PCH Senior Wins Junior Miss Contest

Shock was the expression on Patricia Dell's face when she won the Pontiac's Junior Miss title Saturday. The 17-year-old blonde is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dell of 261 Draper. She earned the title in competition at Pontiac Northern High School.

Runner-up in the Pontiac Jaycee-sponsored contest was Johnnie Madar of 434 Second. Miss Madar, 17, performed a song and dance routine to music from Pajama Game for her talent performance. She is a senior at Pontiac Northern High School.

Miss Dell, who wants to be a professional dancer, did a song and dance routine to a medley of tunes from Oklahoma. The 5-foot-6 green-eyed girl is a senior at Pontiac Central High School. The 16-year dance student has taken tap, jazz and ballet lessons. A student at the Julie Adler School of Dance, she is also an apprentice teacher.

"I didn't expect to win," said Miss Dell who wants to go to college in California because she believes that there she can find better opportunities to dance professionally.

ACTIVE STUDENT

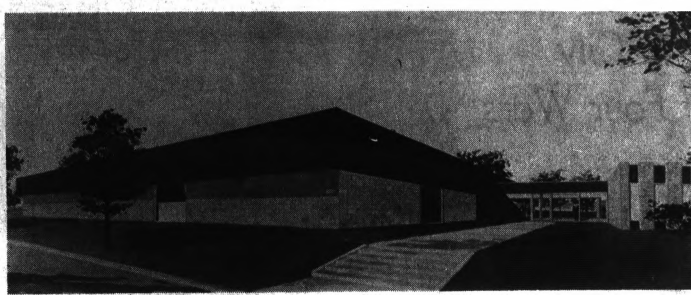

She is a member of her school and church choirs and of the Thespians.

As winner, Miss Dell receives $100 scholarships from both Matthews-Hargreaves Chevrolet and Pontiac Jaycee Auxiliary and a $50 scholarship from the Pontiac Jaycees. She also will receive several merchandise awards from local merchants. Most important, she has won the right to compete in the regional Junior Miss Pageant in Redford Township Dec. 15.

The final judging performance consisted of a youth fitness routine by the 15 contestants, individual talent performances, and a formal gown parade.

The girls are judged on their scholastic ability, individual interviews with the judges, poise and appearance, physical fitness and talent performances.

Nixon Meets With LBJ

Artist's Sketch Of Planned MCOM Building On Pontiac's East Side

President-Elect Eyes Viet Role

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (U-P) — Richard M. Nixon and President Johnson meet today in a White House conference that may determine whether the President-elect takes an active role before his inauguration in the search for a Vietnam peace.

President and Mrs. Johnson are hosts to present-elect and Mrs. Nixon at a luncheon.

MCOM Will Open Next Fall

Pontiac's projected osteopathic college is alive and well.

The Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine (MCOM) will enroll its first students next fall, it was announced today at a Lansing press conference.

A charter class of 16 students will be housed in a new 15,000-square-foot building to be constructed on the 164-acre site at Auburn and Opdyke on Pontiac's east side.

Known as "the staging building," ground breaking is scheduled Nov. 24 for the nation's sixth college of osteopathic medicine.

because it will be the initial phase of more elaborate facilities for a subsequent class of 64, the building will cost nearly $500,000, according to MCOM spokesmen.

$400,000 was obtained in a public subscription campaign.

At this morning's press conference in the Jack Tar Hotel, spokesmen detailed development of the college. The charter class will have 16 students with all applicants having earned a bachelor's degree at an accredited college or university.

In its final stages the college will have facilities for 128 students. Eventually, the college will train both doctors of osteopathy and auxiliary personnel.

The initial "staging building" will contain basic science laboratories as well as classrooms.

The college is being financed through several channels, including a $2,000 levy (Continued on Page A-2, Col. 2)

PRESS CONFERENCE

Plans for MCOM development were announced at a morning press conference which featured both college officials and national and state osteopathic leaders.

Main spokesmen for the college were John D. L'Hote, chairman of the college's board of trustees and Dr. Myron S. Magen, dean of the medical school.

Announcement of the opening date comes more than four years after the college was chartered by the state and Pontiac was selected as its projected home. The east side site was purchased and given to the college after nearly

11 Arrested, 8 Still Sought in Detroit Area Bombings

DETROIT (AP) — The arrest of 11 persons — including two girls — were announced today in connection with a number of recent bombings in the Detroit area, several of them aimed at police-owned cars.

Detroit Police Commissioner Johannes Spreen said investigators are seeking eight more youths in the bombings.

Those arrested, ranging in age from 18 to 24, were charged with "conspiracy to place explosives with intent to damage property." Conviction could bring a maximum sentence of 25 years in jail.

Those investigating the bombings included members of the FBI, the Detroit

Police Narcotics Bureau, the Detroit Police Special Investigation Bureau, Michigan State Police and several others in the metropolitan Detroit area.

19 WARRANTS

Spreen said that 19 warrants were issued over the weekend, and eight youths are still being sought, including two girls.

Recorders Court Judge Thomas Poindexter issued the warrants Saturday, and the arrests were made over the weekend.

One of the youths, Antoine Daghighy, 18, appeared before Poindexter yesterday and stood mute to the charge. He was jailed in lieu of $25,000 bond, and date for examination was set for Nov. 19.

Others arrested were David Joseph Valler, 24; Ronald Pierce, 18; John Schmittroth, 19; William Ladd, 20; Benjamin Parks, 20; Joseph Clever, 19; James Moscara, 18; Dietra Flowers, 20; and Sandra Rousseau, 21. All are from the Detroit area.

The conference with Johnson was expected to resolve the question of possible postelection travel abroad by Nixon.

One of President Johnson's key advisers, Walt W. Rostow, said in Washington yesterday that there are no serious divisions between the United States and Saigon concerning the Paris peace talks.

'CAN BE WORKED OUT'

"I have a feeling of confidence" that the breach caused by South Vietnam's refusal to send representatives to Paris can be worked out, Rostow said.

From Washington, Nixon was headed for New York where he will be conferring with top aides this week on formation of a new administration.

Some sources say it is likely he will name a budget director by the end of the week because the annual chore of fashioning a federal spending plan — to which Nixon will be largely committed — already is well under way.

Snow Is Predicted Through Tuesday

It's snow time in Oakland County as the weatherman predicts additional flurries and light snow today, tonight and tomorrow. The weekend snowfall in the Pontiac area measured one-quarter to one-half inch.

Variable winds at 5 to 15 miles per hour under a cloud-filled sky will accompany temperatures ranging from a 40-degree high to a 22-degree low.

Low thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 30. By 2 p.m. the mercury registered 42. Precipitation probabilities in per cent are today 50, tonight 60 and tomorrow 30.

Car-Train Collision

4 Killed at Crossing

A 27-year-old Avon Township woman and her three children were killed Saturday in a collision with a Grand Truck Western Railroad train at a Pontiac crossing.

In addition, a 75-year-old Rochester man died yesterday from injuries received when hit by a car in Avon Township Saturday.

Killed instantly about 2:40 p.m. were Mrs. Herman Krewson of 2417 Culbertson and her children, George, 9, Bruce, 8, and Laura Ann, 3, according to police.

Officers said Mrs. Krewson's car was southbound on Franklin Road when the train approached. They said a witness told them the car was traveling about 15 miles per hour and did not slow down when it entered the crossing area.

SIGNAL WAS WORKING

The road signal was working and both the train's warning whistle and bells were used, according to investigators.

Andrew P. Smith of 1762 Auburn, Rochester, died about 5:20 a.m. yesterday in Crittenton Hospital, Avon Township, as the result of an accident about 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said Smith was struck by a car driven by Orville Angel, 32, of 2940 Weaverton, Rochester, while crossing the street at Auburn and Eastern.

They are Ahmed Rager Namer, a naturalized American citizen who came to this country from Yemen 13 years ago, and his sons, Hussein, 20, and Abdo, 19.

Police gave no details of the alleged plot.

Investigators were checking whether the three might have had any association with Sirhan B. Sirhan, the Jordanian immigrant charged with assassinating Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Superschool Battle Goes On

By BOB WISLER

Controversy continues over the location of the Pontiac school district's planned super high school.

Factions within the school administration and on the school board are just about committed to putting the new 4,500-student high school on the grounds of Pontiac State Hospital.

But others, including influential business and civic leaders, believe that it would serve the city as a whole much better to put the high school on a 45-acre site adjacent to the downtown area.

The board of education plans to make a decision next Monday after the Pontiac Area Planning Council receives results of a study from David E. Lewis of Urban Design Associates, a nationally known Pittsburgh planning firm.

Drawbacks with the central city site will have to be weighed against the possible benefits.

While the talking and discussion continues, proponents of both sides are busy lining up evidence to support their claims.

One possibility being discussed is to take the decision to the voters.

Proponents of the hospital site emphasize that when voters approved the $25-million bond issue in March they were informed that Pontiac State Hospital would most likely be the site of the new school.

N. Viets Fire on Marine Posts From DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese gunners fired artillery and rockets from inside the demilitarized zone at U.S. Marine positions yesterday, a military spokesman said today. It was the first enemy attack from within the buffer zone since President Johnson halted the bombing of North Vietnam and indicated he expected a reciprocal suspension of attacks from the DMZ.

The spokesman said at least four Leathernecks were killed and 41 were wounded in five attacks on three Marine positions just south of the DMZ. Marine planes and artillery struck back.

Marine aerial observers and ground troops spotted two of the North Vietnamese gun emplacements, both of them in the southern half of the DMZ.

Marine aircraft and artillery destroyed one firing position and 10 bunkers three miles west of Con Thien and half a mile north of the southern boundary of the zone, a spokesman said. Heavy artillery fired on the other position, five miles west of Con Thien and one mile inside the DMZ, but it was not known if it was destroyed, said the spokesman.

One of the enemy attacks was against the Con Thien outpost, three miles west of Con Thien and half a mile north of the southern boundary of the DMZ, and one was against another Leatherneck unit four miles southeast of the outpost. The enemy used 75mm artillery and 122mm rockets, the spokesman said.

When President Johnson halted the bombing on Nov. 1 to get the peace talks in Paris moving, he warned: "We cannot have productive talks in an atmosphere where the cities are being shelled and the demilitarized zone is being abused."

Although the Vietcong have shelled a number of South Vietnamese cities since the bombing halt went into effect, one of Johnson's chief war policy advisers, Walt W. Rostow, yesterday, minimized these because they have been far smaller than previous shelling of Saigon.

"We have not made an agreement to have a cease-fire," he said. "We are not asking the other side totally to stand down."

S. VIET TOWNS SHELLED

Besides the attacks on the Marine

posts, military spokesmen reported four South Vietnamese towns and three other military installations shelled yesterday with four civilians killed and 18 persons wounded.

Only light ground fighting was reported, but U.S. B52 bombers struck on three sides of Saigon late yesterday and early today in the campaign to ward off another offensive against the capital.

American troops reported killing 23 of the enemy yesterday in two clashes nine and 50 miles north of Saigon.

Birmingham Cluster-Home Law Updating May Hit Snag

BIRMINGHAM — A recent change in state legislation may cause a delay in the adoption of proposed amendments to the city's cluster housing ordinance.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning has recommended that the City Commission ask for a report from City Attorney Dean G. Beier on the legislation before it amends the ordinance.

The administration and planning board, Kenning said, had believed "that in a cluster development, the owner could not sell any portion of his development."

Sale of the entire parcel, he continued, was believed necessary.

MAY BE NULLIFIED

However, the restriction may have been nullified by the new legislation, Kenning said.

The planning board had proposed two amendments to the cluster housing ordinance.

The first, which would exclude access drive areas from density computations in cluster housing, is designed to ease the burden a cluster development normally places on existing streets and utilities.

"... Since the street access can be a part of the total land area (in a cluster development)," the board reported, "a slightly higher density can be achieved."

SMALLER LOTS

Consequently, the report added, a cluster development can be placed on much smaller lots than the residential lots surrounding it.

The second amendment, also aimed at increasing cluster lot sizes, would require approval of neighboring owners for a development with small lots.

If the cluster plan called for lots averaging 20 per cent smaller than those surrounding, the approval of 60 per cent of property owners within 500 feet would be necessary.

A hearing on the necessity for the expansion of municipal parking lot 2A, at Oakland and Fernside, is scheduled for the commission's 8 p.m. meeting tonight.

Wreath-Laying in City Honors Vets of Four Wars

At 11 a.m. today to mark Veterans Day, a wreath was placed before the bronze soldier guarding City Hall.

The wreath is in honor of the service of veterans of past wars and of the 50th anniversary of the end of World War I.

Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. has called upon Pontiac citizens and business firms to display the American flag "as a reaffirmation of our national unity and a rededication of our support to our nation in her defense of the cause of freedom."

Veterans Day was formerly known as Armistice Day, which originated in 1918 to celebrate the end of hostilities in World War I. In 1954 the name was changed to Veterans' Day, by the 83rd Congress, to include honoring the servicemen who fought in World War II and Korea. Today, Vietnam veterans are included.

An areawide celebration of Veterans' Day in Detroit yesterday.

The 50th annual reunion of the World War I members of the 32nd (Red Arrow) Division also was held yesterday at the Cook-Nelson Post. Leading the meeting were officers Louis Cheal of 791 Kline, Oakland Township; Ralph Carr of 284 Voorhees, treasurer; and William Merritt of 1227 Bamford, Waterford Township, secretary.

The Red Arrow division was under fire for six months in 1918 with only a 10-day break. It fought on five fronts in three major offensives.

Cook-Nelson Post is named in honor of Capt. James Cook and Lt. Elmer B. Nelson of Company A, who were killed in action in France in 1918.

Ray's Lawyer Switch May Stall Trial Till '69

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A switch in lawyers just two days before James Earl Ray was to stand trial on charges of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. raised doubts as to whether the trial will be held this year.

Ray took action yesterday to drop Arthur J. Hanes, a former Birmingham, Ala., mayor, as his lawyer and retain famed defense attorney Percy Foreman of Texas.

Foreman, whose clients have included Jack Ruby and heiress Candace Mossler, said he would go before Criminal Court Judge W. Preston Battle at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow — the time Ray's trial is scheduled to begin — and request a continuance.

When told earlier yesterday of rumors of the impending switch, Battle said he would grant a delay "if Ray retains Foreman and if he asks" for a postponement.

FURTHER STATE AID

Further state support is also expected. College spokesmen characterized MCOM chances for such aid as favorable.

The most recent development toward state support was the approval by the State Board of Education of a report by an advisory committee that a fourth medical school might be osteopathic.

The Citizens Committee on Education for Health Care recommended that "consideration should be given to its (the fourth school) being an osteopathic college."

Hanoi Again Hits Worst Defeat in Four Years Seen for Red China U.N. Bid

PARIS (UPI) — North Vietnam today poured fresh abuse on South Vietnam's boycott of expanded war talks. The United States planned logic and reason to get Saigon to the conference table.

The diplomatic action centered on Saigon's refusal to take part in the Paris talks involving the United States, South Vietnam, North Vietnam and the Vietcong's political arm, the National Liberation Front (NLF).

U. S. delegation sources said roving ambassador W. Averell Harriman planned to meet soon with Pham Dang Lam, the South Vietnamese envoy who returned Sunday from Saigon.

Lam told newsmen he had no orders to join the expanded talks. The talks were to have opened 12 days ago but the Saigon boycott has blocked the start.

Hanoi radio sounded North Vietnam's latest blast against South Vietnam's conditions for ending the boycott. Saigon has said the Vietcong must be only a part of the Hanoi delegation and the United States should take a back seat, leaving the main confrontation to North and South Vietnam. "Ridiculous," said Hanoi radio.

The North Vietnamese have insisted that their arrangement with the United States calls for all four parties to have equal status at the table.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Nationalist China's supporters at the United Nations predicted today that the annual resolution to seat Red China will suffer its worst defeat in four years.

They estimated that the vote against it would be 60-44 compared to last year's 58-45. The proposal has lost strength annually since 1965, when it eked out a 47-47 tie.

Cambodian Ambassador Huot Sambath introduced the resolution today for a five-day debate in the assembly. Foreign Minister Wei Tao-Ming of Nationalist China was scheduled to speak second, against the proposal.

The resolution seeks to oust Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists from the United Nations and open the door to Communist delegates from Peking as the only lawful representatives of China.

SPONSORSHIP

Its sponsors are three Communist countries — Albania, Cuba and Romania — and 12 nonaligned nations: Algeria, Cambodia, The Congo (Brazzaville), Guinea, Mali, Mauritania, Pakistan, Southern Yemen, Sudan, Syria, Tanzania and Zambia.

A resolution also is pending to have the assembly reaffirm 1961, 1965, 1966 and 1967 decisions that a two-thirds vote will be required to seat Red China.

This resolution is sponsored by the United States, Australia, New Zealand, Bolivia, Brazil, Colombia, Nicaragua, Gabon, the Malagasy Republic, Togo, Japan, the Philippines and Thailand.

Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg, Iceland and Chile planned to submit another proposal for appointment of a U.N. committee to study the China-seating question and report back next fall.

"Their resolution said the United Nations' peace-keeping ability would be strengthened by a solution with the aim of universality and 'the existing situation and the practical realities of the area.'"

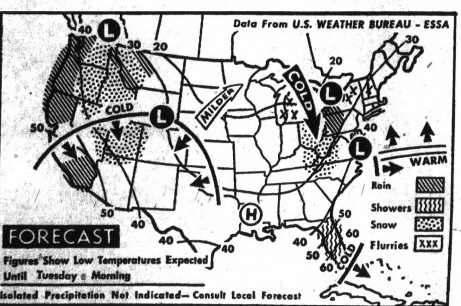

Such a study committee could sound out the Chinese Communists and Nationalists on a two-China solution—having them both in the assembly and allowing China's Security Council seat to one or the other.

An Italian spokesman said the committee "would at some point have to send a mission to try to approach Peking" and find out what the Communists wanted.

"If there is going to be a solution, we think it would have to be some kind of two-China solution," he said.

Superschool Controversy Continues

definite site was needed in order to convince the voters. "We felt we couldn't sell generalities," he said.

Some board members feel that Webster and the FSC went far beyond school board direction in definitely fixing the site.

One contends that Webster was told not to put an exact location to the new school site.

MAJOR ARGUMENT

One of the big arguments in private circles is whether the school board does indeed have a commitment to the voters to build on the hospital grounds.

The bonding proposition which was voted on did not say where the school would be built, only that funds would be used, among other things, "to erect, furnish and equip a new senior high school building."

If the board does have a commitment to the voters, as has been stated, the question is: which voters? And how would the voters react to a choice between the hospital grounds and a central city site?

NOT EVERYONE VOTED

It should be noted that only 19 per cent—or 6,861 voters of the school district's registered voters voted in the combined millage increase—bonding proposition election.

Only property owners were allowed to vote on the bonding proposition.

The millage proposal passed by 351 votes, 3,488—3,137.

The millage proposal lost most heavily in the northwestern precincts, much of the area which would be served by the new high school.

BIG MARGINS

It won most heavily in the southwest and western sections, the area now being served by the ancient and overcrowded Pontiac Central High School, which will be replaced by the new high school.

The proposition's biggest margin came in the Sylvan Lake area, where Webster the FSC chairman, lives. This area gave a 367-vote margin for the millage proposal and can mostly be credited with pulling the proposition through.

Here is a run-down by precincts:

Quake Linked to Silt Deposit

CHICAGO (AP) — An expert usually shake up a wider area. The center said the more stationary crust of the earth east of the mountains seem to send the West Coast.

The Rev. Donald Roll, director of geological studies at Loyola University, said Sunday, "It's quite possible that the tons of silt deposited by the great river systems at the mouth of the Mississippi triggered a sea-saw effect on the vast continental blocks beneath the earth's crust."

"The weight of the silt depressed one end of the block and tipped up the other," Father Roll said. However, he said, he doubts that there will be any follow-up tremors.

SAFETY VALUE

"I expect none whatsoever," Father Roll said. "We have nothing to worry about. That was a kind of safety valve. The pressure which had built up has been released."

Saturday's quake, centered in Alton in Southern Illinois, 120 miles east of St. Louis, measured 5.5 on the 10-point Richter Scale, just less than the damage point of 6, according to the National Earthquake Center in Washington.

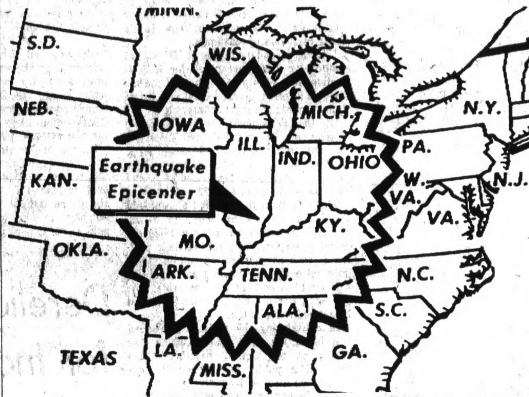

The Richter reading of the quake that devastated Alaska in 1964 was 8.5. States that felt the quake were Illinois, Arkansas, Minnesota, Ohio, Tennessee, Missouri, Kansas, Georgia, Kentucky, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Indiana, Nebraska, Iowa, Alabama, Mississippi, Wisconsin, Michigan, South Dakota, Pennsylvania, and Oklahoma.

Shortly after 11 a.m., when the quake struck, hundreds of terrified people began calling police, fire departments, news papers and radio stations. In some cases people rushed into the streets.

No serious damage or injuries were reported, although the quake swayed numerous buildings.

The persons were hurt slightly in southern Illinois. A chimney brick fell on one and a bottle fell off a shelf and hit the other.

The National Earthquake Center said the rare earthquake that occur east of the Rockies EARTHQUAKE AREA — The approximate area of the Midwest affected by Saturday's earthquake is located within the dark black lines. The epicenter was at Alton, Ill., about 120 miles east of St. Louis.

In addition to books, the exhibition also includes plates and color proofs from some of the editions, original sketches by Picasso and other artist friends of the publisher, and photographs of Skira and his staff at work.

Several Major Items Face Outgoing County Board

By ED BLUNDEN

The current Oakland County Board of Supervisors has several items of major significance to decide tomorrow in its dying moments of existence.

Up for consideration is a $25,833,778 budget for 1969 plus plans for a $6.4-million new county jail. Another matter that could prove controversial is a list of appointments to major county jobs.

Of the 17 supervisors now on the board, only 11 survived last Tuesday's election. Under reappointment ordered by the courts, the board of supervisors has been completely revamped on a one-man, one-vote basis with 27 districts.

The results of the election also placed Democrats in the majority, 15 to 12. Though the supervisors were allegedly nonpartisan formerly, getting their positions without having to name their political party, after Jan. 1 party politics will doubtless play a larger role. The current board was considered Republican-dominated.

In considering the budget, the board will be acting on a matter which was tabled at the Oct. 7 meeting which featured a public hearing on the expenditures marked by many protests.

The budget subsequently has been reviewed by various committees, but no real changes were made. The budget figures, which include salary increases that range from 10 per cent up, so far remain the same.

The new jail, though not on the posted agenda, can be expected to be acted upon soon. Up for approval are final plans and specifications which will enable county officials to issue contracts. Construction could start within weeks if the supervisors clear the item.

Up for reappointment are several key positions including that of chairman of the board of auditors. That post, now held by Daniel T. Murphy, has a salary slated at $31,500 for the year 1969. Murphy is up for a one-year appointment. Others up for reappointment include a $12,000-a-year road commissioner. The six-year job is held by the present road commission chairman, Frazer Slamen.

Also up for reappointment on the recommendation of supervisors' Chairman Delos Hamlin are such positions as dog warden, a board of health member, assistant auditor, parks and recreation commission (two members), a building authority member, civil defense director, etc.

Whether the Democrats will feel that some of these positions should be patronage jobs for loyal party members is a question which could come up at the meeting. The board probably will meet at least once more in December before becoming defunct in its present form.

Derelict Houses Problem for Independence Sector

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Some 10 to 15 tagged houses (the tags meaning they are unsuitable for residence) are proving a nuisance and possible danger to residents of the Woodhull Lake Subdivision.

And it appears that not much can be done about it except continued police surveillance.

The subdivision, a former summer community of the 1920s, lies in Independence Township, and while cities have such privileges, building inspector William Cobb says that no authority is accorded townships to tear down condemned houses.

All the township can do is tag them and have Detroit Edison turn the power off to help insure that no one lives in them until they are brought up to specifications.

Meantime, neighbors say that children are playing in the abandoned houses and that someone is sure to get hurt eventually.

The situation is improving by degrees, according to Township Supervisor Duane Hursfall, who reports three or four of the tagged homes torn down each year for the last five years.

"What normally happens," Cobb said, "is that new homes are built in such an area and they tend to upgrade their surroundings. This has happened in other areas of the township," he noted.

"The trouble with Woodhull Lake Subdivision is that there is no room for new construction and the reconverted summer cottages there just continue to deteriorate," he said.

Islands Post to Foe of U.S. Bases on Okinawa

By SHIN HIGASHI
Associated Press Writer
NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Chobyo Yara, who campaigned on a platform calling for elimination of U.S. bases on Okinawa, was elected chief executive of the U.S.-administered Ryukyu Islands Sunday.

Yara, a veteran educator who was supported by the Socialists and two other opposition parties, said immediate removal of the bases, which are vital to the U.S. war effort in Vietnam, would harm Okinawa's economy, and reversion of the islands to Japan should be accomplished gradually to permit the public to adjust.

It was the first election of a chief executive by popular vote. In the past, the executive was chosen by the elected legislative assembly and approved by the U.S. commissioner of the territory.

DOESN'T CHANGE

The election does not change the governmental system of Okinawa. Yara will serve under the U.S. commissioner, at present Lt. Gen. Ferdinand T. Unger, and will handle only administrative affairs, including certain matters referred to him by the legislative assembly. Unger retains a veto over legislative action.

Unger assured Yara of continued U.S. support in the development of Okinawa's economy and its welfare programs.

Yara was backed by three parties, the Okinawa Socialist Mass party, the Okinawa chapter of the Japanese Socialist party and the Okinawa People's party, an affiliate of the Japanese Communist party.

Complete unofficial results gave Yara 233,273 votes, or 53.4 per cent of the 436,840 valid votes. His chief opponent, Junji Nishime, 47, president of the previously ruling Okinawa Democratic party and one of Yara's former students, had 203,373 votes, while independent candidate Takehiko Nosoko, 46, had 194 votes.

MAJORITY OF TWO

Despite Yara's win, the Democrats elected 17 members to the legislative assembly, giving them a majority of two in the 32-member house. They had 18 seats in the old assembly.

Yara said he is not anti-American and does not believe he should be considered anti-American for "voicing the desires and aspirations of the people of Okinawa for their return to Japan."

"I want to thank the American people for teaching us democracy, and I believe they will be deeply impressed by the results of the election," he said.

Interpreting his victory as a demand for "full scale and unconditional reversion of the Ryukyus to Japan," Yara said he would set up a committee to study steps to bring about the reversion. He urged Okinawans to rely less on the U.S. bases for their livelihood and to strive for an "economy of peace."

NO TARGET DATE

Yara, president of the Okinawa Teachers Association, set no target date for the elimination of U.S. bases. Despite growing demands for Okinawa's return to Japan, officials doubt it will be considered until the U.S.-Japan defense pact is renegotiated in 1970. Officials said efforts would be made to bring more and more Okinawans into the government and reduce U.S. involvement in the interim.

U.S. military authorities fear that if full Japanese sovereignty would be brought to Okinawa now, it would bring the most important U.S. military base in the western Pacific under the terms of the U.S.-Japan Security Treaty, which can be terminated after 1970 upon one year's notice.

Okina was a vital advance base during the Korean War and is today a major supply and maintenance center for the Vietnam conflict. Nuclear weapons are also stockpiled there, 350 miles from the Chinese mainland.

It Seems to Me . . .

Logic Dictates Pontiac Area as Site for New Stadium

With our election over, the United States is turning to more strictly local problems. We face a whole host of important matters in Michigan and one of them is certainly the proposed athletic stadium.

Several sites have been mentioned but three stand out as leaders in the race for recognition. The one that occupies the bottom rung is the Detroit River. This is hard to consider seriously, save that the Mayor of Detroit is behind it and is struggling mightily to advance the cause of this location. Perhaps through a mistaken sense of loyalty he seeks to bolster a current civic mess. But the matter transcends local boundaries.

It's statewide. And I say this in spite of the fact Jerome Cavanagh is a good friend of mine.

Here's a location which absolutely prohibits entrance or egress on 180 degrees of the circle. Half of the approaches are lost through the presence of water. This would appeal mightily to those who intend to reach the games by raft, canoe or skin diving. But after these 18 spectators have been duly seated, the other 74,982 would form a mass formation. Further, this location is about as inaccessible to the eight and a half million citizens of Michigan as you could devise if you set out deliberately to inconvenience everyone. How about Belle Isle?

The Fairgrounds are infinitely better. First this will ultimately be approachable from all sides and it is several miles nearer the centers of population.

However, since Alfred R. Glancy Jr. sponsored the Fairgrounds, an ever better location has been proposed in Oakland County. Here we have a beautiful spot at the junctions of I-75 and M-59 with a natural stadium site. It's accessible far beyond either of the others to several million more users. The three largest counties in Michigan are Wayne, Oakland and Macomb. This location is almost in the heart of the most populous area. Further, immediately adjacent on the north is Genesee County with Flint and environs; and just beyond Flint are Saginaw, Bay City and Midland, another populous area with easy accessibility. The Oakland County location is more available for the entire State with the exception of a very few less populated areas to the southwest.

People in general haven't had a chance to evaluate the Oakland County location. But it's the best. And it's available.

Whatever spot is selected will require tax funds from the State of Michigan which is an added reason for the Oakland location. More Michigan people who pay the costs will find their investment accessible and something they can enjoy more easily. The Detroit Mayor's fear that the baseball team would have to be known as the "Pontiac Tigers" is groundless and stands as the laugh he meant it to be. Of course, if his own site were ever adopted, a letter in the Voice of the People suggested: "The Tigers might be called the River Rats."

Governor GEORGE ROMNEY should rally to the Oakland cause through the logical facts, which support Oakland County. The Fairgrounds can present a "free location" as the acres are owned by the State. But the total cost has become so great that unfortunately the proportionate saving becomes less consequential.

The current "Tiger Stadium" stands out dismally as one of the worst in America. It ranks along with the White Sox ball park as the dregs of athletic enclosures. The stadium itself is obsolete with hundreds of posts. It creaks and groans with age. The exits and entrances are meant for attendances of a few thousand and when football or a world series utilizes the entire capacity, it's a pretty sorry "home" for splendid Michigan teams. Probably no stadium anywhere is in a worse location. "Parking" is a complete farce. The current deal is hopeless.

Let's move.
Let's become modern.
Let's adjourn to Oakland County.

attention. Senator Griffin tells Mr. Fox he is reporting the matter to a special Commission named by the President.

Mr. Fox, don't hold your breath. Close your eyes for now. Indecency prevails today. Ultimately, President-elect Nixon will get into this rapidly increasing filth, indecency and dirt.

And In Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Pal to a hippie friend who is carrying a cigar box: "Are you starting to smoke cigars?" The hippie: "Nope. I'm moving." This will flabbergast you for sure: the major U.S. airlines spent $236.7 million to feed their domestic and international passengers. And they invested $166 million in advertising. Three cheers — on both counts. United led the way.

I'm positively intrigued by the name of that star Pennsylvania quarterback: BERNIE ZBISZENJ. Scouts advise me that Marlene Bush deserves mention as one of the area's attractive young ladies

There'll be a few more Monday night pro football games in 1969 and a whole series in 1970. CBS has the inside track. . . . Broadway shows are very, very costly ventures and speculations. Just four of these have closed this fall with the total loss touching $1.3 million dollars. . . . American businesses are suffering sufficiently from foreign competition and lower prices to

WORKS

He Had His Chance!

David Lawrence Says:

Congress Swings to the Right

WASHINGTON — One of the strangest things that can happen in a national election occurred last week when a Republican won the presidency and neither the Republican nor Democratic party found itself sure of a permanent majority in Congress.

LAWRENCE

Although 218 seats in the House of Representatives, for instance, constitute a numerical majority and 243 Democrats won last Tuesday, the points of view and philosophies of many of the men elected do not assure that their votes will always be cast for their own party except perhaps on matters of a routine nature and the selection of committee chairmen.

It seems certain, however, that on most of the controversial issues a conservative majority will control each house of Congress.

This conclusion can be drawn from an examination of the way Democrats were elected in states that were carried by Nixon and also the manner in which Republicans were elected in states carried by Humphrey and Wallace.

MORE CONSERVATIVE

In southern states, moreover, several Democrats were elected to Congress who were considered more conservative even than their Republican opponents and were, in a few cases, helped by money from Nixon supporters.

In other states, some incumbent Democrats had already, by their votes in Congress, established conservative records and were preferred by Republican voters.

If the 29 Democrats and six Republicans elected in the Wallace states are added to the Republican total of 186 derived from the states that

Humphrey and Nixon carried, this makes 221, which is three more than is necessary for a majority.

Also, all of the 39 Democrats elected in the southern and border states which Nixon carried cannot be regarded as opposed to Nixon's policies. In fact, a large number of them will doubtless be found voting for the Republican president's recommendations.

MORE VOTES

This would add 20 or 30 more votes to the 221 total given above, making it possible for 241 to 251 votes to be recorded in favor of various proposals of the Nixon administration.

So far as the Senate is concerned, there are 18 Democratic senators from the Southern and border states carried by Nixon or Wallace who, if they voted with the 42 Republicans in the new Senate, would give Republican pieces of legislation a 60 to 40 majority.

Not all of these 18 Democrats might do so, but a comfortable margin for the passage of bills urged by the Nixon administration is to be expected.

Bob Considine Says:

Long-Time Republican Has Political Memories

NEW YORK — People . . . places . . . politics . . .

Among President-elect Nixon's most devoted champions during the long night and early morning of the election cliff-hanger was one of his law partners, a gentleman with the magnificent name of Goldwater Higginson Dorr.

CONSIDINE

Dorr is 92. His only concession to his remarkable years is a cane, which he used as sparingly during the long vigil of the election as he did the various chairs that were offered to him. Dorr graduated from Harvard in 1897, served in the Spanish-American War, obtained his law degree from Columbia in 1904.

He has been a vigorous practicing attorney in New York since then.

HERO BEATEN

"I remember my father reproving my older sister for supporting Gen. Hancock over Garfield in 1880," the tall, erect gentleman recalled. "When I was 8 I took a great dislike to Grover Cleveland and prayed he'd die before he took office. He had beaten my hero, James G. Blaine of Maine."

"I attended a big rally at the old, old Madison Square Garden for Benjamin Harrison in 1888. We were trying to get the Irish-American vote for him. He beat Cleveland, you know. Well, I dropped out of the 1892 race. I had other things to do — but I was active in 1896 when McKinley ran against William Jennings Bryan."

"I was shocked by McKinley's assassination in Buffalo, but comforted by the fact that Teddy Roosevelt would follow him. I had met Teddy in 1895 when he was New York police commissioner and I was writing a history of Tammany."

Goldwater Higginson Dorr suddenly stopped talking, ending his memoirs with nearly seven decades to go.

"I don't wish for personal publicity," he said. "The only time I ever really had any was when I was making an economic survey of the Turkish economy at the request of Kemal Ataturk. A Turkish paper printed a large picture of me. The reason, I found out later, was that I looked just like Buffalo Bill."

On Sept. 19, we addressed an open letter to Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon, pointing out that the collective bargaining process has broken down; that strikes by public employees are becoming commonplace; and that the twin monopolies of big industry and big labor now dominate the free enterprise system and jeopardize its survival.

The open letter offered a twofold solution: first, a national system of labor courts to prevent strikes in vital industries; second, a national system of economic boards to establish fair wages and prices where the public welfare is at stake or whenever monopoly practices remove wage-price movements from marketplace control.

Together, the courts and boards would end the economic blackmail employed against the American consumer by both management and labor.

In reply, Vice President Humphrey stated that the American people cannot afford to do away with the right

'Do We Have Right to Protect Property?'

Now that we have heard all the speeches for law and order and everyone is concerned about crime in our streets, let's notice one of the contributing factors in our own town. What has happened to a property owner who dared to feel he had a right to protect his own property? The people who might like to stand up for Mr. Tripp better let it be known. Evidently some are taking a dim view of what he did for his own protection, but perhaps other property owners like myself would rather see the young hoodlums face charges. More young people need to be taught the value of property and I still feel we have a right to defend that property in any way necessary. I'd like to be a friend in time of need for the Tripps.

Question and Answer

Since The Pontiac Press seems to be the only one interested in legality of the City income tax, can you get me some information? Is it unreasonable for signers of the petition for referendum vote to be granted a proper hearing? Is the right of a referendum vote dead in Pontiac?

TAXPAYER

REPLY

We talked with City Attorney Birnkran, who says all provisions for the income tax are governed by State law, and legality of the tax is not under question in court. He says the only question before Court of Appeals deals solely with whether or not Circuit Court was correct in not permitting intervention by an individual claiming to have an interest in the case. According to the City Attorney, the balance of all pleadings were filed last August and included in the filing was a request for hearing and early determination. Should the Circuit Court ruling be reversed and the reversal upheld by Michigan Supreme Court, the previously filed referendum petition might again become an issue in court.

Question and Answer

All property has been equalized, bringing everyone's taxes up double and triple. Who got the increase—state, county or township?

MRS. H. F. W. OXFORD

REPLY

All three. The increased taxes are distributed to local, county and state government units in the same proportion now as they were before the equalization.

In reply, Vice President Humphrey stated that the American people cannot afford to do away with the right

Nixon answered: "In my judgment, the best answer does not lie in compulsory arbitration until we have given collective bargaining a real chance to function under an administration committed to responsible fiscal policies and true neutralization in these encounters."

All this wordage simply adds up to the fact that the labor court-economic board proposals are too hot a potato for either man to handle. Neither wants to jeopardize the support of labor or the votes of labor.

Neither, possibly, wants to alienate monopoly business interests that provide financial support for presidential and other campaigns. Both would prefer to rock along with the present, outmoded and ineffective system of collective bargaining.

NATO Assembly Meets, Prompted by Czech Crisis

BRUSSELS (AP) — Fifty years after the end of World War I, the North Atlantic alliance opens a week of meetings today to show it can meet the challenge of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia and help prevent World War III.

The first sessions are those of the Atlantic Assembly, which brings U.S. congressmen together with parliamentarians of their 14 allies.

Its meetings are taking place, not at the headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization but at the Palais des Congres in downtown Brussels.

The assembly, which can only make studies, debate them and issue reports, serves as a sounding board today for Manlio Bro-sio, secretary general of NATO, and on Tuesday for Gen. Lyan L. Lemnitzer, its supreme commander in Europe.

Both were expected to point out the Soviet threat from Czechoslovakia, where Russian troops are now manning a border where they have not been since the end of World War II.

At the same time, NATO governments are determined to keep trying for improved relations with the Soviets.

Bro-sio and Lemnitzer also were expected to urge member governments to increase their defense efforts, or at least not to reduce them. Both feel the events in Czechoslovakia have strengthened their arguments.

On Thursday, Cabinet ministers will begin meeting behind closed doors at NATO's headquarters in the Brussels suburb of Evere. U.S. Defense Secretary Clark Clifford will confer with ministers of defense from 12 other countries.

No French representatives will attend because President Charles de Gaulle has pulled France out of NATO's integrated defense planning. Iceland too will not be represented. It has no defense force.

There also will be a session of chiefs of staff Thursday.

On Friday and Saturday, Secretary of State Dean Rusk will have his last meetings with the foreign ministers of all 14 allies.

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler, and most of the other defense and finance ministers will attend.

Through permanent representatives in Brussels, a majority of the member countries have informally pledged improvements in their armed forces. If the foreign ministers back these up with formal promises, their governments may find themselves spending billions of dollars more on defense over the next five years.

The meetings of ministers are held every spring and just before Christmas, but members advanced the date to show how and manpower levels.

Judges Want O'Hara for Appeals Vacancy

LANSING (AP) — A number of judges are suggesting a "swap" in jobs between Thomas H. Kavanagh, newly elected to the Michigan Supreme Court, and defeated Justice Michael O'Hara of the high court.

Their theme is that O'Hara, after six years on the Supreme Court, would be an ideal appointee to the State Court of Appeals judgeship which Kavanagh will vacate when he moves to the state's top court.

Chief Judge T. John Lesinski of the Appeals Court said he would ask Gov. George Romney to appoint O'Hara to the state's second highest judicial body.

"We regard Justice O'Hara as a top-flight legal mind," Lesinski said. "His experience would be of great value to our court at this time."

TERM ENDS DEC. 31

O'Hara's term on the Supreme Court expires Dec. 31. His judgeship pays $40,000 a year.

Kavanagh, whose term would expire Jan. 1, 1975, receives $32,500 a year. Any appointment to his seat would hold until the next general election.

Although elections for both courts technically are nonpartisan, Kavanagh is a Democrat and O'Hara is a Republican.

Lesinski, a Democrat, said O'Hara "would be a tremendous asset" to his court.

Judge John H. Gillis of the Appeals Court also joined those urging appointment of O'Hara, saying, "Judicial talent like his is precious and should not be lost to this state. I think you will find judges outside of this court also will agree."

Judge Timothy C. Quinn of the Appeals Court said appointment of O'Hara "would be a tremendous service to the court and to the people of the state."

A similar endorsement came from O'Hara election opponent Kavanagh.

Calling O'Hara a "jurist of remarkable talent," Kavanagh said "talent like his should be saved to the state."

ADDITIONAL PRAISE

A number of other Appeals Court judges also praised O'Hara, and there was no apparent opposition within the court to such an appointment.

The amount of publicly indicated support for O'Hara from the judges was unusual, perhaps unprecedented, in such circumstances in Michigan.

The vacancy created by Kavanagh's victory in last Tuesday's election is in the Second District of the Appeals Court.

O'Hara maintains residences in Menominee and Lansing, and the latter is located within the Second District.

A Day Dedicated To World Peace 1918 - Veterans Day - 1968

Fifty years have passed since the original Armistice Day or Veterans Day (as it is now called) . . . fifty years and many more since the day in 1918 when "the war to end all wars" ended. We commemorate the anniversary of this day with the belief that peace will prevail and wars will end, with the hope for mutual understanding between nations and good will among all peoples, and with a sincere tribute to those who have valiantly fought for our country.

50 Years Ago Today

'Great War' Was Over

NEW YORK (AP) — World War I, once called "The war to end war," ended in an armistice 50 years ago today.

When the shooting stopped, there lay dead by U.S. War Department count, more than 8.5 million soldiers, including 125,000 Americans.

Estimates of the over-all toll of armed men and civilians, either in battle or as a result of it, ranged up to 13 million.

France had lost 1 in 28 of its population, Germany 1 in 32, Britain 1 in 57.

EMPIRES DESTROYED

Destroyed were the German, Austro-Hungarian, Russian and Ottoman empires. In Russia, communism had emerged as a force to be reckoned with. And America, long isolated from the international mainstream, had joined the world's great powers. Until World War II, the conflict was known as "The Great War."

Yet when it began on July 29, 1914, with the Austrian invasion of Serbia, the German-led Central Powers had expected easy victory in a matter of weeks.

Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm assured departing troops in August 1914 that they would be home "before the leaves have fallen."

4 YEARS, 105 DAYS

But it was 4 years, 105 days after the Serbian invasion when Germany, beaten back largely by fresh American troops—and beset by civil revolution and naval mutiny, asked for an armistice. The armistice was signed at 5 a.m. Nov. 11, 1918, in the private railway car of French Marshal Ferdinand Foch, the allied commander in chief, in the Forest of Compiègne. It was effective on the fighting fronts six hours later.

All told, more than 65 million armed men from some 30 nations had been drawn into the struggle.

The war was a strange combination of old techniques and new. Horse-drawn supply wagons and mobile guns mingled with motorized transport in the fighting areas.

The Germans bombed London and eastern England from Zeppelin dirigibles filled with highly inflammable hydrogen until the British introduced explosive antiaircraft bullets.

At the outset, the flimsy military planes of the time were used mainly for front-line reconnaissance. Pilots fired at enemy pilots with pistols and rifles. Aerial evolution was quick. The planes were turned into effective warcraft by the installation of machine guns, and the development of bombers, notably the German Gotha, soon followed. In the September 1914 battle of the Marne, the French rushed 6,000 troops to the front in Paris taxicabs.

The Germans pioneered the use of poison gas in the second battle of Ypres in April and May 1915.

The British invented tanks, which made a first appearance on the Somme in September 1916.

The Germans built a monstrous gun with a range of 75 miles—eventually nicknamed "Big Bertha" after a Krupp family daughter—and on March 23, 1918, began shelling Paris from afar.

Military commanders clung stubbornly to the tactics of the past.

SUICIDE MARCHES
Elite guard outfits marched into enemy rifle and machine-gun fire in parade ground formation and were mowed down to the last man.

Not until 1918 did commanders finally realize that horse cavalry charges against dug-in machine gunners were suicidal.

By the spring of 1917 the fighting, which for years had surged back and forth in a series of inconclusive offensives and counter-offensives, had bogged down in bloody deadlock in the trenches of the Western Front.

Both sides were exhausted. Many of the weary French army units were on the verge of mutiny. Then the United States entered the war.

SUBMARINE WARFARE
America already had broken off relations with the German government because of its announcement at the start of 1917 that it would carry out unrestricted submarine warfare.

The snapping point came in March when Washington intercepted a telegram from Arthur Zimmerman, the German foreign secretary, to the Mexican government.

The telegram offered Mexico the states of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico as a bribe to join Germany and Japan in an attack on the United States.

President Woodrow Wilson issued a proclamation of war on April 7, declaring: "The world must be made safe for democracy."

Life Itself Isn't Always Just and Fair

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Dear Mrs. Post: I have two daughters in junior high school and two stepdaughters in the same grades. Several times classmates of theirs have given parties and invited only one girl of their same age. This has caused such heartbreak on the part of the girl left out that I am thinking of not letting the invited one accept the invitation. I feel that it is rude to invite one girl and leave the other out. Am I correct? — Mrs. M. P.

Dear Mrs. P.: Don't penalize one girl. Life isn't always exactly fair, and the girls must learn to face that even though it hurts. Another time the tables will be turned, and the one who is invited would not want to have to refuse then. Try to arrange something special for the girl who was left out. You would set a bad precedent by not letting the other one accept.

RECEPTION

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be inappropriate for the parents of the groom to arrange for the wedding reception to be held at their country club? — Mrs. Wade.

Dear Mrs. Wade: The groom's family may certainly do so just as any other friends of the bride might do. However, the bride's parents should still be the ones who pay the expenses and act as hosts — and it is their name which appears on the invitations.

Luci, Lyn Fly to Reunion With Pat

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Luci Johnson Nugent and her 16-month-old son Lyn were in San Francisco over the weekend on the way to Hawaii for a reunion with her husband, Airman 1.C. Patrick Nugent.

President Johnson's youngest daughter arrived Saturday night by commercial airliner and was driven to see Melinda Bates, whose husband was killed in a Navy jet trainer crash last September while he was stationed at Lemoore, Calif.

Luci was a bridesmaid at the wedding of Lt. J.g. Leroy Bates and Melinda

Wall Street Strolls

Is Modesty Virtue of the Past?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you have been reading about the "floor show" on Wall street which has been attracting such large crowds, mostly men. Abby, what on earth has happened to the great old fashioned virtue called "modesty"? If one of those big-bosomed exhibitionists were to be attacked by a sex-crazed man, who would bear the blame?

I am not writing this out of jealousy, because I happen to be —

DEAR "39": I, too, disapprove of such exhibitionism, but I would hope that under the circumstances, the milk of human kindness would prevail.

DEAR ABBY: I do a lot of entertaining in my home. I recently invited a very attractive couple over for dinner, and they became acquainted with another nice couple with whom my husband and I have been friendly for some years.

These two couples now go out together in the evenings, and my husband and I are not included. I understand that these two women have been meeting frequently for lunch, also.

Should I cool my relationship with these people? I don't feel nearly as

She'll Continue Her Job

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — For Rose Mary Woods, the first appointment of President-elect Richard M. Nixon's new administration means one thing: She is going to keep doing what she has been doing for 17 years.

Nixon announced Sunday that Miss Woods will be his personal secretary. That was no surprise. She has held the post since 1951.

KNOWS THEM ALL

Her years with Nixon have made her an expert on politics. She knows most of the nation's political leaders by face or by name and is acquainted with most of the newsmen who write about politics.

She is intensely loyal to the man she calls "the Boss." And Nixon relies heavily on her expertise in politics and government.

In any lineup of the aides important to the President-elect, Miss Woods would have to be included.

When Nixon returned to California in 1960, Miss Woods moved there too. A year later, the Los Angeles Times named her its "woman of the year." It was the first time that title had been conferred on a secretary.

Appropriately, she was honorary chairman of "Secretaries for Nixon" during the campaign just ended.

Miss Woods came originally from Sebring, Ohio, and now lives in New York City. She is in her forties.

Miss Woods lists her hobbies as reading, dancing and music.

Her brother, Joseph Woods, is a Republican leader in Illinois and now is sheriff of Cook County.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Albert A. Shirley is having a few old friends in for lunch at her new Bloomfield Hills apartment. Among them are Mrs. Fern Gunkel of Detroit, Mrs. Cooksey and Mrs. Frederick Fisk of Birmingham.

Mrs. and Mrs. Louis Deak Jr. of Bloomfield Hills recently went to the Highland Park High School reunion, held for all grads up to and including 1933. Mrs. Deak saw people she hasn't had sight of for ages, including old friends Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Barnard of Whitlir, Calif., who flew in just for the occasion.

Three hundred Highland Park grads showed up for the get-together, held at Ali Baba restaurant in Highland Park, whose owners also happen to be alumni.

Holiday Prices Set for Families

Families of no more than five immediate members may attend the opening night performance of Meadow Brook Theatre's "The Magistrate" with the purchase of two full-price tickets.

This is a Thanksgiving Day special arrangement for the "joyous and innocent" farce by Pinero which is ideally suited for family entertainment.

The plot revolves around a young widow who marries an older Magistrate who believes that she and her son by a former marriage are five years younger than they actually are.

Sub-plots, mistaken identities and displaced justice add to the fun in a period setting of 1885.

The family plan is offered for this performance only. The curtain will rise at 8:15 p.m. "The Magistrate" will continue through Dec. 29.

Tickets are on sale at all Hudson's stores, or by calling the Meadow Brook Theatre.

Sunday Concert Set by University Alumni

A special concert, sponsored by the University of Detroit Alumni Association, will be performed by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Valter Poole, in Ford Auditorium Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Singers Lois Hunt and Earl Wrightson will perform favorite music from the American theater.

Tickets are available at Hudson's, Grinnell's and the Ford Auditorium Box Office.

The newlyweds joined guests for a reception at the Forest Lake Country Club before departing for a honeymoon trip to New York.

Women Work at Lumbering

PINEHURST, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Fred Allen would rather be out in the woods cutting logs with her husband than home cooking, and that is exactly what she does.

Both Mrs. Allen and their daughter, Phoebe, 16, are assistants in the family lumbering enterprise. The family has a trailer and lives in the woods where they are working during the summer months.

The two women, both skilled loggers, put cables around the logs and hook the cable to the tractor; they cut knots off the log with a chain saw and then buck the log into saw mill lengths. Mrs. Allen uses her spare time to cut and deliver firewood.

Demonstration Teaches Women About Football

CHENANGO FORKS, N. Y. (AP) — In simple sentences and slow-motion action, coaches and football players explained the game to an audience of women at Chenango Forks High School's second annual Ladies Football Night.

Football coaches Jerry Taylor and Dick Russ explained basic terms and tactics and players demonstrated various formations to would-be female fans.

The "playing field" was the auditorium stage. Some of the simplified explanations: "A block is the way we move people so that we can run the ball better." Defense is the position you play when the other team has the ball; "The other team cannot score when you have the ball."

MRS. E. W. CONVERSE

Couple Feted at K. of C. Hall Reception

A reception at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Lake Orion, feted newlyweds, the Elroy William Converse (nee Christine Elizabeth Bushman) Saturday.

The daughter of the Chester L. Bushmans of Indian Lake Road, Orion Township and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Converse of Oxford were wed earlier that afternoon in St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

Carrying a cascade of white pom poms on a muff, the bride wore an A-line gown of brocade. Malibu fur and crystal accents highlighted her attire worn with a matching fur pillbox.

ATTENDANTS: Maria Vermiglio and Raymond Converse served as honor attendants with Peggy Ann Bushman as flower girl and David Kaiser as ring bearer.

Other members of the wedding party were Patricia, Joan and William Bushman, Mrs. Robert Christner, Mrs. Gary Forrester, Mrs. Richard Irwin, Richard Feldman, Randy Jeans and David Schlicht.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in San Francisco where Airman Converse is stationed aboard the United States Naval carrier, the USS Enterprise.

Seventh Avenue Sets Girl Watching Pace

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pants for day and evening gals marching right on into spring. The trousered look for women is now basic fashion; it is no longer a gimmick, no longer draws stares.

Now that the matter of who wears the pants both sexes is settled, let's get on to other things that make news in the new collections of clothes that Seventh Avenue manufacturers are showing the nation's store buyers.

The clothes will begin to appear in the stores by December and January.

First, there's a wonderfully feminine look to the new clothes. They're closer to the figure, waistlines hug waists again, and the ruffle of spring will be heard through the land if Oscar de la Renta has his way.

This designer sets forth a gypsy or Spanish theme with more ruffles around than you'll find in a flamenco dancer's wardrobe.

Oregon's New Senator Is an Articulate Politician

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — "When I announced I was running in February, 10 per cent of the people in Oregon knew me by name," says Robert Packwood.

Today he's better known. He received 405,974 votes to 402,035 for the Democratic incumbent, Wayne Morse, in Tuesday's election and in January Packwood will take office as the youngest U.S. senator.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., also is 36, but he was born Feb. 22, 1932, and Packwood wasn't born until Sept. 11 of that year.

Packwood comes from the same Kennedy-Charles Percy-Mark Hatfield mold. He looks like the All-American boy: slender, regular features, creased brow.

COMPLETELY POLITICAL
The dark-haired Republican also is articulate, highly organized, and a completely political man.

"You comment to him or his wife that it's a nice day," said someone not friendly to Packwood, "and they will say, 'Yes, it would be a good day to hold the election.'"

His great grandfather was a member of the Oregon Constitutional Convention held in 1857. His late father was an attorney. The senator-elect and his wife George have a son, William, 2.

STUDENT LEADER
Packwood was president of his social fraternity, Beta Theta Pi, at Willamette University in Salem, where he was graduated in 1964, and was president of the student body at the New York University Law School, where he received his law degree in 1967.

He became a significant force in Oregon politics in 1964. With Howell Appling, who led Richard M. Nixon's successful campaign in Oregon in 1968, Packwood recruited and trained political novices who ran for the state House of Representatives. The Oregon House was the only legislative chamber in the nation to switch in 1964 from Democratic to Republican.

Later Packwood organized a series of annual Republican conferences which wrote the state party platform.

But Packwood had never run a statewide campaign until the May primary, in which he was unopposed. Most people thought he was running to gain name

"The primary didn't solve the name familiarity problem," says Packwood. "I don't think we really turned the corner until about August. It's something you sense. After that, I could talk more about issues, and people would connect me and the issues."

Most observers thought Morse would beat Packwood, until their televised debate before the City Club in Portland on October 25.

At that time Packwood used the classic tactic of turning his opponent's words on him.

Morse opened his remarks by saying he could exert great influence and power for Oregon because of his 24 years of Senate seniority.

Said Packwood later in the debate:

14 years to a quote from Sen. Morse: "Never confuse seniority with ability because when you go to the mat, ability will win every time. When you've got a chance to replace an incumbent U.S. senator, even if he is a committee chairman, with a dynamic young legislative leader, take that opportunity."

"That's when he was supporting Dick Neuberger against Guy Cordon."

The Guessing Game:

How much would you save on a new car if you saw your credit union first?

Look at the price sticker on the car you are buying. It lists the base price, the extras, license, sales tax. What it doesn't list is the cost of financing — and that's where you start guessing.

Let's say you're offered financing "at just $4.50 per hundred." Is that 4 1/2 per cent? Wrong. It's actually almost 9 per cent true annual interest. Of course, not everyone can qualify even for 9 per cent. It applies only to new cars, depends on the down payment, etc. If you're buying a used car, you can pay 18 to 34 per cent. All this can add up to hundreds of dollars in interest rates — and boost the price of your car.

How do you beat the guessing game? DON'T GUESS. See your credit union first. They'll be glad to explain the mysteries of interest rates. They'll tell you in one lump sum how much your financing will cost . . . and give you rock-bottom rates on a loan as well. It pays to be a credit union family.

Contact the CU where you work — or the one in your parish or neighborhood — or write Michigan Credit Union League, P. O. Box 5210, Detroit, Michigan 48235.

U. N.'s Man of Many Tongues Knows 66 Languages

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Most people who learn a second language consider it quite a feat, but there is a man at the United Nations who knows 66 of them.

"This does not include dialects, of course," said Georges Schmidt, 53-year-old specialist in the U.N. translation department.

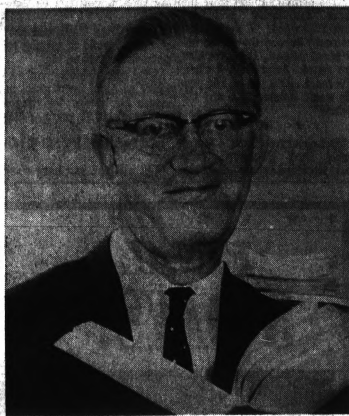

"For example, I have studied about 15 Arabic dialects, but I count them as only one language."

Schmidt, who works in a small office cluttered with bales of documents and shelves of books in about 80 tongues, has the look of a born scholar. His eyes light up as he recalls the dozens of languages he has acquired in school and in his travels to 83 countries.

INTERESTED IN PEOPLE

"I have made a hobby of linguistics because I am interested in people," said Schmidt, who became intrigued by languages at the age of 10. "The best way to study people is to learn the tongue they speak."

Most U.N. translators work in two and occasionally three of the official U.N. languages besides their mother tongue. Schmidt works in all five plus various others as a terminologist, or expert on new words and hard-to-find terms.

Georges Schmidt—Linguist Extraordinaire contest and became a linguist to reckon with.

STILL FASCINATED

Proceeding to Paris to study for the foreign service with hopes of becoming a consul, Schmidt enrolled at the Sorbonne. Languages still fascinated him, however, and he also entered the prestigious School of Oriental Languages.

Before his student days were over, Schmidt had acquired a fairly thorough knowledge of Spanish, Russian, Chinese, Arabic, Turkish, Persian, Urdu, Malay, Japanese, Czech, Polish, Serbo-Croat and Hungarian.

In 1937-38, he served his military duty in Lebanon and Syria and pursued his study of the languages of the Middle East.

After France fell in World War II, Schmidt enrolled at Strasbourg University in Clermont-Ferrand. By this time his linguistic accomplishments could be listed by groups, including Romance languages, Germanic, Slavic, Semitic, Iranian, Indo-Aryan, Turkic and Finno-Ugrian.

CIRCLES GLOBE

Two years in a German concentration camp slowed up his studies, but after the war, Schmidt joined the infant United Nations and made two trips around the world while with the Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East. As he went from country to country, he broadened his knowledge of the native tongues.

"I had done some traveling before the war, such as trips to Hungary and Morocco," he said. "and now I began making trips during my vacations. They included four trips to Africa and travels through Latin America."

In the course of his travels, he learned languages in other groups such as Basque, Celtic, Latvian-Lithuanian, Laotian, Thai, Vietnamese and a tongue of Peru and Bolivia known as Quechua.

"Learning languages becomes easier as you acquire through grounding in the various groupings," said Schmidt, who lives with his wife in a New York apartment surrounded by about 3,000 books.

He has been a member of the U.N. translation section 22 years.

What is the most difficult language to learn? Schmidt thought for a moment, then observed: "I would say Japanese, unless of course you first learned Chinese. Both languages have about 8,000 characters, a different character for every word."

It's easy, too. Just dial "1", then the Area Code, if it's different from your own, and the number you want. For an idea of how much you can save, here's an example. A 3-minute Person-to-Person call between Detroit and Cincinnati costs $1.30 at the day rate. Dial direct and the cost is only 85¢.

All About Switches at the White House

BY DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Even before all of the votes were counted, last week, machinery was being set up to arrange an orderly transition from the Johnson to the Nixon administration.

Advance planning of this type is necessary to prevent awkward situations from arising when the White House changes occupants.

If you ever bought or sold a house, you know the sort of thing that can happen.

The Nixons might find a pair of Johnson's socks under the bed. Or Johnson might forget to tell Nixon where he put the key to the washroom. Or Nixon might start to use the "hot line" and be unable to find the Kremlin's telephone number.

SOME CHANGES

Nixon, of course, was around during the Eisenhower administration. But two other presidents have inhabited the premises since then, and things have changed somewhat.

Before he leaves office, Johnson probably will invite Nixon to drop by for an orientation tour. I imagine it will go something like this:

"And that's how you work the thermostat. Now over here on this wall are the light switches. I had a lot of trouble training my staff to use them."

"Yes, I heard about that, Mr. President. Is there any advice you can offer me about how to deal with the problem?"

"You might try going down in the basement and pulling the fuse. I'll show you the fuse box on your way out. If you leave 'em working by candlelight a couple of times, they'll begin to get the message."

'DON'T TOUCH THAT'

"Thank you. I'll remember that. What is this little thing here?"

"Vibes! Don't touch that! That's the Armageddon button."

"I'm glad to know where it is. What's in this box over here?"

"That's where I keep my recipe for barbecue sauce."

"I hope and pray I will never have occasion to use either one. Is there anything else I will need to know?"

"I think that about covers it. I have sent a change-of-address card to the post office, but some of my mail probably will be delivered here. You can forward it to me at the ranch."

"I'll do that. And I certainly do appreciate your cooperation in arranging this orderly transition. By the way, what is the status of the Paris peace talks?"

"We hope the preliminary discussions will lead to serious negotiations with the North Vietnamese. If they are successful, we may then be able to negotiate with the South Vietnamese."

Gun Dealers Face More Paper Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's gun dealers face even more paperwork when selling firearms and ammunition after Dec. 16 than Congress called for in the Gun Control Act of 1968.

The statute, as it passed Congress, requires that dealers record the name, age and address of every purchaser of a gun or ammunition.

The Internal Revenue Service, charged with enforcing the law, says in proposed regulations issued this week that the information is enough for ammunition purchasers, but not for buyers of weapons.

When selling a gun, storekeepers must also record place of birth, height, weight and race.

LITTLE LAWYERING
 The proposed regulations will go into effect with the law Dec. 16 unless the IRS changes them.

The dealers also will occasionally have to do a little over-the-counter lawyering.

The new law prohibits selling a weapon to a person from another state, unless it's an adjoining state.

Even then the sale is permissible only if the dealer knows a similar sale back in the buyer's home town would not be against the laws of his state or a county or municipal ordinance.

To guide them through this legal thicket, IRS will furnish every licensed dealer with an IRS-produced book that is touted as an encyclopedia of every weapons law and ordinance in the country. Estimated thickness: 200 pages.

The Conestoga wagon is well known but some others that closely resembled it are the "Chattanooga," "Carson" and the "Studebaker" wagons.

GOP's Net Gain: 3 Houses

State Legislatures Altered Little

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans took control of an independent will decide the lineup.

... ..

Democrats countered by winning the lower houses of Michigan, Pennsylvania and Alaska. The over-all shifts in legislative balloting were far less volatile than two years ago, when Republicans gained 19 chambers and Democrats only 1.

IN 81 CHAMBERS

Elections were held for some or all seats in 81 of the nation's 99 legislative chambers.

Democrats now control both houses in 20 states and Republicans hold both in 21. Control is divided in seven states. Nebraska has a nonpartisan one-house legislature and the Tennessee situation remains to be resolved.

... ..

The relative stand-pat attitude of the voters followed the trends of near-even balloting in the presidential election and the few turnovers in races for the U.S. House of Representatives.

From the national standpoint, the shift in the California state assembly held perhaps the greatest interest.

'Healer' Dr. Tony Is in Custody

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Anthony Agapao, the young faith healer who claims he can perform miracles, was in FBI custody here today, charged with defrauding seriously ill Detroit area residents of $72,000.

But the Filipino sticks by his claims he can heal through faith.

"I go into a trance and I heal that way," he said. "I am only an instrument of holy power."

The short, portly faith healer denied any intent to defraud. He said that although he calls himself "Dr. Tony," he is not actually a physician but a "reverend."

Agapao "treated" his patients by praying over them and making "bloodless incisions" on their bodies with his hands.

NO CURES SEEN

"Subsequent medical examination by private physicians disclosed that the cures promised were not effected," said FBI agent Paul Stoddard in Detroit, where the charges were pressed by U.S. Atty. Robert J. Grace.

The federal complaint officially charged Agapao with interstate transportation of stolen property by taking $72,000 from Detroit area banks and depositing the money in a Toronto, Canada, bank.

Agents said, however, that the treatment in the Philippines charges were very broad and the offense probably could be better described as interstate transportation of money gained through false pretenses.

Stoddard, special agent in charge of the FBI's Detroit office, said the faith healer's activities were investigated for more than a year.

"MIRACLE" TRIP

"A number of greater Detroit area residents contributed travel funds on representations made by Agapao that he could cure certain ailments," Stoddard said.

The "miracle" trip, headed by John Ruffner, Wyandotte, took place Oct. 2, 1967, with the treatment in the Philippines lasting about two weeks.

Upon their return to the United States, a few pilgrims claimed to be cured, but many said they felt no better.

Holdups Force Bus Changes

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—City bus drivers no longer will carry change boxes and riders must present the exact fare to board beginning today, the bus company management announced.

Officials said the drivers of 17 city buses were robbed last weekend and one driver was robbed twice.

SCENE OF EXPLOSION—Firemen in Mankato, Minn., battle flames after an explosion shattered a house early yesterday. The resulting fire spread to two adjacent homes. Two persons were hospitalized. Police theorized that the blast may have been caused by a gas leak.

Investigators Seeking Cause

Blast Rips Minnesota Home

MANKATO, Minn. (AP)—Investigators sought today to determine the cause of an explosion which shattered a two-story home, set two adjacent dwellings afire and sent eight persons to hospitals.

No one was injured seriously. Two of those taken to hospitals had to remain.

The force of the explosion early Sunday broke windows as far away as downtown Mankato, about eight blocks from the scene.

Les Manecke, 57, owner of a

"All of a sudden I was on the ground," said Miss Huse, 18. "It was like it was being pushed but nobody was touching me."

She said her first impression was that everything in the Peterson house "was in a heap."

OUT OF CITY

The dwelling where the explosion occurred was that of the Julius Petersons, who were out of the city. The house was demolished, with only the chimney left standing.

Sharon Huse, a student at Mankato State College, was walking nearby when the Peterson house exploded.

Slim Frisco House Has Slim Chance to Be Built

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The house Fred Maffei wants to put up on his lot on Telegraph Hill sounds reasonable enough—concrete, steel, wood, glass, the usual.

But Maffei, a building contractor who bought the lot for $600 at a tax sale in 1965, is running into trouble.

For one thing the lot, 68 feet long, is 8 feet wide.

Maffei says he has spent $4,500 on engineering plans, revisions, drawings and appeals, and that he has four prospective buyers willing to make it worth his while to put up the house at an estimated cost of around $40,000.

EASEMENT CITED

He and designer Jun Hatoyama came up with a two-story layout 51 feet long and—yes—8 feet wide.

But the Telegraph Hill Dwellers Association—cited an easement granted for the street—La Ferrara Terrace, which is 16 feet wide. The easement grants passage across Maffei's lot so that neighbors can get into their garages.

So he and Hatoyama drew plans for a one-story house on stilts with an elevator to lift the occupant's car into a second-story garage, so the neighbors could drive under it to get into their own garages.

The neighbors still objected and said so to the city zoning

GAS LEAK?

Police theorized the blast may have been caused by a gas leak. Miss Huse said the house suddenly was engulfed in flames, "and it spread to the houses next door."

One of the adjacent houses was occupied by Mrs. Turnette Oches. The other was a rooming house, in which about a dozen male college students had quarters. Firemen said the two dwellings were nearly destroyed.

CORE, the Congress of Racial Equality, was founded between 1942 and 1943.

Correction

An Oct. 28 news article in The Pontiac Press incorrectly listed Mrs. Eugene Phagan, 40, of 137 W. Columbia as an "escapee" of the Pontiac State Hospital.

Little Change Likely as State Awaits Official Vote Result

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's voters will learn officially on Nov. 25 just what they did in most of last Tuesday's balloting, and how the state will vote for president won't be known for sure until Dec. 16.

But the unofficial vote totals reported in this newspaper last Wednesday probably will deviate checked over and certified by a State Elections Director Bernard Apol, add up the votes in each of their precincts for various races and report the county totals to the state.

The state board then adds up the county totals, looks them over for obvious irregularities, and certifies the totals for the entire state.

The state board also certifies the results of judicial races, and congressional and legislative contests in districts which cross county lines.

After the results of a race are certified, a losing candidate has a right to petition for a recount of the votes in any precinct he names. That will cost him $5 per precinct in most cases—but if the recount proves him a winner, he gets his money back.

PETITION CONGRESS
Congressional candidates petition directly to Congress for recounts, and would-be legislators to the chamber to which they sought election.

The presidential election procedure, though, doesn't stop there.

After it's officially determined which party drew the most presidential votes in Michigan, its slate of 21 presidential electors will meet in Lansing Dec. 16 and cast Michigan's 21 votes for president.

Oddly enough, although Vice President Hubert Humphrey's name was on every ballot in Michigan as the Democratic candidate for president, the 21 electors whom the voters chose when they thought they were voting for Humphrey aren't required to vote for him.

NOT BOUND
Under the U.S. Constitution, presidential electors are not bound to the nominees of their party. Some states bind them by law, but Michigan does not.

In each state next Dec. 16, presidential electors will meet at the seat of government and cast their votes, which will then be sealed and sent to Washington for the official national tally Jan. 6.

Only when that is completed will Americans know with absolute certainty the identity of their president-elect.

Electors seldom desert their party to cast ballots for someone other than the nominee. But he might not. One of the state's Democratic electors — Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy, who lost the Democratic Zolton Ferency — has refused to say whether he will vote for Humphrey or not.

Ferency was a supporter of state's Democratic electors — Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy, who lost the Democratic Zolton Ferency — has refused to say whether he will vote for Humphrey or not.

Noted for Shillelaghs

He Carves Out a Living

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Charles Payne may have flunked his woodworking course in high school, but as an adult he has become a master wood carver.

His creations, intricately carved shillelaghs from broken-off tree limbs, have been presented to public figures such as Mayor Louie Welch of Houston.

He started making them as a hobby but now they are selling as both walking sticks for men and women and as pieces of art.

His first attempt at making an artistic walking stick came only a few months ago when he had a sore toe and looked for a tree limb to aid him in walking. He got out his old carving set and was amazed at the result.

Payne carves wood to resemble a heavy piece of twisted rope, a giant corkscrew, a snake or a piece of modern wood sculpture. A stick, which is carved from one piece, takes an average of 18 hours to complete. A heavily detailed one may take 30 hours.

Boater Drowns

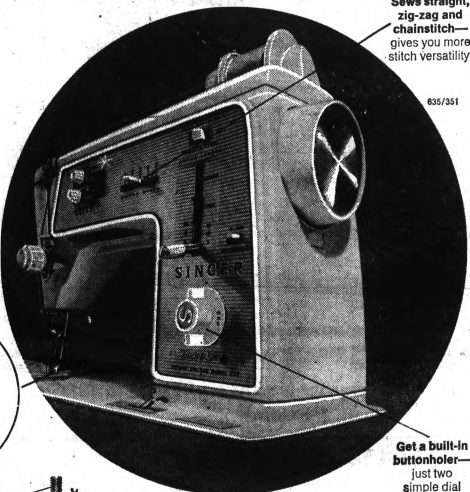

ST. CLAIR (AP) — James H. McClure, 40, of Fair Haven, drowned Sunday in the St. Clair River after being thrown from his boat when it hit a channel marker. State Police of a 13-year-old son also was thrown overboard with McClure but was able to get back in the boat.

Detroit Center Working to Prevent Suicides

DETROIT (AP) — Three to five times a day — perhaps in the middle of the night — a special Detroit telephone rings, the call from someone contemplating suicide or suddenly desperately afraid he will die.

The telephone (313: 875-5466) is the office of the recently established Detroit Suicide Prevention Center, an agency of the Detroit Psychiatric Institute, in turn a division of the city Department of Health.

Operating around the clock, the center has been busy since opening Friday and had calls even earlier. That is no surprise to the center's director, Bruce L. Danto, a doctor in the psychiatric clinic. "I have a good impression of how many depressed people there are," Danto said.

He estimated the center will have about 1,000 calls a year. Some 80 per cent of the calls so far have been from outside Detroit.

285 RECORDED DEATHS

Wayne County had 285 deaths last year that were recorded as suicides. More so-called accidental deaths likely were suicides, also, authorities say, perhaps as many as 600 or 1,000.

Of attempted suicides, about 20 per cent are by youths under 19 years of age, troubled by love, school and parent, authorities find.

Volunteers who staff the prevention center are unpaid, Danto said, chosen "for their obvious maturity and absolute conviction that life is worth living."

Often, they tell their desperate callers: "Your reason for living is that I want you to live. Let's work it out."

Japan's Example Hailed

NEW DELHI (U) — Japan is the finest example for India to learn from, two Indian leaders said here recently.

Reason: Japan's revolutionary technological advancement while preserving its ancient heritage.

Jaya Prakash Narayan, a respected nonparty leader, was giving newsmen his impressions after a visit to nine countries, including Japan.

"I found Japan is the country that can teach us the most," he said. He was amazed at the way "the Japanese have retained their cultural identity while assimilating the best in others."

Praise also came from the state minister in foreign ministry, B. R. Bhagat. He was speaking at a farewell dinner to the retiring Japanese envoy, Yujiro Iseki.

Bhagat called it a "miracle" that the Japanese should have advanced so fast without losing their cultural heritage. "India should take its lessons from Japan," he said.

Michigan Moves Closer to Showdown for Big Ten Title

Illinois Victim of Wolverines

'M' Squad Ramps to 36-0 Decision

SOMETHING'S UP—There's snow and a ball in the air on this play as Michigan's Jim Mandich (88), and Illinois defensive back Ralph Waldron (23) collide while competing for a pass in the first half of their game in Ann Arbor Saturday.

ANN ARBOR (AP)—According to legend, a band of Illinois Indians took refuge on a 125-foot high rock in northern Illinois back in 1789 and starved there rather than surrender to the rival tribe that surrounded them.

And Saturday, the University of Illinois carried on the tradition. They didn't surrender to the University of Michigan Wolverines but they also didn't score a point as Michigan romped to a 36-0 Big Ten football victory over an Illinois team still starving for its first win this year.

It was Illinois' eighth straight loss and provided the Wolverines with their seventh straight win and fifth without a loss in the conference. The only thing standing in front of Michigan going to the Rose Bowl is a winless Wisconsin team next week and the big showdown with undefeated Ohio State a week later at Columbus.

RESERVED COMMENT
Coach Bump Elliott remains reserved in his enthusiasm. "Well, I really believe this team keeps its head on straight," he said. "They tend to their business and that's playing Wisconsin next week. We're the type of team which can't overlook anybody."

Michigan certainly didn't overlook the Illini, as Ron Johnson bulldozed his way for two touchdowns and quarterback Dennis Brown fired two scoring passes and picked up 271 yards total offense to pace the rout.

Billy Harris and Paul Staroba caught Brown's scoring passes. Tim Kilian kicked a field goal and Mike Hankwitz caught a touchdown pass from backup quarterback Don Moorhead.

Brown completed 13 of 27 passes for 228 yards and ran for 45 more. His first touchdown pass came in the third quarter, a 69 yarder to Harris for the longest scoring play of the season for Michigan. Brown ran a two-point conversion and that put Michigan ahead 20-0 at halftime.

Indiana Prevails, 24-22

Fumbling Spartans Drop Fourth Tilt

By FLETCHER SPEARS

EAST LANSING — There remains now only reminders of what might have been for the latest trip into the field came Saturday as they dropped a 24-22 decision to Indiana's hurrying Hoosiers.

Even after the Spartans had won their first three games, there was coach Duffy Daugherty insisting that this MSU squad was not a great one, although to be sure, the possibility was there. It turned out that Duffy was right all along. The Spartans have proved it and the memories of this campaign are likely to linger for some time. Since winning those first three contests, the Spartans have managed just one victory in their last five outings and this Saturday, the chilled crowd of 68,841 watched as the Hoosiers, down 22-17 pulled out the decision in the final minute of play.

The Spartans' demise started back in October on a trip to Ann Arbor. They putplayed the Wolverines in every part of the game but the score and lost, 28-14. It was the same the following week in a 14-13 loss to Minnesota.

On a trip to Columbus, O., last week, the Buckeyes took yards for the winning advantage of MSU misuses to touchdown.

There were a number of key plays in the drive, but the big one was a 33-yard pass to the MSU one-yard line from sophomore Greg Brown, who had been in on only three plays prior to this game, to Eric Stolberg, who made a leaping catch over MSU's Ken Helt.

That came with less than a minute to play.

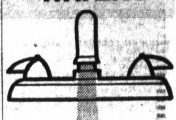

BROWN SCORES
From the one Brown rolled to his right, evaded a tackle by the Spartans' Jay Breslin and stepped into the endzone for the six points. Don Warner then added his third PAT boot of the afternoon.

The win left the Hoosiers with a mark of 6-2, 4-1 in Big Ten Conference action. The Spartans are 1-4 in the Big Ten and 4-4 on the season. The Spartans entertain Purdue next Saturday and then close the season the following week at Northwestern.

State Broncos Go to Texas to Be Lassoed

By the Associated Press

The Western Michigan Broncos weren't exactly prospecting or stargazing on a trip to the Texas Panhandle over the weekend, but they ran into an ambush as West Texas State unleashed a comet named Mercury Morris.

With a rather mediocre Mid-American Conference record behind them, Western Michigan tried to flex their football muscles. But led by Morris, the Buffaloes overcame Western's 36-32 lead in the final period as West Texas swept to a 53-36 victory. The game was played at Canyon, Tex.

In other games involving MAC teams, unbeaten Ohio University clinched an outright claim to the conference title with a come-from-behind 28-27 victory over Bowling Green. Kent State thrashed winless Marshall 36-12, and in non-conference action Toledo led 20-10 to Xavier while Miami shutout Dayton 14-0.

Ferris Grid Crew Pulls Turnabout

By The Associated Press

Ferris State's football record in 1967 was 4-7-1.

"It was a complete reversal," said Coach Bob Leach, "because the kids believed they could win. Most of our kids are freshmen. Seven freshmen started on defense and four on offense."

Ferris State got its first unbeaten season in the college's history Saturday with a 46-yard scoring drive in the waning minutes of the game to defeat Illinois State, 29-28. The game was played at Big Rapids.

OTHERS IN STATE

In other Michigan small college football action Saturday, Southern Illinois edged Northern Michigan, 23-20; Eastern Michigan stomped Northern Iowa, 34-7; Eastern Illinois bombed Wayne State, 69-18; Olivet beat Bluffton of Ohio 32-30; Hillsdale breezed over Northwood, 38-3; Ashland of Ohio dumped Hope, 54-13; Michigan Tech blanked Northern land of Wisconsin, 7-0; Ohio Northern zapped Kalamazoo, 17-0; and Albion marched by Taylor of Indiana, 27-14.

NOTES RECORD

The Ferris State coach noted his team had a record of one win, 26 losses and two ties for the four years before this season. Ferris State tied the opening game with Taylor of Indiana, but then came back with seven straight victories.

"Our school does not offer any athletic scholarships because that's the philosophy of our college," said Leach, who coached at Flint Central before joining Ferris State last year.

Leach pointed to the performance this season of freshman back Tommy Hammett of Flint who has ranked ninth in rushing with a 129-yard average a game and led the state with total touchdowns last week with 11. However, he failed to score Saturday, but got 103 yards rushing. The coach also had praise for middle guard Corey Bouyer, a sophomore who played at Detroit Chadey.

In Saturday's game, quarterback Al Beamer threw a 34-yard touchdown pass to Ron Harke with 3:19 left to give Ferris the victory.

Sophomore fullback Dick Kraatz of Bloomfield Hills made 143 yards in 15 carries and scored once as Hillsdale handed Northwood Institute its eighth loss of the season, 38-3.

Eastern Michigan's Dennis Hewitt of Clio gained 150 yards in 40 carries and scored four times as the Hurons dumped Northern Iowa, 34-7. He gained 602 yards this season, which was an EMU record. Quarterback Arnold Fontes returned to action for EMU after being benched during the last game for what the coach termed poor attitude.

Playing on a field covered by 12 inches of snow, Michigan Tech got its first football victory since 1966 by defeating Northland at Ashland, Wis., 7-0. Halfback Larry Ras of Jensen, a freshman, ran seven yards in the second period for Michigan Tech's score. Abdul Hashemi booted the extra point.

Northern Michigan completed its season with a disappointing 5-4 record by being defeated by Southern Illinois, 23-20, in a game at Carbondale, Ill., Saturday. Gene Grady tried a 48-yard field goal in the last four seconds in an attempt to tie the score with four seconds left, but the kick fell short. He previously made field goals of 24 and 19 yards in the game.

Don Robinson scored three times for Wayne State, but it wasn't nearly enough as the Tartars were defeated by Eastern Illinois, 60-19, in a game at Detroit. Eastern Illinois compiled a total offense of 545 yards.

A stout Ohio Northern team blanked Kalamazoo, 17-0, in a game played in snow showers at Kalamazoo. After a scoreless first period, Northern's Roger Beaudet scored on a 10-yard pass from Max Eastman, for what proved to be the winning score.

Dennis Boyd returned Hope's opening kickoff 30 yards as Ashland of Ohio romped over the Michigan team, 54-13. Hope sophomore quarterback Groy Kaper completed 13 of 32 passes for 227 yards and set a new single-season passing record for Hope of 1,203 yards, surpassing a record of 1,176 yards set in 1951 by Ron Schnipper.

Jitters Fade Fast for Trojans, OSU

By The Associated Press
John McKay was scared, Woody Hayes was apprehensive and when they got over their fears California and Wisconsin were soundly beaten.

"We're not nervous; we're scared," McKay said before his top-ranked Southern California football team demolished 11th-ranked California 35-17 Saturday.

"I wouldn't say I was scared; I'd say I was apprehensive," was the way Hayes put it after second-ranked Ohio State managed only a 10-0 halftime lead over winless Wisconsin.

The second half was something else and the Buckeyes wound up with a 43-0 victory.

But while the Trojans, Buckeyes and Penn State's fourth-ranked Nittany Lions, 22-7 winners over Miami, Fla., were running their perfect records to 7-0, many of The Associated Press' Top Twenty teams were having their problems.

RANKED LOSERS

Kansas, Tennessee and Purdue, ranked third, fifth and sixth, respectively, lost, as did No. 17 Michigan State, No. 20 Louisiana State and, of course, fifth-ranked California. Ohio University, rated 16th, remained one of six unbeaten and untied major teams by nipping Bowling Green 28-27 on Cleve Bryant's late 48-yard touchdown run.

Southern Cal, erupting after barely beating Washington and Oregon, made a shambles of California's highly touted defense. Steve Sogge passed for three scores and O.J. Simpson shredded the Golden Bears for 164 yards and two touchdowns.

Rex Kern, Ohio State's sophomore quarterback, was sidelined with a leg injury, so Hayes called on another rookie, Ron Macejowski, and he responded by scoring three times and passing for a fourth touchdown.

"Kern could have played," said Hayes. "But that other fellow (Macejowski) wasn't bad."

Kansas ran afoul of Steve Owens, Oklahoma's fine halfback, who ran for 157 yards and two touchdowns, threw a 13-yard scoring pass and scored with 4:14 left to drop the Jayhawks from the unbeaten ranks 27-23.

Penn State trailed Miami 7-0 at halftime but rallied behind Charlie Pittman's three touchdowns and a robust defense. "That was as fine a half of football as I've seen a Penn State team play, both offensively and

2 Crowns for Auto Racer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — New Zealander Denis Hulme may not be in the seven- or one-below league yet, but he's pretty happy about picking up two crowns with one race.

Hulme avoided a spectacular five-car collision on the first lap in a race in which 16 of 30 starters failed to finish Sunday. He went on to win the $50,000 Stardust Grand Prix and capture the championship of the six-race Canadian-American Challenge Cup series.

Hulme, who started from the second spot, next to countryman Bruce McLaren, was never threatened after the first-lap collision. He set a record for the event with an average speed of 111.1 miles an hour for the 210 miles.

He entered the race as the leading contender for the Can-Am Cup with a three-point margin over defending cup-holder McLaren and Mark Donohue. It turned out the three-point edge was all he needed for victory when McLaren, slowed by the five-car collision, picked up only one point for finishing sixth. Donohue, of Media, Pa., was forced out of the race when his McLaren-Chevrolet refused to start.

The victory left Hulme with 35 Can-Am points to 24 for McLaren—a reversal of last year's cup race, when Hulme finished a close second to his fellow New Zealander.

Racism Is Thorny Topic of Planned South African Film

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—In some places it is known as a sort of game, called "try for white." In South Africa it is a serious business affecting thousands whose appearance is on the borderline between white and mulatto, or "colored," in the terminology used here.

There is strict distinction between whites and blacks in this country, but many are in the blurred no-man's-land between obviously white and colored. If a person's status is questioned, a special tribunal decides whether he will enjoy the privileges of the ruling class or be designated as nonwhite, the South Africa's racial policies require that every person be officially classified according to race.

Not infrequently some members of a family have been declared white while others remained nonwhite. Splitting up a family like this meant, among other things, that its members could not legally live together unless the nonwhites were regarded as servants.

All this is a touchy subject that one of South Africa's top film producers has chosen for his next picture.

CENSOR TROUBLE?

Trouble may be in store from the censors, who view with suspicion any films depicting race relations out of conformity with government policy. Foreign films, such as "In the Heat of the Night," which give black equal or superior standing to whites, are banned.

Thus producer Emil Nofal faces the gamble of getting his film past the censors before worrying whether he can make it pay.

"This will be the first time that a film will deal with this tragic subject which affects so many thousands throughout South Africa," said Nofal.

Coproducer Jans Rautenbach feels the real test with the censors will come with a multiracial party scene.

IN THE CONTEXT

"Whether the censors will react to this will depend on how pig-headed they are," he said bluntly. "I am hoping that when they see scenes such as this in the context of the film they will let them through."

"We will deal humanely with the question of apartheid, but while clergyman and the other we are certainly not going to toe the propaganda line."

"We are not whitewashing any side and will show up both the good and bad side of coloreds as well as the good and bad side of whites. We are hoping to achieve a true analysis of the situation."

The story is of a woman, Katrina, who has been living all her life as a white and is suddenly revealed as colored. Two men are in love with her, one a colored leader fighting for the colored population's identity.

SON HAS PROBLEM

Katrina's 21-year-old son is in love with a white girl from a well-known family.

As love and marriage across the color line are forbidden in South Africa, the discovery that Katrina and her son are non-white creates problems which Nofal says, "reach at the very heart of our society."

Some of the film will be shot on location in colored shantytowns and the Malay quarter in Cape Town, with colored actors and actresses. Top parts have gone to whites, including folk singer Jill Kirkland and Ian Strauss, son of former Cabinet minister Jacobus Strauss.

Nofal had censor trouble with his last film, "Die Kandyd," which dealt with differences between the two main white groups in South Africa, the Afrikaners or Boers and those descended from English stock.

Will Nixon Appoint Blacks to Key Jobs?

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG, JR.

Executive Director, National Urban League

Richard Nixon won the 1968 cliff-hanger of a Presidential election without the help of black voters. They cast their ballots overwhelmingly for Hubert Humphrey. One reason that is often given for this is the deep suspicion that the Nixon camp made a deal with segregationist Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-SC.

That's why many people will be watching Nixon's early appointments. Will he appoint black citizens to his Cabinet or to other high positions? Will such important posts as secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, and other federal offices who have vast power to change ghetto conditions, go to men who are sympathetic to the goals of black people?

I think it is very important for Nixon to publicly commit himself to these appointments before a president-elect usually announces them in January. Black people, and all Americans who have a stake in the programs committing us to the end of poverty, need early assurances that their interests will not be ignored.

And I don't think they will be. Nixon is a very shrewd man, a master politician. He has to govern this nation for the next four years, and he will have to pursue policies that will get him reelected in 1972.

TERRIBLE PRICE

I don't know what he feels he owes the South for his nomination and his victory, but I am sure that he knows that the price for selling out the black ghetto is too terrible to pay. America can't afford another cycle of violence, counterviolence, and repression.

Of course, it takes time to formulate new programs, so perhaps the most reassuring thing President-elect Nixon could do is to immediately announce what his attorney general will be.

Nixon made this appointment a major campaign issue, stating that he would appoint someone who would war on crime. But I think it is important that his appointee should also be committed to stopping the crime of illegal discrimination.

We have laws against discrimination in housing, employment, education, and health services. This law of the land is flouted repeatedly, and I would hope that a man elected on a pledge to maintain law and order will appoint an attorney general who — early and publicly — pledges to strictly enforce antidiscrimination laws.

The Wallace vote surprised a lot of people. The media blew him up, giving him an importance and a dignity that it was obvious he did not have. A lot of voters were angry this year and told the pollsters they would vote for Wallace. But when the time came to cast their ballots, sanity prevailed and the cocky Alabamian was weak outside the Solid South.

NOT WEAK ENOUGH

But not weak enough. In some states the Wallace vote, small as it was, was the deciding factor, throwing the state to one candidate or another. I hope we are never again in a position where a candidate backed by the worst elements in our society can swing the electoral votes of big states.

Wallace is looking toward 1972, hoping to head a national right-wing movement. It's a danger that can't be ignored.

And we should give Hubert Humphrey his due. He ran a spirited campaign, coming from behind to within a hair's breadth of victory. He has been a great public servant, one of the strongest civil rights fighters in America. I hope he stays in public life and continues to give the nation the benefit of his experience and wisdom.

McCarthy to Urge Nominating Reforms for Dems

C-9 plug 55-TR-7-1 McCarthy ... WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy says he will press hard for reform of the Democratic party's presidential nominating procedures to insure that dissident viewpoints are represented.

"We want to establish the principle that unrepresentative delegations will not begin to cut off dissenting positions at the precinct and county level," the Minnesota Democrat said in an interview.

"We think there should be proportional representation for all viewpoints," he said.

McCarthy said as a critic of Johnson administration Vietnam policy he was denied this kind of representation in five delegations at Chicago, where he lost the Democratic presidential nomination to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

The five, he said, were from Minnesota, New Mexico, Missouri, Pennsylvania and Connecticut.

The senator said two top figures in his campaign—Blair Clark and Stephen Mitchell—will carry his effort to a Nov. 24 meeting in St. Louis on reorganization of Democratic nominating procedures.

Clark was executive director of McCarthy's campaign and Mitchell was his convention manager.

Supporters of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy are expected to join with the McCarthy people at St. Louis to work out a formula against the sort of local procedures they say kept many of their representatives from being seated in Chicago.

HUBERT TO SUPPORT

Before he lost the election to Republican Richard M. Nixon, Humphrey had indicated he might go along with efforts to change convention rules.

Humphrey wrote Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien early in October urging ed to join with the McCarthy people at St. Louis to work out a formula against the sort of local procedures they say kept many of their representatives from being seated in Chicago.

O'Brien, who managed Humphrey's campaign, said he would have to wait until after the election to do this.

McCarthy said he hopes Iowa Gov. Harold Hughes, who headed the convention's rules committee, will direct a commission ordered by the convention to revise its procedures.

Humphrey, who remains the titular head of the party as the defeated presidential candidate, will have to decide for himself whether to take any personal part in the effort to change the nominating procedures.

In a lukewarm and belated statement endorsing Humphrey for the presidency just a week before the election, McCarthy also said that he will seek neither the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination nor reelection to the Senate from his party in 1970.

Remembrance Day for Veterans

Crosses Bloom in British Field

LONDON (AP) — A forest of crosses bloomed today under the sycamores in a quiet churchyard beside Westminster Abbey.

Thousands of Britons walked past in solemn silent tribute to their 1.25 million countrymen killed in wars since 1914.

Many stood for long moments, gazing at the crosses stretching 200 deep for 200 yards along the broad walks by St. Margaret's Church. Some paid six cents for an unprinted cross scarcely taller than the mudrooms that flourish in the shady churchyard, wrote the name of a dead friend or relative on it, and stuck it in the lawn with the others.

I campaigns. "These are the only ones I visit every year."

Most crosses were decorated with a red poppy. A wreath of poppies five feet high stood by the church with the inscription: "At the going down of the sun and in the morning, we will remember them."

For some, memories were still poignant. Others were too young to remember.

"Look, here's my friend Parker," said a man, bending to touch a cross and read the name it carried. "I'll never forget him."

"Mommy, did all these men go to heaven?" a young girl asked.

"Yes," her mother replied.

The Empire Field of Remembrance, opposite the Houses of Parliament and in the shadow of the abbey where Britain's Unknown Soldier lies, is organized annually by the British Legion Poppy Factory. Since 1928, the sales of crosses and poppies, the symbol of World War I's Flanders Field, has financed a variety of veterans' charities.

IN MILITARY ORDER

Two crosses stood in the first field 40 years ago—one for a Pvt. Tommy Atkins and the other for Field Marshal Earl Haig, founder of the British Legion. Now the wooden ranks are now crosses bearing the badges of Britain's famous fighting units—the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, the Coldstream Guards, the Royal Fusiliers, the Gurkha Brigade.

"I don't think I'm the last of my outfit, but I never see the others," said a veteran in the crowd whose overcoat bore half a dozen medals from World War I.

Mansfield Launches Drive for Early Okay of N-Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has begun a drive for speedy Senate consideration of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty President-elect Richard M. Nixon earlier urged delayed.

Senate debate on ratification could begin before Nixon's inauguration Jan. 20, Mansfield said in an interview.

Two Nixon advisers, meanwhile, indicated Nixon priorities besides ending the Vietnam war will include strengthening West European security ties and curbing inflation at home.

Mansfield, who has maintained the Senate has the two-thirds vote needed to ratify the nuclear treaty, said he has asked speedy review by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee when Congress reconvenes Jan. 3.

MORE HEARINGS?

Scheduling of early Senate debate will depend on whether the committee decides to hold additional hearings before sending the treaty to the floor, Mansfield said.

Nixon has said he believes the treaty, designed to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons beyond nations that already have them, should be ratified. But he urged the outlying 90th Congress to delay action until Soviet intentions could be reassessed in view of the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Mansfield also signaled opposition to increased military spending involving in Nixon's announced plans to maintain superiority over the Soviets. The cost would be $50 billion to $80 billion if this includes an anti-missile screen, the Democrat said.

"It is going to be very difficult," he said, "to spend a lot of money building up a nuclear Navy—where we also have superiority—and still reduce taxes and cut the budget."

"ALL POSSIBLE SUPPORT"

But Mansfield said Democrats will not obstruct Nixon programs just to be obstructing and said they will try to give the Republican president all possible support.

The Nixon priority on bolstering European security ties including strengthening of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was reported by Richard V. Allen, one of Nixon's chief advisers on foreign affairs.

Allen said the new administration sees indications of rising military influence in Russian policymaking. He said it feels Soviet leadership "is unpredictable and therefore it is necessary for us to prepare for any contingency."

Dr. Arthur F. Burns, a Nixon economic adviser, meanwhile supported strict enforcement of antitrust laws to combat inflationary price increases and hinted at action to check inflationary wage increases.

"STRICT ENFORCEMENT"

"I do not think that the government should impose direct controls," Burns said. "However, I do feel that the antitrust laws should be strictly enforced and perhaps made more severe."

Asked whether these laws should be applied to labor unions, Burns said the question should be approached with an open mind and added without elaboration: "In the last analysis, we do have labor monopolies as well as monopolies in business."

Burns also backed a long-range program for small annual tax reductions.

And the chairman of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers said he hopes the 10 per cent income tax surcharge can be ended June 30, if spending is under effective control by then.

Both Allen and Burns gave their views in copyrighted interviews in U.S. News & World Report magazine.

Long-Time U.S. Actor Dies in Sweden at Age 54

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Gerald Mohr, who played Philip Marlowe on radio, the Lone Wolf in movies and Christopher Storm in the "Foreign Intrigue" television series, died Saturday in Stockholm. He was 54.

The cause of death wasn't known immediately. Friends said Mohr had been in Sweden for two months producing a television serial with his Swedish-born wife, Mal.

Mohr, a native of New York, was hired as a Columbia Broadcasting System announcer at 16. Later, while a premedical student at Columbia University, he became a special events reporter.

His vibrant voice prompted Orson Welles to hire him as an

HAVE YOU BEGUN YOUR COUNTDOWN FOR CHRISTMAS?

Or are you sitting on "hold because you don't have the money you need to get your family Christmas plans off the grounds?"

There's no earthly reason for you to delay your Christmas countdown! Not when it's so easy to have the extra cash you need!

All you have to do is make a checklist of the many valuable, but unused, items in your home which can be converted into cash.

Think about the items which are in demand for Christmas presents for youngsters . . . the electric train, bicycle, record player, guitar, etc. Which your own youngsters no longer use.

Think about the items which are in demand to make some other home more attractive or more comfortable for Christmas . . . the chair, television, piano, sofa, lamp, etc. which you've been storing because they're still valuable.

Think about the items your husband has been accumulating over the years and never uses . . . the sports equipment, power tools, photographic equipment, etc.

And when your checklist is completed, sell these items for cash with a low cost, result-getting Pontiac Press Want Ad.

Prague Students Planning More Anti-Soviet Protests

PRAGUE (AP) — Despite the threat of reprisals, Prague students said today they plan another anti-Soviet demonstration Nov. 17 which could lead to a general student strike.

Student leaders at Prague University issued an appeal for mass participation and called a meeting of student strike committees next Tuesday to map strategy.

The announcement came as Prague Radio and television broadcast an Interior Ministry statement Friday which acknowledged for the first time that such demonstrations occurred. It said 167 persons were arrested in Prague, Bratislava, Brno and Ceske Budejovice.

The ministry noted that Soviet flags were burned and anti-Soviet slogans were chanted. It said the demonstrations Thursday were actions of "irresponsible groups" and "fairly serious provocations."

Prague City council condemned the demonstrations as "politically extremely inappropriate."

The government announced a one-month suspension of Reporters, the weekly magazine of the Czechoslovak Journalists Union, on grounds its contents were "inconsistent with Czechoslovak laws." The magazine has supported the reforms of party chief Alexander Dubcek, printed criticisms of the Soviet Union and the old guard Communists in Czechoslovakia.

The party presidium also warned other domestic newspapers and broadcast media about "their great responsibility under the course of normalization" and emphasized they should "actively support this course by their activities."

About 70,000 Soviet troops will remain in Czechoslovakia until the country "normalizes" under an agreement ratified by Prague and the Kremlin Oct. 18, Czechoslovak officials have been told.

It was also reported Friday that seven Western news and television cameramen were seized and questioned. The newsmen had witnessed a demonstration where Soviet flags were burned.

All seven were released, but their travel visas were confiscated and they were told to report back to the police on Monday. Film and cameras were taken from an NBC team.

The official moves seemed designed to insure tranquility for a Communist party Central Committee meeting Thursday that might become a showdown between Dubcek's supporters and the old guard faction.

The Dubcek faction is striving to achieve party unity so it can work to salvage some of its liberal reforms, while the old guards are trying to discredit these reforms and return Czechoslovakia to the more rigid Kremlin brand of communism.

The government announced that 86 per cent of the Warsaw Pact forces to leave under terms of the Oct. 18 Moscow Pact have already withdrawn from Czechoslovakia.

Western experts in Czechoslovakia have estimated the invasion force at 400,000 to 550,000.

Vaclav Dvorak, a deputy defense minister, said saying troop withdrawals would be completed by Dec. 15.

State MDs OK Plan for DO Option

The Michigan State Medical Society (MSMS) has endorsed a plan for the state's three medical schools to develop an educational program that would allow students the option of earning a medical or osteopathy degree.

Expressing concern about the "serious shortage of physicians," Dr. Ross V. Taylor, chairman of the MSMS Council, in a letter to Ira Polley, state superintendent of Public Instruction, said the council supports the State Board of Education in its effort to encourage the medical schools to develop curricula which would make possible the granting of either degree.

The State Board of Education has discussed the proposed degree option with officials of the three universities — University of Michigan, Wayne State University and Michigan State University.

The MSMS Council, according to Dr. Taylor, also urged that "each new school be developed so as to offer its students an education program granting either the MD or DO degree upon graduation. An Osteopathic College in Pontiac will open next fall.

The MSMS degree option recommendation follows a vote by its 1867 House of Delegates to admit qualified osteopaths to associate membership and an earlier advisory vote concerning the amalgamation of the MDs and DOs. The MDs reportedly voted overwhelmingly in favor of the merger but osteopaths opposed the move.

Hoffa Seeks Teamster Post

Attacked Twice, Says
Opponent's Supporter

DETROIT (AP)—Union slates headed by jailed Teamsters President James R. Hoffa and an unemployed truck driver were nominated Sunday in a contest for control of Hoffa's Detroit stronghold, Detroit Teamsters Local 299.

A worker supporting the candidacy of truck driver Andrew Provenzano told police he had been attacked twice while attempting to hand out literature in front of the Teamsters meeting hall.

Acting Teamsters president and Local 299 Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons announced the candidacy of Hoffa, who, despite his residence at Lewisville Federal Penitentiary in Pennsylvania, has retained his office.

Provenzano's opposition slate calls for periodic election of business agents and local stewards. Now, the Provenzano slate contends, the stewards are chosen by Hoffa's Local 299 without election.

REBEL'S PROPOSALS

The rebel candidate also calls for opening of the Teamsters' health insurance plan to competitive bidding, overhaul of the grievance procedure and more membership participation in union affairs.

Provenzano, 42, has been a Teamster member for 19 years. He was fired from his job at Merchants Forwarding Co. in Detroit last July on a charge of causing a work stoppage. He has denied the charge and said a lawsuit is being prepared.

Teamsters Local 299 has 18,000 members.

Hard-Core Find Work

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — Most Americans, regardless of political persuasion, no doubt welcomed the news from the National Alliance of Businessmen that 64,000 jobs have been found for hard-core unemployed.

Although nearly 23,000 of these jobs later were lost, the CUNIFF net gain of 61,000 indicates that the alliance is going to reach its goal of 100,000 by next June 30.

The feeling among many people is that here is a program for social good whose development has gone beyond the state of hope and experiment to that of practical results.

The key to the alliance's success, small as it is, seems to be training. But even with training, worker and job still might have remained apart unless alliance members had stepped in and turned the key for jobs and unemployment have a curious relationship.

CONTINUING MYSTERY

It has been a continuing mystery to many people, for example, why nearly 2.9 million Americans are jobless while the classified advertising pages of newspapers are filled with appeals for business help.

Month after month during the greatest economic boom in American history, this condition has existed, one of the reasons being that the job requirements and the skills possessed by the job seekers simply do not match.

Other major factors are involved: Many of the best jobs, for instance, are in factories that have deserted the cities, where most of the unemployed Negroes live, and moved to the psychologically distant and nearly all-white suburbs.

Age is a factor, especially when an obsolete skill is also involved. Mobility is a factor also, for many idle workers are unwilling to uproot their families.

lies from depressed rural communities.

OBVIOUS ROLES

Racial and age discrimination have played obvious roles, too, but lack of training and a failure to understand the mechanics of job seeking have always been near the top of the list.

Teen-agers entering the work force have been inadequately prepared, and so the teen-age work force has a jobless rate of 12.6 per cent, or nearly eight times that of married men, whose rate is 1.6 per cent.

GAP-FILLING CATALYST

This is the gap into which the alliance stepped as a catalyst. Of this year with Henry Ford II as chairman, the alliance has brought immediate results indicating that a goal of 500,000 jobs by mid-1971 will be achieved.

The importance of such achievements should be measured in terms of the social disorder that clearly has resulted from unemployment — in terms, that is, of the despair and sense of injustice from which violence erupts.

Leo C. Beebe, vice chairman of the alliance, said "Numbers do not tell the whole story. The real potential for success... is visible more importantly in the positive and constructive reaction to the experience by employers and the hard-core alike."

Two Remain Hospitalized After Crash

Two Springfield Township residents remain hospitalized today after being involved in a three-car accident in Waterford Township Friday afternoon.

Christina Burman, 17, of 11500 Clark is in poor condition and Daniel Burman, 20, same address, is in fair condition, both in Pontiac General Hospital.

They were riding in a car driven southbound by Daniel L. Reynolds, 18, of 2828 Belvidere, who collided with two other cars northbound on Dixie Highway near Andersonville Road, according to police.

Snake Guarding Jewelry Display

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Bill Clemmer called for a police guard when he set up a display of jewelry with an art show in Miami's Coconut Grove section. But no policemen were available. They were tied up guarding President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

Clemmer found a solution, however. He acquired a rat snake and put him in the jewelry case. The snake usually only attacks rats, but Clemmer knew that.

Junior Editors Quiz on LEAVES

QUESTION: Why are plant leaves green?

ANSWER: The leaves of plants are like tiny factories, manufacturing plant food by a process called photosynthesis. Tiny green specks called chlorophyll are made in the leaf cells. These are what make the leaves look green.

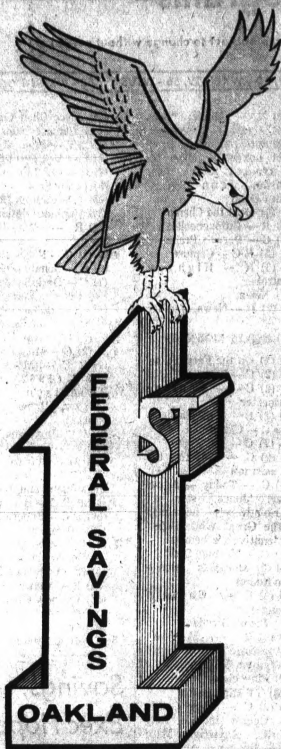

The chlorophyll takes raw materials from the air and water brought up from the roots. Then, using the power of sunlight, it changes the materials into a kind of sugar which is the basis of all food. Plants grow because they get nourishment from these sugars.

We get them by eating plants and animals, which also eat plants. So, it is true that these little leaf factories are the most important ones in the world.

Not all leaves are green. Ornamental house plants often have leaves which look yellow, red, blue or brown. Great chlorophyll cells are also present in such leaves. But there are other color pigments present as well, and these give the leaves a different appearance.

With colder weather, many leaves lose their green chlorophyll; then, other color pigments are revealed — the brilliant reds and yellows of the fall.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Artist's Sketch Of Planned MCOM Building On Pontiac's East Side

MCOM Will Open Next Fall

Pontiac's projected osteopathic college is alive and well.

The Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine (MCOM) will enroll its first students next fall, it was announced today at a Lansing press conference.

A charter class of 16 students will be housed in a new 15,000-square-foot building to be constructed on the 164-acre site at Auburn and Opdyke on Pontiac's east side.

Known as "the staging building" because it will be the initial phase of more elaborate facilities for a subsequent class of 64, the building will cost nearly $50,000, according to MCOM spokesmen.

PRESS CONFERENCE

Plans for MCOM development were announced at a morning press conference which featured both college officials and national and state osteopathic leaders.

Main spokesmen for the college were John D. L'Hote, chairman of the college's board of trustees and Dr. Myron S. Magen, dean of the medical school.

Announcement of the opening date comes more than four years after the college was chartered by the state and Pontiac was selected as its projected home. The east side site was purchased and given to the college after nearly $400,000 was obtained in a public subscription campaign.

At this morning's press conference in the Jack Tar Hotel, spokesmen detailed development of the college. The charter class will have 16 students with all applicants having earned a bachelor's degree at an accredited college or university.

FACILITIES FOR 128

In its final stages the college will have facilities for 128 students. Eventually, the college will train both doctors of osteopathy and auxiliary personnel.

The initial "staging building" will contain basic science laboratories as well as classrooms.

3 in New York Charged With Plotting to Kill Nixon

NEW YORK (AP) — A 43-year-old Arab immigrant and his two sons are being held in $100,000 bail each in connection with an alleged plot to assassinate president-elect Richard M. Nixon. The three, who were arrested in Brooklyn Saturday night, were arraigned yesterday on charges of conspiracy to commit murder, possession of deadly weapons and criminal solicitation.

They are Ahmed Rager Namer, a naturalized American citizen who came to this country from Yemen 13 years ago, and his sons, Hussein, 20, and Abdo, 19. Police gave no details of the alleged plot.

SIRHAN CONNECTIONS?

Investigators were checking whether the three might have had any association with Sirhan B. Sirhan, the Jordanian immigrant charged with assassinating Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

No motive for the alleged plot has been revealed but Nixon, like Kennedy, has said the United States is committed to maintain Israel's military superiority over its Arab foes.

NIXON UNCONCERNED

A Nixon aide, informed of the arrests, said Nixon "has no concern over it." He added, "Any idea of a major plot is overexaggerated."

The Namers reportedly took several trips to the West Coast and other parts of the country. Police sources said there was no satisfactory explanation on how they could afford to travel so much on their modest salaries.

Mohsin Alami, Yemen's ambassador to the United Nations said yesterday his consulate had no record of the three men. He urged caution in prejudging the case.

The arrests came after police received an anonymous telephone call from a man who said the Namers had tried to recruit him because he was an expert marksman.

President-Elect Eyes Viet Role

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon and President Johnson meet today in a White House conference that may determine whether the President-elect takes an active role before his inauguration in the search for a Vietnam peace.

President and Mrs. Johnson are hosts to present-elect and Mrs. Nixon at a luncheon. Later the men are to discuss problems of government while the women talk about keeping house in the executive mansion.

Nixon told newsmen Saturday he might send personal representatives abroad — presumably to the Paris peace talks or to Saigon — if Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk think such a move would be helpful in the peace quest.

A source close to the President-elect said likely representatives would be Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to West Germany and former envoy to Saigon, or William Scranton, former GOP governor of Pennsylvania.

LODGE EYES JOB

Lodge, the Republican vice candidate eight years ago, conferred with Nixon in Florida. The President-elect said he will give Lodge special assignments in the administration which takes office Jan. 20.

Nixon has said repeatedly that he would go either to Saigon or Paris should Johnson feel such travel would be helpful in ending the Vietnam war.

The conference with Johnson was expected to resolve the question of possible postelection travel abroad by Nixon.

One of President Johnson's key advisers, Walt W. Rostow, said in Washington Sunday that there are no serious divisions between the United States and Saigon concerning the Paris peace talks.

'CAN BE WORKED OUT'

"I have a feeling of confidence" that the breach caused by South Vietnam's refusal to send representatives to Paris can be worked out, Rostow said.

From Washington, Nixon was headed for New York where he will be conferring with top aides this week on formation of a new administration.

PCH Senior Wins Junior Miss Contest

Shock was the expression on Patricia Dell's face when she won the Pontiac Junior Miss title Saturday. The 17-year-old blonde is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dell of 201 Draper. She earned the title in competition at Pontiac Northern High School.

Runner-up in the Pontiac Jaycees-sponsored contest was Jannie Mader of 434 Second. Miss Mader, 17, performed a song and dance routine to music from Pajama Game for her talent performance. She is a senior at Pontiac Northern High School.

Miss Dell, who wants to be a professional dancer, did a song and dance routine to a medley of tunes from Oklahoma. The 5-foot-6 green-eyed girl is a senior at Pontiac Central High School. The 16-year dance student has taken tap, jazz and ballet lessons. A student at the Julie Adler School of Dance, she is also an apprentice teacher.

"I didn't expect to win," said Miss Dell who wants to go to college in California because she believes that there she can find better opportunities to dance professionally.

ACTIVE STUDENT

She is a member of her school and church choirs and of the Tiespians.

As winner, Miss Dell receives $100 scholarships from both Matthews-Hargreaves Chevrolet and Pontiac Jaycees Auxiliary and a $50 scholarship from the Pontiac Jaycees. She also will receive several merchandise awards from local merchants. Most important, she has won the right to compete in the regional Junior Miss Pageant in Redford Township, Dec. 15.

The final judging performance consisted of a youth fitness routine by the 15 contestants, individual talent performances, and a formal gown parade.

The girls are judged on their scholastic ability, individual interviews with the judges, poise and appearance, physical fitness and talent performances.

Snow Is Predicted Through Tuesday

It's snow time in Oakland County as the weatherman predicts additional flurries and light snow today, tonight and tomorrow. The weekend snowfall in the Pontiac area measured one-quarter to one-half inch.

Variable winds at 5 to 15 miles per hour under a cloud-filled sky will accompany temperatures ranging from a 40-degree high to a 22-degree low.

Low thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 30. By 1 p.m. the mercury registered 40. Precipitation probabilities in per cent are today 50, tonight 60 and tomorrow 30.

Ray Lawyer Trade Seen Stalling Trial

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A switch in lawyers just two days before James Earl Ray was to stand trial on charges of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., raises doubts as to whether the trial will be held this year.

Ray took action yesterday to drop Arthur J. Hanes, a former Birmingham, Ala., mayor, as his lawyer and retain famed defense attorney Percy Foreman of Texas.

Foreman, whose clients have included Jack Ruby and heiress Candace Mossler, said he would go before Criminal Court Judge W. Preston Battle at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow — the time Ray's trial is scheduled to begin — and request a continuance.

When told earlier yesterday of rumors of the impending switch, Battle said he would grant a delay "if Ray retains Foreman and if he asks" for a postponement.

Car-Train Collision

4 Killed at Crossing

A 27-year-old Avon Township woman and her three children were killed Saturday in a collision with a Grand Trunk Western Railroad train at a Pontiac crossing.

In addition, a 75-year-old Rochester man died yesterday from injuries received when hit by a car in Avon Township Saturday.

Killed instantly about 2:40 p.m. were Mrs. Herman Kreswon of 2417 Culbertson and her children, George, 9, Bruce, 8, and Laura Ann, 3, according to police.

Officers said Mrs. Kreswon's car was southbound on Franklin Road when the train approached. They said a witness told them the car was traveling about 15 miles per hour and did not slow down when it entered the crossing area.

SIGNAL WAS WORKING

The road signal was working and both the train's warning whistle and bells were used, according to investigators.

Andrew P. Smith of 1762 Auburn, Rochester, died about 5:20 a.m. yesterday in Crittenton Hospital, Avon Township, as the result of an accident about 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said Smith was struck by a car driven by Orville Angel, 32, of 2940 Weaver, Rochester, while crossing the street at Auburn and Eastern.

Superschool Battle Goes On

By BOB WISLER

Controversy continues over the location of the Pontiac school district's planned super high school.

Factions within the school administration and on the school board are just about committed to putting the new 4,500-student high school on the grounds of Pontiac State Hospital.

But others, including influential business and civic leaders, believe that it would serve the city as a whole much better to put the high school on a 45-acre site adjacent to the downtown area.

The board of education plans to make a decision next Monday after the Pontiac Area Planning Council receives results of a study from David E. Lewis of Urban Design Associates, a nationally known Pittsburgh planning firm.

OPPONENTS' CLAIMS

Drawbacks with the central city site will have to be weighed against the possible benefits.

While the talking and discussion continues, proponents of both sides are busy lining up evidence to support their claims.

One possibility being discussed is to take the decision to the voters.

Proponents of the hospital site emphasize that when voters approved the $23-million bond issue in March they were informed that Pontiac State Hospital would definitely be the site of the new school.

VOTERS KNEW SITE

Francis Webster, chairman of the Citizens Finance Study (FSC) Council, points to a January resolution of the board of education which states that the board would utilize the hospital site unless other studies found this site unfeasible or impossible.

Webster said the study council used this stand to sell the public on the bond issue for the new high school. He said a (Continued on Page A-2, Col. 3)

N. Viets Fire on Marine Posts From DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese gunners fired artillery and rockets from inside the demilitarized zone at U.S. Marine positions yesterday, a military spokesman said today. It was the first enemy attack from within the buffer zone since President Johnson halted the bombing of North Vietnam and indicated he expected a reciprocal suspension of attacks from the DMZ.

The spokesman said at least four Leathernecks were killed and 41 were wounded in five attacks on three Marine positions just south of the DMZ. Marine planes and artillery struck back.

Marine aerial observers and ground troops spotted two of the North Vietnamese gun emplacements, both of them in the southern half of the DMZ.

Marine aircraft and artillery destroyed one firing position and 10 bunkers three miles west of Con Thien and half a mile north of the southern boundary of the zone, a spokesman said. Heavy artillery fired on the other position, five miles west of Con Thien and one mile inside the DMZ, but it was not known if it was destroyed, said the spokesman.

One of the enemy attacks was against the Con Thien outpost, three hit a Marine unit four miles southwest of Con Thien, and one was against another Leatherneck unit four miles southeast of the outpost. The enemy used 75mm artillery and 122mm rockets, the spokesman said.

When President Johnson halted the bombing on Nov. 1 to get the peace talks in Paris moving, he warned: "We cannot have productive talks in an atmosphere where the cities are being shelled and the demilitarized zone is being abused."

Although the Vietcong have shelled a number of South Vietnamese cities since the bombing halt went into effect, one of Johnson's chief war policy advisers, Walt W. Rostow, yesterday, minimized these because they have been far smaller than previous shelling of Saigon.

"We have not made an agreement to have a cease-fire," he said. "We are not asking the other side totally to stand down."

S. VIET TOWNS SHELLED

Besides the attacks on the Marine

posts, military spokesmen reported four South Vietnamese towns and three other military installations shelled yesterday with four civilians killed and 18 persons wounded.

Only light ground fighting was reported, but U.S. B-52 bombers struck on three sides of Saigon late yesterday and early today in the campaign to ward off another offensive against the capital.

American troops reported killing 23 of the enemy yesterday in two clashes nine and 50 miles north of Saigon.

Cluster-Home Law Updating May Hit Snag

BIRMINGHAM — A recent change in state legislation may cause a delay in the adoption of proposed amendments to the city's cluster housing ordinance.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning has recommended that the City Commission ask for a report from City Attorney Dean G. Heier on the legislation before it amends the ordinance.

The administration and planning board, Kenning said, had believed "that in a cluster development, the owner could not sell any portion of his development."

Sale of the entire parcel, he continued, was believed necessary.

MAY BE NULLIFIED

However, the restriction may have been nullified by the new legislation, Kenning said.

The planning board had proposed two amendments to the cluster housing ordinance.

The first, which would exclude access drive areas from density computations in cluster housing, is designed to ease the burden a cluster development normally places on existing streets and utilities.

"... Since the street access can be a part of the total land area (in a cluster development)," the board reported, "a slightly higher density can be achieved."

SMALLER LOTS

Consequently, the report added, a cluster development can be placed on much smaller lots than the residential lots surrounding it.

The second amendment, also aimed at increasing cluster lot sizes, would require approval of neighboring owners for a development with small lots.

If the cluster plan called for lots averaging 20 per cent smaller than those surrounding, the approval of 60 per cent of property owners within 500 feet would be necessary.

A hearing on the necessity for the expansion of municipal parking lot 2A, at Oakland and Fernald, is scheduled for the commission's 8 p.m. meeting tonight.

53 NEW SPACES

According to City Engineer William T. Killeen, the plan recommended would provide approximately 53 new parking spaces.

Also on tonight's agenda will be the awarding of a contract for construction of a new water meter repair shop at the Department of Public Works yard on South Eton and of a new addition to the DPW building.

Kenning has recommended that the award be made to Pinkert Construction Co., 730 Arlington, Birmingham, on its bid of $86,360.

In addition to construction costs, Kenning said, architectural fees not to exceed 10 per cent ($8,636) and a $3,300 outlay for unallocated capital funds and a $50,300 appropriation from Water Department funds.

TWO FUND SOURCES

The city manager recommended financing of the project with a $47,916 outlay from unallocated capital funds and a $50,300 appropriation from Water Department funds.

Parks and Recreation Superintendent Darrel C. Middlewood has reported his department's need for additional personnel because of "growing inability" of the department "to provide adequate maintenance to our park areas, recreation facilities and shade trees."

Middlewood ascribed the department's difficulties primarily to requests for additional service and higher levels of maintenance.

Wreath-Laying in City Honors Vets of Four Wars

At 11 a.m. today to mark Veterans Day a wreath was placed before the bronze soldier guarding City Hall.

The wreath is in honor of the service of veterans of past wars and of the 50th anniversary of the end of World War I.

Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. has called upon Pontiac citizens and business firms to display the American flag "as a reaffirmation of our national unity and a rededication of our support to our nation in her defense of the cause of freedom."

Veterans Day was formerly known as Armistice Day, which originated in 1918 to celebrate the end of hostilities in World War I. In 1954 the name was changed to Veterans' Day, by the 83rd Congress, to include honoring the servicemen who fought in World War II and Korea. Today, Vietnam veterans are included.

RESERVISTS TAKE PART

Pontiac Reservists from the second brigade, training, 70th division, joined in an areawide celebration of Veterans' Day in Detroit yesterday.

The 50th annual reunion of the World War I members of the 32nd (Red Arrow) Division also was held yesterday at the Cook-Nelson Post. Leading the meeting were officers Louis Cheal of 791 Kline, Oakland Township; Ralph Carr of 284 Voorhies, treasurer; and William Merrill of 1227 Bamford, Waterford Township, secretary.

The Red Arrow division was under fire for six months in 1918 with only a 10-day break. It fought on five fronts in three major offensives.

Cook-Nelson Post is named in honor of Capt. James Cook and Lt. Elmer B. Nelson of Company A, who were killed in action in France in 1918.

against each member of the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons. In addition, a national development fund has been organized to solicit contributions for the college.

State funds of $125,000 have been provided for planning MOOM, which will be the fourth medical school in the state. College officials also anticipate federal financial aid. Today they said opening with 16 students next fall would advance the date when the school could qualify for such aid.

FURTHER STATE AID

Further state support is also expected. College spokesmen characterized MOOM chances for such aid as favorable.

The most recent development toward state support was the approval by the State Board of Education of a report by an advisory committee that a fourth medical school might be osteopathic. The Citizens Committee on Education for Health Care recommended that "consideration should be given to its (the fourth school) being an osteopathic college."

Authorities Ask U.S. Health Plan

DETROIT (AP) — Top health authorities called today for comprehensive national health planning and "a design for health, not a design for sickness."

This approach should cover not only better medical care of specific diseases, but remedies for hunger, poverty and the deplorable state of the human environment by pollution, they said.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe and Dr. Lester Breslow stressed these themes in a look-ahead into the 1970s at the opening session of the American Public Health Association's 96th annual meeting.

Their detailed reviews were distributed in advance to all delegates for discussion of possible answers to health needs, and of how the association could become more a leader than follower in dealing with them.

Hanoi Again Hits Worst Defeat in Four Years Balking S. Viets Seen for Red China U.N. Bid

PARIS (UPI) — North Vietnam today poured fresh abuse on South Vietnam's boycott of expanded war talks. The United States planned logic and reason to get Saigon to the conference table.

The diplomatic action centered on Saigon's refusal to take part in the Paris talks involving the United States, South Vietnam, North Vietnam and the Vietcong's political arm, the National Liberation Front (NLF).

U. S. delegation sources said roving ambassador W. Averell Harriman planned to meet soon with Pham Dang Lam, the South Vietnamese envoy who returned Sunday from Saigon.

Lam told newsmen he had no orders to join the expanded talks. The talks were to have opened 12 days ago but the Saigon boycott has blocked the start.

Hanoi radio sounded North Vietnam's latest blather against South Vietnam's conditions for ending the boycott. Saigon has said the Vietcong must be only a part of the Hanoi delegation and the United States should take a back seat, leaving the main confrontation to North and South Vietnam. "Ridiculous," said Hanoi radio.

The North Vietnamese have insisted that their arrangement with the United States calls for all four parties to have equal status at the table.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Nationalist China's supporters at the United Nations predicted today that the annual resolution to seat Red China will suffer its worst defeat in four years.

They estimated that the vote against it would be 60-44 compared to last year's 58-45. The proposal has lost strength annually since 1965, when it eked out a 47-41 tie.

Cambodian Ambassador Huot Sambath introduced the resolution today for a five-day debate in the assembly. Foreign Minister Wei Tao-Ming of Nationalist China was scheduled to speak second, against the proposal.

The resolution seeks to oust Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists from the United Nations and open the door to Communist delegates from Peking as the only lawful representatives of China.

SPONSORSHIP

Its sponsors are three Communist countries — Albania, Cuba and Romania — and 12 nonaligned nations: Algeria, Cambodia, The Congo (Brazzaville), Guinea, Mali, Mauritania, Pakistan, Southern Yemen, Sudan, Syria, Tanzania and Zambia.

A resolution also is pending to have the assembly reaffirm 1961, 1965, 1966 and 1967 decisions that a two-thirds vote will be required to seat Red China.

This resolution is sponsored by the United States, Australia, New Zealand, Bolivia, Brazil, Colombia, Nicaragua, Gabon, the Malagasy Republic, Togo, Japan, the Philippines and Thailand.

Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg, Iceland and Chile planned to submit another proposal for appointment of a U.N. committee to study the China-seating question and report back next fall.

ALTERNATE PLAN

Their resolution said the United Nations' peace-keeping ability would be strengthened by a solution with the aim of universality and "the existing situation and the practical realities of the area."

Such a study committee could sound out the Chinese Communists and Nationalists on a two-China solution—having them both in the assembly and allotting China's Security Council seat to one or the other.

An Italian spokesman said the committee "would at some point have to send a mission to try to approach Peking" and find out what the Communists wanted.

"If there is going to be a solution, we think it would have to be some kind of two-China solution," he said.

The Peking and Taipei governments each claim to represent China.

The assembly plans to vote Friday. The two-thirds vote resolution is expected to pass. The study-committee resolution, like the pro-Peking resolution, is expected to fail.

Superschool Controversy Continues

definite site was needed in order to convince the voters. "We felt we couldn't sell generalities," he said.

Some board members feel that Webster and the FSC went far beyond school board direction in definitely fixing the site.

One contends that Webster was told not to put an exact location to the new school site.

MAJOR ARGUMENT

One of the big arguments in private circles is whether the school board does indeed have a commitment to the voters to build on the hospital grounds.

The bonding proposition which was voted on did not say where the school would be built, only that funds would be used, among other things, "to erect, furnish and equip a new senior high school building."

If the board does have a commitment to the voters, as has been stated, the question is: which voters? And how would the voters react to a choice between the hospital grounds and a central city site?

Although these questions may be unanswerable now, an examination of the March millage proposal vote might point out some guidelines.

NOT EVERYONE VOTED

It should be noted that only 19 per cent — or 6,861 voters of the school district's registered voters voted in the combined millage increase — bonding proposition election.

Only property owners were allowed to vote on the bonding proposition.

The millage proposal passed by 351 votes, 3,488 — 3,137.

It Seems to Me . . .

Logic Dictates Pontiac Area as Site for New Stadium

With our election over, the United States is turning to more strictly local problems. We face a whole host of important matters in Michigan and one of them is certainly the proposed athletic stadium.

Several sites have been mentioned but three stand out as leaders in the race for recognition. The one that occupies the bottom rung is the Detroit River. This is hard to consider seriously, save that the Mayor of Detroit is behind it and is struggling mightily to advance the cause of this location. Perhaps through a mistaken sense of loyalty he seeks to bolster a current civic mess. But the matter transcends local boundaries. It's statewide.

And I say in spite of the fact Jerome Cavanagh is a good friend of mine.

Here's a location which absolutely prohibits entrance or egress on 180 degrees of the circle. Half of the approaches are lost through the presence of water. This would appeal mightily to those who intend to reach the games by raft, canoe or skin diving. But after these 18 spectators had been duly seated, the other 74,982 would form a mass formation. Further, this location is about as inaccessible to the eight and a half million citizens of Michigan as you could devise if you set out deliberately to inconvenience everyone. How about Belle Isle?

The Fairgrounds are infinitely better. First this will ultimately be approachable from all sides and it is several miles nearer the centers of population.

However, since Alfred R. Glancy Jr. sponsored the Fairgrounds, an ever better location has been proposed in Oakland County. Here we have a beautiful spot at the junctions of I-75 and M-50 with a natural stadium site. It's accessible far beyond either of the others to several million more users. The three largest counties in Michigan are Wayne, Oakland and Macomb. This location is almost in the heart of the most populous area. Further, immediately adjacent on the north is Genesee County with Flint and environs; and just beyond Flint are Saginaw, Bay City and Midland, another populous area with easy accessibility. The Oakland County location is more available for the entire State with the exception of a very few less populated areas to the southwest.

People in general haven't had a chance to evaluate the Oakland County location.

But it's the best. And it's available.

Whatever spot is selected will require tax funds from the State of Michigan which is an added reason for the Oakland location. More Michigan people who pay the costs will find their investment accessible and something they can enjoy more easily. The Detroit Mayor's fear that the baseball team would have to be known as the "Pontiac Tigers" is groundless and stands as the laugh he meant it to be. Of course, if his own site were ever adopted, a letter in the Voice of the People suggested: "The Tigers might be called the River Rats."

Governor GEORGE ROMNEY should rally to the Oakland cause through the logical facts, which support Oakland County. The Fairgrounds can present a "free location" as the acres are owned by the State. But the total cost has become so great that unfortunately the proportionate saving becomes less consequential.

The current "Tiger Stadium" stands out dismally as one of the worst in America. It ranks along with the White Sox ball park as the dregs of athletic enclosures. The stadium itself is obsolete with hundreds of posts. It creaks and groans with age. The exits and entrances are meant for attendances of a few thousand and when football or a world series utilizes the entire capacity, it's a pretty sorry "home" for splendid Michigan teams. Probably no stadium anywhere is in a worse location. "Parking" is a complete farce. The current deal is hopeless.

Let's move.

Let's become modern.

Let's adjourn to Oakland County.

Pornography Increases . . .

DON FOX reports that he has sent especially objectionable pornographic material to various government officials.

All he gets is the run-around. Current laws are insufficient to check this disgrace or they have been interpreted by our "supreme" court to favor the guilty. The situation demands attention. Senator Griffin tells Mr. Fox he is reporting the matter to a special Commission named by the President.

Mr. Fox, don't hold your breath. Close your eyes for now. Indecency prevails today. Ultimately, President-elect Nixon will get into this rapidly increasing filth, indecency and dirt.

And In Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

This will flabbergast you for sure: the major U.S. airlines spent $236.7 million to feed their domestic and international passengers. And they invested $166 million in advertising. There'll be a few more Monday night pro football games in 1969 and a whole series in 1970. CBS has the inside track. . . . Broadway shows are very, very costly ventures and speculations. He Had His Chance!

David Lawrence Says:

Congress Swings to the Right

WASHINGTON — One of the strangest things that can happen in a national election occurred last week when a Republican won the presidency and neither the Republican nor Democratic party found it self sure of a permanent majority in Congress.

LAWRENCE

Although 218 seats in the House of Representatives, for instance, constitute a numerical majority and 243 Democrats won last Tuesday, the points of view and philosophies of many of the men elected do not assure that their votes will always be cast for their own party except perhaps on matters of a routine nature and the selection of committee chairmen.

It seems certain, however, that on most of the controversial issues, a conservative majority will control each house of Congress.

This conclusion can be drawn from an examination of the way Democrats were elected in states that were carried by Nixon and also the manner in which Republicans were elected in states carried by Humphrey or Wallace.

MORE CONSERVATIVE

In southern states, moreover, several Democrats were elected to Congress who were considered more conservative even than their Republican opponents and were, in a few cases, helped by money from Nixon supporters.

In other states, some incumbent Democrats had already, by their votes in Congress, established conservative records and were preferred by Republican voters.

If the 29 Democrats and six Republicans elected in the Wallace states are added to the Republican total of 186 derived from the states that

Humphrey and Nixon carried, this makes 221, which is three more than is necessary for a majority.

Also, all of the 39 Democrats elected in the southern and border states which Nixon carried cannot be regarded as opposed to Nixon's policies. In fact, a large number of them will doubtless be found voting for the Republican president's recommendations.

MORE VOTES

This would add 20 or 30 more votes to the 221 total given above, making it possible for 241 to 251 votes to be recorded in favor of various proposals of the Nixon administration.

So far as the Senate is concerned, there are 18 Democratic senators from the Southern and border states carried by Nixon or Wallace who, if they voted with the 42 Republicans in the new Senate, would give Republican pieces of legislation a 60 to 40 majority.

Not all of these 18 Democrats might do so, but a comfortable margin for the passage of bills urged by the Nixon administration is to be expected.

Bob Considine Says:

Long-Time Republican Has Political Memories

NEW YORK — People . . . places . . . politics

Among President-elect Nixon's most devoted champions during the long night and early morning of the election cliff-hanger was one of his law partners, a gentleman with the magnificent name of Goldthwaite Higginson Dorr.

CONSIDINE

Dorr is 92. His only concession to his remarkable years is a cane, which he used as sparingly during the long vigil of the election as he did the various chairs that were offered to him. Dorr graduated from Harvard in 1897, served in the Spanish-American War, obtained his law degree from Columbia in 1904.

He has been a vigorous practicing attorney in New York since then.

HERO BEATEN

"I remember my father reproving my older sister for supporting Gen. Hancock over Garfield in 1880," the tall, erect gentleman recalled. "When I was 8 I took a great dislike to Cleveland and prayed he'd die before he took office. He had beaten my hero, James G. Blaine of Maine.

"I attended a big rally at the old Madison Square Garden for Benjamin Harrison in 1888. We were trying to get the Irish-American vote for him. He beat Cleveland, you know. Well, I dropped out of the 1892 race — I had other things to do — but I was active in 1896 when McKinley ran against William Jennings Bryan.

"I was shocked by McKinley's assassination in Buffalo, but comforted by the fact that Teddy Roosevelt would follow him. I had met Teddy in 1895 when he was New York police commissioner and I was writing a history of Tammany."

Goldthwaite Higginson Dorr suddenly stopped talking, ending his memoirs with nearly seven decades to go.

"I don't wish for personal publicity," he said. "The only time I ever really had any was when I was making an economic survey of the Turkish economy at the request of Kemal Ataturk. A Turkish paper printed a large picture of me. The reason, I found out later, was that I looked just like Buffalo Bill."

'Do We Have Right to Protect Property?'

Now that we have heard all the speeches for law and order and everyone is concerned about crime in our streets, let's notice one of the contributing factors in our own town. What has happened to a property owner who dared to feel he had a right to protect his own property? The people who might like to stand up for Mr. Tripp better let it be known. Evidently some are taking a dim view of what he did for his own protection, but perhaps other property owners like myself would rather see the young hoodlums face charges. Since The Pontiac Press seems to be the only one interested in legality of the State income tax, can you get me some information? Is it unreasonable for signers of the petition for referendum vote to be granted a proper hearing? Is the right of a referendum vote dead in Pontiac?

TAXPAYER

REPLY

We talked with City Attorney Birnkrant, who says all provisions for the income tax are governed by State law, and legality of the tax is not under question in court. He says the only question before Court of Appeals deals solely with whether or not Circuit Court was correct in not permitting intervention by an individual claiming to have an interest in the case. According to the City Attorney, the balance of all pleadings were filed last August and included in the filing was a request for hearing and early determination. Should the Circuit Court ruling be reversed and the reversal upheld by Michigan Supreme Court, the previously filed referendum petition might again become an issue in court.

All three. The increased taxes are distributed to local, county and state government units in the same proportion now as they were before the equalization.

On Sept. 19, we addressed an open letter to Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon, pointing out that the collective bargaining process has broken down; that strikes by public employees are becoming commonplace; and that the twin monopolies of big industry and big labor now dominate the free enterprise system and jeopardize its survival.

The open letter offered a twofold solution: first, a national system of labor courts to prevent strikes in vital industries; second, a national system of economic boards to establish fair wages and prices where the public welfare is at stake or whenever monopoly practices remove wage-price movements from marketplace controls.

Together, the courts and boards would end the economic blackmail employed against the American consumer by both management and labor.

In reply, Vice President Humphrey stated that the American people cannot afford to do away with the right to strike and that "I am unalterably opposed to compulsory arbitration even if backed with judicial coercion."

Nixon answered: "In my judgment, the best answer does not lie in compulsory arbitration until we have given collective bargaining a real chance to function under an administration committed to responsible fiscal policies and true neutralization in these encounters."

All this wordage simply adds up to the fact that the labor court-economic board proposals are too hot a potato for either man to handle. Neither wants to jeopardize the support of labor or the votes of labor.

Neither, possibly, wants to alienate monopoly business interests that provide financial support for presidential and other campaigns. Both would prefer to rock along with the present, outmoded and ineffective system of collective bargaining.

Yet both men preach change. Both men talk of a "new" America, stripped of its rancors and enmities, moving forward into a prosperous and enlightened future. They do so in the face of evidence that our capitalist system desperately needs updating, as any system must from time to time.

The Communists have recognized this; they have modified their slavish adherence to Marxism and edge toward a system in which there is competition and in which those who do the most are rewarded the most.

'Mingling'

More and more "enlightened" university students are demanding the "right" to spend their nights with members of the opposite sex. Society has had institutions for this kind of mingling. They are not, however, called universities.

MARLENE

50 Years Ago Today

'Great War' Was Over

NEW YORK (AP) — World War I, once called "The war to end war," ended in an armistice 50 years ago today.

When the shooting stopped, there lay dead, by U.S. War Department count, more than 8.5 million soldiers, including 125,000 Americans.

Estimates of the over-all toll of armed men and civilians, either in battle or as a result of it, ranged up to 13 million.

France had lost 1 in 28 of its population, Germany 1 in 32, Britain 1 in 57.

EMPIRES DESTROYED

Destroyed were the German, Austro-Hungarian, Russian and Ottoman empires. In Russia, communism had emerged as a force to be reckoned with. And America, long isolated from the international mainstream, had joined the world's great powers.

Until World War II, the conflict was known as "The Great War."

Yet when it began on July 29, 1914, with the Austrian invasion of Serbia, the German-led Central Powers had expected easy victory in a matter of weeks.

Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm assured departing troops in August 1914 that they would be home "before the leaves have fallen."

4 YEARS, 105 DAYS

But it was 4 years, 105 days after the Serbian invasion when Germany, beaten back by Europe's Western Front largely by fresh American troops—and beset by civil revolution and naval mutiny, asked for an armistice.

The armistice was signed at 5 a.m. Nov. 11, 1918, in the private railway car of French Marshal Ferdinand Foch, the allied commander in chief, in the Forest of Compiègne. It was effective on the fighting fronts six hours later.

All told, more than 65 million armed men from some 30 nations had been drawn into the struggle.

The war was a strange combination of old techniques and new.

and mobile guns mingled with motorized transport in the fighting areas.

The Germans bombed London and eastern England from Zeppelin dirigibles filled with highly inflammable hydrogen until the British introduced explosive anti-aircraft bullets.

At the outset, the flimsy military planes of the time were used mainly for front-line reconnaissance. Pilots fired at enemy pilots with pistols and rifles. Aerial evolution was quick. The planes were turned into effective warcraft by the installation of machine guns, and the development of bombers, notably the German Gotha, soon followed.

In the September 1914 battle of the Marne, the French rushed 6,000 troops to the front in Paris taxicabs.

The Germans pioneered the use of poison gas in the second battle of Ypres in April and May 1915.

The British invented tanks, which made a first appearance on the Somme in September 1916.

The Germans built a monstrous gun with a range of 75 miles—eventually nicknamed "Big Bertha" after a Krupp family daughter—and on March 23, 1918, began shelling Paris from afar.

Military commanders clung stubbornly to the tactics of the past.

Elite guard outfits marched into enemy rifle and machine-gun fire in parade ground formation and were mowed down to the last man.

Not until 1918 did commanders finally realize that horse cavalry charges against dug-in machine gunners were suicidal.

By the spring of 1917 the fighting, which for years had surged back and forth in a series of inconclusive offensives and counter-offensives, had bogged down in bloody deadlock in the trenches of the Western Front.

Both sides were exhausted. Many of the weary French army units were on the verge of mutiny. Then the United States entered the war.

SUBMARINE WARFARE

America already had broken off relations with the German government because of its announcement at the start of 1917 that it would carry out unrestricted submarine warfare.

The snapping point came in March when Washington intercepted a telegram from Arthur Zimmerman, the German foreign secretary, to the Mexican government.

The telegram offered Mexico the states of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico as a bribe to join Germany and Japan in an attack on the United States.

President Woodrow Wilson issued a proclamation of war on April 7, declaring:

"The world must be made safe for democracy."

Fumbling Spartans Drop Fourth Tilt

By FLETCHER SPEARS
EAST LANSING — There remains now only reminders of what might have been for followers of the Michigan State University Spartans.

Even after the Spartans had won their first three games, there was coach Duffy Daugherty insisting that this MSU squad was not a great one, although to be sure, the

It turns out that Duffy was right all along. The Spartans have proved it and the memories of this campaign are likely to linger for some time.

TYPICAL RALLY

There were a number of key plays in the drive, but the big one was a 33-yard pass to the MSU one-yard line from sophomore Greg Brown, who had been in on only three plays prior to this game, to Eric Stolberg, who made a leaping catch over MSU's Ken Felt. That came with less than a minute to play.

The win left the Hoosiers with a mark of 6-2, 4-1 in Big Ten Conference action. The Spartans are 1-4 in the Big Ten and 4-4 on the season. The Spartans entertain Purdue next Saturday and then close the season the following week at Northwestern.

RESERVED COMMENT

With a rather mediocre Mid-American Conference record behind them, Western Michigan tried to flex their football muscles. But led by Morris, the Buffalos overcame Western's 36-32 lead in the final period as West Texas swept to a 53-34 victory. The game was played at Canyon, Tex.

Brown completed 13 of 27 passes for 226 yards and ran for 45 more. His first touchdown pass came in the third quarter, a 69 yarder to Harris for the longest scoring play of the season for Michigan. Brown ran a two-point conversion and that put Michigan ahead 20-0 at halftime.

Prague Students Planning More Anti-Soviet Protests

PRAGUE (AP) — Despite the threat of reprisals, Prague students said today they plan another anti-Soviet demonstration Nov. 17 which could lead to a general student strike.

Student leaders at Prague University issued an appeal for mass participation and called a meeting of student strike committees next Tuesday to map strategy.

The announcement came as Prague Radio and television broadcast an Interior Ministry statement Friday which acknowledged for the first time that such demonstrations occurred. It said 167 persons were arrested in Prague, Bratislava, Brno and Ceske Budejovice.

The ministry noted that Soviet flags were burned and anti-Soviet slogans were chanted. It said the demonstrations Thursday were actions of "irresponsible groups" and "fairly serious provocations."

Prague City council condemned the demonstrations as "politically extremely inappropriate."

The government announced a one-month suspension of Reporters, the weekly magazine of the Czechoslovak Journalists Union, on grounds its contents were "inconsistent with Czechoslovak laws." The magazine has supported the reforms of party chief Alexander Dubcek and printed criticisms of the Soviet Union and the old guard Communists in Czechoslovakia.

The party presidium also warned other domestic newspapers and broadcast media about "their great responsibility for the course of normalization" and emphasized they should "actively support this course by their activities."

About 70,000 Soviet troops will remain in Czechoslovakia until the country "normalizes" under an agreement ratified by Prague and the Kremlin Oct. 18, Czechoslovak officials have been told.

It was also reported Friday that seven Western news and television cameramen were seized and questioned. The newsmen had witnessed a demonstration where Soviet flags were burned.

All seven were released, but their travel visas were confiscated and they were told to report back to the police on Monday. Film and cameras were taken from an NBC team.

The official moves seemed designed to insure tranquility for a Communist party Central Committee meeting Thursday that might become a showdown between Dubcek's reformers and the old guard faction.

The Dubcek faction is striving to achieve party unity so it can work to salvage some of its liberal reforms, while the old guards are trying to discredit these reforms and return Czechoslovakia to the more rigid Kremlin brand of communism.

The government announced that 86 per cent of the Warsaw Pact forces to leave under terms of the Oct. 18 Moscow Pact have already withdrawn from Czechoslovakia.

Western experts in Czechoslovakia have estimated the invasion force at 400,000 to 550,000. Vaclav Dvorak, a deputy defense minister, said saying troop withdrawals would be completed by Dec. 15.

State MDs OK Plan for DO Option

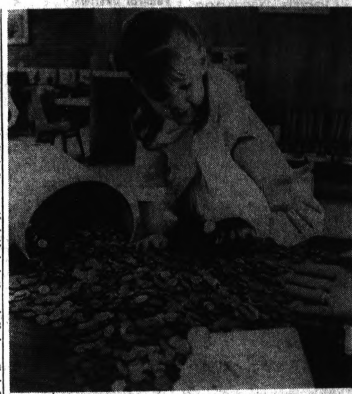

The Michigan State Medical Society (MSMS) has endorsed a plan for the state's three medical schools to develop an educational program that would allow students the option of earning a medical or osteopathy degree.

Expressing concern about the "serious shortage of physicians," Dr. Ross V. Taylor, chairman of the MSMS Council, in a letter to Ira Polley, state superintendent of Public Instruction, said the council supports the State Board of Education in its effort to encourage the medical schools to develop curricula which would make possible the granting of either degree.

The State Board of Education has discussed the proposed degree option with officials of the three universities — University of Michigan, Wayne State University and Michigan State University.

The MSMS Council, according to Dr. Taylor, also agreed that "each new school be developed so as to offer its students an education program granting either the MD or DO degree upon graduation. An Osteopathic College in Pontiac will open next fall."

The MSMS degree option recommendation follows a vote by its 1967 House of Delegates to admit qualified osteopaths to associate membership and an earlier advisory vote concerning the amalgamation of the MDs and DOs. The MDs reportedly voted overwhelmingly in favor of the merger but osteopaths opposed the move.

Hoffa Seeks Teamster Post

Attacked Twice, Says Opponent's Supporter

DETROIT (AP)—Union slates headed by jailed Teamsters President James R. Hoffa and an unemployed truck driver were nominated Sunday in a contest for control of Hoffa's Detroit stronghold, Detroit Teamsters Local 299.

A worker supporting the candidacy of truck driver Andrew Provenzano told police he had been attacked twice while attempting to hand out literature in front of the Teamsters meeting hall.

Acting Teamsters president and Local 299 Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons announced the candidacy of Hoffa, who, despite his residence at Lewisville Federal Penitentiary in Pennsylvania, has retained his office.

Provenzano's opposition slate calls for periodic election of business agents and local stewards. Now, the Provenzano slate contends, the stewards are chosen by Hoffa's Local 299 without election.

REBEL'S PROPOSALS

The rebel candidate also calls for opening of the Teamsters' health insurance plan to competitive bidding, overhaul of the grievance procedure and more membership participation in union affairs.

Provenzano, 42, has been a Teamster member for 19 years. He was fired from his job at Merchants Forwarding Co. in Detroit last July on a charge of causing a work stoppage. He has denied the charge and said a lawsuit is being prepared.

Hard-Core Find Work

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — Most Americans, regardless of political persuasion, no doubt welcomed the news from the National Alliance of Businessmen that 84,000 jobs have been found for hard-core unemployed.

Although nearly 23,000 of these jobs later were lost, the CUNIFF net gain of 61,000 indicates that the alliance is going to reach its goal of 100,000 by next June 30.

The feeling among many people is that here is a program for social good whose development has gone beyond the state of hope and experiment to that of practical results.

The key to the alliance's success, small as it is, seems to be training. But even with training, workers and job still might have remained apart unless alliance members had stepped in and turned the key, for jobs and unemployment have a curious relationship.

CONTINUING MYSTERY

It has been a continuing mystery to many people, for example, why nearly 2.5 million Americans are jobless while the classified advertising pages of newspapers are filled with appeals for business for help.

Month after month during the greatest economic boom in American history, this condition has existed, one of the reasons being that the job requirements and the skills possessed by the job seekers simply do not match.

Other major factors are involved. Many of the best jobs for instance, are in factories that have deserted the cities, where most of the unemployed Negroes live, and moved to the psychologically distant and nearly all-white suburbs.

Age is a factor, especially when an obsolete skill is also involved. Mobility is a factor also, for many idle workers are unwilling to uproot their families.

OBVIOUS ROLES
Racial and age discrimination have played obvious roles, too, but lack of training and a failure to understand the mechanics of job seeking have always been near the top of the list.

Ten-agers entering the work force have been inadequately prepared, and so the teen-age work force has a jobless rate of 18.6 per cent, or nearly eight times that of married men, whose rate is 1.6 per cent.

GAP-FILLING CATALYST

This is the gap into which the alliance stepped as a catalyst. Of the 61,000 jobs by mid-1971 will be achieved.

The importance of such achievements should be measured in terms of the social disorder that clearly has resulted from unemployment — in terms, that is, of the despair and sense of injustice from which violence erupts.

Leo C. Beebe, vice chairman of the alliance, said "Numbers do not tell the whole story. The real potential for success... is visible more importantly in the positive and constructive reaction to the experience by employers and the hard-core alike."

Two Remain Hospitalized After Crash

Two Springfield Township residents remain hospitalized today after being involved in a three-car accident in Waterford Township Friday afternoon.

Christina Burman, 17, of 11500 Clark is in poor condition and Daniel Burman, 20, same address, is in fair condition, both in Pontiac General Hospital.

They were riding in a car driven southbound by Daniel L. Reynolds, 18, of 2628 Beland. Reynolds' car, which collided with two other cars northbound on Dixie Highway near Andersonville Road, according to police.

Police said Reynolds tried to avoid a fourth car which cut across the highway in front of the two northbound cars and then in front of Reynolds.

DRIVER UNIDENTIFIED

Police have not identified the driver of the fourth vehicle.

Alice Cole, 64, of Atlanta drove one of the northbound cars. She and her passenger, Rita Calkins of 5400 Franklinville, Independence Township were not seriously hurt.

Driver of the other car, Lucy Franco, 17, of 8379 Pine Knob, Independence Township was not injured.

Among adults, meager skills that once permitted a worker to hold tenaciously to a job have become useless in an age of increasing technological complexity and automation. Elevator operators, you have noticed, are a disappearing breed.

Without retraining in a new skill, most of these workers have found themselves with little to sell a potential employer and no knowledge of how to go about changing the situation.

Snake Guarding Jewelry Display

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Bill Clemmer called for a police guard when he set up a display of jewelry with an art show in Miami's Coconut Grove section. But no policemen were available. They were tied up guarding President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

Clemmer found a solution, however. He acquired a rat snake and put him in the jewelry case. The snake usually only attacks rats, but Clemmer hopes potential thieves won't know that.
