

Yanks May Be Tried as War Criminals

QUESTIONS TIME AND PLACE — Gov. George Romney told newsmen at Los Angeles yesterday he is not sure the timing and place are right for a showdown with communists. He spoke at the hotel where the annual U. S. Governors' Conference is in session. Democratic governors are attempting to commit the conference to support of the Johnson administration's "global commitments and the policy presently being followed by them."

TOKYO (AP) — Hanoi Radio indicated today that American airmen captured by the North Vietnamese may be put on trial as war criminals.

Describing the parading of a group of the American prisoners through the crowded streets of Hanoi yesterday, the North Vietnamese broadcast said the people of Hanoi "knew that the government would represent them all to try and punish the pirates in proportion to their crimes."

The broadcast said the Americans were "handcuffed in pairs and marched under armed escort." It said the crowds of Hanoi residents constituted "a form of street tribunal to try the peace-disturber child-killers."

Related Story, Page A-2

en, but the broadcast said they included:

Lt. Col. Robinson Risner, 41, captured last Sept. 16; U. S. Navy Cmdr. James Bond Stockdale, 42, captured Sept. 8; Capt. Kyle Dag Berg, captured last July 27; Lt. (j.g.) Gerald Leonard Coffey, captured Feb. 3, 1965; Lt. Everett Alvarez Jr., San Jose, Calif., captured Aug. 5, 1964; and Lt. Cmdr. Robert Shumaker, 33, New Wilmington, Pa., captured Feb. 11, 1965.

Hanoi said the pilots were "dressed in their war criminals' olive khaki pajamas, wearing Thai rubber sandals. They walked docilely, dropping their heads in the face of the menacing fists and the formidable screams of a human sea."

An earlier report said they were taken to a place of interrogation.

The broadcast said those paraded "were only a small part of the number of air pilots captured in North Viet Nam whose crimes are engraved in the heart of every Vietnamese."

A Pentagon spokesman in Washington said records there showed there are 37 U. S. prisoners in North Viet Nam, including 21 from the Air Force, 14 Army men and 2 Marines.

NO TRIALS REPORTED

North Viet Nam has repeatedly threatened to try captured American airmen as war criminals but has never reported any actual trials.

North Vietnamese radio boasted "that all the 7th Fleet carriers, all the air bases in South Viet Nam and Thailand under the U.S. in its war against North Viet Nam have their 'representatives' in the prisons of the Democratic People's Republic of North Viet Nam."

Describing the parade, Hanoi Radio said:

"The armed forces escorting the criminals and the security forces had to use both words and muscles to contain the anger of the masses."

"Many of them, including old men and women, pushed their way through the crowds and got close to the air pirates but simply raised their fists and shouted."

Governors Skirt Viet Nam Issue

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Most of the nation's governors lined up today behind a bipartisan election-year declaration of support for U.S. "global commitments" with only a glancing reference to the war in Viet Nam.

The compromise foreign policy resolution was due to go to a vote at the National Governors' Conference late today. More strongly worded language drafted and approved by the Democratic governors was diluted in negotiations with Republican governors to win approval of the GOP minority.

Despite the changes, Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon said it was doubtful he could support the resolution.

Another Republican, Gov. George Romney of Michigan, withheld comment after reportedly making clear his belief that the war in Viet Nam did not belong on the agenda of the governors' conference.

Of Viet Nam, the compromise said only that the governors, Congress and the public should affirm their support of service men stationed there and in other areas abroad.

It concluded by declaring "resolute support of our global commitments."

The original Democratic version contained a phrase affirming support for policies now being followed. That phrase was dropped as a result of the negotiations with Republicans.

Hoffa Awaits His Reelection

Gathers His Strength in Struggle for Power

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — James R. Hoffa, Teamsters union president, gathers all possible remaining strings of power into his hands today before certain reelection to a five-year term he might have to finish in prison.

Then, Teamsters insiders say, begins the waiting game to see who emerges in the power struggle certain to follow if Hoffa loses his jury-tampering and mail-fraud appeals.

Leading candidates are Frank F. Fitzsimmons, whom Hoffa has handicapped to succeed him; Harold Gibbons, Hoffa's former chief aide until a bitter personal break; and Elmer Mabe, who narrowly missed the job when Hoffa succeeded the jailed Dave Beck in 1957.

All three are among 11 teamsters vice presidents maneuvering in the background of the current thunderous support of Hoffa by some 2,000 convention delegates.

Wilson Takes Peacemaker Role

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson cast himself in the role of Viet Nam peacemaker today by arranging a surprise visit to Moscow July 16 prior to a conference with President Johnson in Washington later this month. His Washington trip is scheduled July 29.

Wilson's chances of success were not rated high.

The Soviet Union has already rejected Britain's peace formula — recovering the 1954 Geneva conference — but the prime minister may be able to open a new line of communication on Viet Nam between the Kremlin and the White House.

While Wilson ran against heavy odds in his pursuit of peace, a flurry of press releases by high U.S. officials

On the pessimistic side, Secretary of State Dean Rusk told newsmen in Kyoto, Japan, that "we have seen no evidence that the other side wants peace."

Replies to critics of the U.S. air strikes on oil depots near Hanoi and Haiphong, he commented that he could not see how such attacks "will interfere with a peace that the other side doesn't want."

SOMEWAY OUT

On the optimistic side, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told the annual U.S. governors' conference in Los Angeles that "there are flickering bits of evidence, that are not solid or concrete, that Hanoi spokesmen are wandering around wondering if there is some way out."

In Washington, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball said diplomatic reports indicated a growing war-weariness in North Viet Nam but added a political settlement "may be quite a long time off."

Wilson's announcement that he will fly to Moscow on July 16 for a three-day visit came on the eve of a Viet Nam debate in the House of Commons. He is under sharp attack from leftist critics in his Labor party who denounce his qualified support of the U.S. role in Viet Nam and urge him to make an independent peace effort.

Briton Leads British Open by Firing 65

MURFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Jack Nicklaus fired a sizzling four-under-par 67 today and grabbed a one-stroke lead over recent bustling Peter Butler of England at the halfway mark of the British Open Golf Championship.

MURFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Peter Butler, a British Ryder Cup player, smashed the course record with a stunning six-under-par 65 today and captured the lead in the British Open Golf Championship with a two-day total of 138.

Butler's 34-31 over Muirfield's 6,897-yard, par 36-35-71 layout and his 73 of Wednesday gave him a two-stroke margin over another trio of parbusters, Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., Harold Henning of South Africa and former champion Lee Nagle of Australia. The three had 140.

A huge gallery of about 8,000 roared with delight when Butler sank a 15-foot putt on the last hole to complete his superb round.

Earlier Rodgers, a 28-year-old ex-Marine, carded a 34-34-68 to go with his 74 Wednesday. He soon was tied by Henning with a 34-35-69 to go with his 71 and Nagle with a 35-35-68 to add to his 72.

TWO RECORDS
Butler's fantastic round broke the old course mark of 66 set by Henry Cotton in 1905 and the new course record of 66 set by Rodgers.

Since Cotton set the record the course was revamped and made more difficult.

$4,000 Paid to TV Rigger

2 Deny Deal Made to Fix Channing Ratings

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Producer Charles Lowe and former congressional investigator Rex Sparger Jr. have denied that a $4,000 transaction was connected with Sparger's attempts to rig audience ratings of a Carol Channing television special.

Sparger, who has been sued for $15 million damages by the national television rating firm of A. C. Nielsen of Chicago, said yesterday he received the money from his Channing and her husband, Lowe, for an audience survey.

A statement made in Los Angeles by an attorney for Lowe and Miss Channing also denied the $4,000 check received by Sparger was related to the Nielsen ratings.

The statements were made after deposition taken by Nielsen attorneys in the federal court damage suit were made part of the court's public record yesterday.

Rain Stands Up the Weatherman

We didn't see a drop of the rain predicted yesterday and the weatherman isn't predicting showers again until Saturday, when there's a chance of thunderstorms.

Temperatures will fall to lows of 54 to 60 tonight and climb to a cooler 70 to 82 with skies sunny tomorrow.

Sixty-four was the low reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. By 2 p.m. the mercury had moved up to 81.

Big-Truck Demand Overtakes the Supply

By CHARLES C. GAIN
AP Business News Writer

DETROIT — The nation's truck building firms are having a hard time keeping up with demand these days.

Many customers, particularly those who want big, heavy-duty type vehicles have run into fairly long delays in getting the vehicles of their choice.

Calvin J. Werner, general manager of GMC Truck and Coach Division, commented:

"Demand for heavy trucks is at an all-time high and it is true that the industry is unable to effect delivery of these vehicles at a normal basis."

"This is caused by a number of circumstances, including material availability, increased federal government orders, and the rising trend of overcommitment by heavy-duty truck buyers."

Werner pointed out, however, that lighter units, such as pickups, vans, and medium weight local delivery units which account for about 75 per cent of total industry unit sales, are in excellent supply and that "at GMC we are turning out a record volume of these units and are meeting our dealer order requirements very well."

Truck lines have rolled out at top speed levels practically all year. Last month, for example, about 173,000 trucks were turned out, a new monthly high for the industry. The old mark was the 172,700 built in March 1965.

R. L. Polk & Co., auto industry statisticians, reported this week a record 139,106 new cars sold in June 1966. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Pontiac Tops Hot GM Pace

General Motors Corp. today reported that last month was the second highest June sales period in GM's history, but Pontiac Motor Division did its proud parent one better.

Pontiac sales hit an all-time June high, according to John Z. DeLoane, a GM vice president and general manager of the division.

Pontiac dealers sold 75,339 Pontiacs and Pontiacs out of the 331,604 GM passenger cars sold last month.

Pontiac dealers sold 74,900 cars out of the total 62,905 GM units sold in June 1966.

New car sales by Pontiac dealers during the first two-day selling period of June also set a new high of 26,494 units. The ten-day report compared to 26,224 delivered in the same period a year ago.

Six-month figures show the total GM sales of 1,201,875 passenger cars as compared to 1,433,121 units for the first half of 1965.

Kresge's Son Is Elected Chairman of Foundation

The election of Stanley S. Kresge of Lake Angelus as board chairman of the Kresge Foundation was announced today.

Kresge of 1071 Lake Angelus succeeds his father, Sebastian S. Kresge, founder of the foundation, who has retired.

Stanley Kresge, president since 1962, was succeeded in that job by a Bloomfield Hills man, William H. Baldwin, Detroit attorney and a director of the S. S. Kresge Co.

Baldwin, of 720 Lone Pine, has been a vice president since 1963 and serves as a trustee of the Cranbrook Foundation.

Kresge became chairman of the S. S. Kresge Co.'s Board of Directors June 23 when his father retired from that post.

In 1962, a gift from the foundation was used to build Oakland University's $13 million library.

No Deluge With Medicare

DETROIT (AP)—"Happiness is a transfer to pediatrics," smiled the blonde receptionist at Detroit's Henry Ford Hospital.

The girl made the oft-quoted remark when a newspaper asked how things were going now that Medicare has been in effect for nearly a week.

Michigan hospitals generally have escaped the deluge that some medical men feared would come when the nationwide health insurance program for those over 65 started July 1.

But despite the near-normal patient loads, the girl behind the desk in hospitals and clinics has found her work snarled up and slowed down by the increase in paper work involved in Medicare.

FORM SHORTAGE

For one thing, Michigan hospitals report a shortage of government forms. Many of them printed their own.

The University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor reported it received only 50 forms, and they arrived only a few hours before Medicare went into effect.

Because of the extra paper work, many hospitals have hired—or plan to hire—additional clerks to help in processing the over-65 age group.

Henry Ford Hospital did not hire extra clerical help, deciding instead to see how the program progressed the first few days.

HIRING MORE

"But I suspect we will be hiring more," said Robert Burwell, assistant director.

Burwell said the over-65 inpatient load is about 22 percent, and that ratio has virtually unchanged since Medicare.

"We expected things to go wrong—even though we did considerable advance planning on handling of the new forms," he added. "But it's remarkable how easily it has gone. It's still too early, however, to tell what over-all impact Medicare will have."

A spokesman at the University Hospital reported a slight increase in the ratio of over-65 patients reporting to the clinic.

Kowalski Hits Hoffa Backing of Romney

LANSING (AP)—House Speaker Joseph Kowalski blasted back at Teamsters Union President James Hoffa Wednesday for Hoffa's statement that Republican Gov. George Romney has helped labor in Michigan more than former Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Kowalski, a former United Auto Workers international representative, wired Hoffa: "Your crediting Gov. Romney with a good record in support of labor and criticizing the record of G. Mennen Williams is a classic example of how wrong one person can be."

Hoffa made his comments in an interview with the Detroit News this week.

Kowalski claimed that "Romney has utterly failed, not only labor, but all Michigan taxpayers by repeatedly bending to wishes of big business at the expense of labor and the citizen."

Kowalski credited the Democratic-controlled Legislature for labor measures passed in the last two years.

Hoffa has endorsed Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh against Williams in the Democratic U.S. Senate primary.

for outpatient treatment. The average before Medicare ran to about 11 per cent; it now is approaching 15 per cent.

Man Dies, 1 Injured as Scaffold Collapses

ROYAL OAK (AP)—A scaffold collapsed at the eighth floor of William Beaumont Hospital Wednesday, toppling a painter to his death and critically injuring another. Donald Bottomley, 38, of St. Clair Shores, died in the fall to a third-floor roof. Lucas T. Nickolaou, 48, of Highland Park, was reported in critical condition at the hospital.

Distance Hiker Sentenced on Tax Charge

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Distance walker Marlon Pearson, 46, whose 600-mile hike was interrupted by court trial on income tax evasion charges, was fined $10,000 Wednesday.

Judge W. Wallace Kent of U.S. District Court also sentenced the Grand Rapids businessman to a suspended two-year prison term and two years of probation.

Pearson pleaded guilty to one count of a 14-count indictment.

Red Satellite Gathers Data

for Manned Flight

MOSCOW (UPI) — Proton 3, Russia's heaviest scientific satellite, whirled in orbit today to gather scientific data for a new Soviet manned space flight through deadly radiation belts around the earth.

A flight by two or more cosmonauts through the lower reaches of the Van Allen radiation belts had been expected as long ago as last April.

But the flight—which would be Russia's first manned space shot in almost 16 months — was believed being delayed until Soviet scientists gather more information about cosmic rays and their dangers to specimens.

Proton 3 was launched into an elliptical orbit around the earth yesterday. It followed months of study of two Russian space dogs—Blackie and Breeze—who walked repeatedly through the Van Allen belts during their three-week flight last February and March.

The new manned space flight was expected to duplicate the feat of the "muttniks" and establish new altitude and endurance records as well as achieve a vital step on the way to a manned lunar landing.

WERE BIGGEST

The first two rockets in the Proton series — Nos. 1 and 2 — were the world's biggest at 12.2 tons each. They were blasted into orbit last July 6 and Nov. 2.

Although the official news agency Tass did not disclose the weight of this latest Proton shot, it was believed to be in the same weight category.

The United States apparently took the edge off yesterday's launching of Proton 3 when it boosted a 23-ton satellite — the heaviest payload ever launched — into orbit from Cape Kennedy Tuesday.

The Saturn was intentionally destroyed in orbit seven hours later in a structural test.

Solvent a Need for 'Herrington Hills'

A regrettable three-way impasse has evolved involving the City Commission, a property developer and the Herrington Hills Homeowners Association.

At issue is the rezoning from single- to multiple-dwelling status of a 21-acre tract west of Herrington Hills, a 73-acre subdivision embracing 370 dwellings, on which the developer proposes to build a $3-million 266-unit housing facility.

Approved unanimously by the City Planning Commission, the rezoning proposal was defeated 5-2 by the City Commission at its June 28 meeting.

Commissioners voting against it reflected the primary objection of Herrington Hills residents: that the outlet thoroughfare (Ray Street) bordering the area on the east between Featherstone and Mt. Clemens would be inadequate to handle the increase in auto traffic resulting from the influx of new residents.

Two remedies are seen: widening of Ray or cutting a new street from the housing area to Mt. Clemens, relieving Ray of northbound traffic.

Both steps would entail expense—likely for the developer; probably for the City.

But there is too much at stake to allow a building project Pontiac sorely needs to go by the board because of relatively minor points of issue. The City not only needs the facility for living space for an expanding population but to fortify its tax base that has suffered serious erosion in other areas. Residents of Herrington Hills would also benefit from the proximity of an attractive dwelling area that at present is vacant and unappealing.

We suggest that the developer, the City Commission and the subdivision's home owners each give a little toward an amicable solution of a problem that has unfortunately assumed unjustified proportions. As an approach, let it be remembered that a community can never stand still—either it progresses or stagnates. And the price of progress in temporary subordination of personal considerations of the few for the eventual good of all.

'Maybe It's Safer Over There!'

David Lawrence Says:

Air Is Clearing on Viet Issue

WASHINGTON — The air is clearing on the Viet Nam issue — both at home and abroad. This doesn't mean that the conflict will be over right away, but the position of the United States is being defined so positively that the enemy must make up its mind soon. LAWRENCE said nothing is to be gained by prolonging the agony.

The same stage could have been reached earlier had not the Communists been misled into believing that internal criticism in this country and lack of support from some nations abroad would deter the American government and cause it to abandon its objectives in Southeast Asia.

President Johnson, in his impromptu words at the Tuesday news conference, made a better presentation of his case to the North Vietnamese than any envoy from a neutral country could have done.

The President was telling the enemy, in effect, that there's no use keeping up the battle because the United States has unlimited resources and intends to maintain indefinitely its bombing of targets containing military supplies.

The President, moreover, took occasion to deal with some of the criticisms of American policy expressed inside allied countries.

While he didn't mention Great Britain, his remarks may have been intended to refer to the situation facing the government in London today.

He said, "Now, it's difficult for me to understand the response of some nations that is not involved, but a few years ago when their own security was at stake and they needed American men and they wanted us to furnish American troops... not to be understanding in what we are trying to do to help others maintain their independence now."

BRITISH REACTION

Within the last few days the American attitude of disappointment over British reaction has been penetrating public opinion in Great Britain.

Some of the Labor members of Parliament who had been denouncing Prime Minister Wilson's policy and were about to switch an issue of it suddenly switched to his side. It was immediately thereafter announced also that the prime minister would visit the United States.

for a talk with President Johnson on July 28.

The conversion began as "The London Daily Telegraph" on June 30 outspokenly defended the American position, and said in an editorial: "To have left the oil dumps immune because they were near North Viet Nam's two major cities would have exposed the forces and people in the south to heavier attack by an enemy who shows no such tenderness about civilian casualties."

A feeling of optimism prevails here in official circles, where it is believed that within a relatively short time some of the numerous peace overtures will be fruitful and some kind of settlement will be consummated.

Bob Considine Says:

Secret Agent's Life Easy in Uncensored America

NEW YORK — The fiery raids on North Viet Nam's fuel were tipped off by scores of newspaper articles, broadcasts and telecasts coming out of Washington for more than a week before the first plane took off.

Some trace the "leak" to President Johnson's use of a single word in a speech about an impending step in the pressure being put on the enemy. LBJ said we'd now go to the "source" of the enemy's war-making capability.

But the word was around Washington before that. And since the activity in which we are engaged in Viet Nam is not classified as a war, no censorship is imposed on speculation.

Not even on speculation calculated to bolster the enemy's defenses, cement his determination, and result in the loss of American lives.

The only alternative, under present conditions, would be intolerable to the American people — a government-controlled press, radio and TV.

So, for better or worse, we march along with our free press, which is at once the dismay and envy of friends and foe alike.

INFORMATION AVAILABLE

So much delicate information is available in this country in printed and spoken form that it seems preposterous for hard-up hostile powers to maintain spies and official observers in this country.

Those who would savor our goodies, for free, could fire their expensive cloak-and-dagger desperados and subscribe to any U.S. metropolitan daily, tune in any short-wave newscast, buy any news weekly, or just write to the government and ask for the needed information.

For example, a pointed request to the Secretary of the Air Force will bring the sender a handsome 66-page pamphlet, with a jacket printed in patriotic red, white and blue, called "Questions and Answers About the United States Air Force."

It tells all about our bombers and missiles, how they're spread, how many men in the Air Force, where they are, how we feel about bombing cities, overkill, escalation, deterrence, and what kind of weapons we use and their ranges, etc.

In the old days, if a Russian spy amassed that much information and sent it back home before we shot him, they'd bury him in Lenin's Tomb in Red Square.

In Washington:

Reds Are Burrowing in Mexico

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

There is a flow of somewhat disturbing letters arriving here from ordinary citizens in Mexico.

These letters report Red activity and Communist sympathy in the north of Mexico, especially in the rural areas.

To be known as an active anti-Communist has become a dangerous in some places.

A Mexican student association president at one school recently asked that material be sent for him to use in combating communism on his campus. But he became frightened when that literature flooded in — and he suddenly began refusing to accept it from the mailman. It was returned marked the Mexican equivalent of "address unknown."

"Excerpts from two typical letters will give the nature of the recent reports:

The first is from a man in San Luis Potosi, Mexico:

"I made a trip through... Tamasopo, Coahuila,

Vice President Praises Our Assistance to Youth

Your support of the President's 1966 Youth Opportunity Campaign and the support received from thousands of others proves again our country's capacity to unite in the solution of a common problem. I now speak for the President when I say that you have our deep appreciation.

So that we may further assist those youngsters who will not be returning to school in the fall or not continuing with you permanently, I have asked that your State Employment Service contact you for evaluations on them.

Our youth and our nation have benefited by your action, and I congratulate you on the role you played in opening opportunities to youths. I would hope, too, that your satisfaction with your contribution to the future is equal to my pride in knowing that there are people like yourself standing ready to help.

Dependent Mother Scores Friend of Court

The Oakland County Friend of the Court charges an annual fee of $10 which is supposed to be paid by the father but which is deducted from the children's support money, then added to the husband's arrears. Why don't our court officials or judges do something about this?

Is there a merchant in Pontiac who would give me enough clothing to start my children in school this fall, in faith that I would reimburse him as soon as I receive the arrears of my children's support money?

Does the Friend of the Court know that little children cannot exist on promises?

A MOTHER WHO KEEPS PROMISING

'Should Not Applaud Anti-U.S. Position'

Your editorial "Memorable Occasion" shocks my sensibilities. When Castro aligned himself with his allies, I didn't notice the Pontiac Press expressing such sympathy. It's in the point of view, and yours smacks of immaturity and ignorance. The United States is committed to the preservation of the State of Israel. I object not to our entertaining and listening to one opposed to this position, but I hardly expect that we should applaud.

BLANK

Defends Deficits of Democratic Regime

Your editorial of Wednesday, June 22nd states "Particularly eye-catching is Soggy's use of the term 'temporary' as applied to deficits. We would be interested to know just how long a temporary deficit is and just how long a nation, state or family can continue to operate under one."

The editor knows that the deficits referred to were necessary to carry out the programs of "Soggy's" administration. It is also common knowledge that Ramsey had nothing to do with the surplus attained in the past four years. These surpluses are due to an upswing in the Michigan economy, particularly in automobiles, as well as the national economy as a whole.

If the recent slump in auto sales should continue, the referred-to "Romney surplus" would disappear rapidly. In necessity, we operate under temporary deficits until the economy begins to expand.

Multiple Mates May Make Matrimony Monstrous

A psychiatrist, Dr. JACK WINBERG of the University of Illinois College of Medicine, has come up with what seems the most effective argument yet against the recent suggestion that men and women over 60 be permitted to engage in plural marriage.

Whatever personal, social, financial or other benefits may be gained by a polygamous arrangement, "the problems, it may evoke are too fearsome to contemplate," he told the National Conference of State Executives on Aging in Washington, D.C. "It may even," he warned, "lead to group nagging!"

This is enough to give any man—or woman—pause.

Johnson Uses Patriotism Angle

BY BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (UP)—Four days after he became president, Lyndon B. Johnson declared: "I cannot bear this burden alone. I need the help of all Americans, and all America."

He has resorted to this technique again and again since then, making support for an administration program, bill or course of action a deeply personal matter.

And now, in mounting an offensive for his Viet Nam policy, Johnson is using his patented personal technique once more—in spades.

"There is no human being in all this world who wishes... peace to come to the world more than your President of the United States," he said last week in Omaha.

"And if you are too busy or not inclined to help, please count 10 before you hurt," he told a crowd assembled on the bank of the Missouri River.

HIGH PRAISE

At his news conference Tuesday at Johnson City, Johnson voiced high praise for the U.S. forces in Viet Nam and added this patriotic note:

"I am fearful that sometimes we do not give enough thought to these men as we sit here in the luxury of our front porch and lawn, that we don't recognize that men are dying for us out in the rice paddies."

Not all of America's wars have been popular on the home front, but the call of patriotism largely succeeded in stifling meaningful opposition. The Viet Nam war is particularly unpopular.

In part, what Johnson is doing is seeking to squeeze out dissent from the step-in in the war's tempo by wrapping his policy in patriotism and in the institution of the press's duty itself.

NONPARTISAN GLOSS

He does not ask support for himself as such but for the institution. This gives a nonpartisan gloss to the policy and seeks to reduce opposition to the level of petty bickering.

Johnson is not saying there is one, but he insists there is only one course the United States can follow: Bring inexorable military pressure on North Viet Nam "until the day they decide to end this aggression and to make an honorable peace."

The question now is whether the President can unite the country more solidly behind him—and convince some of his critics to drop their bickering.

Outdoor Fashion Show Will Aid Students

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor
The Bloomfield Hills home of the George T. Trumbulls was an ideal setting Wednesday for a tea party.

It was delightfully cool inside the house, but the terrace and grounds were so pleasant that no one could resist them.

Occasion was a tea to announce the Oakland University scholarship benefit fashion show and tea to be held Sept. 7 in the Baldwin Memorial Pavilion on OU's Meadow Brook Festival grounds.

"Woman as a Decoration" will be the theme of the show presented by Julie's of Detroit. Mr. Vincent, authority on women's fashions and a TV personality, will be the show's commentator.

Proceeding the fashion show, tea will be served at Trumbull Terrace.

TWO CHAIRMEN

Mrs. Trumbull and Mrs. Alfred C. Girard are general chairmen of the benefit. Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson is honorary chairman.

The Meadow Brook ball, sponsored for years by the scholarship committee, was not held this year. The outdoor fashion show is now the big money making event for 1966.

Proceeds will help over 300 area students receive financial aid at OU.

The scholarship committee also maintains and staffs the Scholar Shop in Trumbull Terrace.

In addition to being open every night of the Meadow Brook Music Festival, the shop has Tuesday and Wednesday hours from noon to 4 p.m.

COMMITTEES

Women in four counties are working on committees for the fashion show.

In Oakland county they are: Pontiac, Mrs. C. T. Ekelund and Mrs. Arthur Young; Waterford, Mrs. Norman Cheal; Clarkston, Mrs. Rockwood Bullard Jr. and Mrs. Jack Haupt-Rochester; Mrs. Paul Christensen and Mrs. John Cochran.

Bloomfield Hills chairmen are Mrs. John R. Crissman and Mrs. Harold A. Cousins; Birmingham, Mrs. Harry Winston Jr. and Mrs. S. T. McGraw.

Tickets may be obtained by calling Oakland University.

Newberg Home Opened for Art Festival Group

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

At a luncheon Wednesday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Newberg, committee members gathered to hear about the Thomas Hart Benton's exhibit which will highlight the Bloomfield Art Association "Festival 10" come Oct. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Bender, general cochairmen of the festival, announced that the Newbergs are cochairmen of the Benton exhibit.

In fact, it is due to the Newbergs' friendship of many years with the artist that we are fortunate enough to have the exhibit come to this area. There will be close to 100 paintings, drawings and lithographs—some which have not been displayed publicly before.

Mr. Benton is regarded as the foremost painter of the multifarious operations of American life in the south. The book "A Treasury of Art Masterpieces" devotes two pages to Thomas Benton.

His paintings hang in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Whitney Museum, and the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Art. Benton is referred to as the "grand old man of American art"—now having reached the distinguished age of 76.

At the luncheon, the ingenious hostess had inserted materials taken from newspapers and magazines regarding Benton's work under plastic plates. It was a delightfully original manner of introducing the artist.

Mrs. Howard Barker, Bloomfield Hills, presided at the coffee urn. Waiting for her cup is Mrs. D. B. Eames, West Iroquois Road.

Mrs. Carl M. Bollen, Wormer Drive, is a member of the invitations committee for the outdoor fashion show.

Use Napkin for Snacks Says Hostess

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I enjoyed reading your article on the seven deadly sins against good taste. You asked your readers to let you know of their pet peeves, and so here is mine.

Why won't people use napkins when they are served with snacks? I always hand out napkins with cocktails and hors d'oeuvre and have stacks on the tables, too, and yet after a party, there are invariably traces of greasy fingers on much of the furniture.

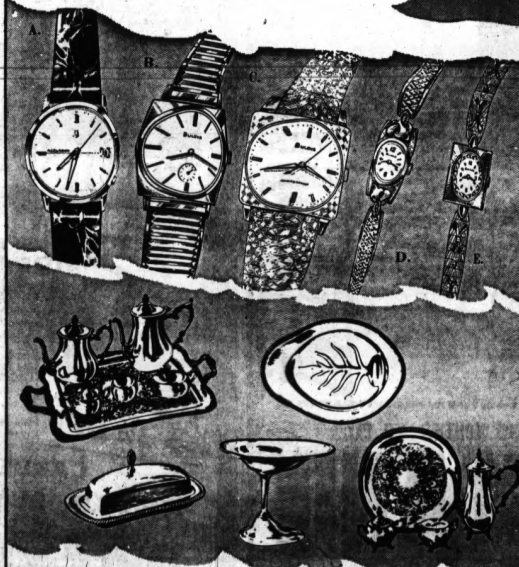

When we have guests in to play bridge and serve nuts or other finger foods, the cards are unfit to be used again.

My pet peeve may seem a trivial thing but it is evidence of the thoughtlessness that seems to be one of the chief troubles with the world today — Elizabeth Teufel

Dear Mrs. Teufel: You are quite right. The person who stains furniture or cards with sticky, greasy fingers is guilty principally of thoughtlessness. It is not an intentional error, I'm sure. The reluctance to use a napkin when it is readily available is a sort of laziness — it is just more difficult to hold an extra item with your drink and hors d'oeuvre.

Trivial or not, your point is well taken and I hope my readers will take heed and think before they say, "I don't need the napkin, thanks."

Invitations in Mail Friday

"Two Choirs for Luci's 'Big Day'"

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON UP — A choir of 100 men and boys will sing at the wedding of Luci Johnson and Patrick J. Nugent.

The White House announced today that the choral music for the ceremony will be provided by the combined men's and boys' choirs of two Baltimore Roman Catholic churches — the Cathedral of Mary Our Queen and the Church of the Immaculate Heart of Mary.

Robert F. Twynham, director of the cathedral choir, will compose music for parts of the nuptial Mass and will play the organ at the wedding. The combined choirs will be under the direction of Norman Snyder, director of the church choir.

About 700 guests are expected for the marriage of the daughter of the President and Mrs. Johnson at noon Aug. 6 in the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception here.

The White House said 400 invitations embossed with the presidential coat of arms will be mailed Friday to about 700 personal friends and relatives of the young couple and the Johnson and Nugent families. Many of the invitations will go to couples. Those invited to the ceremony also will be invited to the White House reception which will follow.

Names of the guests were not disclosed, but the White House said a large segment would be young out-of-town friends of Luci and Nugent.

WHITE HOUSE STAY

House guests at the White House will be:

Nugent's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard P. Nugent, Waukegan, Ill., and their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Gerard Nugent Jr., San Diego, Calif., who will be a bridesmaid.

The matron of honor, Mrs. James Ray, Hale Center, Tex., and her husband.

And these four bridesmaids, all from Texas: Miss Betty Beal and Miss Beth Jenkins, both of Austin; Miss Patti McGourk of Fort Worth; and Miss Warrie Lynn Smith of San Antonio. Miss Smith, a college roommate of Lynda Johnson, lived in the White House briefly while she and Lynda attended George Washington University.

Luci's sister, Lynda, will be maid of honor in the wedding.

Physical Fitness

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — The Board of Public Works here gives its workers a 10-minute physical fitness break each working day.

Controller Louis L. Goldstein said coffee soft drink breaks put on fat. "It's time we have something to take it off," he added. The workers are supposed to spend the 10 minutes doing exercises to trim waistlines and tone muscles.

The engagement is announced of Glenna Jane Munger, daughter of Glenn R. Munger of Mount Clemens Street and the late Mrs. Munger, to Dorwin E. Johnson, son of the C. E. Johnsons of San Diego, Calif. They attended Pontiac Business Institute and the San Diego City College respectively. Early summer vows in 1967 are being planned.

The Jeweled Bib

The jeweled bib provides a modest fill-in for some of fall's low cut dresses.

Designer Pauline Trigere uses bibs riding high about the throat and on down to neckline plunge with black jersey cocktail dresses.

You don't HAVE to buy a Trigere dress to get the bibs, they're sold separately.

New Linens Eliminate All Ironing

At last the luxury of having freshly ironed sheets without spending the time or money for ironing is available to every homemaker.

This seeming paradox is, of course, accomplished by the new durable press sheets. A further plus, durable press sheets that almost "iron themselves in the washing" will be available for the first time in both plain and printed versions.

Springmaid is producing a new line of durable press sheets in a fine percale fabric of Eastman Kodak polyester and cotton.

Appropriately printed with sprays of fresh-as-spring daisies in fresh pastels, the print comes in three color combinations featuring pink, yellow and blue that coordinate with solid color sheets of pink, blue, yellow and white.

These sheets will be available in single, double, queen, king and extra long Hollywood sizes.

STAYS SMOOTH

The new sheet has an excellent washed appearance, retaining its smoothness through repeated washings and tumble-dryings.

Homemakers will be quick to notice and appreciate the "stay fresh" appearance and wrinkle-resistance that the new sheets contribute to a bed after a night's use.

They will also appreciate the lasting whiteness, quick-drying quality and good dimensional stability, with guaranteed shrinkage of 2 per cent or less.

Durable press is the result of chemically treating and heat curing fabrics to give them the "memory" to hold their smoothness.

The chemicals used work only on cellulosic fibers such as cotton. These same chemicals, however, weaken the cellulosic fibers.

Blending them with a polyester fiber adds strength and toughness to the fabric.

To wash durable press sheets, an automatic washer and tumble dryer are recommended. The wash-water setting should be used, and the sheets removed immediately when the dryer stops.

If they have remained too long in the dryer and acquire wrinkles, they should be re-dampened and tumble dried for an additional two or three minutes.

Folding them immediately after removal from the dryer helps to preserve their smooth appearance.

Water Economy

In cases where hot water supply is limited, it is better to use a cold water rinse for laundry and save the hot water for later wash loads. Some washers offer the option of automatic cold water rinses to help you economize. Compare and consider the hot water usage as well as the total water before making a decision on which washer to buy.

MRS. EZRA G. MISTE

Composer-Artist Sets Festival Performance

Mrs. Ezra G. Miste, composer-illustrator of "I Sing of Michigan," a book of 11 songs for elementary school children, will be singing a different kind of song during her summer as a teacher-turned-student at the Meadow Brook School of Music.

She has joined students, teachers, scholars, and performing artists from three continents on the campus of Oakland University, where she will span the centuries from pre-Bach to Benjamin Britten under the tutelage of world-famous musicians.

Already an accomplished pianist and organist, Lorna Miste, who lives on Nicholas Drive, West Bloomfield Township, decided to tackle the tabernacle of the harpsichord.

She's doubling as a soprano at mixed ensemble sessions and then will stay on for six weeks of singing, choral conducting, and performing with Robert Shaw, Meadow Brook's director of choral studies.

As if that weren't enough to keep her busy, Lorna Miste, who has pepper-and-salt hair and sprightly eyes that match the lift of her voice, has taken on the summer post of organist-choir director at St. John's Episcopal Church in Detroit.

A vocal music teacher, she turned to composing when her paint-sized pupils expressed curiosity about Michigan and a desire to sing about their state.

MUSICAL MACHINE

"So I bought a music typewriter, spent three months learning how to use it, and four years writing the book."

"I'd test each song on my glee clubs and they'd tell me if the words and music hung together. One called 'Ore Boats' had to be rewritten four times before they said it was right."

Besides the title song, favorites in the collection, according to the composer, are "Red Wings, Lions, and Tigers," "Tulips Are Blooming," and "Indian Names."

Spurred by the successful reception of this venture, Mrs. Miste recently completed ten health songs for pre-school and early elementary children.

WORKS PUPPETS

She then took a puppetry course at Wayne State University and created a whole cast of quaint characters called muppets (a combination marionette and puppet). They now help make brushing teeth and drinking milk great fun for the moppets learning good health habits through Mrs. Miste's catchy songs.

Proficiency in the arts comes naturally to this creative teacher.

"My father is an artist, my mother a voice teacher and my grandmother taught ceramics and oil painting more than half a century ago," she explains.

She holds degrees from the University of Tulsa (Oklahoma) and Wayne State. In 1963 she traveled to Japan for a meeting of the International Society of Music Educators.

Mrs. Miste is accompanist for the Madrigal Club of Detroit. Last year she taught in Highland Park, and this fall she will return to the Nankin Mills School District where she previously had been teacher and supervisor.

Remove Stains

Stains which occur from the use of concentrated blue fabric softeners may be removed as follows: Add 1/4 cup chlorine bleach to the regular wash cycle.

If a milder bleach is necessary because of fabric, use two regular cycles with 1/2 cup bleach each time. If the fabric cannot be bleached, use an all-purpose soap in the regular wash cycle. Some washers have automatic fabric dispensers which will eliminate such staining problems.

Sees Upsurge in Wig Wear for the '70s

NEW YORK (AP) — There have been all sorts of estimates on how many women in the United States now are wearing wigs, but the famous wigmaker, Richard Hartwich, has no doubt about the situation in 1975.

By that time, he says, from 48 to 50 per cent of all adult females in the country will own one or more wigs.

Hartwich recently won the International Championship in wig-styling at the International Hairdressers Convention for a chameleon wig that changes shade with a color rinse to match mood or clothes. But he suggests that, for a woman's first wig, she choose a color fairly close to her own.

"That," he explains, "gives her a chance to get used to wearing a wig. After the first one, she can decide on a color change."

Polly's Painters

She Uses Counter

DEAR POLLY — When knitting a complicated sweater pattern where each row is different I find it helpful to put a stitch counter on the needle and each time a row is finished I change the row number on the counter. I can lay my knitting down at anytime and know what row to start on just by looking at the counter. They cost very little.

— FLORENCE

DEAR KNITTERS — I am sure you all understand that Florence turns the counter back each time a pattern is completed and then starts again with row one.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I liked the lady's idea about dividing her child's toys and putting some of them away and then rotating every week or so, since my own toddler's toy chest was bulging and he threw everything out on the floor. After sterilizing the toys I placed them in suitcases so as to save needed closet space.

I really do not know what we ladies would do without the helpful Painters.—SHARON

DEAR POLLY — I want to tell Fannie that I have been making gelatin desserts for 30 years and have found that the easiest way to remove a large dessert or salad from the mold is to let hot water run in the sink, place serving plate over the mold and, holding with both hands, plunge mold in hot water almost to the top and quickly invert on the serving plate.

To guarantee that the mold stays in its decorative design, I first pour a little salad oil into the mold, greasing it well.—JEANETTE

GIRLS—Lucille suggests that the serving plate be moistened with water so the mold will slide more easily into place if it comes out a bit off center.

MRS. Z. C. does as I do. She rinses the mold with cold water before pouring in the gelatin which has been allowed to cool.—POLLY

Anyone submitting a Polly's Problem, a solution to a problem or a favorite homemaking idea will receive a dollar if Polly uses the item in Polly's Painters.

New, Non-Surgical Face Lift Discovery Smooths Skin Fast
It's called the Debel and it contains a German scientist's discovery called CEF 66 (CEF-126) for the face over 40. This face-lift process is simple: It's based upon reapplying to the skin the natural ingredients through which the inner cells obtain and retain water-moisture. This ingredient is known to scientists as CEF, which means Cellular Expansion Factor. When spread over the skin's surface, CEF penetrates deeply into the outer skin layer to the cells below. As it penetrates, CEF carries with it molecules of pure water. It is then that the "lift" begins. It is then that facial lines on the surface start to plump up from beneath... to smooth out and become less visible on the surface. Get the Debel regular or double potency at your drug or department store today.

UNUSUAL PUNISHMENT—When a 19-year-old drag racer (left) was hauled into the court of Kent County Judge of the Peace Ray A. Blett, the youth expected only a slightly detoured pocketbook. He was fined $35 and costs but also received a five-day sentence. After listening to the youth's plea for freedom, Blett offered an alternative: He must drive his car for one month with a sign attached to the rear reading "This car driven by former drag racer."

Drug Can Ease Facial Pains

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — A face pain so severe that it makes victims neglect brushing their teeth, shaving, washing their faces or even eating solid foods can be helped by a new experimental drug reported here.

The disease, which affects the fifth cranial nerve in the face, is called trigeminal neuralgia, or tic douloureux. The drug, reported at the meeting of the American Neurological Association in Cincinnati, or Tegretol, and has been in use in Europe although it is not yet on the market in this country.

More than 100 sufferers between the ages of 20 and 50 get relief from the drug, Dr. William Anols of Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, told the meeting.

Surgery has been the recommended treatment for permanent relief, although a hot water injection, using a long Schwartz needle to kill the offending nerve, has also been reported, along with a few other drugs.

Library of Congress Overflows

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Library of Congress, growing at a knowledge-explosion rate of "in all probability the world's a million items a year, is split largest," is housed in an ornate marble and steel seams and overcrowded Italian Renaissance building completed in 1897. A more austere, and also has approved in principle a new overcrowded annex was completed in 1939. And the library's expansion for 25 years, using portions of building at the

The start of construction has former Navy Gun factory seven-er miles away on the Anacostia river and an abandoned arm-most senior members of Congress. Arrangements are now being made to lease a warehouse given up by a Washington department store. Although Congress loves its library, the agony of decision-making has delayed the new building.

Rep. Kenneth J. Gray, D-Ill., who piloted through a sea of compromises the bill authorizing a $75 million building, said, "a lot of people had to be satisfied. Some of the people making up the commissions involved are such as the speaker and some of the most senior members on both sides (Democratic and Republican). You couldn't leave them out of the decisions if you wanted to—and nobody wants to."

SOME ROLE

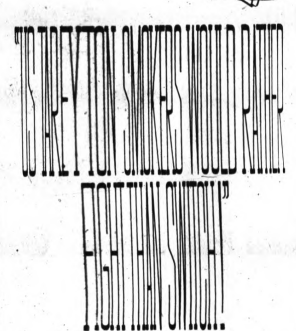

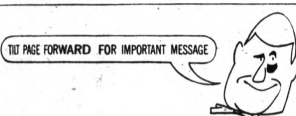

The result was legislation that gives some role in the planning and construction of the building to the House Building Committee, the Senate Building Committee, the Capitol Building Commission, the James Madison Memorial Commission, the architect of the capitol, who is not a professional architect but an executive officer for the commissions, and a special committee of the American Institute of Architects.

The key compromise that got the Gray bill through the House was agreement to use the site for a building that would combine a Madison memorial hall with expansion space for the library.

Science for You

PROBLEM: An induction motor.

NEEDED: An aluminum lid from a jar or salt-shaker, a strong horseshoe magnet, a length of string and a sharp-pointed pencil.

DO THIS: Suspend the magnet by the string. Twist it several dozen times and have someone hold it so that it will not unwind. Balance the aluminum lid on the end of the pencil, hold it under the magnet and release the magnet so that it unwinds rapidly. The aluminum lid underneath will turn.

WHY THIS: This is the principle of the induction electric motor which is used to operate many of our appliances. Aluminum is not a magnetic metal, but as the magnet turns above it, electrical currents are induced in it which cause it to become a magnet. The strong magnet attracts the induced magnet, and the magnet's poles repel and attract the induced magnet, causing it to turn. A piece of cardboard prepared and placed in the lid as shown in the drawings will keep the lid balanced on the pencil point. If a thin card or piece of glass is held between the magnet and the lid, the lid will turn as before, showing that the tiny current set up by the turning magnet has little or no effect on the turning of the lid.

Spanish Rice and Arabic Salad Unusual for Picnic

By JANET ODELL -
Pontiac Press Food Editor

There are all kinds of picnics. When a bunch of kids start out with sack lunches, that's elementary.

When a family spends the day in a park and cooks part of the meal on the grill, that is more advanced.

But when the group dines on a three-course dinner, complete with wine, that's sophisticated picnicking.

Last week Meadow Brook Music Festival opened for the third season.

Many concert goers took advantage of the picnic facilities and arrived on the grounds several hours before the programs began.

We encountered one group of diners — we hesitate to call them picnickers even though they were sitting on the ground and eating off paper plates — who were finishing the meal mentioned above.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rooks were in the group. He owns Rooks Gallery on Orchard Lake Road.

Mrs. Rooks had prepared the food. Having just finished dinner, I had to refuse samples. But I was interested in the menu and recipes.

Paella is a Spanish dish. Mrs. Rooks has evolved her own recipe for it but it's not too different from the original.

Teaspoon of Lemon Adds to Gelatin

Some cooks like to add a tea-servings size when they are spoon of lemon juice to rasp-making up the gelatin with water berry flavored gelatin (four-iter as the package directs).

Wrap yams with foil and bake in hot coals for an hour or so. The yams will taste good with ham slices that are being grilled over the charcoal fire.

3 large tomatoes, coarsely chopped
1 can whole clams
2 cups raw long grain rice
1 cup olive oil

Broth:

Chicken giblets
3 teaspoons salt
1 carrot, cut up
1 small onion, sliced
2 bay leaves
2 sprigs parsley
6 peppercorns

Place in saucepan and add 3 cups water. Cover, bring to boiling and simmer 45 minutes.

In the meantime, pour ½ cup olive oil into a Dutch oven. Flour chicken pieces and brown in oil, adding more oil as needed.

Remove chicken as browned and in same pan sauté garlic and green pepper for five minutes. Add rice and one teaspoon crumbled saffron.

Put browned chicken back into pan and add broth and all liquid from canned ingredients. Mix well.

Bring to boil, cover and bake at 350 degrees one hour. Stir rice every 20 minutes.

Add clams, oysters, artichokes, tomatoes, pimiento and cooked shrimp. Heat through 20 minutes. All liquid will be absorbed.

Serve garnished with parsley and additional clams or mushrooms, if desired. Will serve 8-10.

TIBULI

Mrs. Rooks went international al and served an Arabic salad, called Tibuli.

TIBULI

1 cup fine cracked wheat

1 cucumber
3 tomatoes
1 green pepper
1 bunch green onions or scallions
1 large bunch parsley
1 head lettuce or bunch of Romaine
1 bunch fresh mint

One hour before serving time cover wheat with cold water and place in refrigerator.

Take stems off parsley and chop all vegetables, except lettuce, very fine. Put in bowl.

At serving time, drain wheat and squeeze it dry in your hand. Add to vegetables.

Pour over dressing, mix well and mound on lettuce in bowl. Tastes just as good the next day, says the cook.

Dressing

Juice of 3 lemons
¼ cup olive oil
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon black pepper

Heat Separates

Don't try to separate refrigerator-chilled slices of bacon. Put the amount of bacon you need in a frypan and separate the slices as they heat. This saves you from tearing the slices.

Dessert Pizza Has a Fruit Topping

At first glance this recipe looks like pizza... and it is... but there's no tomato in sight because this is Dessert Pizza.

Borrowing a recipe idea from Naples, and from American pizzerias, this dessert starts with a tasty cookie-like crust and topped with fruit, coconut and chopped nuts instead of cheese, sausage and tomato sauce.

Instead of baking it a long time in a hot oven, you brown the crust ahead of time, and put on the topping when it has cooled.

For a dessert that's got lots of eye appeal, you can't beat this unique Dessert Pizza. You can bake up the crust well ahead of time, and keep it ready for a special occasion or a time when friends drop in. The filling can be assembled in a jiffy.

Just spread on canned crushed pineapple and sprinkle over this, coconut, chopped pecans and a generous amount of fresh sliced strawberries. Then give it a glamorous glaze with melted strawberry jelly.

The same simple, basic recipe can be varied in several ways to include other seasonal fruits. Make a Peach Filling with fresh peaches, pineapple, and sweetened dairy sour cream. Serve your Dessert Pizza with a frosty float to drink.

DESSERT PIZZA

Crust:
¾ cup (1½ sticks) butter
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2½ cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
4 tablespoons milk

Filling:
1 can (1-lb. 4½-oz.) crushed pineapple, drained
½ cup flaked coconut
½ cup chopped pecans
1½ cups sliced strawberries
1 cup strawberry jelly, melted

To prepare Crust: In a mixing bowl cream together butter, sugar and salt; gradually add flour. Gradually mix in milk.

Turn dough onto a buttered 12-inch diameter pizza pan and pat dough out to cover pan. Crimp edges. Bake in a preheated 400° oven 15-20 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on wire rack.

To prepare filling: Over crust spread pineapple; sprinkle coconut, pecans and then arrange strawberries. Drizzle melted jelly over pizza. Cut into wedges to serve.

NOTE: If a pizza pan is not available, shape a pan using double thickness of heavy aluminum foil and bake on baking sheet.

FILLING VARIATIONS:

PEACH:

Into 1 cup dairy sour cream gently stir 2 tablespoons sugar. Spread sour cream over cooled crust. Then 1 can (8½ to 9 oz.) crushed pineapple, drained. Top with 2 cups sliced slightly sweetened fresh peaches.

Caramel Float

½ cup sugar
1½ cups boiling water
3 egg yolks
2 tablespoons sugar
3 cups milk

Quick Combo From Shelf

A pantryshelf vegetable combination is easy and interesting.

GREEN PEAS PLUS

1 can (1 pound) very small green peas
1 can (3 ounces) sliced broiled mushrooms
1 canned pimiento, diced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon white pepper

Drain liquid from peas and mushrooms into a 1-quart saucepan; boil rapidly until reduced to about ½ cup. Add drained peas and mushrooms and the remaining ingredients; mix and heat. Serve in sauce dishes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Cantonese Appetizer

Wrap slices of water chestnut and chunks of canned pineapple in half strips of lean bacon, and secure with a pick. Bake in a preheated 400° oven 15-20 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on wire rack.

¾ cup half and half or light cream
¼ teaspoon salt
Scoops of vanilla ice cream (optional)

In a heavy skillet over medium heat caramelize ½ cup sugar (becomes amber-colored liquid). Gradually pour in boiling water and stir until sugar is dissolved. Chill.

In a mixing bowl beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored; add 2 tablespoons sugar. Gradually add milk, beating at low speed; add half and half or light cream, salt and caramelized sugar.

Top each serving with a scoop of vanilla ice cream, if desired. Yield: approximately 5 cups.

Banana-Orange Float

1 ripe banana
2 scoops orange sherbet
1 teaspoon sugar
Dash of salt
½ cups milk
Scoops of orange sherbet (optional)

Using electric mixer or blender combine banana, sherbet, sugar and salt, beating until smooth. Gradually add milk and beat at low speed until blended. Top each serving with a small scoop of orange sherbet, if desired. Yield: approximately 2 cups.

DESSERT PIZZA—Enjoy summer's fresh fruits like strawberries in a colorful Dessert Pizza. For effortless serving, bake the cookie crust ahead of time, and stir up frosty floats in your mixer or blender.

Pears Set in Wine as Start of Compote

A pleasant fruit compote to serve to guests is wine flavored.

Raspberry Pear Compote

1 can (1 pound, 13 ounces) pear halves
1 cup dry white wine
1 package (10 ounces) frozen raspberries

Drain pears and reserve syrup. Pour wine over pears, cover tightly and refrigerate overnight; refrigerate pear syrup separately.

Next day, boil pear syrup until it is reduced to ¼ cup; pour over pears and keep chilled. Before serving, defrost raspberries so they are still icy.

Turn pears and wine-flavored syrup into a glass bowl; spoon over the pears. Makes 5 to 7 servings.

Annual Bake-Off Shows Taste of Modern Cooks

The 18th Bake-Off will be held Feb. 12-14, 1967 at Los Angeles' new Century Plaza Hotel. The Pillsbury Company and the General Electric Company have announced.

Like the 17th Bake-Off, the upcoming event will have a "Busy Lady" theme. Judging will favor recipes "which use convenience ingredients and shortcut techniques to create attractive results with flavor appeal and superior eating quality."

A special feature of this year's competition is a $1,000 Bonus Award for the best recipe using a Pillsbury mix and at least ¼ cup Pillsbury flour. All entries are eligible for the $25,000 First Grand Prize. The $5,000 Second Grand Prize and six $1,000 awards for Best of Class cake, cookie, bread, pie or dessert, main dish, and snack.

Entry blanks will be available about August 1 in five pound and over sacks of Pillsbury Regular, Right-Rising or Instant Blending Flour, from tear-off pads at grocers, or by mail from "Bake-Off" Box 1911, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55460.

The entry period closes Oct. 31, 1966. One hundred finalists will be notified early in January. They have won all-expense-paid trips to Los Angeles to complete for Bake-Off prizes and prestige. General Electric P-7 Oven Ranges, and $100 each in cash.

Sweet Cherries Star in Relish

Many a homemaker has wondered how to serve leftover cold roast lamb. Here's one answer: make a relish with dark sweet cherries. Lightly spiced, it's a marvelous flavor mate for the mild cold meat.

Dark Cherry Relish

1 can (1 pound) pitted dark sweet cherries, drained* and chopped
½ unpeeled medium orange, chopped
¼ cup chopped walnuts
Dash allspice or cinnamon
Combine all ingredients; chill.

Serve with cold sliced lamb. NOTE: Cherries and orange may be chopped together in electric blender. Makes about 1½ cups.

*Save the syrup! Add to any beverage of mixed fruit juices.

MUSHROOM SALAD—Crisp tossed salad is as cool as a breeze, on a hot summer day. "Mushroom Salad Monterey" is an intriguing blend of marinated mushrooms and tomato wedges with greens for a refreshing change.

Marinate Mushrooms for Delicious Salad

Summer salad days are upon us! Crisp tossed greens, luscious ripe tomatoes and fresh marinated mushrooms make this "Mushroom Salad Monterey" a real taste treat on a hot summer day. The well-seasoned marinade serves as dressing that can be kept for several weeks in a tightly covered jar in the refrigerator.

Perfect as a crisp accompaniment to dinner, this is an excellent light luncheon salad served with cheese bread and iced tea. Or for the teens in the group, team it with grilled cheese sandwiches and cold milk.

Mushroom Salad Monterey
1 quart sliced fresh mushrooms
4 tablespoons olive oil
¼ cup garlic flavored red wine vinegar
1 teaspoon Beau Monde Seasoning

1 teaspoon salad herbs
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cracked black pepper
4 firm-ripe tomatoes
Crisp salad greens
Watercress for garnish
Turn mushrooms into a deep, glass bowl. Combine oil, garlic wine vinegar, Beau Monde, salad herbs, nutmeg and pepper in a small saucepan. Bring mixture just to a boil.

Remove from heat; pour over mushrooms. Toss lightly until mushrooms are well-coated. Cover and chill 3 to 4 hours.

To serve, wash and wedge tomatoes. Arrange tomato wedges on salad greens in a large bowl. Spoon mushrooms and enough marinade to dress greens over tomatoes. Toss lightly at the table. Garnish with watercress to serve. Makes 6 servings.

All the recipes are designed to serve six to eight people; it's easy to double them for a larger get-together.

Unpeeled Nectarines Star in This Salad

It's now that very special time of the year when markets proudly sport one of nature's most beautiful gifts to fruit fanciers - fresh nectarines.

This year's crop of nectarines in California's rich San Joaquin Valley is remarkable on two counts that couldn't be more important: There is plenty of fruit being shipped to all sections of the country and it is of the highest flavor quality.

With that firm knowledge in mind, there's absolutely no reason to delay for a moment longer making "Tangy Nectarine Gelee."

It's a celery gelee salad designed to whet any and all appetites on a warm summer's day. Coarsely chopped fresh nectarines and blue

Clean Stalks With Heat

Here are a few tips from the New Jersey Asparagus Industry Council on preparing fresh asparagus.

● Trim white butt end to old where only about one inch of white remains.

● Wash in sink at least half full of hot (110 degrees) water. Agitate gently for about 3 minutes. This relaxes the bracts, or fins, causing them to open sufficiently to permit any soil to filter out.

● Rinse thoroughly in cold water. Let soak for at least 10 minutes to refresh.

● Store in refrigerator wrapped in plastic bag or damp cloth until ready to use.

● Cook in boiling water (cover pot, add salt) for 12-15 minutes.

Indigestion may be psychological, she says. It may result from a situation rather than from the food itself. If you would enjoy food, be relaxed and free from tension.

Oldsters Need Good Nutrition

EAST LANSING - The best way to provide for your later years nutritionally is to start while you're young.

But if you've already reached those later years and your nutrition hasn't been what it could be, Dr. Fortia Morris reminds you that your body has tremendous capacity to repair itself, even if it has been deprived for a period.

Dr. Morris, foods and nutrition specialist with the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, offers these suggestions for older persons who want to maintain a good diet.

● Eat a wide variety of foods. Nutrition requirements for those past middle age do not differ markedly from those in younger years.

For the person in normal health, a good, mixed diet will provide the nutrients he needs without making it necessary for him to buy expensive mineral and vitamin supplements.

● Watch the calories. You may have to eat considerably less because you use less energy. A woman 55 to 75, for example, needs an average of 1,800 calories a day - or the same amount as a four-year-old.

● Be sure you get adequate calcium, Vitamin C and protein. Studies show that older people have a tendency to decrease these important protective foods and maintain a high cereal diet.

● Enjoy your food. Resist the temptation to acquire notions about food - such as thinking a food doesn't "agree" with you anymore, the specialist recommends.

Indigestion may be psychological, she says. It may result from a situation rather than from the food itself. If you would enjoy food, be relaxed and free from tension.

Add Oranges to Two Summer Salads

Juiced, whole, or anyway you slice them, California Valencia oranges add a fresh, colorful, nutritious note to any menu or snack. Here are two new summer salads featuring fresh orange.

 1 cup chopped green onion tops

1/4 cup chopped parsley
 Salad greens

Sprinkle potatoes with salt and pepper; add oil and toss lightly to coat. Add mayonnaise and vinegar, tossing to blend. Mix in remaining ingredients. Refrigerate 1 hour to blend flavors. Serve on crisp salad greens. Makes 4 servings.

1/4 teaspoon pepper
 2 California oranges, peeled, cut into bite-size pieces

 1/4 teaspoon thyme, crushed

Seasoned Fruit

'Plum Good' at Holidays

Whoever heard of having fresh to see if the late ripening conplums on up to Christmas time. Roy Sumruld, that's who.

Sumruld, a rancher in California's San Joaquin Valley, has developed a plum, called Roy's, that doesn't ripen until early October, instead of in August as do most varieties.

It started about 18 years ago when Sumruld noticed a "sport" fruit on one tree in his orchard of Santa Rosa plums. The fruit on the one limb was ripening much later than plums on the other limbs.

He watched it for five years in December.

Sprinkle cucumber with salt and pepper; add oranges, green pepper and parsley. Combine yogurt and thyme and spoon over salad. Toss lightly to mix. Refrigerate 1 hour to blend flavors. Serve on crisp salad greens. Makes 4 servings.

Junior Editors Quiz on ANCHORS

QUESTION: How can a small anchor hold a much larger boat?

ANSWER: Almost all boats carry anchors to hold them in place when not moving and when there is no dock or permanent mooring to tie up to.

There are different shapes of anchors. We show a widely used type. When the boat stops, the anchor is dropped from the bow; its weight carries it down.

(1). There are two spade-like shapes at the bottom of the anchor called flukes. As the boat drift down away from the wind, its pull on the anchor line drags the anchor over (2).

One of the flukes catches in the sand or mud of the bottom. As the boat pulls harder, this fluke digs in, and its spade-shaped points get a powerful grip in the sand or mud. A crossbar prevents the anchor from turning over and letting the fluke pull out (3).

The boat itself is pointed at the bow and has smooth streamlined sides; there is no flat place for the water to push against, so it simply flows by.

Unless the wind blows very, very hard, the buried anchor fluke will hold the boat securely in place. Our friends in the picture can go ashore without worrying about the safety of their craft.

FOR YOU TO DO: There are other types of anchors where both flukes can get a grip on the bottom. See if you can find a picture of one.

"KIDS DIFFERENT" — Ozzie Joe Kelley, center, an Omaha cement worker who commented on recent disorders in that Nebraska city, said "the young kids who grow up now are a whole lot different than they used to be." At left is Vernon Laver, 64, with Bill Henderson, 52, at the right.

Pounding Rain Cools Omaha Tempers

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — At the city hall, the weary mayor watched the pounding rain and muttered: "Maybe this will cool things off." And it may have. Two miles from city hall on the near north side, a tentative peace followed the rain.

The drenching cooled the black, steamy pavement of North 24th Street, greened up lawns in front of closely spaced old houses, and freshened flowers that bloomed along shabby backstreets.

Only the workaday traffic moved in and out of a huge parking lot where bottles and stones flew during three nights of the Fourth of July weekend disorders.

Along North 24th Street, which for some 36 blocks is the north-south axis of the near north side, glass from shattered display windows had been swept away. Here and there were store fronts patched with sheets of plywood.

STILL NOT OVER?

But how much heat of resentment and frustration lingered behind drab facades remained to be seen.

"A lot," said a young Air Force veteran. "Those kids were just doing what their elders wish they had the guts to do."

Not all the elders agreed. What "those kids" had done had become the focal point of the civil rights movement in Omaha. It had dramatized demands and shocked this

Surgeon's Killer Gets 15-25 Years

DETROIT (AP)—The convicted slayer of Dr. Wayne W. Glas, former chief of surgery at Wayne County General Hospital, yesterday was sentenced to 15 to 25 years in Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Harold L. Russell Jr., 44, of Ann Arbor was convicted of second degree murder in the Oct. 2, 1965, shooting near the I-94 freeway.

Circuit Judge Horace W. Gilmore ordered Russell be given credit for the time he has served in jail since the slaying and urged him to take advantage of psychiatric facilities at the prison.

George E. Lee, Russell's court-appointed attorney said Russell is considering appealing his conviction.

Russell, a plant guard, maintained at his trial that Dr. Glas, driving to his hospital to treat a patient, had tried to run him off the road.

FOLLOWED CAR

Russell testified he followed the doctor's car off the freeway and pulled alongside it, intending to make a "citizen's arrest."

Witnesses said Russell walked up to the doctor's car after the two had left the road and shot Dr. Glas in the head with a revolver.

Russell contended the shooting was accidental.

Gilmore said the case was "one of the saddest and most unusual cases ever to come before this court."

CONVENED COUNCIL

Gilmore convened a three-member judicial sentencing council to determine what penalty should be imposed on Russell.

Serving with Gilmore were Judges Victor J. Baum and Blair Moody Jr.

Ann Arbor Gets Grant

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Ann Arbor was advised Wednesday, a $5,000 grant for survey and planning 200 low-cost housing units here has been approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Affairs.

Tito Weathers a 3rd Purge

By BORIS BOSKOVIC
BELGRADE (AP) — President Tito appears to have emerged stronger than ever from the third major postwar purge of Yugoslavia's Communist party.

A long and well hidden struggle for power reached a climax last Friday with the ouster of Vice President Alexander Rankovic, until then considered Tito's political heir, and Svetlana Stefanovic, boss of the secret police.

The purge is expected to spread. Rankovic and Stefanovic had strong support throughout the extensive state security apparatus and in the Serbian ranks of the Communist party.

Two politburo members — Stetan Zujovic and Cretan Androja Nebranj — were arrested in the first purge, in 1948, a product of the break between Tito and Stalin. Zujovic repented publicly, was restored to party membership and held minor posts until he retired. Nebranj committed suicide in jail.

SECOND PURGE

The second purge, in 1954, removed Milevan Djilas from the scene for advocating abolition of the Communist party's political monopoly and permission for other parties to operate. He is still in jail, sentenced for discussing state secrets in the years after the 1948 break with Stalin, preventing Stalinist followers from organizing opposition to Tito's independent Communist policies. But, in recent years, differences developed in the top leadership. There were intrigues and behind-the-scenes fights, unknown to the public.

The third purge must have been the most painful of all for Tito because Flankovic was in close associate for years, both during the war and after. He headed the secret police in

In 440-Mile Swim

Schoolteacher Keeps Paddling

BAINBRIDGE, Pa. (UPI)—from Sayre, Pa. said he was feeling fine on the tail end of his journey. He has been in the river with stops since June 14.

Chaffee said two people at his stops were treating him fine, especially with food.

He bedded down here Wednesday night after being forced out of the river earlier in the evening by a potential storm.

He waded to the shore about three miles north of Bainbridge, his destination for the night.

Chaffee said he then walked one-and-a-half miles to Hest Landing before diving back into the river and swimming to Bainbridge.

ON SCHEDULE

He said he lost two to three hours but is "still on schedule with the swim as far as the days are concerned." He said he should arrive at Havre De Grace, Md., his final destination, on July 11, as planned, "unless something unforeseen" upsets his timetable.

Chaffee said he will be tendered a party at Longview Dam, his final destination, at 7 p.m. today.

Four Boy Scouts in two canoes are accompanying Chaffee. They are James Twig and Robert Logan of Chambersburg and Marvin Van Duzen and Tim Murphy of Sayre.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Racing Commission approved Wednesday the twin double form of betting at Thoroughbred summer meeting opening Aug. 13.

Rookie Catcher Felled by Pitch

X Rays Are Scheduled for Birds' Etchebarren

BALTIMORE (AP)—Precautionary X rays were scheduled today for Andy Etchebarren of the Baltimore Orioles, who was struck on the left side of his batting helmet by a pitched ball Wednesday night.

The rookie catcher was felled by a pitch from Kansas City's Wes Stock in the fifth inning of Wednesday's second game.

Etchebarren slumped slowly to the ground, clutching his helmet with both hands. He was carried from the field on a stretcher, but did not lose consciousness.

Although Etchebarren appeared to be all right after an examination in the clubhouse, X rays were scheduled.

The Oriole catcher also was hit by a pitch from Guido Grilli in the first game, as he made one hit and drove in a run. Etchebarren singled in his first time at bat in the second game.

WILLIE WALLOPS SWINGS — The giant of the Giants, Willie Mays (24), is caught in the complete majestic grace of his powerful swing as he hits home run No. 524 Wednesday afternoon at Candlestick Park. His eighth-inning blast with two mates on base carried San Francisco to a 3-2 win over St. Louis. The catcher is the Cardinals' Tim McCarver and Tony Venzon is the umpire.

2 Brothers Pacing KC in Net Bid

FLINT (AP)—Kansas City's classy brother combination of Charles and Bob Alloo remained unbeaten through the second day of the National City Boys Tennis Tournament Wednesday but Chicago held its team lead.

The Chicagoans added 14 points without a loss and had 26 points to Kansas City's 24. Cincinnati had 19, St. Louis 7, Milwaukee 2, and Flint 1.

Kansas City, the favorite, will meet Chicago in the opening matches today in a tournament which runs through Saturday.

Charles Alloo continued to impress spectators by whipping Flint's No. 1 player, Burt Bothell, 6-0, 6-1, then scoring an almost equally easy victory over St. Louis' highly regarded Jay Haines, 6-1, 6-4.

Bob Alloo, who is ranked first in the country in 16-and-under doubles, kept pace with his older brother by downing Flint's Ralph Potter, 6-1, 6-1, and St. Louis' Mike Pelletier, 6-3, 6-4.

JOINED FORCES

The Alloos then joined forces and crushed Jack Stevenson and Jon Messick of Salisbury, Md., 6-0, 6-0.

Meanwhile, Chicago's lanky John Kayser continued to lead his front-running team, despite a late afternoon bid by Kansas City, which tied the score for a time at 2-1.

But the Kansans dropped two singles matches to St. Louis, which could have a big hand in determining the champion.

Although out of the championship picture after losing its top two players, Bob McGaughey at the time of Toomey's Kinley and Leo Estopore who best jump, a leap of 25-6.

Les Matthews, manager of the Louis Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the meet, defeated Kirkland Gates.

"We have a man to testify to 6-6, 6-2, and Paul Tobin de the wind gauge readings during the meet and we're refuting any comments that would change the status of the meet," Matthews said.

Space for Campers Available in North

LANSING (UPI)—Conservation officials reported Wednesday there was camping space available at three Northern Michigan parks for vacationers before the usual weekend crush.

The Higgins-Lake Bay City and Tawas Point State Parks still have camping space available, officials said.

However, they warned vacationers to "come early" because most of the camping sites would probably be taken by the start of the weekend.

Officials said camping sites probably would be available at three parks along the northern tip of the Lower Peninsula. They are the Oshtemo, Houghton and Aloha Parks.

KNEE DEEP IN THE ROUGH—South African Bobby Cole (right) hits from the deep rough off 10th fairway Wednesday at the Muirfield course in Scotland. The 18-year-old Cole, who recently won the British Amateur Golf Crown, is three strokes off the lead entering today's second round of the British Open championship. Jack Nicklaus of the United States and Britain's Jimmy Hickcock share first place with 70s.

Outlook Brightens for New City Entry

The season took a brighter hue last night for sponsor Tom Booth of the Booth Homes entry in the city Class A baseball race.

Hits for the outfield playing sponsor have been scarcer this season than victories for the team which is just breaking even (6-6) after expecting to contend for first place.

two singles and a double, scattering twice, in Booth's 6-5 victory over Cranbrook Wednesday.

The win was the team's second and over third-place Cranbrook (7-5) and left it alone in fifth place—the final playoff berth.

Cranbrook opened its first inning with three straight hits off young Dan Fife, who then walked home a run. In the third inning, sponsor Booth singled, stole second and third, and tallied the tying run on a fielder's choice. John Kasper followed with a three-run homer and the home builders had a lead they never relinquished.

Fife struck out eight in posting his first win while besing Mike Burklow, now 5-2, who fanned 11. First place is at stake tonight when Teamsters 614 challenges the R.T. Clippers at 8 o'clock under the Jaycee Park lights.

Southfield Golfer Finds Reasons to Celebrate

Along with being the birthday of her son, yesterday also was a big day for Mrs. Max Evans of Southfield.

Mrs. Evans fired a 36-37-73 at Bonnie Brook Golf Course to share first place with Mrs. Harold Weir of Dearborn Heights (35-38-73), and then won a playoff to take her second straight Women's Metropolitan Golf Association weekly tournament.

And after the luncheon, Mrs. Evans rushed home to help her son-year-old son Byron—celebrate his birthday.

A little luck on the 310-yard, par-4 11th hole helped Mrs. Evans to the 73. Her drive in the hole landed in a fairway water hazard.

After a stroke penalty, she hit her third shot short of the green and chipped her fourth shot into the cup to gain a par.

In the playoff, Mrs. Weir ran into trouble and Mrs. Evans won with a par on the 380-yard, par 4 hole. The victory was the fourth this season in the weekly outings for the Southfield golfer.

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (AP)—The two-day 36-hole Connecticut pro invitational golf tournament starts today. Ed Furgol of Miami Shores, Fla., and Bowie Johnson, Palm Springs, Calif., tied with one-under-par 71s in the pro division of the pro-am competition Wednesday.

He is a graduate of Minnesota, and was a football assistant at Michigan State for five years. As a head coach, Devine has compiled an 84-33-7 record.

Scottish Links No Easy Mark

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) British title for the third time. — If the big hitters of golf are finding it hard to take Muirfield in the British Open championship, the reason may be that Muirfield decided to take them in advance.

That belief was voiced today by Byron Nelson, the Texan who won virtually everything in sight from 1939 to 1943 and still holds the record of sweeping 11 straight tournaments.

Nelson, a spectator on these Scottish links who then illness prevented him from swinging a club said:

"This course has been made impossible for the real long hitters. With all that massive rough crowding in on the narrow fairways, the penalties for being off target are too severe."

It was precisely this consideration that made such stars as Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Doug Sanders, and Tony Lama concentrate on power irons instead of driving off the tees in Wednesday's first round.

Nelson, non-playing captain of the American Ryder Cup team which beat the British last year at Birkdale, England, said:

"Accuracy with the first shot must pay off here at Muirfield. Anything else is trouble."

Thinking the same way, Nicklaus used plenty of long irons to shoot a first-round one-under-par 70 over the 6,887-yard links beside the Firth of Forth.

With 54 holes to go he shares the lead with British Ryder Cupper Jimmy Hickcock, and the betting makes the Columbian, Ohio, master a solid favorite to keep ahead.

Lenza, of San Leandro, Calif., and Sanders, of Ojai, Calif., were one shot behind for par one year. Ruby Pastor, the Buffalo, N.Y., golfer, was unable to attend the meeting because of a death in his family, but is expected to be on hand to today's session.

Among seven tied at 72 were Gary Player, the South African star who was the Open here at Muirfield seven years ago, and Arnold Palmer, of Latrobe, Pa., still a hot tip to win the AJHL caliber elsewhere.

Seeded Netters Slump

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Only six of the 16 seeded American and foreign entries still were in the running for today's men's singles quarter-finals of the Western Tennis Tournament.

The rash of upsets added still another casualty Wednesday when an 18-year-old Tulane sophomore, hitting the senior circuit for the first time, stopped the No. 2 foreign entry, Owen Davidson of Australia.

Turner Howard, junior Davis Cup player from Knoxville, Tenn., handed Davidson a convincing 6-4, 6-4 setback.

With Davidson and Tony Roche of Australia, top foreign seed who was eliminated Tuesday, out of action, No. 3 foreign seed Mike Belkin of Canada, loomed the top threat to the U.S. contingent.

Belkin advanced to the quarter-finals with a 7-5, 6-1 triumph over Bill Harris, West Palm Beach, Fla., in the second round and a 6-4, 6-4 defeat of Bryan Cheney, Santa Monica, Calif., in the third.

Favored Dennis Ralston, top-seeded American entry from Bakersfield, Calif. also moved ahead with a 6-2, 6-4, third-round conquest of Robert Lutz, Los Angeles, national junior champion.

A softball league championship is almost out of the question in 1966 for Day's Sanitary Service in Waterford Township play, but the team may produce the season's batting leader.

Day's owns an unimpressive 8-7 record and sits well down in the Waterford standings, but the club has two of the top four hitters in the loop in Ben Traxler (.468), Dick Cooper (.464) and Jim Swain (.433).

Holding down third place in the batting race is Bill York of Midget Bar at .450.

Bricklayers Put Block to MSU Offices

EAST LANSING (AP) — Because of a lack of bricklayers, a major office-classroom building at Michigan State University may not be ready when students return next fall, an official said Wednesday.

Clair Huntington, MSU's director of new construction, said contractors had trouble reassembling crews of masons after a month-long walkout which ended June 7.

Many bricklayers took jobs in areas not affected by the labor stoppage, he said.

The building, an addition to Reddie Hall, was to have provided 200 offices for faculty members this fall. Only 11 masons were on the job there last Friday, Huntington said, and the number would have to be doubled to complete the building on time.

In addition, he said, new married housing units, originally scheduled for completion May 1, probably will not be finished before Sept. 1.

Hart Sees Packaging Bill as Big Break for Consumer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., says economists estimate the Senate-passed "truth in packaging" bill, which he sponsored, could save the average shopper about $200 a year simply by reducing the number of guesses he or she has to make.

The House has yet to act on the bill, backed by President Johnson, which the Senate passed 72-9.

Hart quoted from a magazine story of some three years ago which said:

"One of these days, with a little luck and some prodding on Capitol Hill, the packagers of soap flakes are going to be forced to adopt the high moral standards of Bourbon distillers."

While making clear he didn't want to be accused of pushing whisky sales by stressing the convenience of purchase, Hart said liquor stores are probably the easiest places in which to do comparative pricing.

"The bottles may come in different shapes but each will hold a fifth of a gallon and by studying the prices under each, the shopper can readily tell the lowest cost brand," Hart said.

"He may not buy the lowest brand but he will at least know how much he is paying for that 'extra smoothness.'"

Compare that, he said, to the difficulty of finding the least expensive instant coffee among a dozen brands all at different weights and prices.

The bill would allow the government, in cases where industry fails to act voluntarily, to set standard weights and measures in which products may be sold.

Flag-Desecration Halt Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A comment that "It is rather singular that . . . there is no federal statute to deal with such an offense."

American flag in two, spat out, then stomped on it.

In a Greenwich Village theater, an actor in the play "LBJ," burned an American flag.

At a Cordele, Ga., civil rights demonstration, the national and state flags were torn down and desecrated.

These and similar incidents across the country this year have produced a spate of bills in Congress to make desecration of the flag a federal crime.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., introduced a Senate measure April 13 with signed to each bill, a dozen or more measures have been introduced.

Most, like Dickinson's, would provide maximum penalties of a year's imprisonment and a $100 fine.

The toughest is sponsored by Rep. Mason O'Neal, D-Ga. Its penalties are the same as for burning a draft card, ranging up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Father Gives Kidney to Son in Try to Save Life

ANN ARBOR (AP) — That a 16-year-old son possibly may live, a 41-year-old father gave up one of his kidneys in an operation at University of Michigan Hospital Wednesday.

A healthy kidney from auto mechanic Robert Wetzel of Vaunderbrook Lake was transplanted into his son, Michael, whose kidneys have quit functioning and who has been kept alive since May 2 on a so-called mechanical kidney.

Both were reported doing nicely after the surgery.

Costs of the operation are being borne by a research grant from the U. S. Public Health Service.

Saturn Satellite Blown Up, NASA Reports a Day Later

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The U.S. space agency has reported more than 24 hours later that the 23-ton Saturn rocket is "blown up" as the world's heaviest satellite Tuesday was deliberately blown up in space less than seven hours after launch.

The 24-ton rocket-satellite disintegrated into about 175 pieces on its fourth pass over Corpus Christi, Tex., Tuesday and most of its remains are still in orbit.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said in a statement yesterday that the powerful second stage was "blown up" in a structural test to see how much hydrogen pressure the full tanks could stand.

There was no mention of a test earlier.

In fact, more than an hour before the rocket burst, a NASA spokesman giving a running commentary on the flight reported from the control center in Houston that the tests were completed and that the craft would remain in orbit for several days.

LICKED STABILITY PROBLEMS

Before bursting, the 200,000-pound thrust second stage proved it had licked the stability problems previously associated with liquid hydrogen in weighing space, and that it could restart in orbit.

The mission cleared the rocket for use as both a second stage for the Saturn 1 earth orbital launcher and the Saturn 5 Apollo moon rocket.

No. 2 Police Post Filled

DETROIT (AP) — District Inspector John F. Nichols was named yesterday to the No. 2 position in the Detroit Police Department.

Nichols, 47, was named by Police Commissioner Ray G. Rardin to the post of deputy superintendent, replacing Paul E. Sheridan, who retired nine days ago.

In recent weeks several patrolmen have been indicted by a grand jury on perjury charges.

However, Sheridan has said the probe of alleged police bribery had nothing to do with his retirement.

Sheridan's home telephone number was found in a "little black book" confiscated in a Grand Jury raid on a Detroit Greektown restaurant.

The owner and night manager of the restaurant were subsequently arraigned on gambling charges.

Nichols brings to his new $18,261-a-year job 24 years of Detroit Police experience, 18 of them in the detective bureau from which he was transferred less than eight months ago.

Henry S. Sedmack and George Zellman, both detective inspectors, were promoted to district inspectors.

State Pushing for Federal OK on Gas Pipeline

LANSING (AP) — The State Public Service Commission reports it is trying to expedite a Federal Power Commission decision on an application by Great Lakes Gas Transmission Co. to build a wholesale gas pipeline across Michigan.

The commission has asked for an early decision to permit construction this fall of a stretch of the proposed pipeline between Clare and Port Huron.

The utility has asked federal approval of construction of a pipeline from a point near Emerson, Manitoba, Canada, through Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula and across the straits to Port Huron, where it would reenter Canada.

When completed, the pipeline body of Mrs. Ruthie Lee Adams, also would deliver wholesale gas is scheduled next week. Mrs. in Michigan at six points along Sims, and Mrs. Adams' husband Paul, asked for the exhu-

Current Books

THE BIG KNOCKOVER. by David Hammett. Random House, $5.95.

The younger generation of readers who enjoy suspense and espionage novels should lose no time in getting acquainted with Hammett.

The older generation will remember "The Maltese Falcon" and "The Thin Man" which are classics. He pioneered the crisp wisecracking dialogue which so many others have taken up.

This book is a collection of nine magazine stories and short novels, mostly from the 1920s, plus an unfinished novel of an entirely different nature. It's a dandy book.

The title story is about a huge gang of imported hoodlums robbing two San Francisco banks simultaneously, after which the masterminds start slaughtering the hired gunmen at a whole sale rate, in order to retain all of the loot for themselves.

Its sequel, "106,000 Blood Money," has almost as much action and plenty of fast switches.

Another story, "The Gutting of Couffignal," is a bullet-riddled chronicle of mass mayhem that occurs when a mob takes over an island community.

MIDWAY, by William W. R. Smith. (Crowell $4.95): Retired Vice Adm. Smith's book is a description of the most decisive battle of World War II in the Pacific by an unusually qualified commentator — one of the four men who commanded the victorious U.S. forces.

The battle of Midway was no dramatic Hollywood has never quite dared to dramatize it. The issue was decided in five flaming minutes by dive bombers from the carriers Enterprise and Yorktown, after land-based planes and torpedo bombers had attacked repeatedly in vain.

Smith (then a captain) was chief of staff of the Pacific Fleet when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. He requested sea duty, and when he was promoted to rear admiral the following month he was assigned to command the cruisers in Rear Adm. Frank Jack Fletcher's Task Force 17.

The fact that American codebreakers were reading the Japanese admirals' mail contributed to the victory at Midway, but it does not detract from the skill and gallantry of the men who actually won the battle.

Smith tells the story of the decisive battle in crisp, no-nonsense, pulled language which does not minimize U.S. Navy mistakes but does emphasize the brains and the guts that hit the Japanese where they lived.

THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS. by Gene Gurney. (Crown $3.95): A picture story and history of the world's largest library. This stupendous collection of books, manuscripts, newspapers, recordings, music, etc. is a monument to man's achievements in learning about himself and his universe.

In 1800 Congress appropriated $5,000 "for the purchase of such books as may be necessary for the use of Congress at the said city of Washington, and for fitting up a suitable apartment for containing them."

A hundred and sixty-six years later, the Library is a national institution serving millions of researchers, readers and visitors in an endless variety of ways.

This book tells the proud story in more than 200 photographs and information-packed text.

NEW POSITION — Capt. William S. Carpenter, former West Point "loose end" and lately an Army field commander in South Viet Nam, rehearses at U.S. military headquarters in Saigon yesterday for his new job. At right is Capt. Thomas N. Sherburne, Pensacola, Fla., the man Carpenter will replace later in the week as aide to Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Viet Nam. Carpenter, who won Viet Nam's highest decoration for valor, is up for the Medal of Honor.

Jets Add to Woes

National Airport Plagues

WASHINGTON (UPI)—What is 25 years old, an absolute mess and one of the major topics of conversation—mostly griping—in the nation's capital?

The answer is a hunk of real estate across the Potomac River, only 10 minutes average driving time from downtown Washington—National Airport.

In the past few months, it has become probably the most overcrowded, traffic-saturated airport in the United States—worse, for example, than Chicago's O'Hare, New York's Kennedy or Los Angeles International.

National was opened to pure jets for the first time last April 24. There is a natural tendency to circle that date as the start of National's troubles—and to blame the admittedly serious congestion on the jets.

Both the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA), which operates the airport, and the airlines which serve it, agree that National would have been something of a mess this summer even without a single jet trip.

The jets didn't help. Their greater passenger capacity created gate and counter congestion problems, and many citizens are complaining bitterly about noise. But the prime reason behind National's problems is the simple fact that more people are flying.

People Plan Plush Pad for Pachyderms

LONDON (AP) — When it comes to new houses, elephants get a better deal in Britain than humans.

Vicacott Fisher, president of the Royal Institute of British Architects, said at an announcement of awards by the institute: "It must be characteristic of the British that they are at their best when designing for animals."

The design for the new $600,000 elephant house at the London Zoo beat more than 200 other entries that included houses, apartment houses, and office buildings. Eric Lubbock, Liberal member of the House of Commons, said the money spent on the elephant house could buy 40 July 26, the Cuban radio said.

Despite Dire Predictions

Neutral Laos Endures

By SPENCER DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — It would have been difficult a few years ago to convince anyone that Laos—neutralized in 1953—could exist for long.

Now, Laos has found a new self-confidence under its new premier Souvanna Phouma.

Responsible diplomatic sources here say they are completely convinced that without too much external assistance—and with the liquidation of the Communist threat posed by North Viet Nam—Laos can survive economically and politically.

MAIN REASONS

While the Viet Nam war has dominated Western attention, diplomatic informants thoroughly familiar with the situation say there are these main reasons for the increased self-confidence in Laos:

—It is felt that North Viet Nam is getting whipped in the field by South Vietnamese and U.S. soldiers.

—There is no sign so far that the Chinese Communists have strengthened their interest or influence in Laos.

—The flight to Thailand of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, former defense minister and deputy premier, and the elimination of a number of corrupt institutions and practices have led to a fresh view about the nation's economic future.

The 3 million people of Laos occupy a rich land. Their rice exports are much in demand, particularly in Japan.

After years of bitter fighting between government forces and the Communist-led Pathet Lao following the 1954 Geneva conference neutralizing Laos, a 14-nation meeting again was called in 1961.

COALITION RULE

A year later the nations—including the Soviet Union, Red China and the United States—agreed to set up a coalition government in Laos. They also signed a treaty making Laos a neutralist nation between the Communist and non-Communist nations in Southeast Asia.

But Premier Souvanna Phouma and his half-brother, the Red Prince Souphanavong, a deputy premier who heads the Pathet Lao, long have been completely at odds.

The premier considers his half-brother a prisoner of the North Vietnamese while Souphanavong calls Souvanna Phouma an American vassal.

SEEKS CONTROL

The North Vietnamese have supported the Pathet Lao under objectives fixed 40 years ago by President Ho Chi Minh when he wanted to gain control over all of French Indochina.

But this objective is still far from being achieved in Laos and the tide is beginning to ebb for Ho's men, according to sources here.

Cuban Cooks Will Compete (Without Rice)

MIAMI, Fla. (U)—Housewives in Cuba — one of the few countries in the Western Hemisphere where food is rationed — have been invited to take part in a cooking contest.

Havana Radio, monitored in Miami, said last night the contest would be sponsored by the Cuban Women's Federation.

A federation spokesman said any ingredients could be used except rice.

No explanation was given for the ban on rice but rations have been cut since Communist China decided to reduce shipments to Cuba.

PICKED FOR POST — Robert B. Bowie, 56, a lawyer and educator, has been nominated by President Johnson as counselor of the State Department. He is currently a professor of international relations at Harvard.

Fire at Club's Fish Fry Drowned in Lemonade

ROACHDALE, Ind. (AP) — Firemen say a firecracker apparently was responsible for a fire which destroyed three tents and caused an estimated $3,500 damage during a Lions Club fish fry in downtown Roachdale.

Since it was the handiest liquid available, firemen used buckets of lemonade to extinguish the blaze.

FBI Testimony Linking Casino to Underworld Is Reviewed

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Nevada gambling control agents said today they are reviewing FBI testimony linking a multimillion-dollar Las Vegas strip casino to the underworld.

A gaming control board spokesman said the FBI evidence, submitted in a U.S. District Court in Denver, will be evaluated to determine if the state will revoke casino gambling licenses.

Dean Elson, special agent in charge of the Las Vegas FBI office, told the court a concealed microphone at the Desert Inn hotel-casino picked up information of criminal activity.

"We had information coming to our attention that there was a vast sum of money being taken off the top by the ownership of the Desert Inn," Elson testified.

Taking money off the top, or "skimming," is a gambling term for removing winnings from casino counting rooms before they are tallied and reported to State and federal tax agencies.

CONTINUING INVESTIGATION

The Internal Revenue Service said it has been conducting a continuing investigation into the allegations. But it said it was not aware of FBI evidence until the Denver testimony.

Nevada law demands that all casino owners be officially recorded and licensed by the state after extensive personal background investigations.

The FBI testimony was the first official support to claims by critics of Nevada gambling that casino money finds its way into the underworld.

R. Burns Toolson, the FBI agent specifically assigned to the Desert Inn investigation, said the microphone was hidden in the Desert Inn's executive office on March 22, 1962.

DEVICE MONITORED

He said agents and clerks monitored the device 18 hours a day.

"If we received information regarding Sam Giancana or anyone else, we would send a copy to that office for the files," Toolson testified.

Giancana is the reputed kingpin of the Chicago crime syndicate. Gambling control officials have placed his name in their "black book" of persons who are banned from Nevada casinos.

Opposition Drive Set

Legislator Raises Hit

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Harold Brigham, a Nelson Township supervisor, said yesterday he will launch a state-wide move to block pay raises for members of the Michigan Legislature.

Brigham said that unless someone makes an attempt to organize the opposition, the salary increase will go into effect against the "wishes of the majority of the people."

Brigham declared the task of acquiring 154,000 signatures needed to force the matter to a public vote is staggering.

Both houses of the Legislature passed a bill increasing the salary of Michigan legislators to $15,000 a year, making them the highest paid in the nation, and entailing a boost of $2,500 a year.

Brigham said he felt the Legislature had taken advantage of the people.

"The Legislature knew the will of the people but did not pay any attention to it," he asserted.

Brigham said he is in the process of organizing a committee for the referendum to block the raises.

He suggested that petitions would be sent to county boards of supervisors in the 83 Michigan counties and that it might be possible to enlist labor unions and other organizations, such as the Farm Bureau, in circulating them.

A divorce has been granted the wife of Phillip Crosby, one of crooner Bing Crosby's sons.

The divorce was granted yesterday in Los Angeles Superior Court, where Mary Joyce Crosby, 26, told a private hearing that Crosby, 32, made her nervous, used profanity and stayed out late, sometimes all night.

The couple has a daughter, Mary Elizabeth, and Mrs. Crosby is expecting a second child.

They were married in Las Vegas Aug. 21, 1964.

Personal Plane Ready for Premier Ky

A rebuilt four-engine plane, complete with television, stereo, bar and a big gold stripe down the side is due for service in Saigon soon.

The plane has been designated the personal transport of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. It was flown to Saigon from Oakland, Calif., by an American crew.

"It's very nice old airplane, well within the budget of any large American corporation," said Herbert Read, western division manager of the Air Carrier Service Corp.

Other sources estimated the price of the plane, a DC-6B, at close to $500,000.

Topless Bar Show Case Going Higher Up

Did Jean Davis outrage public decency when she modeled a topless bathing suit in her husband's bar? It's up to the California State Supreme Court to decide.

Jean and husband Harlan C. Davis, who owns the Golden Nugget in Hawthorne, Calif., were convicted of outraging public decency, but the State District Court of Appeals reversed the conviction, saying the state law was unconstitutionally vague.

Hawthorne City Attorney A. B. Keep appealed yesterday to the State Supreme Court to reinstate the conviction.

End Pupil's Dependence Habit

By LESLIE J. NASON

Dear Dr. Nason: My daughter's marks have been consistently below average in the seventh and eighth grades. Her test results show she must have guessed at most of the answers. When her math teacher felt she was not ready for algebra, we hired a math tutor. This does not seem to be a completing the results for which we had hoped.

Our daughter, DR. NASON, is relying on her tutor to explain the classwork. This merely transfers the reliance she previously placed on her parents.

Since neither my husband nor I are teachers, we are hard put to help her in any but a general way.

I would appreciate it if you could give us any specific suggestions on how we, as parents, can help our child feel more sure of herself.

Mrs. N. J., Levittown, Pa.

Answer: The habit of guessing rather than thinking is often found associated with dependence on others for aid in understanding and completing school work. These habits are not easily broken. However, I have found a combination of three things to be effective: First, some person skilled in the subject must spend enough time to make the student aware of the nature of his problem.

Secondly, the student must recognize the problem and be willing to put forth effort for its solution.

Third, there should be specific discussion over a period of time regarding the method of reading for understanding during class periods. The student must make a conscious effort to think rather than guess on examinations.

Tutors do not always proceed in this manner; however, they will usually cooperate if requested to do so.

Lansing Will Vote on Firemen's Pay

LANSING (AP) — Lansing voters will decide Nov. 8 on an estimated $152,000-a-year proposal to give city firemen equal pay with policemen.

Lansing firemen, who earlier picketed City Hall over the pay issue, submitted petitions forcing an election on the question.

Current starting pay for firemen is $6,101 a year and for policemen $6,636. A chemically treated bandage will be wrapped around a tree in the spring would be absorbed and distributed through its branches to kill all insects feeding upon it.

ORIGINAL CAST — Sixty years ago, on July 11, 1906, a 20-year-old farm girl, Grace Brown, met death in Big Moose Lake in the Adirondacks of New York 100 miles north-west of Albany. Chester Gillette (left) was convicted of her murder, and the case

'American Tragedy' Scene Is Revisited

BIG MOOSE, N.Y. — (AP) — Men to testify at the trial who they would go away for a few days to Big Moose, N.Y., and Roy C. Hibby, days and be married Gillette, July 11, 1906, Grace Brown, owner of a resort on Big Moose Lake, met death in Big Moose Lake in the Adirondacks of New York 100 miles north-west of Albany. Chester Gillette (left) was convicted of her murder, and the case

The finding of her body in the lake's water, in central New York, following day touched off one of the most celebrated murder cases in American history. He had been a drifter until he came to Big Moose, where he met Grace Brown. The case became a rising young man in his uncle's business.

Chester E. Gillette, 23, an ordinary murderer, was later estimated to her farm home in Auburn, near the state prison. But the years only add to the legend and folklore. It now includes two books, two motion pictures, two plays, a television program, magazine articles, student theses, a folk song and uncounted personal memories.

The case is still a popular topic among residents of the area, although most of the voices are those of a generation whose only knowledge of the events was gained second hand.

SOME EXCEPTIONS — Among the exceptions are the John Denio of Old Forge, who crashed head-on north of Big Moose, he 86, believed to be the only

Not Profound Literature

Postcards Pathetic Pop Art

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Millions of people take vacation trips this time of year in order to have something to write about on postcards.

Postcards are the billboards of the common man on which he chronicles in deathly prose the story of his passing.

"Drove 550 miles today. Hope to make 600 tomorrow."

"Wish you were — instead of me. This motel charges $18 per day, and even more on days when they put water in the swimming pool."

"Having wonderful time. Hope you are changing the gravel in the cat's box regularly."

Writing postcards is undoubtedly our most widespread form of pop art. It is as American as the hot dog, the pizza pie and chop suey.

'WORDS FAIL US' But for a people inventive enough to come up with the skyscraper, the airplane and bubble gum, it is amazing how our lack of ingenuity fails when we have to put down our thoughts on a postal card. Words fail us, or the words we do sum up strike us as hollow even as we write them.

No scholar has won his Ph.D. by a profound study on "social consciousness in U.S. postcard literature," because it is rarely conscious and it is never literature. No Nobel Prize has ever been awarded to a postcard author, anyone than it has been given to any aviator for sky writing.

As a matter of fact, it is difficult to find a name any immortal message inscribed on a postcard.

Legend says that Abraham Lincoln wrote the Gettysburg Address on the back of an old envelope. Had his pocket contained a postcard instead, he probably would have wound up with:

"Dear Mary, it's a nice battlefield here. Running low on shirts. What's new in the White House? Love, Abe."

Men are peculiarly inept at composing postcards. The average man will waste an afternoon, bite his tongue raw, and develop writer's cramp composing three postcards, such as:

"Raining when we passed through Yellowstone. However, did see two bears and a forest ranger."

"Gas here costs two cents a gal less than in our town. Everything okay in the office? Regards to the gang."

Just saw Niagara Falls. Great place for a guy who likes outdoor showers."

WOMEN ARE DIFFERENT Women are just the other way. They take a peculiar delight in postcards. They can even write them while descending on muleback into the grand canyon.

A postcard is a definite challenge to a woman. She wants to be sure she gets her 4-cent stamp's worth. Where a man finds nothing to write, she can't find enough space to chronicle her scenery-thrilled soul.

The fellow who engraves the Lord's Prayer in miniature on a penny is a piker compared to a woman. She tries to compress an encyclopedia on every postcard.

She fills up the regular space, puts her second thoughts in the diameter saucer-shaped basin where radial mechanical arms slowly move around to push the settled solid wastes to the center. Such basins, or clarifiers, are usually only 30 feet in diameter.

Up to 50 million gallons a day of water will be cleared, and 60 tons of cellulose fiber wastes removed.

Commercial Satellite Plans Due by Aug. 1

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — U.S. plans for commercial communications satellites will be firmly outlined by Aug. 1.

The domestic system will be one that can later be "plugged into" a global network for transmitting television, radio and telephone messages anywhere in the world.

The "magic date" for having U.S. satellites in orbit by 1969, James McCormack, chairman of the House of Representatives Committee on Communications, said here.

Comsat operates Early Bird, the world's first communications satellite that is now in a synchronous orbit 22,300 miles above the mid-Atlantic, linking North America and Europe.

The proposed communications satellites, either two or four, will also be placed in synchronous orbit. Mr. McCormack told the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics.

The global satellites will be larger and have more power than Early Bird. They would weigh about 250 pounds, compared with Early Bird's 65 pounds. Proposed equatorial orbits are over the mid-Pacific and the eastern Atlantic.

Veterans' Benefits—3

Education Aid Available

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third article in a 17-part series on benefits for veterans.)

By RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON — Eligible veterans are entitled to one month of full time education support for every month of active duty since Jan. 31, 1955. The maximum is 36 months.

If you attend school part time you receive less aid per month, but you are entitled to more months of aid.

If you go to school half time, for example, and if you are entitled to 36 full time months of education, you will be aided at half-rate for 72 months.

The following chart lists benefits available under various circumstances.

Type of Program	No Dependents	One Dependent	Two or More Dependents
Institutional:
Full-time	$100	$125	$150
Three-quarter time	75	95	115
Half-time	50	65	75
Co-operative	80	100	120
*Full-time institutional program, with training in business or industrial establishment supplemental thereto.

"Dependent" means a child, wife, or dependent parent. "Wife" includes the husband of a female veteran only if he is incapable of self-maintenance and is permanently incapable of self-support due to mental or physical disability.

When a male veteran and his wife who is also a veteran pursue educational programs, both allowances are at the "no dependent" rate, but if they have a child or children, such children are considered as dependents of both.

These government payments obviously will not pay all the living and other expenses of a veteran going to school.

Unless a veteran has considerable savings or helpful and able parents, he will have to tap other sources of money.

He will have to depend probably on a combination of private or government loans, scholarships or fellowships, and part-time work to get through college or graduate school.

You will have eight years from the date of your discharge from active service to complete the courses for which you are receiving aid. However, no veteran will be required to finish his courses before May 31, 1974.

These educational benefits for post-Korea veterans began June 1, 1966. There is no provision for retroactive payments to veterans for training which they may have taken at their own expense prior to that date.

DEDUCT MONTHS
If you have received aid under any other veterans' educational program but are eligible for aid under this new law, the months of aid you've previously received will be subtracted from what you would otherwise be entitled to.

Application blanks and full information are available at Veterans Administration offices and at colleges and other educational centers.

John Wayne Tells of Viet Experiences

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Press conferences for entertainers back from Viet Nam have become a Hollywood ritual. This week it was John Wayne's turn.

Universal City, where Wayne

Spoilers" in 1942. Reporters found out when they arrived.

They were handed releases an-ouncing that the star would appear in two Universal films, a Western called "The War

Bears" based on the novel about the Viet Nam war.

Wayne had driven up from his home at Newport Beach, and he wore a plaid shirt, white tie, blue jacket, black slacks and

cameramen set up for the conference.

Finally his patience ran out

LAUDED PERFORMANCE

Actor George Chandler, chairman of the Hollywood Overseas

Committee, lauded Wayne's performance in Viet Nam. He said that Wayne was the first to volunteer when the Defense

Department asked for stars to visit the war a year ago.

"I'm having a little battle of

was then recovering from a cancer operation, "but I'll go as soon as the doctors let me."

He went last month for three weeks of talking to the troops in hospitals, bases and on carriers.

exposure to Viet Cong gunfire.

"I wasn't conscious there was any (Viet Cong) in the area until the Marines went into action," he said. "They did find a bicycle that the sniper had been using."

Wayne called upon his movie background to describe the war.

In some respects it was like a Western, he said.

"I visited places that were like fortresses or outposts," he remarked. "The Vietnamese live there, along with a few

Americans. The Vietnamese

was at one post where the Viet

On a lighter note, he told of going to the intensive-care unit of an Army hospital for treatment of an eye infection. He spotted a seriously wounded

went over to introduce himself.

NEXT EVENT

"I can see what will happen when the kid recovers and goes back to his unit," said Wayne.

"He'll tell the others, 'If you get that happened to me. Some guy wounded, which out they don't came up to my bed and said,

'put you in the psychiatric ward.' 'Hi, I'm John Wayne.'"

Sedative Aids in Treatment of Jaundice

By Science Service

NEW YORK — Jaundice is a fairly common condition of newborn babies but phenobarbital, the adult sedative, is believed to be reported as a treatment for the first time.

This stubborn case has been kept under control for nearly two years.

The baby girl appears to have a genetic disorder in which the liver is unable to metabolize pigments of bile, called bilirubin, properly.

The pigments accumulate in the blood and body tissues, causing the typical yellow discoloration.

Dr. Sumner J. Yaffe and his co-workers at the State University of New York in Buffalo explain that extensive animal studies have shown that the phenobarbital stimulates enzyme activity in the liver, and because of this, they tried the sedative on the baby.

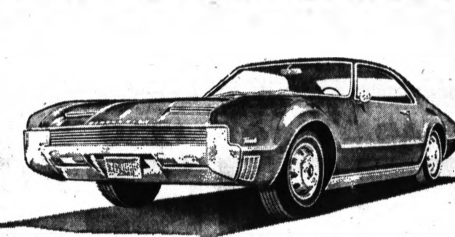

The Medical World News reports that dosages were gradually increased until she was 30 weeks old, after which she was given 15 milligrams by mouth three times a day.

LEVELS ROSE

When the drug was stopped, the bilirubin levels rose to a dangerous peak, so they started treatment again.

The child shows no ill effects from the medication. She is free of jaundice but the bilirubin is still not normal.

Flames At A Pontiac Township Dump Last Night Could Be Seen For Miles

Board Backs Rezoning for Avon Twp. In Industry

News of the Area

AVON TOWNSHIP—The township zoning board last night recommended that 24.12 acres of land at Rochester and Orion roads be rezoned to light industrial in spite of objections from about 50 residents of the area.

The Dura Corp. of Oak Park is seeking the rezoning in order to build a five-building complex on the site across from the National Twist Drill and Tool Co.

Owners of property near the land in question claim the area is strictly residential and that industry should be confined to the southern portion of the township.

They also pointed out that a traffic problem which already exists there would be compounded. Supervisor Cyril E. Miller has been trying to get a signal light installed at that corner to alleviate the congestion caused by traffic from National Twist Drill and the shopping center.

The zoning board was not unanimous in its decision to recommend rezoning. The five members who voted in favor of it claimed that the plant will be in style with National Twist Drill and the Holley Computer plant across the street.

The two members who opposed the rezoning agreed with the residents that a traffic problem would be created. The firm has an option to purchase the land from Avon Center Hospital. The section was rezoned to administrative and professional two years ago when the hospital planned to construct a new building.

Hospital officials then decided to expand the present facilities on Avon Road and put the property up for sale.

The parcel has 400 feet fronting on Rochester and 1.025 on Orion.

Dura Corp. manufactures electronic and electronic-mechanical equipment and business machines.

The proposed five buildings

Troy Bond Request

Is Approved by State

TROY — An application by the city to borrow $465,000 in special assessment bonds has been approved by the State Municipal Finance Commission. The city will use the money for sewer and water main improvements.

Cost of Subdivision Water Eyed in Independence Twp.

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has agreed to launch a study to determine a cost estimate for installing a water line from Pelton Heights Subdivision to the proposed Spring Lake Estates Subdivision.

The two subdivisions are about one-half mile apart, according to township officials, who have approved the preliminary land plan for Spring Lake Estates Subdivision, located on the southwest corner of Waterford and Maybee roads.

Pelton Heights has its own central water system.

Township officials apparently are inclined to feel that Spring Lake Estates, which consists of 59 lots, should be required to have or be part of a central water system instead of utilizing individual wells.

However, to date the township has taken no firm policy on just how large a new subdivision should be to require a central water system.

LARGE EXPENSE

Developers Lytel, Hurstfall and Ross, Inc., contend they cannot afford to install a central water system in Spring Lake Estates.

If a line is linked between the two subdivisions, the township will pay costs and be reimbursed by the developers.

The Pelton Heights system includes a well, a reserve well and a 5,000-gallon storage tank.

In other recent business, the board approved a rezoning request of Ben and Frank Soave, changing the zoning classification of a 90-acre parcel of land on Maybee Road near Sashabaw from suburban farms to residential.

A proposed street-lighting special assessment district project for Guyette Street has been rejected by the board because of public discontent.

The service charge would have been $150 a year or $6 to each of the 25 lot owners involved. Clerk, Howard Altman and Trustee Merle Bennett have been appointed as delegates to the Genesee Valley Authority, of which Independence township is a member along with 15 other communities.

Clerk Claims No Need for 6th Cemetery

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Three men from the Bay City-Saginaw area, who hope to open a private cemetery here by late spring 1967, have run into unexpected opposition.

Township Clerk Howard Altman, who did some research on the proposal, said the township doesn't need another cemetery.

The three men propose to establish a cemetery on a 40-acre site on Orion Road near Pine Knob Road.

The cemetery would be named Hillview Memorial Gardens Cemetery, according to township officials.

The Township Board, which has tabled action on the request for study, is expected to make a decision at a special meeting at 7:30 next Tuesday night.

OFF TAX ROLLS

If the cemetery is allowed, the property automatically will be erased from township tax rolls.

Through a study conducted by Altman and others, it was estimated that there are now 116,431 available grave sites in the township's five cemeteries.

It was predicted that no new cemeteries would be needed until the township's population reached 100,000. The current population is about 10,000.

The five existing cemeteries, two privately owned, take in about 145 acres of land.

Seeks Warrant After Blaze

Pontiac Twp. Official Riled by Dump Fire

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — A fire at a land-fill site on Bald Mountain last night has prompted Township Supervisor Leonard Terry to seek a warrant against the firm which operates the dump.

Terry said the fire, which broke out once on Tuesday, started by spontaneous combustion because the company has repeatedly failed to cover the dump with dirt.

He plans to seek a warrant against the National Resources Corp. of Detroit for violating a township ordinance which says dumps must be covered with dirt.

He said he obtained a temporary restraining order against the company two weeks ago but that it was lifted by a District Court judge in Detroit.

"This place has been a thorn in my shoulder ever since it started," he said. "They've done everything against the rules, but I can't run around checking on them every five minutes."

The fire first broke out Tuesday on the five-acre site just east of M24. Pontiac Township firemen thought it had been extinguished but it started up again last night.

It created a traffic jam along the highway and threatened the nearby Silverbell Ski Resort.

Terry said he ordered the firemen to pull back from the site for fear they would be injured by explosions. He said two men were taken to the hospital Tuesday with injuries suffered in the first fire. No one was hurt last night.

2 With Knives Rob Gas Station of $80

UTICA — Two men armed with knives held up a gas station at 45310 Van Dyke early this morning and escaped with about $80.

Utica police said the two men entered the station about 2:40 a.m. and took the money from the cash register.

They said the attendant, Patrick Kelly, was uninjured.

Five Attend Music Course

Five area students are attending Eastern Michigan University's 14th annual summer session for high school musicians which runs through Sunday.

They are Dave Staerck and Michael Foot, both of Dryden; Cheryl Westdale, 29445 Highmeadow, Farmington Township; and Barbara and Jonni Gooden, 3995 Tyroon, Orchard Lake.

The session will conclude with a concert at 3 p.m. Sunday in Pease Auditorium. It will feature the summer session band, choir and orchestra.

Utica School Board Reelects Its President

UTICA — The Board of Education has reelected William Roberts to his second term as president.

Incumbents chosen to serve with him were Donald Hoyt, treasurer, and William Papp, secretary. William Porter was elected vice president.

4-H Supervisor

New Extension Service Agent

Another 4-H agent was added to the Cooperative Extension Service staff of Oakland County this week.

Richard W. Brown, 23, a 1965 graduate of Michigan State University, will work with Emil Fimlinger, who has supervised the county's 4-H program for the past nine months.

Brown's area of responsibility will be limited to Oakland County, while Fimlinger acts as an area director for Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties.

A high school science teacher in Toledo during the past school year, Brown holds a bachelor's degree in agricultural education and biological science. He graduated from high school in Tennessee.

Brown is married and has one son. He and his wife, Christine, will live in the Canterbury Apartments on S. East Boulevard.

School Board Leader Reelected in Oxford

OXFORD — Louis B. Coryell has been reelected president of the Oxford Board of Education. Chosen to serve with him were Roe Sausser, secretary and Stewart Langley, treasurer.

Assaulted Child

Hunt for Wixom Kidnaper Is Still On

WIXOM — Descriptions and drawings of a middle-aged man wanted for kidnapping and assaulting an 8-year-old Wixom girl have been widely circulated as area police continue their investigation of the case.

Patricia Lakner of 47000 West Road was found in Novi June 27 after a man took her for a six-hour automobile ride.

Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bromson said the victim's testimony indicated she had been molested.

A Detroit Police Youth Bureau agent made a drawing of the suspect from the girl's description.

Wixom police described him as being in his early 40's, 5 feet 10 inches tall, 210 pounds with blue eyes, light brown receding hair combed straight back, a round face, thin lips, short neck, pointed nose, light eyebrows and a small mustache.

Wixom police said the girl was picked up near her home and taken for what she said was a "long . . . silent ride."

She told police that the man drove her around saying nothing when he suddenly stopped the car and ordered her to "get out, now."

A woman found the girl wandering along a rural road and called the girl's father from a nearby store.

Current Operations in Viet Nam Viewed

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson has reviewed current military operations in Viet Nam with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, an overnight guest at the President's ranch.

Johnson and McNamara got together in advance of day-long talks the secretary will have Friday in Honolulu with Adm. U. S. Grant Sharpe, commander of all American forces in the Pacific and Southeast Asia.

The defense chief flew to the LBJ ranch some 60 miles north of here, shortly after three other Viet Nam experts ended a four-hour visit to the Johnson home and flew to Los Angeles to brief the national governors' conference.

The earlier visitors were nowing Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, Lt. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaste, secretary to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Walt W. Rostow, Johnson's special presidential assistant for national security affairs.

Johnson has said McNamara and Sharpe will discuss military operations and logistical plans in connection with the Viet Nam war.

Britain's Entry to Euromart Is Contab Topic

LONDON (UPI) — French and British premiers probed the common market today in the first across-the-table meeting since President Charles de Gaulle vetoed British admission three years ago.

French Premier George Pompidou and Britain's Harold Wilson met with their foreign ministers and top aides for the second round of their three-day policy talks which opened here yesterday.

Britain wants to get a clearer commitment from France on whether or not she is now prepared to lift the veto on British entry into the common market (Euromart).

Predictions were that little more than a "better understanding" of each other's viewpoint will emerge from the talks with no immediate prospect for British entry into Europe.

Lion Loved His Trainer, but Then ...

ALLIANCE, Neb. (UPI) — A lion "raised on love" turned on his trainer at a circus last night, mauling the man until the trainer's wife and two standbys pulled the lion off.

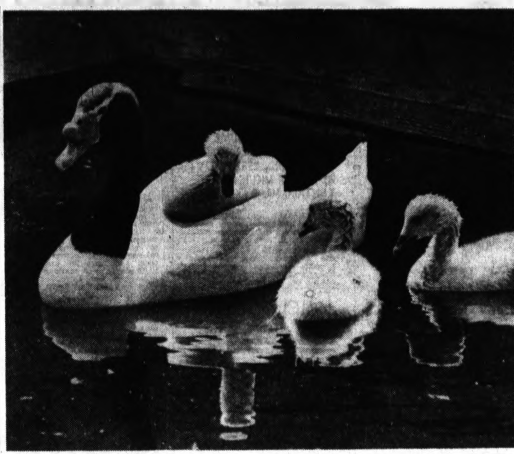

The Roland and Sheila Stevenson act had just begun before some 300 persons at the Gem International Circus in the Alliance High School stadium.

The announcer had told of how the lion was trained with no whips or gas and was trained on love when the animal jumped on Stevenson.

Mrs. Stevenson used a ring about three feet in diameter to attempt to pull the animal away from her husband.

Stevenson was listed in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph's Hospital. He was being treated for arm, side and back wounds.

The Denver-based circus was brought here by the Alliance Chamber of Commerce with profits slated to go for a school project.

New Jobs Eyed for Surveyor 1

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Now that America's photographer on the moon, Surveyor 1, has revived, scientists are trying to devise experiments that won't produce returns of the same old thing.

One experimenter at Jet Propulsion Laboratory, asked what was next on Surveyor's agenda, said: "I'm not sure we know that ourselves."

Basically, as far as the camera goes, we're first interested in whether it's working," said Jack Lindley, director of the space sciences and command group.

"We'd also like to know if we can command it and that it will respond."

WERE UNPREPARED

The scientists were a little unprepared for surveyor's revival, having almost given up hope when the 600-pound instrument package failed to answer a week of efforts to make contact. Surveyor finally answered Wednesday.

Lindley, however, said it would probably be Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday before any effort is made to turn on the camera.

For Spy Work

Wanted: Unhappy Hubbies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Happily married men need read no further. The supermoops of the Central Intelligence Agency have no intriguing foreign assignments for you.

But if a two-year hiatus away from home and family suits your fancy, read on. You may qualify. All you have to do is find the right classified advertisement.

Ernest A. Ostro, a reporter for the Washington Evening Star, reported yesterday that in the course of his search for a job sometime ago, he answered an innocent looking ad in a trade magazine.

The ad called for a newsman with experience in community and international affairs, fluent in foreign languages, and prepared to accept a challenging assignment abroad.

Liberal pay, benefits and moving expenses were offered too. "Lightweights," the ad said, need not apply.

RECEIVES LETTER

Ostro sent off a resume to the company listed under a New York post office box, and some weeks later received a letter from Ann Arbor, Mich.

It was signed by a man who said he was a representative of the CIA.

For the purposes of his story, Ostro identified the company as the America Development Corp. and the CIA official as Ralph P. Penrod. Neither were the actual names used in the event.

As Ostro tells it, the letter asked him to come to Ann Arbor and a "modern type-building set back from the main road."

It also urged him to keep all this business confidential and not reveal the CIA's sponsorship of the ad. Ostro said he never got to Ann Arbor, but did talk on the telephone with Penrod.

"We're very interested in you," Ostro was told. "How do you get along with your wife?"

"Fine," the newsman replied. "That's too bad," said Penrod. "We're really looking for someone who wants to leave his family for two years, maybe more."

Snoop Device Ruled Illegal

Judge Rejects 'Pen Register' Evidence

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. District Judge Walter H. McCree Jr. ruled Wednesday that federal agents may not use a snoop device called a "pen register" to find out who makes telephone calls to whom.

McCree quashed the search warrants, which authorized agents to tap two years ago on 16 alleged gambling dens and suppressed gambling evidence agents said was found in the places raided.

He said information obtained by the Internal Revenue Service from Michigan Bell Telephone Co. was secured illegally and that use of the "pen register" violated federal law.

The device, which registers the number of calls telephoned, being checked, was used by federal agents to find what they said were offices of a numbers and betting operation which grossed $740,000 in the four months before the raid.

Although evidence obtained by listening to or recording telephone calls has long been inadmissible in federal courts, the prosecution argued that the pen register was legal because it did not intercept messages.

Said Judge McCree: "Paul Reeve's associate, who hung a lantern in the North Church, would hardly have been exculpated in a trial for treason if he argued that he was not sending a communication but was only illuminating the belfry."

5 in Military Recall of VWs Hits 480,000

Including 200,000 in U.S. and Canada

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five military officers have run into a roadblock — the Viet Nam war — in their attempts to return to civilian life. So they're suing the Pentagon.

Four of them charge that by refusing to accept their resignations the Defense Department is holding them in "involuntary servitude" in violation of the fourteenth Amendment of the Constitution. The fifth claims his civil rights are being violated.

All have brought suits in federal district courts to require the secretaries of the Army and Navy to accept the resignations as part of their official duties.

Three Army captains — Samuel C. Caele, Edward J. Dwyer, and Eugene A. Fisher — have filed suits in U.S. District Court, Alexandria, Va., against Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor. Caele is with the Army Signal Corps here, Fisher and Dwyer are stationed at Ft. Dix, N.J.

Navy Lt. Cmdr. Laurence C. Baidard Jr., who said Secretary of the Navy Paul Nitze in U.S. District Court, San Diego, Calif., is currently stationed at the naval air base in Agaña, Japan.

And Lt. Cmdr. Robert S. Bordner, who brought suit in Boston against Nitze and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, is a Navy surgeon on board a destroyer in the Pacific, according to the Pentagon.

All five are in the regular Army or Navy. All contend they have completed the minimum tour of duty to which they were first appointed.

Power Lines Threat to Beautiful U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—America is going to require an estimated 1 million miles of power lines by 1980, and unless more of them go underground the skies over U.S. cities could become black with wire.

Would the Great Society contend of a beautiful America, could unsightly power lines? The Senate Commerce Committee thinks not.

The committee is expected to approve a bill to study the economic and esthetic advantages of burying electrical transmission lines when Congress returns from the Fourth of July recess.

Out at 14, He Nosed Back Into Show Biz at a Ripe 31

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Herschel Bernardi, the bearded beauty of "Fiddler on the Roof," retired from Show Business at 14 when his wonderful soprano voice faded . . . and until he was 19 he just skulked around muttering to himself that he was a has-been.

"Then I went to the director I'd worked for last, Boris Segal, and said, 'I want to get back in Show Business.'"

"He said, 'What that nose?'"

"I said, 'With that you mean, "that nose?" It's the same nose!'"

"He said, 'Yeah, but something happened to it. The nose grew up, but nothing else did. You have no chin. Come back in 10 years when your face grows up and fits your nose.'"

"I waited 12 years, but he was right!"

Bernardi at 31 was ready for Show Business—and a beard filled out his face. The director who'd advised him to wait, now took him around to other directors, of movies and TV and stage, and pointed to the bearded Bernardi with pride.

"Look at that utility face!" he shouted. "Is that a utility face?"

"Like a utility man on a ballclub. I could play anything. I could be a Greek, Frenchman, Italian, Indian . . . I could be a dishwasher, postman, policeman, scientist, professor, or even President U. S. Grant. I played a Civil War general—with a mustache—in 'Profiles in Courage.'"

He's played everything from a police officer in "Peter Gunn" to a French police inspector to Natalie Wood's brother to Teyte, the milkman in "Fiddler." The face now fits his nose.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

There may still be some guests left over at the Hideaway after the big, swinging birthday bash for "Rhinestone Danny" Stradella. More than 50 of his friends gave a party, including Johnny Carson, Red Buttons, Jack E. Leonard, Ford and Hines, Robert Preston, Jack Cassidy, Marty Allen and Joe E. Lewis. The affair sprawled over three floors, and was one of the best we can recall.

General Ike's wartime Mess Sgt. John Schwartz, now one of the owners of the Headquarters restaurant, had his mess-kit gold plated and gave it to Ike as a 50th anniversary gift. . . . Pearl Bailey was breaking it up at the Shoreham Terrace in Washington when Lena Horne arrived with Perle Meta. Pearl got Lena up on the floor with her and they did a duet of "Down by the Old Mill Stream."

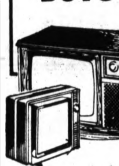

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "People forget how fast you did a job—they remember how well you did it."—Howard W. Newton.

EARL'S PEARLS: Cops comic Hank Bradford doesn't approve of women wearing slacks—especially on windy days.

Morty Gunty says that whenever he gets discouraged about New York, he buys a California newspaper, turns to the travel section and reads about the wonders of our town in the airline ads . . . That's all, brother.

Distiller Owes $26 Million

WINDSOR, Ont. (UPI) — Hiram Walker distillers has been told it owes the U.S. government $26 million in back taxes, the corporation said yesterday.

The office of Clifford Hatch, president of Hiram Walker — Goodenham & Worts Ltd., said the U.S. Internal Revenue Service audited the firm's income tax returns for its U.S. operations from 1958 to 1962 and suggested "substantial" disallowances.

It said the IRS told the company it should not have deducted the cost of some interest payments and certain selling expenses.

Safety Council Leader Denies Nader's Charge

CHICAGO (UPI) — National Safety Council President Howard Pyle yesterday denied author Ralph Nader's charge that the safety council is "dominated by the automobile industry."

Pyle said the safety council receives 4 per cent of its budget from the automobile industry, and 6 per cent of its board members are auto industry officials.

"While Ralph Nader is to be commended for his intense interest in the traffic safety problem, his passionate preoccupation with the automobile design and engineering side of that problem makes sense only up to a point—certainly not to the extent that the behavioral aspects, the role of the driver, can be set aside as largely unimportant," Pyle said in a statement.

Perilous Lake Area
Claims Chicago Girl

UNION PIER (UPI) — The southeastern shore of Lake Michigan claimed its fourth victim in as many days yesterday when an 8-year-old Chicago girl drowned.

Rosalind Doty drowned in the lake near here. Three other persons drowned within a half mile of the spot over the July 4th holiday.

The income of the average farm has risen about 40 per cent in the last two years.

Jet Belt Eyed for Soldier Use

Would Propel Man Several Miles in Air

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department's advanced research projects agency is spending $2 million on a project which contemplates propelling a soldier several miles by means of a jet flying belt.

The Pentagon said it will be a year before the preliminary work will produce indications on whether the project is feasible.

The jet belt idea is an expansion of a device which has been tried out over a period of several years. This device involves use of hydrogen peroxide jets to lift a man over such obstacles as automobiles, trees, and the like.

The hydrogen peroxide device allows only a few seconds of flight and a range of less than 1,000 feet.

The new idea reportedly contemplates using a small turbojet engine to permit a soldier to zoom over a distance of 10 miles at perhaps 60 miles an hour.

HEAVY BELT
The Pentagon said such a jet belt rig probably would weigh about 140 pounds with its fuel. The $2-million research development contract is held by Bell Aerospace Systems, with the Williams Research Corp. as subcontractor.

Moonshine Drinking Can Instill Gout

By Science Service
DENVER — Heavy drinkers of moonshine liquor can be punished with gout.

Lead solder used to put together illicit stills can lead to gout caused by lead poisoning, the American Rheumatism Association meeting here was told.

What happens is that "wild" yeast contaminants in sour mash produce acetic acid, which when hot "leaches out" the lead to form lead acetate.

This moonshine stills, which remain popular in various parts of the United States, carry the penalty of saturnine gout, produced by the absorption of lead into the system.

The relationship between lead intoxication and gout was appreciated early in the 18th century. Dr. Gene V. Ball of the University of Alabama Medical Center, Birmingham, said, but the concept seems to have fallen into disrepute.
