Vehicle Boasts Bigger Capacity, Optional Axle

A new intercity coach with expanded passenger capacity, more baggage space and a unique retractable third axle that broadens its operating versatility was unveiled today by GMC Truck and Coach Division.

In introducing the new vehicle, Martin J. Caserio, a vice president of General Motors and divisional general manager, said the bus is 40 feet long, seats 49 passengers and boasts more than 400 cubic feet of storage area. Production is scheduled for early 1968.

"This coach was developed to meet a critical need for more passenger and package express capacity for both charter bus service as well as intercity line transportation," Caserio said.

"Despite the vehicle's greater size," its auxiliary rear axle assembly permits it to operate in states which otherwise would forbid its usage because of low weight restrictions."

The optional axle can be activated or retracted by merely pushing a button on the instrument panel.

8 MORE SEATS

The coach has eight more seats than previous GMC models and nearly 50 per cent more baggage space than any intercity bus in use today.

Advanced features include higher-output electrical and air-conditioning systems, and additional running lights and reflectors that conform to new federal safety standards.

The electrical system is stepped up to 24 volts. This supplies extra power for increasing use of radios, public address systems, taped music, plus increased lighting and bigger air distribution blowers.

Output of the air-conditioning system is boosted to provide greater cooling in the driver's area and forward passenger seats. Conditioned air flows into this area from an evaporator mounted under the dash.

ADDITIONAL LIGHTS

In keeping with safety regulations, additional lights, and reflectors are mounted midway along both sides of the body. The coach also has back up lights and new nonflare interior driver compartment features.

Even though the new bus is five feet longer than current GMC models, there is a high degree of parts interchangeability between the two. Both 40- and 35-foot coaches can be maintained efficiently with the same shop tools and procedures.

The vehicle is powered by a 275-horsepower V8 Detroit Diesel engine.

Caserio spoke today before a gathering of members of Pontiac's major civic and service clubs.

Caserio spoke on Pontiac and the relationship of the GM plant to the city at Pontiac Elks Temple, 114 Orchard Lake.

24-Hour Strike at Pontiac Div.

About 20,000 workers in Pontiac auto plants were idle today because of a 24-hour strike called by UAW Local 653 at Pontiac Motor Division.

Added to the three shifts totaling 16,000 workers at Pontiac Motor, some 4,000 workers at Fisher Body were idled because the two plants' operations coincide. The GMC Truck and Coach plant reportedly is not affected by the strike.

All workers are expected to report for work tomorrow, according to union and company officials, the Pontiac Motor midnight shift at 12:01 tonight and the regular morning shift at Fisher Body.

Local 653 spokesmen said the strike was called to protest "lack of settlement on past and present grievances plus local working conditions."

A Pontiac Motor spokesman today said, "We regret the union's ill-advised and unnecessary action over these issues, which can be satisfactorily resolved at the bargaining table."

LOSE DAY'S WAGES

The spokesman also said, "The local union advised us in a short local negotiation meeting Thursday morning that it was calling a one-day strike for all Thursday shifts causing approximately 16,000 of our hourly employees to lose a day's work and wages."

"The union spoke of approximately one dozen complaint areas, including the lack of bargaining, as the cause."

"We have continually tried to increase the frequency of negotiation sessions including meeting through Tuesday and

Apollo Soars to Brink of Moon Trip

From Our Wire Services

CAPE KENNEDY — The mighty Saturn 5 Rocket, in a triumphant maiden flight, thundered perfectly into orbit today, then shot its unmanned Apollo capsule deep into space to prove it could go to the Moon and come back.

When the 114-foot satellite crossed the east coast of the U.S. for the second time, at 10:11 a.m. EST, the third-stage engine burst into life for the second time to push the Apollo into deep orbit.

"Apollo is on the way to the Moon," said Maj. Gen. Sam Phillips, Apollo program director.

The Apollo capsule was scheduled to smash back into the earth's atmosphere at 25,000 miles-per hour, then parachute into the Pacific at 3:41 p.m. EST.

Phillips said recovery would be a challenge because winds were gusting to 30 miles an hour and seas were rough in the planned landing zone.

With its engines generating the combined power of more than 500 jet fighter planes, the Saturn 5 thundered into the sky at 7 a.m. EST in the most spectacular launching in the 17-year history of Cape Kennedy.

Total weight of the orbiting vehicle was 280,036 pounds.

Previous record-holder was another Apollo craft and rocket stage which weighed 58,537 pounds, launched in 1966.

Heaviest payload orbited by the Russians was the 26,900-pound Proton 2 satellite launched in 1965.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration acknowledged this all-up concept on the first launching of such a complex machine entailed considerable risk. Few thought the rocket would perform as well as it did.

But the 140-ton orbiting vehicle is proof that America's lagging man-to-the-moon program has received a shot in the arm.

The Space Agency has been under heavy pressure since three astronauts were killed in the Apollo 1 fire last January.

UAW, Chrysler Tentatively Agree as Wildcat Strike Hobbles Output

DETROIT — Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers union, after 24 consecutive hours of bargaining, have a tentative agreement today on a contract covering 95,000 of the company's 103,000 UAW members.

Despite the agreement, some workers were on walkout that hobbled Chrysler output.

Negotiators were too weary last night to continue bargaining on contract provisions covering 8,000 salaried workers the UAW represents at Chrysler, but spokesmen said they hoped to have these problems solved by the weekend.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther called it "the best agreement we've ever had" — even bigger than the estimated 6 per cent gains the union got at Ford two weeks ago to end a 46-day strike.

Almost identical to the Ford pact, the Chrysler contract provides wage and fringe benefit gains of more than $1 an hour, with some wage gains alone amounting to 93 cents an hour over the three-year life of the pact.

WAGE PARITY

The union also achieved at Chrysler the only major demand it failed to win

at Ford — pay parity for Canadians, who, by mid-1970, will be paid the same amount per job as their American counterparts.

The Chrysler accord came less than four hours before a Wednesday midnight strike deadline, which the UAW immediately dissolved. But by then Chrysler plants employing 35,000 were out of action because of walkouts by workers who jumped the gun on the strike deadline.

The corporation's car production sagged by 64 per cent and truck output was completely stopped by the walkouts, which lingered on today.

"We expect the next two or three days to be less than normal," Reuther conceded at a news conference when asked how soon full operations might be resumed at Chrysler.

UNSOLVED ISSUES

Reuther said he hoped the issues related to salaried UAW members could be resolved by the weekend, but a union source said yesterday's talks had included some sharp exchanges between the bargaining teams handling these matters. A new strike deadline will be set for these issues, he said.

Poverty Funds Cut Will Court Disaster, Say Rights Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil rights leaders say Congress will be inviting a national disaster if it does not continue the anti-poverty program with adequate funding.

The warning came as the House began consideration Wednesday of amendments to a bill that would authorize the Office of Economic Opportunity to carry on the program for two more years.

A group of religious leaders also endorsed the bill, calling for its passage on moral grounds.

With many members planning an early departure from the Capitol to attend Veterans Day ceremonies, no key votes are expected before next week.

A joint statement by the civil rights leaders said Congress made a commitment to help the poor when it passed the Economic Opportunity Act in 1964. "We give solemn warning now that to break the national promise of three years ago would be to invite national disaster," they said.

Among those signing the statement were A. Philip Randolph, Whitney Young Jr., Roy Wilkins and Clarence Mitchell, heads of individual organizations who have banded together in the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights.

The Interreligious Committee Against Poverty said in a statement that "strong, well-funded anti-poverty legislation which assures maximum initiative of and self-determination by the poor, especially at the neighborhood level, will be the best insurance for the realization of justice for all persons in our society."

Signers of this statement included the Most Rev. Robert E. Lucey, Roman Catholic archbishop of San Antonio, Tex.; Louis Stern, president of the National Jewish Welfare Board; and Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of the National Council of Churches.

Eban said that, because of its provisions for withdrawal, and Indian resolution aimed at promoting a settlement was unacceptable. He criticized a rival U.S. draft, contending it did not give enough stress to Israel's insistence on direct negotiations with the Arab states.

The Israeli Foreign Minister also found fault with a Chinese working paper circulating among council members. He said that, like the Indian resolution, it prejudices Israel's position on withdrawal.

Eban concentrated his fire on the proposal submitted by India, Mali and Nigeria. He charged that it had been drawn up "in close consultation with Israel" and "in every way" with Egypt, but without consultation with Israel.

Eban stressed that there must be no return to armistice boundary lines that existed before the June war. He said they must be "superseded by an agreed and secure permanent frontier."

The U.S. draft seeks "withdrawal of armed forces from occupied territory" but does not spell out which armed forces nor specify that all seized Arab land should be evacuated.

LONDON (AP) — A major revolt erupted inside Britain's ruling Labor party today against Prime Minister Harold Wilson's austerity policies, and a public opinion poll showed Wilson's popularity with the voters is dropping sharply. More than 70 Laborite legislators signed a motion calling for an immediate change in the government's program to keep unemployment up this winter, partly to reduce imports and partly to encourage workers to shift to export industries.

U. S., Enemy Toll Up

This represented a slight increase from the 166 dead a week earlier.

BEA, Board Negotiators to Meet Again on Friday

BIRMINGHAM — The board of education and Birmingham Education Association (BEA) negotiating teams will meet tomorrow at 10 a.m. in Detroit at the Michigan Labor Relations Board offices.

This is the fourth meeting of the two teams in two weeks and progress is being made on negotiating agreement on a new teacher contract, said Administrative Asst. Walter Piel.

Other steps forward were made at the board of education meeting this week, said Piel.

the remainder of the week on complaints while Pontiac employees remained at work. The request was turned down by the union, the spokesman said.

WORK STOPPAGES
Other General Motors and Chrysler plants around the country have been hit by work stoppages since the Ford Motor Co. contract was settled and bargaining with the other two firms continued.

Union spokesmen said more than 700 grievances remain to be settled at the plant. The strike was called without approval, unnecessary because the Pontiac Motor plant has operating without a contract since Sept. 29.

MAKING A POINT — Merrill Walls, manager of employment service at the Pontiac branch of Michigan Employment Security Commission, speaks to area employers at a program sponsored by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce at Kingsley Inn yesterday. Walls was one of nine speakers on the afternoon program aimed at encouraging management to revitalize hiring procedures and utilize training programs in an effort to hire the hard core unemployed.

Unemployment Fight Launched

By DICK SAUNDERS
The Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce yesterday picked up the ball of revolutionary employment practices and carried it to top-level management in the Pontiac area.

The purpose: to launch a community-wide attack on problems of the chronically unemployed through a reevaluation of traditional employment requirements and utilization of more sophisticated training programs.

In simple language, it means a big push to create more job opportunities for the hard-core unemployed.

The program took place at Kingsley Inn, 1475 Woodward, Bloomfield Hills.

The spark behind the program is a recently initiated program at Pontiac Motor Division called Operation Opportunity, which is aimed at hiring persons formerly classified as unemployable.

NINE SPEAKERS
Edward E. Barker Jr., president of Pontiac State Bank and chairman of the program committee, was moderator. There were nine speakers at the afternoon session. They were: Gary P. Drew, labor relations representative for Division; Clarence Barnes, executive director of the Pontiac Area Urban League; Mansfield C. Samples, chairman of the follow-up committee for Operation Opportunity; and Raymond B. McKee, owner of McKee Management Service, Inc., in Dearborn.

Also, Merrill Walls, manager of employment service, Michigan Employment Security Commission, Pontiac Branch; Richard C. Fell, assistant superintendent in charge of business and staff personnel, Pontiac School District; Kenneth Hultman, supervisor of apprentice and manpower programs for the school district; John A. Wampler, assistant director of community services, community education, at Oakland Community College; and Edward Revis, director of operations for the Oakland County Commission of Economic Opportunity.

The afternoon session was followed by a dinner at which the guest speaker was Commodore Jones, director of Northern Systems Training Center, in Detroit.

FUTURE BRIGHT
Some 80 representatives of about 40 businesses and industries attended the program.

Novi, Walled Lake Are Considering Changes in Plans for Sewer System

By BETTY ANN SCHULTZ
Present plans for the Novi-Walled Lake sanitary sewer system are undergoing review.

Possible changes under consideration are:

- Extending the completion date from the end of 1968 to the end of 1969 or early 1970.
- Abandoning plans for a sewage treatment plant and instead enlarging and extending the interceptor from Wayne County.
- Increasing the cost of the system.

In recent weeks, representatives of Walled Lake and Novi have been meeting with the Oakland County Department of Public Works to discuss these possible changes.

CHANCES SHAKY

While some consensus and informed opinion as to what is best exists, approval of the possible changes appear shaky. Each municipality has its own interests at stake.

* A determining factor is a report from the Wayne County Department of Public Works in January or February, said both Novi Village Manager Harold Ackley and Oakland County DPW Assistant Chief Engineer Frank Naglich.

The Wayne County DPW report is expected to tell whether or not Walled Lake and Novi can obtain more capacity through the Wayne County mains.

If so, and depending on when the Walled Lake-Novl plans may turn away from a treatment plant to an extension of the interceptor now up to 9½ mile, indicated Naglich.

MILEAGE PER CITY

This possibility would put four and a half miles of the interceptor in Novi and one and a half miles in Walled Lake, estimated Ackley.

The additional capacity — from the present four cubic feet per second to perhaps six cubic feet per second — may serve about 60,000 people, informed Ackley.

This would mean that Novi would use about 75 per cent of the capacity, the Novi Village manager said. He is figuring this on the basis that Walled Lake can hold a capacity of 15,000 people, according to planning studies.

Under the present plans, however, Novi has been allotted 35 per cent of the system's service — or 800 taps for Novi and 1,480 for Walled Lake.

FUTURE GROWTH

Ackley expressed strong approval of switching to the interceptor plan for it allows for the future growth of his village.

The present plans, he said, would serve some 500 existing homes and probably only one of the several proposed residential developments.

He has repeatedly said that he has all along opposed the treatment plant idea. The plan is designed to serve about 8,000 people.

Growth of the area would make the plant obsolete in about 10 years, said the county engineer.

ORIGINAL HOPES

When Walled Lake and Novi first began sewer system planning about 1963, they had low hopes about getting additional capacity from the Wayne system.

While the cost of the system as presently planned is estimated at $4.4 million, both Ackley and Naglich say the interceptor plan would cost about $1 million more.

However, the deputy director of the Oakland County DPW reports that no estimates of costs of the possible changes have been figured in detail.

Ackley emphasized that if the interceptor plan is used, the division of costs between the two municipalities must be refigured.

ACCEPTABLE TARGET

The later completion date is a relatively new factor. Ackley claims that 1970 "is fine" for the village.

Walled Lake City Manager Royce Downey reportedly does not favor the later date.

Officials Will Probe Student Use of 'Pot'

Marijuana smoking among high school students is widespread throughout Oakland County, according to two high ranking county officials.

School and law enforcement officials will conduct an investigation to determine the extent of the problem.

Dr. William J. Emerson, superintendent of Oakland Schools, and County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson met yesterday to discuss the "growing" use of the drug.

The prosecutor said that in the past few weeks it has come to his attention that "experimentation and use of marijuana" by schoolers "is more widespread than it was believed."

"They are the sons and daughters of affluent members of the community," said Bronson.

While student use of marijuana is known in the Pontiac area, including those attending Pontiac Northern and Pontiac Central high schools, said the

Transfer From Stony Creek

Kensington Park Aide Named

William D. Necker, who was graduated from Michigan State University with a bachelor of science degree in park management in 1965, has been appointed an administrative assistant at Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford.

Since January of 1967 he has worked on the grounds maintenance crew at Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica.

Kensington and Stony Creek are among eight parks maintained and developed by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, a regional park agency serving the counties of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne.

Necker has also worked as superintendent of Parks and Forestry at Ypsilanti and was a forestry inspector for the City of Lansing parks and recreation department.

He was graduated from Centerline High School in 1961 where he earned varsity letters in track and football for three years. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Necker of 8158 Sterling, Centerline.

Walled Lake OK to School Mills

WALLED LAKE — The millage issue in Walled Lake School District passed yesterday by 1,390 to 1,088 — a margin of 302 votes.

Voters approved a five-year renewal of seven mills and an addition of three mills. This raises the school district levy to 30.2 mills.

The increase will appear on tax rolls in January 1969.

Of the seven voting precincts, defeat was registered only in the Commerce precinct by a nine-vote margin.

The voter turnout was not high, with 2,478 out of an estimated 13,000 registered voters going to the polls.

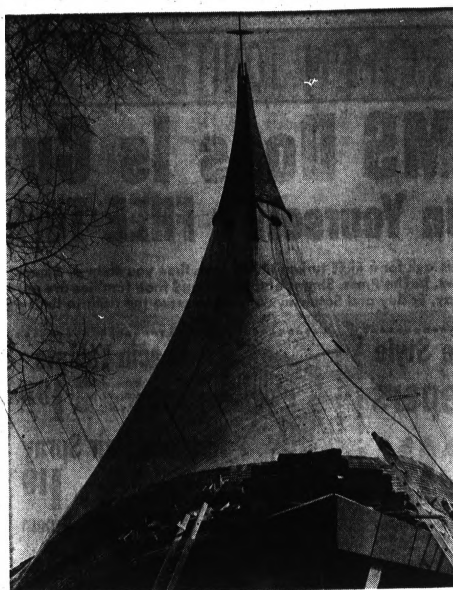

'REASONABLE TURNOUT'

"This was a reasonable turnout considering the time of the year," said Schools Supt. George Garver.

The success yesterday "shows the people of this area wish to try to maintain a quality education program," the superintendent said.

He indicated that he was especially pleased because some properties had recently been reassessed with an increase of 60 per cent.

The 10 mills represent about 20 per cent of the schools' budget this year. It will bring in about $1 million each year for five years.

REACHING HIGH — The sweeping ovoid spire of the new St. Regis Catholic Church, now under construction at Labser and Lincoln, Bloomfield Hills, stretches toward the sky. Built over a fan-shaped church costing an estimated $600,000, the spire and the rest of the building are to be ready for use shortly after the first of the year, according to Begrow and Brown, Bloomfield Hills architects.

May Survey Area's Future

MSU Unit Willing to Study Farmington

FARMINGTON — The Institute for Community Services of Michigan State University said yesterday that it can do the Future Farmington Area Study.

The institute informed Dr. John H. Richardson, chairman of the Future Farmington Area Study Committee, that it will present a proposal around the first week in December.

The committee will then decide whether or not it will hire the institute to conduct the study.

The committee was uncertain that the institute would be able to submit a proposal because of lack of personnel. The proposal so far states that Kenneth Verbeeg, a political scientist with the Michigan Department of Education, will serve as the primary consultant and interpreter of data.

Directing the legwork will be William

Ice of the political science department at Michigan State. He will be supervising several doctoral candidates also from the political science department, said Dr. Richardson, a veterinarian in Farmington.

$3,500 FEE LIKELY

The institute will also propose a fee of about $3,500, said Richardson.

The study will consider the alternative forms of government for Farmington City, Farmington Township, Wood Creek Farms Village and Quakeronia Village, said the committee chairman.

He expects that the institute will propose that it begin the study in early January and complete it no later than next Fall.

The proposal described by Richardson is much like the proposal the in-

Rochester OKs Pact on $114,000 Sewer Payment

ROCHESTER — The City Council has ratified an agreement with Slavik Developers and Crittenon General Hospital in regard to payment of a contracted $114,000 sewer which will serve the area. Slavik Developers are the owners of the McGregor, Great Oaks Farm lying partially within the city at its westerly boundaries off West University. Homes, apartments, stores and offices are contemplated for the area.

City Manager William Sinclair said the hospital would be charged a little more than $22,000 and that the developers would pick up the rest of the tab.

Under study by the council is the investigation of means, other than high cost corporate security bonds as provided by ordinance, to insure that developers will carry out plans for lateral sewers, paving and water systems.

A resolution endorsing the present Municipal Court system and in opposition to legislation which would abolish such courts was passed by the council. Sinclair was instructed to wire state representatives to that effect.

Shelby Township Supervisor Is Picketed

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Supervisor Kirby Holmes was the subject here yesterday of a protest by more than 20 sign-carrying pickets.

Holmes, whose tenure in the top township job has been marked by periodic controversy, and Township Clerk Mae Stecker confirmed that the supervisor himself appeared to be the object of the small protest march in front of the Township Hall.

Both Holmes and Stecker said that the pickets gave no definite reason for their protest except that they thought Holmes wasn't doing enough for the township.

Earlier this week, at the regular Township Board meeting, over 80 residents had jammed into the room concerning several home owners' problems.

A good many of the residents were there from the Skylight Lake subdivision which was started over a year ago.

SOUGHT HELP

They sought help from the board concerning complaints against the contractor, Weinberger Builders of Shelby Township, who had allegedly dug a lake there shallower than promised, said Holmes.

The developer since has drained the lake to dry it deeper, but in the process three residents said they lost water pressure, he continued.

They are complaining that Weinberger is unbearably slow in reacting to their complaints, he said.

Another group of home owners from the Mound and Cotswold area complained that the board was being too lax in controlling builders, said Holmes. They felt that the contractor was putting in more houses than the present drainage could handle.

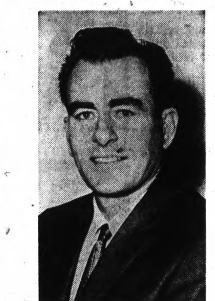

RESOLUTION PASSED

In other action, the board passed a resolution to initiate the process to ban hunting in Shelby Township west of the M-38 freeway.

Holmes explained that a new state law which became effective Nov. 3 gives local townships the authority to ban or limit hunting.

"We must first form a study committee" made up of one representative

KIRBY HOLMES

each from the State Police, the Sheriff's Department, the Conservation Department, and one board member before we can draw up and pass an ordinance.

Conceivably we could have the ordinance effective before deer season begins Nov. 18," said Holmes.

HUNTING ACCIDENTS

All of Shelby is now opened to hunting, he added. But there is just too much residential construction west of the bypass to make it safe.

Three persons were injured in hunting accidents in the township on the opening day of small game season last month.

"There have been several cases of people calling up complaining of hunters in their own back yards," said Holmes.

The township also set a precedent when the board agreed to share the cost of sidewalks in front of the Wiley School on a 50-50 basis, he said.

The Road Commission authorized the cost split. Construction of the sidewalks, which are in the area where a 5-year-old girl was hit by a car and killed on Oct. 13, began yesterday.

Orion Twp. to Share Sewer Plan Cost

ORION TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has agreed to participate in the cost of engineering and planning fees for extension of the proposed Paint Creek Arm of the Clinton-Oakland Sewer Interceptor.

It has informed the Oakland County Department of Public Works that the township will pay its share of such a study should the interceptor arm fail to go through. If the arm is constructed, according to Supervisor John Lessiter, the engineering fees will be absorbed in the total cost.

Lessiter said the cost not yet been determined.

Proposed is an extension to take sewage out of the villages of Oxford and Lake Orion and the townships of Oxford and Orion. The line would connect to the main Clinton-Oakland interceptor north of Rochester.

In other business last night the board heard from about 10 residents who requested that the northeastern unincorporated six sections of the township be closed to hunting.

The board ordered a State Department of Conservation investigation.

Residents protested the hazard to homes, people and boats from hunters who are killing their pet ducks.

Motorboating and water skiing on Vassar Lake was limited to the hours of 10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. by order of the board following Conservation Department hearings.

The possibility of connecting the Judah Lake and Keatington water systems and providing overhead water storage tanks, was referred to the Waterford Township engineering firm of Johnson and Anderson, Inc. for study.

Preliminary plans for 101 lots in Keatington Subdivision No. 2 were given approval by the board.

The matter of membership in the Council of Governments was tabled by the board until state legislation regarding its formation is clarified.

Insured Loss in Detroit Riot Is $35 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Insurance commissioner of Michigan said Wednesday Detroit's insured riot loss this summer was $32 million, not $55 million as estimated by the national advisory panel on insurance.

David Dykhouse, the Michigan official, testified before the panel, which is working with the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders.

The panel continues today two days of hearings on programs designed to help make property insurance more available in center city areas.

ASKS FOR STEPS

This was echoed by Henry Bison Jr., general counsel of the National Association of Retail Grocers. Bison asked for steps, including legislation when necessary, to prohibit arbitrary cancellation and nonrenewal of property insurance.

Roddis said the uncertainty of available insurance was a deterrent to building in Los Angeles' Watts area where riots occurred in 1965.

He said the present market is unwilling and unable to write profitably property insurance on marginal qualified property.

State governments should prescribe the property to be guaranteed and added that in the absence of governmentally prescribed standards, "no government subsidy in any form should be granted the insurance industry."

WHO Warns of Pesticides

Liver Damage Tied to Organochlorines

By Science Service
GENEVA — In one of the most strongly worded technical reports in the 38-year history of the UN's World Health Organization, an international panel has warned that pesticides containing organochlorines apparently cause liver damage.

Despite the fact that the agents, such as DDT, are used universally with excellent results, mounting laboratory and medical evidence suggests that the substances are persistent and cumulative in both animals and man.

Aldrin, dieldrin, heptachlor and gamma benzene hexachloride, or Lindane, are organochlorines in wide use in the U.S. and elsewhere.

Their use is regulated in the U.S. by the Department of Agriculture and the Food and Drug Administration, some are banned from use on foods to the extent that there are no permissible levels of detectable residue in food products.

Even in low doses, says the WHO panel, such compounds injure the liver by stimulating microsomal enzymes in the liver cells, and these enzymes probably affect the metabolism of other compounds.

URGE INVESTIGATIONS

The working party recommends that WHO urgently encourage investigations to nail down the toxicological implications.

Admitting difficulty in analyzing many pesticides, the panel says the assistance of the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry and the UN's International Atomic Energy Agency (Vienna) should also be sought.

Carrying out extensive tests, experts find many gaps in information on world patterns of pesticide use, residues from experimental projects, residues found in commerce, and losses of residues during storage and food processing.

Signs Point to Intensified Red War Effort

SAIGON (UPI) — South Viet-nam's central highlands and the coastline bordering them may soon again become a major battleground, according to a U.S.
military official.

He listed the following indications that North Vietnamese and Vietcong forces in the recently quieted War Corps are moving to intensify their war effort:

- In the area along the Cambodian border where the U.S. 4th Infantry Division faces about 20 North Vietnamese battalions, "for some weeks, the enemy has been beginning to show signs of offensive intent."

- In Binh Dinh Province on the northern coast, the 3rd
North Vietnamese Division has returned to the area from which it was chased earlier this year by U.S. troops.

- Farther south, in Khanh Hoa Province, there has been an increase in Communist activity, including full-scale battles involving North Vietnamese troops, bombings and terrorist activity in the coastal city of Nha Trang.

The official said the buildups are "designed to draw U.S. troops from other areas."

"The Communist hope that we will have to shift substantial forces, thinning them out in other areas. We think we will be able to thwart this," he said.

In the border area, the official cited a recent attack on Pleiku with 122mm rockets, and troop movements in Kolut and Darlac provinces north and south of Pleiku.

MORE ATTACKS

He said he expects more attacks similar to Pleiku.

In Kontum and Darlac, several thousand Communist troops have infiltrated, some of them reaching as far east as the coast, he said.

He described our military positure as ready.

The official said the southern portion of Binh Dinh, one of the country's biggest provinces, is relatively secure.

In the northern portion, however, he said, "the enemy is too damn active."

Budget for 1967-68 Is Adopted

Board Hears of Upcoming Fiscal Crisis

Pontiac School Affairs

Pontiac school expenditures this fiscal year are expected to nearly drain the money coffers dry, and the outlook for next year is worse.

School Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer pointed out the financial crisis last night to the board of education, which adopted a final $15.3-million operating budget for 1967-68.

Whitmer told the board that expenditures for the current year will exceed revenues by about $320,000 but that reserve funds are expected to put the budget in the black by about only $37,000.

"Revenues above the present 1967-68 level will be needed in 1968-69 to close this yearly $1-million gap as well as to cover new costs," he advised.

Final adoption of the current budget was delayed because of late contract settlements with teachers, secretaries and maintenance men in September.

This year's budget is $1.5 million more than last year, but it required about $500,000 of cutbacks from the preliminary budget to resolve a moderate salary dispute with the teachers.

Major reductions included personnel cutbacks. Approved special reading position openings were reduced from 41 to 20 and teacher openings by 16.

Also slashed were funds for textbooks, teaching supplies and instructional equipment and the National Defense Education Act, audio-visual and in-service teacher education programs.

Substantial reductions were made in preventive maintenance items and in the purchase of new equipment and furniture. Funds for capital outlay are down about $61,000 below last year and building maintenance reduced by nearly $46,500. Instructional costs of $11.5 million are up $1.2 million.

The largest portion of the school district's income is an estimated $8.3 million from local taxes.

At the end of the last fiscal year in June, the district had a balance of about $1.1 million left over compared to an expected deficit of $317 next June.

Now that this year's budget

PRELIMINARY FIGURE

They have set sights on a $16.5 million preliminary budget for 1968-69, which does not include increased salaries, wages or fringe benefits other than normal increments.

Besides including appropriations for the year-to-year increases in students, consumer price index and new or expanded programs, the forthcoming budget will include about $500,000 for:

- Restoration of 1967-68 budget cuts and/or
- Implementation of recommendations of the school district's Finance Study Council and/or
- Continuation of program improvements, such as continued reduction of the size of classes.

"The total budgeted costs per pupil in 1967-68 amounted to approximately $61.78," Whitmer said.

"Provision of educational services to an estimated 405 additional pupils cost about $250,920 based on current per pupil expenditures."

A rising cost of living will have a 2.5 to 4 per cent increase on 1968 budget estimates, according to Whitmer. A 3.25 per cent increase in the consumer price index will be used as a guideline.

Other guidelines Whitmer set down include the continuation of the present 47.7 professional personnel per 1,000 pupils instead of a goal of 47.3.

It takes at least 50 teachers and other professional staff members for every 1,000 students to provide quality education, according to the Education Policies Commission of the National Education Association.

Whitmer reiterated that local revenues will have to increase to meet the new budget needs.

"The present voted additional tax rate is 8.75 mills," he said.

"Revenues for 1968-69 based on this rate would be more than a million dollars less than the projected preliminary budget target."

Detailed projections of needs and revenues will be spelled out by the finance council to guide decisions by the school board and administration.

Next year's preliminary budget will be presented to the board of education Feb. 28 with final adoption sometime after June 1 when salary negotiations and income are computed.

'Good Roads' Tax Bills on Romney's Desk

LANSING — The $61-million "good roads" package, designed to raise more tax dollars for Michigan highways and reduce Mackinac Bridge tolls, was on Gov. Romney's desk today.

Provisions of the five-bill package, approved by both House and Senate, include a one-cent increase in the state gasoline tax on Jan. 1, 1968, and a boost in vehicle license plate fees on Nov. 1, 1968.

The Senate removed the final obstacle from the path of the package yesterday when it gave to House demands and approved the so-called "Volkswagen" amendment placing a $12 minimum on the annual cost of auto plates.

The Senate earlier had deleted the amendment, but House members insisted that it be included in the package.

In addition to raising gasoline from 6 cents a gallon to 7 cents and boosting auto weight taxes from 35 to 35 cents per 100 pounds, the bills:

- Appropriate $3.5 million a year to refinance and lower tolls on the Mackinac Bridge.
- Raise the hundredweight charge for house trailers from 35 to 40 cents, for farm vehicles from 50 to 55 cents, for ambulances and hearses from 75 to 90 cents, and for trucks in the 6,000 to 8,000 pound class from $1.25 to $1.55.
- Increase the cities' and villages' share of road tax revenues from 18 to 20 per cent, giving Detroit an estimated $6-million more per year — with the state waterways fund share of highway fund money from 1/2 per cent of the gross to 1 1/2 per cent of the net after collection expenses — an increase of about $1.7-million.

SAME PRICE

The amendment providing for the $12 minimum, meaning that owners of vehicles weighing from 1,800 to 2,200 pounds would pay the same price for their plates, stirred controversy in both houses.

In voting 25-4 to accept the amendment, the senators turned down a plea by Senate Highways Committee Chairman James P. Jackson, that terms of the regular weight tax bill be set at a conference committee to work out a solution.

Fleming said he had "heard, some talk of Volkswagen dealers cashing in on the publicity" by filing a suit challenging the constitutionality of the amendment.

Such a suit, he said, could hold up the effective date of the package "for two or three years."

ONLY 'NO' VOTES

Republicans Fleming, Lorraine Beebe of Dearborn and George Kuhn and Robert Huber, both of Birmingham, cast the only "no" votes.

Volkswagen owners, who now pay $5.90 for license plates, would have paid $9.90 under the bill.

Chairman Jackson, that increase had the $12 minimum been turned down.

The tax on a 3,000-pound auto would be increased from the present $10.50 to about $16.50.

Teacher Subs' Pay Upgraded

Raises of Up to $5
Okayed by Board

Substitute teachers in Pontiac will now be paid just as much as other nearby communities. Starting Monday, substitutes will receive as much as $5 a day more than they now make.

The school board approved the raises last night in order to be more competitive with other districts for substitute talent.

Pontiac will now pay $25 a day for teachers with a college degree and $20 for a nondegree substitute with a minimum of 60 semester or 90 term hours of credit.

Up until now when teaching talent is getting very scarce, the district paid $18 for nondegree teachers, $20 for those with a degree and provisional certificate.

COMPETITIVE SITUATION

"The administration is primarily interested in being competitive with surrounding districts for substitutes with a four-year degree," Personnel Director Lewis Crew said in explaining the pay proposal.

The new salary package will cost the district about $16,500, Crew estimated.

Other districts pay the following wages: Bloomfield Hills, $25 for both non-degree and degree and emergency certificate and $26 for degree and provisional certificate; and Birmingham and Waterford, $25 across the board.

In other business, the board appointed two elementary school principals. They are:

• William E. Neff, who will replace Mrs. Vida L. Walker at Whitfield School.

Neff has been principal at Hawthorne Elementary School for the past four years. Mrs. Walker, who has been in the system for 18 years of which the last 12 were as a principal, has taken a sick leave of absence.

• James R. Davis, community school director at Eastern Junior High School, will take over for Neff at Hawthorne. He has held his present job for one year and has been in the system six years.

Another appointment was that of Richard H. Ayling, a former high school counselor here, as coordinator of the new individualized instructional program for problem students at Pontiac Central High School.

The school board members also:

• Postponed hiring an architectural consultant for the proposed Human Resources Center until the next meeting in order to have time to discuss contracts.

• Concurred with the City Commission by passing a resolution to expand the new Pontiac Area Planning Council Board of Governors from 28 to 32 members.

• Heard a report that the adult education program enrollments have been increasing by about 1,300 students a year. Some 6,500 adults are expected to take courses this year.

• Reappointed Charles W. Buck, a Republican, and Leo M. Zadokso, a Democrat, to the Board of Canvassers (for school district elections) for four years.

Police to Get Message

Sometime soon a desk sergeant at the Pontiac police station may pick up a telephone and hear something like this:

"This is Pontiac Central High School. I'm being robbed. Hurry over. This is a recording."

Although this may not be the exact message, tape recorders will be automatically phoning the police station when schools are being broken into.

machines and musical instruments since Jan. 1.

The bugging devices may also help to curb school vandalism, which now amounts to $30,000 a year and is rising.

INSURANCE COSTS
"Although much of the cost is covered by insurance, the num-

Schiller said the school district's insurance agent could not tell him how much premiums would go up if claims continue, but he conceded that the agent has been threatening to place a $50 deductible on losses.

School trustees gave Schiller permission to have four elementary and the two high schools bugged with the silent alarm system at a maximum cost of $6,500.

"This system has been used successfully by a number of school districts, including Avondale, and business places," the business manager reported.

DEPENDS ON SIZE

Other systems, which would wire a complete school as opposed to bugging a few areas at a school, would cost from $3,000 to $6,000 depending on the size of the school, according to Schiller.

Two city schools now have alarm systems, one which is an audible siren type and another which notifies the police and a school official by telephone.

Schiller asked for the funds for the new alarms two months before the district's three-year insurance contract expires.

Dropout Rate of 12 Pct. Is Recorded in District

Public high schools in Pontiac and Troy had one of the highest dropout rates in the state and Oakland County during 1965-66, a state survey for Lewis Crew said in explaining the pay proposal.

A report by the Michigan Department of Education indicated that the dropout rate in grades 9-12 in Pontiac and Troy was about 12 per cent.

The rate for the Oakland Intermediate School District, which includes 28 school districts in the county and a few in bordering counties, was 6.6 per cent.

Oakland Schools district had the ninth highest dropout rate among 60 Michigan intermediate districts with high school programs.

Seven per cent was the average annual Michigan dropout rate for the period, up three-tenths per cent over the previous year.

668 LOCAL STUDENTS
A total of 668 Pontiac students out of 5,580 in grades 9-12 quit school from April 1, 1965 to March 31, 1966. In Troy, 138 out of 1,142 dropped out.

During this period, Troy had the state's ninth highest rate and Pontiac was 10th.

Detroit, Michigan's largest school district, was sixth with a 12.8 dropout percentage. Muskegon Heights in Muskegon County topped the list with 17.7 per cent.

Bloomfield Hills district had the lowest percentage of dropouts in the county—1.7 per cent.

8.2 PCT. IN WATERFORD
Dropout percentages for other area districts are: Holly Area, 9.4; South Lyon, 8.9; Rochester and Waterford Township, 8.2; Walled Lake Consolidated, 7.8; West Bloomfield, 7.4.

Clareville schools in Livonia had the highest dropout rate of 13.5 per cent of the county districts, with Troy and Pontiac close behind.

In highlights of the study:

• Twenty-eight per cent of students attending ninth grade in Michigan do not graduate from high school.

• Of the 35,210 dropouts in Michigan during 1965-66, about 54 per cent were from the Detroit metropolitan area of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties. About 45 per cent of the state's high school population is in this area.

• More than 50 per cent of the dropouts scored in or above the normal I.Q. range of 91-110.

• "Lack of interest" is the most common reason for leaving school.

• The largest group of dropouts leave in grade 11.

• The average number of children in the family of a dropout is 4.3, with at least one of the dropouts' siblings also being a dropout.

Making the 'Bad' Scene

'Cool It, Kids'—Tips for Job-Hunters

(EDITOR'S NOTE: We asked our newest employee to do this article on how to look when you apply for a job. Then she posed for the "don't look this way" picture. Any resemblance between the picture and our own trim and attractive co-worker is difficult to see.)

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES
It's been said that a girl's best assets, when it comes to getting a job, are shapely legs and a flirtatious smile. Don't you believe it.

Like many an old wives' tale, it won't hold water, according to business men who find themselves on the prospective employer's side of the desk.

Aside from meeting the qualifications pertaining to a particular job, outward appearances that reflect good taste and judgment can play a large part in helping you get the position you want.

So before you join forces with job hunters competing for that "opportunity just around the corner," see if you can meet these good grooming requirements.

- Cleanliness is the first step, and don't bypass the fingernail file.
- Avoid wearing fancy hairdos and heavy makeup. Save that "alluring look" for special dates.

- No rollers please; you wouldn't think of wearing them for work, so why the head gear for an interview?

- Wear something neat and simple. Again, save those cocktail or smashing dresses for a night on the town.

- Never wear slacks.
- Remember, you're trying to impress the boss and he isn't especially interested in seeing what you lounge around in.

- Accessories should be kept to a minimum; no more than jewelry.
- Patterned hose are great on Twiggy, but not for you when job hunting.

- Don't douse yourself with perfume; too much is offensive.

Area Art Galleries Exhibit Photos on Urban Housing

"Art of the City," an exhibit of 42 photographic panels showing contemporary solutions to mass housing in today's urban areas, will open Saturday in Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries, and remain through Dec. 3.

The exhibit brings together ideas and realities of 17 multiple-use buildings and projects, called infrastructures. Their principal design criteria are the coordination of beauty with the dynamic and spatial characteristics of 20th century living.

INNOVATIONS

Because of the large scale of the "cities," the construction solutions are innovations in themselves. But the prime concerns are the amenities provided to the users and the conservation of land areas.

The exhibit, first installed in the galleries of the University of Michigan by the Ann Arbor Art Association, is an assemblage from international sources including Sadié's Habitat 67 of Montreal, LeCorbusier's Unite de Habitation and proposals of Buckminster Fuller for Pittsburgh.

The Galleries of Cranbrook Academy will remain closed until the showing of "Art in the City."

The Galleries' hours are 1 to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays, except for major holidays. There is an admission charge.

neatness and simplicity are key factors in judging your appearance.

A leading Pontiac retailer says, "Extremes are not wanted; they're taboo. If a girl's in doubt as to the style of clothes to wear, take a clue from company employees and dress according to their standards."

Frank Thompson, placement supervisor at the Michigan Employment Service, stressed conservatism and simplicity in appearance.

In addition to your appearance, be prepared from every angle, he said. Know your social security number, have a listing of past employers or personal references, be punctual and don't overlook good posture.

"Mr. Thompson, who frequently gives advice as part of his job, added that it's just as important to dress appropriately for an agency that finds jobs as it is for the specific employer."

"Maybe people think we're the middle-man and they don't have to impress us," said Miss Roach, an employment interviewer. "In that case, we don't make that much of an effort."

Well that's how it looks, or how you should look.

Just a few more hints before you start out.

- Mothers, leave your children home.
- Daughters, don't let your mother come along. The boss is interested in you, not your family.

For teenagers, who habitually travel in pairs, this time go alone.

While your best friend may be your sole source of strength, she may also wind up with your job. Don't laugh. It's happened.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Retired Supreme Court Justice and Mrs. Tom C. Clark hosted a pre-wedding reception for Lynda Bird Johnson and her fiancé, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb—but the Clarks ended up being honored, too.

Robb told 200 guests at the exclusive Sulgrave Club Wednesday night that it was the Clarks' 43rd wedding anniversary.

Lynda then presented the couple with a gift which President Johnson brought to the party—a bust of the President by Washington sculptress Jimulu Mason.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Chief Justice Earl Warren were also among the guests.

Clark, one of the President's oldest friends, recalled he accompanied Johnson to the hospital the night Lynda was born 23 years ago, paced the floor with him and joined him for his first view of "the bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked little angel."

Lynda and Robb, who will be married in the White House Dec. 9, have chosen six more members of their wedding party.

They are six Marine captains, friends of Robb's, who will form an arch of swords behind the wedding couple will walk after the ceremony.

The White House released this photo showing Lynda Johnson and her fiancé, Marine Capt. Charles Robb, with four-year-old Timmy Faas, the 1968 March of Dimes National Poster Child. The picture was made by the White House said, Nov. 4 at the Executive Mansion. Timmy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Faas of Whittier, Calif., and is a patient at the March of Dimes Birth Defects Treatment Center at Orthopaedic Hospital in Los Angeles.

Mothers-In-Law Tell Their Feelings on Subject of What to Call Them

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: That letter signed "Just an In-law" got my goat. Why should in-laws be "hurt" over what they are (or are not) called? If the relationship is right, they will be called whatever the new son-in-law or daughter-in-law feels comfortable calling them. If they aren't called anything, that's all right, too. The most important thing is for everyone to feel at ease.

I don't think there is any problem unless a person makes one. VINCENT

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me how mother-in-law got to be such a dirty name?

I have friends with married children who detest being referred to as "my mother-in-law." Why? That's what they are.

I do not wish to be called "mother" by anyone other than my own children. It sounds so forced and artificial.

A young woman comes into the family as a stranger, really, and after having properly addressed me as "Mrs. Jones" during the time my son courted her, suddenly I am "mother." No thank you.

CALL ME GLADYS

DEAR ABBY: Would you believe that I have been married for four years and have avoided addressing my mother-in-law directly because I do not know what to call her?

If she would only say, "Please, call me Hilda, or mother, or mom." I would be so relieved. Please print this as many of my friends have the same problem.

BEWILDERED

DEAR ABBY: My darling daughter-in-law didn't have to worry very long about what to call me. She (and everyone else) started calling me "grandma" five months after my son married her. I don't recommend this as a solution, but it did solve a problem.

GRANDMA

DEAR ABBY: Don't tell me about young wives who call their mother-in-law "mother" out of respect.

I have several friends who call their mothers-in-law "mother" to their faces, but you should hear what they call them behind their backs. Respect? Hah!

AMUSED

DEAR ABBY: I think complete honesty is the answer to what to call the in-laws.

The night my daughter's beau showed up with the ring, he turned to my husband and me and said, "After Marie and I are married, would you like me to call you?" I said, "Anything you like."

He replied, "I have a mother and father of my own, so if you don't mind, I'll call you 'Belle mere and Beau pere'."

And that's the way it's been for many years.

HAPPY IN QUEBEC

DEAR HAPPY: Tres bien. If you have "de gaulle."

The Musicales will have a booth at the City Federation of Women's Clubs' Bazaar, also on Tuesday, featuring white elephants.

Vietnam and Upcoming Election Discussed by Noted Newsman

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

Backgrounded by an impressive legal and journalistic career, Godfrey Sperling Jr. held an address at the Oakland-Pontiac Town Hall audience Wednesday as he discoursed on "Behind the Nation's News."

Speaking from the stage of packed Huron Theatre, he dwelt mainly on the domestic scene, though the impasse in Vietnam found its way into his discussion.

On that tortured issue, the speaker confessed to having no hard answers, other than to declare that he sees the feathers of an increasing number of Congressional "hawks" assuming the hue of "doves."

Moreover, he thought it most significant that at the recent Governors Comference aboard the "Independence," the President was unable to obtain a resolution by Republicans there supporting the Administration's conduct of the Vietnam war.

DOMESTIC FRONT

On the domestic front, Sperling saw the distrust of the executive branch of the government, extending to legislative and executive areas.

"Although we have had corruption and conflict of interest in government since the birth of the Republic," he declared, "that of the last 20 years has been of surpassing magnitude."

"And," he continued, "our election procedures hardly inspire confidence in the electorate. The dreary political conventions and campaigns and accompanying hoopla reflect a poor image for those who would equate idealism and simplicity with candidates for political office."

But, despite the flaws in our governmental structure and its related processes, Sperling sees the climate of integrity slowly improving.

Only by attracting the participation and interest of the responsible segment of the citizenry in government can the standards of personal integrity and public service be raised, declared the speaker.

On the presidential race shaping up, Sperling, at this stage, thinks Richard Nixon an odds-on favorite for the Republican nomination.

He admires the personal traits of Michigan's Gov. George Romney, but sees for him an uphill fight in his bid for the nomination because of ineptness he has displayed on occasions.

LUNCHEON

During a luncheon at Devon Gables following the program address, the speaker deftly responded to a wide-ranging barrage of questions.

It was his opinion that President Johnson would put forth every effort toward resolution of the Vietnam war before the 1968 election, but he added that it was difficult to see what more could be done than was now being done.

Sperling said "yes, George Wallace will run for the presidency next year and will significantly split the two-party vote." He thought it would hurt the Republicans more than the Democrats.

He foresaw LBJ as certain to be nominated, with no likelihood that he would dump Vice-President Hubert Humphrey as his running mate.

Balance Your Retirement Investments

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Mary Feeley:
Will you referee this family bout? I say we should buy bonds toward our retirement. My husband says we should put the money in the bank at four and one-half per cent.

MARY FEELEY

We're in our 50s, own our home, clear, and plan to start saving $2500 a year till retirement. The only income we will have then will be our Social Security check. So I say, when we start cashing our bonds in $30 and $100 denominations, we won't be required to pay any federal income tax on the profits.

Even though bank savings would earn four and one-half per cent a year, we'd have to pay tax on the interest each year, which would be larger as the savings build up.

What do you say?
Mrs. E. B. Clifton, N.J.

Dear Mrs. B.:
I say you'd better split up that $2500 a year, so you'll come out 10 years from now with a more advantageous balance between fixed and variable dollars.

I agree that E bonds are a good buy for you with interest of 4.15 per cent, since there seems to be little likelihood in your circumstances of having tax liability after you retire — with the $2400 a year tax exemption you and your husband will be allowed.

If your husband's income now, for example, is in the 19 per cent tax bracket, the bank savings earning four and one-half per cent will actually mean a yield of 3.645 per cent after tax. So why not consider putting a certain amount of the $2500 a year into E bonds and the balance into a good mutual fund?

Dear Miss Feeley:

Where can I buy a form for making a will?

A. J., Monee, Ill.

Dear A. J.:

At any stationery store that sells legal forms. But why do you want one? I hope you're not telling yourself that drawing up your own will is so simple you don't need any legal advice. The layman isn't equipped to interpret precisely his wishes and intentions, nor for that matter find his way safely through legal terminology.

One lawyer remarked that a client came in to have him draw up a "quick and simple" will. It turned out to involve two trusts along with a lot of other intricacies. Even if a person's estate is minuscule, arranging for its disposition isn't necessarily "simple." Nor is it a do-it-yourself job.

Dear Miss Feeley:

Some weeks ago I gave the Salvation Army a piano. It cost me $722 about six years ago. I value it at about $400 (in perfect condition). How much of the fair market value of the piano can I take off on my income tax?

A.R.T., New York City

Dear A.R.T.:
If you're going to claim a charitable deduction of more than $200 on your tax return, you'll need to attach a statement giving the name and address of the organization to which you made the contribution or a receipt for the contribution from the organization; the date of actual contribution; a description of the property contributed; the manner and approximate date on which you acquired the property; and the fair market value at the time you made the contribution, showing the method you used in determining such value.

If it was by appraisal, submit a copy of the signed report.

You can't just decide on the value of your five-year-old piano yourself. So if possible, get an appraisal in writing from the company that sold it to you or from another piano company that could estimate its fair market value as of the date you gave it to the Salvation Army.

As a reminder: always get such information in writing at the time of any gift of property when you plan to claim a tax deduction.

In the final analysis the Internal Revenue Service determines the extent to which your contribution to the Salvation Army is deductible.

Why Grow Old?

by JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here is a letter which will interest many women because either they have a husband who has retired or one who is going to retire.

Dear Mrs. Lowman:

I enjoyed your recent article on retirement. Don't let anyone tell you that the first two or three years of married life are the hardest. They say that because their husband has not retired yet.

I did not look forward to my husband's retirement mainly because he has no special interests or hobbies with which to fill his time. He doesn't fish or play golf or bowl and if he picks up a hammer to fix anything, I am ready to leave home.

ACCEPTED FACT

However, I accepted the fact that I was going to have a man around the house most of the time and made up my mind to make a success of this retirement business. As I look back on the past few years, I think the biggest thing I lost was my independence.

I had always attended to paying the bills and doing the shopping and I did my own laundry. Then I thought, "What is he going to do with his time besides empty the garbage, burn the trash, and wait for the mailman and the paper boy?" So I turned all the paying and buying over to my husband. He even takes the clothes to the laundrette for me.

Since he likes to talk and visit with old and new acquaintances, he usually runs into one or two people and spends the hour visiting, which is fine with me. But I am wondering if I am being fair to myself? I'm not out of the house at all lots of days.

MISS NEIGHBORS

I miss my neighbors and friends dropping in for a woman's chat. Who can enjoy that with a man sitting in? I also miss the telephone calls I used to get. My friends do not call as they used to. When they do call I can feel my husband getting tense if the conversation goes on for very long.

I am telling you this because there ought to be some way many wives could get together, air their grievances and learn some new tricks about how to make a husband's retirement work for both him and the wife. Of course, you can do this with one or two friends but many more ideas would be helpful.

This is a wonderful idea! I often use my column for group therapy. Write in and tell us what problems your husband's retirement created and what changes in attitude or plan of life you have found helpful.

I am sure there are many smart ideas waiting to be aired. Try to make your letters short and snappy, so that I can print a lot of them. Address to Josephine Lowman in care The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056

Pontiac 'Task Force' on Delinquency Is Studied at Meeting

By ED BLUNDEN

A plan that would coordinate all efforts to combat juvenile delinquency in the Pontiac area received a preliminary examination yesterday.

The verdict was almost unanimous — the plan was needed. However, how it would be implemented was subject to almost as many interpretations as there were persons in attendance — about 40.

Calling the meeting was the Citizens Committee on Youth, made up of public and private social agency executives.

The plan was presented by George Caronis, executive director and coordinator of the Pontiac Youth Assistance Department.

The tentative name for the proposed new organization is Pontiac Inner-City Inter-Agency Association to Prevent Control and Rehabilitate Children in Trouble.

BASIC GOAL

In spite of the long name, the basic goal would be simply to coordinate efforts by all existing agencies into a "task force" on delinquency.

Most of the group stressed the hope that the emphasis would be on "prevention."

Represented were leaders in area churches, government, law enforcement, schools, and social agencies and such organizations as the Oakland County Office of Economic Opportunity.

All the group had to work with was a guideline that states: "The legal and social implication of children in trouble — whether at home, school or with the police — can no longer be handled on an isolated basis. Efforts made to alleviate problem situations must involve a multitude of professional services and citizen participation."

"Children in trouble are not this or that agency's responsibility. Such children are the community's responsibility."

FOR BETTER CONTROL

The new task force would work to:

- Decrease the incident of antisocial behavior.
- Provide better systematic control over this type of behavior problem, thus preventing repeating antisocial acts.
- Offer opportunities to explore and develop new approaches in the community leading toward earlier prevention and redirection of such behavior.

Provision for better formalized liaison contacts between all pertinent agencies serving children and youth.

Backbone of the new organization would be "action teams" made up of several experts in fields of counseling, mental health, etc.

It is proposed the first teams be at Jefferson, Eastern, Lincoln and Madison junior high schools.

These are in or near "target areas" in which high incidences of juvenile delinquency and vandalism have occurred, according to information supplied by police.

OVERLAPPING FEARED

Just how these "action groups" in "target areas" would function, was debatable. Fear was expressed that such an organization would overlap and perhaps interfere with existing services.

It was indicated that perhaps the group would be organized too much toward enforcement and not enough toward prevention.

Fear was also expressed that unqualified persons would be going into residents' home and worsening situations.

Whether the group should mainly provide "friendly advice" or "love" was discussed, with others offering the opinion that "love is not enough" and professional handling is needed.

NEED IS CITED

However, in spite of differences, the need for some central program was cited by all speakers.

It was pointed out that a more detailed plan was a matter for future meetings to work out.

Another meeting was called for 9 a.m. Dec. 6 at the Pontiac School District Administration Building, 350 E. Wide Track.

Nervousness Increasing in Detroit Police

DETROIT (AP) — The head doctor in the Detroit police department says nervousness and emotional instability among police has shown a marked increase since the July riot.

Dr. George Moriarity says the men complain of nervous stomachs, unreasonable fear and a dread of going to work.

As a result, Moriarity says, he has requested a board of psychiatrists to examine policemen who complain of nervous problems. At present, one psychiatrist handles emotional problems.

Moriarity says the men generally blame their problems on a feeling they are "unappreciated" and "unloved" by the public.

Police Personnel Director Robert S. Quaid says he has been aware of an increasing number of complaints of nervousness due to what he calls "street pressures."

Quaid says men with nervousness complaints are relieved of their guns for their own protection and the safety of others. They then are placed on light clerical duty, he says.

Meat Packers Avoid Inspection, Reports Senator

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some of the biggest meat packers in the country are deliberately avoiding federal meat inspection, according to Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn.

His charge came as a Senate Agriculture Subcommittee opened four days of hearings today on a House-passed bill aimed at improving inspection procedures. The legislation would authorize federal help to the states, on a 50-50 basis, for those imposing standards comparable to federal requirements.

The House voted down an attempt by Reps. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, and Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., to extend to plants doing $250,000 or more annual business the federal inspection now required only for meats shipped in interstate commerce.

It has been estimated that 14,000 plants, handling about 4 billion pounds of meat a year, escape federal inspection because their products do not cross state lines.

The Smith-Foley amendment would have covered many of these, Mondale contended, but even if it did not go far enough, he urged approval of his bill to require federal inspection of every meat plant.

New York City takes in $20 million a year in traffic fines.

39 Negroes Held Following Fracas

INKSTER (AP) — Thirty-nine young Negroes hurling rocks and stones and shouting "black power" and "kill Whitey" were arrested Wednesday after a schoolroom tussle between a Negro pupil and a white teacher, police said.

A police officer reportedly was hospitalized with a possibly broken nose. No other injuries were reported. A police car was wrecked in the fracas.

AP Wirephoto

Vultures Find a Roost in Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Miami's 20th century vultures—something like the swallows of Capistrano but more like the messy starlings of northern city halls—are back in town, once more forsaking the wilderness of the Everglades for gracious urban living.

Again they're soaring over bustling, neon-lit downtown Miami as though it were a game preserve.

Some are year-round tenants on top of the 26-story building, but conditions aren't really crowded until the snow flies in the north. Sometimes more than 50 are visible on top of the building.

"They're like the tourists," said J. Norman Peters, building superintendent, "some are here all year but the big flock comes to Florida in the winter."

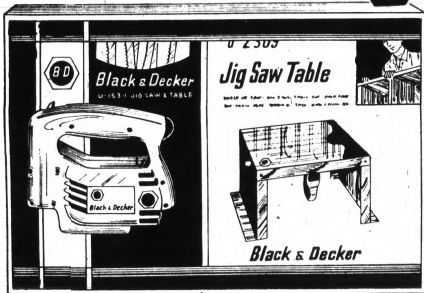

Politicians have corny jokes to explain why the vultures chose the courthouse and the biologists have theories. But nobody knows for sure.

FBI Probes Gary Voting; Mayor-Elect Makes Plans

The Justice Department confirmed that federal agents were probing reports of fraudulent activity in Tuesday's election which gave the Negro Democrat a 1,389-vote victory over white Republican Joseph B. Radigan.

James F. Turner of the department's civil rights division said no court action was planned, pending outcome of the investigation.

Radigan said irregularities were reported and he would ask attorneys "to assist me in reporting these irregularities to federal and state court." He did not say whether he would seek a recount, and he still has not conceded defeat.

MULTIRACIAL CAMPAIGN

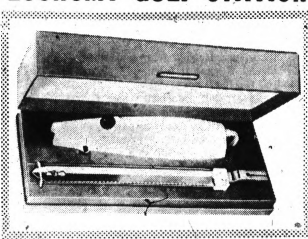

Hatcher, 34, a bachelor lawyer and city councilman, told a news conference Wednesday, "Ours was a multiracial campaign as well as a multiracial victory. Let us once and for all put all doubts to rest. We shall have a multiracial government."

Lake County Democratic Chairman John G. Krupa, who refused to support the Democratic candidate, charged there were violations of election laws in at least three precincts.

In one, he said, the board refused to seat Republicans. Another board refused to honor

Seashells May Help Find Oil

Black Color Aids in Hunt for Shore Lines

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — Marine geologists at Duke University report they have figured out why some seashells are black, and the answer may help scientists locate southeastern U.S. shore lines that disappeared under the ocean 20,000 years ago.

Such ancient shore lines are often oil traps. The petroleum seeps into porous sediment and then is imprisoned as layer upon layer of broken shells is laid down.

According to Duke science writer Don Seaver, black is not the natural color of any shellfish. The shells got that way from being buried at one time or another in black mud found in salt marsh areas near a coast.

To test this theory, Duke investigators headed by Dr. Orrin Pilkey buried different color seashells in a salt marsh near Beaufort, the site of Duke's marine laboratory. Within three weeks, the scientists reported, shells turned black all the way through.

INDICATE SHORE LINES

Bands of black shells located on the continental shelf, the scientists concluded, are a clear indication of ancient shore lines. Duke's research vessel, Eastward, has found four or five such bands off the coast of the southeastern United States.

The Duke scientists found other clues to the drowned shore lines. One was the proportion of broken shells in any deposit. This told the scientists something about the amount of wave action which broke the shells.

Still another clue was roundness. Shell fragments are worn smooth as waves wash them to and fro over beach sand. The scientists designed a tumbling barrel to simulate surf action and poured in shells.

After two weeks of tossing, the shells were rounded.

TRAVEL HUNDREDS OF MILES

The investigators were able to calculate that shells travel several hundred miles before they are significantly rounded.

Putting all their evidence together, the scientists have charted a series of former shore lines off the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida.

They roughly parallel the present southeastern coast and mark the retreat and return of Atlantic waters as the ice age seas rose and fell.

Radio-carbon tests show most of them are less than 20,000 years old.

Wigs Big for Christmas, According to Catalogues

By SALLY RYAN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK — The ultimate Goldilocks.

It is right there in the Neiman-Marcus Christmas catalogue—a wig spun of 24 karat gold. For $35,000 an affluent Santa Claus can make his girl a golden cherub.

It may be the wiggiest Christmas in history. Wigs are scattered through the Christmas catalogues now in the mail.

The Dallas department store even has wigs for men. They come in blonde or brown human hair—bountifully unbarbered and earthing priced at $45.

HAIRY CHRISTMAS

Even the kiddies may have a hairy Christmas.

F.A.O. Schwarz, the toy chain is sending out 900,000 Christmas catalogues—100,000 more than last year—offering Pamela and Party Kit, for $25.

Stone Age Man Had It Rough

LONDON (UPI) — The good old days weren't all that good for stone age man. He worked too hard, his tools were too primitive, his knowledge of mining and agriculture barely enough to keep him in food, shelter and weapons.

Normally archaeologists content themselves with digging up the past and speculating from the artifacts what might have happened in a far distant day. But recently in Denmark and elsewhere, scientists have tried to reproduce the techniques used by ancient men to acquire otherwise unobtainable information.

For example, in one experiment, iron smelting furnaces resembling those in use nearly 2,000 years ago were built and operated.

The best scientists could achieve with it was 20 per cent efficiency, and that took a lot of work. And the further back in time the experiments went, the less effective the processes they found.

There was, however, one notable exception, according to Dr. Vincent Proudfoot, writing in "Science Journal."

He said reproduction of a method of using flash floods in Israel's Negev Desert for irrigation by the Nabateans about 200 B.C. showed that the produced crops comparing favorably with normal unirrigated farming in the north of modern Israel.

Pamela is a dainty ballerina who keeps up with the world of fashion by changing her wig. Included are blonde and brunette wigs, which transform her appearance for each party.

Neiman-Marcus has a thing about equality of the sexes. Each year its catalogue features His and Her punks, His and Her parasols, His and Her bathtubs.

This year's bit of togetherness is a matched pair of desert plutocrats, His and Her camels—for people who have been promising themselves to slow down. The store will fly a pair of the first Christmas beasts to your private oasis for $4,125.

SMALLER ANIMALS

There may be some smaller animals under the Christmas tree, too.

Tiffany & Co., the Fifth Avenue jeweller, has a zodiac of baubles—a dancing dragon of diamonds, $9,000, an emerald-eyed sea serpent, $10,700, a dog bracelet, $10,400 and a diamond-clawed alligator pin, $7,200. They'd all fit in a golden basket—Tiffany's vermeil berry basket, $280.

There is a pond full of Tiffany sterling frogs—a mustard pot for $250, salt and pepper shakers for $175 and a centerpiece for $225.

A tiny 18-karat gold mouse perches on a wedge of crystal cheese, $50 at Steuben glass. With the approach of an election year, Steuben also has a crystal donkey, $137.50. Elephants cost $2.50 more than donkeys.

NEWEST MEMBER

J. C. Penney Co. features the newest member of Santa's menagerie since Rudolph—Santa Mouse. There are Santa Mouse sleepers, $2.96, Santa Mouse gowns, $2.96, Santa Mouse pocketed holiday party dresses, $3.96, Santa Mouse luxurious pants sets, $5.96, Santa Mouse dolls, $3.29, Santa Mouse story books, 94 cents, Santa Mouse records, 88 cents and Santa Mouse His and Her robes, $3.94, size 1 to 4.

In the doll department, there are L'il Miss Fussy who kicks and cries until you change her diaper and Baby's Hungry, who rolls her eyes and whines, $10.88 apiece. Tuiy who splices and turns her head when you dunk her in a tub, $10.99 and That Kid, who talks tough if you pull his slingshot out of his jeans pocket, $11.88.

Penneys also caters to the tinkers. If there is someone on your list whose ambition is to make a mechanical locomotive produced crops comparing favorably with normal unirrigated farming in the north of modern Israel.

Soviets Admit That U.S. Has Gained in SE Asia

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Foreign News Analyst

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—Sen. J. W. Fulbright and other press, are convinced that U.S. policy in Vietnam is a failure. But the Soviet leaders, incredible as it may seem, now concede that firm resistance to aggression has already resulted in substantial diplomatic and political gains for the United States in Southeast Asia.

This is actually what an authoritative Russian commentator said recently in a long survey of the situation in Southeast Asia printed in Moscow's newspaper Izvestia.

Vikenty Matveyev is more than a commentator. He is regarded by specialists on communism as a member of a small group of Soviet spokesmen who frequently "leak" to the outside world the opinions of the Kremlin's top leaders.

To be sure, there were brickbats in Matveyev's bouquet. What he was really trying to prove was that the anti-Russian policies of Red China provided an opportunity for the United States to improve its positions in Asia.

LACK OF JOINT ACTION

He attributed the American diplomatic and political gains to Mao Tse-tung's rejection of joint action by the Communist nations in Vietnam.

Said Matveyev: "The American buildup began only when the group of Mao Tse-tung announced for all to hear that it flatly rejected the proposals of the Soviet and other Communist parties for unity of action in the struggle against American aggression."

Moscow's charge against Peking is old stuff that is unlikely to impress even faithful Marxists.

However, in castigating Mao, Matveyev unwittingly revealed how the Kremlin leaders assess the progress of the Vietnamese conflict.

POSITIONS STRENGTHENED

He noted, among other things, that since the escalation of the war U.S. positions have been strengthened in Japan, India and especially in Indonesia where military men defeated the Communists who were ready to take over the country.

More significant, in Moscow's view, is the emergence in Asia of a group of nations linked to the U.S. more closely than ever before.

In addition to Indonesia, the pro-American group includes the Philippines, Thailand, Malaysia, South Korea, Laos, South Vietnam, Australia and New Zealand.

If the critics of the Johnson administration could stop long enough to take a fresh look at the real situation in Southeast Asia they would realize that this is actually what the President and Secretary of State Dean Rusk have been trying to explain to the American people.

FIGMENT OF IMAGINATION

In the case of Vietnam, at least, the so-called credibility gap is largely a figment of Fulbright's imagination.

In the view of specialists on communism, the Russian assessment will eventually force North Vietnam and the Vietcong to agree to peace negotiations.

Moscow, as the self-styled leader of world communism, must continue to supply Hanoi with arms, however reluctantly. But it understands better than some U.S. senators and professors that war protesters and draft-card burners will have little effect on Johnson's policies. Nor will they curb the urge for freedom by the people of Southeast Asia.

White House Knew of Order—Hershey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft with campus military recruit chief Lewis B. Hershey says the White House knew in advance of his order that local draft boards revoke deferments of college students who won't carry their burden with the White House before issuing the order.

"It's hard not to confer with the White House," the Selective Service director added. Hershey is directly responsible to President Johnson and reports directly to him rather than through intermediate offices.

Hershey said the Oct. 26 order, issued five days after a mass protest at the Pentagon, wouldn't apply to students peacefully protesting the draft or the Vietnam war but only to those who violate a law enacted earlier this year.

Parents of 14 End Bitter Quarrel in Death

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Three of Joel V. Turnbow's 14 children saw him kill their mother and then end his own life with a shot in the head Wednesday.

It was the grim climax to one of many quarrels between the unemployed trucker, 45, and his ex-wife Marie, 42, who had divorced him March 3.

Nine of their children still lived with the mother, and her

A medical examiner entered a verdict of murder and suicide. Nita said her mother tried to telephone for police but was unable to make the call because the lines had been cut.

"He always told mother, 'I'll kill you and myself if you get a divorce,'" related Dora Morgan, one of the couple's older daughters.

He ran mother off the road one time, and was always coming over here and tearing up things.

Elections Comfort GOP, Dems

By WALTER R. MEARS, Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON — Democrats and Republicans both claim comfort in the outcome of Tuesday's off-year elections—balloting which provided answers but also posed new questions about the mood of the electorate one year before the contest for the White House.

Chief among the questions was the 1968 potency of the so-called white backlash vote, defeated—but by tiny margins—with the election of Negro mayors in Cleveland and in Gary, Ind.

Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey said those victories for Negro Democrats, coupled with Boston's rejection of the controversial Louise Day Hicks, "put the so-called white backlash in its place."

That place did not appear an insignificant one—particularly with the approach of statewide elections in which big-city pluralities often are the decisive factor.

VIET ISSUE

Another item for the political strategists: The potential impact next year of the war in Vietnam. San Francisco voters rejected a proposal urging a cease fire and U.S. withdrawal and President Johnson's Democratic supporters called it evidence of growing support for his policy.

Republicans, on the other hand, raised the war issue in Kentucky and New Jersey and scored big victories.

20 PCT. OF WHITE VOTE

Cleveland's voter registration is Democratic by a 10 to 1 margin. Stokes got virtually all the Cleveland Negro vote and about 20 per cent of the white ballots. C. Bliss, Republican national chairman, boasted of sharp reductions in Democratic majorities in some big cities, noting that the last GOP nominee in Cleveland got only 17 per cent of the vote. But that party-line analysis ignored the racial factor.

Stokes could become a featured Democratic performer, particularly in Negro areas, during the 1968 election campaign. And Cleveland could be crucial in determining which party wins Ohio's electoral votes.

In Gary, Negro Richard G. Hatcher won by 1,389 votes, but his Republican rival, Joseph Hadigan, challenged the victory with charges of voting irregularities.

CONTROVERSIAL RACE

Kevin H. White, Massachusetts secretary of state, was elected mayor of Boston by 102,551 votes to 90,122 for Mrs. Hicks in another close contest marked by racial dispute.

Mrs. Hicks stirred controversy with her total opposition to the transportation of Negro children to white neighborhood schools for the sake of racial balance. White carried predominantly Negro neighborhoods by a margin of about 3 to 1.

Scanning the outcome, in which a Negro was elected to the Virginia Legislature and another won in Mississippi, Whitney M. Young Jr., director of the National Urban League, said: "While the backlash is there, it is not as powerful as the demagogues would have us believe."

There were other Negro victories—six for Mississippi county offices, one to the Boston City Council, others to local posts scattered from New England to the South.

'SWING VOTE'
James Farmer, former chairman of the Congress of Racial Equality, said the elections proved Negro voters are growing in sophistication and independence, developing "a swing vote which can just as well go independently as support either party."

The shape of the backlash vote will take on additional importance in 1968 if, as expected, Alabama's former Gov. George Wallace, a segregationist, mounts his third-party campaign for the presidency.

Furthermore, the significance of city pluralities in a statewide election has been at odds with his uses and national unrest cannot be far different from that in a local election. Democrats could tend toward support of Wallace in 1968. Nunn's victory man Webster B. Todd.

State Campaign Begun Against Rheumatic Fever

LANSING (UPI) — Some 250 public health officials, doctors and nurses launched a campaign yesterday to wipe-out a rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease in Michigan.

The key to elimination of rheumatic fever is early diagnosis and treatment of strep throat which causes the illness. Dr. Edward L. Quinn of Ford Hospital's Division of Infectious Disease said.

Rheumatic fever leads to permanent heart damage in about 20 per cent of the cases, he said. Quinn said penicillin treatment within nine or 10 days of a strep attack eliminated the danger of rheumatic fever.

Hussein Statements Puzzling

By ENDRE MARTON, Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jordanian King Hussein's visit to Washington, which opened with hopes he might bear radical new Arab proposals for ending the Middle East crisis, ends in diplomatic puzzlement over what the Arabs really want.

The optimism in Washington's diplomatic circles was based on statements Hussein made in a New York interview last Sunday, among them that the Arabs are ready to recognize Israel's right "to live in peace and security."

Saying he spoke not just for Jordan but for the Arab world, Hussein stated that under certain conditions, the Arabs might recognize Israel's right to use the Strait of Tiran and the Suez Canal. Hussein called this a "very tremendous change" in the Arab position, and the Jordanian administration's experts agreed. But in two later public speeches, in Washington, the king gave no hint of any policy change, tremendous or otherwise.

Hussein's statements to President Johnson during Wednesday evening White House talks remained a secret. Informed sources reported, however, that during his Monday conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk the king failed to repeat the possible Arab concessions he mentioned in New York.

NO DOUBT
Highly placed U.S. sources stress they don't doubt Hussein was sincere in presenting his "tremendous change" formula last Sunday and equally sincere in believing he had a mandate to speak for all Arabs. The question which puzzles experts is what happened after Hussein's New York performance.

These officials offer one explanation: Some time after Sunday the king learned that President Abdel Gamal Nasser of Egypt decided to call for a U.N. Security Council meeting, thus pulling the rug from under the man who climbed to speak for him in Washington.

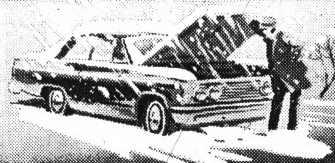

Examination of audiometers used to test hearing, especially in schools, indicates that many of these devices are faulty and thus make testing inaccurate.

MOTHERHOOD VOTE — Mrs. Marjorie H. O'Laughlin watches four of her children, Brian 10, Kevin 7, Patty 11, and Bill Jr. 12, yesterday after she defeated the Democratic incumbent for Indianapolis city clerk. The mother of six is expecting a seventh in February, a month after she takes office. Mrs. O'Laughlin, 38, tried to withdraw from the campaign when she learned she was pregnant, but party officials didn't think a mother-apparent would hurt the ticket.

Nitze: U.S. Ready for N-Attack in '70s

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department believes that if a nuclear war were fought in the 1970s, the United States could take a surprise Soviet attack and still have "thousands" of nuclear warheads left to destroy Russia.

It calculates that if only "several hundred" of these got through Soviet defenses, 30 percent of the Soviet population would be killed.

It also claims that if any two of the three U.S. strategic nuclear forces — land-based missiles, submarine missiles and bombers — were wiped out, the one surviving force could by itself inflict "unacceptable damage" on the Soviet Union.

These three statements are part of a remarkable Defense Department document which was submitted yesterday to the military applications subcommittee of the joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, which has been holding hearings on U.S. nuclear readiness.

I.C.B.M. CHALLENGE

It was in reply to a paper which Californian Craig Hosmer, senior House Republican on the committee, had put into the hearing record Monday. He contended that sometime between 1969 and 1972, Russia would have more Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles (ICBMs) than the United States.

Nitze challenged the idea that numbers of "missiles" or total megatons are the important factors. In a few years, he said, U.S. missiles will carry a number of warheads which would separate in flight and hit different targets.

One possible U.S. missile, Nitze said, could carry 10 "separately aimed" 50 - kiloton warheads (totaling one-half megaton or the equivalent of 500,000 tons of TNT).

Or, he said, the same missile could carry one 10-megaton warhead (equal to 10 million tons of TNT, a 20 times bigger total bang).

COMPARATIVE WORTH

The first missile could destroy 10 airfields, Nitze said; the second, only one.

Hosmer's paper also challenged the very basis of the U.S. "deterrent" theory by questioning U.S. ability to actually deliver a mortal blow after a surprise attack.

2 Charged in Murder of Store's Head

JACKSON (AP) — Two inmates of Jackson State Prison have been charged with first degree murder in the slaying of a Westland supermarket manager whose bullet-riddled body was found in the Detroit River five months after he was kidnapped from the driveway of his home.

Charged with the murder of Anthony Volante are David Krogol, 24, and Gene E. Mitchell, 28.

Both have been in prison on other charges since June.

When Volante, the father of three children, disappeared last winter, police theorized he had been kidnapped. They noted the Lincoln Park Wrigley supermarket, which had been locked by Volante, was open and the safe emptied of $2,658.

BODY DISCOVERED

Months later, on July 2, a fisherman found a body floating in the Detroit River, a 10-foot chain attached to a cement block and bound to both legs. The body was Volante's.

FDA Head Lectured for Marijuana Remarks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. James L. Goddard, appearing before a House panel, was told his remarks on marijuana have been "taken as license" and are "a great disservice to all people." Goddard repeated to members of the House Commerce Committee his belief that marijuana represents less of a national health problem than alcohol. He said that while he would be all right, "do not believe marijuana is more dangerous than alcohol." But he emphasized he also believes marijuana is dangerous. Rep. Hastings Keith, R-Mass., asked Goddard if he would be more upset if his daughter asked him to "make criminals of" her. However, he said, while it is smoked marijuana is more dangerous than if she "I drank alcohol."

End Seen to Uranium Import Curbs

By Science Service

CHICAGO — The boom in nuclear power reactors will mean an early end to restrictions on uranium imports, an Atomic Energy Commission member told an atomic group here.

Commissioner Wilfred E. Johnson said at the continuing meeting of the Atomic Industrial Forum that restrictions on the enrichment of foreign uranium for use by domestic power plants probably would be lifted by 1973.

Johnson previously had considered 1975 as the most likely date for lifting the restriction.

Johnson said the demand for uranium to fuel the fast-expanding network of nuclear power plants now being planned would probably be such that domestic mining industries will need help by 1973.

To date, construction of a total of 87 nuclear plants with a capacity of more than 58,000 megawatts has been announced. This is more than the total U. S. electric capacity just before World War II.

The sudden upsurge of interest in nuclear power over the last two years has caught the uranium mining industry unprepared.

A slump in uranium demand in the late 1950s, caused by reduced government needs for weapons material, led to almost complete abandonment of exploration for the mineral.

In the last year or so, the mining industry has renewed its exploration activities, said Frank C. Love, president of the Kerr-McGee Corp. But he said that the presently planned power plants will need some 680,000 tons of uranium concentrate, compared to the current reserves of 141,000 tons.

Before mined uranium can be used in reactors, it has to be enriched to increase the percentage of uranium 235, which normally makes up less than one per cent of natural uranium.

WORKSHOP—Sixth grade teachers of the Waterford Township School District recently had the opportunity to study the heart and its functions at a workshop held at the Oakland County Department of Health. Here the teachers inspect actual hearts from animals.

52 Teachers Go to Health Workshop

Fifty-two sixth grade teachers under the direction of Julia Miller, public health nursing supervisor, School District recently attended a workshop at the Oakland County Department of Health designed to acquaint them with materials useful in teaching the general sciences.

The workshop was conducted by five public health nurses, studied. The 26 displays were arranged according to grade level. Participating teachers studied the heart and its functions. Actual hearts from animals were studied.

A similar study was made of the lungs and their functions. Models of the torso were used in conjunction with the explanation of the vital organs.

Dental hygiene also was exhibited. Magnetic charts were used to demonstrate characteristics of certain formations of teeth alignments.

Another demonstration was based on hearing problems and causes. Another segment of the workshop attempted to develop a general understanding of the nervous system and its functions within the human body.

USE OF INSTRUMENTS The teachers also learned about the use of such instruments as the stethoscope, sphygmomanometer (measures blood pressure), microscope and audiometer by using the equipment under the supervision and instruction of the nurses.

Miss Miller said she was impressed with the participation of the teachers and felt that their interest in being better qualified to teach related subjects was most rewarding. She said it took much time to prepare the workshop, but attested that it was well worth the effort.

Cleveland Mayor-Elect Picks New Police Chief

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Mayor-elect Carl B. Stokes picked Police Inspector Michael J. Blackwell Wednesday night to be his chief of police.

Stokes had said during his campaign that if elected he would replace Chief Richard Wagner.

Leads in the Negro community have been critical of what they call poor police-community relations.

Stokes, Cleveland's first Negro mayor, said that he and Blackwell agreed with the "basic recommendations" of a controversial Little Hoover Commission report calling for more uniformed policemen on the streets and increased community relations efforts by the department.

'CAN MEET NEEDS'

The 64-year-old Blackwell has the reputation of being a tough, racket-busting policeman. For the past 10 years he has been in charge of the basic patrol.

Stokes called him "the man with the image, record and performance to meet the needs of fighting crime in the streets of Cleveland."

Wagner, 54, who was appointed to the job by outgoing mayor Ralph S. Locher four years ago, had said before Tuesday's election that he would resign, whoever won.

Blackwell was Stokes' third appointment. Shortly after he was announced as winner of the election he named attorney Joseph F. McManamon, a friend and former police sergeant, as safety director. James S. Carnes, a former assistant police prosecutor, was picked by Stokes as chief police prosecutor. All three appointees are white.

MAY SEEK RECOUNT

Meanwhile, Republican Seth Taft has indicated that even though he congratulated Stokes Wednesday morning on his election, he may still ask for a recount.

A statement from Taft headquarters Wednesday night said the GOP candidate would wait to see the official results of Tuesday's election before deciding whether to ask for a recount.

Stokes' margin of victory, according to unofficial returns from the board of elections, was a mere 2,501 votes out of a vote of 257,157. He received 129,829 votes to 127,328 for Taft. Analysis of the vote showed that Stokes lost some support in predominantly Negro wards but more than doubled his strength in white areas compared with the Oct. 3 primary vote. The estimated Negro vote for Stokes was 86,000 compared to 92,000 in the primary. But he picked up some 43,000 white votes compared to 18,000 in the primary.

SPEAKS AT LUNCHEON

Stokes, who takes office Monday, appeared at the annual "Future of Cleveland" luncheon

3 GIs' Return Would Still Leave 162 Missing in S. Viet

WASHINGTON (UPI)—If and disappeared in South Vietnam; had been listed as missing. He respectively, when three U.S. soldiers designated as prisoners of war by the Vietcong, and one civilian, Ramsey, returned to American custody, there will be 162 Americans still listed as missing in South Vietnam.

State Department officials said today they hoped that M. Sgt. Edward R. Johnson, M. Sgt. Daniel Lee Pitzer and Staff Sgt. James E. Jackson would turn up in Cambodia as Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodian chief of state, indicated yesterday they would.

The State Department and the Red Cross have been working quietly throughout the Vietnam conflict to try to gain the release of prisoners but have gotten little response from the Communists.

Efforts continue through a variety of channels; it is conceivable that Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy was asked to inquire about U.S. prisoners through Sihanouk during her visit to Cambodia.

Sihanouk said in Phnom Penh yesterday that Mrs. Kennedy had asked him about Douglas K. Ramsey, 33, an official of the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID) captured by the Vietcong Jan. 17, 1966. Ramsey is the only confirmed U.S. civilian prisoner of the Vietcong.

SIGN OF REGRET

U.S. officials speculated that the three Army sergeants were being released as a sign of regret over the death Sept. 24 of Gustav C. Hertz, a high-ranking AID official who was kidnapped by the Vietcong Feb. 2, 1965. But they say they have nothing to confirm Sihanouk's contention that the release was connected with Hertz.

The State Department announced earlier this week that it had received word, forwarded through Sihanouk, that Hertz had died in captivity after a severe case of malaria.

The Vietcong, like the North Vietnamese, has refused to supply the names of Americans they hold as prescribed by the 1949 Geneva Convention of prisoners of war. North Vietnam has signed that convention, though the Vietcong have not.

U.S. officials give this breakdown of Americans who have 141 missing; 24 military men disappeared July 5, 1966. M. The VC have released some they released two civilian U.S. prisoners. Last February construction workers, Thomas Scales and Robert Monahan, on the list of identified VC prisoners; they were captured July Oct. 7, 1966, and Sgt. Sammie Womach, captured Dec. 29, 1964,vious May.

If You Want Fruit Cake for the Holidays, Bake It Now

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Earlier this week a man called with a question about baking fruit cake. He refused to give his name so I can't do a feature story about him.

But his call reminded me that it's time to give you recipes for this year's baking.

Because fruit cake improves with age, you can make it now when you are not so busy with holiday preparations.

After the cake is cool. Wrap tightly in plastic wrap or aluminum foil and store in a cool, dark place. You may first wrap the cake in cheesecloth saturated with fruit juice, brandy, wine or whiskey.

About once a week, check the cloth and moisten again if necessary.

Glaze and decorate just before serving.

HOLLY RAISIN FRUIT CAKE

2 cups dark seedless raisins
2 cups golden seedless raisins
1 cup sliced dried apricots
1 cup sliced blanched almonds
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup halved candied cherries
2 cups diced candied pineapple
2½ cups diced mixed candied fruits and peels
1½ cups shortening
1½ cups honey
6 eggs
2½ cups sifted flour
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves

Combine raisins, apricots, nuts, candied fruits and peels. Cream shortening and honey together. Beat in eggs one at a time.

Resift flour with baking powder, salt and spices. Blend into batter. Stir in fruits and nuts, mixing well.

Turn into greased 10-inch tube pan lined with 2 thicknesses of greased brown paper and one of waxed paper. Bake in very slow oven (250 degrees F.) with shallow pan of hot water on floor of oven, about 5 hours.

Makes 1 (7½-pound) tube cake.

Cracker Crumbs Replace Sugar

When you get too much liquid in frosting and you've just run out of powdered sugar, let graham cracker crumbs come to your rescue.

Roll the cracker crumbs until they are fine and add to the frosting until it is of spreading consistency. These crumbs absorb the unwanted moisture and give a tasty nutlike flavor to the frosting.

Snow Cap Fruit Cake

A rich dark fruit cake is easy to make when you start with date bar mix. Frosted with hard sauce, this cake is fine for gift giving or home entertaining.

Snow Cap Fruitcake

1 package date bar mix
½ cup hot water
3 eggs
¼ cup flour
¾ teaspoon baking powder
2 tablespoons light molasses
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon allspice
1 cup whole almonds
1 cup raisins
1 cup whole red candied cherries

Heat oven to 325 degrees. Grease and flour a loaf pan, 9x5x3 inches.

In large bowl blend date filling from date bar mix with hot water. Add crumbly mix, eggs, flour, baking powder, molasses and spices; blend well. Fold in nuts, raisins and cherries thoroughly.

Pour into prepared pan. Bake about 1 hour and 20 minutes, or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool thoroughly. Wrap and refrigerate.

Before serving, frost with hard sauce; decorate with candied cherries and almonds, if desired. Chill until hard sauce is set.

Hard Sauce: Blend ½ cup soft butter and 1 unbeaten egg white with ½ package creamy white frosting mix. Beat on high speed on electric mixer 1 minute, or by hand, until light and fluffy. Add ½ teaspoon rum flavoring, if desired.

MARKET BASKET

HOLLY RAISIN FRUIT CAKE

Brandy in fruit cake gives a pleasant flavor. Remember that the alcohol evaporates while the cake bakes, leaving only the flavor.

BRANDIED FRUIT CAKE

3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon each salt, cinnamon and nutmeg
¾ cup shortening
½ cup each honey and firmly packed brown sugar
2 eggs
½ cup brandy
1 pound mixed diced candied fruits
1 cup whole glace cherries
1 cup golden raisins
1 cup broken walnut meats

Mix and sift flour, baking soda, salt and spices. Cream shortening; cream in brown sugar and honey. Continue to cream until light and fluffy.

Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in brandy. Stir in fruits and nuts.

Add dry ingredients gradually, beating well with a spoon until blended.

Spoon into greased and floured 9-inch tube pan. Bake at 300 degrees for 2½ hours. Cool in pan 15 minutes. Remove to rack to finish cooling.

Wrap in aluminum foil; store to "ripen".

Glaze

2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon light corn syrup

Combine in saucepan; bring to boil and boil two minutes. Cool before using.

You don't have to light the speed of electric mixer 15 minutes. Add to Brazil nut-fruit mixture; blend thoroughly with spoon. Turn into prepared pan, pressing with spoon. Fold waxed paper over cake, press foil and keep in refrigerator. Makes 4½-pounds fruit cake.

NO-BAKE BRAZIL NUT FRUIT CAKE

3 cups Brazil nuts, (2 pounds unshelled, 1 pound shelled)
1 pound graham crackers
1½ cups seedless raisins
½ pound pitted dates, cut up
1 cup (8 ounces) diced, mixed glazed fruit
18-ounce jar maraschino cherries, drained
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup orange juice
½ cup sugar
¾ cup unsulphured molasses
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
¼ teaspoon each, cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves
¼ teaspoon each, allspice, ginger

Line a 9½ x 5½ x 2½-inch loaf pan, or 2 loaf pans 7½ x 3½ x 2-inches with two strips waxed paper, extending paper 3-inches above rim. Set aside.

Put Brazil nuts in a large mixing bowl. Finely crush graham crackers with a rolling pin; add to Brazil nuts with raisins, dates, glazed fruit and maraschino cherries.

Soften gelatin in orange juice; place over boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add sugar; stir until dissolved. Pour molasses into large bowl of electric mixer; add gelatin mixture, vanilla, orange rind and spices. Beat on highest

This Method Is 'Eggslenk'

To make hard-cooked eggs easier and quicker to peel, boil the required length of time, then quickly drain off the water in which they were cooked. Shake the pan containing the eggs until all the shells are cracked.

Then cover the eggs with cold water and let stand a few minutes. The shells will come off smoothly and quickly.

utes. Add to Brazil nut-fruit mixture; blend thoroughly with spoon. Turn into prepared pan, pressing with spoon. Fold waxed paper over cake, press foil and keep in refrigerator. Makes 4½-pounds fruit cake.

If desired, garnish with additional maraschino cherries and sliced Brazil nuts. Chill in refrigerator 6 to 8 hours.

utes. Add to Brazil nut-fruit mixture; blend thoroughly with spoon. Turn into prepared pan, pressing with spoon. Fold waxed paper over cake, press foil and keep in refrigerator. Makes 4½-pounds fruit cake.

NOTE: If desired, bought sorbs; place in top of double boiler. Increase orange juice to ¾ cup. Add to marshmallows mixture. Substitute 1 pound bought marshmallows for the gelatin, sugar and molasses.

Place over boiling water, stirring occasionally, until marshmallows are melted. Continue as directed.

SNOW CAP FRUITCAKE

SPAGHETTI WITH VEAL AND PEPPERS — From the no-nonsense kitchens of the Basilicata region in Southern Italy comes a recipe for Spaghetti with Veal and Peppers. It's a hearty main course typical of the region... good for serving to company because the sauce is a slow-cooking one which will wait if serving time is delayed.

Veal and Pepper Strips Go Into Spaghetti Sauce

The National Macaroni Institute pays tribute to the Italians who have made macaroni products so well-known and well-liked. Newly translated recipes are derived from one small section called Basilicata.

Spaghetti With Veal and Peppers

2 pounds boneless veal shoulder, cut in strips
Flour
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/2 Cup olive oil
4 medium green peppers, cut in strips
2 small onions, sliced
4 cloves garlic, minced
2 cans (1 pound, 3 ounces each) tomatoes
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
1 1/2 to 2 teaspoons salt

1 1/2 teaspoons basil leaves
1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon oregano
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
2 tablespoons salt
4 to 6 quarts boiling water
1 pound spaghetti

Coat veal with flour; brown in butter and oil in large skillet. Remove meat; saute green peppers and onion about 5 minutes. Return meat; add garlic, tomatoes, sauce, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, herbs and pepper. Simmer covered 1 hour, stirring occasionally. Add 2 tablespoons salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Serve with veal and pepper sauce. Makes 8 servings.

New Cookbook From California Tells All About Avocados

If you had over 250 avocado trees behind your home, what would you do? Mrs. Helen Bauer has that many avocado trees, all laden with the luscious fruit, so she decided to write The Avocado Cookbook! This new book is co-authored by Mrs. Bauer's daughter, Roberta Logerman, and published by Doubleday & Co.

The Bauer family reports they "just love avocados and eat at least one a day." The rest of the crop from their 250 trees is sent to grocery stores.

Not only does this book contain over 600 tempting recipes, but it covers the fascinating background of the avocado as well.

For instance; "... the avocado... was eaten and enjoyed by the Mayans of Mexico three hundred years before Christ was born. The ancient Aztecs of Mexico, who had long used the fruit as a staple food drew hieroglyphics to symbolize the place where the avocado abounds."

One place where the avocado abounds today is Lake San Marcos, a community in Southern California surrounded by avocado growing areas.

San Marcos Avocado Leaf 1 medium-sized avocado, cubed 1 1/2 cups diced cooked chicken 1/4 cup chopped green pepper 1/2 cup finely chopped celery 3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice

3 1/4 cups hot water
3 chicken bouillon cubes
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
2 1/2 tablespoons plain gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1/4 cup mayonnaise

Combine avocado with chicken, pepper, celery, and lemon juice. Pour hot water over 3 servings.

chicken bouillon cubes and celery salt. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot bouillon. Chill until slightly thickened. Add mayonnaise to avocado mixture, blending lightly. Add to bouillon mixture. Pour into oiled mold and chill until firm. Unmold. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Coaches Eye Weather for Kettering-Waterford Tilt

Silver Lining in Cloudbursts for Captains During Season

Nobody likes to play football in the rain, but coach Jim Larkin of Kettering wouldn't mind if the skies opened up for a couple of hours around 8 p.m. tomorrow.

That is kickoff time for the game between the Captains and arch-rival Waterford Township on the Skippers' field.

"We've played our two best games in the rain," said Larkin, "and more of the same probably would help us against Township."

Ironically the two contests he is speaking about were losses. They were 12-7 to East Detroit and 19-14 to Roseville, both overwhelming favorites.

"Roseville is the best team we've played in the seven years I've been here," said Kettering's only football coach. "But the boys were really ready for that one."

"That's been our trouble this season, up and down, up and down. We played our poorest game against (Pontiac)

PAIR OF DONS — One of the stalwarts in Kettering's line is tackle Don Postle (71), who will play both ways against Waterford. Halfback Don Newton probably will see considerable action for the Captains. Kettering has won the last four meetings between the township rivals and holds a 5-1 record in the gridiron series.

Tomahawks' Attack Bolstered

Pistons' Dove Joining Pontiac Pro Cage Team

Lloyd (Sonny) Dove, who hasn't shone very brightly with the Detroit Pistons, has been sent to the Pontiac Tomahawks for additional playing experience.

The 6-8 Dove starred for three seasons at St. John's in New York and was the Pistons' second first-round draft pick last spring in the National Basketball Association draft.

(Detroit had two selections after receiving Los Angeles' No. 1 pick in the ill-fated Ray Scott — Rudy LaRusso trade.)

The slender forward was a scoring and rebounding strongman in college, but has seen very little action with Detroit during the regular season.

He joins guard Paul Long, 6-2 from Wake Forest, on option to the Tomahawks from Detroit.

Both Long and Dove will be with the Pistons in their games tonight and Friday, then report to Pontiac in time for the Tomahawks' 8 p.m. North American Basketball League debut Saturday in Holland's Civic Center.

AGREEMENT

The Pistons and Tomahawks have completed arrangements for a working agreement.

Tomahawk coach Bob Duffy also has selected Jim Patterson, Dick Dalk, Joe Maddrey, Lou Hyatt, Arnie and Ken Nevels, Marty Letzmann and either Ron Bogoyevac, Marnie Jackson or Ben Bernoudy to complete the 10-man travel roster for the opener.

The home season will begin the following Saturday (Nov. 18) against always tough Grand Rapids. Tickets are $2 (adults) and $1 (student) and are on sale at 398 S. Saginaw or the Pontiac Firebirds downtown office.

One NABL game has already been played and Muskegon nipped Columbus, 131-129, in overtime last Saturday. Pontiac is in the same (Eastern) division as Columbus (plus Lansing and Battle Creek).

Bing Paces Attack

Detroit Nips Knicks

By JERE CRAIG

DETROIT — "I knew he'd run right over me," Terry Dischinger gloated in the happy Detroit Pistons dressing room.

"He" was New York's Walt Bellamy and he tried to do just that — run right over (or through) the slender but seasoned front courtman who held his ground to save a fading Pistol lead.

The play came with seven seconds to go in a sloppy National Basketball Association game last night at Cobo Arena and enabled the host Pistons to preserve a 110-107 victory.

Many of the 6,051 had their coats on and were ready to leave when the Detroiters spurred to a 110-99 lead with 1:34 remaining.

But the fans stayed around knowing that the home team has too often dispensed similar advantages in recent seasons. Almost predictably, the Knicks notched eight points in a row as the Pistons faltered.

The home quintet had three straight turnovers then missed a hurried shot with 10 seconds to play. New York broke fast and Bellamy got the ball on the right side, drove hard for the hoop and drew his rally-killing charging foul.

BAD PLAYS

The visitors entered the last quarter with an 84-79 lead but they committed eight turnovers and four offensive fouls in the final 12 minutes.

"Dischinger's well-earned three-point play with an offensive rebound at the 8:11 mark brought the crowd to its feet and sent Detroit ahead for good, 91-89."

The 6-4 returnee from two years of military duty hit half of his 18 points during the final session. His 10 rebounds for the game trailed only teammate John Tresvant (13) and the losers' Willis Reed (14).

Dave Bing came off the bench after a poor third period — when the Pistons (played by 10 turnovers) twice fell behind by eight points — to notch eight of his Pistol pace 24 points in the decisive fourth.

The game was marked by a brief, wild-swinging fight between Dischinger and the Knicks' chippy guard Howe Kovinches. Neither player was banished.

Reed led all scorers with 28 points for New York. Dick Barnett hit for 19 and former Michigan star Cazzie Russell collected 18, trailing off after a fast start. Russell had only five rebounds and hurt the losers with two untimely fouls.

The victory lifted the Detroiters to a 6-4 mark and three wins in a row entering tonight's game with Seattle in New York as part of an NBA double-header at Madison Square Garden.

PROGRAM NO BENEFIT—Even the number roster in the program was of little use after the opening whistle of the Pontiac Firebirds-Flint Wildcats game in Flint last night. Tim Jones (15), one of the few whose jersey number can be identified, passes in the first period, completing a

Triumph Over Flint Costly for Firebirds

"FLINT" — The Pontiac Firebirds sloshed through ankle-deep mud to defeat the Flint Wildcats 20-0 in a Midwest Football League game at Alwood Stadium yesterday, but it was far from a happy win for the Firebirds.

Quarterback Tim Jones, who threw for two touchdown passes in the first half, limped off the field just before intermission and did not return in the second half.

Defensive back Chuck Stein, who had intercepted two passes, also had to be helped off the field with a leg injury.

X-rays showed no breaks when Jones was taken to a Flint hospital, but the talented quarterback who has guided the Firebirds to seven straight victories said the severe soreness was centered on the inside part of the right knee.

Firebirds' coach Tom Tracy said he was very concerned with the injuries to Jones and Stein and was hopeful that they may not be as serious as indicated.

Stein leads the team in pass interceptions with six and Jones with 17 touchdown passes leads the league in this department.

HOPEFUL OF PLAYOFF

The victory enabled the Firebirds to stay close to Mt. Clemens in the MFL title race, and hopeful of a playoff should Pontiac win its last two games and Mt. Clemens suffer one defeat.

Dry Gridiron Would Be Asset to Skippers' Speedy Attack

"We're hoping for a dry field," said Waterford Township coach John Moffat who is busy preparing the Skippers for their annual encounter with Kettering's Captains.

It's the season finale for both squads and kickoff is 8 p.m. Friday on the Skipper field.

"We're healthy and ready mentally," Moffat continued. "We expect a real tough game."

This is the big game for both squads. On the outcome rests a lot of prestige, although a victory will do little for either one record-wise.

This will be Moffat's third attempt to beat Kettering and coach Jim Larkin. Moffat served as assistant to Larkin before moving to Waterford three years ago. The Captains won 6-0 and 20-6 in the past couple of years and hold a 5-1 edge in the short series. The Skippers won in 1962, 19-13.

A DIFFERENT STORY

The Skippers will go into the game with a 4-3-1 record. And as Moffat pointed out, "Give us three points properly and we'd have had a share of the championship."

He was referring to the Inter-Lakes League race. Moffat and the Skippers won only once in league play, that a 27-19 verdict over Stevenson. On the other hand, they tied Farmington, 32-32, and lost to champion Walled Lake, 7-6. A point in the Farmington contest and a couple in the Walled Lake outing would have turned the season around for the Skippers.

Moffat fears a wet field and he has some good reasons.

He and the Skippers lost to Walled Lake and Pontiac Northern on a wet field, and they just squeaked past Lapeer, 2-0, in a muddier last Friday.

"Lake Lapeer," joked Moffat referring to the wet field. "We thought for awhile about using Scuba gear."

AERIAL THREAT — Quarterback Brad Potter of Waterford is a better than average passer who is expected to test the Kettering secondary tomorrow night. Supplying blocking help, and both good ball carriers, are Bruce Saffron (left) and Larry Hammerly. The game will be played at Waterford Township High field at 8 p.m.

Red Wings' New Goalie Gets Quick Call in Nets

DETROIT (UPI) — A new goalie will be in the Detroit net tonight when the Red Wings have their first clash with the Pittsburgh Penguins, the National Hockey League expansion team.

Taking the place of Roger Crozier, who quit rather than return to the minors, will be George Edwards, a good-looking 5-foot-8, 165-pounder who admits to being "just a little jittery" about playing his first NHL game.

Edwards, 30, showed up at the Detroit Pistons' game against the New York Knicks Wednesday night and told news men he was "nervous" and "couldn't sleep."

"But I imagine you could play in the NHL, 10 years and still be nervous," he said.

Edwards earned his spot in the Detroit net with three straight shutouts to start the season with Fort Worth in the Central League.

He added another later as the Texas Wings went unbeaten in nine games.

STARTS AS JUNIOR

After playing in the Chicago Black Hawk organization from junior hockey through nine professional years, Edwards was drafted by Pittsburgh in the expansion, then traded to Detroit for Hank Bassen two days before training camp opened this year.

The Wings are counting on Edwards to help them snap their three-game losing streak. Manager-Coach Sid Abel said he intends to start Jimmy Peters, whom he recalled with Edwards from the Fort Worth farm club, between veterans Gord Howe and Alex Delvecchio.

Howe, off to one of the best starts in his 22-year career, has 10 goals and six assists for 16 points, one point less than NHL scoring leader Bobby Hull of Chicago.

But Pittsburgh can also boast of a scoring leader. In Wednesday night's game, when the Penguins tied the Philadelphia Flyers, 1-1, former Red Wing Andy Bathgate collected an assist that brought his point total to 14, tops in the NHL's Western Division.

Another former Red Wing, veteran wing Ab McDonald, was credited with the Pittsburgh goal, his fourth of the season.

Abel is counting on a win over the Penguins tonight to boost his team's morale since, after facing the Montreal Canadiens at Olympia Sunday, the Wings must leave on a 16-day, seven-game road trip.

Leafs Atop East Division

Bower Tames Seals in Birthday Stint

By the Associated Press
It was Johnny Bower's umpteenth birthday and he celebrated by leading the elderly Toronto Maple Leafs to the top of the National Hockey League's East Division.

Bower, who is 43 if you believe him or 45 if you believe others, kicked out 38 Oakland shots as the Maple Leafs defeated the Seals 6-1 Wednesday night.

Combined with Boston's 6-3 romp over New York, the victory lifted the Stanley Cup champion Leafs into first place, one point in front of the Rangers.

TRIP CANADIENS
Elsewhere, slumping Stan Mikita scored two goals as Chicago tripped Montreal 3-2, Minnesota slugged St. Louis 5-1, and Pittsburgh battled Philadelphia to a 1-1 standoff.

Montreal's unassisted goal with less than five minutes remaining in the first period, got the Maple Leafs started against Oakland.

Then Toronto packed three goals into the second period with Murray Oliver, Allan Stanley and Jim Pappin clicking. After that Bower coasted.

Scoring champ Mikita, hampered by injuries, had managed just one goal in Chicago's first nine games but broke loose for a pair against the crippled Canadiens.

Montreal, already playing without Jean Beliveau and Claude Larose, lost John Ferguson, who broke his right hand in a fight with Chicago's Wayne Mak.

The victory was only the third of the season for Chicago and the first at home in five games for the Hawks, defending NHL champions.

Derek Sanderson scored two of Boston's goals as the Bruins ripped the Rangers. Sanderson's first goal came while he was killing a penalty and he scored the second just six seconds into the third period.

Vic Hadfield scored two of the Ranger goals.

Gross of $3 Million Likely

Contest Set Jan. 14 on Miami Field

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tickets went up for grabs today for pro football's Super Bowl game, with virtually certain prospects that it will be the first game in history to gross in excess of $3 million.

Inaugurated last January in the Los Angeles Coliseum, the playoff between National and American Football League champions was transferred to Miami's Orange Bowl and will be played Jan. 14.

The initial game was a disappointment, financially and artistically. Only 63,036 fans attended and the NFL's Green Bay Packers routed the Kansas City Chiefs 35-10.

EXPECT SELLOUT
An expected sellout of the 75,546-seat Orange Bowl would bring in $786,822. Television and radio revenue, up this year from $3 million to $2.5 million, would make the total gross $3,296,822.

This would top by more than one-half million the $2,768,260 grossed at Los Angeles.

In a release to a news conference here, football Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced that public ticket sales would be handled by the Orange Bowl committee and that the 13,000 holders of season tickets for the Miami Dolphin games would be given priorities in ticket purchases.

The 52,450 seats between the goal lines were priced at $12. Another 14,423 behind the goal lines will be $8 and end zone seats $6. Lower priced tickets will be placed on public sale at the Orange Bowl starting Nov. 27.

Approximately 55,000 tickets will be available to the public, 34,000 by mail order and 21,000 at the windows for $8 and $6. The two competing teams will be allocated 5,000 tickets each and the other pro clubs will receive additional priorities.

Players and coaches of the winning team will receive $15,000 each. Losing players and coaches will get $7,500. Of the remaining net receipts, 50 per cent will go to the player benefit plans of the two leagues, five per cent to each competing club, 10 per cent to each league office, and 20 per cent to the commissioner's office.

The game, to be televised and broadcast by the Columbia Broadcasting System, will be blacked out within a 75-mile radius of Miami.

New Club Drops 3rd

By the Associated Press
The front-running Columbus Checker kept a streak of sorts going Wednesday night when they dropped their third International Hockey League contest in four starts on home ice, losing to the Port Huron Flags, 3-1.

Nicklaus Good Putter? Not So Says Computer

NEW YORK (AP) — So, like almost everybody else, you think it's the guy with the hot putter who wins the big golf tournaments.

Not true, says Charley the Computer—golf champions are made by hitting the greens not putting them. His prime proof: Jack Nicklaus.

Charley is a collection of nuts and bolts and 100 flashing eyes who was sent out by IBM this summer to spy on the tournament golfers.

The findings were both revealing and surprising. For example:

Nicklaus, rated the world's best golfer, is actually a poor putter, measured by his top contemporaries. But he hits the ball farther than any of them and he is the best at hitting the greens.

BEST DRIVER

Arnold Palmer is the best driver. He is almost as long as Nicklaus off the tee and he's considerably more accurate. He has fewer three-putts greens than Bill Casper.

Casper, known as the machine man, actually has a poor record for driving accuracy and hitting greens. He still takes fewer putts than any of the other leading tournament pros.

The computer checked the touring golfers in 11 big time events, including the U.S. Open and the PGA. The others were Dallas, Fort Worth Colonial, Memphis, Cleveland, Canadian Open, Western, American Classic, Westchester and Philadelphia.

SPECIAL MENTION
Seven top players were put under special scrutiny. They were Nicklaus, Palmer, Casper, Doug Sanders, PGA champion Don January Bobby Nichols and Dan Sikes.

Of these seven, Nicklaus, the year's leading money winner with more than $188,000, turned out to be the worst putter. He averaged 123.8 putts a tournament and had an average of 2.6 three-putts greens for every 72 holes.

By Comparison, Casper's total putts averaged 119.2 a tournament and only 1.5 three-putts greens. Sikes also showed up as an excellent putter—with a 119.4 average—and only one three-putt green per event. Sanders also had only one three-putt green.

The area that apparently separates the men from the boys is the lick off the tee and the shot to the green.

Mira Heading for Court in Bid to Play Football

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — George Mira, an understudy quarterback who wants a chance to play, said Wednesday he likely will go into court to get it.

Mira told the San Francisco Chronicle he had been advised by Creighton Miller, National Football League Players Association attorney, that he would recommend taking the case to court if Mira is unable to deal with any club he wants after playing out his option with the San Francisco 49ers.

"All I want is a chance to go to a club where I might have an opportunity to be a starter," Mira said.

He has been an understudy to the 49ers John Brodie for three years.

Mira, a star at Miami University, would like a chance to play with the American Football League's Miami Dolphins.

Just when the opposition is getting used to chasing Pankner on about every play, the Captains prove they have other offensive weapons in their arsenal.

Usually it is the passing arm of quarterback Dennis Wooster, who, like most passers, can be effective when given adequate protection. But the rain and snow that has prevailed on most Friday nights this season has cut into this phase of the Captains' attack.

Halfbacks Bob Earls and Harry Booker occasionally sweep the ends and Booker is a top pass receiver. But the main cog is Pankner.

And the only team to effectively slow him was Pontiac Northern last week.

"Gene didn't practice all week before that game," Larkin pointed out, "and this may have been one of the reasons."

Kettering has two good tackles in Don Postle and Dennis Wilson who play both ways like most of the other regulars. Joe O'Connor has turned in some good defensive plays from his end position and guards Ron Waldrup and Tim McPartlin are hard-nosed players.

Craig Cattrell takes over at end and Lee Ryden at center on offense.

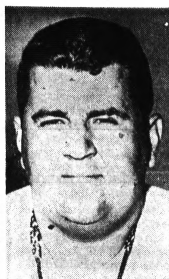

This will be Kettering's last football game as an independent since the Tri-County circuit folded last spring. The school will enter the Wayne-Oakland circuit next fall.

But Larkin isn't concerned about 1968.

"We start the rain dance today," he said.

Shores Golfing Crown

L. W. Smead of Orchard Lake teamed with James B. Henderson of Evanston, Ill., over the past weekend in taking the first in the Sixth Annual Fall nament. Riessen beat Luis Ferri in the Invitational Golf Tournament at nando Koch 6-2, 6-3. Richey defeated Eroni Scherer 4-6, 6-0, 6-3.

COACH JIM LARKIN

Goit Leads Waterford in Scoring

SEVERAL FAST BACKS

He has a stable of fine backs, and most are blessed with pretty good speed, and all perform better when the rain is absent.

COACH JOHN MOFFAT

The big gun in the Skipper arsenal is halfback Steve Goit, a 5-10, 175-pound speedster, one of five juniors who see a lot of action in the Waterford backfield.

Goit, with good moves on end runs, has scored nine touchdowns to lead the Skippers in that department. Along with his running, he rates as one of the top pass receivers on the squad.

The passing part of the Skipper game also suffers in the rain, but with proper conditions tomorrow night, quarterback Brad Potter and mates are expected to exploit the porous Kettering secondary.

Potter throws well and he runs when forced into it.

0 JUNIOR PERFORMERS

Other juniors likely to see action tomorrow are Bruce Safiron, who also doubles as the kicking specialist, Mike Sheldon and Larry Hemmery.

Sheldon was a late bloomer and the 5-8, 150-pounder has contributed a lot to the Skipper success. He has scored four touchdowns.

Saffron has boosted 13 extra points, and he might well be the difference in a tight ball game. It's known that Moffat wouldn't set back by Fairmont, W.Va. has hesitated to use him in a field goal situation—that being any-where inside the 30-yard line.

Lady Kegler Sparkles

Virginia Millar warmed the week as Huron Bowl's classic janes and the men zeroed in last league bowlers sent the pins flying.

Mrs. Millar tonight will be trying to duplicate or improve her 201-222-202-625 of last week in the Ladies Classic. The series is the best reported for a woman this fall at the establishment and the second best for all local women.

Shirley Pointer had 230-581 and the J. Johnson team 947-2649. Also last week, Norma Siasuk hit a 122 triplicate.

Packers' Pact With FB Riles Redskins' Graham

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington Redskins' Coach Otto Graham said Wednesday he has filed a formal protest over the signing of last squad fullback Chuck Mercein by the Green Bay Packers.

Graham accused Packers' Coach Vince Lombardi of breaking his word not to sign Mercein if the Redskins had plans to use him. The Washington coach said Mercein might have been activated this week.

"Lombardi did not wait to see about our plans for Mercein. He went ahead and did it. He did not keep his word," Graham charged Wednesday.

The backfields of both National Football League teams have been crippled by injuries this season. The defending champion Packers lost both their starters at running back, Jim Grabowski and Elijah Pitts, last Sunday against Baltimore.

Graham said he filed a protest with the NFL office, but added, "Legally, I guess there's nothing we can do about it. To my knowledge, this is the first time that anything like this has happened."

Mercein was the leading ground gainer for the New York Giants last season, but was placed on waivers this fall. When no team claimed him he became a free agent.

Washington placed him on the taxi squad, the nickname for players paid salaries and kept in reserve beyond the 40-man limit for each team.

Small College Squad Rising

By the Associated Press
North Dakota State's 41-7 victory over Morningside in its season finale coupled with Wayneburg's unexpected 7-0 setback by Fairmont, W.Va. has enabled the Bison from Fargo, N.D. to replace the Yellow Jackets in second place in The Associated Press' small-college football poll today.

San Diego State, idle last week, maintained its solid lead in the latest voting by a national panel of 16 sports writers and broadcasters based on games through last Saturday.

Every U.S. Jogger Needs Jogging Trail of His Own

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The temperature was in the low 40s and a stiff breeze was whipping up graycaps on the Potomac which is too polluted to have whitecaps.

In short, it was a lousy day for "The First National Jogathon." Or so considered it. But then our leader, Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, showed up in a short-sleeved sweatshirt, a doughy figure apparently impervious to the chill that was seeping through my topcoat.

And suddenly I felt abashed at having been intimidated by the little thing like double pneumonia.

After a few inspirational words, Udall gave the signal and we jogged forth into this story. For we were officially opening the National Park Service's first jogging trail.

Having finally recognized that every jogger should have a trail he can call his own, the government has set up one-mile jogging courses in four capital parks.

It hopes this will be the beginning of a great national movement and that soon jogging trails will be situated in every city and hamlet across our broad land.

There were, I would guess, about 100 joggers on hand for the trail opening, including a busload from Baltimore.

Among them were the co-authors of a jogging handbook which instructs beginners in the fine points, such as how to put one foot in front of the other.

I was interested to note that Udall uses a jogging form identified in the handbook as the "Swedish Partlek."

Practitioners of this method jog for 10 yards and then walk an equal distance. Which distinguishes them from "New Zealand Partlekers," who strike a steady pace and hold it.

The Park Service trails have markers every 10 yards, so that Swedish Partlekers will know when to change pace. The markers also can be used to support one's self in case one runs out of breath.

After resting up for a couple of hours following the dedicatory jog, I returned to the trail to see if I could make it to the second marker. This time I was the only jogger in sight.

As I jogged along in a modified New Zealand Partlek, I was reminded of the immortal words of Snoopy, the comic strip beguile: "To me, this looks like a good place to get mugged."

'ALL CLEAR FOR LANDING'—A soldier of the reconnaissance platoon of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry gives troop-carrying helicopters the "all clear for landing" signal by raising his rifle above his head. The copters landed in the open field adjacent to a hamlet before the rest of the platoon came in. They then charged the village, killing the four Vietcong who had been spotted from the air. The action took place along the central Vietnamese coast near Tam Ky, 350 miles north-northeast of Saigon.

Fifth Grade Quiz Snap (?) for Adults

By DICK SAUNDERS

How're you at following simple directions? Easy, you say? If you're anything like me, you spend half your waking hours explaining to your kids how important (and easy) it is to follow directions.

I offer a tip and a test to SAUNDERS fellow adults who champion the virtues of following directions.

First, the tip. Don't finish your "directional" sermons with a statement like: "I am a proud father and provider, successful in my chosen occupation because I learned how to follow directions."

Leave fatherhood out of it. You may find yourself having to explain what directions one bygone elementary level. I here-with reproduce the test in its entirety. Give it a whirl.

Test Your Directions Aptitude

1. Loudly call out your first name when you get this far along.
14. If you have followed directions carefully to this point, call out "I have."
15. On the reverse side of this paper, add 8950 and 9805.
16. Put a circle around your answer, and put a square around the circle.
17. In your normal speaking voice, count 10 to one backwards.
18. Put three small holes in the top of this paper with your pencil point.
19. If you are the first person to reach this point, call out, "I am the first person to this point, and I am the leader in following directions."
20. Underline all even numbers on the left side of this paper.
21. Call out, "I am nearly finished. I have followed directions."
22. Now that you have finished reading everything carefully, do only sentences one and two!!!

Can You Follow Directions?

- (This is a time test—You have only 3 minutes)
1. Read everything carefully before doing anything.
 2. Put your name in the upper right-hand corner of this paper.
 3. Circle the word NAME in sentence No. 2.
 4. Draw five small squares in the upper left-hand corner.
 5. Put an "X" in each square.
 6. Put your name under the title of this paper.
 7. After the title write "Yes, yes, yes."
 8. Put a circle completely around sentence No. 7.
 9. Put an "X" in the lower left-hand corner of this paper.
 10. Draw a triangle around the "X" you just put down.
 11. On the back of this paper, multiply 703 by 66.
 12. Draw a rectangle around the word CORNER in sentence No. 4.

Comeback Is Predicted for Original Screenplay

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The comeback of the original screenplay is predicted and devoutly hoped for by George Axelrod, an experienced practitioner of that now rare art form.

For the outsider, it should be explained that films are derived from two sources: previously written material, such as plays, novels, television shows, comic strips, etc.; and original screenplays, written expressly for the film medium.

Axelrod is a veteran of both adaptations, "The Seven Year Itch," "Bus Stop," "Breakfast at Tiffany's," "The Manchurian Candidate" and originals "Phffft," "How to Murder Your Wife." Right now he is producing and directing his own original screenplay of "The Female Mistake," starring Walter Matthau and Anne Jackson.

"Actually I could have done this first as a play, since it would fit comfortably into two sets," said Axelrod, a cherubic 45. "But by the time I had gone through the process of putting it on the stage, I would have been too tired of it to film the movie."

WRITING ON FILM
"So I'm writing it on film instead. The camera is a marvelous typewriter; you can use faces instead of words."

Axelrod hopes that other writers will follow his course and aim their works directly at the screen, instead of fashioning plays or novels first.

"The original screenplay was once a fine institution," he observed. "All the great screwball comedies of the 1930s were originals."

But after the war producers began to shy away from originals. Because of the greatly increased cost of making films, they wanted presold properties—that is, novels and plays that had already been tested on the public. And the studios no longer had those vast reservoirs of writing talent to turn out originals.

European film makers have not been so restricted. They have relied more on originals than on adaptations; the result can be seen in the Motion Picture Academy's nominations for best original screenplay, which have been dominated by Europeans in recent years.

Axelrod sees the tide turning with such recent originals as "Bonnie and Clyde" and "Thoroughly Modern Millie." They are still difficult to sell to the studios, he admitted, but that feat can be worked by bying up a star to go with the package, or by being a hyphenate. In Hollywood parlance a hyphenate is a multifunctional creator like Axelrod, writer-director-producer.

An off-duty Police officer was assaulted yesterday afternoon at Saginaw and Elm when he attempted to apprehend a youth who was apparently stealing beer from a delivery truck.

Treated at Pontiac General Hospital for a cut over his left eye was Sgt. Herbert C. Cooley. He was later released.

Arrested on a charge of felonious assault were John Shelton Jr., 19, of 184 Prospect and George McKnight, 17, of 272 S. Jessie—two of the four youths reportedly involved in the incident which occurred about 1:40 p.m.

Cooley said three youths attacked him when he tried to detain Shelton and Shelton resisted.

Investigators said warrants will be filed against Shelton and McKnight today.

Police are seeking the other assailants.

Pontiac State Chief Agrees With Petition

Dr. Donald W. Martin, superintendent of Pontiac State Hospital, said today he agrees with an employee petition blasting lack of help and money at the hospital.

Dr. Martin said he is passing the petition on to the State Department of Mental Health in the hope that it may do some good.

The petition signed by 240 employees criticized a lack of attendance saying the shortage increases the danger to patients and personnel.

"This results in a steady decline in morale and a lack of enthusiasm to come to a job where management apparently doesn't care about the shortage and does not have physical contact with hostile combative patients."

Dr. Martin, in replying, placed blame on the State Legislature for the lack of help.

"Approach RAPED" "To my way of thinking the approach of the state government here has been erroneous."

"Instead of making the state-operated programs subservient always to the state income, a genuine effort should be made to determine what the needs are, then vigorous steps taken to provide adequate revenues which will support proper programs," he said.

The employee petition questioned whether money was available for hiring or working overtime and if money was returned from the hospital to the state in 1965 and 1966.

Dr. Martin said overtime pay must be paid out of regular salary accounts. "It is most important for us to keep both va-

Sewer Lateral Bonds Sale Is Approved

The Michigan Municipal Finance Commission has approved the sale of $220,000 worth of bonds for construction of the "Waterford-Pontiac Lateral" of the Clinton-Oakland Sewage Disposal System.

To be hooked up to the Pontiac system, the sewers are to be built by the Oakland County Department of Public Works along several streets in the southeastern corner of the township.

The city will process the sewage under an amended 1959 agreement between the township and Pontiac.

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, as chairman of the Municipal Finance Commission, said:

"The proceeds will be used to defray the cost of the Waterford-Pontiac Lateral in the Clinton-Oakland System. The bonds are to be issued in anticipation of the payment of the amounts to be paid to the county under a certain agreement dated March 1, 1967, by which the township agrees to pay to the county the cost of the system."

"The full faith and credit of the county is pledged for the required payment to the township. In addition, the full faith and credit of the county of Oakland has been pledged to the payment of the bonds, principal and interest when due."

"Approach RAPED" "To my way of thinking the approach of the state government here has been erroneous."

The employee petition questioned whether money was available for hiring or working overtime and if money was returned from the hospital to the state in 1965 and 1966.

Employees at Consumers Are Honored for Service

Consumers Power Co. employees were honored at a service anniversary dinner last night given by the company.

Some 225 people attended the party at the Pontiac Elks Temple which was decorated in a Gay 90s theme.

Special recognition was given to Rex Rose of 2288 Highland, Waterford Township, who works in electric distribution, and to Mrs. Cleobelle Coleman of 57 Lewis, who works in customer service, for their 30 years of service.

Charles F. Brown, manager of the Pontiac division, complimented all attending for their years of service to Consumers Power.

Guest speaker was R. C. Bretting, vice president of personnel headquartered at the main offices in Jackson. He reminisced about former times and congratulated the Pontiac division workers for being such a "close, honey group."

Entertainment was provided by the For-Tune Tellers, a barbershop quartet, and the banjo-playing Chuck Leonard Trio.

All men were given bowler hats and striped red and white vests to wear for the evening. The hostesses were in gowns of the Gay 90s era.

Wage Parity by 1970 for Chrysler Workers

DETROIT (AP) — Close to Reuther contends the trade pact has made one large binational operation out of what were once two separate operations.

As auto facilities in the two countries are integrated, with more cars built in Canada marketed in the United States, and vice versa, Canadian rate of efficiency will be equal to the American, Reuther claims.

Under the Canadian parity provisions, the differential between U.S. and Canadian base wage rates will be reduced by 10 per cent on June 1, 1968; 15 per cent on Dec. 1, 1968; 20 per cent on June 1, 1969; 25 per cent on Dec. 1, 1969; and 30 per cent on June 1, 1970, Chrysler said.

TRADE PACT
The parity agreement is continuing on continuation of the trade agreement.
The UAW, which did not win a parity commitment from Ford Motor Co. in its latest contract covering U.S. workers is now expected to apply pressure to both Ford and General Motors for equal pay.

CANADIAN VIEW
Charles Dury, Canadian industry minister, and Dalton Bales, Ontario minister of labor, have expounded this view.

But the UAW argues that a 1965 trade agreement allowing finished automobiles and car parts to move back and forth across the border tariff free in Canada, some government officials fear, started to cut down the productivity gap.

Union leaders also feared it would cut down auto industry jobs in America, saying the cheaper labor in Canada offered GM's Canadian employees. The Big Three a "standing invitation" to move more production across the border.

No one claims the Canadian worker is less efficient individually than his American counterpart.

But the general efficiency of the auto operations in Canada is lower owing to small-volume production.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther said the union did not press the parity demand at Ford for two reasons: (1) Ford's contract was the last at the Big Three firms to expire in Canada; (2) Ford of Canada is not a wholly owned subsidiary of its parent company—20 per cent of the stock being reserved for Canadian owners.

Bargaining is continuing in Toronto on a new contract for cheaper labor in Canada offered GM's Canadian employees. The old pact expired Oct. 31 but has been continued on a day-to-day basis.

Ford of Canada, where the contract expires Dec. 1, has not started new contract talks.

In straight-time wages alone, the average American worker was earning over $4 an hour in mid-1970. The average Canadian now earns less than $3 an hour in straight-time wages.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Field Marshal Sir Gerald Templer, once Britain's top soldier, took on three thugs singlehandedly last night — and sent them scurrying in defeat.

Templer, 69, was attacked by three men as he was walking his small terrier in a churchyard near his London home. They demanded his wallet, then tried to overpower him.

Templer said he caught one with a right jab — and the trio ran off. After calling police, he was seen by his doctor, who pronounced him in good shape.

A World War II general, Templer ran the successful post-war fight against the Communists in Malaya and the Mau Mau in Kenya. He was chief of the Imperial General Staff from 1955 to 1958.

His present job: Constable (warden) of the Tower of London.

'Lonesome End' to Get High Combat Award

Capt. William S. Carpenter Jr. receives the nation's second highest combat award in Honolulu today for heroism in Vietnam.

The Distinguished Service Cross was to be presented in ceremonies at Schofield Barracks. Carpenter, now an operation officer with the 11th Infantry Brigade, reportedly will return to Vietnam soon.

It was near Kontum in the Vietnam central highlands on June 19, 1966, that Carpenter, 29, called for an American napalm and artillery strike on himself and his own men when they were overrun by enemy forces.

Carpenter first gained fame when he was captain and "lonesome end" on the 1959 West Point football team. He already has a Silver Star and Bronze Star.

Prince Calls for Eliminating Hunger

Prince Philip said last night that men capable of exterminating wildlife and polluting the air and sea can also find ways of feeding the hungry millions in the world.

In a speech to the Canadian Audubon Society's annual banquet in Toronto, the prince reiterated his call for action to eliminate hunger and control the world's population.

He said the world's population should be stabilized and methods found to feed the hungry without using more land and destroying more wildlife.

The crowd of 1,000 dined on rock Cornish hen, causing the prince to comment: "If you have any more dinners like this, it won't be long before they (the hens) need protection!"

Stewardesses to Drop Girl-Next-Door Image

Kelly Flint, an airlines stewardess official in Fort Worth, Tex., says the honey girl-next-door look is out and the glamour girl image is in for the flying hostesses.

"Wiglets and false eyelashes not only are no longer taboo for stewardesses but are considered part of the changing approach to beauty," she said.

"Today 60 per cent of our stewardesses wear false eyelashes and the number will probably go to 90 per cent," said Miss Flint, American Airlines' chief of stewardesses grooming and appearance.

Beauty College Slayer Gets Death Sentence.

Robert Benjamin Smith has been sentenced to die in the Arizona state gas chamber next Feb. 2 as the convicted slayer of five persons in a Mesa beauty college.

Superior Court Judge Laurence T. Wren passed sentence yesterday as Smith, 19, leaned forward nervously.

"Few judges in the nation are ever called to pass the maximum penalty of one so young as you," Wren said. "Your sole reason for the crime was to gain publicity."

He told the onetime high school honor student, "How much better it would have been had your name been on your school's honor roll for service to your community or church."

Defense attorney Tob Wood said he would file an appeal.

Breast Cancer Link Is Found

By Science Service

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Prone-ness to breast cancer can be detected in individuals before the disease attacks, a National Academy of Sciences meeting here was told.

Dr. Roger J. Williams of the University of Texas in Austin reported that he and his co-workers, Dr. Rose Mary Gutierrez, have found that "distinctive patterns of ketosteroid excretion (in urine) are definitely associated with breast cancer."

This, Dr. Williams said, is "but a first step in the detection of breast cancer — an outcome much to be desired."

The distinctive excretion patterns may even indicate different degrees of proneness, Dr. Williams reported.

Their conclusions are supported by recent findings of Drs. R. D. Bulbrook and J. L. Hayward of London, who observed distinctive pattern differences in steroid excretion patterns in women in the Island of Guernsey three months to five years before the appearance of breast cancer.

PRODUCED BY OVARIES

Ketosteroids are hormones or hormone metabolites produced by the ovaries and adrenal glands and associated with reproduction.

Dr. Williams said that such studies as his and those of the two English doctors have "much wider implications for the prevention and management of diseases of many varieties."

Medical science, he noted, now for the first time has tools to become expert in sorting people and determining what maladies individuals must guard against.

Superplane Ills Blamed on U.S.

British Unionists Now
Echoing French Outcry

By TOM A. CULLEN

European Staff Correspondent
LONDON — (NEA) — The United States, which is blamed for everything from flower people to the balance of payments crisis, is currently taking a lambasting over the Concorde super-sonic airliner.

American dollars, it seems, are behind the campaign to frighten off customers for the 1,450-mile-per-hour Concorde, which the British are developing in connection with the French government.

The U.S. aerospace industry hopes in this way to get orders for the Concorde's rival, the Boeing supersonic transport, which is still in the drawing board stage.

Who says so? President De Gaulle and the French leftists who back him in his anti-American stand.

Now the wild rumors concerning the Concorde have crossed the channel and have been picked up by British trade unions.

AMERICAN GOLD

Union leader Clive Jenkins, who claims he speaks for eight British and French trade unions engaged on the Concorde, says that American gold is financing anti-Concorde propaganda.

"There are certain individuals and organizations who are attacking the Concorde simply because they want sales to the airlines affected," Jenkins declares.

When pressed to give names, however, the British union leader beats a hasty retreat.

Indications are that the American bogey is being used to hide the fact that the Concorde is headed for a grave financial crisis, and that it may even be abandoned.

FIRST FLIGHT

The Concorde, which is designed to shorten traveling time from London to New York to three hours, is scheduled to make its first flight on Feb. 28, 1968.

Two prototypes are now nearing completion, one at the British Aircraft Corp.'s factory at Bristol, the other at the French Sud Aviation plant at Toulouse.

Britain's Labor government has been opposed to the Concorde from the start, and would be inclined to cut its losses even at this late date.

But De Gaulle holds that the Concorde is now past the point of no return.

SUBJECT OF PRESSURE

In an effort to embarrass his British partners, De Gaulle has been hinting that they are subject to American pressure.

If the British now decide to cancel the Concorde, it will look as though they have 'knuckled under to the Americans, at least in French eyes.

The only organized opposition to the Concorde here is the Anti-Concorde Project, which has 80 sponsors, but no American gold that I have been able to discover.

Its organizer is Richard Wiggs, a retired schoolteacher, who has been kicking up a terrific fuss on a shoestring budget. Most of the other sponsors are academic types.

WITH EARSHOT

The Anti-Concorde Project objects to SST (supersonic transport) on the grounds that it will make life unbearable for people who live within earshot of its sonic booms.

A "boom carpet" 70 miles wide follows in the wake of the SSTs, they say.

The Labor government's objections to Concorde, however, are almost entirely financial.

A powerful cabinet faction headed by the chancellor of the Exchequer, James Callaghan, would like to kill the aircraft now.

$672 MILLION

So far the British and French have spent 240 million pounds ($672 million) each on the Concorde with the really heavy spending yet to come.

The Labor government tried to cancel the Concorde in December, 1964, but was stopped by De Gaulle's threat to take the matter to the International Court in The Hague.

Soviet Radio Indicates Mao Soon to Fall

By LEON DENNEH
Foreign News Analyst
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — According to a secret Soviet radio called Peace and Progress, some high-ranking Peking officials are planning to escape from China. If the Russians are to be believed, Mao Tse-tung's fall is imminent. At any rate, the Russians are acting on that assumption.

"Internal strife and quarrels among Mao Tse-tung's close associates will in the end inevitably lead to the disappearance from the Peking political scene of many of the Maoist elements," the clandestine radio said in a Chinese broadcast.

"Some high ranking officials who have no confidence in the firmness of the Mao Tse-tung government are actively preparing to retreat or escape from China."

This may be wishful thinking in Moscow. But, for the Russian Marxist-Leninists, the wish is often father to the act. They are apparently convinced that Mao's government is disintegrating and they want to stage a power comeback in China when he falls.

SOVIET AGENTS

The Russians take no chances. Having failed in their efforts to convene an anti-Chinese world Communist conference, I learn that they are now sending Soviet agents to China's remote and upland provinces.

Most of the agents are Red army officers of Chinese and Uzbek origin. Reportedly trained at a special school in the Soviet Republic of Uzbekistan, they are infiltrating China through the Sinkiang province where Mao's Red guards are known to have engaged in military skirmishes with Russian military detachments.

Their assignment is to help anti-Mao Communists to foment disorder and seize power wherever possible.

Moscow obviously has information about China's internal struggles that is not available in the West. According to the clandestine radio, Mao and his entourage have a jet plane ready at all times to facilitate their flight from Peking.

DEPOSITING FUNDS

"These rotten and infamous leaders have begun to deposit money squeezed from the people in neutral banks in Switzerland," the radio reported.

"Latest report from Geneva reveal the Mao Tse-tung ruling clique has opened special accounts in the banks of Geneva and that their agent in Switzerland is Fei I-ming, publisher of the newspaper King Pao in Hong Kong."

The Russians also claim to have information that many leaders of China's "cultural revolution" have smuggled funds into West Germany and other foreign countries.

"This is a top secret," the Soviet radio report said. "But it proves again that Mao Tse-tung and his clique are exceedingly worried about the day when the Chinese people will fully realize how their false leaders in the past few years have ruined the Communist party and have pushed China to economic bankruptcy."

Mexico Plans for Fish Meal

By Science Service
MEXICO CITY — Fish meal plants light enough to be mounted on small shrimp boats have been developed with promises that they can change Mexico from an importer to an exporter of fish meal.

The republic now imports some $8.8 million worth of fish meal fodder and fertilizer a year, while its shrimp and fish fleets throw away huge amounts of fish suitable for the process.

The plant is produced in three basic models for output of one, five and 24 tons daily. The highest capacity plant weighs 1.8 tons and is 9.84 feet long by 16.40 wide.

A similar capacity United States plant weighs approximately 32 tons, measures approximately 30 by 60 feet, and is virtually ruled out for use aboard fishing vessels.

Brazilian City Quietly Booms

Belo Horizonte Is Third Most Populous

BELO HORIZONTE, Brazil (U) — Although only 70 years young, this bustling state capital has already passed the million-inhabitant mark and taken third place in the ranks of Brazilian cities.

A planned city geometrically laid out, Belo Horizonte is the capital of the mining and agricultural state of Minas Gerais, one of Brazil's richest.

Blessed with a moderate climate and excellent roads, the city has boomed since its founding and is now third in population after Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro.

Between 1960 and 1966 alone more than 300,000 persons moved into the city, including many low-income families from the rural interior.

The rapid growth of the city outstripped public services and by late 1966 only 400,000 residents were served by the water supply system. To remedy the situation the city received a $12 million loan from the Inter-American Development Bank.

FINANCIAL CENTER

A banking and commercial center, it is the headquarters of some of Brazil's most important financial establishments, as well as the Brazilian subsidiary of Germany's Mannesmann of Düsseldorf.

Despite its quick development, Belo Horizonte lacks the frenzied rushing that characterizes Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro.

Its atmosphere is relaxed and occasionally a horse-powered cart can still be seen moving merchandise through the city.

WORK IN SILENCE

"Minas works in silence," a Brazilian proverb says.

They also work hard here, and nightlife is virtually nonexistent. Businessmen are at their offices early, and leave late.

Nowadays many of them go to the ball game when they leave the office. Drawing them to the 100,000-seat Minas Gerais Stadium is the hottest soccer team in Brazil, Belo Horizonte's own Cruzeiro.

Cattle Brands Are Mark of Texas County

HOUSTON (UPI) — A person probably could find even Brand X in the office of Harris County Clerk R. E. Turrentine.

Practically every other kind of mark conceived by the mind of man has been filed there. They include the more common variety, such as the letter 'S' with a perpendicular slash through it, and the more bizarre kind, such as a circle on running legs.

Harris County is the second most populous county in terms of cattle in Texas. And cattle are still susceptible to rustling. Texas ranchers continue to brand their stock for identification and protection.

Turrentine charges 75 cents for filing a brand. The brander must register his mark eight ways before it becomes his exclusive property because of the eight locations in which an animal can accommodate it. They are the left and right hip, the left and right side, the left and right shoulder and the left and right jaw.

A person filing a brand must also specify where it will be placed on the animal.

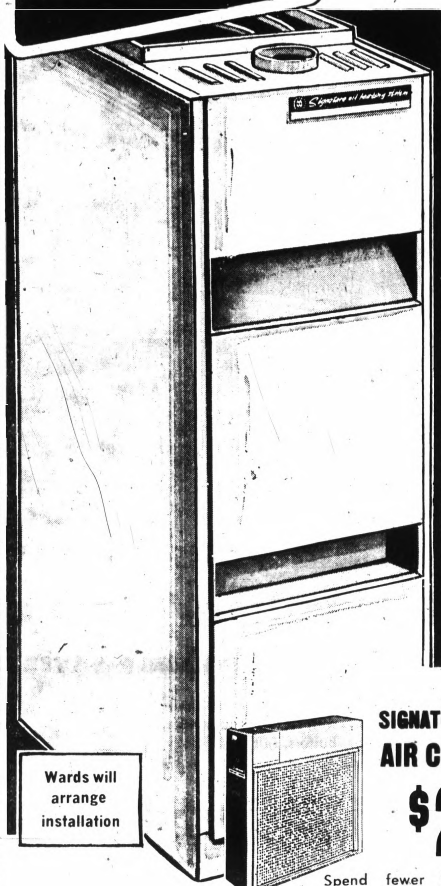

10,000 BRANDS

Nearly 10,000 marks have been branded on the files in Turrentine's office. Some belong to ranchers who own much Texas dirt. Others were filed by the have-nots, who wish some of that Texas dirt would rub off on them.

Ownership of livestock is no prerequisite, but a filer must have an original brand. The biggest difficulty is conjuring one.

Harris County law enforcement officers visit Turrentine's office occasionally to check on a brand when they are trying to head some rustlers off at the pass.

Coast Guard Academy Has Dec. 2 Entry Test

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press New Features

WASHINGTON—The Coast Guard Academy will soon pick about 300 high school seniors to spend the next four years preparing to be officers in the tiniest, but versatile, arm of the military forces.

Only the young men taking the Dec. 2 College Entrance Examining Board test at 3,000 test centers across the country and abroad will be eligible to join the academy class of 1972.

Those who take the proper tests must list the academy immediately as one of the colleges to receive their scores. But before Dec. 15 they have to apply to the academy's director of admissions at New London, Conn., to be considered.

Also, you have to take the verbal and mathematical section of the CEEB scholastic aptitude tests and mathematics level I and level II of the achievement tests. Any other tests won't count.

At the academy you get a salary-as-you-learn education — $1,823 a year plus subsistence — and come out after four years with a bachelor of science degree and an ensign's gold bars.

FIVE YEARS' DUTY

Five years of active duty are required after graduation, but the Coast Guard prefers men with enough salt in their veins to make the service a career.

That career will revolve around such varied chores as sea rescue, nabbing smugglers, ice-breaking, iceberg hunting, weather watching, guiding ships to safety.

The Coast Guard is a fighting service too — and has been since its founding in 1790. It now has 1,500 men in Vietnam with 26 patrol boats and five large weather cutters plus detachments overseeing handling of explosives at ports, helping with river navigation and taking care of merchant seamen's problems ashore.

For the Coast Guard Academy, unlike the three other service academies, there are no congressional appointments or geographical quotas. All cadets are chosen in nationwide competition.

INCREASING AGITATION

Incidentally, there has been increasing agitation to put selection of West Point, Annapolis and Air Force Academy cadets on the same nonpolitical basis, but no sign that Congress is ready to give up this patronage plum.

The main requirements for the Coast Guard Academy include: U.S. citizenship, age 17 by next July 1 but not over 22, no separation from military service other than honorable, never married, no shorter than 5 feet 4 nor taller than 6 feet 6 without shoes.

Marines' Come-On

The Marine Corps likes to think that when a man joins up, it's for a career. But they still have to hold out some inducements until the habit is incurable.

One pitch is to dangle before the first-terminer a one-grade promotion if he ships over for three years or more.

The Marines also offer a promotion promise to those first terminers who signed up early for reenlistment, up to two years early. Before, they had to wait until they had a year or less on the first hitch.

She Wants No Serviceman Letterless

War Has Kept Her Pen Busy

CENTRAL CITY, Ky. (AP) — Four wars ago, "Mrs. H." had an idea how to make combat more bearable to the servicemen of Muhlenberg County. She'd write to them. All of them.

It was 1917, and Mrs. Agnes Harralson was a young postmistress in a small Western Kentucky coal town named Graham, knowing too well who went letterless "over there."

Fifty years later, the 71-year-old Mrs. H.'s unflagging correspondence is legendary among generations of soldiers in her county.

What's now a full-page, unpaid column—"The Service Star"—in the Central City Times-Argus began with an air-mailed round-robin letter to World War-I soldiers and an answer:

"Miss A. I'd like to see the old Kaiser sweeping the streets of one of these little French towns and after every step, someone prodding him with a sharp bayonet. I can't think of any punishment horrible enough for the old bird." R. W. Walker, Tours, France, 1917.

MONTHLY MIMOGRAPH
World War II found her a Sunday school teacher then, mimographing the first Star which 500 servicemen from the county were to receive once a month.

"Lt. Mickey Edwards was wounded seriously during the push on Rome. Shrapnel. Both legs. He writes us he 'zigged' when he should have zagged." all was two Jima, or maybe the Star, July 1944.

Korea erupted and Mrs. H. was approached by Larry and Amos Stone who couldn't forget their well-worn Stars of the last war. Now newspaper publishers, they offered her the page whenever she was ready.

Again, her mailing list peaked at another 500 soldiers.

PARTLY BURNED
"Miss A. Got the Star yesterday though our mail plane was shot down. The mail and parts of the Star were burned, but I read all I could." M. W. Whitmer aboard the USS Alvin C. Cockrell, December 1950.

Then Vietnam.
"Mrs. H., 12 of my friends just died. I can't write this to my mother and have her worry, but I had to tell somebody."

Biblical scripture often tips-toes between her pecked-out paragraphs. Mrs. H. knows how to start her boy-men thinking for the first time.

Sometimes, she says, a soldier's wife is untrue, he might lose an arm or leg, or...
"Mrs. H., I killed four men today. Is it right, Mrs. H.?" Dak To, August 1967.

NO ANSWER
Sometimes, she says, she doesn't have an answer. Mrs. H.'s doctor-husband died in 1951, leaving her with one son, John, now employed as a telephone manager in Louisville.

"Lt. Mickey Edwards was wounded seriously during the push on Rome. Shrapnel. Both legs. He writes us he 'zigged' when he should have zagged." all was two Jima, or maybe the Star, July 1944.

She feels current draft laws grant too many exemptions.
"Hi, Mrs. H. By some stroke of luck, I bumped into my brother Howard over here..." Ray Helleley, Anzio Beachhead, April 1944.

And somewhere in between, she'll round up that large Rebel flag for Billy Dickten in South Vietnam, telephone mothers to keep her addresses up to date and worry about Dragon Mountain and Hill 861.

A recent survey found that 5.9 per cent of men in Tokyo suffered from mild bronchitis three months a year, with the percentage in heavy smog areas rising to 6.9 per cent.

So every Sunday night, Mrs. H. sits back down at her typewriter.

Deskman Is Blind

Policeman Armed With Braille

(EDITOR'S NOTE — John Day, a cattle town where the bizarre is expected and the unusual is commonplace. A milkman sells beer, a woman once was dogcatcher, a young man broke out instead of out of jail and no one seems surprised that Bob Shoun is a policeman.)

By GORDON G. MACNAB
Associated Press Writer

JOHN DAY, Ore. — If you have a record as a burglar in Grant County, your name is on file in Braille.

This is for John Day's blind policeman. Robert Shoun, 24, wears a policeman's uniform and his guide dog, Ernie, is always at his side. His badge says, "Patrolman, John Day, Oregon."

He isn't a patrolman, though. He is the night deskman at the police station.

The telephone rings. Shoun puts his cigarette in an ash tray with his right hand while his left reaches for the telephone. His right hand then moves smoothly to a Braille watch and his fingers feel the time as he answers.

He picks up a stylus, a small, wooden-handled pick and starts punching holes in a sheet of paper gripped in a metal stencil. First he puts down the time, then the message.

"I CAN KEEP UP"

Is he fast? "I don't know what you mean by fast, but I can keep up with what people say."

A policeman calls in by radio, he gives the license number of a car he is trailing and asks if it's wanted. Shoun pulls open a drawer, picks up a sheet of paper, and his fingers sift through the papers and finds the wanted man, feeling the Braille markings.

"If the car is wanted, I tell him what it's wanted for, when he stops it and gets out, he knows what he is dealing with," Shoun says.

A resident calls and says the water is off at his house. Shoun dials the water maintenance man and turns the problem over to him.

WRITES NAMES

He has no trouble dialing the number. "I have a real good memory for phone numbers," he says, "a good recall. I have to write down names though."

Municipal Judge Ernest Sharp interrupts: "he has a most remarkable recognition of voices and footsteps."

Shoun agrees that if one of the patrolmen comes into the office he knows, from the footsteps, who it is. And he says he makes a point of trying to recognize voices.

"It pays, you know. It makes people feel better. In dealing with a blind person they kind of withdraw."

BRINGS COFFEE

Bob's father, Arthur Shoun, comes in with a container of coffee. "Bless his heart," says Bob. "He has done this every night for four years, rain or snow. I don't know what I'd do without my coffee."

Shoun talks with gestures and turns his head toward the person to whom he is speaking, fresh. A clean dustmop does the job most easily.

He smokes and nods his head in agreement that he smokes too much. "My wife is a nurse and keeps reminding me of the medical consequences," he says.

He was born in Elizabethton, Tenn., and became blind when he was 3. The reason was an ailment with a long name that he can't recall. He says that today it could have been cured.

He came to John Day when he was 4, went through grade school for the Blind in Salem, then returned and took his high school work in John Day. He was graduated in 1962.

A little over a year later the city decided to have a police radio system and it turned to Shoun to run it because he had been working in radio and had excellent citizen's band equipment which the city used until it got its own system installed.

Bob Shoun intends to end his work as a policeman to move to Eugene to study broadcasting in Lane Community College.

The crew-cut young man who will close one improbable career, says, "I want to be a personality disc jockey." When he gets experience, he wants to have a talk program on a radio station. "If," he adds, "it turns out I'm suited for it."

Easy-to-Care-For

Lumber-paneled walls need little more than a twice-yearly dusting to keep them bright and fresh. A clean dustmop does the job most easily.

Drug May Help Protect Baby Teeth

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Baby teeth are more likely to decay than the permanent teeth because their enamel is only about half as thick. This means that the vulnerable pulp inside the tooth is closer to the surface and decay can penetrate quickly.

A drug to both kill the decay-causing bacteria and strengthen the pulp tissue itself was suggested here by Dr. Thompson M. Lewis of the University of Washington dental school in Seattle.

Speaking at the meeting of the American Dental Association, Dr. Lewis suggested use of formocresol, a combination of formaldehyde and tricresol in glycerine.

Formocresol has been used for many years as a disinfectant for adult root canals. It heals because it has a protein-binding effect in addition to being a strong bactericide.

The drug creates a layer of protection within the pulp. This area, being free of bacteria, is resistant to tissue breakdown and apparently acts as a deterrent to further infiltration of microbes, Dr. Lewis explained. Reasons for preserving the baby teeth go beyond their function of chewing. They maintain space for the permanent teeth and help the child's speech.

SIMILAR TO TISSUES

Dr. Lewis explained that dental pulp is similar to the body's connective tissues. It includes blood vessels, lymph vessels, nerves, defense cells and other important substances.

One characteristic of the pulp is the presence of connective tissue cells called odontoblasts, which are necessary for the production of dentin.

Dentin is the chief substance of the teeth surrounding the pulp. It is covered by enamel on the crown and by cementum, or bony material, on the roots.

When treated with formocresol, Dr. Lewis said, the pulp tissue resists decay and continues to produce dentin.

LSD Damage to Chromosomes Shown

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — Bending the mind with LSD bends chromosomes as well — and may lead to inherited diseases or leukemia.

A team of scientists has developed strong new evidence that LSD damages the genetic components of human cells, find that the potent hallucinogen not only breaks chromosomes in adult users; it does the same to unborn children whose mothers take large doses of the drug.

Their new human tests back earlier laboratory results. Dr. Maimon Cohen of Buffalo's Children's Hospital collaborated with Dr. Kurt Hirschhorn of Mount Sinai Hospital, New York, in studies of 18 adult LSD-users and four children exposed before birth.

First they counted broken chromosomes in white blood cells of 12 drug-free volunteers, finding an average breakage of 3.8 per cent. But among the 18 users, chromosomal breakage ranged between 5.3 and 25.1 per cent, with an average damage of 13.2 per cent.

Of the four children tested, two, whose mothers had taken only small doses of LSD, had normal chromosomes, but the two whose mothers were heavy takers showed breaks in about 13 per cent of their chromosomes.

DANGERS HINTED
Drs. Cohen and Hirschhorn agree it is difficult to say exactly what this means because neither definitive nor long-term experiments on LSD damage have been done, but there are hints that LSD may lead to genetic defects, leukemia or an autoimmune disorder in which the body destroys its own tissues.

Junior Editors Quiz on Blackbirds

QUESTION: What is the difference between a grackle and a blackbird?

ANSWER: Scientists do not recognize a grouping called blackbirds. Most of the black-colored birds we see belong to the family Icteridae, which also includes such vividly colored birds as the bobolink, meadow lark and Baltimore Oriole. In the lower right, you see four common birds popularly called blackbirds.

Grackles, one of the four birds illustrated, are just one type of blackbird. The purple grackle is black, with an iridescent sheen, his tail is longer than the others and he walks along the ground.

Grackles are handsome, social birds and seem to enjoy each other's company. Nature lovers enjoy seeing grackles gather in huge flocks in the fall, preparing to migrate south. They know they will see the chattering, long-tailed flocks again in the spring when the grackles return.

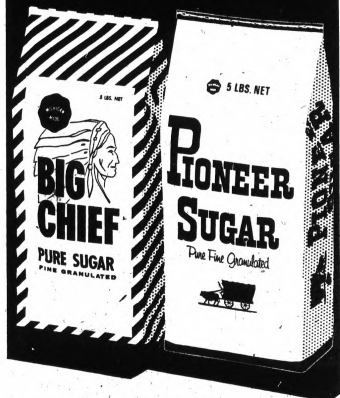

You'll always find Michigan-Made Sugar in the finest places, like blueberry pie

3 c blueberries, fresh or frozen
2 T flour
¼ c Michigan-Made sugar
Dash salt

Flaky pastry for double 9-inch pie
1 T lemon juice
1 T butter or margarine

If fresh berries are used, pick over, discard stems and leaves; wash and drain well. If frozen berries are used, drain well. Combine berries with flour, sugar and salt; mix well. Line nine-inch pie pan with half the pastry; fill with the berry mixture; sprinkle lemon juice over top and dot with butter, carefully put on top crust, sealing well to edge of pan. Cut vents in top crust and bake at 450 degrees 40 minutes or until fruit is tender and crust is golden; if crust browns too fast, cover with a piece of brown paper. Cool completely on rack.

Teacher, School Are Remnants of the Past

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
SUNBURST, Mont. — When it comes to overworked, underpaid schoolteachers, 26-year-old Karen Speer is a textbook illustration.

Miss Speer teaches at O'Loughlin Elementary here.

Or rather, Miss Speer is O'Loughlin Elementary.

O'Loughlin is a remnant of the past, a one-room schoolhouse which operates 18 miles from the nearest paved road. It sits in the middle of a hay field. The nearest other structure is an outhouse.

The school is both office and home for Karen Speer. She teaches at one end and lives at the other. She seldom leaves the building.

EARLY START

Her daily routine begins about 6 a.m.

First duty, of course, is to eat. She draws well water from a pipe and selects food from a larder. The larder is full. It must be. In the wintertime she's often stranded in the school for weeks at a time.

She doesn't mind being cut off from the world, however. She has a dog named Waco for companionship and protection. Besides, as O'Loughlin's only janitor she has plenty of books to read; there is "Black Beauty," "Little Women" and "Ruta and the Saga Stories," to name a few.

After breakfast, Miss Speer reads for work.

Initially, she sweeps the Area Scout Leaders to Attend Meeting

Many volunteer and professional leaders from the Clinton Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America will be among 1,000 others attending an all-day meeting of scouting's Region 7 Saturday at Detroit's Cobo Hall.

The 17 area persons will hear a report on scouting achievements, help elect new officers and give recognition to this year's recipients of Silver Antelope awards, the highest honor for volunteer leaders on a regional level.

Speakers will include Detroit's Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, Alton G. Barber, the new Chief Scout executive, and Dr. Ken McFarland, guest lecturer for General Motors.

for her tasks also include cleaning the toilets (the inside ones), washing the windows, dusting the erasers and sundry other maintenance.

DRAW THE LINE

She says she doesn't mind janitorial service but draws the line. She always has area farmers cut down the wheat in the playground.

At 8:30 the kids arrive . . . all seven of them.

The kids are all from close-by farmhouses. They are lucky to have O'Loughlin Elementary and Karen Speer in the vicinity, otherwise they'd have to travel 30 miles, one way, to the nearest city school.

The teacher has arranged the kids in one group, according to class. Three first graders sit on one flank row, two second graders sit on the other. A third and fourth grader are placed in the middle.

RIGHT TO CHANGE

Miss Speer admits she doesn't know if this arrangement is the best. Perhaps she should segregate them. As O'Loughlin's only principal she reserves the right to change her mind later.

"Now, first graders take out your colors."

"Yes, Miss Speer."
"Second graders, your spelling."
"Yes, Miss Speer."
"Third graders, science . . . and fourth graders, your readers."

Following assignments, the teacher walks from grade to grade, which is to say from desk to desk, for personal communication. She spends about 15 minutes on each child, in each subject, six hours a day.

The kids themselves are quiet and alert. There is no horseplay. The class is too small, and Miss Speer has eyes in the back of her head.

FIDGETING BEGINS

As morning draws on, though, the children begin to fidget. Boys yank on their stretch socks. Girls tuck down the hems of their Sears Roebuck dresses. A hand raises. A drink of water. Go ahead, John.

Finally, lunch.

Yippee!
The school recesses 45 minutes at noon. As O'Loughlin's only cook, Miss Speer removes the TV dinners from her refrigerator (the kids supply the meals) and uses a hot plate to fix the day's food.

After eating, the kids race outdoors. They organize games, they play at a nearby creek, they chase off the cows that wander over. As O'Loughlin's only ground monitor, Miss Speer is always nearby.

Soon, too soon, it's back to class.

UP-TO-DATE TEXTS

The afternoon is the same as the morning. Using excellent up-to-date texts, she's not complaining. She likes Miss Speer teaches, prods, encourages and gently demands even the new math.

"What does ice do, John?"
Shrug.
"Does it sink?"

Hesitation.
"No, of course not, it floats."
When the class is confused by a fact the teacher explains in demonstration. As O'Loughlin's only lab technician Miss Speer illustrates the floatability of ice, using tray cubes in a water glass.

Thus it goes all day. Instruction in penmanship. Lessons in art. Some personal attention to a speech flaw. A bandage for a finger scratch. A sewing kit for a knee patch. Lemonade for a treat.

$4,500 YEARLY

Taxpayers in Toole County pay Karen Speer a $4,500 salary for this individualized, face-to-face form of education. But generally up-to-date texts, she's not complaining. She likes the job. She likes the school.
"All right, can we hear a pin drop?"
Silence.
"Class dismissed. See you all tomorrow."

ONE-ROOM SCHOOLHOUSE — It isn't much, but O'Loughlin School is all there is for seven children in Sunburst, Mont. A 26-year-old woman serves as teacher, janitor, cook, lab technician and ground monitor. But she draws the line at mowing the wheat in the school yard.

Sparkling, Aware—That's Julie Christie

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "I've seen out of pocket and depressed, but never really despairing," said Julie Christie, "and that's how I've kept my school-girl complexion."

Then one of the entertainment world's most awesome properties studied her flawless features in a hand mirror as she applied makeup and said:

"I've come up with spots all over my face. I'm a mass of hot spots. It's the central heating."

The brilliant young British actress, most recently starred in "Far from the Madding Crowd," was having brunch in the West Side apartment of a friend here.

She was wearing a nondescript robe that didn't take attention away from the pendulous promise of a full lower lip and sea-deep eyes of fathomless gray.

BREAKFAST

As she answered questions, she ate some broiled sausages, picking them up with carefully fastidious fingers, then trifled with a cantaloupe whose orange cavity had been thrust full of large ripe strawberries.

"You realize that people, after all, aren't monsters and won't eat you up," she said, explaining that she felt less shy than on previous visits to America.

What is life to Julie? "It is trees and water and buildings and people. It is nice things. It is something given only once and therefore to be made the very most of."

CURING DOLDRUMS

Everybody has the blues now and then, Julie? How do you cure them?

"I'm so masochistic I give myself over to them completely. When I am bored with them and they with me, we part company. There are so many worthwhile things around."

How does a young girl, who used to carry an air mattress and camp in to the apartment of pals because she lacked rent money, feel now that she is in the comfortable area of the great big dollar that confirms success?

"Well!" — she toyed with a lock of her hair like a brooding child — "it's not a lethargic situation. It's stimulating. You're constantly having demands made upon you, which is nice."

BIGGEST VIRTUE

What is your biggest virtue, Julie?

"Self-honesty. I don't lie to myself, whatever I may do to other people."

And your biggest fault, Julie? "It may be self-interest, but that doesn't seem to narrow it down enough. Wait a moment, and I'll go ask."

She left the room to consult a friend, returned and said: "She said that if evasiveness wasn't my biggest vice, it was certainly vice-like. Also bossiness. Actually, however, I'm not really dominating. I just want everybody to feel and think the way I do."

LIFE IS RARE

Everything about life is so rare and marvelous — even the awful."

What are the things you like, Julie?

"Oh, sunflowers—cats—great wide and wild expanses of viciousness or vindictiveness, particularly in young people, which reminds me of my better."

And your goals now, Julie Christie?

"I'd like to have more control over my mind really, not to be such—not to be—Oh, I'll leave it at that really."

"Like a lot of people, the thing I am most afraid of is humiliation — violent humiliation."

She rose then with the un-awake but ever-ready grace of a gazelle and said goodby, instantly prepared for the next analysis that the artifacts could have come only from the Yellowstone area.

Indian Artifacts Origin Is Proven

By Science Service

For 120 years, U.S. archaeologists have tried to determine the source of Indian obsidian weapons found in the Midwest and dating from about 2,000 years ago. The arrowheads and knives were found in prehistoric Hopewellian culture sites. Archaeologists have suggested they could have originated in hiding.

Prof. Adon A. Gordan of the University of Michigan has now proven by neutron activation analysis that the artifacts could have come only from the Yellowstone area.

Former Gestapo Chief May Be Alive

LUDWIGSBURG, Germany

(AP) — The West German government's Central Office for Nazi War Crimes says it has received information indicating that former Gestapo Chief Heinrich Mueller, one of Germany's most wanted war criminals, is still alive and in hiding.

The office said it had already informed the prosecutor's office in West Berlin which is responsible for the information came from Nazi-hunter Simon Wiesenthal, but declined to give any details.

Wiesenthal, however, is reported by informed sources to have found in Munich a "contact person" who has been in touch with the former SS officer. Mueller's trail reportedly leads to Egypt.

Interest in his fate was rekindled by the arrest Thursday of two Israelis, Baruch Shur and Daniel Gordon, who are accused by police of having tried to break into the home of Mueller, who ranks behind Hitler confidant Martin Bormann as the most wanted Nazi big shot, was Adolf Eichmann's superior and is allegedly responsible for mass killings of Jews.

DEATH NOT VERIFIED He has long been regarded by German authorities as dead, but predicted.

Tobacco Key to High Rate of Oral Cancer

By SCIENCE SERVICE

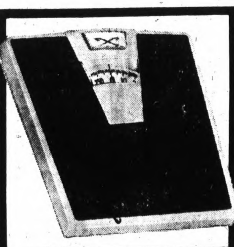

AGRA, India — A tasty and expensive mixture of chewing tobacco grown in a northern section of India has the dubious distinction of causing more cancer of the mouth than any other tobacco. It is found in Mainpuri, near Agra.

In the United States, tobacco chewing is a dying habit, and few studies have been made of its effect; but in Southeast Asia, the World Health Organization has been promoting a four-year study to find out why the rate of oral cancer is so high, especially in the Mainpuri district.

Mainpuri tobacco is mixed with lime, finely cut betel nuts and other ingredients that cause the mixture to be particularly dangerous. Other tobaccos are considerably less potent in increasing the cancer risk among chewers.

The incidence of mouth cancer in Mainpuri is 21.4 per 100,000, the world's highest figure.

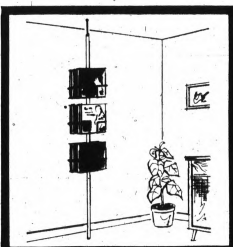

The WHO study has been conducted by Prof. P. N. Wahi and his associates in the cancer research unit of the department of pathology at the Medical College in Agra.

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

One advantage of Landy and similar conventions is that few people have learned how to defend against it. Actually the defense is simple if you and your partner have worked it out.

The Landy two club bid asks for major suits. If you, as JACOBY partner of the no-trump bidder, double two clubs you simply say that you have a good hand, and are interested in going on to game or in doubling your opponents when they get into their major suit.

A bid of two or three diamonds or three clubs is competitive and nonforcing, while a bid of two no-trump is a very mild invitation to go on to game.

A bid of two hearts or spades of the diamonds, came back to shows a poor hand but a good suit and no defense against the other major suit, while a bid of three hearts or three spades is a strong invitation to game in that suit and is bid in spite of the fact that you know your opponent is likely to hold five trump suits against you.

You may also ignore the two club bid completely as Jeff Click of Miami did some years ago when Alvin Landy was making one of his few appearances at the table. Jeff and Alvin were one of our great partnerships once upon a time, and Alvin handled the three no-trump contract superbly.

He won the heart opening, led a diamond to dummy's king and passed against East's queen. He did this because he knew that West was long in the majors.

Then he cashed his ace of diamonds, entered dummy with the ace of clubs, ran the rest of the hand.

The Landy two club bid asks for major suits. If you, as JACOBY partner of the no-trump bidder, double two clubs you simply say that you have a good hand, and are interested in going on to game or in doubling your opponents when they get into their major suit.

He Sounds Off

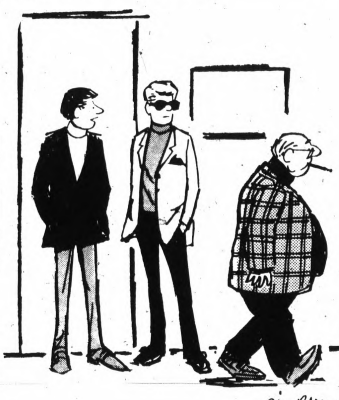

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A young evangelist is under court orders to tone down the volume of his message. Municipal Court Judge Joseph A. Luebbers convicted Gary Epperly, 29, of making unnecessary noise and placed him on three months' probation. He told Epperly either to reduce the volume of his message to the level of a loudspeaker truck or stop preaching in a busy market area.

Iowa Teens Learn History Firsthand

SIoux CITY, Iowa (AP)—A Belgian fighter pilot of World War I fame paid a visit to a teenage youth here as a result of correspondence between the two in connection with the youth's hobby of learning about early aircraft and their pilots.

Baron Willy Coppens de Hou-thuist, now in his mid-70s, spent a week visiting 15-year-old Bill Felton III and his family.

The high school sophomore had written to the ace in his effort to find out all he could about World War I planes. Baron

Willy is known in aviation circles for his 37 "kills" of ene-

NEWTON, Kan. (AP)—Melvin Lehrman of Newton advised police that his small foreign-made car had been stolen. Police found the auto in a salvage lot.

It seems that a neighbor had traded in a similar car to an auto dealer — and the dealer had asked the salvage yard to

Vehicle Boasts Bigger Capacity, Optional Axle

A new intercity coach with expanded passenger capacity, more baggage space and a unique retractable third axle that broadens its operating versatility was unveiled today by GMC Truck and Coach Division.

In introducing the new vehicle, Martin J. Caserio, a vice president of General Motors and divisional general manager, said the bus is 40 feet long, seats 49 passengers and boasts more than 400 cubic feet of storage area. Production is scheduled for early 1968.

"This coach was developed to meet a critical need for more passenger and package express capacity for both charter bus service as well as intercity line transportation," Caserio said.

"Despite the vehicle's greater size, its auxiliary rear axle assembly permits it to operate in states which otherwise would forbid its usage because of low weight restrictions."

The optional axle can be activated or retracted by merely pushing a button on the instrument panel.

8 MORE SEATS

The coach has eight more seats than previous GMC models and nearly 50 per cent more baggage space than any intercity bus in use today.

Advanced features include higher-output electrical and air-conditioning systems, additional running lights and reflectors that conform to new federal safety standards.

The electrical system is stepped up to 24 volts. This supplies extra power for increasing use of radios, public address systems, taped music, plus increased lighting and bigger air distribution blowers.

Output of the air-conditioning system is boosted to provide greater cooling in the driver's area and forward passenger seats. Conditioned air flows into this area from an evaporator mounted under the dash.

ADDITIONAL LIGHTS

In keeping with safety regulations, additional lights and reflectors are mounted midway along both sides of the body. The coach also has back up lights and new nonglare interior driver compartment features.

Even though the new bus is five feet longer than current GMC models, there is a high degree of parts interchangeability between the two. Both 40- and 35-foot coaches can be maintained efficiently with the same shop tools and procedures.

Caserio spoke today before a gathering of members of Pontiac's major civic and service clubs.

This New Intercity Coach Developed By GMC Truck And Coach Division Features Expanded Passenger Capacity, More Baggage Space

24-Hour Strike at Pontiac Div.

About 20,000 workers in Pontiac auto plants were idle today because of a 24-hour strike called by UAW Local 653 at Pontiac Motor Division.

Added to the three shifts totaling 6,000 workers at Pontiac Motor, some 4,000 workers at Fisher Body were idled because the two plants' operations coincide. The GMC Truck and Coach plant reportedly is not affected by the strike.

All workers are expected to report for work tomorrow, according to union and company officials, the Pontiac Motor midnight shift at 12:01 tonight and the regular morning shift at Fisher Body.

Local 653 spokesmen said the strike was called to protest "lack of settlement on past and present grievances plus local working conditions."

A Pontiac Motor spokesman today said, "We regret the union's ill-advised and unnecessary action over these issues which can be satisfactorily resolved at the bargaining table."

LOSE DAY'S WAGES

The spokesman also said: "The local union advised us in a short local negotiation meeting Thursday morning that it was calling a one-day strike for all Thursday shifts causing approximately 16,000 of our hourly employees to lose a day's work and wages."

"The union spoke of approximately one dozen complaint areas, including the lack of bargaining, as the cause."

From Our Wire Services

CAPE KENNEDY — The mighty Saturn 5 Rocket, in a triumphant maiden flight, thundered perfectly into orbit today, then shot its unmanned Apollo capsule deep into space to prove it could go to the Moon and come back.

When the 114-foot satellite crossed the east coast of the U.S. for the second time, at 10:11 a.m. EST, the third-stage engine burst into life for the second time to push the Apollo into deep orbit.

"Apollo is on the way to the Moon," said Maj. Gen. Sam Phillips, Apollo program director.

The Apollo capsule was scheduled to smash back into the earth's atmosphere at 25,000 miles per hour, then parachute into the Pacific at 3:41 p.m. est.

Phillips said recovery would be a challenge because winds were gusting to 30 miles an hour and seas were rough in the planned landing zone.

With its engines generating the combined power of more than 500 jet fighter planes, the Saturn 5 thundered into the sky at 7 a.m. EST in the most spectacular launching in the 17-year history of Cape Kennedy.

Total weight of the orbiting vehicle was 230,036 pounds.

Previous record-holder was another Apollo craft and rocket stage which weighed 58,537 pounds, launched in 1966.

Heaviest payload orbited by the Russians was the 26,900-pound Proton 2 satellite launched in 1965.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration acknowledged this all-up concept on the first launching of such a complex machine entailed considerable risk. Few thought the rocket would perform as well as it did.

But the 140-ton orbiting vehicle is proof that America's lagging man-to-the-moon program has received a shot in the arm.

The Space Agency has three astronauts were killed in the Apollo 1 fire last January.

UAW, Chrysler Tentatively Agree as Wildcat Strike Hobbles Output

DETROIT — Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers union, after 34 consecutive hours of bargaining, have a tentative agreement today on a contract covering 95,000 of the company's 103,000 UAW members.

Despite the agreement, some workers were on walkout that hobbled Chrysler output.

Negotiators were too weary last night to continue bargaining on contract provisions covering 8,000 salaried workers the UAW represents at Chrysler, but spokesmen said they hoped to have these problems solved by the weekend.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther called it "the best agreement we've ever had" — even bigger than the estimated 6 per cent gains the union got at Ford two weeks ago to end a 46-day strike.

Almost identical to the Ford pact, the Chrysler contract provides wage and fringe benefit gains of more than $1 an hour, with some wage gains alone amounting to 93 cents an hour over the three-year life of the pact.

WAGE PARITY

The union also achieved at Chrysler the only major demand it failed to win

at Ford — pay parity for Canadians, who, by mid-1970, will be paid the same amount per job as their American counterparts.

The Chrysler accord came less than four hours before a Wednesday midnight strike deadline, which the UAW immediately dissolved. But by then Chrysler plants employing 35,000 were out of action because of walkouts by workers who jumped the gun on the strike deadline.

The corporation's car production sagged by 64 per cent and truck output was completely stopped by the walkouts, which lingered on today.

"We expect the next two or three days to be less than normal," Reuther conceded at a news conference when asked how soon full operations might be resumed at Chrysler.

UNSOLVED ISSUES

Reuther said he hoped the issues related to salaried UAW members could be resolved by the weekend, but a union source said yesterday's talks had included some sharp exchanges between the bargaining teams handling these matters. A new strike deadline will be set for these issues, he said.

U.N. Steps Up Mideast Efforts

Israel and Egypt Seen Hardening Positions

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council is making a new attempt to break the Middle East deadlock despite signs of hardening positions by both Israel and Egypt.

Egypt requested a meeting of the 15-nation council this afternoon to deal with Israel's refusal to withdraw from territory it seized during the June war.

A government spokesman told a news conference in Cairo there could be no move toward a settlement until Jewish forces pull back.

In New York, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban told news men Egypt's demand that Israel withdraw without a peace treaty defining frontiers "is so irrational that it is amazing to find it proposed."

Eban said that, because of its provisions for withdrawal, and Indian resolution, at promoting a settlement was unacceptable. He criticized a rival U.S. draft, contending it did not give enough stress to Israel's insistence on direct negotiations with the Israeli forces.

The Israeli Foreign Minister also found fault with a Japanese working paper circulating among council members. He said that, like the Indian resolution, it prejudices Israel's position on withdrawal.

Eban concentrated his fire on the proposal submitted by India, Mali and Nigeria. He charged that it had been drawn up "in close consultation at every point" with Egypt, but without consultation with Israel.

Eban stressed that there must be no return to armistice boundary lines that existed before the June war. He said they must be "superseded by an agreed and secure permanent frontier."

The U.S. draft seeks "withdrawal of armed forces from occupied territory" but does not spell out which armed forces nor specify that all seized Arab land should be evacuated.

BEA, Board Negotiators to Meet Again on Friday

BIRMINGHAM — The board of education and Birmingham Education Association (BEA) negotiating teams will meet tomorrow at 10 a.m. in Detroit at the Michigan Labor Relations Board offices.

This is the fourth meeting of the two teams in two weeks and progress is being made on teaching agreement on a new teacher contract, said Administrative Asst. Walter Piel.

Other steps forward were made at the board of education meeting this week, said Piel.

the remainder of the week on complaints while Pontiac employees remained at work. The request was turned down by the union, the spokesman said.

WORK STOPPAGES
Other General Motors and Chrysler plants around the country have been hit by work stoppages since the Ford Motor Co. contract was settled and bargaining with the other two firms continued.

Union spokesmen said more than 700 grievances remain to be settled at the plant. The strike was called without regional and national union approval, unnecessary because of the Pontiac Motor plant has operating without a contract since Sept. 29.

with the authorizing of two new committees to study several problems concerning controversial areas.

A Problem Review Committee will be appointed shortly consisting of two members from the board, two administrators appointed by the superintendent, and four teachers appointed by the BEA who will study and recommend on all school matters outside of those in a contract, he said. Committee terms will end June 30, 1968.

A second committee called the Merit Pay Committee, made up of three members each appointed by the Board and BEA, will make a report on merit pay for teachers after June 30.

Four teachers have been added to the Revision of the Curriculum Council, said Piel. Previously council members had all been administrators.

General Urges a Cease-Fire

The retired Air Force general, now-president of Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corp., declined to endorse any specific proposal for de-escalation. But he said the impact of the war on the U.S. economy and on the attitude of the American people warrants consideration of a cease-fire.

MAKING A POINT — Merrill Walls, manager of employment service at the Pontiac branch of Michigan Employment Security Commission, speaks to area employers at a program sponsored by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce at Kingsley Inn yesterday. Walls was one of nine speakers on the afternoon program aimed at encouraging management to reevaluate hiring procedures and utilize training programs in an effort to hire the hard core unemployed.

Unemployment Fight Launched

By DICK SAUNDERS

The Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce yesterday picked up the ball of revolutionary employment practices carried it to top-level management in the Pontiac area.

The purpose: to launch a community-wide attack on problems of the chronically unemployed through a reevaluation of traditional employment requirements and utilization of more sophisticated training programs.

In simple language, it means a big push to create more job opportunities for the hard-core unemployed.

The program took place at Kingsley Inn, 1475 Woodward, Bloomfield Hills.

NINE SPEAKERS
Edward E. Barker Jr., president of Pontiac State Bank and chairman of the program committee, was moderator. There were nine speakers at the afternoon session. They were:

Teacher Subs' Pay Upgraded

Raises of Up to $5
Okayed by Board

Substitute teachers in Pontiac will now be paid just as much as other nearby communities.

Starting Monday, substitutes will receive as much as $5 a day more than they now make.

The school board approved the raises last night in order to be more competitive with other districts for substitute talent.

Pontiac will now pay $25 a day for teachers with a college degree and $20 for a nondegree substitute with a minimum of 60 semester or 90 term hours of credit.

Up until now when teaching talent is getting very scarce, the district paid $18 for nondegree teachers, $20 for those with a degree and provisional certificate.

COMPETITIVE SITUATION

"The administration is primarily interested in being competitive with surrounding districts for substitutes with a four-year degree," Personnel Director Lewis Crew said in explaining the pay proposal.

The new salary package will cost the district about $16,500, Crew estimated.

Other districts pay the following wages: Bloomfield Hills, $25 for both non-degree and degree and emergency certificate; $25 for degree and provisional certificate; and Birmingham and Waterford, $25 across the board.

In other business, the board appointed two elementary school principals. They are:

• William E. Neff, who will replace Mrs. Vida L. Walker at Whitfield School.

• Neff has been principal at Hawthorne Elementary School for the past four years. Mrs. Walker, who has been in the system for 18 years of which the last 12 were as a principal, has taken a sick leave of absence.

• James R. Davis, community school director at Eastern Junior High School, will take over for Neff at Hawthorne. He has held his present job for one year and has been in the system six years.

Another appointment was that of Richard H. Ayling, a former high school counselor here, as coordinator of the new individualized instructional program for problem students at Pontiac Central High School.

The school board members also:

• Postponed hiring an architectural consultant for the proposed Human Resources Center until the next meeting in order to have time to discuss contracts.

• Concurred with the City Commission by passing a resolution to expand the new Pontiac Area Planning Council Board of Governors from 28 to 32 members.

• Heard a report that the adult education program enrollments have been increasing by about 1,300 students a year. Some 6,500 adults are expected to take courses this year.

• Reappointed Charles W. Buck, a Republican, and Leo M. Zadokso, a Democrat, to the Board of Canvassers (for school district elections) for four years.

Police to Get Message

Sometime soon a desk sergeant at the Pontiac police station may pickup a telephone and hear something like this:

"This is Pontiac Central High School. I'm being robbed. Hurry over. This is a recording."

Although this may not be the exact message, tape recorders will be automatically phoning the police station when schools are being broken into.

The tape recorders are part of silent alarm system to be installed in six city schools to catch intruders who have made off with some $24,000 worth of audio-visual equipment, business machines and musical instruments since Jan. 1.

The bugging devices may also help to curb school vandalism, which now amounts to $30,000 a year and is rising.

INSURANCE COSTS
"Although much of the cost is covered by insurance, the num-

Schiller said the school district's insurance agent could not tell him how much premiums would go up if claims continue, but he conceded that the agent has been threatening to place a $50 deductible on losses.

School trustees gave Schiller permission to have four elementary and the two high schools bugged with the silent alarm systems at a maximum cost of $6,500.

"This system has been used successfully by a number of school districts, including Avondale, and business places," the business manager reported.

DEPENDS ON SIZE

Other systems, which would wire a complete school as opposed to bugging a few areas at a school, would cost from $3,000 to $6,000 depending on the size of the school, according to Schiller.

Two city schools now have alarm systems, one which is an audible siren type and another which notifies the police and a school official by telephone.

Schiller asked for the funds for the new alarms two months before the district's three-year insurance contract expires.

• More than 50 per cent of the dropouts scored in or above the normal I.Q. range of 91-110.

• "Lack of interest" is the most common reason for leaving school.

• The largest group of dropouts leave in grade 11.

• The average number of children in the family of a dropout is 4.3, with at least one of the dropout's siblings also being a dropout.

Dropout Rate of 12 Pct. Is Recorded in District

Public high schools in Pontiac and Troy had one of the highest dropout rates in the state and Oakland County during 1965-66, a state survey shows.

A report by the Michigan Department of Education indicated that the dropout rate in grades 9-12 in Pontiac and Troy was about 12 per cent.

The rate for the Oakland Intermediate School District, which includes 28 school districts in the county and a few in bordering counties, was 6.6 per cent.

Oakland Schools district had the ninth highest dropout rate among 60 Michigan intermediate districts with high school programs.

Seven per cent was the average annual Michigan dropout rate for the period, up three-tenths per cent over the previous year.

668 LOCAL STUDENTS

A total of 668 Pontiac students out of 5,580 in grades 9-12 quit school from April 1, 1965 to March 31, 1966. In Troy, 138 out of 1,142 dropped out.

During this period, Troy had the state's ninth highest rate and Pontiac was 10th.

Detroit, Michigan's largest school district, was sixth with a 12.8 dropout percentage. Muskegon Heights in Muskegon County topped the list with 17.7 per cent.

Bloomfield Hills district had the lowest percentage of dropouts in the county — 1.7 per cent.

8.2 PCT. IN WATERFORD

Dropout percentages for other area districts are: Holly Area, 9.4; South Lyon, 8.9; Rochester and Waterford Township 8.2; Walled Lake Consolidated, 7.8; West Bloomfield, 7.4.

Clarenceville schools in Livonia had the highest dropout rate of 13.5 per cent of the county districts, with Troy and Pontiac close behind.

In highlights of the study:

• Twenty-eight per cent of students attending ninth grade in Michigan do not graduate from high school.

• Of the 35,210 dropouts in Michigan during 1965-66, about 54 per cent were from the Detroit metropolitan area of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties. About 45 per cent of the state's high school population is in this area.

Balance Your Retirement Investments

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Mary Feeley:
Will you referee this family bout? I say we should buy bonds toward our retirement. My husband says we should—put the money in the bank at four and one-half per cent.

We're in our 50s, own our home, clear, and plan to start saving $2500 a year till retirement. The only income we will have then will be our Social Security check. So I say, when we start cashing our bonds in $50 and $100 denominations, we won't be required to pay any federal income tax on the profits.

Even though bank savings would earn four and one-half per cent a year, we'd have to pay tax on the interest each year, which would be larger as the savings build up.

What do you say?
Mrs. E. B., Clifton, N.J.

Dear Mrs. B.:
I say you'd better split up that $2500 a year, so you'll come out 10 years from now with a more advantageous balance between fixed and variable dollars.

I agree that E bonds are a good buy for you with interest of 4.15 per cent, since there seems to be little likelihood in your circumstances of having tax liability after you retire—with the $2400 a year tax exemption you and your husband will be allowed.

If your husband's income now, for example, is in the 19 per cent tax bracket, the bank savings earning four and one-half per cent will actually mean a yield of 3.645 per cent after taxes.

So why not consider putting a certain amount of the $2500 year into E bonds and the balance into a good mutual fund?

Where can I buy a form for making a will?

A. L., Monroeville, Ill.

At a stationery store that sells legal forms. But why do you want one? I hope you're not telling yourself that drawing up your own will is so simple you don't need any legal advice. The layman isn't equipped to interpret precisely his wishes and intentions, nor for that matter find his way safely through legal terminology.

One lawyer remarked that a client came in to have him draw up a "quick and simple" will.
It turned out to involve two trusts along with a lot of other intricacies. Even if a person's estate is minuscule, arranging for its disposition isn't necessarily "simple." Nor is it a do-it-yourself job.

Dear Miss Feeley:

Some weeks ago I gave the Salvation Army a piano. It cost me $722 about six years ago. I value it at about $400 (in perfect condition). How much of the fair market value of the piano can I take off on my income tax?

A.R.T., New York City

Dear A.R.T.:
If you're going to claim a charitable deduction of more than $200 on your tax return, you'll need to attach a statement giving the name and address of the organization to which you made the contribution or a receipt for the contribution from the organization; the date of actual contribution; a description

Why Grow Old?

by JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here is a letter which will interest many women because either they have a husband who has retired or one who is going to retire.

Dear Mrs. Lowman:

I enjoyed your recent article on retirement. Don't let anyone tell you that the first two or three years of married life are the hardest. They say that because their husband has not retired yet.

I did not look forward to my husband's retirement mainly because he has no special interests or hobbies with which to fill his time. He doesn't fish or play golf or bowl and if he picks up a hammer to fix anything, I am ready to leave home.

ACCEPTED FACT

However, I accepted the fact that I was going to have a man around the house most of the time and made up my mind to make a success of this retirement business. As I look back on the past few years, I think the biggest thing I lost was my independence.

I had always attended to paying the bills and doing the shopping and I did my own laundry. Then I thought, "What is he going to do with his time besides empty the garbage, burn the trash, and wait for the mailman and the paper boy?" So I turned all the paying and buying over to my husband. He even takes the clothes to the laundrette for me.

Since he likes to talk and visit with old and new acquaintances, he usually runs into one or two people and spends the hour visiting, which is fine with me. But I am wondering if I am being fair to myself? I'm not out of the house at all lots of days.

MISS NEIGHBORS

I miss my neighbors and friends dropping in for a woman's chat. Who can enjoy that with a man sitting in? I also miss the telephone calls I used to get. My friends do not call as they used to. When they do call I can feel my husband getting tense if the conversation goes on for very long.

VULTURE HAVEN — The Dade County Courthouse in Miami is a refuge for vultures. They roost on the pyramid-shaped top (close up at right) and soar above the downtown area.

Vultures Find a Roost in Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Miami's 20th-century vultures—something like the swallows of Capistrano but more like the messy starlings of northern city halls—are back in town, once more forsaking the wilderness of the Everglades for gracious urban living.

Again, they're soaring over bustling, neon-lit downtown Miami as though it were a game preserve.

The city-slicker vultures—with wing spreads up to six feet—decided 10 or 12 years ago that the Dade County Courthouse, despite crowded conditions and the noise that goes with urban apartments, would make a good homestead.

Their less enlightened country cousins continued the tired, old migration to the Everglades.

"It's unique. I don't know of any other city where vultures roost on a building," said Dr. Oscar Owe, ornithologist at the University of Miami. "They usually don't favor civilization."

And the courthouse, one of the tallest buildings in downtown Miami, is the only building favored by the vultures, kin to the soaring condors of Peru and California.

Politicians have corny jokes to explain why the vultures chose the courthouse and the biologists have theories. But nobody knows for sure.

FBI Probes Gary Voting; Mayor-Elect Makes Plans

The Justice Department confirmed that federal agents were probing reports of fraudulent voting in Tuesday's election which gave the Negro Democrat a 1,280-vote victory over white Republican Joseph B. Radigan.

James F. Turner of the department's civil rights division said no court action was planned, pending outcome of the investigation.

Radigan said irregularities were reported and he would ask attorneys "to assist me in reporting these irregularities to federal and state court." He did not say whether he would seek a recount, and he still has not conceded defeat.

MULTIRACIAL CAMPAIGN

Hatcher, 34, a bachelor lawyer and city councilman, told a news conference Wednesday, "Ours was a multiracial campaign as well as a multiracial victory. Let us once and for all put all doubts to rest. We shall have a multiracial government."

Lake County Democratic Chairman John G. Krupa, who refused to support the Democratic candidate, charged there were violations of election laws in at least three precincts.

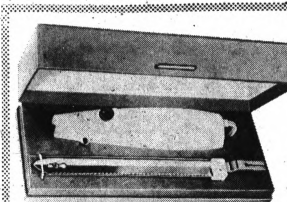

In one, he said, the board refused to seat Republicans. Another board refused to honor challenges of illegal voters and He also charged there was evidence of voting by "people we the certification of Hatcher's election showing 39,330 votes for population is about 55 per cent Hatcher and 37,941 for Radigan, Negro.

Seashells May Help Find Oil

Black Color Aids in Hunt for Shore Lines

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — Marine geologists at Duke University report they have figured out why some seashells are black, and the answer may help scientists locate southeastern U.S. shore lines that disappeared under the ocean 20,000 years ago.

Such ancient shore lines are often oil traps. The petroleum seeps into porous sediment and then is imprisoned as layer upon layer of broken shells is laid down.

According to Duke science writer Don Seaver, black is not the natural color of any shellfish. The shells got that way from being buried at one time or another in black mud found in salt marsh areas near a coast.

To test this theory, Duke investigators headed by Dr. Orrin Pilkey buried different color seashells in a salt marsh near Beaufort, the site of Duke's marine laboratory. Within three weeks, the scientists reported, shells turned black all the way through.

INDICATE SHORE LINES

Bands of black shells located on the continental shelf, the scientists concluded, are a clear indication of ancient shore lines. Duke's research vessel, Eastward, has found four or five such bands off the coast of the southeastern United States.

The Duke scientists found other clues to the drowned shore lines. One was the proportion of broken shells in any deposit. This told the scientists something about the amount of wave action which broke the shells.

Still another clue was roundness. Shell fragments are worn smooth as waves wash them to and fro over beach sand. The scientists designed a tumbling barrel to simulate surf action and poured in shells.

After two weeks of tossing, the shells were rounded.

TRAVEL HUNDREDS OF MILES

The investigators were able to calculate that shells travel several hundred miles before they are significantly rounded.

Putting all their evidence together, the scientists have charted a series of former shore lines off the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida.

They roughly parallel the present southeastern coast and mark the retreat and return of Atlantic waters as the ice age seas rose and fell.

Radio-carbon tests show most of them are less than 20,000 years old.

First U.S. Jogging Trail Has Fartleking Markers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The temperature was in the low 40s, and a stiff breeze was whipping up graylocks on the Potomac, which is too polluted to have whitecaps. In short, it was a lousy day for "The First National Jogathon." Or so it considered it.

But then our leader, Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, showed up in a short-sleeved sweatshirt, a doughy figure apparently impervious to the chill that was seeping through my topcoat.

And suddenly I felt abashed at having been intimidated by a little thing like double pneumonia.

After a few inspirational words, Udall gave the signal and we jogged forth into history. For we were officially opening the National Park Service's first jogging trail.

Having finally recognized that every jogger should have a trail he can call his own, the government has set up one-mile jogging courses in four capital parks.

It hopes this will be the beginning of a great national movement and that soon jogging trails will be situated in every city and hamlet across our broad land.

There were, I would guess, about 100 joggers on hand for the trail opening, including a busload from Baltimore.

Among them were the co-authors of a jogging handbook which instructs beginners in the fine points, such as how to put one foot in front of the other.

I was interested to note that Udall uses a jogging form identified in the handbook as the "Swedish Fartlek."

Practitioners of this method jog for 110 yards and then walk an equal distance. Which distinguishes them from "New Zealand Fartlek" men who strike a steady pace and hold it.

The Park Service trails have markers every 110 yards, so that Swedish Fartleklers will know when to change pace. The markers also can be used to support one's self in case one runs out of breath.

After resting up for a couple of hours following the dedicatory jog, I returned to the trail to see if I could make it to the second marker. This time I was the only jogger in sight.

As I jogged along in a modified New Zealand Fartlek, I was reminded of the immortal words of Snoopy, the comic strip beagle: "To me, this looks like a good place to get mugged."

'ALL CLEAR FOR LANDING'—A soldier of the reconnaissance platoon of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry gives troop-carrying helicopters the "all clear for landing" signal by raising his rifle above his head. The copters landed in the open field adjacent to a hamlet before the rest of the platoon came in. They then charged the village, killing the four Vietcong who had been spotted from the air. The action took place along the central Vietnamese coast near Tam Ky, 350 miles north-northeast of Saigon.

Fifth Grade Quiz Snap (?) for Adults

By DICK SAUNDERS

How're you at following simple directions? Easy, you say? If you're anything like me, you spend half your waking hours explaining to your kids how important (and easy) it is to follow directions.

I offer a tip and a test to SAUNDERS fellow adults who champion the virtues of following directions.

First, the tip. Don't finish your "directional" sermons with a statement like: "I am a proud father and provider, successful in my chosen occupation because I learned how to follow directions."

Leave fatherhood out of it. You may find yourself having to explain what directions one should follow to attain fatherhood.

It's kind of like standing there after a well-delivered lesson with a mouthful of marbles.

Now to the test. It was provided by my 10-year-old son.

Since it was administered to him and his cohorts by their fifth grade teacher, it naturally will be a snap for adults. Or will it?

Axelrod hopes that other writers will follow his course and aim their works directly at the screen, instead of fashioning plays or novels first.

"The original screenplay was once a fine institution," he observed. "All the great screwball comedies of the 1930s were originals."

"But after the war producers began to shy away from originals. Because of the greatly increased cost of making films, they wanted presold properties—that is, novels and plays that had already been tested on the public. Also, the studios no longer had those vast reservoirs of writing talent to turn out originals."

European film makers have not been so restricted. They have relied more on originals than on adaptations; the results can be seen in the Motion Picture Academy's nominations for best original screenplay, which have been dominated by Europeans in recent years.

Axelrod sees the tide turning with such recent originals as "Bonnie and Clyde" and "Thoroughly Modern Millie." They are still difficult to sell to the studios, he admitted, but that feat can be worked by buying up a star to go with the package, or by attaching a hyphenate. In Hollywood parlance a hyphenate is a multifunctional creator like Axelrod, writer-director-producer.

Mr. Right now he is producing and directing his own original screenplay of "The Female Mistake," starring Walter Matthau and Anne Jackson.

"Actually I could have done this first as a play, since it would fit comfortably into two acts," said Axelrod, a cherubic 45. "But by the time I had gone through the process of putting it on the stage, I would have been too tired of it to film the movie."

"So I'm writing it on film instead. The camera is a marvelous typewriter; you can use faces instead of words."

Comeback Is Predicted for Original Screenplay

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The comeback of the original screenplay is predicted and devoutly hoped for by George Axelrod, an experienced practitioner of that now rare art form.

For the outsider, it should be explained that films are derived from two sources: previously written material, such as plays, novels, television shows, comic strips, etc.; and original screenplays, written expressly for the film medium.

Axelrod is a veteran of both adaptations, "The Seven Year Itch," "Breakfast at Tiffany's," "The Manchurian Candidate" and originals, "Pffft," "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Knowing It."

Right now he is producing and directing his own original screenplay of "The Female Mistake," starring Walter Matthau and Anne Jackson.

"Actually I could have done this first as a play, since it would fit comfortably into two acts," said Axelrod, a cherubic 45. "But by the time I had gone through the process of putting it on the stage, I would have been too tired of it to film the movie."
