Pontiac Motor, UAW Agree on Contract

Three-Year Pact Expected to End 19-Day Strike

Ratification by Workers Probably Will Come at Meeting Tomorrow

With breaks coming in General Motors Corp. strikes across the nation, an end to the 19-day deadlock at Pontiac Motor Division was in sight today after negotiators reported tentative agreement on new, three-year pacts.

Officials of UAW Local 653 were scheduling a mass meeting, probably tomorrow, at which union members would be asked to ratify the new agreements, ending a walkout that began at all three General Motors Corp. plants in Pontiac Oct. 2.

The new pact covered both local wage and seniority agreements. Local 653 already has overwhelmingly approved ratification of the national GM agreement.

The Pontiac Motor settlement meant that agreements have been completed or are within reach at 81 GM plants employing 189,000 workers. Still idled are about 86,000 workers at 45 other plants.

The latest settlement was at Cadillac Motor Division in Detroit, where a marathon bargaining session came to a successful climax at 3 a.m. today, affecting 8,400 workers.

Of the plants where there are now settlements, however, a GM spokesman said, "We don't know if they have enough material to operate more than a couple of days" because of continuing strikes at supplier plants.

Still clouding the production picture here was the strike at Fisher Body Division, on which the Pontiac Motor plant depends for auto bodies. No progress in negotiations was reported at Fisher Body.

Begin Final Preparations Before Election of Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church today began the final week of preparations for election of a new pope.

The nine days of funeral service for Pope Pius XII ended Sunday in St. Peter's Basilica with a two-hour solemn Requiem Mass attended by U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and other diplomats and representatives of 50 non-Communist nations.

The arrival Sunday night of Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński from Poland brought to 47 the number of princes of the church assembled in Rome for the secret conclave which will convene next Saturday to elect a new ruler of the church.

By the weekend all but two of the 54 living cardinals are expected to be at the Vatican.

The absentees will be Josef Mindszenty, a fugitive from Hungary's Communist government who has taken asylum in the U.S. legation in Budapest, and Alojzije Stepinac, confined to his native Yugoslav village by President Tito's government.

A thousand cheering people massed at the Rome railway station to greet 60-year-old Cardinal Wyszyński, who was kept under house arrest by the Communists for three years. The crowd included both exiles from Poland's Com-

Torch to Be Lit Tonight

Tonight marks the official send-off for this year's tenth anniversary Pontiac Area United Fund appeal.

At 8 p.m. Philip J. Monaghan, campaign chairman, will push the button to ignite the flame that will burn throughout the 21-day campaign.

The traditional torch lighting ceremony will be held at the junction of N. Saginaw St. and Oakland Ave. on land owned by Cook-Nelson Post 20, American Legion.

A special kickoff show featuring vocalist Fred Kendall and Miss Paddy Beach, magician and comedienne, will begin at 8:30 p.m., following the torch lighting.

Close to 1,000 top UF volunteers workers will see the show, which is sponsored by Community National Bank as a public service to the UF and its workers.

Tomorrow these men and women and 3,500 more volunteers will begin calling on the residents and workers in the Pontiac-Waterford Township area for their fair-share pledges to the fund.

GOAL OF $501,000
The volunteers will be seeking $501,000 for 55 community service agencies.

United Fund solicitors are organized into three general divisions: the Industrial Division, headed by Semon E. Knudsen; the Commercial Division, headed by Judge Clark J. Adams and Berkley Voss; and the re-organized Women's Division under the chairmanship of Mrs. Donald E. White.

A "Yardstick Giving" form of solicitation is being used again this year as a suggested form of giving which will insure a fair distribution of the financial responsibility among many, rather than unreasonable contributions by a few.

Those who pledge in accordance with the suggested scale have the satisfaction of doing their share in helping to make this year's drive a success.

Bagwell Jalopy Driver Appears in Court for 'Smoke'

Donald E. Barber, White Lake Township Michigan State University student who drives Paul D. Bagwell around in a 1908 jalopy, was scheduled to appear in Detroit Traffic Court today on a charge that the car gives off too much smoke.

Barber, of 8675 Highland Rd., was ticketed driving the ancient Oldsmobile in Detroit in August.

He and his attorney, Jason L. Honigman, Republican nominee for attorney general from Detroit, contend that the car was giving off campaign steam and not smoke.

Bagwell has been chauffeured around the state in the old buggy as part of his campaign for governor.

Barber said he planned to appear before Traffic Judge John D. Watts in the white cap, long white duster coat, goggles and long gloves of a 1908 motorist.

Red Jet Liner Crashes With No Survivors

LONDON (AP) — The crash of a TU104 jet airliner, showpiece of Soviet aviation, took the lives of the 65 passengers and all crew members, Red China announced Sunday night.

Peiping radio said there were no survivors of the crash Friday night at Kanash, 400 miles east of Moscow, and that among the dead were 16 Chinese government officials.

It was the first crash to be announced for the jet airliner, the pride of the Soviet commercial air fleet.

The other 49 passengers were described as "foreign friends" and experts on their way home from Red China. They included one Briton, four West Germans and

Officer Slays Four in Cafe

Violent Attack Poses Riddle in New York's Police Department

NEW YORK (AP) — What deadly impulse drove policeman James McDermott to the cold-blooded slaughter of four men in a Broadway restaurant?

Did injuries he suffered last year in a car accident twist his mind with destructive urges?

Did he bear a grudge against the victims? One was a convicted loan shark and two of the others also had police records?

Had he been drinking?

Police investigated these angles today to try to uncover some explanation for the 34-year-old patrolman's violent outburst in the Pic-a-Rib Restaurant.

McDermott himself could not supply the answers immediately.

He lay speechless in critical condition on a hospital bed. His body was riddled with five bullet wounds inflicted by other policemen, who waged a spectacular gun duel with him on midtown streets as he fled.

Two of the capturing policemen were from McDermott's home precinct.

McDermott, married and the father of four, was on duty when he entered the restaurant on Broadway near 53rd Street about (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Has His Feet on Ground

Ike Off to California to Battle for GOP

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower flies to Los Angeles today for a campaign speech billed by aides as a hard-hitting effort to bolster Republican candidates plagued by party split.

Resuming a 5,300-mile cross-country tour after a quiet weekend, the President was pictured as ready to shift gears and do some plugging during a two-day visit in California. The state is one of the nation's major political battlegrounds this year.

Eisenhower's half-hour speech tonight at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles will be carried on television and radio over an 11-state Western network.

Tuesday morning he will make two speeches in San Francisco before traveling on to Chicago.

If he does go to a scrapping role in California, it will be the first time since he left Washington last Friday on a six-day vote-hunting tour. In Iowa his speech was only indirectly political, and in Kansas and Colorado he made no talks whatever.

The GOP candidates in those two states had to be satisfied with not much more than photographs with the President. In Colorado, there was even a hassle over those, that left the state Republican organization miffed.

On Eisenhower's arrival in Denver Saturday for a visit with his ailing mother-in-law, Mrs. John S. Doud, the first to greet him at the airport was Colorado's Democratic Gov. Stephen McNichols, his wife and their five photogenic children. The GOP candidate for governor, Palmer Burch, was almost lost in the shuffle some distance back of the receiving line.

Suddenly End Truce Order; Ike, Dulles Talk

Comms See Shelling 'Punishment' for U.S. Aid to Nationalists

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chinese Communist shore batteries laid a new barrage of fire against the off-shore island of Quemoy today, ending nearly 15 days of cease-fire proclaimed by Peiping.

The Red artillery caught four Nationalist supply ships in the Quemoy beach area — three LSTs and 45 minutes, then stopped, the Nationalist Defense Ministry said. There was no word as to the intensity of the barrage.

The Nationalists said their reinforced artillery on Quemoy had returned the Red fire.

A Nationalist spokesman said no American ships were in the beach area. The Communists in ending the cease-fire had charged U.S. warships had broken the truce by escorting Nationalist supplies to Quemoy Sunday night.

The Americans flatly denied this saying they had only "conducted a small-boat operation . . . lifting Chinese Nationalist supply craft through international waters," at least 15 miles off Quemoy.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said the Communists had resumed shelling at 4 p.m., 50 minutes after Peiping Radio had broadcast orders canceling the cease-fire.

The Communists announced a week ago that their self-imposed hold-fire had been extended to midnight next Sunday.

The Nationalists said they had waited one hour after the Communists began shooting, then opened fire.

A Nationalist spokesman said the Red bombardment was not so heavy as on Aug. 23, when the off-shore war began with an intense two-hour bombardment.

During that initial attack 41,000 killing 11 civilians and wounding 18 on Quemoy and causing more than 200 military casualties.

The abrupt development raised grave new problems for U.S. Secretary of State Dulles, flying by jet tanker over the North Polar route to Formosa.

His mission was to clear up misunderstandings with Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek and lay the base for a more substantial cease-fire in Formosa Strait.

Governor Lends Ear to Call of Pheasants

LANSING (UPI) — The call of the pheasants was louder than the call of politics today as opening of the bird season swayed candidates and press agents from the campaign trail.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams was scheduled to spend most of the day hunting with State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown on the Walter Lange farm near Sebewaug.

Press Agent Paul Weber, who usually keeps news flowing from the governor's office when he's away, also went hunting in the Thumb area.

Northwest U.S., Florida Feel Storms' Fury

By The Associated Press

Strong northerly winds fanned cold Pacific air across Northwest sections of the country today, breaking a spell of mild weather.

Violent storms which struck Southeastern areas appeared ended. Fairly normal weather prevailed in most other parts of the country, with a warming trend in the central section.

Severe windstorms hit Northwest areas Sunday. Four persons were killed by falling trees in Oregon. In Idaho, the gale-like winds whipped up clouds of dust and contributed to several traffic accidents, with one person killed and at least 27 others injured. Twenty-five persons were injured in the pileup of eight cars in a dust storm near Malta.

In the Southeast, a tornado struck the farming community of Pankoke in southern Florida Sunday morning. Heavy rains hit other Florida areas and severe southern Alabama and western Florida.

Quadruplets Born to Virginia Mom—2 Boys, 2 Girls

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Quadruplets were born early today to the wife of a Richmond city employee. The hospital reported the children—two boys and two girls—are all alive and apparently well.

They were born to Mrs. Edward G. Englehart of nearby Sandston, in Johnston-Willis Hospital. The Engleharths have six other children, all girls.

The hospital said the first child, a girl, was born at 5:05 a.m. A boy was born at 5:15 a.m., the other girl at 5:25, and the other boy at 5:30 a.m.

Englehart works for the Richmond Department of Public Works.

The last quads born in Richmond were those of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shute, born in March 1956. All are living.

Red China Firing Again on Quemoy

way to Formosa despite the ending of the Chinese Communist ceasefire.

Eisenhower held a predawn telephone conference with Dulles, who called from Fairbanks, Alaska. Dulles had arrived there en route to Taipei for consultation with President Chiang Kai-shek.

Eisenhower was awakened to take Dulles' call. They consulted for about 10 minutes and then decided that Dulles should continue his trip.

High officials on Formosa expected the secretary of state's talks with the Nationalist Chinese leader, beginning Tuesday, would dissuade the Chinese Reds of any idea of a split between Taipei and Washington.

One result of a demonstration of a united front against Communist aggression might be to make more lasting the present ceasefire over the offshore islands in the Formosa Strait.

In his talks with Chiang, the American secretary is expected to search for a formula to bring about what he calls a dependable ceasefire. One of his problems is to get Chiang to reduce his forces on Quemoy in the hope Red China will no longer consider them an offensive threat.

Dulles was prepared to argue that increased firepower could compensate for the reduced manpower, and that there is no change in the American policy of supporting the defense of Nationalist China.

Red Chinese Defense Minister Peng Teh-huai gave as his reason for resuming the bombardment a charge that U. S. warships had encroached on Chinese territorial waters Sunday night in escorting Nationalist ships to Quemoy.

"Shelling must therefore be resumed as a measure of punishment," the Communist order said.

The U.S. Taiwan Formosa Defense Command declared the charge was completely untrue.

The Nationalists viewed the on-again artillery war as a fulfillment of their predictions that the Reds would renew action when it suited them.

They have claimed the Communists were only following accepted Red tactics of "fight and talk, talk and fight."

This was in conflict with Dulles' hopes. He has been working on the line that the Communists might institute a permanent ceasefire if the Nationalists would thin their large garrison on Quemoy down to a point where it could not be considered an invasion threat to the mainland.

Red China's order ending the two-week-old Quemoy ceasefire took official Washington by complete surprise.

Ike in California on Campaign Tour

House press secretary James C. Hagerty over Shaw's insistence the President pose for pictures at the airport with several GOP candidates. The pictures weren't taken until late in the day—in private at Eisenhower's hotel.

In California, the President's work is cut out for him in the face of a party split over U. S. Sen. William F. Knowland, who is running a steep uphill race for the governorship against Democrat Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, the state's attorney general.

The split developed when Knowland announced his candidacy after Gov. Goodwin S. Knight already had said he would bid for re-election. Knight wound up a reluctant candidate for Knowland's Senate seat, and he had recently he may not vote for Knowland.

In Denver over the weekend, the President passed up golf and fishing in favor of two long automobile rides and inspection of a ballistic missile plant. It was his first visit to the Colorado capital since he suffered a heart attack there in September 1955.

Mrs. Eisenhower is remaining in Rockwell St., was burglarized and Denver for a few days with her a revolver and suit stolen. It was reported to Pontiac police today.

Methodists Against Intoxicants Favor Marital Counseling

CHICAGO (UPI) — The National Methodist Council on Family Life has approved resolutions favoring marital counseling and total abstinence from all intoxicants and narcotics.

The convention's windup session also backed support of world law and strengthening of the United Nations in its windup session.

"We are aware of the great need among our people for competent professional counseling in marital and other problems," the Methodists said. "We feel the church has an obligation to provide such help because of the spiritual implications involved in these problems and their solutions."

In addition, the 3,000 delegates: —Recommended the organization of family life committees on a local basis. —Called for a fourth national family life conference to be held on either a national or regional basis.

—Urged Methodists to participate in the rehabilitation of a group of Polish women who were used by the Nazis for medical experimentation during World War II.

Officer Goes Berserk, Slays Four in Restaurant

1:45 a.m. A few minutes later, without warning, he drew two guns and blazed away at helpless patrons. Four men fell mortally wounded.

McDermott crashed through the glass paneling of a door and fled.

Pursuing policemen opened fire, hitting him five times. He returned the fire, wounding one of the pursuers, before he collapsed, unconscious, about three blocks from the restaurant.

McDermott had a clean record, including one commendation, during his 10 years on the force. Neighbors described him as a conscientious father and churchgoer. Fellow policemen recalled he was a "nice, pleasant guy."

Officials said McDermott had been under medical treatment since December 1957, when he was injured in the collision of a radio car with a truck. Two weeks ago, he underwent X-ray examinations after complaining of persistent headaches.

His four victims all died in hospitals. They were:

Edmund Leahy, 53, of Manhattan, a stevedore who recently served a prison sentence for loan sharking. His record also shows fines for gambling and bookmaking convictions.

Thomas Joseph O'Hare, 55, of Manhattan, an usher at Madison Square Garden, once arrested for alleged burglary but released with the charge dismissed.

Lawrence Davion, Mount Vernon, N. Y., known as "Larry the Barber," who carried papers listing two other names—Larry Jenkins and Frank Anderson. Davion's police record, dating from 1933, includes a jail term for altering identification marks on an automobile, a bookmaking fine and two other arrests.

Eugene Cronin, 60, Jersey City, N. J.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm was asked if there was evidence that McDermott had been involved with a loan shark, and he replied: "We have nothing to go on, but we are investigating that angle as well as all other angles."

Neighbors said McDermott had given up drinking about five years ago. But police checked bars near the Pic-a-Rib as they sought to determine where McDermott had spent the 12 hours between the time he left his home in the Flushing section of Queens and the time of the shootings.

Patrolman Larry Roden, wounded while chasing McDermott, was listed in not serious condition in Roosevelt hospital.

McDermott was charged with homicide and suspended from the force.

Pontiac Motor, UAW Agree on Contract

UAW local 596 said negotiations were stalled on the question of the local seniority agreement.

Fisher body workers gave overwhelming approval to the national agreement Saturday, Kehoe said, by better than a 9-to-1 vote.

Continuing strikes at other strategic plants in Michigan and the nation also played a part in the local strike picture. Unless these other strikes are settled, there will be no delivery here of essential parts on which production depends.

Altogether, approximately 9,100 UAW workers have been idled at Pontiac Motor and Fisher Body since the strikes were continued here, over local issues, after the national GM contract was approved Oct. 2.

Another 5,000 were idled at GMC Truck & Coach Division, but this strike was settled a week ago.

President Sean O'Kelly of Ireland was the highest ranking mourner, the only chief of state present. Foreign Ministers Heinrich von Brentano of West Germany, Maurice de Merville of France and Pierre Wigny of Belgium attended for their governments. Dulles was accompanied by his wife and President Eisenhower's other two representatives, Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, former U.S. ambassador to Italy, and chairman John A. McCone of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Wives Take It on the Chin— and Elsewhere

The so-called weaker sex took it on the chin (and elsewhere) this weekend as two area husbands ran out of patience, according to State Police reports.

What began as a friendly card game Saturday night ended quite differently for a young Waterford Township couple.

The 18-year-old wife told troopers that her husband had hit her in the face and chased her out the front door shortly after they had been playing cards with another couple. She suffered a bloody nose.

The reason? Police said the women had won five or six games. The dismayed wife said her husband was a "poor loser."

Saturday night also proved a rough one for a Pontiac woman who had consented to go fishing with her spouse at the Hatchery road Pond.

A bit bedraggled, she told officers she had objected to fishing for catfish, which she didn't consider suitable for the dinner table.

Her hubby, tiring of her objections, hit her several times with his fists, paddled her with a stick, and tossed her into the pond, she told troopers.

Boy Drowns in Swim Pool

Farmington Township Tot Perishes as Mother Hunts Him in Woods

A freak drowning took the life of a 19-month-old Farmington Township boy Saturday afternoon in a swimming pool near his home at 33901 Braebury Ridge Rd., according to township police.

It was the second swimming pool tragedy for the township in five days.

Sebastian Mancuso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Mancuso, was dead on arrival at William Beaumont Hospital.

His mother Mary, 20, told police she was raking leaves when the tot wandered away. Several moments later she heard him shouting for help and rushed into a woods at the rear of their home thinking he was there.

She eventually spotted him at the bottom of a neighbor's swimming pool.

Last Tuesday a 4-year-old boy drowned in a swimming pool at his grandparents' home at 28825 Millbrook St., in the Village of Wood Creek.

The boy, Gene Lucier, was believed to have been attempting to retrieve a toy sail boat floating on the water.

Nixon Stays Behind an Extra 12 Hours

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Vice President Nixon, who has spent the weekend here recovering from a mild cold and sore throat, will board a plane at Denver for Washington today at 12:30 p. m.

Originally, Nixon planned to leave Denver at 12:30 a. m. No reason was given for the change in plans.

Secret Service Agent Jack Sherwood said the vice president's cold has "dissipated considerably," and his throat irritation has cleared up almost completely.

Nixon is in the midst of a barnstorming tour on behalf of Republican candidates.

The Day in Birmingham Asks Commission to Ban Special Christmas Shops

BIRMINGHAM — Charles Mortensen, manager of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce, is asking the city commissioners tonight to consider adoption of an ordinance to prevent transient merchants from opening temporary stores in the city for the Christmas season.

In some communities, Mortensen said, this is a common practice and can do considerable harm to stores which operate throughout the year.

He offered to work with the city attorney in drawing up such an ordinance.

The Oakland County Road Commission has alerted the city of Birmingham to enforce the law which prohibits the burning of leaves and other rubbish on surfaced streets.

The commission pointed out that this practice does considerable damage by destroying the top coating, permitting water to seep through.

The Birmingham Democratic Club will sponsor a public meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Birmingham Community House. Several county-level Democratic candidates will be introduced.

Among those who will speak are Leslie Hudson, 18th Congressional District candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives; James Lawson, candidate for prosecuting attorney; John Kronenberg, candidate for the office of county clerk and register of deeds; and Floyd L. Cobb Jr., candidate for state representative from the 3rd district.

Continuing its series of "What High School Education Means Today," the Birmingham PTA Council has invited junior high school parents to meet in the high school Little Theater at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

They will hear discussions on evaluation of the requirement by colleges and vocational schools. Merit scholarships and general junior high school activities also will be discussed.

Plan Pontiac Meeting on State Constitution

Why Pontiac voters should approve a state constitutional convention Nov. 4 will be outlined at a public meeting Thursday night at Lincoln Junior High School.

Citizens were urged to attend the session by its three sponsors, the Pontiac Area Advisory Council, Pontiac League of Women Voters and Pontiac Education Assn.

Main speaker will be Dr. William R. Gable, a University of Michigan research specialist attached to the Institute of Public Administration.

The Birmingham League of Women Voters also plans a skit emphasizing the need for constitutional revision.

Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams, chairman of the advisory committee, will head the meeting, scheduled to begin at 7:30 p. m. in the school auditorium.

Pontiac Hospital Group Arranges TV for Patients

Patients at Pontiac General Hospital can now enjoy television, thanks to the women's hospital auxiliary.

The auxiliary announced that it has completed arrangements with a Detroit firm for special hospital sets that are available to patients on a rental basis.

The sets have such features as under-the-pillow speakers and highly mobile stands.

Proceeds from the rental service will go towards purchase of hospital equipment, said Mrs. Raymond Rapaport, auxiliary president.

The first known white man to visit South Bend, Ind., (where the University of Notre Dame is located) was Father James Marquette in 1675.

For Teenage Safety Work Fete High School Pupils

High school students on the steering committee of the proposed Oakland County Teenage Safety Conference were the guests of the Safety Committee of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce at its luncheon meeting yesterday in the Roosevelt Hotel.

The teenagers, representing their high schools, drew praise from the safety committee and Gerald Shipman of the Michigan Safety Commission, who called the conference "one of the finest projects that could be undertaken."

Among the subjects proposed for discussion at the conference are school traffic hazard surveys, year-round traffic safety programs, auto safety checks, essay and speech contests on the importance of safety, school assemblies on safety, and columns in school papers on the importance of safety.

Sherwin Birnkant, chairman of the committee's Fire Prevention Week program, reported that many congratulatory letters have been received on the '58 program, and that entries already are being received from area fire departments for next year's program.

The safety committee also received notice that Nov. 16 will be observed as "Michigan Traffic Safety Sunday." Area clergymen will be asked to stress safety to their congregations.

Six persons were seized last night in a vice squad raid at 316 Wessen St.

Arrested were Ushra Gay, 25, of 174 Lake St.; Dunbar Gay, 28, of Howard McNeil St.; Donald Jackson, 29, of 31 Orton St.; Thomas Spann, 41, of 14 Grant St.; Willie Lee, 28, of 512 Branch St.; and Eugene Douglas, 18, of 494 Bloomfield St.

The six men pleaded guilty to gambling in a public place in Municipal Court this morning and were fined $10 or two days.

Joseph Smith, founder of the Mormons, was killed by a mob at Carthage, Ill., in 1844.

Kuwait Richest
in Near East OilRuler Invests Royalties
for Schools, Hospitals,
Social Services

WASHINGTON—In the midst of the troubled Near East, the tiny sheikdom of Kuwait is gripped by a peaceful revolution. Based on an ever-rising tide of oil and money, it is changing the face and life of the nation.

Kuwait is the richest of the new oil-rich, says the National Geographic Society. Wedged between giant Saudi Arabia and Iraq at the head of the Persian Gulf, it is smaller than New Jersey. Yet below its desert sand and camel grass lies the world's largest known oil pool.

Skyrocketing output has shot Kuwait to first place among Near East oil producers. In global line-up, it ranks after the United States, Venezuela and Russia. It provides half of Britain's crude oil imports.

RULER INVESTS ROYALTIES

Croesus of Kuwait's sticky treasure is His Highness Abdullah as Salim as Subah. His state is British-protected, but his rule over his people is absolute, and the oil royalties go to him by dynastic law.

Had he so wished, His Highness could doubtless have become the world's most lavish spender—or its most affluent miser. Instead, he chose to invest the oil revenues in developing his country.

In the port city of Kuwait, the sheikdom's capital, old mud-walled houses have given way to concrete homes, public buildings, hospitals and schools. Broad, paved avenues, along which white-robed Arabs drive gleaming American cars, replace narrow, winding alleys. Radio towers share the skyline with mosques and minarets adorned with flashing electric lights.

Under a long-term program of social services and public works, Kuwaitis receive free medical care and free education. Half a dozen well-staffed and spectacularly equipped hospitals, including tuberculosis and mental institutions, have been established. The scores of new schools offer not only state transportation and lunches, but—even more remarkable in a Moslem land—training for girls as well as boys.

Perhaps most welcome to a desert-harried people is the capital's huge distilling plant that turns sea water into fresh in a modern version of Aladdin and the lamp magic. Eventually, a piped-in stream from the Shatt al 'Arab in southern Iraq may create farmland in the arid interior.

Taking Over Booth
to Inform Voters

The Pontiac League of Women Voters has taken over Friday and Saturday operation of the downtown Pontiac voter information booth.

The Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce is looking for more volunteers to help man the booth through Nov. 4, the date of the county and state election, said Dr. Donald McCandless, Jaycee member in charge.

Jaycees hope to keep the booth open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday until election, providing non-partisan information concerning the mechanics of voting machines, precincts, voter eligibility and registration.

Pius XII's Physician to Be Investigated

ROM E(UPI)—Premier Amintore Fanfani has ordered an investigation to determine whether Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi could be punished under Italian law for his widely-condemned articles on the last hours of Pope Pius XII.

Fanfani acted amid a growing storm over the publication yesterday of Galeazzi-Lisi's diary describing intimate and detailed accounts of the Pontiff's fatal illness.

Newspapers of every political leaning criticized Galeazzi-Lisi, who was physician to the late Pope for almost a quarter of a century. All the newspapers lauded the Rome Medical Assn. for its decision to take disciplinary action against him.

Galeazzi-Lisi insisted he had received no payment for his published diary. He said he released the account because he felt there would be "perhaps some professional advantage" in its publication.

Losers in Beauty Contest
Fare Better Than Winner

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—You know the story about the beauty contest winner who came to Hollywood intending to become a star. And the line by the gruff but kindly cameraman or prop man or somebody or other who says, "Look, kid—why don't you go home—back to your family?"

It's supposed to happen every day. Maybe it does. But there have also been times when it worked out in reverse. Consider Colleen Miller, the girl who lost a beauty contest and became a movie star.

Miss Miller, who stars in "Step Down to Terror" for Universal-International, doesn't think her case is particularly unusual.

"I was 'Miss Portland' in a beauty contest, and nothing happened," she said. "When I entered the Miss America contest and lost, U-I signed me to a long term movie contract. Since losing that contest, I've had nine major film assignments. If that's what happens to losers, make me a loser every time, please."

The pretty actress said that any look at the case histories of beauty contest contestants—and what happened to them—would show that the losers, whether runner-ups or lower, seem to fare better in movies than the winners.

"I know about the winners, too," she said. "They're secretaries, schoolteachers or mothers with large batches of kids. And every time they read, they seem to pick up a magazine with an article about them—how they won the 'ig' contests and so forth.

"The also-rans may not have pleased enough judges, but they've been pleasing a lot of audiences. Rhonda Fleming is an also-ran. Linda Darnell was a loser in the same contest. Susan Hayward lost the let's-find-a-Scarlett-O'Hara-contest, but she later won an Oscar.

"There are lots of such names—Yvonne DeCarlo, Myrna Loy, Dorothy Lamour and Joan Blondell. They all lost in beauty contests."

In Methodist 'Harvest Banquet'

Gold Rush Days Return

With the theme "Pioneers of 1849," more than 500 members and friends gathered in Fellowship Hall of First Methodist Church, Friday night, for the 68th annual Harvest Home Banquet.

"One of the most important things to the early settlers as they crossed plains in covered wagons in the California goldrush was the church," said the Rev. Ellis A. Hart of Romeo, toastmaster of the evening.

Introduced by Mrs. Earby Austin, general chairman, the Rev. Mr. Hart, dressed as a pioneer, presided from the porch of "The General Store" with its cracker barrel and hitching rail.

Maize and red Indian corn hung on the walls and circuit rider saddles straddling the rail added to the atmosphere.

One highlight of the affair which brought a storm of applause was the appearance of Al Jackson, Lester Mehlberg and Merton Brummitt as "The McGraw Sisters."

Dr. Frederick C. Vosburg, minister of Court Street Methodist Church, Flint, addressed the group in "Forward From Here."

FRONTIER OF HEART

"Going forward is a problem of the heart," stated the Flint pastor. "It is not important to be in an important place. What we need is a purpose for what we are doing." The frontier is always available. We need the spirit of the pioneer.

Dr. Vosburg went on to say "Don't look back. The past is past. Go forward. Hope is greater than history."

Group singing was led by Merlin Asplin, with LaVerne Cox as piano accompanist.

For more than 30 years, proceeds of this annual banquet (first known as College Day Banquet) were given to Albion College. As the college became self-supporting, the name was changed to Harvest Home Banquet, with profits used for improvements on the local church.

Throughout the year, Sunday

School classes, youth groups and church organizations work to present an offering to this annual affair.

Assisting Mrs. Austin as committee chairmen were Howard Crawford, tickets; Mrs. Lewis Butler, publicity; Mrs. Chester Caughell, programs; and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stewart, gifts.

Other chairmen include Mrs. Norman Legge and Merton Brummitt, musical selections; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dunstan, program setting; Clarence Hamel, table arrangements; and Wesleyan Class, decorations.

The Rev. Harry Lord, associate pastor, gave the benediction.

Nancy Barton of North Anderson street and Danny Arnold of Riviera drive are bringing gifts in gold nugget bags to the covered wagon at the 68th annual Harvest Home Banquet, held Friday in First Methodist Church. Nancy and Danny represent the primary and intermediate departments of Sunday School.

Pontiac Press Photos

Mrs. George Hamilton of Judson street arrived at the Harvest Home Banquet wearing her mother's black bonnet, a creation of 1875, and a paisley shawl. The lace on her white apron was made by her great-grandmother in the early 1800s. Mrs. Hamilton, 86, said she "rigged up" the outfit just for fun.

Marilyn Davidson Weds Roger Lee Frentheway

Vases of fall flowers banked the altar of Marimont Baptist Church for the Saturday evening wedding of Marilyn Mae Davidson and Roger Lee Frentheway. The Rev. Philip Samers officiated at the candlelight ceremony before 200 guests.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas H. Davidson of West Beverly street and Mr. and Mrs. Abe Frentheway of Oxford.

The bride wore a white floor-length gown with a fitted bodice, Queen Anne collar and long tapered sleeves. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of pearls and rhinestones, and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis centered by a white orchid.

Barbara Ann Davidson was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Janice Gain, the bridegroom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Ardith Frentheway of Kalamazoo; Phyllis Davidson, another of the bride's sisters; and Charlotte Zubal of Rochester, the bride's cousin.

All wore ballerina-length dresses of toast chiffon over taffeta. The maid of honor carried bronze chrysanthemums, and the bridesmaids' bouquets were of yellow chrysanthemums.

Judith Ann Frentheway of Kalamazoo was flower girl.

The bridegroom's brother, Robert Maxwell Frentheway of Kalamazoo, was best man. Seating the guests were ushers Arthur Crawford, Raymond Blankenburg and Harry E. Hill Jr., all of Lake Orion, and Eugene McVay.

When the couple left for a honeymoon to Canada following a reception held in the church parlors, the new Mrs. Frentheway was wearing a beige suite with brown accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Davidson selected an aqua lace dress with black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Frentheway wore a dusty rose sheath with black accessories. Both had corsages of pink carnations.

Mirror on The Wall, Am I a Bore to All?

By RUTH MILLETT

How NOT to be a bore: Never—unless you are trying to put a painfully shy person at ease—do more than your share of the talking. The biggest bores are almost always the biggest talkers.

If you want to discuss your aches and pains, visit your doctor, not your friends. No matter how sorry your friends are that you have those aches and pains, they don't want to hear a blow-by-blow account of your suffering.

Don't have one pet topic that you always manage to steer the conversation toward. Don't you, yourself, dread being caught in a corner by a person who always talks about the same thing?

Don't expect your children to be as fascinating a topic of conversation to someone else as they are to you. And that goes for your dog, too.

Listen to your own voice, not just to your words. If your voice tends to grate, or whine or has a discouraged ring—do something about it.

Don't overwork a few platitudes or meaningless comments to sum up any statement anybody else makes. For instance, "You don't say!" is not exactly a scintillating response to the person who did say exactly what you understood him to say.

When you tell a story, don't ruin it before you start with some such comment as, "You would have had to be there to really appreciate this," or, "You'd have to know so-and-so to really get a kick out of this." If the story won't stand up just by your telling it, why bother to tell it? If you can make it interesting or entertaining, you needn't begin with an apology.

When it's your turn to listen, really listen. Don't interrupt or let your mind wander while you fix a smile on your face and nod vaguely to everything being said. To be an appreciative listener, you have to be alert.

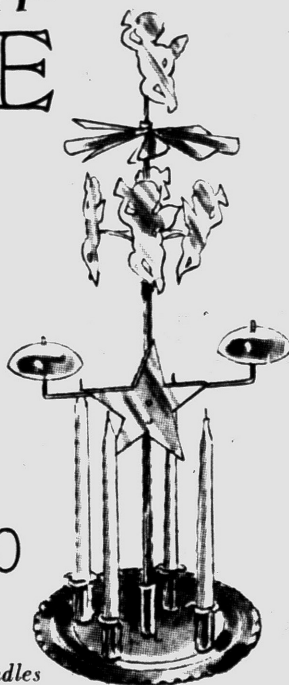

Inch marks made on your garden trowel will help you to judge the proper planting depth for flower bulbs.

Personal Identity Is All Important

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

While visiting in Vienna, Austria, I attended the eleventh annual meeting of the World Federation for Mental Health. In listening to speakers and talking with leaders in this field I was impressed with the necessity of taking time for happiness and with the danger of losing a sense of personal identity.

In columns to come you will hear more of this theme of personal identity. It was discussed over and over again and is an important adjunct to mental and emotional well-being.

How can a person keep a sense of personal identity when he or she is harried and hurried day after day, when no time is allowed for the varying parts of life to fall into place, when we let worries cloud our lives because we never get far enough away from them to achieve an objective viewpoint or set the stage for a happier mood?

This brings to my thoughts the happy temperament of the folks who live in Vienna, to the way they love music and burst into song at the slightest opportunity. Therefore I want to tell you about a Viennese institution, The Heurige.

These happy times first started when wine growers drew off new wine and hung an evergreen branch over their door as an invitation for their friends and neighbors to come in and help them celebrate. Today they are open all year long but the informal, convivial atmosphere still remains.

The most typical ones do not serve food. You bring your own cold cuts — cheese, bread, sausage and luscious pastry. Often the whole family comes, from grandparents to grandchildren. There are no floor shows and the music is intimate and spontaneous.

How can a person keep a sense of personal identity when he or she is harried and hurried day after day.

'Pappy' Boyington Outspoken Both in Print and in Person

BY WARD CANNEL
NEW YORK (NEA) — It was downright uncomfortable. Here was Pappy Boyington sitting across the table with a record of heroism as long as your arm and you kept looking around with mid-20th Century qualms, hoping nobody in the restaurant would recognize you.

Boyington, if it has escaped your memory, was one of Gen. Chennault's original Flying Tigers, a Marine Corps pilot during World War II, Medal of Honor winner, Japanese prisoner of war.

He also cannot tick to fashionable topics of conversation. "Heroes?" he thundered across the table. "You mean some of those big names I served with? Why? For Pete's sake, I was one of the idiots that built their reputations."

While he went on naming names that one usually sees on bronze plaques, you reminded him that it was not nice to speak ill of the dead or the senile, or the fashionable.

"Listen," he snapped, "I never minded risking my neck if I thought it could do some good. But when it dawns on me that some brass is using me for their own personal ends..."

He's got it all in his book, which is a sleeper called "Baa Baa Black Sheep," and which begins with a heart-felt and completely misleading chapter that explains how he's put writing about the adventures of his life and doesn't really mean to criticize any heroes.

"But," he said in self-amazement, "it kept turning out that you couldn't tell the truth if you painted yourself as a hero. And if you told the truth about China and Burma and those people we all know, you couldn't keep painting them as heroes all the time."

For example? "Well now, take our pilots. Most of the enemy planes were shot

MAJ. GREGORY BOYINGTON, in the cockpit of his fighter plane "somewhere in the South Pacific," just before he was downed and captured by the Japanese. He spent the rest of the war in a prison camp.

BOYINGTON TODAY: "They only gave me the Medal of Honor when they thought I was dead."

down by the same few pilots. I'm not saying it was right or wrong. That's just the statistics.

"Or take some of those heroes again. And how they learned you could make a lot of money flying missions and swapping currency. And, of course, there are those phony battles that get reported so our allies can account for our supplies they sell to the enemy."

"Baa Baa Black Sheep," like its author, had a fight to get into print. The first publisher who read it suggested several changes — like taking names out and soft-pedaling the rough parts.

Boyington saw the rewritten text as somebody else's idea of what Boyington would have said if he were not so naive about what people want to read.

So Boyington took it to a second publisher on the condition that it run untouched. "Just point out the misspelling and grammatical errors," he told them, "and I'll fix them."

Today, with several movie offers before him, Boyington will have to see his book changed around, soft-pedaled and fictionalized for the script.

"I don't care," he said. "It's a good adventure story anyway. And even if they don't tell the whole story, I don't care. I've got it all in the book. And 29,000 sales in the first two months."

Was he worried about reaction from high places? "Don't make me laugh," he said. "The boys I talk about know I'm telling the truth. I'm not running for office, so I don't need their votes. But if they want to answer me, I'll produce documented evidence in 20 minutes. Maybe this book will encourage some more unfashionable truth-telling."

The old Flying Tigers? "No. They know it's the truth." The Marine Corps? "They know, too."

The Medal of Honor winners? "Listen," he rasped, "they only gave me the Medal of Honor when they thought I was dead. That Medal is a whole story all by itself. I keep it out in the garage along with the other stuff we don't want in the house."

Barbizon was the French school of middle 19th Century artists who took their subjects straight from nature.

CONFUSION — There was confusion at this stage of the game at Evanston where Northwestern trampled Michigan, 55-24. A loose ball bounces around as players sprawl out all over the ground. Fred Julian, Michigan back (16), is blocked out of the play by Northwestern's center Jim Andreotti (56) and end Irv Cross (32).

Michigan College Roundup:

Chippewas' Season Record Still Clean

By The Associated Press
Hope and Central Michigan, the state's only unbeaten college football teams, kept their records clean over the weekend.

Hope smothered Adrian 41-7 for its fifth straight of the season and its third in a row in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Assn. full-back Ron Bekius scored four touchdowns for the winners.

Central Michigan walloped Northern Illinois 33-23 for its sixth triumph and its third in a row in the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. Walt Beach scored two touchdowns in leading the Chippewas from behind twice.

In other MIAA games, Albion blanked hapless Olivet 46-0 and Hillsdale beat Alma 21-13.

Albion, unscathed in four of its five games, divided its scoring among seven players. The loss was Olivet's 27th straight over a three-year span.

Hillsdale went to 3-0 in the conference (4-1 overall) with touchdowns by Walt Poe on a Larry Rutledge pass, Howard Rogers and center Ed Tallman on a 65-yard pass interception return. Alma's touchdowns were scored by Jim Northrup on a 55-yard pass from Bill Klenk and Len Face on a 92-yard kickoff return.

Eastern Michigan shut out Eastern Illinois 31-0 with John Malone and John Kubiak each scoring two touchdowns. The victory lifted Eastern Michigan's IAC record to 2-1. Eastern Illinois is winless in conference play.

Wayne State defeated Case Tech of Cleveland 21-6 with a second-half outburst in a presidents' athletic conference game. It was the second meeting of the season for the two teams. They battled to a 7-7 tie in their last outing. Wayne Muller, Jim Ross and Jim MacMillan scored for Wayne.

In a pair of intersectional games, Western Michigan rolled over Washington of St. Louis 34-2 and Kalamazoo dropped a 25-0 decision to Beloit of Wisconsin.

Lovell Coleman, the nation's leading scorer among small colleges, got three touchdowns in the Broncos' easy triumph over Washington.

Kalamazoo's only threat against Beloit came in the closing minutes when quarterback Jim Fletcher and halfback Bob Begley combined on a 41-yard pass to the Beloit 21. Then, at the final buzzer, Fletcher completed a pass just over the end zone.

Northern Michigan rambled to a 34-0 victory over Michigan Tech. Mike Streble led scorers with two touchdowns.

Ferris Institute turned back Illinois College 26-7.

U of M Has Gloomiest Hour in History

Saturday's Rout at Northwestern Futile Display

Despondent Oosterbaan Despondent 'M' Coach Worst Defeat

ANN ARBOR (U) — This is Michigan's gloomiest hour since its college boys started kicking a football around in 1879.

Not even in the dark days of the mid-1930s have the Wolverines been so futile. Nor was their outlook so grim.

The erstwhile champions of the West have no course but to improve. They reached the bottom when Northwestern toyed with them 55-24 Saturday.

A despondent coach Bennie Oosterbaan sat in a corner of the locker room of Dyche Stadium after the game. Words were hard for him. He looked like a man who had taken a fearful beating and he had. Only two weeks before he was on top of the world. His team had tied Michigan State and the thoughts of retiring with a winning season perhaps were beginning to take shape.

"That's the way it goes sometimes," Oosterbaan said. "But I've never seen so much."

The Wolverines were in the ballgame only for the first 3 1/2 minutes. When quarterback Bob Ptacek was hurt after the Wildcats scored their first touchdown, the Wolverines seemed like a disheveled bunch of lost children.

The loss of Ptacek and the leadership he affords handicapped us," Oosterbaan said. "But it was mostly Northwestern. We just couldn't block against their nine-man line."

Oosterbaan wasn't able to use Stan Noskin, Ptacek's alternate, because of a hip injury. Noskin warmed up before the game and then watched from the bench.

Ptacek was X-rayed Saturday night and the results showed his ankle wasn't broken.

"It's not as bad as we thought at first," Oosterbaan said yesterday. "But we've got to figure he'll miss this week's game with Minnesota."

The Wildcats' accumulation of points was a 20th century high against the once-mighty Wolverines. Not since Cornell scored 58 points in 1891 has Michigan's goal line been so damaged.

The carnage reached its peak in a 10-minute span of the second quarter. The Wildcats scored five times. The flurry was aided by three Michigan fumbles and an intercepted pass. It was 43-0 at halftime.

By the time Michigan was able to muster some scoring power, coach Ara Parseghian was clearing the Northwestern bench.

Fullmer Meets Micelli
WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP) — Gene Fullmer, former middleweight champion, has signed to fight Joe Micelli of New York in a bout here Nov. 10.

Spartan Offense Listless at Purdue

MSU to Get Lineup Shakeup

EAST LANSING (U) — There are sure to be a lot of shake ups in the Michigan State lineup this week.

When a football team loses and looks bad losing as the Spartans did in the 14-6 beating by Purdue, that's the only remedy — try to shake them out of it by shaking up the lineup.

Coach Duffy Daugherty expressed his unhappiness at the almost total lack of offense after the game.

"We just didn't have any offense," he said on examining the statistics sheet that showed a total of only 103 yards made rushing and passing.

"But we're not going to forget that game," he added. "We're going to try to profit from it."

The most Michigan State can hope to salvage from the 1958 season is the role of spoiler. But the only team MSU can hurt is Wisconsin.

Last season the Spartans complained of fumbles that cost them a victory over Purdue. The Boilermakers gave State five fumbles Saturday and they couldn't do anything with them.

MSU's stable of fleet backs were turned into plow horses by a brilliant Boilermaker line that allowed them just 38 yards. And Duffy Daugherty, using every quarterback available, saw the Spartans gain only 65 yards in the air.

It was a case of Purdue giving State every break possible — in addition to the five lost fumbles, State intercepted one pass, blocked an extra point attempt and had the benefit of two bad Boilermaker snap-backs on attempted punts with the kickers smothered.

In the second half, with the score tied at 6-6, the Spartans twice jumped on fumbles only to lose the ball on interceptions on the very next play.

It took a bad snap-back to punter Clyde Washington for State to score at all. Big Sammy Williams scored in and grabbed Washington on the 12 and Larry Biehl passed 11 yards to Dick Barker for the touchdown.

Purdue then did what MSU couldn't do all day — put on a sustained drive. The Boilermakers marched 59 yards with Leonard Wilson twisting in from the four. A 15-yard personal foul against MSU aided the Purdue cause.

State helped Purdue out of its victory drive in the third period when Jim Wulff was called for interference as Ross Fichtner rifled a pass to Richie Brooks at the MSU 27 and then hit Tom Barnett with a six-yarder after carrying to the 15 himself. Bob Jarus did the rest in three carries.

Michigan State went into the game with an awesome ground gaining average and an even better defensive mark. Both were shattered by the Boilermakers. State averaged 192 yards on the ground in three previous games while holding the opposition to an average of 81 yards a game.

Big 3rd Period Turns Trick

Eaglets Trip St. James

While Pontiac St. Frederick was rolling to its 4th straight Suburban Catholic League win, Over St. Michael, Sunday, Orchard Lake St. Mary's club annexed its 2nd loop victory at Ferndale St. James. Eaglets wiped out a one point halftime deficit to down the 'Dales 24-7.

Sunday's win squared Eaglets' SCL season's mark at 2-2.

St. Benedict, upset a week ago by St. Michael, took revenge yesterday, with a season's SCL high scoring win over St. Mary, 61-6. St. Rita's edged St. Clement, 20-14 in the other league contest over the weekend.

Eaglets' Milton Wojtowicz took a pass from Frank Bartos for a 46-yard TD, midway in the 2nd period, but Dales came back quickly. Larry Yezak grabbed a Danny Stockel pass on the 14 went in for the tally after St. James had driven more than 50 yards on the kickoff. Yezak ran the PAT, leaving Ravens with a 1-6 lead at the half.

St. Mary's broke the game wide open in the 3rd, with three counters. In 9 plays after getting the ball on the James' 27 after a punt, Tony Kosetcki went over from the one. A few minutes later Bill Krull added the 3rd tally with a 14-yard run, and the final TD wasn't long in coming. Wojtowicz took another aerial on the same play that started Eaglets' scoring, ran 23 yards for the score.

Ed Eberhardt with three, Dan Donar two, and one each by Art Storen, Ed Malkowycz and Art Massucci scored Raven TDs. Storen kicked six PTAs and Donar ran for one. Halftime count was 34-0 for Ravens, over ROSM.

NHL Is Back to Normal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Things returned to normal in the National Hockey League today. Montreal is back in first place, Detroit has become a contender and Chicago is up to its losing habits.

Montreal defeated the New York Rangers 5-3 Sunday night after playing a 2-2 with the winless New Yorkers the previous evening.

The Boston Bruins split their weekend games, whipping the Black Hawks 4-1 Sunday night and bowing to the Maple Leafs 3-2 the night before.

The Canadiens took over undisputed possession of first place Sunday night with a third-period rally against the Rangers. Rocket Richard's second goal broke a 3-3 tie after brother Henri's tally got the game even. Then Boom Boom Geoffrion caged the crusher by scoring on an open net in the last minute.

New York had built up a 2-1 lead before the Rocket went into orbit. The Rangers are the only team without a victory, having tied four times and lost twice.

Vic Stasiuk's three-goal performance carried Boston to its victory over Chicago Sunday. The Black Hawks, who finished last a year ago, started the weekend in first place with three straight victories.

Toronto chalked up its first victory Saturday as Ron Stewart scored twice against Boston.

Far East Tension Elevates Grains

CHICAGO (AP) — Resumption of hostilities in the Formosa Strait resulted in increased demand for grain futures on the board of trade today.

Prices moved higher for nearly all grains in a fairly active early trade. Demand for soybeans pushed the March and May contracts up more than a cent a bushel at the opening, with other deliveries not far behind.

The rush of buying was attributed to nervousness over the Far East situation, with the Reds making new charges against this country.

Corn advanced at the outset on the first good demand in more than a week. Both local traders and cash houses were the best buyers and a large export house was the biggest seller.

Activity in wheat was limited. There was not much selling and this tended to move the bread grain higher.

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was unchanged to 1/4 higher, Dec. $1.95 1/2; corn 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower, old style Dec. $1.10; oats unchanged to 1/4 lower, Dec. 64 1/2; rye 1/4 to 1/2 higher, Dec. $1.30; and soybeans 1/4 to 1/2 higher, Nov. $2.13 1/2.

Channel Islands Visited by Few

Written Permit Needed to See Santa Barbaras, Off California Coast

WASHINGTON—Off the coast of California lie the Santa Barbara Islands, a little-known group where few visitors are allowed.

No one can land on these islands unless he has a written permit—and he must have good reason to get it. Laws against trespassing are rigidly enforced.

The Santa Barbaras lie west of Los Angeles and form the northern tier of California's Channel Islands, which include famed Santa Catalina. Though the islands have been on maps for 400 years, many people do not even know they exist.

Two of the four islands, Santa Cruz and Santa Rosa, are privately owned and used to graze livestock. The ranching companies once welcomed visitors, but carelessly set fires destroyed much of the grassland. Cattle were killed. Some visitors even took potshots at the cowboys.

The third island, San Miguel, has been closed to the public since the Navy converted it into a rocket and bombing range.

The National Park Service has turned the fourth island, Anacapa, into a haven for seals, sea birds, and possibly sea otters which are making a comeback on the California Coast. The Park Service discourages visitors, in a rare departure from its usual policy.

Santa Cruz Island has a grove where large numbers of sea lions congregate. Nobody seems to know why they like to gather in the pitch darkness of the cave.

On the white sands of San Miguel are found once-rare sea elephants, some stretching 20 feet and weighing two-and-a-half tons. The sea elephant, called Mirounga, is the largest of seals. The male has a monstrous snout that inflates when he is angry.

Stewart-Glenn Store Readied for January

Construction is under way at a S. Telegraph road site on which Stewart-Glenn Co. will open its new furniture store sometime in January.

Addison K. Oakley, secretary-manager of the old store at 86-96 S. Saginaw St. and manager for the new store, announcing a clearance sale is now going on at the old building. Stewart-Glenn Co. has been located there for the past 41 years, he noted.

The new store, near Molls Interior Furnishings store at 1666 S. Telegraph Rd., will be 100 by 125 feet and will feature mostly Early American and contemporary furniture.

Oakley said the company expects to close out business at the present site, opposite Auburn avenue, sometime in December.
