of the bridge.

A man weighing 150 pounds on the earth would weigh nearly two tons on the sun.

BARRY J. SHILLITO

Nixon Gets the Word on Appointee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although he appointed him to office in February, President Nixon didn't know Barry J. Shillito. He does now.

Shillito, assistant secretary of defense for installations and logistics, was thrust into the glare of nationwide television at the President's press conference yesterday when Sarah McClendon, a reporter for several Texas papers, asked:

"Mr. President, would you please tell us when you are going to make some real, honest-to-goodness changes in personnel in these bureaucrats who have been in power through many generations, who are still wasting the taxpayer's money and making gross errors on the war and policy and promoting their friends, who are unqualified, to high jobs? I refer particularly to the office in the Pentagon of assistant secretary of defense, Barry J. Shillito."

PRESIDENT LAUGHS

The President laughed and said, "I don't know the gentleman, but after that question I'm going to find out who he is."

Later in the day Shillito had a rejoinder:

"I know, and the Department of Defense knows, that Mrs. McClendon has been interested in the internal organization of my office for some time, but I have no way of being certain as to what she had in mind when she asked the President of the United States about the matter today."

Group Will Picket Mobile Home Park

A mobile homeowners association announced today that it plans to picket a mobile home park in Independence Township to bring attention to proposed legislation that would end "unjust evictions."

George Ferguson of the Wayne Chapter of the Rawsonville Mobile Home Owners Association said that the demonstration would be held at the Clinton Villa Mobile Home Park, following a 2 p.m. meeting tomorrow at the park, 4851 Clintonville.

* * *

The meeting, he said, is for the purpose of organizing the first local chapter in Oakland County.

Claude Hurst, manager of the park, said he was aware that a meeting was to be held in regards to an eviction at the park, but knew nothing of the picketing.

* * *

He said that he had served notice of eviction to one tenant for infraction of the park rules. He wouldn't say what the infraction was, only that the family had been "warned time and time again."

According to Ferguson, mobile home owners, unlike apartment tenants, have little or no legal recourse when they are evicted. He said the legislation proposed would give mobile home owners some rights.

Women Work, Have Fun

There's a sound of machines whirring, hammers pounding, oven doors closing, and gales of laughter every Thursday night at Franklin Road Church of Christ as women of the community have fun at classes.

"Happiness Is" might well be the theme song of the evening workshop as women seemingly follow the old, old axiom, "The Lord helps those who help themselves."

Under the direction of trained leaders, women of all ages gather for classes in quilting, cooking, upholstering, sewing, and handcraft of all kinds. These classes are now in progress.

* * *

Other courses will be added as needed.

* * *

This all came about when Pastor Robert L. James and a group of women known as The Willing Workers got together to come up with a program that would be helpful to people both in the church and in the community.

* * *

With this thought in mind, women of the Franklin Road Church are offering classes every Thursday evening in the church building, 1400 Franklin Road.

There is no entrance fee. Hours are 6:30-8 p.m.

Those who would like to enroll in more than one class are asked to call the church office between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Those who call after hours may get in touch with Mrs. Beulah Glazier.

If senior citizens are interested in attending classes but lack transportation, they may call the church office.

COOKING CLASS—Mrs. Samuel Glazier of 528 Pearsall (left) teaches cooking at the Thursday evening classes held each week at Franklin Road Church of Christ. Here Mrs. Reuben Daniel of 597 Pearsall covers the chocolate cake she baked at class with a favorite frosting. Mrs. Glazier is also chairman of the evening classes and program.

Holiday of Harvest Celebrated

The Feast of Tabernacles (or booths) the holiday of harvest and thanksgiving, known as Succot, is the most joyous of all Jewish observances.

* * *

Succot is observed by Reform Jews for seven days.

* * *

According to Rabbi Ernst Conrad, spiritual leader of the New Temple, Bloomfield Hills, Succot was deliberately copied by the scripture-minded Pilgrims when they celebrated the first Thanksgiving Day — now a national holiday for all Americans.

Both the Jewish Succot and the American Thanksgiving share the predominant idea of autumnal harvesting and joyous gratitude to God for His bounty, the rabbi said.

* * *

The building of the Sukah is associated with the liberation from Egypt and the long wandering of the Jewish people before they reached the Promised Land.

It is also thought to symbolize the fragility and transitory quality of life, to remind Jews that material things like the Sukah have little permanence.

The prevailing spirit of the holiday is one of rejoicing in keeping with the Biblical commandment, "Thou shalt be altogether joyful."

NEW TEMPLE

Services began last night at the New Temple, Lone Pine and Woodward in the Birmingham Unitarian Church.

At 7 p.m. tomorrow a service will be held for both adults and children in the Sukah (booth) erected at the Unitarian Church. Guests are welcome.

The Succot holiday will be observed at Congregation B'nai Israel, 140 Oneida, at 6 p.m. today and again at 9 p.m. tomorrow.

The holiday opened yesterday at sundown with Rabbi Meyer Minkowich conducting worship.

TEMPLE BETH JACOB

Rabbi Philip Berkowitz, spiritual leader of Temple Beth Jacob, 79 Elizabeth, spoke on "This Frail Hut" at opening services of the Succot holiday yesterday.

"Unto Thee We Give Thanks" was the subject of the rabbi's sermon this morning.

At the conclusion of the week long Succot festival, Jews celebrate a separate feast without the symbols of hut, fruit and palm branch.

The reading of the Torah comes to an end with the last chapter of Deuteronomy. The scrolls of the Torah are rolled back to the first chapter of Genesis.

The day is know as Simchas Torah, the "Celebration of the Law."

Why I Attend Services

THOMAS A. HORWITZ

(EDITOR'S NOTE) — This is the 12th in a series of articles written by Pontiac area citizens.)

By THOMAS A. HORWITZ
President, Michigan Fluorescent Light Co.

In the pursuit of our whirlwind daily tasks, we are so occupied with providing for our loved ones, participating in many community and fraternal affairs, and many other activities so fill our time, that now, more than ever, do we need the Sabbath in order to rest, take stock and refresh ourselves spiritually.

* * *

It is for this reason, I very seldom miss attending a Temple service.

If I should ever feel troubled in spirit or perhaps restless in mind, my participation in the quiet hour of worship, where I can pause and reflect, seems to give me that surge of electric spiritual current necessary to power me to continue the coming week with my daily tasks.

When my wife and I attend religious services, and pray together with others, we help ourselves to become aware of the many facets of our faith.

* * *

Among these is the realization that we are not alone in this wide world, that in our efforts for a good life, others are joined with us.

In Temple attendance, the primary purpose is prayer at the highest level that should enable us to turn to our tasks with greater enthusiasm and ability.

75th Birthday Set for Friday

Wayside Gleaners Mark Anniversary

The Wayside Gleaners of First Baptist Church will mark their 75th anniversary with a luncheon at the church, North Saginaw and Oakland, at 12:30 p.m. Friday.

The Rev. Robert Shelton will be principal speaker. Many of those attending will wear gowns of former times.

The society had its begining on March 23, 1894 at the home of Mrs. D. S. Howard, granddaughter of the Rev. Elkanah Comstock. He was the first ordained Baptist minister to carry the denomination into Michigan.

The Comstock home was located where the church now stands, the old church bell was the gift of Mrs. Comstock.

Records show that meetings of the Gleaners were held weekly, in homes of members most of the time, and included Bible reading and music.

The women from the very first get together looked after decorating the church and assisted with the finances.

Now meetings are held 10 months of the year and the spiritual is still emphasized. Money gifts help to supply needed furnishings for the church.

The 50th anniversary was celebrated on March 24, 1944 with the Rev. R. M. Traver, a former pastor speaking. Dr. H. H. Savage was pastor at that time.

★ ★ ★

"When the boys and girls enter the school, they do not know any English so there is emphasis on oral English the first few years. The children study the same subjects as boys and girls in the United States and enjoy sports and music.

Miss Merritts went on to say "In June my fifth graders were excited about the moon landing and wanted to listen to the radio most of the day.

★ ★ ★

"The main food of the highland people is many varieties of the sweet potato. There are also bananas, pineapples, peanuts, corn, cucumbers and beans.

"The natives raise pigs for meat."

TEA, COFFEE

The returned missionary spoke of the large tea and coffee plantations owned by the Australians. The local people also raise coffee and tea on a cash crop and sell it to the factories.

Many tribes have purchased trucks and earn money carrying passengers, or making trips to the coast to buy and sell articles. Many enterprising men have small trade stores.

★ ★ ★

Miss Merritts said "During the past five years there has been quite a change in the economy. Many people who work at the mission, on plantations or own their own businesses, wear European clothes.

"However the majority still cling to the same apparel their ancestors wore. The women use the fibre of a plant to make a small rope, sometimes adding a bit of possum fur as they make the rope. For women and girls ropes are fastened together for a skirt with a wide woven belt.

WEAR SHELLS

"Arm bands and shells around their necks are extremely popular.

"Men wear similar costumes. Sometimes for special occasions both young women and men use red or yellow paint on their faces, she said.

FORM GROUP—Getting together this week at Beautiful Savior Lutheran Church to organize and plan a program for tomorrow afternoon are (from left) Bob Schapler of Pontiac, Judy Haines of Birmingham and the Rev. Fred W. MacLean, pastor of Beautiful Savior Church, Bloomfield Township. The group will meet from 5 to 7 p.m.

Lutheran Singles Form Club

Most of the activities in the church today are organized to serve the family unit, with the assumption that the single person will fit into these programs.

★ ★ ★

Many single persons do not feel one of the group in family programs. As a result they attend church services and seek social life outside the church.

★ ★ ★

With this thought in mind, a group of Lutheran young people met this week to form an organization for those who reside in the Oakland County area.

The group to be known as the Lutheran Suburban Singles Club is sponsoring an open house at 5 p.m. tomorrow in Beautiful Savior Lutheran Church, 5631 N. Adams, Bloomfield Township, for single persons of area Lutheran churches between the ages of 30 and 50.

★ ★ ★

The program will be presented and a period given for questns and answers concerning the organization. The group will include widows, widowers, divorced and unmarried.

The program will consist of interests featuring travel, investments, fine arts, gourmet cooking, church, community events, books and looks.

★ ★ ★

For further information those interested may call Bob Schapler, Pontiac; Barbara Amundson, Birmingham; Judy Haines, Birmingham; Lolos Stroin, Pontiac; and Carolyn Convick, Livonia.

From Jamaica, Ecuador

Missionaries Speak

The Rev. David B. Clark, missionary to Jamaica, West Indies, will be one of the guest speakers in the missionary rally at First Missionary Church, 149 N. East Blvd. tomorrow. He will tell of his work at 11 a.m.

★ ★ ★

A veteran of 28 years of missionary service, the Rev. Mr. Clark served in Jamaica for two years before going with three other missionary families in 1945 to open missionary work in the Dominican Republic along the Haitian border.

★ ★ ★

A graduate of Fort Wayne Bible College, he served as chairman of the field for several years supervised young churches and founded congregations.

ECUADOR

Carol Beerbower, missionary to Ecuador, will speak of the people and mission, at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Miss Beerbower who completed her third term of missionary service in the Province of Esmeraldes, had had an evangelistic ministry among Spanish, Indian and Negro people in the province.

★ ★ ★

Active in Daily Vacation Bible Schools, she assisted in teaching in the Bible Institute at Esmeraldes. She has spent several years teaching English and music at the Light and Liberty Day School there.

★ ★ ★

A graduate of Fort Wayne Bible College and St. Paul Bible Institute, Miss Beerbower ministered in the Dessie Scott Children's Home near Lexington, Ky.

'Hippies-No-Longer' Invite Top Police to Frolic at Love-In MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Hippies claiming they're not hippies any longer will stage a music-bathed "love-in" Sunday with the nation's top cops invited to frolic on the grass with them.

"Hippies is a dead term. We're just plain human beings," said hairy-chinned Hank Roberts. "We can't see destroying this beautiful generation of people."

Roberts, a 37-year-old botique operator, apparently is Miami's resident love-in agent. His latest modfest for the flower kids drew 3,000 at a baseball park. He looks for a larger turnout Sunday.

The event is being staged for benefit of delegates to the 76th annual convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

* * *

Miami Beach's City Council authorized the love-in. The vote was unanimous except for Councilman D. Lee Powell. "I'm not voting," he said, "because I don't know much about love-ins."

* * *

Site of the gathering will be a grassy area adjacent to the Miami Beach Convention Hall.

* * *

"We're going to lie around peacefully and soak up some groovy music," Roberts said. "We're all human with the ability to love. We hope to promote a little peace and harmony throughout the country."

* * *

Lt. Ozzie Kruigenier, executive assistant to Police Chief Rocky Pomerance, said he did not know whether visiting chiefs would accept the invitation.

* * *

Asked how many hippies he expected, Kruelgenier said, "I kinda wish we knew."

THREE COLORS SPECTACOLOR

A Lake-Framed Shangri-La

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

"If you seek a pleasant peninsula, look about you," (motto of the State of Michigan) might well become the watchwords of the Norman Cranes in their 2½-acre Shangri-la on Orchard Lake.

Built in 1936 by Edwin R. Evans, the four-bedroom home was purchased by the Cranes in 1965.

★ ★ ★

"After Mr. Evans died," said Mrs. Crane, "the house stood empty for two years.

"It had never been redecorated so you can imagine its condition. After we bought it, we rewired, refurnaced and redecorated. Quite a task, but well worth it."

TRAFFIC PATTERN

From the entrance foyer, it's possible to enter the library, the living room, the kitchen and the other levels of the home — the upstairs sleeping area and the lower-level recreation and utility areas which include a private suite for servant's quarters.

Walking through the arch directly opposite the front door, you enter the spacious living room, made to look even more spacious by the broad arch which frames the music room.

★ ★ ★

The family's interest in fine art plays an important part in the interior decor with examples of the Flemish and Italian schools hung in the living room. A signed bronze, "Cle des Bronzes Bruxelles" by L. Mignon Romaw, stands on the stereo.

Vistas through the room's small arch reveal the formal dining room and the octagon breakfast room with its striped draw curtains and authentic Spanish wrought iron chandelier.

"We didn't paint the stucco walls in the music room," said Mrs. Crane. "We felt the patina of the years added to the over-all effect." The pegged floors and beamed ceiling also remain in their original finish.

Dominating the room is a carved rosewood Chickering concert grand piano. Vibrant color is introduced into the setting by stained-glass windows and a Tiffany-type lampshade above the pedestal game table.

"The door glass was made in Italy around 1900, and the windows were salvaged from homes torn down in the Wayne University area," said Mrs. Crane.

A partridge, an original bronze by Moigniez, is displayed on the corner speaker under an etching of Hieronimus von Ertuch which dates to 1748.

Wine velvet draperies dress the window wall overlooking the side yard adding to the Victorian appeal of the room.

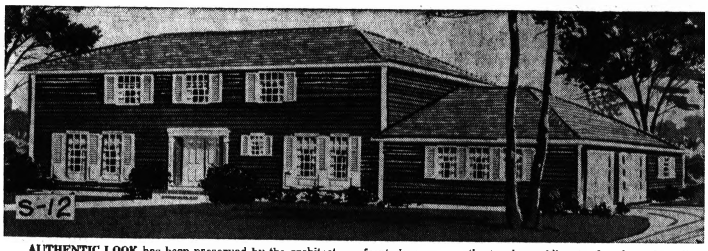
MODERNIZATION



AUTHENTIC LOOK has been preserved by the architect by the use of Colonial detailing throughout. Note the paneling under the lower front windows and the wood surrounding the front door, among the touches adding to the planned traditional appearance.

Balance Important as Design Element

An important design element in a house with as many as four bedrooms is the matter of balance.

Obviously, such a home will be occupied by a family with several children. It will need living areas of sufficient size to handle large groups.

* * *

And it must have a place where one or more members of the family can read or study in privacy when the occasion demands.

SIZABLE FAMILY

This week's plan takes care of those needs.

Architect Herman H. York has incorporated into a living room 24' long, a family room with a fireplace and a separate study or den.

Everything else is in the proportion necessary to handle the requirements of a sizable family and its guests.

* * *

Even the foyer is spacious to avoid crowding at the end of a party when several persons leave simultaneously.

* * *

SUNKEN LIVING ROOM

The living room, to the left of the foyer, is sunken. It has only the one entrance and thus cannot be used as a passageway, a boon to the housewife who may want to reserve it for formal entertaining.

The family room is at the rear of the house for ready access to the terrace.

* * *

The dining room, to the right of the foyer, is completely separate, preferred by most American homemakers.

It is a perfect square of 13' 4" in each direction.

LARGE KITCHEN

The kitchen can be reached from the foyer, the dining room and the family room. It is large enough to have a separate dinette that looks out onto the rear patio.

On the right side of the kitchen, behind the two-car garage, is a laundry-closet area, with a door to the outside.

* * *

The garage has a large storage alcove.

On the upper floor are four bedrooms, with bedroom no. 4 positioned to allow for an alternate use as a sitting room or nursery.

MASTER BEDROOM

Here a door can be placed to connect this room with the owner's bedroom.

The latter is large, has a private bathroom with a stall shower and has two closets, one a walk-in.

* * *

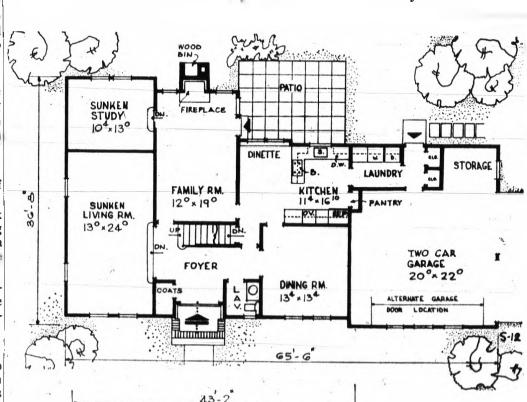
A second bathroom is accessible to the three other bedrooms.

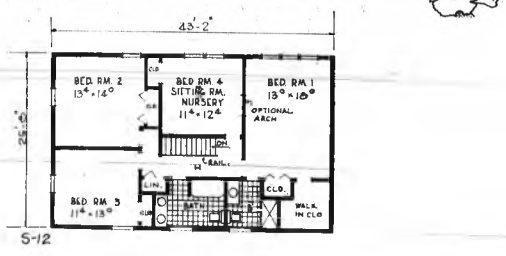
On the outside, design S-12 has a Colonial motif, with a narrow wood siding, corner boards, panels under the windows and attractive shutters.

A hip roof on both the main section and over the garage adds to the mass without overpowering the elevation.

An asphalt shingle roof, preferably in black, will contrast well with almost any color used on the sidewalls.

The garage doors are on the side, but the plans show an alternate front location should the size of the lot not permit a side entry.





SECOND FLOOR PLAN

FLOOR PLANS: Good traffic circulation is evident, with foyer leading directly to living room, dining room, family room and kitchen. Latter is well located, permitting easy serving to informal dinette, dining room and family room without going through any other rooms.

Tax Break Gets More Help

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Housing Secretary George Romney promises a fight to the finish to defend a tax break for the real estate industry which costs the government at least $750 million annually.

Romney contends that congressional tax reformers who want to eliminate accelerated depreciation and capital gains tax treatment for real estate threaten to scuttle the nation's goal of producing 26 million new housing units over the next 10 years.

* * *

"These tax changes, if adopted, would effectively destroy any opportunity of meeting the housing goals set by Congress with existing programs," Romney said.

But the staff of the House Ways and Means Committee, which advanced the proposals as part of an overall tax reform package, contends that accelerated depreciation has produced far more tax shelters for the wealthy than family shelters for the poor.

PREVENT CHANGE

"We're going to do all we can to prevent this change from taking place," Romney said.

Romney argued that the present tax law provides a needed incentive to bring money into the housing market. Even the suggestion that the breaks might be eliminated has a depressing effect, he said.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards shares Romney's opposition to the committee staff proposal.

A Treasury Department report prepared during the closing days of the Johnson administration said accelerated depreciation of real estate alone costs the government $750 million a year.

NO PUBLIC POSITION

President Nixon's Treasury Secretary, David Kennedy, has taken no public position on the issue.

Romney said he hoped to work out with Kennery a joint administration position. The Housing Secretary indicated that Kennedy does not share his enthusiasm for retaining the present law.

* * *

Accelerated depreciation was adopted in 1954 primarily to stimulate the purchase of machinery and other equipment.

It permits greater tax depreciation write-offs early in the life of property with the allowance declining as the property becomes older. However, the property is usually sold before the depreciation allowance declines very much.

SPECIAL FORM

Fast depreciation on real estate has taken on a special form. By using the accelerated method, most big real estate developments—office buildings, shopping centers, motels, apartment houses and similar ventures — can be placed on the books as a tax loss even though they produce cash to the owner.

The paper loss then can be used to cut the owner's personal income taxes. When the property is sold, the owner must pay taxes at the lower capital gains rate on the difference between the sale price and the depreciated book value.

The capital gains tax maximum is 25 per cent.

The value of the tax advantage increases with the other income of the owner. For an individual in a 60 or 70 per cent tax bracket, the tax break often exceeds his total equity in the property.

The use of accelerated depreciation is effective only on rental property. It is available to persons of moderate means as well as the wealthy, of course, but there is little to be gained from the process by a person in a 20 per cent tax bracket.

Salesman's Habits Influence Prospective Home Purchaser

When you're buying a house, do you make your decision solely on the basis of value?

Or do some of the mannerisms of the real estate salesman have an effect on your judgement?

* * *

There's a school of thought which believes that the nervous habits of the person trying to make the sale have some influence on a prospective purchaser.

This theiry is held by sales experts in many fields, but is given particular attention in the area of real estate, as evidenced by the many times the subject is brought up at meetings, conventions and clinics.

What brought the matter to our attention again was a long list of things salesmen do to annoy buyers, published in the lastest issue of The Long Island Builder, an industry publication.

These are not things salesmen say in an effort to convince you of the worth of the house, but merely personal mannerisms that annoy.

* * *

Here's the list:

- Scratching their heads.
- Running their hands or comb through their hair.
- Pulling at an ear.
- Shifting their eyes from one thing to another while talking.
- Chewing on a toothpick, match or cigar.
- Coughing or clearing their throats periodically.
- Humming while writing an order.
- Interrupting the buyer before he says what he wants to say.
- Blowing cigarette or cigar smoke in the buyer's face.
- Adjusting and readjusting their ties.
- Fumbling with a lapel pin.
- Fingering a card or paper.
- Buttoning or unbuttoning their coats.
- Picking lint from their suits or buyer's suit.
- Cleaning their fingernails.
- Slapping their order books, or something esle, again and again.
- Doodling with a pencil or pen.
- Picking up and putting down things on a desk.
- Hitching at their pants.
- Jingling coins in their pockets.
- Draping themselves over a chair.
- Walking around with a toothpick or match in their mouths.
- Putting hand in front of their mouths while talking.
- Smiling until you wonder if a salesman can ever look serious.
- Pushing themselves right up into your face while talking.
- Coughing without covering their mouths.

Parking Places Help in Garage

If yours is one of the increasing number of two-car families, why not use paint to divide your garage into two parking spaces? By painting a strip down the center of the floor, you set up two sections and make it easier for the driver of the first car to leave enough room for the second.

* * *

Use a latex floor enamel since it will not be damaged by the alkalie of the concrete floor and will dry in less than an hour.

The Bidet Is Winning American Approval

"There is only one thing in the world worse than being talked about," said Oscar Wilde, the late poet and playwright, "and that is not being talked about."

The most talked-about plumbing fixture in the last year is the Kohler bidet.

* * *

The bidet — widely used in Europe, Central America, and South America but not so well known in this country.

PURPOSE OF FIXTURE

Persons have expressed curiosity, others were witty and still others seemed dismayed at the added bathroom fixture and its purpose. A few asked how "bidet" is pronounced (it's be-day').

"It's 3:30 a.m. and you have a dozen people walking the floor trying to figure out what 'that thing' next to the toilet is," wrote a night nurse in the maternity ward of an Ohio hospital.

* * *

"It isn't a commode, urinal, bedpan hopper, or sitz bath; so we're all stumped."

"If it's what I think it is, why does it have faucets?" asked another Ohioan.

WASH MOPS!

"What's it for — to wash mops?" asked a California reader.

"It this the Kohler 'bold look'?

"What in Holy Toedo is that thing?"

"Is it one of those things Eurpeans use?"

* * *

Yes, the bidet is one of those fixtures Europeans have relied on for generations.

Used in addition to a toilet, the bidet provides an effective means for spot-bathing and for rinsing after use of the toilet.

HYGIENIC CARE

Physicians note that using the bidet, with warm water and mild soap, tends to reduce irritations and rashes and promotes more complete hygienic care for all members of the family.

It performs local washing and rinsing with a spray directed upward from within the basin. Warm, soapy water may be retained in the basin to bathe all lower parts, even the feet.

Obscure Panel

A unique way to camouflage a wall-mounted TV set is by covering the screen with an obscure glass panel. When the room is lighted, the glass look like a mirror; when the room is darkened, and the set turned on, the picture shows up clearly.

S-12 STATISTICS

Design S-12 is a two-story Colonial, with a living room, dining room, family room, kitchen-dinette, foyer, study and lavatory on the first floor, totaling 1,319 square feet of habitable area. Behind the two-car garage is the laundry, two closets and door to the rear. Upstairs are four bedrooms, two bathrooms and plenty of closet space, totaling 1,108 square feet. Over-all dimensions, which include the garage and rear patio, are 65' 6" by 36' 8".

Working With Movers Limits Chaos

You can make a move a lot easier on yourself and save time and confusion come moving day by working closely with the van operators before and after the van is loaded and when it arrives at your destination.

That's the advice of Burnham Van Service, nationwide movers. Your moving man will cooperate with you fully to keep confusion to a minimum and protection of your goods to a maximum.

★ ★ ★

When the mover arrives, Burnham says, show him everything there is to do. This will help him plan the load more efficiently. Inform him of the strengths, weaknesses or pecularities of any particular item.

Point out to the mover the boxes, furniture and other items not to go on the van. Tagging such items or separating them from other items to be moved is a good idea.

ACCURATE INVENTORY

Assist the loaders in making an accurate inventory of your goods. Be sure that all items are included on the inventory form listing and that you agree with the condition of each one as it is described on the inventory. The van operator will ask you to sign the inventory and give you a copy.

Before the van leaves, you will also be asked to sign the bill of lading. This releases the shipment to the custody of the mover. Read the bill of lading carefully before signing. It might pay to go over a sample bill of lading with the mover's representative when you arrange for the move ahead of time.

★ ★ ★

Finally, provide the van operator with an address and telephone number where you can be reached en route and when the van arrives in your destination city.

When the van arrives, be on hand or have someone on hand to meet it. A sketch of your new home or apartment will help you direct the movers during unloading so the appropriate goods will be placed where they belong for easier unpacking.

DAMAGE OR LOSS

When the van is unloaded, check each article as you are telling him where to put it. If there is any damage, call it to the van operator's attention. He will then note on his invntory the new damage or loss.

Remember that the moving men can only be paid by cash, certified check, traverler's check or money order. Having the correct amount on hand will prevent an exasperating delay in unloading your shipment.

Solution Seen for Rush Hour

One of the chief causes of morning bickering in many families is competition for the bathroom. According to sociologists and psychologists, getting off to a wrong start in the morning can effect a person's behavior all day — both his performance on the job or in school and in personal relationships with other people.

★ ★ ★

For families that aren't in a position to add a bathroom right away, the answer is a bedroom vanity lavatory with hot and cold water.

It consists of one or two bowls sunk into a cabinet with a broad countertop. The cabinets come in the same styles as conventional bedroom furniture — French or Italian provincial, Early American, contemporary. They're available either with drawers or shelves for storage.

★ ★ ★

The use of a lavatory bowl in one of the bold decorator colors can add a smart touch to the room. Those decorated with flowers or other designs on white enamel are especially popular with teen-age girls.

FEATURE COMBO — Bookcase units by Crossroads, Whittier, Calif., feature combination of oak sides and top and "Tartan-Clad" vinyl veneer door fronts and trim in elm-burl pattern.

Economy: A National Affair

Everybody has a stake in the nation's economy. Homeowners, especially, may well ask themselves:

What's the economic weather going to be like next season, a year from now? Will conditions favor spending some money to remodel or improve my home?

* * *

It is true that no one can predict the price of steel, automobile output, the stock market, consumer spending rate and the myriad other factors involved in economic forecasting.

But no elaborate charts or crystal balls are needed to predict that more than 15 billion dollars will be spent during the next 12 months for home improvement, repair and maintenance, according to Dan Cantor, marketing specialist for Alcan Aluminum Corporation's Building Products Division.

"The signs are always 'go' when it comes to a sound program of home improvement," says Cantor, "and practical financing usually can be worked out. What might at first glance appear to be a luxury — that is, an improvement that primarily upgrades the appearance of a house — may turn out to be very advantageous economically."

He cited the installation of aluminum siding as being this sort of improvement.

Irrespective of the economic climate, declares Cantor, siding installation qualifies as a sound investment in terms of:

- Savings — on exterior paint jobs and repairs that will not be needed, and reduced heating costs.
- Capital Investment — a permanent improvement, aluminum siding will in all probability increase the sale value of a home more than it cost.
- Appearance — It will give your house a bright, new look that will be a tonic to every member of the family and win approving comment from neighbors and friends.

Aluminum siding now comes in a variety of colors, including the current "in" color, avocado, but the white clapboard "look" is still the favorite. The range of shades — from beige, pale yellow and light gray to redwood — enables you to give your house a distinguished character suited to its surroundings and your taste.

Room for More

Even if your garage seems little bigger than the family car, there's still potential storage space. Build cupboards of ponderosa pine, and suspend them from the joists against the back wall, above the level of the car's hood. Closed cupboards are neater than open shelves, and they'll keep stored items from falling on the car.

Saving Institutions Join Buyers

Interest Rate Decrease Desired

If you're a would-be home buyer unhappy about the current high cost of mortgage credit, you have plenty of company in the form of the nation's savings and loan associations.

The savings institutions are just as anxious as home buyers to see interest rates come down, according to Norman Strunk, executive vice president of the United States Savings and Loan League.

★ ★ ★

"We view the recent unusually high interest rates as a burden for the economy in general and a serious threat to the housing market in particular," said Strunk. "They tend to curb residential real estate activity and to narrow the base of home ownership. We'd much prefer an economic climate in which home-financing costs are modest, encouraging more people to buy homes."

★ ★ ★

Savings and loan associations are the nation's biggest mortgage lenders, with more home mortgages than insurance companies, commercial banks and savings banks combined.

NATIONWIDE

The United States Savings and Loan League is a nationwide trade association whose 5,100 member institutions hold 95 per cent of the nation's savings and loan assets.

Strunk explained that the cost for all types of borrowing has been driven up in recent years by the inflation stemming from the escalation of war in Vietnam since mid-1965.

★ ★ ★

"Along with other financial institutions, savings and loan associations have had to pay more to attract new savings," he said.

"Our mortgage portfolios must earn enough to exceed operating expenses, including the increased cost of recruiting savings. Many of our mortgages were made years ago, however, when interest rates were below what we now pay for new savings.

SLOWNESS INDICATED

"It's indicative of the slowness with which long-term mortgage portfolios turn over to note that after several years of high mortgage rates, the 'spread' between mortgage yields and savings costs is still less than it was in 1965 and is far below that of the early 1960s."

But Strunk added that higher costs of attracting savings are only part of the story. Another force that has driven mortgage rates up during the inflation of recent years is the increased difficulty of recruiting new savings.

★ ★ ★

"In part, this stems from growing competition from other sources of investment," Strunk went on, "and in part it is due to an inflationary psychology in which more people decide to borrow and fewer are willing to save.

"The bright spot in the picture, however, is that people who do save are amply rewarded for their thrift."

INTEREST RATES

But despite upward pressures on interest rates in the last several years, Strunk observed that the cost of financing a home purchase is still substantially below that of most other types of credit available to consumers. In fact, it compares favorably with the rates the nation's largest corporations must pay when they borrow for business purposes.

Depending on local market conditions, home-mortgage interest rates today range generally from 7 to 8.5 per cent. In contrast, bank loans for automobiles cost a true annual rate of 12 per cent or more; revolving credit accounts at many department stores cost 12 to 18 per cent and costs of other consumer loans in some states may range as high as 36 per cent.

★ ★ ★

"On the other hand, the prime bank lending rate to the largest business borrowers is now 7.5 per cent," Strunk continued. "And to borrow from a bank, a firm must maintain a minimum bank balance which raises the effective lending rate to about 9 per cent.

"Moreover, most business borrowers are charged at higher rates than the prime rate."

It is the existence of the nation's network of savings associations, Strunk concluded, which makes it possible for home buyers to obtain credit in today's tight money market at rates lower than those paid by corporations for business loans.

"Inflation has driven other lenders from the home mortgage field," he said, "but we specialize in financing home ownership and will continue advancing funds to home buyers at the lowest cost possible.

★ ★ ★

"Along with the nation's home buyers, we are anxiously awaiting a slowdown in inflation and a corresponding drop in mortgage interest rates. Historically, our business has enjoyed its greatest growth and prosperity when the flow of funds to the mortgage market is stable and barriers to home ownership are at a low points."

Home Reflects Personality of the Owner

Are you a woman who buys frilly blouses and clothes in pastel colors? If so, you're probably a romantic who loves reading Jane Eyre by firelight.

If you're the outdoor type, your clothes colors are more likely to be in the earth tones and your reading preference Hemingway.

Just as your personality is revealed in your clothes, your home also reflects your design preferences, be they modern, Early American, simple or sophisticated.

For this reason, before planning any redecorating, be sure to analyze your personality type. A quick review of your decor likes and dislikes will help prevent later mistakes.

★ ★ ★

In redecorating, the floor is usually considered first because it covers such a large area of the room. One inexpensive way to bring new color and texture to the floor is installation of vinyl asbestos tile.

The Better Floors Council suggests that sample tiles be taken home and tried out before making a final choice. This way the pattern and colors can be looked at under both daytime and nighttime lighting conditions.

★ ★ ★

Don't think the latest "in" color or pattern is necessarily the one you'll enjoy for years. It's more important to look around the house at the furnishings you really love, and then select a resilient tile floor and accessories to enhance them.

You're going to be living in your home and enjoying it every day, so the more of your personality it reflects, the happier you'll be.

Blinds Work Frame Effect

If there is a problem window in your home, astute use of venetian blinds in combination with cornices or drapes can work some remarkable transformations.

A frequent problem encountered is two small windows in a space where one larger window is called for. One solution would be to select a large venetian to cover both windows. Add a cornice and drapes and you have a "frame" effect that will greatly enhance the room.

Another problem found mostly in older homes, is a standard-size window in a living room where a big picture window should be. Here, a floor-to-ceiling venetian will do wonders to disguise the window. A chair and table placed near the window will also add interest to that portion of the room.

★ ★ ★

Make use of color when choosing venetians. Custom aluminum venetians come in a wide range of decorator colors. You can choose a color to match the walls for the purpose of subduing the windows, or you can focus attention on them with a contrasting color.

Matching your venetians with the carpeting will give the room an added feeling of height.

Hole in the Wall

One good way to save steps is to investigate the possibility of a "pass through" from the kitchen to the dining room. This is basically nothing more than a hole in the wall through which food may be served.

Use ceramic tile for the serving counter. Real tile has a tough, heatproof surface that will withstand constant abuse from hot pots, pans and dishes.

Paint Wrinkling

If paint assumes a rough crinkled texture, you have a condition known as wrinkling which is probably caused by application of too thick a coat. Never try to make one coat of paint do the work of two.

No Longer Builders' Chatter

Module Homes Now a 'Must'

NEW YORK (AP) — Order your new home erected Monday and move into it Wednesday, assuming the flatbed truck carrying it arrives on time.

The assembly-line house, built in 12-foot by 60-foot modules inside a factory and put together on a tract of your choice in a matter of hours, is no longer builders' chatter of things to come.

★ ★ ★

"If the home building industry doesn't do this, we're out of business," said Richard M. Wasserman, president of Levitt and Sons, a leading homebuilder. Wasserman said his firm, a subsidiary of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., plans to start production of its modular townhouse by the end of next year with single-family homes to follow in a couple of years.

PROFOUND IMPACT

"However, this concept may not have the profound impact on the industry until the end of the 1970s," he added. "We plan to be not only a builder of homes but a supplier of homes."

Rising building costs — up more than 15 per cent in the last 12 months — will force homebuilders to become industrialized, predicts Wasserman, and only the big ones will survive.

★ ★ ★

There are about 80,000 homebuilders now, but he estimated that at the end of the next 10 years, about 100 industrial building concerns will be turning out 80 per cent of the homes in major metropolitan areas.

The modular home concept is not new, having been around since the end of World War II. A modular townhouse exists in Chicago. But until now the expense of factory-produced homes has limited their impact.

COST FACTOR

Shipping modules, which can be complete with plumbing and kitchen fixtures, as well as painted, has become the critical cost factor. Wasserman said plans call for five or six 'house' factories spotted around the country that would service only a 300-mile radius not more than 14 hours away by flatbed truck.

The modules can be placed together on the tract and made to look different with a variety of fronts.

★ ★ ★

"What you can do in the field, you can do in the factory," Wasserman said. "We'll have all varieties of homes plus the excitement of developing new communities."

Savings on factory homes will be small at first, he added, amounting to perhaps 5 per cent of the purchase price of a home built conventionally. But as mass production increases, savings could go as high as 20 to 25 per cent of the purchase price, Wasserman said.

Factory-built homes would mean a cut in personnel costs and could be produced the whole year, not curtailed by winter weather. Wasserman foresees the time when building inspection can be done right in the plant.

"There is no possible way the homebuilding industry can meet the country's needs unless modules are used," he added.

Problems of White Furniture Ended

Wonderful white. It mixes with any colors, brightens the dreariest room, even expands its size. But what about the extra care white requires — especially in an active teen girl's room?

★ ★ ★

Problem solved. Now you can have "with-it" white furniture to coordinate with the splashiest and most colorful accessories and no worries over the kidgloves treatment or extra cleaning that white furniture usually demands.

★ ★ ★

A new group of young-looking bedroom furniture from American of Martinsville offers easy-care and good looks all in one: "Pizzazz" is a sleek campaign-contemporary group trimmed with touches of brass and made with Tartan-Clad vinyl veneer in a snowy, embossed white finish.

Vinyl veneer means no waxing or polishing — merely an occasional cleaning with soap and water to keep all the pieces looking brand-new. The finish won't crack, chip, peel or fade: it's permanent.

The individual pieces are as versatile as teen-agers' interests today. A low party table with stacking stools will be the focal point of the young lady's activities whether it's listening to records or entertaining friends.

★ ★ ★

Campaign chests offer plenty of storage space for all sorts of paraphernalia. The design is so clean, practical and adaptable that your daughter may just want to take some pieces with her when she moves into her college dorm or first apartment.

★ ★ ★

Starting with such good basic furniture, you can create a teen room that's a real knock-out. Color is the name of the game. So mix at will.

Try red, oranges and pinks for bedspreads and drapes to accent the white furniture and walls. Add more color with unusually printed or striped pillows and lots of plastic containers for odds and ends. A heavy shag carpet in a bright coordinating color will be a welcome addition for those who prefer to sit on the floor.

FINAL HINT

One final suggestion: Cover one wall with peg-board and provide lots of hooks. She'll use it to hang pictures, mirrors, chain belts, jewelry and other items that may sometimes land on the floor or on the bed.

Water Vapor Causes Aging

Nothing ages a home or vexes a homemaker more than peeling paint and wallpaper or cracked ceilings, especially if she has redecorated recently.

★ ★ ★

One of the chief causes of such aging is water vapor from cooking, washing or clothes drying which passes into the walls and ceilings. The more labor saving appliances your home has, the greater the danger from moisture damage.

★ ★ ★

Jack Faison, home improvement specialist for Allied Chemical's Barrett Division, manufacturer of insulating wallboard, ceiling tiles and other building products, compiled some simple rules that will help housewives prevent such moisture damage to ceilings and walls:

- If you dry clothes indoors, either on lines or in an automatic dryer, keep the drying room well ventilated and close it off from the rest of the house. Drying clothes indoors is a leading cause of mositure.
- Put on the kitchen exhaust fan or keep a kitchen window open while washing dishes or cooking. Room ventilation is also a must while your washing machine is running.
- Open the bathroom window after taking a bath or shower to let moisture escape but keep the bathroom door closed to prevent moisture from reaching the rest of the rooms.
- Air your entire house regularly, especially in winter. This lets moisture out and lets

Young Couples Find Livable Homes Most Appealing

Another young couple has had the word "modern" thrown at them until they are bored to death with it.

"We looked for a house and everywhere people would say, 'Perhaps it isn't modern enough for you.' "

"Builders say, 'I expect to have something more modern next month.' "

★ ★ ★

"Real estate people tell us right off the bat that we are out in left field if we want a modern house for what we can pay," says the new husband.

Meanwhile, they have never mentioned the word modern.

"What they really mean is 'kooky,' " says the bride of six months.

HOUSE SEARCH

The two are living in a furnished apartment while they search for a house and furniture.

They haven't quite decided on the house style they would like. In the beginning, the 21-year-old wife thought she would like a Colonial house (she's romantic, says her husband.) He has been pushing for a house that is all on one floor (it'll be easier to paint, he says.) They will look until they find a house that suits them, they agree.

★ ★ ★

Many young people find themselves in the position of being stamped ultra-ultra modern, when in reality they want pretty much the things their parents wanted at the same age, they explain.

"If you go to look for furniture, they waltz you into a room that resembles a space capsule. You can't tell chairs from lamps. They look at you skeptically when you explain that you'd rather start with traditional things and fill in with modern things later, if they ever design something you consider suitable.

"When you are in college, you like far-out decorating because it is to be short-lived, but it doesn't make you different forever," explains the bride. "If it were possible to find such things in my mother's day, she would have had them, too."

She thinks modern dance and some phrases uttered by her contemporaries are a little more risque perhaps than the Charleston and the 23-skidoo vernacular of previous generations. But not much more risque for an era that serves up more permissiveness than the average young person accepts.

★ ★ ★

She knows young girls who would have been considered prudish in her mother's generation, she says.

"And so it is with decorating. There is more color (because manufacturers can work more easily with the dyes) and there is more emphasis on abstract design (because we have learned to live with it and there is more color in our environment) and there are more unusual styles in furniture (because there are so many fabulous materials to work with.)

MERCHANDISE OF TIMES

But these things aren't being marketed for young people. It is the merchandise of our times."

The availability of such things shouldn't be considered a youth market, she says. Some youths purchase them because they want to experiment. And some young people design such furnishings because they are permitted carte blanche with these new materials craving expression, they point out.

This couple wants a home that offers easy maintenance, plenty of light, outdoor privacy, entertainment features and adds the husband, "good solid workmanship in walls, floors, exterior finishing."

The lady of the house-to-be would like a cheery kitchen preferably one painted yellow. She'd like a dishwasher and washer-dryer. She'd like a real big bedroom and a canopy bed.

In houses, they are learning to appreciate the split level, although they had never seen one before.

The new husband points out that his wife has chosen the same silver pattern as her mother, that her china is an old-time traditional favorite — gold-rimmed white, and that she uses crystal on the table with beautiful centerpieces.

Time has tested traditional things for them, they say, one reason they prefer it in basic furnishings.

"That's one reason why I hate that label 'kooky' stuck on our generation. Actually, the kooks are tremendously outnumbered by young people who have their feet on the ground. Young people at marriageable age in this generation have good common sense: They read and study before they leap."

Mobiles Provide Hobby Displays

Hobbiests from 7 to 70 are often plagued with the problem of how to display the results of their hours of creative activity.

If your hobby ends up with an item that can be hung in the air (model airplanes are ideal — but almost any 3-dimensional item is a possibility) Conwed Corporation, St. Paul, Minnesota, maker of ceiling materials has a suggestion. Use a suspended ceiling system and tie the items to the grid with nearly invisible monofilament fish line.

It makes a display area as large as the room and is of course excitingly decorative.

If you don't have a hobby that culminates in 3-dimensional objects, which includes just about everything, you can use the idea for hanging mobiles or other objects of art.

Painting Remains Homeowners' Fate

If you're a homeowner, you don't need a crystal ball to tell you that there will be a paint brush and overalls in your future.

Nine out of 10 homes in this country require exterior painting and over two-thirds of them are repainted every 3 to 5 years.

In recent years, however, homeowners have turned to aluminum siding to put an end to the expense and bother of periodic repainting and to preserve the good looks of their home with a minimum of maintenance.

Panel Heating's Inconspicuous

Radiant hydronic panel heating is invisible heating. Consisting of a series of pipe coils embedded in a floor slab, in the walls, or in the ceiling, the heat distributing equipment is completely out of sight.

Hot water, controlled by a circulating pump, runs through the coils, warming the floor or other surface. These surfaces, in turn, warm the objects in the rooms. Properly warmed room surfaces limit the radiant heat loss of occupants, providing even, draft-free comfort.

Tile Hides Dirt

Vinyl asbestos tile in the new textured patterns is a good choice for hall floors because the uneven surface hides dirt. Yet this surface dirt is easily removed by sweeping.

Traditional Stays the Firm Favorite

NEW YORK — It's a tradition that Traditional is here to stay. Whatever else is going on in the home furnishings industry, the manufacturers know that formal styles will still be the firm favorites.

News coming out of the trade shows this winter has included the more sensational story of the Mod look for the home, but the order books are confirming that top demand from the public is still for the elegant style of the past.

* * *

And for good reason. The great trend toward authentic reproductions has produced well-designed, well-proportioned pieces in a wide price range. Manufacturers today take great pains to remove the production-line from their reproductions of classics with taste in design and skill in craftsmanship.

* * *

Reproductions are now readily avilable in every area — furniture, fabric, paint, wallcoverings and accessories. Traditional flavor comes from the basic elements which combine to give a period look such as background, furniture and colors, with the final authentic touch from accessories.

LIFEBLOOD

It is the accesories which can so often be the lifeblood of styling. For instance, pictures should have the soft, glowing colors of the past, frames for pictures and mirrors must have the right flavor, and lamps and lighting should reflect traditional motifs.

It has become much simpler to find all these elements in the reproductions now on the market, as elegant and tasteful as any genuine antiques. To make their handsome traditional wall sconces, Syrod takes hand-carved originals which carry every authentic detail of the French and English periods, and reproduces them with antiqued gold finish and crystal beaded chains.

New electrified wall sconces also come from Syroco in handsome traditional designs. Magnificent chandeliers are being made by Progess Lighting in bronze or gold finishes with cascading hand-cut crystals to conjure up visions of Versailles.

Among the outstanding pieces of furniture which are proving that today's craftsmen can bring back the warmth and beauty of the past is a breakfront from John Widdicomb in Louis XV style, made of American cherry and European walnut. Tomlinson has a tall secretary which is a perfect adaptation of the little-seen William and Mary style with the trumpet legs that are the trademark.

GALLERY LAMP

Globe has taken care to scale its Charleston Gallery lamp tables to accompany the higher eighteenth century chair reproductions, and given it graceful cabriole legs, spoon feet and delicately carved details. And Heywood-Wakefield's corner cabinet from the Charles River Group has an antique flavor with its cinnamon finish on solid hardwood maple.

Chairs of every description are true to their predecessors except for the two modern additions of comfort and easy-care fabrics with stain-repellent finishes. The softness and meticulous detailing of an adaptation by Shaw, for instance, of an early Chippendale camelback sofa brings essential Twentieth Century comfort that eliminates the formal stiffness of earlier days.

* * *

Even if the architectural characteristics of modern houses and apartments do not lend themselves readily to the traditional look, it is relatively simple to acquire the right atmosphere with stock moldings, a traditional window treatments and traditional hardware for doors. The floor can acquire the right look with floral rugs, parquet, stone, or the naturalistic patterns from brick to Delft tile.

Today's Traditional can be lived with in comfort and utility, and it expresses enough flavor of the romantic past to give a tranquility created by beautiful detail.

Paint the Legs

When painting a chair or small table it is best to turn it upside down and paint the legs first. This will help avoid unnecessary dripping.

Common Sense

Installing easily-maintained, long-lasting vinyl asbestos tile in halls, recreation rooms, baths, kitchens and basements is common sense. But nowadays this versatile flooring is made in such a wide range of beautiful colors and patterns, more and more people are using it in living rooms and bedrooms too.

Larger Hallways

Small hallways can be made to appear larger with the installation of bright-colored vinyl asbestos tile floors. But, don't choose a pattern in so loud a color that it overpowers visitors coming in the front door.

Total Comfort Within Reach

From now on it will be much simpler for home buyers to have warm floors and walls in winter, separate overhead summer cooling, year-round humidity control, and clean air, according to the National Better Heating-Cooling Council, which lists these features as necessary for true total comfort.

* * *

Knowledgeable home buyers usually engineers or contractors themselves, have ocassionally specifiedthese comfort features for their homes, but the Council points out that true total comfort is now within the reach of the buyer who is not a climate control expert.

The first Hydronic True Total Comfort Home, located in suburban New Jersey, was sponsored by the Council as a demonstration that heating, cooling, humidity control and air cleaning can each be installed to operate at maximum effectiveness in a "package" within reach of the average home buyer.

The comfort features of the sprawling four-bedroom ranch home start with a two-zone hydronic baseboard heating system. With heating located at ankle height on all outside walls it creates a curtain of warmth, eliminating chills and drafts.

QUIET SYSTEM

The Council also points out that it is a quiet system, because air moves naturally, without fans.

To complement the hydronic heating system a separate air conditioning unit with overhead distribution was installed.

Engineers at the Council point out that heating units should be at the base of a room and cooling outlets at the top. This follows the scientific principle that heated air rises and cooled falls.

A humidification system, especially designed for hydronically heated homes, is installed in the basement with a discharge grille located in the center hall. The system is controlled by an accurately calibrated wall-mounted humidistat and works whether heating is on or off.

DRYING, SHRINKING

As difficult as it may be to realize, the air in many homes is dryer than a desert. Proper humidification control can prevent furniture and walls from drying and shrinking.

To keep the air inside the home clean, an electronic air cleaner which can remove up to 95 per cent of all foreign particles was installed. Not only will the family be more comfortable, but the air cleaner will reduce the time and cost of cleaning draperies, clothing and carpeting. It will also give relief to allergy suffers.

While the demonstration home uses gas for both heating and cooling, engineers at the Council point out that this combination of features can be installed with any modern energy source — gas, oil, or electricity.

Brushes Tell Painting Fate

Success of future painting jobs depends on the condition of your brushes. If you have used fast drying latex paint, the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association suggests immediate cleaning. Wash the brushes with soap and water and rinse thoroughly.

* * *

After using oil-base paint, soak your brushes in turpentine or mineral spirits. Loosen the paint by working the brush against the side of the container. Remove stubborn paint caked on the outside of your brush with a putty knife.

Then squeeze the brush with your fingers to remove paint from the heel of the brush. Repeat this process until your brush is perfectly clean. To remove excess cleaning solution, just brush the bristles across a newspaper.

Traffic Dictates How to Arrange Home Properly

How's the traffic situation in your home?

It may be time for you to play the role of policeman to check the routes your family takes most frequently. Most popular thoroughfares are from front door to family room, kitchen to bedrooms and back door to closest baath.

The purpose of your study is not to determine where to set up stop signs and traffic lights, but rather to decide how to properly arrange your home.

For example, it's usually best to locate your laundry near the sleeping quarters instead of adjacent to the kitchen or in the garage or basement. This will save the homemaker many steps each day.

Savings of a more important nature can be realized if the laundry, entranceways and bathrooms are surfaced with a durable material such as ceramic tile. Real tile is impervious to stains, burns and scratches, and requires no maintenance other than an occasional wipe with a damp cloth.

Decorative Pads

Heat and stain resistant paneling, often used for kitchen remodeling, also can be used for decorative hot pads. Simply have your home handyman cut leftover pieces to the desired size. The paneling comes in modern colors, high-fidelity woodgrains and decorator patterns.

Water Makes Life Easier in 50 Ways

This is the age of water. There are nearly 50 ways that water can be used in the home to make life more pleasant and convenient for the whole family.

★ ★ ★

Many young families planning a new home find that budget limitations make it necessary to defer some plumbed-in conveniences they'd like to have. In that case, it's a good idea to have the pipe stubbed-in at points of future use.

★ ★ ★

Thus, provision can be made for the later addition of such features as an entertainment sink in the family room or on the patio, a shower in the basement, vanity lavatories in the bedrooms and even a complete bathroom, powder room or mudroom. The stubbed-in pipe will be capped and concealed by the walls and the home owner provided with plans indicating their exact location.

★ ★ ★

As the family's water needs grow and its finances improve, it can have the additional features installed with a minimum amount of breaking into the walls. There are substantial cost savings too because, with the pipe already there, less labor time is involved in installing the new fixtures.

Old House Could Be Worth Considering

With all the effort that has gone into making this year's crop of new homes irresistible, it is often difficult for the home buyer to consider purchasing an old home. Yet, according to a top housing authority, such a purchase is well worth considering.

"Of course, it's difficult to generalize," says Ted Breach of Allied Chemical's Barrett Division. "First of all, what is an 'older houuse?' It might be anything from a house bought for the first time a year ago, to one 200 or more years old.

★ ★ ★

"It may need nothing more than a coat of paint, or it may need to have its insides completely refurbished before it is fit for occupancy. In any case, there are certain characteristics of all older houses that are well worth noting if you're seriously considering moving."

Often it is easier to judge the surroundings of an older house than those of a new one, Mr. Breach points out. The neighborhood is settled, its character established. You don't have to visualize how it will be, you can see it.

The public services — schools, police, fire, and transportation, garbage collection — are there to be appraised. You don't have to rely on promises of a sales brochure. Since tax rates are already in effect, you know exactly how much your share will be.

★ ★ ★

There is more variety from which to choose. New houses are generally built to conform with the current trends. By shopping carefully among yesterday's styles, you may find one that is a good deal more suitable to your family's needs than one of today's models.

★ ★ ★

Because home owners spend almost as much each year repairing and remodeling older homes as builders do in building new ones, the condition of older homes may be better than new ones. For instance, a thoughtful homeonwer may have reshingled his roof with 300-pound fireproof shingles, such as Barret BarFire, when the old 240-poundoriginal shingles have beome worn out.

"And finally," concludes Mr. Breach, "there is the question of cost. If space is a factor, you can generally expect to get more of it for your money in an older house. If an old home is cheaper because it needs repairs, you can often save by doing some of the work yourself. With today's modern building materials, it's becoming easier and easier to be a home handyman."

Altering Creates Customized Look

If you're planning to buy a home in a housing development, chances are your main concern is to make your home as original as possible to avoid the mass-produced look.

A customized appearance can be obtained by altering the house's design, floor plans and roof lines.

★ ★ ★

But that's only the start. On the inside, you can use room dividers, paneling and an old stand by like ceramic tile to create a home that's exclusively your own. Ceramic tile, in particular, can help you transform a fireplace, entryway, patio or even bathroom or kitchen into an original creation. That's because ceramic tile now comes in a wide assortment of shapes and sizes plus more than 250 colors and shades.

Another point to remember is this: By giving your home an individuality, you will be providing extra value the next buyer will want and will pay for if you decide to sell. In the meantime, you'll be making your home that much more livable.

Simple Elegance

If you like the dignity and beauty of traditional styling in your living room, vat-dyed fabrics, which are colorfast to washing, dry cleaning or sunlight, should be chosen with an underlying note of simple elegance — even-patterned fabrics — ornate designs or stylized prints — with formal feeling. Colors are rich, warm and mellow — or sharp and clear for unusual contrast.

Additional Value

Vinyl asbestos tile will generally last from 20 to 25 years in a home. Thus, such a floor covering adds considerably to the resale value of a house.

Window Boxes Given a Splash

Gardeners can give their indoor window boxes a splash of color by covering them with predecorated paneling, which comes in pleasant colors, handsome woodgrains and decorator patterns.

★ ★ ★

Attach the plastic-surfaced hardboard with adhesive or contact cement. The paneling, which is available at local lumber dealers, is resistant to mositure, stains and hard wear. It also is washable. It can be cut to size with a fine tooth or power saw.

Keep Scheme Simple, Quiet

Here's sound advice for homemakers creating color schemes for their home: keep it simple.

Also, use proven materials, such as ceramic tile, that offer worlds of decorating possibilities.

Ceramic tile is now available in 250 shades, plus a wide variety of sizes, shapes and patterns, including some three-dimensional designs. This means that there's a tile to harmonize or contrast with any scheme you select.

When studying color charts, keep in mind that if the principal pieces of furniture and accessories contain several strong colors, you should not choose another strong color for your walls. Instead, select neutral tones that harmonize with the established colors. If additional contrast is needed, draperies or curtains can do the job.

Homes with open-room arrangements call for using colors that will harmonize not only within a room, but from room to room as well. A bright color scheme can be just right for a family room, but it could detract from the reserved effect you may want for the living room.

Is Decorating Exhausting You?

Tired of redecorating the tub-shower area every year or two? Many families are installing a permanent bathroom decor by applying washable paneling right over the old wall surfaces. This plastic-surfaced hardboard paneling is highly-resistant to heat and moisture; it never needs painting or refinishing.

★ ★ ★

Modern accessories and decorator patterns, including a distinctive marble line, are designed to provide long-lasting bathroom interiors. The paneling and matching moldings are available at local lumber dealers.

Architects Planning Pleasant Surprises for Urbanites

NEW YORK (UPI) — Urbanites are in for some pleasant surprises if some of our leading architects and developers have their way.

No longer will a walk down city streets mean a dash from one traffic light to the next with nary a glance at the surroundings in between. It will be fun just to stroll, window shop and browse; perhaps stop for coffee at a sidewalk cafe.

★ ★ ★

S. Joseph Tankoos, Jr., international real estate developer, has taken a stand against zoning and construction practices which, he says, result in city building that doesn't meet the public's needs. And he draws support from fellow planners.

Tankoos is chairman of Tankoos-Yarmon, Ltd., Canada's largest private realty firm, senior partner of Tankoos & Co., New York-headquartered real estate brokers, and president of The Muss-Tankoos Corp., consultants to developers of regional shopping centers.

LIKE EUROPE

He wants to see more covered arcades built in our cities, as in Europe, "more buildings extending to the street so that people can enjoy them, more sidewalks covered with pretty things as in Rome and Florence.

Shops don't have to be hidden away in the bowels of a building," he insisted. "Let's make our cities interesting. Someplace where it's fun to walk down the street."

★ ★ ★

Tankoos is particularly incensed about the trend toward open air plazas, such as those surrounding the General Motors and Seagram buildings in New York City.

He places the blame for "such badly-designed buildings" on the city's zoning laws. Economically, he explained, a builder gets a "plus for going high and setting back, but a minus for coming out the the curb line.

FARTHER, HIGHER

The farther back you go the higher you are permitted to go."

This, he charged, results in great expanse of "nothing" space; just wider sidewalks — greater distances to cover from curb to building in the rain.

He wants to cover those wide open spaces with malls, galleria sand arcades.

"Why fight the elements? Why waste the space?" he asks, "when, instead, with a little municipal imagination, and a master plan to provide sensible architecture for the future, our cities could construct heated and air-conditioned walkways and more amenities to make city life pleasant instead of a chore."

PROGRESSIVE CITY

Tankoos pointed to Calgary, Canada, as an example of a progressive city that is putting pedestrian walkways 15 feet above their street levels.

This shopping level, called Plus 15, he said, is expected to bring life and action to that city's streets and buildings and enable people to shop in comfort.

★ ★ ★

Harold Hanen, senior architect for the Calgary Planning Department agrees. "Tankoos comments are quite valid," he said. "While climatic conditions here in Canada are more extreme and protection is more significant for us, the truth is we are learning from your mistakes in the United States.

It will be difficult for America to break from evolutionary patterns.

PUBLIC'S NEEDS

"We don't have so many precedents to worry about. We are more likely to scrap a plan that doesn't suit the public's needs. Naturally, economics is a chief concern, but we look at the situation very seriously from a human angle."

Joseph M. Leonte, architect and vice president for Tishman Realty & Construction Co., Inc., one of the oldest and largest real estate investment firms in the United States, admits his company promotes the plaza look.

★ ★ ★

"We feel it adds to the quality and character of a building. Investors and tenants now realize that a significant building in New York or any other urban location needs light, air and protection — features that only aplaza can afford."

★ ★ ★

Conceived as a planning panacea, he said, there is no doubt the plaza has become an economic tool for, by creating open space, height can be added.

GREAT MERIT

However, Leonte added, "we recognize that a use has to be developed for plazas other than just using the space for wider sidewalks." There is great merit, he said, in providing plaza space off the Avenue and creating on the side streets an area removed from the activity and traffic of the avenue to preserve the diminishing shops and retail stores which are so necessary to the life of a city.

Herbert Beckhard, partner in the architectural firm of Marcel Breuer and Associates, agreed that plazas in many cases are poorly conceived but noted that, "oddly enough, even a poorly conceived plaza is welcome in New York since any form of plaza is such an infrequent occurence."

Beckhard's firm has designed New York's Whitney Museum and currently is working on a plan for a tower above Grand Central Station. Both projects include plaza space.

In the Whitney Museum it is in the form of a sunken plaza which is at the same time a sculpture garden.

In the Grand Central tower there is considerable emphasis on a covered plaza which will be used by pedestrians and cars, helping to relieve sidewalk and automobile traffic in the congested area.

Richard Weinstein, a principal urban designer for New York's Planning Department, said he feels, through the concept of incentive zoning, developers can be encouraged to provide such public amenities as interior plazas and galleries.

★ ★ ★

These, he said, may be in the style of the gallerias of Milan and Naples with an interior street of shops and restaurants open to all; or a covered plaza, a large public gathering place along the lines of the new Ford Foundation building in New York, but open to the public and surrounded with shops and restaurants.

The key is in enlightened planning and zoning in the cities.

In New York, for instance, Weinstein noted, the Planning Commission is working to make amendments in the law that will make it attractive to developers to provide amenities for the public.

Obviously, Weinstein said, it costs more to build, maintain and police a covered plaza than it does an open one.

"Plazas are built today simply because they encourage maximum profits. We intend to allow more to be built on a plot if public arpenities are built in order to equalize the plaza bonus."

It would seem that, with imagination and good planning, cooperation between zoning authorities and builders, and with time, the concrete canyons of the cities may be face-lifted.

Counters Meet Variety of Needs

Counter tops or built-in work surfaces are practical in nearly any room of the house and materials vary from mosaic to marble and meet a variety of needs.

Bathroom lavatory and counter tops give added space and convenience.

★ ★ ★

The materials suggested are ceramic tile, vinyl, laminated thermosetting plastics or marble. All of these provide a hard durable moisture and stain resistant surface which is easily cleaned.

While vinyl plastics show cut marks and scratches and are highly susceptible to heat, and marble, ceramic tile and laminated thermo setting plastics will dent, chip and crack under heavy impact, these materials are by far superior to linoleum, wood hardboard or stainless steel for bathrooms.

COVED BACKSPLASH

A coved continuous backsplash is preferable to a joint concealed by a metal strip between countertop and backsplash. The backing, usually of exterior type plywood, which is waterproof, is needed for the materials specified and with the exception of ceramic tile (set in place on the job) the backing is best affixed in a factory or shop.

Joints must be made waterproof or it is ideal to have a continuous sheet of material (laminated plastics are preformed units) with no need for stainless steel divider strips to conceal joints.

A Little Work Saves on Costs

Planning to hire a painting contractor? Save him some time and yourself some money by making basic preparations before he arrives, suggests the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association.

First, take down curtains, blinds, and other wall decorations. Dust the walls and windows. If there are accumulations of grease or grime, wash the walls with a mild detergent solution. Then rinse with clear water.

Move all furnishings to the center of the room where they can be covered with protective dropcloths.

Tree Farms Up in the South

During the first six months of 1969, the Southern Pine producing states increased their tree farm acreage by nearly a quarter of a million acres.

The South now has 47,807,100 acres of tree farms — two-thirds of the nation's total.

Girls' Rooms Allow for Change

What mother doesn't look forward to decorating her little girl's room? It's the chance of a lifetime to indulge in ribbons and ruffles and to delight again in the beauty of delicious, clear pastels.

Every step of the way, this is a happy chore, for little girls are appreciative and helpful — and so is daddy.

★ ★ ★

But tiny misses do grow up, and wise are the parents who provide for change right at the outset. Generally, there are three decorating stages. The first lasts through primary school years and the second carries her to the teens. The third centers around high school but serves the college age, as well, since at that time her interest will have waned in a room at home.

An economical furnishing plan calls for a top-quality bed, low cost, unfinished chests and desk, good carpeting and one or two walls of solid board paneling.

PERMANENT FURNISHINGS

Those are the permanent furnishings. Bedspreads, curtains and painted or papered wall surfaces likely will change three times, as will the furniture finish.

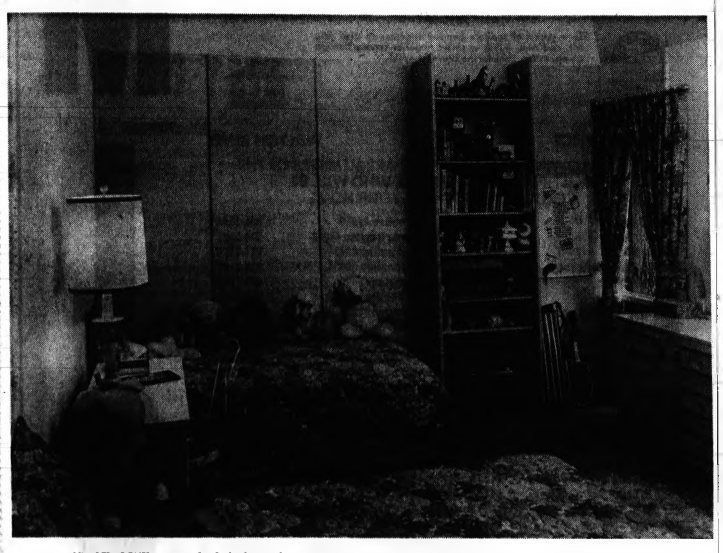
Most unfinished furniture is made of softwood lumber, Douglas fir, pine or hemlock. It's light weight enough that a tot can easily open and close drawers, but sturdy enough to offer lifetime service. Dressing it up with paint, moldings, fabric and interesting hardware is easy to do, easy to change.

The purpose of wall paneling and carpeting is to provide at least two permanent elements. A wall or two of resawn, bleached cedar boards or smooth-surfaced hemlock will complement the styles and colors of both childhood and teens, but also supplies the texture and character needed in any room, particularly in the cube-like bedrooms of today.

Carpeting does much the same thing. Even though colorful — and it should be — it can highlight several different schemes. A medium pink would be adored by most little girls when teamed with a flower garden of pinks in bedspread and curtains. But it can set up a young sophisticate's scheme of clear red, pink, white, and dark blue — or a teenager's mod combination of hot pink, black, yellow and turquoise.

NO WORRY

Parents needn't worry about accessories, for these will be supplied by the young miss herself — in quantity! Providing her with a place to stow books and treasures is just plain smart however. That's quickly accomplished with a floor-to-ceiling bookcase built against or near the paneled wall and of matching wood.



SHADES OF PINK — Quilted bedspreads in many shades of pink, a built-in treasure cabinet, and a wall of bleached, resawn cedar paneling make this little girl's room a dream come true. Horizontal cedar boards are accented by verticle battens.

Madrid Hits Urban Renewal Long Ago

MADRID (UPI) — A sign on the highway from Madrid to the Barajas airport nearby is one of the few reminders of a utopian design for city living that was attempted here long before "urban renewal" became a worldwide problem.

The sign points to "Ciudad Lineal" — Linear City.

★ ★ ★

In thinking that was truly ahead of its time, a little-known Spaniard with no architectural training worked out concepts which still are futuristic, but coming increasingly into vogue.

Furthermore, Arturo Soria brought his ideas into reality by building the first three-mile stretch of his planned 30-mile-long linear city.

TRANSIT SPINE

The city was to have a rapid transit spine, a remarkable concept for the period, the 1890s, in that streetcars still were horsedrawn.

Like many modern city planners, Soria thought of commuting distance in terms of traveling time rather than of mileage.

★ ★ ★

From a broad central boulevard carrying the streetcars, houses were to stretch out in each direction only as far as people could comfortably walk to the transit system.

Soria visualized his linear cities as links between existing townships until eventually, a vast network of houses would criscross the nation.

MODERN TREND

"We have to urbanize the countryside and ruralize the towns," he used to say.

Prophetically, he foresaw the modern trend of country dwellers flocking to the big cities for work, leaving farms unattended, and said his system would make it unnecessary for anyone to leave the country.

He also believed his project would take the pressure off existing cities and allow them to become pleasant, relaxed places where linear dwellers could find employment, recreation, and public services.

★ ★ ★

At that time Madrid had only 380,000 inhabitants, but crowded slum conditions gave it one of the highest mortality rates in Europe — an affront to Soria who believed revolutions should be carred out hygienically with water, rather than with fire.

★ ★ ★

In the admission of its own mayor, Madrid still is an insalubrious place with air pollution to match that of New York. Now it has sprawled to a population of 3 million.

PREDICTIONS TRUE

It is strangled with too much traffic, noisy, badly planned in parts — in short, all the things that Soria frequently predicted it would become.

To combat such plagues, Soria laid down rules for his Linear city which were written into the statutes of the Madrid Urbanization Company (CMU) which he founded 75 years ago.

★ ★ ★

The company's motto was: "For every family a house. For every house a garden and a vegetable plot."

★ ★ ★

No house was to occupy more than one-fifth of the plot on which it was built. None could be built higher than three stories or without a garden. Every house was to be completely detached from its neighbors, for only in this way, Soria believed, could a true sense of individuality be maintained.

SOCIAL CLASSES

Finally, Soria believed that social classes should be thoroughly mixed and he tried to make it as easy as possible for workers to buy houses in the linear city alongside the homes of the well-to-do.

★ ★ ★

He thought that a separate workers district might have degenerated into a slum and would have contained the seeds of future conflict. Plots and houses were offered at astonishingly low prices, payable over 20 years.

★ ★ ★

The CMU provided a streetcar service which ran with clockwork regularity at 15-minute intervals and on which residents of the linear city traveled at greatly reduced fares.

The first streetcars were horse-drawn, then they were pulled by steam locomotives until the lines were electrified.

Stop Worrying

There's no need to worry about damage to ceramic tile from sudden showers or blown-in dirt if you leave windows of your bathroom open to air it or keep it cool. Ceramic tile is waterproof, so a rainstorm won't hurt it, and any dust that blows in can easily be removed with a damp cloth or sponge.

SOPHISTICATED—Few color schemes are more striking than black and white. But for optimum effect, the scheme must be carried out with assurance and vigor—half-way is no-way. In this setting, the custom-made Acrilan area rug establishes a firm color foundation, while the perimeter of the rug sparkles, shines and reflects.

Ban Bland Interiors

Go ahead, be courageous! Ban bland interiors! Give yourself a furnishings' face-lift.

The difference between a drab and a dramatic room is "interior fortitude."

Take a look where most of us live. Most rooms are anonymous boxes — four walls, floor and ceiling, with simple openings for windows and doors. And if there are structural differences, they're usually more eye-sores than architectural assets.

What's needed to turn anyone's house into your home? . . . A dash of daring, a touch of taste and a spurt of spirit.

SPARKLERS

Emily Malino, leading interior designer and design consultant to Monsanto Company, shows in this room setting how distinctive decorating can transform a basically uninteresting room into a sparkler.

Floor covering made of Monsanto's Acrilan acrylic fiber established the room's color scheme; then imagination takes over, and results in the unexpected.

* * *

For example, what can be more exciting than a stark black and white color scheme? Black and white and multiple reflections — reflecting Mylar walls; mirrored accessories floating in a glass wall unit; a mirrored cube which seems partially suspended because of the reflected black and white Acrilan rug; a mirror collage which gives disjointed reflections from across the room . . . an uncompromising statement.

"Since your vacation home will probably be standing vacant during many months of the years ahead," he says, "minimum upkeep requirements are of first importance."

Among features that will reduce maintenance and repair costs, the Flexalum specialist lists aluminum siding to eliminate the need for periodic painting and repair and provide sidewall insulation.

INTERESTING COLORS

Aluminum siding can be used economically as a new building material or it can be applied over any type of old siding. Rabbitt advises that among the many interesting colors available are avocado and redwood shades, which accent the rustic look.

Vertical siding on the gables will create a board and batten effect, or it can be used over-all to give a low house a feeling of height.

Don't Be Misled by Misconceptions

Don't be a victim of the "rigid thermostat syndrome." One of the most common is conceptions about a home heating system is that the temperature setting of the room thermostat must not be changed. Comfort, however, is an individual matter, and temperature is only one of several factors affecting it.

There are times when 72 degrees may be the most comfortable setting. However, if the outside air is very cold and dry, this setting may not be warm enough. Moreover, many people prefer lower temperatures when they sleep, and they should adjust their thermostats before going to bed.

* * *

Regardless of the temperature setting, a hydronic baseboard heating system is designed to give even heating throughout the house. Unlike other systems, hydronic baseboard is installed along the length of the room and therefore the temperatures are uniform from corner to corner.

People should set their thermostats at the temperature with which they are most comfortable. However, since their comfort levels are subject to change, the thermostats should reflect these changes.

Electronic Sitter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Parents in the kitchen or garden can keep tabs on their resting children with an electronic "sitter."

The two-unit communicator, based on the walkie-talkie transceiver line, can be set up between the child's room and parents' location. The push-to-talk button is locked open to transit sounds from the child's room.

Plastic Finished Wall Paneling Resists Stains

Hardboard wall panels with a plastic finish are being used for kitchen remodeling.

The plastic surface withstands humidity and moisture, resists mars and stains, and can be washed clean with a damp cloth. The panels come in a wide range of attractive woodgrains, decorator colors, and patterns including simulated tile and marble.

* * *

Installation is simple — just nail or glue panels to furring strips attached to the existing wall.

Vacation Tells Family Wants

The end of summer vacation time is a good time to think about buying that summer or vacation home you have been wanting. Your vacation experiences are still fresh in your mind as a dependable guide to what you and your family would enjoy most in years to come, says James Rabbitt, a siding specialist for Alcan Aluminum Corporation's Building Products Division.

Whether you are buying or building, Rabbitt cautions that carefree summer living depends on the same sound construction features you would want in a year-round dwelling.

* * *

Spray Painting

When spraying aerosol paints, do not hold the can too close to the surface. This can result in overpainting, as well as dripping and running. Best results are achieved by spraying very thin, wet coats, and allowing drying time between each.

Long Range Planning Required for Selling a Home

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Selling your house can cost a wad of money.

Authorities estimate such cost at from 10 to 15 per cent of the selling price.

Unloading a $25,000 Cape Cod can mean as much as $3,750.

To begin with, if you want to put your home on the market, some long range planning is called for. Unless you must unload it fast, take time to enhance its appeal to potential buyers. If the house is in good shape before showing, it'll pay you.

FIX DEFICIENCIES

Put your money — or even a bank loan — into fixing the deficiencies.

The fix up may get you back $2 for every one you spend.

★ ★ ★

Authorities at the Foundation for Full Service Banks estimate a house in fair condition can be spruced up to top shape for between $400 and $500. Doing some of the work yourself shaves that estimate.

Some of the fix up costs — including loan interest — are tax deductible.

AVOID POTHOLES

You can sell your home without a lawyer but it can be risky. An attorney can help you avoid a single legal or financial pothole that is well worth what you pay him.

Even though a real estate agent is working on the deal a lawyer ought to be retained. Fees for attorneys vary. Some charge a percentage of the sale price — usually 1 per cent; some charge a flat fee; others charge $25 per hour. You should ask the attorney how he charges before retaining him.

A lot of people get into financial fidgets by trying to sell a house without a real estate agent. The thought of saving the usual six per cent on the sale of say a $25,000 Cape Cod — a not inconsiderable $1,500 — can be very tempting.

But unless mortgage money is loose, a real estate agent usually helps a buyer find mortgage money. If time is not of the essence, a real estate agent will move your property faster, with fewer problems and usually at a better price.

A major boobytrap for the inexperienced in many areas of the United States is the point charge. A point charge is one per cent of a buyer's loan.

★ ★ ★

Look at it this way: a five point charge on a $15,000 loan could come to $750. And often the seller, as well as the buyer, has to pay these charges. An eight point charge is not uncommon today.

Other points about selling a house: With FHA or VA loans the borrower can only be legally charged one point. If other points are charged under these government backed loans, the seller has to pay.

Points also are being charged on conventional loans and the rate changes rapidly. Investigate the going rate in your area beforehand.

WHOPPING PENALTY

If your mortgage is still relatively high and you plan to amortize it through sale of the house you may be in for a whopping prepayment penalty. It might be wiser to allow the buyer to pick up your mortgage.

Closing costs, depending on where you live, may be wholly or in part yours.

★ ★ ★

Other expenses you might be asked to pay could be fees for termite inspection, boundary surveys and appraisals and inspection. Tax stamps and fees, notary and trustee fees might also be included in your selling cost.

You will have to foot the bill for moving, unless the company does. If you pay, the movers often will want cash or a certified check.

TAX BENEFITS

If you sell your home at a profit, there are some tax benefits to be derived. Sale of a house at a profit is an investment gain and, like other such gains, taxable.

Under certain circumstances, federal taxes on this profit can be deferred, or, if you are over 67, reduced or possibly eliminated.

If you purchase a new house, the law allows deferments or taxes on profit from the sale of the old house until you sell the new house if the new home costs as much or more than your previous one.

Eight-Point Plan of Attack

Keep Confusion at Minimum

Planning to move this year?

If so take the necessary steps to assure that your move will come off with a minimum of confusion and chaos. Even though the movers will probably be doing most or all of the physical work, there remains much that you can do to make your relocation run smoothly.

★ ★ ★

Moving specialists of Aero Mayflower Transit Company, leading household goods mover, suggest this eight-point plan of attack:

1. Decide what is to be moved and either give away or get rid of everything else. This is a good time to do a general housecleaning and discard those items which are of illtle or no use.

2. Select your mover and agree upon a moving date. Price will be a consideration here, but reputation for complete, reliable and responsible service is more important. Arrange to have a visual estimate made, but remember, it's only an estimate. The final charges will be based on the extent of the services performed, not on what they were estimated to be.

3. Get cleaning and packing chores underway as soon as you can. Begin to collect all the items that need to be cleaned or repaired, such as linens, bedding, curtains, clothing and rugs.

Check the contents of all furniture drawers, being careful to distribute elsewhere the items in drawers that are heavily loaded (a heavily loaded drawer can cause furniture damage.) Separate extra linens and bedding that you will want to have packed.

★ ★ ★

Collect all spillable or breakable items. Use masking tape to seal the tops of all bottles or jars containing liquids and place them in individual plastic bags.

If you intend to do some of the packing yourself, ask your mover's help in getting proper cartons and be sure to mark on each one the room for which it is intended.

★ ★ ★

At proper time take down TV antenna, draperies, traverse rods, slide and swing sets, and any other items which are your property, and have them prepared for moving.

4. Take care of all address changes and instruct the post office on forwarding mail. The post office can furnish two types of change-of-address cards, one to publishers for magazines and newspapers and the other to your correspondents, in whatever quantities you will require. Make a list and don't overlook credit cards, insurances, book and record clubs, time payments or the Internal Revenue Service.

5. If you are moving long-distance, arrange the proper handling of all your accounts and the records you will need. It might even be helpful to classify all of your records under medical, financial, insurance, school, church, and others.

6. Handle necessary utility and appliance service arrangements. This is your responsibility, not the mover's. If you have a gas dryer, for example, arrange to have it disconnected at the old residence and hooked up again in your new home. Be sure that utility services are cut off at the old residence and then resumed on the day you move into your new home.

7. If you are moving out of town, make travel and overnight arrangements before you move. If you have pets, it is important to arrange their shipment by air or express. A veterinarian can help you with these requirements and any necessary immunization required. House plants cannot be moved via van on long distance moves, so make arrangements for them too.

8. There are several other miscellaneous areas to be considered, and these will vary from move to move. For example, if your move is long-distance, you may want to write ahead to the Chamber of Commerce for maps or general information about schools, churches, recreation, industrial and residential locations.

SECOND RETREAT—for teens or parents who'd like a second sitting room is brightened with skydomes like triangles scissor-snipped in the roof but with double plastic domes to keep weather away. A prefabricated fireplace sends its sparks up the brick chimney which also serves to separate a study area from the social scene. With these innovations, attic problems become assets and a countrified charm prevails with rafters on view, rough-sawn pine paneling painted barn red and armchairs home-crafted from barrels upholstered in plaid.

Family Pitfalls

Of all household hazard spots, the bathroom contains the largest number of pitfalls for the family. Serious falls in the bath can be reduced or avoided by surfacing the floor with a slip-resistant material such as unglazed ceramic tile. The natural abrasiveness of unglazed tile is the margin of insurance against a nasty fall.

Beauty Can Be Problem, Delight

Bringing beauty into your home can be a problem as well as a delight. Finding a proper place for geraniums and other flowers in a perennial headache because of the inevitable accidents that occur in watering and handling the plants.

Best way to solve the problem once and for all is to surface your window sills with durable, easy-to-clean ceramic tile. You will not only have a safe place for your plants, but with ceramic tile sills you will have additional year-round beauty to enjoy.

FALL HOME IMPROVEMENT GUIDE

A little daring. A little work. A little material . . . adds a whole lot more enjoyment in your home. Here are ideas and materials to start you off on this adventure!

INDIVIDUALIZED — An individualized room shows an irreverence for traditional colors with its black and white scheme. Black adds substance and weight to the room, creates an atmosphere for comfort, and suggests color simply by the total absence of it. The clean lines of the Broyhill furniture take to free and easy accessorizing, and provide the basis for a room which will be as vital tomorrow as it is today.

85% of Country's Water Problems Originate From Natural Causes

About half-a-million lucky homemakers will find their job of housekeeping made easier on a smaller budget this year. That's how many will become the happy owners of water conditioning equipment.

According to the Water Conditioning Foundation, about 85 per cent of the U.S. has some kind of water problem that originates not from man-made pollution but from natural causes. The most common one is hardness, but there also are rust and objectionable tastes and odors.

* * *

Hard water makes the homemaker's job nearly twice as arduous in terms of time and effort, according to many home economists. She has to exert herself harder to get enough suds when cleaning, laundering or doing the dishes.

She has to work harder to remove the suds and dirt afterwards. Even then her laundry may have a dingy look, her dishes a film and her floors lack the spic-and-span look she wants.

ADDED COST

From the point of view of cost, it's estimated that from $150 to $300 more is spent by the family with hard water in terms of more soap, water, fuel to heat the water and shortened life of clothing and other fabrics and plumbing equipment.

Fortunately, there's equipment available to correct the hardness problem — an automatic softener that removes the minerals before they enter the piping system. Water flows through a tank where a chemical becomes saturated, it's automatically regenerated.

* * *

Women who want to join the ranks of lucky homemakers who have water softeners working for them should consult a qualified water conditioning dealer, the Foundation advises. The Foundation is a nonprofit organization dedicated to the solution of every type of water problem.

Ceramic Tiles Enhance Outside

A new trend in architecture is the use of ceramic tile on the exterior of homes. Colorful, durable and now available in a wide selection of sizes, shapes, patterns and colors, ceramic tile can add a distinctive touch to your home.

Check the front of your house. See if there isn't an area that can be enhanced with the addition of ceramic tile.

Glowing or Ghastly

Color Sets Attitude

When redecorating a bathroom, extra careful attention must be given to color selection and the proper choice of paint type.

Color selection is important because our mental attitude for the entire day can be affected by how we look to ourselves in the bathroom mirror in the morning. The choice of paint color can determine whether we look ghastly or attractive.

* * *

Walls painted in some yellows, greens and yellow-greens reflect a most unflattering light and start us off with the wrong face. On the other hand, pink, rose, coral, and peach tones reflect a warm, healthful glow that starts the day off right. Pure green and gold are also good color choices.

Incandescent lighting is often preferred over fluorescent because some fluorescent lights drain the red from lips and complexion. Choose your lighting accordingly.

BLUE BATHROOM

If your heart is set on blue for the bathroom, choose blues that have some red in them; they're warmer, and the light they reflect is more flattering than pure or greenish blues.

* * *

The paint recommended by experts for bathroom walls is semigloss or gloss enamel for a number of reasons. Enamels keep the moisture vapor created by bath and shower from entering the walls and damaging the plaster. Enamels are also easy to keep clean and can be scrubbed often when it is necessary to remove the film formed by the oil in the soap. The slick surface of enamel is also more mildew resistant.

It is important to use only quality enamel to insure greater durability, better color and longer hiding power. To be sure of a quality enamel, consult your local, reputable dealer. This is particularly important to insure good adhesion of the new enamel and to prevent peeling. Any areas that are very glossy should be dulled with sandpaper or steel wool to make the new coat stick better.

* * *

Keep these points in mind while you do the bathroom decorating:

- To make a room look larger, enamel the walls and wood trim the same color; different colors will chop the room up.
- The ceiling can be a different color if you wish. A contrasting or complementary color can be most attractive. Keep it a light tint, though, for better light reflection.
- Don't use more than two accent colors in the average sized bathroom; more will be distracting in a small room. Get your color emphasis from towels, wash cloths or shower curtain.
- Don't overlook the accessories when you paint. The laundry hamper, waste basket and other metal or wooden articles can be enameled the same color as the walls to make them more inconspicuous, or they can be done in bright touches of color.

Paver tiles are similar to quarry tiles in use and appearance, but are made by the dust-pressed method of natural clays and porcelain.

While Away Save Value of House

If you leave your home unoccupied for a period of time while you see how a new job or promotion works out, here are some precautions to take to safeguard its value.

According to Burnham Van Service, nationwide movers, many families prefer to hold on to their home until they are satisfied with their move.

* * *

First, Burnham says check with your insurance company to see if your homeowner's policy covers you when the house is left vacant. You may have to arrange for a special policy.

Next, notify the police that the house will be empty. They will add it to their regular rounds. Enlist the aid of neighbors on either side to look out for unauthorized visitors.

UP TO PAR

Keep the house and grounds up to par in your absence by arranging with someone locally to mow the lawn or rake up leaves or shovel snow from walks.

Have the gutters and drains checked before you leave and make other needed exterior repairs to prevent serious weather damage. If you leave the home vacant during the winter, check if some heat will be needed to prevent damage to pipes and fixtures.

* * *

By preserving your home's appearance and keeping it in good working order, Burnham adds, you deter vandals while at the same time preserve its value in case you eventually decide to sell.

Basic Principles Will Emphasize Room's Features

Paint styling is as easy as applying make-up and works the same wonders. The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association suggests a few basic principles to know in order to emphasize a good feature.

For instance, did you know that light colors reflect more light, making things seem larger and farther away than they really are?

* * *

Dark colors absorb light and make things look smaller, closer than they really are. To make areas seem larger, use bright colors. Warm colors create an aura of warmth, while cool colors relax you. Using color correctly can minimize even the most unattractive feature.

CORNER CAPER—Almost every Michigan home owner has a room corner that merits a bit of artistic treatment to transform it from the commonplace to the unusual. A good example is this cozy corner in a residence whose homemaker had a flair for "something different." Here, it's set for a snack after the late, late show. Otherwise, it could be a card game table, place for correspondence and even a small home office during the day. This nook combines the homemaker's flair for high-style furniture and accessories against a backdrop of hardboard panels in Royalcote Pecan, a popular pattern in the Masonite line of decorator hardboard panels.

Outer Painting

When painting the exterior, paint the trim and window sash before the siding. This way, you avoid placing your ladder against the freshly painted exterior walls. If they are to be of a different color, you won't splatter the trim paint on your newly painted siding either.

MURAL PANELS—Another new product that has caught the attention of homemakers, as well as handymen, is the 5-foot wide gold-on-white mural panel shown on the back wall of this unusual tub-shower area. Like all plastic-finished paneling, the mural is highly-resistant to heat, water and stains. It can be damp-wiped clean; never needs refinishing.

House Mouse Seeks a Refuge for Winter

Indian summer has a way of suggesting that wintry winds will never blow. But if the homeowner is lulled into inactivity, his four-footed foe, the house mouse, is not.

At the first hint of cold weather, Mr. Mouse starts looking for a warm place to spend the winter. All he needs to gain entry to house, barn or garage is a crack, crevice or hole no bigger than a dime. Finding this, in he moves, bringing Mrs. Mouse along, and before his unwitting host can say hickory dickory, the patter of little mouse paws amounts to a miniature plague. For mice are astonishingly prolific.

★ ★

They have six to eight litters a year, with six to eight young per litter. The young mature in two or three months and raise families of their own.

Before the frost is on the pumpkin, then, foresighted homeowners do well to make an inspection tour of house and grounds. If no signs of mice are found, it's wise to make sure mice stay away by cleaning up and eliminating every possible point of entry.

Once a building is infested by mice, it's usually best to bait and trap before cleaning up and mouse-proofing. That's because the locations of runways and shelters tell where to bait and trap. After the mice are under control, continuous sanitation, repair, cleanup and baiting will maintain control.

Here's how to conduct a mouse check (and don't forget that other unmentionable character, the rat, also likes to find a soft warm berth for the winter). Look for droppings, gnawings, holes, tracks in dust, noises and glimpses of the animals themselves.

★ ★ ★

Use a flashlight because mice like dark corners. Check attics, closets, under sink cabinets, cellars, garages and tool houses.

If telltale signs of mice are found, set bait out at these points. "Hot" poisons like strychnine and arsenic should be avoided because of the danger to humans and pets. These "quick death" poisons also tend to warn away the rest of a mouse colony after one rodent dies.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service recommends, instead, formulas containing cornmeal, rolled oats, sugar, vegetable oil and an anticoagulant. Ready-mixed cereal baits containing a compound of anticoagulant and anti-vitamin K factor, are available at hardware and feed stores under a variety of trade names. Usually the label will state that the bait contains Prolin.

Otherwise, the formula will identify the compound: Sulfaquinoxaline (N1-(2-quinoxalinyl) sulfanilamide) Warfarin, 3(a-acetonylbenzy)-4-hydroxycoumarin.

★ ★ ★

Following label diredections carefully, keep fresh bait out as long as there are signs of mice. When all appears quiet on the home front, clean up and mouse-proofing are in order. Make sure that windows and doors near ground level fit tightly.

Use metal flashing at door bottoms. Make doors self-closing. Cover openings around pipes and foundation with cement or ¼" screening. Keep concrete floors crack free. Control weeds around entryways. Prevent garbage spill over. Store grass seed, dog meal and fertilizer 18" off the floor and inspect frequently.

Mice don't travel too far afield, so the homeowner who mouseproofs his premises is pretty sure of spending a rodent-free winter, whether or not his neighbor follows suit.

Still, group action pays off and community programs of mouse and rat control have been the most successful of all.

Weekend to Winterize

CHICAGO, Ill. — Old man winter is just minutes away and the smart homeowner has budgeted his time to include a weekend of painting, cleaning, calking and weatherstripping.

A weekend devoted to preventative maintenance for the rain, snow, sleet and cold blasts will pay big dividends in the long run.

Care of windows is an important starting place. If they are aluminum, or if you have sliding glass doors, a vacuuming of the tracks and rails will help them move smoothly and close tightly.

★ ★ ★

For cleaning you can use warm water with mild detergent on aluminum prime windows, as well as on separate aluminum storms and screens, since this material does not warp, swell or stick.

Get combination windows ready for winter simply by pulling the storm sash into place. This type of screen can be removed and thoroughly hosed before storage. If your windows are wood, be sure they are fully painted before using water — and before winter comes.

AGED CAULKING

Aged caulking should be chiseled out and re-caulked. Don't forget to check beneath the sill because a crack that's widened by winter weather can lead to further damage. Caulk around the outside water taps and shut the water off for the winter.

Be sure to caulk the bottoms of columns and posts, and for even better protection, pry the post far enough up to allow you to force the caulk completely underneath. Caulking in the fall prevents repair bills in the spring.

Foundations are especially vulnerable to winter weather. Raise low areas around the foundation by backfilling in some dirt. Be sure the dirt is sloped away from the house. Any openings in the wall should be filled with mortar. Push the mortar in, smooth it down and scrape off any excess.

Even a front door needs work to prepare it for winter. If it has alligator cracks on the surface, it has too many coats of paint. They should be stripped with chemical paint remover, then undercoat and finish coat should be applied to the door.

Cookery Can Be Dangerous

Fireplace cookery is a new urban and suburban entertainment, especially for breakfast parties. But what dangerous fun.

City and country dwellers, reluctant to part with their outdoor living and barbecue way of life, have latched on to the next best thing, the fireplace barbecue.

From apartment terraces, roofs and backyards, portable grilles or hastily rigged grids have been moved into the fireplace.

Cooking in a fireplace should be kept to the bare minimum, such as when electricity goes in winter or there is no other fuel for cooking. The danger lies in the grease that accumulates in the fireplace. Cornpopping and marshmallow toasting are harmless fun.

But even at first experiment with fatty foods — bacon, pork chops and sausage — can result in a burned-to-the-ground home.

A group of young people who cooked party food over a fireplace, observing all the precautions, left the house unoccupied with a small fire burning to go out. Result: One lost house.

Many times the fireplace isn't even suspect. A family cooks over the harth, leaving dying embers in the fireplace as they go away for the weekend. The fire may be listed of "unknown origin," everyone feeling sure the fire was out when they left.

Grease can accumulate in the chimney over a long period of time, if one has been in the habit of this type of cookery. Then some night with just a small fire, a massive blast can occur. Many a family has managed to smother a sputtering, sparking flame before it led to destruction.

Another terrible danger lurks when people get in the habit of throwing stuff into the fireplace. Young people have the bad habit of discarding papers, boxes and other stuff in a fireplace in hopes of a quick fire when they want one. Then when the time comes to ignite it, they lazily do it, without removing the excess paper.

That habit and using the fireplace to dispose of greenery, such as old dry Christmas trees or excelsior from packing boxes is especially bad. Every year at the holiday season there are hundreds of fires caused by using the fireplace as a furnace.

One woman disposing of a paper plate full of flour, highly combustile, had her hair singed and eyebrows disappear, when she threw it into the fire. The flareup was so quick, she suffered from shock, also.

Chimneys should be cleaned regularly — about every two years for one that gets moderate use. Even the perfectly built chimney with all fireporof masonry required by community building code is no guarantee against fire if abused. It lessens the chances to be sure, but a fireplace must be used with caution.

A lazy housekeeper will neglect the fireplace, so that chips, bark and wood residue builds up, creating a fire hazard. Apartment dwellers should remove some ashes and residue from time to time. Most fireplaces in homes have an opening at the bottom for disposal of ashes.

Longs and dry twings used for kindling should be kept to a minimum when starting a fire, and a fire screen should be used in front of a fireplace when a fire is burning, unless the family is sitting where it can observe hot coals dancing out of the flames.

Major fire dangers in the home include some that often get the least consideration and are beyond suspicion.

Such insignificant marks of housewifery ineptitude — rubbish in the attic, cellar or closets; paint and oily cloths stuffed in a little space; newspapers piled in unventilated places; emptying ashtrays (thought to be dead) in wastepaper baskets — may all result in a lost home.

Color in Home Now Achieved

Color in home decor is where you find it. A room setting itself can be colorful through the use of bright fabrics, drapes or wall coverings. In the kitchen area, which should be a bright, pleasant spot, standard white appliances may be coupled with colorful surroundings.

★ ★ ★

If counter tops and backsplashes, for example, are surfaced with materials such as ceramic tile, bright colors accent the room setting. Ceramic tile is now available in more than 250 colors and an infinite number of design patterns.

Foolproof Job

The Better Floors Council recommends vinyl asbestos floor tile for the do-it-yourselfer. This floor covering is installed with adhesives that are almost fool proof and the procedure is so simple women do it with no trouble.

Minor Improvements Up Home Value

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — If your family is one of some 2.5 million Americans who will sell their homes this year, judicious investment of $100 or $200 and a little time and effort could add an extra $1,000 or more to the sale price.

While, generally, any major renovation is unwise if undertaken solely in the hopes of boosting the selling price of a house, there are numerous minor improvements that can make selling easier and bring a higher price.

* * *

First impressions are lasting and, often, littles do count — far out of proportion to their real importance. Many people have a way of seeing things as they are, not as they could be.

If your kitchen, for instance, is a bit the worse for wear, pointing out to a prospective purchaser the really good appliances, the excellent work pattern and the good location for supervising the children won't do nearly as much as a fresh coat of paint or paper, crisp curtains at sparkling windows, a gleaming, waxed floor and, perhaps, an inviting bowl of fruit on the uncluttered counter tops.

WISELY SPENT

The Armstrong Cork Co., which makes building and home improvement products, says company research has shown the value of small amounts of money spent wisely for projects such as new shrubbery, a freshly painted front door and shutters, new flooring in kitchen or bath areas.

John R. Baldwin, manager of contract development for the company, says his personal experience bears this out. He has moved his family nine times in less than 18 years.

* * *

Baldwin has some pertinent suggestions.

He recommends, first, that you try for "curb appeal" as the realtors refer to it. Be sure the lawn is cut and trimmed neatly, that shrubbery looks the way it should.

LOOK AT PROPERTY

Look at the property with an eye to little things — a mail box that needs painting or replacing, a fence that needs straightening, a gate hinge that needs tightening. Outdoor living areas should be "policed" and kept free of trash and clutter. Garage doors should be closed — and the inside neat.

Before you put a house up for sale is the time to weed out collections of "junk" in garage, basement and attic — and even in closets and cupboards. You might even do a little packing of unessentials ahead of time. Show these storage spaces to their best advantage; no Fibber McGee's closet!

* * *

How is the house exterior? Often fresh paint on doors, windows and trim such as railings can make a big difference. Screen doors and windows should be in good condition. If you have flower boxes, or planters, use them to advantage — bright flowers, neatly cultivated in summer; perhaps heaped evergreen boughs in winter.

A STRANGER'S EYE

Inside, Baldwin suggests, go through the house with an eye for loose door knobs, sticking doors and windows, dripping faucets, burned out light bulbs and other minor flaws.

Although a house should look lived in, it's a good idea to go through rooms with the eye of a stranger. We all, at times, live with faded walls, scruffy woodwork, shabby furniture, but they are our own. Such things detract from the good points of a house.

Eliminate clutter. If rooms are small, or if you really have too much furniture, try removing a few pieces — perhaps Fido's favorite chair that's due for a trip to the reupholsterer.

* * *

If, on the other hand, your furniture appears to rattle around, a big floor plant or a folding screen can do wonders at filling in.

In summer, a group of potted geraniums can make a bright spot of an empty fireplace. In winter, a glowing fire will welcome prospective buyers.

BRIGHTENING HELPS

Often just washing walls and painting woodwork will make a big difference. If you do decide on complete repainting, use white or neutral colors. Even if a buyer figures on redecorating to suit his taste, it's nice to move into a "livable" house that doesn't require immediate freshening. Refurbishing dingy floors, or shampooing carpets will help with the brightening.

In a room that's architecturally unirspired, often paneling a single wall will provide a focal point — and it's an inexpensive job that can be handled by most do-it-yourselfers.

* * *

Kitchen and baths are major selling points in any house. Redecorating these areas will be of particular value. Along with fresh paint or paper, little things such as new faucets on older sinks or tubs, possibly a new medicine cabinet in the bathroom, a pin-up lamp in a dark spot in the kitchen, new floor tile, will make a big difference at small cost.

It goes without saying, the house should be spic and span. Extra effort in keeping things picked up — beds made, dishes done, toys store neatly after use —will be rewarded if a prospect arrives on short notice.

INEXPENSIVE PROJECTS

Baldwin offered several suggestions for inexpensive, do-it-yourself type projects that could increase the selling price of a home:

In cellar areas, a coat of masonry paint can do wonders to brighten dull, gray concrete walls. Going a step further, a vinyl-asbestos tile floor and acoustical ceiling will suggest to a prospective buyer use of the basement as a playroom.

If you have a porch or patio, consider finishing it off with economical indoor-outdoor carpeting, or vinyl patio tile.

Come to think of it, even if you have no intnetion whatever of selling your home, investment of $100 or $200 and a little time and effort in following these suggestions could make it a nicer place for your family to live.

MANY MASKS—Limited space in most modern homes forces various rooms to wear many masks. This family room was planned to appeal to a pack of Cub Scouts without being too juvenile to serve as a place for mom and dad to entertain. The materials, such as the acoustical ceiling and indoor-outdoor carpet, were carefully selected to suit both roles.

IN STYLE — When exploring the problem of space, look to one's own back door. And that's how this room came to be! Enclosing the back porch area to create an inviting back entry proved to be a successful decorating decision. The walls were neatly treated to a picture grouping and a Syroco eagle oversees a Heywood captain's desk and chair. A handsome oriental rug adds to the feeling for warmth and welcome.

Proper Surfaces

Caulking compounds, like paints and varnishes, need the proper surfaces to do their jobs adequately. All wood surfaces should be primed with an oil primer. Use a metal, rust inhibitive, priming material on steel surfaces. Aluminum and other non-ferrous metals should have all grease and other contaminants removed.

Telephone Solicitations—

Reports of so-called telephone abuses are frequent and usually are caused by professional phone pitchmen seeking donations for charity, or with a gimmick to sell a product or service. When a professional promoter is hired by an organization, he receives fifty to eighty percent of the proceeds, leaving a small net profit for the sponsoring group.

When approached by a phone solicitor for a donation, determine how much money they are expecting to raise, how much of it goes to the promoter and how much to the organization, where the sponsoring group is located and the purpose for which the money will be used. Satisfactory replies to these questions will give you a basis on which to make your judgment regarding a donation.

Labor Shortage Pushes Prefabs

The severe labor shortage of building mechanics in most metropolitan centers is encouraging builders to try almost everything to reduce the use of on-site labor. According to Insulation Board Institute, builders are taking a fresh look at prefabrication of complete homes, sectional homes and components which can be assembled at the site to create a home or apartment.

Insulation board manufacturers report a 40 per cent increase in the sale of intermediate insulation board sheathing during the first six months of 1968. This sheathing is especially strong and designed to stand the strain of component shipments over the highways.

IBI comments that new terminology is emerging to describe the various forms of factory fabrication evolving to ease the labor shortage.

* * *

• Components — probably 90 per cent of the homes in the Chicago area are now being built with some form of component.

They are essentially fully-framed exterior and interior walls, which can be quickly put in position at the job site. Uusually, the exterior siding or the interior gypsum wallboard finish of the interior must then be applied.

* * *

• Sectionals — mobile homes, faced by highway weight and dimension restrictions, began producing units in sections several years ago. Now both mobile home and prefab manufacturers are fabricating sectionals which have lost the mobile home look and appear quite conventional.

Generally, each section is almost completely finished on both the interior and exterior.

• Modules — basically, these are completely finished "boxes" which when positioned together create instant housing. Exterior and interior are complete right down to carpeting and drapes on the windows.

Prefabs Take Step Forward

Hand Pumps Obsolete

If you're like most other Americans, right about now you're dreaming of having your own "vacation" home. It may range from a simple cabin in the woods to a fully equipped year-around house.

Nearly 20 percent of Americans now have a second home. In the next 10 years, at least 2 million additional families will buy such a home. Many families move to the country for weeks or even months at a time. Dad commutes or joins his family for a week-end of relaxation.

* * *

Surveys show that the typical owner of a second home wants to relax in comfort. Dad may like to go completely primitive on his hunting and fishing trips, but few families, especially those with young children, want to be deprived very long of water for cooking, bathing, and laundering.

Just a decade or so ago, vacation homes relied on a hand pump for water and no indoor plumbing. Today, plumbed-in conveniences are made possible through a private water system.

MUNICIPAL PATTERN

This is patterned after the municipal supply and consists of the well, an electric pump, automatic controls and a storage tank. If electricity isn't available to power the motor, you can generate your own.

The installation should be made by a water systems specialist. He will assure you an efficient and safe system, including water treament equipment where needed.

* * *

Having a top-quality water system to provide water for your vacation home offers other advantages. You can rent the house to other vacationers, thus recovering some of your costs. If you ever decide to sell, you'll command a better price. You may even decide to convert your vacation house into a retirement home years from now. Then you'll be glad it has such basic conveniences as good plumbing.

Faucets Get Fashion Touch

Look what they've done to the faucet. It used to be well, just a knob and a spigot, a handle on a tap — but look at it now.

Bathroom faucets, for instance, seem to be designed for decorating the living room — some would even be at home in a jewelry store window. Available in dozens of contemporary, traditional futuristic and ornamental designs, today's faucets offer the homeowner an unlimited selection to enhance the now-popular decorator bathroom.

Most modern quality faucets are made of brass and plated with chromium — sometimes even gold.

Choices are unlimited — there are models featuring clean-lined round or rectangular shapes — cylindrical handles with fins for grasping — round knobs with knurled edges and plastic inserts in all colors to match color schemes — and units with handles and spout combined into one attractive integral fitting.

Some faucets are made of beautiful porcelain, decorated in designs matching those in certain lavatory bowls. For the ultimate in faucet luxury though, there are an increasing number of ornamental models available. Reflecting the masterworks of famed European art, they come designed as swans, dolphins and fish (mouths serving as spouts), polished semi-precious stone, marble and cut glass. Others feature sea shell, cherub, rosebud, leaf and oriental styles.

IN OR OUT — It's forever springtime in this fun-sun room filled with living clay-potted plants that can be switched indoors or out like the light-weight alumaloy furniture. The pretty printed rug called "Independence" is a brand-new kind that is deceptively durable with its close-packed pile and high-density foam rubber backing. Never mind the mud tracks or spills . . . they wipe or brush right off; drop a glass and it bounces. It's easy on the feet, too. No wonder these marvelous new printed carpets by Monarch are such a hit all through the house and especially in rough and tumble or working areas.

Thermometer Has Become Citizens' National Pamperer

Is the trusty thermometer the great national pamperer of our citizens? If we avoided looking at it, would we be more comfortable? De we need houses so hot in cold climate that we can hardly breathe? Do we need to feel uncomfortable in a climate that is hotter than we've known? Or is it all a state of mind brought on by what we think a temperature is doing to us?

If weather bureaus declined to give the temperature would we have happier cities?

This is the time of year when people complain about the efficiency of their heating systems. City dwellers are banging on radiators, hoping to arouse apartment house superintendents, and hiking landlords to court.

A woman who has been very temperature-conscious because she lived in a city where newspaper headlines screamed disaster when the temperature fell to 5 degrees, has now weathered several country winters sleeping in a bedroom without heat when the temperature outdoors has been 5 degrees or below.

WEATHER FALL

At first, she slept downstairs where registers warmed the first floor. But going to her bedroom in summer, she found that she could weather fall.

As it grew colder, she took each day in stride until pretey soon, like the little boy who lifted the calf each day until it weighed several hundred pounds, she got through the winter without complaining at all about the cold bedroom. Well, hardly at all.

* * *

Now she feels uncomfortable when she spends a night in the city. She is so hot, she can't sleep and almost always returns home feeling groggy.

The unheated bedroom she sleeps in is on the corner of a house with only two inner walls of the room insulated. A small heat register is in the upstairs hall.

NO COLDS

She feels drafts, and she has worn a stocking cap from time to time to keep icicles out of her hair but she is healthier than she has ever been and hasn't had a cold in years, she says.

It is interesting to observe city people who move to the country. They are "freezing to death" the first winter. Their thermostats are up so high visiting neighbors can't bear it. Just about the time friends are avoiding visits, the exurbanites decide to oblige by tolerating a cooler house.

* * *

At the end of the first winter, their houses are just as comfortable as their neighbors'. In no time at all they may tell you they have shut off radiators in their bedrooms.

The next step is that they become gleeful at low temperatures because now their interest in the thermometer is to see how rugged they are. They forget they're supposed to feel cold.

RUGGED OUTDOORS

It is amusing, too, that many people can be rugged outdoors but are hothouse flowers indoors.

Skiing on the windy Plains of Abraham at Quebec City some years ago at 26 degrees below, with breath forming ice patterns as you watched it, a man marveled at his wife. In her lightweight gabardine ski trousers and jacket, she was having a great time. "At home she won't walk a block away to the grocery store, if the temperature goes below 40 degrees and she has the house up to 80 degrees," he observed. "She knows it's cold, but she doesn't know how cold," he said.

* * *

Everyone had been so intent on catching the ski bus from the Chateau Frontenac ski room that no one realized how cold it was until theey checked the thermometer on their returg. Noses, fingertips and toes were ready to drop off, but after hot soup and bath, everyone felt great.

The healthy Finns have the reverse therapy. First they steam their bodies until they're red hot, then they roll in the snow. The Sauna heat unit is popular here now, but there aren't many takers for snow baths.

OFFICE WORKERS

Office workers blow hot and cold, too, with the thermometer, as one man points out. After being driven to distraction by complaints in a windowless city office in winter that they were "roasting," he removed the thermometer and hasn't had a complaint since.

Theremometers are wonderful fun for telling where you are, where you've been, and where you're going.

But if one let's a thermometer decide how he feels temperature-wise, he'll feel pretty miserable from one end of the year to another. Few people ever decide at what temperature they really feel good. When they have a great day, they always compliment the weather, never the temperature.

Tales of Remodeling

If you're thinking about a new floor for the kitchen, here's a word of advice from a leading floor covering manufacturer.

It is unwise to select kitchen flooring on the basis of style and color alone. Not all types of floor covering are physically suited for kitchen use and unless you know what product characteristics to look for, you could end up with a serious maintenance problem.

* * *

Kitchens, of course, are unique in that they're constantly subjected to food spillage. It can be a glass of chocolate milk dropped on the floor one day, and the next, a pan of hot gravy. The ease and thoroughness with which these substances can be removed has a lot to do with the appearance and life expectancy of a flooring material.

Flooring specialists emphasize that a good kitchen floor should have two characteristics above all others. First, it should offer good resistance to spotting and soiling, and secondly, it should not, under any circumstances, absorb and harbor food products which have been spilled on it.

In other words if you spill catsup or gravy in the kitchen, you shouldn't have to worry about the substance soaking into the floor covering and creating a permanent stain underfoot.

Smooth surface resilient floors of vinyl and linoleum provide built-in resistance to staining since liquids and grease soils can't penetrate the material and hide beneath the surface. Whether you wipe up a food spill immediately, or attend to it later, resilient flooring keeps the spilled substance at the surface where it can be removed thoroughly and easily with a damp cloth.

* * *

There is no evidence as yet to indicate that any soft-surface floor covering now on the market offers sufficient soil resistance or ease of maintenance to justify its use in kitchens.

In rare instances it could be a toss-up but in the vast majority of home kitchens, resilient flooring is a far better choice from the standpoint of practicality, wear, and long-range appearance.

Buying Adds Hidden Costs

Been thinking of moving? If your reason is to get a bigger or better house. Think again. It may make better sense financially to stay where you are and enlarge or improve your present home.

One big reason is the "hidden" costs of buying another home, which frequently add up to enough to pay for the remodeling. You have, for example, closing costs, title search, attorney's fees, title insurance and other charges at the time the deal is closed. These are often $500 or more.

* * *

Then there are moving costs. (If you haven't moved in the past ten years, you'll be stunned at how much it costs to transport household goods even a short distance across town.) Plus, of course, landscaping, new locks and other miscellany. These hidden costs add up to at least $1,500 and often go much higher.

So do consider staying put and budgeting $1,500 toward making your present home a better place to live.

One of the first places to start is with the floors. The Better Floors Council suggests installing easy-to-care for, long-lasting vinyl asbestos in halls, the recreation room, baths, the kitchen and basement. You may even decide to install it in the living room and bedrooms, since this versatile flooring is now made in a wide range of very beautiful colors and patterns.

The Council recommends 1-16" gauge tile for residential use. The installation of such a durable product, which you can do yourself, will materially upgrade the value of your home.

A Proper Setting Depends on You

Many homeowners make the mistake of establishing one firm temperature setting on the house heating thermostat and then judging the efficiency of the heating system on the basis of their resulting comfort.

Because there are many variables, there is no one "right" setting. Such factors as the clothing you wear, the activity in which you are involved around the house, the humidity, the outside temperature all have an effect on the temperature that is most desirable.

Depending on the above factors, you may be perfectly comfortable with a temperature of 72 degrees one day, while you may find it too cool at a setting of 78 degrees on another day.

The basis for deciding when a thermostat is correctly set is not the thermometer — but you. The temperature in which you and the other occupants of the home are most comfortable is the only one "right" setting.

Because of these climatic changes and varying demands in comfort, the setting should be flexible. Actually the thermostat can be compared to the speedometer on your car. You shouldn't leave the thermostat at one firm setting any more than you would drive your car at only one speed.

Modern thermostats are designed to give precise control of the heat that is delivered to your home. Your heating contractor is qualified to recommend and install the most suitable controls that will offer maximum comfort at all times.

SPECIAL PROCESS—Unusual color clarity and visual depth characterize Armstrong Cork Co.'s Coronelle Vinyl Corlon design offering. Called Cumberland, it features a random arrangement of irregularly-shaped tiles imbedded in contrasting mortar. A special manufacturing process gives each "tile" a rich, gemlike quality, reminiscent of costly Italian mosaic work.

Shower Cabinet Answers Needs

The answer to family needs for extra bathing facilities is often found in prefabricated shower cabinets.

It pays to buy quality when you select this fixture. Quality shower cabinets are sturdily made with a finish carefully applied to give many years of service without danger of corrosion.

Go Modern Now

Here's an economical way to "modernize" your older home: make a wise selection of paint colors for siding and trim.

This will enable you to transform your home's exterior by minimizing outdated or undesirable features and emphasizing the best points of styling and line.

Give your yard style and protection: Anchor-Fence.

Protects children, pets and property

Anchor offers a choice of Chain Link, Privacy, Picket or Wood. Chain Link variety includes new Meadow green vinyl-coated Permafused®, aluminum or steel wire in 1" Modernmesh® or 2" standard weave.

AN OPEN LETTER:

Over the years, thousands and thousands and thousands of dollars have been lost in the home building industry as a result of VANDALISM, THEFT AND MALICIOUS MISCHIEF by vandals, grown-ups and small children to homes under construction. These losses are reflected in higher construction costs to you, Mr. & Mrs. Home Buyer!

As competitive businessmen, we are constantly striving to deliver our product to you at the lowest price possible, but we are fighting a losing battle. Frankly, we need your help. You can help us by instructing your children not to trespass on new homes under construction. They could be seriously injured.

If you see an unauthorized person entering or leaving a home under construction displaying this sign, would you please call the police or the builder? By doing this we can save both money and much unpleasantness.

Room Needs Lead Color With Accents

Monotony in a room decor is spelled "walls all one color."

While every room always should have a dominant color, the scheme for the sake of appearance and comfortable living requires some relief.

* * *

One should strike a happy medium between one color, which produces a monotonous effect, and many colors, which create confusion. The homemaker must decide on how many colors to use so that they will provide interest and still avoid chaos.

An elementary rule is that two colors should not be used in equal areas. This means that a larger expanse may be one color and a smaller one a contrasting shade. One way to give character to the smaller area is the use of textured woodgrained paneling.

GREATER UNITY

Royalcote Alpine Oak, an off-white, woodgrained hardboard, is ideal for such an accent. While white does not count as a color in a room's decor, its presence tends to give greater unity to contrasting colors.

Besides being in good taste, the off-white paneling has a pleasing woodgrained texture which in itself enhances a room's appearance. Important to the homemaker is the simple maintenance — occasional wiping with a damp sponge. Common household stains yield readily to a mild detergent and water.

* * *

Give your favorite room a change of pace by applying some basic principles of decorating. For ideas, visit any public library.

Humidifiers Help in Resisting Colds

Right now, while your heating system is shut down, is the right time to have it checked, cleaned, repaired and, if necessary, replaced with a modern boiler and radiation.

* * *

While you're getting your home ready for winter comfort, don't forget the importance of having adequate humidity in the home during the heating season. Most homes are dryer than the Sahara desert during winter. Proof of this is in static electricity, itchy skin and irritated nasal and throat passages. Some authorities believe excessive dryness also lowers resistance and leads to more colds.

* * *

The solution is putting moisture into the air. Grandma knew this. That's why she set pans of water in every room. The modern way to inject moisture into the air, however, is to have a humidifier installed at the furnace or boiler.

* * *

Some people think humidification is needed only for warm air heating systems.

Huskies Stop Lathrup

PNH Wins League Start, 31-20

If Pontiac Northern's league debut last night is just an example of what's to come for the rest of the season, then the race for this year's Inter-Lakes championship could very well be one of the most exciting ever.

The Huskies invaded Southfield Lathrup last night and put an end to the Chargers' two-game winning streak by thumping the Southfield school, 31-20.

Lathrup scored 14 of its points in the waning minutes of the fourth period when Huskie coach Dave Schmidt had already began substituting second and third stringers into the lineup.

★ ★ ★

Doug Talbott, the starting signal caller for the Huskies, played the entire game up until shortly the beginning of the final period after he had compiled a 25-6 lead with only seven minutes remaining in the game.

BALANCED ATTACK

In the process, Northern's balanced attack rolled up 243 yards on the ground and an additional 79 through the air while Lathrup managed 157 and 82 yards respectively.

The Huskies completed four of nine pass attempts including a couple of long gainers to Mike Souden, while Lathrup hit on only eight of 29 passes, 14 of which were thrown desperately in the final two periods.

Northern had several opportunities to increase the score throughout the game including a drive to Lathrup's three-yard line when the first half ended, but five fumbles, three which were lost, combined with several penalties kept the Huskie attack from reaching its complete maximum.

The win over Lathrup, which had rolled up a total of 60 points in their first two games while blanking their opponents, sets the stage for the all important confrontation between Northern and defending league champ, Livonia Stevenson.

Northern, with the aid of a personal foul penalty, scored on the first series of downs they had the ball.

The Huskies took over on the Lathrup 43, drove to the five yard line where Al Nance plowed through right tackle dragging two Charger defenders with him as he crossed the goaline.

Steve Humphrey's kick for the PAT, the only one he was to make all night, was good and Northern led with 8:20 remaining in the first period.

With just 1:56 remaining in the first half fullback Jack Dunn took a pitch out around left end and went 41 yards all the way untouched to increase Northern's lead to 13-6.

Lathrup bounced right back and charged 81 yards in 12 plays following the kickoff with a 14 yard pass from quarterback John McFaddin to end Steve Lebowski for the tally.

Dunn scored Northern's third touchdown on another pitch out around left end for 30 yards with 4:43 remaining in the third quarter.

With 7:29 remaining on the clock, Al Nance capped Northern's drive from the Lathrup 40 when he shot up the middle 16 yards to pay dirt giving the Huskies a 25-6 edge.

★ ★ ★

Mike Bodurka's 60-yard pass-run pulled Edsel Ford within six points in the second, 12-6, but Paul Christian took a 12-yard toss from Coomer early in the fourth to open up an 18-6 lead.

Defensive tackle Dave King and linebacker Ron Snook sparked the defensive corps, with aid from Bob Zaebst who intercepted two passes.

2nd Loss for Corsairs

Mott Falls to Swartz Creek

It was a long trip home for the Corsairs of Waterford Mott who came out on the short end of seesaw battle at Swartz Creek last night.

A fourth-quarter touchdown gave Swartz Creek a 17-12 victory after the Corsairs had battled to a 12-10 lead after three periods.

SPARKS CORSAIRS

Senior Bob Zywicki, a 6-1, 185-pounder, was the offensive standout for the Corsairs who are now 1-2 on the season.

★ ★ ★

Zywicki raced over on a five-yard play in the second period and added the second Mott tally on a one-yard run in the third.

NETS FIELD GOAL

Swartz Creek jumped off to a 3-0 lead on Don Morris' 31-yard field goal in the opening period, but Zywicki's first six-pointer sent Mott ahead, 6-3.

★ ★ ★

But Rich McNew, who scored both SC touchdowns, tallied from five yards out in the second to give SC a 10-6 lead at intermission.

★ ★ ★

And after Zywicki made it 12-10 with his run in the third, McNew provided the clincher by dancing the final three yards with about four minutes left in the fourth frame.

Against Dayton two weeks ago, 6,300, including 5,987 paid, set a crowd record for the Firebirds.

Both coaches, Tom Tracy of the Firebirds and Bill Stradtman of the Lancers, claim their teams are in "top shape and ready."

A loss for the Firebirds will put them a full game belind Lansing in the Central Division, whom they must play next week.

A defeat for the Lancers would cut their margin to one game over the Dayton Colts, who are back to full strength now after having personnel problems prior to the game with Pontiac.

Here's how the two divisions look:

Central Division				Lakes Division
PONTIAC	6	1	1	L'K'WANA	7	1
Lansing	6	1	1	Dayton	5	3
Flint	1	7	0	S.W. Mich.	4	4
Detroit	0	8	0	Grd. Rapids	2	6

Tonight it will be Pontiac's 1,115 pound defensive line against the 1,040 pound offensive line of the Lancers; the Lancers' 1,010 pound defensive line against the Firebirds' 1,000 pound offensive line.

Butch Van Remmen, Lackawanna's young quarterback with 17 touchdowns to his credit by passing, will match aerials with Doug Holcomb who has thrown for 13 touchdowns this season.

PCH Routs Arthur Hill, 34-0

NOW HEAR THIS—Coach Max Hasse of Rochester Adams shouts words of advice (above) to the Highlanders during the game with Oxford last night. The personable mentor clenches his fist (below) as the play develops. However, Oxford rallied in the second half to win, 14-8. (Story on Page C-2).

Chiefs' Offense Rolls Up 333 Yards Rushing

(Special to The Press)

Only a rash of penalties stopped it from being worse as the Pontiac Central Chiefs walloped Saginaw Arthur Hill, 34-0 last night for their first win of the season.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs with 333 yards rushing had two touchdowns and a couple long gainers in the shadows of the Arthur Hill goal line called back for various penalties, but a 20-point second period and 14 more in the third quarter were more than enough.

Spencer Dinkins scored the first two touchdowns on 22 yard runs. The first one came after recovery of an Arthur Hill fumble on the 17. A 5-yard penalty followed and Dinkins then raced the distance to score.

INTERCEPTION

A pass interception by Dennis Brown on the Arthur Hill 43 and a return of 32 yards set up the next PCH score. A 15 yard penalty followed and then in two plays, Dinkins went 17 yards and 22 yards to score.

★ ★ ★

Another fumble gave the Chiefs the ball on the Hillites 26. Perry Humphrey passed 23 yards to Daryl Wilcox and Humphrey then carried the final three yards.

In the third period, Humphrey bootlegged with third and 25 yards to go, and went 56 yards for the touchdown.

★ ★ ★

Two other touchdowns in the period, one an 80 yard punt return by Brown and a 25 yard run by Humphrey were called back for penalties.

END SCORING

As the period closed, Brown then scooted 50 yards to complete the scoring as Humphrey passed to Wayne Coleman for the two points.

Big John Ray, Central's 325 pound tackle was called the defensive star of the game as he batted down three passes, made a dozen tackles and forced Arthur Hill runners to fumble with his tackling.

★ ★ ★

Arthur Hill's best penetration came in the closing minutes against the reserves when the Hillites moved to the PCH 13.

A 15 yard penalty and a pass interception stopped the threat.

Third Soccer Shutout for Unbeaten Spartans

EAST LANSING (UPI) — All-American Trevor Harris scored five goals Friday, sparking the Michigan State University soccer team to its third successive shoutout in as many games — a 12-0 whipping of Kent State, Ohio.

The Spartans, who are defending NCAA co-champions, now have scored 26 goals without allowing any against them so far this season.

Milford Upset in League Test

The unbeaten list numbered only two today following some interesting developments last night in the Wayne-Oakland League.

In a crowd-pleaser, defending champion West Bloomfield ran its league mark to 2-0 with a 32-28 decision over the Trojans of Livonia Clarenceville, while in a bit of a surprise, Northville (1-1) turned back Milford's Redskins (1-1), 12-8.

WOLVES SURPRISED

In another slight surprise, Brighton (1-1) dumped Clarkston's Wolves (0-2), 14-6.

Yesterday's results leaves only the Barons of Bloomfield Hills Andover and the Lakers of West Bloomfield with perfect marks in league play. Over-all, the Barons are 3-0, while the Lakers are 2-1.

Clarenceville is at 1-1 along with Northville, Milford and Brighton.

HOLDS UPPER HAND

West Bloomfield, after a brief 8-8 tie in the first period, led the rest of the way with both teams scoring in each period. West Bloomfield was up at halftime, 16-14.

* * *

Ken Watkins hauled in a 13-yard pass from Bill Bullock for the Lakers' first score in the first stanza, and John Sopko, the sparkplug of the team's ground game, picked up the second one on a 19-yard run and he ran the two-point conversion.

FINAL MARKER

Kim Woodruff collected the final Laker touchdowns. He romped over from two yards out in the third and scampered in from nine yards out in the fourth. Glen VanGorder and Woodruff caught passes for conversions while John Hugulet ran the other.

* * *

Bob Ridling and Rob Weller provided the spark for the Trojans. Ridling scored three times, on runs of four and 10 yards and a 10-yard pass from Mike Duman.

Bob Weller pulled in a 25-yard pass from Duman for the final Clarenceville tally.

TOP DEFENDER

Ron VanGorder turned in an outstanding game for the Lakers at his offensive guard and linebacker positions.

Sopko checked in with 120 yards rushing. Over-all, the Lakers gained 288 on the ground and 79 in the air. Clarenceville totaled 261.

* * *

Milford went in front of Northville in the first period, 8-0, but the Redskins then fell victim to a blazing passing attack of the host Mustangs.

NOT NIGHT

Northville's Rich Adams connected on 12 of 18 tosses for 195 yards and he teamed with Terry Mills for a three-yard scoring play in the third that brought Northville from an 8-6 deficit to the final 12-8 margin.

* * *

Mike Monnier's five-yard pass to Dan Smith along with Matt Partridge's run for the two-point conversion sent Milford ahead in the first stanza, 8-0.

But Northville sliced it to 8-6 in the second on Dave Coe's three-yard run.

Bernie Bach hauled in five of Adams tosses for 89 yards, while Fred Holdsworth collected four for 79 yards.

Brighton scored in the first and third periods in stopping Clarkston.

Kurt Richardson raced six yards in the third period for Clarkston's lone score.

Barons Stop Third Foe From Denting Goal Line

Head football coach at Bloomfield Andover High School, Bob Kefgen, must have been in an awfully modest mood when he predicted before the '69 season started, that his Barons would be "in there along with the others vying for the Wayne-Oakland league crown this year."

Friday afternoon the Barons' first league encounter for the season proved to be just as successful as the two previous non-league games as Andover rolled to its third straight win by dumping Kettering, 22-0.

Andover's latest victory marks the third game that the opposing team has failed to penetrate the Barons' defensive line to score.

Backs Bob Reid and E. J. Levy proved to be the major workhorses for the Andover offensive drive picking up a total of 226 yards between them as the Baron offense overwhelmed Kettering 252 yards to 185.

* * *

Anodver also increased its offensive total with another 108 yards through the air while limiting the Captains to just 39 for the game.

Next Friday night Andover will travel to Milford hoping to revenge a last minute upset from the hands of the Redskins last season which eventually placed both schools into a tie for second place in the league at season's end.

* * *

Three Kettering miscues, each of them fumbles and each recovered by an alert Andover defense, set the stage for all three of the Baron's touchdowns.

The Barons, unable to move the ball after the kickoff, punted and three plays later recovered Kettering's fumble on the Captains 44 yard line.

* * *

Four plays later, with 6:56 remaining, Reid picked up his first tally of the night when he scooted around right end on a pitch out from quarterback Scott Roley on the 15 and dashed the distance to the endzone.

UNABLE TO MOVE

At the beginning of the second quarter Andover was again unable to move the ball and Kettering took over on their own 33 yard line.

* * *

The Captains marched to Andover's 34 where Bloomfield tackle John Proctor jumped on Bob Gratzs' fumble setting up the Barons second score.

* * *

On the second play of the series, Reid shot through right tackle and raced 61 yards for the touchdown as well as running the extra point to give the Barons a 14-0 edge with 9:24 remaining before halftime.

Andover's third and final score of the afternoon came following Reid's recovery of a Waterford fumble on the Baron 29 yard line with 6:15 gone in the third period.

* * *

Two plays later Roley connected on a pass to end Bob Huessner who outmaneuvered three Kettering defensive backs and dashed 70 yards for the touchdown.

* * *

Levy bulled his way over the goalline through the right side of the line for the PAT to end the scoring for the game.

Oxford Triumphs; Jackets Get Stung

Second Half Rally Wins for Wildcats

By DON VOGEL

There are two sides to every football story.

Oxford's Dave Kastelic impressed this upon Rochester Adams last night as he led the Wildcasts to a come-from-behind 14-8 victory in an Oakland A game.

It was the second win against one tie for the Wildcats. Adams, fielding its first football team is 1-2 over-all.

The Highlanders went into the game at Oxford bent on claiming a first league win for coach Max Hasse. They did everything but run the Wildcats off the field in the first half.

STRONG PUSH

They rushed for 197 yards and passed for 12 more. Halfback Mike Hall chalked up 101 yards. There were 12 first downs for Adams. Meanwhile, the Highlander defense was checking Oxford with 67 yards.

But when the intermission rolled around, Adams had only eight points on the board. Mike Pellerito score those on a two-yard plunge and a run for the conversion.

The Highlanders were stopped on the Oxford 3, 8 and 25. Oxford never crosses the midfield stripe.

The second half was another story. Kastelic and quarterback Bill Biebuyck narrated it well for the Wildcats.

Kastelic tied the game on the second play of the third quarter with a brilliant 76-yard run that actually was over 100. He sped to his left on a naked reverse, faked one would-be tackler behind the line and turned the corner near the sideline.

Kastelic then ctu across the field, neatly leaving four Highlanders going the wrong way with a change-of-pace move, and sped down the right sideline. A run for the conversion failed.

CALLED PLAYS

Biebuyck, one of the few signal callers around entrusted to call the plays, directed a 20-play march that ate up 86 yards and most of the third period and three minutes of the fourth.

Three fourth down plays were crucial and on the last one, Kastelic went around left end from the 15 for the winning touchdown. Rick Remstead, another speedy halfback, followed fullback Clarence Millen around the end for the two-point conversion.

The Oxford defense completely throttled the Highlanders who were definitely hampered by the absence of hard-running Pellerito who went out with a shoulder injury in the first half. Adams gained only 23 yards in the second half and one first down.

Kastelic finished with 160 yards in 17 carries. Hall.

CLEAR SAILING — Halfback Dave Kastelic of Oxford races down the sideline toward the end zone to score the Wildcats' second touchdown early in the fourth quarter last night. The 15-yard play came on fourth down and put Oxford ahead of Rochester Adams.

Avon Controls Game, but Not Scoring

It was a complete reversal of results for the Avondale Yellow Jackets last night.

Last week, the Jackets stunned Troy and last night the Bulldogs of Romeo showed their bark and bite in winning a weird game, 6-4.

Avondale did everything but win.

The Jackets dominated the statistics and except for the lone Romeo touchdown, stopped the Bulldogs cold with only 74 yards total.

* * *

But penalties and fumbles proved disastrous for Avondale.

Romeo's score in the second period came when on a punt Avondale was called for roughing the kicker. Another personal foul penalty moved the ball to the Avon 15 and on the first play quarterback Pete Sweeney passed to Craig Schneider for the touchdown.

FAIL TO TALLY

The Jackets were inside the shadows of the Romeo goal four times but failed tally in the first half.

In the second half Romeo had its back to the wall most of the way, failing to cross the 45 yard line.

* * *

Phil Barger hit Sweney for a safety midway in the final stanza and a short time later Dave Harper hit Sweeney in the end zone for the second safety of the game.

Avondale had the ball on the Romeo two yard line when the game ended, with Jacket fans claiming that during a penalty 17 seconds had ticked off the clock.

Lahser Nets First Win; Troy Topples Rochester

The Knights of Bloomfield Hills Lahser picked up that elusive first victory last night while Troy rebounded for a win over Rochester in Oakland A League action.

The Knights, after losses to Walled Lake Western and Lake Orion, came back to whip Madison Lamphere, 16-0, while Troy gained a 30-12 decision over Rochester.

LEADS ATTACK

Mike Atkins was the big gun for the Knights. He raced in on a one-yard play for six points in the second period and then ran the two-point conversion. In the third, he ran two yards for the second Lahser touchdown.

* * *

The Knights other two points came on a first-period safety when tackle Dick Nancarrow broke through to down the Lamphere ball carrier in the endzone.

Troy scored in every period and held a 14-6 lead at intermission.

MISTAKES COSTLY

Mistakes proved costly for Rochester. Troy's Colts moved in to score after recovering a fumble in the first, after an interception in the second, after a short punt in the third and after a Falcon gamble failed in the fourth.

* * *

Troy pounced on a Rochester fumble at the Falcons 45 early in the first and promptly turned it into a touchdown in seven plays. The payoff was a seven-yard run by Rick Stewart.

TIES SCORE

After Steve Blair tied the score for the Falcons on a 45-yard pass from Mark Jagels, Tom Machinak's three-yard and Dennis Buchann's pass for the conversion put Troy ahead for good.

* * *

Buchann later scored on a 10-yard pass from Steward and Bill Michell added the final Colt tally on a 27-yard run.

Blair gave the Rochester crowd something to cheer about when he fielded the kickoff following Michell's touchdown and returned it 70 yards for six points.

South Lyon Romps Over Saline, 36-12

South Lyon spotted Saline a 6-0 lead and then came back to score a 36-12 victory last night.

New Coach Guides Falcons Past Walled Lake Central

Football victories at Farmington in recent years have been scarce but the Falcons latest triumph did enable their new coach to get started on the right foot.

Dick Tyler, coach at Farmington for the past two season, left the post this week citing poor health as his reason for exciting.

TAKES TOP POST

Moving into the head spot is Uwe Wiese, a former standout at Central Michigan University, who has spent the past five years as an assistant at Farmington.

* * *

As often happens when a new coach or new manager appears, the Falcons went out and won a ball game, something they hadn't done since Sept. 22, 1967.

LONG STREAK

From that point to the present, they had lost 16 games and tied a pair, but that's all over now.

* * *

Yesterday, the Falcons put an 8-6 victory over Walled Lake Central on the books and the victory could inject some life into the squad. "They were really fired up about it," said one of the coaching aides.

FAST START

Farmington put this one in the win column early, pushing across a first-quarter touchdown and then proceeding to protect it.

* * *

Halfback John Welling did the work for the Falcons as he sprinted in from the five-yard line and then ran the all-important two-point conversion. On the extra point, Welling turned the left side behind some crisp blocks.

Walled Lake, now 1-2, battled back in the third period for a touchdown as quarterback Don Burlingame sneaked the final yard. An attempt to run the conversion wasn't close.

The game was the lidlifter for both teams in the Inter-Lakes Conference.

Next week, Walled Lake visits Waterford, while Farmington entertains Southfield Lathrup.

ALL OVER — Defected Waterford quarterback Carl Whetstone sits after moving to the bench late in the second half with the Skippers trailing Stevenson, 26-0. The visiting Spartans were pretty rude to Whetstone as they intercepted four of his passes.

Skippers Fall to Defending I-L Champion

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Although it's a new season, the Inter-Lakes League has that same old look.

Livonia Stevenson's Spartans, winners of eight straight last year along with taking the I-L championship, picked up last night where they left off last fall by routing the Skippers of Waterford 32-0.

LEAGUE DEBUT

It was the league debut for both and it firmly established the Spartans, again, as the team to beat in the I-L race.

* * *

Also winning last night was Pontiac Northern, 31-21 over Southfield Lathrup, and PNH visits the Spartans next Friday in what now shapes up as an early championship battle.

SECOND LOSS

The Skippers, dropping their second decision in three starts, were no match for the speedy Spartans who amassed an offense of 466 yards, 442 of that on the ground.

* * *

Manipulating the Livonia offense was senior quarterback Rusty Gregg who scored three touchdowns and passed for another.

Gregg's handling of the option kept the Skipper defense guessing all night, and much of the time it was simply guessing wrong.

FOUR INTERCEPTIONS

Defensively, the Spartans' speedy secondary off four of quarterback Carl Whetstone's passes and held the Skippers to 136 yards in total offense. Along with his offensive efforts, Gregg bagged one of those interceptions.

* * *

Livonia scored touchdowns in each of the first two periods to take a 14-0 lead at intermission and then wrapped it up with an 18-point outburst in the third stanza.

BIG GUN

Gregg was the big gun. He started the ball rolling with a 62-yard scamper on the fifth play of the game, a zig-zagging run that carried him through the entire Skipper defense at the 9:12 mark. A pass from Gregg to John Jetchick produced the two-point conversion.

* * *

Gregg later scored on runs of 85 and 13 yards and finished the evening with 184 yards in just six trips with the ball.

After Gregg's 62-yard scamper early in the game, Waterford held its own until the final minute of the first half when a break set up the Spartans' second touchdown.

MISSES MARK

At his own 26, Whetstone fired a pass over the middle but it was tipped into the air and Gregg intercepted and returned it to the Skipper 30. Only 20 seconds remained.

* * *

A Gregg pass fell incomplete on first down. Halfback Ron Smith turned right end for 13 yards to the Skipper 17, and on the first down from that point with just nine seconds showing on the clock, Gregg stepped back and fired a strike to Jetchick who was cutting across the endzone from left to right for the touchdown.

Gene Walker's 15-yard run opened the third-period scoring, and Gregg capped it with runs of 85 and 13 yards.

* * *

Waterford moved the ball fairly well in the first half. With Whetstone guiding the attack, and his brother Craig running at fullback, the Skippers moved from their own 37 to the Livonia 38 before the attack bogged down.

Later in the second, the Skippers reached the Livonia 38 again but a fourth-down-and-six situation failed and the Spartans took over on their own 33.

CAME CLOSE

Whetstone mounted the Skippers best attack at the onset of the fourth stanza, moving the club from its own 35 to the Livonia 10 before another interception halted the march.

* * *

Don LaBlanc and Mike Shaw looked sharp at times carrying the ball for the Skippers, and Shaw turned in a couple of good defensive plays.

The Skippers entertain Walled Lake Central next week in another I-L contest.

Ferndale, Kimball in League Wins

Seaholm Ties League Foe on Late TD

Ferndale and Royal Oak Kimball convinced a couple of foes last night but Birmingham Seaholm and Southfield failed to impress each other as the Southeastern Michigan Association; opened its championship race.

* * *

Berkley fell before the crushing power of Ferndale, 4-16, Kimball shaded Hazel Park, 28-14, and Seaholm came from behind with two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to tie Southfield, 22-22.

PAYOFF PITCH

A 30-yard pass from Rick Merrill to Carl Charles with just 1:35 left in the game enabled Seaholm to tie Southfield. The Maples, scoring just moments earlier on John Roberts' two-yard run, came up with a successful onside kick to set up their winning touchdown.

* * *

From the 50, Merrill hit a couple of short passes before teaming with Charles on the 30-yarder. Seaholm's other points came on a six-yard run by Ken Schack and a safety when Southfield's center snapped the ball out of the end zone.

TALLIES TWICE

Chuck Petrillo scored twice for Southfield on runs of 49 and 3 yards, while John Solberg collected the other on a three-yard jaunt.

* * *

Rick Campbell scored three touchdowns to spark the Kimball attack. He hauled in scoring tosses of 9 and 33 yards from Jim Cole and ran three yards for another. Tom Brown picked up Kimball's other six-pointer on a 55-yard pass from Cole. It was Brown's fifth scoring reception of the season.

HOT NIGHT

Cole hit on 5 of 10 passes for 151 yards with Brown snaring two for 110 yards. Steve Hebold sparked the Kimball defense with a couple of interceptions that ran his season total to five.

Carl Taylor's one-yard run and John Sheppard's one-yard sneak led Hazel Park.

* * *

Like Kimball, Ferndale ran its record to 3-0 with the easy verdict over Berkley.

Ferndale scored 24 points in the first quarter and held a 38-0 lead at intermission.

Gary Sopheia scored three times for the Eagles, while Craig Fahoome, John Owens and Pete Pelloski tallied single six-pointers.

LONDON, Ont. (AP) — Detroit's Red Wings scored a 4-2 hockey victory over the Boston Bruins Friday as their Gordie Howe — Alex Delvecchio — Frank Mahovlich line dominated play all night.

Red Sox Catch Tigers

Second Place Deadlocked in AL East

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox spent most of the American League season chasing the Detroit Tigers—with both in distant pursuit of Baltimore's East Division champs.

A couple of weeks ago, the Tigers appeared assured of second place and runnerup money. However, someone forgot to tell the persistent Red Sox.

★ ★ ★

Boston's late-season charge paid off Friday night as the Red Sox edged Detroit 6-5 and moved into a second place tie with the Tigers before a surprising turnout of 20,820 fans, who ignored a light, but steady, drizzle.

The victory was Boston's fifth straight, including the four under acting manager Eddie Popowski, who took over after Dick Williams was fired Tuesday. The Red Sox have won eight of their last nine outings and have a 16-10 record for the month of September.

BIG SLUMP

The Tigers, no longer looking like the 1968 World Champions, are caught in a nightmarish slump, with a 7-17 record this month. They have lost four straight, six of their last seven and seven of their last nine.

★ ★ ★

Detroit took a 1-0 lead on a two-out double Jim Northrup and Norm Cash's single, the first of three hits by the veteran first baseman, but Mike Andrews tied the score by leading off the Boston first with his 15th homer.

The Red Sox added two runs in the third on a pair of walks, a fielder's choice grounder and Rico Petrocelli's double on a line drive which skipped past Mickey Stanley in center. A walk, an infield out and Mike Garman's single made it 4-1 in the fourth.

Detroit scored two runs in the sixth on singles by Bill Freehan Don Wert and Gates Brown, a walk and an infield out, but Boston got one back in its half on an infield hit, a wild pitch and two outfield flies.

★ ★ ★

Sonny Siebert, who replaced Garman in the sixth, gave up his first two runs in his last nine relief appearances in the seventh. Detroit tied the score 5-5 on a single by Northrup, a bad-hop line triple to right by Cash and a sacrifice fly.

However, the tie didn't last long. Andrews started the Boston seventh by reaching first on second baseman Ike Brown's fielde throw. With two out, Andrews came all the way around as Petrocelli lined a double to left center for is 95th RBI of the season.

Gets 3-Year Contract

Mets' Gil Hodges Reaps Spoils

NEW YORK (UPI) — As usual, the spoils went to the victors Friday.

And baseball's biggest victor in 1969 has been Gil Hodges, the manager of the New York Mets who proved this year that nice guys can finish first.

On a day in which two of the clubs who finished behind the Mets, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, were making managerial changes, the Mets signed Hodges to a three-year contract at $70,000 a year.

A year ago Hodges was in a hospital bed after suffering a heart attack. But he made a remarkable comeback from the illness and his patient handling of the club helped make the Mets the surprise team in baseball this season.

The guy who summed it up best was shortstop, Bud Harrelson, who said: "I don't know how he did it with the crew he had to work with."

★ ★ ★

Hodges had one of the finest pitching combos in baseball — Tom Seaver and Jerry Koosman — and two solid hitters in Cleon Jones injured during much of the stretch run and Tommie Agee. But the rest of the club didn't seem to be the kind that wins pennants.

★ ★ ★

Through careful platooning, however, Hodges managed to get the best out of each player and the Mets put on a stretch run that won the eastern division.

Yanks Trim Orioles

Grand Slam Enough for Nats

By the Associated Press

Lee Maye's fifth inning grand slam homer accounted for all of Washington's runs as the Senators beat the Indians, 4-1 last night.

Elsewhere Friday night, New York trimmed Baltimore 4-2, Kansas City defeated Chicago 5-3, Oakland topped California 3-1 and Seattle took Minnesota 4-3 in 14 innings.

Maye connected on a 3-2 pitch with two out after Washington had loaded the bases on three walks. The second pass went to winning pitcher Joe Coleman, who fouled off 13 pitches before he walked.

★ ★ ★

Mike Kekich pitched his first complete game of the season, hurling the Yankees past Baltimore on a five-hitter. The victory ended a six-game Yankee losing streak.

Baltimore, with 108 victories, is still three short of Cleveland's 1954 American League record of 111 victories. The Orioles have five games remaining.

★ ★ ★

Mike Fiore tagged a two-run homer in the ninth inning, carrying Kansas City past Chicago.

Jerry Adair had tied the game an inning earlier with a three-run blast for the Royals. Bill Melton connected for Chicago.

★ ★ ★

Catcher Dave Duncan celebrated his 24th birthday with a two-run homer that helped Oakland beat California. It was the A's 85th victory—their highest total since 1948 when they were playing in Philadelphia.

★ ★ ★

Wayne Comer's two-out homer in the 14th inning carried the Pilots past Minnesota. Greg Goossen had connected earlier for Seattle and the Twins' Harmon Killebrew took over the major league homer lead with his 48th of the season.

Braves' Niekro Wins Over Padres' Niekro

By the Associated Press

"A wonderful feeling," said Orlando Cepeda.

"Not as pleasing as it should be," said Phil Niekro.

That's what brotherly love will do for you.

Cepeda, you see, unloaded on Niekro's brother, Joe, with a grand slam homer that triggered the Atlanta Braves to a 10-4 victory over San Diego Friday night and lowered their magic number in the National League West to four.

Of course, Phil wasn't entirely innocent. He hurled eight innings for his 22nd triumph and started the Braves' big six-run third with a single, one of his three hits.

OTHER GAMES

Elsewhere, San Francisco, 1½ games behind Atlanta, kept pace with a 2-1 triumph over Los Angeles, Cincinnati took two from Houston 3-0 on Jim Maloney's one-hitter and 4-3, the East Division champion New York Mets blanked Philadelphia 5-0, Pittsburgh tripped the Chicago Cubs 2-0 and St. Louis shelled Montreal 12-1.

The Padres, who have been playing their role as spoilers to perfection, jumped to a 3-0 lead against the Braves on Ivan Murrell's two-run single in the first inning and Tommy Dean's homer in the second.

But singles by Phil Niekro, Felix Millan and Tony Gonzalez loaded the bases for the Braves in the third and a one-out walk to Rico Carty forced in the first run. Cepeda then smacked his grand slam off the left field foul pole, the fifth grand slam of his career and 22nd homer of the season, finishing Joe Niekro. Clete Boyer homered off Frank Reberger for the final run of the inning.

Hank Aaron drilled his 44th homer in the fourth — one short of his career high—and the Braves added two in the fifth and one in the seventh. Phil Niekro gave way to Hoyt Wilhelm after eight innings.

Bobby Bonds singled home two runs in the first inning and Gaylord Perry made them stand up as the Giants edged the Dodgers. Perry, 18-14, yielded an unearned run in the seventh.

Clawson Takes to Air for Win

Trojans Nip Madison, 13-6, in O-A Game

Quarterback Tom Joyce used the airlanes to produce a fourth-quarter touchdown last night that gave Clawson a 13-6 triumph over Madison in an Oakland A League contest.

The winning six-pointer came on a 27-yard pass from Joyce to Jimmy Trail and it broke a 6-6 tie that had existed since early in the third period.

SET STAGE

Randy Ross' interception on the Clawson 43 set the stage for the winning marker. Joyce completed only three passes but two came in that victory drive.

★ ★ ★

The Clawson crew, now 2-0 in O-A play, went in front in the first stanza on a six-yard run by Hans Peterson.

TIES GAME

Madison, now 0-1-1, stormed back to tie the contest at 6-6 on a short run by John Angelo.

Defensive end John Skowron and tackle Loren Williams sparked the line play for the Trojans, while a healthy assist from Ross in the secondary.

Trevino Leads in Alcan

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Lee Trevino, the recognized comic of pro golf, has been at home only 25 days this year, but he refuses to drag his wife and 4-year-old daughter around on the tour.

However, after his wife, Claudie, and daughter, Leslie, joined him at the Alcan Golfer of the Year Tournament, Trevino fired a 5-under par 67 and took the second round lead Friday.

"I was more relaxed today," Trevino said of the round which, with his 70 on Thursday, gave him a 7-under par 137 in the international competition for a $55,000 first prize—richest in golf.

Trevino held a one-stroke lead over Billy Casper and Bert Greene, who each had 68s over the 6,541-yard, par 35-37—72 Portland Golf Club course.

Gay Brewer, winner of the first two Alcan titles, and Deane Beman, former U.S. Amateur champion, were another stroke back.

Pirates Fire, Phils Hire in NL Manager Changes

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Larry Shepard dangled his legs over the edge of a table in the Pittsburgh Pirates' training room and twirled a coat hanger in his hand. He was commiserating with a friend.

A few minutes earlier in a conference room at the opposite side of Forbes Field, the club announced it had fired Shepard as Pirate manager.

Shepard did not attend the news conference Friday. He and trainer Tony Bartirome were huddled in the room behind the dugout. The former manager was dejected.

★ ★ ★

Pirate general manager Joe L. Brown was usually subdued when he announced Shepard's dismissal. He said it would be three or four weeks before the club named a new manager and coach Alex Grammas will guide the club during its last games.

"I levelled a heavy blow at a friend," the general manager said. "To indict him with a bill of particulars would be most damaging. Things did not work out as we thought they would."

PHILS PICK LUCCHESI

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Frank Lucchesi, with 18 years behind him as a minor league manager, moved up to the majors Friday when he signed a two-year contract to manage the Philadelphia Phillies.

Lucchesi, 42, of Foster City, Calif., will actually take over when the season ends Thursday. He succeeds third base coach George Hyatt, who filled in after Bob Skinner quit Aug. 7 with a blast at the front office for alleged favoritism towards controversial Richie Allen.

★ ★ ★

The new manager avoided any lengthy discussion of Allen at his first news conference.

Nagle Signs Card With 105 for 2nd Round

By the Associated Press

Kel Nagle, veteran Australian golfer, put himself out of contention of the Alcan Golf Tourney when he signed an erroneous score card.

Nagel accidentally placed his 9-hole total of 35 in the space on the score card for the ninth-hole score. When he signed the card it became official and he was hanged with taking 66 strokes on the front nine. With a back nine of 37, that gave him a 105 for the second round.

Christy O'Connor of Ireland, who played with Nagel and also signed the card, said he was shocked. "If I could I would give him my score for the round and withdraw."

Lions' Confidence Receives Test

Giants First Foe at Home

Scrambling Tarkenton Leads New York

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Lions coach Joe Schmidt went into this football season with a lot of confidence in his team.

The same was true before last year's dismal 4-8-2 season.

So a lot may be on the line Sunday when the Lions open their 36th home season by meeting the New York Giants at Tiger Stadium.

* * *

Detroit, which had won five straight exhibition games, fell last week 16-13 in their regular National Football League opener to the reputedly mediocre Pittsburgh Steelers.

This time they face a Giants team that upset Minnesota 24-23 last week, but which had lost 14 straight to teams in the Western Conference.

SECOND GAME

It will be Alex Webster's second game as head coach of the Giants since taking over from the fired Allie Sherman.

* * *

Last time New York was scheduled in Detroit was in 1964 when the Lions won 26-3. Prior to that they had tangled only seven times at home, dating back to 1934, with 4-2-1 edge. Overall against the Giants, Detroit is 9-6-1.

* * *

"We're going into it with no alibis," Schmidt says of the game. "We played a poor game at Pittsburgh. We dropped two sure touchdown passes. We made mistakes on key plays, both on offense and defense."

A couple of ex-Lions will be in town with the Giants: safety Bruce Maher and reserve quarterback Milt Plum. But the Detroit defense will be watching out for scrambling quarterback Fran Tarkenton and rookie receiver Don Herrmann, who grabbed two of his passes in the closing minutes of the upset over the Vikings.

* * *

Herrmann was a 15th round draft choice from Waynesburg College in Pennsylvania.

Schmidt blames tension as the prime factor in Pittsburgh's upset last Sunday.

LA Rams Next Foe

Falcons Flying High

By the Associated Press

The young Atlanta Falcons, flying high after opening their National Football League season by upsetting the San Francisco 49ers, again will count heavily on rookies Sunday when they will try to keep from being grounded by the tough Los Angeles Rams.

Seven Atlanta rookies are set to start against the Rams in Los Angeles—guards Dick Enderle and Mal Snider, tackle George Kunz, tight end Jim Mitchell, defensive end John Zook, cornerback Nate Wright and left safety Jim Weatherford.

The fact that Atlanta beat San Francisco should stave off any emotional letdown by the Rams, who opened their season by beating the Colts, their arch-rival in the Coastal Division, 27-20 in Baltimore.

ROMAN AIRIALS

Roman Gabriel completed 20 of 33 passes for 268 yards and three Los Angeles touchdowns, and the Rams defense intercepted three Johnny Unitas passes and dumped him three times.

In other NFL games Sunday, Baltimore is at Minnesota, 0-1; San Francisco plays Green Bay, 1-0, at Milwaukee; Washington, 1-0 is at Cleveland, 1-0; New York, 1-0, is at Detroit, 0-1; Pittsburgh, 1-0, is at Philadelphia 0-1, Chicago, 0-1, is at St. Louis, 0-1, and Dallas, 1-0, is at New Orleans, 0-1.

AFL GAMES

Denver is at Buffalo, Kansas City at Cincinnati, Miami at Houston, New York at San Diego and Oakland at Boston Sunday in the American Football League.

Running back Jerry Hill, recovered from knee surgery, will play for Baltimore against Minnesota, upset 24-23 by the New York Giants. Despite throwing three interceptions against Los Angeles, Unitas completed 29 of 42 passes for 297 yards and two touchdowns. Now he will have to face Minnesota's tough front four.

* * *

If Green Bay uses the same tactics it did in beating Chicago 17-0, San Francisco will have to be geared against running. In the Chicago game, Jim Grabowski ran for 85 yards and a touchdown, Travis Williams for 67 yards and rookie Dave Hampton for 36. The 49ers again will count heavily on the passing of John Brodie and the catching of rookie wide receiver Gene Washington.

Quarterback Sonny Jurgensen and receivers Charlie Harraway and Jerry Smith should be the big offensive cogs as Washington tries to snap a 10-game losing streak to Cleveland. Leroy Kelly, defending NFL rushing champion, pulled a hamstring in the 27-20 victory against Philadelphia but probably will play for Cleveland.

* * *

Pittsburgh will be out to stop the running of Philadelphia's Tom Woodeschick, while the Eagles will have to keep an eye on rookie Warren Bankston, who rushed for 52 yards and the winning touchdown against Detroit.

Chicago will be faced with the problem of stopping the passing of St. Louis' Charley Johnson to Davey Williams and Jackie Smith. An even bigger problem for the Bears could be the generating of an offense.

Craig Morton is set to start at quarterback for Dallas against New Orleans even though Roger Staubach passed for 220 yards and a touchdown 24-3 triumph over St. Louis. Running back Dan Reeves also has been reactivated from the injured reserve list and will be ready for Dallas. The Saints gained 217 yards, including 142 by Andy Livingston, in a 26-20 loss to Washington.

Gun Club Has Show

The Pontiac Gun Club will display its fall gun show on Sunday at the Eagles Hall 4761 Highland Road.

The public is invited to the 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. showing.

2 Lawyers Jailed by Chicago Judge

CHICAGO (AP) — Two defense lawyers were jailed for contempt Friday in the U.S. District Court trial of eight men charged with conspiring to riot during the 1968 Democratic National Convention, but both attorneys were released a few hours later.

Judge Julius J. Hoffman ordered the arrest of Gerald B. Lefcourt of New York and Michael E. Tigar of Los Angeles for failure to appear at the opening of the trial Wednesday.

* * *

Attorneys representing the two filed a motion with the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. U.S. Marshal John C. Meiszner said both were released Friday night on their own recognizance pending further appeal.

Judge Hoffman indicated in ordering the arrests that he would sentence Lefcourt and Tigar when the trial resumes Monday.

FOR PRETRIAL PROCEEDINGS

William M. Kunstler of New York, head of the defense team, insisted, however, that although the two were listed as defense lawyers it was understood they would be used in pretrial proceedings only.

Two California lawyers, Dennis J. Roberts and Michael A. Kennedy, also were cited for contempt for failing to appear, but warrants for their arrest were quashed by Judge Albert C. Wollenberg of U.S. District Court in San Francisco.

* *

He said the two San Francisco attorneys would not be arrested because warrants and a telephoned order for contempt did not comply with law and did not list any offense beyond failure to appear.

The contempt citations delayed opening statements in the trial and prevented the cross-examination of Raymond Simon, a city attorney who was the government's first witness.

HAD DISCUSSED PLANS

Simon testified that he and other officials had met with Rennard C. (Rennie) Davis, 29, one of the defendants, a week before the convention. He said Davis had discussed antiwar organization plans to march in Chicago and sleep in Lincoln Park.

Earlier, Richard G. Schultz, an assistant U.S. attorney, delivered the government's opening statement and called defendant David T. Dellinger of New York "the principal architect of the riots."

* * *

Dellinger, 53, was the head of the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, a leading protest group in Chicago during the August convention.

Schultz said Dellinger and his seven codefendants used the unpopular Vietnam war to urge people to come to Chicago.

'CAME TO FIGHT'

He said the government would prove that Jerry Rubin, another defendant, told a city official: "We came to fight in this city." Schultz said Abbie Hoffman, also on trial, told the same official, "Give us $100,000 and we will not protest."

* * *

The government attorney said the prosecution would produce witnesses who were present at meetings when the defendants allegedly conspired to promote rioting and told large crowds to arm themselves and to resist police, city officials and National Guardsmen.

* * *

In his opening defense statement, Kunstler said: "The evidence in this case will show that police embarked on a conspiracy of berserk, brutal action . . . that the real conspiracy in this case was a conspiracy to curtail and prevent the protest against the war in Vietnam."

* * *

During the noon recess, 1,000 persons gathered in Federal Building Plaza for a rally by Students for a Democratic Society.

SDS OFFICIAL ARRESTED

Bernardine Dohrn, an SRS national field secretary, was arrested and charged with battery and mob action in connection with the clash between demonstrators and police on Wednesday when the trial began.

* * *

Larry Weiss, 21, and Leonard Handlesman, 23, both Chicago members of the SDS National Action Committee planning antiwar demonstrations next month, also were arrested. They were charged with aggravated battery and mob action.

* * *

Defendants in addition to Dellinger; Davis, an antiwar organizer; Rubin, 31, a Youth International party - Yippie - leader; and Hoffman, 31, also a Yippie leader from New York; are Bobby G. Seale, 32, chairman of the Black Panther party from Oakland, Calif.; John R. Froines, 30, University of Oregon chemistry professor, Eugene, Ore.; Thomas E. Hayden, 30, an SDS founder; and Lee Weiner, 29, a Northwestern University sociology assistant from Chicago.

IT'S SHEER NONSENSE — Bearded Lee Weiner and Abbie Hoffman are wrapped in white paper as a supporter. Dick O'Brien, wields a pair of scissors in a mock effort to prune some of their helter-skelter locks. This scene took place in front of the Federal Building in Chicago yesterday where they are on trial with six others on charges of conspiring to incite mob action during the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

REMOVED FROM SCENE — A youth is taken from the scene of a demonstration near the Federal Building in Chicago yesterday where construction workers confronted a group demonstrating against the trial of eight persons charged with conspiring to incite mob action during the past Democratic Convention. Construction workers marched to the Federal Building from the U.S. Customs House where a hearing is in progress concerning alleged discrimination in building trades on federal housing projects.

Appeal to Whites in Chicago

Workers Urged to End Protest

CHICAGO (AP) — Contractors and union leaders appealed to white construction workers Friday night to end demonstrations over Labor Department hearings on alleged job discrimination and return to work.

A construction industry spokesman said the decision was reached in a closed-door meeting after a second day of sporadic clashes between white workers, other demonstrators and police in and near the downtown area.

* * *

At the same three-hour session, the spokesman said, contractors' representatives also decided to attempt to arrange a weekend meeting with what he termed "responsible spokesmen" of the Negro community.

He said such a meeting would work toward settlement of the jobs dispute which simmered and flared most of the past summer and reached a climax with the government hearings this week.

DISCRIMINATION CHARGED

Blacks, through the Coalition for United Community Action, charge they are discriminated against by contractors and the Chicago Building Trades Council in training and hiring Negroes in the construction industry.

Several clashes developed Friday, one in front of the U.S. Customs House, where the hearing is being held. It began when the Rev. Jesse Jackson, head of Operation Breadbasket, the job-seeking arm of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, appeared to testify.

* * *

A construction worker's hard hat was hurled at Jackson and seven off-duty Negro policemen who escorted him.

Nine workers were arrested and charged on counts ranging from disorderly conduct to resisting arrest.

'UNDER THREATS'

At the hearing, Jackson testified that he and other members of the coalition had been under "threats of bomb and ambush" all day and added, "We have been as nonviolent as can be.

"Taxpayers have lost more than $30 billion since 1958 on welfare while unions produced discontent and kept us from supporting ourselves," Jackson said.

* * *

The hearing, being conducted by Arthur Fletcher, assistant secretary of labor, and other Labor Department officials, is investigating charges of racial discrimination in hiring of workers on federally financed projects.

Bridge Bids Due

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department will take bids in mid-1971 on a bridge to carry traffic on U.S. 2 over the Sturgeon River near Nahma Junction in Delta County. The bridge will be constructed immediately south of the present span at a cost estimated at $362,000.

Sales Setup Eyed

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's Better Business Bureau is investigating a magazine sales crew of the Universal Readers Service. The bureau said it has "received reports that salesmen have used "student" and "handicap" approaches while selling. Neither approach is illegal, but they are contrary to a sales code most agencies observe.

Lightning isn't supposed to strike twice in the same place but we do know of a duplicate expert who worked two Vienna Coups against the same victims in two different tournaments.

The perpetrator of these coups did so under two names. The first time she was Ruth Farnham of Stamford, Conn. She married Gordon Gibson of the same town recently and executed the second coup while Gordon was dummy.

* * *

Gordon's one-club opening was minimum indeed and Ruth had visions of a grand slam but settled for six no-trump when she found that a king was missing.

Offhand, it appears that seven clubs would be a better contract, since a ruff of a spade would yield a 13th trick but the 5-1 club break would take care of that grand slam.

There are 12 top tricks at no-trump and a simple way to go after the 13th. South can take a diamond finesse.

Ruth decided that the Vienna Coup was better percentage. She started her campaign by running off her five heart tricks and discarding a spade and diamond from dummy. Then she cashed the ace and king of spades to see if the queen would be kind enough to drop.

* * *

The lady failed to put in her appearance, so Ruth ran off dummy's clubs. The fourth club lead left Ruth with the ace and queen of diamonds. West had to blank his king in order to retain the queen of spades.

Ruth finally led a diamond from dummy. She studied awhile and then decided to make sure of her small slam by playing the ace. The king appeared and she had an overtrick and a top score.

A—Bid five no-trump. This is the so-called grand slam force. Your partner has shown the ace of spades and good diamonds. You want him to bid seven if the diamonds are solid.

Fine for collecting antiques, art objects. Moon-Saturn conjunction in Taurus accentuates cycle which causes great numbers of persons to reflect on the past. Revival of sentimental items would be considered "in" thing.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Costs for completion of pet project may appear high today. But key is to obtain quality. Compare prices. Don't attempt to substitute for genuine article.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Added responsibility indicated. Some of the past catches up—you are called upon to make long-range decision. Look ahead. Decide to move with the tide.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): What you fear comes into open. You may find that your approximations are grievances. Cooperate with members of fraternal organization. Visit one confined to home. Rewards.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Some friends may appear to be heavyhanded. Key is to retain your sense of humor. You eventually get what you want. But patience today is a requisite.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): What was delayed in past must now be confronted. Have frank talk with one who has much to do with your activities. Spiritual counsel today proves a boon.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Hold off on journey. There are responsibilities closer in home which demand attention. Solid gain shown if you communicate desires. Member of opposite sex wants to aid.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Don't play games with money which does not belong to you. Your security depends upon willingness to accept advice from one with experience. Play it cool. You have time—it's on your side.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You are called to task by one who feels you have debt to pay. Be reasonable. Realize some, including yourself, may be subject to illusions. Study LIBRA message. Be analytical.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Some past commitments come to fore. You cannot abuse one department of life without paying in another area. Think about this—and begin to mature.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Some hard facts about children, others you are emotionally involved with, are spotlighted. Welcome challenge and truth. You lose something, but gain much. Think.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You find out where you stand in property matters, home, emotional security. New outlook occurs. One who seemed not to care does about face. You have new hope.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You may find it more profitable to stay put. Means don't scatter forces, what you seek is close at hand. Not necessary to run hither and yon. Concentrate.

MENU TIP: Mushroom Antipasto Salad—I head Boston lettuce, 6 each ¼-inch slices tomato; 10 large mushrooms, thinly sliced; 2 zucchini, thinly sliced; salt; Italian dressing. Arrange cups from outer leaves of lettuce on 4 salad plates. Shred remaining lettuce and make a bed in lettuce cups. Place tomato slices in center and top with mushroom slices. Arrange zucchini as a border to the tomatoes in overlapping rows. Sprinkle with salt, then with Italian dressing. That's cooking with astrology.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Take time to analyze money proposal. Those who advocate get-rich-quick ideas may not have all facts. Use your own initiative. Be a self-starter. There's need to profit.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Cycle high. But there is danger that you could be misquoted. Some friends are overly enthusiastic—could make rash claims on your behalf. Check statements, legal documents.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Many seem to be amused by what seriously concerns you. Obvious message is that you may be boxing shadows. Join in the fun. There is no real need for fear.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Romantic ideas may be subject to revision. What was subtle or secret is revealed. Your attitude changes. Key is to be practical. Don't deceive yourself.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Conflict could exist between desire and duty. Do what you have promised. Those who nag for another direction may not be fully informed. Stick to principles; stand tall.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Adjustment in domestic area is necessary. Holding grudge is foolish. Make concession; strive for harmony at home. Surprise gift could be feature of day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You may be handed a hot financial potato. Means be wary of one who seems to be giving you something for nothing. Let common sense rule. Separate fact from fancy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You are in no position to press for issues. Key is to be patient. Permit others to take initiative. Stress on marriage partnership areas. Don't ask for more than you can handle.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You won't be handed anything on silver platter. But you can move in right direction. Key is to follow intuitive feelings. Check behind the scenes. You can discover valuable secret.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 19): Follow your own convictions in matters of speculation. Experts may not be able to pinpoint some changes. Qualities needs. Throw off old fears, doubts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Be receptive. What you need comes to you, if you force issues, you defeat your own purpose. Accent on basic issues which seem to be elusive.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Some long-range plans are not practical. Do some revisewing. Key is to be versatile. Don't feel there is only one method. There are alternatives—and a relative proves helpful.

IF MONDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are intuitive, artistic—your need for self-expression can find no substitute. You currently feel needed, but also hampered. You soon will be given chance to fly on your own.

39,856 '69 Opels Recalled by GM

FLINT (AP) — General Motors announced Friday it is recalling 39,856 1969 model Opel Kadetts because of a defective seat-back mechanism which can result in seats shifting suddenly backward.

A spokesman for Buick Motor Division, which sells the German-built cars, said the recall involves all Opels built between November 1968 and April 1969. He said the recalled cars made up about 40 per cent of Opel's 1969 American sales.

GM said it was asking owners to bring the cars to Buick dealers for correction of the seat-back adjustment mechanism.

Parents of 7 Found Dead

ROCKWOOD (AP)—The mother and father of seven children were found shot to death today in their Rockwood apartment in what Wayne County Medical Examiner Robert J. Hindman ruled murder and suicide.

* * *

Mrs. Joan Bellman, '35, was shot twice with a 12-gauge shotgun and her husband, George F., 41, once with the same weapon. Hindman ruled the husband's death suicide.

* * *

Their seven children range in age from 5 to 16.

By 1985 our population is expected to grow a third.

Lifesaving Efforts Misinterpreted

Crowd in Denver Pelts Police

DENVER (UPI) — Police officers trying to save a man's life were surrounded by a crowd and pelted with stones and bottles last night.

Fourteen officers were treated in Denver hospitals and one person was arrested.

* * *

A policeman said 50 or 60 persons gathered at the scene of an accident in West Denver until dispersed by tear gas.

GOT OUT OF CAR

Patrolman Michael G. Kunz said the incident started after an officer applied heart massage to a man involved in an auto accident in which one of the cars was believed stolen.

Kunz said a man identified only as Frank Hill got out of one car and then fell in the middle of the street. Patrolman Robert Mosier began heart massage.

Kunz said some persons in the small crowd apparently thought Mosier was beating Hill, who later was treated at a Denver hospital and then released.

* * *

A youth in the crowd surrounding Mosier and Hill kicked Mosier in the arm, Kunz said. Mosier was taken to a Denver hospital with injuries to his left hand, arm and shoulder.

Kunz said he and Patrolman Richard W. Thompson arrested a youth and took him to their patrol car and the crowd then gathered there.

DARTED INTO CROWD

Kunz said the youth, who said he was a member of the Brown Berets, a Mexican American militant group, leaped from the car and darted into the crowd.

Four policemen went after him and the crowd started hitting them and throwing things, Kunz said. Police officers managed to pull the youth from the crowd and put him back into the patrol car.

* * *

Two patrol cars on the way to the disturbance crashed and one of two paddy wagons summoned struck a private vehicle, police said. Several other cars were damaged by the debris hurled at officers.

Police identified the person arrested as Ronnie Lee Freyta, 18, of Denver.

RNA Official Denies Link to School Strife

DETROIT (AP)—The Midwest regional vice president of the black Separatist Republic of New Africa (RNA) has denied that his group either "caused or promoted" the recent racial fighting in Detroit schools.

* * *

Richard Henry, who calls himself Brother Imari, told a Friday news conference the disorders "have their roots in racist courts. . . brutal white police and insensitive, insulting teachers and administrators."

* * *

Henry was responding to Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh's assertion that "the pied pipers of separatism" were the cause of trouble at schools on the city's northwest side.

Henry said he was present during the trouble Tuesday at Mumford High School, where his daughter is a student. He said he went there only after RNA member students asked him for help in stopping other black students, not RNA members, from attacking whites.

Bicycle-Auto Accident Claims 3rd Child Victim

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI) — Little Debra Mitchelson joined two friends in death today, five and one-half days after they were run down by a teen-age motorist as they bicycled near their homes.

* * *

Debra, 9, died at 6 a.m. in St. Joseph Hospital, where she had been in critical condition since the accident last Sunday evening.

Andrea Tranchan, '10, was killed instantly when the car struck the three little girls. Renee Raskin, 7, died Tuesday.

Police said they were pedaling their bikes on the shoulder of Garvin Road in Clinton Township when a car driven by James Hench, 18, Mount Clemens, veered off the road and struck them.

* * *

Hench stood mute Monday to a charge of involuntary manslaughter in Andrea's death. District Court Judge Hunter Stair freed him on $5,000 bond pending a preliminary examination next month.

The girls all lived in suburban Clinton Township.

Teacher Strike in Plymouth Is Settled

PLYMOUTH (AP) — The Plymouth Community School teacher strike was settled early today when teachers ratified a new two-year contract with the school board., a spokesman for the Plymouth Education Association announced.

Agreement was reached on a pact after a marathon bargaining session and teachers voted to approve the contract shortly after its terms were announced.

* * *

The action ends a strike which kept 5,200 pupils and 175 teachers out of classrooms for nearly one month.

The new contract calls for a pay scale in the first year ranging from $7,500 for starting teachers to $13,800 for experienced teachers with master's degrees. In the second year of the contract, the scale will range from $8,075 to $14,939.

* * *

The education association spokesman said the contract also includes a binding arbitration clause which had been sought by the teachers.

A Star Cadillac Salesman Now a Star on TV Show

By EARL WILSON

HONOLULU—We New York visitors all had orchid leis around our necks over our Aloha shirts and were trying to think Hawaiian, Waikiki, Diamond Head . . . and everything but poi.

But sitting next to me was Jack Lord, star of the CBS TV show "Hawaii Five-O," sorry he had to get away from this special dinner at The Willows because he had to be up at 4 o'clock . . . and he was trying to think Brooklyn and Broadway.

"Did you know I was a hell of a Cadillac salesman at 57th and Broadway about 1956 and sold Frank Costello three Cadillacs in one day?" he asked me.

"I was making $18,000 a year as a salesman and I went to this dame here"—his wife, Marie deNarde, a former fashion designer, next to him—"and told her I wanted to go into acting. She said 'Go.'

* * *

"And my income dropped to $1,100 a year."

* * *

He was about 26 but he'd loved Cadillacs—and Dusenbergs—and "as a salesman, I had studied people's shoes and clothing."

to wear out, than rust out, ya!

FCC Member Cites Lack of Prime-Time Public-Affairs Shows

DETROIT (AP) — Nicholas Johnson, a member of the Federal Communications Commission, told broadcast news directors Friday his major complaint with television is the lack of public affairs broadcasting during prime time, not with regularly scheduled news programs.

★ ★ ★

"Management has the power, if it wishes to use it, to abuse the medium for its economic interest," Johnson said, and added this has been done on past occasions.

★ ★ ★

He spoke to 350 news directors at the 24th International Conference of the Radio-Television News Directors Association.

"Ninety per cent of what I am complaining about is not news, it's during prime time," Johnson said. "You cannot discuss major issues in a 1½-minute clip on the evening news."

EXTREMELY CRITICAL

Johnson, the youngest commissioner on the FCC, has been extremely critical in past months of what he terms "media barons" for controlling programming to gain economic benefit.

★ ★ ★

Johnson called for more documentaries during prime time in his speech, saying present documentaries are not fulfilling the need "to give the people the news they must have.

"The American people are capable of taking much more than is provided," Johnson told the broadcasters. He added, "I've seen a policy change overnight because of a 90-second clip on the evening news."

★ ★ ★

At a news conference following his address, Johnson said "each network-affiliated station would be better serving the public if they would spend one-third of their time" on news and public affairs programs. Johnson closed with a parting shot at broadcast management saying "man cannot live by profit alone."

State Trying to Eliminate No-Work Job

LANSING (UPI) — State officials are pondering how to eliminate a job from Michigan's payroll which requires no work but pays a salary of $5,500 a year.

The job is commissioner of the court of claims, but there's been no work for the post since 1962 when the statute of limitations ended on disputed claims for the Korean War bonus payment to veterans.

★ ★ ★

Auditor General Albert Lee, who has complained about the no-work position for more than two years, reported that two Lansing lawyers were paid a total of $35,408 for their non-services in the post in the past seven years.

★ ★ ★

Thomas G. McGurrin, who collected $28,427 of the money before resigning the post last March, said he advised the Senate Business Committee of the no-work situation when his nomination was being considered in 1962.

'STATUTORY'

"But they said it was a statutory job to be filled and I was it," he said.

McGurrin said it was also suggested since he had five children, "you can use the money."

★ ★ ★

McGurrin, appointed to the position six years ago by then Gov. George Romney, succeeded Bruce S. King who collected $6,980 during his 15 months as commissioner.

★ ★ ★

The post has been vacant since McGurrin's resignation.

★ ★ ★

A bill to abolish the job passed the Senate last year, but died in the House Judiciary Committee.

★ ★ ★

Gov. William G. Milliken's legal staff is now checking to see what can be done "to rectify the situation."

Cavanagh May Oppose Sen. Griffin

DETROIT (UPI) — Jerome P. Cavanagh, who is stepping down as mayor of Detroit, has indicated he is thinking about running for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Republican Robert Griffin of Michigan.

"I still, you know, harbor the thought that it might be an interesting race to make," Cavanagh said yesterday while taping a show to be aired over WJR Radio of Detroit tonight.

★ ★ ★

"But you know, I'm not saying that I'm planning on this," Cavanagh told interviewer Dave Taylor when asked who the Democrats could put up against Griffin in 1972.

Cavanagh said polls in 1966 showed he could have beaten Griffin, who last Wednesday was elected Republican whip of the Senate.

'SPURS GOVERNOR

"And having done that once and gotten almost close to running against him, you know, this sort of spurs a person to think about the possibilities of running against the same man in 1972," Cavanagh said.

★ ★ ★

When Griffin won the Senate seat in 1966, Cavanagh lost to former Gov. G. Mennen Williams in the Democratic primary which decided which of them would oppose Griffin.

PRINCESSES OF EAST, WEST — Princess Margaret (left) of Great Britain formally opens the "British Week in Japan" earlier this week in Tokyo at the National Theater. Seated next to her is Japanese Princess Chichibu.

By the Associated Press

British Week in Japan was in full swing today with Princess Margaret visiting British displays in department stores and jam-packed London doubledecker buses crawling through Tokyo traffic.

At the stores, the princess looked over special exhibits on British history and culture.

At one store, two animated models of British palace guards continually snapped to attention and saluted as she and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon, passed. Everywhere, store clerks either stood at attention or bowed deeply when the princess appeared.

The British government and British industry combined have invested $1.2 million in the big culture and trade exhibit, aimed at boosting exports to Japan from about $228 million last year to $300 million this year.

The British Royal couple arrived in Tokyo a week ago. They leave Monday for London.

Actor Stewart to Receive Dead Stepson's Medal

Actor James Stewart and his wife will be presented Monday with the Silver Star medal awarded posthumously to the actor's stepson, Marine 1st Lt. Ronald McLean.

The ceremony will be conducted at the Marine Corps Air Station at El Toro, Calif.

McLean, who died last June 8, was cited for heroism displayed while leading a six-man reconnaissance team in Vietnam.

Stewart and his wife, Gloria, have twin daughters by their marriage.

Astronauts Say Thanks for Spaceship

Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong's face was smeared with lipstick marks as he emerged from a cheering throng of 5,000 employes at the North American Rockwell plant at Downey, Calif.

Armstrong and fellow Apollo 11 astronaut Michael Collins thanked the employes yesterday for building the spacecraft which rocketed them to the moon.

Later, Armstrong and Collins speculated that future space voyages might be international ventures—possibly even with Russians and Americans in the same crew. However, they said, language would be a problem.

Quipped Armstrong: "I have some difficulty communicating with Mike."

Seen as Big Political Gun

Hawaii GOP Eyes Actor

HONOLULU (AP) — Actor Richard Boone is packing his political guns but isn't ready yet to travel down Hawaii's campaign trail.

"I'm not sure I want to be governor," he said. "It would mean a big change in our lives, not to mention the money."

But Boone's recent disclosure that he may enter the 1970 gubernatorial race on the Republican ticket has generated a lot of talk among Republicans, who have been out of power here since 1954.

One party leader calls Boone "the only hope of the Republican party in Hawaii."

AVID FISHERMAN

And a local radio station said 75 per cent of the listeners responding to a telephone poll indicated they would vote for the actor.

Boone, 52, an avid deep sea fisherman, came to Hawaii from California six years ago as a permanent resident and maintains homes on the islands of Oahu and Hawaii.

The onetime star of television's "Have Gun, Will Travel" says people have been asking him to run for governor "ever since I got off the plane."

Boone has been active in community affairs and youth programs and worked in the Nixon presidential campaign, but has never sought office.

DEM GOVERNOR

State Sen. D. Hebden Porteus, the only other apparent GOP hopeful, is unannounced. Democratic Gov. John A. Burns is expected to seek a third term.

Hoyt Kelley, unsuccessful candidate for the state GOP chairmanship earlier this year, is among Boone's principal supporters.

★ ★ ★

"I've told Dick I would support him if he would announce," Kelley said. "This is the only hope for the Republican party in Hawaii—something like Dick."

Boone's emergence as a possible political figure is being taken seriously by the local press.

AVOIDS COMMENT

Boone avoids comment of the performance as governor of another former actor, Ronald Reagan, but Boone says, "I think he certainly is going to be reelected."

Should he choose to run for governor, Boone said, he would view education and planning as major campaign issues.

RICHARD BOONE

"When you go out and talk with a high school graduate who can't read, write or speak English," he said, "then you know he has been gypped. His parents have been gypped. The taxpayers have been gypped."

★ ★ ★

Boone thinks the islands can be developed without losing their charm and that the state should not put all its economic eggs into the tourist basket.

Hearing Is Slated

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's school board has scheduled the first of a series of public hearings on school decentralization for Tuesday afternoon at the Schools Center Building. The city is to be split into between 7 and 11 regional districts by Jan. 30, 1970.

Black Airline to Charge Riders Penny a Pound

DETROIT (AP)—For paying your weight in pennies, you can take a ride on Detroit's first black-owned and operated airline beginning today.

Aero Services Inc., owned by James Edwards, a former Air Force pilot, offers Detroiters sight-seeing flights over the city. The tickets cost one cent a pound per person.

★ ★ ★

Edwards, 29, flew jet trainers and fighters for the Air Force but says he has been unable to get a job with a commercial airline since leaving the service six years ago.

He has worked as an insurance agent, a factory representative and in personnel work.

★ ★ ★

His dream came true when he was able to organize 25 investors and create Aero Services. The firm owns two small planes and has four others available on a lease basis.

And Football, Too

Week of Kickoffs, Returns

The television story again this week is told in a couple of key words:

Kickoff and return.

★ ★ ★

Another flock of shows is kicking off on TV for the first time. Also following the form of the last couple weeks, a number of programs return with new seasons.

And of course there is enough football on the air to give the term "kickoff return" a well-worn familiarity with viewers.

22ND SEASON

The granddaddy of the programs starting another season is the Ed Sullivan Show, beginning its 22nd. Red Skelton and Barbra Streisand are among the guests.

SULLIVAN

Other shows beginning new seasons are Lassie, Sunday at 7 p.m. on Channel 2 (16th season); Lawrence Welk, Saturday at 8:30 p.m. on Channel 7 (15th); Front Page Challenge, Monday at 9 p.m. on Channel 9 (13th); Jackie Gleason, Saturday at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 2 (8th); Petticoat Junction, Saturday at 9:30 p.m. on Channel 2 (7th); Green Acres, Saturday at 9 p.m. on Channel 2 (5th); Mission Impossible, Sunday at 10 p.m. on Channel 2 (4th) and Mannix, Saturday at 10 p.m. on Channel 2.

★ ★ ★

The seven nighttime shows making their debuts this week include To Rome With Love, Sunday at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 2; Leslie Uggams, Sunday at 9 p.m. on Channel 2; The Survivors, Monday at 9 p.m. on Channel 7; Love, American Style, Monday at 10 p.m. on Channel 7; Making Things Grow, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 56; Free Play, Wednesday at 8 p.m. on Channel 56 and Thursday Night, dealing with Canadian international topics, at 9 p.m. on Channel 9.

Football's Saturday offering is the University of Washington at Michigan at 1:45 p.m. on Channel 7. Sunday the NFL pro games pit Cleveland and Washington at 12:30 p.m. on Channel 2 and AFL action pits Oakland and Boston at 12:30 p.m. and New York and San Diego at 3 p.m., both on Channel 4.

PEANUTS SPECIAL

Topping the specials this week is the Peanuts offering featured on our cover. "It Was a Short Summer, Charlie Brown," will be shown tonight at 8:30 on Channel 2.

Other specials include "Tame the Wind," Sunday at 9 p.m. on Channel 9; Mariposa Folk Festival, Sunday at 8 p.m. on Channel 9; The 91st Day, Tuesday at 9:30 p.m. on Channel 56; and The River That Came Back, Thursday at 3:30 p.m. on Channel 56.

★ ★ ★

Most interesting of the movies this week may be "The Immortal," made for TV this year, exploring immortality and its consequences. A test driver possesses blood that grants immunity to aging and disease. It is presented Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. on Channel 7.

No buts about it, this team of high school girls from North Adams, Mass., was well suited for the occasion. Despite their assets, the team lost. However, the girls vowed to get to the bottom of their problem by the time next year's match rolls around.

Large U.S. Pullout in '70 Seen by Thieu

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu indicated today that a large number of American troops could be withdrawn from Vietnam in 1970 beyond the 60,000 already ordered redeployed this year.

NGUYEN VAN THIEU

Thieu told a news conference in Vung Tau that the South Vietnamese armed forces plan to increase strength by 150,000 to 200,000 men next year.

He said, however, that before more American troops can leave the United States must meet the South Vietnamese armed forces requirements for "material, funds and a reasonable time for training and leadership."

★ ★ ★

Thieu told a news conference in Vung Tau that he would ask President Nixon soon how many more troops the United States wants to withdraw next year. He said he would try to meet Nixon's wishes.

MUM OF FIGURE

Thieu did not disclose how many American troops could be withdrawn next year. However, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said last week that 150,000 to 200,000 American troops could be withdrawn by the end of 1970.

High South Vietnam sources have been reported as saying that present plans call for the replacement of U.S. forces in their country to be completed by the end of 1972, although some American troops still would be required after that date.

The South Vietnamese estimate appeared to cover a longer period of time than President Nixon had in mind when he told a news conference yesterday he is trying to end the war before the close of 1970 or the middle of 1971.

The South Vietnam officials are programming a buildup of their regular army, together with regional and provincial forces, to a total of 953,000 men by the end of 1972.

COMBAT SUPPORT

Their plans, however, would call for American units to continue supplying not only logistic support, but combat support as well, from infantry units, B52 bombers and helicopter gunships.

The first round of U.S. troop withdrawals, 25,000 men, was completed last August. The second round, which will number 35,000 troops and be completed by Dec. 15, began six days ago. The current pullout, ordered Sept. 16, will cut the authorized ceiling of U.S. troops in Vietnam to 484,000.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile the U.S. Command reported that American battlefield deaths in Vietnam so far this year total 8,185 — a 33 per cent decrease from the corresponding 38-week period of 1968.

This is an average of 215 deaths a week.

★ ★ ★

Last year, the command said, 12,214 Americans were killed, or an average of 321 deaths a week.

PCH to Be Closed Monday

Pontiac Central High School will be closed Monday.

★ ★ ★

That decision was made by school administrators late yesterday in the wake of student unrest which boiled over into several fist fights at the school, in which four students were injured and three arrested.

Pontiac Northern High School and Madison Junior High, which were closed yesterday following similar student unrest Thursday, will be open for classes Monday.

★ ★ ★

Central's Principal Garth Errington said that he and his administrative staff will meet with selected students, parents and the faculty Monday to work on a comprehensive program in an attempt to insure the complete safety of any youngster attending school on Tuesday.

START OF TROUBLE

Yesterday's demonstration and student-to-student confrontations started about 8:15 a.m. when five young black men, estimated to be in their early 20s, ran through a school hallway striking two white Central students.

"The young men were not from Central, and I did not see any of them again during the day. At least two of the men had on shirts inscribed with 'Black Disciples'," Errington said.

★ ★ ★

They ran from the building after hitting the Central students, Errington said.

"This started the milling-around process. When the opening bell rang, about 1,600 students went to their classrooms while about 100 continued to roam the halls," he said.

ASENTEE RATE

The 2,250-student school, about 40 per cent black, had an absentee rate yesterday of about 300-400 students, only about 100 above normal, Errington said.

Many parents apparently kept their children at home yesterday in anticipation of trouble at Central after Northern High School had closed early Thursday. Fights between black and white students at Northern injured at least two Thursday.

Errington estimated that at the peak of yesterday's milling-around at Central, during which adjacent streets were closed off, there were only about 300 black and 200 white students involved.

He added that many in the milling crowd were not Central High students. "One man was identified as being from Oxford," he said.

LEADERS PRAISED

Other Central students either stayed in their classes or went home when parents called for them, he said.

Errington praised white and black community leaders who arrived on the scene to talk to the youngsters.

"They offered some very fine assistance to us on a voluntary basis—none were called," he said.

Errington had asked that Central remain open when plans were made Thursday night to close Northern and adjoining Madison Junior High School so administrators could discuss the problem with parents and to allow for a "cooling-off" of students.

BLAMES OUTSIDERS

"I feel confident that the school day would have been run smoothly had it not been for the five outsiders who caused the early morning disruption," Errington said.

Although fights broke out between black and white students he said, black students often defended white students from other blacks and vice versa.

He said community leaders indicated to him that they felt little racial tension — that the situation yesterday had more of a carnival atmosphere.

Washington and Eastern Junior high schools also closed early yesterday afternoon — but not because of any disturbances.

'FELT NO RACIAL TENSION'

"I let the youngsters go home for lunch and stay there, because some of the high school students from Central and Northern were around the building. I felt no racial tension here. The kids were excited over their student council election today," Eastern Principal Orlando Burton said yesterday.

"Groups of both black and white high school students milled around Washington, but there was no problem," said Schools Assistant Supt. Richard Fell who was at the school.

Most of the Washington students were bused home from school in the early afternoon, no matter where they lived, Fell said.

He praised black community leaders Albert Munson and Kenneth Walker for their help in disbanding the high school students milling around Washington.

Clarkston Teachers to Strike Monday

Members of the Clrkston Education Association at a general session last night voted 169-12 to "withheld their services as of Monday . . . in light of the school board's refusal to accept a state fact-finder's report," according to Tom Brown, CEA president.

★ ★ ★

"Clarkston teachers have been working without a contract since Sept. 2. The CEA accepted the fact-finder's recommendation concerning a contract settlement more than a week ago," Brown said.

★ ★ ★

He said teachers felt the fact-finder's report was fair and equitable since a state-appointed officer would have no reason to jeopardize the board's position.

Clarkston Schools Assistant Supt. Floyd Vincent said the school board accepted the teachers' work calendar following the fact-finding, but would allow only one personal day off rather than the two asked by the CAA.

SALARY OFFER

Vincent said the salary offered by the board ranges fsom $7,325 to $12,550, which is about $200,000 more than the estimated income for nextcyear, but about $80,000 less than the salaries asked by CEA.

He said the board's proposed salary schedule is in line with five area districts with similar tax bases — Brandon, Holly, Milford, Lake Orion and Oxford.

"Competitively, I feel the board's offer is not out of line," Vincent said.

He said that the Clarkston School Board and the district's principals will meet tomorrow morning to discuss seps to take concerning the teachers' contract.

The strike would affect 260 teachers in the district, but not all of the teachers are CEA members.

Barbara Fails in Freedom Bid

Reputed Mafia leader Joseph Barbara Jr. lost a bid yesterday to gain his freedom from prison while he appeals his conviction on a charge of extorting money from the wife of an underworld informer.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan Court of Appeals yesterday refused to overrule Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem and grant Barbara his release from the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson.

★ ★ ★

Barbara, 33, of Fraser, was sentenced to a 7-to-20-year prison term on Sept. 19 for extorting $4,000 and a diamond ring from Mrs. Delores Lazaros, wife of former Mafia moneyman Peter Lazaros of 2410 Dalesford, Troy.

★ ★ ★

It is expected that Barbara's attorney, Ivan Barris of Detroit, will now ask the Michigan Supreme Court to grant bail to Barbara. Barbara had been free on $50,000 bond from his arrest to his sentencing.

Arab-Israeli Talks Out, Says Egyptian

From Our News Wires

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad said today he told the United States that direct Arab-Israeli peace negotiations were unacceptable.

Riad said in Cairo he told the United States such direct negotiations would amount to "an Arab surrender to Israel."

★ ★ ★

The Arab diplomat, who has just returned from the United Nations, said he did not even ask U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers about the American viewpoint on the matter. "It seems pretty clear to us," he said.

ARAB DEMANDS

Riad said he told Rogers there were three prerequisites, as far as the Arabs are concerned, for peace in the Middle East:

- Withdrawal of Israeli forces from all Arab lands seized in the June 1967, war.

★ ★ ★

- Enforcement of U.N. resolutions which would guarantee Palestinians the right to either return to their homes or get financial compensation.
- Guarantees by the U.N. Security Council for peace and security in the Middle East by enforcing all provisions of its Nov. 22, 1967, resolution.

WORTHWHILE

At the United Nations, meanwhile, Rogers and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko are finding enough worthwhile in their Mideast talks to meet once more privately before they leave New York.

The Middle East situation dominated their 3¼-hour dinner dicussion last night. It was supposed to be their second and last meeting during the U.N's fall session.

But with more ground to cover on guidelines toward an Arab-Israeli settlement, plus other unfinished business, the two men agreed on a third meeting expected to be held Tuesday.

Rogers told newsmen "I'm not discouraged" by the Mideast discussion so far, but refused to say more than, "We hope that progress can be made."

Both Vietnam and Communist China were also discussed U.S. officials said.

Gromyko in addition pressed Rogers for freedom for Soviet vessels to sail into U.S. East Coast ports as they now do on the West Coast.

Alleged Beret Spy Killer Named

SAIGON (AP) — The Army disclosed more details of its murder and conspiracy case against six Green Beret officers today, naming a 27-year-old intelligence specialist as the triggerman in the execution of a reported Vietnamese spy.

Against strong objections from defense attorneys that it would prejudice the case, military officials made public the charge in which all six men are accused of plotting and carrying out the slaying last June 20.

★ ★ ★

The documents named Capt. Thomas Francis Marasco, 27, of Bloomfield, N.J., as the man who fired the pistol shot that killed Thai Khac Chuyen after it was discovered that he was a double agent working for the North Vietnamese as well as for the Americans.

★ ★ ★

The three top-ranking officers in the case—Col. Robert B. Rheault, 43, of Vineyard Haven, Mass., former commander of the 3,000 Special Forces troops in Vietnam, and Majors Thomas C. Middleton Jr., 29, of Jefferson, S.C. and David E. Crew, 33, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa—were accused of the murder even though the charges said they did not have a part in the actual killing.

Their trial awaits the outcome of the general court-matrial, now scheduled for Oct. 20, in which Marasco and Capts. Leland J. Brumley, 27, of Duncan, Okla., and Budge E. Williams, 27, of Athens, Ga., face similar charges.

No charge sheets were issued for CWO2 Edward M. Boyle of New York City, or Sgt. 1.c. Alvin L. Smith Jr. of Naples, Fla.

★ ★ ★

According to military sources, the two have been declared immune from the original charges so that they may testify against the six officers. If they don't, they face possible five-year jail terms.

'CARRIED VICTIM'

Boyle, however, was named in the accusations against the others—his part in the incident being that "in order to effect the object of the conspiracy," he allegedly helped Brumley carry the victim to a boat at Nha Trang, the Special Forces, coastal headquarters 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

Brumley is alleged to have given the doomed man a shot of morphine, after which Marasco, the charges said, "did shoot Thai Khac Chuyen with a pistol."

Chuyen's body then allegedly was weighted with chains in a sack and dumped in the South China Sea. A search was conducted in July and August but no body was recovered.

U-M Protesters Call for Strike Monday

From Our News Wires

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Student-protesters yesterday called for a general student-faculty strike Monday in the wake of arrests of 103 persons evicted from a university building early yesterday.

The issue was whether a proposed campus bookstore will be operated under student control. University Regents have voted to establish one under administration control. Students say they fear it wouldn't give discounts.

The strike was proposed at a noon midcampus rally which attracted some 3,000 to 4,000. This was followed by a march to the Administration Building.

* * *

There Marty McLaughlin, 19-year-old Student Government Council President, demanded that Robben W. Fleming, university president, summons regents to an emergency meeting to create a student board of control for the proposed bookstore.

DEMANDS REJECTED

Fleming told a crowd which had dwindled to some 2,500 that the regents had rejected the student demands.

Whereupon, McLaughlin, from Arlington, Va., grabbed a microphone from Fleming and shouted: "Then we have no alternative but to strike."

* * *

The crowd then began to chant, "strike, strike, strike," and, with raised fists, marched out of the Administration Building.

The decision to call in police, Fleming said, "may destroy me, but it doesn't bother me. This may erode student confidence in me. Maybe somebody else could do a better job. If it means I have to go, that's all right."

In a front-page editorial, the Michigan Daily, the student newspaper, said, "We believe the reason for this tragedy lies squarely on the shoulders of Robben Fleming — his reliance on police action, his unwillingness to seriously negotiate student demands, his blatant, and baseless threats to students and faculty."

But Gov. William G. Milliken said, "We simply cannot allow the takeover of university or other public buildings. We cannot and we will not."

* * *

All but 15 to 20 of those arrested had furnished $25 bail and been released by midafternoon, and students were busily raising funds to effect release of the others.

* * *

Arraignment was due in Ann Arbor District Court Monday.

New Meeting on Telegraph Dilemma Set

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Bloomfield Township officials and representatives of the Michigan State Highway Department will hold another in a series of meetings concerning the Telegraph Road traffic dilemma in Lansing on Oct. 8.

Township officials have been urging an earlier starting date for the proposed widening project which is not set to begin until 1973-74 at the earliest.

* * *

The next meeting reportedly would involve a discussion with policy-making representatives of the highway department.

* * *

The highway department sent a group of nonpolicy-making personnel to hear complaints from politicians, citizens and township officials at a recent meeting at Township Hall.

* * *

The highway department has consistently maintained that it is impossible to move up the starting date because of a cutback in federal highway subsidies.

BIRMINGHAM — Frederick Pinis, 600 Pierce, has been listed in "Who's Who in American Education," a biographical directory of eminent public school educators.

* * *

Pinis is director of elementary education for the Warren Consolidated Schools. He was principal of Adams Elementary School in Birmingham from 1957-66.

* * *

The educator is past president of the Michigan Association of Elementary School Principals and was editor of the Michigan Elementary Principal for seven years.

* * *

Pinis has served on committees for the National Education Association of Elementary School Principals in Washington, D.C., and has written several articles in national and state publications as well as local newspapers.

The Birmingham Police Department has been authorized to continue its current means of enforcement regarding littering in Birmingham.

The present penalty for littering is a fine up to $500 and up to 90 days in jail.

* * *

A recommendation that the city post signs throughout Birmingham to publicize the littering problem was rejected by the City Commission on the basis that posting signs is a questionable practice.

The commissioners questioned the effectiveness of littering the city with signs that tell people not to litter.

Czech Cabinet Quits; Dubcek Regime Purged

VIENNA (AP) — The Czechoslovak federal government decided unanimously today to offer its resignation to President Ludvik Svoboda, the official news agency CTK said in a report heard here.

CTK said the ministers made the decision at a morning meeting presided over by federal Premier Oldrich Cernick.

The resignation of the Czechoslovak government came a few hours after the central committee of the Communist party ended a two-day meeting at which several party officials from the Alexander Dubcek regime were reported to have been purged.

The party reportedly made the Dubcek regime the scapegoat for the 1968 Soviet invasion.

The party central committee ended its probe into alleged errors of the past after approving a resolution "on organizational and personnel problems," a party statement over Radio Prague declared.

Names of those hit by the personnel shakeup will be announced tomorrow.

A minister of the Czech state government said there had been "sweeping personnel changes" in party and government and virtually confirmed that former party chief Dubcek had been downgraded again.

Dubcek remained a member of the party presidium after losing the first secretary post to Gustav Husak last April. The latest session apparently removed him from the 11-man presidium.

Dubcek, 47, led the 1968 campaign to give communism "a human face." For the past month he has been the target of an officially inspired press and radio campaign accusing him of policies that made the invasion inevitable.

Reports in Vienna said the resignation of the Czech federal cabinet would be followed by the resignation of the Czech and Slovak state governments.

Czechoslovakia became a federal state under a law which became effective Jan. 1, 1969, and gave both the Czech lands (Bohemia and Moravia) and Slovakia their own state cabinets.

CTK said President Svoboda received Premier Cernik who informed him of the government's decision to resign.

It added the president accepted the resignation and at the same time gave Cernik the task of forming a new government.

To Offer Resolution Seeking U.S. Pullout

24 in Congress Back Viet Protest

WASHINGTON — Two dozen Democrats in Congress are preparing to ally themselves with students in escalating the kind of Vietnam policy dissent which has drawn President Nixon's rebuke.

Twelve senators and 12 House members have agreed in general terms to support the plans of students for an Oct. 15 boycott of classes to protest the war.

The congressional dissenters agreed yesterday that on Oct. 8, one week before the student protest, they will propose a resolution seeking U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

One participant said the resolution would not set a flat deadline, but would advocate a systematic pullout.

Sens. Frank Church of Idaho and George S. McGovern of South Dakota, and Reps. John Brademas of Indiana and Morris K. Udall of Arizona are to draft the proposals.

An effort also is planned to get as many senators as possible onto speaking platforms Oct. 15.

Sen. Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., already has proposed legislation to put a Dec. 1, 1970, deadline on U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

President Nixon told a news conference yesterday that such cutoff proposals undercut and destroy the U.S. negotiating position.

Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, Democratic national chairman, called that statement "the same old thing we've heard before."

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, new Republican leader, praised the Nixon statement—even though the rebuke seemed aimed at least partly in his direction.

* * *

Scott has suggested half the U.S. forces be withdrawn by the end of 1970.

Several labor unions reportedly are considering brief walkouts Oct. 15 in sympathy with a nationwide Vietnam protest.

Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, was mentioned as being "interested in backing the protest. The unoin might stage one-to-three hours "walkoffs," one source said.

City Policemen Escape Ambush

Two patrolling Pontiac policemen escaped injury early today when they were ambushed by snipers on South Saginaw near Wilson.

Bullets punctured the scout car in two places and a shotgun blast shattered a rear side window. A front tire was also shot out.

* * *

Patrolman Robert Bates and Michael Miles said they were traveling south on Saginaw shortly before 2 a.m. when they heard 12 or more shots fired.

* * *

Bates, the driver, swerved the car, crossing the center line before stopping on the east side of the street.

SHELLS FOUND

Police said that the shots were fired from behind a barricade of old tires stacked up at the side of a gasoline station.

Several spent 7.62mm rifle casings and 12-gauge shotgun shells were found at the scene.

* * *

A witness told police that he had seen five or six black subjects take a rifle and a double-barreled shotgun from a car. Police have a description of the car.

* * *

Because of the rapid succession of the shots, police believe that the rifle may be an automatic weapon.

One of the bullets hit just within inches of where Bates was sitting.

IT'S APPALLING—Workmen had just finished pouring the concrete sidewalk in front of an Enid, Okla., store and looked back to admire their handiwork just in time to see a pack of dogs romp merrily through it. It meant more work for the crew and laughs for passing motorists.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Showers are forecast tonight for the Northwest and portions of the Northeast and Mideast. Cooler temperatures are expected in the Northeast and Northwest.

Medicare Bill Hiked for Aged

WASHINGTON (AP) — An aged person covered by Medicare who enters a hospital after Jan. 1 will have to pay the first $52 of his bill—an increase of $8.

The announcement Friday by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare came just a day after President Nixon asked Congress to increase Social Security benefits by 10 per cent beginning next April 1.

Instead of the present $44 of a hospital bill that must be paid by a Medicare recipient for hospitalization up to 60 days, the patient will have to pay $52 under the increase in the deductible.

From 60 to 90 days, the patient's share will rise from $11 to $13 of daily costs, and over 90 days the patient will pay $26 per day instead of the current $22.

The President also predicted there would be a "substantial increase" in the current $4 per month which beneficiaries must pay for supplementary medical benefits—helping pay doctor, ambulance, out-patient and other medical costs. The new supplementary rate must be set by Dec. 31 to go into effect next July 1.

In a year, nearly six million of the 20 million Medicare beneficiaries are admitted or readmitted to a hospital. Most are retired and would be eligible for the increased Social Security benefits proposed by Nixon.

The $52 deductible amount is aimed at making the Medicare recipient responsible for expenses equivalent to the average cost of one day in the hospital, said Social Security Commissioner Robert M. Ball. The average Medicare hospital stay now costs $700.

State, County to Weigh Telegraph Upgrade

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department has scheduled an Oct. 8 meeting with Oakland County legislators to discuss improvements on Telegraph Road. Sen. Robert Huber, R-Troy, said the road has a higher accident rate than other roads scheduled for rebuilding.

W. German Vote Tomorrow; Right-Wing Rally Disrupted

BONN (UPI) — West Germany's violent election campaign ended today, following a clash involving thousands of persons who fought with clubs and bottles to protest a right-wing rally in Nuernberg.

More than 33 million persons will vote tomorrow to fill 496 seats in the Bundestag, the lower house of parliament which chooses the president.

* * *

The main contenders were Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's ruling Christian Democrats and Foreign Minister Willy Brandt's Social Democrats.

More than 10,000 foes of Adolf von Thadden's National Democratic Party attacked his campaign finale rally last night in Nuernberg.

RALLY CLOSED DOWN

Police closed down the rally and ordered the demonstrators to go home.

They chanted "Nazis out! Nazis out!" and battled police for hours.

* * *

The demonstrators hurled bottles, rocks, ammonia, firecrackers and clubs. Police fought back with clubs and water cannon. The police finally won.

It was the eighth night of election campaign violence in nine days.

Both Kiesinger and Brandt have said one of the main aims of the election is to keep Von Thadden's forces out of parliament. The party already holds seats in seven of West Germany's 11 state legislatures.

Critics say Von Thadden's forces are neo-Nazi. The government has considered banning the party, which Von Thadden denies is Nazi.

Despite their other differences, Kiesinger and Brandt agree that Von Thadden's entrance into parliament could have catastrophic results on West Germany's international relations.

New Latin Junta Ends Oil Code

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — In its first official act, Bolivia's new military junta canceled a law under which a U.S.-owned oil company has been operating.

Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia, who seized power yesterday from President Adolfo Siles Salinas, met with his new cabinet for three hours and then announced the annulment of the nation's petroleum code.

* * *

The code granted Bolivian Gulf Oil Co. ownership of oil resources and set up a plan of profit-sharing with the state.

Ovando said the legislation was drafted by a New York law firm and was prejudicial to Bolivian interests.

He said the future of the company, a subsidiary of Gulf Oil Corp., had not been decided. He did not rule out the possibility of nationalizing the firm's properties.

* * *

Ovando said in a message to the peasants that his government would "make more profound the Bolivian land reform" of 1953. And he issued a statement pledging to secure national sovereignty over the sources of production, improve the already nationalized mining industry, promote heavy industry, establish a nationalistic economic policy, and protect workers' rights.

Ousted President Siles, in Santa Cruz for a celebration, took off in a small plane, presumably to go into exile in Chile.

There was some confusion in Washington over whether the United States had suspended diplomatic relations with Bolivia as a result of the coup.

MAKE OVER PAGES

MRS. KENNETH DUCHENE

Women's Section

Lamps are Her Specialty

Woman Uses Craft for Fun and Profit

"There just wasn't enough to do here." Thus Sharon Duchene explains how she became interested in "making things" with liquid resin.

Sharon and her husband, Kenneth, and preschooler, Kyleen, (now 6 and a student at Sacred Heart Academy) came to Pontiac from Lansing about 3½ years ago.

Separated from neighbors, family and friends, Sharon found time heavy on her hands, so she decided to put her hands to work.

* * *

This was a natural decision for her since a bout with rheumatic fever when she was a child had conditioned her to hand work and hobbies.

She said, "I loved the grape cluster lamps I'd seen in the stores -- but the budget had to be kept balanced and they seemed terribly expensive."

Enrollment in a course in the use of liquid resin showed her how to make the lamps (with a little mechanical help from Ken) and a great many other things, too.

Now Sharon is making the lamps to sell — and is teaching others how to make them at much lower cost and, she boasts, "with much greater satisfaction."

"The process," she says, "is not difficult; the resin is mixed with a catalyst and a few drops of dye in any desired color; it is poured into a mould and decorated with glitter, beads, or anything else an inventive person can come up with."

Centerpieces, decorative candles, switchplates, ashtrays, soap dishes, candle-holders, and keyrings are among the smaller items which can be produced in varied designs and brilliant colors.

* * *

Sharon's hobby long ago eliminated shopping for gift occasions.

More recently, she has become an instructor in the art, holding classes in her basement workshop, and had placed some of her products for sale in a gift shop near her Bloomfield Orchards home.

A bit of bad luck came her way in this respect. The shop was one of the complex in Auburn Heights which was destroyed by fire last week. Sharon lost about $200 worth of materials in the blaze.

* * *

Despite this temporary setback, Sharon says, "The possibilities are limitless," of the medium she has chosen to work in.

* * *

One of her pupils, branching out from the ordinary, constructed a Christmas tree, in a mould of aluminum foil, and decorated with discarded jewelry pieces. The addition of a string of tiny lights produced a uniquely effective decoration for the holiday season.

WAGON WHEEL

"Another woman," said Sharon, "came into possession of a wagon wheel. You've seen them sticking in people's lawns? Instead, she put a backing on it, filled the spaces between the spokes with different colored resin — and she had a one-of-a-kind wall decoration."

* * *

Sharon has recently been asked to give demonstrations in this art and made her first such appearance this week at the Newcomers Club in her area. Another demonstration in a private home in the subdivision has also been booked.

* * *

As Sharon's artistic activity has increased, so have her home responsibilities. Darron, two and Dayna, one year, have been added to the family; new friends, bowling and bridge-playing no longer leave room for lagging hours.

Television and Videotapes: Psychiatrists Latest Tools

NEW YORK (UPI) — Make way for the electronic couch in psychiatry.

Dr. Harry A. Wilmer, of the University of California's San Francisco medical center, calls the newest tool that, but it's really a television camera loaded with videotape.

Videotape makes possible instant replay of sporting and other events on home television.

* * *

Cameras aren't hidden. Patients are told they're on camera. There's nothing sneaky about it. During replay they see an uncontaminated view of themselves.

The technique is called self-confrontation.

Hippies from Haight Ashbury first met the electronic couch at the California Department of Mental Hygiene's Langley Porter Neuropsychiatric Institute, nine bocks from their pads.

* * *

Discussing the technique, Dr. Wilmer told Roche Medical Image and Commentary, a publication for doctors:

DO THEIR OWN THING

"When they come to us they are often withdrawn and unable to relate verbally to others. Our treatment philosophy is to allow the to do their own thing before the eyes of television.

"Confronting one's image on the television screen produces what I call self-awakedness, a sudden turning on of the self."

The monologue technique grew out of a hunch that withdrawn patients might talk more feeely to a solitary camera than to a therapist.

* * *

It wasn't a bad hunch. Many let go as if they were releasing a torrent of repressed thought. However, during a monologue one hippie was practically mute, mugging and waving hands, touching face and body.

Dr. Wilmer interpreted this performance as that of a "forlorn child, bewildered and lost." He described it as a mimicry of a child whose mother has left him.

One girl brought a pillow and a mask as props and acted out a love scene. Another, hallucinating, used her monologue to imitate the accusing voices that spoke to her.

SHOWS FACES

During one experiment, the electronic couch was used to show faces a hippie reveals to therapist, detective, journalist and criminal lawyer.

With psychiatrist, the patient was relaxed and responsive; with detective, narrow-eyed and suspicious and flip; with journalist, a pontifical lecturer; with lawyer, a stiff-lipped answerer of questions.

Newest Coats Are Minimax

Designers Make Short Work of Fashions

NEW YORK (AP) — It had to happen. The mini-midi-maxi debate has found midiground in the minimax, that is, a coat with three sides maxilengeth and a minifront.

The Georges Kaplan collection was presented recently, featuring minimax coats by Jacques Kaplan with three sides maxi and a short front. One coat in a fringed poncho style was long in front and back, but short on the sides.

* * *

Kaplan, the originator of the fun fur, also broke with tradition and dispensed with the formal runway and commentary in presenting his collection.

Instead, some 70 models were put sculpture-like on pedestals in the Finch College Museum. Sculptor Paul von Ringleheim, designed a $10,000 solid gold belt for several coats. Furniture with fur upholstery was shown and children who modeled scampered freely about the museum.

For the first time, a Georges Kaplan collection included the designs of Mrs. George "Freddy" Plimpton, the company's publicity director who went to the drawing board to design for the petite women, and coats for men by Wyat Cooper, editor of Status magazine and member of the men's Best Dressed list.

LITTLE PEOPLE

"I think that little people need something cut just for them," said Mrs. Plimpton who at 5 feet 4 wears size 4. "I looked like I was wearing my mother's coat in most furs."

Mrs. Plimpton included in her collection, a white grooved rabbit skirt with chocolate wool crepe halftop, a "thrift shop fur" of dyed spotted rabbit made to look like a used fur and patchwork long skirt topped with a fringed shawl, both made of fur scraps from the workroom floor.

Cooper's collections varied from a Victorian style natural brown midilength toro coat with a shoulder bag of pony to a black Persian lamb pea jacket, both for men, and a black velvet cape completely lined in silver fox, which he designed in tribute to his wife, Gloria Vanderbilt Cooper.

Jackques Kaplan's collection varied from weasel to an elegant blackglama mink with a mink and sequin tie belt but he showed no leopard or cheetah, which he said are fast becoming extinct. Prices ranged from $5,000 for a maxilength ranch mink coat to $325 for a childs gray Persian lamb coat.

AP Wirephoto

Leopard Won't Change Spots 'Cause Underneath He's Wolf

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: For 18 years I have been married to a handsome, charming professional man. He is also an incurable philanderer. When we walk into a room filled with strangers, I can pick his victim within 10 minutes.

No one would suspect that he would follow up a cocktail party flirtation, but he does. I have covered up for him many times, and have stayed with him for the sake of the children, hoping each affair would be his last. Everyone thinks we are an ideal couple. They should only know!

Abbey, does a leopard ever change his spots?

LEOPARD'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE. You have your animals confused. Yours is a wolf. Covering up for a philandering husband is no way to cure him. The wife who raises the roof early in her marriage may not change her leopard's spots, but she can train him before he gets too wild.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My darling wife of over 40 years (I'll call her Bertha) has to have a cigaret in her hand every minute or she's not happy. That's not all, she is too vain to wear glasses all the time, so she is always missing the ash tray, so we have cigaret burns in most of our tables and a couple of her favorite chairs. I have brought home ash trays as big as a fry pan, but she misses those, too.

* * *

When we are guests in the homes of friends, the hostess doesn't take her eyes of Bertha for fear she'll burn up something.

* * *

Won't you please say something in your column to let my missus know I love her but I wish she'd quit smoking?

LARRY

DEAR LARRY: You've said it all, Larry. Just see that your missus doesn't miss this column.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: When someone has lost a member of his family by suicide, what should friends do?

It doesn't seem right to just ignore the situation, yet you can't write and say, "I am sorry to hear that your brother shot himself." (Or should I say, "Shot himself — ACCIDENTALLY?" Would that be better?)

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: 'Offer your condolences, but do not mention the circumstances.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard of a big belly getting in the way of true love. In the 15 years Joey and I have been married, Joey gained 55 pounds, and I gained 40. But if he can stand My big belly, I can stand HIS. We both want to thank you for a wonderful column.

FAT BUT HAPPY

DEAR FAT: And I want to thank you for a wonderful belly laugh.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it considered "improper" for a young man and his steady girl jointly to give gifts to either of their relatives or to mutual friends?

Johnny and I are both 18 and we don't have a lot of money, and we can get nicer things if we share the cost.

We have been told that this is "improper" until we are married — or at least officially engaged. What is your opinion?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: When a gift is sent from a couple it is naturally assumed that the couple is in fact a "couple" legitimately. Joint gifts from officially engaged couples, yes. From "John and Mary," who happen to be going together, no!

DEAR ABBY: This is how my husband put an aggressive young secretary in her place. She asked him if they could have lunch together sometime. He said, "Certainly," so the next day he handed her half of a peanut butter sandwich.

STILL LAUGHING

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A group of us were having a serious discussion about the "new morality," and someone said the double standard no longer exists, that what's good for the goose is good for the gander. What is wour opinion?

CHARLOTTE

DEAR CHARLOTTE: GOOSEFEATHERS!

Reception Given for Newlyweds Advises Expert

By ELIZABETH L. POST
of the Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: Please explain the "ground rules" (I'm a baseball umpire) concerning the prerogative of the father of the bride.

* * *

The bride wants an evening reception with champagne and hors d' oeuvres. The father, knowing the tastes of the relatives, feels that a "hoity toity" affair would cause many adverse comments, and prefers a reception with a smorgasbord type of meal, beer and whiskey. These people come to eat and while not really heavy drinkers, are the beer and whiskey type. Whose place is it to decide? — Jerry B.

* * *

Dear Mr. B: You must remember that the wedding reception is given for your daughter and her groom—not for you and the relatives. You are undoubtedly picking up the tab, but it is only right that on this one day you give the type of party she wants. Although your friends and relatives may prefer beer and whiskey, champagne is the traditional wedding drink, and if the couple want a traditional wedding, no one has any reason to think her "hoity toity."

* * *

However, the reception should be enjoyed by the guests, too, and you might ask her to compromise by having a bar for the whiskey drinkers, and a round or two of champagne for the toasts and for those who enjoy it.

* * *

Incidentally, people invited to a wedding reception are supposed to come principally to honor the bride and groom—not just for the free meal!

FAMILIES TOGETHER

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a widow with three children. We recently attended a funeral for their uncle on their father's side. My children were put in the car with another niece and nephew for the trip to the cemetery. I was placed with friends. Shouldn't I have been placed with my children? — Mrs. K.

* * *

Dear Mrs. K: Yes, you should have been in the same car with your children. Every effort should be made to see that families are together to give each other comfort and strength. The idea of putting "age groups" or congenial contemporaries together at a funeral is totally unimportant.

BARRY J. SHILLITO

Nixon Gets the Word on Appointee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although he appointed him to office in February, President Nixon didn't know Barry J. Shillito. He does now.

Shillito, assistant secretary of defense for installations and logistics, was thrust into the glare of nationwide television at the President's press conference yesterday when Sarah McClendon, a reporter for several Texas papers, asked:

"Mr. President, would you please tell us when you are going to make some real, honest-to-goodness changes in personnel in these bureaucrats who have been in power through many generations, who are still wasting the taxpayer's money and making gross errors on the war and policy and promoting their friends, who are unqualified, to high jobs? I refer particularly to the office in the Pentagon of assistant secretary of defense, Barry J. Shillito.

PRESIDENT LAUGHS

The President laughed and said, "I don't know the gentleman, but after that question I'm going to find out who he is."

Later in the day Shillito had a rejoinder:

"I know, and the Department of Defense knows, that Mrs. McClendon has been interested in the internal organization of my office for some time, but I have no way of being certain as to what she had in mind when she asked the President of the United States about the matter today."

Group Will Picket Mobile Home Park

A mobile homeowners association announced today that it plans to picket a mobile home park in Independence Township to bring attention to proposed legislation that would end "unjust evictions."

George Ferguson of the Wayne Chapter of the Rawsonville Mobile Home Owners Association said that the demonstration would be held at the Clinton Villa Mobile Home Park, following a 2 p.m. meeting at the park, 4851 Clintonville.

* * *

The meeting, he said, is for the purpose of organizing the first local chapter in Oakland County.

Claude Hurst, manager of the park, said he was aware that a meeting was to be held in regards to an eviction at the park, but knew nothing of the picketing.

* * *

He said that he had served notice of eviction to one tenant for infractuion of the park rules. He wouldn't say what the infraction was, only that the family had been "warned time and time again."

According to Ferguson, mobile home owners, unlike apartment tenants, have little or no legal recourse when they are evicted. He said the legislation proposed would give mobile home owners some rights.

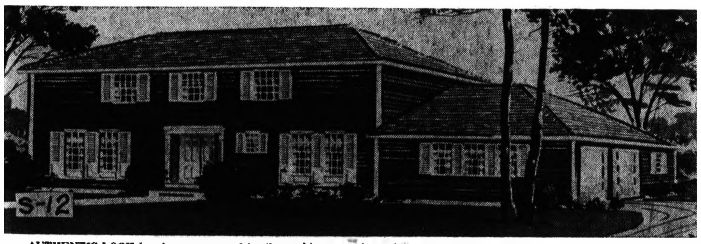
MODERNIZATION



AUTHENTIC LOOK has been preserved by the architect by the use of Colonial detailing throughout. Note the paneling under the lower front windows and the wood surrounding the front door, among the touches adding to the planned traditional appearance.

Balance Important as Design Element

An important design element in a house with as many as four bedrooms is the matter of balance.

Obviously, such a home will be occupied by a family with several children. It will need living areas of sufficient size to handle large groups.

* * *

And it must have a place where one or more members of the family can read or study in privacy when the occasion demands.

SIZABLE FAMILY

This week's plan takes care of those needs.

Architect Herman H. York has incorporated into a living room 24' long, a family room with a fireplace and a separate study or den.

Everything else is in the proportion necessary to handle the requirements of a sizable family and its guests.

* * *

Even the foyer is spacious to avoid crowding at the end of a party when several persons leave simultaneously.

* * *

SUNKEN LIVING ROOM

The living room, to the left of the foyer, is sunken. It has only the one entrance and thus cannot be used as a passageway, a boon to the housewife who may want to reserve it for formal entertaining.

The family room is at the rear of the house for ready access to the terrace.

* * *

The dining room, to the right of the foyer, is completely separate, preferred by most American homemakers.

It is a perfect square of 13' 4" in each direction.

LARGE KITCHEN

The kitchen can be reached from the foyer, the dining room and the family room. It is large enough to have a separate dinette that looks out onto the rear patio.

On the right side of the kitchen, behind the two-car garage, is a laundry-closet area, with a door to the outside.

* * *

The garage has a large storage alcove.

On the upper floor are four bedrooms, with bedroom no. 4 positioned to allow for an alternate use as a sitting room or nursery.

MASTER BEDROOM

Here a door can be placed to connect this room with the owner's bedroom.

The latter is large, has a private bathroom with a shower and has two closets, one a walk-in.

* * *

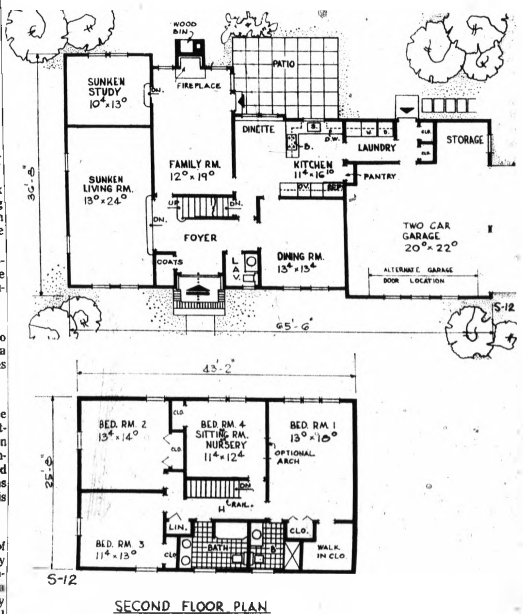
A second bathroom is accessible to the three other bedrooms.

On the outside, design S-12 has a Colonial motif, with a narrow wood siding, corner boards, panels under the windows and attractive shutters.

A hip roof on both the main section and over the garage adds to the mass without overpowering the elevation.

An asphalt shingle roof preferably in black, will contrast well with almost any color used on the sidewalls.

The garage doors are on the side, but the plans show an alternate front location should the size of the lot not permit a side entry.



SECOND FLOOR PLAN

FLOOR PLANS: Good traffic circulation is evident, with foyer leading directly to living room, dining room, family room and kitchen. Latter is well located, permitting easy serving to informal dinette, dining room and family room without going through any other rooms.

Tax Break Gets More Help

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Housing Secretary George Romney promises a fight to the finish to defend a tax break for the real estate industry which costs the government at least $750 million annually.

Romney contends that congressional tax reformers who want to eliminate accelerated depreciation and capital gains tax treatment for real estate threaten to scuttle the nation's goal of producing 26 million new housing units over the next 10 years.

* * *

"These tax changes, if adopted, would effectively destroy any opportunity of meeting the housing goals set by Congress with existing programs," Romney said.

But the staff of the House Ways and Means Committee, which advanced the proposals as part of an overall tax reform package, contends that accelerated depreciation has produced far more tax shelters for the wealthy than family shelters for the poor.

PREVENT CHANGE

"We're going to do all we can to prevent this change from taking place," Romney said.

Romney argued that the present tax law provides a needed incentive to bring money into the housing market. Even the suggestion that the breaks might be eliminated has a depressing effect, he said.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards shares Romney's opposition to the committee staff proposal.

A Treasury Department report prepared during the closing days of the Johnson administration said accelerated depreciation of real estate alone costs the government $750 million a year.

NO PUBLIC POSITION

President Nixon's Treasury Secretary, David Kennedy, has taken no public position on the issue.

Romney said he hoped to work out with Kennery a joint administration position. The Housing Secretary indicated that Kennedy does not share his enthusiasm for retaining the present law.

* * *

Accelerated depreciation was adopted in 1954 primarily to stimulate the purchase of machinery and other equipment.

It permits greater tax depreciation write-offs early in the life of property with the allowance declining as the property becomes older. However, the property is usually sold before the depreciation allowance declines very much.

SPECIAL FORM

Fast depreciation on real estate has taken on a special form. By using the accelerated method, most big real estate developments—office buildings, shopping centers, motels, apartment houses and similar ventures — can be placed on the books as a tax loss even though they produce cash to the owner.

The paper loss then can be used to cut the owner's personal income taxes. When the property is sold, the owner must pay taxes at the lower capital gains rate on the difference between the sale price and the depreciated book value.

The capital gains tax maximum is 25 per cent.

The value of the tax advantage increases with the other income of the owner. For an individual in a 60 or 70 per cent tax bracket, the tax break often exceeds his total equity in the property.

The use of accelerated depreciation is effective only on rental property. It is available to persons of moderate means as well as the wealthy, of course, but there is little to be gained from the process by a person in a 20 per cent tax bracket.

Salesman's Habits Influence Prospective Home Purchaser

When you're buying a house, do you make your decision solely on the basis of value?

Or do some of the mannerisms of the real estate salesman have an effect on your judgement?

* * *

There's a school of thought which believes that the nervous habits of the person trying to make the sale have some influence on a prospective purchaser.

This theiry is held by sales experts in many fields, but is given particular attention in the area of real estate, as evidenced by the many times the subject is brought up at meetings, conventions and clinics.

What brought the matter to our attention again was a long list of things salesmen do to annoy buyers, published in the lastest issue of The Long Island Builder, an industry publication.

These are not things salesmen say in an effort to convince you of the worth of the house, but merely personal mannerisms that annoy.

* * *

Here's the list:

- Scratching their heads.
- Running their hands or comb through their hair.
- Pulling at an ear.
- Shifting their eyes from one thing to another while talking.
- Chewing on a toothpick, match or cigar.
- Coughing or clearing their throats periodically.
- Humming while writing an order.
- Interrupting the buyer before he says what he wants to say.
- Blowing cigarette or cigar smoke in the buyer's face.
- Adjusting and readjusting their ties.
- Fumbling with a lapel pin.
- Fingering a card or paper.
- Buttoning or unbuttoning their coats.
- Picking lint from their suits or buyer's suit.
- Cleaning their fingernails.
- Slapping their order books, or something esle, again and again.
- Doodling with a pencil or pen.
- Picking up and putting down things on a desk.
- Hitching at their pants.
- Jingling coins in their pockets.
- Draping themselves over a chair.
- Walking around with a toothpick or match in their mouths.
- Putting hand in front of their mouths while talking.
- Smiling until you wonder if a salesman can ever look serious.
- Pushing themselves right up into your face while talking.
- Coughing without covering their mouths.

Parking Places Help in Garage

If yours is one of the increasing number of two-car families, why not use paint to divide your garage into two parking spaces? By painting a strip down the center of the floor, you set up two sections and make it easier for the driver of the first car to leave enough room for the second.

* * *

Use a latex floor enamel since it will not be damaged by the alkalie of the concrete floor and will dry in less than an hour.

S-12 STATISTICS

Design S-12 is a two-story Colonial, with a living room, dining room, family room, kitchen-dinette, foyer, study and lavatory on the first floor, totaling 1,319 square feet of habitable area. Behind the two-car garage is the laundry, two closets and door to the rear. Upstairs are four bedrooms, two bathrooms and plenty of closet space, totaling 1,108 square feet. Over-all dimensions, which include the garage and rear patio, are 65' 6" by 36' 8".

The Bidet Is Winning American Approval

"There is only one thing in the world worse than being talked about," said Oscar Wilde, the late poet and playwright, "and that is not being talked about."

The most talked-about plumbing fixture in the last year is the Kohler bidet.

* * *

The bidet — widely used in Europe, Central America, and South America but not so well known in this country.

PURPOSE OF FIXTURE

Persons have expressed curiosity, others were witty and still others seemed dismayed at the added bathroom fixture and its purpose. A few asked how "bidet" is pronounced (It's bedday').

"It's 3:30 a.m. and you have a dozen people walking the floor trying to figure out what 'that thing' next to the toilet is," wrote a night nurse in the maternity ward of an Ohio hospital.

* * *

"It isn't a commode, urinal, bedpan hopper, or sitz bath; so we're all stumped."

"If it's what I think it is, why does it have faucets?" asked another Ohioan.

WASH MOPS!

"What's it for — to wash mops?" asked a California reader.

"Is this the Kohler 'bold look'?

"What in Holy Toedo is that thing?"

"Is it one of those things Eurpeans use?"

* * *

Yes, the bidet is one of those fixtures Europeans have relied on for generations.

Used in addition to a toilet, the bidet provides an effective means for spot-bathing and for rinsing after use of the toilet.

HYGIENIC CARE

Physicians note that using the bidet, with warm water and mild soap, tends to reduce irritations and rashes and promotes more complete hygienic care for all members of the family.

It performs local washing and rinsing with a spray directed upward from within the basin. Warm, soapy water may be retained in the basin to bathe all lower parts, even the feet.

Obscure Panel

A unique way to camouflage a wall-mounted TV set is by covering the screen with an obscure glass panel. When the room is lighted, the glass look like a mirror; when the room is darkened, and the set turned on, the picture shows up clearly.

Young Couples Find Livable Homes Most Appealing

Another young couple has had the word "modern" thrown at them until they are bored to death with it.

"We looked for a house and everywhere people would say, 'Perhaps it isn't modern enough for you.'"

"Builders say, 'I expect to have something more modern next month.'"

* * *

"Real estate people tell us right off the bat that we are out in left field if we want a modern house for what we can pay," says the new husband.

Meanwhile, they have never mentioned the word modern.

"What they really mean is 'kooky,'" says the bride of six months.

HOUSE SEARCH

The two are living in a furnished apartment while they search for a house and furniture.

They haven't quite decided on the house style they would like. In the beginning, the 21-year-old wife thought she would like a Colonial house (she's romantic, says her husband.) He has been pushing for a house that is all on one floor (it'll be easier to paint, he says.) They will look until they find a house that suits them, they agree.

* * *

Many young people find themselves in the position of being stamped ultra-ultra modern, when in reality they want pretty much the things like their parents wanted at the same age, they explain.

"If you go to look for furniture, they waltz you into a room that resembles a space capsule. You can't tell from lamps. They look at you skeptically when you explain that you'd rather start with traditional things and fill in with modern things later. If they ever design something you consider suitable.

"When you are in college, you far-out decorating because it is to be short-lived, but it doesn't make you different forever," explains the bride. "If it were possible to find such things in my mother's day, she would have had them, too."

She thinks modern dance and some phrases uttered by her contemporaries are a little more risque perhaps than the Charleston and the 23-skidoo vernacular of previous generations. But not much more risque for an era that serves up more permissiveness than the average young person accepts.

* * *

She knows young girls who would have been considered prudish in her mother's generation, she says.

"And so it is with decorating. There is more color (because manufacturers can work more easily with the dyes) and there is more emphasis on abstract design (because we have learned to live with it and there is more color in our environment) and there are more unusual styles in furniture (because there are so many fabulous materials to work with.)

MERCHANDISE OF TIMES

But these things aren't being marketed for young people. It is the merchandise of our times."

The availability of such things shouldn't be considered a youth market, she says. Some youths purchase them because they want to experiment. And some young people design such furnishings because they are permitted carte blanche with these new materials craving expression, they point out.

This couple wants a home that offers easy maintenance, plenty of light, outdoor privacy, entertainment features and adds the husband, "good solid workmanship in walls, floors, exterior finishing."

The lady of the house-to-be would like a cheery kitchen preferably one painted yellow. She'd like a dishwasher and washer-dryer. She'd like a real big bedroom and a canopy bed.

In houses, they are learning to appreciate the split level, although they had never seen one before.

The new husband points out that his wife has chosen the same silver pattern as her mother, that her china is an old-time traditional favorite — gold-rimmed white, and that she uses crystal on the table with beautiful centerpieces.

Time has tested traditional things for them, they say, one reason they prefer it in basic furnishings.

"That's one reason why I hate that label 'kooky' stuck on our generation. Actually, the kooks are tremendously outnumbered by young people who have their feet on the ground. Young people at marriageable age in this generation have good common sense. They read and study before they leap."

Painting Remains Homeowners' Fate

If you're a homeowner, you don't need a crystal ball to tell you that there will be a paint brush and overalls in your future.

Nine out of 10 homes in this country require exterior painting and over two-thirds of them are repainted every 3 to 5 years.

In recent years, however, homeowners have turned to aluminum siding to put an end to the expense and bother of periodic repainting and to preserve the good looks of their home with a minimum of maintenance.

Tile Hides Dirt

Vinyl asbestos tile in the new textured patterns is a good choice for hall floors because the uneven surface hides dirt. Yet this surface dirt is easily removed by sweeping.

Mobiles Provide Hobby Displays

Hobbiests from 7 to 70 are often plagued with the problem of how to display the results of their hours of creative activity.

If your hobby ends up with an item that can be hung in the air (model airplanes are ideal — but almost any 3-dimensional item is a possibility) Conwed Corporation, St. Paul, Minnesota, maker of ceiling materials has a suggestion. Use a suspended ceiling system and tie the items to the grid with nearly invisible monofilament fish line.

It makes a display area as large as the room and is of course excitingly decorative.

If you don't have a hobby that culminates in 3-dimensional objects, which includes just about everything, you can use the idea for hanging mobiles or other objects of art.

Panel Heating's Inconspicuous

Radiant hydronic panel heating is invisible heating. Consisting of a series of pipe coils embedded in a floor slab, in the walls, or in the ceiling, the heat distributing equipment is completely out of sight.

Hot water, controlled by a circulating pump, runs through the coils, warming the floor or other surface. These surfaces, in turn, warm the objects in the rooms. Properly warmed room surfaces limit the radiant heat loss of occupants, providing even, draft-free comfort.
