Mariner 6 Starts Photographing the Surface of Mars

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 6 has clicked its cameras at Mars, snapping and storing for transmission to earth tonight, the first 33 of a long series of a long series of pictures which may show whether life can exist on the Red Planet.

The space probe took its first photograph at 12:26 a.m. EST today. Scientists said the camera was working well.

Mariner 6 was scheduled to start transmitting the pictures more than 58 million miles to earth this evening.

Detroit television Channel 7 will air 90 seconds of the Mariner transmission at 8:35 p.m. today.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who as head of the President's Space Advisory Council advocates manned exploration of Mars, arranged to be at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory to watch the photographs come in.

The same radio commands which activated the cameras also started instruments designed to measure the surface temperature of Mars and to analyze the chemical makeup of its thin atmosphere.

The quality of the initial pictures will not be known until they reach earth. A spokesman said early today that signals from the spacecraft indicated the camera platform was properly aimed, that light was entering the lens, and that a picture was being recorded on tape.

Mariner 6 carries a small computer which converts the light and dark areas of a scene into numbers. The numbers, representing the dot on a television screen, are stored on tape for later transmission to the laboratory here, where a computer translates them into a image.

The first sequence of 33 pictures, taken at distances ranging from 771,500 to 453,350 miles from Mars, will show the full disc of the planet.

They are expected to have little more detail than photographs made with earth telescopes, but will show all phases of the planet as it rotates during the spacecraft's approach.

SHARPER PICTURES

Much sharper pictures, with details as small as 900 feet across, are to be taken early tomorrow as Mariner 6 flies within 2,000 miles of Mars.

Mariner 6 will require almost 20 hours to shoot the first 33 pictures — one every 37 minutes. Transmission will take less than 3 hours, with a new one received every five minutes.

★ ★ ★

Mariner 6 will take a total of 74 long-range and close-up pictures.

Its sister craft Mariner 7, launched last March — a month after Mariner 6 — will snap 117 photographs beginning Friday and ending Aug. 4 when it, too, passes within 2,000 miles of Mars.

Trap for Girl's Killer Failed, Says Sheriff

From Our News Wires

ANN ARBOR — Police put a bare department store mannequin in a wooded gully in hopes the killer of an 18-year-old university coed would return. But when a young man came to the scene he escaped the trap.

Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey revealed the happenings of Saturday night in a news conference last night.

He also promised "new information" regarding the slaying of the girl in the gully — Eastern Michigan University freshman Karen Sue Beineman. He did not elaborate, however.

Harvey said a police stakeout team laid a department store mannequin in the wooded ravine where Karen Sue was found Saturday night — and that somebody came and fled.

25 PERSONS STOPPED

As the sheriff described it:

About 25 persons were stopped as they came along the road close by the spot where the nude, battered body of Karen Sue had been dumped.

Finally, a young man came on foot. He turned off Huron River Drive and looked into the leafy glade where the girl's body had been and the dummy now was.

There was a cry of "halt" and plainclothes officers broke from the bushes.

Whoever the stranger was, he was fast. "He ran across the road and into the bushes and he got away," Harvey said.

COMBING THE WOODS

Mounted posses, meanwhile, continued to comb the wooded area where Miss Beineman's body was found in search of the site where she was murdered.

Two sheriff's deputies from neighboring Monroe County, who said they had been aiding the search with their tracking dogs told a newsman their dogs had led them from the body site to an area where a girl's blouse was found. However Washtenaw County Prosecutor William F. Delhey later discounted the possibility that the dogs had uncovered the murder site.

Using a computer print-out of all the motorcycles registered at Eastern Michigan, police checked off and cleared the few that matched the description of the one on which Miss Beineman was last seen.

In response to reports that the slayings might be the work of a bloody cult with a sadistic initiation rite, Delhey said it was a possibility but added that he felt the slayings were more likely the work of one person or of several acting independently.

The man the police are looking for in the slaying of Miss Beineman is a shaggy-cut, brown-haired motorcyclist who brought her to a wig shop on the main street of Ypsilanti Wednesday and then roared off with her at high noon when she emerged.

ROBERT F. JACKSON

Bigger Hospital Voice Is Sought

By THOMAS TERP

A Pontiac city commissioner said today he is preparing a resolution to give the City Commission a voice in the hiring and firing of future Pontiac General Hospital administrators.

District 5 Commissioner Robert F. Jackson said he would like to see the commission exercise advise and consent powers over future appointments to the hospital's top job.

★ ★ ★

Jackson's proposal is still being drafted, but should be ready for a commission vote in the near future.

City Attorney Sherwin Birnkrant has been working with Jackson to draw up a suitable recommendation.

ORDINANCE REVISION

Jackson said he also would try to revise the hospital ordinance to eliminate the annual limit on the city subsidy of the hospital, now set at $75,000.

He said other commissoners were aware of the changes he would seek, but he could not predict the support they would receive.

★ ★ ★

The move to amend hospital hiring and firing practices comes one month after the Pontiac General Hospital board fired Harold B. Euler, administrator for 11 years.

Since Euler's June 19 ouster, local citizens have demanded explanations for the sudden move. Critics still are not satisfied with the reason offered by the board.

ONLY EXPLANATION

The only explanation issued by the board for Euler's firing was that it was "in the best interests of the hospital" and that Euler had been remiss in hospital-board communications.

'Brutality' Probe Delayed

The Pontiac Police Trial Board last night adjourned its hearings on alleged police brutality until Aug. 4.

Isadore Goode, chairman of the trial board, said the hearings had to be postponed because legal counsel for the two black complainants was out of town.

Goode also said one member of the trial board, Samuel Morgan, was absent from last night's initial meeting.

The trial board probe was requested July 19 by Pontiac Chief William K. Hanger after charges of brutality were leveled at two patrolmen stemming from an incident July 10 at the Hayes Jones Community Center.

In the incident, Kenneth R Walker, 27, of 97 S. Jessie, and Elick Shorter, 25, of 529 Judson, were arrested for creating a disturbance and resisting arrest.

The seven-man trial board will investigate charges from local civil rights leaders that patrolmen Raymond Hawks and Carl Yuill were unnecessarily brutal in their arrests.

★ ★ ★

Goode did not indicate when trial board hearings would be concluded, but all parties involved in the controversy have demanded that the hearings continue as quickly as possible and that the findings be released to the public.

Hubert: MIRVs Worry Soviets More Than ABM

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey says Soviet leaders indicated to him much more concern about American development of offensive missiles than deployment of the Safeguard antimissile system.

The 1968 Democratic presidential nominee said in an interview after a 13-day visit to the Soviet Union the Russians "are less concerned about the ABM than about our offensive weapons, the MIRVs (multiple targetable re-entry vehicles)."

★ ★ ★

The former vice president said he favors continued research on the Safeguard ABM but opposes deployment.

Senate opponents have contended ABM deployment might cause the Russians to shun arms limitation talks.

"ONLY SYMBOLIC'

"The ABM is only symbolic," he said. "If we step up our defenses, they feel they have to step up their offensive weapons. But it is our offensive missiles that worry them most."

He said Russian concern over differences with China and their own economic and social needs "requires them to think in terms of a better relationship with the United States—they are more open to discussions." But he added:

"Russia is more Russian than communistic and it moves slowly. There are contesting forces at work. There is a power struggle and no one can predict what will happen."

★ ★ ★

In talks with scientists, Soviet editors and others, Humphrey said he found universal interest in reaching an agreement in arms control talks.

On other matters, Humphrey said he is "seriously considering" returning to the political wars by seeking election to the Senate from Minnesota next year.

Nixon to Visit Viet, Confer With Thieu

BANGKOK (AP) — President Nixon will visit South Vietnam tomorrow and confer with President Nguyen Van Thieu, responsible sources said today.

Details of Nixon's visit to the war zone were shrouded in security precautions, and White House spokesmen would give no confirmation. But neither would they deny the report.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, Nixon's top military and diplomatic officials in Saigon flew to Bangkok today to review the situation in Vietnam with the President.

After morning and luncheon conferences today with Thailand's leaders on Southeast Asian security and U.S.-Thai relations, Nixon scheduled an afternoon review of the Vietnam war with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams Jr., the commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

Nixon has said these talks would influence his thinking on further withdrawals of U.S. troops and his assessment of the significance of the battlefield lull in Vietnam, now in its sixth week.

Abrams told newsmen as he left Saigon the lull could be due to enemy preparations for another offensive, "lack of capability on the enemy's part," or an attempt by Hanoi to de-escalate the war, but "I don't think anyone really knows."

Clear Skies, Cool Seen for Tonight

It looks like the weatherman is going to turn showers off for a couple of days.

The forecast reads fair and cool tonight with a low of 55 to 61. Sunny and warmer, the high in the lower 80s, is the prediction for tomorrow, and increasing cloudiness is the outlook for Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Winds west to northwest at 10 to 20 miles per hour today, will become five to 10 miles per hour tonight and light and variable tomorrow.

A cloudy 66 was the low in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. By 12:30 p.m. the mercury had reached 68.

Surtax Accord Hopes Fading

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., said today he has "never given up hope" that the Nixon administration will accept a compromise five-month extension of the income tax.

But the majority leader conceded to newsmen there have been no new negotiations with Republican Senate leaders or administration officials over the compromise plan offered by the Senate Democratic Policy Committee last Thursday.

The Republicans rejected the offer within a couple of hours after it was made, insisting on a full year's extension.

Mansfield said that "the progress of new negotiations, if any," would determine whether he will bring up in the Senate a 15-day extension of paycheck withholding rates based on the surcharge.

EXPIRE AT MIDNIGHT

These rates expire at midnight Thursday. The House is expected to send a 15-day extension to the Senate either this afternoon or tomorrow.

Mansfield reiterated his statement made yesterday that, if the present withholding rates are allowed to expire Thursday, it is doubtful that the surtax ever will be revived.

Mine Cools; Reopening Is Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Slowly, agonizingly slowly for the relatives of the 78 men whose bodies lie below, the seared walls of Mountaineer Coal Co.'s No. 9 mine are cooling off.

And as steel bits chew through the West Virginia mountain shielding the shafts and tunnels, officials prepare the plans to enter the mine for the recovery expedition and the first step in resuming digging.

* * *

Already developing are signs of a struggle between the coal company and the United Mine Workers over the reopening.

Consolidation Coal Co., parent firm for the Farmington, W. Va., mine, has proposed two methods for reopening No. 9, closed now for eight months.

"We want a faster method," said Lewis E. Evans, safety director for the union. "Our first consideration is to remove the bodies—to get them out and do it safely."

James Westfield of the U.S. Bureau of Mines, which is considering the plans, said safety is his first consideration. As to the company's plans: "We have found nothing wrong with them," he said.

* * *

Evans said the union has no specific proposals for entering the mine, but he said he will discuss the matter with the company.

Officials have yet to set—or even discuss—any date for cracking the cement caps blocking oxygen from the fires which ravaged the mine for 10 days before it was sealed off Nov. 30.

Westfield, when pressed by a reporter, said he would guess the mine can't be opened for at least another two months.

An explosion which killed 16 men at the same mine in 1954 kept the pit sealed four months.

Westfield said three indicators — carbon monoxide, oxygen and temperature—which point to whether fires are still burning have dropped to points where it appears the mine is near the reopening stage.

But concentration of deadly methane gas is as high as 67 per cent in some places. A 2 per cent concentration will kill a man. Explosions can be sparked when the figures are between 5 and 15 per cent.

After miners begin pressing into the deadly section of the mine where the bodies are located, progress will be slow.

The traditional method — airlocking — allows the recovery teams to move 1,000 feet at a time through the 10 miles or so of passageways as they ease ahead of one seal, explore an area and erect another seal.

A second, and newer method suggested by Consolidation is what the drilling already going on in Farmington is about.

Under this plan, blowers clear 3,000 feet of tunnel through one bore hole, a new seal is installed and another bore hole is drilled.

The bore holes won't be opened until the Bureau of Mines decides which method it prefers.

The November disaster has had heavy impact in spurring coal safety legislation.

WARREN EIERMAN

Board Names CNB President

Warren H. Eierman was named president and chief administrative officer of Community National Bank of Pontiac today at a special meeting of the bank's board of directors.

Formerly executive vice president of the bank, Eierman replaces Robert R Eldred, who will assume the duties of vice chairman of the board of directors. Eldred will be responsible for directing and coordinating the bank's various responsibilities in civic affairs in his new position.

* * *

Eierman, who joined Community National Bank's staff in March 1966, served as president and chief executive officer of Harbor National Bank of Boston, Mass., and senior vice president of the First National Bank, Miami, Fla.

He has also served as vice president of Union National Bank, Clarksburg, W. Va., and a national bank examiner on the East Coast and with the Federal Reserve System.

This year's general chairman of the Pontiac Area United Fund (PAUF), Eierman last year headed the PAUF Planning Committee and served as PAUF Gifts chairman in the 1967 campaign.

Eierman, 47, lives with his wife and five children at 860 Harsdale, Bloomfield Township.

Eldred has been with the bank since its organization in 1933 and has held many executive posts. Last May the board of directors approved his request to be relieved of his duties as chief administrative officer.

Birmingham

Plan to Help Negro Youths Is Delayed

BIRMINGHAM—An ambitious program designed to bring 10 Negro youths to live in this city and allow them to attend local high schools will not get under way this fall as originally hoped.

Instead, the program called ABC (A Better Chance) and coordinated by Dartmouth College — will be aimed for implementation in the fall of 1970.

* * *

Under the program, Negro students from impoverished economic environments would have lived here two years completing their junior and senior years in Birmingham High schools.

* * *

The program originally was begun as an attempt to give a selected group of impoverished youths "a look at the other side and an opportunity to get a decent start in life," as one spokesman for the local ABC group put it.

MAJOR OBSTACLE

Roger Calsibet, local coordinator, explained that finding suitable housing for the students proved to be a major obstacle. He believes that adequate financing could have been raised if the housing problem could have been solved.

Calsibet added that the over-all problem proved to be lack of sufficient time.

* * *

"From the beginning we simply did not have enough time to take care of all the necessary details involved in organizing the program in time to meet the July 15 deadline," Calsibet cited.

* * *

He said finances could be a problem, but by no means a major difficulty.

'VERY DIFFICULT'

"It was very difficult finding a facility that would be large enough to accommodate 10 youngsters plus houseparents for a two-year period. There just are not that many houses available in Birmingham," Calsibet explained.

* * *

The original cost of the Birmingham ABC effort was set at approximately $30,000. Some $20,000 of that amount was to be made available through an anonymous source, according to Dartmouth officials.

* * *

Calsibet said the actual costs for the project probably would have run considerably higher than the original $30,000 forecast.

* * *

An added problem to the finance picture was the uncertainty of the availability of the original $20,000 from the anonymous source.

* * *

The balance of the needed finances was to be raised through projects and private solicitation.

'LITTLE ACCOMPLISHED'

Calsibet said approximately 60 local residents involved in the ABC project will now devote their resources to getting the program organized in time for the fall term next year.

* * *

"We cannot beat our chests about the project at this time. A lot of work has been put into it, but little has been accomplished. We do not wish to discuss the project further until something actually has been accomplished," Calsibet remarked.

* * *

The ABC program is in operation in only five communities in the country, most of them in the New England states.

HUD Okays Funds for City HRC

By MARY SUNDSTROM

A $1,110,142 Federal grant from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to the Pontiac School District for construction of the $5.5-million Human Resource Center (HRC) was announced today by Rep. Jack McDonald, R-19th District.

This is the first time that HUD has authorized funds under the Neighborhood Development Program (NDP) for construction of dual-use facilities for both community and school.

The HUD funds are earmarked for construction of community-use areas, including health, day care, Heard Start and counseling, and for areas which will be used by the community and HRC pupils, including the gymnasium, auditorium, crafts and homemaking areas, and classrooms which will be used for evening adult education and community meetings.

* * *

"HUD had to change its basic policies in order to award federal funds to the Pontiac School District for this project," said David Lewis of Urban Design Associates (UDA) of Pittsburgh, which designed the complex to house 1,800 elementary students.

About $4.3 million above the $1.1-million federal grant for construction of the project will have to be borne by the school district. Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer said there are funds available from the March, 1968 bond issue.

"The complex will provide a knitting together of the lifeblood of the city. It will bring together the black and white, children and adults, residential and downtown areas, public facilities and the school," Lewis said.

"Pontiac has set a precedent for the nation in the innovation of this project. The interrelationship of agencies (school district, city, county, Pontiac Area Planning Council) has shown the capacity to develop an idea which will serve a large portion of the community," Lewis said.

The Pontiac Board of Education first discussed the Human Resource Center in February 1966. In June 1967 UDA was contracted to begin work and plans for the center, which will be located on 16 acres behind City Hall.

INTEGRATION IS PRIMARY

Parts of the building will be devoted totally to school activities, parts totally to community activities, and parts combined.

* * *

The project was designed with integration of pupils as a primary factor. All of the pupils from McConnell and Central elementary schools, most of the pupils from Baldwin school and part of the pupils from Wilson school will attend the center.

The racial balance will be about 60 per cent white and 40 per cent black pupils, Whitmer said.

About 300 pupils who will attend the HRC will live outside of a mile radius and will be bused. Main pathways from the residential areas to the complex will be outlined and extra safety precautions will be followed near main streets and intersections.

COMMUNITY FACILITIES

An enclosed pedestrian walkway will go through the center of the complex at the second level. Along this walk will be community facilities, including an auditorium, a public cafeteria, an adult-education library and facilities, health offices, and offices for counseling, social security and welfare.

The lower level of the H-winged complex includes three class areas for the pupils, specifically designed for kindergarten, lower elementary and upper elementary pupils.

These class areas may be made smaller or larger by means of swingable book cases and moveable blackboards. Each class area can be made into 164 combinations of rooms, according to Jerry Lindsay of UDA. The class areas also may be completely opened into a large hall.

The complex is designed to hook up with a redeveloped downtown Pontiac project, if and when completed, by means of a continuation of the enclosed pedestrian walkway via an overpass across Wide Track Drive.

The Pontiac School District was the first in the nation to make application for Neighborhood Development funds for dual-use facilities, although it is not unusual to request funds for strictly community-use facilities in a school, Whitmer said.

* * *

Whitmer said site acquisition for the center is nearly completed. The district still is negotiating with the city to acquire about half of the site which is city-owned land.

* * *

Whitmer said that he and the school board are optimistic about the negotiations for city land and that it is only a matter of time until the remainder of the site is acquired.

* * *

All of the architects' drawings for the "continuous structure" have been completed, Lewis said. However, the school district has not sought bids since notification from HUD that the grant had been approved was required first.

Area Boy Killed; Warrant Sought

Charges may be brought against the driver of a car in which a 14-year-old boy was killed in Waterford Township early today, according to a police spokesman.

Waterford Township police said a warrant against Lloyd A. Essex, 25, of 1159 Lakeview, Waterford Township, would be sought today.

The boy, Donald A. Kennedy, 240 S. Lynn, Waterford Township, was killed in the car Essex was driving when it collided with a cab on M59 at Shoreview at 12:45 a.m.

Oakland Cab Co. driver William R. Pickard, 67, of 40 Harris, Pontiac, is in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital with a jaw injury. Essex suffered lacerations and a hip injury and is hospitalized in satisfactory condition.

The accident occurred when Essex turned his small foreign car off M59 onto Shoreview in front of the cab, police said.

Marine Is Held in Singer Death

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — A 28-year-old U.S. Marine sergeant has been charged with murder in the fatal shooting of an Australian girl singer, Marine spokesmen said today.

Sgt. James W. Killen of Birmingham, Ala., was charged with the fatal shooting of Katherine Ann Warnes, 20. Miss Warnes was shot through the heart as she was finishing a performance on July 20 with six other entertainers at a Marine noncommissioned officers' club five miles southwest of Da Nang.

* * *

After the shooting, Marine spokesmen said the girl was hit by a small-caliber bullet fired from outside the club and from some distance away.

The Marine announcement today gave no further information on the shooting except to say that investigation of the slaying "has produced sufficient evidence to warrant filing of a formal charge of murder" against Killen.

The Marines said the sergeant had been arrested and legal counsel assigned to him in preparation for his trial by a general court-martial.

Killen enlisted in the Marines in 1959 and was discharged in 1964. He reenlisted in Nashville, Tenn., in August 1965 and is on his second tour of duty in South Vietnam. He is assigned to a reconnaissance company of the 1st Marine Division.

Bigger Hospital Voice Sought

Jackson refused further comment concerning his proposal, but presumably it is aimed at preventing similar controversies in the future.

* * *

He did say that the hospital board had the jurisdiction under present ordinances to fire Euler, and asked that local citizens be more cooperative with the board.

"I don't care to discuss my proposal any further until other commissioners see it. They should be able to consider its merits before it becomes a matter of public discussion," Jackson said.

WOULD CALL FOR VOTE

He did indicate he would call for majority-vote support by the commission of any hospital board appointment or firing before it could become effective.

He also said the action should not be interpreted strictly as a measure expressing discontent with the hospital board.

* * *

Under the existing city ordinance, the city commission is involved only in the appointments to the 11-man hospital board and approval of that board's yearly budget.

* * *

In other affairs, including hiring and firing, the hospital board is an autonomous group and is not subject to City Commission review. The existing ordinance became effective in 1956.

In proposing a more flexible subsidy arrangement, Jackson said he thinks the city could save money in some future years.

"Right now, the hospital is practically self-sufficient," he said.

* * *

However, the possibility exists that in some years the city might be forced to subsidize the hospital with more than the present $75,000-a-year limit.

* * *

"In either case, a more flexible ordinance would allow the city much more working room in budgeting and providing for support of the hospital," he noted.

U. N. Censure Rejected

LISBON (AP) — Portugal has rejected a U.N. Security Council censure charging that two persons in a Zambian village were killed June 30 in an air attack from the Portuguese territory of Mozambique.

The Foreign Ministry said in a communique last night that "there are no reasons to address any kind of censure against Portugal, because Zambia's complaints have been disproved" during the U.N. debate.

Easing Martial Law

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Pakistan's military regime is going to allow limited political activity as a first step in the "smooth transfer of power to the elected representatives of the people," President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan announced last night.

* * *

"Our goals are clear, but we must not rush headlong toward them," said Yahya, the commander of the army until President Mohammed Ayub Khan resigned and turned the government over to him four months ago. Since then the country has been under martial law.

Yanks Kill 53 in Viet Sweep

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troops swept a familiar battleground northwest of Saigon today in search of North Vietnamese stragglers from the sharpest fight the Americans have reported in more than a month.

The U.S. Command said 53 enemy soldiers were killed in a lightning-like pincer thrust Monday into the often contested area known as the Citadel. It is 25 miles from Saigon.

U.S. officers said documents found afterward indicated the fight spoiled plans for a series of attacks on American patrol and artillery bases.

The 25th Infantry Division threw more than 1,000 troops along with tanks and armored personnel carriers into the day-long fight.

3 YANKS KILLED

Three Americans were killed and 14 wounded, the U.S. Command reported. The enemy toll was the highest reported in an engagement with American forces when other troops of the 25th Division killed 62 in a battle 50 miles northwest of Saigon.

The troops on Monday also captured six prisoners, several suspects and a quantity of arms.

* * *

Despite the size and intensity of the battle, U.S. spokesmen said there was no indication of an end to the lull in enemy attacks, now in its sixth week.

The battle, however, did suggest that there has been no change in the American policy of maximum pressure on the Vietcong and North Vietnamese, a strategy which U.S. officers contend is responsible for the lull because it prevents enemy offensives from getting organized.

Some politicians in Washington think the lull may represent a de-escalation by the Communist command. They urge that American operations be scaled down in the hope that this will pave the way for further mutual steps toward a cease-fire. But top U.S. officials in Saigon do not agree with this view and contend the enemy is resting up and gathering together supplies for another offensive in the fall.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton Abrams Jr., the commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, flew to Bangkok to meet with President Nixon, who arrived there Monday to review the war picture. They were expected to urge continuance of the present U.S. strategy with no curtailment of operations.

* * *

There was considerable expectation in Saigon as well as in Bangkok that Nixon would fly to Vietnam Wednesday for a brief visit with some of the U.S. troops and with President Nguyen Van Thieu. But if such a visit was being planned, U.S. officials were doing all they could to keep the details secret for security reasons.

Dems Chide Milliken Over 'Fast Pen'

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Democrats are labeling Gov. William Milliken "the fastest pen in the West" as the state's chief executive tries to clarify what he supports in the way of the presidential primary.

Milliken marched in a "Founders Day" parade at Farmington this weekend.

At parade's end, aides explain, the governor was signing autographs and guest books when someone pressed a petition before him and asked him to sign that too.

"He was going through a rush," an aide said, and he apparently believed the petition "reflected his support of electoral reform. He generally endorses the idea of a nationwide presidential primary as part of over-all reform of the electoral system."

CHANGE IS SOUGHT

The petition, however, seeks a change in Michigan law in time to affect the 1972 election, without considering what the other states are doing. It is being circulated by the Michigan Citizens for a Presidential Primary, with headquarters in Detroit.

The governor apparently has no plans to ask that his signature be taken off the petition, but is making his own position clear.

Meanwhile, Democratic State Chairman James McNeely chided Milliken for signing the petition.

"Maybe we've been pressing the governor too hard to exert a little strong leadership," he said.

"I guess he thought he could fix up his weak leadership image by proving he has the fastest pen in the West," McNeely said.

WRESTLED OUT — Ann Arbor hippie leader, John A. Sinclair is removed from the courtroom after being sentenced to 9½ to 10 years in prison by Detroit Recorders Court Judge Robert J. Colombo yesterday. Sinclair, 27, was found guilty of his third narcotics violation last week. A White Panther leader, Sinclair will be sent to Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson. Formerly noted for his long hair, Sinclair had his locks clipped by deputies at the Oakland County jail recently when sentenced for assaulting a deputy at a Leonard teen dance. He was then released on a $2,500 appeal bond and sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $200.

Lapeer Lawmen 'Stretched Thin'

LAPEER — The morale of the Lapeer County Sheriff's Department continues to be high despite less overtime pay being allowed by the County Board of Supervisors.

Sheriff Kenneth Parks reports his 13-man force is stretched thin to cover 24-hour shifts, seven days a week. But he is keeping up the job of policing the county of some 50,000 inhabitants on a budget of $186,000 this year.

★ ★ ★

Under criticism from the board of supervisors for allowing his men too much overtime, Parks was backed up by an opinion from Prosecutor John Spires.

Spires told the board that Sheriff Parks is not subject to their control. Only insomuch as the board controls spending for the county can it exercise any authority over the sheriff's department, Spires said.

TIGHT BUDGET

Since overtime payments must be approved by the supervisors and the sheriff's department budget is deficient in overtime money, the opinion from Spires seems academic: Parks' budget is pinched and he must rely on the board for overtime pay funds.

Paul Herpolsheimer, chairman of the board of supervisors, is quick to point out that law enforcement expenditures take up 35 per cent of the county's $1.07-million budget.

"We added an assistant prosecutor, one new Circuit Court judge and two District Court clerks this year," Herpolsheimer explains, "and so we're not cutting back but expanding our services in this area."

★ ★ ★

Sheriff Parks' request for five additional men at the beginning of the year was refused by the supervisors. The sheriff maintains he needs the men and has had only two additions to his department in eight years. Both were added in 1967.

SUBSTANTIAL PAY RAISE

On the plus side of Sheriff Parks' manpower situation is a substantial pay raise that went into effect in April for his personnel.

The raises, amounting to $900 a year for deputies in the top grade, were retroactive to Jan. 1 of this year.

★ ★ ★

New fringe benefits also were included in the new wage agreement, Sheriff Parks points out.

★ ★ ★

He cited fully paid hospital and medical insurance, three-week paid vacations for officers with the department over seven years and two-week paid vacations for up to seven years' service.

IN EMERGENCIES

Recognizing that some overtime must occur the board of supervisors has authorized emergency overtime for the Sheriff's Department.

KAREN BALDWIN

Orion Twp. Girl Gets Legion Title

Karen Baldwin, 10, recently won the title of Miss Juinor Poppy for the State of Michigan at the American Legion Convention held in Detroit.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland L. Baldwin, 3778 Gainesborough, Orion Township. Karen's father is the commander of the American Legion Chief Pontiac Post 377.

Karen was awarded a $25 savings bond, along with her new title.

Sinclair Assails Judge Following Dope Sentence

DETROIT (UPI) — John Sinclair, bearded leader of the militant White Panthers, lost his cool yesterday when he was sentenced to nine and a half to 10 years in Southern Michigan Prison for possession of marijuana.

"You're a punk, you're a pig, you will die," the 31-year-old Sinclair bellowed at Recorder's Court Judge Robert J. Colombo as bailiffs hauled him from the courtroom.

Sinclair of Ann Arbor, who had been placed on probation twice before on the same charge, was convicted for the third time for possessing two marijuana cigarettes.

"We've been lenient with you long enough," Colombo said. "There will be no bail."

'YOU WILL DIE'

"You will die," Sinclair shouted.

Comforted by is wife, 2-year-old daughter and gray-haired mother, the burly, spectacled Sinclair wailed, "They don't want me on the streets. They can put John Sinclair in the penitentiary and the White Panthers will spread all over."

The White Panthers is an organization of white people who seek an alliance with the Black Panthers, a radical Negro action group.

Farmington Group Hits Merger Plan

FARMINGTON — Several city residents have formed an informal group to oppse the idea of consolidating the four Farmington-area governments into a single new city.

An election is set for Nov. 4 to deicde whether or not to write a charter for a new single city.

★ ★ ★

The municipalities involved — Farmington, Farmington Township and the villages of Woodcreek Farms and Quakertown — each will have a single vote. If residents of any one area decide against consolidation it won't pass.

The group against consolidation has titled itself "WE" — short for "We the people of the City of Farmington opposed to consolidation."

COUNCILMAN AT HELM

Spearheading the nucleus is City Councilman John Allen. His chief aide is former councilman Howard Thayer Other members include Wescott Peterson and Mrs. Charlotte Bruce, both members of the city planning commission.

★ ★ ★

Allen claims that all the information needed to decide the question is available and needs only to be released to the public, a job which Allen's group apparently is taking on.

★ ★ ★

In a statement issued by WE, Allen said, "If you prefer the excitement of a big city, if the prospect of poor public service and less public safety does not concern you, if higher taxes and bigger politics doesn't shake you, WE believe you vote for consolidation.

"WE believe there is a better way, that a small city, well-planned and well-managed, offers more convenience, comfort and security for the future," Allen declared.

★ ★ ★

Allen indicated WE's belief that the city would be in a better position by not accepting consolidation. He cited the current state of cities like Southfield and Livonia as examples of larger cities, contrasting their operations against those of Franklin and Lathrup Village, which he claimed were doing well.

Action to Curb 'Hazards' Eyed

By NED ADAMSON

ROSE TOWNSHIP — Officials of the Michigan State Health Department have stated that no action can be taken against the alleged smoke and fire hazards on the William Booker property on Damode Road until the person responsible for the burning is identified.

Booker, a Detroit real estate man, reportedly leases the property for a junk-car operation.

★ ★ ★

Nearby residents maintain that the smoke and fire hazards caused by the burning out of the interiors of the junk autos along with a burning of copper wire results in a serious depreciation of property values as well as a general eyesore.

Milo Smith, a field representative with the Division of Occupational Health, said that the burning of copper wire is in violation of the state's air pollution laws.

ADVISED IN WRITING

Booker has reportedly been advised in writing several times of both the junk-car ordinance violation and the air-pollution control act violation.

Booker has until November 1971 to put his land in conformance with the residential zoning covering it. The junk car operation has existed for several years, although the township passed a zoning ordinance regulation only last November.

Smith said action could be taken regarding the burning violation if the firm or persons involved in the actual burning can be notified in writing of the violation.

The Health Department officials said a written warning is the first step. If the violator does not desist, legal action can be applied.

Smith said the first legal measure would be to file a request for an injunction.

Smith said that Booker has been advised of the violation but no action has been taken by him to correct the situation.

Roger Nelson, township supervisor, said Booker was fined several years ago for creating fire hazards on his property. In that instance, Booker, a Negro, charged the township with racial discrimination.

Most of the approximately 25 residents living in the area of the Booker property also are Negro.

Nelson said nearly all of the residents have been pressuring the township for some time to do something about the nuisance.

The identity and address of those persons involved in the trucking of the materials to the Booker property has remained a mystery due to the unusual circumstances involved in the trucking of the used cars and other materials.

Residents living near the property have explained that unmarked trucks make deliveries to the land at all hours of the day and night.

Play Scheduled

WALLED LAKE — "Mary Mary," a play by Jean Kerr will be staged tomorrow and Thursday at the Walled Lake Central High School.

The production will be presented by members of a summer class in play production.

Tickets for the 8:15 p.m. performances are $1.25 and may be purchased at the door.

School Cheerleaders Capture Camp Honors

Avondale High School varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders won two trophies and six award ribbons at a recent cheerleading camp they attended.

Award winners were Theresa Milewicz, Vanessa Haley, Cathy Cassisy, Mary White, Jan Auten, Pat Andrus, Sharon Somers and Val Hewett.

Licensing Landfills Not Easy

War on Dumps Continues

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a three-part series.)

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

Doing something about converting open dumps into sanitary landfills has not been easy.

Some 15 open dumps already have been turned into sanitary landfills and licensed. Operations at these areas have greatly improved, according to Robert T. Coleman, director of the Division of Environmental Health, Oakland County Health Department.

★ ★ ★

Another 10 open dumps have closed or are currently inactive. Operators of a few others have applied for licenses, while those at two particular sites have yet to comply with the act and even ask for a license.

In early 1966, the county health department warned all area municipalities having dumps about state public Act 87. It forbids open dumps and regulates all sanitary landfills through a procedure of licensing and inspection.

RAT-INFESTED

The original inspections of some 25 open dumps revealed rat-infested garbage piles in low marshy areas. The rubbish was found dumped into convenient piles for periodic burning. Salvage operations were a major activity, consuming a substantial area of the site for storage and display.

Much of the equipment at the sites was substandard and was used primarily to excavate rather than to compact rubbish for sanitary purposes, according to Coleman.

★ ★ ★

During 1966-67 several operators closed their sites rather than comply with the new laws as in Waterford Township.

NO PROVISION

Act 87 made no provision to clean up the open dumps that closed down.

★ ★ ★

Several other open dumps were closed down and properly earth-covered by operators whose only alternatives were compliance with the public act or a costly court case. Others closed include the Springfield Township disposal site in Davisburg, the Chapel site in Highland Township and several smaller ones.

ROAD UNIT TAKEOVER

Two problem areas, still unlicensed, are the Holly Township and the Pontiac-Orion Authority landfill sites.

★ ★ ★

The Holly operation continues in defiance of the law, according to Coleman. The operators have not applied for a license and are following few of the regulations set by Act. 87. The county

The county is attempting to work out an agreement with Holly Township is attempting to work out an agreement in which the road commission can take over control of the operation and handle the site properly.

★ ★ ★

Contested currently are two sites in Rose Township officially closed but still in use. Several months ago, Rose Township terminated its agreement with Elias Williams for use of his property on Demode Road as a township dump. The dump closed, but the health department plans to begin legal action to require excavation and covering.

Another nearby site is the center of a circuit court case. An illegal dumping ground for industrial liquid wastes, the area was never licensed and was closed by court order, with instructions to clean up the facility.

★ ★ ★

The road commission is already running landfill sites in Milford and Brandon townships.

★ ★ ★

If nothing can be settled, the county will go to court to seek control of the Holly dump, according to Coleman.

★ ★ ★

"The Pontiac-Orion Authority will have to commit themselves or go to court" he added. The municipal governments involved have refused to take responsibility for the license.

Even the landfill sites that have brought their operations up to licensing requirements must still be policed, Coleman noted.

EVASIONS, DEFICIENCIES

"Despite the fact that a disposal operation may be a licensed one, it doesn't always follow that there is full compliance with Act 87.

"There are problems, evasions, intentional or unintentional deficiencies with all of them," he indicated.

★ ★ ★

Major problmes are checking for properly compacted trash, including tapering the sides of piles so that they can be covered properly with six inches of dirt every evening after the site is closed. Scattered papers also must be watched to prevent nuisance accumulations which prevail at some sites, according to Coleman.

Coleman also indicated that despite pleadings to comply, the operator of the Pontiac-Orion Authority never has applied for a license or made an effort to comply with the act.

He indicated that its managers were operating the site fairly well but that they "will just not commit themselves to a license."

Coleman believes municipalities and the general public are now beginning to recognize the need and value for a sanitary landfill program.

ONE STEP FURTHER

"But no one wants to go one step further and act to the extent of making better sites available for this use," he explained.

Basically, everyone wants a landfill to use but no one wants that landfill to be near his home.

Coleman insisted, however, that if a landfill were managed properly, the degree of filth, rodent population and stench evident so often would never occ

He recited past experience as proof. A group of municipalities in the southeast portion of the county banded together in 1954 solely to dispose of their solid wastes in a controled manner. Calling themselves the SEOC (Southeast Oakland County) Garbage Refuse Disposal Authority, they purchased an old dump on the north side of Maple just inside Troy city limits.

SITE INDISTINGUISHABLE

They were given the land with the understanding that it would be properly cleaned up when a planned incinerator in Madison Heights was ready. When finished with the land, in the late '50s, the authority cleaned and covered the area.

Today, the location of the landfill site is indistinguishable because it is covered by a solid block of buildings.

For Brandon School District

Voters OK 14.8-Mill Levy

BRANDON TWONSHIP — Voters in the Brandon School District overwhelmingly approved a package of 14.8 mills, including a 6.9-mill increase, yesterday.

The vote was 673 for and 233 against. The turnout of 959 voters represented 71 per cent of the registered voters in the district.

The same package was defeated by a 444-422 vote on June 9.

Clyde Fisher had warned voters that the 14.8-mill package was the minimum needed for school district operation this year. He also had stated that he would recommend annexation of the district to adjoining districts if the millage package lost again.

"The voters have shown us that they are willing to continue the operation of the school district, and we are pleased," Fisher said.

Troy Voters OK 2 School Issues

TROY — Voters in this school district yesterday approved a $7.2-million bond issue to finance construction of a new elementary school and additons to six existing schools.

The bond issue, defeated by voters last Jan. 13, was passed 909 to 671.

Voters also approved a transfer of funds, estimated at $60,000, from the district's 1969 building and site fund into the 1965 fund by a vote of 986 to 566.

A total of 1,580 or 15 per cent of the district's estimated 10,000 eligible voters, turned out at the polls.

COME BLOW YOUR HORN — Some of Pontiac Motor Division's 1970 models include a special new feature. Horn grilles, located between the center grille and head lamps, are standard on all Catalina, Executive and Bonneville models. In addition to serving as an outlet for the horn's sound, the grilles will admit additional engine-cooling air. Bulb horns, similar to the one held by the model were used by motorists of yesteryear.

Tax Bite Seen for Foundations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee, pressing to complete a general tax reform bill for House action next week, has decided to rap foundations a bit harder.

The committee agreed Monday on a 7½ per cent levy on the presently tax-free investment income of the foundations —instead of 5 per cent as it originally proposed.

★ ★ ★

Other changes, some tightening and some easing restrictions earlier agreed on, were made as the committee approved final language for the foundation section of the big bill.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., told a newsman the committee will do everything possible to report out a comprehensive reform measure by Friday.

'WILL BE' SCHEDULED

Speaker John W. McCormack, when asked whether a bill completed by then could be scheduled for House action next week, replied: "Not could be—will be."

★ ★ ★

House leaders, observing the Senate tangle over a surtax extension bill and counting days until the Aug. 13 congressional recess, reportedly were convinced that delaying a vote on the reform measure would give opposition time to build up its forces.

★ ★ ★

Other changes in the language on foundations included:

- A flat ban on attempts by foundations to influence legislation. Present law says they may not engage in substantial activity of this kind.
- Tighter restrictions on voter registration drives financed by foundations. The committee already had decided the tax-exempt groups might not directly pay for such activities, but might contribute to nonpartisan bodies that conducted them.

★ ★ ★

These bodies, the committee has now decided, must be broad-based, operating in at least five states and not concentrated on a single area or campaign, and must obtain their funds from at least five foundations, with no single one contributing more than 25 per cent.

- Relaxing of an earlier committee decision that foundation grants to individuals would have to be channeled through other institutions, such as universities, that actually picked the recipients.

★ ★ ★

This provision was changed to allow grants to individuals under procedures approved by the Internal Revenue Service as fair and objective.

★ ★ ★

Language still to be perfected would bar grants to public officials, including congressmen and judges.

★ ★ ★

- An earlier decision to forbid a foundation holding more than 20 per cent of the stock of a company was modified by two exceptions. Although written generally, these were understood to apply to a Kellogg foundation in Battle Creek, Mich., and the Benwood Foundation of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Detroit's Scope Is 'Out of Print'

DETROIT (UPI) — Scope Magazine, the slick, caustic publication spawned by this city's 1968 newspaper strike and weaned on a "tell-it-like-it-is" formula, folded yesterday after 15 months of publication.

James H. Dygert, the publisher, blamed financial difficulties on Scope's shutdown. "This step became necessary when efforts to raise new capital through financial reorganization failed to develop," he said in a prepared statement.

★ ★ ★

"The magazine had been losing money since the end of the newspaper strike in August 1968, and its original capital proved insufficient to sustain it through the financial difficulties," Dygert said.

★ ★ ★

Scope's circulation was at 60,000 weekly when the newspaper strike ended but that figure plummeted in the following months and was around 22,000 when publication was suspended.

★ ★ ★

Featured in Scope were countless saucy attacks at Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and expose articles on Detroit-area Mafia figures. But Dygert said there was no indication that pressure had been brought to bear on potential investors not to back the magazine.

2 Cabinet Members, Spiro Split on Space

SEATTLE (AP) — Two members of President Nixon's Cabinet have called for a lower priority for space expenditures, but Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says he still believes the nation should aim to put a man on Mars in this century.

"We should stop giving space a No. 1 priority," Secretary of Housing and Urban Development George Romney told newsmen after the opening session of the Western Governors' Conference Monday.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert Finch said space officials "will have to show much greater budgetary restraint than has been the case in the past."

"Instead of saying we will spend what it takes to put a man on a certain planet," Finch said at a news conference, "we are going to have to say to NASA (the National Aeronautics and Space Administration) 'This is your chunk of the pie.' "

'REALISTIC OBJECTIVE'

Agnew, in a television interview after addressing the governors, said: "We should level in on a target that is understandable and meaningful. I think that Mars is a realistic objective."

The vice president said the current level of spending on space programs should be maintained and then, "when we are rid of the war, we can look to expand this and many other programs."

But Romney took this view: "I don't think the space program ought to take priority over housing and other urgent needs. We have a real point of contention on the priority question in the administration. This discussion lies ahead."

Meet Your Neighbors

Fox Bay Estates—Pretty

By BARBARA GRIBBON

There's a pretty area in White Lake Township called Fox Bay Estates. The subdivision has been growing for about five years with most of the families moving in during the last three years. The ranch-style homes are surrounded with lush lawns and patios are springing up everywhere.

The Fox Bay Homeowners Association has been busy planning social events, including a recent street dance for the entire subdivision.

Baseball games are a regular occurence between rival neighborhood teams, and a number of children's activities are also conducted.

As in many large neighborhoods, small groups of neighbors often get together for mutual benefit.

POOL RESOURCES

We met one group of about 10 families who pooled their resources and bought a cement mixer. They're now busy building each other's patios on Saturdays. With so many people, the work goes quickly and everyone has a lot of fun besides.

One of the most recent patios built is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Potter, who moved here last December from Pontiac. Their two children are Suzanne, 5, and Kathy, 12. She's a flutist in her school band and enjoys painting as a hobby.

★ ★ ★

Potter is a lab technician at Pontiac Motor. He enjoys golf, bowling and motorcycling as hobbies. He is a member of the Pontiac Elks Club.

His wife told us that soon after moving into their new home, her husband had an attack of appendicitis and was rushed to the hospital the same day the sod for their lawn arrived. When he came home, the neighbors had gotten together and laid the sod for him.

BUSY LANDSCAPING

Mrs. Potter, who was sunning on her new patio when we met her, told us that decorating and baking are her two main hobbies. She and her husband are busy now landscaping, including putting in a small pond in the center of their patio.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis (Bud) St. Arno moved here three years ago from their previous home in Watkins Lake Estates. They have a married daughter, a grandson, and a 13-year-old son, Jim.

★ ★ ★

St. Arno, a pipe fitter at the Pontiac Motor Division, is active in the Fox Bay Association where he is helping with the entertainment committee. Both he and his wife enjoy gardening which was evident by the beautiful flowers surrounding their home. They have built a terraced patio in the yard and told us that most of their summer is spent working in the yard.

Another Pontiac Motor employe is William Mihalek who moved here over a year ago from Pontiac. He and his wife have two children, Wendy, 5, and Chris, 2½. Dad's a pattern maker at Pontiac Motor. He is active in the Pontiac Jaycees and enjoys golf and motorcycling as hobbies.

SORORITY MEMBER

Mrs. Mihalek is a member of Sigma Beta Gamma Theta, Pontiac chapter, a charity sorority. The group supports three national charities including the kidney foundation, cystic fibrosis foundation and Indian education.

She told us that one of her main interests is in raising flowers which she has been enjoying around her new home. The family is active in the United Presbyterian Church in Pontiac.

From East Lansing came the Charles Tutt family, including Beth, 6, and Chuckie, 3.

★ ★ ★

Tutt is food director for the Walled Lake School system. He is a member of the American School Food Service Association and the Michigan School Food Service Association. He was active in the Chamber of Commerce in East Lansing and hopes to become involved in community affairs here as well.

One of the Tutts' favorite hobbies is collecting and refinishing old pieces of furniture for their home. They were working on an old trunk when we met them. Hunting for antiques is half the fun, and then finding ways to decorate them in their new house is a challenge, Mrs. Tutt told us.

INTERESTED IN SPORTS

Among the Tutts' many sports interests are golf, water skiing, tennis and ice skating. They are members of the First Presbyterian Church in Waterford.

The Al Jespersen family moved to Fox Bay two years ago from Ann Arbor. Their children are Brad, 8, Doug, 6, and Jill, 21 months old.

★ ★ ★

Jespersen is business manager at Rademacher Chevrolet in Clarkston. He's also secretary of the Fox Bay Association and he and his wife are past entertainment chairmen. They both like to play golf and do just about anything outside including swimming and camping, which the whole family loves.

Mrs. Jespersen told us that she likes to do some furniture refinishing in her spare time and enjoys sewing very much. The family belongs to the Bethel Church of Christ.

MOVE FROM OHIO

Mr. and Mrs. Chet McGlynchey moved here three years ago from Canton, Ohio. They have three children, Lisa, 8, Michael, 5, and Melanie, 2.

McGlynchey, who is a salesman for Scientific Products Division of American Hospital Supply Corp., is an amateur cartoonist in his spare time. He did a lot of cartooning for an Air Force newspaper and hopes to do some work professionally. Golfing and fishing are his major sports interests.

★ ★ ★

Sewing and making her own draperies keeps Mrs. McGlynchey at home. She also likes to dabble in painting and enjoys boating and swimming with her family. The family belongs to St. Patrick's Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Chet F. Wisnoski moved to Fox Bay last April from Warren. They have two children, Steven, 8, and Christopher, 5.

Wisnoski is a clay modeler at Chrysler Corp. and is also a part-time musician. When we asked what a clay modeler does, Mrs. Wisnoski told us that they build a full-sized clay model of a future car before producing it. As a musician, Wisnoski plays the accordion and organ with a group which plays at nightclubs and social events.

★ ★ ★

The busy mom in this family manages to find time to engage in a variety of handicrafts including making pressed flower pictures and a variety of wall hangings.

★ ★ ★

For the wall hangings she uses such interesting items as the complete works of an old watch, coins and pine cones.

One of her more unusual pieces is a sand casting which she made in her sons' sandbox.

LIVE NEAR DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Volcheck came here from Uniontown, Pa. Their daughter, Mrs. David Marsac, lives just two houses away from them with her husband and two children, Freddy, 10, and Janet, 4. (Naturally, grandma and grandad enjoy having their grandchildren so close.)

★ ★ ★

Volcheck is a salesman for Bergen Machine & Tool Co. in Nutley, N.J. He's a member of the Knights of Columbus in Pontiac and enjoys golf in his spare time. His wife likes to sew for her home and also for the grandchildren. She is a member of the Ladies Guild at St. Patrick's Church.

The Marsac family previously lived in Elizabeth Lake Estates. Marsac is in the marketing division of Consumers Power Co. and is also a golfer. He and son Freddy both enjoy fishing and bowling while their mom is taking up sewing with the help of her mother.

★ ★ ★

The Fox Bay area is still growing with many more homes planned for the future. It promises to be a pleasant place to live. Next week we'll be introducing you to some folks who live in Nantucket Village in Commerce Township.

Consumer Chief Demands End to Burger Violations

NEW YORK (AP) — "Thou shalt not commit adulteration."

That was the word Monday from City Consumer Affairs Commissioner Bess Myerson Grant in announcing that a dozen restaurants have received summonses for adulterating hamburgers with starch, soy flower or excessive fats.

★ ★ ★

The burgers are supposed to consist of pure chopped beef, with a maximum fat content of 30 per cent.

"We intend to go out again and again until sellers of hamburgers learn that 'Thou shalt not commit adulteration,' " Mrs. Grant declared in announcing a crackdown.

Rochester Reaches 100

They're adding hustle and bustle to Rochester in observance of that town's incorporation as a village 100 years ago. The hustle comes from centennial events, while the bustles are planned in the 1869 period costumes now being sewn by women folks. Centennial week is Sept. 7-14.

Like a parade, everyone loves a centennial. It's one of those events where we all can get away with acting a little bit foolish and nobody is going to care.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac celebrated its first century in 1961, complete with parades, brothers of the brush and other bits of fun. Now it's Rochester's turn.

★ ★ ★

According to the special centennial book, Rochester incorporated as a village on April 12, 1869, electing JESSE WILSON as village president. This, however, was not the true beginning of what now is a two-year-old city.

Some 50 years prior to the first village charter, a pioneer—JAMES GRAHAM—first settled on what is now the site of the Rochester city hall. This was the beginning.

Even so Rochester might never have grown much larger than a frontier hamlet had the railroads turned more to the East than they did. A crossroads known as Stony Creek, located north and slightly east of the present city, could easily have developed as the area's center.

But the railroad did go Rochester's way. The result has been a beautiful suburban residential area, holding great potential for future growth.

★ ★ ★

Meantime, however, it's appropriate to reflect on 1869 and the changes wrought since. There will be fun in the remembering.

Letter Answers Critics of Law, Order Demands

Critics of any demand for law and order quote Hitler as saying it also. The fact that Hitler used these words in a deceptive manner to gain his goals does not change their value when used in sincerity.

★ ★ ★

Until a few years ago, we had law and order, yet we did not live under a Hitler-like tyranny. People were not afraid to go out at night, leave their houses unoccupied or doors unlocked when home. Businessmen could get insurance and stayed open after dark. Churches were not locked at night. Clergymen taught religion, not civil disobedience. School windows were not broken faster than workmen repaired them. Judges did not coddle criminals. Colleges were not taken over by long-haired punks. Policemen were not targets for insults, rocks and troublemaking organizations. Criminals and drug users 13 years old and younger were rare.

★ ★ ★

If stopping criminals, rioters and Communists is "repression," as one letter recently stated, I'm all for it.

'Support School Board's Attempt for Order'

I fully support our school board in its attempt to have orderly and constructive meetings. This is not "gag rule." It is only democracy when the people elect a school board and city commission and allow them to carry on the business of the City and school district without being harassed and condemned.

★ ★ ★

Fifty or 60 people attending school board meetings do not represent the thinking for the several thousand voters of this school district.

★ ★ ★

I believe The Pontiac Press is wrong stating that the City Commission allows citizens to speak during the agenda. It does not. Citizens only speak on occasion of a public hearing and after the closing of the agenda. I suggest the school board follow the policy of Mayor Taylor and the City Commission in conducting its agenda.

Nixon Welcome Too Risky

If there was enough danger of contamination from the moon to put the astronauts into quarantine for 18 days, then the recovery ship Hornet was no place for President NIXON.

★ ★ ★

He was only able to talk to the three spacemen by intercom anyway, instead of in person. He could have done that from miles away, as he did when he talked by radio to Armstrong and Aldrin while they were on the moon.

★ ★ ★

Possible presence of a lunar microbe which could decimate the entire ship's company makes the President's participation in the welcome an unnecessary risk to national security.

Moon Trip Landmark Feat

The Great Moon Race has been won. The most costly and technically goal-directed effort in the Nation's history, aside from its major wars, has been crowned with complete success.

What now? Is the manned landing on the moon really to be that giant leap into a new era for mankind, or are we just going to chalk it up as an impressive technological stunt and get down to more important business on earth?

★ ★ ★

There is no lack of advice and comment from leading thinkers. Some of it ranges from the less-than-sublime to the more-than-ridiculous.

Noting Uncle Sam's $33-billion space tab to date, British historian ARNOLD J. TOYNBEE declares, "Going to the moon is like building the pyramids or Louis XIV's palace at Versailles. It's rather scandalous, when human beings are going short of necessities, to do this."

But for RICHARD S. LEWIS, manager of the Bulletin of the Atomic scientists, these and similar comments have an ominous ring. Social critics, he rebuts, who ridicule space spending as a wicked waste of resources "seem to reflect that inward preoccupation with pathological conditions so frequently displayed by the chronically ill who become totally involved with their own infirmities." The Nation, he fears, has lost the "spirit of '61," when the moon goal was announced.

One suspects that if the social critics didn't have space spending to attack, they would be hard-pressed to find a substitute. It could be argued that it is precisely because of the moon-landing project that we have become so conscious of our neglected earthly needs and so confident that they can be met.

★ ★ ★

It seems more than a coincidence that the same decade that witnessed the massive, single-minded effort of landing a man on the moon also witnessed the first massive assault on the Nation's problems of poverty, ignorance and social inequity.

Yes, the Great Moon Race has been won — and with it perhaps much more than we presently realize.

David Lawrence Says:

Nixon Stressing Commitments

WASHINGTON — Most Americans are not very familiar with the problems of Southeast Asia, and when the President of the United States decided to visit the heads of governments in the region, it wasn't apparent on the surface just what is his basic purpose.

LAWRENCE

Mr. Nixon felt that there was a pressing need, or he would not have gone on such a trip so early in his administration when he is confronted with many other problems. The Nixon journey is the result of a carefully laid plan that can have long-range effects on American foreign policy.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Nixon wants to make it clear, of course, that withdrawal of American forces from Vietnam doesn't mean abandonment of protective measures for the smaller nations of the area.

He reiterates that the United States will live up to its commitments.

'MUTUALLY HELPFUL'

The president took occasion in Indonesia to speak of American aid as something that should be based on policies "mutually helpful to us both."

At present, $120 million of economic assistance is given annually to that country, which has 110 million people and certainly needs outside help.

Mr. Nixon predicted that Indonesia's natural resources and private enterprise are heading for significant development in the next five years.

The same concept was applied by the President when he arrived in Bangkok.

OBLIGATION

He said the United States would honor its obligation to defend Thailand against possible Communist aggression or subversion.

There are 77,000 American troops in Thailand manning six air bases which are useful in fighting the war in Vietnam as well as the "secret war" in Laos, which has been overrun in part by 70,000 North Vietnamese supporting the Communist action in that country.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Nixon, in one of his speeches, emphasized that the United States is bound by the Southeast Asia Treaty and that Americans and Thais have been willing to fight in Vietnam to protect the rights of free people.

He said he stands firmly with Thailand against those who would threaten it from inside or outside its borders.

On the whole, the value of the President's trip cannot be measured at this time, because North Vietnam is still obstinately refusing to make any concessions at the Paris peace negotiations. Unfortunately, there have been too many voices expressing dissent inside America against the Nixon policies.

★ ★ ★

Open diplomacy is worthwhile where treaties and new policies are being formed and no war is going on.

★ ★ ★

But there should never be a public disclosure of military operations or plans, because this sometimes has the effect of telling the enemy that the other side is cringing and so eager to withdraw that it will pay almost any price for peace.

(Copyright, 1969, Publishers-Hall Syndicate)

Bob Considine Says:

'Little Brown Brother' Not Acting Brotherly

WITH PRESIDENT NIXON — "The little brown brother," as our people patronizingly called the Filipinos in the early days of our domination of them, has not been feeling very fraternal of late. He's browned off at us for a variety of reasons, some of them completely bewildering, such as the fact that we never finished paying reparations for the buildings we had to knock down in order to liberate them from the Japanese.

CONSIDINE

★ ★ ★

At the airport, upon arrival, Nixon frankly spoke of the "differences," pledged that his administration is aware of the "winds of change."

The new animosity was not difficult to detect during the President's 23-hour stay. There were several anti-Nixon rallies.

UNUSUAL DIATRIBE

The most unusual press diatribe appeared on the comic page of the Manila Times, curiously enough. Surrounded by Mickey Mouse, Peanuts, Mutt and Jeff, Tarzan and other familiar strips was one signed "Tisoy."

It was current and cursory. It showed photographic reproductions of the two presidents conferring.

★ ★ ★

A line drawing of a disgruntled little boy, superimposed, provided most of the words. The words were directed at Nixon. Here they are:

"You don't come just to say 'Hi.' You'll be staying for only a few hours so let's skip the amenities, the reminiscences over your past visits.

VIETNAM WAR

"Businesslike presidents aren't that sentimental. You want to find out how we really feel about Vietnam . . . the possibility of keeping the war going there with Asian troops replacing your own — to keep your war-weary people happy and at the same time keep your defense-oriented industries humming . . . while you're going to Romania to find the possibility of cutting their military production inversely proportional to your production.

"Both of you are in the same business in Vietnam and in the Middle East. Thus your foreign policy is shaped by your war neurosis and your overseas investments — for wasn't it primarily your desire to salvage French colonial interests that plunged you into Vietnam? So let's talk business."

The last panel of the strip is a profile of Nixon. Over his head, in the bubble, he replies, "I can't. My time's up. I really came just to say 'hi.'"

Lots of laughs in those Manila comics.

Question and Answer

The County was talking some time ago about trying to raise money by putting a County millage issue up for a vote. Waterford is a charter township and can raise money on its own. Would Waterford still get money from the millage issue if it should pass?

RESIDENT

REPLY

We talked to Dan Murphy, Chairman of the Board of Auditors, who says if such an issue were put to a vote, all those townships that voted would share in the revenue.

Question and Answer

I picked up an order of film I had left for processing and was surprised when sales tax was added. I asked the proprietor if this was correct, because I thought this was a service, and I didn't think services were subject to sales tax. He said it's been the practice wherever he's been. Is this standard procedure?

L. I. M.

REPLY

The Michigan Department of Revenue (Sales Tax Division) tells us since 1965 film developing has been subject to sales tax, because a product is involved and it isn't defined as a service.

Kennedy's Political Future Is Dimmed

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — A man who has been dealt so many tragic blows as Sen. Edward M. Kennedy had taken before this summer deserves to hope there will be some softening compassion in the events that mark the remainder of his life.

BIOSSAT

But it is brutally plain now that there is to be almost no compassion in the consequences for him which flow from the events of July 18-19, when a young woman riding with him drowned after he accidentally drove his car off an awkward, unsafe bridge into a tiny tidal pond in Massachusetts.

★ ★ ★

At least for the immediate future, those consequences are sweeping.

In the view of the most thoughtful, most expert and most fair-minded political appraisers this reporter knows, not only his presidential prospects, but his role in the Senate and his general usefulness to the Democratic party have been deeply shadowed.

One Democratic figure believes that Kennedy's leadership role in the Senate, and hence the whole Democratic position there, have been seriously damaged.

PSYCHIC DAMAGE?

This man explains his view: "There has been new steel this year in (Senate majority leader) Mike Mansfield's backbone. Ted has been responsible for a large part of it.

"But now the Senate itself is going to change. It is not just a question of how others there will look at him but how he will see himself. There could be a considerable amount of psychic damage from this event."

★ ★ ★

One veteran Democrat who is most careful about weighing the future nevertheless fears that Kennedy's response to the accident will be a haunting thing, making him enduringly vulnerable to assault from his party adversaries and the rival Republicans. Says he:

"You'll never be able to put it to bed."

KEY FACTOR

All the experts questioned agreed that the factor of Kennedy's judgmental behavior under severe pressure was the key.

There were no harsh judges among those interviewed. They see Ted Kennedy as cruelly buffeted by tragedy, as doubting how he should respond to it even while often acting with great bravery.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps most pertinent of all, some of them believe that he is frequently gripped by inner feelings of inadequacy, and that these feelings unhappily have sometimes surfaced when events have compelled him to cope with critical pressures and his inescapable link to the largeness of the demanding, relentless Kennedy legend.

Business Tax Credit Ban Unwise

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — A close study of price gains in the past decade indicates President Nixon's major anti-inflation tax proposal to Congress will be inflationary over the long run, whatever its short-run benefits.

CROMLEY

That is, the government's own statistics, analyzed in detail, clearly suggest the President's move to end the investment tax credit for industrial modernization is likely to be self-defeating.

By and large, prices have risen only moderately in industries which have invested in modernization.

★ ★ ★

In manufacturing, where the liberal application of new equipment has increased output per man-hour almost 40 per cent, wholesale prices have risen but 10 per cent in the past decade.

In industries in which modernization has moved slowly, prices have risen more rapidly. This has produced the inflation that concerns Nixon and the nation.

Service costs generally are up 37 per cent, medical care 60 per cent, housing and home maintenance 31 per cent.

The investment credit Nixon would do away with was designed to produce the kind of modernization that seems to have kept prices down in those companies in which it has been applied. The evidence cited above suggests this credit was very successful indeed.

★ ★ ★

Presumably then, over the long run, the removal of the investment tax credit will result in somewhat less modernization than there would have been.

If the past 10 years serve as a measure, that will, in turn, mean costs and prices in the industries concerned will go up more rapidly than otherwise.

HEAVY COMPETITION

A number of industries utilizing investment tax credits are in heavy competition with foreign countries. Steel, for one.

If these companies are less able to compete, the U.S. trade balance will suffer. This would put additional pressure on the already-shaky U.S. balance of payments; it could weaken the dollar.

★ ★ ★

In many cases, as in utilities, the loss of investment tax credit will be passed on to the consumer in higher (inflationary) rates.

Why then the proposal to reduce the investment tax credit? Talks with economists and political strategists suggest this reasoning behind the Nixon strategy:

- Anything that reduces spending will have a short-term effect on inflation. The long-term problem can be handled later.
- Psychologically, a strong move like this one has a shock effect. It convinces industry the administration means business. It thus discourages unnecessary expenditures hopefully over a much wider range than affected by the investment tax credit.
- Politically, there's a strong feeling in Congress against the credit. Some legislators consider it a favor to big business at a time when the public is burdened by high taxes.

Lag in Military Communications Feared

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee wants an urgent presidential review of high-level military communications and decision making.

★ ★ ★

The reason: A U.S. president might be caught flatfooted at the outbreak of nuclear war because the Pentagon couldn't move the word fast enough.

The committee, in approving a unanimous subcommittee report, said a picture with "frightful implications" emerges from study of two recent U.S. embarrassments—the North Korean capture of the spy ship Pueblo and downing of the EC121 reconnaissance plane.

"The absent or sluggish response by military commanders to the emergencies evident in the Pueblo and EC121 incidents demonstrate the ned for a complete review of our military-civilian command structure and its capability to cope with emergency situations," the subcommittee concluded after a four-month investigation.

STUDY GROUP SOUGHT

The panel recommended the President appoint a study group of experienced and distinguished civilians and military personnel.

Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., chairman of the subcommittee, was asked whether the President now would have ample opportunity to get information and to respond in the event of nuclear war.

★ ★ ★

"My answer would have to be a flat no," he replied.

The report cited the lag of more than an hour between the Pueblo's distress call and its receipt by military commanders who could send help.

'LOST ALL CONTROL'

In the case of EC121, command headquarters in Japan "lost all effective operational control" over the plane after it took off and it took more than an hour to launch a search after the plane was shot down, the report said.

The Pueblo and its 83 crewmembers were captured Jan. 23, 1968. The EC121 and its 30 crewmen were lost April 14, 1969, also in the Sea of Japan.

The subcommittee had these additional conclusions:

● The current level of "hundreds of reconnaissance missions each month" may not be justified by results.

● "The Navy had no contingency plans whatsoever to provide for going to the rescue of the Pueblo in an emergency." And two warnings of dangers facing the Pueblo were ignored.

● ". . . at no time during its mission did the Pueblo ever penetrate North Korean territorial waters."

● The "nation's intelligence capability" was seriously compromised by the Pueblo capture.

At U.S.-Japanese Parley

Okinawa Return Urged

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Eisaku Sato told a conference of U.S. and Japanese cabinet ministers today he hopes that he and President Nixon will reach agreement in November on Okinawa's return to Japan.

Sato declared that reversion of Okinawa and the other Ryukyu islands to Japan is the most important political problem between the United States and Japan.

★ ★ ★

Seized by America in World War II, Okinawa has been built up into America's most important military base in the Far East and a major staging area for U.S. forces in Vietnam. Sato said last month that if the U.S. bases remained after Japan got the islands back, they would be subject to the same restrictions as American bases in Japan, including a ban on stationing of nuclear weapons and prior consultation with Japan if the bases are used for "military combat operations."

Sato spoke at a luncheon for the seventh U.S.-Japanese cabinet economic conference shortly after it began a three-day session in which Okinawa will be one of the main topics.

AT THE PARLEY

U.S. officials attending the parley include Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans, Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin, Paul McCracken, chairman of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, Carl Gilbert, presidential representative for international trade, and members of the Treasury, Interior, Transportation and Labor departments.

Rogers left Nixon's tour in Indonesia to open the conference with a promise to the Japanese —endorsed by the President— that they would be high on the list when other nations are invited to take part in future U.S. space programs.

★ ★ ★

"Certainly no nation could contribute more or be welcomed more by America than Japan," said Rogers in his first appearance in Japan as secretary of state.

Rogers skirted the edges of the economic issues between the two countries which are beginning to fray tempers in Washington.

OUTGROWTH OF SUCCESSES

"Our economic relationship will not be free of difficulties. We all recognize that," he said. "But these must be seen as the natural outgrowth of the immense successes of our two economies and our trading relationship. I am confident that we can adjust any imbalances and remove any frictions that exist between us in a spirit of goodwill and due regard for our common interests."

★ ★ ★

Trade between the United States and Japan reached a record high of $7.5 billion in 1968 and is still increasing. Japan's total exports came to $12.9 billion last year, and a total of $69.5 billion by 1980 is predicted. The rapidly expanding Japanese prosperity is fueling resentment in the United States and other countries over Tokyo's refusal to lower barriers to imports.

'Death by Accident' Ruled in Police Killing of GI

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — A medical examiner's jury last night returned a verdict of death by accident in the case of a Green Beret Vietnam hero who was shot and killed in a tragic mix-up at a police blockade.

The jury of five men and one woman deliberated but a few minutes in returning the verdict of accidental death in an inquest presided over by Dr. Ray Lang, medical examiner.

★ ★ ★

The victim of the shooting was Sgt. John R. Schimke, 32, a 14-year veteran of military duty, who ironically was home on leave after a tour of duty in Vietnam where he was wounded and awarded the Bronze Star and Purple Heart for bravery in combat.

★ ★ ★

Schimke was fatally wounded last Thursday by Patrolman Ronald Anderson, 27, after Schimke was cleared in a blockade set up on Four Mile Road, and Alpine Avenue, as part of a west Michigan police network instituted after a gasoline station holdup in Muskegon.

Camaro.

You'll appreciate how little it depreciates.

Happily, Camaro traditionally holds its value longer and shows it better than other sportsters in its price class.

Which, of course, is why other sportsters don't talk re-sale value.

Principally, there's a trio of dogged rust resisters helping to keep Camaro value up: flush-and-dry rocker panels; fenders within fenders at all wheel wells; and a liberal bath of zinc chromate primer for the exterior.

Then too, there's a defiant Magic-Mirror acrylic lacquer finish. And, significantly, the body is by Fisher.

While others can't talk re-sale value with us, we certainly can talk purchase price with them. Especially this time of year (you're now on Chevrolet Savings Time, you know).

Blind Street Singer: It's Not Much Fun

By JOE WING

NEW YORK (AP) — Against the dingy wall of one of those long underground passageways that knit New York together, Big Black Joe stands tall and broad as he coaxes soul music from his shiny accordion.

* * *

The strains have a compelling beat. Ordinarily, homeward-bound workers will do no more than glance at a beggar, or even at a man in some sort of seizure. Now they drop coin after coin into the tin basin atop Big Black Joe's instrument case. The insistent click of quarters echoes down the passage as far as you can hear the music.

* * *

You yourself have a few minutes time so you let fall your own quarter and remark, "You play awfully well."

"Thank you sir," says Big Black Joe, his golden earring bouncing. "Thank you, that's very encouraging."

LITTLE PROBING

You probe a little—Has he always been blind? How does he get around? Does he have much fun?

"No sir, it's not much fun. People think you get used to being blind, but you never do. I got caught in a steam blast at the Pentagon where I was a maintenance man after serving in the war. Bad engineering. The fellow who was with me was killed.

* * *

"I went from veterans' hospital to veterans' hospital and had 14 operations, but I don't even have light perception."

He pulled off dark glasses to show his half-empty eye sockets, then continued.

* * *

"A blind fellow at the hospital taught me to type and I tried writing stories and poems. That's a tough racket. My typewriter's gathering dust now.

BAD MARRIAGE

"After getting out of the hospital I married a woman who just wanted my little house on Long Island. She tried to put me away in the asylum, but the judge wouldn't buy her story, and I had the marriage annulled.

"Now I live alone. I get along pretty good. In the Army they taught me how to strip down a machine gun in the dark and put it together again. I can fix a dripping faucet or most anything. But I have a guide to lead me around down here."

* * *

Is this underground passage his best stand?

"Oh no. In good weather I go all over town—Greenwich Village, Fifth Avenue, Wall Street. Wall Street's the best. I have regular customers there. Of course some cops chase me—it depends on the cop—but they never run me in. Also I have a pension and some money from the accident, so I do all right. That's good because playing is hard work. I practice a lot to try to improve."

AN INTERRUPTION

You eye the half-filled tin basin and are about to ask how much he ever takes in when a dog-faced man who has cadged something from a youth down the line barges up.

* * *

"Bet you don't know me."

"I know you I never forget a voice."

"Well, tell me, would you rather have five bad women or one good?"

"There aren't any good women."

"Anyhow, would you rather . . ."

Your time's up, and you hurry away from the philosophers, wondering what may happen to the change in the basin. But then, didn't Big Black Joe say he'd been a boxer in the Army? Seems likely he can take care of himself, even when blind.

Signals Similar to Earth Landslides

Gear Left on Moon Records 14 Tremors

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—An experimental seismometer package placed on the lunar surface by the Apollo 11 astronauts has recorded 14 moon tremors.

NASA said the experimental package, planted on the moon July 20 by astronaut Edwin A. Aldrin, "continues to function well in all respects."

* * *

The seismic events were recorded beginning July 25, and scientists and geologists said the tremors are of the nature of landslides in craters near the Apollo 11 landing site.

"The character of the seismic signals received from the moon is similar to that observed when landslides occur on earth," it was reported.

HIGH TEMPERATURES

The tremors coincided with the period of highest lunar surface temperatures as the sun approaches lunar noon.

If the landslide hypothesis is correct, the seismologists feel that they may be observing the initial stages of the process by which fresh new craters are transformed to old.

* * *

The lunar investigators reported that maximum average temperatures on the seismic package thermal plate were running from 45 to 60 degrees higher than anticipated six hours before and after lunar noon, which occurred at about 4 a.m. (Pontiac time) last Sunday.

They said the most probable cause was that "excessive heating of the seismic package by the LM (lunar module) ascent engine plume degraded the thermal surfaces of the package."

* * *

Temperatures will diminish during the next few days to lunar sunset at the landing site, and investigators expect the seismometer package to continue to function as intended during this period.

It doesn't complicate your life.

Some cars ask too much of their owners. But not Maverick. Maverick is different. It's the simple machine—simple to service, simple to repair, simple to drive. We think you'll find out very quickly why we call it the simple machine.

It doesn't cost a lot of money.

With prices everywhere going skyhigh, Maverick comes along with a price that's right down to earth, $1995.* Add $32.00 if you want whitewalls. As with any car, charges for dealer preparation, transportation, and state or local taxes are extra.

It doesn't have a tiny trunk.

No more cramming luggage just because you have a small car. No more leaving the rest of the suitcases home. Maverick gives you 10.4 cubic feet of trunk space—nearly twice as much as the leading import. Maverick's trunk lets the whole family's luggage go along for the ride.

It doesn't squeeze you in.

We haven't forgotten that some mighty big people live in this country. And we haven't forgotten to make Maverick big enough for the average American family. That's why it's bigger than the economy imports. The simple machine gives you lots of legroom and lots of shoulder room. The front seat offers you nine more inches of shoulder room than the leading import. Maverick is for real-life, life-size people.

It doesn't squeeze you out.

Maverick is smaller than the compacts. So, parking spaces suddenly seem larger—even the little ones most cars have to pass up. Maverick moves in. Not only because it's small, but because it turns in a tighter circle than the leading import. Great for parking, great for handling, great for zipping through traffic.

Cheaper by the doesn'ts.

It doesn't cost a lot for maintenance.

With savings in mind and the owner's manual in hand, you can do most of the routine maintenance yourself, if you want to. Change spark plugs, replace fuel filters, adjust ignition timing. Even a dented grille can be replaced in 13 minutes. Maverick's simple design means a lot of savings in maintenance, because your mechanic can do the jobs in a lot less time. (Great when time means money and the money is yours.)

It doesn't need a lot of service.

Some people are surprised at how often little foreign cars need service. Things are different with the simple machine. An oil change comes every 6,000 miles, with a chassis lubrication once in 36,000 miles. The leading import recommends an oil change twice as often, and a chassis lubrication six times as often! (Isn't it time you started seeing more of your car and less of your mechanic?)

It doesn't skimp on essentials.

After all, this is the last place a car should skimp. Maverick incorporates the latest advances in engineering. Its brakes are designed to stop cars weighing hundreds of pounds more. And Maverick has a 3-speed transmission able to handle twice as much horsepower as the engine turns out. You can depend on the simple machine. And you can depend on its durability. Unitized body construction, rust-proofing, and four coats of paint. The result—one tough little car.

It doesn't burn a lot of gasoline.

Even with a powerful 6-cylinder engine, Maverick knows how to save on gas. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 22.5 mpg. It was stop and go, uphill and down, over dirt and gravel roads. And it was 22.5 mpg. (But some Maverick owners have told us they've done 25 and better.)

It doesn't hold back on power.

Turn on the engine and you turn loose 105 big horses—nearly twice as much as the leading import. This means power for passing trucks. Power for moving good and strong on America's superhighways. Power to move you quickly out of tricky driving situations.

It doesn't handle like a kite.

The road might be wet. The wind might be strong. But the simple machine gives you peace of mind in all kinds of weather and situations. You see, Maverick's tread is wider than the car is high. (Most economy imports are higher than their tread is wide.) So with Maverick you go with great stability.

It doesn't follow the herd.

The simple machine is a different machine. Bold, new colors and bright ideas. It's a brand-new way to drive. See your Ford Dealer for the rest of the story. Find out why Maverick is the hottest selling new car to come along since Mustang.

No More Laugh-Ins

Mets' Expansion Babes Grown Up

NEW YORK (AP) — If Gil Hodges can help it, there'll never be another Shea Stadium Laugh-In ... at the New York Mets' expense.

After seven tragi-comic years in never-never land, the Mets finally have begun taking themselves seriously. And the rest of the National League is in no position to put down Hodges' grown-up expansion babes either.

★ ★ ★

The Mets, who lost 120 games and finished 60½ lengths up the track in their first NL go-round, trailed Chicago's East Division leaders by five games today as the current race turned toward the dog days of August and September.

"I think we can go all the way," said Jerry Koosman, the 25-year-old southpaw who teams with 15-game winner Tom Seaver to give the Mets one of baseball's finest lefty-righty pitching tandems. "We have the morale and the momentum."

UNHEARD WORDS

In past seasons, the words morale and momentum were unheard of in the Met clubhouse. The magnificent misfits of Casey Stengel's 1962-65 regime were too busy laughing at each other and feeling sorry for themselves. And the charisma of futility carried over to later, and younger, Met teams.

"We used to sit around and mumble, wondering 'how are we gonna lose today.'" recalled left fielder Cleon Jones, who has blossomed into one of the league's premier hitters three years after his arrival in New York. "Now everybody's saying 'I'm gonna get the winning base hit today.'

★ ★ ★

"We never feel overmatched against anyone anymore."

"In the past we'd feel if we won a game it was like winning the World Series," said shortstop Bud Harrelson, who joined the Mets, along with Jones and catcher Jerry Grote in 1966.

"Now if we win we're happy, but not surprised. We expect to win. We feel the only way we can lose is if we beat ourselves ... and we don't do that anymore."

CELLAR DWELLERS

Beating themselves, consistently, kept the Mets mired in the NL cellar until 1966, when Manager Wes Westrum brought them in ninth. But they slipped back to the last spot the following year, prompting Westrum's exit and the hiring of Hodges, an original Met who had piloted Washington to a surprising (tie for sixth) finish in the American League.

Hodges rejoined the Mets a year after Johnny Murphy was named general manager of the struggling tailenders. The pair immediately committed themsleves to fielding a young, aggressive club.

"In the last couple of years we have reversed our thinking," said Murphy, who has been responsible for the signing of many youngsters in his earlier capacity of chief scout.

"We realized the fans didn't want to go on watching old hasbeens, so we decided to go for youth. Right from the beginning, Gil wanted a young team, not an old one.

"When you give young guys an opportunity to play in the big leagues, there's a good chance they'll do well.

"We had been doing the best with the available players. But we were always trying to put a respectable club on the field. I never could understand why we couldn't win more before. I always thought we were a better ball club than we showed on the field."

NEW TASTE

The Met players, however, didn't start thinking like winners until the second

Doubles Final Set in County Tennis Event

An ex-Navy pilot and his partner have moved into the finals of the mixed doubles in the 10th annual Oakland County Tennis Tournament.

Reaching the final round were C. Reid Rundell, 3, and Betty Trost of Birmingham after polishing off the husband-wife team of David and Lucy Scruggs, also of Birmingham, last night, 6-8, 6-4, 6-3.

That match, originally slated for Sunday, was one of many washed out by heavy rain which has prevented crowning of champions in any of the six events.

NEAR STANDSTILL

The weather has left the tournament almost at a standstill, with players trying to get in their semifinal and final matches before the weekend.

★ ★ ★

In all but one event, competition has reached at least the semifinals and in several brackets the action is at the final stage.

PLAYING TODAY

On today's schedule the last remaining quarter-final match is on tap. That pits 17-year-old Mark Schneider of Oak Park against another 17-year-old Oak Parker, Lynn Katz, in a junior singles match. The winner then will meet Rob Cowin, 17, of Birmingham in the semifinals with that survivor then moving on to meet Todd Beel, 18, of Birmingham, last year's runner-up.

★ ★ ★

Rundell, who is also in the running for honors in the men's double and senior men's singles, is an ex-University of Colorado player who picked up several service titles while on tour with the Navy in Spain back in 1958-60. He's presently the state singles champin and owns the double title along with Keith Kimble of Birmingham

UP IN AIR

Rundell and Jim Tobin, also of Birmingham, are in the men's doubles finals. They are awaiting the winner of the Ian Wilson-Bob Neff vs. Paul Young-Doug Dahn match. That match is tentatively slated for Wednesday with the finals, tenatatively, slated for Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Rundell and Neff have a senior singles semifinal match this week — still unscheduled—the winner will play 55-year-old Wilson next Monday morning for the title.

All is well in men's singles and junior doubles. Lynn Katz and Mike Kaufman are slated to meet Kirk Beattie and John Gordon tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. at Oakland University for the junior doubles title.

Grand Rapids Here Saturday

Firebirds Meet Chiefs in Opener

What promises to be the most exciting race in the Midwest Football League since Pontiac entered a team five years ago, will get under way Saturday night as the regular season opens and continues for 15 weekends.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac Firebirds will have a tough assignment in the home opener at Wisner Stadium when they face the Grand Rapids Chiefs, a team which still carries the nucleous of its Continental League roster.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs, coached by former pro tackle Will Kellogg, are solid at many positions, but have their biggest problem at quarterback where former Western Michigan star Ed Chlebek was expected to start, but he has not reported to the Chiefs this year.

The big name on the Grand Rapids roster of course is that of former Olympic heavyweight champion Buster Mathis, who at 6-3 and 240 will be starting at fullback.

TOP RUNNING BACK

Jerry O'Neil, one of the top running backs at Central Michigan, is also in the starting lineup.

Presently, the Chiefs have Randy Johnson of the University of Colorado and Pete Jacobus of Grand Rapids JC at quarterback.

The Firbirds received a glimpse of what to expect in their Central Division this year when they witnessed the Lansing Stars' 17-13 triumph over the rugged Flint Wildcats last Saturday night in an exhibition game.

Lansing is loaded with former Michigan State players and has former barefooted kicking star Dick Kenney doing its placements.

Flint and Lansing are expected to challenge Pontiac for the Central Division crown, while Grand Rapids is expected to battle Dayton and Lackawanna for the title in the Lakes Division this year.

FORMER BOILERMAKER

Doug Holcomb, former Purdue QB, will start or Pontiac against Grand Rapids with speedy Bobby Brown and Marty Malatin in the backfield.

The Firebirds will take the road Saturday, Aug. 9, for a game in Lackawanna, which will be televised in the Buffalo area at 2 p.m. that day.

Advance tickets for the Grand Rapids game and for the season are now available and the Firebirds' office has reported hitting the 500 mark in season sales, but hopeful of a goal of 1,000.

Season books for seven home games are selling for $10 for adults and $6 for students and they can be obtained by calling Osmun's, Bob-Ken's, Griff's Grill or VFW Post 1370 downtown.

Victory Drought Ends for Aaron

MONTREAL (AP) — Tommy Aaron has joined golf's establishment.

He's finally shed the stigma of the perennial also-ran by winning a tournament.

The tall, 32-year-old from Callaway Gardens, Ga., made it to the winner's circle Monday after a nine-year wait, capturing the Canadian Open Championship by two strokes in an 18 hole playoff round with veteran Sam Snead—25 years his senior.

"I guess you won't talk about the fact I've never won one now," Aaron gently chided newsmen. "You'll probably quit writing about me because there's nothing unique about me now. I've become one of the guys. I've won one."

Aaron shot a two-under-par 70 over the Pinegrove Golf Club layout while Snead had to settle for a par 72.

SHARE OF GATE

His victory was a big one financially as well as psychologically. He won $25,000 to Snead's $14,300 and added $4,500 as his share of the gate.

★ ★ ★

Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., also picked up $4,500 additional money from gate receipts of $18,000 from the estimated 3,000-strong gallery. Fifty per cent of playoff gates are assigned to the golfers involved, with the Royal Canadian Golf Association and the host club equally splitting the other 50 per cent.

Walled Lake Win Advances Team to State Finals

Doug Radford and Marty Pietras combined to lead Walled Lake to a 5-1 decision over North Detroit last night and the win boosted the Walled Lakers into the finals of the state Little League tournament.

★ ★ ★

Pietas set North Detroit down on only three hits while fanning nine, and Radford clouted a home run and a single and drove in three runs.

★ ★ ★

Walled Lake now moves to Jackson Friday along with Grosse Pointe National, Ypsilanti and a fourth from, undecided as of today, to decide the state title. Walled Lake takes on Ypsilanti in the first round Friday at 4 p.m.

Rochester Craft Second in Race Across Superior

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — A Rochester craft is holding second place in the first Trans-Superior yacht race.

The Tigress, owned by George Lyon of Rochester, is sitting 15 miles behind the pacesetter, The Gentian, which is being skippered by Hargrave Garrison of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Third place belongs to the Alexa, which fell back from its earlier position of second. The Alexa's skipper is Claude Lawrence, Port Huron.

The Snark, front-runner earlier in the day, dropped to a fourth-place tie with The Tamara and The Flying Jenny III.

BEFORE NOON

Officials said the leader could arrive in Duluth before noon today, depending on wind velocities.

★ ★ ★

The Trans-Superior, longest freshwater sailboat race in the world, is sanctioned by the American Yacht Racing Association.

The 24 contestants, escorted by the Coast Guard cutter Naugatuck, left the Soo Locks near Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., at 1 p.m. Saturday.

NORTH AMERICAN CHAMPION — Scott Harrity of University Club skated two flawless programs — a rarity for his division — to win the North American Roller Skating intermediate singles championship at Little Rock, Ark. The meet opened Sunday and runs through Saturday. Harrity, who moved into the more difficult class after winning the novice title in 1968, successfully completed four rotation triple jumps to top all intermediates. Gayla Grammer of University Club was second runner-up in the North American Roller Skating Queen contest. Miss California was named queen and Miss Virginia was first runner-up.

Honor Quartet of Ex-Stars at Hall of Fame Ceremony

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Four new plaques hang on the walls of the Baseball Hall of Fame today. Two honor pitchers from the dim past, while the other two are for a couple of sluggers known even to the younger generation of fans.

Officially enshrined Monday in this village where baseball was born were pitchers Stan Coveleski and Waite Hoyt and slugging stars Roy Campanella and Stan "The Man" Musial.

Hundreds of fans jammed into Cooper Park to see the ceremony, then walked a couple of blocks to Doubleday Field for the annual Hall of Fame game. The Minnesota Twins thrashed the Houston Astros 7-2 on homers by Frank Quilici, Tony Oliva and Graig Nettles before the game was called after five innings because of rain.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn introduced the new Hall of Fame members at the ceremony and read the inscriptions on their plaques.

AUTO MISHAP

Campanella, in a wheelchair since an auto crash in 1958 ended his catching career with the Brooklyn Dodgers, said, "Regardless of my being here today in a wheelchair this is one of the greatest days in my life. Today means so much to me."

Musial, who played 22 years for the St. Louis Cardinals and still holds a host of batting records, almost broke up when he recalled his boyhood in the steel town of Donora, Pa.

★ ★ ★

"My father," he said, "was a Polish immigrant and a great baseball fan. I always remember him talking about Babe Ruth. The Musials were poor then, and my first toy was a baseball."

His favorite ball players in those days, he said, were pitchers Carl Hubbell and Lefty Grove and hitting stars Mel Ott and Lloyd Waner.

★ ★ ★

He also reminisced about playing against Campanella and the Dodgers. "Campy was always trying to distract me," he said. "It wasn't the Brooklyn pitchers who got me. It was Campy."

LONG CAREER

Coveleski, now white haired and bent with age, won 216 games in a 14-season career in the majors in the early 1900s. He choked up, too, when it was his turn to be officially inducted, but he managed to go on.

★ ★ ★

He told of working for $3.75 a week in the coal mines around his native Shamokin, Pa., and of chunking stones at a tin can dangling from a tree—a pasttime that sharpened his pitching skills.

★ ★ ★

Hoyt spent 21 years in the majors and won a total of 237 games, many of them for the New York Yankees.

"This arrival at the Hall of Fame," he said, "is not arrival through one man's talents and abilities. Everybody I ever came in contact with helped me."

"This," he said, "is the achievement of all that I have ever dreamed of."

Tokyo Team Optimistic

CARACAS (UPI) — Hotel owners who obtained court orders to keep members of the Tokyo Dragons here until the Global League paid its hotel bills, Monday proposed that half the $100,000 bills be paid now and the remainder later. League officials promised "the money is on the way," but the Tokyo players weren't so optimistic.

Pirates' Catcher Injured

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates Monday put catcher Jerry May on the disabled list as a result of an arm injury suffered when an ambulance, rushing May to the hospital for a hip injury, was involved in a traffic accident in Montreal July 14.

Two NL Swatters Keep Streaks Alive

By the Associated Press

Vada Pinson and Billy Williams attended to their private business in plenty of time to become good company men when the chips were down.

Pinson ran his hitting streak to 19 games with a fourth inning single Monday night, then came up with the deciding hit and saving defensive play in the St. Louis Cardinals' 2-1 victory over San Diego.

★ ★ ★

Williams also singled in the fourth, for a 17-game hitting skein, before stroking the winning single in a two-run 10th inning rally that sent the Chicago Cubs past San Francisco 4-3 in the day's only other game.

The action picks up in both the National and American Leagues today, with 17 games listed on the schedule.

In the NL, Houston is at New York, Atlanta at Philadelphia and Los Angeles at Pittsburgh for twi-night doubleheaders, San Diego at St. Louis and Montreal at Cincinnati for single night games and San Francisco at Chicago in the afternoon.

AL SCHEDULE

New York visits Oakland, Boston is at California, Washington at Seattle and Baltimore at Kansas City in AL night games while Detroit plays a twi-night twin bill at Minnesota and Chicago visits Cleveland for another pair under lights.

★ ★ ★

Pinson matched the NL's season-high hitting streaks, shared by Pittsburgh's Matty Alou and Willie Stargell, with his fourth inning single, then doubled to score Julian Javier in the sixth and give St. Louis a 2-0 lead.

Cardinals' rookie Chuck Taylor blanked the Padres until the eighth, when they scored on an error by Javier, an infield hit by Ed Spiezio and a double by Roberto Pena.

★ ★ ★

An intentional walk filled the bases with one out, but Pinson gloved Nate Colbert's foul fly down the right field line and fired to the plate to nail pinch runner John Sipin, completing a rally-killing double play.

Javier cracked a leadoff homer off loser Dick Kelley in the first inning and singled ahead of Pinson's RBI double in the sixth, helping Taylor gain his third victory without a loss.

THREE SINGLES

Juan Marichal walked pinch hitter Willie Smith with two out in the 10th, and Don Kessinger, Glenn Beckert and Williams followed with singles, giving the Cubs their first Wrigley Field victory over the Giants' ace in five years.

The Giants overcame a 2-0 deficit on Willie McCovey's two-run homer off Bill Hands in the eighth and took a 3-2 lead in the top of the 10th on Willie Mays' run-scoring single.

★ ★ ★

Ron Santo drilled a two-run homer for the Cubs before McCovey's 31st circuit sent the game into overtime.

The victory increased the Cubs' East Division lead over second place New York to five games.

DOWN, BUT OUT — St. Louis Cardinals' catcher Tim McCarver wound up on his backside on this collision at the plate but he made the tag for an out on San Diego's Ollie Brown who was trying to score on a double by Nate Colbert. The out ended the top half of the first inning and the Cardinals went on to a 2-1 decision.

Tiger's Need Back-Up Hits

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Having proved that it does no good to win just three out of four in the American League East, the frustrated Detroit Tigers tonight send a pair of aces after two out of two.

The Bengals, who beat Kansas City three out of four over the weekend only to see the Baltimore Orioles' margin over them widen by a full game to 12½, send Mickey Lolich (14-2) and Denny McLain (15-5) to the hill tonight against the Minnesota Twins.

But even if the majors' best one-two pitching punch succeeds in obtaining a sweep against the West division leaders, the defending champs still cannot be as well off as they were before Monday.

Monday was the day Dick McAuliffe's successful knee operation took place, assuring that the scrappy second-baseman won't be seen on a baseball field until 1970.

LOW AVERAGE

Without McAuliffe, the Detroit infield features such luminaries as Ike Brown, batting .218; Tom Matchick, .241, and Don Wert, .205.

These three will man second, third and short in the temporary absence of Tom Tresh, .222, out with a pulled hamstring muscle.

Meanwhile, Tiger Manager Mayo Smith has indicated he'll platoon Brown and Matchick at second when Tresh returns to assume the shortstop post.

All this leaves but one solid hitter in the Detroit infield — first-baseman Norm Cash, batting .277 with 13 homers and 47 runs batted in:

The only way Smith can get more hits out of his infield would be to repeat his early season move of putting Mickey Stanley, considered the best fielder in baseball, at shortstop.

UNCOMFORTABLE

This may be done, at least until Tresh gets back, despite Stanley's having been quite uncomfortable in the infield earlier.

Matchick may turn into the greatest beneficiary of McAuliffe's injury in the long run.

★ ★ ★

Most observers of the Detroit minor league organization report second base has always been the youngster's best position, but he's never been able to play it in the big league's because of McAuliffe's presence.

Now he'll probably get his chance, after interim assignments earlier this year at third and short.

City Junior Hurler Flips 13-0 No-Hitter

Behind the no-hit pitching of Bill Mansfield, Talbott Construction strengthened its hold on first place in the Pontiac Junior Baseball Class F American League by topping Columbia R.A., 13-0.

Mansfield struck out 14 in hurling Talbott to its 11th win of the season.

★ ★ ★

In another American League game, Auburn Heights Boys' Club downed Rochester Merchants, 10-7. Bob Russ was the winning pitcher, while Mike Evans suffered the loss.

In National League play, league-leading Eaton Septic won on forfeit over Roy Trador's Raiders, 7-0. It was Eaton's ninth victory of the season.

Pontiac Optimist No. 4 held onto second place in the National division by overwhelming New Hope Baptist Church, 21-0. Briscoe Rowland held New Hope to three hits.

The AAMCO Firebirds walloped the San Diego Padres, 17-7, to move out of a tie with Sam Allen Inc. for first place in the International League. Sam Allen dropped an extra inning game to Met Club, 13-10.

In another International League contest, the Yankees posted a 4-1 victory over Aladdin V.M. in a game called in the fifth inning.

★ ★ ★

A first place deadlock between Aladdin Vending and Optimist No. 1 in the Widget American League was shattered yesterday, when Aladdin edged Optimist, 2-1.

Auburn Heights Boys Club moved into a tie for third place with Pontiac Police, as it bested the law enforcers 5-2.

RAINED OUT

A game between McCray's Catering and Columbia Avenue R.A. was rained out.

Rain Causes Big Backlog in Net Play

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Officials in the National Junior and Boys 16 tennis champion ships wrestled with a staggering backlog of matches today after rain curtailed Monday's play.

Thirty - eight first - round matches remain in junior singles. The boys 16 division completed its first round, which started Sunday and finished indoors Monday.

★ ★ ★

Although the tournament schedule was upset by the weather, favorites in both age divisions advanced without incident.

Top - seeded junior Erik van Dillen, San Mateo, Calif., defeated Joe Gettys of Melbourne Fla., 6-1, 6-1.

★ ★ ★

Second ranked Dick Stockton of Garden City, N.Y., eliminated Robert Reissen of Evanston Ill., 6-3, 7-5.

Third - seeded Roscoe Tanner of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., the Western junior champion, beat William Correl of Richmond, Cal., 6-3 6-3.

In boys' singles, favorite Robert Kreiss of Bel Aire, California defeated Mike Czarnecki of Flint, Mich., 6-1, 6-1 and fifth seeded James Delaney, son of a U.S. consulate official in Kobi, Japan, won over Jeff Kefalos of Parkersburg, W. Va., 6-3 6-0.

New Jersey Ace in Hydro Victory

RED BANK, N.J. (AP) — Bob Perri of Oceanport, N.J., captured the 30th annual renewal of the National Sweepstakes Regatta for hydroplanes on the Navesink River.

Perri successfully defended his championship Sunday in the Jersey Speed Skiff Class, bring ing his Jo Carol Two in ahead of hydroplanes piloted by Chris Ziegler of Long Branch N.J., and Tom Donley, Annapolis Md.

Late Uprising Spurs Toledo

By the Associated Press

After three innings of the series opener between the Toledo Mud Hens and the second-place Louisville Colonels Monday night, Louisville led 4-0, but when it had ended Toledo had proved it's not how you start but how you finish that counts by winning 7-4.

★ ★ ★

The victory pulled the defending International League champion Hens into a two-game lead over Louisville and 2½ over third-place Tidewater.

★ ★ ★

Stellar relief pitching by Ron Reed, who came on in the second and blanked the Colonels the rest of the way was the crucial factor as Toledo tied the score with three runs in the fourth and another in the sixth, breaking the night's only game open with three runs in the seventh.

Local Ace Sets Hot Rod Record

Carl Heichel, 218 Vernon Drive, set a new national speed record for AA altered cars Sunday when he was clocked at 170.13 m.p.h.

Heichel was competing in the National Hot Rod Association World Championship series at the Blue Grass Raceway in Lexington, Ky.

Lions Acquire Veteran Tackle

The Detroit Lions added one player and cut four yesterday as the National Football League team continued workouts at Cranbrook school.

Jim Boeke was acquired from New Orleans in exchange for a draft choice.

★ ★ ★

Dropped from the squad were rookies Bob Hadlock, George Fox College; Joe Collins, South Dakota; Ron Walker, Morris Brown; and Charley Henry, Albany State.

Boeke (pronounced Bo-key) is an offensive tackle.

Russ Thomas, Detroit general manager, didn't come right out and say it but it's probable the draft choice was the same one the Lions used to get offensive tackle Leon Donohue from the Dallas Cowboys.

KNEE TROUBLE

Donohue has been returned to the Cowboys because his knees are still bad. He played an entire season on them and then underwent surgery just before the 1968 campaign, which he spent on the Dallas taxi squad.

The 6-foot-5, 260-pound Boeke, 30, is in his ninth National Football League season. He played with the Los Angeles Rams and the Cowboys before going to the Saints two seasons ago, where he served as a swing man last year.

"He'll give us a little depth there," Thomas said. Rockne Freitas is slated for one spot and Roger Shoals, coming off a poor 1968 season, will probably get the other.

Detroit would like to get through this season while developing tackles Jim Yarbrough and Jim Carr, both of whom the Lions' staff feel have fine potential. They are rookies.

Laugh-Ins Over for Young Mets

month of the 1969 season, when, in Hodges' words: "They got a taste of winning." Beginning on May 28, the club reeled off 11 consecutive victories, vaulting from fourth place in the East to second.

"That was the turning point," said Murphy. "We'd lost three in a row at Houston and another one at home to San Diego. Then we turned around and showed everybody we could win. It created an esprit de corps. The players started believing maybe they weren't as bad as they'd always been pictured."

★ ★ ★

"It was an image we had to change," Hodges said. "Some people might be hurt that we're not lovable losers anymore. There's always some who'd rather laugh at you than see you win. But I'm certain they're a small minority now."

"Our players finally got in the right frame of mind," Murphy added. "The more they read and heard about the stumbling Mets, the more they resented it. They finally hated the reference enough to do something about it."

"This might be my last season, but I'm really enjoying it," said infielder Ed Charles, at 36 the Mets' senior citizen. "It's been beautiful.

COMIC ROUTINES

"The first year I was here I went with a couple of other players to a local club and a comedian was making those remarks about the Mets ... 'The Mets are so bad that blah, blah, blah,' that kind of stuff. I wanted to walk out. I couldn't take it. But the other guys told me I'd have to get used to it.

"Well, I never did. I hated the image—period.

★ ★ ★

"The fans suffered a lot too. The success of the team has been a big thrill for them. They're elated to see the Mets trouncing everybody. Now they can say, 'I told you so.'"

"The fans have grown with us," Harrelson said. "They're behind us 800 per cent. Before it was only about 700 per cent."

★ ★ ★

Perhaps Tommie Agee, the 26-year-old center fielder who has slammed 16 home runs as the Mets' leadoff hitter, best typifies the turnabout. Acquired in a trade with the Chicago White Sox a year ago, Agee never got started after being beaned by Bob Gibson on the first pitch of the exhibition schedule.

He batted .217 and drove in just 17 runs in 132 games. "I didn't know which way to turn," he recalled. "I didn't want to go out to the ball park."

After another slow start this season, Agee was benched for two weeks, then returned to the lineup to become a permanent fixture ... and spark the Mets' drive into pennant contention.

"It's been as good a team effort as anybody ever showed me," Hodges said, "but the turning point possibly was when Agee came back to the lineup. We were fortunate to have a leadoff man like Tommie, who can hit home runs. There's a spark right there, and it creates momentum."

★ ★ ★

Are the Mets really thinking pennant?

"We can't go on without thinking about it," said Seaver, 24-year-old ace of one of the majors' youngest pitching staffs. "It's the only way. I've played in three All-Star games and I can tell you none of them would compare with playing in a world series.

"And if we can win this year, the age of our ball club is going to make us a contender for the next 10 years."

Angry Aussies Blast Referee Pep

Featherweight Title Bout Draw Changed

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The biggest furore in Australian boxing in 20 years has fallen on Willie Pep, former world featherweight champion.

★ ★ ★

Pep refereed Monday night's Fighting Harada-Johnny Famechon world featherweight title fight which ended in a shambles when he awarded a draw, but a check on his scoreboard showed Famechon, the champion, had won by one point.

★ ★ ★

Pep said, "I am not inallible. I made a mistake."

Early this morning, he gave an interview before going to bed.

He said he would not explain his wrong addition.

Newspapers and observers ripped into Pep.

"Fighting Harada should be basking in the glory of his thing world title but in my opinion there was a miscarriage of justice at Sydney Stadium last night."

Rod Humphries, boxing writer for The Sydney Morning Herald, said this in his comment on the world featherweight titl fight between Harada and the Australian champion.

"I wonder whether referee Willie Pep, had he known that his points at the start of the 15th round were incorrect, would have scored the last round differently to make it a draw?

"Harada made all the fight, and I mean all the fight.

"I wanted Famechon to win but I cannot help feeling sorry for the likeable Harada, who came close to etching his name in history."

Phil Tresider, writing in The Daily Telegraph, Sydney, said Pep had angered fans long before his calamitous final round error.

"He allowed persistent kidney punching by the little Japanese and much illegal punching in the clinches by both boxers. The score card shambles dampened an otherwise eventful and tense world title fight," he wrote.

Keith Robbins also writing in The Telegraph, said, "I thought Harada won clearly. His nonstop aggression won a lot of points."

Mike Gibson in his column, "Calling the Shots," in The Telegraph, said:

★ ★ ★

"I have never been to Hartford, Connecticut, Willie Pep's home town. But I did a bit of checking up on the place last night.

"It is the home of the American School for the Deaf, The Connecticut Institute for the Blind and the Institute of Living (For the mentally unwell).

"I will make no further comment, other than to say Willie is extremely well placed. He ought to run for mayor."

Pep said in an early morning interview:

"I made an honest mistake. I just added it up wrong, that's all. I don't know how it happened, but someone pointed out that in one round I gave Famechon five points but only added four to his total."

Pro Grid Cuts Made

Knock on Door Is Bad News

By the Associated Press

It has been a long, hot day on the practice field and now the pro football player is relaxing in the solitude of his room. Suddenly, there is an ominous knock on the door. The voice that follows the knock has a simple message but it's even more ominous.

"The coach wants to see you," it says and you the athlete knows right away that he can start packing his bags. He's finished in this camp.

★ ★ ★

Plenty of pro players heard that unwanted knock Monday as pro football camps began the countdown for this weekend's first round of exhibition games. Most of the players trimmed were free agents but there were some veterans and other familiar names chopped too.

The world champion New York Jets shipped offensive lineman Jeff Richardson to Cincinnati in exchange for a 1970 draft choice. Ironically, Richardson was squeezed out of the New York picture by Pete Perreault, who had been cut by the Bengals earlier and impressed in a tryout with the Jets.

The Jets also dropped Roger Finney, a tight end from Florida A&M who was their 14th draft choice, tight end Jerry Zawadzkas, a taxi squader last year, and running back George Martin of San Francisco State.

FIVE LEAVE

Boston dropped five players including veteran linemen Ray Ilg, Jim Boudreau and Ed Coontz.

The Baltimore Colts dropped three, including lineman Bill Fortier, a sixth-round draft choice from Louisiana State and quarterback Larry Good, picked in the ninth round from Georgia Tech.

★ ★ ★

The Pittsburgh Steelers asked waivers on four players, running back Rob Young from Idaho, center Jim Nock from Miami, linebacker Ernie Clark from Michigan State and end Tom Whittier from Texas Southern.

Bill Briggs, a three-year veteran defensive end was one of four players dropped by Washington and Green Bay cut three including tackle Doug Gosnell, an eighth-round draft choice from Utah State.

★ ★ ★

Denver did the most slicing, dropped 12 players including running back Jay Calabrese of Duke.

COMEBACK ENDS

Jerry Richardson, an original Falcon, was one of three players cut by Atlanta. The veteran defensive back was trying to make a comeback after sitting out last season.

Light scrimmages occupied most clubs Monday with work expected to pick up today in preparation for the opening exhibitions.

★ ★ ★

The preseason schedule gets under way Friday night when the Jets face the College All-Stars in the annual game at Chicago.

Waterford Title Game Is Rescheduled

Once again the play-off game to determine the Waterford Township Men's Fastpitch Softball League champion has been rescheduled.

Barring another washout, Spencer Floor will clash with Day's Sanitation at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow at Drayton Park. Both teams have 17-2 records.

★ ★ ★

Following the title game, Tru Bilt Redi-Mix will take on Midget Bar. A win for the Midget team would boost it into a third place tie with Timber Lanes.

Post-Season play-offs are slated to begin Friday night.

Women's Medal Play

Registrations are now being taken for the Pontiac Women's Medal play slated for Saturday at Pontiac Municipal. Contestants may register by calling the course, FE 5-1702.

Golfers Seek Amateur Titles

State Publinx, GAM Play Under Way

Michigan's amateur set goes hunting for three state golfing titles at two sites today.

At Plum Hollow in Southfield, a field of 132 head into the first round of the 51st Golf Association of Michigan championship with Grosse Pointer John Grace playing the role of defending champion.

★ ★ ★

At Green Acres near Saginaw, a couple of Publinx titles will be decided, one match the other medal.

In 36 holes of qualifying at Green Acres — 18 today and 18 tomorrow — the Publinx will crown its medal play champion, and then the low 63 scorers from the medal play will move to match play in an effort to take the title from Pontiac's Gary Balliet.

★ ★ ★

The GAM event at Plum Hollow winds up Friday, while the Publinx Match Play is slated to close Sunday.

Walled Lake Cops Wrestling Title

Walled Lake won the Muskegon Invitational Wrestling tourney over the weekend.

★ ★ ★

Jack Russell won the trophy in the 114-pound class, Randy Hyde was first at 132 and Rick Baker topped the 191-pound class. George Wimbrow (123) and Bill Reierson (167) placed third.

Cooper Mug Rally Trips Wixom, 6-5

Copper Mug (7-7) staged a last inning rally to score 5 runs and overcame a 5-1 lead and beat Wixom (5-1) 6-5 last night in the Walled Lake Industrial Softball Slowpitch League.

Earl Pappis belted a bases loaded triple to tie the score and Joe Calhorn singled to knock in the winning run.

Penny notched 10-0 win over Lawson Manufacturing and has posted five shut-outs for the season. Joe Burke held Lawson scoreless while Art Lipton and Joe Payton collected three hits each for Penny.

Joyal Out of Danger After Baseball Injury

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — Minor leaguer Frank Joyal, given a 50-50 chance for survival after complications set in on his fractured leg, apparently pulled out of danger Monday.

The 22-year-old Miami Marlins catcher received an added boost when Dr. W.P. Mahan said, "Frank has an 85 per cent chance of returning to professional baseball."

★ ★ ★

It was a freak happening which began when Joyal scored a run against Winter Haven in a Florida State League game last Thursday night.

Joyal rumbled down the line and the Winter Haven catcher bluffed like the ball was coming from the outfield. Frank piled into his opponent, crawled to home plate to score and then collapsed.

DOUBLE BREAK

X-rays showed the leg snapped in two places, but the real problem came Friday. Fat cells were dislodged during the accident and moved into Joyal's bloodstream. The young athlete lapsed into a coma and Mahan gave the 50-50 odds.

Joyal broke out of the coma Sunday morning with his parents looking on.

★ ★ ★

"He's remarkably improved," said Mahan. "He was very close to death."

The physician said there is less than a 10 per cent chance that Joyal will suffer lasting damage from the freak accident.

Frank's run didn't matter. Winter Haven won the game 7-6.

32 Horses Die in Stable Fire

Arson Is Suspected in Cahokia Blaze

ALORTON, Ill. (AP) — Flames swept through a stable at the Cahokia Downs Race Track late Monday killing 32 race horses, authorities said.

Guy Marlin, owner of the massive structure said he suspected arson, but did not elaborate. He said the building, valued at $70,000, was uninsured.

Value of the horses was not immediately determined.

★ ★ ★

Marlin said he left the building shortly before 10 p.m. when he returned a short time later "it was all in flames," he said.

Five employes who resided in the structure were all apparently safe, Marlin said.

The building was about one half block long and contained 140 horse stalls.

The Cahokia track is located in Alorton, a small community northeast of St. Louis.

★ ★ ★

The track finished its 1969 season last week. Officials said the course and stables would be modified to allow harness racing beginning in October.

The track's 1969 season was the best in its history with a total parimutuel handle of more than $23 million. The sum was the largest ever wagered in southern Illinois, a spokesman said.

Attendance during the season averaged 6,259 persons nightly.

Change in Size of Stock Block Engine Approved

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The U.S. Auto Club rules committee voted Monday night to increase the size restriction on "stock block" engines in Indianapolis-type cars from 220 cubic inches to 335 cubic inches in 1970.

The committee's action will be referred to the board of trustees for final approval at the board's next meeting, tentatively scheduled the weekend of Aug. 22.

The action was a limited victory for stock block proponents. They had requested a displacement limit of 366 cubic inches, while teams using overhead camshaft engines had sought a reduction to 305.

The committee also reconsidered, and upheld, the earlier decisions to ban four-wheel-drive and turbine engines from championship racing next year. It recommended that all engine limits but the stock block specifications remain the same.

Along with football, Ullenbruch will continue as basketball coach. Ullenbruch coached football at four stops before arriving at Lahser.

Match Play Starts in Trans-Miss Golf

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Sixty-four shotmakers qualified for today's opening round of match play in the Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament over the sun-baked Midland Country Club.

★ ★ ★

The best round Monday was 72 posted by Carol Jean Sorenson of Racine, Wis.

The cutoff point was 86 for the 144 player field—one of the largest in the tournament's history.

Defending champion Mrs. Michael Skalla of Shingles Springs, Calif., shot a 79 to easily make the championship flight.

★ ★ ★

Jane Bastencherry of Whittier, Calif., turned in another excellent round with a 76.

★ ★ ★

She tied with Marsha Houghton of Modesto, Calif., in the special competition for low putt honors. Both used only 26 points in their 18 hole tour around the dry course. Miss Houghton shot an 81.

Hill Clings to Lead in Earnings Chase

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Hill clung to first place in money earnings in the Professional Golf Association Monday despite Gene Littler's bid in the American Golf Classic to regain the weekly lead.

★ ★ ★

Littler had been the weekly leader for more than three months. However, while he was on a two-week vacation, Hill won the Philadelphia Classic and took over first place with income of $129,343.

★ ★ ★

Littler dropped to second at $104,996.

Both played in the American Golf Classic at Akron. Little tied for fourth, earning $5,487, and Hill tied for 18th and got $1,825.

Littler reduced the margin between the two by $3,862 but Hill kept the lead Monday with $130,968 to Littler's $110,483.

★ ★ ★

The tour's top 10 money winners, figures with name indicate number of tournaments comhleted victories and times finished in the top five:

1, Dave Hill, 21-3-7, $130,968. 2, Gene Littler, 17-2-7, $110,483. 3, Frank Beard, 23-1-2, $105,187. 4, Gary Player, 12-1-3, $89,006. 5, Lee Trevino, 23-1-6, $87,896.

Writer, Champ Disagree Over Crown Owner

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP) — Nino Benvenuti, world middleweight boxing champion, has gotten into a court battle with a sports writer who questioned Nino's claim to the crown.

★ ★ ★

Benvenuti Still champion? was the headline over an article written June 26 by Nando Pensa in a Milanese newspaper. Pensa suggested that those in the box ing world who count consider Nigerian Dick Tiger the champ.

On Monday Benvenuti filed a complaint against Pensa, alleg ing defamation of professiona standing. The head of the Bolog na police investigative squad re layed the complaint to Milan for legal action.

★ ★ ★

Benvenuti dropped a 10-round nontitle fight to Tiger in New York in May. He suffered a broken finger on his right hand during the fight.

Doctors said Monday that Benvenuti's finger was healing well and that he would have n trouble resuming his ring ca reer.

Dragboats to Race on Lake Oxford

The second Oxford Lake drag boat event of the summer will be Sunday.

Sixty boats from four neighboring states, and approximately 12 area craft, are expected to participate in this race.

Time trials are set for 9 a.m. followed by eliminations at 1 p.m.

Texas Archer Holds Lead

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP) — David Hughes, 22, of Irving, Tex., has taken up where he left off in the men's bare bow division of the National Field Archers Association.

Hughes, defending champion in the division, garnered a pace-setting 542 points on 28 field targets in Monday's opening round of the 24th annual competition.

★ ★ ★

Dennis Cline of Aurora, Ill., took second place after the first day's shooting with 505 points, while William Taylor of Nyack, N.Y., claimed third with 502.

A total of 476 bowmen, competing in men's, women's and children's events, are entered in the tournament, which continues through Friday.

★ ★ ★

In a separate tournament here, John Kleeman of Latrobe, Pa. shot a 558 to pace Professional Archers Association competitors. A score of 560 is perfect.

Ed Rhodie of Muscatine, Iowa, was second with 546 and Rick Gillie of Temple, Tex., third with 543.

ND's Hanratty, Kunz Head All-Stars Offense

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All-Stars will send a Notre Dame flavored offense and a highly regarded defense against the New York Jets Friday night in the 36th annual All-Star football game in Soldier Field.

Notre Dame quarterback Terry Hanratty and Irish tackle George Kunz Monday were named co-captains on offense, while cornerback Jim Marsalis of Tennessee State and linebacker Bob Babich of Miami of Ohio will co-captain the defense.

★ ★ ★

Head Coach Otto Graham, who had requested the players not to make the voting a popularity contest, was pleased with the selections.

"The results prove they took this seriously," said Graham. "These four men not only are outstanding athletes, they have been the hardest workers in our training camp."

Hanratty could be the key of the All-Stars hope to whip the Jets and Joe Namath. In three years at Notre Dame, Hanratty piled up 4,738 total yards to break the offense record of George Gipp and set 15 school records.

SPLIT END

One of his targets will be Jim Seymour, the rangy split end who helped Hanratty compile his records at Notre Dame.

★ ★ ★

Hanratty is from Butler, Pa., which is only 20 miles from Beaver Falls, home of Broadway Joe Namath, and the two could turn the midsummer classic into a neighborhood aerial brawl.

The last time the All-Stars won was in 1963 when Ron VanderKelen hurled them to a 20-17 triumph over Green Bay. The victory before that was a 35-10 decision over Detroit on the passing of Jim Ninowski.

Both of these teams were coached by Graham, who is back at the All-Star helm following a three-year stint as coach of the Washington Redskins, a position the former Northwestern and Cleveland star was forced to relinquish to Vince Lombardi.

Graham is not concerned about his offense as much as he is the defense. He is fully aware that the pros' pass patterns usually baffle the collegians in the All-Star game.

MISSING STARS

Although he will be without the service of LeRoy Keyes of Purdue, who like O. J. Simpson of Southern California and Ron Johnson of Michigan, will be missing because of contract squabbles with their respective clubs, Graham is high on his defensive secondary.

"All the way along in training camp I have been impressed with our defensive secondary," said Graham. "As a group I think it has the speed and quickness to do the job. I'll be disappointed if the Jets get any cheap, quick touchdowns."

Nevertheless, the All-Stars figure to be somewhere around 13 points underdogs against the Jets, who defeated the Baltimore Colts 16-7 in the Super Bowl to become the first American Football League team to qualify for the All-Star game.

Hucker Setting Junior Golf Pace

Gary Hucker of Essex Country Club carded a 38-38-76 to set the pace yesterday in Junior District Golf Association competition.

Second was Charles Moore of Red Run at 77. Kip Byrne of Birmingham checked in with a 70 for low net honors.

Talks Resume in Wage War

Wage negotiations between some 45 striking employes and Waterford Township were expected to resume today at 1 p.m. after a week's recess.

Township secretaries, water and public workds and building inspectors' employes walked off their jobs last Wednesday. They haven't had a contract since December.

State Labor Mediator Leonard Bennett broke off negotiations last week because he said both parties appeared uncooperative.

Meanwhile, strikers continue to picket at three township buildings today after the township board criticized their behavior and dress last night.

Two township board members remarked at the board meeting that picketers are verbally harassing citizens going into the township office building and are sometimes wearing "short shorts and bathing suits."

Township Atty. Calvin Patterson told the board nothing can be done legally unless the picketers use obscene language.

Suspect Surrenders in Shooting

A Pontiac man sought in connection with the shooting of two men in Waterford Township turned himself into township police this morning.

Robert D. Dutton, 21, of 221 W. Ypsilanti, was arrested on a charge of attempted murder at the police station. He was to be arraigned today.

He is accused of shooting Joseph Rhodes, 23, and Thomas Wilson, 20, both of 205 W. Sheffield, during an argument outside the White Rock Tavern, 2542 Pontiac Lake, Saturday night.

Rhodes continues in satisfactory condition at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital with a leg wound. Wilson, shot in a knee, was treated at the hospital and released.

Kuhn Urges IRS Relocation

LANSING (AP) — Sen. George Kuhn, R-West Bloomfield Township, has urged the federal government to scrap plans to build a proposed Internal Revenue Service data processing center in Oak Park instead of Detroit.

In a letter to vice president Spiro Agnew, Kuhn said, "I strongly feel that the federal government should keep its original commitment, which was to the city of Detroit."

Gov. William Milliken earlier opposed the relocation of the proposed center.

Kuhn's district includes Oak Park. But he said, "I do hope that the General Services Administration will seriously reconsider its plans and locate this new IRS building in the city of Detroit, a plan which will greatly benefit the entire metropolitan area."

Guerrillas Attack Malaysian Patrol Near Thai Border

KULA LUMPUR (UPI) — About 50 guerrillas ambushed a Malaysian patrol on the border with Thailand today, 500 miles south of Bangkok where President Nixon began the second day of his visit in Thailand.

The government said the attackers killed six soldiers of the Royal Malay Regiment and wounded six seriously. They sprang the ambush seven miles south of the Thai border, long a guerrilla hotspot.

It underscored again for Nixon the threat of Communist insurgence in Thailand's northeastern and southern sectors. Guerrillas in the northeast invaded a U.S. air base yesterday and damaged two planes, wounding a sentry.

There was no report on guerrilla casualties in the 9 a.m. ambush which pinned down the government troops with machine-gun and handgrenade fire.

Crash Kills Man

GREENLAND (AP) —A 48-year-old Greenland man was killed Monday in a one-car accident on a county road near Greenland. Police say the victim, Michael Chasca, may have suffered a heart attack.

Rogers to Face Formosa's Ire

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers will face a sticky problem when he arrives here Friday for a 46-hour visit: trying to explain the recent easing of U.S. restrictions on travel and trade with Communist China while reaffirming U.S support for President Chiang Kai-shek's National regime.

Chiang's government has expressed serious concern about last week's announcement that Americans may purchase up to $100 worth of Chinese Communist goods and that U.S. citizens in six categories may have their passports validated automatically for travel to Communist China.

* * *

The Nationalists see the move as further erosion in their status in the community of nations. They have warned Washington that "the decision to accord such unilateral favors toward Communist China will produce ill results which are bound to affect free countries."

* * *

Rogers also is expected to talk with Nationalist officials about the problem of returning Okinawa to Japan. The Nationalists are concerned about Okinawa, which the United States captured from Japan in World War II, because they fear dismantling of the huge U.S. military base there might result in a weakening of allied defenses against Communist China.

Michigan Bell Fills Executive Offices

DETROIT (AP) — Election of W. Calvin Patterson as senior vice president has been announced by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

* * *

Patterson was succeeded in his post as vice president-revenues and public affairs by Lloyd Haynes, vice president - public relations. Dan Smith, vice president - personnel, was named to a special assignment reporting to the company's president, Kenneth Wahlen.

* * *

G. Robert Harrington, general commercial manager, and John North, general switching systems manager, were elected vice presidents.

Two Freights Hit Head-On in Pontiac

Two slow-moving freight trains of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad collided head-on in Pontiac early this morning, derailing both engine units and cutting off the 7:30 a.m. commuter service to Detroit. No one was injured.

The accident occurred shortly after 7 a.m. at Franklin Road and Rapid between a northbound through train and a yard engine.

* * *

None of the freight cars on either train was knocked off the tracks.

A spokesman for the railroad said that it's not unusual for trains to be using the same track, but that in this case the yard engine should have been out of the way by the time the through train entered the area.

* * *

The southbound track was blocked by the derailment but it was expected to be cleared within several hours of the accident, the spokesman said.

It was not certain when the engines would be set back on the northbound track, or the extent of damage to the engines and tracks.

Liquor Bill Signed

LANSING (AP) — The executive officer has announced the signing into law by Gov. William Milliken of a bill amending the Liquor Control Act to require that any warehouseman also have a wholesaler or manufacturer's license to make sales or deliveries to retailers. The law will prohibit chain stores from storing beer and wine in their warehouses and deliveries from their to their own retail outlets.

Hanoi Hits 'New Nixon Tricks'

TOKYO (UPI) — A Hanoi broadcast said today President Nixon is up to "new tricks" in trying to further what it called America's domination of Asia during his current tour.

The Vietnam news agency broadcast from the North Vietnamese capital quoted an editorial in the official Nhan Dan newspaper that Nixon "brazenly stated that the U.S. would continue its role of a Pacific power . . ."

* * *

At the same time, the broadcast said, the President pledged a new American role in Asia after the Vietnam War, based on mutual trust, mutual confidence and mutual cooperation.

* * *

"However, all these allegations cannot conceal the real objective of Nixon, which is to use new tricks to continue the U.S. aggressive and warlike policy in Asia and materialize its unchanged scheme to dominate Asia politically, economically and militarily," the broadcast said.

Nhan Dan said Nixon had urged non-Communist countries in Asia to "step up the arms race and cooperate in the socalled collective defense."

Nixon's Asian policy, the official newspaper said, seeks "to use Asians to fight Asians and "compel U.S. satellites to contribute more to the crusade against the Socialist countries and the national liberation movements in Asia."

Prosecutor's Aide Quits County Post

Michael M. Pantel, an Oakland County assistant prosecutor since September 1965, has announced his resignation, effective Friday.

Pantel, 30, of 2759 Ravenglass, Waterford Township, is joining the Detroit law firm of Smith, Bokos ad Jones. He will be in charge of a new office the firm is opening in Berkley.

* * *

A 1957 graduate of Pontiac Central High School, Pantel received his law degree from Wayne State University. Married, he has a daughter.

GI Dead in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Sgt. Paul J. Salminen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Salminen of Ferndale, Mich., has died in Vietnam, but not as a result of hostile action, the Defense Department announced Monday.

Junior Olympics to Attract 400

More than 400 youngsters are expected to participate in Waterford Township's annual summer playground junior olympics Thursday.

Fifteen township playground teams are scheduled to compete in the events, starting at 10 a.m. at Waterford Township High School field, 1415 Crescent Lake. The event is sponsored by the township recreation department.

New...Sleep + Aspirin tablets for a Fine Night's Sleep

WITHOUT HABIT-FORMING SLEEPING PILLS

A New York chemist has perfected a remarkable "Asper-Sleep" formula which unites 3 safe aids to sound refreshing sleep. Never before has there been such a combination to help relieve the problem of sleeplessness without habit forming drugs. The reason you fall asleep so fast and sleep like a log is that each Asper-Sleep tablet contains (1) an effective antihistamine (2) a gentle sedative to help you relax from simple everyday nervous tensions (3) pain-relieving aspirin . . . to curb the misery of common headache, colds and minor arthritis, rheumatism, muscular and menstrual pains—to help you sleep when these disturbances are keeping you awake.

No prescription needed — just ask for "Asper-Sleep tablets," get 100% safe sleep without dopey, depressing after-affects. Take as directed. Wake up "bright-eyed and bushy-tailed." Money back if not satisfied. Asper-Sleep at druggists 59¢.

Good for what ails your hearing.

SCOPE Students Dissent - - Positively

EAST LANSING (UPI) — In a too-small leased room with childish paintings tacked on the walls, noisy 3-year-olds play games with college students, climb in their laps and continually ask, "What can we do now."

"We have to stay here today; it's raining. Tomorrow we'll go to the park and play," Mary Lou Cantrill tells them. Mary Lou is a senior in the school of education at Michigan State University and is the head of SCOPE

★ ★

In an age when initials denote a college student's political beliefs, SCOPE too is part of a broadening group of dissidents.

"Members" of SCOPE don't carry signs, stage sit-ins, or even throw rocks to express their dissent. Instead, they volunteer to help children from age 3-15 with schoolwork and get to know them better through recreation.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL

"Next week we're having an ice cream social for the children," pretty Mary Lou explained. "The children will do all the work, too. Sometimes for recreation we take them to our apartments and teach them some things to cook. Otherwise, we go to the park, or the pool to swim."

★ ★

Between 3,000 and 5,000 MSU students volunteer for community work on a regular five-hour-a-week schedule. More than 9,000 are registered for occasional work with the one-year-old MSU office of volunteer programs.

The new office was created to fill a void college students experience, acting director John Cauley explained.

"The student may be frustrated because he cannot find an outlet for his desire to have a voice in the world around him. We can make any type of social activity available that any student wants to participate in," he said.

VARIETY OF THERAPY

A quick glance at the activities handled through the office include aiding with therapy for a brain-damaged 15-year-old boy, teaching English at a Spanish-American migrant labor camp, being a "big brother" or "big sister" for children without a parent or who are handi-capped in some way, and being a receptionist for a new "planned parenthood" branch.

For anyone who thinks volunteer work means stuffing envelopes or other menial tasks, the MSU approach is a surprise.

★ ★ ★

"We try for projects that last an entire term," Cauley said. "We don't find onetime shots, and we refuse to have anything to do with them. And we won't find volunteers for jobs like clerical work or stuffing envelopes.

"How are you going to convey to a student that stuffing envelopes is meaningful?" Cauley asks.

Students are asked to give a firm commitment of the time they will donate and are made completely aware what is expected of them. This greatly cuts the dropout rate, the director said.

What type of student is a volunteer and do "protesters" become involved?

"A significant number have done volunteer work in high school," Cauley explained. "Many are majoring in social work, sociology and education.

"The protesters are too busy protesting to do anything constructive," the 24-year-old Cauley said with a smile. "But we do have some who list SDS (the militant Students for a Democratic Society) as an activity.

ON FRINGE

They are on the fringe of that organization, though. They like to become involved in inner-city projects. But even if we had more (activist students), Lansing school system would find it hard to accept a boy with hair down to his shoulders," Cauley said.

The mood among colleges is to offer classroom credit for certain volunteer work, Cauley said.

★ ★ ★

"But we are diametrically opposed to this," he said. "If a student is just out to get a grade, he loses interest once he has that grade. We've had nothing but a lack of success with this approach."

Cauley's bureau functions solely as a clearinghouse of information and a place where the student desires can be realistically translated into activity. His budget of $40,000 only meets administrative costs and the expense involved in providing 10 cars and drivers to transport the volunteers.

'NO MONEY'

"I don't provide money for the student groups," he said. "I don't have it."

Volunteers not working with already established community projects are encouraged to organize and take charge of any activity they undertake.

★ ★ ★

Cauley said his office offers help, but "we would like to see our projects entirely student-directed and student-run. We get them started and depend on them to keep going."

One example of this theory is found in SCOPE. Another is a recent "Greek Week" celebration which culminated in the complete renovation of the Lansing Boys Club, including expanding the shower facility and repairing the ceilings.

★ ★ ★

"They called us for a project and we suggested this," Cauley said. About 1,000 students participated in the renovation, he added.

MSU officials are pleased with the success of the fledgling volunteer bureau and are now supporting a federal effort for the funding of 100 other universities, based on this model, Cauley said. The planning is being done through the federal Office of Economic Opportunity.

Patty Duke Has 'Ugly' Part in Her 'Me, Natalie' Picture

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Patty Duke has started on a new life since her split with her husband — and one thing she had to do was ugly herself to play an unattractive Brooklyn girl with lots of insecurities in "M, Natalie."

WILSON

"I wear a nose that's larger than mine and with a bigger bump, and my false teeth are bigger and slightly bucked," Patty will gladly explain.

"I thought I would mind making myself up as a typical blind date, but I didn't," she solemnly swears.

Patty's sort of an evangelist of plainness in the picture, trying to show "It doesn't matter whether a girl's pretty on the outside as long as she's pretty on the inside."

★ ★ ★

People have been bursting into tears upon seeing 5-foot, 22-year-old Patty Doing things dramatic in the film and are whooping for an Oscar for her, claiming it's the best she's done since she got an award for "The Miracle Worker."

Patty, separated from TV director Harry Falk, had a tearful time for a while. Now she's moving back to NY from LA, looking for an off-Broadway show, and resolved to stay away from TV.

"When you do a series, you have no time for life," she says. Now she wants some life. "That's why I decided to leave Los Angeles. I decided I'd been lethargic long enough."

Williams Shuns Races

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Former Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams said here yesterday he has turned down repeated urgings to run for Detroit mayor or councilman since returning from the Philippines two months ago.

"I have no special political interests now," William said.

"I've been home less than two months and I have been trying to clean up my Phillippine interests and finish a book on Africa.

"Once you get a taste of political life, though, you never lose it," he said.

Williams was undersecretary for African Affairs under President John F. Kennedy and ambassador to the Philippines under President Lyndon B. Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Since resigning his Asian post recently, Williams has been mentioned as a prospect for several Michigan political offices.

One of these is president of Michigan State University. John A. Hannah created the opening when he resigned in January to become director of the Agency for International Development.

★ ★ ★

Williams was attending a three-day seminar on "analysis of student turmoil" at MSU, but claimed it was solely informational, and not preparation for a university job.

WW II Soldier's Body Is Found

LESLIE (UPI)—For 24 years, Mrs. Kenneth Evans waited, hoped and finally wasted away not knowing the fate of her son, Donald Seger, missing in action in World War II.

She died in April, never knowing the fate of Pfc. Seger, 19, an infantryman missing in action after the storming of a German machinegun nest in 1945. The German government gave up looking in 1951.

"She wouldn't eat," her husband said. "She just worried herself to death."

Last week, diggers found the body of her son, near the hill he charged on the volunteer mission 24 years ago. His remains were identified by his dogtags and a dental bridge.

Evans said he will be buried beside his mother in this Ingham County community, three months after she finally gave up hope.

Most Mexican 'Wetbacks' Heading for Cities

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Most of the thousands of Mexicans who enter the United States illegally are now heading for jobs in the cities instead of the harvest fields, U.S. Immigration Service officials say.

"Nearly everyone we get is headed for Chicago," said John Holland, district director for the U.S. Immigration Service at San Antonio.

★ ★ ★

Dewitt Marshall, district director for the Port Isabel district, said "wetbacks" — aliens who mostly wade across the Rio Grande — are seeking jobs in the meat-packing and steel industries.

Marshall said some Chicago firms hire Spanish-speaking foremen, and many firms requiring cheap unskilled labor do not require job applicants to speak English.

MORE POPULAR

Statistics released by immigration officials in Chicago show that city is becoming the goal of more illegal aliens. Mrs. L. W. Herney, head of the Chicago immigration office, told the Associated Press in Chicago that 1,500 aliens were arrested in that area in 1965 and more than 6,000 were arrested last year.

She said, however, there has been no recent increase in the number of aliens apprehended. Mrs. Herney estimated that 70 to 75 per cent of those aliens arrested in Chicago are Mexican.

★ ★ ★

"Mexicans are the largest ethnic group in Illinois," she said.

"They get jobs here in factories, steel mills, landscaping, almost anywhere there is a demand for low-priced labor," she added.

'SMUGGLERS'

Many of the aliens who reach Chicago are taken there by men described by immigration officials as "professional smugglers." These alien job-seekers usually pay $100 to $200 to get into the United States, said Marshall and Holland. Some of them, Marshall said, are taken there on "credit" and pay the smugglers after they find work.

Alien smuggling has doubled over the past two years, Holland said.

★ ★ ★

Marshall said about 60 per cent of those apprehended in south Texas are unemployed and in what the Immigration Service calls "travel status." About 15 per cent are agricultural workers, and the remaining 25 per cent were employed in industrial work in Mexico and are seeking similar employement in the United States, he stated.

Immigration officials and border patrol officers have apprehended 1,475 aliens in the Port Isabel district during the past two months. Marshall said the number of aliens apprehended usually reached a peak in the late summer.

ARRESTS ON RISE

He said he has noted a steady increase in arrests this year. He attributed some of this to the severe drought in some states of Mexico.

At Laredo, Oran G. Pugh, customs agent in charge, said the number of Mexicans trying to enter the United States is at an all-time high.

Marshall said that although there is still a shortage of field workers in the lower Rio Grande Valley and other parts of Texas, most of the workers apprehended are heading north for more lasting jobs in industry.

"A lot of these people are the kind of people who wouldn't have done this thing a few years ago," he said. "But they are desperate now," he added.

CAUGHT PREVIOUSLY

Holland also said many of those picked up this year have been caught before and are making a second or third attempt to work their way past roadblocks and checkpoints. Many, he said, are now buying counterfeit alien identification cards in Mexico. These cards, he said, are so well made they are hard to detect even by experienced border guards on the bridges across the Rio Grande.

He pointed out that it would be even harder for law enforcement officers beyond the border area to spot the counterfeit credentials because the officers are not experienced in examining the cards.

★ ★ ★

Bogus credentials are being sold in Mexico for up to $250, Holland said.

"We are not dealing with poor, ignorant farm workers who were just looking for a job in the fields. We are dealing with professionals," Holland declared.

The latest reports from various immigration officers in Texas are for the month of May.

Apprehension totals for that month included 650 in San Antonio and Dallas, 1,516 in Del Rio, 934 in Laredo and 1,077 in McAllen.

"The aliens are apprehended and taken to detention centers. They are fingerprinted, have their records checked and are held there for about 10 days before they are flown back to Mexico or taken to the border in cars.

★ ★ ★

The immigration officials see no easy solution to the problem. "A good rain in Mexico might help," said Holland.

Wage-Floor Bill Revival Urged

LANSING (AP) — A Republican representative has asked the Democratic House speaker to help him revive the minimum wage bill which cleared the Senate but was defeated in the Democrat - controlled House during the last days of the recent legislative session.

Rep. Joseph Swallow, R-Alpena, wrote House Speaker Rep. William Ryan, D-Detroit, that members of the House and Senate labor committees are willing to meet as often as needed during the summer recess to resolve differences on the bill.

★ ★ ★

The measure proposes increasing the minimum wage in Michigan from $1.25 to $1.40 an hour starting Jan. 1, 1970. A further boost to $1.55 an hour would come a year later.

The main differences on the bill, Swallow said, are wage deviations for employes who receive tips and minimum wages for agricultural workers harvesting crops on a piece-rate basis.

'WOULD BE TRAGIC'

"In my opinion," Swallow said "it would be tragic if all employes subject to the minimum wage had to suffer because of our inability to resolve these differences."

Swallow said he was concerned about agricultural workers, who make an average of only $3,500 a year, and summer resort employes, such as students, who receive part of their wages as tips.

Mini Forecast of Flower Show Told

By JANET ODELL
Women's Editor, The Pontiac Press

Put a bouquet in a thimble? Well, it does take some doing, but devoted members of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will try their hand at any kind of flower arranging.

While little action is taking place right now for the third annual Pontiac Mall Flower Show Sept. 29-Oct. 4, the committees do their planning and their homework.

* * *

And they want publicity to keep the show in the minds of members and the general public.

* * *

There's just so much you can say about plans; and much of that can be dull reading. We tried to figure out what at this time would make good copy.

* * *

Two designated classes in the show are for miniature arrangements, that is arrangements not to exceed five inches in either height or width. The division for adults calls for dried materials while the junior entrants can use fresh materials.

LIVE DEMONSTRATION

Mrs. John Mills of Orchard Lake, a member of the Pine Lake Estates WNFGA, agreed to make up some Lilliputian arrangements while we watched.

* * *

Hopefully, this will spur others to try their hand at the same thing and she'll have something to justify her work as chairman for "Minnehaha's Minis." The theme of the show is "The Land of Sky Blue Water."

* * *

Mrs. Mills called for help in her project; it came in the form of Mrs. Edwin Koepke Jr., a fellow club member of longer standing.

* * *

Being the sort of person who grasps flowers by the stems and drops them into a vase, I have unbounded admiration for anyone who can really plan and arrange a beautiful bouquet.

* * *

But you have to be so technical when you're working with WNFGA rules. You have to use a ruler to be sure you don't get your arrangement too big or out of proportion. Then you check the book to see if you're using the proper line.

* * *

You work with florist's clay, foam material that holds water, tweezers, scissors, a crochet hook and lots of flower material so that you can pick and choose.

The mechanics of your arrangements mustn't show, so sometimes you use dark smooth pebbles to hide the flower holder. You may even paint the container so that the stems don't show through.

All in all, it was an interesting session and my two teachers came through with some charming arrangements.

* * *

Their vases ranged from caps off cosmetic containers, to a doll's china cup and the thimble mentioned earlier. Mrs. Mills fastened it on a white poker chip to give it stability and a base.

Maybe I'll attempt some miniatures myself some day.

Pontiac Press Photos by Rolf Winter

Mrs. Edwin Koepke Jr. of Westover Drive (left) and Mrs. John Mills of Normanwood Drive, both West Bloomfield Township, concentrate on making the perfect miniature arrangement. Mrs. Mills is chairman of the miniatures division for this year's Pontiac Mall Flower Show some two months away. Mrs. Koepke is assisting one of the staging chairmen.

A silver-colored cap from after-shave lotion holds a yellow arrangement.

The graceful sprig of willow hovers over a full-blown rose in a perfume bottle cap.

Violas and sweet alyssum fill a teacup from a set of doll dishes.

Possibly once the base of a pincushion, this silver shoe makes a delightful holder for a miniature arrangement of wild daisies.

One spray of red berries and a couple of leafy branches make a thimble bouquet.

Marigolds and artemesia are displayed in a cologne bottle cap.

Adopted Daughter's Future Hinges on Mom's Beliefs

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My best friend and her husband have two adopted children, a boy and a girl. The little girl is nearly five, and she is a very affectionate child who likes to hug, kiss, and climb all over the men who visit in the home.

The mother expressed great concern over this, and confided, "I know what her REAL mother was like, and that's what worries me." (The implication being that because most adopted children are products of unwed mothers, they will turn out "bad" like their mothers.) I am sure that many people feel that this is true, but I, for one, do not believe it.

I feel so strongly about this, Abby, because I happen to be adopted, although few of my friends are aware of it. I would like to see this letter printed with your comments. Thank you.

ADOPTED AND HURT

DEAR ADOPTED: The causes of illegitimacy are not hereditary. Your friend is unbelievably ignorant, and I hope someone educates her before she communicates her foolish fears to her adopted children.

* * *

DEAR ABY: I am a 13-year-old girl. I am pretty and smart, have a good figure and a nice complexion, and people tell me I have a good personality.

My friend is fat, has a pimply complexion and a terrible personality, but she gets all the boys. Can you help me?

NOT POPULAR

DEAR NOT: No, but I'll bet your fat friend with the pimply complexion and "terrible" personality can. Watch her and listen to her and find out why the boys find her so attractive. She may not be so great, but if she makes other people think THEY'RE great, she'll win a popularity contest.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: This isn't just an ordinary mother-in-law gripe. I really do love my mother-in-law, but she does something that gripes me no end.

Whenever I have something new on, she wants to know where I bought it, how much it costs, and would I mind terribly if she got one like it since "we don't go around in the same crowd?" (It's true, we don't go around in the same crowd, but we both go to a lot of the same places, and we know a lot of the same people.)

Abby, she's a darling woman, and we're the same size, and can wear the same styles, but what can I do? Of course I tell her I don't mind, but I don't enjoy going somewhere dressed like one of the Bobbsey twins. So what do you suggest.

ONE OF A KIND

DEAR ONE: I suggest you either level with her—and quit telling her you don't mind when you DO mind, or else continue as you are and suffer the consequences.

* * *

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056, and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

* * *

Centennial Brings New Growth to Rochester

'Wives Really Don't Mind Hirsute Husbands'

By LINDA CABRAL

What is scratchy and prickly, turns men into distinguished individuals, movie actors or wild beasts and can be found in great abundance these days in Rochester?

You knew that one right away. Oh, so you are married to one . . . a centennial beard-grower, that is.

* * *

A sample of some Rochester wives who are also involved in this aspect of their town's birthday activities indicates that they really do not mind having hirsute husbands. Children, especially, are enjoying Daddy's new growth.

But then, it's only natural. Whiskers bring out the Santa Claus in every father.

"CHARACTER" GAINED

Mrs. Herman Klix of North Bretton Drive admits that many of the local men, including her husband, seem to have gained "character" with the accumulation of chin whiskers.

Although she likes to think her man looks a little loftier, Mrs. Klix admits, "he really is no different with or without his goatee."

* * *

And then there is Dr. Kenneth Hock who is learning to cope with a 12-year-old daughter who insists on calling him Clark Gable.

Mrs. Hock is a little more realistic.

'IT SCRATCHES'

"It really scratches," she says.

Although she likes his Van Dyke style beard and mustache, she mentions that it does necessitate constant care and trimming.

* * *

Even that great promoter of chin whiskers, Honest Abe, himself, knew that you just couldn't please all of the people, all of the time. So, Sue Zellers, dental technician for Rochester dentist, Dean S. Fields, can voice her disapproval without fear.

"They're icky," she says. "Those thick ones make men look like wild hairy beasts," she complains.

FULL BEARDS

Sue doesn't mind a closely cropped, neatly trimmed mustache, but the full beards are not to her liking.

* * *

Children in the vicinity of the home of Rochester dentist, John S. Terry have a new hero. They are all crazy about Dr. Terry's mutton chops. No, not his recipe for lamb, but the long sideburns widening around his jaw bone.

"The kids think they're cool," reports Mrs. Terry. "And even the patients like them," she says.

Mrs. Clarence Burridge of Rochester relates that her son is the biggest admirer of his father's beard.

IT'S GREAT

"He thinks it's just great," she says.

She notes, however, that what may look great can be a little different from a closer vantage point.

* * *

"It's kind of pickery," she admits.

Mrs. Burridge mentioned that her husband looks very good with his full beard and mustache, but believes that he will continue to let it grow only until the centennial celebration.

GETTING TIRED

"I think he is finally getting tired of it, too," she says.

Mrs. Russell Griffin of Harrison Street has some words of encouragement for those wives who presently are enduring a scratch or two for a good-bye kiss in the morning.

* * *

"It's soft now that his beard has finally grown. At first it was scratchy, but now it really is quite nice," she advised.

New Law to Ease Divorce Delays

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A bill making it quicker and easier to get a divorce in California has been passed by the State Legislature over protests that it will turn the nation's most populous state into a divorce mill.

Sponsors said Gov. Ronald Reagan had told them he would sign the measure, so it appeared that the first basic change in the state's divorce law since its enactment in 1872 would become law on Jan. 1, 1970.

* * *

The main effect is to abolish the seven current grounds for divorce, such as adultery or cruelty, all of which require the court to rule one spouse to blame for a marital breakup. In their place, only two grounds would remain:

The incurable insanity of one spouse or a showing that there are "irreconcilable differences, which have caused the irremediable breakdown of the marriage." The term "divorce" would be replaced—legally— with "dissolution of marriage."

SHUTDOWN VOTE

A 25-8 Senate vote approving the bill Monday followed earlier Assembly ratification of the sweeping measure, adopted after three years of study and debate.

An opponent, Republican Sen. Clark L. Bradley of San Jose, contended the new law is "a step in the direction of Reno-Las Vegas type of divorce proceedings . . . We do not want California to become a divorce mill state."

The measure cuts to six months the current one-year residency requirement and the time between filing for a divorce and getting it. At present, 11 of the 50 states have residency requirements of six months or less.

The bill's author, Sen. Donald L. Grunsky, called it "a humane and modern approach to this problem." He said it will greatly curtail the current "miserable, hateful accusatory proceedings."

Eva Terrell to Go to School in East

Mrs. Eva Terrell, program director at the Pontiac YWCA, is leaving Aug. 15. She will go to New York City where she is enrolled for graduate work in special education at New York University.

Mrs. Terrell has lived in Pontiac for the past nine years. Prior to her assuming her present position, she was employed by Pontiac Department of Parks and Recreation and the Community National Bank.

* * *

Mrs. Terrell has one daughter, Joan, who will remain in Pontiac.

* * *

On Wednesday, from 3 to 6 p.m., the YWCA and the Zonta Club of Pontiac are holding a tea in honor of Mrs. Terrell. It is open to members of both organizations and other friends of the honoree.

Teacher Wins Title in Beauty Contest

Must Keep a Tight Rein on Food Budget

By ANNE TAYLOR

With food prices among the most swiftly rising of all consumer goods, shopping becomes more of a challenge today than at any time in the past two years. But there are ways of coping with price increases.

A typical letter comes from Mrs. J.P.C. of Quincy, Mass. She writes:

"Rising food prices have caused a state of emergency in our household. Although my husband makes a good salary, I can't seem to cope with food shopping. Our bills get higher each time we shop.

★ ★ ★

"We have five children, ranging in age from six to 14, and they of course, need lots of good food. I have followed cost-cutting tips but nothing seems to make an appreciable dent in our food bill.

"Do you have any suggestions? What am I overlooking?"

Dear Mrs. J.P.C.:

First, don't expect to make a dent in your food bill. With prices rising and most families buying more and more convenience foods, you simply have to adjust to paying bigger food bills. You can, however, keep the increases in bounds.

I suggest that you look very closely at the amounts you are spending on meats. About one-third of the food dollar goes for meat, and with prices high and rising, that's quite a slice. And it's a place to begin slicing.

Here are a few tips for weaving your way around the meat counters while keeping your spending within your budget limits:

Pass up the beef — it's up more than nine per cent in the past year — and select pork or poultry, for example. If you must buy beef, try to buy less expensive cuts, such as chuck roasts. They can be equally nourishing.

Watch for seasonal specials in pork and poultry prices.

Be willing to sacrifice some conveniences and take on some extra work. For example, a whole fryer costs less than the one which the butcher has precut for you.

Compromise. Less popular cuts are less expensive. For example, a loin end pork roast may be sliced, thus providing chops that are less expensive but equally nourishing as the costlier, more popular, center cut chops.

★ ★ ★

Accept meat substitutes every so often. Fish, eggs and cheese supply protein and can provide a refreshing change as well. Generally, the price of medium and large eggs is down in spring, rising in late summer and early fall.

RETIREE'S BUDGET

Dear Miss Taylor:

Could you give us a monthly budget estimate? My wife and I are retired . . . Our home and automobile are paid for, but the real estate taxes amount to $500 a year. My pension and Social Security give us about $400 a month.

We do not entertain much, but generally we try to take a week-long automobile trip each year.

Mr. H.P., Pasadena, Calif.

Dear Mr. H.P.:

Here is a monthly spending plan which should help you apportion your money. Remember, local conditions vary and so also do individual preferences, so I am sure you will use this primarily as a guide:

Housing (Mainly taxes and upkeep) $70, household operating costs $30, food $90, clothing and upkeep $30, automobile maintenance and fuel $25, savings $10, personal care $25, medical costs $40, recreation $40, books and newspapers $10, and miscellaneous expenses, such as gifts and donations, $30.

ROYALTY MEETS ROYALTY—National Cherry Queen, Barbara Beckett of Traverse City and a senior at Oakland University (left), compares experiences with Miss Michigan State Fair of 1968, Sharon Kiehler of Lapeer. The two queens met recently at Henry Ford Museum during the North Central Recipe Swap for food editors, sponsored by General Foods Kitchens. Sharon was a Pontiac Press correspondent in 1967-68.

Dismissal of Nurse Is Upheld at Top

LANSING (AP) — A state civil service hearing officer has upheld dismissal by the Department of Mental Health of a second attendant nurse at the Caro State Hospital for wearing a ring on duty.

Hearing officer Morrison Ryder upheld the firing of Mrs. Esther Scholl after finding she defied a hospital warning to remove the ring.

A hearing officer previously had upheld the firing of Mrs. Gloria Martin, president of the hospital local of the Michigan State Employes Union.

★ ★ ★

The union organized a "Ring Day" in honor of Benjamin Franklin's birthday after Dr. Bettye McFarland, hospital superintendent, issued an order banning the wearing of such jewelry while on duty. Mrs. McFarland since has resigned.

"It must be pointed out that at no time did Mrs. Scholl claim she was unaware of the directive by the supervision that the ring she chose to continue wearing was forbidden," the decision said.

The decision said Mrs. Scholl was suspended Jan. 8 but was notified she could terminate suspension at any time by returning to work on her regular shift by complying with the jewelry restriction prior to Jan. 22.

WEARS RING

"By voluntarily refusing to remove the ring and meet existing conditions, Mrs. Scholl terminated her employment," the decision said.

Two other employes fired for the same reason were William Watkins and Karen Craig. They asked for hearings but were told the request was "untimely" by the hearing officer. All four are expected to appeal to the full four-member commission.

There were 13 other employes suspended for periods ranging from two days to two weeks, also for wearing rings. Six suspended employes did not appeal. Six who appealed their cases to hearing officers lost and have continued the appeals to the commission.

One employe whose suspension was upheld by a hearing officer did not appeal to the commission.

Christmas Lights Useful All Year

Get more use out of your Christmas lights by keeping them handy to use as garden accents, patio lights, or Fourth of July party perkers. To get maximum benefits, choose sets which are completely weatherproof and wipe them off regularly with a sudsy cloth to keep the lights bright.

Remove the sleeves and cut off the bottom of a worn plastic raincoat and you have a fine coverall to wear while shampooing or tinting your hair.

For Better Hold

Many young mothers are nervous about bathing their first baby. To make this job easier, cut out and sew loose-fitting mittens from the best part of a worn turkish towel. Use them when giving baby his bath. They make holding a wet, squirming baby much easier.

Cheers to Sound at Ferris State

BIG RAPIDS (UPI) — A workshop will be held at Ferris State College to teach people the proper way to holler.

The workshop will be held in two sections, Aug. 3-8, and Aug. 10-15. It purpose is to tutor high school cheer leaders. About 600 high school gals from 33 states are expected.

The meetings are sponsored by the non-profit International Cheerleading Foundation. Besides the emphasis on sounding exuberant with attendant enthusiastic gyrations when the local team is behind, there are some sidelines which will get a lot of attention.

★ ★ ★

A workshop experimental project showing the effectiveness of creating pep rallys skits, stunts and bonfires, also will be a highlight of the sessions.

Wedding Receptions Fete Four Couples

Carolyn Joy Matteson chose Trinity Missionary Church, Yale for her wedding Saturday to John Robert Trulock of Lorena Drive.

Following the afternoon ceremony performed by her father, the couple greeted guests at a reception in the church parlors. She is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Matteson of Yale.

The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jack Trulock asked Harold Faw to attend him as best man. Mrs. Dewayne Deron assisted the bride as honor attendant.

The new Mrs. Trulock was gowned in lace and organza over slipper satin. She carried a cascade bouquet of roses.

The couple is honeymooning in northern Michigan.

Van Trease-Galloway

Gowned in a traditional dress of tiered lace, Mary Ann Galloway became the bride of Richard Alan Van Trease. Their Saturday afternoon ceremony in United Methodist Church of Lake Orion was followed by a reception in the church dining room.

Carol Drahner stood as honor attendant for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh V. Galloway of Lake Orion. Ken Lenigan was best man in the wedding party of 11.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Van Trease of East Beverley Street and his bride are on a honeymoon trip through Michigan.

Doolin-Batchelor

St. Benedict's Catholic Church was chosen by Mary Ellen Batchelor for her recent wedding to James Stephen Doolin.

Their candlelight ceremony was followed by a reception in the church parlors.

* * *

The daughter of Mrs. Victor McGlashen of Camley Drive and the late Mr. McGlashen chose a gown of silver mist with lace accents. She carried carnations and roses.

Dale Doolin performed the duties of best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Doolin of Navara Street. Charlotte Batchelor was the honor attendant for her sister.

The couple is honeymooning in Florida.

Taylor-Ritchie

A reception in Maurice's followed the Saturday wedding of Deanne Lynn Ritchie and Michael Fredrick Taylor.

The bride chose a gown of silk organza with Chantilly lace appliques for the exchange of vows in First Baptist Church of Pontiac.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ritchie of South Cass Lake Road carried a cascade of roses. She was attended by matron of honor, Mrs. Kenneth Wollner.

On the esquire side, 2nd. Lt. Richard Jahn, USMC, performed the duties of best man for the son of Mrs. Robert O. Taylor of Detroit, and the late Mr. Taylor.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in Colorado where they will make their home.

NEW YORK (AP) — Gloria Diaz crossed her shapely legs, tugged at her mini dress, crinkled her nose smiled sweetly, and said, with happy incredulity:

"Why me? . . . I could have died. All those girls, girls with long blonde hair with pretty faces, sweet girls, nice girls. Why me? I never thought I'd win."

Brushing wayward strands of shoulder length black hair from her flawless coffee-with-cream colored complexion, the new Miss Universe talked about life and things with the enthusiasm of her 18 years and sophistication that usually comes later in life.

* * *

"Mother wasn't too much for it, my entering the Miss Phillippines contest. She's not a prude, but she didn't like the idea of my coming out in a bathing suit.

"Father didn't say much and I got my way."

"I didn't think I would, but then I won Miss Philippines, and it was time to go to Miami for the Miss Universe Pageant."

She said her friends, her parents, her nine sisters and her two brothers all told her not to worry about winning to concentrate on making friends and making her countrymen proud of her.

ROSEBUD MOUTH

"It's funny," she said, her rosebud mouth stretching into a smile her jet black eyes shining "but in Miami the reporters hardly bothered with me. Many thought I couldn't speak English, and besides there were all those beautiful girls.

"Can you believe it" she continued "but people kept asking 'where's the Philippines and how come you speak English so well?' Everyone speaks English at home, some better, some worse."

* * *

When she triumphed over girls from 60 countries to become the 18th Miss Universe Gloria recalls, her parents restrained their excitement.

* * *

"Father said, 'Don't let it go to your head, behave yourself, don't keep your dresses too short and come home soon.' Mother told me to behave myself and think before I open my mouth. But my sisters were all screaming on the telephone and I knew how happy everyone was."

Gloria said that six days weren't enough time to get used to her new title.

"It sounds like a joke, but can you imagine people asking for your autograph and writing your name and signing Miss Universe?

AMERICAN MEN

What does she think of American men?

"I met some in Miami Beach. They were all so nice" she said, adding with a chuckle that she'd like to date some but her chaperone won't allow it.

Gloria admitted that sometimes she wishes she didn't have a chaperone.

"I was first allowed to date only a year ago and only with a chaperone. My mother and father get nervous when I start to go out with only one boy.

* * *

Gloria says she'll probably return to school her second year of college after her year-long reign, but will switch from a major in commerce to something more stimulating like art. She left New York for Manila Saturday.

What was she most looking forward to?

"Going home to see my family," she said.

Polly's Pointers

Learn How to Listen

DEAR POLLY — Please tell Mrs. Talks Too Much to THINK FIRST or she will soon run out of anything to talk about, since she hasn't listened to learn anything new. I found this to be true in my own case.

* * *

When I would get home, I realized I had learned nothing because I had hogged all the conversation and was not considerate enough of others' judgment. Stop, thing and listen and you will be a happier person. — MRS. J. L. F.

* * *

DEAR POLLY — Regarding the "I talk too much" gal: This we all probably recognize as a nervous trait. At times I am afflicted with this, so I can sympathize. Even though these people are not always boring but quite often lively and interesting, they are nonetheless monopolizers.

* * *

My remedy has been to ask a question, then looking the person directly in the eye and paying strict attention to the reply. While they are answering, take a couple of deep breaths and try to relax. It is largely wound-up nerves. — ANOTHER YAKKER.

* * *

DEAR POLLY — I save old plastic dispensers for mustard or catsup, wash well and fill with liquid detergent. I keep these by my washing machine. This is ideal for applying detergent directly to collars, stains, spots and areas before dropping the article into the washer. It prevents waste. The amount you apply is controlled easily.

* * *

When pinning a pattern to material, I find that, instead of putting a pin at each side of a corner parallel to the pattern, one pin at a 45-degree angle at the corner is sufficient. It is easier to pin, pattern corners do not tear as easily and it saves time, too.—LOIS

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — I would like to change the color of an off-white plastic-covered over-stuffed chair to a darker shade. Can this be done by dyeing or what is best?—MRS. S. A. D.

* * *

You will receive a dollar if Polly uses your favorite homemaking idea, Polly's Problem or solution to a problem. Write Polly in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P. O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Prevents Fading

When sprinkling clothes for ironing, wrap each colored piece separately in plastic. This keeps them from fading on one another or on your clean white clothes. Where the atmosphere is hot and dry, it also keeps them from drying out too rapidly.

Never leave a spoon or metal object in a pot that you wish to come to a quick boil. The metal deflects the heat, lenthening the time to reach the boiling point.

Interlochen: Emphasizing Fine Arts

America's oldest summer school devoted to the fine arts—the National Music Camp at Interlochen — is one of Michigan's greatest attractions.

Founded in 1928 by the late Dr. Joseph E. Maddy with 115 students, the institution near Traverse City now attracts some 1,500 full-term students with more coming in for two-week sessions. They range from third grade through college age and come from all over the United States and some foreign countries.

Actually, music is only one of the opportunities offered Interlochen students, although the most important to many. Dancing, drama, art, nature study, swimming and a full recreation program compete for the students' time.

Dozens of concerts and other performances are presented each week. Noted musicians travel to Interlochen to participate in some of these. Van Cliburn, world-famous pianist, makes an annual appearance at Interlochen. Sixten Ehrling, conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, usually conducts at least one concert.

The Interlochen musicians present weekly radio programs and sometimes make tours from the camp to other Michigan areas. They have played in other parts of the country several times in the past.

After Dr. Maddy's death in 1966, Dr. Karl Haas, director of fine arts at radio station WJR, became president.

★ ★ ★

In 1960, Interlochen Arts Academy was established. This was a pioneer attempt to combine the accelerated study of high school academic subjects with intensive study of music, art, drama and the dance. Last December, the name was changed to Interlochen Center for the Arts.

The Pontiac area has always been well represented in the eight-week summer sessions.

Jersey Town's Racial Strife Has Big-City Overtones

JAMESBURG, N.J. (AP) — This rural community of 4,500 is having racial problems similar to big cities.

The disorders began July 14, a muggy day, just two years after one of the worst riots in the nation's history swept Newark, N.J., about 35 miles to the north.

★ ★ ★

Like the Newark disorders, the trouble in this sleepy, mile-square community was triggered by a relatively minor incident. In Newark, the arrest of Negro cabbie John W. Smith touched off five days of rioting that claimed 26 lives and ran property damage into the millions. In Jamesburg, an argument over a 26-cent ice cream cone touched off the disorders.

Police say the disorders have now subsided.

THE 'PATSY'

Charles DiBrizzi, an ex-convict who runs an ice cream stand, says he's been made a "patsy" in a racial situation that was bound to arise.

The trouble began when a fist-fight broke out at DiBrizzi's stand between his son and a Negro youth over who would pay for the ice cream cone of a 13-year-old girl. The girl Sonia Denise Gordon, later was hospitalized six days with an injury allegedly suffered in the incident, and DiBrizzi was charged with atrocious assault and battery.

★ ★ ★

As DiBrizzi, a 40-year-old Marine veteran decorated in Korea, tells it, he broke up the fight but did not touch the girl.

This incident triggered two nights of disorders which made the community acutely aware of the fact it has a racial problem.

SUBSTANDARD HOUSING

Some of the 9 per cent Negro population lives in substandard housing. Much of the Negro population is composed of second- and third-generation migrant workers from the South.

Many of these Negroes are angry youths who feel the town has treated them harshly and that they can't win for losing.

★ ★ ★

During the disorders, 15 persons, some of them white youths, were arrested. Several stores and other businesses, including the mayor's machine shop, were fire-bombed but no looting was reported. Police Chief Peter Giacomozzi said there were no serious injuries during the disorders.

Mayor Walter Mychalchyk, who took office in November, said the trouble was a result of a "generation gap" between white and Negro parents and their children. He said most of those involved were teen-agers.

'SHOCKED AT VICIOUSNESS'

"When the trouble started, the Negro town fathers tried to send their kids home," he said. "The white parents did the same thing. They were shocked to see how vicious their children could be."

Mychalchyk, who imposed an overnight curfew on the borough shortly after trouble began, said the disorders were planned.

★ ★ ★

"Plans for causing a disturbance were made a long time ago," he said. "They were just waiting for an incident to start it.

"There was some direction behind the whole thing. The police have discovered Molotov cocktails, chains, homemade knives and other weapons in various parts of town. They had them ready, and someone must have showed them how to use them."

A FEW HOURS LATER

DiBrizzi, who spent three years in prison in connection with the theft of a truckload of golf balls, said that during an angry confrontation at his ice cream stand, a militant Negro leader told him "Wait until Newark hears about this." A few hours later the trouble began.

DiBrizzi says that since the trouble started, Negroes have been boycotting his business. He also said the lives of himself and his family—a wife and four children—have been threatened.

"Jamesburg has never had a racial problem," DiBrizzi said. "The trouble at my stand was started by young hooligans. I was made a patsy, but I don't know the meaning of fear."

Charles Gray, head of the local antipoverty agency, says he feels DiBrizzi has been made a scapegoat. But he contends DiBrizzi and the rest of Jamesburg's white community has been guilty of an "omission of responsibility," resulting in the disorders.

FOUR DEMANDS

Negro leaders have asked the borough to grant four demands:

- Closing of DiBrizzi's ice cream stand.
- Thirty summer jobs for young Negroes at $1.50 hour.
- Building a recreation center.
- Lifting the curfew.

DiBrizzi and three of his supporters raised an American flag on top of the ice cream stand July 18. DiBrizzi said the flag will be lowered only when the curfew is lifted.

Mayor Mychalchyk says the borough has no authority to close the ice cream stand, has no more than four or five summer jobs available and no monthly recreation program.

Gray added a fifth demand, staged in a manner similar to a recreation center. He called for a "new initiative" by town leaders to improve the lot of the Negroes.

"There is hope for Jamesburg," Gray said. "I see Jamesburg as being a model city for the entire country. But this will not be done until the silent majority reacts to the needs of the poor."

Priorities Are Out of Whack

Moon Shot Is Mockery to Poor

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG JR.
Executive Director
National Urban League

The landing of men on the moon was an extraordinary feat, something only science fiction writers could imagine just a short time ago.

YOUNG

However, to America's 30 million poor people, the moon landing had little meaning, except perhaps to taunt a child with dreams of accomplishment the system places beyond his reach, or to flaunt affluence and power in the face of a man who can't afford to feed his family.

For the poor, the moon shot seems just another stunt, a circus act, a marvelous trick that leaves their poverty untouched.

★ ★ ★

It cost $35 billion to put two men on th moon. It would take $10 billion to lift every poor person in this country above the official poverty standard this year.

Something's wrong somewhere.

NO JUSTIFICATION

The astronauts are brave, talented men. The scientists and engineers who put them into space are brilliant, hard-working people. The men who conceived of our space effort are bold, imaginative men who made mankind's historic dreams come true.

But what kind of priorities can justify putting man on the moon while children go hungry on earth.

★ ★ ★

The whole space program got under way in 1961 when President John F. Kennedy said: "This nation should commit itself to achieving the goal, before this decade is out, of landing a man on the moon and safely returning him to earth."

Well, we did it. It proves above all, that this country can do anything it sets out to do; it can accomplish anything it really wants. It has the resources and the know-how to succeed.

What if another goal had been announced back in 1961? What if the nation had been mobilized behind the goal of ending poverty and the racism that causes so much of it?

All this with a timetable, just as in the space program — a target date for victory.

★ ★ ★

By now, poverty would be a thing of the past. Instead of worrying about inadequate housing, not enough jobs, and racial tensions in the cities, we would be a slumless society with equality and opportunity for all.

Isn't that a goal worth mobilizing a nation behind?

NOT TOO LATE

It's not too late. We can still do it. The best opportunity was missed. Back in 1961, we were still singing "We Shall Overcome," and the nation was just about ready to enter a period of idealism and social energy.

But it's time for another try. It will take leadership; bold imaginative leadership — the kind, unfortunately, we don't seem to be getting from an administration dragging its heels on civil rights and economic opportunity.

★ ★ ★

But now's the time to set a new national priority; to do what should have been done years ago.

We've put man on the moon, now it's time to see what we can do for those here on earth.

Opening lead—♦ Q

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

The bidding is Jeff Rubens'. In discussing this hand in his book, "The Secrets of Winning Bridge," Jeff also gives the early play.

South wins the diamond lead with dummy's ace, place the four of spades and finesses the queen. When West drops the 10, South leads a club to dummy's queen, takes a second spade finesse, picks up East's king and cashes his ace and king of clubs.

★ ★ ★

The clubs fail to break, so South can either take six or try a heart finesse for an overtrick. South has noted that East started with seven black cards and West with three, so that West held 10 red cards to East's six. Therefore, the odds that West holds the queen of hearts are 10 to six.

In rubber bridge, of course, South wastes no time thinking about the heart finesse. You don't risk the slam for 30 points extra.

In match point duplicate, South would be just about as silly to try for the overtrick.

★ ★ ★

It would be good policy if South could be certain that every other North-South pair would have contracted for six spades, but the one thing that South can be sure of is that most pairs will have settled for game.

South's jump to three spades was a slight overbid, if anything, and North's five-spade call a distinct overbid.

At best, South would be risking a very good score for bidding the slam in an effort to get an extra half match point or so for the overtrick.

The CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	1 N.T.	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ A K 8 5 4 ♥ Q 6 5 ♦ A K 10 9 4 ♣ 3

What do you do now?

A—Bid three diamonds. There may still be a slam if your partner has diamonds.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner rebids to three no-trump. What do you do now?

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR

For Wednesday

Day favorable for fishing, planting. In grooming, accent the delicate, the subtle. Many today will be looking at your feet, shoes, hosiery. Some today are supersensitive and appear to possess extrasensory perception. PISCES is spotlighted and those born under that sign capture news headlines.

★ ★ ★

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Complete current task. You are due to gain recognition. Know this and be persistent. Throw off secret fears. Those you imagine as enemies may turn out to be allies.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You get glow that comes from knowing you have friends. Socialize. Express yourself. Be creative. Accept invitations. Accent your hopes, desires. You can take steps to fulfill them today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Accent on how you handle authority. Means avoid even a hint of arrogance. You could be due for promotion. Follow through on hunch. Learn by teaching; share knowledge.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Good lunar aspect today coincides with long-range planning, possible journey. Expand horizons. Realize your possessions should not possess you. Message eminently clear by tonight.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You become aware of financial needs, potential. Important to read between the lines. Legacies, gifts may have catch to them. Be a shrewd observer.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You are curious. Your mood is one of experimentation. You investigate, learn. You find out what others expect of you—you become knowledgeable about your own capabilities.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): All may not be as harmonious as desired. But at least you get to root of irritating situation. You find out why—and what to do about it. Includes work, health, relations with neighbors.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Activity indicated with children. Also emphasis on creative endeavors, hobbies. Do what you enjoy and you will do it well. Don't try to talk yourself into something that's not for you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You receive response from unusual request. Be ready with facts, figures. Potential is great. Emphasis on ability to move quickly. Be versatile, alert and ready.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Take special care in traffic. You may be able to make do with what you already possess. Means avoid extravagance. Stick to quality; utilize experience.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): There can be multiple areas of fulfillment. You have something worthwhile to give. Others respond; you profit through unique presentation.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Your judgment, intuition are sharp today. Also your ability to be at right place at right time is enhanced. Know this; exude air of confidence. Welcome new contacts, challenges.

Daily Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Tuesday, July 29th, the 210th day of 1969 with 155 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter.

The morning stars are Venus and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1914, the first transcontinental telephone linkup was completed with a conversation between New York and San Francisco.

In 1945, B29 bombers dropped 3,500 tons of fire bombs on six Japanese cities which had been warned earlier that week.

In 1967, 129 men were killed when fire swept the aircraft carrier USS Forrestall off the coast of Vietnam.

In 1968, Pope Paul upheld the prohibition of all artificial means of birth control for Roman Catholics.

Policeman Guilty of Slight Error in Identification

MILLVILLE, N.J. (UPI) — Tony R. Skura was fined $10 for obstructing traffic — over his protest that the "she" he was accused of talking with was a "he."

Skura was tiketed for driving alongside another car at a slow rate of speed and carrying on a shouting conversation with the other driver.

The policeman who issed the ticket testified Skura was talking to a girl in the other car. "That was no girl in the car," Skura said. "It was a boy with long hair."

"These days its sometimes hard to tell the boys from the girls," Judge Daniel J. Grosso agreed.

Poultry and Eggs

DETROIT EGGS

DETROIT (AP)—(USDA)—Egg prices paid per dozen by first receivers (including U.S.): GGrade A jumbo 52-54; extra large 50-51; large 45-50; mediu 34-37; small 21-22.

Market unsettled. Local distributive trade is slow to just fair. Jobbing sales and demand is very quiet as the wait and see attitude prevails. Supplies of large are more than adequate. Mediums are plentiful but clearing very well. Jumbos and extra larges, and smalls are in light supply and short of full need.

CHICAGO (AP) — Butter: wholesale selling prices were unchanged; 93 score AA 67.644; 92 A 67.644; 90 B unquoted.

Eggs: prices paid delivered to Chicago were unchanged; 80 per cent or better grade A whites 48-51; mediums white, extras 35½-36½; standards 34-35; checks unquoted.

Bargain Hunting Reported

Stock Market Receives Boost

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market got a boost from reported bargain hunting and pushed into higher ground in active trading early this afternoon.

★ ★ ★

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 5.37 at 811.60. The DJI had been off more than a point after the first half-hour of trading but turned and began to climb after that. The indicator tumbled 11.83 Monday to 806.23, the lowest it had closed since Jan. 5, 1967.

Advances led declines by better than 100 issues.

Brokers said the early advance was largely technical in nature and resulted from the "market's extremely oversold condition."

"The prices of certain issues fell so sharply recently that they apparently were at levels some traders found irresistible," an analyst said.

He said the stepup in volume indicated that "the big institutions are starting to get a bit more aggressive"

He added that the market continued to be overhung by economic uncertainties and the advance could fade.

★ ★ ★

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.0 at 287.8, with industrials up 2.4, rails up .2, and utilities unchanged.

★ ★ ★

Resorts International Class A, most-active on the American Stock Exchange, was off 1⅜ at 19⅞. A 126,400-share block of the issue was traded.

Medicaid Critic Airs Objections

Knowles Cites Flaws in 'Poor Program'

BOSTON (AP) — The health of the nation comes first, the cost is secondary, says Dr. John H. Knowles, a leading critic of Medicaid.

"Our primary purpose is to first of all, save lives. And secondly, we want to save money," Knowles said in an interview.

★ ★ ★

Knowles, 43, is director of Massachusetts General Hospital. He was proposed by Secretary Robert H. Finch for the post of assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, only to have the offer withdrawn when opposition developed.

★ ★ ★

The Medicare program is federally funded and provides hospital and doctor insurance for persons 65 or older, no matter what their economic need. Knowles thinks it is "generally a good program, with quality and utilization controls in hospitals, which have worked in the public interest."

'NO STANDARD'S

Medicaid is funded by federal and state money to provide health care to the poor and needy, no matter what their age. Knowles calls it a "poor program with no standards, no quality controls."

On the plus side for Medicare, so far as Knowles is concerned, is its funding from "trust funds," largely the Social Security tax, which he said is "less subject to cutbacks than general tax funds."

★ ★ ★

Another plus, he said, is that hospitals are required to establish utilization control committees to generally review whether Medicare patients needed hospitalization, and for the length of time they received it, and whether they got proper treatment.

Conservative Voices Tell of Mart Bargains

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — As the credit vise tightens and forecasts of business profits turn bearish, a faint and seemingly contradictory pulsation is emanating from some of the traditionally conservative large investors.

CUNNIFF

Their messages aren't coming through very strong as yet, for business faces many problems in coming months. And cautious recommendations are doing little to burn away the thick smog that has enveloped traders in recent months.

★ ★ ★

The messages can be detected, however, and they are based not so much on expectations of a business upturn six months ahead as they are on the realization that some of the blue chips are, simply, selling at very low prices.

Typical of the outlook by some conservative financial men is that of John Wright, a large investor and stock market adviser who deals only in blue chips.

IMPORTANT THING

"For seasoned and serious investors," Wright maintains, "the important thing now is not whether the Dow Jones industrial average has bottomed or, if not, just where it will.

"Rather it is the unmistakable fact that today's stock market now offers a buying opportunity which normally occurs only at intervals of three to five years. . . ."

★ ★ ★

There is, says Wright, "every historic precedent for the assurance that today's purchases of high-quality equities will by 1970-71 prove to have been highly rewarding."

Argus Research Corp., whose economic and stock market reports are widely used by brokerage houses and institutional investors, still advises caution but adds a phrase gradually becoming popular.

SELECTIVE PURCHASE

This caution, Argus states, "does not preclude the selective purchase of high-quality growth stocks for long-term accumulation.

"While bonds and utility stocks may go lower yet, they are probably not too far from their cyclical lows and should rise nicely by next winter."

★ ★ ★

Neither of these advisers is a broker dependent upon stock market activity for commissions They receive their fees regardless of the positions they take or the amount of trading that results from their advisories.

Some of the buying interest of conservative investors seems to be based partly on the theory of contrary opinion, the assumption being that when an attitude becomes a vogue, such as selling, the opposite course might be wise.

MAY MOVE AHEAD

Some of the interest might be fueled also by the economic forecasts for the next year which indicate that, despite the present focus on negative news and the developing slowdown, the economy may begin to move ahead in 1970.

For example, Lionel Edie & Co., a consultant to business on economic and financial matters, issued a few days ago a report that reached this conclusion:

"Although economic growth will decline to about $13 billion or $14 billi0on in the next three quarters, forces of strength are gathering and will produce a strong pickup in the second half of 1970."

More of the conservative interest, however, may be based in the knowledge that scores of economists and other seers foresee in the 1970s an economic surge that might make preceding booms sound more like the tick-tock of a clock.

In almost every instance, the brokerage houses that presently are bedeviled by the short-range outlook forecast for the 1970s a surge in stock prices. Aware of this, some conservatives now look upon today's prices as buys.

Weather Costs 6 Lives in N.J., Lake Michigan

By United Press Internatinnal

Additional rains of up to one-half inch fell late yesterday on areas of the mid-Atlantic states hit by up to six inches of precipitation Sunday and yesterday. Storm-tossed waters of Lake Michigan claimed three lives and three persons died on rain-swept highways in upstate New York.

Coastal areas in New Jersey were under as much as three feet of water and several inches of water-covered commuter routes in Newark, Camden and other parts of the state, creating massive traffic snarls.

★ ★ ★

A major flood warning was issued for New Jersey after flooded streams triggered mudslides.

Waves and wind smashed into Green Bay, Wis., destroying docks and boathouses. A Milwaukee, Wis., man was killed when he was thrown from his boat.

FALLS INTO LAKE

In Chicago, a 10-year-old boy fell into the lake and was swept to his death by seven-foot waves. The third victim, a youth from Zeeland, Mich., drowned when he was swept from a pier at Holland, Mich.

More than five inches of rain fell in a 24-hour period in parts of upstate New York, more than the normal total for the entire month.

★ ★ ★

Many secondary roads were washed out and power lines and trees were felled. A tornado caused some damage at Goshen, in Orange County. Three persons died on rain-slick highways.

Showers and thundershowers continued over the southern border states and over the Rockies. Elsewhere, sunny and dry conditons prevailed.

★ ★ ★

Early morning temperatures ranged from 50 at Kalispell, Mont., to 92 at Blythe and Needles, Calif.

Hospital Change Probe Is Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, (D-Mich) today announced he has requested a Senate investigation of the decision to convert the Detroit Public Health Service Hospital to an outpatient clinic.

Hart called for hearings before the Labor and Public Welfare Committee to determine policy on the future of Public Health Service hospitals.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — Are Railweight and Flying Tiger worth holding? If not, what are suitable switches? — B. G.

A — Both stocks are identified with freight transportation — a basic segment of the national economy — yet their speculative characteristics are totally different.

Railweight, a small outfit with gross revenues of $515,000 in fiscal 1968, is largely dependent on the struggling railroad industry to buy its freight-weighing systems. Recognition of their value is gradually building up here and abroad but progress is slow.

Flying Tiger's revenues of $16.7 million in 1968 were about 60 per cent generated from military contracts. The company is striving to increase its commercial business; hence its new transpacific route award is a significant development. Earnings are moving up again this year whereas Railweight is likely to report another deficit.

I'd sell Railweight and hold Flying Tiger for price recovery. If you would like a lower-priced speculative issue, I suggest Livingston Oil, recently recommended for its growing stake in cable-TV. As a more conservative selection I like Tenneco, which is trading on a somewhat higher level.

Q — Last April you pointed up the strong growth prospects in the country's Southwest. But in selecting utilities likely to benefit therefrom you omitted El Paso Natural Gas. We've been told it would be a "good thing." — G. S.

A — I agree and had already recommended purchase of ELG in an early March column which you must have missed. The company's nonregulated speculative operations are promising: participation in Gasbuggy's nuclear blasting tests, an important stake in a major copper discovery in Arizona and production of petrochemicals, plastics and man-made fibers.

The $1.00 annual dividend provides an attractive yield and estimated earnings of $1.50 for 1969 produce a P-E multiple of 13x, the low end of the stock's 10-year range. The bulk of 1968 revenues (64.2 per cent) came from natural gas production and distribution.

Currently the company is involved in working out a plan acceptable to the U.S. Supreme Court for divestiture of its Pacific Northwest Pipeline properties.

Soviet Union Rejects Seabed Arms Claim

GENEVA (AP) — Alexei A. Roshchin, chief Soviet delegate at the 19-nation disarmament conference, rejected today the U.S. claim that there are no realistic possibilities for conventional military uses of the seabed.

A Soviet draft treaty calls for complete demilitarization of the seabed. The rival U.S. draft wants the ban restricted to nuclear arms and weapons of mass destruction.

★ ★ ★

"We believe that the weapons designed to strike ships and disrupt sea communications with a view to cutting economic and trade ties among states represent a no lesser danger for peace and world security," Roshchin said.

After a reference to World War II torpedo mines, which surface and speed after a passing ship, Roshchin said: "With the modern rates of development of science and technology one cannot rule out the possibility that new types of conventional weapons may appear and be used to strike, from the seabed, both ships and against the territories of states.

DEFINITE DANGER

"It is impossible to agree with the argument that there are not now, nor will there be in the future, realistic possibilities for a conventional use of the seabed," Roshchin added.

"Objective data point to the contrary, namely that there definitely exists a danger that an arms race may ensue in this direction."

★ ★ ★

Roshchin also refused to make allowances for another U.S. argument that some military uses of the seabed, such as submarine tracking stations, are strictly defensive.

"If we choose to exclude from the prohibition some categories of weapons, then the same vicious circle may appear in this particular field that has plagued the entire record of the arms race," he said.

3-MILE LIMT

He added that experience has shown that if one side perfects a military weapon, then the other side tries to go one better, and so on.

"Exceptions from the prohibition might result in states continuing the arms race on the seabed," he said.

Roshchin further rejected the U.S. proposal that a treaty should not be operative beyond the three-mile limit.

★ ★ ★

He said this could cause great difficulties for foreign ships and planes inspecting installations as many countries' territorial waters extend beyond three miles. The Soviet draft calls for a 12-mile territorial waters limit

In another development, the United States and the Soviet Union agreed on a list of new members for the disarmament conference, a qualified Western source reported.

6 NEW PARTCIPANTS

Argentina, Holland, Hungary, Morocco, Pakistan and Yugoslavia are reliably reported to be the nations concerned which would boost the number of participating countries to 25.

The original 18-nation group set up in 1962 had only 17 participating members because France has boycotted the talks. Earlier this month Japan and Mongolia boosted the number to 19.

City to Mull Tip Rewards

The Pontiac City Commission tonight will decide whether to reenact the offer it made last year of a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of persons who interfere with police or firemen.

The recommendation, made by City Manager Joseph A. Warren, would also offer the reward to citizens who supply information regarding fire bombings in the city.

★ ★ ★

Warren said the reward was offered last year and a noticeable cutback in malicious destruction complaints was observed. No one won the award last year.

The commission will meet at 8 p.m. at City Hall, 450 E. Wide Track.

Fingerprints Key to Motel Murder?

Police are trying to identiy fingerprints found at the Waterford Township motel where a night clerk was robbed of $100 and murdered Sunday night.

Pontiac State Police Detective Max Waterbury said the fingerprints found at the Highlander Motel, 2201 Dixie, are being analyzed by the state police crime lab in East Lansing.

Vincent E. Priest, 54, was found in the motel office with a 22-caliber slug in the back of his head. An autopsy showed he was shot at close range.

Waterbury said he is still trying to track down a few people renting rooms at the motel to see if they saw anything suspicious betwe en 9:30 and 10 p.m., when Priest is believed to have been shot.

New Smoking Hazards Cited

Public Health Service Levels Third Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Cigarette smoking continues to be confirmed as a serious health hazard to the people of this country, one which is the cause of much unnecessary disease and death."

That's how Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch introduced Monday the Public Health Service's third report on smoking.

The 135-page document cited new links with disease, summarized previous findings, and added "no substantial negative evidence has appeared which refutes these judgments."

New evidence was uncovered connecting cigarette smoking and heart attacks, cancer of the throat, emphysema, non-cancerous mouth disorders, pregnancy troubles.

PIPES ABSOLVED

Cigars and pipes continued to be generally absolved.

Charcoal filters, in the words of a doctor who worked on that section of the report are ineffective and "not worth a damn."

In part, the report, which is a summary of more than 600 separate studies by physicians and scientists last year, added these points to the anti-smoking argument.

● "Cigarette smoking is the most important agent in the development of pulmonary emphysema in man." Warning signs of possible emphysema were present in 97 of 100 cigarette smokers and six of 10 exsmokers in one study group.

● "It appears that maternal smoking during pregnancy may be associated with an increased incidence of spontaneous abortion, stillbirth, and neo-natal death."

● Besides damage to the heart muscle and heart tissue, cigarette smoking now is seen to affect increases in the hardening of artery walls, and the deposit of fatty material that can close an artery.

REPORT REQUIRED

The report was required under a 1965 law which required the health warning on cigarette packages while banning further government regulation until July 1 this year.

The House voted last month to continue this ban for another six years while requiring a slightly stiffer warning. The vote was considered a victory for the tobacco industry. The Senate has yet to act on the measure.

Seized Stock of Bookstore Is Returned

KALAMAZOO (AP) — The seized stock of a Kalamazoo "adult" bookstore was returned Monday.

The material taken last Tuesday, was returned on the advice of Kalamazoo County Prosecutor Donald A. Burge, who had conferred with attorney John Piggott of Bay City.

★ ★ ★

Piggott represents 19-year-old John McGinnis, a store clerk who was arrested in the seizure.

Two Kalamazoo policemen had entered the store last Tuesday looking for a parole violator. After viewing the merchandise, they arrested McGinnis and seized books, magazines, films and other items.

NOTES DECISIONS

Burge, who noted several court decisions pointing to the need for a court hearing to issue a search warrant in such cases, said no decision had yet been made whether to continue prosecution of the clerk.

Police had raided the same store Jan. 14 using a search warrant and still hold material seized in that raid.

★ ★ ★

The store's operator, 26-year-old Harry Mohney of Durand, faces a felony charge of conspiracy to violate state obscenity laws.

Nun Gains Hospital Administrative Post

★ ★ ★

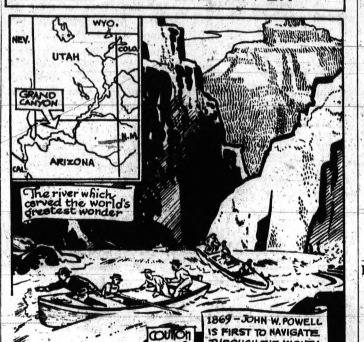
She previously studied hospital administration at the University of Minnesota, was a nurse in Battle Creek and Port Huron and studied at Mercy College and Mercy School of Nursing in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Sister Marie joins two lay assistant administartors, and associate administrator and Administrator Sister Mary Xavier on the administrative staff.

Outlays for the U.S. Department of Agriculture in the fiscal year 1970 are proposed to be about $7 billion dollars.

Junior Editors Quiz on COLORADO RIVER



QUESTION: How many states does the Colorado River flow through?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: The Colorado is one of the most fabulous and interesting of American rivers. It originates in the Rocky Mountains, just west of the Continental Divide — that magic mountain sky line.

There, streams on the east side dash down to become such rivers as the Missouri and Platte, and those on the west plunge westward, such as the Colorado, which after wandering for 1,450 miles, empties ultimately into the Gulf of California.

Actually, the Colorado only flows through, or crosses, parts of three states, Colorado, Utah and Arizona. But tributaries reach it which have originated in New Mexico and Nevada, and it flows along the boundary between Nevada and Arizona as well as that between Arizona and California — with the result that its waters touch the soil of six different states.

The glory of the Colorado is the marvelous Grand Canyon, where the river has cut a gigantic gash down through the earth's surface, creating a spectacle more awe-inspiring than anything else on our planet.

We show the historic boat trip by Maj. John Wesley Powell in 1869, which first brought the wonders of the Grand Canyon to the attention of Americans.

FACTORY CARS
90 per cent of our cars have never been titled to a private indiv. These 1969 and 1968 models are like brand new. The bugs are ironed out, and the big new car price has been taken off, so the savings are all yours.

You must come, see, and drive these factory cars, and you will experience the ultimate in luxury driving of these factory cars. Our cars have as low as 1000 miles, and carry a full factory warranty. Come and see why our business is just booming.

Also, we have many second car trades, that have been traded on our factory cars that you may choose for second cars for your teen-agers.

People in the News

By the Associated Press

Elvis Presley makes his first public stage appearance in eight years Thursday when he opens a four-week engagement at the International Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev.

Presley, 34, has confined himself to films since he last performed live at the Battleship Arizona war memorial at Pearl Harbor in 1961.

Actor's Son Gets Prison for LSD Possession

York McGavin, 18-year-old son of actor Darren McGavin, has been sentenced in Los Angeles to an indeterminate federal prison term for possession for sale of more than 8,000 LSD tablets.

Young McGavin and a companion, Scott Anthony Weaver, 19, pleaded guilty June 24. Weaver was sentenced to five years probation yesterday. McGavin's sentence was stayed until Aug. 11 so he could complete his high school education at a summer session.

A court spokesman said young McGavin's release from prison would depend on the judgment of parole officials, and that he might serve as long as five years.

Actress to Meet Polio Victim at End of Walk

A crippled polio victim who is walking the length of Britain on crutches for charity will be met at the end of his walk next month by film star Elizabeth Taylor and her once-crippled adopted daughter, Maria, 9.

MISS TAYLOR

The actress and her husband, Richard Burton, decided to give 21-year-old David Rider some practical encouragement after reading he was disheartened at the lack of public interest in his venture.

David set out from John O'Groats, the northerly tip of Scotland, 39 days ago to walk the 900 miles to Lands End, the southwesterly tip of England.

Sponsors gave him $240 and he put in $480 of his own savings.

Now the Burtons have offered to pay all his expenses.

"We were very moved to read of this remarkable young man's extraordinary feat," said Burton.

Actor's Widow to Start Fight Against Cigarettes

A pretty blonde Los Angeles mother of six children begins a fight today against what she calls her husband's killer-cigarettes.

She's Peggy Talman, 40, widow of William Talman who played the always-defeated district attorney on the Perry Mason television show. Talman died of lung cancer this year.

"Since his death, the children and I have carried on his fight in any way we can," says Mrs. Talman.

Today she flies to Sacramento to urge passage of a pending bill outlawing cigarette advertising in California. She wants to visit each member of the Assembly Committee on Commerce and Public Utilities, now considering the bill.

"I'm really an amateur at this," says Mrs. Talman. "I hope that I won't do or say the wrong thing." If she succeeds, she'll go to Washington to urge similar national legislation — if she can get a baby sitter. The Talman children range in age from 3 to 21.

Actor's Job 'Like College'

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Bill Bixby formed the fingers of both hands into a large sphere and said, "I've got an adrenalin gland this big and it throbs!"

He laughed and added, "Somebody asked me if I was on speed. I said, no, that's just me."

★ ★ ★

When you talk to Bixby you conclude that he was born with his engine racing and that he could leave "Road Runner" winded.

★ ★ ★

At present he is wrapped up in ABC's "The Courtship of Eddie's Father," for which he is star, sometime director and occasional writer. The show is set for Wednesdays in the fall.

'MORE RESPONSIBLE'

"I'm allowed to care about more than just myself," he said. "It makes me more responsible. This job is like going to college. I'm working my way through college.

★ ★ ★

"When I got this show and they let me act and write and direct, it was the first time I knew I was on this business for the rest of my life. As an actor you never know."

★ ★ ★

His eyes shine with enthusiasm behind his oversize, gold-rimmed glasses, and when he talks he bounces about and plucks at your coast and grasps you by the arm.

BASED ON MOVIE

"Courtship" is based on the movie and has been kicking around MGM for sometime as a television series. Bixby, 35 and single, was first suggested as the star three years ago, but ABC said at the time he was too young. When they couldn't cast the part it finally came back to Bixby.

His partner is James Komack, his co-star, producer, and author of the pilot script. "Jimmy and I have total control," Bixby said. "If we fail we can look at each other and say, hey, it's our fault. But if we succeed, we can say, hey, we did it ourselves. We have control, which is rare in television."

★ ★ ★

Bixby was discovered in the true Hollywood tradition. He was a lifeguard at a Hollywood hotel. Unfortunately, his discoverer was an advertising man from Detroit and he took a circuitous route through automobile commercials that eventually led to television roles and his first series, "My Favorite Martian."

★ ★ ★

In "Courtship," Bixby plays the widowed father of a small boy, played by 6-six-old Brandon Cruz. The two have an unusual relationship. First, Bixby generally directs Brandon and for a while was the only one who could direct him. "He identifies with personal things. If I'm not there he'll say the words, but it's not real unless I'm there."

BORROWS BAY

Second: "His parents let me borrow him one week a month. I wipe his nose, I take him to the park and sit there with all the other fathers. I guess they think I'm divorced, too.

★ ★ ★

"Brandon is very physical and so am I," he said. "We like to touch. After shooting he runs over and jumps into my lap. There's more love off camera because we don't want the show to get syrupy. And we have to watch it to see that I don't usurp the parents' authority."

COMPOSER DIES — Frank Loesser who wrote the words and music for numerous tunes and Broadway musicals, died yesterday of lung cancer in New York City. The composer-producer was 59.

Banking Hours Expanded by Auto-Teller

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Enter the perfect bank teller. No delays. No short changing. No overpaying. No chitchat. No banker's hours.

It's the Sumitomo Bank's Bankomat, a 24-hour-a-day money machine.

★ ★ ★

Push in your cash card. A door swings open. Type your code number on a keyboard inside. Name an amount—one to five $20 bills. The money slips out through a slot.

★ ★ ★

If there is not enough money in your Sumitomo checking account, or if you use the wrong number, or if you have used the machine in the past 24 hours, the Bankomat swallows your card. You have to go to the bank to reclaim it.

NO MISTAKES

"This is the only machine of its kind," a bank official says.

Since the machine was loaded with $10,000 two weeks ago, neither it nor the few selected card-carrying customers have made a mistake, the bank says.

CENTERVILLE (AP) —Voters in the Centerville School District have approved an 11½-mill school operating levy by a vote of 319 to 116. A similar proposal for 12½ mills failed on June 9.

Poll in Massachusetts Backs Kennedy

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Globe said today that 78 per cent of the 517 Massachusetts voters questioned in a telephone poll favored Sen. Edward M. Kennedy remaining in his Senate seat.

A copyright story on the survey also said 84 per cent of a representative sample of the Massachusetts public approve of the way Kennedy is handling himself in his job as senator. Five per cent disapproved and 11 per cent had no opinion.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy asked the voters of his state last Friday to help him decide whether he should remain in office after the auto accident that took the life of a young Washington secretary.

The Globe said trained interviewers from the Becker Research Corp. talked with the 517 Massachusetts residents, 18 years or older, between 3 p.m. Saturday and 8 p.m. Sunday.

BACKED FOR PRESIDENCY

Kennedy appeared more popular in Boston than in suburbs or other parts of the state, the poll showed. Fully 70 per cent of the Boston sample favored Kennedy for a presidential nomination some time in the future.

In Baltimore, Md., 61 per cent of the persons responding to a television station's telephone poll Monday night said they feel Kennedy should resign from the Senate.

WMAR-TV said about 7,300 calls were received by the station during the 3½ hours the automatic telephone call counters were operating.

In Logan, W.Va., 1,025 Logan County residents signed a telegram to Kennedy asking him to "continue in the good work that you are in, in the Senate, and for us all."

WILL SUPPORT HIM

Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, leader of the Democratic party in Illinois, said he hopes Kennedy will remain in public him.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., a close associate of Kennedy's, said it would be a "tragic loss if he resigned. I think in the long run the American people are inclined to give a man the benefit of the doubt."

In Hyannis Port, Mass., another group of pickets marched past the Kennedy compound Monday, demanding answers to questions remaining about the accident in which Kennedy was involved 12 days ago.

★ ★ ★

As on Sunday night, youthful residents of Hyannis Port pelted the pickets with eggs, many of them finding their mark.

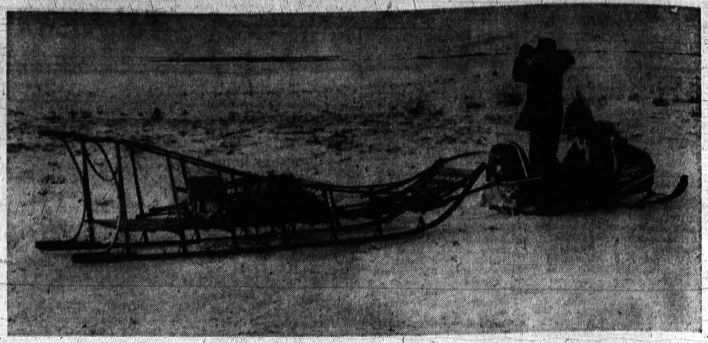
Vehicles Replace Dogs in Alaska

Snowmobile Handy on Hunt



DOG TEAM REPLACEMENT — Binoculars in hand, the author's husband, Charlie Sheldon, scans the landscape near Shungnak for caribou, which remain the "staff of life." The snowmobile is replacing dog teams in many parts of the Arctic.

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Following is the third in a series of four stories by Bernice Schmidt Sheldon, who grew up near Minden City in the Thumb of Michigan. Married to Charlie Sheldon, an Eskimo, she now makes her home in the native town of Shungnak, 50 miles north of the Artic Circle in the interior of Alaska).

By BERNICE S. SHELDON

SHUNGNAK, Alaska — During our first three months here, Charlie's friends kept us supplied with fish and caribou. Then in January we bought a snowmobile and I became the dealer for them. Charlie had given the two snowmobiles he bought last year to relatives.

Charlie took me along on our new "Iron-Dog", as some call the snowmobile, when he went out caribou hunting in February. We traveled some 20 miles from Shungnak to vast flat plain where we heard the caribou were migrating.

★ ★ ★

This area was the reindeer herding grounds that Charlie knew well as a child. We stopped the snowmobile and Charlie studied the landscape with binoculars and spied several herds of caribou while I spotted and picked frozen blueberries.

We got within about a half mile of a small herd of 11 bulls when they raced away. We took chase, slowing when the herd slowed down.

EASILY FRIGHTENED

The caribou, a large reindeer, is easily frightened.

When we were within shooting range the herd stopped and each animal lined up facing us.

After a shot was fired the herd fled, but one animal was wounded and soon fell behind the herd. At a closer distance it was killed with a pistol (pistol shells are cheaper than rifle shells).

Charlie gutted and partially skinned the animal. It was loaded on the dogsled, towed behind the snowmobile, and hauled to the trail where it was unloaded to wait our return. Charlie spotted another herd of 25 bulls and we gave chase.

It all reminded me of what hunting buffalo might have been like.

Charlie shot two more. One animal had only a broken leg and the caribou, rather than attempting to escape, limped slowly toward us. It dipped out of sight as it crossed a small frozen lake. Then coming up the bank it looked and turned.

Charlie could have shot it before it turned but for some reason he chose to chase it. We picked up the first caribou he had killed and arrived home after being out hunting for seven hours.

One caribou was given to Charlie's sister, Vera, and the other two will provide us with meat for about three months. Each animal has about 300 pounds of meat and bone. The frozen carcass if left outdoors and pieces of meat for dinner are sawed off each day.

NO WILD TASTE

I cook caribou in a pressure cooker without thawing the meat or giving it any special preparation. The meat has no wild taste and could easily be mistaken for beef. When ground, caribou makes excellent hamburger, spaghetti meat, and meat loaf.

During the warm months of June and July, while the caribou herds have left the area, people use meat they have previously dried, and eat fish daily. I plan to can caribou in tin cans. Canning in tin will be a new experience for me.

In Shungnak, there are about an equal number of dog teams and snowmobiles. Some people have both.

Dogs are expensive transportation in terms of time required to care for them. The fish for the dogs must be cooked each day during the long winter.

Today, as more men have cash incomes from summer jobs, the snowmobile is taking the place of the dog team.

Still the dog teams have their moments of glory. One day a dog team came into town pulling on its sled a broken-down snowmobile. The dog team driver was perched on the seat of the snowmobile.

★ ★ ★

With a snowmobile, people drive 10 miles up the river to Kobuk to shop at another store or go to the next town to visit friends and relatives for an evening. People from the two neighboring towns come to Shungnak to see the show or go to the bingo games.

Charlie made a trip to Kobuk just to get a hunting license in the same manner that my brother at Minden City would drive to the nearest hardware to get his license.

Once after visiting Charlie's family, we returned by snowmobile from Ambler by a route that was approximately 50 miles. This trip seemed shorter than a trip by car to Port Huron used to seem as a child.

While travel is easy, communications are not as good as "back home." Shungnak has a mail plane from Kotzebue twice a week when the weather permits flying.

I have received letters sent from Minden City by regular mail in three days. On the other hand, one letter from Anchorage took 12 days to arrive here.

There are no telephones or television. There is a short-wave radio in the school. Telegrams are sent and received by radio. Also by radio the medical side communicates each day with the doctor in Kotzebue describing medical problems and receiving directions for treatment.

LOOK TO EDUCATED

The community looks to an educated person for assistance. I was nominated for native store assistant manager but declined since it is one of the few full-time jobs and I felt a native deserved the work. After living here four months, I was asked to be welfare agent and food stamp program agent. I accepted these positions.

Several people receive old age assitance and several get aid to families with dependent children. With prices being as much as twice as high as in Michigan, the food stamp program is very important.

I was able to assist several people in making out income tax forms and am called on to write letters about people's personal business when they have problems. I have a delightful visit with an elderly widow each time she brings her Sears catalog for me to make out her order.

With my background of teaching, I feel my contribution to the community can be made through the children. We have frequent visits from children. Some come to look at books since most homes have few or no books. They came to talk, to play or just to stare.

HOLDS CLASS

In February, I began holding a one-hour class five days a week for the three girls who are 5 and will begin school next fall. The public school does not have kindergarten.

★ ★ ★

With their limited experiences and the fact that they learn English as a second language, the Eskimo children do not seem to learn as "spontaneously" as those on the "outside"

These children have no television from which to learn. Sending men to the moon will have little meaning to these three girls since they have never seen a rocket blast off on TV as most American children have.

My three "Head Start" students are havig first-time experiences painting with water colors, playing with puppets, learning songs and nursery rhymes, doing the Hokey Pokey, trying to verbalize in English, and hearing stories.

But these classes can only partly make up for the difference in culture and language, and the lack of a "Captain Kangaroo."

Stopping Points On Presidential Tour

Political Confusion in India Clouds Itinerary for Nixon

NEW DELHI (AP) — President Nixon will arrive in New Delhi Thursday at a time of political confusion in India.

Since the end of April, just before President Zakir Husain died, India has had three heads of state. V.V. Giri, former vice president, resigned last Sunday as acting president, after being rejected by the ruling Congress party as a candidate for the presidency. This elevated for the first time a chief justice of the Supreme Court to the highest office of the land.

Mohammed Hidayatullah, 63, a jurist known for his liberal interpretations of the constitution, is now acting president.

Nixon's itinerary mentions Hidayatullah only by title not by name, perhaps a precaution in case he resigns before the American president arrives.

SLIGHTLY OBSCURE

Nixon has stressed the importance of face-to-faie meetings with leaders of the countries on his tour but what substantive discussions he might have with Hidayatullah, a politically unknown and slightly obscure figure, are unclear.

Nixon will confer for two hours with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi in the magnificent dwarka sitting room of the Presidential Palace where the American chief executive will stay.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Gandhi recently came close to losing her job during a leadership tussle in her ruling Congress party. However, the itinerary confidently lists her by name as well as title.

An imperative gesture for every visiting dignitary to the land that gave birth to Mohandas K. Gandhi, the independence leader who invented the doctrine of political nonviolence, is a visit to his cremation site, known as Rajghat.

VISITED BY IKE

A rolling hillock of well-clipped grass with a concrete walled open area sunk in its middle, Rajghat was visited by President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1959.

Eisenhower planted a tree during his state visit. Nixon aides, wanting to husband every minute of the President's time, debated at great length whether he should do likewise. He will—right next to Eisenhower's tree.

Mrs. Nixon will have a separate two-hour program while her husband confers with government leaders. She will visit a handicrafts department store and two child care centers.

It is known that Mrs. Gandhi, amid her worries, took a personal interest in what Mrs. Nixon will see.

IN PAKISTAN

From India, Nixon wings his way to Pakistan, like India the scene recently of political turmoil but of a more bloody variety. Bloody antigoverriment riots forced President Mohammed Ayub Khan to step down in April.

In Lahore, Nixon will reside in, and not budge from, the beautiful white Government House which would not look out of place in the old American South.

★ ★ ★

Until last March, Government House was the residence of West Pakistan Gov. Mohammed Musa, one of Ayub Khan's strongest and most criticized backers. Musa's house was besieged in those days by students calling for the ouster of Ayub Khan.

Nixon is no stranger to demonstrations in Lahore, having himself been the target of one in April 1967 when he visited Pakistan as a private citizen. But he should find things quieter this time as he talks in seclusion with Ayub Khan's successor, Gen. Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan.

Meany Rips Home-Loan Interest Spiral

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany said yesterday America's housing crisis threatens to turn the United States into a nation of slums.

He said high interest rates have put a new home beyond the reach of a family man earning as much as $20,000 a year.

"We can't measure our progress by big office buildings, by wonderful hotels and by road building," Meany told a convention of the Seafarers International Union.

He said the yardstick for progress is the ability of average Americans to buy their own homes and that no matter how high the Gross National Product is, "We're not making progress."

Meany said the Nixon administration is unsympathetic to most of organized labor's goals and that the solution of housing, inflation and unemployment lies with the Democratic majority in Congress.

Mariner 6 Starts Photographing the Surface of Mars

MAKE OVER PAGES

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 6 has clicked its cameras at Mars, snapping and storing for transmission to earth early tomorrow the first 33 of a long series of pictures which may show whether life can exist on the Red Planet.

The space probe took its first photograph at 12:26 a.m. EST today. Scientists said the camera was working well.

Mariner 6 was scheduled to start transmitting the pictures more than 58 million miles to earth this evening.

Detroit television Channel 7 will air 90 seconds of the Mariner transmission at 8:35 p.m. today.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who as head of the President's Space Advisory Council advocates manned exploration of Mars, arranged to be at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory to watch the photographs come in.

The same radio commands which activated the cameras also started instruments designed to measure the surface temperature of Mars and to analyze the chemical makeup of its thin atmosphere.

The quality of the initial pictures will not be known until they reach earth. A spokesman said early today that signals from the spacecraft indicated the camera platform was properly aimed, that light was entering the lens, and that a picture was being recorded on tape.

Mariner 6 carries a small computer which converts the light and dark areas of a scene into numbers. The numbers, representing the dot, on a television screen, are stored on tape for later transmission to the laboratory here, where a computer translates them into a image.

The first sequence of 33 pictures, taken at distances ranging from 771,500 to 453,350 miles from Mars, will show the full disc of the planet.

They are expected to have little more detail than photographs made with earth telescopes, but will show all phases of the planet as it rotates during the spacecraft's approach.

SHARPER PICTURES

Much sharper pictures, with details as small as 900 feet across, are to be taken early tomorrow as Mariner 6 flies with 2,000 miles of Mars.

Mariner 6 will require almost 20 hours to shoot the first 33 pictures — one every 37 minutes. Transmission will take less than 3 hours, with a new one received every five minutes.

★ ★ ★

Mariner 6 will take a total of 74 long-range and close-up pictures.

Its sister craft Mariner 7, launched last March — a month after Mariner 6 — will snap 117 photographs beginning Friday and ending Aug. 4 when it, too, passes within 2,000 miles of Mars.

Trap for Girl's Killer Failed, Says Sheriff

From Our News Wires

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Police put a bare department store mannequin in a wooded gully in hopes the killer of an 18-year-old university coed would return. But when a young man came to the scene he escaped the trap.

Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey revealed the happenings of Saturday night in a news conference last night.

He also promised "new information" regarding the slaying of the girl in the gully — Eastern Michigan University freshman Karen Sue Beineman. He did not elaborate, however.

Harvey said a police stakeout team laid a department store mannequin in the wooded ravine where Karen Sue was found Saturday night — and that somebody came and fled.

25 PERSONS STOPPED

As the sheriff described it:

About 25 persons were stopped as they came along the road close by the spot where the nude, battered body of Karen Sue had been dumped.

Finally, a young man came on foot. He turned off Huron River Drive and looked into the leafy glade where the girl's body had been and the dummy now was.

There was a cry of "halt" and plainclothes officers broke from the bushes.

Whoever the stranger was, he was fast. "He ran across the road and into the bushes and he got away," Harvey said.

COMBING THE WOODS

Mounted posses, meanwhile, continued to comb the wooded area where Miss Beineman's body was found in search of the site where she was murdered.

Two sheriff's deputies from neighboring Monroe County, who said they had been aiding the search with their tracking dogs told a newsman their dogs had led them from the body site to an area where a girl's blouse was found. However Washtenaw County Prosecutor William F. Delney later discounted the possibility that the dogs had uncovered the murder site.

Using a computer print-out of all the motorcycles registered at Eastern Michigan, police checked off and cleared the few that matched the description of the one which Miss Beineman was last seen.

In response to reports that the slayings might be the work of a bloody cult with a sadistic initiation rite, Delney said it was possibility but added that he felt the slayings were more likely the work of one person or of several acting independently.

The man the police are looking for in the slaying of Miss Beineman is a shaggy-cut, brown-haired motorcyclist who brought her to a wig shop on the main street of Ypsilanti Wednesday and then roared off with her at high noon when she emerged.

Bigger Hospital Voice Is Sought

By THOMAS TERP

A Pontiac city commissioner said today he is preparing a resolution to give the City Commission a voice in the hiring and firing of future Pontiac General Hospital administrators.

District 5 Commissioner Robert F. Jackson said he would like to see the commission exercise advise and consent powers over future appointments to the hospital's top job.

★ ★ ★

Jackson's proposal is still being drafted, but should be ready for a commission vote in the near future.

City Attorney Sherwin Birnkrant has been working with Jackson to draw up a suitable recommendation.

ORDINANCE REVISION

Jackson said he also would try to revise the hospital ordinance to eliminate the annual limit on the city subsidy of the hospital, now set at $75,000.

He said other commissoners were aware of the changes he would seek, but he could not predict the support they would receive.

A $1,110,142 federal grant to the Pontiac School District for construction of school-community use areas in the Human Resource Center was announced today by U. S. Rep. Jack McDonald, R-19th District. In Police Brutality Case

Trial Board Delays Probe

The Pontiac Police Trial Board last night adjourned its hearings on alleged police brutality until Aug. 4.

Isadore Goode, chairman of the trial board, said the hearings had to be postponed because legal counsel for the two black complainants was out of town.

Goode also said one member of the trial board, Samuel Morgan, was absent from last night's initial meeting.

The trial board probe was requested July 19 by Pontiac Chief William K. Hanger after charges of brutality were leveled at two patrolmen stemming from an incident July 10 at the Hayes Jones Community Center.

In the incident, Kenneth R Walker, 27, of 97 S. Jessie, and Elick Shorter, 25, of 529 Judson, were arrested for creating a disturbance and resisting arrest.

The seven-man trial board will investigate charges from local civil rights leaders that patrolmen Raymond Hawks and Carl Yuill were unnecessarily brutal in their arrests.

★ ★ ★

Goode did not indicate when trial board hearings would be concluded, but all parties involved in the controversy have demanded that the hearings continue as quickly as possible and that the findings be released to the public.

On the table are other bags of seized heroin.

Hubert: MIRVs Worry Soviets More Than ABM

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey says Soviet leaders indicated to him much more concern about American development of offensive missiles than deployment of the Safeguard antimissile system.

The 1968 Democratic presidential nominee said in an interview after a 13-day visit to the Soviet Union the Russians "are less concerned about the ABM than about our offensive weapons, the MIRVs (multiple targetable re-entry vehicles)."

★ ★ ★

The former vice president said he favors continued research on the Safeguard ABM but opposes deployment.

Senate opponents have contended ABM deployment might cause the Russians to shun arms limitation talks.

"ONLY SYMBOLIC'

"The ABM is only symbolic," he said. "If we step up our defenses, they feel they have to step up their offensive weapons. But it is our offensive missiles that worry them most."

He said Russian concern over differences with China and their own economic and social needs "requires them to think in terms of a better relationship with the United States—they are more open to discussions." But he added:

"Russia is more Russian than communistic and it moves slowly. There are contesting forces at work. There is a power struggle and no one can predict what will happen."

On other matters, Humphrey said he is "seriously considering" returning to the political wars by seeking election to the Senate from Minnesota next year.

In talks with scientists, Soviet editors and others, Humphrey said he found universal interest in reaching an agreement in arms control talks.

Humphrey said that in contrast with his visits to the Soviet Union in 1958 and 1963 he found the Russians this time much more open to discussion.

Nixon to Visit Viet, Confer With Thieu

BANGKOK (AP) — President Nixon will visit South Vietnam tomorrow and confer with President Nguyen Van Thieu, responsible sources reported today.

Details of Nixon's visit to the war zone were shrouded in security precautions, and White House spokesmen would give no confirmation. But neither would they deny the report.

★ ★ ★

It was expected that the President would be in Vietnam only a few hours.

Meanwhile, Nixon's top military and diplomatic officials in Saigon flew to Bangkok today to review the situation in Vietnam with the President.

WAR REVIEW

After morning and luncheon conferences today with Thailand's leaders on Southeast Asian security and U.S.-Thai relations, Nixon scheduled an afternoon review of the Vietnam war with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams Jr., the commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

Nixon has said these talks would influence his thinking on further withdrawals of U.S. troops and his assessment of the significance of the battlefield lull in Vietnam, now in its sixth week.

★ ★ ★

Abrams told newsmen as he left Saigon the lull could be due to enemy preparations for another offensive, "lack of capability on the enemy's part," or an attempt by Hanoi to de-escalate the war, but "I don't think anyone really knows."

Thanat Khoman, Thai foreign minister, told nesmen after he and Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn met with Nixon that the American president "stressed the U.S. commitment to all obligations it has with Thailand" and promised to support and assist Thailand in providing the necessary equipment to realize its national goals.

On Nixon's Surtax

Showdown Is Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fast-approaching congressional showdown over extension of the present income tax withholding rates may decide the fate of President Nixon's surtax.

House leaders tried yesterday to put through a 15-day extension of the withholding rates to include the 10 per cent surtax levy, but were blocked by a parliamentary move.

Another attempt to get a vote on the resolution was planned for today or tomorrow. The surtax expired June 30, but Congress previously extended the pay check withholding rates through midnight Thursday.

A bill passed by the House and approved by the Senate Finance Committee would continue the 10 per cent surtax the final six months of this year and lower it to 5 per cent for the first six months of 1970

SENATE TROUBLE

Even if the withholding extension clears the House, it could run into trouble in the Senate where Republicans are seeking time to negotiate with Democrats for action on the surtax itself.

But the response yesterday by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield was not encouraging to the administration.

He said he would be reluctant to bring up the 15-day withholding resolution unless the Republicans, including top administration officials, would agree to a compromise package worked out in the Senate Democratic Policy Committee.

This called for a five-month surcharge extension while the Senate works on a big tax reform bill now being drafted in the House Ways and Means Committee.

The Republicans rejected this last week and restated their argument yesterday that a full year's extension is essential to fight inflation.

Mansfield replied that the surtax was getting more and more unpopular on his side of the aisle. And he said if the withholding rates are not extended by Thursday, it seemed likely the surtax would die and be beyond resurrection.

Clear Skies, Cool Seen for Tonight

It looks like the weatherman is going to turn showers off for a couple of days.

The forecast reads fair and cool tonight with a low of 55 to 61. Sunny and warmer, the high in the lower 80s, is the prediction for tomorrow, and increasing cloudiness is the outlook for Thursday.

Winds west to northwest at 10 to 20 miles per hour today, will become five to 10 miles per hour tonight and light and variable tomorrow.

A cloudy 66 was the low in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. By 12:30 p.m. the mercury had reached 68.

DETROIT EGGS

DETROIT (AP)—(USDA)—Egg prices paid per dozen by first receivers (including U.S.): GGrade A jumbo 52-54; extra large 50-51; large 45-50; mediu 34-37; small 21-22.

Market unsettled. Local distributive trade is slow to just fair. Jobbing sales and demand is very quiet as the wait and see attitude prevails. Supplies of large are more than adequate. Mediums are plentiful but clearing very well. Jumbos and extra larges, and smalls are in light supply and short of full need.

CHICAGO (AP) — Butter; wholesale selling prices were unchanged; 93 score AA 67.644; 92 A 67.644; 90 B unquoted.

Dow Jones at 2½-Year Low

Stock Market Settles Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market settled lower in fairly active trading early today, after a Monday session in which the Dow Jones industrial average fell to its lowest level in more than 2½ years.

The DJI at 10:30 a.m. was off 1.36 at 804.87.

Declines led advances by a bit less than 200 issues.

A 17,500-share block of American Telephone & Telegraph traded at 52⅝, off ⅛. A 10,000-share block of Pan American World Airways traded at 14¼, off ⅛. A 30,800-share block of Teledyne traded at 29, off ¼.

Steels and motors were mixed. Utilities and chemicals had a lower tone.

Opening prices included:

Benguet, up ¼ at 20⅜ at 16.800 shares; Eastern Air Lines, off ⅜ at 15¾ on 14,400 shares; Sperry Rand, up 1⅛ at 40 on 14,100 shares; Natomas, up 1¾ at 72⅞ on 12,500 shares; and Occidental Petroleum, up ⅛ at 30.

At the close of Monday's session, the Dow Jones industrial average was off 11.83 at 806.23, the lowest it had closed since the 805.51 of Jan. 5, 1967. The fall left the DJI off 162.62 points from its 1969 high of 968.85, reached May 14.

Medicaid Critic Airs Objections

Knowles Cites Flaws in 'Poor Program'

BOSTON (AP) — The health of the nation comes first, the cost is secondary, says Dr. John H. Knowles, a leading critic of Medicaid.

"Our primary purpose is to first of all, save lives. And secondly, we want to save money," Knowles said in an interview.

★ ★ ★

Knowles, 43, is director of Massachusetts General Hospital. He was proposed by Secretary Robert H. Finch for the post of assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, only to have the offer withdrawn when opposition developed.

★ ★ ★

The Medicare program is federally funded and provides hospital and doctor insurance for persons 65 or older, no matter what their economic need. Knowles thinks it is "generally a good program, with quality and utilization controls in hospitals, which have worked in the public interest."

'NO STANDARD'S

Medicaid is funded by federal and state money to provide health care to the poor and needy, no matter what their age. Knowles calls it a "poor program with no standards, no quality controls."

On the plus side for Medicare, so far as Knowles is concerned, is its funding from "trust funds," largely the Social Security tax, which he said is "less subject to cutbacks than general tax funds."

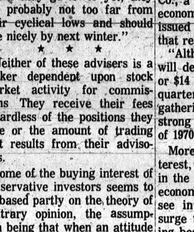
★ ★ ★

Another plus, he said, is that hospitals are required to establish utilization control committees to generally review whether Medicare patients needed hospitalization, and for the length of time they received it, and whether they got proper treatment.

Conservative Voices Tell of Mart Bargains

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — As the credit vise tightens and forecasts of business profits turn bearish, a faint and seemingly contradictory pulsation is emanating from some of the traditionally conservative large investors.



CUNNIFF

Their messages aren't coming through very strong as yet, for business faces many problems in coming months. And cautious recommendations are doing little to burn away the thick smog that has enveloped traders in recent months.

★ ★ ★

The messages can be detected, however, and they are based not so much on expectations of a business upturn six months ahead as they are on the realization that some of the blue chips are, simply, selling at very low prices.

Typical of the outlook by some conservative financial men is that of John Wright, a large investor and stock market adviser who deals only in blue chips.

IMPORTANT THING

"For seasoned and serious investors," Wright maintains, "the important thing now is not whether the Dow Jones industrial average has bottomed or, if not, just where it will.

"Rather it is the unmistakable fact that today's stock market now offers a buying opportunity which normally occurs only at intervals of three to five years. . . ."

★ ★ ★

There is, says Wright, "every historic precedent for the assurance that today's purchases of high-quality equities will by 1970-71 prove to have been highly rewarding."

Argus Research Corp., whose economic and stock market reports are widely used by brokerage houses and institutional investors, still advises caution but adds a phrase gradually becoming popular.

SELECTIVE PURCHASE

This caution, Argus states, "does not preclude the selective purchase of high-quality growth stocks for long-term accumulation.

"While bonds and utility stocks may go lower yet, they are probably not too far from their cyclical lows and should rise nicely by next winter."

★ ★ ★

Neither of these advisers is a broker dependent upon stock market activity for commissions They receive their fees regardless of the positions they take or the amount of trading that results from their advisories.

Some of the buying interest of conservative investors seems to be based partly on the theory of contrary opinion, the assumption being that when an attitude becomes a vogue, such as selling, the opposite course might be wise.

MAY MOVE AHEAD

Some of the interest might be fueled also by the economic forecasts for the next year which indicate that, despite the present focus on negative news and the developing slowdown, the economy may begin to move ahead in 1970.

For example, Lionel Edie & Co., a consultant to business on economic and financial matters, issued a few days ago a report that reached this conclusion:

"Although economic growth will decline to about $13 billion or $14 billi0on in the next three quarters, forces of strength are gathering and will produce a strong pickup in the second half of 1970."

More of the conservative interest, however, may be based in the knowledge that scores of economists and other seers foresee in the 1970s an economic surge that might make preceding booms sound more like the tick-tock of a clock.

In almost every instance, the brokerage houses that presently are bedeviled by the short-range outlook forecast for the 1970s a surge in stock prices. Aware of this, some conservatives now look upon today's prices as buys.

Weather Costs 6 Lives in N.J., Lake Michigan

By United Press Internatinnal

Additional rains of up to one-half inch fell late yesterday on areas of the mid-Atlantic states hit by up to six inches of precipitation Sunday and yesterday. Storm-tossed waters of Lake Michigan claimed three lives and three persons died on rain-swept highways in upstate New York.

Coastal areas in New Jersey were under as much as three feet of water and several inches of water-covered commuter routes in Newark, Camden and other parts of the state, creating massive traffic snarls.

★ ★ ★

A major flood warning was issued for New Jersey after flooded streams triggered mudslides.

Waves and wind smashed into Green Bay, Wis., destroying docks and boathouses. A Milwaukee, Wis., man was killed when he was thrown from his boat.

FALLS INTO LAKE

In Chicago, a 10-year-old boy fell into the lake and was swept to his death by seven-foot waves. The third victim, a youth from Zeeland, Mich., drowned when he was swept from a pier at Holland, Mich.

More than five inches of rain fell in a 24-hour period in parts of upstate New York, more than the normal total for the entire month.

★ ★ ★

Many secondary roads were washed out and power lines and trees were felled. A tornado caused some damage at Goshen, in Orange County. Three persons died on rain-slick highways.

Showers and thundershowers continued over the southern border states and over the Rockies. Elsewhere, sunny and dry conditons prevailed.

Hospital Change Probe Is Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, (D-Mich) today announced he has requested a Senate investigation of the desision to convert the Detroit Public Health Service Hospital to an outpatient clinic.

Hart called for hearings before the Labor and Public Welfare Committee to determine policy on the future of Public Health Service hospitals.

McDivitt to Speak

DEARBORN (AP) — Col. James McDivitt, manager for lunar landing operations in the Apollo spacecraft office, has been named as principal speaker at the U.S. Teen - Driving Championship Awards program Aug. 5. McDivitt will address boy and girl state finalists in the contest.

News in Brief

Theodore Boes of 1670 N. Bretton, Avon Township, told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies yesterday someone broke into his home while he was on vacation and stole tools valued at $85. Boes had been vacationing for two weeks.

Successful Investing

Q — Are Railweight and Flying Tiger worth holding? If not, what are suitable switches? — B. G.

A — Both stocks are identified with freight transportation — a basic segment of the national economy — yet their speculative characteristics are totally different.

Railweight, a small outfit with gross revenues of $515,000 in fiscal 1968, is largely dependent on the struggling railroad industry to buy its freight-weighing systems. Recognition of their value is gradually building up here and abroad but progress is slow.

Flying Tiger's revenues of $16.7 million in 1968 were about 60 per cent generated from military contracts. The company is striving to increase its commercial business; hence its new transpacific route award is a significant development. Earnings are moving up again this year whereas Railweight is likely to report another deficit.

I'd sell Railweight and hold Flying Tiger for price recovery. If you would like a lower-priced speculative issue, I suggest Livingston Oil, recently recommended for its growing stake in cable-TV. As a more conservative selection I like Tenneco, which is trading on a somewhat higher level.

Q — Last April you pointed up the strong growth prospects in the country's Southwest. But in selecting utilities likely to benefit therefrom you omitted El Paso Natural Gas. We've been told it would be a "good thing." — G. S.

A — I agree and had already recommended purchase of ELG in an early March column which you must have missed. The company's nonregulated speculative operations are promising: participation in Gasbuggy's nuclear blasting tests, an important stake in a major copper discovery in Arizona and production of petrochemicals, plastics and man-made fibers.

The $1.00 annual dividend provides an attractive yield and estimated earnings of $1.50 for 1969 produce a P-E multiple of 13x, the low end of the stock's 10-year range. The bulk of 1968 revenues (64.2 per cent) came from natural gas production and distribution.

Currently the company is involved in working out a plan acceptable to the U.S. Supreme Court for divestiture of its Pacific Northwest Pipeline properties.
