Wagner Wants Facilities Checked

Asks Probe in NYC 'Blackout'

NEW YORK (U) — A full-scale investigation of the facilities of the giant utility firm that supplies power to New York City was asked today in the wake of a massive blackout that created chaos in Manhattan.

It was the second such breakdown in two years, and left five hours of millions of Manhattanites without electricity for 4 1/2 hours on the hottest June 13 in the city's history.

Mayor Robert Wagner asked Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and the State Public Service Commission to make a thorough investigation of the adequacy of the equipment of Consolidated Edison Co. and its "safety factors" against emergencies.

The inquiry should include power services "both as presently in existence or planned for the future," he said. He called the repeated power failures "frightening," and said the city "lives, eats and virtually breathes on power."

City government agencies, as well as 8 million individual consumers, buy power from the utility, he said, but the city has no power to regulate or investigate the company, this power being properly vested in the state.

Meanwhile, the PSC, which has authority to fix rates and investigate adequacy of plant and equipment, already had started an inquiry into the particular crisis to find out what caused it.

"SWEEPING STUDY"

But the mayor's request seemed to call for a more sweeping study, involving over-all electric service now and in years ahead, as demands for power mount.

The PSC had a crew of three engineers, under its chief electrical engineer Harold L. Colbert, looking into Tuesday's breakdown, but the mayor said if the commission doesn't have enough engineers to make a broad investigation, it should hire an outside firm to help.

From skyscraper peak to subway bottom — and in between — citizens of this always-crumpled metropolis were snarled in the vivid example of electricity's value to modern man.

CRITICAL TIME

The power went out just as the mammoth office buildings began pouring their tens of thousands into the streets.

Riders were trapped in elevators for up to three hours. Passengers were stranded below ground in subways. Passengers emerged from both, shaken and dripping with perspiration.

"It was like a steam bath," said a patrolman coming out of a subway.

Motel Planned in Waterford

$175,000 Project to Be at Dixie and Telegraph, Contain 50 Units

A building permit for a $175,000 motel at Dixie Highway and Telegraph Road in Waterford Township has been issued to the Unity Distributing Co. of Detroit.

Most of the 50 units will face west to the rear of the building, with parking space for each unit. There will be an office in the center of the inner court; each unit will have from one to four rooms.

Black-top driveways will lead from the motel to Dixie Highway on the northwest and to Telegraph Road on the southeast side of the motel.

Soundproof walls, with fireproof construction will be used in the cement-block-and-brick building.

A heated swimming pool at the motel, and all contractors used in the construction will be local, according to the owners, Samuel Hoffman, company president; H. O. Barsky and Jack L. Greenblatt. The company is located at 13501 Warming St.

Ground breaking will take place within two weeks, Hoffman said.

MRS. JOSEPH FOX

Mrs. Joseph Fox Named to Head Area UF Drive

Mrs. Joseph Fox has been named Pontiac chairman of the 1961 Pontiac Area United Fund Campaign Drive.

Announcement of Mrs. Fox's appointment was made yesterday by Mrs. Walter Nofsinger, Women's Division campaign chairman of this year's drive. Mrs. Fox, of 240 Starr St., will lead the more than 1,200 women who will work on the 1961 campaign in the Pontiac area.

Mrs. Fox, during the past two years, served as a district chairman in the Women's Division. Prior to that, she worked with the many women in the house-to-house solicitation.

In commenting on her appointment, Mrs. Fox said:

"The help of every woman in the community is needed to make this annual drive successful and with the same fine cooperation encountered in the past years, it will be successful."

"I sincerely feel that the Women's Division will attain its goal this year, just as it has every year since its origin."

She is president of Omega Alpha sorority, secretary of the Michigan State Extension Club 107 and a member of St. Benedict Church. Aside from being active in community affairs, Mrs. Fox has 2 children, Jeff, 5, and Jill, 2.

Queen Mother Injured

LONDON (U) — Queen Mother Elizabeth has fractured a small bone in one foot and will be forced to forego public engagements for several weeks, it was announced today.

A press statement from her London residence, Clarence House, said the injury occurred Monday at Windsor Castle. No details were given. The queen mother is 60.

In the event of inclement weather, the program will be held at 8 p.m.

To Stay Cool Thursday

Storm Chases Heat Away

Rain and Wind Wreak Havoc Across State

Trees Topple, Power Lines Snap and Tent Collapses in County

Pontiac area temperatures tumbled in the wake of winds and thunderstorms which swept across the state yesterday.

Spawed in 90 degree heat, the storms brought relief from the hot spell which had engulfed the city for the past several days.

Yesterday's rainfall in Pontiac totaled six-tenths of an inch.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts considerably cooler weather tonight and tomorrow.

Torrents of rain accompanied by high winds wreaked havoc in many areas.

The storm, which struck between 1 and 2 p.m., blew down a part of the huge press tent at the National Open golf tournament at the Oakland Hills Country Club in Bloomfield Township.

Power lines in Royal Oak were toppled by the heavy winds.

CLINGS 45 MINUTES

Raymond Champe, 46, of 501 E. Lake Dr., clung for 45 minutes to a wrecked craft until being pulled aboard a wrecked by two rescuers. They were Robert Whittigo, 25, of 123 Walled Lake Court, and Robert Novinski, 24, of 119 Walled Lake Court.

Another boat reportedly overturned on Union Lake. None of the occupants of the boats was injured.

An hour after the first thunderstorm struck the area at 1 p.m., the mercury had fallen 12 degrees to 80. In one half-hour between 1:45 and 2:15 p.m., it plunged 18 degrees from 86 to 68.

The temperature dropped to 64 by midnight.

At 7 a.m. today the mercury registered a cool 51 degrees.

Telephone lines in the Dryden and North Branch areas were knocked out for three hours early in the afternoon.

At Plainville, in Allegan County, a building of the Plainville Aluminum Specialties Co. collapsed under the force of the wind. No one was injured.

Two car smashups in Flint during a driving rainstorm took three lives.

Fair and cool was the forecast for tomorrow with a low of 54 tonight and a high of 79 tomorrow.

OPEN TENT AT THE OPEN — Two sports writers go about their tasks at the typewriters unconcerned that most of the huge press tent at the National Open golf tournament at Oakland Hills was torn apart by the severe wind storm which hit the county and state yesterday.

Typewriters and equipment were strewn about, but everyone managed to flee to safety. Thursday is the official starting day of the tournament.

Milk Bill Gets Swainson Veto

In Washington Today, Governor Asks JFK to Send State Arms Jobs

LANSING (AP) — The highly controversial milk price bill, twice passed by the legislature and vetoed by Gov. Swainson today.

Ironically, it was basically the same bill that the governor proposed in his legislative program.

Swainson, wielding his veto power for the 10th time this year, said the measure is neither "in the best interest of either the dairy industry or the consumer."

The measure "contains the potential for depriving the consumer of monetary savings that result from a truly competitive situation while providing no benefit to the producer of dairy products," he said.

In Washington this morning, Swainson urged President Kennedy to give special consideration to Michigan in defense work because of high unemployment in the state.

"I am very much encouraged by the President's recognition of our problems," Swainson told newsmen later.

Anything Goes at the Open

By BRUNO KEARNS
Pontiac Press Sports Editor

Anything can happen in the National Open golf tournament, not only on the course but even with respect to the weather.

Yesterday's severe windstorm which ripped open the roof and tore the huge press tent from its stakes at Oakland Hills Country Club, where the 61st USGA tourney is being held this week, brought recollections to many of the scribes of the weather conditions which have hampered the tourney in the past five years.

In 1947, at Inverness in Toledo, a tornado-like electrical storm on the opening day, made shambles of the temporary structures on the course.

Writers stood ankle-deep in water around the press tent holding down the stakes as the wind threatened to blow the giant canvas covering right off the course.

A year later at Mamaroneck in New York, another giant rainstorm forced the final 18 holes to go another day.

Hundreds of cars had to be towed out of a quagmire of mud in tournament parking areas, and electricity was off for a long period of time.

In Tulsa the next year it wasn't the rain and storm but the tremendous heat and humidity, with temperatures in the high 90s, that caused contestants, writers and spectators to go as far as hoping for rain.

WRITERS RUN

Yesterday damage was not as extensive, however it forced a check and rewiring of some of the electrical circuits in the tent.

There were about 20 typewriters in the tent when the storm struck about 1:45 p.m. All took shelter in the clubhouse.

Many of the typewriters were drenched, and minor equipment and papers strewn over the grounds. An estimated 1,500 people were watching the pros around the practice areas when the skies blackened.

Says Freedom Rides Should Be Put Off

NEW YORK (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said today that "freedom riders" should discontinue their crusade in the south until the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) and the courts have acted to end racial discrimination in interstate travel.

At a press conference here, Kennedy reiterated that he believes the integrationists may be doing themselves more harm than good by press their freedom ride project at this time.

He said he expects the ICC to end discrimination on interstate buses within the next few months.

Of local interest, seven Oakland county golfers will be in the field, headed by veteran Franklin Hills pro Wally Barnes and youthful Gene Bone, Pontiac native who is the pro at Warwick Hills in Grand Blanc.

Pontiac Central math teacher Mike Andonian, three-time state Publican champion, made the field in his first try as an amateur.

Others include Bob Nodus, assistant pro at Bloomfield Hills, and amateurs Joe Grace Jr. of Lathrup Village, John Miles of Birmingham and colleague Pete Green of Franklin.

Host pro Al Watrous is also in the field.

The field will be cut to the low 50 plus ties after Friday's round, and the big grid is slated for Saturday's 36-hole finale.

In case of postponement or necessity of a playoff, the tourney will continue on Sunday.

Broomfield Will Crown Miss Centennial at Wisner

Whichever beauty is elected Miss Centennial when the final returns are in tonight, she will be crowned by Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County.

The coronation will be at the first performance of the Centennial Spectacle "The Pontiac Story" in Wisner Stadium Monday evening. Broomfield also will be present for the Centennial parade Saturday afternoon and will give the main talk at the dedication of the Pontiac Municipal Airport terminal Sunday afternoon.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., told Centennial headquarters he will be here for the parade but has commitments elsewhere on the other days.

The queen and her 10-member court will be determined on the basis of final reports of advance coupon sales for "The Pontiac Story."

Organizations sponsoring queen candidates have been selling the coupons, each one exchangeable for a ticket to the Spectacle at a 50-cent saving.

Today is the last day the coupons are sold. Spectacle tickets will be at full price from tomorrow on.

The deadline for returns is 8:30 p.m. in Centennial headquarters in the Pontiac Public Library. After the returns are counted, the queen and her court will be determined.

Bomb Algerian Home

ALGERIA (U) — A heavy plastic bomb today damaged an apartment building housing the nephew of Algerian rebel Premier Ferhat Abbas. An Algerian servant was wounded about the legs, but M. Lachrouf, Abbas' nephew, was not hurt.

Headmistress Leaves School

Jessie Winter Retires Following 39 Years as Brookside Guiding Light

By GEORGE T. TRIMBULL JR.
Hanging in her closet is something she always dreamed of owning but never thought a teacher should have.

Jessie T. Winter, captivating guiding light of Brookside School for 39 years, is retiring after 39 years directing the destiny of 800 boys and girls.

The headmistress now can take with her to her new home in Birmingham, a mild steel, gift of the directors of the Brookside Hills Elementary School and a reminder of 39 "time-of-my-life" years.

Development of these students—past and present—into mature adults will mean much more, however, than any fur piece.

So it is with her 14-member faculty. "I feel it is infinitely as important for the teacher to grow as for her children under her," said the lady whose eyes sparkle sincerely with every word.

Miss Winter, an experienced educator who loves to teach for the rich rewards her beneficiaries gain, is reluctant to leave the school with which she grew up. The end is never in sight as far as educating the young is concerned.

A LASTING MEMENTO—Past and present students of Brookside School, who will be leaving the school with which she grew up. The group is posed for a formal portrait. In the center, Miss Jessie T. Winter, first headmistress at the Brookside Hills Elementary School, is surrounded by students and faculty members.

Promises Ban on Foreign Units in Neutral Laos

GENEVA (AP)—Prince Souvanna Phouma, who wants to become premier of a neutral Laos, told the Geneva Laotian conference today that if his country becomes completely independent it never will allow foreign troops or bases on its soil.

"We will proclaim our neutrality and our desire not to enter into any military alliances," he said.

Souvanna, 50, came to Geneva with his half-brother Prince Souvanna Phouma, leader of the Communist-backed Pathet Lao rebels. Souvanna, a former premier called himself a neutralist and is recognized by the Communists as Laos' legal premier.

Burglars Get $200 at Furniture Store

Burglars have made off with $200 from a walk-in vault of the Thomas Economy Furniture Co., 261 S. Saginaw St., according to Pontiac police reports.

The burglary was discovered this morning.

Detectives said a steel fire door on the north side of the building was pried open.

After breaking into the vault, the intruders tried unsuccessfully to open a floor safe, according to police.

Before leaving, the burglars punched holes in several pieces of furniture with a pry bar. Police said damage to merchandise has not yet been determined.

Two Area Men Demand Exams on Theft Charges

Two Pontiac men accused of thefts have demanded examinations in Municipal Court.

Examinations of Tommy L. Walker, 37, of 28 Maple St., and Harry Joe Dunigan, 21, of 271 Voorheis Road, have been scheduled for June 21.

Walker was arrested yesterday morning by Pontiac officers investigating noises at Bagley and 178 Bagley St.

They said Walker was tossing car radiators and heaters over the fence of the junkyard. In a pile outside the fence they found three radiators and four heaters, and three more inside the yard by the fence.

Police said Walker told them he "worked by selling the parts back to the yard."

He was unable to turn his bond of $500 set by Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum.

Dunigan asked for a pretrial hearing Monday, after his arrest Saturday. He is accused of stealing a bedspread, sheets and draperies valued at $83 from the car of Eugene Bush, 26, of 338 Howard McNeill Street.

He posted $100 bond set by Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum and was freed Monday pending examination.

Child Should Be Happy

"Brookside has always believed the child should be happy in school because the happy child is the learning child," Miss Winter said.

The daughter of an Oak Park, Ill., salesman father and teacher mother, the headmistress has happily watched the school by the brook grow from seven children, a table and a piano—survive a depression when the doors were nearly closed—to an institution ranked high among the nation's elementary schools. There are today 221 students—from the kindergarten through the sixth grade.

It offers a music program "second to none" and keeps the body in shape as the mind develops in a gymnasium.

Miss Winter laughs when she says it is an overemphasis on learning just plain facts and so-called preparation of the child.

"There's too much talk about preparation," she said. "I don't feel Brookside is preparing. They are living. And what they are living today they will carry forward."

Jack Kept Injury Secret From Jackie

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today President Kennedy kept his back injury a secret from Mrs. Kennedy.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters he understood she first learned of it from stories in the newspapers while she was vacationing in Greece last week.

When Mrs. Kennedy found out, Salinger said, she sent a message to her husband saying she thought she should return to Washington to be with him. But Kennedy told her not to, he said.

Two Ship Unions Agree

NEW YORK (AP)—Two of the dozen unions involved in negotiations with the nation's major ship owners have reached agreement on a new one-year contract.

The International Brotherhood of Shipyard Workers and the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America agreed to a one-year contract.

Poor Benedict's in Bad With the Army Again

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—A man in a red, white and blue sweater appeared in federal court and pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to register the service articles and using another person's draft card.

He was given three years in federal prison for draft evasion. His name, Benedict Arnold, 33, is a name that lives.

Cash, Checks Stolen From Area Company

Sherriff's detectives today were investigating the theft of an undetermined amount of cash and checks from a safe at Datto Inc., 361 Auburn Road, in Auburn Heights.

The swimming pool service and supply center was broken into sometime Monday night by prying open a rear door. The manager's desk-drawer was forced open and a cash box in the drawer used to unlock the safe.

The burglary was reported yesterday by the manager, Lee Wheaton, who said less than $1,000 had been stolen.

Teachers Honor Adeline Hook on Retirement

Some 34 teachers gave a dinner at the Fox and Hounds Inn, Bloomfield Hills, Monday evening for Adeline Hook, retiring principal of Longfellow Elementary School.

Miss Hook is retiring this month after 44 years in teaching. She has been teaching in Pontiac schools for 41 years and has been a principal here for the past 20 years.

Dorothy Virtues, second grade teacher, presented Miss Hook with a set of luggage on behalf of the Longfellow staff. Mrs. William Cheal, elementary vocal music teacher, led group singing.

Waterford Fair Hours Crammed Full

Plans are being completed for the 17th annual Waterford Township Community Activities, Inc. Fair to be held this weekend at the CAI Building on Williams Lake Road will be an antique-filled country store, complete with cracker barrel. The antiques will be for sale. Gathered in the store are, from left: Margaret Ann Beattie, Mrs. Gyn Byington and Mrs. Mary McFarlane.

Plans are being completed for the 17th annual Waterford Township Community Activities, Inc. Fair to be held this weekend. Every hour, beginning at 6 p.m. Friday, will be filled with activity.

Twenty local merchants have reserved booths in the CAI building on Williams Lake Road, and prizes of portable television sets, camping outfit and a portable dish washer will be given away during the three-day celebration.

New streamlined furniture, as well as the traditional, will be on display. Buses, motors, costumes and jewelry will be shown along with howling alloy equipment and economical freezer food plans.

Deluxe rides will operate for children and teen-agers outside the building.

Reserve police officers will work with the regulars in keeping the traffic moving. There is parking for more than 1,000 cars on the CAI grounds.

George Romney, president of American Motors, will be a featured guest Friday night in an upstairs room in the building, where Republicans and Democrats alike may talk political and financial questions.

Carol Wolfe's pupils will present periodic entertainment on the stage, featuring dance acts and baton demonstrations.

TO CROWN QUEEN

The crowning of this year's CAI queen will be the highlight of the program, climaxing the fair's activities at 6 p.m. Sunday. In addition the seven contestants will be dressed in nightgown outfits and will be present Friday night in a unique choral set up at the CAI by Frank Williamson.

At 2 p.m. Saturday and at 3 p.m. Sunday, the girls will ride in a cavalcade of convertibles, and have a police escort through the township, ending at the Big Boy Drive-in for refreshments.

The present queen, Judy Brown, is graduating from Waterford Township High School tonight, will crown the new queen.

All proceeds from the fair and the canisters will be used for improvement and maintenance of the CAI. As manager of the building and its activities, Robert Bauer Rancho at Gaylord along with his in charge of this year's fair.

The Day in Birmingham

Regional Official to Talk at Soroptimist Banquet

BIRMINGHAM — Helen Merrill, lieutenant governor of the Midwestern region of the Soroptimist Federation of the Americas, Inc., will be the guest speaker Saturday at the 36th annual installation banquet of the Soroptimist Club of Birmingham.

Miss Merrill, a member of the Soroptimist Club of St. Mary, Ohio, will speak on "The Woman of Tomorrow." She also will be the installing officer.

The installation program will be held at the Shalika Ballroom at 6:30 p.m.

Taking office that night will be Dorothy Duplar, president; Nina Noble, vice president; Trudy Wend, recording secretary; Martin Danner, corresponding secretary; Jean Carr, treasurer; and Anyce Gillette, two-year board member.

Want Old Redstone to Be Trainer

By ROBERT IRVIN
UPI Automotive Editor
DETROIT—The government space agency is being asked to make the old reliable Redstone rocket the T33 trainer of the space age.

Chrysler Corp. wants the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to use the Redstone as a trainer for future astronauts, much as the T33 is used to train present-day jet pilots.

What Chrysler has in mind is a continuous series of suborbital training shots such as the one made by astronaut Alan B. Shepard May 8.

Shepard rode a Chrysler-built Redstone 300 miles down the Atlantic missile range, reaching an altitude of 115 miles in his historic flight. The other six men in the Mercury space program will take similar flights later.

But no plans have been announced for training any more than the seven men now in the Mercury program. And NASA now has enough Redstones to complete the planned flights.

IN STERLING TOWNSHIP
Chrysler has been building the Redstones at a plant in suburban Sterling Township. The company's bid to extend the Redstone space flights apparently is a last-ditch effort to keep the plant open.

The plant once had 13,000 employees turning out Redstone and Jupiter missiles for the Army.

But now the war rockets are obsolete and only 2,000 men are left to make replacement parts and modernize missiles still in the field.

The Army-owned plant is issued contracts through the government's Detroit Ordnance District.

A spokesman said the plant was supposed to end replacement production this month but it now appeared work would continue well into the fall.

A permanent astronaut training program would keep the plant's production lines humming. But it would be expensive, with each shot costing more than $1 million.

In quantity production the missiles would cost $30,000 with a like amount for the guidance system.

The capsule itself, which would range into the millions, could be recovered but the missile would be lost.

Chrysler proposed that instead of firing the missile over water from Cape Canaveral, the flight made over land from the White Sands, N.M., proving ground.

This would simplify recovery operations. The shot would be programmed for an altitude of 200 miles and a distance of 120 miles. The Redstone, linearly descended from the German V2 of World War II, has written many of America's space records.

The Redstone was America's first sizable rocket to be made operational. The Redstone served as the first stage for the Jupiter-C which put this nation's first satellite into orbit.

It was a Redstone which put the chimpanzee ham into space last January. To all, more than 60 Redstones have been fired, all but one successfully.

Centennial Week Events Listed by Day and Hour

The list was issued today by Stuart E. Whitfield, general chairman for the Greater Pontiac Centennial Commission.

The events scheduled represent the culmination of months of planning by the Commission and the hundreds of volunteer citizens working on various aspects of the giant celebration.

SAVE SCHEDULE
Readers should save this schedule of events for handy reference during the eight-day festival.

Don't forget, there'll be plenty of other fun in Pontiac not officially sponsored by the Centennial Commission. There'll be something colorful happening all the time.

And don't forget that during the celebration everyone is encouraged to wear Centennial regalia and old-fashioned dress every day to every Centennial program.

Following the schedule of events is full information about admission tickets.

SATURDAY, JUNE 17 —
"PONTIAC ON PARADE DAY"
2:30 p.m. — Centennial parade on Oakland Saginaw Street and downtown Saginaw.

7:30 p.m. — Centennial State Sing and Fifth Army Band Concert at Wisner Stadium.

SUNDAY, JUNE 18 —
"AIR PROGRESS DAY"
7 a.m. — Protestant Sunrise Central Service at Wisner Stadium.

1:15 p.m. — Dedication of Pontiac Municipal Airport Terminal Building.

2:15 p.m. — Giant ox roast for members of the Brothers of the Brush and the Centennial Belles and their children, as well as Junior Brothers of the Brush and School Belles at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

MONDAY, JUNE 19 —
"PRIDE IN PONTIAC DAY"
8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m. — Open House and guided tours at the new Oakland County Courthouse in the Telegraph Road Service Center.

9 a.m. - 5 p.m. — Open house and guided tours at the new Pontiac Public Library in the Civic Center.

2 p.m. — Dedication of the Pontiac Public Library.

3:30 p.m. — Presentation of a Michigan Historical marker at the Gov. Moses Wisner home on Oakland Avenue.

8:15 p.m. — Performance at Wisner Stadium by Pontiac Northern High School Band, followed by the coronation of Miss Centennial.

8:45 p.m. — Opening performance of the 1,062-cost Spectacle, "The Pontiac Story," at Wisner Stadium.

TUESDAY, JUNE 20 —

8:45 p.m. — Concluding performance of "The Pontiac Story" at Wisner Stadium.

From June 15 through June 24 there'll be Centennial carnivals on Cass Avenue, between Huron and Patterson streets in downtown Pontiac, and at Miracle Mile Shopping Center.

Every day of the Centennial, except on Sunday, June 18, the hospitality center in Elks Temple will register "Old Times." Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

On Saturday, June 17, and again Monday through Saturday, June 19-24, the Oakland County Medical Society will offer free Polio shots 2-4 p.m. and show a movie on "Project Hope" 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. in the McCandless Building at Pike and Perry Streets. There'll be free diabetic screening there 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

ALL ABOUT TICKETS
Tickets to the various functions will be sold at the door, but are available in advance at Centennial Headquarters in the Pontiac Public Library, 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., every day.

Tickets to "The Pontiac Story" are priced at $1.50 for reserved seats, $2 for adult general admission, and $1 for children's general admission.

A ticket to the Spectacle on any of the six nights it plays also covers admission to the preperformance that night. Tickets for the performance on Saturday, June 24, also cover admission to the finale in the beard contest that night.

The Spectacle will be performed in its entirety, each night. Spectators only have to see it once to see the complete show.

The box office at Wisner Stadium will open at 7:15 p.m. on performance nights.

If one or more performances of "The Pontiac Story" are rained out, there'll be special repeat performances beginning Sunday, June 25. Every Spectacle ticket carries a rain check for this contingency.

Tickets to the Centennial State Sing and Fifth Army Band Concert are general admission only, priced at $1.50 for both children and adults. The admission price covers both the vocal and band performance.

Admission to the ox roast is limited to those persons and their children, wearing the appropriate Centennial buttons.

Tickets to the Ladies Day luncheon, beauty show and flower show cost $2. Tickets to the fashion show cost $1.50.

Tickets to the International Tea cost 50 cents.

At the carnivals, there'll be a reduced price of 10 cents for rides during kiddie matinees from noon to 6 p.m. June 16 and June 23. Nominal prices will be charged otherwise.

Service clubs are handling admission to the service club luncheon.

There is no admission charge to any of the other official Centennial events, including the Centennial Industrial Show.

him will open at 7:15 p.m. on performance nights.

Graduates Fortunate for Their Opportunity

The 1961 high school graduates are stepping out. And they're doing it at a very opportune time.

Never before did graduates face such a favorable juncture of circumstances.

It jobs now are scarce, even that condition is in their ultimate favor.

For it is such conditions that brought about a system that makes their future rosy.

Never before was a higher education so necessary for a proper livelihood.

These are competitive times, and education is in the midst of that competition.

And never before was it so easy to tread the path to a higher education.

Scholarships are offered in such an abundance that most any high school graduate can qualify for one.

All that's necessary is the desire and ambition for that qualification.

We have right here in our own County the facilities for attaining that higher education. If you want it you can attain it — and live at home.

Never before were there so many lucrative positions open for those who get that higher education.

Freely admitting that some other nations are beating us out in the higher sciences and other top branches, every effort is being made to overtake and outdistance them.

So, our Federal Government, the various foundations and other sources are begging the high school graduate to come forward — and will foot most of the bill.

The opportunity is there, waiting for somebody to pick it up.

Hope Project Mission to Help Vietnamese

Reports say that our good ship SS Hope is due to arrive at the Vietnamese port of Saigon on Thursday of this week. Actually, the medical mission could not have come at a more propitious time.

From our observations we are inclined to feel that this evidence of American helpfulness may be more persuasive in putting the Vietnamese people on the side of the free world than all the rest of the military assistance; put together.

This is something tangible and good that the natives can understand. It will definitely help many of them. The results in many instances will be rapid and the native will feel better.

This year-long good will mission of the hospital ship in Southeast Asia is nearing an end. In the last seven months, the 15 physicians, 24 nurses, 30 medical technicians and all the others have earned the respect and friendship of many people and their governments.

The man hours of this hard working staff is tremendous. They have held 800 classes and lectures, treated 12,000 patients, performed 700 major surgical operations and greeted 30,000 shipboard visitors.

It will cost $3.5 million to operate Hope for another year, exclusive of the $2 million in Mutual Security funds that were used to refit the 15,000 ton one time Navy hospital ship. All the operating funds are being privately raised through solicitation.

The Project Hope, organization would like to send still more ships on medical teaching missions to Africa and South America if necessary funds are forthcoming.

The Senate eased the way for a step-up in this type of mercy mission of adopting a resolution June 1 supporting the establishment of a "white fleet."

The President would have the authority to establish such a fleet. —to rush assistance to disaster areas as well as to carry on a regular program of technical and medical assistance and training— whenever he feels that it would further U.S. foreign policy.

The Press feels that this program has great merit and that the time is right if the reaction of one beneficiary of the Hope Project mission is typical.

ANYBODY who is enjoying life commensurately with what it is costing to live these days is having a whale of a good time.

Centennial Items

Concerning the Approach of That Important Event

Celebration: An occasion that's greater when there's so much reason for it.

Consider the father of the Pontiac police force,

John Fitzgerald, who died 35 years ago, and whose career will be covered in our Centennial edition, has three living daughters, Mrs. May Gilbert in California, and Miss Margaret Fitzgerald and Mrs. Helen Rice of 84 Judson St., Pontiac.

A Centennial feature is a very comprehensive history of the Pontiac public libraries by

While we're fighting the heat, Graham Fordney of Birmingham calls up to suggest that the weatherman may get it out of his system before our Centennial opens, but points out that summer doesn't officially arrive until the middle of our celebration, June 21.

In a recent weekend when Michigan's highway death carnage was 32 lives, John C. Mackie, State Highway Commissioner, points out that no deaths took place on the state's freeways. But Detroit's freeways were crimson dyed, as usual.

A well known Bloomfield Hills resident, two have his name which will be given to anybody interested, who wishes for the present to be known only as "Always a Tiger Fan," wants to wager somebody on the World Series. He'll wager two box seats in Detroit against two box seats in the other American League city, (if Detroit doesn't win) — but he wants transportation paid both ways.

This column would like to know of any 1961 high school graduate with 12 years of perfect attendance—never absent; never tardy.

According to the Chairman of the Advertising Federation of America,

John P. Cunningham, the right to advertise doesn't include the right to bore. How about the present cigarette advertising?

Celebrating his 40th birthday is that rarity in the annals of husband of a Queen, Prince Philip of England, husband of Queen Elizabeth. I like The Associated Press description of him: "Aggressive, quick witted and in tune with the times, he has humanized the throne and the lovely lady who adorns it." In conversation with him when with their party on the St. Lawrence River in 1959, I found that his principal concern was some ugly marks on the side of their flagship, put there in passing through a lock.

Verbal Orchids to—

Mrs. W. S. Deig of 98 Palmer St., 91st birthday.

Mrs. and Mr. Robert E. VanMarter of Waterford; golden wedding.

Mrs. and Mr. George Krohn, 50th wedding anniversary.

Harrison Fringle of Drayton Plains; 83rd birthday.

Heart of the City Blacked Out

New York's Ticker Stops Beating

(Editor's Note: David Lawrence is about today, his column a victim of the New York City power failure. In his place, we present a recipe for chaos, telling how the big city reacts when the lights went out.)

By ANDREW WEISLES

NEW YORK (AP)—Recipe for chaos: Take the heart of a great city during the evening rush hour.

Shut off lights, elevators, subway service, traffic signals, air conditioners, electric fans, motion picture projectors, hair dryers, refrigerators, electric mixers, washing machines and all of the other electric gadgets.

The result? Ask several million New Yorkers. They tasted the brew Tuesday for the second time in less than two years and found it still terrible.

In a five-square-mile area of midtown Manhattan, it was as if somebody had suddenly pulled the plug on the hottest June 12th here in history.

Thousands stood sweltering for long periods in stalled subway trains. Modestly cracked under the strain, and many men removed their shirts. Others ripped advertising placards from the walls of the cars and used them for fans. Hopelessly snarled in the absence of traffic lights.

TRAPPED IN THE DARK

Mortimer Berl, 35, a happily married certified public accountant, was on one of the in-between ones — with two young women. When the elevator stopped on the 24th floor and the lights went out, he sat on the floor. After a while they began singing songs.

"Actually," Berl said, "we had a pretty good time."

It took more than two hours to guide people out of the 23-story Tishman Building at 605 Fifth Avenue. There is a cocktail lounge at the top of the building. Patrons of the lounge got a chance to count all 30 flights on their way down.

Earthbound bars did a thriving business by candlelight so long as the ice lasted. One enterprising tavern proprietor gave a free drink and a free candle to each incoming customer.

One midtown restaurant which was running out of candles borrowed some long tapers from a church.

SAME OLD STORY

Many hotels were turned into candlelit caverns by the blackout. Mrs. J. W. Watkins of Wastahg, N.Y. was one Hotel Astor guest who took the whole thing rather calmly. She and her husband had just arrived at the hotel, planning to spend the night there after an evening on the town.

"Oh, I guess I'm used to it," she told a reporter. "The last time I was in Puerto Rico was during a hurricane, and when my husband and I were checked in at another New York hotel last year we were stranded by the blackout."

Several Broadway theaters canceled performances.

Mary Martin and the troupe of "Sound of Music" performed with only two spotlights—hooked up to a separate generating system. "Make-shift" arrangements were made at other theaters.

New York Times readers got their first edition about 2 1/2 hours late. The Times' press run was interrupted by the power failure, and the paper was made up and printed in the plant of the New York World-Telegram & Sun. The city edition was an eight-page affair.

The Times was the only New York paper affected. Later editions printed on its own facilities ran to 40 pages but news and advertising contents were somewhat curtailed.

Most Broadway movie houses were evacuated when the power went off, but the Paramount Theater ran a silent film for more than an hour. The film, "Wild in the Country," starring Elvis Presley, wasn't meant to be a silent, but apparently sound is not crucial to Presley fans. Most of them stayed until the end, watching their star perform in dead silence.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Londoners Use Aspirin, Laxatives to Stay Well

In a survey of working-class Londoners, covering principally young marrieds, people with children, J. H. Brotherton and co-workers found (1960) that aspirin and laxatives were the most popular medicines.

Just as in Yankee-land, these poor, uniformed, misinformed or misinformed people think aspirin is a panacea, so they take it for "nerves," aches, coughs, "colds," dental trouble, menstrual disorders, rheumatism, headache, insomnia and backache.

Just as Yankee wisecracks do, misguided Londoners regularly dose children with laxatives, whether or not. Forty-four per cent of the adults, and 50 per cent of the children took laxatives to "prevent" illness rather than to relieve constipation.

Other medicines favored by the London Lady were "tonics," tablets purporting to be good for sore throat, "dyspepsia" remedies, eye lotions and balms.

It seems very odd to me that the report of this survey makes no mention of nostrums containing acetaminol (phenylacetamide), phenacetin (acetophenetidin), or the other aniline or coal tar derivatives, which are so widely used in America as fast relief for what ails you.

"These pain-killers are far more dangerous than aspirin, but the people who use them generally have no idea of what they are taking, because the name of the nostrum gives no clue and they don't bother to read the fine print on the label."

Recently a new clause was added to the stringent code of standards of the Proprietary Association of Great Britain, which states that no drug or preparation can be approved for self-medication unless it can be shown that it is safe and suitable for this purpose.

Maybe this explains why the report of this survey does not mention nostrums containing the aniline or coal tar derivatives. If so, the British people are to be congratulated.

One writer says, "For breakfast I eat a bowl of oatmeal with a tablespoonful of fresh ground wheat stirred in, a glass of orange juice, a glass of milk, a cup of black coffee, two slices of buttered toast, one-half grapefruit, a banana and a vitamin pill. Ben Told some of these foods do not go together. Please comment."

I could answer that any mixture of two or more foods is OK if you like it. But oatmeal, wheat and toast are virtually the same food — carbohydrate. I'd suggest excluding the oatmeal and toast and taking just a bowl of freshly cracked wheat. And the breakfast should include one or another protein item — egg, ham, bacon, fish, beef, orange, grapefruit or banana. Fine, but why all three?

Signed letters, not more than one page or 10 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is in the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Nymphomania Is Sex Camouflage

for itself. Women use it simply as a necessary means of sex expression, but that is their real motive.

For instance, few prostitutes or call girls have ever been aroused to a climax by their partners. They actually crave the money for the money that is their goal.

Nymphomania, as evidenced by Nancy, likewise is not based on a fondness for sheer erotic excitement, but on an inner urge to bolster the victim's wounded sex ego.

FALSE SEX PASSION

Nancy's problem started when she was 17. She had a large fibroid tumor which necessitated removal of her womb.

Nancy thus knew she would be sterile for life. And this became an obsession with her.

"I'm not all that of a woman," she kept thinking and she justified it during our interview.

When her deflated ego made her too desperate, then she'd begin to flirt with a man, usually a male until she had an "affair."

That would prove a sop to her sex vanity for a few weeks, but sooner or later she'd require another coquett to bolster her vanity.

She admitted that none of the 17 men had ever aroused her sexually, and she didn't even know the ABC's of marital technique.

So her apparent sex ardor was definitely not due to an erotic desire, but to a sexual complex. Her sex demand was thus above the sex.

Remember, every nymphomaniac I have ever counseled as a doctor has been similar to Nancy, with a mental quirk, rather than a prurient hunger.

Voice of the People: Congressman Broomfield Investigates Take-Off Film

(Editor's Note: Henry S. Booth of Bloomfield Hills sent The Pontiac Press request for an editorial in Chicago's American on the phony movie at Cape Canaveral to Congressman William S. Broomfield. His very interesting reply is reproduced herewith.)

I have checked closely into the situation with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration about the incident at Cape Canaveral.

Newspapers, television and press cameramen wanted a "dry run" of the missile launching, so that they could determine positions for their cameras, check lighting, etc. NASA complied.

The "dry run" was carried out in a light-hearted manner. Cmdr. Shepard was "launched" as well as a standby astronaut. When about to ascend to the top, the standby astronaut, a former test pilot and one of the cameramen engaged in a bit of a wrestling match because of sheer high spirits. Possibly the astronaut in question should be forgiven for this breach of dignity and decorum.

However, it would be a good idea if the editorial writer of the Chicago American replaces his ivory tower with a gantry tower so that he would have a better view of Cape Canaveral.

As for the destruction of the film, I feel that our newspapers would scream bloody murder and rightly so. Millions of our citizens and many more millions abroad had the privilege of seeing the actual firing. Any attempt by the Soviets or anyone else who attempted to twist these films for their own purposes could quickly be met with hundreds of feet of film, and we would gain if the Reds attempt such a blatant distortion of the truth.

I am still checking, but so far there has been absolutely no evidence to support the view that this tussle at the elevator was anything more than high spirits.

William S. Broomfield, M.C.

Says Handicapped More Appreciative

I agree with "Handicapped" 100 per cent.

My husband is blind in one eye. He's done the best he can, taking every sort of job in provide for us. He is honest and doesn't drink or smoke. That should at least be a start to let people know that handicapped people aren't freaks. They appreciate a job more than an ordinary person and work harder because they appreciate it.

There are a lot of employers who would be glad to give them a job if they would just give them a chance.

Mrs. Handicapped

Writes Concerning Swainson's Veto

Anyone who reads The Pontiac Press is not surprised by criticism of Governor Swainson's veto of the Unemployment Compensation Bill.

This measure would have constituted the greatest injustice in the labor force of this state since the Landrum-Griffin Bill. Those of us in labor unionism understand your interest in decrying the veto.

Your charge that the Governor vetoed the measure because of union influence is noted. And I can only surmise that had the Gov. ernor signed that bill, your paper, along with the rest of the press in Michigan, would have come out with the charge that the Governor was a puppet in the hands of the state's corporate interests.

When you plan for your vacation... Be it near or far away... It is hard to keep on waiting... For the final working day... There is something in your stomach... That keeps thumping up and down... While with high anticipation... You prepare for leaving town... And you're sure you won't be ready... Even in your sanest view... When you plan to consider... All the things you have to do... And just as the day is dawning... For your long awaited leave... You sit down and think it over and find you realize you were naive... But it is too late for grieving... So you bravely rise to the day... And you snatch up your belongings... As you go to wave goodbye... (Copyright 1961)

Some had suffered breast amputations. Others had scars from fire or acid, though not seriously marring their skin, but the victims overly magnified their defects.

Some had an amputated finger or foot, but all were actually bright, though guided into affairs because of their mental complex.

State Will Study Many Matters

73 Committees Plan Investigations in Year—Budget Is $149,500

LANSING — Michigan legislators will study everything from obscene literature to outdoor advertising devices to the deep-shaft mining industry this year.

Seventy-three special committees have been appointed to make studies and attend conferences before the 1962 legislature convenes in January. Sixteen are joint committees; the rest are made up either of House or Senate members.

The total budget was pegged at $149,500.

Lawmakers allotted $25,000 for a 16-member committee to study the operation of the nine state-supported colleges and universities. The study stems partly from heavy criticism leveled at the legislature for what educators denounced as an inadequate spending program for higher education institutions in 1961-62.

They also allocated $10,000 to continue a study of education from kindergarten through the 12th grade.

TO STUDY POTENTIAL

One committee was authorized to spend $1,500 to "investigate Michigan's outdoor recreational potentials and their exploitation." Other joint committees will study civil service operations, submerged lands and shorelines, rights of public employees and employees of public utilities, state administrative rules, governmental immunity, market research and promotional programs for farm products, the Crippled and Afflicted Children's Act, the State Budget Act, retirement programs, construction safety, higher education, the state highway program, the reasons for departure of the Norge Division of Borg-Warner Corp. from Muskegon, and Michigan's economic situation.

First Graduate of MSU With Straight 'A' Mark

EAST LANSING — One last "A" has made it official — that Ted E. Petrie of Lansing is the first student in the 106-year history of Michigan State University to complete all his courses with straight "A" marks over a four-year period.

The last mark to come in was for a four-credit course in German that Petrie didn't really need to graduate.

Petrie majored in science and mathematics. He will enroll at a defense department-mathematics research project at the University of California this summer and will take advanced work at Princeton University this fall.

Since January 1948 the standard weekly work hours throughout Australia have been fixed at 40.

Seems Line Was Busy, but So Was His Wife

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Hook and Line — John H. Hook and G. E. Line — roomed together while here on business from Dayton, Ohio.

Line placed a call to his wife in Vandalia, Ohio, at the same time that Mrs. Line was trying to reach him.

The result: Both Lines found the lines busy.

Ammo Truck Blast Wrecks Fire Engine

STOCKTON, Calif. — An overheated blown-out tire on an ammunition-laden Army truck caught fire six miles northeast of here today and resulting explosions knocked out a fire engine and gutted a gas station in the sparsely settled area.

No one was injured. U.S. Highway 99 was blocked for more than two hours.

The truck driver, Paul Howard, 47, of Reno, Nev., had time to unhitch his tractor from the trailer and drive it to safety before the fire reached the ammunition.

He said the fire apparently started from friction when one of the trailer tires blew out.

Steel pipes in the Pentagon building in Washington would reach from Chicago to Indianapolis or about 200 miles.

Aid to Michigan Offered as Lure

Democrat Says That Listening to Swainson Will Bring ADC Funds

LANSING (UPI)—A Democratic legislative leader today held out the promise of hard cash to counties in an effort to convince his colleagues they should adopt legislation asked by Gov. John B. Swainson at Thursday's special session.

Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski, D-Detroit, said the estimated $20 million in federal funds available to Michigan under a program of Aid to Dependent Children of jobless fathers would relieve local communities of about 70 per cent of their direct relief costs.

Meanwhile, agreement seemed near on one problem and some observers—Swainson among them—were hopefully predicting a one-day special session.

Swainson said the objection raised by some Republican legislators that county welfare units would all but be put out of business under the federal program could be circumvented.

The federal money can be distributed only through agencies which are on the merit system of employment under provisions of the law, passed by Congress this year.

Swainson said some 250 social workers, 27 administrative supervisors and 41 clerk-typists could be put under state civil service temporarily to comply with the federal requirement.

Kowalski said the big industrial counties would benefit most from the ADC program, but smaller counties would receive payments which would be large in comparison with their populations.

Nearly $3 million would go to Detroit and another $5.5 million to Wayne County under the plan.

Rent County would get $800,000; Genesee, $1.7 million; Calhoun about $300,000; Macomb $1.2 million, and Oakland more than $2 million under the plan, Kowalski said.

CENTENNIAL GRADS—The parents, teachers and pupils at Bethune Elementary School culminated weeks of cooperative effort yesterday with a sixth grade graduation that turned back the pages of history. Everyone, including the graduates, came in Centennial dress. Children wrote and delivered essays; Mrs. Jerome Harrison, professor of social sciences at Wayne State University was the main speaker; and Dr. Philip J. Proud, assistant superintendent, awarded graduation certificates. Offering a vocal interlude were (from left) Deborah McCall, 11; Alberta Marshall, 12; Alma Moss, 11; Benjie Williams, 12; and Elaine Mullin, 10.

To Hold Con-Con Introductions at Birmingham

The second in a series of three introductions to Republican constitutional convention candidates will be held at the Birmingham Community House tonight at 8.

American Motors Corp. president George Romney will speak along with the six Republicans seeking the 3rd State Representative District nomination and the two men bidding for the 4th District nomination.

Romney is opposed for the county's senatorial seat.

The first meeting was held Thursday in Pleasant Ridge and the third will be held Friday at the CAI Building in Waterford Township, and will feature GOP candidates from the 1st and 2nd districts.

Mansfield Wants Berlin Made Into Free City

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., suggested today establishment of an internationally protected free city of Berlin to avert an East-West nuclear clash.

Mansfield, the Senate's Democratic leader, said that if the world must live indefinitely with a divided Germany, peace itself requires that "Berlin—all Berlin—be held in peace and trust until day of unification."

Tractor Team Cools Its Heels

Expects Prisoner Swap to Be a Flop; Plans to Leave Cuba Thursday

HAVANA (AP)—U.S. negotiators announced today they will leave Cuba Thursday whether or not they get a tractors-for-prisoners agreement with Prime Minister Fidel Castro—and indications were they will not.

A spokesman made the announcement while the four-man American team sat cooling its heels in a Havana hotel, awaiting another meeting with Cuban officials.

It still was unclear whether they would get to see Castro personally. The group had expected to meet with the Cuban chief today.

The four nongovernment U.S. technical experts arrived Tuesday to work out a swap of 500 tractors for the 1,214 Cuban invasion prisoners Castro holds. In a two-hour meeting Tuesday, Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos stuck to Castro's terms which are unacceptable to the American negotiators.

A spokesman for the U.S. group, Duane T. Greenhouse, said arrangements were being made to fly back to Washington Thursday no matter what happens in talks today.

Publishers See Steady Upswing in the Economy

DETROIT (AP)—The nation's economy is on the upswing and things are going to get better, according to several publishers attending a meeting here of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

John W. Sweeterman, publisher of the Washington Post, reported improvement in his area saying "Washington is always one of the first to recover. It is neither an industrial nor an agricultural center. Its prosperity depends on the number of people employed in government offices."

Jack Tarver, publisher of the Atlanta Journal and Constitution, said "business is definitely getting better in Atlanta, which is generally a soft spot in the South."

Russ Stewart, executive president of the Chicago Sun-Times and the Chicago Daily News, said "employment is climbing, retail sales show a gain and advertising income is up. There's no reason why the trend should stop."

Public Swindled—Hart

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said today U.S. consumers are being swindled and to fly back to Washington Thursday no matter what happens in talks today.

Orders Edmund Hillary to Stay Under 16,000

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Sir Edmund Hillary, 41, is walking back to Katmandu, under doctor's orders never to return to the extreme Himalayan heights where he won fame.

Hillary suffered a mild cerebral stroke last month while in camp at 28,000 feet on Mt. Makalu. Doctors with the party, which had tried unsuccessfully to climb the 27,990-foot peak without oxygen equipment, sent Hillary to a lower elevation. Since then the New Zealander has been ordered to remain below 16,000 feet.

Asks Examination in Area Auto Death

Charged with negligent homicide in the auto death of a 17-year-old Pontiac boy March 13, Milford Mullin, 29, of 8318 Saline Road, Waterford Township, demanded examination when arraigned in justice court yesterday.

Orion Township Justice of the Peace Helmer G. Stasback scheduled an examination of the charge in his court June 27 and set bond at $1,000.

Mullin was involved in a two-car collision on Joslyn Road in the township that claimed the life of Donald E. Rawlins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glendell G. Rawlins, 701 Second St.

The youth and Mullin were the drivers of the two cars that collided.

Appeals on Con-Con

Bigger Push on Nixon to Seek Governorship

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Chairman William E. Miller has added some heat to the fire. Republicans seem to be building to get Richard M. Nixon into the 1962 California governor's race.

Miller tossed off the "personal guess" Tuesday that when the time comes the former vice president will decide he is the only man who can save the sagging California GOP by running against Democratic Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown.

views are unlikely to be compelling with Nixon. The defeated 1960 Republican presidential nominee is a man who is known for making his own political decisions.

NIXON HAS PLAN

But Miller aptly sketched the dilemma when the national chairman noted in a National Press Club speech that Nixon had pledged himself to try to rebuild the party organization in California. If opinion polls indicate that only Nixon could beat Brown, Miller said there would be "tremendous pressure" on him to run.

Nixon has fended off this pressure while he has tested out the reaction to his preferred plan to keep himself in the political spotlight. This involves the kind of speeches he has been making at party rallies, plus private efforts to get some of his friends into contests for governor's offices,

This strategy seems designed to keep Nixon free from entangling state commitments so that he will be available for another presidential nomination in 1964.

But much as he wants a second crack at President Kennedy, Nixon obviously has some primary obligations to California Republicans. If the advance surveys indicate that no other candidate is capable of defeating Brown, Nixon hardly can afford to ignore this.

Pre-Trial Conference for Ingo Is Delayed

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A pre-trial conference in the U.S. government's tax case against Ingemar Johansson was postponed in federal court Tuesday until June 30.

Assistant U.S. attorney Lavinia L. Redd told Judge Emmett C. Chase that testimony still was being taken from prospective government witnesses now in Europe.

The government claims Johansson owes $1,009,801 in U.S. income taxes. The Swedish former heavyweight boxing champ contends he can't be taxed by the United States because he operates as a Swiss corporation.

Hait's current population is about three million.

Caught by Pontiac Police Removing Auto Parts

Pontiac police today arrested a man they said they found removing heaters and radiators from cars in a used car lot at 170 Bagley St.

Tommy Lee Walker, 27, of 28 Maple St. has been charged with grand larceny and was to be arraigned in Municipal Court today. Officers said Walker was prying off a radiator from a car when they went to the lot to investigate a noise early this morning. They said he already had removed three radiators and seven heaters from vehicles parked in the Bagley Auto Parts lot.

The death rate in the United States in 1960 was estimated at 9.4 per 1,000 population, the 13th year in a row that it has been below the 10 per 1,000 mark.

Volkswagen Far Ahead in Foreign-Car Sales

LANSING (AP) — The German-made Volkswagen accounted for nearly half the 1,268 foreign-car titles issued in Michigan last month, the secretary of state's office reported Tuesday.

There were 605 titles issued for Volkswagens. Second on the list was the French-made Renault with 183, followed by the British Ford with 86. The Metropolitan with 63, and the Fiat with 31.

About 27,000 Americans become blind during an average year.

Rambler Production Slated for Argentina

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors Corporation has announced that Rambler "Automobiles" will be produced in Argentina early in 1962 in a joint venture between Willys Motors; its affiliate, Industries Kaiser, Argentinean and American Motors Corporation.

Tickets Moving Well for Centennial Fashion Show

show at Elk's Temple. Others are Mrs. Sol Neuhouse of Mohawk Road, Mrs. Ben Monson of Menominee Road and fashion show cochairman Mrs. Irwin Posner of James K Boulevard.

Tickets are going briskly for the Centennial Fashion Show next Wednesday at the Elk's Club. The once-in-a-hundred years affair will climax events of "Ladies Day," officially designated for mid-Centennial Week.

The fashion show which promises to be the most ambitious ever to be staged in this area is set for 8:15 p.m. Television fashion commentator Mary Morgan will present the commentary as models display fashions from Alvin's, Arthur's and Peggy's.

Staged by the Greater Pontiac Centennial Commission in conjunction with B'nai Israel Sisterhood, the show has been in preparation for months under the chairmanship of Mrs. David Saks with cochairman Mrs. Irwin Posner.

They have revealed grand prizes of a $200 glamor wardrobe from the three local stores, a lady's pearl dinner ring from Gerow's and an 8mm movie camera from Mark Davis Camera Mart will be among the many door prizes drawn for during the intermission.

ON SALE AT STORES

Cliff Weigand will play the Guiransen organ. Tickets for the show are available at the above named stores as well as at Centennial headquarters in the new library building.

Their captains include Mrs. Harold Blumeno, Mrs. Irving Koper, Mrs. Harold Lipshaw, Mrs. Ralph Merkowitz and Mrs. Abraham Tauber.

Others are Mrs. Morris Bletstein, Mrs. Sanford Conn, Mrs. Charles Ellender, Mrs. Jack Gambard and Mrs. Arnold Wine.

Completing the list of captains are Mrs. Abraham Avadenka, Mrs. Mitchell Bacow, Mrs. Edward Blumeno, Mrs. Leon Sirlin and Mrs. Irving Schlyestone.

Mrs. George Surowitz and Mrs. Morris Kampner have been gathering door prizes with a committee consisting of Mrs. Edward Blumeno, Mrs. Marvin Pinkelstein, Mrs. Charles Jacobs, Mrs. Belmont Kershenbaum, Mrs. Koper, Mrs. Merkowitz, Mrs. Jack Simon and Mrs. Tauber. Mrs. David Utley is program editor.

Carnival Planned at School

City and Country School for Gifted Children on North Woodward Avenue, Bloomfield Hills, will stage its annual scholarship carnival Sunday from noon to 6 p.m.

The school baseball field, decorated in a circus theme, will be the setting for the affair, sponsored by parents of the students.

Entertainment and games will be featured, with a supervised "hot lot" for small children.

Refreshments will be served continually, and an open pit barbecue will serve roast beef dinners.

A 1914 fire engine will take children on short rides, and a special show with four animal acts, formerly with a circus, will be presented throughout the day.

Along with rifle marksmanship demonstrations, the adults will find miniature car racing games, run by remote control, and a "night club" featuring entertainment, an auction and a chance to try for a three-day trip for two to New York. A bicycle also will be given away.

The carnival raises funds for scholarships to financially assist parents with talented children. Students of the elementary-junior high school represent a cross section of economic, social and racial backgrounds from the area.

The scalloped hem and festive polka dots on Marijean Tuel's dress from Alvin's receives the approval of ticket sale chairman and vice chairman Mrs. Michael Davis of Illinois Avenue (at center) and Mrs. Karl Berg of Orchard Lake. Only one week remains before the climax event of Ladies' Day at the Centennial.

Mrs. George Surowitz of West Waukegan Road examine some of the countless prizes which will be a feature of the evening. A capacity crowd is expected for this once-in-a-century affair.

Keep It a Military Secret

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 35-year-old widow. Until very recently I was dating a nice widower. He gave me a big rush and some lovely gifts. I was expecting him to propose and I really grew to like him.

Then he told me he wouldn't think of marrying me until he was sure we were "compatible" in every way. You know what I mean. Naturally, when he found out he couldn't get what he wanted, he stopped seeing me. I felt so hurt to think he was like all the rest.

I had praised him to all my friends, and now the question is, what can I tell my friends when they ask why we aren't going together any more?

DEAR HURT: Real friends would not embarrass you with such a cruel question. To the others, simply reply, "All is fair in love and war, and this is a military secret."

DEAR ABBY: My little 5-year-old boy is deathly afraid of dogs and cats. I can't understand how he got this way, but it is getting to be a terrible problem. He refuses to stay outside alone for fear a dog (even a small one) or a cat will come near him.

When I take him downtown and he sees a dog or cat, he screams so loud people run out of stores and even stop their automobiles to see who is being murdered.

I have to pick him up and carry him until the animal is out of sight. I didn't mind when he was smaller, but he is too heavy for me to carry now. What shall I do, Abby? He is driving me crazy.

UPSET MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: Take your son to a pet shop where he can see the newborn kittens and the tiny puppies. When he becomes more familiar with these animals, he will realize there is nothing to fear. He probably was terrified by an animal, when he was very young, and must now be helped to overcome his fright.

DEAR ABBY: I am Spanish and the custom of my country is to wear the flower stems up and the flower "looking down" when the girl is single. That means she is "looking." When the girl is married, she wears her corsage stem down, with the flowers "looking up."

TWO DAILY DELIVERIES TO DETROIT AND INTERMEDIATE POINTS

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice,

"Whenever I gather a full skirt, my threads break when am half way through. Just about that time, I am ready to give up sewing for good. There must be an easier way."

Mrs. K.M.

Fill a bobbin with either silk or nylon thread. Mark this bobbin with nail polish so you will know what it is. Keep this handy for use when gathering. These two types of thread are stronger than mercerized thread.

Gathered skirts should always be cut on the lengthwise grain of your fabric (this does not apply to border prints or embroidered fabrics which are finished at the hemline.) Determine the correct length of finished skirt, add the additional length needed for hems. Now seam all sections together, leaving one seam open for zipper closing.

If the skirt is 3 or 4 yards wide, it is a good idea to divide your skirt in 2 or 3 places, instead of using one long continuous stitching for entire skirt.

First row of machine stitching should be made on the RIGHT side of your fabric, 1/4 inch from cut edge, using about 10 stitches per inch. Second row of stitching should be 1/4-inch from, cut edge.

When starting a new section, begin about 2 inches back from the end of first stitching, slightly below first stitching.

Pull the bobbin threads together, for nice even gathering. The overlapping of stitches give you a nice continuous look to the gathers. You must fit your waist band on you for the correct size, now adjust gathers to fit waistband or dress bodice.

Next week we shall talk about gathering a skirt out of a border print.

SLASH PATTERN

"Dear Eunice,

"Please tell me how to add extra width to the back of a dress with raglan sleeves?"

Mrs. L. O.

This is a rather easy adjustment to make. Slash your pattern from shoulder to hem, as illustrated. Now spread the pattern 1/4 to 1-inch depending on how much too tight it is. In order to make the shoulder in the back coincide with the shoulder in front, take a small dart at back of shoulder, about 2 inches from neck line.

TRY FRENCH SEAM

"Dear Eunice,

"I would like to make a short evening coat out of silk organza for my daughter. Because this material is so thin, I am not sure just how to finish the seams. Please help me soon, she must have the coat for graduation."

Mrs. D. E. P. Silk organza is often used with no seam finishing. New use your pinking shears because of the transparency of the fabric. Seams may also be finished in a narrow French seam. Do not grade your faced edges, clip, or notch them. Instead cut the two layers of fabric evenly about 1/4 inch beyond stitching line.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY:

Under-collar. The under-collar is a term used by professionals, for the collar facing.

Soak Wool Clean

(NEA)—As a bonus to the homemaker, The automatic soak cycle on her washing machine becomes an ideal way to wash woollens with no danger of shrinkage. Shrinkage of woollens is caused by agitation of fibers while wet. This doesn't occur on the soak cycle.

Feel Compassion for Those Who Envy Us

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

Since my baby boy was born, my mother-in-law has become a problem I can't cope with. Though she's very fond of the baby, she criticizes me to my husband all the time. Last night he told me she'd said it was dangerous to expose Timmy to the afternoon sun.

Two days ago he was upset because she'd told him I wasn't taking proper care of Timmy's diaper rash. She criticizes me directly, too.

Answer: Ask your husband to tell his mother to check her suggestions with your pediatrician. If your doctor supports them, tell her you'll follow them.

But that's not the real answer, is it?

How much do you know about envy? Not too much, I guess. Well, in some people it's very deeply buried. So its operations are not clearly apparent.

However, a person who must constantly belittle us is pretty certainly sick with envy. If he's jealous of our having a baby, he will surely belittle the way we treat the baby.

In the envious person is such a profound dissatisfaction with himself that he can't help criticizing others in his effort to try and make them equally discontented with themselves.

The trouble with young mothers is their inexperience with envy. They take its criticisms seriously. Just as the envious person intends, they begin to suspect their competence.

Pressed by new responsibilities, often overworked and tired, they don't take time to realize how rich they are; to feel the wonder of what has happened to them when they feel the weight of their baby in their arms, watch him sleeping, smell him, touch him, bathe him.

It never occurs to them that they can become objects of envy to others who seek to destroy their joy in their new motherhood by trying to make them feel unworthy of it.

Sometimes, of course, in a situation like this we have to say

SHARON HOLLAND

MARGARET ANN REILLY

CAROL SHELL

Four Pontiac area girls were among the 117 graduates earning degrees at Detroit's Marygrove College June 7.

They include Sharon Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Russell Holland of East Iroquois Road, who was graduated magna cum laude with a bachelor of music degree and a Michigan state provisional teaching certificate.

While in college Miss Holland was secretary of the music club, a member of the Sodality and active in the college Social Action program for community service.

She was one of seven seniors elected to Kappa Gamma Pi, national honorary society for graduates of Catholic women's colleges.

Marie Lewandowski, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Lewandowski of Chickering Lane, Bloomfield Hills, received a bachelor of arts degree in sociology.

A member of the Juradiah Club for sociology majors, she also was awarded a Michigan state provisional teaching certificate.

A bachelor of science degree in home economics was earned by Margaret Ann Reilly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick D. Reilly of Whittemore Street.

As an undergraduate Miss Reilly was a member of the So Rhea Club, the Art Club and the orphanage group of the college's Social Action program.

Carol Shell was granted a bachelor of art degree in biology and a Michigan state provisional teaching certificate.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Shell of Josephine Street, she was a member of the Prism Club for science and mathematics majors.

Here's How to Keep Son-in-Law Sunny

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here's how to be a welcome guest in the home of a son-in-law. Don't—Tell your daughter in front of her husband how successful the man she didn't marry has turned out to be.

Don't—Tell your son-in-law that your daughter is working entirely too hard.

Don't—Make your daughter dissatisfied with the kind of life she is leading.

Don't—Jump to your daughter's defense if her husband criticizes something she does.

Don't—Encourage your daughter to go downtown and spend more money than she can afford on clothes simply because you always saw to it that she had everything she wanted when she was at home. Don't—Buy your daughter something expensive that her husband has been promising to buy her as soon as he can manage.

Don't—Show your disappointment when your grandchildren are disciplined by their father.

Don't—Boss your daughter around the way you did when she was under your own roof.

Don't—Gossip with your daughter about people and things in which your son-in-law has no interest, leaving him feeling that there are just too many women around the house.

Don't—Wonder about the soundness of your son-in-law's business judgment.

Don't—Fail to let your son-in-law know you're happy that he is what he is.

Good reading for both of you:

SARA F. HIGGINS

Sara F. Higgins will receive a bachelor of science degree in physics Saturday from Michigan College of Mining and Technology, Houghton. She served as class secretary for the past three years, former secretary of Pi Sigma math club and of the student chapter American Institute of Physics. She was named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Higgins formerly of Pontiac, now of Richmond, Va.

Club Ends Its Season

The Women's Auxiliary of the Italian-American Club of Pontiac held its final meeting of the season in the club rooms on North Tilden Avenue.

Plans for the auxiliary's participation in the Greater Pontiac Centennial-International Day June 23 at Elks Temple were announced by chairman Mrs. Joseph Spadafore at the Monday meeting.

Mrs. Ralph Puertas is chairman of the cookie booth, assisted by Mrs. Frank Sode.

Tentative plans for a rummage sale in the club rooms in early September were made. Mrs. Puertas and Mrs. Spadafore were named chairmen.

A family picnic for club and auxiliary members and their families on Aug. 21 also was announced.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Puertas and Mrs. Spadafore.

Open House Marks Silver Anniversary

The Marvin L. Smiths of South Shirley Street observed their silver wedding anniversary Sunday at an open-house arranged by their children Nancy and William.

Among some 50 guests were Mr. and Mrs. Miller Nichols of Waukegan Lake, Ind., and Glenn Smith of Wolverine Lake. Mrs. Nichols, sister of Mrs. Smith, and Mr. Smith attended the couple at their wedding.

Committee Should Not Take Prizes

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Our Sodality gave a card party recently. One of the committee members held a winning ticket on one of the door prizes. The president asked her not to accept it, stating that it was not proper for a member of the committee to do so.

The committee member was quite indignant over this and said that inasmuch as she had purchased a ticket the same as everyone else, she was entitled to the prize.

There has been a good deal of discussion over this and we would like to know what is the proper procedure in this instance?

A: While it is unfair to the committee member not to be allowed to keep the prize she won, it would have been wiser for her to refuse it and have it drawn for a second time.

This is to avoid any possible risk of suspicion any might have that, as a committee member, she was able to influence the drawing in her own favor.

Q: I am going to be married next month and we would like to invite our minister and his wife to the reception following the ceremony. Do I send him and his wife an invitation to the church with a reception card enclosed, or do I ask them personally to come to the reception?

A: Invite him personally and tell him that you hope his wife will come too and that you are sending her an invitation. This will explain the otherwise seemingly strange invitation to the Rev. and Mrs. George Brown to the wedding he is to conduct.

Winners were George Armstrong and Charles Tucker. Tom Landis and Earl Waterman, Robert Larson and Doug Campbell and Dr. and Mrs. Earl Lutz.

DONNA CHILVERS

Donna Chilvers received a bachelor of arts degree in speech and English Sunday at Central Michigan University. She was affiliated with Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority and Alpha Phi Omega speech honorary and served as secretary of Central Michigan University Theater. Open house was held Sunday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Overstreet of St. Clair Street.

Marilyn Davis Is Wed in Evening Ceremony

Dr. H. H. Savage officiated at the candlelight nuptials of N. Marilyn Davis to David M. Taylor of Metamora Saturday evening in First Baptist Church.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart L. Davis of Mohawk Road, the bride appeared in white bouquet tulle with Alencon lace touched with seed pearls. Soft cabbage roses confined black fullness above the chapel train.

Flowerpetal veiling of silk illustrated a chapel bouquet of starlight-roses and feathered carnations completed her ensemble.

R. Carolyn Davis, attended her twin sister as maid of honor wearing two-tone aqua tulle. In identical dresses were the bridegroom's sister Kay who served as bridesmaid. They carried pink daisies.

Karen Reh, in aqua nylon, carried a basket of pink daisies and miniature roses.

Seating some 450 guests were Dean and Mark Taylor, brothers of the bridegroom, sons of the Monroe Taylors of Metamora. Also ushering were Bruce Reh, Robert Brien, Dwight Bennett and Fred Townsend. David Farrell of Brown City was best man.

The couple left for Niagara Falls and Buffalo, N. Y., after the church reception. They will live at Lake Orion.

Bone accessories and corsage of Carol Aming roses complemented Mrs. Davis' lavender silk shantung sheath dress. Mrs. Taylor chose grey lace over pink tulle, and corsage of roses.

Allow 10 Minutes for Blotting Lips

(NEA) — Lipstick-smearing teeth can ruin the prettiest smile. So whenever you apply lipstick, check to make sure there are no smears. And check again after you have finished a meal.

Blotting lipstick with a cleansing tissue is one sure way to avoid lipstick smears. Allow about ten minutes for the color to set, then blot. Lipstick is usually set for three or four hours after that.

9 Tables Played

The Pontiac Duplicate Bridge Club had nine tables in play at Monday's meeting in the Elks Temple.

Winners were George Armstrong and Charles Tucker. Tom Landis and Earl Waterman, Robert Larson and Doug Campbell and Dr. and Mrs. Earl Lutz.

Others were Mrs. Tom Hollis and Melvin Small, Mr. and Mrs. Ericson Lewis, Ernest Guy and Dave Uley, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Malstrom, Al Rosovsky and Don Stephenson and Margaret McGuire and George Churchill.

The slim, long, shining patent leather bag is smart this season. Have one with a black-and-white-print-silk lining.

Lora Faulman Marries Joseph R. Scolaro III

Rev. Stephen Malurck solemnized the marriage vows of Lora Lee Faulman of Union Lake to Joseph R. Scolaro III Saturday morning in Holy Name Church, Birmingham.

Receiving at a breakfast in Devon Gables, following the double-ring ceremony, were the couple with their parents, the Albert A. Faulmans of Union Lake and Mr. and Mrs. J. Ray Scolaro Jr. of Birmingham.

The ballerina-length bridal dress of white silk organza over taffeta was worn with a Chantilly lace jacket buttoned at tapered sleeves and bodice with tiny pearl buttons. Fingert veiling fell from a crown of seed pearls; and a pearl necklace, gift of the bridegroom, was worn. The bride carried white roses.

Attending the sister were Mrs. Gene Johnson, matron of honor, and Audrey Faulman who served as bridesmaid with Mrs. Michael Ryan of Cass Lake, sister of the bridegroom.

They wore lilac organza with back decollete and veiled hats of artificial lilies. Pink sweetheart roses centered their bouquets of white carnations.

Michael Ryan was best man. Guests were seated by Gene Johnson and Joseph Colucci of Madison Heights.

After a Northern Michigan honeymoon, the couple will be at home in Birmingham. Mr. Scolaro attended Harvard University.

Cymbidium orchids, accented Mrs. Faulman's pastel blue silk organza sheath dress and Mrs. Scolaro, wearing beige silk shantung, wore lily of the valley at her shoulder.

Tips to Teens on Popularity

Just Be Yourself, Girls!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It would be downright unnatural if a girl or a woman did not find the admiration of the opposite sex appealing. Masculine admiration is heady stuff for a woman from the age of 8 to 80.

Certainly teen age is a period in life when being liked is extremely important to happiness. However, the very intensity of the desire to be popular may make a girl unpopular because it focuses her attention on herself. This makes her self-conscious. This, in turn, may result in either shyness or aggressiveness.

There is a new book called "Teen-Age Living." Its author is Nell Giles Abern and it is published by the Houghton, Mifflin Company. It is written in a most interesting way.

On the absorbing subject of dating Mrs. Abern tips the girls off to some basic psychology involved in capturing a young man's heart. Her list of helpful hints includes the following recommendations: "Be friendly but casual. Be yourself, behave naturally. Show that you are interested in him as a person, not just as a possible date."

POPULARITY SECRET

I always have felt that the most popular women are those who think of men as human beings they like rather than as possible dates or husbands.

Mrs. Abern also emphasizes the importance of good grooming. This list includes a daily shower or bath, a deodorant, shining, clean hair, a sparkling white smile and clean hands and nails.

She says, "Beautiful skin is always clean skin. A beautiful complexion begins with soap and water."

This is especially true during teen years because the skin is oilier than usual. Unless you wash it several times a day blackheads are almost certain to form. If you would like to have my leaflet planned especially for teenagers send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 58 "Popularity." Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Paper bills cost the U.S. Treasury about one cent each to produce.

Have You Tried This?

Cook a Cornmeal Base for Puffy Salmon Bits

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

We haven't had a fish recipe for some time. The one we have for you today uses a cup of salmon to make 6 servings.

Our cook is Mrs. Frank Reichert. She has a part-time job outside her home. She belongs to the Fashionette Club. One of her 4 children is married and she is the grandmother of twin girls whom she adores.

SALMON PUFFS

By Mrs. Frank Reichert
1 cup cornmeal
1 cup milk
1 cup grated American cheese
2 eggs, separated

1 cup flaked salmon
1 teaspoon salt

Cook cornmeal and milk in a double boiler until thickened, stirring frequently. Blend in grated cheese and remove from heat. Stir in beaten egg yolks, salmon, and salt. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites.

Drop by spoonfuls into a frying pan containing 1/2 inch of hot fat. Turn when brown on underside, allowing about 3 minutes cooking time.

Drain on absorbent paper and serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Exchange Vows in Auburn

Sallie Belle Anderson of Rochester exchanged vows with Robert M. Franks before Justice of the Peace Grant Graham Saturday evening in Auburn Heights.

Parents of the newlyweds are the Albert Andersons of Rochester and the Troyce F. Hudnells of Second Avenue.

JFK Could Be an Oldtime Politician at 52

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — If President Kennedy serves two terms, he'll look like an oldtime in world affairs when he leaves the White House in January 1969.

The reasons:
At 44 he is now 23 years younger than any of 30 major world leaders.

2. By 1969 most of them probably will be out of the picture. At the moment none of them shows signs of weakening, politically or physically.

But the three youngest are ready 67, or 23 years older than Kennedy.

Russia's Premier Khrushchev, Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan and Red China's boss, Mao Tse-tung.
If Kennedy and these three hang on till January 1969, then Kennedy will be close to 54, Khrushchev and Macmillan will be nearing 75, and the Red Chinese leader will have reached 75.
The oldest world leader now, West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer, at 85 is 41 years older than the President. By American inauguration day, Jan. 20, 1969, he'd be 93.

Here, in the descending order of their years, are the other six leaders with their present age and, in parentheses, their age on the day Kennedy would finish a second term, if they're still around.

Chiang Kai-shek, boss of Nationalist China on Formosa, 73 (81).
Antonio Salazar, dictator of Portugal, 72 (79).
India's Prime Minister Nehru, 71 (79).
France's President de Gaulle, 70 (78).

Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito, 69 (76).
Francisco Franco, dictator of Spain, 68 (76).

These next eight years will take a toll in men and no doubt make a change in nations.

In eight years Red China probably will have nuclear bombs. Up till now the Chinese Communists, lacking the power with which the United States protects Chiang on Formosa, have limited themselves to nuisance bombardments of offshore islands — no real danger to Formosa 110 miles away.

But once they get nuclear destruction, the picture in Asia will change, the threats to Formosa become more fierce.
Dictator Salazar of Portugal looked solid in his job for so long as he lived. Then natives in the Portuguese African colony of Angola began storming for freedom, killing as they went and being killed.

Angola seems bound to blow up before another eight years have passed.

French Renaults to Enter U.S. at Monroe Port

MONROE (UP)—The Port of Monroe became an international seaport today.
The port announced the signing of an agreement with Renault Great Lakes Inc. of Chicago making Monroe the port of entry for all Renault of France cars distributed by the Chicago subsidiary of Renault.

The Chicago firm is Renault's distributor in nine Midwest states—Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota.
Cargo ships will arrive at Monroe directly from French ports. Approximately 10,000 cars a year will be shipped to Monroe, which will be the first and only port on the Great Lakes used by the French auto firm.
Renault cars previously were shipped to New York City and moved by rail to the Midwest.

passed. If it does, Salazar may be destroyed in the ruins.
Nehru in India seems so solid with his people that he figures to run the show so long as he lives. But his presidency may not be so secure, particularly if the French problem with Algeria takes a new and savage turn or the army turns on him.

In Yugoslavia Tito looks powerful enough to stay where he is. So does Franco in Spain — so long as he lives.
It doesn't seem likely Adenauer could stand the strain of office until he's 93. Even if he does, some terribly tense days lie ahead for his country in the West.

To Hire Firm for Area Zone Plan

ROCHESTER — The Village Council here has agreed to hire a firm of professional planning consultants to draw up a master zoning plan for the entire Avon Township-Rochester area.

Acting on the recommendation of a special steering committee of township and village representatives, the council voted to pay Villcan-Leman and Associates of Southfield $6,000 for the planning project.

The council also adopted a resolution to establish a joint planning commission with Avon Township. The commission would include also members, four from the village and five from the township.

In order for the council's action to become effective, the same proposals would have to be agreed upon by the Avon Township Board of Trustees since the master plan would be a joint venture of the two municipalities.

The Township Board is expected to act on the resolutions at its regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. today. The planning proposals adopted by the council were the results of a seven-month study by the nine-member steering committee organized by the Rochester Area Chamber of Commerce.

Representatives Councillmen Roy Rewold, Donald Pixley and Jay Eldred represent the village on the committee while Carl Simon, Jack Fetterly and Township Trustee Wayne V. Holman are the Avon delegates. Fetterly and Simon both are active in zoning and planning groups in the township. Chamber of commerce members are Harold Juhl, James Norton and Harry S. Huber.

When the steering committee was set up last November, the only joint planning group functioning at the time in the East Oakland County area was the Avon-Pontiac Township Regional Planning Commission.

The regional commission had jurisdiction only over the 22-square mile area bordering Michigan State University Oakland.

There was discussion of including all of Avon, Pontiac and Oakland Townships and Rochester in an area-wide master plan when the steering committee was formed.

However, Oakland Township Supervisor Frank J. Voll Sr. said yesterday the Township Board in his municipality had voted against joining the proposed planning commission.

The possibility of being included in the master plan still is under discussion in Pontiac Township, but no action has been taken there, according to Township Clerk Greta V. Block.

Differences A master plan for Oakland Township, Avon Township and Rochester was under development by Geer Associates Planning Consultants, Inc., of Bloomfield Hills three years ago when political differences caused its dissolution. The plan was complete except for utilities and recreation. Because of the recent population growth of the area, however, it will have to be updated.

The village council selected the Southfield planning consultants instead of Geer Associates on the recommendation of the steering committee.

The council said Villcan-Leman would receive $3,000 a year for a two-year period as Rochester's share of the cost for planning. There also is a possibility that federal aid may be available for the planning program.

The need for unified zoning and planning was pointed out by the chamber of commerce, which said it was necessary in order to draw new business and industry to the area.

Sisters Betrothed

MARJORIE C. CRAWFORD.

JUDITH K. CRAWFORD

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Crawford of 2535 S. Hill Road, Milford, announce the engagements of their daughters Marjorie Catherine to Coast Guard Seaman Appren. Harl Kaufman Jr., and Judith Kay to George Johnstone. Judith has chosen Sept. 2 for her wedding date. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnstone of 1562 Pettibone Lake Road, Milford. No wedding date has been set by Marjorie, whose prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harl Kaufman of 640 East St., Milford.

Held for Grand Jury in Alleged Abduction

ARLINGTON, Va. — Three Detroit area men early today were held for grand jury action on charges they abducted a man who says he wasn't.

Bound over after an 11½ hour hearing before Arlington County Judge Paul D. Brown were John P. Vais, 41, Detroit; Charles J. Morgan, 51, of 1321 Maureen St., Madison Heights; and Eugene E. Ferrelle. Their bail was continued at $50,000 each.

The four men in the strange case, Donald E. Worden, 35-year-old, self-styled ex-convict, declined to answer 20 questions on a possible self-incrimination grounds during the 20 minutes he was on the witness stand.

The fourth man in the strange case, Donald E. Worden, 35-year-old, self-styled ex-convict, declined to answer 20 questions on a possible self-incrimination grounds during the 20 minutes he was on the witness stand.

Fred D. Herrington, 45, fell from a cabin cruiser in Anchor Bay while attempting to fix a windshield wiper on the craft.

He was accompanied on the fishing trip by Township Fire Chief Clyde Schmidt. His body was recovered in about seven feet of water by deputies who had been dragging the lake bottom since the mishap occurred.

Herrington, the father of three children, had been a member of the township fire department since it was first formed three years ago. He lived at 8000 Wilroy St.

Plan Special Classes for 6th-9th Graders

ROCHESTER — Special classes for Rochester Junior High School District students from the sixth through the ninth grades will be offered here starting Monday.

Three sections of sixth and seventh grade pupils are enrolled in a course dealing with the interpretation of current world events while 20 junior high students will take part in a science enrichment course.

Both noncredit courses will be held at Rochester Junior High School. A third noncredit course in remedial reading and arithmetic will be available to junior high students at North Hill Elementary School.

All sessions will start daily at 8:30 a.m. Transportation will not be provided by the school district.

College Project Fails Because of Two Districts

A special meeting will be called this week to decide the next move on the proposed community college for Northwest Wayne County, said Harold Fischer of Plymouth, chairman of the executive committee for the college.

The college proposal was defeated Monday when voters in two of six Northwest Wayne County school districts failed to authorize the establishment of a special college district.

School district voters in Plymouth, Garden City, Livonia and Clawsonville, which also takes in part of Oakland County, approved the proposal by a 2-1 margin, but the same was rejected in Redford and Southfield.

Approval by voters in all six districts was necessary for passage.

Parking Meters Will Go Again

New Group Assures Free Spaces at Lot in Milford

MILFORD — Parking meters in the municipal lot, replaced only last week after a three-year absence, will be removed again tomorrow to allow free use of the facility.

The 15 meters were returned June 4 after the local chamber of commerce failed to meet several monthly payments it was making to the village to insure free parking to shoppers.

Village Manager Oliver Taylor said a new group, Downtown Merchants Unlimited, has organized and will pay the village $500 a month to provide free parking to customers.

The Milford Chamber of Commerce had been paying $160 a month.

Spokesmen for the new organization are Donald Breen, manager of the IGA supermarket, and Ned Thompson, manager of the D and C Variety Store.

Free all-day parking will be allowed on Union Street, also, Taylor said, for employees of downtown stores.

He said this will give more room to shoppers wanting to use the village parking lot.

Infant Killed in Collision on M15 Near Davison

FLINT — Six-month-old Aaron P. Lansing was killed early today in an automobile collision on M15 near Davison in Genesee County.

The baby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lansing of 446 Lincoln St., Lapeer, and two other children, Christopher, 9, and April, 2, were injured. The Lansings were on their way home from a vacation in Northern Canada.

'Operation Abolition' to Be Shown in Troy

TROY — The controversial film, "Operation Abolition," will be shown at 7 p.m. Sunday at the John B. Evangelistic Center, Inc., 6640 John R. Road.

A program of hymn singing will follow the film presentation.

APPLIANCE BUYERS! OLLIE FRETTER SAYS:

DID WE REALLY GO OVERBOARD?

It's possible that we stuck our necks out by having such an extra large inventory of 1961 appliances and TVs this time of the year, however, we would really like to set an all-time sales record with several of our manufacturers for June. Whether we are right or wrong . . . you will come out ahead. Our policy: the more volume we do, the more savings for you. One thing is for sure, we can't afford to horse around, we have too many appliances on hand. We've put the pressure on ourselves.

Petition Denied for Nonpartisan State Con-Con

LANSING — The State Supreme Court Tuesday denied without comment a petition seeking to force the election of delegates to the state constitutional convention on a nonpartisan basis.

Clayton T. Hutchinson of Detroit, a Republican candidate in a heavily Democratic district, asked the court for an order to compel state elections officials and the State Board of Canvassers to show cause why the delegates should not be selected without regard to party affiliation.

The legislature set the partisan primary for July 25 and the general election of delegates for Sept. 12. The convention will assemble in Lansing Oct. 3 to start drafting a new constitution.

Hutchinson, a candidate from the Sixth Wayne County District, contended that the constitutional amendment authorizing the convention, adopted last November, made no mention of partisan delegates.

Australia's coastline extends nearly 12,000 miles and includes the nearby island state of Tasmania.

Proposes Census of Transportation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A key House member proposed Tuesday a new national census of transportation.

Hearings on the proposal were set for July 18 and 19.

The suggestion came from Rep. John Lesinski, D-Mich., chairman of a House subcommittee on the census. He said the nation faces a national transportation crisis, and that facts necessary for corrective action are not now available.

Statistics already are gathered periodically on some other segments of the economy.

Lesinski said transportation involves 20 per cent of the national product but remains "the industry nobody knows" despite many studies and reports on traffic jams and accident rates.

Dr. Paul Zahl of the National Geographic Society says there are some 450 species of carnivorous plants in the world which utilize some kind of equipment to attract, capture and digest small forms of animal life.

Twenty Men Training as Egg Smellers

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Twenty recruits for the Egg Smellers Corps—America's first line of defense against one kind of food poisoning — are training in Kansas City.

They must learn to detect spoiled batches of frozen eggs in commercial markets.

"We use chemical and bacteriological tests to support the nose, but the nose is still our main line of defense," said Alfred Barnard, district director of the Pure Food and Drug Administration, operator of the school.

Frozen eggs generally are sold in 36-pound cans. Barnard said chemical or biological tests can't determine if these contain rotten eggs.

"If more than 10 per cent of the 30 pounds is bad, it can be detected easily," he said. "If it is less, however, the smellier has a difficult task."

"Some men can't smell, just as some men can't see. We try to pick men with good noses."

"If they pass one or two bad packs, they can still be egg smellers, but if they call a good one bad, they are washed out."

Teen Cheryl Crane Still on Missing List

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Cheryl Crane is still missing. But authorities expressed little serious concern today, even though Lana Turner's 17-year-old daughter had been gone three days.

Police chief Clinton Anderson told newsmen late Tuesday: "We don't consider her a runaway and end element in a telephone call to a Los Angeles newsmen Tuesday. The couple were married at 3 a.m. Monday in a Las Vegas hotel. Kipp works for Los Angeles TV station KTLA.

The slender teen-ager dropped from sight Monday after leaving a note that she was "going away."

for a few days to think things over."

She was to be interviewed by a juvenile officer regarding an escape with two other young girls last Sunday.

Molly Bee, Cameraman Married in Las Vegas

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Singer Molly Bee and television cameraman John Kipp surprised friends by eloping to Las Vegas, Nev.

Miss Bee, who has often appeared on TV, disclosed the wedding elopement in a telephone call to a Los Angeles newsmen Tuesday. The couple were married at 3 a.m. Monday in a Las Vegas hotel. Kipp works for Los Angeles TV station KTLA.

OOPS — You might say the bottom dropped out of this railroad venture: An Iron River railroad track hangs over a cavity left when the used up Waucesa Mine caved in, isolating two men 11 days. About 10,000 tons of ore fell into the hole, which is 100 feet across and 40 feet deep.

However, amazement and then smiles crossed their faces as the mailman went to the dryer, withdrew his uniform, took it to the restroom, put it on, and then went about his duties of delivering the mail.

Space and missile system research in 1962 will account for more than half of the total military research and development budget.

Chilean Reds Demonstrate

Mob Breaks Windows in USIA Office in Protest of Stevenson

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—A handful of leftists smashed windows of the U.S. Information Agency Tuesday night, protesting the arrival of Adlai E. Stevenson as President Kennedy's special envoy.

In the most hostile incident so far of Stevenson's South American tour, about 30 demonstrators paraded through the streets of Santiago, chanting "Cuba si, Yanqui no." They rushed the USIA office, shattering plate glass windows with long poles.

The lone policeman on duty arrested one demonstrator, but the rest escaped, leaving behind a banner saying "Go home Stevenson."

U.S. Embassy officials said the demonstrators were Communists. Otherwise, Stevenson's reception was warm and friendly. Crowds of several hundred greeted him at the airport and at the hotel where he is staying in the heart of Santiago.

Stevenson planned to devote most of his time here to talks about next month's meeting of the Inter-American Economic and Social Council at Punta del Este.

Chilean President Jorge Alessandri already has endorsed the conference and has had his experts working on preliminary aspects for some time.

Stevenson's program called for a two-hour meeting with Chile's ministers of foreign affairs, treasury, economy, mines and agriculture at the Central Bank before a two-hour talk with the president. He also was to be guest of honor at a luncheon given by Alessandri.

Top Indian Physicist Dies of Heart Attack

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Dr. K. S. Kishore, 62, one of India's leading physicists, died today of a heart attack. He was chairman of the board of nuclear science, director of India's National Physical Laboratory and a member of the Indian Atomic Energy Commission.

SPAGHETTI MAGNIFIQUE—Smoked sausage links are the basic food in this interesting spaghetti sauce. Browned in hot fat, they are mixed with fresh mushrooms, sliced olives, tomatoes and a number of other good foods. Long-simmering blends the flavors together into one glorious sauce. Try it for a patio dinner.

Smoky Sausage Sauce Satisfies Spaghetti Lovers

Here's an entree that will really please your guests when it's your turn to hostess an informal or impromptu get-together. It's spaghetti with a sauce made with spicy smoky sausage links. You'll find that true spaghetti enthusiasts will endorse it as a favorite. For the recipe, you'll need 1 pound of smoked sausage links. Slice the links diagonally into pieces about 1/2 inch in width.

Cook the sausage until lightly browned in 3 tablespoons of lard or drippings along with 1/2 cup of minced onion, 1 green pepper which has been cut into thin strips and 1/2 pound of fresh mushrooms. One small 8-ounce can of canned mushrooms may be substituted for the fresh ones, if desired. While the sausage mixture is browning, slice 12 stuffed olives and measure 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt. In addition, you'll need one 8-ounce can of tomato sauce and one 1-pound 13-ounce can of tomatoes. After the meat and mushroom mixture has browned sufficiently, add the sliced olives, garlic salt, tomato sauce and tomatoes.

Allow the spaghetti sauce to simmer 3 hours. The meat does not actually require a 3-hour cooking period... instead, it is an opportunity for the ingredients' flavors to blend. This is most important. And wait until you are able to detect the tantalizing aroma of this Smoky Sausage Spaghetti Sauce. Here is an entree that cooks itself.

While the other buffet foods are being placed on the table, cook an 8-ounce package of spaghetti in boiling, salted water until tender. Rinse the spaghetti thoroughly and drain. Arrange the spaghetti on a platter, top with the piping hot smoky sausage sauce and presto... dinner is served. Don't forget to have the Parmesan cheese available for those guests who desire it. Depending on the appetites of your guests, this recipe will make enough for 4 to 6 servings.

Cherry Mallow Sauce

(UPI)—As ice cream topping, cherry mallow sauce is hard to beat. Drain 1 (1 pound) can of pitted dark sweet cherries, reserving juice. Fold cherries into 1 cup of prepared marshmallow cream. Chill before serving. Makes 1 1/2 cups. Use the reserved cherry syrup later as a sauce for tapioca or rice pudding.

Herbs for Tomato Juice

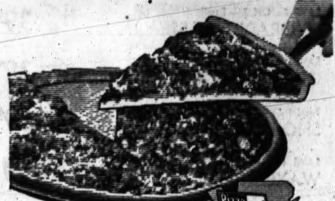

Herbs can add extra flavor to tomato or vegetable juice. Home economists at Michigan State University suggest tying dried herbs in a bag and letting them stand in the juice for several hours before serving.

Mix together chopped shrimp, chopped celery, chopped cucumber, shredded lettuce, a little minced onion. Moisten with mayonnaise and fill split frankfurter rolls.

To Marinate Shrimp

Marinate boiled shrimp in this fragrant dressing: Combine 1/4 cup Spanish olive oil, 1/4 teaspoon dried tarragon (or 1 teaspoon minced fresh tarragon), 1/2 teaspoon minced fresh tarragon, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon dried mustard and 2 tablespoons vinegar. Serve chilled as a first course appetizer or as a snack to accompany beer.

New! PIZZA WITH SAUSAGE

Slippy, Italian-style Sausage Meat in pizza sauce. A great new pizza treat loaded with sausage. It's peppier. Richer. Each bite has that exciting sausage-pizza flavor.

It's faster! Ready for the oven in 15 minutes. Complete, in one box. Nothing else to buy. Everything's right there... including lots of grated cheese.

Good. Good! Crispy! Crispy! crunchy outside. Tender inside... underneath all that tempting, tangy pizza sauce with Italian style sausage.

Olive Stuffing Good for Baked Chicken

Next time guests are over, delight them with "Stuffed Chicken Breasts." First bone the chicken so that nothing will get in the way of full eating pleasure. Then stuff the breasts with a flavorful combination of rich ripe olives, butter-browned onion, parsley and rice. Add seasonings; dip in egg and bread crumbs and brown well. Bake in a Sherry, cream and broth mixture, and serve "Stuffed Chicken Breasts" as a surefire party hit.

Stuffed Chicken Breasts

6 to 8 large chicken breasts
Olive-Rice Stuffing
Salt
Paprika
1 egg, beaten
1 cup bread or cracker crumbs
Cooking oil
1 cup chicken broth (or 2 bouillon cubes in water)
1/2 cup sherry wine
1/2 cup cream

Olive-Rice Stuffing

1 cup ripe olives
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1/2 cup (4 tablespoons) butter or margarine
1/2 cup cooked rice
1/2 cup finely chopped parsley
Salt to taste

With a small sharp knife, remove bones from chicken. Cut a slit, horizontally, about the width and depth of each breast to form a pocket. Fill each pocket with Olive-

Rice Stuffing. Skewer edge together with toothpicks. Season with salt and paprika. Dip each chicken piece in beaten egg, then in crumbs. Brown well in hot oil. Arrange in shallow casserole. Add broth, Sherry and cream. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) until chicken is tender, about 30 to 40 minutes. Garnish with parsley.

OLIVE-RICE STUFFING: Cut olives into large pieces. Cook onion in butter until soft. Combine with all remaining ingredients. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Clam Dip

An intriguing appetizer combination is prepared by placing on a plate a mound of 2-inch crisp celery strips and a bowl of Clam-Dip. To make dip: Add 1/2 cup drained minced clams to 1/2 cup sour cream. Season well with salt, ground white pepper, onion powder and a smidgen of garlic powder. Garnish with paprika.

Yellow rice: add saffron to the water in which you are going to cook the rice.

LOW CALORIE REFRESHMENT — The same instant sparkling drink tablets which create low calorie beverages can color and flavor gelatin salads, and desserts. Available in eight flavors, the low calorie beverages themselves may also be supplemented with an envelope of unflavored gelatin for a protein-enriched drink.

Sparkling Drink Tablets Cut Calories in Gelatins

Now that the bathing suit season approaches, it's time to keep an eye on the calorie. This doesn't mean that the menu must become dull. Unflavored gelatin molds colored and flavored with instant sparkling drink tablets come in a delectable low-calorie array.

Drinks made with instant sparkling tablets offer sweetness without sugar. The dieter can use the tablets in cookery or drinks frequently without making the calorie count soar. She can choose from root beer, cola, orange, cherry, lemon-lime, grape, hula punch, and lemon flavors. To make the drink, simply drop the tablet in water and await the fizzy development. To supplement the beverage with protein, stir in an envelope of unflavored gelatin. With the tablets you can, for instance, make Sea Breeze Salad, a chilled combination of lemon-lime instant sparkling tablets, assorted chopped vegetables, and unflavored gelatin.

Gleaming Orange Cloud is made with the orange tablets and unflavored gelatin, gets its cloudy effect by the addition of instant non-fat dry milk crystals. Lemon juice gives the dessert added zest. The platter on which you turn the color is the consistency of unbeaten egg white.

Sea Breeze Salad

3 lemon-lime instant sparkling drink tablets
1 1/2 cups water, divided envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup finely chopped cucumber
1 cup finely diced celery
1 cup finely chopped radishes

Dissolve tablets in 1/2 cup of the water in saucepan. Sprinkle gelatin over liquid in saucepan to soften. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat; add remaining water. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white.

Fold in cucumber, celery and chopped radishes. Turn into a 3-cup mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. Yield: 6 servings. 16 calories per serving.

Orange Cloud

4 orange instant sparkling drink tablets
1 1/2 cups water, divided
envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup instant non-fat dry milk crystals
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Dissolve 3 of the instant drink tablets in 1/2 cup of the water in last bill.

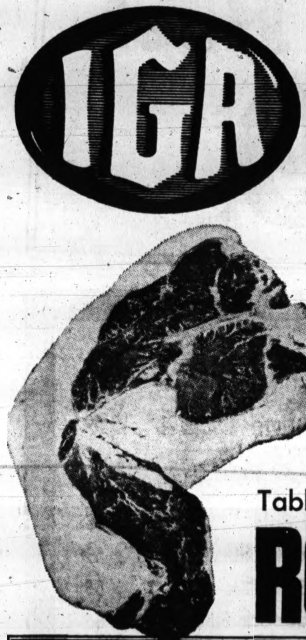

saucepan. Sprinkle gelatin or liquid in saucepan to soften. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat; add 1/2 cup water. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white.

Dissolve remaining drink tablet in 1/2 cup water in mixing bowl. Add instant non-fat dry milk crystals; whip until soft peaks form, 3 to 4 minutes. Add lemon juice; beat 3 minutes longer. Quickly beat in gelatin mixture.

Turn into a 5-cup mold or chill 5 minutes, then spoon into dessert dishes. Garnish with fresh orange sections. Yield: 6 servings, 34 calories per serving.

Apples All Year

Michigan stood third last year in apple production with a commercial crop of 10.5 million bushels worth an estimated $30.7 million. Among them is the old-fashioned Northern Spy variety which is as typical of Michigan as the Soo Locks or inland lakes. A new development known as controlled atmosphere storage, in which Michigan is the second largest user, makes it possible for you to have a crisp, juicy apple right now although the fruit was harvested in last fall.

BOUGHT RITE

TRIMMED RITE

We are constantly reminding you, "The Lady Who Pushes the Cart", of the tender, flavorful quality of IGA TableRite Meats. In the case of meat, as well as many foods, it is necessary that you begin with quality. The many IGA beef selectors buying beef in the various markets throughout the country choose only naturally aged, cornfed beef. This assures you and your family of complete enjoyment at meal time.

Naturally it takes a certain amount of fat to guarantee you find your family a tender, flavorful meal. But no one likes to pay for excess fat and bone on any cut of meat. This is where the men in your IGA Meat Department enter the picture. Their experience and schooling has given them the advantage of knowing just how much to trim off a cut of meat to allow for maximum consumer satisfaction. They are experts in preparing the varied cuts you see in the meat cases every day in your IGA Store. To add to the value you get when you purchase IGA TableRite Meats all cuts are weighed after trimming, thus giving you more edible meat for your buying dollar.

Disabled Veterans to Benefit From Efforts of Moms Unit

During Centennial Week you'll have a chance to visit in one of Pontiac's oldest homes and, at the same time help cheer disabled veterans in the state's hospitals.

Mrs. Harry Place, a member of Moms of America Unit 2 of Pontiac, will hold open house at her impressive 14-room brick home at 273 N. Saginaw St., at the southwest corner of Clark, a few blocks north of downtown.

While it is not clear whether the stately dwelling is 100 years old or more, it was standing there when the old Oakland County Fairgrounds was placed on the street and Mrs. Place has lived in it 30 years.

In the downstairs parlor there are pre-Civil War furnishings that belonged to her grandfather.

The open house is scheduled from noon through the evening hours on Wednesday, June 21. Coffee and cookies will be served.

Mrs. Place said funds collected through silver donations would be sent to the State of Michigan, earmarked for the aid of disabled veterans.

Lutheran Church Okays Merger With 3 Others

SEATTLE (AP) — The Augustana Lutheran Church Tuesday overwhelmingly approved a merger with three other national Lutheran churches in America.

The United Lutheran Church in America has already ratified the merger agreement. The American Evangelical and Finnish Evangelical Lutheran churches are expected to take favorable action later this year.

The vote here at the Augustana Church's annual convention went according to expectations.

Courthouse Officials LOVE Those Pigeons

County officials, about to move into a spanking new, clean white courthouse, are again perplexed by the pestering pigeons.

They don't like them but they don't want them hurt.

Robert E. Lilly, secretary of the board of auditors and coordinator of the move to the new building, wasn't too alarmed when informed that a 25-year-old Fisher Body Division spot welder had been trapping pigeons in the clock tower over the downtown courthouse.

"It's a standing sanction that whenever they get bad that the maintenance men should do whatever they can to keep the flock down," Lilly said.

"We do this without fanfare because it soon gets into a campaign of pigeons versus people," he added.

Pigeons apparently have won the latest bout because Lilly said Curtis L. Killane, 48, Emerson St., must stop trapping the birds if some of them are being shot. Killane uses them for training his two hunting springer spaniel dogs.

"We'll stop this," Lilly insisted.

Killane says he only shoots "some" of the 500 pigeons he claims to have trapped in a home-made chicken wire contraption underneath the ancient clock. He uses these to teach the dogs how to retrieve.

"The rest he keeps alive and uses over again, he said.

Lilly would like Killane to continue his trapping of the cooing creatures, but he doesn't want the humane society people to get up their dander if he shoots them.

On the other hand, Lilly can't help but think that maybe those perking pests might follow the employees out to their new building when they move in August. It's Lilly's dilemma.

Correll and Gosden Acting in Whiteface

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Amos 'n' Andy may have retired, but the longtime team of Correll and Gosden is carrying on.

The boys are starting a whole new career—in whiteface, so to speak.

"We even had to join the Screen Actors Guild for the first time," says Freeman Gosden, who played Amos and the Kingfish.

Charles Correll, the deep-voiced Andy, couldn't make it to lunch.

His partner explained: "Charlie plays a bear—a lazy bear with an eye for females. I'm a fox. They're both Southern, but not colored."

Gosden has enough enthusiasm for both of them, and he was excited about their new venture.

They are playing the voices of a new TV cartoon series, "Calvin and Colonel."

"I play a Southern colonel," said Gosden. That comes easy to me since I was born in the South (Richmond) and my father fought in the Civil War with Mosely's raiders. Charlie's family was originally from the South. He couldn't afford our show any more," said Gosden. "We were the last of the big-name shows to go."

People have asked us if we don't miss the glamour of it. We never had the glamour. We worked the same as if we worked for a steel company. We went to the studio on schedule, did our work and left. We were the only stars who weren't recognized."

They started in one film, "Check and Double Check." Their film career didn't progress beyond a couple of "big broadcasts"

"because we didn't look like the characters we played."

The creators of "Calvin and the Colonel" are Joe Connelly and Bob Mosher, longtime writers of "Amos 'n' Andy." The lesson here is: Always be kind to your employees; you never can tell when you'll be working for them.

Power made the statement in a renewed plea that the legislature consider increasing the higher education appropriation during its special session which begins Thursday.

He said that "because of this and other developments, supplemental action on the university's appropriation request is a most urgent matter."

Dear Friends,

Re: OUR NAME CHANGE

Twenty-seven years ago, in 1934, Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Association was granted the FIRST federal charter awarded a savings and loan organization in Oakland County. We are proud of this distinction, and feel that with it we acquired a definite responsibility. This has been the basis of our business philosophy these many years; FIRST in service and dependability to our many friends and customers.

Since the opening of our FIRST office the number of individuals and families we serve has grown rapidly and steadily. Your loyalty has been the means and the reason for additional offices of convenience throughout Oakland County.

We sincerely feel it is in keeping with the granting of the FIRST federal charter in OAKLAND County to identify ourselves with the entire area we serve. It is, therefore, with pride that we announce effective July 1st, 1961, we will change the name of our association to THE FIRST FEDERAL SAVINGS OF OAKLAND.

While our name will be changed, be assured that, all else in our operation remains unchanged. In all of our offices you will find the same friendly personnel, services and business procedures. There will be no change of administrative officers or directors.

It will be our continued pleasure to assist you in any manner possible.

Sincerely,
Board of Directors

Bass Fishermen Ready to Assault Area Lakes

Oakland Waters Rate Very High for Black Bass

Season Gets Underway Saturday on Michigan Inland Lakes

Michigan's fishing season "officially" opens at 12:01 a.m. Saturday.

Large and smallmouth black bass, royalty of the state's fishdom, become legal at that time. For a good many anglers it signals the opening of fishing for all species.

Because Oakland County lakes have gained a great reputation as bass producers over the years, these waters will be crowded with hopeful fishermen at the starting hour. Rental boats will be at a premium.

It is difficult to single out any lake in the county when it comes to bass fishing because there are so many good ones.

Pine and Orchard, divided by Orchard Lake Road, will be assaulted by large numbers of anglers. So will Elizabeth, Crescent, Watkins, Union, Upper and Lower Long Lakes.

Pine and Spring Lakes in Groveland Township are noted for good bass. Lakeville Lake harbors some hunks. The Huron River has produced some nice stringers.

Laws governing bass are the same. They must be at least 10 inches long. The limit is five, either singly or in combination with pike and walleyes.

Nightcrawlers will get a big play by bass fishermen. Surface plugs and popping flies will be very much in evidence. In the early hours anglers will be using the cast net again in the evening.

These lures will be used in shallow water along shorelines and sunken islands. As the sun moves higher, bass will retreat from the shallows, eat-balls and fly pads to deeper water. Nightcrawlers will continue to be plunked in the depths, but minnows and deep-running plugs and spoons will replace floaters and bass bugs.

Not all area fishermen will try their luck near home. This group will be attracted to the St. Clair flats and the marshes and reefs of Saginaw Bay.

World Pigeon Shoot-Off Won by Mattarelli

OSLO (AP)—Italy's Emilio Mattarelli defeated Francis J. Elsener, the 1958 champion, in a shoot-off for the world clay pigeon shooting title.

The 39-year-old businessman from Bologna hit all 100 of his birds in the third and final round to the Elsener's with a total of 296 out of 300. The 30-year-old American schoolteacher hit 99.

In the shoot-off, during a rain and windstorm, Elsener missed on the fourth of his 25 pigeons. William D. Abbott, of East St. Louis, Ill., finished seventh, with 283. W. C. Evert of Vancouver, Wash., fired a 97 for 281 and 10th place.

Lampreys Throw Marine Life Out of Balance

(A group of dedicated men in the Great Lakes are working to restore the Great Lakes to the state of the nation's fisheries. The lake is the fourth in a six-part series.)

By WOODIE JARVIS
Staff Writer, Marie News
Written for Associated Press

Beneath the surface of the Great Lakes exist vast pastures where marine life grazes, stalked by hunters who in turn fall prey to larger fish.

In these murky depths the basic food of plant life is nourished by the sun.

In normal times the lakes are busy factories manufacturing food, which is scooped up by commercial nets for the tables of America.

But now a great vacancy exists in the chain of production to be filled.

The vacancy is the place once occupied by the Great Lakes trout.

Only by watching the trout in the lakes can the balance of nature be restored to its former productivity.

For, of the more than 200 varieties of fish in the Great Lakes, only the Mackinac trout has the peculiar characteristics that make it ideally suited to thrive and grow big in the inland seas.

NATURE AT WORK

The chain of circumstances that leads to the trout begins with the sun's rays falling on the water. In the top 60 feet or so, this activates a process known as photosynthesis.

This is the means by which the energy of the sun is converted into starch and sugar, the basic staples of life.

There are formed into billions of free-floating, simple-celled plants called vegetable plankton. The plankton grows more strongly at the height of the summer sun, sometimes turning clear water into a murky green.

In Lake Michigan, where this process is best understood, there lives a tiny creature with many legs, brownish in color, about three-fourths of an inch long, called the phantom shrimp. It is a relic of the glacial age, related to ocean shrimp.

The phantom shrimp cannot abide the light. Throughout the day it hides from sunlight on the dark bottom, protected from the sun by the great depths.

But when darkness falls the phantom shrimp rises to the grazing grounds of the plankton pastures. There it feeds until driven to the bottom again by the coming of the sun.

In its turn the phantom shrimp provides food for other life. Feeding on the bottom, devouring the shrimp, are immense schools of small, deep-water chubs. In Lake Michigan there are five kinds of these chubs, but the lamprey destroyed the two largest types after the trout were gone.

SEEN FOOD

By day the chubs stay on the bottom. At night they rise with the shrimp into the upper layers.

In normal times the lake trout would be turfs feeding on the chubs. And then fishermen would harvest the trout, screening them out from other fish with large-mesh gill nets.

With the lake trout gone, the chubs have increased tremendously. When the sea lamprey is destroyed and the time comes to restock the lakes, this vacant place in the depths, more vacant with food than ever before, is waiting.

International administrators have pooled a dozen existing hatcheries in Michigan, Wisconsin and Ontario to restock Great Lakes trout, and plan to build another.

Annual lake trout plantings will pass the one million mark this spring and the immediate goal is 5½ million a year by 1964.

Experts believe that ten years of such massive plantings will restore the lake trout in the three upper Great Lakes.

Young trout, all marked by clipped fins, have been planted steadily in the lakes since 1953. Last winter in Whitefish Bay of Lake Superior, ice fishermen began capturing some of the early Gwynn Vanderbilt's 100,000 and C. W. Smith's American Comet

BIG BLUEGILL—This one pound, two-ounce bluegill leads its division in The Press Big Fish Derby. Holding the 11½-inch fish he caught on Lake Angelus Sunday is Frank Dennis of 397 Scott Lake Road.

Press Contest Bass Division Will Open

By DON VOGEL

Pontiac Press Outdoors Writer Saturday is another day of important for county anglers. Black bass became eligible in The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby. A $50 savings bond awaits the lucky angler who turns in the heaviest large or smallmouth bass before the contest closes Sept. 13.

A 10-year-old Pontiac girl held a 24-hour lead in the bluegill division. Sharon Hill, 313 Harrison St., caught a 10-ounce bluegill Sunday at Crystal Lake.

She brought the fish to The Press Monday morning. About the same time Sharon was catching her prize, Frank Dennis was hauling in an even bigger bluegill at Lake Angelus.

BIG BLUEGILL TAKES LEAD

Dennis, who lives at 397 Scott Lake Road, caught an 11½-inch, 1 pound, 2-ounce fish on a nightcrawler harness. He was fishing with a neighbor, James Schell.

Northern pike, rainbow and bluegill divisions of the contest have been open for some time. The heaviest pike is worth a $50 bond. The other two classes have $25 awards.

All entries must be brought to The Press sports department for weighing between 7 a.m. and 2 p.m. weekdays and Saturdays 7-11 a.m. The leading rainbow is a 3½-pounder caught in Schoolhouse Lake opening day by John Adams of Clarkston.

Oakland County residents are the only persons eligible, and the fish must be caught in county waters. Fish caught in private or commercial waters are not eligible.

PIKE BITING AT LAKEVILLE

John Bieds of Warren has been having exceptional luck on Lakeville Lake, according to reports from Pop's Boat and Bait Livery.

Bieds fishes the stumps area of the lake each Tuesday and Sunday. Using minnows, he has taken pike weighing 7½, 7, 6, 5 and 4½ pounds.

Also catching good pike at Lakeville were Jim Backus of Detroit and Bob Mason of Hazel Park.

The muddled spring weather has the fish in a middle. Bluegills are beginning to appear on spawning beds three weeks late. And bass are still guarding their nests.

The bass should be finished spawning by this time, but the fact that many are still hovering in shallow water indicates a heavy catch this weekend.

Tawas Bay Battle Looming Over Nets

OSCODA (AP)—Fear that a "full-blown, open war" might break out between commercial and sport fishermen in the Tawas Bay area has been voiced by Jack LaFeard, state conservation officer at Oscoda.

LaFeard made the statement yesterday in warning sports fishermen against "taking the law into their own hands."

He said three commercial fishermen reported to him that their gill nets just outside Tawas Bay had been slashed. He estimated damages at $1,000.

LaFeard said anyone convicted of deliberately damaging nets could be fined $500 and jailed for six months. He said sports fishermen in the Oscoda area have been complaining the nets prevent gamefish from entering Jewett Bay and present hazards to small boats and water skiers.

Rabbits Scored Comback During 1961-62 Season

LANSING — Michigan's small game hunters generally fared better during their 1960 seasons than the year before, estimates from the Conservation Department's recently completed post card survey show.

Only goose and snowshoe hare hunters came out short of their 1959 quota. Goose kill tapered off from 24,460 in 1959 to 19,340 while the snowshoe hare figure tumbled to 295,390, nearly 65,000 below the previous season. In both cases, Upper Peninsula kill dropped to outbalance hunter gains in the Lower Peninsula.

Cottontail rabbit hunters scored the biggest comeback as their shooting success jumped from 600,000 in 1959 to 1,191,480. Hunters in the southern Lower Pen-

Thieflets ties for Top Place at Tri-State

Overall Championship Special Shootoff Set for Next Month

Pontiac's Bob Thieflets must wait until the first three days in July to see, if he is the high overall titlist of the annual Tri-State Open Skeet Championships.

Thieflets broke 233 of 300 clay birds Sunday in the big shoot at the Chain O' Lakes Gun Club near South Bend, Ind. But he was tied by Marion Shields of Grand Rapids.

They will settle the championship July 1-3 in a special shootoff at the Kent County Conservation League during the Michigan Open Skeet Championships.

Larry Smith of Birmingham and Thieflets were on the Michigan Wreckers squad that won the team championship in the Tri-State. Other team members were Howard Confer, Jack Pattyn and Chet Crites, all of Detroit.

Suddenly, in the words of park manager Dick Hilligus, "The phantom struck."

"Horns honked, people screamed, campers went wild and a little black dog became a hero."

Hilligus said in his weekly report to state parks chief Art Elmer.

A big black bear, lumbering into camp in search of an evening repast at the garbage pails, touched off the exciting sequence.

Somebody leaped into his car and leaned on the horn. The bear, startled, broke into a gallop.

"He came full speed down the street, ran into the picnic area, nearly knocked down a camper's tent," said Hilligus. "This enraged their 10-pound fearless mutt, who took up the chase and sent the bear out of the campground, over the railroad tracks and into the swamp."

"The campers kept their food in their cars that night."

Chalk up another incident in the life of one of the men who run Michigan's 62 state parks and recreation areas.

Most of the time the parks staff is cutting grass, repairing picnic tables, removing dead fish from beaches, disposing of trash and garbage, fixing up boat docks, repairing leaky faucets, putting up marker signs, keeping tab on unruly picnickers and performing small game work the way, bagging 1,001,870 cottontails.

Upland bird hunters enjoyed an increase in their take-home bag. Pheasant take remained below the one million mark for the second straight season, but it rose to 974,490, some 50,000 above the preceding fall.

Although Upper Peninsula take fell by about 60,000 birds, the statewide ruffed grouse kill moved up to 380,320, highest on record since the department introduced its post card poll in 1954. Hunters in the northern Lower Peninsula harvested 194,330 of these birds while those in the southern Lower Peninsula took 54,870.

Even with the dip in goose kill, the waterfowl season bore better results than the year before. Duck hunters returned home with an estimated 382,290 birds as compared with 326,950 in 1959.

Woodcock hunting lived up to its advanced billing as 83,800 "timber doodies" were downed. This is another high on the 66-partners' post card records. Some 24,600 coots were taken, about 2,000 more than the year before.

Squirrel hunters had better than average success. Their kill totaled 763,050 as compared with 691,290 in 1959. The raccoon season stands as the third best on record as kill reached 197,100.

Small game license sales were up nearly 15,000, totaling an estimated 648,050.

57 Horses Nominated for Michigan Mile

DETROIT (AP)—Fifty-seven horses, including 24 recent stakes winners, have been nominated for the $50,000-added Michigan Mile and One-Sixteenth.

The race will be run at Detroit Race Course June 24.

Among those nominated are Alameda Farm's Mail Order, Calumet Farm's Pled O'War, Arthur Gwynn Vanderbilt's Idolizer and C. W. Smith's American Comet.

BAD CAUGHT IT—Gerald Tate, 8, holds the 3-pound brown trout his father caught last Friday morning on Trout Creek in the Bald Mountain recreation area. Gordon Tate is looking at the 19-inch fish he caught of a worm. The Tates live at 925 Greenfield Road, Orion Township.

"The campers kept their food in their cars that night."

Chalk up another incident in the life of one of the men who run Michigan's 62 state parks and recreation areas.

Most of the time the parks staff is cutting grass, repairing picnic tables, removing dead fish from beaches, disposing of trash and garbage, fixing up boat docks, repairing leaky faucets, putting up marker signs, keeping tab on unruly picnickers and performing any of the other endless chores that go with maintenance of a public park. But they never know when the unexpected will break into the routine to brighten the day or test their mettle.

Eighteen million people or more visit the parks each year. Strange things are bound to happen.

Hilligus had to cope with a teenaged game called "fill the penny balloon with H2O and heaven mightily at dry homo sapiens."

After a series of picnics last week, he said, the parks staff retrieved hundreds of spent balloons from picnic areas, parking lots and every other place where young picnickers wander.

Bill Cornish, manager at Bay City state park, had to call in state, police and Bay County sheriff's deputies when two groups of picnickers got into a noisy argument last week. Their kids started it and the adults joined in, threatening fistfights.

Here are excerpts from some of other Memorial Day weekend reports:

"Sunday brought a church picnic and most of the participants ended up in the lake, whether or not they had a bathing suit on."

"One of the girls was bitten by a rattlesnake. There was no doctor available so a tourniquet was applied and the wound cut and bled. Other mishaps required nothing more than a little sympathy and a band aid."

"One state trooper got into quite a lather over a couple flying a swastika flag on the beach. It is fun."

strange that I have never heard of a complaint over anyone flying the flag of the Confederate States of America."

"After standing in the road all day selling motor vehicle permits to park visitors, you can pull all 'dusty.' Sale of these permits leaves us very little time for patrol work."

Most parks managers reported that motorists are paying the $2 annual entrance fee with little grumbling.

Said Dennis Mueller, assistant manager at Brighton recreation area:

"About 20 per cent of the visitors never heard of the permit requirement, 10 per cent think it unfair, five per cent try to avoid buying it and the rest are glad to be alive and love the park."

Solunar Tables

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been prepared by John Alden Knight, Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times.

New Thought: Reds Develop Superman?

By The Associated Press

A supposed scientific adventure into outer space, a remarkable satellite, remains of science data, and an assassin bug are subjects for science at work:

SCIENCE FICTION?

Supposing it is 1975, and supposing since 1946 the Russians have been embarked on a super-secret Project C-2—a project aimed at developing supermen and superwomen.

This is the theme of a science thriller written for the Bulletin of the American Institute of Biological Sciences by R. A. McConnell of the University of Pittsburgh.

Supposing since 1946 the Russians each year had chosen 1,000 women of superior scientific aptitude and physical beauty, and these women conceived children by artificial insemination with sperm from men of similar attributes. Then supposing the offspring were trained with similar offspring. What would such an adventure into eugenics prove?

"Remove from history 1,000 great names in science, 1,000 in philosophy and religion, 1,000 more in the arts, and the rest of us would still be Bronze Age savages," McConnell says.

And if the Russians did try to breed a human elite, by 1975 you could reasonably suppose that they would need little more time before they would be able to speed up the evolutionary process so that 50,000 years of development would take place in the span of a lifetime, McConnell writes.

REMEMBER?

Three years ago the United States threw up a ploy called the Soviet Sputnik, a grapefruit-sized satellite called Vanguard I.

Using solar power it is still transmitting radio signals and possible will be hundreds of years. By now it has orbited the earth nearly 12,000 times, covering more than 400 billion miles.

So far it has helped scientists learn: That the earth is slightly pear-shaped. That the light from the sun has enough pressure to modify the path of a satellite in orbit. That sunlight can be converted to electricity for radio power. That the gravity of the sun and the moon affect a satellite's orbit around the earth.

And think about this: Each 24 hours the world's scientists produce enough technical papers to fill seven sets of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

And if that isn't frightening enough, every ten years the amount of technical literature in existence doubles, writes Lawrence Ross in a Georgia Tech publication, Research Engineer.

It is masked and it hunts bed bugs and it is called the masked bedbug hunter, one of a group of assassin bugs that live off other insects.

The assassin bugs live all over the Americas, but mostly south of the New York—Denver latitude. Most of them live on the blood of other insects.

Curiously the masked bedbug hunter looks like a bit of him when it is still young; thanks to the fact that dark fibers stick to its body. You'd hardly notice it unless it moved, says a report on assassin bugs prepared by the Smithsonian Institution.

New Frontier Redskins Menace the Homestead

WASHINGTON (U)—Congress was told today the Red may come when Americans may have to take rifle in hand to defend their homes as their frontier ancestors once did.

For that reason, an official of the National Rifle Association urged that Congress consider voting money to foster a revival of marksmanship in the United States.

Franklin L. Orth, executive vice president of the association, told a Senate appropriations subcommittee:

"I submit that with Castro's Communist Cuba as a stepping stone and a base of operations into the United States, furnishing a haven for untold thousands of Communists, that every American, young and old, male and female, should be able to shoot.

"Prime Minister Churchill's call on his people to 'take one with you' in the defense of Britain against invasion is now becoming applicable to us."

Orth, who said he has dealt with the Russians in international marksmanship competitions, said the Soviet Union has been busy in this field.

In Russia and the satellite nations Orth testified, the instruction of young people in the use of basic small arms "is viewed as a policy of the highest importance."

Other new officers include: Hans Dykshuis of Grand Haven, senior vice commander, and Guy W. Graham of Kalamazoo, junior vice commander.

Mrs. Margaret Bradley of Muskegon is president of the ladies auxiliary.

Two days of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Schramm of Owosso, drowned Tuesday when she fell into the Shiawassee River near her home.

AWAITING OPENING NIGHT - Five-year-old John Dell puffs on his Indian flute against a background of 1,000 milled Spanish explorers, frontier riflemen, Civil War soldiers and Abilene cowboys at Topka, Kan. The occasion was the final rehearsal of the state's centennial pageant for which the young Topokean awaited the cue that began the Indian scene.

The materials feeding into the big defense equipment have been stalled until the new plan is adopted.

After a hassle between Commissioners Robert A. Landry and Wesley J. Wood, action on a South Boulevard zoning proposal was postponed one week.

The argument was over the planning commission's recommendation against rezoning of a vacant lot west of Franklin Road to make way for a wedding shop. The planners contend this would be spot zoning.

Wood, a member of the planning commission, appeared to be in a quandary of denying the rezoning request but Landry insisted he needed more information about the reasons behind the planners' decision.

Commissioner William H. Taylor took this position, also.

There was no objection to planners recommendation that a non-conforming zoning situation be corrected by rezoning from residential to manufacturing the property at Lake and Houston streets where the Geo. Coal Co. has been located more than two decades. An ordinance amendment making the change will be introduced next week.

After a public hearing, one of the so-called "lovers lanes" east of State Street near downtown was vacated. Detailed provisions were made for public easements.

There were no objections at four other hearings. These covered initial plans for curbs and gutters on Bassett Avenue, Woodward to Basswood, and on Woodland Avenue, Dresden to Lakeland and Kinney; for a combined sewer on the east side of Woodward Avenue, opposite St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Several tiny slivers of land, one of them just 8 inches wide, were given to a property owner next to the Civic Center fire hall site to end a discussion about overlapping property descriptions. The amount detracted from the site was considered insignificant by City Attorney William A. Ewert.

Four projects were added to the public improvement program on motion of Commissioner Robert A. Landry. Included are curbs and gutters on Hillside Drive, City Line to Burt; on Burt Street, LeGrande to Hillside; on West Tempon Avenue, Hollywood to Bonheur; and a bus substation and sidewalks on both sides of West Hopkins, Baldwin to the alley.

Permit was granted Robert O. Rivest to add Lawrence H. Stowe to his SDM liquor license at 837 Baldwin Avenue and initial approval was given to locating the license in a new building to go up at 840 Baldwin.

Teenagers were granted Robert O. Rivest to add Lawrence H. Stowe to his SDM liquor license at 837 Baldwin Avenue and initial approval was given to locating the license in a new building to go up at 840 Baldwin.

Newberg Supporter to Harass Chrysler

DETROIT (AP) - A supporter of ousted Chrysler Corp. President William C. Newberg said Tuesday he had filed necessary papers with the Securities and Exchange Commission for a "formal challenge" of Chrysler.

Jim Raccaro, a Portland, Ore., building contractor, said filing the papers gave him certain privileges, "including proxy solicitation."

Raccaro nominated Newberg as a director during Chrysler's shareholder meeting in April. He also gave a speech in which he challenged the right of L. L. Colbert to remain president of Chrysler. His move to make Newberg a director was unsuccessful.

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) - President Kwame Nkrumah left today for Upper Volta and talks with President Maurice Yamango on construction of roads and communications systems linking their capitals, and eventually the capitals of Mali and Guinea.

Churchill at Races

LONDON (AP) - Sir Winston Churchill arrived in London by plane from Nice today to attend the Ascot races, looking fit and alert after his French Riviera holiday.

Under the new state law, the city apparently would collect only 50 cents a month, in lieu of property taxes, from each of the 31 trailers the park is designed for. This would amount to $186 a year from a full park.

In comparison, the property tax on an average home assessed at $3,000 this year will amount to $68.

The schools would get $2 a trailer a month. The county at 50 cents and the state 50 cents, according to Marvin Alward, City Finance Director.

Owners of the property now planning commission approval by pointing out that the commercial value of their property has been hurt by the new Orchard Lake Road underpass, which funnels traffic away from old Telegraph Road.

They said new state restrictions meant that a new camp, complying with them, would be welcome addition to the city.

The planning commission is recommending a zoning change from commercial to residential 4, the new trailer park classification.

City Commissioner Robert A. Landry expressed surprise at the recommendation, recalling that only last year the new R4 classification was adopted to make it hard for new camps to come into Pontiac.

"Now the planning commission seems to have changed its mind about trailer camps. Why?" he asked.

There was no answer to the question last night, but next week one may be provided by Mayor Rowan who, as a member of the planning commission, voted for the trailer park last week.

Trailer Park Okay Stirs Commissioners

City commissioners balked last night on first hearing that the planning commission had said okay to a new trailer park within the city limits.

A one-week delay in action was voted, ostensibly, so that Mayor Philip E. Rowan can be present when any move is made.

The mayor, absent from the city to attend a big managers conference in Washington, represents the district where the proposed park site is located.

This is on the east side of old Telegraph Road, just north of an existing trailer park in the Beaudette Park area.

After viewing plans for the park that represented it as a semi-permanent resting place for mobile homes rather than an itinerant trailer camp, Commissioners did not suggest the project might become a nuisance.

But they headed City Manager Walter K. Wilmut's observation that trailer parks provide relatively little in the way of tax revenues to the city.

Under the new state law, the city apparently would collect only 50 cents a month, in lieu of property taxes, from each of the 31 trailers the park is designed for. This would amount to $186 a year from a full park.

But There's Damage, Too

Area Cooled by Storm

OPEN TENT AT THE OPEN — Two sports writers go about their tasks at the typewriters unconcerned that most of the huge press tent at the National Open golf tournament at Oakland Hills was torn apart by the severe wind storm which hit the county and state yesterday. Typewriters and equipment were strewn about, but everyone managed to flee to safety. Thursday is the official starting day of the tournament.

Motel Planned in Waterford

$175,000 Project to Be at Dixie and Telegraph, Contain 50 Units

A building permit for a $175,000 motel at Dixie Highway and Telegraph Road in Waterford Township has been issued to the Unity Distributing Co. of Detroit.

Most of the 50 units will face west to the rear of the building, with parking space for each unit. There will be an office in the center of the inner court; each unit will have from one to four rooms.

Black-top driveways will lead from the motel to Dixie Highway on the northwest and to Telegraph Road on the southeast side of the motel.

Soundproof walls, with fireproof construction, will be used in the cement-block-and-brick building.

A heated swimming pool at the north section of the project will be protected from highway viewing by a large fence. A play area for children and adults is also in the blueprints.

Waterford Township engineers Johnson & Anderson have drawn up the plans for the sanitation facilities, and all contractors used in the construction will be local, according to the owners, Samuel Hoffman, company president; H. C. Barsky and Jack L. Greenblatt. The company is located at 13101 Wyoming St.

Ground breaking will take place within two weeks, Hoffman said.

Queen Mother Injured

LONDON (AP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth has fractured a small bone in one foot and will be forced to forego public engagements for several weeks, it was announced today.

A press statement from her London residence, Clarence House, said the injury occurred Monday at Windsor Castle. No details were given. The queen mother is 80.

WHICH EVER BEAUTY IS ELECTED MISS CENTENNIAL AT WISNER

Whichever beauty is elected Miss Centennial when the final returns are in tonight, she will be crowned by Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County.

The coronation will be at the first performance of the Centennial Spectacle "The Pontiac Story" in Wisner Stadium Monday evening. Broomfield also will be present for the Centennial parade Saturday afternoon and will give the main talk at the dedication of the Pontiac Municipal Airport terminal Sunday afternoon.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.,

told Centennial headquarters he will be here for the parade but has commitments elsewhere on the other days.

The queen and her 10-member court will be determined on the basis of final reports of advance coupon sales for "The Pontiac Story."

Organizations sponsoring queen candidates have been selling the coupons, each one exchangeable for a ticket to the Spectacle at a 50-cent saving.

Today is the last day the coupons are sold. Spectacle tickets will be at full price from tomorrow on.

493 at Central, 280 at Northern

Some 775 high school seniors in Pontiac will become graduates in the next two days.

Commencement for 493 seniors at Pontiac Central High School will be held tomorrow, and commencement for 280 seniors at Pontiac Northern will take place Friday evening.

The Pontiac Central program will be at 4 p.m. at Wisner Stadium, and the Northern program will be at 7 p.m. at the same place.

It'll be all over tomorrow for Pontiac's elementary and junior high school students. Regular classes and final exams will be over at noon and summer vacation will begin. Elementary pupils will return briefly Friday to pick up report cards. Junior high report cards will be mailed to students' homes. Senior high final exams concluded today.

In the event of inclement weather, the program will be held at 8 p.m.

Mercury Falls to Beat Sixty as Rains Come

Golf Meet Tent Topples, Boaters in Mishaps, Trees Blown Down

Pontiac area temperatures tumbled in the wake of winds and thunderstorms which swept across the state yesterday.

Spawmed in 90 degree heat, the storms brought relief from the hot spell which had engulfed the city for the past several days.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts considerably cooler weather tonight and tomorrow.

Torrents of rain accompanied by high winds wreaked havoc in many areas.

Power lines in Royal Oak were toppled by the heavy winds.

CLINGS 45 MINUTES

Raymond Chung, 46, of 581 E. Lake Dr., clung for 40 minutes to the wrecked craft until being pulled aboard a rowboat by two rescuers. They were Robert Whitigo, 25, of 123 Walled Lake Court, and Robert Novinski, 24, of 115 Walled Lake Court.

Another boat reportedly overturned on Union Lake. Some of the occupants of the boats was injured.

An hour after the first thunderstorm struck the area at 1 p.m., the mercury had fallen 12 degrees to 80. In one half-hour between 1:45 and 2:15 p.m., it plunged 19 degrees from 86 to 67.

The temperature dropped to 64 by midnight.

At 7 a.m. today the mercury registered a cool 51 degrees.

Telephone lines in the Dryden and North Branch areas were knocked out for three hours early in the afternoon.

At Plainville, in Allegan County, building of the Plainville Aluminum Specialties Co. collapsed under the force of the wind. No one was injured.

Two car smashups in Flint during a driving rainstorm took three lives.

Fair and cool was the forecast for tomorrow with a low of 54 tonight and a high of 79 tomorrow.

The relief from the heat will remain until Sunday or Monday, the weatherman said, with temperatures averaging two to four degrees below normal for the next five days.

Today's northeasterly winds of 10-25 m.p.h. are expected to diminish slowly tonight.

Takes Law Into Own Hands

IMPROMPTU TRAFFIC COP — When a massive power failure blocked out much of midtown Manhattan Tuesday, this unidentified pedestrian took over as traffic cop at 52nd Street and Sixth Avenue to guide cars and pedestrians normally controlled by traffic lights.

Thousands Stranded as Power Fails

Manhattan Sweats in Chaos

NEW YORK (AP)—The second massive power failure in less than two years threw five square miles of midtown Manhattan into a 4½-hour chaos involving millions Tuesday. It was the hottest June 13 in the city's history.

From skyscraper peak to subway bottom — and in between — citizens of this always cramped metropolis were snarled in the vivid example of electricity's value to modern man.

The power went out just as the mammoth office buildings began pouring their tens of thousands into the streets.

Riders were trapped in elevators for up to three hours. Passengers were stranded below ground in subways. Passengers emerged from both, shaken and dripping with perspiration.

"It was like a steam bath," said a petroleum coming out of a subway.

The Great White Way was a strange sight as the setting sun dropped across the Hudson River. Times Square's brilliance was blocked out for a time. Many of its movie houses and theaters closed.

Traffic lights were out throughout the area and thousands of motorists — accustomed to the bumper-to-bumper routine — found themselves hopelessly tangled face-to-face as well.

In hospitals, some patients were caught on operating tables. Emergency generators were thrown into use and disaster averted.

45 DEGREES

The temperature had reached 96 degrees at mid-afternoon, a record for the date and the highest in two years. Throughout the city air conditioners droned by the hundreds of thousands.

But the Consolidated Edison Co., although reporting it had had the largest load in history from 3 to 4 p.m.—said overloading had not caused the power failure.

The company said the trouble appeared to have started when circuit breakers broke down in a transformer at a substation on West 68th Street between Amsterdam and West End Avenues, where high voltage is reduced for distribution into the streets.

As a result, the company said, a breakdown also occurred at a substation on East 83rd Street and a substation in Long Island City, across the East River, which supplies power to Manhattan.

In San Francisco an accident in a power station blocked out a large part of that city at the rush hour late Tuesday. Massive traffic and pedestrian jams resulted and fire control boards were flooded with calls.

Most people on the sunny streets were not aware of the failure until the traffic jams developed because the signal lights were out. Police quickly manned intersections and traffic was moving by the time power was restored less than an hour later.

WANTS U.S. TO READY UNDERGROUND TESTING

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee said today the United States should get ready to resume underground nuclear testing while continuing negotiations with the Soviet Union.

Rep. Carl Albert, D-Calif., said in a speech prepared for House delivery that Moscow's "yielding attitude on test ban controls demanded a reappraisal of American policy and action based on the assumption that the Soviets 'have tested, or will test, if they think they can get away with it.'"

He said he was "hopeful that the President will arrive at a wise judgment on this important matter within a few weeks."

Manhattan Sweats in Chaos

NEW YORK (AP)—The second massive power failure in less than two years threw five square miles of midtown Manhattan into a 4½-hour chaos involving millions Tuesday. It was the hottest June 13 in the city's history.

From skyscraper peak to subway bottom — and in between — citizens of this always cramped metropolis were snarled in the vivid example of electricity's value to modern man.

The power went out just as the mammoth office buildings began pouring their tens of thousands into the streets.

Headmistress Leaves School

By GEORGE F. TREMBULL JR.

Hanging in her closet is something she always dreamed of owning but never thought a teacher should have.

Jessie T. Winter, captivating smiling light of Brookside School, has retired after 39 years of teaching. She is leaving behind a legacy of dedicated service to the school and its students.

The headmistress now can take with her to her new home in Birmingham a mink stole, gift of the directors of the Brookside Hills Elementary School and a reminder of 39 "time-of-the-life" years devoted to the destiny of 40 boys and girls.

"Development of these students—past and present—into mature adults will mean much more, however, than any far place."

"So it is with her 14-member family. I feel it is infinitely as important for the teacher to grow as for her children under her," said the lady whose eyes sparkle stargily with every word.

Miss Winter, an unsupervised educator who loves to teach for the rich rewards her headmistress gains, is reluctant to leave the school with which she grew up. The end is never in sight as far as educating the young is concerned.

This education involves, she relates, educating the whole child—mentally, morally, culturally, spiritually, socially and physically. Miss Winter has created this creed in believing that the success or failure of a child depends upon his or her elementary education—the "most impressionable period of a child's life."

CHILD SHOULD BE HAPPY

"Brookside has always believed the child should be happy in school because the happy child is the learning child," Miss Winter said.

The daughter of an Oak Park, Ill., salesman father and teacher mother, the headmistress has happily watched the school by the brook grow from seven children, a table and a piano—survive a depression when the doors were nearly closed—in an institution ranked high among the nation's elementary schools. There are today 221 students from the kindergarten through the sixth grade.

It offers a music program "second to none" and keeps the kids in the school and the school develops to a new gymnasium.

Miss Winter laments what she says is an overemphasis on learning, plain facts and so-called preparation of the child.

"There's too much talk about preparation," she said. "I don't feel Brookside is preparing. They are living. And what they are living today they will carry forward."

A modest person who has no time to tell her years' teaching to the young, but plenty of time to tell about her school, she credits for the job done.

She'd rather laud her staff, especially those who follow her suggestions and continue their education when they're not teaching others.

But fervent are the children that attend the school, which the retiring headmistress will remind this.

A LASTING MEMENTO—Past and present Brookside School Cranbrook students Wendy Williams, 8, Jeff Chambers, 6, and Robert Chambers, 14, admire a portrait of Miss Jessie T. Winter, first headmistress at the Brookside Hills elementary school who is retiring after 39 years service. Painted by artist Robert Thom. It was presented to the school by Mrs. Janet Fead in memory of her late husband Maxwell.

Miss Winter, an unsupervised educator who loves to teach for the rich rewards her headmistress gains, is reluctant to leave the school with which she grew up. The end is never in sight as far as educating the young is concerned.

Jack Kept Injury Secret From Jackie

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today President Kennedy kept his back injury a secret from Mrs. Kennedy.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters he understood the first interest of Mr. Kennedy in the newspapers while she was vacationing in Greece last week.

When Mrs. Kennedy found out, Salinger said, she sent a message to her husband saying she thought she should return to Washington to be with him. But Kennedy told her not to, he said.

Bomb Algerian Home

ALGIERS (AP)—A heavy plastic bomb today damaged an apartment building housing the nephew of Algerian rebel Premier Ferhat Abbas. An Algerian servant was wounded about the legs, but M. Lacherou, Abbas' nephew, was not hurt.

'$10 Billion, Lives' Will Be Cost of Moon Landing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A government official says landing a manned spacecraft on the moon will cost about $10 billion—plus a lot of human lives.

Trevor Gardner, chairman of the Air Force Space Study Committee, told a science meeting Tuesday: "I'm sure we are going to kill a lot of men in this business. But it's like testing high speed aircraft in which men have died. The risks are there and they have to be faced."

Gardner, assistant secretary of the Air Force in 1955-56, also told a joint meeting of the Aerospace Sciences and the American Rocket Society: "I am sure we can win the race if we are prepared to pay the price."

Tony Curtis Files Suit Against MGM Studios

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Screen star Tony Curtis filed suit against MGM studios Tuesday, asking release from a motion picture commitment or—if he is compelled to portray the role—$3 million in damages.

The complaint said he signed an agreement on Oct. 1, 1959, to play in a film titled "Lady L." Since then, the actor contended, the script was changed so that his role became less important and the story less similar to the novel on which it was based.

Eye Electric Rocket for Moon Trips

By RALPH DIGHTON

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Meet the electric rocket—a tiny power plant that some day may drive space ships of almost any size to the moon and the planets.

The electric rocket probably will be the final and critical stage of the huge projectiles President Kennedy has ordered developed to take men to the moon and back in this decade.

Eight companies and two government agencies gave technical papers on electric rockets Tuesday at one of the nation's top scientific conventions—the annual meeting of the Institute of Aerospace Sciences and the American Rocket Society.

Consensus of the papers is that the electric rocket works—under laboratory conditions.

By the time large clusters of present-day intercontinental missiles are ready to boost big space ships beyond earth's gravitational pull—possibly in three to five years—electric rockets should be far enough advanced to take over the job of propulsion in space.

Capt. Richard Hayes, an Air Force research expert assigned to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington, said in an interview: "This is an important field where the United States can forge ahead of Russia in the space race."

Neither the Soviet Union nor the United States has yet tested an electric rocket in space, but both are rushing research programs. Hayes said the U.S.S.R. plans a test flight later this year; America's target date is sometime next year.

What's so special about electrical rockets?

In the language of the average motorist, they are designed to give more miles per gallon and much higher speed. But they are only good for cruising in high gear. They don't have enough power for the fast takeoff necessary to get into space.

Electric rockets are comparatively small—about the size of a garbage can. Chemically fueled Atlas rockets tower 65 feet into the air.

Electric rockets have a very small wallop—a fraction of a pound of thrust compared with the 300,000-pound thrust of an Atlas.

A SHORT STORY — Girls who plan to wear shorts on the downtown streets of Demopolis, Ala. had better consult a tape measure before venturing out. Complaints about too much exposure prompted a city ordinance which prohibits the women folk from wearing shorts in public which expose more than six inches of leg above the knee. Police Chief Troy Spruce gives the OK to Mrs. Gene Therce's shorts. The baby was passed without a measurement.

Combination of Old and New Treatments Help Improve Ailing Back

BY HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is getting a combination of old and new treatments for his back ailment—hot pads and ultra sound.

The ultra sound—using high frequency sound waves—is a method for applying heat to deep-seated tissues.

It is the latest treatment in a regime including rest and swimming prescribed by White House physician Dr. Janet Travell who reported Tuesday that Kennedy "continues to improve." He is still using crutches.

Today the President undertook a busy schedule—a late afternoon conference with top advisers on the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance after visits from a Vietnamese official, a group of Ceylonese parliamentarians and a Michigan delegation concerned with that state's economic problems.

Marine Turns Teacher; Betcha Kids Will Mind

MARSHFIELD, Mass. (AP) — It's a good guess that there'll be decorum and order in the classroom Albert J. Sinic takes over in September, even though it is his first teaching job.

Sinic, 42, of Brockton, got his teaching degree this week from Bridgewater State College. He decided to make teaching a second career—after retiring as a major following 21 years in the Marine Corps.

Disorder Proves Fatal

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jockey Walter J. Mann, 35, died Tuesday of a disorder of a blood vessel in the brain.

Mann had been in suburban Community Hospital since June 5 after a severe attack of dizziness caused him to fall from a horse. He had been in a coma since the morning after he was admitted to the hospital.

Largest island in the world is Greenland. It comprises an area estimated at 827,300 square miles.

Removing Auto Parts

Pontiac police today arrested a man they said found removing heaters and radiators from cars in a used car lot at 170 Bagley St.

Thomas Lee Walker, 34, of 28 Maple St. has been charged with grand larceny and was to be arraigned in Municipal Court today. Officers said Walker was pryng off a radiator from a car when they went to the lot to investigate a noise early this morning. They said he already had removed three radiators and seven heaters from vehicles parked in the Bagley Auto Parts lot.

The death rate in the United States in 1960 was estimated at 5.4 per 1,000 population, the 13th year in a row that it has been below the 10 per 1,000 mark.

Volkswagen Far Ahead
in Foreign-Car Sales

LANSING (AP) — The German-made Volkswagen accounted for nearly half the 1,268 foreign-car titles issued in Michigan last month, the secretary of state's office reported Tuesday.

There were 605 titles issued for Volkswagens. Second on the list was the French-made Renault with 186, followed by the British Ford with 86. The Metropolitan with 61 and the Fiat with 31.

About 27,000 Americans become blind during an average year.

Rambler Production
Slated for Argentina

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors Corporation has announced that Rambler Automobiles will be produced in Argentina early in 1962 in a joint venture between Wil-

Tickets Moving Well for Centennial Fashion Show

Model Mrs. William Aske of Birmingham (at left) wears an easy summer outfit of shorts and striped pullover from Peggy's. She watches ticket committee members place stubs in the prize box for next Wednesday evening's gala centennial fashion show at Elk's Temple. Others are Mrs. Sol Nèhouse of Mihaek Road, Mrs. Ben Monson of Menominee Road and fashion show cochairman Mrs. Irwin Posner of James K Boulevard.

Pontiac Press Photos

Tickets are going briskly for the Centennial Fashion Show next Wednesday at the Elk Club. The once-in-a-hundred years affair will climax events of "Ladies Day," officially designated for mid-Centennial Week.

The fashion show which promises to be the most ambitious ever to be staged in this area is set for 8:15 p.m. Television fashion commentator Mary Morgan will present the commentary as models display fashions from Alvin's, Arthur's and Peggy's.

Staged by the Greater Pontiac Centennial Commission in conjunction with B'nai Israel Sisterhood, the show has been in preparation for months under the chairmanship of Mrs. David Saks with cochairman Mrs. Irwin Posner. They have revealed grand prizes of a $200 glamor wardrobe from the three local stores, a lady's pearl dinner ring from Gerow's and an 8mm movie camera from Mark Davis Camera Mart will be among the many door prizes drawn for during the intermission.

ON SALE AT STORES

Cliff Weigand will play the Gulbrandsen organ. Tickets for the show are available at the above named stores as well as at Centennial headquarters in the new library building.

Their captains include Mrs. Harold Blumeno, Mrs. Irving Koper, Mrs. Harold Lipshaw, Mrs. Ralph Merkowitz and Mrs. Abraham Tauber.

Others are Mrs. Morris Blatstein, Mrs. Sanford Conn, Mrs. Charles Ellender, Mrs. Jack Gamburd and Mrs. Arnold Wine.

Completing the list of captains are Mrs. Abraham Avadenka, Mrs. Mitchell Bacow, Mrs. Edward Blumeno, Mrs. Leon Sirlin and Mrs. Irving Schlyestone.

Mrs. George Surowitz and Mrs. Morris Kampner have been gathering door prizes with a committee consisting of Mrs. Edward Blumeno, Mrs. Marvin Finkelshtein, Mrs. Charles Jacobs, Mrs. Belmont Kershenbaum, Mrs. Koper, Mrs. Merkowitz, Mrs. Jack Simon and Mrs. Tauber. Mrs. David Utley is program editor.

Mrs. George Surowitz of West Iroquois Road examine some of the countless prizes which will be a feature of the evening. A capacity crowd is expected for this once-in-a-century affair.

Carnival Planned at School

City and Country School for Gifted Children on North Woodward Avenue, Bloomfield Hills, will stage its annual scholarship carnival Sunday from noon to 6 p.m.

The school baseball field, decorated in a circus theme, will be the setting for the affair, sponsored by parents of the students.

Entertainment and games will be featured, with a supervised "lot" for small children.

Refreshments will be served continually, and an open pit barbecue will serve roast dinners.

A 1954 fire engine will take children on short rides, and a special show with four animal acts, formerly with a circus, will be presented throughout the day.

Along with rifle marksmanship demonstrations, the adults will find miniature car racing games, run by remote control, and a "night club" featuring entertainment, an auction and a chance to try for a three-day trip for two to New York.

A bicycle also will be given away. The carnival raises funds for scholarships to financially assist parents with talented children. Students of the elementary-junior high school represent a cross section of economic, social and racial backgrounds from the area.

The scalloped hem and festive polka dots on Marijean Tuel's dress from Alvin's receives the approval of ticket sale chairman and vice chairman Mrs. Michael Davis of Illinois Avenue (at center) and Mrs. Karl Berg of Orchard Lake. Only one week remains before the climax event of Ladies' Day at the Centennial.

The Wendell Roberts of Midland Drive announce the engagement of their daughter Linda Kaye to Ernest F. Rea, son of the Franklin Reas of Wilard Street. She will enter McAuley School of Practical Nursing this fall.

Keep It a Military Secret

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 35-year-old widow. Until very recently I was dating a nice widower. He gave me a big rush and some lovely gifts. I was expecting him to propose and I really grew to like him.

Then he told me he wouldn't think of marrying me until he was sure we were "compatible" in every way. You know what I mean. Naturally, when he found out he couldn't get what he wanted, he stopped seeing me. I felt so hurt to think he was like all the rest.

I had praised him to all my friends, and now the question is, what can I tell my friends when they ask why we aren't going together any more?

DEAR HURT: Real friends would not embarrass you with such a cruel question. To the others, simply reply, "All is fair in love and war, and this is a military secret."

DEAR ABBY: My little 5-year-old boy is deathly afraid of dogs and cats. I can't understand how he got this way, but it is getting to be a terrible problem. He refuses to stay outside alone for fear a dog (even a small one) or a cat will come near him.

When I take him downtown and he sees a dog or cat, he screams so loud people run out of stores and even stop their automobiles to see who is being mugged.

I have to pick him up and carry him until the animal is out of sight. I didn't mind when he was smaller, but he is too heavy for me to carry now. What shall I do, Abby? He is driving me crazy.

UPSET MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Take your son to a pet shop where he can see the newborn kittens and the tiny puppies. When he becomes more familiar with these animals, he will realize there is nothing to fear. He probably was terrified by an animal when he was very young, and must now be helped to overcome his fright.

DEAR ABBY: I am Spanish and the custom of my country is to wear the flower, stems up and the flower "looking down" when the girl is single. That means she is "looking."

When the girl is married, she wears her corsage stem down, with the flowers "looking up."

Graduating from Anderson College, Anderson, Ind. on June 19 will be Mr. and Mrs. Benny J. Williams. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Williams of Emerson Avenue, Mr. Williams will receive a bachelor of arts degree with a major in history.

Mrs. Williams, the former Sara Swigart of Bedford, Ind., will be granted a bachelor of arts degree in elementary education. The couple will reside in Pontiac where Mrs. Williams will teach at Herrington Hills School. Mr. Williams will do graduate work at Wayne State University.

Lora Faulman Marries Joseph R. Scolaro III

Rev. Stephen Malarick solemnized the marriage vows of Lora Lee Faulman of Union Lake to Joseph R. Scolaro III Saturday morning in Holy Name Church, Birmingham.

Receiving at a breakfast in Deane Gables, following the double-ring ceremony, were the couple with their parents, the Albert A. Faulmans of Union Lake and Mr. and Mrs. A. Ray Scolaro Jr. of Birmingham.

The ballerina-length bridal dress of white silk organza over taffeta was worn with a Chantilly lace jacket buttoned at tapered sleeves and bodice with tiny pearl buttons. Fingertip veiling fell from a crown of seed pearls; and the bridegroom, was worn. The bride carried white roses.

Attending the sister were Mrs. Gene Johnson, matron of honor, and Audrey Faulman who served as bridesmaid with Mrs. Michael Ryan of Cass Lake, sister of the bridegroom.

They wore lilac organza with back decolletage and veiled hats of artificial lilacs. Pink sweet-heart roses centered their bouquets of white carnations.

Michael Ryan was best man. Guests were seated by Gene Johnson and Joseph Colucci of Madison Heights.

After a Northern Michigan honeymoon, the couple will be at home in Birmingham. Mr. Scolaro attended Harvard University.

Cymbidium orchids accented Mrs. Faulman's pastel blue silk organza sheath dress and Mrs. Scolaro, wearing beige silk shantung, were litely of the valley at her shoulder.

Tips to Teens on Popularity

Just Be Yourself, Girls!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It would be downright unnatural if a girl or a woman did not find the admiration of the opposite sex appealing. Masculine admiration is a healthy stuff for a woman from the age of 8 to 80.

Certainly teen age is a period in life when being liked is extremely important to happiness. However, the very intensity of the desire to be popular may make a girl unpopular because it focuses her attention on herself. This makes her self-conscious. This, in turn, may result in either shyness or aggressiveness.

There is a new book called "Teen-Age Living." Its author is Nell Giles Ahern and it is published by the Houghton, Mifflin Company. It is written in a most interesting way.

On the absorbing subject of dating Mrs. Ahern tips the girls off to some basic psychology involved in capturing a young man's heart. Her list of helpful hints includes the following recommendations: "Be friendly, but casual. Be yourself; behave naturally. Show that you are interested in him as a person, not just as a possible date."

POPULARITY SECRET

I always have felt that the most popular women are those who think of men as human beings they like rather than as possible dates or husbands. Mrs. Ahern also emphasizes the importance of good grooming. This list includes a daily shower or bath, a deodorant, shining, clean hair, a sparkling white smile and clean hands and nails.

This is especially true during teen years because the skin is oilier than usual. Unless you wash it several times a day blackheads are almost certain to form. If you would like to have no leaflet planned especially for teenagers send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 58 "Popularity." Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Paper bills cost the U.S. Treasury about one cent each to produce.

Have You Tried This?

Cook a Cornmeal Base for Puffy Salmon Bits

Pontiac Press Home Editor

We haven't had a fish recipe for some time. The one we have for you today uses a cup of salmon to make 6 servings. Our cook is Mrs. Frank Reichert. She has a part-time job outside her home. She belongs to the Fashionette Club. One of her 4 children is married and she is the grandmother of twin girls whom she adores.

SALMON PUFFS

By Mrs. Frank Reichert

1 cup cornmeal
1 cup milk
1 cup grated American cheese
2 eggs, separated

1 cup flaked salmon
1 teaspoon salt

Cook cornmeal and milk in a double boiler until thickened, stirring frequently. Blend in grated cheese and remove from heat. Stir in beaten egg yolks, salmon, and salt. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites.

Drop by spoonfuls into a frying pan containing 1/2 inch of hot fat. Turn when brown on underside, allowing about 3 minutes cooking time.

Exchange Vows in Auburn

Sallie-Belle Anderson of Rochester exchanged vows with Robert M. Franks before Justice of the Peace Grant Graham Saturday evening in Auburn Heights.

Parents of the newlyweds are the Albert Andersons of Rochester and the Troyce F. Hudnells of Second Avenue. The couple was attended by the bride's sister Jean Anderson and the bridegroom's brother Ronald Franks.

Europeans Find Costly Wine Big Objection to U.S. Tour

By FRYLES BATTLE
NEW YORK — In April 25 busnessmen from Lyon, France, came to America for the first time.
Attracted by publicity for the new "Visit U.S.A." program, they made New York City their base and traveled to a few other U.S. cities.
When time came for adieu,
the leader of the group reported their reactions:
"New York is impressive, the other cities are friendly, but your wine prices are formidable! We are accustomed to drink wine as you drink water, but we cannot afford it here. This we know you will do something about . . ."

The veiled threat was addressed to a special friend of ours named Victor Barrett, vice president of Manger Hotels (the Lyon group was staying at the Manger Vanderbilt in New York), who immediately looked over his wine list and called for the addition of good American wines at reasonable prices.

"It was such a small easily-assumed thing, but so important," he reports. "Offering only costly wine to a European in America is like offering coffee at 25 a cup to an American in Europe."

Vic quickly took off for a six-week tour of the continent to see what else he could find out to make U.S. travel more palatable and enticing for foreign visitors.

He has just returned, set up a seminar-workshop for U.S. hotel men on "The Visitor from Abroad
— Our Challenge and Our Opportunity" for June 28, and reported to us his findings.

And the way many of them ideally would like to travel is from home to home, "so they could meet the people."

That's a fairly difficult request, particularly in New York City where people are too preoccupied with their jobs to care about other folks. "It's hard enough getting New Yorkers to be hospitable to their friends, much less to strangers."

HAS HER LITTLE JOKE — This strawberry blonde "waitress" gave Eddie Fisher a hard time
Tuesday night at his closing performance in a Las Vegas night club. She sent a trayful of pans clattering to the floor during his act. When he asked her to be quiet, she heckled him in a Cockney accent. Finally Fisher caught on and asked his wife Elizabeth Taylor to take a bow.

Schools, charities and highways public spending at state and local account for about two-thirds of levels.

Jail Library Worker as Spy in Germany

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—
A German employed in the U.S.
Army library at Frankfurt was sentenced today to three years in prison on charges of spying on U.S. forces for the East German intelligence service.

The West German federal Supreme Court found that Kurt Kuehn, 38, had received 10,000 marks—$2,500—for supplying the East Germans with over 20,000 microphotographed pages of U.S. Army manuals.

Kuehn also gave the East Germans detailed descriptions of 28 persons he thought suitable for being contacted by the East Germans as possible agents, the court said.

Olsen Charges Smear in Probe of Slush Fund

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel H. Olsen says that political opponents and a "right wing, conservative press" are trying to smear him in the state's investigation of his so-called slush fund.

Olsen issued a 18-page public statement Tuesday charging that Detroit newspapers have "garbled, distorted and mutilated" information to them about a campaign fund in his office.

He also defended the fund. He called it a legal campaign fund to which his aides and others contributed voluntarily.

The state attorney general's office has been investigating the fund since May 18 after past and present aides of Olsen said they had been required to contribute a portion of their pay to the fund.

James Ritty of Ohio invented the cash register in 1879.

New Thought: Reds Develop Superman?

By The Associated Press
A supposed scientific adventure into genetics, a remarkable list of satellite, reams of scientific data, and an assassin bug are subjects for science at work.

SCIENCE FICTION?
Supposed it is 1975, and Russia has been embarked on a super secret Project G—a project aimed at developing supermen and superwomen.

This is the theme of a science fiction thriller written for the Bulletin of the American Institute of Biological Sciences by R. A. McConnell of the University of Pittsburgh.

Supposing since 1946 the Russians each year had chosen 1,000 women of superior scientific aptitude and physical stamina—and these women conceived children by artificial insemination with sperm from men of similar aptitudes. Then supposing the offspring were mated with similar offspring. What would such an adventure into genetics prove?

And if the Russians did try to breed a human elite, by 1975 you could reasonably suppose that they would need little more time before they would be able to speed up the evolutionary process so that 50,000 years of development would take place in the span of a lifetime, McConnell writes.

REMEMBER?

Three years ago the United States threw up a puny challenge to the Soviet Sputniks, a group of fruit-sized satellite called Vanguard I.

Using solar power it is still transmitting radio signals and possible will for hundreds of years. By now it has orbited the earth nearly 12,000 times, covering more than 409 billion miles.

So far it has helped scientists learn: That the earth is slightly pear-shaped. That the light from the sun has enough pressure to modify the path of a satellite in orbit. That sunlight can be converted to electricity for radio power. That the gravity of the sun and the moon affect a satellite's orbit around the earth.

READING MATERIAL
If you set out to scan the 60 million pages of technical literature produced in the world last year alone, it would take you 465 years.

And think about this: Each 24 hours the world's scientists produce enough technical papers to fill seven sets of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

And if that isn't frightening enough, every two years the amount of technical literature in existence doubles, writes Lawrence Ross in a Georgia Tech publication, Research Engineer.

MASKED BEDBUG HUNTERS
It is masked and it hunts bed bugs and it is called the masked bedbug hunter, one of a group of assassin bugs that live off other insects.

The assassin bugs live all over the Americas, but mostly south of the New York—Denver latitude. Most of them live on the blood of other insects.

Curiously the masked bedbug hunter looks like a bit of lint when it is still young, thanks to the fact that dust and fibers stick to its body. You'd hardly notice it unless it moved, says a report on assassin bugs prepared by the Smithsonian Institution.

New Frontier Redskins Menace the Homestead

WASHINGTON — Congress was told today the day may come when Americans may have to take rifle in hand to defend their homes as their frontier ancestors once did.

For that reason, an official of the National Rifle Association urged that Congress consider voting money to foster a revival of marksmanship in the United States.

Franklin L. Orth, executive vice president of the association, told a Senate appropriations subcommittee.

"I submit that with Castro's Communist Cuba as a stepping stone and a base of operations into the United States, furnishing a haven for untold thousands of Communists, that every American, young and old, male and female, should be able to shoot.

"Prime Minister Churchill's call on his people to 'take one with you' in the defense of Britain against invasion is now becoming applicable to us."

Orth, who said he had dealt with the Russians in international marksmanship competition matters, said the Soviet Union has been busy in this field. In Russia and the satellite nations, Orth testified, the instruction of young people in use of basic small arms "is viewed as a policy of the highest importance."

Detroit Commander of Spanish War Vets

MUSKOGEE — Jesse C. Marston of Detroit, commander of the 5th annual encampment which opened at Muskegon last Saturday and drew 113 persons, including members of the organization's auxiliary.

Other new officers include: Hans Dykhuus of Grand Haven, senior vice commander, and Guy W. Graham of Kalamazoo, junior vice commander.

Mrs. Margaret Bradley of Muskegon is president of the ladies auxiliary.

Tot Drowns in River

OWOSSO — Penny Schramm, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Schramm of Owosso, drowned Tuesday when she fell into the Shiawassee River near her home.
