Bomb Kills Negro Official in Mississippi

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — A Negro father of six children died last night when an explosion ripped the cab of his pickup truck.

Police Chief J. T. Robinson said he believed a bomb had been planted beneath the truck. The blast occurred as Wharlest Jackson, 36, drove home from work.

Jackson, treasurer of the Natchez branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People until last month, punched out on the Armstrong Tire and Rubber Co. plant time clock at 8:01 p.m.

Robinsons said his office was notified of the explosion 10 minutes later.

Jackson, driving through a Negro residential section, had covered about half of the 20-block distance between the plant and his home when the explosion went off.

Police began an immediate investigation and impounded the wrecked truck. The FBI was inquiring to see if any federal laws had been violated.

The gasoline tank of the truck did not explode, Robinsin said. There was no fire. The cab was blown away by the blast.

The director of the funeral home where Jackson's body was taken said, "It looks like he might have been sitting right on top of the bomb."

★ ★ ★

One of Jackson's fellow workers, George Metcalfe, the local NAACP branch president, was seriously injured 18 months ago when a bomb exploded beneath his car as he turned the ignition key.

Metcalfe said the NAACP would conduct a mass protest rally tonight at Beulah Baptist church.

ELEVENTH-HOUR RUSH—1967 license plate purchasers jammed into the Pontiac secretary of state branch office at 96 E. Huron at 5 p.m. yesterday. Lines are expected to be even longer today, the final day 1966 Michigan license plates can be displayed on vehicles without risking penalty.

Local Layoffs to End

Idled employes of two GM factories in Pontiac will return to work tomorrow or Thursday as the assembly lines resume production, a GM spokesman said today.

★ ★ ★

Some 2,500 Pontiac Motor Division employes of production, material and reliability departments of engine plants 9 and 18 are to report for work tomorrow at regular starting times.

Another 4,500 Pontiac Motor employes, idled by a week-long strike in Ohio, are to report for work at regular times Thursday.

Fisher Body plant employes are to report for work as normal on Thursday. Some 3,300 were laid off.

Layoffs were due to a parts shortage caused by a strike at the Fisher Body plant in Mansfield, Ohio.

The strike was settled Wednesday. It resulted in 75 General Motors factories with 177,200 employes remaining idle today.

LBJ Asks Funds to Develop N-Powered Rocket Engine

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson asked Congress today for money to begin the development of a nuclear powered rocket engine, "the Rover."

He also urged Congress to seek ways to lower health costs and called for action to promote the expansion of noncommercial television and radio—especially education programs.

For the nuclear-powered rocket engine and other scientific projects, Johnson asked $149.8 million for use in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Johnson said development of the engine will take time, and that present plans call for delivery of the first test model in about 1971.

★ ★ ★

In the special message on education and health, Johnson announced that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare will hold a national conference on medical costs "to discuss how we can lower the costs of medical services without impairing the quality."

PUBLIC TELEVISION

The President also recommended that Congress create a Corporation for Public Television that would use both public and private funds to support noncommercial broadcasting, both via television and radio.

Picking up an idea that has been advocated by the Ford Fundation, which has urged establishment of such a corporation, Johnson recommended a study of "the practicality and the economic advantages of using communication satellites to establish an educational television and radio network."

Johnson seeks $91 million in fiscal 1968 for the rocket development and the remaining $58.8 million to develop the two new research facilities.

Both new research facilities will be built by the Atomic Energy Commission at its Los Alamos, N.M., scientific laboratory.

The nuclear-powered engine is expected to have a thrust of 200,000 to 250,000 pounds.

This, Johnson said, will almost double the weight of the present pay load of the Saturn 5 vehicle, increase ability to maneuver spacecraft, and be used in future manned landings and exploration of distant planets.

Rockets Add Peril for Viet Defenses

SAIGON (AP) — Defensive patrols guarding Allied bases in Vietnam may have to be increased greatly to counter the big Soviet rockets the Communists used for the first time yesterday in attacking the American airbase at Da Nang, a U.S. military source said today.

★ ★ ★

The 140mm rockets used in the predawn attack were fired from positions six miles to the south of the base. Some U.S. Marine posts extend that far from the base, but there are no conventional trench lines sealing off the area at that distance.

The 51 rockets which landed on the base and the adjoining village of Ap Do killed 12 Marines and 35 Vietnamese civilians, wounded 32 Americans and 70 Vietnamese, slightly damaged 11 planes and hit several military buildings, including barracks, the post exchange and officers club.

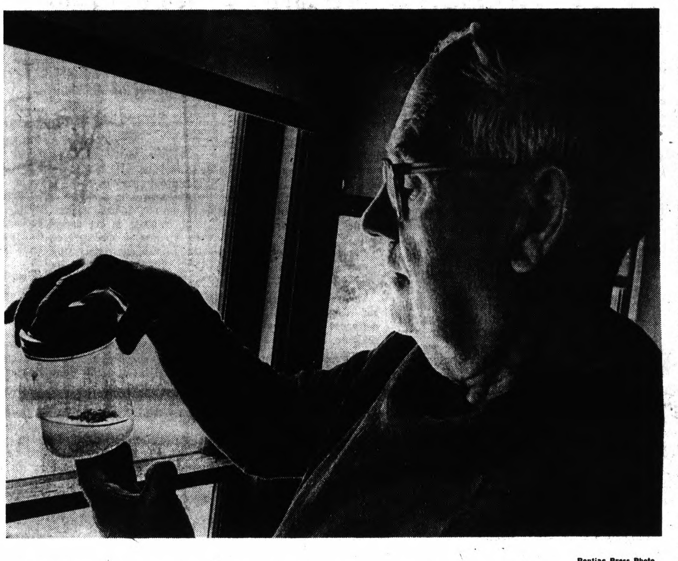
Hoffa Edges Closer to Prison



Pontiac Press Photo

THE INVADERS—The seemingly incessant snow has been enough to drive anyone "buggy," but George Collins of 6601 Tipsico Lake, Holly Township, knows he's quite sane. He holds a jar with hundreds of tiny insects that suddenly appeared on top of the snow and spread over about one-eighth of a mile in his neighborhood.

Teamster Chief Asks New Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa's four-year battle to avoid jail on a federal jury-tampering conviction appears all but lost. However, a new trial motion was filed in Chattanooga, Tenn., today in behalf of the union leader.

The Supreme Court opened the way for his jailing by refusing yesterday to grant him a second hearing on his 1964 conviction, then choked off another avenue he might have used to stay out of jail.

The court announced — without comment — that it would not reconsider its Dec. 12 decision upholding Hoffa's conviction, eight-year prison sentence and $10,000 fine.

Today's motion for a new trial for Hoffa was filed by three of his attorneys.

★ ★ ★

Two appeals are pending before the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

EAVESDROPPING CLAIMS

The motion filed in Chattanooga today was based on eavesdropping claims which were a major basis for the appeal to the Supreme Court.

The labor chief's attorneys sought yesterday to block his imprisonment by asking Justice Potter Stewart to delay sending the court's decision back to the U.S. District Court in Chattanooga, where Hoffa originally was convicted.

But Stewart, who supervises that district of the federal court system, turned down Hoffa's requests after conferring with the other justices.

The high court's rejection then was airmailed back to the district court, which could move today or tomorrow to jail Hoffa.

Court sources said it appeared Hoffa's only remaining hope to avoid prison would be an appeal to the District Court to let him remain free on bail pending its action on motions he has already placed before it.

But U.S. Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall has said Hoffa should not be permitted to avoid prison indefinitely.

He indicated any further legal moves by Hoffa could be launched and adjudicated while the labor leader was in jail.

Board Will Get Preschool Proposal

A public nursery school program, adding perhaps two years to a youngster's formal education, will be proposed to the Pontiac School Board tomorrow night.

The Pontiac School District Citizens' Study Committee on Human Relations will ask the board to study the feasibility of providing preschool training for 3- and 4-year-old children.

Urging the board to give high priority to such a study, the committee notes it has been holding discussions on the matter with educators for a year or more.

The recommendation follows a current trend toward providing earlier educational experiences for preschoolers, particularly those from economically and culturally disadvantaged homes.

★ ★ ★

While the public nursery school program would be similar to the Head Start centers which were devised as part of the federal government's war on poverty, it would be broader and cover a larger number of children, Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer said.

March to Prance In Meek as a Lamb

March is expected to prance in tonight meek as a lamb with skies clear to partly cloudy.

★ ★ ★

The weatherman said tomorrow will be mostly sunny and warmer, the high in the 30s. The low will dip to 15 to 20 tonight.

The outlook for Thursday is partly cloudy and warmer, but the weatherman said the state will likely shudder in the grip of another cold wave before things begin to warm up.

North to northwesterly winds at 12 to 22 miles this morning will become variable 6 to 12 miles tonight.

★ ★ ★

Snow falling during the night and early morning measured 2 inches in downtown Pontiac.

Twenty was the low temperature prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The mercury had climbed to 25 by 1 p.m.

Jumpin' Snowfleas! Holly Twp. Invaded

By ED BLUNDEN

There's millions of them! They can leap more than 20 times their own height! They were first spotted on Feb. 14 and some of them are STILL ALIVE!

★ ★ ★

The invasion was first spotted by Willard Elkins, 6600 Tipsico Lake, Holly Township. He alerted his neighbor, George Collins, 6601 Tipsico Lake.

Collins said the two men went out to investigate and found the deep snow covered with small dark specks. "I thought it was soot. Then I saw they were moving," he said.

Collins captured some of the tiny invaders (about pinhead size) in a jar where they were still living and hopping about 1½ inches in the air yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The name "snow fleas" is given the creatures locally, Collins said. Hunters in the Upper Peninsula are familiar with the insects, he added.

EQUIPPED TO LEAP

According to the encyclopedia, the snow fleas are springtails, a form of collembola. They have appendages underneath that allow them to leap astonishing distances for their size, the book adds.

They are reported to have the widest distribution of any group of insects and are even found on the south pole continent.

The encyclopedia says they are found near decaying vegetation and they first appeared near a small marsh in the area, according to Collins.

★ ★ ★

He said a woman in Davisburg reported seeing the mites there last year, but this is the first time an "invasion" has been reported in Holly Township.

Are they spreading?

Deaths Dip in '66 Waterford Road Report

Traffic accidents in Waterford Township last year increased by 24 per cent over 1965, but fatalities decreased substantially, according to a report presented to the Township Board last night.

★ ★ ★

Prepared by Sgt. Raymond Wilhelm of the township police department, the detailed report indicated there were 1,750 accidents in the community in 1966 compared with 1,324 the preceding year.

However, nine persons lost their lives in the same amount of fatal accidents last year against 17 deaths in 13 fatal accidents in 1965.

Wilhelm said the report encompassed all accidents handled by township police last year and the majority of accidents investigated by Pontiac State Police in the township.

★ ★ ★

The 1,750 accidents last year consisted of 1,055 property damage mishaps, 686 personal injury accidents and nine fatal accidents.

A total of 1,058 persons sustained injuries in accidents in 1966. However, not all of them required hospitalization.

December was the worst month for accidents last year. Some 239 accidents occurred during the 31-day period. April was next with 164 accidents, according to Wilhelm's compilations.

Heaviest hit hour was from 4 to 5 p.m. Saturdays when 43 accidents were reported. Thirty-nine accidents occurred between 5 and 6 p.m. Fridays.

★ ★ ★

Most dangerous intersections last year were Dixie Highway at Silver Lake Road with 47 accidents and M59 at Elizabeth Lake Road with 40 accidents.

498 MISHAPS

Altogether, 498 accidents and four deaths resulted at township intersections in 1966.

Major contributing circumstances of accidents in the township last year were drinking and failure to yield the right of way, 361 accidents each; speeding, 333; and following too closely, 247.

Some 1,825 traffic tickets were issued by township police last year.

Gov. Romney Plans Fact-Finding Trip to SE Asia This Year

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan plans to go back to Southeast Asia by the end of the year "to seek out additional information."

"I'm not going to be forced into making a statement about Vietnam," he told a news conference yesterday, "until I feel I have obtained all of the facts."

★ ★ ★

Later, speaking to more than 1,000 Republicans at a $25-a-plate dinner, his address was conspicuous by the absence of any mention of Vietnam. He concentrated on domestic affairs, charging the Johnson administration with allowing fiscal drift.

The acknowledged front-runner for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination, Romney told newsmen he was not ready to announce his candidacy.

TIMING

"If you will look at the record, you will see that such announcements usually come in the fall or winter immediately preceding the national convention. As far as I'm concerned, it's a matter of timing," Romney said.

He told the diners that "today's inflation is made in Washington.

"It is the result of the unsound economic policies of the present national administration.

REFORM

Romney recommended a three-point program of reform.

"First, we must resolve the basic conflict in our economic policy — the conflict between competition in the market place and monopoly by collective bargaining.

"Second, we must encourage teamwork and cooperation between management and labor for the principal benefit of the customers.

"Third, we must restore sanity in the fiscal and monetary policies of the federal government."

MRS. ROMNEY

Mrs. Romney presided at a reception in a suburban home, commenting on woman's role in modern society, and on men.

Romney had a supporting cast of associates who accompanied him on the flight from Detroit, as well as local Republican notables. Among them were two former Kansas governors, Alfred M. Landon and William H. Avery, and Kansas Sens. James Pearson and Frank Carlson.

MASS RELOCATION — Robert Greening (right), Hudson's Pontiac Mall budget store manager, and Joseph L. Middleton Jr., full-line store manager, examine merchandise in the new budget store location which opened yesterday. The area is on the lower level of the new Hudson's construction at the Mall.

Hudson Store Shifts Site Without Closing

A Sunday marathon of merchandise transferring allowed Hudson's Pontiac Mall budget store to open Monday in a new location without disrupting customer service.

★ ★ ★

More than 180 employes moved stock to the budget store's new location on the lower level of the new three-story building during the store's normal weekend closing hours.

The former site on the street-level is closed for renovation. The area will be reopened as part of the full-line store currently being built.

Opening of the full-line store is scheduled for late July.

★ ★ ★

Location and staffing in the new budget store area are comparable in size and number to the former store.

"The new budget store has an individual checkout area and staffing for each department ment which offers more personalized customer service," commented Robert Greening, budget store manager.

There were general checkout counters near the store entrances in the former Budget store.

"The staff has attended retraining sessions to insure a smooth transfer to the new system," Greening added.

★ ★ ★

Entrance to the budget store is through the enclosed Mall area.

The new budget store has been colorfully decorated to best display the merchandise and offer customer comfort and shopping convenience, according to Greening.

City's School District Gets Federal Funds

The Pontiac School District has been awarded federal grants totaling $66,530 to purchase library materials, help operate basic education classes for adults and buy musical instruments.

Most of the money — $40,830 — comes under provisions of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act to buy library books and materials, according to B. C. VanKoughnett, school community action director.

Of that sum, $25,811 is to be used in elementary schools and $15,019 in secondary schools.

Another $9,000 in Elementary and Secondary Education Act funds is a supplemental contribution to the district's adult basic education program.

★ ★ ★

VanKoughnett said the district's eight community schools and the adult education program at Pontiac Central High School each will receive $1,000.

INSTRUMENTS

Under provisions of the National Defense Education Act, the district has received $1,670 for purchase of musical instruments on a 50-50 basis.

Half the money will be used for junior high orchestras and the other half to buy elementary band equipment, VanKoughnett said.

Panel Clears Consular Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The consular treaty with the Soviet Union was approved today on a 10-4 vote by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., who left a closed session early, announced the vote. He said he was one of the four opposing ratification.

The treaty now goes to the floor where Republican opponents may continue their opposition to the agreement as an unnecessary concession to Moscow that will help North Vietnam and facilitate Communist espionage.

A two-thirds majority approval is necessary for Senate ratification. Senate Republicans scheduled a closed-door session later to thrash out their differences.

Bills Propose Plates Price, Gas Tax Hike

LANSING (AP)— A package of bills to boost the gasoline tax one cent per gallon and increase cost of passenger car and commercial license plates was introduced in the Senate Monday.

★ ★ ★

The sponsor of the measures, Sen. James Fleming, R-Jackson, said they follow Gov. George Romney's recommendations and are designed to raise an estimated $61 million more in gasoline and weight taxes to provide funds for highway maintenance.

★ ★ ★

The bills would boost the gasoline tax from the present six cents per gallon to seven cents.

They also would increase cost of passenger car license plates by 20 cents a hundredweight and boost commercial license plate cost by 10 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Fleming said the bills "merely meet an emergency situation caused, primarily, by a cutback in federal highway funds that has put the state, counties and cities in serious difficulty.

Oil Firm Rescinds Earlier Price Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government threats to boost gasoline imports if necessary to force a rollback in price hikes by a number of major oil companies appear to be showing results.

Continental Oil Co. announced Monday without comment that it was scaling down the increase it announced earlier this month.

So far, there has been no backing down by any of the other companies that raised prices at the same time.

It has been estimated that the increases would add one cent per gallon to the price paid by the motorist for gasoline. The Department of the Interior says all those pennies would add up to $750 million a year for the American public.

House Debates Many Issues

Criticism of Romney, His Record Disputed

LANSING (AP) — Race, religion and the right to reply to criticism occupied the House of Representatives in a debate of nearly an hour Monday night.

Also involved in the hassle were freedom of speech, freedom of religion, and Gov. George Romney's record on civil rights.

★ ★ ★

Rep. David S. Holmes Jr., D-Detroit, kicked off the dispute when he tried to read, and have printed in the House Journal, his reply to newspaper criticism of his demand last week that Romney resign from the Mormon Church.

Holmes urged Romney to take that step because, he said, the church regards Negroes as "second-class citizens" and does not afford them full church membership.

HIT BY EDITORIAL

A newspaper editorial Friday termed Holmes' demand "ridiculous," said it was politically motivated, and added Romney's civil right record is good—citing Romney's role as a vice president of the 1961-62 Constitutional Convention which created the nation's only constitutional Civil Rights Commission.

Holmes replied yesterday the demand was his own idea, not his party's. He also disputed Romney was a leader in the Con-Con fight for strong civil rights article.

★ ★ ★

"He was not out in front on the civil rights issue," Holmes said, "and in fact I am told by members of Con-Con that he was part of a deal that watered down the original proposal on the Civil Rights Commission."

Holmes also charged Romney with discrimination in hiring members of his office staff. "The only thing in his office across the hall that is dark is the paneling on the walls," he said.

Bingo Backer Appears at Tax Hearings

LANSING (AP) — A housewife advocating legalized bingo was among witnesses appearing before legislative tax committees Monday.

The joint House-Senate Tax Committee hearings on Gov. George Romney's proposed tax package, featuring a 2½ per cent personal income tax, continue today.

★ ★ ★

Support for the income tax came from the Michigan State Grange. The grange said, however, there should be a 5 per cent ceiling on any income tax that is adopted.

"I can play bingo now from Monday night through Saturday night," Mrs. Rosemary Reed of Haslett told the committee. "It is there now—so I think you ought to legalize it."

Mrs. Reed, appearing in slacks and sweater, was accompanied by her daughter Robin, 3, who roamed around the committee room and occasionally tried to take over the microphone.

"You ought to legalize topless waitresses too," Mrs. Reed suggested. "You can't legalize morality."

★ ★ ★

"There are worse things than bingo," said Mrs. Reed, a mother of four children, who reported that her family has to get along on an income of $7,200 a year.

She was against the personal income tax and also advocated a state lottery. She favored increased taxes on cigaretts and liquor.

"I think my husband smokes too much now," she said. "Maybe he would smoke less."

Postal Problems Plaguing India

NEW DELHI (AP) — About 2.5 million improperly addressed letters and packages are received each day in the Indian postal system, a department official complained.

The official said 22 million articles are in circulation in the postal system each day, with one-third of the traffic concentrated in the tiny handful of major Indian cities.

Birmingham Area News

Country Club Has New Look

BIRMINGHAM — A $265,000 improvement program at Birmingham Country Club, 14 Mile and Southfield, is almost complete and a press preview of the facility was held yesterday.

It will reopen Saturday after being closed since Jan. 2.

Adding to the new look will be a new general manager, Emil Houtteman, a native of Belgium, a man with wide experience and training in club management and food service.

After inspecting the kitchen, which has $120,000 in new equipment and furnishings, Houtteman pronounced it "THE kitchen."

He said, "I don't think there is a club anywhere that can match it."

FROM WINDSOR

Houtteman comes from Beachgrove Country Club of Windsor and holds the post of vice president of the Canada Federation of Chef de Cuisine, Windsor.

The dining room has undergone a $20,000 refurbishing.

Much of the new work is in preparation for August 1968 when the club will be host to the Women's National Amateur Golf Championships.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The board of education will again review its policy on smoking.

The parents of a girl suspended for 20 days will make an appeal to the board at tonight's meeting at 8 at the district office, 4175 Andover.

The board will also hear plans for a sex education program. Plans for the program and possible teaching methods will be presented.

BIRMINGHAM — Architect John W. Jickling, 600 Shepardbush, was appointed to the City Planning Board by the City Commission last night.

A partner in the firm of Jickling & Lyman, 148 Pierce, the new board member fills the vacancy created in December by the resignation of Eliott Robinson.

Jickling's term expires July 1.

Additional Protest Due on Taubman Agreement

An additional protest against Pontiac's plan for downtown redevelopment is expected to be filed at tonight's City Commission meeting.

One week ago, Don Frayer, chairman of the Citizens Committee for Pontiac Positive Progress (CCPPP), told the commission a formal protest against the Taubman agreement would be lodged by tonight.

The committee met behind closed doors last night to draft the protest.

Already in the hands of city officials is a letter from Housing and Urban Development (HUD) officials in Chicago ordering Pontiac not to proceed further with the Taubman plan.

The HUD communique, alleging the city's agreement with Taubman to be in violation of urban renewal regulations, has been disputed by Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., who affirmed the legality of the agreement.

17 AGENDA ITEMS

Heading a list of 17 agenda items scheduled for commission consideration is a contract proposal providing for use by West Bloomfield Township residents of the city's sanitary land-fill.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren is recommending establishment of a rate system for use of the land-fill by township trash disposal agencies.

Also on the agenda is presentation of State Highway Department approval of improved traffic-signal facilities at six city intersections.

★ ★ ★

Animal Cruelty Cases on Rise

A rash of animal cruelty complaints in recent weeks has prompted Mrs. Martin Davis, treasurer of the Oakland County Animal Rescue League, to issue a warning.

"People are being prosecuted," she said.

One man, Duane Westcoat, 30, of 3316 Mondrake, Commerce Township, is currently serving a 10-day term in the Oakland County Jail.

He was also ordered to pay a $50 fine in an incident of cruelty to animals that involved three ponies, one of which died while another had to be shot.

★ ★ ★

"We have a case coming up before Judge Eugene Schnelz in Walled Lake this week over the death of a dog," she added.

'PEOPLE FORGETTING'

"Two other reports came in over the weekend and it appears that through this long, hard winter people are forgetting about their animals."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Davis stressed that any complaints referred to the Rescue League would receive protection from identity.

★ ★ ★

"We've got to do something to stop it," she said. "It's the worst I've seen in a long time."

Police Continuing Probe of Burglaries

Birmingham police today were continuing their investigation of two burglaries that occurred at the homes of area merchants over the weekend, but no arrests had been made.

Between $42,000 and $45,000 in cash and valuables were taken from the home of Chin Soon of 893 Hazel Saturday. He is the owner of Pearl's Garden Restaurant, 469 S. Woodward.

Elna Bearss of 1623 Haynes, owner of Wabeek Pharmacy, 296 W. Maple, lost a $2,000 mink coat and about $200 in valuables from her home on Friday.

Shooting Said Justifiable in Bandit Death

The shooting of an armed bandit by a sheriff's deputy last week today was ruled as justifiable homicide by Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson.

In making the decision, Bronson ended further investigation into the fatal shooting of Emmett E. Ransom, 26, of 366½ Ferry.

"I've reviewed all the facts," said Bronson, "and there is no need for an inquest."

Ransom was wounded by Deputy Gerald Reeves following a chase from the scene of a holdup at the Holdsworth Market, 2653 Auburn, Pontiac Township, Feb. 21. Ransom died at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital less than an hour after the 10:15 p.m. robbery.

★ ★ ★

A gun and money taken in the robbery were found in Ransom's possession.

Capt. Leo Hazen of the sheriff's department said that Ransom had no past police record.

Paper: DA Has Data

'Oswald, Ferrie Linked in 1963'

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison has been given information that Lee Harvey Oswald and David W. Ferrie were picked up together by police in New Orleans in 1963, the States-Item reported today.

Before he was found dead last Wednesday, Ferrie had insisted he did not know Oswald, named by the Warren Commission as the man who killed President John F. Kennedy Nov. 22, 1963, in Dallas.

Ferrie, a former airlines pilot, has been called "one of the most important men in history" by Garrison, who launched his own investigation of the assassination last October.

The States-Item reported that Garrison's investigators were told by a New Orleans law officer that he was making a routine check near Lake Pontchartrain early one morning in the fall of 1963 when he found two men sitting in a parked car.

One of the men identified himself as Oswald, the officer said.

The newspaper said the officer was not clear about how the other man identified himself, but he has since positively identified Ferrie as the man he saw in the car.

TAKEN TO HEADQUARTERS

The officer took the pair to headquarters, the newspaper said, where his superior declined to arrest them on the grounds there was insufficient evidence they were guilty of any wrongdoing.

After the Kennedy assassination, the officer said, he recognized Oswald's face and name from pictures. He said he took no action because it was widely known that Oswald had lived in New Orleans.

Bond Is Set for Suspects in Robbery

Bond was set at $20,000 each yesterday for two men accused of an armed robbery in Birmingham.

Suspects in a holdup of Pizza Inn, 213 N. Eton, on Sunday, in which $85 was taken at gunpoint, appeared before Justice of the Peace Bristol Hunter in Clawson. Preliminary hearing was set for March 7.

Held are Richard Boler, 22, who gave his address as California, and Wayne J. Burton, 36, Highland Park.

The pair was arrested after an employe of the inn gave police a car license number immediately after the robbery.

Burton is also a suspect in the $1,473 robbery of St. Columban Church Parish Credit Union in Birmingham on Feb. 17.

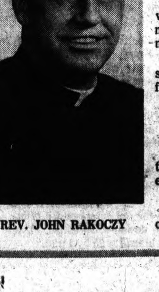
What Lent Means to Me



REV. JOHN RAKOCZY

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 17th in a series of articles through Lent written by prominent Pontiac area citizens.)

By the REV. JOHN RAKOCZY

Teaching Staff St. Mary's Preparatory, Orchard Lake

We are experiencing great changes in this modern world of ours, and naturally, the Catholic church could not rest on its old traditional ways so had to make necessary changes for the good of its membership.

Lent has not lost its meaning, however. The church still intends Lent to be a season of penance, of sacrifice, of prayer, of selfmortification.

But these are to be self-imposed, and as a result more beneficial to the individual living in this spirit.

The thought that is so prominent in my mind during this season is the love and concern God continually expresses for man.

Chicago Snow Travels South

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — The snow that made Chicago swear turned hundreds of sun-tanned Fort Myers kids into happy imps when they got their hands on a carload of it.

The frosty, glistening white stuff was the first many of the youngsters had ever seen when it arrived in palm-fringed Fort Myers Monday. They mobbed the railroad refrigerator car, pelted each other and elders, and even lugged home chunks of snow dripping in 70-degree temperatures.

★ ★ ★

The four tons of snow was a gift to Terri Hodson, 13, from Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad President W. J. Quinn. Terri read that freight trains were hauling snow south to free the storm-clogged Illinois city from its white burden, and asked for some, saying she had never seen any.

Terri was surrounded by scrambling, snow-clutching children moments after she opened the car door as 2,000 youngsters and adults applauded.

"It's cold when it goes down your back," she observed later.

Girl's Identity Mystery

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — A brown-haired girl with scarred wrists and a flair for writing poetry sits in jail while Pinellas County authorities try to learn who she is.

"If I knew, I'd tell you," she has told police when asked about her identity, family and friends.

★ ★ ★

She was found wet and covered with sand on Clearwater Beach about a week ago.

She is 5-foot-6, weighs 136½ and has hazel eyes.

'HIT HEAD'

"I remember walking along the beach," she told reporters Monday. "Looking out over the water, at the moon and the stars, my foot fell in a hole. I fell and hit my head on a wooden pole. I remember lying in the surf for a long time."

★ ★ ★

When she recovered, she said, she went to a nearby hotel for help and police were called.

Detective Sgt. Lester Marston, head of the Clearwater Youth Aid Bureau, said the girl has spent much of her time at the jail's youth study center writing poetry. "It's good poetry," he said.

★ ★ ★

Appeal Next in Breach of Promise Suit

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A dark-haired German woman who lost a $2.5-million breach of promise suit says she will appeal.

Testimony during the week-long trial that ended Monday disclosed that Beate Leber's husband had leased her in Germany to a multimillionaire American rancher for $3,000 a month. She then went to William N. Brown's ranch at Sasabe, Ariz.

★ ★ ★

U.S. District Judge John C. Bowen dismissed the suit by Mrs. Leber, 34, against Brown, 65, ruling the German woman was still married to Ralph Leber of Heidelberg, Germany.

He ruled it was therefore legally impossible for her to accept a marriage proposal from another man.

RETURNING TO GERMANY

"She is returning to Germany immediately," her attorney, Raymond Hayes, said after the trial.

"She will not go back to her husband, Ralph, but probably will enter the import-export business. She will return to the United States when her appeal is heard," Hayes said.

★

The Lebers and Brown met at a German nudist colony, testimony revealed.

Chicago Mayor, Dem Groups Face Test Today

CHICAGO (AP) — The popularity of Mayor Richard J. Daley and his powerful Democratic organization is tested today as Chicagoans elect 50 aldermen and nominate candidates for mayor.

Daley, 64, seeking his fourth term, is unopposed in the primary.

About 600,000 Chicago residents, 35 per cent of the city's registered voters, were expected at the polls. Observers viewed the size of the turnout largely as a test of Democratic organization strength in two contrasting types of wards.

One type sizzles with white resentment stemming from last summer's Negro and Puerto Rican rioting and open-occupancy marches in to white neighborhoods.

The other is the South and West sides, where Negro independents have been waging all-out campaigns against Democratic organization candidates for city council seats.

U.S.-Soviet N-Spread Accord Seen Near

GENEVA (UPI) — Canadian Foreign Minister Paul Martin said today the United States and the Soviet Union were now "close to agreement" on a draft treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons.

★ ★ ★

The Candian official warned that such a treaty could be the world's "last chance" to prevent an uncontrollable and potentially catastrophic arms race.

Martin gave Canada's full support to the proposed treaty in a message read to the 17-nation disarmament conference today by chief Canadian negotiator Gen. E. L. M. Burns.

The report of U.S.-Soviet accord came as diplomatic sources said that Russia was actually more interested in developing its own effective anti-missile system than approving such a treaty.

★ ★ ★

The new treaty would extend the present ban on nuclear tests in space, water and on land to cover underground atomic explosions as well.

NEEDS TO CONTINUE

Russia needs to continue underground testing to develop its anti-missile system, the sources said, and thus was soft-pedaling the new treaty proposal.

The sources linked this Russian desire with the big Soviet underground explosions in central Asia during the weekend.

At this morning's disarmament session, Martin admitted the new treaty was "an inherently discriminatory approach to the problem but the only rational one."

★ ★ ★

CRITICAL JUNCTURE

"We are at an extremely critical point of history, when the decision of one country to join the ranks of the nuclear weapons powers could trigger an uncontrolable, prohibitively costly, and potentially catastrophic, arms race," Martin said.

Bulgarian negotiator Kroum Christov also joined in stressing the "urgency" of a new test-ban treaty, but coupled his statements with attacks on U.S. Vietnam policy.

★ ★ ★

But despite official statements by Russian and Soviet bloc negotiators, diplomatic sources said the Kremlin seemed to be cool to the new treaty.

He and two helpers were able to get the 850-pound safe out to the sidewalk, but they could not lift it into a truck. They went down the street for help. When they returned, the safe was gone.

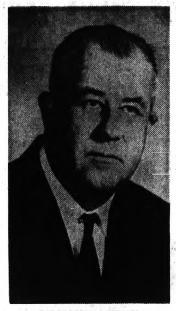
Lame-Duck Supervisor Lashes Pontiac Township Foes



LEONARD TERRY

By JEAN SAILE

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Supervisor Leonard Terry, due to step down from the top township job, applied the verbal whip yesterday to his political foes, lashing out at members of the Township Board.

"You can't run a township with six supervisors," charged Terry, whose term ends April 10.

It's a bitter end for Terry, who was defeated last November by 95 votes in a bid for a second full term.

His wrath is directed against the township politicos rather than the people who voted Democratic businessman Roy Wahl in as supervisor.

★ ★ ★

"It's set up all wrong," said Terry who looks and speaks like Broderick Crawford.

'SWEEP THE FLOOR'

"When you've got four trustees on the building and grounds committee out of a six-man board, they can come in and tell me to sweep the floor.

"And what am I going to do?" he asked. "I'm outvoted. It's the same situation that's happening in West Bloomfield Township.'

That is the township where Duane K. Sanford recently resigned as supervisor due to what he called "a lack of authority vested in the supervisor.'

★ ★ ★

The onetime trustee, appointed supervisor May 27, 1964, was in a talkative mood yesterday at his small white frame house at 3265 Lapeer. After unsuccessful races for supervisor against Leroy Davis in 1961 and 1963, Terry's one win was the subject of a recount which confirmed his 39-vote margin over Mont D. Bodman.

FIRE BOARD

"They wanted me to set up a fire board, and I did. I appointed two trustees to the board and now they've fallen in with the fire department.

"Nothing has been done to better the department. They're buying a new fire truck which we don't need," he added glumly.

"The fire department controls a bloc of votes, you know," he said unhappily.

"The constables (Pontiac Township Patrol) were activated under a Democratic regime. I can't deactivate them. Then they bought a new car which they use Friday and Saturday nights.

"Now," he continued, "they want to build a new 30-by-40-foot building to store the car and equipment. We've got a building deeded to us," he exclaimed.

"I wanted to put a fence around it, but they said we can't do it because it's in a residential area."

Terry added, "As long as we maintain the well, it's our property and we can do anything we want with it.

"Now," he growled," they'll spend $15,000 for another building. It's not passed yet — it's been referred back to the building and grounds committee at $17.50 a meeting."

Serving on the building and grounds committee of the township are Republicans Walter Smith and John Richardson and Democrats Claude Arnett and Ronald Drake.

"I dunno," Terry shrugged. "I've tried to serve the township. I hate to see it go down the drain.

"Why," he said, "there was an investigator here from the state attorney general's office just last week investigating Goldie Mailahn, the treasurer. He was here with no legal authority, and he was recalled pretty darn quick."

★ ★ ★

As a Republican, Terry is equally as unhappy with federal monies being used by the township in planning.

"Those fellows don't know what's happening locally. Why, one of them wanted us to put a new civic center on that little mud lake on Mount Clemens. There's no access and there's only one little rise high enough to support anything.

Terry grinned, "I asked him if he'd seen the land, and he hurried up and scratched out that part of the plan."

Terry is 49 and ready and willing to get back into his contractor's excavating business next April.

"Running a private business is a heck of a lot different than running a government," he said. "There if a man doesn't produce, you fire him."

Voters Approve School Millage

IMLAY CITY — School district voters turned out better than a thousand strong yesterday to put their seal of approval on an 8.5 millage issue.

The question included renewal of 5 mills which had expired last Dec. 31 plus an additional 3.5 mills to cover increased operating expenses.

School district officials were gratified with the results — 664 in favor and 355 opposed.

"We are very pleased," said a spokesman.

★ ★ ★

Millage increases asking for 2 mills were turned down twice last year, necessitating certain cutbacks in the operation of the district, according to Schools Supt. Alvin P. Norlin.

The vote is expected to increase the average home owner's tax by about $2 a month.

Officer Quits After Charges Withdrawn

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Sgt. Glen Helgemo, who was suspended recently from the Township Police Department, submitted his resignation Saturday after charges against him were withdrawn.

A hearing on the charges scheduled for Saturday was canceled after the Township Board consented to the withdrawal of the charges by Chief Melvin Will.

★ ★ ★

Helgemo was scheduled to have a hearing before the Township Board and the police appeals board. He met with them prior to the scheduled hearing at which time the charges were withdrawn.

He said he was submitting his resignation because he has accepted a new position.

Lake Orion Told Aid Hike Possible for Disposal Plant

LAKE ORION—The possibility of increased federal aid for construction of a village sewage disposal plant was reported to councilmen last night.

Rep. Jack McDonald, R-19th District, told the village in a letter that as much as 30 to 55 per cent of the cost might be borne by the federal government.

He said that as of July 1, 1967, money limitations on getting matching funds for such a project would be relaxed.

The village, under citation by the State Water Resources Commission, has had an application in for federal assistance for more than two years.

SOUTH LYON — A discussion on farm budgeting will be held at South Lyon High School at 8 p.m. Thursday.

High School Pool Plans Approved

FARMINGTON — The Board of Education last night approved plans for swimming pools to be constructed at the two senior high schools.

★ ★ ★

The pools, which are expected to be ready for use by January 1969, were part of a $3.5 million pool and auditorium package approved by voters last June.

Plans call for a break with the traditional concept of a school swimming pool. One large pool is to be divided from a diving tank by a four-foot bulkhead.

According to athletic director John K. Cotton, the multiple pool idea will permit four teaching stations.

★ ★ ★

He explained that while most pools have a three and a half foot shallow end, the proposed pools will have two shallow ends, each three feet deep.

DEEP CENTER

The center of the large pool would be five feet deep and would adequately serve adult recreational needs, according to Cotton.

He said that by dividing the large pool into three teaching areas and using the diving pool as a fourth station, the usefulness of the facility for teaching beginners to swim can be more than doubled.

The board also approved the expansion of the auto mechanics program at North Farmington High School.

★ ★ ★

Present facilities provide a combined metal shop and auto mechanics shop but additional student enrollment and a high interest in the auto mechanics program pose scheduling problems, according to Principal Harold Humble.

There will also be additional classroom space for business education.

Rochester Raises Cemetery Lot Price

ROCHESTER — City councilmen, in reviewing management problems of the recently inherited Mount Avon Cemetery, voted last night to raise prices.

A single lot will now cost a city resident $100 in place of the $50 previously charged and the same lot will cost a township resident $115 with $110 for each additional lot.

The council voted to restrict the cemetery to the usage of township and city residents.

The resignation of the city's urban renewal director, George Wilhelmi, was accepted with the provision that Wilhelmi would remain on a part-time basis.

★ ★ ★

Wilhelmi reported that the majority of the paper work in connection with the Rochester project is now over and that he had accepted a job as urban renewal director for Romulus Township.

HOURLY BASIS

City Manager William Sinclair said Wilhelmi's present salary rate of $9,500 a year would be paid to him on an hourly basis for work done for the city.

★ ★ ★

The council voted to review its drivers' licensing service with an eye to the leasing of state photographic equipment in order that the city might place its own restrictions on the area to be covered.

★ ★ ★

Maurice Watson, Neil Rosso and Howard Wilson were appointed to the Board of Review.

Rochester Retailer

Merchant Addresses Group

ROCHESTER—William A. Mitzelfeld, president of Mitzelfeld's department store here, addressed the 10,000 member convention of the Menswear Retailers of America recently in Chicago.

Mitzelfeld told the convention he expects to do 25 per cent more business in 1967 than in previous years.

"We are enlarging and remodeling the men's department and broadening our line of stock," he said.

"I feel sure the introduction of more color in men's clothing will be a highlight of this year's fashion," he continued.

★ ★ ★

Mitzelfeld said that an increased staff will result in a 10 per cent increase in his operating costs this year.

"Store modernization has become a must in order for the independent retailer to compete effectively," he said.

School District Hits Loan Snag

The Avondale School District has been informed it must be prepared to put up more money than anticipated if it is to share in the state school bond loan plan.

Schools Supt. John Dickey said today that the approval of its $3.1 million in bonds hinges now on further talks with the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission.

"Our bonding attorneys," he reported, "have not been able to go along with the qualifications slapped on the bond issue by the commission."

Voters in approving the bonds last summer voted to hike their bonding millage by 3.9 mills to the 7 mills required in order to become eligible for state loans on the balance.

"The commission now says we must be prepared to pay half the cost over and above the 7 mills in order to participate in the loan fund," he said.

MEETING SLATED

"We have refused to consider whether this means another election and another hike in millage or not," he said.

"We feel this must be worked out in a more legal manner."

Dickey said his group would meet this week — probably tomorrow — with the commission.

★ ★ ★

"I know," he reported, "that the same qualifications were put on the Walled Lake and Oak Park districts as well as ours."

Building Plan Loses in Troy

TROY — Plans of building a $3-million, 14-story apartment building for the elderly were dashed last night by the City Commission, which rezoned property on which it was to be built.

The building was to be constructed by church groups with the aid of federal funds on five acres of land on Maple near Livernois.

The land had been rezoned from commercial use to multiple dwelling, high rise, about a year ago for a previous apartment scheme which fell through.

New Life, Inc., a firm sponsored by the East Michigan Conference of the Free Methodist Church and the Christian Foundation for Emotional Health, Huntington Woods, had an option on the land, lost it and then regained it, the commission was informed.

★ ★ ★

The commissioners, who rezoned the property back to commercial, indicated they feared encouragement of high-rise development along Maple.

The defeated venture called for building of about 238 units that would rent for $72 to $100 per month to include all utilities and some furnishings.

3rd Judge Heard From

Novi Vote Appears Off Again

NOVI — The village apparently will not be able to vote April 4 on incorporation as a home rule city.

In a hearing in Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday, Judge William J. Beer sided with a previous ruling by Judge Arthur E. Moore prohibiting an incorporation vote because the village does not meet a state statute requiring 500 person per square mile.

Machinery was put into motion for the referendum after Judge James S. Thorburn reversed the earlier decision stating that as an already incorporated entity, the village is not bound by the statute.

Village officials were seeking the incorporation to protect the present boundaries and prevent piecemeal annexation to neighboring communities.

The township officials sought to block the election because the 400-acre township would all but become extinct if the village were to incorporate.

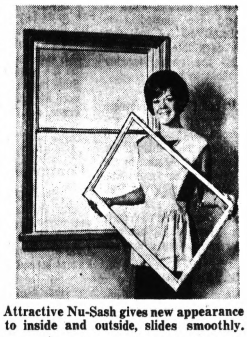
Low-Cost Remodeling Tip

Outdated Troublesome House Windows Can Be Replaced Easily With Nu-Sash

New Unique Replacement Units Modernize Home Economically; Ends Window Problems

Old loose fitting window is unsightly, hard to raise, has 48 corners to wash.



Attractive Nu-Sash gives new appearance to inside and outside, slides smoothly.

Replacing old-fashioned, troublesome, rattling, hard-to-wash house windows has always been a costly problem for homeowners who want to modernize. However, a new product now provides an easy solution.

The product — Nu-Sash — is an aluminum unit specifically designed to replace old house windows. What's more, the cost — including installation — is 40% less than any other method of renovating old windows. They can be purchased with no down payment and modest monthly installments.

The one low cost covers complete installation. Although low in cost, Nu-Sash replacement windows are packed with outstanding features that eliminate housework and add eye-appeal. For example:

Stretching and straining on tipsy ladders or sills to wash outside glass is completely eliminated. Nu-Sash lift out easily for convenient cleaning inside the home.

Eye-catching, modern design inside as well as out.

Painting, puttying, and almost all other maintenance is completely eliminated, since Nu-Sash are constructed entirely of aluminum and rigid vinyl. A satin-like anodized protective coating keeps the aluminum finish bright and new-looking for years.

One Low Price
Nu-Sash Pays For Itself

Unique installation process is one of the reasons Nu-Sash are much less expensive than other methods of replacing old windows. There is no costly remodeling or construction. Inside plaster and woodwork are never disturbed.

Expert mechanics merely remove the old sash, insert jamb liners and fit the Nu-Sash into place. The average window can be converted in 20 minutes.

The product replaces most all types of house windows — oriel, doublehung, casement, stationary, and in-swinging French type. A picture window model also is available.

Nu-Sash has been tested under rigid laboratory conditions. Results show it is superior to standards for air leakage set by FHA for new house windows. Savings in heat alone should pay a large share of Nu-Sash cost.

County Owes Much to Hamlin

An area is fortunate when a figure such as DELOS HAMLIN becomes involved in its government. Oakland County finds itself in that enviable state as its chairman of the board of supervisors serves the last months of his 11th consecutive term in that office. Indications are that he will be elected for another one-year term in April.

HAMLIN

With a career marked by a 20-year span as councilman and mayor of his home city, Farmington, and a successful record of diverse business activity, his appointment in 1942 by the Farmington Council to the county board of supervisors was a political natural. HAMLIN was elected chairman in 1956, reelected the next year, and in 1958 broke the unwritten two-term precedent of the office. Since then, his annual reelection has been pretty much routine.

Although he would be the first to disclaim sole credit for the impressive expansion of facilities and the fiscal soundness of the County establishment, there is little doubt that the Chairman's steady and experienced hand has played a significant role in the creation of the bright image reflected by the State's second most populous county.

To the many challenges the County government has so well met during the past two decades, another—perhaps the biggest yet — is now added.

★ ★ ★

It is the development and operation of the community airport that the County recently acquired from the City of Pontiac. With the air-age potential little more than in its infancy, the problems implicit in bringing and keeping the facility abreast of the times will test the capacity and resourcefulness of the County administration.

The citizenry will find reassurance in the high caliber and vision of the men who compose the Oakland County Board of Supervisors and the leadership of its perennial chairman.

Accident Spotlights City's Hiring Slip

Employment by the City of a 17-year-old who wound up driving a city truck in an accident without any license certainly calls for some explanations.

Apparently the boy gave false information about both his age and possession of a driver's license. But no one checks on these statements, it would appear.

Everyone is aware that the job market has been tight for some time, and employers are often hard-put to find suitable workers. But this doesn't excuse failure to make routine personnel checks. If such a policy isn't a regular procedure, it certainly should be.

Election Portends Government Crisis for India

Compounding India's economic and social woes, the outcome of the week-long general election holds little hope for political and governmental stability in the hunger-ridden continent that emerged from a century of British rule just 20 years ago.

The predominant Congress Party, established as the government party, suffered a stunning defeat at the polls. With the tally virtually complete, the party of Premier Mrs. INDIRA GANDHI had won 269 of 532 parliamentary seats—a majority so slim as to hamstring effective administration.

★ ★ ★

Five years ago, the Congress Party won 361 of the 494 seats which then composed the Parliament.

Though still the dominant party (the next largest, the right-wing Swatantra, garnered but 43 seats) the Indian political structure is so splintered among the multiplicity of minor parties as to threaten continuance of majority control of the government.

Communism racked up gains in the election, the pro-Moscow Communists capturing 20 parliamentary seats, while the pro-Peking constituency accounted for 19.

So serious is the political factionalism, that the Congress Party, faced with trying to function as a government with an insignificant majority in Parliament, has gone into session with the object of considering a new prime minister.

Though the incumbent, Mrs. GANDHI, is one of the three leading candidates for the office, it could well be that she will be unseated as a party move to heal disaffection with her regime so clearly indicated by the election.

★ ★ ★

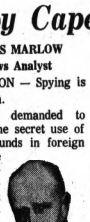
Watchful eyes of global governments will be on India in the troublous days ahead.

Spy Capers Dot U.S. History

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Spying is as old as man.

The House demanded to know about the secret use of government funds in foreign affairs. The President refused to explain. This wasn't President Lyndon B. Johnson. It was President James K. Polk 121 years ago.



MARLOW

Now the Central Intelligence Agency is criticized for secret financial help to U.S. groups, such as students, involved with similar groups overseas where this government tries to block Communist influence and take-overs.

It can be taken for granted that's only part of CIA's operations, that it spends millions in spies, bribes and subsidies. None of this is new.

Polk told Congress that under a law of 1810 he had the right, for the public, to say nothing about secret spending in foreign affairs if publicity would hurt the national interest. He said this was every nation's experience.

The very first Congress passed a law like that of 1810 in 1790 under the presidency of George Washington who, during the revolution, was up to his neck in espionage.

Some authorities think he was the sharpest man in this field in American history up until the time William J. Donovan became head of the office of Strategic Services in World War II.

The shock of Pearl Harbor —the lack of coordinated and organized information which made the Japanese attack possible — produced OSS. In turn, CIA was a product of the cold war. Yet, the British and French had organized espionage since the 17th century.

Because most historians skip over spy work, all most Americans remember about espionage in the revolution is that Major John Andre, the British spy, and Nathan Hale, the American spy, were hanged.

But the British were good at it. During the revolution, when Benjamin Franklin went to Paris to line up the French on the American side, one of the advisers he considered a patriotic American was a well-paid British spy.

FRENCH AGENTS

In the 1790s, when this country sent envoys to Paris to ward off war with the French, Talleyrand, the French foreign minister, refused to see them but sent in confidential agents who wanted a bribe of $250,000.

One authority on espionage in the Civil War recently expressed the belief that the Union side alone had about 4,200 spies.

In his special war message to Congress in 1917, President Woodrow Wilson said the Germans had already so saturated this country with their spies "they could never be our friends."

The Supreme Court Lets Them Prey!

David Lawrence Says:

Public in Dark on U.S. Fund Use

WASHINGTON — Maybe an "era of righteousness" has been inaugurated. Unfortunately, the limelight has been mistakenly focused on subsidies given to private organizations to protect national security.

Very little is known by the public, however, about the huge subsidies that are distributed to all parts of the United States to protect the security of political parties and officeholders.

LAWRENCE

The sums involved in the cases that have recently been in the headlines are trivial in comparison with the billions of dollars that are flowing from the federal government to the states and cities, with no "watchdog committee" to tell the public who is getting the money and who is really benefitting from it.

There are, of course, some cries of suspicion being voiced that federal money is being improperly used to control the whole system of education in America, which is supposed to be the responsibility of the states alone.

Sen. Spessard L. Holland, Democrat of Florida, has urged that there be adopted a constitutional admendment to prevent federal control of public schools.

It would declare that the right of each state to determine the subjects taught, the kind of educational facilities, and the qualifications of personnel could not be abridged, directly or indirectly, by the federal government.

HARDLY ADEQUATE

But even a declaration through a constitutional amendment that the federal government shall not interfere in the educational processes would hardly be adequate. For the Department of Health, Education and Welfare today insists that it doesn't use its power to intervene in the slightest in the handling of education by states, counties and cities.

The real crux of the whole problem is the right of federal officials to withhold public funds appropriated by Congress and to do so for whatever reasons the departments themselves may devise.

The new constitutional amendment might not effectively interfere with the exercise of discretion by federal officials in disbursing funds to school systems.

Plenty of federal money, moreover, is going into projects in different parts of the country which are politically beneficial to senators and representatives of these same states. But there has never been any parallel to the present day use of federal funds to control the action of states, counties and cities.

★ ★

Thus far, there has been no constitutional challenge presented to put an end to what is plainly a usurpation of power.

Bob Considine Says:

Japanese Are Torpedoed by Unions in New York

NEW YORK—"The strengthening of cultural and commercial bonds between the United States and Japan and particularly between New York and Tokyo motivates 'Japan Week,' to be observed in New York from Feb. 28 to March 7," states a gentle fact sheet released by Japan Air Lines.

CONSIDINE

The bonds took a bit of time being fastened.

It was not our cheerful fun-loving Mayor John Lindsay nor his affable official greeter, Bud Palmer, who were on hand to welcome the Japanese when they arrived at Pulitzer Fountain Plaza, that pleasant little place that sits in front of the Plaza Hotel on Fifth Avenue.

The big van carrying a disassembled 16-foot high replica of a classical 14th century Japanese feudal castle and the appurtenances of the castle's gardens was met instead by two hostile Americans.

★ ★ ★

One was from the Teamsters union, the other from a union of workers who move things intended for exhibitions, the Exhibition Employees' Union Local 829 — better known as IATSB& MPMO.

LABOR WAR

Jimmy Hoffa's man was arguing with the man from IATSB&MPMO. The Japanese, peering timidly out of the van, had not heard that kind of language since Iwo Jima.

Then, to their dismay, they were brought into the labor war. The Hoffa man ordered them not to lift a finger in an effort to unload their hands-across-the-sea goodies. So did the IATSB& MPMO man.

The Japanese were caught in the middle of a jurisdictional fray. It took an arbitration board several days to award the unloading to IATSB&MPMO — and, that many days late, the task of putting the castle together was about to begin.

★ ★ ★

But hold! The Japanese came up with the utterly preposterous suggestion that it might be a nice thing if the castle was put together by the five Japanese carpenters who had lovingly built it, then carefully taken it apart, painstakingly numbered each part, flown it from Japan and now were ready to put it together again.

NOTHING DOING

"Not on your life!" thundered the man from the carpenters' union. "No Jap carpenter is ever going to drive a nail in the Yewnited States!"

So eight local carpenters went to work on the castle, at $19 an hour when the job spilled aimlessly over into a Saturday.

It was a fretful time for the Japanese, particularly when they discovered that some of the satin-smooth wood they had brought all the way across the Pacific was being burned for heat in an old oil barrel.

★ ★ ★

Inspection Law Effect Questioned by Driver

Today I was crowded off the street by an older person who was driving in the center of the street. I had to stop and wait for a young man who backed his car from South Shirley into Pike. I had to make a sudden stop at Midland and Pike and turn sharply to avoid hitting a lady who ran a stop sign. This is similar to everyday driving on East Pike.

★ ★ ★

I wonder if our Governor's vehicle inspection law will have any effect on drivers such as these.

Reader Believes All Taxes Could Be Lowered

Taxes should be lowered instead of raised, by the simple process of the application of successful business practices in the operation of all governmental units—local, state and federal. Then, a huge dividend could be declared in the form of a big tax reduction. Of course this will never be realized unless we could turn over all governmental units to a big corporation like General Motors.

There could be vast improvements in the present system if our elected representatives were courageous enough to start eliminating waste, graft and such.

Two Have Ideas for Train Crossing Problems

A while ago, in Grenada, Mississippi, the police warned railroad officials and workers on the train that if they did not break after five minutes the police would step in. Their warning was ignored and traffic was held up. As soon as the train cleared the crossing the police boarded the train and arrested everyone working on the train. They were given stiff fines and from then on the traffic was not held up more than the five minutes allotted them.

★ ★ ★

JUST A READER OF THE PRESS

If I were bothered by trains, I would get up a petition and present it to the City Commission. I would ask why the railroad doesn't put the belt line track into operation. It was built to run trains around the City. It was never used for that purpose. The track is usable except between South Boulevard and Opdyke. The weather and salt have a lot to do with the condition of the crossings.

It looks like we will be having a part-time Governor and we must pay more taxes to send him off on his campaign. It's the same story all over—more taxes, less service.

Comments on Suggestion of Commissioner

When will the voters of Pontiac wake up to reality? When a city can be represented constantly by prejudiced, biased and narrow-minded men, such as Commissioner Hudson, who consistently condemns anything new or different (the various OEO programs, etc.), how can such a city hope to be anything except second rate—a one movie town?

Hudson reminds me of the former automobile of the same name—progress passed it by also!

Junior Editors Quiz on WELDING

QUESTION: How are pieces of metal connected through welding?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Pieces of metal, like other objects, are made up of tiny particles called molecules.

For two pieces of metal to be joined so they really become one, the molecules of the two edges or surfaces must intermingle or link together. Welding makes the joined part as strong as the rest.

Welding can be done in different ways. We show an old armorer's shop (top picture) where metal pieces are being joined by heating and pounding them together. More modern methods employ far greater heat. With oxyacetylene welding, an intense heat is applied with a torch (lower picture).

The edges of the metal melt, as does the point of a metal rod which is applied. The liquid metal runs into the seam between the pieces and joins everything together. When cool, the joint becomes a powerful weld.

★ ★ ★

Using a tool which can carry a powerful charge of electricity, welding is often accomplished these days by the electric arc method. The temperature at the seam to be welded may reach 7,500 degrees.

Writer, Cameraman Journalism Winners

NEW YORK (AP) — Associated Press photographer Horst Faas, Harrison E. Salisbury of the New York Times and Ramparts magazine are among those named today as recipients of the George Polk memorial awards for significant achievements in journalism in 1966.

Faas and Salisbury, an assistant managing editor of the Times, were cited for Vietnam war coverage. Both are Pulitzer Prize winners — Faas in 1965 for Vietnam combat photography and Salisbury in 1955 for international reporting.

★ ★ ★

Ramparts, which recently made disclosures of Central Intelligence Agency funding of the National Student Association, won in the magazine reporting field.

For the first time since 1951, no radio or television honors were bestowed — although the Polk award is named for a deceased Columbia Broadcasting System correspondent.

ANNUAL AWARDS

The announcement of the 19th annual awards by Long Island University said that no entry in the radio or television field was judged sufficiently outstanding by the selection committee, made up of the university's journalism faculty.

Faas won in the news photography category, giving him in two years' time three of journalism's most coveted awards. The third is the Robert Capa award of the Overseas Press Club, which he won along with the Pulitzer in 1965 for his combat photography.

★ ★ ★

The Polk award cited Faas for "extraordinary professional initiative, personal courage, and human sensitivity in photographing, and catching, the terror of two women and two children trapped in a context heavy Vietcong fire and advancing American paratroopers."

Salisbury was cited "for a pioneering news mission to North Vietnam that contributed a new dimension to coverage of the Vietnam war and, in significantly enlarging international comprehensions of the conflict, influenced the course of contemporary history."

MAGAZINE CITED

Ramparts magazine was cited for its "explosive revival of the great muckraking tradition that once shook delinquent business enterprise and now, thanks to this periodical, alarms those members of the American establishment, including governmental officials, who are irresponsible, deceitful, or amoral, while dramatically alerting all men to their responsibilities."

★ ★ ★

Other category winners of the Polk awards — bronze plaques which will be presented at a luncheon here March 21 — included:

National reporting — Richard Harwood of the Washington Post, for his series on FBI eavesdropping.

Local reporting — Cal Olson of the Fargo (N.D.) Forum, for "detailed, compassionate examination of . . . a forgotten people: the Indians of North Dakota."

NEW YORK POST

Interpretive reporting — Murray Kempton of the New York Post, "for commentary that . . . has succeeded in being intellectually sensitive, morally responsive and powerfully instructive."

Criticism — Alfred Kazin, for literary criticism.

★ ★ ★

Book award — "Modern American Usage," written substantially by Wilson Follett and, after his death, edited and completed by Jacques Barzun and a group of associate scholars.

Two special awards — to Arnold Gingrich, publisher of Esquire, for creating a mass-circulation magazine that "adventurously shatters contemporary myths"; and to the "Time Essay" department of Time magazine "for factually tight, balanced and absorbing reports that help to make meaningful . . . the most baffling complexities of the day."

This Princess Heap Mad Over Tribal Voting Ban

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — An Indian princess of the Shinnecock tribe is fighting for women's rights in the tribe's reservation at this Long Island community.

Princess Nowanda, who claims to be a descendant of Chief Sachem Wyandanch, says women should have the right to vote in the tribal elections each April to select three trustees of the reservation.

★ ★ ★

The trustees say they will continue to permit only the men to vote in the tribal elections.

Princess Nowanda, also known as Lois Hunter, has filed a complaint with the Suffolk County Human Relations Commission, which is studying the case.

DISCUSS CASE

The Rev. Arthur Bryant, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church in nearby Greenport and vice chairman of the Human Relations Commission, plans to meet the princess to discuss the case.

Indian women can vote in county, state and national elections.

The Rev. Mr. Bryant said, "According to McKinney's consolidated Indian laws of New York State pertaining to the Shinnecock tribe, there is a law of 1892 which amounts to an agreement between the Township of Southampton and the Shinnecock tribe. It states that on the first Tuesday in April each year the male members of the tribe may elect three trustees from members of the tribe who have resided on the reservation for the previous six months."

The Rev. Mr. Bryant said that John Hathorn, director of the New York State Interdepartmental Committee on Indian Affairs, advised the Suffolk Human Relations Commission that the Mohawk and St. Regis tribes of upstate New York have had women suffrage for many years.

"And, last year, the male members of the Senecas voted in a referendum to give the right to vote to their women," the Rev. Mr. Bryant said.

"We find that the New York Legislature probably has control over the Shinnecock law, but it's preferable for the Indians to express the desire to change their own law rather than have it come from outside."

The Rev. Mr. Bryant said that one of the reservation trustees, Harry Williams, told him Sunday that he didn't believe this is a problem for the Suffolk Human Relations Commission and that there is no desire on the part of the trustees to pursue the matter any further.

The Rev. Mr. Bryant said he plans to continue looking into the matter because "we have the complaint of a citizen in our hands who is asking for full citizenship rights."

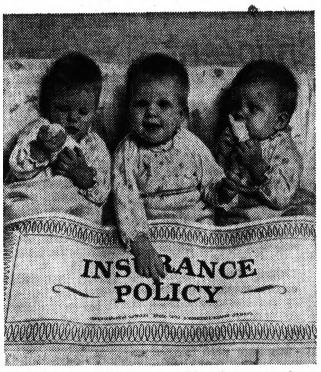
If you want life insurance that you can change as often as your way of life changes...

...the man from Nationwide is on your side.



You can cover practically anything that comes along just by adding to your one Nationwide policy.

Nationwide thinks it's crazy that you should have to buy a whole new policy every time you need more or less life insurance.

That's why Nationwide invented its Adjustable Life Plan. You can change your coverage as often as your way of life changes—but without all the fuss of having a new policy written. You simply add new coverage to your present policy.

Example: Each time you have a child, your responsibilities as a breadwinner increase so you need more insurance. The man from Nationwide lets you add insurance on yourself to your existing policy. But then as your children grow older, get married and become less dependent, he lets you decrease your insurance if you care to.

Nationwide's Adjustable Life Plan lets you add or subtract nine benefits. But no matter how many times you change your coverage, you never have to pay to have a brand-new policy written. It's simple. It saves you money. And it's one more way the man from Nationwide is on your side.

In Red Chinese Struggle

Next 60 Days Crucial for Mao

TOKYO (AP) — Supporters of Mao Tse-tung have indicated he believes the next two months will be crucial for his struggle to resume control of Red China, the official New China News Agency said today.

The pro-Mao Chinese news agency said the Shanghai Municipal Revolutionary Committee adopted a resolution at a rally last Friday apparently based on important instructions from Mao and the Communist Central Committee.

* * *

The resolution said the Maoists' main tasks are to rouse the Chinese masses and "seize the party, administrative, financial and cultural power...usurped by the handful of party persons in authority taking the capitalist road."

"The draft resolution noted that the three months of February, March and April were the crucial period of time for the fulfillment of these tasks," the report said.

REPORTS OF VIOLENCE

The agency did not say why these months were considered important. Mao's instructions were said to have been relayed to the Shanghai committee by one of its leaders, Chang Chun-chiao. Chang said he had met with the Communisty party chairman and found him "in excellent health."

Other reports out of China told of violence involving Red Guards, hinted at renewed resistance by anti-Maoists in Shanghai and said there was political and economic confusion in other areas.

The Hong Kong newspaper New Life Evening Post reported that soldiers fired on pro-Mao Red Guards who tried to storm an ammunition dump in Canton Sunday, killing or wounding at least 15. Travelers from the mainland were quoted as saying the clash occurred as 200,000 Red Guards paraded in Canton's streets.

Travelers from the southern metropolis said Monday ragged and dirty Red Guards, unable to get food or shelter from citizens, have turned to robbery and thievery. Moscow radio said Red Guards were accused of embezzling government funds and looting food warehouses in a number of cities.

MOVEMENTS BANNED

Peking radio said the Shanghai committee banned movements of armed militia by mass organizations or individuals, as well as "attacks on airfields," wireless communication stations and prisons." The committee was said to have ordered violators of the militia ban arrested.

Quoting Peking wall posters, the Czechoslovak news agency CTK said anti-Maoists attacked a group of Mao's supporters in Cheng Tu, capital of Szechwan Province, Feb. 17. It said a large number of Maoists were arrested and physically mistreated, and women were raped.

* * *

The Bulgarian news agency BTA said Peking posters described bloody beatings of Red Guards who tried to seize the New People's University printing press Friday. It reported a bloody clash Feb. 19 as 3,000 persons besieged the Peking broadcasting station.

* * *

Moscow radio said some parts of China are at the "height of political confusion." It said "general economic confusion" is endangering the spring planting and defiant farmers are leaving their communies in masses.

'ARRESTS ORDERED'

Radio Lhasa indicated that Mao's followers were in control of Tibet despite opposition from "a handful of rightist reactionaries," Tibetan refugee sources reported in Darjeeling, India.

* * *

Chinese Nationalist reports, however, said Gen. Chang Kuo-hwa has ordered scores of Red Guards and other Maoists in Tibet arrested. Chang, supreme commander in Tibet, has been reported siding with Mao's enemies.

* * *

Travelers in Hong Kong reported new wall posters in Canton attacking Mao for "weakness" and "surrendering to enemies" because of orders to ease the purge. They said many posters are demanding that Mao turn over power to Defense Minister Lin Piao.

Freed Yanks Back in U.S.

'Anemic, Underweight but Reasonably Good'

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Two U.S. soldiers, freed by the Vietcong during the lunar new year cease-fire, flew back to the mainland United States Monday night and bedded down at the Travis Air Force Base Hospital.

Sgt. Sammie N. Womack of Farmville, Va., and Pfc. Charles E. Crafts of North Jay, Maine, fly on today from San Francisco to Washington.

* * *

They will arrive about 5 p.m. EST. at Dulles airport.

Customs and public health officers boarded their transport at Travis and cleared both men on the plane. Col. Harry Balish, 6th Army staff officer, and a security group then drove the men to the base hospital for a checkup. Newsmen were prevented from talking with them.

ANEMIC

A Pentagon statement said Womack and Crafts were in reasonably good condition but somewhat anemic and underweight.

From Washington, the Pentagon said, Womack will go to Ft. Lee, Va., for additional medical examination and treatment before taking leave.

* * *

Crafts will go to Ft. Devens, Mass., for medical examination and treatment before his discharge from the service.

Crafts was captured Dec. 29, 1964, while accompanying a Vietnamese military operation. Womack was captured on a U.S. patrol Oct. 8, 1966.

Goldberg on Burma: Not on Current Tour

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said today he is not visiting Rangoon on his current Asian tour despite the presence there of a three-man North Vietnamese diplomatic mission and U.N. Secretary General U Thant.

The chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations said he had no information about the North Vietnamese group, which arrived in Rangoon over the weekend. Thant is on vacation in his native Burma.

* * *

Goldberg flew today to Taipei for talks with Chinese Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek and other officials on a fact-finding tour that will also take him to South Vietnam and the Philippines. He said he planned to go to Rangoon on a later Asian tour expected to also include Malaysia, Indonesia and Thailand.

The purpose of the North Vietnamese and their whereabouts in Rangoon have been kept secret. Thant said Monday he had been informed of their arrival but declined to say whether they came to meet with him. U.S. officials in Washington said they had been told that Thant's trip home was not part of any peace effort.

FRANK TALKS

Goldberg said he had a frank and candid discussion of Asian and world problems with South Korean President Chung Hee Park and Premier Chung Il-kwon.

There was speculation that Goldberg explained various American efforts for peace talks. Chung reportedly said intensified bombing of North Vietnam and improvement of the pacification program in the south would speed an end to the war.

Goldberg said U.S. naval bombardment and mining of rivers in North Vietnam were not escalations of the war.

The official North Korean newspaper Minjoo Chosun said Goldberg was trying to persuade South Korea to send more troops to Vietnam. Goldberg said he had not brought any such request.

Minjoo Chosun also said the American ambassador's visit to Seoul was "connected with maneuvers to unleash another war in Korea." It said there have been "frantic activities" to prepare South Korea for war since President Johnson stopped here en route home from the Manila conference on Vietnam last October.

Students Get Military Arms in Indonesia

JAKARTA (AP) — Military authorities in Jakarta issued rifles and machine guns to a paramilitary student group today, charging them to help defend the city.

Similar student groups have been armed in Bandung, a nearby university city, student sources said.

With Congress meeting March 7 to consider a resolution demanding that President Sukarno be dismissed from office, the armed students will be used to check infiltration into the capital of Communists or militant partisans of Sukarno.

* * *

Several clashes between pro- and anti-Sukarno forces in various parts of Indonesia have been reported since the president handed over the remainder of his powers to Gen. Suharto last week. All the clashes have been small.

ATTACKED BUILDING

Minor clashes continued in the North Sumatra capital, Medan. Pro-Sukarno youths recently attacked the local legislative building in Jogjakarta, in central Java, and beat up several members, diplomatic sources said.

In a move against the pro-Sukarno forces, military authorities in central Java have banned the black uniforms favored by the Sukarno youth groups.

All student demonstrations were banned in Jakarta, but about 5,000 gathered at the university Monday night. Troops made no move to break up the meeting.

$5 Million Set for State Roads

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan will get about $5 million of the $175 million in road funds released by the federal government yesterday, the state Highway Department said.

A department spokesman said Michigan would use the money for preliminary engineering work and purchase of highway right-of-way land, primarily for the I-96 Jeffries Freeway in Detroit.

The government announced it was releasing $175 million of the $1.1 billion in highway funds frozen last year as an anti-inflation move.

The Michigan spokesman said federal authorities hope to release the rest of the money by July 1.

Use of Drug Combination Aids Angina Pectoris Pain

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — A 100-year-old treatment for the excruciating chest pain of angina pectoris—nitroglycerin tablets held under the tongue — has been improved.

By combining another drug, called a blocking agent, with other nitrates that are longer acting than nitroglycerin, patients are being given "the most exciting and promising" treatment since the days of the Civil War.

Dr. Henry Russek, consultant in cardiovascular disease, U.S. Public Health Service Hospital, Staten Island, N.Y., told the American College of Cardiology meeting here that "even the weaker formulations of long - acting nitrates will be shown to be effective" in achieving this combined effect, or synergism, when the blocking agent called propranolol hydrochloride is added.

The combination may well become the treatment of choice, he believes.

Dr. Russek pointed out that "so-called sustained-action preparations of the nitrates PETN and ISD are relatively weak and ineffectual," when given alone.

WRONG PILL

Yet these formulations are outselling standard preparations of these drugs in annual sales totaling more than $40 million.

Dr. Russek said "this unfortunate practice of prescribing the right drug in the wrong pill is not only costly and of little benefit to the patient but exposes the physicians' weakness in yielding to sales promotion without consideration of the facts.

"Moveover, these chemical agents have often been condemned as valueless by authorities who have studied only the sustained-action formulations," he said.

* * *

Nevertheless, in view of the striking combined action between pronethalol and the long-acting nitrates, relatively small doses are necessary.

Jail Integration Accord Signed

Today Marks End of Segregation Policy

A policy of segregation maintained in the Oakland County Jail was ended today by an agreement presented to the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

* * *

The commission met at 10 a.m. in Detroit to consider an agreement between Sheriff Frank Irons and the state group.

The agreement contains a clause giving Sheriff Irons "Authority to take lawful measures necessary to protect prisoners from danger and harm."

Irons has insisted the policy of segregating the bullpens was kept to prevent disorder. He has claimed that his facilities are outdated and his staff too undermanned to enforce complete integration.

* * *

He was attacked for the position by civil rights authorities, including the Oakland County Human Relations Coordinating Council.

A complaint was made to the Michigan Civil Rights Commission which heard the case today.

* * *

An agreement to end the segregation was drawn up with the aid of county legal council and was to be signed by Irons.

* * *

* * *

The collision occurred at approximately 5 p.m., according to township police.

Exam Slated in Shooting of Pontiac Man

Preliminary court examination for a Pontiac man charged with assault with intent to murder is scheduled for March 7 in Pontiac Municipal Court.

* * *

Unable to meet the $10,000 bond set yesterday by Judge Cecil McCallum, Ruby B. Bell, 38, of 223 S. Edith was remanded to the Oakland County Jail.

Bell stood mute at his arraignment on a charge of shooting Curtis Jenkins, 45, of 197 Dellwood.

Jenkins is in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital after undergoing surgery to remove the bullet from his head.

* * *

He was shot between the eyes with a bullet fro ma 25-caliber pistol during an argument, according to Pontiac police.

Legal Recognition as 'Anastasia' Is Denied by Court

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — The Hamburg Superior Court today rejected the claim of 66-year-old Anna Anderson that she is Grand Duchess Anastasia, youngest daughter of the last Russian czar.

Mrs. Anderson's lawyer announced the decision would be appealed to the West German Supreme Court. It will be her last chance for legal recognition.

* * *

It was the third postwar setback for the mysterious woman whose claim first became known in 1920 when she was rescued from a suicide attempt in the Landwehr Canal in Berlin.

The Hamburg court, which has been taking testimony over a period of three years, rejected Mrs. Anderson's appeal against a 1961 decision.

Rights Killing Charges Secret

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Authorities locked under tight security today the names and number of persons indicted by a federal grand jury for the Philadelphia, Miss., and Vernon Dahmer civil rights slayings.

U.S. District Judge Harold Cox, who accepted the indictments from a 23-member jury Monday, ordered particulars of the charges kept secret until arrests are made.

He did say, however, "It will be permissible to say that indictments have been returned in the Philadelphia and Dahmer cases."

Slain at Philadelphia in the summer of 1964 were Michael Schwerner, 23, and Andrew Goodman, 20—two white civil rights workers from New York—and James E. Chaney, 21, a Meridian Negro who had accompanied them into Neshoba County.

The other case involved the January 1966 fire bomb slaying of Dahmer, a 58-year-old Negro businessman who was helping in a voter-registration drive sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Lt. Cecil Holland

Vietcong Get the Word and Yanks Win Battle

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

KONTUM, Vietnam — The proponents of modern psychological warfare believe that the microphone is mightier than the mortar.

And sometimes it is.

Take Cecil Holland's sometime as an example. He's a psy-war trained lieutenant from Orlando, Fla., who recently spearheaded what was the most successful high-fidelity combat assault of the war.

The activity took place on a jungle battleground. At the time, a U.S. battalion from the 101st Airborne Division was energetically pursuing several hundred enemy soldiers along the sides of several hills.

★ ★ ★

The fight was cat-and-mouse. The GIs advanced, shooting at every shadow, while enemy guerrillas would stand slugging for a moment, then beat it off into the forest.

U.S. troops poured thousands upon thousands of rifle rounds into the brush, hitting many trees and few guerrillas. The other side fired less often, preferring mostly sniper fire to cover their retreat.

It went on like that. Progress was elusive.

And then Cecil Holland took over.

Climbing a large tree, the lieutenant rigged up a bulky, 50-pound public address system.

He pushed the amplifying horns into the branches and let the wires dangle down along the trunk. Then he plugged in, switched on, and listened to the metallic hum with satisfaction.

That finished, he quickly scribbled out a message of propaganda and opened his vocal attack on the startled enemy.

★ ★ ★

"This is a government appeal," he broadcast.

EERIE EFFECT

The sound echoed, shooting stopped.

"You are fighting a senseless battle," Holland droned. "If you continue, you will be killed. But if you surrender now, you will live."

The booming voice had an eerie effect in the midst of the confrontation. It filtered unevenly in the winds and was so strongly imposing that it bristled the hair on a listener's neck.

"Give up," Holland stressed.

Some shots rang out.

ULTIMATUM

"Give up or be killed."

Holland read and reread the message. He altered it and emphasized the harsh alternatives.

He said that the struggle was useless; he told the enemy they were outnumbered, that they were also outgunned.

★ ★ ★

As the broadcast continued, the fight flared intermittently.

MEETS RESISTANCE

Grenades spattered. Commands were shouted back and forth along the broken U.S. position.

Young men and old men wriggled along the damp jungle floor and ran white-faced from tree to tree.

"This is a government appeal," Holland repeated.

★ ★ ★

A machine gun chattered.

"You will be given food."

INTERRUPTION

A GI fell wounded.

"Give up or be killed."

Suddenly the broadcast was interrupted by a rustling noise to Holland's front. The lieutenant gawked at the moving bushes and saw a figure . . . two figures.

★ ★ ★

GAIN IMPETUS

"Well," Holland sighed, "I'll be damned."

After that, the broadcasts gained impetus. The two defectors agreed to make personal appeals.

They mentioned good treatment and medical aid. And one by one, other guerrillas stumbled toward the U.S. lines.

New messages were written. The microphone was moved to follow the backstepping enemy.

STEREOPHONIC BATTLE

Armed only with words, the lieutenant waged his stereophonic battle until enemy contact was broken completely.

In the end, the mathematics of Cecil Holland's campaign were remarkably one-sided.

He suffered a slight loss of voice and a sore throat . . . but the enemy suffered almost total demoralization.

It was, indeed, a microphone massacre.

And, in its wake, 39 of the enemy surrendered.

Neutralist Bloc Asserting Itself Among Reds

By LEON DENNEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — A neutralist bloc is emerging on the scene of international communism and gorwing with unexpected speed.

Like President de Gaulle, who wants Europe to act as a "third force" between the United States and Russia, the Red neutralists see themselves as a third force between Moscow and Peking.

Romania, which has taken the lead in rejecting Russian domination, has now been joined by the North Korean, Japanese, Italian and Cuban Communists.

Fidel Castro, who tried to balance himself unsuccessfully between Russia and Red China, is showing increasing signs of favoring the neutralists.

Even North Vietnam, in spite of its precarious position between Moscow and Peking, reportedly is veering toward a neutralist stand.

SOVIET BACKER

Ho Chi Minh is a strong supporter of Russia. But he has always followed the line of North Korea in the ranks of international communism.

He is not likely to remain far behind now that North Korea and other Asian Reds are openly proclaiming their neutral stand in the growing conflict between Russia and China.

★ ★ ★

But Moscow's prestige also sank to a new low when Romania decided to establish diplomatic relations with West Germany, despite the protests of the Russians and their East German puppet, Walter Ulbricht.

FEARS FOR EXISTENCE

Communist East Germany fears for its very existence as long as the West does not recognize it as an independent German state.

The prospect of having West German embassies in the capitals of Communist East Europe heightens this fear.

Now Hungary is reported to be ready to join the neutralists and resume diplomatic relations with West Germany.

Like President Johnson, Russia's Communist party chief Brezhnev and Premier Kosygin find it increasingly difficult to influence their allies.

STATE OF DISSOLUTION

Their Warsaw Pact organization is even in as great a state of dissolution as NATO, its Western counterpart.

The Russians have repeatedly failed in their efforts to convene an international conference of Reds that would give formal authority to Moscow's position against Peking.

The emergence of the neutralist bloc which refuses to commit itself to either side in the battle of the Russian and Chinese giants is the clearest sign that a united Red movement is no longer possible.

For American foreign policy the Communist neutralists present a new challenge and opportunity.

President Johnson has encountered stiff opposition in Congress to his efforts to "build bridges" to East Europe. But U.S. policy makers can no longer afford to ignore or underrate the Red third force.

They now have a membership of five Communist parties (or possibly eight if one includes North Vietnam, Hungary and Yugoslavia) and are likely to gain more strength in the future.

Utica High School's Latin Club is making plans for a trip to the Detroit Art Institute March 14.

A trip to Cobo Hall is also being planned for some time in April.

The Drama Club is making plans to present a vaudeville show about the end of April.

President Thomas Miller, senior, along with Mark Craft and Greg Zygiel, seniors, are writing the play for the show.

★ ★ ★

The club is searching for students who are banjo players, magicians, dancers or comedians. These performers will make up "acts between acts."

TRY FOR REALISM

The Drama Club will try to stage the vaudeville show as realistically as possible.

Dress codes were the main topic of discussion at the Student Council meeting Wednesday.

A committee was appointed to form a code, and a suggestion box will be placed in the cafeteria for student comments on dress standards.

★ ★ ★

After the code has been set up, it will be voted on and submitted to the faculty for approval.

DRESS-UP DAY

Friday was Dress-Up Day. Students were asked to be especially neat on this day and many boys wore suits and ties.

Another Student Council activity includes the new rules for school dances.

Girls will be required to wear skirts instead of slacks, tickets will be on sale from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. only, and all coats will have to be checked rather than worn in to the dance.

The library has a new Xerox machine. This machine copies any information that one may need for school or home use. Students will be charged 10 cents for each page copied.

The UHS band gave a concert Thursday. They played selections of Mozart and Beethoven.

Brother Rice Preparing for Fair in April

By JOHN CRUTT

Brother Rice High School has begun preparations for its annual Galway County Fair.

★ ★ ★

This year it will be on April 29. Operations are running smoothly under the direction of Mrs. A. A. Cleary, of the Mother's Club.

She is being assisted by John Hildebrand and Dave Columbo, president and treasurer of the Student Council respectively.

Many of the extraordinary and novel booths are planned for this year.

Among them are the Greenwich Village Room and a dungeon.

The talent show held at Rice last Tuesday proved to be an overwhelming success.

★ ★ ★

One of the groups gaining quite a bit of controversy was the "Newt Jug Band." Its first number was "The Egg Plant that Ate Chicago."Followed by "Hello,' Hello" and "Wild Thing."

Scholarships to 3 at PCH

BY CHRIS BLAKENEY

Three seniors at Pontiac Central received Leadership Scholarships from the Pontiac chapter of the Elks Temple. They are Lynne Chandler, Jo Lynn Yansen and Rob Gordon.

Each received a $100 bond and the right to go on to the state competition.

State winners (one boy and one girl) go on to national competition where the top award is $1,400 each.

The three winners submitted to the Elks a letter from their parents concerning family life, a letter from an adult friend, and a portfolio of pictures, pins, newspaper articles, etc., gathered from activities in which they have participated.

Normally an Elks chapter will choose only two winners, a boy and a girl, but the members were unable to decide between the excellent leadership qualities of Jo Lynn and Lynne.

HIGH RATINGS

In the Solo-Ensemble Festival recently, the PCH symphonic Band received its highest ratings in 15 years.

Awarded first-division place were clarinet duet, Nancy Wirth and Jim Anthony; bassoon solo, Lamond Eanes; cornet solo, Jeff Bisanz; trombone solo, Dale Cheal; and trombone solo, David Rath.

Seaholm Waits for Trumpeters

By HOLLY ALFS

Seaholm High School will host two outstanding assemblies in the near future.

Especially exciting is the act planned for March 9 when the First Trumpet Quartet will make an appearance. The group consists of not just four trumpeters, but four trumpet virtuosos, each equally renowned in his own right.

Robert Kutscher, Seaholm's band leader, has remarked that the quartet is of excellent quality.

The second assembly on April 18 will feature the fabulous Four Saints in Seaholm's gym. They promise to be a top act.

★ ★ ★

UN DEBATE

As the Birmingham United Nations General Assembly nears, club members and officers are settling final details for the two-day debate.

Recently committees chose the final proposals to be debated in the assembly from those submitted by member delegations in January.

Chosen were from the USSR committee; Southern Rhodesia; France; Vietnam; Canada, admission of Red China; China; Thailand, dues; and a joint proposal from the United Kingdom and the United States, the Arab-Israeli conflict.

★ ★ ★

The BUNA General Assembly will be held March 16 and 17.

RUN ASSEMBLY

The assembly will be run by the club officers Mary Steere, secretary-general; and Greg Oxford, president.

Each sponsoring delegation will be given the major speech to speak for their proposal.

Chris Firth has been elected variety show chairman. Acts that have been selected include the traditional kickline and a wrestling skit. Group members may still create routines and try-out to be in the show.

Larry DuComb, salutatorian for 1967, is chairman of the sunrise service which includes a choir under the direction of Steve Jones of the faculty.

A Beethoven arrangement has been selected for presentation Easter morning.

Involvement Is Byword at Cranbrook

By RICHARD BOSLEY

Cranbrook School, which is traditionally interested in English, both spoken and written, provides many ways for its students to become involved.

Some junior and senior students are presently involved in the second annual English Seminar, which is dealing with modern poetry this year.

Recently Prof. Stephen Dunning of the University of Michigan participated in a seminar.

Rather than just speaking to the group, he chose four students to read extemporaneously from a script he had written.

In this way he "discussed" the purpose of poetry.

He said that poetry arises from a need to describe a feeling or emotion in a clear, concise, and significant way.

Cranbrook provides an outlet for students after they have learned these new ideas: the Opus Cranbrook's literary magazine.

Each year the magazine, organized solely by the students, is devoted totally to creative writing.

It is sold in the spring to all Cranbrook students and faculty.

Students are also able to win recognition in other ways. The Scholastic Writing Awards and the Jasper Reid Awards, provide monetary incentive for young writers.

At Marian High

Gal Gets the Picture

By PATRICIA POLMEAR

Celebrities, students, faculty, or speakers at Marian High School do not usually leave without meeting senior Joan Dorsch.

A 5-foot-4-inch bundle of determination and energy, Joan becomes, at times, a "necessary nuisance" as she "pops up" in the most unexpected places as only a school photographer can.

Her story is not a long one, but is, nonetheless, interesting.

It began at Christmas, 1962, when she received her first camera as a present from "Santa."

★ ★ ★

At that time, her interest in photography was slight, other than capturing the special moments of eighth grade at Holy Name Grade School, Birmingham.

Photography remained an impersonal, drab, part-time hobby until she entered Marian High School in September of '63.

While investigating the possibility of Photography Club membership, she was awed by the thrill and satisfaction that Sister Richard Mary, IHM, club moderator, experienced.

Shortly afterward, she joined the club, which was the first step to competition and honors.

Photography is now second nature to her. Now, her swinging camera and light meter are as much a part of her as her blonde, bobbed hair and winsome grin.

At the conclusion of her sophomore year, Joan entered one of her compositions in competition in the American Girl Magazine and was successful.

As a result, the hours she spent taking pictures as well as her interest increased.

Her favorite subject matter is undoubtedly people, as her hundreds of portraits confirm.

★ ★ ★

"I love photographing babies because they seem to have more life and don't freeze when they see a camera, although I find old people fascinating," Joan comments.

AWARD-WINNER

"But," she quickly adds, "I thoroughly enjoy every aspect of photography and am willing to take pictures of anything and everything."

Additional awards she has won include a first prize in the Detroit Free Press weekly photography contest and, recently, three awards in the annual National Scholastic Photography contest.

Of the 6,000 entries, 1,000 were judged winners. Joan's portfolio included seven categories and was selected for further consideration. Portfolio winners will receive college scholarships.

★

TO CONTINUE IN FIELD

Presently her time is divided between work on the "Marianews," "Marian Way," and a book for the Bertha Fisher Retirement Home.

Her immediate future plans include entering Oakland University this fall but continuing in the field of photography is a definite must.

She not only takes the pictures, but develops them as well.

"Besides the smaller expense, developing one's own pictures is fun and satisfying. Also, you can produce your own special effects this way."

TIPS TO BEGINNERS

Some of her tips to beginners are:

- Don't be discouraged.
- If you have a real interest in this field, take a photography course.
- If necessary, start out with an Instamatic camera.
- Experiment.

She admits that at first her "guinea pigs" were brothers and sisters: Michael, 14, Kathryn (Kitty), 13, Patricia, 9, and David, 7.

"Artistic ability, determination, and some equipment are the basis for a cameraman," Joan explains.

★ ★ ★

ABOVE-AVERAGE STUDENT

An above-average student, she is also a member of the Marian High School Debate Club and lists her favorite subjects as math and French.

When questioned who has influenced her most in this field, Joan said:

★ ★ ★

"Herbert Shapiro, from whom I took a photography course, and Sister Richard Mary.

"Both have instilled in me the appreciation, sense of achievement and happiness possible from this work."

In conclusion, Joan states that she "has received a true sense of accomplishment and feels all endeavors have been worthwhile."

Vote Nearing at Kingswood

By CINDY GRISSOM

This week students at Kingswood School are considering the candidates who are running to fill the major school offices next year.

The final decision will be made next Monday, voting day.

Competition among the candidates is de-emphasized and most campaigning is discouraged.

The Student Council is posting each girl's picture and a description of their past service in the hall.

★ ★ ★

On Monday, before the actual voting, the candidates will give a short speech explaining their opinions on present programs and hopes for future programs.

SEPARATE MEETINGS

The girls are nominated for the Student Council offices in separate class meetings, but the final decision is made by an all-school vote.

Nominees for president are Marnie Greenwood, Leslie Penney and Lee Ann Ellingsworth.

On Monday the officers for Student Cabinet, the religious and service organization, the Self-Monitoring Advisory Committee, the athletic team captains and the class presidents will also be elected.

★ ★ ★

This year a new legislative body was formed, the Student-Faculty Joint Committee. This group is working to remove the block in communications between the teachers and students.

Stores Plagued by Shoplifting

'Clerkless' Concept of Merchandising Cited

NEW YORK (UPI) — Just as a great rise in pilferage by employes costs manufacturers and wholesalers hundreds of millions of dollars yearly, retailers now are being plagued by a great increase in shoplifting.

Easy access to merchandise in the new "clerkless" stores of modern shopping centers creates the temptations that result in the big rise in stealing.

Only merchandise of small bulk and high value — diamonds, watches and small precision cameras and tools— is kept under glass in today's stores.

Everything else is out in stacks on open trays or shelves. Garments costing $100 or more at retail hang on racks to be handled by customers with very few clerks, floor walkers or guards to keep tabs.

★ ★ ★

The temptation to professional thieves, dishonest housewives and teen-agers stealing for kicks is overwhelming, store officials and police say.

Losses by shoplifting have gone up so much they have actually forced increases in department and discount store markups.

While department store executives say they think housewives and other amateurs do 85 per cent of the stealing, the FBI, which is consulted occasionally, and police in many cities say professional shoplifting is on the increase.

The store detective is the store's first defense against shoplifting, but his usefulness is limited.

★ ★ ★

Mechanical aids have helped catch shoplifters but they haven't checked the rise.

The newest safeguard is a tiny plastic wafer that emits electronic impulses. This wafer is fastened to the garment or the merchandise package with a special rivet that can be cut only with a specially shaped scissors.

Plumbing, Heating Ordinances Introduced by Board

Waterford News

The Waterford Township Board last night introduced plumbing and heating ordinances which will become effective if adopted at a future meeting.

Introduced were the plumbing code of the City of Detroit and a reciprocal heating code also used by several other communities.

Both ordinances include amendments.

The plumbing code would give the township more definite controls over installations. It is much better defined than the existing code, according to E. R. Lawson the township's director of inspection s.

The heating code, which would replace an existing ordinance adopted in 1959, is more up to date and includes new heating concepts.

BLAMED FOR 31 FIRES

Lawson said the code would eliminate floor furnaces and suspended floor units in crawl-space areas which together were directly responsible for 31 fires in the township last year.

The code also would require new safety features for oil and gas heating units.

In other business last night, the board unanimously rejected a request to rezone from single family residential (R-TA) to multiple dwelling residential (R-2) property on the southwest corner of Saline Drive at Windiate Road for apartments.

The board set a March 20 public hearing date for a proposed street-lighting project for Indianwoods Manor Subdivision.

More than 50 per cent of the affected property owners previously signed petitions favoring the project. Fourteen lights would be installed.

Based on 62 assessments, the annual charge to property owners would be $7.84 per assessment.

Gayle Teerman, 38, of 5136 Ridge Top was appointed to the township's three-member board of tax review, replacing A. B. White who resigned.

The board of tax review will meet from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. March 7, 10 and 13 and from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. March 9 and 16 to hear appeals from taxpayers.

TRANSFER OK'd

Also approved last night was a request for a liquor license transfer of an SDM-licensed business from Elizabeth Lake Pharmacy to W. C. Robertson, 3801 Elizabeth Lake.

A fireworks application was approved in conjunction with Farmer Jack's grand opening tomorrow for the firm's Pontiac Mall store and Friday for the Drayton Plains store.

Supervisor Dorothy W. Olson proclaimed March as "Children's Art Month" in the township. Elementary pupils in the township school district will stage an art exhibit at Pontiac Mall March 6-18.

The board approved the sale of candy by the Pontiac Area Council of Camp Fire Girls to be conducted April 8-22, excluding Sundays.

Congressmen Disappointed

Letup on Road Fund Cuts 'Not Enough'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 16 per cent restoration of highway building money previously frozen by President Johnson is being branded by disappointed members of congressional public works committees as only a minor easing.

Budget Director Charles L. Schultze goes before a joint session of the Senate and House Public Works Committees today to defend the spending cutback.

★ ★ ★

Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyd told the panels Monday that $175 million of the $1.1 billion cut for the current fiscal year is being unfrozen.

More than 30 members of the committees quizzed Boyd. Most of them stressed what they said was the disastrous effect of the cutback on their states.

NOT FOR CONSTRUCTION

They emphasized that, under Boyd's announcement, even the restored $175 million could not be used for construction but only for buying right-of-way and for preliminary engineering.

Schultze is expected to run into equally barbed questioning since many of the legislators feel that the freeze order originated in his bureau.

★ ★ ★

Some committee members thought signs of downturn in the nation's economy and a recent drop in the highway construction price-index might lead the administration to end the cutback completely.

Boyd did say the $175 million restoration might be a first step — that other funds might be released in the remaining four months of the current fiscal year if conditions justify.

FULL AMOUNT

He also said the full $4.4 billion authorized for highways in fiscal 1968, which starts July 1, would be made available.

Under questioning, he conceded that this decision would not necessarily stand up if inflationary pressures flare.

★ ★ ★

Some government economists said that easing of the freeze would have little, if any, economic effect.

Administration sources said the economy has slowed in recent months but is moving in approximately the manner anticipated two months ago. "We expected it to be sluggish the first part of the year and to swing upward the latter half," one economist said.

2 Rob Restaurant

DETROIT (AP) — Two well-dressed men robbed the London Chop House, swank downtown eating place of a reported $4,000 Monday. Mrs. Marianne Stys, 40, hostess, said the men forced her at gunpoint in her basement office to put weekend receipts into an attache case.

Saigon Protest Against French Now in 4th Day

SAIGON (AP) — More than 200 sputtering motor scooters rolled slowly through Saigon's main streets today in the fourth straight day of officially sanctioned anti-French demonstrations.

The three-wheel vehicles, which are an important part of Saigon's public transport, carried crudely lettered signs "Down with De Gaulle" and the drivers and passengers chanted the slogan.

The drivers were union members who formed up next to the Ministry of Labor. Jeeploads of rifle police escorted them.

Leaders of the scootercade handed out neatly printed petitions calling for the confiscation of all French property in Vietnam and its distribution among poor Vietnamese.

Opening lead—♥ J

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Here is a classic situation involving a missing ten spot. South has a standard opening two no-trump and North has enough to take his partner right to the slam.

JACOBY

West opens the jack of hearts, and dummy rather unhappily. A quick count of winners shows that he only has 11 unless he can get in two spade tricks and that the ten of spades is going to be a key card against him.

He probably runs off four club tricks just to see what will happen and East will let two hearts go to show his partner how many hearts declarer holds.

Neither East or West is going to discard a spade and South will be right where he started. He will probably lead a spade from dummy at this point and stick in his nine.

★ ★ ★

West will win with the queen but it won't do him any good. South will get back to dummy, lead a second spade, finesse the jack and claim 12 tricks.

★ ★ ★

An expert East may well throw a monkey wrench into South's machinery. He will play the king of spades on the first spade lead!

South will be likely to assume that the king was from king-queen, not king-ten. He will take his ace; go back to dummy, lead a second spade and go up with his jack.

Of course, if both East and South are great experts this king play is not going to make any difference to South.

★ ★ ★

He will realize that great expert East will have been smart enough to play the king from king-ten or to play low with king-queen and great expert South will still finesse against the ten spot on his second spade lead.

A—Pass. If your partner held a really good two bid he would have found some ace showing rebid instead of just going to game in the suit.

Instead of bidding four hearts your partner goes to three spades over your three-heart response. What do you do now?

Losses on Lettuce Near $15 Million

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP) — There's too much desert lettuce in California. So says the Western Growers Association, bemoaning the worst marketing year in the crop's history, and losses near $15 million.

Shippers in El Centro say they have left nearly five million cartons of marketable lettuce unharvested because of oversupply.

★ ★ ★

Lettuce prices are about four cents a head. The growers say the price barely covers packing and marketing expenses — with nothing left to cover field costs.

Tax Rejected

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Traverse City turned down a proposed 12-mill operating tax for schools Monday in a record turnout of voters for a school election. Yes votes numbered 1,294; no votes 2,264.

$40 Million in Birdseed

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — Millet and sunflower seeds have been suggested as new and lucrative crops for Northeastern farmers by the Lockwood Nutrition service here.

★ ★ ★

The Service says that there is a $40 million market for birdseed, but that the present ingredients come mainly from the Midwest.

Manufacturers probably would buy locally if the crops were available.

Roads Passable? Perish the Thought!

JONESVILLE (AP) — A lady called the State Police Post in Jonesville Monday and asked about road conditions following a light snowfall.

★ ★ ★

Police told her roads were slippery but passable.

"Oh, I don't want to pass anyone," she said, "I just want to follow."

A majority of all highway travelers remain away from home less than three days.

One Seaman Killed

Survivors Leave Burning Ship

CAPE CHARLES, Va. (AP) — Twenty-two surviving crewmen from the German freighter Caldas headed for port today while the Coast Guard kept watch over their fire-wracked ship about 80 miles northeast of here in the Atlantic.

* * *

Left behind when the crew abandoned ship Monday was the body of one crew member who died in the blaze the Coast Guard said apparently originated in the engine room.

Sixteen crewmen who abandoned ship were picked up by the Liberian tanker Somerset Trader and later were transferred to the American freighter Atlantic Heritage.

The master and five crewmen remained aboard to battle the flames but gave up the effort, put to sea in a lifeboat and were rescued by the Coast Guard patrol vessel Kiwanda.

The Coast Guard scheduled a rendezvous off Cape Henlopen, Del., to transfer them to the Atlantic Heritage, which expected to arrive in Philadelphia about 3:30 p.m. today.

The 1,743-ton Caldas was en route from the Canal Zone with a cargo which included coffee, machinery and four buses. Her home port is Hamburg.

GOP Senators to Discuss Consular Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans explore their differences on a U.S.-Soviet consular treaty at a closed session today that could help determine whether the document will be ratified.

Prior to the GOP session, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee plans a meeting at which Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., says he hopes to get a vote on the treaty.

* * *

Unless some member asks for a delay, the committee is expected to approve by a margin greater than its 14 to 5 vote backing the agreement in August 1965. The pact did not come to a full Senate vote last Congress, so it reverted to the committee.

* * *

GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen said in an interview that he wants to give supporters and critics of the treaty a chance to air their views to find out where individual members stand.

DECLINES TO SAY

Dirksen declined to say whether he intends to inform the group he is backing the treaty. He has supported it in private conversations.

The Illinois senator holds a key to possible approval, since his support appears necessary to muster the required two-thirds support for ratification.

* * *

The treaty, signed in 1964, would set ground rules for establishment by each country's consulates on the other's soil.

Supporters say the treaty's provision giving early access to any of the 18,000 yearly American visitors who might be arrested in the Soviet Union makes the agreement worthwhile. Opponents contend the diplomatic immunity for consular officials and staffs of both countries would invite an expansion of Soviet spying in the United States.

10-15 EMPLOYES

Administration officials say the Soviets would probably establish one consulate with 10 to 15 employes.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said in a separate interview he now regards the chances of ratification as "just fair."

"If Sen. Dirksen supports it, I believe we can muster the necessary votes for ratification," Mansfield said. "But it all depends on him."

GOP Alarmed by Federal Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican congressional leaders again are viewing with alarm what they call the erosion of the federal system caused by the unlimited appetite of the federal treasury for the taxpayers' dollars.

"The destruction of our federal system could be imminent," said Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen at last week's performance of the "Ev and Jerry Show."

He and House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford were demanding that Congress do something about "tax sharing," the proposal for the federal government to pass some of its tax collections back to the states for unrestricted use.

The Republican plan is undisinterest on the part of the year than last because of fdisinterest on the part of the Johnson administration.

While admitting weaknesses in existing federal aid programs for education, urban renewal, the war on poverty, etc., the administration is emphasizing the need for improved management of the programs.

HAMMERS AWAY

It also is hammering on state and local government to improve their own program management.

Dirksen and Ford said the Eisenhower administration had tried and failed to stop the growth of big government in Washington at the expense of the states and that tax-sharing now offered the only realistic approach.

Judge Resumes Exam in Meat Indictment Case

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Circuit Judge John T. Letts continues today as examining judge in a grand jury meat indictment case involving eight individuals and two meat companies.

Judge Letts was elected to the circuit bench last Nov. 8 and it appeared testimony taken before him while a municipal judge would have to be retaken before Municipal Judge Louis Simhauser.

Agreement was reached Monday between attorneys that will allow Judge Letts to continue the examination.

The indictment alleges that the respondents—all from the West Michigan area — did conspire to unlawfully acquire, process and transport in uninspected vehicles meat or meat products of dead animals which had died of natural or unnatural causes.

It also charges the respondents used false inspection stamps of the City of Grand Rapids and the State Department of Agriculture.

Heidi's Fourth to Wear This Dress

By MADELEINE DOEREN

"Heidi Ann is the fourth-generation baby to wear my husband's christening dress," says Mrs. Victor Hancock who thinks the big pearl buttons down the back seem to date the dress. "No one knows exactly when the dress was made nor by whom," she added.

"Anyway, it has become a family heirloom and is my responsibility."

CAREFULLY STORED

After each wearing, the dress is carefully laundered and stored in a deep box with blue paper between the folds. This is to prevent yellowing of the white cotton fabric.

Vertical rows of fine tucking and insertion form the front and long sleeves of the garment which is bordered with a deep flounce of eyelet embroidery.

Rev. Malcolm K. Burton officiated at the recent christening on a wintry Sunday in The First Congregational Church.

The John E. Madoles, the baby's grandparents, were hosts at a buffet dinner for some 24 family members in their home in Lacota Raod. Mrs. Nicholie was the former Mary Suzanne Madole. The John Madoles of Pasadena, Calif. are also great-grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Delos Nicholie of Lake Angelus are the paternal grandparents and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Trietsch of Prudenville and Florida are paternal great-grandparents.

★ ★ ★

Others who wore the heirloom dress were Heidi's grandmother, Mrs. John Madole, the former Mary Ruth Hancock, and the Madole children Mary Suzanne, Janet Elaine and John.

★ ★ ★

Also baptized in the dress were Mrs. Ray Madole (Helen Joan Hancock) the baby's great-aunt who lives in Kettering, Ohio, and her children Scott, Vickie Ann and Joan Ellen.

A smiling trio are Victor Hancock of Illinois Avenue, his granddaughter, Mrs. Earl W. Nicholie (Mary Suzanne Madole) of Beachum Drive and his great-granddaughter, Heidi Ann Nicholie, who is four months old. The first great-grandchild in the Hancock family, she wore her great-grandfather's dress for her recent christening.

Sounds as if Your Future Bride Is Being Unreasonable on Issue

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am practically engaged to a wonderful girl. Everything was just fine until we started to discuss the wedding date. She wants to be married the last Saturday in May, and I want to wait until the middle of June because that's when my best buddy will be coming back from the service and I want him for my best man.

ABBY

We sort of made a pact that we would be each other's best man, and I want to keep my word.

My girl says it is the bride's privilege to set the date. Considering it's only a matter of waiting three weeks, do you think I ought to hold my ground, or let her have her way?

DENNIS

DEAR DENNIS: There is more involved here than "waiting three weeks." A girl who would be unwilling to make a small concession in order to please her future husband sounds something less than "wonderful" to me. Your reasons for wanting to wait is valid. If she has an equally valid reason for rushing, give in. Otherwise, hold your ground.

DEAR ABBY: Why is a man a perfect gentleman around a skinny woman, but when it comes to a fat woman, he's not?

Unfortunately I am extremely heavy (235 pounds). One evening in night school, I dropped some papers on the floor and the man sitting across from me made no effort to pick them up. It was very awkward for me to pick them up myself, but I finally managed to do so.

At work it's the same story. I dropped my keys once and my boss, who was standing right next to me, did nothing. About a week later a real skinny girl dropped her keys and the boss couldn't bend down fast enough to pick them up for her.

What causes men to treat fat women with such disrespect? I have seen evidences of this time and again.

OVERWEIGHT

DEAR OVERWEIGHT: A true gentleman is courteous to a woman whether she's fat or thin. The male who has manners only for ladies he wants to impress is no gentleman. A pox on him.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am very much concerned about a young friend of mine. She has a good job and is engaged to be married, but each week she turns over her entire paycheck to her husband-to-be.

When they have an argument, which is quite often, she is left without enough money for even one lunch! She is a pretty girl, and smart, except when it comes to him.

Why would an intelligent girl allow a fellow to do her this way? I suppose she's "In love," but what a way to start a marriage.

WANTING TO HELP

DEAR WANTING: Some girls like a man who will push them around, and your young friend appears to be such a girl since she puts up with it. Stay out of it.

Must She Return All Baby Gifts?

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I recently lost my first baby when seven months pregnant, but my doctor says there is no reason not to have another. I intend to have one as soon as possible.

★ ★ ★

Two baby showers were given for me and I don't know what to do with the gifts. Should I not say anything and keep them; offer to return them; insist on returning them? Please advise me.—Mrs. B. L.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. B. L.: Since there is no guarantee that you will have another baby immediately, you should return the gifts. The trouble with "offering" to return them is that the donors will surely refuse, telling you to keep them for another baby.

Good luck to you and may that second baby come soon.

DOUBLE RING

Dear Mrs. Post: In a double ring ceremony, who holds the rings in church? Does the best man hold one and the maid of honor the other? Or does the best man hold both?—Toni

★ ★ ★

Dear Toni: The maid of honor holds the ring to be given to the groom. She gives it to the bride at the same time that the best man gives the bride's ring to the groom, and the bride puts it on the groom's finger immediately after she has received her ring.

Shaw Comedy Next at Meadow Brook

"You Never Can Tell" is the third offering this season by the new Meadow Brook Theatre Company at Oakland University.

The George Bernard Shaw comedy, opening a four-week run Wednesday will mark the directorial debut of Robin Ray, Meadow Brook's associate director.

The production is doubly significant because it will also see the American acting debut of Jenny Laird, the wife of John Fernald, the Theatre's artistic director.

AMERICAN DEBUT

While Miss Laird will be making her debut to American audiences as the "modern" Mrs. Clandon, others in the cast will be familiar to Meadow Brook Theatre-goers from their performances in the first two productions of the Fernald Company's premiere season.

Roni Dengel, last seen as Rosaline in "Love's Labour's Lost" will match wits with Terence Scammell. Scammell had a similar task last month as the King in "Love's Labour's Lost."

Eric Berry will play Mr. Crampton, a role that is quite unlike his two previous appearances at Meadow Brook. Crampton is an irascible old gentleman with a toothache.

Curt Dawson and Susan Stranks are a pair of precocious twins aged 18. Mr. Dawson has played the Story Teller in "Chalk Circle" and the tottering schoolmaster in "Love's Labour's" while Miss Stranks had a supporting role in "Chalk Circle."

★ ★ ★

Joshua Bryant as an aging solicitor was last seen as the engaging clown Costard last month and George Guidall as an overbearing lawyer will be remembered as the dashing Berowne of "Love's Labour's Lost."

Rounding out the cast of "You Never Can Tell" is Robert Donley in the memorable role of "Balmy Walters" the waiter.

The waiter is the voice of reason in "You Never Can Tell." He is always at the right spot at the right moment with the right advice ranging from proper dress to match making.

Actor Donley, last seen at Meadow Brook as Constable Dull, has had a long career in the theatre, radio, television and movies. At one period in his life he was a waiter in a downtown Detroit hotel but says he prefers being a stage waiter.

READS FOR BLIND

He is also one of the leading readers of talking books for the American Foundation for the Blind. On Broadway he has been seen with the Lunts in "The Visit," with John Gielgud and Lillian Gish in "Crime and Punishment," and in "Andersonville Trial," and the musical "The Unsinkable Molly Brown.'

On tour he has appeared in "Inherit the Wind," "The Skin of Our Teeth" and most recently as the Duke of Norfolk in "A Man for All Seasons."

At the age of 16, Mr. Donley ran away from home and came to Detroit where he found work as a waiter in a downtown hotel. He recalls that period in his life as a turning point.

★ ★ ★

His experiences convinced him that waiting on tables was not the career he wanted and returned home to finish schooling. He has found that being a stage waiter is quite different from his early days in Detroit.

"Everything has to be timed so perfectly on stage," he says, "and you have lines to remember too that must be thrown in at the proper moment. So many more things to worry about than just the food service." His previous training has been helpful, however. "I didn't have to learn how to set the table for this part."

★ ★ ★

"You Never Can Tell" runs through March 26 nightly, Tuesday through Sunday with a matinee on Saturdays.

Jenny Laird (left) and Robert Donley in the John Fernald Company production of "You Never Can Tell" by George Bernard Shaw. The comedy which opens at the Meadow Brook Theatre Wednesday, will mark Miss Laird's American acting debut. She is the wife of Meadow Brook's artistic director, John Fernald.

Rise Stevens Will Appear at Town Hall

Rise Stevens, co-general manager of the National Company of the Metropolitan Opera, will conclude this season's lectures at Birmingham Town Hall Thursday and Friday.

★ ★ ★

Famous not only as an opera star, Miss Stevens has succeeded in the television and movie world and as a recording artist. She has crossed the country many times giving concerts to hundreds of thousands of people who rarely see live entertainers.

★ ★ ★

In the summer of 1964, she inaugurated the season of Lincoln Center's new State Theatre in New York by starring in "The King and I."

★ ★ ★

"Going My Way," one of the five most popular movies of all time, and Miss Stevens' recording of "Carmen" — the all-time highest selling operatic album — put her in the top ranks of versatile musicians.

★ ★ ★

She has always been a champion of young singers and has worked hard to help provide opportunity for them to gain experience in the United States instead of abroad.

★ ★ ★

Miss Stevens will speak on "Subway to the Met."

Celebrity luncheons at the Bloomfield Open Hunt will follow her lecture.

Correction, Please

There is a mistake in a bread recipe printed in the Feb. 22 food section. In Cottage Cheese Fruit Bread, use one cup firmly packed light brown sugar, NOT six cups!

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Many women have their hair done professionally all of the time. Many more indulge in a do-it-yourself job all of the time. Others do their best to bring a deteriorating hairdo back into shape only in times of emergency when they cannot get to a beauty salon.

★ ★ ★

Anyway, it is a good trick to know how to roll your hair when you want to, for any reason. The section you are going to put on a roller should be combed so that it is flat and smooth. Then take hold of the hair at the ends with two fingers. Lift the hair until it is straight from the roots to the ends.

Pull slightly in the opposite direction from that in which you are going to wind it. Then guide the hair with your fingers as you roll under. You should always roll under unless you want your hair to flip outward after the final comb out.

Here are three very important things to remember. Be sure to hold the roller in a position horizontal to your head. Do not twist it. Also, be certain that the hair does not bunch up on the roller.

Place the roller at the very end of the hair strand. These are essentials for a smooth result. Otherwise, the hair will fly in all directions.

Anchor the rollers with bobby pins or clips. The rollers should be secure, but the hair should not pull against the scalp. The closer the rollers are together the smoother comb out you will have.

★ ★ ★

If your hair is coarse and heavy use very large rollers. If it is fine and needs more body use smaller ones.

★ ★ ★

The experts say that it is very bad for the hair to sleep with rollers. I don't see how anybody sleeps when using them anyway. This may lead to breakage and eventually to thinning hair.

★ ★ ★

If you are concerned because your hair is falling out, you may want my booklet "Is Your Hair Thinning?" If so send 15 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Address to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

A September wedding is planned by Andrea Ellen Golob of West Huron Street, daughter of the Andrew Golobs of West Hopkins Street, and Duane B. Miller, son of the Joseph M. Millers of Yale.

Are Eight Too Many?

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Don't tell Raul Estrada any mother-in-law jokes.

That lady in his life unwittingly helped break up his happy homes — all eight of them.

★ ★ ★

Estrada, 31, dropped in at a local hospital to visit his mother-in-law, Mrs. Virginia Gomez.

And then a series of coincidences that no scriptwriter could get away with sealed his fate.

★ ★ ★

In came his wife, nee Virginia Gomez, followed shortly thereafter by a short brunette, Grasiela Dominguez, on her way to visit a relative in a nearby bed. Graciela was surprised to find her husband, Raul, at the hospital.

While Virginia and Graciela fumed at finding they were married to the same man, Irma Munoz walked in to visit a relative — and was surprised to see husband Raul there.

★ ★ ★

Raul went to jail while authorities began checking his marital history.

The district attorney's office said Friday that there were at least eight Mrs. Estradas, all of whom bore him children.

Pontiac Press Photo

Looking at their wedding picture taken in Pontiac, Feb. 28, 1917, are Mr. and Mrs. Lee E. Rice of Lake Orion, formerly of Rochester. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Avis of North Opdyke Road and their two children have gone to Sarasota, Fla., to join her parents at an open house Sunday. The Rices have one great-grandson.

Little People Settle Down After a Peaceful Story

Some observant baby sitters have found that toddlers will settle down more peaceably if they are read to just before bed-time. These perceptive girls, therefore, go to their assignments armed with several colorful picture books printed on washable cloth.

★ ★ ★

To help prevent carrying germs from one sitting job to the next, such books need to be laundered with hot soap or detergent suds and pressed with a hot iron between uses.

Second Debut for Mother

This is where mother gets her just due. Let her convert to the "ageless look" and again watch heads turn her way. Her natural loveliness needs only to be refreshed by the line-smoothing effect of 2nd Debut and its extremely effective moisturizing to "lift" her complexion tone. Skin usually appears to have been reborn in the changeover to the "ageless" look, as people stop guessing mother's age and regard her as the interesting sister of her daughter. Your favorite store has 2nd Debut in two potencies; 2nd Debut (with CEF 600) for the woman under 40 and 2nd Debut (with CEF 1200) for the woman over 40.

Stitch Together for Laundry

Take those outgrown full skirts of the small girls and turn them into smart individual laundry bags for the children. Stitch the skirts together at the bottom and hem the top for a draw string that can be drawn up to close.

You will find that these individual bags help to teach children tidiness, for each child has a place to put his soiled clothes.

Save Food Jars

Save all baby food jars and use them as molds for flavored gelatin or custard puddings. When the children want a between-meal snack, they can help themselves and eat from the jar.

Eliminate Odors

To remove ordors from a cutting board, rub the board well with baking soda or lemon then rinse and dry.

Towel Hanger From Old Hoop

An old embroidery hoop makes a wonderful hanger for the kitchen towel, keeping if off the floor and within reach.

Slip a cord through the ring and hang it in a handy place close by the kitchen sink.

Salt Won't Jam

To prevent salt shakers from becoming clogged in damp weather, try mixing the salt with a small amount of cornstarch before filling the shakers with it.

It absorbs the dampness and allows the salt to flow freely.

New Association Plans Meeting

Tonight the first meeting of the Cherokee Hills Community School Association will be held in the school activities room 7:30. A program will be presented on developing the Cherokee Hills School site.

Polly's Pointers

Boys Give Tips

DEAR POLLY — I want to tell Mrs. R. W. B. that our grandson hung his 21 model planes from his bedroom ceiling in lengths comparable to the heights each type would fly. No special pattern was followed and spaces were left to add more as he finished them.

He used from one to three white strings for hanging each plane and white thumbtacks hold the string to the white ceiling. You have to look twice to realize they are attached to anything. — MRS. K. W. M.

DEAR POLLY — I am a 13-year old newspaper carrier. To display my airplane collection I took fishing line and attached it to the front and rear of each plane, then stapled the line to the ceiling. This allows the line to run between the ceiling and the stable and the planes can hang at the desired angles. This line is almost invisible and gives a very realistic look. — STEPHEN.

Dear Polly — two of my children wear white baby shoes which I polish every night. Can anyone tell me a simple way to make these everyday shoes become white and not be scuffed-looking? Also, the applicator for the shoe polish wore out so is there anything else I can use? — MRS. B.

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for busy people who like "thumbprint" cookies but have little time to make them. One day, faced with a bowl of cookie dough and a little time, I pawed through my utensil drawer and found the melon baller.

The large end made balls of the right size and the small end was perfect for making the thumbprints. All were uniform and baked the same. — M.K.

DEAR POLLY — Before cutting out paper dolls for my little girl I paste a piece of thin, white muslin on the back of the sheets the dolls are on, let it dry throughoughly and then cut out the dolls. These paper dolls last longer as they do not tear. — NELLO

DEAR POLLY — When rehanging freshly washed and ironed curtains the pinched pleats are often still damp so it is difficult to insert the hooks. I found that by first running the hook point into sealing wax the hooks slide right into the material. — MRS. M. D.B.

* * *

DEAR GIRLS — If there is no sealing wax handy, try using a candle or cake of soap. — POLLY.

The Schizophrenic Child--Product of Errors

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Are you scared that your mental health may be less than 100 per cent?

I'm not. I've long known that what sanity I possess is only a matter of degree. So, once when a mental hospital's admission clerk, confusing me with an adolescent friend who was committing herself to its care, asked me "Are you the patient?", I laughed. I said, "Not today. But tomorrow? Just maybe. Who knows?"

As I am no paragon of humanity, I insist on crediting you with the same willingness to know yourself to be less than 100 per cent rational. All of which is a prelude to my suggestion that it is our irrationality which infects children with schizophrenia, that most baffling form of mental illness.

I've not had the courage to say this before. But an article in a recent issue of Mental Hygiene, publication of the National Association of Mental Health has given it to me.

It's the work of two clinical psychologists — director and co-director of the Schizophrenic Research Project of Boston's Judge Baker Guidance Center. And what they have to say about our influence on the development of this disease in children possesses the creative venturesomeness of the artist and none of their profession's stupid enslavement to graphs, tests, to the mathematical measurements of what cannot be measured because it is always escapably human.

First, they tell us that the schizophrenic's "generalized helplessness" may be the result of our squashing of the child's initiative, the damning of his self-trusting reach toward independent action that can end in his later recoil from all self-serving, enterprising performance in his mental illness.

Second, they remind us that intrusion into his private fantasy world is the besetting terror of the schizophrenic person. And connect this terror to the child's experience of parents who won't let him own what belongs to him. "Withdrawal," say these intutive psychologists, "is the child's quite reasonable response to too-instrusive adults, parents who force them to reject friends of their own choosing, read their diaries and will permit no private individuality.

Third, they relate the schizophrenic's deep distrust of what his own senses tell him to our demands that the child unquestioningly rely on what we tell him is true. In other words, we have no right to tell a child we love him when the fact is we feel intense resentment at him.

And if parents of schizophrenic children fall to pieces at the notion that they've contributed to this illness, well, falling to pieces may be exactly what's needed to get them to a psychiatrist.

Mrs. Lawrence welcomes letters from readers but because of the volume of mail she cannot answer all letters personally.

Just a Hobby

DALTON, Mass. (AP) — John E. Wood, a piano tuner for 65 years, knows everything there is to know about pianos except how to play them.

However, the 83-year-old man, who still works full time at his trade, is a better-than-average violin player.

Delicately patterned pink and yellow floral wallpaper covering the ceiling heightens the pavilion effect in this odd shaped kitchen. A trend-setting design in General Electric's 1967 "Kitchen Concept" collection, its equipment includes self-cleaning built-in oven with picture window; self-defrosting refrigerator-freezer; and garbage disposal unit. The overall effect is one of rustic charm and freshness.

Fill Oatmeal Cookies With Date Mixture

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

When you're held indoors by this dreadful weather, you might as well fill the cookie jar. Date Oatmeal Cookies are a good choice.

Any time you use oatmeal you are adding good nutrition to cookies. If you have and like rolled wheat, this may be substituted for equally good results.

Mrs. George Hopper of Keego Harbor is today's cook.

DATE OATMEAL COOKIES

By Mrs. George Hopper

1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup lard
2 eggs, well beaten
6 cups raw oatmeal, ground
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup hot water*

Cream shortenings, add sugar gradually and beat well. Add eggs. Put oatmeal through food chopper.

Dissolve soda in hot water. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with water. Stir in oats.

Roll out on floured board and cut with small cutter. Spread half of the cookies with date filling and top with rest of cookies.

Bake at 375 degrees until lightly browned. Makes about 6 dozen.

*Use orange juice for a different flavor.

Filling

Mix one pound of pitted dates, one cup sugar and one cup water. Simmer until soft, stirring frequently. This burns easily.

August vows are being planned by Michigan State University students Kathyrn Rae Mann and Thomas Frank Middleton. She is the daughter of Mrs. Al Vel of Sherry Drive, Orion Township and the late Jesse P. Mann. Her fiance's parents are the Keith Middletons of Stoney Creek Road, Oakland Township.

Picks Up Nap

Steam from a tea kettle or bathtub filled with hot water will restore the depth of nap to velvet, suede, and felt fabrics.

A few minutes steaming will restore the pile.

Evening Vows Are Said in Church Ceremony

Recent evening vows in St. Stephen Lutheran Church united Andra Lee Grimm, daughter of the Robert A. Grimms of Aquarina Avenue, and James Lee Norris whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Norris of Elizabeth Lake Road.

The bride chose a short white organdy gown trimmed in lace and wore a matching pon pom headpiece from which a short organdy veil fell. She carried white carnations.

Attending the couple, who were honored at a reception in the Aquarina Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Amos, were the Roberto Pedorsos of Bloomfield, N.J.

Following a honeymoon in the Bahamas, the pair will reside in Pontiac.

Cooks Asparagus

Cook early asparagus in non-electric coffee pot. Remove basket. Let asparagus stems stand in boiling water, the tips in steam. Neither will be over cooked.

They Are Overweight but for Good Reasons

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A columnist for a local dairy farmer's publication bravely—or foolishly—quoted a home economist who criticized farm women for being considerably more overweight, on the average, than their city cousins.

* * *

Among the defenses made by farm women were that they get up to cook breakfast for their husbands "and don't use instant-this-or-that," that they have to fix hearty, stick-to-the-ribs lunches and suppers for men who have been plowing, mowing, or doing other heavy work all day and "it is much easier to diet away from the kitchen."

* * *

But the real reason, one letterwriter admitted, is that "we farm ladies are overly-secure. We are not afraid that our husbands, clad in overalls and rubber boots, engrossed in the cows and the barnyard and smelling like both, will take a cute secretary to lunch."

HEALTH FOODS
Eat Better—Feel Better
WHAT ARE NATURAL FOODS?
How Do They Improve Your Good Health?

When you learn that the Natural Health Food Store pledges to sell wholesome foods, you may well ask just what is meant by this expression.

Natural foods are brought to you without being changed radically from the form produced by Nature.

Fruits and vegetables may be classed as natural foods when the caaking they receive does not destroy their organic minerals, their vitamins or their general chemical composition. Fruits and vegetables which are canned so as to preserve all of their original body-building.

Generally speaking, all such processes, as frying, pickling, seasoning, peppering, refining, adulterating and so on . . . destroy a part or all of the life-elements of foods and convert them into unnatural foods.

Among the inventions of civilization, none are so numerous as those which have been devised to destroy the life elements of the foods we eat.

In addition to our selection of natural foods and vitamins and minerals, we carry a full line of special dietetic items for those on diets prescribed by their physicians.

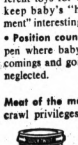
Bringing Up Baby
Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber, Mother of Five

POINTERS FOR THE PLAYPEN SET

When your baby begins to creep he may rebel a bit at the playpen.



How to keep your scoot-about happy after he's had a taste of freedom? These tips may be helpful:

• Time element. If you reserve pen times for baby's most contented times, he probably won't resent it.

• Toy trickery. Changing to different toys for each session helps keep baby's "housing development" interesting.

• Position counts. By placing the pen where baby can watch your comings and goings, he won't feel neglected.

• Meat of the matter. Babies with crawl privileges and others need protein to help them grow. And Gerber High Meat Dinners provide meat protein with the added nutritional and flavor benefits of garden vegetables. Five varieties in this nourishing group: Gerber Strained or Junior Chicken, Turkey, Veal, Beef, Ham.

Somewhat "grown-up." Your older child will like this cream of turkey soup for a hearty lunch:

Toddler Turkey Soup
1 jar Gerber Junior Turkey High Meat Dinner
¾ cup milk
¼ cup water
Combine and heat. Season to taste.

Safety measures for fourwalkers. Creepers make a beeline for bright objects so be sure to scan the floor for pins, buttons, etc. Iron and toaster cords should not be left a-dangle. Floor fans or heaters are a hazard.

•

Sunny-side up for creepers, lapsitters or high-chair heroes and heroines. Gerber Strained Egg Yolks are bright as a splash of sunshine . . . have a delicate, fresh-egg flavor and creamy, custard-like texture that's hard to beat. As for nourishment, Gerber Egg Yolks are high in vitamin A, rich in iron and a good source of protein. Gerber® Baby Products, Box 33, Fremont, Michigan.

New Fashions 'Spring Up' for the Sunny Days Ahead

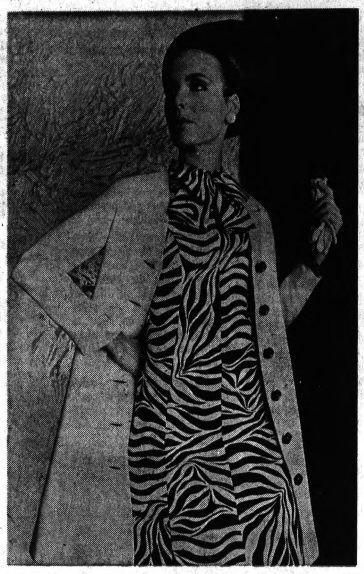
AP Wirephoto

This black and white Prince of Wales creation was shown in Paris at Pierre Balmain's spring-summer showings. The jacket has three buttons and a white flower at the collar. The ensemble is worn with a white pique straw hat, a black silk umbrella, white skin gloves and black leather shoes.

Definitely spring—perfectly Easter—ultimately ladylike. Country Set's coat and dress ensemble is made of lush, tweedy textured rayon/acetate blend fabric. The sleeveless dress is white with navy trim, white cording. The coat, navy with white cording trim, fly fronted.

"Quick as a wink" this little miss will be ready for any occasion in Cinderella's "Stop the Press" dress of fortrel and cotton. This dress never needs ironing. Merely, put it in the washer, spin dry, and it's ready to go to a party or another day in the park.

I. Miller's pastel kid pump with suede underlay peeking through rose petal cutouts is named Rosalie. A delicate shoe that adds the light touch of the first sweet blossom of spring. A personality shoe that completes a very individual look.



An impressive study in black and white as designed by Betty Carol for Mam'Selle, a division of Puritan Fashions Corp. The off-white cardigan coat in silk linen is V'd at the neck to display the bowed, halter neckline of a zebra printed, silk crepe skimmer. To further prove the printed point, the coat opens to reveal a matching print lining.

Informal elegance keynotes this buffet arrangement combining the old and the new. Sterling flatware in classic, ornamented pattern provides interesting contrast for the contemporary ovenware in dramatic black and white. Lavish use of color in linens and the floral centerpiece adds to the Mediterranean look.

It's a Return to Elegance When You Set Your Table

Elegance in table settings is coming back into style with the swing toward a new interest in dining rooms.

This does not mean a return to Victorian stuffiness. Never has a hostess had such a wide choice in linens, dishes, glassware and flatware.

More brides are asking for sterling silver flatware to reflect this new trend toward a more gracious way of living.

★ ★ ★

But it's not only brides who are looking for sterling to set their tables. Older women celebrating their 20th and 25th wedding anniversaries are also buying complete services in sterling silver.

They all know that sterling never wears out, that it becomes more beautiful with use and that it gives pleasure for many years.

Brides want solid silver for their tables and donors of wedding gifts are more generous in these affluent times.

This affluence is credited for giving the biggest push toward the "elegant" look.

EDUCATION TELLS

People are also becoming better educated — by 1970, 70 per cent of the population will have attended high school and 18 per cent of this group will be college educated. As a result, the level of popular culture is rising.

★ ★ ★

There has been a tremendous impact of fashion on tableware in the last few years. Bright, original ideas are coming from the youth market.

With her sterling silver to give her a feeling of elegance, today's hostess is willing to experiment with the rest of her table setting.

She loves to use color and exercises great imagination in this field.

Linens come in every conceivable shade, texture and size to provide chameleon-like personalities for tableware. Muted pastels are correct for some occasions, while bold, vibrant tones set the best scene for another time.

WIDE CHOICE

Sterling flatware ranges all the way from the richly decorated traditional patterns to pieceswith the sleek, uncluttered look of the best modern sculpture.

China and other types of dinnerware have gained tremendous fashion impact in the last few years. Glassware is go-go for a modern mood, or hand-blown for traditionalists.

★ ★ ★

As the world outside the home becomes increasingly marked by stress, it's not surprising that the family dinner table should take on new importance.

Mealtime affords one of the few opportunities a woman has for creating an atmosphere of peace and order in the lives of her family.

The joys of beautiful tableware, no less than well-prepared food and pleasant conversation, contribute to this much-to-be-desired effect.

Seeks to Continue Strong Detroit Showing

Pitcher Earl Wilson Works Hard for 'Holdout' Status

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LAKELAND, Fla. — Earl Wilson, who had a mediocre start with the Boston Red Sox and a sensational finish with the Detroit Tigers as a pitcher last year, has an unusual goal in baseball.

"Everyone has an ambition once they make the grade in baseball, and mine is to be a holdout," he said Tuesday.

"The explanation is easy enough to realize,' he added. "It's the point when a player gets to feel he is worth more than the offer given him at contract time. And this means having a real good year."

★ ★ ★

Wilson, who has been told very often that he is a close resemblence to the former football star of Cleveland Browns, Jimmy Brown, is built as strong and powerful as the great fullback.

"It's funny, everyone says I look like Jimmy Brown, but he doesn't look like me," he jested.

Wilson is not in the financial category of Brown, but if he resumes his pitching this season the way he finished in 1966, he may have his chance to be a holdout and have his 1968 contract look a little like Brown's.

A former Marine who attended San Diego state college, wilson was born 31 years ago in Ponchatoula, La.

CATCHER

He started his baseball career as a catcher, but during his minor league days in the Pacific Coast League, he was moved to the mound because of his powerful arm.

He was wild to start and his only winning year with the Red Sox in six seasons was a 12-8 mark in 1962, but he made the record book that year when he hurled a 2-0 no-hitter against the Angels, June 26.

Last year he had a 5-5 mark when the Tigers obtained him from Boston for Don Demeter in a mid-season trade.

He immediately proceeded to post a nine-game winning streak the longest for a pitcher in the league, of which two were shutouts. His Detroit record was 13-6.

Coach Johnny Sain, a firm believer that a pitcher should offer some threat as a baserunner, no matter how he gets on base, certainly has no doubts about Wilson's potential at the plate.

The strong-armed hurler is one of the best pitchers with the bat in the league. He hit seven homers last season, two below the record for pitchers. One of the homers was a grand slammer, irionically in Boston's Fenway Park where he made his major league debut.

Another homer was a three-run pinch blast against Stu Miller of the Baltimore Orioles in the 13th inning to give the Tigers an 8-5 victory.

Wilson goes into the 1967 season with a lifetime hitting mark of .207 and 22 homers. His .240 batting average last season included 22 runs batted in and a slugging percentage of .500 which over-all was as good (and in some cases better) as hitters on the team like Mickey Stanley, "Gates" Brown, Jake Wood, Jerry Lumpe or Dick Tracewski.

Wilson isn't a weight watcher. He holds a constant weight between 215-218 and is continously working at some conditioning exercise when not throwing.

Wilson joins Denny McClain and Mickey Lolich as the "Big Three" of the Tigers. "I've always been a slow starter. Never seem to do well in the spring, but I hope I can stay healthy and get a faster start this year," he said.

"In fact, if the team as a whole stays healthy, I feel confident we'll make a good run of it."

WILD TOSS

Wilson's hope for a healthy start was almost shattered yesterday when a wild throw in pepper practice by Orlando Pena struck him in the pitching arm.

Trainer Bill Behm said it was just a sore bruise, but Wilson was quite upset over it.

★ ★ ★

"Boy, that's all I need is to have a racked-up arm before training camp really gets started," he retorted, "I'd hate to be a wash-out before I ever get a chance to be a holdout.'

★ ★ ★

Today, the Tigers had the full squad of infielders and outfielders taking their turns at bat and their positions afield; and, of course, the attention was focused on the new-look Keystone combination with Ray Oyler at short and Dick Mcauliffe at second.

Kettering Five Awaiting Duel With Northern

Clarkston, Waterford Take Floor Tonight in District Action

For the past couple years, coach Joe Duby of Kettering has been patiently making plans for some upcoming events, but now he may be too ill to really enjoy the fruits of his effort.

★ ★ ★

Duby has been battling a throat infection and a touch of pneumonia for the past three weeks. He's been in and out of school and in and out of bed.

"I'm feeling better and I'll be there tomorrow night," he said yesterday, referring to Kettering's meeting with Pontiac Northern in a Class A state district tournament game at Clarkston.

Despite the illness, Duby has been in school at least a couple days each week, although he has turned much of the coaching duties over to his assistant, Ray Robinson.

★ ★ ★

A step in his road to recovery would be a district title, and no doubt he would feel a trifle better should the team claim the regional crown at Seaholm and then head for a shot at the state title in East Lansing.

FIRST STEP

But first things first.

★ ★ ★

And the first could be the toughest.

Pontiac Northern has a young team that's come on strong to pile up a 13-3 record, an aggressive squad that should provide Kettering with its toughest game this season.

And this game, and others in the next week or so if there are others, are what Duby has been waiting for.

★ ★ ★

The team that'll meet Northern tomorrow evening is the same one that posted a 15-1 record in regular season play last season and the same one that goes into tomorrow's fracas with a 16-0 mark.

TOOK TITLE

Some members of the squad were around two years ago in a 7-8 season which also saw Kettering capture the district title.

★ ★ ★

Last year, the Captains beat PNH in the opening game, but dropped a 72-53 verdict to Pontiac Central in the district finals.

The team's a year older now and better.

It's a powerful team, this Kettering squad. It's ranked fifth among Class A squads in the state.

★ ★ ★

And it has depth. Duby has some folks sitting on the bench who could play a lot of ball for a lot of teams.

SENIORS DOMINATE

It is a team dominated by seniors, however, indicating that if this one misses the state title, it might be a while before there there's another ready.

★ ★ ★

The winner of the PNH-Kettering game advances to Saturday night's championship contest.

SLIPPING AWAY — The ball bounces away from Clawson's Tom Miner who also goes down in last night's Class B district game. Dave Karlson of West Bloomfield came up with the loose ball and passed it to teammate Larry Anding (32). West Bloomfield held off a late Clawson rally for a 52-50 upset and will play Avondale Wednesday at 8:30 p.m.

Brother Rice Romps by Seaholm, 70-56

By FLETCHER SPEARS

A couple of musclemen lifted Birmingham Brother Rice past city rival Seaholm in the opening round of state Class A district tournament action last night on the losers' floor.

With Lee Hart (6-6 and 260) and Dan Parks (6-4 and 230) paving the way, the Warriors rolled to a surprisingly easy 70-56 verdict, setting the stage for possible showdown with Birmingham Groves, the team that kayoed Brother Rice in district action last year.

On the agenda this evening, highly-rated Groves takes on Berkley with the winner advancing to the finals against the winner of the Brother Rice-Bloomfield Hills scrap Wednesday evening.

Groves, which fashioned a 16-0 record during the regular season, isn't expected to have any any trouble with Berkley (7-10), and Bloomfield Hills (9-7) shouldn't trouble Brother Rice (13-3).

Seaholm's Maples couldn't handle Hart and Parks and it was this shortcoming that proved fatal.

TOP SCORERS

Parks and Hart combined for 42 points and they controlled the backboards, giving Brother Rice a 44-36 advantage in that department.

Most of the Warriors' buckets came on layups as Hart and Parks outmaneuvered the Maples repeatedly from close range

And when those two weren't controlling the game inside, guards Mel Boomer and Mike Bowen punished the Maples from long range. Bowen wound up with 12 points and Boomer collected four baskets.

With the success from close range, Brother Rice wound up hitting on 65 per cent of its shots (34 of 52), while Seaholm, in an unusual cold shooting display, pushed in only 21 of 73 for a 28 per cent pace.

★ ★ ★

Parks led an early assault as he scored 14 of his 18 points in the first half and led the Warriors to a 37-20 lead at intermission.

HART ROMPS

The Maples tightened the defense on Parks in the second half, but Hart, who picked up three baskets in the first half, roamed underneath the basket almost at will after intermission and poured in nine buckets.

★ ★ ★

Seaholm gained a 36-33 advantage in the second half but couldn't cut into that big margin the Warriors put on the scoreboard in the early stages of the game.

Early in the third quarter, Seaholm cut the deficit to 13 points (39-26), but Hart scored four straight baskets to raise the lead to 47-26.

Bob Hudson led the Maples (13-4) with 16 points, while Rich Slater added 12 and Dave Cook

Farmington '5' Moves Ahead in Tournament

Farmington rolled up a 35-21 halftime lead and coasted past Milford in their Class A district battle last night in Farmington.

Guards Greg Dorow and Tom Wirtz sparked the attack with 20 and 17 points, respectively. Mark Giegler collected 12 and Bob McFarland tossed in 10 to pace the Milford attack.

The win raised Farmington's over-all record to 11-7 while Milford closed the 1966-67 campaign with a 4-14 record.

Senior Don Hill, who averaged more than 20 points a game for Milford during the season, suffered a dislocated finger early in the third period and sat out the rest of the game.

Sorrows Thumps Ortonville

Lakers Stave Off Clawson '5'

By DON VOGEL

"I don't know whether I want to come back," said West Bloomfield coach Art Paddy as he tried to unwind after last night's Class B opening district basketball game at Pontiac Northern.

What apparently was going to be an enjoyable, and relaxing upset, almost turned into a nightmare for the veteran mentor and the Lakers.

West Bloomfield blew a 15-point lead in the last four-and-a-half minutes and just barely edged Clawson, 52-50.

Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows steamrollered past Ortonville Brandon, 89-78, in the PNH Class C district opener.

West Bloomfield will take on Avondale Wednesday at 8:30 with the winner moving into the Saturday final against the victor of tonight's Romeo-Oxford contest which starts at 8:30.

Orchard Lake St. Mary will tangle with Royal Oak St. Mary in the Class C test at 7 p.m. with the winner gaining a berth in Friday's title game.

★ ★ ★

In the other Class C district semifinal tomorrow, Farmington OLS will take on strong Country Day at 7 p.m.

MISSED CHANCE

"We had a chance to run away with the game in the final minutes instead of almost letting it get away," said Paddy. "But we threw the ball away too many times when we had their press beat."

But the coach was pleased. Every comment was punctuated by a smile.

West Bloomfield went into the game with a 2-15 regular season mark. Clawson finished third in the Oakland A and was 8-8 over-all. The Trojans were a slight favorite over Romeo to take district honors.

★ ★ ★

A tight man-to man defense took care of any Clawson tourney plans. The Trojans' pattern offense was effectively throttled by the Lakers who closed up the middle.

Clawson had no outside shooting last night and could do little until the subs took over in the final five minutes and started scrambling. The Lakers, who had been cutting Clawson's zone and man-to-man defenses to ribbons for three-and-a-half periods, suddenly started scrambling along with the Trojans.

Poor passes, floor violations and dropped balls almost finished the Lakers who had a 50-35 lead with 4:38 to play.

But they managed to struggle through, aided by a charging violation against Clawson's Larry Pinchback who was driving toward a possible tying basket with three seconds to play.

Steve Westjohn played a vital role for the Lakers before fouling out with 3:47 remaining. He topped the West Bloomfield scoring with 14 points and hauled down 14 rebounds.

KEY BASKETS

His play under the boards gave the Lakers a definite advantage until he departed. Ted LaPratt and Larry Anding turned in good floor performances and Dale Meredith hit several key baskets on the way to scoring 12 points.

Dave Williams was the biggest thorn for the Lakers. The 6-4 Trojan center snared 13 rebounds and led all scorers with 19 points.

Tim Doyle poured in 29 points and Bob Theisen 24 as Farmington OLS romped past Ortonville. The Lancers fell behind 11-6 after 3:30 of the first quarter, but quickly took charge after a time out and were never threatened.

Doyle led a 49-25 domination of the backboards with 19 rebounds. Frank Carrico, the team's No. 2 scorer, saw only limited action because of an ankle injury.

Brandon's season-long weakness — a porous defense — proved to be the Black Hawks undoing. They tried to press the Lancers but this resulted in many easy baskets for the fast-breaking OLS quintet.

Center Dave Tuttle led the Hawks with 19 points.

Capac Dumps Almont Five in 'C' Tourney

Capac came from behind in the fourth period last night to nip Southern Thumb cochampion Almont, 52-48, in Class C district tournament play at Port Huron.

★ ★ ★

The triumph sends the Chiefs into the second round against Richmond tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock. A second game on the card finds the other Thumb cochampion, Armada, battling Memphis in the 8:30 nightcap. Winners tomorrow meet Saturday at 7 p.m.

The win also enabled Capac to take the rubber game of the series with Almont. The two split in two league meetings during the regular campaign.

Capac controlled the game in the early stages and rolled up a 33-25 lead at halftime.

GRABS LEAD

But Almont tightened its defense in the third quarter, limiting the Chiefs to only four points while taking a 40-37 lead.

★ ★ ★

But the fourth frame belonged to the Chiefs as they gained a 15-8 edge in the scoring. Cliff Lietz paced the winners with 19 points while Al Currey tossed in 14 for Almont.

Cage Contenders Triumph

The contending teams took advantage of the unsuccessful ones Monday night in the Waterford Township men's recreation basketball Continental League.

Loop-leading Glenn's Auto Sales romped past Ryeson's Market, 65-55, to retain its slim lead over Chetolah Grocery and Buckner Finance.

Chetolah overcame Hillcrest Nazarene, 59-52, with a last period spurt; and Buckner's held off Mattingly Realty's frantic closing surge for a 56-54 triumph.

Glenn's, who whipped Ryeson's 104-51 in their first encounter, last night only led 47-36, after three periods and coasted. Ross Ludwick led the leaders with 18 points. Dave Goff tallied 21 for Glenn's.

Gary Alams hit 25 points to pace Chetolah, who had a 9-2 field goal advantage in the final quarter to overtake Hillcrest. Mattingly hit three baskets in the final 40 seconds to scare but not catch Buckner's. Jerry Paul's 23 paced the winners.

The recreation office has announced the switching of the 8:20 p.m. games with those at 9:45 p.m. tomorrow, Thursday and next Monday. The games the next two nights will be at Mason JHS and Monday's are slated for Waterford Township H.S.

Michigan almost handed Michigan State a tie for the lead in the Big Ten Basketball race.

But the Wolverines fell short Monday night and Indiana won, 98-96, to remain ahead of Michigan State. MSU dumped Ohio State 74-63.

Purdue defeated Iowa 78-75 dropping the Hawkeyes out of the race. Illinois beat Minnesota 84-71. Northwestern plays Wisconsin tonight and both are 6-4, so one will be eliminated.

Indiana's victory left the Hoosiers 8-3, while MSU climbed to 7-4.

The defending champion Wolverines have been out of it for a long time with a 2-9 mark.

Harry Joyner scored 33 points and Indiana led virtually all the way over Michigan. But the Wolverines came on strong in the final six minutes and cut the gap from 89-75 to 98-96. With eight seconds left, Joyner and Bill DeHeer intercepted Michigan passes and helped save the game. Craig Dill topped Michigan scorers with 29 points.

"The team played like heck and I have only one regret, the regret of losing," said Michigan Coach Dave Strack. "We came back tough, we just didn't come back tough enough."

Strack said Michigan's problem was defense, "we were just too slow" for a man-to-man, and Indiana made the outside shots.

MSU outrebounded Ohio State 58-32 and led nearly all the way. Lee Lafayette and John Bailey paced the Spartans with 17 points each.

★ ★ ★

Bill Hosket topped the Buckeye scorers with 17 points.

"Michigan State had far too many shots," said Ohio State Coach Fred Taylor. "Michigan State's rebounding was definitely improved."

"This was one of our better games on the boards," said MSU Coach John Benington. "We moved our lineup around and had four bigger men on the backboards."

DROPPED BACK

Iowa dropped back to 6-5 with Purdue, locking the two teams in fifth place. The Boilermakers moved ahead 38-36 and never trailed with Roger Blalock's basket in the final nine seconds sealing it. Four players, led by Herman Gilliam's 18 points, headed Purdue. Iowa's Sam Williams and Gerry Jones each had 24.

★ ★ ★

Jim Dawson hit four baskets at the start of the second half to launch Illinois over Minnesota The splurge put the Illini ahead 57-47 and the Gophers never came closer than seven points.

Dawson netted 31 points, 22 in the second half, while Tom Kondla guided Minnesota with 32 points, 18 in the first half.

Shot in Last Second Produces Rec Win

Booth Homes' late-season surge in the city men's basketball American League got a boost Monday night when Chuck Phillips' desperate hook shot went in for a 74-72 upset win over the Amigo Celts.

Phillips' basket was thrown up from the top of the key with one second to play and handed the Celts only their second loss of the season while giving Booth a three-game win streak.

Perry Drugs moved within a game of the first-place Amigo Celts by withstanding the Oxford Merchants' rally for a 48-46 victory.

The pace-setting Amigos' Club in the National League ran roughshod over Highland Lakes for a 112-34 victory as the league leaders bounced back from their only loss which came last week.

TOP TOTAL

Local 653 outdid them in running up the score, however, thrashing Auburn Hills, 115-32, with Willie Craft scoring 38 points.

The triumph kept the unionmen in the hight battle for second place with the Packers, 79-71 winners over McDonald's Drive-In, and the All Stars, 59-56 come-from-behind victors over the Unbeatables.

Booth's surprising victory kept it one game in front of idle Oxford Hills in the AL's third-place scrap and indicates the home builders' will be a factor in the post-season playoffs.

Phillips hit 13 points in the last period as the winners fought back from a 53-50 deficit after three quarters. He finished with 23 points, two more than the Celts' Mel DeWalt who had all of his markers in the last half.

Sammy Soles' 22 led Perry Drugs' victory. He outdueled the merchants' Gerry Wagner (21) for game honors. Perry led, 39-35, going into the last quarter and just held off the Oxford quintet.

Emmett Elliot's 27 led the high-powered Amigos' Club offense that had six players in twin figures, and Local 653 also had a half dozen in double figures while hitting the city's high point mark this season.

★ ★ ★

Cecil Jones scored 25 and Ken Carpenter 20 to lead the Packers past McDonald's who had 20 by Dennis Diehm. The winners are one game ahead of Local 653 and 1½ in front of the All Stars.

Lakeland Six in Tie Game

The Lakeland Hawks failed to capitalize on a power play situation in the closing minute of play Sunday and settled for a 0-0 tie with Grosse Pointe in the Southeastern Michigan Junior Hockey Association.

The deadlock is the third in seven outings and combined with their three wins leaves the Hawks still in first place in juvenile division play. The game was played at Port Huron.

Ferndale Five in Easy Win

Defending state Class A basketball champion Ferndale jumped off to a successful start in defense of its title by whipping Detroit DeLaSalle, 64-52, in district tournament play last night.

★ ★ ★

The host Ferndale squad took a 29-28 lead at halftime and applied a tight press in the second half that helped the Eagles turn the game into a rout.

Charles Puckett paced the Ferndale attack with 25 points and teammate Wayne Clapp added 12. Frank Merrick tossed in 16 for the losers.

Rams to Meet Strong Mikes

Pontiac St. Frederick will find its next foe in the Class D district basketball tournament much more difficult than the team the Rams defeated last night.

Powerful St. Michael will take on St. Fred 7 p.m., Wednesday at Rochester.

The Rams jumped on Bloomfield Hills Roeper's inexperienced Roughriders for a 90-16 triumph in the opening game of the Rochester tourney.

St. Frederick used a pressing defense on Roeper's ninth and 10th graders until piling up a 46-7 lead in the third quarter.

Roeper, a new private school with an enrollment of 32 boys and girls, scored three of its four field goals after the press was lifted.

Red Wings Mix Lineup in Hopes to Gain Playoffs

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings, frantically trying to overtake Montreal for the final Stanley Cup playoff berth, will try some more shuffling for Saturday's game against the Canadiens.

★ ★ ★

The Wings Monday called up Ab McDonald, a veteran left winger, and defenseman Warren Godfrey.

★ ★ ★

McDonald played 10 games with the Wings earlier this season but scored only one goal. He has popped in 2 at Pittsburgh in the American Hockey League, however.

Godfrey underwent knee su gery during the summer and started slowly. But the 35-year-old veteran has been hitting his stride at Pittsburgh.

Wings Manager-Coach Sid Abel sent Jimmy Peters Jr. down to Memphis of the Central League Monday.

MCJC Suffers 137-112 Loss

Another 56-Point Tilt by Jerry Olsen

Michigan Christian Junior College of Rochester ran into a redhot Bethel College quintet from Indiana last night and suffered a 137-112 setback.

The winners romped to a 69-55 lead at halftime and maintained the pressure in the final 20 minutes. The win upped Bethel's record to 12-11, while the loss left MCJC with a 13-10 mark.

Jerry Olsen, who tossed in a record 56 points last week, matched that figure against Bethel as he flipped in 22 field goals and converted 12 of 14 shots from the charity line.

Jim Bruff picked up 19 points and Jerome Shoemaker added 14 for the losers.

Seven players hit double figures for the winners, with Everett Walterhouse leading the way with 31.

Roaring Finish Seen in Local Table Tennis

March may enter as a lion, but the Pontiac Table Tennis Association has planned a roaring finish for its final night of league play Thursday at the Pontiac Central girls' gymnasium.

★ ★ ★

Four teams have a shot at the title with Francis Fuel and Pine Knob sharing the top spot, Elliott Engineering one point behind and Club 99 three points off the pace.

Both Pine Knob and the Engineers moved up a notch with 5-1 wins in last week's competition. Had Club 99 not lost 4-2 to Pepsi-Cola, the race would be even tighter.

China City also was a 5-1 winner and Francis' tied Buettners Cleaners, 3-3.

Rheumatoid Arthritis Needn't Be Crippler

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Rheumatoid arthritis affects three million Americans, and costs the nation $2 billion annually in care and lost wages. Here, in a series of three articles, the chief of the diabetes and arthritis control program, U.S. Public Health Service, tells the latest findings of the experts in how to fight this crippling affliction.)

By DR. GLEN W. McDONALD
U.S. Public Health Service
Written for Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most people with rheumatoid arthritis don't have to be crippled or deformed. This was the key conclusion that came out of a recent meeting of experts in the field.

The surgeon general's workshop on prevention of disability in arthritis made a number of recommendations which will lead to better treatment and care of the arthritic patient. As is usually the case, not all the experts agreed on all the recommendations.

★ ★ ★

On one point, however, all the authorities agreed: With methods in use right now, early treatment of arthritis can prevent crippling and deformity in most cases.

In this series, we will talk about what arthritis is, how its crippling effects can be avoided, what methods your doctor uses to control it, how you can help your doctor help you, and some of the things scientists are finding out about the causes of arthritis.

CANES, CRUTCHES

You've probably seen the woman in her 30s so crippled by arthritis that she's confined to a wheelchair, or the 40-year-old man with arthritis who can just barely hobble around with the aid of canes or crutches. These people represent a triple tragedy:

—The individual at the peak of his earning years, or at the height of her family responsibilities, now completely dependent on others.

—They are part of the $3.6-billion drain — in cost of care and treatment as well as lost wages — that arthritis puts on the American economy each year.

—And the greatest tragedy: chances are that they need not have been crippled at all.

CAN BE AVOIDED

No matter what you may have heard, most patients with rheumatoid arthritis who see their physicians early in the course of their disease can avoid crippling and deformity. Even the relatively few patients more seriously affected can, with proper care, retain enough function in their joints to remain useful human beings.

But remember: the key is early treatment. The situation is rarely hopeless; physicians can do impressive feats of restoring function even in neglected and already crippled patients. This salvage job, though, is a difficult and expensive process, and the results can't match those of early treatment.

★ ★ ★

The report of the surgeon general's workshop pointed out the pressing need in arthritis, as in most chronic diseases, is for more diagnostic and treatment facilities, for more opportunities for family doctors to get post-graduate training, for more trained specialists, for more physical therapists, nurses and medical social workers.

If you think you have arthritis, you can save yourself a lot of needless pain by seeing a physician early. There's another important reason for seeing a doctor early.

INFLAMMATION

Not every aching joint is rheumatoid arthritis. "Arthritis" refers to joint inflammation. This inflammation, with the attendant aches and pains, may also be due to gout, or infection, or to injury.

There are many forms of arthritis, and many more forms of rheumatic diseases. Telling these various conditions apart is not always easy, even for the skilled physician. Trying to diagnose your own aches and pains, then, might very well mean avoiding a quick and relatively simple treatment to clear up your trouble.

★ ★ ★

The rheumatic diseases, according to household interview reports, affect about 13 million Americans. These diseases take in all conditions that affect the musculoskeletal system, including the various forms of arthritis. Rheumatism itself is a general term indicating aches and pains in the muscles, tendons, joints, bones.

Rheumatoid arthritis affects more than three million Americans, and is the most common cause of crippling and deformity in this group of diseases. Though the most damage is done to joints, rheumatoid arthritis is a systematic disease, affecting many parts of the body. The patient is often run down, weak, and has lost weight.

COMMON FORM

Another common form of arthritis, degenerative joint disease (osteoarthritis), is associated with agin. It causes discomfort, but doesn't usually cripple. There are about 90 other conditions which are considered forms of arthritis, but most of them are relatively rare.

Because rheumatoid arthritis makes people look — and feel — old, it's often thought of as a disease of the aged. It's not. It attacks people in the prime of their lives — in their 30s and 40s. Even very young children are sometimes affected. Women are affected three times as frequently as men.

★ ★ ★

No avenue is being left unexplored in the search for the cause of arthritis. Scientists are studying everything from the biochemistry of joint cartilege to the emotions of the arthritis patient. It's well known that emotional stress can make an arthritis condition flare up, but can emotional factors have any role in the actual cause of the disease?

Some investigators feel that arthritis patients have a definite personality pattern. In addition to the depression you'd expect along with a painful disease, the patients have a "controlled" personality: they get angry at a lot of things, but they don't permit themselves to show this anger. Other factors noted are dependency and passivity — not seeming to care.

If most arthritics show these personality factors, is this merely another effect of the disease? Or is there a personality pattern that goes along with susceptibility to arthritis? This won't be an easy question to answer, but it is being studied.

Library Lacks Little Something

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Only one thing was missing when the doors were opened at the new $1.4-million Austin Peay State College Library with 77,400 square feet of floor space, wall-to-wall carpeting and modernistic design.

A student's inquiry prompted a search which confirmed that the library does not have a pencil sharpener.

New Uruguay President

His Avocation—Flying

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, (AP) — Oscar Diego Gestido, who becomes president of Uruguay Wednesday, is a bushy-browed military pilot of 65.

"My family and I love to fly," he says. "That's why we are always up in the air.

★ ★ ★

"My wife likes it, my son is in the air force, my daughter is married to an aviator, and my other son is in the civil aviation."

Gestido is also a husky 6-foot-2 retired army general who has a reputation for being an efficient civilian administrator. He believes "there is no magic formula for running things well—just honesty of mind, hard work, meticulous routine and planning for the future."

SKILLED POLITICIAN

Friends and foes classify him as a politician skilled in cultivating the grass roots.

He resigned last year as one of the nine presidents of Uruguay's inefficient government council to campaign alone as a dark horse for his Colorado party.

★ ★ ★

He joined the bandwagon of Uruguay's two big parties for the return to a single president system, and ran on a platform of straight talk about honesty, justice and efficient administration.

★ ★ ★

He was a monotonous speaker, but he rode a landslide. The November elections did away with the Swiss-type system of government by nine wise men and also gave the new president sweeping powers over Congress.

NEXT 5 YEARS

Gestido admits that "deep inside" he will always be a military man, but explains he ran "as a civilian politician" and will govern Uruguay as such for the next five years.

The second child of a family of modest means, Gestido was born here Nov. 28, 1901. He was commissioned into the army at 21, as a military academy graduate.

★ ★ ★

He retired from the ranks in 1955, after a four-year stint as inspector general, a job then equivalent to commander in chief of the three armed services.

He entered active politics in relatively minor administrative jobs—to run the Uruguayan state railways and Pluna, the state airline.

★ ★ ★

Gestido had to reorganize them and he is credited with doing a first-rate job.

His wife is the former Elisa de Los Campos Garcia, who writes children's poetry.

Spy Decline Pleases TV Spy

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — The movie and television producers seem to be hopping off the James Bondwagon, and here's one spy who is glad: Robert Culp.

He might be called the thinking man's spy. Not only does he costar in NBC's "I Spy," he has written five of the scripts, including the one that kicked off the successful series and set the tone for the characters.

★ ★ ★

"I Spy" has been renewed for next season, but some of the more bizarre spy series appear to be in trouble. Also there appears to be an ebbing in the flood of espionage movies that followed in the wake of the James Bond hits.

"I view that as a good trend," says Culp. "It seems to me that the whole 007 craze has been a bad thing for young people.

A MORAL FIGURE

"Of course kids must always find their fantasy heroes. But always in the past their heroes have been more or less innocent of wrongdoing.

"James Bond changed that. He is an amoral figure who treats his enemies and women with equal cruelty. I think the effect of such a character is significant, as far as kids are concerned."

Culp views with calculated alarm the heavies of the Bondian epics.

★ ★ ★

"The villains of the past have been individuals or enemy nations whose motivations have been clear," he expounded. "But lately we have been menaced by the mysterious SMERSH and THRUSH, which are networks of mindless, soulless men whose only motivation is evil.

BRINGS CONFUSION

"When you have such a villain, he can only be combatted by a superman. And when the hero is a hedonist, amoral superman, you have a figure who can only bring confusion and subversion to young minds."

As might be expected, Culp does not hesitate to present Kelly Robinson (himself) and Alexander Scott (Bill Cosby) of "I Spy" as more ideal hero images.

★ ★ ★

"From the very beginning, Bill and I insisted that Robinson and Scott would be portrayed as fallacious men, full of foolishness and failure," said Culp. "When they win, it is often by accident, which is a good thing for young people to learn.

"Robinson and Scott are fallible, but they are relatively moral creatures. The fact that they — a white man and a Negro — work together as friends also carries an underlying message of the brotherhood of man, though there is never any preaching about it.

"And our heavies are not members of any vast network of evil, they are all individuals, and often a little on the silly side."

ROBERT CULP

Kindergarten Science Eyed

How would you like your 5-year-old to come home and say "Sorry, ma, I flunked science."

This could be a possibility in the Birmingham School District next year.

At a recent board meeting a resolution was passed to make a study of implementing kindergarten science courses for the 1967-68 year.

"This is not as fantastic as it may seem," said Tom Given, science coordinator. "After all, the study of science really begins with birth. Children are naturally curious about the things around them.

★ ★ ★

"The program would seek to capitalize on this natural curiousity," he said.

British Scientists Hail Amateur Archaeologists

LONDON (UPI) — Farming is thirsty work in the summer, and farmer John Gilliam thought it would be amusing and rewarding to cross the River Arum bounding his land to a tavern for a tipple.

★ ★ ★

Amusing because he was going to do it in a sort of hollowed log jutting out of the river bank.

Gilliam's log, once he dug it up, turned out to be a rare archaeological find, a Roman canoe. And British scientists recently paid tribute to the alert farmer and other amateurs who made spectacular discoveries in the past year and had the good sense to report them to authorities.

Britain's history is under its feet — Stone Age man made his last stand in the forests of Wales before the advance of Iron Age man who gave way to the Celts, the Romans, the Saxons, the Angles, Jutes and so on.

★ ★ ★

Like scientists everywhere, British archaeologists worry that amateurs might do important finds damage by removing them from the ground, but there simply isn't enough money or trained personnel to cover every discovery immediately.

NEXT BEST THING

So the next best thing has been a campaign of education to make Britons aware of their heritage and the importance of getting expert help when it appears essential. Gilliam was one of a dozen or more who did this.

Sharing some of the glory of the year with him was 4-year-old David Wellum, who came running in from play to report he had found some "strange money." It was a hoard of more than 1,000 gold coins of the 14th and 15th centuries.

In Britain, valuables presumed hidden by the original owner for later recovery are "treasure trove" when found and belong to the sovereign.

★ ★ ★

A coroner's jury makes the decision. If it rules they were lost, the valuables belong to the man who owns the land on which they were found.

GOT A WINDFALL

A landowner of Dunstable got a windfall this way. A magnificent jewel was found on his property — a swan wearing a gold coronet with white enamel feathers set on gold spikes into a gold base. This was of a type worn on the hats or cloaks of nobles and since the swan was the heraldic device of King Henry VI and his court visited Dunstable in 1459, it is believed to have belonged to the ill-fated king who was murdered at prayer in the Tower of London.

The girl volunteer digger who found the swan said she was satisfied simply with the thrill "of holding history in my hands." The landowner sold it for 4,000 sterling ($11,200) and gave her a gold watch as a reward.

A schoolgirl, Carole Lister, was walking her dog near the northern city of Bradford when she found him nosing around a stone head lying in the woods.

The museum of Bradford now has one of the household gods of the Celts on display.

Expert on China to Speak at OU

Ex-CIA Administrator Will Lead Off Series

Dr. Clyde B. Sargent, who joined the Oakland University faculty after more than 20 years of government service in the U.S. and Asia, will deliver a public lecture on the current turmoil in China tonight.

★ ★ ★

Director of OU's area studies program, Sargent will speak at 8 p.m. in the Gold Room of Oakland Center.

His talk will be the first in a series of three free public lectures sponsored by the Rochester Rotary Club. Also scheduled are talks on India, March 14, and the Soviet Union, March 28.

Sargent, a former educational administrator with the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), has studied and worked in China.

★ ★ ★

He holds a master's degree from the College of Chinese Studies in Peiping (now Peking). Sargent taught for six years in China before World War II and held a position in the American Embassy in Chungking before being commissioned in the Office of Strategic Services, predecessor to the CIA.

RETIRED IN 1966

Sargent had been chief of the CIA foreign area and language training program for 14 years before retiring in 1966.

★ ★ ★

Author of a book and numerous articles on Chinese political history, Sargent holds a doctor's degree from Columbia University. He lives at 694 Cambridge, Avon Township.

Heart disease is responsible for nearly 55 per cent of all deaths in the United States each year.

New coaxial telephone cable now being installed will carry 32,000 conversations at a time.

Some Stocks Strong

Active Mart Resumes Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market resumed its decline in active trading early this afternoon although a few stocks were strong.

The market was down from the start as it took off from yesterday's retreat, the worst in three months. The news background was not as doleful as on the preceding day but there was little in it to spur the market as a whole.

★ ★ ★

Analysts still believed the market was undergoing a correction from its 1967 advance and some thought it would not have much further to go.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.0 at 310.9 with industrials off 1.1., rails off .7 and utilities off .8.

★ ★ ★

The trend was generally low among steels, autos, oils, chemicals and nonferrous metals.

Electronics and some of the office equipments advanced.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.23 at 832.41.

Jumps of 3 points by IBM and Schenley and a 2-point recovery of Fairchild Camera from its loss of 9⅛ yesterday were highlights of the session.

In addition, RCA advanced more than a point in response to news of its record fourth quarter.

SCM Corp. also rose more than a point, Zenith nearly 2.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. R. Hoe & Co. gained 3, Flying Tiger 2, Molybdenum more than a point. Fractional losses were taken by Great Lakes Chemicals, CCI Corp., Sperry Rand warrants and Mead Johnson.

Soviet Fishing Vessel Sinks

At Least 50 of Crew Believed Drowned

HANSTHOLM, Denmark (AP)—A Soviet fishing factory ship sank in a storm off Denmark's northern coast today, and at least 50 Russian fishermen were believed drowned.

The Danish naval command said 45 bodies—many of them wearing life jackets—had been hauled aboard rescue vessels and an air force helicopter.

At least seven Russian crewmen were still unaccounted. Twenty-seven others were reported picked up by another Soviet vessel, but it was not known how many of these were alive.

The stricken ship, tentatively identified as the 2,345-ton Tukan from Kaliningrad, radioed for assistance soon after 3 a.m. today. A fleet of rescue ships rushed to the area in the Skagerrak Strait to find the waters 15 miles off the Jutland coast dotted with bodies.

FIRE UNCONFIRMED

The navy command said it had no information on an unconfirmed report that fire broke out aboard the Soviet vessel.

"It was very bad weather out there," a navy spokesman told newsmen. "The gale was pretty fierce and we can't be certain what happened to the ship except that it went down.

"The other big mystery is how many of the 27 on the Russian rescue ship are alive. We haven't been informed where the ship is heading."

The Danish vessels were bringing 42 bodies to this fishing port and neighboring Hirtshals. The helicopter landed three bodies at Hirtshals.

Apollo I Lacked Emergency Plan; Risk Underrated

WASHINGTON (AP) — When fire broke out in their spacecraft high atop a rocket, three U.S. astronauts had no emergency plan to follow because the test in which they perished wasn't considered hazardous.

Lack of an emergency plan and acknowledgement that fire dangers had been underrated were reported Monday to the Senate Space Committee by the two top officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

They said scientists are designing an instant escape hatch to replace the one that sealed the cabin in which fire killed Lt. Cols. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward H. White II and Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee Jan. 27 at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

But NASA Administrator James C. Webb and Asst. Administrator George E. Mueller could not estimate the cost in time or money of overhauling the Apollo capsule.

Watchdog Unit Eyed for House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spurred by the Adam Clayton Powell case, pressure is increasing on and within the House for creation of a committee to keep tabs on ethics and conduct of congressmen.

★ ★ ★

A House decision on whether to seat Powell is scheduled Wednesday but action on the watchdog committee is somewhat farther off.

More than 40 proposals are pending before the House Rules Committee, some of whose members predict it will approve some sort of watchdog group for consideration by the House. The Senate set up such a committee several years ago. It now is investigating Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

"I feel reasonably sure that some action will be taken by the rules committee," chairman William M. Colmer, D-Miss., predicted today in an interview.

Government Books: Publisher Bonanza

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — Smart publishers are making sizable profits these days by reproducing government books compiled and printed at taxpayer expense.

CUNNIFF

Nothing of course bars them from doing this since these publications, unless classified, are in the public domain. They number 27,000 titles.

In some instances only the cover is changed and the price raised, despite the low cost of reproduction; that is, no development costs, no problems with authors, no royalties, little copy editing and proofreading and relatively little layout expense.

The most immediate example involves income tax guides, three of which are rather perfect copies of a 50-cent government publication called "Your Federal Income Tax." Two of these sell for $1, the other for 75 cents.

SUBTLE CHANGES

The use of government data is basic to many books and, naturally, has been the source of many commercial and educational works. But some subtle changes are developing among the public printer, the booksellers and the public.

★ ★ ★

1. Government publications are now not necessarily dreary masses of statistics. They are not simple compilations of raw material. Some are handsomely designed and printed. They have commercial potential, as is.

★ ★ ★

2. A better-educated public is creating a demand for more information. More students are being educated. And in this age of "consumerism" government publications provide the basic guides.

3. Commercial publishers, perhaps as a result, are increasingly aware of the potential in these works.

★ ★ ★

The Government Printing Office does not discourage such activity on the theory that, since the material was assembled at public expense, it should be as widely distributed as possible.

In order to make material available, the GPO gives a 25 per cent discount to any commercial book distributor who buys in volume. This is not a big discount and distributors have rebelled at accepting it.

'REPRODUCEABLES'

For publishers who wish to produce their own edition, the government sells "reproduceables." These may be photo negatives, selling for maybe $2 a page, or metal page plates, selling for perhaps $10 or $15 a page.

★ ★ ★

Still another method is to tear the government book apart page by page, photograph it and thus make a reproduceable.

★ ★ ★

"Our attitude is that if the public wants to pay $5 for something they could get for $2 there is nothing we can do about it," a printing office spokesman said in an interview.

Thus, the Statistical Abstract, a census condensation, is sold by the GPO for $3.75 — latest price list — but for $4.95 by a commercial publisher whose catalogue is aimed at colleges and high schools.

TRAVEL GUIDES

Also available for exploitation are colored travel guides to Italy, France and Spain, a brand-new and handsome 'pocket data book," and a large, artfully printed copy of President Kennedy's inaugural address—25 cents.

All these are commercially saleable as is. James L. Harrison, the public printer, has recently upgraded the design and layout of publications. His design and typography staff, for example, has grown to seven from two.

House Gets Proposals for Altering Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — A higher ratio of college students and teen-agers would be drafted into military service under proposals submitted by a citizens committee to the House.

The committee, appointed by the House Armed Services Committee, urged Monday that draft boards concentrate on inducting more 19- and 20-year-olds before drafting men in higher age brackets.

★ ★ ★

The panel also recommended changing the law to limit draft exemption of graduate students to those training for critical professions or occupations.

All other college students would be deferred until they received their undergraduate degree or reached age 24, whichever came first. Then, except in special cases, they'd have the same induction status as the 19-20 age group.

ON REVISIONS

Armed Services Committee spokesmen said the recommendations would be the basis for draft law revision hearings later this month or early in April.

★ ★ ★

The report is separate from one being written by a special presidential commission which is to submit its recommendations to President Johnson this week. Congressional leaders said Johnson plans to send a special draft message to Capitol Hill Wednesday or Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The civilian panel was headed by Gen. Mark Clark, retired, of Charleston, S.C. Clark and other panel members were picked by Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., and Rep. William H. Bates of Massachusetts, senior Republican on the committee.

★ ★ ★

The citizen panel also urged the President to use existing authority to order reservists to active duty "so as to distribute the burden" of war more equitably between inductees and reservists.

Waiver Asked to Try Boy in Girl's Slaying

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — Prosecutor Harvey Vanum is seeking Probate Court waiver over a 16-year-old boy to permit his trial as an adult in the rifle slaying of a teen-aged girl and the wounding of two other persons in Charlevoix Monday.

Probate Judge John Makel indicated there might be a decision today on whether to waive juvenile jurisdiction.

★ ★ ★

If authorities know the motive behind the shootings they are keeping it to themselves. Those shot were two girls and the owner of a motel where they were staying.

★ ★ ★

Connie Louise Nichols, 17, of Alanson, was found lying in the driveway of Smith's Motel. She had been shot through the neck and was dead upon arrival at a hospital.

ROOMMATE WOUNDED

Miss Nichols' roommate, Virginia Yell, 20, of Petoskey, suffered chest wounds and the motel owner, Frank Smith, 51, was hit in the abdomen. Miss Yell's condition was not considered serious, but Smith was reported in critical condition. They were shot in a yard outside the motel.

Total value of 1966 Corporation Suggestion Plan awards for General Motors Corp. employes in Pontiac was $707,684. The total number of awards was 6,776.

Eleven $6,000 maximum awards were given.

These awards were part of $10.9 million given to GM employes in the United States and Canada during a record-breaking year, according to Louis G. Seaton vice president in charge of the personnel staff.

More than 60 per cent of the eligible employes made suggestions last year.

★ ★ ★

An award was paid for one out of every four submitted.

RECEIVES BENEFITS

The GM suggestions plan offers employes financial awards while the corporation receives the benefits of improved safety, better product quality, material savings, and more efficient manufacturing and handling methods.

There were 218,604 suggestions adopted in 1966, for an average award of $50.06.

Since its establishment in 1942 GM employes have received awards in excess of $83-million for more than 1,800,000 suggestions adopted by the corporation.

1967 is the silver anniversary of the suggestion plan.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I am 60, married and retired. My net worth is $200,000, half of which is in 2nd trust deeds, paying $1,300 monthly and maturing in 12 years. We have $30,000 in savings and 100 shares of Memorex Corp. Should we leave all our money in the bank or invest it? Our current income is more than enough to pay expenses." R.T.

A) You have a very substantial proportion of your assets in trust deeds, which afford a high return but are fixed as to principal. When these mature 12 years hence, you will be faced with the problem of reinvestment at a time when the real value of your capital — its purchasing power — may be considerably less than it is today. Your savings are also fixed assets.

I would put $25,000 into stocks with records of substantial and consistent growth which can enhance your capital considerably over the next 12 years. In this category I suggest American Home Products, Avon Products, Bristol-Myers, Norwich Pharmacal and Union Oil. I would hold Memorex — a California magnetic tape stock — which has built an enviable short-term record and has more than doubled in value since 1965.

Q) "My wife and I are over 65. I own $225,000 municipals; $135,000 commercial paper; $20,000 Treasuries and some stocks. How would you advise me to invest $135,000 from paper maturing this year? My health is not too good and I am looking solely for security with best income." R. C.

A) How you should reinvest seems to me to depend upon your income bracket, which I cannot determine from your letter. If this is sufficiently high so that your taxable equivalent yield on municipals is five per cent or more, I would reinvest in that medium. Otherwise, I would buy high-grade corporate

21 Medals Go to Pilot Today

State Air Hero Leaves Moustache in Vietnam

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. (AP) — Capt. Warren L. Foltz grew a handlebar moustache and won at least 23 medals during a year in Vietnam as an Air Force pilot.

He gets 21 of the medals in ceremonies today at this air force base, but he left the moustache in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

Foltz already has two South Vietnamese government medals — a Gallantry Cross and Silver Star and the Air Gallantry Cross with bronze wings. He also has been recommended for a Silver Star in addition to the other U.S. awards he'll receive today from Maj. Gen. Richard P. Klocko, commander of the Air Force Communications Service.

His box score: the two South Vietnamese awards, 16 Air Medals, three Distinguished Flying Crosses, the Bronze Star and the Purple Heart.

389 MISSIONS

The Air Medals represent 389 combat missions.

"Maybe those combat missions don't sound like too many," said Foltz, 29, a native of Mount Pleasant, Mich. "but my squadron flew the C123 transport on defoliation runs.

"That means our pilot brought the plane in over the trees from five to 200 feet above them to spray the chemical. We sprayed areas of known Vietcong infestation or known supply routes. We were real good targets and most of the time those ground gunners didn't miss."

The plane that carried the crew of which Foltz was a member sustained about 107 hits from rifle, machine-gun and cannon fire during his tour in 1966.

Postman Tops Paint-LBJ Contest

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Carl Bieber, a 37-year-old mailman, has won first prize in a Paint-the-President contest—and may be forgiven a slight case of the jitters.

Bieber's boss, Lyndon B. Johnson, is said to have dismissed a recent effort by professional artist Peter Hurd as "the ugliest thing I ever saw."

★ ★ ★

The North Platte, Neb., postman executed his portrait in ink and enamel on a plastic background. It was judged best of more than 1,550 entries received by the Omaha World-Herald, the contest sponsor, and won a $50 prize.

★ ★ ★

The contest was prompted by the recent White House rejection of the portrait by Hurd, who had received a $6,000 retainer from the White House Historical Association. Hurd said the President described the result as ugly, and that Mrs. Johnson didn't like it either.

POSTER

The runner-up in the World-Herald contest was a switch on a famous World War I recruiting poster in which Uncle Sam pointed a finger at the viewer above the caption "I want you." In the contest version, by Steven McCoy, 21, an Omaha art student, LBJ replaces Uncle Sam and demands recruits for the administration's Great Society.

★ ★ ★

Contestants ranged in age from 5 to 93, and entries were executed in everything from topsoil to oils.

Army Cooks Dish Out SOS to European Chefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army cooks — who sometimes call coffee "battery acid" and oatmeal "flue" — are getting gourmet lessons from European chefs.

"We're trying to change the historical image," said M. Sgt. Carlton Brown of the Pentagon. "The amazing thing has been what an Army cook can do to make mother's basic cooking ingredients look like salvage from a garbage can.

"We're not particularly intersted that they learn to cook filets. They don't serve them anyway," he said today. "But they do serve a type of New York cut beef and we want them to know how to make it palatable — less like something to sole shoes with."

The battle plan, thus far limited to the Washington area, calls for a group of Army cooks to study eight weeks with European chefs in major hotels.

Chefs, accustomed to four to eight year apprenticeships, are skeptical.

'IT WAS A DISASTER'

"Once I was hired by the Army to observe a kitchen," said chef Josef F. Schafers of Cologne, Germany. "After a week I reported in. It was fantastic, 'What are we doing wrong?' they asked. Wrong!' I said, 'What are you doing right?'

"From a professional standpoint, it was disaster," Schafers recalls. "If all that had happened in my kitchen, I'd have blown it up."

★ ★ ★

But Schafers has hope. He has Spec. 5 Harold Root, 24, of Portland, Ore., and Spec. 4 Albert Johnson, 33, of Guttenberg, N.J., working in his Washington Hilton kitchens.

Root enlisted in the Army to be a mechanic. He was placed in supply school and flunked out. Then came cooking school. "In cooking school, you don't flunk out," he noted.

ON A DIET

So far he has cut himself 12 times with knives, bought a gourmet encyclopedia and is on a diet.

Johnson, just back from a tour of cook duty in Vietnam, admits much of his new knowledge will be useless in the army. But he feels the art of garnishing — making food look better — should be helpful as a "cover-up."

"The main thing," he said, "is that we're inspired."

Out of Rough Into the Trap

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Police spotted three men in skin diving gear emerging from the rough near the Canyon Country Club golf course Monday.

In the men's car officers found three gunny sacks filled with golf balls.

Gary Philip McClaim, 25, Ellis Elmer Edwards, 35, and Paul Leonard McKinsey, 33, all of Ontario, Calif., were booked for investigation of stolen property.

One of the three carried a business card from the "Used Golf Ball Company," a policeman said.

Purse Snatcher Makes the Films . . . Also Prison

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A man whose get away was photographed in color by a television cameraman pleaded guilty in Common Pleas Court Monday to a robbery charge.

Ronald Millinger, 20, Cincinnati, admitted grabbing a purse containing $225 in cash and money orders from Norma Taylor last Jan. 19.

Cameraman Robert Harrison of WCPO-TV was in the neighborhood and photographed Millinger when he saw him running and heard Mrs. Taylor screaming.

The prosecutor's office said Millinger was arrested after police viewed the film.

Car-Inspection Law to Go Into Effect Soon

A new state law which becomes effective March 10 could go a long way toward making Michigan highways safer.

The "check lane" law will allow the Michigan State Police to inspect vehicles for defects and search for motorists who shouldn't be driving.

Temporary vehicle check lanes will be established at appropriate locations throughout the state.

Specially trained State Police squads will rotate from one checkpoint to another in their assigned areas.

★ ★ ★

Depending on the circumstances, drivers waved into check lanes will get an "OK" sticker for their windshields, a list of car defects to be remedied quickly or a violation ticket.

Lt. Matt Hrebec, former assistant district commander at the Paw Paw post, is in charge of the program. His assistant is Cpl. Jay D. Kennedy.

Twenty other men are receiving special training in the program. They will act as coordinators in their assigned districts.

Highway Toll Five in State

Crash Fatal to Three in Hillsdale County

By the Associated Press

Traffic accidents over the weekend took five lives in Michigan. This brought the traffic death toll for the year to 212.

At this time last year, 278 persons had been killed in traffic accidents.

The five fatalities last weekend were an improvement over the same weekend last year, when 25 people were killed.

It was also the lowest death toll this month. Seven people were killed over the weekend of Feb. 5, six died over the weekend of Feb. 12, and 14 persons died over the weekend of Feb. 19.

FATALITIES

The five deaths this weekend included:

Leo R. Smith, 36, of Morenci and his two children, a son, Stanley, 15, and daughter, Denise, 11, when their car was hit broadside at the intersection of U. S. 127 and Pittsford Road just north of the Ohio border in Hillsdale County Sunday. Mrs. Smith was injured seriously.

Diana Jean Sheppherd, 20, of rural Buchanan was killed yesterday when her car collided head-on with a front-end loader tractor that was being used to clear a Berrien County road of snow about two miles north of Buchanan in Niles Township.

Jean Marie Boudrie, 19, of Monroe was killed Saturday morning when the car she was riding in was hit head-on by an auto being chased by police. The accident occurred on U.S. 24 in Flat Rock.

Yee, who was known as the "father and adviser" to Cincinnati's small Chinese colony, died Monday. He was 76.

FATHER OF 12

He was the father of 12 children, all surviving. He was married twice, both times to girls from China he had never seen before the wedding.

Burglar Hides Under the Porch of DA's House

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Frederick Rose, 40, an installer of burglar alarms, has been given an 18-month jail sentence for attempted burglary.

Police saw him breaking into an engineering office and gave chase. They found him hiding under a porch at the home of Dist. Atty. John J. Droney, whose office prosecuted him.

"You should be more discriminatory," advised Judge Eugene Hudson as he passed sentence Monday. "The district attorney's house is no place to hide."

Rose told the judge: "You win some and you lose some."

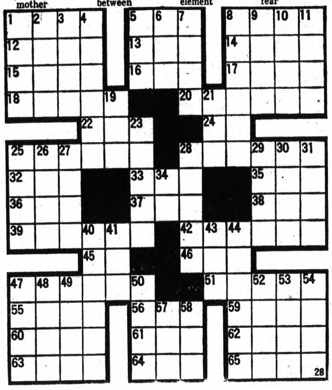
Answer to Previous Puzzle



He Discourses on Artful Art of Damning by Faint Praise

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Otto Preminger has given me some lying lessons.

On Broadway, truth is sometimes a luxury one can't afford. You have gone to a movie premiere or a theater opening, and now you must gush some diplomatic compliment to the producer or director or author or star.

WILSON

"You can't tell him 'It stinks!'" Preminger was saying. "I try to say something nice. If it's a picture, I say 'Vot photography!' Or I say 'Dont's fontosteeck! Eet's so deefrent. So unusua!"

Preminger looked across his desk and in his eyes there was suddenly a look of honesty.

"Ven somebody tells me, a picture of mine is unusual. I know I got trouble."

★ ★ ★

Preminger says liars haunt the premieres. He has been trying to decide whether to give a party for the New York opening of "Hurry Sundown" around Easter.

"Nothing is more agonizing than giving a movie premiere," he says.

"Dey all hate you for some reason," he says.

"You say you start the picture at 8:30. De men all hate you for making them get dressed up. People who come on time hate you for starting late. People who are late hate you for starting before they get there.

"If your show stinks, dey pity you. If it's good, dey hate you for having a success."

Preminger is looking for a good excuse not to have a party and it doesn't need to be a very good one. Almost any old excuse will do.

Court Steps In to 'Save' Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — "To condone plaintiff's overcharging would have been a signal to all carriers, each monopolistic in his own right, to mulct the public for all the traffic would bear."

★ ★ ★

Those words, handed down Monday in a Supreme Court ruling, had the ring of court decisions breaking up America's great trusts and destroying monopolistic dynasties.

Target of the court's wrath this time? A newspaper carrier in St. Louis who charged patrons $1.70 a month when the newspaper itself charged $1.60.

3 Nursing Homes off Medicaid Rolls

LANSING (UPI) — The operator of three nursing homes in the Detroit area notified Michigan officials yesterday he was pulling out of Medicaid programs rather than provide financial information to help the state set his rates.

At least half a dozen other nursing home owners were also reportedly considering dropping out of the program for the same reason.

In separate telegrams to Gov. Romney and the Department of Social Services, Lloyd Johnson asked that the names of 41 patients in his three Whitehall Convalescent Homes in Farmington, Novi and Ann Arbor be taken from Medicaid rolls.

"We are notifying families they must remove the patients or pay our regular rates starting March 1," Johnson said.

★ ★ ★

His action apparently was prompted by a request from the department last week to supply operating costs and other information for use in determining rates for the Medicaid program partly in effect since Oct. 1.

SETS RATES

Under it, the state is empowered to set rates at its nearly 400 nursing homes and will pay half the cost of caring for elderly patients. The federal government will pick up the other half.

★ ★ ★

R. Bernard Houston, director of the department, said Monday that the state has continued to pay the existing rates since last October, but was trying to get a new rate schedule set up by April 1.

Little Sister, 9, Did Her Duty

LOWESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Army infantryman George Maddox is being assigned to duty in Germany and his 9-year old sister, Hettie, may have had something to do with it.

Recently, without the knowledge of her parents, Hettie wrote a letter to President Johnson and asked him not to send her brother, a private first class, to Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

"He is my only brother," she wrote, "and I cannot stand it if George got killed over there fighting."

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold G. Maddox were somewhat surprised when Hettie received a letter from the Department of the Army signed by Maj. Gen. A. Connoe, chief of personnel operations.

NOT ALLOWED

The letter explained that special assignments cannot be given a soldier just because he is an only son.

But it added: "Your brother's commanding officers have been asked to talk to your brother and help him to be assigned near home if he is needed or to be assigned to a noncombat area if he qualifies."

★ ★ ★

A few days ago the Maddoxes received word of George's reassignment from Ft. Carson, Colo., to Germany.

Bomb Kills Negro Official in Mississippi

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — A Negro father of six children died last night when an explosion ripped the cab of his pickup truck.

Police Chief J. T. Robinson said he believed a bomb had been planted beneath the truck. The blast occurred as Wharlest Jackson, 36, drove home from work.

Jackson, treasurer of the Natchez branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People until last month, punched out on the Armstrong Tire and Rubber Co. plant time clock at 8:01 p.m.

Robinsons said his office was notified of the explosion 10 minutes later.

Jackson, driving through a Negro residential section, had covered about half of the 20-block distance between the plant and his home when the explosion went off.

Police began an immediate investigation and impounded the wrecked truck. The FBI was inquiring to see if any federal laws had been violated.

The gasoline tank of the truck did not explode, Robinsin said. There was no fire. The cab was blown away by the blast.

The director of the funeral home where Jackson's body was taken said, "It looks like he might have been sitting right on top of the bomb."

★ ★ ★

One of Jackson's fellow workers, George Metcalfe, the local NAACP branch president, was seriously injured 18 months ago when a bomb exploded beneath his car as he turned the ignition key.

Metcalfe said the NAACP would conduct a mass protest rally tonight at Beulah Baptist church.

Hoffa's Battle to Avoid Prison Appears Lost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters union President James R. Hoffa's four-year battle to avoid jail on a federal jury-tampering conviction appears all but lost.

★ ★ ★

The Supreme Court opened the way for his jailing by refusing yesterday to grant him a second hearing on his 1964 conviction, then choked off another avenue he might have used to stay out of jail.

The court announced — without comment — that it would not reconsider its Dec. 12 decision upholding Hoffa's conviction, eight-year prison sentence and $10,000 fine.

The labor chief's attorneys immediately sought to block his imprisonment by asking Justice Potter Stewart to delay sending the court's decision back to the U.S. District Court in Chattanooga, Tenn., where Hoffa originally was convicted.

★ ★ ★

But Stewart, who supervises that district of the federal court system, turned down Hoffa's requests after conferring with the other justices.

The high court's rejection then was air mailed back to the district court, which could move today or tomorrow to jail Hoffa.

Court sources said it appeared Hoffa's only remaining hope to avoid prison would be an appeal to the District Court to let him remain free on bail pending its action on motions he has already placed before it.

But U.S. Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall has said Hoffa should not be permitted to avoid prison indefinitely.

★ ★ ★

He indicated any further legal moves by Hoffa could be launched and adjudicated while the labor leader was in jail.

HUNG JURY

Hoffa, 54, was convicted of tampering with a jury at a 1962 Taft-Hartley conspiracy trial in Nashville, Tenn., that ended with a hung jury.

The Circuit Court in Cincinnati at present is considering claims by Hoffa that seven male jurors were furnished with prostitutes by U.S. marshals and that the trial judge and jurors were prejudiced against him.

He also is challenging government use of Robert Vick, who worked for one of Hoffa's attorneys. Hoffa claims Vick relayed his legal defense plans to the government.

Soviet Rockets Likely to Widen Viet Defenses

SAIGON (AP) — Defensive patrols guarding Allied bases in Vietnam may have to be increased greatly to counter the big Soviet rockets the Communists used for the first time yesterday in attacking the American airbase at Da Nang, a U.S. military source said today.

The 140mm rockets used in the predawn attack were fired from positions six miles to the south of the base. Some U.S. Marine posts extend that far from the base, but there are no conventional trench lines sealing off the area at that distance.

The 51 rockets which landed on the base and the adjoining village of Ap Do killed 12 Marines and 35 Vietnamese civilians, wounded 32 Americans and 70 Vietnamese, slightly damaged 11 planes and hit several military buildings, including barracks, the post exchange and officers club.

Until now, plans for defense of major bases have been geared mostly to stopping 81mm mortars with a range of about 2.6 miles and guarding against suicide squads carrying satchel charges which attempt to breach the bases' perimeters.

There have been instances when 120mm mortars, with a range of just over three miles, were used.

MORE EXPLOSIVES

U.S. military sources said the 140mm rockets have a longer range and pack more explosives than any weapon used by the Communists to date in periodic shellings of permanent Allied installations. They are also much lighter and easier to fire than mortars, making them handier to sneak into position for an attack.

While mortars weigh several hundred pounds, the rocket tubes can be carried with ease by a single man. Setting up mortar positions is time consuming, making the possibility of detection higher. The rockets, mounted on wooden frames, are touched off in groups by an electrical charge.

The 81mm mortar, most common of the Vietcong's attack weapons, has an explosive warhead weighing nine pounds. The rocket warhead carries 26 pounds of explosive.

THE INVADERS—The seemingly incessant snow has been enough to drive anyone "buggy," but George Collins of 6601 Tipsico Lake, Holly Township, knows he's quite sane. He holds a jar with hundreds of tiny insects that suddenly appeared on top of the snow and spread over about one-eighth of a mile in his neighborhood.

'66 Waterford Road Toll Dips; Accidents Up

Traffic accidents in Waterford Township last year increased by 24 per cent over 1965, but fatalities decreased substantially, according to a report presented to the Township Board last night.

★ ★ ★

Prepared by Sgt. Raymond Wilhelm of the township police department, the detailed report indicated there were 1,750 accidents in the community in 1966 compared with 1,324 the preceding year.

However, nine persons lost their lives in the same amount of fatal accidents last year against 17 deaths in 13 fatal accidents in 1965.

Wilhelm said the report encompassed all accidents handled by township police last year and the majority of accidents investigated by Pontiac State Police in the township.

★ ★ ★

The 1,750 accidents last year consisted of 1,055 property damage mishaps, 686 personal injury accidents and nine fatal accidents.

1,058 INJURED

A total of 1,058 persons sustained injuries in accidents in 1966. However, not all of them required hospitalization.

December was the worst month for accidents last year. Some 239 accidents occurred during the 31-day period. April was next with 164 accidents, according to Wilhelm's compilations.

Heaviest hit hour was from 4 to 5 p.m. Saturdays when 43 accidents were reported. Thirty-nine accidents occurred between 5 and 6 p.m. Fridays.

★ ★ ★

Most dangerous intersections last year were Dixie Highway at Silver Lake Road with 47 accidents and M59 at Elizabeth Lake Road with 40 accidents.

498 MISHAPS

Altogether, 498 accidents and four deaths resulted at township intersections in 1966.

Major contributing circumstances of accidents in the township last year were drinking and failure to yield the right of way, 361 accidents each; speeding, 333; and following too closely, 247.

Some 1,825 traffic tickets were issued by township police last year.

March to Prance In Meek as a Lamb

March is expected to prance in tonight meek as a lamb with skies clear to partly cloudy.

★ ★ ★

The weatherman said tomorrow will be mostly sunny and warmer, the high in the 30s. The low will dip to 15 to 20 tonight.

The outlook for Thursday is partly cloudy and warmer, but the weatherman said the state will likely shudder in the grip of another cold wave before things begin to warm up.

North to northwesterly winds at 12 to 22 miles this morning will become variable 6 to 12 miles tonight.

★ ★ ★

Snow falling during the night and early morning measured 2 inches in downtown Pontiac.

Twenty was the low temperature prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The mercury had climbed to 25 by 1 p.m.

Work to Resume at Fisher Body

Fisher Body plant in Pontiac will resume assembly line production Thursday, a GM spokesman announced today.

★ ★ ★

All employes are to report to work as they normally would, the spokesman added.

Some 3,300 local Fisher Body workers have been idle since last Wednesday.

Part of the Pontiac Motor Division plants are scheduled to resume work tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Some 7,000 Pontiac Motor employes have been idled by the strike.

Local layoffs were due to a parts shortage caused by a recent strike at the Fisher Body plant in Mansfield, Ohio.

The week-long strike has resulted in 75 General Motors factories with 177,200 employes remaining idle today.

Jumpin' Snowfleas! Holly Twp. Invaded

By ED BLUNDEN

There's millions of them! They can leap more than 20 times their own height! They were first spotted on Feb. 14 and some of them are STILL ALIVE!

★ ★ ★

The invasion was first spotted by Willard Elkins, 6600 Tipsico Lake, Holly Township. He alerted his neighbor, George Collins, 6601 Tipsico Lake.

Collins said the two men went out to investigate and found the deep snow covered with small dark specks. "I thought it was soot. Then I saw they were moving," he said.

Collins captured some of the tiny invaders (about pinhead size) in a jar where they were still living and hopping about 1½ inches in the air yesterday.

The name "snow fleas" is given the creatures locally, Collins said. Hunters in the Upper Peninsula are familiar with the insects, he added.

EQUIPPED TO LEAP

According to the encyclopedia, the snow fleas are springtails, a form of collembola. They have appendages underneath that allow them to leap astonishing distances for their size, the book adds.

They are reported to have the widest distribution of any group of insects and are even found on the south pole continent.

The encyclopedia says they are found near decaying vegetation and they first appeared near a small marsh in the area, according to Collins.

★ ★ ★

He said a woman in Davisburg reported seeing the mites there last year, but this is the first time an "invasion" has been reported in Holly Township.

Are they spreading?

U.S. War Declaration Against North Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark pressed today for Senate acceptance of his proposal to require the United States to declare war on North Vietnam before U.S. bombing attacks against the north can continue.

Clark attacked U.S. policy in Vietnam in a three-hour Senate speech yesterday as President Johnson told newsmen he doesn't think new types of American attacks on the north have dimmed peace hopes.

Clark, a Pennsylvania Democrat, is offering his war declaration proposal as an amendment to the administration's $4.5-billion supplemental military authorization bill for Vietnam.

ELEVENTH-HOUR RUSH—1967 license plate purchasers jammed into the Pontiac secretary of state branch office at 96 E. Huron at 5 p.m. yesterday. Lines are expected to be even longer today, the final day 1966 Michigan license plates can be displayed on vehicles without risking penalty.

Board to Get Plan Urging Public Preschool Training

A public nursery school program, adding perhaps two years to a youngster's formal education, will be proposed to the Pontiac School Board tomorrow night.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac School District Citizens' Study Committee on Human Relations will ask the board to study the feasibility of providing preschool training for 3- and 4-year-old children.

Urging the board to give high priority to such a study, the committee notes it has been holding discussions on the matter with educators for a year or more.

The recommendation follows a current trend toward providing earlier educational experiences for preschoolers, particularly those from economically and culturally disadvantaged homes.

★ ★ ★

While the public nursery school program would be similar to the Head Start centers which were devised as part of the federal government's war on poverty, it would be broader and cover a larger number of children, Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer said.

NO CONNECTION

"There is no connection whatsoever between this recommendation and what's happening in the Head Start program," said John F. Perdue, school-community and human relations director, referring to the controversy which has held up local Head Start funds for the 1966-67 school year.

Gov. Romney Plans Fact-Finding Trip to SE Asia This Year

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan plans to go back to Southeast Asia by the end of the year "to seek out additional information."

"I'm not going to be forced into making a statement about Vietnam," he told a news conference yesterday, "until I feel I have obtained all of the facts."

★ ★ ★

Later, speaking to more than 1,000 Republicans at a $25-a-plate dinner, his address was conspicuous by the absence of any mention of Vietnam. He concentrated on domestic affairs, charging the Johnson administration with allowing fiscal drift.

The acknowledged front-runner for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination, Romney told newsmen he was not ready to announce his candidacy.

TIMING

"If you will look at the record, you will see that such announcements usually come in the fall or winter immediately preceding the national convention. As far as I'm concerned, it's a matter of timing," Romney said.

He told the diners that "today's inflation is made in Washington.

★ ★ ★

"It is the result of the unsound economic policies of the present national administration.

REFORM

Romney recommended a three-point program of reform.

"First, we must resolve the basic conflict in our economic policy — the conflict between competition in the market place and monopoly by collective bargaining.

★ ★ ★

"Second, we must encourage teamwork and cooperation between management and labor for the principal benefit of the customers.

"Third, we must restore sanity in the fiscal and monetary policies of the federal government."

MRS. ROMNEY

Mrs. Romney presided at a reception in a suburban home, commenting on woman's role in modern society, and on men.

Romney had a supporting cast of associates who accompanied him on the flight from Detroit, as well as local Republican notables. Among them were two former Kansas governors, Alfred M. Landon and William H. Avery, and Kansas Sens. James Pearson and Frank Carlson.

City's School District Gets Federal Funds

The Pontiac School District has been awarded federal grants totaling $66,530 to purchase library materials, help operate basic education classes for adults and buy musical instruments.

Most of the money — $40,830 — comes under provisions of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act to buy library books and materials, according to B. C. VanKoughnett, school community action director.

Of that sum, $25,811 is to be used in elementary schools and $15,019 in secondary schools.

Another $9,000 in Elementary and Secondary Education Act funds is a supplemental contribution to the district's adult basic education program.

★

VanKoughnett said the district's eight community schools and the adult education program at Pontiac Central High School each will receive $1,000.

INSTRUMENTS

Under provisions of the National Defense Education Act, the district has received $1,670 for purchase of musical instruments on a 50-50 basis.

Half the money will be used for junior high orchestras and the other half to buy elementary band equipment, VanKoughnett said.

Police Capture Pontiac Youth

A Pontiac youth captured yesterday by Flint State Police was to be arraigned on charges he was the armed bandit who held up a pair of gas stations.

★ ★ ★

Thomas E. Rastall, 20, of 530 Oakland was arrested minutes after the $270 robbery of a service station on M21, about 10 miles west of Flint.

★ ★ ★

State troopers said they took from Rastall a sawed-off shotgun and $270 in addition to $40 allegedly taken earlier from another station in Owosso.

Flint Sgt. Edward Mongeon said Rastall jumped from his car and attempted to flee across a field, but was captured.

Hudson Store Shifts Site Without Closing

A Sunday Marathon of merchandise transferring allowed Hudson's Pontiac Mall budget store to open Monday in a new location without disrupting customer service.

★ ★ ★

More than 180 employes moved stock to the budget store's new location on the lower level of the new three-story building during the store's normal weekend closing hours.

The former site on the street-level is closed for renovation. The area will be reopened as part of the full-line store currently being built.

Opening of the full-line store is scheduled for late July.

★ ★ ★

Location and staffing in the new budget store area are comparable in size and number to the former store.

"The new budget store has an individual checkout area and staffing for each department which offers more personalized customer service," commented Robert Greening, budget store manager.

There were general checkout counters near the store entrances in the former Budget store.

"The staff has attended retraining sessions to insure a smooth transfer to the new system," Greening added.

★ ★ ★

Entrance to the budget store is through the enclosed Mall area.

The new budget store has been colorfully decorated to best display the merchandise and offer customer comfort and shopping convenience, according to Greening.

Bills Propose Plates Price, Gas Tax Hike

LANSING (AP)— A package of bills to boost the gasoline tax one cent per gallon and increase cost of passenger car and commercial license plates was introduced in the Senate Monday.

★ ★ ★

The sponsor of the measures, Sen. James Fleming, R-Jackson, said they follow Gov. George Romney's recommendations and are designed to raise an estimated $61 million more in gasoline and weight taxes to provide funds for highway maintenance.

★ ★ ★

The bills would boost the gasoline tax from the present six cents per gallon to seven cents.

They also would increase cost of passenger car license plates by 20 cents a hundredweight and boost commercial license plate cost by 10 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Fleming said the bills "merely meet an emergency situation caused, primarily, by a cutback in federal highway funds that has put the state, counties and cities in serious difficulty.

Oil Firm Rescinds Earlier Price Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government threats to boost gasoline imports if necessary to force a rollback in price hikes by a number of major oil companies appear to be showing results.

Continental Oil Co. announced Monday without comment that it was scaling down the increase it announced earlier this month.

★ ★ ★

So far, there has been no backing down by any of the other companies that raised prices at the same time.

It has been estimated that the increases would add one cent per gallon to the price paid by the motorist for gasoline. The Department of the Interior says all those pennies would add up to $750 million a year for the American public.

House Debates Many Issues

Criticism of Romney, His Record Disputed

LANSING (AP) — Race, religion and the right to reply to criticism occupied the House of Representatives in a debate of nearly an hour Monday night.

Also involved in the hassle were freedom of speech, freedom of religion, and Gov. George Romney's record on civil rights.

★ ★ ★

Rep. David S. Holmes Jr., D-Detroit, kicked off the dispute when he tried to read, and have printed in the House Journal, his reply to newspaper criticism of his demand last week that Romney resign from the Mormon Church.

Holmes urged Romney to take that step because, he said, the church regards Negroes as "second-class citizens" and does not afford them full church membership.

HIT BY EDITORIAL

A newspaper editorial Friday termed Holmes' demand "ridiculous," said it was politically motivated, and added Romney's civil right record is good—citing Romney's role as a vice president of the 1961-62 Constitutional Convention which created the nation's only constitutional Civil Rights Commission.

Holmes replied yesterday the demand was his own idea, not his party's. He also disputed Romney was a leader in the Con-Con fight for strong civil rights article.

★ ★ ★

"He was not out in front on the civil rights issue," Holmes said, "and in fact I am told by members of Con-Con that he was part of a deal that watered down the original proposal on the Civil Rights Commission."

Holmes also charged Romney with discrimination in hiring members of his office staff. "The only thing in his office across the hall that is dark is the paneling on the walls," he said.

Bond Is Set for Suspects in Robbery

Bond was set at $20,000 each yesterday for two men accused of an armed robbery in Birmingham.

Suspects in a holdup of Pizza Inn, 213 N. Eton, on Sunday, in which $85 was taken at gunpoint, appeared before Justice of the Peace Bristol Hunter in Clawson. Preliminary hearing was set for March 7.

Held are Richard Boler, 22, who gave his address as California, and Wayne J. Burton, 30, Highland Park.

The pair was arrested after an employe of the inn gave police a car license number immediately after the robbery.

Burton is also a suspect in the $1,473 robbery of St. Columban Church Parish Credit Union in Birmingham on Feb. 17.

Nocturnal animals can be watched under nighttime conditions in a building being built at a city zoo.

Bingo Backer Appears at Tax Hearings

LANSING (AP) — A housewife advocating legalized bingo was among witnesses appearing before legislative tax committees Monday.

The joint House-Senate Tax Committee hearings on Gov. George Romney's proposed tax package, featuring a 2½ per cent personal income tax, continue today.

★ ★ ★

Support for the income tax came from the Michigan State Grange. The grange said, however, there should be a 5 per cent ceiling on any income tax that is adopted.

"I can play bingo now from Monday night through Saturday night," Mrs. Rosemary Reed of Haslett told the committee. "It is there now—so I think you ought to legalize it."

Mrs. Reed, appearing in slacks and sweater, was accompanied by her daughter Robin, 3, who roamed around the committee room and occasionally tried to take over the microphone.

"You ought to legalize topless waitresses too," Mrs. Reed suggested. "You can't legalize morality."

★ ★ ★

"There are worse things than bingo," said Mrs. Reed, a mother of four children, who reported that her family has to get along on an income of $7,200 a year.

She was against the personal income tax and also advocated a state lottery. She favored increased taxes on cigarettes and liquor.

"I think my husband smokes too much now," she said. "Maybe he would smoke less.

Postal Problems Plaguing India

NEW DELHI (AP) — About 2.5 million improperly addressed letters and packages are received each day in the Indian postal system, a department official complained.

The official said 22 million articles are in circulation in the postal system each day, with one-third of the traffic concentrated in the tiny handful of major Indian cities.

Paper: DA Has Data 'Oswald, Ferrie Linked in 1963'

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison has been given information that Lee Harvey Oswald and David W. Ferrie were picked up together by police in New Orleans in 1963, the States-Item reported today.

Before he was found dead last Wednesday, Ferrie had insisted he did not know Oswald, named by the Warren Commission as the man who killed President John F. Kennedy Nov. 22, 1963, in Dallas.

Ferrie, a former airlines pilot, has been called "one of the most important men in history" by Garrison, who launched his own investigation of the assassination last October.

The States-Item reported that Garrison's investigators were told by a New Orleans law officer that he was making a routine check near Lake Pontchartrain early one morning in the fall of 1963 when he found two men sitting in a parked car.

One of the men identified himself as Oswald, the officer said.

The newspaper said the officer was not clear about how the other man identified himself, but he has since positively identified Ferrie as the man he saw in the car.

TAKEN TO HEADQUARTERS

The officer took the pair to headquarters, the newspaper said, where his superior declined to arrest them on the grounds there was insufficient evidence they were guilty of any wrongdoing.

After the Kennedy assassination, the officer said, he recognized Oswald's face and name from pictures. He said he took no action because it was widely known that Oswald had lived in New Orleans.

Birmingham Area News

Country Club Has New Look

BIRMINGHAM — A $265,000 improvement program at Birmingham Country Club, 14 Mile and Southfield, is almost complete and a press preview of the facility was held yesterday.

It will reopen Saturday after being closed since Jan. 2.

Adding to the new look will be a new general manager, Emil Houtteman, a native of Belgium, a man with wide experience and training in club management and food service.

After inspecting the kitchen, which has $120,000 in new equipment and furnishings, Houtteman pronounced it "THE kitchen."

He said, "I don't think there is a club anywhere that can match it."

FROM WINDSOR

Houtteman comes from Beachgrove Country Club of Windsor and holds the post of vice president of the Canada Federation of Chef de Cuisine, Windsor.

The dining room has undergone a $20,000 refurbishing.

Much of the new work is in preparation for August 1968 when the club will be host to the Women's National Amateur Golf Championships.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The board of education will again review its policy on smoking.

The parents of a girl suspended for 20 days will make an appeal to the board at tonight's meeting at 8 at the district office, 4175 Andover.

The board will also hear plans for a sex education program. Plans for the program and possible teaching methods will be presented.

BIRMINGHAM — Architect John W. Jickling, 600 Shepardbush, was appointed to the City Planning Board by the City Commission last night.

A partner in the firm of Jickling & Lyman, 148 Pierce, the new board member fills the vacancy created in December by the resignation of Eliott Robinson.

Jickling's term expires July 1.

Additional Protest Due on Taubman Agreement

An additional protest against Pontiac's plan for downtown redevelopment is expected to be filed at tonight's City Commission meeting.

One week ago, Don Frayer, chairman of the Citizens Committee for Pontiac Positive Progress (CCPPP), told the commission a formal protest against the Taubman agreement would be lodged by tonight.

The committee met behind closed doors last night to draft the protest.

Already in the hands of city officials is a letter from Housing and Urban Development (HUD) officials in Chicago ordering Pontiac not to proceed further with the Taubman plan.

The HUD communique, alleging the city's agreement with Taubman to be in violation of urban renewal regulations, has been disputed by Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., who affirmed the legality of the agreement.

17 AGENDA ITEMS

Heading a list of 17 agenda items scheduled for commission consideration is a contract proposal providing for use by West Bloomfield Township residents of the city's sanitary land-fill.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren is recommending establishment of a rate system for use of the land-fill by township trash disposal agencies.

Also on the agenda is presentation of State Highway Department approval of improved traffic-signal facilities at six city intersections.

★ ★ ★

Consent is also given for revision of the Cass-Oakland one-way system.

Animal Cruelty Cases on Rise

A rash of animal cruelty complaints in recent weeks has prompted Mrs. Martin Davis, treasurer of the Oakland County Animal Rescue League, to issue a warning.

"People are being prosecuted," she said.

One man, Duane Westcoat, 30, of 3316 Mondrake, Commerce Township, is currently serving a 10-day term in the Oakland County Jail.

He was also ordered to pay a $50 fine in an incident of cruelty to animals that involved three ponies, one of which died while another had to be shot.

★ ★ ★

"We have a case coming up before Judge Eugene Schnelz in Walled Lake this week over the death of a dog," she added.

'PEOPLE FORGETTING'

"Two other reports came in over the weekend and it appears that through this long, hard winter people are forgetting about their animals."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Davis stressed that any complaints referred to the Rescue League would receive protection from identity.

★ ★ ★

"We've got to do something to stop it," she said. "It's the worst I've seen in a long time."

Police Continuing Probe of Burglaries

Birmingham police today were continuing their investigation of two burglaries that occurred at the homes of area merchants over the weekend, but no arrests had been made.

Between $42,000 and $45,000 in cash and valuables were taken from the home of Chin Soon of 893 Hazel Saturday. He is the owner of Pearl's Garden Restaurant, 469 S. Woodward.

Elna Bearss of 1623 Haynes, owner of Wabeek Pharmacy, 298 W. Maple, lost a $2,000 mink coat and about $200 in valuables from her home on Friday.

Shooting Said Justifiable in Bandit Death

The shooting of an armed bandit by a sheriff's deputy last week today was ruled as justifiable homicide by Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson.

In making the decision, Bronson ended further investigation into the fatal shooting of Emmett E. Ransom, 26, of 366½ Ferry.

"I've reviewed all the facts," said Bronson, "and there is no need for an inquest."

Ransom was wounded by Deputy Gerald Reeves following a chase from the scene of a holdup at the Holdsworth Market, 2653 Auburn, Pontiac Township, Feb. 21. Ransom died at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital less than an hour after the 10:15 p.m. robbery.

★ ★ ★

A gun and money taken in the robbery were found in Ransom's possession.

Capt. Leo Hazen of the sheriff's department said that Ransom had no past police record.

What Lent Means to Me

REV. JOHN RAKOCZY

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 17th in a series of articles through Lent written by prominent Pontiac area citizens.)

By the REV. JOHN RAKOCZY
Teaching Staff St. Mary's Preparatory, Orchard Lake

We are experiencing great changes in this modern world of ours, and naturally, the Catholic church could not rest on its old traditional ways so had to make necessary changes for the good of its membership.

Lent has not lost its meaning, however. The church still intends Lent to be a season of penance, of sacrifice, of prayer, of selfmortification.

But these are to be self-imposed, and as a result more beneficial to the individual living in this spirit.

The thought that is so prominent in my mind during this season is the love and concern God continually expresses for man.

U.S.-Soviet N-Spread Accord Seen Near

GENEVA (UPI) — Canadian Foreign Minister Paul Martin said today the United States and the Soviet Union were now "close to agreement" on a draft treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons.

★ ★ ★

The Candian official warned that such a treaty could be the world's "last chance" to prevent an uncontrollable and potentially catastrophic arms race.

Martin gave Canada's full support to the proposed treaty in a message read to the 17-nation disarmament conference today by chief Canadian negotiator Gen. E. L. M. Burns.

The report of U.S.-Soviet accord came as diplomatic sources said that Russia was actually more interested in developing its own effective anti-missile system than approving such a treaty.

★ ★ ★

The new treaty would extend the present ban on nuclear tests in space, water and on land to cover underground atomic explosions as well.

NEEDS TO CONTINUE

Russia needs to continue underground testing to develop its anti-missile system, the sources said, and thus was soft-pedaling the new treaty proposal.

The sources linked this Russian desire with the big Soviet underground explosions in central Asia during the weekend.

At this morning's disarmament session, Martin admitted the new treaty was "an inherently discriminatory approach to the problem but the only rational one."

★ ★ ★

CRITICAL JUNCTURE

"We are at an extremely critical point of history, when the decision of one country to join the ranks of the nuclear weapons powers could trigger an uncontrolable, prohibitively costly, and potentially catastrophic, arms race," Martin said.

Bulgarian negotiator Kroum Christov also joined in stressing the "urgency" of a new test-ban treaty, but coupled his statements with attacks on U.S. Vietnam policy.

★ ★ ★

But despite official statements by Russian and Soviet bloc negotiators, diplomatic sources said the Kremlin seemed to be cool to the new treaty.

Chicago Snow Travels South

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — The snow that made Chicago swear turned hundreds of suntanned Fort Myers kids into happy imps when they got their hands on a carload of it.

The frosty, glistening white stuff was the first many of the youngsters had ever seen when it arrived in palm-fringed Fort Myers Monday. They mobbed the railroad refrigerator car, pelted each other and elders, and even lugged home chunks of snow dripping in 70-degree temperatures.

★ ★ ★

The four tons of snow was a gift to Terri Hodson, 13, from Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad President W. J. Quinn. Terri read that freight trains were hauling snow south to free the storm-clogged Illinois city from its white burden, and asked for some, saying she had never seen any.

Terri was surrounded by scrambling, snow-clutching children moments after she opened the car door as 2,000 youngsters and adults applauded.

"It's cold when it goes down your back," she observed later.

Chicago Mayor, Dem Groups Face Test Today

CHICAGO (AP) — The popularity of Mayor Richard J. Daley and his powerful Democratic organization is tested today as Chicagoans elect 50 aldermen and nominate candidates for mayor.

Daley, 64, seeking his fourth term, is unopposed in the primary.

About 600,000 Chicago residents, 35 per cent of the city's registered voters, were expected at the polls. Observers viewed the size of the turnout largely as a test of Democratic organization strength in two contrasting types of wards.

One type sizzles with white resentment stemming from last summer's Negro and Puerto Rican rioting and open-occupancy marches in to white neighborhoods.

The other is the South and West sides, where Negro independents have been waging all-out campaigns against Democratic organization candidates for city council seats.

Writes Poetry in Jail

Girl's Identity Mystery

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — A brown-haired girl with scarred wrists and a flair for writing poetry sits in jail while Pinellas County authorities try to learn who she is.

"If I knew, I'd tell you," she has told police when asked about her identity, family and friends.

★ ★ ★

She was found wet and covered with sand on Clearwater Beach about a week ago.

She is 5-foot-6, weighs 136½ and has hazel eyes.

'HIT HEAD'

"I remember walking along the beach," she told reporters Monday. "Looking out over the water, at the moon and the stars, my foot fell in a hole. I fell and hit my head on a wooden pole. I remember lying in the surf for a long time."

★ ★ ★

When she recovered, she said, she went to a nearby hotel for help and police were called.

Detective Sgt. Lester Marston, head of the Clearwater Youth Aid Bureau, said the girl has spent much of her time at the jail's youth study center writing poetry. "It's good poetry," he said.

★ ★ ★

Officers said she apparently was not an Iowa girl who disappeared while visiting Clearwater Beach with her parents Dec. 21.

Appeal Next in Breach of Promise Suit

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A dark-haired German woman who lost a $2.5-million breach of promise suit says she will appeal.

Testimony during the week-long trial that ended Monday disclosed that Beate Leber's husband had leased her in Germany to a multimillionaire American rancher for $3,000 a month. She then went to William N. Brown's ranch at Sasabe, Ariz.

★ ★ ★

U.S. District Judge John C. Bowen dismissed the suit by Mrs. Leber, 34, against Brown, 65, ruling the German woman was still married to Ralph Leber of Heidelberg, Germany.

He ruled it was therefore legally impossible for her to accept a marriage proposal from another man.

RETURNING TO GERMANY

"She is returning to Germany immediately," her attorney, Raymond Hayes, said after the trial.

"She will not go back to her husband, Ralph, but probably will enter the import-export business. She will return to the United States when her appeal is heard," Hayes said.

★ ★ ★

The Lebers and Brown met at a German nudist colony, testimony revealed.

Junior Editors Quiz on WELDING

QUESTION: How are pieces of metal connected through welding?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Pieces of metal, like other objects, are made up of tiny particles called molecules.

For two pieces of metal to be joined so they really become one, the molecules of the two edges or surfaces must intermingle or link together. Welding makes the joined part as strong as the rest.

Welding can be done in different ways. We show an old armorer's shop (top picture) where metal pieces are being joined by heating and pounding them together. More modern methods employ far greater heat. With oxyacetylene welding, an intense heat is applied with a torch (lower picture).

The edges of the metal melt, as does the point of a metal rod which is applied. The liquid metal runs into the seam between the pieces and joins everything together. When cool, the joint becomes a powerful weld.

★ ★ ★

Using a tool which can carry a powerful charge of electricity, welding is often accomplished these days by the electric arc method. The temperature at the seam to be welded may reach 7,500 degrees.

This Princess Heap Mad Over Tribal Voting Ban

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — An Indian princess of the Shinnecock tribe is fighting for women's rights in the tribe's reservation at this Long Island community.

Princess Nowanda, who claims to be a descendant of Chief Sachem Wyandanch, says women should have the right to vote in the tribal elections each April to select three trustees of the reservation.

★ ★ ★

The trustees say they will continue to permit only the men to vote in the tribal elections.

Princess Nowanda, also known as Lois Hunter, has filed a complaint with the Suffolk County Human Relations Commission, which is studying the case.

DISCUSS CASE

The Rev. Arthur Bryant, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church in nearby Greenport and vice chairman of the Human Relations Commission, plans to meet the princess to discuss the case.

Indian women can vote in county, state and national elections.

The Rev. Mr. Bryant said, "According to McKinney's consolidated Indian laws of New York State pertaining to the Shinnecock tribe, there is a law of 1892 which amounts to an agreement between the Township of Southampton and the Shinnecock tribe. It states that on the first Tuesday in April each year the male members of the tribe may elect three trustees from members of the tribe who have resided on the reservation for the previous six months."

The Rev. Mr. Bryant said that John Hathorn, director of the New York State Interdepartmental Committee on Indian Affairs, advised the Suffolk Human Relations Commission that the Mohawk and St. Regis tribes of upstate New York have had women suffrage for many years.

"And, last year, the male members of the Senecas voted in a referendum to give the right to vote to their women," the Rev. Mr. Bryant said.

"We find that the New York Legislature probably has control over the Shinnecock law, but it's preferable for the Indians to express the desire to change their own law rather than have it come from outside."

The Rev. Mr. Bryant said that one of the reservation trustees, Harry Williams, told him Sunday that he didn't believe this is a problem for the Suffolk Human Relations Commission and that there is no desire on the part of the trustees to pursue the matter any further.

The Rev. Mr. Bryant said he plans to continue looking into the matter because "we have the complaint of a citizen in our hands who is asking for full citizenship rights."

Writer, Camerman Journalism Winners

NEW YORK (AP) — Associated Press photographer Horst Faas, Harrison E. Salisbury of the New York Times and Ramparts magazine are among those named today as recipients of the George Polk memorial awards for significant achievements in journalism in 1966.

Faas and Salisbury, an assistant managing editor of the Times, were cited for Vietnam war coverage. Both are Pulitzer Prize winners — Faas in 1965 for Vietnam combat photography and Salisbury in 1955 for international reporting.

★ ★ ★

Ramparts, which recently made disclosures of Central Intelligence Agency funding of the National Student Association, won in the magazine reporting field.

For the first time since 1951, no radio or television honors were bestowed — although the Polk award is named for a deceased Columbia Broadcasting System correspondent.

ANNUAL AWARDS

The announcement of the 19th annual awards by Long Island University said that no entry in the radio or television field was judged sufficiently outstanding by the selection committee, made up of the university's journalism faculty.

Faas won in the news photography category, giving him in two years' time three of journalism's most coveted awards. The third is the Robert Capa award of the Overseas Press Club, which he won along with the Pulitzer in 1965 for his combat photography.

★ ★ ★

The Polk award cited Faas for "extraordinary professional initiative, personal courage, and human sensitivity in photographing, and catching, the terror of two women and two children trapped in a context heavy Vietcong fire and advancing American paratroopers."

Salisbury was cited "for a pioneering news mission to North Vietnam that contributed a new dimension to coverage of the Vietnam war and, in significantly enlarging international comprehensions of the conflict, influenced the course of contemporary history."

MAGAZINE CITED

Ramparts magazine was cited for its "explosive revival of the great muckraking tradition that once shook delinquent business enterprise and now, thanks to this periodical, alarms those members of the American establishment, including governmental officials, who are irresponsible, deceitful, or amoral, while dramatically alerting all men to their responsibilities."

★ ★ ★

Other category winners of the Polk awards — bronze plaques which will be presented at a luncheon here March 21 — included:

National reporting — Richard Harwood of the Washington Post, for his series on FBI eavesdropping.

NEW YORK POST

Interpretive reporting — Murray Kempton of the New York Post, "for commentary that . . . has succeeded in being intellectually sensitive, morally responsive and powerfully instructive."

Criticism — Alfred Kazin, for literary criticism.

Book award — "Modern American Usage," written substantially by Wilson Follett and, after his death, edited and completed by Jacques Barzun and a group of associate scholars.

Two special awards — to Arnold Gingrich, publisher of Esquire, for creating a mass-circulation magazine that "adventurously shatters contemporary myths"; and to the "Time Essay" department of Time magazine "for factually tight, balanced and absorbing reports that help to make meaningful . . . the most baffling complexities of the day."

Army Casting for Supershow

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP) — Military personnel, their dependents and civilians in this area have been invited to try out for a proposed comedy serial that will be produced by the Ft. Campbell radio studio.

The serial will be called "Supertrooper."

If you want life insurance that you can change as often as your way of life changes...

...the man from Nationwide is on your side.

You can cover practically anything that comes along just by adding to your one Nationwide policy.

Nationwide thinks it's crazy that you should have to buy a whole new policy every time you need more or less life insurance.

That's why Nationwide invented its Adjustable Life Plan. You can change your coverage as often as your way of life changes —but without all the fuss of having a new policy written. You simply add new coverage to your present policy.

Example: Each time you have a child, your responsibilities as a breadwinner increase so you need more insurance. The man from Nationwide lets you add insurance on yourself to your existing policy. But then as your children grow older, get married and become less dependent, he lets you decrease your insurance if you care to.

Nationwide's Adjustable Life Plan lets you add or subtract nine benefits. But no matter how many times you change your coverage, you never have to pay to have a brand-new policy written. It's simple. It saves you money. And it's one more way the man from Nationwide is on your side.

Britain's Princess Margaret speaks with actor Richard Burton and his wife, Elizabeth Taylor prior to benefit performance of the movie "Taming of the Shrew," starring the Burtons. At the London benefit, Burton later referred to Princess Margaret from the stage as "a young lady whose real name is Maggie Jones." She is married to the former Anthony Armstrong-Jones, now Lord Snowdon. In background, above, is actor Sir Michael Redgrave.

Heidi's Fourth to Wear This Dress

By MADELEINE DOEREN

"Heidi Ann is the fourth-generation baby to wear my husband's christening dress," says Mrs. Victor Hancock who thinks the big pearl buttons down the back seem to date the dress. "No one knows exactly when the dress was made nor by whom," she added.

"Anyway, it has become a family heirloom and is my responsibility."

CAREFULLY STORED

After each wearing, the dress is carefully laundered and stored in a deep box with blue paper between the folds. This is to prevent yellowing of the white cotton fabric.

Vertical rows of fine tucking and insertion form the front and long sleeves of the garment which is bordered with a deep flounce of eyelet embroidery.

Rev. Malcolm K. Burton officiated at the recent christening on a wintry Sunday in The First Congregational Church.

The John E. Madoles, the baby's grandparents, were hosts at a buffet dinner for some 24 family members in their home in Lacota Raod. Mrs. Nicholie was the former Mary Suzanne Madole. The John Madoles of Pasadena, Calif. are also great-grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Delos Nicholie of Lake Angelus are the paternal grandparents and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Trietsch of Prudenville and Florida are paternal great-grandparents.

★ ★ ★

Others who wore the heirloom dress were Heidi's grandmother, Mrs. John Madole, the former Mary Ruth Hancock, and the Madole children Mary Suzanne, Janet Elaine and John.

★ ★ ★

Also baptized in the dress were Mrs. Ray Madole (Helen Joan Hancock) the baby's great-aunt who lives in Kettering, Ohio, and her children Scott, Vickie Ann and Joan Ellen.

A smiling trio are Victor Hancock of Illinois Avenue, his granddaughter, Mrs. Earl W. Nicholie (Mary Suzanne Madole) of Beachum Drive and his great-granddaughter, Heidi Ann Nicholie, who is four months old. The first great-grandchild in the Hancock family, she wore her great-grandfather's dress for her recent christening.

Must She Return All Baby Gifts?

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I recently lost my first baby when seven months pregnant, but my doctor says there is no reason not to have another. I intend to have one as soon as possible.

★ ★ ★

Two baby showers were given for me and I don't know what to do with the gifts. Should I not say anything and keep them; offer to return them; insist on returning them? Please advise me.—Mrs. B. L.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. B. L.: Since there is no guarantee that you will have another baby immediately, you should return the gifts. The trouble with "offering" to return them is that the donors will surely refuse, telling you to keep them for another baby.

Good luck to you and may that second baby come soon.

DOUBLE RING

Dear Mrs. Post: In a double ring ceremony, who holds the rings in church? Does the best man hold one and the maid of honor the other? Or does the best man hold both?—Toni

★ ★ ★

Dear Toni: The maid of honor holds the ring to be given to the groom. She gives it to the bride at the same time that the best man gives the bride's ring to the groom, and the bride puts it on the groom's finger immediately after she has received her ring.

Sounds as if Your Future Bride Is Being Unreasonable on Issue

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am practically engaged to a wonderful girl. Everything was just fine until we started to discuss the wedding date. She wants to be married the last Saturday in May, and I want to wait until the middle of June because that's when my best buddy will be coming back from the service and I want him for my best man.

ABBY

We sort of made a pact that we would be each other's best man, and I want to keep my word.

My girl says it is the bride's privilege to set the date. Considering it's only a matter of waiting three weeks, do you think I ought to hold my ground, or let her have her way?

DENNIS

DEAR DENNIS: There is more involved here than "waiting three weeks." A girl who would be unwilling to make a small concession in order to please her future husband sounds something less than "wonderful" to me. Your reasons for wanting to wait is valid. If she has an equally valid reason for rushing, give in. Otherwise, hold your ground.

DEAR ABBY: Why is a man a perfect gentleman around a skinny woman, but when it comes to a fat woman, he's not?

Unfortunately I am extremely heavy (235 pounds). One evening in night school, I dropped some papers on the floor and the man sitting across from me made no effort to pick them up. It was very awkward for me to pick them up myself, but I finally managed to do so.

At work it's the same story. I dropped my keys once and my boss, who was standing right next to me, did nothing. About a week later a real skinny girl dropped her keys and the boss couldn't bend down fast enough to pick them up for her.

What causes men to treat fat women with such disrespect? I have seen evidences of this time and again.

OVERWEIGHT

DEAR OVERWEIGHT: A true gentleman is courteous to a woman whether she's fat or thin. The male who has manners only for ladies he wants to impress is no gentleman. A pox on him.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am very much concerned about a young friend of mine. She has a good job and is engaged to be married, but each week she turns over her entire paycheck to her husband-to-be.

When they have an argument, which is quite often, she is left without enough money for even one lunch! She is a pretty girl, and smart, except when it comes to him.

Why would an intelligent girl allow a fellow to do her this way? I suppose she's "In love," but what a way to start a marriage.

WANTING TO HELP

DEAR WANTING: Some girls like a man who will push them around, and your young friend appears to be such a girl since she puts up with it. Stay out of it.

Shaw Comedy Next at Meadow Brook

"You Never Can Tell" is the third offering this season by the new Meadow Brook Theatre Company at Oakland University.

The George Bernard Shaw comedy, opening a four-week run Wednesday will mark the directorial debut of Robin Ray, Meadow Brook's associate director.

The production is doubly significant because it will also see the American acting debut of Jenny Laird, the wife of John Fernald, the Theatre's artistic director.

AMERICAN DEBUT

While Miss Laird will be making her debut to American audiences as the "modern" Mrs. Clandon, others in the cast will be familiar to Meadow Brook Theatre-goers from their performances in the first two productions of the Fernald Company's premiere season.

Roni Dengel, last seen as Rosaline in "Love's Labour's Lost" will match wits with Terence Scammell. Scammell had a similar task last month as the King in "Love's Labour's Lost."

Eric Berry will play Mr. Crampton, a role that is quite unlike his two previous appearances at Meadow Brook. Crampton is an irascible old gentleman with a toothache.

Curt Dawson and Susan Stranks are a pair of precocious twins aged 18. Mr. Dawson has played the Story Teller in "Chalk Circle" and the tottering schoolmaster in "Love's Labour's" while Miss Stranks had a supporting role in "Chalk Circle."

★ ★ ★

Joshua Bryant as an aging solicitor was last seen as the engaging clown Costard last month and George Guidall as an overbearing lawyer will be remembered as the dashing Berowne of "Love's Labour's Lost."

Rounding out the cast of "You Never Can Tell" is Robert Donley in the memorable role of "Balmy Walters" the waiter.

The waiter is the voice of reason in "You Never Can Tell." He is always at the right spot at the right moment with the right advice ranging from proper dress to match making.

Actor Donley, last seen at Meadow Brook as Constable Dull, has had a long career in the theatre, radio, television and movies. At one period in his life he was a waiter in a downtown Detroit hotel but says he prefers being a stage waiter.

READS FOR BLIND

He is also one of the leading readers of talking books for the American Foundation for the Blind. On Broadway he has been seen with the Lunts in "The Visit," with John Gielgud and Lillian Gish in "Crime and Punishment," and in "Andersonville Trial," and the musical "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

On tour he has appeared in "Inherit the Wind," "The Skin of Our Teeth" and most recently as the Duke of Norfolk in "A Man for All Seasons."

At the age of 16, Mr. Donley ran away from home and came to Detroit where he found work as a waiter in a downtown hotel. He recalls that period in his life as a turning point.

★ ★ ★

His experiences convinced him that waiting on tables was not the career he wanted and returned home to finish schooling. He has found that being a stage waiter is quite different from his early days in Detroit.

"Everything has to be timed so perfectly on stage," he says, "and you have lines to remember too that must be thrown in at the proper moment. So many more things to worry about than just the food service." His previous training has been helpful, however. "I didn't have to learn how to set the table for this part."

★ ★ ★

"You Never Can Tell" runs through March 26 nightly, Tuesday through Sunday with a matinee on Saturdays.

The Schizophrenic Child--Product of Errors

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Are you scared that your mental health may be less than 100 per cent?

I'm not. I've long known that what sanity I possess is only a matter of degree. So, once when a mental hospital's admission clerk, confusing me with an adolescent friend who was committing herself to its care, asked me "Are you the patient?", I laughed. I said, "Not today. But tomorrow? Just maybe. Who knows?"

As I am no paragon of humanity, I insist on crediting you with the same willingness to know yourself to be less than 100 per cent rational. All of which is a prelude to my suggestion that it is our irrationality which infects children with schizophrenia, that most baffling form of mental illness.

I've not had the courage to say this before. But an article in a recent issue of Mental Hygiene, publication of the National Association of Mental Health has given it to me.

It's the work of two clinical psychologists — director and co-director of the Schizophrenic Research Project of Boston's Judge Baker Guidance Center. And what they have to say about our influence on the development of this disease in children possesses the creative venturesomeness of the artist and none of their profession's stupid enslavement to graphs, tests, to the mathematical measurements of what cannot be measured because it is always escapably human.

First, they tell us that the schizophrenic's "generalized helplessness" may be the result of our squashing of the child's initiative, the damning of his self-trusting reach toward independent action that can end in his later recoil from all self-serving, enterprising performance in his mental illness.

Second, they remind us that intrusion into his private fantasy world is the besetting terror of the schizophrenic person. And connect this terror to the child's experience of parents who won't let him own what belongs to him. "Withdrawal," say these intuitive psychologists, "is the child's quite reasonable response to too-instrusive adults, parents who force them to reject friends of their own choosing, read their diaries and will permit no private individuality.

Third, they relate the schizophrenic's deep distrust of what his own senses tell him to our demands that the child unquestioningly rely on what we tell him is true. In other words, we have no right to tell a child we love him when the fact is we feel intense resentment at him.

And if parents of schizophrenic children fall to pieces at the notion that they've contributed to this illness, well, falling to pieces may be exactly what's needed to get them to a psychiatrist.

Mrs. Lawrence welcomes letters from readers but because of the volume of mail she cannot answer all letters personally.

Just a Hobby

DALTON, Mass. (AP) — John E. Wood, a piano tuner for 65 years, knows everything there is to know about pianos except how to play them.

However, the 83-year-old man, who still works full time at his trade, is a better-than-average violin player.

August vows are being planned by Michigan State University students Kathyrn Rae Mann and Thomas Frank Middleton. She is the daughter of Mrs. Al Vel of Sherry Drive, Orion Township and the late Jesse P. Mann. Her fiance's parents are the Keith Middletons of Stoney Creek Road, Oakland Township.

Evening Vows Are Said in Church Ceremony

Stephens Lutheran Church united Andra Lee Grimm, daughter of the Robert A. Grimms of Aquarina Avenue, and James Lee Norris whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Norris of Elizabeth Lake Road.

The bride chose a short white organdy gown trimmed in lace and wore a matching pon pom headpiece from which a short organdy veil fell. She carried white carnations.

Attending the couple, who were honored at a reception in the Aquarina Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Amos, were the Roberto Pedorsos of Bloomfield, N.J.

Following a honeymoon in the Bahamas, the pair will reside in Pontiac.

Fill Oatmeal Cookies With Date Mixture

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

When you're held indoors by this dreadful weather, you might as well fill the cookie jar. Date Oatmeal Cookies are a good choice.

Any time you use oatmeal you are adding good nutrition to cookies. If you have and like rolled wheat, this may be substituted for equally good results.

Mrs. George Hopper of Keego Harbor is today's cook.

DATE OATMEAL COOKIES

By Mrs. George Hopper

1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup lard
2 eggs, well beaten
6 cups raw oatmeal, ground
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup hot water*

Cream shortenings, add sugar gradually and beat well. Add eggs. Put oatmeal through food chopper.

Dissolve soda in hot water. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with water. Stir in oats.

Roll out on floured board and cut with small cutter. Spread half of the cookies with date filling and top with rest of cookies.

Bake at 375 degrees until lightly browned. Makes about 6 dozen.

*Use orange juice for a different flavor.

Filling

Mix on pound of pitted dates, one cup sugar and one cup water. Simmer until soft, stirring frequently. This burns easily.

Picks Up Nap

Steam from a tea kettle or bathtub filled with hot water will restore the depth of nap to velvet, suede, and felt fabrics.

A few minutes steaming will restore the pile.

Cooks Asparagus

Cook early asparagus in non-electric coffee pot. Remove basket. Let asparagus stems stand in boiling water, the tips in steam. Neither will be over cooked.

They Are Overweight but for Good Reasons

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A columnist for a local dairy farmer's publication bravely—or foolishly—quoted a home economist who criticized farm women for being considerably more overweight, on the average, than their city cousins.

* * *

Among the defenses made by farm women were that they get up to cook breakfast for their husbands "and don't use instant-this-or-that," that they have to fix hearty, stick-to-the-ribs lunches and suppers for men who have been plowing, mowing, or doing other heavy work all day and "it is much easier to diet away from the kitchen."

* * *

But the real reason, one letterwriter admitted, is that "we farm ladies are overly-secure. We are not afraid that our husbands, clad in overalls and rubber boots, engrossed in the cows and the barnyard and smelling like both, will take a cute secretary to lunch."

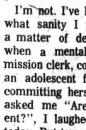
Bringing Up Baby®
Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber, Mother of Five

POINTERS FOR THE PLAYPEN SET

When your baby begins to creep he may rebel a bit at the playpen.



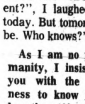
How to keep your scoot-about happy after he's had a taste of freedom? These tips may be helpful:

• Time element. If you reserve pen times for baby's most contented times, he probably won't resent it.

• Toy trickery. Changing to different toys for each session helps keep baby's "housing development" interesting.

• Position counts. By placing the pen where baby can watch your comings and goings, he won't feel neglected.

Meat of the matter. Babies with crawl privileges and others need protein to help them grow. And Gerber High Meat Dinners provide meat protein with the added nutritional and flavor benefits of garden vegetables. Five varieties in this nourishing group: Gerber Strained or Junior Chicken, Turkey, Veal, Beef, Ham.



Somewhat "grown-up." Your older child will like this cream of turkey soup for a hearty lunch:

Toddler Turkey Soup
1 jar Gerber Junior Turkey High Meat Dinner
¾ cup milk
¼ cup water
Combine and heat. Season to taste.

Safety measures for fourwalkers. Creepers make a beeline for bright objects so be sure to scan the floor for pins, buttons, etc. Iron and toaster cords should not be left a-dangle. Floor fans or heaters are a hazard.

Sunny-side up for creepers, lapsitters or high-chair heroes and heroines. Gerber Strained Egg Yolks are bright as a splash of sunshine . . . have a delicate, fresh-egg flavor and creamy, custard-like texture that's hard to beat. As for nourishment, Gerber Egg Yolks are high in vitamin A, rich in iron and a good source of protein. Gerber® Baby Products, Box 33, Fremont, Michigan.

Seeks to Continue Strong Detroit Showing

Pitcher Earl Wilson Works Hard for 'Holdout' Status

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LAKELAND, Fla. — Earl Wilson, who had a mediocre start with the Boston Red Sox and a sensational finish with the Detroit Tigers as a pitcher last year, has an unusual goal in baseball.

"Everyone has an ambition once they make the grade in baseball, and mine is to be a holdout," he said Tuesday.

"The explanation is easy enough to realize,,' he added. "It's the point when a player gets to feel he is worth more than the offer given him at contract time. And this means having a real good year."

★ ★ ★

Wilson, who has been told very often that he is a close resemblence to the former football star of Cleveland Browns, Jimmy Brown, is built as stong and powerful as the great fullback.

"It's funny, everyone says I look like Jimmy Brown, but he doesn't look like, me," he jested.

Wilson is not in the financial category of Brown, but if he resumes his pitching this season the way he finished in 1966, he may have his chance to be a holdout and have his 1968 contract look a little like Brown's.

A former Marine who attended San Diego state college, wilson was born 31 years ago in Ponchatoula, La.

CATCHER

He started his baseball career as a catcher, but during his minor league days in the Pacific Coast League, he was moved to the mound because of his powerful arm.

He was wild to start and his only winning year with the Red Sox in six seasons was a 12-8 mark in 1962, but he made the record book that year when he hurled a 2-0 no-hitter against the Angels, June 26.

Last year he had a 5-5 mark when the Tigers obtained him from Boston for Don Demeter in a mid-season trade.

He immediately proceeded to post a nine-game winning streak the longest for a pitcher in the league, of which two were shutouts. His Detroit record was 13-6.

Coach Johnny Sain, a firm believer that a pitcher should offer some threat as a baserunner, no matter how he gets on base, certainly has no doubts about Wilson's potential at the plate.

The strong-armed hurler is one of the best pitchers with the bat in the league. He hit seven homers last season, two below the record for pitchers. One of the homers was a grand slammer, irionically in Boston's Fenway Park where he made his major league debut.

Another homer was a three-run pinch blast against Stu Miller of the Baltimore Orioles in the 13th inning to give the Tigers an 8-5 victory.

Wilson goes into the 1967 season with a lifetime hitting mark of .207 and 22 homers. His .240 batting average last season included 22 runs batted in and a slugging percentage of .500 which over-all was as good (and in some cases better) as hitters on the team like Mickey Stanley, "Gates" Brown, Jake Wood, Jerry Lumpe or Dick Tracewski.

Wilson isn't a weight watcher. He holds a constant weight between 215-218 and is continously working at some conditioning exercise when not throwing.

Wilson joins Denny McClain and Mickey Lolich as the "Big Three" of the Tigers. "I've always been a slow starter. Never seem to do well in the spring, but I hope I can stay healthy and get a faster start this year," he said.

"In fact, if the team as a whole stays healthy, I feel confident we'll make a good run of it."

WILD TOSS

Wilson's hope for a healthy start was almost shattered yesterday when a wild throw in pepper practice by Orlando Pena struck him in the pitching arm.

Trainer Bill Behm said it was just a sore bruise, but Wilson was quite upset over it.

★ ★ ★

"Boy, that's all I need is to have a racked-up arm before training camp really gets started," he retorted, "I'd hate to be a wash-out before I ever get a chance to be a holdout.'

★ ★ ★

Today, the Tigers had the full squad of infielders and outfielders taking their turns at bat and their positions afield; and, of course, the attention was focused on the new-look Keystone combination with Ray Oyler at short and Dick Mcauliffe at second.

Coach Ailing as Tourney Game Nears

Kettering Five Awaiting Duel With Northern

Clarkston, Waterford Take Floor Tonight in District Action

For the past couple years, coach Joe Duby of Kettering has been patiently making plans for some upcoming events, but now he may be too ill to really enjoy the fruits of his effort.

Duby has been battling a throat infection and a touch of pneumonia for the past three weeks. He's been in and out of school and in and out of bed.

"I'm feeling better and I'll be there tomorrow night," he said yesterday, referring to Kettering's meeting with Pontiac Northern in a Class A state district tournament game at Clarkston.

Despite the illness, Duby has been in school at least a couple days each week, although he has turned much of the coaching duties over to his assistant, Ray Robinson.

★ ★ ★

A step in his road to recovery would be a district title, and no doubt he would feel a trifle better should the team claim the regional crown at Seaholm and then head for a shot at the state title in East Lansing.

FIRST STEP

But first things first.

★ ★ ★

And the first could be the toughest.

Pontiac Northern has a young team that's come on strong to pile up a 13-3 record, an aggressive squad that should provide Kettering with its toughest game this season.

And this game, and others in the next week or so if there are others, are what Duby has been waiting for.

★ ★ ★

The team that'll meet Northern tomorrow evening is the same one that posted a 15-1 record in regular season play last season and the same one that goes into tomorrow's fracas with a 16-0 mark.

TOOK TITLE

Some members of the squad were around two years ago in a 7-8 season which also saw Kettering capture the district title.

★ ★ ★

Last year, the Captians beat PNH in the opening game, but dropped a 72-53 verdict to Pontiac Central in the district finals.

The team's a year older now and better.

It's a powerful team, this Kettering squad. It's ranked fifth among Class A squads in the state.

★ ★ ★

And it has depth. Duby has some folks sitting on the bench who could play a lot of ball for a lot of teams.

SENIORS DOMINATE

It is a team domintated by seniors, however, indicating that if this one misses the state title, it might be a while before there there's another ready.

★ ★ ★

Should Duby turn back Hall and the Huskies, the road is far from rosy. Next, he'd have to take on Pontiac Central Thursday evening and a victory there would put him in the finals Saturday against the winner of tonight's Clarkston-Waterford (7:30) winner.

SLIPPING AWAY — The ball bounces away from Clawson's Tom Miner who also goes down in last night's Class B district game. Dave Karlson of West Bloomfield came up with the loose ball and passed it to teammate Larry Anding (32). West Bloomfield held off a late Clawson rally for a 52-50 upset and will play Avondale Wednesday at 8:30 p.m.

Brother Rice Romps by Seaholm, 70-56

By FLETCHER SPEARS

A couple of musclemen lifted Birmingham Brother Rice past city rival Seaholm in the opening round of state Class A district tournament action last night on the losers' floor.

With Lee Hart (6-6 and 260) and Dan Parks (6-4 and 230) paving the way, the Warriors rolled to a surprisingly easy 70-56 verdict, setting the stage for possible showdown with Birmingham Groves, the team that kayoed Brother Rice in district action last year.

On the agenda this evening, highly-rated Groves takes on Berkley with the winner advancing to the finals against the winner of the Brother Rice-Bloomfield Hills scrap Wednesday evening.

Groves, which fashioned a 16-0 record during the regular season, isn't expected to have any any trouble with Berkley (7-10), and Bloomfield Hills (9-7) shouldn't trouble Brother Rice (13-3).

Seaholm's Maples couldn't handle Hart and Parks and it was this shortcoming that proved fatal.

TOP SCORERS

Parks and Hart combined for 42 points and they controlled the backboards, giving Brother Rice a 44-36 advantage in that department.

Most of the Warriors' buckets came on layups as Hart and Parks outmaneuvered the Maples repeatedly from close range

And when those two weren't controlling the game inside, guards Mel Boomer and Mike Bowen punished the Maples from long range. Bowen wound up with 12 points and Boomer collected four baskets.

With the success from close range, Brother Rice wound up hitting on 65 per cent of its shots (34 of 52), while Seaholm, in an unusual cold shooting display, pushed in only 21 of 73 for a 28 per cent pace.

★ ★ ★

Parks led an early assault as he scored 14 of his 18 points in the first half and led the Warriors to a 37-20 lead at intermission.

HART ROMPS

The Maples tightened the defense on Parks in the second half, but Hart, who picked up three baskets in the first half, roamed underneath the basket almost at will after intermission and poured in nine buckets.

★ ★ ★

Seaholm gained a 36-33 advantage in the second half but couldn't cut into that big margin the Warriors put on the scoreboard in the early stages of the game.

Early in the third quarter, Seaholm cut the deficit to 13 points (39-26), but Hart scored four straight baskets to raise the lead to 47-26.

Bill Hudson led the Maples (13-4) with 16 points, while Rich Slater added 12 and Dave Cook

Farmington '5' Moves Ahead in Tournament

Farmington rolled up a 35-21 halftime lead and coasted past Milford in their Class A district battle last night in Farmington.

Guards Greg Dorow and Tom Wirtz sparked the attack with 20 and 17 points, respectively. Mark Geigler collected 12 and Bob McFarland tossed in 10 to pace the Milford attack.

The win raised Farmington's over-all record to 11-7 while Milford closed the 1966-67 campaign with a 4-14 record.

Senior Bill Hill, who averaged more than 20 points a game for Milford during the season, suffered a dislocated finger early in the third period and sat out the rest of the game.

Sorrows Thumps Ortonville

Lakers Stave Off Clawson '5'

By DON VOGEL

"I don't know whether I want to come back," said West Bloomfield coach Art Paddy as he tried to unwind after last night's Class B opening district basketball game at Pontiac Northern.

What apparently was going to be an enjoyable, and relaxing upset, almost turned into a nightmare for the veteran mentor and the Lakers.

West Bloomfield blew a 15-point lead in the last four-and-a-half minutes and just barely edged Clawson, 52-50.

Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows steamrollered past Ortonville Brandon, 89-78, in the PNH Class C district opener.

West Bloomfield will take on Avondale Wednesday at 8:30 with the winner moving into the Saturday final against the victor of tonight's Romeo-Oxford contest which starts at 8:30.

Orchard Lake St. Mary will tangle with Royal Oak St. Mary in the Class C test at 7 p.m. with the winner gaining a berth in Friday's title game.

★ ★ ★

In the other Class C district semifinal tomorrow, Farmington OLS will take on strong Country Day at 7 p.m.

MISSED CHANCE

"We had a chance to run away with the game in the final minutes instead of almost letting it get away," said Paddy. "But we threw the ball away too many times when we had their press beat."

But the coach was pleased. Every comment was punctuated by a smile.

West Bloomfield went into the game with a 2-15 regular season mark. Clawson finished third in the Oakland A and was 8-8 over-all. The Trojans were a slight favorite over Romeo to take district honors.

★ ★ ★

A tight man-to man defense took care of any Clawson tourney plans. The Trojans' pattern offense was effectively throttled by the Lakers who closed up the middle.

Clawson had no outside shooting last night and could do little until the subs took over in the final five minutes and started scrambling. The Lakers, who had been cutting Clawson's zone and man-to-man defenses to ribbons for three-and-a-half periods, suddenly started scrambling along with the Trojans.

Poor passes, floor violations and dropped balls almost finished the Lakers who had a 50-35 lead with 4:38 to play.

But they managed to struggle through, aided by a charging violation against Clawson's Larry Pinchback who was driving toward a possible tying basket with three seconds to play.

Steve Westjohn played a vital role for the Lakers before fouling out with 3:47 remaining. He topped the West Bloomfield scoring with 14 points and hauled down 14 rebounds.

KEY BASKETS

His play under the boards gave the Lakers a definite advantage until he departed. Ted LaPratt and Larry Anding turned in good floor performances and Dale Meredith hit several key baskets on the way to scoring 12 points.

Dave Williams was the biggest thorn for the Lakers. The 6-4 Trojan center snared 13 rebounds and led all scorers with 19 points.

Tim Doyle poured in 29 points and Bob Theisen 24 as Farmington OLS romped past Ortonville. The Lancers fell behind 11-6 after 3:30 of the first quarter, but quickly took charge after a time out and were never threatened.

Doyle led a 46-25 domination of the backboards with 17 rebounds. Frank Carrico, the team's No. 2 scorer, saw only limited action because of an ankle injury.

Brandon's greatest season — long weakness — defense — proved to be the Black Hawks undoing. They tried to press the Lancers but this resulted in many easy baskets for the fast-breaking OLS quintet.

Center Dave Tuttle led the Hawks with 19 points.

Capac Dumps Almont Five in 'C' Tourney

Capac came from behind in the fourth period last night to nip Southern Thumb cochampion Almont, 52-48, in Class C district tournament play at Port Huron.

★ ★ ★

The triumph sends the Chiefs into the second round against Richmond tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock. A second game on the card finds the other Thumb cochampion, Armada, battling Memphis in the 8:30 nightcap. Winners tomorrow meet Saturday at 7 p.m.

The win also enabled Capac to take the rubber game of the series with Almont. The two split in two league meetings during the regular campaign.

Capac controlled the game in the early stages and rolled up a 33-25 lead at halftime.

GRABS LEAD

But Almont tightened its defense in the third quarter, limiting the Chiefs to only four points while taking a 40-37 lead.

★ ★ ★

But the fourth frame belonged to the Chiefs as they gained a 15-8 edge in the scoring. Cliff Lietz paced the winners with 19 points while Al Currey tossed in 14 for Almont.

Red Wings Mix Lineup in Hopes to Gain Playoffs

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings, frantically trying to overtake Montreal for the final Stanley Cup playoff berth, will try some more shuffling for Saturday's game against the Canadiens.

★ ★ ★

The Wings Monday called up Ab McDonald, a veteran left winger, and defenseman Warren Godfrey.

★ ★ ★

McDonald played 10 games with the Wings earlier this season but scored only one goal. He has popped in 2 at Pittsburgh in the American Hockey League, however.

Godfrey underwent knee surgery during the summer and started slowly. But the 35-year-old veteran has been hitting his stride at Pittsburgh.

Wings Manager-Coach Sid Abel sent Jimmy Peters Jr. down to Memphis of the Central League Monday.

MCJC Suffers 137-112 Loss

Another 56-Point Tilt by Jerry Olsen

Michigan Christian Junior College of Rochester ran into a redhot Bethel College quintet from Indiana last night and suffered a 137-112 setback.

The winners romped to a 69-55 lead at halftime and maintained the pressure in the final 20 minutes. The win upped Bethel's record to 12-11, while the loss left MCJC with a 13-10 mark.

Jerry Olsen, who tossed in a record 56 points last week, matched that figure against Bethel as he flipped in 22 field goals and converted 12 of 14 shots from the charity line.

Jim Bruff picked up 19 points and Jerome Shoemaker added 14 for the losers.

Seven players hit double figures for the winners, with Everett Walterhouse leading the way with 31.

Armed Robber Shot in Detroit; 3d in Five Days

DETROIT (UPI) — Another Detroit merchant, the third in five days, yesterday surprised a robber by shooting him.

Police said Jimmie Ray Johnson, 22, was hospitalized under guard with a leg wound today awaiting arraignment on charges of armed robbery.

A gasoline station attendant, Verlin Dooley, 32, told police he shot Johnson after a gunman and a companion forced him to give them $167.

21 Medals Go to Pilot Today

State Air Hero Leaves Moustache in Vietnam

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. (AP) — Capt. Warren L. Foltz grew a handlebar moustache and won at least 23 medals during a year in Vietnam as an Air Force pilot.

He gets 21 of the medals in ceremonies today at this air force base, but he left the moustache in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

Foltz already has two South Vietnamese government medals — a Gallantry Cross and Silver Star and the Air Gallantry Cross with bronze wings. He also has been recommended for a Silver Star in addition to the other U.S. awards he'll receive today from Maj. Gen. Richard P. Klocko, commander of the Air Force Communications Service.

His box score: the two South Vietnamese awards, 16 Air Medals, three Distinguished Flying Crosses, the Bronze Star and the Purple Heart.

389 MISSIONS

The Air Medals represent 389 combat missions.

"Maybe those combat missions don't sound like too many," said Foltz, 29, a native of Mount Pleasant, Mich. "but my squadron flew the C123 transport on defoliation runs.

"That means our pilot brought the plane in over the trees from five to 200 feet above them to spray the chemical. We sprayed areas of known Vietcong infestation or known supply routes. We were real good targets and most of the time those ground gunners didn't miss."

The plane that carried the crew of which Foltz was a member sustained about 107 hits from rifle, machine-gun and cannon fire during his tour in 1966.

Postman Tops Paint-LBJ Contest

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Carl Bieber, a 37-year-old mailman, has won first prize in a Paint-the-President contest—and may be forgiven a slight case of the jitters.

Bieber's boss, Lyndon B. Johnson, is said to have dismissed a recent effort by professional artist Peter Hurd as "the ugliest thing I ever saw."

★ ★ ★

The North Platte, Neb., postman executed his portrait in ink and enamel on a plastic background. It was judged best of more than 1,550 entries received by the Omaha World-Herald, the contest sponsor, and won a $50 prize.

★ ★ ★

The contest was prompted by the recent White House rejection of the portrait by Hurd, who had received a $6,000 retainer from the White House Historical Association. Hurd said the President described the result as ugly, and that Mrs. Johnson didn't like it either.

POSTER

The runner-up in the World-Herald contest was a switch on a famous World War I recruiting poster in which Uncle Sam pointed a finger at the viewer above the caption "I want you." In the contest version, by Steven McCoy, 21, an Omaha art student, LBJ replaces Uncle Sam and demands recruits for the administration's Great Society.

★ ★ ★

Contestants ranged in age from 5 to 93, and entries were executed in everything from topsoil to oils.

Mrs. E. M. Hohfeld of Alliance, Neb., stitched a portrait on cloth with a sewing machine. Fifth-graders at Omaha's Highland School produced one made out of playground mud.

Out of Rough Into the Trap

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Police spotted three men in skin diving gear emerging from the rough near the Canyon Country Club golf course Monday.

In the men's car officers found three gunny sacks filled with golf balls.

Gary Philip McClaim, 25, Ellis Elmer Edwards, 35, and Paul Leonard McKinsey, 33, all of Ontario, Calif., were booked for investigation of stolen property.

One of the three carried a business card from the "Used Golf Ball Company," a policeman said.

Purse Snatcher Makes the Films . . . Also Prison

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A man whose get away was photographed in color by a television cameraman pleaded guilty in Common Pleas Court Monday to a robbery charge.

Ronald Millinger, 20, Cincinnati, admitted grabbing a purse containing $225 in cash and money orders from Norma Taylor last Jan. 19.

Cameraman Robert Harrison of WCPO-TV was in the neighborhood and photographed Millinger when he saw him running and heard Mrs. Taylor screaming.

The prosecutor's office said Millinger was arrested after police viewed the film.

Army Cooks Dish Out SOS to European Chefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army cooks — who sometimes call coffee "battery acid" and oatmeal "flue" — are getting gourmet lessons from European chefs.

"We're trying to change the historical image," said M. Sgt. Carlton Brown of the Pentagon. "The amazing thing has been what an Army cook can do to make mother's basic cooking ingredients look like salvage from a garbage can.

"We're not particularly intersted that they learn to cook filets. They don't serve them anyway," he said today. "But they do serve a type of New York cut beef and we want them to know how to make it palatable — less like something to sole shoes with."

The battle plan, thus far limited to the Washington area, calls for a group of Army cooks to study eight weeks with European chefs in major hotels.

Chefs, accustomed to four to eight year apprenticeships, are skeptical.

'IT WAS A DISASTER'

"Once I was hired by the Army to observe a kitchen," said chef Josef F. Schafers of Cologne, Germany. "After a week I reported in. It was fantastic. 'What are we doing wrong?' they asked. Wrong!' I said, 'What are you doing right?'

"From a professional standpoint, it was disaster," Schafers recalls. "If all that had happened in my kitchen, I'd have blown it up."

★ ★ ★

But Schafers has hope. He has Spec. 5 Harold Root, 24, of Portland, Ore., and Spec. 4 Albert Johnson, 33, of Guttenberg, N.J., working in his Washington Hilton kitchens.

Root enlisted in the Army to be a mechanic. He was placed in supply school and flunked out. Then came cooking school. "In cooking school, you don't flunk out," he noted.

ON A DIET

So far he has cut himself 12 times with knives, bought a gourmet encyclopedia and is on a diet.

Johnson, just back from a tour of cook duty in Vietnam, admits much of his new knowledge will be useless in the army. But he feels the art of garnishing — making food look better — should be helpful as a "cover-up."

"The main thing," he said, "is that we're inspired."

PINNED DOWN — Vietcong sniper fire pins down U.S. soldiers as they crouch in a dike after landing about one and a half miles from the Cambodian border. These troops, of the 1st Infantry Division, had just landed to help block off the border against the Vietcong escape during Operation Junction City. The area is about 75 miles northwest of Saigon.

3 Nursing Homes off Medicaid Rolls

LANSING (UPI) — The operator of three nursing homes in the Detroit area notified Michigan officials yesterday he was pulling out of Medicaid programs rather than provide financial information to help the state set his rates.

At least half a dozen other nursing home owners were also reportedly considering dropping out of the program for the same reason.

In separate telegrams to Gov. Romney and the Department of Social Services, Lloyd Johnson asked that the names of 41 patients in his three Whitehall Convalescent Homes in Farmington, Novi and Ann Arbor he taken from Medicaid rolls.

"We are notifying families they must remove the patients or pay our regular rates starting March 1," Johnson said.

His action apparently was prompted by a request from the department last week to supply operating costs and other information for use in determining rates for the Medicaid program partly in effect since Oct. 1.

SETS RATES

Under it, the state is empowered to set rates at its nearly 400 nursing homes and will pay half the cost of caring for elderly patients. The federal government will pick up the other half.

R. Bernard Houston, director of the department, said Monday that the state has continued to pay the existing rates since last October, but was trying to get a new rate schedule set up by April 1.

Little Sister, 9, Did Her Duty

LOWESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Army infantryman George Maddox is being assigned to duty in Germany and his 9-year old sister, Hettie, may have had something to do with it.

Recently, without the knowledge of her parents, Hettie wrote a letter to President Johnson and asked him not to send her brother, a private first class, to Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

"He is my only brother," she wrote, "and I cannot stand it if George got killed over there fighting."

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold G. Maddox were somewhat surprised when Hettie received a letter from the Department of the Army signed by Maj. Gen. A. Connoe, chief of personnel operations.

NOT ALLOWED

The letter explained that special assignments cannot be given a soldier just because he is an only son.

But it added: "Your brother's commanding officers have been asked to talk to your brother and help him to be assigned near home if he is needed or to be assigned to a noncombat area if he qualifies."

A few days ago the Maddoxes received word of George's reassignment from Ft. Carson, Colo., to Germany.
