NAMED PRESIDENT — Gen. Fuad Shehab was voted by Lebanon's parliament to succeed Camille Chamoun as president of the strife-torn nation. He was named by an overwhelming majority in an effort to bring peace to the country after 83 days of civil strife.

A Lebanese minister, who left his native country shortly after the start of the revolution there, today expressed his disapproval of the election of Gen. Faud Shehab as the country's president.

The Rev. Samuel B. Doctorian voiced his sentiments and described the revolution following his opening address at an 11-day interdenominational camp meeting near Romeo.

REV. SAMUEL B. DOCTORIAN

The Rev. Mr. Doctorian, 28, is the pastor of one of the larger churches in Beirut.

"Our former president, Camille Chamoun, is the best. Don't misunderstand me; Shehab is a good man, but I just wish he had backed the president all the way," the young minister said.

The Lebanese pastor took the last plane out of Beirut July 17. A rule had just been passed, he said, forbidding Lebanese nationalists from leaving the country. It was only through the intervention of the Beirut chief of police that he was allowed to board the plane for Brussels, then to the United States.

"I hear the American troops may be leaving. That will be a shame. Our problems are not settled yet, and we want them to stay," he said.

CHEERED MARINES

"When the Marines arrived, it was such a thrill for all of us — we relaxed! I walked through streets filled with cheering people. They fired guns in the air out of sheer joy until 11 o'clock that night," he said.

"We felt that now we were secure, and the rebels would stop their shooting. We've lived under strife for 12 weeks, and the shops have been closed all that time," the pro-Western minister explained.

"Lebanon is a poverty-stricken country—I hate to see so many families hungry. When the Amer-

Explosion Kills Two Lebanese

Blast Aimed at Rushing Withdrawal of Troops, Chamoun's Retirement

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Terrorists shattered Lebanon's post-election calm today with a fatal bomb attack apparently aimed at speeding American troop withdrawal and retirement of President Camille Chamoun.

At least two persons were killed and 15 wounded by the heavy bomb blast near headquarters of the Lebanese Army troops outside the rebel-held Basta quarter of Beirut.

Simultaneously, extremist rebels showered leaflets across the capital city demanding pullback of the American "new colonists"—a reference to the U. S. Marines and soldiers sent there at government request to help maintain order.

Saeb Salam, head of the rebel forces holed up in the Basta quarter here, immediately disclaimed any responsibility for the two outbursts.

"It is impossible that any of my men are responsible for this violence," Salam said.

He sided with pro-government leaders yesterday in electing Maj. Gen. Fuad Shehab, army chief of staff, as president to succeed Chamoun. But he warned that his movement would go on until Chamoun stepped down and the Americans got out of Lebanon, thus in effect keeping the country in a state of armed truce.

Summit at U. N. About Aug. 12 Proposed by Ike

Hammarskjold Seeking Separate Talks Today to Hasten Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today proposed a Middle East summit conference within the United Nations about Aug. 12.

In a new letter to Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Eisenhower for the first time committed himself to the idea of a top-level meeting, and called on Khrushchev to join him there.

At the United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold called in Soviet and Western diplomats for separate talks today in an effort to speed arrangements for a summit meeting on the Middle East.

He acted shortly after Britain formally asked that the U.N. Security Council hold a heads-of-government meeting Aug. 12.

Eisenhower named the threat of "further indirect aggression" in the Middle East as the real issue for a meeting of chiefs of government, rejecting the Moscow contention that the trouble stems from "aggression" by the United States in Lebanon.

And he turned down in sharp language the idea of any such session outside of the U.N. He told Khrushchev that would amount to an effort to set up big power dictation such as "you imposed on Eastern Europe."

Eisenhower advised Khrushchev he is seeking arrangement of a special Security Council session through Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. Ambassador to the U.N., and that it can be held in New York or some other city—but not Moscow.

EXPECTS TO ATTEND

"If such a meeting is arranged," Eisenhower wrote, "I expect to attend and participate and I hope that you would do likewise."

A few minutes after the letter was released, Eisenhower conferred at the White House with Lodge. The ambassador was in Washington for a Cabinet meeting later in the day.

DELIVERED IN MOSCOW

The letter had been delivered in Moscow a few hours earlier.

Testifies on Alleged Sweetheart Labor Contract

Probers Hear Pontiac Mechanic

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pontiac auto mechanic Joseph Warren testified today before the Senate Rackets Committee on an alleged sweetheart labor contract, and intercession to preserve business for a Detroit coverall firm.

Warren said Eddie Petroff, secretary-treasurer of Teamster Local 376 in Detroit, told him that in 1957 Teamster pickets were called off in a strike against the Harvey Mack Pontiac Sales Agency in Detroit, and that intercession by Joseph Lehr and a Mr. Davis was involved.

Lehr is part owner of the Star Coverall Co., described by Rackets Committee consul Robert Kennedy as infested with racketeers. The committee is exploring alleged labor rackets in the Detroit laundry business.

Warren said the strike ended with a contract between Frank McLaughlin, who owned the agency, and the Teamsters, which provided no benefits for the union members except a health and welfare plan.

Kennedy asked whether this wasn't a sweetheart contract.

"I suppose you could call it that," Warren replied. "I don't know." But he later said it seemed to be a sweetheart deal.

Warren testified the agency later became the Gib Bergstrom Agency, after its sale to a man of that name.

He said that under the new ownership the employes, who paid half the costs, became dissatisfied with the service they got from Star and voted to switch the overall supply contract from that firm to the Arrow Supply Co. But Herman Kierdorf, a Jimmy Hoffa aide, blocked this.

JOSEPH WARREN

This Oxford auto mechanic is in Washington to appear before the Senate Rackets Committee probing alleged racketeering in the Detroit area.

He said Kierdorf went to the employes and talked them out of the change, inducing Star to promise better service. He said it seemed an odd thing for Kierdorf to do because "it was none of his business."

The 32-year-old Warren man lives at 1940 Lakeville Rd. Oxford, is now a machanic at the Pontiac Retail Store, 63 Mt. Clemens St.

A woman witness testified today someone representing himself as "Hoffa of the Teamsters" threatened her in an effort to silence her testimony before the Committee.

Mrs. Nancy Dawson, president of the Dawson Industrial Laundry Co. of Detroit, told the committee the warning for her to "keep your mouth shut" was delivered by telephone to her secretary. She said she didn't know who actually made the call.

The Committee has summoned James R. Hoffa, international president of the Teamsters Union, for questioning next week.

The committee denounced Hoffa in a recent report to the Senate, calling him a consort of gangsters who abused his union power and misused union funds.

Mrs. Dawson gave the senators a note written by her secretary, Virginia Slepak, reporting the telephoned warning.

It was dated July 9.

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) quoted it as

Victim Brutally Beaten, Stabbed This Morning

Police Seeking Clues, Motive in Slaying; See No Sign of Struggle

The night watchman at a Southfield shrubbery firm was found brutally beaten and stabbed to death early this morning.

The victim, Anthony Jasinski, 51, was discovered by a fellow employe at the Southfield branch of Ilgenfritz Nurseries, Inc., 22951 Northwestern Highway.

Redford Post State Police said that Robert Melanson, 63, a landscape gardener, found Jasinski's body crumpled on the floor of a drafting room near the rear of the building.

He had been beaten about the head. A pair of hedge trimmers were run into his neck and he'd been stabbed in the temple with a pair of smaller scissors, said detectives.

Detectives are searching for clues and a motive in the slaying. They reported no signs of a struggle.

Jasinski, a bachelor, lived in a room at the rear of the building. He had been employed there since 1950.

"He was a pretty nice guy and didn't seem to have any enemies," Melanson told police.

The victim's room was ransacked as though someone was searching for something, Southfield Police reported. Otherwise there was no other evidence of an attempted robbery in the nursery.

The company safe showed no signs of having been tampered with and there were no indications of a breakin, detectives asserted.

In view of this, robbery has been ruled out as a motive by investigators, according to Southfield police.

However, further investigation uncovered obscene photos in Jasinski's room which lead police to believe it might be a sex killing.

Police said Jasinski had returned to the nursery at about

53 Passengers Hurt in Wreck

Cross-Country Train Careens Off Tracks Near Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A speeding cross-country streamliner suddenly began to rock and sway and in a matter of moments 11 cars careened off the rails, injuring 53 of its 497 passengers.

Among the injured were Dr. Roger Scholton, 47, and his 10-year-old son, Robert, of Kalamazoo, Mich.

The last six cars of the Milwaukee Road Olympian Hiawatha whiplashed off the tracks and slid down a 20-foot embankment as the train raced into southern Milwaukee County at 90 miles an hour. About 1,000 feet ahead, the deisel-powered engine ground to a stop, five more cars tilting off the rails. All the cars remained upright.

Head brakeman E. C. Holden, 34, said, "The train just started to shake. The 13th car went into the ditch and everything followed. The rest of the train just wriggled and bumped along."

A small fire started in one of the derailed cars but was put out quickly as emergency vehicles from six communities converged on the wreck scene in the quiet farm countryside.

Fifteen ambulances conveyed the injured to four hospitals. Authorities said most of the injuries were minor.

The four-unit diesel and remaining cars went on to Milwaukee, where six more cars were added to provide accommodations for the uninjured. The train was bound from Chicago to Seattle, Wash.

The cause of the wreck was undetermined.

Police Call Divorcee Slayer of Executive

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A pretty divorcee who took poison on a riverbank lover's lane was named by police today as the killer of a handsome drug company executive.

While doctors tried to save the life of Connie Nicholas, 40, Police Capt. Michael Smiley said "We're not looking for anybody else."

Mrs. Nicholas was found unconscious in her car near Fall Creek a few hours after police broadcast a pickup order for her in the fatal shooting of Forrest Teel, 54, early yesterday.

Capt. Smiley called Mrs. Nicholas "a spurned woman" after 15 years' friendship with Teel.

Teel, who was married and the father of a 14-year-old son, was executive vice president in charge of sales for the huge drug firm of Eli Lilly & Co.

Mrs. Nicholas' ex-husband, Curtis Nicholas, Bentor Harbor, Mich., bond salesman, said he had never heard of Teel. He did not contest a divorce granted Mrs. Nicholas last June 13.

BOOKED IN CASE

Mrs. Nicholas was booked on a preliminary charge of murder.

She was being treated for barbituric poisoning. Doctors said she was not responding to intravenous feeding and penicillin. She was still unconscious.

Smiley said he learned Teel had been dating another woman for the last three months.

Without disclosing the new girl friend's name or saying where he got his information, Smiley said he reconstructed the Teel shooting this way:

Mrs. Nicholas drove to the fashionable Meadowbrook apartment area Wednesday night and spotted Teel's white sedan in front of the other woman's apartment. Parking her own car nearby, she waited in Teel's car until he emerged.

Teel and Mrs. Nicholas argued, and Teel drove her to her car in the parking lot. Mrs. Nicholas then shot him three times and drove away in her own car.

Teel started to back his own car out of the lot but blacked out, and the car circled twice in reverse across a divided street, ramming against a light pole. He died before an ambulance arrived.

Labor Leader Sues Barbers

$150,000 in Damages Asked by Scott From International Union

Robert P. Scott, controversial labor leader who is scheduled to testify before the Senate Rackets Committee next week, yesterday afternoon filed a $150,000 damage suit against the International Barbers Union, Oakland County Local 552, and their officers.

Scott asked the damages because he was expelled from the barbers' union for "dual unionism."

Scott alleges that his expulsion was retaliation because he testified last year before the rackets committee against James Hoffa, president of the International Teamsters Union.

He was expelled by the barbers because he was a member of the Michigan Barbers Assn., an employers group.

In his suit, Scott says he had permission from his union to represent the employers. He also charges his ouster was in violation of the union's constitution as well as the U. S. and Michigan Constitutions.

Scott asked the Oakland County Circuit Court to set aside his ouster and to levy damages against the union and its officers for malicious damages to his reputation, health and finances.

Two in Oakland County

Cite 10 Worst Intersections

Oakland County has two locations on the State Highway Dept.'s list of "ten most hazardous intersections."

The list was compiled by surveying 848 high accident locations on Michigan's 9,300 mile rural trunkline system.

The Oakland intersections are: U. S. 10 at Walton boulevard and Williams Lake road, Waterford Township, which in 1957 had 24 casualties in 41 accidents.

U. S. 24 at 12 Mile road, Southfield Township, 22 casualties in 20 accidents.

The top 10 locations accounted for 350 accidents last year with 292 casualties. Studies are under way at all 10 spots to improve their record by design and signal light changes.

Injunction Halts Naming of Head for Pontiac Jail

A temporary injunction to halt the naming of a administrator of the new city jail was obtained yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court by two Pontiac police officers.

Patrolmen Lon Peters and Harold Hayden charged the city was about to name a civilian head of the jail, when the job should go to a policeman under State Civil Service Act 78.

The injunction was served yesterday on City Manager Walter K. Willman, Chief Herbert W. Straley and Personnel Manager Harold Marshall.

A hearing is set for Monday before Judge Clark J. Adams, on why the injunction should not be made permanent.

The jail is in the new Public Safety Building opened last September and is not in use. The city had planned to name Stephen Navarre, now with the Oakland County Sheriff's Dept., as administrator on a six-month trial basis.

Residents Speak Up on Township Meeting

Waterford is the only township in Oakland County that will decide at the primary election Tuesday whether or not to continue the annual township meeting.

Many Waterford Township residents admit to ignorance of what goes on at the annual meeting held each April.

This is the only township meeting of the year in which residents may conduct business from the floor.

Engineer Leonard Withey of 1311 Brambles Dr., feels that to abolish the annual meeting would eliminate governmental affairs.

He said, "I like grass-roots government. The annual meeting is one of the grandest ways of participating personally in the functions of local government, and we would lose this privilege if the law were abolished."

WITHEY

One woman's opinion is that there's always two sides to a story, and Mrs. William H. Denmark admits that she is "on the fence" regarding the issue.

"One small group could control the rights of the entire population, at the meetings," she said. "However, if it were done away with other people would lose the right of ever having anything to say about what goes on in the local government."

DENMARK

Real Estate broker Russell Hicks of 5880 Du-Bay St. is definitely in favor for the abolishment of the 60-year-old law. He says that it is dangerous because a minority could control the 45,000 population if they desired.

HICKS

He added, "It would appear that the annual meetings, together with caucases and other township proceedures as they were originally designed, are no longer feasible for use in a township the size of Waterford."

Housewife Mrs. Roy P. Hepler of 101 Marion St., admits that she hasn't been as interested in township meeting activities as she should be, but does not want this right eliminated.

"Whether we are active or not, it's good to know that Americans still have the privilege of standing up at a public meeting and voicing their personal opinions and be recognized," she said.

HEPLER

A Pontiac school teacher, Roy M. Gallipo, residing in Waterford Township at 4409 Forest Dr., admits that the law is antiquated, but if more interest could be stimulated in annual township meetings there would be more concern in all phases of government operation.

GALLIPO

He added, "This is the only time that people can actually have their say. Elsewhere, there is too much distance between the voter and his government and just how officials are operating."

Regarding the chaos that one small group at the meeting could wreak with a well organized government, Mrs. Peter Imbrunone of 4281 Marcus St., says that it would serve the township right if something like this would happen.

IMBRUNONE

"It's my honest opinion that if one group has the gumption to want enough to go after it — and there isn't enough other representation bucking the issue, then it's the people's own fault."

Drayton Plains attorney William E. Jackson believes that the annual township meeting has outlived its usefulness under modern conditions in that it was formerly a focal point for yearly government administration for thinly populated areas.

He said, "Today more and more concentrated authority and responsibility has been required of the township board necessitating daily and weekly decisions. Complex problems caused by rapid population growth, must be solved immediately — not yearly."

JACKSON

Recent action by the state legislature has made it possible for townships with more than 5,000 population to put the issue to a vote.

Three Rob Bank Harper Woods

No Estimate of Loot Yet; Stickup Witnessed by 15 Customers

DETROIT (AP) — Three gunmen wearing sunglasses held up a suburban Harper Woods branch of the National Bank of Detroit today and escaped with cash snatched from cages of seven tellers.

An estimate of the loot was not available immediately.

Two of the gunmen covered 15 customers and the bank's employes, while a third raced through cages of tellers, scooping up cash.

The three escaped in a Plymouth sedan.

The branch is known as the Kellywoodcrest, James Thompson is manager.

The bandits warned customers and employes to keep quiet and no one would get hurt. They did just that.

Police recovered the getaway car within an hour. It was found on a parking lot at the huge Eastland shopping center about three-quarters of a mile from the bank.

An hour after the holdup bank officials still declined to estimate the loss.

None of the customers was molested and nothing was taken from any of them.

reading in part "tell Mrs. Dawson keep her mouth shut and all will be all right. There will be no trouble."

Mrs. Dawson said the secretary quoted the caller as stating he was "Hoffa of the teamsters."

The committee had announced recently it had arranged police protection for a woman witness, who had been threatened and who, it was feared, might come to harm for cooperating in the hearings.

This was the first official word that Mrs. Dawson was the witness although word had leaked out yesterday identifying her.

The committee heard testimony yesterday that Herman Kierdorf, a Detroit lieutenant of Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, has used his union power to swing lucrative business to favored laundry and overall supply firms. Witnesses said the labor troubles of nesses said the labor troubles promptly.

The witnesses said much of this occurred last fall and early this year—after Hoffa had pledged in testimony to the committee last September to fight corruption in his scandal-buffeted union. Hoffa is to testify again next week.

Kennedy said he intends during the day to question Kierdorf and Lehn. Other witnesses were listed as Petroff ,Dawson and Hanley Taylor, Detroit auto dealers.

Vincent Meli, one of Lehr's partners in Star, acknowledged yesterday he knows men the committee calls gangsters. But he denied testimony of other witnesses that Kierdorf used union influence to get business for the Star firm and away from some other companies.

Meli said his company's gross business has risen year by year from about $70,000 in its first 13 months in 1952-53 to $211,642 in the 12 months ended Oct. 31, 1957.

A string of witnesses from Detroit area auto sales and laundry businesses testified that establishments which swung their business to companies favored by Lehr and Kierdorf wound up with sweetheart labor contracts with the Teamsters that provided few if any benefits for their employes.

The deals involved the supply and laundering of uniforms, overalls and linens used in various businesses.

U. S. Stages Test Over Pacific

N-Blast at Edge of Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—A nuclear explosive was set off today in the fringe of space by the United States. The test, carried out at Johnston Island in the Pacific, apparently was part of the effort to develop an antimissile missile.

An official announcement by the Atomic Energy Commission and Defense Department said only that a test detonation of a nuclear warhead in a missile occurred above the island. It was described as part of this summer's nuclear weapons test series in the Pacific.

However, first indications were that an Army Redstone ballistic missile was used to send the nuclear-loaded nose to an altitude approaching 100 miles.

This is about the point to where the earth's atmosphere disappears entirely and the void of space begins.

The Army Redstone ballistic missile has a normal lateral range of about 200 miles. Fired at a virtually vertical angle, the Redstone missile thus presumably could attain a height of about 100 miles.

The Redstone missile now is part of the Army's standard equipment. It apparently was chosen for today's experiment because of its reliability in firing. The Redstone is a surface bombardment type, and is not intended to be the eventual antimissile missile on which development work is under way.

The AEC announced in May that Johnston Island had been chosen for test firings of defensive missiles armed with nuclear warheads. Today's explosion was the first announced test of the weapons there.

The only previously disclosed high-up nuclear shot was fired by the United States last year at the Nevada nuclear proving grounds. At that time, a Genie Air Force missile, designed for air defense, was exploded at a height about three miles above the earth.

The flash from today's explosion lighted up the sky early today at Honolulu, about 700 miles from Johnston Island.

GMC Truck and Coach Public Relations Man Named to Post

The appointment of Bernard W. Crandell, public relations director for GMC Truck & Coach Division, to the key Pontiac Area United Fund campaign position of publicity and promotion chairman, was announced today by Philip J. Monaghan, 1958 campaign chairman.

Crandell, a member of the Fund's Public Relations Advisory Committee since its inception on April 4, 1956, will be serving in the same campaign post which he held during last year's drive.

Crandell will supervise and coordinate the preparation of all promotional materials and ideas to be used in the forthcoming Fall campaign.

Crandell has served actively in volunteer United Fund work since he became employed at the Truck plant eight years ago. In addition, he is a member of Rotary and the chairman of the Automotive Manufacturers Association Truck Public Relations Committee.

The appointment of Crandell is the first major campaign division leader to be named by Monaghan, general manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division, and a General Motors vice-president.

The chairman of the reorganized Women's Division will be announced in the next few days according to Monaghan.

The Day in Birmingham

Voters Asked to Be Sure of Proper Polling Places

BIRMINGHAM—City Clerk Irene Hanley today asked voters to be sure of their particular polling place before Tuesday's primary election.

Some persons due to precinct changes in the area will be casting their ballots in a different voting place for the first time in many years, she pointed out.

Miss Hanley suggested that voters who have any questions visit the city hall where precinct maps are displayed.

In yesterday's school of instruction for the election board members the question of children entering the voting booths with parents was brought up. Miss Hanley answered that election manuals emphasize that only one person may enter an election booth at a time, except in cases of handicapped voters.

"I feel parents should be warned that if they are accompanied into the booth by a child who can read their vote becomes void," Miss Hanley said. "It takes such a short time to cast a ballot that children can safely be left outside the booth."

There are 12 precincts in the city.

Once again Baldwin Public Library has proven that reading is not a practice restricted to adults.

The Summer Reading Roundtable, sponsored by the library, ended yesterday with some 150 youngsters reading about 1,000 books.

Miss Kathleen O'Neill, children's librarian, was hostess to a party at the library yesterday honoring the group.

This year's program required the reading of at least 10 books in order to rate the highest honor of "Knighthood."

Miss O'Neill said 42 boys and girls received the rating. Verbal book reports were required by all participants.

Directors of the Birmingham Branch of the Federal Savings and Loan Association have announced the election of Richard J. Wilson to their board.

Fear New Flood Record

By United Press International

Record flooding was feared in parts of Kansas and Missouri today while hard hit residents struggled to recover from earlier flash floods.

New floods were expected along the Delaware River and Stranger Creek in Eastern Kansas. High waters from streams in north central Missouri rushed toward the Missouri River.

Several areas threatened were hard hit only a few weeks ago.

Weather forecasters said last night that flooding almost as serious as that recorded in 1951 was expected on the Delaware River at Valley Falls and Perry, Kan. The Delaware empties into the Kansas River, which was turned into a torrent seven years ago.

The midnight crest of 29.5 feet on the Delaware at Valley Falls was less than three feet below the record 32.1 crest in the river on June 21, 1951. Still another area approaching the 1951 level was expected on Stranger Creek at Tonganozie, Kan.

Police Call Divorcee Slayer of Executive

a .25-caliber revolver found in Mrs. Nicholas' purse. Three .25-caliber slugs were found in Teel's body and one was found in his car.

Detective Phil Sanders said officers began investigating Mrs. Nicholas after an anonymous man phoned and said: "If Teel was killed by a .25-caliber gun, I can tell you who did it."

In the apartment of Mrs. Nicholas, police found three letters, including a love letter to Teel and another threatening suicide.

Sanders quoted one note as telling Teel she didn't want to be a burden to him, another asked that her body be cremated "in a blue negligee and my ashes scattered from an airplane over an airport."

Sanders said they also learned that Mrs. Nicholas, who had been divorced about two months, had purchased a small gun, and had not reported at the insurance company where she was employed since Tuesday.

Officers were summoned to the scene of Mrs. Nicholas' auto by a passer-by who reported an abandoned car. Deputy Sheriff William Butler said he thought the woman was dead but his flashlight beam revealed tears in her eyes.

"Dead people don't cry," he radioed his office and summoned help.

OKs Censure of Goldfine

House Committee First Strips Report of All References to Adams

WASHINGTON (AP) — The reported stripping of all references to Sherman Adams from a report by House investigators appeared today to have eased the way for a contempt of Congress citation against Bernard Goldfine.

Winding up an all-day session behind closed doors, the House Commerce Committee recommended unanimously yesterday that the full House cite the millionaire Boston textile manufacturer for balking at answering questions.

But before acting, the committee sharply revised a draft report backing up its recommendation for a contempt citation. It was reported that committee Republicans joined Democrats in the unanimous recommendation only after all references to Adams, President Eisenhower's No. 1 assistant, were deleted.

It was understood the report, as finally approved, confines itself strictly to 23 questions Goldfine refused to answer during his stormy appearance before a Commerce subcommittee last month. Goldfine contended the questions were not relevant.

Probate Judges Offering Plan

Tackle Overflow of Mental Cases

Revenue from liquor sales in Michigan might be used to construct hospitals for alcoholics, so their places in mental institutions might be taken by mentally-ill children, Probate Arthur E. Moore suggests.

Judge Moore, of Oakland County, is chairman of a new committee made up of probate judges throughout the state. Their goal is to find hospitalization for some 100 or more mentally ill children who are on hospital waiting lists.

The construction of new hospitals for liquor addicts is one part of an eight-point plan Judge Moore will propose to the committee meeting in Dearborn Tuesday.

The judge's major contention is that there are too many beds presently occupied in mental institutions by persons who could be taken care of elsewhere.

His plan calls for a change in the law to allow superintendents of these hospitals to return to the counties "all mental patients whose primary problem is that of custodial care."

Insane children, there are from 100 to 200 outside hospitals, Judge Moore says, are at a stage in life where they should be given "priority number one" in treatment.

"We know from experience," he added, "that it is better to have an insane child in a hospital than on the street. It is better to have some medical care than a complete void."

Besides asking for a "long range effort" to cut down on the number of custodial patients in the care of the state, the judge believes there should be a new all-out program aimed at the prevention of feeble-mindedness.

If need be, he added, the Legislature should be called into special session to transfer senile patients in state institutions to rest homes. Their places also could be taken by the children, Judge Moore points out.

Furthermore, some mental hospital patients might be put on an out-patient basis.

Another suggestion is that "all behavior problem cases be removed from mental hospitals unless undergoing medical or psychiatric treatment."

"We probate judges are judicial officers of the state," said Judge Moore, explaining his proposal. "We have no right to legislate nor to perform administrative functions.

"But because the public comes to us for relief, we feel obligated toward solution of this problem of inadequate state facilities.

"And we intend to see that something is done about it," he concluded.

More Business Grads

WASHINGTON — Undergraduate and graduate business schools in the United States now turn out about 45,000 graduates a year and award more than 15 per cent of all college and university degrees compared with only 5 per cent in 1933.

Upper Peninsula Is Revelation in Contrasts

By JOE HAAS

COPPER HARBOR — The drive across Michigan's Upper Peninsula to this, its northmost point, is in itself a vacation trip. It affords a great revelation in contrasts.

With Marquette as the dividing line between the areas where the great fortunes were made — in timber to its east, and in iron and copper to its west — there are many ghost town reminders of what once was.

The timber is gone, and as a financial substitute is the tourist, well housed and fed in brand new accommodations, most of which are located in unsurpassed scenic surroundings.

The enormous slag piles of the metals now are being worked over in sorting from them some of the residue that was considered worthless in the boom days. To these localities the tourist also is a salvation.

Southern gas tax dollars have been expended lavishly, in boosting the small local income from that source, on UP highways. They average far better than those south of the Straits.

EXCELS IN BEAUTY

The 50-mile round-trip drive up the Keweenaw Peninsula from Houghton to Copper Harbor exceeds in its beauty any drive we ever made. It all is on new two-lane blacktop pavement.

Going up the east side, the road is almost continuously overhung with trees. The terrain is extremely rolling, and no grading was done for the road. The dips are so numerous that 15 miles per hour is the limit.

Returning down the west side, the road largely is on a high bank overlooking Lake Superior, whose shore is as rugged as that of either of our oceans, with many rocks larger than the Pontiac courthouse—and even older. There's rarely a 10-rod stretch of straight road on either side.

This entire area became so wealthy when nature was being plundered that it attracted investors and other money seekers from all parts of the world.

And it is so far away from Lansing, and in what had become known as "our worthless UP," that it escaped proper assessed valuation for taxes.

TAX 'HONEYMOON' ENDS

It was under the administration of Governor Hazen S. Pingree, a Detroit shoemaker, that this up state taxation honeymoon ended. It was then given a valuation almost as large as that of the southern peninsula.

Property in parcels that each had been assessed for $1,200 saw them increased 10 times, to $12,000, on the first shot, and then to $120,000, or 100 times the original value, on later valuations.

This made the UP mad, and there was strong talk of "seceding" from Michigan, and forming a new state to be called "Superior," with its capital at Marquette.

But the trees and mines continued so prolific that UP could pay its just share of the taxes for many years. This, however, gave them a new power in politics, which they still exercise, although the mines and trees have largely petered out —and their valuation is reduced accordingly.

Just-Wed Man, 72, Dies in Wife's Arms

BRISBANE (AP) — A 72-year-old American who married last Saturday died in his wife's arms last night.

Fletcher Kerkhoff of Attleboro, Mass., had a heart attack as he and his 69-year-old bride, the former Mrs. Sylvia MacAuliffe of Sydney, watched the sunset at Coolangatta, 60 miles south of Brisbane. He died within seconds.

Both Kerkhoff and Mrs. MacAuliffe were widowed. They met on a Pacific cruise and were married in Sydney.

Girls Start Work at 17

WASHINGTON — Statistics show that most American women begin working at about 17 or 18, the time they are graduated from high school. Although a few girls marry right after finishing high school and some others go on to college, most girls take jobs.

First Marines Leave Lebanon

Their Enlistments Up 2 Months Ago; Coming Home for Discharge

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—The first Marines to be pulled out of Lebanon passed through Naples today on their way back to the United States for discharge.

The movement did not signal the beginning of an American withdrawal. The 21 Marines returning to the United States are two months overdue for discharge at the end of their enlistments.

The 21 included 13 from Pennsylvania. All were in the first group of Marines to land on the Beirut beaches July 15. They belonged to the 1st Battalion of the 8th Marines.

They left the United States in January and were due to return in time for discharge May 26. Twice Middle East crisis brought their outfit back to the Mediterranean after it had started home.

Their Navy transport plane was carrying them to Camp Lejeune, N.C. A naval spokesman said they would be discharged as soon as possible and that other groups of Marines due for discharge would be sent home for discharge as conditions permit.

Day Growing Longer

LONDON — British scientists, measuring with an "atomic clock" report that the length of day has increased by one thousandth of a second in the past two years. They proudly report that the change is at least 100 times as great as any possible error in their clock.

Transplanted Kidney Fails, Youth Dies

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A youth who received a kidney from his twin brother in a rare operation died last night.

Doctors discovered last year that Leon Masden, 20, of nearby Shepherdsville had diseased kidneys. They gave him only a month or so to live.

There was one chance, however, and the family took it. Leon received a kidney transplant from his twin Leonard at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, Boston.

Leon's diseased kidneys later were removed. Physicians said his death was caused by disease in 1957.

Greyhound Seeks to Cut Twelve Routes in State

LANSING (AP) — Arguments of Greyhound Corp. for suspension of 250 miles of its Michigan routes were taken under advisement today by the State Public Service Commission.

Contrary to expectations, only two communities along the affected routes—Evart and Cadillac—entered objections at a brief hearing yesterday before William L. King, director of the PSC's Transportation Division.

"We had expected quite an outcry," King said. "If the company's requests are approved, a number of cities will be left without any inter-city bus service."

Greyhound proposed to suspend operations on 11 of its Lower Peninsula routes and one in the Upper Peninsula running from Iron Mountain to near Humboldt. Should patronage warrant it, the routes would be restored later.

Petitions for suspension of routes also have been filed in states throughout the company's 15-state central division, King said.

J. B. Murphy, Greyhound traffic manager, told King the division's net income dropped from $900,000 in 1956 to $556,000 last year despite an eight per cent fare boost. Through June, he said, the company showed a $503,000 net loss compared with $322,000 in the first six months of 1957.

"Patronage is dropping steadily along our shorter routes," he said. "Only the long inter-state runs made money for us last year."

King told a reporter afterward the company "must have relief of some sort, though not in the form of a subsidy."

"We can't expect it to continue routes on which it is losing its shirt, even if it does deprive a community of bus service," he said.

OKs Crime Institute

LONDON (UPI) — Cambridge University has agreed to set up Britain's first institute of criminology with government financial aid.

The only soil in which minerals can be fully utilized by plants is the topsoil where organic matter and humus from decayed plants are found.

Real Estate Promoter Warned by State Agency

LANSING (AP) — A Detroit real estate promoter who attracted attention with his lot give-away in Cheboygan County has been ordered not to attempt to sell the lots unless he gets a license.

The State Corporation and Securities Commission ordered the Mid-West Development Associates and Joseph R. Kitson, its president, not to attempt to make real estate sales until licensed.

Lawrence Gubow, commissioner, said Kitson did not have a license.

In the lot give-away, Kitson mailed out letters to Michigan and Ohio residents informing them they were the lucky winners of a free lot in Cheboygan County.

Those who received the letters then were urged to buy other lots or to have the lots registered, at a fee running up to $45.

Gubow made it sound as if Kitson would be in trouble either way.

"If he hasn't got a license, he can't sell real estate," Gubow said. "If he gets a license, he can't give them away."

The Commission also issued stop orders against the Apache Building Corp., and Perma-Lite distributors, both of Detroit. Both were ordered to stop sales until properly licensed.

Apache has been offering residential homes for sale and Perma-Lite has been selling storm windows, doors and awnings, both without being licensed, Gubow said.

Peter Licavoli of Grosse Pointe Park was listed as president of Apache. Perma-Lite is incorporated in Illinois with Spencer M. Meyers of Chicago as president.

Hope to Prevent Second Geneva

Our past experiences with the Russians is the reason we are not jumping into a summit conference immediately. Secretary of State DULLES is right in not assuming the Kremlin is more honorable now than in the past.

At least we're being consistent. In telling Khrushchev that he must mark time in the Middle East until certain spadework has been done, we are merely taking the stand we have learned so well since our experience at the Geneva Conference in 1955 which proved a flop.

Back in 1953 after STALIN's death, the Russians immediately called for east-west summit conferences. These proposals were continued every few months along with a more friendly Russian attitude. Even in the U. N. they attempted to change the climate and leave the impression that they were ready to sit down and work out our mutual problems.

This camouflaged atmosphere which they were attempting to spread seemed to catch on in some quarters and we finally said okay to a summit meeting.

In the summer of 1955 the Geneva meeting was held. This time they really spread it on, but good. They indicated understandings on German reunification, disarmament and atomic testing, security from and for Russia and a neutral zone in Europe.

What a farce this turned out to be. When the Big Four foreign ministers convened in October it was the same old story, with the same old impasses.

Past records do not produce any evidence that top level discussions will solve anything with the Kremlin. We are not giving up as another meeting of some sort is in the offing.

But after remembering Potsdam in 1945 and some of these other painstaking negotiations with the Russians, it is easy to understand our Government's current attitude, along with the rest of the free world.

Big Get Together Event of the Year

Oakland County's annual 4-H Club Fair has become this area's largest intermingling occasion.

At no other time do the urban and rural people have such an opportunity to get better acquainted.

This, of course, always works out to a mutual advantage.

They each have more respect for the other, and a better and more sympathetic understanding of the life of people in vastly different surroundings than their own.

The residents of our cities and villages are privileged to get first hand information (with concrete examples) on how the food and other everyday necessities and luxuries of their everyday life are produced.

The rural people have the opportunity to see how their production is processed and made available for general consumption — and watch the wholesome realization by others of their important function in life's plan.

Starting in a rather humble manner, when it was held on some farm, Oakland County's 4-H Club Fair has grown to be the largest event of its kind in Michigan, and one of the largest in the entire nation.

Its permanent grounds and buildings out Perry Street, near the Pontiac city limits, have given it the opportunity to grow and spread out to meet the requirements and obligations that have grown with it.

A visit to the fair will always be counted by you as one of your best time investments. You'll return home to reflect for many months on what our young people are doing for themselves — and for you.

It opens on Tuesday, Aug. 5, and continues day and evening until Friday night.

A CALIFORNIA woman has thought up a way to avoid having to wash clothes. The other Monday morning she piled all the soiled clothes in a heap in the backyard and burned them.

The Man About Town

The Favorite Time

Many Plans for Vacation Are Based on These Days

August: The month that inspired that old copybook rhyme: "Next sultry August takes its turn, and hotter yet the sunbeams burn."

We now are in the midst of the most popular two-week vacation period of the year with people of Pontiac and its area. This is proven by contact with men who wrestle with the problem of furnishing the desired information on how to get there. They are

Arthur J. Bogue,

Manager of the Pontiac AAA office;

Pete Waidelich,

local superintendent for Greyhound Lines, and ticket agent at our Grand Trunk passenger depot.

William Gracey,

All say that more reservations are sought at this time than during any other like period of the year. And, despite this talk about a recession, they say business is good.

Red raspberries so large that they fit over the end of a grown person's finger, just like a thimble, are reported by of Rochester, who has a secret production system she will not divulge.

The pet parakeet in the home of

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Graveson

of Pontiac Lake was missing for a couple of days, but returned home in a somewhat disheveled condition, and with an addition to its vocabulary that sounds like "I'll pass."

A letter comes over the signature of

of Birmingham, which says, "I never would vote for a man who posted his picture on a tree on our highways. I think he's an outstanding case of exaggerated ego. And some of their faces are not their fortune."

A pair of deer in the big woods just off Baldwin Road in Orion Township are getting so chummy around the home of that the family dog doesn't bark at them any more. They like lettuce and onions.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pellman

David Lawrence Says:

Parley to Expose Reds' Hypocrisy

WASHINGTON — It looks like a "summit" conference will be held soon in Geneva with or without General De Gaulle. The meeting will begin within the United Nations Security Council, but with ample time for side conferences.

LAWRENCE

Thus all points of view probably will be satisfied on questions of procedure, and the big emphasis rather will be on the propaganda side. For what else are the speeches and public statements intended to be but efforts to convince world opinion of the rightness of each nation's viewpoint?

The day is gone in diplomacy when a few statesmen from the big powers can sit around the table and decide the fate of millions of people throughout the world.

There was a time during World War II when even Winston Churchill favored the "sphere of influence" idea, with the major powers dividing up the earth's surface on the basis of agreed-upon jurisdictions. But since then the smaller powers have rightly sought a voice in their own destiny.

The United Nations gives it to them under the way the General Assembly is set up and by rotating seats for the non-permanent members of the Security Council.

The real issue in the future is going to be how to protect small nations from the "indirect aggression" that threatens them. Moscow says Britain and the United States, by landing troops in Jordan and Lebanon, are guilty of "aggression," but this is just a smokescreen to divert attention from the plots that have helped the Communists to keep the Middle East in turmoil for the last year.

What the United States would like to see is a full and comprehensive disclosure of the facts, and especially the "causes of the problems" that have emerged in the Middle East.

As Secretary Dulles puts it, the world is in grave danger of war today unless "indirect aggression," as now being practiced, can be checked. He says that, if war is to be avoided, the Soviet Union will have to agree that the subject of "indirect aggression" and all practices designed "to foment civil strife inside a country" shall be brought under the jurisdiction of the United Nations.

This is the paramount issue that the United States will press for attention at the forthcoming meeting of the Security Council and at any "summit" conferences collateral thereto. For the United States is determined that no one nation shall set itself up as the "protector" of any group of small nations. This, it is felt, is an international responsibility and should be vested in the machinery of the United Nations.

In recent years the United States has ceased to maintain that it has sole responsibility for protecting the territorial integrity and political independence of the nations of this hemisphere and has agreed to share it with the Organization of American States. Some arrangement that does away with the dominance of any single power in the Middle East is what may be expected to emerge if the Soviets are sincerely anxious to preserve peace in the area.

The Soviets, on the other hand, have never given evidence of either sincerity or honesty in their international relations. They give lip service to agreements and then clandestinely violate them.

The Country Parson

"Our church membership is like a spotty field of corn in which the weak stalks cut the over-all production."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Bedridden Must Exercise or Face Loss of Calcium

Anyone who is confined to bed for more than a few days suffers more or less loss of muscle tone (firmness, elasticity of muscles), with wasting and flabbiness — unless he or she can and does get sufficient daily exercise. Bed exercise, that is.

DR. BRADY

With this loss of muscle tone there is a remarkable loss of calcium from the body, as much as three or four times greater than the daily excretion of calcium in health. Normal daily loss of calcium is approximately one gram (15 grains), which is made up by the calcium the healthy person gets from such foods as milk, cheese, egg yolk, greens, peas, beans, nuts and peanuts. A quart of milk, skim milk or buttermilk supplies about 15 grains (one gram) of calcium; so does half a peck of peanuts.

Absolute rest in bed favors the occurrence of pulmonary congestion, stagnation of blood in the lower parts of the lungs, sometimes called bronchopneumonia. This is less likely to occurr if the patient can sit up in chair for a while twice a day. If that is impossible, then the patient's position in bed should be changed every three or four hours.

Because of loss of muscle tone, there is—hang onto your hat here — peripheral blood stasis. That's a $10 way of saying the circulation is very slow in the smallest blood vessels farthest from the heart—the arterioles. Consequently less blood (per minute) reaches the capillaries, which are not vessels at all but just spaces between the cells through which the blood oozes.

Contraction of voluntary muscles aids circulation by pumping blood from the capillary bed through the smallest veins (venules) and on through the larger veins back to the right side of the heart. The heart pumps it into the lungs where it unloads carbon dioxide and takes up oxygen to carry back to the left side of the heart and on into the arteries. If the skeletal or voluntary muscles are not used (exercise) too much blood stagnates in the capillary spaces and the venules and the body cells do not get enough oxygen and nutritive material to function well.

A person confined to bed but not paralyzed can get exercise by systematic rhythmic contractions of this or that muscle or group of muscles, with resistance by opposing muscles so that no movement occurs — as by contracting the biceps and resisting by contracting the triceps in the arm.

All of the untoward effects of confinement to bed or chair occur, though in lesser degree, in professional and business people, students, artists, white collar workers, housewives who employ servants.

These people who try to live without doing any honest work usually resort to aspirin or similar dope, or maybe go away for a "complete rest," when they really need a good tranquilizer, such as two miles of oxygen on the hoof three times a day, or the equivalent in other forms of general exercise.

Woman Questions Figures of Sylvan Council Report

Referring to the July 25 article, Sylvan Lake Council Issues Statement on Police, the figure of 101 speeding tickets for the year 1957-58 sounds incorrect to me. Just one evening in the Sylvan Justice Court they heard from six to eight cases (and of the first four cases heard, three had the same complaint—rudeness of the officer.) I don't believe this was an unusual night, and these were only the violations being protested. How many were paid without a court hearing?

The City Council states that no complaints have being filed with the Chief of Police regarding discourtesy. The following is my experience. My son was given a ticket and when he related the conversation of the arresting officer, I called the Chief of Police of Sylvan Lake. I will say he treated me with utmost courtesy. He advised me if I wished to have the officer and my son together, not to pay the fine but to appear in Court on the date designated on the ticket.

He assured me that at this time my son would have an opportunity to prove or disprove the statements of the officer.

During the hearing, any attempt we made to question the conduct of the officer was cleverly evaded. The judge refused to question the officer regarding our charges, but finally made the statement that a meeting would be held that evening with the officers. In fact, I believe the officer had been well-briefed by the Chief of Police as to the nature of our complaint as he repeatedly referred to several notations written on the back of their copy of the violation ticket. These notations were not on the ticket the day I called on the Chief of Police as I was shown the ticket and I checked it carefully.

In the closing paragraph of their report, they gave the sum of $10,887.80 as revenue from traffic violations for the year 1957-58. Now if they only issued 101 speeding violations and if the average fine were $30, this would only account for $3,030.

What kind of crime wave did Sylvan Lake have to enable them to take in an additional $7,857.80?

It would be interesting to see a break-down of this amount as to: Does the $10,887 indicate the revenue just from fines or does this include the Court costs? What is the amount of the Court costs and who gets this money?

Councilman Clark may have a very legitimate reason for not signing this report.

'We Can't All Think Alike'

I saw Mr. Smith's letter about sin, divorce, and other forms of sport and though I agree with him on some points, I disagree on others —we can't all think alike: "Quot Homines, Tot Sentinae" — I have also had two divorces but unlike him, I'm happy out of the mess, and though he and I might not approve of it, it is very plain that our former wives do approve of divorce. It is strange that they, thinking it a good thing, would be so "Sinful", isn't it?

Like him, I think everyone except ME should be reformed and made to "Toe The Mark"; People are using up so much "Sin" that we aren't getting our share, my friend! I think being sinful is more fun than anything — I like it!

He is wrong about the U.S. being a "Free Democracy". It never was, and isn't now a democracy. It has always been a Republic. Perhaps his mistaken idea about it is due to the fact that he is a Canadian, and never studied U.S. History or Civil Government.

I haven't memorized the whole Bible yet, but I think it does say: (Matt.Ch.7.V.5) "Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt you see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye."

'Just Be Grateful for Our Rights'

Any man who would say that religious beliefs are ignorant, old fashioned and should be done away with, in my opinion, must be in the wrong country or might not have had a proper upbringing. Sounds like bad propaganda to me. At least in this country we have the right to think, believe, and worship as we please. We can all thank God for that.

Teenagers Need Helping Hand

Parents pay more attention to what your youngsters are doing, especially during school vacation. Various places such as neighborhood lunch rooms and school yards are favorite meeting places for gangs. They come from broken homes of only a father, a mother, or one stepparent. Before the summer is over more of your teenagers will become members of such groups if you don't take time to look after them.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

And to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness;—II Peter 1:6.

A true Christian man is distinguished from other men, not so much by his beneficent works as by his patience.—Horace Bushnell.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Gardening Can Be Morale Booster

Frank De Friece is head of a large pharmaceutical firm but he is a practical psychologist, too, for he enjoys helping people. And he salvaged a young man from abject failure just by putting him into a flower garden and letting the pride of creative accomplishment restore his courage and confidence. Let kids grow living plants, even in a small window box.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Y-377: Frank De Friece Sr., aged about 59, is head of the Massengell Company, one of our largest pharmaceutical firms.

He and his charming wife Pauline have been friends of Mrs. Crane and me ever since we were drawn together by the death of our oldest son in his jet plane crash.

DR. CRANE

So I was entertained royally in their beautiful home at Bristol, Tennessee, on my speaking trip down there earlier this year.

And Frank De Friece showed me many of his art collections which he has obtained from his trips abroad.

But one of the most striking bits of art was a living plant.

"I want you to see this orchid," he said, "for one of our company executives gave it to me. He raises orchids as a hobby."

And I certainly admired the orchid. It would have done justice to any of those displayed in our leading florist shops in New York or Chicago.

Then I learned that this orchid grower had once been down and out and enslaved by John Barleycorn.

But Frank De Friece gave him a job working in the garden. And that evidence of faith on the part of Mr. De Friece, plus the joy of teaming up with God Almighty in producing flowers, was the turning point in this man's life.

So I mention it today because millions of people are missing the remarkable benefits of crumbling soil between their fingers and even wiggling their toes, barefoot, in the newly plowed ground.

The scent of freshly turned earth, plus the soothing influence of wind and sun, will exert a remarkably relaxing effect on tense nerves.

And new zest for living will develop after you see the creative effect of your labors in growing plants and flowers, or vegetables and fruits.

A pride of accomplishment will boost your morale. And you will then have something zestful to which you can look forward, since every new sunrise adds changes to your growing plants.

STOP DELINQUENCY

Too much emphasis nowadays is being devoted to studying how to destroy possible human enemies behind the Iron Curtain.

Is it any wonder that juvenile delinquency is zooming when our youth hear and read constant stories about newer and better ways to wipe out an entire city's population?

By contrast, let's encourage children to grow green things, even if they have only a small window box in which to raise a dozen flowers.

The 4-H Club members capitalize on this inner desire to be creative. Alas, city kids do not have access to the 4-H Clubs.

So let's start even our kindergartners into the restful adventure of growing green plants! It helps develop a positive morale instead of the tense, negative fear of bombing attacks.

"I hope my biographers can say of me," Lincoln once stated, "that I planted roses where thistles grew before!"

That is an inherent yearning of the human soul. And it can partly be fulfilled by growing green plants, whether these be African violets in a window box in a Brooklyn tenement, or Lincoln's roses in Iowa or California.

Children nowadays passively sit before TV or radio and absorb but don't have enough chance to create! Horticulture and flower raising permit them to paint with living pigments.

Meanwhile they begin to dwell upon eternal verities and evolve a sustaining philosophy of life which promotes faith and positive thinking.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Schulberg to Young Authors: Sincerity Pays

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Dear young and earnest writers: Pay no nevermind to the following interview with Budd Schulberg, the man who has it made. Except for paragraph 10, regarding money, he will give you the impression that writing is hard and troubling work leading to uncertainty and discontent.

You would have to see the gentle and amused face of Mr. Schulberg to know that, if he had his 44 years to do over, he would again write a "What Makes Sammy Run," "The Disenchanted," "On the Waterfront."

"There's no doubt," he says, "that writing is very hard work. It's real physical work. It requires stamina, I think, as much as bricklaying.

"I believe in writing in longhand. It's not a rule at all. Just for me, it's better." He pauses lengthily, as if working out a mathematical problem.

"I'm closer to the word, word for word, I think. When you write a word that you don't like, that isn't just right, you're near to it. It's faster to go back and cross it out than it is, on a typewriter, to go back and xx it out."

HUMBLE VIEWPOINT

Schulberg is a modest man. Almost to the point of humility. He never makes positive statements —prefaces nearly everything with "I think."

Like, "I guess the most serious living writer, I think, is Faulkner," he says. "I think he's often needlessly obscure, but it seems to me to come from a sincere effort to get at the heart of something."

Schulberg, certainly one of today's most distinguished writers, would "like to think I could rate myself in the first 10. But I don't know. I don't like to think about it. You can drive yourself crazy, worrying where you rate."

Because his novels have been so successful, and are bringing high prices from Hollywood, Schulberg is an ever-increasing delight to internal revenuers. A question about money calls for another long and thoughtful pause.

"I'm all for making money, but I don't think it should be planned that way. A writer can't compromise himself. Besides, you can't figure. People don't really know what they like until they see it."

Is he contented?

"No," Schulberg says, slowly. "I guess the answer would be no.

"I guess the main reason is that life was not long enough. If life was 200 years long, I guess I'd figure I was off to a pretty good start. I don't want to sound tragic, but by the time you're prepared to start, it's late. I mean, for much greater people me, it's already late."

Schulberg claims, however, to be "relatively happy. I enjoy a lot about the world."

The author is in town to oversee the upcoming premiere plans for the film of his latest, "Wind Across the Everglades." He got the idea for the play 10 years ago on a Florida fishing vacation. Ten years, he says, is his typical formative period, between a personal experience and its translation onto the printed page.

"When something like that fishing trip gives me an idea, I'm so dopey I think I'm enjoying myself. Actually, subconsciously I'm working."

Schulberg has a brother and sister, a movie producer and housewife, respectively. They both write too. Inside the family, he contends, it is accepted that the housewife — who wrote a novel called "They Cried a Little" at age 19 — is the best writer. But she prefers housewifing to the lonely, hard job of writing.

He has three children of his own: an 18-year-old daughter who wants to be a kindergarten teacher; a 14-year-old son who wants to be a rocket designer, and a 12-year-old son who wants to be an apprentice rocket designer. None is interested in writing.

"Smart kids," says Schulberg.

First Pacifist to Be Released

Five Jailed in Honolulu After Attempting to Enter N-Test Zone

HONOLULU (AP)—The first of five pacifists jailed here after attempting to enter the U. S. mid-Pacific nuclear test zone is scheduled to be released tomorrow.

The others are to be freed next week.

A member of the Society of Friends (Quakers) said three crew members of the ketch Golden Rule plan to go to the mainland for protest speechs against nuclear testing. They are Albert Smith Bigelow, 52, Cos Cob, Conn. skipper of the Golden Rule; William R. Huntington, 51, St. James, N. H.; and James Peck, 43 Blackwood Terrace, N. J.

The others are Orion Sherwood, 28, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and George Willoughby, 43, New York.

The pacifists were given 60-day jail sentences after they were found guilty of denying a federal court order forbidding them to enter or conspire to enter the bomb test zone.

Deserter Sentenced to 10 Years

VERDUN, France (AP) — An Army court-martial today sentenced Wayne Powers, the GI who hid out for 14 years with his French common-law wife, to 10 years in prison after he pleaded guilty to a charge of wartime desertion.

The 37-year-old father of five children shook his bald head in disbelief as the sentence of the eight-man court was read.

The sentence now goes to Brig. Gen. Robert J. Fleming, the area commander, who could reduce it considerably. It was believed Powers pleaded guilty under a pretrial agreement providing for a light sentence.

Powers himself said before the trial started that if everything went the way it should, he would be back home in a month or two. He is a native of Chillicothe, Mo., but home is the village of Mont d'Origny, near the Belgian border, where he lived with his five children and their French mother, Yvette Beleuse.

The defense attorneys — Lt. James Singleton, Detroit, and Lt. Leon Avakian, Newton, Mass. — also expressed belief before the trial started that Powers would get off with a light sentence. The maximum penalty is death.

Fat People in Louisville to Get Pool

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Mrs. Frances Adcock wrote to City Parks Director W. A. Moore, telling of the plight of the plump in public pools.

"There I was . . . watching these youngsters making fun of fat people swimming around. Why, they were calling them things like submarine, blimp, and things like that.

"Now, I'm stout, and I love to swim, but I won't go into the water and be called those names."

Moore was sympathetic.

He's not skinny either.

He told Mrs. Adcock "people of excessive weight," would have private use of a city pool one night a week—if 25 bona fide fat people admit it and sign a petition requesting the private dip.

Ike's Brother Flying Home

Says Fact-Finding Tour of Central America Successful

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

GUATEMALA (AP)—Milton Eisenhower flies home today with a brief case full of recommendations for U. S. policy in Central America and facts to back them up.

"We accomplished everything we set out to do," he said of his six-nation fact-finding tour of Central America.

The President's brother and special envoy, who was accompanied by top government economic experts, said his group had "accumulated an enormous amount of facts crucial to policy considerations."

Eisenhower declined to go into details on the recommendations he has in mind but told newsmen he would endorse Central America's growing move toward economic integration.

"I think the United States should do everything it logically can to encourage the nations of Central America, and perhaps the nations of other regions, to cooperate economically so they will have a greater area for industrialization and trade," he said.

Killed Korean Thief; Army Clears Guard

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The U.S. Army cleared Sgt. Hager B. Blevins of Circleville, Ohio, today of blame for fatally shooting a Korean thief.

An Army investigation showed that "Blevins handled himself properly and fired strictly in performance of duties assigned him," an 8th Army spokesman said. No charges will be filed.

Blevins, 25, was on special guard duty July 22 when he spotted two Koreans trying to carry water pumps away from a 7th Division engineer company. He shouted "Halt" three times and fired twice when the Koreans kept running with the pumps. Kim I Sun, 29, was hit by both shots.

Would Have Permitted Gravel Pit Operation

Milford Board Refuses Zoning Change

MILFORD—Protesting residents again jammed the small Township Hall in Milford last night and heard the Township Zoning Board deny a request for a zoning change which would have permitted a gravel pit operation.

Property owners, seeking to sell land to the American aggregates Corp. of Detroit for the gravel pit, had petitioned the Board to rezone a square mile section along Hickory Ridge and W., Commerce roads from suburban residential to agricultural use.

At an all-day hearing July 19, residents protested the rezoning of the site, claiming the gravel pit operation would deface the landscape, create a traffic hazard and tear up roads.

The Board voted 3 to 1 against rezoning, with chairman Fred Hill not voting.

In another public hearing, the Milford Village Council was asked to rezone a triangular piece of property between N. Milford road and N. Main street from residential to commercial.

James Robins, owner of the Robins Corp., a plastics firm which recently purchased the old Ford Motor Co. plant in the village, requested the change so he could sell the property.

He also offered to sell to the village other land which he purchased in a "package deal" along with the plant. It includes two mill ponds, two dams and two wells.

Robins said he would donate land to widen N. Milford road from 20 to 66 feet if the area could be rezoned.

The council promised to discuss the matter in detail at its regular meeting Monday night.

Win Highest Award of Arrow Order

Honor Three Area Scouting Leaders

LAKE ORION—Three members of Clinton Valley Boy Scout Council were "called out" to the Vigil Honor, highest award of the Order of the Arrow, in Indian ceremonies held at Camp Agawam.

Named to this top degree in the Order, a national society of scout honor campers and leaders, were Paul Heil of Milford, Van R. Braidwood of Pontiac and Warner Iseppi of Warren.

Only a few hundred young men and leaders in the country have received this select national honor, from among the 110,000 members of the Order.

Chippewa Lodge Chief Frank Breza of Utica was in charge of the ceremony, assisted by O. D. Bostwick of the camp, Glenn Lackey and Bill DeGrace of Pontiac.

Heil earned his award by providing "strong leadership" to the local lodge as chief for two years and for reorganizing committees and activities. He recently served as area chief for the southeastern area of Michigan.

Late in August, Heil will be one of the national chiefs at a national convention at the University of Kansas. He is assistant explorer adviser of post 33 in Milford.

Braidwood is Pontiac District scout executive. He has served as professional staff adviser to the lodge for several years, contributing extraordinary service and leadership to the lodge.

Iseppi, also active in the Explorer program, has given unusual amounts of time and service to lodge projects, such as construction of the order's building at the camp.

Heil and Iseppi received their Vigil Honor degree after completing initiation ceremonies the following day. Braidwood will receive his award at a later date.

Beef cattle judging will take place from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Rush brothers' farm on Dequindre road with the noon hour, from 12 to 1 p.m., set aside for a sack lunch.

The day's activities will close with swine judging at Harold Werderman's farm. During the program, a livestock judging team to be sent to East Lansing will be selected. All 4-Hers are invited to be on hand for the event.

Says We Need More Schooling in Agriculture

EAST LANSING (UPI) — The farmer of the future will have to be an "agricultural technician," Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett told the 39th annual conference of teachers of vocational agriculture today.

Bartlett said "it isn't enough to be able to just simply till the soil and to hoe a row to become a farmer in the world we have today and the world which will be ours tomorrow."

He said Michigan schools were giving educational training to only about half of those who could use vocational agriculture instruction.

A "tremendous population growth" and shortage of crop lands because of increasing industrial areas, residential areas, residential expansion and recreation area growth have presented a challenge.

He said a low pay scale for teachers and a classroom shortage complicate the problem.

Schools are "under-financed and under-staffed," Bartlett said.

"Teachers' salaries will be at about the right level when the successful and leading citizens of any community will encourage their sons and daughters to consider teaching among the desirable vocational choices," he said.

Top State Court Rejects Appeal

Area Land Owners Lose Fight to Prevent Edison Condemnations

The State Supreme Court yesterday denied a move by a group of property owners in Oakland and Orion Townships to prevent condemnation proceedings by the Detroit Edison Co.

The utility, which plans to build a transmission line from its St. Clair County power plant to its Orion Township substation, was scheduled to proceed with condemnation today before a commission appointed by the Oakland County Probate Court.

The property owners claimed the company's condemnation proceedings were unconstitutional. Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore denied their claim, and the property owners appealed to the Supreme Court.

The State Legislature 100 years ago gave the railroads and other semi-public institutions permission to start condemnation proceedings, and 10 years ago this statute was amended to apply to electric light companies.

A Detroit Edison spokesman said the company purchased as much of the right-of-way as it could.

Pontiac Man Remains Unconscious in Denver

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Chester Jacobs, 67, of 3355 Giddings Rd., was still unconscious yesterday in a Denver, Colo., hospital following an automobile accident recently near Denver.

He was returning from a visit in California when his car left the highway. Jacobs is the father of Mrs. Jack D. McCullough of 1750 W. Tienken Rd.

About 96 per cent of the 1951 natural rubber output came from southeast Asia, and more than one-third of the total came from the Malaya district.

Ex-President Calvin Coolidge sometimes used the initial "S," but so far as the records show, he actually had no known middle name.

Ex-Policeman to Stand Trial

Faces Charges in Theft of Farm Equipment at Farmington

FARMINGTON — A fired Farmington policeman and a moving company operator have been charged with grand larceny in the theft of several thousands of dollars worth of farm equipment from two Farmington implement dealers.

They are Willard Vignoe, 28, who was discharged from the Farmington city police force six weeks ago for sleeping in a patrol car and drinking, and George Beard, 39, of 32340 Grand River.

Vignoe, who first was charged with simple larceny, waived examination on the grand larceny charge yesterday and was bound over to stand trial Aug. 11 in Circuit Court. He lives at 20817 Sunnydale St., Farmington Township.

Arrested and arraigned Wednesday, Beard pleaded not guilty before Municipal Judge John J. Schulte Jr. Examination was set for Aug. 8.

Both men have been released on bonds of $2,500.

They are accused of stealing a $2,000 farm tractor from Blackett, Inc., Tractors and Implements, 29039 Grand River, and six power mowers from the Everett Implement Co., 32340 Grand River.

Rocket Experts Study Traffic Jams in Space

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

MOSCOW (AP)—Rocket experts are taking a look at the problem of preventing space traffic jams and getting rid of old man-made moons.

Do you blow up useless satellites, shoot them into the sun, send them skylarking into the cosmos or bring them back home?

Right now just four satellites are circling the earth — a huge Sputnik and three small U.S. moons. But one day there could be hundreds from numerous countries.

Collisions would be a remote chance, but the dead soldiers could be a nuisance, interfering with other and better experiments or space travel.

Blowing up the old satellites with time bombs is no solution because the pieces would still orbit and become dangerous space junk. Ways might be worked out to recover them if they are close to earth, to send them falling into the sun to be consumed or to send them jaunting further into space, off the beaten tracks.

The question of how to recover or destroy satellites whose mission is complete is on the agenda of the Committee on Rockets and Satellites at the special meeting of the International Geophysical Year Committee under way here.

The agenda also lists discussion of the radio frequency voices usable for future satellites to avoid a Tower of Babel on the air waves; a possible international quota of satellites that should circulate at one time; a central agency for satellites or spaceships to other planets; and questions concerning other bodies, such as the moon or the planets.

The most immediate questions concern how to share most fully and efficiently the IGY information obtained by the satellites; how best to track satellites; and similar problems.

Father of 7, Woman Die in Car Collision

BAY CITY (UPI) — A 37-year-old Fairgrove father of seven children roared away from Leroy's Bar five miles north of here last night, cut off a car, jumped a dividing island on U.S. 23 and crashed head-on into an oncoming vehicle.

Anselmo Zarazua was killed immediately, Mrs. Amanda Rosa, 61, Bay City, a passenger in the other car, was dead on arrival at Samaritan Hospital and 30-year-old Audrey Topa, believed to be Mrs. Rosa's daughter, was critically hurt.

State Police and sheriff's officers arriving at the scene said Zarazua must have been doing over 80 miles an hour. They described it as one of the worst accidents they'd ever seen. The Topa woman, fighting for her life, had one leg nearly torn off.

In a single second the U. S. light and power industry can generate enough electricity to supply an average American family about five years.

Missile Breakthrough

Halts Enemy 'Jamming'

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — A major breakthrough in missilery was announced today by Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, commander of the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division.

The development: an all-inertial guidance system — months, perhaps years, sooner than the Air Force had hoped.

The Air Force has been using radio-controlled inertial guidance systems for its missiles. All-inertial guidance frees missiles from any need for control from the ground, with these big advantages:

1. Such missiles cannot be "jammed" by enemy radio and radar and thus diverted from their target.

2. Missile bases using the all-inertial guidance system can be dispersed easily and hidden from enemy detection. Underground bases will not be betrayed by the presence of antennae.

3. Millions or even billions of dollars can be saved through construction of less-elaborate ground facilities.

4. Space ships, the big brothers of today's missiles, will be able to guide themselves far beyond the range of radio and radar. Up to now, space-trip plans have been limited to Mars and Venus because radio guidance needed to keep space ships oriented with earth will not reach much farther. The new breakthrough means a space ship can use any object in the heavens as an orientation point.

What is inertial guidance?

It's a system of controlling the direction of a missile or rocket which uses gyro-stabilizers similar to the spinning toys familiar to children since World War I. Start the gyro whirling and it remains stable no matter how you hold it or toss it around.

A series of such gyros is used in inertial guidance systems. In radio-controlled systems, variations in speed and direction are corrected by sending signals to the missile. The all-inertial missile carries its own computer which automatically makes the changes needed to keep the missile on course.

The all-inertial system has already proven a success in laboratory and rocket sled tests. Flight tests are expected to begin next year.

'Missing' Tot, 4, Stows Away in Father's Car

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP)—There was quite an uproar when Sverre Paulsen, 4½, disappeared from his home here.

Police searched a wooded area behind his home, neighbors looked about their premises and a missing person alarm even got as far as North Carolina.

Four hours after he was reported missing, the youngster turned up—in the back seat of his father's car in Greensboro, N. C.

Martin L. Paulsen, a salesman, found his son when he unpacked his bags in Greensboro. He said he didn't know the boy was in the car.

He told newsmen he was dumbfounded at being included among nine men subpoenaed for the Indiana probe.

"He is not a prospective defendant, but merely a witness," said his attorney.

Veteran Correspondent Says 'No'

Should President Travel Abroad?

Should American Presidents always have to travel abroad for top-level international meetings? That question, arising now as the major powers consider the site of the proposed "summit" meeting, is analyzed in the following dispatch by a veteran diplomatic correspondent.

By PIERRE J. HUSS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — There is a healthy American viewpoint making the rounds at the U. N. that now is the time for the President of the United States to make European heads-of-state come to him within these shores if they want a summit conference in or out of the U. N.

These hard-thinking Americans, some very prominent in diplomatic circles, are pointing out that they get "a little tired" of seeing the President of the United States being told "by Stalin, or Churchill, De Gaulle, Macmillan or Khrushchev" where and when to appear for summit talks.

RUSHED ABROAD

The minds of these Americans go back to the fact that Franklin D. Roosevelt "rushed from pillar to post" to confer abroad at remote spots set by the late Josef Stalin in consultation with former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Ex-President Harry Truman trotted off to Potsdam in 1945 for a conference with Stalin and Churchill. Under wartime circumstances, I was told, it was just as vital for Roosevelt and Truman to remain at their White House posts as was Stalin's and Churchill's contention they had to stay close to home.

In each instance, on foreign shores and outmanned in advisors and other circumstances, the United States lost ground in the difficult job of striving to negotiate an honest peace. The upshot usually was, in the given opinion, that Stalin helped himself to what he wanted under false pretenses and so each time took home the bacon.

Those so eager to have President Eisenhower not agree to go abroad again make a point of the fact that in 1955 the Chief Executive traveled to Switzerland for the summit conference, so that it would be perfectly correct and even considerate if the participants in the forthcoming one journeyed to the United States.

SECURITY OK

There is no valid reason, in the opinion of any Security Council source, why New York could not serve as the best site for the summit. There is every indication that "security" would make it as safe for Khrushchev and the other dignitaries in New York as in their own capitals.

From the standpoint of President Eisenhower, it would spare him much physical strain of travel and the attached discomforts and staff limitations if the Security Council on the summit for Middle East discussion convened in New York rather than Geneva. Neither of the other three top participants have physical strikes against them, and by the middle of August De Gaulle's reformed constitution will be under Assembly debate and out of his hands. Macmillan already has no great political opposition to leave behind.

From any standpoint, it doesn't matter whether Khrushchev leaves Moscow for Geneva or New York. It does matter for the President of the United States again to leave American shores for the convenience of others. He has much to gain in the eyes of the world if he puts his foot down hard all the way and has the Europeans come to him. That would mark the end of an era where the American President has been "invited" to the conference table abroad.

Furthermore, to make Khrushchev come to New York and confer within the rules of the U. N. Security Council would mark the first time an American President has succeeded in laying the law down to a Moscow dictator on how to behave and act in international diplomacy. U. N. sources feel the whole world would recognize the new handwriting on the wall for the Kremlin, and President Eisenhower's stock would go up like a rocket to the moon.

Nickel is distributed widely but in only a few places is mineralization sufficiently concentrated to form ore deposits.

World Scientists Study Problem

Agree on Ways to Detect Nuclear Tests

GENEVA (AP) — Scientists of the Western and Communist worlds have agreed on seven different methods for detecting nuclear weapon tests and now face the task of combining them into one foolproof system.

This final phase of the month-old secret conference may bring it into the forbidden area of politics. The Western experts have been ordered not to discuss the political problems of negotiating a ban on weapon tests.

But spokesmen for both sides expressed satisfaction with their progress in agreeing on the seven detection methods.

The techniques involve different types of sensitive recording apparatus to detect these tell-tale signs of nuclear blasts: (1) sound waves, (2) earth tremors, (3) magnetic fields, (4) radioactive fallout, (5) gamma rays and neutrons, (6) radio waves and (7) light waves.

The experts agreed the last three could be detected by such instruments as radio-telescopes and photo-electric cells reporting from satellites in space to ground stations. The ground stations in turn would be equipped with seismographs, fallout collectors and the like to provide other checks.

Location of the ground stations raises the major political question the scientists may have to face. An effective detection system would be impossible without stations inside Communist China, which is not represented at the conference.

The scientists could get around this political pitfall by recommending, for example, that the stations be spaced a certain distance apart — say 1,000 miles — and then leave their precise location to political negotiations.

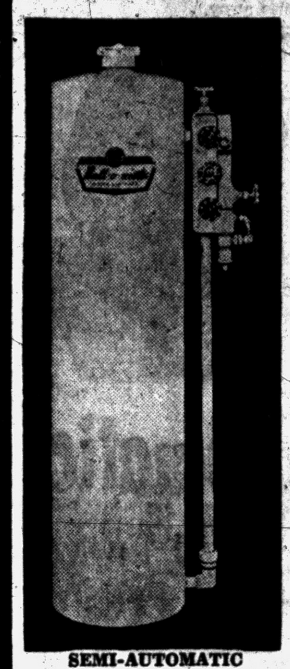

Western observers expect the Peiping regime will demand full international recognition as its price for cooperating with any worldwide nuclear control system.

Participating in the current meeting are scientists from the United States, Britain, France, Canada, the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Romania.

Girls Didn't Learn Lessons Very Well

SPARTA, Wis. (AP) — Two girls apparently forgot their lessons when they played hooky from Sunday school here recently.

The pair, 12 and 13, stole a car from the church yard and damaged it to the extent of $250 when it plowed through a fence several miles away.

Bob Considine Says:

Sen. Kennedy Out to Slaughter GOP Foe

BOSTON — Sen. John Fitzgerald Kennedy is running for president against that sterling bearer of the GOP banner, the man who has been likened to Lincoln himself, the one, the only, Vincent J. Celeste.

Officially, the Kennedy - Celeste race is for the U. S. Senate. Actually, it is a test of Kennedy's already well-proven vote - getting ability. A curious test. Only a special kind of victory can help Kennedy's 1960 ambitions. He must not only defeat the brave Italian lawyer who is running against him, he must literally slaughter him. Even a 2-to-1 margin, which most politicians up for office in November would hail as a delirious landslide if it happened to them, would make certain Democrat leaders wonder if Jack is losing his touch.

TAKES NO CHANCES

Kennedy is taking no chances. Though even a great number of Republicans seem to have difficulty remembering the name of their tiger, Kennedy will put on a day-and-night drive when he starts stumping in September.

Right now he is utilizing most of the devoted relatives and volunteers who helped him score his historic 70,000 vote upset of Henry Cabot in 1952, the year Massachusetts voted for Ike and against the man who had so much to do with his decision to run and the way he ran — Lodge.

Paid a visit to Kennedy campaign headquarters today and found it thriving. It covers the first floor of what once was a small downtown department store. The store's expert window-dresser apparently had remained behind as a consultant. There's quite a display to attract the window-shopper-voter.

One window features two of the Life magazine covers devoted to the remarkable local boy, one when he was courting, the other with the baby. Photographs of the amazing Kennedys are all over the place, from the beautiful mother — lecturing to a ladies' group — to the numerous brood of racket-busting Robert Kennedy.

There are shots of Kennedys at sports and of the oldest boy, the heroic Joe Jr., killed during the big war. Augustus Robinson's oil painting of the destroyer, USS Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., is at the front of the window. On a rear wall is the young senator with Archbishop Richard J. Cushing, opening the Joseph B. Kennedy Jr. Memorial Hospital for Crippled Children.

The next window features the Pulitzer Prize which Jack won, and deservedly, for "Profiles in Courage," and tattered copy of his earlier book (with intro by Henry Luce) called "Why England Slept." A photostat of the hand-written manuscript of the former deals with that part of the text which reads, "A Cabinet member importantly told Henry Adams in 1869, "You can't use tact with a congressman. A congressman is a hog! You must take a stick and hit him on the snout!"

Beyond is a window emblazoned with awards, the Cardinal Gibbons Medal, the Yeshiva Univeraity Award, a plaque from the National Conference of Christians and Jews, an honorary degree from Notre Dame, a medal from Italy, shots with Truman and Stevenson.

Inside, about 40 volunteer workers, mostly pretty girls, work in the Senator's behalf two nights each week, sending out letters, auto stickers, pledge cards and doing other odd jobs for the senator's campaign manager, Teddy Kennedy, University of Virginia law school senior. Most of the people who wander in off Tremont Street come in to ask who Kennedy is running against.

Deliver More Stamps

MELBOURNE (AP) — During fiscal 1957 the note-printing branch of the Commonwealth Bank of Australia and two overseas contractors delivered 1,162,000,000 stamps to Australia's Post Office. This was 150,000,000 more than were delivered the preceding year.

Playhouse School Center for Creative Activities

By LYDIA ROTHMAN

Last Friday the Women's Section featured a story on the summer jobs of prospective college students. This week we have a story on two much younger, but very enterprising, young ladies and their summer job.

The young ladies, Janet Johnson, 12 years old, and Susan Moore, 11, are running a nursery school this summer in a playhouse they played in themselves not so very long ago.

The girls, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Willard V. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Y. Moore of Shoreview drive, Sylvan Shores, are next door neighbors.

Every Monday and Friday morning at 9:30 they pick up eight to ten neighborhood children—all between the ages of three and six—and bring them to the playhouse in Susan's back yard.

The playhouse is equipped with desks and a bulletin board and serves as the center of activity.

PROJECTS ARE CREATIVE

Under the direction of Susan and Janet—no one else — the children participate in singing and various creative projects such as painting and handicrafts.

Very often the group goes to the nearby park where they play on the playground equipment. Midmorning finds the group enjoying milk and graham crackers.

All parents receive regular reports of their children's progress and activities from Janet and Susan.

The girls held an open house this week with the children's mothers as guests. The youngsters presented dramatizations of nursery rhymes and wore costumes made by their two "teachers."

NO OUTSIDE HELP

The nursery school program, which began the end of June and will continue through August, has been completely organized and carried on by Janet and Susan with no parental or outside help. Needless to say, the girls have two very proud sets of parents.

Not only have the girls helped the neighborhood mothers by taking care of their children on these two days, but they also have provided hours of constructive recreation for the children, as well as building a savings account of their own.

And of course, it has been an excellent experience, giving them a real feeling of responsibility and accomplishment.

Loyal Neighbors Meet for Supper

The Loyal Neighbors Club of Going street held a cooperative dinner Thursday evening at the Hira street home of Mrs. Eric Larvick.

Birthdays of Mrs. Jack Boelman, Mrs. Charles Seator, Mrs. James Binning and Mrs. Grover Sturgis were celebrated.

U. of M. Graduate Makes Debut as Paris Model

PARIS (UPI) — The only American model to make her debut this week with the Paris winter collections says that she is the most "jittery" American in Paris.

But doe-eyed, Chicago-born Diane Halbrook looked as cool as a cucumber as she somewhat impatiently answered questions during a dress rehearsal of Pierre Cardin's collection.

"Of course I'm nervous but so are the others," said 5-foot 7-inch, 112-pound Diane, who learned her fashion Ps and Qs at Chicago's Marshall Field and Co.

"It's each girl for herself."

U. OF M. GRADUATE

Perhaps it's the knowledge of this that accounts for the 22-year-old University of Michigan graduate's success in modeling in the most demanding style center in the world.

She admitted that it took certain "nerve" to walk into Pierre Cardin's last June and to sell herself as a model to him because she "admired his work."

She landed the job.

"I came just for the summer but now I don't know when I will be going back to the states," said Diane, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Halbrook, live in Detroit.

However, she was quick to add that "I'd never give up that little green passport."

At this point a Cardin mannequin in a bright orange balloon-shaped dress poked her head through the door. Diane, in the French tradition of keeping every creation top secret until the show, tried to motion her back. But the model did not heed her and casually paraded the gown down a circular staircase to the floor below.

GOWN'S THE THING

She noted that the French models — unlike their American sisters—did not "play up to the audience" but instead concentrated on showing their gowns.

"This is what makes them distinctive," she said. "You will also notice that French models wear less makeup than Americans. However, they heavily make up their eyes."

Diane's gray eyes were heavily accentuated by blue eyeshadow and mascara. Otherwise she looked alluringly pale.

She wore a simple boxy black lightweight suit. Her only jewelry was a gold butterfly pin worn at the collar.

Teenagers Show Preference for Suburbia

Cities Losing Lure, Even for Country Kids

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

The flight to suburbia — that post-war phenomenon that has caught the attention of sociologists and the satirical scorn of novelists — shows no signs of diminishing. If teenagers have their way when their turn comes to raise a family, this wholesale migration to the outlying districts of our large cities will continue at an accelerated pace.

More than 4 out of every 10 city-dwelling teeagers we interviewed in a nationwide survey said they wanted out as soon as possible. And of these, 84 per cent chose the suburbs, while only 6 per cent wanted to live in a small town. The rest preferred country living.

The girls lead the stampede. Among city-bred bobby-soxers, 53 per cent said they wanted to live elsewhere. Of these, a whopping 87 per cent preferred the suburbs to all other locales.

Teenagers in small towns and on farms were more contented with their lot. At least the boys were. Only 24 per cent wanted to live elsewhere. The girls, however, were considerably more restless, with 42 per cent in favor of shaking the hometown dust from their first pair of high heels.

Where did they want to go? Suburbia again, by a wide margin: 87 per cent of the migration-minded country boys and 91 per cent of the girls.

2-PRONGED ADVANCE

If this pattern holds true, the suburbs may be in for a tremendous influx of population from two directions: those moving out from the big cities and those moving in from the country precincts.

Why are the suburbs so popular with the younger set?

For about the same reasons that they are popular with parents: fresh air, a chance to have a home and garden, an escape from juvenile delinquency and gang warfare, room to raise a family. Proximity to the city's advantages but relief from its congestion, better schools, less traffic, congenial neighbors, and in general a slower pace of living were other advantages listed.

Among all the reasons cited, the fear of juvenile delinquency led the list by a wide margin, particularly among city boys and girls interviewed.

"The city is getting to be a terrible place to live," complained Phyllis Maxstein of Bayside, a rather quiet residential section of New York City.

To Susan French, 19, of Evanston, Ill., the suburbs "provide a more wholesome life."

Fifteen-year-old Dick Ayer said his family moved to Merchantville, N. J., to "get away from gang wars and live in a decent neighborhood."

Ellen Kalb, 15, of Flushing, another residential section of New York City, said she wanted out "because of juvenile delinquency and racial differences."

SOME STILL LIKE CITY

Despite the barrage of criticism thrown up by both urban and rural teenagers who wanted no part of it, the city still had its admirers and defenders.

"The city offers intellectual stimulation and considerable sophistication," insisted 19-year-old Frederick Litto of Los Angeles.

"Why does everybody want to be a hick?" jibed Barry Warner of Portland, Ore.

Even suburbia had its share of the disenchanted. Jo Ann Whalty of Hastings-on-Hudson, a pleasant commuter town near New York, said she wished she were back in the big city. "New York," she sighed, "is the greatest. Everything is there."

Similarly, Jack Julier, 17, of Kirkwood, Ohio, said he preferred the city because "it's easier to get to different places and it's closer to the business world."

In the course of this survey, we were surprised to learn that the glitter of the big city lights no longer holds a fascination for country boys and girls. Only 5 per cent of the rural boys and 3 per cent of the girls dissatisfied with country living would trade places with the city slicker.

The only worry about keeping them down on the farm these days will be after they've seen suburbia, not Paree or any other big city.

Women Still Come Out on Short End

By RUTH MILLETT

How does it happen . . .

That when a woman with a house to run, a husband to keep happy and children to bring up, is lucky enough to have a maid to help her, it is assumed that she doesn't have anything to do? No one claims that an executive leads a life of ease just because he has a secretary to do some of his routine jobs for him.

That now when women are outliving men, the women are blamed for not taking better care of their husbands? Back in the old days when men often outlived two or three wives, nobody pointed an accusing finger at the men for overworking their womenfolk.

That when a widower marries in a hurry everyone is glad that the poor man has someone to look after him? When a woman who has been a widow less than a year starts casting her eyes about for a second mate, people aren't so charitable.

That what a man hears at the office is news or facts? What a woman hears at her sewing club is called gossip.

That we hear so much about all the labor-saving devices that have made housework a "snap"? We don't hear about how modern inventions have made men's work in offices and factories a snap.

That a man who can spot a phony is considered a "good judge of human nature?" But a woman who can see through the pretenses of her sisters is just considered catty.

That a man whose manner and dress don't correspond with his importance gets credit for being "plain as an old shoe"? When it's the wife who refuses to live up to her "position," she is criticized for not keeping up with her husband.

That everyone assumes that the man who isn't married by the time he is 40 simply prefers bachelorhood? But people assume that the woman who is still single at 40 isn't married because she never had the chance.

In an age of so-called "equality between the sexes," there still seem to be quite a few inequalities.

Underthings Count

In wearing the trapeze silhouette, remember that everything depends on maintaining that line if you're to look well. So when you buy a trapeze dress, buy the right girdles, bras and slips to wear under it.

Experts' Judgments Not Always Sound

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

In a recently published child guidance book, its "expert" author tells a story about a certain Mrs. Williams who went to collect her daughter Lois from the house of a kindergarten friend. Arriving, she found Lois and another child playing without their hostess, who'd been removed to her room for becoming too wild and excited.

On the way home, Lois said, "Mommy, couldn't Nan's mother have taught her that lesson some other time?"

"Surely Lois was right," intones the expert.

Then, criticizing the removal of an overexcited child from the presence of others as humiliating, she writes, "No doubt Nan's mother was hard pressed, but she might have found some other way to control her excitement instead of sending her to her room."

Maybe the expert has tranquilizers in mind.

Anyway, I found her bland, patronizing comment misleading and silly.

Sometimes a child does get overexcited by the presence of others. Sometimes, having our own affairs to take care of as well as his, we don't register his growing intoxication until it's got out of his control. Then we remove him from the environment that's overstimulating him to the quietness of a room that will help to calm him down.

We take this action, not to humiliate him but to protect him against humiliation.

Children don't like going wild in the presence of others who have retained control of themselves any more than we like getting drunk in the presence of people who don't drink. If we permit their wildness to get out of hand, they get scared — and will themselves want to withdraw under the protection of someone they can trust to govern their impulses for them.

But dealing with children's overexcitement isn't the subject of this column.

It's the experts who make pronouncements on action we should take toward children — like Moses coming down from Sinai with the Word of God. They're not experts but egotists. The value of any action we take toward Nan depends on the feeling behind it. And experts like this lady presume greatly in judging our action without knowledge of our reason for taking it.

Check Your Posture

Strengthen Abdominal Muscles

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "I am 18 years old. I am not overweight but my stomach sticks out. I can't hold it in. What sort of exercises should I take? Are bending ones good for this?"

A. Perhaps your abdominal muscles have become lax because of poor posture. Remind yourself many times each day to tuck your hips under and pull your abdomen in. Also take exercises to strengthen the abdominal muscles. The bending exercises are for the waistline. Those which are taken lying on the back and raising either the legs or the truck are the ones you need.

Q. "Does an adult need milk for best nutrition I think this is an advertising stunt. I do not think that people need milk after they are grown."

A. This is a mistake many adults make. For best nutrition you should have two glasses a day. You can make this skim milk or powdered, fat-free milk if overweight is a problem.

Q. "My wife simply will not reduce. She was beautiful when we married five years ago, but after a 40 pound gain in weight I can hardly recognize her. Is there any way you can suggest that I might be able to succeed in making her lose weight? I think she is self-conscious about it but she won't admit it, not to be anyway."

A. I think I have the key to your problem, brother. A woman likes to feel that the man who loves her still loves her no matter what she weighs. Even a woman who is very much in love with her husband will brace all 40 pounds if he approaches the subject in the wrong way.

You have made her feel that she must reduce to a certain poundage in order to be attractive to you. Just between us, I think she is making a mistake in not taking the suggestion; but the mistake is a very human one. Whenever my husband says, "You have gained a little weight, haven't you?" I get out my calorie chart and take my own advice.

I do this gladly because my husband says, "On second thought, you are so attractive to me always, please don't change a thing. Stay just as you are." That is the sort of hint I like, but one I do not fool around with!

Q. "I have trouble with ingrown toenails. I do not know why. What can I do?"

A. You probably have cut your toenails incorrectly or have worn shoes which were not properly fitted, or maybe both. Cut the nails straight across the top. Do not wear shoes which crowd the toes.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Abdominal Exercises" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

SOS to Service Moms!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Thank goodness I don't have any problems as serious as those I read about in your column, but I do have a little problem that maybe your readers could help me out with. Our son is serving in Korea and he has asked me to send him something good to eat, like cookies, candy or fruitcake. What can I send that will arrive in good condition that he and his buddies will enjoy? How should I wrap it to be sure it will be fit to eat when it gets there? This may sound like a small problem, but it is big to a mother with a son in service."

ABBY

MOM

DEAR MOM: If there are any mothers out there who know what can be sent to a boy overseas (and how to wrap it) I hope they will contact this column. It would be a pleasure to pass the recipes and hints for wrapping on to you.

"DEAR ABBY: That letter from Pearl the Squirrel caused me to blow a fuse. I am a happy bachelor, aged 50, who has a beautiful apartment, brand new car, a bank roll and my mamma does my cooking. Honest, Abby, what discriminating bachelor wants a widow anyway? No second-hand goods for me!"

BACHELOR BOY

DEAR BACHELOR: And pray tell where are you going to find a blushing maiden on whom no man's hand has ever set foot who'd want a 50-year-old bachelor boy?

"DEAR ABBY: If a fellow gives a girl a very expensive diamond ring for an engagement, should he pay for insuring it or should she? This is creating quite a big problem in my family and I want some outside opinions."

ENGAGED

DEAR ENGAGED: Any boy who can afford a very expensive diamond should be able to insure it. There is no good reason why the girl (or her father) should assume the expense of insuring her engagement ring.

"DEAR ABBY: Each year around this time we are swamped with announcements of graduations, confirmations and weddings. Some are invitations to attend these affairs, but what do you think of the announcements telling you the affair took place? It looks like they are asking you for a present. My husband and I have to ask each other if we even know some of these people. Do you think we should ignore the announcements or should we send a gift?"

MRS. D. S.

DEAR MRS. D. S.: If you aren't sure you "know" these people who send you announcements, just send them a note of congratulations. The best rule to follow is to give a gift only when you sincerely want to.

"DEAR ABBY: I am a girl 17-years-old and a girl my age (and about my build) lives across the street from me. She has a date almost every night and when her date takes her home what do they do but park right in front of MY house and make out for about an hour! It is quite dark and the neighbors naturally think it's me. I am getting a bad reputation because of this and want to know what I can do about it."

MISTAKEN IDENTITY

DEAR MISTAKEN: Turn on the porch light and throw a little light on the subject.

"DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 16. She is going steady with the first and only fellow she ever dated. Since she has been going with him we've lost all parental control over her. She failed two subjects and we can't talk to her. The other day she hit me.

"Frankly, since this incident I am afraid of her. School and juvenile authorities have recommended psychiatric treatment, but I am afraid of the scandal. What do you suggest we do?"

DESPERATE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Scandal? What scandal is there in going to a clergyman for a sick soul or to a dentist for an aching tooth? Your daughter's emotions are out of order and a psychiatrist can help her. Your daughter should go.

CONFIDENTIAL TO PUZZLED: Don't let Julia fool ya! No nice girl has three dates in one evening.

Have You Tried This?

Thin Sliced Pound Cake Delicious With Fruit

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

In this season of the year when fresh fruit is often the dessert course, a simple cake is welcome. Mrs. Millard Wade of Milford suggests a pound cake and shares her recipe for it. This is a fine textured cake, one that keeps well. Serve thin slices.

Mrs. Wade's family ranges from a tiny daughter of two to a teenage son and a married daughter. Mrs. Wade says all her time is taken up with her family and with church work. She is looking forward to becoming a grandmother in the near future.

POUND CAKE
By Mrs. Millard Wade

1 cup vegetable shortening
1½ cups sugar
5 eggs
2 cups sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon mace
¼ teaspoon black walnut flavoring (optional)
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream shortening well, add sugar gradually and cream until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each one.

Add sifted dry ingredients and flavorings. Pour into a greased tube pan or two greased bread pans. Bake 60-80 minutes in a 350-degree oven.

Raisins Add Zest

Try raisin bread in your bread puddings instead of white bread and see the difference that it makes. The raisins never settle to the bottom of the pudding.

Ask Girl to Come to Dinner

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's son has just recently announced his engagement. He lives with his mother but comes to visit us often and I am very fond of him. I would like to know what we are supposed to do.

"His mother has already paid the conventional visit on the girl's family. As the father of the bridegroom, is my husband supposed to call on her family too, and if so, do I go with him?"

Answer: I think that while it is not necessary, your husband should call on his son's fiancee's parents but you need not accompany him. You should however, ask your stepson to bring his fiancee to your house, probably for a meal, so that you can meet her, and show your interest in the girl he has chosen to be his wife.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a girl and man are being shown to their table, and the man is waylaid by friends of his own who are unknown to the girl, what is the correct thing for her to do?"

Answer: If a waiter is leading the way to the table, she would follow him and take her place at the table. Or if there is no waiter and there is an empty table at a short distance she would go to it and wait for him. Correctly, he should not have stopped — certainly not for longer than a moment.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My wife and I are living in my father's house and we share the same telephone. Whenever my father answers the telephone he always asks who is calling. My wife resents this very much and thinks it's an infringement on her privacy. Will you please give me your opinion as this is causing a good deal of unpleasantness in our house?"

Answer: It is correct to ask who is calling so that the person called may decide if she wishes to come to the telephone.

Braves-Giants to Meet Tonight

Crucial Series Starts in NL

Associated Press Sports Writer

The most important series of the National League season, beginning tonight, finds the first place Milwaukee Braves "up" and ready and the second place San Francisco Giants "down" and totally unprepared.

Events during the past two nights altered the pennant picture completely. On Wednesday morning, the Giants were sitting on top, a full game in front of the Braves following one of their typical Frank Merriwell finishes while the Braves were being slapped down by their nemesis, the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Today, it is the Braves who are a full game in front, after winning two in a row against Los Angeles while the Giants were blowing two to Cincinnati.

Last night's Giant loss to the Redlegs was a crusher. They led 6-0 after four innings and 9-4 after 7½. Cincinnati, however, rallied for five runs in the eighth and won, 10-9, on pinch hitter Pete Whisenant's single with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth.

Milwaukee, encouraged by Warren Spahn's first victory over the Dodgers in seven years Wednesday night, followed with a 4-1 triumph yesterday to capture their first series of the year against Los Angeles. Young Juan Pizarro went the distance, hurling a four-hitter for his second triumph without a defeat since his recall from Wichita.

Philadelphia won its third straight from St. Louis 4-1, to seep past the Cardinals into sixth place. The Chicago Cubs moved to within a half game of third place Pittsburgh, defeating the Pirates 5-4 in a game halted after eight innings by rain.

The Braves have their top pitchers all primed for the big four-game series with the Giants. Lew Burdette Opens tonight, Carleton Willey goes tomorrow with Spahn and Bob Rush working the Sunday doubleheader.

Manager Bill Rigney had Ruben Gomez scheduled to hurl tonight. Gomez, however, was used in relief last night and was charged with the loss. Johnny Antonelli, the ace of the staff, lost Wednesday night. Red Worthington, a member of the big four, was yesterday's starter. That leaves 19-year-old Mike McCormick and spot starter Stu Miller for tonight and tomorrow. Antonelli and Gomez most likely will hurl the Sunday twin bill.

The Giants, paced by Leon Wagner's two home runs and one by Willie Kirkland, appeared to have the game safely stashed away as the Reds came to bat in the eighth, trailing 9-4. But pinch hitter Walt Dropo's two-run homer and run-scoring singles by Jerry Lynch, Ed Bailey and Don Hoak tied the score. In the ninth, singles by Johnny Temple and Dee Fondy and a walk to Frank Robinson preceded Whisenant's game-winning hit.

The Braves rallied for three runs in the eighth against Stan Williams to snap a 1-1 tie with Los Angeles. Joe Adcock, was Covington and Johnny Logan drove in the runs. Henry Aaron got Milwaukee's first run, homering off starter Johnny Podres in the fourth.

Ernie Banks hit his 29th home run for Chicago, but it took a Pittsburgh error and a wild pitch, following Bobby Thomson's eighth-inning single, to bring home the tie-breaking run. The four-bagger gave Banks the National League lead and tied him with Boston's Jackie Jensen for the major league leadership.

Jim Hearn, making his first start since July 20, 1957, held the Cardinals to five hits until the eighth when he needed help from Dick Farrell to hang up his second triumph of the year. Harry Anderson walloped his 15th homer of the year in the first inning, off Larry Jackson, to give the Phils a lead they never relinquished.

Bolling Drives in Martin With Winning Margin

Eighth Inning Smash Causes Dispute With Umpire Flaherty

By The Associated Press

Frank Lary, Detroit's daring right-hander, does it the hard way. He wins only from the top teams and loses only to the bottom clubs. It's not quite like that, but almost.

Look at the record. Lary has won 10 games and lost the same number. Five victories have come against the American League-leading New York Yankees, who have beaten him only once. Three triumphs have come at the expense of the second-place Boston Red Sox, who have not beaten him at all.

That leaves Lary with a record of 2-9 against the five other also-rans, none of which can boast a .500 won-lost record.

Lary permitted the Red Sox only four hits yesterday to win a 3-2 hurling duel from rookie Bill Monbouquette.

A disputed eighth inning double by Frank Bolling, which drove in Billy Martin with the winning run, gave him his 10th victory.

Third base umpire John Flaherty ruled that Frank Bolling's smash down the third base line was fair.

Catcher Sammy White said "It wasn't even close. The ball was a foot and a half foul."

Third baseman Frank Malzone said "no question about it—the ball was way to the other side of the bag."

Other Boston players said Flaherty was trying to jump out of the way of the ball, and could not possibly have seen whether it was fair or foul.

Al Kaline and Gail Harris drove in fourth inning runs for Detroit and Martin started the winning rally with a leadoff double in the eighth. He took third when Kaline grounded out and scored on Bolling's hit.

OUT? SURE WAS—It would appear from this picture that Red Sox first baseman Dick Gernert is safe at second base, but shortstop Inman Veal already had made the putout and dropped the ball on the double play. The Tigers beat the Red Sox, 3-2 at Briggs Stadium.

3 Junior Golfers Ousted

Special to The Pontiac Press

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Bud Badger survived two rounds of head hunting in the USGA junior golf tournament to advance to the fourth round Thursday but three other Michigan entries were beaten.

Badger whipped Steven Cary of Lewiston, N. H., 3 and 2, and then knocked out Stephan Wilkinson of Hagerstown, Ind., 2 and 1. Both Cary and Wilkinson were regarded as strong opponents, boosting the tournament stock of the young Royal Oak golfer considerably.

In the morning round Garrett Mouw of Birmingham bowed in the third round to Z. Daniel Boone of Chevy Chase, Md., 2 and 1; Tom Grace of Southfield lost to John Colwick of Dallas, Texas, 2 and 1, and Pete Green of Birmingham was eliminated by George Smith of New Bern, N. C., 1 up in 19 holes.

Badger's opponent in today's fourth round will be Gordon Baker of Florence, S. C., whose subpar shooting has been some of the best in the tournament.

Badger won three of the first four holes in his match against Cary and was never in serious trouble. He was even par 35 going out at the University of Minnesota course and two over for the 7 holes played on the back.

Compromises End Dispute Between PGA, Sponsors

CHICAGO (AP) — The dispute between the Professional Golfers Assn. and the International Golf Sponsors Assn. over tournament operations has been settled amicably, except for minor details.

The IGSA won the representation it has demanded on the 12-man committee that will concern itself with tournament questions. And, the PGA won its point to make the decisions of the committee only advisory and not binding.

Ed Carter, PGA tournament director, said Thursday:

"Both sides have given a lot in the interests of tournament golf in this thing."

A. M. "Skip" McMahon, of Los Angeles, newly elected president of the IGSA, said:

"We don't contemplate any more problems."

The IGSA represents sponsors of 24 tournaments valued at more than half a million dollars.

Both sides agreed on the basic makeup of the 12-man committee as follows:

Six tournament sponsors; four of them to be sponsors from the IGSA group because that organization represents 19 of 32 tourneys co-sponsord by the PGA. That was the proportionate representation demanded by the international association.

Three members of the PGA Advisory Committee.

Three Members of the PGA Tournament Committee.

A spokesman for the IGSA said the 12-member tournament committee will "maintain an avenue of communication between our group and the PGA."

The IGSA named the following to its contractual policy board; Roger Madison, Louisville; Henry Thomas, New Orleans; Doug Eason, Houston; Roger Hagel, Phoenix, and Bob Watson, Hartford, Conn.

Duke Maas Wins for Yanks, 8-3

Ex-Tiger Needs Help in 6th Inning but Pockets Victory

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The New York Yankees manhandled five Kansas City pitchers for a 13-hit, 8-3 decision over the Athletics. Thursday night, avenging two straight losses here to the upstart A's.

Duke Maas pocketed the victory, with the help of Johnny Kucks who relieved him in the sixth.

Roger Maris spoiled Maas' shutout with a three-run homer in the sixth, sending Maas to the showers.

After a second inning threat in which they had three men on and went down without scoring, the Yankees came up with two runs in the third and were never headed.

Softballers Make 10 Errors in 4 Innings

The Jim Wall Service team in Waterford's National League was an excellent example last night of how a team can change from one inning to the next.

Leading earlier 4-1, the Wall nine fell apart in the 4th inning making seven errors while the Pontiac Lake Merchants were banging eight hits to score 13 runs. The final count read 19-4 with the losers finishing with 10 bobbles in a 4½ inning contest.

The American League contest in the double bill was just the opposite as Lakeland Pharmacy squeezed by Sno-Bol and Wimpy Johnson 3-2 in eight innings. A single by pitcher Norm Jennings, an infield hit and Earl Lamberton's short one-baser did the trick. Johnson had three of the losers' six safeties.

Barons Get Bailey From Red Wing Club

Jack Adams today signed three right wingers responsible for 89 goals last year and sold another who scored only nine times in 1957-58. Gordie Howe, Jack McIntyre and Duncan Fisher were the signers while Bob Bailey was dealt to the Cleveland Barons in a straight cash deal.

Adams also reported that 21-year-old defenseman Jack Hendrickson, who played last season with Edmonton, returned his signed contract by mail.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: From Trap to Trap.

DIAGNOSIS: Forward Sway on Trap Shots.

TREATMENT: I know of only one sand trap as bad as the one that goes nowhere and leaves you in the same trap—and that's the one that sails over the green and lands you in still another trap.

This too-strong trap shot almost always results from a forward sway in the direction of the hole as the downswing begins, making the clubhead enter the sand an inch or so forward of where you intend it should.

To guard against this, first make sure that your stance is secure against slipping in the loose sand. Grind your feet well into the sand until you know you have a firm foundation. Then anchor the head over the ball and make sure it doesn't move until the ball has been exploded out of the sand.

As a safety measure, keep your eye on the spot where you mean for the leading edge of your sand wedge to enter the sand, rather than on the ball itself.

Ex-Teammate Says Colts Act Like Champs

Lions Building "Legs"

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Do the Lions have the horses and the enthusiasm to repeat as champions of the National Football League?

An ex-Lion, Ray Krouse, now with the Baltimore Colts, says no. Krouse, who came to Detroit from the Giants in '56, was quoted yesterday from the Colt training camp in Wesminster, Maryland as saying "these guys act more like a championship club than Detroit ever did."

He said he was impressed with the confidence and enthusiasm which blanketed the Baltimore front office and the Colt players.

Liops' coach George Wilson has maintained he is very pleased with the condition of the squad and the enthusiasm at the Cranbrook training camp.

"We admit our veterans are getting older, but they realize it and it takes plenty of enthusiasm to stay trim and report to camp without excess pounds. Veterans like Lou Creekmur, Bobby Layne, John Henry Johnson, Charley Ane, Joe Schmidt and the others are all in better shape than they were at the start of camp last year," said Wilson.

"We're working hard and our boys will have good legs when we start our season," Wilson said.

"Sure we will have to count a lot more on some of our younger players and rookies, but no one can say the older fellows are lying down and playing dead," he added.

It can be recalled last year when Buddy Parker quit he publicly slapped the team for being in poor condition.

When Wilson took over the team, the wind sprints doubled and head bumping took place more often. By mid-season the aged legs of the Lions were moving at a faster pace. Observers say that the reason for the late season surge to the title even with all the key injuries, was that the Lions grew physically stronger while many other clubs were "losing their legs."

Two rookie backs, Danny Lewis of Wisconsin and Ken Webb of Presbyterian, have turned in outstanding performances at the Lions' training camp.

Lewis, the 6th choice in the draft, is extremely fast and is showing good breakaway abilities. With only four backs, Johnson, Tom Tracy, Gene Gedman and Hopalong Cassady in camp, Lewis has a very good chance of sticking with the club.

Webb, a 210 pound fullback, is the "sleeper in camp. He is fast for his weight and has a strong set of legs.

NFL NOTES: George Halas of the Chicago Bears says he has the best crop of rookies in camp at Rennsselaer, Ind., since the 1950 turnout . . . This is coach Weeb. Ewbanks 5th year in his five year plan for a championship club, and with 34 holders from last year, the Colts figure this is their year . . . Four more rookies, including beefy linemen, 249-pound Stewart Prell of North Carolina, 261-pound Fred Preziosio of Purdue and 237-pound Bruce Hartman of Luther have quit the 49er camp.

Walled Lake drubbed Novi 10-2 paced by Mike Dargis, who struck out 15 and belted a three-run homer. Jim Broome batted in four runs with a home run and triple and Cliff Humble socked a solo homer.

Dick Mosher also fanned 13 as Birmingham's Americans whipped the Southfield Nationals 9-2 featuring an 11-hit attack.

The host city's American entry eliminated Farmington by winning 7-3 as Bob Hubbard did the hurling and slammed a homer.

Southfield's Americans reached the semis on a one-hit, 3-0 shutout of Fenton by Bill Smith. Jim Cunningham, who had won a one-hitter Thursday for Fenton, spoiled Smith's effort with a 3rd inning hit. Smith struck out 16.

Royals Finish Unbeaten

The International League champion Lakeside Royals finished with a perfect 14-0 recard after edging Sports Shop 10-9 in the final regular season action for men's league last night.

Autos of Europe nipped Griff's Grill 3-2. Franklin Products defeated Borden's 8-2 and the State Hospital Employes tripped Dostal Foundry 5-2 in other IL action to conclude play.

Each team used two pitchers and matched five errors in the Lakeside-Sports Shop tussle. Lakeside had the hitting edge of Plumb in the Autos of Europe victory.

Franklin broke a 2-2 tie and won going away paced by the big bat of Doug Fitzgerald, who belted triples in two successive innings and later added a single.

Gerry Layton shut out Dostal over the last six innings after being behind 2-1. His mates pulled ahead to stay in the 3rd scoring three runs without a hit as loser Jones walked six consecutive batters.

Shaw's won the American League championship and the Pontiac Police took National League honors. Girls' play is still in progress with the All Stars leading the way.

State Water Tourney Under Way

109 Seek Ski Titles

Oakland County's man-made Lake Sherwood near Milford, today began to take on the aspects of a marine extravaganza, when leading water skiers from all sections of the state arrived for qualifying rounds that will precede two strenuous days of state championship competition.

Tests were under way this morning and continue during the early afternoon. Following these runs the course will be turned over to contestants for practice runs.

Competition starts at 7 a.m. Saturday, runs through to 6 p.m. Sunday's events follow the same schedule.

With all entries closed yesterday, late mail entrants boosted the field to 109 for today's qualifying trials. One of the youngest skiers in state competition will be 12-year-old Randy McCully of Detroit. Randy has been betterin 45 feet in the long-jump tourney officials report.

Highlighted features, outside the water-ski championships, will include exhibitions both Saturday and Sunday by world champion trick skier Ken Tibado of Tampa, who said yesterday "if there's any trick that's figured impossible, we'll try to do it."

Miss Michigan Water Sports Queen Mary Bobak of Utica will award the trophies. A water safety demonstration and skiers parade will be held at 11 a. m., on Saturday.

All but one defending champion from the 1957 championships will be back, say tournament officials.

Milford Rotary Club has the ice cream concession, funds from which will go to the club's work for crippled children, and for a new scholarship fund.

(center). Pontiac's state woman's champion, Alice Shotwell, and regional AWSA "veep", Bud Fuller of Detroit, examine the little boards. Tibado will appear in exhibitions both Saturday and Sunday.

Weather Delays Net Tournament

KALAMAZOO (AP) — The rain-delayed National Junior and Boys Tennis Championships are scheduled to make up for lost time today, but it all depended on the weatherman.

Rain interrupted play for the third time in four days yesterday, but officials managed to complete seven of eight fourth-round junior singles matches. The tourney has been greeted by the worst weather in recent history, officials said.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Riessen upset 11th-seed Ramsey Earnhart, Ventura, Calif. 6-2, 2-6, 6-1.

Untereiner defeated Jack Kamrath, Houston, 6-1, 6-4.

Neely defeated Bruce Campbell, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-1.

McKinley defeated Frank Froehling, Coral Gables, Fla., 6-2, 10-8.

Palmer defeated Rod Susman, St. Louis, 6-2, 6-2.

Nagler defeated Herbert Fitzgibbon, Garden City, N. Y., 7-5, 6-4.

Buchholz defeated Bill Bond, La Jolla, Calif., 6-3, 6-1.

If today's play is not again interrupted by rain the tournament officials hope to complete fourth-round matches in the boys' singles division, and the quarter-final round as well.

Ken Sedlecky Single 'Bird' Ahead of Kerr

389 'High-Over' Total; 25 Shot-Gunners Break 100 Straight

By H. GUY MOATS

Competition for the world championship phase of the National Skeet Association today moved into the second of the three "days of determination" in which hopes are made or broken. Final decisions for the dozen or more titles will come Saturday afternoon.

Nearly 300 shooters from all parts of the United States, including Hawaii and the new state of Alaska, Canada, Puerto Rico, as well as a U.S. Army squad from Germany, have been battling along for the last four days.

Perfect rounds, those elusive 100 straights, haven't been too numerous — that is until yesterday. The NSSA skeeters had a real field day.

With the start of the all-gauge championships the 12-gauge guns came into play. That's when the 100-count scores began to roll in. By the close of the day's shooting there were 25 shooters who had gone straight. Indications were that figure might be equalled today, with perfect shooting conditions expected.

Those brash young shooters who have been giving the veterans a lot of trouble all week, once more set the pace.

Heading the list of leaders was Ken Sedlecky of Baldwin, Mich., former junior champion, who now shoots in the top class. Ken has posted a 290 total going into today's round. He was one bird ahead of the California veteran and many time champion, Alex Kerr. Sedlecky wasn't among the 100 shooters yesterday, missing two targets to pare his high-over-all-lead. His rounds to date are: 95-99-98-98-98 for 390.

"It gets pretty tough when you get out of the junior class," Ken says. "You just can't miss any of them."

The all-around field, starting today's shooting included 14-year-old Miner Cliett of Childersburg, Ala., with 290-98—386; Ben DiIorio of North Hollywood, Calif., with 290-99—389; Kerr, Beverly Hills, with 289-100—389; Ains Borsum of Baldwin, 287-99—386 and the sensational little marksman from Birmingham, 13-year-old Eddie Brown, who has 287-100—387.

The National Association, which has named Canadian F. Stuart Molson as 1958-59 president, will tonight decide upon the date and site for next year's Nationals. Two eastern clubs have already filed application for the tournament.

President Gets Wildlife Bill

WASHINGTON (A—Senate passage sent to the President Thursday a bill designed to assure better protection of fish and wild life in the development of federal water resource projects.

It calls for closer coordination of activities by interested government agencies. It also provides that conservation measures to prevent losses of fish and wild life shall be included to the extent justifiable in flood control and other water projects.

The Boston Red Sox last won an American League pennant in 1946. They last finished second in 1949.

State Softball Playoffs to Start Here Aug. 12

Pontiac will play host to district playoffs in two divisions and Waterford will stage one when the "crucial" part of the softball season begins Aug. 12.

Class A district games will be held here Aug. 12, 13 and 14 with Class C taking over Aug. 15 through the 17th. Waterford will have the Class D district, also starting the 15th.

The Class AA regional playoffs are set for Allen Park, Aug. 22-24 and Class B district play will be at Mt. Clemens, Aug. 15, 16 and 17.

Flint will host the "C" and "D" regionals Aug. 23, 24 and 25 while the Classes A and B teams are battling at Port Huron.

The Class AA state tourney will be at Allen Park. Petoskey will be the scene of Class A play, Class D finalists will compete at Iron Mountain, Class C at Coldwater and Class D at Hastings, all Aug. 29 through Sept. 1.

City playoffs for members of the American and National Leagues are slated to start here Sunday.

Shaw's Jewelers will represent Pontiac in the Class AA state playoffs as the American League champion.

The 2nd, 3rd and 4th teams in the loop will participate in a two-game knockout to determine the city entry in "A" district action.

A similar elimination setup will be held involving the last three teams in the American League season standings. That winner will enter the "B" district.

The top four finishers in the eight-team National League will have a double knockout tourney with the winner going into Class C play while the loop's other four contingents battle it out under the same arrangement for a Class D berth.

Waterford's National League will start its playoffs Monday with loop activity ending today but its American League has games scheduled through Aug. 13 so will likely not have its playoffs until Aug. 18 or 19.

The Pontiac girls' softball league is certain to have three teams in state competition when the women begin dueling Aug. 29.

Regular girls' league play continues through Aug. 14. A two-game knockout involving the 3rd, 4th and 5th teams in the standings will be held Aug. 19 and 21 with the winner eligible for the Class D tournament at Midland.

The league champion will enter the Class A event at Coldwater and the runnerup will go into Class B play at Petoskey.

LEADS PROS—Quiet, serious Dave Yaeger, of Anoka, Minn., today looked like the coming professional champion for this year's NSSA tourney, now under way at Oakland County Sportsmen's Club. Dave, 33-year-old 10-year shotgun campaigner, admits he's more of a trapshooter than a skeeter. Fellowshooters raise an eyebrow at this statement, for Dave broke 100 straight, yesterday. His closest rivals are Fred Missildine and Wilbur Cox, with 97s.

Griff's Leave Class A Cellar

Defeat Jet Team 8-3; Talbott Tied for 2nd in 'B'

Griff's Grill scored four runs in the opening three frames and then made sure with three in the 6th to defeat the Jets 8-3 and move out of last place deadlock in Class A baseball.

Meanwhile, Talbott Lumber was gaining a tie for 2nd place in Class B by nipping loop-leading Boys' Club 7-6.

Griff's walloped three Jet pitchers for 13 hits led by Les Stone with two singles and a double. Two others had two bingles.

The Jets led in the 1st inning when Gene Cox got his 1st of two singles and moved around on a steal and error but it was all Griff's from then on.

Winner Terry Hoy got a big double in the three-run 2nd while his reliefer, Marsh McGuire, started the big 6th with a single.

In Class B, it was only the 3rd loss of the season for the Boys' Club which blew a 3-0 1st inning lead.

Talbott put together two errors and three walks with singles by Marv Holler, Mike Slivensky and winning hurler Dick Deschaine for six big runs in the 2nd. The clincher crossed in the 5th on a two-out double by Jim Brown.

CHICAGO (AP)—Rain was never more welcomed by top-drawer golfing pros than it has been at the Gleneagles public fee course, scene of the $50,000 Chicago Open.

The $9,000 first prize is expected to go to the pro with the best putting touch. In this respect, Aft Wall Jr. has become one of the prime favorites.

Be a 'Wet Blanket'--Stop Bug Parties

By WAYNE SIEFERT
County Horticultural Agent

After the party is over, the answers are easy to find. But sometimes a little careful looking and a well aimed duster or sprayer can stop the party before it starts. The party, of course, is held by the bugs and diseases.

Here are some of the easy ones and how you can be a big wet blanket.

It is a steady fight which completely whips a sleepy pest, the cabbage worm. No doubt but what one dose of arsenic of lead would knock them dead but no one else can eat it either. The only good material is six tablespoons per gallon of malathion at seven-day intervals. This poison disappears after seven days so the vegetables may be safely eaten, raw or cooked.

Again when it comes to aphids we got a real break when malathion became available. It may have a pungent odor but against aphids, its really tops.

Usually two successive treatments with two tablespoons per gallon will clean up this problem. With a seven day interval before harvest for the chemical to dissipate, this insect should be easy to destroy.

MEXICAN BEAN BEETLE

If one sees signs of much chewing of bean leaves with lots of small holes, one is about to get acquainted with the Mexican Bean Beetle. The young is a grub-like animal, yellowish and covered with spines, and is usaully about ⅓ inch long. The adult parents are oval, copper-colored beetles with black spots on their backs.

If they are as large as your fingernail, that's too big. Control again is malathion. Within three days of harvest this can safely be used at three tablespoons per gallon. DDT would work too, but because it lasts from three to four weeks, it becomes a poison threat to the vegetable.

ASPARAGUS BEETLE

A miserable pest can certainly take the fun out of asparagus if they are very common. Not only do they chew on the young spears, but both young and adults thrive on the fern growth during the summer. In doing so they not only weaken the asparagus but build up to become even more troublesome next spring.

There are two kinds; red ones with black spots and orange ones with black spots. Both are killed using DDT which they consume when eating the leaves. One and one-half tablespoons per gallon at two to three week intervals should conquer them.

Have you often noticed a sort of cloud of small white or greenish yellow hopping and flying bugs when you walk among the potatoes, beans, beets, tomatoes and other leafy plants? A close look shows them as rather wedge shaped and very agile. Often they seem to run or jump sideways if they get excited.

These are leaf hoppers that do plenty of damage by sucking sap out of the leaves of any plant they appear on. Use DDT at the rate of one and one-half tablespoons per gallon. This long-lasting chemical is very effective and inexpensive. If they are on a crop where we may soon be harvesting exposed fruit like tomatoes, egg plant or beans, then methoxychlor, two tablespoons per gallon, can be used until seven days of harvesting. Malathion seems to do a poor job, but will help.

It isn't often red mites and clover mites are serious on vegetables, but they do become serious on raspberries and blackberries, and may spread to nearby vegetables and vine crops.

An easy symptom is a graying or silvering of lower leaves near the veins. After picking one of these leaves, one can see a webby fuzz on the underside of the leaf and lots of minute mites. These insects are always on the lower side of the leaf so put the chemical on the lower side to make it work. A complicating factor is the eggs. These are not destroyed by most chemicals. Wait until they hatch and then repeat treatments.

On bush fruits, use aramite. It is a good choice and should be used as soon as the fruit is harvested. If carefully used after trimming, two applications should be satisfactory.

On vegetables, malathion is our best choice. At least three applications at seven to ten day intervals will be necessary, using six tablespoons per gallon.

POTATO GROWS TOMATOES — Well, at least that's what Peter Travers (left) of 522½ Highland Ave., thought when he planted a potato plant and as No. 1 shows, potatoes and No. 2, tiny tomato-like fruits appeared. Actually, they are the true fruit of the potato, according to Lyle Abel, county agricultural agent. The potato plant blooms and sets fruit which contains the seeds. It is a rare occasion that the fruit will appear around this area but cool weather this year is attributed to the instance. Travers' grandson, Raymond Lidell, 11, of 288 W. Wilson St., holds the supposed tomatoes.

UMBRELLA SHAPED — This pinnochio rose bush of Mrs. Robert McCormack, 56 Clayburn St., is somewhat unique in shape and is filled with more than 100 beautiful blooms. Granddaughter Pam Pearsall, 8, of 4836 Elizabeth Lake Rd., Waterford Township, looks as if she has a perfect bouquet, sturdy and compact.

Gardener's Quiz

Q—What is the matter with my cauliflower? The plants grew nicely and headed, but no sooner were the heads formed than they started to turn very dark.

A — Cauliflower heads do not form properly in hot weather. The plants should be set out early in spring from seeds started in a cold frame; or in early summer so that the plants mature before really hot weather comes along; or in the fall. Also they should be blanched by covering them with their own leaves tied together just as soon as the heads begin to form.

Q—Most of our hollyhocks that came up this year are white, where as last year and previous years they were all shades. Why?

A—Hollyhocks self-sow freely, and the resulting seedlings usually vary greatly from their parents. To be sure of your colors, you must order new seed each year from a reliable source.

Q — My cabbages formed nice heads and then most of them started to split open. Can this be prevented?

A—The splitting was due to a delay in harvesting. Practically all cabbage heads will ultimately split, especially if rain follows a period of drought. The splitting can be deferred by thrusting a spade into the ground to cut off some of the roots as soon as the heads are fully formed.

Q—Is it necessary to have a male and female plant of euonymus fortunei vegets? My plant, purchased six or seven years ago, was full of berries. It has never had berries since, but has grown well. It is 10 or more feet high, and bloomed thickly but has set no berries.

A — Eunymus is a genus in which the individuals may vary. That is, some will be dioecious (bearing male and female flowers on separate plants), and in some they may be borne on the same plant. My guess is that yours is strictly a female plant. Another one of the opposite sex will be necessary to insure pollination and consequent berries.

Plan Now for the Future

Start Biennials, Perennials

When one looks across the fence in admiration of his neighbor's delphiniums or Shasta daisies it is too late for him to do anything about acquiring such plants for himself this year.

But look ahead a season and start right now to grow plants which will be in their glory next summer.

Biennials are plants which are started one season and bloom the following year, after which they die. They include such favorites as sweet william, foxglove (digitalis), hollyhock and Canterbury Bells, (Campanula).

Perennials are plants which are started one season and bloom not only the following year but for a number of years afterwards. They include many of our nicest flowers, and as a check list here is a summary of some of the more frequently planted varieties.

Alyssum saxatile (gold dust)
Aquilegia (columbine)
Cactus (mostly tender to hard frost but excellent potted subjects for indoors).
Candytuft sempervirens
Carnation (needs good winter protection)
Shasta Daisy (both double and single forms available)
Coreopsis
Dahlia (lift the tubers and store over winter)
Delphinium
Gaillardia grandiflora
Geranium (a good potted plant)
Geum
Perennial Sweet Pea (Lathyrus latifolius)
Perennial Lupine
Phlox (Beltsville beauty)
Oriental Poppy
Painted Daisy (Pyrethrum roseum)
Tritoma (red hot poker)

All the kinds in this list may be started from seed and after the third year they have usually attained a size which permits dividing the clumps and multiplying planting in this way.

PREVENT CHOKING

In fact, it is important to prevent perennials from becoming choked with growth because unless the plants have room to grow actively they tend to die out and certainly provide many fewer blooms. One will find it profitable to look over the perennials he now has and do this dividing job in late summer or early fall so the new divisions will have a chance to become established before winter.

It is a good idea to make a separate seed bed, a sort of nursery, for the biennial and perennial seedlings. They will do better if they are not in competition with annuals or other established plants and one can move them to their permanent location early in the fall.

Use Nature's Color Palette

By CYNTHIA LOWERY

There is, in a nearby housing development, a little house very much like the other little houses in the neighborhood. But passers-by pause before this one and exclaim.

The owners, apparently have a real feeling for color and design, for the garden beds and the landscaping — small beds on a small plot — have a succession of bloom in yellows and orange, which shows up handsomely against the little gray Cape Cod cottage.

Nature has given all of us a marvelous palette from which to work. Each one of us can decide freely which color or colors — red, white, blue, yellow, pink, green, even gray—we wish to use in flowering shrubs, tall and short plants and flowers. It may take considerable planning, but it is possible to follow a definite color scheme the year round.

The owner of the gray Cape Cod cottage, for example, may start his season in late winter with witchhazel, with its delicate yellow straps of bloom, followed by forsythia, wintergreen barberry, and golden chain among the larger materials, daffodils, tulips, English primrose, iris, daylily, roses, dahlia, gladiolus, zinnia, marigold, chrysanthemum.

DON'T GET IN RUT

Too many of us are likely to get ourselves in a garden rut — raising the same plants in the same fashion year after year and forgetting completely the fun and excitement of trying something new.

At this midsummer season, it is a good idea to take a look at the garden and ask whether or not it isn't time for a change. Autumn is a fine time to get some new perennials started, to move and divide established plants, to set into place new trees and shrubs.

And such rearranging should be considered in advance, not only to give one time to order materials.

Mr., Mrs. Share Garden Pleasure, Success, Work

If your garden is a "his-n-her" effort this year, be sure to keep the necessary equipment available so valuable time isn't lost hunting a hoe or rake.

The minimum equipment for a successful gardening team includes a spading fork, rake, hoe, shears, trowel, cultivator, lawn edger, pruning saw, galvanized steel pail and sprinkling can, stakes, wheelbarrow, hose and galvanized steel basket.

Of course, sufficient supplies of fertilizers, lawn and plant foods, mulch, weed killers and potting soil should also be kept on hand.

Large quantities of fertilizer and potting soil may be kept in galvanized steel garbage cans, either upright or lying on their sides as bins.

OWN DUTIES

The lady of the house, whose "green thumb" is particularly evident this time of year, often likes to "baby" her flowers along with special care.

Sturdy steel baskets are light enough for her to easily transport bulbs, small loads of plant food, potting soil and even peat moss.

All flowers, vegetables, shrubs, trees and grass should be carefully watered. Sprinklers can be used for the lawn and shrubs, but delicate flowers should be watered with a galvanized steel sprinkling can.

TIRING WORK—This inquisitive youngster is going to be a "tired" young man before he succeeds in moving this 3,355-pound giant at the Firestone plant in Akron, Ohio. The world's largest production tires, they are nine feet tall and each one contains 1,763 pounds of natural rubber, 418 pounds of fabric and more than five miles of bead wire. The huge tires are used in transporting complete pumping stations over the Saudi Arabian sands.

192 Plants for Sale in State This Fall

LANSING (AP) — Several unusual items are offered in the fall list of manufacturing plants available in Michigan, now in the mail.

Among the new listings are the Naval Reserve plant at Romulus, formerly used for defense production by the Navy but now declared surplus. The three buildings have a total of 694,609 square feet.

Also listed is the six buildings and 10 acres of Calvin College at Grand Rapids, described as suitable for an insurance firm, research facilities, a home for the aged or similar enterprise. Calvin is planning a new and larger campus.

There are 16 plants listed in the Upper Peninsula and 176 in the Lower Peninsula from a total of 134 communities. Copies of the summary are being sent to 9,000 industrialists throughout the nation by the State Economic Development Department.

Elk Rapids Going All Out to Finance New Harbor

ELK RAPIDS (AP) — Elk Rapids will whoop it up Aug. 9 at the annual Harbor Day celebration to raise money to build a harbor of refuge for pleasure craft on the East Bay of Lake Michigan.

A parade, beauty queens, aquatic events, fireworks and a sea-rescue demonstration are among the events scheduled. A crowd of some 5,000, mostly summer visitors from the area, is expected.

To Rule as Dictator for 6 Months

Political Crisis Boosts Haiti Leader's Power

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) —President Francois Duvalier has emerged from Haiti's latest political crisis with power to rule the volatile Negro republic as a dictator for the next six months and with his own political position apparently strengthened.

The National Assembly empowered him yesterday to govern by decree after he had taken a personal part in crushing an attempt by three former Haitian army officers and four North American adventurers to start a revolt. All seven were killed Tuesday after seizing the barracks next to the presidential palace.

The involvement of American citizens in the coup attempt sparked a protest demonstration in front of the U.S. Embassy by 500 Haitians.

As Duvalier watched from the balcony of his palace, government trucks and cars brought up the demonstrators, who also demanded the extradition of Haitian politicians charged with backing the plot from sanctuary in the United States.

U.S. Ambassador Gerald Drew lodged an official protest against the demonstration. The State Department has instructed him to find out all he can on the role of the Americans in the plot and meanwhile expressed formal regrets to Haiti over their action.

Failure of any serious backing for the revolt to materialize was taken to mean that Duvalier's opposition at home is neither very active nor very bold.

Many of the President's supporters got out and manned guns when the government's life was at stake, but apparently the army was not quite so quick to come to aid. As a result, changes in the military command may be in the works.

Ohio Highway Plans on Horses

Route Will Have 1 Lane to Provide for Amish Buggies, Speed Traffic

MILLERSBURG, Ohio (UPI) — One of Ohio's million-dollar highway construction projects is going back to the horse and buggy days.

A new highway being built of Routes U.S. 62 and Ohio 39 east of here will have a specially constructed berm (path) to take care of the horse and buggy traffic of the Amish people.

The berm will be six feet wide, enough to provide plenty of room for horses, wagons and buggies.

William E. Quicksall, deputy division director of the Ohio Highway Department, said the "bridle path" not only will help the Amish but speed up traffic on the regular highway.

For years, slow-moving Amish vehicles have been a traffic hazard in this area. So the horse and buggy path will make the road safer for both the slow buggies and the fast autos.

This particular stretch, extending five and six-tenths miles, is about the heaviest traveled route in the state for horse and buggies.

The highway will have two lanes designed for regular motor traffic besides the side lane for the Amish, who do not belive in such modern things as automobiles.

In case the traffic warrents, the Highway Department has acquired right-of-way for an additional two lanes, but it apparently is undecided whether to build any more "horse and buggy" highways.

Ancient Chinese Used Silk, Linen Clothes

HONG KONG—Linen was known to the Chinese ancients and used by them. When he fasted, Confucious wore linen clothes.

Some of the oldest textiles are pieces of silk fabrics dug up by Sir Aurel Stein in a cemetery in Chinese Turkestan. They date from the First Century B.C. and on them are designs of dragons, animals, birds, horsemen, clouds, and flowers.

Plans Thrill for Skindivers

Boy Wins Against Shark

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—John Collins, 15, was rowing in a skiff yesterday when an 8½-foot hammerhead shark swam alongside. The hammerhead has a record of attacking humans.

Collins conked the shark on the head, knocking it out, stabbed it a couple of times, then lashed it to his boat. The shark revived and headed out to sea. Collins won the tug-of war when the shark tired, and brought his prize to the beach.

What's he going to do with a dead 8½-foot shark?

"I'm going to fill it with rocks and sink it where skin divers swim," he said. "It should give them a thrill."

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet road workers in a Byelorussian village have uncovered English coins minted during the reign of King Ethelred II in the 10th Century, Moscow Radio said today.

Holdup Men Captured by Troopers

ELVERSON, Pa. (AP) — Two armed men who robbed a bank yesterday, stuffing more than $25,000 in cash and bonds inside their sports shirts, were captured two hours later in a wooded area.

Leonard T. Ivey, 24, Covington, Ky., was wounded in a brief gun battle as 75 state troopers and FBI agents closed in.

The loot — $10,500 in cash and $15,190 in bonds — was recovered. It was spilling out of their shirts.

Clyde Cope, 41, Cincinnati, surrendered first, walking out of the woods with his hands up. He had a .38-caliber revolver, police said.

They said Ivey shouted, "I won't try anything. I don't want any more bullets pumped into me." He threw away his sawed-off shotgun and was carried from the woods on a stretcher, wounded in the leg and back.

Dems Favoring Open Primary

State Party Chairman Clarifies Position After Charges of 'Invasion'

LANSING (AP) — Answering a Republican legislator, the Democratic state chairman says his party long has favored an open primary and continues to do so.

Neil Staebler replied to Rep. Russell Strange (R-Clare), who questioned Staebler's attitude after the Democratic state chairman expressed concern over a possible Republican invasion of the Democratic primary.

Staebler said that in an open primary, where the voter is not required to disclose his party before receiving a ballot, there is traditionally greater voter participation.

This has been particularly helpful in outstate areas where economic and social retaliation against declared Democrats has unhappily been the practice all too frequently in the past," he wrote Strange.

In closed primary states, the usual practice is to prepare separate Republican and Democratic ballots, and to require the voter to elect which one he wants. He may not have both.

In Michigan's open primary, Republican candidates are listed on one side of the ballot and Democratic candidates on the other side. A voter may decide in the polling both which side to mark.

Have You Seen Any Discs?

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government appealed today for help in locating and preserving half a million bronze discs 3½ inches in diameter. They're scattered all over the countryside.

The discs are imbedded in concrete or rock and represent survey marks which are the basis for making and engineering measurements.

At least 1,100 of these marks disappear each year, the Coast and Geodetic Survey reported.

The discs cost only 72 cents each but the Survey figures it spends $40 to $65 to do all the surveying necessary to put in place an ordinary bench mark, one which gives the elevation at a given point.

Another type is the triangulation station mark which gives precise latitude and longitude. These cost $1,500 or more in remote regions.

Vandals and souvenir hunters make off with some of the discs. But the Survey said most of the marks vanish in the course of road construction work.

Each of the bronze discs carries this legend: "$250 fine or imprisonment for disturbing this mark."

Who Gets Your Vote for Best Entertainer?

By EARL WILSON

HOLLYWOOD — There hasn't been much hell-raising around Broadway this summer, so, while out here, I decided to start some by picking an All-American Entertainment Team.

Only YOU'RE going to choose it—so if it's no good, it's your fault, not mine.

WILSON

One of the most tactless men in America, Dave Siegel, happened to mention that he would not include Sammy Davis Jr., Eddie Fisher, Nat (King) Cole or Joe E. Lewis in a list of The Twelve Top Entertainers.

My response was witty, something like, "You're nuts."

Siegel, who is still receiving threatening letters and poisoned foods through the mail because of his candid comments about the high salaries of stars which he gave another columnist, borrowed my pencil.

PEARL

"I'm going to pick one on the basis of how popular these people are in night clubs," he said. "From Dallas to Denver to Cleveland to Chicago."

"NOT," he emphasized, "how talented — because sometimes the most talented aren't doing the most business."

So here are his nominations for "The Two Dozen Top Stars" (not necessarily in order of importance).

FIRST TEAM	SECOND TEAM
Frank Sinatra	Sammy Davis Jr.
Jack Benny	Eddie Fisher
Danny Thomas	Joe E. Lewis
Harry Belafonte	Nat (King) Cole
Pearl Bailey	Liberace
George Gobel	Gordon MacRae
Milton Berle	Patti Page
Jimmy Durante	Betty Grable
Louis Prima and Keely Smith	Sophie Tucker
Tony Martin	Kay Starr
Jerry Lewis	Ted Lewis
Dean Martin	Maurice Chevalier

Siegel eliminated Lena Horne from consideration because she's been doing "Jamaica" lately (otherwise she'd be way up there"). Joe E. Lewis he considered "a little sophisticated" for average audiences. Judy Garland ("an all-time great") wasn't considered because of her recent problems. Carol Channing he hadn't seen.

So send in your vote now and make Siegel out to be a (censored) if you wish. Vote for anybody you like in night clubs.

Along about Labor Day, I'll publish the results, providing I haven't been shot by Henny Youngman, Joey Adams, Jack E. Leonard or Jack Carter.

Siegel won't mind what you say about him. When I told his associate, "Wingy" Grober, what we were doing, he snapped, "I don't even know what he said, and I disagree with him."

Furthermore, Siegel admits he isn't perfect. When he and Ken Murray were choosing a replacement for Marie Wilson in "The Blackouts" in 1948, they narrowed it down to two girls. They picked Pat Williams, a beautiful Los Angeles blonde who later died tragically in Las Vegas.

The girl they rejected was Marilyn Monroe.

EARL'S PEARLS: "Trouble with Russian roulette is, Russians don't play it often enough."—Carey Williams . . . That's earl, brother.

Foundation Asks 8 Composers for Original Scores

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Serge Koussevitzky Music Foundation of the Library of Congress has commissioned eight composers to complete musical scores for the foundation.

The composers—four in the United States and four abroad—are doing works for chamber ensemble, symphony orchestra, chorus and strings, piano and string quartet, clarinet and piano, and an orchestral work for the theater.

The completed compositions will be added to the foundation's collection. Autographed scores of previously commissioned works by the Koussevitzky Foundation already are included in the collection.

Many of these compositions, according to the library, are firmly established in the repertoires of orchestras and ensembles throughout the world.

Examples are Bartok's concerto for orchestra and William Bergsma's second string quartet for chamber groups.

The organization was established by Dr. Koussevitzky in 1950, eight years after a similar foundation had been set up in New York City. Since 1942, more than 80 works have been commissioned by the two foundations from composers in the United States, Europe and Latin America.

Full Military Honors for Kincheloe Rite

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Full military honors were to be paid today for famed jet ace and world altitude record holder Capt. Iven C. Kincheloe Jr. in funeral services at Arlington National Cemetery.

Kincheloe, who was scheduled to be the first man in space, died Saturday when his F104 fighter plane crashed in the Mojave Desert after taking off from Edwards Air Force Base in California.

In connection with the services the Air Force announced establishment of the "Iven C. Kincheloe Jr. Memorial Scholarship Fund" to be maintained by contributions at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., to aid study of Aeronautics and Astronautics.

Danny Kaye Gets Both Praised and Prosecuted

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Comedian Danny Kaye had a big day at City Hall.

While the City Council was honoring him for his current show in the city-owned Greek Theater yesterday, the Fire Department cited him for smoking backstage.

Kaye was praised in a Council resolution for his work on behalf of peace and his worldwide efforts to bring joy and hope to children.

One floor down in City Hall a Fire Department complaint was presented to the city attorney charging the comedian with ignoring the smoking ban at the theater.

Kaye will have to appear on the complaint next week.

Allied Artists Will Film George Raft's Escapades

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — The story of George Raft, actor, dancer and lover deluxe, whose career has taken a sudden turn upward, will be made into a motion picture by William Broidy for Allied Artists. And if it gets in half of George's romantic activities in the old days it could easily be a male version of a Brigitte Bardot film!

Danny Winkler, who set the deal, says George is becoming very hot again, a claim backed up by Bob Hope, who reported that Taft's face is very well known in Europe, including Russia.

Charlie Martin, who is writing the motion picture script, says he is using much more data than was printed in the Saturday Evening Post yarn on George's life—and that was looked on as plenty hot, what with all the underground characters Raft has known.

Right now George is busy on the comeback trail with a top role in "Some Like It Hot" with Marilyn Monroe, Tony Curtis and Jack Lemmon.

Add the name of Tony Bennett to the list of singers turning dramatic and putting the muffler on the vocal chords to emote. Tony, best known for his popular records, TV and nightclub appearances, gets the part of the American tank sergeant in "Bridge at Remagen," Stuart Schulberg's movie for United Artists.

"When I was in the real army during the war I was a corporal and now I'm promoted to sergeant," he laughed.

Like Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin, Bennett is serious about his screen career but will continue in the mediums that made him famous. He opens at the Fairmont in San Francisco next month and later at The Sands in Las Vegas.

I was so glad to talk to Katina Paxinou, whom I knew quite well when she won her Academy Award for "For Whom the Bells Toll" and lived near me in Beverly Hills. She telephoned to say she made up her mind in a matter of hours to come from her home in Athens for "The Miracle."

She said her husband, Alex Minardo, is doing very well as a director. He is planning to put on "Media" with Maria Callas. "It's an old opera by Cherubini and not the play Judith Anderson did on the stage," said Katina. "Maria Callas is very eager to bring out this little known opera and Alex is very enthusiastic about it."

As for Katina, she's done very well in her native Athens, where she is a famous actress.

Those two wonder lads Mel Frank and Norman Panama are very interested in getting Kay Kendall to co-star with Danny Kaye in "Knock on Silk" which will be made in Tokyo.

"Kay and Danny would be just great together. Their sense of comedy and the way they throw away lines is perfect," said Mel. "But," he went on, "at this moment we are up to our necks in 'The Trap' which Richard Widmark and Lee Cobb are now making. That's a mystery story and great fun. Come on over."

THE CASE OF
THE TALKING CARDS
Twenty-third of a series

By DONALD J. SOBOL

"Jackson held his usual Friday poker party last night. He won all the money—more than $11,000," said Inspector Winters.

"The game broke up about 3 this morning. Jackson was shot an hour or two later. We searched the apartment without locating the winnings. It looks like one of his friends couldn't afford to lose so heavily and came back.

"If that theory is sound, there are five suspects, the men who played last night — Judge Alfred Vance, Gordon Morehead, Patrick Seaman, Tim Regan, and William Rice.

"I spoke with the judge by telephone. He said everyone lost about an equal sum to Jackson. All five are bachelors, live by themselves, and might have come and gone unnoticed."

"Nothing's been touched?" asked Haledjian.

"No," replied the inspector. "You can follow what happened by the trail of blood on the carpet. Jackson was shot in the middle of the room. He collapsed mortally wounded, but lived long enough to crawl to the card table."

The murdered man sat with his head and arms fallen onto the table. By his left hand was a heap of cards, upturned. By his right was the remainder of the deck, neatly together, face down. Within arm's reach were five cards, three aces and two queens.

"Aces full. . ." mused Haledjian. "A 700 to 1 shot on the first deal if I recall my odds correctly."

He turned suddenly to the inspector. "I should start my questioning with Patrick Seaman."

WHY?

dying Jackson had dealt himself a "pat hand."

Haledjian realized Jackson had crawled to the card table in order to leave a clue to the killer's identity. The full house, three aces and two queens, was the clue.

Hence Haledjian suspected Patrick Seaman, a seaman being known aboard ship as a hand. The

AF Postpones 2nd Missile Test Within Week

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force ran into technical troubles again in its latest attempt to shoot a 1,500-mile Thor ballistic missile.

The postponement of the launching yesterday followed in the wake of an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile scrub earlier in the week.

The Air Force said both missiles would be rescheduled for firing at an early date.

The last launchings of both the Thor and the Atlas ended abruptly with blowups shortly after takeoff.

The Thor, a 65-foot war weapon developed by Douglas Aircraft Co. is expected to be operational by December. The first units will be assigned to the Royal Air Force in England.

STOCKHOLM — Sweden's population at the start of 1958 was about 7,395,000 compared with 7,341,122 a year earlier. Births exceeded deaths by about 36,000, a decline of some 2,000. The net gain of immigrants increased from 12,000 to 17,000. Stockholm's population now totals 799,000.

Migration Sets Record

OTTAWA — Immigration to Canada by Britons hit a record high in 1957, with 112,828 people leaving Great Britain to settle in the dominion. This was more than twice the 51,319 migrating from Britain to Canada in 1956 and was the highest of any year since 1913.

Grain Futures Prices Weaken

CHICAGO (AP)—Improved growing weather brought out a good volume of liquidation, particularly in corn and soybeans, in early dealings today on the Board of Trade.

Prices weakened all along the line with the setback in both corn and soybeans running to as much as a cent a bushel or more.

Dealers said commercial demand was negligible and that the grains generally lacked buying support in view of the five-day weather outlook for more favorable conditions over much of the Midwest.

The only export business was a small amount of oats through the government export subsidy plan and 305,000 bushels of corn.

Wheat was ¾ to 1¼ cents a bushel lower near the end of the first hour, September $1.85⅝; corn ⅝ to 1⅜ lower, September $1.28⅞; oats ½ to ¾ lower, September 64; rye ½ to 1¼ lower, September $1.26; soybeans 1 to 1⅞ lower, September $2.27⅜; lard 10 to 15 cents a hundred pounds lower, September $12.42.

Chrysler Enters Small Car Field

Reveals Plans to Buy Substantial Interest in French Simca Firm

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. entered the small car field today with an imported car.

L. L. Colbert, president of Chrysler, said his firm was buying the entire interest of Ford Motor Co. in the French auto-building firm of Simca, the biggest non-government owned passenger car builder in France.

Ford owns 443,973 shares or 15.2 per cent of the shares outstanding in Simca. The Ford interest in Simca was acquired in December 1954.

A Ford statement said the sale to Chrysler was completed except for minor details.

Colbert said that "as part of the arrangement, Chrysler has entered into an agreement for the co-operative development of world markets for Chrysler and Simca products by the two companies."

"This arrangement with Simca," Colbert said, "is primarily for the purpose of combining the overseas organizations of Chrysler and Simca to create a new and major force in the world automotive market. In addition, we are continuing our studies on a North American, type small car for possible production in our United States and Canadian plants to serve the North American Continent."

The current Simca line includes the four-cylinder, 96-inch wheelbase Aronde, the Ariane four and eight cylinder models on a 106-inch wheelbase and the Vedette V-8 on a 106-inch wheelbase. The Aronde costs about $1,700 at New York port of entry and the Vedette about $2,200.

Yule Cards, Bills Beat Postal Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Post Office Department says new stamp rates, effective today, will add about two dollars a year more to the average family's postage bill.

For the big business houses the extra penny for stamps will run into thousands of dollars a year, for normal billing and advertising.

From now on the new rates will be four cents for regular first class mail delivery, instead of three cents; seven cents for air mail instead of six cents; three cents for post cards instead of two cents; five cents for air mail post cards instead of four cents.

Postal officials said a few calls around the country showed the mail volume was up about 20 per cent yesterday. They said some big business outfits decided to beat the midnight deadline and mailed their regular month-end bills at the old three-cent rate.

Equally thrifty were two elderly women patrons at Baltimore, Md., and Richmond, Va., who mailed their Christmas cards early.

Authorities Pull 'End Run' Freeing Segregationist

ATLANTA — (UPI) — Federal authorities pulled an "end run" on followers of John Kasper who have gathered in Tallahassee, Fla., and today will release the segregationist from the Atlanta penitentiary instead.

Kasper now lists his hometown as Nashville, Tenn., and the government is furnishing his transportation there from Atlanta. A new suit and $30 in cash also go to prisoners from federal institutions.

While Ku Klux Klan figures and hard-core segregationists were drawing plans for a "welcome out" party, prison officials quietly removed Kasper from the Tallahassee prison and brought him to Atlanta. This was done, they said, to "avoid possible demonstrations."

Aluminums Up, Steels Down

NEW YORK (AP)—Aluminums improved while steels declined in a mixed stock market early today. Trading quieted after an active opening.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point prevailed among leading issues.

The ticker tape was late for a period of three minutes as a succession of opening blocks was cleared away. Then turnover became extremely sluggish.

A two-week market advance appeared to reach a kind of climax yesterday with volume at a seven-month peak and prices into new high ground for 1958, backing away after moving Steels seemed to run out of breath after price increases widened to the major steelmakers. An aluminum price boost was announced after the close by Alcoa.

Alcoa rose a point. Aluminium Ltd. and Kaiser Aluminum rose fractions.

U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic Steel took fractional losses. Lukens eased.

Chrysler picked up a sizable fraction and Ford showed an equal loss following news that Chrysler will buy Ford's interest in Simca, the French auto maker.

Outline Conditions for Sewage Funds

LANSING (AP)—At least 129 municipalities are prospective applicants for a share of a $1,394,000 federal grant for sewage construction projects in Michigan.

The State Water Resources Commission, reporting this yesterday, said it had sent letters to all known applicants setting forth conditions under which the money can be obtained.

Grants to individual cities, villages and townships are limited to 38 per cent of the total cost of the project or $250,000, whichever is smaller.

Copper, Steel, Aluminum Boosted

Higher Prices on the Way

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices of Copper, steel and aluminum were advancing today in moves economists said would mean higher prices for everything from hairpins to the family car.

Users of the metals said they would have to pass at least part of the increased costs to the ultimate consumers. Some economists interpreted this as meaning another round of inflation was in the works.

All major steel companies were charging $4.25 to $4.50 per ton more on the steel products used in autos and appliances.

At the same time Aluminum Co. of America announced it was hiking prices of the lightweight metal 7/10ths of a cent per pound. And trade experts said other aluminum producers soon would follow the Alcoa lead.

Both Alcoa and the steel producers said they were increasing prices to offset higher wage costs and emphasized that the increases will only partially offset these higher costs.

Steel costs moved up July 1 when the industry gave workers an additional 20 cents an hour under a three-year contract with the United Steel Workers Union.

The companies said the steel price boost, which averages nearly 3 per cent and lifts a ton of steel to about $150, will enable them to recover less than half of the higher costs.

So far the steel price increase has been on a selective basis, affecting only sheet and strip products used by auto and appliance makers.

However, Bethlehem Steel Corp. President Arthur B. Homer predicted yesterday that by the end of this month the increase will be "across the board."

Still to be affected are steel products like bars, tin plate, heavy plates and structural shapes used by such industries as shipbuilding, canning and construction.

From Washington the price increases brought rumbles and grumbles in administration and congressional circles.

Chairman Estes Kefauver of the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee said he is calling a meeting of the subcommittee today and will recommend additional hearings on steel pricing to start perhaps before Congress adjourns.

The Tennessee Democrat, an arch foe of higher steel prices, called the decision of U. S. Steel to go along with the other companies "bad news for America."

Scores Silence of Williams

Bagwell Asks Governor to Spell Out Position on Stellato-Lesinski Race

BAY CITY (UPI)—The Republican candidate for governor, Paul D. Bagwell, last night called on Gov. G. Mennen Williams to "spell out" the Democratic Party position on a heated race in the 16th Congressional District in Wayne County.

The race concerns Rep. John Lesinski (D-Detroit) and UAW-CIO supported Carl Stellato, president of giant Ford Local 600 of the United Auto Workers.

Said Bagwell, "When Stellato announced his candidacy, Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the UAW-CIO, endorsed him and said, 'By electing the right men to office, a planned economy could be enforced.'"

Bagwell quoted Stellato as saying it was "not enough" that a congressman vote right, which he said Lesinski did on 19 of 20 "key" issues.

Bagwell and Williams "sat idly by" during the contest between Stellato and Lesinski and in the district "he (Williams) has had nothing to say despite his proclaimed 'liberalism' and the liberal record of the incumbent, John Lesinski."

The Republican candidate said Williams might agree with Mazey "that by electing the right men to office a form of state socialism could be put into effect."

Bagwell said the district fight was "a warning to all Michigan of political manipulation aimed at controlling the destiny of this state."

IN MOROCCO — Charles W. Yost, above, has taken over his new job as U.S. Ambassador to Morocco. He succeeds Cavendish W. Cannon, who retired.

State Tax Take Down for July

Sales, Use Levy Drops $2 Million From Same Month Last Year

LANSING (AP)—The state tax take from business continued down during July, the State Revenue Department reported.

The sales and use tax figures generally are considered a barometer of Michigan's economic condition.

Sales and use tax collections during July, reflecting June business, totalled $25,061,889. This was a decline of $2,221,580, or 8.1 per cent from the same month a year ago.

The business activities tax total during the month was down more than 40 per cent, to $3,448,717.

"There have been heavy losses during the last two or three months," said Clarence W. Lock, deputy revenue commissioner.

The business activities tax is based on both payrolls and profits and both were down.

The cigarette tax take, at $3,988,000 was comparable with a year ago. This still represented a loss, however, since the tax has gone from three cents a pack last year to five cents.

18 Cars Derailed Near South Lyon

SOUTH LYON (AP) — Eighteen cars of a 103-car Chesapeake & Ohio railroad freight train were derailed about one mile northwest of here today when a bearing on one car burned out. No one was injured.

A railroad spokesman said the car which caused the trouble was about 45 cars behind the engine. He said cars in front of this car were not derailed.

The train was en route from Grand Rapids to Detroit. The front section of the train continued its journey.

The spokesman said the derailment had blocked the track and workers were sent to the scene to clear the area of debris. He said no damage estimate was available immediately and added that the line was expected to be cleared by late this afternoon.

Passenger trains using the line are being re-routed. Freight trains will be held back until the line is cleared, the spokesman said.

Hussein Holds Firm Against His Enemies

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — Young King Hussein of Jordan, whose cousin King Faisal was slain in the Iraqi revolt, said yesterday he is ready to die to defend his country against "communism and atheism" if need be.

Hussein has been under heavy attack by the propaganda organs of the United Arab Republic. Cairo and Damascus radios have labeled him a tool of "western imperialism" and have urged his overthrow and assassination.

In a direct reply to the barrage of U.A.R. propaganda, Hussein told loyal tribal leaders from North Jordan that the country has "offered lessons in nationalism to those who brag about nationalism."

Flint Man Held Up While Sitting in Car

William Thompson, of Flint, reported to police he was held up in Pontiac when he stopped his car for a traffic light on S. Saginaw at Whittemore streets.

Thompson said he stopped for the light at 4 a.m. today and a man jumped into his car brandishing a knife.

Thompson was forced to drive to the dead end of Arthur street where the bandit demanded his money, he told officers.

Thompson said he managed to get away from the man and ran on foot to a telephone to call police. The robber did not get his money, nor is anything missing from his car, he said.

3-Foot Rattler, 'Gator Turtle, Found in Area

There was a diversity of reports today, regarding wildlife in the Pontiac area, like the 3-foot-long rattler found by some boys, now reposing in a jug. Then there was the alligator turtle discovered in the yard of a Pontiac home, and the banded pigeon that "adopted" a Clarkston family.

On the more prosaic side, Roger Holden, 2267 Oakdale, Drayton Plains, landed his season's biggest bass. Holden's fish, a 20-inch largemouth, was 5½ pounds in weight. It was taken at Silver Lake on a trolling flatfish.

The snake was found by John Helpin, 10, George, 12, Terry, 10, and Cheri Boucher, 13, while picking berries on the bank of the Clinton River off Elizabeth Lake Road, two blocks from the Boucher home.

The turtle, unusual for this section, was found by Mrs. Charles Loucks, Brown Road. She thinks she knows now where some missing ducklings went.

The pigeon came to the William G. Nelson home, RFD 2, Clarkston with a damaged wing and wearing a band, FFF-AV58-692. Any one knowing the owner should call MAple 5-1595.

2 South Lyon Teens Held in Car Theft Case

MOUND CITY, Ill. (AP) — Two South Lyon, Mich., teenage boys were held today in the Pulaski County jail for questioning in connection with a Michigan car theft. They are Robert Carr, 16, and James McIlvoy, 15.

State Police said they have admitted taking the car Monday. They were held without charge.

Letter Raps African Trip by Williams

LANSING (AP) — House Speaker George M. Van Peursem (R-Zeeland) didn't think much of Gov. Williams' trip to Africa and said so in a letter sent today to fellow Republicans.

Renewing an oft-heard GOP theme, Van Peursem asserted "the governor is out of his office more than he is in."

"At a time when Michigan needs forward-looking full-time leadership most," he said, "we are saddled with a part-time executive."

The Democratic governor returned yesterday from a 10-day trip to Africa as a guest of the government of Liberia. Van Peursem also cited the governor's visits to New York, Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania, California, Washington, Tennessee, Wisconsin and Connecticut.

"Absence from the state might be excused if the governor were actively trying to promote the interest of Michigan—by attempting to bring new industries to Michigan for example," he said.

However, he added, "these trips, as well as the executive office itself, are being used as a springboard to the presidential nomination."

AF Schedules 7-Day Midwest 'Bombing'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Large scale simulated bombing exercises have been scheduled by the Air Force over 2,000 square miles of the industrial Midwest, Aug. 20-Oct. 17.

On seven different days the secret air maneuvers will virtually ground all civil aviation that is not rerouted in the area for brief early-morning periods, the Air Force disclosed yesterday.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration, the airlines and private pilots are cooperating to keep the impact on the public at a minimum.

The nature of the maneuvers was not spelled out. The Air Force called it a routine SAC exercise, and said no weapons would be aboard the aircraft when they fly over large parts of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio and Minnesota.

Snub Teamsters, Meany Warning

Tells AFL-CIO Unions to Sever All Ties With Hoffa Group

WASHINGTON — UP — AFL-CIO President George Meany today challenged several AFL-CIO unions to sever all formal ties with the outcast Teamsters Union or face ouster proceedings themselves.

Meany laid down the line yesterday in a tough-worded statement denouncing any facts which give aid and comfort to Teamsters' President James R. Hoffa and other truck union leaders charged with corruption.

The Meany challenge posed a difficult choice for some of the building trades unions who spearheaded the opposition to ouster of the teamsters from the AFL-CIO on corruption charges last December.

The Carpenters, Operating Engineers and Hod Carriers, for example, have a "four-way pact" with the teamsters that has led to successful organizing drives in the past.

Meany apparently will press for abolition of the pacts at the next meeting of the AFL-CIO executive council starting Aug. 18 in a Pocono Mountains, Pa., summer resort. Labor sources told United Press International he may run into militant opposition.

The AFL-CIO chief yesterday urged the rank-and-file members of the 1,500,000-member truck union to rise up and throw Hoffa out of office.

In San Francisco, Hoffa advised Meany to consider "his own past associations and his own past associations before making nasty charges about him. He did not elaborate.

Hoffa also told newsmen he believed Meany was "trying to capitalize on what he hopes will come out of the McClellan hearings next Tuesday concerning myself and others." Hoffa referred to hearings of the Senate Rackets Committee headed by Sen. John McClellan (D.Ark.) and now in progress here.

Ferndale Teenager Saves Chum's Life

William Gignac, 17, became exhausted while trying to reach shore, and went down. His friend, Richard Kralian, 17, rescued the unconscious Gignac, pulling him up onto the Dodge Park beach, and applied artificial respiration until the arrival of Waterford Township firemen.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF Mildred Henderson, who passed away August 1st, 1953.
In our home she is fondly remembered,
Sweet memories cling to her name;
Those who loved her in life sincerely,
Still love her in death, just the same.
Sadly missed by her husband James & children.

Actor Receives Meatier Roles

Stops Knocking Series Because Plots Making Him a Co-Star

By HAZEL K. JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Six months ago Wagon Train's Robert Horton was first in line to empty a verbal six shooter at his Western TV series, a practice common today among a half dozen other saddle sore actors including Clint "Cheyenne" Walker and Jim "Gunsmoke" Arness.

Talk to the tall, goodlooking actor who spells off Ward Bond in the highly popular show today and it's a horse of a different color, er, a different situation altogether.

Actually, Horton has stopped knocking the series because he's beginning to get stories which permit him to be a "co-star" in action as well as name.

"It was never anything personal between Ward and myself. Not that we haven't had a few disagreements as we've gone along. But my complaint was that my material wasn't as rich for me as I thought it should be.

"Part of the reason for this was that writers for the series, knowing Ward's long association with Westerns, were inclined to write stories for him. I was confined to scenes where I rode in to report and then rode right out again to scout while the action stayed with the other players."

Thanks to the enthusiastic audience reception given one of this season's last stories, "The Sacramento Story," Horton will be permitted to develop his TV character —Flint McCullough—along swashbuckling lines from here on out, with a good measure of love interest to boot.

"We found my fan mail and that of the show picked up considerably when we got Flint involved with a woman and this year you'll see more of this," he said.

"We've got one coming up where I'm kind of an Old West Clark Gable, almost an adaptation of 'It Happened One Night'," he added.

As soon as Wagon Train has reached California for the last time—Horton estimates the series is good for one more year — he plans to head for New York to get a part in a Broadway musical.

That's another reason Horton intends to invoke one part of his TV contract which permits him to do an outside show a month.

"I was able to appear in five other shows last year and I hope to do more than that this season," he explained. "Each time I've been careful to appear in non-western roles."

"No actor wants to lose his identity in a pair of levis."

Last Survivors of Rough Riders Holding Reunion

LAS VEGAS, N. M. (AP)—Six of Roosevelt's Rough Riders got together for a dinner last night.

They were the first arrivals for the famous regiment's annual reunion. Of the original 1,300, only 44 survive. About half are expected to attend the meeting—possibly the last — that runs through the weeknd.

SAUNDERS

Do-it - yourself audio bugs will flip over the latest thing issued by Cook Laboratories.

The album, "Cook's Tour Of High Fidelity" (1079), contains what is described on the cover as a "handy do-it-yourself kit of horrendous soap opera sound effects."

All we can add is that Cook has done it again. The LP is terrific for those social events when a tape recorder is handy. Lots of laughs as well as some very interesting audio techniques on the flip side.

A good seller is "Sounds of the Great Bands" (Capitol W-1022) by a top notch studio group under Glen Gray, does two things to me.

First, it makes me feel happy to hear a band doing so much good work all at once and successfully capturing the essense of the great bands of yesteryear.

Secondly, it makes one realize how much is lacking on the scene.

THE JAZZ NEST: For a quick glimpse at best sellers, the following are tops in order of sales across the country.

"In The Night" (Capitol 1003) by George Shearing & Dakota Staton; "Relaxin" (Prestige 7129) by Miles Davis; "Muted Jazz" (Capitol 839) by Jonah Jones; Swingin' On Broadway" (Capitol 963) by Jones again; and "Music My Fair Lady" (Contemporary 3527) by Shelly Manne & His Friends.

FIVE ACES: "Poor Little Fool" by Rickey Nelson still reigns as best of the best sellers according to Pontiac record shops.

Jumping into the limelight is "Little Star" by The Elegants in second place. "Western Movies" by The Olympics is selling strong and rates third spot this week.

"Patricia", the first big one for Perez Prado in a long while, is still a solid seller in fourth place. Fifth place is being held down by a newcomer, Jim Clinton, with his version of "Just A Drean."

Those rating honorable mentions are "Fever" by Peggy Lee; "Willie & The Hand Jive" by John Otis; "Everybody Loves A Lover" by Doris Day; and "When" by The Kalin Twins.

Our choice for the next big hit locally is that disc with the crazy title, "Nel Blu Di Pinto Di Blu" (Blue, Painted On Blue) by either the originator Domenico Modugno (in Italian or Dean Martin (with lyrics in English). Both are doing well.

Natalie Wood Doing All Right Without Work

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Natalie Wood, who is under suspension by Warner Bros., picked up $27,050 in government bonds yesterday and said: "I may need a little of this money now. You know, I am now unemployed."

The bonds represent savings from earnings as an actress since she was 5. Although she is only 20, she gained control of her savings because she is married — to actor Robert Wagner.

Warner Bros. suspended Miss Wood when she reportedly refused to work for a $750-a-week salary.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow shot an arrow into the air—today he'd be arrested as a delinquent . . . Today a gentleman is a guy who takes his cigar out of his kisser before telling his wife or girl friend to drop dead . . . People who put everything off till tomorrow forget that yesterday tomorrow was today.—Earl Wilson.

State Can Collect Illegal Party Funds

LANSING (AP)—Anonymous contributions to political candidates can legally be turned over to the state, the State Board of Escheats has decided.

The board noted that candidates for public office from time to time list anonymous contributions, which are illegal, in their campaign expense reports.

The board decided it could accept such contributions for the state if they were offered by a candidate. The money then would revert to the state through the board, as in the cases of unclaimed cash or property abandoned in the state.

Williams Ends Bid in Primary

Blames Republicans for Slump, Barely Refers to Party Opponent

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. Williams last night wrapped up his statewide primary campaign into a 15-minute television speech blasting the "Republican recession" and urging its "massive repudiation."

Back only hours from a 10-day trip to Africa, the state Democratic chief talked of Tuesday's balloting as nothing more than a referendum on the recession.

Only by the remotest indirection did he acknowledge existence of his rival for a sixth term nomination, William L. Johnson, Ironwood broadcaster and a sparkplug of the Michigan Democratic Club, Inc., a dissident group.

This came when he called for "a resounding total of Democratic primary votes for genuine Democratic candidates" on Tuesday.

Apparently the world "genuine" was intended to exclude Johnson and his allied candidates from the appeal for votes.

While Williams has refrained, other regular Democrats have identified the maverick Democrats as "disappointed patronage seekers" who used the same campaign ammunition as Republicans.

The telecast was beamed to a statewide audience through stations here and in Grand Rapids, Traverse City, Saginaw and Lansing.

The Governor said the real issue of the primary campaign is "the loss of prosperity under Republican auspices and the attempt to cover up that loss by running down the State fo Michigan."

1st U. A. R. Ship Arrives

LONDON (UPI) — Moscow Radio reported today that "the first ship flying the flag of the United Arab Republic" has arrived in Lemingrad. The ship was identified as the 7,000-ton Al Mokattam and was said to have carried a cargo of cotton to the Soviet Union.

A KING DIED HERE — An iraq soldier surveys the fire-gutted interior of the late King Feisal's palace in Baghdad. The youthful king and his uncle, Prince Abdul Illah, were slain in the palace in the sudden coup July 14 which overthrew the monarchy.

Senate Feels Pressure to Boost SS Pensions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate pressures mounted today for quick action on a bill to increase Social Security pensions by 7 per cent in the wake of a 375-2 House vote for the measure.

Some senators said they did not believe their branch could run the political risk of adjourning the 85th Congress without acting on the legislation.

The higher payments had strong election-year appeal despite the bill's provision for a series of tax increases to finance the changes.

Taxes on many workers would go up $25.50 next year and another $24 the following year as part of the stepped-up tax schedule.

The House rushed the bill to the Senate after only a few hours' debate. Representatives Noah Mason (R-Ill) and Bruce Alger (R-Tex) cast the only no votes.

The measure would boost monthly payments for the 12 million beneficiaries now receiving Social Security insurance checks, and provide higher payments for those retiring in future years.

The benefit increases would take effect Nov. 1 if the bill becomes law in August. Taxes would go up next Jan. 1.

The big obstacle to the bill in the Senate appeared to be the crush of business before the Finance Committee, which must handle it. That group already has on its schedule three bulky tax bills as well as President Eisenhower's request for another hike in the debt limit.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va), committee chairman, said only that he would bring the bill before the group when it finishes work on a small business tax relief measure.

Other senators reported that Byrd was cool to the bill, holding the view that it was too complex and far-reaching to handle in a congressional adjournment rush.

However, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) has announced he will try to get the bill before the Senate for a vote.

In addition to revamping the Social Security insurance payments, the bill also would increase by 288 million dollars annually federal grants to the states for public assistance programs. These programs provide aid for needy aged, blind and disabled persons and dependent children.

200 Shoot Way Out of Israel Prison

HAIFA, Israel (AP)—Nearly 200 inmates shot their way out of a prison in northern Israel last night and 64 were still at large today. They were believed headed for Jordan.

Thirteen were killed and nine were seriously wounded in the breakout. Two guards also were killed and two seriously wounded.

The prisoners were lining up for supper when they broke ranks, cut telephone wires and broke into the prison armory.

They overpowered guards, then began shooting at reinforcements.

Youth Strikes, Robs Policeman in Theater

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A young man about 18 or 19 approached policeman John F. Deloatch in a theater and asked for a cigarette. Deloatch obliged.

As Deloatch put the pack back in his pocket, the youth told him he had dropped something. The officer stooped over, the youth struck him on the left hip and ran. With him went Deloatch's wallet and $130.
