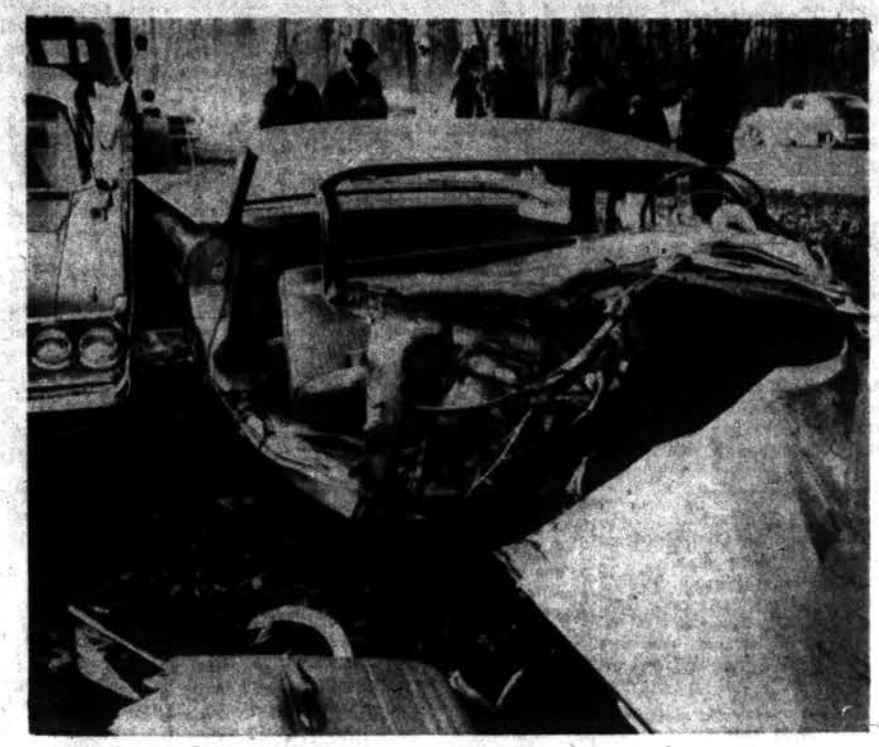
Crashed Into a Tree



SHEARED IN TWO — Police called this wreck the worst they had seen after Manuel Palaez, 34, of 38 Allison St. had lost control and collided into a tree on Woodward avenue near Opdyke road this morning in Bloomfield Hills. The car was torn in half spewing wreckage for many yards. Palaez was hurtled beneath another automobile and died before he could be admitted to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Separate Car Crashes Kill Pair in Bloomfield Area

A Pontiac man and a Mount Clemens man were killed early this morning in two separate accidents on their way to work.

Manuel Palaez, 34, of 38 Allison St., died a half hour after his car was cut in two on Woodward avenue near Opdyke road in Bloomfield Hills.

He died in the ambulance before arriving at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Frank Faner Jr., 21, of Mount Clemens, was dead on arrival at William Beaumont Hospital after a two-car collision on Big Beaver road between Adams road and Woodward Avenue in Bloomfield Township.

Township police said Faner apparently lost control on a patch of ice. His car swung into the path of an automobile driven by William Mead, 73 of 3172 Oakhill Dr., Troy. Mead was taken to the hospital with chest and face lacerations.

Police from four departments, trying to speed the curious who were halting the flow of rush hour traffic, termed the Palaez wreck the worst they had ever seen.

Going south on Woodward, Palaez' car went out of control and skidded 221 feet into a tree. The engine and front part of the chassis were ripped off, and the transmission was thrown 25 feet.

★ ★ ★

The rest of the car containing Palaez hurtled across the island and came to rest against a car driven by H. A. C. Anderson, general superintendent of Pontiac Motor Division, traveling north on Woodward to work.

The body of Palaez, an employe of a Detroit construction company, came flying free and lodged under Anderson's car.

Anderson, 4216 Sheffield Rd., Royal Oak, described it as he stood watching Palaez while waiting for the ambulance to arrive.

"I was going about 40 miles an hour when I saw part of this car coming at me from across the island. I put on the brakes and as I was stopping his car came against mine and I saw him slide out."

Just then the ambulance arrived and they worked Palaez out and onto a stretcher as dozens of curious people who had pulled over to watch looked on.

★ ★ ★

Handling the accident itself, Bloomfield Police Chief Walter Sleuter said witnesses told him Palaez was "really barreling along." State Police, Birmingham police and Oakland County Sheriff's deputies shouted at traffic to keep moving and herded people who had stopped back into their cars.

DALE C. HARRIS

Supervisor of Music Resigns

Dale C. Harris for 32 years supervisor of instrumental music in the Pontiac school system, today announced his resignation.

It was accepted by Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer.

Harris joined the Pontiac school system in 1926 as an instructor in the instrumental music department. He was named supervisor of the program in 1927.

In a statement issued early this morning he said:

"My resignation and retirement from the Pontiac public schools to be effective Jan. 29, 1960, was submitted to the superintendent of schools Dec. 8, and has been accepted by the Board of Education and the superintendent.

"For over 30 years of service in the public schools and the city of Pontiac, I have conscientiously tried to establish and maintain high musical and citizenship standards which I believe have been of value to the students under my direction and to the community.

"I choose to be judged on this past record, rather than by the results of the new program and procedures being considered or already in operation.

"I do not feel that I can, in clear conscience, endorse and support such a program.

"This statement is not to be construed as being contentious or inflammatory, but is intended to be a forthright assertion of my reasons for retirement.

DECISION FINAL

"I have not been asked to resign. My decision has been made after careful consideration and is unalterable.

"It is my sincere desire that neither present nor former students of the instrumental music department make verbal, written or published statements concerning my resignation, none of which can alter the fact that my career in the Pontiac public schools will terminate at the end of the current school semester.

"To my loyal present and former

Wanted: Police, Fire Protection

Royal Oak Township Is Short on Both After Goodfellow Arrests

Royal Oak Township was left with limited police and fire protection yesterday after eight policemen and firemen were suspended after being accused of pocketing money from Goodfellow newspaper sales.

The suspensions included captains of both the police and fire departments.

Township Supervisor Elwood Dickens, who suspended the five policemen and three firemen, said he would ask that the eight be fired if convicted.

Their trial, along with that of two other persons and an elected constable, also charged, is set for 10 a.m. Thursday before Royal Oak Township Justice Lonnie Cash.

The mass suspensions left the community with only six police officers and three firemen.

Dickens said he would call in

Banking Chief Defies Williams on Resignation

Won't Leave State Job Despite Flareup Over Conflict of Interests

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams says he has asked for the resignation of State Banking Commissioner Alonzo L. Wilson because of a conflict of interests.

The conflict of interest stems from a Traverse City bank case brought against Wilson last August, according to Paul Weber, the governor's press secretary.

Wilson has refused to resign following a formal request by the governor in a letter Sept. 24. The commissioner said he did not feel he had violated banking laws.

Two Traverse City banks brought suit against Wilson last August. They accused the commissioner of having given favor and illegal treatment to a bank in which his wife is a major shareholder.

Weber said Wilson had been asked several times by Williams to resign, starting when the bank case came to light.

★ ★ ★

The governor said there was a "basic conflict of interest in the Traverse City case."

"Although I cannot agree that this is proper conduct," Williams said, "there appears to have been no deliberate wrongdoing on Mr. Wilson's part. And I am sure he honestly does not feel that the situation involves any impropriety.

"Consequently, I sought to spare him any unfavorable notoriety in this matter."

Wilson declined comment yesterday on the suit brought in Ingham County Circuit Court by the Traverse City State Bank and the First Peoples State Bank of Traverse City.

The suit is scheduled for a pretrial hearing today.

U.S. Indicts 14 Prison Guards

Grand Jury Charges Brutal Treatment of Convicts in Florida

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers announced that a federal grand jury at Jacksonville, Fla., Tuesday indicted 14 present and former guards at the Florida State Prison on charges of mistreating prisoners in violation of a federal civil rights law.

★ ★ ★

Rogers said a far-reaching investigation by FBI agents preceded the department's presentation of evidence to the grand jury. He said the evidence involved mistreatment of inmates of the maximum security building at the prison at Raiford.

★ ★ ★

The indictments charged violations of three sections of the U. S. Criminal Code which prohibit conspiracies to injure or oppress any citizen in the free exercise of any right or privilege secured to him by the Constitution and federal laws.

★ ★ ★

The brutal treatment alleged consisted of shackling or chaining prisoners to the bars of their cells, sometimes without food or clothing, for periods ranging from 24 hours to a week or more.

In addition, Rogers said that in some instances chained prisoners were sprayed with water under high pressure.

Court Edict Staggers 12-Town Drain Hopes

Hopes for the big 12-town storm relief drain for southeastern Oakland County were dealt another staggering blow today when it was ruled that costs to Madison Heights were determined illegally.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer said there was a "total absence" that the County Drainage Board had weighed what benefits the city would receive from the drain, "and the extent to which it contributed to the conditions which make the drain necessary."

★ ★ ★

The judge's ruling means another delay in realization of the $47,102,000 drain and also had county legal and drain officials in a quandary about what to do next.

Since entering the planning stage in 1952, the drain has been a matter of legal action.

Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland and then the State Supreme Court had upheld as constitutional the proceedings the county was following creating the drain.

★ ★ ★

After the high court's affirmation of Judge Holland's ruling, the Drainage Board set up new costs based on a time lag.

Madison Heights sought a writ of certiorari asking the court to search the proceedings to see if the law had been followed.

"They are devoid of any evidence, any facts or any information indicating this administrative tribunal (Drainage Board) took into consideration the required statutory factors as complained of by the plaintiff (Madison Heights)," the judge ruled.

He said the county's defense that the same questions raised this time by the city had been settled in an earlier court suit "is not a defense."

Claude H. Stevens, the county's attorney throughout the 12-Town litigation, claimed the judge's ruling was somewhat of a reversal of the high court's ruling.

"It's a reversal to the extent if we're right in claiming our defense of res judicata and the court claiming it was no defense," Stevens said.

He said the county now has two alternatives:

One, call another hearing to reapportion new costs for all communities (this would make the third set of costs), or second, appeal Judge Beer's ruling to the Supreme Court.

Stevens and Robert P. Allen, assistant corporation counsel for drain cases, said they didn't know what action the county will take.

"I'll say this," Stevens said, indicating a possible appeal, "I believe we've got the law on our side."

Stevens took issue with the judge who followed his opinion by saying all the county now had to do was to fix new costs for Madison Heights. "This ruling does not

U.S. Asks More Help in NATO

Gates Warns of Soviet Rocket Buildup, Says French Shirk Duty

PARIS (AP)—The NATO nations received today a report of a Soviet buildup in rockets and a new U. S. charge that France is not meeting her defense pledges to cope with Soviet threats.

U. S. Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. told the North Atlantic Alliance that the United States needs more help in keeping western defenses modernized, and endorses the military substance of a recent speech by Gen. Nathan F. Twining.

Twining, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, sharply attacked France last week in a secret NATO military meeting for refusing to go along with integration of its forces. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter Tuesday insisted that integration is a vital part of NATO, and in effect supported Twining.

Gates spoke today after French Defense Minister Pierre Guillaumat officially protested the American charge that France is shirking and the fact that Twining's speech reached the press. He charged that Twining overstepped military bounds and got into political matters.

Gates said he felt that the United States is within "the competence, right and responsibility of its military to comment on the military effects of political decisions."

Adm. Walter F. Boone, U. S. member of NATO's top-level standing military group, gave the session an intelligence estimate that the Soviet Union has had intercontinental rockets in service for 17 months and has 100 missile bases.

Gates told the meeting, however, that the United States is confident of its present nuclear superiority, both with respect to nuclear weapons and to the means of their delivery.

He said American-made intercontinental and intermediate range ballistic missiles are now operational.

Counteragent Tells of Drug in Saltshakers

Employes Blame Reds; Act Shows Air Info Very Effective

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Radio Free Europe said today agents of a "foreign Communist power" have attempted a mass poisoning of its employes.

Most of the employes of this privately financed, American station are refugees from Iron Curtain countries.

Erik Hazelhoff of Mount Kisco, N. Y., Radio Free Europe's European director, said a poison was found Nov. 21 in a number of saltshakers at the station's cafeteria.

The director said the substance was analyzed and was found to be a poisonous drug derived from the deadly nightshade plant.

Hazelhoff said the poisoning attempt was disclosed by a Radio Free Europe employe "who although ostensibly used by a foreign Communist power for sabotage purposes" has been cooperating with American authorities from the time he was first contacted by the Reds.

REVEALS IDENTITY

"He also revealed the identity of the person who planned these acts and ordered them executed, including this latest one, as being a Communist diplomat stationed in Western Europe acting on the instructions of his government," Hazelhoff continued.

The cafeteria was closed.

Hazelhoff said U. S. and German authorities were notified immediately after the discovery.

He said about 1,200 employes frequent the cafeteria but they often bring along their families. The cafeteria will be reopened Thursday.

★ ★ ★

"The delay in the issuance of this announcement has been due to the necessities of the investigation which are proceeding in close cooperation between RFE management and the proper authorities," he said.

"Every act of violence against RFE by the Communists dramatically demonstrates their deep concern about the effectiveness of our broadcasts," Hazelhoff said.

★ ★ ★

"The extreme character of the latest act constitutes admission by the Communists of the importance to them of trying to destroy RFE. They will find us a hard nut to crack."

Radio Free Europe, which does not broadcast to the Soviet Union, began operating in 1951 under C. H. Jackson, President Eisenhower's former adviser on psychological warfare.

Stork Makes Quick Stop at Gas Station

Little Miss Weaver—the newest resident of Novi — was born this morning at a Pontiac gas station.

★ ★ ★

Her mother, Mrs. Marilyn Weaver, 41750 Aspen St., was being driven to the hospital by a neighbor, Sanford Sawyer.

They didn't make it.

At the corner of Telegraph and Orchard Lake roads, Sawyer frantically pulled into a gas station.

About 15 people stood around wondering how they could help. A few minutes later — without any help needed —little Miss Weaver arrived.

An ambulance took the mother and her eight-pound daughter to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, where they were reported doing nicely.

Dickens' son, James, a part-time water department employe, was one of three civilians arrested.

The 12 men were arrested Monday after State Police investigators said they failed to turn in marked money they had taken as donations from plainclothes State Police detectives.

State Police said they used $57 in marked bills to buy newspapers from 13 men selling copies on street corners.

ONLY $6 RETURNED

Only $6 was returned, and that by one man, officers said. Proceeds from the newspaper sale, an annual event, are used to buy yule gifts for children.

Robert Thorne, one of the civilian volunteers, arrested, pleaded guilty to larceny by conversion in Justice Court. He was fined $25 and given one year probation.

The others pleaded innocent and were released on $200 bonds. All are Negroes.

Conviction carries a maximum 90 days in jail, a $100 fine and two years probation.

Capt. William Ware, acting police chief, and Capt. Samuel Mitchell, the fire chief, were among those arrested.

All Romance Taken Out of Phone Testing

NEW YORK (AP) — A New Yorker picked up her telephone Tuesday and heard:

"Space ship one, space ship one, come in space ship one. This is flotilla leader. I am now over Washington. Do you read me, space ship one?"

"I read you, flotilla leader. We are now approaching New York. Five wave now in control of Sheridan Square."

★ ★ ★

The terrified woman called police.

An investigation turned up that a pair of telephone installers had become bored with their routine testing procedures.

★ ★ ★

The police reported the matter to the telephone company, which issued this edict: "From now on stick to saying 'one, two-three-four, testing.'

"If that gets boring, try 'four, three, two, one testing.'"

Court Ruling Shakes 12-Town Drain Hope

mean the termination of the 12-Town Drain project," the judge said.

If Madison Heights' costs were adjusted, the costs for all other 13 communities in the drainage district would have to be changed also, Stevens said.

"If you change one you change them all," he said.

It was Madison Heights' contention, after the second set of costs were confirmed in a hearing in Royal Oak Sept. 30, that the county had not given the city enough credit for existing drains.

★ ★ ★

Harry N. Dell, hired by the city to try its case, claimed if the law had been followed correctly the city should have been given more credit for existing drains.

★ ★ ★

None of the other communities protested their costs.

The judge said, since the city by itself complained against the cost formula, that the other townships and cities were barred now by a time limit from protesting.

Stevens, however, said the story might be different should the county decide to establish new costs. This, he said, might plunge the project once again into the courts.

The drain is planned to relieve seasonal flooding conditions in the different communities.

★ ★ ★

"There is no doubt defendants (Drainage Board and members) have had a difficult duty to determine costs for the respective communities," Beer said.

★ ★ ★

"But their equitable effort will not allow failure to follow statutory mandate."

Madison Heights was figured to have to pay $2,848,803 as its share. The Board had fixed credits at $302,429.

★ ★ ★

The city believes it assessment should be closer to $600,000.

Linked in Huge Abortion Ring

Charge Local Osteopath

A Waterford Township osteopath has been named in what State Police describe as the biggest abortion ring in Michigan history.

Dr. Jerome J. Robb, 46, 2575 Hiller Rd., and two others stood mute yesterday to conspiracy charges brought in Mount Clemens.

Thirteen persons were named as members of the ring, including four osteopaths and a chiropractor. Three of them were arrested Oct. 28.

DR. JEROME J. ROBB

Yesterday's charges resulted from a raid Oct. 28 on the Mount Clemens office of Dr. L. J. Gilbert, an osteopath. Dr. Gilbert and his nurse, Mrs. Mary E. Valle, 26, were charged then with performing an abortion, and another woman, Mrs. Mary R. Graham, 46, of River Rouge, was charged with conspiracy.

Dr. Robb and the others were charged with "steering" women to Gilbert for abortions.

Roy Rogensues, assistant prosecutor, said records seized in the office of Dr. Gilbert, indicated approximately 100 illegal operations had been performed this year at fees generally ranging from $300 to $400, but at least one running up to $700.

Rogensues said Dr. Gilbert's books listed names of those who referred patients to him and the amount, usually $50, paid by the doctor as a referral fee.

Others named in the conspiracy include Harry Polk, 57, a Detroit chiropractor; Dr. Richard Emmerson, a Warren osteopath; Edward Valle, 29, Mrs. Valle's ex-husband; Francis Schaenboen, 34, a Harrison Township pharmacist; and Vincent C. Lotz, 58, of Ferndale.

Four others named in the warrant were unidentified. They are being sought.

Dr. Polk, Schaenboen, Valle stood mute yesterday with Dr. Robb. All are free under bond until a hearing Jan. 5.

Dr. Robb's office is at 1142 W. Huron St., Waterford Township.

Harry Whitlow, Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital administrator, said Robb was not a member of the hospital's staff.

"Six years ago he applied for privileges here," Whitlow said. "He was refused. We did not, and never have invited him to make use of our facilities."

Hardware Man Wonders Where Money Bag Went

It pays to be courteous, but no one knows how much it pays like a Pontiac store owner. It cost him more than $1,000 for being courteous to a customer yesterday.

Jack Coleman, of 12 Downing Ct., Waterford Township, who owns Fay Barker Hardware, 79 S. Saginaw St., was preparing to go to the bank.

He had a bag containing $1,078 in cash and checks. He left the bag on a counter when a customer came in.

After waiting on the customer he returned to find the counter bare.

Coleman told Pontiac Police he didn't see the thief enter or leave the store.

miles away and within 200 feet of the Traverse City limits.

The Traverse City banks said no need for a bank was shown and charged a conflict of interest.

The complaint stated that Wilson owned about 10 per cent of the Empire bank stock when he became commissioner.

The stock was transferred to Wilson's wife, now on the Empire bank's board.

The trailer office closed after five days as the result of an injunction issued by Ingham County Circuit Judge Marvin J. Salmon.

Harry Calcutt, attorney for the Traverse City banks, said the commissioner's action ran contrary to precedent.

In effect, it created three banks in Traverse City, he said, adding: "There are no cities under 100,000 who in recent years have started a new bank."

NO FDIC ACTION?

Calcutt said the suit also claims the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. did not act on the request for transfer by the Empire bank.

Wilson also served as president of the Traverse City State Bank seven years before his appointment as commissinner.

His stock in this bank, reportedly "something less" than 4 per cent, also was transferred to Wilson's wife.

Wilson began his banking career at Scottville. He has been associated with the Federal Reserve Bank at Chicago and Detroit.

He was appointed state banking commissioner in 1957 and was reappointed last Jan. 7 for a term expiring Dec. 31, 1960.

I wish to express my deep appreciation for the interest and pride they have shown in the contribution made to the schools and community by the instrumental music department during the past thirty years."

★ ★ ★

Harris said, "I have several alternate plans for the future."

He was the first president of the Southeastern Michigan Band and Orchestra Assn. in 1934, and is past president of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Assn.

1st PRESIDENT

Harris also was the first president of the American School Band Directors' Assn., a national organization. He now is a member of its executive board and is general chairman of its research committee.

Whitmer issued a statement of his own in accepting Harris' resignation. He said:

"During the more than 30 years that Mr. Harris has directed the instrumental music program in the Pontiac schools, outstanding school bands have been developed. Annually our Senior High School Band has received the highest ratings in state contests. Its continuing reputation has been one of excellence. Our community and school system have been proud of the band and its achievements.

"It is the hope and aim of the Pontiac schools in the years ahead to maintain the quality of band performance that has been developed under Mr. Harris' direction.

"It is also our goal to have a strong orchestra program, and other worthwhile instrumental music activities for students.

"On behalf of the schools I express appreciation to Mr. Harris for his professional contributions in our system, and wish him well in his future activities."

'No-Account' Check Bouncer Lands in Jail

A Pontiac man kept one "bounce" ahead of city police until an alert patrolman recognized him early this morning.

Last week Robert D. Ross, 26, of 123 Norton St., was fined $35 for traffic violations in Pontiac Municipal Court.

He happily wrote out a check for the amount and departed. The check bounced.

Detectives began searching for Ross. They kept his apartment under surveillance for several days. But there was no sign of Ross.

Then they contacted his landlord, Arthur Zonmon, of the same address. Zonmon was glad to see them. Ross had paid his rent and left, according to the landlord. "He gave me a check for $15 Saturday. It bounced," Zonmon said.

Eastman Ouster Try Called Off

Landry Says Majority of Commission Still Opposes His Plan

A move to demand the ouster of George D. Eastman, Pontiac public safety director, was called off last night by City Commissioner Robert A. Landry.

"It is obvious I still would be opposed by a majority of the Commission," he explained.

Landry has demanded Eastman's ouster twice in the past year, each time being defeated by a 5-2 vote of the Commission.

Last week, after Circuit Court held that the firing of Police Chief Herbert W. Straley was illegal under Civil Service regulations, Landry announced he would once again try to knock Eastman out of his $12,000-a-year job.

It was Eastman who marshaled the charges against Straley.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry, who has sided with Landry against Eastman and in behalf of Straley, argued for 15 minutes that the city should reinstate the former police chief.

However, Henry did not press for a formal vote on his proposal, either.

In the meantime, City Attorney William A. Ewart said that no final decision had been reached with Straley's lawyer, Clarence E. Smith, on details of a final order to settle the Straley case.

The order, presumably, would force the city to put Straley back on the payroll.

The order is being prepared for the signature of Ionia County Circuit Judge Morris K. Davis, who issued the ruling upsetting the Straley ouster.

If the city and Straley cannot agree on a final order, it is possible that there will be further litigation before Judge Davis.

The Police Trial Board last night elected H. Malcolm Kahn as chairman, replacing Vernon H. Ayling, who retired recently for reasons of health.

Kahn, 305 Pioneer Dr., a Pontiac attorney, was appointed to the board when it was reconstituted by voters last spring.

Walled Lake School Bus Hit; No One Injured

A car rammed into the rear of a Walled Lake school bus early this morning as it was picking up children.

No one was reported injured, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

The accident was on Wise road just west of Union Lake road in Commerce Township.

Bus driver Boyd Burger, 36, of 164 Spring Park Dr., Walled Lake, told deputies he had stopped to pick up a group of students.

Driver of the car, Harry Laschen Jr., 32, of Milford, said he attempted to stop but his car skidded on the slippery road.

The Day in Birmingham

November Accident Toll 25 Pct. Above Last Year

BIRMINGHAM—The total number of traffic accidents here last month was almost identical to the October record, but considerably higher than that for November of last year, Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley reported today.

During the past month there were 60 accidents compared with 59 for the previous month. This compares with 45 accidents in November 1958, Moxley said.

"The bright spot in the traffic picture for November was the reduction in personal injury accidents and persons injured in these accidents," Moxley said.

"Only six personal injury accidents were investigated and nine persons were injured."

"This record was a very substantial improvement over October when 19 persons were injured in 11 accidents."

Moxley warned that this month is the most dangerous of the year from a traffic accident standpoint.

"All drivers and pedestrians are warned to be extermely cautious during this period, so that a happy holiday is not ruined by a moment of carelessness."

Birmingham resident Mrs. Alan K. Edelberg has been named assistant county welfare agent for the Oakland County Juvenile Court by Gov. Williams.

Mrs. Edelberg of 1011 N. Woodward Ave. succeeds Mrs. Margaret Knodel who resigned two months ago to take a position with the Michigan Children's Aid Society.

As a county agent Mrs. Edelberg said she would be working primarily with delinquent girls and neglected and adopted children.

Before moving to Birmingham from New York state six months ago, Mrs. Edelberg said she had been a teacher and had done social work.

Architect Charles H. MacMahon of 3248 Woodside Ct., Bloomfield Township, has been elected first vice president of the Michigan Society of Architects at its annual meeting in Detroit.

Old Bailey Smells

LONDON (UPI) — Judge Leslie Block didn't like the atmosphere in his Old Bailey Courtroom yesterday. He said he would refuse to sit in the court again until the ventilation is improved.

A recent survey in Minnesota shows that 74 per cent of its high school students between 15-18 years of age read one or more daily newspapers regularly, while 82 per cent read Sunday papers.

Washington Floods Ease

More Rain, Snow in South

By The Associated Press

More rain and snow fell across storm-whipped south central sections of the country today but rains diminished in western Washington, easing flood conditions.

★ ★ ★

Snow falls up to 18 inches covered areas in New Mexico but the stormy weather which hit the state Monday and Tuesday abated. Four inches of fresh snow fell at Las Vegas for a total of 10 inches on the ground.

Cold air moved into parts of Texas and the worst icing conditions in 20 years slicked areas in the western Panhandle, forcing the closing of many schools and some roads. Power and telephone service was disrupted in hundreds of homes in the ice belt.

★ ★ ★

Rains up to four inches that soaked the dry soil in other parts of Texas were welcomed by farmers and ranchers. The wet belt extended throughout Oklahoma and the lower Mississippi Valley. Heaviest rains were in eastern Texas, Louisiana and along the southern border of Arkansas.

Chicago Firm Gains Control of Auto Felt

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Purchase of control of American Auto Felt Corp., with two plants in Grand Rapids and a subsidiary in Lyons, by Morrie Chaitlen of Chicago was announced Tuesday.

An investment executive, Chaitlen declined to disclose the transaction details but observers estimated the price in excess of $500,000. The new owner and president said he purchased a majority of the corporation's stock at about $8 a share over the past two weeks.

Chaitlen said he sought control of the firm as a "business opportunity and planned no changes in operations or personnel.

★ ★ ★

The firm employs about 450 persons in Grand Rapids to manufacture interior automotive trim, cotton batting and bedding. It has operated 32 years. W. W. Hoagland, president of Auto Felt since 1936, currently is on leave of absence and expected to rejoin the organization in the future.

Senate Will Probe Illegal Recording

WASHINGTON (AP) — Investigating senators ordered a check up Tuesday on how many pocket-sized recorders government agencies have bought and what use is being made of them.

★ ★ ★

The Senate Constitutional Rights Subcommittee directed that its staff look into this after a demonstration of how the device can be used for secret recording of conversations.

The demonstration was given by Harold Lipset of San Francisco, a private detective. Lipset argued that use of secret microphones by police and private detectives is something that "serves a useful social purpose."

But from Edward Bennett Williams, Washington lawyer and a director of the American Civil Liberties Union, the subcommittee heard a denunciation of the use of wiretapping by the FBI and other government agencies.

★ ★ ★

Williams and the practice "is rampant" and that the agencies engaging in its are violating federal law.

Cameras Invade Voelker's Offices for TV Program

MARQUETTE (UPI)—Michigan Supreme Court Justice John Voelker's law offices here have been invaded by television cameramen setting up equipment for a "Small World" show.

The best-selling author will take part in an Edward R. Murrow program to be aired Dec. 27 over CBS-TV.

Voelker, author of "Anatomy of a Murder," was chosen as one of the world's "most noted legal authorities."

"He will participate in the program with Murrow, Attorney Joseph Welch of Boston, U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and Lord Birkett, retired Lord Chief Justice of Appeals of England.

Secretary Won't Resign So . . .

'Sell Benson to Farmers' Job for Republican Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are going to work on the job of selling Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson to the farmers, GOP National Chairman Thruston B. Morton said today.

Morton, who has reported some strong pressure within the party to get rid of Benson as a political liability, said he had anticipated Monday that he has no intention of resigning.

"I have never thought he would resign, nor have I suggested it," Morton said. "All I have done is to call the secretary's attention to the fact that the Democrats have made him a political whipping boy.

★ ★ ★

"We Republicans are going to have to offset this. We are going to get to work on the job of selling him to the farmers."

★ ★ ★

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla) said in a separate interview he doesn't believe the GOP will succeed in such a selling job.

"Politically it's good news for the Democrats that Benson doesn't intend to quit," Monroney said. "But it is disastrous news for the farmers. It means more and more crop surpluses and lower and lower farm prices."

In announcing that he will continue to fight for a "prosperous, expanding and free agriculture," Benson said of the administrations farm program: "The question is not, is it good politics, but is it right?"

"Our program is right," he said. "If anything is right, it ought to be done—and it will prove to be good politics."

Benson said the objective of his program is to "get government off the backs of farmers and eliminate ineffective acreage controls and artificial price-fixing carried over from days of depression and war."

He said "obsolete laws which hogtie farmers, destroy markets and pile up wasteful and costly stocks in government warehouses must go." He added that only Congress can change this situation.

More TV Stations Join Industry's Code

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Association of Broadcasters (NAB) has announced a 12 per cent increase in the past month in the number of television stations subscribing to the industry's self-imposed Code of Good Practices.

The jump, from 269 to 302 subscribers since mid-November, came in the wake of congressional disclosures of rigged TV quiz shows and other deceptive practices.

★ ★ ★

The increase was announced by a special NAB task force set up after the disclosures to police the broadcasting industry.

Jewish War Veterans Objecting to TV Show

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Jewish War Veterans (JWV) has objected to the sponsorship of a television show about President Eisenhower's trip abroad.

★ ★ ★

JWV national commander Bernard Abrams of Jersey City, N.J. wrote NBC complaining, because the program, "Journey to Understanding," was being sponsored by the Brown and Williams Tobacco Co.

★ ★ ★

Abrams said the sponsoring firm is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the British American Tobacco Company, which he said has yielded to an Arab boycott by refusing to ship some of its franchised brands into Israel.

Customs Moves Seized Arms

Weapons and Planes Taken in Florida Worth $2 Million

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Enough guns and ammunition to equip a 1,544-man army and give it air and artillery support have been seized by U.S. customs agents in South Florida during the past two years.

The munitions would have brought two million dollars on the Caribbean revolutionary market.

There were 1,544 rifles, 134 machine guns and 21 antitank weapons.

An audit of seizures by customs disclosed the figures yesterday.

Records showed seven airplanes seized including an old C74 Globemaster valued at $200,000, a Lockheed Lodestar valued at $75,000, and five smaller planes.

Much of the equipment was moved out a week ago from customs warehouses under supervision of the government's General Services Administration. Its destination was not disclosed. But some is being kept here for evidence in cases still untried.

★ ★ ★

Joseph Fortier, supervising customs agents, said 68 defendants still await trial in the arms seizure cases. Most of them stem from activities of arms smugglers before Fidel Castro took power in Cuba.

Coffee Company Keeps Employes Full o' Bonus

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chock Full o' Nuts Corp. plans to pay out 10 per cent of its pre-tax income for fiscal 1959 as a Christmas bonus to its 1,000 employes.

William Black, president of the coffee company, said the figure adds up to 5-½ weeks salary for every employe.

Black said the policy of paying 10 per cent of the company's pre-tax earnings to employes at Christmas time "will continue as long as I'm around."

In a Christmas letter to his staff, Black added, "If you want to put everything you've got into the job for this coming year and push the bonus up to 10 or 11 weeks, you won't get me mad."

Prague Display Draws U.S. Ire

MacArthur Depicted as Mass Murderer, GIs as Headhunters

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has protested to the Communist Czechoslovak government an exhibition in Prague calling Gen. Douglas MacArthur a "mass murderer" and depicting American GIs as headhunters.

★ ★ ★

The State Department made public a note delivered Saturday by U. S. Ambassador John M. Allison charging that the exhibition "seems deliberately calculated to worsen rather than ease the international atmosphere."

The note specifically mentioned a photograph of 12 severed human heads lying on the ground surrounded by a group of soldiers, one of which, the department said, was easily identifiable as an American.

The picture was captioned "American headhunters and their helpers. The methods of colonialists do not change."

Albion College to Dedicate Three Markers

LANSING (UPI) — Plans are under way for the observance of Albion College's 125th anniversary in 1960, the Historical Society of Michigan said today.

Included in ceremonies will be dedication of three markers at or near the college.

★ ★ ★

One marker was placed near the chapel commemorating the 125th anniversary; another on the Delta Tau Delta fraternity house commemorating the hymn "The Old Rugged Cross" which was written there; and the third erected at South Hall, where the song "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" was composed.

Eliza Beaumont Taylor One Person in a Million

Born during the California gold rush of 1849, Mrs. ELIZA BEAUMONT TAYLOR today is celebrating her 110th birthday.

Without doubt, this grand old woman and venerable Oakland County native is the oldest person in Michigan.

Always living within our county, she has attained a greater age than any other of the million or more residents within its borders during her lifetime.

Rugged pioneer, school teacher, housewife, mother, and general example of the American life, we marvel at the storehouse of experience and observations she has attained.

★ ★ ★

We congratulate her and hope that we will be here to do the same on her 111th milestone.

Good Grades and Autos Seldom Go Together

Automobiles versus grades, according to some surveys, produce some pretty conclusive facts. It just might be that the American teen-ager car owner is joy riding himself right out of an education.

★ ★ ★

At least that's the conclusion of studies showing the relationship between car ownership by high school students and their grades. Here's what one typical survey showed:

Not one single straight A student questioned owned a car.

Only 15 per cent of the B students owned cars.

And of the failing students — an astonishing 83 per cent were car owners.

These statistics paint a pretty sorry picture for teen-age car owners. Certainly you could find exceptions, but most studies on this matter point up approximately the same thing.

★ ★ ★

We will admit that circumstances today differ from a few years ago. Social pressures these days — particularly on boys — are strong. And there are cases where students actually need cars for transportation.

★ ★ ★

If your youngsters' grades are not up to par, parents would do well to look for a correlation between grades and driving.

De Gaulle's Grandeur Is Problem for Allies

At a "secret" session of NATO's top military men, Gen. NATHAN TWINING, chief of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, declared that foot-dragging in NATO endangered the West's military position in Europe. Going further, he placed the major blame on France.

★ ★ ★

Let's see what Gen. DE GAULLE has done to NATO in the year he has been President of France:

1. Removed from NATO control Franch naval forces in the Mediterranean.

2. Demanded and got removal of American military planes because of his wish to control atomic weapons based in France. The planes were transferred to British and West German bases.

3. Criticized the integrated NATO command insisting "that France defend herself, for herself and in her own way."

★ ★ ★

Further, De Gaulle insists that France become a nuclear power and have an independent intercontinental nuclear striking force. In other words, he wants to build up, with Germany, a continental bloc, a Third Force, within the Western Alliance with France at its head. He refers to this as "the condition and perhaps the grandeur and glory of tomorrow's civilization."

Chanc. ADENAUER has tried to discourage such ideas and has urged leading nations of Europe to realize that they are no longer great powers able to pursue independent national policies. His warnings haven't done any good, however. DE GAULLE still thinks France is as great a power as any, or even greater.

Pres. de Gaulle is carrying his grandeur of France version a bit far. Washington and London have humored him long enough. Western leaders must present a solid defense front against the Russian menace. De Gaulle's lofty independence only strengthens Khrushchev's hand.

David Lawrence Reminds Us:

Firms Are 'Human Beings' Too

WASHINGTON — Letters from readers about recent proposals for legislation to prohibit industrywide bargaining and "restraints of trade" by labor unions are naturally divided between those who think it would be a desirable reform and those who don't.

LAWRENCE

But a curious thing is the reason given by some critics for urging immunity from legal restraints for unions. They argue that workers are "human beings" while companies are just "machines" operated by people anxious to make a "fast buck."

This is the type of comment often used in class warfare, but the odd part about it is that many union spokesmen actually indoctrinate their members with such antagonisms—as if it will aid them in maintaining unionism.

But, it may be respectfully asked, aren't employers "human beings," too?

Do not the executives of a business work long hours and often at home in the evenings and on weekends on their papers and office memoranda trying to keep abreast of the fast-moving world of competition?

WHO INVENTS JOBS?

Doesn't the government take a big slice of their incomes, and wouldn't the treasury receipts from corporations shrink a good deal if the inventive minds and geniuses of American industry who create jobs were to insist on an eight-hour day five days a week, with time-and-a-half pay for every hour given to business affairs after the day's work is supposed to be done?

There's a hue and cry nowadays about expense accounts rendered by persons who are usually connected with sales staffs or management, and it is right and proper, of course, for the treasury to insist on the proper use of that deduction.

One wonders, however, what would happen to the size of corporate deductions if companies really began paying their executives wages for the time they spent on trips away from home doing company business.

It so happens that the railroads are, in effect, paying their crews increased compensation to offset time spent in another city till the return trip home begins. Many businessmen do the same thing and never get paid for it.

The fact of the matter is that, in the eyes of the law, workers at a factory bench and workers at a desk on the management side are the same—their rights are equal.

Management is forbidden to enter into understandings with the executives of competing companies relating to prices or division of territory or other monopolistic practices. The law of the land forbids it.

Yet unions can form combinations that include the locals in every competing plant and they can thereby control the operations of an entire industry.

For many years there was an agitation to bring labor unions to book under existing antitrust laws but, when the Supreme Court of the United States came under the domination of so-called "liberal" justices, a ruling was proclaimed that, under the then existing laws, labor was not a "commodity."

The theory was that the movement of commodities in interstate commerce could be regulated but not the acts of the workers who make those commodities.

FEAR FOR FAMILY

Today few workers dare to cross a picket line. The fear of violence to the worker or injury to his family is widespread. Voluntary unionization exists to a considerable degree, but the process is often marred by coercive tactics.

Millions of dollars of dues, paid by "human beings" in labor unions, are used to fight the passage of laws that would guarantee other "human beings" the right to work irrespective of whether they joined a union.

Last but not least are the "human beings" who save some of their wages each week and then buy shares in various companies. Their money helps to buy new tools and improved machinery and, if such capital were not forthcoming, American industry could not thrive and the government would have to furnish the capital, as is the case in all Communist countries—where, incidentally, the worker owns nothing and loses his status as a "human being."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Vitamin B1 Deficiency Common to Americans

It would be easy to fill this column with a recital of the signs and/or symptoms nutrition authorities ascribe to the comparatively moderate vitamin B deficiency in America — the condition I call Yankee beri-beri.

For instance, Bicknell & Prescott's Vitamins in Medicine, 2nd ed., published by Grune and Stratton, New York, quotes no less than half a page of symptoms which, according to Williams and his associates, show the parallelism between B1 deficiency and so-called "neurasthenia."

DR. BRADY

You name the symptom and leave it to your doctor to decide what it signifies. I'm afraid if I name it you'll have it.

In the American Journal Medical Sciences, Jolliffe and his associates reported that the following signs and symptoms of avitaminosis-B1 (vitamin B deficiency) appeared as early as the third day in human volunteers who subsisted on a diet supplying only 0.36 milligrams of B1 per day:

Constipation, lack of appetite, breathlessness on slight exertion, pain around the heart, palpitation, fatigue, lassitude, burning of the feet, muscle cramps, calf muscle tenderness.

When vitamin B1 alone was added to the diet all symptoms disappeared within three days and the objective signs within six days.

It is my belief that a great many Americans get little if any more vitamin B1 from their everyday diet than Jolliffe's volunteers got during the experiment. Not the poor, but ALL Americans who subsist on whatever pure, refined food they are offered.

If any of the symptoms or signs of avitaminosis-B1 hits your case, supplement your diet with three B1-Nutron tablets or three teaspoonfuls of B-1 Nutron syrup for a month — it may do no good but it can't do any harm.

★ ★ ★

If the patient can't take vitamin B1 by mouth of course it may be given by hypodermic injection or "shot," as the customer calls it if he is not sure how to pronouce the four-syllable words.

It is childish to imagine that vitamin B1 (thiamin) injected under the skin, into muscle or directly into a vein has any different effect from vitamin B taken in the natural way.

People who drop in at the "clinic" for a "shot" of vitamin B when they feel weary or depressed are just too credulous — they should not be allowed to be at large without a guardian.

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

"A man's character like his bank account, can't grow unless he deposits more than he withdraws."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Will Sea Water Bring Longevity?

Cancer is usually an ailment of middle age. Why? Researchers say it is due to "some chemical deficiency." Many afflictions of mankind also seem to be due to deficiencies, such as baldness, gray hair and diabetes. Do you think the ocean's soluble chemicals might be the answer? Discuss this in chemistry class.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE D-427: Lawrence T., aged 29, is the Sunday School official who wondered why Noah could reach 950 years while we barely average 70.

"Dr. Crane," he continued, "if we used a little ocean water, would it combat cancer and other modern ailments?

DR. CRANE

Well, that is a moot question that is challenging modern science.

There are some chemicals dissolved in sea water that may not be as good for us as others, but certainly we know that many chemicals in the sea are vital to human health.

And our plowed land is almost entirely devoid of these chemicals.

★ ★ ★

Since cancer researchers keep saying that "cancer is apparently due to some chemical deficiency," and ALL water-soluble chemicals are in the ocean water, then Lawrence's question may not be far-fetched, after all.

DEFICIENCY AILMENTS

Many of you readers are now baldheaded or with gray hair, though you had a heavy head of brown or black hair in your youth.

So why are you bald or gray at present? We medics don't explain it on the basis of any germ or virus. No; we call it a "deficiency" ailment.

★ ★ ★

The usual diabetic formerly made enough insulin in his own pancreas to handle all his needs.

Then, at possibly the age of 50, he takes a routine medical exam in connection with a new life insurance policy, and suddenly finds that he may have sugar in his urine.

Maybe he needs 15 units or 25 units of insulin injected by needle every day to supplement the limited output by his own pancreas.

But why does his pancreas now fail to produce its former quota and thus demand an "assist" from a hypodermic injection?

And why do you have a cancer at 50 or 60 when you had none at 25 or 30?

Again, we say "deficiency" of one or more chemicals.

TRACE MINERAL SALT

At our agricultural colleges, researchers have experimented with trace chemicals and now farmers buy red salt for cattle that has 7 different chemicals therein.

This red salt is about 97 per cent ordinary salt, with the addition of minute quantities of cobalt, magnesium, copper, etc.

And the animals thrive far better on this "trace chemical" salt. They are less inclined to anemia. They grow faster. They are not as likely to be sterile. And their offspring are not as likely to be born dead.

★ ★ ★

Those are facts, already well established by modern research.

If a bricklayer has his trowel and mortar and hod but no bricks, he can't build a restraining wall against the waves that may wash his lake cottage away.

Our bodies thus have glands to produce thyroxine, gastric juice, insulin, etc., but if the chemicals that serve as the "bricks" are missing from our food, maybe the glands are handicapped just like that bricklayer.

Could that be why we need outside insulin after middle age and why we finally lose our earlier immunity to cancer?

A few years ago, the sheep in Australia were threatened with extinction. The ewes wouldn't breed. And, if they did, they had miscarriages. Their lambs were born dead.

It was found that all they lacked was a faint trace of cobalt. Then they became healthy, fertile and bore healthy lambs.

So this idea of trace chemicals as a dietary addition to build our resistance against deficiency ailments seems sound.

It might even help us against germ or virus diseases, too.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Letter Praises Eisenhower, Asks Continued Bomb Ban

I've sent the following letter to President Eisenhower:

★ ★ ★

I am one of the millions of Americans who have been encouraged by your efforts to lessen international tension.

★ ★ ★

As part of your effort toward world peace, I urge that you continue the ban on bomb tests which is due to expire December 31st. I hope you will do everything in your power to keep France and other nations from starting again the vicious merry-go-round of bigger and better bomb tests in the new year.

Offers Plan to Avoid Financial Quagmire

After seeing the abundance of Christmas advertising, I'm prompted to write a warning to help some soul avoid the predicament I'm in. We do it to keep up with the Joneses, or to live in the manner we did before marriage, or just because we have little sales resistance. At any rate, we've sold ourselves to the finance company, and we'd like to find our way out.

★ ★ ★

The way to do that is to recognize and pay your obligation to the Lord before all other bills you owe. Don't charge a thing until you're out of debt completely, and then buy for cash. Pray to the Lord to help you live within your means. Shop for cash bargains and make a game out of being thrifty. Vow never to fall into the trap of spending your salary before making it.

★ ★ ★

Don't buy expensive gifts to make up for your neglect of family and friends throughout the whole year. I also want to thank Ralph Keeling for his letters. They're a comfort to me to know others share the same degree of what the real meaning of Christmas is, without all the fanatic dollar grabbers.

'Time Is Flying; Mend Your Ways'

We're living in perilous times, and it behooves us to stop and think. We should ask ourselves where we're going. When are we going to stop? Where are we going to spend eternity?

★ ★ ★

We're all so busy running to and fro we don't have time to think of our soul's welfare. We don't realize the death angel is on our tracks, stalking us day by day. We have the Gospel telling us what to do to escape damnation to Hell, yet we go on our heedless ways, turning our backs on God. It doesn't trouble us that God is grieved over our indifference to Him.

★ ★ ★

But we are wrong. We fail to give God a chance to save us, so we're hurled into eternity without Him and without hope, with sins upon our soul. It was our choice and have no one to blame but ourselves. Too late to hear the preacher, too late to go on our knees and pray, too late to make peace with God, and now the Judgment.

If one group may be subsidized, then why not all groups in difficulty? Then we'd have a nice, parasitic, capitalist welfare state. Please don't call it socialism, for that horrible workers' society, believing in the equal dignity of humanity, would systematize things so that each physically able citizen could make his own living and out of ensuing plenty become the architect of his own life.

Parties Must Establish Records of Performance Before Big Race

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—One way to find time for other things is to stop guessing about the 1960 elections and the presidential candidates until 1960 is half over.

There are too many unpredictables between now and next summer when the political parties open their conventions. For instance: in what Congress does and in what happens in foreign affairs.

Democrats and Republicans in their 1956 campaign platform pumped out promises far more elaborate than their performance. Three years later neither party is in position to much boasting.

Both parties, therefore, will be under political compulsion to build up a record they can cite to the voters in 1960.

★ ★ ★

The Republicans, because President Eisenhower is in charge of foreign affairs, have an advantage in that field—if the performance is good.

★ ★ ★

The Democrats, since they have a majority in Congress, might seem to have an advantage there for claiming things accomplished. But not quite.

Eisenhower will be in a position to dilute any claims they make if he dominates Congress, as he did this year, and proposes programs which have voter-appeal and are acted upon.

★ ★ ★

Possibly the 1960 elections will be more influenced by what happens in the foreign than in the domestic field. Eisenhower has a busy schedule next year in foreign affairs.

Right now, as a result of his meeting with Premier Nikita Khrushchev, there is a little less frigidity in relations with the Soviet Union. Next spring he has a summit meeting with the Soviet leader.

If there is any real achievement there, the Republicans will take credit.

CONGRESSIONAL AGREEMENT

In Congress, which comes back to work in January and will try to finish before the conventions, Democrats and Republicans are pretty much agreed on acting in at least a couple of fields which have political importance.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democrats, and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader, are agreed on bringing up a civil rights bill around mid-February.

★ ★ ★

Dirksen and Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, assistant Senate Democratic leader, both have said Congress is likely to pass a general farm bill.

Johnson, considered a conservative by northern Democratic liberals, may endear himself to them a little more if the civil rights bill has any meaning at all.

RIGHTS FIGHT DUE?

It also is possible that the Democratic party — through the anger of Southern Democrats—will suffer as a result of a Southern fight against civil rights.

If it's much of a fight, it may carry over into the Democratic convention, where the last thing the party wants is a split.

★ ★ ★

The farm bill has a special significance of its own, since the Democrats have been banging away at the Eisenhower farm program for years and the Republicans in 1960 are anxious for the farm vote.

OTHER ISSUES

On other issues the parties may split wide enough for voters to be sure who did what.

The Democrats may try to boost the minimum wage from $1 an hour to $1.25, a move the Republicans have opposed as inflationary.

Mansfield thinks Congress may tackle the problem of federal aid to education. The Republicans in this field have limited their proposals largely to recommendations that the government help the states and school districts finance bond issues for classroom construction.

Democrats have suggested grants-in-aid for such purposes. And, last but not least, a real attempt may be made by both sides to broaden social security benefits.

National Commander Tells of Discount Given by One Firm

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charles A. McCarthy, national commander of the veterans of World War I of the U.S.A., has charged that profiteering by some drug firms is depriving many aged citizens of relief from illness.

McCarthy said yesterday these "unreasonable profits cannot be defended." He praised the subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) which last week completed the first phase of hearings on drug prices.

Meanwhile, the Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union (Ind.) took action to combat what it termed "skyrocketing" drug prices. The union announced it had arranged to buy mail order medical supplies at a 25 per cent discount.

* * *

The union said Organization Drug Service, Inc. of Washington had agreed to sell prescriptions, vitamins, baby needs, sickroom supplies, general health aids and other medical items to the estimated 80,000 members at a discount.

Kettering Plans to Be Reviewed

Waterford Twp. Board of Education Also Will Consider Insurance

Continued review of the new Kettering High School plans will be one of the main items on tomorrow night's Waterford Township Board of Education meeting agenda.

To be constructed on a 55-acre site on Bender street off Hatchery road, the $2,500,000 senior high school is slated for completion in 1961, according to Superintendent William Shunck.

In other business, there will be further consideration of replacement insurance on older school buildings in the district. Howard Huttenlocher will present a report relative to liability insurance.

Shunck will present recommendations on procedures for teacher recruitment and on additional school library expenditures.

The building site committee will submit to a report on land for future school buildings.

480 Present 'Toy Shop'

Parent-Teacher associations are sponsoring Christmas music and play programs at three schools in Waterford Township tonight and tomorrow.

One of the most elaborate performances will be held at 8 p.m. both nights at the Donelson school when more than 480 children present "The Toy Shop."

Two completely different casts of nine leading characters will perform, along with children from the kindergarten through the sixth grades. Miss Mary Lou Bridwell, music teacher, is the director and Mrs. Mildred Bower will accompany the music portion of the program.

Beginning at 8 p.m., there will be a Christmas community sing at the John D. Pierce Junior High School, sponsored by the Schoolcraft School PTA. Robert Grimes will lead the singing.

* * *

"Christmas Memories" is the theme to be presented at the 7:30 p.m. William Beaumont School meeting.

All children in the school will participate and the Waterford Boys' chorus will be the featured guests. Miss Carolyn Doelle will direct.

Vocational School Lacks Staff Funds

LANSING (AP) — Lack of state funds may block opening of the new State Boys Vocational School at Whitmore Lake, a State Welfare Department official said Tuesday.

Warren Houghton, welfare department personnel officer, said the $1,573,357 institution may not open in February as scheduled because an absence of state funds could prevent hiring the necessary 36-member security unit staff.

"As far as we can see, we're going to be held up until the Legislature provides the money," Houghton said.

The Whitmore Lake school, he said, appears to be facing the same problem as the Plymouth home and training school, a recently completed institution which has remained closed because of a similar lack of state money.

Farmington JP Bows Out of Feud

Won't Hear Case of Fellow Justice

By JIM LONG

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Justice of the Peace James P. Lawson said today that he will disqualify himself in hearing testimony on another township justice, Robert H. Nelson, who was arrested last Friday.

Nelson was arrested by township police on a complaint signed by Township Supervisor Curtis H. Hall for not having a building occupancy permit before moving into his new office at 31547 13-Mile Rd.

Lawson also said that he has granted Nelson's attorney, Allen C. Ingle, a 30-day postponement so that he may prepare his case.

"As the township justice I was required to issue the warrant against Nelson, but I do not have to hear the case," Lawson said.

★ ★ ★

"Where two justices in a township are involved I think it would be best to drop out of the hearing and call in a visiting judge and that is exactly what I intend to do," Lawson explained.

Ingle said he asked for the postponement to gather more information on zoning and building ordinances in the township.

"Yesterday, I went to the township offices to check their book of ordinances and found that it hasn't been kept up to date," Ingle said.

★ ★ ★

Ingle added he would ask a writ of mandamus in Circuit Court against the township clerk to find out why a township ordinance book isn't made available to the public as required by state law.

"There isn't a zoning ordinance on record in the book," Ingle said.

The Township Zoning Ordinance went into effect Nov. 22, 1951, he said.

IN NEWSPAPERS

"The ordinances have appeared in newspapers," Ingle said, "but I don't feel that I should wade through eight years of old editions to get the information I want."

★ ★ ★

"Nelson has been charged in violation of two ordinances," Ingle said. "One is a violation of a zoning ordinance, the other a building ordinance. However, they both are concerned with the occupancy of a building without a permit."

"But when I went to the township Building Department they told me they haven't issued a zoning permit for years. Instead they have been issuing building permits only."

Ingle said the township adopted a building code by reference in January 1955 that had been set up by the Building Officers Conference of America, Inc.

The state allows this type of adoption, he said.

NO CASE?

"Since the township has not issued zoning permits and the building permit for the offices Nelson occupies was approved Nov. 4, I don't think the township has a case against Nelson," Ingle said.

"But now that they have started we will see if we can make them regret it," Ingle said.

The feud started last week after Nelson had been arrested and stated at a press conference that supervisor Hall was being vindictive in signing the complaint.

Nelson said that Hall was "sore" because he had cited his son for contempt of court over a traffic ticket.

★ ★ ★

Nelson said he had cited Michael Hall, 18, because he had told him to return to his court with a ticket written for not having a drivers license on his person.

"I told him explicitely to return to my office and we would see what could be done about dismissing it. The general practice is to dismiss such tickets if the person can prove they have one."

"However, Mike went to the state police post in Redford to have the ticket dismissed.

"I feel that he went against my word and I cited him for contempt of court."

Young Hall said that Nelson did not tell him to return.

Supervisor Hall said Monday that he had not been vindictive in signing the complaint against Nelson.

"The timing of these two matters was coincidental," Hall said.

Walled Lake Voting List Faces Legal Technicality

WALLED LAKE — A resolution asking the secretary of state to file a petition in Circuit Court requiring electorates who have not registered since Oct. 1, 1959, to re-register was adopted by the Walled Lake Council last night.

★ ★ ★

"The sole purpose of the move is to put the voting rolls in order in case someone should want to contest their legality," Walled Lake attorney Albert Herzog said.

★ ★ ★

"A court opinion would solve the problem once and for all," he said.

The legal technicality came about when Walled Lake became a city in December 1954, he said.

At that time many persons living within the boundaries of Walled Lake had their voters' registration transferred from Commerce Township.

★ ★ ★

The legality of the transfer was doubted by the state attorney, who said those persons who had their records transferred may not be qualified to vote.

Action on the resolution had been held up two weeks by the council until all members were present.

There would be no expense to Walled Lake as far as the court case is concerned, Herzog told the Council.

"The only cost to the city would be for the re-registration," Herzog said.

The council also rejected the offer to obtain two parcels of land in Carole Acres if the city would pay delinquent taxes on the properties.

★ ★ ★

The two lots, one nearly three acres, are under water and the council felt that should anyone get hurt in the area they would be libel to any action taken against them.

An ordinance requiring all taxi cabs in the city to have meters was introduced and then withdrawn until a further check of metered cabs in other communities could be made.

Troy Pushes Urban Renewal

TROY — A move toward neighborhood conservation of the area near 15-Mile and Livernois roads has been taken by the Troy City Commission.

★ ★ ★

Members have authorized city planners to prepare an urban renewal plan for the section bounded by Livernois, 15-Mile, Eastport and Hickory roads.

If approved, the plan will be submitted to the federal government with a petition for funds.

James Carey, Planning Commission head, said other neighborhoods also may qualify for the same type of improvement program.

★ ★ ★

City Manager David Hasse reassured residents of the area to be included in the present plan that it is a program of neighborhood conservation rather than slum clearance.

Lyon Twp. OKs School Bond

$615,000 Issue Wins Approval by 143 Votes; Final Plans Due

LYON TOWNSHIP — Approval of a $615,000 bond issue for construction of a 20 room elementary school was given yesterday by property owners here.

The bond issue passed 496 to 353.

School Superintendent Frank Bartlett said that final plans for the new school will be drawn up immediately and bids for its construction will be advertised as soon as possible.

The new school will be built on property already owned by the school board just south of South Lyon city limits and east of Pontiac trail.

"If everything goes according to plans we should have the school ready for occupancy by February 1961," Bartlett said.

"Because of the increased enrollment, however, the school, designed to house elementary pupils, will have to be used for both junior high and elementary students until we construct another new school, possibly three or four years from now," Bartlett added.

Long range plans call for the construction of a new high school and the shifting of the junior high classes to the present high school.

★ ★ ★

Members of the school board have stated they are confident that the new school can be constructed without increasing the present eight mill levy that has prevailed in the school district for the past several years.

Yesterday's election was the second attempt by the school board to have a bond proposal approved this year.

In March, two proposals went before the voters. One called for a 4-mill increase for operating purposes, and the other asked approval of a $450,000 bond issue.

Both proposals were defeated then by less than 50 votes.

In April the school board set another special election on the 4-mill increase only. It was approved 843 to 603.

Clarkston Pioneers All Ready for Annual Christmas Dinner

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

CLARKSTON — For several weeks lively oldsters here have been planning their annual Christmas party to be held at the Community Center at noon tomorrow.

The group is known throughout the area as the Pioneers. The 60 members past 60 years of age include retired people from all walks of life. Many, well past retirement age, are still active business people.

There is Lee M. Clark president of the group, whose great-grandfather was one of the founders of the village of Clarkston in 1837.

His appearance belies his age, 78, and since his retirement as a manufacturer he has established an insurance business on Main street.

★ ★ ★

For many years another member, Ada Scrace, distributed mail in the town's only post office, and her sense of humor still makes her a favorite among the Pioneers. She is vice president of the group.

A former country school teacher, Mrs. Charles Jones is secretary for the club. Although she and her husband now live in Goodrich, they wouldn't think of missing the once-a-month noonday meetings.

Before his retirement, treasurer James Wright, 82, was chief accountant for the Wayne County Road Commission and his invaluable experience as a tax expert has helped many members of the club. Wright's wife Myrtle, 77, is also a Pioneer and both walk the five long blocks from their home to the Community Center.

★ ★ ★

The oldest member is Robert Dossin with a healthy 95 year record. Myra Wieland runs a close second at 94, and "Uncle" Joe Ammand has hit the 93 year old mark.

The "main spring" and original organizer for the Pioneer club is a young Clarkston matron, Mrs. Frederick Warrick. She discovered that one of the old people's favorite pasttime was eating — so she set up the noontime dinner, with games, singing and movies scheduled in the afternoon.

The programs are always well planned in advance with occasional guest speakers featured in short after-dinner talks.

Tomorrow, after a huge dinner of stuffed turkey, three different vegetables, salads, hot rolls, mince and pumpkin pie, the Pioneers will settle down to an afternoon of singing Christmas carols. This will be followed by an exchange of gifts and games.

Water rates within the village limits will be raised from $3.50 to $5 and outside from $7 to $8.50 per quarter.

The new schedule goes into effect Jan. 4.

Clarkston Church Plans Saturday Night Movie

Replaces Murphy as Troubleshooter

New U. S. Negotiator a Hard Worker

FOY D. KOHLER

By United Press International

The title of State Department "top troubleshooter" that has belonged to the now-retired Robert Murphy for the past several years is likely to go to the new assistant secretary of state for European affairs, Foy David Kohler.

Kohler, a shirt-sleeve diplomat so like Murphy and so unlike the movies' typical State Department offical, is a 28-year veteran of the foreign service who generally is considered to be one of the nation's ablest—and toughest negotiators.

The 51-year-old diplomat looks as if he'd be more at home at a race track than a conference table. He is short, slight and wiry with an almost wizened face that frequently crackles with smiles.

The diplomat's formal morning coat and striped pants would look out of place on Kohler, whose double-breasted suits invariably look slept in.

WORKS 12 HOURS

One thing is sure. The suits have been worked in. He's been a 12-hour-a-day man for years and has worked even longer hours in recent months.

The promotion from deputy assistant secretary seemed inevitable to his colleagues. Actually, the Oakwood, Ohio, native had been acting assistant secretary for more than four months. Kohler was given the new appointment yesterday and sworn in a few hours later.

He's spent most of his foreign service career dealing in European affairs, particularly Eastern European matters. He has a working knowledge of Russian, speaks French fluently and has served two stints in the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

Kohler has been working at top diplomatic levels on major matters for most of the year. He coordinated U. S. preparations for the Geneva foreign ministers meeting and then made arrangements for the U.S. visit of first Soviet Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov.

Kohler accompanied Vice President Richard M. Nixon to Moscow as his top diplomatic adviser. He followed this up by directing arrangements for Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's trip to this country.

The new assistant secretary took off for Paris today with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter for the NATO ministers meeting and the Western summit conference next week. Kohler did the spade-work for both talks.

Senator Criticizes Employment Lack

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn) has accused the Eisenhower administration of "complacency" toward the problem of "creeping unemployment."

"The problem is much graver than the administration would have the people believe," he said.

★ ★ ★

McCarthy, chairman of the Special Senate Unemployment Committee, said in a statement that Labor Department figures released Friday "show that creeping unemployment is still a major economic problem on the domestic front."

★ ★ ★

He said the total of 3,670,000 unemployed during November is "most disturbing" and means that even if idle steelworkers were not included, "we would still have 5 per cent unemployed in the nation."

Foreign Cookie Recipes Suggested by Girl Scouts

The two following recipes are of German origin. The first, German Lace Cookies, were chosen by Judy Linton. They are a fragile cookie that neither packs nor travels well. But oh so good.

GERMAN LACE COOKIES
By Judy Linton

½ cup sugar.
1 egg.
1 teaspoon melted shortening.
¼ teaspoon salt.
½ cup raw oatmeal.
½ cup coconut.
½ cup chopped nutmeats.
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Beat egg without separating. Add sugar and mix thoroughly. Add other ingredients in order given. Drop on greased cookie sheet, leaving plenty of room between cookies. Bake at 375 degrees about 12-14 miputes. Remove from pan at once.

Peg Coppersmith was intrigued with the sound of these anise cookies and decided to try them when her turn came. They should be pretty on a cookie plate or in a box.

ANISE DROPS
By Peg Coppersmith

3 eggs.
1½ cups confectioners sugar.
2 cups sifted flour.
1 teaspoon anise seed.

Beat eggs and sugar together for 30 minutes. (This time is important). Add flour and anise seed and mix well.

Drop batter from teaspoon onto greased baking sheet to make drops the size of a walnut. Decorate top with color sugar. Cover pan with waxed paper and let stand at room temperature 8 hours or overnight. Bake in 300-degree oven about 15 minutes.

These should be made to store for 2-3 weeks before using. Keep them in a tightly covered tin box with an apple. With good luck the cookies have a hollow bubble in the top. They are different and delicately flavored.

Joanne Stark chose Scandinavian Cookies. Hers are a molded cookie.

SCANDINAVIAN COOKIES
By Joanne Stark

½ cup light brown sugar.
½ cup butter or margarine.
1 egg, separated.
1 cup sifted flour.
½ cup chopped nuts.
Jelly.

Mix sugar, margarine, egg yolk and flour into smooth dough. Form into little balls the size of a walnut. Roll these balls in slightly beaten egg white and then in the chopped nuts. Pace on greased cookie sheet and in each one press a little hollow.

Bake 15-18 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool. Before serving drop jelly into the center depressions. These are delicious and colorful when filled with red and green jelly.

Don't Leave Letters in Box Overnight

Pontiac's acting postmaster, Robert C. Miller, today warned it is dangerous to leave mail overnight in the mailbox for the carrier to pick up the next day.

★ ★ ★

"It is too great a temptation," said Miller. "Past experience has taught us it is not wise to leave mail in the box for too long a time during the Christmas season."

Japanese Cars Sell Tax Free

But Only to American Military Personnel at Post Exchanges

TOKYO (UPI) — Two major Japanese automobile manufacturing companies Tuesday started selling tax-free four-door sedans to American military personnel and civilians at post exchanges operated by the U.S. Forces in Japan.

★ ★ ★

Put on display for sale were Toyota Motor Company's Toyopet Crown and Fuji Precision Company's Prince Skyline.

★ ★ ★

Representatives of both companies and U.S. military officials signed contracts at Fifth Air Force headquarters at Fuchu, outside Tokyo, to formally start selling the cars at cheaper prices.

Although the cars are now sold tax free to military personnel and civilian employes only, the prospective buyers may now purchase the cars in dollars instead of yen.

Heretofore, military personnel and civilian employes who wanted to buy Japanese cars had to purchase them in yen and pay a tax.

Although prices vary, a new Toyopet Crown or a Prince Skyline usually cost about 1,050,000 yen (about $2,918). The same car now is sold to military personnel for about $2,200.

★ ★ ★

Both Toyopet Crown and Prince Skyline are 70 horsepower and drive 90 miles per hour. Steering wheels are placed on the left side instead of the right.

Officials of both auto companies said few American military personnel have purchased Japanese cars because of tax regulations.

The number of companies in the U.S. selling life insurance has more than doubled in the past decade. There are now more than 1,400 of them.

'Invasion of Cuba Due in '60'

HAVANA (AP)—With his military courts again in full swing, Prime Minister Fidel Castro expressed belief today that there will be an invasion of Cuba in 1960.

"Next year we will have to defend the revolution with weapons in hand," Castro declared in a televised, 4½-hour speech. "It will come because there is a great campaign outside and here. I hope I am wrong, but they will come. I am sure we will annihilate them."

He didn't say who they would be.

The bearded prime minister jibed at labor and racial conflicts in the United States to cheers from his immediate audience, about 1,200 delegates of the Congress of Sugar Workers.

He complained that the recent U.S. steel strike slowed the agrarian reform program of this island nation—which depends chiefly on the United States for its steel products — by halting tractor production.

He chided the United States for its industrial troubles and its racial problems.

Castro's military courts meanwhile picked up speed.

A tribunal in Havana sentenced Maj. Hubert Matos, who resigned as commander of Camaguey province troops last Oct. 19 with a blast against communism, to 20 years in prison for sedition. Castro had been a star witness against his old comrade in arms. Twenty-one officers who defected with Matos drew terms of two to seven years. Thirteen others were acquitted.

Two Cubans were condemned in Pinar del Rio to death before a firing squad. Luis Lara, corporal in the old Batista army, and Jose Antonio Morffi Reyes were accused of leading an anti-Castro band in west Cuba.

Gambler Goes to FBI, Tells of Bank Holdups

DETROIT (AP) — An auto plant foreman surrendered to FBI agents yesterday and told them he robbed two Detroit banks of $2,093 because he was burdened with gambling debts.

Charles J. Mucci, 40, was quoted by Don Hostetter, agent in charge of the Detroit FBI office, as saying he still owed "some $22,000" lost at horse racing tracks.

Hostetter said that minutes before Mucci turned himself in he was planning to rob another bank.

"Before he made up his mind on the locale, he decided to come to the FBI and make a clean breast of it all," Hostetter said. "I guess the Christmas spirit was getting him."

Mucci told him, Hostetter said, that he got $573 in the Dec. 30, 1958 holdup of a branch of the Detroit Bank & Trust Co. and $1,520 from a branch of the Detroit City Bank Jan. 28, 1959. Both branches are located on Detroit's East Side.

He used a toy pistol in the holdups. Mucci said in both cases he handed tellers notes ordering them to put money in envelopes.

He told the FBI agent he held up the City Bank branch during his lunch period.

Mucci is a tool and layout inspection foreman at Chrysler Corp.'s parts and equipment division in suburban Highland Park. He is married and the father of two children.

Hostetter said Mucci described himself as "a good family man, my only shortcoming being that I like to gamble at the racetrack."

Found Innocent as Jury Learns of Hypnotism

CHICAGO (AP) — A criminal court jury, after learning that the state's attorney's chief investigator tried to hypnotize both defendant and accuser, Monday found James Schwartz innocent of kidnaping and attempted assault charges.

★ ★ ★

Schwartz was accused of abducting and attempting to assault Patricia Conners, a 20-year-old airline stewardess, last Jan. 29.

Sgt. James Hoey of the state's attorney's police disclosed under cross examination that chief investigator Paul Newey twice tried to hypnotize Schwartz after his arrest. Newey's efforts apparently were unsuccessful because the state introduced no statement obtained from Schwartz."

In an earlier trial which ended in a mistrial, Miss Connors testified that Newey had more luck with her. She said she was unable to make a positive identification of Schwartz until after Newey hypnotized her.

★ ★ ★

But Judge Thomas E. Kluczynski threw out that part of her testimony, ruling that an identification obtained through hypnosis could not be used in evidence. However, he allowed her courtroom identification to stand.

★ ★ ★

Schwartz maintained he was working as a salesman during the time of the alleged abduction.

Soviet Moon Rocket Second

K's Tour Tops 1959 UPI News Poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States was the biggest news story of 1959.

That is the opinion of editors of United Press International client newspapers and UPI editors, who balloted in a nationwide poll.

★ ★ ★

The top 10 stories of the year:

1. Khrushchev tours United States; agrees with Eisenhower to negotiate further on Berlin without a deadline. (Sept.)

2. Soviet Union announces it has hit moon with rocket; sends second rocket around moon and takes pictures of other side. (Sept.-Oct.)

3. Strike by United Steelworkers of America closes down steel and allied industries; 500,000 return to work after Eisenhower invokes Taft-Hartley Law. (July-Nov.)

4. Fidel Castro takes over in Cuba as Bastista flees; revolution takes anti-American turn with undertones of Communist infiltration. (Jan.-Dec.)

★ ★ ★

5. Congressional subcommittee investigates rigging of television quiz shows; Charles Van Doren and other witnesses admit they got answers to questions in advance. (Oct.)

6. Eisenhower tours Europe, Mideast and Asia; Nixon visits Soviet Union. (Dec., July)

7. John Foster Dulles dies, is replaced by Christian A. Herter as U. S. secretary of state. (April-May)

8. Communist Chinese troops move into Tibet, forcing Dalai Lama to flee to India; Red Chinese troops also violate Indian border; Laos charges invasion from Communist North Viet Nam. (March-Aug.-Sept.)

9. De Gaulle proclaimed first president of Fifth French Republic, present new plan for Algeria; France shows greatest resurgence since war. (Jan.-Sept.)

10. Louisiana Gov. Earl Long put forcibly into mental institution; frees self at dramatic court session. (May)

MANY CLOSE

Hawaiian statehood nearly made the list. The voters also rated highly the Senate subcommittee investigation of labor racketeering. The monkeys Able and Baker and their 300-mile-high space flight drew many votes.

If there had been a sports category Ingemar Johansson's victory over Floyd Patterson, which took the heavyweight championship out of the United States, would have led the list, followed by the Los Angeles Dodgers' win over the Chicago White Sox for the National League pennant.

Some added starters were passage of the labor law, the pre-Thanksgiving cranberry scare and the Montana earthquake. Few votes were cast for Crown Prince Akihito's marriage to a commoner, the Mexico floods, death of Errol Flynn and Little Rock school integration.

AT CAMP DAVID — President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev are shown on their arrival at Camp David, Ike's Maryland hideaway, Sept. 25. This historic meeting generated the peace-aspiring "spirit of Camp David," which Nikita invokes whenever the Soviet Union is criticized for aggression. The President, however, says this "spirit" can be properly applied only by recognizing every nation's right to freedom.

Meany Criticizes U.S.-Red Union Deal

NEW YORK (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany Tuesday criticized the state department for an agreement with the Soviet Union pledging to encourage exchanges between U.S. and Russian trade unions.

★ ★ ★

Meany said the whole world, including the state department, knows that there are no free trade unions in the Soviet Union, that the AFL-CIO has declared itself as opposed to exchanging conventions with them and "that only the Communist-controlled labor unions in the United States, such as that of Harry Bridges' longshoremen on the West Coast, will approve the agreement."

★ ★ ★

Bridges has consistently denied any Communist influence in the Longshoremen's Union.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One-time child actor Bobby Driscoll, 22, has been freed of a charge of possession of paraphernalia for the use of narcotics.

The judge noted that others stood nearby when Driscoll was arrested Oct. 11.

You Better Ask About Name Use

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it permissible to name a baby for his doctor? We have grown very fond of our fine doctor and my husband and I would both like to name our young son for him. But just as we decided we would do this, we began wondering whether it is necessary to ask his permission first of all?

Answer: If you are merely calling him John or Henry or George, you would not have to ask his permission. But if you are taking his full name such as John Morgan or George Stevenson (assuming that the doctor's name is either Morgan or Stevenson), it would be very necessary to ask permission. In fact, if he is not in any way related to you, I think you should take considerable pains to find out how he feels about having an apparently new member added to his family.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is there ever any exception to the rule that an usher at a wedding offer a woman guest his left arm instead of the right? I am thinking of the time he has to seat women guests in the seats to the left of the aisle.

Answer: No. He should offer his right arm always. Whether he is seating guests on the right of the aisle or on the left makes no difference. If he turns to the right, he takes a step forward as he directs the guest, or if he turns to the left, he takes a step back. That's the only difference.

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend says you say it is proper to use a small piece of bread to push food on to the fork. I believe this may be true of the last mouthful or two but not for every mouthful. Which is right?

Answer: It is entirely proper to use a small crust of bread for this purpose whenever necessary. Generally it is only the last few bits on the plate that present difficulty.

Dear Mrs. Post: My sister is going to be married in two months and has asked me to be her matron of honor. Shouldn't my husband be included somewhere in the wedding party? Her fiance has asked his friends to be ushers and a cousin to be best man.

Answer: Sometimes a bridegroom asks a member of the bride's family to be one of his ushers, but this is not at all necessary because his ushers are supposed to be his own best friends.

Blondes Top Demand on Concert Stage

NEW YORK (UPI) — Concert goers also prefer blondes.

So says Mrs. Ann Colbert, the female world's answer to Sol Hurok.

Mrs. Colbert, who believes she is the nation's only woman impresario, said "there are two things always in demand on the concert stage — piano players and blonde sopranos. You never have any trouble booking either."

Ann Colbert and her husband, Henry, have been managing musicians for 10 years, and today the Colbert-Laberge firm guides the careers of 40 solo artists from singers to cellists to organists, plus 23 chamber music groups.

The biggest problem with her job, she said, is the juggling of train, plane and bus timetables not with artistic temperament as might be expected.

"Any good artist will be nervous before a performance," said Mrs. Colbert. "So you realize that and forget any nonsense they pull."

Designed in the palest of pastels, this Kate Greenaway dress of polyester fiber and cotton is fashion-perfect for parties or visits to grandmother. The wide white collar, appliqued with flowers, is reminiscent of Puritan days and the drawstring sleeves also have an old fashioned flavor. What's more, the dress will come out fresh and crisp after a quick tubbing in soapy water. Available locally.

Beware Gyp Artist

Have a 'Wary' Merry Christmas Wishes BBB

Watch for the Christmas gyp artist, who makes like a Santa elf, offering something for a mere nothing.

He operates through mail-order ads, on the street corners, or at counters loaded with phony price tags, says the Better Business Bureau.

He strums on your heart-strings, asking over the phone for a donation to a fake charity. He's been known to write to you, begging for money to support a worthwhile cause — his bank balance.

The "gypped" raise a howl once they've been taken, Hugh R. Jackson, president of the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan New York said.

Yet the gypsters' Christmas haul runs into hundreds of millions of dollars annually.

In the war against the ruthless, Jackson said the best defense is to heed the slogan of the BBB—

REMEMBER

"If you don't know the merchandise — be sure you know the merchant."

When dealing with the charity racketeers, he said, let your reaction be tempered by four comandments:

— Don't even bother to listen to a phone pitch for a handout unless you know who's calling.

— Seek full identification from any solictor.

— Stash away any merchandise and charity — of questionable character — sent to you. Make the sender come to pick it up, if he tries to twist your arm. Why waste YOUR money sending it back?

— Resist the temptation to be impressed by "names" dropped over the telephone or by a door-to-door solictor or when printed on a letter.

TYPICAL GYPS

Jackson listed these typical Yuletide gyps:

— Imported perfumes, made in bath-tubs, and smelling like anything but perfume; watches that tick for a while — and then not at all; electric trains moved by elbow grease; silver that isn't.

The perfume pushers, Jackson said, usually confide — in a hushed voice — that they have French perfume that sells for $25 or $50 an ounce.

And — "because you're so nice," you can have it for $5 or $10.

"We keep after the perfume peddlers year-round," Jackson said, "but they keep coming back, swindle after swindle. They die hard."

Toys also figure among the most flagrant Yule mail gyps, Jackson said.

The life-size dolls — with ten outfits — cost practically nothing. And that's what you get —practically nothing.

The doll is a cardboard cut-out and so are the outfits.

Give Your Bedroom Quaint, Cozy Look

Want to give your bedroom that peaceful country look? Check your store for wallpapers in quaint rural designs. Even the striped variety gives that quaint appearance.

Carry out the theme in the covers and headboard of the bed. Be sure the mattress is smooth and resilient for a good country night's sleep to top it off.

Put on Cosmetics Before You Bathe

We would all like to have a dewy-looking skin which teenagers have naturally. You may acquire a glowing look by putting on makeup and then taking a warm bath.

Remember, wash your face first before bathing and apply makeup. Then don't touch the makeup while in the tub.

Clothes Can't Brighten Face

(NEA)—Pay as much attention to the facial expression you wear as you do to your wardrobe.

A pouting teen-ager may be an amusing sight, but a pouting mature woman is most unattractive. The loveliest fashions in the world won't make you look pretty if your expression is habitually sour.

To a poor man, life's biggest thrill is paying the final installment.

Secondhand Clothes Need Something New

CHICAGO — Passing one child's clothes along to a younger one may be psychologically damaging for both recipient and former wearer.

That's what child psychologists, surveyed by the Garment Dyers Guild of America, report.

Psychologists said the younger child inwardly resents the fact that he is not considered important enough to warrant new clothes.

The older child, meanwhile, may be harboring some "normal jealousy" resulting from attention to this relative newcomer in the family—a younger brother or sister.

And, say the psychologists, he may view the transfer of clothes — despite the fact he's outgrown them — as another "sign" of transferred parental affection.

★ ★ ★

The psychologists didn't recommend elimination of the hand-me-down system. Rather, they suggested a change in the clothes' coloring, that buttons be changed. If the old garment has silver buttons, try brass ones when it's being handed-down.

If a coat has a dog-eared fur collar, consider replacing it with another kind of fur. If no fur? Try adding fur — collar and cuffs — for a high fashion look.

Dear Abby Says: Teach Her Golden Rule

Oldest Daughter Mean, Selfish

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We are an average family with three daughters, ages 11, 13 and 15. Our problem is the 15-year-old. She is very selfish.

ABBY

We give all the girls an allowance and buy them the best clothes we can afford, but with all three of them having their teeth straightened at once, we have to watch our pennies.

Our 15-year-old daughter baby-sits. We told her she could do what she wanted with her baby-sitting money so she spends it all on clothes.

Instead of saving the clothes to hand down to her sisters, she takes them to a second-hand clothes store and sells them for practically nothing.

When I suggested she give her clothes to her sisters, she told me (and this hurt) if I wanted them I could buy them back from the second-hand store. How would you handle this girl, Abby?

HURT MOM

DEAR MOM: The money your daughter earns is her own. And so are the clothes she buys with that money. You can't force her to give her clothes to her sisters. But you can give all the girls a good lesson in values by placing less emphasis on clothes and money and more on the old-fashioned virtues, such as generosity, fair play and "do-unto-otherness."

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband runs a diner and he has a lazy smart-alecky cook who thinks he knows everything. And my husband is afraid to open his mouth to this cook. For instance, the diner sells chicken and beef-steak pies. The crust is so thick and tough it is impossible to eat. All our customers send it back and complain. My husband says that the crust is put on just for ornament and you aren't supposed to eat it. I have eaten plenty of chicken and beef pies and the crust was just as good to eat as the inside. Abby, please tell me if I am wrong. I can't win an argument with my old man.

SILENT PARTNER

DEAR SILENT: Get vocal. Your husband surely knows knows that pie crust is meant to be eaten. Explain to him that for the same "dough" he should be able to get a cook who can make crust.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is much different from most women's. They are trying to find ways to keep their husbands home. I am trying to find a way to get mine to go someplace.

Ever since we were married four years ago, my husband has refused to go anywhere without me. I asked him to go play poker or to go have a beer or two with the men but he says he doesn't think it is right for a married man to go places and leave his wife alone.

He takes me out for dinner and a movie once a week and when I tell him he is entitled to a night out by himself he says he would rather stay home with me. We have a five-week-old baby and I have all day to get my work done so it isn't like I need my husband to stay home evenings to help me. Don't get me wrong — I love my husband. I just want him to go out and enjoy himself like other men.

MRS. L. Y.

DEAR MRS. L. Y.: You are the first woman who has ever written to complain because her husband was an angel. Cover him up. He might get pneumonia.

Have You Tried This?

Old German Cookie Fragrant With Spices

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

One of the traditional Christmas cookies is Liebkuchen. Although it can be made weeks before the holiday and left to ripen, it will be good if you make it now.

Today's cook is teen-ager Jill Lathrop. Jill has a talent for friends and loves to be with people. She is a Girl Scout.

LIEBKUCHEN
By Jill Lathrop

1 quart molasses
4 cups brown sugar
1 quart buttermilk
2 cups lard
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon nutmeg
2½ teaspoons soda, dissolved in buttermilk
½ teaspoon anise flavoring
8 cups sifted flour (about)
1 pound chopped walnuts
2 pounds ground raisins
2 pounds dates, cut fine
1 pound candied fruit

Mix all ingredients together. Roll ½ inch thick on heavily floured board. Cut into bars 1x2 inches. Bake 12-15 minutes at 325 degrees. May decorate top with candied cherries before baking.

Small Efforts Keep Beauties Looking Lovely

The women who complain that their days just don't hold enough time for beauty care are usually the ones who spend precious minutes chatting on the telephone or gossiping with neighbors.

They dawdle in the supermarket because they don't make out a list in advance. Somehow, the day slips by and 10 p.m. finds them doing the dishes and yawning. How, they wonder, can anyone be bothered with brushing hair, doing exercises and using a face cream when time goes by so rapidly?

In reality, the time wasted could have been used for spot exercises, a hair setting and a twenty-minute facial. They sound like small efforts, don't they? But these same small efforts daily keep some of Hollywood's much admired beauties looking pretty.

They haven't much time to spare in a busy day but the difference is that they are forced to make every minute count. That's why they can look as fresh at eight p.m. as they do at eight a.m.

Spread canned apple sauce on cinnamon toast, dust with more cinnamon, and broil until hot.

MRS. C. DOUGLAS BROWN

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil E. Lankford of North Sanford street announce the marriage of their daughter Linda Lou to C. Douglas Brown son of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Brown of Going street, Saturday at the First Baptist Church.

Linda L. Lankford Weds in First Baptist Church

Candlelight nuptials of Linda Lou Lankford and C. Douglas Brown were read beneath an archway of holly and red berries Saturday in First Baptist Church. White sleighs, placed in the chancel, were filled with Scotch pine and poinsettias.

Vows were pledged to the Rev. Gerald H. Rapelje of Memorial Baptist Church in the presence of 400. Soloist was George H. Putnam of Pontiac Central High School's vocal music department.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil E. Lankford of North Sanford avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Lon Brown of Going street.

The floor-length bridal gown of white delustered satin, was styled with fitted bodice, appliqued with white velvet and seed pearls. The full skirt which swept into a chapel train featured a velvet bustle bow.

Her fingertip veil was secured by a velvet headpiece studded with seed pearls. Mounted on a white Bible were white rosebuds, stephanotis and ivy.

Attendants in red velvet, with matching shoes and headpiece, carried white fur muffs topped with red carnations, holly and red streamers.

Patricia Brown, sister of the bridegroom, was honor maid, with bridesmaids, Mrs. Edward Lankford, Sandra Arnold and Mrs. Eldon Montrose, all of Pontiac. The bridegroom's cousin, Linda Brown, appeared in green velvet and carried a white muff topped with green carnations. Flower girls Debby and Karen Landmesser wore white floor-length taffeta, sashed in green velvet.

Edward Lankford, stood as best man for the bridegroom. The bride's brother, Donald and James Hefner, seated the guests.

David Lankford was ring bearer.

After a church reception, the newlyweds left for a motor trip to Niagara Falls, the Catskills and New York City. A new home on North Olmstead street, Drayton Plains, awaits them on their return.

The bride was formerly in the circulation department of The Pontiac Press.

Better Be Brighter Than Your Fiancee

By RUTH MILLETT

Memo to men: If you want to increase your chances at having a happy marriage, pick a girl who is not quite as bright as you are.

That is no old wives' tale I'm handing you. A couple of psychiatrists at Duke University who made a study of the marriages of older couples and discovered that in the least-happy marriages a much higher number of wives are smarter than their husbands than in the happier marriages.

The results aren't really surprising. A woman likes to look up to a man and it's not easy to look up to anyone you know isn't as bright as you are.

Also, a man's ego needs a lot of bolstering. And having a wife who defers to his judgment, who quotes his opinions, and who obviously looks up to him is bound to make his ego purr with contentment.

SATISFACTION COUNTS

Then there's the matter of a wife's being satisfied with her lot. The woman who marries a man superior to her in intellect isn't likely to sit around feeling that she has given up her own chances at a successful career to make a home for a husband.

That often happens when a very bright woman marries a not-so-bright man. She gets impatient with his progress and begins to regret having given up her own ambitions.

About the only way that a marriage can be happy when the wife is smarter than her husband is for the wife to pretend it isn't so. But that's a little hard on the wife who has to keep up the pretense through the years.

★ ★ ★

So a smart man ought to be smart enough to choose a wife who is not quite as bright as he is. Then there's no pretense necessary.

Those are just some of the reasons why the girl you ought to marry isn't the one who offers to help you get through college chemistry, but the one who asks you to help her.

But even then you're taking some risk. The girl who asks you for help may be so bright she knows when to play dumb.

Her Portraits More Pleasing Than She Was

(NEA) — The Winterhalter portraits of Queen Victoria are charming. And they are a lesson in the creation of beauty. For in the same period that Winterhalter was doing court paintings of the English queen, she was frequently photographed.

There is a great gap between the reality of the photographs and the beauty of the paintings. Yet no one could say that Winterhalter falsified or turned the queen into a pretty doll. Actually, his paintings of her are very close to the truth but with this difference: where the queen's expression was habitually dour, the artist made it pleasantly pensive.

She had a habit of thrusting out her lower lip; he does not show this. He did not change her coloring, bone structure or the size of her eyes. But he did soften her whole expression so that what emerged in the portrait was charming, feminine and attractive without being a true beauty.

In reality, Queen Victoria could have looked much like this if she had chosen to do so. But she rarely smiled and habitually frowned.

But You Can Survive With Right Shoes

Yule Hard on Your Feet

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Christmas shopping is almost as hard on the feet as it is on the pocketbook! We now are approaching those wild last days before the great day, when women literally will walk dozens of miles a day for many days, and even more tiring, will stand for hours at crowded counters.

You will weather this hectic season with much less fatigue if you will wear comfortable shoes. I do not know how women survive hours on foot in spike heels.

WEAR RIGHT SHOES

Your feet will hold up until the last gift is selected if they are properly shod. A low-heeled walking shoe or a mid-heel pump will be comfortable and these can be most attractive.

In fact they appear more attractive than the painful steps we see women taking on very high heels in the Christmas rush.

Leather shoes will keep the cold and rain at bay and give you adequate support: The leather sole also protects your feet against miles of pavement pounding. As the shopping day progresses your feet will swell slightly. Leather expands slightly with them. A closed toe is desirable, too.

BIG FACTOR

It is literally true that you will weather your holiday buying with MUCH less fatigue if you will shod your underpinnings correctly. This can be a truly big factor.

Switch to comfortable shoes for your Christmas shopping.

If you will take off your shoes when you come home, and indulge in a bit of foot exercise and have a warm foot bath and then rest with your feet higher than your head, you soon will feel refreshed all over.

This is a good simple exercise to take before your 10 minute foot bath. Sit on a chair with your heels resting on the floor, knees stiff. Make circles with your feet. As you do so flex your toes. After circling in one direction for a while then circle in the opposite direction.

Suzie's Gift: Life-Size Doll and Wardrobe

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

The life-size doll is a headliner in Santa's toy pack this year — and it will be even more prized if doll and real-life playmate are dressed alike.

★ ★ ★

You can make a life-size doll, using a standard pattern which gives detailed instructions for cutting, stitching and stuffing a 34-inch doll, just the size of a two-year-old child.

A smart mother will make the doll and then make look-alike dresses for doll and little girl, using a regular size two pattern.

★ ★ ★

Local sewing center experts advise that you use an automatic zigzag stitch in the body construction of the doll, to prevent ripping. For best results, first straight-stitch the seam on the wrong side, then use a narrow zigzag stitch next to the line of straight stitching to reinforce the seam. The flexibility and additional "give" in the zigzag stitch prevent dolly from coming apart at the seams.

★ ★ ★

Charming Christmas outfits for doll and little girl are cotton-print dresses with color-coordinated corduroy jumper. The doll pattern includes panties, slip and shoes.

The national census in 1960 will cost more than 100 million dollars. The first one, back in 1790, set the government back only $44,000.

To Encourage Home Gymnastics

Children Might Enjoy Chinning Bar

AP Newsfeatures

Christmas is the time for presents. The best presents are not always the expensive ones, but the thoughtful ones.

Take a good look at your youngster. If you have one child or more anywhere between the ages of 6 and 14, I'll make a picture of his or her life. Not all youngsters will fit, of course, but see where yours does.

The child goes to school—that one is easy.

Very likely he rides the school bus, or else you drive him to school, or maybe he goes in a car pool. There will be some children who walk or ride their own bikes to school. These don't fit this part of my picture.

In school he sits almost all day. For the younger children there may be a short recess time when he plays on the playground. He eats lunch at school, maybe has a little time for play after lunch, maybe not.

After school he rides the bus home, raids the refrigerator and settles down in front of the TV. Those who go outdoors and play vigorously are the ones who don't fit my picture.

Dinner time comes along and then there is homework to do until bedtime.

This is the life led by a huge number of children in this highly mechanized society of ours. The child spends a tremendous amount of his waking hours sitting and mighty little of it in vigorous activity. Gone are the days when children had to fill the woodbox before breakfast, lug out the ashes in the afternoon, walk long distances to school.

Brunettes Catching Up

Hair's News From Top

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Twelve thousand hairdressers, cosmeticians and manufacturers of beauty products met in Manhattan this week and found that:

—Brunettes are gaining on blondes;

—Hair styles for the winter will remain short with the newest "do" shaped like a triangle;

★ ★ ★

—The latest dryers are air-conditioned;

—Some luxury beauty salons cater to customer comfort with vibrator chairs which remove kinks from the body while curlers put them in the hair.

The occasion was the National Beauty Trades show, an annual gathering sponsored by the Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Assn.

NEW TRENDS

Mrs. Edna L. Emme of St. Louis, a beautician since 1925 and member of the association's official hair fashion committee, described some of the new trends in the beauty world.

She said manufacturers have improved wave solutions to the point that getting a permanent takes little more time than getting a shampoo, and so that any type of hair — bleached, dyed or natural — can be treated.

"The same improvement goes for all the coloring solutions," she said. "And these days, almost every woman is coloring. There still are plenty of blondes, but the brunettes are advancing. This season, we're tinting all shades of brown with highlights . . . some rosy, some tawny."

She said the air-conditioned dryers operate on a new principle of circulation, drawing air through the curlers instead of blasting out around the face.

And as for those vibrating chairs, she said most salons give the customer benefit of same without extra charge.

The association decreed "American caprice" as the newest in coiffures. It is cut so that looking at the full-face, from the chin up, the silhouette is triangular.

BANGS BREAK LINE

Sometimes soft wisps of bangs break the line. The triangle is repeated at the nape of the neck. The hair is waved softly and there is a brushed-up look at the temples.

I asked Miss Emme what became of that puffy, young-looking hair-do called the bouffant which was highly popular a couple of years ago.

"Oh some girls still wear it," she said. "But you know, women like change. Now, when a woman feels gloomy, she goes out and buys a new hairdo instead of a new hat. A hairdo you wear for 24 hours a day."

No Salt or Aspirin

Care for Cut Flowers

NEW YORK — The rain from heaven contains no aspirin or salt, so why put them in the water with cut flowers.

Neither prolongs their beauty, say a couple of professional florists — Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Grupp, who have had a shop across the street from the Metropolitan Opera house for 28 years.

Mrs. Grupp said a big chunk of their business comes from opera fans around the country, who wire floral pieces to their favorite singers. And through the doors of their small shop also pass many operatic greats, not only to buy for their homes or for friends, but also to ask how to preserve the life of a cut flower.

THEIR ADVICE:

Unpack flowers the minute they arrive, but don't plunge them into a vase of cold water. Instead, the warmest welcome is a rest in a dark room and a warm drink (water around 110 degrees F.) in a bucket. This is known as "hardening," making blooms fresh, crisp and dewy.

Before putting the flowers in vase, stems should be re-opened to allow them to drink freely. Make a slanting cut across the bottoms of the stems with a sharp knife. Cutting with scissors pinches and damages.

Flowers require fresh water and don't thrive in stagnant. So change water daily and scrub containers clean. Also recut stems daily with a sharp knife. However, if you use the special cut-flower foods that prolong the life of blooms and arrest bacterial action in the water, you don't have to bother with these procedures. Just add more water, as necessary.

Place arrangements away from heat or drafts. If you can, move the vase to a cool place overnight because this gives flowers a lift for the next day.

When adding meringues as toppings to pies and other desserts, be sure the temperature of the filling or food to be covered is not too hot or the meringue will "cry." If the food is too cold, the meringue will collapse and "leak." For perfect meringues, pile the stiffly beaten egg whites on lukewarm or room-temperature foods. Bake or broil at a high temperature for a short time.

Perfect Christmas Ornament

by Edythe McCulloch

Why not decorate your Yuletide by turning yourself into the Christmas ornament?

Firmly believing that no man-made bauble should ever displace the eternally feminine female we have two delightful ideas on the subject: A sparkling of silver-dust sprinkled on your waves (while the spray net is not quite dry) will add a festive touch.

A deft hand with new easy-to-use eye shadow is our second suggestion. Throw envy to the winds and steal the spotlight yourself. BE the Christmas ornament!

To Be Too Good Is Not Good

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. K's teen-age daughters are always well dressed. If fashion decrees short-jacketed suits, they take their long-jacketed ones to the thrift shop and buy new, stylish ones.

If the dentist reminds them it's time for a checkup, they make immediate appointments. They visit the hairdresser regularly. Their nail polish is never chipped; shoe heels are always tipped; pretty legs are sheathed in the sheerest of nylon stockings.

But Mrs. K wears service-weight stockings. Her clothes are seldom pressed and her shoes are down-at-heels. Her permanented hair is an untidy frizz. She often complains of a toothache but if you say, "Why don't you see the dentist?" she just sighs, "I haven't the time."

She is one of the most dominating women I have ever known.

If her husband wants to stay in town for the weekend, they go to the country. If her daughters get a phone call, she stops whatever she's doing to call, "Who is it?"

★ ★ ★

Her conversation is a verbal hemorrhage of complaints at their failures to use ash trays, respect money, remember their vitamins, tidy their closets. Indeed, her life is a constant battle to compel other people to do as she wants them to do. Her favorite remark is:

"I'm so good to them—but what do I get for it?"

"Goodness" is often the prime concern of dominating people.

The need to control dates back to childhood when the helpless and insecure infant tries to master his surroundings to provide himself with a feeling of safety. He controls the affection of his parents by being good.

Parents who neglect themselves in order to become cornucopias of overindulgences to children should ponder this statement. Though our parents may have traded their affection for such self-sacrificing "goodness," our children seldom do.

They always know what the bargain is about. They know we are using our "goodness" to get safe, affectionate, unthreatening conduct from them—and, like Mrs. K's daughters, withhold it.

They hurt her so often I've been tempted to say, "Because your goodness is fear, the girls can't respect it." But of course I never do.

Insured Oldsters Grow in Numbers

WASHINGTON (UP) — The president of the American Medical Assn. said Tuesday that by the end of 1960 more than 60 per cent of Americans over 65 desiring voluntary health insurance will be covered.

The AMA leader, Dr. Louis Orr of Orlando, Fla., made the prediction to Vice President Richard M. Nixon during a visit to Nixon's office.

"We think we are licking this problem of providing medical and hospital protection for our aging population," he said.

Dr. E. Vincent Askey of Los Angeles, AMA president-elect, said Nixon was "greatly pleased at the progress now being made in getting older people into voluntary commercial health insurance programs.

Grand Haven Offers Land for State College

GRAND HAVEN (UP) — An offer of up to 180 acres of Lake Michigan frontage land for a proposed four-year state-supported college in West Michigan has been made by the Grand Haven city council.

The need for such a school and means of financing it are under study by a Michigan legislative committee and a citizens advisory committee of more than 80 persons.

Grand Haven councilmen last night voted to offer a city-owned site in the North Shore area and urged the committee to accept or reject the proposal.

★ ★ ★

Disposition of waterfront land requires a public vote. If the proposal is accepted, the council reported, it could be placed on a ballot next April.

Four Employes Fired at Ivy Bluff Prison

RALEIGH, N.C. (UP) — State prisons director W. F. Bailey Tuesday announced the firing of J. D. Meadows, superintendent in charge of the Ivy Bluff prison where 20 of North Carolina's toughest convicts escaped last week.

Bailey made the announcement at a special meeting of the State Prison Commission, called to receive Bailey's report on an investigation of the mass break. All but three of the men have been recaptured.

Meadows has been replaced, Bailey said, by Maj. Mack R. Hubbard, chief custodial officer at Central Prison here.

Meadows was the fourth employe of the maximum security prison to lose his job. Bailey fired three guards last Tuesday immediately after the escape.

Coal Firms Predict Good 1960 Outlook

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The coal industry predicted Tuesday its outlook for 1960 is "more hopeful than for some years past" because of anticipated greater demand from electric plants and steel mills.

★ ★ ★

Joseph E. Moody, president of the National Coal Policy Conference, said coal production next year was expected to run 10 per cent ahead of 1959.

The electric industry, Moody said, is confident that there will be a "marked increase" in the use of electricity in 1960. He said this would aid the coal industry because "this is coal's fastest growing market."

"The steel industry, too, cannot help but contribute substantially to a coal resurgence," he wrote. He said the steel makers' effort to make up for production lost during the 116-day strike and to outstrip foreign producers would boom production.

Navy Passenger Plane Sights Red Pole Party

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. (UPI) — A Russian tractor party attempting a transantarctic crossing was sighted Sunday about a quarter of the way from the Soviet base at Vostock to the South Pole, it has been reported.

The three-tractor expedition was sighted by crewmen of a U.S. Navy Constellation making history's first passenger-plane crossing of the pole. Capt. William H. Munson of Port Chester, N.Y., piloted the plane. His copilots were Lt. Cmdr. Raymond P. Calcagne of Union City, Neb., and Lt. Darold L. Reckling of Lincoln, Neb.

U. S. to Stimulate N-Shelter Building

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government will try to stimulate the building of home shelters against nuclear fallout by encouraging contractors to include them in model homes and new housing developments.

★ ★ ★

The step was announced jointly by housing administrator Norman P. Mason and director Leo A. Hoegh of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization.

The cost of home shelters has been made an eligible item in determining property values for the purpose of mortgage insurance underwriten by the Federal Housing Administration, Mason said. This has the effect of making FHA financing available for construction of family fallout shelters.

Jaycees, Jaycettes Set Two Events

Fun for Waterford Tots

Two important activities have been scheduled for members of the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce this week, according to President Frank Richardson.

From 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday, 20 underprivileged children in the township will be given a $5 bill and be taken on a shopping tour in Drayton Plains.

Each child may purchase gifts for his own family. Later they will attend a party at the Jaycee room in the Community Center. The party is being sponsored by the Junior Chamber auxiliary, the Jaycettes.

Colored paper and ribbons will be available for wrapping the gifts. Refreshments will be served to conclude the evening's activities.

The children each will receive a special gift supplied by the Jaycettes.

★ ★ ★

Donald Akers is chairman for the "shopping and wrapping" party, and Mrs. Jack Cooper is chairman for the Jaycettes.

Beginning at 2 p.m. Sunday, the JCs will have an annual kiddies party for children of members at the Community Center.

Santa Claus will distribute presents. There will be games, community singing and plenty of holiday refreshments, according to the chairman of the Christmas party, Mrs. William Goulet.

GOP Senators Eye Tax Today

Profits Levy Probably Will Be Shunted Over to Special Committee

LANSING (AP)—A hostile Republican Senate majority today will decide what to do with a House-approved corporation profits tax, latest solution proposed for Michigan's continuing cash crisis.

Both chambers were scheduled to resume deliberations after a four-day recess, but the tax spotlight fell on the Senate, where a six per cent taxon corporation profits awaited the pleasure of the GOP - controlled appropriations committee.

Committee Chairman Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield) indicated the measure probably would be shunted to the taxation committee before going to the Senate floor for a vote.

Only token attendance was expected in the House, which had nothing to do but view Senate proceedings.

The corporations tax would raise 132 million dollars a year and net the ailing state treasury 90 million dollars after virtual elimination of the corporation franchise fee. House Democrats, aided by two rebel Republicans, jammed the bill through last week after turning down a Senate-passed package of nuisance levies worth 34 million dollars.

Senate majority leader Frank D. Beadle (R-St. Clair), mindful of Republican hostility toward higher business taxes, said the bill hadn't a "chance in the world" of clearing the upper chamber in its present form.

He indicated Republicans might go for one-mill boost in the corporation franchise fee, worth 13 million dollars as a substitute.

Ex-State Employe Accused of Forgery

LANSING (UPI) — Atty Gen. Paul L. Adams says a warrant has been obtained charging Mrs. Laurel Suppes, former employe of the secretary of state's West Side branch in Saginaw, with 10 counts of forgery.

Mrs. Suppes worked for Mrs. Anne La Belle, who recently pleaded guilty to uttering and publishing.

Adams said Mrs. Suppes is accused of forging license plate registrations for trailers by using fictitious names, addresses, vehicle weights and smaller amounts of money than were actually collected. The counts of forgery cover a period from June 17 to July 20, 1959.

City Highway Office in Teletype Chain

Pontiac's office of the State Highway Department yesterday became linked together by a teletype communications system with Lansing headquarters and other district offices.

Commissioner John C. Mackie said the system probably would save "thousands of dollars" in long distance telephone calls while increasing efficiency.

The network runs from Lansing to Crystal Falls, Newberry, Cadillac, Alpena, Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Kalamazoo, Jackson, Pontiac, Detroit, Escanaba and the testing and research laboratory at Ann Arbor.

The Pontiac district office is at 926 Featherstone Ave.

Second Background Story on Controversial Subject

U.S. Births Definitely Controlled

(Editor's Note: This is the second of three background dispatches on the current controversy over birth control. It reports on the actual practices of American families, and on legal restrictions.)

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A large majority of American families practice some form of birth control.

That fact has long been obvious from the U. S. birth rate, which consistently remains far below the biological maximum. It has been confirmed by study conducted jointly by the University of Michigan Research Center and the Scripps Foundation for Population Research.

The researchers interviewed 2,713 white married women between the ages of 18 and 39. Except for the fact that no Negroes were included, the women interviewed were a scientifically selected sample of the nation's population, with all religious groups and economic brackets included in the right proportions.

The findings, recently published, show that 62 per cent of the women expressed "unqualified approval" of birth control, and an additional 12 per cent approved with some qualifications.

The initial question was so worded that all forms of birth control—including the "rhythm method" approved by the Catholic Church—were included.

The researchers then asked about the methods of birth control used.

They found that standard contraceptive devices were used, occasionally or exclusively, by 89 per cent of the Protestants and 96 per cent of the Jews who practice birth control.

While the rhythm method was most widely used among Catholic wives, the research team said that a "very significant" percentage of Catholics acknowledged regular or occasional use of contraceptives. The number who admitted using methods condemned by their church constituted 30 per cent of all the Catholic wives covered by the survey, and more than 50 per cent of the Catholic wives who had said they practiced some form of birth control.

OLD FEDERAL LAW

Although few Americans realize it, there is a federal law, still on the books, which makes it a crime to import, mail or transport in interstate commerce "any article for the prevention of conception."

This law is called the Comstock Act in honor of vice crusader Anthony Comstock, who pushed it through Congress in 1873. Many states adopted "Little Comstock Acts" during the same period, banning the manufacture or sale of contraceptives or the dispensing of birth control advice.

Enforcement of the federal law has been invalidated by a famous court decision rendered by Judge Learned Hand in 1936. All but two of the state laws have been repealed. Connecticut and Massachusetts still have anticontraception laws.

★ ★ ★

The Massachusetts law permits druggists to sell appliances "for the prevention of disease" and the state officially closes its eyes to the fact that these appliances can also be used to prevent conception.

★ ★ ★

In Connecticut, however, the law forbids even the use of a contraceptive device. Dr. Alan F. Guttmacher, medical director of the Planned Parenthood Federation, commented recently that this law makes the citizens of Connecticut "the largest mass criminal population in America."

Several court cases are now pending to challenge the constitutionality of the Connecticut law, and one of them may reach the U. S. Supreme Court next year.

Next: Researchers seek new birth control methods.

Ancient Romans prized oysters so much as a food that they imported them from Britain thinking to improve the virility of their troops.

Ike Laid an Egg in His Grandest Moment

Read Dull Script to Indian Crowd

By BOB CONSIDINE

WITH EISENHOWER — The President of the United States has some of the most gifted spooks ever assembled. They write phrases for him which will be remembered by mankind long after we are all dead and gone.

On the whole they are a more talented lot than the wreathed-like wraiths around Truman, Roosevelt and all the other Presidents dating back to the last Chief Executive who had the time or the disposition to write his own stuff—Abe Lincoln.

But I wish neither Dr. Malcom Moos nor Dr. Kevin McCann had been brought along on this trip, except, of course, socially, both being delightful and erudite gents.

It was painful to see as vibrant a personality as Eisenhower constricted to a script—an unusually evasive one, I thought —as he said goodby to the people of India in a blazing golden sunset Sunday.

What should have been his grandest moment, verbally, laid an egg. Indian officials estimated one million people were in his audience, twice or three times as many as showed up on the same grounds for Khrushchev and Bulganin a few years ago at the height of Nehru's footsie playing with the Soviet Union and communism in general. Khrushchev went over big with an arm-waving blast on colonialism.

READ FROM SCRIPT

Ike was so busy reading from a script which had been prepared a day or two before that he hardly had time to look out on the incredible sea of brown and soulful-eyed faces, reaching as far as the human eye could command.

A lot of them and their children were hungry and working endless hours each day for a stipend the average American leaves as a tip.

They couldn't have been less interested in lofty phrases such as "we must search out with all free nations more effective and practical ways to strengthen the cause of peace and friendship in freedom; and, so doing, make our negotiations with other people more persuasive."

With his sure sense of what is proper and what people want, Eisenhower, if he had a chance to look up and see the multitude before him might have tossed the script away and adlibbed something to the effect he felt sorry that so many of them were in bad shape and that the heart of America, as has become usual in recent years, would try to do something to alleviate same.

Instead, oddly content to stay on the narrow-gauge track of his script, he left them cold with such grandiose but empty phrases as "India, mighty in numbers of its people and in their will to build an ever greater republic, marches —I am confident—to great destiny."

Land-O-Lakes Flying Club Has Election

The Land-O-Lakes Flying Club has announced its appointment of board members and officers for the coming year.

Sherman Coy, a Detroit attorney, has been elected chairman of the Board of Directors, and Charles Baldwin of Orchard Lake, is the new president.

Other officers elected were Floyd B. Dandison of Pontiac, general manager; Elmer Hanaway of Birmingham, vice president; and Ralph W. White of Pontiac, treasurer.

New board members are Robert Hafey of Detroit, and Clifford Lilly of Warren. Peter Gormley will be recording secretary for 1960.

The annual stockholders meeting was held Monday night at Pontiac Municipal Airport restaurant. Directors authorized the purchase of a Beechcraft Bonanza, four passenger plane for club use.

The organization is made up of Detroit and Pontiac area business and professional men using executive aircraft.

Group Seeks to Elect First Indian to Senate

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—A national committee has been formed to elect the first full-blooded American Indian in history to the U.S. Senate.

The candidate is Joseph R. Garry, of Plummer, Idaho, chairman of the Coeur d'Alene tribe. Paul Pitts, chief of the Osage tribe of Hominy, Okla., said the committee was formed after last week's National Congress of American Indians here.

Iceland's capital, Reykjavik, is 1,700 miles closer to the North pole than New York, but it has an average January temperature only one degree lower than New York's.

Vote Against ROTC at MSU

Academic Council Move Goes to School Senate, Trustees for OK

EAST LANSING (AP) — A resolution that compulsory military training (ROTC) at Michigan State University be placed on a voluntary basis by September 1961 was approved last night by the MSU Academic Council.

★ ★ ★

The resolution stipulated, however, that a three-month course on political and military affairs be added to the university curriculum for nonveteran, male students who are American citizens.

The recommendation by the 40-member council of top university officials will be placed before the 900-member academic Senate at its February meeting. A favorable vote from that body would send it on to the MSU board of trustees for a final decision.

Members of the council acted after a four-hour meeting in which they heard:

1. Two faculty reports and one from student government, all urging an end to compulsory training.

2. The case for continuing compulsory training presented by the university services committee.

3. Eight faculty members who asked to be heard for or against the present program.

★ ★ ★

The meeting was closed to the press but Dean William H. Combs, faculty secretary, reported a voice vote was overwhelmingly in favor of the resolution.

Currently, all able-bodied, American male students with no prior military service must take ROTC during their first two years at MSU. Basis for the requirement is the Morrill Act which estalished the Land-Grant university system in 1862.

Hold Funeral Rite for Mayor's Nephew

Funeral service was held yesterday afternoon for Mark Rowston Jewell, 2½-year-old son of a former Pontiac couple and nephew of Pontiac Mayor Philip E. Rowston.

The boy was killed instantly Monday night when he ran into the path of a car on U.S. 2 in Sault Ste. Marie.

He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert A. Jewell, former Pontiac residents now living in Saulte Ste. Marie. Mrs. Jewell is Rowston's sister.

Burial was in Saulte Ste. Marie.

Santa and the ICE KING

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Santa, Oonik and Keotuk are going to visit the Ice King to persuade him to put a stop to the continuous winter. Tweedleknees, Santa's helper, has finally gotten into the spirit of the thing and agreed to build Oonik a new sled.

CHAPTER 8 and 9

The fairies built up the fire in the workshop. Sadly they threw doll beds and toy blocks, wooden soldiers and boxes of trucks into the flames. The room grew warm again and the fairies stopped shivering and sneezing and were able to smile.

But Oonik watched with tears in his eyes as the fabulous toys went up in flames.

"Don't worry," the fairies said, "we'll be able to make toys again when Santa destroys the miserable Ice King."

"He mustn't DESTROY the Ice King," corrected the Queen Fairy. "We want winter in the wintertime but we also want summer in the summertime. That's what Santa is to straighten out with the Ice King. Oh, it will be lovely to see a flower growing again!"

"Oonik!" growled Tweedleknees. "Come here!"

The flappy-eared dwarf had taken apart seven toy wagons and rebuilt them into a long red sled with wagon sides for slats and steel wheel spokes curved into runners.

"How is that?" demanded Tweedleknees.

"Beautiful!" explained Oonik truthfully. "It looks also very fast."

"Any sled I make is fast," boasted Tweedleknees. "The fairies have brought in the reindeers' harness. Hitch up your dog and you're ready to go. Oh, and here's something else you may need."

The gruff old dwarf handed Oonik an ice saw and a seal spear far finer than the ones he had lost on the frozen sea.

"Oh, thank you," said Oonik, surprised and pleased.

COOKIES FOR OONIK

Santa came carrying a sack of food. "Mrs. Claus felt so much better when I told her my plans she got right out of bed and made doughnuts and cookies and gingerbread men—all for Oonik the Eskimo boy, she said."

Now Oonik had never in his life eaten cake or cookies but when he asked what they were Santa said, "Never mind. You'll soon find out. I have raw meat here also for Keotuk."

They packed the tools and food on the sled. Then Santa and Oonik climbed on and, while Tweedleknees shouted a tearful goodby, away they went.

Keotuk wore his little seal skin shoes and bounded joyfully over the snow. But the sled was large and the load heavy and soon Keotuk had to slow down.

Again and again Santa and Oonik got off to walk but often they fell or got separated in the falling snow so finally they stayed on the sled and let Keotuk pull it as best he could.

The further they went the colder it became. This was good because it meant they were getting closer to the Ice King's domain. But finally, Keotuk could go no further and they had to stop.

The snow drifts were packed so hard it was impossible to burrow into them for protection while they slept and ate.

"I shall build an igloo!" exclaimed Oonik.

"I am afraid it would take too long," protested Santa.

"Oh, no," replied Oonik. "My father has taught me. I can build one in an hour. Watch!"

With his snow saw he cut out blocks of ice from the drifts. Each block was about the size of a small suitcase. With Santa's help, he placed the blocks in a circle about eight feet across, being careful to lean each block inward. The next two blocks he shaved down in such a way that when the second row of blocks went on it spiraled upward and inward.

Soon the spiral almost closed over Oonik's head. He decided to leave an opening there to let in light.

But now he was inside a house with no door. He dug his way out making a long tunnel under the wall.

Then he said to Santa, "Come on in!"

It was a very tight squeeze through the tunnel but Santa made it by pulling in his tummy and holding his breath. Then Oonik brought in Keotuk and pulled in the sled which was easy because the sled was long and narrow.

Now they were safe and warm and not even the Ice King could harm them.

SANTA SETTLES DOWN

"This is the finest house I've ever been in," said Santa as he settled down in Oonik's igloo. "Someday I'd like you to make some igloos for me out of toy blocks of make-believe ice. Do you think children might like them for Christmas?"

"Yes," laughed Oonik, "but not Eskimo children, please!"

Santa laughed, too. "Wait until you see what Mrs. Claus has made for you!" He unpacked the bag on the sled. First he gave Keotuk, the dog, a big hunk of raw seal meal. Then he unwrapped a gingerbread man.

"Is it to eat?" asked Oonik puzzled.

"Certainly," said Santa. "It is delicious." And he ate one himself and smacked his lips with pleasure.

"IT'S GINGERBREAD," said Santa, "and it's delicious."

Cautiously Oonik bit into the gingerbread man. It tasted like hay to him. He chewed and chewed and at last with much difficulty he swallowed it.

"It is very good," he said politely.

'HAVE A CUPCAKE!'

"Have a cupcake," said Santa.

Oonik dutifully ate a cupcake but when Santa offered him another he smiled forlornly and said, "No, thank you."

Santa helped himself to cookies and cake while Oonik gazed longingly at the seal meat Keotuk was devouring. Then, Santa understood. He got out Keotuk's meat and cut off a large hunk of raw seal blubber and put it in Oonik's hands. Eagerly Oonik gobbled it up.

Then he smiled happily. "That was good!" he said.

Santa laughed and laughed. "Now I know what to put in your stocking for Christmas," he said.

When they had finished eating they lay down together with Keotuk at their feet and went to sleep.

A long time later they were awakened by a snorting at the other end of the tunnel which led into the igloo. Keotuk sprang to his feet and darted to the tunnel. The sled barred the entrance. The hair on the dog's neck bristled and he began to bark furiously.

★ ★ ★

"You hold Keotuk," said Oonik. "I'll see what it is."

He pushed aside the sled and crawled into the tunnel. When he got near the far end he looked up and saw the entrance was blocked by a big black nose.

His eyes popping, Oonik retreated into the igloo. "It's—it's a huge polar bear!" he gasped.

Keotuk broke loose from Santa's hold and threw himself at the tunnel. Just in time Oonik propped the sled back in place and the dog clawed uselessly at it.

"What'll we do?" said Oonik. "We'll never get out!"

Santa took up Oonik's seal spear and said, "I'll get him." Then, while Oonik tied Keotuk to the sled, Santa slid into the tunnel on his stomach.

But Santa was so fat and the tunnel was so narrow he could only just fit into it. It was impossible for him to move forward. He slid back into the igloo.

"We'll have to make the tunnel larger," he said.

"But then the bear can get in before we can get out," said Oonik. "Let me try going through the tunnel. I am small and I can use the spear without leaving the tunnel."

Before Santa could protest, Oonik slid into the tunnel, pushing the spear along in front of him. By now the bear had punched a larger hole into the ice so that not only his nose but his whole face was poked into the entrance.

★ ★ ★

When he saw Oonik he sniffed curiously and tried to come closer. Oonik drew back his arm and, using all his strength, gave a mighty lunge with the spear straight at the bear's face.

The great bear jerked his head with astonishment, his jaws opened and closed on the spear, and, with one powerful tug, yanked it and Oonik out of the tunnel.

Lutherans to Launch Mission Fund Drive

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — The Evangelical United Brethren Church will launch a worldwide $5,150,000 mission advance program on Jan. 3 along with "Day of Commitment" services in more than 4,000 churches in the United States and Canada.

The four-year program will be administered by the board of missions from its offices here, church leaders announced yesterday.

The funds will be used primarily to build new churches in this country and Canada and to expand the church's ministry overseas. Officials said the program was planned in response to rapid population growth and mobility.

Bourguiba to Talk With Ike on Thursday

He Wants More U.S. Aid

By GODFREY ANDERSON

TUNIS (AP) — President Eisenhower dips lightly into Arab Africa Thursday when he arrives in Tunisia for a 3-hour visit with President Habib Bourguiba.

Bourguiba, a man who knows just what he wants for Tunisia, runs practically a one-man show of his newly independent nation. He can be expected to expound his views strongly to the President of the United States.

★ ★ ★

Right now Bourguiba wants an end to Algeria's nationalist war with France on terms which an Arab can accept. So long as the conflict drags on Tunisia suffers strategically, politically and economically. Bourguiba wants Tunisia for the Tunisians. He means that the French should get out of their remaining naval base at Bizerte, and that the Algerian nationalist bases along his western frontier should go too.

★ ★ ★

Bourguiba also wants more U.S. aid than he is getting.

No other man among Tunisia's 3,600,000 population has Habib Bourguiba's prestige and gift for leadership. One moment he can inflame a mob to the pitch of hysteria with fiery oratory; the next he can talk sweet moderation with international diplomats.

A HANDSOME MAN

At 56 he is a handsome man, with a broad smile and flashing

blue eyes, but he seems prematurely aged by 10 years spent in French detention. Repeatedly released as a conciliatory gesture, he soon found himself back in prison again for stirring up self-rule riots in this land which the French ruled as a protectorate for more than 70 years.

★ ★ ★

When the French finally agreed to give Tunisia real but limited self-rule in 1955, they talked with Bourguiba. With the agreement signed and sealed, he returned home to a hero's welcome.

Becoming premier in 1956, Bourguiba liquidated or drove underground his most dangerous political enemies including Salah ben Youssef, now an exile in Cairo. Then came complete independence with no strings attached.

★ ★ ★

Playing for popularity with the masses, Bourguiba sacked the aged Bey Sidi Mohammed El-Amin, the nominal monarch who had long been considered a French puppet, and seized the property of ministers in the last "collaborationist" cabinets.

He declared himself provisional president and was confirmed in the post by a 92 per cent in the country's first elections a few weeks ago.

Although still largely bound to France by economic and cultural links, Bourguiba has gradually divested his administration of the remaining French technicians. Tens of thousands of Europeans have voluntarily left and their businesses and land are gradually passing to Tunisian hands. A new unit of currency, the dinar, has replaced the French franc.

★ ★ ★

Today the old revolutionary, who once complained of France's "complete and pitiless colonial yoke," has somewhat mellowed toward the former protecting power.

★ ★ ★

He has sent Habib Bourguiba Jr. to be ambassador to Paris. And he has publicly welcomed President Charles de Gaulle's offer of self-determination for Algeria and advised leaders to accept it.

Tariff-Cutting Pacts Protected by Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal court Tuesday upheld the constitutionality of the Trade Agreements Act of 1934 under which the United States has made reciprocal tariff-cutting agreements with other countries.

★ ★ ★

The unanimous ruling was handed down by the five-judge U. S. Court of Customs and Patent Appeals. It upheld the decision of the U. S. Customs Court, which dismissed a suit brought by Star-Kist Foods Inc.

★ ★ ★

Star-Kist asked that tariff reductions negotiated with other countries under the act be declared null and void for two reasons:

— Because the act amounted to an unconstitutional delegation of legislative powers by the Congress to the President.

— Because the tariff-cutting agreement actually was a treaty with a foreign nation which should have been ratified by the Senate.

Say Reds Mass at Nepal Border

Report 100,000 Troops and 400 Planes Near, India Vows Support

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI)—The Chinese Communists have massed 100,000 troops and 400 planes within easy striking distance of the Nepalese border, reports reaching this Himalayan capital said today.

The Communist troops helped put down an anti-Communist uprising in Tibet and now have rolled down to the very border in some places, with 20,000 of them stationed opposite the Nepalese border checkpost of Wolungehungola.

Nepal has been worried for months by the Chinese Communist actions in Tibet and Defense Minister M. B. Gurung made an inspection tour of the northern frontier and reported "heavy concentrations" of the Communist army there.

Maps issued in Peiping show some regions of Nepal as Communist territory but there have been only infrequent reports of any actual Communist incursions into Nepalese territory. The maps also show parts of India, Sikkim and Bhutan as Chinese.

★ ★ ★

Sikkim and Bhutan are Indian protectorates and India is responsible for their defense.

Nepal is an independent kingdom and an Indian government statement that an attack on Nepal would be regarded as an attack on India produced misgivings here, with government officials apparently nervous about getting embroiled with Peiping.

Gurung, in his report on his northern inspection tour, told the independent English language newspaper Daily Commoner, that the Chinese also have built up all-weather roads linking Nepal's border with Tibetan towns and that troops are only a few days march from the border.

It's Christmas Cookie Time

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Alternating stints of writing with stints of cookie baking puts us right in the mood for Christmas — and an article on cookies. There's one batch of cookies cooling on racks and several more chilling in the refrigerator. The house smells wonderful.

Cookies are fun food. Not only are they good to eat, but they lend themselves to all sorts of decorations. You make them for the family and to serve to guests.

You make them as gifts and as tree decorations. You make all the old favorites and every year try several new recipes. Anyway, that's what we do.

At the right is a picture of a girl enjoying a cookie. Her name is Linda Pimlott. A ninth grader at Washington Junior High School, Linda is a Senior Girl Scout.

Linda's Scout troop — twelve girls who meet weekly with their leaders, Mrs. Charles Coppersmith and Mrs. Richard Stark, — is an International Friendship troop. Their long-term goal is a bicycle trip to Europe in the summer of 1961.

Currently they take turns bringing cookies to Scout meeting. The one requirement is that each cookie must represent the cooking of a foreign country. Next spring at a tea they will serve all the kinds of cookies they have been sampling. Each month, two of the girls furnish cookies for a party at the State Hospital.

HANG ON TREE

Some cookies are the sturdy kind like sugar cookies. A slight variation of the standard recipe is this one for Butter Ball Ornaments. After baking and decorating these orange flavored cookies, you tie a ribbon through a hole near the top and hang them on the tree as edible ornaments.

Butter Ball Cookies

1 cup (2 sticks) butter
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
¼ cup granulated sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon orange rind
2 teaspoons orange juice
2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
2-3 tablespoons orange juice
3 cups sifted confectioners sugar

Cream butter and sugars together thoroughly. Beat in egg, orange rind and 2 teaspoons orange juice. Sift flour and salt together; add gradually to creamed mixture. Drop by teaspoonfuls 3 inches apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 10-12 minutes.

Push a straw into each baked cookie near outside rim to make a hole. Remove straw and cool.

Blend enough orange juice into confectioners sugar until of spreading consistency. Ice each cookie and decorate with colored sugar and decorettes to resemble ornaments. Tie a ribbon through hole and hang on tree.

★ ★ ★

Some cookies are frankly fancy and take a little fussing to make. But they're worth it when they're Flaky Meringue Cookies.

Flaky Meringue Cookies

1½ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup (1 stick) butter
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
5 teaspoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon lemon rind
Nut Meringue Filling
Confectioners sugar

Sift flour and salt together. Cut in butter until the size of small peas. Add yolks, lemon juice and lemon rind. Stir with a fork until well blended. Chill dough thoroughly, about 2 hours.

Pinch off small pieces of dough, form into 1-inch balls with hands. Place on lightly floured pastry cloth and flatten to form 2½-inch circles with bottom of a glass or a rolling pin.

Spread 1 teaspoon of Nut Meringue Filling in the center of each. Roll dough as for a jelly roll, being sure to seal edges and ends of each cookie well. Place in a crescent shape on cookie sheet.

Bake 15 minutes at 375 degrees, or until lightly browned. While warm, sprinkle with confectioners sugar.

Nut Meringue Filling

2 egg whites
⅓ cup sugar
¾ cup finely chopped nuts

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually add sugar while continuing to beat. Beat until stiff and glossy. Fold in chopped nuts.

★ ★ ★

Nuts and candied fruit are regular ingredients in Christmas cookies. If you don't like the kind called for in a recipe, feel free to change them. But we think you'll like the combination in this cookie.

Fruit and Nut Butter Cookies

1 cup (2 sticks) butter
¾ cup sugar
2½ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups chopped walnuts and pecans
Candied red and green cherries
Pitted dates
Whole nutmeats

Cream butter and sugar together thoroughly. Add egg; beat until light and fluffy. Add vanilla. Sift flour and salt together; beat gradually into butter mixture. Chill about 2 hours.

Shape dough into balls the size of large marbles; roll in chopped nuts. Place on cookie sheet. Press candied fruit, dates or nutmeat into center of each. Bake 12-15 minutes at 375 degrees. Remove to rack to cool.

★ ★ ★

Honey in cookies helps to keep them moist. It also makes a more delicately flavored cookie than one made with brown sugar or molasses.

Honey Drops

¾ cup (1½ sticks) butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon orange rind
¼ cup honey
2¼ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon mace
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg white, slightly beaten
Shredded coconut

Cream butter and sugar together thoroughly. Beat in egg yolk and orange rind. Blend in honey. Sift dry ingredients together; beat gradually into butter mixture. Drop by teaspoon onto cooky sheet two inches apart. Flatten with fork dipped in flour, then brush with egg white. Sprinkle each cooky with red or green colored coconut. Bake 8-12 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool on cooky rack.

Sift dry ingredients. Blend in shortening. Add egg, water and flavoring. Blend thoroughly. Form into balls sizes of walnut and place on ungreased cookie sheet. Press with heel of hand to flatten.

Brush with egg white. Put half an almond on top. Bake about 12 minutes at 350 degrees. Makes 36 cookies.

India Accusing China of Cruelty

Cites Policemen Taken in Kashmir Sector, Held and Treated Brutally

NEW DELHI (AP) — India has accused Red China of inhuman treatment of Indian policemen captured in the disputed Ladkah sector of Kashmir Oct. 21.

Ten policemen have been returned. One who didn't was reportedly forced to hike nearly two miles with an abdominal wound, then turned over to two Chinese soldiers and left behind.

Prime Minister Nehru's government termed extraordinary China's professions of ignorance as to the whereabouts of that man, Constable Makhan Lal.

It demanded in a Dec. 13 note to Peiping, made public in parliament Tuesday, "that adequate action be taken against the persons responsible" for physical and mental mistreatment of the captives. Nine Indians were killed in the fight between the policemen and Chinese frontier guards.

China's claims that the Indians were given friendly, generous treatment were flatly contradicted on the basis of statements from the 10 prisoners, who were released Nov. 14.

"On the contrary," the note said, "the treatment . . . was the most harsh and inhuman and opposed to all canons of civilized behavior."

The note said Karam Singh, leader of the Indian patrol, was interrogated on 12 days for a total of nearly 70 hours. Under this prolonged questioning and threats, it said, he was made to subscribe to certain statements that were completely untrue.

New Book Tells Tale of Indians and Irish Hills

DETROIT (UPI) — Reporter Merritt Greene of Hillsdale listened for years to tales of the frontier days in the Irish Hills area and decided to write a novel about the days of Chief Bawbeese and the white settlers.

His book, "The Land Lies Pretty," was published this fall by Hillsdale School Supply, Inc.

It is a fast-moving episode of life along the great Sauk Trail, now U.S. 112, and a young schoolmaster whose boredom prompted him to leave a one-room school in Erie County, New York State.

Martin Langdon, the schoolmaster, came to Michigan in search of a homestead in the early 1830s. A chain of events forced him to establish the first school in the area, a classroom for Indians and whites alike.

Although fiction, many true descriptions of Indian tribal customs are interwoven into the book.

Greene spent much time with descendants of the Potowatomi tribe to obtain authentic Indian legends for the novel.

The author is a long-time resident of the Hillsdale area. He attended Jonesville High School and Hillsdale College and has been a radio newsman and newspaper correspondent for many years.

The Y.W.C.A. was established in London in 1844.

Few Freighters Haul Iron Ore Till Dec. 24

CLEVELAND (AP) — Although the bulk of the Great Lakes ore fleet has been laid up for the winter, a few boats still will be hauling ore next week — and possibly even later.

★ ★ ★

Officials at the M.A. Hanna Co. refuse to talk about plans to end their shipping season — as long as good weather holds out.

Of the 10 boats in the Hanna fleet, about half are still operating, a spokesman said.

Pittsburgh division of U.S. Steel Corp., with the largest ore fleet on the lakes, started orderly layup of its 53 boats last week and has pegged Christmas Eve as the final layup date. Dec. 19 was set as the final date for loading Pittsburgh boats at the upper lake ports.

W. Bloomfield Surprises PNH With 55-53 Win

Alix Sinks Clincher With Only 3 Seconds Left in Game

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Pontiac Northern and West Bloomfield battled on even terms most of the way last night, but then all the hysteria possible in a basketball game was packed into the final seven seconds before the Keego quintet emerged with a 55-53 victory.

A jump shot with three seconds to play by Denis Alix from the corner of the key was the winning bucket for the Lakers.

With 17 seconds to play, West Bloomfield held a 53-51 lead. Mike Fedynik took a jump shot, but when it bounced off the rim, he and John Long were called for a jump ball.

Keego got the tip but in the scramble Dennis Harbert was fouled and clock stopped showing seven seconds. Harbert, showing all the pains of pressure, dropped both on the 1-1 rule to tie the score.

Keego brought the ball in and immediately called time with five seconds showing. Coach Art Paddy proceeded to set up a play. Alix took the pass from mid-court, dribbled once and swished the ball through.

In the bedlam, Northern quickly threw the ball into play and as Dennis Vincent took the ball he was bumped by Charles Christensen just as the buzzer sounded.

Vincent with a chance to tie on the 1-1 rule, missed the first shot and the Lakers surprised the Huskies by handing them their third loss in four games.

Northern started strong and held a 15-9 lead after the first quarter, but in the second period, West Bloomfield took over the boards and poured in 23 points to hold a 32-29 halftime advantage.

With Steve Thompson taking control of the boards for Northern and hitting for four crucial field goals, PNH got back into the lead, 47-43 after three periods.

But the Lakers were not to be denied. Once again they took over the inside positions on the rebounds and with 3:09 to play they took the lead 50-49 on two free throws by Jack Newton. A field goal by Alix made it 52-49 and a free throw by Christensen made it 53-49 with 1:27 left. Fedynik hit to make it 53-51 with :48 remaining, but PNH could not hit the big field goal as the game moved into final hectic seconds.

West Bloomfield without a six-footer on the team outrebounded the Huskies 39 to 27. Both teams hit for 21 field goals but two free throws showed the difference. Northern shot 31 per cent and West Bloomfield hit 37 per cent with 56 attempts.

Viking Matmen in Comeback Win Over Fitzgerald

The Walled Lake wrestling team came from far behind for the second straight match and this time the rally resulted in a victory — 28-23 over Fitzgerald.

Down by such scores as 13-0 and 20-7, the Vikings kept hammering away at the lead to cut it down and go ahead. A big surge from behind at Dearborn had fallen two points short.

Kuenn Is Tigers' Most Valuable

DETROIT (AP)—Harvey Kuenn just wants to be the Most Valuable Tiger, not the most vulnerable.

So the Detroit right fielder wouldn't be pinned down on the Tigers' 1960 chances when the Baseball Writers Assn. gave him the Leo MacDonnell Trophy yesterday. Kuenn was named the club's Most Valuable Player and led the American League in batting.

The trophy award and the annual mid-winter writers' luncheon are the kickoff for hot stove league activity in Detroit.

"I'm through making predictions," said Kuenn. "I've gone out on that limb too often. All I'll say is this: I think we'll be an improved ball team. As for where we'll finish, that depends on a lot of things."

Members of the front office staff carefully avoided predictions, too. It is an old Tiger sore spot, this business of building up hopes in the winter and seeing them trickle down the American League ladder in the summer.

★ ★ ★

Manager Jimmie Dykes, president Bill DeWitt, general manager Rick Ferrell and practically every other member of the front office organization was on hand.

DeWitt, congratulating Kuenn on the award, said he hoped that next year some other players would give Kuenn a stronger run for the trophy.

The Tiger president said he was not surprised at the inter-league trading, which was slower than many observers thought it would be.

"I think some people in the National League proposed inter-league trading," said DeWitt "with the idea in mind that there were some real patsies in the American League front offices. But they haven't pulled the wool over our eyes; they found out differently."

★ ★ ★

Asked about the frequent dealings between the New York Yankees and the Kansas City athletics, DeWitt said only that it was strange that the two clubs got together so often in the trading of players. But DeWitt agreed that other American League officials had never formally discussed the matter, or questioned the deals.

The most recent swap involving the two clubs brought Roger Maris to the Yanks, along with Kent Hadley and Joe Demaestri. Hank Bauer, Don Larsen, Norm Siebern and Marv Throneberry went to the athletics.

"We wanted Maris but we made no firm offer," said DeWitt. "We also tried to get Demaestri. Bauer can't play 154 games but he'll help if his legs and eyes are OK. Larsen will help the A's if his arm is sound. Siebern is a fine player. We'd like to have him. Throneberry lacks consistency. He may find himself with the Athletics though."

DeWitt didn't mention Hadley, whom the Tigers dealt away a couple of seasons ago in a 13-player swap with Kansas City.

Of the six players the Tigers received in that swap, only Tom Morgan remains on the roster. And he's trade bait now.

All-Star Pin Points

ANGLING — Move away from a spare leave, to the right for left hand spares, such as this.

SPARES
By BILLY WELU

Strikes are the luxuries that make good scores.

Some spare leaves are seemingly simple, others complex — a few almost impossible. Don't give up on any of them. In tournament competition, particularly, it's better to get one pin than miss them all.

Try to hit single-pin spares dead center. Hitting the pin full reduces chances of missing.

The accepted practice among top bowlers is to move away from the spare leave. Move to the left for right hand spares; to the right for left hand spares. We call this angling the spare.

Give yourself as much of an angle as possible. For pins left standing in the center, move to the center of the approach, or close to it. Some bowlers advocate shooting at middle lane leaves from the normal strike position.

Splits, big or baby, are not pleasant to face. All, even the 7-10, have been made.

Double-wood means one pin directly behind another as the 2-8, 3-9 or 1-5. A full hit is necessary.

It is a fallacy to believe that the more pins clustered together, the easier the spare. I prefer to think that with more pins there is more chance of missing, or getting a cherry pick, which is hitting the front pin too full or too thin and by-passing the ones behind.

There are no easy spares.

DETROIT MVP — The Detroit Baseball Writer's Association elected Harvey Kuenn, Tiger outfielder who won the American League batting championship, as Most Valuable Player on the team. He was presented the award at the annual luncheon yesterday.

Clark Resigns as USC Coach

Trojan Football Mentor Quits Unexpectedly; His Assistant Gets Job

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Clark, who gave glory-hungry University of Southern California a glimpse of the football fame it once took for granted, resigned last night.

The university immediately hired a talented but relatively obscure assistant, John McKay, to succeed Clark.

The unexpected announcement triggered speculation—denied by Clark—that there was lingering bitterness within the school over the Mike McKeever incident.

University of California had accused McKeever, a star Trojan guard, of deliberately using his elbows to smash the face of Cal halfback Steve Bates.

He'll leave USC March 1 to take an executive position with a clothing supply firm run by his brother John. Clark said he never considered coaching a permanent job—and many in this football-fickle city agree.

Black Hawks Rally for 44-42 Triumph

A strong 15-point rally in the 4th quarter brought the Black Hawks a 44-42 triumph over the Jefferson Jets last night in a Class D City League basketball game at Lincoln Junior High.

Steve Pocs paced the Black Hawk attack with 18 points and teammate Phil Landry bagged 10 of his 13 in the 4th-period uprising. Ed Martin had 15 points for the Jets.

In yesterday's other Class D game, Lee's Sales & Service garnered a 23-17 halftime lead and went on to defeat the Pledges, 49-41. Larry Bland collected 14 points for Lee's cagers while Mike McManus and Joe Sweeney made 11 apiece for the Pledges.

Classy Fordson Squad Plasters Skippers, 60-23

Birmingham Rips Jays, 65-38; Ferndale Routs Bears, 60-27

By BILL CORNWELL

As far as the Waterford basketball team is concerned, the Tractors from Dearborn Fordson High School are well named.

The Tractors shifted their powerful machinery into high gear last night at the Waterford gymnasium and plowed the completely outclassed Skippers into an overwhelming 60-23 defeat.

Jim VanderHull's veteran aggregation never gave the Skippers of Jerry Wallace the slightest chance to do anything worthwhile as they breezed in ridiculously easy fashion to their 4th victory in five games.

★ ★ ★

Waterford's loss was just one of a string of convincing lickings dished out to Inter-Lakes Conference quintets yesterday.

Southfield was no match for Birmingham as the Maples chalked up their 1st triumph of the year with an easy 65-38 decision on the Birmingham floor.

Things were every bit as uncomfortable for Berkley at Ferndale where the Dales rolled to a 60-27 verdict without even working up a good sweat.

The Skippers never knew what hit them, but at least a dozen Tractors roamed the court and nine of them entered the scoring column.

★ ★ ★

Fordson had excellent offensive balance. Guard Jerry Czapski tallied 12 points for the Tractors, all in the 1st half, and he was their leading scorer. Forward Tim Czarniak came next with 10.

Waterford, which would have had worlds of trouble even with a strong performance, made matters worse by repeatedly losing the ball on bad passes and other violations against Fordson's tightly-knit defense.

The Tractors held quarterly leads of 17-7, 29-11 and 46-13. Waterford bagged only two points in the 3rd quarter, a field goal by John Stickney, and the bucket was nearly five minutes in arriving.

VanderHull emptied his bench in the 4th period and the Skippers enjoyed their most productive stanza of the evening — 10 points. Individually, their best point-making efforts were four apiece by Bill Bryce and Stickney.

★ ★ ★

It was the 1st setback of the season in three starts for the Wallacemen.

The Tractors completely dominated all phases of play and their 6-foot-6 center, Dave Scott, played just two quarters. Only 17 personal fouls were called in the fast-moving contest, nine against the Skippers.

Birmingham also had terrific point-getting balance. Four of the Maples' starters broke into double figures with Merv Gallup heading the parade on 15 points. The Maples made 42 trips to the foul line and capitalized 21 times.

The Maples moved into a 32-27 halftime advantage after a close 1st period and the Jays never came nearer than six points following intermission. Jim McGaffin led Southfield with 11 points.

★ ★ ★

Ferndale had a 35-10 bulge at halftime and coasted home. Larry Tregoning netted 14 points for the Dales to capture scoring honors while Berkley could do no better than six by Ray Woodworth. The Dales are unbeaten in two games.

Maple Swimmers Win With Reserve Squad

Using every reserve swimmer on the squad, Birmingham Seaholm yesterday swamped Utica tankers, 73-23, in the Maples' pool.

The host squad took nine firsts, all but one event, in a steady team effort. Win was Maples' second dual victory, their third successful outing of the season.

Seaholm opens the Eastern Michigan League campaign on Friday, at Hazel Park.

Waterford junior varsity basketball coach Al Cuthrell saw his players hit a new high in scoring futility last night against Dearborn Fordson at Waterford. The Skipper reserves failed to score a single point during the first 13 minutes of the game, almost a full half of zero. Fordson won easily, 53-19.

MORAL SUPPORT — A couple of West Bloomfield cheerleaders lend their moral support to the Laker basketball team which answered their cheers with a 55-53 victory over Pontiac Northern last night in the PNH gym. The game was won on a last second shot by Denis Alix.

Jackets Wallop Madison, 67-42; Orion Beaten

Thorpe, McDonald Top Dales; Early Deficit Too Much for Dragons

By CHUCK ABAIR

If the first four games are anything to go on, Avondale should try to play all the rest of its basketball games at home.

The Yellowjackets returned to their own court last night and handed Madison a 67-42 thrashing in an Oakland B contest. Lake Orion bowed before Fitzgerald in the other league game, 51-43.

Avon played a lot of good basketball in winning just as it had when Fitzgerald invaded Auburn Heights. But away the Jackets have been able to do very little right.

Madison, winless now in four starts, kept things fairly interesting for 2½ quarters before the Jackets pulled away strong featuring a 13-point scoring spree. The visitors failed to make a field goal over the last ten minutes.

★ ★ ★

Avondale raced to a 15-9 first quarter edge but had it cut to five at halftime. The victors started making their move right after intermission when Darryl Thorpe swished a jumper, Jim "fast break" McDonald hit two straight goals and Herb Harris tallied a foul before MHS knew what happened. The 3rd quarter ended 50-37 and it never was any closer.

Thorpe garnered 21 while McDonald hit 15 in a reserve role. The latter excelled as the layup man on some well-executed fast breaks displaying good speed. Thorpe also worked well on the boards.

The Jackets connected for an impressive 42.4 per cent shooting mark in evening their record at 2-2. Coach Dick Bye has plenty of time to prepare for his next outing—Jan. 8 at Oak Park.

★ ★ ★

Orion made a good showing in trying to extend its unbeaten record to three games but one big quarter put it away early for Fitzgerald.

The Spartans held a 23-9 advantage in the second eight minutes to lead 31-15 at halftime. The Dragons hammered away at the big margin the rest of the night but could not come close.

Bob Bagley and Bob Radlinski, who poured in 18 and 17, respectively, got 15 in that important 2nd stanza when the victors hit on 10 of 22 floor shots. Tom Reed had 12 and Gary Hunter 11 in defeat.

The setback dropped Lake Orion out of a 1st place deadlock with Troy into a three-way tie for 2nd with Avondale and Fitzgerald at 2-1. Troy is 2-0.

Romeo Falls; Emmanuel Triumphs

'New' Utica Hits 85 Points

Utica has only played two games and now is off until January but future foes of the Chieftains have learned they can expect plenty of trouble from them this season.

★ ★ ★

New coach Carlo Muzi saw his charges pile up 85 points to wallop Romeo 85-68 last night. Utica had opened, with a triumph at Rochester.

Pontiac Emmanuel garnered its first victory in three starts; Brighton trounced Flint Mandeville 65-42; Imlay City edged Almont 45-42; East Detroit dropped a 63-61 verdict to Grosse Pointe in the closing seconds, and Country Day tripped Clintondale 49-46 in other Tuesday games.

Utica's worst period was an 18-pointer in that wild one at UHS. Despite the wide final difference, Romeo made a battle of it until the last quarter.

★ ★ ★

The Bulldogs led by five once in the 1st half after finishing the opening period in front 22-20. Utica was ahead by four at halftime and increased the edge to six going into the final session which saw the Chieftains score 27 big digits. A switch from a zone to man-for-man defense helped turn the tide of play.

Five Chieftains accounted for all but two points topped by Fred Sattler with 20 and Dick Mikulski's 17. Ron Schmidt canned 24 and Jim Black 23 in Romeo's third successive defeat.

Emmanuel led all the way in downing the Ortonville Jayvees 61-46 at Daniel Whitfield School. Steady standout Sonny Green racked up 29 points and Frank Watts 14 to almost match the losers. Jim Martin hit 11 for the little Blackhawks.

Brighton, rebounding from a surprise loss at Northville, broke its contest wide open in the 3rd quarter. Don Appleton sparked the Bulldogs again with 27. Scott Martin added 16.

Imlay was in charge all the way but Almont kept battling cutting a 10-point deficit to three in a good last period showing. Pete Brabb swished 13 and Roger Lomerson 11 to pace the Spartans. Dave Bishop of Almont took game honors by tallying 20.

A drive-in layup with 15 seconds left beat East Detroit, which had led by two with one minute to play. Four of the losers scored in double figures headed by Kurt Cooper with 17. East Detroit, 37-34 halftime leader, made 21 of 29 free throws.

★ ★ ★

Country Day fought back from a one-point deficit to go ahead in the third quarter. But Clintondale got going again and was in front until the last minute when two fouls by Mike Kramer and a bucket by Jerry Jaffe iced the decision. Kramer scored 16 and Jaffe 12.

Stuart Jeskie netted 17 points to lead Kuhn's to a 62-57 victory over Dickie's Marathon. Covell scored 18 for Dickie's.

Phil Felice meshed 19 points to feature the Falcons' 45-41 win over Gabriel's Golden Greeks. Jack Comas paced the Greeks with 13.

Weedon's drubbed M59 Sunoco, 69-33, with Tim Underwood's 18 points leading the way. Boring tallied 10 for Sunoco.

Giants Get Blasingame From Cards as Trading Period Ends

NEW YORK (AP)— Baseball's first inter-league trading period ended at midnight and—as usual—it was Cleveland's Frank (Trader) Lane who got the last word.

Just as the tower clock was striking 12 in Cincinnati, Lane's Indians and the Cincinnati Redlegs completed a major inter-league deal that sent ace second baseman Johnny Temple to Cleveland in exchange for pitcher Cal McLish, fiery infielder Billy Martin, and a promising young first baseman, Gordon Coleman.

Lane's deal, made after experts were saying the pennant-winning Chicago White Sox had strengthened themselves most among American League contenders, topped an old - fashioned intra-league deal that appeared to have climaxed the unprecedented three-week inter-league period.

Earlier in the day, Don (Blazer) Blasingame went West from the St. Louis Cardinals to San Francisco—giving the Giants a stronger infield, increased speed and a second leadoff batter. To get him, the Giants gave the Cardinals infielder Daryl Spencer, who'll play for St. Louis as a shortstop, and outfielder Leon Wagner.

This one and an earlier inter-league transaction probably made the Giants the winter book favorites for the National League pennant.

Neither Los Angeles nor Milwaukee, who played off for the '59 title, figured in the 15 trades (9 inter-league) made since Nov. 21, the day the waiver provisions were lifted on trading across league lines.

But while the world champion Dodgers temporarily stood pat, the American League champion White Sox were active.

The White Sox added power at third base and in the outfield, getting Gene Freese, the homer-hitting infielder, from the Philadelphia Phillies, and Minnie Minoso, an RBI man with speed, from the Cleveland Indians.

To get Minoso, the White Sox had to aid the second-place Indians by relinquishing Bubba Phillips, a fine defensive third baseman who can do the job in the outfield, too.

The third-place New York Yankees, apparently stymied both in the National and their own league, once again turned to Kansas City and plucked young, long-ball hitting outfielder Rogers Maris. But the Yanks had to part with pitcher Don Larsen, outfielders Hank Bauer and Norm Siebern and first baseman Marv Throneberry, all part-time regulars last season.

The Giants last year traded into contention for the NL pennant when they added pitchers Sam Jones and Jack Sanford. But they weren't quite strong enough to make it down the stretch. So during the inter-league lapse they grabbed Billy O'Dell and Billy Loes from Baltimore to strengthen both the starting staff and the bullpen. Jackie Brandt went to the Orioles, but the San Francisco outfield remained well stocked with Willie Mays, Willie Kirkland, Felipe Alou and Orlando Cepeda.

Pontiac area bowlers could be on their way to one of the outstanding seasons in local history.

Local men have already turned in great showings in national and area tournaments with many more to shoot for. Now the women are joining in.

Aluma-Vue of Clarkston did a good job taking the state tourney lead on the second weekend at Detroit. Lorraine Cloutier and her teammates have a long time to wait to see how they finish since play continues into next March.

Keg followers in the Motor City are starting to realize now that Oakland County has really come into its own in bowling.

Frank Mitzel of the Greater Detroit Bowling Association was in town this week to present a 300 award to Andy Lindsey and one for 298 to John Nickell along with a sponsor prize to Furtney Drug. It all took place at West Side Recreation.

The West Side Ladies Classic has some women who could likely be stars most anywhere. Shirley Pointer, who averages over 186, has 615, 627 and 645 in successive outings. Jackie Berzon rolled 613 and Gerry Hintz 608. Mrs. Hintz has a 183 average. The latter pair are on the Babe Ruth team which boasts a 2711 actual and 1000 game. Jo Gould has a 246 single.

First tournament for the Knights of Columbus MSGR. A. X. M. Sharpe Council 600 comes up Saturday at Motor Inn Recreation. It is a mixed doubles jamboree.

College Grid Crowds Almost 20 Million in 1959

NEW YORK (UPI)—College football attendance rose 1.74 per cent to a near record of almost 20 million paid admissions in 1959.

A national survey of 623 teams, released today by the NCAA Service Bureau, revealed a total attendance of 19,615,344—an increase of 324,635 over the 1958 season. It was the sixth straight year in which attendance increased and the national total was just short of the record of 19,651,995 set in 1949 when 59 more teams participated in the sport.

On the basis of average attendance per team, it was the greatest year ever. The 623 teams averaged 31,479 each for the season to top the previous mark of 31,199 established in 1958.

The Pacific Coast, East, South and Southwest all experienced sizable gains while attendance in the Midwest, Midlands and Rockies was down.

Attendance in the Far West rose 7.17 per cent to 2,187,461 with an average of 9,077 fans attending the 241 games surveyed. Other rises were 4.74 per cent in the East, 4.43 per cent in the South and 4.51 in the Southwest. Decreases were 8.55 per cent in the Midlands, 7.55 per cent in the Rockies and a tiny 0.31 in the Midwest.

The NCAA Service Bureau reported the national increase was achieved in the face of "an extremely high incidence of unfavorable weather." Officials reported that 37.6 per cent of their home games in 1959 were played under "unfavorable weather conditions" compared to only 25.7 per cent in 1958.

The South enjoyed the largest sectional attendance as 4,973,622 fans turned out for 592 games. The Midwest was next with 4,504,473 fans attending 579 games. The East's total attendance was 2,995,156, the Southwest's 2,290,598, the Pacific Coast's 2,187,461, the Midlands' 2,171,658 and the Rockies 492,376.

There were 92 teams which averaged more than 10,000 attendance per game; 67 which averaged between 5,000 and 10,000, 214 between 2,000 and 5,000 and 250 under 2,000.

Ohio State was the national attendance "champ" with an average attendance of 82,589 at six games for a total of 495,536. Michigan ranked second with 456,385 admissions and Louisiana State was third with 408,727. Michigan State (282,327), Notre Dame (281,155), Iowa (279,400), Oklahoma (275,828), Illinois (270,716), Minnesota (263,983) and Wisconsin (254,972) rounded out the top 10.

Attendance leaders by sections were Pittsburgh in the East, with 228,282 for six games; Louisiana State in the South, with 408,727 in seven games; Ohio State in the Midwest, with 495,536 in six games; Oklahoma in the Midlands, with 275,828 in five games; Texas in the Southwest, with 286,701 in six games; Utah in the Rockies with 76,310 in five games, and Southern California in the Far West, with 292,060 in six games.

The biggest per-game average increases were enjoyed by Northwestern (up 12,692 per game) and Indiana (up 9,244). The greatest drop from a year ago was suffered by Tulane (down 19,724 per game) and Rice (down 19,419).

Three conferences, the Southeast, Atlantic Coast Conference and the Border, experienced increases for the second straight season.

The breakdown by sections:

U. of D. Quint Looks for National Rating

From Our Wire Services

When the first weekly Associated Press college basketball poll comes out next week, two teams who have been out of the ratings for a long time, Detroit and DePaul, will be trying to get top recognition.

The Titans from U. of Detroit make their bid to take a spot among the top ten with a pair of games this weekend which should give the talented Motor City quintet stern tests.

Detroit with a 5-0 record travels to Bloomington, Ind., for a Saturday night engagement against the strong Hoosiers of the Big Ten, and then 18 hours later in the Detroit fieldhouse the Titans will face Boston College in a Sunday afternoon matinee.

A 7-0 record by Monday could push Detroit into a high national position. Detroit last received high perch in the ratings in 1950 when it was ranked 12th but it wasn't for long.

DePaul, the scourge of the college cage world when big George Mikan was throwing his weight around 14 years ago, is also on the move again.

★ ★ ★

The Chicago school won its 5th game without a loss by beating Purdue, 87-65, last night with Howie Carl a 5-10 guard hitting for 26 points.

Purdue suffered its first loss at the hands of Detroit last weekend and yesterday DePaul made its win almost as convincing.

San Francisco, another former national power, scored its first victory in six starts last night by downing Denver, 68-62; Canisius whipped Loyola of Chicago, 73-68, Oklahoma State edged Tulsa, 41-40, and St. John's walloped Brooklyn College, 88-49.

Canisius turned in a superb shooting performance against Loyola, connecting on 30 of 52 attempts from the floor. Joe Loturco sparked the winners with 21 points while Clarence Red, Loyola's leading scorer, was limited to seven points.

A free throw by Moe Iba, son of coach Hank Iba, provided Oklahoma State with its narrow victory over Tulsa. The Hurricanes, after trailing 26-17 at halftime, twice pulled to within one point of Oklahoma State in the final minutes. But a field goal by Dick Soergel and young IBA's free throw carried the Cowboys home in front.

To the Great Fisherman

Thinking Man's Prayer

By The Press Outdoor Editor

At this time of the year sportsmen of all ages, sizes and degrees of interest, look ahead to a period of giving and receiving—from the materialistic point of view.

There's no need for enumeration of the myriad things that can make an outdoorsman happy at Christmas. The advertising media, the fabulous displays in stores show them off. But there comes to this corner a bit of introspective observation which is timely.

A big fishing equipment firm, in lieu of its usual press release remarks:

We pause each year at Christmastime . . . we put aside our thoughts about fishing. Instead we dedicate this thought to The One Great Fisherman, who some day, we hope, will judge us as good enough to keep.

★ ★ ★

A THINKING MAN'S PRAYER

Help me, Oh Lord, to remember that three feet make one yard, 16 ounces one pound, and 60 minutes one hour. Help me to do business on the square.

Make me sympathetic with the fellow who has broken in the struggle; keep me from taking unfair advantage of the weak, or from selling my self-respect for a profit.

Dim my eyes to the petty faults of others, but reveal to me my own. Numb my brain to the pollution of unholy thoughts. Grant me sufficient wisdom to discern right from wrong, and courage to pursue the right.

★ ★ ★

Inspire me to live, day by day, in such a way that when comes sound of low music, scent of sweet flowers, and crunch of footsteps on gravel—the ceremony will be short and the epitaph simple:

"Here lies a man. One who gave more of himself than he asked in return."

There's bound to be some good, sharp ice-making weather soon, when the winter coverings of myriad area lakes will become strong enough to safely bear fishermen and skaters.

Until there are several (at least 4 or 5) inches of ice, keep off the lakes and ponds. Already a number of drownings have been reported, of persons breaking through thin ice.

When conditions are right, and the low temperatures are here to stay, ice fishing provides great sport—for the rugged individualist. Here are some tips that could help bring in some of those nice, fat rainbows, after first of the year.

PERCH BITING?, LOOK FOR TROUT, TOO

'Bows feed along the edges of shoals, around the 15-foot levels. If perch are biting, the trout may be close, too. Both are frequently found together. Not so with bluegills.

★ ★ ★

Use a short—4-5 foot long—limber rod for trout, but for bigger fish use a good spool or free-running reel. Winding on a cleat is too slow. You'll need a $2 trout stamp on your 1960 fishing license.

Lures?

Live minnows for big ones, say the experts; little spoon jigs and ice flies, combined with corn borers or mousie grubs, for average run of fish. (Consult Press Outdoor Page, Dec. 9 for list of county lakes where trout fishing is legal during January and February).

Remember, also, while fishing through the ice, that the minimum size for northern pike is now 20 inches, a boost from 14 inches.

QUESTIONS ABOUT BUYING A BOAT

During the next few months, many area families will be looking at boats, with an idea of buying. Some pertinent questions are offered that might help decide what kind of boat will best suit the family, or individual needs.

1—Principal use. Fishing, water skiing, family cruising?

2—Water conditions. River, lake or offshore. Most general usage.

3—Load demands. Size of family, materials or equipment to be carried.

4.—Mooring, trailering.

Any boat dealer can help, with these questions answered.

Area members of the Michigan Rifle & Pistol Assn. remind this corner that this state has several top officials in the National Rifle Association (NRA), including directors Marvin Driver, Don Gillies and Harold McMahon. Lew Lucas, NRA executive vice-president, from national headquarters at Washington, was at the recent state session.

★ ★ ★

A target record that has stood for more than 50 years was shattered recently when native Ohioan Tom Frye (now of Los Angeles), hit all but six of 100,010 small wood blocks thrown into the air. Frye used .22 caliber rifle, fired each day for 14 days to erase Ad Topperwein's all-but-nine in 72,500 record, back in 1907.

Junior Training Important

State Assn. Stresses Gun Safety Program

Area sportsmen attending the recent Michigan Rifle & Pistol Assn. meeting, report the organization presented some very interesting matters regarding gun safety.

Flint's Ken Silvers reported there are some 99,000 students of hunter safety classes taught by 35,000 qualified instructors, with Michigan having some 3,400. Oakland county has a good number of both students and instructors. Silvers is proxy of Michigan Gun Owners Assn. and chairman of MUCC hunter safety program.

★ ★ ★

Other reports indicated there are 4 million students who have received NRA diplomas, showing participation in the affiliated NRA clubs. There are 320,000 NRA members, 35,000 total NRA life members, 10,700 of whom reside in Michigan, 9,000 affiliated clubs in the USA, with 334 in this state.

Stress was placed on the junior safety program. It was pointed out that with cooperation of schools and parents, 5,000 youngsters can be taught gun safety in the coming year by handling air rifles, without endangering persons or property. In line with this program the association amended its by-laws to provide for a division to train juniors in use of the air-guns.

Bobcat Hunting Gets Under Way

State's 'Average' Goose Season Ends

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's goose season ended Monday and bobcats became legal game in the Lower Peninsula.

The final crack of hunters' guns closed an average goose season at Swan Creek wildlife experiment station in Allegan County and the best on record at nearby Fennville state game area.

Through last Sunday, 10,441 hunters issued permits took 1,559 geese at Swan Creek, mostly Canadas. Last year, 11,802 bagged 1,566 in the full 70-day season.

At Fennville, 17,987 hunters shot down 1,567 geese compared with 1,014 taken throughout the 1958 season by 15,286 hunters.

★ ★ ★

Freeze-ups in November and December cut into the take at Swan Creek, where hunters appeared en route to a record earlier. The season opened Oct. 7 with the regular waterfowl season. Because of a drought in the Canadian duck-breeding provinces, the duck season was trimmed this year to 40 days.

Bobcats, which have a $5 bounty on their heads in the Upper Peninsula, are legal targets south of the Straits from Dec. 15 to March 15. State game experts expect about 150 of the scrappy little animals will be shot—about average.

Many of these will be taken on organized bobcat hunts using specially trained dogs.

"We're finding that more and more hunters are letting the cats go after they've been treed," said Ray Schofield, state game biologist. "They want to preserve them for future hunting."

If past season records continue, hunters should kill close to 800 bobcats north of the straits. Year by year the area is becoming more popular with hunters who take their 'cat hunting seriously.

A $3 small game license is required for resident hunters.

No Plans for Early Shutdown on Duck Season

Federal Official Says Latest Closing Date Is Still January 8

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interior Department is reassuring hunters there are no plans for an early shutdown of the 1959-1960 duck hunting season.

Ross Leffler, assistant secretary of the interior, said yesterday a special survey conducted earlier this month disclosed no greater than expected drop in the mallard duck population.

Leffler noted the survey had caused speculation The Fish and Wildlife Service might be thinking of closing the duck season ahead of time on at least one flyway. The current season now is practically three-quarters over and at least 75 per cent of the kill probably has been made, he said.

"The latest closing date in any state is Jan. 8, 1960," Leffler said. "To shut down now would merely penalize wintering ground states."

Leffler said the department would prefer to make across-the-board reduction another year, if warranted, rather than have the conservation burden be fixed on a discriminatory basis now.

The department spokesman said concern about mallards in the Mississippi flyway was aroused when studies revealed the kill was running heavily to adult ducks, the basic brood stock. Mallards are the most important species in the flyway.

In the interests of curiousity along this line Winchester's news bureau comes up with the following information, which shows the giant tortoise, as most realize, reaches a ripe old age, in the range of 150 years, or more: (These examples are taken from reliable records of zoos and aquariums all over the world).

New Breed of Horses to Be Raised

Appaloosa Stock Farm Opens in Area

Dr. James W. Head announced the opening of a new Appaloosa stock farm on Hiller road in Pontiac. One of the very few Appaloosa farms in the Midwest, it will be known as the "Golden H Corral." Dr. Head's foundation stock includes grand champion Simcoe's Koosah as stud stallion.

"About three years ago I purchased an Appaloosa horse as a pleasure mount," relates Dr. Head. "I became so impressed by the breed's great stamina and intelligence that my hobby of pleasure riding soon grew to a serious desire to breed and raise these outstanding horses."

Dr. Head feels that although known in the East and Midwest, it is rapidly gaining in favor as it's superior qualities become more generally recognized and known.

The Appaloosa is distinctive as a breed of horse, says Dr. Head, having breed characteristics setting them apart from the rest of the equine world. The eye is encircled by white, the only horse having an eye similar to humans. The skin around the nostrils and mouth of the Appaloosa is mottled, an irregular spotting of dark and pink.

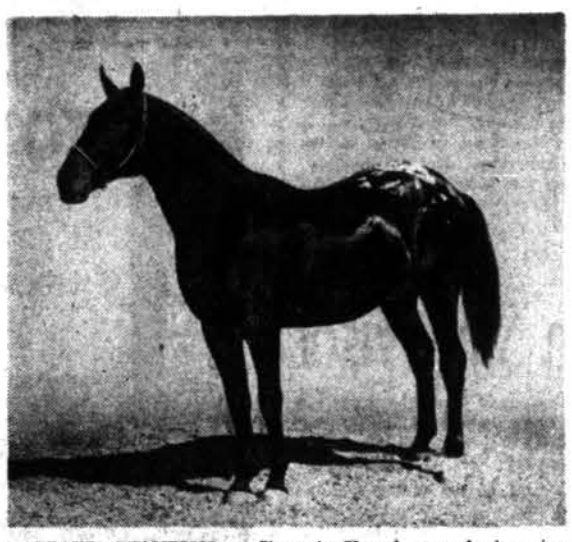
Black and white vertical stripes distinguish the hoofs. No two Appaloosas have coats which are exactly alike. Most horses fall into one of two general patterns, however. The first consists of dark brown, black or chestnut foreparts combined with a white blanket over the loin and hips with dark spots on it. The second type is a white horse with dark spots over its entire body, the spots becoming larger on its hips.

"I believe one of the features of this breed that fascinated me most", said Dr. Head, "was the fact that its background is traced back to antiquity. The breed we now know as the Appaloosa has been depicted in art forms as far back as 14th century Persian art and in Chinese art dating to 500 B. C."

Dr. Head's trip West resulted in the purchase of grand champion Simcoe's Koosah. At Washington State College Light Horse Show, Simcoe's Koosah, two year old son of the famous "Storm Cloud F" went champion stallion to his sire's reserve placing. A proven sire of outstanding colts, Koosah will be stallion for foundation stock at Dr. Head's new "Golden H Corral."

The "Golden H Corral" comprises 70 acres in beautiful rolling Michigan countryside. It's paddocks and training yards are as outstandingly attractive as it's barn which utilizes the most modern convenience and scientific maintenance presently available.



GRAND CHAMPION — Simcoe's Koosah, grand champion stallion, which is a member of the Appaloosa breed of horses, was brought here from the West Coast by Dr. James Head who has opened an Appaloosa stock farm on Hiller Road where he will raise the new breed.

Hunting Mishaps Kept Below 60

Any-Deer Seasons Safer

Many area deer hunters will be somewhat surprised when they learn that the recently closed Michigan any-deer season was one of comparatively low incidence of gun mishaps. They will be happy to know they are wrong if they figured present type hunting was more dangerous than bucks-only seasons.

As a matter of fact, during the 1959 season just ended, Michigan deer hunters again kept hunting accidents below a total of 60 for the fifth straight year.

During the years 1946-54, however, deer hunting was considerably more dangerous; the lowest total accidents for any year in that period was 1951, when 67 persons were killed or wounded. The average for that period was 72 accidents.

A variety of any-deer seasons have been under way in Michigan since 1949, but only since 1956 have the present large-scale quota and area seasons been under way.

And it's been during these "Shoot-Anything" seasons that deer hunting has been safest. Not only has the rate of accidents per 100,000 hunters been steadily declining, but also the actual number of accidents per deer season has been generally lower.

Delay Public Hearing on Park Rule Changes

LANSING — Proposed changes in state parks rules and regulations will not go to a public hearing before next year.

The Conservation Commission tentatively approved the changes at the December meeting. The rule changes were then sent to the attorney general to be couched in the proper legal language. These corrections will then have to be formally approved by the commission before a public hearing can be scheduled.

'Coon Hunters Name Hamilton

Early winter highlighted event for Oakland County Coon Hunters Assn., was the annual banquet and election at the usual banqueting spot at Bald Eagle Inn. Nearly 100 were in attendance, disposed of 38 tasty coons, elected Jack Hamilton of Ortonville president for 1960, heard the season's report on hunting and enjoyed a talk by Conservation Department's biologist Pete Petoskey.

The group took 294 racoons (by 12 hunters) during the 1959 season, an average of 24.5 coon per hunter. They went on record as opposing closure of state park areas to use of dogs.

New officers included: vice president, Carl Kennedy, Oakwood; secretary-treasurer, Lewis M. Wrenn, Pontiac, and directors, James Bearden (Pontiac), Ernest Lattimer (Drayton Plains), Fred Favre (Lake Orion), John Feldman (Lake Orion), Freeman Pace (Holly) and Harold Smith (Pontiac).

Dances for Dinner

The kiwi bird of New Zealand dances for his dinner. Vibrations through the ground cause earthworms to come to the surface. So the kiwi stamps his feet—then feeds. The American woodcock, another earthworm specialist, is said to perform in similar fashion.

Upholds Verdict Against Officers

Judge Won't Reverse $5,000 Judgment for False Arrest

Circuit Judge William J. Beer today refused to reverse a jury judgment of $5,000 against five Madison Heights policemen for falsely arresting, jailing and mistreating a suspect.

★ ★ ★

The judge denied the city's motion for a directed verdict of no cause for action against Lt. Joseph Landino and Patrolmen Leamon Justice, James Simpson, Gerald Sloan and Frank Good.

Judge Beer said he'd grant the motion for entering the jury's judgment of $5,000 awarded to Stanley C. Widlak, 39, of 29385 Spoon St., Madison Heights.

After hearing the court's ruling today, H. Eugene Field, city attorney, indicated an appeal to the State Supreme Court when he asked for and was granted a 20-day stay.

Widlak, a bulldozer operator before his arrest in October of last year, claimed the officers arrested him without a warrant, assaulting him and kept him in jail three days without allowing him to call relatives or an attorney.

Police said they had wanted to question him about a report he was seen taking some lumber from a home under construction.

The city had contended during the trial of Widlak's suit for $100,000 damages that there was probable cause to believe he had committed a felony in the alleged theft of the lumber.

"It is illegal to arrest without warrant a citizen for investigation or on suspicion," Judge Beer ruled today in upholding the jury.

Holiday Brings Out the Thief in Some People

Along with all the special features of the holiday season comes specialized thieves as well.

This is evidenced by the increasing number of reports filing into area law enforcement agencies of Christmas tree and Christmas decoration thefts.

Bernard Carroll of 4704 Sundew St., Commerce Township, told Oakland County sheriff's deputies yesterday that lights and decorations valued at $40 were stolen from his house and a tree in his yard.

Deputies reported today that two blue spruce trees valued at $40 each had been cut down and hauled off the property of Jerry Terpin, 3973 Van Stone Rd., Commerce Township.

★ ★ ★

Earlier this week deputies said thieves tore 35 feet of lights off the home of Mrs. Omar Walling, 4190 Myers Rd., Independence Township, and stole the bulbs.

Today Pontiac Police reported that lights had been stolen from decorations on the home of Nicoli Kniffen, 655 Second Ave.

Commissioners Speak Up

Urge 'Prompt' Bus Peace

City commissioners last night urged a "prompt" settlement of the 11-day bus strike.

It was the city's first move in the wage dispte between Pontiac City Lines, Inc., and 43 striking AFL-CIO drivers and mechanics.

★ ★ ★

City Commissioner Milton R. Henry earlier had backed down in a bid to issue an ultimatum to the company to end the strike within two weeks.

Henry wanted to revoke the company's license if the deadline weren't met.

Such an action would violate a 60-day revocation clause in the bus company's operating agreement with the city, said City Attorney William A. Ewart.

WARN AGAINST HASTE

Commissioner Floyd P. Miles and City Manager Walter K. Willman warned against hasty action.

Under questioning from them, Henry admitted he had no alternate plan for public transportation if the private company was forced out.

"The only alternative would be municipally operated buses and we have enough trouble on hand without going into the bus business," observed Willman.

★ ★ ★

Henry at first expressed sympathy with the striking bus drivers. Then Willman pointed out that if the bus company were forced out the drivers would lose their jobs.

"I don't care," retorted Henry. "If the bus company operation is outdated, it has to go."

Henry expressed interest in the bus company's finances.

QUESTIONS BOOKKEEPING

"I believe they are making more money than they are reporting to us," he said.

"I understand they have a system of bookkeeping deliberately designed to make officials miscalculate what they are making.

"The company is doing pretty well, as a matter of fact, by its stockholders."

Earl Dreasher, manager of Pontiac City Lines, scoffed at Henry's remarks when informed of them.

"Henry, of course, is in a position to know and we're not," he said wryly.

Whereas National City Lines, Inc. is making a profit, Dreasher said, Pontiac City Lines is barely breaking even.

It is the Chicago firm, parent of the Pontiac company, that issues dividends to stockholders.

"There's nothing wrong with our books," said Dreasher.

REPORTS ROCKETING COSTS

In late October the company reported to the city that operating costs were eating up more than 99 per cent of revenues. It was on this basis that the city okayed a nickel increase in fares.

The slim margin of profit is also an issue in the wage negotiations.

Ewart reported that the courtesy ride service, instituted by striking drivers, is not in violation of any provisions of the city's public carrier ordinances.

Drivers are using their own cars to travel established bus routes on established schedules. Henry questioned last week whether they were fulfilling insurance requirements.

Ewart said there were no legal provisions concerning courtesy rides.

The strike is being waged in Saginaw and Kalamazoo.

Negotiators for National City Lines, Saginaw City Lines and the bus drivers met yesterday in Saginaw but reached no settlement, said John Sytsma, president of the Pontiac driver's local.

He is on the union's negotiating team for all three cities.

Paints City Posts Artistic Colors; Police See Red

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The owner of five commercial buildings painted city parking meter posts to match the building fronts—turquoise, mustard and forest green—and the police saw red.

"I used the utmost taste and discretion without knowledge of violating any ordinance," Doll protested, "but I suffered the indignity of riding in the paddy wagon."

★ ★ ★

Doll, a native of Missouri who serves as St. Louis consul for the Republic of Honduras, played his trump card upon arrival at the district police station. He claimed diplomatic immunity.

"I figured it would enhance city property," Doll explained.

Police said residents of the neighborhood had complained. Doll was skeptical.

"They love it," he said.

Pontiac City Affairs

Name Rowston Supervisor

Mayor Philip E. Rowston last night was appointed by the City Commission as a representative on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The move was described by commissioners as an attempt to achieve closer relations between city and county governments.

Rowston will become the city's first commissioner serving on the county board. He is to fill the four-month unexpired term of Robert Boyer, who resigned recently after 4½ years in the job.

"I have felt for some time that we need closer liason with the county," said Commissioner Floyd P. Miles in proposing the appointment. It had been discussed informally by Rowston and the other commissioners last week.

★ ★ ★

In other business, commissioners ordered preparation of an ordinance for the rezoning of 15 residential acres on North Perry street to commercial. This would make way for a proposed bowling alley.

The parcel is on the north side of Perry between Giddings road and the proposed extension of Pontiac road.

Owners of the property, Louis and Julius Koprince, have plans for a possible shopping center later, said James Bates, planning director.

A combined sewer on the southern half of Meadowlawn drive was declared a public necessity on motion of Commissioner Floyd P. Miles. A petition was submitted for the project, signed by 43 per cent of the affected property owners.

Commissioner John A. Dugan asked the city to speed a cooperative plan to level low spots in the vicinity of the Community National Bank's Perry street branch. A mound of foundry dirt behind the bank is causing a dust problem in the neighborhood, he said. The dirt is to be used as fill.

★ ★ ★

Dugan was called upon last night to act in his position of mayor pro-tem. Rowston was absent due to a death in his family.

Fully in the Red: State Treasurer

Troubles Worst Ever, but We're Not Broke, Brown Insists

LANSING (AP)—Michigan "is completely in the red," Sanford A. Brown, state treasurer, said yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Brown gave his opinion as financial troubles plumbed new depths after the State Administrative Board decided to release enough money to meet tomorrow's payroll for 26,000 state employes.

"It's never been worse," Brown said. "For the first time, the aggregate balance of all funds will be in the red.

"Checks would bounce all over the place if we tried to pay all bills."

★ ★ ★

Michigan will have an estimated $5-million-dollar deficit by the end of the year.

The Legislature has been squabbling for months on new taxes to cover rising expenses.

★ ★ ★

Despite a fund shortage, Brown insists the state is not broke.

"We're the nation's sixth wealthiest state," he said. "What with buildings, parks and other resources we have more than two billion dollars in assets."

Florida ranks first in the production of grapefruit.

Willapus —Wallapus? Preposterous

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — City officials scratched their heads when they uncovered a 50-year-old ordinance directing the mayor to authorize repairs "upon the willapus-wallapus at a cost not to exceed $85.

★ ★ ★

City Traffic Engineer Joe Heidenreich began making queries.

Someone told him a willapus-wallapus is a cake with caramel icing. No, said another, it's a fur-bearing animal. There were dozens of other guesses.

Then City Engineer George Gard came up with the right answer: A willapus-wallapus is an outmoded name for a steamroller.

Pontiac Man Injured as Car, Truck Crash

Louis W. Humphreys, 58, of 251 Whittemore St., was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital this morning for treatment of injuries suffered when his car collided with a pickup truck on U.S. 10 at Scott Lake Rd., Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said Charles R. Boice, 30, of 1381 Union Lake Rd., Commerce Township, was uninjured. He was driving the truck.

Humphries suffered a broken collarbone. Deputies said the truck going north on U.S. 10 skidded through a stop light on wet pavement.

Fires, Electrocution, Drinking, Pickpockets

Yule Season Filled With Danger

DETROIT (UPI) — Christmas is looked upon as the happiest time of the year, but the Yuletide season actually is fraught with danger.

There is the ever constant threat of fire. It takes only the slightest spark to turn a Christmas tree or flimsy gift wrapping into a blazing inferno.

And the new metal Christmas trees pose another threat—electrocution.

Christmas parties with "social" drinking also add to holiday peril.

Even the holiday shopper has to be vigilant because of pickpockets mingling in crowds.

WATCH THOSE TOYS

The shopper, too, must be safety-conscious in selection of toys. Some toys which appear harmless to adults can become vehicles of injury or death when placed in the hands of youngsters.

Even mail order buying can be a holiday hazard with the public being bilked out of thousands of dollars.

Detroit Fire Marshal Glen Thom blamed carelessness for Christmas tree blazes and credited pre-holiday warnings with holding down the number of such fires in the nation's fifth largest city.

He said there have been only 33 Christmas tree fires in Detroit in the past 10 years with total damage of $32,951.

Thom urged that persons buying Christmas trees cut at least one inch off the bottom and soak the tree for 48 hours before bringing them into homes. The trees then should be placed in a stand which holds water.

Trees which drop needles excessively should be discarded immediately.

★ ★ ★

Other safety measures urged by Thom include placing of trees in cool areas of a room, away from heat outlets; use of light strings approved by the Underwriters Laboratory (UL) and checking for frayed wire on light strings; keeping electric trains and motor-operated toys away from trees; use of non-combustible ornaments; immediate discarding of gift wrappings, and no smoking in the Christmas tree area.

Thom said the new aluminum trees are a definite conductor of electricity and extreme caution should be taken to insure that no live wire comes into contact with such trees.

He said the fire department is currently testing metal trees for fire hazard. The metal melted, rather than burned, on all but one tree tested. That tree burst into flames because needles had been coated with lacquer.

★ ★ ★

The state board of alcoholism warned that holiday alcohol is a two-pronged threat. The traffic threat is foremost, but the board pointed out that yuletide drinking will provide a setback for many of Michigan's quarter-million alcoholics. Overindulgence often leads to nasty and sometimes fatal quarrels. The board suggests soft drink parties.

Detroit Police Det. Inspector James L. Dunleavy cautioned that "tremendous crowds packing stores become the best natural habitat of pickpockets and purse snatchers."

He noted that pickpockets activities are up 20 per cent over December last year and purse snatchings are up 35 per cent.

Dunleavy urged shoppers not to display large amounts of money, never to set a purse down while examining merchandise and to hold on to packages at all times.

Dr. Joseph G. Molner, Detroit-Wayne County health director, has a word of caution for parents about toy-buying.

He said toys with sharp points should be avoided and toys with removable parts small enough to swallow should never be purchased for toddlers.

★ ★ ★

Molner recommended toys that are easily cleaned for infants. Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield warned that some unscrupulous mail order operators "trade on the good faith of Americans" during the Christmas season.

He cautioned that the public should read ads closely before submitting a mail order for "bargain" items because some operators use gimmicks in advertising intended to mislead buyers.

Boils in Own Cauldron Heated for His Spouse

FLINT (UPI) — Robert O'Neil, 40, didn't want to share receipts from an insurance check with his wife so he devised a scheme to have her jailed.

But the plan backfired.

★ ★ ★

O'Neil telephoned police anonymously and reported his wife was part of a burglary-safe cracking ring. Officers arrested her for questioning at a tavern.

O'Neil accompanied his wife to police headquarters and slipped away for a minute to make another call, reporting that his wife planned to flee from Michigan.

Police became suspicious and questioned O'Neil. He admitted the hoax.

★ ★ ★

The friend of the court ordered him to turn over $100 from the insurance check to Mrs. O'Neil.

And Justice Charles Sharpe fined him $20 and sentenced him to five days in jail for making a false police report and drunk and disorderly conduct.

Soybean Activity Good, Grains Weak

CHICAGO (UP)—Soybean futures were in good demand at form prices but the grains were steady to weak today in early transactions on the Board of Trade.

The grains lacked any new influences and trade was light. Glasgow was reported to have bought 440,000 bushels of corn and the Department of Agriculture accepted subsidy bids of 2 to 6 cents a bushel on 1,573,500 bushels for export.

Wheat was ¼ cent a bushel higher to ⅛ lower near the end of the first hour, December $1.97⅜; corn unchanged to ¼ lower, December $1.09⅜; oats ¼ to ½ lower December 76; rye ¼ to ½ lower, December $1.28½; soybeans unchanged to ½ higher, January $2.14⅛.

Teachers Snub 'Nazi' Professor

Eastern College Faculty Votes Not to Endorse Dr. Sittler's Hiring

BROOKVILLE, N.Y., (AP) — The faculty of a troubled Long Island college has refused to endorse the hiring of a professor who once renounced his American citizenship to serve Nazi Germany.

★ ★ ★

But the school says it will retain Dr. Edward V. Sittler nonetheless.

The administration at Long Island University's C. W. Post College asked the teachers Tuesday to endorse hiring Sittler last September as assistant professor of English and German.

★ ★ ★

Sittler, 43, renounced his citizenship in 1939 to become a member of the Nazi party in Germany and eventually an enemy broadcaster during World War II.

After questioning him in a closed-door session, the teachers erased his name from a resolution offered by the administration and endorsed only the school's right to hire its own teachers. The vote was 27 for, 3 against and 18 abstentions. Eighteen other teachers neither voted nor abstained.

★ ★ ★

Sittler, who has been fighting for 13 years to stay in this country, to regain his citizenship and to hold a university job, spoke in his own defense.

Under close questioning by his fellow teachers he denied that he ever swore allegiance to Hitler, that he was aware of Germany's concentration camps or that he had acted traitorously.

★ ★ ★

Adm. Richard L. Connolly (Ret.), president of the college, repeated his confidence in Sittler but said that he would order an investigation to learn if Sittler has "completely given up his Nazi beliefs."

Firefighters' Unit Elects Officers in Waterford

Waterford Township Firefighters Assn. held its annual election of officers last night. Everett Draker was elected president.

★ ★ ★

Firt vice president will be Ray Allen. Richard Lawson was elected second vice president, Edward Smith, treasurer; Bernard Torr, assistant treasurer; Gregory Miller, recording secretary and Kenneth Squires, assistant secretary.

★ ★ ★

Also elected were trustees Lewis Goff, Gerald Webber and James Donaldson. Guides will be Douglas Schlutow and Carl Dale. Ernie Lattimer and Lloyd Gidley were elected guards.

The township fire department has 33 volunteers and nine full-time paid firemen.

Aluminums Up, Auto Issues Gain

NEW YORK (UP) — Automotive issues again were active and higher as the industrials paced a moderate stock market recovery from yesterday's decline. Trading was fairly active.

★ ★ ★

Among pivotal issues the gains ran from fractions to about a point. A liberal assortment of losers robbed the advance of any appearance of enthusiasm.

Aluminum stocks continued to perform well, some of the leaders rising 2 points apiece. A rising price trend to meet increasing world demand was seen for the industry by financial observers.

Electronics and a number of other special situations also responded to brisk buying.

Gains by such key issues as Du Pont and Westinghouse Electric helped boost the industrial average but rails and utilities did nothing on balance.

★ ★ ★

Gains of about 2 apiece were made by Alcoa, Reynolds Metals and Kaiser Aluminum while Aluminium Ltd. added another fraction.

Collins Radio continued the sensation of the electronics group as it encountered renewed buying following news of skyrocketing sales and earnings. On a delayed opening block of 15,000 shares, it rose 3⅝ to 70 and widened this gain fractionally in later dealings.

Philco gained about 2 while a number of other well-known electronics were content with fractional advances.

Ford and Chrysler gained about a point each. A similar gain was made by American Motors as it was reported that so far this year Rambler dealers have sold nearly double the total for the like period last year.

General Motors and Studebaker-Packard improved fractionally except for Republic which lost a trifle.

JUST CAN'T WAIT — Four-year-old Paulette Martin of Waterford Township just couldn't wait to nibble on the luscious little Christmas house made by her mother, Mrs. Leroy Martin of 7400 S. Shaker Dr. After a cardboard house was put together with cellophane, Mrs. Martin covered it with graham crackers, powdered sugar paste, gum drops, candy canes, Christmas cookies and shredded coconut. The unusual cake is topped off with Santa Claus stuck in a big fireplace chimney.

Mixed Emotions Over Rockefeller

Milwaukee GOP Cool; Outstate Cheers Take Edge Off Chill

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller started his second round of political probing in Wisconsin today, after running into a very mixed reception on his first day in the state.

Reactions ranged from studied coolness to admiring applause.

Milwaukee Republican officials made it crystal clear that they want Vice President Richard M. Nixon as the party's candidate for president.

Other Wisconsin Republicans, however, indicated they might support Rockefeller for the nomination.

For the first time on this tour of the Middle West, Rockefeller failed to draw capacity crowds for his appearances. There were empty seats in the Marquette University auditorium and in the meeting of the World Affairs Council.

"Some Democrats say you are as reactionary as Nixon," said a man, "and other people call you a Democrat in Republican clothing. Which are you?"

During the question-and-answer period at the World Affairs Council meeting Tuesday night, a man prefaced his question by describing Rockefeller as "a new arrival, and a very brilliant one, on the political scene."

The audience exploded with applause and cheering.

So it went all day, the cool and the warm, a day wholly unlike any others Reckefeller has had as he moved through Indiana, Missouri and Minnesota, before coming into Wisconsin.

Rockefeller's smile seldom faded and he showed no signs of being discouraged.

Holding Autopsy in Auto Death

FERNDALE — An autopsy was to be held today to determine the cause of death of a Ferndale man who lost control of his car yesterday afternoon. It careened across a hundred feet of lawn and struck a ranch-style home at 711 W. Oakridge Rd.

Ferndale police believe the victim had suffered a heart attack and was either dead or dying behind the wheel of the runaway car.

Floyd B. McAllister, 68, of 782 W. Oakridge Rd., was dead on arrival at William Beaumont Hospital.

Mrs. Rose Jenkins was sitting in the living room of her brick home when the car suddenly burst through the front wall. A heart patient herself, Mrs. Jenkins was rushed to Beaumont Hospital for treatment.

A witness, Kenneth W. Bond of 823 Oakridge Rd., told police that the dead man's car stopped in the middle of the block then lurched ahead "full speed" into the house.

Babs Hutton Scorns Idea She'll Wed Douglas

NEW YORK (UP) — Heiress Barbara Hutton arrived here from Paris today, denying reports she intends to marry James Douglas, son of Air Force Secretary James H. Douglas.

Reporters told her at Idlewild Airport that unsigned telegrams saying she intended to announce wedding plans had been received at newspaper offices.

"That's absurd," said Miss Hutton, who has been married six times. "It must be a practical joke."

Aspiring Citizen Steals --'Mother Needed Help'

DETROIT (UPI) — Stanley Simas, a Lithuanian design engineer who stopped in a large department store for a little shoplifting before being sworn in as a U.S. citizen, admitted today he has been stealing from stores about three years.

★ ★ ★

The 38-year-old man said he stole things to send to his mother Maria, 62, back home in Kaunas, Lithuania.

Simas, a $150-a-week engineer, was arrested in the J. L. Hudson Co. store trying to stuff $72 worth of merchandise under his overcoat.

"She needed help so I began sending her things," explained Simas who is married and the father of two small children. He came to this country about eight years ago.

★ ★ ★

Simas said he mailed packages of stolen goods to his mother and she sold them.

★ ★ ★

He told police he was on his way to the Federal Building to be sworn in as a U.S. citizen when he decided to stop off first at the department store.

LIZA BEAUMONT TAYLOR

Liza Taylor Celebrates 110th Year

Michigan's oldest known resident, Mrs. Eliza Beaumont Taylor, is celebrating her 110th birthday today at an open house at her home in the heart of Highland Township.

Well-wishing friends and neighbors have been coming and going all day to congratulate the grand old lady who was born during the Gold Rush days, and who lived with her nine brothers and sisters in a two-room log cabin on White Lake so long ago.

"Aunt Liza," as she is known to many, says she is much healthier now than when she reached the century mark ten years ago. Her once-thinning gray hair has turned to silvery white, and for some unexplained reason, has grown thick and long.

"Must be the good eating," she said. The food and nutrition that Mrs. Taylor refers to is provided by a devoted grand-niece, Mrs. Olive Clarke, who has been Liza's constant companion since the death of her daughter, Mrs. Ella Keller, three years ago.

Liza has watched one relative after another succumb to the inevitable fate of old age. Never sick a day in her life, the little woman revels in the fact that she is able to be dressed every day, take a stroll around the house, then settle down for conversation.

She does as she pleases, and, although her hearing and eyes have dimmed, she is beginning to enjoy the role of being Michigan's oldest living pioneer.

Orion Youth, 16, Mute on Holdup

One of Three Linked to Shooting That Crippled Gas Station Attendant

Theodore Mendoza, 16, stood mute on a charge of armed robbery before Highland Township Justice Roy J. Carl Tuesday only a few hours after Juvenile Court Judge Arthur E. Moore waived jurisdiction over his case.

The youth is charged with taking part in a Highland Township gas station holdup Nov. 30 in which an attendant was shot in the back, becoming paralyzed from the waist down.

Examination was demanded for the Lake Orion youth. He is scheduled to appear before Carl with two accused companions Friday at 1:15 p.m.

★ ★ ★

He was returned to the Oakland County Jail after failing to post a $25,000 bond.

His companions, Victor Hood, 25, and Carroll L. Lay, 17, have each been held under $25,000 bond since their arraignment Dec. 2.

Hood is charged with having fired the shot that struck down Dale Newton, 19, the station attendant. The trio escaped with only $60, said deputies.

Wholesale Food Prices Decline

Index Is Lowest Since Before Korean War; Butter Drops Steeply

NEW YORK (UP)—Wholesale food prices this week dropped to their lowest levels in more than 9½ years, Dun & Bradstreet Inc. reported today.

The organization's food index declined from $5.88 last week to $5.79, lowest since $5.73 in the week ended April 18, 1950 — before the Korean War.

A sudden, steep drop in butter prices plus lower livestock quotations brought the index its sharpest week-to-week drop since early this year.

The index, which represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in general use, was 9 per cent below the $6.36 figure a year ago. This year's previous low was $5.86 in the week ended Oct. 13.

Moving lower with butter this week were flour, oats, hams, bellies, lard, sugar, coffee, cocoa, potatoes, raisins, steers and hogs.

Higher were wheat, rye, barley, milk and eggs.

Police Quiz Truck Driver in Hit-Run

HAZEL PARK — Police here today released a truck driver questioned about a hit-run accident involving a nine-year-old boy in front of Roosevelt Elementary School Monday.

★ ★ ★

The youngster, Clifton Barringer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barringer, 111 W. Mapledale Rd., suffered a cerebral concussion. His condition was reported as "fair" today at William Beaumont Hospital.

The truck driver, J. A. Butler, 30, of Lincoln Park admitted to police that he was in the vicinity of the accident on Stephenson highway at the time it occurred but knew nothing of it.

He got in touch with police here when he learned they were looking for the driver of a diesel truck similar to his.

★ ★ ★

A check of Butler's truck showed fibers resembling human hair near the right door. These are being checked today by the Detroit police crime lab for analysis.

Three Injured on Slippery Waterford Roads

Waterford Township Police were flooded with calls early today due to accidents caused by slippery pavements.

Most seriously injured was Millard Cleveland, 34, of 5138 Farm Rd., Waterford Township, as a result of a head-on collision on Airport road at 1 a.m. today.

The driver of a car heading north on Airport road, Donald Davis, 29, of 6248 Rowley St., Drayton Plains, told Waterford Township Police he saw the Cleveland car approaching around a curve on the wrong side of the road. He said he was unable to avoid being hit by the oncoming car.

Both men were taken to Pontiac General Hospital with head injuries. Cleveland was still unconscious and listed in fair condition late this morning.

Davis was treated and released.

Mrs. Beatrice Wood, 55, of 2740 Grandview St., Drayton Plains, escaped serious injury at 7:30 a.m. when she was driving south on Airport road.

Mrs. Wood told police she had passed a school bus and was attempting to get back into her own lane of traffic when she lost control of her car and crashed into the side of a house leaving a torn up lawn and broken picket fence in her wake.

The home, at 880 Airport Rd., is owned by Victor Sederoski, and the extent of damage is not yet determined.

Weather Fine; Ike Is at Ease

Rests Aboard Cruiser Carrying Him to Tunis for Eighth Stop

WITH EISENHOWER AT SEA (AP) — Traditional Eisenhower weather returned to the Mediterranean today as the touring U.S. President sailed westward on the first real rest of his three-continent goodwill tour.

The U.S. heavy cruiser Des Moines bore the President through calm seas toward Tunisia, the eighth stop of the peace in freedom mission to 11 nations that he launched Dec. 3. After an overcast departure from Athens, the temperture was 62 degrees, the forecast more fair weather.

The President slept Tuesday night and loafed this morning. He planned to do some work, however, on the State of the Union message he will send to Congress early next month.

In between rest and work on the message, Eisenhower arranged to watch a special demonstration being put on by planes based aboard the escoring carrier Essex, the floating home also the President.

State College Heads Seeking Coordinator

YPSILANTI (UPI)—The Michigan Council of State College Presidents met here Monday to discuss qualifications for a coordinating director.

Edgar L. Harden, council president and president of Northern Michigan College, said the coordinator will not be named before the next council meeting Feb. 9.

The council is composed of presidents of the nine state colleges and universities.

The coordinator will act to outline the needs of the schools and interpret the needs to the Legislature.

Church to Build Reactor for Japanese University

NEW YORK (AP)—The Episcopal Church in the United States plans to build a $360,000 nuclear reactor for St. Paul's University in Tokyo.

The church said it will be the first nongovernmental project under President Eisenhower's "atoms for peace" program.

Club Fights Alcoholism, Buys Residence for Hall

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A non-profit organization formed to battle alcoholism, the Alano Club of Kent County, has purchased a former Grand Rapids residence and grounds as a permanent clubhouse for its membership estimated at upwards of 800 persons.

The club also is starting a drive for $20,000 to remodel the building for its new use as a meeting hall.

Grand Rapids Moving Ahead to Tune of 100 Million Dollars

By B. G. BROWN

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The ferment of social and economic expansion is gripping this city as it is many others throughout the land. Grand Rapids is looking forward. An east-west U.S. 16 expressfronts with possible commitments of 100 million dollars or more.

Grand Rapids faces its task, however, in an enviable position.

It has no general obligation bonded debt and its city tax rate of $9.02 and school tax rate of $12.10 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation are the lowest among all comparable cities in the state.

With a Kent County tax rate of $6.40 the taxpayers of this city are the only ones in major Michigan cities paying less than $30 per $1,000 in taxes—only $27.52 in this fiscal year.

In the downtown area a three million dollar federal aid urban renewal project is under way to clear out a west side blighted area for light industrial use, the first of several similar projects which may be undertaken in the future.

A 30 million dollar north-south U.S. 131 expressway through the heart of the city has progressed from the south to the center of the city and is proceeding northward. Aneast-west U.S. 16 expressway through the city is on the drawing boards at a cost of $8,500,000 or more to provide the downtown link with the Detroit-Muskegon expressway and a direct connection with M 21 south to Holland.

PUSHES DOWNTOWN

The Downtown Council, Inc. is pushing a redevelopment plan for the central business district based on recommendations of Ebasco Services, Inc., of New York City, consultants, designed to "anchor" the downtown area as a live shopping and business district with a civic center at one end and a cultural grouping at the other.

Outlines for a $24,500,000 additional water supply line from Lake Michigan to serve the entire area, if possible, also have been approved to double the city's water resourses. A three million dollar sewer improvement program also is under way and a five million dollar expansion of treatment works is near completion. Large scale development of parking facilities is continuing.

To meet problems of future growth the county is moving forward on the development of a new 1,800-acre airport costing nearly seven million dollars with local, state and federal financing plus a contemplated $2,400,000 county revenue bond issue.

The county also is readying the construction of a new psychiatric hospital and a new juvenile detention home which will take their place with a new $1,500,000 jail recently completed.

13 NEW SCHOOLS

Educationally the city has completed 13 new schools buildings at a cost of more than eight million dollars under a special 2-mill assessment which will run 20 years from its adoption in 1951.

At present construction and plans are under way on two million dollars in additional building. By 1971 it is estimated the board of education will have spent 25 million dollars on the rehabilitation and expansion of the city's school plant.

Also on the horizon is the establishment of a multi-million dollar, state-supported four-year college, strongly recommended by legislative study committees.

Industrially Grand Rapids continues to expand on a broadly diversified front that has been developing through the post-depression years. Latest additions are a new $3,500,000 plant for Bissell, Inc., a name internationally famous through four generations, and a five million dollar instrument assembly plant for Lear, Inc., a national leader in electronics equipment for aircraft.

Expansion of General Motors plants and of the American Motors Corp. Kelvinator Division also are recent indications of the good industrial "climate" of this area.

3 Senators Will Look Into Air Base 'Buddy System'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three senators say they'll look into a "buddy system" at a Kansas Air Force base, in which squad leaders are designated to keep tabs on the off-duty life of their fellow airmen.

"I think this is carrying the spirit of togetherness a little bit too far," said Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) Tuesday night. "This would tend to lower morale, which is not too high as it is."

★ ★ ★

'IMPROVED MORALE'

The buddy system was disclosed at Forbes Air Force Base, Topeka, Kan. The Strategic Air Command headquarters at Omaha said the system has improved morale, reduced unfavorable incidents and boosted re-enlistment rates.

At Forbes, Brig. Gen. Ariel W. Nielsen had each squadron divided into small groups headed by a noncommissioned officer. These leaders, he said, should learn details of each man's family history, his financial status, whether he owns a car and his driving habits, what he does with off duty time, and with whom he associates.

★ ★ ★

A letter from Nielsen outlining the policy said: "A record will be made of any instances wherein the airman is not properly attired, is in need of a haircut, shows an indifferent attitude or professes that he is not satisfied with the service."

Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich) said in Washington he wants more information of the buddy system.

Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo), chairman of the Senate Constitutional Rights Committee, demanded a full report from the secretary of the Air Force. An aide said Hennings is concerned that the system "might abridge the constitutional safeguards of airmen."

★ ★ ★

SAC headquarters said some forms of the buddy system have been used since 1956. It said the system had a two-fold aim—to retain good men in the Air Force through re-enlistment, and to eliminate undesirables.

Last Civil War Veteran Grimly Battling Death

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — There was no change noted Tuesday in the condition of the Civil War's last surviving soldier, Walter W. Williams.

★ ★ ★

Willie Mae Bowles, a daughter, said the 117-year-old Williams was "not any better."

"He's holding on but that's about all," Mrs. Bowles said.

★ ★ ★

Williams is suffering from his fourth attack of pneumonia since June. He has been under an oxygen tent since Dec. 5.

It is estimated that eight per cent of the nation's 1,200,000 hunters are color blind.

Industrial Output Up One Point Last Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—Still suffering from after-effects of the steel strike, the nation's mines, mills and factories made only slight production gains last month.

The index of industrial production rose only one point to a rate 43 per cent above the 1947-49 average, although the strikers went back to work under a Taft-Hartley Act injunction early in November. The index was issued Tuesday by the Federal Reserve Board.

No gain at all would have been registered except for the fact that the board revised downward its October estimate of industrial output by one point.

Is It Billy Rose Lee or Gypsy Rose Rose?

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The ultra-smart Colony Set hears that Billy Rose is quite determined about marrying Gypsy Rose Lee—to the point that he wouldn't insist on Gypsy becoming "Gypsy Rose Rose"—but wouldn't even mind friends addressing him as "Billy Rose Lee."

WILSON

Eddie Fisher was doing his next-to-the-next-to-the last show at the Waldorf. "What would you like to hear?" he asked. "SINATRA!" somebody screamed — Eddie, with a grin, repeated the answer. Liz Taylor, recovered sufficiently to leave with him for L.A., would have liked the way some gal in the audience insisted on being kissed by Eddie. "You kissed HER!" she squawked, pointing to Virginia Warren who had received a sisterly smooch.

★ ★ ★

Peggy King, chantootsying, and very nicely, acknowledges her resemblance to Judy Garland by saying: "I'm not Mrs. Sid Luft — I don't look like Mrs. Sid Luft—I don't sing like Mrs. Sid Luft—the only thing is I probably look like Mr. Sid Luft."

PEGGY

Two mice were talking, according to Harry Hershfield, a great mouse conversation eavesdropper, and one said: "I'm now going up in those Sputniks with the monkeys." Mouse No. 2: "Isn't that dangerous work?" Mouse No. 1: "You want me I should go back into cancer research?"

EARL'S PEARLS: Jack Waldron figures Dr. Frank Stanton's morality campaign will have the country so pure, guys will go to Brigitte Bardot movies just to brush up on their French . . . That's earl, brother.

James Stewart Below His Usual Video Level

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — James Stewart, the only actor who can portray a Yankee, cowboy or Southerner without changing his speech pattern, played the part of a Yankee last night in a westernized version of the Cinderella story.

★ ★ ★

The NBC-TV filmed Startime colorcast, "Cindy's Fella," was inconsequential, humorless and overly precious despite the horse-and-buggy frontier setting and other switches in the plot.

It wasn't up to the quality of Stewart's other TV efforts.

Although this was one western that had no gunplay, there was a rousing, cleverly-staged brawl in the opening minutes that left a barroom in ruins and Stewart bewildered but victorious.

★ ★ ★

This segment was the highlight of the production. The succeeding acts also featured brawls. But they were of declining intensity.

Ironically, the most enjoyable part of the entire hour was a commercial, delivered by Jane and Goodman Ace, the Easy Aces. Imagine a commercial stealing the show!

DIALING AND FILING: CBS-TV put its "labeling" policy into effect last night, as promised last month. That is why, after the Dennis O'Keefe show, an announcer said, "The preceding program was prerecorded. Audience reaction technically produced."

(Translation — this filmed show uses canned laughter.) What happened to the plan to do away with canned laughter?

As the Dobie Gillis Show ended, another CBS-TV voice told us, "The preceding program was prerecorded."

★ ★ ★

Same thing after the Garry Moore Show. There was no such comment after Tightrope ended, which is comment enough for this show.

Personally, I think it is a form of insult to the viewer when you tell him the obvious.

I'd rather that the "labels" were confined to telling us when singers don't sing, speakers don't speak and interviewers don't interview.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Adventures in Paradise, the ABC-TV hour-long series, is adding Ron Ely to the cast as a costar with Gardner McKay. Ely and McKay "soon" will start appearing on alternate weeks, following the Jack Kelly-Jim Garner system used on ABC-TV's Maverick.

The first in a series of 12 well-known mystery classics adapted and produced for TV by Robert Saudek associates is set for NBC-TV on Thursday, March 31. Attorney Joseph Welch will be the host. Nine of the shows will be seen during the 1960-61 season, but not necessarily on NBC.

Winner in Iowa Eyes Farmers

GOP Man Says Benson Program Is Sick; He'll Work on Problem

OTTUMWA, Iowa (AP)—Iowa's newest Republican congressman plans to get together with Midwest farm leaders to succor the Eisenhower administration's agricultural program, which he says is ailing.

★ ★ ★

John Kyl, 40, a Bloomfield clothing merchant, won the Iowa 4th District seat in a special election Tuesday over Democrat C. Edwin Gilmour, Grinnell College political science professor.

★ ★ ★

Unofficial totals showed Kyl polled 28,336 votes to 25,804 for Gilmour. The election was hailed nationally as an indication of Midwest feeling toward policies of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson. Both candidates, however, had heaped criticism on Benson during the campaign.

★ ★ ★

Republican National Chairman Thruston Morton jubilantly declared the victory indicated GOP resurgence after defeat in the 1958 congressional election.

★ ★ ★

The special election to fill the unexpired term of the late Rep. Steven Carter marked the return to the Republican column of the district after little more than a year.

'Big Brother' Policy at Base

Leaders Must Know History, Finances and Habits of Each Man

TOPEKA, Kan. (UP)— Officials at Forbes Air Force Base have announced a new policy calling for an around-the-clock check on personnel including their off-duty activities and associates.

A directive by Brig. Gen. Ariel W. Neilsen, 21st air division commander, sets up a system for dividing each squadron into small groups of three to five airmen.

Each group is to be headed by a noncommissioned officer who would be responsible for the men under him.

A letter by Nielsen outlining the new policy said the leader of such a group must know the details of the family history of each man in the group, his financial status, whether or not he owns an automobile, and if so, all details pertaining to the automobile including the airman's driving habits.

★ ★ ★

"It will also be necessary that he (the leader) know what the airman does with his off-duty time, whom he associates with, and to counsel him on the areas where he shows a weakness," the policy letter said.

"A record will be made of any instances wherein the airman is not properly attired, is in need of a haircut, shows an indifferent attitude or professes that service."

The policy letter said education, fund - raising campaigns, leaves, passes and many other areas can be monitored through the new system.

★ ★ ★

"The advantages of this time-honored concept of organization are obvious," General Nielsen said. "Under this system each man in the unit will be responsible to a designated leader, conversley, each leader will be responsible for designated individuals."

Ohio Governor Thinks Yule Cards Perfunctory

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle is one man who has trimmed his Christmas card list to the bone—he doesn't send any cards at all.

In fact, he hasn't sent any for 20 years.

"I came to the conclusion that some of the people who sent me cards didn't mean the greetings at all and I know I didn't mean it when I sent some cards, so to keep things truly in the spirit of Christmas, I just decided not to send out any more," he said.

The pocket gopher can run backward just as fast and as easily as it can forward.

Grand Rapids Will Have $5,300,000 Airport

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Two Grand Rapids firms were under contract today for drawing up the first design stage of a new multi-million dollar airport in Cascade Township.

J & G Daverman Co. and Williams & Work signed the engineering pacts with the Kent County Aeronautics Board. The project will cost in excess of $5,300,000.

Engineering work on the new airport will begin this week.

The new field will replace the present Kent County Airport just outside the city limits. The present field will be sold, officials said, and is expected to bring from two million to three million dollars.
