

County Justices Toil to Wipe Out Court Abuses

(Editor's Note: This is the final article in a series on justice courts and justices of the peace.)

By HAROLD S. COHEN

If all the abuses charged to justices of the peace could be wrapped up in the person of one justice, it would be a horrifying thing.

Such a justice would act as follows:

Proposes Changes in JP Courts

Three changes in justice court operations were proposed last night by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams before the first meeting of season of the Oakland County Judicial Assn.

Judge Adams suggested that the jurisdiction of the JP courts in civil cases be raised to $1,000 from the present $300 maximum. He pointed out that the $300 limit was more than 50 years old and far behind current values.

He also urged that persons stopped on a highway for minor traffic offenses be taken before the nearest justice of the peace, rather than be forced to go long distances. He said this was the complaint he most frequently heard about the JP courts.

Adams' third point involved the hearing of appeals from justice courts to the circuit court. He said the appeals often languished in the files for up to two years because no one in the circuit court was assigned to follow up such appeals.

Adams told some 35 county justices that he did not think the JP system needed much change. He said with slight improvements, such as he listed, it would continue doing an excellent job for the community.

Another speaker was Circuit Judge William J. Beer who praised the JP courts as basic to the American judicial system. Beer said in 28 years of practice as a trial lawyer, he could not recall a single case before the JP where he felt the verdict was influenced by base motives.

James R. Renfrew, Huntington Woods justice and president of the association, reviewed progress made by the group through committee work over the summer months.

Renfrew handed out rules for operating justice courts in both civil and criminal cases for study by the membership. It is anticipated that these rules, when approved, will be presented to the county circuit bench for approval.

'Private Schools' May Hit Snags in Little Rock

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—If Little Rock high schools are opened as private schools, they may lose their accreditation in the North Central Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

This opinion was expressed yesterday by Dr. Stephen Romine, chairman of the commission on secondary schools for the association. He is a professor in the University of Colorado school of education.

Dr. Romine said that proposed private schools converted from previously accredited public schools would have to apply for membership as new schools. The process of becoming accredited requires appraisal and reporting more complete and more thorough than customarily required after a school attains membership, he said.

Dr. Romine said his opinion would apply equally to all school situations which might arise similar to those at Little Rock.

Examinations Demanded by 2 in Bribe Case

City Officer, Another
Justice; Bond Is $500

Pontiac Patrolman Jess W. Quick and Charley B. Johnson today appeared before Pontiac Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan, on charges of obstructing justice and bribery.

Both men demanded examinations, which were set for 9:30 a.m. Oct. 8. Judge Finnegan set their bonds at $500 each, and Quick made bond immediately.

Quick, 43, of 502 E. Beverly St., and Johnson, 57, of 26 W. Kennett Rd., were arrested Wednesday night accused of attempting to bribe a member of the Pontiac Police vice squad to permit a card game to operate.

Officer Gerald Navarre, the man they allegedly bribed, informed his superiors of the attempt which later led to Quick's arrest.

Johnson, yesterday, made a statement to Ziem in which he substantiated Quick's statement that he (Quick) did not take money himself but transmitted $122 given him by Johnson to Navarre in weekly payments.

Attempts to link Quick with Leann Harrelson, president of Teamster Local 614 and a figure in the investigation of the torch death of Teamster official Frank Kierdorf, have largely fizzled.

Ziem said today however, that police were still probing a visit Quick made to Harrelson's home the morning after Frank Kierdorf was burned on Monday, Aug. 3.

Quick told Ziem that he was selling the Teamster local an ad in the Metropolitan Club magazine. He said he sold a dozen ads that day.

A check of police records showed that Quick was off-duty the week-end prior to the Monday in question and started his vacation that Monday.

Quick's visit to Harrelson was noted by Mrs. Iris Harrelson and she reported it to Ziem in a statement on Harrelson's activities during Aug. 3. The story was suppressed by Ziem because of the investigation of Quick going on at the time in the Pontiac Police Dept.

And they get precious little help or understanding in most quarters, they say.

James R. Renfrew, Huntington Woods justice, heads the Oakland Judicial Assn.

He and Justice Allen C. Ingie, of Farmington, and Donald Adams of Waterford, among others, are striving mightily to reform the situation.

Renfrew has named committees to draw up rules of practice in criminal and civil cases, to work for legislative reforms, to work with local government for improvements, to accept public complaints and investigate them, and to assist with the education of new justices in their duties.

Little Rock Seniors Study Integration

Return to Work Vote Set Today

Several Hundred Men Already Back on Job
at Pontiac Plant

Several hundred workers returned to work this morning at Pontiac Motor Division as the plant's UAW Local 653 scheduled a meeting this afternoon to vote on whether the remainder of employees will return to work.

At the same time, a spokesman for Fisher Body Local 586, whose workers were idled yesterday because of the walkout at the Pontiac plant, said they are expected to return to work on their regular shifts Monday "if Pontiac goes back in."

Some 10,000 workers at both plants were idled yesterday as the result of a walkout at Pontiac Motor which began early Wednesday morning. Fisher Body halted production of automobile bodies around 10:30 a.m.

The strike, a Pontiac Motor Division spokesman said, was a part of a jurisdictional dispute that began with a walkout Monday at Plant 16, affecting 100 workers.

At this morning's regular shift beginning at 7, about 200 employees of the refinishing section returned, a company spokesman reported. He said he expected the balance of workers in the assembly plant to be back by Monday morning.

Charles A. Beach, Local 653 president, announced that UAW International headquarters in Detroit ordered pickets removed from around the Pontiac plant. The afternoon meeting was then scheduled.

Leasing Schools Illegal, Attorney General Warns

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Atty. Gen. William Rogers told the U.S. District Court in Arkansas today that the Little Rock School Board cannot legally lease its high school building to a private corporation for operation on a segregated basis.

The document was released here as U. S. District Judge John E. Miller convened a hearing at Fort Smith, Ark.

Rogers described the proposed leasing plan as a "sham and artifice" to avoid compliance with the recent Supreme Court order that racial integration at Central High School be immediately resumed.

Rogers said of the Little Rock Private School Corp., which proposes to start operating the schools next Monday: "The corporation is a newly formed corporation whose incorporators have no educational experience and no academic accreditation."

"They own no school, they employ no teachers and they have no financial resources of their own which would permit them to buy or rent a school or employ teachers."

Both the board and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People are seeking a court ruling on the plan to keep the schools segregated by leasing them to a private corporation.

Several Southern states with similar private school plans to thwart federal integration orders are watching the Arkansas test with keen interest.

The NAACP filed a motion requesting the court to enjoin the board from leasing the high schools or, alternatively, to direct any private corporation which might operate the schools to admit Negroes to them.

Meanwhile, tension was mounting at Little Rock, where interracial violence flared on the streets yesterday.

13 BOYS CLASH
Five white boys and eight Negroes clashed near a white school and several suffered minor injuries. Police questioned the participants, but left disciplinary measures to school authorities.

Last night officers checked at least 10 reports that Negroes were gathering in the area of the disturbance and said they broke up crowds of Negroes at several places. Police also reported some rock-throwing by Negroes.

No arrests were made.

Faubus has called a referendum for Saturday to let Little Rock voters decide whether schools in the district shall be integrated.

Four Central High School seniors, two boys and two girls, announced they were polling 1,236 students enrolled at the school to determine their views on opening it.

Private classes began at Charlottesville, Va., where pupils of the Venable Elementary School carried their own chairs into basements and playrooms of residences for instruction. A committee was set up to start similar teaching of the ousted high school students.

her employer that she would be fired.

About two weeks after Kierdorf died of burns at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, an arsonist did considerable damage to Mrs. Thon's apartment. Police said they found clothing belonging to Harrelson in the apartment.

Mrs. Thon was held overnight in the county jail following a story from Harrelson's ex-wife, Iris, that he was with Frank Kierdorf's uncle, Herman, the night Frank was burned.

Both Harrelson and Mrs. Thon denied any knowledge of the burning.

Bomarc Successful in Interceptor Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force said today its new Bomarc long range interceptor missile "destroyed" a 1,000-mile-an-hour target missile flying 75 miles away at a height of 48,000 feet.

Both the Bomarc and the X10 research rocket used as the target were launched from the Cape Canaveral site yesterday. However, all firing control of the Bomarc was from a SAGE air defense network center of the Air Force at Kingston, N.Y., 1,600 miles distant.

The Bomarc carried no warhead and the "knockdown" was simulated-recorded by an instrument with the target flying on for later use.

The Air Force said that the successful mission demonstrated the capability of the Bomarc system and effectiveness of its direction by SAGE.

This was the second known instance of a missile being used successfully against a supersonic target. Previously a Navy Talos anti-aircraft missile had been fired successfully against an Army rocket target missile, the Kingfisher.

The X10 target missile used yesterday was detected by ground radar, with the data relayed instantaneously to Kingston where automatic computation of target data was made in the electronic brain of the SAGE system.

Under the control of the Kingston center, the Bomarc at Cape Canaveral lifted to firing position, then was launched.

On the way to the target area, the Bomarc was guided by radio signals from Kingston. On the final phase of interception, the Bomarc guided itself in for the "kill."

Annual Report of City for 1957 Wins 1st Prize

Pontiac's 1957 annual report was awarded first prize for high quality in a contest conducted each year in the state by the Michigan Municipal League.

Pontiac received the top honor for its report in the judging of entries from cities with population of 40,000 or more. Presentation of the award was made in Detroit yesterday at the opening day of the 60th convention of the Michigan Municipal League.

Assistant city manager, Robert A. Stierer, assisted in preparing the report, along with Henry Smith, city planner, Gustav Mathes, an assistant to Smith, and Mrs. Charles Cook, secretary to the city manager.

too and seeks many others on a local and state level.

Justices with a large volume of business, like Ingle, point out that there are two sides to most of the complaints.

Ingle says that state police and other agencies may funnel traffic tickets and other cases to a few judges, but often this is because these are the only judges who maintain regular office hours.

They stress that the public has a right to trial by jury if they feel a judge is prejudiced. That justice court verdicts can be appealed to circuit court.

Ingle has even petitioned the Oakland Circuit Bench to rule on its responsibility under the State Constitution to supervise justice courts.

Justice Adams points out that the controls over abuses in lower courts are there, but the higher courts and state administrative officials are ducking their responsibilities to exercise them.

"It took years to get the auditor-general to regulate justice court bookkeeping as required by statute," he said, "and you can't find a circuit bench or a prosecutor who will move against a justice by contempt or removal proceedings."

As to improved quality of justices, many townships and smaller municipalities could not have justices of the peace if the office were limited to attorneys, he said.

They simply do not have attorneys who are interested in the office—often because it doesn't pay enough for the time involved, except in the thickly populated townships.

The Oakland Judicial Assn. is presently drafting rules for justice court operations which they intend to present to the circuit judges for approval and enforcement. They have no idea how far they will get on this.

But one thing is certain, they intend to keep pushing on all fronts to prove their thesis—that reform and supervision, not abolishment, are the answers to the justice court problem in Michigan.

Miracle Mile Plans 'Play Money' Auction

Merchants at the Miracle Mile Shopping Center, So. Telegraph and Square Lake Rd., have completed plans for a "play money" auction Friday, starting at 3:30 p.m.

Most everything from a "hair pin to a portable TV" set is to be auctioned off, and the customers will be using Miracle Mile "Magic Money" that has been available for the past several weeks.

According to Morris Fierberg, manager of Nador's Shop for Teens and Misses and chairman of the promotion, several hundred items will be up for auction including items for the "kids" auction that runs from 8:30 to 9 p.m.

George Czeck, manager of Kinney Shoe Store will serve as auctioneer, while William Mac Donald, manager of W. T. Grant Store; Robert Spencer, manager of Associates Loan; Robert Terry of Pontiac State Bank; Richard Williams, manager of S.S. Kresge; Ralph Eastridge, manager of J. C. Penney's; Marvin Talan, Lion Store manager and Earl Kiblik of Capitol Men's Shop will assist in handling the "money" and sales of the auction items.

UNWANTED MERCHANDISE — W. A. Putnam, co-owner of the Ambassador Insurance Co., 2110 Dixie Hwy., Waterford Township, scratches his head as he looks at the wheel which rolled into his office unexpectedly this morning. Paul Standish, 45, of 18566 Russell St., Detroit was driving an Inter City Trucking Service semi truck from Detroit about 8:30 a. m. on Telegraph road at Dixie Highway when the right rear trailer wheel broke off and traveled 1,000 feet. Extensive damage was done to the building when the wheel broke through a window in the display room, hit the ceiling and then rolled into an inner office and settled against this wall. No one was injured, according to Waterford Township police.

Walkouts Cripple '59 Auto Production

also was reached on a dispute involving 1,400 at Sandusky, Ohio.

United Auto Workers Union and General Motors negotiators bargained for a new contract today, five days before more than 325,000 GM workers are scheduled to go on nationwide strike.

Negotiations bogged down yesterday, with no major developments reported.

The strikes hampered production of 1959 models for each of the "Big Three," but Chrysler apparently would be due to suffer most if the strikes would continue.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther, who broke off marathon negotiating sessions with Chrysler at dawn yesterday, announced he would concentrate on reaching a settlement with General Motors.

But the UAW chief was to take a break from bargaining today to attend a meeting of the union's National Ford Council to consider approval of the contract reached last Wednesday with Ford.

Reuther, who said he would attend tomorrow's GM bargaining sessions, said a strike had been authorized at Chrysler, but no deadline had been set.

GM flatly labeled the wildcat walkouts part of a master plan being directed by UAW leaders in Detroit to bring pressure to bear in the contract negotiations.

HINTS SIMILAR SENTIMENT

Chrysler hinted at a similar sentiment, saying the "timing and extent of these walkouts clearly indicates that they are not all spontaneous affairs over local issues."

The union said the strikes grew out of what it called the companies' refusal to negotiate local grievances. It publicly asked its members in GM and Chrysler plants to stay on their jobs.

President Plans 3-Day Expedition to Talk Up GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is stepping into the congressional election campaign with a three-day stumping expedition next month to Los Angeles, San Francisco and Chicago.

The plans were announced today by White House press secretary James C. Hagerty. He was flanked by Meade Alcorn, chairman of the Republican National Committee, who had just conferred for an hour with Eisenhower.

This speaking trip—and Hagerty made it clear there will be others—will take Eisenhower to Los Angeles on Oct. 20, and to San Francisco the following day. On Oct. 22, Eisenhower will speak in Chicago.

Details as to speaking hours and places are not yet final, but in all three instances, the addresses will be carried by regional television networks.

persons were shaken for a time. The area, a finger of land that juts out into the Atlantic off Florida's east coast, was bombed with fiery debris yesterday when the Polaris twisted crazily off course and was blasted from the sky.

The Polaris burst into two parts at about 50,000 feet after a quick thinking range safety officer pressed an automatic destruction button.

His instruments showed the rocket was tipping toward the densely populated mainland rather than curving out over the Atlantic.

One flaming section splashed into the Banana River beside Cocoa Beach and the other landed on the Cape after tracing puffy trails of white smoke across the sky.

A public address system on the Cape shrieked a warning to take cover as the two huge pieces of hardware plummeted earthward.

It was the first time that a runaway missile threatened a residential area since the Cape opened in 1950.

The Day in Birmingham American Legion Post to Host Veterans Rally

BIRMINGHAM — Charles Edwards Post 14, American Legion, will play host to a rally Tuesday at the Birmingham Community House of all veterans in the Birmingham and South Oakland County area.

Invited guests include Governor Williams. Present will be John M. Carey, Department of Michigan Legion Commander, and other high-ranking officers in the state organization, according to Post Commander Hugh McGuckin.

Fred Galloway of Royal Oak, director of the Oakland County Department of Veterans Affairs, will serve as master of ceremonies.

The meeting, which begins at 8 p.m., will be devoted to emphasizing the need for veterans to acquaint themselves with matters vital to them and to point out how they may have a greater voice in shaping the passing of legislation affecting them, Galloway said.

All veterans organizations in the area have been invited to participate in the meeting.

Four more civic associations joined the Federated Civic Associations of Bloomfield Township at a general membership meeting held Tuesday night at Bloomfield Hills High School.

New members are Hammond Lake Estates Civic Association, Franklin-Long Lake Road Civic Association, Charing Cross Protective Association and Wing Lake Farms, Inc.

About 50 civic associations in the township were represented at the meeting. 27 of which belong to the FCA.

Member associations were advised to contact the FCA if assistance is needed to solve pressing local problems.

The legislative committee reported a study is being made of the advantages of a village form of government.

GLAMOROUS? — Acting is a glamorous life, but not all "milk and honey" as is evidenced here by actress Barbara Stanwyck who spent much of an eight-hour day in Hollywood wallowing in the mud for a climactic fight scene in "Trail to Nowhere," to be seen on television Oct. 2. Miss Stanwyck refused a stand-in for the messy job.

Homework to Double Detroit Ups Requirements

DETROIT (UPI) — Detroit high school students who are preparing for college will have twice as much homework this year.

School Supt. Samuel M. Brownell told the Detroit Board of Education requirements will be raised steeply for college-prep students. Brownell said nearly 100 lay readers will be hired by the Detroit educational system. He said the readers will help teachers correct themes and extra papers.

Last year, teachers could grade only an average of seven to 10 themes per pupil each semester, but Brownell said the hiring of the extra readers would enable teachers to assign 14 or 20 papers per student each term.

Brownell said the program was a step in elevating Detroit's educational standards and said if it works this year it may be expanded to all high school English classes next year.

Brownell said more than 200 applications for lay readerships have been filed. He said most of the readers to be hired would be college English majors.

Threaten British Judge Who Sentenced Youths

LONDON (AP) — A murder-threat letter has been sent Justice Cyril Salmon, the British judge who sentenced nine white youths to four-year jail terms for attacking Negroes.

Purportedly signed by a group of ex-commandos, it said "reprisals" would be taken and he would be shot dead. The justice was given a police guard.

Plan Warm Theater

CALUMET (AP) — Plans are being made for a permanent summer theater here, starting this summer or in 1959. Producer-director Paul Barry of New York hopes to offer 11 weekly plays between June 17 and Labor Day.

Still Room for More in Civil Defense Class

There are still openings for registrants in the home treatment of medical emergencies course being sponsored jointly by the Pontiac and Oakland County offices of civil defense.

The 13-week course will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. on consecutive Thursdays at Emerson School, said Robert A. Stierer, Pontiac deputy civil defense director. The class meets there tonight, he said.

Britain Nixes Spy's Bid to Work Outside Prison

LONDON (AP) — British authorities have turned down a bid by convicted atom spy Klaus Fuchs to do scientific work outside prison during the last months of his term. Fuchs was convicted in 1950 of turning over British-American atomic secrets to the Soviet Union. He was sentenced to 14 years in prison but could be freed as early as next July with time off for good conduct.

Novice Politico Hears New Rule for Winning

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) tells this story about a novice politician and a veteran judge.

"Tell me, Judge," asked the politician, "who do you think will win, me or my opponent?"

"Well," replied the judge, "it depends on which one of you sees the most people. If you see the most, he'll win. If he sees the most, you'll win."

Add New York Central to Belabored Railroads

Government officials, the I.C.C., union members and passengers who have felt the railroads were painting their plight in too drab a manner are referred to the current announcement by the New York Central.

The 1958 passenger deficit on this one road will run around $50,000,000. This is a million dollars a WEEK—EVERY WEEK. Shortly, 12 more trains will be consolidated. That wouldn't dent the deficit much, but it's another step in that direction, with many more to follow.

Some time back N.Y.C. asked permission to increase passenger rates 45 per cent. This astounded and even stunned passengers. "You'll lose all kinds of business," said the patrons. "We'd rather lose ALL OF IT than continue running at a loss," replied Central operatives laconically.

If the huge boost had killed most of the passenger trade, they were perfectly prepared to say "adieu" and let it go, rather than continue at an operating loss for every mile every passenger was carried.

There don't seem to be sufficient plans ahead to solve this nationwide problem and so it will probably mean faster discontinuance of many passenger trains in all sections of the country. Already, the Canadian National is studying the removal of its biggest and best known transcontinental train. N.Y.C. dropped the Detroit some time back and combined the two nationally known trains from New York to Chicago.

If the passengers, the employees, the nation as a whole are indifferent, then the writing's on the wall in big letters. Changing times bring new conditions, and passenger business on our nation's rails already is being sharply re-shaped.

Presidential Disability Question Still Unsolved

"What happens if the President is unable to perform his duties?" This important question still remains unanswered from Congress.

A day or two ago was the third anniversary of President EISENHOWER's heart attack. From all appearances the President looks in excellent health. His ability to handle a full work day and still participate in his favorite sport of golf would indicate that his recovery was complete.

However, the fact does remain that the President will be 68 on Oct. 14. Since his 1955 attack he has suffered two other seizures of a minor nature.

During this entire three year period Congress has stalled on an EISENHOWER request that the Cabinet be authorized to determine presidential disability.

Should emergency arise, all that is available is the "clear understanding" Eisenhower said he reached with Vice President Nixon.

Under this agreement the President would (if possible) inform the Vice President of any temporary inability and the latter would become Acting President. If the President were not able to do this, the Vice President would decide the devolution of powers, after consultation as seemed to him appropriate and would serve as acting President. The President would determine when the inability had ended.

This agreement seems reasonable enough, but it puts the President and the Vice President on the spot. Some Democrats, including former President Truman, are calling this arrangement illegal.

Since the failure of Congress to act, this arrangement seems sensible and desirable in view of no other clear cut plan. If there is any fault to be found it would seem to lie in the hands of the Democratic party, since they control both the Senate and the House of Representatives.

How to do a minimum of worrying about the world: Don't worry about it any more than it worries about you.

The Man About Town Last and Final Entries in Football Contest Are Due by Noon Tomorrow

Today: When you can allow somebody else to win that $300.

This is the closing call. If your football contest entry is not received by TOMORROW (Friday) NOON, it cannot be counted. Delay may mean $300 to you. Here's the final list of games:

- Sept. 27—Ohio State vs. Southern Methodist.
- Oct. 4—Michigan vs. Michigan State.
- Oct. 11—Purdue vs. Wisconsin.
- Oct. 18—California vs. Southern Calif.
- Oct. 19—Detroit vs. Baltimore (pro).
- Oct. 25—Detroit vs. Arizona State.
- Nov. 1—Notre Dame vs. Navy.
- Nov. 8—Iowa vs. Minnesota.
- Nov. 14—Pontiac Central vs. Flint Central.
- Nov. 22—Yale vs. Harvard.
- Nov. 27—Texas vs. Texas A&M.
- Nov. 29—Army vs. Navy.
- Dec. 6—Holy Cross vs. Boston College.
- Dec. 14—Detroit vs. Chicago (pro).

Cut out this list, making a check mark on the teams you think will win. If you feel that any game will be a tie, do not check either team.

Every member of your family can compete. If you haven't enough clippings to go round, you can copy them off. Be sure that a name and address is attached to each list.

The time now is so short that you'd better not depend on the mail to reach us by Friday noon. You'll be safe if your entries are brought in.

If you cannot come during business hours, drop entries in the slot in the cement post just outside the front door. That is available 24 hours in each day. Just lift up the handle and drop them in.

All entries deposited there by Friday noon will be counted. But, remember that's TOMORROW noon. Don't let somebody else win that $300.

Our big pumpkin quest is bringing many replies. At this writing, honors rest with Mrs. Floyd Ramsey of 3153 Willett Road—45 pounds. It approaches five feet in circumference and is nearly 20 inches across.

With living proof that the world is not entirely going to the dogs.

William Schneider, Pontiac Dog Warden, reports that on the same day he investigated the case of a child that had been bitten by a tame white mouse and another that had the teeth marks of a squirrel.

"We're a family of good sports," writes Helman Frankfort of Waterford, in sending in his football contest entries, and who continues, "We've been in every contest you ever held and never won anything and don't expect to do so this time, but look for us in your next contest."

Verbal Orchids to—Mr. and Mrs. Otis Huntsfield of Auburn Heights; golden wedding. Mrs. Nora Elman of Keego Harbor; eighty-second birthday. Garfield Arpndsen of Waterford; eighty-first birthday.

David Lawrence Says:

North Won't Take Negro Majority

WASHINGTON — Ten years ago—before the "integration" problem had become as acute as it is today—this correspondent had an interesting discussion about the question with the principal of a high school in a large city in the North.

"How is the mixing of races in the school working out?" I asked him. "Fine," he replied.

LAWRENCE said, "Do the colored girls dance with white boys in social functions after school?"

"No," he said. "They stay apart and for the most part keep to themselves in separate groups socially."

"Is there any friction in the classrooms?"

"No."

"Then you do not have any trouble?"

"Well, I wouldn't say that. If, for instance, we award a prize and there is any suspicion that we have discriminated against the colored pupil, we will hear from it."

"Then, on the whole, it is working out all right?"

"Yes, but you see we have only one-third colored to two-thirds white." He paused and then added:

"I'll tell you frankly I wouldn't want to be principal of this same high school if it were two-thirds colored and one-third white."

The principal didn't elaborate. This writer couldn't help thinking today of that conversation upon reading the results of a poll taken in the last few weeks in the North as well as in the South by Dr. George Gallup of the American Institute of Public Opinion.

It showed differing answers dependent on the proportion of colored pupils to be enrolled in a public school.

Thus, when the inquiry was whether the person interviewed would have any objection to sending his or her children to a public school where "a few of the children are colored," the answer in the North was that 86 per cent would not object.

When the question asked of the same people was whether there would be objection if half the children were colored, the objecting figure rose to 39 per cent.

When the third question was asked—whether there would be objection if more than half were colored—the objecting percentage in the North rose to 58 per cent, while 6 per cent expressed no opinion. This is a clear majority against such integration.

Naturally, in the South the percentages of objectors went from 72 to 81 to 84, respectively, in answering the same three questions. For in many parts of the South the colored children already outnumber the white by a considerable margin, and there seems no doubt that, if "integration" were strictly enforced, there would be many schools with a predominance of colored pupils.

It is significant that the Gallup pollsters reported that "in explaining objections to integration, many persons added that it was not so much a racial matter, but a fear the educational standard of their school would be lowered."

There is already evidence that, in some heavily integrated schools in the North, the educational standards have lagged. This is explained by some educators as due to the lack of educational background of the colored parents and their long residence in a low-income environment.

There seems to be no evidence as yet as to how many years it will take to overcome this handicap.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Allow Air Canal to Clear in Artificial Respiration

One of the foremost authorities on the subject of resuscitation, Yandell Henderson, professor of applied physiology, told me in a personal communication:

"The reason for drawing the arms of the victim forward" (that is, extended above the head) "during artificial respiration" (that is, by the Schafer prone-pressure method) "is that it tends to pull the ribs into an inspiratory position" (that is, the most favorable position for entrance of air into the lungs).

In a later communication on the same subject, Prof. Henderson said:

"If you raise arms straight up above your head and clasp hands over your head, the chest is almost involuntarily drawn into the inspiratory position. This is now embodied in nearly all the American pictures" (of Schafer's prone-pressure resuscitation) "including those in your excellent little pamphlet, and is, I believe, a distinct advantage."

As my booklet (How to Breathe, 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) shows, there is another good reason why both arms should be extended well above the head for resuscitation from drowning, namely, to permit any fluid in the airway to drain by gravity.

When I reminded Prof. Henderson that water will not run uphill he flabbergasted me with this answer:

"I really do not think that the question of putting the subject's head upon his arm and the factor of gravity are of very great importance. It has been shown in the laboratory that when water or physiological saline is introduced into a lung it is quite rapidly absorbed. Of course salt water from the ocean would not be absorbed nearly so rapidly, but ordinarily the amount of water that enters the lungs, at least in cases that are resuscitable, is probably not large."

I was astounded by the professor's statement. My impulse, when I came to, was to come right back—but even I hesitate to yabba a physiologist of Yandell Henderson's stature, and so I never ventured to tell him that

(1) The water or other fluid of the death trap is in the airway (windpipe, larynx, bronchial tubes), and

(2) Surely there can be no objection to the use of gravity to help clear the airway, even though the water or other fluid may be rapidly absorbed.

Prof. Henderson did not specify how long it takes for water in the lungs to be absorbed. A minute? Three minutes? Thirty seconds? Whether it takes seconds or minutes, the delay in getting air into and out of the lungs may turn the scale one way or the other.

All the letters I received from Prof. Henderson added to the admiration and respect I had acquired from reading his contributions to our scientific knowledge of respiration and resuscitation. If he had been on my own level I would have snorted that the hand-or-arm-under-the-head modification of Schafer's manual prone-pressure method of performing artificial respiration was eventually popularized in pictures widely published—pictures of pretty girls posed for publicity material. You couldn't ask a pretty girl to put her cheek on the floor or ground, could you? That's how the arm-under-the-head mistake got into so many first aid publications.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan. (Copyright 1958)

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Breaking Fever Not Always Best

George Washington was a victim of a faulty idea regarding fever. So be sure you understand the facts and don't jump to hasty conclusions, as the doctors did in 1799 at Washington's bedside. Fever is an ally of your body as long as it doesn't get much above 105 degrees.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case Z-328: Homer J., aged 35, is the high school science teacher mentioned yesterday.

"Dr. Crane, can you tell me why high fevers are dangerous to the brain?" he began.

REVERSIBLE GEL

When a housewife pours hot water over a package of gelatin, it becomes a liquid.

If she then places it in the refrigerator, it solidifies. But she can turn it back into a liquid by heating the gelatin again.

This situation illustrates what we call a "reversible gel" as regards DR. CRANE protein.

But there is also an "irreversible gel" which takes place when you heat the white of an egg.

As you break the fresh egg upon a skillet, the protein is a liquid. But as soon as it is heated, the liquid turns to a white solid.

Alas, if you again chill the cooked egg, that protein will not go back to its original liquid condition.

'Epidemic Shows Need for Sister Kenney Hospital'

A polio epidemic is raging and yet the only hospital in Oakland County fully equipped to care for all age groups of polio for continuous care, namely the Sister Kenney Polio Hospital in Farmington, was closed Sept. 15 because of inadequate funds.

In Oakland County, if members of our family contract polio, where can we take them for continuous treatment, now that this accredited hospital and completely trained polio staff have been dispersed?

Should we, the people of this community, sit back and let this situation continue?

'Is Wedding Gaiety Crime Here Now?'

Aren't any of the policemen in Pontiac married? If they are, they shouldn't be. Saturday evening a cop stopped four cars in the wedding party for blowing out their horns. Along with the motorcycle policeman, two cars with police drove by the reception and the bride's home all evening. Too bad it's such a crime to marry in Pontiac and then announce it. Three hundred guests left Pontiac without a good word for the town, but then it's noted for that lately.

Reader Disputes Band Decision

I read the story, "Protest Letters About Band Flood School Board." It is unfortunate that many people will read it and believe what is said about more students taking band and that two hours for one subject was considered detrimental to giving band members a well-rounded education.

You, the public, don't know the half of what's going on at the Board of Education. Find out the facts before you believe the article. As a 1958 graduate of the band, I know about some of the stabs in the back Mr. Harris has taken.

Two Letters Give Different Sides

How can Eisenhower be competent to defend the whole world from communism when he can't even find a way to let eight little colored children go to school in Arkansas? And he can't even help unions get rid of the racketeers and bums that head them.

Dennie

Is it possible the Fourteenth Amendment is valid in some states and not in others? The Supreme Court decision on segregation in May said the Fifth Amendment applied in District of Columbia, not the Fourteenth.

The enabling acts admitting Alaska, New Mexico, Arizona, Idaho, South Dakota, Montana, Washington, Utah, Wyoming and Oklahoma to the Union forbid the federal government from interfering with their schools and colleges.

Is the Fourteenth Amendment valid? Was it properly ratified? Federal courts say Congress should decide this issue. Do we now have government by court decrees and injunctions? Is the Supreme Court now the supreme school board of the land?

Wake up, America. This land is yours. Shall it remain free?

Memories of years ago... Are good to have and hold... Especially when we begin... To grow a little old... They are the songs we sing again... With now and then a sigh... Our favorite melodies and words... Of happy days gone by... But we should never let those dreams... Consume our time all day... To shut the present out and put... The future far away... It is not good to try to live... Completely in the past... Because our life would only be... An empty shell at last... Memories are images... Of moments that are dead... We have to think about today... And bravely look ahead.

Ceylon Is Rich in Tea, Rubber

Tropical Paradise Has Historic Ruins, Parks, Hospitable People

WASHINGTON — Few countries come as close to the western dream of a tropical paradise as does Ceylon, the West Virginia-sized island off the coast of India.

In this "Isle of Delight," arable work-land is surrounded by lush palm forests. Children play against a background of magnificent mountains and waterfalls, sculptured rice terraces, rhododendron gardens, and shimmering lagoons. Under their feet, the sand and earth hide sapphires, rubies and garnets. And in the surrounding seas grow pearl-bearing oysters.

With its tea and rubber plantations, Ceylon enjoys one of the highest standards of living in the Orient, the National Geographic Society says. Its savoring people are literate, peace-loving and hospitable.

The 270-mile-long island is believed to have been inhabited originally by a people known today as Veddas, a few of whom still live in the Eastern Province of the island. The Sinhalese, a people from northern India, colonized the island centuries before the Christian era. They built an impressive civilization whose engineering feats are still admired. The weathered ruins of their ancient capital, Anuradhapura, contain splendid baths, temples and parks that attract tourists from all over the world.

About the middle of the third century B.C., missionaries from India converted the Sinhalese to Buddhism, and most of them have remained faithful to this religion ever since.

The Portuguese visited Ceylon in 1505 and established control over the maritime provinces. The Dutch drove out the Portuguese in the 17th Century. A Dutch governor is said to have bandaged one of his eyes on his arrival to show the people of Ceylon that he didn't need two eyes to rule over a country so small.

The British took over Ceylon in 1796, and governed it until 1948, when the island became independent.

Bob Considine Reports:

Asks Truman to Time His Blasts Better

NEW YORK—The first resolution adopted by the Arkansas Legislature when it met last month to give Gov. Faubus extraordinary powers did not concern desegregation of the schools in any way.

Introduced by legislator Fletcher N. Hollenworth, the resolution read:

"Harry S. Truman. Censure. 'Proclaiming lack of disturbance at the ex-President's characterization of Arkansas' voters as 'ignorant and hysterical' but asking if such statements be made in the future they be timed before the primary so that the candidate he opposes will receive a much larger majority than otherwise.'"

It was adopted unanimously. Archbishop Richard J. Cushing, Boston's great and most articulate prelate, was made a Freeman of the city of Cork not long ago. His mother and father emigrated from there. In the course of the ceremony, Cushing learned that in former times Freeman enjoyed a tax-exempt status, privileged trading rights and the power to hold land. "The good Lord knows I welcome any freedom from taxation, even honorary," he responded. "But I hope that my privileges as a Freeman will leave me free to continue to help, in whatever way I can, the works of religion, education and the relief of the poor in this corner of Ireland which has been so good to me."

"And as my share of the city's corporate life, I hope to have a share in the good works of the Cork community, and of that cheerful nature and sunny outlook which comprise so important, so delightful, so heart-warming a part of the treasure and tradition of my newly adopted and dearly beloved city of Cork."

Who's Churchill?

Press agents can think up the craziest things! One recently suggested that it would be good publicity for Manuel Fernandez de Bobadilla, the aristocratic Spanish sherry tycoon from Jerez, to lay a wreath at the foot of the statue of Columbus in the circle of the same name.

Senor Bobadilla declined with a shudder. Seems that an ancestor once was assigned by King Ferdinand to sail to the New World and bring Columbus back in chains.

This is, as everyone knows, National Dog Week. Something called Friskies Housing Authority is taking advantage of this sobering period to urge that people look to their doghouses; put in steam heat or air-conditioning, as needed, freshen up the drapes, smooth the lumps out of the mattress, wash the windows, repaint "Beware—Dog."

A lot of husbands will cooperate.

North American Aviation's X15, soon to be unveiled, will fly faster than a mile a second. That speed would permit it to fly from New York to Los Angeles and land two and a third hours before it took off, considering the time difference. The pilot could have his lunch in New York and arrive on the west coast in time for breakfast.

Harrison Storms, the company's chief engineer, laconically remarks, "temperatures ranging down from about 1000 degrees above to 300 degrees below zero—that of the liquid oxygen it will be carrying—will be encountered by the airplane. The X15 when entering the thick atmosphere will get as hot as would a normal size bedroom with 80 home furnaces going full blast in it."

"It will glow red like the iron in a blacksmith's forge as it comes back to us."

I'll walk.

Mobile Stations Follow Storms on Land

New Help for Hurricane Trackers

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Hurricanes act like drunken sailors. So the U.S. Weather Bureau is starting to treat them like that this year.

When a thirsty sailor rits land there's no telling what he'll do or how obstreperous he'll get. The only remedy is to call the police paddy wagon and enlist the aid of volunteers.

It's the same for hurricanes when they hit land. No formula or predicting technique have yet been devised to forecast the screwball antics of a hurricane once it passes the coast line.

Weather experts call this unpredictable behavior the "friction effect." Forests, hills, lakes and land winds all seem to alter the path, velocity of wind and rainfall of a hurricane as it slides over the land. By comparison, the sea is a smooth surface over which a hurricane rides.

Spot flash-floods will occur without warning from a hurricane over land. Communities not believed in the path of the storm will suddenly be hit without notice. It is now known that this drunken-sailor characteristic of hurricanes causes the most casualties.

PADDY WAGONS

The Weather Bureau's equivalent of paddy wagons to patrol hurricanes are two new mobile weather stations in trucks. These trucks chase the centers of hurricanes, trying to report each new antic immediately.

The Bureau's equivalent of volunteers is a new hurricane observer network. More than 125 unpaid, amateur weather experts living at scattered points along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts have agreed to assist the reporting of hurricane information.

Dr. Francis W. Reichelderfer, chief of the Bureau, explains:

"There are 40 regular Weather Bureau stations in this hurricane belt. They are now supplemented by more than 100 volunteer observing stations. As a result, our forecasters have observation points at about 25-mile intervals during the regular hurricane season from June 15 to Nov. 15. This gives a much closer watch on storms."

THIS IS ONE — Weather Bureau mobile weather stations attempt to track the erratic path of hurricanes once they hit land.

A typical volunteer is Baptist minister Frank Dinwiddie, of Nags Head, N. C. Hurricane forecasting has been his hobby and he has astonished the Weather Bureau at times with his accuracy. Unusual swells that hit the Nags Head beach late this summer led him to predict the start of hurricane "Becky" at about the same hour its existence was officially confirmed by the Weather Bureau.

He and the other volunteers have been given special weather instruments by the Bureau. The information they report is fed into the regular hurricane warning circuits.

Reichelderfer says: "Each of the new mobile weather stations is built in a 10-foot parcel delivery type body on a truck chassis. All doors, windows and joints have been sealed for waterproof protection, and tie-down facilities are provided to anchor the truck during hurricane-force winds."

"These trucks will take weather every hour during the day and night to the nearest hurricane forecast office."

One truck is assigned to the Gulf Coast area and the other to the Atlantic Coast. As soon as there is an indication that a tropical storm will hit land at some area the truck is dispatched to that place, to be prepared to do close-in tracking when the storm arrives.

The trucks are outfitted with living accommodations.

At the end of the hurricane season the trucks will be used for weather research work around the country.

Ice Cream Break at 90

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (UPI)—When the temperature reaches 90 degrees in Allentown, all 650 employees of the Lehigh Structural Steel Co. halt work to cool off with ice cream supplied by the boss. Company President Thomas R. Mullen has a standing order for ice cream and time out for everybody in the plant when the mercury reaches 90. The order also extends to all children in a city playground adjoining the plant.

Proposal Dies Quickly

RUTLAND, Vt. (UPI) — After Rutland City aldermen suggested that Rutland Town selectmen set up a committee to investigate annexation they received a two-paragraph reply. The first paragraph acknowledged receiving the suggestion. The second paragraph read, "We feel we want no part of your proposal and refuse to appoint such a committee."

One inch of water on one acre of surface amounts to 27,154 gallons.

Boy, 11, Wins Five Cars

DORSET, Vt. (UPI)—Benjamin Oliver Parker won five new automobiles to be delivered at two-year intervals over the next 10 years. But it will be a while before the 11-year-old seventh grade student can drive off in any of his prizes.

Georgia once had 5.5 million acres planted to cotton but the acreage has dwindled to the present level of about one-half million acres.

MATTER OF BALANCE — Two Palestine refugee women, carrying water-filled pitchers on their heads, make their way back to their camp on the outskirts of Jericho in Jordan. They filled the urns at Elisha's Fountain, which the prophet Elisha is said to have sweetened by casting into it a handful of salt.

Most Allergy Cases Triggered by Foods

CHICAGO—What sets off an attack of allergy? Food is the greatest offender causing the onset of an attack in more than 60 per cent of allergic patients.

Inhalant sensitizers, such as strong odors, irritating fumes and house dust, rank second, accounting for 23 per cent. Contact allergens are responsible for about 15 per cent.

Emotional stress, too, can play a role. One recent study says, "An emotional situation may precipitate asthma in a potentially allergic child or it may aggravate an asthmatic attack in others."

American Men Simply Can't Win in Love

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—The men of America have been put in a position where, in the matter of love-making, they cannot possibly win.

They are accused, by women the world over, of being inept, inane and innocuously drab as Romeos.

Yet, when an occasional gent shows signs of honest sentiment and gentleness, the word gets around quickly and he is labeled a "weaking" (if he is under 40), or a "lecherous old man" (from 41 on).

The very woman who bemoans that she never gets any loving tender care is the one who turns on the ice and the beady eye when a man recites poetry at dinner. She sees him suddenly as an undependable sort, in knickers and bow tie.

And when he gazes at her softly over candlelight and violets, prearranged for her loving tender care, does she think him a hero? No. She suspects he's a heel.

The brothers and fathers of women who meet romantic men are also a large factor in the death of honest gallantry. Brothers and fathers traditionally prefer men who treat their girls like a football. Sweet talk and gentleness are un-American, and consistent flower-senders are either phonies or virtue-seekers.

In the light of all this, Mr. Richard Metz of Wall Street may be horrified to read in this column that Miss Blanche Thebom of the Metropolitan Opera thinks he is the most sweet and sentimental man in the entire world. That includes Frenchmen, Italians and Latins, to whom she is continually giving the back of her hand (for kissing purposes, of course).

"I am tired of hearing that sentiment in a man stands for weakness," Miss Thebom says. "This silly idea is the reason so many American men are gauche. They are afraid, if they show their love for a woman, the neighbors might say, 'Aaaaaah, she married a sissy!'"

"How perfectly preposterous... to care what the neighbors think. A man shouldn't have to crack the whip to prove he's male."

But more about Metz, and the devil with what Wall Street thinks of a sentimental executive:

The prima donna met him long ago, after he had seen her perform at the Met and begged mutual friends for an introduction. They met, for the half-blind date, a 5 o'clock one afternoon in front of a great grandfather's clock. It was the 9th of the month.

Much later, when they were married, Metz bought the old grandfather's clock as a permanent reminder of their first date.

What's more on the 9th of every month for years, they have had cocktails together at 5 p.m., providing Blanche was not off on a concert tour. When she is out of town, they speak on long-distance, promptly at 5 p.m. New York time each day, which is really dramatically romantic when you consider the rates don't go down till 6.

Miss Thebom has a coiffure as long as Lady Godiva's (when she really lets her hair down, it touches the floor) and, like the lady, she may be inviting a certain amount of censure when she says:

"Basically it's the woman's fault if a man isn't romantic. But in conforming to the football-hero legend in America, too many women are just pals and teammates to their husbands."

In short, with a little less huddling and a little more cuddling, wives could be sweethearts again.

They Call That Work?

MACON, Ga. (UPI) — Gene Cochran was assigned by a firm that makes fish lures to "fish all summer and learn what fish think of the product." He stopped by his office once in a while — to collect his pay.

Unbeaten Seminoles Won War With U. S.

MIAMI — The only wars the United States ever lost—the Seminole Wars — ended 100 years ago. The Seminole Indians of Florida fought the United States to a stalemate in the first two of the wars in 1816-18 and 1833-42, and a third round ended the same way in 1858.

The unbeaten Seminoles never surrendered and never signed a peace treaty. The Government paid cash for peace, giving $5,500 to Chief Billy Bowlegs, $1,000 each to four subchiefs, $300 to each Indian brave, and $10 to each woman and child.

Murder Trial Going to Jury

Sterling Man Claims
Self-Defense in Fatal
Clubbing of Wife

MOUNT CLEMENS—The trial of Archie Wedge, who claimed he acted in self defense in the fatal clubbing of his wife, was scheduled to go to the jury today in Macomb County Circuit Court.

Taking the stand in his behalf yesterday, Wedge, a 45-year-old Sterling Township factory worker, told the jury his wife had tried to kill him four times before he beat her to death with the butt of a .22 caliber rifle.

Wedge said the wrestled the gun from her in a struggle in their home, 6077 Higgins St., Oct. 9, 1957.

The beating, which ended in the death of his wife, resulted.

The trial, being heard before Circuit Court Judge Alton H. Noe, was to go to the jury of seven men and five women today. Wedge is charged with second degree murder.

Dryden School PTA Chooses New President

DRYDEN — Mrs. Patti Hudson has been elected president of the Dryden School Parent-Teacher Assn.

Other officers include Mrs. Annamie Sterner, mother vice president; Clark Burnett, teacher vice president; Jim Peacock, father vice president; and Mrs. Katherine Havens, treasurer.

Named committee chairmen were Mrs. Delores Trott, refreshments; Mrs. Georgia Peacock, hospitality; Mrs. Frances Osborne, membership; Mrs. Pauline Wentworth, program; and Mrs. Alma Hadley, publicity.

Group Fights Incorporation Move Farmington Meeting Set

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — A public meeting has been called by the Farmington Township Citizens Committee Monday at the Farmington Senior High School on Shawwassee street.

The committee is spearheading the opposition to the proposed incorporation of the city of Farmington Woods.

Wendell Brown, member of the Farmington Township Board and president of the Citizens Committee, will chair the meeting. A panel of Donald J. MacKinnon, Rich-

Germans Can't Use Church They Built Themselves

BERLIN — In Kayna, a small village in the Soviet zone of Germany, Catholic residents decided to build a tiny church.

After months of work in off-duty hours, building with their own hands and using their own materials, the church was opened. Four weeks later, local Communist authorities forbade the church people to use it, on the grounds it was needed for "social purposes."

The story was told today in the official publication of the Roman Catholic Bishop of Berlin.

For Party Saturday

Pooch Registration Open

There's still time for youngsters to register for the Department of Parks & Recreation's ninth annual Pooch Party Saturday at Oakland Park.

Registrations will be accepted up to 1 p.m. Saturday, when the annual dog contest is scheduled to begin, said Leonard Buzz, recreation supervisor.

Youngsters are advised, though, to make their reservations in advance by means of forms distributed to all city schools, Buzz said. Contests are open for youngsters from seven to 17.

Trophies and ribbons will go to prize winners in four events: (1) best groomed dog; (2) best trick dog; (3) best informed owner; and (4) best pet combination.

Judges will be members of the Pontiac Kennel Club, headed by Edward Kraft of Bloomfield Hills. The club donated the prizes.

Union Lake Beats High Costs

Builds Second Fire Truck

UNION LAKE — In these days of high taxes, fire fighting equipment doesn't come cheaply — especially fire trucks.

Not having the funds to purchase this expensive equipment the Volunteer Fire Department of the unincorporated community of Union Lake decided to build its own fire trucks.

Began four months ago, the second truck has just been completed. Clarence Burnmeister, a Union Lake businessman, donated a 1953 model stake body truck, as well as the money to make repairs and buy the necessary accessories to equip the vehicle for fire-fighting.

The Standard Oil Co. of Toledo gave the department an 800-gallon

Farm Prices May Fall More

Drop Could Presage Trouble for GOP in November Elections

WASHINGTON — The Agricultural Marketing Service — in a farm market outlook report—said today that farm prices are likely to drop further in the next few months.

This forecast was made at a time when farm price levels were running about 2 per cent higher than a year ago.

It could presage trouble for Republicans running in the November congressional elections.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has said in recent speeches and news conferences that GOP prospects are bright in midwestern and western farming areas, because farmers are producing record crops and have been getting better prices than a year ago.

But farm prices have been slipping since they reached a peak in May. They had climbed then to the highest level since the Eisenhower administration took over in 1953. But since then they have dropped nearly 5 per cent.

The service said the major factor in the price setback is the production of a record supply of farm products. Crop production also may be 10 per cent larger than last year's record-matching volume. This is the season of the year that marketings start increasing sharply. Normally, prices decline at this season.

Tending to offset the price downturn has been an increase in farm receipts—reflecting the big production volume. The service said farm receipts during the first eight months of this year were 10½ per cent higher than in the like period last year.

Homecoming Day Set by Disco Methodists

DISCO — Sunday will be homecoming day at the Disco Methodist Church.

There will be three services, the first at 11 a.m., the second at 2 p.m. and another in the evening at 7:30.

One of the speakers will be the Rev. Frank S. Hemingway of LaPeer. Music will be provided by the Rev. Hemingway's Harmony Boys and the Beverdors.

Those attending have been asked to bring a basket lunch. The public is invited.

County Calendar

Rochester
The Avon Photographic Club will meet at 8 this evening at the Woodward Memorial Library. Color slides and black and white prints will be judged.

Troy
Morse School PTA will hold its first meeting of the new school year at 8 p.m. Tuesday. The Executive Board will serve refreshments, and the new superintendent of Troy Schools, Rex Smith, will be introduced.

Troy Methodist Church circles will sponsor a candy making bee Tuesday at the church. Divided into two groups, members will meet at 8:30 a.m. and at 7 p.m. They plan to make 400 pounds of candy for the Church Bazaar Nov. 4.

The Junior Methodist Youth Federation of the Troy Methodist Church will meet at 8 p.m. Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Orsman, 750 W. Square Lake Rd., from where they will leave for a hay ride and winter roast.

Brookland School PTA Board will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the school. This will take the place of the regular meeting.

Ralph Darch Elected Cub Pack Chairman

AVON TOWNSHIP — Ralph Darch has been elected chairman of Stiles Cub Pack 114.

Other officers are Claude Marries, secretary; Victor Camp, treasurer; Harold McGee and Wendell Rose, cubmasters, and Floyd Cobb, advancement committeeman.

New Den mothers are Mrs. George Jamerson and Mrs. Harold McGee, Dens 1 and 3; Mrs. Floyd Cobb and Mrs. O. Hysmith, Den 2, and Mrs. Paul White, Den 4. Mrs. Cobb has been named chairman of the committee on round table discussions in scouting for the Manitou District.

Soviets Claim Dam Could Warm Arctic

NEW YORK — The Russians have devised a plan which they say will make the North Pole region 60 degrees warmer. According to the publication, Engineering News-Record, the Russians say that by building a 43½-mile dam from the Chukchi Peninsula to the coast of Alaska cold Pacific currents will be kept from flowing into the Arctic Ocean, causing the water level of that sea to drop. Then more of the Gulf Stream will flow into the polar region and it will warm Siberia and Alaska, the Russians claim.

Will Erect 'Tent City' Near Oxford

Camp Awaits 1,200 Scouts, Explorers

A giant "tent city" for 1,200 Boy Scouts and Explorers of the Clinton Valley Council will be erected this weekend at Camp Oakland, near Oxford.

Gathering for the 1958 Fall Roundup, the boys will put up their unit flags, start cooking fires and unroll their bedding for a program of scoutcraft competition, fellowship events and try for a new pioneering citation.

The scouts will be protected by their own health, water, sanitation and other government-type departments, made necessary by a temporary meeting of this size.

Gilbert Pierce of Pontiac,

MRS. FREDRICK C. EARHART

Terrill-Earhart Vows Exchanged in Rochester

ROCHESTER — Marriage vows were exchanged Saturday morning at the First Congregational Church in Rochester by Wanda F. Terrill and Fredrick C. Earhart. Performing the double-ring rite was the Rev. E. John Yuells.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the Roger Terrills of 219 Walnut Blvd. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Nellie F. Earhart and Carl Earhart of Peru, Ind.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of white Italian silk, featuring a sweetheart neckline, fitted cummerbund and velvet appliques. Her finger veil was laid in place by a band of velvet and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and ivy. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mary Lou. Acting as best man was the bridegroom's brother, Robert, of Peru, Ind.

Upon return from a honeymoon in Miami, Fla., the newlyweds will be at home in the Rochdale Terrace Apartments in Rochester.

There are about 12 million persons in the Belgian Congo and about 80,000 of them are white people.

Corn Field Day Slated at Farm

County Agencies Plan to Show Rye Seeding
From the Air

An Air Tour and Corn Field Day will be held Wednesday at the Henry Axford Farm, three miles north of Rochester, Jay Poffenberger, county extension agent, announced today.

The event is being sponsored by the Oakland County Soil Conservation District and the Oakland County Farm Bureau.

Beginning at 10 a.m., visitors will be given the opportunity of observing effects of nitrogen fertilizer, minimum tillage, results of rye seeding from the air and comparison of different corn varieties. They also will have a chance to take part in a land judging contest.

Later in the day there will be a demonstration of rye seeding from the air.

Cost of the air tour, which will continue throughout the day, will be $3 per person, Poffenberger said. Farmers in the Rochester area may see their land from the air.

Dinner will be served at the Axford farm grounds, according to general chairman of the event, William Scramlin of Holly, Farm Bureau president. Soil Conservation district chairman is Harold Mitchell of Grand Blanc.

Winter Vacations in Warm Waters for Pearl Oyster

TOKYO — Japan's pearl oysters are bailed so much they're even taken on long winter vacations to warm resorts in the southern part of the country. And their shells are scrubbed clean four to eight times a year.

The winter trips, sometimes 700 miles each way, are a necessity because the oysters, to produce the best pearls, must be protected from extremes of temperature and have an unvarying food source.

It takes seven years to produce a good-sized pearl; three years for the oysters to mature enough to bear pearls, and about four years for pearls to form around the implanted nuclei.

Despite all the painstaking care only five out of 20 pearls produced are smooth, lustrous, and flawless enough to be marketed.

Jobs in Government Offered to Students

SALEM, Ore. — University students can begin working for the Oregon State Government during summer vacations after their sophomore year and move right into year-round jobs after graduation under a program first tested last year.

Twenty business administration and social-science students served as interns last summer after passing a competitive examination. If they succeed as interns, no additional tests will be needed for them to join the State service in full-time jobs.

The program is being continued this year after receiving enthusiastic endorsement from colleges, students, and State Government executives.

O'Hanlon Hobby Bulky —Railroad Locomotives

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio — Railroad locomotives are just too bulky to keep around the house, insurance agent Herbert O'Hanlon reluctantly agrees, so he is confining his hobby to collecting the big metal name plates from the steam engines.

Besides a hundred name plates—many of which tell who built the engine, where and when—he has 6,000 photographs of pioneer railroading, railroad lanterns, whistles, tickets, station signs and other items. In addition, he owns part interest in an 1899 narrow gauge steam engine in a Golden, Colo., museum.

Utica Beauty to Reign at Kiwanis Bar-B-Q

GAIL BARNEY

UTICA — Seventeen-year-old Gail Barney will be crowned Hot-house Mushroom Queen Oct. 5 at the Utica Kiwanis Bar-B-Q. The event, first of its kind sponsored by the local service club, will be staged at the Utica Amusement Park.

Gail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Barney, 7561 Daisy St., was one of three finalists in a preliminary contest held earlier this month.

The other two girls, Jacquie Huerth, 18, and Carol Bastien, 17, who were runners-up, will serve as members of the queen's court.

The judging took place Monday night after the regular Kiwanis meeting. Members of the panel were Jack Prescott, Macomb County agricultural agent; Albert and Alex Marzetti, mushroom growers; and Henry Otterson and Robert Petersen, both members of Utica Kiwanis.

They based their decision on popularity, beauty, poise, charm and speaking ability.

Tuesday morning the queen traveled to Lansing to invite State Sen. John Swainson to the Bar-B-Q. Sen. Swainson had been named by Gov. Williams to be his official representative at the Oct. 5 coronation. Time of the ceremony is 1:30 p.m.

The Utica Kiwanis club is sponsoring the event jointly with local mushroom growers to promote the industry in Macomb and Oakland counties and to raise money for underprivileged children.

Naturalists Plan Aid for Storks

Baby Bringers Decline in Number Throughout Usual Nesting Places

WASHINGTON — People in a dozen countries of Europe, Asia and Africa are counting stork bills. The census—by bird lovers—is expected to provide information for a united drive to help the traditional baby bringers build up their own dwindling numbers.

In recent years naturalists have worried over a startling drop in the population of western Europe's white storks, the National Geographic Society says. The birds were once the familiar tenants of the roofs of farmhouses, churches and small-town city halls.

The situation is attributed to various causes, from urbanization and the draining of marsh wading grounds, to the toll taken by hunters and poisoned locusts. The poison theory stems from the fact that migrating storks often fly into locust-invaded areas, where they feed on the massed bodies of insects killed in extermination campaigns.

ROOST NEAR PEOPLE
Since storks are supposed to bring good luck as well as small bundles, their hosts often put up wagon wheels or platforms on which the big birds can pile bulky collections of sticks.

Once storks have built a nest, they regard it as a permanent home base, to which generations of a family may return after annual migrations to Africa. The trouble lately has been that many of the birds are failing to reappear.

In their domestic life, storks have acquired a reputation as models of virtuous behavior. They are monogamous, and faithful to the point of attracting romantic attention. The story is told of one lonely bird that stayed on in a Swiss town long after his flock had flown south. He was waiting for his mate, killed by a high-tension wire.

Stork parents share the duties of incubating their young, and guard the nest fiercely. They labor long hours to bring their offspring food, preferably insects, fish, frogs, and mice. For their part, storklings—even after flying out on their own food-gathering expeditions—return during the first summer to sleep at the family nest.

SANDRA LOU WAMPLER

Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Wampfler of 8675 Lakeview St., Clarkston, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Lou, to Harley H. Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ross of Detroit. The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Illinois and Wayne State University. He presently is working on his Ph.D. degree at Wayne State. A late January wedding is planned.

Ten-Year-Old Keeps House for 5 Children

ATLANTA (UPI)—It was a pitiful case, six children living alone in a tiny apartment. But it was Sally who really touched the detective's emotions.

The officer, J. J. Morris, went to the apartment yesterday after learning of the situation. He found Sally, aged 10, dusting the house and caring for her sisters and brothers, ranging in age from 7 years to 2 months.

The place was spotless, Morris said and so were the youngsters. Sally had been doing a fine job since her father disappeared and her mother was hospitalized three weeks ago.

There was no food in the house, but Sally was expecting a neighbor to bring some.

Morris said in order to keep the family together, Sally had been leaving the smaller children with neighbors while she and her brother attended school and a 5-year-old sister went to kindergarten. She had rushed home every afternoon to pick up the youngsters and get the housework done.

It was Morris' unenviable task to explain to Sally that the law does not allow children to care for themselves.

The industrious little housekeeper suddenly became just a frightened little girl.

"Please don't separate us!" she begged. "We belong together, we want to stay together."

There was no choice, though. Sally and the four older children were placed in a juvenile home and the baby was placed in a hospital as a boarder.

Radiation-Resistant Jet Fuels Possible

WASHINGTON — Air Force researchers say that radiation-resistant jet fuels, considered essential for atomic aircraft, are possible. It is expected that the first atomic-powered plane will have auxiliary jet engines for taking off, landing, and maneuvering.

Research so far shows that jet fuels made from certain petroleum components remain stable even when under gamma radiation as severe as that from atomic reactors.

For thermal stability, saturates in general and naphthenes in particular are believed the best choice for atomic aircraft. More research is needed on the effects of neutron irradiation on petroleum fuels, the experts say.

Police Want Burglar— to Test a New Camera

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — "Burglar wanted. Must be photographic."

Police here haven't hung out such a sign yet but they indicated recently they want a man to test their latest invention, a camera that takes photos of burglars in action.

"Excellent photographs have been obtained on a test basis," said a police department spokesman. "We must now wait for a burglar to invade the premises of an establishment protected with the test camera."

Speed, More Comfort for You at Stake

U.S. Airlines Gamble 3 Billion on Jets

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON (NEA) — You, Uncle Sam and the airlines are about to take the biggest financial flyer ever attempted in the history of commercial passenger aviation.

This is a more than three-billion dollar gamble that Americans will prefer to fly in jet airlines once these huge, speedy birds begin scheduled flights. This November the first of 420 expensive, pure-jet and turbo-prop planes, ordered by U.S. airlines for delivery during the next five years, will begin operations.

A turbo-prop is a jet engine hooked to a propeller. The combination doesn't give you the speed of a pure jet. But it uses less fuel than a jet and will be used for shorter flights. Capital Airlines has been using British Viscount turbo-props for two years. The pure jets will be used mostly for trans-oceanic and trans-continental flights.

Your obvious stake in this gamble is as a passenger. And the payoff is faster, more comfortable transportation.

But if this unprecedented investment in new aircraft turns out to be a financial crash, your partnership in the venture will probably come active as a taxpayer. The U.S. Treasury could be called in to help if the airlines appeal to the Civil Aeronautics Board to go back on a subsidy basis.

SUBSIDIES
Subsidy for airlines was provided in the law years ago to ensure the survival of a growing vital industry. That law is still active. It now provides less than two percent of all airline income—for some smaller airlines. But it is something for the airlines to fall back on if their jet age flames out.

Uncle Sam's contribution is a billion dollars to be spent through 1963 on modernizing the air traffic control system, and 75 million dollars for extending runways. At present there are only seven commercial fields which can handle fully-loaded jet airlines, and an additional eight which can handle jets with limited loads.

The seven cities with airports able to handle fully loaded jets include New York (Idlewild), Boston, Miami, Seattle, Los Angeles (International), Baltimore and San Francisco. The eight cities with airports able to handle jets with limited loads include Atlanta, Chicago (O'Hare Field), Dallas, Detroit, Minneapolis, New Orleans, St. Louis and Tulsa.

The goal is to make all airport runways and control towers capable of handling jets within the next five years.

Other than jet planes will benefit from the air traffic modernization plans. But the imminent introduction of jets has forced a crash program to accomplish this job.

BOLD FINANCE
Beyond the government's contribution, the bold and imaginative way the airlines have invested and planned for the introduction of this revolution in travel writes a new chapter in the history of U.S. high finance.

In the face of steadily declining profits, because costs have gone up while rates have stayed about the same, the industry is committing two and one-half billion dollars to buying jet and turbo-prop aircraft, and almost another half-billion dollars for training and ground facilities.

LOUNGE ON JET — Also twice as many galleys and a toilet that actually flushes.

No other U.S. industry is making such a huge investment in future expansion. The presently assessed value of airline operating equipment is only a little more than a billion dollars.

American Airlines vice president for personnel, Paul W. Kayser, explains that training for jet operations will involve 12,000 employees. Trainees range from pilots.

Keep Close Watch on Detroit Polio

DETROIT (AP)—Health experts kept a close watch on Detroit's polio epidemic today as the outbreak of the crippling disease showed no sign of slackening. The outbreak has resulted in 451 cases of polio and 13 deaths in Detroit thus far this year. It has been described as the worst polio outbreak since the Salk vaccine was introduced generally three years ago.

Health officials said none of the 13 who died of polio received the full dosage of three Salk vaccine shots. They said they had not determined how many of the others struck by the disease had received the full shot series.

Asst. U.S. Surgeon General Theodore J. Bauer said in Washington that about 140 cases of paralytic polio had been reported in the nation through Sept. 12 of persons who received the three shots.

Officials here said none of Detroit's estimated 160 paralytic cases received the full treatment. At the University of Michigan, where the Salk vaccine was first pronounced effective in the spring of 1955, belief was expressed that some cases recorded as polio really are not.

Planes Continue Search for 2 Missing Students

SENETERRE, Que., (U) — An aerial search went on today in Quebec's hinterland for two University of Michigan students lost on a canoe trip between Seneterre and Rupert House on James Bay.

Lund planes and a helicopter are being used in the search some 450 miles north of Ottawa for Allan Price, 21, and Robert Carey, 23, who left Seneterre Aug. 1.

Price is the son of Dr. Percival Price, of Ann Arbor, Mich. He is a professor of music at Michigan.

Economic Adviser Predicts Recovery

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's chief economic adviser is leaving his job convinced that full recovery from the recession will be achieved during the first half of 1959.

And, Gabriel Hauge added emphatically today, he does not believe it will be followed by "galloping inflation."

Hauge, a 44-year-old native of Minnesota, steps out of his post as special assistant to Eisenhower Tuesday to become chairman of the Finance Committee and a member of the Board of Directors of the Manufacturers Trust Co. of New York.

"The recession is over and we are on the way up," Hauge said in an interview. "The evidence is quite clear. I do not expect the current recovery to be a false dawn. I think it is real."

Hauge disagreed with those who contend that large-scale inflation will succeed recovery and become a peril to the country.

"Inflation is a long-run threat, but I take the long run view that we are not going to see galloping inflation follow the recovery. But I will say that if all the parties (private and public) that affect the economy are not restrained, there will be constant pressure in that direction."

Hauge worked with Eisenhower in the 1952 campaign and has been his economic adviser since the President took office.

Man Can Be Father Years After Death?

PARIS (UPI) — A French biologist says it is now possible for a woman to have children by her husband years after his death.

Jean Rostand, a well-known French biologist, announced to the Paris medical faculty that it is now possible to keep human reproductive cells indefinitely in a solution of 30 per cent glycerin at a temperature of minus 79 degrees centigrade.

"I know a woman biologist who has recently made the experiment on herself, thus having two children by him a long time after her husband's death in a car crash," he told his audience.

Rostand would not name the woman or disclose her nationality. "If this principle had been known in the 19th Century," Rostand said, "men like Victor Hugo and Pasteur could still be having children."

Murder Case Hearing Today

Examination of Farmer in Step-mother's Death Set for Justice Court

ST. JOHNS (U) — The examination of bachelor farmer Vincent Hengesbach, 52, on a murder charge in the death of his step-mother, Mrs. Anna Hengesbach, 63, is on today's Justice Court docket.

The case is before Justice Alba Wert here in the county seat of Clinton County.

Mrs. Hengesbach, a widow, was found beaten to death in a field near her home in the Westphalia vicinity Sept. 8. Sheriff's men said she apparently had been killed in the house and dragged outside. She had been missing for a week before her body was found.

Hengesbach, in jail since Sept. 8, has denied any knowledge of how his stepmother came to her death. State Police gave him two lie detector tests. They said both were inconclusive.

The stepson and stepmother shared the home together since the death several years ago of Mrs. Hengesbach's husband. He was Vincent's father by a previous marriage. Neighbors said Vincent and Mrs. Hengesbach had not spoken to each other for years and communicated only by notes.

Sweden had 5,000 polio cases in 1953, the largest number since 1913.

New French Constitution Splits Executive Load

PARIS (AP) — The new French constitution, up for a vote next Sunday, will give France a cross between an American-type presidential system and the traditional European parliamentary regime.

In fact, civic teachers have occasionally suggested something similar in the United States to lighten the burden of the presidency and to make the administration more responsive.

Advance indications point to a big majority for the constitution, which Premier Charles de Gaulle is proposing to France itself and to areas overseas.

It gives the executive branch of the government a much stronger role in French politics, but it splits this role between a president and a premier. The idea is to inject stability into French politics.

The President will be elected for a seven-year term by a greatly enlarged electoral college of some 100,000 persons. He appoints the Premier, who becomes a sort of deputy president. Only Parliament can remove the Premier. He and his Cabinet are responsible to the National Assembly and not to the President. Under the old constitution the President merely proposed a premier.

The President will be able to suspend the application of laws and force their review in Parliament. He can submit basic legislation and constitutional amendments to a referendum. He can dissolve the Assembly and force new national elections in case of conflict between the government and Parliament.

The President will make normal civil service and military assignments, and be commander in chief of the armed forces.

In cases of grave national emergency, he can take over the government itself, under the nominal supervision of a nine-man constitutional council or supreme court.

The Premier, under the new set-up, handles the day-to-day operation of government. He makes the top-flight political appointments, as distinguished from routine civil service assignments. The Premier proposes members of the Cabinet but the appointments require presidential approval.

The Premier will handle the executive's relations with Parliament. He can jam legislation through Parliament. A motion of confidence can only be blocked by an absolute majority of the Assembly's membership.

If he finds such a majority against him, on a formal motion of censure, the Premier must resign. The President can then appoint a successor or he can order new elections.

Parliament will find its wings fairly well clipped. It will deal only with basic legislation, while regulations are the domain of the government.

The constitution opens a new path for French territories overseas which can lead them, if they wish, to a sort of dominion status within the "association of free states," or even to outright independence.

Seek Cause of Fire at Havana Airport

HAVANA (AP)—Authorities today were trying to find out what caused a fire which destroyed the main administration building of Havana's International Jose Marti Airport.

They refused to say whether sabotage was suspected. Informants suggested the fire broke out accidentally yesterday in containers of movie film stored in a warehouse.

The fire roared rapidly through the wooden two-story administration building. Damage was estimated at two million dollars. Three persons were slightly injured.

An RKO movie company was shooting on the second floor. A property man broke a window and lowered actress Dina Merrill to safety. No RKO employees were injured.

A beautiful southern magnolia tree grows near the south entrance to the White House in Washington. It was planted by President Andrew Jackson as a tribute to his wife, Rachel.

Cookout Above the Clouds

Jet's Infra-Red Oven Beats Barbecue

Anyone who wants to take part in a cookout above the clouds can do so aboard a jet clipper. The jet's new infra-red oven with a quartz panel below the electric coils will cook 16 steaks in rare, medium or well-done perfection in seven minutes.

Though prepared in an airborne kitchen seven miles above the earth, the steak has all the flavor of a cut grilled on the backyard barbecue. What's more, the jet oven, unlike the temperamental outdoor grill, takes a mere 17 minutes to heat up to 700 degrees.

The aerial chefs have coined a pun, "cooking with glass," to describe the results achieved by radiating heat through a glass plate. A simple, oblong box with spacious warming compartment, the oven could easily be tucked into the corner of the average American kitchen.

There is little doubt that the oven is a boon to all advocates of cooking without tears. "Such an oven," says an airways chef, "if installed in the home, would revolutionize the kitchen and put an end to the 'slaving-over-a-hot-stove' routine."

Capable of turning out 42 meals in a few minutes, the oven would hardly be practical for the average housewife unless she planned to entertain on an Elsa Maxwell scale. The hostess who, for example, wanted to invite the entire neighborhood to brunch could prepare 42 portions of scrambled eggs in just over two minutes.

200 CUPS OF COFFEE
She might also find the electric coffee-maker, located in the jet galley, a handy gadget. Operating on the silex principle this device can produce over 200 cups of coffee in an hour or eight cups every two minutes.

The jet oven, mass produced, might well put an end to many a domestic crisis. If a few unexpected guests arrived at dinner hour, the lady of the house could afford to be polite—even gracious. She could simply pop something from the deep freeze into the oven, and serve it a few minutes later with no hectic skirmish in the interim.

All this effortless cooking is, of course, the result of months of complex research. The first aerial version of infra-red cooking is the joint product of Pan American and the Frigid-Dinner Company.

The jet oven is lighter, quieter and less complicated than the oven used on propeller aircraft. There are no moving parts to break down, and hold up the dinner.

Previous aircraft ovens, for example, would produce 16 meals in 20 minutes, while the jet oven handles 16 meals in seven minutes. The record is better than one meal every 30 seconds.

Since the Boeing 707 jet clipper will carry up to 165 passengers, plus eight crew members, there are four galleys. Each has an infra-red oven, and each is set up to serve 40 to 45 people. Since the jet flight from New York to Paris will be about seven hours, there will be just time for one major meal and a light snack.

As the Jet Age approaches, the training office resembles a kitchen at the Cordon Bleu. Oven temperature and cooking time for dozens of dishes are scientifically checked and rechecked. A five-pound roast beef takes 20 minutes. Thawed lobster or rock cornish hen averages 12 minutes at 450 degrees, while frozen swordfish or chicken takes 12 minutes at 700 degrees.

No culinary detail has been overlooked in the search for gastronomic perfection. A cookout above the clouds promises to be a gourmet's dream come true.

Kerr Criticizes Foreign Policy

Democrat Feels Uneasy About Ike's Handling of Crisis in Formosa

By JACK BEL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) said today he has found in campaign travels "a strong undercurrent of uneasiness" about President Eisenhower's handling of the Formosa crisis.

Kerr, a member of the Senate Democratic Policy Committee, said in an interview he is convinced foreign policy will play an important part in the November congressional election results.

"It is my opinion that the people have become disillusioned and have lost confidence in President Eisenhower's handling of his job," Kerr said. "This is reflected sharply in the uneasiness with which they view the handling of the Formosa situation."

Kerr spoke out in advance of a scheduled speech in New York to night by Secretary of State Dulles before the Far East American Council of Commerce and Industry.

In this speech and another in Boston Saturday night, Dulles is expected to explain further the administration's stand on the beleaguered Quemoy and Matsu islands.

With these speeches and a detailed policy statement now under preparation by the State Department, Republican campaigners hope to offset the sort of uneasiness among voters Kerr talked about. GOP National Chairman Meade ALCORN has condemned Democrats for bringing the issue into the campaign.

Kerr said, however, he thinks that at this time economic conditions outrank all others in claiming the attention of the voters.

Greece Threatening NATO Withdrawal

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Greek press reports today said Greece's withdrawal from NATO may be considered certain if Britain ignores warnings against putting the Macmillan plan for Cyprus into effect Oct. 1.

The Greek government is making strong efforts to get the British government to suspend implementation of the Macmillan plan.

The plan calls for a freeze until 1965 on deciding the future of the Mediterranean island. Meantime, there would be Greek and Turkish legislatures and representatives to advise the British governor. The Turkish representative is due in Cyprus Oct. 1, but Greece has refused to cooperate in the plan.

Greece was reported to have made clear to Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary general of NATO who visited Athens Tuesday, that suspension of the Macmillan plan was an important proviso to the inception of new discussions on finding a Cyprus solution.

Will Attend Convention

Waterford Township's supervisor Elmer Johnson will attend a two-day convention of supervisors and tax assessors Monday and Tuesday at the Kellogg Center in Lansing.

Bulls, Bears Make News, but Not on Stock Market

By The Associated Press
Bulls and bears—definitely not the stock market variety—had their ups and downs on the news front yesterday.

At Princeton, Mo., a hopped-up Hereford bull, breaking out of a barn invaded playgrounds of a junior high and an elementary school during recess. At the junior high, about 160 pupils made like rabbits into the schoolhouse. Mrs. Jewel Hagan, a teacher, providing rear guard action, was charged by

Tests Disqualify Woolly Bear for Weather Prophet

Contrary to folklore, no insect knows enough about the weather to predict it.

Most famous for this supposed ability is the woolly bear—a furry caterpillar with black head and tail and a reddish brown mid-section. Legend going back to colonial days claims the width of the brown section indicates the severity of the winter to come. The wider the band, the milder the winter.

Some years ago, Dr. C. H. Curran, curator of insects and spiders at the American Museum of Natural History, set out to test the theory. Selecting a fine fall day when the leaves were turning and the air was bracing, he led an expedition to gather woolly bears near New York City. Measured, tabulated, and averaged out, the caterpillars' bands indicated a mild winter. A mild winter followed.

For four consecutive years the bears called the turn. Builders, coal and oil merchants, and skiers began to shower in requests for the latest woolly word.

Then the bears went sour. They predicted as well as ever, but the weather didn't follow. After nine years of pleasant autumn safaris, Dr. Curran announced to the world what he had long suspected: the woolly bears' bands prove nothing.

Lens of Eye Flexible

NEW YORK — The human eye, like a camera, "photographs" through a lens. It is able to automatically change curvature in a split second to focus images on a tiny "film" (the retina) no larger than a postage stamp. There 137,000,000 light-sensitive cells photochemically change the image to nerve impulses, which flow through a million fibers of the optic nerve for "translation" in the sight areas of the brain.

U.S. Reported Drafting Ban on Nuclear Tests

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States today was reported writing a treaty for suspension of nuclear tests to be proposed at Geneva talks on that subject starting Oct. 31.

Informed sources said the State Department's legal staff is preparing a draft to be discussed with Britain and the Soviet Union. They also said they expect the United States to agree that a conference of technical experts on means of preventing surprise attack should start in Geneva Nov. 10. The Soviet Union suggested the starting date.

Jobless Arbitration Group Is Inactive

Although the seven-member Waterford Township Unemployment Arbitration Committee is not officially "out of business," members have not had occasion to help solve one single problem relating to debtors and creditors.

This was revealed by Supervisor Elmer Johnson who now "screens" individual cases as they apply for help, rather than to call a meeting of the entire volunteer committee of township business and professional men.

"In several cases," Johnson said, "the committee has given moral support to individuals seeking help in their financial problems. However, we have had no occasion to work out problems between creditor and debtor, which is the real purpose of the committee."

Johnson added that since the group was organized last May the committee has met with only three or four individuals, and he has talked with about 14 people, none of whom have the type of problems the committee is authorized to help.

Christmas Tree Chosen

LIBBY, Mont. (AP)—The White House lawn this Christmas will be graced with a 74-foot tree from Montana's Kootenai National Forest. Libby Chamber of Commerce officials said inspection and approval of the tree was made by George Harding of the National Park Service.

Argentinian, 76, Takes Japanese Bride Who's 34

TOKYO (AP)—The quest of a 76-year-old Argentine millionaire for a Japanese bride ended today at the altar.

Jose Gallicchio, a rancher whose wife died 10 years ago, was wed in a Roman Catholic church to Miss Michiko Furukawa, 34, a Japanese teacher at the U.S. consulate at Fukuoka.

He speaks only Spanish. She speaks fluent English and Portuguese in addition to Japanese. An Argentine tourist translated.

The wedding left more than 300 disappointed Japanese women, ranging in ages from 17 to 45. They had written Gallicchio when word leaked out two weeks ago that he hoped to acquire a Japanese widow as a bride while here on a sightseeing tour. He said the "femininity and kindness" of Japanese women had impressed him.

While the letters stacked up, Gallicchio went off sightseeing in southern Japan and met Michiko. "It was love at first sight," he said, even though she wasn't a widow.

The bride commented, "I'm already 34 years old and it's very difficult to make a happy marriage in Japan. I wanted to go to South America since I was a child. I don't care how rich my husband is."

They will leave Wednesday on a round-the-world honeymoon.

Boys Ranch Head Gives Key:

Friendship, Work, Sports

(This is the second of two dispatches telling the story of Cal Farley and his amazing success in molding "good boys" at his Boys Ranch.)

By PRESTON McGRAW
AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI) — Cal Farley, who has had spectacular success in making good citizens out of nearly 1,400 homeless or delinquent boys at his Boys Ranch, thinks a "lack of raising" is at the bottom of the nation's juvenile delinquency problem.

He estimates that 97 or 98 per cent of the boys sent to his ranch are from broken homes. Farley agrees that a broken home, particularly when a mother winds up with the children, contributes to delinquency.

"When you take the father out of a home, you take out the police department," he said.

He thinks that the migration from country to city and the automobile also are big factors.

"It's too bad," he said, "that we can't take all the kids in America to the country and raise them until they are 18 without an automobile."

Broken homes aside, he thinks that plain boredom—lack of something to do—is responsible for a big percentage of delinquency in cities.

NO CHANCE FOR BOREDOM

Kids at Boys Ranch get plenty of friendship and affection, but no opportunity for boredom.

"You have to keep them on a daily routine," Farley said. "You have got to tell a kid when to get up and when to eat and when to go to bed."

"It's the most healthy thing you can do for him. A boy is tickled to death when he gets a positive 'yes' or 'no' answer."

"He doesn't want a half-hearted answer. I think a positive 'no' makes a boy happier than a half-hearted 'yes.'"

"The happiest kids in America are those who are told what to do. We get boys at the ranch and we treat them like the army does."

"The main thing is to keep them busy. They never stop doing something. And it's good for them, because a boy never runs out of steam, only momentarily."

"We even have athletics for our boys just before they go to bed. If you run the wind out of a kid, he'll lie down instead of throwing rocks."

Farley never lectures a boy. If he's a tough one and tells Farley he intends to keep on being tough, Farley tells him something like: "Well, Jim, your string has run out here."

Boys who have already seen the light enforce discipline. It generally doesn't take long and when a boy fits himself into the daily routine of the big ranch he doesn't have much opportunity to backslide.

Farley tries to educate his boys. Some learn how to become ranchers and farmers. Some get scholarships to college. Farley thinks that if he can get a boy for as long as 18 months, he can straighten him out.

He is behind a program in Amarillo called "Kids, Inc.," in which 4,200 youngsters participated last year. Kids, Inc., is an athletic program — baseball in spring and summer, football in fall, basketball in winter.

It differs from most organized athletic programs in that every kid who joins gets to play. There is no question about his making the team; there is always a team he can make.

Farley thinks that this is where most organized athletic programs fall short. They emphasize winning and a kid who is under-sized or not an expert athlete is dropped.

In a recent issue of the Boys Ranch newspaper, "Boys Ranch Roundup," Farley said in an editorial that "the best possible investment any American can make is in our greatest natural resource — boys."

Reds Return Bodies of Six U.S. Fliers

KARS, Turkey (AP)—The bodies of six U.S. airmen killed in a crash in Soviet Armenia Sept. 2 are back in American hands. The Soviets surrendered them at the Soviet-Turkish border yesterday. The fate of 11 other crewmen remained a mystery.

The full story of the final flight of the C130 turboprop transport and the explosion and fire that destroyed it remained to be told. The Soviets have protested that the transport "intentionally violated the Soviet border." The U.S. State Department said Soviet MIGs had jumped the plane near this provincial capital, 20 miles inside Turkey, and forced it across the border, though it did not accuse them of shooting it down.

Soviet officials from the city of Leninakan escorted the six dead to the border. The bodies were received by Col. John Chalfont, U.S. air attaché in Ankara, and brought to a Kars hospital morgue.

There was no immediate identification of the six.

Missile Bases Planned

ROME (AP)—The United States and Italy have agreed in principle to set up intermediate-range ballistic missile bases on Italian soil within three months, an informed source said today.

New Radio Telescope Erected in California

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — America's newest ear to the sky is dish-shaped and weighs 150 tons.

The ear, a 90-foot radio telescope, was erected at an observatory site yesterday in a desert valley below the High Sierra, 250 miles north of here.

The California Institute of Technology, which will operate the observatory, said the first of two dish-shaped ears will be ready next month. Both will be hooked up and in operation by spring. Radio telescopes pick up radio waves from stars.

Petrified trees (where geologic action changes the wood to agate) usually hard rock to make arrowheads are still found in northeast Arizona.

Refuses to Transfer Students in Harlem

NEW YORK (AP) — School Supt. John J. Theobald has declined to shift any of the nine Negro pupils whose parents complain that facilities are inadequate in the Harlem junior high schools to which the children were assigned. Theobald met with seven of the pupils' mothers and their attorney Paul B. Zuber for 2½ hours yesterday.

Theobald said later: "We parted cordially after airing the problem, after listening to the mothers and their spokesman. "If I once moved on other than educational grounds, I would find myself in an indefensible position."

The parents, refusing to send their children to the schools which are almost entirely Negro, are providing private tutoring sessions for them.

The parents want their children assigned to better integrated schools which, they contend, provide better instruction.

Greek Cypriot Wounded

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Greek Cypriot Evangelos Savades was shot and seriously wounded today on Famagusta's main street. Three months ago a rebel EOKA leaflet accused him of being a traitor to the Greek cause. He was the fifth Greek Cypriot shot in 36 hours. Three died.

Psychiatric Lingo Used Keeps Patients Puzzled

NEW YORK (UPI) — How long has it been since you've had a globus hystericus, or, for that matter, a lapsus linguae?

If you say "neven," you're just not up with psychiatric lingo. The former is a "hysterical symptom in which there is the sensation of a lump in the throat." And the latter? A slip of the tongue.

Doctors, as a matter of fact, have the darndest words for the simplest things.

If your doc says you're suffering from pavor nocturnus he means you're having nightmares. Myophobia means the morbid fear of germs, dirt or contamination. Compulsive hand washers all from that.

Folks who won't go near the water have aquaphobia. Those who fear strangers have xenophobia. Persons scared of birds, cats and dogs will find zoophobia on their medical charts.

The latest Physician's Guide to Psychiatric Terms also defines some commonplace words. Grief, for example, is described as "a normal emotional response to an external loss. It subsides within a reasonable length of time; to be distinguished from depression."

PERFECTLY CLEAR! You've heard, too, of mania? To the doctors, it means a "mental illness characterized by acceleration of speech, thought and bodily movements, excitability and mood elation!"

If the doc puts "panic" on your medical record he means you've had "an acute attack of intense, overwhelming anxiety with a large degree of personality disorganization."

Husbands may be able to use the word "logorrhea" when describing the little woman. It means excessive talking.

If the doctor says your "id" is sick, he's referring to "the part of the personality that harbors your unconscious strivings and instinctive desires."

And when the docs say "word salad," they're not thinking of something to eat. They mean "a mixture of words and phrases lacking comprehensive meaning." See?

New Concrete Drive Built at Wrong Home

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP) — When Shorty Goddard returned home one evening he discovered he had a freshly poured concrete driveway.

The contractor, he said, had mistakenly put the drive at his home instead of at a neighbors. Goddard said he had been planning to have one built anyway.

Runaway Car Takes 2 Women on Wild Ride

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP)—Mrs. Cleo Roberts of Denver felt the brakes fall as the car started down a steep, eight-mile hill. She slammed the vehicle into low gear.

The car rounded a curve and then the clutch went out. It picked up speed, swinging around sharp bends in the highway.

Mrs. Gladys Neals of Wichita,

Kan., owner of the car, sat tensely as Mrs. Roberts steered around a pickup truck at 75 miles an hour. The women waved and screamed at the truck driver, John Skerjanec, 59, a Canon City Power Co. employee.

At first he thought they were flirting with him. Then he realized the car was out of control.

He increased his own speed to 85, he said, until he caught up with the women's car and passed it. He slowed down in front of the runaway vehicle. It rammed the truck's rear bumper, and Skerjanec brought the two vehicles to a stop.

Republicans in Denver Name New Candidate

DENVER (AP)—John J. Harpel, 64, a former state senator, was selected yesterday by Denver Republicans to be their candidate for Congress.

Harpel, head of a company manufacturing salad dressing, will oppose Democratic incumbent Byron G. Rogers Nov. 4.

Carl S. Becker, a Denver city official, withdrew from the race the day after the primary, saying his wife was ill.

Lebanon Names New Premier

Nasser Admirer Takes Post After 19 Killed in Civil Warfare

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Former rebel leader Rashid Karami, a Nasser admirer who leans to neutralism in foreign affairs, is Lebanon's new premier.

He heads an eight-man Cabinet intended to restore peace to a nation in which passions still run high.

President Fuad Chehab named Karami, 37, to the premiership last night after using troops and tanks to halt an outburst of civil warfare between Christians and Moslems that left 19 dead.

Karami takes over the job vacated by Sami Solh, a pro-Western Moslem who was twice the target of assassins during the 4½-month revolt in this half Moslem, half Christian land against the administration of President Camille Chamoun.

Solh is now in Turkey. Chamoun has retired to his summer home at a Christian village near Beirut.

Like Chehab, Karami wants the remaining 9,500 American troops based in Lebanon to get out. He has suggested Oct. 15 for the final withdrawal.

The dark, slightly built Karami, a Moslem, told a news conference recently he favors federation of Lebanon with President Nasser's United Arab Republic—"if all Lebanese agree."

Karami smiled when asked his opinion of Nasser.

"I consider him a superman," he said.

Karami was premier once before — from April to November 1955.

He led the rebellion in Tripoli, in north Lebanon, where he has a big following. Nevertheless, he is considered a moderate.

Within the Cabinet, Karami kept for himself the defense and interior ministries. This gives him control of Lebanon's armed forces and police.

American troops took up positions battling factions in the port area. They were also spotted around the airport and in the Beirut residential section where about 1,000 Americans live. There were no reports that American forces did any shooting.

Connecticut was the first state to enact legislation on automobiles in 1901.

Workers Hounded to Meet U.S. Standards

Russian 'Farm' Really a Gigantic Factory

By BEVERLY DEEPE
Third in Series
Written for The Associated Press

They call it a farm. But it isn't. It is really a gigantic factory in which workers are continually hounded to meet American production standards.

More than 18,000 people work on a huge, 32,000-acre factory-farm east of Stalingrad that I visited as a member of the U.S.-U.S.S.R. student exchange program.

Workers live in five haphazard little communities on the farm, mostly in four-room homes of wood or peeling stucco owned by the government. About 10 per cent live in state-owned apartment houses.

Kaskalen is one of the communities—a listless town where a white stucco Palace of Culture for night movies and dances is still under construction. There are no churches.

Crazed Filly Destroyed, Sired by Native Dancer

NEW YORK (AP) — A $25,000 filly sired by Native Dancer and owned by Aly Khan went wild in a cargo plane yesterday. The horse injured itself so badly it had to be destroyed.

The KLM plane was taking off from Idlewild Airport for Amsterdam when the yearling broke out of a stall. Two groomes were unable to calm the horse, which had no name. The plane stayed on the ground and a veterinarian was called. He destroyed the animal.

Vernon Boyd, a young student who has been blind since the age of 2, financed his way through Boston University by working in an optical factory at nights.

1955 Ford, rolled down the asphalt main street. But just outside the village, small donkey carts carried dusty men over dusty roads.

Women with smiling Oriental faces brought quart tins to the shops for their daily supply of milk.

The state owns the farm and pays the workers' wages. The farm meets the production quotas set by the state and sells any surplus to the state.

Each farmer has three quarters of an acre which the state lets him cultivate as he pleases. Each farmer also has permission to raise a few cattle.

Otherwise, they are the human tools who operate the state's tractors, combines and other machinery for the benefit of the state.

There are 3,500 unskilled workers who cultivate the corn, harvest the grain, hoe the 3,000 acres of garden crops and plant the sugar beets on this on farm. They also tend the dairy cows, goats, horses, pigs—and 300 camels.

The farm has more than 6,000 children who attend various schools and the agricultural institute.

Before leaving, the director took us to the four-room, crumbling stucco home of a farm mechanic—described as "one of the professional people"—and his wife and three daughters.

We entered a reception room where a rubber plant filled about a fourth of the space. There was

The Council first asked for a referendum on the issue in 1952. It tried again in 1955. It got nowhere.

Since then, New York state has okayed legalized bingo on a local option basis, so this time the off-track betting proposal is getting closer than usual scrutiny.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner has been talking of it. His object is to raise an added $80 million dollars a year in taxes.

But the mayor, a Democrat, knows as well as anyone that his chances are slim. Either a referendum or a change in state parliamentary laws would require the approval of the Republican-dominated State Legislature.

Upstate legislators traditionally serve as self-appointed guardians of the morals of the big city. And already, presumably, their ears are cocked to a declaration by the Protestant Council of the City of New York, reading: "Legalized gambling has a history of breeding poverty, crime, corruption, demoralization of moral and ethical standards and lower living standards."

Favors Calling Vote on Betting

New York's Council Wants Off-Track Wager Decision by State

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York City Council went on record again this week in favor of a state referendum on off-track betting.

This is a long way from bringing about legalized betting, however.

The Council first asked for a referendum on the issue in 1952. It tried again in 1955. It got nowhere.

Since then, New York state has okayed legalized bingo on a local option basis, so this time the off-track betting proposal is getting closer than usual scrutiny.

Gomulka Lambastes Church Opposition

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Wladyslaw Gomulka has accused the Roman Catholic Church of openly and seditiously opposing his Communist regime.

"We're not looking for war with the church," the Communist boss of Poland said yesterday. But he warned that those who refuse to remove crucifixes from schoolrooms cannot count on leniency and impunity from law.

Relations between church and state have been strained in this predominantly Catholic nation as the Communist regime moved to restrict church power.

Gomulka told Communist party activists among schoolteachers that the government will continue to honor a 1956 agreement permitting voluntary religious instruction in the schools. However, crucifixes that have appeared in schoolrooms since the agreement was signed must come down, he said.

An order for their removal was issued early this month but has been largely ignored.

Connecticut has about 4,300 gasoline filling stations.

Presidential Pensions

Ex-Chief to Live in Dignity

By RAY HENRY

It took Congress 60 years to show that it heard the plea of Grover Cleveland to give ex-presidents a pension.

Cleveland was thinking in terms of $10,000 a year. Congress just approved pensions of $25,000.

When he made his pitch, Cleveland had just left the White House and wasn't hard up. In fact, he was worth at least $300,000. But, he was still worried about his future.

"I would," he said, "accept such a pension without compunction. Indeed, I think I should merely feel that I have earned what such a law would provide me."

But the bill backed by Cleveland—like many similar bills before it—got no place. Yet the reason for presidential pensions given in Cleveland's day were the same as now when Congress finally acted:

That some presidents have had a hard time financially after leaving the White House—although that can't be said of any in modern times—and that the country has a duty to see it doesn't happen again.

GET STAFF, ALSO

The new law should go a long way toward seeing that it doesn't. In addition to their $25,000 a year pension, ex-presidents can have $50,000 a year to hire a staff for answering mail and other chores. And, they get free office space.

Although no ex-president in recent times has had a hard time financially, only Herbert Hoover could be considered a wealthy man.

Hoover, in halting the new pension law, said recently he intends to follow a life-long practice—even while president—of turning his government pay over to charity or public service work.

Harry S. Truman also praised the idea of a presidential pension recently. But, he hasn't said whether he'll take his. His Kansas City office staff of three went on the federal payroll this month—due to law.

Truman, since leaving the White House, has received substantial income from his two volume autobiography. Whether he faced hard times without it is an open question.

Calvin Coolidge turned to writing a newspaper column—at $2,400 a week—after leaving the presidency. Woodrow Wilson lived on his wife's income after friends paid off the mortgage on his house in Washington.

William Howard Taft, with a yearly income of $8,000 from property and investments, became a $5,000-a-year law professor at Yale. Later, he became chief justice of the Supreme Court.

EARLY PRESIDENTS SUFFER

Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, James Monroe and Ulysses S. Grant were the ex-presidents Congress felt had hit hard times after leaving the White House.

Jefferson almost went bankrupt, had to mortgage Monticello and sell his library. Madison wrote notes on the constitutional convention for income and his widow couldn't live comfortably on what he left. Monroe had to sell his Virginia estate and move to New York to live with his daughter.

But, the most pitiful of all was Grant. After a series of financial misadventures he wound up penniless. To give his family something to live on after his death he forced himself—while dying of throat cancer—to write his memoirs.

The family got $450,000 from his work, but Grant died shortly before it was published.

He Proves Case Against School in Bus Dispute

NORTH MASSAPEQUA, N.Y. School officials told 5-year-old John O'Connell that he wasn't eligible to ride the school bus to kindergarten because they lived within half a mile of the school.

John Sr. drove his car from his house to the school. The speedometer said more than half a mile. School officials said they would recheck but felt there couldn't be an error.

Undaunted, O'Connell, a Teletype operator, bought a tape measure. Up one street and down another he went, measuring the distance foot by foot.

His finding: it was 160 feet MORE than half a mile to the school door.

He told the school. The official word on the school's recheck came yesterday, and today, for the first time, young John will be at the bus stop waiting for the school bus.

"One of those streets he had to cross has very heavy traffic," said O'Connell. "It was worth the time and trouble—and all those disbelieving stares from motorists and passers-by."

Waterford Village School PTA Holds 1st Meeting

The first Waterford Village school's Parent-Teacher Assn. meeting will get under way at 8:00 p.m. tonight, with the introduction of new officers by President Albert Hawley.

Introduction of the school's teaching staff, by Mrs. Ruth Ernel, will precede an outdoor movie, "Fishing for Fun," featuring National casting champion Ben Hardisty.

Integration Issue Still Up in Air

Southern Governors End Session Without Taking Any Formal Stand

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Southern governors talked and talked about it, but they were still "off the record" on school integration.

They ended their 24th annual conference yesterday without adopting a formal stand on the South's most controversial issue.

A governor who asked not to be identified said after a closed-door executive session: "The feeling behind the scenes was that it would be better not to discuss any of the various resolutions on this. Because of the widely varying views of the governors, we felt it would do more harm than good to have an open fight."

A governor who favors integration, Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland, proposed a resolution for a formal stand that was killed in the Resolutions Committee.

A segregationist governor, Marvin Griffin of Georgia, and a so-called moderate, Frank Clement of Tennessee, were prepared to introduce resolutions.

But the two said they held the proposals back after McKeldin's resolution lost in committee.

McKeldin said he was "disappointed at the failure of the conference to take an official position of leadership towards the maintenance of law, order and uninterrupted public education."

"The masks of moderation have slipped from the faces of some who had managed for four years to pose in that position."

Studies Point to Positive Connections

Does Weather Influence Human Behavior?

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — "We always look for trouble on Friday nights," said the Philadelphia police inspector. "But when a full moon falls on a Friday night, we know there is going to be the devil to pay."

The inspector made the remark at a meeting of the American Institute of Medical Climatology, which is trying to find out whether he was telling an old cop's tale or whether there is indeed a link between meteorological conditions and human behavior.

Why, the Institute wants to know, are there more suicides at certain times; why do arthritis double up in pain on certain days; why are they relatively comfortable on others; why are you more inclined to fly off the handle at one time than another?

Heading the Institute is Dr. George Piersol, dean emeritus of the Graduate School of Medicine of the University of Pennsylvania. Other officers include the Rt. Rev. James A. Donnellon, president of Villanova University, and Harold W. Schaefer, vice president of the Philco Corp.

CORRELATE DATA

So far, the study includes correlating meteorological data with statistics from the following sources:

—Hour-by-hour reports of major crimes in Philadelphia.

—Daily reports on absenteeism at the Philco plant.

—Reports on all death investigations by the office of the city's medical examiner, Dr. Joseph W. Spelman.

—And monthly reports from a number of hospitals in the Philadelphia area.

Already there are signs to indicate that the Institute is off on no wild goose chase.

While the Institute stresses that "the vast field of bioclimatology has been barely explored," scientists do have a clue to link weather with human health and disposition.

It's a clue that has been kicked around ever since 1931 when Frederick Dessauer of Germany demonstrated that electrically-charged particles in the air have a good deal to do with the way we feel and behave.

NEGATIVE IONS AID

During the past 27 years, many with these particles, ions, which are created when an atom or molecule gains or loses an electron and becomes either positively or negatively charged. Dessauer was the first to contend that positive ions had bad effects while negative ions had good ones.

About six years ago Dr. Piersol and Dr. Igho H. Kornbluh, director of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at Pennsylvania University's Graduate Hospital, decided to find out why.

Using the facilities of North-eastern Hospital in Philadelphia with the assistance of researchers at Philco, Kornbluh and his aides discovered that negative ions do a great many things besides soothe and give a sense of well-being.

For example, they have a definite sedative and sleep-producing effect; relieve pain; relieve approximately 62 per cent of hay fever and asthma victims for periods ranging up to two hours; have a therapeutic effect, particularly on burn victims and they promote healing in certain types of wounds.

These things are now known. But Kornbluh is not satisfied. He wants to know why negative ions are so beneficial. He also sees tremendous possibilities in the wider use of ions.

For example, in such disasters as an enemy attack on a city, Kornbluh contends that if hundreds or thousands of burn victims could be gathered together in negatively-charged rooms it would save many lives, reduce the drain on narcotics, and provide what amounts to emergency first aid without tying up scores of doctors and nurses.

The court—a full colonel and six lieutenant colonels—postponed a decision on the move.

Bailey, 43, sat motionless through the opening procedure. The Detroit-born Rogers, who now makes his home in New York City, was not present.

Bailey was manager of the Baumholder officers club last Aug. 2 when Rogers was to appear as master of ceremonies of a three-act show.

The major is accused of hitting Rogers on the head and kicking him, causing the fracture of a rib. He is also charged with conduct unbecoming an officer.

Rogers maintains Bailey attacked him because he and his troupe were late for their mid-night appearance.

Since the incident Bailey has been under restriction.

Rogers was committed to the U.S. Air Force hospital at Wiesbaden, treated for a fractured rib and released after three days.

If convicted Bailey faces a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and a dishonorable discharge.

Industrial production in New Zealand increased by seven tenths of one per cent in 1957 over the 1956 figure.

Doomed Man Meets Governor Tomorrow

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP). — Jimmy Wilson, sentenced to die Oct. 24 for the robbery of an elderly white widow, tomorrow will meet Gov. James E. Folsom, who is reported ready to spare his life.

A clemency hearing for the illiterate handyman has been set in the governor's office.

Folsom has refused to say publicly what he might do, but sources close to the governor have said they expect him to commute Wilson's death sentence to life imprisonment.

All interested parties are invited to speak at the hearing, the governor said.

Wilson, who had served two previous prison terms for grand larceny, was sentenced to death for the robbery of 82-year-old Mrs. Estelle Barker at her home at Marion, Ala. Mrs. Barker testified that before taking the money — $1.95 — the Negro choked her and attempted to rape her.

Wilson wasn't charged with attempted rape, which carries a maximum penalty of 20 years imprisonment. He was indicted for robbery — and nighttime larceny, both capital offenses, and was tried only on the first charge.

The Alabama Supreme Court has upheld Wilson's death sentence and recently refused to reconsider the case.

Porpoises outswim most fish, but the seagoing mammals can remain under water no longer than three minutes. Usually porpoises surface for breath every 30 to 45 seconds, even during sleep.

Adams' Successor Must Fill Vital Role

HELP WANTED
ADMINISTRATOR, experienced, with passion for anonymity, knowledge of politics. Getting along with people important, but must be able to say "no" to their demands. Long hours, pay only $25,000, but much personal satisfaction in playing key role for man with vital job. No Democrats please. Apply 1600 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D.C.

IF THE WHITE HOUSE is looking for a successor to Sherman Adams, this synthetic "want ad" sums up the qualities needed for job.

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Since the resignation of Sherman Adams as the Assistant to the President, the Washington spotlight focuses on the job he's leaving—and what it takes to fill it.

For while Adams has turned out to be a dispensable man, Adams' job remains the indispensable role on the White House staff.

With each passing year of crisis after crisis abroad and government growth at home, it becomes more and more important for the nation's Chief Executive to have a stand-in.

The Assistant must say "No!" to the legions of special pleaders knocking at the White House door.

He must filter from the thousands of papers and telephone calls that hit the White House every day, the ones that the President must handle personally.

He must know, as well as the President himself, what the President's policies on any of a hundred matters are, or are likely to be.

But he must also know never to usurp the authority of the President by making policy himself.

In return for these skills, the Assistant to the President receives $25,000 a year, works an average of 12 hours a day, and makes a great many enemies.

This is a brief picture of the job as it has developed over the last five and a half years that the slim, taciturn Adams has held it. It isn't likely to be changed too much by the next man in the hot seat, although some tasks might be redistributed among White House aides.

Many of the "No's" that the Assistant to the President voices have been issued first by the President himself. For example, if the President decides to refuse some Congressman's request, the Assistant is the man who has to relay that word to the luckless petitioner. Instead of getting mad at the President, the Congressman is apt to put the personal blame on the Assistant for the decision.

If the man in Adams' job is to do it as well as Adams has, he will have to know more about government and more about what the President's views are on any given subject than any man in Washington.

He will have to know about every problem in the White House, and have the knack for going directly to the heart of it and shaking it out.

One of the greatest services he will perform in protecting President Eisenhower is settling disputes between government departments. The technique: bring the chiefs of two conflicting agencies face-to-face in his office. The usual result: agreement in the course of an hour or two.

If they can't reach agreement, he will make a brief of the situation and take it to the President for final decision.

The Assistant sits in on the President's conferences with the Cabinet, the National Security Council, Congressional leaders and many of the President's important callers. But many who want to see the President—from GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn on down—wind up seeing the Assistant alone.

In foreign affairs and national defense, the President runs the show actively. National Security Council decisions are carried out under Assistant Secretary of State Christian A. Herter. On all other decisions, at Cabinet level and lower, the Assistant is the man who sees they are put into effect.

He is the coordinator of political appointments and patronage jobs, screening applications for judgeship or other high offices to see that those recommended by Senators or government departments meet the President's high standards and will support his policies.

Many of them don't. The Assistant is the man who has to tell them "No"—and make himself another enemy.

He can't, however, merely sit and wait for the hopefuls to turn up. He has to keep tabs on a future supply of likely candidates for vacancies coming up in Federal offices and clear them with all concerned.

Judging from Adams' experience, all of this occupies the Assistant from seven to seven—give or take 15 minutes or so at either end of the day. He eats lunch at the White House, never takes a coffee break and never "yaks" just to be pleasant.

His telephone traffic, incoming and outgoing, is constant, and he handles it with dispatch.

He keeps abreast of his considerable correspondence the same way—with short letters, many of them prepared for the President's signature. The resultant toll on secretaries is considerable. He keeps two of them busy full time, with another from the White House stenographic pool helping out.

His work-day may include seeing as many as 50 or 60 people, plus five or 10 huddles with President Eisenhower. It may also include help on a Presidential speech, where his knowledge of the Eisenhower philosophy will be an invaluable advantage in editing the efforts of as many as 50 people.

In referring to Adams once, President Eisenhower himself described the kind of a man he needs as his "stand-in": an invaluable public servant, doing a difficult job effectively, honestly and tirelessly.

Although the odds are 8 or 9 to 1 that a child with asthma will grow out of it, some develop severe complications difficult to treat.

To Finance Lectures From Contributions

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Funds contributed in memoriam to the late Ernest O. Lawrence are to be used to finance a series of lectures at the University of California, where Dr. Lawrence directed the radiation laboratory. At request of Dr. Lawrence's widow, contributions which would have otherwise gone for flowers for the Nobel Prize-winning inventor of the cyclotron were put into the lecture fund.

It contains nearly $10,000, but more will be needed, said University Chancellor Glenn T. Seaborg. There are 13,500,000 people between the ages of 15 and 20 in the United States.

Dr. Moss to Take on Partial Duties

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Political experts said today that Sherman Adams' successor probably would not inherit the vast power that President Eisenhower vested in his chief assistant.

Adams was on the job as usual yesterday preparing for the orderly transfer of his duties. But White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said there was no word yet on a successor.

Political experts believed that the man who got the job would get Adams' title as "assistant to the president" but not the encompassing authority that Eisenhower gave the man he called his "chief of staff."

No single individual was expected to succeed to the "yes or no" powers of Adams of the finality of his influence over appointive federal jobs.

Adams, meanwhile, performed what for him was an unusual duty. With the President at his side, he administered the oath of office to Dr. Malcolm C. Moos, political science professor at Johns Hopkins University, who became the President's chief speech writer.

Moos will become a presidential speech writer taking over the assignment previously held by Arthur Larson, who resigned.

With the brief ceremony over, President Eisenhower thrust forth a hand, beamed, and told Moos: "Well, good to have you aboard officially."

The President had a greeting, too, for Mrs. Moos and four small children, Grant Alexander, Katherine, Malcolm Jr. and baby Ann. Two-year-old Grant shyly stuck a finger in his mouth.

The President also shook hands with Charles J. Moos of St. Paul, Minn., father of his new assistant.

The son grew up in St. Paul but came to the White House from Baltimore, where he was a political science professor at Johns Hopkins University.

Normally, the oath for a new staff member is administered by Frank K. Sanderson, White House administrative officer.

Adams announced his resignation Monday in the face of heavy political pressure following disclosure of his relationship with Boston millionaire Bernard Goldfine.

Political experts said the position Adams gave up was unique, not in title but in personal relationship.

Eisenhower was fresh from the regulated chain-of-command life at Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe when he first got to know Adams in the 1952 campaign.

He liked the crispness and clarity with which Adams helped to forge the successful Eisenhower "crusade" against the Democrats. He relied increasingly on Adams' knowledge of politics and government.

Hence it was quite in the Eisenhower pattern after the election to establish Adams as the forerunner of his administration. Eisenhower set the policies with the advice of his cabinet and expert advisers. Adams gave the orders.

Adams' power in the field of political patronage was virtually unsurpassed in modern times. If he didn't approve, the prospect didn't get the job.

The close working relationship between Eisenhower and Adams was of such personal evolution that no new "the assistant" can be expected, according to some authorities, to take over the tremendously broad areas controlled for the past six years by the silver-haired New Englander.

The more likely prospect seemed to be that the diversity of Adams' operations would be distributed more evenly among the current large White House staff. A successor to Adams still would be top man in the President's staff structure. But his actual authority would be diluted in the process of spreading the work load.

WILL THEY DIVIDE ADAMS' JOB — These four men have been mentioned as possible successors to presidential aide Sherman Adams. Dr. Malcolm C. Moos (far right of four) was sworn in yesterday afternoon as a new White House administrative assistant, but not as presidential aide. Others are, left to right, Gen.

Alfred M. Gruenther, president of the American Red Cross and an old friend of President Eisenhower; Leonard Hall, former chairman of the Republican party; and Howard Pyle, already a presidential assistant.

Portland and Seattle Vie for More Alaskan Trade

BY RICHARD H. SYRING
PORTLAND, Ore. (NEA) — The Cities of Portland and Seattle are working hopefully to turn Alaskan statehood into a new "gold rush" for business in their communities.

The two biggest cities in the Pacific Northwest are making no effort to conceal their desires, but many efforts to turn desire into reality.

The Washington city, some 200 miles north of Portland, has long held the lead in trade and business with what it now the 49th state. Since Seattle was the only place where direct shipments or travel could start, most persons took it for granted that Seattle was the only gateway to Alaska.

Until World War II, most Portland business men held that idea, too, but the war changed everything.

The strategic importance of Alaska became apparent. So did Alaska's business potential. Trade with Alaska became the Portland Chamber of Commerce's battle cry.

In 1948, the Chamber created an Alaskan department. Then came the struggle to get equal water freight rates with Seattle. Direct air service was established. The Portland Chamber has sponsored nine annual trade tours.

Recently, Oregon's Gov. Robert D. Holmes was the first governor to visit Alaska since Congress voted admission. Governor Holmes and party were frank about the purpose of the trip—to get trade. On his return, the governor said he found "Alaskans are chafing under the trade monopoly of Seattle, where they have been forced to shop because of transportation costs."

There are signs that Portland is making inroads on the Alaskan business. A year ago a barge line began making regular trips between Portland and Alaskan ports, and the traffic has been heavy.

The Portland Chamber's Alaskan committee hit at a new way for creating goodwill this summer. When Miss Elinor Moses of Fairbanks passed through Portland, en route to the Miss Universe competition in Long Beach, Calif., she was wined and dined by the Alaskan committee.

Miss Alaska, a full-blooded Athabaskan Indian and stewardess for Northern Consolidated Airlines, didn't become Miss Universe, but she brought home a good impression of Portland.

Most business leaders agree, though, that Alaskan trade must be a two-way procedure, if it is to mean prosperity for Portland and Seattle. What makes transportation costs so high is that ships and planes go loaded to Alaska and then come back almost empty.

For example, when the Alaskan fishing season opens each spring, each airline puts on extra planes to handle the hundreds of workers in May and June. They don't get the return business until September and October.

By next summer, though, the two Northwest cities will be alive with ideas and gimmicks to get the traveler to Alaska.

Alaska Airlines recently inaugurated a new passenger and cargo service to Fairbanks and Anchorage. It is the "Golden Nugget" flight and the big converted DC6 features gold leather upholstery, heavy gold foil on paneled surfaces and gold thread in carpets and fabrics.

The meals include reindeer steaks, Alaska king crab, sheefish and sourdough biscuits.

Butter Sauce Best Warm

Ice cream takes on a new personality with each topping or "a la mode" variation. Its rich flavor and creamy texture can stand alone, or will blend perfectly with many other foods. But however you may choose to serve it, ice cream remains America's favorite food.

And no wonder! For in addition to flavor and versatility, this ideal dessert offers convenience, and an added bonus — a boost to your day's nutrition. Ice cream contains many of milk's protective nutrients; (1 1/2 pint of ice cream is about equal to 1/2 cup of whole milk in calcium, protein and the B-vitamins, and to more than 1 cup in vitamin A).

Vanilla ice cream topped with a simple sauce is probably our most popular ice cream dessert. Here's a recipe for an easy to make Butter Nut Sundae. The sauce combines the rich flavor of butter with a tang of lemon and the crunchiness of toasted almonds. It's best served warm, straight from the pan, but can also be stored in the refrigerator for later use in a cold sundae.

Butter Nut Sundae

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup softened butter
1/2 cup sliced, silvered, or chopped almonds, toasted

Mix sugar and cornstarch together in saucepan. Add water and stir until free of lumps. Cook over medium heat, stirring until mixture is smooth and clear. Remove from heat and stir in butter, lemon rind, and almonds. (Makes 1 1/2 cups sauce.) Serve warm over vanilla ice cream. Makes 6 servings.

Exotic Crab Dish Cooked in Skillet

A delightful place to eat in San Francisco — the city of fine restaurants — is Kan's in Chinatown. In the big dining room, decorated with black, gold and Chinese red, you will be served exquisite food, the finest in Chinese cuisine. Like most Chinese restaurants, Johnny Kan makes excellent use of fish and shellfish. The National Fisheries Institute has adapted his Curried Crab recipe for home kitchen use, and here it is:

Kan's Curried Crab

1 (6 1/2 oz.) can crab meat
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 to 1 teaspoon curry powder
2 medium tomatoes, cut in eighths
1/2 onion, cut in rings
1/2 cup chopped green pepper (slim wedges)

3 tablespoons salad oil
Pick over crab meat and remove fibrous membranes. Add salt and curry powder to crab meat. Heat oil in large heavy skillet. When it is hot, but not smoking, saute onion rings and pepper. Add tomato wedges and crab meat. Cook four or five minutes more, stirring occasionally, until tomato and crab meat are heated through. Serve on hot, fluffy rice. Makes 3 servings.

Fresh Herb Bouquets Decorate Tables

By JANET ODELL

NEW YORK—Bouquets of fresh herbs—rosemary, tarragon, basil, dill, mint, chives and chervil—decorated tables for the dinner the R. T. French Company gave the nation's food editors last night. After two days of exotic, elaborate and, calorie-loaded meals, this low calorie, low sodium combination of dishes was welcomed.

Nearly 150 women who write food columns, tasted such foods as herbed lamb roast, Danish pickled mushrooms, uncooked apple chutney and sweet potato casserole.

There were other tempting looking dishes on display, all of which showed the imaginative use of spices. The company also took this opportunity to announce a new product—a new chili mix that will "make even a Texan sit up and take notice."

Earlier in the day we saw the numerous ways potatoes are now prepared in the frozen state. It was only a few years ago that potatoes were thought to be not freezable. Now they come in French fried form, in cubes, balls, strips and puffs. Not only can they be eaten after a brief heating, but they can form the base of many other dishes.

A trip to the Ozarks for breakfast started our day.

Ralston Purina set out a meal that would keep a lumberjack going all day. Among the courses was their newest cereal product, little pillows of corn, similar in style to the other cereals they put out. The brook trout that was served had been fed on the fish food they produce. We all received diplomas bestowing on us the degree of "Doctor of Phood."

With the help of some delightful child models we were shown some of the non-edible uses of baking soda. We also had a chance to sample cookies that were made from a Brussels World's Fair recipe. That recipe will be in The Pontiac Press this week or next so that you too may try the cookies.

As guests we saw the exciting finish to the annual Pillsbury bake-off this noon. We had viewed the actual bake-off yesterday and talked with many of the contestants. I sat at the same table today with one of Michigan's two en-

Macaroni Salad Keeps Top Popularity

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor
Go to a church supper — the sort where the ladies of the parish bring their best dishes — or to an elegant Swedish-American restaurant. You're likely to encounter the same dish. Among the lavish array of foods at either place, macaroni salad takes a bow.

Epitaphs have been known to look down their noses at this thrifty and homey combination, but it stays firmly on the scene.

The Danes like it, too. A spiral-bound cook book called "From Danish Kitchens" (first published almost 20 years ago and now in its seventh edition) gives directions for making it.

This cook book was compiled by a Seattle, Wash., church group with the avowed purpose of preserving favorite Danish recipes.

A rich recipe, this Danish one! It calls for cooked cold macaroni with a dressing of whipped cream, sugar, vinegar and grated horseradish. This same dressing for the salad we find in the Danish section of "Scandinavian Cookery for Americans" (Little, Brown) by Florence Brobeck, an American, and Monika Kjellberg, a native and resident of Stockholm.

Still sleuthing for recipes, we come on only one other macaroni salad from a strictly Scandinavian source; this is in "Smorgasbordet" by Gerda Simonson.

Here the boiled cooked macaroni is chilled and teamed with narrow strips of cooked smoked tongue (or ham or smoked beef) and tossed with a mixture of French dressing and chili sauce.

Now comes a new American recipe for the cold macaroni, adding a cooked dressing plus dill, a favorite Scandinavian herb. When you have dill's fresh green feathery fronds on hand, you might like to try this latest combination.

We served this version with baked ham at a company supper — and even the most sophisticated of the guests liked it. The next day we offered it with cold leftover ham to our college-age nephew and he, too, approved.

A way of ours that was particularly liked: we used sea shell macaroni, instead of regular short elbow lengths, and this eaters found intriguing.

Macaroni Dill Salad

3 quarts water
4 teaspoons salt
2 cups (8 ounces) elbow macaroni
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1/2 cup cider or white wine vinegar
2 teaspoons prepared horseradish
1/2 cup finely chopped dill
Extra salt
Salad greens
Paprika

Bring water and 3 teaspoons of the salt to a boil in a large kettle. Add macaroni gradually so water continues to boil. Cook, uncovered —stirring occasionally — until tender or according to package directions. Drain in colander; rinse with cold water; drain again and chill in a covered container.

Stir together thoroughly the flour, sugar and remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt in the top of a small double boiler. Beat egg enough to combine yolk and white; add water; beat enough to blend. Add to flour mixture; stir until smooth.

Cook over hot (not boiling) water, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in butter until melted; slowly stir in the vinegar. Stir in horseradish and dill.

Toss with macaroni; add extra salt if desired; chill until serving time. At serving, garnish with salad greens and sprinkle with paprika.

Double the Protein in Cheese Egg Dish

Cottage cheese adds a dash to breakfast scrambled eggs.

Country Scrambled Eggs

4 eggs
Salt, pepper
1/2 cup cream-style cottage cheese (large curd)
2 tablespoons butter

Beat the eggs, with salt and pepper to taste, with a fork just until yolks and whites are combined and there is as little froth as possible. Add cottage cheese and mix until cottage cheese is well distributed through the egg, but not enough to break the large curds.

Melt butter in a 10-inch skillet over low heat; when butter sizzles pour in egg mixture; place over low heat; as mixture sets, draw the edges in with a wide spatula to let uncooked egg flow out to pan edge. Cook to desired doneness. Makes 2 large or 4 small servings.

Canned Chicken Broth Starts Curry Sauce

Taste is adventure! Take this opportunity to enjoy a real curried chicken dish. The recipe goes like this: In a saucepan, cook $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped onion in $\frac{1}{4}$ cup butter or margarine until tender. Add 1 cup uncooked rice. Cook slowly until brown, about 10 minutes, stirring often. Blend in 1 can (13 $\frac{1}{2}$ ounces) chicken broth, $\frac{1}{4}$ bay leaf (crumbled), $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon black pepper, and $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon thyme. Cover, simmer 15 minutes, or until all liquid is absorbed and rice is tender.

Meanwhile, in another saucepan, combine 2 cans (13 $\frac{1}{2}$ ounces each) boned chicken fricassee and 2 teaspoons curry powder; heat. Add 1 cup flaked coconut and 2 tablespoons chopped parsley to cooked rice; mix lightly with a fork. Serve hot fricassee over rice. Makes 6 servings.

Brussels Cookie Comes to America

Because Margaret Rudkin of Pepperidge Farm chose Belgian cookies as the prototype for the "perfect party cookie" she wanted to produce for the American market, she has been invited to share the Belgian recipe for a "World's Fair Cookie."

The recipe is a very old Belgian one and it comes straight from the kitchens of Delacre, a baking company that has baked cookies for the Royal House of Belgium since 1879. Peter Willems de Laddersous, manager of Delacre, has invited Mrs. Rudkin to make what use of the recipe she likes.

Mrs. Rudkin, who describes Belgium as an epicurean paradise where "there is no skimping on cream and butter," is now producing seven varieties of Belgian cookies made from secret recipes she is sharing with Delacre.

She says she would like to share the recipe for the World's Fair Cookie with "all good cooks who would like to try it." She reports that she made a batch herself and that they are "utterly delicious."

Cookie Base

$\frac{2}{3}$ cup butter
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup extra fine granulated sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon grated lemon peel
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup flour
1 pinch of baking powder

Beat the butter and sugar together for three minutes. Add the salt, vanilla flavoring, grated lemon peel, eggs and condensed milk. Mix for two minutes.

Add previously sifted flour to which baking powder has been added. Mix for one minute.

Nut Cream Topping

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup extra fine granulated sugar
2 eggs
1 cup roasted chestnut or hazelnut (or other) meats ground into a thin powder
2 teaspoons cocoa
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup flour

Mix the butter, sugar and eggs for one minute. Add nutmeat powder, cocoa and flour. Mix for one-half minute.

Baking

Place batter on greased tins in two-inch-long strips by means of a forcing bag, if possible. If a forcing bag is used, two strips side by side so they will join. Place nut cream topping also in strips by means of an indented forcing bag, if possible.

Bake for 20 minutes in an oven of 350 degrees.

Whip Dry Milk to Add Lightness to Pudding

A nutritious, pleasantly flavored custard-type dessert.

Orange Coconut Rice Pudding

$\frac{2}{3}$ cups cold water
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup nonfat dry milk powder
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup quick-cooking granulated rice cereal
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 can (3 $\frac{1}{2}$ ounces) flaked coconut
1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate
4 tablespoons lemon juice

In the top of a double boiler, beat together 2 cups of the water and 1 cup of the dry milk just until blended. Heat over simmering water until bubbles appear.

Stir together the rice cereal, sugar and salt; sprinkle into milk, stirring constantly, until thickened—about 3 minutes. Cover, and cook for 10 minutes. Stir in half of the

Preserves, Frosting Fill Ladyfingers

This dessert recipe is given again on request of a reader.

Coconut Lady Fingers

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon heavy cream
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon vanilla
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup lightly-packed flaked coconut
12 to 14 lady fingers

Cream butter and the $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar; mix in cream and vanilla, then coconut. Split lady fingers; spread one half of each with frosting and the other half with preserves; press together. Roll filled ladyfingers in the $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar.

Grating lemon rind? Brush the lemon diagonally across the grater in long even strokes.

coconut. Remove from heat; cool to lukewarm—about 10 minutes. Stir in undiluted orange juice and 2 tablespoons of the lemon juice. In a 1-quart mixing bowl beat together the remaining $\frac{1}{2}$ cup water with the remaining $\frac{1}{2}$ cup dry milk until soft peaks form—3 to 4 minutes. Use rotary beater (hand or electric). Add remaining 2 tablespoons lemon juice; beat until stiff—3 to 4 minutes. Fold gently into cooked mixture; spoon into individual serving dishes. Chill briefly. Garnish with remaining coconut. Makes 6 servings.

Tabasco Wilted Lettuce

Want a wilted lettuce salad? Sprinkle broken lettuce leaves with chopped chives. Heat small amount of bacon fat, vinegar, salt, sugar, and Tabasco and pour over lettuce. Toss and serve at once. Although the lettuce will be wilted the flavor won't be, because Tabasco keeps that lively.

Chopped Dill Pickle Flavors Ham Spread

When we concocted this spread for unexpected company, it was enthusiastically received.

Quick Ham Spread

1 can (4 $\frac{1}{2}$ ounces) deviled ham
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup finely grated sharp cheddar cheese (lightly packed)
3 tablespoons finely chopped pickle
Mix together the ham, cheese and pickle; chill. Makes about $\frac{1}{2}$ cup. Delicious as a spread for crisp crackers or melba toast, small squares of pumpernickel bread or party-size slices of rye bread. Store in covered container in refrigerator.

Note: We used sweet dill strips (finely chopped) in this recipe.

Cooked beets have a tendency to "bleed" so they should be added carefully to a salad.

Roll Bread, Bacon for New Appetizer

Bacon-cheese puffs can be rolled early in the day, and refrigerated until just before serving time. Twenty minutes of baking in a hot oven puffs the little snacks, which are a combination of the cured pork, thin-sliced bread and shredded sharp cheese.

Bacon Puffs

8 slices thin-sliced bread
12 slices bacon (about $\frac{1}{2}$ pound)
 $\frac{1}{2}$ pound sharp aged Cheddar cheese (about 2 cups)

Cut crusts from bread and cut each slice in half. For each puff, place two halves of bread, end to end, on a strip of bacon. Sprinkle with 3 tablespoons shredded cheese. Roll up and secure with cocktail picks. Place rolls on end on a rack in a shallow baking pan. Bake in a 400 degree oven 20 minutes, or until lightly browned. Serve hot. 12 puffs.

Well, Did You Know All These Canned Facts?

What do you know about canned foods?

Here are some canned food facts from the current issue of a home magazine:

1. Did you know that canned foods will keep on the shelf indefinitely as long as nothing happens to the can to make it leak and admit bacteria. The only exceptions to this are certain meat items (canned ham for example) which must be refrigerated as stated on the label.

2. Did you know that dietetic canned foods are now on the shelf at all food markets. In many markets special dietetic sections contain fruits, vegetables, juices, carbonated drinks, soups, meats, poultry and fish.

3. Do you worry about a little rust or a small dent in a can? If the rust has not penetrated the can and caused a leak, there can be no spoilage. However, neither end of the can should be bulged or swelled. These should be discarded even though they are not always spoiled.

4. Did you know that you can save syrups drained from commercially canned fruits for use in dessert sauces, salads, sherbets, etc.

5. Do you know what a tin can is? Actually, it's a steel can coated inside and out with tin, an ideal container for processed foods.

6. Did you know that vacuum-packed means that food is placed

In a can without brine or syrup and the can is sealed by a vacuum sealing machine. The absence of air helps maintain flavor and freshness... as in coffee, for example.

Fleck Soup With Cukes

A wonderful creamy white soup flecked with touches of green is this one for Potato Cucumber Soup: In a saucepan, cook 1/2 cup finely chopped cucumber and 2 tablespoons chopped scallions in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine until tender. Add 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) frozen condensed cream of potato soup, 1 soup can of water, and 1/2 teaspoon paprika. Heat, stirring now and then. Blend in one-third cup sour cream just before serving. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

After steaming Chinese cabbage, drain and reheat with cream and seasonings.

Eating Cauliflower Is Eating a Bouquet

Have you ever eaten a bouquet? Yes, but maybe you did not realize it at the time. You have eaten a bouquet if you have eaten cauliflower. The parts you ate are flowerets.

Cauliflower is becoming more evident at your grocery, so when you pick the next bouquet, pick the finest head of cauliflower on the counter. It is easy to choose.

Clean, compact, white or creamy white flowerets guide you to young, fresh, tender cauliflower. If the leaves are attached, look to see that they are bright green and crisp. One of the first signs of age and loss of flavor is the yellowing of the leaves.

Autumn's Arrival Means Plenty of Fresh Produce

Is there any doubt that fall is here? Certainly not if you browse in the produce department of the nearest grocery.

Cauliflower, cabbage, squash, rutabaga and lots of potatoes are heaped high for your choosing, reports the Michigan State Cooperative Extension Service.

And nearby the bright red blush of Michigan apples invites you to make a pie or fresh sauce for the family.

Creamy white flowerets surrounded by crisp green are color clues to the best cauliflower quality. Pick a head heavy for its size with firm, compact flowerets. Cook it in boiling salted water or serve it raw on the snack tray or in a tossed salad. Raw cauliflower, like cabbage, is a good way to add Vitamin C to a meal.

A head of cabbage will serve four people if cooked or will make eight half-cups for shredded salad. The greener the cabbage, the higher the food value.

Planning an oven meal? Why not add winter squash to your plan? Both the acorn and butternut varieties can be found for as little as 10 cents each. Cut the squash, remove the seeds and place it cut side down in a little water in a baking dish.

Bake at 350 degrees F. for about an hour. Or turn it cut side up after the first 40 minutes, then fill the seed cavity with seasoned ground meat or sausage. Or add butter and brown sugar or maple syrup for flavor.

The butternut squash has a thin tan-colored skin. The seed cavity is small compared to other varieties. The flesh is fine grained and never stringy. Some say it is shaped like a dog bone, others say it is bell-shaped. It is usually about ten inches tall; has a long neck with a bulb shape at the bottom.

Rutabagas are piled high. Take your pick at about 10 cents each. Lift several, then take the one heaviest for its size. Notice the wax? This seals the moisture in, keeps it fresh longer.

If potato skins are thin and feathery, buy what you need for a week. Store potatoes at room temperature or slightly cooler. Keep away from the light.

Potatoes keep better if loosely packed in bags or in a bin that allows some air to enter. Use a wooden board underneath bags to keep moisture off potatoes stored in the basement.

Light causes potatoes to turn green, bitter and toxic. Any green color should be trimmed deep into the flesh and discarded before potatoes are cooked.

Apples are getting more plentiful, eating quality is improving and prices are reasonable compared to other fruits. McIntosh of exceptionally fine quality, color and size are available.

Sept. 25 has been set as the beginning harvest date for Jonathan and Red Delicious varieties on the west side of the state. Supplies of these two varieties will be larger and maturity much better in October.

Young tender chickens, heavy hens and large tom turkeys are meats to check in the poultry department. A serving for one person will cost 22 to 35 cents for fryers, 15 to 22 cents for hens, or about 24 cents for tom turkey.

Pork continues in the red meat spotlight. Prices are expected to drop seasonally in October as the spring crop comes to market in full force. With careful shopping you can serve these cuts for 20 to 25 cents per serving this week: Boston butt, rib-end roast or chops, some ham.

Ground beef and liver are money stretchers in the beef department.

Make After School Snack Count for Nutrition

The "ice box raid" is a familiar feature of the afternoon routine in any household where school-age children are present. But all too often the foods which children eat after school are not up to par nutritionally for their needs. After all, the proverbial appetites of growing children are not just a happenstance — they reflect the needs of the fast-developing body for additional food energy. So why not make the afternoon or evening snack an occasion for supplying the growing child with the food value his body is yearning for.

Eggs are a happy choice. Hard-cooked eggs eaten out of hand or sliced on small crackers make excellent between-meal eating, as do tangy deviled eggs. Or serve them in a fried egg sandwich with all the relish, catsup and mustard the youngsters seem to love so well.

TO ADD GLAMOR — Spiced peaches or a tangy peach-raisin relish glamorize the meat course. They're easy to prepare and nice to have on hand. Put some on your buffet table the next time you serve ham, for instance.

Blend Cereal, Fruit, Milk Into Breakfast Drink

How often do you skip breakfast in the morning? Once or twice a week or even every day? It is a known fact that we all function much better if we have a well-rounded breakfast under our belts before starting the duties of the day. Often our excuse for skipping breakfast is lack of time — so here is a breakfast treat that takes just 5 minutes to prepare yet supplies a generous share of the essential daily food elements.

Breakfast-In-A-Glass is a pleasing combination of cereal, fruit and milk. It's blended into a creamy, rich mixture so that you actually drink your breakfast! The cereal base for the new breakfast sensation is, of course, oatmeal that has been cooked — the night before if you wish — and chilled.

Here we have chosen peaches for the fruit. All you need do in the morning is combine the three ingredients in a blender or use a tall pitcher and a rotary beater.

It takes only a few minutes to fix Breakfast-In-A-Glass and there will be just time to toast slices of bread to complete the early morning meal. Try adding blueberries instead of peaches some morning — they're delicious too! For a nutritious snack later in the day we suggest you add a scoop of vanilla ice cream — it's wonderful drinking!

Breakfast-In-A-Glass
1/2 cup cooked oatmeal, chilled
1/2 cup fresh or frozen sliced peaches
1 to 2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup milk

Place all ingredients in a deep pitcher. Beat with rotary beater until thoroughly blended. (If blender is used, blend for 1 minute.) Pour and serve. Serves one.

Breakfast-In-A-Glass
1/2 cup cooked oatmeal, chilled
1/2 cup fresh or frozen blueberries
1 to 2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup milk

Place all ingredients in a deep pitcher. Beat with rotary beater until thoroughly blended. (If blender is used, blend for 1 minute.) Pour and serve. Serves one.

Canned bouillons and consommés heated with apple juice instead of water take on new elegance of flavor.

Score Bulls-Eye With Lunch

Make the meal that goes to work with you reflect the solid hit of the Swiss archer fame. Instead of the hit-or-miss approach to eating which, today, threatens even the family dinner, each meal should stand on its own nutritionally. You score a solid hit when the meal you take with you in a packet contributes about one-third of the day's food requirements.

Your packet meal should be packed to fit you, your appetite, your special likes. Whether you need gargantuan amounts of food to keep you going or whether you are eating to grow slim, the meal you carry can — and should — have all the items found in any well-planned menu.

What you pack into your packet meal is limited only by your imagination. Here are some cues to follow and foods to include in your packet menus.

A center of interest — a generously filled sandwich — or two — made with enriched or whole grain bread.

Something crunchy — fruit or a raw vegetable.

Something sweet — a cupcake, doughnut, fruit, or fruit tart.

A liquid refreshment — milk or a soup.

The popularity of the meal in a packet can be traced to what it has to offer: A way to enjoy — at work — food from home, a way to hit solidly both the short lunch period and the family budget. For this reason, it is no longer just a swinging trademark of the school-house set. To its roster of fans has been added the white and blue collar workers and brief case carriers, too.

Little Known Facts About Shrimp Industry

Shrimping, which now brings in an annual catch of about 220,000,000 pounds, did not put out to sea until 1917. It was at this time that the small off-shore boats were replaced by ocean-going trawlers and the industry began its big-time career.

The shrimp uses camouflage techniques for protection. By whipping up the sand with its tiny feet, the shrimp manufactures a minute storm, flattens itself into a trench it has dug, and lets the sand settle over it.

Shrimping as an occupation dates back to primitive ages when man's curiosity led him to the edge of a lake or stream, where he first saw the elusive little creatures.

The female shrimp lays half a million eggs in her lifetime, of which only two, one male and one female, survive. Yet the shrimp industry is valued at $225 million annually, and is the largest single fishery product in dollar volume of sales.

Shrimp come in an assortment of colors — all with colorful names. The color most commonly seen is grayish-green, called "green" by the shrimpers. Then there are the pinkish-brown, often known as "Brazilian" or "grooved." A few years ago, the first pink shrimp were caught off Florida's coast, and the rush was on for "pink gold." Now the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries exploratory vessels, fishing in deepest Gulf waters, are bringing up bright red shrimp, "royal reds."

Mrs. Richard Becker says...

"What a joy it was to learn that my family's favorite orange juice—TreeSweet—is naturally pure and gives us all the vitamin C we need! Guess that's why TreeSweet's so naturally fresher-tasting... and just 2 small glasses give us our daily vitamin C—naturally."

Be Gentle With Cheese

Cheesy reminder: "Spare the heat and dsave the cheese." Use low oven temperature and gentle surface cooking heat when using cheese in recipes since cheese just needs melting, not cooking. If overcooked or cooked too rapidly, cheese becomes tough and stringy, hence unattractive and not as easily digestible.

Kitchen arithmetic: There are three teaspoons in 1 tablespoon.

Be Daring—Make Own Cake!

Pontiac Press Home Editor

In spite of the 84 cake mixes now on the market, we know home-makers still make their own cakes. Some do it because they like to. Others want a special creation that only they can make. As proof of this, consider the hundreds of cakes entered yearly in the State Fair contest.

It's been some time since we gave you any cake recipes. We know that Fall brings on a rash of entertaining, like committee meetings, teas and evening parties. Cake and coffee are an ideal combination to serve. The cake can be made early and will be ready whenever the coffee is.

Your guests will be intrigued by a slice of cake dotted with poppy-seeds. These blue-black seeds come from the Netherlands and are the same as those used on bread and rolls. They add crunch as well as color to the cake.

Val's Poppy Seed Cake
2 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/2 cup poppy seed
1/2 cup margarine or butter
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1 cup milk
4 egg whites
1/2 cup sugar
Heat oven to 350 degrees. (Moderate). Sift together first 3 ingredients; mix with poppy seed. Gradually add the 1/2 cups sugar to margarine or butter; mix until fluffy. Add vanilla and 1/2 cup of the milk. Add flour mixture alternately with remaining milk.

Beat egg whites until they stand in soft peaks; gradually beat in the 1/2 cup sugar and fold into batter. Bake 1 hour and 15 minutes in well-greased, lightly floured, 8x3-inch, tube cake pan.

Cool cake 5 minutes; turn onto rack to cool completely. Dust with confectioners' sugar. Yield: 8" loaf cake.

TWO-LAYER POPPY SEED CAKE: Bake the above cake batter 25 minutes or until done, in 2 round, 8-inch layer cake pans in moderate oven (375 degrees). Frost with Seven Minute Frosting.

Coffee as flavoring is tops if you like it. We think enough people do so that some of you will like this recipe for a Coffee Chiffon Cake. Even the filling and frosting are coffee-flavored.

All-Coffee Chiffon Cake
2 eggs, separated
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 cups baking powder
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup coffee
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 cup cooking oil
2 teaspoons vanilla
Beat egg whites until frothy. Gradually beat in half-cup sugar. Continue beating until very stiff and glossy. Sift remaining sugar, flour, baking powder and salt into another bowl. Combine milk, coffee and baking soda.

Pour oil into flour mixture with half the coffee mixture and vanilla. Beat 1 minute using medium speed on mixer or 150 strokes by hand. Scrape sides and bottom of bowl constantly. Add remaining coffee mixture and egg yolks. Beat 1 minute longer, scraping bowl constantly. Fold in meringue lightly but thoroughly.

Pour into 2 deep well-greased and floured 8-inch layer cake pans. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 30 to 35 minutes. Remove from pans. Cool. Split each layer into 2 layers. Put together and frost with Fluffy Coffee Frosting. Chill well.

Fluffy Coffee Frosting
Combine in small mixing bowl: 1 1/2 cups vegetable shortening, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup cold coffee, 1 teaspoon vanilla and 2 eggs. Beat at high speed of electric beater, or with sturdy egg beater about 10 minutes, until smooth and fluffy.

While the proportion of shortening may seem high, it is correct. Properly made, this frosting resembles that used in French pastries.

There's nothing new about an upside-down cake. But a Lemon upside-down cake is distinctly different. This one has a lemon sauce sweetened with honey to pour over it.

Lemon Upside-Down Cake, With Honey Sauce
16 to 20 lemon slices (about 4 lemons)
Pecan halves
1/2 cup honey
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
Peel lemons, cut into thin slices and arrange with pecan halves in a greased 8x8 inch baking dish or pan. Mix honey with butter and pour over lemon slices. Spread cake batter evenly over lemon-honey layer and bake at 350 degrees F. for 40 to 50 minutes. When done, let stand on cake rack for 5 minutes. Turn upside down on serving plate. Top with lemon sauce.

Cake Batter
1 1/2 cups sifted all purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
1/2 cup milk
Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening and sugar together thoroughly. Add egg and beat until fluffy. Add grated lemon peel. Fold in flour and milk alternately. Pour batter over lemon slices, and bake. (If desired, white cake mix can be used. Add one teaspoon grated lemon peel to batter.)

Lemon Honey Sauce
1/2 cup honey
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup water
1 egg, separated
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup honey
Combine half cup honey, flour, salt and water and bring to a boil. Cook for 5 minutes. Beat egg yolk slightly and add to sauce-together with butter; cook for another minute. Remove from heat and cool until lukewarm, stirring occasionally. Add grated lemon peel and lemon juice. Make a meringue of the egg white and remaining 1/2 cup honey; fold into the lemon sauce.

Cranberry Chutney Jellied for Pork

Cranberry Chutney Mold
1 (1-lb.) can whole cranberry sauce
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup sliced apple, chopped
1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1 teaspoon powdered ginger
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
Combine first six ingredients. Sprinkle gelatin over cold water in custard cup. Place cup in pan of hot water until gelatin dissolves. Stir into cranberry mixture. Spoon into molds that are first rinsed with cold water. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve in lettuce cups with mayonnaise. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Spiced Sweet Vinegar Preserves Fall Fruits

Spice that fruit! Take advantage of the abundance of the orchards this time of year and preserve some of the golden fruits for leaner months.

Nothing glamorizes a meat more than spiced fruit or a special fruit conserve as an accompaniment. Nothing provides a more attractive or flavorful garnish for a salad plate than a beautifully preserved, spicy peach or pear or crabapple.

Color is quite important when it comes to spiced fruits. You'll want to begin with attractive raw products, not underripe or over-ripe. Then you'll want to preserve that good color by using a distilled white, all grain vinegar of crystal clarity and stabilized acidity. Flavor wise, cider vinegar has a kinship with fruits since it is fruit based, but its rich amber color has a tendency to darken the fruit.

Spiced Peaches
4 pounds (16 medium) peaches
Vinegar-water (2 quarts water plus 2 tablespoons vinegar)
4 cups granulated sugar
1/2 cup white vinegar
1/2 cup water
1 teaspoon whole ginger
1 tablespoon whole cloves
3-inch cinnamon sticks
Pour boiling water over peaches; let stand until skins can be removed easily; dip into cold water; peel. Stick one clove in each peach. Let stand in vinegar-water to prevent browning.

Combine sugar, 1 1/2 cups vinegar and 1/2 cup water. Add spices tied in cheesecloth bag. Heat to boiling. Add drained peaches, cover, boil until tender, about 10 minutes. Let stand overnight.

Drain, saving liquid; remove spice bag. Pack peaches into clean, hot jars. Bring syrup to boil. Pour over peaches leaving 1/2-inch head space. Be sure peaches are covered with syrup.

Adjust covers as jar manufacturer directs. Set jars on wire rack in covered deep kettle with boiling water to cover tops of jars 1 inch. Process (boil) 30 minutes counting time from moment active boiling resumes. Remove/adjust seal as manufacturer directs. Makes 4 to 5 pints.

Note: If you do not have a wire rack to fit your deep kettle, folded chicken wire, wooden clothes pins or several thicknesses of used jar rubbers tied together may be placed in the bottom of canner.

A tangy peach-raisin relish glamorizes a meat course when served as an accompaniment. It makes a tempting spread for bread or hot rolls, too.

Peach Raisin Relish
3 pounds peaches, coarsely chopped
1/2 cup seedless raisins
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup cider vinegar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 teaspoon sage
1/2 cup pecan halves
Combine ingredients except pecans. Simmer 1 hour, stirring occasionally. Add nuts. Cook 5 min-

Crab Dish Baked in Stuffing Crust

Crab, like lobster, can be the base for a number of delicious and festive dishes. With excellent canned or frozen crab available and herb-seasoned stuffing on the shelf, dishes like Calico Crab have the additional advantage of being easy to prepare.

Attractive to look at and of delightful flavor, it will serve 6 as an appetizer or 4 as a main lunch-dish.

Calico Crab
1 1/2 cups Herb-Seasoned Stuffing
1/2 cup butter
2 tablespoons minced green onion tops
1/2 cup flour 1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cups frozen or canned crab meat
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
Salt and pepper
1/2 cup sour cream
Minced parsley
Roll the stuffing to make 1/2 cup butter, add flour and cook for a few minutes, stirring constantly. Add milk gradually and cook, stirring, until the sauce is smooth and thick. Add crab meat, pimiento, mustard, salt and pepper to taste. Stir in sour cream.

Turn the mixture into the prepared pie shell and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for about 10 minutes. Garnish with minced parsley.

Glaze Will Make Any Ham Attractive
Treat half of a fully-cooked boneless ham to this glaze.
Glazed Ham
Fully-cooked boneless half ham (about 8 pounds)
Whole cloves
1/2 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar
Cut off any brown surface from fat on outer surface of ham; insert cloves in entire ham, about 1 inch apart. Do not score ham. Heat according to wrapper directions. About 30 minutes before end of cooking time, mix together the sugar, flour and vinegar. Pat heavily over top of ham and lightly over sides. Return to oven. Do not baste.

If desired, glaze at bottom of pan may be skimmed of excess fat and used as a sauce. Add a little water to pan and stir over low heat to get up any of the cooled glaze that adheres, if you like

POPPY SEED CAKE—Poppy seed, the kind you find on bread and rolls, can add color to a white cake. It makes the texture both unusual and interesting. If you have a German cookbook, you may find this recipe or a variation of it in there. Give it a try soon and be prepared for a real taste treat.

Turn Cookies to Lollipops

Whether your contribution to the picnic menu is one item or the whole lunch, try these lollipop cookies next time you go eating out of doors. They are a substantial mince meat cookie, good for dessert with fresh fruit and good as a muncher in the afternoon when the memory of lunch is beginning to fade.

What makes them lollipops? The short lengths of plastic straws thrust in one side. They're handy to pick up and hold by the straw, just like lollipops, and the younger members of the expedition are sure to appreciate this novel touch. But remember to be sure that the plastic straws are used after baking and never before.

These cookies can be made by adding a 9-ounce package of condensed mince meat, broken into small pieces, to a package of cookie mix. Or they can be made by this tried recipe.

Lollipop Mince Meat Cookies
3/4 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
1 9-oz. package condensed mince meat
Sift together flour, salt and soda. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually; cream together until fluffy. Add eggs, beat until smooth. Add mince meat broken into small pieces. Add flour and mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls, two inches apart, on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees) about 12 minutes. Makes about 48 cookies, three inches in diameter.

Shrimp Salad Fills Center of Tomato Flower

Pretty salad that tastes refreshing on a hot day.

Tomato and Shrimp Salad
4 medium-small tomatoes (about 1 1/2 pounds)
Salt
White pepper
1 can (4 1/2 ounces) peeled devilled shrimp
1/2 cup finely diced celery
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
3 tablespoons chili sauce
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Romaine
Pimiento-stuffed olives

Wash and dry tomatoes; cut out stem ends; place stem side up on cutting board. Make 6 equal distant slits in each tomato but do not cut through bottom, to give petal effect. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper.

Drain shrimp in a strainer; rinse under cold water; drain well again. Break up shrimp slightly and add celery.

Mix mayonnaise, chili sauce and lemon juice; fold lightly into shrimp mixture with salt and pepper to taste. Spoon into centers of tomatoes; arrange on romaine and garnish with olives. Makes 4 small servings.

Eggs are a source of high-quality protein, iron, Vitamin A, riboflavin, vitamin D; they also provide some calcium and thiamine.

Bygone Treat Recaptured If You Make Pear Honey

All through the fall, Bartlett pears show themselves on fruit stalls. Snatch them up and imprison them in pear honey.

Putting up preserves, if you have more time than money, is thrifty. Your results should compare in quality with the best commercially-made conserves and jams and jellies—the sort that sell in fine food shops and cost at least 75 cents for a jar holding three-quarters of a cup. The preserves you make at home will not cost anywhere near that.

Nowadays fruit preserves are made in small quantities rather than in the vast amounts of our grandmothers. No need to have the tremendous preserving kettles that years ago were part of almost every American home. We have discovered that small batches bring fresh flavor, pleasing texture, attractive color.

Pear honey is a syrupy jam with a wonderfully fresh flavor, a relative of that other old-fashioned sweet called pear chips. Both use pears, sugar and lemon as a base, but slivers of preserved ginger were often added to the chips. To give extra flavor and pale golden color, add grated orange rind and juice to Pear Honey.

Pear Honey
4 cups chopped pears
1/2 cup orange juice
2 cups sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind

Use firm-ripe Bartlett pears; pare, core and knife-chop into 1/4- to 1/2-inch pieces; measure 4 cups, packing down.

Put pears and orange juice in a medium-sized kettle; boil gently for 5 minutes. Add sugar, salt and lemon juice; boil rapidly until pears have a transparent look—about 20 minutes; the syrup will be no thicker than warm honey. Skim off foam. Stir in grated orange rind.

Pour boiling hot into half-pint jars; seal at once with regular home canning caps. Makes 3 to 4 one-half pint jars. Store in a cool dry place.

Coat Pork Shoulder With Pineapple

Pineapple-Sauced Pork Roast

4-5 pounds pork shoulder butt
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup water
1 can (8 3/4 ounces) crushed pineapple
1 teaspoon soy sauce

Place roast, fat side up, on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Roast, uncovered, in a 325 degree oven 45- to 50 minutes per pound, or until the internal temperature as measured by a meat thermometer registers 185 degrees.

Meanwhile, combine sugar and salt, and stir in vinegar, water, catsup, pineapple and soy sauce. Cook five minutes, stirring constantly. About an hour before end of roasting time, pour sauce over the meat, and baste every 20 minutes by spooning sauce from bottom of pan.

Skim fat from sauce remaining in pan, and serve with cooked meat.

Add a rose geranium to your garden plants; later on put a leaf in each glass of apple jelly you make. Delectable favor!

Probably Forgot to Call You

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I called a friend the other day to ask her for some information. She said she could not give it to me offhand but would call me back. It's been two days since I called her and I still haven't heard from her. Would it be proper for me to call her and ask her if she has the information or must I wait for her to call me, and if she doesn't do so, try to get the information elsewhere?"

"I don't want to seem persistent but she may have forgotten about it and needs reminding. On the other hand, she may have a reason for not wanting to give me the information and I don't want to force her to do so. Will you please tell me the proper thing to do in this situation?"

Answer: There is no reason why you should not telephone her and ask if she has been able to get the information you asked her for the other day.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My brother has just recently become engaged to a young woman who lives in another city. (My brother also lives and works in this same city.) I know it is customary for the future bridegroom's parents to call on the bride-to-be to welcome her, but our parents are not living and I am the only near relative. I would like to know if it is up to me to write to his fiancée and welcome her."

Answer: Yes, you as his only near relative should certainly write a letter of welcome to your brother's fiancée.

In addition to preparing for the ingathering the Keloia Klub also is in the midst of accepting new members. Joanne Wood, treasurer of the group,

Dear Abby . . .

Never Mind Her--Go Fishing!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 44 and I am 43. We have been married 23 years and have a son in the service and one in high school. My husband has run around for years but I always covered up for him because of the children. I have spent some very lonely years, Abby. I kept praying that he would change, but he hasn't. Now I am considering divorce while I am still young enough to find a little happiness for myself elsewhere. I hate to do this but there seems to be no other solution because my children will soon be leaving us to make lives of their own and I don't want to be left alone. Can you blame me?

VERY UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: "Covering up" never solved anything. The only way to save your marriage is to give your troubles a good airing in the presence of an understanding marriage counselor, or your clergyman. It's never too late.

DEAR ABBY: Last year my husband, his brother, his brother's wife and I went on a fishing trip. Now I know how to fish and I love it, but my sister-in-law just sat around and looked bored and put makeup on. She gripped about the mosquitoes and ruined the trip for everybody. This year my husband said the four of us should go on another fishing trip and I said nothing doing, not with her! He then said if his brother's wife doesn't go, it would look bad if I went, so he and the brother would go alone. Should I consent to the foursome again or should I let the two boys go alone?

FISHERMAN'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Don't be a sucker. Go!

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the woman who didn't want her boyfriend to grow a beard: Now exactly what's wrong with a man growing a beard? I am sure that God did not put hair on the faces of men so that Gillette could sponsor boxing matches. And you advise her, "If the beard scratches--scratch him!" Men lost their beards at the same time women were given the right to vote and permitted to drive automobiles (you can do neither intelligently) but I'll bet that since you women stick together you will never print this.

K. S. E.

DEAR K. S. E.: You Lose!

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law makes me sick. What do you think of a woman who laughs like a hyena at a joke her husband has told in her presence at least fifty times?

DEAR FED: She is either one heck of a wife or it's one heck of a joke!

FED UP

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who I have always liked and all of a sudden I noticed how cool and aloof she got when we met. I asked her what was wrong and she told me another neighbor had said I was spreading gossip about her. Abby, as God is my judge, I never said one word against this woman. I asked her to tell me who the person was who said it, but she said she promised she wouldn't tell. I know if I could get to the bottom of it everything would be cleared up, but there is nothing I can do if she won't tell me who the third person was. Please tell me how to clear this up as I like to get along with everybody.

A. C.

DEAR A. C.: If your neighbor is willing to accept the word of her neighbor without giving you a chance to face your accuser, her friendship is not worth worrying about. Forget the whole thing.

CONFIDENTIAL TO

"DOC." Physician, heal thyself!

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you want a collection of Abby's letters and answers in one book, ask your bookseller to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

Plan for Ingathering

News From Bloomfield Hills

By BETH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Birmingham branch of the Needlework Guild of America began its annual preparations for the Oct. 22 Ingathering.

President Mrs. Wright Tisdale entertained new directors Tuesday at coffee in her home on Lynhurst drive and a subscription luncheon will be given Oct. 8 at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club.

This year's board assisting Mrs. Tisdale includes Mrs. Carlton C. Patterson, honorary president; Mrs. Robert Nadal, Mrs. M. R. Liles, Mrs. John W. Shenefield, Mrs. George W. Davis, Mrs. James E. Wright, Mrs. Wright Yount, Mrs. E. E. Hammonds and Mrs. Morgan Collins.

Hostesses for the open house this afternoon given by the Detroit League for the Handicapped at the Birmingham League Shop were Mrs. Roger M. Kyes, Mrs. George Colman Booth, Mrs. James J. Nance and Phoebe Otter.

Mrs. Robert H. Skillman will give a tea Friday in her Hickory Grove home for her visitors, Mrs. Homer Wheeler and Mrs. Mae Hall of Altadena, Calif., and Mrs. Skillman's sister, Mrs. Katherine Towle of San Francisco.

In October Mrs. Skillman will accompany Mrs. Towle home for a visit in San Francisco before going to Winter Park, Fla., for the winter.

Mrs. John G. Wood and her two daughters, Judy and Mrs. George T. Trumbull Jr., motored East last week. Judy entered her first year at Bennett Junior College.

Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Trumbull are in New York for several days shopping and theater-going.

When St. Dunstan's Guild opens its season Oct. 10, 11, 12 and 13 with a three-act play, "The Matchmaker," ladies in the cast will wear costumes from the 1890s belonging to the Detroit Historical Museum.

Going in next week for try-ons will be Mrs. Benjamin Brewster who has the leading feminine role, Mrs. Richard T. O'Reilly, Mrs. W. H. Adams, Mrs. Donald Hutton, Mrs. Mary K. Hain and Mrs. Albert F. Remington.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Baldwin are planning a dinner in their Hupp Cross road home next Saturday evening, Oct. 4.

The affair will celebrate the birthdays of Mrs. Edward H. L. Erchen and Mrs. John K. Bagby. Among the other guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Craig and Mr. and Mrs. Donnell A. Matthews.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Sundberg of Martel drive will be hosts Saturday evening at a series of three dinner parties.

Pontiac Speakers Club Meets

Pontiac Toastmistress Club met Tuesday evening at the Hotel Waldron.

Guests were Mrs. John H. Eddy and Mrs. A. C. Johnston of Cocoa Beach, Fla.

Mrs. Robert Sutton gave topics for "Current Events" talks given by Mrs. Charles S. Chandler, Mrs. George Gaches, Mrs. Clayton Rule, Helen Lapisch and Mrs. Eddy.

Miss Lapisch won the event award.

Mrs. Gaches, toastmistress, introduced Mrs. Ivan Wilcox who discussed the Island of Quemo as a challenge and symbol.

Mrs. Evelyn Cole spoke on "Current Events and Vacations."

Speech evaluators were Mrs. Sutton and Mrs. Rule with Miss Lapisch as grammarian and chief evaluator.

The annual open house will be held Oct. 28. Members of other local women's clubs will be invited.

Speakers on extemporaneous topics at the Oct. 14 meeting will be Mrs. Gaches, Mrs. Rule and Mrs. Sutton.

Fix, Then Eat

Care Prevents Vitamin Losses

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

In any discussion concerning whether or not supplementary vitamins should be added to a well-balanced diet, we must consider vitamin losses in the foods we eat. This is a much bigger factor than many people realize.

For instance, turnip greens, if kept at 40 degrees for 24 hours, are not drastically affected, but if they are kept at room temperature for that length of time, they show a great vitamin loss. Cabbage, even when kept in the refrigerator for a week, loses half of its vitamin C content.

Of course, vitamin C is the most readily lost of any vitamin. For this reason cabbage should not be kept too long. When green beans are kept in a refrigerator for 48 hours, they lose 60 per cent of their vitamin C content.

In order to save as many vitamins as possible, you should not cut or peel vegetables or fruits far ahead of the time you are going to eat them. It also has been demonstrated that berries, vegetables and fruits lose more of their vitamins when the outer skin has been broken by bruising.

Strawberries should not be decapped except just before using. It is a dangerous habit to peel and cut vegetables and leave them in water for a while before cooking them.

Many women like to know about vitamin loss in frozen foods. The freezing itself does not decrease vitamin potency. However, some methods of blanching do. Peas which are scalded in steam and then allowed to cool in water lost more than those which are frozen immediately after scalding.

However, as a whole, frozen vegetables hold up very well in vitamin content. Canned foods have about the same vitamin content as frozen or fresh foods.

The average housewife cannot make a career of this and has no control over the factors of production, storage and shipping. However, there are a few things she can do.

She can keep vegetables and fruits in the refrigerator rather than at room temperature, and it would seem wise to shop oftener and for shorter periods so that there will not be so long a time between the garden and the dinner table.

If you wish to have my leaflet "Vitamins in the Diet" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 38 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Cabbage, even when kept in the refrigerator for a week, loses half of its vitamin C content. For this reason cabbage should not be kept too long.

Club Lists Chairmen at Session

The first meeting of the season of the Pontiac Branch of the AAUW was held Monday evening at the Watkins Lake home of Mrs. John Bills. Fifty members were present for the pastry supper.

Mrs. Don McMillen discussed the purposes of AAUW.

Chairmen of study groups for the coming year are Mrs. S. M. Volkoff, education; Mary Heitsch, arts; Grace Clark, fellowship; Viola Kreuger, travel; Mrs. Kenneth Ollis, social and economic issues and Caroline Muecke, status of women.

Meetings will be held the third day of the month at the school. Those interested in attending, contact Mrs. Clifford Boylan.

Assisting the hostess at the affair were Mrs. Olin Thomas, Mrs. Russell Curtis, Mrs. McMillen, Clara Gaylord and Faye Donelson.

Board Members to Speak to PTA

Members of the Board of Education will discuss the work of the Pontiac school system when they meet with the McConnell PTA at 7:30 p.m., Thursday. The program also will feature a get acquainted session.

Mrs. Vernon Macom is social chairman for the event, assisted by Mrs. David Brown and Mrs. John Lutzkiw. Thomas H. Temple, principal, will introduce new members of the teaching staff to the group.

Appoints Committees

Pontiac Music Guild held its first meeting of the season at a brunch, Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. Phillip Schurrer of Lexington drive. Mrs. Carl Clifford assisted the hostess.

Mrs. Walter Schmitz, president, announced the following committees for the coming year: Mrs. Frances Stormer and Mrs. Claude Kimler, social; Mrs. Clifford, publicity; Mrs. George A. Luenberger, Mrs. Lester Quye and Oscar Schmidt, membership; Mrs. Don Derragon and M. A. Calbi, program.

Others are: Mrs. Schmidt, Mrs. Everett Russell, and Marguerite Ballard, telephone; Charles A. Wilson and Mrs. Schurrer, recital; Mrs. Lester Snell and Mrs. Clifford, coordinating committee.

Mrs. Schmitz was elected delegate with Mrs. William Heitsch as alternate to attend the annual Michigan Music Teachers Association convention to be held in Lansing Oct. 12-14.

Save Gems for Night Occasions

If you are a career girl, carefully applied make-up can be the jeweled highlight of your entire appearance during the daytime. Leave sparkling fabrics and gleaming jewels for evening and gala occasions, says a famous beauty authority.

Wear foundation make-up for a smooth complexion finish. Add glitter to your lips by applying a lipstick color that will stand out like a gem.

Pencil your eyes and brows, give your lids an extra fancy slant with eye shadow. A skin freshener applied to your skin with a sponge at the last minute will make your skin glow.

Then add simple jewelry as a wrist band, an interesting pin or a single strand of pearls, to complete your fashionable daytime attire.

What Young People Think

Parents, Teeners Clash on Steady Date

By EUGENE GILBERT

President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Teenagers might as well face it. They don't see eye to eye with their parents on going steady—and they probably never will.

Sixty-three per cent of the parents we polled recently in a nationwide survey spoke up strongly in favor of young people "playing the field," and "shopping around." They think that teen time is a time for "adventure, not security and sameness."

This contrasts with the answers given by the kids themselves in an earlier poll. At that time, 68 per cent voiced hearty approval of going steady.

They're well aware this is a foremost bone of contention in their homes. But they're going steady anyway, despite grim looks of disapproval from Mom and Dad.

It isn't that most parents distrust their children. But they feel that teeners are too immature to limit their dating experience.

"They haven't seen enough of life," complains Mrs. Florence Rankin, of Norwood, Ohio, who has one daughter. "Their field is too small to pick from."

One Portland, Ore., woman who declined to be quoted by name asserted that going steady "almost always leads to destruction."

Another mother of three, Mrs. Margaret B. Donnelly of Peckskill, N. Y., says: "They tend to marry too young."

This stress on immaturity, which probably causes junior's blood to boil, is echoed by many parents, who feel their children lack judgment and experience, which they should gain by dating many teen-agers.

The minority third of the parents polled refuse to throw up their hands in horror at the current social twosomes. "I don't see what all the fuss is about," says a Coloradoan, Mrs. Paula Nelson. "It isn't the end of the world for two youngsters to go steady. In fact, it's an every day occurrence around here, and pretty healthy too."

"TAKE IT EASY"
Such parents practice a non-interference policy, on the grounds that laying down the law makes the children all the more determined to go steady. Mrs. Eva L. Cunningham of Cleveland, Okla., comments, "Going steady usually means security for a date more than anything else, and if you try to interfere the kids attach more importance than it's worth to the steady date."

Treat the situation lightly advises Mrs. Harry Fink of Hoosick Falls, N. Y., mother of four, "since it's not apt to last too long." These parents understand the child's need for security as expressed by having a steady always available.

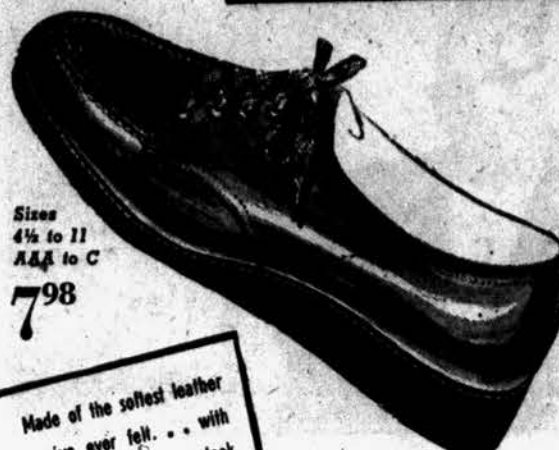

"I'd rather see kids have the stability of going steady than have them feel so unsure and insecure that they have to resort to necking in parked cars with a new partner each week," comments Mrs. T. R. Burns, of Pittsburgh.

Some Questions Have No Simple Answer

By RUTH MILLETT

A monthly magazine, hoping to get me to mail in a subscription form, asks me if I can answer some questions. Here they are with the candid replies I would have had to make:

"Are you the parent you think you are?"

Now to that I can't give a simple "Yes" or "No" answer. There are days when a bit of mature thinking, the loan of a helping hand, or a compassionate attitude toward someone in trouble on the part of one of my children makes me feel like a successful parent.

There are other days when I am afraid I may have goofed in the realm of child training. So I don't have any set idea of what kind of a parent I really am. Does any parent?

The next question on the list is: "Why are some marriages sure to fail?"

Who can say any marriage is sure to fail? Many parents have warned their child against marrying a certain person and the marriage turned out as successful as the parents' own marriage.

The reason why no marriage can be presumed to be hopeless is because difficulties and hardships and disillusionment so often have a maturing effect on young people. Who can say whether a marriage, that to outsiders doesn't seem suitable, is necessarily doomed to failure?

"What 22 foods should you avoid in dieting?"

That's simple. The ones that tempt you to take a second serving.

"What will your life be like on another planet?"

It isn't going to be lived on another planet. This one happens to suit me just fine. I wouldn't dream of trading sunsets, and trees, and flowers, and family and friends and gravity for anything in outer space.

Well, I've answered their questions. Maybe not satisfactorily so far as the magazine is concerned—but well enough to satisfy me. So I guess I won't have to send in that subscription, after all. Unless, of course, they send me some more questions.

Winners Named for Bridge Session

Winners were Dr. W. H. Barron, Morris McLennon, Mr. and Mrs. Don Davidson, Edwin V. Clarke, Claude Bennett, James White, Julius Young, Mrs. Robert Segula, Mrs. Ernest Guy, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Richards, Donald Stephenson, William Pitchford, Gerald Dillon and Myles Maddox.

An average American housewife spends one-third of her day preparing meals.

Back From Hospital

William Vaughn of Feneley court has returned to his home after spending four weeks as a patient at Pontiac General Hospital.

TOO YOUNG TO WED

Parents deplore this progression from going steady to going to the altar. Says a Fergus, Minn., mother of three, Mrs. Almer Orsal, "It's too much like being engaged, and they are too young to know the seriousness of matrimony."

Prayers and Laughter Help Bring Miracle

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Today's wonder drugs work miracles, but old-fashioned prayer, faith and laughter are still potent healers.

This story of a young wife with three children seems to prove a point. It began last March when the wife telephoned her husband who was in Holland on a business trip.

"I'm afraid I have some terrible news," she said. "The doctors say I have tuberculosis."

"But are they sure?" asked the staggered husband.

"Yes. The X rays show two spots. One is a bad cavity. They want me to go to the hospital tomorrow."

And then over the telephone came her unsuppressible laughter. "What's funny?"

"Nothing. But it's better than having to go tonight."

The husband hurried home. The doctors were right. He helped his wife pack and ordered a taxi for the hospital. Tearfully, she said goodbye to her children.

It was a gray day, one of those damp London afternoons when the mist-shrouded buildings blended mournfully into the slate-colored sky.

The taxi bumped along—and to the husband's horror — began to overtake a funeral procession.

Not only did the taxi catch up with the procession, but at a red traffic light it drew abreast the hearse.

Mechanically, the wife looked into the hearse. Great gilded letters on a wreath beside the coffin fairly shouted:

"Mom—gone but not forgotten."

"Poor Mom," said the wife, crossing herself. She laughed.

"What's funny?"

"This awful coincidence," she said.

During the next two vital weeks the wife was injected with the new miracle drugs of science. Telegrams came to her bedside from friends in several parts of the world.

She was Russian-born and one message from Moscow said the Orthodox priest at St. Peter and Paul had lighted some candles and offered prayers for her recovery.

From Lancaster, Pa., a Catholic family said its members were praying daily.

A Presbyterian minister in a

Deep South city messaged he was praying too.

A Jewish family radioed from America: "You are always in our prayers."

The wife improved but her doctors said an operation was necessary. They took out a rib and two sections of her right lung.

"Ah, well," she said with a smile, "I always did talk too much."

Three days and four blood transfusions later, the wife pointed feebly to a sign on her hospital door.

"Engaged," said the sign. "Honey," she said to her husband, "will you scratch out that word 'engaged'?"

"Yes, but why?"

"Well, after 15 years married life, don't you think it should at least read, 'married'?"

The eminent doctor beside her bed smiled. He shook his head.

Surgeon to King George VI, he was one of the world's greatest authorities on tuberculosis.

"Drugs and operations work miracles," he said. "So does laughter such as that."

This week the wife was allowed to dress and go outside the hospital grounds with her husband to have tea.

Her gaiety seemed to fill the sun-lit garden — even when she said a quiet prayer of thanks. I know the story's true because the wife's my wife.

Owners of pigs in Ontario, Canada, must have at least five acres for the animals.

Polio in Detroit Worst Since '54

Use of Salk Vaccine Curbed New Disease Outbreaks Until Now

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit has been hit by its worst outbreak of polio since the introduction of Salk polio vaccine. At least 440 cases have been reported this year, with 12 deaths.

The epidemic is greater in Detroit and its immediate suburbs than in any other section of the nation.

Health authorities say about 30 to 35 per cent of the cases have been paralytic, but that no paralytic cases and no deaths have been reported among persons who received the full three-shot treatment of polio vaccine.

Salk polio vaccine was introduced on a test basis in 1954 and pronounced extremely effective the following spring. The tests were conducted at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, only 30 miles from Detroit. One of the major producers is Parke, Davis & Co., a Detroit firm.

Mayor Louis Miriani proclaimed a state of "health emergency" in the city yesterday and urged the almost two million residents to obtain polio shots at once. The mayor and other health authorities have decried what they claim is public apathy.

The vaccine has become a political issue with arguments as to whether it should be furnished free by the state to everyone. Currently it is free to charity cases.

Chatty Voter . . . No Vote

MONROE, Wis. (AP)—Voting was so light in the spring election that one rural resident dropped into the polls and stayed almost all afternoon chatting with members of the election board. When he finally left it was discovered he had forgotten to cast his vote.

Missing Girl Needs Medical Aid Urgently

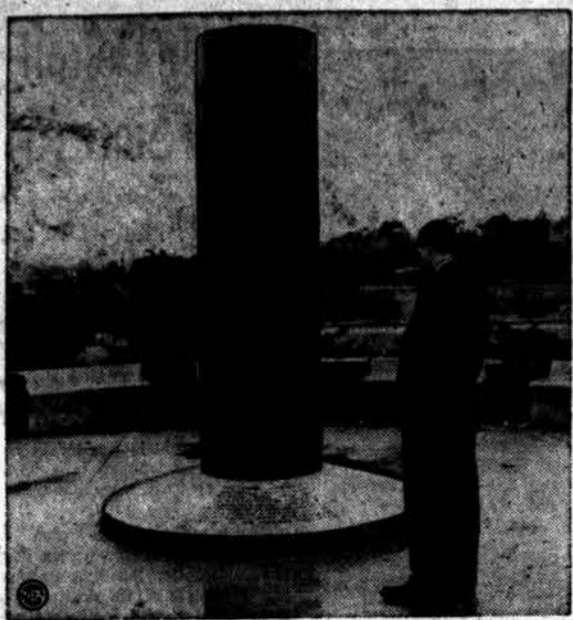

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—A pretty 16-year-old blonde, who may not know she is in urgent need of medical attention, is sought somewhere in the Southwest.

The family doctor of Susan V. Burleson said the girl "could be dangerously ill, and probably does not realize it. She should have medical attention at once."

The physician declined to say what the ailment was, but said it could be "very, very serious."

Susan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Burleson, said Susan left home Aug. 31 after a family spat and was last seen Sept. 2 in Okemah, Okla.

"I think she's afraid to come home, and she shouldn't be," Burleson said.

TIME CAPSULE — A slide rule, a woman's hat, metals, plastics and seeds.

World Fair Time Capsule Badly Outdated in 20 Years

FLUSHING, N. Y. (NEA) — The gray-uniformed park attendant shrugged. "What time capsule?" he asked. "We don't sell anything here. This is a public park."

This is almost all that remains of the New York World's Fair: this long, molting mall flanked by super highways and garden apartment houses, and a tall granite cylinder flanked by stone benches, debris and old beer bottles.

And somewhere about 50 feet under the granite marker rests a seven-and-a-half-foot torpedo filled, according to yellowing newspaper clippings, with a record of our civilization—not to be opened for 5,000 years.

Better make that 4,880 years. For with the autumnal equinox this year, it will be exactly two decades since the Time Capsule was buried with the best advice of art, science, religion and philosophy on who we were and where we were going in the year of 1938.

There are within the Capsule, for example: a slide rule, a woman's hat, fabrics, metals, plastics, newsreels and a selection of garden-variety seeds.

There are also about 10,000,000 words about us reproduced on microfilm with a small microscope for reading the film.

Nowhere in the bill of particulars, of course, is there a word of home television.

Nowhere is there an inkling of man-made moons, or the near possibility of space travel.

And nowhere in these words written only 20 years ago is there a dossier on nuclear power that can fuel a city or destroy life on earth.

But in 3,000 libraries, museums, monasteries, convents, lamaseries and temples—once remote and safe repositories—are the Books of the Record of the Time Capsule.

These books are printed on permanent paper with eternal ink and tell man (if he is a man) of the year 1938 how to read English (if he can read at all) and where Flushing, N. Y., is (or was).

Postal Officials Desire New Name for Town

NEW CITY, N.Y. (UPI) — Assistant Postmaster William Madler wishes somebody would change the name of this town in the interests of postal efficiency. New City is not far from New York City, with the result that each day hundreds of letters addressed to one place wind up in the other.

State Administrators Will Hold Workshop

The Haven Hill Lodge in the Highland Recreation area, White Lake Township, will be the site of the annual state administrators' workshop Monday and Tuesday.

The two-day session, sponsored by the section on residential care of the Michigan Assn. of Children's Agencies, will be held for administrators of private and public child care institutions throughout the state.

William O. Moulton Jr., superintendent of the Oakland County Children's Home, is chairman of this year's conference.

Dr. Clinton J. Mumby, consulting psychiatrist for the Oakland County Juvenile Court, will be the guest speaker at the Monday session at 4:45 p.m.

Dr. Mumby will speak on "The Effect of Climate in the Treatment of the Adolescent Child in the Institution."

Tuesday, four workshops will be conducted.

Some Say the Split-Up Will Help Eddie Fisher

Secrets of Mars May Be Broken on Balloon Flight

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A balloon-borne picture-taking experiment this November may give science a clue to the chances of man living on Mars if he ever gets there.

The Office of Naval Research plans to launch a big plastic balloon carrying an astronomer and a seasoned Navy lighter-than-air pilot near Rapid City, S.D., sometime between Nov. 1 and Nov. 15. Dr. John Strong, a Johns Hopkins University astronomer, will manipulate a powerful telescope from inside a sealed gondola, taking spectrographic pictures of Mars' atmosphere in an attempt to calculate the water vapor content around that distant planet.

A second flight is planned for January, when Dr. Strong will attempt to learn through the same process how much oxygen is contained in the atmosphere around Mars.

When Dr. Strong and his pilot, Navy Cmdr. Malcolm Ross, rise to an altitude of about 80,000 feet, they will be above about 97 per cent of the earth's atmosphere, providing a clear view of Mars for Strong's telescope.

Hunting Uncle of Seized Girl

Believe He Forced Her Into Car in Jackson; Custody Fight Involved

JACKSON — Police today sought a man who seized a 13-year-old girl by force last night and drove off with her. A custody fight between the child's parents was involved.

Detective Frank Jurewicz said Shirley Ann Spaulding was grabbed as she played in front of her grandmother's home. Neighbors said the child kicked and screamed as she was thrust into the car.

Officers said Shirley was taken by her uncle, Cecil Spaulding of St. Petersburg, Fla. The child is involved in a custody battle between her father, Shirley Spaulding, also of St. Petersburg, and her mother, Marguerite, of Jackson.

The car, which had Ohio plates, was traced to Toledo. The owners, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hanlog, said they had driven the uncle to Jackson to get the girl. They said he went on to Cleveland with the child and boarded a plane for Florida.

The child's grandmother, Mrs. Myrtle Spaulding, said the father snatched his 5-year-old son, Shirrile, in a similar incident last January in Des Moines.

The children's mother is in St. Petersburg now, seeking to straighten out the custody fight, police said. The couple was divorced in 1954.

No charges have been issued by police here, but they said Spaulding is wanted for questioning.

Allies to Outline Policies at U.N.

Britain, France to Air Views on Formosa at Assembly Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — America's two main allies outline their foreign policies to the General Assembly today before a backdrop of high-level talks on the Formosa crisis.

Britain's Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and France's Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville arranged to go before the 81-nation Assembly amid fading hopes for a Formosa cease-fire.

The still unsettled Middle East crisis may also get an airing when Jordan takes the rostrum in the Assembly's general debate.

It was felt certain that Britain will back any U.S. move to bring Formosa before the United Nations. But British spokesmen have been echoing the American stand that no action should be taken until the Warsaw talks have a chance to produce results.

Indications mounted in the Polish capital, that the talks between U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Red China's envoy Wang Ping-nan were at the climactic stage in an atmosphere of gloom.

If they produce nothing in the next few days the United States is expected to seek U.N. action.

The British public appears split over Formosa, with the Laborites warning against getting embroiled in a third world war and Conservatives suggesting that Britain might play a behind the scenes role as counselor of caution.

Prince Wan Waihayakon, Thailand's foreign minister and former Assembly president, predicted in an interview that U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold would be asked to go to Peiping as he did in 1955 when he negotiated the release of 11 imprisoned U.S. airmen.

Prince Wan added that Hammarskjold probably would set up a summit conference on Formosa with the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union, Red China and India.

Ambitious Men Require a Truck to Clean Out Bar

SAYREVILLE, N.J. (UPI) — Two men robbed a bar in Madison township yesterday and used a truck to carry away their loot, police said. They needed the truck because they took:

- a juke box.
- an electric organ.
- three cash registers.
- two cigarette machines.
- a small portable bar.
- a metal desk.
- a mimeograph machine.
- a portable typewriter.
- And lots of whisky.

Hollywood Headlines Sinatra's New Schedule Upsets Old Tradition

By BOB THOMAS AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene—

If Frank Sinatra had his way, he'd revolutionize the working habits of the movie industry.

For 50 years, the studios have operated the same as most businesses—from 9 in the morning until 6 at night. Sinatra is now doing his third film on a noon to 8 schedule, and he thinks it's the greatest. The picture is "Some Came Running," and Frank said it was over four days ahead of schedule.

"My system makes sense," he argued. "Most show people have learned to perform at their best in the afternoon and evening. Why should they be required to work in the morning just to follow the custom?"

"This way, you can get a good sleep and start work refreshed. It's especially great for the girls, who can get up at 9 instead of 5 a.m. to start their makeup and hairdressing. We have a break for a meal at 4 and eat right on the set. Very often we'll finish much before 8 because we move so fast."

Does he have any trouble convincing the studios of his shooting method? "No, we just tell them that's how I like to work, and that's that."

Frank's next objective: a four-day shooting week.

That'll be the day! . . . Vincent Price has done 80 TV shows, mostly quizzes, in the past three years and says no one has slipped him a fix yet. "It would

H-Bomb Researcher Developing Weapon

LIVERMORE, Calif. (AP) — Hydrogen bomb researcher Edward Teller says his laboratory is developing a small mobile thermonuclear weapon that could be used against individual planes, ships, missiles or small troop formations.

Only H-bombs large enough to wreck large cities have been made and the small, tactical A-bombs currently produced are based on atomic fission rather than fusion and can create hazards of radioactivity.

The proposed weapon uses the energy of fusion and would leave virtually no radioactive products, Teller said.

Teller, a researcher in the Livermore, Calif., laboratory of the Atomic Energy Commission, disclosed the new project in a publication of the alumni of the University of California, which operates the laboratory.

Governor's Aide Reveals:

South's Leaders Worry About Deserted Schools

By REILMAN MORIN
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A Southern governor's aide sat in his hotel room reading the news about the schools in Arkansas and Virginia, where the fight over integration has closed classrooms. Instruction by television, private classes meeting in private homes and churches, children transferring to schools in other cities.

"You know," said the aide, "some of these governors are a lot more worried than they admit."

This has been a distinct impression at the Southern Governor's Conference.

Publicly, some governors said the fact that schools actually have been closed in two states to prevent Negroes from enrolling, has had no impact in the South. This correspondent polled the delegations at the conference, particularly from states in the Deep South on the question. The answers never varied:

"Haven't noticed any particular reaction in our state."

But privately, there was an undertone of uneasiness. The events in Virginia and Arkansas appear to have had two primary effects on public opinion.

1. They have hardened the determination of many segregationists to hold the line, come what may.

2. They have shifted the controversy to a different ground, in the mind of the man on the street. Until the die was cast, and the schools actually closed, the issue presented itself to people as complicated legal questions, uncharted waters.

But to the parent in Little Rock today, the plain, painful human questions are:

"Does Johnny go to school? If not, what do we do? If he goes to a private school, will he have the accreditation to go to college?"

A year ago, a Georgia newspaper editor, discussing these aspects of the question, said:

in the South of integration or illiteracy."

Now the deserted school is a reality. A Little Rock father, taking his children to an out-of-state school, said "I still am, opposed to integration. But that isn't the point now. The point is to get my kids educated."

The big question now seems to be:

Has the change of heart, on which federal authorities counted, begun to take place now that the schools are closed?

Pushbutton Warfare

PAULS VALLEY, Okla. (UPI) — V. O. Grooms can't afford to leave his dog, Tiny, in the car. The pesky pet has learned to push down the buttons on all the doors, locking the owner out.

Radio Hams Hear Church Services

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — An Episcopal minister has beamed the message of God to amateur radio operators, and at least 200 of them are reading him clearly. The Rev. Albert E. Martin, pastor of St. Matthew's Episcopal church and a ham operator himself for 12 years, will hold a special church service and get-together for amateur operators next Sunday.

He said yesterday that he has acceptances from 200 hams in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania.

The Rev. Mr. Martin went on the air earlier this week with the invitation.

"God calls on CQ" was the way he started his nightly broadcast. Then followed a message and the invitation to listen at 10 a.m. Sunday.

A social hour will follow the service so the amateurs can talk about their rigs.

"It's the first hamfest ever," he said. "God is calling to the hearts of all men, but the trouble with many of us is that we shut him off like a radio receiver."

Big Dog Hitchhikes

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP) — It took several Humane Society workers to help a woman motorist get rid of her unwanted hitchhiker dog jumped into her parked car in Mount Clemens. "He was so big I didn't dare throw him out," she said.

Meany to Address Electrical Workers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, is scheduled to make the main address today at the annual convention of the International Union of Electrical Workers.

Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, also was scheduled to speak, but canceled his appearance because of the contract talks in Detroit with General Motors and Chrysler.

Later in the day, a group of delegates, employees of the General Electric Co., will consider a controversial strike call set for next Thursday.

The IUE is negotiating with GE for a guaranteed annual wage, sevthrough automation, and reduction of the work week with no cut in wages.

The IUE's five-year contract with GE expires in 1960. But under its terms the union is free to strike after Oct. 1 if a new employment security agreement has not been reached.

Hula Hoops Outlawed

(AP) — The Madison Township School Board has forbidden pupils to spin hula hoops from the time they leave for school till they return home. It said the pupils get so wound up in the hoops they show up late for school and even endanger themselves crossing streets.

Despite new drugs about 47,000 persons in the U. S. are victims of pneumonia in an average year.

When DeBusschere registered at U. of D. last week, he closed the gate on the offers of some 30 schools and he also tabled a dozen major league bonus contracts ranging from $30,000 to $60,000.

For two years he took the honors in the state basketball tournaments as the outstanding player, and every time he pitched for Austin High in Detroit there were more big league scouts than players and fans around the field.

Will he be able to withstand the fat bonuses being offered him for the next four years?

Most observers say no. U. of D. basketball coach Bob Callihan says he feels DeBusschere will stick it out. Of course Callihan is the happy hopeful coach.

Many outstanding prep athletes sacrifice college scholarships to sign pre contracts. Most of them fail to make the grade.

Any prep athlete who signs for a few thousand dollars is in most instances making a grave mistake. If he does not succeed in the minors, or is injured, he can kiss his baseball future and a college education goodbye.

Because, very often the boy isn't set to get through college by his own financial means.

The case of DeBusschere seems different. The temptation of those five bonus figures, which can be had merely by one stroke of the pen, is ever present. Even if he fails in baseball, he can always fall back on the bank account and go through college.

You could hardly blame a boy for accepting one of the lucrative bonus offers, but yet a prospect like DeBusschere will be in demand as much when he graduates from college as he is now.

Recent statistics of the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau substantiate this and disclose several other interesting points.

The NCAB survey points out that less than five per cent of 403 collegians who signed pro contracts in past few years ever reached the majors.

The unhappy note is that 81 per cent of college freshmen who sign contracts never get back to school and the odds are 400 to 1 against reaching the majors.

The most important point of the survey discloses that the longer a student stays in college the better his professional chances get. Of the 403 college players surveyed, 179 of them who completed junior or senior years received the best contracts.

The NCAA has asked the Major Leagues "to cease their ruinous, indiscriminate talent hunting."

The NCAA has a strong point. Its argument involves a moral question of what is good for the boy.

The Majors have their point, a career in professional baseball with a big bonus assurance.

This will confront DeBusschere for the next four years. Weighing all factors what would you do?

Leaves Tigers for Wolverines

'M' Names Lund Friday

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Don Lund, was a lineman on Michigan's football team. He graduated from the University in 1945 and reported to the Brooklyn Dodgers that year.

Most of Lund's professional career was spent in the Minor Leagues. An outfielder, he played with the old St. Louis Browns and the Tigers after leaving the Dodgers' chain.

His best season was 1953 when he batted .257 as a Tiger regular. Lund batted .240 for his Major League career of 281 games.

"Don has the right temperament to be a good college coach," Fisher said.

"It has been learned that Lund already has done some recruiting for his future Michigan teams. At his request, several Big Ten financial aid tenders were sent out to promising prospects. Fisher, because of his impending retirement last spring, didn't send out any tenders.

Lund is expected to go to work at Michigan immediately after the Tiger season ends. He said he plans to start a training program of fall baseball and also take his team to the deep south for pre-season games next spring.

Jack Fleck, former National Open Champion, is the host pro, and has announced that the course will be in perfect condition for this late-season event.

The tournament will be conducted over 36 holes, 18 holes on Saturday, 18 holes on Sunday.

Roy Iceberg, president of the MPGA, has requested that mail entries be sent to Don Nelson, 1910 Ardmore Ave., Royal Oak, Michigan. The entry fee is $20.00 per team. Post entries will be accepted.

Entrants will be permitted to play practice rounds preceding the tournament.

Finney is Brown QB

Ex-Royal Oak Gridder New Star Ivy Leaguer

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Football wasn't much fun when Brown University's Frank Finney was an eighth grader in Royal Oak, Mich. Young Frank could only watch his buddies play the game. He had polo.

But today Finney, now 21 and a senior at Brown, is rated top quarterback in the Ivy League.

Finney is a star in a conference that no longer produces many stars.

In two seasons, he's accounted for 1,455 yards on his T-formation passes and runs. Last season, when he led Brown to league victories over Yale, Harvard and Pennsylvania, Finney was third among the Ivies in total offense.

The 175-pound quarterback

IVY LEAGUER — Frank Finney of Royal Oak bids to become the top passer in the Ivy League as quarterback at Brown University. In 14 league games the past two seasons, Finney has accounted for 1,061 yards in the air and on the ground.

Columbia Seeks 3rd Win Today

Sceptre Crew Hoping for Strong Winds at Newport

NEW PORT, R.I. (AP) — The British, their hopes for the America's Cup all but swamped in the bubbling wake of the shark-swift American defender, Columbia, are whistling for wind in today's third race.

Trailing 2-0 in the best-of-7 series, they're banking on wind and more wind to get the British challenger, Sceptre, off its haunches. "It's getting better but not enough yet," said Colin Ratsey, Sceptre's assistant helmsman, after Columbia sailed out of sight yesterday to defeat the challenger by almost a mile and a half.

At the finish Sceptre was just a gray ghost barely visible on the hazy horizon.

The British had said that winds up to 12 miles an hour were what they wanted for best results. They got it yesterday. But, said Ratsey after the race:

"Sceptre's designed for a little more wind. We still haven't got up to the wind we expected to find here, 15 knots."

thrives on the rollout option on which he can pass or run.

"He has an amazing sense of timing and execution on it," said his coach, Al Kelley, once a fine end at Cornell. "He has only a split second to make his decisions, but he always seems to make the right one."

Finney's brightest moment came last season when Brown edged Yale 21-20 with a last minute touchdown drive. It was the first time Brown beat Yale since 1951. Finney had to pull his team out of a fourth down and 20 situation in the dying moments for Brown to spring the upset.

But Finney won his greatest praise for his defensive work. It came from Illinois' galloping ghost, Red Grange, who telecast Brown's 33-7 triumph over Colgate last Thanksgiving.

Finney played his high school ball at Royal Oak Dondero after Illinois had incapacitated him for two seasons. He starred his junior and senior years in the same backfield as Darrell Harper, now a Michigan halfback.

Tigers' Goal-3rd Place

Not Much Else Left After 4-3 Loss to Chisox

Kuenn's Hopes for Bat Title Dwindle Following 1-Hit Performance

CHICAGO (AP) — With Harvey Kuenn's chances for the American League batting championship almost vanished, the Detroit Tigers' only remaining excitement now is their battle for third place.

Yesterday's 4-3 loss in 10 innings to the Chicago White Sox put the Sox mathematically safe as runnersup to the champion New York Yankees and virtually blanked out Kuenn as a batting title contender.

The Chicago victory squared the series and made today's concluding game the rubber game. It was today's only game in the American League. Jim Running (13-11) was to pitch for Detroit against Dick Donovan (15-13).

Kuenn, held to one hit in five times up, lost precious ground in the batting race. He fell to .317 as against the respective .324 and .320 of Boston's Pete Runnels and Ted Williams.

Unless Harvey has a fantastic stretch of hitting in the last four games of the season, he's out of it. The Tigers, in losing, passed up a chance to break their deadlock with the Red Sox and Cleveland Indians for third place. The Red Sox and Indians also lost, keeping the three-way tie intact at 75-75 each.

The White Sox victory was at the cost of relief pitcher Tony Morgan who replaced starter Frank Lary in the tenth inning.

The Sox were quick about it. Jim Lundy opened with a triple and the next batter, Sherm Lollar, bounced a single to center through the drawn-in infield to score the runner.

Detroit forced out Sox starter Billy Pierce in the ninth on a one-run rally to tie the game. The winning pitcher was rookie right-hander Don Rudolph.

Majors Near End of Regular Season

Only Bat Races of Interest

By United Press International
It's Willie Mays out in front and Ted Williams coming up fast in the only Major League races left — for the National and American League batting titles, as the season neared completion.

Mays, San Francisco's pride and joy, is on-top in the N. L.'s four-cornered race today with a .346 average while Williams, Boston's controversial star, is only three points behind teammate Pete Runnels with a .320 mark.

Mays connected for a triple and a double in the Giants' 10-3 loss to the Chicago Cubs yesterday to take over the lead from Philadelphia's idle Richie Ashburn, who is hitting .344 Willie's average has scored 14 points in a week since he stopped "swinging away" and began to go for short hits.

Williams, who never has hit below .317 in his Major League career, had a double and single as the American League champion New York Yankees snapped a six-game losing streak with a 7-5 victory over the Red Sox. Runnels, meanwhile, dropped a point when he had only one hit in four tries.

The Chicago White Sox clinched second place with a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers, the Baltimore Orioles beat the Washington Senators, 2-0, and the Kansas City Athletics outclutched the Cleveland Indians, 7-4, in other American League games while the Los Angeles Dodgers edged out the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, in the only other National League game.

Bobby Thomson smashed his 20th homer and two singles to lead a 14-hit Cub attack on six San Francisco pitchers. Thomson joined Ernie Banks, Dale Long, Lee Walls and Walt Moryn as 20-homer-a-season men, tying the Major League record for one club. Relief ace Don Elston pitched perfect ball for the last three innings to win his eighth game for the Cubs.

Mickey Mantle and Hank Bauer homered to pace the Yankees' nine-hit offense that tagged Tom Brewer with his 12th defeat. Frank Malone hit two homers and drove in four runs for the Red Sox. Ryne Duren, finishing up for winner Duke Maas, struck out three batters in the last two innings.

Arnold Portocarrero became Baltimore's first 15-game winner of the modern era with a nifty three-hitter. Rookie

It must have been too early in the season for the fraternal order of Swamis to pick sweet grapes from the grapevine.

Lions Face 'Title Hungry' Foe

Colts Figuring This Is 'Their' Season to Win

Baltimore Feels It Should Have Won in 1957 Campaign

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The Baltimore Colts, figured as the team which should have won the 1957 NFL title because of its personnel, and the Detroit Lions, the champions who observers say got all the breaks, square off against each other in the National Football League opener Sunday.

Kickoff is 1 p.m. local time and the game will be televised back to Michigan with 40,000 Baltimore fans expected for the contest.

Baltimore coaches believe the Colts "goofed" away the title last year, especially in the game at Briggs Stadium when the Lions took a sensational 31-27 decision with three touchdowns in the last quarter. "This will be the year," say the hungry Colts.

Detroit, now plagued by injuries and nursing a problem at the end positions, acquired rookie Jim Gibbons from the Cleveland Browns for an undisclosed draft choice yesterday.

Gibbons reported to the Lions today and he will be among the 35 players who leave Saturday morning for Baltimore.

The Colts always seem to play their best at home and have especially been effective in the season openers. Last year in Baltimore, the Lions started the season by taking a 34-14 shellacking.

Coach Weeb Ewbank is staking his title hopes for 1958 on such players as Alan Ameche, John Unitas, L. G. Duple, Jim Mutschler along with line stalwarts Gino Marchetti, Art Donovan, Gene Lipscomb and Ray Krouse.

Krouse, a former Lions' defensive tackle, is figured to be a key in the Colt forward wall.

Both teams had losing ledgers for pre-season games. Baltimore won two, lost three and tied one, while the Lions were 2-4.

Coach George Wilson has set his strategy toward stopping quarterback Johnny Unitas who threw eight touchdown passes in two games against the Lions. Unitas finished with 24 TD passes for the season.

Eight rookies will start the season with Detroit, led by halfbacks Danny Lewis and Ken Webb and defensive back Dave Whitsett.

Airmen U. of D. Foe

Titans-Air Force After Same Grid Goal

DETROIT (AP) — The University of Detroit and the young Air Force Academy, both building toward bigtime football programs, will meet here tomorrow night.

The 3-year-old Air Force Academy, with seniors to play this year for the first time, is heading into a rugged schedule that includes Iowa and Stanford. The Falcons were 3-6-1 with a less ambitious schedule last year.

Coach Wally Fromhart, anything but happy about the way his Titans handled George Washington, made three lineup changes for the Air Force game. He moved Joe Pascuzzi above letterman Vic Henning at fullback, inserted Dennis Flynn for Jack Vance at right end and replaced Tony Sterlitz with Grady Alderman at tackle.

Detroit's offense will hinge mainly on the running of halfback Bruce Maher, who gained 81 yards on 15 carries against George Washington, and the passing of quarterback Lou Faoro, who completed five of nine passes for 74 yards.

Air Force, which upset the favored Detroit 19-13 last year, has a new coach in Ben Martin, a former end halfback at Navy who coached last season at the University of Virginia.

Martin is sticking to the split-T offense used by his predecessor, Buck Shaw.

At the vital quarterback position, the 1957 regular, and Rich Mayo, a converted halfback. Kuenzel led the team in total offense last year with 912 yards. A lefthanded passer, he completed 44 per cent of his aeriels.

The Titans are also making the pitch at the box office. Last week's 19,575 fans was near capacity for Titan Stadium.

May Ban Navy Prep Aid Plan

Financial Benefits for Athletes Is Opposed by ECAC

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — A formal announcement was expected from Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference headquarters in New York today ordering Navy to stop prep-school aid to athletes.

The Associated Press learned yesterday that the Conference, of which Navy is a member, has voted to forbid the Naval Academy's practice of paying up to half the tuition of some of its athletes to attend a prep school, in order to be better prepared for entrance examinations.

Navy athletic officials made no immediate comment on the report. Sources in Annapolis said Ivy League school's led the move in favor of a ruling whereby the Navy program would be discredited. It was understood that the vote was taken by secret mail ballot this summer and was effective immediately.

Trabert Beats Tennis Boss

LONDON (AP) — Tony Trabert Wednesday night handed his boss, Jack Kramer, a 7-5, 6-4 defeat in the London Professional Indoor Tennis Championships.

The win put Trabert in the semi-finals, where he meets Australian Ken Rosewall.

Frank Sedgman of Australia defeated Ecuador's Pancho Segura 6-3, 6-4 in another second round match. He qualified to meet world professional champion Pancho Gonzales in the other semi-final.

Hannum Will Coach Industrial Quintet

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Alex Hannum, former coach of the St. Louis Hawks, Wednesday was named coach of the Wichita team in the National Industrial Basketball League.

Hannum succeeds Bruce Drake, former University of Oklahoma coach, who resigned Tuesday to enter the real estate business in Norman, Okla.

Hannum, who joined the St. Louis pro team as player-coach midway in the 1956-7 season, guided them out of the cellar to the National Basketball Assn. Western Division title last season. The Hawks then downed the Boston Celtics for the NBA title.

Moore Sets Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — The long discussed light heavyweight championship fight between titleholder Archie Moore and Canadian Yvon Durelle will take place in Montreal Dec. 10.

Fullback Still a Tossup at MSU

Either Bercich
or Arend to Go Against Bears

Spartans Physically OK
for Saturday Opener
With California

EAST LANSING — It's still a tossup on the starter at fullback for Michigan State Saturday. The official starting lineup for the football opener against California lists either Don Arend or Bob Bercich.

Which is a pretty healthy situation — to have a pair of players with such even ability that it's hard to decide between them, "Both of them will see a lot of service," coach Duffy Daugherty has promised.

Arend, 205-pounder from Baroda, is a senior. Bercich, 190-pounder from Summit, Ill., is a junior. And coaches have the custom of giving the nod to the senior when the issue is in doubt.

All are lettermen. Chastain, Look and Fyle are juniors and the rest are seniors.

The squad is in top physical shape to kick off the 61st Spartan football season. There are no injuries among the first three elevens.

"We're going to have a good ball club," opinioned Jack Hepinstall, veteran trainer starting his 45th year at MSU. "We lost a lot of boys last season, but anyone who beats these kids is going to take a heck of a licking doing it."

California, a 19-0 MSU victim last season, enters the game a decided underdog. The Golden Bears lost their opener to College of the Pacific, 24-20, but showed good offensive punch.

Quarterback Joe Kapp scored two touchdowns personally and hit nine of 13 pass attempts working from the split-T option.

Kickoff time is 1:30 p.m. Saturday. A crowd of about 55,000 is expected and good weather should swell attendance to around 60,000.

Too Early Contact Listed as Reason

Injuries Plague 'M'

ANN ARBOR — It happens every fall that Michigan comes up with a flock of injuries.

The Wolverines seem to lead the Big Ten — in ailing knees.

Already this fall, before the season has opened, 10 Wolverines on the first two teams have suffered some knee damage. One-center Jim Byers — is lost for at least half the campaign and possibly all of it. Three others on the top two units have had ankle trouble.

The injury isn't just a jinx, a hoodoo, or plain bad luck. There has to be a reason for it. The most popular one in the Michigan camp is the Wolverines begin scrimmaging too early.

Bennie Osterbaan sent his team into contact work on the third day of practice this fall. End Gary Praht hurt his knee in the scrimmage. Byers hurt his the next day.

Last year in the first hitting drill fullback John Herrstein's knee was injured. Herrstein favored the knee when he came back. The result was a serious instep injury that kept the fullback inactive most of the season. His loss turned Michigan's title hopes to smoke.

"We have to start fast," said Osterbaan. "We don't get enough benefit from spring practice because not everyone comes out for football as they do at other schools. We have to do everything in the fall."

A doctor, well-acquainted with football, agreed with the theory that Michigan should hold up before starting contact work.

"The players may look in physical trim when they report," the doctor said. "But their legs aren't in shape. That's why there are so many knee injuries."

"The boys ride around in cars all summer and wear rubber-soled shoes that don't give the proper support. Then they scrimmage too soon."

"They should wait a week or 10 days, but because of the time schedule, the coach can't do anything else."

Fighter Upset After KO Loss

Jesse Bowdry Hospitalized

CHICAGO (AP)—Jesse Bowdry of St. Louis, seventh ranking light heavyweight, was so emotionally upset after losing to Sonny Ray in Chicago Stadium last night he had to be hospitalized.

The 20-year-old fighter, stopped at 1:22 of the ninth round by the 3-1 underdog Ray, was incoherent afterwards in his dressing room, which was barred to newsmen.

His rantings could be heard through the closed door and Dr. Irving Slott chief examining physician of the Illinois Athletic Commission, worked over him for more than 20 minutes.

Later he was taken to Columbus Hospital.

"I would say he would be in the hospital at least two days as a precautionary measure," said Dr. Slott. "He is emotionally upset and further tests to evaluate

Two Owners Capture
Top Setter Places

Pontiac's Tom Moffat and Frank Nielson of Cleveland between them, took winners and runnersup honors in the recent annual fall field trial for the Irish Setter Club of Michigan.

Moffat had both runnersup with his Carolina Lady's Stylehigh in the open all-age and open gun dog stake. Winning dog was Fyn, in both events. Trial was run at Highland Recreation.

SPARTAN Foe — Joe Kapp, veteran University of California quarterback, will run the team at East Lansing Saturday when the Trojans face Michigan State in the opener for the Spartans. California was upset in its opener last week by College of the Pacific, 24-20.

Fuell Will Quit Football

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Don Fuell is going back to Auburn and apparently forsaking collegiate football.

Center of an Auburn recruiting hassle, Fuell had donned football togs with the University of Nebraska freshmen and indicated he would cast his lot with the Cornhuskers, once his eligibility had been determined.

The Nebraska faculty athletic council met Wednesday to consider a grant-in-aid for Fuell.

There was no announcement but speculation followed that the council had decided he would not be eligible for a grant until the NCAA determined his status, probably next month.

Nebraska Athletic Director Bill Orwig said Wednesday night:

"Don Fuell announced Wednesday he has decided to return to his home in Alabama and not to enroll at the University of Nebraska. He plans to reenter Auburn and pursue his education there and not compete in athletics."

Five Area Leagues Will Open Play Friday

Holly's Invasion of Northville Heads Schedule

W-O Has Full Slate; Lake Orion, Oxford Debut in Loop Play

By CHUCK ABRAH

Five of this area's 11 high school football leagues rip the lid off another loop season tomorrow highlighting the second weekend of 1958 play.

The Wayne-Oakland, Southern Thumb and Bi-County will be conferences with full schedules, while the Oakland B has two games and the South Central one.

Joining the group in league action Sunday will be the Suburban Catholic. The new Central Suburban loop started Sept. 19.

The center of attention in league play will be at Northville where Holly goes all out to try to stop the Mustangs' W-O dominance in a game that could decide the championship on opening night.

Holly lost only to Northville in finishing 2nd last fall and is rated the top threat again despite being hit hard by graduation.

Veteran backs Bob Starnes and Bill Walker paced the Mustangs to first game triumph over Class A Plymouth, while the Broncos were bowing to Grand Blanc.

That makes Northville the choice but Holly followers are confident Darrell Kinney, George Coggins, Carl Schwartz, George McDaniels and company can turn the trick.

Other top contests in the league will have untested Bloomfield Hills at Brighton and Clarkston at Millford. West Bloomfield is a heavy favorite at Clarenceville.

Bloomfield Hills has a young team that could click under the leadership of southpaw triple-threat Doug Danziger, the quarterback. Brighton was just "fair" in whipping South Lyon. Clarkston is nursing injuries from its hard-earned triumph over Oxford. Millford is still smarting from an opening setback at Avondale.

West Bloomfield was impressive in its rout of St. Michael and should be even stronger with young back Jack Newton in good shape again.

Madison visits defending champion Lake Orion and Clawson is at Fitzgerald in the Oakland B.

Orion will have a definite manpower edge with such vets as John Schott and Jeff Snarey in the backfield and Dean Callison heading the line, but new skipper Frank Kownacki is not taking Madison lightly. The Eagles won while Orion was losing last Friday.

Clawson, with star back Newt Acton, is given a slight edge over Fitzgerald. However, the Spartans gave Hazel Park an interesting evening last week and could surprise.

Oxford at North Branch is the SOO contest and it should be a battle as former college buddies Dick Figg and George Glinke clash. North Branch showed good scoring power in a successful debut as Oxford was blanked.

Memphis is the first Thumb team to get a shot at Almont as the Raiders start another title campaign. Armada will invade Dryden and Brown City will be at Capac in other action.

Bloomfield Hills Country Day seeks its 2nd Central Suburban triumph as host to Clintondale. Utica has a big debut in the Bi-County at South Lake against the 1957 champion.

New Wayne Publicist

DETROIT (U) — Robert N. Zak has been named athletic publicity director at Wayne State University.

He succeeds Donn R. Shelton, who resigned to become publicity director of television station WJRT, Flint.

WEDNESDAY'S FIGHTS
CHICAGO — Sonny Ray, 171½, Chicago stopped Jesse Bowdry, 173, St. Louis, 9.
AUSTIN, Tex. — Mel Barker, 150, Austin, outpointed Ray Fortilla, 153, New York, 10.

GET THOSE MUSTANGS — That's what Holly coach Al Gratsch told quarterback Darrell Kinney today following a final practice session for the Broncos big Wayne-Oakland League opener at Northville Friday. Holly, which bowed to Grand Blanc last week, is given the best chance of ending the Mustang reign this season.

er at Northville Friday. Holly, which bowed to Grand Blanc last week, is given the best chance of ending the Mustang reign this season.

Too Busy as Wing Trainer

No More Goaltending for Wilson

DETROIT (U) — National Hockey League teams have lost one of their best away-from-home insurance policies on injured goaltenders with the promotion of Ross (Lefty) Wilson to trainer of the Detroit Red Wings.

An assistant trainer, he had also been Detroit's stand-in goalie, taking care of the nets whenever goalies on his own team or a visiting team were injured during a game.

Lefty, now 39, played goal in amateur hockey but earned his greatest fame with three brilliant emergency stands in NHL nets. He was scored on only once.

Taking over the assistant trainer's job—and the emergency goalie chore—is Julie Klimkiw, 25, who was with Winnipeg Warriors last season as stand-in goalie and assistant trainer.

Klimkiw first came to the Wings' attention as a goaltender when he was with a junior club in Brandon, Man., seven years ago. Detroit had strings on him for five years until he hung up his pads to take the job with Winnipeg.

"If Don Simmons or any of the other visiting goalies get knocked out at Olympia again, big Julie will go in the nets," said Lefty at the Wings' pre-season training camp here. "I'll be busy helping the wounded."

At Montreal in the 1953-54 season, Wilson went into the nets to replace injured Terry Sawchuk for the Wings and held the Canadiens scoreless for the last 15 minutes although Montreal won 4-1.

Lefty's next appearance was for the Toronto Maple Leafs when Harry Lumley was injured at Olympia here in the 1955-56 campaign. The Wings were leading 4-1 when he went in, and that's the way it stayed.

His last appearance—and the one that broke his scoreless record—was last season when he stood in for Boston's Simmons after the Bruin goaltender suffered a dislocated shoulder.

Taking over on the wrong end of a 1-0 score, the paunchy assistant trainer even stopped one of Gordie Howe's shots with his head. Jack McIntyre finally scored on him, but the Bruins tallied twice to earn a 2-2 tie.

Lefty received a bonus check from the grateful Bruins management.

"I've had my day on the firing line, now let big Julie carry on," said Wilson. He tied down the trainer's job this season after Carl Mattson quit the job.

Cranbrook Soccer Team Defeats Canadians, 3-1

Cranbrook's soccer team boosted its season record to 2-0 Wednesday with a 3-1 victory over Sarnia on the Sarnia field. Tito Cortella, captain Pete King and Larry DeWitt kicked the Cranbrook goals. Kent Strickland was the winning goaltender.

Cortella opened the scoring with an unassisted goal in the 2nd period. King booted his goal just a few seconds later with an assist from Henry Hoffman. DeWitt scored in the 3rd period with King assisting. Sarnia's lone goal was a penalty kick by John Wedgewood in the 3rd period.

Rams' 28,500 Season Tickets Are All Sold

LOS ANGELES (AP)—No matter where they finish in the National Football League race, the Rams have it made again at the box office.

Season tickets, a total of 28,500, for Los Angeles' home games are sold out, from goal to goal in the vast expanse of Memorial Coliseum. All indications point to the Rams leading the league once more in overall gross.

The Rams had a 6-6 record at the end of the 1958 season, but they played to more than one million persons — the first time that had been done by any team, college or pro. The Rams were out-drawn only in 1956 and 1957, by Detroit.

dark tones come to life on a vibrant background...Authentic by HART SCHAFFNER & MARX

Darks are deservedly popular: they're right for any occasion. And darks needn't be dull. Authentics, the new worsteds just introduced by HS&M, blend multi-colored wools behind black to create dark tones—solid or quietly patterned—that are vibrantly alive yet conservatively right. HS&M styles Authentics in today's natural lines...tailors them for natural-ease wear. Come in and see how right you are in Authentics.

THE STYLE CORNER OF PONTIAC

Conquer Twilight Hazards by Caution

NEW YORK — The hours between four and eight P.M. are the most dangerous in your life. According to figures published by the National Safety Council, one third of the pedestrians killed each year die between four and eight P.M. Nearly 30 per cent of all automobile accidents occur between these twilight hours, reports a feature article in a recent issue of a national magazine.

What is the reason behind this "terror at twilight?" Part of the explanation can be found in the fact that the majority of our nation's 67,231,000 vehicles choke highways during twilight hours in a mass exodus from factories and offices. Plagued with fatigue after a long day, and the intense desire to relax at home, even the best drivers become "highway menaces."

At just the hours when the motorist needs all his faculties to cope with complex traffic situations, he is least able to summon up resources.

Perhaps what is most alarming to safety officials is the fact that the average person is not even slightly aware of the dangers and subtle changes taking place during the twilight hours. He fails to realize that at the end of a day, he is in the same physical shape, as a person who has driven 500 miles on a superhighway.

PEDESTRIANS, TOO

Pedestrians are no better off at this time, states the magazine. Kids are worn out and less alert, and reaction time slows down considerably. At the same time drivers are bothered by glare of the sun, tired eyes and approaching headlights. At the end of a day, motorists need to look longer and harder to penetrate the twilight "high-light."

As the sun disappears, shadows fall sharply, and shapes seem to disappear; color contrast falls and depth and distance perception becomes less efficient as darkness grows near.

Over-all, reports the feature story, the motorist and the pedestrian are bucking every mental and physical obstacle detrimental to safe driving, during the dangerous twilight hours.

What can be done to improve driving and insure safety during these hours?

Among the many suggestions listed in the feature are:

SLOW DOWN! — Allow time to reach your destination at a safe speed.

DRIVE DEFENSIVELY! — SEE AGGRESSIVELY! Watch what the other fellow is doing and be prepared. Keep your eyes moving, ready to pick up traffic situations that might spell sudden danger.

TURN ON YOUR HEADLIGHTS at twilight. Your parking lights are not bright enough.

CARRY A FLARE KIT in your car at all times. Flares should be easy to light with a match and should burn for minimum of one hour.

Pedestrians are advised to: Cross at lighted intersections whenever possible. Stay on the sidewalks. When there are no walks, use the left side of the road facing traffic. Be alert!

Notre Dame Project Radiation Research

NOTRE DAME, Ind. — The Atomic Energy Commission has awarded $354,314 to the University of Notre Dame's Radiation Project to help support it for another year. Notre Dame's research in radiation chemistry is the largest project under way in this field in any university in the world.

Since the project's start in 1947 the A.E.C. has provided $1,923,036 in research grants and the university has contributed $824,000.

The Notre Dame scientists are studying the elementary processes involved in the chemical, biological, and physical changes induced in various substances by radiation.

The project has attracted graduate students from Japan, India, Israel, England, Scotland, France, Italy, Germany, the Netherlands and Canada.

Builders of Jets to Control Noise

Engine Shriek Must Go to Win Acceptance by Airport Neighbors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The airlines hope they aren't entering the jet age with too much noise. They mean that literally — the noise of the jet engine is the worst fault it has.

To keep itself out of broken ear-drum suits, and to make communities completely happy to receive jet service, the U.S. aviation industry has spent a fortune finding ways to lessen the jets' inevitable shriek. It is a noise one probable mating call of a lovesick dinosaur.

Boeing alone spent $18 million developing a noise suppressor for its mighty 707. Other jet manufacturers have similar devices.

The Boeing suppressor consists of tubes at the rear of the engines. The hot gases that power the 707 are scattered through the tubes instead of emerging as one noisy blast.

The device cuts the 707's noise level down to that of a conventional piston-engine plane. The noise problem is not eliminated entirely, however; the jets scream while piston engines roar, and even though the noise level is the same, the jet is likely to be more annoying.

PAY FOR GOODWILL. The airlines will pay for more than just a suppression system. The device, which costs $25,000 per engine, cuts power about two to three per cent and raises fuel consumption slightly. But the airlines figure they are getting a bargain considering the goodwill involved.

There is evidence that the jet noise factor may have been somewhat overrated. Jets climb so fast that they are out of the "nuisance range" far sooner than piston planes. The 707 hits 1,000 feet less than 60 seconds after takeoff—which means less noise outside the immediate airport area itself.

Nevertheless, the noise could hinder operation of American jet airliners to Europe at the outset. In Britain, for example, Transport and Civil Aviation Minister Harold Watkinson announced three major regulations applying to the U.S. jets pending proof that their noise has been cut to "a reasonable minimum."

The toughest rule, which could delay regular passenger service, specified that until British officials decide the American jets' noise level is acceptable they will be able to take off and land only during "waking hours."

Teenagers Increase, School Sports Boom

NEW YORK — School athletics programs are booming throughout the nation, which now has 5,000,000 more teenagers than the 10,400,000 five years ago.

This fall 11,500 high schools expect to put football teams on the field, 1,000 more than last year. And basketball, the top high school sport with 23,500 teams, is spreading into the elementary grades, "opening the door to a vast new market for equipment" among the country's 150,000 elementary schools, the Athletic Goods Manufacturers Association reports.

Shears to Slice Steel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — General Electric has developed an electrical system for steel mills which makes it possible for shears to slice through heavy lengths of steel in less than a quarter-second as the metal sections rush by at more than 30 miles an hour.

WILLIAM BELANEY

Advisory Group Names Officers

Belaney Heads County Marketing Information Council Here

Re-elected chairman of the advisory council of the Marketing Information Program for Consumers in Oakland County last night at the group's annual meeting was William Belaney, 33 Chippewa Rd.

Belaney, who is assistant manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, was elected for the second successive year to the group which is entering its second organized year.

Other officers elected at the annual dinner meeting held at the All Saints Episcopal Church were Mrs. Frank Anderson of 35 Oneida Rd., representing the Pontiac Federation of Women's Clubs, vice chairman; and Marie Van Sickle, women's editor of the Royal Oak Daily Tribune, secretary.

D. B. Varner, vice president of Michigan State University and director of off-campus activities, was the guest speaker. He discussed the present progress and future plans of Michigan State University.

Elected to the executive committee for three-year terms were Fred Haggard of the Oakland County CIO Council, and Mrs. W. Anson Hedgecock, of the Birmingham Homemakers.

Mrs. Janet Odell, food and home editor of The Pontiac Press and James Leroy, of the Kroger Co., Detroit, were elected for two-year terms.

One-year terms were accepted by Mrs. Alfred Harding, market master of the Oakland County Farmer's Market in Waterford Township, and Mary Slater, county school lunch nutritionist and consultant.

Twenty-seven persons were elected to the council from civic and service, communications, consumers, food handlers, producers and professional groups throughout the county.

Doctors to Test Youthful Slayer

Psychiatrists Slated for High School Girl Who Shot Brother

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Juvenile officers planned to ask today that Diana Humphries, 16, a brilliant high school senior who admitted she killed her brother and planned to kill her parents because nothing exciting ever happened, be declared a delinquent.

Dr. Andrew S. Hunt, county psychologist who examined Diana, said "her case is that of an environment-social problem" and that he will ask that she be given a complete psychiatric examination.

"She seems not to have had the proper amount of social life," said Hunt. She has a very superior intelligence with an IQ of 142, he said.

In a statement to police, Diana told how she shot her brother Robert, 14, to death when he came home from school Tuesday, but backed out of plans to kill her parents when she saw her mother, Mrs. R. D. Humphries, an airlines clerk, approach the house.

Atty. Jack Knight said he was told the girl has had only one date with a boy.

"She told her mother she didn't intend to have any more dates for a while because boys of her age didn't discuss mature enough subjects," Knight said.

In her statement to police, Diana told how she lay in bed and planned to kill all members of her family "so we wouldn't have to suffer any more."

"It seemed that everyone was always tired, that we were always getting up, going to work and school, coming home, eating, cooking meals, washing dishes and going to bed and getting up again. I wasn't mad at anybody. I don't know why I did it," she said.

She shot her brother with a rifle as he walked into the den after coming home from school.

Arraign Father in Murder Case

Charged in Death of 1 of 4 Slain Children and Questioned on Others

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A 43-year-old father was arraigned today on a charge of murder in the death of one of four children slain during a shotgun rampage Tuesday night.

The charge against Orland McMillan, unemployed odd-jobs man, was made in the death of his 7-year-old son, Ronald.

Prosecutor Stuart Hoffius said McMillan is still being questioned in the slayings of his other children, Bonnie, 6; Richard, 22 months; and Michelle Yvonne, 10 months. All were shot as they slept, their heads almost severed by the shotgun charge.

A fifth child narrowly escaped death, although he was slugged with a gun as the father ranged through the family home near Sparta, 15 miles from Grand Rapids.

McMillan waived examination on the murder charge before Municipal Judge Robert Burns. He was held without bond in the Kent County jail for Municipal Court arraignment.

McMillan, from whom his wife, Edith, 36, was asking separate maintenance, said "I was mad all day about being put out of my house."

If convicted of first degree murder, McMillan would go to prison for life.

Mrs. McMillan and a fifth child, Orland B., 8, are recovering from injuries. Mrs. McMillan was beaten and the boy clubbed with a shotgun the night of the mass shooting.

In a Grand Rapids hospital, Orland said he played dead to avoid a further beating. His condition is fair.

Grains Retreat From Peaks

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures prices backed away today from the high levels of yesterday's broad advances on the board of trade.

Most contracts were off major fractions of a cent in the early dealings while soybeans were down a cent or more.

Commission houses which led the buying in Wednesday's runup were among the major sellers today. Dealers said the setback was a normal reaction when prices advanced so sharply and so rapidly. Profit-taking accounted for a deal of the pressure.

Holders to Vote on Stock Split

Parke, Davis Directors Advise a 3-for-1 Break of Capital Shares

DETROIT (AP)—Parke, Davis & Co. stockholders will vote at a special meeting Nov. 12 on a Board of Directors recommendation for a 3-for-1 split of the drug manufacturing firm's no par value capital stock.

The special meeting was announced yesterday by the pharmaceutical firm. The company also declared a regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share.

Parke, Davis said the dividend was its 28th consecutive one since 1878. Its total value was reported in excess of $2,465,000.

The board said that under the stock split recommendation its present five million authorized shares of common stock would be increased to 20 million and each stockholder would receive two additional shares for each one now held. The company would retain the remaining five million shares.

Parke, Davis has reported sales of $63,211,363 and earnings of $13,405,132 for the first six months of this year. Its sales for the first six months of last year were $75,886,342 and its earnings $11,096,496.

Search Jungles for Missionary

Government of Ecuador Looks for Canadian Missing 2 Months

MONTREAL (AP)—The government of Ecuador is searching jungles along Amazon River headwaters for Dr. Robert Tremblay, a Canadian explorer and missionary who disappeared about two months ago.

Tremblay's sister Madeleine reported the search yesterday after returning from Ecuador. She said the government is "sure some dirty work is afoot."

American missionaries operating in the area of head-hunting Aucas Indians have expressed fears that Tremblay is dead but his family in Montreal is not convinced.

Mrs. Tremblay said, "Obviously, something had happened to him but none of us thinks he is dead and won't until his body is found." A brother, Louis Denis Tremblay, suggested he might be living with Indians.

Mrs. Tremblay said two German Shepherd dogs which her brother took with him into the jungle last February were found shot to death by his abandoned campsite. His cabin had been razed and his clothes partially burned.

Tremblay, 34, said he planned to bring several Aucas back to the capital of Ecuador, Quito, for Christian Baptism. The Aucas massacred five U. S. missionaries in 1956.

State Burns Buildings, Saves Demolition Cost

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—The state of Virginia feels it is saving from $2,000 to $3,000 per building in burning 63 structures here.

It would cost that much more to demolish them by conventional methods. The buildings are on the beyond economical repair. The 45th Engineer Detachment (Reserve) is handling the burning job.

Electrician Killed

DETROIT (AP)—Thomas R. Demara, 36, of suburban Wayne, was killed by electric shock Wednesday while installing wiring for a gas furnace.

Age of World, Solar System Sought Radiocarbon Aids Science to Solve Riddles of Time

WASHINGTON—With the aid of atomic clocks, men at last are solving tantalizing riddles of time.

As timepieces, scientists use electronic instruments that measure the amount of disintegration, or radioactive discharge, of atoms in certain substances.

Radiocarbon, discovered in nature only in the 1930s, is the most spectacular of the radioactive materials used in such dating processes. Since it has an atomic weight of 14 instead of carbon's normal 12, it is often called carbon-14, the name also applied to the dating method.

All living organisms contain the same proportion of carbon-14. After death, organic materials lose it at the same rate. Half of a substance's carbon-14

Asks Withholding Aid From Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. John D. Dingell (D-Mich.), urged President Eisenhower yesterday to withhold federal aid from schools crowded with children of government employees if school boards refuse to integrate.

The government gives special aid to schools in areas affected by federal activities.

Dingell said that some schools in Arkansas and Virginia which have been eligible for the federal aid have either closed or delayed their opening rather than comply with court orders for integrating. He said they include schools in Little Rock, Ark., and Norfolk, Va.

"Certainly no funds should be permitted to be used to support schools not complying with the orders of the United States courts," Dingell wrote in a letter to the president.

Man Deposits Garbage Instead of His Shirts

BALTIMORE (AP)—A harried-looking man rushed into a Chinese laundry and plunked a package on the counter. An employee opened it and found it contained garbage.

The customer's soiled shirts, in a similar parcel, had been deposited in a trash chute a few blocks away.

The owner won a race with the trash collectors and retrieved his shirts. A laundry employee disposed of the garbage.

Beer May Be Back in Ontario Saturday

TORONTO, Ont. (AP)—Beer could return to Ontario Saturday if most workers in brewers' warehousing locals support a strike settling agreement between union leaders and brewery heads. The odds are that the workers will vote for the agreement.

But beverage room workers looked toward the end of the 41 day drought with apprehension.

"If it's anything like the last day we had beer, I hate to think of it," said one bartender in a large Toronto hotel. "I hope it's my day off when we start serving it again."

Harry Marley, representative of the international union, said last night that some of the 13 locals will not vote until Friday night, but an earlier majority decision would be binding.

Union leaders accepted a 6-cent hourly raise this year, 10 cents in 1959 and 12 cents in 1960. The previous average wage was $80 a week.

Arraigned in Slaying

DETROIT (AP)—Robert W. Jones, 32, Detroit ex-convict, pleaded innocent Wednesday when arraigned in Recorder's (criminal) Court here in the hold-up-slaying of wholesale grocer Fred Dunn.

Dunn was killed and a father and his son wounded Saturday in a stickup of the M. Dunn & Co. office in Detroit's river front warehouse district.

Use Mass Production

DETROIT (UPI)—Moonshiners in the Detroit area have adopted the techniques of the auto industry and are mass producing "tax-free" booze.

13,700 Rebels Killed

ALGIERS (AP)—Reports by official sources claimed today that 13,700 rebels had been killed or made prisoner by French forces from May 15 to Sept. 20.

He Won't Dispute That

CHILLICOTHE, Mo. (AP)—Charles Watkins returned to his former office, now vacant, to get a bronze plaque that had hung on the wall over his desk. It was gone. The inscription on the plaque: "It's later than you think."

Heads Catholic Women

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mrs. Harry Seitz of Detroit was elected second vice president of the National Council of Catholic Women Wednesday at the group's convention here.

To Search for Waste in Road Department

The Senate committee investigating waste in state operations announced today that their next target will be the Michigan State Highway Dept.

Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Oakland County), chairman of the committee, said he planned to call in John C. Mackie, state highway commissioner, to inquire about alleged abuse in the use of state-owned cars, and the handling of highway construction bond issues.

Lodge said also the Democratic commissioner will be asked about the cost of his department's publicity activities and the need for them, and about a new tourist information center being built on the south approach to the Mackinac Bridge.

Meanwhile, the committee learned from a study made by State Controller James W. Miller that some $638,000 might be saved in the handling of laundry for four state institutions in the western part of the state.

'Do Nothing' Policy Attacked by Bagwell

UTICA (AP)—Paul D. Bagwell continued his attack last night on the Democratic state administration's policies on business and industry.

The Republican candidate for governor said in a campaign speech that the Gov. Williams administration has been a "do nothing" administration that has hampered our industrial growth for a wearisome decade.

Bagwell said the 10 years of the Williams' tenure in office has cost jobs for Michigan. He said if Republicans are elected Nov. 4 they will provide a "warm business climate" for the state in place of a present "unreasonable bias against all business interests."

Beer May Be Back in Ontario Saturday

TORONTO, Ont. (AP)—Beer could return to Ontario Saturday if most workers in brewers' warehousing locals support a strike settling agreement between union leaders and brewery heads. The odds are that the workers will vote for the agreement.

But beverage room workers looked toward the end of the 41 day drought with apprehension.

"If it's anything like the last day we had beer, I hate to think of it," said one bartender in a large Toronto hotel. "I hope it's my day off when we start serving it again."

Harry Marley, representative of the international union, said last night that some of the 13 locals will not vote until Friday night, but an earlier majority decision would be binding.
