

President Signs Formosa Defense Resolution

Action by U. S. Greeted Happily by Nationalists

Reds Threaten to Strike
Back If Americans Try to Stop Invasion

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists today greeted with considerable satisfaction the news of the U. S. Senate's approval of President Eisenhower's firm policy for Formosa's defense.

The President's signature on the fight-if-we-must declaration was expected to signal the beginning of an American-shielded Nationalist withdrawal from the Communist menaced Tachen Islands.

(Peiping radio, quoting a lead article from the official Peoples Daily, rejected any suggestion for a cease-fire. The broadcast asserted that if U. S. armed forces try to stop Red China from taking Formosa "we will firmly strike back with heavy blows.")

Evacuation of 15,000 Nationalist troops and about the same number of civilians from the exposed Tachens—200 miles north of Formosa and only 15 miles from the Red China mainland—could begin at any time.

Standing ready to cover the operation was the U. S. 7th Fleet, a mighty armada of 100 or more warships including at least four aircraft carriers.

Nationalist officers from Formosa are in the Tachens, aiding the garrison commander in plans for a withdrawal.

Chinese press reports today said Communist ships continued to pour men and equipment onto Yikiang-shan, the tiny island eight miles north of the Tachens whose invasion by the Reds set in motion the Eisenhower declaration.

Nationalist fighter-bombers attacked six of the Red vessels last night, reporting possible damage to all. The vessels, type undetermined, were believed ranging from 2,000 to 3,000 tons in size.

After hitting the ships in the Tachen area, the Nationalist planes sped over the mainland and dropped rice and leaflets on six provinces.

Nationalist quarters were none too happy over the schedule meeting Monday of the U. N. Security Council to consider a cease-fire in the offshore island area. They expressed fear that a cease-fire would have a chain reaction effect to the Communists' advantage.

They undeniably hope the Communists will refuse acceptance.

Simplex Work Starts Monday

Bullet-Riddled Walkout
Settled by Mediators;
3 to Be Reinstated

Employees of Simplex Industries Co. were expected to return to work Monday following settlement of their bullet-riddled strike.

Settlement of the strike was announced yesterday by federal and state mediators after a meeting with company and union representatives.

The meeting was the second held by the parties after four shots were fired when pickets attempted to block a back-to-work movement Wednesday.

No one was wounded in the violence, which subsided when the negotiations began.

Walter E. Mehter, state mediator, said the company agreed to reinstate three workers discharged for "insubordination." The firings started the strike Dec. 13.

Mehter said the company also agreed to withdraw a pending injunction suit against Local 157 of the CIO United Auto Workers Union, which represents the workers.

In return, the union agreed to withdraw an unfair labor practices charge filed with the National Labor Relations Board against the company.

The mediator said the company also agreed to resume negotiations on a "complete contract" next week.

West May Invite Red China to U. N. Cease-Fire Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP)—Nationalist and Red China each rejected a cease-fire for Formosa today.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Western diplomats predicted today the U. N. Security Council will invite Red China to a debate here on a Communist-Nationalist cease-fire when it meets Monday on the crucial Formosa question.

As the council prepared for action, statesmen in Washington, and Moscow also took steps to deal with the quickening crisis.

In Washington the action came in overwhelming Senate approval of President Eisenhower's fight-if-we-must stand on Formosa.

In Moscow, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov promised to consider a British request the Kremlin urge restraint on Red China.

At the same time, Britain pledged Red China's claims to islands along her coast would receive fair consideration if the Communists join in the imminent U. N. talks.

The Red Chinese have made one appearance in the U. N.—in 1950 during debate on the Korean war.

New Zealand yesterday called the meeting of the 11-Nation council. The United States and Britain both backed the call. But only Britain publicly supported New Zealand on the proposed invitation.

Diplomatic sources said Nationalist China probably would abstain on the debate proposal and vote against the invitation and the United States probably would vote "yes" on both. They added they could not forecast the Soviet votes but expected all other delegations would support both moves.

Both Nationalist China and the Soviet Union—like the United States, Britain and France—can veto proposals classed as "substantial." But these sources said the bid to invite the Chinese Communists would be ruled merely "procedural," and so no veto would be possible.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, similarly sounded out by the British promised last night that Moscow would consider the idea. But he said the United States must "end its aggressive actions" in the Formosa region.

The frozen body of 26-year-old Carl Cook, of Traverse City, was found yesterday within 300 yards of a farm house he apparently had been visiting.

Arab Leaders Ready to Accept U. S. Arms Aid

Egypt Reverses Stand
Against America, Junks
Neutralist Policy

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Arab world premiers prepared for their windup meeting today on Middle East defense amid authoritative reports they are junking their old neutralist policy and will seek American arms aid.

A spokesman for Egypt which has been the leader in opposing American military aid, disclosed the sharp reversal in policy last night. He said that at tonight's session the premiers would welcome Western military aid provided it was given to bolster the Arab Collective Security Pact.

The emergency conference of eight Arab League States was called a week ago by Egypt, whose leaders have attacked Iraqi Premier Nuri said for joining in a defense alliance with Western-supported Turkey.

Egypt's main reason for convening the meeting was to try to maintain Arab solidarity against "outside packs" and try to dissuade other Arab states from going along with invitations to join the Turkish-Iraqi alliance.

But the split in the Arab League threatened to grow deeper as the prime ministers of Lebanon, Syria and Jordan criticized Egypt's contention that the Arab Collective Security Pact alone would defend the Middle East against possible Communist aggression.

In a surprise move to prevent the League from breaking up, Egypt apparently is going along with a face-saving compromise to condemn the Turkish-Iraqi alliance, but to seek American arms on a collective basis.

Although this is contrary to past declarations by Egyptian leaders, informed sources said the Nile republic was forced to take this step to avoid losing its leadership over the Arab League.

Unless there is a last minute snag, it appears that the week-long conference will turn out to be the most encouraging development for the West since relations with the Arab world were embittered by the Palestine War that resulted in the creation of Israel.

Singer Quizzed in Slaying

RUBINSTEIN COMPANION — Blonde Betty Rubinstein, 46, was found strangled in his lavish New York apartment Thursday. Miss Reed is escorted by attorney Paul Bleakley of Yonkers. A frequent companion of Rubinstein, she told police she attended the theater with him Tuesday night.

Police Hint 'Mystery Woman' Entered Rubinstein Home Morning of Murder

NEW YORK (INS)—A mystery woman who police believe may have entered Serge Rubinstein's mansion after the financier-playboy escorted his date to the door on the morning he was slain was being sought today.

The latest development on the strange slaying came as police checked some 2,000 names in six "black books" owned by Rubinstein.

Police established that the multi-millionaire made a phone call to the mystery woman after he had spoken by telephone to Patricia Wray, one of his many secretaries, at 2 a.m. last Thursday, the day he was found dead.

Rubinstein had taken Estelle Gardner, with whom he had dined and danced before his death, to a taxi shortly before calling Miss Wray. During his conversation with Patricia, he invited her to come to his mansion, but she refused. Then he made another phone call, to the other woman the police now are seeking.

Earlier today a beautiful blonde singer was questioned closely by police as they doggedly checked some 2,000 names in six "black books" owned by the strangled draft-dodger.

Betty Reed, a tall platinum blonde soprano, was the latest in a steady parade of mink-clad "dream girls" to be quizzed by authorities about the life and loves of the 46-year-old Russian-born financier.

Miss Reed, a frequent date of Rubinstein's the past three years, reportedly was asked whether she could confirm the rumor that she was "very much in love" with the millionaire "Wizard of Wall Street."

Unofficial sources stubbornly insisted that blonde hairs had been found under Serge's fingernails but the district attorney's office pointed out that even if the report were true they would neither confirm nor deny it.

The consistently gorgeous women friends of Rubinstein proved as they entered the precinct house for questioning that Serge's taste in women was as varied as his complex background. They were:

Blonde and willowy Betty Reed; luscious brunette secretary Patricia Wray, 24, who said she was "in love" with Rubinstein; Dorothea McCarthy, 21, a tall, slender brunette model; Pat Sinott, 25, a curvaceous redhead with angelic features; auburn-haired and mink-adorned Barbara Gaylord Cook, about 28, an actress "at liberty" and described as the "most gorgeous" of the group, and Estelle Gardner, 25, brunette model and onetime Broadway actress.

The parade of beauties was seen as just the beginning of the enormous task of checking the jammed "black books," which, in turn, was viewed as a tip-off that the probe was making slow progress.

One detective admitted that a quick solution of the crime was not expected when he said:

"We could give you a hundred motives and a hundred suspects. Rubinstein sure made plenty of enemies, any one of whom might have killed him."

The twisted career of Serge showed he made ten million dollars in shady international deals, was sentenced to a two-year prison term for draft-dodging in World War II, faced deportation and finally ended his life as a strangled corpse in his fashionable Fifth Avenue mansion.

In questioning, yesterday, Miss Wray admitted receiving a six phone calls from Rubinstein while he was dating Miss Gardner shortly before he was strangled.

Miss Wray said the calls got her out of bed and that she was "too exhausted" to understand them.

In an interview Miss Wray described Rubinstein as a "perverse" (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Ex-President Will Use Gold Spade in Ceremony

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (INS)—Former President Harry Truman will use a gold-plated shovel when he turns the first earth for his memorial library in Independence.

The shovel was presented to him this week by the Lions Club of his hometown.

Although a date for the groundbreaking has not been set, the former President said the library will be started in the spring. It will be built a few blocks from his home.

One of the most advanced examples of practical automation is the Bell system's "Direct Distance Dialing," called "DDD," available to 225,000 subscribers and being rapidly extended.

DDD does unbelievable feats without human help. You dial 10 digits. With that information its electronic brain searches the shortest path across the country. There are more possible decisions on what connections it could make than can be printed on this page.

In 15 seconds, for a call from New York to Los Angeles, the machine finds the exact phone wanted out of the 15 million available to DDD. There is no interference with the multitude of local and other DDD calls it competes with at thousands of points along the way.

Another astounding feat is the one pause it makes to decide connections between any two points. It checks on whether a possible line was the last one used, and goes to the next if it was. That makes the whole system wear out uniformly.

If there's trouble in the system a light flashes and a card is punched showing its location. And all information for your bill is automatically punched on tape.

The basic electronic feats of this amazing device are duplicated in varying degrees by the fabulous array of new computing machines and office devices revolutionizing (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Ike Lauds Act as Show of Firm Determination

Puts Okay on Measure
12 Hours After Senate
Gives 85-3 Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed the resolution for defense of Formosa, asserting it is evidence of united American determination to "resist Communist aggression" in an area "vital to the security" of the United States.

The President signed in the presence of congressional leaders and Secretary of State Dulles less than 12 hours after the Senate sent the resolution to him by an 85-3 vote.

The action cleared the way for Eisenhower to use American armed forces—notably the 7th Fleet—against any Red Chinese attack directed toward Formosa.

It also gives him authority to order the armed forces to evacuate Chinese Nationalist troops from the Tachen Islands.

The authority to fight also includes the right to defend such places as the islands of Quemoy and Matsu, off the Chinese mainland, if the President considers them essential to Formosan security. Some regard it as broad enough to permit him to order an attack on bases or troop concentrations on the Red Chinese mainland as a defense measure.

When the President had completed the signing with more than a dozen pens, which he later passed out to the congressional leaders, he made this statement:

"I am deeply gratified at the almost unanimous vote in the Congress of the United States on this joint resolution. To the members of the Congress and to their leaders with me here today, I wish publicly to thank them for their great patriotic service."

"By their vote the American people through their elected representatives have made it clear to the world that we are united here at home in our determination to help a brave ally and to resist Communist aggression."

"By so asserting this belief we are taking a step to preserve the peace in the Formosa area. We are ready to support a United Nations (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Urges Stand Against Reds

Pulitzer Prize Winner
Tells State Newsmen of
Trip to Soviet Russia

EAST LANSING (AP)—"The free world must sometime draw a line and take a stand against communism."

This was the message from Marguerite Higgins, Pulitzer prize winning correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune, at the 87th anniversary dinner of the Michigan Press Assn. last night.

Miss Higgins, who recently returned from a trip into Soviet Russia, told the editors and publishers that any hopes of an internal revolt in Russia are just wishful thinking.

"The Russian people don't think they have any alternative to the police state," she reported.

Conditions have bettered somewhat for the Russian people since the death of Stalin, who was "definitely senile" in his last years, Miss Higgins said. But she declared there is still no comparison between the American and Russian standard of living.

As an example of Russian prices, she reported that she sold a travel-worn suit that originally cost $65 for the equivalent of $300.

She said the Russian people have been hammered with the propaganda that Americans are warmongers and imperialists and are suffering from a terrific unemployment problem.

"I found the average Russian very dubious about this propaganda," she said. "Wherever I went they asked questions about conditions in America."

MSC president, Dr. John A. Hannah, in welcoming the newsmen, thanked the press for "the cooperation and support that has helped develop the kind of an institution we have here today."

'Automation'—It's Changing Your Life

Electronic Brain Pointing Way to Fantastic Accomplishments in Modern Business

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEW YORK (NEA)—Whether you understand the term or not, "automation" is changing your life.

This new phenomenon, which means machines taking over the work of people, is also called "cybernetics."

It's changing the nature of U. S. business and production with the chain reaction of an A-bomb. They're calling automation "The Second Great Industrial Revolution." For instance:

It's a key factor in Ford's battle with General Motors. It's behind many of the recent big business mergers. It's why you can have frozen fruit juice and pre-cooked rice.

Beyond industry, automation explains why the White House has cut draft calls. Automation altered New York's skyline. It may prevent—or create—a depression.

Its strange, new, self-generating quality is making automation grow several magnitudes of speed faster than past technological changes. Some experts are saying that it's threatening to throw U. S. life and trade out of joint in several places, making present sociological and governmental controls obsolete.

By EMILY POST
A mother writes me: "We are planning to announce our daughter's engagement soon. Her fiancé's parents are going to celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary shortly at a large reception."

They thought it would be nice to have the engagement announced at this reception. Would this be proper, and if so, who should make the announcement, and how should it be made?"

It would be quite all right to announce the engagement at this reception, but the announcement should be made by your husband and not by the man's family.

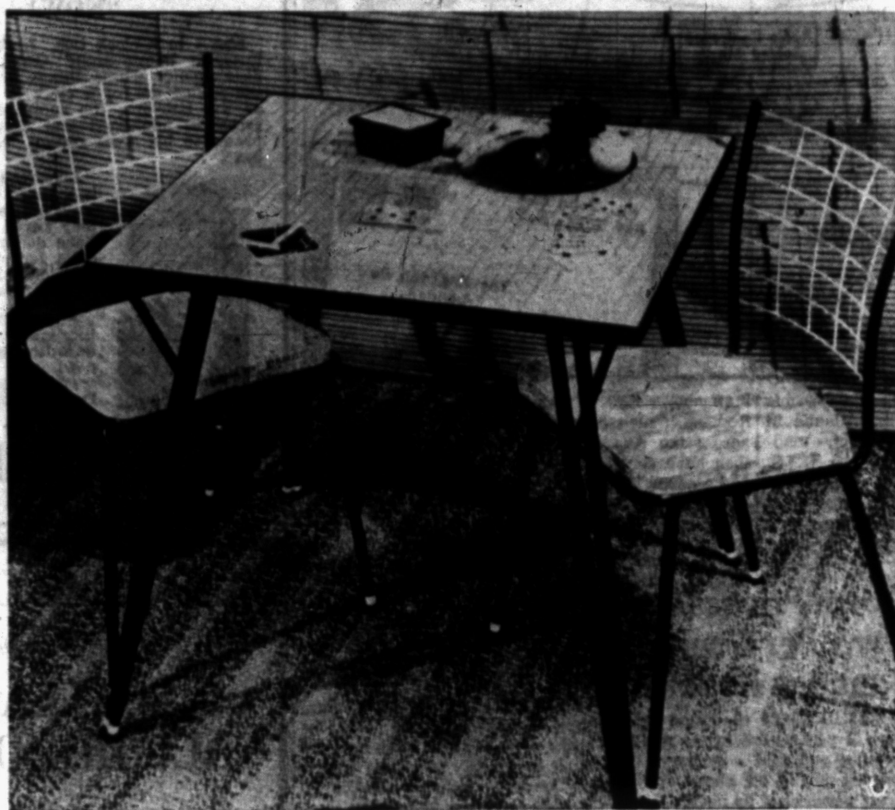

After a toast has been drunk to the anniversary couple, the husband rises, says thank you, and then introduces "Mr. Jones, (the bride's father), who has an announcement to make." The bride's father then rises and announces the engagement of his Mary to their John.

Dear Mrs. Post: My four-year-old son is to be a ring bearer at a relative's wedding. There has been much discussion as to what he should wear, and so I am writing to you to solve the problem.

Does he have to wear a white tuxedo suit? He has a navy blue Eton suit. Would this be suitable? The bride will be dressed in white satin and the men will wear morning clothes. Also, where in the procession does the ring bearer walk?

The ring bearer is usually dressed in white but this is not a hard and fast rule and I think his Eton suit with a white blouse would be quite all right. In the procession he walks immediately before the bride and her father.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it necessary to send thank-you cards to everyone who called at the funeral home and signed the register? I have already written to those who sent flowers and had masses offered, but I did not write to those others. It is not necessary to write to anyone except those who wrote personal letters, or sent flowers or had masses offered.

It's like having a year-round furniture wardrobe when one dining group will provide the meal time setting for interior decors, porch arrangements and garden use. Decorator design as well as complete weather resistance are the assets of this handsome grouping. The attractively patterned chair cushions are removable and the ceramic tile tops of the tables are as durable as they are good looking.

Coat Dress by Martini Versatile

Instructions Tell Easy Directions for Buttonholes

What every wardrobe needs is a coat dress, versatile, easy to wear — and in this instance of sleeves with link buttons are a continuation of the naturally rounded shoulder line, and are very much a part of the latest in sleeve news.

Note the balance in collar shapes between that of the detachable dickey and the wide, open notched revers of the body neckline. Choose linen, shantung, wool crepe or any of the lightweight woolsens for the dress and use pique, linen or dobby-weave cotton for the gilet.

You may buy your dandified taffeta bow tie or refer to pattern instructions if you prefer your own handwork.

Don't worry about the buttonholes. The instruction sheet also tells you how to make them with a minimum of effort and a maximum of professional-looking results.

Women Don't Fret About Gray Hair

But Gold Streaks Hasten Them to Beauty Parlor

In most cases, it's not so much the silver threads among the gold that disturb mature women, but the golden threads among the silver.

For, as their hair turns gray or white, many women are distressed to find a yellowish tinge or muddy cast coming along with it.

By the time their hair starts to turn all-gray or white, most women are ready to accept the fact that they're approaching the middle years, but the yellowing seems like an unnecessary unkindness.

Once, these women dunked their hair in bluing and let it go at that. Every now and again, sadly, the hair came out a deep shade of royal blue, but generally this ruse was successful.

Fortunately, today there are many resources available to women who don't want to blue their hair.

Beauty operators know about most of them and can give professional help. But if you're not a beauty salon devotee, you might explore the beauty counters for new ideas.

These are the sorts of things you might look or ask about. For all-silver hair, you might try a platinum shade of rinse to cover up the yellowing.

Rinse in bluish or blackish colors can do the same thing, depending on the shade your hair has assumed.

If you have streaks of gray that are yellowing, you might want to investigate a rinse or tint as close as possible to your natural hair color. This, while it won't match up your graying, will tone it down so that it's no longer obvious and, of course, get rid of the yellowing.

Needs to Make Talents Known

Outsider Looks at Fun

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

It's one thing to be among the sixty thousand people watching the game. And quite another to be among the few who are playing it. There's envy in the hearts of the onlookers. There's a bit of jealousy involved in their wholehearted cheering of the team.

But there's a loneliness too. A feeling of being left out of the attention, the crowd adulation, the sense of being the cause of all the excitement. The casual outsider feels very remote from things. And some outsiders curdle with wishing they were right in the center.

Some of this curdling has to be stood—just like the pain when you break your arm. The suffering is part of the plot, whether you like it or not. Of course, there are ways to make the suffering seem minor. And that perspective on things is the reason for this piece.

Take this girl, for instance, who lives in a community of young people who seem blind to her charms and talents. She watches from the sidelines, and she curdles with envy and jealousy. But this is the way she puts it.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm 16 and one of the loneliest persons that ever lived. I just cannot make friends—at least in my neighborhood. I live in a community that has a nice crowd of fellows and girls, but I just can't break the ice with them.

I know one of the girls slightly and have continually tried to make friends with her, but I've gotten no place so far. "I get along fine with the girls in my class, and I have many friends at school, but we all live quite a distance from each other and we don't have much social contact outside of school.

This leaves my after-school hours empty. Could you give me some suggestions on getting into this group and making them accept me as one of them? I'm particularly eager because there's one boy that I especially like!"

When you place a high value on yourself it's amazing how high people rate you. The busier you are with interesting activities, the more you are involved in things, the more you are sought after.

Grovel in front of people, insist that you have nothing to do, let it show that your hours are free and hang heavy on your hands, and you'll find practically nobody sympathetic enough to change your routine for you.

Perhaps you've nothing to offer the crowd that exists in your neighborhood. You've nothing new to suggest, nothing exciting to propose—you're just hung back quietly waiting for them to discover you. And that's no way to make your mark.

Your only "in" at the moment is this one girl you know. You've undoubtedly indicated that you'd like to be included in her crowd's doings. But you've come forth with nothing new and different of your own.

Perhaps your home boasts a pingpong table (and the others do not). That's a drawing card. Perhaps you've a corner of the kitchen or the pantry where you can cook up concoctions of your own at any old hour. That's a drawing card.

Perhaps your father can get tickets for things. Or your mother has a certain influence in directions that counts. Such details can become very important in paving the way for your entry into a new crowd.

But don't limit your friendship-making to just one girl. Try all the girls in the neighborhood. And pay special attention to the boy who interests you most. You all see each other enough to speak to, and be casually friendly.

Make chances to get better acquainted. Invite one after another over to the house. Do one little friendly favor after another. Until suddenly you realize that the whole crowd knows you—and has reason to think well of you. At that moment you'll find yourself included in. And your outside-looking-in problem will be over.

If you are an adult weighing about 175 pounds, you generate 450 foot-pounds of energy in 24 hours.

HERB SWEET Try It

Fool Friends With Trick

Here is a trick for you to see if your friends can work. It is fun and will keep them guessing! Make several of these rolls of paper and try working with them. You should have paper about 36 inches long and from 1 1/2 to 2 inches wide. Try working with several different kinds of paper to see which is best. Roll the paper around a pencil in a loose roll. Slip the pencil out and step 2 is to cut a wedge from the roll clearing through to the middle, leaving 1/4 inch on each of the sides. This wedge will be just like cutting a door into the center of the roll. Remove the cut sections. (3) In step 4 you reach inside for the end of the roll and carefully pull

Woman Fits Slip Covers for Her Part-Time Work

By ANNE HEYWOOD

The other day I visited a friend who has three children in school, and one tiny toddler.

While we were chatting, I saw her watching out the window. "I'm expecting the slip covers," she told me.

Pretty soon a young woman came in, with a big box under her arm. In it were three slip covers, one for a sofa and two for chairs. They weren't sewed up; they were just cut out and basted.

After the young woman had left, my friend explained.

"That young woman has quite a nice business. She cuts and fits slip covers beautifully, and she used to have quite a lot of customers for whom she made them.

You Can't Blame a Guy for Trying, Judge Ryles

SHOUX CITY, Iowa (UP)—When Air Force Sgt. James Wesley asked Miss Bonnie Baird for a date on a downtown street she had him charged with disorderly conduct.

But Municipal Judge Berry J. Sisk ruled yesterday the 26-year-old airman's "right of free speech" was violated.

In dismissing the charge, Sisk held that an old Sioux City ordinance which prohibits men from trying to make the acquaintance of women in public places was unconstitutional.

Sunshine Clouds Over

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — It turned out to be a grey day for Sunshine Starling in police court when Patrolman Ernest Claxon charged she hit him, clouted another cop with an umbrella and cursed them when they tried to arrest her for reckless driving without a license after she hit a parked car. Judge M. D. Elston fined Miss Starling $200.

"Then she got married, had two children, and couldn't spend such long hours making slip covers for people. But instead of stopping altogether, she worked out a wonderful solution.

"You see, lots of us young marrieds in town like lovely slip covers, but we can't afford huge prices. So we tried making them for ourselves.

"But not everybody is good at it. The sewing is easy, but the cutting and fitting got us all started up. So we approached Liz and asked her if she would cut and fit out slip covers, for a fee, and then we could sew them up ourselves.

"Liz was delighted, because it is an activity she can do on a part time basis, and it's not nearly as time-consuming as making the whole thing.

"She works regular hours, comes to the house and cuts and pins the covers, and her prices are good. In my case, for an extra fee she bastes them at her house, because I'm a terrible sewer, and when they're just pinned, I get in trouble."

If you are planning a job or service, see if there isn't something you can do that uses your skills to help other women. You don't have to do the whole job; sometimes just tackling a part of it is more lucrative.

Maybe you could fit dresses for friends, letting them do the actual sewing. Maybe you could trim hats, or maybe you could do the finishing on sweaters which your friends have started.

Manners
MAKE FRIENDS

You have taken a very young child to church and in the middle of the services he begins to cry. When that happens it is best to take the child outside. That's so the minister and the rest of the congregation won't be distracted. But don't blame the child for his behavior. Babies can't act like grownups.

Clergy, Union Leaders Discuss Understanding
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Eight Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish clergymen met here with some 30 union business agents to the American Federation of Labor to discuss the possibility of setting up a religion-labor group.
After discussing the need for common understanding, the group asked Dr. Howard J. Cohn, pastor of Plymouth Congregational church, and William Sinnott, Minneapolis Central Labor Union financial secretary, to explore the practicality of regular meetings between clergy and labor leaders.

Antique Cross Given TV Star

Peggy Wood Known as "Mama" Receives Gift From Church Women

By Religious News Service
ATLANTA, Ga. — Peggy Wood, Broadway and Hollywood stage, screen and TV star, was given an antique garnet cross here for her work in behalf of the Episcopal Church.

The cross, a gift from women of the Fourth Province, was presented by Bishop Thomas N. Caruthers of Charleston, S. C., province president.

Miss Wood came to Atlanta at the invitation of the Episcopal Church in connection with the dedication of the Protestant Radio and Television Center here. The star, known to millions as "Mama" on TV's "I Remember Mama," contributed her talents to the radio series "Another Chance," a program financed and presented by women of the Episcopal Church, now being broadcast by 130 stations.

Miss Wood is vice-president of the Episcopal Actors Guild of New York. She said here that some 500 famous personalities of the theater, motion picture, radio and television belong to the guild.

The cross presented to her was purchased by the Fourth Province from the estate of Lady Anne Middleton of England.

Confident Living

We Must Face, Conquer Fear for Successful Life

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE
"It is estimated that approximately one-third of all patients have no definite body disease to account for their symptoms. . . . It is further estimated that another third of all patients have symptoms which are in part dependent on emotional factors."

These are the words of a distinguished New York physician and surgeon, Dr. Lester L. Coleman, in his important new book, "Freedom From Fear." Dr. Coleman believes that fear is responsible for a majority of the psychosomatic illnesses which plague so many of us today and that fear prevents those of us who are not ill from living our lives to the fullest possible extent.

The importance of the problem of fear is emphasized by a famous preacher, the late Dr. Emmet Fox, who wrote that "Most schools of philosophy now teach that fear is the thing that has to be rooted out." Dr. Fox went on to say that fear is simply the absence of love and quotes I John 4:18: "Perfect love casteth out fear."

Fear seems to creep up on people so easily. Only recently I was coming back to New York from California non-stop on one of the newest planes. In South Dakota, we ran into a heavy overcast that seemed to stay with us all the rest of the way. The captain of the plane talked to the passengers over the public address system they have in these new planes and told us that airports were closing all over the nation. We might have to go to Cleveland or Washington instead of New York. I could see that some were beginning to worry, although there was no concern for safety—only the matter of inconvenience.

Then we heard the reassuring voice of the captain again: "You are in a great airplane. . . . We can fly at an altitude of twenty-one thousand feet. There aren't any storms that reach us at twenty-one thousand."

Finally we came in to a fine and skillful instrument landing at Idlewild in New York, the first plane that had landed there in hours. As we taxied to our gate the public address system came on again and the captain said: "I want to thank you folks for being with me and I know that during these hours you have been thinking about us up here in the cockpit and you have been praying for us."

I made a point of going up to the captain when we got out and telling him what a wonderful landing he had made. I also mentioned that his statement about praying hadn't been lost on me. "I've flown a plane for twenty-one years," he said. "In that time, you get a profound respect for the presence of the Lord in the sky."

Then he said something else. "We had a great plane, didn't we? It can go above ordinary difficulties, and look down on them and then when it has to come down pass right through them, and that plane has the scientific ability to find its way to the place it wants to go."

That is how to conquer your fears. Let perfect love—the love of God—bring you above your difficulties so that you may look down upon them with a full consciousness of His enormous power to overcome them.

Each of us must face our fears and keep on facing them every day of our lives. But, with the love of God, you can remember that he keeps telling you—time and time again, if you read your Bible—"Fear not, for I am with you." And when God is with us, no fears can defeat us. Through Him you can conquer your fears.

'55 MAKEOVER Opening Today

Dream Cars, Production Models on Display Now at Fairgrounds

DETROIT (U) — Some of the auto industry's newest "dream cars" along with regulation 1955 models, engineering exhibits, cut-away chassis and dozens of other phases of automotive development went on display at Michigan's State Fair Grounds today.

It was the opening of Detroit's 42nd Automobile Show. Sponsors of the show, which will run through Feb. 6, say 124 of the industry's latest products were assigned space.

While the show is strictly a dealer enterprise, the car manufacturer's are taking more than the customary interest in it. Besides their "dream" models the manufacturers have furnished animated displays to attract visitor interest.

The animated exhibits include such things as newly developed power seat adjustment devices, and the newest developments in suspension systems.

Every car maker's 1955 models are in the show. The "dream" cars include Lincoln's "Futura," Chevrolet's newest station wagon, called the "Nomad," Pontiac's "Safari," also a station wagon model, and other passenger models still far from the production line stage.

Business Notes

A 12 1/2-cent dividend per share will be paid March 1 to stockholders in the American Forging and Socket Co., Pontiac, firm President and General Manager Goodloe H. Rodgers, said today. Stockholders of record Feb. 18, 1955 will be eligible for the dividend.

Dr. Edwin H. Place, former plant physician at Oldsmobile Division at Lansing, has been appointed first medical director of the Detroit Transmission Division of General Motors at Willow Run. He will begin duties Feb. 1.

National Twist Drill and Tool Co., Rochester, has purchased the Staples Tool Co. in Cincinnati, Ohio, company President Howard L. McGregor Jr. announced today. Besides its regular manufacture of reamers, counterborers and end mills, the newly acquired plant will make carbide tipped twist drills, milling cutters and other similar tools, McGregor said.

Dog's Life Best in Legislature

Honorary Membership for Seeing-Eye Pooch Meets Opposition

LANSING (U) — It might be just as well for a certain dog named Happy if he is not made an honorary member of the state House of Representatives.

Right now Happy apparently is satisfied just being the eyes of his blind master, Rep. Robert D. Mahoney, Detroit Democrat.

And there are certain legislators who claim a dog's life is far happier than their own, especially if one happens to be a member of the Democratic minority.

If Happy were a legislator, albeit an honorary one, presumably he would have to stay awake a goodly portion of the time instead of snoozing through sessions as he does now.

He probably would be a Democrat—assuming he would follow in his master's footsteps — and he would have a difficult time begging a bone from the Republican majority which has turned a deaf ear to the barks and growls of Democrats so far.

If his political leanings turned out to be Republican, he would be biting the hand that feeds him and probably would end up with no meal ticket at all.

It was Rep. Christine White (D-Detroit) who suggested it might be a nice gesture to make Happy an honorary member of the House. However, she has met opposition from some representatives who think it would set a bad precedent.

What would the State of Michigan come to if there were such things as Elephants, Donkeys, Lions, Owls, Parrots, Canaries, Monkeys or Looney birds in the Legislature?

It probably would be better to leave things in the hands of their human counterparts.

No, Mrs. White, it probably wouldn't be in the dog's best interests to make him an honorary lawmaker. His life would be, come horribly complicated.

He has no worries now about highways, gasoline taxes, bond issues, corporation profits taxes, unemployment (He is neither a bird dog nor a kennel dog) nor higher education.

Nobody is pressuring him to change the price or ingredients of dog food.

He has a noble calling as a leader dog and is serving his single master well.

During a legislative session a dog's life probably is the best.

Three Persons Hurt in Two-Car Crash

Three persons were injured in a two-car accident this morning when two autos collided at Auburn Ave. and Grant St., Avon Township, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Admitted, in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital today are James H. Davis, 27, of 500 1/2 N. Perry St., the driver of one car who suffered a broken collar bone and head cuts, and James W. Thompson, 22, of Rochester, who suffered possible head injury and cuts. Treated and released was Kenneth Holt, 25, of 3175 Curberson St., Rochester, also a passenger with Davis.

Police, who said both drivers had been drinking, quoted Russell M. Harvey, 26, of 3681 Orchard View, Rochester, driver of the second car, as saying he was unable to avoid the collision at the intersection when Davis failed to halt for a stop sign. Davis was unable to give any explanation for the accident, police said.

Driver Is Fined $20

Julius Polk Sr., 40, of 14 Duke St., charged with driving without operator's license, pleaded guilty and paid a $20 fine yesterday when he appeared before Municipal Judge Cecil McCullum.

Russia Frees Nazi Marshal

Ex-Officer Under Hitler Threatened With Trial as 'Mass Murderer'

BONN, Germany (U) — Hitler's favorite field marshal, Ferdinand Schoerner, came home last night from Soviet imprisonment and coolly defied threats by West German leaders to prosecute him as a "mass murderer" of his own troops.

A storm of public indignation, fanned alike by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government and opposition Socialists, swept this country as Schoerner arrived in his native Bavaria.

The 62-year-old soldier, who won the Nazi party's "blood badge" in the 1923 beer hall putsch and Germany's highest decorations for valor in two World Wars, said:

"I am ready to answer any time to a German court. The present accusations against me of Draconian punishment of my men in the last days of fighting in 1945 would never suffice for my prosecution. I was never tried by the Allies at Nuernberg because I never committed a crime."

Schoerner fell into the hands of American troops as his command in Czechoslovakia fought on after the German surrender. The Americans turned him over to the Russians.

The Russians released him last Christmas and he reached East Germany early this month. His delay in crossing the Iron Curtain contributed to speculation that he might take a commission in the East German armed forces. But he said today he has never turned Communist and such a job "is out of the question for me."

A verbal hornet's nest awaited him here.

The West German War Veterans Assn. assailed Schoerner yesterday as "a Nazi lackey without any conscience" and said it would begin at once to assemble evidence against him.

The West German trade federation demanded that criminal charges be placed against him for the death of the soldiers he ordered to fight on after the rest of the German armed forces gave up. It called him "one of the greatest mass murderers of our time."

Schepler, a former auditor for the Carr-Sigler grand jury, was hired by a Republican board in 1949. The board now is dominated by Democrats.

State Treas. Sanford A. Brown, chairman of the new board, said "I don't want to be connected with men who try to elevate themselves by stepping on someone else's neck."

He accused Schepler of trying to "cut up" David E. Gregory of Detroit, board consultant for the past 10 years, who also resigned.

Schepler denied Brown's charges and filed a formal statement saying that when he took over the office he found $150,000 worth of cash, stocks and jewelry lying around the office.

The board takes possession for the state of property left by persons who died without heirs or of persons who do not claim property belonging to them.

Brown at first insisted that Schepler be fired at once but finally yielded to Schepler's demand that the dismissal be delayed until his books could be audited next week.

The AEC gives new data on effects of 'H-Blast'

Adv for 12:15 p.m. EST WASHINGTON (U) — The Atomic Energy Commission said today it had furnished the Office of Defense Mobilization the latest information on the effects of "high yield" weapons—presumably hydrogen bombs—for use "in re-evaluation of the national industrial dispersal policy."

The AEC made that unclassified statement in its 17th semiannual report to Congress.

Man Injured in Accident Carl J. Bates, 33, of 41 N. Holcomb St., Clarkson, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for cuts suffered this morning when he struck a stalled auto on M-15 just east of Princess Rd. in Independence Township.

The other driver, Keith Moss, 17, of 10564 Baraga St., Dearborn, was quoted by Oakland County sheriff's deputies as saying he was unable to move his car after it stopped running. Bates said he was unable to avoid the crash.

Motorist Pays $15 Fine Raymond Duncan, 48, of 181 Rapid St., pleaded guilty to driving without his operator's license on his person and paid a $15 fine yesterday when he appeared before Municipal Judge Cecil McCullum.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR: JUNIOR EDITORS

A TOTEM POLE

Totem poles are carved by Alaskan Indians from the trunks of tall trees and are painted in bright reds, blues and greens. Each Indian tribe has a different pole. The strange figure at the very top of a pole represents the bird or animal believed to have founded the tribe. You can make your own totem pole.

1. Use crayon to color the designs and faces on the pole. Leave the teeth and eyeballs white to contrast with the bright colors. 2. Cut out the four large parts of the picture and arrange them in the proper order—first the largest part, then the middle, bottom and base. Make a tube about one inch in diameter by rolling up a piece of stiff paper. Fasten the pictures to it with paste, letting the wings of the thunder bird stick out. If the tube is too long, cut off part of it. Now your totem pole will look something like the one in the small drawing.

Campus Stripped of Airm by Burlesque Star's Visit

BOULDER, Colo. (U) — Stripper Tempest Storm was whisked here in a flame red Cadillac convertible and borne away in the arms of a heavyweight boxer last yesterday.

Both the burlesque queen and the normally sedate University of Colorado were slightly the worse for wear after her 30-minute visit.

University officials, who didn't like the idea of Miss Storm's visit in the first place, counted up $500 damage to buildings along her whirlwind path. The whole Colorado Legislature arrived 15 minutes later to inspect school conditions. By then, however, all was quiet.

Miss Storm was invited here by Bob Latham, student photographer who was at the wheel of her convertible as it pulled up before a 1,500-man turnout at the Memorial Building.

The shapely burlesque performer doffed a mink coat, breathed deeply and breezed through a door with the crowd close behind her black-sweatered, green-skirted figure.

In the rush that followed her through a lounge and cafeteria, three doors were sprung, tables were overturned, chairs were splintered and dishes and glasses shattered.

Things got a bit rough at the library, where an ogling crowd of male students surrounded Miss Storm.

Perspiring and disheveled, she was swept aloft by Barry F. Deetz, 22-year-old graduate student and heavyweight boxer. He dashed for her car, but tripped—or was

License Is Revoked for Reckless Driving

Truman Davis, 24, of 431 N. Saginaw St., escaped a 45-day jail sentence yesterday when he surrendered his driver's license to Waterford Township Justice Willis D. Lefurgy who found him guilty of reckless driving. Davis, who also paid a $75 fine and $25 cost, had pleaded innocent previously. According to Waterford Township Police, he was racing his auto Jan. 4, side-by-side with one driven by Carol E. Queen, 23, of 6115 Tipico Lake Rd. Holly, who was killed when his auto rolled over several times on M-59 a mile west of Pontiac. Queen was Oakland County's first traffic fatality of 1955. Lefurgy said the operator's license would be returned to Davis after 45 days.
