School Board OKs $12.1 Million Budget

The Pontiac Board of Education last night adopted a $12.1-million operating budget for 1965-66.

The action was necessary so that the operating estimate could be submitted to the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board by today.

Witness Offers Noise Analogy

A witness in the Sam Allen & Son Scrupyard trial testified yesterday that a metal crushing machine used in the operation sounded like "waves driven against rocks by 100 mile an hour winds."

The description was given by Perry Glass, 32 Bagley, one of 15 plaintiffs who joined with the city of Pontiac in legal action against Allen. They are seeking a permanent injunction against the operation, claiming it is a nuisance.

Glass, under cross-examination by Allen's attorney, L. Harvey Lodge, said he was able to make the comparison because he had experienced it when he was stationed on the island of Attu in the Aleutians during World War II.

A resident in the area of the junkyard since 1906, Glass also traced the development of Allen's property at 22 Congress and the history and character of the surrounding neighborhood.

His testimony was completed yesterday.

ALSO INCLUDED

Also included in the budget adopted last night is $387,924 for salary increases and staff studies, and a $200,000 contingency fund.

The school administration is currently working on a salary proposal with teacher representatives and other labor groups.

Tax Returns Due Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Today is the deadline for filing federal income tax returns.

They must be postmarked by midnight tonight, or you'll have to pay a penalty.

Although only the return must be in the mail today, you'll save by enclosing any money you owe. Late payments are subject to interest charges of one-half of 1 percent each month.

U.S., S. Viet Planes Blast Cong Target

230 Aircraft Attack Near Cambodia in Biggest Raid of War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—An armada of 230 U.S. and South Vietnamese planes bombed a Communist stronghold near the Cambodian border "from dawn to dusk" today in the biggest air raid of the Viet Nam war.

U.S. Army, Air Force and Marine aircraft based in Viet Nam were joined by Navy planes from the carriers Coral Sea and Midway and Skyraider fighter-bombers of the South Vietnamese air force.

It was the first time Navy planes had gone into action against targets inside South Viet Nam. Previous Navy raids have been made on North Viet Nam.

A U.S. spokesman said the target was a jungle region nearly 3 miles wide by 2 1/2 miles long in Tay Ninh Province northwest of Saigon.

"It was a maze of blotchy woods, with Viet Cong gardens and numerous trails visible," he said.

U.S. Air Force and Vietnamese Skyriders began the bombing attack at dawn.

EXPLOSIONS

By late afternoon a huge wall of smoke and fire obscured the Cambodian border. There had been six secondary explosions, presumably from Viet Cong ammunition caches.

U.S. spokesmen said ground fire was "surprisingly light considering that it is a dangerous area." Two Navy planes received one bullet hole each.

A spokesman said Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, had called for a "maximum effort" against the target, which lies in the Communist "VC" zone.

"It appeared to be one of the more lucrative places we have seen," one spokesman said.

The U.S. Army contributed a platoon of armed helicopters which flew over for Vietnamese spotter planes.

Six U.S. Air Force F105 fighter-bombers, supported by 15 jet aircraft of other types, staged another raid on North Viet Nam.

They conducted an armed patrol over highways and dumped about nine tons of bombs on a bold landing at Mung Sen, 120 miles southwest of Hanoi.

A spokesman said ground fire was light to moderate. No enemy planes were sighted.

State Areas to Get U.S. Aid

Seek Peace in Bicounty Water Fight

Officials of north Oakland County communities last night were shown the other side of the controversy over their water resources.

An appeal for cooperation between Oakland and Genesee county municipalities momentarily replaced the campaign being conducted to halt the plans of the Genesee Valley Utilities Authority.

The organization's plans were aired at a meeting called by the Independence Township Board for clarification of the issue.

The authority, composed of 11 townships which surround Flint, has applied for a $321,000 federal loan to investigate the feasibility of establishing its own water system.

Some $50,000 of the loan would be used to explore potential sources in 10 north Oakland County townships as well as five in Genesee County.

SEEK SUPPORT

Centered in the Holly-Springfield Township area, the opposition group has sought the support of neighboring units to keep Oakland County water in Oakland County.

However, the Genesee group claims there's more than enough water there for everyone.

The Oakland officials were invited to join the authority to get in on the initial stages of development.

MEMBERSHIP FEE

A fee of $50 per representative is charged for membership.

Other than that, there would be no cost to the individual unit until the water system was needed in that community.

Those attending the session said they would take the idea back to their respective governing bodies.

Meanwhile, the North Oakland Water Association is urging the 10 townships to pass ordinances preventing the removal of underground water from the area.

RIVER ON RAMPAGE—The Crow River, cresting yesterday in Delano, Minn., filled up the first floors of these houses along a residential section of the community's main street. The river normally is a placid stream running behind these homes.

Dikes Are Reinforced

Mississippi Continues to Rise

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The Mississippi River continued its rise toward a record crest at St. Paul today, as major action along flood fronts turned to reinforcing dikes for a long "hold" against high waters.

Weather Bureau men indicated the comparatively slow river rise probably means a "flat" crest that will hang on for several days.

Closings Are Listed for Good Friday

Area General Motors plants will close tomorrow for Good Friday, but many stores and businesses will remain open.

Pontiac City Hall and the Oakland County Courthouse will close from noon until 3 p.m., but the Waterford Township offices will remain closed all afternoon.

Banks and savings and loan associations will remain open for normal Friday hours, but some of their drive-in facilities will be closed during the 12-3 p.m. church services.

Consumers Power will be closed from 12 to 2, Detroit Edison will remain open and Michigan Bell will be closed all day.

The Mississippi has climbed nearly a foot since yesterday, standing at 25.45 feet today and bound for a 27-foot top at St. Paul Friday. Flood stage is 14 feet.

No damage is anticipated in most areas of Minneapolis. St. Paul's main business district is not threatened. Grain elevators and other riverside industry in some St. Paul areas are surrounded by water or are threatened.

Workers continued to watch the many Twin Cities bridges for ice jams and debris floating down from central and north Minnesota.

One such ice jam, towering 24 feet above the river level at St. Cloud, some 50 miles north of Minneapolis, was broken up when it rammed a series of ice breakers in front of the Sartell Dam.

'Mercy Killer' Slays Kin of Gen. Taylor

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "Today I killed my best friend, Mary, who has been suffering so cruelly from cancer."

So begins a note written by a woman, who, police say, shot to death the sister-in-law of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U.S. ambassador to Viet Nam, and then took her own life.

Mary Happer, 61, was shot to death Wednesday in a Philadelphia nursing home in what police termed a mercy killing. Dorothy Butts, 49, of Bethesda, Md., was found dead of a bullet wound six hours later in a bullet outside the Bethesda police station.

Police said they found two notes beside Miss Butts' body in the blood-spattered car. They said one of them told of the slaying.

FOUND DEAD

Miss Happer, a Bethesda resident who had been staying at the High Oaks Home for Christian Scientists in the city's Germantown section, was found dead by a nurse, Edith Barrett, who said she had heard "two sharp cracks."

Miss Barrett said she rushed into the room and saw a woman an, later identified as Miss Butts, stuffing something into her handbag. Lying across the bed clad in a slip was Miss Happer.

The nurse said the intruder whisked by her and bolted through the front door to a patio outside. Miss Barrett yelled to the manager, Kenneth Gebret, 44, who went out the front door to try to catch the fleeing woman.

Gebret said he saw her get into a car in a nearby parking lot and drive off. Philadelphia police said Miss Happer was struck once in the head and once through the left arm by 22-caliber bullets. Police in Bethesda said a 22-caliber pistol was found in Miss Butts' car.

STOMACH TUMOR

Capt. Joseph Gordon of the homicide squad in Philadelphia said Miss Happer came here March 23 suffering from a stomach tumor.

He said Miss Butts, who had visited the home several times before, came to see Miss Happer Wednesday. He said they spent most of the morning together before Miss Butts took Miss Happer on a long ride in the countryside. They returned about 4 p.m.

Police said both women lived in fashionable neighborhoods of Bethesda, which is 10 miles northwest of Washington, D.C. They said both had been teachers at Holy Ann Girls School, a private school in Bethesda. Virginia Gardner Happer of El Paso, who police identify as Miss Happer's sister, married Gen. Taylor in 1926.

Area Pupils Get Spring Vacation

Spring vacation is here and students in the Pontiac and Waterford area will get a breather. Students in the Pontiac Public Schools begin their vacation today at 1:30 p.m. and will return on April 22.

Waterford Public School students begin their vacation at 3 p.m. today and return Wednesday.

Students at the five parochial schools in the area will have vacations of different lengths, as follows:

St. Michaels—Vacation starts at the close of school today and students won't return to school until April 26.

ON VACATION
St. Fredericks—Vacation began yesterday and classes will resume on April 22.

Emmanuel Christian—Vacation starts today and will end on Wednesday.

St. Benedict's—Students, who begin vacation today, will return to classes April 22.

Our Lady of the Lakes—Same as St. Benedict's.

State School Chief Resigns

Bartlett Announces Taking Federal Job

LANSING (AP) — Dr. Lynn Bartlett announced today his resignation as superintendent of public instruction. He will become deputy assistant secretary of defense for education.

Bartlett, a Democrat, had won four consecutive terms as state school chief, but the new constitution abolished the elective post. He will leave June 30, at the end of his present term.

Thomas Brennan, president of the new board of education, said the board is starting its search for an appointive superintendent, who will be the Department of Public Instruction's administrative head.

Bartlett, 60, will receive $24,500 in his Washington post, $5,000 more than he got in Michigan. He would not comment on his Washington job, saying any announcement should come from there.

DEPENDENTS

There was no doubt, however, that the job he will get is one dealing with education of servicemen's dependents around the world.

Brennan said the state board tried to retain Bartlett, but the outgoing superintendent acknowledged that the offer was not gracious, and it will be very hard to leave the tremendous opportunity here in Michigan.

"My decision to leave came only after a great deal of consideration and soul-searching... This decision without any question was the most difficult I have ever had to make."

He formally told the board last Wednesday of his plans. Brennan thanked Bartlett for his aid in transferring department policy-making control from the superintendent to the eight-member elective board, which took office Jan. 1.

Brennan said the board would not rush into making an appointment. He said Pennsylvania has been searching nine months for a superintendent.

Bartlett, who holds three degrees through PHD from the University of Michigan, was an administrator in Grosseto Point before winning election.

Opposing his Rome - upheld faction seemed useless. Yet Gamaliel, an inveterate old-batler for principle, knew he must try. He counted several fellow Pharisees present who supported his doctrine of moderation, as against the severe school of Shammai.

He had personally observed the conduct of the accused sect, noting that its members continued in daily attendance at the Temple. They had not forsaken their ancestral faith, albeit they brought strange admixtures to it.

Many were of the poor, the ebyonim, dwelling in the musty passages of the old eastern wall. Others were well off. But by their extraordinary charitable-gness, no Nazarene had an unfilled need.

Yet they certainly had become a disturbance to the prevailing pattern of things. They created popular ferment, engineering reports of miraculous cures and supernatural intercessions. They attracted swarms of the afflicted.

RANKS GROW
And their numbers grew. At first, at that dumfounding rampage at the Pentecost festival a year or so ago, 3,000 had joined the sect, but many of these were pilgrims, now scattered to many regions.

Yet those who remained had increased until they now numbered 5,000 in Jerusalem alone, a small fragment in city 20 times that, but with a stable force in these unstable times.

Already, Rome's troops had stepped in repeatedly to stifle dissidence, often with massive slaughter, and the puppet Sadducees were under strictures to

Bill to Limit Lobbyists' Gifts Pending in State Legislature

LANSING (AP) — Lawmakers would be barred from demanding or receiving more than $40 in gifts from lobbyists in one year under a legislative ethics bill introduced in the last-minute flood of House bills Wednesday.

The bill, with Rep. John Bennett, D-Redford, as chief sponsor, is a redraft of a measure introduced several weeks ago in the Illinois Assembly by Adlai Stevenson III, son of the U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations and former Democratic presidential candidate.

Violation of the law-by a legislator, a lobbyist or representative of a special interest—would be a misdemeanor.

The bill, which has bipartisan support, sets up a seven-member board of legislative ethics made up of one former member of each house, a certified public accountant, a lawyer and three citizens active in civic affairs.

CODE OF ETHICS

The board would be empowered to draw up a code of ethics, to issue advisory opinions and to investigate apparent conflicts of interest on the part of legislators or legislative employees.

"I don't think this bill is going to win me any popularity contests with my fellow legislators," the freshman lawmaker said, "but I'm not here for that purpose. I'm here to serve the people of the state and to help my colleagues serve them."

The board would have subpoena power and be able to conduct hearings—opened or closed at the choice of the person being investigated.

The bill also requires legislators and employees to file, on the demand of the board, written statements of "economic relationships likely to create conflicts of interest."

FINANCIAL HOLDINGS

Included would be individual interests exceeding a market value of $5,000 owned by himself and family in any entity which is under state regulation "or which has or may reasonably be expected to have a legislative interest."

Excluded would be "political contributions...made during a period when political contributions are normally made and actually used for political purposes."

New Wonder of the Push-Button Age

Pennsylvania to Build Collapsible Dam

SUNBURY, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania is just steps away from starting construction on one of the new wonders of the push-button age — a collapsible dam that can be inflated or deflated with the flick of a switch.

The $900,000 dam will be built on the Susquehanna River near Sunbury. It will create one of the finest water-based recreation spots in Pennsylvania.

Plans call for a multisection rubberized dam 7½-feet high and 1,975-feet long, located three miles below the confluence of the north and west branches of the Susquehanna.

The Susquehanna rises in upper New York State and flows into the Chesapeake Bay. Among river systems east of the Mississippi, it is ranked third by hydrologists, behind the St. Lawrence and Tennessee.

GIANT TEARDROPS

Once completed, the dam is expected to resemble seven giant "teardrops" or "sagags" strung together across the river.

Inflated with water on the bottom and air at the top, the dam will form a 3,000-acre pool of water surface for boating, fishing and, eventually, swimming. In times of flood warning, it can be deflated within minutes to let high waters pass downstream.

Operation of the dam will be controlled by a pumphouse on the east bank of the river where water and air can be pumped into and taken out of the fabric "bags" with the press of a button to keep the river at predetermined elevations throughout the year.

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS

SPECIAL REPORT

EACH SECTION

Each section of the "fabric dam" will hold up to 85,500 gallons of water and 9,000 cubic feet of air, says Clifford H. McConnell, chief engineer of the division of waters in the Pennsylvania Forests and Waters Department.

"The dam will be made of a tough laminated material, combining rubber and nylon," he said. "One inch of this material can support 3,200 pounds of pressure."

So strong and durable is the material, dam designers feel it can withstand heavy ice jams, floating trees or houses, and even a hunter who might accidentally shoot a hole into it.

"The pressure will be about 2½ to 3 pounds per square inch, so low that bullet holes would have practically no effect," McConnell says. "It would be like patching a tire to repair it."

DEFLATED POSITION

Plans call for the state to keep the dam at a deflated position for the spring floods, then inflate it to create a pool about eight feet in depth for the summer recreation season.

In the event of surprise flooding or excessive high waters, the rubberized bags automatically would start deflating through a syphon process.

The foundation of the dam will be a concrete base slab with piers spaced about 300 feet apart. The rubberized bag sections will be anchored both to the base and the piers. The dam will consist of six separate 300-foot sections and one of 175 feet.

Each section (bag) will be controlled individually, allowing for different flows in different seasons.

Also included in the plans is a fishway on the west bank of the river to aid in the migration of fish upstream.

INFLATABLE DAMS

Inflatable dams are not new.

The first was constructed in California in 1957. Since then 11 others have been put into use, including one at Turtle Creek, Pa. Many more are being built or planned.

But state officials believe the concept of multisection collapsible dams is new. They also believe that the use of inflatable dams specifically geared toward providing water-based recreation is a pioneer effort.

Accent Put on Finance, Economics in Wilson-Johnson Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain flies here today to meet with President Johnson for the second time in four months. During their talks, the prime minister wants to concentrate on financial and economic problems, authoritative diplomatic sources indicated.

Wilson will leave foreign policy issues for the most part to his companion, George Thompson, a minister of state in Britain's Foreign Office. Wilson meets with the President at the White House shortly after his arrival and the two leaders plan to lunch together. In the afternoon the prime minister arranged meetings with Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor at the British Embassy.

While the United States is currently less concerned with its balance of payments because the outlook is promising and because of the more pressing Viet Nam crisis, the prime minister is known to be spending much of his time coping with his country's foreign exchange problem.

At a news conference Wednesday at United Nations headquarters in New York, Wilson was asked if he thought North Viet Nam would enter peace talks while undergoing U.S. bombardment.

"It's a bit of a vicious circle," he said, adding he believed President Johnson's offer of negotiations could start to break the circle and it was up to the parties concerned to enter into talks. "I hope a number of countries will respond by agreeing to consultations without conditions," Wilson said.

Reminded that both Peking and Hanoi had refused to see special British envoy Patrick Gordon Walker, Wilson said: "Never take no for an answer is one of the rules of the game." The Viet Nam situation also was discussed in New York Wednesday by U.S. Ambassador at Large W. Averell Harriman who said it is up to North Viet Nam "to cease and desist."

Harriman said in a speech to the Academy of Political Science at Columbia University that the sooner steps are taken to stamp out Communist aggression and subversion, "the less danger there will be to the free nations of open aggression under the guise of liberation fronts."

In a speech to the Economic Club in New York Wednesday, Wilson said he hopes to end his country's balance of payments deficit by next year.

Students Give Answer to Curricula Question

Some interesting and surprising shifts in the academic orientation of American college students have come to light.

In the four years prior to 1957—the year Russia launched its first Sputnik—science graduates of the Nation's universities had risen by 30 per cent, while the nonscience category—the humanities—showed but a 23 per cent gain.

But following Russia's startling space coup and with America's need for more scientists and engineers much stressed, the trend was paradoxically reversed.

As a result, the nonscience degrees awarded during the past seven years reflect a 50 per cent increase compared with a 20 per cent gain in graduates of science courses.

How is this anomaly explained and, in view of the "record," what justification has there been for the concern of educators that an intellectual imbalance among college graduates is resulting from disproportionate interest in science classes at the expense of the nonscience?

A partial answer to the first part of the question seems to be that the engineering field is too closely linked to defense work, in which there has been steady cutback in recent years. As a consequence, the demand for engineers has appreciably slackened.

Counterbalancing this, however, industry's demand is now pointed at the nontechnical degree-holders. This year, seniors in that category have received 33 per cent of recruiters' job offers, up from 23 per cent last year and only 16 per cent two years ago.

As for the academicians' anxiety over the supposed disinterest in nonscience courses by undergraduates, it appears to be rooted in misapprehension.

So well-informed an educator as ROGER L. STEVENS, President Johnson's special assistant on the arts, recently admitted "surprise" when informed of the significant shift from science to nonscience courses in American universities.

It is a fair assumption that one of the basic laws of economics—that of supply and demand—inevitably comes into play in channeling college students into the most propitious areas of study.

Liquor Gives Proof of Old Economic Law

The laws of economics were never passed by anyone, and they can't be repealed by anyone. We just have to live with them—and this brings up moonshine.

It's a booming industry. Once largely an avocation of mountaineers, it's now heavily infiltrating the cities, according to THOMAS J. BARKETT, president of the National Liquor Stores Association.

The reason? High taxes on legitimate liquor.

When the tax rates on the legal liquor climb, illegal brews come into their own. Many states and localities, looking for additional money, have raised liquor taxes lately. So white lightning and other such products have been gaining customers.

The revenuers, as a result, found three times as many illegal stills in New York in the last seven months of 1963 as they had in 1962 after such a tax hike, and 67 per cent more in Pennsylvania. New Jersey also yielded more stills.

Several states have reported disappointment over the yield of increased liquor taxes. Some have actually realized less revenue with the higher rates.

So, they have encountered the law of diminishing returns. When a price is pushed too high—whether by taxes, material costs, labor inefficiency or bad judgment—customers look for other sources of supply, or they find a substitute, or they do without.

All the majesty of the world's greatest government, all the vast powers of the executive, judicial and legislative branches, can't change the law.

Reds Lay Down Viet Proposal

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—The diplomatic side of the Vietnamese war is beginning to look like a table tennis game.

President Johnson has one to the North Vietnamese Communists; they bat it back.

Last week, to try to get peace talks started, he said they could begin without any strings attached.

But the Reds said what he proposed was all tied in strings. Now they have laid down a peace program with strings of their own.

For two months after Johnson ordered North Viet Nam bombed, to stop the Red guerrilla attacks on American-backed South Viet Nam, his administration took this position:

HALT ACTION

The key to the situation remains the cessation of infiltration from North Viet Nam and the clear indication by the Hanoi regime that it is prepared to cease aggression against its neighbor.

This policy, and the continued bombing, got Johnson criticism at home and quite a bit abroad.

This put pressure on him to shift tactics a bit.

When 17 neutral nations said the peace talks, if held, should have no preliminary conditions attached, the pressure on Johnson was intensified.

SETTLEMENT

But he said the United States would settle only for an arrangement which will secure the independence of South Viet Nam.

He said withdrawal of American forces depended on working out such an arrangement.

His assistants said that while this country was willing to talk with North Viet Nam or Red China about peace it would not talk about it with the Red guerrillas fighting in South Viet Nam because they are only the agents of North Viet Nam.

North Viet Nam's response to this was that while Johnson talked of "unconditional discussions" he was actually surrounding them with conditions before any talks could begin.

And, North Viet Nam said, the conditions were unacceptable.

NOISY CAMPAIGN

The Russians called Johnson's talk a "noisy propaganda campaign." North Viet Nam's President Ho Chi Minh reportedly called Johnson's talk the "day-dreams of a madman."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said he was disappointed with all this.

Tuesday Premier Phan Van Dong of North Viet Nam laid down a four-point peace program which stated the Communist conditions for peace, one of which called for American withdrawal.

In addition, he said South Viet Nam's internal affairs would have to be settled according to the program of the Red guerrillas, although Johnson said the United States wouldn't even discuss peace with the guerrillas.

All this might seem to throw a gloomy cape over the prospects for peace but in this dark moment U.S. officials thought they saw a ray of light.

David Lawrence Says:

Value of LBJ Trip Questionable

WASHINGTON—Politicians have a way of following tradition—in doing the things they believe will line up votes for them long before elections take place.

President Johnson is no exception to the rule.

He gave a whole day to an airplane survey of the flood-stricken and tornado-swept areas of the Middle West. His predecessors have made similar "inspection" journeys.

But there will be many people who will wonder just what good such a trip can accomplish, and if the President wouldn't have been better advised to call in science experts and find out whether something could be done to improve the system of warning and to provide facilities of refuge for those living in the path of such storms.

It is a tragedy, of course, that approximately 250 persons were killed by the tornadoes—more than half the number of American deaths in the last few years in Viet Nam.

There were warnings sent out by the U.S. Weather Bureau before the tornadoes struck, but warnings by themselves are not adequate.

TAKE REFUGE

Federal and local authorities, working together, might well establish a system to keep people off the highways and have them take refuge in safe places whenever a tornado is on its way.

Research on weather is, of course, a federal responsibility, because storms do not respect state lines. In fact, neglect to arrange for proper warnings about approaching storms can be blamed on the federal government.

Only a half-billion dollars a year is being appropriated for weather research, and apparently only a very small proportion of this sum is being spent on experiments in weather control.

Neither field has evidently received the attention in the past that it deserves.

NEEDS INVESTIGATION

The whole subject needs investigation, and President Johnson might well have called a conference of scientists and others who might be able to devise ways and means of saving lives in the future.

It's questionable just what he could have learned by the airplane trip over the stricken areas or by his automobile ride through some of the devastated sections.

He was accompanied by governors and congressional delegations in a kind of spectacular manifestation of sympathy.

But the important task is to find ways of preventing loss of life in the future.

The President stated at St. Paul, Minn., that he came to the area "to see what the federal government can do to provide promptly and effectively the appropriate assistance available under the established federal programs to assist the families and communities suffering from these natural disasters."

But everybody who knows anything about Washington realizes that this is not just a presidential task. It is one that concerns various agencies of the government, and the President hardly need give much time to its supervision.

Ex-Detroit Official Boosts a West Point for Police

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—A team of distinguished English criminologists, after completing an on-the-spot survey in the U.S., reports that the "least admirable" aspect of American criminal justice is our "multiplicity of small police forces" without common standards of training or behavior.

RUTH MONTGOMERY, Sir Charles Cunningham, house officer secretary who heads Britain's law enforcement division, found the American lack of centralized training "most puzzling."

So does Judge George Edwards, former Detroit police commissioner appointed by President Kennedy to the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, who accompanied an American survey team of law enforcement officers to England two years ago.

Although English common law is the foundation of American justice, the resemblance stops there.

In Great Britain, every new police recruit is given identical training at a school financed by the home office. The most promising regulars are also given advanced training in criminology.

CONSIDERABLE INTEREST

Judge Edwards is now attracting considerable congressional interest with his proposal that the federal government finance a national police training college, where local rookies and likely prospects for advancement could be schooled in modern methods of police detection.

In a recent speech here Judge Edwards convinced his audience that such uniform training would in no way impinge on the local autonomy of police departments, or create a national police force.

Rather, it would establish common practices and en-

Again and again, the federal government has been of assistance to disaster areas, and it is difficult to see why a presidential trip was necessary to give assurance to the people that they would get the aid which in every sense they were eligible to receive.

It is what follows after a section is declared a "disaster area" and how the government really follows through that makes the differences in the votes at subsequent elections.

With our modern transportation system, safecrackers who strike in Baltimore today may be dynamiting in Fresno tomorrow.

Police problems are universal throughout the continent, and uniform training could be of inestimable value in capturing fleet-footed criminals.

LBJ Viet Talk Aimed at Pleasing

By RAY GROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—There is still some misunderstanding about what President Johnson really said in his Viet Nam policy speech at Johns Hopkins University.

Despite what the President may have appeared to say about negotiations and unqualified discussions:

• The U.S. will still insist on preconditions before negotiating with South Viet Nam. Johnson didn't say we wouldn't.

These preconditions still are that the North Vietnamese "stop doing what they are doing."

That is, before the United States will negotiate on South Viet Nam, Hanoi must stop sending expeditionary troops and munitions south and stop major attacks by mainland Viet Cong forces.

The President has NOT agreed to a conference on Viet Nam. He has only agreed to go along with exploring whether a conference would be worthwhile. There's a big difference.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk pointed out a short time back that "Most of the successful negotiations of the postwar period have been preceded by some private contact that indicates a satisfactory basis of settlement can be found. . . . That is missing here. . . .

What Johnson has said is that he's not against these private feelers.

(Actually, the President expressed his willingness to engage in "unqualified discussions" only after a series of careful feelers had revealed that neither Hanoi nor Peking would agree to talk anyway. If they prove willing to talk now, no one will be more surprised than U.S. diplomats.)

A careful study of what the President said also discloses that he serves notice the war and bombing pressure on North Viet Nam will continue even if talks are started. We will not make the same mistake we made in Korea.

Johnson's speech was carefully worked for a purpose. He aimed at pleasing everyone. Because the issues were so precisely fussed up in the talk, each listener can read into the speech the meaning he wants to believe.

"If one listener finds something he doesn't like, we can point to another part of the speech that will calm his worries," says one official. "If the South Vietnamese fear we're going to begin negotiations and let them down, we will point to where we promise not to grow tired and will not withdraw under the cloak of a meaningless agreement. We'll also tell them not to worry about the speech anyway; but just to watch what we do militarily."

For the moment Johnson has gotten most critics off his back. To the doves, he's promised "unqualified discussions." He's kept the hawks happy by promising to keep up the bombing.

He has appeared to throw a $1 billion plan to U Thant and the United Nations.

He has offered a place in the new program for the Soviet Union and North Viet Nam. Everybody should be happy.

MORENCI (AP) — Six were dead, but there were only four coffins resting on biers in the funeral home here Wednesday as the minister held the service.

The body of Lyle E. Ferguson, 46, lay in one. Next to him in another coffin was the body of his wife of 24 years, Irene.

The couple's daughter, Carol J. Martin, 23, shared her coffin with the body of her two-year-old daughter, Kelley.

In the fourth coffin lay the body of Mrs. Martin's husband Larry, 24. Nestled beside him was the body of their son, Randy, 14 months.

SAME DAY

The date of death was the same for all six—April 11, 1965—Palm Sunday. Cause also was the same: tornadic winds.

"What can one say," The Rev. Leo H. Phillips asked mourners who overflowed onto steps of the funeral parlor.

Only muffled crying broke the silence that followed.

Dr. Phillips, professor of philosophy and religion at Hillsdale College, read a poem written by one of his students. It was called "The Dragon at Night," and spoke of the terror, death and devastation brought by twisters which smashed through 10 Michigan counties Sunday night.

HONOR GUARD

Outside of the funeral home an honor guard of 14 members of The American Legion Post of Blissfield stood at parade rest as the 45-minute service ended.

Ferguson was a veteran of the Korean War and a member of the Blissfield post. His dead son-in-law had seen service with the U.S. Navy.

Seventeen-year-old Larry Ferguson's youthful face was flushed and tear-stained. In the coffins ahead of him were his father, mother, sister, brother-in-law, niece and nephew. He had no immediate family left.

Larry was working at a service station about two miles from his home when the tornado struck. He wore a new black suit, shoes, tie and shirt. All except his work clothes had disappeared in the twister.

FOUR HEARSE

Led by four hearses, a procession of nearly 100 cars threaded its way to Oak Grove Cemetery on the north edge of Morenci. An American Legion adjutant read a service there. The honor guard fired a salute. Taps sounded from a bugle. And it was over.

USW Ready to Deal on Steel Pact Extension

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union is ready to extend its May 1 strike deadline against the basic steel industry in return for a token but immediate increase in wages or benefits, informed sources said today.

The union was expected to make this offer at today's negotiating session.

"The union is ready to extend if the industry will make some token payment of good faith," one source said.

He said the payment could be either in wages or benefits. The exact amount the union considers a token payment was not learned.

Steel talks have been deadlocked over the industry's refusal to answer union demands for wage and benefit increases that would cost more than a dollar an hour over three years.

$4.40 AN HOUR.

Steelworkers now earn about $4.40 an hour in wages and benefits.

Another condition of any extension, sources said, would be that bargaining continue uninterrupted.

The union's proposal was drawn up at a series of meetings Wednesday. It was based on two industry proposals made earlier in the week, both of which involved an extension.

Under one, the union would swap a three-month extension for guarantees that certain contract demands would be met. The other calls for immediate agreement on an interim contract that could be reopened at any time, but presumably not until the union's election dispute was settled completely.

One source said the union offer is a combination of the industry proposals.

COMBINATION

"Call it an extension or a settlement or whatever you like. It's a hybrid, a combination of both," the source said.

Union sources said the only points of disagreement that should remain would be the amount of the payment and the length of the extension.

The union wants a short one, not more than 60 days. The industry, it was learned, wants a minimum of three months.

No matter what the decision, the union's hierarchy cannot grant an extension. This can be done only by the 170-member wage policy committee. It is unlikely the committee would be called to Pittsburgh before the Easter weekend, sources said.

The industry has pressed for an extension several times, not only because the union's election Feb. 9 cut two months from bargaining time but because it doesn't want to negotiate in earnest until a clear winner emerges.

Union Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel reportedly has defeated incumbent President David J. McDonald by several thousand votes. The union leaders are not expected to declare a winner for a week or so.

McDonald's term is up June 1, but he has indicated he will contest the election if it goes against him.

This could result in a lengthy court battle and could stretch out an interim contract for more than a year.

Driver Gets a Wild Ride

MANCHESTER, Wash. (AP) — The state patrol said an automobile going east down a steep hill Wednesday failed to negotiate a curve, crossed the roadway, went off on the left side, struck a ditch, crossed a field, struck another ditch, crossed a small street, went into the yard of L. W. Whitcomb, broke off a fruit tree, struck the concrete steps of the house and stopped with its front end hanging over a concrete wall.

The driver, Robert J. Miller, 17, Seattle, said his brakes were not working properly. He wasn't hurt.

Newsprint demand in the U.S. 1.1 million tons compared with 7.5 million tons last year.

Liuzzo Evidence Going to Grand Jury

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Alabama Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers plans to place before the Lowndes County Grand Jury next week the evidence from the state's investigation of the slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo.

Flowers disclosed late Wednesday that he had held a lengthy conference with Circuit Solicitor (prosecutor) Arthur Gamble Jr. in connection with the case earlier in the week, and that they had decided to present the case to the regular session of the grand jury.

Flowers, throughout the investigation of the slaying of the white Detroit housewife, has said that he will ask for a first-degree murder indictment of the person or persons responsible, should the evidence indicate that it is justified.

Mrs. Liuzzo, the wife of a Detroit Teamsters Union official, was killed on the night following the massive civil rights march to the state capitol last month — the climax of the 50-mile march from Selma to Montgomery.

A member of the transportation committee, she was on her way back to the capitol after taking a load of marchers to Selma when she was shot to death on a lonely stretch of U.S. 80 near Lowndesboro.

The Justice Department dropped charges Wednesday against one of four Birmingham-area men arrested by FBI agents in the wake of the Liuzzo killing.

The four — members of the Ku Klux Klan, according to President Johnson — were charged with conspiring to violate the constitutional rights of civil rights workers under an old federal statute. However, only three of them were indicted earlier this month by a federal grand jury in Montgomery. They were Eugene Thomas, 62, and William Orville Eaton, 41, both of Bessemer, and Col. Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield.

Negroes Call for Top-Level Talks on Dixie City's Race Woes

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Negro leaders called today for a superconference to solve racial problems here "at the negotiating table rather than in the streets."

Proposed conferees would include Gov. John J. McKeithen, both U.S. senators, congressman and state legislators from this area, business and civic leaders, union officials and many others.

While awaiting a decision on the proposal, "equal job opportunity" pickets prepared for another round today.

The superconference plan was outlined to Mayor Jesse H. Cutrer Jr. by leaders of the Bogalusa Civic and Voters League Wednesday in a private talk at City Hall.

FURTHER STUDY

Under the plan, the mayor would act as the convenor, issuing invitations. Cutrer delayed reply on the proposal pending further study.

Wilfred T. Ussery of San Francisco, national vice chairman of the Congress of Racial Equality, said the conference was not likely to win full approval. Ussery told a newsman about the proposal after the closed session with Cutrer.

"But it is a sincere effort to solve problems at the conference table with the people who really can make decisions," he said.

Chief Rabbi, 69, Dies

BERLIN (AP) — Martin Riesenburger, 69, chief rabbi of East Berlin, died Wednesday, the official East German news agency reported. No other details were available.

Russell B. Long and Allen J. Ellender or Rep. James H. Morrison,

WOULD CONFER

Ussery said he would confer with former Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins, now chief of the Federal Community Relations Service, about the proposal.

The meeting with Cutrer came after this paper mill city's first pickets marched under heavy police guard in front of downtown stores.

There were only eight pickets. Ussery said this was due to a decision not to use high school students during the first day.

Steel Executive Dies

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — Martin K. Schnurr, 66, president of the Bridgeport Brass Co. since 1963 and a former director of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., died Wednesday. Schnurr had been in the metals industry for more than 30 years.

Johnson Reaffirms Berlin Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor Willy Brandt of Berlin has expressed pleasure with President Johnson's reaffirmation of U.S. support for the "rights and freedom of the people of Berlin."

"I am happy to know that the President is very close to our own thoughts, wishes and desires, and to our justified aims," Brandt said after a 25-minute meeting with Johnson at the White House last night.

The West Berlin mayor winds up his three-day visit to Washington today with a news conference. Earlier he meets with AFL-CIO President George Meany.

"The President reaffirmed the determination of the United States to defend the rights and the freedom of the people of Berlin and to continue to seek a just and lasting solution of the unresolved German problem," White House sources said after the Johnson-Brandt meeting.

"BELONGS IN BERLIN"

He said the Bundestag (Parliament) "belongs there and will be there as soon as Berlin is again the capital of Germany... and that day will come."

Earlier, Brandt met for 75 minutes with Secretary of State Dean Rusk. He said Rusk agreed with him that "what Germany needs is an initiative with substance, not just a repetition of principles."

Terrorist Time Bomb Explodes, Injures 3

SINGAPORE (AP) — A 25-pound time bomb taken from Indonesian terrorists blew up Wednesday night, injuring two British demolition experts.

A Singapore policeman also was injured by the blast, which shattered windows for half a mile around.

Congress Probes Poverty Programs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — War on Poverty programs in the nation's capital and in New York, its largest city, today come under the scrutiny of congressional investigators.

A special House education and labor subcommittee considering President Johnson's request for anti-poverty spending authority of $1.5 billion in 1965-66 called officials from Washington and New York for testimony.

Today's hearing was to be the last until after the congressional Easter recess, when the subcommittee scheduled another round of testimony before turning to actual bill drafting.

Washington, whose citizens have no voting voice in their own government, was to be represented by James Banks, director of the communitywide United Planning Organization.

New York's spokesmen were to be Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Deputy Mayor Paul Scavone, the man Wagner has tapped to coordinate anti-poverty activities in the city.

WILL TESTIFY

In addition, Livingston Wingate, head of the Haryou-Act program in Harlem and a former aide of subcommittee chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., was on the witness list.

Washington's "umbrella" type anti-poverty program and the independently operated New York City programs represent the opposite approaches to urban anti-poverty planning. These two concepts have occupied the subcommittee's attention this week.

Powell has said he favors "a balanced proportion" between the two types of programs. He put forward the argument that "direct grants to independent groups would sharply reduce political influence."

Politics in the anti-poverty program has taken up much of the subcommittee's time this week.

The panel has heard complaints from groups in Cleveland and Chicago that city political machines have seized the reins and bent the program to their own ends.

The Rev. Paul Younger, a youthful Baptist minister working among poor people in Cleveland, put it this way:

"The problem is having to go through the powers-that-be. They are interested in keeping the status quo... and afraid that creation of a new power force, the poor, would upset the existing power centers."

This was not a unanimous view, however. Spokesmen for official anti-poverty agencies in Atlanta, Ga., the state of California and Chicago itself said the "umbrella" approach was working well.

Younger said that in Cleveland, the original 22-member anti-poverty committee comprised 15 persons from the suburbs and seven representing public agencies.

He said only one member said, additional members were lived in a poverty neighborhood, added, but still there was no representation from the poor and that was an all-white area. When protests were made, he said, Negro neighborhoods.

The Savage Cell—10

Are Viruses the Major Villains in Struggle Against Cancer?

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the 10th in a 12-part series by a veteran reporter condensed from his recent book on cancer, "The Savage Cell.")

By PAT MCGRADY

In the spring of 1961, a few scattered scientists came up with an alarming conclusion: Many millions of people inadvertently had been exposed to a cancer virus hidden in polio vaccine.

The cancer-causing agent was called Simian-Virus 40 (or SV-40) because it was one of many unidentified particles which existed naturally in kidney cells of Asiatic monkeys. There, it appeared completely harmless, the monkeys healthy, the cells undamaged.

But when SV-40 was added to cultures of kidney cells from African monkeys, the cells blistered, bubbled and died. In new-born hamsters, SV-40 produced cancers.

The polio virus is grown in monkey kidney cells and then either weakened or killed for vaccine. But the contaminating cancer-causing SV-40 virus survives the weakening and killing processes.

Scientists estimate that a majority of the many millions vaccinated against polio up to the summer of 1961 received SV-40 in both oral and injected vaccines.

VACCINES CLEANED

U.S. vaccines since then have been clean. Vaccines used in the Soviet Union and Cuba were decontaminated later.

There is not the slightest direct evidence that SV-40 has induced cancer in any human.

Adult volunteers had their noses and throats sprayed with SV-40, and suffered only mild, passing respiratory difficulty. Moreover, SV-40 failed to induce cancer in mice and rats.

It usually takes many years for cancer to appear in humans following contact with the cancer-causing agent, however, and it may be some time before the real consequences of SV-40 exposure are known.

It is entirely possible that SV-40 may even have immunized people against some forms of cancer.

Newly developed facts, have been found to place some of those inoculated against both polio and a respiratory disease in double jeopardy.

Drs. John J. Trentin and Yoshio Yabe of Baylor University College of Medicine and Frank Taylor of M.D. Anderson Hospital, Houston, reported in the spring of 1962 that one type of adenovirus itself causes cancer when instilled in the lungs of newborn hamsters.

From five to 15 weeks following treatment, up to 90 per cent of the animals died of tumors which filled their chests.

EXPERIMENTS

In these experiments, the Trentin group used adenovirus 12. Others later induced experimental cancers with adenovirus 18 and adenovirus 7. Adenoviruses of types 3, 4 and 7 have been used in human vaccines.

Two years after finding adenovirus 12 carcinogenic, the Trentin group produced a live vaccine against it; it was effective in hamsters and, to a degree, in mice.

Adenoviruses, first isolated in 1953 in human adenoids, are a common cause of respiratory infection among children and, even more so, among military service recruits.

Adenovirus infection differs from the common cold in that its onset is more gradual and the symptoms are more severe and longer lasting.

TWO VIRUSES

One cannot say with certainty whether a person receiving a vaccine containing two distinct viruses—like SV-40 and adenovirus—one of which causes cancer in newborn hamsters, would run a greater risk than is offered by a single virus.

The SV-40 experience has indicated it might be a good idea to examine the long-term effect of all vaccines.

Vaccinia virus, like that received in smallpox shots, is commonly used to enhance the effect of carcinogenic chemicals in inducing cancer in experimental animals.

Against this disquieting circumstance, however, are the irrefutable facts that immunization has virtually wiped out a plethora of plagues.

Back in the early 1940s a soft-spoken but fiery Spanish-born scientist proclaimed his belief that at least some human cancers were caused by ordinary viruses.

The scientist, Dr. Francisco Duran-Reynals of Yale University, stood virtually alone.

His utterances represented heresy to the solid body of conventional science, against which cancer virologists found it expedient to pursue their studies quietly and apologetically.

Not only was their line of investigation at stake but so were their jobs.

To physicians who knew viruses only as a scapegoat diagnosis the idea of linking common viruses and cancer meant that cancer was catching, and this, they reasoned would make pariahs of cancer patients.

MEAGER HISTORY

In his lonely campaign, Dr. Duran-Reynals confronted his silent, apathetic, or hostile peers with the meager history of cancer viruses in animals, his own elegant experiments, and a rapidly rising tide of findings by his younger contemporaries.

Two years before his own death from an unusual malignancy which paralyzed him completely and which some felt might have been caused by one of his laboratory viruses, he had the satisfaction of hearing Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, of the University of California, one of science's leading figures, validate some of his sentiments.

The big question, which remains unanswered at this writing is: Do viruses cause human cancers?

Dr. Duran-Reynals, and Dr. Trentin showed that human viruses cause cancer—but only in animals.

RIGID PROCEDURES

Scientific proof that viruses do cause human cancers would entail rigid procedures.

The virus would have to be (1) shown to be present in every case of the disease, (2) cultivated in pure culture, (3) made to produce the disease when removed from culture and inoculated into humans, and (4) recovered from the deliberately infected humans and grown again in culture. The law does not permit this.

Dr. Leon Dmochowski of the University of Texas M.D.

Anderson Hospital has produced excellent electron micrographs of viruslike particles in many kinds of cancer cells—animal and human.

Despite this persuasive evidence, however, he concedes that the case for viruses as a cause of human cancer is strictly circumstantial.

The viruses are at the scene of the crime, but their guilt has not been proved.

UNRELATED, CONFUSING

Somewhere in the welter of the seemingly unrelated, often contradictory, always confusing observations, there must be a thread of logic.

If the profound principals involved can be fathomed, man stands to gain a great deal.

He can stop worrying about innocuous viruses and concentrate on what seems to be a mounting menace by harmful viruses. In 1950 only 21 human viral diseases were recognized; in a short dozen years the number exceeded 200.

One urgent problem is to determine if man is susceptible to animal cancer viruses and how such virus is transmitted.

HUMAN CANCERS

With this knowledge it might be possible to ward off some human cancers.

A fringe benefit has been the development of antiviral drugs.

A few clever preparations—of limited value against cancers—already show promise of overcoming virus infections in animals and man.

We live in an atmosphere loaded with viruses—bad, in consequential and good. Broad new vistas of preventing and treating virus disease are opening.

Some of the findings have implications for controlling cancer—possibly and hopefully human cancer.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — U.S. presidential envoy Ellsworth Bunker's mission to Indonesia ended today with agreement to pull out the American Peace Corps, long a target of Indonesia's Communists.

Bunker and President Sukarno issued a communique saying the corps will withdraw in the next few weeks because of "certain tensions" between the United States and Indonesia. About 35 American volunteers have been working in the sprawling island nation, most of them as athletic coaches.

The communique indicated that U.S. aid to Indonesia will be limited henceforth to technical assistance to a few Indonesian universities. American aid already has been slashed to less than $3 million a year from a previous level of more than $100 million.

Bunker has spent the past two weeks conferring with Sukarno and other officials on the deterioration in U.S.-Indonesian relations following American support of the Federation of Malaysia. Sukarno backed by the powerful Indonesian Communist party, is pledged to crush British-backed Malaysia.

ONE OF LAST

The United States shut down its information services after Communist-led demonstrators attacked them and the Indonesian government halted their operations.

The government also took over nominal control of American rubber plantations and oil properties after Communist BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Gov. John J. McKeithen and hundreds of guests at the executive mansion ate eight different crawfish delicacies served by Louisiana Cajunes Wednesday.

And it's crawfish—as far as Louisiana is concerned — not crayfish, as some Yankees call the small cousin to the lobster.

The menu was crawfish cocktail, crawfish boulettes, crawfish pie, crawfish etouffee, crawfish bisque, crawfish patties, crawfish salad and plain fried crawfish.

Sponsoring the banquet was the Breaux Bridge Crawfish Festival Association. Breaux Bridge, a small community in the heart of Cajun country, is the crawfish capital of the world by proclamation of the state legislature.

demonstrations. The Ford Foundation withdrew voluntarily rather than submit to Red harassment.

Sukarno called a halt to anti-American demonstrations during the 10th anniversary celebration of the African-Asian Bandung conference beginning today. But the Communists are expected to resume after the celebration is over. The Reds now are demanding that Sukarno break diplomatic relations with the United States.

The official news agency Antara announced another takeover Wednesday. It said the government has assumed management of the American-owned National Carbon Co. As in the other takeovers it promised to maintain the company's property rights.

Bunker, now the U.S. ambassador to the Organization of American States, represented the United States in 1962 in mediating the dispute between Indonesia and the Netherlands.

over West New Guinea. The Dutch-held island was transferred to Indonesia after a brief period under U.N. control.

U.S. officials did not expect Bunker's present mission to bring about any change in Sukarno's policies. The object was to determine whether the Indonesian government is willing to maintain working relations with the United States.

U.S. Using Top Jets on Viet Raids

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has started using the supersonic Phantom jet fighter to guard fighter-bombers from Communist MIG attack in raids into North Viet Nam.

Fifteen F4C Phantoms supported an equal number of F105 fighter-bombers on strikes against two radar stations Wednesday.

Sources said this was the first mention in reports of the appearance of the Phantom in an escort role in the skies over Viet Nam.

A squadron of 18 F4C Phantoms arrived in Thailand about a week ago after a flight which reportedly began at MacDill Air Force Base in Florida.

SHOT DOWN

The move was one of several made by the Air Force after two F105s were shot down by Communist MIGs during a bridge attack. In that first air combat between U.S. planes and North Vietnamese jets, the F105s were escorted by F100 Super Sabre jets. The F100s are older and slower than the Phantoms.

The Phantom is equipped with radar which can sweep the skies in front of it. The F100 had no such radar and a more limited weapons fire control.

The Navy has flown its version of the Phantom, the F4B, against the Communists.

One Phantom was lost last week during a scrap near Communist China's Hainan Island, across the Gulf of Tonkin from North Viet Nam.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Barry Goldwater's supporters are still sure he is right.

They showed it Wednesday night when they turned out, 1,700 strong to attend a $100-a-couple testimonial dinner for the 1964 Republican presidential candidate. Some 200 of the guests had to be accommodated in adjacent rooms.

Party unity was the keynote as a succession of Republican dignitaries lauded the former Arizona senator.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said, "Goldwater was right during the campaign and President Johnson is right now on Viet Nam policy."

LIKELY TO PREVAIL

And he said the President's policy is likely to prevail, "largely because of solid Republican support for a firm stand in South Viet Nam."

Nixon said a defeat in Viet Nam would mean "the Red tide will roll over Asia and some 200 million people, and perhaps force us to defend the Philippine Islands in five or six years."

Former Rep. William Miller of New York, Goldwater's running mate, brought a thundering cheer when he said, "The time will come when Barry is known as a prophet in his own country."

Ray Bliss, the former Ohio Republican leader who took over as a national chairman April 1, praised Goldwater as "one man who could be counted upon any time to go anywhere to raise funds for the party or help a fellow Republican."

PARTISAN CROWD

The partisan crowd saved its mightiest cheers for Goldwater, who said: "There's no reason why the world's greatest power should talk about negotiations or a settlement in Viet Nam."

The approval was equally strong when he said, "I don't believe we have to destroy the Constitution of the United States to placate Martin Luther King, a Frank Smith or anybody else."

Goldwater told the audience, "We are a minority party in the state and nation. Let's not choose up sides and fight each other but get on with winning the 1966 elections."

"We don't give a tinker's damn about 1968 — now."

GUTLESS CONGRESS

Goldwater attacked the President's Great Society and said he has no intention of doing nothing "while a weak-kneed, gutless Congress lets welfare programs be shoved down its throat."

Goldwater said the principles of free enterprise need to be preached and the country's philosophy explained abroad. He said he might be able to help a little on the foreign situation when he leaves today for West Germany. He is scheduled to meet with several Western European leaders.

Racial Imbalance in Boston Schools Hit

BOSTON (AP) — A committee of 21 civic leaders have urged that broad steps be taken to end racial imbalance in many of the public schools in Massachusetts.

The committee concluded that racial imbalance is "educationally harmful to all children, white and nonwhite" and it is a problem in many communities but is most acute in Boston.

In Boston, the committee report said, "Negroes, even to the 10th generation, have been denied access to opportunity by the very color of their skin."

Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Boston; the Rev. Michael J. Walsh, president of Boston College, and former state Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., were among those who signed the report released Wednesday night.

Those three signers, all of Irish ancestry, and other "descendants of immigrants not marked by color differences could and did climb over the walls of prejudice," the report said. "But Negroes find it impossible for their children to stay in their own schools and better themselves like the children of other ethnic groups."

In its 132-page report, the committee said a census revealed that 55 public schools in the state had predominantly nonwhite populations.

It said there were 45 such schools in Boston, 8 in Springfield, 1 each in Medford and Cambridge and a trend toward racial imbalance in 1 Worcester school.

The committee of leaders from business, political, religious and educational fields was named 13 months ago by the State Board of Education.

Its recommendations to combat the imbalance included school construction, limited busing of pupils, enlargement of school districts and withholding of state aid to uncooperating communities.

The committee noted that 59 per cent — or 21,997 — of the nonwhite school children in the state attend Boston schools, and it recommended the closing of 11 elementary school buildings all of which are more than 65 years old.

Black Cites Urgency of SE Asia Program

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson's field commander for an assault on Southeast Asian hunger and poverty wants to apply all possible speed to a program he sees as a positive and effective challenge to the threat of Red Chinese domination of the Orient.

Eugene Robert Black considers swift action urgent to maintain hope aroused by President Johnson's April 7 speech in Baltimore.

Johnson offered U.S. investment of a billion dollars to attack the area's economic woes.

Black lost no time plunging into the job after the President, calling him "the very able former president of the World Bank," named him to head a special team of "patriotic and distinguished Americans" to spearhead the program.

Black lost no time plunging into the job after the President, calling him "the very able former president of the World Bank," named him to head a special team of "patriotic and distinguished Americans" to spearhead the program.

BOTH EAGER

In an interview, Black pictures both himself and the President eager to get the program moving quickly, to create a climate of cooperation in Southeast Asia and to enlist the aid of Western Europe.

There are many problems involved. The program by its very nature involves years of development.

Black acknowledged there is an element of risk: The possibility that Red China may, in any event, eventually dominate all Southeast Asia.

"But that is the risk we must take," he said. "We must go ahead on the assumption that they will not. There is a better chance that the Chinese will dominate if the people of the area are not well fed. People will adopt communism more quickly if they are hungry."

LAUDS PROGRAM

"This program is well worth the struggle and whatever we can put into it."

Black — tall, trim and patriotic-looking at 67 — considers the assignment a challenge.

"I had been trying to take it easy, he said, "but this was hard to turn down. It was my business, the sort of thing I had been doing for 15 years."

Black became a U.S. director of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development (World Bank) in 1947 and its president in 1949, a post he held until his retirement in January 1963.

Since his new assignment was announced, he has been spending much time in Washington studying the problems involved and has been conferring at the United Nations in New York with Secretary-General U Thant.

He pictured the secretary-general, too, as eager to see the program get under way.

"We are anxious to coordinate this as an international program," he said. "It is not strictly an American program."

The war in Viet Nam, the hostility between Indonesia and Malaysia, and problems of politics and instability may prove difficult, but they do not dismay Black.

"Of course," he said, "It is always harder if there is a lack of pacification and stability, but it is not impossible. It does not mean we must wait for the end of hostilities."

In fact, he said, if the program should not get under way promptly, "we may be surrendering an area that can be saved."

"Money is being spent for bullets and guns. It would be unfortunate if it could not be spent to develop the countries of the area."

Turnout Big, Enthusiastic for Barry at Fund Dinner

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Barry Goldwater's supporters are still sure he is right.

Hits Critics of American Documents

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — Gov. George Romney lamented Wednesday that fewer and fewer Americans share the conviction "that the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution are divinely-endowed documents."

In a speech to an Oregon State University audience, Romney said it is fashionable for historians to claim "our institutions are the outgrowth of the selfish interests of the founders, and that there is nothing really new or original in the Constitution."

But, he said, "as Americans we must not accept any such argument."

"How could a group of uninspired men, motivated only by selfish interests, fall into the happy coincidence of selecting only the best of human experience? No other group in history, before or since, has ever been so fortunate," he added.

EFFECTIVE WEAPONS

Romney said in the worldwide struggle for the minds and hearts of men, "we deprive ourselves of our most effective weapons through lack of faith in the appeal of our spiritual foundations and values."

"These are the only weapons which the Communists can never match," he said.

"Indeed, the irony of it is that, in too many parts of the world, our nation is considered materialistic while Communism is considered idealistic," Romney said.

At a breakfast briefing with about a dozen newspaper publishers in Portland, Romney said:

"Despite surface appearances, I think this nation is moving toward another real national crisis. The Great Society means great government. It won't produce great results to meet our domestic or international requirements."

Talk With Rabbi

Tight Lid Evidenced on Moscow Jewry

MOSCOW (AP) — The white-bearded chief rabbi of Moscow's main synagogue picked up an unframed photograph from his cluttered office desk and observes proudly:

"Our last graduating class."

The class of less than 30 included men trained as kosher butchers or as cantors, the soloists who chant prayers at Jewish services. The handful of others were rabbis trained at the only rabbinical seminary in the Soviet Union.

That was three years ago. The Moscow seminary closed soon after the photograph was taken.

Students from all over the country want to study at the seminary. Chief Rabbi Yehuda Liev Levin said, but they are told there is no place for them to live in crowded Moscow and are refused residence permits.

The rabbi, 71, was speaking at an interview that he had taken 11 months to arrange.

NO LIBRARY

The rabbi said his synagogue has no library and no Hebrew school, although the temple is traditionally a center of Jewish learning. There is no Jewish theater or center of Jewish culture for Moscow's 500,000 Jews.

Official figures say there are 2½ million Jews in the Soviet Union, but independent estimates often reach 3½ million or more.

The rabbi said no Hebrew prayerbooks had been published here since 1956.

The rabbi said his synagogue was supported financially "by the believers." Asked whether his congregation gets financial help from Jews abroad, he replied: "They don't need it."

He did not deny the existence of such help, and other Jewish sources said the congregation was unable to support the temple by itself.

BALCONY SEATING

The spacious, well-kept synagogue has balcony seating for women, and has the holy Torah scrolls and other essentials for Jewish worship.

The rabbi said he occasionally officiates at weddings.

There is no Jewish cemetery. The common burial grounds provided for Christians and Jews alike violate Jewish teachings.

An indication of few young people in the congregation came in reply to a question about the bar mitzvah, the ceremony denoting that a 13-year-old boy has become a man.

"We don't have very many here," the rabbi said. "Almost 90 per cent of our children are Pioneers."

The Pioneers are a Leninist children's organization.

UNKNOWN SIZE

The rabbi said he does not know the size of his congregation but that at least 300 come to the temple daily and up to 1,000 on the Sabbath.

Menasha Mikhailovich, who identified himself as chairman of the Jewish community, sat next to the rabbi during the interview, adding comments.

When the rabbi said he had three married daughters and 13 grandchildren, Mikhailovich added, "The rabbi wants to say that it was possible to raise such a family only under the Soviet state."

Jewish sources indicated Mikhailovich served as a state watchdog at the temple.

EIGHT YEARS

The Lithuanian-born rabbi came here from the Ukraine eight years ago as chief rabbi. Six feet tall, he appears younger than his 71 years. Dark eyebrows and a dark, close-cropped mustache, both speckled with gray, contrast with his white flowing beard.

He wore a Russian fur hat instead of a yarmulka, the traditional Jewish skullcap, during the interview.

* * *

Matzo for the Jewish Passover holiday is expected to be available this year in Moscow, Leningrad and Odessa.

Jewish sources said Kiev, with a Jewish population of 300,000, Riga, and other cities lack matzo.

However, Mikhailovich said all cities would have matzo.

The rabbi was asked about anti-Semitism in the Soviet Union, a charge raised repeatedly from abroad.

"In the Soviet Union, we have no anti-Semitism. But maybe there are some anti-Semites," he replied.

PUNISHMENT

"Under the Soviet constitution our state punishes any offenses against national minorities," he added.

* * *

Such offenses are often difficult to prove. It is difficult to distinguish between anti-Semitism and anti-religion. Russian Orthodox prelates face many of the same problems the rabbi does.

CMU Probe Is in the Works

LANSING (AP)—The Senate was prepared today to approve an investigation of faculty-administration relationships at Central Michigan University after apparently turning thumbs down on such a probe of all state colleges and universities.

A resolution authorizing the investigation of all state schools was passed Tuesday then reconsidered. Wednesday the Senate returned the resolution of Sen. Edward Robinson, D-Deerborn, to committee.

But then a Democratic caucus decided to back a measure aimed only at CMU—which Robinson says is plagued by bad faculty-administration relationships.

Sen. Guy Vanderjagt, R-Cadillac, in whose district CMU is located, fought the investigation on grounds of constitutionality.

Order Repayment in Embezzlement

ALLEGAN (AP) — This county's welfare department has been ordered to repay $18,000 in state and federal funds resulting from an embezzlement by former county welfare director Beatrice Guscinski.

Mrs. Guscinski now is serving a term of 2-10 years in the Detroit House of Correction on her plea of guilty last July to charges involving embezzlement of more than $60,000 while in office.

Order for repayment was presented by the State Department of Social Welfare.

Editors Hear Hubert Predict a 'Do Plenty' Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told 450 editors today that the present Congress "will do more for the lasting long-term health of this nation" than any Congress since 1933.

He predicted that 13 more major measures, virtually all of President Johnson's legislative program, will be enacted before the session ends.

famed "100 days" of Congress after Franklin D. Roosevelt took office in 1933.

Whereas that Congress strove against the looming disaster of the great depression, he said, the present Congress is inspired by a national consensus which demands that "every citizen of America has equal opportunity to make a better life for himself and his children."

It is the national consensus also, Humphrey said, that the nation make "whatever investment is necessary to realize our American dream."

"That investment will be great," the vice president said. "But it will be less than the cost of illiteracy, of school dropouts, of poverty, of discrimination, of disillusion and bitterness, of isolation in the world. Far less."

"We must make the investment necessary so that all in our society may be productive."

Humphrey ticked off a long list of measures which he said will go into the law books this session in addition to the aid to education measure which, in itself, he said, is an accomplishment that might satisfy an ordinary Congress.

HEALTH CARE

The measures still to be enacted, he said, include health care for the elderly, voting rights, aid to higher education, housing, immigration, excise tax reduction, highway beautification, air and water pollution controls, outdoor recreation, manpower retraining, firearms control, foreign aid and the omnibus farm bill.

Earlier, the ASNE Freedom of Information Committee charged that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and his information chief "continue to confuse the Defense Department's public information policy with the public relations program of the Ford Motor Co." McNamara is a former Ford executive.

"It has not been an encouraging year for freedom of information," said the committee headed by Fred C. Black, managing editor of the Chicago Daily News.

Still on the books, the committee said, is a 1962 memorandum issued by McNamara and Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester, the department's information chief, requiring that a monitor be present at all Pentagon interviews. The rule apparently is not being vigorously enforced now, the committee said.

"Meanwhile, however, their 'one-voice' philosophy has been extended from the halls of the Pentagon to some military installations in Viet Nam," the report went on.

The committee said it shares the objections voiced by Wes Gallagher, general manager of the Associated Press. Its report quoted Gallagher:

"Barriers correspondents from free access to air bases and other military installations and providing an 'escort' for every correspondent is clearly aimed not at security matters but at controlling what American fighting men say."

"Such control exceeds anything done in the darkest days of World War II."

The 450 newsmen — among them Pontiac Press Editor John W. Fitzgerald — were told that a recent incident illustrates "the extent to which the American people can be misled by a policy aimed at stifling dissent."

PLANE BUILDUP

One year ago, Black said, a Sylvester directive came to light ordering all three services to join in a "public affairs plan" to build up the controversial TFX fighter plane. He said Sylvester instructed the services to describe the TFX as meeting the tighter plane needs of the Air Force, the Marine Corps and the Navy's carrier force. Black added:

"But just this week it has developed, from heavily censored testimony before Congress, that the plane is so far above its predicted weight that Navy spokesmen have strongly expressed new doubts that it will ever meet their needs."

"Presumably, Mr. Sylvester's order to tell the public that everything is coming up roses remains in effect."

The committee reported that "the federal bureaucracy is still opposing" bills introduced by Sen. Edward W. Long, D-Mo., and Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., to guarantee greater access to information about federal agencies.

"Again we call on ASNE members to counter that opposition by interesting themselves — and their own senators and congressmen — in this effort to enact an open-records law at the federal level," the report said.

In Sylvan Lake Case

Petition Dismissed

A Circuit Court petition asking that the Sylvan Lake City Council be ordered to rule on the eligibility of one of its members has been dismissed by Judge Stanton G. Dondero.

In determining that there was no cause for action, Dondero said that the council already had automatically passed on the qualifications of Councilman John D. McKinlay when he was allowed to take the oath of office.

Fred Crossman, an unsuccessful candidate in the Nov. 3, 1964, election, wanted the Council to hold a hearing to decide the qualifications of McKinlay, 32, of 2709 Little-since McKinlay has been accepted by the Council.

Dondero said he could only be removed from office in accordance with a state statute or a charter provision.

Dondero noted, however, that Sylvan Lake's charter contains no provision giving the council the right to expel any of its members.

The state statute sets up a procedure for expelling a council member or other city officials for cause by the governor.

It was the second legal action dismissed by Dondero in connection with McKinlay. The suit had been started by five citizens.

TOSSED OUT

On Feb. 8, he tossed out a petition asking that he judge McKinlay's qualifications.

He ruled at that time that he could not do so, since the city charter contains a clause which states the council shall be the sole judge of its own members.

Sir Winston's Friend

Has Eye Surgery

LONDON (AP) — The condition of the late Sir Winston Churchill's doctor and friend, Lord Moran, 82, was described today as satisfactory.

Surgeons at London's Moor-fields Eye Hospital removed a cataract from Lord Moran's right eye Wednesday. He will remain in the hospital for about 10 days, Lady Moran said.

Nurses at the Royal Victoria Infirmary in Newcastle-Upon-Tyne, England, make their rounds on electric scooters.

Red Timetable for Viet Control Upset

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When Ho Chi Minh and the other North Vietnamese Communists accepted the division of north and south in 1954 they did so only in belief that this was but a temporary detour on their way to control of all Viet Nam.

Two subsequent developments upset their schedule.

The government of South Viet Nam refused to go along with a provision of the Geneva Armistice Agreement which called for all Viet Nam elections to be held on July 20, 1956, to reunite the country.

Grounds for the refusal were that elections in North Viet Nam would not be free and that falsified returns could offset the vote from South Viet Nam.

Upsetting Communist plans further was the fact that United States economic aid totaling well over $1 billion between 1955 and 1959 had enabled the South Vietnamese regime to register strong gains both economically and politically.

REUNIFICATION

These were the facts which led the central committee of the North Vietnamese Communist Party in May 1959, to call for reunification of Viet Nam by all "appropriate means" and in September 1960, to call for the direct overthrow of the government of South Viet Nam.

Coincident with these steps taken in Hanoi was the upsurge in Communist terrorism in South Viet Nam and the escalation in the war which continues to this moment.

Disappointments stemming from the 1954 Geneva Agreements provide Ho Chi Minh with strong motives to resist any settlement which would prevent his attaining control of all Viet Nam.

Short of this the only developments likely to change his mind seem to be either economic or military disaster or both.

Economically there is evidence that North Viet Nam can stand a lot of the bombing such as that to which it has been subjected by U.S. and South Vietnamese planes since February.

North Viet Nam has an iron and steel complex and other factories which could be hit.

But the great bulk of its population is agricultural and even without industry probably would not be much worse off than it is now.

The rice diet is only about a third of what it should be and the whole economy is dependent upon help from China, the Soviet Union and other Communist nations.

NEED SOUTH

Most experts believe the country only could become self-sustaining if it had the rice producing centers of the south — another reason for the risks Ho Chi Minh appears willing to take.

Militarily, UPI correspondent Ray F. Herndon has filed a dispatch which appears to illuminate the North Viet Nam intent.

His dispatch tells of elephant pack trains moving down on the U.S. Marine-protected missile and bomber base at Da Nang. Intelligence officials say they were carrying artillery pieces.

Viet Cong have been killed carrying instruments and maps of defensive positions, indicating that they were forward observers for artillery outfits.

The stories of travelers from Hanoi indicate little panic there. The movement of artillery toward Da Nang indicates no indication to quit.

Rather the Communists hope for another Dien Bien Phu and for another humiliation which will break the United States' and the South Vietnamese will to fight.

Hails 'Troublemaker' Tag

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Dallas County Sheriff James Clark has sent a telegram to former President Harry S. Truman praising him for calling Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. a "troublemaker."

"Your statement will do more good than any statement that has been made by anyone up to this time," Clark said in the telegram.

The wire referred to Truman's comments earlier this week in New York. The former president also said the Selma-to-Montgomery march was silly.

Clark, who arrested more than 2,000 civil rights workers since the Selma right-to-vote campaign was launched in January, said yesterday that he sent the wire to the former president while he was in Mobile on a business trip.

"We here in this great beloved Southland want to thank you for the sensible, splendid statement you made about Lutter King, who has caused so much trouble down here," Clark said in the telegram.

Rules on Board Voting

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has ruled that a provision in state statutes providing that the supervisor, clerk and treasurer are voting members of a township board is constitutional. The opinion was asked by Rep. John Bennett, D-Detroit.

Three Win Music Scholarships

Three area music students were awarded scholarships at the annual "Dollars for Scholars" concert of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale this week in Fellowship Hall of the Central Methodist Church.

Mrs. George Putnam, scholarship chairman, introduced the recipients of the Dora Dawson Scholarship winners.

First award was given to Gary Relyea, pianist, who is attending the University of Michigan School of Music.

William Quist, a student at the National Arts Academy at Interlochen received the second place scholarship award.

Third place scholarship was given to Karla Holland-Moritz of Walled Lake.

The variety program featured John Wilkinson, tenor and Sara Allen, pianist and accompanist; Martha Welton and Bernice Rosenthal, duopianists and the instrumental ensemble of Emil Sutt. Appearing in the ensemble were Joe Berger and Ted Deobelle, alto saxophonists; Rex Hanger, tenor saxophonist; Charles Odell and Mr. Sutt, baritone saxophonists; and Kenneth Hamilton, string bass and Frank Merwin, drums.

Mr. Wilkinson's vocal groups were titled "The Many Faces of George Gershwin" and "A Scenario of Seldom Sung Songs," a variety of popular and semi-popular numbers.

Two piano compositions played by Mrs. Welton and Mrs. Rosenthal included Williams' "Fantasy on Green-sleeves," two Elizabethan numbers, "John Come Kiss Me Now" and "Gigg Tower Hill."

ENSEMBLE

The instrumental ensemble presented a variety of seven compositions ranging from the athenal "Two Part Contention" and "Atonality Plus" to the more traditional jazz "Rumbaba" and "Because You're Mine."

Correct Way to Announce

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Will you please tell me the correct way for a woman to announce herself on the telephone when calling a neighbor or an acquaintance?

I always say, "This is Jane" or "This is Jane Jones."

I have been told that, except in a business situation, it is bad form for a woman to announce herself as Mrs. Jones on the telephone.

I would appreciate your setting me straight on this matter.

A: An older person announcing herself to one who is much younger, says, "This is Mrs. Jones."

A younger person announcing herself to anyone whom she knows socially, says, "This is Mary Jones" whether that person calls her Mary or Mrs. Jones.

COMPLIMENT

Q: I have a very pretty daughter and whenever we are out together people always say to me, "Your daughter is beautiful." I always smile and say, "thank you." However, I feel by saying "thank you" I'm taking full credit for her good looks.

Will you please tell me if thank you is correct, or can you tell me what else I might say?

A: "Thank you" is the conventional and quite correct answer.

If you wish, you might say, "It's so nice of you to say so," or "I'm very pleased that you think so."

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Pontiac Art Group Sets Painting Demonstration

A painting demonstration, sponsored by the Pontiac Creative Arts Center, will be presented April 25, 2 p.m., at the auditorium of the All Saints Episcopal Church.

Miss Van Wyk who travels under the auspices of M.

Grumbacher, Inc., New York manufacturer of brushes, colors and artists' materials, will present a four-part program.

She will do a portrait in oils of someone selected from the audience.

She will demonstrate and explain the centuries-old tradition of glazing in oil colors.

She will paint a still life entirely in polymer colors.

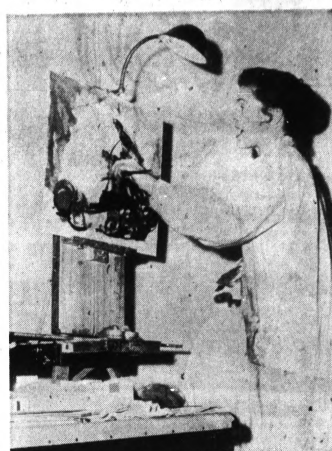

She will discuss the colors on her palette and conduct a question-and-answer period. Helen Van Wyk has her own art workshop and gallery in New Jersey.

PORTRAITS

She paints between 18 and 24 commissioned portraits each year and has co-authored "The Casselwyk Book on Oil Painting" with Allie Cassel, a professional writer.

Since the age of 17, when she won her first painting award, Miss Van Wyk has produced works that hang in many of the country's art exhibitions.

The program on April 25 is open to the public without charge.

Helen Van Wyk's great enthusiasm is evident in this candid shot. The still life segment is one of a four-part program that the New Jersey painter stages all over the nation. She will appear in the auditorium of the All Saints Episcopal Church, April 25 at 2 p.m. Sponsoring the demonstration is the Pontiac Creative Arts Center. The event is open to the public.

Personals

Judge and Mrs. Donald E. Adams, West Walton Boulevard, were special guests of the city of Holland at the dedication of the restored Dutch windmill on Windmill Island.

This event on Saturday was highlighted by the presence of his Royal Highness, Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands.

Dr. and Mrs. Tom Malone of Dover Road have returned from a 21-day tour of the Holy Land, accompanied by their daughter Mrs. Luther L. Clyburn also of Dover Road.

The tour included visits to Lebanon, Egypt, Israel, Italy and Greece.

AAUW Holds Anti-Poverty Talk

A panel discussion on "A War on Poverty" was held Tuesday evening by members of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) in the Community Services Building.

Miss Double, Aldene French, Miss Harth and Mrs. Caroline Muecke.

The May 3 board meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Charles Colberg.

Choirs Join for Easter Music at Mall

An 80-voice choir consisting of choir members of churches throughout Oakland County will present the Easter cantata, "Hallelujah, What a Savior," in Pontiac Mall at 6:45 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

James DeGraw, minister of music and member of Calvary Baptist Church, Waterford Township, will direct the singers.

Delores Carr of First Baptist Church, Rochester, will serve as pianist and Robert Kitesky of First Baptist, Pontiac will be organist.

John Whaley of Waterford Community Church is narrator.

The Easter presentation is sponsored by the Greater Pontiac Evangelical Ministers' Fellowship.

Mrs. Windeler Hosts Club

The Hatchery Road home of Mrs. Edmund Windeler was the setting of the April meeting of the Waterford Child Study Club. Mrs. James McCoy served as cohostess.

The program "Overpopulation... Planned Parenthood" was given by Mrs. Agnes P. Saxton of the Planned Parenthood League, Inc. of Wayne and Oakland Counties.

Guests were Mrs. John Alfes and Mrs. Russell Jacobson.

Cinderella Club Plans Meeting

A special meeting of the Pontiac Cinderella Club will be held in the home of Patricia Rhodes of Crawford Street on Tuesday at 8 p.m.

At this time, members will make final, the plans for the annual spring fashion show slated for 4 p.m., April 25 at the Franklin Road School.

The winners of the Prince and Princess contest will be awarded at the same time.

Talks to Pilot Club

Judge Phillip Pratt will be the guest speaker on Monday at the Pilot Club of Pontiac dinner meeting. Members will gather in the Holiday Inn at 6:30 p.m. to hear him on "The Trials of Jesus."

Privacy Is Precious Thing; What You Did Wasn't Right

By ARIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Dad passed away nine years ago, and Mother recently.

While going through their things I came across Dad's and Mother's old love letters, written to each other before they were married, 43 years ago.

I read them and enjoyed them very much. I let my daughter and grandchildren read them, and they also enjoyed them.

My brother, who lives in another state, recently came here for his vacation. I tried to show him the letters, but he refused to look at them.

He said they were "private" and should have been left private.

It hurt me deeply. They were nice clean letters, and nothing to be ashamed of. I didn't think I was wrong to read them, but I would like your opinion.

HURT DEEPLY

DEAR HURT: Your brother was right.

Unless your mother wrote those letters to you, suggesting that she WANTED you to read them, you were wrong to have invaded her privacy.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl with a big problem. How do you stop a rumor that is going around about you?

Please answer me in the paper as my mother would wonder why I got a letter from you.

Thank you, and hurry.

RUMOR GIRL

DEAR GIRL: You cannot shut people's mouths.

But actions (yours) speak louder than words (theirs), so behave in a manner that will make liars of your detractors.

DEAR ABBY: I had an experience four years ago which I wish to share with others who might be facing the same problem I faced.

I was a teen-ager and an unwed mother who discovered too late that "he" didn't love me.

My parents' only thought (and mine) was to make him marry me.

He wouldn't, and I didn't know what to do. After a long talk with my minister I realized that I had to do what was best for the baby.

Marriage when there is no love is no good for anyone. Especially the child.

I went to a home for unwed mothers and gave my baby up for adoption.

It was not a horrible experience which marred me for life, Abby. I was at peace with myself for the first time in my life for I felt that I was doing my best to right my mistake.

There I met many other girls like myself, good Christian girls who made a mistake. And I made some of the best friends I will ever have.

The hardest part was leaving my baby.

Now I have been married for two years to a wonderful man, whom I love very much, and we are expecting soon.

You see, this was such a small sorrow compared to the happiness I have now.

And I know that my baby is happy, too, with parents who love her as much as I do. Just sign me,

SINCERELY HAPPY

Mr. and Mrs. George Bodell of Valencia Drive will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary today. The couple was married on April 15, 1915 in Grand Rapids. Cleanliness Helps Athlete's Foot

The fungus that causes athlete's foot is present on the skin most of the time, and absolute cleanliness is needed to prevent the ailment from developing.

Wash your feet - especially between the toes - every single day. Use plenty of soap-suds and rinse thoroughly. Then dry the skin carefully because athlete's foot thrives in a moist, warm atmosphere.

Why Grow Old?
by JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If you are overweight you may have been a fat child or a fat teen-ager. If you are an overweight girl you are apt to be an overweight woman.

Studies have indicated that about 80 per cent of obese girls become obese women.

Also overweight which begins in childhood is often the most difficult kind to treat.

In a recent issue of the Journal of the American Dietetic Association, Doctors Sami A. Hashim and Theodore B. Van Itallie of St. Luke's hospital in New York City said, "The prognosis of successful weight reduction is better in individuals who become obese as adults."

Many mothers feel that the more their babies weigh the healthier they are and many doctors have felt that fat babies are healthier than thin ones.

However, more recent thought is that mothers make a mistake to stuff their babies and children with as much food as they possibly can - often much more than the child or baby wants.

BAD FEEDING HABIT

Not long ago famous heart specialist Dr. Paul Dudley White said, "One of the difficulties, probably, we've got to face is the habit in this country of overfeeding children, and it may well be that the robust teen-ager overfed and under-exercised may be the precursor of the relatively young or middle-aged arteriosclerotic (hardening of the arteries) man of today."

Doctor J. P. Keeve, administrator for the school health program in Newburgh, N.Y., recently commented on a health survey of 12,000 students in his school district. Thirty per cent of them were obese.

Since the fat child or teen-ager is likely to be a fat adult, and since the overweight person is more apt to develop diabetes, high blood pressure, arthritis, heart and circulatory trouble, it seems important that mothers take the overweight of their children and teen-agers seriously.

WON'T OUTGROW FAT

They may not outgrow it and in the meantime they are likely to suffer from self-consciousness because of it.

This may have a damaging effect on personality and happiness as well as health.

The obese child and teen-ager should lose weight with the supervision of the family physician.

Exercise is also crucially important for the future woman. Encourage it. Many young persons will not walk a block if they can avoid it.

I have a free leaflet which was written for teen-agers.

If your daughter is overweight you may want it especially for her.

It gives hints about diet, personality, exercise, posture and other important subjects.

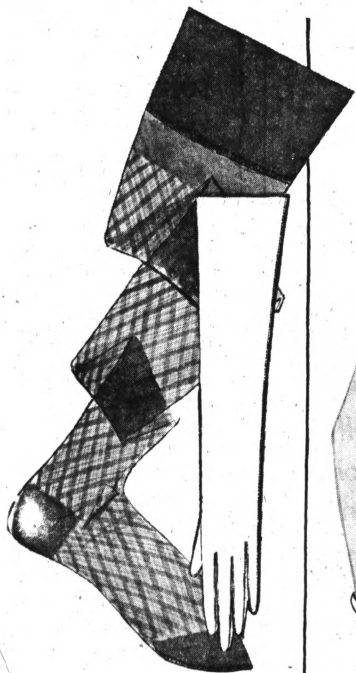

If you would like to order it for your daughter send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet 58 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Versatile Leotards
Good Lounge Wear

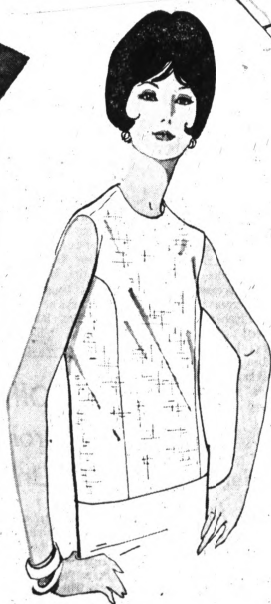

Leg-hugging cotton knit or nylon leotards may either be worn under skating costumes and skirts, or as sleep-lounge outfits below separate tops.

These are machine-washable in warm soap or detergent suds. But remember that all leotards are red and other bright and deep color garments should be sudsed and rinsed several times when new to flush away loose dye and establish the color.

Polly's Pointers

Ironing Board Help

DEAR POLLY — You have come up with some dandy Pointers but Julia's idea of using a wire coat hanger to keep the iron cord from interfering with the ironing was the best of all.

As soon as I had secured the hanger on the ironing board I had the idea of putting my ironed clothes on hangers and hanging them on the bottom of the hanger under the board.

It holds lots of hangers. — MARY

GIRLS — I am always pleased to hear about additions that you girls have dreamed up from the use of other Pointers. Mary's idea would be wonderful for children's clothes, blouses, shirts and any other things that would not drag on the floor. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When taking a large washing to the coin laundry and more than one washer is needed, it is not always possible to find them close together.

I always take along some colored gummed tape and put a small strip on each machine that I am using.

They are then easy to locate when the washing or drying time is finished. — MRS. E. M.

DEAR POLLY — For toast that's easy to cut, make an indentation in the slice of bread, with a bread knife, before putting it in the toaster.

When it comes out it will cut or break easily without scattering crumbs. — MRS. L. P. R.

GIRLS — This is certainly a good idea to use when toasting bread for little finger sandwiches. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I save all odds and ends of threads to use for basting.

I wind them on to the spindle of a dental floss container, tying one piece to another and running the last one out the little hole in the top.

The container looks neater in my sewing box than several nearly empty spools and is especially handy because of the self cutter in the top. — DOROTHY

DEAR POLLY — I never discard either a lady's or a man's felt hat.

The tops are used for making kitchen pot holders which I bind with colored tape.

The other parts of a hat are used for cutting out circles to glue on the bottoms of vases, figurines, or anything that might scratch my furniture. — MRS. D. S.

Share your favorite home-making ideas . . . send them to Polly in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll receive a dollar if Polly uses your idea in Polly's Pointers.

Plan Ahead for Special Glow

The woman over 40 can take heart. If widowed or divorced, there probably is a wedding in her future.

This is true despite the sad statistic (for single girls) that 53 per cent of the girls between 15 and 19 years old are married.

The mature woman faces

many of the problems of the youthful bride.

These include selecting the proper wedding dress or suit and make-up for the occasion.

If you are an "older bride," select make-up that is gently tamed up. You may want to use more eye make-up than you normally do and a richer lipstick shade.

However these should complement your skin and hair tone and give an overall feeling of femininity, of true softness.

BEGIN EARLY

Begin grooming for your wedding a week in advance.

Even though you are busy with parties and other pre-nuptial events, take time each evening to give yourself a special cream mask.

Smooth the pink cream on your throat and face. After 10 minutes, tissue it off. The mask will tighten pores, firm up your skin.

Your complexion takes on a brighter, glowing look . . . just what you want for your wedding.

On your wedding day, you may use the mask and then rinse your face with a skin freshener. Then apply a fluid make-up selected for its creamy base to plump out not-so-young skin.

Follow this with a drop of cheek tint smoothed on with the fingertips in gentle, upward and outward motions.

POWDER

Dust on a loose face powder to set your makeup and brush away excess powder. You may want to try a new powdered pearl for an added glow to your skin on this special day.

Carefully apply eye make-up and lipstick and you will be one of the prettier wedding statistics — a truly radiant bride.

Cut Short Sleeves for Extra Sweater

If the sleeves are too small in a child's slipover sweater, cut them out.

Crochet around the armholes with either matching or contrasting yarn.

ATTENTION EASTER BUNNIES!

After a hectic Easter morning filling baskets, hiding painted eggs, and the usual scurrying that accompanies such a happy day, DON'T forget to pamper yourself! Pop into your Easter finery and hop over to Pine Knob, easily reached on I-75, (just head East on the Sashabaw Road Bunny Trail) we promise to make your Easter repast as delightful as the day is wonderful! Bring the little bunnies, we're prepared to pamper them, too!

Fringe Benefits

Look Soft and Feminine

By MADELEINE DOEREN

The fashion world this season is filled with graceful adjectives long absent from the scene.

Words like gentle, ladylike, proper, gracious and natural replace the harsher terms of 'the bold look,' 'daringly chic' and others.

The renaissance of chiffon, crepe de chine and even feather boas has made the bold, brassy look obsolete. In its place, is the truly feminine woman with a beguiling natural look.

Gone are the hard crayoned eyes and the pallid, bloodless lips that lack the lively vitality that women of all ages want... and need.

COSMETICS HELP

Fresh, clear, uncluttered cosmetic shades offer a welcome color-change and exciting new fashion look to complement the devastating colors in the spring dress collections.

Newest of all, is the gently glided face lighting the fashion scene, giving a subtle glow to the natural look. Inspired by Columbia Pictures' romantic jungle-sea saga, "Lord Jim," Dorothy Gray's Rouge Gold brings a new gleam to face and nails.

It's available in lipstick, eyeshadow, pressed powder and nail enamel. The lipstick looks best applied feather-light over another color. Apply only in the center curve of top and bottom lips for highlights.

HAIR STYLES

Leading hairstylists agree that there's a part in your future. Parts will run diagonally, crisscross, and in various ways to achieve new, interesting looks. Medium-length hair-dos are appearing with ends subtly curled.

The pinned-on hairpiece is still going to be big evening wear and will feature the Crown Postiche, with and without bangs, also the Cascade Fall, according to the Max Factor Salons.

From the astronauts we first learned of weightlessness, which well describes a foundation creme in six shades to blend with and enhance every skin tone. In making your selection, be sure to try patch tests on the back of your hand.

The shade that is exactly right for you may be quite unlike any you have ever used before. So choose and apply your 'invisible' makeup with

LOOSE POWDER

You will be hearing much about 'finishing powder' in the months ahead as we return to feminine softness and the carefully groomed look that only loose finishing powder can achieve.

This all-but-colorless powder will also come in pressed compact form but should be used only for touch-ups.

Always 'set' your original carefully-applied makeup with loose powder for that fragile porcelain finish maintained with a minimum of care throughout a busy day or evening.

An October wedding date has been set by Sandra Kaye Thick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Thick of Oxford, and Charles Almer Myers Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Myers of Malibu Lane, Orion Township.

Hot Soap for Silver

For spotless table silver wash in hot soap or detergent suds and rinse with hot water. Then stand the silver in the drainer with handles down. Knife blades, fork tines, and spoon bowls will dry without water spots.

Keep Cloth Clean With Plastic Mat

To help keep your table lines clean, spread an oblong of transparent plastic film under each child's place setting at the table. It gives a nearly invisible protection to table cloth and can be sudsed right along with dishes.

Research shows that 5 to 20 gallons of water are used during a shower, compared to a tub bath of 20 to 40 gallons.

Holder Must Report Interest on 'E' Bonds

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Mary Feeley: My husband and I had E Bonds for over 19 years and we were compelled to sell them recently.

Will we have to put all of the interest we received on this year's income tax report? We did not report the interest as it accrued.

E.K.,
Hackensack,
N.J.

Dear E.K.: Yes, you redeemed the bonds during the year, so you'll have to account for all the interest on this report.

For future guidance — for you and other readers of this column — if you're starting to purchase E Bonds now, you may elect to report the interest each year, rather than waiting until the year of actual redemption.

If you decide to do this, the amount of interest to be included as income each year is the increase in the redemption value.

Once you start reporting interest by the year, you must continue to do so. You can't change to the deferral method at a later date unless you receive special permission to do so.

Dear Miss Feeley: Please give me the necessary information regarding the transferring of government E bonds from my name to my son's name — to be put to use for his education at a future date. I understand there is a way you can avoid reporting interest when these bonds are cashed.

G.P. O'B.,
Pearl River, N.Y.

Dear O'B.: In order to have these bonds transferred to your son's name, you'll have to go through certain procedures.

Go to a bank officer who handles savings bonds and get Treasury Department form PD 3360. Fill it out, sign it, and have it certified by this bank officer.

He will then send in this form, with the bonds, to a Federal Reserve Bank or branch.

As your son cashes these bonds, he will have to report the interest on them each year.

But as a college student, he will have a standard deduction of $600. Add the new $300 deduction, under the 1964 tax laws, and this will raise his tax-free limit to $900.

Dear Miss Feeley: Please help us out by telling us something about house insurance.

My sister and I know absolutely nothing about these things, and we have just inherited a two-family house.

The insurance runs out in two months time.

What is the best kind of insurance, and what can we expect for the amount paid?

E. T., Bayonne, N.J.

Dear E.T.: Home insurance is a somewhat complicated area of insurance. There are a number of policies to be had, depending on how much coverage you can afford.

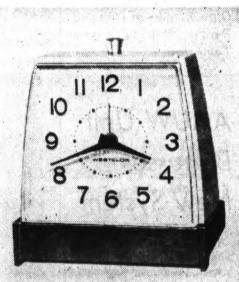

Under a homeowner policy, for instance, you can get standard, broad, and comprehensive. Of these three, the broad form which covers about 19 perils is the most popular.

The word perils means that there are many things that can happen to your property, and against which you can insure it.

For example: fire, windstorm, hail, explosion, vandalism, smoke, liability (other people getting hurt on your property), burglary, and theft.

These multiple peril policies are sold under such names as "homeowner's insurance policy," the "tenant's policy," etc.

Because they cover a number of perils, they are offered at a more reasonable rate than that of separately purchased coverage. However, you should talk to an insurance agent and discuss the policy best suited to your needs.

Veal and Ham in Cream Sauce

Luncheon for six, madame? Or an easy supper for the family? Either way, Veal and Ham Delight will give them something to sing about.

Preparation on this dish is very simple, points out Reba Staggs, noted home economist, if you are using leftovers from a veal roast or baked ham.

It's simply a matter of making the white sauce from three ingredients, then adding the remaining ones only to be heated through.

If this is planned for a luncheon, serve it with piping hot, fluffy baking powder biscuits, a molded fruit salad and lemon sherbet.

Veal and Ham Delight
2 cups diced cooked veal
1 cup diced cooked ham
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas, cooked and drained
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 cup dairy sour cream
Salt to season
½ cup toasted slivered almonds

Melt butter or margarine in saucepan. Stir in flour. Add milk and peas, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Add veal, ham, peas and Worcestershire sauce; heat. Stir in sour cream and cook until heated through. Season with salt, if necessary.

Serve, sprinkled with toasted almonds. 6 servings.

Pork Glaze Is Sweet and Spicy

Use leftover shoulder butt for sandwiches, chef's salad and some "made" dishes.

Glazed Pork Butt
2-pound boneless smoked pork shoulder butt Whole cloves
1 cup ginger ale
1 cup light brown sugar
1 tablespoon horseradish mustard

1 tablespoon cider vinegar
Remove all coverings from butt; insert whole cloves at 1-inch intervals over entire surface.

Place the butt on a sheet of heavy foil, with edges of foil turned up, in a small shallow pan — 11 by 7 by 2 inches is a good size. Pour the ginger ale over the meat.

Bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven for 1½ hours (about 35 minutes per pound). Remove butt to a clean heavy sheet of foil, with edges of foil turned up. Replace in baking pan. (Discard other foil and liquid.)

Stir together until smooth the brown sugar, mustard and vinegar; spoon over butt. Bake in a hot (450 degrees) oven until glaze bubbles and meat browns slightly — about 10 minutes.

Serve part of the meat sliced with the small amount of glaze spooned over; refrigerate remaining meat for other uses.

Records Show Fowl as Food for Centuries

Chickens have appeared on European tables since earliest recorded time. Great Britain had domestic fowl in quantity long before the Roman invasion. The earliest agricultural records according to the National Broiler Council, reveal that there have been chicken-growers, in Egypt, China and Malaya for at least 2,000 years — and doubtless a great deal longer.

Plan Easter Dinner Around Meat

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Which will it be, turkey or ham, for Easter dinner? Or do you prefer a succulent leg of lamb? Ham and lamb are traditional Easter meats with turkey a "Johnny-come-lately."

Years ago, my grandmother baked ham in a rye bread crust. Now we suggest that you prepare a pastry blanket for whole ham. You'll have a truly spectacular main course.

Whole Ham Pie
Flavor and bake a large canned or whole ham your favorite way. About 10 minutes before the end of baking time, remove the ham from the oven. Let it cool while you prepare a double recipe of pie crust.

Roll the pastry very thin and cover ham with pastry. Cut appropriate designs, such as a tulip, from leftover dough and place on top of crust.

Return ham to 450-degree oven and bake until crust is flaky and tinged with brown — about 15-20 minutes.

Serve this Whole Ham Pie with a fruit sauce.

Gingered Cherry Sauce
1-1/2 pound can crushed pineapple
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 cup chopped red maraschino cherries

Drain pineapple, reserving juice. Add cornstarch to juice and cook slowly until sauce thickens. Stir in ginger.

Add crushed pineapple and cherries. Stir until well mixed and heated through. Serve with ham. Makes about 2 cups.

Lamb is a common meat in Greece. The Greeks often serve it for Easter after the fasting days of Lent.

The American Lamb Council has developed a recipe for leg of lamb with cloves and lemon slices. Lemon is another food the Greeks use often.

Roast lamb in a slow oven. Use an open shallow roasting pan with no cover and no water added to it.

Clove Studded Leg of Lamb
6 pound leg of lamb, Frenched
1 tablespoon whole cloves
1 can (10½ ounces) apricot nectar

1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1/4 teaspoon soy sauce
3 lemon slices
1/2 cup water

2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 vegetable bouillon cube

Stud lamb with cloves; place on rack in shallow roasting pan. Bake in 325 degree oven 2 hours; drain off drippings.

Combine nectar, salt, pepper and soy sauce; pour over lamb. Bake 30 minutes longer or until meat thermometer registers 175 degrees for medium doneness, basting frequently. Top with lemon slices; bake 5 minutes longer.

Remove lamb to platter. Blend cornstarch and water; stir with bouillon cube into roasting pan. Cook and stir until sauce boils 1/4 minute. Serve with lamb. If desired, garnish with lemon slices.

The easiest roast turkey is a boneless turkey roll. You get solid meat, both light and dark, and no bones.

Leave the roast in original wrapper and thaw in refrigerator for one to two days, or under running cold water. Remove wrapper and leave string in place while cooking.

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Rinse roast with cold water; drain and pat dry. Rub lightly with salt and pepper.

Place on rack in shallow pan. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Baste occasionally as it cooks, especially a dry areas.

If roast becomes too brown during roasting, cover with a loose tent of aluminum foil.

The turkey roll is done when a meat thermometer inserted in center of roll registered 170 to 175 degrees.

Here are approximate roasting times:
3-5 pounds 2 to 2½ hours
5-7 pounds 2½ to 3½ hours
7-9 pounds 3½ to 4 hours

When roast is done, remove from oven and let stand 20 to 30 minutes before slicing. Make gravy from pan drippings.

To dress up the serving platter, arrange pretty-as-a-picture pear salads around the turkey roll.

To make 6 servings, use 6 large canned pear halves. Soften one 3-ounce package of cream cheese with one tablespoon of cream and mix until very smooth. Spread the skin side of each pear half with the cream cheese mixture.

Cut red grapes in half lengthwise and remove the seeds. Cover the pear halves with the grapes, pressing them into the cream cheese mixture, cut side down.

Place each pear half on lemon leaves or salad greens and arrange on platter.

Zucchini Slices Are Pickled

This refrigerator pickle may be kept about 10 days.

Zucchini Pickle
2 pounds (about 8) zucchini
Boiling water
¼ teaspoon salt
Vinegar
¼ stick cinnamon
1 small bay leaf
1 teaspoon each whole allspice and whole cloves

Scrub zucchini in cold water; cut a thin slice from each end; slice thin crosswise. Boil zucchini in 1-inch of boiling water with ¼ teaspoon of the salt, covered, just until crisp-tender — 3 to 5 minutes; drain.

In a saucepan over low heat stir together the remaining ¼ teaspoon salt with the sugar and vinegar until sugar dissolves. The spices in a bag and add; bring to a boil and simmer 5 minutes.

Cover zucchini, in a shallow container, with hot syrup; cover and cool; chill overnight; remove spice bag. Add more salt if desired.

Cook Chops With Fruit

Apricot braised lamb chops suit tastes for sweets with meats.

In a large skillet, brown six 1-inch shoulder lamb chops on both sides in 1 tablespoon of salad oil. Drain off excess fat. Season chops to taste with salt and pepper.

Add 2 tablespoons of sugar, 1 tablespoon of lemon juice and syrup from one 1-pound 13-ounce can of peeled apricots, reserving apricots. Simmer 25 minutes.

Add apricots and cook 5 minutes more. Makes 6 servings.

To Keep Parsley

Wash parsley thoroughly in cold water, strain and cut off the stems and place the parsley in a glass fruit jar with paper towels. Close the lid very tightly, refrigerate and the parsley will stay freshly moist and green for many days.

You Can Have Your Hat and Eat It Too

In your Easter bonnet, with gumdrop flowers upon it, your table will be the grandest on Happy Easter Day.

Your family and friends will laugh with glee when they see your perky puffed rice bonnet in the center of your Easter table. What an attractive—and edible—centerpiece for a bridge party, too!

Puffed rice, the just-right cereal base for so many pretty things, and a bright yellow marshmallow-butter mixture join together to make this bouncy bonnet.

Shape it in a ring mold and decorate it with gumdrop flowers. Confectioners' sugar frosting "ribbons" add the finishing touches and make it picture pretty.

Besides being a pretty centerpiece, your Easter Bonnet might win the grand prize in the Best of the Bonnets Contest at club next week.

What an original creation! Be sure to bring a copy of the recipe along . . . your Easter Bonnet will be much in demand!

Easter Bonnet

4 cups puffed rice
24 large marshmallows
¼ cup butter or margarine
Few drops yellow food coloring Pipe cleaners
Small gumdrops
Gumdrop rings
Spear-mint gumdrop leaves

Heat puffed rice in shallow pan in preheated 350-degree oven about 10 minutes. Pour into large greased bowl.

Melt marshmallows with butter in top of double boiler over hot water, stirring occasionally. Stir in yellow food coloring.

Pour marshmallow mixture over puffed rice, stirring until all kernels are evenly coated.

Tape cardboard circle over hole in center of 1½-qt. ring mold; grease mold well. With greased hands, press mixture over cardboard center and inside of ring mold onto bottom to form bonnet. Cool thoroughly.

With spatula, carefully remove bonnet from ring mold. Decorate with "flowers" using gumdrops inside gumdrop rings for "flowers," spear-mint leaves for "leaves" and pipe cleaners for "stems."

Trim crown and brim with thick green confectioners' sugar frosting.

Make Mayonnaise in Your Blender

A cook who has had trouble making mayonnaise in an electric blender has asked for this rule.

Blender Mayonnaise

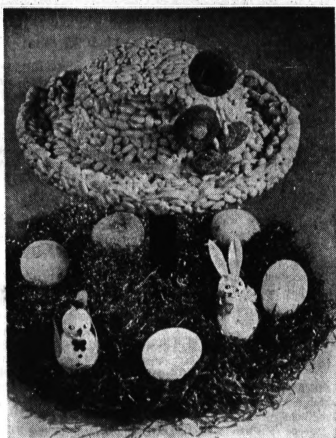

1 large egg
2 tablespoons white wine vinegar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 cup salad oil
Paprika
Put egg, vinegar, salt, pepper, mustard and ¼ cup of the oil in the electric blender container; cover container. Run just until blended—about 5 seconds.

Remove cover; run blender again, adding remaining ¾ cup oil in a fine stream; mixture should be thickened and combined by the time all the oil is added.

Store in tightly covered jar in refrigerator. At serving time, turn out and sprinkle lightly with paprika. Makes about 1½ cups.

Low in cost. Big in action. Pontiac Press Classified Ads. Call 332-8181 to place yours.

"IN YOUR EASTER BONNET" — This perky Easter Bonnet made with puffed rice will lead the centerpiece parade on Easter Day.

Fill Pastry Baskets With Glazed Fruit

The Easter basket, filled to the brim with colorful eggs lovingly decorated and packed in a nest of cellophane grass, is the favorite symbol of the Easter season, and it is the inspiration for today's timely dessert.

Dainty pastry baskets are filled with a delectable concoction of glazed fruit, and each little basket has its own handle, topped with a festive pink bow.

The fruit mixture is made from a can of pie-sliced apples (those same convenient apple slices you use for making pies), and fresh strawberries.

The knowledgeable cooks, who developed this delightful recipe, first marinate the fruit in orange juice, and then use the juice to make a tempting glaze in which the fruit is gently blended.

Result is that Glazed Fruit Baskets, the prettiest dessert to adorn the Easter table, and perfect to follow the traditional ham.

Glazed Fruit Baskets
Pastry for double crust pie; 1 lb. 4 oz. can pie-sliced apples, drained
1 cup sliced strawberries
1 cup orange juice
¼ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch

Roll out pastry. Cut into 6 pastry rounds. Fit pastry rounds over outside of inverted large muffin cups or fluted tart tins.

Fit pastry securely around each cup. Prick well. Refrigerate ¼ hour.

Bake in hot oven (450 degrees) 10 to 15 minutes or until golden brown. Cool, carefully lift tart shells from pans.

Combine pie-sliced apples and strawberries in bowl. Pour over orange juice and let stand at least one hour. Drain, reserving juice.

Combine sugar and cornstarch in saucepan; blend well. Slowly stir in drained liquid. Simmer over low heat until mixture thickens and becomes clear. Cool.

Combine glaze and fruit. Spoon into tart shells. Make handles of aluminum foil, decorate with bows and tuck handle in each basket. Makes 6 tarts.

Swiss Cheese Topped Creamy Spaghetti

Swiss cheese topped a tuna-spaghetti casserole that can be mixed in minutes.

Cook 8 ounces of spaghetti as label directs. Drain. Blend 1 (10½ ounce) can of condensed cream of celery soup with ¾ cup of milk, ½ cup of sliced ripe olives and ½ teaspoon of seasoned salt.

Combine this sauce with cooked spaghetti and a 6½-to-7 ounce can of tuna, drained and flaked, in a 2-quart casserole. Top with 1 cup of shredded Swiss cheese.

Bake 20 minutes or until bubbling in a preheated 350-degree oven. Makes 4 servings.

Japanese Dish a Real Quickie

"Cooks of almost every country wave the magic of their particular wands over shrimp," according to Helen Worth, author of "Shrimp Cookery" (Citadel Press, New York, $1.25).

This enchanting new cookbook includes more than 100 shrimp recipes gleaned from all over the world. They are presented in the clear, simple, step-by-step fashion for which Mrs. Worth is noted.

Moreover, the book contains basic methods of shrimp cookery, background information about shrimp, and shrimp recipes, and lists of accompaniments that make these little shellfish taste wonderful. Mrs. Worth explains that hamanabe is the Japanese name for sukiyaki made with shrimp.

Hamanabe
3 tablespoons fat or oil
1½ pounds raw shelled shrimp
1 bunch shredded scallions
¼ cup soy sauce
½ cup chicken stock or water
1 teaspoon sugar
½ cup shredded bamboo shoots
½ cup shredded celery

In a skillet, heat the oil and cook the shrimp in it for 3 minutes, stirring frequently.

Add scallions, soy sauce, stock and sugar, and simmer about 2 minutes or until the shrimp is cooked.

Add the bamboo shoots and celery and cook only until hot. Serve on rice to 4.

County Road Commission Opens Bids on Area Jobs

The Oakland County Road Commission yesterday opened bids on seven road improvement projects and a site grading job. Bid totals ranged from a low of $330,839 to a high of $438,169.

Paul Van Roekel, highway engineer for the road commission, said the engineering department will recommend that contracts be awarded to the low bidders on each project when the road commissioners meet Tuesday.

Bids were lower than estimated, according to Van Roekel. "The low bids were excellent," he said.

The major project is grading, graveling and blacktopping on 11 Mile between Orchard Lake Road and Inkster in Farmington Township. Bids ranged from $186,800 to $251,500, with the Sterling Garrett Co. the low bidder.

The same firm was low bidder for grading and graveling of Walnut Lake Road in West Bloomfield Township between Orchard Lake Road and Middle Belt. Bids ranged from $56,263 to $78,532.

LOW BIDDER — Low bidder for a three-quarter mile blacktopping project on Walden in Independence Township from Sashabaw west to the

Term Clarified for OCC Posts

Trustees of Oakland Community College won't have to seek reelection in June after all.

The election had been tentatively scheduled when it was discussed earlier this year that the state's community college laws had no provision specifying the term of office.

The State Senate, however, clarified the law this week by amending it to provide terms and schedules for future elections.

Under the amendment, at least two-year terms for college trustees are required. Since Oakland Community College's six trustees were elected last June, the next election won't be held until June, 1966.

The new bill now goes to Gov. George Romney for his signature.

1966 ELECTION — The 1966 election will be conducted by the College Board but will be held during the regular school elections the second Monday in June.

Other educational institutions that were affected by the legal loopholes are in Jackson, Ingham and Monroe counties.

Spaak, former secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is 66. His first wife died last August. Mrs. Dear, 50, is divorced from an Englishman.

Unpopular Judas Role Shunned by Villagers

LYTCHETT MINSTER, England (AP) — Residents of this Dorset County village agreed to fill all parts for a color film of Handel's "Messiah" except one — Judas Iscariot.

Filming eventually continued when the rector of a neighboring parish took over the unwanted role.

Engine Room Blaze Fatal to Dixie Sailor

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy enlisted man was killed Tuesday in an engine-room fire aboard the aircraft carrier Ranger in the South China Sea near Viet Nam, the Pentagon announced yesterday.

The man was identified as Fireman Apprentice Chester Statum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Statum of Rayville, La.

The number of professional nurses in the nation will have to be increased from the current 500,000 to 680,000 by 1970.

5 Egg Hunts Set

Easter Bunny Is Busy

The Easter Bunny is scheduled to put in yeoman service Saturday preparing for five Easter egg hunts in this area.

Youngsters will have an opportunity to look for the gaily colored ovals in four city parks and at the Waterford Township High School.

In the city, egg hunts are scheduled to be held at Beaudette, Oakland, Jaycee and Murphy Parks.

Nearly 650 prizes will be offered in addition to 3,000 chocolate eggs.

The Pontiac hunts begin at 1:30 p.m. and youngsters (pre-school through age 10) are urged to be at the park nearest their home no earlier than 1:20 p.m.

Sponsors of the city hunts are the Department of Parks and Recreation, Kiwanis Club of North Pontiac, Pontiac Optimist Club, Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce, Community Organizations of Pontiac, Pontiac Jazz Club and the 19th Democratic Women's Club.

In Waterford, Township the hunt is being sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

More than 3,000 brightly colored eggs will be hidden on the high school football field. Among them will be 50 golden eggs which, when found, entitle the possessor to a special prize.

Children, ages 3 to 10, are invited to attend the hunt, scheduled to begin at 1 p.m.

There are an estimated 2.5 million Americans of Swedish descent living in the United States.

Stewardess Is Lone Survivor

ST. HELIER, Jersey (AP) — A hospital built by the Germans during World War II was turned into a morgue today for 26 persons killed in the crash of a British airliner Wednesday night on the Isle of Jersey.

Only the French stewardess survived after the twin-engine DC3, trying to land in a fog, plunged into a potato field about 500 yards short of the St. Helier runway. The plane had taken off from Paris with 17 French and Italian hotel workers coming to the holiday island for Easter, six British residents of the channel islands and a crew of four.

The stewardess was reported in fair condition. The British air ministry began an investigation.

The nation's coin-operated laundry industry, which started in 1948, has blossomed into a $500 million a year business.

Avon Twp. Man Is 'Satisfactory' After Hit by Car

An Avon Township man is in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after he was struck by a car yesterday on Avon Road in Avon Township.

Edward Brown, 76, 346 E. Avon, reportedly walked onto the road in front of a car driven by James Innes, 65, 3385 Longview, Avon Township. The accident occurred at 3:20 p.m., just east of Rochester Road.

Five Remarks Sure to Raise Wife's Ire

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — What remarks by husbands are most irritating to their wives?

In the hope of helping obtain marital peace in our time, I asked 20 married women this question. They leaped at the chance to put their views on record.

BOYLE

It appears from the answers that most husbands would have a happier home life if they would simply keep their mouths shut — or at least refrain from putting their feet into them.

On the other hand, silence isn't always golden. One lady replied: "Nothing my husband says is as annoying as his habit of sitting in front of the television set for hours and refusing to say anything."

CAUSE WIFELY IRE

Be that as it may, the poll showed that these five husbandly remarks — or variants of them — are the most common causes of wifely ire:

"You don't know how lucky you are."

"I don't see why we have so much trouble getting along on my salary. A lot of wives manage on a lot less."

"That isn't the way my mother used to do it."

HAD IT FOR LUNCH

"Is that what we're having for dinner? That's what I had for lunch."

"Can't you ever get ready on time? We'll be late again."

Here are a few runner-up quips from the head of the house that are almost equally sure to start a breakfast battle:

"Don't tell me your troubles. I got troubles of my own you never even heard of."

"I'd feel like staying up for the late show, too—if I didn't have anything to do all day but sit around and rest."

"Is that another new dress?"

"Why can't you make YOUR children behave?"

"Dry them — the dishes — yourself. I had a hard day."

"Take it out — the garbage — yourself. I'm tired."

"When I'm gone, honey, why don't you marry for money the next time?"

LIVING ROOM WAR

A husband also can usually get a good living room war going by firing off any of the following observations:

"If that's what you're going to wear, I'm staying home."

"I don't know why I'm battling my brains out trying to save up for retirement when I'm not going to make it anyway."

"Don't bother me. Make up your own mind."

"What do you know about it anyway?"

"I meant to do it, but I forgot."

"For Pete's sake, look at the road. The guy who gave you a driver's license must have been blind."

"I'd trade you in for a new model — but I don't think they'd give me much."

"WIVES LOYAL

Most of the wives had some qualms about testifying against their husbands. They said such loyal things as, "Really, he's a pretty good guy," or "If I make him sound like a cross old bear, he isn't that way at all. He's quite lovable — in his way."

A bride of nine weeks claimed her husband never had made a veiling remark to her and added, "Maybe we are simply two bland personalities who never get in each other's hair."

One wife said that after 35 years of marriage it still upset her to have her husband wake up at 3 a.m. and cry out accusingly:

"Who left the cellar light on?"

ONE FOR FIVE

Another wife said that the five most annoying remarks by her husband was this one:

"Darling, this year let's spend our vacation with my mother in Peoria." He has said it every year since 1960."

The prize, I think, however, goes to a young woman married to an ex-sailor.

"Shape up or ship out," he tells her.

Inmates Present Gift

to Retiring Policeman

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — A couple of "regular" inmates of the Joplin city jail decided to do something for James "Pete" Wilson when he retired recently after 20 years on the police force. To show they held no grudge for his having arrested them on many occasions, they chipped in on a bright, four-in-hand necktie and presented it to the flabbergasted officer.

Italy Tourists on Move Again

Railroad Strike Ends After 24-Hour Period

ROME (AP) — The Easter tourist tide resumed in Italy today after a nationwide 24-hour rail strike ended. Other walk outs continued or were in the offing.

As pilgrims and holidaymakers once more poured into Rome, Pope Paul VI prepared to inaugurate three days of pre-Easter ritual by washing the feet of 12 physically handicapped youths in the Basilica of St. John Lateran.

The pontiff heightened the personal humility of the Holy Thursday rite this year by choosing instead of seminarians or priests 12 young men who are blind, deaf, crippled from polio or missing an arm or leg.

The ritual commemorates Christ's washing of the Apostles' feet at the last supper.

REVIVED RITUAL

Pope John XXIII revived the ritual in 1959. It had not been performed for more than 80 years.

The one-day rail strike disrupted holiday travel at a time when the nation's merchants count on busy cash registers. More than 90 per cent of Italy's 180,000 railwaymen stayed off the job from midnight to midnight, and only a few dozen of the 7,000 daily trains moved out of stations, manned by army crews.

Most international trains were halted at the border. Emergency buses brought their passengers to the nearest major city. Special buses also replaced more than third of the long-distance trains within Italy.

Airliners were jammed. Countless travelers were turned away.

PACKED TRAINS

The first trains that pulled out of stations after midnight were packed. More than 400,000 foreigners are expected in Italy for the Easter period.

Three major Communist and non-Communist unions called the strike to protest a bonus awarded to only a limited number of Transport Ministry employees for extra hours they spent on a state railway system reorganization. The unions said the bonus should go to all ministry employees.

Also on the Italian labor front:

Opera houses and symphonic halls were in the middle of a three-day strike protesting delay in putting promised state subsidies into effect.

Paper mill workers were in the second day of a 48-hour strike for more pay.

Doctors in public hospitals ended a three-day strike for better wages, but those in Rome continued their walkout for another two days.

Asks Ruling on Pickets at Detroit Store

DETROIT (UPI)—The operators of a Detroit market that has been picketed since a Negro was shot in the store March 1, asked Wayne County Circuit Court Wednesday for a declaratory judgment against the picketing.

Emily and Louis Azzam said in their petition that the conduct of the pickets threatened and intimidated them and their customers, and was designed to force them to close or sell the business.

Judge Theodore R. Behn set a hearing for tomorrow requiring the defendants to show cause why he should not issue a judgment.

Seventeen pickets were named in the petition, including Comer J. McNeil, the organizer and leader.

McNeil organized the picketing after the shooting of a 20-year-old Negro youth by Jacob Azzam, 27, son of the owners.

NEGRO NEIGHBORHOOD

The Azzams are white, but their store is in a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

The attorney for the Azzams, Sheldon Otis, said his clients asked for a declaratory judgment rather than an injunction against the picketing because he believed that was all that would be necessary. A judgment would merely state that such picketing was illegal.

State Legislature Begins Stretch Drive Engulfed in Record Number of Bills

LANSING (AP) — Legislative committees began their long stretch drive of work today, engulfed by a record 1,600 bills.

A flood of fiscal reform measures topped Wednesday's last-minute outpouring of bills as the House wound up with 1,006 measures to consider and the Senate with 674. Last year's overall record was 1,487.

Although bills could technically have been introduced until midnight, the House adjourned in late afternoon with a one-day total of 242 bills and the Senate went home in early evening after 110 measures had been read.

Although it was impossible to say how many of the bills would get out of committee and pass or both houses, experience has shown that about one in six bills introduced actually becomes law.

Neither house accomplished anything else of significance during the day of the drone.

Under the existing schedule, each bill must be reported by committee to its house of origin by May 14 or be dead for the current year.

Sen. Edward Robinson, D-Deerborn, introduced a fiscal reform package including an income tax which he said would raise $133 million in new revenue.

Individuals and corporations would pay a 5 per cent income levy with individuals permitted a $1000 deduction for each dependent.

Robinson would repeat the sales tax on food and drugs, business activities tax and local income tax, and lower the tax on beer.

LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

Local governments would receive back one-fifth of the state income tax levied in their areas and school districts would get one-fifth on a school census basis.

Robinson said his plan would raise $375 million on personal income taxes, $160 million on corporate levies and lower other taxes by $412 million.

"This is a fair and equitable bipartisan vehicle for true fiscal reform," he said. "We want Gov. (George) Romney to meet with Democratic leaders at the earliest possible time to move forward on fiscal reform. If he is sincere, this is the opportunity."

The Senate freshman said his plan does not constitute a unanimous Democratic proposal.

SEEKS INTEREST

Romney has called for fiscal reform but declines to submit a program until he is assured of legislative interest in a new tax structure. Democratic leaders say the governor should give them a plan, then they'll dispose of it.

Several House Republicans, however, did introduce a fiscal reform package of nine bills. Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, proposed a 3 per cent income tax on individuals, a 4.5 per cent levy on corporations and a 7 per cent tax on financial institutions.

The financial institution tax would replace all other state and local levies, except real estate, sales and use taxes and similar excise taxes.

The individual tax provides for personal exemptions of $600 a year, as under the Federal Income Tax Law.

Thousands of Disaster Victims Will Be Helped by Federal Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Once again thousands of Americans are experiencing disaster—in Midwest floods and tornadoes—and once again they are looking to Washington for help.

The help is there and on its way; millions of dollars worth. But to bring it down to the family level, let's create Harold X. Hinkle, wife Hannah and the town of Midway, Minn., and see how the government would stand ready to assist them.

Our Harold and Hannah live eight miles beyond Midway in a $20,000 house. At least they used to. Then the Minnesota River spilled over, taking with it the Hinkle home and a lot of Midway.

Minnesota has been declared a federal disaster area by President Johnson. What help is there for the Hinkles? Plenty. And, as mobilized by the Office of Emergency Planning in Washington, it comes quickly.

When the Hinkles' house was swept away they still had $15,000 to pay on it. And they have to buy or build another one.

Normally, Harold would have to pay about 5 or 6 per cent interest for the money he needs. But the Small Business Administration can lend him the money for 20 years at 3 per cent.

Meanwhile, because they are homeless they are moving in with Harold's sister Helen and her husband Homer on their farm. But if they had no place to go, they could be among the families for whom the Defense Department is providing prefabricated shelters equipped with individual heating systems.

As it was, the Minnesota hit the Hinkle house fast and hard and Harold and Hannah had to be plucked from their rooftop by Army helicopter.

PUBLIC FACILITY

Midway High, where Harold teaches, didn't fare much better than the Hinkle homestead. But it is an essential public facility under terms of the Federal Disaster Act and will be rebuilt, possibly by Army Engineers or by a private contractor selected by state authorities. Washington will foot the bill.

The same federal disaster fund will pay for repairing the highway the Hinkles used to get to and from town.

When disaster struck Midway it left breaks in the water supply lines to Midway High. Local authorities found the breaks; repairs will be made under the Federal Disaster Act.

Almost as soon as the waters coursed through Midway, testers from the Food and Drug Administration and the Public Health Service were on the scene, helping state authorities check for water pollution and food contamination.

INOCULATED

The Hinkles and their neighbors were inoculated against typhoid. Because most of the town's food stocks were found to be contaminated, the Department of Agriculture shipped in surplus food.

The Agriculture Department also supplied free feed grain to sister Helen and husband Homer to keep their cattle from starving.

And the Red Cross, the Salvation Army and local relief agencies brought clothing to the folks who literally lost the shirts off their backs.

Just before disaster struck, Harold made out his income tax return and sent it off to Washington. His disaster losses are tax deductible, of course. And he doesn't have to wait until next year to enter them.

AMENDED RETURN

As soon as he gets settled, Harold will file an amended return. In his case, he can expect a tax refund now.

The Hinkles have been hit hard. No doubt about it. But they are being helped.

Set Precedent in Foreign Aid

Senate Unit Adopts 2-Year Authorization

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Members of the House foreign affairs committee showed little enthusiasm today for the changes in the foreign aid program recommended by their opposite members in the Senate.

The Senate foreign relations committee broke with the custom of previous years yesterday and voted to:

—Authorize operation of the program for the next two years at a cost of $2.35 billion a year. Until now, the overall authorizations have been for one year only.

—Create a 12-man blue-ribbon commission to study the whole concept of foreign aid and make recommendations for an overhaul of the program.

Administration officials were generally pleased with the two-year authorization plan. The annual congressional donnybrook over foreign aid has not won friends for the program.

INDIFFERENT

They were indifferent to the commission proposal, put forward by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who said the action "serves notice that foreign aid as it now exists will be brought to an end."

But Senate Democratic whip Russell B. Long, La., said it did not mean an end to the foreign aid program. Instead, it would more clearly define its objectives, he said.

The commission would be made up of four senators, four House members and four appointed the president.

Democratic and Republican members of the House foreign affairs committee were not impressed with the commission idea.

"The foreign aid program has been studied more than anything else in government," said Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, D-N.J. "Another study will only disrupt the solid progress now being made under the best leadership the program ever enjoyed."

Beautification Is Under Way in Waterford

The Greater Waterford Community Council (GWCC) has launched a month long clean-up, fix-up campaign aimed at beautifying the township.

Participation in the areawide project will be numerous PTA groups, subdivision associations, churches and various other groups including the Waterford Junior Chamber of Commerce, which will remove debris from the Clinton River.

Also cooperating in the project are the township board, school board and the police department which has promised stepped-up enforcement of the township's junking ordinance.

Certificates of accomplishment will be awarded by the GWCC at the end of the campaign to participating organizations.

In conjunction with the campaign, the GWCC has formally endorsed a pending bill in the state legislature aimed at curbing the practice of putting fill into lakes.

Holly Board Okays Plans for a 'School Within a School'

HOLLY — The board of education has approved preliminary plans to make Patterson Elementary a "school within a school."

Incorporation of the unique concept into plans for a $666,000 addition will increase to 1,000 the unit's capacity — making it one of the largest elementary schools in the state.

Opened in January 1964, the school on Grange Hall Road now has 14 rooms for 463 pupils.

Additions to it and to Davisburg Elementary School were included in a $775,000 bond issue approved by district property owners in December.

The Patterson addition now is being designed by Lane, Reibe, Weiland Architects of Ann Arbor.

MATERIALS CENTER

Highlighting plans for the wing is an instructional materials center which will be the focal point of the school's program.

As Schools Supt. George G. Garver sums it up:

"The center will provide the space and opportunity for independent study for the students in the later elementary grades as well as the services found in a traditional elementary library."

Envisioned is a hexagonal room of some 3,000 square feet

Killing Suspect Gives Self Up

Will Face Charge in Death of Woman

DETROIT — A 22-year-old Houston, Texas, woman surrendered herself to Detroit police yesterday on a first-degree murder warrant in connection with the April 5 slaying of Raven Shilling, 29, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Linda Dean called police yesterday and said she understood there was a warrant for her arrest. She appeared at headquarters later.

Also charged in the killing of Miss Shilling, whose half-sister body was discovered in a Macomb Township field, is Theodore F. Wilson, 39, of Detroit.

Wilson is a former brother-in-law of Miss Shilling, and was arrested last week on the basis of evidence found in the dead woman's car.

He was charged in a similar warrant from Detroit Recorder's Criminal Court. Wilson had previously been charged by the Macomb County Prosecutor's office.

FINGERPRINTS FOUND

Detroit police said they were convinced that Miss Shilling was slain there, adding that Miss Dean's fingerprints were found in the Shilling car, which was found abandoned in a hotel parking lot.

Wilson's fingerprints were also found in the vehicle.

Police claimed they had a witness who reported seeing the pair put Miss Shilling's body in the rear seat of her car after she was stabbed in an argument in front of her former mother-in-law's home in Detroit.

They said Wilson lived with his mother, and that Miss Shilling had gone to her home for a visit.

TWO DENIALS

Miss Dean denied knowing Miss Shilling or having anything to do with her death. Wilson also denied any knowledge of the slaying.

ONE OF MANY — Identified passersby wielded cut from trees in an effort to put out one of dozens of grass fires which sprang up almost simultaneously yesterday afternoon along the New York Central Railroad tracks from Rochester to just north of the Oakland County line. At least eight fire departments and many volunteers fought the blaze, apparently caused by sparks from a train. Fields were blackened in many spots, and it took hours to extinguish all the isolated fires. The Lake Orion Lumber Co. was threatened for a time, but no damage was reported.

Water Main Hearings at End

AVON TOWNSHIP — The initial series of three public hearings on a proposed $979,472 water main system for the south-eastern part of the township has concluded with no firm indication of the final outcome of the proposal.

Hearings were held for three special assessment districts involved in the system on April 7, 8 and 13.

Reaction of residents of the districts was mixed in all three hearings, and petitions opposing the plan were turned in each time.

Clerk Mrs. Thelma G. Spencer said review of the petitions would begin next week, to determine how many signatures are valid and the amount of property represented by them.

If built in all three districts, the water main system will cover an area bounded generally by Avon Road on the north and Dequindre on the east, running almost to John R Road on the west and nearly to South Boulevard on the south.

Shiloh Temple Church Will Hold Dedication Service on Sunday

UTICA — The official opening of Shiloh Temple Church will be observed Sunday with a special dedication service at 2 p.m.

A buffet dinner will follow the service, which is open to the public.

The new full gospel Pentecostal church is located at 7847 McClellan in the building formerly occupied by the Utica Masonic Lodge.

Rev. D. L. Rogers, pastor of the church, said the building has been redecorated and remodeled to include a full basement with Sunday school classrooms, a modern kitchen, choir loft, bell tower and seating for 180 in the main auditorium.

The regular schedule of services will include Sunday school at 10 a.m., Sunday morning worship at 11 a.m. and evening services at 7 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday.

Rev. Rogers, who with his wife and four children presently lives in Royal Oak, has extended an invitation to all who wish to attend the services.

Farmers' Costs Are Increasing

Farm production costs are increasing as fast as farm income, according to a Michigan State University agricultural economist.

Karl Wright, in a prediction on the outlook for Michigan farmers 15 years hence, said net farm income is expected to be no larger in 1980 than it is now.

He noted that the total number of farms in Michigan is expected to decline from the 112,000 listed in 1959 to around 70,000 by 1980.

"Most of this decline will be in farms with less than 100 acres, or less than $10,000 total receipts, and where the farmer has had little opportunity for off-farm work," Wright said.

"The 'commercial' farms — which make up about 58 per cent of the Michigan total — are expected to increase in size from an average of 175 acres in 1959 to 225 or possibly 250 acres by 1980," he added.

"Many farmers, no doubt, will increase their farm size far more than that. But most farms will still be family farms," Wright said.

Library Group Slates Meeting in Orion Twp.

ORION TOWNSHIP — The Friends of the Library, a new group being formed by township residents to promote good library service at the new Orion Township Library, will hold an organization meeting April 22.

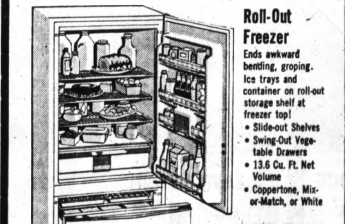

The 8 p.m. meeting will be held at the library, on M24 opposite Buckhorn Lake.

Approximately 10 boys will receive the tenderfoot badge at the program, according to Scout Master John Zurbick. The public is invited.

Orion Board Adopts Budget

ORION TOWNSHIP — A $171,400 budget for 1965-66 has been adopted by the Orion Township Board after a public hearing during which no serious opposition to the budget developed.

The new budget is $23,200 higher than estimated expenditures during the 1964-65 fiscal year, and compares with estimated receipts during the coming year of $159,500.

A general fund surplus of $75,000 was split up among various funds for the new budget.

The board left $10,000 in the general fund and transferred the remainder to the following funds:

Zoning and planning, $25,000; police protection, $9,000; engineering, $1,000; special building fund, $5,000; and highway fund, $25,000.

INCLUDES RAISES

Included in the new budget are $1,200 raises for the supervisor, clerk, treasurer and a building inspector.

The supervisor will now receive $7,200, the clerk a $2,000 and the treasurer $6,200 and the building inspector, who also serves as water inspector, $5,200.

Total anticipated expenditures break down as follows:

Police protection, $12,000; library, $13,000; zoning and planning, $25,000; water department, $10,000; fire protection, $30,000; highway department, $25,000; general fund, $55,000; and welfare, $400.

SEWER FUND

Nothing was earmarked for the sewer fund, which contains $12,000 at present.

In other action, the board gained a new trustee as W. Dale Spear turned in his resignation as justice of the peace, a position he has held for two years.

Spear, a Democrat, was elected to the board last November.

Some trustees apparently stood on party lines as six ballots were necessary to rehire Republican office worker Mrs.

Doris Groll, who has worked in the township office for 12 years.

REHIRE OFFICE WORKER

By a split vote, the board finally rehired Mrs. Groll for another year at a $4,500 salary.

Scherley Green is the lone Republican trustee. Clerk Mrs. Margaret Stephen is also a GOP member, but supervisor John Lessiter, Treasurer Mrs. Myrtle Longpre and the other three trustees are all Democrats.

Area youngsters benefited again this year from the generosity of the board, which voted to contribute $1,500 to the Lake Orion Youth Center and $1,000 to the Gingiveline Youth Center.

New Fire Chief Is Picked in Oxford

OXFORD — Perry Earp of 32 Pearl is the new village fire chief.

Earp was selected by volunteer firemen of the department to replace Al Sage, fire chief for the past six years and 23-year veteran of the department.

Earp has been with the department for 14 years and served as assistant chief last year. He is a deputy sheriff in Oakland County.

First assistant chief now is Dale Spiker, the second assistant, Claude Rogers.

June Start Set for Hospital

ROCHESTER — Ground-breaking ceremonies for the Rochester Unit of Crittenton General Hospital are tentatively slated for June 30 or shortly before, according to officials of the Detroit hospital.

It was hoped last November that an April start on construction would be possible, but delays in obtaining final drawings have pushed the date back.

A. Riley Allen, administrator of the Detroit hospital, said that $25,000 worth of drawings are to be completed by May 4 and bids to be opened June 17.

Holly Teacher Chosen for Institute

HOLLY — Gerald Hansen, who has taught in the Holly school system for six years, will participate in a new math institute the Rutgers University during the 1965-66 school year.

Hansen was among six chosen for the institute out of a field of 700 candidates from across the nation.

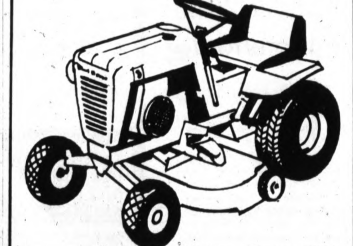

Purpose of the academic year institute is to increase the competency of mathematics teachers and to bring curriculum up to date with new concepts in advanced modern mathematics.

All modern math programs will be studied and evaluated by the educators.

The Holly Board of Education has granted Hansen a leave of absence to participate in the institute.

Waterford Action Due on Garage

Waterford Township Board of Education members tonight are expected to decide a course of action on a school bus garage.

Alternatives are to continue using the present garage at 4584 Pontiac Lake, construct a new building on this site or buy an existing warehouse building just west of the site.

The present building has been called too small to serve the increasing fleet of buses. Cost of a new building large enough to meet requirements would be about $70,000. The existing building, larger than the planned new building, would cost $45,000 but alteration work would boost the cost to almost $70,000.

The board's option to purchase the warehouse expires tomorrow.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business tonight, the board will consider the purchase of seven new school buses. Four will replace present buses and there will be added to accommodate non - public school children next fall.

Also slated for board attention is proposed construction of a combination press box and concession stand at Waterford Township High School.

A revised plan of the structure including added toilet facilities will be presented.

Also tonight, the board will hear a report on the school system's elementary school library program.

Teachers May Quit in Mass

Dispute Concerns Discipline Policies

LINCOLN PARK (UPI) — Teachers threatened to resign in mass next school year if the Lincoln Park School Board does not adopt a stronger policy toward supporting disciplinary action handed out by teachers to ward students.

Robert Moreley, a teacher at the school, said a majority of the 125 faculty members are behind a move for tougher policies in handling students after 750 of them walked out of classes April 5 in a protest demonstration.

The teachers charged Principal Thomas Cuzzo gave in to parents when they objected to disciplinary action against the students.

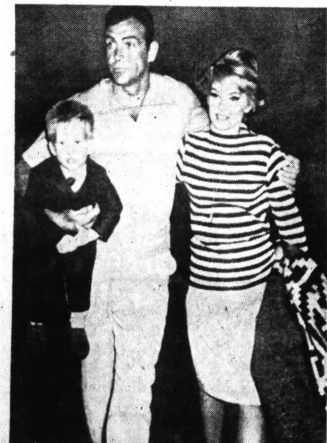

Cuzzo planned to suspend them for two days and have them stay one-hour after school for each day of school they missed.

Some students were out more than one or two days. They also were permitted to make up tests they missed.

URGENT SUPPORT

The teachers plan to present petitions to the board calling for support of teachers' authority.

The students walked out of class on a series of complaints, including objections to cafeteria food and a smoking ban on school grounds.

NO COMMENT — Sean Connery, the James Bond movie fame, holds his son Jason under his arm as he and his estranged wife, British actress Diane Cilento, walk away from plane after her arrival at Nassau, Bahamas, Connery, making his latest Bond movie in the Bahamas, had no comment on whether a reconciliation was planned.

ALL WELCOME — What she really had in mind was to hatch out some chicks but this bantam hen didn't figure on how inviting her nest would look to a rabbit looking for a place to have her own young. The hen, owned by Albert Bussard of near Hagerstown, Md., now accepts the help of those warm bunnies in hatching out her five eggs — hopefully in time for Easter.

Site Purchase Delayed

The Pontiac Board of Education last night voted to reconsider action taken March 31 concerning the proposal to purchase a two-acre site near Woodward and South Boulevard.

The question of the purchase was then tabled until further study could be given the matter by both the school administration and the Human Relations Advisory Committee (HRAC).

The action came after a series of protests from the HRAC, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and the Urban League.

These groups charged that by building a school on the site, the board would be furthering defacto segregation in the school system.

At the March 31 meeting the school board voted 5-2 to make a proposal to Charles Langs, owner of the land, to purchase two acres of land.

At the March 31 meeting the school board voted 5-2 to make a proposal to Charles Langs, owner of the land, to purchase two acres of land.

At the time the school board voted to proceed in securing a site, it was the general feeling of the board that some provision had to be made for a school for children — possibly as many as 150 — generated by the project.

The administration felt existing schools were too far away. They also said that the route which would have to be taken would be hazardous — crossing E. South Boulevard and walking along Woodward.

They also indicated they were not certain that the existing schools could hold more students.

WHITE OCCUPANTS

The protesting groups last night said that it was their belief that this housing project would be occupied by only white families and that this would add a segregated school to the system.

They said they based their belief on past experience with other housing projects in the area.

They also gave two other reasons for their protests.

First, they said the HRAC should have been consulted on the location of the school site.

LETTER CITED

In a letter to the board last NAACP chairman Charles Tucker Jr. said:

"... the School Board Administration has not acted in good faith in not bringing this projected planning to the Pontiac School Board Human Relations Committee."

The HRAC was created by the school board several months ago to assist the school on matters concerning race relations within the city.

Finally, the protesting groups said that they did not feel it was proper for the board to spend $20,000 for a school site for projected needs, when there were existing needs in many schools in the district.

OVERCROWDED SCHOOLS

Tucker said his group could not understand how the Board could propose an expenditure for a school site while "... several of our schools are overcrowded and do not meet today's educational standards."

School board members told the more than 25 persons attending the meeting that it was their understanding after talking with the group which sells the units that the project would be integrated.

Tucker and others disagreed and this question was not resolved.

Several school board members then said that perhaps they were in error by not consulting the human relations committee before taking action.

DENIED CHARGE

Lastly, the board denied the charge that the condition of the schools in the district is as poor as outlined by the protesting groups.

They did say that they would look into several specific charges made by the Urban League. They added that programs were under way now to alleviate conditions at some of the schools mentioned.

However, board secretary Victor Sutt said that he found it difficult to correlate the site purchasing matter with conditions at other schools.

He said both were serious but individual problems and both should receive the appropriate action.

No time limit was set on studying the purchase matter. It is expected that the question will again come up in early May.

FORMER MOVIE STAR FINE — Vera Lake, 46, movie queen of the 1940s, stops in a Galveston, Tex., restaurant for something to eat, yesterday, after paying a $25 fine on a charge of being drunk in a public place. She is a three-divorced mother of three and grandmother of two.

Actor Captures $50 Monthly Job on City Council

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — It's City Councilman Wendell Corey now.

The 50-year-old actor won one of four open seats on the Santa Monica council in this week's municipal election, polling nearly half of the 16,109 votes cast. Corey said he will use his monthly salary of $50 "on ads to let the people of Santa Monica know what the hell's going on."

On the trend toward actors in politics, he said the actor is no longer a fly-by-night. "We used to live out of a suitcase," he said. "I played every state in the Union except Alaska. Then the motion picture came to California. Now we live in houses; we look out of windows."

Welk Was Good Investment

By JAMES BACON

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD—Just 15 years ago, Sam Lutz, manager of Lawrence Welk, paid a local television station $200 to put the Welk band on the air.

Now Lawrence Welk, who has missed but one Saturday night on television since, grosses $4 million a year.

That puts Welk up among the titans of show business. "And everybody who associates with Welk makes money," says Lutz. "Myron Floren and his accordion gross better than $100,000 a year on personal appearances. The Lennon sisters average around $350,000. Welk is a Hollywood oil well."

It wasn't that easy 15 years ago.

LIBERACE TOO

Lutz, who also was behind the Liberace boom, first met Welk during World War II.

I was a special service officer in Chicago and Lawrence was playing at the Aragon Ballroom. Everytime we put on a show for servicemen, Welk was the first to volunteer his band.

I could see how popular he was in Chicago and the Midwest. After the war, I brought him out here and put him in another Aragon Ballroom at Santa Monica.

"The crowds came. Television, in those days, was just getting going good. I figured Lawrence a natural for it."

"But it was tough selling him. Big bands were passe and I couldn't get Klaus Landsberg, head of Channel 5, on the phone. "It was the top outfit in those days. So I gave orders to my secretary to put in a call to Landsberg every 15 minutes."

CONNECTS

"Finally, one day he got on the phone. He finally said he would try Lawrence for one show provided we paid the musicians — about $200."

The Welk band was only on the air 15 minutes before the KTLA switchboard started lighting up. Before the show was finished, Landsberg was ready to talk business.

"Soon, a car sponsor bought the show and for five years, sales boomed in the Los Angeles area. That's when the big boys in Detroit got interested. Soon the same sponsor wanted Lawrence on national television. That was 10 years ago."

"He has only missed one Saturday night — the weekend of President Kennedy's assassination.

$4 MILLION

"With his records, personal appearances and television and all other enterprises, Welk grosses $4 million."

"It was the best $200 bet I ever made."

Modern jazz aficionados sometimes made fun of Welk's music.

But the public and the bankers love him.

After centuries of mining gold, the world today has little more than 40,000 tons of it.

The First World War Changing Concepts of Warfare in 1915: 19

Written By PHILIP VAN DOREN STERN for Newspaper Enterprise Association

Illustrated By John Lane

Nearly all the higher officers in command at the beginning of the First World War had been trained in a type of combat that was obsolete when the shooting started.

In the spring of 1915, with only a few months of actual experience behind them, they still had much to learn.

And they were hampered not only by outmoded notions but by some kinds of equipment which had not changed since Napoleon's time.

Cavalrymen rode horses into battle and many supply wagons were drawn by horses or mules, for the automobile was just coming into use.

New ideas for weapons, however, were being developed. Armored cars predated the fighting, and the British were thinking of putting them on caterpillar tracks so they could move over the rough terrain of the battlefield.

TANKS ON WAY

Tanks were on the way, even though they were not to arrive on the scene until September 1916.

Winston Churchill was sponsoring them; he also wanted smoke screens to hide ship and troop movements.

The Germans and the French were developing flame-throwers, although these were not to come into wide use until later. The Germans had already tried poison gas in Poland in January 1915, and again at Ypres in April.

At sea, submarines were their big hope, for their navy was bottled up by the British, and only an underwater vessel could slip past the tight blockade.

MECHANICAL ADVANCE

The most important mechanical advance in warfare in 1915 was the ever-growing use of airpower. German zeppelins had already bombarded London and Paris in what we would now think was a small way.

But the big, gas-filled airships were slow, cumbersome, and highly vulnerable.

Airplanes, which at first had been employed mostly for observational purposes, were rapidly becoming specialized bombers and fighters.

The French had been the first to invent a way of firing through the propeller when Roland Garros devised a protective steel collar to deflect some of the machine gun bullets away from the blades.

He and his machine were captured, and Dutch inventor Anthony Fokker was called in to examine and perhaps improve the rather crude device.

He quickly came up with a far more effective interrupter gear that made it possible to shoot straight ahead through the whirling propeller blades while pursuing an enemy plane.

The airplane was so promising a weapon that production in Europe jumped from 1,500 in 1914 to 11,600 in 1915.

On the battlefield, mass slaughter was continuing without much tangible result. In the Champagne country, at Neuve-Chapelle, on the flat plain of the Woëvre, at Ypres, Festubert, Souchez, Arras, and Loos, senseless infantry attacks went on.

2 MILLION CASUALTIES

There were more than two million casualties in France that year, most of them Allied.

With the fighting stalemated on the Western Front and also getting nowhere in Russia, it is no wonder that men on both sides were trying to think of new ways to conduct the war.

In Germany and in England, the leaders' minds were turning toward the East. The Germans wanted to support their new allies, the Turks, by stirring up resistance in the Near East where they had long been financing a railroad to Baghdad.

The British also were planning action, in their case against Constantinople itself.

The narrow Dardanelles that led to the capital and heart of the still strong Turkish Empire was to be the next area of attack.

Says Moon Shot Cash Could End Pollution

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas says money being spent to put a man on the moon could be better spent erasing water pollution in the United States.

The costs for equipping the nation with adequate sewage disposal is about equal to that of sending a man to the moon in the Apollo project, Douglas told a group of 500 Rotary Club members Wednesday.

Call for 'Bama Job Equality

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — both races "to improve avenues standing. While this has been done successfully in many local communities; we suggest that consideration be given to the establishment of positive new vehicles for communications between the races throughout the state."

In a full page ad in today's edition of the Birmingham Post-Herald, the groups noted that Title VII of the civil rights law goes into effect shortly.

The title calls for "nondiscrimination in employment and will call for some adjustments," the groups said.

"While many of our employers have been in compliance with these provisions for some time, we call on business leaders all over the state to provide leadership in this matter," the ad said.

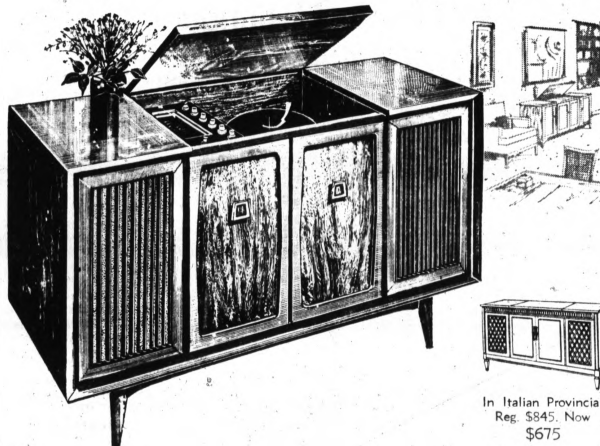

The groups urged leaders of

"We believe in obedience to the law, even though some may question the wisdom of particular laws," it was continued.

"Such a law is the recently enacted Civil Rights Act of 1964, which many of our citizens feel contains many unjust and improper provisions.

One of Biggest Auctions

130 Art Works Sell for $2.8 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — Works of many modern and impressionist painters, including the late Sir Winston Churchill, got a big boost at one of the biggest art auctions in recent years.

The 130 art works brought a total of $2,855,800.

The auction Wednesday night at the Parke-Bernet Galleries was two sales in a program with a black-tie benefit dinner at intermission.

More than 2,300 persons were there but the gallery could only accommodate about 900 in its main auction room.

MADISON AVENUE

The top price was $410,000 paid for Degas' "Repetition de rooms on other floors of the Madison Avenue gallery and could bid by closed-circuit television. Several hundred even "attended" in a college auditorium a block away.

A painting by the late British prime minister, "Canal Scene," about 20 by 24 inches, was bought for $26,000 by a representative of Joyce C. Hall, president of the Hallmark Foundation of Kansas City, Mo. It will be loaned for an exhibition of Churchill's paintings at the World's Fair here.

The top price was $410,000 paid for Degas' "Repetition de Ballet," which went to New York dealer Stephen Hahn.

Marc Chagall's "La Modone du Village," brought $82,500; $43,500 was paid for his "La Barque a Saint Jean." One Chagall went for $14,000. It was a watercolor and gouache 8 1/4 by 14 1/2 inches.

Other top prices were $74,000 for Vuillard's "Portrait de la Comtesse de Noailles"; $62,500 for Gauguin's "La Baigade devant le Port de Pont-Aven"; $52,000 for Matisse's "Gorges du Loup"; and $72,500 for his "Femme a L'Ombrelle Verte," and $45,000 for an abstraction in shades of green by Nicolas De Stael.

Other top prices were $74,000 for Vuillard's "Portrait de la Comtesse de Noailles"; $62,500 for Gauguin's "La Baigade devant le Port de Pont-Aven"; $52,000 for Matisse's "Gorges du Loup"; and $72,500 for his "Femme a L'Ombrelle Verte," and $45,000 for an abstraction in shades of green by Nicolas De Stael.

CRUSHED IN CAR — Two men, Ralph A. Chamberlain, 67, and Earl L. Johnson, 38, both of Kelso, Wash., were crushed to death in their car by a truck near Chehalis, Wash., Tuesday. The truck driver was not seriously hurt.

Junior Editors Quiz on TROMBONES

QUESTION: Since a trombone has no pistons, how can it produce different notes?

ANSWER: Long trumpets were used in ancient days, but they could only produce a few notes of the scale, in the manner of the modern bugle.

Then, in Roman times, it was realized that a longer tube would produce a lower note. Soon came the idea of fitting one tube over another so the tone could be varied by sliding the outside tube while playing it.

At first, these "drawing trumpets" or "sackbuts" were straight, but during the 1300's it was found that if the tube was bent twice it was much easier to handle.

So developed the trombone, the name coming from the Italian word "truba," or big trumpet. With his left hand, the trombone player holds the bend or crook which ends in the bell and is attached to the mouthpiece, this part not being movable.

With his right hand, the player moves the other bend or slide back and forth over the tubes of the left hand part, which extends inside the right hand one.

By changing the strength of his breath and his "lipping" and using the slide to change the length of the tube, the trombone player can produce all the notes. This is a rich, sonorous instrument, valuable both in orchestras and bands. It is often used in playing jazz music.

FOR YOU TO DO: Your school band or orchestra will probably have some trombones. Watch to see how the players work the slides, and listen for the particular quality of the tone—suggesting medieval heralds blowing for the opening of a tournament.

Note Increase in Bus Riders

Patronage on Pontiac Transit Corp. bus runs improved last month over that of February.

Company officials reported a total of 81,182 riders in March, up from February's 63,691 and 75,468 of March of a year ago.

Revenue in March climbed to $19,399, highest of the year so far. February's revenue totaled $14,997, while a year ago the March total was $16,635.

Both in terms of riders and revenue, March was the bus firm's best month of the year.

Compared to a year ago, the total number of passengers is down, 212,155 to 218,712, while the revenue is up, $51,303 to $48,625.

Jail Sentence in Car Death

A Waterford Township man was sentenced to 1 1/2 years in the state prison at Jackson for negligent homicide in a traffic death.

The sentence was ordered for Raymond C. Tick, 29, 5175 Cass-Elizabeth, by Circuit Judge Philip Pratt.

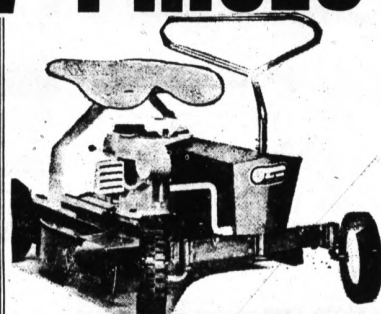

Tick pleaded guilty to the charge on March 19.

He had been accused of causing the death of Mrs. Ada Burder, 61, of 147 S. Tilden, when their cars collided Jan. 17, 1965, on M59 near Elizabeth Lake Road. Mrs. Burder was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, William.

Stranded Commuter Loses 'David-Goliath' Fight With Railroad

HICKSVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—David, the commuter, took aim at Goliath, the Long Island Rail Road, when it failed to get him home on time. But a judge ruled that David's slingshot missed its mark.

The commuter, David Latz, wasn't surprised. He said later: "I really didn't expect to win."

The Long Island, the nation's biggest commuter railroad, refers to Latz and others who use its New York City area trains each day as its "dashing Dons." But Latz, 51, of Massapequa, L. I., was anything but dashing last March 18 when the railroad's engineers staged a brief walkout.

Latz, a dinnerware firm representative, was stranded at the Jamaica, Queens, station for two hours when the trains stopped running. Finally, in disgust, Latz took a taxi home, a trip of more than 20 miles, after borrowing $5 toward the fare from a railroad executive.

The next day, still angry, Latz filed suit against the Long Island in Nassau County Small Claims Court. He sought $20 for cab fare, $3.50 for the driver's tip, $5 to eat dinner out and 50 cents to telephone his waiting wife and two children—a total of $30.

Wednesday, in Judge Alexander Vitale's court, Latz appeared without a lawyer. The Long Island brought its legal counsel.

REPRESENTED CONTRACT
Latz contended that his ticket represented a contract between him and the Long Island. The railroad, he said, was obliged to have provided him and other stranded commuters with alternate means of transportation home.

It didn't. But the Long Island's assistant supervising operator, W. S. Boerckel, loaned Latz $5 to take a cab to a car rental agency.

Latz, however, took the cab all the way home, where he paid the remainder of the fare. His total commuting time for the normally 54-minute trip was more than four hours.

Judge Vitale, a former Long Island commuter himself, announced his decision: Latz had failed to prove the railroad negligent. And since the burden of proof was his, Latz had no case.

Or, as the judge put it: "While I sympathize with the rage that filled his breast, as the events of March 18 deprived him of his rest,

"Upon all the evidence, the railroad was not remiss; therefore, his case I was compelled to dismiss."

Tigers' Demeter Wields Hot Bat in Early Race

Outfielder Hit Ball in Kaycee at 714 Clip

Twins, Detroit Sit Out Rainfall, Hope for Action Today

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — In 1901, the American League's first season, Nap Lajoie of Philadelphia won the batting championship with a .422 average.

That mark has survived 64 seasons as the all-time high for batting champions.

Don Demeter of the Detroit Tigers currently is hitting .714, but he honestly doesn't think he'll continue at that pace. He doesn't even feel that such a start will enable him to crack Lajoie's record.

QUICK START

But he does believe the quick start will help him improve upon the .256 average he fashioned last season during his debut with the Tigers.

"I'm seeing the ball pretty good," the 6-foot-4, 188-pound outfielder explained. "I think I'll have a good season."

Demeter collected five hits in seven at-bats in the two-game series at Kansas City that the Tigers swept with little trouble to grab the lead in the AL April League.

He also walked twice and was hit by a pitch once, thus getting on base eight of the 10 times he stepped to the plate.

But, like the rest of the Tigers, he was cooled off Wednesday here in Minnesota. A steady shower washed out the scheduled game between the Tigers and Minnesota Twins.

The game will be replayed June 27 as part of a Sunday doubleheader.

FLOOD CONDITIONS

The two clubs were scheduled to play again this afternoon, providing the rain had stopped and the flood conditions surrounding Metropolitan Stadium had subsided.

As for Demeter, he is the "hottest" thing among the "hot Tigers."

"The big difference this year is that I'm swinging at my pitch instead of the pitcher's pitch," he continued. "I know the pitchers in this league better than last year. Last year I was just like a man in the dark."

Demeter didn't make an error in the first two games to up his errorless-game string to 230—a major league record.

Dallas Trainer Quits

DALLAS (AP) — Clint Houey, trainer for the Dallas Cowboys professional football team, announced his resignation Wednesday.

FANS REACTION — An observer in downtown Milwaukee looks over a sign that reflects the sentiment of many baseball fans in the city over the Braves planned shift to Atlanta. The Braves are playing their home games this season in Milwaukee, but it's obvious from the sign that the Braves may get the treatment accorded the visiting team.

Red Wings Hope Not

Home Ice Success Over?

DETROIT (AP) — Montreal's cracking of the home ice domination that marked the Stanley Cup semifinal playoff series and scoring by players other than Bobby Hull may give the Chicago Black Hawks added confidence in their game with Detroit tonight.

The winner of the game will meet Montreal which eliminated defending Stanley Cup champion Toronto Tuesday, in the finals which start this weekend.

Until the Canadiens ousted the Maple Leafs in overtime at Toronto, a visiting team was unable to come up with a victory.

The Chicago-Detroit series has more or less followed the pattern set by the two teams through the regular season. Detroit won only one game on Chicago ice but held a 4-2-1 advantage at home.

HAVE ADVANTAGE

Detroit Manager Coach Sid Abel, expecting the home ice pattern to continue, says the Red Wings have the advantage.

While he didn't concede Chicago the three games in the Windy City, Abel had said he didn't care for his team's chances there, adding:

"I'd rather be playing the seventh game at home than in Chicago."

"I don't know exactly what it is. The crowd, I guess. Chicago seems to rise because of the crowd. I know we do in Detroit because of our fans."

One of Abel's tasks Wednesday was to check his team to determine which players were in the best condition to play. Even his reserves were banged up a bit in Chicago Tuesday. Abel hoped to have defenseman Doug Barkley, who suffered a concussion Sunday, back in action. He was scheduled to skate this morning and Abel said he would make a decision on him later.

Marcel Pronovost suffered a cut lip Tuesday but is expected to play. Warren Godfrey, another defenseman, injured an elbow and Bob Dillabough hurt a knee.

Abel has Pit Martin and Murray Hall, both of whom sat out Tuesday's game, in reserve. Larry Jeffrey, who missed the game Tuesday, was responding to treatment for a sore back and might be available.

The Red Wings returned to their playoff headquarters in Toledo, Ohio, Wednesday, while the Hawks flew to Detroit.

The Stanley Cup finals start Saturday in Montreal if Chicago wins and Sunday in Detroit if the Red Wings triumph.

Schedule Set for Cup Finals

Series Will Open This Weekend

DETROIT (AP) — The final series of the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs will open in Montreal Saturday or Detroit Sunday, depending on who wins the remaining semifinal.

Detroit's Red Wings and the Chicago Black Hawks conclude their semifinals tonight in Detroit.

If the Red Wings win, the first two games of the finals would be on their ice due to their first-place finish in the regular season. Should the Black Hawks win, the first two games would be at Montreal.

FOLLOWS FAMOUS FATHER — There's another Berra behind the plate. Son Larry, 15, made his debut for Montclair (N.J.) Academy this week in a 6-5 victory over College High while his father Yogi made his first National League appearance with the New York Mets. Larry rapped out a run-producing single, threw out a runner attempting to steal and fielded flawlessly.

Berra Catches Win---Yogi's Son in Debut

MONTCLAIR, N.J. (AP) — Larry Berra caught a flawless game, threw out a would-be base-stealer and rapped out one hit in three at-bats. No, the eminent Lawrence Peter (Yogi) Berra, coach of the New York Mets, isn't making a comeback just yet. This was his 15-year-old son Larry making his scholastic debut Tuesday and playing a key role in Montclair Academy's 6-5 victory over College High.

Young Larry, a personable boy with a winning smile, bears a striking resemblance to his father. He stands 5-foot-10, weighs about 170 and has Yogi's general facial features. "Looks just like Yogi," said a spectator as Larry, wearing black and orange shin guards and a dark blue chest protector, scooped a low pitch out of the dirt with his Camilo Carreon model mitt.

A right-handed batter, unlike his father, Larry struck out for the first time at bat with runners on second and third. An inning later, however, he slapped a 3-1 pitch left to drive in a run. On his final trip he grounded hard to third.

He's a pretty good ball player

Sleeping Astro's Fare Should Serve as Alarm

NEW YORK (UPI) — Outfielder Rusty Staub of the Houston Astros averted Tuesday, missed his plane to New York and wound up paying for his own ticket when he finally arrived early Wednesday morning for a game against the Mets.

Houston Manager Lum Harris informed Staub that his flight would cost the outfielder $113.55 — the price of the ticket — and the Astros management would not reimburse him. The Astros won the game 7-6.

KC's Finley to Tour With Friend Charlie

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City Athletics owner Charles O. Finley will take his mascot and namesake — Charlie O, the Missouri Mule — into every American League baseball city this season. Finley said Charlie O. will travel in his plush air conditioned, radio-equipped trailer.

"Of course," said the promotion-minded Athletics owner, "Charlie O. will stop only at stables approved by Duncan Hines and the Triple A."

Finley and Charlie O. will visit Detroit April 25, New York April 28, Chicago May 12, Minnesota May 23, Baltimore May 27, Boston May 29, Washington May 31 and Los Angeles on Sept. 5.

The mule was presented to Finley in opening day ceremonies Monday night by Gov. Warren Hearnes and the A's owner promptly rode the long-eared mascot around the bases at Municipal Stadium.

Boston Has Advantage; 76ers Reach Final Try

BOSTON (AP) — The entire season will be wrapped up in one game when the defending champion Boston Celtics meet the upset-minded Philadelphia 76ers in the seventh and final game of the National Basketball Association Eastern Division playoffs tonight at Boston Garden.

The winner will gain a berth in the championship playoffs against the Los Angeles Lakers who won the Western Division title, beating Baltimore four games to two.

Boston has been installed as an eight-point favorite to win in its home court, having beaten the 76ers 10 times at Boston, including three playoff games. The odds-makers have called the shot each time, picking the home team in the other six games.

Coach Dolph Schayes says his Philadelphia team will pull the upset because he's expecting a big effort from Wilt Chamberlain.

"I'm confident Wilt will come up with the big effort," he said. "Wilt can do anything he wants to do. He has a chance to make up six years of frustration at the hands of the Celtics."

"And a lot of the guys on our team — men like Larry Costello, Johnny Kerr, Hal Greer and Al Bianchi, plus myself — had our moments of frustration at the hands of the Celtics while we were in Syracuse."

Boston forward Tom Sanders believes the whole series depends on him and his efforts at stopping centerman Chet Walker.

Walker has been the key to the 76ers' victories so far, averaging 25 points a game in the three victories at Philadelphia but only 13 points in the three losses at Boston.

"Walker is killing me," said Sanders, who rates as one of the best defensive cornermen in the game due to his performances against such stars as Bob Pettit, Elgin Baylor and Jerry Lucas.

"I've got to do something about it. And I guess I have just one more try," Sanders said.

'Indy' Autos Beat Deadline

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Four more cars were entered for the 500-mile race at Indianapolis Wednesday, boosting the official entry list to 46.

A dozen more were expected before Thursday's midnight deadline, speedway officials said.

Veteran Chuck Stevenson of Newport Beach, Calif., and rookie Al Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., were named to drive two of the cars entered Wednesday. The other two were still open.

Stevenson will pilot the Vita Fresh Orange Juice Special entered by Gordon Van Liew of Houston, Tex., the same Offenhauser-powered roadster Johnny Boyd drove to fifth place last year.

Unser, younger brother of veteran Bobby Unser, will make his speedway debut in a rear-engine car powered by a Maserati V-8. The owner is Frank Arciero of Montebello, Calif.

Van Liew also entered a rear-engine car, powered by a super-charged Offie.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — New leaders reigned today in the regular doubles and all-events divisions of the 62nd annual American Bowling Congress tournament.

Tonight only one regular team and 79 booster teams will be in action.

Hank Raasch, 47, Minneapolis, competing in his fourth ABC, converted four major splits into spares as he moved into the all events lead with a 1,906 total. This replaced the 1-902 count by Perry Makris, Edison, N.J., on Monday.

In third place was Dick Gihbertson of Minneapolis with 1,889 and fourth was Ken McBride of Muskegon, Mich., with 1,876.

Raasch had a 696 series in his doubles Wednesday, his best total in 30 years of competition. He had 605 in the team competition and 607 in singles.

Sherwin Anderson with a 651 and Kirby Lawrence with a 612 combined their scores for a 1,263 total and first place in doubles, edging Harry Baldwin and Clair Killian of Spokane, Wash. by one pin.

Coed Net Star Finds Training Not for Her

MEMPHIS (AP) — Attractive Bonnie Dundeville said Wednesday she quit the Memphis State University tennis team because she couldn't stand up under the rigors of a training program devised for her male teammates.

Bonnie, a member of the team for two years, said that such things as running laps on the track with other team members was especially tough "with half the football team watching and howling."

She also doesn't cotton to deep knee bends, prescribed in the tennis team's training program.

"I've got weak knees," she said, adding that she'd won a lot of matches in the past over male opponents without benefit of knee bends.

Bonnie, state women's tennis champion, said the coaches told her this year that if she didn't follow the same training program as the boys, it would hurt the team's morale.

"I'm sorry," she said. "I'd like to keep on playing for the team if there was a more agreeable way to train—but women just aren't made to train like men."

If you think you're seeing more and more Plymouth Furys on the road, you're right.

This is the hottest-selling Fury in history.

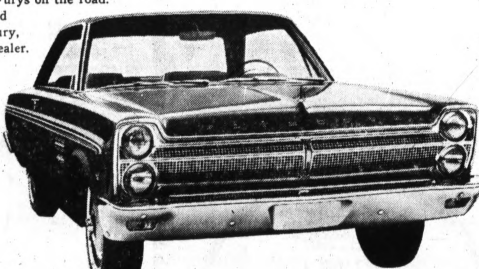

Here's why:

Fury for '65 is the biggest, plushiest Plymouth ever... but still solidly in the low-price class.

Big on the outside, its wheelbase is a whopping 119 inches.

Big on the inside, plenty of headroom, legroom and hiproom. And new curved-glass side windows add to Fury's contemporary styling. The plush part is the beautiful interior. There's rich upholstery to compliment the exterior finish, wall-to-wall nylon carpeting and a smart, readable instrument panel. No wonder you're seeing more and more Plymouth Furys on the road.

If you want more good reasons for buying Fury, see your Plymouth Dealer. He drives one too.

Yankees' Trouble Has a Familiar 'Sound'

By The Associated Press
Cardinal or Cardinal. Either way it seems to spell trouble for the New York Yankees.

The Yankees, who had trouble with 25 Cardinals from St. Louis last October, ran into considerable difficulty with one Cardinal from Los Angeles Wednesday night as they lost to the Angels 4-3.

The new Cardinal pestering the Yankees is Jose Domerc Cardenal, a 21-year-old outfielder who weighed in at 160 pounds before the game and with four hits — a homer, double and two singles — during the game.

SPOTLIGHT

Stealing the spotlight from the expected duel between Dean Chance, the Angel's Cy Young Award winner, and ace left-hander Whitey Ford of the Yankees, Cardenal connected for the first major league homer as the leadoff hitter and later started the Angels winning rally.

By that time both Chance and Ford had left.

Chance lasted a little longer, going six innings before he was lifted for a pinch hitter after allowing five hits and two runs.

Avondale 9 Again Beaten by Late Run

Another one-run, last-inning defeat has stung the Yellowjackets.

Utica broke up a pitcher's duel with a seventh-inning rally to defeat Avondale 1-0, yesterday. The latter was beaten by Troy Tuesday, 3-2, in the final frame.

Gary Rojeski singled in Alex Gingilowski with the only run as Utica squared its mark at 1-1.

Mark Modich's hurling and three runs batted in on a triple and two singles paced Hamtramck past Cranbrook, 7-1. Doubles by Bill Price and Dave Campbell led to the Cranes' run.

A bases-loaded triple by Dick Miele and Dale Manning's hurling sparked Kettering's 10-3 verdict over Milford; but Waterford lost 3-0 to Southfield's Bill Hayes who yielded only a leadoff single in the seventh. — Romeo tripped Rochester, 6-4, behind Mike Simunic and Mike Meeker. Berkley managed one hit off Redford Union's Rick Fisher in a 5-1 loss, and Dick Bower fanned 10 as Hazel Park topped Warren Lincoln, 10-2.

while walking an unusually high five men. Ford, meanwhile, was touched for eight hits and two runs in 5 1-3 innings.

The two runs were the first the Yankees had scored off Chance in 25 innings.

While Chance's string of success against the Yankees was broken, Baltimore handed the Chicago White Sox their first loss in some 6 1/2 months. The White Sox won their last seven games of the 1964 season and won their 1965 opener before Milt Pappas shut them out 6-0 on six hits.

OTHER GAME

There was only one other game played in the American League, Washington whipping Boston 6-4 on Don Blasingame's key triple. The Cleveland at Kansas City and Detroit at Minnesota games were rained out.

Cardenal, a right-handed swinger with one hit in 29 previous major league games going into the season, collected two hits in the Angels' opener Tuesday and doubled his production again with a 4-for-5 performance against the Yankees.

With the Angels trailing 3-2 in the seventh, Cardenal singled off Hal Reniff to get the winning rally started. Another single, by Willie Smith, and Jim Fregosi's two-run double did the rest of the damage.

The two Yankees runs off Chance were provided by Tom Tresh, who smashed a homer following a fifth inning walk to Ford.

Pappas, who missed the opening day assignment because of a sore elbow, showed no effects as he kept the White Sox from putting more than one man on base in any inning.

He also scored the only run he needed by doubling in the third inning against Joe Horlen and coming around on a single by Paul Blair and Luis Aparicio's doubleplay grounder.

Blasingame's two-run triple, over the head of center fielder Lennie Green, capped a three-run outburst in the seventh inning that won it for the Senators against ace Red Sox reliever Dick Radatz.

Willie Kirkland's double and a single by Jim King tied it before Blasingame slammed his game-winner.

Two homers were hit, one each by the starting pitchers — Boston's Earl Wilson and Washington's Buster Narum.

3 New Leaders Emerge in Women's Keg Tourney

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The first light day on the schedule was today after completion of the first week of the 48th annual Woman's International Bowling Congress Tournament.

Three new leaders emerged Wednesday with Phyllis Hill of Lockwood, Calif., scoring the first 600 series in Division 1 singles. She posted a 604 to take the lead with games of 188-180-236.

In the Division 1 doubles, Paula Long of Vancouver, Wash., and Marty Filipini of Portland combined for 1147, a new top in that category.

Both the new leaders wiped out previous highs bowled by Wichita, Kan., bowler Nadine Oppiger. She had led the singles with 599 and teamed with Carol Brosius in the doubles for an 1138.

One other change in the singles brought red faces to tournament officials. Audrey Greenway of Oak Harbor, Wash., had bowled early in the tournament and posted a 568 series.

Her score, however, had been misplaced and when discovered Wednesday, was good enough for the top in Division 2 singles, 17 pins over a 551 by Sheila Hickey of Lakeview, Ore.

Only change in the team event bowling saw a Gualala, Calif., team, Holm Timber Industries, bowl its way into second place in Division 2 with a score of 2367.

Bowling today begins four hours later than during the first week, and only one squad of teams bowls tonight.

New Dodge Southpaw Impresses Pittsburgh

By The Associated Press

Claude Osteen went eight years without a victory and five years with a losing record in the National League.

Now in less than two hours, he's removed both blights.

His achievement, too, came at a time when the Los Angeles Dodgers needed an antidote for a serious arm ache they have developed this spring.

TWO HITTER

Osteen making his first appearance for the Dodgers since his acquisition from Washington last winter, pitched a two-hitter in Los Angeles' 3-1 triumph over Pittsburgh Wednesday night.

When the Dodgers obtained him in the seven-player deal that sent Frank Howard to the Senators, they hoped Osteen would be able to fill in for Johnny Podres if that southpaw failed to come back from a sore-armed 1964.

But now it appears Osteen may have to take over the left-handed load from Sandy Koufax and his arthritic elbow.

Osteen's return to the National League ends a four-year absence. In between he spent three seasons and part of a fourth compiling a losing record with Washington.

The 25-year-old lefty began his major league career with Cincinnati of the NL back in 1957. In 26 games with the Reds from then through 1961 he failed to pick up a victory. His only decision was a loss in 1960. His first victory was a sterling performance. Through 8-3 innings he allowed only one hit — Jim Pagliaroni's fifth-inning double off center fielder Dick Smith's glove.

After that hit Osteen retired 13 consecutive Pirates before Bob Bunting connected for his second homer of the season with two out in the ninth.

In other NL games, San Francisco downed Philadelphia 5-2, Chicago defeated St. Louis 7-3 and Houston nipped the New York Mets 7-6 in 11 innings.

Ron Santo, with home runs in the fourth and eighth, and George Altman, with one in the seventh, helped keep the world champion Cardinals winless this season. The Cubs' Dick Ellsworth scattered 10 hits for the victory.

Willie Mays hit his second homer in the last two games, a two-run blast off Jim Bunning in the third inning that started the Giants on their way.

Bunning departed in the next inning after Jose Pagan's double and Matty Alou's single scored another run. Wes Covington slammed a two-run homer for the Phillies.

Houston erupted for four runs in the 11th inning on two errors, three walks and two wild pitches by Larry Bearnarth, Ron Brand's bunt single and Al Spangler's steal of home.

Spahn Still A-OK, but Mets Tumble

NEW YORK (AP) — Warren Spahn returns to Milwaukee today to attend a reunion of the 1953 Braves. At County Stadium he is sure to run into Bobby Bragan, his former manager who said he was through.

"Are you going to tell him you still can pitch?" a fellow asked the 43-year-old left-hander Wednesday in the New York Mets clubhouse.

"I don't want to tell him. I want to show him," Spahn replied.

Spahn showed a few people Wednesday in his first start as a Met. He pitched no-hit ball for 4-2-3 innings and shut out Houston for six.

PINCH RUNNER

After doubling in the eighth, Spahn gave way to a pinch runner. The Mets tied it up but lost in 11 innings 7-6. Larry Bearnarth, third of four Met pitchers, was the loser. Spahn still was 0-0.

"I messed up the big inning myself," said Spahn, whose 336 victories are the most by any lefty in baseball history. "I was slow getting over to cover first on the ball Walt Bond hit to second base."

Actually Bond's hit was the second of five in the seventh inning when the Astros scored three and took a 3-2 lead.

A ground ball by Ron Brand that had hopped past shortstop Roy McMillan accounted for two big runs.

"Sometimes you get all wrapped up in what you are going to throw a hitter," said Spahn, explaining his tardy coverage. "Momentarily you don't see where the ball goes. Then you say 'Oh, I've got to get over there.' But you're too late."

In view of Spahn's dreary 6-13 record and 5.28 earned run average at Milwaukee last year, a man asked if he was satisfied.

"Satisfied?" he replied. "You want to win. Sure, if I could have held the 2-0 shutout I would have been real happy. But satisfied? I don't know."

Spahn had no complaints about being taken out for a runner. "I would say Casey has to try to tie it up," he reasoned. "I appreciate that he let me hit. Maybe I hit myself out of the game."

Stengel said later he would have let Spahn go the route if he hadn't had the chance to tie on the pitcher's double in the eighth.

"It was just another game," said Spahn. "I suppose the strangest thing will be when I pitch against the Braves. But you don't look down on your uniform to see whether it says Mets or Braves."

Upsets Feature AAU Wrestling

Greco-Roman Events End With 1 Repeater

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Open style competition was set to begin today in the current National AAU Wrestling Championships at San Francisco's Olympic Club, but fans were still buzzing about results in the upset-ridden Greco-Roman Wrestling Championships.

Russ Camilleri of the Olympic Club was the only national champion in the Greco-Roman competition who survived the matches and remained a champion, in the 171.5-pound division. Olympic Club, winner of the AAU wrestling team championship the past five years, showed continued strength and won the three-day Greco-Roman competition, which ended Wednesday night.

Open style wrestling, which runs Thursday through Saturday, is a separate competition from Greco-Roman style.

SPRING ARBOR (UPI) — Winning pitcher Don Roth doubled to drive home the winning run in the ninth inning Wednesday as Spring Arbor topped Hillsdale, 5-4.

'Dick Tracy' Aids Detroit Crime Fight

DETROIT (UPI) — The battle against crime has led Detroit to pull a chapter out of the exploits of Dick Tracy.

Mayor Jerome Cavanagh said yesterday he has ordered light radio transmitters and receivers to be carried by 400 police officers.

Although the radio transmitters won't be of the wrist type used by Dick Tracy and Sam Ketchum, they will streamline police enforcement in Detroit.

"The radio is a small set which a policeman attaches to his belt.

With it he can maintain constant contact with his precinct; a foot policeman, an officer away from his radio-equipped car . . . or any policeman within a two-mile area who is similarly equipped," Cavanagh said.

10-CAR UNIT

The mayor also called for a crack 10-car tactical mobile unit composed of 32 experienced policemen to roam the city.

They would be used anywhere in the city for specialized assignment and could be deployed in a coordinated manner.

Cavanagh made the proposals in a special message to the Common Council. He said cost of the program would be $20,000 a year.

New Trial Date Set in California Killing

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — The trial of wealthy Timothy Nicholson on charges he fatally shot his twin brother, Todd, has been rescheduled for May 3.

Superior Court Judge H. Burton Noble, who was scheduled to start hearing the trial yesterday, denied defense motions for bail, dismissal of the murder charge and a change of venue.

Nicholson, 22, pleaded innocent last Jan. 29 to a murder charge. He was arrested last Dec. 7 after Todd was found dead in his $400,000 apartment building in nearby Temple City.

Dome Is Rain Check Doom for Houston Diamond Fans

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I flew to Houston for the opening of the $31,000,000 Domet Stadium—and it's the domed ballpark you'll ever see.

WILSON

After shaking hands with LBJ and Lady Bird while they were having supper in Judge Roy Hofheinz' sumptuous two-story box and apartment in right field, I investigated a rumor that Hofheinz has his own sauna bath right there in his apartment.

But sure enough, it was right off his bathroom, which was right off a beautiful big blue bedroom with paintings.

"You've been talking very earnestly to LBJ all evening," I said to Hofheinz. "A friend of yours said, 'I'll bet he's trying to sell him something.'"

(Maybe the 1968 Democratic convention?) There's a rumor that Hofheinz has even a bigger project planned. Hofheinz puffed his cigar and said, "Could be."

Every one of those $3 wall-to-wall-carpeted Skydome $15,000-a-year "blue level" boxes on the 9th, or top, tier has a bar, powder room, closet, and—the final touch—a closed circuit television set on which you can see the ball game in case you don't want to walk six steps from the box and look at it from a seat.

The "boxes" are really lush little dining rooms with expensive decor and the box-holder is entitled to 30 seats for the game. You get hors d'oeuvres served by a guy in a gaudy gold uniform but you can also join one of five private drinking clubs.

Comedian Bill Dabs was shown around the stadium by Hofheinz and then said:

"Mr. Hofheinz, how many of these stadiums do you have?"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Playwright Joseph Hayes, whose Conn. home was destroyed by fire, had it almost completely rebuilt—and it burned down again. He'll rebuild again . . . Singer Bobby Rydell, now an Army pvt., will moonlight in a Phila. cafe for a couple of weekends . . . Ava Gardner dug the flamenco dancers with brother-in-law Larry Parr and Jilly Rizzo (Frank Sinatra's best pal) at the Chateau Marmont.

Hermione Gingold, a cigar fancier, got a handful of cheroots from Jimmy (Monsieur) Antunes as a bon voyage gift. Harry Belafonte and Sidney Poitier were at the village Gate together to hear Dizzy Gillespie . . . The producer of a TV show called his staff together for a "morale meeting" — they were threatening to quit because of the star.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Keeping house, sighs a woman, is like stringing beads on a string with no knot at the end.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: The Arkansas Baptist magazine makes this suggestion: "If thine enemy wrong thee, buy each of his children a drum."

EARL'S PEARLS: Television has its uses, claims Arnold Glasgow: "For instance, watching those westerns has improved my poker game."

This has been a sensational year for the Audubon Society. We have Lady Bird, Lindy Bird and now Early Bird. That's early, brother.

Vacation Is Work Time

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For tens of thousands of Southern California teen-agers, Easter week vacation is a time for frolic, a period of abandon to be spent at the beach, the mountains or the desert.

But there are some exceptions.

Twenty-eight boys and girls from the nearby Arcadia Presbyterian Church returned Wednesday from a week at the Gila Indian reservation in Arizona. Reflecting on what they called "the most spiritually uplifting experience of our lives," they told of painting and repairing buildings, erecting a wire fence around the grounds and clearing weeds from the churchyard.

A major project of the 16 boys was to remodel the Gila Crossing Presbyterian Church so it could be used as a church school. The 12 girls, among other things, conducted daily Bible classes for Pima Indian preschool youngsters.

OWN COOKING

The teen-agers did their own cooking and slept on the floors of church buildings.

Each day began with morning devotions at 6:30 and ended with vespers at 10:30 p.m.

The teen-agers contributed $40 of their own money toward expenses of the trip.

A similar idea drew more than 100 young persons to the unincorporated town of Watts at the southern edge of Los Angeles. This forlorn area is a cluster of rundown neighborhoods surrounded by industry.

AMATEUR SCULPTOR

It has but one distinction: It's the home of Simon Rodia's oddly picturesque towers. Rodia, an amateur sculptor, fashioned the towers over several decades from discarded objects of every description.

Litter is disappearing, yards are being landscaped and seven homes in one block are being painted — all free of charge by the teen-agers.

Meanwhile, resort communities are jammed with other teen-agers.

One of the most popular is Balboa, on Newport Bay, where light-hearted high school students have gathered annually for decades in observance of "Bal Week."

U.S. Booming in Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. production of goods and services made its biggest jump in more than three years during the first quarter of 1965, according to the Commerce Department.

The big gain was all the more beneficial to the economy because prices during the period rose "only moderately," a department report said.

The gross national product (GNP) rose to an annual rate of $49.9 billion, $14.5 billion above the fourth quarter of 1964. A booming auto output was a big factor.

GNP is the most widely used measure of national economic strength. It is the over-all total of what consumers spend for goods and services like refrigerators and permanent waves, what businessmen spend for new equipment, and what the government spends for the goods and services it needs.

Consumers provided the lion's share of the first-quarter advance, increasing their purchases at a rate of $11.7 billion. Record-setting auto sales were a big factor as the industry bounced back from last fall's strikes.

All other consumer lines showed "significant increases," the department said in the report released yesterday.

'Pill' Sparks Clash in House of Lords

LONDON (AP) — Two Labor peacemakers crossed swords in the House of Lords Wednesday night over "the pill."

Baroness Summerskill called for an immediate ban on contraceptive pills. Baroness Gaiskell disagreed.

Lady Summerskill, a 64-year-old physician and former minister of national insurance, told Parliament's upper house the pills could have dangerous side effects.

"There are many harmless, well-tried methods of contraception on the market affording a high degree of protection," said Lady Summerskill.

URGES HALT

"Surely the time has come to call a halt to the distribution of these drugs, which are highly suspect, until the Dunlop committee issues a report."

The Dunlop committee was set up to investigate drugs after the thalidomide scare.

Baroness Gaiskell, widow of Labor party leader Hugh Gaiskell, told the lords she disagreed fundamentally with Lady Summerskill.

"Although there may have been cases of thrombosis," she said, "it is not at all clear that these are due to taking the pill."

THE RISKS

"The risks of the pill must be put against the risks of excessive childbirth."

Lord Taylor, another physician and the government's spokesman on health matters in the House of Lords, said any drug might carry risks.

He added that every physician in Britain has been asked to report any condition that might be associated with contraceptive pills.

The baronesses are life peeresses whose titles were awarded for their achievements and become extinct on their deaths. Lady Summerskill has a son, a daughter and a grandchild. Lady Gaiskell, who is in her late 50s, has two daughters.

School Board OKs $12.1 Million Budget

The Pontiac Board of Education last night adopted a $12.1-million operating budget for 1965-66.

Witness Offers Noise Analogy

A witness in the Sam Allen & Son Scrapyard trial testified yesterday that a metal crushing machine used in the operation sounded like "waves driven against rocks by 100 mile an hour winds."

The description was given by Perry Glass, 32 Bagley, one of 15 plaintiffs who joined with the city of Pontiac in legal action against Allen. They are seeking a permanent injunction against the operation, claiming it is a nuisance.

Glass, under cross-examination by Allen's attorney, L. Harvey Lodge, said he was able to make the comparison because he had experienced it when he was stationed on the island of Attu in the Aleutians during World War II.

A resident in the area of the junkyard since 1966, Glass also traced the development of Allen's property at 22 Congress and the history and character of the surrounding neighborhood.

His testimony was completed yesterday.

230 Planes Hit Cong Target

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (P)—An armada of 230 U.S. and South Vietnamese planes bombed a Communist stronghold near the Cambodian border "from dawn to dusk" today in the biggest air raid of the Viet Nam war.

U.S. Army, Air Force and Marine aircraft based in Viet Nam were joined by Navy planes from the carriers Coral Sea and Midway and Skyraider fighter-bombers of the South Vietnamese air force.

Seek Peace in Water Fight

Officials of north Oakland County communities last night were shown the other side of the controversy over their water resources.

An appeal for cooperation between Oakland and Genesee county municipalities momentarily replaced the campaign being conducted to halt the plans of the Genesee Valley Utilities Authority.

The organization's plans were aired at a meeting called by the Independence Township Board for clarification of the issue.

The authority, composed of 11 townships which surround Flint, has applied for a $321,000 federal loan to investigate the feasibility of establishing its own water system.

Some $50,000 of the loan would be used to explore potential sources in 10 north Oakland County townships as well as five in Genesee County.

The North Oakland Water Association was formed last fall to block the plans.

Centered in the Holly-Springfield Township area, the opposition group has sought the support of neighboring units to keep Oakland County water in Oakland County.

However, the Genesee group claims there's more than enough water there for everyone.

The Oakland officials were invited to join the authority to get in on the initial stages of development.

A fee of $50 per representative is charged for membership. Other than that, there would be no cost to the individual unit until the water system was needed in that community.

Those attending the session said they would take the idea back to their respective governing bodies.

Meanwhile, the North Oakland Water Association is urging the 10 townships to pass ordinances preventing the removal of underground water from the area.

A heavy military guard ringed the field.

Mississippi River Nearing Record Crest in Minnesota

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The ice-laden Mississippi River boiled muddily toward a record crest today and in a move to minimize damage guards went on "round-the-clock duty on bridges spanning the river in the Twin Cities.

President Johnson toured the St. Paul flood area yesterday at midday during a flying trip to the Midwest's tornado and flood devastated states.

NOT DANGEROUS
The Mississippi, through most of Minnesota, was at a level of 21 feet, not considered dangerous for most of the city. However, about 100 acres of industrial plants in the northeast section of the city were expected to be flooded with up to four feet of water by this weekend.

St. Paul's downtown airport, the railroad freight yards and hundreds of homes south and east of the city were under six feet of water.

More than 11,000 Minnesotans have been forced from their homes so far in the 10 days of flooding on more than a dozen rivers in the state.

Gov. Karl Rolvaag said yesterday damage to private and public property in Minnesota totals $23 million.

Area General Motors plants will close tomorrow for Good Friday, but many stores and businesses will remain open.

Pontiac City Hall and the Oakland County Courthouse will close from noon until 3 p.m., but the Waterford Township offices will remain closed all afternoon.

-Banks and savings and loan associations will remain open for normal Friday hours, but some of their drive-in facilities will be closed during the 12-3 p.m. church services.

Consumers Power will be closed from 12 to 3. Detroit Edison will remain open and Michigan Bell will be closed all day.

Forty was the lowest mercury reading preceding 8 a.m. By 1 p.m. it was 47 in downtown Pontiac.

Partly cloudy skies and cooler temperatures will escort weather-shippers to Good Friday services tomorrow. The high expected is from 42 to 48.

Tonight will have a low of 38 to 44, says the weatherman. Today's rain will end during the evening.

Saturday the sun will shine in the area. However, temperatures will remain on the cool side.

Today in Pontiac winds are from the southeast at 15 to 25 miles an hour.

Ten Counties in State Due to Get U. S. Aid

Proclamation Is Made Following Survey of Tornadoes' Damage

By The Associated Press
President Lyndon Johnson proclaimed 10 devastated Michigan counties as major disaster areas yesterday following an aerial survey of the state's tornado ravaged areas.

The counties are Allegan, Bay, Branch, Clinton, Ottawa, Lenawee, Kent, Hillsdale, Montcalm and Monroe.

The proclamation, stemming from a request from Gov. George Romney means federal aid funds will be allocated to the damaged areas.

The amount of the aid has not been determined, pending results of damage surveys.

Indiana and Ohio were also declared major disaster areas by the President following his tour of stricken Midwest states.

See Stories, Pages C-7, C-12

The next step for Michigan is to feed information to the Office of Emergency Planning so it will know what kind of aid to send to the state," said State Controller Glenn S. Allen Jr. Aid will be allocated primarily for cleaning up debris and wreckage. Health and sanitation protection, emergency repairs to streets, bridges, drainage facilities, public buildings, and construction of temporary shelters also will be paid for with federal funds.

The inspection tour took Johnson over Grand Rapids, Coldwater, Hillsdale and Adrian.

"We've got a lot of trouble there," the President said.

LI. Gov. William Milliken accompanied Johnson on part of the trip and said the President "seemed genuinely upset and concerned about the devastation."

"TERRIBLE"
Milliken said Johnson called it a "terrible, incredible thing."

After flying over the Manistowic and Coldwater areas the LI. Gov. said "I've never seen anything inside nor outside a war—even Berlin—that was such complete destruction. I've seen other storms, hurricanes and bomb-odd areas but nothing to compare with this."

Early Followers of Jesus Were Firm Believers

EDITOR'S NOTE — After the Crucifixion, believers in Christ became an outlaw sect. Following is the fourth part of a five-part Easter series about that period, dealing with one of the many early trials of the Apostles.)

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press
Religion Writer

An unlearned species, these Nazarenes.

Rabban Gamaliel eyed them perplexedly. They had brazenly flouted a state edict.

Yet for all his feelings, he could not come to any clear judgment about them.

Their conduct mystified him. Their hymns, their "holy kisses," their having of goods, the much-making over a common goal of wine, their constant smiles and indiscriminate attachment for one another all seemed harmless enough.

Yet their 12 leaders, arrested and arraigned before the council for the third time of late, were unquestionably lawbreakers. And the dominant clique of the Sanhedrin, in league with Rome, had decided in advance that they must die.

A lofty-minded teacher, Gamaliel was master of the famed school of Hillel, and the first of the great rabbis to be honored with the title, "rabban," an arch-scholar. But his status had waned in the Rome-dominated statecraft.

LITTLE HOPE
He saw little hope for these culprits. Not that he held any brief for their bizarre "good news," equating God's awaited ruler with a crucified victim. But he preferred to let their claim fail of its own baseness.

He sat in silence, his sagarious old eyes wearily disenchanted, as the summary hearing went on. Caiaphas, the high priest, fumed at the prisoners:

"We strictly charged you not to teach in this name. Yet here you have filled Jerusalem with your teaching, and you intend to bring the man's blood upon us."

Twice before, since crucifixion of their Galilean instructor, they had been jailed and warned "not to speak or teach at all in the name of Jesus." Once they had escaped, apparently through collusion of cell guards.

PERSISTENCE
And they persisted in their insubordination with unmitigated zeal.

They would not be let off lightly a third time. Lined up before the semicircular balustrade in the stone court chamber, the 12 exchanged stubborn looks and their ring-leader, Peter, spoke in his mariner's growl:

"We must obey God, rather than men."

It was sheer insolence. Gamaliel sighed resignedly as indignant exclamations broke out among the lawyers and ruling Sadducees. Caiaphas purpled as lividly as his long embroiled (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

LBJ Reaffirms Berlin Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor Willy Brandt of Berlin has expressed pleasure with President Johnson's reaffirmation of U.S. support for the "rights and freedom of the people of Berlin."

"I am happy to know that the President is very close to our own thoughts, wishes and desires, and to our justified aims," Brandt said after a 25-minute meeting with Johnson at the White House last night.

The West Berlin mayor winds up his three-day visit to Washington today with a news conference. Earlier he meets with AFL-CIO President George Meany.

"The President reaffirmed the determination of the United States to defend the rights and the freedom of the people of Berlin and to continue to seek a just and lasting solution of the unresolved German problem," White House sources said after the Johnson-Brandt meeting.

'BELONGS IN BERLIN'

He said the Bundestag (Parliament) "belongs there and will be there as soon as Berlin is again the capital of Germany... and that day will come."

Earlier, Brandt met for 75 minutes with Secretary of State Dean Rusk. He said Rusk agreed with him that "what Germany needs is an initiative with substance, not just a repetition of principles."

Says Boston Judge

'Beware of Lady Witness'

BOSTON (AP) — "Beware of the woman witness," writes a Boston judge in the Massachusetts Law Quarterly. Municipal Court Judge Daniel J. Gillen insists that women are responsible for rapid aging of trial lawyers.

"A woman," he says, "must tell it her way."

"She does not care what the other witnesses say, she is right. She means to tell the truth, but she is so wedded to her side that her enthusiasm and loyalty will not permit her to admit she is mistaken."

Bully a woman in court, says the judge, and she will resort to crocodile tears.

But Gillen says he is not arguing that men are better. "A man," he writes, "exhibits a keen desire to get out of the building as soon as possible and back to business. He is bored by it all."

Gillen is a bachelor.

Congress Probes Poverty Programs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — War on Poverty programs in the nation's capital and in New York, its largest city, today come under the scrutiny of congressional investigators.

A special House education and labor subcommittee considering President Johnson's request for antipoverty spending authority of $1.5 billion in 1965-66 called officials from Washington and New York for testimony.

Today's hearing was to be the last until after the congressional Easter recess, when the subcommittee scheduled another round of testimony before turning to actual bill drafting.

Washington, whose citizens have no voting voice in their own government, was to be represented by James Banks, director of the communitywide United Planning Organization.

New York's spokesmen were to be Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Deputy Mayor Paul Scervane, the man Wagner has tapped to coordinate antipoverty activities in the city.

WILL TESTIFY

In addition, Livingston Wingate, head of the Haryou-Act program in Harlem and a former aide of subcommittee chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., was on the witness list.

Washington's "umbrella" type antipoverty program and the independently operated New York City programs represent the opposite approaches to urban antipoverty planning. These two concepts have occupied the committee's attention this week.

Powell has said he favors "a balanced proportion" between the two types of programs. He put forward the argument that "direct grants to independent groups would sharply reduce political influence."

Politics in the antipoverty program has taken up much of the subcommittee's time this week.

The panel has heard complaints from groups in Cleveland and Chicago that city political machines have seized the reins and bent the program to their own ends.

The Rev. Paul Younger, a youthful Baptist minister working among poor people in Cleveland, put it this way:

"The problem is having to go through the powers-that-be. They are interested in keeping the status quo... and afraid that creation of a new power force, the poor, would upset the existing power centers."

This was not a unanimous view, however. Spokesmen for official antipoverty agencies in Atlanta, Ga., the state of California and Chicago itself said the "umbrella" approach was working well.

Younger said that in Cleveland, the original 22-member antipoverty committee comprised 15 persons from the suburbs and seven representing public agencies.

He said only one member lived in a poverty neighborhood, and that was an all-white area. When protests were made, he added, but still there was no representation from the poor Negro neighborhoods.

Editors Hear Hubert Predict a 'Do Plenty' Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told 450 editors today that the present Congress "will do more for the lasting long-term health of this nation" than any Congress since 1933.

COLOR SLIDES

U.S. and foreign countries, exclusive White House views, Disneyland, special World's Fair offer. Choice of 18,000 Panavision 35mm slides (fits all projectors-slideshows). Send 25c for catalog and sample slide. Camera Shop, 127 E. Front, Traverse City, Mich.

In an address prepared for the first day of the three-day annual convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, Humphrey recalled the famed "100 days" of Congress after Franklin D. Roosevelt took office in 1933.

Whereas that Congress strove against the looming disaster of the great depression, he said, the present Congress is inspired by a national consensus which demands that "every citizen of America has equal opportunity to make a better life for himself and his children."

It is the national consensus also, Humphrey said, that the nation make "whatever investment is necessary to realize our American dream."

"That investment will be great," the vice president said. "But it will be less than the cost of illiteracy, of school dropouts, of poverty, of discrimination, of dilapidation and bitterness, of isolation in the world. Far less."

"We must make the investment necessary so that all in our society may be productive," Humphrey ticked off a long list of measures which he said will go into the law books this session in addition to the aid to education measure which, in itself, he said, is an accomplishment that might satisfy an ordinary Congress.

HEALTH CARE
The measures still to be enacted, he said, include health care for the elderly, voting rights, aid to higher education, housing, immigration, excise tax reduction, highway beautification, air and water pollution controls, outdoor recreation, manpower retraining, firearms control, foreign aid and the omnibus farm bill.

Earlier, the ASNE Freedom of Information Committee charged that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and his information chief "continue to confuse the Defense Department's public information policy with the public relations program of the Ford Motor Co." McNamara is a former Ford executive.

"It has not been an encouraging year for freedom of information," said the committee headed by Creed C. Black, managing editor of the Chicago Daily News.

Still on the books, the committee said, is a 1962 memorandum issued by McNamara and Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester, the department's information chief, requiring that a monitor be present at all Pentagon interviews. The rule apparently is not being vigorously enforced now, the committee said.

"Meanwhile, however, their 'one-voice' philosophy has been extended from the halls of the Pentagon to some military installations in Viet Nam," the report went on.

The committee said it shares the objections voiced by Wes Gallagher, general manager of the Associated Press. Its report quoted Gallagher:

"Barring correspondents from free access to air bases and other military installations and providing an 'escort' for every correspondent is clearly aimed not at security matters but at controlling what American fighting men say."

"Such control exceeds anything done in the darkest days of World War II."

The 450 editors were told that a recent incident illustrates "the extent to which the American people can be misled by a policy aimed at stifling dissent."

PLANE BUILDUP
One year ago, Black said, a Sylvester directive came to light ordering all three services to join in a "public affairs plan" to build up the controversial TFX fighter plane. He said Sylvester instructed the services to describe the TFX as meeting the fighter plane needs of the Air Force, the Marine Corps and the Navy's carrier force. Black added:

"But just this week it has developed, from heavily-censored testimony before Congress, that the plane is so far above its predicted weight that Navy spokesmen have strongly expressed new doubts that it will ever meet their needs."

"Presumably, Mr. Sylvester's order to tell the public that everything is coming up roses remains in effect."

The committee reported that "the federal bureaucracy is still opposing" bills introduced by Sen. Edward W. Long, D-Mo., and Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., to guarantee greater access to information about federal agencies.

"Again, we call on ASNE members to counter that opposition by interesting themselves — and their own senators and congressmen — in this effort to enact an open-records law at the federal level," the report said.

Its signers, besides Black, were Robert P. Clark, managing editor of the Louisville (Ky.) Times; Eugene Patterson, editor of the Atlanta Constitution; and Charles S. Rowe, editor of the Fredericksburg (Va.) Free Lance-Star.

THE OAKLAND COUNTY ROAD COMMISSION yesterday opened bids on seven road improvement projects and a site grading job. Bid totals ranged from a low of $330,839 to a high of $438,169.

Paul Van Roekel, highway engineer for the road commission, said the engineering department will recommend that contracts be awarded to the low bidders on each project, when the road commissioners meet Tuesday.

Bids were lower than estimated, according to Van Roekel. "The low bids were excellent," he said.

The major project is grading, graveling and blacktopping on 11 Mile between Orchard Lake Road and Inkster in Farmington Township. Bids ranged from $186,800 to $251,500, with the Sterling Garrett Co. the low bidder.

The same firm was low bidder for grading and graveling of Walnut Lake Road in West Bloomfield Township between Orchard Lake Road and Middle Belt. Bids ranged from $56,263 to $78,532.

Term Clarified for OCC Posts

Trustees of Oakland Community College won't have to seek reelection in June after all. The election had been tentatively scheduled when it was discovered earlier this year that the state's community college law had no provision specifying the term of office.

The State Senate, however, amending it to provide terms and schedules for future elections.

Under the amendment, at least two-year terms for college trustees are required. Since Oakland Community College's six trustees were elected last June, the next election won't be held until June, 1966.

1966 ELECTION
The 1966 election will be conducted by the College Board but will be held during the regular school elections the second Monday in June.

Other educational institutions that were affected by the legal loopholes are in Jackson, Ingham and Monroe counties.

Engine Room Blaze Fatal to Dixie Sailor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Navy enlisted man was killed Tuesday in an engine-room fire aboard the aircraft carrier Ranger in the South China Sea near Viet Nam, the Pentagon announced yesterday.

The man was identified as Fireman Apprentice Chester Staton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Staton of Rayville, La.

The number of professional nurses in the nation will have to be increased from the current 500,000 to 680,000 by 1970.

5 Egg Hunts Set

Easter Bunny Is Busy

The Easter Bunny is scheduled to put in yeoman service Saturday preparing for five Easter egg hunts in this area.

Youngsters will have an opportunity to look for the gaily colored ovals in four city parks and at the Waterford Township High School.

In the city, egg hunts are scheduled to be held at Beaudette, Oakland, Jaycee and Murphy Parks.

Nearly 650 prizes will be offered in addition to 3,000 chocolate eggs.

The Pontiac hunts begin at 1:30 p.m. and youngsters (pre-school through age 10) are urged to be at the park nearest their home no earlier than 1:20 p.m.

Sponsors of the city hunts are the Department of Parks and Recreation, Kiwanis Club of North Pontiac, Pontiac Optimist Club, Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce, Community Organizations of Pontiac, Pontiac Jay Club and the 19th Democratic Women's Club.

In Waterford Township the hunt is being sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

More than 3,000 brightly colored eggs will be hidden on the high school football field. Among them will be 50 golden eggs which, when found, entitle the possessor to a special prize.

Children, ages 3 to 10, are invited to attend the hunt, scheduled to begin at 1 p.m.

There are an estimated 2.5 million Americans of Swedish descent living in the United States.

Stewardess Is Lone Survivor

ST. HELIER, Jersey (AP) — A hospital built by the Germans during World War II was turned into a morgue today for 26 persons killed in the crash of a British airliner Wednesday night on the Isle of Jersey.

Only the French stewardess survived after the twin-engine DC3, trying to land in a fog, plunged into a potato field about 500 yards short of the St. Helier runway. The plane had taken off from Paris with 17 French and Italian hotel workers coming to the holiday island for Easter.

The stewardess was reported in fair condition. The British air ministry began an investigation.

The nation's coin-operated laundry industry, which started in 1948, has blossomed into a $500 million a year business.

Avon Twp. Man Is 'Satisfactory' After Hit by Car

An Avon Township man is in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after he was struck by a car yesterday on Avon Road in Avon Township.

Edward Brown, 76, 346 E. Avon, reportedly walked onto the road in front of a car driven by James Innes, 65, 3385 Longview, Avon Township. The accident occurred at 3:20 p.m., just east of Rochester Road.

County Road Commission Opens Bids on Area Jobs

The Oakland County Road Commission yesterday opened bids on seven road improvement projects and a site grading job. Bid totals ranged from a low of $330,839 to a high of $438,169.

Paul Van Roekel, highway engineer for the road commission, said the engineering department will recommend that contracts be awarded to the low bidders on each project, when the road commissioners meet Tuesday.

Bids were lower than estimated, according to Van Roekel. "The low bids were excellent," he said.

The major project is grading, graveling and blacktopping on 11 Mile between Orchard Lake Road and Inkster in Farmington Township. Bids ranged from $186,800 to $251,500, with the Sterling Garrett Co. the low bidder.

The same firm was low bidder for grading and graveling of Walnut Lake Road in West Bloomfield Township between Orchard Lake Road and Middle Belt. Bids ranged from $56,263 to $78,532.

Waterford Action Due on Garage

Waterford Township Board of Education members tonight are expected to decide a course of action on a school bus garage.

Alternatives are to continue using the present garage at 4584 Pontiac Lake, construct a new building on this site or buy an existing warehouse building just west of the site.

The present building has been called too small to serve the increasing fleet of buses.

Cost of a new building large enough to meet requirements would be about $70,000. The existing building, larger than the planned new building, would cost $45,000 but alteration work would boost the cost to almost $70,000.

The board's option to purchase the warehouse expires tomorrow.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business tonight, the board will consider the purchase of seven new school buses. Four will replace present buses and there will be added to accommodate non-public school children next fall.

Also slated for board attention is proposed construction of a combination press box and concession stand at Waterford Township High School.

A revised plan of the structure including added toilet facilities will be presented.

Also tonight, the board will hear a report on the school system's elementary school library program.

Teachers May Quit in Mass

Dispute Concerns Discipline Policies

LINCOLN PARK (UPI) — Teachers threatened to resign in mass next school year if the Lincoln Park School Board does not adopt a stronger policy toward supporting disciplinary action handed out by teachers to wayward students.

Robert Moreley, a teacher at the school, said a majority of the 125 faculty members are behind a move for tougher policies in handling students after 750 of them walked out of classes April 5 in a protest demonstration.

The teachers charged Principal Thomas Cuzzo gave in to parents when they objected to disciplinary action against the students.

Cuzzo planned to suspend them for two days and have them stay one-hour after school for each day of school they missed.

Some students were out more than one or two days. They also were permitted to make up tests they missed.

URGENT SUPPORT

The teachers plan to present petitions to the board calling for support of teachers' authority.

The students walked out of class on a series of complaints, including objections to cafeteria food and a smoking ban on school grounds.

Site Purchase Delayed

The Pontiac Board of Education last night voted to reconsider action taken March 31 concerning the proposal to purchase a two-acre site near Woodward and South Boulevard.

The question of the purchase was then tabled until further study could be given the matter by both the school administration and the Human Relations Advisory Committee (HRAC).

The action came after a series of protests from the HRAC, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and the Urban League.

These groups charged that by building a school on the site, the board would be furthering de facto segregation in the school system.

At the March 31 meeting the school board voted 5-2 to make a proposal to Charles Langs, owner of the land, to purchase two acres of land.

PLOT DEVELOPER

Langs is developing the plot, located east of Woodward and south of E. South Blvd. He plans to erect a 23-unit cooperative housing project.

At the time the school board voted to proceed in securing a site, it was the general feeling of the board that some provision had to be made for a school for children — possibly as many as 150 — generated by the project.

The administration felt existing schools were too far away. They also said that the route which would have to be taken would be hazardous — crossing E. South Boulevard and walking along Woodward.

WHITE OCCUPANTS

The white occupants were not certain that the existing schools could hold more students.

The protesting groups last night said that it was their belief that this housing project would be occupied by only white families and that this would add a segregated school to the system.

They said they based their belief on past experience with other housing projects in the area.

They also gave two other reasons for their protests.

First, they said the HRAC should have been consulted on the location of the school site.

LETTER CITED

In a letter to the board local NAACP chairman Charles Tucker Jr. said:

"... the School Board Administration has not acted in good faith in not bringing this project planning to the Pontiac School Board Human Relations Committee."

The HRAC was created by the school board several months ago to assist the school on matters concerning race relations within the city.

Finally, the protesting groups said that they did not feel it was proper for the board to spend $20,000 for a school site for projected needs, when there were existing needs in many schools in the district.

OVERCROWDED SCHOOLS

Tucker said his group could not understand how the Board could propose an expenditure for a school site while "... several of our schools are overcrowded and do not meet today's educational standards."

He said both were serious but individual problems and both should receive the appropriate action.

No time limit was set on studying the purchase matter. It is expected that the question will again come up in early May.

The 56-year-old actor won one of four open seats on the Santa Monica council in this week's municipal election, polling nearly half of the 16,109 votes cast.

Corey said he will use his monthly salary of $50 "on ads to let the people of Santa Monica know what the hell's going on."

"We used to live out of a suitcase," he said. "I played every state in the Union except Alaska. Then the motion picture came to California. Now we live in houses; we look out of windows."

However, board secretary Victor Sutti said that he found it difficult to correlate the site purchasing matter with conditions at other schools.

He said both were serious but individual problems and both should receive the appropriate action.

Welk Was Good Investment

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD—Just 15 years ago, Sam Lutz, manager of Lawrence Welk, paid a local television station $200 to put the Welk band on the air.

Now Lawrence Welk, who has missed but one Saturday night on television since, grosses $4 million a year.

That puts Welk up among the titans of show business.

"And everybody who associates with Welk makes money," says Lutz. "Myron Floren and his accordion gross better than $100,000 a year on personal appearances. The Lennon sisters average around $350,000. Welk is a Hollywood oil well."

It wasn't that easy 15 years ago.

LIBERACE TOO

Lutz, who also was behind the Liberace boom, first met Welk during World War II.

"I was a special service officer in Chicago and Lawrence was playing at the Aragon Ballroom. Everytime we put on a show for servicemen, Welk was the first to volunteer his band."

"I could see how popular he was in Chicago and the Midwest. After the war, I brought him out here and put him in another Aragon Ballroom at Santa Monica."

"The crowds came. Television, in those days, was just getting going good. I figured Lawrence a natural for it."

"But it was tough selling him. Big bands were passe and I couldn't get Klaus Landsberg, head of Channel 5, on the phone.

"It was the top outfit in those days. So I gave orders to my secretary to put in a call to Landsberg every 15 minutes."

CONNECTS

"Finally, one day he got on the phone. He finally said he would try Lawrence for one show provided we paid the musicians — about $200."

"The Welk band was only on the air 15 minutes before the KTLA switchboard started lighting up. Before the show was finished, Landsberg was ready to talk business."

"Soon, a car sponsor bought the show and for five years, sales boomed in the Los Angeles area. That's when the big boys in Detroit got interested. Soon the same sponsor wanted Lawrence on national television."

That was 10 years ago.

"He has only missed one Saturday night — the weekend of President Kennedy's assassination.

$4 MILLION

With his records, personal appearances and television and other enterprises, Welk grosses $4 million.

"It was the best $200 bet I ever made."

Modern jazz aficionados sometimes made fun of Welk's music.

But the public and the bankers love him.

After centuries of mining gold, the world today has little more than 40,000 tons of it.

Pattern Is Irregular

Blue Chips Keep Market Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Scattered blue chip leadership kept the stock market on the upside early today but the pattern was getting very irregular after a string of advances. Trading was fractional.

General Motors, pacemaker of the advance which has put market averages at historic highs in three days in a row, opened at 100 1/2 — its historic peak reached Wednesday — up 1/2 point from the previous closing price of 99 3/4 shares.

American Telephone gained 1/2 at 69 1/2 on 8,400 shares as it approached its high.

SIX STRAIGHT

Since the list has risen for six straight sessions, market analysts anticipated a pause, especially in view of Friday's market holiday in observance of Good Friday, making a long weekend.

Say Warnings Not Perfected

Some Ignore Forecast — Weather Expert

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—While agreeing that severe weather warning communications could be improved, two federal experts concluded Wednesday that some Palm Sunday tornado victims had paid no heed to advance forecasts.

Dr. Charles Wofford, deputy regional director for the U.S. Weather Bureau at Kansas City, and meteorologist Norman Prosser, said the bureau constantly sought to perfect its storm forecasting record.

Tends to Ignore Viet

Mart Responds to Steel

By SAM DAWSON

AP BUSINESS NEWS ANALYST
NEW YORK — Pittsburgh lies much closer to Wall Street these days than does Viet Nam — as a stock market influence as well as geographically.

Rumors about the progress, or lack of it, in the steel labor contract talks can send stock prices up or down, while traders taking the Southeast Asia fighting in stride.

A real war scare again in Viet Nam — or a real prospect of peace, for that matter — could affect the market quickly. But traders apparently are ignoring the day-to-day news, whether it be of American air raids or of Communist threats.

The steel talks, however, are another matter. Much hangs on the talks under the aegis of the steel industry.

Indications were that new radar weather scanner sites would be considered.

PAIR MEET

The two met with weather bureau personnel here and in Muskegon where weather radar equipment went dead for some 30 minutes Sunday while tornadoes churned through Kent and Allegan Counties, killing six persons and leaving damage of more than $10 million.

The area had been under threat of severe weather but a tornado forecast—conditions in which a twister could occur.

The evaluating team explained that the meteorologist on duty at Kansas City issued the forecast at the same time the funnels were working their destruction here.

They said the log showed that the forecast "went out at 7 p.m. yesterday."

Prosser explained that the Kansas City staff had correctly plotted and forecast 35 of the 37 tornadoes that swept the Midwest.

ISSUED FORECAST

Fred A. Baughman, chief meteorologist here, said his station had issued an urgent severe weather forecast at 5:25 p.m. and notified civil defense and law enforcement agencies.

Prosser believed that this improved communications at the vital period when the unexpected twister struck.

Prosser agreed that the Muskegon radar station is a cover, or supplemental, station.

Prosser said the Muskegon radar station may be eliminated when a planned new weather radar network to cover the country is financially possible.

Placement of the new network would be based on population density, he said.

No Mart Friday

The Press will not carry the market page tomorrow due to the closing on the stock exchanges on Good Friday.

The regular record of the week's market transactions will be carried as usual on Saturday.

College Foundation to Meet on April 29

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Approximately 300 business, industry and education leaders are expected to take part here April 29 at the 15th anniversary dinner of the Michigan College Foundation.

The organization is comprised of 15 private liberal arts colleges which cooperate in a joint approach to the fields of business and industry for financial support.

I'm certain that if you wish to handle your own shares, a simple letter or phone call to your broker will bring them to you within a relatively short time.

As regards safety — in my opinion, your shares are quite secure with any member firm of the New York Stock Exchange.

benefits settlement with the United Steelworkers of America, could influence either the prices of many goods containing steel, or of the profits of the companies making them.

Most closely watched of all, perhaps, is the possibility that a steel settlement, following the hefty union gains in the auto industry, could start another wage-price spiral throughout the economy.

STOCK PRICES HIGHER

Expectation of an extension of the May 1 strike deadline was enough to send stock prices higher Tuesday, and to push the Dow-Jones industrial index to a record high.

Wall Street has tended all along to bet that somehow or other a strike would be averted, but only if the talks came to a halt.

The odds from day to day are reflected quickly in what happens to the prices of steel stocks.

The talks are in Pittsburgh. But often the odds from day to day are reflected quickly in what happens in the stock market.

GM's 56 Top Executives Paid $13 Million in 1964

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. paid its 56 top executives a total of $13 million in salaries and bonuses last year, up $400,000 from 1963.

The company said Wednesday both Chairman Frederic C. Donner and President John F. Gordon took small cuts, but each still made more than three-quarters of a million dollars.

The figures were disclosed in the company's report to stockholders soliciting proxies for the 1965 annual meeting May 21 in Detroit.

It will be the first time GM has held its stockholders meeting in Detroit. The company is incorporated in Delaware.

TOTAL OF $865,322

Donner received a total of $865,322 in salary and bonuses, down $922 from his 1963 total pay of $866,244.

Gordon's total income was $740,000, down $600 from his 1963 figure of $740,000. He got $180,000 in salaries and fees and $560,000 in bonuses.

—James E. Goodman, executive vice president, $645,400 total income, including $160,400 in salaries and fees and $485,000 in bonuses. Goodman's 1963 total income was $646,000.

JAMES GOODMAN

—James E. Goodman, executive vice president, $645,400 total income, including $160,400 in salaries and fees, $363,750 in cash bonuses and $121,650 in contingent stock credits.

—Edward N. Cole, group vice president, $617,826; including $147,900 in salaries and fees, $332,500 in bonuses and $137,426 in contingent stock credits.

—Louis C. Goetz, executive vice president, $597,742, consisting of $137,800 in salaries and fees, $345,000 in cash bonuses and $114,942 in contingent stock credits. Roche's 2011 1963 earnings were $611,535.

—George Russell, executive vice president, $597,742, with $137,800 in salaries and fees, $345,000 in cash bonuses and $114,942 in contingent stock credits.

THIRD OPTION

The third option is a new, elegant interior decor group.

Both the interior decor, and the sports GT equipment group are available on a full five-year warranty — a full five-year warranty — a full five-year warranty.

One is a four-barrel version rated at 225 horsepower; the other a high performance engine sporting low-restriction intake and exhaust system, solid valve lifters, high compression and hot cam and delivers 271 horsepower.

Other GT features include two new rally-type fog lamps inset into the grill, racing stripes located above the rocker panels, a full five-year warranty — a full five-year warranty.

The new front end option comes with an armrest which folds down to give the owner the feel of bucket seats.
