Says Gunmen Planned to Sell Airliner to Castro's Regime

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—A federal official said today that Leon Bearden and his 16-year-old son Cody hijacked a $5 million jet airliner with the apparent intention of taking it to Havana, selling it to Fidel Castro's government and living like kings on the proceeds.

The federal official is U.S. Commissioner Henry C. Clinton, who said Bearden, an ex-convict on parole, contacted the Cuban embassy in Mexico City last January and indicated that he wanted to go to Cuba.

Some of the passengers of the hijacked aircraft made their escape in similar fashion when the two hijackers were kept busy in conversation at the front of the plane.

Cuba Angered at Charges

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government protested to the U.N. Security Council today because U.S. congressmen assumed the Castro regime was behind the hijacking of a Boeing jet airliner Thursday.

A Cuban note to the council accused the U.S. government of using the plane incident as a pretext for preparing military aggression against Cuba.

The Castro government charged that U.S. congressmen had launched a virtual ultimatum and threat of war against Cuba and said this attitude was part of a deliberate campaign by the U.S. government to set the stage for armed action against Cuba.

The note called on the Security Council to "take the necessary measures to avoid the repetition of these congressional accusations, taking into consideration that they are ill inspired and endanger the world peace."

Repeating an offer made by Castro in a speech last week, the Cuban government declared "its willingness to return any American commercial airplane irregularly taken off its route if the United States authorities agree to treat accordingly any Cuban airplane under similar circumstances."

Senate Passes $46.8-Billion Defense Budget

Unanimous Vote Sends Bill to House for OK of Additions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today voted a peacetime record $46,848,292,000 for defense. The rollcall was a unanimous 85 to 0.

The huge appropriation bill embraces President Kennedy's recent request for nearly $3.5 billion to expand and equip the nation's conventional fighting forces.

And it includes nearly a billion dollars that Kennedy did not ask to continue production and development of powerful jet bombers and maintain and equip reserve and National Guard forces.

The bill now goes back to the House for consideration of Senate increases of more than $4 billion.

The House had approved the annual defense money bill June 23, well ahead of the mounting crisis over West Berlin and before Kennedy's appeals last week to the nation and the Congress to toughen the combat forces.

The money is for the government fiscal year which began July 1.

It also earmarked $40 million to press development of the huge jet B70, designed to fly three times the speed of sound and be an eventual successor to the B58.

The administration, through Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, had asked only $220 million to continue research and development of the B70 as an experimental aircraft.

McNamara said no additional production of B52 or other present bombers was needed because past funds would maintain deliveries through next year.

The House had voted $44 billion for both B70 development and additional bomber production.

REJECT REQUEST—Both the Senate and the House rejected earlier administration requests for a 10 per cent cutback in the 400,000 Army National Guardsmen and 300,000 Army reserves on drill pay status.

The Senate, however, added several million above the House increases for equipment and maintenance of reservists of all arms.

Another new Senate item was $207,600,000 for civil defense activities recently shifted to the defense department by presidential order.

The President asked these funds also included in the Senate bill is broad authority for the secretary of defense to transfer as much as 3 per cent of the numerous multimillion dollar items providing this does not increase any single item by more than 6 per cent.

Prepares for Negotiations

Rusk in Paris for Talks

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk arrived in Paris today to lay the groundwork for negotiations with the Soviet Union on West Berlin and Germany.

The American secretary will meet with his British and French counterparts. Rusk told newsmen at the airport that the Western Big Three are in Berlin by their rights was in World War II.

He pointed out that Western occupation arrangements in Berlin also governed the Allied withdrawal from East Germany after the war.

He said the Soviet Union is disturbed over West Germany's efforts to reunite the country.

Mercury for 5 Days to Be Below Normal—Temperatures for the next five days will be about three degrees below the normal high of 83 and normal low of 62, the weatherman said. Tonight's low will be a mild 67.

Saturday and Sunday will be somewhat cooler but temperatures will be warmer Tuesday and Wednesday. The mercury will climb to near 83 tomorrow.

Precipitation for the period will total about three-tenths of an inch in showers early Saturday and again late Tuesday or Wednesday. Morning westerly winds at 5 miles per hour will become west to southwest at 4 to 5 m.p.h. tonight.

The lowest thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 56 degrees. The recording at 2 p.m. was 64.

Freak Snowfall in Ferndale Not the Real Thing—You would have sworn it was snowing in Ferndale today.

There is no reason why this problem cannot be solved by peaceful means if those other beyond the iron curtain are willing to approach it in the same spirit," he told newsmen.

Rusk emphasized that the Western Allies will act firmly—but sensibly—and are still ready to negotiate.

News Flash—WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved today President Kennedy's bill to put the peace corps on a permanent basis and authorize it to spend $40 million in its first year.

News Flash—The Haman notes said the Soviet Union did not propose to restrict the freedom of West Berlin from access on Western rights there.

But the replies left vague the nature of the guarantee for rights of access to Berlin. Nor did the notes give any specific clue as to how negotiations on a peace treaty should be held.

Khrushchev's previous six-month deadline—until the end of 1961—for a settlement on Germany was not mentioned in the notes.

Russian Note Raises Hope for End to Crisis

Accord on Site, Time, Place of Talks Between East, West Hinted Near

From Our News Wires
MOSCOW—The Soviet Union in relatively mild notes to the Western powers made public today said it is ready to negotiate with them on a German peace treaty.

If the United States, Britain and France will not negotiate such a treaty, the notes stated, the Soviet Union will conclude a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

This restatement of the Soviet position on the German question was contained in notes of some 6,000 words delivered to the western powers Thursday and made public here today.

The notes to Washington, London and Paris were similar in content but not identical in language.

Terror of the notes, observers here felt, was somewhat milder than previous Soviet statements on Germany.

In Washington, the notes raised fresh hope that practical steps to ease the dangerous East-West dispute may soon be taken.

On the surface, President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev appeared to be in agreement that Russia and the Western powers should negotiate for a solution.

Their stress on the need for negotiation indicated that agreement may be obtained fairly soon on the form, time, place and level of east-west talks.

REJECT PROTEST—As a possible stumbling block, however, the soviet today rejected a Western Big Three protest against East German Communist interference with the free movement of Germans in Berlin.

A Soviet Embassy spokesman said East Germany was a "sovereign state and would take the steps it thought necessary."

He told a news conference that the Soviet command in Berlin would not intervene.

Informed sources reported earlier that East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht had asked Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev for permission to seal the 1961 agreement which would seal the steps it thought necessary.

The Western allies Thursday protested against Communist restrictions on movement within the city as a violation of the 1948 agreement which ended the Soviet blockade of the city.

Today's Russian notes replied point by point to American charges that the Soviet stand on Berlin constituted a threat for world peace and hampered a solution of the problem of a divided Germany.

BLAME WEST—Actually, the Soviet Union maintained, the situation was just the reverse, with the Western Big Three and West Germany the responsible parties in the German deadlock.

The Haman notes said the Soviet Union did not propose to restrict the freedom of West Berlin from access on Western rights there.

But the replies left vague the nature of the guarantee for rights of access to Berlin. Nor did the notes give any specific clue as to how negotiations on a peace treaty should be held.

Khrushchev's previous six-month deadline—until the end of 1961—for a settlement on Germany was not mentioned in the notes.

Want Stiff Penalties for Air Crimes

Urge Passage of Hijack Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration urged prompt passage today of legislation making airline hijacking punishable by life imprisonment and provide stiff penalties for other crimes in the sky.

Philip E. Halaby, Federal aviation administrator, said such legislation is needed to meet the menace of "air drunks, flying into and spilling in the sky."

He testified at the start of hearings by the Senate Aviation subcommittee in the wake of the attempted hijacking Thursday of a Continental Airlines Boeing 707.

FBI agents and border patrolmen, acting on President Kennedy's orders, chased the taxiing plane in squad cars and shot the tires and one engine with submachine guns and rifles.

Thunderstorms, Showers Dampen Much of Nation

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms and showers hit broad sections of the nation today, from the Atlantic coast to the Southwest to Virginia.

Thunderstorms erupted during the night along a narrow belt from southern Wisconsin into northern Illinois and eastern Iowa.

Heavy rain, strong winds, hail and lightning were reported in many parts of the storm belt. More than two inches of rain drenched Wausau, Wis., in a six-hour period.

Storms continued along a cool front from extreme southern Virginia across the Carolinas into northern Georgia. In a storm which lashed Camp A. P. Hill in northeast Virginia, lightning hit an Army field kitchen tent, killing 2 soldiers and injuring 10 others. The lightning hit the top of the tent and cascaded into the tent, splintering the pole. The victims were members of an Ohio Army reserve unit on two-week summer training.

Wife, Friends Are Shocked by Fantastic Hijack Scheme

COOLIDGE, Ariz. (AP) — The dramatic scheme of an ill-fated husband and his teen-age son to swipe a $5-million jet airplane and fly it to Cuba shocked their family and friends.

"Ordinary, likeable citizens," was the consensus of Arizona acquaintances of Leon Bearden, 38, and his son, Cody, 18. The two were held at El Paso, Tex., on federal charges of hijacking a Continental Airlines Boeing 707 jet and kidnapping its 65 passengers and six crew members.

"Just one of all by Thursday's evening," said Bearden's wife, Mary Ruth, 32.

She said someone in her modest Coolidge home her husband never mentioned Cuba, expressed no interest in airplanes, jet or otherwise, and didn't have any guns around the house.

Father and son left Coolidge by Greyhound bus Wednesday night without telling her their plan, she said.

"I really didn't know where they were," she said. "I didn't even wonder. We don't have any secrets from each other."

"He's been such a good husband and a good father. He never runs around. He plays tennis with me and the children all the time."

She said Cody is a regular boy who likes to sing and play the guitar and is popular with girls.

"Cody and my brother, Darryl, 15, often chopped cotton for farmers in the area, she said.

"The couple has two other children."

Bearden said he knew his wife was a sideline, he added. "He was always trying to promote something. I remember him as a quiet, soft-spoken guy that never let you know much about him."

"I'm married to him and I love my loyalty to him. I will stick by him."

Arizona prison records show Bearden, a convicted robber, was paroled from the California State Prison before coming to Arizona a year ago. He previously had served sentences in Arizona dating back to the 1940s. In 1955 he had himself committed to the Arizona State Hospital, saying he was mentally depressed.

'GOOD FAMILY MAN'

Friends here and in Chandler, where the family lived until moving to Coolidge three months ago, knew nothing of a criminal background.

"He was a damn good family man," said Jay Hendrix, owner of a Coolidge auto agency for which Bearden sometimes worked. "This thing he became involved in overwhelmed me."

Hendrix's son, Bill, 17, said he said Cody had a mutual interest in cars.

"I didn't see any oddball tendencies in the kid," he said.

Dale Parker, Bearden's boss for a time at Chandler, said Bearden was a pretty good car salesman. "He was a pretty aggressive on used cars."

"Always thought he would have been a better one if he hadn't been sitting some kind of roofing as a sideline," he added. "He was always trying to promote something. I remember him as a quiet, soft-spoken guy that never let you know much about him."

Coolidge Police Capt. Walter Lovelace said he had met Bearden a couple of times.

"He seemed like an ordinary man to me," he said.

150 May Strike at Food Stores

Area Kroger Markets Face Walkout With Break in Negotiations

Some 150 employees at six Kroger Co. markets in the Pontiac area may be on strike "by tomorrow," a union spokesman said today.

Warning of a strike came last night after Local 576 of the Retail Store Employees Union broke off new contract negotiations with Kroger Co. and said its 2,168 members would strike at 89 Kroger stores in Michigan between Detroit and Alpena.

A Kroger spokesman said the company had no comment "at this time" on the pending strike.

Herschel Womack, secretary-treasurer of the local, said the union's contract with Kroger expired April 10 and that members voted in a secret ballot two months ago to strike.

He said union members have rejected all company offers since the strike vote.

Womack said the union was calling for a wage increase, but added that its hospitalization demands were considered "equally important."

Kroger is asked to pay the full cost of the hospitalization plan now being paid fully by employees, Womack said. He estimated the cost to Kroger would be $17 a month an employee.

Womack said Kroger was insisting on establishing an apprenticeship program at a low salary. He said this was one of the company's proposals turned down by the membership.

The combined value of the stolen items was $28.

The intruders entered by breaking a window at the rear of the building.

Commitment to Ionia Given Killer of Officer

Donald P. Benneyfield, who fatally shot a Royal Oak Township policeman and wounded another officer, today was ordered committed to Ionia State Hospital as a psychiatric patient.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer committed the 28-year-old former mental patient from the township after hearing testimony from three psychiatrists that Benneyfield was mentally ill and could not assist his attorney in his defense.

The judge ordered Benneyfield, of 1922 Alpena St., confined to the hospital for the criminally insane "for the rest of your natural life, or until restored to sanity, but in any event not to be released without leave of this court."

Benneyfield faced a first-degree murder warrant in the June 22 shooting of Sgt. James Galewood Jr., 45, when Galewood and Patrolman Edward Watkins were investigating a report that Benneyfield had been bothering girls in the neighborhood. The shooting took place at the Benneyfield residence.

The unemployed factory worker, released from Pontiac State Hospital in 1952, was judged to be insane both at the time of the killing and today by Drs. Clinton J. Mumby, Abraham Tauber and William E. Gordon.

Benneyfield's attorney, J. Goodman Cohen, petitioned for the sanity commission hearing.

Prodeger, superintendent for Schriber Roofing Co. of Oak Park, reported to sheriff's deputies yesterday that 110 feet of Manila rope was stolen from a company tool shed at 8040 Cooley Lake Road, White Lake Township.

First military aircraft for the United States was purchased and delivered in 1920.

U.S. Begins Latin American Gamble

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Analyst
This week the United States formally undertakes a multimillion-dollar gamble that through an "alliance for progress," enervating communism can be halted in Latin America and a better way of life brought to Latin America's 300 million people.

In shrill attendance as U.S. and Latin American representatives gather in the resort town of Punta del Este, Uruguay, to give the plan bone and sinew will be Cuba.

Under the plan, the United States pledges far-reaching financial assistance in all Latin American nations committed to defense of free institutions and human rights as defined in the Charter of the Organization of American States (OAS).

Automatically, it eliminates Communist Cuba.
But there because he cannot be barred will be Ernesto (Che) Guevara, economic czar of Fidel Castro's "socialist" revolution.

Castro already has called the plan an "alliance for exploitation" and an attempt to "buy the conscience of Latin America."

Whatever the source, Latin American nations have responded eagerly to the plan which for them holds out the same hope as the Marshall Plan extended to Europe in the years of recovery after the war.

"And, like the Marshall Plan, it admittedly is going to be expensive with no certainty of success. Unlike the Marshall Plan which could start on the basis of an advanced, well-established society, the "alliance for progress" must start almost from scratch, battling poverty and illiteracy among more than half the people at the same time that it clears polluted streams and builds roads and industry.

BIG PRICE TAG
Its price tag can only be estimated, but the estimates so far have run upwards of $3 billion a year, with the United States assuming more than half the load.

Nor will its effects be seen immediately, for first must come the planning stage which might take a year or more.

A key to the Latin American nations' willingness to help themselves and to come forward with development plans which are considered to be practical.

And, just as the Marshall Plan functioned, it is hoped that the Latin Americans themselves can set up a committee through which individual national programs can be channeled, and U.S. aid apportioned, and the technical and planning advice assigned.

This is more than a revival of the old "good neighbor" policy. It is a manifestation of this administration's attitude toward emerging nations. Of them, the President said:

"They seek an end to injustice, tyranny, and exploitation and there is a revolution which we would support regardless of the 'cold war' and regardless of which political or economic route they should choose to freedom."

Ready to Raise Bus From Lake

Diver Attaches Cable Deep in Lake Lucerne to Recover 15 Bodies

HERGISWIL, Switzerland (AP)—A diver feeling through the murky depths of Lake Lucerne today found some of the bodies of 15 American tourists trapped when their bus plunged off a scenic highway.

"I saw several bodies jammed in the mud inside the bus," the diver, Siegfried Naumann, told newsmen.

"It was quite impossible to count how many there were. Everything was covered in mud, and the visibility in the water was barely more than three feet—even with my lamp."

Naumann succeeded in fastening a steel cable to the bus and planned to tie on another. Barges fitted with heavy cranes stood by to raise it.

The vacation bus came to rest upside down 180 feet deep in the lake. The body of a 16th victim was recovered earlier.

The bus, carrying 35 American tourists and a crew of three, veered off into the lake Wednesday after colliding with a truck. The crew and 13 of the passengers—mostly teachers—escaped while the vehicle rested momentarily in shallow water.

2 U.S. Films to Compete

VENICE, Italy (AP)—The Venice Film Festival selections committee today announced two American films to be among the 14 in the 22nd annual competition opening Aug. 20. They are the screen version of Tennessee Williams' play "Summer and Smoke," directed by British director Peter Glenville; and "Bridges on the Sun," directed by Eugene Perier.

Birch Founder Favors Move Against Cuba

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Robert Welch, founder of the controversial ultraconservative John Birch Society, said here Thursday night Fidel Castro is such a threat to the United States and to the civil world, his regime should be destroyed.

Welch also branded Thursday morning's attempted hijacking of an airliner at El Paso, Tex., a further insult to the United States and said America should do something about it.

Welch was in Tulsa to speak at a national meeting of Christian Crusade.
"Ninety-five per cent of the Cuban people would be delighted to have us throw off the Communist dictatorship," he declared. He blamed the present administration "for not doing this."

Beats Sister-in-Law of Gov. John Volpe

WAKEFIELD, Mass. (AP)—A man beat and raped a sister-in-law of Gov. John A. Volpe Thursday night.

Irene E. Volpe, 47, wife of Richard Volpe, the governor's brother, was attacked shortly after she entered the Broadhurst Reservation near the Wakefield town line just before dark. She had gone there to pick blueberries.

Mrs. Volpe, mother of two children, told police her assailant knocked her down and dragged her into underbrush. After the attack, she said he mumbled, "I don't know what's the matter with me," and fled.
She stumbled to a highway. A motorist took her to Wakefield police headquarters.

Britain Seeks Entrance Into Common Market

Great Britain's decision to enter the European Common Market marks an important step in the current world picture. Similar moves by Norway and Denmark are expected soon.

The economic success of the six nations already making up the Common Market during the past few years has been noteworthy. Through the elimination of tariff barriers, trade has been increased, and the cooperating nations have enjoyed vastly increased industrial activity.

Strengthened trade relations have led to a closer feeling politically, also. Hence the proposed expansion of the group is being hailed as distinctly favorable to the cause of Western Europe in its economic competition with Communist Russia.

Britain's step has been forced upon London by the steady decline in its world trade which has been a natural result of the breaking up of the British Empire. Once the British colonies were controlled by Britain, she enjoyed the lion's share of their trade automatically.

Today the colonies are free nations, members of the British Commonwealth of Nations to be sure, but still free to trade with whomever they choose. Each year sees them trading gradually less with the mother country. This has brought about the recent austerity program announced in London.

The English have been spending billions more each year outside their country than other countries have been spending in England. Imports are growing but exports have lagged behind.

The British hope that closer trade relations with the nations of Western Europe will help to solve their financial problems. They also hope that they will be able to complete this important step without endangering the quite extensive trade which they will enjoy with their former colonies. This poses technical problems which still must be worked out.

Britain's financial difficulties are important to the United States as well. Successful waging of the cold war with Russia is costing huge sums. This cost will increase tremendously during the next few years.

To date, the United States has by far the biggest share. We cannot long continue to increase our national debt at the rate the present administration is going, however. If we do, we too will face an austerity program of our own.

So we have a vital interest in Britain's attempt to place herself on a firmer financial basis. For if she fails, we can look to her for scant help in footing the huge bills for armament and all the other aspects of the cold war.

It is difficult enough to get nations which can afford to do so to pay their fair share in a common world effort. The prospect grows vastly sadder when a nation encounters serious financial problems of its own.

Federal Government
Misleads Taxpayers

Always there's a certain amount of mystery woven around taxation and The Indianapolis Star comments pointedly on the fallacies our Federal Government seeks to establish.

The Star says:
In telling children about Santa Claus and the Easter bunny, parents know they will outgrow those beliefs. But when governments peddle myths, they do everything to see that citizens never discover the truth.

"One of the many fictions of government is that States cannot provide sufficient funds for their needs, but Federal Governments can. What is never explained is that both the State and Federal Governments exact funds from the same individual taxpayer. Then there is the notion, sedulously advanced by government, that a nation can spend its way to prosperity.

"This line of 'reasoning' would have us believe that although government impoverishes citizens by taxing away their money, those citizens actually are enriched—even though they may have to settle for a new government agency instead of a new television set. Equally popular is the belief that the Federal debt is nothing to worry about, for we owe it to ourselves.

"Nowhere are government-sponsored myths more widespread than in foreign aid. Our billions lavished around the globe are not really wasted, we are told, for sooner or later most of the money will make its way back. This facile explanation doesn't bother explaining that it rarely finds its way into the wallets of those it was taken from.

The Man About Town

Getting Chummy

With Wildlife; Outstanding Experiences of One Family

4-H Club Fair: When the best citizens in the world are allowed to strut their stuff.

The pure and wholesome joy and other great profit that is in store for anybody who shows a kindly disposition toward wildlife right here in the Pontiac area is told in a letter from of Lake Orion. The rewards come in many other ways besides song.

Twelve half walnut trees, each a couple of feet tall, have just been transplanted by the Raymonds, grown from nuts which they furnished the squirrels, and which they buried in the ground.

A seed from their feeding bowl, and evidently dropped by a bird, has produced a sunflower that already is 13 feet tall, and still growing.

And downy woodpeckers happily cavort on the lawn within five feet of people sitting out there.

A raccoon was seen the other day at the base of the bird feeder, its interesting face showing a desire to join the happy gang.

These are only a few of the numerous extraordinary incidents available when one gets chummy with our local wildlife.

There also is the music of the birds—all of them, regardless of variety or kind. Even the blue jays, hawks, cardinals and crows do not stoop to jazz.

And it can be made a year round joy. A pet woodchuck, (and they're easily tamed if you get them when real young), is a perpetual grouch dispenser.

Mrs. Raymond points that the expense is quite negligible. Table scraps will furnish most of what's desired. Sliced vegetables, fruit and potato parings, cole slaw and crushed egg shells all comprise a good menu.

In connection with the above, a letter from

of Rochester asserts that the squirrels soon forget where they've buried a nut, and that's why they're left to sprout and grow; but the blue jays can be depended upon to return to the exact spot and retrieve what they've hidden, even if the ground is covered with snow.

This is almost the last call for our young friends to get their frockies in readiness for this column's annual Frolic Contest. It will be a feature of the Oakland County 4-H Club Fair next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, a $20 U.S. savings bond going to the winner.

Port in a Storm

David Lawrence Says:

Russ May Accept Common Market

IN EUROPE—What does Russia think of the "common market" idea? What effect will Britain's decision to work closely with the continental countries have on Moscow?

What impact will it have on the satellite countries which are left isolated as they see their former associates in Europe moving toward a stronger and stronger economic position?

These questions are even more important today here in Europe than the special problems that Britain faces with her commonwealth associates, or the dilemma confronting Sweden and Finland, which dislike to become entangled in any kind of political union that might be resented by the Soviets. Neither country has joined NATO.

In Moscow, however, irreconcilable opposition to the enlarged common market plan. While hostile propaganda against it continues over the air waves, the Russians have never pinpointed their objections except in the political domain.

In fact, it is conceivable that in the long run the Soviets may find a united economic entity in the western part of Europe easier to deal with than the present setup of two rival organizations.

For the moment, Moscow keeps hammering away that Britain, in joining the European Economic Community, is making a mistake and is diminishing her influence in Europe. But these tactics are obviously designed to embarrass, if not discourage, the whole common market movement.

The Communists are well aware that the European Economic Community is destined to develop successfully, and hence it may well be that, when the new organization finally gets firmly established, the Moscow policy will be changed to one of friendliness, instead of hostility.

Indeed, there may come a time when the Soviets will be maneuvering to build up more trade for the satellite countries as well as for themselves.

The Soviets are well aware of the fact that a consolidated market in Western Europe comprising 40 million people means a huge industrial capacity and rapid progress in living standards, along with improvements in social conditions. Despite all the Utopian promises in the new 20-year Communist party program, the fact remains that the peoples of East Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia and the other satellite countries in Eastern Europe will be hearing every day of the realistic growth of the western countries. News like this, travels across international boundaries despite censorship of the press and radio.

In a political sense, therefore, the Russians have much to fear and, if they find they cannot really block the movement, they may in the long run try to associate themselves indirectly with it.

Russia even gave permission to Finland within the last two years to join the European Free Trade Association—known as "the seven"—as an "associate member," and offered no objection to Sweden's action in becoming a full-fledged member.

Nor was any effort made by Moscow to stop Austria from joining. This does not mean that the Soviets acquiesce in everything "the seven" have done—in fact, the Russians have demanded of the organization that the so-called "most favored nation treatment" be granted on certain exports which are part of the Soviets' trade arrangements with all western countries.

Britain and other countries objected. Only Finland paid heed to the Russian request. The Russians are not likely, of course, to abandon right away their efforts to cause embarrassment. They are already trying to persuade Sweden to take only a limited participation in the enlarged common market plan. Now way and Denmark will seek full membership, so it may be that Sweden will find it hard to satisfy the demands of Russia.

Request an End to Destructiveness

The letter criticizing those who don't like children playing in the street was interesting. Children shouldn't play ball in the street, but they do—and never in front of their own house. They fight, scream, hit cars with baseball bats, throw stones and balls into your flower beds, and people should get up with that!

Most children playing the streets come from broken homes and should be in a juvenile home where they'd get supervision and a good bringing up. They're not getting it at home.

Pastor Looks Forward to New Job in Pontiac

Please allow me to introduce myself, as I soon begin work as pastor of the First Christian Church, Pontiac. For a month I've been receiving The Pontiac Press in Bentonville to get oriented to the city.

We certainly have been impressed and can see that the community is progressive and growing. I like your newspaper. I like its style. You cover many different aspects of community life and news.

In short... Change for the Centennial issue which gives an historical perspective to a new building... to your circulation department for the new way it has handled my issues... Jeers to the Sports Editor who in the last month has carried the St. Louis Cardinals over almost every three times. (I guess with 18 clubs you can't carry them all.) We live and breathe with our Cardinals.

Thank you for the service you render your community. I am looking forward to meeting you Pontiac people.

Another Complaints of Keego Mandate

Here in Keego we must hook up to the sewer or be prosecuted, and we must pay $2.00 for information about it. It's called an "Information Permit." Besides that, they get a man from Detroit to be the inspector. A lawyer told us we could probably win the case in court but it would cost us more than the $2.00.

These places everything's included in a plumbing permit. Here we must have a sewer permit, kitchen vent permit, bathroom vent permit. Many unemployed people can't pay taxes, let alone pad someone's pocket.

At City Hall I saw 25 or 30 sprinklers on the lawn and more on the Library lawn. I like beautiful lawns, but if there's a shortage, why use it for that when people need it more? Also, I recently saw sidewalk workers take a cap off a fire hydrant and the water flowed for two days. Couldn't we sink another well deeper than previous ones from Detroit? Our water bills will be triple and this should come to a vote before anyone is done.

Mrs. Pearl Hanson

(Editor's Note: The shortage doesn't exist now but will in the years directly ahead. Sinking another well won't add to the supply in the shed. It would be putting more straw in an ice cream soda.)

'Are Ceremonies Really Needed?'

I'm usually quite respectful of tradition, but I can't for the life of me figure out why they always go through such elaborate ceremonies for the opening of new public buildings, churches, etc. The only people interested are those taking part and the rest just wish it were over.

First Baby May Bring Resentment

"But I raged at Fate for dealing me this unlucky card, and I kept building up greater dislike for my baby."

"In the middle of the night, while alone in our country home, I had the baby. There wasn't even a doctor or nurse in attendance."

"I became delirious with pain and frustration. During the following week, every time I heard the baby cry or even move in its crib, I could have screamed so great was my resentment."

"I couldn't even bear to nurse him, although I had plenty of milk. And my once beautiful baby became the delight of a husband who loves her. It is not unusual to have secret grudges occasionally against any kink who may spoil her privacy."

"There was no inevitable attraction between mother and baby."

"This love is a learned habit, and usually starts during early pregnancy."

"But hatred may also develop then, too. So send for my bulletin 'Facts About Pregnancy', enclosing a stamped return envelope and 26 cents. Learn to love your baby early."

"I made me so insane with rage that I almost blacked out. I literally knew the street to avoid passing a mother with a baby."

"Dr. Crane, I realize my attitude is unusual, but this is just the way I feel, so I am telling you the truth."

YES? YOU'RE
If Janice had verbalized her feelings years ago, she would have felt less frustrated.

For the very act of talking over one's problems, helps lessen the tension.

And she was not so unattractive as she thought... for I surprised her to know how many thousands of other women have secretly hated their first baby, at least momentarily. For the pregnancy interferes with their own social life.

"Each day and night that I spent alone at home, I hated the child more, for he stood between me and the only real happiness I had ever known."

"My husband would call me by telephone each night, which was the only thing that kept me going."

Commercial Aviation Going Onward, Upward

Plane Passengers Will Watch Take-Offs Over TV

By DOO QUINN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Where is commercial aviation going? Onward and upward. To about 75,000 or 80,000 feet and perhaps 1,800 miles an hour, within a decade or so, according to some experts.

Other experts say it will be sooner. The year 1968 has been mentioned.

The passengers who go along with this newest hurrying pace to Europe in two hours — may experience such travel delights as watching the take-off on the plane's own television system.

CREATE COMFORT

Such innovations on the new supersonic planes will be born of efforts to create passenger comfort in the face of greater structural stress on the plane.

The problems are beginning to occupy the thoughts of designers. Charles Butler, who heads a firm prominent in aircraft interior design, outlined some of them in an interview:

There has been a lot of pre-need out as to whether there will be windows on the supersonic passenger planes. You see, windows are a tremendous weight penalty. But if you don't have windows you run the risk of passenger disorientation.

"You might counteract this by having a light source that will be windows on the supersonic passenger planes. You see, windows are a tremendous weight penalty. But if you don't have windows you run the risk of passenger disorientation.

with a peculiar lighting. Or you might put TV screens on the backs of the seats or on the ceiling, or both.

"The cameras would be somewhere on the front of the plane, perhaps two cameras beaming at two angles.

"Then you could watch the take-off from two views, probably getting a better view of what's below than a window would afford."

The TV equipment could be switched to motion pictures for periods of blank exterior visibility.

Butler, however, said that though builders have been muling over TV usage, he personally felt there would be windows.

There are other problems:

"New planes have gradual take-off, everything is gradual. But as for the future, we don't know about the take-off.

We may have to have new types of seats.

"Will the passengers be flat on their backs at take-off? Will there be pivotal seats?"

"Probably there will be no passenger supersonic flight longer than two and a half hours. And I'm presuming there will be no laboratories — at least, none such as you have now."

He explained that he didn't believe there would be any walking around on the part of passengers. At that speed, if you hit a bump you wouldn't be on your feet anymore.

Also, he believes the flights may be seat-belt once all the ways. However, the air up there is supposed to be unusually free of turbulence.

Butler's work in the past has

Just Say the Word and You'll Be Your Wife's Hero

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Do you want to be a hero in your own home?
Many a husband does, but he doesn't know how to go about it. Actually, there isn't any great secret to it. A word to the wives is usually sufficient—provided it is the right word.
The failure of most husbands to attain the stature of a household head is a failure of communication. They don't know the right way to talk to their wives.
TESTED METHODS
Here are a few tested sentences bound to make you the man-of-the-house in your own living room—and also guaranteed to make every other husband in the block your mortal foe:
"I know you've had a hard day, dear. You go in and curl up with a good book. I'll cook dinner and do the dishes."
"Put down that pail this very moment! No word of mine is ever going to carry out the garbage."
ASK FOR RAISE
"You're absolutely right, dear. I'm going to ask the boss for a raise today, and if he says no, then I'll ask him again tomorrow."
"Write your mother back right now, and tell her we'll be glad to have her come for a visit anytime—and stay as long as she can."
"I took out another $10,000 worth of life insurance. If anything happens to me, I want you and the kids fully protected."
"Gee, I can't stand it when most women talk baseball. But you're different. You really understand the game."
"The new dress looks swell on you, but don't you think you ought to have a new coat and a new hat to kind of set it off?"
"So what if it's expensive, dear? After all, it's only money. The main thing is—does it please you?"
LET'S STEP OUT
"Put your glad rags on, doll. We're stepping out. It's no fun for you to stay home night after night."
"You can go back to sleep. All he's probably yawning about is he wants a diaper change. I'll get up and fix him."
"Don't worry about that dent in the fender, dear. After all, we've had the car for a full month. And as for the garage door—I probably can fix it myself. The whole thing isn't worth fretting about. It could happen to anybody."
JUST GO AHEAD
"What I can't understand is why the bank always blames you if your checking account doesn't balance. If they give you any more trouble, just go ahead and switch to another bank."

"There's one thing I can say about your family. They don't try to interfere in our personal affairs nearly as much as my family does."
TH QUIT
"If the boss asks me to go on the road next week, I think I'll quit. A week away from you seems like a month."
"No wonder Brigitte Bardot's husband had a nervous breakdown. She can't cook the way you do."
"So why do I have to play golf and let's just talk. I love the just because it's Saturday? You sound of your voice."

"Why should you take off 30 pounds just to please those biddies you play bridge with? I like you just the way you are."
"Other women look funny when they wear their hair in curlers at breakfast—but you look cute."
"Turn off the TV set, honey. I'll never understand why a wonderful kid like you—who had her pick of the field—ever married a beef like me."

Arming Crews Vetoed by Pilot

Proposes Alternative of Having Single Guard on Each Flight Run

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The pilot of a hijacked airliner says he doesn't approve of arming flight crews to thwart piracy.
"Arming the crew would present a more serious problem," Capt. Byron D. Richards, of Redondo Beach, Calif., said. "If we had been armed we probably would have gotten hurt."

Arming of crews had been suggested by Najeeb Halaby, administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency.
Richards proposed, as an alternative, a single armed guard on each plane.

"This worked during the stagecoach days, when a guard by the driver's seat carried a shotgun," he said.

Richards and five other members of the crew of a Continental Airlines transport traveled as passengers in returning from El Paso, Texas. The transport had been commandeered near El Paso earlier Thursday.
Returning with Richards were stewardesses Lola Caruagay and Toni Besant; 1st Officer R. C. Wagner, 2nd Officer Norman Simpson and the director of passenger service, Louis Plach.

FAA Wants to Simplify Hydraulics in Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency is looking for a simplified plumbing to avert future airframe system failures in air-craft. The FAA said, however, it is the FAA pointed out that if air-craft hydraulic fluid now carried on additional extra supplies of hydraulic fluid, the cost in weight and volume might be excessive.

The agency has received some criticism in the view of landing gear failures of the type that have been involved in accidents at Denver, Miami and elsewhere.
Some travelers have reported hearing about the use of milk, water, even coffee and orange juice to supplement emergency supplies of hydraulic fluid.
An FAA spokesman said modern airliners have, in addition to their built-in main supply of hydraulic fluid, an auxiliary system plus an emergency supply of bottled fluid.
He said this is considered more than sufficient to meet normal requirements.
The FAA is concerned more about the complexity of the hydraulic system—the great amount

Indict Samuel Marosso on Bad Bonds Charge

A former Pontiac Transmats Union business agent and two other men have been indicted by a federal grand jury in Miami, Fla., on charges of conspiring to transport $265,000 worth of phony Ohio Turnpike bonds.

Samuel J. Marosso, 47, business agent at Pontiac Transmats Local 614 in 1950 and 1951, was accused yesterday of conspiring to transport 265 of the counterfeit bonds, valued at $1,000 each, in international commerce.

Marosso, an ex-convict, was also charged in another indictment with transporting the bonds from Miami to Nassau, Bahamas, where the securities reportedly were deposited in a Nassau bank.

The bonds were discovered to be bogus after a New York brokerage firm purchased them.

Marosso served a seven month prison term in Jackson State Prison in 1954-55 after pleading guilty to extortion charges involving a Detroit contractor. Two other Local 614 officials were involved in the charges.

Marosso was placed on two-year probation in 1951 for becoming tax evader, but in 1950 was sentenced to 10 months in prison for violation of probation.

The latter sentence stemmed from his refusal to reveal the source of $15,200 in income during 1951 and 1952. He appeared before the Senate labor racket committee in August 1952, and refused to answer 53 questions on grounds that he might incriminate himself.

Marosso's appearance before the committee came at a time Teamster President James R. Hoffa's influence on Local 614 was being examined.

Marosso was a business agent for Teamster Local 247 from 1951 to 1954, when he was convicted of extortion.

Burke Defends Cuban Invasion

Recommendations Made by Joint Chiefs Weren't Understood, He Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Adm. Arleigh A. Burke has implied the Kennedy administration did not fully understand the Joint Chiefs of Staff recommendations on the ill-fated Cuban invasion.

Speaking Thursday at the National Press Club two days after returning from an unprecedented six-year term as chief of U.S. Naval Operations, Burke said "if I were living the affair over, the decisions that the Joint Chiefs of Staff made would probably be made again."

But, he said, they would insist on a "more thorough explanation department."

The admiral did not discuss the specific suggestions. But it has been commonly said in the Pentagon that the Joint Chiefs' endorsement of the Cuban invasion effort was made on two "assumptions" given to them by government leaders.

These were that an invasion such as the one last April would be accompanied by an uprising of the Cuban people, and that Fidel Castro's armed forces had not yet been fully trained in the use of certain Communist-supplied weapons.

On another touchy subject, Burke intimated that the prime function of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, President Kennedy's newly-appointed military adviser, was to see that there is complete understanding between military leaders and new frontiersmen.

Cattle Rustling Refuses to Die

Ranchers Still Brand Cows to Halt Modern, Mechanized Thieves

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Mechanization has made cattle rustling a hit-and-run crime on a faster scale, but it hasn't changed the main way a rancher marks his cattle as his own.

Ernest Duke of Fort Worth, director of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, said the cattle rustler's pory has given way to trucks.

And the herd-to-to safety method of the past has yielded to a method harder to trace — ranch-to-market.

"Transportation has been a real boon to thieves," Duke said. "They can steal cattle after dark and be far away by daylight. They can load the cattle into flat transports and have them sold at market before long."

Texas law enforcement officers still have a lot of trouble with cattle thieves, Duke said. The end of the open range didn't bring an end to rustling.

But cattle branding has remained basically the same over the years.

"Nothing has replaced the hot iron yet," Duke said. "It remains the same thing as in the old days.

There are some acids and other chemical brands, but they don't work as well."

To match the rustlers' increased mobility, enforcement officers and cattlemen have a few new tricks of their own.

Road Commission Honors Safety Conscious Drivers

One hundred and forty-five safety-conscious drivers for the Oakland County Road Commission last night claimed the commission's first safety pins and certificates.

In conjunction with a safety program of the National Safety Council, the commission a year ago began watching the drivers who could put in a year's driving without a chargeable accident, said Joe Davis, safety supervisor for the commission.

The 146 that passed the test without such an accident were honored last night with a banquet held at the Pontiac Elks Lodge.

Hiland M. Thatcher, commission chairman, presented the pins, with a "1" in the center for the first year's accomplishment, and certificates from the NSC.

Only drivers, who drive vehicles from pickup to big road graders, and who spend about 75 per cent of their time on the road, are judged.

"These were the men, who, when other drivers had what had to leave the road because of key conditions, had to start to work under the most trying circumstances," said Thatcher.

"All of them deserve medals," he added.

Speakers at the banquet were Sheriff Frank W. Irons and Sgt. Lorenz Ahlgren, commander of the Pontiac State Police Post.

Airline Crews Can Tote Guns

But Reaction Varies From Outright Rejection to Wary Indecision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency has authorized commercial airline crews to carry guns to prevent any more hijacking.

Federal Aviation Administrator Najeeb E. Halaby announced the arming authority Thursday—soon after two hijackers, who took over a Boeing 707 jet airliner, surrendered to federal officers at El Paso, Tex.

The immediate reaction of industry leaders was either indecision or outright rejection.

From American Airlines came a statement that it flatly was "against arming any members of any of our crews." Other airlines said they would take the matter under consideration.

"DOES NOT ADVOCATE"

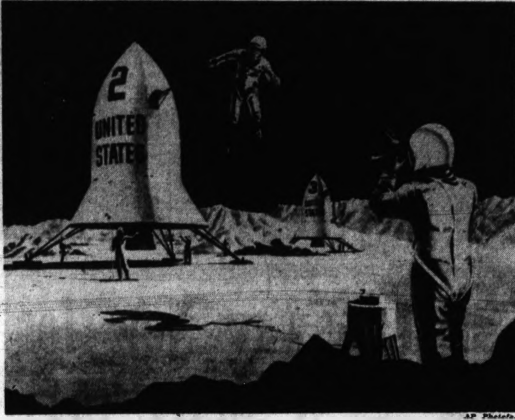

Claudio N. Saxon, president of the Airline Pilots Association, said: "The association does not advocate arming of pilots."

John Carroll, of Kansas City, Mo., association first vice president, said pilots were unenthusiastic about the idea. He said the safety value of arming crews was doubtful because of great hazard involved in firing a gun in a pressurized airplane.

In making his announcement at a news conference, Halaby said crew members should be armed "only when they have received training and demonstrable proficiency."

He also announced—and so did the Justice Department—that the federal government was offering a $10,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons trying to hijack a plane.

Halaby also had this advice for crew members — keep your cockpit closed from the inside in the next act.

DRAWING OF MOON BASE — This sketch of U.S. astronauts on the job at a moon base was prepared by the Martin Co. to accompany a preliminary report to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration on plans for establishing a moon base. The firm has a government contract to delve into the problems of survival on the moon.

Airlines Reluctant to Arm Plane Crews

By The Associated Press

Is it possible that jet airliners soon will carry "shotgun" riders like stagecoaches of the Old West?

Possible, but not imminently probable. Most of the nation's hijack-harassed airlines indicate they would arm their crews only as a last resort.

Officials at the nation's airports where passengers are beginning to cast suspicious glances at their fellow travelers, indicate they're not sure what measures to take. There have been no indications, however, that citizens are avoiding air travel simply because of fear they might find a hijacker cockpit closed from the inside in the next act.

Not quite so definite were Trans World Airways, Eastern Air Lines and Pan American World Airways. All said they were studying the FAA authorization.

Almost all told of stepped-up security measures. American Airlines said all pilots' compartments are being locked in flight. In addition, passengers are being scrutinized closely both on the ground and in the air.

Another airline, which declined to be identified, said it was studying the possibility of installing closed-circuit television aboard planes to aid in detecting suspicious actions of passengers.

The nation's airports indicated they were looking to the federal government for a guiding hand. Forty of 50 airports reported they took no additional security precautions after the latest attempted hijacking.

MUM ON MEASURES

Three jet did—Logan at Boston, Municipal at Birmingham, Ala., and Friendship at Baltimore—declined to say what measures were instituted.

At Syracuse, N.Y., five special city policemen were sworn in Thursday night to supervise the loading of all Eastern Air Lines planes leaving for Miami, Fla.

Following the abortive hijacking attempt Thursday, guards were stationed at Continental Airlines gates at San Antonio City Airport at the request of the airline.

Police were called to the Albuquerque, N.M., airport immediately after word of the El Paso incident—but they stayed only four hours.

The Port of New York Authority, whose police guard Idlewild and LaGuardia airports, said no special security measures have been taken at either terminal.

Recalls Friction on Japan Arms

Statesman Says Dulles Met Resistance From Gen. MacArthur

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese elder statesman Shigeru Yoshida says he and Gen. Douglas MacArthur joined in resisting a proposal by the late John Foster Dulles to rearm occupied Japan at the start of the Korean War.

When the conflict broke out in 1950, Dulles, then a special adviser to the U.S. State Department, came to Japan and told us to rearm. Yoshida said in a serialized interview with the Asahi newspaper.

He was very unhappy when I told him, "Don't talk nonsense! If we rearm now, the Yoshida cabinet would be knocked out completely. The Japanese people are sick to death of war."

She said Pushinka was feeling it again and has been back to her normal activity—ramping on the south lawn of the White House.

Unearth WWII Victims

CAEN, France (AP)—French workmen digging a cable trench Thursday unearthed the bodies of 13 girls and 14 men. They had been buried alive in a shelter under a flaming building in the Normandy fighting in June 1944.

Wheels of Justice Slow

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — An enterprising state legislator has had enough of the law's delay. He proposes stern action for judges whose cases drag longer than 120 days; a salary cut.

Dog 'Pushinka' Feels Fit Again at White House

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Pushinka, the daughter of Russian space dog Belka, has received a clean bill of health from doctors at the Army hospital where capital VIPs are often treated.

But Mrs. Kennedy's press secretary, Pamela Turner, said Thursday it was "absolutely untrue" that the gift dog from Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev was suspected of being a "Trojan dog" bearing germs from political enemies.

Mrs. Turner said the fluffy white dog was taken to Walter Reed Hospital for two days of tests after apparently picking up a "bug" on a weekend with the Kennedy family at their Middleburg, Va., country estate last June.

King Mahendra will head a five-man delegation to the neutral nations summit opening Sept. 1 at Katmandu, Nepal (AP) — Yugoslavia, the foreign ministry said Thursday.

Jumps Nearly Hysterical Gunman

Plays Hero to Subdue 2 Hijackers

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Leonard W. Gilman, 43, played the hero's role Thursday in subduing two gunmen who hijacked a Continental Airlines Boeing 707 and held local and federal police at bay for almost 10 hours.

"The elder gunman was saying, 'I would sooner commit suicide than to turn myself into the authorities,'" Gilman said in an interview Thursday night. "He seemed to be getting hysterical."

"That's when I made my move. I caught him behind the ear and threw a full nelson on him to

TELLS STORY

Gilman, associate deputy regional commissioner in charge of operations of the U.S. Border Patrol out of San Pedro, Calif. told this story:

"When the two gunmen took over the plane they found out I was an officer and they searched me immediately for a gun. After that they kept a close watch on me.

"One of the women became hysterical and began crying. I told her we would see that she got off all right. That's when I talked the hijackers into letting the passengers off.

SEEKS PATROLMAN

"I volunteered to be a hostage if they let the rest of the passengers go. When they started to take off from the field, they made the hostages move to the middle compartment of the plane. Then they made us fasten our safety belts.

"Then those on the outside of the aircraft began shooting at the tires."

Gilman said the elder hijacker became scared at the shooting and pointed his gun at the head of one of the people in the plane.

TENSE MOMENT

"His reaction to the shooting outside was one of the more dangerous moments on the plane."

"The boy didn't talk at all but the father was very talkative. I talked the father into taking the gun from his boy."

"I tried to appeal to him as a father. I said the boy didn't know what he was doing and didn't have any business with the gun."

"The father said he was fed up with the American government. He said he was going to Cuba and become a naturalized Cuban citizen."

Gilman said he told the father that only a criminal or a Communist would do what he was doing and make his son help him.

"He refused to answer me when I asked if he was a Communist. He denied vehemently that he was involved with Castro, but he said he had friends in Cuba."

"I asked him if his wife knew what he was doing and he said she did and she would join him in Cuba later."

"We got the father busy talking and I heard some of the hostages slip out the window (at the back of the plane)."

Later Crosby and Gilman tried to get the father and son to give up. They told the hijackers there was no hope for escape.

"I got a glimpse of a border patrolman climbing into the plane through a cracked door," Gilman said. "I caught the father behind the ear and Crosby got the boy and a couple of border patrolmen came through the door to help us."

Gilman suffered a fractured hand from the blow he delivered to Bearden. He was treated at an El Paso hospital and his hand placed in a cast.

"I had him off guard several times, but there were too many people around to risk rubbing him. At one time he was holding the gun to the head of one of the hostages."

"I was happy to be there and might say that all the group acted very well under the circumstances."

Gilman was a boxer and football star at Pacific University of Oregon. He has been with the Border Patrol for 21 years.

Kennedy Lauds 'Courageous' Federal Men

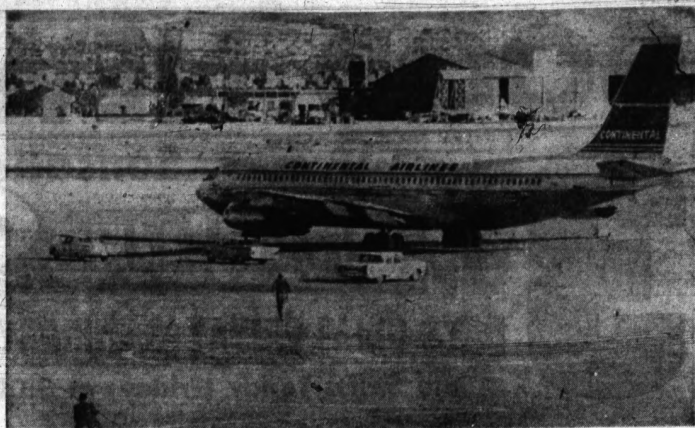

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today commended two government agents for the part they played in subduing two hijackers of a Continental Airlines plane in El Paso, Tex., Thursday.

Kennedy praised the "courageous and level-headed manner" in which FBI Agent Francis Crosby and Border Patrolman Leonard Gilman handled the hijacking "under the most difficult circumstances."

The two men disarmed and captured Leon Bearden, 38, and his son, Cody, 16, aboard the plane after nine hours of tension-filled dickering and maneuvering.

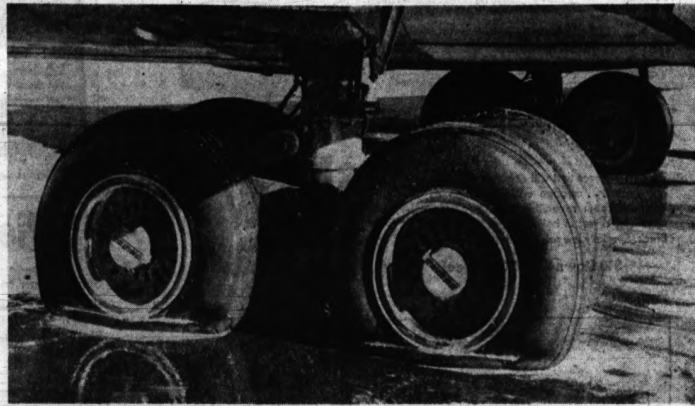

Kennedy's letters were sent to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and to Immigration Commissioner J. M. Swing. He also commended the FBI generally for its key role in the capture.

Gilman, 43, got a grinning, backslapping welcome from Swing and fellow workers at immigration headquarters here this morning.

JETLINER MAKES BREAK—Law enforcement officials close in around a Continental Airlines Boeing 707 Jet as it taxis in an attempt to take off from the El Paso International Airport Thursday with four passengers and a crew of six aboard. Officers, directed by President Kennedy to keep the plane on the ground, opened fire on the huge airliner's tires in an effort to keep it from reaching the sky.

BULLETS FIND MARK—This is a close view of the bullet-punctured tires of the hijacked jet. Police succeeded in bringing the big Boeing 707 to a stop in its attempt to take off for Havana. One of the hijackers inside the plane became frightened and placed his pistol to the head of a passenger. It was one of the more dangerous moments of the long ordeal.

PLANE PENNED UP—The chase down the runway ended, armed officers stand guard around the hijacked jet. Inside, the two plane pirates, Leon Bearden, 38, and his son Cody Leon Bearden, 16, kept four passengers and six crew members at bay in a vigil which lasted until the two were finally subdued by Leonard W. Gilman, 43, an official of the U.S. Border Patrol and a passenger on the plane, and Francis Crosby, an FBI agent, who was on board the plane negotiating for the release of hostages.

AGENT DISTRACTS GUNMAN—An FBI agent talks to officers at the front exit of the hijacked Boeing 707 Thursday while passengers escape from the rear exit of the plane. Many fled the plane in this manner before the 10-hour long ordeal finally ended.

SNEAKS TO SAFETY—One of the stewardesses aboard the hijacked jet airliner gets ready to jump from the aircraft. The stewardess, Lois Carnagey, along with other hostages, managed to sneak out of the rear of the airplane while the two hijackers were busy near the front.

Will Drop Plans for Proxy Fight

Bocallif Will Support
New President, Dann
Still Has Objections

DETROIT — Chrysler Corp. stockholder James Bocallif has notified Detroit associates he is dropping plans to wage a proxy fight against management and will support the new president, Lynn A. Townsend.

Bocallif, a Portland, Ore., contractor, said he notified the Securities and Exchange Commission he no longer intends to argue a proxy contest.

Townsend was named president July 27 following the resignation of L. L. Colbert as chairman and president. Colbert had been Bocallif's prime target.

Attorney Sol A. Dann, Chrysler's most persistent critic, has said he believes the company needs further managerial changes and that Townsend is not acceptable to him. James O. Robbins of Royal Oak, another stockholder who has criticized past Chrysler management, has not committed himself publicly on the changes.

Mail Must Go Through, Even a Post Egg

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Postmen are, too, good sports. And that egg-stamped and hard-boiled—on its way to California by first class mail.

Postmaster Lewis Moore said somebody dropped the three-ounce egg into a Nashville mail box Thursday with two 6-cent stamps glued on, and addressed to W. T. Brien of Berkeley, Calif.

His message read: "Judgment by the gods: Arriving whole, you are a good egg; broken, you're cracked; not arriving, you're men are poor sports."

"I've never seen anything like it come through before," said the postmaster. Then he carefully hand-cancelled the egg and put it into a mail sack for the 2-day trip to Berkeley.

The egg bears no return address.

Central Police Station's No Place to Snooze

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—A three-year-old boy stepped into the first building he saw open here at night. He lay down in the hallway and went to sleep.

The next morning he told police he had hitch-hiked here from Iowa after running away from home. The building he had entered for his noose was the central police station.

Urge Complete Cuban Embargo

State Department Puts Pressure on President to Cut Final Trickle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — High State Department officials have recommended that President Kennedy ban the "trading with the enemy act" to cut off the remaining trickle of U.S.-Cuban trade, sources said today.

The move would be a rejection against Cuban President Fidel Castro's pledge to do much as reply to the U.S. demand that he return a hijacked Eastern Airlines plane.

The sole remaining trade between the two countries is food, exported to Cuba, and tobacco imports to this nation valued at $30 million a year.

However, it was learned that Kennedy has been reluctant to invoke the act, since his policy has been to concentrate on helping other Latin American nations and ignoring Cuba.

But it was learned that mounting congressional pressure increased by Thursday's attempted plane hijacking has swayed Kennedy to consider a complete embargo.

Girls Enjoy World of Camping at Sherwood

Camp Sherwood, run by the Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council, is spread over 130 acres of wooded hills on Davis Lake northwest of Lapeer.

Open to girls from 7 to 17 years of age, the camp operates four two-week sessions during the summer, and also is available during the fall and winter for troop camping.

The girls are the key to activities, under the guidance of capable and enthusiastic unit leaders and counselors.

Swimming and boating is enjoyed once a day in units. The girls eat many of their meals at the lodge, and everyone cooks out on Thursday—the "cook's night off." Additional camping activities such as hikes, nature study, creative crafts and pitching and striking tents are carried on in units.

Popular spot at the camp is the Trading Post, the camp store. The girls also have a publication, The Sherwood Banner, which publishes camp news once during each session.

Protestant church services are conducted on Sunday. Roman Catholic girls are transported to Lapeer for Mass.

Adding to the fun are camp games for all of the staff members. "Johnny" (Janet Hayes) is camp director. One unit leader is Shorty; the waterfront director is Speedy; and a counselor is affectionately known as Yogi.

The units also have picturesque names. Little Pines and Sailors' Cove house the younger girls, while the older scouts live in the platform tent unit Wildwood or the cabins of Greenwood. Girls planning to go on this session's canoe trip live in the primitive tent unit of Ridgewood. The Pioneer unit is reserved for senior girl scouts on the counselor-in-training program.

Activities are varied for each unit. One group spent a day "orienting," learning how to use a compass and how to lay and follow a trail. The girls also are planning a night watch. Two-hour shifts will be taken during the night with the girls recording sights and sounds. Notes will be compared at breakfast the following morning. "Then they all plan to go back to bed," reports Mrs. R. F. Morgan, scout reporter.

"Boat suppers" are popular at camp. The girls don life preservers, pick up their meal at the lodge and eat while drifting lazily across the lake in a camp boat. One unit had a "boat breakfast."

Several units have had masquerades, and one group staged a "jungle party" for which half the unit tied fruit in the trees for the other half to find.

The many lashed shelves for wash basins and other camp equipment speak well of the girls' training in lashing. One group has set up a tool rack for hatchets, shovels, rakes and hammers.

The scouts in Little Pines are carrying on a conservation project started last session. This youngest unit planted grass in the flag pole area which is being tended faithfully.

The girls of Ridgewood unit spent most of their first week planning meals and arranging gear for their three-day canoe trip down the Au Sable River from Grayling to Mio. They will use mostly trail pack provisions which are packed in plastic bags. A "dry run" was conducted at the camp complete with gear and canoes during the first week.

The camping program continues even in rainy weather. The lodge basement offers a large area for games, a library stocked with books loaned by Pontiac City Library, a piano and large fireplace. The craft house "Rainy Day" also is available.

Camp Sherwood is supported by the annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale.

Impromptu fishing off the dock with handcast poles may not produce much in the way of fish for these Girl Scout campers, but it's a splendid opportunity for social exchange and the kind of talk that only a quiet moment can produce.

The youngest unit at Camp Sherwood, high in a pine grove, is "Little Pines." Busy 7 and 8-year-olds learn many skills. Campers experimenting with modeling in clay are (from left) Belinda Wunsch of Empire Street, Carol Pocchiola of Walnut Street, Mary Parmenter of Beverly Avenue and Laurie Blakeney of Utica Road.

Woman Senator Could Use a Wife

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Maurine Neuberger is on the last lap of her first session as a lady senator. Before that, she was the most regular gallery-sitter of any Senate wife.

This seemed a good time, therefore, to have the real-estate woman from Oregon contrast the difference between life as a son's helpmate, and as a son herself.

The widow of Sen. Richard Neuberger has a relaxed, unaffected manner of expressing her views. She's an experienced legislator from way back, and a vocal spokesman for the consumer, but her first words were:

"In this job, I just can't find time to get my hair done, or mop my kitchen floor. I never realized how much I had helped my husband — taking the car to be fixed, dropping off the laundry, running all those millions of errands — until I myself became a senator."

This frank talk recalled a similar complaint once lodged by her only feminine colleague, Margaret Chase Smith of Maine who when asked what a woman senator most needed to get ahead retorted: "a wife."

Maurine is one of those rare career women who adores housework. She has never had a maid. She doesn't even have one now that she is a $25,000-a-year senator who works ten to twenty hours a day. She explains it this way:

"In the West practically no one has maids, and besides, I love to make a house shine. Housework is real therapy for me, but I'm having trouble making the time for it now, and getting any shopping done."

The senator from Oregon occupies a two-bedroom cooperative apartment which she and her late husband purchased four years ago in the rejuvenated "foggy bottom" section of Washington. She shares the quarters with her 8-year-old cat, on whom she had bestowed the name Muffet before the manx kitten announced "herself" as a feline.

Muffet spends lonely day-times, now that his mistress is away for long hours, but he sleeps at the foot of her bed, and gently awakens her each morning by means of a built-in alarm clock.

A casual reader of the congressional record might naturally assume that the vice president is a woman. More often than not during this first session of the new frontier Congress, senators begin their colloquies by saying politely, "Madame President."

The "Madame" refers to Maurine, who presides over the Senate chamber far oftener than Lyndon B. Johnson, and more than anyone except a couple of other freshmen, Senators J. J. Hickey and Lee Metcalf.

Sitting on the Senate dais is such an onerous chore that newcomers are invariably tagged, and Mrs. Neuberger spends at least three hours a day in the big chair.

With committee meetings every morning, plus her multitudinous other tasks, it is a rare day when she can slip into the Senate beauty parlor for a bit of sprucing up.

An accomplished swimmer who once rocked Oregon politics by posing in a bathing suit while running for the state legislature, she feels the need of hair-sets because she swims in a friend's pool every week-end.

Lashing shelters and equipment is a camping skill that has special appeal to 11 and 12-year-olds. These Sherwood campers have learned to lash securely and neatly. Putting the final touches on a framework are (from left) Patricia Franklin of Holly, Cynthia Davis of Henry Clay Avenue, Chris Blakeney of Utica Road and Suzanne Carlock of Maple Heights Street.

Under the watchful eye of counselor-Diane Slinker of Edgewood Park Court, older campers prepare for testing that will qualify them for a canoe trip. Canoe trips at Camp Sherwood range from over-nights on nearby rivers to extended trips of several days on more demanding waters. Training and preparation are under national Girl Scout and American Red Cross standards.

Abby Says: See Counselor

Why Did Marriages Fail?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please don't tell me to see a psychiatrist because I have already been to one, and he said I was sane.

I have been married and divorced three times since 1951 — each time to the same man. I wish we had the money we spent on lawyers. Right now we are divorced, and considering marriage again. I feel like a crazy kid. We have no children, so that's not the reason we keep going back together.

I can't get interested in anyone else, and he is the same way. If he doesn't call me up before going to bed, I call him, and we talk for hours.

Everybody says I am cute

I really want to marry him again, but I am afraid of what people will say. Can you help me make up my mind? I am 34 and he is 37.

DEAR LUMP: Don't marry each other again until you both sit down with a clergyman, or a competent counselor, and try to determine why your past marriages have failed.

If you can discuss your past mistakes objectively, and profit from them, your chances for a shatterproof marriage are excellent. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I am eleven years old, and I don't have a boy friend yet. I have had my eye on a certain boy for a long time, but I am not making any headway with him. He is 12 and I think he likes me but is too bashful to show it.

Everybody says I am cute and smart. He wears a ring, and I would like to get it. Can you help me?

CUTE BUT MUTE

DEAR CUTE: What's the rush? There is only trouble ahead for the girl who wants to get a band on her finger before she gets the bands off her teeth. Slow up, Honey. You are much too young for such notions.

DEAR ABBY: My two small children and I live with my parents. My father tells my 6-year-old son that he must shake hands, instead of kissing him, before he goes to bed; that he may kiss women, but "big boys don't kiss men."

Mother and I feel that my son should be allowed to kiss his grandfather, who must act as a substitute father in this case. My own father kissed his son (my brother) until he was in his teens, and I don't think there was anything wrong with it. How do you feel about this?

DEAR YOUNG MOTHER: There is no reason why a six-year-old child shouldn't kiss his grandfather.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MAC: A "guilty conscience" doesn't always prevent people from doing things. It just prevents them from enjoying it.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

St. Frederick Class of '53 to Gather Aug. 19

A reunion is being arranged by the St. Frederick High School class of 1953. The affair will be held Aug. 19 at Walt's Barber Shop Hall on Lapeer Road at Walton Boulevard.

For tickets or further details Gilbert Leal of Beach Street may be contacted.

Class officers are expected to attend, along with Rev. Maurice Vervey of Dearborn, formerly of the St. Vincent de Paul parish in Pontiac.

Committee workers for the reunion include Mr. and Mrs. Leal, the Richard Deschamps and the William Kelloggs.

Women's Club Plans Dessert

The Pontiac Women's Club is planning a nurses' scholarship dessert luncheon and card party at 12:30 Monday in the home of Mrs. William H. Bedard on Crescent Lake Road.

The club's scholarship recipient is Mariene Kitchen of Kimball Street, a student at Hurley Hospital School of Nursing, Flint.

Mrs. J. O. Radenbaugh, nurses' scholarship chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Bedard and cohostesses Mrs. M. E. Baldwin, Mrs. E. M. Malone, Mrs. E. H. Learned, Mrs. C. W. Meyers and Mrs. A. D. Stimer.

Decor for Party to Smack of Orient

The romantic atmosphere of the Pacific and Caribbean will be captured at Forest Lake Country Club's "Adventures in Paradise" party Aug. 12.

Members will dine and dance in the various club rooms decorated to represent Hawaii, Tahiti, Hong Kong, Tokyo and the Caribbean Islands.

A Cantonese dinner will be followed by dancing to the music of an area orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Eino Nurme of Bloomfield Hills head the party committee.

Church Unit Meets

Women of the Lutheran Church of the Incarnation will meet for a business session at the parsonage Thursday. Hostesses were Mrs. Gunnard Turnquist and Mrs. Roy Borkstrom.

CAROL LORETTA ROSS

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ross of Keego Harbort announce the engagement of their daughter Carol Loretta to Richard N. Strong, son of the Norman Strongs of North Adams Road. An October wedding is planned.

Divorcee Shaken at Party

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: I divorced my husband several years ago and he remarried a short time afterward. Recently I was invited to a wedding anniversary party in honor of friends of mine, and I accepted the invitation.

When I arrived at the party, I was shocked to find my ex-husband and his wife among the guests. When I saw them my first impulse was to leave but I decided against it.

I spent a very uncomfortable evening. What is your suggestion on the part of the hostess to invite us both to the same party?

A: A hostess should not invite ex-husbands and their former wives to the same party unless she knows that they have remained friendly and often do go to the same parties together.

Q: Isn't it improper for a hostess to begin removing plates at the end of a course before all at table have finished eating? Several hostesses I know begin removing the plates as soon as two or three guests have finished eating. I think this is very rude to the guests who eat more slowly and that it either forces them to gulp their food or to leave it uneaten on the plate in order not to hold up the service. Will you please give me your opinion?

A: At a large formal dinner served by footmen, they remove the plates of the guests as soon as each guest has finished eating, and this is considered to be correct. I do, however, agree with you that it is more polite for a hostess who does her own serving to wait until all have finished eating before removing the plates.

Q: At a large wedding reception where the guests are seated at small tables, do they wait until the bride and groom have been served and begin to eat before they may do so?

A: They need not wait to see when the bride and groom begin to eat, but may themselves begin as soon as two or three others at their own table have been served.

Q: I received a letter of introduction in today's mail from a friend introducing a friend of hers who is coming here to this city to live. Will you please tell me what my obligations are toward this person?

A: You should write a note or telephone her after she arrives in your city and invite her to a meal or to tea. After that, you do whatever you can to help her establish herself in your city.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Be Young With Your Kids

Just Dress Your Age

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q: "I am 19 years old and have four children. What kind of clothes should I wear? Everyone seems to expect me to wear clothes that make me look much older than I am. If I don't, they say things like, 'You look like a kid.' I am short and slender and have a relatively good figure. What should I wear?"

A: Wear the kind of clothes that are becoming to a young woman of 19 with your figure and coloring. Don't believe what people say. It is also to be young with your children. Don't select your clothes by the number of children you have.

Q: "I hope you can help me with my problem. No matter where I am, at school, at home, at a dance, in the gym, I always have a perspiration ring under my arms. This makes me self-conscious. I have tried antiperspirants, and they don't work. All winter long I have been wearing sweaters because they absorb perspiration. Lately people have asked me why I am wearing sweaters and covering up my pretty blouse."

A: Are you sure that you have been using an antiperspirant rather than just a deodorant? Evidently the little sweat glands under your arms are unusually active. You can use shields in most dresses and blouses, at least during the winter. Also try to select clothes which are not fitted tightly at the arm pits. There are many of them on the market today.

Q: "I read your column every day and would like to know if there is any way to reduce the bust. I have a full bust. I wear a size 36 bra."

A: The only way to reduce the bust is to wear clothes that make you look like a kid.

Women Can't Resist Psychological Ads

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspeople Katherine Aeon. It's downright scary how rude those who aim their sales pitch at women understand feminine psychology.

What woman, for instance, can resist the word "dramatically" in combination with that other seductive word "reduced"? To a woman anything that is dramatically reduced is something she can't live without.

Then there is that beguiling little word "just." Tuck that on in front of a price a woman might ordinarily consider beyond her means and she begins to think it isn't so high after all. There's a world of difference in the feminine mind between, say, "$80" and "just $79.95."

And what about the sign "only two to a customer"? Tell a woman she can't buy more than two of an item and even if she only intended buying one she automatically picks up two.

After all, she wants to get what is coming to her.

There's something about the term "easy payments" that gets a woman, too. Women who have been stretching tight budgets long enough to know that for them there's no such thing as an easy payment still can't seem to resist that approach.

And, of course, women are suckers for the word "save" when the idea is that they can save by spending.

With a perfectly straight face a woman will tell her husband, after a shopping spree, just how much she "saved" — rather than how much she spent.

And let's not forget those tantalizing words "while they last." If anything can make a woman put on her hat, grab her handbag and hurry out to spend some money, those are the words that will do it. For, after all, if she isn't quick about it some other woman might beat her to a bargain.

That is a fate no red-blooded woman can bear to contemplate. Profitable ruses for men is "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, Co The Pontiac Press, P. O. Box 488, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

Look at the Hem

(NEA) — There are many ways to tell if you're getting a good buy in a dress when you shop. Look at the hem: it should be at least two inches wide. Check the seams for width; an inch and a half is perfect.

Be sure the seams are pinked or stitched so that they won't unravel. And look for a skirt lining if the dress is a narrow one.

Let Professional Help Choose Right Clubs

(Editor's note: The following is the second of three dispatches on golfing by a professional.)

By BARBARA ROMACK
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—When you have mastered your first set of lessons for even before, if you have the urge you should select your golf clubs.

These must "fit" the individual golfer. They can be bought new or slightly used, and any qualified professional can outfit you properly. Weight, proper shaft, swing-weight and length, all must be considered. A tall person needs a longer-shafted set than a short person.

A strong woman can swing a club with a stiffer shaft than a woman who is not strong. The average woman golfer needs the extra flexibility in the shaft, as compared to that of men's clubs, in order to make it easier for her to attain the proper feel of the swing and to give her distance.

It is noteworthy that women usually learn golf more easily than men. Perhaps it is because we tend to have a softer, more deft touch in chipping and putting.

These are the shots that can win or lose your game for you. While we have to learn to build up our power, men have to learn to control theirs. We do not try to hit the ball harder than is possible, but men invariably do and this can make them tense.

Professional golf is on the upswing among women in the United States. Women seem to be well-suited to the game and it to them.

But even if you do not intend to go professional, there are several things you should keep in mind:

A scheduled afternoon game of golf usually prompts the housewife to get her routine chores done more efficiently than if she did not have that date in the afternoon.

Furthermore the game is a pleasant way to keep one's weight under control. The bending, twisting, stretching and walking is excellent for keeping the body in fine tone. The beauty of the game is that it can be done at your own speed. Golf carts are always available for the less ambitious golfers.

One word of warning, however: after playing 18 holes do not give in to temptation on the 19th hole by over-indulging, although everyone knows that a cocktail or two can ease the pain of that last missed putt.

It is not unwise to take an occasional lesson even when you know the game. I also suggest that you practice the shots that are giving you trouble before going out on the golf course. This is what professionals have to do continually. But such practice certainly can make your game look something better than just amateur.

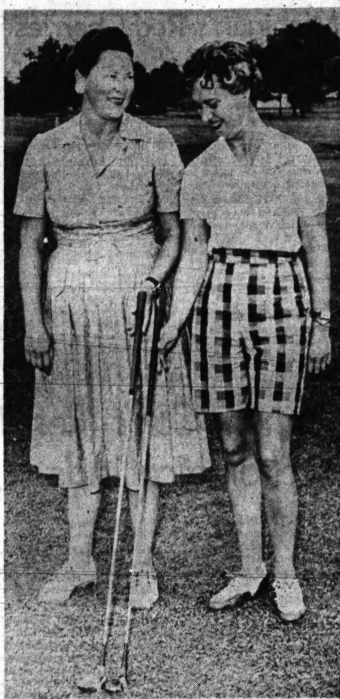

Such is the increasing interest of women in golf that the Ladies Professional Golf Association recently started a school to discuss the best ways of teaching the fair sex.

It opened last year at the University of Michigan. The association sent six girls on the LPGA tour to the school to present the teaching clinics. They had full attendance and will be presented again this year.

Just as golf during the week probably will be with your female friends, weekend golf can be shared with your husband.

As I said before, you don't have to worry about competing against him, since he will be trying to improve his own game and, you, yours.

Listen, pointers when he makes suggestions about your swing and do not argue with him if you believe him to be wrong. For lessons, rely on your instructor.

Golf clubs should "fit" the individual. Weight, proper shaft, swing weight and length are all important. The taller gal, of course, needs a longer shafted set, and a strong woman can swing a club with a stiffer shaft than one who is not strong. Two Niblick Golf Club members (from left) Mrs. Louis B. Livingston of Woodbine Drive and Mrs. Robert S. Kingsbury, Lake Angelus, note differences in their clubs before teeing off.

Losers Wait on Winners at Outing

Losers served the winners a Tuesday Tee Golf League's annual picnic at the Otter Lake home of Mrs. Elmer MacLean.

Winners of the hi-low games were Mrs. Arnold Benham and Mrs. Allen Crawford; first, Mrs. Joseph Belant and Mrs. George Roberts; second, Mrs. Leroy Johnson and Mrs. Calvin Warner; third, Consolation prizes went to Mrs. James Vallins and Mrs. William Sparks.

The group's annual Husband's Day was Sunday at Pontiac Country Club with 15 couples playing.

After a round of golf the club was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cork on Hammond Lake. Winners were Mrs. Delbert Hammett and Euell Smith; first, Mrs. Smith and Harold Tatus; second, Mrs. Frank Perna and A. J. Latoza; third, Mrs. Thomas Doyle and Mrs. Warner received consolation prizes.

Niblick Club Has Luncheon Following Golf

Following morning golf at Pontiac Country Club, 22 Niblick Club members attended the August luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Watkins Lake home of Mrs. Donald Long.

Mrs. Oscar Eckman was a guest of the group.

Mrs. Robert Kingsbury, golf chairman, announced championship which began Tuesday will continue for two more weeks with trophy prizes for low gross, low net and cash awards which will be presented at the October meeting.

An afternoon of bridge followed awarding of prizes for July golf.

The Sept. 12 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. William Grant in Bloomfield Hills.

Daughter Needs Some Undyeing Praise

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Editor
Dear Mrs. Lawrence:
What do you think of a 13-year-old who bleaches her hair? That's what mine has done.

She locked herself in the bathroom last Saturday and came out with a bleach job that makes me sick to look at.

She's wearing it all brand up but if you tell her she's made her self look brazen and cheap, all you get is fresh talk. She is so defiant.

ANSWER: I think that a 13-year-old who bleaches her hair has chosen an inexperienced method to achieve a somewhat worthy end—self-beautification.

I suggest that you offer to take her to a good beauty salon, get her hair set and restored to its appropriate color.

And that if your offer is rejected, you refrain from mentioning her hair again.

Can you stop talking about her hair to her?

If not, let me suggest the possible reason. I think you have not expressed your true feelings about this bleach job completely to your daughter. I'm almost sure that you have not said, "I think your hair looks awful. I loved your looks and am furious at what you've done to them. Now you know how I feel. I'm done talking about it."

FE CHARACTERS

This inability to deliver our feelings completely to children is characteristic of many of us. When Carol gets home from a party at 2:30 a.m., when Eddie brings home a friend's old jalopy that isn't worth the $50 he paid for it, our indignation has to seep through so much obstruction that it can't come out full and free.

Our fear of being "intolerant" or "harsh" or some other bad psychological thing makes a dam behind which our indignation goes stagnant, corrupting into resentment that can only trickle through the dam in the form of day-in-day-out reproaches.

This trickle not only fails to relieve us but creates a chronic tension and defiance in Carol and Eddie.

Your situation is a fine example of the cruelty we inflict on ourselves by this self-suppression.

You liked your daughter's hair the color it was. She has changed what you liked and deprived you of your delight in her appearance. Is your indignation at this deprivation a feeling to fear and hostility? Doesn't it represent pride of love, interest and concern?

Of course it does. Then why can't this good and most natural feeling be spoken out fully, once and for all, instead of expending itself in the trickle of stagnant and poisonous resentment?

A Diamond From Pontiac Enggass

What more could you do to show her you really cared than to select the ring for that important occasion at Pontiac Enggass.

Here you will find a gorgeous display of truly beautiful diamonds in settings that will be cherished forever.

'I Just Can't Throw That Away!'

By PHYLLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK — We are ready to move from one apartment to a larger one. That is, it is largely by one nursery and $135 a month rent. In closet space, it is the same.

This time — the time of moving — is the sentimental woman's big chance to stop selfishly hoarding her clutterous little mementos of life and love and luxury.

It is the great opportunity to look over her slightly wilted, mildly mildewed, remnants of clothes and furnishings and give them to the needier.

It is her moment of patriotic pride when she can stand solemnly and alone and remember her responsibility to her country.

It speaks to her now — the still, small voice of the gross national product — saying: "Throw away those used garments, madame. And that slipcover, that teatime-screen TV set, that luggage rocking of moth balls. We are counting on you to keep the weavers weaving and the spinners spinning and Hoffa's henchmen hopping."

"This is the age of 'planned obsolescence,' madame. If you persist in saving things, you are un-American and you are not playing the game."

The little woman stops. Perspires. Runs her finger softly over the splintered edge of a beloved old highboy her grandmother should have given The Salvation Army. Hobbies ouch. Then says, finally:

"But I can't, I just can't throw it away. I may regret it one day."

The most difficult thing about being a real womanly woman in an age of relative prosperity is that your house (or apartment) inevitably must bulge at the seams. This is because women, more than any other known sex, have: 1 — a greedy love of acquiring new possessions, mixed with 2 — A loathing for discarding anything.

Men are sentimental too, but in a small way. They cling only to such minor storage problems as pipes, slippers and small address books. But women will swear eternal vicelike devotion to any old inanimate friend — from dolls twice the size of their own infants, to love letters from men they wouldn't now be caught speaking to.

MOTIVES DISCLOSED
Some women tend to hide their tender sentiments under the guise of practicality. She will just say: "Ann's car is very carriage. Mrs. Brown decides, because when Eunice (who is now three) has a

Fete Bride-Elect to Wed Aug. 26 at Shower Event

Rosemary Elizabeth Fellow, bride-elect of Douglas C. Lucas, was honored at a shower Tuesday given by Mrs. Robert H. Peck and Mrs. D. Roscoe Hendry. The affair was at the former's home on Elizabeth Lake Road.

The couple, whose parents are the Sidney S. Fellows of Cottage Street and Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Lucas, North Marshall Street, will be married Aug. 26.

The bride-to-be has asked her cousin Charlotte Tiltman to be honor maid. Gail Blumy of Birmingham and Virginia Hedges will be bridesmaids; and Misses Mary Martha and Elise Louise Fellows, junior bridesmaids.

Miss Tiltman and Mrs. Kenneth Guyett feated Miss Fellows, an Eastern Michigan University student, at a recent miscellaneous shower. The prospective bridegroom attends University of Michigan.

Preliminaries of Blue-White Lions Battle Starts at 7:30 P.M. Saturday

Brown, McClung to Match Passing Arms in Scrimmage

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Lion quarterbacks look out! Coach George Wilson may have something up his sleeve.

Don't be surprised to see 325-pound Roger Brown and 265-pound Willie McClung doing the passing Saturday night at Winder Stadium, where the Lions will hold their full-dress scrimmage.

Wilson has indicated Brown and McClung to take part in a passing contest for distance which will be one of the preliminary event on the schedule prior to the game at 7:30 p.m.

Guard John Gordy and rookie linemen Dick Mills and Errol Linden will also try out their arms.

Although Jim Martin is the Lions' field goal-kicking specialist, three other players are in camp. Wayne Walker, Sam Williams and Ayden, are all known to have pretty sharp toes.

The quartet will each take three kicks from the 35-yard line and the winners will stay and compete from the 40 until only one is left.

Yale Lary, Earl Morrill and Pat Studstill will compete in a punting contest which will be based on the average at three points.

The dashes will match speed versus speed when Dan Lewis, Glenn Davis, Terry Barr, Pat Studstill and Gail Cogdill match their legs. Olympic ace Davis and Studstill, both running under 10 seconds for the 100, are considered the fastest men on the team.

There may be a photo finish when the linemen have their 50-yard dash. Big Roger Brown is sure he won't finish last and he competes against Gil Mains, Bill Glass, John Gordy and Oliver Spencer.

A first prize of $30 and a $20 second prize are the incentives for the competitors in the prelims. After the game $25 each will go to the players selected by the press as the best offensive and defensive backs, best offensive and defensive linemen, best linebacker and best receiver of the scrimmage.

The scrimmage will be played under regular offensive rules but with a special defensive scoring system. The defensive unit will not carry the ball but will have numerous opportunities to score.

Everytime the offense is stopped from getting a first down, the score board will register two points for the defense. Two points will also go for blocking a field goal and for a pass interception. Additional points can be gained by recovering an offensive fumble and when the offense fails to make good on a field goal try.

At 8 p.m. play will start on the 20-yard line with the full length scrimmage between the offensive Blues and defensive Whites.

Miss Michigan and her court will be present to award the outstanding player prizes after the game. Tickets are still available for the scrimmage at various locations around Pontiac and can be purchased at the gates starting at 6:30 p.m.

The Community National Bank and Jaycees are cosponsors of the event.

Here are the competitors for the running, kicking and passing contests. They will be others added to the contests.

1. Punting for Distance: (Average of three kicks)
a. Yale Lary
b. Earl Morrill
c. Pat Studstill

2. Field Goal Kicking: (Best record from 35-yard line)
a. Jim Martin
b. Wayne Walker
c. Sam Williams
d. Errol Linden

3. Passing for Distance: (Average of three passes)
a. Roger Brown
b. Willie McClung

4. Fifty-yard dash for linemen to be selected from a group that includes: Roger Brown, Gil Mains, Bill Glass, John Gordy and Oliver Spencer.

5. Fifty-yard dash for backs and ends to be selected from a group that includes: Dan Lewis, Glenn Davis, Terry Barr, Pat Studstill and Gail Cogdill.

GO, OLLIE—Lions' tackle Ollie Spencer is often in front of the pack when the linemen sprint during workouts at Cranbrook. Ollie will compete in the dashes for linemen at Winder Stadium Saturday night prior to the full dress scrimmage.

Lions Get More Ormery as Drills Get Tougher

The Detroit Lions are growing mean and orrmery—with each other—at just the thought of enemy blood.

Allex Karras, the Lions' all-pro, 265-pound offensive tackle, enjoyed Thursday morning's scrimmage by sparring with a couple of teammates in the heat of battle.

His first opponent was 245-pound rookie Ron Pickett, an offensive tackle hopeful out of Los Angeles state. The 6-foot former Iowa All-American spotted Pickett two inches in height as they lay with fists and knees. They finally were pulled apart by cooler heads.

But it didn't take Karras long to get heated up again. Moments later he was tussling with 6-foot-2, 235-pound guard, Bob Grotkian, in a brief skirmish.

Two more Lion holdouts—halfback Terry Barr and linebacker Carl Bretschneider—agreed yesterday with general manager Edw. J. Anderson, leaving the number of mavericks at seven. Included are veteran quarterbacks Earl Morrill and Jim Minsowski and prize endophore and Gail Cogdill, 1960 NFL rookie-of-the-year.

Cogdill held another conference—the fifth—with Anderson yesterday but spurned the latest offer. Another is their second place finish in the Western Division last season. Anderson admits, "this is the worst year I've ever had in trying to land them."

The expanded 13-game schedule, including five exhibitions, is one of the major reasons the Lions figure they are worth more dough. Another is their second place finish in the Western Division last season, and their victory over the Cleveland Browns in the first annual roundup bowl.

Yesterday was the fourth straight day of heavy contact work for the Lions.

Bellino Could Be Key Man for Collegians

All-Star Game Against Eagles to End Career

Pros 10-Point Favorites Tonight in Chicago's Annual Contest

CHICAGO (AP)—Navy's Joe Bellino, the smallest All-Star, tonight could become one of the biggest heroes of the midsummer football classic in Soldier Field.

The 5-foot-9, 173-pound All-American halfback will be playing in his last game and would like to make his departure a long-remembered one. After it is over he will return to Annapolis, starting a four-year stint in the Navy as an ensign.

The 28th annual game sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities Inc. will attract about 65,000 spectators and will be televised and broadcast by ABC starting at 9 p.m. EST.

Bellino is the type of breakout player and adept game catalyst that the National Football League knows they must stop. He will be a marked man. But his last game could be a big one and he knows it.

"The game means a lot to me," says the 23-year-old Bellino. "It's a great honor to be selected an All-Star. When I'm 50, I would like to tell my kids: 'I played in one of those ones.'"

Such dedication and high spirit is felt throughout head Coach Otto Graham's collegiate squad, regarded as one of the best in years.

"We've got three weeks of satisfactory training behind us," says Graham. "Now it's up to the boys. We expect they'll react like men."

Although a saturation bombing by passers Norm Steneck of Wake Forest, Bill Kilmer of UCLA and Tom Matte of Ohio State seems likely, the All-Stars are well prepared to run against the pros.

The Eagles have a defensive secondary that could be tough against passing. But their line-backing could stand improvement and, defensively, they appear only moderately efficient against running.

The Eagles have been installed as 10-point favorites although they must face one of the better All-Star groups without the leadership and aerial power provided by Norm Van Brocklin last season. He is now coach of the Minnesota Vikings.

The pros have won 17 of the 27 games played and two have beaten the Collegians' last victory was in 1958, Graham's first year as head coach. They trimmed the Detroit Lions 35-19, setting game records of most passes completed (18) and most aerial yardage gained (288).

In the last two years, the Baltimore Colts humbled them 28-0 and 27-7.

The coachman predicted a humid, warm night following a chance of afternoon thunder showers.

Gridders in Weight Program

New Charm at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP)—"You sure ideal and before he finished, was a 235-pounder—and it was all solid football pounds he added," Yeoman said.

"We figure it will increase a boy's speed, at least for the first five or six steps, where speed is no very important, some 20 to 25 per cent," said Yeoman.

Yeoman is an avid golfer and wears the weights himself to help his game.

"I went to the weights and they really gave me an added punch," he said. "I think it added 35 yards to my drive."

Yeoman stressed that the weights don't build bulging muscles, just stronger ones.

"The improved tone is what everyone wants—good, healthy, all-around strength," he said.

So watch out, Big Ten, Michigan State will be fielding a bunch of weight-lifters this fall.

Hurls Two-Hitter in Waterford Softball League

Two-hit pitching by John Herrington paced champion Spencer-Floor Covering to a 4-1 American League win over Five Spot Thursday in Waterford softball.

Al Sharrard led the winner's hitting attack with a single and double.

Stroh's topped Drayton Drug 9-0 in the second All-Star game as Bob Ferree hurled a five-hitter and Jim Altard collected a single and home run.

Two National games are slated tonight. Lakeland Pharmacy plays Bibb Jim's at 7:00 and Pontiac Rockcoke meets Hobby Painting at 8:30.

A Saturday night exhibition doubleheader starting at 7:00 will send Spencer against Flint Herich's Drugs, a Class AA team.

Billesdon Fans 13 in No-Hitter

Blanks Orion Team as Nicholice Wins Junior Hurl Gems.

Class A-B baseball ranks had a pair of opposite games Thursday. Don Nicholice nipped Oxford 3-2 while the Joy Boy Jets were handing Don's Used Cars a 1-0 thrashing on Andy Billesdon's no-hitter.

Oxford got its runs in the 1st and they stood up until the 6th when two singles, two errors and Dan Graham's double produced the Nicholice tallies. Billesdon fanned 13, walked two and hit one. Dave Simmons had a double, single and two free passes to lead the offensive.

Auburn Boys Club took St. Benedict 7-4 on Roger Hayward's one-hitter. J. Stevens blanked the Cubs 7-0 for the Bears, the Bobcats took the Vikings 8-0 and Providence downed the Braves 6-1 in Class B action.

Auburn Boys Club got by Pontiac Central 8-5 in Class D American despite Gene Lupino's three hits. Lake Orion won a "D" NL forfeit over Our Lady of Refuge.

In Class E, Mike Kerr of the Oldtimers one-hit Great Lakes in a 13-2 breeze. Felice Market eased past Pontiac Boys Club 13-1 and Dodgers bombarded the Angels 17-0 in the National loop. Red Gibbs of Felice had a one-hitter. The Dodgers got only six hits and Warren Guida allowed three. Oxford shutout Huron Bowl 10-0 on a coar in the lower part. Hugo McDonald's took a forfeit over McDonald's in the AL.

Los Angeles Shooter Leads Skeel Battle

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Squadron leader Barney C. Hartman, Ottawa, Canada, has a 292,300 total after three events and trails leading Pete Candy of Los Angeles in the National Skeet Championship.

Candy has a 297,300 overall. Hartman posted a 96x100 in the 410-gauge action, 99x100 in the 28-gauge, and added another 99x100 in the 28-gauge championship.

The latter two events were won with perfect 100s. The 410 gauge event went to a 15-year-old boy, Bob Sholey of Roelle, Ill., who shot 9x100.

Two MSU Physical Education Experts, Drs. Henry Montoye and Wayne Van Ruse, supervise the program.

"They assure us it is all for the good," said Bill Yeoman, offensive backfield coach.

"We started a bit last year, giving weights to a few of the players but not on a squad-depth basis. This spring we decided to adopt it generally. It is not compulsory at all. We invited the players to sign up and most of them went along," Yeoman said.

"Hank Billaugh (MSU line coach) used it when he was playing pro with the Green Bay Packers. He was about a 190-pound guard here. When he went with the Packers he adopted the weight

Mickey Wright, Unknown Share Medal Honors

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP)—Mickey Wright of San Diego, leading money winner on the professional women's tour, and Kathy Whitworth of Jal, N.M., tied for medal honors Thursday in the Waterloo Women's Open Golf Tournament. They carded identical scores of 33-38-69 to beat par by three strokes in the start of the 72-hole meet.

Runnerup for the medal honor was Joann Prentice of Birmingham, Ala., who had a 70.

Marilynn Smith of Jupiter, Fla., was in fourth place with a 72 and there was a two-way tie at 73 between Mary Lena Faulk, Thomsville, Ga., and Wanda Sanchez of Baton Rouge, La.

Juniors Netters to Start County Play

Post Entries Available for First Weekend

Central Courts Site of Juniors' Tourney on Saturday

More than 50 junior and novice netters will get into action Saturday and Sunday to start the Oakland County Open Tennis tournament.

The field is expected to grow since post-entries are being accepted in these divisions. Pairings will be drawn at 8 p. m. tonight at Pontiac Central courts and all players will be notified through phone as to their weekend starting times and their playing sites.

The juniors will play at the PCH and Washington Junior High courts. The novice players will compete at Murphy, PCH and Pontiac Northern.

Each player must provide one new ball to start the tournament. From the quarterfinals tennis balls will be provided. They will be available for purchase at the courts.

Deadlines for men's singles and doubles is next Thursday evening. Registrations should be made at the Pontiac Recreation Department in person or by phone.

Entry fee is $1.00 for men's singles and 50 cents each for doubles. Trophies will go to the winners and to the runnerup.

The men's singles crown is up for grabs since defending champion Tom Belton, former Waterford Recreation director no longer resides in the area.

Bill Smith of Birmingham is the defending juniors' champion and Bob Neff and Dave Dahn are the doubles' title holders.

Thompson Replaces Lipon as Manager

TORONTO (AP)—Johnny Lipon was released Thursday as manager of the sixth place Toronto Maple Leafs in the International League. He was succeeded by catcher Tim Thompson for the remainder of the season.

General Manager Frank Pollock, who made the announcement, said he feels the club should have been in contention all seasons and with their present personnel can still make the playoffs. The Leafs have won 51 games and lost 56.

HOT ROD DISPLAY—This will be one of the souped-up hot rods which will be seen at the Waterford CIA building when 25 cars take part in the Auto Show Saturday and Sunday. The show starts at 10:00 a.m. Saturday and 1:00 p.m. Sunday.

Hot Rod Cars on Display in Weekend Auto Exhibit

Hot rods, featuring custom cars, roadsters, coupes, dragsters, sports cars and competition cars will be on display in Pontiac Automotive Auto Show Saturday and Sunday.

This show is expected to become an annual affair sponsored by the Pontiac Automotive Improvement Association.

The exhibit starts at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday and at 1:00 p.m. on Sunday.

The cars will be judged on overall appearance, construction, engine compartment, interior, body work and chassis design.

Entries have registered from Pontiac, Detroit, Highland Park, Milford, Plymouth and Wayne.

Judging for awards will be made Sunday. Entertainment at the show will be held Saturday night and Sunday afternoon.

American Contingent Defeats Swede Stars

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Miller Jim Beatty and sprinter Frank Budd led an American contingent to five victories in an international track and field meet Thursday night.

Beatty, of San Jose, Calif., opened up in the last 300 meters and defeated Sweden's Bengt Gustafsson in 3:44.8.

Budd of Villanova easily captured the 100-meter sprint with a time of 10.2 seconds.

The other American winners were broad jumper Ralph Boston, quarter-miler Earl Young and half-miler Jerry Sebert.

Boston, the Olympic champion and world record holder from Tennessee State, leaped 25 feet 11 inches. Young, of San Fernando, Calif., took the 400-meter run in 47.3 seconds. Sebert, of Willits, Calif., sprinted in the stretch and won the 800 meters in 1:52.4.

Soldier Pistol King Again Beating 2,691

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP)—Army Sgt. L.C. William B. Blankenship of Richards, Va., is SBL National Pistol Champion of the United States.

He successfully defended his title Thursday against 2,691 of the top marksmen in the country, scoring 2,631 out of a possible 2,700 points. He scored a narrow victory over his teammate, M. Sgt. James W. Kurtz of Eldred, Ill., who had 2,627.

Miss Lucille Chambliss, pistol instructor of Winter Haven, Fla., Police Department, duplicated Blankenship's feat by winning the women's pistol title for the second year in a row. She defeated Miss Lois Montgomery of San Francisco, 2,509 to 2,508. Miss Chambliss also held the title in 1960.

Top civilian shooter was James Clark, 1958 national champion, of Shreveport, La., with a score of 2,600. John W. Hurst of Los Angeles took police honors with 2,607.

Venturi, Lema Pace East Open

Match 68s as Early Leaders at Baltimore; Littler 2nd by 2

BALTIMORE (AP)—A golfing Mike and Ike, Ken Venturi and Tony Lema, waited to tee off to day as leaders of the $35,000 Eastern Open wondered what another Californian, Gene Littler, might do to the Pine Ridge course.

Although Venturi and Lema with scores of 68, 4 under par, were two strokes ahead of Littler, they had reason to worry about this year's winner of the U.S. Open.

Littler showed in the first round Thursday that without even seeing Pine Ridge for a year he can still make its par dance his tune.

It was an eagle three on the 507-yard 12th hole that provided Lema with his big lift into a tie with Venturi.

Venturi rolled in half a dozen birdie putts, but had two bogeys.

A wary eye also was on veteran Doug Ford of Crestwood, N.Y., and Rex Baxter Jr. of Amarillo, Tex. Ford and Baxter started the second round of the tourney—ends Sunday—only a stroke behind the San Franciscans at 69.

SHERBROOKE, Que. (AP)—Francisco Martinez, racing with Mexico's national team, won the fifth lap Thursday of the Tour du St. Laurent Bicycle Race.

Cubs Revise Coaching Setup

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs revised their coaching setup for the second time in as many days Thursday. They recalled Coach Dick Cole from Wenshchee, Wash., of the Northwest League.

Cole, the 10th and newest member of the coaching staff, will report to the Cubs before Friday night's game with the Dodgers in Los Angeles.

To make room for Cole, former

Pittsburgh and Milwaukee Infielders

er, the Cubs assigned Coach Vede Hiral to Carlisle, N.M., of the St. Louis League. Hiral was the Cubs' opening day head coach last April and served two other stints in the No. 1 role.

Coach Fred Martin was recalled Wednesday from Wenshchee and Coach Bobby Adams was assigned to take his place. Besides Cole and Martin the Cubs' coaching staff includes head Coach Elvin Tappe, Lou Klein, and Charlie Grimm, the club's vice president who doubles as a coach.

Pro Gridders Traded

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP)—The New York Giants of the National Football League traded linebacker John Guzik to the Baltimore Colts Thursday for offensive end Jerry Richardson.

Fullmer Mild Favorite in Saturday Title Go

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Utah's Joey Giardello are not around bawling Gene Fullmer has fought off five successive attempts to relieve him of the National Boxing Association share of the world middleweight championship.

The surprising thought today on the eve of his sixth title defense is that Fullmer is only a mild favorite to retain the crown in his 15-round fight with Florentino Fernandez of Cuba, a novice in championship circles.

The two meet in Ogden Stadium before Gene's home state followers—many of whom are openly skeptical of their champion—and a nationally televised audience (ABC, 9 p.m. EST).

The pattern of impressions of the Fullmer down-graders remains as it has been since the then-young mormon first put on a glove.

In essence it is: Gene is awkward, unorthodox and can't box. All three are correct.

But the defense summation is equally basic: He can fight and he wins.

Fullmer is reminiscent of a statement by Detroit sportman C.W. Smith, whose race horse Hilldale was somewhat ungainly but a tremendous money winner.

"Maybe he's not pretty but he's not in a beauty contest," said Smith.

Gene isn't a pretty fighter, either. But he hammers and bludgeons away and soon such fellows as Sugar Ray Robinson and Carmen Basilio, Spider Webb and course—in 71.

Favored Vossler 2nd in Bunyan Tourney

ORONO, Maine (AP) — Ken Campbell of Hingham, Mass., drew a 5-under-par 67 Thursday to take a three-stroke lead over pre-tourney favorite Ernie Vossler of Oklahoma City in the first round of the $7,500 Paul Bunyan Open Golf Tournament.

Amateur Jim Veno of Orono, the 18-year-old Maine schoolboy and junior champion, was the only other golfer in the 120-man field to break par. He toured the 6,350-yard, par 72 Penobscot Valley Country Club layout—his home course—in 71.

Bertoia Takes 3rd as Boros Improves

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers' third base situation, gloomy for two weeks, has brightened up for manager Bob Scheffing.

Steve Boros showed up at Tiger Stadium yesterday for the first time since breaking his collarbone July 23 and scotched reports he was finished for the season.

"I should have the cast off and my arm out of this sling in a few weeks," said the rookie who came down from his home in Flint to watch his teammates beat Washington 2-1. "Then I'll be able to start working out."

Scheffing said Rene Bertoia, who replaced the Tigero midway in the game and played one inning, would hold down third base until Boros returns.

"I'm real enthused about Boros," Scheffing said. "He's a real player, and he's a real person."

Now Scheffing figures Boros will be available around Labor Day to help the Tigers down the pennant stretch.

"Until then I plan to use Bertoia against all kinds of pitching until he runs out of mucus. If I have to get a stronger bat in there, I've got a few possibilities I'm thinking about."

Bertoia was hitting only .228 for Kansas City when he was dealt to the Tigers.

Scheffing said Gerry Staley, a 40-year-old knuckle and sinker-ball specialist, would be his No. 1 reliever. Terry Fox, plagued by an ailing elbow, isn't expected back for more than a week.

One possibility at third base should Bertoia fail to hit during the rest of Boros' absence would be bringing in an outfielder for the job.

Al Kaline played one game at third earlier this season. But Scheffing considers him the best right fielder in baseball and doesn't want to use him elsewhere.

Moving Billy Bruton out of center field also would hurt defensively, so it wouldn't be surprising to see left fielder Rocky Colavito play a few games at third base.

That would permit Scheffing to install Charlie Maxwell in left field.

"And," Scheffing smiled, "I've been getting a few letters suggesting that very thing."

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — On deck today for the semifinals of the 61st Western Women's Golf Tournament was this select foursome: Two ex-champs, the California titleholder and a talented teenager from Iowa.

Pairings for the 18-hole test over the 6,135-yard Annandale Golf Club course:

British Amateur Champion Barbara McIntire of Jupiter, Fla., vs. 18-year-old Sharon Fladco of Dubuque, Iowa; Mrs. Anne Quist, Dealer of Seattle vs. Mrs. Ruth Miller, holder of the California women's title.

The survivors of today's round meet for the 36-hole final Saturday.

AF Chief of Staff
Once Declined to Become Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Curtis LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, once declined appointment as a U.S. Senator from Ohio, it was brought out in the Senate Thursday.

Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio mentioned the incident in paying tribute to LeMay on the Senate floor. Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, later confirmed that when he was Ohio governor in 1945 he met LeMay at the Columbus airport and in an emergency he was appointed, to replace resigning Sen. Harold Burton, was his if he wanted it.

LeMay said he wanted time to think about it and later told Lausche he could "best serve his country in the military, and not in politics," and turned down the appointment.

"I am happy now that he did," the Ohio senator added.

SAILOR BEWARE—Pity the poor sailor on a day like this. Prince Philip (arrow), husband of Queen Elizabeth, stares sternly from the stern of his racing yacht as a sailing boat manned by Royal Naval officers scrambles for open water almost ramming the prince's craft off Britain's Isle of Wight Thursday. Lt. Michael Pringle, the offending yachtsman, later said, "It was almost like crashing head on into the admiral of the fleet."

SUFFIELD, Alta. (AP)—Scientists Thursday exploded 100 tons of TNT in what they said was the biggest known unconfined non-nuclear explosion.

The blast was the largest of a series of experiments being conducted here as a joint Canadian-British-U.S. project.

The tests are designed to measure blast effects on targets of military interest and to gather scientific information.

Order to Hold Captured Plane Came Directly From Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy gambled and won in directing Federal agencies to hold a hijacked jet airliner on the ground at El Paso, Tex., and to reject deals with "thieves and kidnapers."

That is how Federal Aviation Administrator Najeeb Halaby pictured Kennedy's role in the successful effort to block the flight of a $3 million plane to Fidel Castro's Cuba.

Halaby credited FBI and Bo-der Patrol men on the scene with great courage in the capture of gun-wielding Leon and Cady Beards, the father and son who held 16 hostages on the jetliner for more than nine hours.

Details of the plane seizure flowed into the White House Thursday as if it were a battlefield command post. Halaby said Kennedy made the crucial decision himself after consulting his top aides.

TOLD WHITE HOUSE

First word of the attempted hijacking was flashed to Washington shortly before 5 a. m. Pontiac time from the FAA control tower at El Paso, Halaby said.

That started a series of long-distance telephone conferences between federal law enforcement officers surrounding the plane and White House, FBI and FAA officials.

The government officials — from Kennedy down — knew that the gunmen had pistols pointed at the pilot and a stewardess. So the first strategy, Halaby said, was to delay in refueling the airliner to gain time and weigh the next step.

Shooting tear gas into the cabin was considered, then rejected. It was feared that the hijackers would harm their hostages before the gas had a chance to work.

Halaby said the gunmen's proposal to swap the jet for a DCT

Lear Distributes Survival Kits to GR Employees

GRAND RAPIDS — The Grand Rapids Division of Lear, Inc., Thursday announced plans to distribute survival kits to its 4,500 employees.

The kits contain instructions on fallout shelters and on fire fighting, Conrad information and special emergency booklets.

In a letter to employees, Joseph M. Walsh, vice president and general manager, said:

"Adding emphasis to the pattern of preparedness being stressed by the President of the United States and the secretary of defense, there are times when we must be truthfully realistic, and to remain unprepared, if preparation is possible, is a major mistake."

"This material is being made available to you with the fervent prayer that you will never have to use it. But if you must we want to be able to discuss with you how well it works after the emergency is over."

How Much Am I Bid for This Fine Lake?

LANSING (AP)—How would you like to have a lake of your very own?

The State Highway Department announces it has two lakes for sale, both in Shiawassee County.

The lakes were created when the department removed dirt for construction of the M75 Freeway near Durand and Benet. A public auction will be held at the Shiawassee County Courthouse at Durand on Aug. 24.

Only Four Injured as Circus Tent Falls

LLANDUDNO, Wales (UPI)—A circus tent was blown down onto a screaming audience of 2,000 persons Thursday night by a 50-mile-an-hour gale, but only four persons were injured.

Women and children were trapped beneath the big top's heavy poles and canvas, but were quickly freed by circus performers, fairground staff, police and ambulance men.

Circus General Manager Maj. Eric Hill said, "Everyone behaved remarkably well."

"There was no panic because all the 60 members of the company realized what was going to happen and remained in the tent to marshal the people," Hill said.

Accused N.Y. Bookie Owes It All to Mother

BUFFALO, N. Y. — George Bertache, 32, accused of accepting bets on horse races, told police it was all his mother's doing.

Police quoted him as saying that logging bets was one of several odd jobs his mother hired him to do in a tavern where she worked.

Endorse Britain's Plans to Enter Common Market

LONDON (AP)—The Conservative majority in Parliament closed ranks Thursday night and overwhelmingly endorsed Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's proposal to start negotiations for Britain's entry into the European Common Market.
A threatened revolt by dissident Conservatives fearing involvement with the continent failed to materialize. After two days of brisk debate, Macmillan's party handed him a 313-5 vote victory.

The House of Lords also rejected the amendment 96-17, thus approved the government's motion without a formal vote count.

Thus Parliament endorsed Macmillan's move to end Britain's traditional isolation from the continent and give the island kingdom a chance at the prosperity the Common Market has brought its members—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The Labor party abstained in the vote on the government motion. A Laborite amendment amounting to a vote of censure was defeated 218-209.

Britain's decision promises to set in motion an economic realignment affecting nearly every country in Western Europe. Several of Britain's partners in the seven-nation European Free Trade Association set up by Britain to rival the Common Market plan to follow London's lead and line up with the market nations. The British government will apply for membership next week, but this does not commit Britain to join. Talks on terms of membership will probably not get under way until October, and they are expected to be long.

Great-Grandma Takes Wild Ride in Earth Capsule

LANGLEY AIR FORCE BASE, Va. (AP)—"I'm afraid I'm not doing very well. I've lost the earth," said Zaddie Bunker.

At that moment Thursday Mrs. Bunker was taking a somewhat wobbly ride on the ALFA trainer, a device used to simulate an actual ride into orbit for American astronauts here.
That was odd because, you see, Mrs. Bunker is 74—a great-grandmother. She stopped off here on a cross-country flight she's making in her Navion single-engine airplane.

Grandma Bunker had a little trouble controlling the ALFA "capsule," and the woman she "lost the earth." The way the Langley experts figured it, she came down near "Florida." She allowed afterward that she would not mind being a real astronaut.
"The Lord says to be strong and of good courage," said Mrs. Bunker, who comes from Palm Springs, Calif.
"I'd be just as safe in a capsule as here."
Mrs. Bunker won fame in 1959 as the first great-grandmother ever to break the sound barrier in an airplane.

Avondale Voters to Decide School Issue on Monday

Voters in the Avondale School District will go to the polls in a special election Monday to decide on a 6.5-mill operational-tax proposal.

The same total millage was requested on the annual school ballot June 12. It was defeated by a 124-vote margin, 383 to 259.

However, in Monday's election the Avondale Board of Education is dividing the total 6.5 mills into two separate proposals.

Proposition No. 1 asks that 3.9 mills be levied for 5 years.

A yes vote on this proposal would not increase taxes over the 1960-61 rate, according to the board of education.

MEANS RENEWAL
Approval of this request would mean renewal of 3 mills levied for operation and another nine-tenths of a mill for debt retirement, according to the tax rolls during the past year.

The other proposition, Proposal No. 2, asks voters for permission to levy 2.6 mills for two years.

Passage of this proposal would allow the district to meet current financial obligations and to improve several areas of instruction, board members said.

Officials say the district is in danger of losing $150,000 in the 1961-62 budget if the millage is not granted.

School Supt. Leroy R. Watt said the millage would insure payment of an operating debt that has accumulated over the past several years.

FAILURE OF THE SECOND PROPOSITION would mean a loss of credit rating and financial standing for the district, according to the district's superintendent.

SLIGHT INCREASE
School officials estimated that approval of both propositions would raise taxes by less than $15 per year for the average taxpayer in the district.

Polls will be open Monday from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the district. Voters living west of Adams Road will cast their ballots at the Auburn Heights Fire Hall, 5428 Auburn Road.

Persons living east of Adams Road will vote at the Southwest Avon Community Building, 2337 W. Auburn Road near Crooks Road.

Absentee ballots may be obtained until 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Avondale Board of Education Office, 1435 W. Auburn Road.

SHRINKAGE REMAINS PACKAGING PROBLEM
LANSING (AP) — After weighing in as many as 8,949 packages of food in one month, the State Agriculture Department has reported that shrinkage of prepackaged meats, cheese and certain fruits and vegetables continues to be a problem in some retail food stores.

Progress apparently has been made, the department said. Rejections for short weight in 1958 ran as high as 30 per cent of the packages tested, the department's Food and Standards Division reported. Total atavist survey resulted in the rejection of only 21 per cent.

One major retailer of prepackaged foods now allows for shrinkage and marks packages accordingly, the department said.

Past Matrons to Hold Card Party, Luncheon
COMMERCIAL — Past Matrons of Commerce Chapter No. 301, OES, will hold a card party and luncheon at the temple Tuesday, starting at 12:30 p.m. A bazaar and make sale also will be featured.

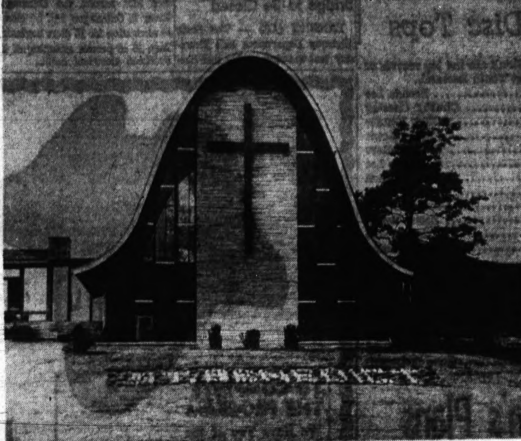

Reservations can be made by calling Mrs. Edward Holmes of 722 Andrews St., club president; or Mrs. Russell A. Pitts (left) of Falls Church, Va., third-place winner, and Dewey Moss (right) of Dalton, Ga., who took second place. The trophies were presented at an awards dinner in Washington D.C. Thursday night, as the 18th annual road-con, sponsored by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce ended.

CHAPEL DOMINATES—The focal point of the Benedictine Fathers' new Novitiate at 2711 E. Draher Road, Addison Township, is the A-shaped chapel with a sloped roof. It is one story higher than the main part of the building. The new home for novices will be open for public inspection from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

New Novitiate Open to Public on Sunday

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — The Benedictine Fathers, who bought the J. L. Cote estate here two years ago, will open their newly completed novitiate to the public Sunday afternoon.

The open house will be from 2 to 5 p.m. in the one-story structure which has an A-shaped chapel, two stories high, dominating the front facade.

Besides the chapel, the novitiate has quarters for 11 boys, who are high school graduates entering as novices for one year of religious training before taking the vows of chastity, obedience and poverty.

The Benedictine community now numbers 26, including 13 novices and 13 monks. Rev. Bede Baratta, O.S.B., is the prior.

Members of the community did most of the work on the new building themselves except for the highly professional tasks. They did the carpentry after the rough shell was up, the tiling, flooring and other jobs needed to complete the edifice, which now is valued at $90,000.

Architect was Edgar Jopick of Detroit.

Extensive use of glass and Florida cedar was featured in construction of the new Novitiate, and the landscaping around the building was done by the monks and novices.

The Benedictine Fathers are making plans for a future high school on the same site at 2711 E. Draher Road where students would be admitted to study for the priesthood after completing grade school.

Residents of the Catholic community do all their own sewing, cooking, carpentry repair and also have a print shop. In addition, they carry out activities, take part in recreation programs and have hobbies of their own choosing.

Indian Dancers to Perform at Ortonville Saturday
ORTONVILLE — The Minne-Toka Indian dancers will perform here Saturday at 8:15 p.m. at the Brandon High School Athletic Field under the sponsorship of the Brandon Fire Department.

The dance group, representing Indian tribes from different parts of the country, will be presented in the school gymnasium in the event of rain.

Bunker Is Elected to JP Assn. Board

STERLING TOWNSHIP — Justice George F. Bunker of 4023 Van Dyke has been elected to the board of directors of the Michigan Justices of the Peace Association.

Confirmation of his election is announced by Justice Edward P. Schaner of Traverse City, association president.

Justice Bunker reactivated the Macomb County Judicial Association in 1957 and served twice as its president and once as vice president.

According to fellow association officers, the Sterling Township justice's efforts to raise the standards and improve the efficiency of Macomb justice courts are well known in legal and judicial circles in the area.

Fairs Abound During August, Says Official
LANSING (U) — Some 50 community and county fairs will be held in Michigan this month, says the State Department of Agriculture.

They include the Oakland County 4-H Fair which opens Tuesday in Pontiac and the Eastern Michigan Fair in Ingham City which concludes tomorrow.

The local fairs have retained the popularity they gained in 1955, said Edward R. Zemmer, chief of the department's Agricultural Industry Section. But the emphasis has changed, he said.

"Many fairs today place the accent on youth. We find special emphasis being placed on 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America and Future Homemakers of America chapters," he said.

August is the big month for the fair, although some are held as early as July or as late as October, he said.

May Not Have Enough Votes for Con-Con Ballot

Write-In Candidates Test State Law

LANSING (UPI) — How many votes does it take to be nominated for constitutional convention delegates? He said he would seek another ruling from Adams as soon as possible.

The problem may not seem too thorny, but elections officials are waiting for some work from Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams before they advise the Board of State Canvassers to certify a couple of candidates who may or may not have been nominated at the July 25 primary by write-in votes.

Walter R. Lipinski received one write-in vote in the Republican primary for candidate in the 3rd Representative District of Wayne County. There were no candidate names printed on the ballot.

In Ingham County, the problem is more complex.

There were no Democratic candidates in the 25th Senatorial District, but 11 people received write-in votes. Heading the list with eight votes, was Harold Swarthout.

But Swarthout was nominated in the Ingham representative district, and can't run in both districts. Ralph Smith received seven write-in votes. If anybody is the Democratic candidate in the district, it would probably be him.

But Elections Director Robert M. Montgomery said elections law states that no candidate who receives less than 10 votes can be declared a winner.

Actually, the working of the law is more complicated than that, but Montgomery said he felt the pertinent part was the 10 vote requirement.

However, Adams gave an informal oral opinion earlier to the effect that election law does not apply to constitutional convention delegate elections, Montgomery said.

He said he would seek another ruling from Adams as soon as possible.

The board of canvassers must meet by Aug. 14 under state law, and is expected to meet late next week. They are sure to certify at least one write-in candidate.

John J. Mack, Alpena, received 211 votes in the Alpena representative district.

Whether Lipinski with his one vote, or Smith with his seven, gets on the ballot may be merely a point of passing interest anyway, as the 9th District of Wayne County is virtually certain to go to the Democrats in the Sept. 12 election of delegates, and former GOP State Treasurer D. Hale Brake almost surely has the seat from the 25th Senatorial District.

Report No Progress in Wayne Bus Strike
DETROIT (U) — "We got no place," a state labor mediator reported yesterday's meeting between Interloma Suburban Lines and its striking bus drivers.

The drivers struck four days ago, leaving about 30,000 commuters in Western Wayne County looking for makeshift transportation.

State Mediator Walter Quillico reported the lack of progress.

Local 1285, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electrical Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America struck the line Tuesday. One-hundred and ninety-five employees walked out in a new contract dispute.

Favor 10-Mile Road Site for Lyon Twp. School
LYON TOWNSHIP — A parcel of property near the eastern boundary of South Lyon may be chosen as the site for a new high school at the Lyon Township Board of Education meeting Aug. 14.

A list of 14 available school sites has been narrowed to two and the one on the north side of 10-Mile Road just outside South Lyon is favored by board members.

The Colwell Homes, Inc., property on 10-Mile Road also has been recommended by the school district's architects, the State Department of Public Instruction and the Oakland County Department of Health.

Officials favor the Colwell Homes property over the Howard R. Latta site because of the availability of city services such as sewer and water facilities.

Board members have been told that the site near South Lyon would be annexed to the city if the school district should decide to purchase it.

Total cost, including storm and sanitary sewers, is estimated at $95,000, about $5,500 more than the purchase price for the Latta property on the west side of Pontiac Trail between Nine-Mile and 10-Mile Roads.

Set Road Sign Hearing
LANSING (U) — The House Interim Study Committee on Billboards has scheduled a public hearing on highway sign regulations for 2 p.m. Thursday in the House chamber of the capitol.

ACCUSED OF MURDER—Shielding his face from photographers, Flint area insurance agent Harold A. Cook, 50, is led to Municipal Court after being arrested in the fatal beating of his wife, Emily, 37. Cook was taken from the Genesee County Jail for arraignment yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Tom Bell.

Police said Cook killed his wife Wednesday night after a quarrel over whether their son should wash the dishes.

British Plan Troop Call for Emergency in Berlin

By K. C. THALER

PARIS (UPI) — Britain has completed her plans for emergency military action in Berlin. It was learned from diplomatic sources today.

The plan is in four stages, and Washington has been advised of the details. It should be emphasized that London does not believe that the Berlin problem has yet reached the emergency stage, and no action to implement the military plan is contemplated today or in the immediate future.

The four-stage British plan: — Bring the army of the Rhine in Germany to its full strength of 55,000 men. This involves sending between 4,000 and 5,000 more men in Germany. Most of them are in communication and transport units and are designed to enable the army to deploy its strength quickly in Germany.

— A call-up of 50,000 men in the reserves. This can be done quickly because the British secretary of war has authority to call up two classes of reservists without a special royal proclamation.

— If a sudden crisis develops over Berlin, Britain would deploy her Territorial (National Guard) Army. It could be shifted to overseas service within a matter of days.

— The swift dispatch of up to two brigades of the strategic reserves. These are crack troops, highly mobile, armed with the latest weapons and equipped with planes capable of carrying nuclear weapons.

The British plan will be reviewed at the meeting of the American, British, French and West German foreign ministers opening here Saturday.

It was considered significant that Sir Francis Festing, chief of the British Imperial General Staff, is joining the discussions here.

Any military preparations the British make will be completely coordinated with the American and NATO plans, it was said. The signal for setting Britain's plans into motion will be given only after it has become obvious that Berlin negotiations have collapsed.

K Hints He'll Talk on Berlin

Tips Hand on Secret Notes in Remarks to Italian Premier

By HENRY SHAPIRO
MOSCOW (UPI) — Two days of talks here between Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani indicate the Soviet leader is as determined as ever to change Berlin's status — but by negotiation rather than war.

Soviet notes delivered Thursday to the ambassadors of the Western Big Three powers and West Germany were believed to have emphasized this fact. The texts were kept secret overnight.

But Khrushchev tipped his line in talks with Fanfani. After emphasizing that, in the Soviet view, Berlin's status must be changed, Khrushchev told Fanfani that negotiations on the problem were both "opportune" and "possible."

Westerners in this capital believe neither East nor West is anxious to open such negotiations before the West German elections in September or the Communist Party Congress in October. After those events both sides will be freer to make decisions.

Thus the Soviet strategy apparently will be to keep the international temperature slightly below the boiling point until negotiations are arranged, perhaps in late fall.

Khrushchev said once again Thursday that the Soviet goal is to sign a peace treaty by the end of the year.

But he carefully stopped short of laying down an ultimatum that he would sign by then if he were unable to reach some accommodation with the west.

Reds Claim Plot in Ship Crash

Say American Freighter Deliberately Rammed Cuba-Bound Tanker

GIBRALTAR (AP) — The American freighter Janet Quinn and a Cuban-bound Soviet tanker collided in thick fog west of this British naval base Thursday.

The Russians charged the 7,233-ton freighter deliberately rammed the larger tanker — the 11,260-ton Trud as part of the economic blockade of the Castro regime. The American vessel came out the worst in the crash.

Both the Janet Quinn and the tanker were damaged but made Gibraltar harbor under their own steam. No casualties were reported aboard either ship.

The Soviet ship was held in its forward tank, above the waterline. The tank was empty.

The American ship was holed in two places and taking water when it reached Gibraltar. There also was some damage to the bridge.

A correspondent for the Soviet trade union paper Trud, who was reported aboard the tanker, made the accusations against the freighter in a dispatch to the official Soviet news agency Tass.

The Bare Facts Given on This Picked-Off Play

Samuel Hampton doubts that it was the four-and-twenty blackbirds that picked off his clothes.

He told sheriff's deputies yesterday that his clothes were stolen from the clothes line in his backyard at 384 Casemere, Orion Township, the night before.

When Hampton awoke yesterday he found his six pairs of work pants, six work shirts, two pairs of shorts, two T-shirts, and eight pairs of socks missing — and the clothespins.

Officials Admit Error in Spelling Contest

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Officials of the Texas Interscholastic League, which holds annual high school spelling matches, confessed an error in this year's spelling list. The spelling bulletin misspelled the word "welter" on page four. It's not "welter," the correction pointed out.

Auto Negotiations Seem Stalled on Major Issues

By A. F. MAMAN

DETROIT (P) — Auto-labor contract negotiations appeared hung up on all major issues today. This may continue another two weeks or so. An Aug. 22 the union is to reply to its only settlement offer thus far — a profit-sharing proposal from American Motors that also includes an annual seven-cent hourly raise each of the next three years. Contracts expire Aug. 5.

The UAW has the AMC offer under study. It has termed it "a step in the right direction" but has raised objections to the company's proposal that it give up a cost-of-living escalator and a six-cent yearly pay-bearer known as the annual improvement factor.

Since the AMC offer, the UAW has been prodding the big three — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler — to come up with package offers. The union has laid down demands which industry spokesmen contend would amount to the most costly wage advances in history.

None of the big three indicated it is in a hurry. Although the UAW and GM served termination notices on each other this week, GM said its action did not preclude limited extension of the current contract.

The strongest union language thus far on possible strike action came from UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock. He told a Washington news conference he didn't think the UAW would be disposed in continuing working without a contract.

Another union spoke up at General Motors in stronger language Thursday. It was the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE), which represents 25,000 of GM's 325,000 production workers.

E. J. Kraft of Dayton, chairman of the IUE's General Motors Conference Board, said: "We have no intention of working without a contract. We are not going through what we did in 1958 under no circumstances."

GM served notice Thursday of termination of the IUE contract Sept. 1.

In 1958, GM terminated contracts when the UAW and IUE refused to extend existing agreements two years. Both unions continued working without contracts. The UAW for the first time in its history.

State Ups TB Test Age to 30 for Mobile Units

LANSING (AP) — Traveling mobile X-ray units will be used only on persons 30 or more years old by this fall in the State Health Department's campaign to eliminate tuberculosis.

Dr. John L. Jabster, TB control officer, says the minimum age is being raised from 21 because tests have shown more than 80 per cent of those discovered with active TB were over 30 years old.

Skin tests are being planned for persons under 30 who volunteer for a checkup, Dr. Jabster said. Those who show positive results will be notified to have a chest X-ray.

COLORFUL WELCOME MAT—This informal group of summer flowers in matching large clay pots and saucers forms a colorful summer welcome mat that includes pink geraniums, blue ageratum and yellow marigolds. For late season color extending into fall, this grouping can be replaced with clay-potted chrysanthemums.

Carnivorous Plants Make Nice "Pets"

Carnivorous plants that catch and digest insects are fascinating to grow and study. Many can actually be observed trapping insects for their nourishment.

Insect-eating plants range in size from those almost microscopic to others 18 inches tall. Their methods of trapping victims for meals have many variations. Famed naturalist Charles Darwin and other botanists have reported more than 300 types of insect-catching plants.

Common to all insectivorous plants is the ability to obtain nutrients from the insects they catch.

Sundews demonstrate their fly-catching talent graphically. The plant is generally about the size of a half dollar.

Sticky tendrils clustered on the tip of each arm entwine around any tiny bug attracted to the glistening substance it secretes. As the captive struggles, other tentacles envelop the unfortunate insect.

Pitcher plants are potent, too. Some are only four to five inches tall. Rain collects inside these plants and additional water is brought up from the moist soil in which these plants are normally growing.

Insects attracted to the pitchers discover sharp spines and hairs line the inside. But these hairs point downward. It's easy for the fly or moth to enter but almost impossible to climb out again.

The active Venus Fly Trap is perhaps the most unique of plants. Lusty traps are formed on narrow arms radiating from the bulb. Each trap is "hinged" in the center and has three or four tiny trigger hairs on each lobe.

TRAPPED

When an unwary insect touches two of these hairs the trap is sprung.

Finger-like cilia interlock to hold the prey. Eventually the trap closes completely to absorb most of the victim.

Carnivorous plants are usually native to swampy areas and may be found in many parts of the country. Most are fairly easy to grow if you duplicate their natural conditions. They do well in moist terrariums.

If you wish to transplant some you find, always ask permission of the landowner first. Then take only a few so the others can reproduce.

Several plant specialty firms advertise these and other unusual botanical specimens in garden magazines. Grown as houseplants and sometimes outdoors, insect-eating plants make unique conversation pieces.

Midsummer Tips on the Rose Garden

Yellowing of leaves isn't always from blackspot or other diseases. It's normal for older basal leaves on the shoot to turn yellow when their usefulness to the rosebush is gone. Good housekeeping calls for picking them off.

New summer shoots and leaves need protection from insects and diseases as much or more than older growth. It's advisable to keep the Zephyr in action—at least once a week and after every rain.

Vigorously growing roses exhaust moisture and plant food. Replacing the latter once a month is advisable. Nine rose buds out of ten usually suffer from insufficient watering during the heat of summer. Watering weekly or twice weekly suggested, depending upon drainage conditions.

Want to save rose buds for later use? Store them in the refrigerator; many varieties will hold for as long as two weeks and still perform very well when used to make bouquets.

Tree Lifting

"Tree-lifting" is a trimming job, like face-lifting, with the pedestrian and motorist benefiting. A tree-lifting project means pruning the branches to clear sidewalks by about 10 feet and streets by 15 feet. The result is a better view of traffic lights for the motorists and increased street lighting to make safe, walking safer and more cheerful.

Moths in Grass May Be Webworms

Have you ever taken a stroll across the lawn in the evening and noticed a swarm of whitish or light gray moths flying just above the surface of the grass? If so, the chances are good that you were a witness to the birth of a new brood of webworms, whose capacity for working damage in even the finest lawns is indeed awesome.

The adult lawn moths fly hither and yon over the grass, dropping their eggs on the wing, so to speak. These later develop into the destructive larvae commonly known as webworms, which feed only on grass leaves.

This pest, which is about 1/4 inch long and light brown in color, develops first in a protective silken web which it forms about its body. As it matures it builds tunnels close to the soil surface, reinforcing the burrows with bits of dirt, pieces of grass and a silk lining. Here they live during the day, emerging after dark to feed on the grass.

Spraying Rids Picnic Area of Insects

Before your guests arrive for your evening's barbecue or picnic it will be well worth your while to spend 10 or 15 minutes during the afternoon ridding the lawn and shrubbery of unwelcome crawling and flying insect pests. This can be accomplished quickly using a bottled insect killer which attaches to your garden hose.

This simple step will guarantee that your friends will not have to sweat, slap and scratch. Do this far enough ahead of time so the area will have had time to dry.

To make sure you have rid the locale of all mosquitoes, gnats, moths and other winged picnic spoilers, direct the spray on all sides of shrubs and bushes near your picnic spot, catching those pests off guard in the shady areas they occupy during the daylight hours.

Pay attention to the vicinity of garbage cans and to all spots around lawn furniture and benches. If the premises is suspected of sheltering ants, chiggers or ticks, remember also to spray the grass in the area where your guests will assemble.

For the lawn owner whose problem is not hills, there is a shaker product for dusting these hills and reducing the ant population. Both products are quite safe. They have the added advantage of eliminating the pests, not only for the one evening's fun, but for a period of several weeks following application.

Storing Grass Seed

Grass seed and other gardening materials may be stored safely in covered galvanized steel garbage cans. The close-fitting covers and durable zinc finish protect the contents from attack by moisture or rodents.

Red geraniums placed in individual clay pots on each step of your front door make a colorful "welcome" lane for summer visitors.

Sprinkling Can Is Gardener's Friend

A galvanized steel sprinkling can is one garden tool that most homeowners consider a necessity. There are so many small water-spraying jobs to be done that a sprinkling can is just what you need. Many plants and flowers are too delicate to be watered with a hose. Often insecticide solutions are to be applied to just a small area; a sprinkling can is ideal!

Since most insecticides are poisonous, sprinkling cans must be washed thoroughly before using them again to water leafy vegetables and fruits which are to be eaten. Steel cans are especially easy to clean because they have a non-absorbent surface.

Lilies Thrive in Shady Spot

Have you had places in the yard that are lacking in beauty or special interest? If so, consider planting a few plantain lilies, botanically listed as Hosta, or, hunkle, as our parents called them.

The plantain lilies are thoroughly hardy perennials that tolerate shade and wet or dry soil. If you are not familiar with their habit of growth, visualize their foliage as glorified, big-leafed ivy leaves held closely in large asymmetrical clusters. From the center of these arise tall, graceful racemes of white, blue-lavender or lilac bell-shaped flowers.

The old gardener's favorite is Hosta subcordata grandifolia, with large, pure white, kidney-shaped, fragrant flowers. An excellent companion plant for garden lilies, as the foliage provides protection of the lily bulbs and flowers because of their similarity to the lily blooms.

Hosta lancolata, with broad green leaves and blue flowers, offers much to the flower arranger. Hosta Thomas Hogg is likewise recommended & not only because of its lavender flowers, but also for its shade tolerance and its silvery edged, large green leaves.

Plantain lilies may be planted in late spring if heavily dug at space as they spread rapidly.

Midsummer Garden Chores Are Waiting

Even though most spring flowers have begun to fade and flowering shrubs have dropped their seasonal blossoms, there are still many landscaping chores which need to be done around the home to keep flowers, vegetables and shrubs productive the rest of the year.

If you seem to be caught up with your usual landscaping activities at this time of year, agronomists with the Armour Agricultural Chemical Company suggest that you take a second look for other planting and feeding jobs that could burning bush, prince's feathers, hollyhocks and sunflowers. Eight-year-old Gary lends a hand frequently, but his mother is the chief gardener. This plot measures 110 by 20 feet.

Garden Together

Planting is a family affair. The American Association of Nurserymen reports that the tendency is for husband and wife to share interest and responsibility and companionship in gardening. In 15 per cent of the cases where homes are had been landscaped, husband-wife teams drew the plans. Nurserymen did it in 66 per cent of the cases, individuals in the rest.

The original forest area of the United States was estimated to be 520 million acres, one-half the land cut of the cases where homes are.

Let Friends Share Garden With Gift of Potpourri

How would you like to capture the perfumes from your garden and the aromatic scents of spices from the East and give them to your family and friends as gifts throughout the year? It's easy to do and a most rewarding experience. Just make one of these delightful old-fashioned potpourris.

Packed in attractive little jars or dainty organza and lace sachet bags, it makes a most decorative and welcome gift. And an open bowl of potpourri in a room will give off an exciting, exotic scent.

The principle ingredients in a potpourri are dried flowers, herbs, blossoms and any other sweet smelling flower you have. Add sweet smelling herbs such as rosemary, sweet basil, marjoram, and anise. The leaves you use should be dried before mixing with the rose petals.

As you add other flowers to the rose petals, add more salt. When all the flowers are thoroughly dry, add a spice mixture made of one-quarter ounce each of powdered cloves, mace, cinnamon and allspice; one-eighth ounce each of crushed coriander, cardamom seeds, powdered gum mastic and powdered gum benzoin; and one ounce of violet sachet powder.

Mix the flowers and spices to gether. Leave the potpourri in a tightly covered crockery jar for some weeks, stirring occasionally.

Then pack your potpourri in bowls or sachets and stress your friends with these heavenly scents.

Tuberous begonias planted in clay pots are becoming increasingly popular. They do well in shade, when plunged in well-drained soil rich in humus.

Crash Unimportant: Game's What Counts

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Modest Jimmy Stewart minimized an airplane "crash" in Africa on his stopover here while flying back to Hollywood. "Just had a flat tire and I didn't even know it," drawled Jimmy, out at Idlewild. But on their safari "My wife Gloria shot a big buffalo and a leopard, and Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Johnson of Fort Worth got an elephant and two buffaloes, and I shot a lion and some leopards. And I got pictures to show you," boasted Jimmy. "It's sort of like showing pictures of your kids."

Ernie Kovacs and wife Edie Adams dined luxuriously and happily, making fools of columnists reporting them busted.

Humors we find hard to credit: That Ethel Merman want her current "Gypsy" tour to be far less to show St. (When only she and May Martin can pack in on their own nowadays!)

Carol Burnett had to perform barefoot and in a downpour playing "Cal
