Keynotes Campaign
With Advice to Dems
at D. C. Fund-Raiser

WASHINGTON (AP) — Keynoting a war-clouded congressional election campaign, President Johnson has urged Democratic contenders to tell the voters that America will stand with honor, courage and patience in Viet Nam.

And Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield added to that counsel a declaration that another Democratic Congress offers Americans the best hope for a reasonable and honorable peace in Southeast Asia.

Johnson and an array of party leaders praised the current Congress and forecast Democratic gains in the next one at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner yesterday.

It drew more than 6,100 people to the cavernous, hunting-draped National Guard Armory. The money will go to Democratic candidates for House and Senate seats.

Johnson and Mansfield both advised their party's nominees to tackle the war issue directly in the coming campaign.

The President's advice: "Go out there in the countryside and tell them this fall that America will persevere until peace comes to Viet Nam."

Johnson said the vast majority of Americans will respect that stand.

"The issue must be faced and met in the coming campaign," said Mansfield. "... Democrats in this Congress have no apologies whatsoever to make on the question of Viet Nam."

Jury Indicts Justice on Perjury Charges

Royal Oak Township Justice of the Peace Lennie C. Cash was indicted by the Oakland County Grand Jury this morning, charged with five counts of perjury.

Cash, the only justice in the township, was arrested by Grand Jury investigating officers as he left his home at 10033 Giltner about 10:15 a.m. today.

Cash, an ordained minister, is accused of giving false testimony when he appeared before Grand Juror Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt on April 5 of this year and in July, 1965.

According to investigators, Cash heads the congregation at the Highway Church.

Cash has been justice of the peace in the township since 1959.

The grand jury charges that Cash falsely denied:

• That he had ever suggested to a police officer that he shake down anyone engaged in illegal activities.

• That he had ever told anyone that there was money set aside for him by persons in the numbers racket.

• That he had ever given money to members of the township board to vote on a matter in which he had interest.

• That he had ever given money to Ernest Wilson, coordinator of the Royal Oak Township Police and Fire departments to initiate a program designed to increase the number of traffic tickets issued.

The grand jury alleges that Cash paid Wilson about $180 on two separate occasions under the agreement in which Wilson was to receive 30 cents for each ticket from Cash.

Finally, Cash is accused of falsely swearing that Michigan State Police Trooper John Aird consorted with a prostitute in his presence while in a scout car.

The warrant says that Cash was never in a police car with the named prostitute and Aird, nor with Aird and any other woman.

Cash was to be arraigned this afternoon before Clawson Municipal Judge Bristol Hunter.

Today's indictment against Cash was the first since White Lake Township Supervisor Edward Cheyz was charged with conspiracy, bribery and extortion on April 22.

Increasing cloudiness with little temperature change and a chance of afternoon showers is the outlook for Sunday.

A brisk 34 was the low in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury recorded 55 at 2 p.m.

MIG Downed in North Viet, Americans Say

Communists Place Aerial Battle Over Chinese Territory

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Peking's charge that U.S. fighters intruded into Red China and shot down a Chinese plane yesterday drew a rebuttal today from Americans with details of the destruction of a MIG17 over North Viet Nam's Red River Valley.

"It is inconceivable to me that the planes could be in the wrong place," said Maj. Gen.

See Stories, Page C-6

Gilbert L. Meyers, deputy commander of the U.S. 7th Air Force.

The Air Force said one of its missile-firing F4C Phantoms downed the MIG in an action from 185 to 115 miles northwest of Hanoi—20 miles or more from China's frontier—after four of the Phantom's flight of three Phantoms and an RB66 reconnaissance craft.

Meyers said the presence of the RB66, which was equipped with sophisticated radar gear and carried a highly qualified navigator, ruled out the possibility the Americans did not know where they were at the time.

Red China's first report of a Chinese plane lost in the Viet Nam war was placed in the Viet Nam Province northeast of Makwan, 25 miles north of the border. It called the incident "an act of war provocation" and said "the debt in blood owed by U.S. imperialism to the Chinese people must be cleared."

BELIEVED N. VIET

Meyers indicated the Americans believe the MIG they fell was North Vietnamese, not Chinese, though they did not see its markings.

Radioactive Cloud Going Over the U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A high-flying radioactive cloud from Monday's nuclear blast in Red China is now passing over the United States, government experts estimated today.

No radioactive debris has yet been detected on U.S. soil, however, so far as is known. And officials predicted that when it is detected it will be extremely minute, "just a drop in the bucket" compared to the radioactivity spewed from the great Soviet and American tests of 1961-1962.

Robert List, chief of the Atmospheric Radiology Branch of the Environmental Science Services Administration, said that at about 11 a.m. today the leading edge of the cloud was over the Great Plains.

It will probably be over the eastern United States tomorrow and over Europe Monday.

This estimate is based, not on actual contact with radioactive debris, but on wind conditions. The winds in the upper troposphere, a region 30,000 to 40,000 feet above the earth where the debris is presumably floating along, have been blowing somewhat faster than was the case at the time of the first two Chinese tests in October 1964 and May 1965.

Sales Decline Causes Car Industry Concern

DETROIT (AP) — Auto industry leaders showed concern today over early May reports that buyers purchased 15 per cent fewer cars than they did a year ago.

Many reasons were advanced for the sales decline. Some said it was the result of unfavorable publicity resulting from the auto safety hearings.

Others blamed it on the Viet Nam war which put into uniform thousands of potential young customers.

Others said it reflected the higher income tax deduction rates which went into effect May 1.

Still others said it was because of soft spots which developed in the nation's economy.

The unchallenged fact was that General Motors, Chrysler and American Motors sold fewer new cars May 1-10 than they did a year ago. Ford Motor Co. had a strong sales period as it set a new early May sales high.

4 MAJOR FIRMS

The four major auto firms reported yesterday they sold 192,429 cars May 1-10, about 35,000 behind last year.

GM auto sales were off 24 per cent, Chrysler was down 13.6 per cent and American Motors was off 27 per cent. Ford was up 15 per cent over the opening 10 days of May, 1965.

The sales figures did little to cheer up auto sources who had hoped that a decline noted in April sales would be reversed quickly.

Nobody pushed the panic button but as one auto sales executive explained, "The bloom is off the auto sales market. We've had four good years but now we will have to get out and work and sell."

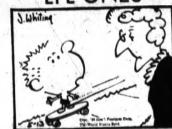

Prior to release of the sales reports, much interest had been focused on the question of whether talk about defective cars and safety issues had scared customers.

The figures bore out the prediction Monday by Roy Abernethy, AMC president, that the auto safety hearings would have a "negative effect on sales."

Chevrolet's Corvair, frequent target of auto safety critic Ralph Nader, took one of the worst sales beatings among individual car lines. Its May 1-10 sales fell to 1,899 cars compared with 6,213 for the same period in 1965.

Stock Mart Dips Sharply as Automobile Sales Drop

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a steep loss today following a report of a 15.4 per cent drop in automobile sales in the first 10 days of May.

Among the four major auto makers, only Ford reported a sales gain. At noon the Dow Jones Average of 30 industrials was down 8.40 points to 877.17.

Johnson OKs Rent Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson put the controversial rent subsidy program into operation today by signing a $2.8-billion money bill.

He also prodded Congress to reverse a decision which would cut off funds for the new teacher corps on July 1.

The appropriations measure contained $12 million to start the rent supplement program through the remainder of the current fiscal year ending June 30.

The New York Stock Exchange ticker tape lagged in minutes at one stage as trading volume mounted.

Opening of trading in General Motors was delayed because of an influx of orders. Later it traded at $53.62, down $1.25.

Chrysler was off 87 cents to $41.25, Ford was off 25 cents at $46.62 and American Motors was off 25 cents at $9.12.

Other losses around midday included Zenith $2.75 at $140, Xerox, $5.75 at $228.50, General Electric $1 at $105.87, and New York Central $2 at $66.75.

350,000 to Take Draft Deferment Test Saturday

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Some 350,000 to 400,000 college and graduate students will try to convince their draft boards tomorrow they would serve the nation better in the quiet of their classrooms than in the jungles of Viet Nam.

The persuader: A three-hour 150-question draft deferment test given at 1,200 colleges and universities in the 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Panama Canal Zone.

Even a smashing score is no guarantee that the student will be deferred for the school year that begins in the fall, but most draft boards are likely to put great stock in the results. For, as the head of a local draft board here put it, "We're doing everything possible to stimulate higher education."

The examinations, used from 1951 to 1963, were revived last March by Selective Service amid complaints by many leading educators that a class-standing yardstick alone was unfair to students in tougher colleges.

If the objective was to encourage the best talent to continue in higher education, they wondered aloud, how would this be served by drafting a low-ranked student attending a top college and deferring an inferior student who ranked near top of a second-rate school?

The test was supposed to overcome this unfairness, but it quickly generated a fresh round of criticism.

The chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., likened the examinations to "Hitler's twin-system of eugenics and education" and said they "should have a twist on the top."

The gist of Powell's argument was that the test would penalize poorly schooled Negroes and other minority groups and thus "bring the history of racial discrimination full cycle."

About the time this week that Powell was blasting the examinations at a news conference in Washington, agency Research Associates, a private agency giving the tests under a $1-million-plus government contract, was acknowledging in Chicago that there had been mixups in assigning students to test centers.

MICHIGAN MIXUP

Mrs. Galen McCarthy, acting director of information, did not know how many errors had been made. One was obvious: 31 Michigan students had been assigned to take the test at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, Mass.

Studies Bid to Switch Hospital Trial Sites

Oakland County Circuit Judge James S. Thornburn today took under advisement for at least a week a proposed change in the location of two pending trials resulting from accidental deaths at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital last November.

After hearing arguments for an hour this morning, Thornburn told attorneys he would rule on the requested change of venue no later than May 25.

Defense counsel Robert Dice of Detroit, representing the hospital and several members of its staff, have moved to have both cases transferred out of Oakland County because he claims that the deaths received much news coverage locally, thereby making it impossible to impanel an impartial jury.

The cases involve two damage suits started by the families of two of the three victims who died after being accidentally injected with ether.

The victims were Mrs. Lurea Covington of 436 Roland, whose husband Gerald is seeking $125 million in damages, and Kimberly A. Brunel, 3, her mother, Mrs. Oscar Brunel of 2599 Ivanhoe, West Bloomfield Township, is asking $500,000.

SETTLED OUT OF COURT

The third case, involving Michael Ketchum, 12, of Ferndale, was settled out of court for $30,000.

Donald Miller of Detroit, attorney for Mrs. Brunel, said he believed that a change of venue would be a "futile act" since the hospital cases received equal attention from news media throughout the state.

Representing Covington is Birmingham attorney George Fulkerson.

GMC Truck and Coach Division Local 594 will send 16 delegates and alternates and eight representatives of Pontiac Fisher Body Local 596 will attend.

Some 6,000 UAW representatives and their wives are expected to attend the convention in the spacious new Long Beach Arena.

Several major issues are expected to be brought before the policy-making group, including Medicare, foreign policy, higher wages for Canadian UAW workers and pay raises for UAW President Walter Reuther and international representatives.

See, Men, This Is How Arrest Made

Fifty-one-year-old Ralph E. Fishel, address unknown, dropped in on a Pontiac police in-service training lecture at the police station at 110 E. Pike yesterday.

Apparently the topic — "Arrest Procedures" — was right down his alley.

The session was going smoothly in a basement room when there was an unexpected commotion at the door. It was Fishel making his entrance, police said.

Fishel, according to police, "disrupted the classes... smelted of alcohol," and "his clothing was dirty and disheveled."

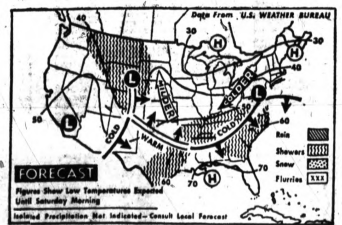

He was taken upstairs by an officer, booked for drunk and disorderly, and is held at the Oakland County Jail pending arraignment.

Chapman Going to NY 3 of 4 OCC Trustees Seek Reelection

Three Oakland Community College trustees yesterday announced that they would seek reelection to the board and another revealed that he won't seek a new term.

Board Secretary Mrs. Lila R. Johnson and David W. Hackett have filed their petitions. Earl M. Anderson said he would file today.

Announcing last night that he would not seek a new term

Mrs. JOHNSON HACKETT on the board was Frederick A. Chapman, a public relations executive with U.S. Rubber. He has accepted a transfer to the company's New York office.

The other two members of the six-member board previously announced their intent to seek reelection.

The mother of four children, Mrs. Johnson, 39, of 12726 LaSalle, Huntington Woods, is a member of the Oak Park-Hunting Woods League of Women Voters.

She holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois with a major in personnel administration and is employed as editor and publicity director of the Women's City Club of Detroit.

Mrs. Johnson is author of a feature article dealing with community colleges which is scheduled for publication in next September's Parent's Magazine.

Commenting on her candidacy for a six-year term, Mrs. Johnson said she will work toward further development of the vocational educational program at OCC.

"We must also plan for adequate facilities for the expected enrollment increase and particularly provide a facility in the southeast part of the county," Mrs. Johnson said.

Hackett, 42, of 1380 Ruby, Avon Township, has filed for one of the two-year terms on the board.

Employed as a telephone technician, Hackett is a graduate of the University of Detroit. He is married and the father of seven children.

Hackett is a former member of the Avondale Board of Education and past president of the Rochester Area Good Literature Council. He serves on the vestry of St. Philip's Episcopal Church in Rochester.

"I intend to work in the direction of lowering tuition until student expenditures for a community college education are abolished entirely," Hackett said.

WORTHWHILE GOAL

"This can't be accomplished overnight but it is a worthwhile goal," he added. Hackett noted that California junior colleges no longer require tuition payments.

Anderson, 52, of 30159 Palmer, Madison Heights, is married and the father of two children. He seeks a four-year term.

MADISON HEIGHTS

A high school graduate with two years of college, Anderson was elected to the Madison Heights Charter Commission in 1955 and served one year.

He is a former employee of the Michigan AFL-CIO and presently is unemployed.

A strong advocate of vocational education, Anderson said that he intends to work toward development of the 80-course vocational program which the college has set as a goal.

"I consider it a great honor to serve as an OCC trustee," Anderson said.

"There is much more to be done and I would like to have the chance to further the great opportunity the college is offering to both youth and adults," he added.

WILL SERVE OUT TERM

In announcing that he would not seek reelection, Chapman said that he would serve out the current term which ends next month before moving to the New York area in July.

"It is with regret that I will terminate my association with OCC," he said.

Deadline for filing petitions for the June 13 election was 4 p.m. today.

All six trusteeships are at stake including two 2-year terms, two 4-year terms and two 6-year terms.

Press Will Sponsor Poster Competition

Pontiac area schoolchildren will have an opportunity to promote safety in Michigan this summer and at the same time compete for $225 in prizes through a poster contest sponsored by The Pontiac Press.

The Press is sponsoring the contest in cooperation with the Michigan Press Association to emphasize the need for placing increased attention on traffic safety in the area.

The contest is open to all students 6 through 19 years of age.

Entries will be judged in statewide competition, and the winning poster will be reproduced and distributed throughout the state this summer.

The posters must depict the theme of summer travel in Michigan along with traffic safety, and include only the printed words "Bring 'Em Back Alive."

Pen, ink, crayon, paint or colored paper can be used, but only two colors are allowed. (Black is considered a color; white is not).

White paper or illustration board should be used. The poster must measure 10 inches wide and 15 inches high. Name, age and address have to appear on the back of the poster.

All entries must be submitted to "Poster Contest," The Pontiac Press, 48 W. Huron, no later than June 15. Mail first or rolled, but do not fold.

They will be forwarded to Detroit for judging by a panel of safety experts supervised by the Michigan Press Association.

The student who produces the poster judged best in the state will be awarded a $100 U.S. Savings Bond. First and second place runners-up will receive $75 and $50 Savings Bonds.

In addition to the cash prizes on the state level, students from the area who are judged to have top posters will receive a certificate from The Pontiac Press.

Enters Pontiac School Race

Ex-Board President 2nd to File Petitions

William H. Anderson, 53, of 2281 Ostium, Waterford Township, filed petitions this afternoon as a candidate for one of two Pontiac School Board seats to be filled in the June 13 election.

Anderson, who served on the board from 1957-65, becomes the second person to file the election.

Previously, Mrs. Elsie Milhalek, incumbent and present board secretary, had announced her candidacy.

The other incumbent, Dr. Walter L. Godsell, has indicated he will not seek reelection to the post he has held 12 years.

Anderson is presently owner and operator of the C&W Pattern Manufacturing Co.

He came to Pontiac in 1915 from Oshawa, Ont., attended Pontiac Central High School, and formerly owned and managed the Columbia Nonferrous Foundry and Machine Co.

WON ELECTION

He was elected to a board post in 1957 and, four years later, was chosen by board members as school board president, a position to which he was reelected twice.

He ran unsuccessfully for a third term in the election one year ago.

$97,000 Federal Grant OK'd for School District

BIRMINGHAM — Dr. John B. Smith, superintendent of schools, announced today that the school district had been approved for a federal grant of $97,000 under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

The money is to be used for an intensive summer school program for 407 pupils in 11 grades four through 11 who need special help in reading or mathematics.

The allocation of funds was based on U.S. Office of Education guidelines which use 1960 census data to make nationwide allotments, according to Smith.

He also stated that services under the act are available to both public and private school pupils under certain conditions in proportion to enrollment.

The 4-11 grade levels, were selected because pupils in them had not had as much opportunity to benefit from special and remedial services as children in lower grades, Smith said.

BUS SERVICE

Bus service will be provided on a limited basis for pupils who live outside the Birmingham city limits. Participation in the Federal programs is free for the students.

Public and private school principals will soon be contacting parents of eligible pupils to inform them of the opportunity and to determine if they desire to take advantage of it.

The program will operate from June 27 through Aug. 5 in Barnum Junior High School.

Several members of the superintendent's staff were involved in the planning of the program. They were aided by officials of private schools and the County Office of Economic Opportunity.

Walter Piel, Administrative Assistant, coordinated the planning and processed the application.

and Mansfield acknowledged that Democrats do not see eye to eye on the war issue.

BARBED COMMENTS

Johnson had barbed comments for Democratic critics of his Asian stand—represented at the head table by Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, listened, sipped water, puffed cigarettes and applauded politely when the President was through.

"I'm delighted to be here tonight with my very old friends as well as some members of the Foreign Relations Committee," Johnson said with a glance toward Fulbright. "You can say one thing about those hearings, although I don't think this is the place to say it."

A round of hearings before Fulbright's committee has produced a stream of critical senatorial comments about Johnson's Viet Nam stance. Mixed in with the criticism have been comments backing U.S. policy.

For his part, Mansfield sought a peacemaker's role. He acknowledged that Democrats differ on Viet Nam, but said they disagree on no major issue—and in the end, this always has strengthened the party.

State Wants Proof
or $35 in Four Days

LANSING (AP)—The Secretary of State's office told Rep. Edward Michalski Thursday he must show his car was insured at the time of a collision last Monday or else pay the $35 uninsured motorist fee.

In a letter to the Detroit Democrat, the office told him he had four days to prove insurance or pay the fee before his auto registration and license plates would be revoked.

Michalski said Wednesday he had 12 points on his driving record and no insurance on his car when his auto collided with two vehicles on a Detroit freeway Monday. He told a newspaper his insurance had been canceled about a month ago.

Michalski said he did not notify the secretary of state and pay the $35 fee because "I was negotiating for other coverage."

The letter to Michalski was signed by Lawrence Carroll, administrative officer of the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund.

Carroll cited the 1965 uninsured motorists law: "Upon the cancellation or lapse of a motor vehicle liability insurance policy... the owner of such automobile shall pay the uninsured motor vehicle fee... or obtain insurance before operating the vehicle upon the highways of this state. Failure to do so constitutes a misdemeanor."

Detroit police ticketed Michalski for careless driving in the accident. The legislator is scheduled to appear in Detroit Traffic Court June 7.

The police report says Michalski tried to drive between two stopped vehicles and hit both of them. Michalski told newsmen one of the cars turned into his path, and he swerved in an effort to avoid it, striking the other car.

Carroll wrote to Michalski that a copy of the letter would be sent to the Wayne County prosecutor.

Apollo-Like Tests Set

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—During their three-day flight starting Tuesday, the Gemini 9 astronauts plan to execute three space rendezvous maneuvers similar to those that might have to be made on Project Apollo man-to-the-moon trips.

The maneuvers "will be closer to what an Apollo rendezvous will be than was the case with Gemini 4," said Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford, Gemini 9 command pilot.

Riding with him will be Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan. Their first major task will be to pursue an Agena target satellite across the skies, catching it in four hours over the western Pacific during the third orbit.

SIMILARITY
The time and maneuvers involved are similar to those planned for two astronauts in a Lunar Excursion Module (LEM) to rejoin the Apollo command ship after they launch themselves from the moon. While they are on the surface, a third astronaut circles the moon in the main ship.

The Gemini 9 pilots required four orbits to catch their Agena. Stafford and Cernan will reduce the time by one orbit by making a major maneuver seconds after their Titan 2 rocket inserts them into orbit.

Stafford will fire the spacecraft's jet thrusters to adjust the high point of his orbital path. It is 168 miles, or precisely 17 miles below the path of the Agena.

Gemini 8 did not make this height adjustment move until after one circuit of the globe. The remaining three major maneuvers each then will occur one orbit earlier than they did on the Gemini 8 flight.

EARLIER START
Also, Gemini 9 will be launched about two minutes earlier than Gemini 8. That means the Agena will only have a 728-mile head start instead of a 1,300-mile lead.

The other two rendezvous at tempts are scheduled for the third day, after Cernan has taken a space walk and the pilots have maneuvered by firing the Agena engine while docked.

The second will be attempted without the use of radar and the third will simulate the Apollo command ship descending to pick up the Lunar Excursion Module in case the LEM cannot make it down to the moon's surface and is unable to come all the way back up to the main ship.

One Already on Strike

Building Unions Reject Offers

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—Members of two construction trades unions, one already on strike, have voted to reject contract offers by general contractors in a 15-county Northern Lower Michigan area.

Striking Local 1247, Laborers International Union of North America, voted 25-11 Thursday in turning down a three-year contract offering an 87-cent package increase.

Dick Barrett, business manager, said the slim turnout was the result of hurried calls to members following negotiations Wednesday with representative of individual area contractors.

He said the local represents some 200 members who seek a package increase of $1.07 over the contract's life.

Barrett said base pay for the striking local prior to the April 30 expiration of its former contract was $2.70 per hour. He said he was trying to set up a negotiating meeting Monday with two major contractors.

A spokesman for the AFL Carpenters Union, Northwestern Michigan Council, said members voted 114 to 98 Wednesday night to reject a two-year contract with individual contractors in a five-county area.

The council represents locals in Alpena, Cadillac, Cheboygan, Petoskey and Traverse City.

Ray Smith, business manager for the Traverse City local, said members had not yet taken a strike vote "but we're just respecting picket lines." The carpenters' contract expired May 1.

"We've informed contractors that we are ready to meet at any time," said Smith.

At Farmington Twp. Meeting

Cityhood Pros, Cons Voiced

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP
A capacity crowd of more than 300 township residents attended a luncheon yesterday at the Glen Oaks Country Club, sponsored by the Committee for the Preservation of Farmington Township, Inc.

The luncheon guests heard local speakers spell out the pros and cons of cityhood, an issue that is to come before the voters at the polls June 6.

Speaking out against the issue were Samuel H. Rubiner, retired architect, and Philip Daniels, committee secretary, both residents of the area.

Rochester JCs' New President Is Avon Man

ROCHESTER — Alex Fornicola, 132 E. Tienken Ave., Avon Township, has been elected president of the Rochester Jaycees.

Assisting him as internal vice president will be Jerry Cannon and as external vice president, Robert Jasinowski.

Others are Bill Watson, secretary; Dave Ohman, treasurer; Roger Wall, director; and Ron Traflet, state director.

The new officers will be installed at the annual joint installation banquet June 4 at the Rochester Elks Hall.

NEW OFFICERS

They are: Mr. Robert Jasinowski, 431 Canfield, Avon Township, president; Mrs. David Ohman, vice president; Mrs. Emil Zowada, secretary; and Mrs. Ted Webster, treasurer.

Outgoing Jaycee president Mrs. Alex Fornicola last week named one of the 10 outstanding chapter presidents at the Jaycee state convention.

Over County Home Rule

Romney, Legislators Agree in Tax Rift

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney and legislators of both parties appeared in agreement today that a county home rule proposal should not give counties too broad taxing powers.

They still disagreed, though, on some other points.

Legislative leaders, meanwhile, indicated that the bill with certain amendments which might be made today—stood a good chance of passage.

Both parties caucused for more than two hours on the bill Thursday and indicated they would caucus again before a final vote, probably next week.

DEM CAUCUS

The Democratic caucus, while not taking a formal position on the bill, approved an amendment restricting counties to levying only such taxes as the Legislature might authorize, said Rep. William Ryan, D-Detroit, caucus chairman.

The bill originally would have allowed home rule counties to levy any tax but an income tax.

Romney criticized that proposal in a message to the House Thursday. He also disagreed with provisions on election or appointment of the chief county officers and on continuance of all existing county offices.

Red Carpets Await Mayors

WIXOM — Mayor and Mrs. Wesley McAtee will be accompanied to Coopersville, a village of some 1,500 residents, by Mayor or Pro Tem and Mrs. Gunnar Mettala, Monday for Mayor's Exchange Day.

Wixom plans to roll out the red carpet for Coopersville President Melvin Ter Avest and his visiting group for Monday's Michigan Week festivities.

The exchanging officials will meet in Lansing for coffee, according to City Clerk Elizabeth Warr.

When the visitors reach Wixom the President of Coopersville will be presented with a key to the City and taken on a guided tour of the Wixom Ford assembly plant.

News of the Area

The speakers took their points of issue from a "fact book" compiled by members of the committee.

Rubiner, who spoke to the crowd first, told his audience "We like the country style of living we now enjoy in the township. We like the clean air, ample play space, sparse traffic, spacious neighborhoods, good uncrowded schools and the absence of industrial neighbors."

TOWNSHIP LIVING

"We like the democracy of township living and the knowledge that whenever we have a special need or demand for service, we can get together with neighbors and form a special assessment district to meet it," he said.

Rubiner spoke of the value of using the experience of neighboring cities.

"Incorporation brings with it crowded living and higher taxes. Charter tax limitations cannot protect against higher taxes," he said, "and incorporation brings with it industrialization."

Daniels stressed that the cities studied found that incorporation is undesirable on many counts.

CITIES REFERRED

Among the cities referred to were Keego Harbor, Madison Heights and Huntington Woods.

"A city has 20 times the taxing power of a township," Daniels said.

According to the speaker, the charter of a home rule city may provide for the annual levying and collecting of taxes in a sum not to exceed 20 mills of the equalized value of all real and personal property in the city.

"One mill is $1 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. And if the governing charter does not provide for a different tax rate limitation, the governing body of a home rule city is authorized to levy and collect taxes for municipal purposes up to and including 10 mills of the assessed value of all real and personal property in the city," he said.

EQUALIZED VALUE

"These rates apply to the equalized valuations of property set by the County Equalization Board. Equalized value is generally much more than valuations set by local assessors, he pointed out.

Daniels warned his audience that "Proponents of incorporation of our township into a home rule city have suggested home rule charter limitation of 6 mills. 'Such limitation,' he stressed, 'would be five times the 1-2 mills allocated to Farmington Township last year.'"

"Grave doubts exist that 6 mills for general purposes would be sufficient to successfully operate a home rule city," he said. Daniels concluded with, "A home rule city has the power to enact a city income tax ordinance. A township, under the present law, has no such power."

INCOME TAX

"Preservation of Farmington Township under township form of government is your safest guarantee that you will never be faced with a city income tax, on top of all the other taxes and assessments."

A question - and - answer period followed talks by the two men. A question asking whether a city form of government would affect the schools, was answered with, "not a bit."

A school district by state law, is a completely separate entity, it was pointed out.

Farmington Attorney Wendell Brown is the president of the 25-member committee.

The group has vowed to inform residents of all issues in the incorporation movement.

For Utica Pupils

Roundup Dates Listed

UTICA — Parents of all children who will start kindergarten next fall are asked to attend a kindergarten roundup at the elementary school in their area Monday through Thursday.

Registration will be held in the evening this year so that both parents can attend.

All registrations will begin at 7:30 p.m. The roundup will be held at Plum Brook, Jack Harvey and Burr elementary Monday; at Sterling, West Utica and Auburnshire on Thursday.

A schedule will be set up so that children entering kindergarten in September will have an opportunity to visit a kindergarten class in session during the few weeks following registration.

"We've had pretty good luck so far," said Township Clerk Lucy Alt, "but the township is growing and we want to prevent this sort of thing before it starts."

Banquet Tomorrow

WOLVERINE LAKE — The annual mother-daughter banquet of Shepherd of the Lakes Lutheran Church will be held at the church tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. The men of the church will prepare and serve the meal.

Schools Supt. Dr. Rex B. Smith was authorized to work with Oakland University representatives in writing a proposal for the funds.

The amount to be applied for has not been determined.

The board also appointed Robert Hoy, a teacher at Big Beaver Elementary School, as principal of the Troy Union and Coleman elementary schools.

The principals of Niles and Big Beaver schools have been in charge of these two schools in addition to their own buildings.

Termed "the finest Jaycee chapter of more than 239 throughout Michigan," the group was presented with the William Otto Award.

The award is presented each year to the Jaycee chapter that has demonstrated the finest capabilities in all Jaycee areas of activities.

Farmington earned first place in the following activities: religious and Christmas, international relations, ways and means, public relations, chapter development and inter-club relations.

The Farmington Jaycee Ladies Auxiliary won a first place in assistance to Jaycees, second in leadership training, social activities, money making and outstanding leader in their class. They also claimed third in community service.

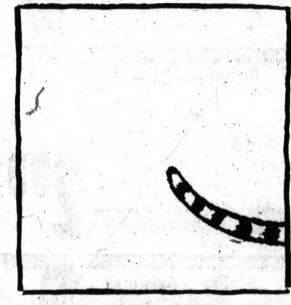

Soft Whiskey: Whiskey with the tiger taken out.

As you know, tigers are "in" these days. But not in Soft Whiskey. No, sir.

Soft Whiskey goes down the o' hach as soft as...as...Soft Whiskey. (We tried to think of something softer but we couldn't.)

So how do we do it? It's simple once you know how. (Let's not talk about how long it took us to know how.)

First of all, we do some of our distilling in small batches. Instead of big ones. And second of all, that's all we're going to tell you.

But hold on. Before you send out for a bottle, there's one other thing you better know. Soft Whiskey is 86 proof. Got it? Soft Whiskey is 86 proof.

Remember it. Because Soft Whiskey does anything any other whiskey can do. It just does it softer.

Sure we took the tiger out. But not the tiger's strength.

You May Win Social Status With Right Ailment

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you losing social status in your community because your friends and neighbors have more interesting diseases than you do?

Take stock of yourself. A good self-inventory may reveal you are one of the lucky ones.

Chances are that for years you have been harboring some fascinating ailments you never even knew of—maladies which are bound to win the respect of your crowd.

For example, let us investigate your fears. Psychiatry now has a high-sounding name for practically every fear in the human catalog of error.

BURIED ALIVE

No doubt, like many people, you feel that you aren't being promoted on your job fast enough. Put yourself down as a victim of tachypnea, the fear of being buried alive.

On the other hand, perhaps you worry because your boss is throwing more chores your way than you feel you can handle. Clearly you are suffering from hypoglycemia, the fear of responsibility.

Does your bartender habitually put too much lemon juice in your daiquiris? Let him know that you're an acrophobic, one who fears sourness. If his martinis are too wet, tell him you're a lifelong hydropobic, one who fears moisture.

Millions of straphanging subway riders endure stasiasophobia, the fear of having to stand up, and the condition probably is incurable—as there never have been and never will be enough seats on the subway.

IMPROVE CHILDREN

Two ailments which might help improve children but which few have today are mastigophobia, fear of flogging, and rhabdophobia, fear of the rod.

Do you hate anything which disturbs the daily routine of your life? Man, you're a triple winner. You've come down with neophobia, fear of anything new; kainotophobia, fear of novelty; and kainophobia, fear of change.

Don't apologize any more if you find many modern novels unreadable and most modern art meaningless. It isn't your fault. You're just got symbolophobia, the fear of symbolism.

Practically none of us can stand the thought of growing old. That's because—since youth worship is so widespread—we are plagued by chronophobia, the fear of time.

TALL GIRLS

Guys who dislike dancing with tall girls are plagued with hyophobia, the fear of height. If you live in a dread of constant borrowers, list yourself among the haptophobes, those who fear being touched.

If you're a wife and think your husband is telling fibs about having to stay late at the office, you've got a bad case of mythophobia, the fear of myths.

Oh, there's really no end to the things you can be afraid of. Afraid the computer will throw you out of work? That's mechanophobia, fear of machines. Afraid you'll get what you deserve? That's dikephobia, fear of justice.

Maybe civilization upsets you so much that you can't think of anything that doesn't frighten you. Well, you've got the big package deal disease—pantophobia, the fear of everything.

Columnists, of course, aren't spared from the general panic. Their occupational disease is the most terrifying of all—graphophobia, the fear of writing.

The Henry De Vick clock in Paris' Palais de Justice is one of the world's oldest clocks. It is still running after almost 600 years in operation.

Romney's Senate Action A-OK

Although the action was not unexpected, Gov. GEORGE ROMNEY's appointment of Representative ROBERT P. GRIFFIN to fill the Senate seat vacated by the death of PATRICK McNAMARA clarifies a situation about which there had been some little conjecture.

GRIFFIN

programs of the Johnson administration.

As the coauthor of the Landrum-Griffin Labor Act, GRIFFIN aroused antagonism of some elements of Labor. The law, however, is in reality a latter day "Bill of Rights" for the rank and file of organized labor, since it outlaws many abuses and undemocratic practices on the part of unprincipled union leaders.

In South Viet Nam on a fact-finding tour when the appointment was announced, GRIFFIN plans to break off his Congressional mission and hurry home to take his senate seat. Prospects for retaining it by election in November will unquestionably be enhanced by his senatorial prestige.

The Press congratulates Senator Griffin on the well-merited recognition accorded him by Gov. Romney and commends the governor on the appointment of a Senate replacement who should serve Michigan well.

Strike Abuse Controls Needed

WASHINGTON — The right of the citizens of a community — including New York City — to travel to and from their places of employment without being impeded by deliberate stoppages of transportation would certainly seem to come under the heading of "civil rights."

The trains on the Long Island Rail Road were suddenly halted during the rush hour on Tuesday at the command of one man — the general chairman of a labor-union group.

guilty of harassing citizens by reason of race or color.

But, oddly enough, remedial measures are not being proposed for the acts of labor unions which not only go on strike themselves but prevent the members of other unions that may have no grievance at all from crossing picket lines. Innocent parties suffer and have no redress at present.

Procedures have been stipulated which prevent strikes on railroads unless the railroads and unions participate first in certain processes of mediation, and the Railway Labor Act provides for a cooling-off period of 90 days before a strike can take effect. But the strikes on the local transit systems are apparently being ignored.

Bob Considine Says:

Speech by R. Kennedy on Latin Policy Is Timely

NEW YORK — Sen. Robert Kennedy's impassioned two-part address in the Senate warning of terrible things to come in Latin America if we don't help it desperately and helplessly borders, could be regarded as more important than the Viet Nam debate in that same august body.

Drawing on personal experience and extensive studies, the junior senator from New York sees revolutions galore that would pale the Cuban revolution.

The U.S. could be obsessed with a dozen Castros from the universities below the border, he predicts, unless we are able to reach down below the often dictatorial level to the ferment below.

Anyone who has traveled to Rio and compared the splendor of the Copacabana area to the horrible poverty adjacent favelas knows what the senator is talking about.

The rich get richer and grab more land, the poor get poorer and have less to eat and say, the dictators more dictatorial, personal freedom scarcer.

THEY ARE 'SAFER'

We continue to deal diplomatically and militarily with the kind of governments we would not tolerate at home.

They keep the "Communists" in line, contain the students on their campuses, protect United States' industrial and financial interests.

The Kennedy speech re-lighted a wick of common sense and conscience which sputtered off with Roosevelt's death, was relit by John F. Kennedy and died with him in Dallas.

Some group has spent a small fortune on a study of the American bathroom and come up with the verdict that it ought to be Alvis, Cleveland ... 79 25 316 better.

One portion of the report states emphatically that we should transplant our bathtub draining hole from its traditional position under the hot and cold spigots and relocate it at the other end of the tub.

The Great Unwashed and underprivileged in the rest of this largest plumbing world may find it hard to sympathize with us, or send us CARE packages, filled with new drains and stoppers.

Voice of the People:

'Observe Memorial Day in Dignity, Reverence'

Memorial Day is a day of remembrance. War upon war has taken its toll of our manhood who today would have been in our government as leaders; who would be teachers in our schools and universities; who would be watching their children grow into manhood to take their rightful place in our scheme of life.

In 1966 we realize how many the grim reaper, death, took to himself as we see the emptiness where there should be fullness of life; remember children never given a chance to be born; homes not established, or the home ties broken because of war.

The stabilizing effect of man is lacking. Each one of us should reach out, do more; be more than we feel capable of, to fill the gap. Many need the comfort of your presence. By your very acts folks will know you remember and care. Let us keep Memorial day with all dignity and reverence.

Discuss Amendment on Prayer in Schools

I certainly support the position taken in The Press editorial concerning Senator Dirksen's proposed constitutional amendment on prayers in school. I am also looking to any representation I support to back such a logical view. What is Senator Philip Hart's position in this matter?

L. E. CREASEY
2550 PINEVIEW

Why ban Bible reading and prayers in schools and let other religious practices remain, such as forcing protestant children to observe meatless Fridays? Why not ban meatless Fridays? If we are to have separation of church and state, let's go all the way.

J. VILAREAL
27 GAGE

Regarding the Supreme Court decision on prayers in public schools, Senator Dirksen is one man proposing to change not just what nine men have said but the work of the men who made our Constitution, which has lasted without change for nearly 180 years.

As an American citizen who has three years of high school to go in public schools, I don't care to have Mr. Dirksen tell me I am allowed to recite prayers in public schools. If I want to pray, I can do so silently as well as out loud. Religion is a private thing.

The Supreme Court has left a great deal of room for study of religion and the Bible, as well as the moral and economic law of God. It is the duty of the home, the church and the religious school to teach and recite prayers, as well as teach the moral and economic laws. It is not the duty of public schools, nor should teachers be saddled with this responsibility.

LUCINDA KEILS

I commend The Pontiac Press for your editorial supporting Senator Dirksen's prayer amendment. I believe in separation of church and state by support of money, food or anything used to aid churches, their schools, hospitals, rest homes, etc.

Senator Dirksen's amendment would restore voluntary prayer and clear the fog laid down by the Supreme Court ruling. In order to get affirmative action on such an amendment we would have to have support from our religious leaders. I want to see the amendment passed so that we can pray to God and ask his blessing on their school, class and teacher.

A Luxury

The China News (Taipei, Formosa)

Wags in the United States have been suggesting that Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Sen. Robert Kennedy are already battling it out for the Democratic nomination for President in 1972.

Maybe it's no joke.

Sen. Kennedy has had various proposals for peace in the world, including one in which he seemed to advocate negotiations with and acceptance of the Communist-occupied Chinese mainland. A non-aligned southeast Asia would be a fair game for the Reds. It would last about as long as a lamb in the middle of a wolf pack.

Laos affords a good example of the Viet Cong.

The Kingdom of the Million Elephants is the most remote area of the world. It is not, however, a luxury that Viet Nam or any other land in southeast Asia can enjoy.

Communism is breeding a lot of trouble in the United States. It is last with rice, because it has other rich resources and industries people, and also because it opens on the soft underbelly of the Communist-occupied Chinese mainland. A non-aligned southeast Asia would be a fair game for the Reds. It would last about as long as a lamb in the middle of a wolf pack.

Ky Plays With Fire by Postponing Election

As though the political waters of South Viet Nam were not sufficiently riled, Premier NGUYEN CAO KY seems bent on adding a touch of his own brand of murkiness.

The head of the country's seventh military government regime since the rule of Strongman NGO DINH DIEM was overthrown nearly three years ago, he avowed his intention of establishing democratic government in South Viet Nam.

To that end he had promised that a national election would be held this September, in part to appease rising opposition of the Buddhists and other dissident elements smarting under his administration.

Now he seems to have changed his mind, and has announced that the welfare of the country dictates continuation for another year of the governmental status quo.

If he holds fast to his determination, it is hard to foresee anything but his downfall before the year is out, considering the power of his opposition.

The glaring weakness of the South Viet Nam situation and our involvement in it, is the lack of a responsible, stable government, or even prospect of one, with which allies of the South Vietnamese could deal, and implement sound policies of assistance.

Ky's postponement of the election he had promised figures to be just another cup of bitterness for his countrymen.

Uncertainty Prevails This Spring

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — There is some uncertainty about all of them: weather, dollars, barbs and bullets.

In this strange spring of hot and cold, President Johnson has avoided shooting match with his critics about the war in Viet Nam. But Wednesday he unleashed a few rather mild barbs of his own.

He took a sort of sideways at Sen. J. W. Fulbright, the critical chairman of the foreign relations committee, without once naming him.

In answer to Fulbright, who had thrown words like "arrogance of power" at Johnson, the President simply said, "The exercise of power in this century has meant for the United States not arrogance but agony."

Johnson doesn't seem inclined to go beyond that kind of answer, limited as it was.

SMALL PERCENTAGE?

He may believe Fulbright and those who agree with him are only a small percentage of the population and therefore don't need any stronger answers than they are getting, which for some critics of the critics isn't enough.

MARLOW

So what lies ahead in this field is uncertain.

But it is not more uncertain than what Johnson will think it necessary to do to stop inflation, if only because the inflation question itself is full of uncertainty at this moment.

Johnson is known to believe that whether the government feels it must take action like a tax increase to drain off spendable dollars — depends on these main factors:

Will Congress wind up voting to spend far more money than Johnson asked for or thinks is good for the economy? Will labor content itself with limited wage demands? And will business be satisfied not to boost prices?

And at this point, despite the increasing buildup of American forces in South Viet Nam, there is some uncertainty about what may happen since there is uncertainty about what the Vietnamese people may do.

That applies particularly to the Buddhists who reportedly plunged into a strategy conference when they heard that South Viet Nam's Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said he expects to remain boss for another year.

Any real explosion among the Vietnamese over Ky and a new government could make hash of all the American efforts to fight a war against a Communist enemy in the north.

So spring is not the only thing that's got people guessing.

Angry Indians Take Warpath

Use Ax, Bulldozer
but Lose to Lawmen

BIG BEND, Calif. (UPI) — Angry Indians, armed with an ax instead of a tomahawk and fiding a bulldozer rather than horses, attacked law enforcement officers yesterday in a heated land dispute.

Four Indians went on the warpath at the Big Bend Rancheria Reservation, sheriff's deputies said, when the lawmen tried to enforce a court order requiring the Indians to reopen a logging road that runs through their 40-acre rancheria.

Sheriff Don Balma and his deputies arrived at the Indian community located in the shadow of Mt. Shasta, and tried to arrest Delia Souza and Jack Potter.

They said the Indians pelled lawmen with stones while one charged toward them with an ax and another tried to ram their car with a 20-ton bulldozer.

"We weren't worried about the rocks as much as the bulldozer because it could have hurt someone seriously," Balma said.

The Indians have repeatedly resisted attempts to open the road, vowing to keep the access route to the valuable timber land closed until high-level officials of the Bureau of Indian Affairs agreed to a conference.

Deputies arrested four Indians on an assortment of charges, including assault on a police officer.

The arrests left the tiny Indian band with only one adult to shepherd about 10 children. Mrs. Mildred Rhoades said she did not participate in the melee because the Indians wanted one member of their Big Bend Indian Estates Council free to "retain channels of possible help."

Panamanian Militiamen Seize U.S. Tuna Clipper

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Panamanian militiamen in two sports-fishing boats have fired upon and seized the United States tuna clipper Day Island about 100 miles south of the Panama Canal, it was learned here last night.

It was the second time in recent months that the Day Island has been seized by a Latin American country. The craft is owned by Al Davies of San Diego, but it operates out of Puerto Rico.

Skipper Bill Martin said the Panamanians claimed the Day Island was fishing in territorial waters which allegedly extend 12 miles offshore. He denied the charge.

Trustees of Oakland Community College last night confirmed agreement on a $9.2 million campus construction contract and set June 7 as the sale date of bonds to finance the project.

A week ago the board gave tentative approval of the low bid on the second phase of construction of the Orchard Ridge Campus, pending approval of the $9 million bond issue by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission.

This approval was granted Tuesday.

Awarded the contract for the second and final phase of construction on the Farmington Township Campus was the R. E. Dailey Co. of Southfield, the lowest of three bidders.

A contract with Oakland Community College faculty members reflecting an approximate seven per cent salary increase was approved last night by the college's board of trustees.

Also included in the contract was provision for a faculty member's right to request a review if he is discharged while under contract.

A committee of three faculty members would comprise the review board.

The new salary scale will mean an approximate $80,000 additional cost for instruction next year.

Beginning associate instructors now receive $5,000 and reach a maximum of $6,750 after eight years.

Under the new schedule, the starting rate is $5,500 in this basic teaching category with a maximum of $6,900 attainable in five years.

A full professor, the top instructional position, now begins at $11,500 and reaches a maximum of $15,000 after eight years.

Under the new schedule, a full professor begins at $11,500 and ranges to $15,250 after seven years service.

Car Safety Hearings Near End

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional auto safety hearings and today but it is likely to be weeks—or even months—before Congress comes up with legislation to authorize federal motor vehicle safety standards.

Both the House and Senate Commerce Committees are expected to go beyond President Johnson's recommendations and approve measures to establish the standards.

But the committees plan to clear their dockets of other legislation before turning to the complex safety issue.

The Senate Commerce Committee currently is engaged in lengthy sessions on the administration's truth-in-packaging bill and plans to take up next the House-passed measure to restrict interstate shipment of dogs and cats for research.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, chairman of the House Commerce Committee, said his committee will take up some minor bills and the legislation dealing with Community Antenna Television systems before returning to auto safety.

The committee had planned to end its hearing Thursday, but scheduled a session for today when Tom Triplett, a Chester, S.C., businessman, requested the opportunity to appear before the group.

Last week Triplett submitted a statement to the committee urging the Department of Commerce to publish each year a chart showing the number of each kind of car in the nation and the number involved in accidents.

He said this "will clearly indicate to the people which manufacturer is doing the best job now and which manufacturer is doing the worst job now."

Rep. James A. Mackay, D-Ga., the only committee member to attend all of the safety hearings, said he was "very hopeful" about the prospects for a strong bill, including his proposal to set a separate federal agency to deal with traffic safety.

"The apathy is gone," he said.

Runs Into Big Snarl

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Some time ago, the Junior Chamber of Commerce named this "paint-up, clean-up week" in Vancouver.

Little did it know this would be the week the Union of Outside Workers — the garbage collectors, street cleaners and others — would pick to go on strike.

Wilson Tries to Avert a Sea Strike

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson personally intervened today in a bid to prevent Britain's 62,500 unionized merchant seamen from going on strike at midnight Sunday.

But union officials held out little hope the strike would be called off unless their main demand for a 15-hour reduction of their present 56 hour workweek is met.

Wilson, who settled a threatened nationwide rail strike earlier this year, worked into the early hours of the morning preparing for a meeting with the 48 militant executives of the National Union of Seamen (NUS).

He invited the union executives to his official residence at No. 10 Downing Street to try and persuade them to call off the first merchant marine strike since 1911.

A seamen's strike could throttle Britain's economy in a matter of days.

Government sources said Wilson has no "trump card" up his sleeve.

They said his strategy would consist of impressing the union officials with the irreparable damage such a strike would inflict on the national economy.

But NUS secretary Bill Hogarth said the union would not call off the strike "unless there is something fresh to offer."

"No progress has been made, the only thing for which we would call off the strike at this late stage is a 40-hour week," said Hogarth.

Carty Shift Assailed by Principals

LANSING (AP)—An organization of Michigan high school principals criticized Detroit school officials Thursday for what it called "knuckling under" to student pressure in removing the principal of Northern High School.

The group said it would censure the appointment of, or the acceptance by anyone of an appointment to any secondary school administrative position in Detroit public schools.

The Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals announced its stand in an open letter released at Ann Arbor. The group is a department of the department of Michigan Education Association.

Detroit School Supt. Samuel Brownell removed Principal Arthur Carty from Northern High School, moving him to another administrative post, after students boycotted the school.

'INFERIOR EDUCATION'
The students were protesting what they called inferior education at the school, and had demanded Carty's removal.

The principals' organization denounced Brownell and the Detroit Board of Education for "failure to support the Detroit principal."

The case, it said, "can have a negative impact on effective operation of schools everywhere."

OFFICIAL NOTICE OF SALE
DEVONSHIRE DRAINAGE DISTRICT
COUNTY OF OAKLAND

DRAIN BOND
Sealed bids for the purchase of Drain Bonds to be issued by the Devonshire Drainage District in Oakland County, Michigan, of the par value of $14,000 will be received by the undersigned at his office, No. 550 S. Telegraph Road, in the City of Pontiac, Michigan, until 11:00 o'clock a.m., Eastern Standard Time, on Tuesday the 20th day of May, 1966, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read.

Said bonds will be dated October 1, 1965, will be coupon bonds, all of the denomination of $1,000 each, will be numbered consecutively in the direct order of their maturities from 1 upwards, and will bear interest from their date of issue at the rate of 5% per annum.

Each bid shall state the annual interest rate or rates upon which it is submitted, expressed in multiples of 1/8th of 1%, and shall be evidenced by one coupon only for each coupon period, and all bonds maturing in the same year must carry the same interest rate. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such bonds must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

Said bonds will mature serially on the 1st day of May in each year as follows:

Year	Amount	Year	Amount
1967	2,000	1977	4,000
1968	2,000	1978	4,000
1969	2,000	1979	4,000
1970	2,000	1980	4,000
1971	2,000	1981	4,000
1972	2,000	1982	4,000
1973	2,000	1983	4,000
1974	2,000	1984	4,000
1975	2,000	1985	4,000

The bonds will be subject to redemption as a whole by the Drainage District prior to maturity on any one interest payment date on or after May 1, 1975. Each bond called for redemption shall be redeemed at par and accrued interest plus a premium equal to two per cent (2%) of the aggregate par value of the bonds redeemed on or before May 1, 1975, and without premium if redeemed thereafter.

Notice of redemption shall be published not less than 30 days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the City of Detroit, Michigan, which carries as a part of its regular service, notices of the sale of municipal bonds. Both principal and interest will be payable at such bank or trust company which qualifies as a paying agent under the laws of Michigan and which shall be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds, who may also designate a similarly qualified collecting agent.

The said bonds are to be issued under the provisions of Chapter 20 of Act No. 48 of the Public Acts of 1959, as amended, in anticipation of the collection of special assessments assessed by the Drainage District to defray the cost of localizing, establishing and constructing the said drain. The assessments are against the State of Michigan on account of drainage of state highways and the County of Oakland on account of drainage of county highways and against the County of Bloomfield, the State of Michigan and the County of Oakland have paid their assessments in full. The assessment against the Township of Bloomfield is a full faith and credit obligation of said township.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds, the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate of 5% per annum, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from June 1, 1965 to their respective maturities and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid, on the above computation, produces the lowest interest cost to the Drainage District. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds at a price less than their par value, will be considered.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $2,250.00 drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the Drainage District for the Devonshire Drain must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder; to be forfeited as to the interest cost of the bonds if the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds, his interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative by registered mail. Payment for the bonds shall be made in full from the Reserve Fund.

Sites shall be conditioned upon the unexpired term of the Drainage District, Michigan, and the County of Oakland, Michigan, and the County of Bloomfield, Michigan, approving the legality of the bonds. The cost of said legal opinion and of the printing of the bonds will be paid by the Drainage District. Bonds will be delivered at Detroit, Michigan, or such other city as shall be designated by the purchaser of the bonds.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

MSU-Ramparts Hearing Is Set

LANSING (AP)—Staffers of Ramparts magazine will confront Michigan State University officials Monday in a hearing on whether MSU provided a cover for CIA activities in Viet Nam.

Rep. Jack Faxon said Thursday.

Faxon, D-Detroit, said the object of the bill will be to remove "a cloud of suspicion that surrounds MSU's overseas program."

Ramparts charged in a recent article that an MSU advisory mission provided a cover for Central Intelligence Agents in South Viet Nam in the 1950s.

MSU President John Hannah has denied it. He said when MSU learned of the CIA employees on the mission, they were removed.

MSU MISSION
The MSU mission trained police officers in Viet Nam. Hannah said the men who turned out to be CIA agents were hired as specialists in teaching counter subversive tactics, a field in which MSU faculty men were not expert.

Faxon said members of the House Ways and Means Committee will try to get at the differences between the MSU and Ramparts versions of what happened in Viet Nam.

He said Warren Hinckle, Ramparts editor, and Stanley Shein-

Scientists Eye Tiny Carriers of Diseases

By Science Service
NEW YORK — Scientists are getting a closer look at one of man's smallest enemies — the disease-carrying microorganism called mycoplasmas.
One variety, gallisepticum A 5969, has a shape like a teardrop, reported Drs. Jack Mandliff and Harold J. Morowitz of Yale University, New Haven, Conn.
Mycoplasmas are a group of tiny organisms smaller than bacteria but larger than viruses. They seem to be the cause of diseases in man and common domestic animals, especially in areas such as the joints, heart, brain, respiratory systems, mammary glands and genitourinary tracts. They may even play a role in cancer.

These tiny organisms, unlike bacteria, have no thick, rigid wall to hold them in shape, the Yale scientists told a conference of mycoplasmas, sponsored by the New York Academy of Sciences.

Mycoplasmas are confined by a cell membrane made up of two monomolecular layers of protein separated by a layer of fat.

The cells owe their teardrop appearance to the presence of a "bleb," of granular material. When a cell gets ready to divide, a second "bleb" appears opposite the one already present, and the cell elongates.

DIVIDES INTO 2 PARTS
The nuclear material, containing the cell's supply of genetic material called deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA), segregates into two parts divided by a band of ribosomes. The central area constricts, and the single elongated cell splits into two daughter cells.

A 'Candlelight Cotillion' Awaits Groves Students

By CANDY SPRIGGEL
Weeks of preparation will climax tomorrow the 1966 Groves prom — Candlelight Cotillion.

The event, to be held in the Birmingham-Bloomfield Teen Center, will be from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m., with music by the Julian Ireson Orchestra and the John Stone Trio.

While the majority of students have been worrying primarily about a formal, a date, or where to have dinner, several juniors, under the direction of their advisers, have worked hard to make the evening a night to remember.

The decoration committee, headed by Bette Cahill, English teacher, and composed of Tom Samanen, Sue Corgiat, Roxanne Toussaint, Kathy Rae, Debbie Lausen, Charlotte Killson, Betsy Arthur and Carol Billet, promises a realistic cotillion.

A garden atmosphere will surround the teen center dance floor with flowers, hedges, and gas lights in the corners.

DINING ROOM

The cote parlor will be transformed into a colonial dining room.

Twenty tables will have centerpieces of flowers and candles, the waitresses dressed in a colonial style.

Doormen will greet the girls at the door as their escorts park the cars.

Credit should be given to Randy Andeer, Sue Owen, Esther Sarkesian, Paula Weilermillar and Sue Corgiat, who form the tickets and program committee under direction of Mrs. Joanna Johnson, English teacher.

PUBLICITY

Kathy Rae, Carol Billet, and Linda Borden make up the publicity committee with Georgina Jordan, speech teacher, as adviser.

In charge of the favors are Jane Barlow, Paula Bergeron and Betsy Bates, assisted by Mrs. Johnston.

Judy Ann Butzbach, history teacher, is responsible for refreshments, Linda Lamb the chaperones.

Honor Society Chooses 36 at St. Fred's

By ERNESTINE MOORE

Thirty-six students of St. Frederick High School were inducted into the Les Seyantes Chapter of the National Honor Society at a school assembly this afternoon.

Speakers at the assembly were the four outgoing officers.

Speaking on service, Mary Lou Manion stressed service in the home: "Once a person has a true sense of service and charity in the home, he is ready to go out and be of real service to the community, to the country, and to the world. Charity does begin at home."

On scholarship in the school, Ernestine Moore commented, "I believe that there are many students sitting in the student body as observers who could and should be receiving honors today."

"Because you are not, you have first failed yourselves, and only, you have failed those who are receiving this honor, and thirdly, you have failed this school system."

"To fulfill the leadership characteristic, a person must have a strong mind and will. It is easy to spot this type of person because they stand out from the crowd — they accept responsibility cheerfully and do the little things that many others feel don't count," added Margaret Fitzgerald.

"Character is an attribute which makes you different from me and everyone else," said Santa Paulinae. "Character is the ability to rejoice in truth—regardless, if that truth helps or hinders your present path."

Certificates, cards and pins were presented to the students by Mother Ann David, I.H.M., principal at St. Frederick.

WTHS Students Set 3 Plays, Silent Film

By JEAN PRIESTLEY

Tonight Waterford Township High School play-production students, under the direction of Anne Hobart, will pull the curtain on three one-act plays and their own silent movie.

Janice Means is director of "Ladies of the Mop," the story of four theater scrubwomen who each become performers to an empty audience after the evening's performance is over.

Cast members are Jane Marsh, Karen Sheridan, Sharon Roberson and Diane Fitzhenry.

Lynn Hamilton directs a symbolic drama, "Impromptu," with Bill Anderson, Liz Davis, Lynda Lotner and Jim Joseph.

It is a compelling tale of four characters who represent humanity, searching for a plot (the meaning of life) and hoping to get help from their staff manager (God).

A shortened version of Oscar Wilde's farce, "The Importance of Being Earnest," is directed by Miss Hobart.

The complicated plot revolves around the false identities of two young men who find themselves engaged to young ladies whose problems arise from the stories they fabricate.

The players are Linda Miller, Sandy Hughes, Chuck Wilson, Tony Kellogg, Sue Shadwell, Karen Rowland, Roger St. Peter, Mark Henderson and Jay Dalton.

The silent movie is entitled "Love in a Pot-Bellied Stove or Don't Give Your Grandmother a Lot of Bull (Whip)."

Director is Charles Wilson.

Cast members are Mark Henderson, Frank German, Dave Wagner, Pat Adams, Olav Haseeth, Ruth Steval and Sandy Hughes.

Others are Dawn Thrasher, Jackie Lee, Jim Joseph, Lynda Lotner, and Ken Moore.

Also in the cast are Connie Thompson, Elizabeth Davis, Janice Corgiat, Karen Rowland, Lynn Hamilton, Jan McLeod and Janice Means.

Filming was done by Frank German and Mark Henderson.

Wednesday was final turn-in day for magazine subscriptions in WTHS' third annual drive.

Sponsored by Student Council, the drive is expected to bring in $5,000 for school improvements.

Prizes were awarded to top salesmen as well as teachers with high-selling homerooms and the winners of various drawings.

The band has scheduled its annual spring concert for Tuesday at 8 p.m. The public concert is directed by David Lindsay, band director.

COPY OF TESTIMONY — Rep. Edward Hebert, D-La., yesterday released testimony on the views of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Congress' row with Defense Secretary Robert McNamara over a big new bomber. Hebert said he was releasing the testimony to prove the Joint Chiefs really wanted the plane.

Testimony on Bomber Released

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has described as "without foundation" the latest charge in his running feud with the House Armed Services Committee and its third-ranking Democrat, Rep. F. Edward Hebert of Louisiana.

Hebert released classified testimony to newsmen Thursday which he said proves that the Joint Chiefs of Staff want full-scale development of a new manned bomber, contrary to what McNamara has said.

Hebert's subcommittee earlier had charged that the defense chief ignored the advice of the Joint Chiefs in deciding last year to phase out the older B52s and B58 bombers by 1970 in favor of advanced strategic aircraft.

McNamara had replied to those charges by describing the subcommittee's report as "a shocking distortion of the true picture."

'ASSERTIONS'

The testimony released by Hebert Thursday answers McNamara's assertions, the congressman said, which "impugned the Congress" and "challenged the credibility" of his subcommittee's report. Hebert said his release of the classified testimony did not damage national security.

In the testimony, Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. John P. McConnell said the Joint Chiefs supported full-scale development of a new manned aircraft.

Children Urge Firemen: Keep Mascot Dog

OKEMOS (AP) — A band of youngsters and one dog are picketing the Okemos fire house.

Object of the demonstration is the dog — the firehouse mascot. Firemen have been threatening to get rid of him because his frequent wandering away from the fire station has been causing them headaches.

The dog, named Possum because he sleeps all day and keeps firemen awake all night, has a sign around his neck saying, "I want to stay."

The youngsters have signs saying, "We want Possum to stay." They gathered 200 petition signatures.

The firemen are saying maybe they will reconsider, and maybe not.

Job of Telling U.S. Story in Viet in Hands of Tough Official

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The man in charge of the job of telling the American story in Viet Nam is an ex-Marine who has been in the embattled country for 28 months and intends to stay here "to see this thing through."

Barry Zorthian, 45, is a stocky, graying career officer who plans and directs one of the most crucial propaganda efforts the United States has ever undertaken.

A tough, hard-working executive whose job leaves him virtually no time for anything else, he is often described as one of the most effective men in this highly intricate and difficult field.

While some of his subordinates may dislike him, no one denies his effectiveness or ability.

by officials for pessimism or "curiosity," Zorthian said. He added that "this is the first war we are waging without formal precensorship."

His day in Saigon is a long one. It often ends around 1 a.m. after a series of conferences, briefings, poring over reports and studying ideas.

"By and large, the American press is trying to do a conscientious job in a very difficult situation," he says.

"What we are trying to do here is to give them facts as we see them. The judgment is up to the correspondents."

State GIs Killed in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department said today four Michigan Army men were killed in Viet Nam during the week ended last Saturday. They were Pfc. Charles B. White of Trenton, Pvt. Karl F. Schrank of Clare, Sgt. Douglas Jackson of Detroit and Spec. 4 George L. Stoll of Grand Rapids.

Science for You

PROBLEM: Sympathetic Vibrations.

NEEDED: Two drinking glasses (goblets are best), some vinegar, water, and a fine wire.

DO THIS: Put water into the glasses, add a little vinegar into each glass, and dip a finger into the vinegar water. Rub your finger around the rim of each glass, this makes a musical tone. Put in or take out water from the second glass until the pitch is exactly the same in both glasses.

Place a wire across the rim of the second glass. As a musical tone is produced in the first glass the wire will be seen to move slightly on the rim of the second.

HERE'S WHY: The sound from the first glass sets up resonant vibration in the second because the two glasses have the same frequency of vibration. This idea is used in musical instruments.

TRY THIS ALSO: If good thin glasses are used, and they will vibrate well, try producing a tone in the first glass, then putting a hand over it to stop the sound quickly. The "music" should then be heard coming from the second glass.

GIs Get 'Hell Week' in Viet

PHANG RANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — After eight weeks of basic training and three weeks of jump school in America, troopers of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division have one more "hell week" when they get to South Viet Nam.

It is seven days and nights of classes, patrols and calisthenics on the sandy, superheated plains of Phang Rang, 180 miles northeast of Saigon.

Li Jvy Wood of Miami, Fla., who is in charge of the training program, said the course probably is tougher than the basic training the paratroopers had in the United States.

"In fact it's so rigorous the kids look forward to combat as a means of escape," he said.

PASS ALONG

Staff Sgt. Louis Boutista of Hilo, Hawaii, is typical of the cadre at the tent-city training camp. He has had eight months as a squad leader of a combat company in Viet Nam, and his job is to pass along what he has learned.

The trainees — the camp process 250 a week — are "real fine, but young and inexperienced," Boutista said. "Some get annoyed at the constant harassment but when it's over they realize it is for their own good."

And our harassment still isn't as bad as being pinned down for hours by a Viet Cong sniper."

Two of the trainees gave their opinions of the rush course in "How to survive in Viet Nam."

Pfc. Manuel A. Sanchez of Roswell, N.M., had just finished the infiltration course and his uniform was soaked with sweat. The course, he said, "was rough, but darned good."

NOT ENOUGH TIME

Pvt. David Pope of Clinton, Iowa, said, "they rush it too much — they give you too much in such a short time."

Wood agrees that an extra week or two would help.

"But we have no alternative," he said. "We're losing men every day. They have to be replaced and we have to give these men the best training we can in the shortest possible time."

The training program was started March 18, "with only three instructors and makeshift headquarters," Wood said. "Since then our staff has grown to 31."

LONG DAY

For the trainees, the day begins at 5 a.m. and continues through the boiling heat until 7 or 8 p.m. For some units the day's work is followed by night patrols in the jungle several miles away.

Schooling includes land navigation, tactics, calisthenics, familiarization with booby traps and mines, classes in local customs and the Vietnamese language, and use of the new M16 automatic rifle. Most of the soldiers trained in the United States with the M14.

The reaction course draws the most curses from the sweating trainees. It is a laced barbed wire, simulated booby traps and enemy targets. As the soldiers run, crawl and crouch through the course firing at targets, commands of "stay down," "spread out" and "move up" are dinned into their ears.

The Vietnamese "hell week" is not only for the enlisted men. Officers of the 101st who have just arrived at the Phang Rang base course also struggle through it.

Plans for Compulsory Fingerprinting Studied

LONDON (AP) — The government is studying plans to introduce compulsory fingerprinting as one means of coping with a rising crime rate, a Home Office spokesman reported. Mass fingerprinting in a murder investigation at reading recently led to an arrest.

BEALE STREET BLUES—Beale Street in Memphis, Tenn., the place where W.C. Urban renewal plans call for clearing most of the area, with only a few buildings of special historic interest to be spared.

Fallout From China N-Blast 'Not Heavy Yet, but Peak Due'

TOKYO (AP)—A leading Japanese scientist said today there is no need yet for serious concern over 'death ash' from Communist China's big nuclear blast Monday. But he warned that the peak period of radioactive fallout will come in a week to 10 days.

Shokichi Uehara, director of the science and technology agency, said the level of radioactivity reaching Japan has decreased since Wednesday, when fallout was found 100 times more radioactive than debris from Red China's first two nuclear explosions.

Uehara said over-all radioactivity from the test—the biggest of China's three explosions—had not exceeded that from the blasts on Oct. 16, 1965, and May 14, 1965.

"There is no need for serious concern at this time," the scientist said. "But the peak of the 'death ash' fallout is expected to come here in between a week and 10 days, and precautions are still necessary."

Precautions that were ordered yesterday include the washing of fresh foods and fish and the filtering of rain water used for drinking.

The latest Chinese test has been estimated by officials in Washington and Tokyo as having been in the 130-kiloton range, or carrying the destructive power of 130,000 tons of TNT. The two previous tests were in the 20-kiloton range.

Cavanagh Returns; Battle With Soapy Expected to Resume

DETROIT (AP)—The primary election battle between former Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Mayor Jerome Cavanagh of Detroit may resume in earnest today when Cavanagh returns from a European tour.

The two men are vying for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate.

The man who wins in August will oppose Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., who gained his appointment earlier this week when Gov. George Romney appointed a replacement for the late Patrick V. McNamara.

EQUAL EDUCATION

Williams spoke Thursday before 800 high school scholars from the Detroit area, urging that equal educational opportunity for all be made a reality.

Williams proposed a new study be made to see how much money would be needed to make certain that qualified high school students are assured of a college education.

Williams said the $58 million allotted by the federal government for college scholarships next year is not enough.

Meanwhile, Cavanagh, heading a U.S. trade mission in Europe, visited West Berlin Thursday, and for a short time, crossed over into East Berlin.

The Russian sector still shows marks from the war," said Cavanagh. "Especially the churches. None of them seem to have been repaired."

The Dead Sea Scrolls were discovered accidentally in 2,000-year-old earthen jars near Khirbat Qumran in Jordan.

Mrs. Jack Allen attended her sister-in-law and Bruce Hamm was best man. Donald McGeen and Norman Goyeys were ushers.

The newlyweds are alumni of University of Michigan. He is in graduate study in Bridgeport, Conn.

White House Art Works to Be Viewed on Film

An opportunity for the public to enjoy a 30-minute color-film tour of the White House art collection will be offered at 8:30 p.m., May 20 in the Detroit Institute of Arts lecture hall. There is no admission charge, but reservations should be made by calling the Archives of American Art office.

This close-up study of White House art is narrated by actors Frederic March and Florence Eldridge, who relate the paintings to our history as a nation. Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson also appears to introduce the film.

UNUSUAL METHODS "Paintings in the White House" was filmed using still photography, and employing a machine which created the effect of motion.

To speed the making of transparencies of each painting, most of the works were removed from the walls and carried to the White House Map Room. Larger paintings, such as Gilbert Sutherland's "George Washington," were photographed where they hung.

Milka Iconomoff, of Birmingham, chairman of the Detroit Association of Contributors to the Archives of American Art, explained, "So many Detroiters missed the television showing of the film or saw it only in black and white that we made special arrangements with Westinghouse Broadcasting Company to show the film at our annual meeting and open the meeting to the general public."

Don't Delay Elevator for Late Comers

By ELIZABETH L. POST Dear Mrs. Post: I have a pet peeve. I work in a fairly large office building that has self-service elevators. At 5 o'clock everyone makes a mad dash for them and sometimes it is necessary to wait several minutes for one.

When the elevator finally arrives, someone will invariably get on and hold the door open for a friend who is down the other end of the hall, causing more delay. This infuriates me no end as I am sure it does others who have to catch a train.

I would appreciate your comments. — Pearl S.

Dear Pearl: It is thoroughly rude and thoughtless to delay the elevator for any reason. I'm sure that every tired commuter will agree with us.

How Do You 'Add-Up' on Style Know-How?

By GAY PAULEY UPTOWN's Editor NEW YORK—It's spring examination time for wardrobes, and time to test your fashion know-how.

A woman fashion consultant and owner of a chic retail shop in Alexandria, Va., has devised a point system for grading appearance.

As Mrs. William C. (Frankie) Welch explains her guide to being well-dressed: "Allow yourself 10 points in daytime apparel, if you're small — five feet five inches and under, 12 points if taller. For evening, the shorter woman can add up to 12 points, the taller one to 15."

Each item of apparel including the basic costume and accessories is rated one point or more depending on simplicity or fanciness. The secret, says Mrs. Welch, is don't go over your allotment of points, or you will be over-dressed.

EASY METHOD Her method is spelled out in a new publication, "The Clothes We Wear," which the National Institute of Drycleaning has sent to 4,000 home economics teachers for classrooms use.

The publication, written by the institute's Dr. Dorothy Siebert Lyle, covers grooming, selection and care of fabric and clothing, and keeping clothes clean.

The Welch point system included goes as follows: • Dress: suit, solid color, one point; print or two colors, two points; two-piece, two points; contrasting color or belt, one point; any trimming such as flowers or bows, one point each; contrasting buttons, one point; scarf, one point.

• Blouse, different color from ensemble, one point.

• Jewelry, Necklace, one point; bracelet, one point for

And It Works

He's Trying to 'Bug' You

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When my husband eats an apple, it sounds like someone were using a "plumber's helper." On other occasions you would swear that Clyde was inhaling food, plate and all. I could climb the walls.

He has other "at home" habits which are equally revealing. The point is, they are all for me. When we have company, Clyde is a perfect gentleman with model manners and the most considerate behavior. His explanation: "A man may do whatever he feels like doing in his own home."

What would you think of a skillet placed firmly on the back of his head? My lips must remain sealed, but my hands are getting itchy.

CLYDE'S WIFE DEAR WIFE: If his "habits" disappear when company comes, they are not really habits — they are nasty little acts intended to torment you. Ask Clyde why he feels the need to punish you?

If he doesn't know, suggest he see a headshrinker and find out, if he refuses, but persists in his disgusting behavior, try the skillet.

DEAR ABBY: At this school were I go, there is a certain group of kids, and if you don't belong to this group, you might as well be dead. How can I get in with the group? My mother keeps telling me there is nothing wrong with me, but it still bothers me.

DEAR NOT: I can't think of a bigger waste of time and energy than trying to "get in" with a group of kids that apparently has no interest in you. Strive to do well in your studies. Always be as well-groomed as possible. Smile more, frown less, and don't gossip.

Be friendly, but not forward, and be content to make friends one at a time. And if you have ONE worthwhile friend, consider yourself lucky.

DEAR ABBY: Re unwanted visitors in a hospital: When a patient has an unwanted visitor, if the patient will just close his eyes and pretend he has dropped off to sleep, the visitor will quietly leave.

I am a Gray Lady and I often tell this to patients who complain that company wears them out.

GRAY LADY, MEDINA, N.Y. DEAR GRAY LADY: Take it from an old Gray Lady (either way); I can tell you never to underestimate the persistence of some visitors. Some have been known to sit for hours waiting for a patient to "wake up."

Lake Orion Cook Has Good Main Dishes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

When we recently asked for main dish recipes, Mrs. Richard O. Garnett of Lake Orion came to our rescue with two recipes. Both sound interesting.

HAMBURGER PIE

By Mrs. Richard O. Garnett

2 8-inch pie shells
1 tablespoon oil
1 small onion
1 small green pepper
1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon marjoram
1 cup diced raw potatoes and carrots
Chop onion and green pepper and cook briefly in oil. Add meat and cook until brown. Drain off all grease. Add remaining ingredients.

Fill pastry shell with mixture and cover with top crust. Cut slits in crust. Bake 30 minutes at 400 degrees. Decrease heat to 375 degrees and bake another 20-25 minutes.

Serve with catsup or canned tomato sauce heated with one-half cup grated cheddar cheese.

HAM ROLLS

2 cups ground cooked ham
3 tablespoons evaporated milk
2 tablespoons undiluted cream of mushroom soup
Mix together until ham is moistened.

Mix two cups biscuit mix with two-thirds cup milk. Roll out on floured board in rectangle 1/4-inch thick.

Spread ham mixture over dough and roll like a jelly roll from wide end. Slice into eight sections. Bake 20 minutes at 400 degrees.

Dilute rest of mushroom soup with half a can of water. Bring to boil and serve over ham rolls.

Cream of celery or cream of chicken soup may be used.

Last Show for Puppets at Institute

A contemporary version of "Little Red Riding Hood" will be the final show of the season for the Detroit Institute of Arts puppet theatre series on May 21 at 10 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

"Stars" of the show will be the Proctor Puppets. These hand puppets will be manipulated by Mrs. Ellen Proctor, assisted by two members of the museum's theatre arts dept., Suzanne Schulz and Michael Miners.

Mrs. Proctor's experience in puppetry began some 35 years ago when she and her husband presented performances throughout the United States and in several European cities. During the last six months, she has appeared at a number of schools in the Detroit area under the Cultural Enrichment program.

Her young audiences, many who have never seen such a performance, responded enthusiastically to her presentation. "Puppet Panorama," Mrs. Proctor also presented puppet shows several times daily throughout the 1965 Christmas Carnival at Cobo Hall.

"Little Red Riding Hood" will be shown in the museum auditorium. Tickets are 50 cents each for children and adults; 35 cents each in groups of 10 or more and to Founders Society members.

They may be purchased at The Detroit Institute of Arts Ticket Office and all J. L. Hudson Ticket Services.

No Claims Expert Happy All the Time?

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE Y-485: Jack K., aged 36, is a radio announcer.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "do you actually think the majority of married people are successful?"

Most of the married couples that I know are quarreling and apparently not very satisfied with their lot.

"So even those who aren't divorced don't seem very happy to me."

MARRIAGE FACTS

Alas, only one marriage out of every two can be considered happy today!

That doesn't mean we have a 50 per cent divorce rate.

But at least 25 per cent (in many cities it is nearer 35 per cent) end in divorce.

Another 25 per cent are leading cat and dog existences, feuding and snarling at each other, but still living together, either because their religion forbids divorce.

Or else because they have young children and think it best to stay together at least till the kiddies finish high school.

But Jack's impression is that even the other 50 per cent of supposedly successful marriages aren't happy.

Maybe Jack figures that you must be either 100 per cent happy or else you rate zero.

Happiness, however, is never a matter of 100 per cent vs. zero!

JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Because of the abundant evidence that cigarette smoking is damaging to health, many women are anxious to give it up but have a very difficult time doing so. From the National Hand Knitting Yarn Association comes the suggestion that you reach for the knitting needles instead of a cigarette.

This is a wonderful idea for several reasons. In the first place, it is a well-recognized fact that smoking is partly a nervous habit. High strung, nervous persons are likely to reach for a cigarette at the slightest suggestion of stress. Also physicians have long known that there is something soothing about working with the hands.

One thing which worries women about stopping smoking is the fact that many folks gain weight when they quit. The main reason is that they reach for candy or a cookie instead of a cigarette. Actually nibbling can be the result of nervousness or emotional strain just as smoking can be.

A hobby designed to keep the fingers busy will calm the nerves and lessen the temptation to reach for a snack or a cigarette.

One woman wrote me that she had conquered the nibbling habit by leaving the house immediately and going for a very brisk walk any time she was tempted to raid the refrigerator or the cookie jar. All this might lead to a helpful chain reaction.

You stop smoking, create something pretty, get some outdoor exercise and lose weight. This therapy is especially apropos today when knitted clothes are so popular and so fashionable.

Every cigarette not smoked represents a few more rows on the garment in the works, and every nibble not eaten represents some weight lost or at least some not gained.

It certainly seems that excessive smoking, overweight, and lack of exercise make one more susceptible to lung cancer, heart trouble and other diseases. Also, knitting and crocheting are relaxing and creative hobbies!

This applies to men also. Many famous men have found knitting good therapy for frayed nerves.

List Available on Pamphlets for Children

The Child Study Association of America has published "Recommended Reading on Sex Education," a 16-page pamphlet containing 36 titles divided into sections for adults, for children ages 5 to 9, 9 to 12, 13 to 15, and for older adolescents and young adults.

The pamphlet was published in conjunction with the Association's recent 42nd Annual Conference on "Sexual Behavior and Social Ethics: Their Meaning For Families Today," held in New York.

In preparing the list, the Book Review Committee of the Association noted that books and pamphlets were evaluated and selected in answer to the many requests for reliable material on the subject that would be helpful to parents or professional persons working with children and adolescents.

The list includes such classics as "What to Tell Your Children About Sex," by the Association, "The Wonderful Story of How You Were Born," by Sidonie Gruenberg, former director of the Association, and "Sex and Our Society," by Dr. Lester A. Kirkendall.

The pamphlet, which is available to those who write for it from the Child Study Association of America, 9 East 89 St., New York, N.Y. 10028, for 25 cents plus 10 cents postage and handling, also contains information about audio-visual aids and other materials on sex education. Quantity rates are available.

The Child Study Association of America, a leading national agency in mental health education for family living and the prevention of family breakdown, was founded in 1888 by five mothers who wanted to know "how to be better parents."

Gophers Winningest, but Still 3rd

CHICAGO — Minnesota, the Big Ten's winningest team, rests no better than third in the league.

LPGA Event Tied Despite Bad Weather

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Blonde Peggy Wilson, who never has won a tournament, and Mickey Wright, who has won more than anybody, ignored the wind and misty rain Thursday to shoot one-under-par 70s and tie for the first round lead in the $15,000 Dallas Civitan Women's Open Golf.

Miss Wilson equalled her best round in pro golf and Miss Wright, defending champion here, had to snare a birdie on the final hole to tie her.

Miss Wilson was a physical education instructor at the University of Texas when she decided to follow the golf tour.

"I haven't made enough to buy you a drink," she quipped to newsmen. "But I like to play."

Casey to Wear No. 37 as 'Manager' Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel will haul his familiar No. 37 uniform out of mothballs and become a manager for an evening again here July 30. The New York Mets said Thursday that Stengel will be the No. 1 honored guest in the team's annual old timers game preceding the regular night game with Leo Durocher's Chicago Cubs.

It is also Casey's 76th birthday. "This will mark the first time Casey has had on his uniform since he suffered a hip injury July 24th last year," a Mets spokesman said.

59 ALL STARS
The Old Timers game will be built around the theme of the 1950 baseball All-Star game, the first of 10 in which Stengel was manager. In that particular game, Casey handled the American Leaguers, losing a 14-inning marathon to the National League 4-3.

Players who participated will be invited to attend the affair will manage the American Leaguers again.

From the list who participated in the All-Star game 16 years ago, six became managers. They included Gil Hodges, Eddie Stanky, Dick Slater, Marty Marion, Red Schoendienst and Yogi Berra.

Robin Roberts, who pitched for the National Leaguers then as star of the Phillies, is still active, pitching for the Houston Astros.

Others to be invited to the Shea Stadium party for Stengel are Willie Jones, Ralph Kiner, Roy Campanella, Stan Musial, Phil Rizzuto, George Kell and Larry Doby, who played the entire 14 innings of the longest All-Star game in history.

Stengel, who managed New York Yankee championship teams before going to the Mets, retired at the end of last season and was replaced by Wes Westrum.

Fastest of the formula three trials were an American, Roy Pike of San Francisco, and Britain's Chris Irwin, who recorded 106.15 m.p.h.

Table Tennis Title to Perc Secord

Long-time Pontiac table tennis standout Perc Secord won the state YMCA open championship Wednesday night at Traverse City Junior High School gymnasium.

Secord, a barber, rallied to beat defending champion Brad Wiganman in the classic singles, doubles and all-events divisions of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Veteran Joe Kristof of Columbus, Ohio, rolled a nine-game total of 2,031 to take first place in classic all-events.

The 45-year-old professional bowler opened his 25th ABC tournament appearance Wednesday night with a 659 series in the team event. He returned Thursday with 693 in doubles and 679 in singles.

If his score stands until the ABC ends May 23, Kristof will have his second ABC trophy. He won the 1961 classic doubles with Don Ellis of Houston, Tex.

Les Schissler fired a 760 series to take first place in classic singles. Don Johnson of Kokomo, Ind., and Al Thompson of Cleveland, paired for a 1,329 total to gain the classic double lead.

Ex-Yankee Hurler Socked in Carryover of Melee

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Pitcher Jim Coates of the Seattle Angels said he was assaulted Thursday in a hotel lobby in a carryover of bat-wielding violence that erupted during a Seattle-Vancouver Pacific Coast League game Wednesday night.

Coates, the winning pitcher in Seattle's 3-2 victory, said his assailant was a member of the Vancouver team. The 33-year-old former New York Yankee said he was hit in the face but was not seriously hurt.

The right-hander said he would press charges against his assailant.

FIGHT IN GAME
The fight broke out in the fourth inning of the game when Coates hit Vancouver outfielder Ricardo Joseph on the shoulder with a fast ball. When Joseph advanced on Coates, Seattle catcher Merritt Ranew knocked Joseph down.

Then Ranew was felled by a blow on the head by a bat wielded by Vancouver's Santiago Rosario. Ranew was hospitalized with concussion and a four-inch cut on his scalp.

Five at New Orleans Tied for Lead at 68

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Big Jack Nicklaus got off to a ragged start, turned in a wild round, but carded a four-under-par 68 Thursday for a share of the first round lead in the $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tourney with Tony Lama, Frank Beard, Bob Goalby and Charles Coody.

"I didn't play well, but it's very difficult to explain about a 68," said the two-time Masters champion. He immediately headed for the practice tee.

Nicklaus toured the first nine holes of the 7,200-yard Lake Wood Country Club course, which plays at a par of 36-38, in 37. He charged home with a blaze of birdies for a 31.

PLAGUED
Lama, who has been plagued with a sore elbow, carded a 33-35. He had four birdies and 14 pars. "The closest I came to a bogey was on No. 6, when I was off the green, but I chipped 24 feet from the pin and sunk it for a par," said Lama. "I missed some good birdie chances, but this is probably the best round I've played in six months."

Visits Gum Owner

Lippy in Distress Call

CHICAGO (AP) — Owner Phil Wrigley will try to answer a distress call from Manager Leo Durocher of the sinking Chicago Cubs.

Wrigley disclosed that Durocher visited his gum company office Wednesday and they analyzed the needs of the Cubs, mired in the National League cellar with a 6-18 record.

"Leo pointed out what he would like to have and I said we would see if we could get it," Wrigley said.

Wrigley said Durocher was signed to a three-year contract with the assumption the Cubs had personnel capable of winning.

"Some of the young fellows we had counted on haven't come through yet," Wrigley added.

"And Billy Williams isn't hitting."

The club owner said cold weather probably has hampered 35-year-old Ernie Banks, now hitting .155. Williams, 26, is batting almost as poorly, a .191.

What Leo wants, Leo will get as far as money is concerned to better ourselves," Wrigley said.

Offered Vampire Role

Cassius in Movies?

LONDON (AP) — Cassius Clay got a film offer today — but it wasn't very flattering. The world heavyweight champion was invited to play the part of a vampire in a new British horror film now being made near London. The film already has former world middleweight champion Terry Downes playing in it. He stars as a lunch-back.

Clay's workout was watched by Georges Carpentier, 72-year-old former boxing idol from France who tried to win the world heavyweight title from Jack Dempsey more than 40 years ago.

"You're the first man of your weight I have ever seen who could win a fight with his legs," Carpentier told Clay.

"That's me," said Clay. "Hit and run. Hit and don't be hit."

George Smith, 55-year-old Scotsman who works as a cashier in Edinburgh, was named as referee for the big fight. Under British boxing rules the referee is the sole official. There are no judges outside the ring.

From Cooper to Smith came this message: "Don't stop the fight if I get cut, no matter how bad it looks. I want this decision to be left to my corner."

Cooper was cut about the eyes by Clay when the American stopped him in the fifth round of their previous London fight, in 1963.

UNHAPPY FAN—Mark Griffiths, three-year-old fight fan who seems a little unhappy with the situation, pays a visit to heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay at his training headquarters in London yesterday. Clay meets British champion Henry Cooper for the title May 21.

California Club Takes National Volleyball Title

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — The Sand and Sea Club of Los Angeles Thursday won the senior open of the National Volleyball Tournament here by defeating the West Side JC Club of Los Angeles, 15-13 and 15-9.

The Sand and Sea Club won seven straight games to take the championship, one of several up for grabs in the tournament being held at the Calvin College Field House. The senior championship involves players 35 years or older.

Brigham Young University advanced in the national collegiate division with 15-2 and 15-10 decisions over the Hawaiians of Los Angeles Club, in double elimination competition.

Other championships to be determined before the tournament ends Saturday night include the National YMCA champions; National Women's champions; and the National Masters champions.

Bears Sign Wolverine

CHICAGO (AP) — Charlie Kines, 200-pound offensive lineman from the University of Michigan, signed Thursday with the Chicago Bears of the National Football League. Kines, 18th draft pick, played offensive tackle for Michigan, but Bear owner-coach George Halas said he would be used at guard.

Top Track Stars Gather for LA Coliseum Relays

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A star-studded cast of track and field athletes, including a record-seeking group in the two-mile feature, gathered here Thursday for the 26th annual Coliseum Relays Friday night.

Entered in the two-mile run are Kenya's Kipchoge Keino, Jim Grelle and Dyrrol Burleson of Oregon, Bob Day of UCLA and youthful Jim Ryan of Kansas.

Their target is the world record of 8:22.6 set a year ago by Michel Jazy of France.

The 26-year-old Keino ran 8:25.2 in Australia last year, but this will be his first outdoor race of 1966.

LONGER ROUTE

Grelle, a consistent sub-4-minute miler who this spring stretched out to run the longer route, has done 8:34.0, which is the fastest of the group this year.

Freshman Ryan recently ran 8:47.4. The relays committee hoped he would compete in the mile, but a meet official, Jess Hill, athletic director at the University of Southern California, said:

"He told us he wanted to run against the big boys in the two-mile race."

There are other highlights on the program, of course.

The pole vault features no less than four who have cleared 17 feet or higher. They are John Pannel, Bob Seagren, Sam Kirk and the most recent addition to this select group, Paul Wilson, Southern Cal freshman. Each has a best of 17-1.

RECORD SET

World shotput record holder Randy Matson of Texas A&M — 76.74 — has hit only 66-07 this year, but may be pressed by Oregon's Neil Steinhauser, who had a toss of 66-10 last weekend.

Relay races include crack teams from Texas Southern, Stanford, Southern Methodist, UCLA and Southern California, Villanova and Georgetown.

Draft Board Denies Appeal by Cassius

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The chairman of Cassius Clay's local draft board says his interpretation of Muslim law contradicts the heavyweight champion's claim that serving in the Armed Forces would go against his religion.

The contradiction, J. Allen Sherman said Thursday, caused the rejection of one appeal made by Clay of his I-A draft status.

The other appeal, in which Clay said induction in military service would present a hardship, also was rejected by Local Board 47 in Louisville, Sherman said.

Edward Jacko Jr., Clay attorney in New York, said, "The appeal is predicted mostly on hardship, because the hardship exists at this time."

Schilling Asks Twins for 'Retired' Status

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS — Second baseman Chuck Schilling cut by the Minnesota Twins asked the club Thursday to place him on the voluntary retired list.

Schilling, one of three trimmed from the Twins' roster Wednesday, was slated for the Denver farm club. The Twins had posted waivers on Schilling but there were no takers. He was acquired from the Boston Red Sox in an early April trade.

Arnie's Swing 'Potent'

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — It may be news to golfer Arnold Palmer — and certainly little solace to his opponents — but a psychiatrist says there is literally an emotional explosion in Palmer's famous swing.

Dr. Arnold J. Mandell of UCLA came up with this idea Thursday in declaring that, by and large, all varieties of golf swings and game performance have a hidden significance.

That is, they all are designed to strengthen a given player's particular means of "coping with tension."

He told the American Psychiatric Association: "The Smash It school regarded by Palmer and others may be a way of acceptably converting tension into useful energy. The relaxed, permissive swing, it leads to a sloppy super-ego Tony Lama—seen in style."

his model of the golf swing and — in his living style — may serve to take off super-ego pressure and thus reduce performance anxiety.

And, here's something for Ben Hogan to muse upon if he ever gets stymied behind a tree: "Hogan's meticulous and ritualistic commands for the player, in his writings, may well fit the obsessive-compulsive's need to operate within a well-elucidated framework of being correct in order to reduce tension," said Mandell.

But don't get the doc wrong about tension. Without disclosing how he's scoring himself these days, he said that actually, you can make tension work for you — converting tension into useful energy, and if you have too little tension, the relaxed, permissive swing, it leads to a sloppy super-ego Tony Lama—seen in style."

Immunity May Vanish for N. Viet MIG Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials hint that the home bases of North Vietnamese MIG fighters may face American bombardment if U.S. planes are downed in future dogfights. The three airfields near Hanoi thus far have been immune from direct attack. But the officials said Thursday the United States, as a means of reducing losses, would use the most effective methods and tactics to combat any weapons or aircraft that attack American planes.

While U.S. officials did not specifically say that any U.S. air losses to MIG attacks would be met with strikes on the North Vietnamese airfields, the implication was that such a course of action was a strong possibility.

The Air Force long has wanted to knock out the MIG bases. The principal field is Phuoc Yen, about 12 miles from Hanoi, and sources said the other two are close to the city's outskirts.

MIG FIGHTERS

U.S. warplanes have been challenged recently by Communist MIG fighters, including MIG-17 models. Two days ago, MIGs fired missiles at U.S. planes for the first time in the war, but missed.

No American planes have been downed by Communist pilots since April 1965 when two U.S. F-105 fighter-bombers were lost when jumped by MIGs.

U.S. jets have bagged 12 MIGs in aerial combat, including one the Air Force said was destroyed Thursday by an air to

'Raids Forcing Hanoi to Risk Planes'

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — North Viet Nam is risking more of its jets in combat because the day-in, day-out pounding by U.S. planes is hurting, the deputy commander of the U.S. Air Force in Viet Nam said today.

"They are losing too much and they can't go on like this," said Maj. Gen. Gilbert L. Meyers. "They have a relatively young air force and they have to do something about our planes."

"Their missiles haven't been as successful as anticipated, so they are falling back on their air force."

The continuous American attack on the north is designed to stop the flow of supplies to the Viet Cong in the south, Meyers said in an interview, but it has a side effect of hurting the North Vietnamese economy.

"We have pretty well interdicted the rail and road lines around Hanoi," he reported. "There is more and more barge traffic, indicating the land lines have been badly cut. We are tightening the noose on the whole transportation system."

Meyers, a native of Milford, Iowa, who came to Viet Nam more than a year ago, said North Viet Nam's air defenses are "very good." The North Vietnamese have good ground control and an extensive radar system, but "generally let's them know where we are all the time," he said.

The 49-year-old general was a fighter group commander in World War II and operations director for the 5th Air Force in the Korean War.

He said the North Vietnamese air force is believed to have about 15 of the late-model MIG-17s and 70 MIG-19s, along with a few other jets and an assortment of propeller planes.

"They are getting more air control and better airplanes," he said, but declined to elaborate.

Some North Vietnamese pilots have been trained in the Soviet Union but others are trained in their own country, he added.

Travel Ban is Lifted

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Albuquerque officials have lifted their recent ban on out-of-state trips by city employees to allow a zoo attendant to accompany two zebras to Colorado. The female zebras are being taken to Colorado Springs for mating.

The ban on travel was initiated to save money.

Springtime Is Catalog Time

Springtime is blossom time at nurseries. Many different types of flowering shrubs and trees are in flower for home owners to select the plants which they like best for their home properties.

Springtime is also catalog time, when plants are colorfully illustrated for the convenience of home owners to choose what they want.

The selections are wider than ever before.

At this time of the year home owners look to the outdoors, not only glad to be out in the fresh air, but eager to plant and beautify for the summer months.

It is the time to plan for a shade tree, or for remodeling overgrown landscaping. It is the time for planning perennials, roses, as well as shrubs and trees, according to one's choice.

Millions of solid Americans, get outdoors to plant and beautify their properties during the spring.

Many feel that it's the most beautiful time of the year, pleasing and healthy for the whole family.

The sun feels doubly satisfying after long winter months, warm and cozy.

Demand for plants and trees should surpass all previous records, it is reported.

Floral Groupings in Picture Lessons

Beautifully illustrated is "ABC in Flower Arranging," by Julia Clements which takes you step by step through floral designs, identifying flowers and plants used. It is easy to follow the picture lessons.

One section suggests, with photographs, interesting plants for decoration.

For those fascinated by the Japanese school, there is "Japanese Free Style Arrangement," by Lee Early Quinn (D. Van Nostrand) who offers simple guide lines.

The author says patterns and rules have no place in this type of work. She encourages arrangers to design in the light of their own experience, perception and vision.

Lawn and Garden News

In Your Outdoor Living Room

Provide the Illusion of Privacy

The room divider idea is going outdoors, especially where one wants an enclosure that is really not an enclosure.

Structural forms can provide that illusion of beauty, without creating a permanent barrier.

It is a trend that Americans now accept—something that seems to serve no practical purpose but is an asset where it is used.

A cultural age that feels deprived if it doesn't have handsome statuary and specimen boxwood in the garden can accept intriguing substitutes.

But if one feels that only a wall can provide enclosure, the new design idea will offer little appeal.

DESIGN FORMS
You can design your own forms, once you get the general idea, and the home handyman can do the project with hand tools, although an electric saw and drill will be helpful.

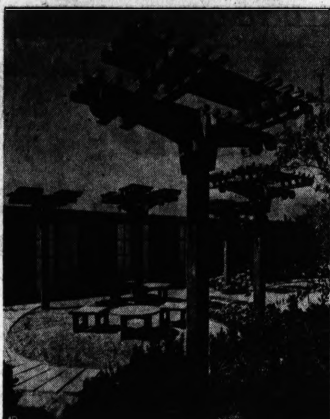

Make your forms tall or short, wide or skinny. Sketch the idea on paper before you begin.

Interesting redwood structures designed by landscape artist, Richard G. Murray of Carmel, Calif., might at first glance look like fancy telephone poles.

They comprise a series of crossbeams and grids set on top of a single beam and two stylized cross beams comprising a 6 foot by 4 foot area.

He designed them to be used either as a design element independently or to complement each other when used in groups.

They may be set far apart used at an entry or close together as a patio divider or in a row as a walk esplanade. Murray's structural forms are built of Simpson's kiln-dried California redwood.

OUTDOOR PRIVACY—Redwood 'dividers' can be used to frame an entry, as a patio divider or in a row to indicate a walkway.

Here are the step-by-step directions. Vary the idea to suit your own taste.

Dig a 24-inch deep hole for 6-inch by 6-inch by 10-foot redwood post. (An extra six inches deep filled in with gravel can facilitate better drainage.) Set posts in concrete.

Now—cut and taper two 2-inch by 10-inch by 6-foot stylized redwood beams.

Pre-drill two holes on either side of the beams that will be attached to the post using 1/2 inch by 10-inch black iron bolts and nuts.

You cut four braces from excess in the 2 inch by 10 inch beam and tie-nail two to each side of the beam.

Now you nail four 4 inch by 4 inch redwood joists in place, two on each side placed widthwise.

Indent 10 inches and place six inches apart leaving 24 inches between the two sets of joists.

SUPPORT RAILS
Nail six 2 inch by 3 inch by 6 foot redwood grid support rails over the joists lengthwise.

Indent four inches from joist tips and place three on each side four inches apart with twelve inches between the sets.

Put twenty 2 inch by 2 inch by 18 inch redwood top grids

on to the support rails in four sets of five. Indent each set three inches from tip of support rails with each four inches apart and 15 inches between each set of two along the length.

Use galvanized or aluminum nails.

If the redwood is left natural it will turn a dark russet color and eventually turn to a soft, silvery gray as it ages.

But it can be stained, painted or finished with a clear water repellent sealer, if one prefers

Design Has Greenhouse, Tool Storage

The home gardener will find a fresh design combining a greenhouse, tool storage shed and workshop to his liking. A plan showing its construction is available free.

In the front, open section is the workshop with a sturdy shelf for work on potted plants and other chores.

The greenhouse section is under glass at the back.

Storage space is in two sections—one with a side entrance for lawnmowers, rollers and wheelbarrows, and the other lined with perforated board, accessible from the workshop.

Lumber and hardware are used in the construction. This hardware has great strength, dent and weather resistance. It holds paint longer than wood.

For a copy of free plan AE-103, write a postcard to the Home Service Bureau, Box 5, Chicago, Ill. 60609.

Watering System Useful for Lawns

Survival of new lawn seedlings can be better assured by installation of an underground watering system. This is becoming practical for the average home, now that there is on the market a do-it-yourself plastic system.

The plastic pipe with sprinkler heads attached is laid out on the lawn before being buried, so that spray pattern can be checked. It is choked up to a regular outdoor faucet, and is activated by a time clock which automatically turns the sprinklers on and off according to a determinable sequence.

Such a watering system is especially useful for bentgrass turf. But even with the more drought-resistant Kentucky bluegrasses (including Park Merion) and the fine fescues (Chewings, Illabe, Pennlawn) you have control of one more environmental factor that can easily spell disaster, especially the should drought occur the first year.

Apple Trees Slow

If you wonder why so few new varieties of apples appear on the market consider:

There is a minimum waiting period of 10 years before a population of seedlings has fruited and can be evaluated.

To have an adequate breeding program, nearly 5,000 seedlings must be planted annually, 700 trees to an acre.

From the seedlings, fewer than 10 plants per 1,000 usually are worth propagation for further observation.

This means there may be one to three good prospects from 10,000 seedlings.

The New York State Agricultural Experiment Station has produced 67,000 seedlings since 1945.

Three varieties, Wayne, Splendide and Monroe, promise to be of real value, researchers say.

Dr. John Einset, head pomologist, said the present world apple industry was based on varieties that originated in the 18th and 19th Centuries as chance wild seedlings.

The experts urged development of new varieties because technological advances with existing varieties eventually would reach a saturation point.

Replace Sheep

Lawn mowers have changed a lot since the late 18th century when sheep were used to crop the spacious turf areas around Washington's Mount Vernon, Jefferson's Monticello and the stately homes of England.

Today's whirlwind rotary mowers do more than just mow the lawn; they also pick up and bag grass clippings, leaves and other debris and trim around walks and drives.

A rich, dark green color that lasts late into winter is one of the features recommending the Highland variety for well-tended bentgrass lawns.

You bought a house to keep your child off the street. Why keep him off the lawn?

After all, a lawn is to enjoy. This is why you should know about Agrico Grass Food. Most people think a fertilizer just greens grass. Fact is, many fertilizers do little more. Agrico contains a special combination of ingredients that not only greens your grass, but more important, enriches your soil.

Only nutrient-rich soil can adequately feed a grass plant and its root system.

Agrico Grass Food produces thick, hardy lawns that can resist wear and tear by kids and cookouts. Agrico is used almost exclusively by professional grass growers—golf course superintendents, landscape gardeners, nurserymen and sod growers. They rely on Agrico because it builds thick, vigorous turf that withstands rough treatment. A $4.95 bag of Agrico Grass Food enriches 5300 sq. ft. of grass and soil. This season, apply Agrico Grass Food. And throw away your "Keep-off-the-grass" signs.

Hints on Beautifying America

Recently Americans were told about the aim of President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson to beautify America.

With the assistance of the Society of American Florists, here are suggestions as to how you can help.

- Outside homes, commercial establishments and stores, where the temperature does not fall to freezing: Hang baskets, boxes or other containers of small flowering or foliage plants or cut flowers from lamp posts, mail boxes or other fixtures, from porches, patios, balconies, lawn trees or front doors.
- Place azaleas, geraniums, coleus, zinnias, marigolds, trailing vine plants in window boxes.
- Outside, where the temperature drops below freezing: Hang basket or other containers of dried flower arrangements or evergreen cuttings from mailboxes, light posts or other fixtures or on doors.
- Attach a "harvest" swag of dried flowers or colored corn on cobs; place dried flowers or ivy in window boxes.
- Outside apartments and professional offices: Fix a "harvest" of dried materials from doors.
- Inside homes, stores and other commercial establishments: Hang baskets of fresh or dried flowers, flowering or foliage plants inside picture or front windows so that they are visible from outside, or put them on window sills on the first or second floors.
- Fresh flowers have a place in every room. Use low arrangements for table centerpieces, low coffee tables and under mirrors and pictures.
- Dramatic masses of flowers belong on large tables, near large wall areas or to flank pictures and mirrors.
- Vary the effect of flowers by employing different basic designs — such as vertical, crescent, Hogarth curve and symmetrical arrangements.
- DARK BASE
Dark colors should be used at the base of a flower arrangement, with the middle range of color in the center and the lightest tints at the top.
- A similar progression should be used in the degree of bloom — from full blossoms at the base to buds at the top.
- An exception is when a bud is dark and a large blossom is pale. Here, the degree of bloom wins over the color rule. Do not crowd material in the arrangement. Stems should not cross and spacing between stems should vary.
- Flowers and foliage plants may be used in a variety of ways for decorative effect — on a window sill, on the floor near a window.
- And they may be grouped together on the steps of a wide staircase, on a cart, table or plant holder.
- Select plants in proper scale to the room and to the location in the room where they are to be displayed.
- HOUSE PLANTS
Generally, concentrate house plants, large or small, in one area to achieve a coordinated decorative scheme.
- Flower arrangements for a business office should be more severe but more brilliant in color and more specific in theme.
- Relieving the severity of modern office furniture requires a personal touch to feature just the right plants and living flowers.
- They will offset, yet complement, modern furnishings.
- There are 896 steps in the Washington Monument.

ICC Backs Halting State Train Runs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Noting what he termed a steady decrease in passengers in recent years, an Interstate Commerce Commission examiner Thursday recommended elimination of two passenger train runs between Grand Rapids and Traverse City, Mich.

Examiner Edward L. Bolser's recommendation to the ICC included trains 25 and 26 operated by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad.

In Lansing, Otto F. Sonfield, director of the Michigan Public Service Commission's Railroad Division, said he had not had time to study the report and would decide later whether to file an appeal. The ICC allows 20 days to appeal.

Sod Boom Gains Momentum in State

"Instant lawns" are gaining wide acclaim in Michigan.

The "instant lawns" are, of course, sod. Home owners by the thousands are shifting to this method of establishing a lawn, rather than put up with the time-consuming job of lawn seeding which may take up to two years and still not guarantee a good quality lawn.

The sod "boom" in Michigan has been particularly impressive. Almost no acreage of sod was grown in the state in 1955. Last year, more than 20,000 acres were grown.

The Michigan sod industry is valued at $10 million.

One of the reasons for the booming sod industry in Michigan is the excellent climate and soil conditions for growing good bluegrass sod. Michigan State University scientists estimate that sod acreage will likely double in 10 years to meet the demands of an expanding Michigan population interested in an "instant lawn."

While sod usage has increased mainly out of convenience, a MSU agronomist researcher warns home owners that careful buying and maintenance are still necessary before that "instant lawn" can be achieved.

"The first secret to a good sodded lawn is in the buying," contends James Beard, "The home owner should buy quality sod that is free from bentgrass, quackgrass and annual bluegrass."

"There is no selective control for bentgrass or quackgrass. Therefore, the home owner would have to kill everything in his lawn to eradicate either of them."

"Annual bluegrass presents another kind of problem. It's light green and bunchy and provides an unsatisfactory contrast with the rest of the lawn."

Beard recommends buying sod that is cut no more than 1 inch thick. The thinner the sod layer, the more rhizomes (underground stems) that are severed and the quicker the sod will knit.

"Thicker layers of sod are needed only when the sod is being put on very dry soil where watering is not possible," says Beard.

He recommends Merion Kentucky bluegrass or a blend of Merion with common, Park and/or Delta bluegrass.

"For the home owner who wants a quality lawn that will require high maintenance, Merion is the best choice," explains Beard. "For lower quality and less lawn care, use a combination of Merion with a high percentage of common."

"But Merion Kentucky bluegrass should never be used under shaded conditions because it is susceptible to powdery mildew. Red fescue is the best choice for this condition, but the supply may be limited in your particular area."

Beard warns that the home owner needs just as good a seedbed for sodding as he does for seeding. This means a tilled, farm seeded, rolled and graded to the desired lawn contour.

Watering is extremely important when sodding a lawn, especially during the first two or three weeks until the sod becomes rooted.

"Even green grass can die in a matter of three hours on a hot, dry, windy day," warns Beard. "In the spring rains may be sufficient to keep the sod well watered, but daily watering—around noon—is almost essential when starting a sodded lawn in midsummer."

Weedy perennial grasses such as quackgrass or bentgrass should be controlled before laying the sod. Beard recommends applying amitrile-T when a maximum leaf area is present. The home owner should cultivate seven to 10 days later and then wait four to six weeks before sodding to avoid toxic residues from the herbicide.

Caladiums for Outside

Your outdoor garden will be enhanced by the varied beauty of caladiums by starting dormant tubers indoors in late winter or early spring.

Plant several caladium tubers two or three inches apart in clay bulb pans set in a pebble or vermiculite-lined tray, which can be heat-treated by setting it over a radiator to insure 70 to 80 degrees bottom heat.

Tubers should sprout within four weeks, to go outdoors when spring temperatures top 60 degrees.

Big Carrier Gets Little Appreciation Abroad

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

ABOARD THE USS ENTERPRISE — This ship is a quarter of a mile long and taller than a 22-story building.

Its 4.7-acre flight deck is large enough for four simultaneous football games or 66 regulation tennis courts.

The anchors have 360-pound chain links.

The propellers are larger than bivalent homes.

The total weight is 85,350 tons.

LOTS OF HORSEPOWER

It has the horsepower equivalent of 1,000 automobiles, is strung with enough cable and wire to stretch from New York to 1,500 miles beyond Los Angeles, and has so many varied compartments in its nine-level hull that if a man visited 10 rooms a day it would take 11 months to see them all.

It is like sailing on a 40 m.p.h. island, the product of 915 designers, 2,000 miles of blueprints, 3,000 railroad cars of material and several barges of money.

Yet, for all its abundance, appreciation for this largest of all aircraft carriers is barely dimly-sized along the Asian coast.

Japanese fear it, Chinese object to it, Koreans and Vietnamese are wary of it.

In fact, the USS Enterprise can count the friendly ports of call in this part of the world on the captain's thumb.

Why? Because it's nuclear powered, Asians consider it the world's biggest atom bomb.

It isn't, of course. Although the ship is propelled by a glob of uranium the chances of an atomic explosion are, statistically, next to nothing.

In most cases, fear of the ship stems from ignorance of its functioning.

AVERAGE SUPPOSITION

The average supposition is that exploding neutrons, or some such, blast the ship over the bounding main.

Hardly. The nuclear aspect is used primarily as a source to manufacture steam, which fires the turbines in a more or less conventional manner.

It is, in fact, sort of a science fiction leadown. There are no eerie lights, no pulsating beeps.

Viet Reporter Is at Home on Sea, Too

Today's dispatch shows that correspondent Tom Tiede of the Newspaper Enterprise Association hasn't neglected the sea war in Viet Nam.

In fact, no element of the war escapes the watchful eye of Tiede, as his avid readers can testify.

Tiede's dispatches appear regularly in The Pontiac Press. In addition, he has a book out, "Your Men at War," which is available for $1 with the coupon below.

Wants Cervix Test Required

By Science Service
SAN FRANCISCO — Screening for cancer of the cervix should be a state, and perhaps federal law, a New York pathologist proposed here at the American Cancer Society's 1966 scientific session.

Dr. Leopold G. Koss, attending pathologist, Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases, New York, said a smear of the cervix should be made mandatory for all women who have had at least one child from the age 30 on.

"If this proposal appears too bold and too sweeping, it could perhaps be modified to encompass at least those women who are seeking antenatal care," Dr. Koss said.

If diagnosed early, cervical cancer is almost fully curable he pointed out, but if allowed to become invasive, it will burden society with the cost of patient's illness and the care of their families.

The failure of a physician to obtain a smear, especially on a patient who has requested it, should be subject to a malpractice suit if the woman later develops cancer of the cervix, the pathologist believes.

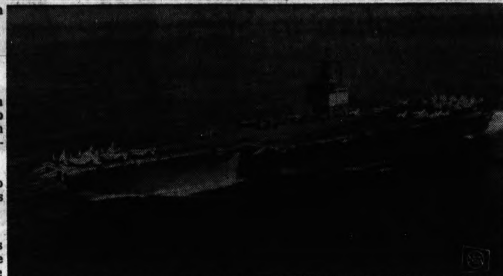

He emphasized the need for better technicians and pathologists and especially warned against the use of untrained personnel for cancer diagnosis.

Green Beret Spurs Gift Drive for Viet

Gilbert Youth Service
NORWICH, N. Y. — A junior high-school girl, Kathy Rotundo, wore a green beret—the distinctive headgear of the Special Forces' troopers in Viet Nam—to spark her drive to collect personal gifts for local men serving in Viet Nam.

More than 200 students brought in 100 pounds of soap, candy, gum, comic books and playing cards.

The local American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts paid the $18 postage to ship the gifts to three area servicemen on duty in Viet Nam.

USS Enterprise

One chief petty officer who received a worried letter from his wife concerning the vessel's safety, put his tongue in his cheek and the spouse in her place by replying:

"Honey, if I start glowing at night, I'll resign."

Most others among the ship's 5,300 members treat the subject with equal levity — a kind of gallows humor known as Geiger-counter gags.

They've nicknamed the ship "Nuke Box."

"RADIUM DISCOLORATION" All sunbats are "radium discoloration."

Nobody is sick, they're "disintegrating."

And guys who are bald are "mutations."

Such giggles aren't coverups either. Nobody aboard is worried. The ship's secure.

SAFETY FEATURES The eight reactors are stuffed with safety features; cut-down controls operate automatically, and the human help is grilled for months in Atomic Energy Commission classrooms.

Even radiation is more pun than problem.

Those nearest the core receive about as much a year as a jet pilot can get from a single high-altitude flight.

And, anyway, according to one Geiger-counter gag the Asians aren't laughing at, even if something did go wrong the boat is so large there would still be a chance.

If the explosion was aft, say, the crew could move forward. That way they'd be a quarter-mile from ground zero.

Movie Title Unusual, Too

British Lord Producing 'Marat/Sade' Film

By BOB THOMAS
 AP Movie-Television Writer
 LONDON — The name of the movie is "The Persecution and the Assassination of Marat as Performed by the inmates of the Asylum of Charenton Under the Direction of the Marquis of Sade."

As if that weren't unusual enough, the producer of the film is named Lord Birkett. That an English lord should be producing a film with such an elongated title is evidence of the ferment that is taking place in all the English arts, from rock singing to the classic theater.

Lord Michael Birkett is no C. Aubrey Smith type. He is a tall, thirtyish man with the English good looks to qualify him as an actor. It may be just as well he was not so inclined. The new, swinging England is not quite ready for an actor in the House of Lords.

THOROUGHLY ENAMORED
 The title fell to Lord Birkett on the death of his first holder, his father, a distinguished jurist. By that time the young man was thoroughly enamored with the film business.

"I started when I was going to Cambridge," he recalled. "I was supposed to be studying history, but I found myself going to films seven times a week. On holidays I would see four or five a day."

"After I left the university, I got a job at Ealing Studios, which then was the only one that had any nonunion jobs. After a year and a half of working all around the studio, I got my first union job: as tea-boy. The title was first assistant director, but he is chiefly noted for bringing the tea for tea breaks."

Lord Birkett rose in the film world, his most notable achievement being as producer of "The Caretaker," called "The Guest" in America because of conflict with an American film, "The Caretakers."

Peter Brooke, who directed "Marat/Sade" for the London

Shakespeare Company and Broadway, chose Lord Birkett to produce the film version, which United Artists is sponsoring.

"We'll shoot it in three weeks, using the play script intact," the producer said. "It will be done in movie technique like Olivier's Othello, but entirely on one stage, to achieve a claustrophobic effect. The cost will be under $500,000."

Shooting starts next week with the same cast that finished a successful run in New York a week ago. "Marat/Sade" could have continued there another year or more, except for cast exhaustion. The play is an ordeal that actors cannot survive for long.

Lord Birkett said he uses his title in his normal dealings, "but only because it causes people embarrassment to find out who I am after calling me 'M. Birkett.'"

Mother Files $10-Million Suit

Aftermath of Battle to Regain Daughter

DETROIT (UPI) — A mother who fought for 10 years to get custody of her child filed a $10-million damage suit in Wayne Circuit Court yesterday.

Mrs. Pearl Jean Hatmaker, Berkeley, sought $5 million in actual damages and $5 million in punitive damages in what she charged was a conspiracy to keep her 12-year-old daughter, Paula Marie Mathers, from her.

The defendants in the suit are the Michigan Children's Aid Society, two of its directors and a caseworker, three attorneys, a psychiatrist and the couple who raised Paula from infancy.

Mrs. Hatmaker got custody of Paula on July 13, 1964 after a series of legal battles that took the case to the State Supreme Court three times.

The mother said two days after Paula's birth she entered an agreement with CAS in which the agency agreed to board Paula in a licensed boarding home and allow her to visit the child.

SEPARATED
 At the time, Mrs. Hatmaker, then Mrs. Mathers, was separated from her husband, 111 and "destitute," according to the suit.

The suit charges that the child was placed in an unlicensed boarding home, and was placed for adoption without the knowledge or consent of Mrs. Hatmaker and without a court order terminating the mother's rights to her child.

The mother finally regained Paula after the Michigan Supreme Court first ordered the Washtenaw County Probate Court to return the child, and then, after a delay, issued an order demanding that the Washtenaw court follow the directive "forthwith."

Spring, Oh Spring! Where Art Thou?

NEW YORK (AP) — A poet once sang that "spring came on forever." Whatever became of it this year? In most of the nation, it's forever coming on.

"It's bad weather for hiking," the way one New York Department store executive understated it, as he noted seasonal sales below expectations.

There's been too much rain in Texas, where some of the cotton has to be replanted. Downpour has raised the Ohio River to near flood stage, and the Chicago River became so swollen Thursday that commuter-carrying motorboats couldn't pass.

In St. Louis, rain has made the grass grow about an inch a day, and caused lawn mowers to blossom prematurely in the hands of home owners.

LACKING RAIN
But in New Mexico, they're complaining there isn't enough rain.

"Oy spring," as Emerson called it. Ever capricious, this year it's downright capricious.

Update New York this week had its heaviest May snowfall on record. And Pittsburgh's 3.1 inches set a record. There's still a glaze of snow on the ground in Sheridan, Wyo., and Kansas City on Thursday had one of the latest sleet storms in its history.

There's been almost a foot of snow since May 1 in one area of New Hampshire and George Hamilton, manager of a ski club there, says:

"We can, in all seriousness, expect good skiing into the middle of June."

BELOW NORMAL
Boston's May weather has been 4 1/2 degrees below normal, South Carolina's 15 degrees below normal for this week.

Update New York reports 8 degrees below the normal for the month, and Pennsylvania has clocked record lows for May. It's gotten as low as 15 above zero in Minnesota. South Dakota temperatures were 17 to 22 degrees below normal for three days this week.

The only explanation for the state of affairs comes from Joseph Hardin, chief meteorologist at the U.S. Weather Bureau.

2 Boys Playing
Under Box Hit by Car; One Killed

COVINA, Calif. (AP) — Robin Dukett, 9, and Chris Connolly, 8, tired of their normal toys when they saw a big, empty cardboard box.

The two boys ducked under the box and crawled from the nearby park onto a busy thoroughfare.

The driver of a car that struck the two boys Thursday, killing Robin and injuring Chris, told police that he thought the box was just being blown across the street by the wind.

He said he swerved, but was unable to avoid striking the box. The 17-year-old driver was not held.

Jane Takes Negative View of Her Stolen Exposures

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Jane Fonda was at Arthur the other morning with a hundred other celebrities observing the discotheque's first anniversary... and announced she's on the warpath against photographers who sneak into closed movie sets and take pictures of girls without any clothes on and then sell them to a Chicago magazine.

"I've served warning on 'Playboy' that the photographer was on the set illegally and this was an invasion of privacy," declared Miss Fonda heatedly.

Miss Fonda, who appeared topless in some scenes in a picture produced by her husband Roger Vadim, angrily added:

"I was doing scenes that were required for film. They were not intended for cheesecake for a magazine. I stipulated in my contract that the set should be closed."

Jane's good friend, Bobby Latz, the actors' representative, said the way to curb this alleged invasion of feminine privacy is to publish a magazine called "He" with nude pictures of famous men.

"We could start with Hugh Hefner and Victor Lowmes of 'Playboy,' Sam Spiegel, Earl Wilson..." he said. That's when I stopped listening.

I'm not sure it's true but I heard that Aitty. Aaron Froesch had a good thing at the Arthur anniversary which was attended by Starman Douglas, Richard Chamberlain, Sybil and Jordan Christopher, Lee Remick, Leonard Bernstein, Mike Nichols, Lauren Bacall and Jason Roberts Jr. and a gal named "Tiger" Morse who wore a dress of 100 small light bulbs. She kept turning herself on and off.

Froesch had a ringside seat at all that noise. He would gallantly leap up and give his seat to new arrivals. After about 10 minutes of the din, they would give him anywhere from $10 to $50 to take his seat back.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL ... Ethel Merman's beau, travel exec Eric Palm, flew up from Mexico City to see her open in "Annie Get Your Gun" in Toronto... Sally Rand will be seductive again, doing her fan dance at a N.Y. theater May 23. (She's 62)... Baseball Buzz: Yankees to swap Pepitone and Lopez for a pitcher?

Elvis Presley gave Cadillac to a half dozen of his closest cronies... Woody Herman, touring Africa for the State Dept., had his clothes and instruments stolen... Ex-queen Soraya says she's sure she could be a film star, if she did a Hitchcock movie, a la Grace Kelly.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A local fellow denied his wife's complaint that his desk's a mess: "That's not true—I know exactly what everything is under!"

WISH IT WERE TRUE: It's middle age when your clothes no longer fit—and if you need the alterations.

REMEMBER QUOTE: "A wise man changes his mind sometimes, a fool never."

Both Leonard Pruett and his wife of Detroit were born on Friday the 13th but she says it doesn't bother them a bit. Well, not much, anyway.

Pruett, 43, says he's not superstitious. His wife says she's superstitious "just in small things: I don't walk under ladders and I especially don't like black cats to walk in front of me."

She was asked if she expected anything unusual to happen today, a Friday the 13th.

"No," she said, but added: "I keep saying that and now I'm beginning to worry a little. I guess I'd better knock on wood."

Graham Views Society's 'Bitter Fruits'

"The beastly, the rebellious youth, the price-rigging executive, the draft card burner, the widespread cheating in school, the professional bearded protester, the pregnant high school girl, the dope addict, the vandal, the bribed athlete, the criminal, and the spreading terror of LSD."

Those, says evangelist Billy Graham, are the "bitter fruits" of our society, evidence that "the security of America is not being threatened from abroad so much as it is being threatened by immorality at home."

Graham, addressing the American Bible Society's annual meeting yesterday in New York, urged a "return" to the Bible, saying it would change the nation's moral tone.

Comedian Wally Cox Files for Divorce

The on-again, off-again marriage of comedian Wally Cox and his wife, Milagros, is off again.

Cox, 41, filed suit in Los Angeles yesterday for divorce on grounds of cruelty. He asked for all community property and reasonable visiting rights with Lisa, 5, a daughter of 25-year-old Mrs. Cox by a previous marriage.

The couple married Oct. 19, 1963. Divorce plans were shelved earlier this year when they reconciled.

ADDRESSES DEMS — President Johnson is shown speaking to more than 6,000 diners who paid $100 a plate at a Democratic congressional campaign fund-raising dinner in Washington last night. He urged Democratic campaigners to tell the voters in the 1966 campaign "that America will persevere until peace comes to Viet Nam."

LBj Urges Dems: Tell Voters That U.S. Will Stay in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Keynoting a war-clouded congressional election campaign, President Johnson has urged Democratic contenders to tell the voters that America will stand with honor, courage and patience in Viet Nam.

And Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield added to that counsel a declaration that another Democratic Congress offers Americans the best hope for a reasonable and honorable peace in Southeast Asia.

80 Dominicans Club, Stone 2 Unarmed Yanks

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — A mob of about 80 Dominicans clubbed and stoned two unarmed U.S. paratroopers in downtown Santo Domingo yesterday, inflicting cuts and bruises but no serious wounds, it was reported today.

The Americans, with blood streaming from cuts on their faces, succeeded in escaping from the mob despite the refusal of a Dominican taxi driver to pick them up.

The attack was regarded as a token of growing hostility to the inter-American peace force which has policed Santo Domingo intermittently for more than a year. The force is made up largely of U.S. troops.

Peking Charge Denied

Justice Faces Perjury Charge

Royal Oak Twp. JP
Indicted on 5 Counts

Royal Oak Township Justice of the Peace Lonnie C. Cash was indicted by the Oakland County Grand Jury this morning, charged with five counts of perjury.

Cash, the only justice in the township, was arrested by Grand Jury investigating officers as he left his home at 10033 Giltner about 10:15 a.m. today.

Cash, an ordained minister, is accused of giving false testimony when he appeared before Grand Jury, Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt on April 5 of this year and in July, 1965.

According to investigators, Cash heads the congregation at the Highway Church.

Cash has been justice of the peace in the township since 1959.

The grand jury charges that Cash falsely denied:

- That he had ever suggested to a police officer that he shake down anyone engaged in illegal activities.

- That he had ever told anyone that there was money set aside for him by persons in the numbers racket.

- That he had ever given money to members of the township board to vote on a matter in which he had interest.

- That he had ever given money to Ernest Wilson, coordinator of the Royal Oak Township Police and Fire departments to initiate a program designed to increase the number of traffic tickets issued.

The grand jury alleges that Cash paid Wilson about $100 on two separate occasions under the agreement in which Wilson was to receive 50 cents for each ticket from Cash.

Finally, Cash is accused of falsely swearing that Michigan State Police Trooper John Aird consorted with a prostitute in his presence while in a scout car.

Eastern Junior High Competes

By PAT McCARTY

A picture of Abraham Lincoln is flashed on the screen.

"Now, for 20 points, what famous doctrine..."

BUZZZZ!! FLASH! SCREECH!!

With a breathless "Emancipation Proclamation," the blue team makes a forward spurt in the Eastern Junior High School "Social Studies Bowl."

The auditorium stage yesterday was adorned with scoreboards, flashing lights, a screen and six anxious youngsters.

SCHOOL TENSE

The atmosphere throughout the school was tense for the 30 minutes of competition.

Some pupils had gathered in the auditorium and others were tuned in to the event on the public address systems in their classrooms.

The final score was 340-210, blue team over the red.

Winners, who received wall plaques, were ninth grader Walter Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, G-5 Arcadia; eighth grader Anthony Thomas, son of Mr. Gertrude Thomas, 15 Parkhurst; and seventh grader Lynanne Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, 16 N. Astor.

Runners-up were ninth grader Kevin Dushane, son of Mr. and

Car Sales Drop Upsets Industry

DETROIT (AP) — Auto industry leaders showed concern today over early May reports that buyers purchased 15 per cent fewer cars than they did a year ago.

Many reasons were advanced for the sales decline. Some said it was the result of unfavorable publicity resulting from the auto safety hearings.

Others blamed it on the Viet Nam war which put into uniform thousands of potential young customers.

Others said it reflected the higher income tax deduction rates which went into effect May 1.

Still others said it was because of soft spots which developed in the nation's economy.

The unchallenged fact was that General Motors, Chrysler and American Motors sold fewer new cars May 1-10 than they did a year ago. Ford Motor Co. had a strong sales period as it set a new early May sales high.

MAJOR FIRMS
The four major auto firms reported yesterday they sold 192,429 cars May 1-10, about 35,000 behind last year.

GM auto sales were off 24 per cent, Chrysler was down 12.5 per cent and American Motors was off 27 per cent. Ford was up 15 per cent over the opening 10 days of May 1965.

The sales figures did little to cheer up auto sources who had hoped that a decline noted in April sales would be reversed quickly.

Nobody pushed the panic button but as one auto sales executive explained, "The bloom is off the auto sales market. We've had four good years but now we will have to get out and work and sell."

SAFETY ISSUES
Prior to release of the sales reports, much interest had been focused on the question of (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Red Plane Not Downed Over China--Yanks

USAF Claims MIG
Was Shot Down in North Viet Territory

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. Air Force today strongly denied Peking's charge that American fighters intruded into Red China to shoot down a Chinese plane.

The Air Force said one of its missile-firing F4C Phantoms brought down a Communist MIG17 over North Viet Nam 20 to 25 miles south of the Chinese border.

The deputy commander of the Air Force in Viet Nam indicated the Americans think the plane was North Vietnamese, not Chinese.

Red China's first acknowledgment of any plane losses in the Vietnamese war placed yesterday's air battle northeast of Makwan, 25 miles north of the border, in China's Yunnan province.

It called the incident "an act of war provocation" and said "the debt in blood owed by U.S. imperialism to the Chinese people must be cleared."

AERIAL BATTLE
An American spokesman said the aerial battle took place 105 to 115 miles northwest of Hanoi over the Red River Valley when three MIGs made firing passes with their wing can at two of three Phantoms.

Maj. Wilbur R. Dudley, 34, of Alamogordo, N. M., spotted a fourth MIG attacking an Air Force RB66 electronic jamming plane with the flight.

While his two wingmen maneuvered from the three other MIGs, Dudley fired two heat-seeking Sidewinder missiles at (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Cong Force Is Hit Hard by Marines

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines wiped out most of a Viet Cong force in South Viet Nam yesterday while government security forces reported a major blow against Viet Cong terrorists in Saigon.

They announced the arrest of 38 Communist commandos and said some of them were from cells responsible for bombings and machine gun raids in which 21 persons were killed and about 250 others wounded.

In fierce fighting 18 miles southwest of Da Nang, Leathernecks of the U.S. 3rd Marine Division reported killing 175 Viet Cong of a force of more than 200. The Marines seized a Communist training camp after a 19-hour battle.

The fighting began when 14 Leathernecks on patrol 17 miles southwest of Saigon strayed into the Viet Cong nest.

Though outnumbered 10 to 1, the Marines stood their ground. A relief force found two wounded survivors.

Total American casualties were described as light in one of the biggest fights between the Marines and the Viet Cong in recent months.

AIR SUPPORT
Heavy artillery and air support accounted for 120 Communist dead, a Marine spokesman said. The beleaguered patrol killed 39. All the Communist dead were confirmed by body count, the spokesman said.

U.S. Air Force and Navy planes flew 135 missions over North Viet Nam yesterday 48 more than the day before. The American planes flew more than 200 individuals sorties to approach the war's high for a single day of 200.

In the attacks on North Viet Nam, the Air Force claimed damage to 77 buildings in an army barracks area 86 miles northwest of Hanoi and damage to a large military building 58 miles northwest of the capital. Navy pilots concentrated on coastal targets, claiming destruction of a highway bridge and damage to 10 more, damage or destruction to six barges and eight military structures, destruction of 18 railway boxcars and silencing of two anti-aircraft sites.

350,000 to Take Draft Deferment Test Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some 350,000 to 400,000 college and graduate students will try to convince their draft boards tomorrow they would serve the nation better in the quiet of their classrooms than in the jungles of Viet Nam.

The persuader: A three-hour 150-question draft deferment test given at 1,200 colleges and universities in the 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Panama Canal Zone.

Even a smashing score is no guarantee that the student will be deferred for the school year that begins in the fall, but most draft boards are likely to put great stock in the results. For, as the head of a local draft board here put it, "We're doing everything possible to stimulate higher education."

The examinations, used from 1951 to 1963, were revised last March by Selective Service amid complaints by many leading educators that a class-standing yardstick alone was unfair to students in tougher colleges.

If the objective was to encourage the best talent to continue in higher education, they wondered aloud, how would this be served by drafting a low-ranked student attending a top college and deferring an inferior student who ranked near top of a second-rate school?

The test was supposed to overcome this unfairness, but it quickly generated a fresh round of criticism.

The chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., likened the examinations to "Hitler's twin-system of eugenics and education" and said they "should have a swastika on the top."

The gist of Powell's argument was that the test would penalize poorly schooled Negroes and other minority groups and thus "bring the history of racial discrimination full cycle."

About the time this week that Powell was blasting the examinations at a news conference in Washington, science Research Associates, a private agency giving the tests under a $1-million-plus government contract, was acknowledging in Chicago that there had been mixups in assigning students to test centers.

MICHIGAN MIXUP

Mrs. Glen McCarthy, acting director of information, did not know how many errors had been made. One was obvious: 31 Michigan students had been assigned to take the test at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, Mass.

Pay Hikes Granted for 4 County Posts

Recommendations by the Oakland County Board of Institutions for salary adjustments for two staff director positions at the County Sanatorium yesterday resulted in pay boosts for these positions as well as for two health department administrators.

The newly created personnel policies board of the County Board of Supervisors first approved a salary of $24,000 for a full-time chief of staff at the sanatorium.

Dr. L. G. Rowley holds the post. He previously had served in the same capacity on a part-time basis for $13,500 annually.

The personnel policies board also set a salary range of from $16,000 to $18,000 and is unfilled.

After setting adjustments for the sanatorium administrators, the personnel policies board raised the annual salaries of the county health department director and deputy director.

SALARY RAISED

The salary of Dr. Bernard Berman, director, was raised from $22,500 to $26,000 and deputy director Dr. Frank Condon was granted an increase from $18,500 to $22,000.

Dr. William Fidler, medical director at the sanatorium, was named a deputy director of the health department. There was no change in his $22,000 salary.

This leaves a vacancy for medical director at the sanatorium at the $22,000 salary range.

game show, the "Social Studies Bowl" came into being at Eastern in 1959. It was initiated by social studies teachers Ronald Kasher and Mrs. Ferdinand L. Jesse, now helping teacher for the school system.

Kasher and James Agee served as moderators and judges yesterday.

Used in staging the show were tape recordings, film strips, pictures and musical selections. Constructed in the school's woodshop in 1961, the electrical equipment is set up by Eastern's Projectionist Club.

Questions are based on class work and cover United States and Michigan history, geography, government and current events.

The four teams which entered the contest held their preliminary competition Tuesday and Wednesday.

Team members are selected by a panel of social studies teachers.

The annual program which requires intensive study on the part of those participating, also is aimed at creating school-wide interest in social studies.

Among youngsters in the audience, there was much lip-biting and edge-of-seat-sitting yesterday.

REST FOR WEARY—Two U.S. Marines, one with clothes torn from a long march through thickets and jungle, take a break today as their unit halts during an operation by the 3rd Marine Division in combination with

3 of 4 OCC Trustees Seek Reelection

Three Oakland County College trustees yesterday announced that they would seek reelection to the board and one revealed that he won't seek a new term.

Board Secretary Mrs. Lila R. Johnson and David W. Hackett have filed their petitions. Earl M. Anderson said he would file today.

Announcing last night that he would not seek a new term on the board was Frederick A. Chapman, a public relations executive with U.S. Rubber. He has accepted a transfer to the company's New York office.

The other two members of the six-member board previously announced their intent to seek reelection.

PUBLICITY DIRECTOR

She holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois with a major in personnel administration and is employed as editor and publicity director of the Women's City Club of Detroit.

Mrs. Johnson is author of a feature article dealing with community colleges which is scheduled for publication in a next September's Parent's Magazine.

Commenting on her candidacy for a six-year term, Mrs. Johnson said she would work toward further development of the vocational educational program at OCC.

"We must also plan for adequate facilities for the expected enrollment increase and particularly provide a facility in the southeast part of the county," Mrs. Johnson said.

HACKETT

Hackett, 42, of 1380 Ruby, Avon Township, has filed for one of the two-year terms on the board.

Employed as a telephone technician, Hackett is a graduate of the University of Detroit. He is married and the father of seven children.

Hackett is a former member of the Avondale Board of Education and past president of the Rochester Area Good Literature Council. He serves on the vestry of St. Philip's Episcopal Church in Rochester.

"I intend to work in the direction of lowering tuition until student expenditures for a community college education are abolished entirely," Hackett said.

WORTHWHILE GOAL

"This can't be accomplished overnight but it is a worthwhile goal," he added. Hackett noted that California junior colleges no longer require tuition payments.

Anderson, 52, of 30159 Palmer, Madison Heights, is married and the father of two children. He seeks a four-year term.

MADISON HEIGHTS

A high school graduate with two years of college, Anderson was elected to the Madison Heights Charter Commission in 1955 and served one year.

He is a former employee of the Michigan ANDERSON AFL-CIO and presently is unemployed.

A strong advocate of vocational education, Anderson said that he intends to work toward development of the 80-course vocational program which the college has set as a goal.

"I consider it a great honor to serve as an OCC trustee," Anderson said.

"There is much more to be done and I would like to have the chance to further the great opportunity the college is offering to both youth and adults," he added.

WILL SERVE OUT TERM

In announcing that he would not seek reelection, Chapman said that he would serve out the current term which ends next month before moving to the New York area in July.

"It is with regret that I will terminate my association with OCC," he said.

Deadline for filing petitions for the June 13 election was 4 p.m. today.

All six trusteeships are at stake including two 2-year terms, two 4-year terms and two 6-year terms.

Hunted Ex-Convicts Caught in Illinois

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—Three Michigan lawmen have been sent to Evanston, Ill., to question two ex-convicts in connection with the gangland-type slaying of Gary Grayvold.

Macomb County Sheriff Lester Altmast said one of his men, a State Police detective and an assistant prosecuting attorney left today for Evanston.

Altmast said Illinois police notified him that Harry Whitney and Danta Ferrazza were arrested about 10 minutes after a supermarket was held up Thursday. The two were held on charges of armed robbery at Evanston.

The sheriff said the two men indicated they would fight extradition.

Michigan officials have issued warrants against the two in the slaying of Grayvold, whose nude body, weighted with two slabs of concrete, was found in Stony Creek Lake near Ulica last week.

Detectives yesterday said they located a witness who said he saw Grayvold struggling with two men, one of whom was holding a gun, on April 11, the night he disappeared.

Police said earlier they were investigating a possibility the slaying of Grayvold might have been connected with multiple holdup-killings at Detroit bars on Feb. 23 and April 20.

Grayvold had frequented bars in the area, officers said, and some victims in the bar slayings were bound with electrical wire.

Grayvold was tied with electrical wire in such a way that his struggle to free himself strangled him. His body was found in the lake last Friday.

County Health Official Elected to State Post

Henry Costantino, director of administration for the Oakland County Health Department, yesterday was elected to the board of directors of the Michigan Public Health Association. The organization's 45th annual conference was held Tuesday through yesterday in Detroit.

Birmingham Area News $97,000 Federal Grant OK'd for School District

BIRMINGHAM — Dr. John B. Smith, superintendent of schools, announced today that the school district had been approved for a federal grant of $97,000 under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

The money is to be used for an intensive summer school program for 407 pupils now in grades four through 11 who need special help in reading or mathematics.

The allocation of funds was based on U.S. Office of Education guidelines which use 1960 census data to make nationwide allotments, according to Smith.

He also stated that services under the act are available to both public and private school pupils under certain conditions in proportion to enrollment.

The 4-11 grade levels, were selected because pupils in them had not had as much opportunity to benefit from special and remedial services as children in lower grades, Smith said.

BUS SERVICE

Bus service will be provided on a limited basis for pupils who live outside the Birmingham city limits. Participation in the Federal programs is free for the students.

Public and private school principals will soon be contacting parents of eligible pupils to inform them of the opportunity and to determine if they desire to take advantage of it.

The program will operate from June 27 through Aug. 5 in Barnum Junior High School.

Several members of the superintendent's staff were involved in the planning of the program. They were aided by officials of private schools and the Oakland County Office of Economic Opportunity.

Waterford Township and Pontiac clerks' offices will remain open until 8 p.m. Monday.

School officials in Pontiac and Waterford also issued a reminder that tomorrow is the last day for filing nominating petitions for the two board of education posts to be filled in each election.

Prospective candidates for the four-year terms can file nominating petitions up to 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Nominating petitions for Waterford Township must be filed at the board of education offices at 3101 W. Walton.

the fourth. The second missile scored from about 1 1/4 miles.

The Communist jet exploded and was spotted by Dudley's wingmen spinning out of control to the ground.

MIGs FLEE

The other MIGs fled and the four American planes returned safely. Dudley's crewman was 1st Lt. Imantes Kringslis, 23, of Lake Zurich, Ill.

It was the 12th MIG reported shot down in the war.

The spokesman said 1 American pilots did not see the markings on the enemy jets.

After previous encounters U.S. officials said they believed the Red jets were North Vietnamese, although this was never expressed with absolute certainty.

SIMILAR MARKINGS

North Vietnamese and Chinese aircraft markings are strikingly similar and would be difficult to distinguish at the supersonic speeds involved.

Maj. Gen. Gilbert L. Meyers, deputy U.S. Air Force commander in Viet Nam, cast doubt on speculation that the Chinese had decided to commit their planes to the war.

"We have no evidence that the Chinese have come in," he told newsmen at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airbase.

Meyers also said it was "inconceivable" that the Phantoms could have strayed into China yesterday because they were with an RB68. The plane carries a highly experienced navigator and advanced radar and electronic gear.

County Office of Economic Opportunity

Walter Piel, Administrative Assistant, coordinated the planning and processed the application.

A meeting of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Committee on Open Occupancy will be held at the Congregational Church of Birmingham, Woodward and Cranbrook, at 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

Committee chairman John C. Palms said three points will be discussed:

- Encouraging political parties and candidates to support legislation in favor of fair housing.
- Presentation of a plan for visiting builders.
- An escort system for minority buyers who want to see homes listed by real estate brokers.

School Vote Deadline Is Set Monday

Monday is the final day for unregistered voters in the Pontiac and Waterford Township School Districts to register to vote in the June 13 school election, according to school officials.

Persons who haven't voted or registered in the last two years, or have moved into the school district without registering, must register with their respective city or township clerks by closing time Monday.

The Waterford Township and Pontiac clerks' offices will remain open until 8 p.m. Monday.

School officials in Pontiac and Waterford also issued a reminder that tomorrow is the last day for filing nominating petitions for the two board of education posts to be filled in each election.

Prospective candidates for the four-year terms can file nominating petitions up to 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Nominating petitions for Waterford Township must be filed at the board of education offices at 3101 W. Walton.

the head table by Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, listened, sipped water, puff cigarettes and applauded politely when the President was through.

"I'm delighted to be here tonight with my very old friends as well as some members of the Foreign Relations Committee," Johnson said with a glance toward Fulbright. "You can say one thing about those hearings, although I don't think this is the place to say it."

A round of hearings before Fulbright's committee has produced a stream of critical senatorial comments about Johnson's Viet Nam stance.

Mixed in with the criticism have been comments backing U.S. policy.

For his part, Mansfield sought a peace-maker's role. He acknowledged that Democrats differ on Viet Nam, but said they disagree on any major issue, and in the end, this always has strengthened the party.

LANSING (AP) — The Secretary of State's office told Rep. Edward Michalski Thursday he must show his car was insured at the time of a collision last Monday or else pay the $35 uninsured motorist fee.

In a letter to the Detroit Democrat, the office told him he had four days to prove insurance or pay the fee before his auto registration and license plates would be revoked.

Michalski said Wednesday he had 12 points on his driving record and no insurance on his car when his auto collided with two vehicles on a Detroit freeway Monday. He told a newsman his insurance had been canceled about a month ago.

Michalski said he did not notify the secretary of state and pay the $35 fee because "I was negotiating for other coverage."

FUND OFFICER

The letter to Michalski was signed by Lawrence Carroll, administrative officer of the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund.

Carroll cited the 1965 uninsured motorists law: "Upon the cancellation or lapse of a motor vehicle liability insurance policy... the owner of such automobile shall pay the uninsured motor vehicle fee... or obtain insurance before operating the vehicle upon the highways of this state. Failure to do so constitutes a misdemeanor."

Detroit police ticketed Michalski for careless driving in the accident. The legislator is scheduled to appear in Detroit Traffic Court June 7.

The police report says Michalski tried to drive between two stopped vehicles and hit both of them. Michalski told newsmen one of the cars turned into his path, and he swerved in an effort to avoid it, striking the other car.

Carroll wrote to Michalski that a copy of the letter would be sent to the Wayne County prosecutor.

Apollo-Like Tests Set

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

During their three-day flight starting Tuesday, the Gemini 9 astronauts plan to execute three space rendezvous maneuvers similar to those that might have to be made on Project Apollo man-to-the-moon trips.

The maneuvers "will be closer to what an Apollo rendezvous will be than was the case with Gemini 8," said Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford, Gemini 9 command pilot.

Riding with him will be Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan. Their first major task will be to pursue an Agena target satellite across the skies, catching it in four hours over the western Pacific during the third orbit.

SIMILARITY

The time and maneuvers involved are similar to those planned for two astronauts in a Lunar Excursion Module (LEM) to rejoin the Apollo command ship after they launch themselves from the moon. While they are on the surface, a third astronaut circles the moon in the main ship.

The Gemini 8 pilots required four orbits to catch their Agena. Stafford and Cernan will reduce the time by one orbit by making a major maneuver seconds after their Titan 2 rocket inserts them into orbit.

Stafford will fire the space-war jet thrustors to adjust the high point of his orbital path so it is 168 miles, or precisely 17 miles below the path of the Agena.

Gemini 8 did not make this height adjustment move until after one circuit of the globe. The remaining three major maneuvers each then will occur one orbit earlier than they did on the Gemini 8 flight.

EARLIER START

Also, Gemini 9 will be launched about two minutes earlier than Gemini 8. That means the Agena will only have a 700-mile head start instead of a 1,200-mile lead.

The other two rendezvous attempts are scheduled for the third day, after Cernan has taken a space walk and the pilots have maneuvered by firing the Agena engine while docked.

The second will be attempted without the use of radar and the third will simulate the Apollo command ship descending to pick up the Lunar Excursion Module in case the LEM cannot make it down to the moon's surface and is unable to come all the way back up to the main ship.

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Members of two construction trades unions, one already on strike, have voted to reject contract offers by general contractors in a 13-county Northern Michigan area.

Striking Local 1247, Laborers International Union of North America, voted 53-11 Thursday in turning down a three-year contract offering an 87-cent package increase.

Dick Barrett, business manager, said the union turnout was the result of hurried calls to members following negotiations Wednesday with representatives of individual area contractors. He said the local represents some 200 members who seek a package increase of $1.07 over the contract's life.

Barrett said base pay for the striking local prior to the April 30 expiration of its former contract was $2.70 per hour. He said he was trying to set up a negotiating meeting Monday with two major contractors.

114 TO 98

A spokesman for the AFL-Carpenters Union, Northwestern Michigan Council, said members voted 114 to 98 Wednesday night to reject a two-year contract with individual contractors in a five-county area. "The council represents locals in Alpena, Cadillac, Cheboygan, Petoskey and Traverse City."

Ray Smith, business manager for the Traverse City local, said members had not yet taken a strike vote "but we're respecting picket lines." The carpenters' contract expired May 1. "We've informed contractors that we are ready to meet at any time," said Smith.

Casey to Wear No. 37 as 'Manager' Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel will haul his familiar No. 37 uniform out of mothballs and become a manager for an evening again here July 30. The New York Mets said Thursday that Stengel will be the No. 1 honored guest in the team's annual old timers game preceding the regular night game with Leo Durocher's Chicago Cubs.

It is also Casey's 76th birthday. "This will mark the first time Casey has had on his uniform since he suffered a hip injury July 24th last year," a Met spokesman said.

50 ALL STARS
The Old Timers game will be built around the theme of the 1950 baseball All-Star game, the first of 10 in which Stengel was manager. In that particular game, Casey handled the American Leaguers, losing a 14-inning marathon to the National League 4-3.

Players who participated will be invited to attend the affair which will manage the American Leaguers again.

From the list who participated in the All-Star game 16 years ago, six became managers. They included Gil Hodges, Eddie Stanky, Dick Sisler, Marty Marion, Red Schoendienst and Yogi Berra.

Robin Roberts, who pitched for the National Leaguers then as star of the Phillies, is still active, pitching for the Houston Astros.

Others to be invited to the Shea Stadium party for Stengel are Willie Jones, Ralph Kiner, Roy Campanella, Stan Musial, Phil Rizzuto, George Kelly and Larry Doby, who played the entire 14 innings of the longest All-Star game in history.

Stengel, who managed New York Yankee championship teams before going to the Mets, retired at the end of last season, and was replaced by Wes Westrum.

Table Tennis Title to Perc Secord

Long-time Pontiac table tennis standout Perc Secord won the state YMCA open championship Wednesday night at Traverse City Junior High School gymnasium.

Secord, a barber, rallied to beat defending champion Brad Wigman of the host city, 2-1, 21-14, 21-14, 21-17, in the final match.

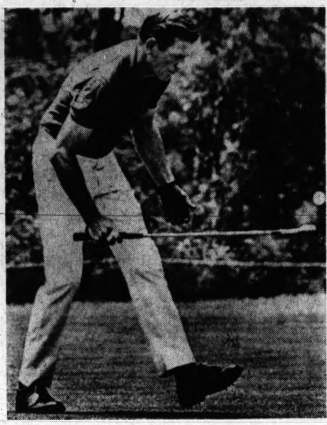

He opened his title quest by spilling Muskegon city champ Ron Springfield, 21-18, 21-12, 21-19. Secord then defeated three more opponents before reaching the title round.

The veteran city competitor teamed with Bill Ott of Pontiac to take the state YMCA doubles crown in 1942.

Ex-Yankee Hurler Socked in Carryover of Melee

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Pitcher Jim Coates of the Seattle Angels said he was assaulted Thursday in a hotel lobby in a carryover of bat-wielding violence that erupted during a Seattle-Vancouver Pacific Coast League game Wednesday night.

Coates, the winning pitcher in Seattle's 3-2 victory, said his assailant was a member of the Vancouver team. The 33-year-old former New York Yankee said he was hit in the face but was not seriously hurt.

The right-hander said he would press charges against his assailant.

FIGHT IN GAME

The fight broke out in the fourth inning of the game when Coates hit Vancouver outfielder Ricardo Joseph on the shoulder with a fast ball. When Joseph advanced on Coates, Seattle catcher Merritt Ranew knocked Joseph down.

Then Ranew was felled by a blow on the head by a bat wielded by Vancouver's Santiago Rosario. Ranew was hospitalized with concussion and a four-inch cut on his scalp.

Five at New Orleans Tied for Lead at 68

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Big Jack Nicklaus got off to a ragged start, turned in a wild round, but carded a four-under-par 68 Thursday for a share of the first round lead in the $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament with Tony Lema, Frank Beard, Bob Goaly and Charles Coody.

"I didn't play well, but it's very difficult to explain about a 68," said the two-time Masters champion. He immediately headed for the practice tee. Nicklaus toured the first nine holes of the 7,800-yard Lakeview Country Club course, which plays at a par of 36-36, in 37. He charged home with a blaze of birdies for a 31.

PLAUGED

Lema, who has been plagued with a sore elbow, carded a 35-35. He had four birdies and 14 pars. "The closest I came to a bogey was on No. 6, when I was off the green, but I chipped 2 1/2 feet from the pin and sunk it for a par," said Lema. "I missed some good birdie chances, but this is probably the best round I've played in six months."

Springtime Is Catalog Time

Springtime is blossom time at nurseries. Many different types of flowering shrubs and trees are in flower for home owners to select the plants which they like best for their home properties.

Springtime is also catalog time, when plants are colorfully illustrated for the convenience of home owners to choose what they want.

The selections are wider than ever before.

At this time of the year home owners look to the outdoors, not only glad to be out in the fresh air, but eager to plant and beautify for the summer months.

It is the time to plan for a shade tree, or for remodeling overgrown landscaping. It is the time for planning perennials, roses, as well as shrubs and trees, according to one's choice.

Millions of solid Americans, get outdoors to plant and beautify their properties during the spring.

Many feel that it's the most beautiful time of the year, pleasing and healthy for the whole family.

The sun feels doubly satisfying after the winter months, warm and cozy.

Demand for plants and trees should surpass all previous records, it is reported.

Floral Groupings
in Picture Lessons

Beautifully illustrated is "ABC in Flower Arranging," by Julia Clements which takes you step by step through floral designs, identifying flowers and plants used. It is easy to follow the picture lessons.

One section suggests, with photographs, interesting plants for decoration.

For those fascinated by the Japanese school, there is "Japanese Free Style Arrangement," by Lee Early Quinn (D. Van Nostrand) who offers simple guide lines.

The author says patterns and rules have no place in this type of work. She encourages arrangers to design in the light of their own experience, perception and vision.

Why keep him off the lawn?

After all, a lawn is to enjoy. This is why you should know about Agrico Grass Food. Most people think a fertilizer just greens grass. Fact is, many fertilizers do little more. But Agrico Grass Food is different. Agrico contains a special combination of ingredients that not only greens your grass, but more important, enriches your soil. Only nutrient-rich soil can adequately feed a grass plant and its root system.

Agrico Grass Food produces thick, hardy lawns that can resist wear and tear by kids and cookouts. Agrico is used almost exclusively by professional grass growers—golf course superintendents, landscape gardeners, nurserymen and sod growers. They rely on Agrico because it builds thick, vigorous turf that withstands rough treatment. A $4.95 bag of Agrico Grass Food enriches 5300 sq. ft. of grass and soil. This season, apply Agrico Grass Food. And throw away your "Keep-off-the-grass" signs.

In Your Outdoor Living Room

Provide the Illusion of Privacy

The room divider idea is going outdoors, especially where one wants an enclosure that is really not an enclosure.

Structural forms can provide that illusion of beauty, without creating a permanent barrier. It is a trend that Americans now accept — something that seems to serve no practical purpose but is an asset where it is used.

A cultural age that feels deprived if it doesn't have handsome statuary and specimen boxwood in the garden can accept intriguing substitutes.

But if one feels that only a wall can provide enclosure, the new design idea will offer little appeal.

DESIGN FORMS
You can design your own forms, once you get the general idea, and the home handyman can do the project with hand tools, although an electric saw and drill will be helpful.

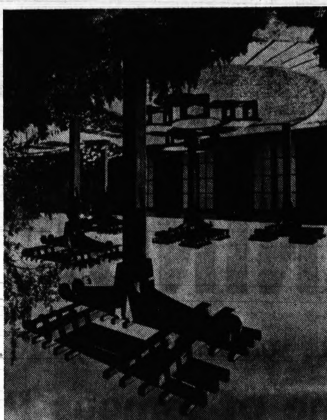

Make your forms tall or short, wide or skinny. Sketch the idea on paper before you begin.

Interesting redwood structures designed by landscape artist, Richard G. Murray of Carmel, Calif., might at first glance look like fancy telephone poles.

They comprise a series of crossbeams and grids set on top of a single beam and two stylized cross beams comprising a 6 foot by 4 foot area.

He designed them to be used either as a design element independently or to complement each other when used in groups.

They may be set far apart used at an entry or close together as a patio divider or in a row as a walk esplanade. Murray's structural forms are built of Simpson's kiln-dried California redwood.

OUTDOOR PRIVACY — Redwood 'dividers' can be used to frame an entry, as a patio divider or in a row to indicate a walkway.

Here are the step-by-step directions. Vary the idea to suit your own taste.

Dig a 26-inch deep hole for 6-inch by 6-inch by 10 foot redwood post. (An extra six inches deep filled in with gravel can facilitate better drainage.) Set posts in concrete.

Now — cut and taper two 2-inch by 10-inch by 6 foot stylized redwood beams.

Pre-drill two holes on either side of the beams that will be attached to the post using 1/2 inch by 10 inch black iron bolts and nuts.

You cut four braces from excess in the 2 inch by 10 inch beam and toe-nail two to each side of the beam.

Now you nail four 4 inch by 4 inch by 4 foot redwood joists in place, two on each side placed widthwise.

Indent 10 inches and place six inches apart leaving 24 inches between the two sets of joists.

SUPPORT RAILS

Nail six 2 inch by 3 inch by 8 foot redwood grid support rails over the joists lengthwise.

Indent four inches from joist tips and place three on each side four inches apart with twelve inches between the sets.

Put twenty 2 inch by 2 inch by 18 inch redwood top grids

on to the support rails in four sets of five: Indent each set three inches from tip of support rails with each four inches apart and 15 inches between each set of two along the length.

Use galvanized or aluminum nails.

If the redwood is left natural it will turn a dark russet color and eventually turn to a soft silvery gray as it ages.

But it can be stained, painted or finished with a clear water repellent sealer, if one prefers.

Design Has Greenhouse, Tool Storage

The home gardener will find a fresh design combining a greenhouse, tool storage shed and workshop to his liking. A plan showing its construction is available free.

In the front, open section is the workshop with a sturdy shelf for work on potted plants and other chores.

The greenhouse section is under glass at the back.

Storage space is in two sections — one with a side entrance for lawnmowers, rollers and wheelbarrows, and the other lined with perforated board, accessible from the workshop.

Lumber and hardware are used in the construction. This hardwood has great strength, dent and weather resistance. It holds paint longer than wood.

For a copy of free plan AE-103, write a postcard to the Home Service Bureau, Box B, Chicago, Ill. 60609.

Watering System
Useful for Lawns

Survival of new lawn seedlings can be better assured by installation of an underground watering system. This is becoming practical for the average home, now that there is on the market a do-it-yourself plastic system.

The plastic pipe with sprinkler heads attached is laid out on the lawn before being buried, so that spray pattern can be checked. It is choked up to a regular outdoor faucet, and is activated by a time clock which automatically turns the sprinklers on and off according to a determinable sequence.

Such a watering system is especially useful for bentgrass turfs. But even with the more drought-resistant Kentucky bluegrasses (including Park, Merion) and the fine fescues (Chewings, Illabe, Pennlawn) you have control of one more environmental factor that can easily spell disaster, especially should drought occur the first year.

Apple Trees Slow

If you wonder why so few new varieties of apples appear on the market consider: There is a minimum waiting period of 10 years before a population of seedlings has fruited and can be evaluated.

To have an adequate breeding program, nearly 8,000 seedlings must be planted annually, 700 trees to an acre.

From the seedlings, fewer than 10 plants per 1,000 usually are worth propagation for further observation. Of these few, only two or three in a hundred may be introduced for commercial testing.

SMALL RETURN
This means there may be one to three good prospects from 10,000 seedlings.

The New York State Agricultural Experiment Station has produced 67,000 seedlings since 1945.

Three varieties, Wayne, Splendored and Monroe, promise to be of real value, researchers say. Dr. John Einset, head pomologist, said the present world apple industry was based on varieties that originated in the 18th and 19th Centuries as chance wild seedlings.

The experts urged development of new varieties because technological advances with existing varieties eventually would reach a saturation point.

Rotary Mowers

Replace Sheep

Lawn mowers have changed a lot since the late 18th century when sheep were used to crop the spacious turf areas around Washington's Mount Vernon, Jefferson's Monticello and the stately homes of England.

Today's whirlwind rotary mowers do more than just mow the lawn: they also pick up and bag grass clippings, leaves twigs and other debris and trim around walks and drives.

Market Staggers Downward

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staggered downward again in heavy trading early today.

The ticker tape ran late as key stocks took losses ranging from about 3 points.

GM opened on a block of 33,000 shares, down 1 1/4 to a new low of 83c.

Chrysler expanded a fractional loss at the opening to a fraction of a point. Ford lost a fraction.

Brokers ascribed the pessimistic mood to reports early that May car sales were 15.4 cent below a year ago.

Losses of around 3 points were taken by United Aircraft, Eastern Air Lines, Magnavox, North-west Airlines, Motorola and Burroughs.

Chicago & North Western common fell 5 points and its preferred about the same.

Off about 2 were Boeing, Anaconda, Polaroid and Pennsylvania Railroad.

The industrial average took a substantial loss as selling mushroomed.

Down a point or so were Jones & Laughlin, Douglas Aircraft, Raytheon, Kennecott, Union Carbide, General Electric, Pfizer and U.S. Smelting.

Consolidated Edison and a number of other blue chips held firm.

Thursday the Associated Press Average of 89 Stocks fell 3.6 to 324.4, a new low for the year.

Group Supports Draft Policy of Chicago U.

CHICAGO (UPI)—University of Chicago students today began a counterdemonstration against a ban of $39 to 400 youths who seized control of the university's administration building in protest against the school's draft policies.

A group called the "Ad Hoc Committee on a Free Choice" claimed it had 400 signatures on a petition supporting the university's decision to give a student's grades and class rankings to draft boards if the student consents.

Business Notes

AP Business News Analysis
NEW YORK—Rising prices and pressure for still more—continue on a wide front in the economy.

Without government intervention, other increases would be announced, company executives indicate.

Many of today's markups in price tags come as an aftermath to earlier hikes on materials or wages.

Steel executives warn that more price increases in that industry should come sooner or later, even if Washington still objects.

Copper prices are under continuing pressure, but held down by U.S. government maneuvers in the export-import markets, as well as by persuasion at home and promises to the domestic copper industry of reasonable profits even if it involves a form of subsidy.

A rise of about 5 percent in soft coal prices is in the works, industry spokesmen say, largely because of increased labor costs from the April contract with the United Mine Workers Union.

They expect the price hike to stick because of the rising demand for coal for power.

Biggest customer for coal is the utility industry. More than half of the nation's electrical power is based on coal. And utility rate schedules may be affected.

Builder's Materials
Builders are on notice that a number of construction materials are still on the rising price trend. Latest is a boost in gypsum board.

Harried purchasing agents have one consolation at least. The price of lead has dropped by a cent a pound. The U.S. government is selling some of its surplus at the new and lower price of 14 1/2 cents a pound.

Leslie Doughty now is sole owner of the Service Plumbing and Heating Co., which has moved from 375 Auburn to 429 Orchard Lake.

Other new officers include: William J. Sweet, 3065 Dill, Waterford Township, vice president; William J. Sweet, 3065 Dill, Waterford Township, secretary; and Walter Grogan, 4730 Clarkston, Independence Township, treasurer.

AP Business News Analysis
NEW YORK—Rising prices and pressure for still more—continue on a wide front in the economy.

Without government intervention, other increases would be announced, company executives indicate.

Many of today's markups in price tags come as an aftermath to earlier hikes on materials or wages.

Steel executives warn that more price increases in that industry should come sooner or later, even if Washington still objects.

Copper prices are under continuing pressure, but held down by U.S. government maneuvers in the export-import markets, as well as by persuasion at home and promises to the domestic copper industry of reasonable profits even if it involves a form of subsidy.

A rise of about 5 percent in soft coal prices is in the works, industry spokesmen say, largely because of increased labor costs from the April contract with the United Mine Workers Union.

They expect the price hike to stick because of the rising demand for coal for power.

Biggest customer for coal is the utility industry. More than half of the nation's electrical power is based on coal. And utility rate schedules may be affected.

Builder's Materials
Builders are on notice that a number of construction materials are still on the rising price trend. Latest is a boost in gypsum board.

Harried purchasing agents have one consolation at least. The price of lead has dropped by a cent a pound. The U.S. government is selling some of its surplus at the new and lower price of 14 1/2 cents a pound.

Leslie Doughty now is sole owner of the Service Plumbing and Heating Co., which has moved from 375 Auburn to 429 Orchard Lake.

Doughty has purchased the interest of his former partner, Robert Evin.
