Miss Pontiac Places an Order

Pontiac Press Photo

LUCKY SANTA—Jolly old Saint Nick was jollier than ever yesterday as he got an earful of Christmas wishes from pretty Karen Hoff, Miss Pontiac for 1954. Santa and Miss Hoff, of 270% S. East Blvd., will share top billing in the annual Christmas parade in downtown Pontiac Saturday morning.

Santa Claus and Miss Pontiac to Share Top Billing at Yule Parade Saturday

When you're pretty, popular and 18, what do you ask Santa to bring you for Christmas?

A rich new boyfriend? A rich old boyfriend? Diamonds? Cadillacs? Pontiacs?

Try asking Karen Hoff. She's pretty, popular, 18—and Miss Pontiac for 1954, besides.

Well, you can try to ask, anyway. But chances are she won't tell. She confided in Saint Nick yesterday, and she's just not talking, probably for fear a public telling might not set well with the kindly but secretive Mr. Claus.

Karen whispered her wishes into his whiskery ear at a run-through of their parts in the big Christmas parade set for Saturday in downtown Pontiac.

Of course, Santa will be on a float all by himself—himself and four reindeers, that is. And Karen will be sharing a convertible with the parade's official party.

But they'll both be prominent in the parade, in which they will share honors with 500 marching musicians and three dozen colorful floats.

Being good friends with the roly-poly old gent isn't going to help the tall beauty get her requested gifts any earlier, though.

Santa has declared she is going to have to wait till Christmas Eve, just as you and I.

South African Parliament Elects Pro-White Strijdom

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP)—Nationalist party members of Parliament today elected Johannes Gerhardus Strijdom, uncompromising advocate of Republican status for this British Commonwealth country, to succeed retiring Prime Minister Dales Malan as party leader.

After the action of the party caucus, Gov. Gen. E. G. Jansen later today will call on the 61-year-old militant Nationalist to form a new government as soon as Malan's resignation takes effect at midnight tonight. He will become South Africa's fifth prime minister.

Choice of Strijdom was expected to be followed almost immediately by the resignation from office of his chief rival for the premiership, Deputy Prime Minister N. C. Havenga, who favors a slower pace toward the Nationalist aim of a South African republic and strict color segregation.

Havenga had spread the word he would quit politics if not elected.

Others loyal to him and to Malan, who backed Havenga to his resignation, announced a seven-weeks ago, might eventually follow this candidate out of the party. The present party was formed in 1951 as a coalition of Malan's National party and Havenga's Afrikaner party, both made up of descendants of the country's Dutch-born Boer settlers.

This would bring the first serious split in Nationalist unity, unbroken since Malan led the two factions in taking power six years ago from the late Field-Marshal Jan Christian Smuts' United party.

The struggle between Strijdom and Havenga was one of tactics and timing rather than other nationalist aims.

Court Refuses Turnpike Case

Won't Give Ruling on the Legality of Michigan Toll Road Authority

LANSING (AP)—The State Supreme Court refused today the Michigan Turnpike Authority's petition for a review of the constitutionality of the state's new toll road law.

The court granted the attorney general's motion to dismiss the case on the grounds that it was not properly before the court and that the writs requested were not the proper remedies sought by the authority.

The court said that its rejection would not bar the authority from starting a proper suit in a circuit court for a declaratory judgment.

The authority filed suit against the State Civil Service Commission, Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard and Aud. Gen. John B. Martin to obtain a decree that it was not a state agency, that its employees (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Vote on Censure Set Tomorrow by U.S. Senate

McCarthy Move to End Debate on Resolutions Wins Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—The end was in sight today for the Senate's debate on the McCarthy censure issue with a unanimous consent agreement to begin voting tomorrow afternoon.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) won approval last night of a proposal to "proceed to vote" at 3 p. m. tomorrow, the first actual vote to take place about an hour later on the first of amendments to a two-count censure resolution pending against him.

With debate under a time control starting today, Senate Majority Leader Knowland of California and McCarthy said they believe the session will end Thursday.

The resolution asks that McCarthy be officially rebuked for (1) alleged contemptuous treatment of a Senate elections subcommittee which investigated his finances in 1951-52, and (2) for alleged abuse of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, a witness before McCarthy's investigations subcommittee.

But McCarthy, expressing hope that the Senate will "get this thing over with," said he thinks his critics may come up with "15, 20 or 25" additional counts.

He said he still has no doubt, despite an expression of regret yesterday over some of the blunt words in which he had criticized colleagues, that the Senate will censure him "when it gets around to it."

With his arm still bandaged and in a sling, McCarthy stood up to ask an end to debate and declare dramatically that he would withdraw any "discourteous and offensive" language such as that which led to the censure charges. But in "facts and opinions which I held, I am unchanged," he said.

A rally in Madison Square Garden roared its support for McCarthy (R-Wis.) last night and strongly protested the Senate motion to censure him.

The wildly enthusiastic crowd, estimated at 13,000, well below capacity applauded speaker after speaker who praised the senator and condemned his critics. Some of the loudest acclaim was won by the senator's wife Jean and Roy M. Cohn, former counsel to McCarthy's investigating committee.

"If the Senate votes to censure, it will have been committing the blackest act in its entire history," declared Cohn, who was spotted in the audience and brought to the speakers platform by cries of "speech" and "we want Roy."

The rally was sponsored by a group called "10 Million Americans Mobilizing for Justice and Democracy" and organized to drive for 30 million signatures on a petition protesting censure of McCarthy.

Lake Ship Carries Over Million Tons

DETROIT (AP)—The Great Lakes freighter John A. Kling steamed downbound past Detroit yesterday on its 94th trip of the current navigation season with a cargo that boosted its total tonnage for the season to 1,000,000 tons.

Included in the season runs were 28 trips with loads of stone to fill caissons for the Mackinac Straits bridge.

Yuletide Lights Will Be Installed Here This Week

Gaily colored overhead lights will be strung across Saginaw street from Oakland to Auburn this week, it was announced today by Robert J. St. Clair, Chamber of Commerce manager.

In addition, decorations will be placed on utility poles along Huron and Lawrence street by the Retail Merchants Assn., a division of the Chamber of Commerce.

There will be no nativity scene. Nor will there be a community Christmas tree.

St. Clair offered no specific reasons for the lack of scene and tree.

But he said the annual Christmas parade set for Saturday would be "one of the best in the country," thus indicating all the association's efforts were being put into that aspect of Yuletide celebration.

Bloodstains Still Sheppard Topic

Woman Lab Technician Describing Tests Made on Gory Traces

CLEVELAND (AP)—A dainty woman scientist began unfolding the newest chapter today in the state's case against osteopath Samuel Sheppard, on trial on a charge of murdering his wife.

The story is still being written in blood.

Miss Mary Cowan, a medical technologist, went back on the witness stand this morning to describe the tests she made on stains found in the Sheppard home—particularly on the basement steps.

Her evidence may indicate that whoever killed 31-year-old Marilyn Sheppard did not immediately leave the house after the crime. On the basis of this and connecting testimony, prosecution lawyers said, the state may ask:

Did the killer go from the second-floor bedroom, scene of the crime, to the basement? Why?

Did he go there to wash? To hide something?

Why did he not flee the house as rapidly as possible, especially since Sheppard claims there was a struggle in which he, the doctor, was twice slugged into unconsciousness by the marauder?

The state says there was no "bushy-haired" assailant, that (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Pope's Condition Little Changed; Advised to Rest

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII, still suffering a recurrence of gastritis and hiccups, was reported today to have passed "a fairly tranquil night."

His general health condition was described as little changed. The 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church has been advised to take a complete rest.

The Pope is confined to his Vatican apartment, and is on a strict diet. A series of injections are being administered to restore his strength.

For the fourth consecutive night, his private physician, Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, spent the night in a room adjoining the Pope's bed-chamber.

While the Pope's condition was not causing undue alarm, Vatican sources said today it is doubted that he will recover enough strength to attend Sunday's beatification ceremony for the venerable Placidio Riccardi, Italian Benedictine monk.

Ordinarily the Pontiff would be present at the veneration ceremony, in St. Peter's basilica after the beatification.

Portrait of Sir Winston

Friends, Foes Alike Unite for Tribute to Sir Winston

LONDON (INS)—Political friends and foes alike laid "aside their weapons to unite and honor" Sir Winston Churchill today as "the last of the giants" celebrated his 80th birthday.

In the ancient Hall of Westminster, by the Prime Minister's beloved houses of Parliament, his long-time foe Labor Party Leader Clement Attlee spoke for a grateful nation and an admiring world.

"Most of us at one time or another have been violently opposed to you," he said, "but today we greet you at 80... in esteem and affection."

"Friends and foes alike lay aside their weapons to unite and honor you... we come not to bury Caesar but to praise him."

Attlee spoke before 2,500 members of the Houses of Commons and Lords and distinguished guests at the principal celebration of Sir Winston's arrival on the door step of his ninth decade.

Churchill, meanwhile, benignly surveyed the assembled MPs and peers, his hands resting on his knees.

At times, without his hearing aid, he appeared to have difficulty hearing and seemed puzzled at the laughter drawn from the crowd by Attlee's comments as he reviewed Churchill's long career.

Then Attlee presented the portrait in oil of Sir Winston by British artist Graham Sutherland as the gift of the combined Houses. It was ceremoniously unveiled to a storm of applause and tumultuous cheering.

Socialist MP David Grenfell, the so-called "father" of the House of Commons, then addressed the crowd and presented the Prime Minister with a magnificent illuminated scroll.

U.S. to Employ Warlike Action as Last Resort

But Secretary Calls for Vigilance in Dealings With Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration today sought measures short of "war action" to counter "provocative" acts by the Chinese Communists.

"The policy line was laid down by Secretary of State Dulles in a speech at Chicago last night. Dulles barred for the present any naval and air blockade of Red China.

At the same time he called for vigilance in dealings with Russia. He said "coexistence"—Moscow's currently proclaimed foreign policy line—is a "tricky word" in the absence of any renunciation of international communism's "effort to rule the world by methods of force, intimidation and fraud."

Dulles gave a far-ranging report in U.S. foreign policy before a national 4-H Club congress in Chicago last night. Before returning to the capital shortly afterward, he repeated it for a nationwide TV-radio hookup.

He did not specify what the State Department planned to do about 13 Americans sentenced to prison in Red China on spy charges this country has branded as false. Informants indicated the United States might ask Russia to intervene with Red China, but it was expected main action would be concentrated on mobilizing world opinion against the sentencing.

In Geneva, Switzerland, U.S. Consul General Franklin C. Gowen disclosed today that he had met Red China's Consul General Chen Ping for an hour last night and delivered orally another U.S. protest couched in the "strongest possible" terms. Gowen said the Chinese took down his protest word by word, then told him he could not accept it.

Dulles apparently was referring to the 13 in his speech, and to Red China's threats against Formosa, when he said that while the Russians have recently "talked more softly... the Chinese Communists have talked and acted with increasing violence."

"Our nation," he said, "will react, and react vigorously, in the protection of our citizens, but without allowing ourselves to be provoked into action which would be a violation of our international obligations." (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Rain or Snow Seen for Pontiac Area

Pontiac area residents are in for either rain or snow tonight, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau. And once it begins, it is expected to continue into tomorrow.

No important temperature changes are expected, however. The low tonight is expected to range from 28 to 32 degrees and the high tomorrow will be between 30 and 34.

Highest temperature in downtown Pontiac yesterday was 36 degrees which was followed by a low of 34.

At 8 a. m. today the mercury stood at 31, rising to 36 by 1 p. m.

Highway Deaths Decrease Again During October

CHICAGO (AP)—October's traffic deaths dropped below last year's figure, the 10th monthly decline in a row, the National Safety Council reported today.

The 2 per cent decrease for the month was the smallest since January and the 3,580-death total was the largest for any month in the year, the council added.

For the first 10 months this year, the total of 29,350 deaths was 6 per cent fewer than for the like period in 1953.

For the first nine months of the year, travel mileage was 3 per cent higher for the country as a whole. This gave a rate of 6.2 deaths per 100 million miles, or the lowest on record for the period, the council said.

Detroit Taxicab Driver Believes Victim Tossed From Auto

DETROIT (AP)—Alfonse Kutiej, 63, of Detroit, although the apparent victim of a hit-run driver, but his life under such peculiar circumstances today that homicide detectives were called in.

Levorne Smith, a taxicab driver, told police that his car struck Kutiej, but said the man already was lying in the street and he thought he might have been thrown from an automobile into the path of the cab.

Smith's passenger, Perrin Griffin, supported his statement.

"I had been following a green Chevrolet," Smith said. "Then I saw a man thrown out of the green car. He dropped to the pavement and was lifting one hand when my car struck him."

Stephen Pasica and Mrs. Beatrice Hansen told police they saw Kutiej's body in the street, presumably before the cab hit him, but did not see a green car.

Pasica said the man was unconscious and that he and Mrs. Hansen went for help. When they returned, he said, the taxicab was there and police were talking with the driver.

Police said patrons at a nearby bar told them Kutiej had been denied entrance there a half hour before he was injured.

At the time, police said patrons told them Kutiej had cuts and bruises on his face and hands as though he had just been in a fight.

Further Interpretation Awaited by Tax Officials on Supreme Court's Decision

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE
Oakland County school men and tax experts are awaiting further interpretation of Monday's Michigan Supreme Court Decision ruling that state equalization shall be the basis for figuring school taxes before forming opinions on what it may do to taxes in this area.

If the state equalization becomes the tax base, higher taxes would be possible under legal limitations, although it is too late for the ruling to change taxes payable in December.

Whether the court's ruling applies only to school taxes or to all local taxes is a point of uncertainty. First interpretation yesterday afternoon indicated the ruling, made on a school tax suit, applied only to school taxes. An informal comment from the state tax commission later hinted it may apply to all local taxes.

Outstate school people were jubilant yesterday over the decision handed down by this state's highest tribunal in the case of Pittsfield Township in Washtenaw County.

Still "permissive" according to local interpretation, the Supreme Court said that school districts have the right to impose the state equalized figures—but it does not state that it is mandatory, according to some officials.

"I want to see a copy of the decision first and have an attorney's opinion," said William J. Emerson, Oakland County Superintendent of Schools.

"I am waiting until Thursday when the bonding companies will have an interpretation of the decision," said Louis Schimmel, Pontiac board of education treasurer and director of Michigan Municipal Advisory Council.

"I would like to talk with the State Tax Commission in Lansing before I comment on the effect of the decision," said W. Raymond Ransom, Pontiac city assessor.

"I've got to know more about this before I offer an opinion," said John Austin, Oakland County auditor.

History of Michigan tax philosophy has always been that local initiative is necessary, said Emerson. In this case it appears that if one district in the county (whose boundary lines overlap another county similar to the Washtenaw situation) insists upon using the state equalized figures, then the entire county will have to use the same figures.

Pittsfield hailed the Washtenaw board of supervisors into court when that school district based its tax figures on state equalized and the supervisors refused to levy the taxes on those figures.

A difference of $11,703 existed in the Pittsfield district between local assessments and state equalized figures.

The decision, written by Associate Justice Leland W. Carr, said the final authority for determining true cash value of property for tax purposes is the State Board of Equalization.

"There can only be one value of property within a county," said the decision, "and when a disparity among local units of the government occurs, the state equalized value should be used."

The opinion relied upon the provision in the Michigan Constitution (Article X, Sec. 3, 5 and 7) which calls for "uniform" taxation. The Constitution (in Sec. 7) sets a maximum for local units of government to raise taxes.

For the first nine months of the year, travel mileage was 3 per cent higher for the country as a whole. This gave a rate of 6.2 deaths per 100 million miles, or the lowest on record for the period, the council said.

The Day in Birmingham

Commission Debates Need for Second City Parking Lot

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM—Does the city need a second parking lot only about three blocks from the Pierce-Merrill site now being acquired for that same purpose?

This is the dilemma facing city commissioners and presented at last night's commission meeting. The question arose over a request from owner of property immediately west of the S. S. Kresge Co. building on West Maple, for an alley behind their property.

If a parking lot were constructed adjacent to the city-owned Kresge lot, which has an estimated 90 per cent use, an alley could be provided at the same time. Funds for the city's share would be covered in the same bond issue that will finance the Pierce-Merrill lot.

Since condemnation procedures would have to follow in either decision, City Manager Donald C. Egbert was asked to study the two alternatives and report back on the advisability of both proposals.

Like a parking lot, an alley would be paid for through special assessments. But an alley would mean condemning a doctor's office behind the Maple-Bates corner property as well as the north edge of two residential properties on Martin.

Condemnation for an approximate 41-car parking lot in the lucrative area would involve the doctor's office, the two residential properties and a car-wash business.

Lawmakers are faced with answering a 964 question on the equity of a double assessment for property owners already included in the proposed $250,000 Pierce-Merrill lot assessment. On the other hand, Egbert pointed out that no other quadrant is as ripe for parking facilities as this area.

"Decorating the Home for Christmas" will be aptly demonstrated tomorrow at a lecture open to the public, by Mrs. Chester Cook, national flower show judge, radio and television speaker, lecturer and magazine writer.

Mrs. Cook, of Lexington, Mass., will show wreaths, swags, garlands and table decorations for formal or informal backgrounds, when she speaks at 2 p. m. at the Community House. The use of unusual plant materials for contemporary living will also be demonstrated at the lecture sponsored by both the local and Bloomfield Hills branches of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Assn.

Applications for four $1,320 scholarship awards being offered for the 1955-56 school year by Cranbrook Academy of Art, will be received until March 1. It has been announced.

Awarded according to artistic merit to painters, weavers, architects, ceramists, metalmiths, sculptors and designers, the scholarships cover tuition, room and board for the two-semester school year.

Everything from soup to nuts will be dished up by women of St. James Episcopal Church from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. tomorrow. A Christmas bazaar has been done away with and instead each church woman has come up with her food specialty, which will be offered at the Food Fair.

City Health Nurse Anyee Gillette's October health report shows an upward trend in the mumps department, with 38 cases as against the 12 reported in September. She also reported 3 polio cases, two more than the month before, and 15 cases of chicken pox compared with 14 in September.

Birmingham residents were a fairly healthy lot in other communicable diseases, however, with her report listing 2 whooping cough cases, 1 pneumonia and 1 German measles.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul McCorkle will take over the Lions Club program following tomorrow's noon luncheon at the Community House, with

Friends, Foes Pay Tribute to Churchill

inated book, the gift of the House to the man who has served in it for more than 50 years.

Sir Winston received the book with a polite, old-world bow. Standing in front of the audience, he slowly leafed through it admiring each page and the signatures of the hundreds of fellow MPs who had signed.

Reluctantly, he finally handed it to an aide, and grinned broadly when Grenfell wished him many years of life and "peaceful coexistence."

The famed Churchillian wit sparkled as of old as he replied to the tribute. Amid laughter, he cracked that the auditory comments about him had "affected my controversial value as a party politician . . . but I shall come round after a bit."

In a serious vein, he told his friends and associates in the immense and unheated hall:

"This is the most memorable and greatest occasion of my life . . . unprecedented in British history . . . to a premier who has not yet retired and may at any time be involved in controversy."

Earlier, Churchill had nervously wiped his glasses and beamed at his wife while the speaker of the House of Commons, William Morrison, wished the Prime Minister a happy birthday to wild applause.

When Sir Winston and Lady Churchill entered the hall, muffled drums beat out the first of three notes of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, the musical symbol of the Prime Minister's famed V-for-victory sign.

Then 2,500 voices filled the air with cheers as the couple walked to the sunlit dais to the strains of Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance" march.

He thanked the assemblage for the tributes "which deeply touched my heart . . . which are beyond what I deserve and which I shall treasure as long as I live."

And then he added slowly:

"I am now nearing the end of my journey. I hope I still have some service to render. I am sure I shall never forget the emotion of this day."

As the Churchills drove to the hall after the state opening of Parliament in the House of Lords, thousands lining the streets shouted: "Good old Winnie."

Most of the Churchills' immediate family were present for the ceremonies and were scheduled to join him in a private luncheon afterwards at his official residence, No. 10 Downing St.

ligations and which would impair the alliance of the free nations."

He departed from his prepared text to insert the phrase about protecting U. S. citizens. He said perhaps international communism was trying in a new way to divide the free nations, remarking:

"They seek to be soothing in Europe," they are provocative in Asia."

The United States, he said, is committed by the U. N. Charter to try to settle international disputes by peaceful means.

"Therefore," he said, "our first duty is to exhaust peaceful means of sustaining our international rights and those of our citizens, rather than resorting to war action such as a naval and air blockade of Red China."

He noted the existence of "a vast Russian military establishment" and said that safety from attack lies in the maintenance of an effective defense coupled with "retaliatory power."

"We believe," he said, "that the greatest contribution we can make to peace is to be ready to fight, if need be, and to have the resources and the allies to assure that an aggressor would surely be defeated."

"That does not mean being truculent or provocative or militaristic. It does mean seeking peace not only with the heart, but also with the mind."

He said that the continental defense system now building "should enable us to knock down a very high percentage of any Red bombers engaged in hostile missions against the United States."

He said the danger from Communist subversion is particularly great in Asia and Africa, and the situation in the Indo-Chinese state of Viet Nam recently mentioned by the Geneva peace agreement is "precarious."

He said one of the measures needed to combat subversion in these areas is a program for financing economic development.

Tax Officials Study State Court Ruling

"true cash value" as the basis for valuations.

Citing a ruling which had already established precedence in the case of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, the decision in that case said that state equalized figures prevailed over local valuations. This Authority touches five different counties and since 1946 has collected one-quarter mill from these areas based on state figures.

"In any event, we know that it will not touch the tax bills ready to be mailed out Dec. 10. It could not change the tax bills if it did become effective in Oakland County, until July for the city of Pontiac and until Dec. 1 of 1955 for the county," said Emerson.

There is about a 20 per cent variance in Oakland County. Under the county figures, the value is $306,008,754. State equalized figures for Oakland County are $1,178,425,000.

In Wayne County there is only a 10 per cent variance and in St. Clair County the figures are almost even.

Emerson said that the school board in Oakland County considered the state equalized figures for their taxes last year when it was first announced by the attorney general that these figures could be used.

"We decided, and the decision was unanimous, that inasmuch as there were so many outstanding bond issues in this county and the taxpayer had been so cooperative in voting extra millage for operation, we would continue to use the county figures here," said Emerson.

He cited the Waterford case which in 1946 asked for the "valuation which most closely carries out constitutional requirements for a uniform rule of taxation." The Supreme Court ruled that the county equalized figure prevailed over the local assessed valuation.

Waives Examination

Charged with issuing a check without sufficient funds, Jack F. Lazenby, 27, of 3173 Oakshire, Berkeley, waived examination and was bound over to circuit court for arraignment Dec. 6 by Pontiac Judge Maurice E. Finnegan. Accused of passing a $149 check, Lazenby was released on a $300 bond.

Nixons End Vacation

NASSAU, Bahamas—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Mrs. Nixon, who have been vacationing here for 10 days, leave today to return to Washington, flying by way of Miami.

Executives Join Standby Force

Government Setting Up Reserve Corps From Business, Labor

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government is taking steps to form an "executive reserve" of business and labor leaders subject to call in case of war.

Thirty or more industry men have been invited by the office of Defense Mobilization (ODM) to an organizing session tomorrow.

ODM will put into operation a standby force of men trained in government duty that may be copied by other agencies with important functions in an emergency.

Officials describe the business-man reserve as an administrative counterpart to the military reserves. They say such a backlog of personnel would help avert the confusion and delays which developed in the hurry-up formation of vital offices in previous emergencies.

ODM Director Arthur S. Flemming said one suggestion to be explored is the assignment of small permanent units to "relocation" sites picked out for government operations should Washington itself be bombed out. There are 30 or more of these points in nearby states.

ODM already has a nucleus for its executive reserve. Various industries have sent a number of top-level men to Washington for temporary government service.

To have a part in the program now taking shape, business and union leaders must be available for full-time duty in an emergency and for refresher training in the meantime.

Bloodstains Still Top Sheppard Evidence

Sheppard himself battered his wife to death with an instrument that has never been found, and that his motive arose from his relations with other women.

Hence the importance of the stain on the basement steps.

For days, prosecution and defense have been locked in desperate struggle over this point. Miss Cowan followed detectives who gave similar testimony.

She is tiny, sweet-faced, bespectacled. She said she has been a medical technologist for nearly 16 years. She now is employed in the coroner's office.

Miss Cowan said she found human blood on steps leading to the second floor, and on the third and sixth steps, from the top, in the basement.

In the house, she said, she conducted two kinds of chemical tests — "leuco-malachite green, and phenolphthalein." In the laboratory, she ran four other analyses. She cut two pieces of wood from the basement steps, she said.

The defense has suggested that the blood specks in the house might have been left by a dog, Koko, that formerly belonged to the Sheppards.

In later testimony, Miss Cowan may identify, as to type, the blood that stained the steps.

A prosecution attorney said Marilyn Sheppard's blood was typed "RH-negative with an M-factor."

Sheppard has yet to be confronted by Susan Hayes, the 24-year-old hospital worker who formerly was his assistant. The state contends he was "infatuated" with her.

did not have to be under civil service and that it was not bound by the usual state accounting and financing regulations.

As part of the suit, the authority asked the Supreme Court to rule on 16 points as to whether the toll road law was constitutional. The authority sought this ruling as a preliminary to selling 187 million dollars worth of revenue bonds to build its first turnpike from Saginaw to Flat Rock, asserting that the bond sale could not be consummated without a court ruling that its basic law was constitutional.

Hit-Run Motorist Is Sent to Prison

BURTON F. WHITE, 28, of 19556 Wakenen, Detroit, yesterday received from one to five years in Jackson State Prison after pleading guilty Nov. 4 to leaving an accident—Aug. 27 which resulted in the death of Leonard W. Jenne, 34, of 1186 Cambridge, Berkley.

Oakland County Circuit Court Judge H. Russell Holland said he would recommend the minimum term if White's conduct in prison warranted it.

White fled to Chicago where he learned of Jenne's death in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. He then proceeded to Arlington, Ore. where he was arrested by state police.

When the accident occurred, Berkley police said, White and three juveniles were fleeing a gas station where they had a $190 car-repair bill.

Machine Strikes Back at Irate Ice Buyer

TRENTON, N. J. (UP)—Maddie De Witt of Pennell, Pa., put a quarter in an automatic ice machine yesterday and nothing happened.

Peeved, De Witt shook, then pounded the machine.

No ice.

Finally, De Witt kicked the machine. A 100-pound block of ice slid down the chute and floored him.

Walled Lake OKs School Bond Issue, Tax Increase

Project Passes by Big Margin

$825,000 Expansion Plan to Cost Taxpayers 3-Mill Increase

WALLED LAKE — Casting more than 1,300 votes yesterday, Walled Lake school district residents approved an $825,000 bond issue, and a three mill tax increase to finance a two-year building program.

The bond issue was well received, and gained an 805-485 victory. Raising the millage was approved 825-504.

Proposed construction to be undertaken are six classrooms each at Glenary and Commerce schools, a high school gymnasium and offices, a multi-purpose room at Twin Beach, and a kindergarten at Walled Lake elementary.

An additional 13 classrooms to be constructed in 1956 would be either as additions to present structures, or as a new elementary unit.

Although the millage proposal voted upon stipulated a six mill increase, the actual change will be only three mills, since three mills, or $3.00 per $1,000 of equalized valuation, currently being levied for debt retirement, is being discontinued.

This reduction is partially possible due to the increased valuation of the district.

"The vote indicates that a substantial majority of the people of this district want good schools with full day sessions, and are willing to pay for them," Supt. of Schools Clifford H. Smart stated.

The school administration and board of education have attempted to provide these facilities, and maintain high educational standards in the district.

"They extend their appreciation to all of those residents who, in this election, backed them up in this important matter," he added.

The board of education will meet Dec. 13 to decide the next steps in putting into effect the voter's decision at the polls.

Enrollment in the school district has been increasing 500 students each year. The board of education pointed out prior to the vote that with such an increase each year, it would be impossible to maintain full day sessions unless new classrooms were built.

The proposal put to the voters had the approval of all the PTA groups and school committees in the district.

The bonds will be sold as construction progresses, saving some interest costs, and making it possible to obtain more favorable interest rates.

The bond issue will be spread over a 15-year period, with the last five years callable. This would permit full payment in ten years, if the area's valuations increase as anticipated.

Band Group Slates Calendar Campaign

MILFORD — More than 200 members of the Huron Valley School bands will meet at the Highland school Wednesday night for a general meeting to lay plans for a "Birthday Calendar" campaign.

This project is the only money-making event of the year, and all proceeds go for new uniforms and instruments.

The calendar will list meeting dates of various organizations, birthdays, anniversaries and a special space for school activities. Local merchants will have an opportunity of buying space for advertising.

This is the second year the Band Boosters have sponsored the calendar project. Last year profit for the venture netted the group $426.41, after expenses, according to Mr. Harold Edwards, president.

The members of the entire Huron Valley school system bands will present a program at the Wednesday night meeting, preceding the final arrangements for the calendar campaign.

Plan Waterford Township Park

Property on Lochaven, Cooley Lake Roads to Be Site

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Plans for Waterford Township's first park development were drawn up by the Waterford Township Board last night.

The area is located on property on Lochaven and Cooley Lake Roads. This plot was deeded to the township for use as a wild life sanctuary.

A fund of $1,000 was made immediately available to a yet to be appointed planning committee for the development. Previously the board had set aside $2,000 for this proposed park.

Initial plans, as suggested by Township Recreation Director Thomas Belton, call for a softball field, toilets, pump, picnic tables, grills, and a new road.

Belton pointed out that the area is ideal for Boy Scout use as an overnight camping site and day camp.

Residents of the Four Towns are where the park is to be located, are showing intense interest in the project, Belton said. The PTA, scouts, and church groups already have volunteered the labor needed to develop the park.

The planning committee will be named from residents in the area.

Livestock Show Nears Naming Champion Steer

CHICAGO (AP)—The International Livestock Exposition reaches one of its most exciting moments today with the naming of the show's grand champion steer.

This is the moment that can bring riches as well as honor to the winner. Last year's grand champion brought a record $20,100 at auction.

One of the prime competitors for the big award is 16-year-old Janice Hullinger of Maury, Iowa, whose 1,088 pound Aberdeen-Angus, "Shorty," won the Junior Grand Championship Saturday.

The first grand championship in open competition at the International was named yesterday in the sheep show. Purdue university won the wether grand championship on a Southdown named "Purdue's Boilermaker," a 100-pound spring lamb.

The top titles in the grain and hay show also were bestowed after an earlier hassle which resulted in the naming of a second Corn King.

The 1955 Wheat King of North America is Elson Baur of Unionville, Mich., a newcomer in the exposition's grain show. He won the wheat crown on Herkin, a soft white winter variety of grain. It weighed 61.3 pounds to the bushel. The reserve wheat champion is Fred Elmquist of Potter, Neb., who showed a Cheyenne variety, a hard red winter wheat.

Selection of the Wheat King went cautiously because judges were wary of repeating a situation in which the Corn King was named and then disqualified because of complaints that the winning sample had some kernels glued into place.

Couple Married in Methodist Rite at North Branch

NORTH BRANCH — Beatrice Blackmer, the daughter of Mrs. Etta Blackmer of North Branch, and Stanley Hobson, son of Mrs. Gladys Hobson of Clifford, were married in a private ceremony at the Methodist Parsonage Thursday.

Housing Plan Gets Stop Order

Court Restrains Moving of 49 Buildings to Site in Farmington Twp.

An Oakland County Circuit Court order has been issued restraining William Saffady of Detroit from moving 19 buildings containing 30 housing units onto an 11-acre site bordering 12 Mile road near Halstead road in Farmington Township.

The action was obtained by Fred Schroeder and his wife, Sadie, who live on adjoining property. The pair say they sold the land in question to Saffady on Oct. 20 with the impression he planned to construct "new dwellings and houses of good quality" on it.

Now, they assert, Saffady intends to place "used buildings, so called duplex houses of sub-standard and inferior construction" on the property.

The Schroeders say the homes are "wartime emergency housing" now located in Detroit, which are below standards set for their present location. If moved, the Schroeders claim, the buildings would hurt the value of their property and other homes in the vicinity.

They ask the court to cancel the deed and allow them to return to Saffady money paid for the land. No hearing date has been set.

Waterford Parents Meet Originator of Parental Education Experiment

By JANE WINDELER
Press Waterford Correspondent

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Some 100 parents, teachers and social workers from Waterford Township, Detroit and Flint gathered last night at Mumford High School to meet Ethel Kavin, originator and director of the parent education project, "Parenthood in a Free Nation."

Still in the experimental stage, this program of training lay-leaders for adult education groups has been limited to selected areas in 18 states and two Canadian provinces.

Waterford Township School district is one of the areas in the pilot study.

Offered by the University of Chicago under the Ford fund for Adult Education, it features a basic study course.

Miss Kavin said, "In the more than a quarter century that I have been working in this field, I have felt that parents hungered for a complete, systematic course that they could develop for themselves."

"Parenthood is the most important job in the world," she said, "but we don't educate for it. Many mistakes might be prevented if parents had a working knowledge of how to understand and guide children wisely."

Miss Kavin has a master's degree in psychology, and has served child guidance clinics in many cities in this country, as well as London and Vienna.

For five years, she was adult education chairman for the national Parent Teacher Association. Two years ago, she and six other child consultants were called to Pasadena by the Ford Foundation to explore the possibilities of parent education.

Her method was the one chosen to be used.

Because Miss Kavin felt that the major threat in our time is from totalitarianism, either of communistic or fascist type, this course is designed to help parents become mature, responsible citizens, who in turn, will help their children perpetuate democracy in a free world.

Miss Kavin, and her assistant, Mrs. Caroline Mitchell, were introduced by Mrs. Erma Unruh, head of the family living department of the Detroit School system.

Officers Are Chosen at Calvary Baptist

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Russell Johnson has been elected Sunday School superintendent of the newly organized Calvary Baptist Church, which meets at the Waterford Township high school.

A SWITCH OF THE PITCH
-AND AWAY YOU GO!
The biggest sensation in years is what "variable pitch propellers" have done for Dynaflo Drive*

It happens like this. You need pickup — and pronto. So you get it. You get it by pushing the accelerator pedal of a 1955 Buick all the way to the floor board.

Then — without jerk or lag or lurch or pause — you get action! You get action whether you're just starting off — or asking for a safety-surge of power out on the highway.

There's nothing like it in past experience — because there has never been anything like it in an automobile before.

This is action that comes from the principle of variable pitch propellers used on modern planes. Their propeller blades change "pitch" for take-off — and cut hundreds of feet off the time required to lift a plane from a runway.

And the amazing fact is — in a 1955 Buick Dynaflo Drive there are 20 little propeller-like blades that also change their pitch, just like the propeller blades of a plane.

This is a transmission engineer's dream of heaven. A build-up of momentum as smooth as flowing oil — and almost as quick as lightning — plus better gas mileage in cruising range. It's what the whole automobile industry has been shooting for — and Buick has it.

So there's only one thing for you to do. Try out a 1955 Buick, and soon.

Try it out for quick and thrilling action, as we've mentioned. Try it out for room and comfort and ride. And by all means, cast an admiring eye on its style — for it beats the high-fashion Buicks which set the pattern in the successful year just ended.

WHY I HAVE MONEY TO SPEND

By a Wall Street Journal Subscriber

Many people have less cash this year. But my case is different. Last year I subscribed to the Wall Street Journal. I heeded its warnings. I not only protected my regular income, but increased it. Also, the Journal gave me ideas on how to save money on food and clothing. And articles on taxes helped me keep my taxes down. So this year I have some extra cash to spend for travel and entertainment and a new car. This story is typical. You will be surprised at the many practical ways the Journal helps you in your business and personal life. If you think The Wall Street Journal is just for millionaires, you are wrong. It is a wonderful aid to salaried men making $7,000 to $20,000 a year. It is valuable to owners of small business concerns. It can be of priceless benefit to ambitious young men.

The Wall Street Journal is the complete business DAILY. Has largest staff of writers on business and finance. The only business paper served by all big press associations. ## Gains Scored by Feed Grains CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat and soy beans eased on the Board of Trade today but feed grains scored small gains. Dealings were fairly active. Selling in wheat reflected dull domestic flour business, fears of deliveries of cash wheat on December futures and an indication of a little moisture in some of the dry areas of the Southwest over the next few days.

Wheat near the top of the first hour was 1/2 cent lower, December $2.37 1/2, corn 1/4 cent higher, December $1.82 1/2, oats 1/4 cent higher, December $1.26 1/2, soybeans unchanged to 1 cent lower, January $2.87 1/2, and hard 10 cents lower to 2 cents a hundred pounds higher, December $14.12.
