Tax Package in Swainson's Hands

JFK Includes
Cuts in 5-Point
Levy Program

Across-Board Income Tax Reductions Would Start Next January

WASHINGTON (U)—President Kennedy pins his strategy for prosperity on a five-point tax package that includes across-the-board income tax cuts starting next January.

"There is no need for this country to stand helplessly by and watch a recovery run out of gas," Kennedy told his news conference Thursday.

"We have a program to boost it and I hope that all those who are concerned about their stocks or their profits or their jobs will help us get action on this program," he added.

Thus inviting public support, including support from critics who content administration policies upset the stock market, Kennedy urged Congress to get down to business quickly on his proposals.

Tax talk highlighted the news conference in which Kennedy stepped back at Republican detractors and said he would take the stump for Democratic candidates in the November elections.

He made clear the administration does not intend to recommend an immediate cut in income taxes. But he said he will offer a tax reform bill providing reductions in both personal and corporate income taxes, effective Jan. 1, for congressional action next year. Details are being worked out, he said, but will result in a net loss — the reductions "will not be wholly offset by other reforms."

Kennedy conceded his goal of a $70-billion gross national product, the value of the nation's output, probably will not be achieved this year. The stock market decline won't help, he said, but adoption of his tax package would improve chances "of being close."

He listed these other points in the program:

The House-passed tax credit for money invested in new machinery and equipment.

Fortcoming changes in schedules by which companies save money through tax writeoffs for depreciation of plant and equipment.

$2.5 BILLION CUT

Kennedy estimated these two steps would represent a tax reduction for business of more than $2.5 billion.

Swainson said he had received many political contributions without being aware of the exact source, without checking as to whether the donors were white or blue collar.

As for assessments by either party on backers, he said he did not know whether some of the money he gets results from assessments or not. But he added: "I don't think anybody should be forced to make a political contribution."

Swainson, in a press conference yesterday, dissociated himself from a charge made by Scholle at the AFL-CIO convention in Grand Rapids earlier this week.

Swainson said he was "in the Republican party," Scholle had said.

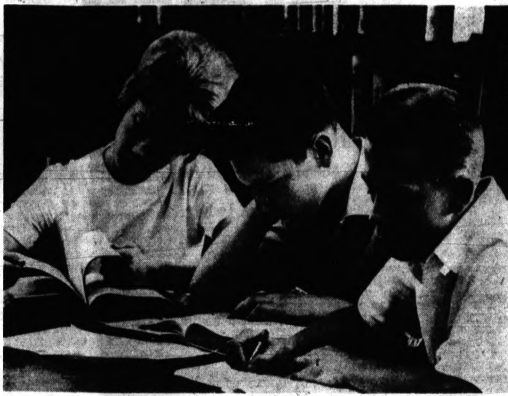

Swainson said: "He does not speak for the Democratic party or for me; he speaks for that over and over again."

The governor's statements were the result of a discussion of a letter from Democratic National Committeeman Neil Staebler to a Ford Motor Co. executive. In it Staebler had thanked the auto firm for passing on contributions of executives to both parties.

Ex-Agriculture Official
Testifies to Estes Cash

WASHINGTON (U)—James T. Ralph, former assistant secretary of agriculture, testified today he received two $100 money orders from Billie Sol Estes last January and his assistant, William E. Morris, got two more — a total of $400.

On the heels of his testimony, Robert E. Manuel, dismissed Republican counsel to the House subcommittee investigating the Estes case, charged that numerous others also received such money orders including some members of Congress and at least one "very high ranking administration official."

Manuel said Morris has a list of those who received the money orders.

Manuel, fired by the subcommittee yesterday for giving a confidential Agriculture Department report to a newspaper reporter, came out fighting today.

He issued a statement that the subcommittee's investigation "is being distorted — and the truth suppressed" and then held what amounted to a news conference to comment on the day's hearings.

One of his assertions in his statement was that an Agriculture Department employee had told him Estes tried to pressure him by invoking the names of the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, but that Johnston's name never came out when this man testified publicly.

Ralph testified that when the money orders came in the mail he asked Morris what they were for, and Morris replied he thought they were for tickets to a $100-a-plate Kennedy inaugural anniversary dinner to be held soon in Washington.

As Ralph put it, "Estes made a contribution of $200 to the Democratic National Committee through me."

He said he endorsed one of them.

He said he did not talk with Estes at any time about the money orders, but saw him at another table at the big anniversary dinner later that month.

Chairman L. H. Fountain, D-M.C., asked why he did not send the money orders back to Estes. Ralph said the thought was in his mind that somewhere in the Post Office Department would be "unexplained money orders with my name on it and with Estes' name on it."

BEST JUDGMENT

He said it was his and Morris' best judgment that they were meant for dinner tickets and that they handled it that way.

Record Budget to Be Finished in Two Weeks

Senate Also Approves Pay Raises, School Aid of $8 Extra Per Pupil

LANSING (U)—In a sudden burst of energy, the legislature passed a $76-million "nuisance" tax package today and almost wrapped up a record $511-million budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Lawmakers struggled with tax and spending bills from 9:30 a.m. yesterday till 3:15 a.m. today, then went home on a two-week recess.

They will come back June 25 to put the finishing touches on the budget.

Just before calling it quits, the Senate also approved a 40 per cent pay raise for the legislature.

The increase, raising salaries from $5,000 to $7,000, stands as a good chance of clearing the House. It would make the legislature one of the two or three best paid in the nation.

The nuisance taxes, virtually the same as those passed by the House last week, are en route to the House.

MSUO Head
Taxes OK'd

After the passage of a $76-million nuisance tax package in the state legislature last night and other action by a House committee, Chancellor R. D. Varner of Michigan State University Oakland was confident the university could add a fourth-class this year.

A Senate-approved higher education appropriation bill was sent out of the House Ways and Means Committee last night. It included an amendment appropriating $100,000 for MSUO — an amendment submitted in the Senate by Sen. Farrell Roberts, R-Pontiac.

"Rep. Henry Hogan, R-Birmingham, representative for the district that includes MSUO, is optimistic about final House passage of the higher education appropriation bill and so am I," Varner said today.

Earlier, Varner had said that the passage of the Roberts amendment would give MSUO enough money to equal the appropriation recommended by Gov. Swainson, assuming a normal increase in student fees.

A proposed fee increase for MSUO was discussed at the next meeting of the Michigan State University board of trustees June 21.

Under consideration is a $15-a-semester increase for Michigan students and a $30-a-semester increase for non-Michigan students, Varner said.

Currently, fees are $10 per semester for Michigan students and $35 per semester for non-Michigan residents.

The higher education bill comes up for final consideration in the House after it recovers June 25.

Romney, Swainson
Talk Cash, Scholle

OWOSSO (U) — George Romney, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, declared here last night he can "clean up this fiscal mess in Michigan."

Romney said he would use the same basic principles of financial management he used to save the American Motors Co. Romney said he inherited a $30-million deficit at American Motors, proportionately greater than the $36-million deficit facing Michigan.

"We had to do something, and we did," Romney said. "These same sound principles of financial management can clean up this fiscal mess in Michigan. This is how we saved American Motors; this is how Michigan can be saved."

"First," Romney said, "we must take a close, hard look at where our money goes. We must decide whether what we are doing is what we should be doing. We must establish the essentiality of every aspect of our operations."

"Next," Romney said, "we must inspect in closest detail the efficiency of state government. We must be dead certain that we get a dollar's worth of good for every dollar spent."

"And then we must look at our revenue structure, and we must revise it to provide enough money to pay for our essential services, which must be administered in the most economical and efficient manner possible."

"These are merely sound principles of financial management," Romney told a Shivessee County Republican rally.

File C. E. Wilson Inventory

Estate Adds to Millions

A partially appraised inventory of the estate of the late Charles E. Wilson was filed in Oakland County Probate Court yesterday.

The inventory, which lists stocks, life insurance and bank accounts, was valued at $13,375,375.

Another $4 million or more may be added after two court-appointed appraisers set a value for the unappraised items in the inventory, according to attorney Joseph Monaghan, legal counsel for the estate.

The inventory is expected to be filed by September when state taxes on the estate must be paid.

Among items appraised in the original inventory were 13 million shares of General Motors, held 1,000 shares of GM common stock worth $15,000.

Other stock was appraised at close to $1 million.

Life insurance totaled some $200,000 and bank accounts about $15,000.

The appraisals were submitted by Mr. Wilson's son Thomas and the National Bank of Detroit, special administrators and executors of the estate.

Major beneficiaries of the estate are Mr. Wilson's widow and other members of his family. The former defense secretary died last Sept. 26.

CARRIED 14 TO WEST — This is a file picture of the 500-ton "Friedrich Wolf," East Berlin river excursion boat that was hijacked today by eight young East German crewmen who escaped to freedom with six others under a hail of machinegun bullets.

The escapees included eight men, all employees of the boat line, five women and one couple's 3-month-old baby. No one was hurt.

The captain of the cruise ship and his engineer then took their 500-ton craft back to East Berlin under Communist police escort.

West Berlin police said apparently no one was wounded on either side in the raging gun battle.

One of the refugees, identified only as "Peter C," because of relatives still in East Germany, described how the first waterborne escapee by shooting back at the Communists who were attempting to capture the fleeing East Germans.

The State Department said the note was under study. Similar notes were sent to Britain and France.

Moscow dispatches said the note to Britain threatened "necessary measures" if shooting incidents continued.

When the captain and engineer awoke from their drunken sleep, all 14 refugees had reached safety unhurt.

Anger Erupts Over Muzzling

Thurmond, Witnesses Feud as Military Probe Nears Conclusion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Temperamentally a special Senate subcommittee member of the end of its investigation of charges by Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., that anti-Communist military men have been muzzled.

Thurmond told Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, "I believe you have been taken in by anti-military propaganda."

"I see no ground for your comment," Sylvester retorted. His tone was level but his face flushed angrily. He called the statement "gratuitous insult."

There was a sharp exchange, then, between Thurmond and Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the subcommittee now approving the muzzling of a man-investigation of Thurmond's charges.

LAST WITNESS

Sylvester is the last scheduled witness in the six-and-a-half-day hearing which started Jan. 23 to explore Thurmond's allegation that censorship and curbs on military participation in anti-Communist seminars for the public amount to muzzling and reflect a neo-fascist foreign policy.

Thurmond protested at one point that Stennis was trying to "crash" his hearing. The South Carolina senator had sought to test Sylvester's knowledge of revolutionary anti-militarism as used by Communists against the U.S. military.

Stennis said he didn't understand the term and asked Thurmond to define it.

"I am not a witness," Thurmond retorted. He is a member of the subcommittee and has been doing most of the questioning.

Plan of Battle Set by AFL-CIO

State Union to Attack Jobs Pay Law and Push Work Week Cut

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Michigan's AFL-CIO today had a political battle plan against the state unemployment compensation law and in favor of a state work week in "automation-impact" industries.

The state labor convention ended yesterday after adopting a resolution asking a national conference of government, labor and management leaders to seek legislation easing unemployment following industrial automation.

The resolution looked forward to shorter work weeks "where automation has made its greatest impact."

The organization said the state unemployment compensation law "pays too few workers for too short a time." The average payment was quoted at $37 for slightly over 21 weeks.

The organization also pledged to fight for a $12.55 minimum wage in the state, reappointment of the legislature, and an increase in the rate of progressive individual and corporate income taxes.

Senate Sets Aid Limit at $4.7 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has voted a $4.7-billion ceiling on foreign aid spending next year—just about what President Kennedy requested.

But there's evidence Congress intends to slash away at the aid program before it finally provides the money that may be spent.

The measure passed Thursday by the Senate 61 to 23 simply sets limits on aid spending in the fiscal year that begins July 1. The appropriations will be handled later in separate legislation.

Actually, the administration had to settle for partial victory in its embattled provision for aid to Communist Poland and Yugoslavia in an attempt to wean them away from Soviet domination.

Wednesday the Senate voted 51 to 24 to bar foreign aid to such countries. But, with heavy pressure from the White House and combined appeals from Democratic and Republican leaders, the Senate reversed Thursday and voted 56 to 24 to exempt gifts and sales of surplus food.

JUDGE DONALD E. ADAMS

Sole Candidate in Judge's Race

Adams Files in Bid for Re-Election to 4-Year Probate Court Term

Probate Judge Donald E. Adams was off and in the running for re-election today — with nobody else on the track.

Judge Adams filed nominating petitions this morning for the Aug. 1 primary election and thus became the first and only candidate in his class.

No one else has announced intentions to run for the nonpartisan, four-year term.

Judge Adams, 49, won a two-year term on the Probate Court bench in 1960 when he outpolled former state Sen. L. Harvey Luch by a scant 500 votes.

In the staggered-term Probate Court setup, Adams' post, created in 1960, becomes a four-year job this year. The four-term post held by Judge Arthur Moore will be up for grabs in the 1964 election.

Judge Adams specializes in juvenile cases and Judge Moore handles probate and mental health matters.

A veteran of 20 years as Waterford Township Justice of the Peace, Judge Adams was graduated from University of Michigan law school. He lost four bids between 1946 and 1952 for election to the State House of Representatives.

The United States leads the world in newspaper consumption, taking at least half the world supply.

The pay raise proposal is likely to stir up the most controversy.

"I think it stinks," said Sen. Frank D. Beidler, R-S.C., chair former Senate majority leader.

"I think it's great," said Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski of Detroit, Democratic floor leader in the House. "Legislators should get $15,800 a year."

The Senate also tracked a $100,000 increase in the house-approved $250,000 budget for promoting and advertising by the Michigan State Tourist Council. The House narrowly turned down an identical increase.

The budget bills are not much changed from the way they came from appropriations committees in the House and Senate.

Committee OK's Defense Budget of $48.4 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Appropriations Committee today approved a record peacetime $48.4-billion defense spending bill.

It included the full $91 million sought by the Air Force for the controversial R570 warplane.

The Senate committee added $500 million to the $48 billion previously voted by the House, with $367 million of the increase going for the R570.

President Kennedy originally requested $47.9 billion, including $171 million for the R570.

The full committee approved almost intact the recommendations of its military appropriations subcommittee. The Senate is expected to take up the measure Tuesday.

The Day in Birmingham

Six New on Community House Board

BIRMINGHAM — Six new board members of the Community House Association have been elected and one director re-elected. It was announced today.

The member volunteer board sets policy for the Community House, which has served as the activities center for the Birmingham-Bloomfield area since 1923.

The new directors, elected to three-year terms, are:

Mrs. W. R. Forsythe, 681 Pugh St., a member of the First Presbyterian Church; Charles T. Hammond, 1750 Fifth St., a member of the First Baptist Church; and Mrs. F. H. Hargrave, 680 Argyle Road, a member of the League of Women Voters and Alumnae Club.

Others are Edward H. Lerehen, 180 Lowell Court, a vice president of the Detroit Bank and Trust Co. and general chairman of the 1962 Community House Fund; S. Tenny McGraw, 650 Kimberly Road, assistant cashier at the Birmingham-Bloomfield Bank and a member of the Birmingham PTCA; and Sheldon Moyer, 2917 Cottontail Lane, senior vice president of D. P. Brother & Co. and public relations committee chairman for the United Fund.

Mrs. John W. Faver, 670 Fairview St., was re-elected to a three-year term. She is a member of the Birmingham Junior League.

High School — Dolores Magrath, 132 Amberst St., Supervisor; Club; and Kathy Smith, 1910 Warwick St., Groves Student Government.

From Seaboard High School — Molly Dutois, 181 Tibbony Road, Seaboard Student Congress; Elizabeth Schwab, 1023 Fox Chase Road, American Legion Auxiliary; and Marilyn Perry, 340 Wimpleton Dr., Kiwanis Club.

For 10 days the girls attending the Wolverine Girls' State will play the role of junior politicians and build a unit of government, electing from their own representatives, city, county and state officials.

At the close of their session, the new board members will elect officers for the coming year.

About $250 was stolen sometime early today when burglars broke into Bob Adams Shell service station, Maple Road and Hunter Boulevard, according to Birmingham police.

The money was taken from a desk drawer after an attempt to burn open a safe with an acetylene torch failed, police said.

The thieves broke a window to gain entrance and then stacked tires in front of the window to escape from being seen while rifling the building.

Tells Geneva Negotiators U. S. Won't 'Surrender'

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean said today the Soviet terms for a nuclear test ban treaty would require "an act of surrender" by the United States. Dean told the 17-nation disarmament conference the United States will not abandon its attempts to conclude a treaty, but added: "There are limits to the possibilities of compromise. There is a point where to go further in accommodation becomes an act of surrender, and surrender is certainly incompatible with negotiation between equal and sovereign states."

Marines to Join in Flower Fight: Expect to Lose

VENTIMIGLIA, Italy (AP)—The U.S. Marines are going to take part Sunday in the most unusual battle they ever fought. And they will lose.

The fight is the annual battle of flowers. Vice Adm. David McDonald of the U.S. 8th Fleet gave special permission Thursday for the Marines to join in the battle. Big floats decorated in elaborate designs with the flowers for which the Riviera is famous are paraded through the streets. Pretty girls on the floats pet the spectators with flowers.

The city's young men—the year the Marines—run alongside and pet the flowers back.

The girls always win. They have the most ammunition. Their carts are loaded with thousands of flowers.

Don't Anyone Steal Third!

ROCKFORD is—Anyone who grows at the junipers in a softball game scheduled next Wednesday at Rockford might find himself arguing with the Kent County Prosecutor's Office. The game matches the state police post at Rockford against the Kent County Sheriff's Department. The prosecutor's staff serves as umpires. Proceeds go toward the benefit of Rockford's little leaguers.

Diplomatic Photographer Has Answer for Woman
ELMIRA, N.Y., AP — A woman complained to Elmira Star-Gazette photographer Fred Perotti that a picture he had taken of her was not as good as one he had taken previously.
"Madam, you must remember," he said diplomatically, "that I was 15 years younger at the time."

Film Produced by Area Agency Honored Again

"Project HOPE," the Academy Award winning documentary produced by McManus, John & Adams, Inc., of Bloomfield Hills, has won another award — the 1962 American Film Festival Blue Ribbon.

The Blue Ribbon was awarded to "Project HOPE" in the public relations-commercial organizations category of the American Film Festival in New York.

The 28-minute color film which relates the teaching, training and medical question of the S. S. HOPE, in southeast Asia, was sponsored by Ex-Cell-O Corp. on behalf of the American dairy industry. It also has won the Silver Anvil award from the Public Relations Society of America.

Former U. S. Treasurer to Marry Coast Man

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Former U.S. Treasurer Elizabeth Rude Smith said Thursday she will marry Albert W. Gator of nearby Greenbrae June 22.

Mrs. Smith, who resigned from her post in the Kennedy Cabinet last April, campaigned for Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who Tuesday won the Democratic nomination in California's primary election.

'Union Can Set Fines for Topping Quotas'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A union may impose fines on its members for exceeding union-set production earnings quotas, a trial examiner for the National Labor Relations Board ruled today.

Examiner A. Norman Somers said the NLRB does not have the authority to outlaw internal union disciplinary measures that do not result in loss of employment for the offenders.

NLRB General Counsel Stuart Rothman immediately announced he would ask the five-member board to reverse the decision.

Rothman's office had contended that the fines violated the law because they were an attempt to enforce conditions the union could not achieve through negotiation.

Legislative reapportionment is required by law in 42 of the states.

Duncan Sister Stays Young

Composes Rock 'N' Roll at 60

By VERNON SCOTT

UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — Vivian Duncan, surviving member of the famed sister act, is 60 years old, makes no play young by wearing rock 'n' roll music for a generation which never heard of her.

Miss Duncan spends most of her days at the piano in her San Fernando Valley home plunking out new songs.

Her first big hit, in conjunction with her late sister Rosetta was "Remembering," circa 1923. And few are the tunesmiths who can boast such a span of years of active composing. Her latest success is "Big Dale Twist" which has been warmly received by the younger set.

"I never think about getting old," said the former star of vaudeville, movies and Broadway. "I keep my mind off myself and think about other people."

Evidently her system works. Miss Duncan has a youthful approach to life which is in sharp contrast to the photographs and other mementos which decorate her home.

Sheet music, newspaper clippings and knick-knacks date back to 1917 when the Duncan Sisters made their professional debut with Gus Edwards in "The Kiddies Revue" at Coney Island. Vivian was 14, Rosetta, 16.

"We introduced a lot of songs in our time," Miss Duncan said, touching her light blonde hair. "Our theme song was 'Side By Side,' and we popularized such numbers as 'I'm Following You,' 'Bye Bye Blackbird' and 'In a Little Red School House.' Ah, those were the days. Now she's playing another tune."

SONGS COME EASILY

In the past four weeks Miss Duncan has written "Blind Me," "Please Give My Heart a Break," "Love Me Now" and "There Comes a Time."

"It only takes me an hour or two to write a song. Perhaps I'd like to hear some of my new ones," she suggested, simultaneously sliding onto the piano bench.

In a voice still alive with excitement Miss Duncan sang the words to "This Uncertain Feeling" while one of her Pekinese dogs fled beneath the piano to howl disconsolately in a contrasting key.

Miss Duncan is active in other fields too. Sunday she will visit Claremont Village Green, a development for senior citizens, to welcome new arrivals and prove to them that age is not a matter of years.

She also is planning a television series with Crivello, the man who predicts such things as the end of the world and whether England will join the

AL Will Present 'Weight in Silver'

BOSTON (UPI)—Billie Sol Estes has nothing on fellow-Texan Norm Cash. The Tigers' slugging first baseman is going to receive a baseball bat literally worth its weight in silver.

It's a full-size sterling silver model which is emblematic of Cash's 1961 American League batting title and it will be presented to him at a pre-game ceremony when the Tigers meet the Washington Senators in a night game at Tiger Stadium June 19.

Joe Cronin, president of the American League, will make the presentation to Cash, who batted .341, hit 41 homers, and drove in 132 runs last year to become Detroit's 2nd batting champion.

At the same ceremony, two other Tigers will be honored for selection on the American League All-Star fielding team. Al Kaline and pitcher Frank Lary will receive gold-covered gloves as emblems of their skills.

Most St. Bernard dogs are a mixture of short-haired Mastiff with strains of Great Dane, Swiss herding dog, Great Pyrenees and Newfoundland.

Is It a Bird? Is It a Plane? No, It's a Weed

TOKYO (UPI)—The serpent-like sea monster found off the eastern coast of Hokkaido turned out to be a 45-foot monstrous sea weed.

A U. S. Navy man and Yoshi-teru Nakamura of the Marine Life Research Institute of Hokkaido University said the mysterious marine life, which frightened fisherman Yoshiharu Tsuruga, was undoubtedly a jelly from off Puget Sound, Wash.

Jail Matron Is Miffed

Senate Finally Votes to Stop Aiding Reds

Commendable was the action of the Senate Wednesday in voting 57-24 to cut from the Administration's $4.6-billion foreign aid bill all assistance to Communist-dominated countries. Yugoslavia and Poland are the ones affected.

The authorization bill thereby would be trimmed $400 million—a pittance amount by Administration standards, but one not to be lightly regarded by taxpayers.

Called a senatorial surprise for President Kennedy, the vote comes as a surprise to us, too—we didn't think there was enough realism in that august body to come up with such a sound conclusion.

At a time when our gold reserve is being drained off alarmingly to meet deficits in our foreign balance of payments accounts, resulting in large part from the lavishness of our foreign military and civilian aid programs, closest scrutiny should be given the destination of every dollar sent abroad.

When the magnitude of our whole foreign aid program is being questioned by increasing numbers, why pour any part of it down rat holes controlled by Communist rats, avowed enemies of our democratic way of life and bent on its destruction?

Guest Editorial General Motors' Bigness Isn't Harmful to Country

(Chicago Daily Tribune)
The report of new car sales by automobile dealers in the first 10 days of May shows that General Motors took 62 per cent of the American market. The figure gives a somewhat exaggerated picture because it reflects the unusual activity of Chevrolet salesmen during a prize competition, but it is nevertheless true that this is the highest penetration achieved by any manufacturer since the days of the Model T Ford.

We have read that some of the lawyers in the antitrust division of the attorney general's office would like to pounce again. Their theory, of course, is that GM is too big and should be broken up for that reason alone.

There is no doubt that GM is big and it seems to be getting bigger but we can't believe that in so doing it is a menace to the country's welfare or is breaking the law. It won its way to the top in a highly competitive market. Nobody but the American people themselves gave the corporation its position of leadership in the industry. Far from clamoring for the dissolution of the enterprise, the people are buying more of its product.

The changing fortunes of the various automobile manufacturers over the years show that no company has title to any particular share of the market. Ford was on top for many years, fell abruptly, and then fought its way back toward the top as its products won, lost, and again won favor with the public. Chrysler has had dramatic gains and losses. In recent years, American Motors climbed with astonishing rapidity. Clearly, the companies get what the buyers, in a kind of national referendum, choose to give them.

We can't think of a fairer way of dividing the market. We can't believe an antitrust prosecution that, if successful, would penalize competence in design and manufacture would also promote the national welfare.

Did Nonpayment Cause Change of Celebration?

Suspicion persists that the real reason behind the decision to celebrate the Philippines' Independence Day next Tuesday, June 12, instead of July 4, is anger over defeat of the Philippine war damage bill in the U.S. House of Representatives.

We are inclined to side with the island people since our original agreement to pay the war claims was not with their government, but instead with the citizens themselves.

President Diosdado Macapagal confirmed the new date on May 15, less than a week after the $73-million war claims bill was defeated 201-171 in the House, and one day after that he put off indefinitely a 12-day visit to the United States that had been scheduled previously.

Vice President Emmanuel Pelaez hastened to explain the holiday proclamation was a result of long planning and not of any rift with the United States. This is like saying that Kennedy's words did not upset business.

July 4, which commemorates the withdrawal of American sovereignty over the Philippines in 1946, will continue to be a national holiday, Pelaez said.

Nevertheless, the timing of the announcement on the holiday shift speaks for itself. Let's face it. The people of the Philippines feel that we have let them down.

House members hate to be forced into anything, and Rep. Wayne L. Hayes, D-Ohio, has likened the issue to "putting a gun to our heads." But the fact remains a new bill, slightly amended, is reported out by the Foreign Affairs Committee.

House leaders feel the new bill has a good chance of passage and we hope so. The Philippines is a valuable friend.

special expedient Pontiac Motor Division for the superb job done in staging the Scoutorama Jamboree at the John F. Ivory polo farm last weekend. The event was attended by 300,000 enthusiasts, creating an unprecedented traffic jam which, because of the nature of the attraction, was borne uncomplainingly by one and all.

Those who think that Scouting consists mainly of knot-tying and fire-birding without matches will be interested to know that there are 144 different Merit Badge categories, that 87 countries have Scout organizations and that the Detroit Council of Scouting is the largest. . . Incidentally, it is about to stage its own PAUL BUNYAN RALLY June 8, 9 and 10 under direction of General Motors.

A Nugget!

David Lawrence Claims:

JFK Avoids Real Issue... Labor

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy still shows no awareness of the serious plight of the American economy today.

At his Thursday news conference he made no mention of the continuing demands of labor—union leaders who seek to increase wage costs.

Nor did he indicate any change in the administration's policy in LAWRENCE forcing a "profit squeeze" by condemning price increases that are designed to take care of such labor costs. This dilemma, however, has been the basic cause of the stock market's recent collapse.

Kennedy chose instead to regard the market's fall as merely the natural result of the overpricing of securities and the ending of an era of inflation.

He thinks it's all just speculative and like President Hoover in 1929—he is arguing that conditions are fundamentally sound.

The President doesn't seem to have made up his mind just when a general tax cut that might be helpful to economic progress should be made.

He said the bill would be made retroactive so it would take effect on the first of next year. But it's difficult to do this, as the whole nation of taxpayers will find it hard to legislate.

Also, the President has tied into the tax measure what he calls "offsetting" tax reforms to close "loopholes" and cut down loss of tax revenue.

The President admits the net tax reduction will not be large. This will mean long debate and delay.

These tactics could boomerang. The people would be voting then on an expectation instead of a concrete piece of legislation.

Is this fair to the people? Aren't they entitled to know in advance what their taxes will be for the year ahead, and to have a chance to voice approval or disapproval at the polls?

LET 'EM GUESS

Practical politics may dictate the answer that it is better to keep the people guessing and let them hope they may get more than they really will.

To tell them exactly how little they will receive — when they have been led to expect more — is not supposed to be a wise strategy a few weeks before an election.

The whole approach is political. The administration isn't really anxious to grant any tax cut. It doesn't actually plan to let the corporation-tax rate go down very much, if at all.

SOLVES NO PROBLEM

This proposal has been before Congress for many months now. It has awakened little enthusiasm and a great deal of opposition. For it really doesn't solve the problem of devaluation rules which for many years have been in need of a general overhauling.

The real issue isn't being faced—whether monopoly power on a wage-cost side is ever going to be broken up just as monopoly power on the management side is forbidden by law.

To promise tax cuts "across the board" in 1963 to individuals will spur consumer spending and bring back fears of inflation. To give the proposed tax cuts to a few businesses next year will not save those really in trouble today.

The President has not come to grips with the immediate situation. He is taking a big risk politically, too. He may get the surprise of his life in the November elections.

It is testimony for the people to vote against the party in power when an economic recession is on — and there are signs that the forecast by the stock market of continued recession is more likely to turn out to be true than the optimistic statements of a big recovery by next November being issued in political precincts nowadays in Washington.

Smiles

Be sure, girls, when you return from vacation, to call your regular boy friend by his right name.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Even Today Farmers Lead Hazardous Life

Having been city born and bred, I did not realize the hardships and risks of farm life until I moved to the country 15 years ago. I was particularly impressed with a recent article on occupational health in agriculture.

This article explores why so little attention has been given to the health of the farm worker.

The farmer is an independent operator with a relatively small operation. His home and workshop are combined.

Child labor laws do not apply. The work week is not limited. Because of work crises, due to changes in rainfall, soil conditions, machinery breakdowns and seasonal demands, the work day may begin before dawn and go on late into the night.

Safety equipment is not furnished nor are safety rules enforced as in supervised industries. Because of distances, first aid and other medical services are not readily available.

MAKES IT WORSE
What makes the situation all the worse is the fact that farm accidents, in the home as well as in the field, rank in frequency only less than those that occur in mining and construction.

When these accidents occur, it is often impossible for the farmer to leave what he is doing to seek competent medical and surgical care.

Sanitation cannot be as well supervised and controlled as in an urban community. In addition, the farmer's occupation exposes him and his family to greater risks from dusts and pollutants that may produce hypersensitivity reactions (allergies); to chemicals such as insecticides, rat poisons (rodenticides), fumigants, pesticides, fertilizers, herbicides, etc.; and to diseases transmitted by animals (zoonoses).

Voice of the People:

Believes U.S. Should Stop Giving Aid to the Enemy

"Life Lines" says: "What countries receive assistance from the United States and still remain Communist? The list is long and shameful. As long as we extend aid to a Communist satellite—even though we exclude Russia we are extending aid directly to Russia."

"We must stop pouring billions into Communist countries. We must stop helping these countries build up their economic strength with shipments of machine tools, critical industrial machinery, and surplus food. Let us cut helping our enemy. Let us stand for freedom by ceasing to give dignity to freedom's enemy."

Citizens Interested in School Election

Every self-respecting mother and father in Pontiac should read the report made by Victor Stitt and William Anderson in the May 29 issue of The Pontiac Press.

How insulting and repulsive can a public official get before we revolt? How low do we go before calling a halt? For heaven's sake, are the decent people in this city going to sit on their hands and let the same group which has taken control of the City Commission also take control of the Board of Education?

This is not the time to change school board members.

Lena D. Anderson

2361 Edinburg

I was amazed and shocked by the report of Messrs. Anderson and Stitt in the May 29 Voice of the People. I wonder if the decency of morals has reached a point which will stir people to get out and vote. The same forces which took control of the City Commission last April can take control of the school board on June 11.

The incumbents who are running for re-election have, high moral standards and a record of commendable public dignity. These, above all other things, are needed on a board of education.

Mother of High School Student

The ultimatum and the firings which our newly controlled City Commission has been approving is pretty good evidence of the irresponsible behavior of some public officials when they are suddenly given new power and authority.

Mix with this power and authority a little of the philosophy that prompts a commissioner to make a capricious remark to a person who has been in the city government.

The group that worked so hard and successfully to get control of the City Commission is now out to get control of the school board. One is a candidate.

Charles Haas

125 N. Perry St.

If the moral standards in Pontiac are to be judged by the "intimate relations" statement of a city commissioner, then indeed we have gone a long way down a dirty gutter. It is time that self-respecting citizens courageously repudiate the bad reputation that Pontiac is getting.

Let's not surrender control of the present school board to new and unpredictable candidates.

Robert L. Bordwell

June 11 can be one of the most tragic days for the Pontiac educational system if Mr. Qualified Voter does not go to the polls and schools have constantly improved

Wives: Prevent Marriage Crisis

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE M-435; Terry T., aged 6, is the caustic husband who has had a platonic marriage for two years.

His wife was so happy during their first 15 years of marriage that she never dreamed anything could disturb her domestic bliss.

Then it was shattered by Terry's turning cold and critical, causing an overly fault-finding.

"He never even kisses me anymore," she sobbed. "And he tries to show his indifference to me in public."

"Last year, for example, he said he didn't believe in making a fuss over wedding anniversaries, and he ignored ours entirely."

Well, you wives with devoted mates better wake up early, instead of waiting until it hits you following 15 or 18 years of marital bliss. So face these sexual facts:

- (1) The average young husband is far more erotic than his wife, so he is usually the aggressor.
- (2) But after he has been married for a few years and the novelty of wedded life wears off, his wife unwittingly becomes less and less stimulating to him.
- (3) She doesn't realize this fact. And though their erotic life slows down, she seldom thinks much about it, except maybe to feel secretly relieved.

even though they do not maintain an appropriate relationship or indulge in a single clandestine affair.

Plans Appeal on Constitution

State Atty. Gen. to Ask High Court to Overrule
Refusal to Discard Suit

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley says he will appeal a Circuit Court decision refusing the state's request to throw out a suit aimed at putting the proposed new state constitution in the Nov. 6 ballot.

Kelley said yesterday he would ask the State Supreme Court to overrule the decision by Circuit Judge Sam Street Hughes of Ingham County.

Stephen S. Nisbet, president of the constitutional convention, asked the court to authorize the convention to set the date for a statewide vote on the new constitution. He said the present constitution is vague on the matter.

The attorney general has ruled that the vote must be scheduled for the 1963 spring election because the convention failed to complete its work by April 1.

Kelley's move will slow down efforts by supporters of the constitution to put the new convention before the voters this fall. A final decision must be made by Aug. 8 — 90 days before the Nov. 6 election — if the new basic charter is to go on the fall ballot.

Kelley argued that Nisbet and others "are attacking the provisions of our present constitution and are asking the court to direct a vote on something which does not yet exist since the constitutional convention has not finally adjourned."

If the high court rules against him, Kelley then may enter arguments against Nisbet's suit, setting the stage for a trial.

The lower probably will appeal the decision to the Supreme Court, causing further delay.

Reach for Moon, Carpenter Tells Graduating Class

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter urged a starry-eyed Boulder High School graduating class last night to reach for the moon.

"Your horizons are limited only by your own vision," said the Navy lieutenant commander, who graduated from the same school 19 years ago.

Carpenter, 37, received a standing ovation from the 316 seniors and 2,500 relatives and guests.

The hometown hero, who two weeks earlier orbited the earth, said "going to the moon is no longer fantasy. There's a slight chance that men my age might someday be on the moon. Possibly of your age will land not on the moon, but on the moons of Mars, and then on Mars itself."

Indicate Chiefs Called to OK Kremlin Plans

Red Bloc Leaders Quil Talks Abruptly

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet bloc leaders ended their economic cooperation conference abruptly Thursday after only two days of talks on their nagging agricultural problems at home and the challenge of the West European Common Market abroad.

A communiqué on the closed-door conference is not due until Saturday. But the brevity of the meeting indicated that the Red satellite leaders were summoned to Moscow only to ratify whatever plans the Kremlin had already formulated.

These are believed to include measures to integrate more closely the economies of the Soviet Union and its European satellites and to create a Red counterpart to the flourishing West European Economic Union.

An indication of this was given earlier by the Soviet government newspaper, Izvestia. It declared that "the objective laws of economic development" now demand that the East European nations and last week proposed an intensive from "foreign trade forms national trade conference to combat what he called the Common Market's aggressive designs.

Khrushchev went from the economic meeting to a reception for a visiting Italian trade delegation and launched a blistering attack on Western Europe's economic alliance.

Boy Struck by Bat, Dies

HOPWELL, Va. (UPI) — Martin Lewis Naulty, 9, died yesterday when he was struck in the head by a bat which slipped from the hands of a fellow fourth grader during a baseball game on the last day of school.

Pontiac Man, 26, in Jail Over Robbery Attempt

A Pontiac man faces examination at 10 a.m. July 3 in Avon Township Justice Court in the unsuccessful robbery of Ted's Service Station, 2101 Auburn Road, Avon Township.

A Detroit man, Melvin McCarty, 26, who was picked up for questioning in the case by Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, has been released from custody.

Being held today at the County Jail in lieu of $500 bond is Melvin Hatchett, 26, of 579 Nevada Ave. Hatchett, a parolee, is charged with larceny from a building.

A service station attendant told deputies he caught Hatchett taking money from the cash register Tuesday afternoon.

Sugar content of the sugar beet has been raised from 2 to 4 percent in the 18th century to 15 percent today.

Catholics Must Give, Claims Archbishop

LONDON (UPI) — Dr. Arthur Michael Ramsey, archbishop of Canterbury, said yesterday there can be no unity of Christians unless the Roman Catholic Church modifies its claim to be the only Christian church.

"Let the Church of Rome recognize that there are other churches, other priests and other sacraments," Dr. Ramsey told a gathering of priests from Lutheran, Reformed and Orthodox and Armenian churches at a special service.

'Naughty' Jail Inmates Lose TV Privileges

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — After a second escape attempt in 17 days at the Richmond City Jail, guards removed a television set.

The jail administrator, Sgt. Frank A. Cavedo, said he would put it back "when they (the prisoners) learn to behave themselves."

Rep. Sterling Dies of Cancer

Dem Legislator From Monroe Stayed on Job Almost to the End

BRIGHTON — Rep. William C. (Win) Sterling, D-Monroe, died in a Brighton hospital last night at the age of 63.

Sterling, who represented Monroe County in the House of Representatives for 34 years, had suffered from cancer for a number of years. He was planning to seek re-election to a third term.

The legislature passed in its deliberations over tax and budget matters last night to pay tribute to their colleague.

"Win knew that he was dying, but he stayed here in Lansing almost to the end," said Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski of Detroit, Democratic floor leader. "He felt he owed his life to the Michigan legislature."

A native of Monroe, Sterling formerly was director of the Detroit Mayor's Rehabilitation Committee on sick row problems and worked for years to rehabilitate alcoholics. He was a reading clerk in the House in 1937 when Democrats briefly gained control of the legislature.

He was long active in Democratic party affairs and was once a candidate for Congress in the 2nd District of southeastern Michigan. Sterling State Park on Lake Erie, north of Monroe, is named for his family, which at one time owned extensive lumber holdings in northern Michigan.

B52H Sets Mark of 11,420 Miles on 1 Fuel Load

SEYMOUR JOHNSON AIR FORCE BASE, N. C. — Capt. William F. Stevenson took aboard 50,000 gallons of jet fuel a couple of days ago and set off in his B52H to do some flying.

When the plane commander and his crew returned here at 2:58 p.m. yesterday, they had traveled a record 11,420 miles without refueling in their eight-jet bomber.

They were aloft 22 hours and 38 minutes. Stevenson of Miami, Fla., commented, "We still had enough fuel for about another hour and a half."

The plane broke two records for distance flown in a closed circuit course — that is, leaving from and returning to the same point — and the world Class C-1 distance record for heavy jets. The old marks were set at 10,078 miles in 1960 by a B52G of the Strategic Air Command.

Tosses Out Conviction of Alleged Communist

WASHINGTON — The U. S. Court of Appeals tossed out yesterday a contempt of court conviction against Philip Bart for his refusal to answer grand jury questions about his "status as an officer of the Communist party."

The appeals court said the U.S. attorney had failed to establish sufficiently that the nation's security was involved in seeking to force Bart to testify under the Immunity Act of 1954.

Elect Mrs. Lois Nasstrom to the Pontiac Board of Education . . .

Once again we have the opportunity to elect 2 members to the Board of Education. It is the duty of every citizen to analyze the qualifications of the candidates, and the records of the incumbents.

A little over 2 years ago, the Board of Education asked the people for an extra 2.8 mills. Time has proved that this was never needed. Both of the incumbents were out plugging for this 2.8 mills. Were these members so uniformed in school finances and revenues that they did not know better or were they led blindly by other members? Is this the kind of members you wish to represent you in this coming election? In fact, one of the incumbents admits today in answer to a questionnaire regarding finances that they have enough to last until 1964-65. It certainly took a long time to find this out!!

Is it true that 5 members of the PRESENT board and certain members of the ADMINISTRATION and an EX-BOARD member held a meeting to plan a whispering campaign and or any other method which would insure that the incumbents would be RE-ELECTED?

About a year ago THE PONTIAC PRESS wrote an editorial. We QUOTE the last paragraph, "However, as a board they have no right to seek to perpetuate themselves as an entity. It is not the Board's job to attempt to have all board members continuously elected." Friends of MRS. NASSTROM say AMEN to the above quote and we are sure that MRS. NASSTROM would make an excellent addition to the board. GET OUT AND VOTE FOR HER!! We need people like her who are virtually interested in your child's welfare, someone who will not be afraid to stand up and be counted and will vote her own mind!

Chicago No 'Sin City,' Says Billy Graham

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Billy Graham's Chicago crusade is now eight days old and may wind up as the most successful he has ever conducted. In the following dispatch, the Rev. Dr. Graham tells of the impact of the crusade upon him.)

By BILLY GRAHAM
CHICAGO (UPI) — I have been surprised at our reception in Chicago.

With great reluctance we accepted an invitation from clergy and laymen to conduct a crusade at McCormick Place, the largest indoor auditorium in the world. The auditorium is bigger than six football fields, and its roof would cover Wrigley Field, Yankee Stadium and Comiskey Park put together.

I got my education in Chicago, had spent my early years here, had spent my early years here. Jesus said, "A prophet is not without honor, save in his own country."

I was certain that I would be greeted in Chicago with mingled feelings, and perhaps a cold reception.

For the last forty years Chicago has been known among evangelists as "a graveyard of evangelism." Several united evangelistic efforts have been attempted without success. Thus, we have been amazed that the average attendance for the first week has exceeded 30,000 per service. This is the largest daily attendance we have ever known in this country.

Throughout the world many people have the impression that Chicago is a haven of hoodlums, and primarily a "city sin." Most people do not realize that this is really the religious capital of America. This city has some of the most virile Christian leaders, some of the most flourishing churches in the world and scores of religious institutions. More than 1,200 churches are working tirelessly to make the Chicago crusade a success, and their efforts are being rewarded.

CATCH SPIRIT

The newspapers have caught the spirit and have devoted entire pages to pictures and stories of the crusade. The Chicago Tribune has carried a front-page story daily, giving generous space in quoting the message daily to Chicago's millions.

Perhaps, more than any city in the United States, Chicago is now talking and discussing religion. One newspaper editor has written, editorially, that this is a healthy thing for the city. There is no question but that every city in America needs a moral and spiritual bath periodically.

Our team, comprised of more than thirty specialists, is making every possible contact with the life of the city. Each day they address audiences in prisons, colleges, department stores, civic clubs, seminars, high schools, on street corners and wherever they can get an audience large or small to listen.

We are now in contact with youth gang leaders who have shown an interest.

We have been gratified at the great number of Negroes and other ethnic groups in attendance. There are evidences that there is a new spiritual awareness in Chicago.

But the real story is being told by those who are committing their lives to Jesus Christ for the first time.

The B-girl who came forward the other night and said she would never return to the bar; the priest who has been in an out of jail a number of times, who says his life has been completely changed by listening to the gospel; the proud business tycoon who was divorcing his wife, but they both have surrendered to Christ, and their home has been gone dead but now it has been re-kindled; the minister who was discouraged and confessed that even though he held a seminary degree his life was empty and confused, but he has now rededicated himself to the high purpose of becoming a new minister to his congregation . . . these are the things that are happening daily all over the city.

Yet, with all this we are only making a small dent in this great city.

I look out of my hotel window daily and watch the thousands of cars and people go by on the busy Michigan Avenue.

I've prayed a thousand times speak to Chicago!

during the past few days, "O God, you speak to Chicago!"

Board Reveals Intent to Expand at Jefferson

The Pontiac School District's "eventual long-term" intent to expand its Jefferson Junior High School site was announced last night by the Pontiac Board of Education.

The board declared its intent to buy the blocks lying between Luther, Bagley, Alton and Wrenn streets in the Fairview Heights Subdivision "as property becomes available at a price judged reasonable by the board of education and as funds are available for such purpose."

Ast. Supt. Otto C. Hutzinger stressed there was no immediate plan to buy the property. He said the declaration was intended so that "regulation can be given to people who desire to construct new homes in the area as to the proposed direction of site expansion."

Supt. Dana P. Whitner warned of speculation in the land noting that the board was not committed to the expansion except under the resolution's provisions of "reasonable price" and "availability of funds."

Expansion of the site had been requested by the Whittier Elementary School PTA. Both Whitner and Hutzinger share the same site. The PTA was protesting reduction of the Whittier playground size by an addition to the Jefferson building.

A basic insurance policy for football players is to call for a basic premium of $1.75 per student plus $40 per student taking part in the practice seasons prior to the football season.

An additional $8 per student will be required for those taking part in the regularly scheduled season.

The move requires that any student going out for football shall be required to pay $3 as his portion of the total premium of $13.75 for football coverage.

An approved resolution also stated that the school district will not be liable for any expense for football injury beyond the amount paid through student accident and football insurance.

In a reflex on the last board meeting's policy decision spelling out racial integration practices in the Pontiac schools, one board member, Rev. J. Allen Parker, year last night commended the board for its action.

The Rev. Mr. Parker, who was delayed in Chicago at the last meeting time and did not participate in the decision, said he wanted to go on record as supporting the policy resolution.

Tourist Council to Meet

CADILLAC (AP) — The Michigan Tourist Council meets July 19-20 at Cadillac for its annual session, according to an announcement by Chairman Fritz Coppers of Traverse City. Upwards of 40 persons are expected at the meeting which expects to outline the council's advertising program for the coming year.

Union Founder Dies

CHICAGO (AP) — Louis Schor, 82, one of the founders of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America in the early 1900s in New York City, died Thursday.

Schor, who was born in Poland, was a member of the union for 50 years. He was a leader in the union's fight for better working conditions and wages.

Makes Celebrity Tour in Golf Tourney

Scribe Says Playing With Pros Unnerving

By BOB CONSIDINE
UPPER MONTCLAIR, N.J. — "Can't wait to get back to my backbreaking TV job so I can relax," groaned Jan Murray as he finished the 18th hole of the pro-amateur tournament.

played as a curtain-raiser for the $100,000 Thunderbird Classic. Jan could say that again. Matter of fact, we heard him saying it several times before the ambulance arrived for the so-called "celebrity" and trucked them back in a fainting condition, to the professions and calling they should never have been in the first place.

It's an unnerving experience to play in one of these tournaments. The amateurs are assigned to play with a renowned pro, who is determined to be a patient man about the whole ghastly business.

He is equally determined, if he has good sense, to avert his gaze as his companions hack away at the ball. Their horrendous incompetence might conceivably be contagious.

The pro will be shooting for a record-breaking first prize of $25,000 in the regular phases of the Thunderbird, once the celebrities have been given the bum's rush. That ain't hay, hey?

In the closing section of this otherwise great tournament — first of its kind, but sure to become a feature of the professional golf calendar — we had some outstanding celebrities.

Nick Kenny, Oleg Cassini, Igor Cassini, Steve Lawrence, Kyle Rote, Eddie Arcaro, Buddy Hackett, Fred Waring, Lawrence Welk, Bud Palmer and Billy Reed. And some also rank, obviously: "Gimme your autograph," a kid said as I was supported to the first tee, held by two strong marshals. "There must be some mistake," I hushed.

"Not at all," the boy said. "I'm not particular."

It's going to be just so jolly you'll laugh yourself sick, the fellow said that night at Troie Sher's, months ago, when you left into the moon and said sure. But now it's not only Doc Tig but H-beam.

At 11:30 a.m. ten seconds the pro in our little foursome, the great Billy Casper, National Open champion in 1959, blasted off the pad. He went off from the blue markers, at the extreme rear of the lush first tee.

WOULD HAVE GONE ON

With a couple of nice guys named Jose White, president of the club, and Bob Murphy, one of the sponsors of the tournament, I proceeded toward the white markers—about 30 yards closer to the distant green. I would have pressed onward to the red markers, the ladies' tee, but was detained.

Not one of us seemed to be laughing ourselves sick. Casper had split the middle of the flag with a drive of perhaps 200 or 275 yards. The gallery, justifiable, looked at us as if wondering, "well, bum, let's see what you can do."

It is very hard for a hacker to play in front of a lot of people. It is something like walking across Times Square with your pants off. I've seen strong men like Dempsey and Cobb shake with apprehension when pressed into service in a "celebrity" tournament.

Dempsey, who could fight his way through the side of the U.S.S. Missouri, and who faced crowds of more than 100,000, became so jittery in front of two or three thousand at the Washington Post Celebrity Tournament some years ago that he went off the first tee of a long hole with a 6-iron. Anything to get away.

But the pros survived, we hope. This is a big one for them, a new feature of magnitude in the professional golf leagues. If Arnold Palmer can win at Upper Montclair, he will have some kind of record comparable to Babe Ruth's $50,000 a year season.

Beyond this lies the National Open next week in Pittsburgh, the British Open and the PGA. He already has the Masters to his credit, and seems to have the best chance of anyone to become the Grand Slam pro.

The Thunderbird, a nearly half-a-million-dollar effort when all things are taken into consideration, by absorbing the "celebrity" phase of the program. It could draw tens of thousands between now and Sunday, now that the amateurs are out of the way.

Most of us will be in the gallery, still smarting from such offensive remarks as my friend Chris Holmes once said about my putting: "Boy, you've got the touch of a wounded rhinoceros."

University of Pennsylvania was founded in 1740.

the Continuous Filament Nylon Story

The country's major nylon producers, long famous for yarn that was superior, wear-wise, have created a new type that is sweeping the country. It is a process by which the yarn is made from a single continuous strand of nylon that prevents pilling, shedding and fraying. The new yarn enables you to get pleasant long service from even a modestly priced carpet. Most major producers have an entry in the field. DuPont's 501, CHESTNUT'S CUMULOFIT, GAPROLAN TYCORA AND SEVERAL OTHERS. All reach relatively the same wear and beauty results through slightly different methods. ... and the best of these are at Beckwith-Evans.

Marine Copters Carry Vietnamese to Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Sixteen U.S. Marine helicopters airlifted Vietnamese troops into two attacks on Communist guerrillas in southern provinces today, an informed source reported.

About 200 Vietnamese troops struck at dawn in Quang. Then Province against a Viet Cong guerrilla force, the informant said, and another government force attacked in Baugien Province.

Results were not immediately known but an American military source said no U.S. Marines were killed or wounded in early phases of the action.

Set Aside Conviction of N. Y. Port Director

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Court of Appeals set aside yesterday the contempt of Congress conviction of Austin J. Tobin, executive director of the Port of New York Authority.

The conviction stemmed from Tobin's refusal in 1960 to surrender certain documents subpoenaed by the House Judiciary Committee in an investigation of port authority activities.

Before Avondale Vote on Monday

Cite Reasons for Mill Hike, Bond Issue

"Half-day high school sessions, an accreditation warning and the prospect of increasing enrollment are the main problems cited by Avondale school officials in their campaign for approval Monday of a millage hike and a bond issue. Seniors at Avondale High School will start half-day sessions in September because of overcrowded conditions. If approved, the $2.25 million bond issue will pay for an addition to the high school as well as to all other schools in the district.

Construction of a new elementary school to meet ever-increasing enrollment also will be part of the bond issue, which was recommended by the Citizens School Study Committee after five months of research on school problems and needs.

Approval of the five-year operating millage hike would pay for the additional teachers and other expenses required by increasing enrollment, according to Sept. Leroy R. Watt.

Passage of the proposals also would allow Avondale to take itself off the "advised" list of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the college accrediting association.

The high school must increase its guidance facilities and staff, its classroom and library space and its vocational educational program to comply with the association's requirements.

The millage proposal would authorize an additional levy of five mills for three years, then three mills for two years. Because of a refunding of an old bond issue, the new bond issue would not bring a tax increase until after three years. Then it would cost 1.5 mills, leaving the total five-year package at five mills or less.

The extra millage is also needed for textbooks and to pay for renovations required by the state fire marshal. To bring about $75,000 a year in additional operating funds, it also would mean some $40,000 more in distressed school aid from the state, a program based partly on the tax rate. Endorsed by the Avondale Parent-Teacher Association Council, the millage increase would be in addition make possible new art, music and foreign language programs in the elementary schools.

Returning the ninth grade to Junior high school and the sixth grade to elementary schools from the present S-4 setup would be a part of the bond issue.

Cost of the extra millage to the taxpayer would be less than 10 cents a day, according to Watt.

The increase would make Michigan legislators among the best paid, if not the best paid, in the nation. The Michigan Manual listed New York as having the highest paid legislators at $7,500 a year. No expense allowance is shown.

Sen. Frank D. Beaudry, 68, of Clair, lambasted the proposal.

"We are probably entitled to a raise," he said. "But we shouldn't be raising our own salaries when we're running a tight budget and setting down on salaries in state agencies."

The increase, including a raise for the lieutenant governor as president of the Senate, would cost $20,000 and set the stage for an increase in legislative pensions.

Lawmakers last voted themselves an increase in 1959, raising the salary from $4,000 to $5,000, adding the $1,250 expense allowance and paying for a second trip home each month. The increase went into effect Jan. 1, 1960.

"I wish we could keep this secret until after the primary election Aug. 7," said a House member. "Now we'll have everybody flitting to run against us this year."

Asks Legislative Pay Hike

State Senate Approves Bill

Would Increase Salary From $5,000 to $7,000 —Near Nation's High

LANSING (AP) — Sen. George C. Stebbins, D-Mount Clemens, moved to give the legislature a "farewell gift" last night — a 40 per cent pay raise.

Stebbins, who is retiring from the Senate to become Macomb County Democratic chairman, asserted that lawmakers now earn "a ridiculously low salary."

He proposed to raise the salary from $5,000 to $7,000, leaving unchanged the $1,250 expense allowance and the mileage payment for two round trips home a month for each legislator. The Senate approved the raise, 18-5, the minimum passage requirement, and turned the matter over to the House.

"Legislative sessions are getting longer and longer," Stebbins said. "The demands on the State Senate in this modern age are as great as those on congressmen."

The increase would make Michigan legislators among the best paid, if not the best paid, in the nation. The Michigan Manual listed New York as having the highest paid legislators at $7,500 a year. No expense allowance is shown.

Sen. Frank D. Beaudry, 68, of Clair, lambasted the proposal.

Plan of Improvement Recertified for Troy

TROY — The city's workable program for community improvement has been recertified by the Housing and Home Finance Agency. It was announced in Washington today.

City Manager David Firestone explained that the verification of the original certification, approved a year ago by the federal agency, only means that the city remains eligible for several types of financial assistance.

The workable program has to be approved annually, he said, or otherwise it expires.

No urban renewal projects are planned for the immediate future, according to Firestone, but if and when they are, there would be little delay in getting aid because the city already has qualified for assistance.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Four Area 4-H Members to Train in Washington

Four Oakland County 4-H'ers will be among 150 4-H members from throughout the nation who will go to Washington, D. C., June 25 for a week of citizenship training classes and tours of the capital's famous buildings.

Carolyn Bowers of Milford's Busy Fingers 4-H Club, Steve Smith of the Nu-Ly-Wik club, Lyle McLachlan of the East Orient club and Marilyn Paulsen of the Ortonville club will be accompanied by county 4-H agent Jack Worthington on their bus trip to the nation's capital.

While at the National 4-H Center in Washington, they will see and possibly make use of two Michigan conference rooms furnished by a $2,500 loan of the state 4-H.

First installment of the fund was paid at the annual National 4-H Conference at the center in April. The fund is raised from individual gifts, local 4-H clubs and county 4-H councils or leader associations.

NAMED FOR PIONEER — The two rooms are located in Turner Hall, a class and conference building named in honor of Ray Turner of Ewart, the state's first 4-H leader.

The 263 members of Oakland County's U.S. Army Reserve artillery unit will leave Pontiac this weekend for two weeks of summer maneuvers at Camp McCoy, Wis.

The 4th Howitzer Battalion, 38th Artillery, which is quartered at the Army Reserve Center, 40 Walnut St., will train with five other artillery battalions from Michigan and surrounding states at Camp McCoy from Sunday until June 24.

The battalion is under the command of Maj. Cyril D. Duffy of 1232 Shipman St., Birmingham.

The first week at camp will be devoted to tactical problems while the second will be spent on the firing range, shooting 105 millimeter howitzers.

The local reserve unit includes three firing batteries, a service battery, a headquarters and headquarters battery and a medical detachment.

Public Tour of Gardens is Set by Organization

WOOD CREEK FARMS — A public tour of a dozen gardens here will be sponsored tomorrow and Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m. by the Woman's National Farm and Garden Clubs of Greater Detroit.

Ticket information and the location of the gardens can be obtained by contacting the Detroit Garden Center, 133 E. Grand River Ave.

DAV to Sponsor Dinner-Dance to Aid Children

Men who know the meaning of overcoming handicaps are seeking public support in a project tonight which will help hundreds of handicapped Oakland County children.

The men, members of the Oakland County Chapter of the Disabled American Veterans, will sponsor a benefit dinner-dance 6:30 p.m. today at the Waterford Township Community Activities Building, 5546 Williams Lake Road.

All proceeds from the event will be donated to Camp Oakland, a summer recreation facility for troubled children under the jurisdiction of the County Probate Court.

"If the dinner-dance is successful, we plan to make it an annual event," said Mrs. Cleta Parker of 22 Onedia Road, Pontiac, state public relations chairman for the DAV.

"Tickets will be available at the door tonight," she said. "There will be a choice of meat or fish courses available since the dinner is on a Friday."

Bond Offers Chance to Join Music Making

Like to play in a band this summer? If you live in Avondale School District, you can bring your instrument to the Avondale High School at 7 p.m. Mondays and Tuesdays beginning Monday for four weeks and join in music making with members of the high school band.

The students, required for the students, are open to anyone who wants to play along, according to band director William Campbell.

Sponsoring Fish Fry

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — The Altar Society of St. Patrick's Church here begins today to sponsor a series of fish fries at the church, Hutchins and Union Lake roads. The fish fries will be held every Friday until Sept. 1, from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. Carry-out orders are featured.

Band Boosters to Picnic

OXFORD — The Oxford Area Band Boosters will hold a picnic 5:30 p.m. Monday at the Oxford Township Park, Stony Lake. All those interested in the band program at the Oxford Area Community School are invited to attend.

Events Will Top Week for Seniors

ROMEO — The final week of school for 111 members of the graduating class at Romeo Community High School will be highlighted by the baccalaureate program Sunday evening and commencement next Thursday night.

The sermon at the baccalaureate will be delivered by Rev. Lloyd O. Chase, pastor of the Washington Baptist Church. His topic will be "Road Ahead."

Singing the anthem, "The Lord is a Mighty God," will be the senior high mixed chorus, led by E. C. Ojala, band and chorus director.

The invocation will be given by Loren J. Strail, of the First Methodist Church, and the benediction by Rev. John A. McMillan of St. Clement Catholic Church.

The program will be held in the high school gymnasium at 8 p.m. Male speaker at commencement in Memorial Stadium will be Lloyd J. Haynes, vice president in charge of traffic, Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

The diplomas will be presented by School Board President Walter W. Sewell and trophies, scholarships and awards by David L. Olson, school principal.

Carol Burgess will give the valedictory address and Ruth Smith, the salutatory.

Slated to offer the invocation is Rev. E. K. Mattison of the First Baptist Church, Romeo. Rev. E. G. Appel of St. John Lutheran Church will pronounce the benediction.

To Decide on Ted or Ed in Massachusetts

She Gets $3 Million in Divorce Decree

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—President, or the state attorney general, Edward J. McCormack, Jr., nephew of House Speaker John McCormack, for U.S. senator?

Who will it be, Teddy or Eddie? In more formal language, will the Democrats endorse Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, brother of the 38-flashed brilliant, confident smiles and claimed victory.

Kennedy—"We will have a clear majority" with possibly 1,000 votes.

WRONG FIGURES?

Since it takes 862 votes to defeat if all the delegates are present, somebody's arithmetic is remarkably shoddy.

Charges and countercharges flew. McCormack told a news conference he is "doing the President a favor" by attempting to defeat his brother.

he has affidavits to prove such pressure but did not want to use them because they could hurt the President in 1964.

Kennedy made an unqualified denial that either of his brothers, the President or Atty. Gen. Robert E. Kennedy, had used their influence to help him.

Kennedy replied that to the best of his knowledge he had voted in three of the last four statewide elections.

Although the convention has had all the hard fighting and all the backstage huddling of a national political convention, the truth is that it is almost meaningless.

CHICAGO (UPI)—The wife of the rags-to-riches head of a $2-billion industrial empire yesterday won a $3-million divorce settlement.

Attorneys for Mrs. Ora Mary Lannan, 55, claimed the financial settlement in her uncontested divorce action against J. Patrick Lannan was the largest in Illinois history and second only to the $5.5 million won by Bobo Rockefeller from Winthrop Rockefeller eight years ago.

The divorce was granted by Superior Court Judge William Daly on the ground of desertion.

Bombs Smash Windows of Bank in Madrid

MADRID (AP)—Two bombs exploded early today in the Banco Popular de Espana, smashing some windows and causing other minor damage.

The bank, in the heart of downtown Madrid, is believed to be operated by prominent members of the Opus Dei organization of Catholic laymen, target of recent student attacks.

EVERYONE IN THE ACT—Massachusetts Attorney Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr. greets entertainer George Marks at a Democratic state convention banquet at Springfield, Mass., last night. McCormack is seeking the convention's endorsement for the United States senator's seat running against Edward (Ted) Kennedy, President Kennedy's brother. Mrs. McCormack, smiling, looks on.

"There is a lot of talk about the national dynasty issue now," he explained. "The Republicans would have the greatest domestic issue if Ted is elected, but if Ted is defeated the dynasty issue is dead."

Kennedy denied emphatically that his own news session rumors that income tax investigations, deportation proceedings and promises of postmasterships were being used to swing delegates into his camp. McCormack specifically mentioned 52 postmasterships left unfilled.

Kennedy answered that such charges "insult the integrity" of McCormack supporters.

CITES 'ARM TWISTING'

McCormack charges pressure and "arm-twisting" have been times when his brother was a used to lure his delegates. He said candidate.

"I have heard these charges for the last four weeks," Kennedy said. "I always had a high regard for the attorney general as a man who would try his cases in court rather than in the newspapers. I would expect proof, because this involves not only me but the delegates' integrity and honesty."

FIRES BACK

At the same time, Kennedy fired back at McCormack's charge that since reaching voting he had voted only twice—both "arm-twisting" have been times when his brother was a used to lure his delegates. He said candidate.

For the lower end, and probably will, enter the primaries, too, and a victory here won't necessarily be of great advantage.

Furthermore, the final Democratic winner to come out of the primary may have to run against still a third nationally famous family representative.

LODGE CONTENTS

For George Lodge, 34, is contending for the Republican nomination against U.S. Rep. Lawrence Curtis. George's father is Henry Cabot Lodge, former ambassador to the United Nations and GOP candidate for vice president in 1960.

John F. Kennedy beat Henry Cabot Lodge for this same Senate seat in 1962—and with that victory took a giant stride toward the White House.

Waterford High School Commencement Slated

A total of 249 Waterford Township High School seniors will receive diplomas from School Board President Eldon C. Rosegrat Wednesday evening. The commencement program will be held at 8 on the athletic field, weather permitting.

Dr. Edgar L. Harden will deliver the commencement address. A former dean of continuing education at Michigan State University, Dr. Harden is now president of Northern Michigan College in Marquette.

In addition to his activities at Northern Michigan College, Dr. Harden is advisor to the educational policies commission of the National Education Association, a member of the Council of State College Presidents and is state liaison representative, American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education.

Rev. G. J. Bensch of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, will give the invocation

AF Gleaned Data Despite Titan Flop

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP)—The Air Force says it received a great amount of valuable data from the second test flight of the Titan 2 rocket even though it fell far short of its intended 5,000-mile range.

The big rocket, most powerful military missile now planned by the United States, developed trouble shortly after second stage ignition and plummeted into the Atlantic Ocean several hundred miles southeast of Cape Canaveral yesterday.

The purpose of the flight was to gather additional data on design, propulsion, guidance and other systems. An official said that although all objectives were not achieved "we got much of what we were looking for."

Seeks Heliport Sites

TOLEDO —A heliport opened recently on a factory roof in Toledo and city officials are considering downtown sites for purchase and lease to a helicopter company.

Tobacco Takes Work

NEW YORK —Growing tobacco takes 378 man-hours per acre or more than any other field crop, the Tobacco Institute reports. It says corn requires 19.3 man-hours and cotton 68.

Writer Bemoans His Aging

Truman Has Poor Memory or Something

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON—It seems a pity that everyone cannot grow old gracefully.

Some seem to manage the difficult process with effortless ease. Former President Herbert Hoover and long-time White House chafaraine Eleanor Roosevelt have set such admirable examples that perhaps they should open a chafaraine school on "The Art of Aging."

If so, their very first pupil might well be another member of their exclusive group of White House survivors named Harry S. Truman.

The scrappy ex-prexy is becoming an embarrassment to his loving, well-mannered wife Bess, and to those loyal followers who think it is time for a 78-year-old man to abandon his once amusing "Give 'em Hell" technique.

Something is eating Mr. Truman. Either he has lost his regard for the truth, or he has developed the affliction of many senior citizens — an abominable memory.

Truman has always been a biter, but it is lamentable to see this quality so publicly directed by one ex-president against another. The slur which he cast on Dwight D. Eisenhower during an early morning walk in New York this week was so gratuitous as to be incomprehensible.

President Kennedy, by his cancellation of 23 White House subscriptions to the Republican-oriented New York Herald-Tribune, had demonstrated that he is rather thin-skinned about criticism.

Since only four living men have occupied the presidency, it would have been obvious good manners for Truman to make no comment on the matter, or simply to speak a word of understanding about the pressures which harass a chief executive and sometimes temporarily mar his judgment.

Instead, he set out on the issue as a pretext to light into his successor, Dwight D. Eisenhower, with whom he has been feuding for a decade.

"He's the thinnest skinned fellow in the world," Truman growled. "Did you read what he said when they found a couple of crooks in his administration the other day?"

He added that the canceled subscriptions both to the Washington Star and Washington Post while he was in the White House.

The statements simply were not true. There is no record of any newspaper subscriptions being canceled during the Eisenhower administration.

Further, no shred of proof has yet been offered that the former Eisenhower officials in question were "crooks."

Eisenhower may possibly be thin-skinned, but if so, this is certainly a case of the pot calling the kettle black. Pres. Truman was no abnormally thin-skinned man.

when a respected music critic wrote an honest review of Margaret Truman's singing performance with the National Symphony Orchestra, Truman wrote him an abusive, off-color letter threatening to kick him below the belt.

PLAYS LOOSELY

Similar incidents of his undisciplined outbursts at implied or imaginary criticism of his "womankind" are legion, and he often of late plays loosely with the truth.

In recent times he has greatly puzzled his loyal friend and former secretary of state, Dean Acheson. It seems to have rankled Truman that President Eisenhower and Secretary John Foster Dulles rightfully received credit for ending the fighting in Korea.

Sometimes afterward, Truman scornfully told Acheson: "That's the same trace terms we were offered, but we rejected them."

"No," Acheson smilingly reminded, "they were the true terms we tried to get, but couldn't."

On his next trip to Washington, Truman made the same boast to Acheson, and received the same quiet correction. Later he did it again.

He has similarly distorted historical facts about former Secretary Jimmy Byrnes, and others against whom he developed a grudge.

It is sad that a man who has served his country well in a time of great crisis cannot now relax and enjoy the late afternoon of his life without bitterness. His own wife Bess could show him how, if he would check his firearms and stop shooting from the hip.

Laotian Official Blames U.S. for Nation's Troubles

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
VIENTIANE, Laos—The government of Laos conducts its business in a high-ceilinged building of yellow stucco and brown trim just across the street from the walls of the royal palace and its adjacent Buddhist Temple.

The man in charge during the frequent absence of Premier Prince Boum Oum and his strongman overseas Gen. Phoumi Savan is a small, compact man who stabs the air with a finger to emphasize his current indignation with the United States.

He is acting Foreign Secretary Sisouk Na Champassak.

Among his other jobs, Sisouk also is the permanent Laotian representative to the United Nations in New York and has the respect of Western diplomats here even though now they find themselves on opposite sides.

For, like Phoumi and Boum Oum, Sisouk bitterly resents United States action evicting its support from the weak but pro-Western Boum Oum government to the neutral government proposed by the once-deposed Prince Souvanna Phouma.

He charges that when the United States withdrew its economic support from the Boum Oum government, it deprived the government of its greatest bargaining card at the conference table.

"Now," he shrugs, "We will go and we will sign. There is nothing else we can do. For this the United States bears a heavy responsibility."

Government troops fought well before their rout at Nam Tha, he maintains, until they found the Pathet Lao and Communist Viet Minh troops at their rear as well as in front.

U.S. officials here agree that the royalist forces could hold their own against their fellow-countrymen, the Pathet Lao, but have proved themselves no match for the disciplined Viet Minh.

As for the bargaining, by which General Phoumi hoped to hold the defense and interior ministries for his own right-wing forces, Allied officials point out he had many months in which to negotiate before being forced to do so by lack of U.S. support and on the advice of Thailand.

In any event, Western representatives now have their thumb on the scales. They argue, further, that if Russia fails to enforce Communist agreement to a neutral government in Laos, it loses all hope of agreement on other issues, including Berlin.

To this, Sisouk replies with an expressive, unbelieving shrug of the shoulders.

U.S. Warns Aircraft of Impending N-Test

TOKYO (UPI)—The United States has warned aircraft to keep out of a 400-by-400-mile danger area near Christmas Island in preparation for a new nuclear test, it was reported today.

Informed sources said U.S. authorities have warned that the area will be "dangerous to all aircraft at all altitudes" beginning at 4:15 a.m. Pacific time today.

"Grave . . . hazards as a consequence of tests of military weapons will exist in the area and all personnel are cautioned to keep clear," the warning notice said.

"Aircraft flying near but outside the established danger area may see a flash as a result of a nuclear detonation. This flash may be startling but will not be hazardous."

'First Lady Waltz' to Make Debut Tuesday Night

HOLLYWOOD (U.P.)—The First Lady Waltz, composed by two of Hollywood's best known songwriters, will get its first public performance Tuesday night at Hollywood Bowl.

The song dedicated to Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy will be sung by the 100 girls who comprise the graduating class at Immaculate Heart High School. Among them will be Cookie Cole, daughter of singer Nat (King) Cole.

Music to the lulling waltz was composed by Jimmy (I Can't Give You Anything But Love) McGough and the waltz by Ned (Ballad of High Noon) Washington.

In 1940 New Orleans was the nation's fourth largest and second only to New York as a major port.

Boyfriend Bashful—Abby

Maybe He Needs a Push

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Has a woman ever proposed to a man? I've been going with this fellow for three years. He's told everyone he knows that he wants to marry me, but he hasn't told me yet. We aren't kids, either.

He is 33 and I am 31. He talks about marriage but never comes right out and asks me to marry him. How can I get him to propose or do you think I should ask him?

DEAR WANTS TO MARRY: DEAR WANTS: Your man is a bashful one. Make it easy for him and get him on the subject again. If he talks about it long enough, he'll either ask you, or think he did.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think about a friend who has the nerve to ask you to make a dessert for her dinner party and then, at the dinner party, when everyone is telling her how delicious it is, she just says "Thank you," and never opens up her mouth about who really made it. She has done this to me more than once.

READY TO EXPLODE

DEAR READY: I think she is a small, insecure, begrudging, ungrateful fraud. Now, ask me what I think of a "friend" who would supply dessert for this kind of person twice.

DEAR ABBY: What makes women like you tick?

CURIOUS MAN

DEAR CURIOUS: Men like you who get us all wound up!

DEAR ABBY: There is much controversy over the fact that where there are children a couple should stay together even though there is constant bickering and quarreling.

I believe that children are better off raised in the quiet atmosphere of a peaceful home with only one parent. How do widows manage? I depend on your answer.

TROUBLED MIND

DEAR TROUBLED: Widows "manage" because of circumstances beyond their control. Divorced couples make their own misery.

If married people would exercise one-half the effort to ward making a peaceful and pleasant home for their children as they do in less important activities, they could eliminate the bickering and quarreling they find so impossible to live with. Amen!

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Degrees and Jobs

College Campus

John W. Dawson, son of the John Dawsons of Ascot Street, Waterford Township, has been chosen a student-trainee for this summer at the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, from David Lipscomb College, Memphis, Tenn.

He will be assigned to the analytical chemistry division of Oak Ridge Laboratory to assist with a research project under the direction of laboratory scientists. His work will begin Monday and will end 10 weeks later.

The program, offered on a competitive basis to a limited number of college juniors majoring in the sciences and who will graduate in 1963, is designed primarily for students from small southern colleges who possess potential for a successful career in science. Mr. Dawson is a junior chemistry major at Lipscomb.

Recipient of a master's degree in education at Bowling Green State University is Harold E. Rose of Kenilworth Avenue.

A Male Actor Award was presented to David C. McGaffey, son of the Donald McGaffeyes, Birmingham, who attends the University of Detroit at a recent dinner at the Village Manor Inn, Grosse Pointe.

Judith Oles, was formally initiated into the Beta Pi Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi at Eastern Michigan University. She is a sophomore, majoring in home economics, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Oles of Knollwood Drive.

J. Michael Cullens is one of 53 graduates to receive the doctor of optometry degree from Southern College of Optometry, Memphis, Tenn., today. Dr. Cullens is the son of Mrs. Margaret J. Webb of West Russell Street, and a member of Phi Theta Upsilon professional optometric fraternity, also the American Optometric Association.

Nancy Raymond, daughter of the Kenneth Raymonds of Windcroft Drive, Waterford Township, is one of 12 new members of Phi Sigma Pi, honor society at Alma College.

Alan L. Hackney of East Rutgers Avenue has been awarded a bachelor's degree in arts and crafts at Indiana State College, Terre Haute, Ind.

For the third consecutive year, Eastern Michigan University's graduate school is sponsoring a 60-day summer study tour of eight European countries with Reinhard Wittke, associate professor of history, as tour director.

Mary Lou Lackie of Middle Belt Road and eight other graduate students at EMU will leave June 30 by plane for a summer study tour of eight European countries.

Miss Lackie's group will return to Detroit Aug. 14. The tour carries a total of six graduate credits in history.

The Richard VanHuizens of Paulsen Street in Waterford announce the engagement of their daughter Kay, to Joseph S. Courier. He is the son of the John Couriers of Clarkson and attended Lawrence Institute of Technology.

If Guests, You Pay for Tickets

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: The dancing school to which my daughter goes is giving a recital next month and she has been chosen to do two solo ballet dances.

We would like some of our relatives and friends to come as we think they will be interested in seeing her perform. The price of the tickets is one dollar and fifty cents.

A: I would like to know if it would be proper to tell these relatives and friends when the recital is to take place and also the price of the tickets and ask them if they would like to go, or must we pay for their tickets?

A: You may tell your friends and relatives of the recital and your daughter's part in it and then if they express a wish to see her, you can tell them where and when it is to take place and the price of the tickets. If you invite them to go with you, then you must pay for their tickets.

Q: My husband and I can't agree on whether our son is junior or not. My husband's name is Thomas Henry and our son's name is Thomas William.

I was under the impression that both the first and middle names had to be identical in order for our son to be junior. My husband says that only the first name must be the same. Which one of us is right?

A: You are. A son or grandson is junior only when he is given the identical name of his father or grandfather.

Q: When dining in a restaurant, where does a lady put her purse and gloves?

A: In her lap. If her purse is very small and ornamental and there is plenty of room at the side of her plate or above it, and keep her gloves in her lap. If her bag is very large she puts it on the floor beside her chair.

Details for the announcement and christening of a baby are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled "The New Baby." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, care of The Pontiac Press.

Q: My daughter's fiancé's name is Bobby Lewis Jones. This is his legal name and the one he was christened with. Should this name be put on the engraved invitations, or should it be Robert Lewis Jones (which is not really his name)?

A: His legal name, Bobby Lewis Jones, should appear on the invitation in spite of the fact that some who do not know Bobby is his real name, will think that you have used his nickname by mistake.

Tours of Art Studios Planned During Birmingham Festival

Area artists are sweeping up for an afternoon of studio tours during the Birmingham Arts Festival, June 21-24.

The tour will introduce artists' habitats in the Birmingham-Bloomfield-Southfield areas the afternoon of June 22, 1 to 5 p.m. It is part of the festival sponsored by the Birmingham Art Association in Birmingham and repeats a popular feature of last year's festival.

During a Wednesday morning coffee in her Surrey Road home, tour chairman Mrs. Robert Thom announced the seven artists who will open their doors for the event.

At the home of Dorothy and Frederick Simper on Spring Road in West Bloomfield Township, visitors will see the studio where Mrs. Simper does her oil paintings. In a separate studio, her husband paints his well-known watercolors, five of which are now in the permanent collection at The Detroit Institute of Arts.

Birmingham studios to be opened to visitors include Jean deVos Stebbins will hang a picturesque red barn on North Hunter Boulevard where Malcolm Moran and Donald R. Buby create their architectural sculpture.

Outside her main floor studio on Pierce Street in Birmingham, portrait painter Jean deVos Stebbins will hang an exhibition of her students' work for tour day.

Ceramicist and instructor Mary Ann Hatos is preparing her new studio on East Maple Road. The new workshop occupies a separate building outside the Hatos home.

Not far away on Southfield Road, Southfield, is the one contemporary structure where ceramist and sculptor Betty Conn developed her technique with fused glass. Tour-goers will see the large, well-lighted studio of Mrs. Conn. The family's living quarter separate her studio from the offices of architect husband James Conn at the opposite end of the structure.

The studio of a self-styled "Sunday painter," Mrs. S. L. (Mick) Noble are included on the tour. Mrs. Noble's studio on Spruce Drive was imaginatively created from an extra room in her home.

Young Patricia Ann March has achieved such success with her weaving that her active studio on Cranbrook Road will be opened for the tour.

A junior at Kingswood School, Cranbrook, Patricia has won national awards for rugs from her busy looms. They are housed in a garage studio near Christ Church Cranbrook.

Tickets for the studio tours will be available at Calbi's Music Store and the Birmingham Art Center.

From the Hills!

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Weather Man just can't let it rain this weekend! The many graduates, brides-to-be, and fairs are scheduled. St. Dunstan's Guild annual Greek Theater show also runs this weekend and next.

"Look Homeward Angel" is this year's final production of the season for St. Dunstan's Guild. A large cast is being whipped into shape under director Jerry McMechan and audiences will appreciate it if the weather cooperates.

Home from the East early next week will be the Roger M. Kyes' family, which is attending Kathie's graduation from Smith College.

Mrs. Clifford B. West will go to daughter Jill Shalcross' graduation Tuesday from Radcliff College.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Higgins drove to Columbia, Missouri last weekend and brought their daughter Katherine Jane home from Stephens College. She will be married Aug. 25 to Dale Lawrence Simons.

Mrs. John L. Lovett has left to return to her home in Pebble Beach, Calif. in Bloomfield and Birmingham she visited members of her family and her friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whitting are in the East where they will visit their friends and former Bloomfield residents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh W. Hitchcock, at their farm near Theford, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Wilson, their daughter Jean and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas MacArthur will give a dinner Wednesday for bride-elect Mandy Mathews, and her fiancé, Joseph Lingham.

Stephen Saunders invited friends for a house-warming supper Memorial Day in his new home, "The Cedar Chest," on Beach Road.

Mrs. William D. Muliken and her small daughter Cynthia have come from Cambridge, Mass., for a visit with "Jill's" parents, Mr. and Mrs. David F. Nethercott, of Birmingham.

Bill will come this week to take his family to their new home in Champaign, Ill. Mrs. Nethercott had a luncheon for several of her daughter's friends.

Prepare Retirement During Middle Age

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Editor Joseph Aam. If you don't want to feel lonely and useless and bored at 60, 70, or 80 — you had better spend the years between 40 and 50 developing interests and hobbies and talents that you can fall back on when your major work in life is finished.

That's the opinion of the head of a state hospital for the mentally ill who feels that if people would begin early to prepare themselves for life after retirement the hospital wards and nursing homes for the aged mentally ill would be less crowded.

For women, preparing themselves mentally for old age while they are still young and active should be easy. The majority of women in their forties have some free time on their hands — or could have.

But too few women make use of middle age leisure to develop the interests and talents that they can fall back on in old age.

Some are content to live through instead of striving out to develop interests of their own.

Good information: Ruth Millett's booklet, "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, care of The Pontiac Press, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

Club Plans Picnic and Gym Night

Mrs. Frank Reichert served to direct activities for the Fashionette Club's white elephant sale Tuesday evening in Adah Shelly Library.

Assisting Mrs. Reichert with the proceedings were Mrs. Albert Lowe and Mrs. Bert Hillock.

Mrs. John Kistich, vice president, presided at the business meeting.

Trophy winner for losing the most weight this week was Mrs. Virgil Lewis.

The group's agenda includes its annual picnic June 19 at Hawthorne Park. The cooperative dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Tuesday evening will be gym night at which time members will exercise to music, provided by Mrs. William Woodruff's records. In turn, each member will discuss an article about dieting or improving personal appearance.

The Fashionette Club, sponsored by the Pontiac Department of Parks and Recreation, holds its meetings each Tuesday from 7 to 9 at the library. Membership is open to any woman desiring to lose weight and attending three consecutive meetings.

Aims of the club include losing weight and then maintaining an ideal weight, to provide moral support for other members, to improve personal appearance and to stimulate interest in hobbies and recreational activities.

Following each business meeting and "weighing in," the group features either a guest speaker or some planned activity.

Unit of WCTU to Meet Tuesday

Dora B. Whitney Unit, Women's Christian Temperance Union, will meet Tuesday at 1 p.m. The hostesses will be Mrs. Walter L. Willson of Murphy Avenue.

SUE ANN KURVAN.

The Raymond Kureans of Big Rapids announce the engagement of their daughter Sue Ann to Eric W. Anderson, son of the Kenneth Andersons of Wenonah Drive. Her fiance attends Ferris Institute.

Past Presidents Meet

Past President's Club of Cook-Nelson, Unit 20, American Legion Auxiliary, met for a cooperative dinner and business session at the legion home on Auburn Avenue.

After reports from various committee chairmen, Mrs. Carl Clifford informed the group of music recitals being conducted in this area.

Mrs. Eldon Shown, club secretary, presented a check to Mrs. David Warrilow, president of Cook-Nelson Unit 20. The money will be used by the unit's general fund to carry out programs of the Legion auxiliary.

Mrs. Leo Mineveaser, club president, welcomed to the meeting Mrs. Joseph Gable, back from a trip to California, and Mrs. Albert Games.

The next meeting will be in September.

Ninety members of Tipacan Chapter, American Business Women's Association, gathered for dinner Wednesday at Camp Oakland.

Tony Rogers, guest speaker, spoke on "Hypnosis," with audience participation.

Plans were completed for the July 11 picnic in the German Club, Auburn Heights. The chapter will meet at the Elks Temple in August.

Guests for the evening were Paul Sinclair, Florence Spring, Irene Lampan, Mrs. William J. Christie, Frances Hunt and Mabel Young.

Arlene Glaske Honored Given Recipe Shower

Arlene Ruth Glaske of Ann Arbor, bride-elect of Melvin A. White, Sylvan Lake, was honored Saturday at an informal tea and recipe shower in the home of Mrs. Richard Wright, Alice Avenue, Bloomfield Township.

Other recent shower hostesses were Mrs. Phillip Warren, Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Fred Roberts, Birmingham, with Mrs. Arthur Edmunds of Waterford, cohostesses.

Mrs. W. B. Glaske, will honor her niece at a shower on June 18, in Grand Rapids.

The bride-elect's parents, the Ernest E. Glaske of Houston, Tex., will attend the rehearsal dinner given by the Howard L. Waltes, June 22 in Shuler's Restaurant, Grand Rapids.

Anne Glaske will attend her sister as maid of honor at the June 23 wedding in the Burton Baptist Church, Grand Rapids. Joan Glaske will be junior bridesmaid, Mrs. Edmunds, sister of the bridegroom-elect, and Mrs. Warren will be bridesmaid. Cynthia Gross will be her aunt's flower girl.

Explains 'Friendship' for Women of the Moose

Mrs. Richard Dawson, friendship chairman of Pontiac Chapter No. 398, Women of the Moose, held her chapter night in honor of all friendship co-workers, recently at the Moose home.

Guest speaker, Mrs. Cecil Rich explained "Friendship." Senior Regent Mrs. Richard Rohrer, conducted enrollment of new candidates who include Mrs. John Hocking, Ida A. Kolw, Hazel Martin, Margery Nickell, Mrs. Houston Talley, Mrs. Conrad Burlison, Mrs. Edward Martin, Mrs. Edward Martin Jr., Mrs. Roy Slicker, Mrs. Roger Johnson, Mrs. Ronald Cutler, Mrs. Creston Tooman, and Mrs. Mathias Hietwer.

Senior Regent Rohrer announced the newly elected officers who will begin their duties during the first meeting in July are Mrs. James Shafer Jr., senior regent; Mrs. Mrs. James Smith, chaplain, and Mrs. Walter Lingenfelter, treasurer.

The Friendship meeting in Flint Sunday is open to anyone who will be at the Moose home by one o'clock that day. The group will hold its next session, an open meeting, June 18. The Friendship Ring ceremony will be conducted by Mrs. Dawson and her committee.

Reinforced 'No' Doesn't Require Spanking

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A recent experiment conducted by the University of Maine's department of psychology has confirmed what every parent of small children knows—that words do not control them.

Discussing this finding at a professional meeting, the university's Dr. Joseph J. Antonicis accordingly suggested that a parental "No" spoken to a little boy or girl needed "some form of primary negative reinforcement."

A New York newspaper promptly headlined its report of Dr. Antonicis' remarks as "Spanking Upheld by Psychologists."

Asked by telephone if this headline accurately expressed his meaning, Dr. Antonicis said to me: "No, I do not believe in corporal punishment except as a last resort."

"What I meant by 'primary negative reinforcement' was weight put into the word 'No.' I meant the kind of weight we can put into a 'No' by retracting a child's privileges, by holding him firmly for a number of minutes when he has tried to run across the street, by a light spank on the hand that insists on reaching for matches."

There are many degrees of weight which can be put into a "No." A bullet from a gun, for example, can put a dangerous degree of weight into a "No." He added, "I have been misinterpreted."

Anyone who publicly touches upon the inflammatory subject of corporal punishment will be misinterpreted. Parents (not to mention reporters of scientific meetings) seem so eager to spank children that they read encouragement to do so in anything from the Bible to a psychologist who disapproves of it "except as a last resort."

This is my spanking column for 1962.

I'm not going to waste my time talking about it again this year. Parents who want to spank are going to go right on doing it no matter who tells them that it is a primitive and ultimately ineffective form of discipline. For it is that "last resort" to which we return in extremity.

HARDER THE SPANK
Indeed, the more disapproval parents get, the harder they're apt to spank. For the disapproval simply adds to inner problems that oblige them to strike down any disagreement they encounter, making their spanking angrier than it was in the first place.

Or what's just as bad, disapproval of spanking as scares parents who suffer from other forms of self-disturb that they shy away from the idea of putting any "controls" whatever on a defiant child, turning to the coos, the appeals to be "good," the cajoleries behind which they hide their anger at any disagreement.

No. As spankers really can't help spanking, there's no point in my going on about it any more.

In America we want what we want when we want it, whether it's a new car or an obedient child. Just as we can't wait to save the money to buy the car, so we can't take time to hold a little child who wants to run across the street until our "No" has been weighted with impressive authority.

We are a well-meaning but dangerously impatient people. So a lot of us have to spank. We want results quick, quick, quick.

Chocolate Lime Pie Has Cooling Look and Taste

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press House Editor

Anything like both looks and tastes cool. The combination of lime and chocolate is a happy one. You'll like Chocolate Lime Pie for a warm weather dessert.

Mrs. Frank Grosse is our cook today. She works with her church guild, loves to garden and enjoys sewing. The Grossees do a lot of entertaining.

CHOCOLATE LIME PIE
By Mrs. Frank Grosse
25-30 chocolate wafers
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
Butter a 10-inch pan. Line the sides with 12 or more cookies. Crush the remaining cookies and mix with butter or margarine. Pat into bottom of pan for a crust.

1 pint heavy cream, whipped
1 package lime gelatin
1/2 cup hot water
1/4 cup sugar
1 large can evaporated milk, frozen
4 cups lemon or lime juice
4 drops green food coloring
Dissolve gelatin in hot water, add sugar. Let stand while you whip evaporated milk stiff.

(To whip evaporated milk, pour into ice cube tray and let chill until milk begins to freeze around edges. Chill beaters and bowl.)

Add gelatin to whipped milk and continue whipping. Add lemon juice and food coloring. Whip cream and fold into first mixture. Pour into chocolate shell. Chill before serving. Makes 10-12 servings.

But Hormone Creams Good

Lemon Juice Mask Dries

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Question Box)

Q. "Do you think a mask which has lemon juice in it could be used every day?"

A. Of course it depends on how much lemon juice, but as a general rule, it seems to me that lemon juice would be too drying to the skin of most women.

Q. "What is your opinion of the hormone creams?"

A. I think they help to keep one young, and all of the doctors I have talked with feel that they are safe.

Q. "I am interested in the cream stick to cover up pimples."

Will you please put the name of one in your column?"

A. I do not use trade names in my column. However, any time any of my readers want to know the name of some product I describe, I will be glad to send it if the reader will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with a request for it.

Q. "What do you think about plastic surgery to remove excess fat from the abdomen?"

A. This operation is done successfully. However, have you tried calorie counting and exercise?

Q. "I am 5 feet 2 inches tall and weigh 110 pounds. I have a medium frame. For a while I exercised faithfully without results, so I gave up. After reading continually about the need for exercise, I will attempt it again. But I become discouraged. Please reply in your column."

A. You are not overweight at all. Even if you had a small frame you would be on the light side. Maybe there just isn't any fat to come off! Exercise is wonderful anyway for health and for keeping the figure in good form. It also helps correct or prevent flabbiness.

Q. "I am now in my 50th year and my hair has been gradually turning grey since my late twenties. Where the grey originally began, is now a dreadful, yellowish time unless I have a rinse about every two weeks. I am so tired of having this done so often, and if my hair were a pure white, I would be satisfied—but I abhor this yellow tinge. My hairdresser said that this comes from an acid condition."

A. I do not think an acid condition is the cause. Many women and men have yellowish-white hair rather than truly white. I do not know what you can do except continue the rinse. This seems well worth while to me.

'Hi-Infidelity'For Husbands Only:
Love Her, Tell Her

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

At last: Advice to the man who wants a wife who will treat him right and give him joy in the house that his jack built.

Tell her you love her! And often! You may sound like a broken record, but it's a record she'll never throw out. 'Til the day she grows too old to dream, she'll never take your love for granted.

You needn't always say it with words. Say it with the music of your actions and you'll start a song in her heart. Pretend, occasionally, that you're still courting her.

Surprise her with flowers, a night out, or some little gift she isn't expecting.

She wants to think of you as her lover, not her provider. Behave like her star boarder and she may react like your landlady!

Snugg up on her while she's ironing or stirring the soup and kiss her tenderly. The investment costs you nothing and you'll be surprised at the returns.

KEEP HER WARM

Holding your wife's hand at a movie can do more for her morale than a milk coat—and keep her a lot warmer! Listen to her! Even if she's boring you stiff with drivel about the Ladies' Aid rummage sale, be a good audience.

She's spent her day on the shrill merry-go-round of women's and children's voices and now she needs your masculine attention. Don't snub her.

There's nothing more discouraging to a woman than to know that she's competing with the sports page—and losing!

Be neat! Her smile will be brighter and her life will be longer if she doesn't have to follow a trail of your clothing from one end of the house to the other.

And when you shower and shave, remember that you're not in a Roman bath. Leave the premises the way you found them—tidy.

WHAT ABOUT WEEKENDS?

On weekends, do you sport a growth of beard that would make an Alfrede jealous? Do you wear a shirt and pants that would frighten the goldfish?

It's nice to relax—that's what a home is for. But you can relax just as comfortably in neat, clean clothes. Meanwhile, how are you fixed for blouses?

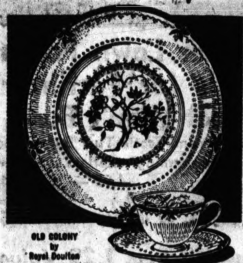

Notice her! Know how it feels when you make a spectacular golf shot and your caddy or golf partner never says a word to you about it? That's the way a woman feels when her husband doesn't notice a new dress or hairdo—unappreciated and deflated. Same with a new recipe that she's cooked up hoping to tickle your taste buds.

Notice these things! Praise her for them! And this above all: remind her occasionally of how pretty she looks, especially when she's all dolled up for a night out. Don't ever let her think: "What's the use?"

DON'T . . .
... be domineering or unreasonable!
... belittle your wife's appearance, mannerisms or intelligence, especially before others!
... call a halt to an argument by refusing to discuss it!
... go to sleep without kissing her goodnight.

Become Acquainted With Penstemon

Stately is the word for penstemon—one of the best word for describing this little-known, little-grown flower. Quite as showy as snapdragons, penstemons produce flowers over a longer period. They perform particularly well under the dry, hot conditions, prevalent over so much of the country in mid-summer.

Beautifully marked, trumpet-shaped flowers of red, rose, pink, lavender or crimson, are borne on sturdy stems which grow two and a half feet high. Plants are really perennials, but the Scroton strain is best grown as an annual in northern climates.

Seeds, which take 3 weeks to sprout, may be started indoors in sieved soil. Cover them an inch deep. When seedlings are about two inches high, transplant them to set 3 inches apart in small flats, or more than later compressed in peat, transplant outdoors, spaced pots. As soon as frost danger the plants 18 inches apart.

An electric shaver with a built-in headlight is being marketed by a Chicago company.

Be a Better Gardener by Following Rules

What's a gardener's worst enemy? Crabgrass? Plant diseases? Insect pests? All are formidable foes, but a more insidious "blight" may be the gardener's own mistakes! Some of the commonest garden-variety errors are listed here; avoid them and you'll not only see a more luxuriant growth of grass, flowers and vegetables, but you'll spare yourself needless work and worry.

1. Planting too deep slows germination. Even the largest seeds—melon or pumpkin, for example—flourish in only an inch of soil, and small flower or vegetable seeds need merely be covered.

2. Using the wrong fertilizer. The food that makes your grass grow greenest and thickest may produce amemic flowers. Generally, fertilizers containing a high percentage of nitrogen are best for leaf and root crops; flowers and vegetables like beans, squash, and tomatoes, do better on a formula with a higher proportion of phosphorus.

If you want to use the same fertilizer for lawn, flowers, trees, shrubs, and vegetable patches, a formula like 5-8-3 or 6-10-4 may be your best bet. (The numbers express the ratio of nitrogen to phosphorus to potassium in the fertilizer.)

3. Too much fertilizer—far worse than too little—can kill plants and grass by dehydrating their rootlets. The higher the percentage of nitrogen in the formula, the less fertilizer you have to apply. The rule of thumb suggested by experts: use just enough fertilizer to provide two pounds of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet. But you'll never miscalculate by following the directions on the package of a reliable manufacturer.

4. Adding unnecessary lime—Many gardeners assume that their soil needs liming, when the truth, according to gardening expert Gordon Morton, is that in many localities there's already too much lime in the soil. Adding more will only hurt growth.

Play safe and have a soil analysis made before you start using additives. Remember, also, that too much limestone can be as bad as too much fertilizer, especially on sandy soil. Never use more than 75 to 100 pounds of lime per 1,000 square feet a year.

5. Not having the right tools for the job. Be sure that every tool you have on hand is designed for strength, durability and ease of handling. In most cases this means steel, lightweight enough to be easily manipulated, rugged enough to keep its shape and last a long time. It's especially important, gardening experts agree, that cutting tools have quality steel blades for long and dependable service; steel tools keep their fine edge with the minimum of care.

A check list of basic gardening tools would include: a spade or shovel; digging fork; steel rake for fluffing soil and wooden rake for cleaning up leaves; hoe; cultivator; grass edger.

Most gardeners need several types of shears: for pruning, shaping hedges, trimming grass, gathering flowers. You should also have a penknife and trowel. Good shears are adjustable for clean cutting; good trowels have thin, sharp-edged blades with long handles and shanks. If you have shrubbery or climbing roses, you'll also need a long-handled lopping shears.

Trees on the property? You may have use for a pruning saw. If your hedges are long or high, you might consider the labor-saving benefits of an electric hedge trimmer.

To save yourself needless trips to the tool shed or garage, you'll need a garden cart or wheelbarrow. Don't forget plant food spreaders; sprayer or duster for plant leaves; watering can, of course; green-colored plant ties, cords and stakes for vines, climbers and tall flowers; two pairs of gloves: heavy ones for pruning, light fabric or leather for other chores. Always wear gloves when handling fertilizer or spray chemicals.

6. Not taking proper care of tools. Never leave lawn and garden tools outdoors; have a definite storage place for them. Don't stack tools—especially rakes and hoes—up against the wall unless you like to be hit on the head.

7. Picking fruits and flowers too late—or too soon. Flowers allowed to come to full bloom in the garden rarely last as long in cut flower arrangements as those which have been picked just as they are coming into bloom. Most vegetables—peas, green beans, corn are good examples—must be picked before maturity for maximum flavor. But melons and tomatoes must not be picked too soon. Leave them to ripen fully on the vine.

Though horticultural science continues to advance, the superstition of the "green thumb" will undoubtedly survive for many years to come. It is, however, becoming apparent that "green thumbs" are made, not born.

Grow Several Varieties

For that narrow window sill, shelf, or any area where you want the most spectacular possible floral display in a limited space, try a combination clay pot professionally planted with several varieties of seasonal flowering plants. Many growers, florists and garden stores are offering this attractive "one package" combination of several plants in a single clay container.

Most Pleasing

Earliest to flower and most uniform in plant height and spread are the Petite marginals. The strain called Color Carnival, is sure to please.

PAIM TREE "TRANSPLANTED"—With a few "props" from Florida and lot of ingenuity, the Antonio Ferraris have created a tropical poolside atmosphere in the backyard of their home at 8611 W. St. Clair St., Romeo. The couple picked up some palm fronds and coconuts on their recent trip to Miami. Then Ferraris "planted" an old tree branch found on a roadside, covered part of it with burlap to simulate bark and attached the fronds and coconuts in their appropriate locations.

Plants Stay in Clay Pots Sunk in Planters

Versatility and variety in plant landscaping is achieved by plunging clay-potted plants in modular redwood planter boxes with potted plants plunged into soil. Both the planter boxes, and plants within the boxes, can be easily changed or re-arranged in accordance with individual preferences and available space. Porous clay pots and California redwood make an ideal combination not only for plant health, but also for decorative harmony.

Go Slowly, Buy Quality Plan Your Landscaping

Don't overlook that kitty for landscaping when you build. Otherwise, when finances are reaching the vanishing point, it may dismay you to learn that such work can run to 5 to 10 per cent of total building costs.

This put-away fund—forevergreen will reward you in beauty and property value later if you keep in mind two tips: plant before you plant; plant only stock of tested quality.

A wise trick to help both purse and landscaping is to plant the home property in sections as time and money afford. Do one part this year, more another year. This factor of quality planting applies with equal force to evergreens and shrubbery used for foundation plantings. Here, too, the best bet is to install small quality specimens. While these may seem inadequate at first, time will solve the problem. The difficulties of confining fast-growing sorts to their allotted space are almost overwhelming, particularly in the case of the modern one-story ranch type home where foundation plantings must be kept to scale.

Hard-to-See Insects Will Gobble Up Leaves

Leaf-eating insects usually appear at the time foliage is developing. Check the undersides of leaves for newly hatched caterpillars which will resemble bits of thread one-quarter of an inch long and dark green-to-black in color.

You'll have to use junior's magnifying glass to spot them. If you don't get busy with the spray, you won't have trouble seeing them—and the damage—even if your eyesight isn't so good.

More to Grass Cutting Than Running a Mower

By WILLIAM AHO
Parks Supervisor
Parks and Recreation Dept.

Lawn mowing is not merely the simple process of removing excess grass as most people think. This operation can have far reaching effects on your lawn. The principal purpose of mowing a lawn of course is to improve its appearance. Good lawn appearance can only be realized by using good mowing equipment and following some basic rules of mowing grass.

Lawn mowing is the most time consuming of any lawn maintenance program. Mowing is also the most important process which contributes to the pleasing well groomed appearance in any lawn. It is because of these reasons that the selection of a mower is so important.

If your lawn area is approximately 60'x35' an 18" mower will be adequate. A 21" mower is recommended for a lawn area up to 100'x35'. Lawn areas larger than the ones mentioned should be mowed with a 24" mower. These are suggestions; the choice of course, is up to the home owner.

The two basic types of mowers which are available on the market are the Reel and Rotary mowers. Reel mowers which are properly maintained will give a clean even cut leaving the lawn with a well groomed appearance. Reel mowers can usually be adjusted to cut from 1/4" to 2".

A Rotary mower will give your lawn a fairly good appearance providing the blade is kept sharp at all times. It is quite adaptable to rough areas and in areas where the control of grass is more important than the appearance.

It is important that in the purchase of any mower, whether it be a Rotary or Reel, that service is available. Remember too that a cheap mower is not necessarily the cheapest buy measured in years of use.

One of the major reasons for failures in maintaining a good lawn is close clipping. One should first take into consideration the type of grass that was planted and mow accordingly.

Never allow your grass to grow unusually high and then mow it short. This is a shock to the physiological makeup of the plants, which could grow to be disastrous. The excess removal of the grass blades does not leave enough leaf surface to build the plant foods required for vigorous root development.

WHAT HEIGHT?
Grass such as Kentucky Blue, if cut lower than 1 1/2" in height, could very well starve the roots and thin out, giving a poor cover. This condition would allow the establishment of weeds and the soil baked by high daylight temperatures. Merton Blue Grass can be mowed less than 1" without any damage and Bent grasses can be mowed from 1/2" to 3/4" in height. Fescue grass should be mowed from 1 1/4" to 2" in height.

The frequency of mowing is governed largely by the amount of growth which is related to the weather conditions, season of the year and the fertility of the soil. Mowing frequently will eliminate the need for raking the clippings because they will be scattered evenly in the lawn area. Clippings will be injurious to the lawn if they are heavy and allowed to lay on the lawn.

Grass clippings are of little value to returning plant food back to the soil. Some value is derived from clippings as a mulch in reducing evaporation. Clippings may contribute to the activity of harmful fungi and can cause turf diseases in wet weather.

Grass should be moved from a different direction at each mowing. This will tend to cut the long grass and runners which could form a thatch cover.

Remember that after mowing, hand trimming will give your lawn area that professional look.

Don't Won't Stick

If you have trouble with earth that clings to a gardening tool, here's a suggestion. Clean and dry the tool. Then apply it with shellac. The shellac will help prevent earth adhering to the tool and protect the metal from rust.

Butternut Squash Excellent Eating

It's hard to beat Butternut for a winter squash. As you can see by the illustration, most of the inside is meat; seeds occupy only a very small area.

Butternut, a winter squash with lots of meat and few seeds.

Add to this the fact that the flesh is fine-textured and has a sweet, nutty flavor and you have a squash that's exceptionally usable.

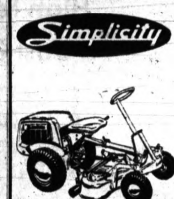

Butternut matures fruits (ready for table use) in about 85 days from the time seed was sown. They measure 8 to 10 inches long and 4 or 5 inches around. They keep well in storage. And, just as an added attraction, vines of Butternut are fairly resistant to the attacks of the squash borer.

When cutting rose blooms, always leave two leaves on the stem.

Watering Roses Should Be Slow Steady Job

Roses require large amounts of water in a small, steady stream from a hose. The slow moving water will seep into the soil and penetrate it thoroughly.

To be effective, the water should penetrate at least 8 to 12 inches into the soil. If watering in the evening or after shade is on the plant, avoid getting foliage wet.

Keep Tomatoes Crack-Free

Choose Guaranteed Varieties Known to Stay Whole

Anyone who has ever grown tomatoes knows that, even though the vegetable grows easily, there's a certain amount of work involved in preparing the soil, in staking the plants (if you don't let them sprawl) and in keeping the weeds down around them.

After this, of course you look forward to eating those lush, juicy fruits as they ripen on the vine. But, all too often, just as they turn ripe, they crack open. If you find and use cracked fruits right away, this doesn't make much difference, except in appearance; but if you don't, that's a different story.

For cracks upon the way to mold and soon the fruits are anything but pretty to look at and hopeless for eating.

This sad tale has a happy ending: there are tomato varieties on the market which are virtually crack-proof—there's hardly a crack in a carload or in a whole field when they're grown commercially. There are other varieties which are crack-resistant and are quite unlikely to cause trouble.

Cardinal Hybrid and Crack Proof are hard to beat for resistance to cracking, not only under average growing conditions but also under adverse conditions. Other varieties resistant to cracking are Fireball, Pritchard, I've-fec-tion Hybrid and Glamour. Why not grow these or other crack-resistant tomatoes in your garden?

Frying Peppers

Cubanelle is a new variety of pepper for frying. Flavor is deliciously pungent and people who long for a different vegetable should try it.

Seedlings and Weeds Grow at Same Pace

Tiny seedlings, whether weeds or flowers, are at a tender stage of growth. The merest misfortune makes them struggle for life, or dispatches them completely. This should mean two important things to the flower gardener.

First, the best time to kill weeds is when they first come up. Second, flower seedlings need the most care at this same stage, keeping the soil moist and the weed competition down.

Check for Disease or Bugs

An abnormal leaf on one of your flower plants is cause for inspection and action. If it is a single leaf or branch look for insect damage and see if you can find the culprit. If you know your enemy you can take appropriate measures. Should the whole plant be showing damage, the trouble may be disease if the leaves show spots or streaks; mineral or fertility deficiencies if they are reddened or yellowed; and moisture shortage if they are drooping and grayed.

Be among the first to keep your roses in continual bloom month after month

ANYONE who grows roses, knows what usually happens. Lots of flowers at the beginning of the season—then loss of bloom when warm weather settles in.

That's the way it's been for generations. But last year a host of home-owners got a big surprise. They adopted the new Scotts Rose Program and enjoyed a wealth of beautiful roses all season long, without interruption. Yet they spent less time and effort than ever before. One man wrote: "It used to take me upward of an hour, mixing material, cleaning the nozzle and spraying. With the Zephyr I'm able to protect 24 bushes in less than 5 minutes. A wonderful experience."

Science learns the secrets of vigorous health and continuous bloom. No more elaborate rituals. No more complications. Instead...

- Just one kind of food—a balanced diet called DAWN®
- Just one kind of protection against insects and diseases—It's called HAZE®
- Nothing to mix or measure—nothing to spray or spill
- Your success is guaranteed—even if you've never grown a rose before!

Protects both sides of every leaf

Ordinary sprays reach only the top of the leaves. That's not enough. To protect both sides, Scotts invented the ZEPHYR.® John R. Patterson, outstanding authority on roses, wrote: "The Zephyr gives complete control of insects and diseases, with the right amount of Haze applied every time, exactly where it is needed. As a result my rose garden is perfect—no insects, no mildew, no black spot."

Scotts guarantees your success

Whether you're a professional grower or an absolute novice who has never grown roses before, Scotts guarantees this Program to the hilt. You must be satisfied or your money back!

Your local Scotts Dealer can tell you all about this Rose Program, show you the products and answer your questions. Talk to him today. Be among the first to have plenty of beautiful roses month after month after month.

Foliage is the key to bloom

Eight years of Scotts research revealed this fact. The number of quality blooms is in direct ratio to the number of healthy leaves. Lose foliage and you lose flowers. When you feed adequately, control disease, and protect against insects, you retain foliage. As a result—beautiful blooms month after month right through the heat of summer.

Roses need a balanced diet

And they're hungry feeders. Most rosebushes need four times as much nourishment as they usually get. But with Scotts new DAWN you need only one-third-of-a-cup per month. It develops the foliage you must have for continuous bloom.

One protection—instead of many Having grown healthy foliage, how can you protect it? It falls prey to a host of enemies—black spot, mildew, rust, aphids, beetles, chafers, mites and other insects. But new HAZE (a dry powder) defeats them all. This one protection takes the place of a dozen different preparations.

Do two jobs at once!
BONUS feeds your lawn—gets rid of dandelions

If there are any dandelions or similar weeds in your lawn, don't try to dig them out. That's back-breaking, old-fashioned—and hopeless!

Instead, use BONUS.® It weeds as it feeds.

BONUS is a cinch to use. No sprays, no mms, no measuring. And one day you will suddenly realize that every dandelion has vanished! In the bargain your grass will be greener, richer, lovelier.

You see, BONUS is a combination fertilizer and weed control. Costs you less—and takes much less time—than doing both jobs separately.

And right now your Scotts dealer is featuring BONUS and the famous Scotts Spreader in a special money-saving combination.

Kettering Pupil Bids Farewell

Holland Exchange Lad Recalls Learning, Fun During School Year

At an all-school assembly Tuesday, foreign exchange student John Simon delivered his farewell address to the Waterford-Kettering High student body.

John began his speech by acknowledging a few of the things that he has learned during his year at Kettering, including how to take out in a lunch line. John also admitted that cheerleaders were a new experience to him since they do not exist in Europe.

John concluded his message, by paying this country one of the finest compliments it can receive.

He said that of all the things, he learned, the operation of the student council was perhaps the most impressive, and that he will carry this idea of a democratic school back to Holland.

Before he returns home in a month, John will participate in all of the graduation exercises including baccalaureate, the cap and gown party, and commencement.

Waterford-Kettering will close her doors for summer vacation for students Tuesday after book check. Final exams will be concluded Monday.

Swing-Out Day at Walled Lake Suits All Seniors

By CAROLE STEPHENS
The Swing-out program held today in the Walled Lake Senior High auditorium marked the end of classes for seniors.

At the program the faculty presented subject awards to seniors who excelled in their respective fields. Honors were presented in all fields.

Following the Swing-out program a tea was held in honor of the seniors. Sophomores who sponsored the event also invited the senior parents.

This evening seniors and their dates will dance to the strains of Wayne Francis' band at the Senior Prom. Those of the prom to be held at Glen Oaks Country Club, is "In the Club of the Night."

Added to their list of activities, the seniors have their baccalaureate program at 8 p.m. Sunday. Rev. Floyd W. Porter of the Commerce Methodist Church will deliver the address.

Our Lady of Lakes Names Class Leaders

By LAURA FREVILLE
The faculty of Our Lady of the Lakes proudly announces the valedictorian and salutatorian of the first graduating class at Our Lady of the Lakes High School. Darryl Stephenson was selected for the valedictorian honors and Margaret Borys for the salutatorian honors.

For his four years at Our Lady of the Lakes, Darryl has acquired an average of 3.246 of a possible four points. Margaret earned an average of 3.489. Both received several awards at the recent Class night.

Darryl earned the highest average in mathematics for four years and was granted the Busch and Lamb Award in Science. Margaret received the Betty Crocker Home-making award and the award for highest achievement in typing.

In the fall, Darryl will be entering the Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton where he will study electrical engineering. Margaret will enter the journalism school at the University of Michigan.

Congratulations are in order for three students from Our Lady of the Lakes for winning special awards.

Six Tonahawk members will be busy this summer while attending journalism workshops. New editors and staff members of the school newspaper will go to the campuses of Michigan which will provide new style and publication ideas.

Attending U of M will be Carol Jo Goodson, copy editor, and Dick Taylor, assistant advising manager. They will attend one of the several sessions running from June 23 to July 8, 9 to July 20, and July 23 through August 3. The editors session will be held between Aug. 6 and Aug. 17.

Carroll Chappel will be returning for her second year at M.S.U.

accompanied by Jo Ann Stark, Sharon Bradshaw and Ray Merriman. M.S.U.'s three sessions will be from June 18 to 29, July 2 through 13, and July 16 to 27. Social activities such as swimming and tennis are being offered along with the journalism classes. Half tuition scholarships will be furnished by Pontiac Central for the students.

Summer school will start June 21 this year and will last for six weeks, ending on Aug. 3. School will be held at Pontiac Central.

Pontiac Central High School

June graduates will receive diplomas Thursday, June 14, at 8:00 p.m. Exercises will take place in Wisner Stadium. Don H. Londe will be a special speaker, on the subject of "What makes the difference."

The traditional blue caps and gowns arrived Wednesday and seniors lost no time in picking them up in the auditorium.

Junior Kathy LaCore has been selected by the American Field Service to visit Norway this summer as an exchange student on the American Abroad program.

On June 15, Kathy will leave Montreal, Canada and arrive at Rotterdam, Holland on June 23. During the voyage she will study the language and customs of Norway to be prepared for her stay. Reaching her destination of Oslo, Norway on June 26, Kathy will live with the Ole Ophoye family.

AFS New York announce they will be exchange students at Pontiac Central High School next year. Chris Hawkins and her family will host Antigoni Karali from Greece and Costa Valadez from Brazil will live with the Robert Londe's.

Prepares for Baccalaureate Sunday

Waterford Twp. Anticipates Turning in Books

By MARY KAY STREZLECKI
Tuesday all juniors, sophomores, and freshmen turn in their books until next fall when they will come back to the halls of Waterford Township High School.

Sunday, however, will be the baccalaureate services, 8 p.m. in the auditorium, for the seniors.

At the services, Robert Crumpston, a WTHS music teacher will play the organ prelude, procession and recessional. The invocation will be given by a minister from the Lakeside United Presbyterian Church after which an address will be by a minister of the Central Methodist Church.

TO CLOSE SHOW
Closing the baccalaureate exer-

class will be the a capella choir singing three choral numbers.

Then comes the greatest time of all—graduation! On Wednesday at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium the senior class of 1962 will receive their long awaited diplomas.

At this time William Stunk, superintendent of schools, will introduce commencement speaker, Dr. Edgar I. Harden, president of Northern Michigan College, after which Patricia Dovey, valedictorian, will give her traditional speech.

Paul O'Neill, principal, will then present the senior class and Mrs. Isaacson will read the names of the graduating seniors. Eldon C. Rosegart, president of the Board of Education will present the diplomas.

When school begins next year the officers of the new senior class will take their place on the board.

New officers are president, John Thornycroft; vice president, Liz Venie; treasurer, Barb Carriack, and secretary, Connie Clinton.

St. Mike Welcomes Picnic After Hurdling Final Exams

By SHARON RODDEN
St. Michael High School's class of 1962 saw their last day of reading, riting and rithmetick Wednesday afternoon when quarter exams and finals were finally completed.

Only a few events were left for the class, as a unit, to enjoy. Thursday they traveled to Metropolitan Beach for the annual Junior-Senior class picnic and tonight at 8:30, the Varsity Club will present the last dance of the year in the Parish Hall.

The commencement exercises, only a day away, will begin with the Graduation Mass at 8:45 a.m. Following Mass the graduates will join their parents and teachers for the baccalaureate breakfast.

SET FAREWELL
Stu Rindfuss, class president, will act as master of ceremonies. Valedictorian, Dana Huestoly, and Salutatorian, Jim Hurven will give farewell speeches; while Shannon Donnelly, a high-honor student will give an "appreciation" to the teachers for their kind aid and guidance throughout the year.

Order of the day will be special open house and parties given by the seniors for their classmates and friends.

The climax will be reached when the graduates file into the church, each in his traditional blue and white cap and gown, to await the moment when they receive their diplomas.

Rev. Paul Berg, guest speaker, will deliver the commencement speech.

No doubt there will be "mixed emotions" prevailing at this event. A few melancholy memories and happy remembrances will be tempered with the enthusiasm for a bountiful future.

Some seniors have plans for continuing their education; while others have plans for obtaining work during the summer; yet none of these thoughts will be as prevalent as "Let no man father who knows he is right," the senior class motto.

The vibrant class colors of red and white and the carnation, class flower, will augment the decorations for the day. The senior girls will wear red and white carnation corsages.

Named "outstanding girl athlete of the year" is senior, Shirley Robak. Shirley earned her trophy as a varsity cheerleader and as an excellent basketball player.

Other senior cheerleaders who captured a trophy were Pat Sugden, varsity squad captain, and Mary Ann Buckley.

Seniors who won medals were: Shannon Donnelly, "Michaelle" editor; Judy Lamphere, history; Pam Woollever, religion; and Sharon Rodden, English. The merit in mathematics was given to Rodney Campbell. Stu Rindfuss had perfect attendance.

Latin certificates went to sophomores John Hurven, Revena Rochau, and George Lavole.

Letters were given to all decorations prevailing athletes and trophies.

Outstanding seniors. Honor certificates were awarded to those earning 44 honor points or more during the school year.

Studio Always a Scrapper
Universal 50 Years Old
By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD—Happy birthday, dear Universal Pictures; happy 50th birthday to you.
Carl Laemmle founded the company in New York City on June 8, 1912. That makes it older than any other movie empire, but younger than many leading men.
Universal has always seemed young, despite its half-century of existence. From the start it was a scrappy little independent, fighting the big studios with nerve and talent. It has undergone many a change in operation, and soon will get its biggest change.
I can't report on the early days, but the film history books record that Laemmle was a battler. He stood up to the trust that controlled the industry in the spawning days by strict enforcement of patents. A crusty little German immigrant, he shared with other movie pioneers had an instinct for entertainment.
Laemmle may well have started the star system by hiring Florence Lawrence at $1,000 a week and billing Mary Pickford with her own name, instead of "the girl with the curls."
OWN POST OFFICE
He started putting the sprawling Universal lot just over the hill from Hollywood in 1914. The studio boasts that it is the biggest single lot in town—bigger than Princess Grace's Monaco. It is also the only studio with its own post office—Universal City.
Laemmle sold out in 1935, but the studio kept up his policy of making films cheap, good and often. Universal thrived during the war boom.
Another change in management saw the take-over by William Goetz and Leo Spitz with their International Pictures. This led to the redundant and bothersome title of Universal-International.
The Goetz-Spitz combine concentrated on quality films with fair results. The most successful part of the operation was the creation of talent. Among the graduates of the studio school: Rock Hudson, Tony Curtis, Piper Laurie, Audie Murphy, Hugh O'Brien, etc.
SMART OPERATION
Deca records started taking over the studio in the early 1950s. Everyone said that Universal had the smartest operation in those perilous times when television was assaulting the movie world. The studio had low overhead, good locations right on the lot, bright young talent and could turn out films reasonably.
There was only one trouble: The pictures weren't very good. Lacking hit product, Universal shut down for a soul-searching period. Eventually it sold the studio property to the bustling new television giant, Revue, and period. Eventually it sold the studio property to the bustling new television giant, Revue, and period.
Universal converted to a policy of a few, specially tailored films, hopefully blockbusters.
Now Universal is on the verge of a merger with Revue, the tail that ended up snapping the dog, MCA. No offense intended. With such an infusion of energy, Laemmle's lot is likely to be in business for another 50 years.

Eddie, Liz in Split on Divorce Setup?
HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Eddie Fisher and Elizabeth Taylor—separated by an ocean—appear to be in disagreement on how their divorce is to be handled.
Fisher said here Thursday that it wouldn't be gentlemanly for him to shed the actress, so he'll sue for divorce in Las Vegas, Nev. and she'll get the decree by court-rust.
The couple will cooperate to end the marriage, the singer said.
But Miss Taylor's personal secretary, who is with the actress in Rome, said the screen siren jowling about the announced divorce-filing plan.
Richard Hanley said Miss Taylor had no comment when told about Fisher's statement.
If you don't think every American child is receiving a higher education, you're simply not a taxpayer. . . . A budget is a way of spending money without enjoying it. . . . The author who says a woman is "the lost sex" must have tried to find her at home one afternoon.—Earl Wilson.

Jayne Twists, So Does Dress Down to Waist
ROME (AP) — Bosomy Jayne Mansfield twisted down to her lace bra—no strip-tease, just an accident, she said—in a night of Roman partying that ended early today.
"Strip-tease by la. Mansfield," headlined Rome's Il Messaggero. "Not true," said Jayne. "It was no strip-tease. I just happened to be wearing a very loose fitting dress. Occasionally it came apart."
Jayne wore a low-cut polka dot cocktail dress Thursday night as she and her husband, Mickey Hargitay, first went to a movie studio party, then to a Rome night club.
At both places the blonde actress, here making a movie called "Panic Button"—created a small panic.

Jersey Governor's Infant Son Is Home
PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—Thomas More Hughes, 18th child of Gov. and Mrs. Richard J. Hughes, came home Thursday from the hospital where he has spent most of the first five weeks of his life. Born April 29 at St. Francis Hospital in Trenton, Thomas was found to have lung congestion and a congenital heart defect and was transferred to Children's Hospital in Philadelphia for treatment.
The lung congestion is cleared up and doctors will conduct tests later to determine the exact nature of the defect and whether heart surgery will be necessary, or if the defect is surgically correctible.
Wife Joins Her Hubby but He Has Comeback
HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP)—A man was jailed on a charge by his wife that he robbed her of $75.

Charles Laughton Leaves Hospital in NY

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor Charles Laughton left Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases Thursday night after a five-day stay, a hospital spokesman said.

The actor's manager, Bob Hiller, said earlier that Laughton, 62, entered the hospital for examinations having to do with a serious condition and difficulty from a fractured collar bone sustained in a fall last January. The hospital spokesman had no comment.

It was believed the actor checked into a midtown hotel but neither Laughton nor his manager was available for comment.

The male hubbub, or Persian nightingale, is pugnacious and is from Africa.

Prosecutor to Resign

HASTINGS — Barry County Circuit Court Judge Archie McDonald has announced his resignation, effective June 15, of Richard J. Hudson as county prosecutor.

Judge McDonald had appointed Hudson last Feb. 1 to replace veteran J. Franklin Huntley who had resigned. Hudson says his own move was prompted by the press of his private law practice.

Sure, Jump to Conclusions, but Are They Always Right?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions—And how many do you agree with?

We are always taken aback when we meet a fat man or woman with a really mean disposition. They are supposed to be jolly—but why?

The theory behind the average Hollywood epic today seems to be, "If we can't make it good, we can at least make it long."

BOYLE Anybody who drinks more than five cups of coffee a day is leading a misapprehensive life.

It is popular to knock our modern educational system, but the average high school graduate today can spell better than his parents and has a larger vocabulary. A man who always wears a white shirt to his office either has an inferiority complex—or no imagination.

For some reason it gives me a secret pleasure when my doctor informs me he has to go see his dentist.

The one thing in the world most people are sure of is that their shoelaces never break except when they're in a hurry.

Mankind owes a monument to the fellow who first thought up the idea of putting fresh strawberries on vanilla ice cream. It's the best dessert ever invented.

LOWER AND HIGHER

The honeymoon is over when she tells him for the first time: "Lunch money? What did you do with all the money I gave you yesterday?"

The longer and lower the car, the higher the ego.

If you had one year of your life to live over, which would you take? I'd choose the year I went to kindergarten. Isn't it really the happiest period most people ever know?

Never marry a girl who enjoys peanut butter and tuna fish sandwiches. She'll only make you miserable in the end.

The millionaire in the crowd is usually the slowest one to reach for the restaurant tab.

The fellow who flicks cigarette ashes on your rug never does it at home after his own wife buys a new rug.

Manhattan has never been quite the same since they banned organ grinders from the street. Their tinkling music lifted many a brooding passerby out of his blue spell.

LAUGHTER!

Many pretty women have mastered the art of smiling pleasantly, but rarely do you meet one who knows how to give a real big hearty laugh. Yet it is one of the pleasantest sounds of nature.

A husband usually suspects his wife is hiding something when she insists that he take the best part of the steak.

The last thing you'll see on an ordinary golf course is a stroke of genius.

Many people get a reputation for having fine literary taste simply because they were too lazy to send back their book club selections.

Anyone who slaps you on the back usually is trying to sell you something.

The most disagreeable of all persons is the one who always tries hard to be agreeable in everything.

One dead poet can do more for humanity than 1,000 live ministers—or 10,000 live lawyers.

Air Deaths' Kin Told Identification Slow

ATLANTA (UPI) — Relatives of 30 Atlantans killed in last Sunday's jetliner crash in Paris were told yesterday it may take several months to identify all of the victims.

Dr. Eugene Fournier, an Air France medical adviser, spoke to about 300 relatives, friends and neighbors of the victims at city hall.

He said they could expect 100 percent identification of the bodies but that it would be at least two weeks before even the first could be brought home.

DOING IT ON THEIR OWN — Drawing by AP Newsfeatures artist Dick Hodgins Jr. features a caricature of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev telling Russian composers to "invent me that!" meaning the kind of jazz played by clarinet-playing Benny Goodman. There are indications in Russia that they are trying to outproduce the Americans and develop techniques in jazz of their own.

muscle. It is a muscle of the world. One of the factors that held it back for many years outside America was the inability of musicians in other countries to develop the right rhythmic feeling. Today, because of the vastly accelerated communications, a Soviet musician who tries hard enough can gain access to the new developments in jazz and can learn from assiduous listening, how to swing. But it is not enough for them merely to sound like their American counterparts. Says Leonid Pereserev, a young electronic technician who doubles as ethnomusicologist:

Name Three New Men for Top School Posts

Three new men last night were named to top-level administrative positions with the Pontiac School District.

The board of education also acted to change three administrative titles: Coordinators of elementary and secondary education to directors, and administrative assistant to director of certified personnel.

Named to the last position was Lewis Crew of 1077 Berwick Blvd., who has served as administrative assistant in the central office for the last 1½ years. Crew will receive a salary of $11,214.

An associate dean of students at Northern Michigan College was named to the new position of director of guidance and personnel services, created last March.

He is Arnold Embree, 49, who taught in Missouri schools before becoming director of guidance services in St. Joseph, Mo., a high school principal in St. Clair, (Mich.) Public Schools and administrative assistant to the superintendent at St. Clair. His salary is to be set at $11,760.

Picked for the position of secondary education director—vacated by the promotion to assistant superintendent of William J. Lacy—was a former assistant principal at Pontiac Central High School, Victor M. Lindquist.

Lindquist, 38, at present is director of scholarships and assistant to the registrar at Michigan State University Oakland. He began his career as a teacher and coach in 1947 at Imlay City. From 1948-58, he was a teacher and coach at Pontiac Central High School, later assistant principal at PCH, and from 1960 at MSUO.

Married and the father of three children, Lindquist lives at 36 Chippewa Road. His salary is to be set at $10,813.

All appointments are effective for the 1962-63 school year.

Con-Con Treats Court System at Length

Editor's Note — This is the fifth in a nine-part series by two veteran Associated Press newsmen on Michigan's proposed constitution.

By GENE SCHROEDER AND A. F. MAHAN
LANSING — With 56 lawyers included among 144 delegates to Michigan's constitutional convention, it was only natural that they spent a lot of time talking about possible changes in Michigan's court system.

If an analysis had been made on the length of hearings and debate on various proposals, the judicial branch article probably would have won the grand prize with ease.

After it was all over, much of the state's basic legal organization was left unchanged.

Those changes that were made came about only after protracted and bitter debate.

And once again, the majority of Democratic delegates voted against adoption of the judicial article as it finally was drafted.

Under the proposal, the Supreme Court will continue to be elected on a statewide "nonpartisan" basis, but only seven members will sit on the bench in place of the present eight. This would reduce the possibility of the votes on decisions, it was argued.

Incumbent justices would have the privilege of renominating themselves by filing affidavits without having to win the support of a political party convention.

LOSS BY CLOSE VOTE

Lossing by a close vote was a proposal to have the justices elected by districts. The proposal was defeated after Robert Danhof, R-Muskegon, chairman of the judicial committee, warned the delegates adoption of such a plan could easily result in defeat for the entire constitution.

Critics would charge, he said, that the Republicans were trying to capture the Supreme Court. Democrats now hold a five-to-three majority.

Establishment of a new Court of Appeals, with nine judges to be elected from districts, won the support of most delegates.

Democrats balked at a provision which takes away from the governor the power to fill judicial vacancies and gives it to the Supreme Court, which could call on retired judges for temporary service.

"The new proposal is obviously motivated by a partisan reaction to 14 years of Democratic governance and has never been supported by either constructive criticism of the quality of our present judiciary or constructive suggestions," said the Democrats in offering a substitute constitution.

Danhof said, however, that one of the few faults in Michigan's otherwise excellent court system is the appointment of judges by the governor.

NAMED BY GOVERNOR

"This has resulted in the governor naming practically all the judges," he contended, "because incumbents are re-elected about 90 per cent of the time."

Other changes in the judicial article adopted by the convention — with most Democrats voting "no" — would:

— Eliminate the justice of the peace system within five years of adoption of the constitution, and authorize the legislature to establish a new court of limited jurisdiction.

— Forbid the payment of any judge on the basis of fees or court business.

— Open the way for establishment by the legislature of a family court by permitting juvenile jurisdiction to be placed in a court other than Probate.

Abolishing justices of the peace, along with Circuit Court commissioners, was described by Danhof as the most important change in the entire article.

Lack of flexibility is the main problem with the JPs, Danhof said, adding:

"They work well in a small township but not in heavily populated urban townships. Here is where you find the collection agency justices and the pressure to find defendants guilty of speeding and such charges because deputies and police take their cases to courts where they figure they'll win."

COURT REVIEW

A provision that actions of administrative agencies be subject to court review on issues of private right and licenses was opposed by the Democrats.

They argued that the section imposes a radically new and unpredictable rule of evidence or procedure which will impair the ability of administrative agencies to resolve disputes with a minimum of expense and delay to the parties involved.

Throughout the debate on the judicial article, dominated by the 56 lawyer-delegates, nearly all agreed that Michigan's court system is one of the nation's best.

They just disagreed on how it might be made better.

Quality of 2 Leagues Close

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A hundred years after they've settled the dispute over the priority of the chicken or the egg, they'll probably still be bickering over which of the major leagues presents better baseball.

And, after looking at the record for the first third of the 1962 season, it's not difficult to see why this debate will still be flourishing when big league baseball expands to the dark side of the moon.

The new Dodger stadium in Chavez Ravine is the only park in which all 29 major league teams play this season. So, obviously, this is the only place in which the two leagues can be compared without worrying about variables like dimensions and wind conditions.

ONE-THIRD GONE
Both home clubs, the Angels of the American League and the Dodgers of the National, now have played about one-third of their home schedules — the Dodgers 27 games and the Angels 26. To demonstrate the superiority of either league on the basis of what's happened here so far, you'd need the kind of persuasive power it would take to get Fidel Castro a citation from the American Legion.

Take home runs. In 28 games, American Leagueers have hit 24 here. In 27 games, National Leagueers have hit 25.

Now American League supporters, trying to explain why their heroes have one less homer than the other guys, might plead that they have to rely on the Angels to hold up their end here. And the Angels are not exactly the most terrifying striking force this side of the Polaris submarine fleet.

SUPERIOR HURLING
The National Leagueers, on the other hand, might argue that the Dodgers aren't really the reincarnation of murderers' row either. And visiting National League hitters are always confronted by the Dodger pitching staff, generally regarded as superior to the Angels'.

The American League has scored 270 runs while the National has scored only 230. Some may say this proves the American League has superior hitting. But others will contend it only demonstrates inferior pitching.

Last season, when the Angels were playing in Wrigley Field and the Dodgers in the Coliseum, there were 440 homers hit in Los Angeles. This year, at the present rate there won't even be 150.

Jim Murray, the distinguished columnist of the Los Angeles Times, thinks he has the answer. "The air in Dodger Stadium is dead," he says. "And if you read my column, you know I'm an authority on dead air."

"What killed it?" he was asked. "The smog," said he.

Something Due to Give for NL Cellar Dwellers

CHICAGO (AP)—Something has to give at Wrigley Field today as the New York Yankees, wallowing in a 17-game losing streak, renew the battle of the National League cellar with the perking Chicago Cubs.

A double header launches a five-game set which also includes a single game Saturday and another twin bill Sunday.

Even though the Cubs are fresh from two successive triumphs over the San Francisco Giants, they hold only a slim 3½ game edge over Casey Stengel's reeling Mets.

BEST SO FAR

As a matter of fact, the Mets hold a 3-0 margin over the Cubs Chicago is ninth with 18-35. Undaunted, Stengel asked no favors.

"I hope your fellows play well — stick with the ship," counseled the former leader of the New York Yankees. "We'll be playing as well as we can and it's better than the record indicates because we have had chances to win recently but when you're in a losing streak something comes up which whips you."

"Now we had some well pitched games in Philadelphia and we have been drawing very well, like 138,000 over the weekend. We are playing as hard as we can—but when you're in a losing streak, well..."

"You fellows have just beat a very good team in San Francisco and you should be proud to take two in a row which makes it tough for us to come in right after them."

"On the other hand, Los Angeles has a very good team, too. Not only is there good pitching, but good hitting and good running and they have enough players to

Senator Hart Outlines Changes

Bear Dunes Discussed by State Group

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Discussion of new proposals for establishment of a Sleeping Bear Dunes national lakeshore area was the main order of business at the State Conservation Department's informal meeting here yesterday.

The commission received a letter from Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., outlining changes in the latest proposal to establish the area. Hart said it was proposed to allow the establishment of residential areas on inland lakes in the area. There would be no government acquisition of land within these areas by condemnation or purchase, he said.

The new measure also proposes that owners would be reimbursed for improvements made after July 1 of last year. Hunting and fishing regulations would be in line with state game provisions, he said.

Ove J. Jensen, executive secretary of the Glen Arbor citizens council, told the commission his group was opposed to the original bill to establish the federal park for several reasons.

Too large an area would be taken by the federal government, he said, and the taking of land off the tax rolls would hurt local school systems.

LOST MONEY

Dexter Seeburger, owner of the hardware store and marina at Glen Lake, said his business had fallen off since the park project was first proposed. He ended up the past season $40,000 in the red, Seeburger said, and had to borrow money to start operations this spring.

Dr. Robert O. Belcher of Ypsilanti, chairman of the board of directors of the Michigan Parks Association, said his group was behind a bill providing that the federal government should pick up 50 per cent of the cost of acquiring new recreation areas. He said the group did not think the money should be used for acquiring land in the Sleeping Bear dunes area.

The total proposed for shoreline land acquisition is only $10 million, he said. This, Belcher said, would not be enough for the state of Michigan alone.

In other business, delegations from the Indian River and Cheboygan Chambers of Commerce and the village of Wolverine told the commission they were opposed to a department proposal to restrict operations at the Wolverine trout hatchery to only the summer months.

This would work a real hardship on the economy of the area, they said, because the trout station is such a popular tourist attraction. In addition, they said, fishing has declined on the Pigeon and Sturgeon Rivers because of a cut in trout planting programs.

Prof. Louis E. Twardzik of Michigan State University reported to the commission on a master plan for recreation asked for by Gov. Swainson.

The plan proposes establishment of a position of an assistant deputy in charge of parks and recreation and creation of a recreation division and of an inter-governmental committee on recreation composed of heads of state departments concerned with recreation.

Twins Manage to Keep Doing Things Identically

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—When one truck rammed another at a stop sign, matters were confused temporarily.

The trucks belonged to the same poultry firm and were driven by Edward and Albert Heywood, 31-year-old identical twin brothers.

While partisans of the two leagues are locked in futile debate over these issues, some local students of the game are trying to resolve a non-partisan question that has come up in Chavez Ravine: Why is it, they ask, that so few

Japanese Wrestlers Go After Most AAU Titles

NEW YORK (AP)—It's beginning to look as if the Japanese decided to move their wrestling championships to New York. They are certainly making sukiyaki out of the best Americans in the National AAU championships here. In what is shaping up as a rising sun show, the Japanese have one wrestler who appears to have a headlock on the outstanding wrestler, one certain champion, two good prospects and a good shot at seven or eight medals in the eight weight divisions.

Freestyle action winds up tonight, with Greco-Roman to follow Saturday and Sunday.

EIGHT ENTRIES

The Japanese entered eight members of their official team, one in each weight class in the freestyle, plus a high school boy and four others who are attending school in the United States.

After 224 matches in two days of swirling action, only two of the Japanese had been eliminated—the overall field was trimmed to 31—and one of those, Mitsunori Toshi, had a crack at the third place medal in a special wrestling-off.

Eliminations continue today, until the field is cut to three men in each division. These will then meet in a round-robin to decide the top three places.

In the team battle, the defending San Francisco Olympic Club and the host New York A.C. each have eight men left in the running, and a tight battle is shaping up for the trophy won last year by the San Franciscoers by two points. The Japanese are not eligible for the team title.

Osumu Watanabe, in the 138.5 pound class, had scored five straight victories by a fall, by far the meet's outstanding performance to date. He is rated a favorite to beat defending champion Lee Allen, of Portland, Ore., today.

Mrs. Campbell Triumphs

Mrs. Charles Campbell carded 32 to win low net honors in the weekly outing of the Women's Silver Lake Golf League. Mrs. Edith Felfel was runnerup with 37. Mrs. Maxwell Wright won the "blind hole" event with a par three at No. 5. Mrs. Kenneth Thayer was the best putter with 15.

Heading the list of six starters is the Williams-Stable entry of Rockette Forbes and Poplar Sonny. Rockette Forbes, driven by Jack Williams, Jr., won last Saturday's Invitational Pace, while brother Bob Williams drove Poplar Sonny to victory twice early in the season.

Boats Record Tuna Off Hawaiian Islands

LIHUE, KAUAI, Hawaii (UPI)—A fisherman using a borrowed boat caught a 300-pound Alaskan tuna yesterday and will submit it to the International Game Fishing Association to claim the world record.

Henry Nishikawa of Nawiliwili took two hours to land his catch, using a 140 reel with a 130-pound test nylon monofilament line to which he had attached a home-made artificial lure.

TRUCE IN EFFECT — St. Louis Cardinals manager Johnny Keane and pitcher Ray Sadock (left) pose in the club house yesterday after trouncing out their differences. The Cardinals had fined the southpaw hurler $50 after Tuesday night's game and had suspended him when he failed to show for Wednesday's contest.

News, However, Surprised Father

Young Landrith Heard of Trade

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Gary Landrith, aged 12, sat in front of his father's locker when Hobie Landrith and the New York Mets came in. The Mets had just lost their 16th and 17th straight, so Hobie told the boy to wait out side.

"You'd better wait out here for a few minutes," said Hobie, not knowing what the reaction in the clubhouse might be.

"Landrith," called Casey Stengel after the door closed. "I'm supposed to tell you. You've been sold to Baltimore. And they want you to report to them in New York tomorrow."

OFF GUARD

The news came as a complete surprise to the Mets' catcher. While Landrith was talking to reporters, Jay Hook, a fast dresser, left the clubhouse. He saw young Landrith outside.

"You'd better go in," he said. "I think your father has been traded."

Gary went inside.

"Son," said Hobie. "I've been traded to Baltimore. Our plans will have to be changed."

"I know it," said Gary. "Jay Hook just told me."

Gary sat silently for a few minutes and then looked up at his father.

"Dad?"

"Yes?"

"HE THOUGHT SO."

"I sort of thought you might be traded."

"You what? Why? What made you think that?"

"Well, the other day at the Polo Grounds," said Gary. "I heard Mr. Stengel talking on the phone and he was saying something about, have you made the deal yet for Landrith and can I have him back or something like that."

"The other day?" asked Hobie. "And you didn't say anything about it to me?"

"Well," said Gary, "I wasn't quite sure what he said or just what it was all about."

Landrith's home now is Menlo Park, Calif., but Gary had come East after school to see the sights of New York and Philadelphia with his dad. They were to have left for Chicago after Wednesday night's game for the Mets' series with the Cubs. Then an uncle was to take Gary to Detroit where Landrith has relatives while the club went on to Houston.

So Hobie returned to New York Thursday to await the arrival of the Orioles. Gary went on to Chicago with the Mets. The Mets still had a Landrith, but this one was only 12 years old.

Hillsdale Golfer High in NAIA Meet Finale

DAVENPORT, Iowa — John Auson, of Hillsdale College, was in the top six today in individual score rankings at the start of the 18-hole finale of the National Association of Inter-Collegiate Athletics golf tournament here.

Auson was tied for sixth at 226 with Gene Murphy of Eastern New Mexico. Steve Spey, also of Eastern New Mexico, led the pack at 217 after 54 holes.

Largest Purse Is Expected to Hit $152,050

Derby and Preakness Champs Top Candidates to Grab $108,000

NEW YORK (AP)—The richest, and one of the most unpredictable of all Belmont stakes since the great classic was inaugurated in 1867, will be held Saturday at Belmont Park.

Seven 3-year-olds are scheduled to go postward in the 1 1/4-mile test barring any late developments at the secretary's office where official critics were to be made this morning. Seven starters would make the purse $152,050, with the winner grabbing $108,000. Sherluck took a record $104,900 last June.

The big four consists of George A. Pope Jr.'s Deceddy, Donald P. Rose's Greek Money, George D. Wilson's Jalpur, and Peter W. Salmen Sr.'s Crimson Satan.

CHALLENGERS

Three others, who can't be counted on after last year's experience with Sherluck ($152,050 for $2), are Fred W. Hooper's Admiral's Voyage, Frank E. Power's Vinny Ridge, and Louis Wolfson's David K.

Deceddy broke the Churchill Downs track record in winning the Kentucky Derby five weeks ago. But ran poorly in the Preakness at Pimlico May 19 as Greek Money noosed Ridas in their rough finish line thriller.

Crimson Satan, who was voted the best 2-year-old in 1961, but failed badly in the earlier classics this year, finished first by a nose in the wild-eyed Jersey derby at Monmouth May 20 at Garden State Park. Jalpur noosed Admiral's Voyage for second. Then the stewards disqualified Crimson Satan, dropping him to third and Jalpur was now winner, with the Admiral second.

The weatherman promises partly cloudy weather with a warm but with no rain in sight until Saturday night. If the weather cooperates fully, a crowd of 50,000 is expected. The race will be broadcast nationally (CBS radio and TV) from 3:04 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

All of the jockeys have ridden in the Belmont before. Willie Shoemaker winning with Gallant Fox (1930) and Sword Dancer (1939), Bill Hartack with Celtic Ash (1960) and Brullion Bazaar with Sherluck. He will handle Jalpur, with Hartack on Deceddy, Naeza aboard Admiral's Voyage, John L. Rots on Greek Money, and Manuel Ycaza on Crimson Satan.

Opinion on Mud Island

LANSING — A planned fill-in Mud Island in the Detroit River should be made in such a way as to interfere as little as possible with public use of the waterway. Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley has ruled.

At the same time the fill material should be dumped where it will do the people most good—by adding to public lands, Kelley said.

Kerry McDaniel, rookie left-handed pitcher with the St. Louis Cardinals, is the brother of Lindsay McDaniel, one of the Cubs' ace.

The featured attraction of the program during the Michigan Tech-Soo's annual All-Sports Banquet was the presentation of the Everett Trophy. This trophy is given to the student "contributing most toward the advancement of athletics at the Sault Branch."

The trophy this year went to Ray Robinson of Pontiac. It was presented by Clifford Everett, who first sponsored the trophy in 1949, when it was presented to Ronald "Bud" Cooper, now athletic director at the school.

Robinson, a nineteen year old sophomore at Soo Tech has played guard for the Hornet Basketball during his two years. Coach George McDonald said, "Ray is the hardest worker on the squad and an excellent team player." He ended the '61-'62 season among the top five on the scoring average. Robinson has also earned a school letter in track.

Norma Probert, former Waterford Township girl, and tackle on Central Michigan's team last season, will be an assistant coach at Belding High next fall.

The 16-year-old Probert is a former winner of a national lifesaving award. He started college at Sioux Falls (S.D.) before switching to Central.

Harry Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Bell, 218 Parkside, Pontiac, was among those receiving a varsity basketball letter from California Lutheran College. The school had a 9-13 mark in its first year of varsity competition.

Winning varsity letters at Michigan Tech were Pontiac's Richard Smith, basketball; Drayton Plante, Robert Scott, golf; Robinson, basketball; and track; and Pontiac's Tom Wurt, track.

Graduating Pontiac Central athletes Otto Kennedy and Paul Brown will attend South Carolina State College next fall. Rudy Ransom is going to Central (Ohio) State.

Charles Stuckey of Orchard Lake won a Lacrosse letter at Tufts College.

ABL Reported After Franchise for Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—The American Basketball League is offering Baltimore a franchise for the coming season and players from the other teams to go with the club, an ABL owner said Thursday.

Hyman Teitelbaum, who was associated with the Baltimore entry in the Eastern League two years ago, said he has been talking with Leroy Litman, owner of the Pittsburgh team in the ABL.

Litman said he has authority from Abe Rapoport, commissioner of the league, to offer Baltimore a franchise.

Nightmare for Big Town Fans

Mets' Collapse Is Record for New York Teams

NEW YORK (UPI)—What the owners of the New York Mets described in public gratitude as "the new miracle of Coogan's Bluff" appeared today to gradually be turning into a nightmare.

The Mets now have dropped 17 in a row, breaking the New York record for consecutive collapses held by the 1944 Dodgers. Throughout this snakepit inaugural season the Mets had clung grimly to the fact that they had never been shut out.

So the lowly Phillies took care of that and it may have been the straw that broke all four of the camel's backs.

When they lost nine in a row to open the season, the creaking legions of Casey Stengel became known as the "amazing" Mets. This well may have been due to the fact that they showed up each time as scheduled. But it was a term with a connotation of fondness.

But such is the complexity of the English language that it also is a word which denotes frenzy.

madness, bewilderment, perplexity, consternation and terror.

And all of these could be setting in now to their complete and utter amazement. Because the talented acrobats who used to get up and cheer when they scored a run are starting to take pot shots at the organization.

The chief target is general manager George Weiss. Much of this may be due to the fact that Weiss normally was a cold potato back in the days when he was calling the shots with polite frigidity for the New York Yankees. There also is a feeling that he made a mistake by leading the new Mets with old talent in hopes of getting one more good season all at once with a fast National League getaway.

His hapless heroes of the moment supposedly were the team of the town a little more than a week ago. The team was that their fan gave "a heart warming demonstration of loyalty and affection" in finally showing up for series with Los Angeles and San Francisco. That's what the owners said in their paid advertisement — the latter being a somewhat item amounting to a half cent taking a quarter page ad.

Seemingly overlooked was that the visitors were the old favorites once known as the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants. Until their appearance, the Mets had drawn an average of 10,000 per game. For the five Dodger-Giant dates the gates averaged almost 40,000. Who drew what is obvious.

Instead of a "new breed" of fans, as advertised, this was the "old breed" making a nostalgic visit into the past.

It's baseball history that losers simply don't draw. And the Mets are going at it in record-breaking fashion. Yet they still have a place to go to top the records in reverse.

Back in the not-so-gay baseball era, Cleveland lost 24 in a row. The Mets also can thank the Phils of last year, who made it to 23.

Former Red Wing Guilty of Assault

KITCHENER, Ont. — Howie Young, former Detroit Red Wings player in the National Hockey League and now with Edmonton Flyers of the Western League, yesterday was fined $100 for assault causing bodily harm to a policeman.

Magistrate J. R. H. Kirkpatrick gave Young a week to pay, with the alternative of 10 days in jail. He said he would give him reasons for the sentence in writing later. Defense counsel Roy Youngson said an appeal likely would be launched.

Young was charged following a May 8 fracas with Kitchener police sergeant Charles Bignell during a Memorial Cup junior hockey final between Hamilton Red Wings and Edmonton Oil Kings at Kitchener auditorium.

He was convicted May 28 and remanded today for sentence.

Sgt. Bignell was attempting to eject Young — who was cheering for Edmonton — from the arena when he suffered injuries which sent him to the hospital for a day.

Today, crown attorney Harold Dautman said any payment of damages to Sgt. Bignell was a matter for the civil courts.

Asked by the magistrate whether he could pay the fine today, Young replied: "I imagine Detroit is handling it."

Four-Way Tie in Austin Open

Last Hole Birdie Putt Enables Sandra Haynie to Catch Trio

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Veteran Gloria Fecht and four sophomore Sandra Haynie matched strokes with big guns Mickey Wright and Jackie Pung to create a four-way lead in the $7,000 Austin Civitan Open first round.

They led the parade into the second 18 holes today with five-under-par 69's.

They were two strokes ahead of Marilyn Smith, who shot a 71, while hunched at 73 were Judy Kimball of Sioux City, Iowa; Mary Mills of Ocean Park, Miss., and Sherry Wheeler, the tour freshman from Glasgow, Ky.

Miss Haynie had to birdie the last hole with an 8-foot putt to tie Miss Fecht, Miss Wright and Mrs. Pung for the lead.

Miss Fecht and Wright made their fine starts with the best scores on the front nine, each bagging a 33. Miss Fecht got three birdies in the first four holes and eased in. Mrs. Pung could attribute accurate chipping for her success. Miss Wright turned in some sensational chipping, too.

Broncos Place 6 on Mid-American All-Star Squad

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Champion Western Michigan dominated the all-star selection for the 1962 All Mid-American Conference basketball team with six players on the first team and two on the second.

Named to the first team were Bronco pitchers Ken Larsen and Bill Ottelbacher, catcher Bud Dodge, second baseman Pat Biedeman, shortstop Fred Michalski and outfielder Mike Gatta.

Third baseman Dan Prevedic and outfielder Dave Kwiatkowski of WMU were second team selections.

Trails 45 Others in Classic Tourney

Is Arnie Waiting?

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — "Arnie is just giving the field a head start this week."

That was the laughing analysis offered by two-time National Amateur champion Jack Nicklaus when 45 players scored better than Arnold Palmer, golf's Mr. Monopoly, in the first round of the $100,000 Classic Tournament at the Upper Montclair Country Club.

It was given, however, with a slightly raspy chuckle that indicated nobody, least of all his rivals, figures Arnie will be far away when the $25,000 first prize is handed out Sunday night.

EARLY LEAD — Gay Brewer, a light-hearted, hooping-kick Kentucky-bred pro who plays from Crystal River, Fla., solved the tricky greens in the 1,655-yard course to take the first round lead with 33-65. He was one stroke ahead of Gene Littler, who is tuning up here to defend his U.S. Open championship at Oakland, Pa., next week, and Earl Stewart, 40, next week club pro from Dallas, Tex.

Palmer, winner of six tournaments this year, favorite to add to his immense earnings here and probable favorite for next week's National Open, was back in the rack at 73, one over par. He was still feeling the effects of a cold that has bothered him for more than a week.

Two players, Fred Hawkins and Dave Ragan, had 68s and six had 69s, among them Nicklaus, who said he was happy with his score because he had played "sloppy" golf and deserved about a 73. With so many good golfers in the running, it appeared certain there would be many changes among the leaders today.

CUTS BEGIN — After today's second round, the field will be cut to the low 90 pros and the four amateurs who started. Another cut to 60 and they will be made before the final round.

Brewer, a 30-year-old tourist who has won three tournaments in seven years as a pro, but none this year, was first round leader in last week's Memphis Open. He finished tied for 10th.

He was one of the few who had little trouble with the irregular Upper Montclair greens Thursday. He three putted once, and missed one green, but he holed birdie putts of 25 and 30 feet among his eight one-putt greens. The variations in the putting flat.

Canadian Race Saturday

Sports Cars in 200-Miler

TORONTO, Ont. (AP) — The hottest field of international sports car machinery and driving talent ever to test a Canadian track is poised for tomorrow's 200-mile race at Mosport Park.

Racing across from the United States, Britain and continental Europe will join the Canadian contingent over the 2 1/2 miles of curves, hills and valleys in quest of a prize pot totalling $5,200.

The 200 will be run in two 100-mile heats with cumulative times counting. Qualifying runs go today. Of the 25 entries, only 30 can enter tomorrow's grid.

The chances are that five countries will be represented when the final trial runs are clocked. Drivers will be out to beat the mark set by Stirling Moss of England last year, when he piloted his Lotus 19 to an easy victory over sloper cars — the Porsche of Joakim Bonnier of Sweden and Olivier Gendebien of Belgium and the Conestoga-Sadler of Dan Shaw of Toronto. Moss holds the lap record with 1:34.2.

The car Moss handled in last year's inaugural 200 will be driven by Master Gregory of Kansas City, SUBSTITUTION PILOT.

But it could be upstaged by Moss' new Dino Ferrari, to be driven by Innes Ireland of England. Moss himself won't be around to defend the title as he is still recovering from an Easter weekend crash at the Goodwood Track in England.

Two other Lotus 19s will be in the lineup, driven by Francis Bradley of Toronto and Dan Gurney of Riverside, Calif. The Bradley is the one to watch.

Biggest name from south of the border, by virtue of his victory in the Memorial Day 500-mile classic last month, is Rodger Ward of Indianapolis. He will drive what amounts to an international track — a British-built Cooper powered by a Buick engine.

Wild Pitches, Errors Decide Softball Games

Errors and wild pitches played big roles in Waterford softball action last night.

Stroh's relied on errors to score four runs in the first inning, three unearned, to down O'Neill Realty 4-2 and take a half a game lead in Class B.

Ed Miller was the winning pitcher. O'Neill outlasted Stroh's 8-6.

Rockcote Paint took a 6-0 first inning lead but still fell before Hasbain Chevrolet 13-9 in Class C.

Two Rockcote pitchers allowed only seven hits but walked 10 batters, hit two and unearned 10 wild pitches. Seven of the errant pitches were in the second inning when Hasbain scored five times.

The winners put their fifth straight victory away with six runs in the fourth.

Seven Men Charged With Duck Baiting

DETROIT (AP) — Charges of conspiring to violate federal private bird laws by baiting a private hunting preserve to attract mallard ducks were brought against seven men today, including four officers of the Monroe Auto Equipment Co.

Charged in federal court were Brower D. McIntyre, president of the Monroe firm; his two brothers, William D. and Charles S. McIntyre, executive vice presidents; Charles' son, Charles S. McIntyre III, secretary-treasurer; Robert L. Burns, Ford Motor Co. engineer; Floyd R. McCourt and Gregory Navarre.

McCourt and Navarre manage the McIntyre preserve, known as MAECO marsh.

William H. Merrill, assistant U. S. attorney, said the marshland of the River Raisin at Monroe, was baited with corn last fall and subsequently, he charged, Navarre and Charles McIntyre III took Burns there to shoot ducks.

The McIntyres declined comment. Merrill said the defendants could be arraigned tomorrow.

Conviction can be punished by a fine of $500 and a six-month jail term.

The Los Angeles Angels had 34 athletes at their first spring training camp last year. This year they have 46.

Build Up His Interest

Having Child Repeat Grade No Solution

By LINDSEY A. NABON, ED. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

There are a number of things that parents can do to help their child succeed in school.

One of the most important of these is instilling in him the feeling of success.

For instance, I recently received this letter:

Dear Dr. Nabon:

Our son is in the second grade. He seems bored.

DR. NABON with book-learning. His work is very poor. Yet I know he is capable of doing good work. Is it advisable to have him repeat the grade?

Mrs. J. C. Fresno, Calif.

Having your child repeat the grade is neither key nor solution to the problem. He must be made to want to try; he must be encouraged to want to learn.

During the summer vacation, give him some arithmetic problems or reading to do for you. Make them difficult enough to challenge him yet easy enough for him to do successfully.

Give him your enthusiastic approval when he succeeds. This will encourage his natural tendency to improve. If you can establish him in a pattern of success, it will hold over into his school work.

Dear Dr. Nabon:

Do you think it is right for a test? Mike, Seattle

I see nothing wrong with it — if it is done properly.

First, each member of the team should work over the material alone to gain a grasp of the big ideas involved. Then they are ready to study together, asking each other questions, answering the questions and criticizing the answers.

Frequently, studying together is simply another name for a " cram session." This is not only useless, it can be harmful. Memorizing is not learning, even if it meets temporary success in tests.

Dear Dr. Nabon:

Do you think high school students should be charged tuition fees to help pay the expenses of public education?

M. C. Salt Lake City

There are two answers to your question, both valid.

People who have to pay for things appreciate them more. In my own experience, students who pay fees seem to gain more from my consultations than the non-paying group.

On the other hand, it would be grossly unfair for us to make a high school education dependent upon a family's ability to pay.

(If you have a question for Dr. Nabon, write him in care of The Pontiac Press. He will discuss in his column those of most general interest.)

There will be only one trump left and South will pick it up with the ace on the next lead.

What if West shows out? South plays dummy's ace and leads back towards his queen. Again the defense makes only one trump trick.

South wins the opening heart lead and notices that he will have to lose one diamond and two club tricks come what may. Hence, if he is playing a four-spade contract he will have to avoid the loss of a trump trick and the best way to do this is to drop the singleton king from either East or West. So, he will lead a trump and go up with dummy's ace.

If South merely rebid to three spades and North dropped him, there South should employ a safety play to guard against the loss of two trump tricks.

This safety play is not hard to figure out. He simply leads a low spade. If West plays the ace, South rises with dummy's ace and loses one trump trick. If West plays the king, South also rises with dummy's ace and loses one trump trick. If West plays the nine, South plays dummy's ace.

If East shows out, South loses only one trump trick. If East wins with either the king or the jack

Jane Froman to Get $20,000 From Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Claims ruled Thursday that singer Jane Froman and two other wartime troop entertainers injured in a 1943 plane crash overseas should receive $20,000 each from the federal government.

The ruling was requested by Congress, which asked the court to determine how much should be paid. Congress will have to appropriate the money.

Miss Froman and the two other entertainers, Gypsy Maikoff and Jean Rosen, were aboard a commercial plane which crashed near Lisbon, Portugal, with a loss of 33 lives. The three were badly injured.

Despite its economic and historic importance, New York's Hudson River is relatively short. More than 60 other rivers in the United States exceed the 315-mile Hudson in length.

Planned Tax Cut Means Fat Purse

AP Economic Affairs Writer
WASHINGTON—The tax cut proposed by President Kennedy for next year would have the stimulative effect of a multi-billion dollar pay raise for wage earners and a profit boost for business.

Kennedy's advisers are talking tentatively about a $5-billion reduction in the tax package the President will ask Congress to approve. Some think it should be larger, some don't want to lose that much revenue.

MOVES FASTER
Now Kennedy has announced his willingness to cut taxes only six months and three weeks from today. The bill will be sent to the Capitol this summer; it will be weighed and argued through the congressional election campaign. If it will be passed in time for the annual gain in output per man-hour.

Second, making it possible for business to amend the funds need for modernization of the nation's industrial plant. Tax incentives are being offered as an alternative to price increases which would simply discourage demand and price American goods out of the world's markets.

The first approach has run into grave trouble. Steelmakers rebelled at price restraint and set out to improve their profits in the traditional way—a price boost. Kennedy reacted angrily and forcefully to salvage his grand design.

Better businessmen felt he overreached. The charge that Kennedy is "antibusiness" has gained wider acceptance; it apparently worsened the spectacular stock market break of 10 days ago and has contributed to the uncertainty evident in the market since then.

The second approach is taring itself. The Treasury shortly will issue liberalized tax allowances for depreciation on machinery and equipment, and Congress seems likely to enact most of Kennedy's first-phase tax revision program, built around a tax credit for big and little companies which invest in new plant equipment.

Reductions in the top income tax rate from 91 per cent to 65 per cent have been approved. At the other end of the taxable income scale, the basic 30 per cent might be dropped to 18 to 19 per cent.

The corporation tax rate of 52 per cent probably would be cut to something below 50 per cent. A range of 40 to 48 per cent has been under discussion.

Some bad news would accompany the good. A whole bundle of reforms to amend the tax code to eliminate the patchwork of special concessions and exemptions would come out ahead.

That's no longer the case. The idea of a net tax cut for all began shaping up after the business recovery hesitated in January and February. That was a good thing, but not the kind of full-fledged boom that would reduce joblessness to 4 per cent by mid-1963, or keep Kennedy's budget in balance.

Henry Ford II, head of Ford Motor Co., was re-elected president of the Automobile Manufacturers Association yesterday.

Other officers re-elected at the organization's annual meeting were treasurer Roy Abernethy, president of the General Motors Corp., and vice president John F. Gordon, president of General Motors and J. N. Bauman, president of White Motor Co.

Abernethy, who served as president of the International Harvester Co. vice president Ralph M. Buzard was elected to succeed the same firm's executive vice president, W. C. Schumacher as a director and secretary.

Abernethy lives at 3940 Oakland Dr., West Bloomfield Township and Gordon resides at 1680 Hawthorne Rd., Bloomfield Hills.

Originally it was believed that the stock market's convulsions reinforced the decision to cut, as fact of the matter is, the market in 1961, a year in which government spending is expected to rise to $95 or $96 billion. The anticipated increase of about $3 billion from this year's budget outlays would be a built-in increase in the space and military programs.

Despite the prospective red ink, most administration advisers are said to be convinced that strong medicine is needed to fortify— not to rescue—Kennedy's grand strategy for American growth in a world of heightened competition. The Kennedy strategy is two-fold.

First, by stimulating the cooperation of labor and management in keeping wage settlements and price decisions noninflationary. In January the White House offered voluntary guidelines which, in the opinion of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, would keep wage increases within the bounds of the annual gain in output per man-hour.

'Kansas Picked as Lear Co. Site'

Report Industrialist Has Wichita in Mind for Jet Plane Plant

MUSKOGEE (AP) — The publication "Aviation Daily" today said Wichita, Kan., has been selected by industrialist William P. Lear Sr. as site of his proposed manufacturing plant for private jet aircraft.

The report was confirmed by Muskogee County Airport Manager Jack S. Hakes who said Lear had notified the Muskogee Chamber of Commerce of his decision by telegram.

Muskogee, Grand Rapids and Ypsilanti were three Michigan cities named earlier by Lear as under consideration for location of a plant which at the start was expected to employ some 200 workers. Lear told newsmen last February he favored Michigan for personal reasons.

Then a judgment can be made on how heavily to load the booster to overcome and prolong the recovery — and, if possible — achieve the Kennedy goal of reasonably full employment by mid-1963.

Top-to-bottom rate reduction in individual income and corporation taxes was part of the original Kennedy blueprint to "get the country moving forward" — a program which has been vigorously ditched out within weeks after he took office.

But that was to have been a tax-reform program, not a tax-cut program. The latter was to be the result of the tax-reform program, not a tax-cut program. The latter was to be the result of the tax-reform program, not a tax-cut program.

Senate Rejects Silver for Post

Swinson Appointee to Hospital Body Turned Down, 21-6

LANSING (AP)—The appointment of Paul Silver, Detroit union official, to the State Hospital Advisory Council was rejected by the Senate yesterday by a 21-6 vote.

The vote was along party lines with six Democrats voting for the appointment recommended by Gov. Romney. Two Democrats present, Sen. Patrick J. Doyle of Dearborn and Charles O. McManis of Houghton, did not vote.

Sen. John W. Fitzgerald, R-Grand Lodge, chairman of the Senate Business Committee, reported the appointment out without recommendation.

"There are others who can better fill this job," Fitzgerald said of the appointment. "The job doesn't fit him."

Fitzgerald said Silver had been involved in a number of breaches of the peace and in disturbing the peace.

"This is his stock in trade," said Fitzgerald. "He is a very dedicated and militant union leader."

Sen. Paul C. Younger, R-Lansing, in speaking against the appointment, said Silver, president of Detroit UAW Local 501, "has followed a life of violence."

Younger said evidence given by state police at a Senate Business Committee hearing earlier this week showed Silver had once signed a petition to put the Communist party on the ballot in Michigan.

"He did not deny this," Younger said.

Spelling Champs Say It Took Luck—That's L-U-C-K

WASHINGTON (AP)—The governing board of the National Spelling Bee contest agree that luck, more than anything else, makes a champion speller.

"Most of the words I never heard of," admitted Michael Day, 14, Hardin, Ill., who shares the 1962 title with brother Nettie Crawford, 13, Roswell, N.M.

"It was pretty rough," Nettie told.

Because most of the words were so difficult the two eighth graders agreed that amounted to more of a guessing game in Thursday's final round of the 35th annual spelling bee. Their battle finally was declared a draw.

Nettie and Mike became champions by spelling correctly a set of tongue twisters as "unguiculate," meaning having claws or nails, a botanical term referring to seed plants.

Too Many Children for Classroom

Catholics Differ on Shared School Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—Should Roman Catholic schools, under the pressure of heavy enrollments and the controversy about state and federal aid, work toward "shared time" partnership with public schools?

Two Catholic superintendents of schools debate the question in articles in the June issue of the Catholic Educator.

The Very Rev. Arthur T. Geoghegan, superintendent of schools of the diocese of Providence, R.I., who favors the recently suggested plan, begins his discussion with a definition:

SHARED TIME
"Briefly stated, shared time means that a pupil in a church-sponsored school would receive part of his instruction in a neighborhood public school and part in the church-sponsored school.

"He might, for instance, attend classes in spelling, penmanship, mathematics and science in the public school and study religion, history and literature in the church-related school."

Msgr. Geoghegan and The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Justin A. Driscoll, superintendent of schools of the archdiocese of Dubuque, Iowa, agree on the point that the optimum educational plan, in the Catholic viewpoint, is a full-time program in a church-affiliated school.

However, Msgr. Geoghegan asks, "How many children are Catholic schools available? With more than 25 percent of the children born annually in the United States being Catholic, fewer than half of them can hope to attend Catholic elementary schools. Catholic secondary schools can accommodate still fewer. By 1970 only 100,000 Catholic children will be able to attend a Catholic school."

FREE TEACHERS
He sees shared time as a means of freeing Catholic teachers and classrooms during part of the day for the instruction of pupils who would otherwise receive no church-sponsored education.

Msgr. Geoghegan also believes the Catholic pupil's education could improve qualitatively with shared time.

Msgr. Driscoll, who opposes shared time, says, "I do not believe the shared time plan is simply because I do not think it is sharing anything."

"About the only thing it shares, or establishes, is the fact that the child has a right to participate in part time instruction of the public school; that the school can legally collect money for doing a half-time job, perhaps in the physical sciences and in the practical or manual arts."

Secondly, Msgr. Driscoll objects because, he says, the shared time plan rests on "a false concept of the state's rights in education."

FALSE CONCEPT
"In my way of thinking, the shared time plan," he says, "is based on the erroneous idea that the child must be enrolled in a state school to become a participant in the distribution of the educational goods of the state."

And thirdly, Msgr. Driscoll says, "I also find it difficult to fit the shared time plan into the Catholic viewpoint on education."

"The basic principle upon which Christian education is based must be observed in every aspect of the curriculum."

DON'T HURT MY DOLLY—It seems like hot weather fun for 4-year-old Michael Ryan of Savannah, Ga. But sister Angela, 3, thinks her doll is suffering from big brother's water antics.

Oakland's Credit Tops

By DICK HANSON

Good credit rating is as important to local government as it is to individuals.

Oakland County's ability to borrow federal funds, in order to speed area growth, is proving to be very good, according to R. J. Alexander, county public works director.

He pointed to the federal government's pledge to lend $245 million to bring Detroit water into Farmington Township's "dry area" as an indication of a good credit rating here.

The County Department of Public Works is acting as the agent in getting the water system built for the township.

AT 3% PER CENT

In pledging its support, the federal government has agreed to make the $2.66-million loan at a 3% per cent interest rate, if no private investor offers terms as low or nearly as low.

Township and county officials have expressed confidence that the proposed water system will bring further residential and business development into the area.

Construction of the system is scheduled to begin in September.

It will serve 2,300 homes in the mainly residential area when completed and will have a potential for 9,500 homes, according to Township Supervisor Curtis Hall.

DPW Director Alexander returned to his office here yesterday after spending three days with area representatives in Washington discussing the county's plans for increased public utilities.

The rapidity with which these plans can be developed, and thus open new areas of the county for residential and industrial use, depends on how soon money can be borrowed, he said.

Alexander is hopeful that his recent talks in Washington will pave the way for more federal loans here in the near future.

NEEDS MILLIONS

Oakland County could use loans or grants totaling up to $10.7 million to speed public utility construction in the near future, Alexander said.

Among such projects, he said, are the Clinton River sewage disposal plant to serve Northeastern Oakland County, including extensions of an existing system at Michigan State University and sewage disposal systems in Troy and elsewhere in Farmington Township.

Sometimes, as in the case of Farmington Township's "dry area," there aren't enough residents to pay for the needed service right now. Yet, with an adequate water supply, county planners feel certain the area will continue to develop because of its strategic location.

However, most private investors want assurance beforehand of the ability to pay back the loan. Those willing to lend the money generally ask high interest rates to cover what they consider a high risk.

Great Lakes Liner Freed From Sand Bar

The Great Lakes liner SS South American which carried 50 Pontiac businessmen among her 230 passengers, was freed from a sand bar in upper Lake St. Clair at 1:15 a.m. today.

The ship ran aground at noon Wednesday. Her passengers disembarked by a small ferry to Algona yesterday, after being marooned for about 24 hours.

When tug boats and a dredge finally freed the ship this morning, she immediately set a course for Bay City, where another Chamber of Commerce tour will begin this afternoon.

Backs Recommendations for College System

The Oakland County Board of Education last night pledged its support of the major recommendations for a countywide community college system put forth by the Oakland County Community College Advisory Council.

The pledge was given at last night's membership meeting of the council. The majority of 100 persons present in Elmer School, Southfield, included council members, school superintendents, school board members, filled out questionnaire cards outlining ways in which they would help in a November ballot proposing the college system.

Group Neglects Teeth

NEW YORK (AP)—Three per cent of a large group of 17-year-olds examined recently were found to be without evidence of dental neglect. The Health Information Foundation reports that the United States population as a whole has at least 70 million unfilled dental cavities—about four per person.

Save 2 Teen Brothers After Canoe Mishap

Two teen-age brothers, whose canoe tipped over last night in Foster Lake in Independence Township, were picked up by the township fire department. When the boat, other than being cold, neither suffered ill effects from the ordeal.

Michael Craven, 18, and his brother, Colin, 16, were fishing near the middle of the lake when the mishap occurred at 9 p.m. Colin had leaped over the side of the boat to retrieve his fish pole, and the canoe tipped over.

T. H. Wilson, who owns the estate on the lake where the father of the two boys is caretaker, heard them calling for help and summoned the fire department. When instructed the boys to cling to the boat until help arrived.

Fire department officials said Colin, who has a cast on his right leg probably sustained when he had not clung to the canoe.

REV. ARA WALKER

1st Exercise Set at High School

Our Lady of the Lakes Plans Commencement Sunday in the Church

Commencement exercises for the first graduating class at Our Lady of the Lakes High School, Waterford Township, will be held Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the church.

Rev. Ara Walker, S. J., president of Columbiere College in Independence Township, will deliver the commencement address to the 29 graduates.

Fr. Walker, former president of Mt. Ignatius High School in Cleveland, was named to his present post at the Jesuit College in September 1960 when the institution first opened.

The graduates, wearing their caps and gowns, will attend in a body 12:30 Mass Sunday. Following Mass they have lunch with their pastor, Fr. Frederick J. Delaney, at the rectory.

SOLDIER'S STORY—Looking over an old discharge paper forgotten by an ex-serviceman in the county clerk's office, Mrs. Letta Weir (right) and Mrs. Walter Williams try to find clues to the owner's whereabouts. Forty discharges have been abandoned in the office over the past 16 years and Mrs. Weir is now attempting to return them.

Ex-Soldiers Forget to Reclaim Discharge

What red-blooded American man wouldn't give two years of his life to the service of his country? But what former serviceman would mind spending five minutes to pick up his discharge from the Oakland County Clerk's Office?

Ex-soldiers: Letta Weir wants you!

Mrs. Weir, deputy county clerk, has a stack of 40 discharge papers abandoned by their owners in her office. She's trying to get rid of them.

The papers were originally left so they could be recorded in the county's official files. Owners were instructed to pick them up after three days.

Mrs. Weir hopes by publishing a list of the abandoned discharges she can get most of the documents back where they belong.

She figures forgetful owners will see their names, pick up the papers and Letta will be rid of her burden.

Discharges won't be piling up from now on. Mrs. Weir explained, because a new duplicating machine in the clerk's office allows them to be copied immediately, thus eliminating the three-day wait.

The documents are copied and filed free. A fee of $1 is charged if a veteran needs a copy for himself.

The last discharge to be abandoned was brought to the clerk's office March 29 or 30, presumably, the owner can't be too far away.

But, judging from past experience, Mrs. Weir said that once a former soldier forgets he keeps right on forgetting. Most of the boys don't know where the discharges are.

Once in awhile, Mrs. Weir receives a call from a bewildered vet wondering if he might have lost his discharge in the office.

Once, Mrs. Weir even tried to return one of the papers by mail, though she admitted she's not supposed to. She called the ex-soldier's address from the local phone book, sent the discharge out and several days later it bounced back with the notation: "Not at this address."

In most cases, that's the way it goes. Mrs. Weir said veterans are not living at their last known address and it's almost impossible to reach them—except, perhaps, through newspapers.

Last year, a published list of discharges turned up about a dozen veterans.

Mrs. Weir hopes the following list does even better:

Rita Nando Capogna, U.S. Navy, 42 61.

The graduates, wearing their caps and gowns, will attend in a body 12:30 Mass Sunday. Following Mass they have lunch with their pastor, Fr. Frederick J. Delaney, at the rectory.

Draw Up Code
for Newspapers

18-Month Study Results in 1st Broad Guidelines for Publications

RICHMOND, Va. — The test of a good newspaper is how well it meets the standards of integrity, accuracy, responsibility and leadership, says a committee of veteran editors.

The committee, made up of members of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association, spent 18 months of study in drawing up a proposed code to help the public and press evaluate newspapers.

Called a "criteria of a good newspaper," the code represents the first broad-scale effort ever made to establish such guidelines.

John H. Colburn, managing editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch and committee chairman, said it now embodies the suggestions of nearly 50 editors and publishers and heads of 15 journalism schools.

"It is only now ready for examination, criticism and revision by newspapermen at large," he said. "We hope to get suggestions for its improvement from the profession as a whole."

J. Edward Murray, managing editor of the Arizona Republic, of Phoenix, conceived the idea for the code two years ago when he was president of the Managing Editors Association.

He suggested that the criteria be drawn up to fit any good newspaper, regardless of size, and be clear enough for the average reader to use in judging his own newspaper.

The code, he said, could serve as both a working standard and a goal for the many excellent papers which have never made the lists of "the ten great newspapers."

To keep Mrs. Hoffman protected ordered the tunnel dug as part

Pass $76-million 'nuisance' Tax Bill

JFK Inserts Cuts in 5-Part Tax Deal

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy pins his strategy for prosperity on a five-point tax package that includes across-the-board income tax cuts starting next January.

"There is no need for this country to stand helplessly by and watch a recovery run out of gas," Kennedy told his new conference Thursday.

"We have a program to boost it and I hope that all those who are concerned about their stocks or their profits or their jobs will help us get action on this program," he added.

Thus inviting public support, including support from critics who contend administration policies upset the stock market, Kennedy urged Congress to get down to business quickly on his proposals.

Tax talk highlighted the news conference in which Kennedy snapped back at Republican detractors and said he would take the stump for Democratic candidates in the November elections.

He made clear the administration does not intend to recommend an immediate cut in income taxes. But he said he will offer a tax reform bill providing reductions in both personal and corporate income taxes, effective Jan. 1, for congressional action next year. Details are being worked out, he said, but will result in a net loss—the reductions "will not be wholly offset by other reforms."

Kennedy conceded his goal of a $70-billion gross national product, the value of the nation's output, probably will not be achieved this year. The stock market decline won't help, he said, but adoption of his tax package would improve chances "of being close."

He listed these other points in the program:

The House-passed tax credit for money invested in new machinery and equipment.

Fortcoming changes in schedules by which companies save money through tax writeoffs for depreciation of plant and equipment.

Fortcoming changes in schedules by which companies save money through tax writeoffs for depreciation of plant and equipment.

Approval of his request for standby authority to cut taxes in order to head off threats of recession. The House Ways and Means Committee hasn't acted on this proposal.

Repeal of the 10 per cent tax on rail and bus transportation and cutting the tax on air travel in half, to 5 per cent.

"Action on this tax package will provide our economy with all the stimulus and safeguards needed," Kennedy said, "and I hope such action will be forthcoming."

The President distinguished measures in the package from his proposals to withhold taxes on dividends and interest and to prevent corporations from finding tax havens abroad. But these proposals also ought to pass, he said.

Kennedy declared he will be active in the fall election campaigns. And he congratulated former Vice President Richard M. Nixon for his proposal to GOP gubernatorial primary in California.

TO APPEAR THERE

That's one state in which Kennedy is expected to appear, on behalf of Nixon's opponent, Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Other states which party sources believe he is most likely to invade are Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Michigan, Kentucky and possibly Oregon, Utah and South Dakota.

The governor's statements were the result of a discussion of a letter from Democratic National Committee Neil S. Schuler to a Ford Motor Co. executive. In it Schuler had thanked the auto firm for passing on contributions of executives to both parties.

Swainson said he had received many political contributions without being aware of the exact source, without checking as to whether the donors were white or blue collar.

As for assessments by either party on backers, he said he didn't know whether some of the money he gets results from assessments or not. But he added: "I don't think anybody should be forced to make a political contribution."

Romney Talks of Cash; Swainson Cools Scholle

OWOSSO (AP)—George Romney, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, declared here last night he can "clean up this fiscal mess in Michigan."

Romney said he would use the same basic principles of financial management he used to save the American Motors Co. Romney said he inherited a $60-million deficit at American Motors, proportionately greater than the $36-million deficit facing Michigan.

"We had to do something, and we did," Romney said. "These same sound principles of financial management can clean up this fiscal mess in Michigan. We must be dead certain that we get a dollar's worth of good for every dollar spent."

"First," Romney said, "we must take a close, hard look at where our money goes. We must decide whether what we are doing is what we should be doing. We must establish the essentiality of every aspect of our operations."

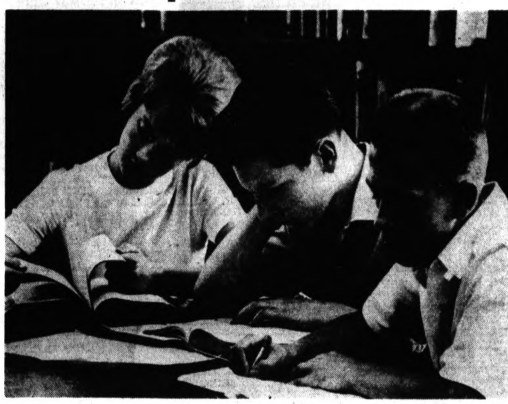

"Next," Romney said, "we must inspect in closest detail the efficiency of state government. We must be dead certain that we get a dollar's worth of good for every dollar spent."

And then we must look at our revenue structure, and we must revise it to provide enough money to pay for our essential services, which must be administered in the most economical and efficient manner possible."

Estate Inventory $4.7-Billion Aid Limit Runs to Millions Imposed by Senate

Holdings Only Partially Appraised by Attorney for Late C. E. Wilson

A partially appraised inventory of the estate of the late Charles E. Wilson was held 1,400 shares of GM common stock worth $14,000. Other stock was appraised at close to $1 million.

Life insurance totaled some $600,000 and bank accounts about $15,000.

The appraisals were submitted by Mr. Wilson's son Thomas and the National Bank of Detroit, special administrator and executor of the estate.

Major beneficiaries of the estate are Mr. Wilson's widow and other members of his family. The former defense secretary died last Sept. 26.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has voted a $4.7-billion ceiling on foreign aid spending next year — just about what President Kennedy requested.

But there's evidence Congress intends to slash away at the aid program before it finally provides the money that may be spent.

The measure passed Thursday by the Senate 61 to 23 simply sets limits on aid spending in the fiscal year that begins July 1. The appropriations will be handled later in separate legislation.

Actually, the administration had to settle for partial victory on its embattled proposal for aid to Communist Poland and Yugoslavia in an attempt to wean them away from Soviet domination.

Wednesday the Senate voted 57 to 34 to bar foreign aid to such countries. But, with heavy pressure from the White House and combined appeals from Democratic and Republican leaders, the Senate retreated Thursday and voted 56 to 34 to exempt gifts and sales of surplus food.

It still left the ban on any assistance under the foreign aid bill itself, including $10 million in economic development loans the administration had programmed for Yugoslavia next fiscal year.

At his news conference Kennedy welcomed the action on food saying it would give him the necessary flexibility to help people who want to remain independent.

Only a short time later administration forces succeeded by the narrow vote of 45 to 40 in rejecting an amendment by Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., which would have denied foreign aid to countries which export arms or strategic materials to the Soviet Union, including Cuba.

West Berlin police helped the refugees escape by shooting back at the Communists who were attempting to capture the fleeing East Germans.

The captain of the cruise ship and his engineer then took their 500-ton craft back to East Berlin under Communist police escort.

West Berlin police said apparently no one was wounded on either side in the raging gun battle.

One of the refugees, identified only as "Peter C," because of relatives still in East Germany, described how the first waterborne escape since the Communists put dry their wall Aug. 13 was accomplished.

It was for this action that Manuel was discharged after a day-long subcommittee wrangle behind closed doors Thursday, Democratic members spoke of a breach of ethics.

Manuel also had harsh words for the subcommittee, headed by Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., which he called a one-party operation.

He said Carl J. Miller, an Agriculture Department employee, told him that Estes on Jan. 25, 1961, invoked the names of Johnson and Lyndon B. Johnson, and that Rayburn when trying to pressure him.

But when Miller took the stand in open hearings last week, Manuel said, he mentioned Rayburn and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., but not Johnson.

Manuel said he accused Miller of subcommittee bias.

Record Budget for Michigan All but Ready

Plan Includes School Aid Increase of About $8 Per Pupil

LANSING (AP)—In a sudden burst of energy, the million "nuisance" tax package today and almost wrapped up a record $511-million budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Law makers struggled with tax and spending bills from 9:30 a.m. yesterday till 3:15 a.m. today, then went home on a two-week recess. They will come back June 25 to put the finishing touches on the budget.

Just before calling it quits, the Senate also approved a 40 per cent pay raise for the legislature.

The increase, raising salaries from $5,000 to $7,000, stands a good chance of clearing the House. It would make the legislature one of the "two or three best paid in the nation."

The nuisance taxes, virtually the same as those passed by the House last week, are on route to

Gov. Swainson for signing. With them would be a $13-million increase in state aid to schools, worth about $5 a pupil.

Swainson set out most of the night waiting for legislative decisions. He branded the Republican tax package unfair to consumers and inadequate to meet state needs.

WON'T OPPOSE IT

However, he said he would not stand in the way of enactment since "they are the only available means to keep Michigan afloat financially." The Democratic governor laid a fight for a fiscal reform program based on a personal and corporate income tax.

The tax package was the second he has to go through the mill during the year.

The House turned down a $70-million revenue-raiser, objecting to a three-cent increase in the nickel-a-pack cigarette tax proposed by a House-Senate compromise.

The five bills sent to the governor will:

- Add two cents to the cigarette tax ($30 million), raise the per capita beer tax from three-eighths of a cent to two cents ($27 million).

It will also add a mill to the four-mill corporation franchise tax and a four per cent excise tax on liquor ($7 million) and put a four per cent tax on telephone and telegraph service.

Nineteen Democrats joined 41 Republicans to put the key cigarette tax increase through the House. With one or two exceptions, Senate Democrats did not vote for any of the taxes.

EFFECTIVE JULY 1

The whole package will go into effect July 1, a year after expiration of a $50-million package taxing the same items.

The new taxes will raise income

MSUO Head Confident as Taxes OK'd

After the passage of a $76-million nuisance tax package in the state legislature last night and other action by a House committee, Chancellor D. B. Varner of Michigan State University Oakland was confident the university could add a fourth class this year.

A Senate-approved higher education appropriation bill was sent out of the House Ways and Means Committee last night. It included a $542,000 increase in MSUO — an amendment submitted in the Senate by Sen. Farrell Roberts, R-Pontiac.

"Rep. Henry Hogan, R-Birmingham, representative for the district that includes MSUO is optimistic about final House passage of the higher education appropriation bill and so am I," Varner said today.

Earlier, Varner had said that the passage of the Roberts amendment would give MSUO enough money to equal the appropriation recommended by Gov. Swainson, assuming a normal increase in student fees.

A proposed increase for MSUO may be discussed at the next meeting of the Michigan State University board of trustees June 11.

Under consideration is a $15 a semester increase for Michigan students and a $30-per-semester increase for non-Michigan students.

Varner said that the $10 per semester increase for Michigan students and $35 per semester for non-Michigan students.

The higher education bill comes up for final consideration in the House after it reconvenes June 25.

Bills for School Tax Won't Change in City

The individual taxpayer in the Pontiac School District will receive the same tax bill next year as he received this year, the Pontiac Board of Education decided last night.

The board made up a possible revenue loss from a reduction of city cigarette taxes by raising the rate in the city from 13.50 mills to 13.75 mills. The rate will be 13.75 mills outside the city, where townships share the millage.

While private owners' bill will be the same, the school district still faces a loss of income amounting to $250,000 below last year, unless this is made up partly by state aid. The loss is due to a $8-million decrease in assessed valuation from $250,254,000 in 1961 to $242,254,000 in 1962.

If Pontiac's share of state aid stays the same as last year ($3,500,000), the district will have $10,213,781 available for operations to cover part of the $10,171,390 already budgeted for 1962-63.

Of the expenditures, $173,000 in rehabilitation projects will be paid out of last year's contingency fund balance.

Plan of Battle Set by AFL-CIO

State Union to Attack Jobs Pay Law and Push Work Week Cut

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Michigan's AFL-CIO today took a political battle plan against the state unemployment compensation law and in favor of a shorter work week in "automation-impact" industries.

The state labor convention ended yesterday after adopting a resolution asking a national conference of government, labor, and management leaders to seek legislation easing unemployment from industrial automation.

The resolution looked forward to shorter work weeks "where automation has made its greatest impact."

The organization said the state unemployment compensation law "pays too few workers for too short a time." The average payments were quoted at $37 for slightly over 11 weeks.

The organization also pledged to fight for a $1.25 minimum wage in the state, reappointment of the legislature, and an increase in the use of "progressive" industrial and corporate income taxes.

$5 Million Sought in Estes Probe

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Auditors are trying to trace $5 million which disappeared from bank accounts of Billie Sol Estes in 14 months, the Dallas News reported today.

"Some creditors think the money went to Switzerland," reporter Harry M. Kramer wrote in the newspaper's copyright story.

Estes, Pecos, Tex. promoter, has been indicted on fraud and theft charges and is being investigated by two congressional committees. His multimillion-dollar grain storage, cotton growing and liquid fertilizer sales interests are in the hands of a receiver.

FBI agents arrested Estes March 29. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said he ordered the move because there were reports Estes might flee to Brazil.

The Dallas News said the audit-firm of Ernst & Ernst is hunting the missing money. It did not say who hired the audit firm, but the firm would not comment.

OAS Very Quiet, Algiers Peaceful

ALGIERS (AP) — The European Secret Army Organization today mysteriously halted its terrorism in Algiers at least temporarily after a day of arson and indiscriminate shooting.

Hopeful French officials believed the appeal for peace by Jean Georges Sarraute, head of some 2,000 Secret Army commandos, was beginning to work. Most Europeans, however, said skeptically it was the driving rain over the city that stopped the destructive action.

Sarraute called Thursday on his fellow terrorists to abandon their struggle and seek peace with the top leaders of Modern nationalism.

But at this stage the leaders of the Algerian nationalists apparently had no desire to deal with the European terrorists.

Throughout the morning, thousands of rain-soaked Europeans besieged banks and the remaining post office buildings to withdraw savings.

The Secret Army spread word through the city that starting Tuesday it will prevent the operation of banks and halt money transfers to France.

At the administrative center at Rocher Noir, the commission controlling the forthcoming self-determination referendum announced that seven political parties registered for the July 1 voting.

Among the parties are the Moslem rebel Front of National Liberation (FLN) and its rival, national Algerian movement which registered under its old name of the "Party of the Algerian People."

Not a single party representing Algeria's Europeans made its appearance as the deadline for registrations expired at midnight. The hitherto banned Algerian Communist party asked for permission to campaign.

The doctors testified that Toppe is not psychotic, said the defendant is "mentally competent and the proceedings against him may continue."

The doctors who examined Toppe were Dr. Ivan LaCorte and Dr. Maurice Willis, both of Pontiac and Dr. William Gordon of Detroit.

The doctors testified that Toppe can understand the proceedings at a trial and the charges against him and that he is able to assist in his own defense.

Dr. LaCorte and Dr. Willis said they examined Toppe about an hour while Gordon said he spent two hours with the accused.

Proceedings at the hearing were interrupted by a defense motion for adjournment based on a report in an area newspaper.

The newspaper article stated that the three psychiatrists had reported their findings to Prosecutor George Taylor Wednesday.

A defense attorney objected to the advance publicity of the mental competency findings prior to yesterday's hearing.

The motion was denied. Judge Beer said he found "no irregularity or impropriety" in having the doctors report the findings to the prosecutor in advance of the hearing.

JUDGE DONALD E. ADAMS

Sole Candidate in Judge's Race

Adams Files in Bid for Re-Election to 4-Year Probate Court Term

Probate Judge Donald E. Adams was off and in the running for reelection today — with nobody else on the track.

Judge Adams filed nominating petitions this morning for the Aug. 7 primary election and thus became the first and only candidate in sight.

No one else has announced intentions to run for the nonpartisan, four-year term.

Judge Adams, 49, was a two-year term on the Probate Court bench in 1960 when he outpolled former state Sen. L. Harvey Lodge by a scant 500 votes.

In the staggered-term Probate Court setup, Adams' post, created in 1960, becomes a four-year job this year. The four-term post held by Judge Arthur Moore will be up for grabs in the 1964 election.

Judge Adams specializes in juvenile cases and Judge Moore handles probate and mental health matters.

A veteran of 29 years as Watertown Township justice of the peace, Judge Adams was graduated from University of Michigan law school. He lost four bids between 1949 and 1952 for election to the State House of Representatives.

The United States leads the world in newspaper consumption, taking at least half the world supply.

The Day in Birmingham

Six New on Community House Board

BIRMINGHAM — Six new board members of the Community House Association have been elected and one director re-elected. It was announced today.

The 15-member volunteer board sets policy for the Community House, which has served as the activities center for the Birmingham-Bloomfield area since 1923.

The new directors, elected to three-year terms, are:

Mrs. W. R. Forsythe, 484 Pittman St., a member of the Post-Comers and active in affairs of the First Presbyterian Church; Charles T. Hammond, 1726 W. Shrop St., a member of the Detroit law firm, Lewis & Watkins; and Mrs. P. H. Hollingshead, 489 Argyle Road, a member of the League of Women Voters and Alumnae Club.

Others are Edward H. Lerchen, 180 Lowell Court, a vice president of the Detroit Bank and Trust Co., general chairman of the 1962 Community House Fund; S. Tenny McGraw, 630 Kimberly Road, assistant cashier at the Birmingham-Bloomfield Bank and a member of the Birmingham PTA; and Sheldon Moyer, 3317 Cottontail Lane, senior vice president of D. P. Brother & Co., and public relations committee chairman for the United Fund.

Five Birmingham high school students will attend Wolverine State to be held on the campus of the University of Michigan, June 19-28.

The eleventh grade students attending the event and their sponsors are:

From Groves Junior-Senior High School — Dolores Magyari, 155 Amberst St., Soroptimist Club; and Kathy Shank, 19100 Waverly St., Groves Student Government.

From Seaholm High School — Molly Dubois, 185 Tibbury Road, Seaholm Student Congress; Elizabeth Schwab, 1025 Fox Chase Road, American Legion Auxiliary; and

Two Michigan Firms Receive U. S. Contracts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military contracts totaling more than $3 million have been awarded two Michigan firms. Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., was advised yesterday.

The Defense General Supply Center awarded a $1,894,748 contract to Clark Equipment Co., Battle Creek, for 55 lock lift trucks. The Army awarded a $1,250,000 contract to Chrysler Corp., Centerline, for tank repair parts.

Marilyn Perry, 340 Wimbeldon Dr., Kewanee Club.

For 10 days the girls attending the Wolverine Girls' State will play the role of junior politicians and build a unit of government, electing from their own representatives, city, county and state officials.

At the close of their session, two girls will be selected to represent Michigan at Girls' National held in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. John W. Fauver, 670 Fairfax St., was re-elected to a three-year term. She is a member of the Birmingham Junior League.

While directors cannot serve two successive terms, Mrs. Fauver was re-elected to the board since she was first elected last year to fill an unexpired term.

About $250 was stolen sometime early today when burglars broke into Bob Adams Shell service station, Maple Road and Hunter Boulevard, according to Birmingham police.

The money was taken from a desk drawer after an attempt to burn open a safe with an acetylene torch failed, police said.

The thieves broke a window to gain entrance and then stacked tires in front of the window to escape from being seen while rilling the building.

Successive terms, Mrs. Fauver was re-elected to the board since she was first elected last year to fill an unexpired term.

Tells Geneva Negotiators U. S. Won't Surrender

GENEVA (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean said today the Soviet terms for a nuclear test ban treaty would require "an act of surrender" by the United States. Dean told the 17-nation disarmament conference the United States will not abandon its attempts to negotiate a treaty, but added: "There are limits to the possibilities of compromise. There is a point where to go further in accommodation becomes an act of surrender, and surrender is certainly incompatible with negotiation between equal and sovereign states."

Charges Estes Truth Suppressed

he afterward reminded him he had previously mentioned Johnson to him. "He admitted this and seemed remorseful, but he offered no explanation," Manuel said.

Miller was the official responsible for allowing Estes' grain storage bond to remain at $700,000 instead of raising it to $1 million.

It was in connection with this matter that Manuel quoted Miller as telling him that Estes visited his office and sought to pressure him with the names of Rayburn and Johnson.

"PAID PRICE": Manuel said: "My dismissal by the Democratic party members of the Fountain subcommittee was the price I am and was prepared to pay for making available to the public the true facts in a very important matter of grave concern to the public."

"I am not the first to be penalized for trying to bring into the open the full truth about the Billie Sol Estes case. And I probably won't be the last."

When he became the minority counsel just two weeks ago, Manuel said, "I said once that the operation of the Fountain subcommittee was incredible."

"Here, a counsel and two assistants, sitting in their Washington offices, in about 10 days prepared for public hearings on one of the most complex and serious national scandals in many years."

"By comparison, the Senate investigating subcommittee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan of Arkansas, has been working for many weeks with a staff of well over 40 investigators, and still will not be ready to bring its public hearings until June 27."

for the state general fund to a little less than $50 million in the next fiscal year.

With a budget of $511 million, the surplus can be used to start retiring a treasury deficit expected to reach $5 million by the end of the month.

Gov. Swanson asked for a $528-million budget, 46 million more than current spending.

Rep. Allison Green, R-Kingston, House Republican floor leader, said he thinks the legislature will have little trouble taking care of the budget bills the last week of June.

The pay raise proposal is likely to stir up the most controversy.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Scattered showers and thunderstorms, some severe, will cover portions of the central and southern Plains, the west Gulf coast and upper Mississippi Valley tonight with some light drizzle along the extreme north Pacific coast. It will continue cool in the Northeast and rather hot in the south Atlantic, the Tennessee Valley and the west Gulf coast.

Marines to Join in Flower Fight; Expect to Lose

VENTIMIGLIA, Italy (AP)—The U.S. Marines are going to take part Sunday in the most unusual battle they ever fought. And they will lose.

The fight is the annual battle of flowers. Vice Adm. David McDonald of the U.S. 8th Fleet gave special permission Thursday for the Marines to join in the battle. Big floats decorated in elaborate designs with the flowers are paraded through the streets. Pretty girls on the floats pet the spectators with flowers.

The city's young men—this year the Marines—run alongside and pet the flowers back. The girls always win. They have the most ammunition. Their carts are loaded with thousands of flowers.

Film Produced by Area Agency Honored Again

"Project HOPE," the Academy Award winning documentary produced by McManus, John & Adams, Inc., of Bloomfield Hills, has won another award — the 1962 American Film Festival Blue Ribbon.

to "Project HOPE" in the public relations-commercial organizations category of the American Film Festival in New York.

The 28-minute color film which relates the teaching, training and medical mission of the S. S. HOPE in southeast Asia, was sponsored by Ex-Cell-O Corp. on behalf of the American dairy industry. It also has won the Silver Anvil award from the Public Relations Society of America.

Former U. S. Treasurer to Marry Coast Man

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Former U. S. Treasurer Elizabeth Rudel Smith said Thursday she will marry Albert W. Gatov of nearby Greenbrae June 22. Mrs. Smith, who resigned from her post in the Kennedy Cabinet last April, campaigned for Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who Tuesday won the Democratic nomination in California's primary election.

Rep. Sterling Dies of Cancer

Dem Legislator From Monroe Stayed on Job Almost to the End

BRIGHTON (AP) — Rep. William C. (Win) Sterling, D-Monroe, died in a Brighton hospital last night at the age of 63.

Sterling, who represented Monroe County in the House of Representatives for 3½ years, had suffered from cancer for a number of years. He was planning to seek re-election to a third term.

The legislature paused in its deliberations over tax and budget matters last night to pay tribute to their colleague.

"We knew that he was dying, but he stayed here in Lansing almost to the end," said Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski of Detroit, Democratic floor leader. "He felt he owed his life to the Michigan legislature."

A native of Monroe, Sterling formerly was director of the Detroit Mayor's Rehabilitation Committee on skid row problems and worked for years to rehabilitate alcoholics. He was a reading clerk in the House in 1957 when Democrats briefly gained control of the legislature.

He was long active in Democratic party affairs and was once a candidate for Congress in the 2nd District of southeastern Michigan.

B52H Sets Mark of 11,420 Miles on 1 Fuel Load

SEYMOUR, N.J. (AP) — Capt. William F. Stevenson took about 50,000 gallons of jet fuel a couple of days ago and set off in his B52H to do some flying.

When the plane commander and his crew returned here at 2:38 p.m. yesterday, they had traveled a record 11,420 miles without refueling in their right jet bomber.

The plane broke two records for distance flown in a closed circuit course — that is, leaving from and returning to the same point and the world Class C1 distance record for heavy jets. The old marks were set at 10,078 miles in 1960 by a B52G of the Strategic Air Command.

Tosses Out Conviction of Alleged Communist

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Court of Appeals tossed out yesterday a contempt of court conviction against Philip Bart for his refusal to answer grand jury questions about his "status as an officer of the Communist party."

The appeals court said the U.S. attorney had failed to establish sufficiently that the nation's security was involved in seeking to force Bart to testify under the Immunity Act of 1954.

Indicate Chiefs Called to OK Kremlin Plans

Red Bloc Leaders Quit Talks Abruptly

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet bloc of cooperation to direct production leaders ended their economic cooperation, coordination of the strategy conference abruptly Thursday after only two days of talks on their nagging agricultural problems at home and the challenge of the West European Common Market abroad.

A communiqué on the closed-door conference is not due until Saturday. But the brevity of the meeting indicated that the Red satellite leaders were summoned to Moscow only to ratify what ever plans the Kremlin had already formulated.

These are believed to include measures to integrate more closely the economies of the Soviet Union and its European satellites and to create a Red counterpart to the flourishing West European Economic Union.

"An indication of this was given yesterday by the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia. It declared that the 'objective laws of economic development' now demand that the East European nations move from 'foreign trade formula but what he called the Common Market's aggressive designs. Khrushchev went from the economic meeting to a reception for a visiting Italian trade delegation and launched a blistering attack on Western Europe's economic alliance.

Boy Struck by Bat, Dies

HOPWELL, Va. (UPI) — Martin Lewis Naughty, 9, died yesterday when he was struck in the head by a bat which slipped from the hands of a fellow fourth grader during a basketball game on the last day of school.

Pontiac Man, 26, in Jail Over Robbery Attempt

A Pontiac man faces examination at 10 a.m. July 3 in Avon Township Justice Court in the unsuccessful robbery of Ted's Service Station, 2001 Auburn Road, Avon Township.

A Detroit man, Melvin McCrary, 31, who was picked up for questioning in the case by Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, has been released from custody.

Being held today at the County Jail in lieu of $500 bond is Melvin Hatchett, 26, of 578 Nevada Ave. Hatchett, a parolee, is charged with larceny from a building.

A service station attendant told deputies he caught Hatchett taking money from the cash register Tuesday afternoon.

Sugar content of the sugar beet has been raised from 2 to 4 percent in the 18th century to 15 percent today.

Catholics Must Give, Claims Archbishop

LONDON (UPI) — Dr. Arthur Michael Ramsey, archbishop of Canterbury, said yesterday there can be no unity of Christians unless the Roman Catholic Church modifies its claim to be the only Christian church.

"Let the Church of Rome recognize that there are other churches, other priests and other sacraments," Dr. Ramsey told a gathering of priests from Lutheran, Reformed and Orthodox and Armenian churches at a special service.

'Naughty' Jail Inmates Lose TV Privileges

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — After a second escape attempt in 17 days at the Richmond City Jail, guards removed a television set.

The jail administrator, Sgt. Frank A. Carvedo, said he would put it back "when they (the prisoners) learn to behave themselves."

Writer Bemoans His Aging

Truman Has Poor Memory or Something

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON—It seems a pity that everyone cannot grow old gracefully.

Some seem to manage the difficult process with effortless ease.
Former President Herbert Hoover and long-time White House chate-laine Eleanor Roosevelt have set admirable examples that perhaps they should open a charm school on "The Art of Aging."

If so, their very first pupil might well be another member of their exclusive group of White House survivors named Harry S. Truman.

He Shoots the Bull but Misses Bull's-Eye

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Nobody would take the bull by the horns Thursday. So a policeman shot it and winged a bystander.
The wild bull session began when the animal, brought here aboard a Turkish ship for a pending bullfight, escaped and charged through a maze of narrow streets into the bazaar area.

Kicking and screaming, the bull injured 15 pedestrians, wrecked stalls and tried to crash into a jewel shop.

The policeman added to the list of injured when he fired and hit a pedestrian in a leg.
His second shot went true, it hit the bull in the neck and killed it.

Community College OK'd by Ionia County Group

IONIA (AP)—Proposed establishment of an Ionia County community college has a tentative green light from a citizens study committee after eight months of work. Committee study reports Wednesday night agreed on a need for the school, believed it could be financed and had a student potential to permit a worthwhile program of studies.

Former Ionia Mayor, Anthony Balice, now general chairman for the school committee, said the study reports would go next Wednesday to an advisory group for a decision.

The scrappy ex-prexy is becoming an embarrassment to his low-lying, well-mannered wife Bess, and to those loyal followers who think it is time for a 78-year-old man to abandon his once amusing "Give 'Em Hell" technique.

Something is eating Mr. Truman. Either he has lost his regard for the truth, or he has developed the affliction of many public citizens—an abominable memory.

Truman has always been a hater, but it is lamentable to see this quality so publicly directed by one ex-president against another. The husk, which he cast on Dwight D.
Eisenhower during an early morning walk in New York this week was so gratuitous as to be incomprehensible.

President Kennedy, by his cancellation of 23 White House receptions to the Republican-oriented New York Herald-Tribune, had demonstrated that he is rather thin-skinned about criticism.

Since only four living men have occupied the presidency, it would have been obvious good manners for Truman to make no comment on the matter, or simply to speak a word of understanding about the pressures which harass a chief executive and sometimes temporarily mar his judgment.

Instead, he seized on the issue as a pretext to light into his successor, Dwight D. Eisenhower, with whom he has been feuding for a decade.

"He's the thinnest skinned fellow in the world," Truman mused.
"Did you read what he said when they found a couple of crooks in his administration the other day?"
He added that he canceled subscriptions both to the Washington Star and Washington Post while he was in the White House.

The statements simply were not true. There is no record of any newspaper subscriptions being canceled during the Eisenhower administration.

Further, no shred of proof has yet been offered that the former Eisenhower officials in question were "crooks."

Eisenhower may possibly be thin-skinned, but it is, this is certainly a case of the pot calling the kettle black. Prexy Truman was so abominably thin-skinned that when a respected music critic wrote an honest review of Margaret Truman's singing performance with the National Symphony Orchestra, Truman wrote him an abusive, off-color letter threatening to kick him below the belt.

PLAYS LOOSELY
Similar incidents of his undisciplined outbursts at implied or imaginary criticism of his "women" are legion, and he often of late plays loosely with the truth.

In recent times he has greatly puzzled his loyal friend and former secretary of state, Dean Acheson, it seems to have rankled Truman that President Eisenhower and Secretary John Foster Dulles rightfully received credit for ending the fighting in Korea.

Sometimes afterward, Truman scarcely told Acheson: "That's the same three terms we were offered, but we rejected them."

"No," Acheson amicably reminded, "they were the three terms we tried to get, but couldn't."

On his next trip to Washington,
Truman made the same boast to Acheson, and received the same quiet correction. Later he did it again.

He has similarly distorted historical facts about former Secretary Jimmy Byrnes, and others against whom he developed a grudge.

It is sad that a man who has served his country well in a time of great crisis cannot now relax and enjoy the late afternoon of his life without belligerence. His own wife Bess could show him how, if he would check his firearms and stop shooting from the hip.

'Hi-Infidelity'

For Husbands Only: Love Her, Tell Her

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

At last: Advice to the man who wants a wife who will treat him right and give him joy in the house that his jack built.

Tell her you love her! And often! You may sound like a broken record, but it's a record she'll never throw out. Till the day she grows too old to dream, she'll never take your love for granted.

You needn't always say it with words. Say it with the music of your actions and you'll start a song in her heart. Pretend, occasionally, that you're still courting her.

Surprise her with flowers, a night out, or some little gift she isn't expecting.

She wants to think of you as her lover, not her provider. Behave like her star boarder and she may react like your landlady!

Sneak up on her while she's ironing or stirring the soup and kiss her tenderly. The investment costs you nothing and you'll be surprised at the return.

KEEP HER WARM

Holding your wife's hand at a movie can do more for her morale than a milk coat—and keep her a lot warmer! Listen to her! Even if she's boring you stiff with drivel about the Ladies' Aid rummage sale, be a good audience.

ALLRIGHT!
ALLRIGHT!
I Love You!

She's spent her day on the shrill merry-go-round of women's and children's voices and now she needs your masculine attention. Don't snub her.

There's nothing more discouraging to a woman than to know that she's competing with the sports page—and losing!

—Be neat! Her smile will be brighter and her life will be longer if she doesn't have to follow a trail of your clothing from one end of the house to the other.

And when you shower and shave, remember that you're not in a Roman bath. Leave the premises the way you found them—tidy.

WHAT ABOUT WEEKENDS?

On weekends, do you sport a growth of beard that would make an Alsatian jealous? Do you wear a shirt and pants that would frighten the goldfish?

It's nice to relax—that's what a home is for. But you can relax just as comfortably in neat, clean clothes. Meanwhile, how are you fixed for blades?

Notice her! Know how it feels when you make a spectacular golf shot and your caddy or golf partner never says a word to you about it? That's the way a woman feels when her husband doesn't notice a new dress or hairdo—unappreciated and deflated. Same with a new recipe that she's cooked up hoping to tickle your taste buds.

Notice these things! Praise her for them! And this above all: remind her occasionally of how pretty she looks, especially when she's all dolled up for a night out. Don't ever let her think: "What's the use?"

DON'T . . .
... be domineering or unreasonable!
... belittle your wife's appearance, mannerisms or intelligence, especially before others!
... call a halt to an argument by refusing to discuss it!
... go to sleep without kissing her goodnight.

Couple Wed, Now at Home in Lansing

At home in Lansing following Saturday vows in the Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church are Roger Phelps and his bride, the former Kathryn Slade Randolph. Rev. Edmond Watkins performed the afternoon ceremony.

Attending the couple were Verena Beals, maid of honor, and Gary Phelps, who was best man for his brother.

Parents of the newlyweds are the Leonard Slades of Fourth Avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Phelps of Colon.

Out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Grace Lowther, the Keith Drakes and Constance Wright, all of Colon.

Myrna Howell Plans Wedding

A June 30 wedding is planned by Myrna Maxine Howell and Charles K. Cummings, son of Charles K. Cummings, son of Dearborn and the late Mr. Cummings.

She is the daughter of the Harry Howells of Hamburg, formerly of Pontiac.

Sorority Sets Luncheon

Zeta Chapter, Alpha Delta Kappa Sorority, met at the Square Lake Road home of Mrs. Alton Madden for the June meeting Thursday evening. Mrs. Elmer Thorpe was cohostess, with Mrs. Frances Sauer and Faye Donelson presiding at the refreshment table.

Margaret MacKenzie, president, announced committees for the coming year. Chairmen and their assistants include: Miss Donelson, program, assisted by Mrs. Mildred Bertelson and Mrs. Arthur O'Neill; Elizabeth Halsey, publicity, assisted by Mrs. Ruth Wright; and Mrs. Thorpe, pledge, with Mrs. Royal Exline.

What is Touchstone?
A finely cut and exquisitely polished stone that has been in the earth for 100 million years.

Why a Touchstone?
The Touchstone is probably the earliest known amulet; it helped ward off the "evil eye" (as the Hebrew thought of it), and softened the violent tongue of the heavens for the Greeks. It carried favor with the Gods of good fortune and so controlled luck and destiny.

Senate Rejects Silver for Post

Swainson Appointee to Hospital Body Turned Down, 21-6

LANSING (AP) — The appointment of Paul Silver, Detroit union official, to the State Hospital Advisory Council was rejected by the Senate yesterday by a 21-6 vote.

The vote was along party lines with six Democrats voting for the appointment recommended by Gov. Swainson. Two Democrats present, Sen. Patrick J. Doyle of Dearborn and Charles O. McManis of Houghton, did not vote.

Sen. John W. Fitzgerald, R-Grand Lodge, chairman of the Senate Business Committee, reported the appointment out without recommendation. "There are others who can better fill this job," Fitzgerald said of the appointment. "The job doesn't fit the man."

Fitzgerald said Silver had been involved in a number of breaches of the peace and in disturbing the peace. "This is his stock in trade," said Fitzgerald. "He is a very dedicated and militant unionist."

Sen. Paul C. Younger, R-Lansing, in speaking against the appointment, said Silver, president of Detroit UAW Local 351 "has followed a life of violence."

Younger said evidence given by state police at a Senate Business Committee hearing earlier this week showed Silver had once signed a petition to put the Communist party on the ballot in Michigan. "He did not deny this," Younger said.

Spelling Champs Say It Took Luck — That's L-U-C-K

WASHINGTON (AP) — The winners of the National Spelling Bee contest agree that luck, more than anything else, makes a champion speller.

"Most of the words I never heard of," admitted Michael Day, 14, of Joliet, Ill., who shares the 1962 title with tall brunette Nettie Crawford, 13, of Roswell, N.M. "It was pretty rough," Nettie thought.

Because most of the words were so difficult the two eighth graders waged what amounted to more of a guessing game in Thursday's final round of the 55th annual spelling bee. Their battle finally was declared a draw.

Nettie and Mike became champions by spelling correctly such tongue twisters as "ungulate," meaning having claws or nails, and "Monocotyledon," a botanical term referring to seed plants.

Too Many Children for Classroom

Catholics Differ on Shared School Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — Should Roman Catholic schools, under the pressure of heavy enrollments and the controversy about state and federal aid, work toward "shared time" partnership with public schools?

Two Catholic superintendents of schools debate the question in articles in the June issue of The Catholic Educator.

The Very Rev. Arthur T. McGrath, bishop of the Diocese of Providence, R.I., who favors the recently suggested plan, begins his discussion with a definition:

SHARED TIME — "Briefly stated, shared time means that a pupil in a church-sponsored school would receive part of his instruction in a neighborhood public school and part in the church-sponsored school."

Magr. McGrath and The Rt. Rev. Magr. Justin A. Driscoll, superintendent of schools of the archdiocese of Dubuque, Iowa, agree on the point that the optimum educational plan, in the Catholic viewpoint, is a full-time program in a church-affiliated school.

However, Magr. McGrath asks, "To how many children are Catholic schools available? With more than 25 per cent of the children born annually in the United States baptized Catholics, fewer than half of them can hope to attend Catholic elementary schools. Catholic secondary schools can accommodate still fewer. By 1970 only one out of every three Catholic children will be able to attend a Catholic school."

FREEZE TEACHERS — He sees shared time as a means of freeing Catholic teachers and classrooms during part of the day for the instruction of pupils who would otherwise receive no church-sponsored education.

Magr. McGrath also believes the Catholic pupil's education could improve qualitatively with shared time.

Magr. Driscoll, who opposes shared time, says, "I do not favor the shared time plan simply because I do not think it is sharing anything."

"About the only thing it shares, or establishes, is the fact that the child has a right to participate in part-time instruction of the public school, that the school can legally collect money for doing a half-time job, perhaps in the physical sciences and in the practical or manual arts."

Secondly, Magr. Driscoll objects because, he says, the shared time plan rests on "a false concept of the state's rights in education."

FALSE CONCEPT — "In my way of thinking, the shared time plan," he says, "is based on the erroneous idea that the child must be enrolled in a state school to become a participant in the distribution of the educational goods of the state."

And thirdly, Magr. Driscoll says, "I also find it difficult to fit this program into the Catholic viewpoint on education."

"The fundamental principle upon which Christian education is based must be observed in every aspect of the curriculum."

Board Reveals Intent to Expand at Jefferson

By DICK MANSON

Good credit rating is as important to local government as it is to individuals.

Oakland County's ability to borrow federal funds, is proving to be very good, according to R. J. Alexander, county public works director.

He pointed to the federal government's pledge to lend $2.5 million to bring Detroit water into Farmington Township's "dry area" as an indication of a good credit rating here.

The County Department of Public Works is acting as the agent in getting the water system built for the township.

AT 3 1/2 PER CENT — In pledging its support, the federal government has agreed to make the $2.5-million loan at a 3 1/2 per cent interest rate. If no private investor offers terms as low or nearly as low.

Township and county officials have expressed confidence that the proposed water system will bring further residential and industrial development into the area.

Construction of the system is scheduled to begin in September. It will serve 2,300 homes in the mainly residential area when completed and will have a potential to serve 4,500 homes, according to Township Supervisor Curtis Hall.

DFW Director Alexander returned to his office here yesterday after spending three days with area representatives in Washington discussing the county's plan for increased public utilities.

The rapidity with which these plans can be developed, and thus open new areas of the county for residential and industrial use, depends on how soon money can be borrowed, he said.

Alexander is hopeful that his recent talks in Washington will pave the way for more federal loans here in the near future.

NEEDS MILLIONS — Oakland County could use loans or grants totaling up to $106.7 million to speed public utility construction in the near future, Alexander said.

Among such projects, he said, are the Clinton River sewage disposal system to serve Northeastern Oakland County, including extensions of an existing system at Michigan State University.

The overall plan is to continue extending these services northward in the county, both east and west, to meet the needs of an expanding population.

A lot of the county's ability to borrow from the federal government depends on what the U. S. Senate does within the next few days to President Kennedy's request for $500 million for loans to local governments to encourage new public works construction across the nation.

The president's expressed purpose in seeking the money is to create new jobs. Critics have questioned the ability of the program to provide a permanent solution to unemployment.

The problem facing Oakland County officials is how to provide public utilities not only sufficient to meet present demands, but also extensive enough to allow for continued population growth and suburban and industrial development.

Residents and businessmen already in a community usually favor paying by special assessment for water, sewage and drainage to handle their own needs but leave it up to public officials to provide systems big enough for future growth and development.

Sometimes, as in the case of Farmington Township's "dry area," there aren't enough residents to pay for the needed service right now. Yet, with an adequate water supply, county planners feel certain the area will continue to develop because of its strategic location.

However, most private investors want assurance beforehand of the ability to pay back the loan. Those willing to lend the money generally require high interest rates to cover what they consider a high risk.

Great Lakes Liner Freed From Sand Bar — The Great Lakes liner SS South American which carried 50 Pontiac businessmen among her 230 passengers, was freed from a sand bar in upper Lake St. Clair at 1:15 a.m. today.

The ship ran aground at noon yesterday when it was en route to Detroit. The passengers disembarked by a small ferry to Algonac yesterday, after being marooned for about 24 hours.

When tug boats and a dredge finally freed the ship this morning, she immediately set a course for Bay City, where another Chamber of Commerce tour will begin this afternoon.

Backs Recommendations for College System — The Oakland County Board of Education last night pledged its support of the major recommendations for a countywide community college system put forth by the Oakland County Community College Advisory Council.

The pledge was given at last night's membership meeting of the council. The majority of 100 persons present in Birney School, Southfield, included county members, school superintendents, school board members, filed out questionnaires and a collecting ways in which they would help in a November ballot proposing the college system.

Pontiac Area Deaths

FRED H. BIXBY

Service and burial for Fred H. Bixby, one of Pontiac's first motorcycle policemen, will be in Bradenton, Fla., where he made his home at 2712 W. Center Road.

Mr. Bixby, 58, died of a stroke in a Bradenton hospital after an illness of several months.

He was a charter member of the Local Order of Moose in Pontiac and had been employed as a barber for many years.

Surviving besides his wife Nellie, are a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Earl of Pontiac; a son, Earl, of Lake Orion; a stepson, Harold Buchanan of Waterford Township; two grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

MRS. HARRY FAIR — Service for Mrs. Harry (Grace C.) Fair of 63 Norton Ave. will be at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Purvey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Fair, 79, who lived alone, died May 27 in her residence.

MRS. MARQUESS PEARODY — Service for Mrs. Marquess (Winifred) Pearody, 76, of 4180 Baldwin Ave. will be at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Hutton Funeral Home with burial following in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Pearody died of a stroke at her residence early yesterday morning after an extended illness.

H. HARRY PAULSON — H. Harry Paulson, 72, of 50 Wall St., died yesterday in Pontiac General Hospital after an illness of six weeks.

He had been an employee of Pontiac Motor Division and a member of First Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Paulson leaves his wife Mary; five daughters, Mrs. Roy (Clara) Paulson, Mrs. Roy (Alice) Paulson, Mrs. Roy (Evelyn) Paulson, Mrs. Roy (Marjorie) Paulson, Mrs. Roy (Betty) Paulson; and 19 grandchildren.

Mr. Paulson's body is at the Hutton Funeral Home.

PAUL JAMES CLARKE — AVON TOWNSHIP — Private graveside service for Paul James Clarke, two-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Clarke of 476 Walnut St., will be 3:30 p.m. tomorrow in Lakeside Cemetery, Holly.

The baby died unexpectedly yesterday in St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Pontiac. He is at Yorkville Siple Funeral Home, Pontiac.

Surviving besides his parents are three sisters, Jennifer A. Anne M. and Christine M., all at home; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Clarke Sr. of Holly and Mrs. O. L. Shaw of Southfield.

THOMAS F. HAZEL — LAPEER — Service for Thomas F. Hazel, 62, of 1316 N. Saginaw St., will be 2 p.m. Sunday at the Saint Funeral Home with burial in Stiles Cemetery.

Mr. Hazel died yesterday after a long illness. He was a life member of the Gantown, Ill., Chap. No. 336, F.E.M.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Kerline Kellogg of LaSalle, a husband, a sister and two grandchildren.

Save 2 Teen Brothers After Canoe Mishap — Two teenage brothers, whose canoe tipped over last night in Foster Lake, LaSalle, Ind., were picked up by the township fire department rescue boat. Other than being cold, neither suffered ill effects from the ordeal.

Michael Craven, 15, and his brother, Colin, 16, were fishing near the middle of the lake when the mishap occurred at 8 p.m.

Colin had a life preserver, but the boat failed to retrieve his fish trap pole, and the canoe tipped over.

T. H. Wilson, who owns the estate on the lake where the father of the two boys is caretaker, heard them calling for help and summoned the fire department. Wilson instructed the boys to cling to the boat until help arrived.

Fire department officials said that Colin, who has a cast on his right leg, probably would have drowned if he had not clung to the canoe.

Baby Smothers; Plastic Liner of Crib Blamed — A 6-month-old baby apparently suffocated in his crib in Pontiac yesterday when he got tangled in plastic mattress liner.

The victim, Stephen M. Brown of 181 W. Central Street, was pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital shortly after noon.

His mother, Mrs. Jacklyn Brown, 32, told police that she found her son under the plastic liner when she went into the bedroom to check him.

The baby apparently pulled the liner over his head, according to the police report.

Ex-UAW Chief Here Put on Union Board — Charles A. Beach, former president of United Auto Workers Local 653 at Pontiac Motor Division, has been elected to the executive board of the Michigan AFL-CIO.

Beach, of 239 Victory Drive, was one of 40 members named to the board at the Michigan AFL-CIO convention in Grand Rapids this week. The convention concluded yesterday.

The graduates, wearing their caps and gowns, will attend a body 12:30 p.m. Sunday. Following Mass they have lunch with their pastor, Fr. Frederick J. Delaney, at the rectory.

In the evening a candlelight ceremony will precede the commencement exercises. Assistant pastor, Rev. John L. Phelan, will then preside as the seniors to receive diplomas from Fr. Delaney.

The exercises will conclude with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Cross-light ceremonies honoring the graduates were held Thursday. The program began with a Junior-Senior banquet and concluded with a Mass at 7:30 p.m. in the church in honor of their departing classmates.

LAPEER — Service for Thomas F. Hazel, 62, of 1316 N. Saginaw St., will be 2 p.m. Sunday at the Saint Funeral Home with burial in Stiles Cemetery.

Mr. Hazel died yesterday after a long illness. He was a life member of the Gantown, Ill., Chap. No. 336, F.E.M.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Kerline Kellogg of LaSalle, a husband, a sister and two grandchildren.

Once in a while, Mrs. Weir receives a call from a bewildered person wondering if he might have left his discharge in the office.

Once, Mrs. Weir even tried to return one of the papers by mail, though she admitted she's not supposed to. She called the ex-soldier's address from the local phone book, sent the discharge out and several days later it bounced back with the notation: "Not at this address."

In most cases, that's the way it goes. Mrs. Weir said veterans are not living at their last known address and it's almost impossible to reach them — except, perhaps, through newspapers.

YOUR NAME HERE — Mrs. Weir hopes the following list does even better:

Robert Anthony Brock Jr., U.S. Army, 512 29 67.

Ex-soldiers: Let's Weir wants — Mrs. Weir, deputy county clerk, has a stack of 40 discharge papers abandoned by their owners in her office. She's trying to get rid of them.

The papers were originally sent to her by the county's official files. Owners were instructed to pick them up after three days.

One of them plunked his paper down on April 6, 1946. It's still waiting for his return.

Mrs. Weir hopes by publishing a list of the abandoned discharges she can get most of the documents back where they belong.

She figures forgetful owners will see their names, pick up the papers and Let's Weir be rid of her burden.

Discharges won't be piling up from now on, Mrs. Weir explained, because a new duplicating machine in the clerk's office allows them to be copied immediately, eliminating the three-day wait.

The documents are copied and filed free. A fee of $1 is charged if a veteran needs a copy for his file.

The last discharge to be abandoned was brought to the clerk's office March 29 or 30, presumably the owner can't be too far away.

But, judging from past experience, Mrs. Weir said that once a former soldier forgets he keeps right on forgetting. Most of the boys don't know where the discharges are.
