Shortage of Milk Looming In City From Dairy Strike

The Easter Story — Mary

Lost Son to Save World

("For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son . . ." Someone else also lost a son. This, seventh of an Easter series, is about that person.)

BY GEORGE CORNELL
Associated Press Religious Writer

He said He had to do it—He said it was necessary—He said He had to go the last, terrible mile—He said He had to die as a sign to the whole world—but He was her son!

And He was dead.

And Mary's heart was broken.

Whatever the great cause He served, whatever the reason and purpose of His death, He was gone, and Mary had lost her son. To her, that was the one, awful reality.

What a price to pay, oh Lord, for having such a fine son. What a bitter lot to accept, what a loss to endure! A mother is not made to be heroic about her son's death.

* * *

In Jesus' final hours, Mary had stood beneath the cross with a cluster of His women followers, watching her son slowly die, her own flesh and blood writhing in pain, her own boy, slowly, cruelly, dying.

Near the end, He had turned to her, as if to say He realized His role had been difficult for her:

"Behold, thy son!" He had brought her to this, He was saying, she had to take it.

Then His pain-fraught eyes had shifted to John, the only one of His apostles who had braved the hazard of appearing at the scene, and said: "Behold, thy mother!" Strange how He always linked non-kinsmen in one family.

So now, it was over, and John, in whose care her son had left her, was taking her back to the city, trying to console her, this tragic, broken widow, her husband dead some years, and now her son, dead, crucified.

A man's death is just death to him, but it's a thousand deaths to his mother.

Pickets Extend Vigils at Gates of 5 Creameries

Tank Truck Stopped Near Brighton, Cargo Dumped on Highway

Violence flared elsewhere, but in Pontiac and Romeo the picketing of creameries by Fair Share farmers was peaceful this morning as the Detroit area milk strike went into its fifth day.

The supply of milk in the Pontiac area neared critical levels as pickets stepped up their activities at five creameries, at least one of which has been forced to curtail home deliveries.

Measures for emergency supplies to infants and the sick are currently being studied by Dr. John D. Monroe, Oakland County health director, who said that if the situation becomes worse special distribution stations will be set up.

The first show of force by the strikers took place near Brighton early this morning when a Detroit-bound tanker was stopped by 15 carloads of men and its cargo of 3,500 gallons of milk dumped on the highway.

According to state police, the driver, James Dowswell of Detroit, was uninjured although the truck's tires were punctured by the men. Owned by Sealtest, Inc., the vehicle was en route from Almont.

A similar act of violence was reported at Elsie where 35 pickets halted a farmer near the MMPA depot there, took 14 ten-gallon cans from his truck and dumped their contents into the street.

Each of the encircled local plants reported that pickets arrived early this morning, cutting the supply of raw milk to a trickle. Only one dairy reported that shipments have been unaffected.

The Borden Co., first to be picketed earlier this week, stated that its supply had been cut by more than 30 per cent while Maple Leaf officials said supplies will be down 50 per cent by tomorrow unless some truckers get their milk through the gates.

The Detroit Creamery plant said that home delivery has been cut slightly while the Richardson Creamery reports a two-day supply on hand.

Overnight "watches" were maintained at each of the embattled plants by the pickets. Police report no instances of violence by the pickets in the efforts to persuade truckers not to enter the creameries.

Tre Ore Service Held in City

GOOD FRIDAY — Hundreds filled Central Methodist Church from noon to 3 p. m. during the Tre Ore Service today. The Rev. Carl W. Nelson, president of the Pastors' Association, presided. The service was divided into three hours allowing worshipers to attend the portion of their choice. Neighborhood churches are observing services both this afternoon and tonight.

Children Perish in Two Fires; One Suffocates

Auburn Heights Mother Watches Helplessly as Two Babies Die

By BUD MARTZ

An Auburn Heights mother watched helplessly yesterday while her two baby girls perished in their burning home in the first of four tragedies which snuffed out five lives overnight.

A third baby and an elderly man also died in fires and a fourth child smothered in its crib during the 13-hour period.

The dead:

JOYCE BRECKENRIDGE, 2½, and JANICE BRECKENRIDGE, 10 months, daughters of Oakland County Sheriff's deputy Keith Breckenridge and his wife Donna, of Auburn Heights.

DONALD RAY GOANAS, 14 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goanas of Waterford Township.

DEBRA EVERETT, 3 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Everett of Waterford Township.

EDWARD J. WINTERS, 69, of Troy.

Taking a nap while their mother was washing clothes in her father-in-law's adjacent house, Joyce and Janice Breckenridge were suffocated by a fire of unknown origin which apparently started in the living room sofa.

Auburn Heights firemen did not know whether the mother or her sister-in-law, Janet, 14, first noticed the fire. Janet was also in her parents' home when the $2,000 blaze broke out about 2:30 p.m., they said.

The victim's grandfather, James K. Breckenridge, is an assistant chief of the volunteer fire department, who at the time was in Pontiac at the General Motors Truck and Coach plant where he works.

OUT ON PATROL

Breckenridge, 25, is a Korean veteran who joined the sheriff's department June 9, 1955. He was also at work, on road-patrol, according to Sheriff Frank W. Irons.

According to the elder Breckenridge, the fire from causes unknown was mostly confined to the living room of the three-room home, where damage apparently centered around a davenport.

"After 15 years of being a fireman, I have to return home to this," he mourned.

Explosion Rips Tanker in Texas

Ship Blows Up While Loading on Kerosene; 2 Men Hospitalized

BAYTOWN, Tex. (AP)—A spectacular explosion last night blasted a gaping hole in an oil tanker taking on kerosene at a dock. Orange flames roared 300 feet into the sky.

Two crewmen were sent to the hospital. Most of the ship's 42-man crew were on shore leave.

The explosion of the 100,000-ton tanker Esso Patterson rocked this oil and chemical city on the industry-lined Houston ship canal. It was felt in suburban Houston 25 miles away.

The flames were extinguished in an hour, but in the meantime there was near panic here. Residents vividly remembered the ship explosion in nearby Texas City that killed at least 510 people in 1947.

The Esso Patterson was at a dock of the huge Humble Refinery. The blast ripped a hole 12 feet wide and 30 feet deep, extending from the water line to the deck on the starboard side. Humble officials declined to estimate the loss but a crew member said the damage to the tanker was "heavy" with the ship's plates torn and bent.

A supertanker, the 20,000-ton Esso Florence, had pulled in immediately behind the Esso Patterson. It and the 10,000-ton Esso Linden, also tied up near the Patterson, were pulled by tugs out of the danger area.

The jarring blast put this city of more than 30,000 on a disaster alert. Some residents near the fire started evacuating their homes and civil defense officials geared for a major disaster.

Throngs Attend Churches for Good Friday Services

Thousands thronged Pontiac churches for Good Friday services from noon to 3 p.m. today in commemoration of Christ's death upon the Cross more than 1,900 years ago.

Hundreds gathered downtown in Central Methodist Church where the Pontiac Pastors' Association sponsored a Union Service.

Ministers of several denominations presented meditations on "The Seven Last Words from the Cross." The congregation joined in offering prayers and singing hymns.

Catholics crowded St. Vincent de Paul, St. Michael's, St. Benedict's and St. Joseph's Catholic Churches for Stations of the Cross and prayer in centuries-old ceremonies.

Parishioners attending All Saints Episcopal Church heard the dean of Christ Church Cathedral, St. Louis, Mo. during the three hour period.

Most places of business followed their annual custom of closing for the Tre Ore Services.

Many neighboring churches are holding services tonight for those unable to attend this afternoon.

Missing Official Writes to Son

FBI Is Studying Letter From License Seller, Postmarked in Illinois

LANSING (AP) — Secretary of State James M. Hare today said the FBI had in its hands a letter written by St. Clair Shores license branch manager Mrs. Anne Thorpe who dissappeared March 2 with her husband, daughter and $74,000 in state funds. The letter is postmarked Edwardsville, Ill., Hare said.

Hare said the letter was written to Mrs. Thorpe's son, Frank, in St. Clair Shores.

The text of the letter was not released.

Hare said State Police and FBI agents were investigating and an intense search for her is underway in the Illinois town.

"The letter makes some fantastic excuses for her conduct," said Hare. "She said the action was necessary because her fees from this (Hare's) office were late in arriving to her branch and because she was constantly being asked to buy tickets to political dinners and rallies and to make political contributions." Mrs. Thorpe, a Democrat, was appointed to the office by Hare.

Mrs. Thorpe, 42, her husband Floyd, 57, and their 9-year-old daughter first deeded their home in Van Dyke to a relative, closed the branch secretary of state office and disappeared after telling a clerk Mrs. Thorpe was taking her husband to an Ann Arbor hospital for a checkup.

A later audit disclosed $74,841 was missing, most of it income from new automobile license plate fees paid in the last few days before the March 1 deadline.

The Legislative Audit and Appropriation Committee, headed by Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield), now is investigating charges that branch managers have been compelled to contribute to Democratic campaign funds.

Sewer Disposal Hearing Slated

Waterford Plant Case Resumes; Homeowners Object to Location

The recessed hearing on whether a temporary injunction restraining construction of a sewage disposal plant in Waterford Township should be made permanent will resume Monday at 2:30 p.m. before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

The temporary order was obtained March 12 by the Crescent Lake Country Club Estates Civic Assn. against Bert Smokler, promoter of the Highland Estates Subdivision, and against the township board.

Smokler had intended to build the plant at Pontiac Lake road and the Clinton River. Crescent Lake members objected to location of the plant near their homes.

Yesterday, Smokler claimed the association action is premature, asserting there will be no basis for a decision until the plant is actually operating.

The association's attorney, Howard I. Bond, said once the plant is operating, it would be more difficult to stop, and asked the case be decided now.

Higgins Details Financing Plans

Turnpike Head Tells Senate Committee of Various Methods

Chairman of the Michigan Turnpike Authority George N. Higgins yesterday told the Senate Highway Committee in Lansing that there are several ways in which the state can build toll roads.

"The Rockwood-Saginaw project can be financed without any new legislation if the highway commissioner (Charles M. Ziegler) changes his announced position," said Higgins.

Ziegler would have to admit, Higgins stated, that it will be at least 10 to 15 years before enough tax money is available to build a toll-free facility equal to the proposed turnpike.

Before the way is clear, Ziegler must also concede the "great need for such a facility now, and that it should be built as a toll road," the MTA man added.

"If the highway department refuses to change its position on turnpikes, then these projects can still be financed and built, but new legislation is required," Higgins told the legislators.

He listed other ways in which he said turnpikes could be built:

1. If a new federal highway aid bill is passed and contains toll road reimbursement provisions or retains in its final form a provision for federal guarantees of toll road bonds.
2. If Michigan pledges full faith and credit as additional security for the bonds.
3. If a revolving or guarantee fund is pledged by the Legislature which could cover any revenue shortages which might occur in the early years of operation if the highway department builds competing toll-free roads reducing the turnpike's traffic load.

Ike Approves Tax Law

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower has signed into law legislation extending for another year three billion dollars worth of corporation and consumer taxes. The legislation affects tax rates on corporate income, alcoholic beverages, cars, gasoline and cigarettes which would have expired April 1 unless extended.

City Clerk Warns Voters on Correct Ballot Marking

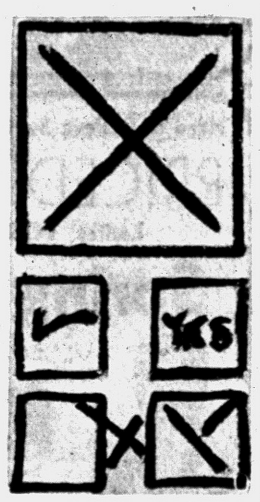

Make your vote count Monday!

The large square in the sketch shows the right way to mark your ballot.

You will be assured then of having your vote count in the selection of a city commissioner and the proposed charter amendment.

Below the large square are four examples of the wrong way to mark your ballot.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans said use of the "check mark" instead of an "X" causes the great majority of ballots to be ruled void.

She added that a voter may also receive a new set of ballots if he or she makes an error in marking the ballot. "It is better to get a new set and start again instead of using erasures," the clerk said.

Make sure, as in the top example, that you make a cross inside the square, she said. Any other mark is wrong.

Some of the more common ways to ruin votes, as the four small examples show, are making a "check mark" in the square, writing in a "yes," writing a cross outside the square or forgetting to make your lines intersect inside the square.

Another Tradition Crumbles Under Power of Woman

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan Union, campus men's club, has decided to keep skirts where they belong—on women.

The board of directors of the union crossed out a 29-year-old tradition by admitting actresses to the Michigan Opera, an annual musical extravaganza which heretofore had an all male cast.

The opera, begun in 1907, has had such celebrated actors as Thomas E. Dewey and others in its casts. Men were forced to wear women's clothes to fill some of the parts in the student written plays. The change, it was hoped, would increase attendance.

Muddy Grounds Halt City's Annual Egg Hunt

Muddy grounds have forced the cancellation of Saturday's Annual Easter Egg Hunt sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept. and the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce.

It was to be held at Beaudette, Oakland, Murphy and Jaycee Parks.

Holiday Weather Forecast: Warmer

The Weatherman says that it will be partly cloudy and warmer tonight and tomorrow.

Tonight's low will range from 24 to 28 degrees. The high tomorrow will be from 46 to 50 degrees.

The temperature will average from 8 to 12 degrees below normal according to the Michigan five-day report. Precipitation will occur early in the week, totaling about two-thirds of an inch.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 25 degrees. The thermometer registered 35 at 2 p.m.

Penitentes Rite Marks Jesus' Last Days

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Deeply religious Spanish-American men in remote northern New Mexico mountain villages are commemorating the last days of Jesus Christ again this Holy Week.

They are the Penitentes, members of the once fanatical group known as the Brothers of the Blood of Christ.

The climax of their Holy Week observances began Wednesday with recitation of prayers based on Gospel accounts of the arrest of Jesus.

With processions, prayers and hymns, those taking part on Holy Thursday recalled the taking of Christ before Pontius Pilate.

Today, Good Friday, the passion and death of Christ upon the cross will be commemorated by praying, singing men making the Via Cruces, the Way of the Cross.

The Penitente rites of these days reportedly bear little resemblance to those of years ago, when members lashed their bleeding backs with thorny yucca whips in a belief that blood letting helped them atone for their sins.

It was such excesses which for many years deprived the group of the Catholic Church's recognition. But nine years ago the Penitentes were made an official society of the church.

Their leaders say the Penitentes' rites no longer include fanatical procedures or excesses.

The order was founded by the Franciscans at Santa Cruz, north of Santa Fe, in 1835.

County Has High Rank in State's Manufacturing

By BURDETT C. STODDARD

"Oakland County ranks high in Michigan's manufacturing economy with approximately 45 per cent of its labor force employed in 18 of the 20 major United States industrial groups . . ."

There are an estimated 1,073 manufacturing plants in the county.

"The automobile is the backbone of manufacturing employment in the county, accounting for 60 per cent of all employment . . ."

Pontiac has six per cent of all county industrial plants furnishing 59 per cent of such employment.

These figures are contained in a report by County Planner Noland R. Heiden on progress of a county-wide survey of manufacturing activity being done by the County Plan Commission.

The survey is aimed at gathering data which will be helpful to communities and firms in planning future county industrial expansion.

Heiden has made personal visits to 130 plants each employing more than 40 workers. The remaining industries are being covered by questionnaires sent through the mail.

According to Heiden's preliminary report, the county ranks second in the state in manufacturing employment and third in money value added by industries and industrial wages.

Of the 1,073 plants, some 967 employ less than 100 persons.

Plants with more than 100 workers have 73 per cent of all manufacturing employment.

Production of machinery ranks behind the auto industry in terms of total persons employed, with 11,653.

During the period 1947-54, the production of fabricated metals rose in importance in Oakland to third place in number of employes, with 5,511.

This could be explained, said Heiden, "by the apparently heavy shift out of Detroit of small fabricating plants many of which probably came into Oakland County."

Production of primary metals is third with 3,150. "Only two other groups, chemicals and rubber products, employed more than 1,000 workers in 1954.

"Thus the first six major manufacturing groups employed 94 per cent of employes, with the remaining six per cent distributed over 12 other major manufacturing groups.

Although the automobile plant has been, and still is, the dominant employer in the county there appears to be quite a large growth in employment in other categories between 1947-54.

"The transportation equipment group increased some 7,957, or about 26 per cent, whereas nonelectrical machinery increased 6,925, or 14 per cent. . .

"By far the greatest number of manufacturing plants are located in the tier of townships just north of Eight Mile Road.

Some 72.5 per cent of total plants and 24.4 per cent of employment is located in Royal Oak, Southfield, Farmington, Novi and Lyon Townships, Heiden explained.

"Employment wise, however, that area is far from dominating the picture. Pontiac, with six per cent of all plants, employes 59 per cent of all manufacturing employes," Heiden said.

GRAND OPENING — First-day crowds line the fountain at the new Kinsel drug store in downtown Pontiac. One of the store's outstanding features, the fountain will seat 32 and is equipped for carry-out service. The store has been completely redecorated and equipped.

Extensive exterior redecoration will be completed as soon as weather permits. The Pontiac establishment is the 24th in the Kinsel Drug Co. chain.

Kinsel Opens Pontiac Store

Drug Chain Completes Remodeling, Introduces Expanded Interior

Two months of extensive remodeling was climaxed yesterday when the Kinsel Drug Co. opened its 24th store, at 67 N. Saginaw St.

Begun Feb. 1, the expansion and modernization project has been completed on the store's interior although final work on the exterior has been postponed to await warmer weather.

Complete reorganization of the interior layout has resulted in a larger fountain area and an increase of shopping space to nearly 6,000 square feet, according to Carl W. St. Henry, the chain's general merchandising manager.

The main divisions, St. Henry says, will be dominated by a large cosmetics department staffed by trained cosmeticians, and a sundries department which will offer Layette equipment, household items, toys and other drug store items.

The prescription department will be staffed by three pharmacists and will conform to the Kinsel tradition of providing a wide variety of services and drug items, St. Henry pointed out. A major feature will be three large refrigerator units.

The fountain has a capacity for 32 persons and besides the usual fountain services will offer plate lunches and fresh pies daily. A special carry-out counter is also among the store's features.

Extensive use of fluorescent lighting has been made throughout the building.

The staff of 35 will be headed by Manager Carroll R. Smith, a veteran of 20 years with the firm and formerly manager of its store at Seven Mile Road and Gratiot Avenue. Wayne Loveland has been named assistant manager.

Store hours will be from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Wednesday; from 8 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday.

The building was formerly occupied by Walgreens whose 20-year lease expired Feb. 1. The location is owned by the Buckner Finance Co. of Pontiac.

Kinsels has been in operation for 67 years and has 23 other stores in the Southeastern Michigan area.

A survey shows that nearly 98 per cent of New England's farms have electricity.

District 7 Vote Monday to End Primary Deadlock

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in the series of seven articles on the 14 City Commission candidates and their statements submitted to The Press. One candidate from each of the seven districts will be elected Monday to serve a 1956-57 term on the City Commission.

DISTRICT 7

A rare deadlock resulting from the March 5 primary balloting, will be decided Monday when voters of this district choose between former commissioner Benjamin M. Gates and Gilbert W. Long.

After a recount requested by another candidate in the district, both candidates had gathered an even 353 votes each in the primary.

District 7, located in the city's southeast corner, is the only district where the incumbent declined re-election. Commissioner Harry W. Lutz turned down seeking a second term.

Gates, 63, of 389 Whittemore St., represented District 7 from 1946 to 1950 and in May 1951, was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Commissioner Neil J. Elliott.

He served his third term after being elected in 1952 but was defeated by Lutz in the 1954 balloting. He is in the sheet metal department of GMC Truck and Coach Division.

Long, 41, of 139 Prospect St., is a native of Pontiac and was educated at Pontiac High School.

He was employed for 15 years by Fisher Body and the Yellow Truck and Coach Co. before he became a real estate and insurance salesman in the city.

Voters in District 7 will mark an "X" for either Gates or Long on their ballot Monday.

Statements submitted by both to The Press follow:

GILBERT W. LONG

"As a lifelong resident of Pontiac, I have a vital concern for many problems facing our city as a whole, and our district in particular. The following are a few of the more important issues:

"Public housing projects are a perennial problem, and as such, I am opposed to the creation of any such units in District 7.

"Nuisances created by industrial and commercial plants have long been neglected. These nuisances depreciate property value of our homes, causing undue hardship. Consequently, vigorous steps should be taken to eliminate these problems.

"A strong capital improvement program for our whole city is wise, and should be continued on a pay-as-you-go policy.

"Nothing can be gained by further expansion of the liquor business in Pontiac. Lastly, I feel that honesty and integrity are of paramount importance in all phases of city government."

BENJAMIN M. GATES

"I was in favor of the recently accepted municipal parking lots, and further believe that with a reasonable expenditure, Murphy Park could take its place as one of the most beautiful parks in Michigan.

"I also believe in the development of a Civic Center centered around the new City Hall and a pay-as-you-go program as far as possible for the general improvement for the whole of Pontiac.

"I further believe that all possible haste should be made in the completition of the addition to Pontiac General Hospital.

"It is my belief that public housing should be made available only after private building has failed to provide the necessary housing for the city and its residents."

Largest bats in the world are found in the Old World tropics. They have a wingspread of about five feet and are called "flying foxes."

baby sitters who rescued his four brothers and sisters from a fire started by explosion of a faulty space heater were unable to reach him through the flames.

PARENTS BOWLING

The children were under the care of Eileen Wilson, 17, and Jane Lafferty, 19, both of Waterford Township, while their parents were bowling.

The girls told Waterford Township firemen the oil heater had gone out earlier in the evening. Two visiting boys, Eddie and Buster Farnsworth, filled it with oil obtained at a nearby gas station, they said, and then left the house.

Firemen said the ensuing explosion ignited a flat pan of oil on the floor, placed to catch drippings from the faulty carburetor.

The two girls and neighbors managed to save four of the five children from the flames, but were unable to get to the baby's bedroom through the fire of the heater, located near the bedroom door.

HOME LEVELED

The converted garage was leveled at a total loss of $3,500, firemen said.

Debra Everett, who apparently suffocated in blankets in her crib, was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital after firemen worked 32 minutes with a resuscitator in an attempt to revive her.

Edward J. Winters died in the fire which damaged the house of Mrs. Iva Buehler, his employer, last night in Troy. Troy firemen said Mrs. Buehler, now in Florida, is owner of the Salt Water Pool on Rochester Road.

Until recently, firemen said, Winters was employed tending the frozen food lockers operated in conjunction with the swimming pool.

POLICE SPOT BLAZE

Troy patrolmen Eugene Sackner and William Renshaw, on patrol last night, first saw smoke and fire in the house at 3:30 this morning. They were unable to get in.

Firemen found Winters lying at the bottom of the stairs of the two-story bungalow. He was dead of suffocation on arrival at William Beaumont Hospital.

Fire Chief Ray Gratopp said the house's interior was badly charred, but had no damage estimate yet.

About $50 worth of electric cable was reported stolen Wednesday from a building under construction at 490 S. Telegraph Rd., according to Pontiac police.

A construction company official said the cable taken was in two lengths, 300 feet and 50 feet, they said.

reportedly slipped from a truck during a sharp turn near the area this morning although the driver was quick to assure spectators that he was not dumping milk.

Brighton State Police Post said a tanker driven by Alton Greenhough of Carson City was stopped on U.S. 16, just north of Brighton this morning by two carloads of pickets. Officers said the pickets took Greenhough's keys away from him and tried to open the truck's spigots.

Police stopped the men and, after some discussion, the driver headed back to Carson City.

CONTINUE PROTEST

Some 450 farmer members of the FSBA met in Imlay City last night and voted to continue picketing in the Detroit area until their demands for a $2.09 price hike per hundredweight of milk are met.

The strikers agreed, however, to permit the huge Michigan Milk Producers Assn. plant at Imlay City to process 700,000 pounds of milk currently held in tank trucks at the trouble spot.

Threatened strike action by the powerful Michigan Milk Producers Assn. was headed off today by four Detroit area dairies, officials of which agreed to theMMPA's demand for a boost of 59 cents a hundredweight of milk.

According to MMPA leaders, the four include the Detroit Creamery, Bordens, Twin Pines and Ira Wilson & Sons. The pact is not expected to affect the Fair Share demand for an increase of $2.09.

Deputy sheriffs from 14 counties, including four from Oakland, were reinforced in the Imlay City area last night by 50 state troopers who were instructed by Gov. G. Mennen Williams to "give all necessary aid to the sheriff in maintaining law and order."

The local law officers abandoned plans to escort the 17-truck convoy to Detroit last night when law enforcement leaders decided to wait for a court order.

Pickets at Romeo, where the Fair Share protest began Monday, reportedly had not appeared at the milk depot there by 10:30 this morning.

The Fair Share group's approval of processing at Imlay City was spearheaded by Leader Sam Bailo who said later that much of the milk will be permitted to go to the Detroit area for children and sick persons.

The Detroit Board of Health has begun tentative plans to distribute emergency supplies to hospitals, children and expectant mothers. FSBA officials said earlier that special efforts will be made to insure emergency supplies.

The Fair Share group, made up largely of rebel MMPA members, has reportedly asked the State Labor Mediation Board to conduct an election for bargaining rights between the FSBA and the MMPA.

Arnold J. Weiss, FSBA leader from Capac, told a Press reporter last night that the insurgents now

If the FSBA demands are met, the price of milk to the householder could jump more than four cents a quart, according to a creamery spokesman. The MMPA request would probably mean a boost of about one cent. The current price paid to farmers for their milk is $4.41 a hundredweight.

Standard milk now retails generally for 22 cents a quart in stores; 23 cents delivered.

Businessmen Attend Breakfast at City YMCA

Some 105 Pontiac businessmen turned out this morning at the YMCA for the Fourth Annual Good Friday breakfast.

Representing all city churches, the group constituted the largest turnout for this annual event sponsored by the YMCA Christian Emphasis Committee.

Dr. H. H. Savage was the speaker, City Commissioner Floyd P. Miles gave the invocation, and Rev. Duncan McColl gave the benediction after the group participated in group singing after the breakfast.

The Day in Birmingham

Special Music, Services Scheduled by Churches

BIRMINGHAM — Special music, baptisms, and services are slated, as local churches mark the Crucifixion of Christ in religious observances.

At Holy Name Church, the Pope's decree that services follow more closely the actual time of the happenings commemorated has created many new customs.

Last night, a 7 p.m. service, marked the hour of the Last Supper. Thereafter, adoration of the Blessed Sacrament that was exposed on the altar lasted all night and until noon today, with parish men taking the all-night vigil in turns.

Holy Name's members tonight will keep another vigil from 10:45 p.m. until a midnight Mass, both services revived after centuries of disuse. Another first was today's Good Friday Communion. It followed the moon to 3 p.m. service.

Protestants attended the united services at First Baptist Church, where ministers and choirs joined forces for the music and worship service of three hours. Also held were a one-hour service at Embury Methodist Church and Our Shepherd Lutheran Church and Children's Service from 2 to 3 p.m. at St. James Episcopal Church.

Tonight, Stainer's "Crucifixion" will be sung at an 8 p.m. service at Our Shepherd Church.

Baptisms are slated in an Easter Eve Service tomorrow at 4 p.m. at St. James Church.

State Man Indicted in Air Force Dupe

CHICAGO (AP)—A Federal Grand Jury yesterday indicted a Michigan man, who, authorities said, used stolen air force documents in an attempt to land a classified job.

John Walter Gilmore Jr., 24, son of a Detroit attorney, was charged with stealing two Air Force documents, one of them classified as confidential, and a check.

The indictment charges him with stealing and receiving property of the United States government and transporting a stolen government document in interstate commerce. Gilmore now is serving a 3½ year sentence in the federal penitentiary at Terre Haute, Ind. He had pleaded guilty in Detroit to a mail fraud charge.

Loot Vending Machine in Area Gas Station

Thieves who broke into a gas station at Maybee and Sashabaw Roads, Independence Township, last night took an undetermined amount of money from the cigarette machine, owner Joe Perry told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies.

Deputies said the robbers apparently ignored display counters and cash register.

Ruth Roman Receives Divorce, Son's Custody

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — "He told me I was stupid and said he wished he never married me," testified actress Ruth Roman in winning a divorce from Mortimer Hall, Los Angeles radio station owner.

Superior Judge Walter H. Odemar granted the decree yesterday on grounds of mental cruelty. Miss Roman received custody of the couple's son, Richard, 3, and $500 a month for his support. They were married in 1950.

Fire Attacks Store in Drayton Plains

Fire swept through a beer store at 6275 Dixie Hwy. this morning after a gas furnace reportedly exploded about 10:45. The blaze did extensive damage to the store's interior and threatened a cleaning establishment next door.

The fire started in the basement of the Drayton Beer Store, according to Proprietor John D. Ikovides who was alone in the store.

The Drayton Cleaners, located next door, was evacuated by firemen from the Waterford Fire Dept. when it appeared that the flames might spread.

The exterior of the structure was reportedly not damaged.

Pharmaceutical Unit to Convene in Detroit

Nearly 2,000 members of the pharmaceutical profession are expected to convene in Detroit April 8 for the 103rd national convention of the American Pharmaceutical Ass'n.

More than 185 papers will be read to the convention in scientific discussions between educators, research experts, law enforcement officials, practitioners and manufacturers associated with the field.

Among convention highlights will be addresses by Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Dr. Harlan Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan.

Thousands Walk in Annual Good Friday Procession

Pilgrims in Jerusalem Retrace Way of the Cross

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector (AP)—Thousands of persons gathered today in the Old City of Jerusalem to retrace the Way of the Cross in the annual Good Friday pilgrimage.

The winding route of the massive procession follows the path from the place of Christ's trial to his tomb. It was another major event in the pre-Easter observance which began Palm Sunday.

Casting ominous overtones over the celebration were the Israeli-Arab tensions starkly represented by the division of this old holy city.

Guns along the frontier dividing the city between Israel and Jordan were stilled. But some Holy Week observances were curtailed, and residents of Arab Jerusalem complained that war jitters had kept visitors away. Hotel facilities were booked solid from yesterday through Eastern Sunday in the Old City but the extra accomodations required in past years were not needed this Easter season.

* * *

The chief Easter sites are on the Arab side of the line dividing Jerusalem, but a ceremony commemorating the Last Supper had to stop short last night because of the division of the city. Normally a procession of Christians goes from St. Saviour's Church inside the old walled city to Cenacle, the site of the upper room where Christ ate his last meal with his disciples. Cenacle is on the Israeli side, however, and the pilgrimage went only as far as St. Mark's Church inside the Arab Christian quarter.

* * *

Starting point on the Way of the Cross is the courtyard of a Moslem school, the site where Christ was condemned by Pontius Pilate. The second of 14 hallowed spots along the route is the place where Christ received the cross. Others commemorate his struggle beneath the weight of the cross, the place where tradition holds that his mother watched him pass, and the long ascent to Calvary.

* * *

From the place where the body was taken from the cross, the route leads to the Holy Sepulcher. A symbolic service tonight will carry out the burial of a statue of Christ in the Holy Sepulcher.

The Great Salt Lake in Utah and the Dead Sea both are saltier than the oceans of the world.

Spanish Pretender's Son Killed by Gun

ESTORIL, Portugal (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Prince Alfonso of Bourbon, younger son of the pretender to the Spanish throne, was killed last night when a pistol he was cleaning discharged accidentally.

An announcement from the royal house of Bourbon said the bullet struck the young prince in the forehead and he died within minutes. Funeral services will be held Saturday.

Alfonso's older brother, Prince Juan Carlos, has the support of Gen. Francisco Franco in a move to return a monarch to the Spanish throne.

India to Begin Economic Plan

Needed: Over 1 Billion Dollars for 2nd Five Year Project, April 1

NEW DELHI (AP)—On April 1 India embarks on its second five year plan, a 15 billion dollar offensive against the poverty and unemployment which have plagued this country for centuries.

The economic development scheme is getting underway in an atmosphere of hope and doubt. The doubt is generated largely by the success of the first five year plan. The doubt resides in India's need to find more than a billion and a half dollars in foreign assistance.

Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's government has set two main objectives for the second five year plan: an increase of about 25 per cent in national income, and the creation of at least 10 million new jobs.

Nehru's government, hard pressed to raise these sums, is planning higher taxes, export drives, public loans and possibly compulsory savings. The government has frankly told the Indian people that the drive for economic development will be a hard one.

Foreign assistance remains a big question. India needs large sums of foreign exchange to buy heavy machinery abroad. Even if it raises all the rupee resources required, the Indian government can fail in its plan if it doesn't get the necessary foreign help.

During the first five year plan, India received some aid from the United States, Colombo plan and other foreign donors. American circles here think the second five year plan will get no more than about $500,000,000 from the United States and perhaps $100,000,000 or less from other western countries.

* * *

This would leave a gap of more than $1,000,000,000, a gap capable of setting the plan back a year or two. There are many rumors that Russia might step in to assist India; but there is no concrete evidence that Moscow will or that India is anxious to accept such large scale aid from a Communist country.

An atmosphere too thin to transmit sound waves adequately is found at a distance of approximately 1,000 miles above the earth's surface.

Both Sides Owe Public Milk Price Agreement

Any doubt about the threat of a milk strike to Pontiac and the metropolitan area has ended.

It vanished in the heat of two developments. One was the picketing of additional dairies here by the Fair Share Bargaining Association. The other was announcement by the Michigan Milk Producers Association that unless its demand is met by Sunday, it will call a strike of 12,600 members.

★ ★ ★

Thus, as so often happens in disputes of this kind, the consumers who pay the freight are caught in the middle between two clashing forces. On the one side are two groups of producers, the first demanding $6.50 a hundred and the second $5 a hundred for milk. On the other side are the processors presently paying $4.41 for top grade milk.

★ ★ ★

The Press isn't taking sides in this dispute. We don't pretent to know the complicated issues underlying it. But we do know that producers and processors owe it to the consumers to do everything possible to avert a paralyzing milk strike.

It also is our conviction that any settlement unfair to the public would react in the long run to the disadvantage of both producers and processors.

Survey Shows Strength of GOP Lies in Cities

A careful analysis of the Nation's 435 House districts throws some new light on factors that will help shape the next Congress.

At present 203 House seats are held by Republicans and 232 by Democrats. Of the GOP's seats 27 are rural, 63 small town, 56 mid-urban and 57 metropolitan. Sixty-one of the Democrats' seats are rural, 47 small town, 39 mid-urban and 85 metropolitan.

Thus the survey by Congressional Quarterly shows that despite the politicians' interest in the farm vote, voters in cities of 50,000 or more will determine which party will control the 85th Congress.

★ ★

A rural and metropolitan district alignment provides the Democrats with their strength. In the South they hold 110 of the 120 districts. Seventy-two of the 85 metropolitan districts held by them are concentrated in northern big city areas. Thus, of the 218 votes necessary for a majority, Democrats hold 182 seats by virtue of the south and northern metropolitan district alignment.

★ ★ ★

A fact of outstanding importance to the Republicans revealed by the survey is that the greatest source of GOP strength lies in small and medium sized cities not in agricultural areas as has been generally supposed.

Equally interesting, in 1952 and 1954 alike, the GOP won a majority of seats in small city and mid-urban districts. Also, outside the heavily Democratic South, Republicans hold four-fifths of the small town districts.

Automation's Challenge

One of the current problems of deep concern to all workers is what effect steady growth of automation will have on employment in the United States.

There naturally has been fear in some quarters that this new automatic machinery would displace a lot of workers. But, happily, there also is ever-increasing opinion that automation in the long run will create more new jobs than it abolishes.

The undeniable fact is that this latest phase of our continuing industrial revolution is going to call for many adjustments. That is why the way a St. Louis union is facing the challenge of automation is so interesting.

Instead of fighting it, officers of Local 1 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers decided to help their members profit from it. To that end they have organized what they call a postgraduate school to train members for the new kinds of jobs that automation will create.

The reaction of the membership was heartening. Four hundred immediately signed up for three year courses and now are attending 38 different classes four nights a week.

We share the belief of Local 1 that its example will be followed widely by other unions in the electrical industry. It also is our conviction that if the attitudes of unions in other fields are as sensible, the problems born of automation eventually will disappear.

It seems that those who live in areas that have been flooded feel entirely certain after each inundation that another one will never happen.

Alterations Going On During Business

David Lawrence Says:

Ike Is Maintaining Moderate Direction in Cleaning Up South's Racial Muddle

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is deeply concerned—in fact, very much worried—about the emotional disturbance in America today over the problem of racial segregation in the public schools. He talks a good deal about it to some of his visitors.

He tries in an unspectacular and earnest way to encourage a public understanding of the issues involved, in the hope that there will be no outbursts of passion or violence. He believes the churches can do a great deal toward this end. He is well aware of the complexities of the issue and doesn't believe the solution is simple or easy to achieve.

There's something innately conciliatory about Eisenhower's whole personality. It is his nature to search for ways to unite human beings who hold conflicting views or who nurture deep-seated prejudices against one another. All his life that's been dominant in his makeup because he maintains an abiding faith in the power of human love in the world to reconcile differences between groups within a single nation as well as between nations.

SEES MIDDLE COURSE

Eisenhower has always been convinced that, where there are extremes in a controversy, there is a middle way. Sometimes this is called "moderation," but even that word sounds like "compromise" to those who are sincerely convinced of the absolute correctness of their own legal or moral position.

The President, however, is more inclined to approach questions of a highly controversial nature with the thought that it is a condition and not a theory which often confronts the government. Thus, he realizes that as President he is charged with upholding the Constitution, but this doesn't necessarily mean that the only way available to him to uphold it is to use force. The mere mention of coercion only serves to inflame many citizens who believe that a law which rests on force alone can never be accepted as morally right.

Thus, it may be that the South, by majority vote of the people of each state, will choose to separate the sexes in the schools so as to meet to some extent the fears about social mixing and intermarriage. It may be that the Southern States will consider leasing some of their public-school buildings to private organizations and let the people decide whether to send their children to mixed public schools or to segregated private schools.

UNSETTLED LEGAL BARBS

There are lots and lots of legal questions which have yet to be settled, and the important factor is time — to avoid precipitating emotional clashes while the American method of rational and nonviolent solution of difficult questions is in process.

Many Americans in the North have forgotten what "force" meant before. Mention of the possible use of "force" brings up bitter memories to the South. Arthur Krock, writing in the New York Times the other day, said:

"A common impression is that slavery was abolished after Appomattox without difficulty. Actually, slavery was made unconstitutional, not by a Supreme Court decision with this effect, but by a constitutional amendment submitted, after the House once declined to approve it, in January 1865. Even then only twenty-three states of the required twenty-five ratified, Kentucky and Delaware rejecting, and the amendment became effective only through the action of provisional governments, put and held in office by the Union Army, in disenfranchised states of the beaten Confederacy."

For many decades the Supreme Court has held that, as long as equal facilities for education were provided by the states, they could be separate.

But now nine men in the Supreme Court say the other judges in the past were wrong, and that segregation by race in public schools violates the Fourteenth Amendment which guarantees "equal protection of the laws" to everybody. Has "equal protection" been achieved by separate but equal educational facilities or does it mean only compulsory integration? Merely to state the problem is to show how far from simple it is.

It is easy enough to say that the Supreme Court now has decided it and that all must obey. But obey what? How shall "integration" be carried out? What are its limitations? That's why the Supreme Court left all questions to be worked out in individual cases in the lower courts. This will take time.

Meanwhile, Eisenhower's role will not be to use or to threaten force but to try to bring about in an orderly way an adaptation of the school question to the circumstances which are faced in the South. His whole concern now is how to lessen the tension between the races that has risen as never before to plague the people who for generations have lived amicably together.

Basal Metabolism Tests Seldom of Great Value

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

When I tell you that I have yet to learn of an instance in which a basal metabolism test has proved of greater advantage to the patient than an ordinary physical examination by a real doctor, you may conclude, if you wish that I'm ignorant.

The machine or gadget used for making an estimate (called measurement only by courtesy) of the metabolism rate looks scientific to the cash customers, but according to Du Bois (special article on Calories in Medical Practice, J A M A 8-8-'42) measurement of the metabolism rate with the metabolimeter is subject to an unavoidable margin of error amounting to 5 or 10 per cent.

"One book on metabolism ends with this sentence," said Dr. DuBois: " 'God forbid that we make or diagnose by machinery'."

Another authority (Barnes) reported in the same medical journal (8-1-'42) that in a thousand cases the basal temperature test proved a better index for thyroid therapy than the basal metabolism test.

The other day a lady complained that "although my B. M. R. has been anywhere from minus — to minus — physicians seem to be afraid to use thyroid therapy . . ."

If thyroid therapy is not the purpose of a basal metabolism test—as Dr. Du Bois said: "It must be admitted that basal metabolism tests are seldom of great value except in the diagnosis and treatment of diseases of the thyroid glands."

The lady asked whether I know what happens to hypothyroids after the wonderful machine has shown their minus metabolism to the satisfaction of the various trick specialists or "clinic" racketeers. She asks only rhetorically. Then she gives the answer:

"We are subjected to all kinds of X-rays, surgery and painful treatment, and in the end passed off as chronic complainers. It seems that hypothyroidism would be a comparatively simple thing to treat, but . . . "

From the lady's description one might guess the attendants in the "clinic" get the nod from the head man, seize the customer bodily and force him or her through the works.

But that is ridiculous. The probability is that the lady was eager to have all the extra tests and treatments.

As the lady surmises, hypothyroidism is indeed a comparatively simple thing to treat—for a doctor who does his own thinking.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'Magazine Article Gives Tax Facts for This Area'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

In a current national magazine there is printed an article entitled, "Do Our Income Tax Exemptions Make Sense?" The author, Stanley S. Surrey, has pinpointed the dangers to our country if we allow the present inequitable laws to stay on our books.

If this article were reviewed, I am sure that income tax law revision would become a major issue among the candidates for political office from this district.

The citizens of this community should be enlightened to the fact that the present income tax law with its method of taxation makes this area the favorite hunting ground of the income tax collector.

This community, with its high total payroll, is entitled to know how it is being victimized and what we as a group can do to remedy the situation so that we pay a FAIR share.

A.J.H. Volunteers Report on Club for Older People

A little over a year ago, there was much ado in the paper about a club being formed for lonely widows and widowers living in the Oakland County area.

Perhaps at this date some readers might like to know how it turned out.

There are between 60 and 75 members turning out each Tuesday night. We meet at the Malta Temple at 82 Perkins St. For a year the club was run by a very fine woman whose only reason for leaving recently was to get married.

The president now is well-known all over the United States for her kindness and friendliness to other people. Her travels have helped her to understand the needs of older folks. Through her efforts last week the group was entertained by a floor show, and a mystery trip into Canada is being planned for April 20.

It's a clean and fine-looking group of people, and for an older man, my being a member has cheered me no end.

New Red Leaders Drop Stalin's Policy in Mideast

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

The new Kremlin leaders not only are junking the demigod myth of Stalin, but also some of the late dictator's policies, especially in the Soviet drive in the Middle East.

Reports from Cairo quote Western diplomatic informants as estimating there are more than 500 Communist "traveling salesmen" scurrying around Egypt alone.

Some officially are listed as "cultural emissaries" while others are articulate, party-line members who speak perfect Arabic.

Policy changed with a rush last year when the Soviet bloc found a ready partner in Egyptian Premier Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser.

AMBITIOUS MAN

Nasser is ambitious. He wants Egypt to lead the Arab world, which is badly split ordinarily but united in its hatred of Israel. Nasser also saw a chance to play off East against West and therefore get aid from both, which he is doing.

The Soviet trade and political drive followed the Czech-Egyptian arms deal, a transaction that was well timed by Moscow.

Egyptian-Israeli tension had reached an acute stage last September. The Arab League was torn by bitter quarrels. Turkey was wrestling with an economic crisis. The British troops were geting out of the Suez Canal Zone, to go to Cyprus, another hotbed of trouble.

The Soviets not only agreed to give arms to Egypt but also offered them to Saudi Arabia, Syria and Afghanistan. Moscow also renewed diplomatic relations with Saudi Arabia and revived an old pact with Yemen, which hates the British.

Russia's trade offensive, of course, has swept far afield from the desert countries, to India and Burma, and into Africa, where nationilism also is flourishing.

VERY RICH STAKES

The stakes are very rich. Africa below the Sahara produces 98 per cent of the world's diamonds, and 60 per cent of uranium, the ingredient for atomic bombs and nuclear energy.

President Eisenhower is seeking congressional approval for nearly five billion dollars worth of aid for foreign countries in an effort to combat the Soviet drive.

Despite Western economic strength, the Soviets and their satellites have attractive offers to make: Long-term agreements, easy credit facilities and hundreds of specially trained technical experts.

A major objective credited to Moscow is to control eventually the export market of key nations. Political infiltration then will be easier.

Crane Says Due to Occasional Offense, All of Us Must Guard Against Halitosis

Most of you readers offend people at one time or another because we are all in the same boat with Alma. But some folks chronically have her fault. So eliminate the cause as far as possible. then use mints or gum. If you speak or sing a great deal, be doubly on guard. And if you can't rate a second date, maybe this is the reason why!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case R-317: Alma F., aged 27, sings in a church choir.

"Dr. Crane, I've been dating Alma for over a year," a high school teacher of the same town informed me recently.

"And she is a wonderful girl, except for one fault. She has halitosis!

"It is especially bad after she has been singing. And I don't know how to mention this personal flaw.

"It rebuffs me when I think about kissing her. Alma imagines I am rather cold emotionally, but it isn't coldness on my part but her unpleasant breath. What can I do?"

HALITOSIS

Bad breath is due to many causes but people who speak or sing are often its victims.

So clergymen and choir members should be doubly on guard since this is one of those intimate personal flaws about which even your best friends hesitate to comment.

Salesmen, too, are frequently in this category. And elderly folks often offend for the same reason. Barbers and dentists, who exhale within a few inches of their clients' faces, must also be trebly on guard.

In a survey I made of dental patients, halitosis was cited as one of the big reasons why a patient quit one dentist and patronized another.

* * *

Foul breath likewise stems from tobacco and liquor and onions, garlic or similar odorous foods, among which is strong cheese.

Ozena is an inflammation of the nose which results in foul breath and this is a common cause of halitosis in older folks. Decayed teeth also are a frequent factor.

BREATHE SWEETLY

Dehydration (lack of fluid input) may accentuate foul breath so drink freely, unless you are on that 10-day dehydration diet which I prescribe.

If your halitosis stems from onions, garlic, tobacco, etc., then avoid these when you go on a date.

Garlic and onions may still show on your breath for many hours after eating, so better avoid them for at least 24 hours prior to your date.

After you have corrected the cause of your bad breath, then resort to flavored chewing gum or candy mints, etc., as a means of masking the unpleasant mouth odor.

And if you don't know how to broach this subject of halitosis to a victim thereof, here is one case where you can profitably clip this Case Record and mail it anonymously to the victim in a plain envelope.

For thousands of people have foul breath at least after heavy use of the voice, yet don't dream they are offending their companions.

They can't remedy the matter till they are made aware of it, so you really do them a good turn by bringing it to their attention, even anonymously via a letter.

EXTROVERT ATTENTION

After illness or a long night's sleep, the throat may also be unusually dry and thus radiate bad breath, so nobody is wholly inoffensive.

When you brush your teeth, therefore, always brush your tongue, too, for this removes the "fuzzy" coating thereof in the morning, which contains white corpusles and other dead cells that should be swept out.

Decaying food in the crypts of tonsils likewise contributes to halitosis.

But don't permit yourself to become so introspective you can't forget yourself.

Join the "Compliment Club" and turn your attention upon other people—after you have reduced your bad breath and then used gum or mints to cover up the remaining slight odor.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Lenten Guideposts — Discovery at Oak Ridge

Agnostic Finds Science and Religion Compatible

By LEN LESOURD
Managing Editor, Guideposts Magazine

William Pollard was a typical college graduate of 1932 — cocky, bright-eyed with ambition.

POLLARD

Science, he felt was the vehicle of sure dependable knowledge that would eventually produce the good life for all. Religion — fairy tale stuff. Pollard called himself an agnostic.

Dr. William Pollard climbed high in his profession. He helped produce the atom bomb, becoming Director of the Institute of Nuclear Studies at Oak Ridge. But if this brash 1932 graduate could have foreseen a newspaper story about himself 22 years later, he would have been stunned.

"Oak Ridge, Tennessee, May 1, 1945—Dr. Pollard, physicist who helped developed the atom bomb, was ordained a priest in the Protestant Episcopal Church here today, with his four sons, ages 13-19, serving as acolytes . . ."

What happened?

STILL A SCIENTIST

Dr. Pollard didn't abandon science for religion. He is still vitally absorbed in atomic research.

Soon after graduation young Pollard got a graduate fellowship at Rice University and married attractive Marcella Hamilton. Three months after the wedding, Marcella asked him pointedly to go to a Sunday morning service with her.

"I'm sorry, Marcella but I have more important work," he said.

In 1944 Pollard went to Columbia University to do research on the gaseous-diffusion method of extracting U-235 (the explosive in atomic bombs) from common uranium.

The atom bomb was exploded. Then Pollard became immersed in a whole wave of reflections as he saw the infinite potentialities of atom power.

At this moment came the first grave doubts that man could, through science, control his own destiny.

Dr. Pollard became executive director of the Institute of Nuclear Studies at Oak Ridge in 1947.

* * *

Services of the local Episcopal Church were held in the high school gymnasium. One Sunday Pollard casually asked the minister about the possibilities of a real church building. Result — he was asked to head up the building fund drive. Reluctantly, he agreed.

Then the Sunday School superintendent left to study for the ministry. Would Dr. Pollard take his place? How could he refuse! He had four sons going to Sunday School.

Sunday School work became so fascinating that Pollard spent many hours of study in the library so he would be able to answer the youngsters' questions.

Later, somewhat hesitantly, Pollard agreed to become a lay reader.

"Each of these steps seemed temporary," Pollard recalls. "I expected at any moment that my interest would cool or that I'd find something in religion I couldn't swallow as a scientist."

While saying the prayers, Pollard wondered about their origin. This drew him into a reading program and a thorough study of the Bible. He found it absorbing.

It was then pointed out to him that the duties of a deacon in the Episcopal church were only slightly greater than a lay reader's. A deacon can assist at Holy Communion, and if licensed by the bishop, give sermons.

Pollard was attracted by the idea of planning his religious studies as he did his scientific work. He developed a plan to do both.

* * *

Meanwhile, what conflicts between scientific and theological points filled Pollard's mind?

"I expected these to occur as I approached each new phase of theology," he said. "But I found nothing in my studies that belittled the importance and need for science. Actually I began to lay a new foundation of thinking about the universe.

VITAL DECISION

Pollard's five-year term as executive director of the Institute of Nuclear Studies was up in 1952. Before the board (a group of nine distinguished educators and scientists) met to consider his reappointment, Pollard knew he had to make a personal decision.

At the meeting, he spoke his convictions frankly to members of the board.

"There's something you ought to know," he told them. "In two weeks I'll be taking my examination for ordination in the Episcopal Church. If I am ordained, I do not think it will in any way affect my direction of the Institute. I do not want to leave the Institute, but I'll certainly understand it if you ask me to."

They asked him to leave the room. In five minutes he was called back. They had voted Pollard a new five-year term and a raise in salary.

When Pollard was ordained as full Episcopal priest in May, 1954, the transformation of an agnostic was complete. The curious attitude had become wholly dedicated.

Anthem for Easter

Today is Good Friday, when Christ was crucified, and many people are gathering in the churches all over our land to observe it. There are special services with music, and where there is a vested choir, boy singers with fine voices take part.

Here is such a singer for you to color. If there is a vested choir in your church you will see what is worn. Be sure to look at the brilliantly colored stained glass windows. These are many pieces of glass in many colors put together into designs and separated with bands of lead which hold the colored glass pieces in place.

Have you an idea for Junior Editors? Send it in care of this newspaper and if it is usable, it will bring you $10.

THE BERRYS By Carl Grubert

It'll Take at Least Decade Before Stalin Myth Fades

MOSCOW (INS) — Communist sources in Moscow said today it may take ten years to whittle down to life size the imposing image of Stalin created in the minds of the Russian people by the late dictator.

The Kremlin's campaign to remove relics of the "cult of personality" from the Soviet scene was expected to be intensified as a result of yesterday's Pravda article criticizing the aura of infallibility that had surrounded Stalin.

But the Communist party newspaper itself warned that haste would be improper in this "great and complicated task," thus indicating that the re-evaluation of Stalin will be a gradual process.

LITTLE STIR IN MOSCOW

The Pravda article caused little surprise in Moscow, where for weeks there have been unofficial reports that Stalin was being removed from his super pedestal alongside Marx and Lenin.

Larger crowds than usual were gathered at the Lenin-Stalin mausoleum in Red Square, but they appeared interested mostly in when and how they could enter.

The mausoleum was opened for three hours last evening for holders of tickets issued in factories and district councils.

A line a half-mile long wound around the square as ticket holders moved slowly to get a two-minute glimpse of Lenin and Stalin, whose bodies still lie side by side in the mausoleum.

Statues of Stalin can still be seen in many places, his pictures are displayed in shops and public places and his books and pamphlets are offered in bookstores.

But, a well-informed source said that all these relics will gradually disappear.

At the entrance to the Lenin museum where formerly stood twin statues of Lenin and Stalin, the Lenin statue now stands alone.

Blizzard Halts Ore Shipments on Lakes

CLEVELAND (AP) — A shipping official says a blizzard this week in the upper Great Lakes area will delay the opening of the 1956 iron ore hauling season until at least next Monday.

Donald C. Potts, president of U.S. Steel Corp's. Pittsburgh steamship division, said that before the blizzard he had hoped to start operation this Saturday with the firm's fleet of 59 vessels.

Potts had intended to make an aerial survey of ice conditions on the lakes today. Now, he said, the survey has been postponed until Monday.

About 122,000 U.S. women work in airplane manufacturing.

Eisenhowers Planning Easter at White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower plan to spend Easter at the White House.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, disclosing this today, said he did not know yet whether the Eisenhowers would make an appearance at the annual Easter Monday egg rolling on the White House grounds.

There had been some expectation the first family might spend Easter at their Gettysburg, Pa., farm but Hagerty said there are no travel plans for the weekend.

Operation Deepfreeze Outwits Problems

(The U. S. Navy expedition to the Antarctic has left two groups of hardy Americans to spend the winter at the frozen bottom of the world. Here, by a correspondent who has just returned to the U. S., is the second of two articles on the conditions they face.)

By WARREN E. WATSON
INS Special Correspondent

The men left behind to winter on Antarctica have waffle-weave longjohns, thermal boots and windbreaker blouses that remind them of the far-away fair sex.

In well-heated, well-insulated barracks at Little America V and Hut Point on McMurdo Sound the four scientists with about 104 other men, mainly Seabees are waiting out the winter to begin next year's phase of the 1956-57 International Geophysical Year.

During the summer, when the men on Operation Deepfreeze unloaded supplies and built the bases, the mercury stayed around 22 degrees above zero with a cutting 20-mile-an-hour wind. But now, as winter sets in, the mercury will get down to 50 or 60 below zero, and the wind will pick up.

DEHYDRATED FOODS SERVED

Food was a problem throughout the nine hectic weeks of building and supplying the two camps from seven ships taking part in the operation.

* * *

Some hard-working Seabees dined on healthful but not too well-liked dehydrated dinners and emergency, pre-cooked rations.

But the food stocked for those who are wintering on the world's last unexplored continent is the Navy's best grade.

Perhaps the most important piece of personal equipment this winter in Antarctica—summer in the U. S.—will be dark glasses.

The snow glare is unbelievably strong and dangerous. Eyes must be protected against the brilliant, diffused reflection which can make men blind.

* * *

Sun and wind turn men's faces brown in a day, chap the skin and blister the lips.

STANDARD CAPS ISSUED

The standard issue cap is a broad-visored ski type, lined with fleece, water repellent and equipped with ear flaps.

First line of defense against the wind is a closely knit, loose fitting, unlined two-piece cloth suit. Elastics seal wrist and ankle openings. The hood can be drawn around the face, with only sun glasses and cap visor poking out in the chill wind.

Beneath, the wintering Antarctic American has a choice of two types of jackets and trousers.

The so-called A-2s are lightweight nylon, fleece-lined, wind and water repellent. The trousers are shaped like leggings.

The A-1s are for colder weather, with thicker insulation.

Never reached by the bite of the wind are the long drawers. They are made in a "waffle-weave" with indentations that capture the body's heat. This "waffle-weave" demonstrates the theory behind modern Antarctic clothing: Keep the heat in and the wind out with light layers and design rather than the loads of heavy clothing.

FOOT PROTECTION GOOD

From the inside out, the foot is first protected with a standard cotton-wool seamless sock with a cushion sole. The thermal boot itself is designed to seal in heat so well that, so long as the wearer walks, his feet will not freeze.

The boot itself is rubber, and has soft, inch-thick soles. Laces draw firmly over the instep.

The standard windbreaker blouse has a handy attachment for carrying such articles as lightmeters, spare films, pencil and paper, gloves, the ever-present sunglass case and other items.

But it has one disadvantage. Well-stuffed, the carrying case bulges forward and brings critical comments from "comedians" with undimmed memories of far distant females.

State Women Unite

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan's women's organizations will be invited to meet at Michigan State University in June to formalize a Michigan council of state women's organizations. Mrs. John Kistler of Grand Haven, acting chairman of the group, said the council will be aimed at coordinating the ideas and purposes common to all statewide women's organizations.

ST. PAUL LUTHERAN CHURCH — The cornerstone for the new St. Paul Lutheran Church will be laid Easter Sunday following the morning worship hour. Located on the corner of Third and Joslyn Ave., the building of modified Gothic architecture, is constructed of brick and will seat 430. The congregation, organized five years ago, expects to occupy the new church by early fall. Members are being assisted with the financing by the Michigan Extension Fund.

Cornerstone Rite Sunday for New Lutheran Church

The cornerstone for the new St. Paul Lutheran Church will be laid immediately after the 10:45 Easter morning service.

* * *

The ceremony will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. George Mahder, assisted by members of the building committee and construction company. The Senior Choir will sing a special anthem.

A copper box containing official documents and records will be sealed into the cornerstone.

* * *

The contents of the box are: Bible, Catechism, Hymnal, copy of the Lutheran Witness, Detroit Lutheran, Michigan Lutheran, a copy of The Pontiac Press, a history of the congregation, a list of charter members, and data concerning the president of the United States and the governor of Michigan.

* * *

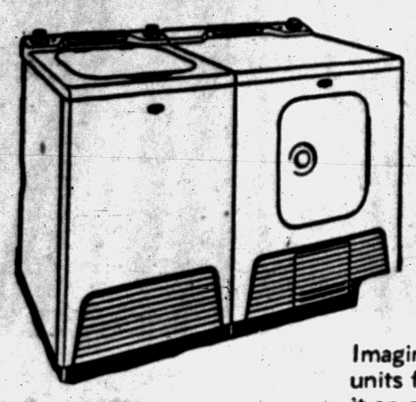

According to the pastor, construction of the building is progressing rapidly. The congregation expects to be using the new church by early fall. The Michigan Extension Fund is financing the building which will cost about $210,000.

Bob Considine Says:

Fans Roar at Bob and Ray's Deft Madness

NEW YORK (INS) — People . . . places . . . things . . .

If there are two funnier guys in the world than Bob and Ray, they don't come in on my radio.

* * *

These two men of many voices possess a sense of the ludicrous that has been generated by radio to bring home its point. Their contempt for the foibles, fables and fat-heads of their calling is so keenly hilarious that they have accumulated the first compact cult that hasbeen generated by radio in years.

Jackie Gleason, a member of their fan club, swears they maintain a higher laugh quotient than anybody else in the history of their medium. Gleason packs impressive credentials himself.

They make their characters live so vividly in the minds of their listeners. Wally Ballou, Steve Bosco, Mary McGoon, Arthur Sturdley and others are almost too good to be true — but always are.

* * *

Their soap operas, interviews, transport this listener into helpless laughter.

ORGANIZED LUNACY

It is not easily transferred to paper, this organized madness they dispense.

* * *

Their make-believe about a regimented tour of Radio City engaged in by 11,000 severely trained tourists who are first reviewed by Morgan Beatty could not have been funnier, especially after the Radio City management machine-guns a number of the tourists who haplessly crashed through the ice of the skating rink.

Then there was Wally Ballou and somebody else, sent out to cover the St. Patrick's Day parade in New York. They keep calling Radio Central describing how strangely quiet things are along Sixth avenue. The parade, of course, was on Fifth.

And the interview with the strange rich doctor and manufacturer. It dealt with his wealth and strange mixture of professions. And with his strange trousers. There were no cuffs, it was noted, and the trouser legs continued right down and under the man's shoes.

* * *

"I didn't get your name, doctor," Bob or Ray said.

"Dr. Denton," the man murmured.

Bob Elliot and Ray Goulding met in 1946 while serving as staff announcers on a small Boston station. Goulding did straight news; Bob doubled as a disk jockey.

Goulding took to dropping in on Elliot's show at night. One night there was an open mike . . . and a wonderful nonsense knew a new birth.

CONDEMN NOTHING'

Fresh from a stimulating talk with several little green men from Venus, and a seance with Bridie Murphy, a Pittsburgh reader booms:

"I have spent 20 years actively engaged in psychial research, and data collected has absolutely assured me of the reality of reincarnation. Condemn nothing you are not qualified, by experience, to condemn.

"Once, I recall, you sounded off against flying saucers and displayed your gross ignorance by so doing. Keyhoe and Ruppelt in recent books make it quite clear that there are flying saucers."

C. R. Smith, president of American Airlines, sent his friend Rex Smith a memo the other day. It read:

"When Columbus sailed for Cathay (he thought he was destined for China and Japan) the King of Spain gave him a letter to the Khan of the ruling family in China, sending his greetings.

"This was in 1492. As it happened, the ruling family of China had been changed in 1368 by overthrow, so that the latest information the King of Spain had was 124 years out of date."

There's a moral there somewhere and I mean to ferret it out if it takes all spring. It may be a rap at bus travel.

Does Formosa Sell to China?

Hoover Retorts 'Never'; Hollister Has Figures; McClellan Baffled

QUOTES AMOUNT

WASHINGTON (AP) —Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. and foreign aid chief John B. Hollister may be in disagreement over whether Nationalist China trades directly with Red China.

* * *

Hoover told the Senate Investigations subcommittee yesterday, "There is no evidence of direct commercial contact between Nationalist China and Communist China."

But Hollister, in a Jan. 5 report to Congress on East-West trade, listed Formosa, the Nationalist China seat of government, as "importing country" for $1,300,000 worth of imports from Communist China from January through August 1955.

The big difference seemed to be that Hoover said categorically "this trade took place through Hong Kong" with no evidence of direct trade, whereas Hollister's report showed Communist China and Formosa as direct traders—one the importer, the other the exporter.

Hong Kong appears in Hollister's tabulation too as importer between January and August 1955 of 150 millions in Red China goods and exporter to Red China of $94,600,000 worth. Hong Kong is a British colony.

A QUESTION MARK

This disparity was one more question mark in the subcommittee's clash with Eisenhower administration officials over East-West trade data. Hoover's testimony yesterday was behind closed doors buta partial transcript was made available afterward. Hollisteral also was present.

* * *

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark), recessed subcommittee hearings while he and other subcommittee members ponder how to cope with refusal by Hoover, Hollister and other officials to part publicly with trade data they contend might harm national security. They have refused to make public such documents as the Allied list of items embargoed in trade with the Soviet bloc.

U.S. Pamphlets Rip Red Chiefs

Drive to Fix Partial Guilt of Stalin Era Purges on Present Heads Started

VIENNA (AP)—The United States Information Agency is waging a pamphlet and leaflet campaign to fix partial guilt for the Stalin era purges on the Soviet Union's present leaders.

* * *

The agency has provided the U.S. embassies and information offices abroad with material for suggested leaflets titled "Some Honest Questions."

"The collective leadership of Stalin is outspoken nowadays in its bitter criticism of Stalin and the crime of the Stalin regime," the suggested text begins. Then it adds:

"But where were the indignant voices of Khrushchev, Malenkov and Bulganin in those last three decades? Where were the outraged cries against the cold-blooded purges? Fair-minded people are asking these questions. They have a right to know. They have a right to look at the record."

* * *

The Soviet purges of the 1920s, 1930s and 1940 were listed.

Of Soviet Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev, the message says: "As first secretary of the Ukrainian Communist party Khrushchev, in his own words, directed a purge of the 'enemies of the people' . . . For his efforts Stalin awarded Khrushchev the order of a Red Banner of Labor."

* * *

Similar charges of complicity, or submissive silence, are made against Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and former Premier Georgi Malenkov.

$4 Million Rides About in Supermarket Cart

COLUMBIA, Pa. (AP)—The Columbia Trust Co. has completed the largest cash transaction in its history.

It started last November when renovations began at the bank and the firm carried on its daily business in an old restaurant.

Every day bundles of money would be taken from the bank vault, put in a supermarket pushcart and wheeled to the restaurant. At the end of the day the money would be wheeled back to the bank vault.

An official estimated that four million dollars was handled that way.

Statue of Liberty to Be Immigration Museum

NEW YORK (AP)—The Statue of Liberty, friendly beacon to those arriving from foreign shores, will become the home of an American museum of immigration.

* * *

A five-million dollar drive is under way to construct the museum as a national shrine in a star-shaped, stone-walled fort on which the base of the statue rests.

Purpose of the museum is to dramatize for posterity the epic story of immigration in the building of America.

President Eisenhower has endorsed the project.

MSU Acepts Bids

EAST LANSING (AP)—The Christman Co. of Lansing, with an estimate of $3,832,000, was low bidder on construction of a new college of education building at Michigan State University. Alternate bids submitted by the company will be studied in an attempt to bring the cost down to the $3,500,000 original estimate. Bids must be submitted to the Legislature prior to approval of an appropiation of two million dollars to start construction.

And He Doesn't Know 'Y'

LANSING (AP)—A 20-year-old youth found it wise to check your "Y' S" before closing your eyes. Police found the youth asleep on a couch in the YWCA lobby at 3:34 a.m. After he explained he thought he was in the YMCA, the visitor was conducted to the Volunteers of America headquarters to continue his night's sleep.

Clear Roosevelt Field

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N.Y. (AP)—Roosevelt Field is disappearing, and with it the last vestige of the site from which Charles A. Lindbergh took off in the Spirit of St. Louis on his historic solo transatlantic flight in 1927. Workmen have begun clearing the area for a big Long Island shopping center. The field was used until five years ago.

Born to beat today's high delivery costs!

The 2-Wheel-Drive 'Jeep' Dispatcher cuts delivery costs to a new low. You save money when you buy it... and this "built-for-the-job" delivery vehicle continues saving for you every day—with its performance, low upkeep and practical design.

Never before could you expect such gas mileage from a delivery vehicle. Never before such an ideal weight-to-power ratio that gives real "get-up-and-go".

And it costs less to maintain. Thanks to the Dispatcher's rugged construction, its freedom from "limousine hardware", and simple engine design, maintenance needs are few and low in cost.

Model DJ3A Hard top. Sliding doors and full back opening make loading and unloading easy. Locks for protection of cargo.

Model DJ3A Basic. Dispatcher without top meets a wide variety of delivery or service needs. Hub caps optional.

Spring Means Sap Is Coming

Output of Maple Syrup Declining in America; Michigan Ranks 5th

WASHINGTON—Snowdrifts soften, then harden again as the sun sets after a lengthening day. In the frosty night, the stars come out clear and sparkling, and the "sugar moon" casts its spell over the maple trees.

Thus, through alternate freeze and thaw, the sap rises. And sugaring—one of the oldest rites of American spring—is on.

Ever since Indian braves collected "tree water" in birch troughs and squaws threw hot stones into it to boil it down, maple sugar has been the traditional American sweetener. Until late in the 19th century, says the National Geographic Society it was the staple sweetening for many people. Now, however, it has changed places with cane and beet sugar and become the costly delicacy they once were.

Last year's 43,000-pound output of maple sugar—down almost to a third of the already low 1944-53 average—represented but a few grains in the national sugar bowl. Maple syrup production (1,664,000 gallons) also has declined through the years.

MICHIGAN ON TOP

The syrup flow increased last year in some states, among them New York, Pennsylvania, and Michigan—second, third and fifth in production. But in Vermont, the leader, and in Ohio, fourth, it fell.

Elsewhere, at "the sweetest show on earth" in Chardon, Ohio; in Meyersdale, Pennsylvania; in New Hampshire's Monadnock region; in St. Albans, Vermont; and in Vermontville and Carson City, Michigan, sightseers watch parades and queens and dancers, and sample the sweets.

This year's festival in Cooperstown, New York, even promises to settle a war which has raged since January when Governor Averell Harriman asked the Assembly to make the sugar maple the state's official tree. In Vermont, where the sugar maple has been the official tree since 1949, Governor Joseph B. Johnson fired off a telegram to Albany: "The public will not be fooled by New York's attempt to sap Vermont's renowned maple products."

• • •

Governor Harriman parried with an invitation to a "free and fair taste test" at Cooperstown early in April. What the test will prove can only be suggested by a similar syrup-sampling held eight years ago in Chardon, Ohio.

There, in a blindfold test, Governor Gibson of Vermont declared Ohio's syrup the better. And Governor Herbert of Ohio preferred Vermont's. Each governor had been fed two teaspoonsful of his rival's product!

Phosphorous Poisoning Caused Jackson Deaths

JACKSON (AP) — Phosphorous poisoning has been established as the cause of death of two children who ate a quantity of rat poison last Sunday.

The victims, Daniel Robb, 5, and his sister, Judy, 3, found a tube of poison on the top shelf of a kitchen cupboard.

Dr. J.H. Ahronbeim, pathologist, said the children ate so much poison only minor symptoms had appeared by the time their father, Clayton Robb, realized anything was wrong. Death resulted before major symptoms could develop.

Ford Gives 410 Acres for New Scenic Route

DEARBORN — The Ford Motor Company has announced the donation of 410 acres of land to the Wayne County Road Commission for construction of a scenic drive through the center of Dearborn.

Ford said the drive will connect to the Edward N. Hines Drive. The announcement said most of the 410 acres lie within Fair Lane, the Henry Ford estate.

Condition as well as fertilize

DRICONURE 3-2-1 does two jobs when you put it to work on your lawn or gardens. It is a growth-stimulating FERTILIZER. All-organic, it is assimilated as food by all plant life. DRICONURE 3-2-1 cannot burn plants or lawns.

It conditions light or heavy soils. In sandy soils DRICONURE 3-2-1 provides a moisture reservoir, prevents water leeching away soil nutrients. In clay soil it aerates and breaks up heavy earth. You'll find soil easier to work with your garden tools.

100% Effective

DRICONURE 3-2-1 is all plant food. Dehydrated poultry and farm manures scientifically blended with finest grades of Sphagnum Peat Moss and other organic soil conditioners. All valuable nutrients and trace elements are held in the treated soil for gradual release. It is Nature's own plant food.

DRICONURE 3-2-1 is the all-time favourite ORGANIC plant food and soil conditioner. Use for all types of lawn, shrubbery, flower and garden work. Available in 7½ lb., 25 lb., and 50 lb. bags. The economical 80 lb. "Professional" sized bag is available also.

Landscape Calls for Fine Grass

Check Sub-Soil Before Starting, Says Parks Supervisor

By WILLIAM AHO
Parks Supervisor
Parks and Recreation Department

One of the most pleasing and important elements in any landscape plan is the establishment of a plush carpet of green grass. Many people have given up hope of having a nice lawn. To those who have succeeded the time and money spent have certainly been worth it. One of the biggest mistakes people make in lawn establishment is the lack of planning, which means getting started on the wrong foot.

If you have recently moved into a new home it is one of the best times to establish a new lawn. Usually materials such as odd pieces of board, discarded bricks and etc. are left and should be removed from the lawn area before any other work is done.

The basic points to take into consideration in building a lawn is the soil, drainage and leveling, preparation of seedbed with the use of fertilizer and type of grass to fit your particular site. Let's go through these points briefly.

Check your sub-soil. If you have a heavy, soggy clay soil sub-surface, drainage is a necessity. Agricultural tile may be laid 18 to 24 inches deep and approximately 8 to 10 inches apart.

When this is completed, you may backfill with crushed rock or gravel to within 4 or 6 inches of the finished grade, then add a good quality top soil. If your sub-soil is porous, no sub-drainage is necessary.

The loss of moisture from sandy soils may be prevented by the addition of clay and organic matter. The final grade should have a slope to drain the excess surface water.

The top soil should be as weed free as possible and of good quality. It is always a good idea to have your soil tested by your County Agriculture Agent. The testing will show what fertilizer or lime and what type of grass is best suited to your soil. When your top soil has been applied, careful leveling is very important before applying the fertilizer and seed.

The fertilizer should be raked into the soil before broadcasting your seed. When the seed has been sown and rolled, be sure to keep it moist by watering to insure germination. Do not mow your lawn until it reaches a height of approximately three inches. It is not necessary to remove the chippings unless they are so heavy that the grass will be smothered.

State Gardeners to Give Exhibit at Ford Rotunda

Flower and garden enthusiasts of Detroit, outstate Michigan and Northern Ohio will offer thousands of colorful exhibits at the second annual spring flower show at the Ford Rotunda in Dearborn, beginning April 8.

The show, free to the public, will run through April 22. Called "Flowers Internationale", it will feature the gay colors of flowers and spring fashions.

The international theme will be highlighted in Dutch, French, English and tropical gardens. The flowers will be displayed in special exhibits typical of those areas.

Need Year-Long Insect Control

Agent Recommends One All-Purpose Dust or Spray

Crops from the home vegetable garden can be disappointing unless you plan a season-long schedule for controlling insects and diseases. If weather and other conditions are favorable, insects and diseases sometimes destroy a large part of the crop before harvest, says John Bray, assistant county agricultural agent.

* * *

He recommends one all-purpose dust or spray mixture that will prevent most of the disease and insect losses. This mixture should be applied once a week throughout the growing season, starting when the cucumbers emerge.

The mixture contains either fixed coppers or zineb to control disease; and either rotenone plus pyrethrum or rotenone alone to control insects.

The fixed coppers and zineb dust should be seven per cent in concentration.

For spray use a three-fourths per cent dust.

One-half ounce or three tablespoons of four to five per cent concentration per gallon of water is recommended for the spray. With both rotenone and pyrethrum, use one third ounce rotenone (two tablespoons) and one teaspoon of one per cent pyrethrum per gallon of water.

Other materials may be used for this type of spray according to Bray. If they are used, he advises, follow the manufacturer's directions.

Starter solutions can be a big help in getting strawberry plants off to a fast start after transplanting.

GARDEN CADDY — Every good golfer needs a caddy. So does every good gardener. This garden tool caddy made of fir plywood can be pulled from one part of the garden to the next. It has plenty of space for shovels, spades, hose, trowels, clippers, with inside space for water can, bulbs and plants.

Handy Cart Makes Gardening Easy

Gardening is a lot of fun for those who like it—but it's also a lot of work. Here is something that will make life easier for the amateur Luther Burbanks.

A miniature tool house on wheels to save many steps for the busy gardener has been designed and built from fir plywood. This handy cart for the green thumb set can be constructed in the home workshop from easy to follow do-it-yourself plans.

Just over four feet high, this garden caddy holds tools, equipment, insect spray and other garden necessities. And it rolls right along with the gardener. The caddy has roomy shelves to hold flats of plants or flower pots. Tool brackets on both sides hold rakes, hoes, shovels, and other implements for easy accessability.

The caddy must be constructed of exterior-type fir plywood, which has 100 per cent waterproof glue. All garden caddy parts are joined with nails and waterproof glue.

The caddy is light in weight, and the five-inch rubber tired wheels and long tow-rope make it easy for even the younger gardeners to pull. It's just the thing to hold small fry interest while the parents work.

Complete plans for step-by-step construction of the convenient caddy are available without cost from the Douglas Fir Plywood Association, Tacoma 2, Wash.

Delivery Advice Given by Dean

Postmaster Lists Three Steps for Purchasers of Nursery Stock

Postmaster Leslie H. Dean advised Pontiac home gardeners today that for safest delivery of their shrubbery and plants during the current Spring planting season they should take certain steps to aid postal authorities.

* * *

"We have been informed by the Gardening Council of New York that this is the shipping season for nursery stock orders," Dean said. "Much of the stock is perishable, and without the cooperation of the purchaser, and delivering agencies, best results cannot be expected."

* * *

Dean listed three steps that purchasers of nursery stock should take:

1. If away or on vacation, make arrangements to have a neighbor accept shipments. Keep moist and in a cool location until planting time. Otherwise, the plants may be damaged in storage at the post office, express or freight stations.

2. If a neighbor cannot accept delivery, contact the post office or transportation agent, and leave instructions as to where the plants can be delivered. A cool basement, garage or shaded porch is always better than a mail room or on-hand department for storage of dormant plants and nursery stock.

3. Best of all, if you are home, have the ground well prepared, and make your planting as soon as possible after delivery. Early planting, liberal watering and following the sender's instructions will insure best growth for all plant materials.

Vivid Tulips Add Spring Beauty to Your Home

One of the first signs of spring is the blossoming of tulips in florists' windows or in your own back yard.

And one of the best ways to bring spring into the house is to make these colorful flowers a part of your decorative scheme, and enjoy them throughout their brief season.

The history of tulips began in Persia (now Iran) where they were used in formal gardens. Tulips form a motif in many Persian tapestries and rugs.

From Persia tulips spread to the rest of the Near East and eventually to western Europe and Holland, where most of the current world's supply of bulbs is grown.

Small Space Requires Dwarf Fruit Trees

If your space is limited, by all means consider dwarf apple and pear trees. These have been grafted onto a special root stock which keeps the tops from growing to normal size.

The fruit is just like that from standard size trees the main difference being that the yield is naturally much smaller and they begin to bear much earlier.

Beef Calves as Feeders

Producing beef calves in Michigan for sale as feeders can be profitable but the margin between income and costs may be rather narrow, point out MSU agricultural economists.

From the Garden Editor

These March elements certainly don't encourage gardeners, but looking through the almanac for 1955 I find that on Mar. 23 Old Man Winter threw a wind and snowstorm that really shook the area up. Same thing happened here over the past week . . . and remember spring did come last year so we'll have our gardens yet.

Assistant County Agricultural Agent Johna K. Bray, says early transplanting of strawberries pays off in bigger yields the next year. Runners that form in June will produce twice as many berries the next year as runners that form in July. Everbearing varieties produce the best crop the same year they're planted, John says.

Harry Bell, MSU Horticulturist recommends that we Oakland County strawberry lovers get our plants in the ground as soon as the soil can be suitably worked which is usually around Apr. 15. John says to set plants about 28 inches apart.

Here's for bigger, tastier strawberries this year!

Time has come, my friends, to think about the lawn. It's just about time for the lawn's first feeding of the year, as soon as it quits snowing.

* * *

It's dormant spray time for temperature is mild . . . over the work on a day when the scale infestation and be sure to do the work on a day when the temperature is mild . . . over 40 degrees, if that day ever comes.

The foliage of trees has great capacity for preventing the passage of solar heat to the ground. This keeps the air space near the ground more comfortable in hot weather.

'Tricks' Increase Yield

If your garden is small, there are several tricks that can increase its yield. Beans and tomatoes can be grown on poles. Cucumbers clamber up chicken wire and there they don't get stepped on. Tomato shoots can be woven in and out of coarse fencing more easily than they can be tied to stakes and then need no pruning.

Planning now for insecticide needs will pay off in less trouble in vegetable growing this summer.

Seek Last Body in Granary Ruin

Bore Deep Into Smoking Wreckage of Explosion in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Men and machines bored deeper today into the still smoking ruins of a big granary in search for the last of three who perished in the city's worst explosion.

Beyond the loss of life, the cost was reckoned in injuries inflicted on between 35 and 100 persons; in property damage estimated by some as much as 3½ million dollars; in dislocations that in some instances will last for weeks.

Rescue squads yesterday recovered the bodies of men identified, the first with assurance and the other tentatively, as Arthur Harrell, 35, Vineland, N.J., and Vyron Whilden, 31, Dorchester, N.J.

Both were truckdrivers. They were waiting in the office of the Tidewater Mill and Elevator Co. in the busy 30th and Market Street section when the blast occurred Wednesday night.

Still listed as missing and presumed to be dead was Edward Johnson, 39-year-old Philadelphia laborer employed by Tidewater.

More than 30 hours after the explosion and raging fire destroyed the granary and wrought damage over a 10-block area, firemen continued to play their hose streams over the rubble.

A vast salvage job got under way. In glass replacement alone the extent of the work was staggering, and before the glaziers could take over much temporary boarding up had to be done, against the chill wet weather and the forays of looters.

Fire Marshal William J. Eckles said the main cause of the explosion lay in a concentration of grain dust, but added, "Something has to ignite it as a rule." So far, it was reported, that "something" has not been determined.

Youth Escapes Harm From Shotgun Blast

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A 10-year-old boy was shot at point blank with a shotgun by four teenagers but wasn't hit.

"I don't know how they missed the boy," said Detective W. A. Lackey.

Lackey said the four older boys didn't miss when they switched to a truck as a target. The truck was riddled with more than 100 rounds from the .410 shotgun and a .22-caliber rifle.

The officer said the youths also fired one blast of the shotgun between two 14-year-old girls as they walked along, and threatened to shoot a woman and her son.

The teen-agers, whose names were withheld, have been charged with vandalism, assault and assault with intent to do bodily harm. Lackey said they admitted the shooting.

HONOR WEATHER ACE — Dr. George F. Cressman, 36, of the USAF Weather Service, has been given the Air Force's highest civilian honor, the Decoration for Exceptional Civilian Service. The honor was awarded for outstanding accomplishments in weather analysis and forecasting. Dr. Cressman is a native of West Chester, Pa., and lives in Washington with his wife and their four children.

Unidentified Slaying Still Baffling Police

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The mystery of a body found under a rock pile had police more baffled than ever today. A little girl five people identified as the victim of an apparent murder was found alive yesterday, and a murder charge against her father, was dropped.

That left the body unidentified.

* * *

Three-year-old Shirley Dicus the supposed murder victim, was located in Neosho, Mo., with her father Lloyd A. Dicus, a convicted bigamist. Living with them was a woman police said was his fifth wife.

* * *

Shirley's mother Mrs. Gretta June Cornish, 20, and a 1-year-old daughter, Mozelle, turned up in Baton Rouge, La. Mrs. Cornish, formerly Dicus' common-law wife, had been unaccounted for since early in December. Police and her mother had expressed fear that she and the baby had met foul play.

The developments left police almost back where they started when the body of a small girl was found in a woods on the edge of the city Saturday.

* * *

Sheriff Arvid Owsley said clothing on the dead child was identical to outfits often worn by Shirley.

It's Spring - - - Ignore the Frosty Air

New York Blossoms Out to Greet Easter

By RELMAN MORIN
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — New York responds to a holiday like a spring flower to the sun.

* * *

Just now, on the eve of Easter, the city is blooming and blossoming, dressed to the teeth in a new spring outfit, a perky little bonnet and a corsage of lilies. What if you can still see your breath in the frosty air? It's spring, the Easter parade is at hand and our town likes to celebrate.

GALLERIES OF COLOR

The avenues have been turned into galleries of color. They make you think of gold and alabaster, like the corridors of a palace.

* * *

As usual, the window decorators are having a field day. They have dressed the stores with great banks of flowers, azaleas and hyacinths in a fury of color, and streamers of yellow and blue and purple paper, and golden chickens and wonderful white rabbits as big as "Harvey," if you remember him.

I don't know which was more fun—

Watching the wonderment and delight in the eyes of a little girl when she saw the cascade of jelly beans, millions of jelly beans, all colors of the rainbow, in a candy-store window.

Or listening to two teen - agers in front of a foreign airlines window which features a bride in a glistening, diaphanous veil, and photographs of Grace Kelly and her prince. "Well, I don't care what anybody says, I think he's cute."

BIRDS? HERE?

Then the sound of birds, twittering, pulled me up short. Birds on Fifth avenue. It was too chilly for anything less than a penguin. Well, the song came from a loud speaker above a store front, and as you looked up, a gay, happy sign was saying, "Hello Spring."

* * *

At another corner, there was the smell of a fresh, bracing perfume. It created whole images, violets, or open fields, or perhaps bluebells glistening with dew in a forest glen. That was coming from a store too, and making people stop and sniff and smile.

Even a book store was all brightened up with "Easter eggs," made of the same crinkly colored paper you use at Christmas. And somebody had put a bright yellow daffodil in the binding of a book that, somehow, you seldom associate with daffodils—"The Decline of the West." It gave old Doc Spengler a real rakish look.

* * *

I turned down a cross street and found the sidewalk completely blocked with boxes of azaleas. It looked like a purple bonfire. They were in front of a flower store, and an attendant was taking them inside. I asked him if he expected to sell all of them before Sunday. "Brother," he said, panting a little, "I just wish I had double this many."

CONFUSING HATS

I was interested but puzzled as to whehter there is a vogue in hats this year. Some are large, white and look like upside - down flower bowls. The girls say they make you look thin. Then there are some jaunty little confections, neat and close-fitting, with a posy or two. Still others made me think of flying saucers. It's a little confusing.

* * *

The best surprise of all was—guess—a bank!

This bank is in a new building which is beautiful even without any Easter trimmings. It is all glass and shining aluminum, and it has a wonderful feeling of light and air and gracefulness.

* * *

Right now, it is luxuriating in tall Hawaiian tree ferns, yellow crocuses, hydrangeas and hyacinths. The sign says they came from Hawaii, California and Florida, and invites you in.

LOVELY VAULT

Besides the blossoms, a gigantic round door of a vault has been left open. The main shell is as shiny as stainless steel. Small brass gears look more like decorations than machinery. It is lovely as a piece of costume jewelry.

This was stopping more people than any of the stores. And no wonder.

Happy Easter!

Red Paper Asks Newsman for Aid

La Prensa Publisher Rips Request of Daily Worker

NEW YORK (INS) — The crusading publisher of the Buenos Aires newspaper La Prensa seized by former Argentine dictator Juan Peron has blasted the Daily Worker for seeking his aid over its seizure by treasury agents.

"I would not lift my left arm nor my little finger to help any organ of the Communist party such as the Daily Worker," Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz told the N.Y. Journal-American in a telephone interview from his home in Buenos Aires.

"I feel ashamed by the fact that the Daily Worker has even sought my help. I have fought the Communists on each and every front where I met them and have never given them the slightest bit of assistance."

The angry outburst was his reply to this cablegram sent to him by Worker Editor-in-Chief John Gates:

"Greetings. Respectfully request aid your noted newspaper against efforts treasury department suppress our publication. We supported your gallant fight against suppression by Peron and remain loyal to principles of press freedom."

Dr. Gainza Paz said he had not received the cable, but the text of the message as announced by Gates was read to him by this newspaper.

IN EXILE

The Argentine publisher had been in exile in the U.S. since 1951 when La Prensa was expropriated by Peron.

With the fall of the Peron regime, Paz returned to Buenos Aires last December to resume publishing his powerful independent paper.

"Never has this so - called newspaper the Daily Worker aided me in any way," Paz said.

"Even if they had offered, I would have immediately turned them down.

"There is no comparison in their fight against suppression by your government and my fight against Peron. La Prensa is a free and independent newspaper. The Daily Worker is a Communist party organ.

* * *

"I must say again I feel very ashamed that such a paper is asking me for aid. I would never give it. What happens to the Daily Worker is of complete indifference to me."

Michigan Solons Adjourn; OK Financial Aid Measure

LANSING (UP) — Michigan lawmakers caught their breath at home today for next week's final lawmaking push aimed at an expected April 6th adjournment.

Before knocking off for the week, the Senate got its calendar into the tidiest shape for this stage of a legislative session within recent memory. The House's remaining work load was larger.

By a unanimous vote, senators Thursday approved a plan by Gov. Williams for helping financially pressed new industries and businesses obtain the credit needed for expansions.

* * *

The bill, to allow formation in the state of development credit corporations, came within a whisker of being killed by suspicious Republican leaders only a few days ago.

SUCCESS ESTABLISHED

The corporations would provide a financing instrument that has enjoyed widespread success in New England and which has been spreading to other states, including Florida and Kansas.

Supported by banks and insurance company resources, the new type corporations could make loans involving longer terms and higher risks than would be permitted under state banking regulations.

In some other action, the Senate:

1. Killed, and then breathed new life into, a bill to restrict sales of near beer to establishments licensed by the state liquor control commission. The beverage now may be sold generally in retail stores.

* * *

2. Turned down a bid by Sen. John B. Swainson (D-Detroit) to pry loose from the education committee a $500,000 scholarship program advocated by the governor.

3. Approved a bill for a new approach to the problem of dealing with persons in the early stages of mental illness with a minimum of hospitalization.

4. Passed a $9,643,735 appropriation for state conservation, recreation, agriculture and advertising activities in the coming fiscal year.

Iceland Order Causes Concern

'Go Home' Resolution Worries Pentagon; Air Bases in Jeopardy

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UP) —The Iceland Parliament's call for withdrawal of U.S. troops is not expected to get beyond the talking stage unless the Communists gain enough strength in parliamentary elections June 24 to back demands for further action.

* * *

Parliament approved a resolution over Conservative opposition Tuesday calling for departure of U.S. troops stationed here as an NATO force since 1951.

The demand, which would leave this strategic North Atlantic outpost undefended, aroused open concern in Washington and gleeful support in Moscow.

POLITICAL MOVE

But informed sources here said it was all part of a political maneuver designed to cut the ground from under the Reds.

They said the Farmers party and others joined the Communists in supporting the resolution in order to steal thunder from the left. The Reds reportedly hope to gain strength in the parliamentary elections with demands that foreign troops get out of Iceland.

* * *

The idea appeared to be that if the Reds did not score major gains in the election, the go-home demand would be allowed to die.

Political circles here contended the resolution did not stem from strained relations between Icelanders and U.S. servicemen. They said harmony prevails despite Moscow radio claims that the American military aroused Iceland's ire by interfering in the island's internal affairs.

* * *

Officials in Washington expressed open concern over the resolution affection the vital landing site just south of the Arctic Circle and almost midway between Moscow and New York.

18,000 Residents Will Receive '55 City Report

Some 18,000 1955 Pontiac annual reports are in the mail.

The 16-page booklets containing reports from all city departments on 1955 activities, are distributed to those residents that employ city water services.

Adidtional copies will be available at the city manager's office.

The reports were prepared by Henry C. Smith, planning technician, Gust Mathes, of the planning staff, and Mrs. Charles Cook, city manager's secretary.

Two hundred trucking lines in Michigan carry industrial products wherever there's a highway, making it possible for a small manufacturer to set up his plant almost anywhere he wants.

Hospital Announces New Visiting Hours

New visiting hours permitting a half-hour longer visit, will go into effect Sunday at Pontiac General Hospital, Miss Shirley Dovre, administrative assistant, announced yesterday.

The hours will be from 12 noon to 8 p.m. daily except for the maternity and pediatrics wards. Visiting hours for maternity wards will be from 3 to 4 and from 7 to 8 p.m. Pediatrics will be from 2 to 3 and from 7 to 8 p.m.

Previous visiting hours were from 12 noon to 7:30 p.m. Miss Dovre explained the change was instituted to have all visitors leave the hospital at the same time each night.

The Canadian Parliament consists of two houses: The Senate, whose members are nominated for life, and the House of Commons, whose members are elected directly by the people for terms of five years.

Dress Does Double Duty

NEW YORK (INS)—A Texas designer has come up with a dress that works like an auto gear shift: It goes from forward to reverse.

* * *

Charles Dickey, who calls it the "neutral" dress for obvious reasons, has actually made this dress to be worn frontwards or backwards.

"I really was trying to make a golf dress which could also be switched into something stylish for the 19th hole," explained Dickey, but his creation can do more than that.

It's a modified sack dress of cotton which has a low plunging V neckline on one side and a tabbed turtle neck on the other. Worn with the V forward, it's an "action back" sports dress.

* * *

With the turtle neck forward, it's a sleek high-necked dress with a newly fashionable low back, suitable for patio or town wear.

The dress has no bustline tucks, and the eased waist is gathered in with a self belt. The creation is washable, and comes in both light and dark colors.

Karen (left) and Kristine Longair look forward to Eastertime and to visits with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer H. Pettengill of Clarkston and Pontiac and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Longair of Clarkston. Karen and Kristine are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs H. Wayne Longair of Flint, formerly of Pontiac.

Especially thrilled over her Easter bonnet, Alicia McRath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McRath of Pioneer avenue, just couldn't wait. She surprised her daddy with a preview of what she'll wear in the Easter Parade.

Little Dinise Brandon can hardly wait for Easter Sunday. The Easter basket, the bunny and the egg all are part of her ideas for a happy Easter and she won't be disappointed. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brandon of Crane street.

General Guild to Gather

Announcement was made of the cooperative dinner and meeting of the General Guild of St. Benedict Church. The affair is scheduled for Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall and is open to all members of the parish.

* * *

Mrs. Ralph Cotcher, president of the guild, is serving as general chairman assisted by Mrs. Stanley Hustosky, Mrs. Peter Aldo, Mrs. Edward Lundgren, Mrs. Leon Thomas, Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. Anthony Matynick and Mrs. Paride Ninotti.

Dr. James M. McHugh of Pontiac State Hospital will speak on the ways and means available to social groups to aid in social work at the hospital.

The "Teen Toppers," a quartet of Pontiac High School students composed of Alex Sekles, Leon Frayer, Darryl Mahan and Jack Henning, will furnish musical entertainment.

Unit Four of the General Guild will be honored at this meeting. Unit Four has had the largest attendance at the general monthly meetings during the past year.

Quartets Plan Event Tonight

Members of several barbershop quartets will gather tonight for a special Award Night program at the Knights of Pythias Hall. Featured quartets on the program will be the "Solidaires" of Saginaw and the "Curbstone Serenaders" of Oakland County.

* * *

Among the many special events to be enjoyed during the evening will be the community singing led by Duncan Hannah of the "Clef Dwellers"

* * *

The program, sponsored by the Pontiac Barbershop Quartet, will begin promptly at 8:30.

Sorority Meets With Mrs. Clark

Mrs. Robert Clark opened her home on Pioneer drive to members of Gamma Chapter of Beta Theta Phi sorority Tuesday evening.

Plans were completed for a progressive dinner to be held April 28. Following the business meeting, members arranged Easter baskets to be sent to the children at the Oakland County Children's Home.

* * *

Mrs. Jerry Martin assisted the hostess with refreshments served from a table decorated in the Easter motif. The April 10 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Klausmeyer on Oakwood drive.

Holiday Egg Symbolizes Rock Tomb

Sunrise Services Had Their Origin in Europe

By JOAN RITTER

Easter is the principal feast of the ecclesiastical year. It marks the anniversary of the resurrection of Christ and is known in most countries of the world.

Besides its religious significance, Easter has certain customs and practices associated with it that have come to us from our ancestors.

Customs vary with the countries. All over Europe people would gather in open plains or on crests of hills to watch the spectacle of sunrise on Easter day. Bands and choirs used to greet the rising sun as a symbol of the risen Christ with Easter hymns and hallelujahs.

This morning salute is still performed in the Alpine regions of Austria. The practice of sunrise services has gained wide popularity and is prevalent in many parts of America today.

* * *

Among the Christians in the Near East, Easter Sunday is celebrated by visiting friends and neighbors and by feasting. The children received presents of eggs and sweets.

SYMBOL OF SPRING

The origin of the Easter egg is based on lore of the Indo-European races. To our pre-Christian ancestors it was a startling sight to see life emerge from an egg. The egg became to them the symbol of spring.

In Christian times the egg had bestowed upon it a religious significance, becoming a symbol of the rock tomb out of which Christ emerged to the new life of His resurrection.

There was a very practical reason for the giving of eggs on Easter. Eggs used to be one of the foods that were forbidden in Lent. The faithful from early times painted Easter eggs in gay colors, had them blessed, and gave them as gifts.

Today, we still retain the practice of giving eggs to friends and relatives as our wish of happiness for them and our expression of joy at the resurrection of Christ.

Community Club Directors Plan Future Events

The board of directors of Wever-Owen-Hawthorne Community Club met at the George Gray home on Yale avenue Wednesday evening.

Mrs. George Gray, president, announced chairmen for the year. Mrs. Phillip Muttersbaugh is community improvements chairman, Mrs. Earl Oltesvig is publicity chairman and Mrs. Gordon Allison will handle membership.

Mrs. Allison will be assisted by Mrs. Cordie Hereim, Carl Norberg, Pete Mihay and L. R. Stanley.

Announcement was made of the annual membership drive in April, and more projects will be sponsored by the group to raise funds for the North End Boys Club program.

Plans were made for a card party at Owen School April 13 with Mrs. Davy Dean as chairman. A mother-daughter banquet will be held at Wever School May 4. Mrs. Ford Drumm and Mrs. Raymond Scarborough will serve as cochairmen.

Queen Mary Group Conducts Meeting

Queen Mary Section of Needlework Guild met Thursday afternoon at the Belmont avenue home of Mrs. Frank Snover. Mrs. Snover presided at the meeting.

Members of the welfare committee reported on needy families receiving clothing, and letters of thanks were read from the families. The afternoon was spent sewing.

Homemakers Meet at Alexander Home

Members of the Modern Homemakers Club heard a lesson on "Line and Design in Dress" when they met at the home of Mrs. Ray Alexander on Dixie highway Wednesday evening.

The lesson was given by Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. H. L. Stein. Mrs. Waino Hill and Mrs. Harley Klien were guests of the group. Over 200 cancer pads were sewn for the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Stein will open her home for the next meeting and Mrs. Myles Werner will serve as hostess.

Beau Clams Up When Others Are Present

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: He's very friendly when we're alone, but very shy when other boys are present. Most of them tease him. How can I help in this situation?"

Answer: When you like a boy, you want every encounter with him to count big. You want to enjoy his company. You're ready and willing to be friendly. And everything is spoiled if he doesn't show what you consider appropriate attention.

But, aside from being friendly and comfortable yourself, there is little you can do to change the way he feels. He happens to be at ease with you only when you're alone. With other boys around, he can't speak freely to you, can't show his interest in you. So he clams up.

And in a way it's better that he should. If the boys' presence makes him nervous and awkward, he might make cracks he doesn't mean; he might leave himself open to more teasing; he might say things you'd misunderstand.

So, don't worry about it. You can't very well ignore the other boys and act as though they weren't there. Your attitude and conversation must be general. You can't concentrate personally on him.

Your best bet is to make those private moments of yours count, so that when you do see him in public he'll be reminded that he'd better make arrangements to see you alone real soon.

"Dear Miss Woodward: We've been split up for about two weeks now after going together pretty steady for five months.

"It seemed that every time I got to see him my girl friend was along too. I know he didn't like that, but I just couldn't tell her to quit tagging along.

"I still want to go with him and I think he wants to go with me. He talks to me sometimes when my girl friend isn't around. Do you think I should give her up so I can go with the boy I like?"

Answer: When you see him alone tell him honestly that you suspect it was your girl friend's constant attendance that fed him to the teeth. Admit that she bothered you too.

Then ask him if he'd give it another chance were she out of the picture? If he says yes, promise him to take the necessary steps.

Then tackle your girl friend. You don't have to give her up. Just make her understand that it would be tactful were she to beat a hasty exit the minute he joins up with you.

She should invent errands, promises to her mother, homework, practically any old thing that will take her gracefully out of the picture.

Assure her that you still like her devotedly and want to be with her as much as you can. But when he's around, will she please vamoose? Simply because he can't speak freely in front of an audience.

Now Introducing New Drinkproof Cocktail Outfit

PARIS (INS) — Waterproof — or drinkproof—cocktail outfits have been introduced in Paris.

Rainwear manufacturer C. C. C. has shown double-duty coat-dresses cocktail parties.

The style of these practical outfits is that of a tent-shaped coat buttoned down the front with small fabric covered buttons. The material is silky or nylon taffeta treated to be water repellent.

One of these new cocktail coat-dresses is in old rose colored taffeta. It has a rounded shoulder line, rather narrow three-quarter sleeves and a little stand-up collar. Its fullness is belted by a high-reaching corselet belt of the same fabric. Worn with black accessories, this model looks very feminine and elegant.

Another cocktail coat-dress is made of waterproof silk in the modish pale honey shade. It has a scarf-collar, three-quarter sleeves and is also cut to impressive fullness. Here again a boned corselet-belt marks a slim waistline. The fabric belt ends in two widening panels which are knotted to loops at the back for a 1890 bustle effect.

Post-Nuptial Party Fetes Mrs. Brown

Mrs. Gordon Brown was the honoree at a post-nuptial shower given by Mrs. William Brown of Meinrod street. Mrs. Dennis Densmore was cohostess.

Guests at the recent shower were Stella Purkiss, Mrs. William Sutliff, Harriet Blimke, Mrs. David Plank, Ruth Ream, Mrs. Bud Morris, Mrs. Adam Solomon, Annie Brown and Martha Tewilliager.

Iris Martin, Matilda Becker, Helen Ward, Alice Young, Mrs. Kenneth Willings, Mrs. William Green, Mrs. Peter Nielsen, Nona Thompson and Judy Nowokowski completed the guest list.

The unbroken, long-line look is for petites but talls should belt the raincoat; huge pockets are fine too.

New raincoats get inspiration from men's and boys' styles and aristocratic white wool and poplins make a day-into-evening fashion. Basic simplicity for short figures with patch pockets and belt for talls.

Sharp knives not only make food preparation easier, but they are also less dangerous.

Palm Fruit Makes Rich Dessert

Use Pack of Dates With Egg and Milk for Delicious Pie

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Here is a recipe for a simple pie, one that is easy to make, but delicious. The only special food item you need buy is dates.

Today's cook is Mrs. Edwin Bennett. Her family consists of two teenage children. Sewing and flower gardening are her hobbies. She is a member of the Fashionette Club.

DATE PIE
By Mrs. Edwin Bennett

¼ pound pitted dates
½ cup water
1 egg
2 cups milk

Cook the dates in the water until soft. Strain. Beat egg into the dates. Add milk. Pour into a single pie crust.

Bake 45 minutes at 425 degrees or until firm.

You've a favorite piece of costume jewelry with a stone or two missing. Don't wear it that way. Have it repaired.

Cleate Products You Cannot Buy

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Recently, while visiting a friend, I noticed, when she served beverages, her beautiful coasters.

They were very fine lacy metalwork, with attractive wicker bottoms, not only functional but extraordinarily attractive.

"Oh," she said when I mentioned them, "that's my sister's handiwork. Aren't they lovely?"

And behind them, of course, was an interesting story.

The sister, whose name is Nancy, make these coasters in sets and now has a good market for them.

STARTED AS HOBBY

It started as a hobby and for presents to friends. Then it became a real project, with several gift shops handling them.

* * *

"It all began," my friend told me, "because Nancy didn't have nice tables!

"When she and Dick were first married, they were poor as church mice. They had no furniture to speak of, except Army cots, folding chairs and orange crates.

"Dick was an artist—a commercial artist—but it took him a long time to get established. Gradually, he began to get jobs, but not very many nor very lucrative ones.

"Nancy was wonderful at buying cheap furniture and fixing it up, mostly with paint. But she loved fine-grained old woods and longed for the day when she could have nice tables.

* * *

TERRIBLY FUSSY

"Eventually," my friend continued, "Dick became very successful and Nancy got her lovely tables. But she was a terrific fusspot about them. Dick, poor man, would forget and put glasses down on them. After all, for years they had had junky old painted ones.

* * *

"So Nancy decided to get some coasters. And when she couldn't find any that pleased her, she set out to make her own!"

When you want some product, and can't find it, you can do one of two things:

You can complain about the stupidity of the manufacturers and bore your friends to death, or you can make some yourself, and start a creative, satisfying and lucrative project.

Eisenhower Staging Quiet Revolution at White House

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
INS Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—A revolution is quietly under way at the White House.

President Eisenhower, instead of waiting until the beginning of his hoped-for second term, has already launched a reorganization of the executive department that can leave him free to become "The President of all the American people."

A top White House adviser told this correspondent today: "Few people realize the enormous transition that is now taking place here in the executive branch. Ike is determined to be remembered as a 'Statesman President.' Consequently, he is turning over all political matters to the pros and clearing his own desk for the Presidential duties that really count."

With little public fanfare, Ike has recently brought in a whole new set of "special assistants" who concentrate on the run-of-the-mill chores that once cluttered the President's work day.

The aide said Eisenhower is now "holding himself aloof from details, but shaping the policies." Claiming that he can "count on my two hands" the number of politicians who have been able to get past Eisenhower's door since his September heart attack, he explained:

"Ike is reorganizing the White House so that he can run it like the board chairman of a big corporation. He has brought in a lot of new people to coordinate various activities. Only when matters are ready for a decision will he step into the picture."

NO LONGER CROWDED

The Senators, Representatives and GOP National Committeemen who used to crowd the President's daily calling list must now content themselves with Assistant President Sherman Adams, or Presidential Secretary Bernard M. Shanley.

Heads of such national organizations as the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars see Adams, Shanley, Vice President Richard Nixon, or Mrs. Eisenhower—but not the President.

Most of the new special assistants are leaders in their respective fields who work without compensation on specific presidential tasks. Among the newcomers are William H. Jackson, who is charged with coordinating foreign policy between overlapping departments and agencies: Edward P. Curtis, whose field is air transport facilities; Moran McConihe, special consultant on District of Columbia building facilities; Meyer Kestnbaum, charged with implementation of the Hoover Commission reports and intergovernmental relations; Dillon Anderson, coordinator for the National Security Council; and Maj. Gen. John S. Bragdon, ret., whose field is public works planning for dams, power plants, public buildings and highways.

The aide said the change was speeded up by Eisenhower's heart attack, but should have been inaugurated long ago. He said the new arrangement leaves Ike's energies free for important matters that affect the welfare of all the people, and gives him more time for top-ranking cabinet officers and Budget Bureau Chief Rowland R. Hughes.

The adviser revealed that Ike is seeing Treasury Secretary George Humphrey, Attorney General Herbert Brownell and Hughes more often than ever before. He said the officials seldom appear on the published calling list, but come in the "back way" on unscheduled visits to advise and consult with the chief executive.

"Ike is turning most of the political details over to Brownell," he continued. "He has enormous respect for Herb's political sagacity and integrity. He realizes that the real pros should handle the politics—a field that holds little interest for him, anyway. What he is now doing is to concentrate on world affairs, where he is an expert."

The aide predicted that during the heat of the coming campaign, Ike can probably be persuaded to pose for pictures with a number of marginal congressmen at the White House. But he insisted that the days of easy access to the President are past.

* * *

"No longer can politicians and congressmen come trooping in here day after day to discuss their pet projects with Mr. Eisenhower, and return home to brag about what buddies they are," he declared.

"Ike is deadly serious about wanting to take cheap partisan politics out of the enormously vital job of the Presidency."

Group Blasts Building Plan

Home Builders See No Use to Continue Public Housing Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Assn. of Home Builders told senators yesterday it sees no justification for continuing the public housing program.

Joseph B. Haverstick, Dayton, Ohio, builder and president of the association, testified at the Senate Housing subcommittee hearings on omnibus 1956 housing legislation.

President Eisenhower asked congress to approve 35,000 public housing units for the year ahead. Last year Congress voted for 45,000.

Haverstick urged approval of the additional three billion dollars in FHA insurance authorization. He also supported liberalization of FHA-insured home repair and improvement loans.

This liberalization was endorsed by three other witnesses—Ben J. Staal, treasurer of the Holland Furnace Co., Holland, Mich., appearing for the National Warm Air Heating Assn., George P. Spiczak, vice president of the Home Federal Savings & Loan Assn., Chicago; and C. N. Nichols, managing director of Nersica, Inc., the Home Improvement Contractors Assn., New York.

Police Ticket Train

CONCORD, Mass. (AP)—A railroad train was tagged for blocking traffic yesterday. Police Chief Robert E. Kelley ordered the traffic ticket after getting complaints that Boston & Maine trains were across a town highway for as long as 15 minutes. There's a law which sets a 5 minute limit on stopping across intersections.

Pontiac High Students Concentrate on Easter-Time

LET'S PUT IT UP THERE — Busy planning decorations for the annual J-Hop at Pontiac High School this week are Pat Zielke, co-chairman; Alex Sekles, co-chairman; Karen Denham, ticket chairman and Saida Tuttle, decorations. Students will dance in the top hat atmosphere of the "big city," theme of the affair, being Manhattan Mood. The big spring festivity will be held Saturday, April 21 from 9 to 12. Faculty advisor is Elma Waterman. Other committee heads are Kane Bogard, music; Judy Levine, publicity; Helen Prizant and Barbara Monteith, patrons; Joy Notch, refreshments and Carol Cox, post dance clean up.

By VICKY MICU

Today Pontiac High School students began their Easter vacation, laying aside thoughts of school for thoughts of Easter-time. Students will return Wednesday.

Yesterday as school closed out and in celebration of Easter, the Vocal Department gave an Easter program in song and narration. The Selective Girls' Glee Club presented three songs and two soloists performed at the two assemblies yesterday.

Activities are at a lull for the Easter vacation, but the band will continue rehearsals for their coming spring concert April 12.

The J-hop chairmen and committees are working to finish decorations and details for the dance April 21. The theme for the affair "Manhattan Mood," is being carried out by the decorations and publicity committees. Co-chairmen are Pat Zielke, and Alex Sekles. Working with faculty advisor, Elma Waterman, are the following committees and head: music, Ken Bogard; decorations, Saida Tuttle; publicity, Judy Levine; tickets, Karen Denham; Patrons, Helene Prizant and Barbara Monteith; refreshments, Joy Notch, and post dance, Carol Cox.

FORM ART CLUB

A new art club has been formed at PHS under the supervision of T. Prueter, new art teacher at PHS. President for the club is Marilyn Gregg.

The spring vocal department will present a concert May 8, 10, and 11. Theme is "Say It With Music."

Six cheerleaders were chosen to round out the cheerleading squad this semester. New cheerleaders are Bonnie Crager, Jeanne Johnson, Karen Metz, Virginia Reed, Priscilla Runnels, and Gerald Lee Russel.

Apr. 17 the PHS Retailers are traveling to Ann Arbor to U of M for the annual state Retailing and Office clubs convention. Over 1,000 students are expected to attend.

'Spinsters' Hold Boys at Bay at St. Frederick High

By ANN SCHACHERN

The biggest news at St. Frederick High this week was not too pleasant. Bishop Alixander M. Zaleski, pastor of St. Vincent De Paul Church, will be transferred to St. Alphonsus parish in Dearborn on April 6.

The Rev. Maurice Veryser will be administrator until June when the new appointments will come out. The Rev. Weber will act as Athletic Director.

Juniors have been as busy as the proverbial "little bees" this week trying to have everything ready for their "Spinster's Spin" Tuesday April 3. "The Esquires" will provide music from 8:30 to 11:30. All the girls have noticed "how nice all the boys are acting."

"Our Town" cast was announced last week. Mike Carry, Nancy Morey and Paul Grosse have the leading roles. Other important roles went to Sally Crake, Sharon Donley, Joe Derocher and Bob Ashby.

Others in the cast are Bob Houck, Mary Ann Saghy, Norma Thyle, Betty Bader, Mary Bieri, Charles Phipps, George Daily, John Zeleznik, David Rabaut and Kay Smith.

"Oh's" and "Ah's" were heard throughout the school last Monday and Seniors were swamped by underclassmen when their graduation pictures were returned. Since then, the seniors have been kept very busy autographing their long-awaited pictures.

TO SPONSOR TOURNAMENT

The Varsity Club of St. Fred's is sponsoring the Gold Medal Basketball Tournament next week. Games will be played on Monday, Wednesday, Saturday, and Sunday. This is the first tournament of its kind to be held at St. Fred's. Many exciting games are anticipated so come on out and help the Varsity club earn their camera and projector.

The patron and sponsor drive for the Senior drive for the Senior play drew to an exciting close on Monday of this week.

A contest was held between members of the grade and high school. In the first division, Room 106 came out on top with $115. Winner of the second division was Room 204 who came out with $402. Champions of the third division was Room 203 who collected $325.

The seniors were not in the contest but they turned in $481 giving the contest a grand total of $3,080.

GREAT DAY FOR THE LADIES — St. Frederick juniors are getting all set for their Spinsters Spin dance Tuesday night. Girls can choose their dates for the vacation event. Here Margaret Drake adds the finishing touches to a poster advertising the event while Margie McHugh and Wally Quarles eye her work. The dance will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. at the school.

WTHS Groups Honor Easter

Dramatics Club Holds Rehearsals for Play at Waterford

By JEAN LIMATTA

Y-Teens and Hi-Y Clubs presented the annual Easter Assembly at Waterford Township High School yesterday before students began their spring vacation.

"What Easter Means to Me" was the topic of the three speakers—Dr. Horace White of Detroit; Jose Reguerio, Milford's foreign student from Argentina; and James Wager, WTHS senior. The program also featured special music by the choir, Roger Stevens and Pat Lawrence, seniors, headed the committee organizing the assembly.

Dramatics Club members are as busy as ever holding rehearsals for "Strange Boarders," a three-act comedy, to be presented at the high school next Friday and Saturday (Apr. 6-7) at 8 p.m. Patty Looman is director of the spring production.

Today and tomorrow GAA members will be seen at the National Food Market in Drayton Plains selling colored eggs to obtain needed funds for the annual GAA banquet. Wednesday evening the girls had a dyeing party in the homemaking room. Julie Hickman and Norma Peschel, juniors, are serving as chairmen of the project.

GIVE PROGRAM

Elementary tonette players and the junior high and senior high bands presented Instrumental Night Tuesday at 7:30 in the high school auditorium. Francis Mansfield and Bruce Orr directed the tonette players and bands respectively. WTHS band is now preparing for the annual concert set for May 16.

Graduation under the football lights is looking brighter, for about $19,000 cash has been received. With approval, construction will begin soon while the balance of funds continues to come in.

Sophomores are preparing their April 13 casual dance. Jerry Nelson will head publicity; Ernie Savas, music; Jacqueline Winters, decorations; and John Jolly, tickets. The sophomores also chose the style of class ring they wanted this week.

Waterlog editor, Carole Fortin and her yearbook staff have been pasting pictures and typing all hours of the day to complete the '56 annual. The staff traveled to Ann Arbor two times this week to meet with the printer.

Avondale Juniors Plan Door-to-Door Canvas

Avondale High School juniors are conducting a door to door canvas in their area to sell tickets for their play. In charge of the four-day vacation promotion are Steve Saunders and Jim Greenless.

Some 30 or 40 juniors are participating in the venture.

Eastern Group Studies Stock Market

Class Projects Arouse Imagination of City Junior High School Students

Vacation-minded junior high students are planning springtime activities. Different class projects have aroused student interest at city junior highs.

AT EASTERN

Mrs. Retha Miller's 8-A math classes have been watching the stock reports and have learned how to read it. They noticed that stock went up when President Eisenhower decided to run again and also special notice was given the first day Ford Motor stock was put on the market.

Ray Lowry's mechanical drawing classes are working on drawings for the Ford Motor Co. contest. Last year Eastern received $400 in cash prizes plus one gold medal.

John Sluka's boys in woodshop are working on projects for the contest too.

Homeroom 307 is working on a play titled "Herbie and the Mumps." The group is sponsoring a dance May 1.

Margaret Scott's homeroom 116 reports no tardiness for the first marking period.

Eastern had an Easter assembly Thursday. There were scripture readings about Good Friday and Easter, hymns by the audience, the Legend of the Dogwood by Lynn Thompson and a piano solo by Judy Haroutunian entitled "The Psalms."

AT LINCOLN

Two hundred and twelve ninth grade civics students visited the State Legislature during this session.

They went in two different groups. Representative Leslie H. Hudson from this district met the bus loads of students when they arrived. He and State Senator William S. Broomfield personally escorted the visitors to the various places of interest in the capitol building, explaining how each department carries on its work.

The Legislature convened at 2 p.m. and the students watched both Senate and House proceedings. The group also met Governor Williams.

AT AVONDALE

With the coming of spring Avondale Junior High students have turned their interests from basketball to baseball. Practice will start April 3. The first game will be played April 26 against Madison.

This past week during the lunch hours the girls have been participating in the basketball tournament being conducted in the gymnasium by the gym teacher.

The science students are selling garden seeds as a science project. Funds collected will go for science equipment.

School will resume Tuesday morning at the regular time after a brief Easter vacation.

AT ISAAC CRARY

Isaac Crary students are in the midst of plans for orientating Waterford Township sixth graders to life in the junior high school.

In addition to talks from members of three orientation teams, the sixth graders will see film strips and learn of the various programs.

Junior High School teachers will tell the sixth graders about seventh grade classes, and activities carried on in the rooms, as well as school activities.

Top Scholastic Students Named at St. Michael

St. Michael High School named quarterly honor students this week.

Seniors receiving a better than B average are: Marica Kramer, Elaine Neussendorfer, Janice Sears, Mary Heitjan, Gerard Steinhelper, Elizabeth Taylor, James Ebert, and Janet English.

Juniors receiving top scholastic honors include Loretta Lauinger, Patricia Martin, Sharon Moore, Richard Pifer, Mary Raymond, Gary Sabourin and Ralph Smith.

Among the sophomore honor students are Ronald Andrews, George Budwit, Michael Buchanan, William Fitzgerald, Rose Marie Flanigan, Helen Franzel, Frances Goulet, Kathleen Heitjan, Jacqueline Hoover, Elizabeth Klinck, Robert Mineweiser, Pearl Neussendorfer, Phyllis Raymond, Janet Ruebelman, Constance Shindorf, Joseph Tatham, Diane Treinen and James Wyzgoski.

Top freshmen students are John Fortier, Dominic Ginell, Jane Rindfusz, Elaine Urban, Marlene Tadlock, Mary Louise Taylor, Roberta Schumacher and Caroline Sharrow.

Waterford Students Choose Prom Theme

"La Lune Reverie" will be the theme of the 1956 prom at Waterford Township High School. Students will dance in the French atmosphere May 12.

Preparations are well under way for the event. The orchestra has been chosen and the decoration committee is busy at work finishing their jobs. Favors and programs have been chosen.

Nancy Johnson, decoration chairman, holds regular weekly workshops.

Local Fan Club Reveals Pontiac Top Ten Tunes

The top 10 tunes in Pontiac were compiled this week by members of the Teresa Brewer Fan Club and the Record department of WKC.

1. Blue Suede Shoes, Carl Perkins
2. Hot Diggity, Perry Como
3. Poor People of Paris, Les Baxter
4. A Tear Fell, Teresa Brewer
5. And the Angels Sing, Chuckles
6. Theme from "Man with the Golden Arm," Richard Mulpby
7. Why Do Fools Fall in Love, Teenagers
8. Ivory Tower, Charms
9. Eddie My Love, Fontaines
10. I'll Be Home, Pat Boone

Top five predictions in the area as compiled by the group are:

1. We Go Together, Moonglows
2. Can You Find It In Your Heart, Tony Bennett
3. Bella, Bobba Nella, Gaylords
4. On the Wrong Side of Town, Norma J. Garrison.
5. Lullaby of Love, Lorelels and Out of the Picture, Crewcuts.

Highs Plan April Shower of Activity

Main preparation in area schools this week was for vacation. Some of the schools get four day vacations and some a week or ten days. Students are ready for the promised flurry of April activities.

AT WALLED LAKE

Kathleen Dunne, Walled Lake senior, won the district contest in original oratory at Farmington last week. Her oration was entitled "The Scare" and exposed the ignorance of students about communism. She will compete for regional honors at Southfield late in April.

Other students who did well at the contest were Nina Hill and Dorothea Buck who were second and third in declamation and Horst Weinert who was third in extempore.

On Thursday afternoon all Walled Lake High School students participated in an Easter Assembly which featured sacred music by the choruses under the direction of Mrs. Ronald Lamontagne, readings by speech students of Mrs. William Duckwitz, and instrumental solos by band students of Helmut Holland-Moritz.

Walled Lake schools adjourned Thursday afternoon for the Easter holiday. They will resume classes on Tuesday morning, April 2.

AT AVONDALE

Avondale High School is sponsoring a Donkey Basketball game Tuesday and Wednesday nights at 7:30.

Tuesday there are three games on tap. The girls will play the first, boys the second and faculty and local businessmen the third.

On Wednesday night the faculty will play Southfield High School faculty. Between game features will include riding a mechanical donkey and a trick donkey. This is the fifth consecutive year that this basketball game has been presented at Avondale.

Proceeds from the event will go to the athletic department.

Two sophomores will represent the school at regional forensic competition in Ann Arbor. Dennis Bush and Roberta Rains will compete.

AT BLOOMFIELD HILLS

Bloomfield Hills High students are enjoying vacation time as of yesterday. Classes will resume April 9.

Some of the students venturing to Florida are: Harry Durbin, Ned Grant, Jim Dunn, Carol Brodie, Cindy Scott, Bob Ogur, Betsy Arnoldi, Holly Freda, Nancy Charles, Bill Hollenbeck, Gretchen Van Boven, Roger and Dale Moncrieff, Donna Corpron, Judy Ewald, Sylvia Longyear, Lynn Benjamin, Glen Prignitz, Bob Klintworth, Chris Klintworth, David and Debby Arnoldi, Chris Andrae, and Dave Huebner.

Friday, April 13, the B-Club will present the annual B-Club Carnival. All of the games will take place in the odd numbered wing and the gym.

The combined GAA and B-Club will put on a variety show with all of the entertainment being provided by members of the two organizations.

All profits from this affair will go into an accident fund.

AT CLARKSTON

Clarkston students are in the midst of preparation for their annual carnival which is scheduled for April 20. All classes and organizations are hard at work planning their concessions.

Through the cooperation of the Hi-Y, art classes and home economics classes, Easter baskets are being made and filled for the boys and girls at the Children's Home in Pontiac.

The junior Class Play "Cheaper by the Dozen" is beginning to form. The play will be presented April 12-13.

The "Scoobie Doobie" disc jockey dance sponsored by the juniors was held last night. CHS activities closed as of dance time for Easter Holidays.

Student Wins One of Two Dale Carnegie Scholarships

By JANET ENGLISH

According to the expressed opinions of the student body of St. Michaels, the Easter vacation, that began Wednesday noon, is just what the doctor ordered.

Although the third quarter proved to be "quite a strain" on the scholastic abilities of the Michaelites, there were 9 seniors, 7 juniors, 18 sophomores, and 8 freshmen, who managed to pull an honor roll rating for this quarter.

A student council meeting was held Wednesday. Following the reports of the officers, the high school enjoyed two movies, both sponsored by the C.S.M.C. The subject matter of each was concerned with the work of the White Fathers in Africa.

Speaking of the C.S.M.C., applications are being completed by those students who wish to attend the 17th national Catholic Students Mission Crusade Convention at Notre Dame this summer.

Some of the upperclassmen who were fortunate enough to attend the last convention held in 1954 are giving it high recommendations and are thus encouraging underclassmen to go.

Winner of one of the two Dale Carnegie scholarships offered by Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan was our own Jim Barnowski.

Literary gems were pouring from the pens of the aspiring writers this week as they completed essays on the Archdiocesan Development Fund.

* * *

The essays chosen as best will be entered in the archdiocese contest. The winners of this contest will be awarded $25 cash prizes.

Educated Duck Takes Off; Pupils Turn to White Mice

An "educated" duck went back to his original habitat yesterday after spending the last few months getting "booklearnin'."

Clarence Duck, a pet of 12 retarded youngsters at Jefferson Junior High School, served as a nature study project for the group. They fed and cared for their adopted "schoolmate," coddling him daily.

Students decided the time had come for their learned member of the bird society to go back to his outdoor friends before he forgot what freedom was like.

Frank C. Budd, teacher of the class said when the duck's feet touched the water of the Millpond in Beaudette Park, he was off.

Class members are a little saddened at losing their friend but they all agree it's not nearly so bad losing him to the great outdoors as it was losing his predecessor, Daisy Duck. Wounded Daisy was adopted and cared for by the class, but even a last-minute operation failed as a desperate attempt to save her life in December.

A kind soul found another duck (Clarence) soon after and donated it to the group.

The youngsters are keeping busy so they won't miss Clarence too much. Their white mice and fish are receiving a little extra care now and a garden project of growing flowers and vegetables has taken on a bit more attraction

LANSING (AP)—Ernest H. Ward, 75, founder and president of the E. H. Ward Co., long-established heating and sheet metal business, died Thursday. A lifelong resident of Lansing, Ward was a former member of the Lansing City Council and the Ingham County Board of Supervisors.

Hollywood Headlines:

Audrey and Mel to Star in Television 'Mayerling'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Everything these days makes Audrey Hepburn happy, and you can't wonder, with life as exciting as it is for her. Kurt Frings has just signed Audrey and Mel Ferrer for an hour and a half long TV spectacular for NBC.

Audrey and Mel will be starred in "Mayerling," the beautiful love story, in color, with Anatole Litvak directing.

I have no idea what Audrey and Mel will be paid for doing this stint, but you can guess it will be one of the largest amounts ever paid for a TV spectacular.

With "Golden Boy" out the window for Mario Lanza at Columbia, his next will be "The Golden Voice" which Mario and his favorite director, Tony Mann, will make on their own.

I was interested to hear that "The Golden Voice" is an original based on Mario's life. If they tell "all" it should have some dramatic moments.

Many scenes for "Golden Voice" will be filmed in South Philadelphia, Mario's home town.

BUSINESSMAN TONY

Tony Curtis is very funny about being a businessman. He has his own office with Hecht-Lancaster, and he told me, "I have my own secretary and she calls me Mr. Curtis."

Tony is going to do "Sweet Smell of Success" for the Hecht-Lancaster company as soon as he finishes "Cory" at Universal International.

He told me that Janet Leigh, who had so much trouble in the early months of her pregnancy, is very much better and they have moved into their new home.

The Australian beauty, Victoria Shaw, who came here from down under to play Tyrone Power's second wife in "The Eddy Duchin Story," found her own romance here.

She and Roger Smith, young Columbia actor who hails from Nogales, Ariz., will announce their engagement May 21. They will not marry, however, until next November when Victoria's parents come here from Sydney for the ceremony.

SPRING WEDDING

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: It's a marriage later this spring for Kay Starr and Harold Smith. She meets her in-laws-to-be, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith Sr., in Las Vegas next month.

Poor Connie Haines, who is expecting a baby, came into Sportsman's Lodge on crutches. She's had serious trouble with her spine.

The last of April, Vera Miles and Gordon Scott will hop over to Arizona to be married. Vera finishes "The Wrong Man" sooner than she expected.

The sister of Marlon Brando, Jacelyn Brando, who has played several small roles, gets her first big part in "Nightfall" with Aldo Ray.

The ex-Mrs. Dane Clark, known professionally as Margo Veres, is in Mayo Clinic for a checkup.

Banana production during 1955 in Ecuador climbed to 35,000,000 stems compared with some 29,000,000 the year before and 24,000,000 in 1953.

Moonshine Still Fires Right Back at Sheriff

MANCHESTER, Ky. (AP) — A moonshine whisky still returned Sheriff Daniel Davidson's fire.

The sheriff and a party found the still in the nearby mountains. Davidson fired. The 30-30 bullet bounced back and struck him in the leg.

The steel-barrel still was then smashed with hammers. The sheriff wasn't seriously hurt.

Churches of Area Plan Special Easter Services

By WILMA GREENWAY

Worshippers in hundreds of villages, cities and townships in the Oakland County Area attended solemn Good Friday services this afternoon, as Christians across the nation paid tribute to Christ's sacrifice upon the cross.

Many churches will observe Holy Saturday in worship and prayer tomorrow.

Orchard Lake

At Orchard Lake Community, the Westminster Choir will sing at both the 6:30 and 9 a.m. services, which open with a pageant. At 7:30 and 8:15 the young people will serve breakfast to those who have reservations made.

The Rev. Barney Roepcke will preach at both services and again at 11 a.m. Church school will be held at 9 and 11 a.m. as usual.

Waterford

Waterford Community Church will have an Easter sunrise service at 7 a.m. The Rev. Ken Hasper, evangelist, will be guest preacher. Sunday School at 9:35 and worship service at 11 a.m. At 7:30 p.m. the choir will present the Easter concert.

Easter will also start a one-week Gospel Campaign, to be conducted by Evangelist Hasper. Services will be held nightly through April 8, with singing and special music featured.

Sunnyvale Chapel will have a 7 a.m. service Sunday and another at 11 a.m. with special duets, trios and choir music planned. The children's Easter program will take place at 9:45 a.m. in the Sunday School, and the 7:30 evening service will be highlighted by presentation of an Easter play, "The Symbol of a Cross."

Festive Easter Sunday services at Christ Lutheran Church, Airport and Williams Lake Rds., will be held at 7 and 11 a.m., with the Rev. Arvid Anderson preaching on "Death Is Overcome."

The Adult Choir of The Lakeland United Presbyterian Church will present selections from "The Holy City" by A. R. Gaul at the regular worship hour on Easter Sunday. Soloists will be Mrs. Murlin Vaughn, Margaret Issit, and the Rev. Roy F. Lambert. The Children's Choir will sing "Christ Arose".

Drayton Plains

A Youth Sunrise Service at 7 a.m. will begin Easter at Community United Church. Worship services, with special music, also have been scheduled for 8 and 11 a.m. Bible School will meet at the usual hour at 9:45 a.m. There will be no Sunday evening service.

First Baptist Church will hold a 7 a.m. service, to be followed by breakfast at 8. At 10 a.m. there will be a rally and promotion program in the Sunday School, with awards for work and good attendance being presented. The Rev. James Taulbee will preach at an 11 a.m. service, and again at the 7:15 p.m. Communion service.

St. Andrew Episcopal Church will have a 3:30 p.m. baptism service Saturday. Easter Sunday will see a festive choral Communion service at 8 a.m. and a choir and server breakfast at 9:30. First appearance of a new male quartet will be a feature of the 11 a.m. Communion service and a 3:30 p.m. baptismal service.

Absentee Ballot Deadline Near, Clerk Warns

Tomorrow at 2 p.m. is the last time for Pontiac absentee voters to cast ballots in the city general election.

Usually closed on Saturdays, the city clerk's office in the City Hall will remain open tomorrow until 2 p.m. to receive those Pontiac voters who will be unable to go to the polls in Monday's election.

The office will remain open today until the usual 5 p.m. and will open at 8 a.m. Saturday.

City commissioners and a charter amendment shifting the date of future general elections to the third Monday in April instead of the present first, will be decided in Monday's balloting.

Waterford Pays Recreation Cost

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — The Township Board here has agreed to pay $13,270.61 as the township's share of the recreation department budget.

The board, meeting this week, in other business, received petitions for street lighting for Watkins-Pontiac Estates Subdivision.

Temporary approval of a plat, Lakeland Heights Subdivision No. 2 at Clintonville and Lake Angelus Roads was given.

Township justices were authorized to attend a traffic conference at MSU on April 10-12.

Warrant to Be Sought After Man's Face Cut

A warrant will be sought by a 40-year-old man who claimed he was slashed on the face with a knife after a card game last night at 533 Harvey St., Pontiac police said.

The victim, Bennie Williams, 481 Harvey St. was treated in Pontiac General Hospital where 24 stitches were taken for the wound which he told police was inflicted apparently "for no reason at all."

He said he was talking near the front door of the rooming house at about 9:30 p.m. when his assailant slashed him and then fled.

Dearborn Youth, 17, Given Fine, Jail Term

A Dearborn youth who pleaded guilty to two traffic violations yesterday before Oak Park Justice William F. Nern was fined a total of $48 and sentenced to three days in Oakland County Jail.

John Bennett, 17, was fined $25 with $5 costs for reckless driving, and $15 with $3 costs for driving with a revoked license. He drew concurrent sentences of three days on each charge.

County Deaths

Mrs. Maude M. Wardlow

HIGHLAND — Service for Mrs. Maude M. Wardlow, 75, of 1716 Wardlow Rd., will be at Richardson Bird Chapel, Milford, at 3 p.m. Sunday. Burial will be in the Highland Cemetery.

Donald Ray Goanas

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Service for Donald Ray Goanas, year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobie Joe Goanas of 743 Winding Dr., will be at 2 p.m. Saturday from Coats Funeral Home, Drayton Plains Cemetery. The baby died last night as the result of a fire at the family residence.

Surviving besides his parents are the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Eagles and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Willis, all of Pontiac; three sisters, Cheryl Lynn, Theresa Ann and Kathy Jean, and a brother, David Grant.

Elmer G. Clothier

ALMONT — Service for Elmer G. Clothier, 77, 318 Branch St., will be at 2 p.m. Saturday from Muir Brothers Funeral Home here, with burial in Hough Cemetery, Almont Lodge F&AM 51 will conduct graveside services. Mr. Clothier died Thursday in Bishop Hospital.

BABY BUNNY BLUES — Businessman Johnny Parvu, 10, of Wixom, is feeling slightly unhappy at the thought of parting with bunnies Floppsy, Moppsy, Cottontail and Peter. Johnny raised the babies with the idea of selling them at Eastertime.

Cream Puff's Babies Too Cute to Sell

Eastertime Businessman Loses Heart

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Milford Correspondent

MILFORD—What started out to be a big deal for a little businessman, has turned into a sad experience for a ten-year-old who lives in Wixom.

Johnny Parvu, who helps his dad run a general store in town, decided to raise a batch of rabbits in time for the Easter rush, sell the litter for 75 cents each and make a neat profit. (After pellets for the doe).

* * *

"Cream Puff," the family pet was bred, and then followed 24 days of anxious waiting for Johnny. He fed the rabbit the very best high-grade food he could find. Cabbage, carrots, apples and celery made up the special diet.

He read books on rabbit husbandry—and found out that rabbits sometimes produce as many as 15 bunnies in one litter. That looked like $11.25 to John.

The big day came on March 7 and Cream Puff was the mother of—not 15—but four. The children were immediately named Flppsy, Moppsy, Cottontail and Peter.

What John didn't bargain for was the fact that Cream Puff's first litter would turn out to be such lovable, cuddly baby bunnies. Every tiny white bundle of fur was a miracle to Johnny.

And that's the sad part of the story. He has to sell them. (Or maybe he could talk his dad into going into the rabbit business—he has read that rabbits multiply fast).

Anyway, whatever happens, Johnny still goes about the business of helping his dad in the store, but he keeps one eye on the big white basket that says "Easter Bunnies For Sale."

Wixom Folks Ask Aid in Cemetery's Crisis

WIXOM — A cemetery is a place for the repose of the dead, but it takes active, living people to maintain its verdant, orderly tranquility.

Wixom Cemetery, which dates back to 1864 and has buried init most of the early pioneers of that area, faces a crisis.

Over the years, the cemetery has been cared for by an association of lot holders governed by a board of four members.

These officers took such good care of the cemetery business, that gradually the association members dropped the habit of attending board meetings. In recent years, with no members at meetings, the officers simply re-elected themselves and continued with their job.

But this year, two of the four board members died, leaving only two on the board and no active membership to provide new officers. Death of President Earl C. Woodworth last month and of vice president Herbert G. Roach in September left only half a board made up of Richard J. Baufield, secretary, and Rollin J. Porter, treasurer.

Mrs. Porter, on behalf of the association board, has appealed to the Pontiac Press to publicize the need for at least two person to help perpetuate the cemetery. She asks that lot owners and interested persons attend the annual meeting, set for 8 p.m. tomorrow in Wixom Baptist Church.

The cemetery came into existence after Deacon Alonzo Sibley took up land and established a homestead in the area which came to be known as Sibley's Corners.

In 1864, the Deacon deeded a section of land a half mile north of the present community of Wixom to the Wixom Baptist Church Society, and here Wixom's first and only church was built. A portion of the property, at Wes' Maple and Wixom Rds. in Commerce Township, became the burial ground.

When the coming of the Pere Marquette and Grand Trunk Airline railroads by the 1870s fostered the village of Wixom, a new school had to be built. And in 1899 the Baptist Church was moved to a site beside the school, allowing the cemetery to expand. Later more land was purchased, increasing its size.

Many respected and distinguished citizens of the Wixom area the old cemetery. Some of the old found their final resting place in slabs in the original plot have names unknown to any living person — others are easily recognizable as pioneer settlers in this sector of Michigan.

Some of the early residents who served on the cemetery board are William Chambers who had a hardware store in Wixom, Ephraim Burch and later his son, Ford.

These men established a trust still provides a small sum to fund made by subscription which care for the cemetery. Other income is from the sale of lots. Only once have special subscriptions been asked.

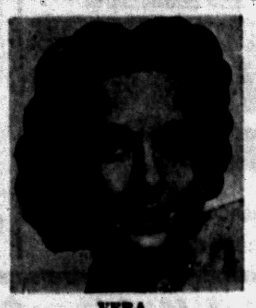

Others who worked on the board many years were Judd Furman and Chris Oldenburg.

Former Miss Kansas Is Talented After All

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I have a pediculous memory (I'm not allowed to say "lousy"), but I remembered a bouncy, blonde little "Miss Kansas" who didn't win the 1948 Miss America Pageant.

Talent's vital at Atlantic City. As a judge, I watched the gals acting out Shakespeare or Dorothy Parker—or showing their paintings or needlework—or shouting opera.

VERA

But sexy, vivacious Miss Kansas faced us and said in a twang:

"I have no talent. My only talent would be raising children."

The wolves yowled. But we chose Miss Bebe Shopp of St. Paul—just a whiz with the vibraharp.

The other day I went to interview Vera Miles, "Hollywood's new Grace Kelly," said by Alfred Hitchcock and John Ford to be brilliantly talented.

All I knew was that she was in the Atlantic City contest once. Now I beheld a worldly, sophisticated woman of poise.

"Vera Miles" hadn't clicked because she'd been "Vera Ralston" in the pageant. As third runner-up, she got a $2,500 scholarship, studied in Los Angeles, free-lanced in TV, got married and had two daughters (and a separation) and went to London for a film, "23 Paces to Baker Street."

On "Medic," playing a woman with breast cancer, she attracted Alfred Hitchcock who signed her for five years and cast her opposite Henry Fonda in "The Wrong Man."

"One thing that helped me was my Kansas twang," she said. "I kept my mouth shut. People thought I was deep. I learned a lot that way."

JULIE

"By the way, what's happened to Bebe Shopp?" she asked.

"Oh," I said. "She did really have great talent with the vibraharp, but she went back to St. Paul and started raising children."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Charm gal Magda Gabor and Tony Gallucci'll make it an Easter wedding at the home of Dr. Leslie Vermes in Franklin, N. J., "a little Hungarian town" . . . Rubirosa's due here to resume with Zsa Zsa . . . Grace Kelly cooks her own breakfast here and has shopped on 7th avenue. Disturbed by a report that she prefers Europe, she says: "Being an American has always been and will continue to be very important in my life."

Ava Gardner's asking price of $300,000 and 10 per cent of the world gross is stalling "Matador." It was set for Spain with Jose Ferrer . . . What irony! The Shamrock Hilton Hotel in Houston hit its second oil well on hotel property formerly owned by oilman Glen McCarthy.

Phyllis McGuire dated singer Don Cherry . . . Ida Lupino and her ma will open a gambling casino in Mexico . . . Pretty Julie Bennett will add glamour to Jack Webb's "Dragnet" series.

EARL'S PEARLS . . .

A statesman is a man who can yawn with his mouth closed.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Taffy Tuttle spotted Gregory Peck in a restaurant and told him excitedly, "You're so handsome—you're another Robert Taylor!" That's earl, brother.

Police Hold Husband After Wife Is Shot

A 58-year-old man, arrested by police early this morning, denied charges that three hours before he had wounded his wife with a shotgun during an argument at home, police said.

Dewey Spears, 280 Rapid St. is being held, police said, on investigation of assault to murder his wife Nettie, 36, who was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital for treatment of the wound in her left arm.

She told police that the argument occurred at 3 a.m. after company left. Spears first threatened her with a knife and then with the gun, she said, which suddenly went off during a tussle. Spears, who apparently fled, later was arrested when he returned home at 6:30 a.m.

The woman said she would sign a complaint, police said.

Sylvan Manor Group Slates Monday Confab

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Paul S. Kearns, president of the Sylvan Manor Association, is inviting all residents in the subdivision to the monthly meeting of the association on Monday, in the West Bloomfield Township Hall at 8 p.m.

Following the meeting, there will be a social hour with refreshments.

Drainage committee will report any new developments with regard to the septic tank and drainage problems in the subdivision. There will be a report on progress being made with the petitions for blacktopping the streets.

Several months ago a mail box committee was formed in an effort to beautify the subdivision by erecting standardized mail box platforms. This committee reported its findings at the December meeting and block captains were appointed to collect the two dollars from each home owner. This matter will also be discussed.

Sylvan to Attempt Selling Bonds for Water System

Sylvan Lake is making a second attempt to sell $50,000 worth of revenue bonds to complete their new water system.

No bids were received at the bid opening March 7 so upon the advice of Claude Stevens, bond attorney, the city is readvertising the bonds at 98½ per cent of par value. They were originally advertised at 100 per cent.

Bids are hoped to be received by April 11, according to City Manager Ernest L. Ethier.

The issuance of the bonds to complete the $275,000 system was approved this week by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission.

To date, Ethier said, 140 applications for connections to the new system have been received. Bills are expected to be mailed soon, he added, and may be paid at the City Hall for a 30-day period without penalty.

A minimum quarterly charge entitling the consumer to use up to 8,000 gallons of water each quarter shall be made depending upon the size of meter used. The charge varies from the smallest meter with a charge of $4, to a 4-inch meter with a minimum quarterly charge of $52.

In other Sylvan Lake affairs, residents may pay sanitary sewer bills without penalty during April, after which a 10 per cent penalty will be added.

All unpaid 1955 taxes, including special sewer and water assessment installments, are being certified to the Oakland County Treascounty office by first obtaining a Payment with interest and penalties can now be made at the countyoffice by first obtaining a statement of unpaid taxes from the Sylvan Lake city clerk.

A public hearing is scheduled on the city's 1956-57 proposed budget for April 11, Ethier said.

FIGHT DRAYTON BLAZE — Firemen from the Waterford Township Dept. peer into the smoke which surrounded a fire at the Drayton Beer Store on Dixie Highway this morning. The flames started when a furnace reportedly exploded in the basement. The blaze was brought under control before it reached the store's exterior. (See story on page two.)

And She's Scared of Failing

Katharine Cornell to Plunge Into Television

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Katharine Cornell, an actress since infancy and a first lady of the theater for 35 years, was nko acting now.

* * *

She was sitting on a velour settee, smiling self-consciously through a gauzy veil that cupped her face, wishing no doubt she had stayed in bed.

"All right," she said huskily. "I got caught. I don't know just how I got caught, but I am in it. What would you like to know."

What Miss Cornell meant was that after dozens of years of "resisting the blandishments" of Hollywood and television, she is finally about to do a TV spectacular.

She will enact her most famous role, in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," on NBC's "Producers' Showcase" Monday night.

* * *

"And I am scared," she confessed. Of what? She was asked.

"I am afraid of everything about television. I am very much afraid of you sitting here right now, asking questions."

Why? "You might write 'Miss Cornell should have stayed on the stage.' And you might be right."

USUALLY COMPOSED

Timidity is not an inherent characteristic of Miss Cornell's nature. At the age of 58, she has successfully conquered Broadday with regal composure, has rarely received a disapproving reviewfrom the critics who love her. She has performed "Barretts," furthermore, well over 1,000 times — both here and overseas.

For her performance as the 19th Century poetess, Elizabeth Barrett she has never played to less than a sell-out audience.

* * *

"A, but it's not so simple here on TV," said Miss Cornell wringing her hands a la Lady Macbeth. "Forthis medium, there is a completely new set of techniques. You hear this/quiet voice I am speaking in now, just conversationally to you? I must cut that in half for TV.

"You see my gesture?" She flun out a graceful arm, nearly upsetting a nearby scotch and soda. "That must be cut in half too.

"Complete economy of acting is what they use on TV."

* * *

Complete economy of playing time is also used, she says. S"I don't know where we're missing it, but we have somehow cut one hour out of the play."

Miss Cornell, who will be directed in her rumored $250,000 production by her husband, Guthrie McClintic, says that she tasked to many of her actor friends before finally accepting the video challenge.

TERRIFIC ORDEAL

"They all warned me it was a terrific ordeal. But the trouble is, they didn't say 'don't do it.' So here I am, doing it."

* * *

She also watched, at length, the successful televisioning of another stage great lady, Helen Hayes. "Helen does it simply and easily, apparently witout agony. I guess I can get my feet wet too."

Though her first appearance as Elizabeth Barrett was performed at the age of 31, Miss Cornell isn't particularly concerned that she may be too old for the part now.

"Despite her great love story, Elizabeth was not young (she was 45) and not beautiful, at the time of her romance. This makes me think," she lowered her eyes modestly, "that I am suitable for the part."

France produced slightly more than 40,860,000,000 pounds of cow's milk in 1955, a slight increase over 1954 production.

Seaway Official Sees Lake Traffic Beginning in '62

DETROIT (INS) — The president of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway Association has warned Michigan residents not to expect the connection to the St. Lawrence Seaway until 1962, and maybe even later.

Dr. N. R. Danielian, at a meeting of the Board of Commerce leaders in Detroit, said:

"It may not even be ready by 1962 unless the people go after their congressional representatives to speed up work on the Detroit and St. Clair River channels."

Carlos Toros, manager of the board's World Trade Bureau, reported a study showed 2,100 foreign vessels could be expected to come to Detroit in 1962.

Literature circulated at today's gathering pointed out that Detroit, as a port, is second largest in the U.S. in value of trade, and ranks 12th in tonnage among domestic ports.

YOU'LL GET A REAL BOOT OUT OF THIS BEAUTY

(Just switch the pitch and see)

We'll grant that you'll get a kick from just looking at a new Buick—it's that kind of automobile.

But you'll have to take the wheel, turn the key and press that pedal before you get any idea what this sizzler on wheels can do to your spirits and well-being.

It will take you only a handful of happy minutes to get the idea.

Just nudge the pedal—no more than a gas-saving inch—and you'll feel the instant new getaway that's yours with the new Variable Pitch Dynaflow* even before you switch the pitch.

Just find a spot where you can safely and legally call out the reserves—then floor the pedal. That switches the pitch instantly—and in the same split-second you're at full-power acceleration and sweeping ahead like you never did before in any other earth-bound vehicle.

And all the while, just lend an attentive ear to the whispered might of that big 322-cubic-inch V8 that powers this spectacular performance. For that's the smoothest, the quietest and the highest-powered engine, Series for Series, in all Buick history.

There's more, of course, to make the thrills come thick and fast when you're bossing the Best Buick Yet.

There's the deep, soft comfort of big interiors—and the sweet and solid steadiness of that great Buick ride.

There's the grace of line you can see stretching before you—and the sure and nimble way this beauty handles and corners and tracks and targets to the road.

So come be our guest at the wheel of a spanking-new Buick—just for fun and kicks and a new excitement. And if you feel this is the car for you, we'll show you prices and a deal that say it's yours for sure. Drop in today or tomorrow, won't you?

Pride of the Florida Thoroughbreds right now is Needles, the son of the 1949 Kentucky Derby winner Ponder.

The speedy three-year-old, purchased a year ago for $20,000 by business executives Jackson Dudley and B. T. Heath, is taking some of limelight away from the million dollar deal for Nashua.

At least Needles has already returned far more than his sales slip.

By winning the $100,000 added Florida Derby last weekend gave Needles a net of $95,200 for the race and $338,600 for the investment.

★ ★ ★ ★

Couple weeks ago he won the $100,000 Flamingo, and now awaits the big test in the Kentucky Derby.

One guy especially happy over Needles' success is veteran trainer, Hugh Fontaine.

Trainers are like coaches. They have their "ups" when the victory trail is green, and their "downs," when they don't have the horses.

★ ★ ★ ★

Fontaine turned to "greener" pastures when things seemed to stay down too long, but the stable air beckoned him.

It was Fontaine who cued the two business men on Needles, and it got him back into the training field.

The two $100,000 races won this month by Needles have given an old horseman some bright moments.

Wings Wrap It Up, 3-1, Meet Montreal Saturday

AP Wirephoto

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings have cleared the first hurdle in their drive toward a third straight Stanley Cup hockey championship.

But blocking the way to that achievement — matched by only one other club in National Hockey League history — are the Montreal Canadiens, the team that kept the Wings from an eighth consecutive NHL title this season.

* * *

The Red Wings were at their championship best last night as they galloped to a 3-1 decision over the Toronto Maple Leafs to enter the final round. They wrapped it up in five games, the Leafs' lone victory coming in the fourth game at Toronto Tuesday night.

* * *

Five times in the series Detroit found itself behind, and four times the Wings came back. It was a bruising series and the Red Wings will get only two days' rest before tackling the Canadiens at Montreal Saturday night in the best-of-7 opener.

The Canadiens required five games to eliminate the third-place New York Rangers, too, but wound up that series earlier in the week. So along with the problem of facing the champions, the Red Wings must do it without a break in the schedule.

* * *

"There was talk both ways on whether it would hurt the chances of the underdog Detroit squad. Coach Jimmy Skinner said. "We won't be able to tell about that until the first game."

Skinner said that if the Wings are up, "it won't make any difference. But if we are sluggish and slow at the start—as we were through this series—then we'll have extra trouble."

* * *

The two clubs have met in three Stanley Cup showdowns and Montreal has yet to take it all. The Canadiens lost to Detroit in four games in 1952, and in hectic, seven-game matches in 1954 and 1955.

Another win in the finals for Detroit would match the record of the Toronto clubs of 1947-48-49 in sweeping three straight Stanley Cups. It's the 14th appearance in hockey's biggest battle for the Wings, and the 13th for the Canadiens.

Two timely passes in the first period enabled the Detroiters to come from a 1-0 deficit and snare the deciding victory last night. Alex Delvecchio was on the receiving end of both and twice beat Toronto goalie Harry Lumley to put the Wings in front.

* * *

Gordie Howe, second to Montreal's Jean Believeau in the NHL scoring race, took the puck off the right boards and delivered a pass to Delvecchio in front of the Toronto nets for the goal that deadlocked the score at 8:38. Delvecchio's second goal came at 14:49 on a pretty pass from Len Kelly, who had picked up a loose puck behind the Maple Leaf nets.

After rookie Dick Duff gave the Leafs a 1-0 first-period lead at 5:34 on a toss from Ron Hurst, the offensive show was practically all Detroit.

* * *

When Toronto could not score and time was running out, the Leafs pulled out goalie Lumley in favor of another attacker.

Detroit goalie Glenn Hall was extended only twice in the late going and the Wings shot in for an insurance goal with less than 1 minute to play. Ted Lindsay grabbed the puck at mid-ice and sped past two Toronto defenders to push it into the unprotected net.

Jap Editorial Raps Officials Who Play Golf

Paper Suggests Heavy Tax on Game Because of "Corruption"

TOKYO (AP) — The newspaper Tokyo Shimbun in an editorial today suggested a new heavy tax on golf because "it is a medium for corruption, . . . a minority of Japanese are monopolizing huge tracts of desperately needed land, . . . the ability to afford golf indicates a privileged status, . . . and its the only thing left untaxed."

The editorial claimed many scandals involving government officials "have been hatched on golf courses."

Investigator Grills McCoy

Attempts to Establish Matchmakers Friendship With Gamblers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Chief Investigator James J. Cox said today he has a few more matters to air in the governor's committee probe of boxing in California, with Matchmaker Babe McCoy slated to lead off again as the opening witness.

Cox grilled McCoy about his relations, if any, with notorious Frankie Carbo and Champ Segal, who have been prominently mentioned in fight scandals in the East.

* * *

But all Cox got was a shrug of shoulders from McCoy and the admission that he was acquainted with the two but had never had any business dealings with them.

McCoy spent some six hours on the stand yesterday as Cox concentrated his questioning on the matchmaker's relations with three boxers, Gil Cadilli, Don Jordan and Carlos Chavez.

* * *

Through Cadilli, particularly, Cox sought to establish that McCoy not only is the matchmaker at the influential Olympic Auditorium but was the secret owner or co-owner of fighters.

McCoy, in detail, denied such allegations, with legal help from his attorney, Jake Erhlich of San Francisco.

Frenchman Seeks Upset Over Costa

NEW YORK (AP)—France's Cherif Hamia hopes to benefit from stablemate Charley Humez, mistakes and upset 2-1 favored Carmelo (Chubby) Costa in a television 10-rounder between featherweight contenders tonight at Madison Square Garden.

* * *

The baby-faced, 25-year-old Parisian watched Humez, the European middleweight champion, take two rounds to warm up against Tiger Jones in the Garden last Friday night. The slow getaway cost the rallying Humez the split decision by the narrow margin of 1 point.

* * *

He knocked out world batamweight champion Robert Cohen in the 10th round Dec. 10 and has 13 knockouts in 25 fights to his credit. Unbeaten in his last 9, he has a 23-1-1 record.

Fishing Outlook for Weekend Is Reported Gloomy

LANSING (AP) — Weekend fishing prospects are generally poor for the northern Lower Peninsula, the State Conservation Department advised today.

Some white fish were being taken from Crystal Lake. Perch fishing was fair in Tawas Bay. Only a few fishermen and sparse catches were reported from Hubbard Lake.

Fishing pressure was light on Higgins and Houghton Lakes with a few perch and blue gills being taken. The ice was still safe for driving on Houghton Lake.

Trainer Case Awaits Verdict at Maryland

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Racing Commission plans to announce a decision Saturday in the case of Trainer Jimmy McGee, who was suspended after tests turned up caffeine in the system of one of his horses.

* * *

A urinalysis disclosed the caffeine in Morning After, winner of a race at Bowie March 16.

* * *

McGee was suspended by Bowie stewards for the remainder of the present meeting ending April 14. The commission may extend the suspension if it decides the horse was purposely stimulated.

Freeland Quits Cage Post

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Niles Freeland, head basketball coach at Walled Lake high school for the past 11 years, resigned his post today for reasons he termed "financially inadequate for the extra amount of time the job requires."

* * *

Freeland went to Walled Lake as head football and basketball coach in 1945 and held the grid job for two years.

From 1947 through 1952 he served as assistant football coach and for four years he was the school's athletic director.

In making his decision to quit the basketball job, Freeland said he would still remain as member of the faculty, teaching courses in Drivers Education and also as head baseball coach.

However he admitted that "if the right offer presented itself" he would like to continue in the basketball coaching field.

In his 11 years, Walled Lake basketball teams posted an overall record of 99 wins and 78 losses, including two league titles, five district championships and a regional crown.

His teams won the Inter-Lakes basketball titles in 1950 and 1951. This past season the Vikings had a 11-5 season record and 13-6 with tournament play.

* * *

Before going to Walled Lake, Freeland started coaching at Auburn Heights (now Avondale), and was there from 1937 to 1941.

The Vikings this year finished second, behind Berkley, in the Inter-Lakes conference, with a team made up predominately of juniors.

In the district playoffs Walled Lake easily defeated Northville and Milford before falling to a strong St. Clair quintet in the regionals.

RESIGNS —Niles Freeland today announced his resignation as basketball coach at Walled Lake High School. Niles coached the cagers for 11 seasons and this year his team had a 11-5 season mark and 13-6 with tourney play.

BIG MAN WITH TOP SCORERS — George Bayer (center), Cincinnati, Ohio, 285 pound hard hitting golfer, picks Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., and Gene Littler of Palm Springs, Calif., off their feet after the opening round of the Azalea Open Golf Tournament at Wilmington, N. C. Littler shot a 66 to lead the field, followed by 67 of Palmer and Bayer.

Golf Teacher of Stars Has No Ulcer Worries

NEW YORK (AP)—Phil Galvano is a golf pro who wouldn't swap places with Ben Hogan for $100,000.

"No ulcers, no blowups, no worries about a missed putt," said the dapper New York links instructor today. "Every day is like a first nighter for me."

Galvano, a swarthy, slightly-tilt fellow with a Lloyd Mangrum mustache, has never won a big tournament purse. He has never made the tour. Except among a handful of scattered individuals, he isn't known a block west of 52nd Street where he maintains a modest upstairs studio.

Galvano is the man who teaches the stars. Celebrites of television, radio and Hollywood come to him to get kinks out of their golf swings—at fancy prices.

One of his better pupils is Perry Como, whose swing is almost as smooth as his vocal chords. "Perry shoots in the 70's and doesn't need too much instruction," says Galvano. "He's as relaxed on the golf course as he is on the TV screen."

Bob Hope spends most of his time on the West Coast but drops into Galvano's studio for some freshening up on trips East. "Bob is not so flip when it comes to his golf," says Galvano.

Phog Allen May Relinquish Job

Veteran Kansas Mentor Remored on Way Out in Favor of Assistant

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Phog Allen's long reign as major domo of basketball at the University of Kansas apparently is going to end.

Both the Kansas City Star and the Topeka Capital said today they had learned the university's Athletic Board will recommend Dick Harp, an assistant, be named to succeed him.

The recommendation will be placed before the university Board of Regents when it meets today.

The Athletic Board met yesterday to discuss the situation but did not announce any conclusion.

Allen reached the mandatory retirement age—70—last fall but has asked that he be permitted to continue in the job another year.

Harp has been an assistant to Allen since 1949 and played basketball under him from 1938 to 1940.

Tigers Drop 2-0 Tilt; Make No Deal With A's

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers got nothing out of the Kansas City Athletics afield or at the trading table yesterday.

The Athletics blanked the Tigers 2-0 on four hits. And Parke Carroll, Kansas City business manager, turned down Detroit offers for outfielder Gus Zernial and either Spook Jacobs or Jim Finigan, both second basemen.

General manager Herold (Muddy) Ruel of Detroit now has switched to the New York Yankees and Washington Senators in his hunt for a trade that would fill Tiger needs for a first-class second baseman.

The Yankees have Gerry Coleman and the Senators Pete Runnels. The Tigers could use either, plus a long-ball swatting left fielder of the Zernial type.

* * *

Whether they make a trade or not, the Tigers hope their next meeting with the Athletics will not be a repetition of either of their two Florida get-togethers.

Detroit and Kansas City meet again 18 days hence—in Detroit's Briggs Stadium in an American League season-opener.

Art Ceccarelli, a young lefthander, and Troy Herriage, a rookie righthander, permitted only two Tigers to get as far as second base yesterday.

* * *

Nobody hit for more than a single, and Ray Boone got two of the four. Bill Tuttle and Harry Malmberg got the others.

Veteran Virgil Trucks gave a sharp exhibition for Detroit in the 4 1-3 innings he worked before twisting a knee and retiring. He gave up only three hits and blanked the A's that far.

The Athletics got both their runs off Dick Marlowe, one in the 6th, one in the 7th. Frank Lary sat the A's down in order in the 8th.

Trucks' leg injury was diagnosed on the spot by trainer Jack Homel as "not serious," but the big righthander was to get a thorough examination today.

NBA Finals to Start Saturday

Warriors Meet Pistons on TV to Start Best of 7 Series

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Because Paul Arizin had a hot night and Bob Pettit a poor one, the Philadelphia Warriors and Fort Wayne Pistons will meet for the National Basketball Assn. championship.

* * *

The first game of the best-of-7 series will be played in Philadelphia tomorrow afternoon. It will be televised nationally via NBC starting at 3 p.m. (EST).

Both teams qualified for the finals last night. With Arizin getting 35 points, the Warriors defeated the defending champion Syracuse Nats 109-104 to win their semifinal playoff series, 3 games to 2.

* * *

On the strength of a 35-29 last-quarter rally, Fort Wayne eliminated the St. Louis Hawks 102-97. It was a fine comeback by the Pistons, who dropped the first two games, then swept the next three.

* * *

Arizin connected for 13 field goals and 9 free throws as Philadelphia led most of the way. The Nats managed to grab a 72-71 lead late in the third quarter, but Jackie Moore scored to put the Warriors in front for good.

Fires 6-Under Par

Littler Leads Azalea

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — The $12,500 Azalea Open Golf Tournament, which headed into its second round today again has demonstrated how fiercely competitive professional golf has become.

* * *

Gene Littler, the 25-year-old Palm Springs, Calif., professional a former National Amateur champion, "ate up" the Cape Fear Country Club course's 6,795 yards with a six-under-par 66 yesterday. But he was only one of 41 players who mastered regulation figures and held only a one-stroke lead over three rivals, with eight others only two back of the leader.

If they faltered, six first-round 69 shooters were poised to charge up in the standings. They, in turn, were pressed by 9 men at 70 and 14 at 71.

Littler shot near flawless golf—he had to—to keep a shot ahead of another former National Amateur king, Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa.; George Bayer, the power hitter from Cincinnati, and Stan Leonard of Lechute, Canada.

Littler had only one bad hole. On the 14th he put a ball in a bunker and it nested in a heel print. He overshot the green and had to sink a 5-footer for a one-over-par five.

Palmer, too, had a hot putter as he matched Leonard's 33-34 to gain a second-place tie with Bayer who had 34-33.

Palmer banged in 20-footers for birdies on the first two holes and a 10-footer on No. 7. He chipped in from 20 feet for an eagle three on 15 and finished with three pars.

Bayer and Leonard each had 13 pars and five birdies. Leonard hit three straight starting on the sixth, while Bayer collected three out of four beginning with the 12th.

Doug Ford, PGA champion from Mahopac, N.Y., blazed out in 31, but slumped to 37 coming in to drop into the eight-man 68 bracket which also included Gardner Dickinson Jr., Panama City, Fla., pro, who last Sunday won his first "big one" at Miami Beach.

Cubs Send Eaddy, Fanning to LA

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles received added help today from the Chicago Cubs, who are sending catcher Jim Fanning and infielder Don Eaddy.

Eaddy batted .304 in 32 games with Burlington in the Three-I League last year and Fanning .266 in 88 games with the Angels.

The Angels plan to move Eaddy, normally a third baseman, into center field to utilize his speed and fine throwing arm.

Senators Want Rookie

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Calvin Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, was reported today to be trying to get the New York Yankees to give the Nationals either of two rookie outfielders.

The Yanks still owe the Senators one player from last winter's deals.

Badgers Win Before 8,500

Spartan Boxers Floored

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Wisconsin boxing team completed its home dual last night by registering a 6½-1½ victory over Michigan State before a crowd of 8,500.

The Badgers won five of the seven bouts, two by technical knockouts, and drew in another.

The Spartans forfeited in the heavyweight division when Pat Burke was unable to come here because of illness in his family.

Choken Maekawa, a Hawaiian, accounted for Michigan State's lone victory by taking a decision from Dean Plemmons at 119 pounds.

* * *

Vince Ferguson, 156, was awarded a technical knockout over Jerry Kendall in one minute and 40 seconds of the second round and Orville Pitts, 178, was named a winner over Andy Ronie in 52 seconds of the second.

Ev Chambers of Wisconsin drew with George Sisinni in a 165 pound bout.

Policeman Rolls High Singles in ABC Test

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)— Thursday's rolling at the 53rd annual American Bowling Congress Tournament produced no changes in the first five of any division.

The day's best singles performance was racked up by Charles Mitrano, 39, Rochester policeman. Mitrano won eighth place in the event with a total of 674 on games of 224, 246 and 204.

Braves Break Camp With Ailing Hurler Improved

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves broke spring training camp today and prepared for the long trip North armed with the happy news that ace hurler Gene Conley's ailing shoulder has shown "definite improvement."

* * *

"Now it looks like merely a matter of time until Conley can pitch again," said General Manager John Quinn.

Conley was confident as he said, "They've finally pinpointed the trouble . . . I'll probably be lobbing the ball in four or five days."

The word of "improvement" came from Dr. Michael DiCosola, orthopedic surgeon, yesterday after a second examination of the lanky righthander.

Conley came down with shoulder trouble last week and saw Dr. DiCosola Monday. The physician said at that time Conley was suffering "chronic tendonitis," an inflammation of a tendon deep in his right shoulder.

It was the same injury that put the 6-8 hurler out of action in August last season after he had run up an 11-7 record.

BIG CONCERN—Gene Conley pitcher of the Milwaukee Braves who stands 6-8 has been the big concern for the club. He has been hampered by an ailing shoulder during the exhibition season.

'Cavities' Need Filled Before First Division, Says Harris

By JOE REICHLER

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Bucky Harris views his Detroit Tigers as a better club than last year's fifth-place finishers, but he admits the Bengals can't break into the American League's big four until a couple of "cavities" are filled.

The "cavities," as the veteran manager sees it, are the big holes at second base and left field, aside from the absence of a top-flight relief pitcher.

Bucky realizes the Tigers cannot hope to get past the Yankees, Indians, Red Sox or White Sox unless they can engineer a trade for (1) a second baseman who can hit and (2) a left fielder with batting power, preferably lefthanded He is willing to gamble on coming up with a satisfactory bullpen brigade from his own ranks.

* * *

Ever since the start of the spring training season, the Tigers have tried to close such a deal, or deals.

The club has made overtures for Billy Goodman of the Red Sox and Jim Finigan of the Athletics, either of whom could fill the bill satisfactoriy at second base. The Tigers also have tried to snare slugger Gus Zernial from the A's for left field. But thus far the bids have been most unsuccessful.

* * *

"We got a good nucleus of a pretty good ball club," said Harris. "I think we might have a little better pitching. I'm satisfied with my catching and I believe Ray Boone, Harvey Kuenn, Bill Tuttle and Al Kaline will do all right. So will Earl Torgeson. But we've got to have help at second base and left field if we are to make any headway. Fred Hatfield and Harry Malmberg can do the job defensively at second base, but neither can hit."

* * *

The Tigers are strong at every other infield post. Torgeson, obtained from Philadelphia last June gave the club a tremendous lift at first base. He not only added class to the infield, but batted .283, slammed 9 homers and drove in 50 runs in half a season. Kuenn, the league's No. 1 shortstop, batted over .300 for the third successive season; and Boone, at third, proved a real clutch hitter, banging 20 homers and tying for the league lead with 116 runs driven in.

* * *

Two thirds of the outfield is in the capable hands of Al Kaline and Bill Tuttle. Kaline, the league's batting king, vie with New York's Mickey Mantle for the top rating among the outfielders. Tuttle, who finished with a flourish for a .279 average and 78 runs batted in, has blossomed into an outstanding center fielder.

* * *

Veteran Jimmy Delsing has the edge in left field, but Charlie Maxwel, and rookies Ben Downs and Chick King are still in the running. Bonus baby Jim Small must be kept.

"Left field remains the $64,000 question," said Harris. "Downs has been the most impressive at the plate, but he needs more polish in the field. He batted .340 at Nashville last year."

* * *

Bucky named southpaw Billy Hoeft (16-7) and righthanders Ned Garver (12-16), Frank Lary (14-15) Steve Gromek (10-13) and Virgil Trucks (13-8) as his starting pitchers. Youngsters Bob Miller (2-1) and Duke Maas (5-6) will get spot assignments. He has hopes Al Aber, Jim Bunning, Babe Birrer and Pete Wojey aill mold into an acceptable bullpen crew.

Harris doesn't figure to have any worries behind the plate where Frank House will do the bulk of the work, assisted by Red Wilson and J. W. Porter.

Wants to Win

Snead Going for Masters

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Sam Snead, at 43 an old soldier in the professional golfing wars, is in no mood to "fade away" and thinks he'll prove it in next week's Masters Tournament at Augusta, Ga.

* * *

Any idea he may be "over the hill" brings only a snort of impatience from the famed Slammer, who's been collecting trophies—and purses—at most of the big tournaments for more than a decade.

* * *

Relaxing at his estate near here for most of the winter, Snead has not followed the rigorous practice grind of a majority of pros. But he says with emphasis, 'I'll be ready for the Masters. My game shapes up in a hurry."

'Why, I wouldn't be taking that great long trip to Augusta if I didn't think I could win." The Slammer says. "After all, I've won that tournament three times already and that course is just my type of layout."

* * *

Physically, Snead is far from "fading away." He now packs 201 pounds and has taken a ribbing from fellow professionals because of that weight. He just laughs it off.

"I'm not actually any heavier than I was last year. Those 201 pounds won't hurt me.

"They'll see at Augusta. Maybe I'll show those young whippersnappers a thing or two."

Snead won the Masters in 1949, 1952 and 1954. During the past winter he played in only two tournaments, winning the Miama Open in December and placing second in the Seminole Pro-Amateur event.

Trade Winds in Air Again

Chisox Brass Confers With Nats and Tigers for Possible Deals

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Trade talk bobbed up again with the Chicago White Sox brass conferring with the Washington Senators and Detroit Tigers.

Manager Marty Marion met with Cal Griffith, Washington president. The Nats reportedly want a first baseman. The Sox may let go of Walt Dropo or Jim Marshall, preferably Dropo because Washington wants a right-handed hitter on first.

Vice President Chuck Comiskey talked with Bucky Harris, Tiger manager. Detroit, according to reports, needs a left fielder and may go for Cal Abrams or Ed White. The Sox might toss in Carl Peterson, reserve shortstop, for infielder Fred Hatfield to back up Sam Esposito at third.

Gavilan Again Loses as Manager Protests

PARIS (INS) — Kid Gavilan, former welterweight champion, dropped another decision last night in a ten-round bout with Germinal Ballarin of France.

The bout ended with Gavilan's manager, Yamii Chade, protesting the decision and particularly the Frenchman's holding. Ballarin twice was reprimanded for holding during the fight.

Dogs Used to Aid Banding

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Fish and Wildlife Service announced today that dogs—trained retrievers—will be used to help catch waterfowl for banding this summer in Canada and the northern United States prairies.

* * *

The fowl are released after being marked with leg bands which help the service study breeding and migration habits.

Director John L. Farley said this marks the first time the service has planned to use special dog crews, although individual crew members and technicians from the Dominion Wildlife Service have used them successfully in past years.

* * *

The dogs will be used primarily on young mallards, because of the tendency of that bird to leave the water when frightened and scurry to any available brush cover. Other types of fowl are trapped by use of nets.

RECORD SETTER—George Breen, 20-year-old swimming sensation from Buffalo, N. Y., churns up the water on his way to a new record in the 1500 meter swim as the three-day NCAA swimming championship opened at Yale yesterday. His spectacular 18:05.9 trimmed 13.1 seconds off the world record, a feat claimed equivalent of a runner doing four-minute mile. He attends Cortland (N. Y.) State Teachers College. AP Wirephoto

Record by 13.1 Seconds

Cortland Swimmer Sets World Mark

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—What do you have to do to lower the world's long-course 1500-meter swimimng record by 13.1 seconds?

"You have to swim like mad," says George Breen of Cortland (N.Y.) State Teachers College, and he should know.

* * *

The 20-year-old swimming sensation from Buffalo, N.Y., did it with a spectacular 18:05.9 last night as he got the three-day NCAA Swimming Championships going.

Breen's brilliant performance improves on the 18:19 recorded by Hironoshin Furuhashi of Japan at Los Angeles nearly seven years ago. According to Yale's Bob Kiputh, famed Olympic coach, it establishes the modest youngster as the world's great long-distance swimmer today.

* * *

Other coaches were saying the same thing with superlatives, and others were claiming that Breen's time was the equivalent of a runner doing a 4-minute mile in track.

"You might say that I did it as a birthday present for my father, who became 62 years old on Thursday," smiled Breen in between hugs from his mother.

* * *

Two spectators who hailed the performance as "phenomenal" were Fred Konno, the former Ohio State star from Honolulu, and Italy's Angelo Romani. They will oppose Breen here in the National AAU Indoor Championships next Thursday night.

* * *

Breen's style, says his coach, Jim Counsilman, "is continuous swimming—a powerful arm stroke with no glide between strokes; it's like accelerated driving in an automobile compared with stop and go driving."

* * *

Breen won in a breeze. Behind him were Peter Duncan of Oklahoma, Tetsuo Okomoto of Texas A&M, John Phair and Joe Robinson of Yale and John O'Reilly of Michigan.

The meet resumes today with five events, consisting of trials during the afternoon and finals at night.

Death Claims Gayle Talbot

Heart Attack Fatal to Veteran Sports Writer at Age of 54

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Gayle Talbot, for 28 years an Associated Press sports writer and newsman, died last night of a heart attack. He was 54.

Talbot, best known for his colorful sports writing and author of the column "Sports Roundup" since 1952, suffered an earlier attack last August. However, he had recovered sufficiently to take a semi-vacation in Florida, where he resumed writing.

The fatal attack came in the lobby of Tampa hotel where he was chatting with friends before dinner. He died enroute to the hospital.

He is survived by his widow, the former Ruth Reavy of London, England, and two daughters, Brenda, 16, and Margaret, 14. Mrs. Talbot was with her husband at the time of his death.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete but Mrs. Talbot said services will be in Port Washington, N.Y., where they have lived since shortly after their marriage in New York City in 1937.

Mistrial Declared in Baltimore Suit

BALTIMORE (AP)—A $10,000 suit against the Baltimore Orioles by a fan who was struck by a foul ball was declared a mistrial yesterday when the jury failed to reach agreement on a verdict.

John H. Walsh, an internal revenue agent, said he was injured when the ball hit his thumb. He contended he was placed in an exposed and dangerous position while an usher ousted an intruder from his reserved seat.

The Baltimore Baseball Club, Inc., owner of the Orioles, argued that a patron assumes the risk of

Chief Spring Teams Stirring

By BILL CORNWELL

Time alone will tell how well Pontiac High fares with its spring sports campaign in the rugged Saginaw Valley Conference.

An early survey of the situation, however, seems to indicate that Wally Schloerke's powerful track team will once again lead the way.

The Chief thinclads gave credence to this contention by running away with the Huron Relays last Saturday night at Michigan Normal in Ypsilanti. The Chiefs amassed 44 points while their nearest rival, Inkster, was collecting 19.

Flint Northern, considered one of Pontiac's strongest SVC foes on the cinders, finished 3rd in the meet with 17 points. The Chiefs' domination of the Huron Relays provides solid grist for the forecasting mill.

The picture in baseball, golf and tennis is less encouraging. Ed Heikkinen describes his baseball situation as "fair" while the golf and tennis outlook is uncertain.

Heikkinen has only one regular, leftfielder Bob Murphy, returning from last year's diamond squad which finished 2nd in the Valley with an 8-2 record and ended the season with an overall mark of 13-3.

The No. 1 problem, Heikkinen says, is catching. Gilbert Trevino, last year's reserve backstop, was slated for front-line duty this season until he dropped out of school, leaving the catching position wide open.

Outfielders pose the next most serious problem. Graduation wiped out virtually all of the patrollers of the outer gardens and positions are up for grabs in 1956. Basketball star Willie DeWalt is considered an outstanding outfield prospect.

The Chiefs will be bolstered by the return of two letter-winning pitchers — Jim Jones and Arnold Larsen. Both saw limited mound duty last season, but have the equipment to become steady winners.

Reserves and newcomers will complete the squad. Shortstop Bud Hayward, who played in last season's final two games, heads the parade of hopefuls. Clay Williams, an infielder who was ineligible last year because he played in a post-season basketball game, is back in the fold along with 1st baseman Terry Houston, 3rd baseman Dave Simmons, and pitcher Jerry Pointer.

Golf coach John Maturo will rely strongly on the firing of Tom Cross to bring honors to PHS. Cross was last season's hottest shooter at the finish and Maturo hopes the spell carries over.

In back of Cross is two other lettermen, Dick Singleton and Sammy Coleman. Two other top-notch prospects are Dick Whitmer and Dick Shorter, the brother of track standout Jim.

Maturo lost five capable golfers through graduation—Bill Martin, Walt Larson, Art Scott, Tom Jacobson and Jerry Richards. Pontiac took 2nd place in the Valley a year ago.

The Chiefs will invade the links for their 1st workout next Tuesday, with Mike Andonian, prominent area golfer, giving Maturo a hand with the instruction.

Vic Lindquist has five holdovers from last year's tennis team, which was shut out in the Valley and decisioned Lapeer for its lone win. The returnees are Bob Erb, Gary Thomas, Ted Wiersema, Bill Bonner and Gary Wyllie.

Difficult to replace will be Eddie Macadaag, Kent Mills, Kurt Lauchner and Paul Kampner, who have departed via graduation.

The track team speaks for itself. Last season the well-balanced Chiefs swept through everything in sight to win the state championship. A host of returning veterans makes many observers think they'll do it again.

BOARDING HOUSE REACH — First Baseman Tom Alston's six feet five inch frame and arms to match are not enough to field a hard hit ground ball at the St. Louis training camp game at Lang Field, St. Petersburg, Fla. The big fellow's principal trouble has been hitting the ball close to the wrists.

GRAPEFRUIT League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's not the Sniders and Campanellas and Musials or the Williams and Dobys that give a pitcher nightmares in the spring. That will come later. Right now, it's the threat of a sore arm that makes 'em toss and turn at night, whether they're veterans like Curt Simmons or bonus kids like Frank Baumann.

* * *

The spring exhibitions have been no picnic for Simmons of the Philadelphia Phillies, who at 26 may be at the end of the line because of persistent arm trouble. Nor has there been reason for optimism for Baumann, who returned to the Red Sox from service with an honorable discharge and a painful throwing motion.

* * *

The young lefty was only 8-8 last season. This year may be decisive.

He's felt pretty good this spring but he got that old feeling again yesterday, losing his control against the St. Louis Cardinals. He pitched three hitless innings, then was tagged for a run in the fourth and three in the fifth as the Cards won 8-6.

* * *

Baumann, who collected a reported $125,000 from the Red Sox before going into the service, didn't have even one good inning against the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday. Control was his trouble, too, walking four and giving three hits as the Bucs belted him for six runs in the sixth to win 19.10. They got two more off the lefty in the seventh, with Gene Freese smacking a leadoff homer.

* * *

In other games, Baltimore tied the score with two ninth-inning runs on Owen Friends' error, then scored four in the 11th on three walks, two singles and Bob Boyd's double to beat the Chicago Cubs 9-5.

* * *

Brooklyn's world champion Dodgers evened their spring set at 2-all with the New York Yankees by beating their World Series victims 5-4 in 10 innings. Hank Bauer homered twice for the Yanks and Gil Hodges and Jackie Robinson blasted one each for the Brooks. But it was Joe Collins' muff of Randy Jackson's double that sent the winning run home.

* * *

Milwaukee scored once in the first, then rolled home on a 390-foot grand slam homer by Johnny Logan in the second off Joe Nuxhall to beat the Cincinnati Redlegs 5-3. Nuxhall, who topped the NL with five shutouts in his 17 victories last season, was making his first start with the regulars.

The Redlegs' big gun, Ted Kluszewski, played with the "B" team while nursing his pulled hip muscle and swatted a home run and single in an 8-7 defeat by Charleston of the American Assn.

* * *

Rookie Earl Averill and Chico Carrasquel, late of the White Sox, homered as Cleveland defeated the New York Giants for the sixth time in nine tries 10-5. Willie Mays hit one for the Giants, the only earned run among the three they got in the first four frames against Bob Feller.

* * *

The Chicago White Sox teed off on Washington and Ted Abernathy for nine runs in four innings and a 12-2 decision. Cal Abrams hit a three-run homer and a single for the Sox, who had five doubles and the homerun in their 10 hits off Abernathy. The Senators contributed five errors.

Carter Unanimous Over Don Jordan

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Jimmy Carter, who has worn the lightweight crown three times, wants another crack at it following his close but unanimous win over California lightweight champ Don Jordan last night.

Willie Ketchum, volatile manager of Carter, said he would guarantee champion Bud Smith $25,000 if Smith would put his lightweight championship on the block against Carter in Los Angeles in June.

FLYING STANDSTILL — A conveyor belt enables doctors to check physical reactions by means of wires connecting the athlete and meters. This one is installed at Hamburg University sports unit in Germany.

Greco-Roman Winners

2 Share AAU Mat Honors

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Two big strong boys and a clever little man hold a hefty share of the Amateur Athletic Union's 1956 national freestyle and Greco-Roman wrestling prizes.

These big winners in the AAU's four-day tournament which ended last night are heavyweight Bill Kerslake, 174-pound Danny Hodge and Alan Rice, 136.5. All won championship medals in both styles and each took home a special trophy.

Their next action is the April 28-May 5 at Los Angeles, where the Olympic trials will decide the makeup of Uncle Sam's grappling teams at Melbourne, Australia, next fall.

Morey's Golf Club Opens on Saturday

Morey's enlarged Golf and Country Club, located at 2280 Union Lake Road off Commerce, will open to the public Saturday.

Virtually an entire new 27-hole layout has been completed for the 1956 season. The three nines, labeled red, white and blue, have pars of 35, 34 and 39 respectively. The blue nine features a 695-yard par six hole, No. 6.

The red layout has been revamped over the old site with only the 4th hole staying the same. The remaining 18 holes are completely new.

Other new facilities include the pro shop, locker rooms for men and women, and rooms for banquets, clubs and business meetings.

Lutheran Wins in Birmingham Y League Meet

Lutheran Church of the Redeemer played a brilliant fast-breaking game to beat St. James Episcopal Church in the finals of the Birmingham YMCA Church League by a score of 47 to 35.

Douglas Wuggazer sparked his team with 13 points while Jack Kirby had 11.

Bruce Frederickson with 13 points paced the losers.

The win gave Redeemer a record of 13 games won and only 1 loss during the current season.

In the consolation game for third place, First Presbyterian Church trailed First Methodist Church 17 to 13 at half time but put on a scoring splurge in the last quarter to win 32 to 30.

Baseball Managers to Meet April 5

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department announces the first meeting of men's Class A baseball team managers. The meeting will be held Thursday, April 5, at 7:30 p.m., in the Freedom Shrine Room at the north end of the first floor in City Hall.

All managers or team representatives who intend to enter a team in the city Class A baseball league should attend this meeting, the recreation department reports. Items to be discussed include league organization, player contracts, rules, practice and field facilities, and other regulations.

New-Born Baby Hits the Front Page—Literally

TURIN, Italy (AP) — A new-born baby girl hit the front pages of Italian newspapers last night — literally.

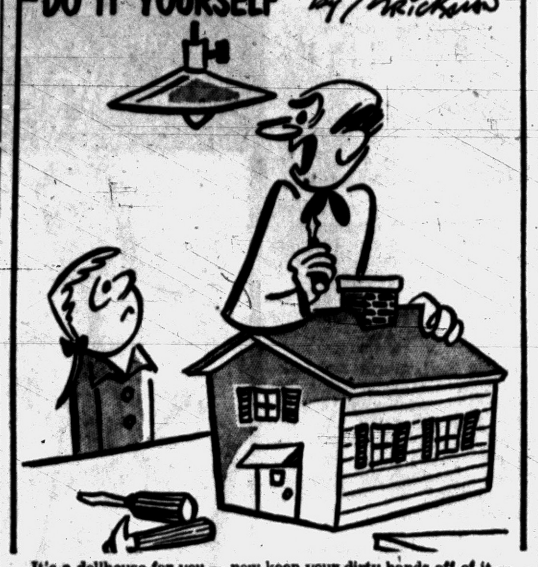

She was born inside a truck that was rushing newspapers to the railroad station here. The driver halted for a frantically waving man and his pregnant wife. The truck didn't make it to the hospital. The baby was born on a stack of newspapers.

The baby's father, Otello Dotti, said his wife gave birth two years ago to a son. That happened in a taxi.

Poultry

DETROIT POULTRY

DETROIT, March 30 (AP)—Prices paid per pound f.o.b. Detroit for No 1 quality live poultry up to 10 a.m.

Heavy hens 29-30; light type 30. Heavy broilers or fryers (3-4 lbs); gray crosses 25-26; Barred Rocks 26-27. Caponettes (4½-8 lbs) 32-33.

Market steady. Receipts moderate. Late fill-in demand for holiday needs better than anticipated with good week-end clearances expected on all offerings. Good quality heavy colored hens short with a few heavy hens taken in for 33 cents today for orders. Fryers were short of full need. Light supply of turkeys this week were in good demand. Undertone easy on hens and capons.

DETROIT EGGS

DETROIT, March 30 (AP)—Eggs, f.o.b. Detroit, cases included, federal-state grades:

Whites—Grade A, jumbo 51-52, weighted average 51; large 46-47, wtd avg 46½; medium 43. Grade B, large 42-43, wtd avg 43.

Browns—Grade A, jumbo 49; large 44-46, wtd avg 44; medium 42. Grade B, large 42. Grade C, large 37.

Checks 26.

Total weekly receipts (March 24-30); 13,378 cases.

Commercially graded:

Mary: Lost Her Son to Save Whole World

been a trying responsibility—thrilling, yet at times bewildering—a joy, but also full of distress. As a bride-to-be, how perplexedly—but readily—she had accepted her part.

Overcome with wonder at word her child would be of God, she had gone to the hill country to stay a while with an elderly cousin, Elizabeth, who reassured her;

"Blessed art thou among women, and blessed is the fruit of thy womb."

How ecstatic Mary had been that God had picked her, a lowly peasant girl, as his handmaiden. It staggers the pretensions of the mighty, she had said. "My soul doth magnify the Lord . . . All generations shall call me blessed."

She remembered all the secret hopes and dreams that pounded in her chest that day in the Bethlehem stable.

FLIGHT INTO EGYPT

Then the trouble had begun—the flight to Egypt from King Herod's mad vengeance, and after his death, their return to Nazareth.

There, all went well — for a while. The boy grew in health and vigor, quick-minded, alert, schooled in the synagogue, learning carpentry in Joseph's shop.

The first shock came on a trip to Jerusalem for Passover. On the way home with relatives, the boy was missed. It took three days to find Him — back at the temple, talking with learned doctors and scholars.

Mary had scolded Him. "Son, why hast Thou dealt thus with us? Thy father and I have sought Thee, sorrowing. But the boy had an odd streak of independence: "Why seek me? Know ye not I must be about my Father's business?"

Baffled, the parents hustled Him home. Through His youthful years, they kept careful supervision over Him. But He was different, somehow. He found favor with people—everyone liked Him—and yet . . .

JOURNEY INTO DESERT

Then when He was about 30, He had abandoned His tools, and gone into the desert seeking that prophet—"the Baptist". Ever afterward, He was not the same—He seemed absorbed with some unique missionary urge.

It had been upsetting when He stayed alone in the desert for 40 days without food, and when He returned, neighbors and friends began to talk about His peculiar behavior—his non-conformist idea behavior—his non-conformist ideas.

Once, a whole group of them had gone to stop Him, saying the young carpenter was beside Himself with wild talk about "all sins shall be forgiven the sons of men."

But He ignored them saying:

"A prophet is not without honor except in his own country and among his own kin and in his own house."

Then, once as He was speaking at the synagogue, His mother and brothers had gone to call Him out, but He wouldn't be bothered, insisting on that notion of His that His listeners were His real family.

"Whosoever shall do the will of God," He had said, "the same is My brother and My sister and My mother."

Mary felt left out at times, and hurt. A quiet, self-effacing, pious woman, she was not inclined to her son's habit of pricking custom. But she bore it all, loving Him, believing in Him.

He mingled with all sorts of questionable people — outcasts, sinners, tax-grabbing publicans, beggars, bell-necked lepers, blind men, and harlots, with no thought of what people would say, or think. The hick need the physician, He said, not the well.

She could only have faith in Him—that all would turn out for the best. Once, at a wedding in Cana, she had worriedly whispered to Him that the hosts had no wine.

Don't fret, He had said, it's not important. So she had just left it up to Him, telling the servants, "Whatsoever He saith unto you, do it!" She was always sure He could handle it. And He did. The waterpots brimmed with wine.

As He died, all the tender, protective love of motherhood swelled helplessly in Mary.

She felt she could not stand it, this awful end, this crushing, final could have taken His place there blow. But she did. No doubt, like most mothers, she wished she on the cross. But she couldn't.

She had to yield to her own cross.

Jesus had to suffer for men's sins, to show God cared for them so much He sacrificed His own son, a ransom for many. Mary could comfort herself, in the ensuing years before she died, knowing that she had shared in that sacrifice, in paying that ransom, because she, too, had given her Son.

See Small Rise in Auto Output

Carmakers to Increase Production 2.1 Per Cent in April, June

An increase of only 2.1 per cent in auto production schedules for the next two months was predicted recently in the current issue of Ward's Automotive Reports. The publication reported:

"Being programmed for April-June are 1,792,500 cars in U. S. factories, 15.6 per cent below the year ago 2,124,525 record, but 2.1 per cent ahead of January-March now ending with an estimated 1,755,500.

"Result is a first-half target of 3,548,000 that's 16.5 per cent below 1955's record 4,251,420 but far exceeds the next-best effort of 3,255,722 recorded in 1953.

"Plainly the tenor of second-quarter scheduling is one of market optimism but also guarded inventory control. Producers who in February - March successfully fought off inventory increases (Ford and Chrysler) are planning modest assembly upturns.

"Significantly, however, GM is charting the closest course to 1955 levels, its January-June target dipping only 6.2 per cent below last year.

"Thus, unless the new car sales curve slants unexpectedly upward the industry may well end the half year with inventories near 800,000 units.

"The uncertain steel negotiations, of course, are helping to dictate April-June output, just as did auto industry contract talks last year. In any event, a decline of at least 25 per cent is on tap for July-September production.

Vehicle Sales Reach 1,353,839 in 1956

DETROIT (AP) — Factory sales of motor vehicles during this year's first two months numbered 1,353,839, the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. reported yesterday.

The total, second highest for the period on record, was about 116,000 sales below the record for January and February, set last year. It included 1,151,956 passenger car sales and 201,883 trucks and coaches.

Factory sales in February were made up of 560,924 passenger cars, 102,384 trucks and 278 coaches. In the same month last year 677,705 cars, 67,061 trucks and 176 coaches were sold at the factory.

Exports for the first two months of 1956 come to 45,430 cars, 33,848 trucks and 15 coaches. In the same period last year 53,562 cars, 25,537 trucks and 33 coaches were shipped to foreign markets.

Card of Thanks 1

THE FAMILY OF WM. H. SMITH wishes to thank the friends and neighbors, for the floral offerings, calls, cards and other acts of kindness during their recent bereavement.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear Husband and Father, Wm. A. Potts who passed away eight years ago, March 30.
A silent thought, a secret tear;
Keeps his memory ever dear.
Time takes away the edge of grief,
But memory turns back every leaf.

ONE FULL YEAR
GUARANTEE

Consider these advantages of the NATIONAL BONDED guarantee. A dealer can guarantee his cars only in his dealership. NATIONAL BONDED GUARANTEES THE CAR ANYWHERE IN THE U.S. AT THE REPAIR SHOP OF THE OWNER'S CHOOSING . . . The dealer's guarantee is actually a personal guarantee. If bad health or business failure should visit the dealer, the guarantee is void. NATIONAL BONDED is backed by $120,000,000 in assets. Regardless what happens to the individual, the owner's protection continues for the full year . . . The dealer's guarantee is on a percentage basis. The dealer pays a share of the repair costs and the owner pays a share. NATIONAL BONDED pays the repair bill in full; the owner pays nothing.

Many Others to Choose From SMALL DOWN PAYMENTS

If you haven't been able to buy a car anywhere else because you were short of cash or because your car is too old to cover the down payment . . . or if you've been told you owe too much on your car to make a deal come in and see us. We've helped a lot of people, and we may be able to help you.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Season Notable for Good Shows

Columnist Also Cites 'Our Town,' 'Patterns' and 'Peter Pan'

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—It's a terrible decision, trying to gaze back through a whole TV year and select the best single program of them all.

* * *

Especially this year, when as in no other season, shows have been so much better than ever. That's not merely loyalty-to-our-trade, or TV Chamber of Commerce pressure, for it's been a mighty wonderful season, in total level of excellence as well as selected high spots.

We've seen single performances by many an actor or actress that have been close to thrilling, even among the regular weekly shows. We've also witnessed the lame ones.

Hardly a talent has evaded TV this year.

* * *

There are all manner of fine TV moments to choose from: too darned many is the problem. TV's a hungry electronic beast, so it's eaten everything in sight whether prepared just for it (such as "Patterns" and "The Catered Affair") or borrowed from the stage ("Caine Mutiny," "Peter Pan," "Skin of Our Teeth," "Cyrano"), or warmed over with new gravies in the way of musical scores ("Our Town" and "High Tor").

Some of the Christmas programs were warm and wonderful, some random items sneaked in to delight or impress; we remember one marvelous drama starring Sylvia Sidney as a terrible executive witch in a TV play about ladies wearing brasshats which has to be considered among the best of any season.

* * *

In the confines of their own programs, many have been more than satisfying.

"Wide, Wide World" gets a little aimless and pretentious but it trots around whatever portion of the universe it can reach electronically, gives us many a vicarious visit to places we'll never otherwise see.

"Meet the Press" makes news and good viewing most of the time.

* * *

The tenderest moments came in "Our Town" with Eva Marie Saint the most radiant bittersweet heroine of the year. We shan't try to push "Peter Pan" down anyone's throat, wonderful though it and Mary Martin were, for it was a repeat performance from last year.

ESPECIALLY FOR TV

"Patterns" probably could rate a best choice inasmuch as it was written especially for TV.

* * *

But we can't remember having witnessed a performance that could quite reach the superb standards of "Caine Mutiny" for pure dramatic excellence, as an ensemble and in the rich roles played by Lloyd Nolan and Barry Sullivan.

Former Chauffeur of Late Henry Ford Recalls the Good Old Model T Rides

NEW YORK (INS) — The rattle and gleam of an old model T took John W. Burke back to the days of driving the greatest automaker of them all.

"He was always in a hurry," said the Irish-born New Yorker who drove the late Henry Ford and members of the Ford dynasty for 42 years.

"He was a fast man. The model T's top was 47 or 48, and we'd let it out to that." But the man who put millions of autos on the road "didn't mind traffic. There wasn't much in those days."

* * *

FAITHFUL 'TIN LIZZIE'

The "Tin Lizzie" took them — riding where Henry once rode — to the Overseas Press Club. There 30 long-service employes joined in tribute to the 65-year-old retiring chauffeur and presented him with a few shares of Ford stock, a letter from Mrs. Edsel Ford and letters from the Ford executives he chauffeured as boys.

Burke has started moving out to Rocky Point, L. I. where he has built a home and found a "paradise for a poor but happy man."

Burke — bald, round-faced and smiling — told of being hired as a chauffeur in typical Ford fashion.

* * *

He was working in 1914 in Ford's new Long Island City plant. Henry arrived about 11 p.m. in a taxi that broke down in front of the plant. Ford asked if any of the four or five men working late could drive him home. John Burke could.

The next day Ford asked him to drive him to the Troy site of another plant. Johnny did. And that day Henry Ford said simply, "You can have a job driving me and the family."

Burke then drove Ford — who almost always "sat in front" — on antique-hunting and other trips whenever the industrialist came to New York City.

NEVER HAD ACCIDENT

He never had an accident and was given only one ticket — in 1922. He was going 25 miles an hour in Brooklyn on his way home after work. Fine — $25, a dollar for each mile-per-hour.

First, said Burke, "we were driving the model T. I also drove a British Lancaster. Mr. Ford bought the Lancaster to find out about its parts, especially about the worm drive. It had swivel seats like barber chairs. We used it for about a month, and Mr. Ford had it taken apart. Then it was put back together and sold.

"We used the model A some, and then the V-8. Mr. Ford didn't like hydraulic brakes. He would say, 'mechanical brakes are positive.'

"About 1932, Mr. Ford started using Lincolns. But he said the (newly purchased) Lincoln (division) was 'Edsel's baby.' "

DETECTED CAR'S FAULT

Edsel was Henry Ford's only son, and the father of the present Ford brothers who run the motor company. He died in 1943, and Henry Ford died in 1947 at 83 years of age.

Sometimes in the Lincoln, Burke said, "Mr. Ford would listen a minute and say, 'the ignition is a little late.' He was always right."

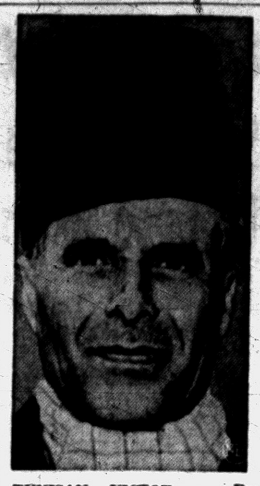

Burke told of the time, in 1928 or 1929, when he was driving Henry Ford to the East Orange, N. J., residence of the great inventor Thomas Edison. The car had a flat.

* * *

"He helped me change it," Burke said.

Henry Ford loved the theater, Burke recalled, "I'd drive him whenever he was in New York. He'd go to the theater, pull the derby down on his eyes, laugh at them, and tell me, 'nobody got me there.' "

He added: "The family was out of this world. Mr. Ford was never particular. Old Mrs. Ford never was particular. They were just plain grand folks. I wish I had the years to do it all over again."

TUNISAN VICTOR — Pro-Western moderates in Tunisia won a smashing victory over extremists in that country's first free election. The Nationalist Front party of Habib Bourguiba, above, apparently won all 98 seats in the Constitutional Assembly.

Ike, Mamie Get 12 Flowering Cherry Trees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President and Mrs. Eisenhower have accepted a gift of 12 flowering cherry trees for their Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

* * *

"Every blossom is just like a jewel to us," the First Lady told the donors, officials of the National Cherry Blossom Festival Committee.

The President, laughingly complying with photographers' requests that he step back among the blossoms of one early blooming tree, quipped: "What's that song — 'Tiptoe through the tulips?' "

* * *

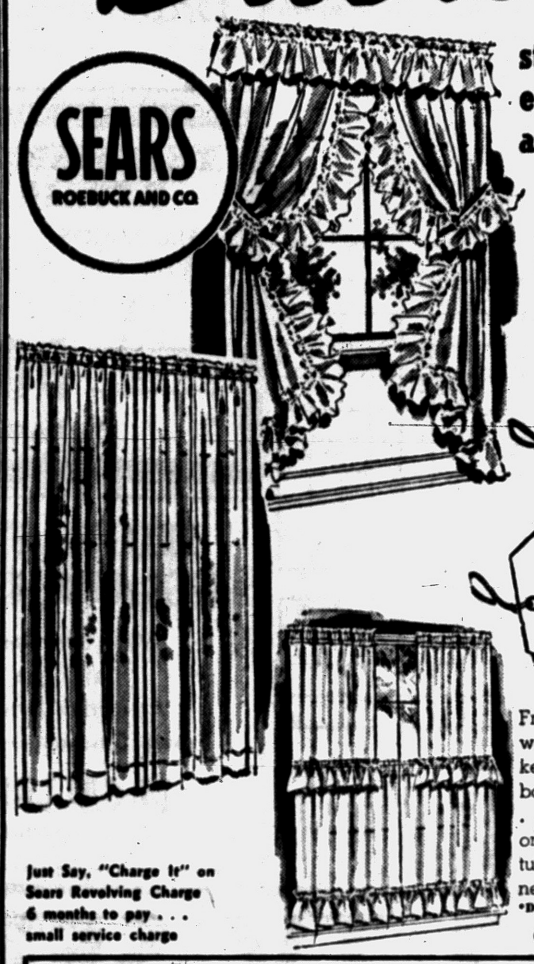

The trees are of the same species (Yoshino) given to the city of Washington by citizens of Tokyo in 1912.

The Japanese trees, surrounding the capital's Tidal Basin, are the center of attraction at Washington's annual Cherry Blossom Festival.

* * *

Parks officials said the cherry trees in the capital should burst into full bloom next week.
