

Order to Alabama: Desegregate All Schools

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A three-judge federal court today ordered 99 Alabama school systems — all those not already under court order — to begin desegregation next fall and directed state officials to take affirmative steps to end all racial discrimination in the schools.

“Faculty members and staff members, facilities and activities, as well as student bodies, must be desegregated to such an extent that there no longer exists in the Alabama public school system discrimination of any sort or to any degree that is based on race or color,” the judges wrote in an opinion accompanying the decree.

The unanimous decision struck down Alabama’s tuition grant law under which pupils may draw state funds to attend private schools.

Named in an injunction against enforcing discrimination were Gov. Lurleen Wallace, who is president of the State School Board; members of the board, and the state school superintendent.

The school superintendent was ordered to require all school systems not now under court integration orders to submit desegregation plans “for all grades commencing with the 1967-68 school year.”

3 SIGN ORDER

Signing the order were U.S. Dist. Court Judges Richard T. Rives, H. H. Grooms and Frank M. Johnson Jr.

The court decreed: “The state superintendent of education shall develop a detailed program for assisting and encouraging faculty desegregation in the local school systems throughout the state for implementation prior to the 1967-68 school year and shall submit this program to the court and all parties within 60 days after the entry of this court’s decree.

Other requirements of the 12-page order:

- State officials named in the lawsuit brought by Negro pupils and the Justice Department must require all the 99 school systems to eliminate racial assignment of pupils on school buses and do away with overlapping or duplicate bus routes.
- The 99 school systems must adopt a desegregation plan within 20 days of the order.
- No person shall be denied admission to any trade school, junior college or state college administered by the Alabama State Board of Education upon the ground of race.
- Dual attendance zones based on race for trade schools, junior colleges and state colleges “shall be abolished.” Faculty shall be assigned “so as to desegregate faculty” by September 1967.
- The state superintendent must develop and submit a detailed program for bringing the quality and facilities of Negro schools up to the level in previously white schools.
- The Justice Department must submit to the court within 30 days a report of any school systems failing to follow the order to adopt a satisfactory desegregation plan.
- The tuition grant law was voided and defendant state officials and others were directed to not approve any further grants.

Misfortunes, Illness Plague Ex-Sailor

By JEAN SAILE

Five small children and an 18-year-old wife look to 29-year-old Frank Rivard for the answers.

And Rivard no longer knows where to look.

Plagued by an unbelievable torrent of hard luck during the past five years, the ex-sailor has just about lost the jaunty look that can still on occasion spark his dark eyes and bring a rueful grin to his face.

The latest blow was a fire Friday night which gutted the family’s rented one-bedroom frame cottage on Pine Lake in West Bloomfield Township. It had taken them four months until last July to find that place.

The blaze consumed all their clothing, their appliances and their almost-new furniture. It left them without a place to live, and it meant once more boarding out the four eldest children.

‘SOMETHING HAPPENS’

As Rivard puts it, “Every time you get something going, something happens to knock a guy down again.”

It was the space heater this time, Rivard believes. “It was never very good when it was working,” he confides.

In the past it’s been the death of his first wife, Sharon, who succumbed to an ulcerated colon two years ago at age 22.

2nd WIFE’S ILLNESS

For his second wife, Beverly, it’s been an advanced ulcer condition and considerable trouble during her pregnancy for 6-month-old Donald.

Even the children are not immune. Donald has been hospitalized three times with stomach disorders and Penny, 5, was in the hospital last fall with pneumonia.

“That was a drafty old converted cottage,” Rivard said. “But it was the only thing we could find. People don’t like to rent to a family with a lot of children.”

Before the troubles started Rivard owned his home in Waterford Township.

NO INSURANCE

With the illness and death of his first wife, Rivard was caught unprepared. He had no insurance. He tried to rent the home, but it didn’t work out, and he turned it back to the contractor holder.

Car Mishap Fatal to Commerce Girl

A 16-year-old Commerce Township girl was killed yesterday afternoon when her car apparently failed to negotiate a curve and struck a tree in West Bloomfield Township.

Township police said Rebecca S. Carr of 3100 Greenlawn, was alone in her car when she failed to make the curve on Commerce Road west of Keeler.

They said she apparently lost control of her car, ran off the road and hit a tree on the driver’s side of the car. The accident occurred at 4:05 p.m.

She was pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

Thought of Trip Brings an ‘Ole’ to Press Readers

With a hectic winter just behind and a damp, rainy April approaching, the mere thought of a visit to sunny Spain is most exhilarating.

But, pleasant thoughts are fleeting and only positive action can bring enduring satisfaction.

Mindful of this, The Pontiac Press, as a service to its readers, is arranging a 15-day trip to Spain and Portugal beginning with a May 16 flight out of Pontiac.

The fascinating adventure will include

stops at Lisbon, Seville, Granada and Madrid.

TOUR CONDUCTOR

Conducting the tour will be Bernard M. Salvatore, assistant advertising director for The Press, and Mrs. Salvatore.

Cost per person for the trip is $765. It includes all meals, lodging in the finest hotels and both air and sight-seeing travel.

LBJ Will Continue Viet Peace Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he will persist in efforts to seek peace with North Vietnam despite regrettable rebuffs. But administration officials see Hanoi’s rejection and its release of a personal Johnson proposal for peace talks as a bad sign.

Johnson returned yesterday from a two-day Vietnam war conference in Guam.

En route home he learned of Hanoi’s publication yesterday of a secret exchange of letters he had with President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam six weeks ago.

“We shall persevere in our efforts to find an honorable peace,” Johnson said in a brief arrival statement at Andrews Air Force Base, Md. “Until that is achieved, we shall, of course, continue to do our duty in Vietnam.”

Officials said the North Vietnamese government has been informed that Johnson’s proposal for talks — and for steps to deescalate the war — is still open. But they saw no prospect of its acceptance anytime soon.

In coming months the President is expected to increase further the military pressure on Communist forces in South Vietnam while stepping up the pounding of North Vietnam.

Administration officials had hoped that military losses and bomb damage suffered by the Communists in the past two years would force them to the conference table early this year.

That hope has been sharply deflated by Ho’s rejection of Johnson’s bid, and by Ho’s making public the exchange of letters. Officials said they were baffled by the publication.

There was some speculation here that Communist Chinese influence in Hanoi might be responsible, or that Ho might have decided to use the exchange as a means of attacking the Guam conference.

A persistent critic of Johnson’s Vietnam policies, Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called the President’s offer to Ho reasonable but urged today in an interview a halt to bombing on the chance it might pave the way to peace talks.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., another Vietnam critic, said in a statement Johnson had imposed a new condition to peace talks requiring evidence that North Vietnamese infiltration has halted before U.S. bombing will be stopped.

At the United Nations, Secretary-General U Thant was reported to have sent messages to both North and South Vietnam proposing a cease-fire and peace talks.

Diplomatic sources said Thant’s messages of last week led to Saigon’s proposal of talks to Hanoi, announced following the Guam conference. There has been no announced reply from Hanoi to that bid.

STARTED IN FEBRUARY

Johnson initiated his exchange of letters in early February at the time of a Vietnamese Lunar New Year cease-fire which included a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

Says the Weatherman

We’re Gaining; Chill to Fade

Springlike weather may be a little slow in arriving but the weatherman promises partly sunny skies and warmer tomorrow, fair and mild Friday.

Tonight’s low will range from 30 to 35 with skies clear.

The high will climb into the 40s tomorrow.

Morning westerly winds at 10 to 20 miles today will continue tonight.

A low of 30 was the recording in downtown Pontiac at 8 a.m. today. The mercury reached 39 by 2 p.m.

Pigtail Was Getting in Her Hair, so...

By PAT MCCARTY

When does a pretty pigtail get to be a pain in the neck?

When it grows down a girl’s back until it’s in danger of being sat on. And besides, she’s got better things to do than stand still while Mother unsnarls and combs her tresses.

So 6-year-old Darlene Binder decided the time had come for her hair to be shorn. Darlene’s the oldest of the four children of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Binder, 1010 Meadowlawn.

Her hair had been allowed to grow so long because it was “just pretty,” her mother said. But lately it’s been another story for the Alcott Elementary School first grader.

“She just got tired of it,” Mrs. Binder

PIXIE CUT

Yesterday Mrs. Binder took Darlene to Coiffures by Donnell, where Donnell Thomas styled a spiffy pixie cut that was just what the young lady wanted.

Since it was her first trip to a beauty shop, Darlene sat very still and watched all the activities in the rest of the shop while the snip-snip was going on behind her back.

In about 45 minutes she had very little hair on her head and most of it in her hand.

Nationwide Shipping Tie-Up Looming

NEW YORK (AP) — Three major maritime unions fighting to save jobs for American seamen and ship officers have threatened to tie up all for 12 hours in advance of the American ships in U.S. ports for noon meetings and we cannot say when they will go back to their ships."

The tie-up is scheduled for next Tuesday to protest what the unions charge is a Johnson administration practice of displacing American crews on some U.S. ships with foreign nationals.

The heads of the three unions said Tuesday they will conduct protest rallies at noon Tuesday in a number of port cities across the nation.

A joint statement by the union chiefs said: "We are calling officers and crews off all ships in U.S. ports for 12 hours in advance of the American ships in U.S. ports for noon meetings and we cannot say when they will go back to their ships."

The three unions are the International Brotherhood of Marine Engineers, the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, and the National Maritime Union, which represents unlicensed personnel including seamen, engine-room workers, steward's department employees and others.

The protest statement was issued by Joseph Curran, president of the NMU; Capt. Lloyd

Lawyer Faces Perjury Charge in 'Plot' Probe

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Dean A. Andrews Jr., 44, a resident, five-talking lawyer who says he once represented Lee Harvey Oswald on minor legal matters, faces arraignment today on a perjury charge.

Andrews was indicted last week by the Orleans Parish grand jury in its check into Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's Kennedy assassination conspiracy case.

No background of the charge had been released before the hearing.

Adoption Case in Court

NEW YORK (AP) — One child morning six weeks ago, two social workers went to the eight-room house of Nunzia Marchese on Long Island to pick up a 4-year-old girl and return her to a founding home.

"It was 7:30 a.m.," Marchese recalls. "Nancy Anne was still sleeping. We had to awaken her."

When it came time to leave, Nancy Anne didn't want to be taken out of the house.

"She ran to my oldest daughter and held on," Marchese remembers. "She started to cry."

Marchese, 60, and his wife, Josephine, 55, had raised Nancy Anne Pagan since she was two weeks old.

In the past 40 years industrial lost-time injuries per million man hours worked have been reduced from 31.87 to 6.53, a decline of 80 per cent.

Ex-Sailor, Family Plagued by Disasters hit more than we paid," he said regretfully.

Rivard tends at time to place the bad luck beginning back even farther than his first marriage.

A high school dropout, he admits that to progress any farther in his third-shift job at GMC Truck and Coach, he'd need a diploma.

EARNINGS PER WEEK

Rivard makes between $125 and $130 a week when he works the full week, "but it's been a long time since I've seen a full paycheck."

Having declared personal bankruptcy some years ago, Rivard reports that his pay-check and his bills are in the hands of the county courts.

"They're trying to pay off some of the debts," he said.

Actually Rivard's bout with hepatitis and his need for sleep may have been the factor that saved the lives of the family Friday night.

COLD COTTAGE

He'd taken Beverly to Ann Arbor for one of her regular examinations and came home tired to find the cottage cold. He'd bundled up the children and taken them to his first wife's mother at Watkins Lake. They were sleeping there when the space heater started to go wrong.

The children are now with Mrs. Edith Matthews at 15 Gingell in Pontiac.

"They don't mind. They know her from when she took care of them after Sharon died," he said. "She's a good woman."

Rivard, his wife, and their baby are staying with his sister, Mrs. Samuel Watchmaker, in a trailer at 124 College Drive, Pontiac Township.

MISSING SCHOOL

The trailer isn't big enough for all.

The two oldest girls, Tammy, 6, and Penny are missing first grade and kindergarten classes at Pine Lake Elementary School. Terri, 4, and Cindy, 3, don't seem to mind too much, according to Rivard.

"If we could just find a house I could afford and if we could gather enough stuff to start housekeeping again, I guess we'd be alright," Rivard said.

"I really want to get those girls home again," he added.

Board Subpoenaed for Hearing About Independence Bar

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — The entire Township Board meeting last night was served with subpoenas ordering them to appear at a show cause hearing concerning Manzell's Bar, 7504 Dixie.

The license of the bar was revoked last April because of board action and the owner, Nicholas Manzella, has been fighting to get it back since.

The board asked that the bar's license be revoked because of fights that had allegedly occurred on the premises. The State Liquor Commission complied.

Manzella has filed a civil suit in Circuit Court asking that the Township Board rescind its previous action and recommend to the liquor board that the license be reinstated. This case is to be heard later.

Meanwhile, the board is ordered to appear next Monday to "show cause" why it shouldn't be restrained from issuing any "Class C, liquor and similar license," pending the outcome of the case.

MAY BLOCK LICENSE

This action apparently would prevent the Township Board from issuing a seasonal liquor license to a country club under construction on Maybee Road served with subpoenas ordering them to appear at a show cause hearing concerning Manzell's Bar, 7504 Dixie.

Wixom Plan Recertified

WIXOM — The city's workable program for community improvement has been recertified for the coming year by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The workable program is necessary before a community can apply for federal aid. It is intended to show a community is using its own resources in addition to federal aid.

An application for federal funds for a survey and planning grant for the downtown area has been submitted to HUD.

If it is granted, detailed planning will be undertaken followed by the actual project.

The community must show reasonable progress each year under its workable program to obtain recertification and remain eligible for the federal funds.

According to Dr. Richard McNeil, planning chairman, the federal government would pay about $6,000 annually for two years for such a program.

Lake Orion would be expected to put up another $3,000 next year, McNeil said.

Adrian Deadline

ADRIAN (AP) — Local 1571 of the International Association of Firefighters has until March 31 to accept a State Mediation Board proposal for a new contract or end negotiations with Adrian, Mayor Walter Bohn said Tuesday. Firemen have been bargaining with the city since January 1966 in their bid for higher pay.

High Schoolers Champ at Pancake-Eating Bit

DETROIT (UPI) — A group of 218 suburban high school students became Michigan's champion pancake eaters yesterday by stuffing down 3,481 saucer-sized cakes in two hours.

That's nearly 16 per man.

The group, students at Royal Oak Kimball High School, took up the challenge of suburban Redford Township High School eaters who downed 1,356 pancakes last week.

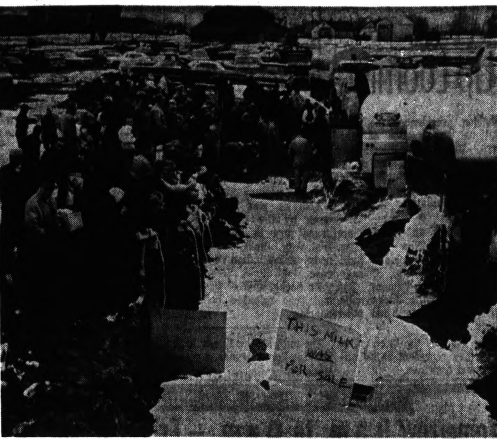

The contest started shortly after a chain of pancake houses in the metropolitan area began offering "all you can eat for 49 cents" and already two other high schools have announced their intentions of taking up the eating challenge.

Kimball student Don Donaldson, 16, was the first to quit yesterday. He ate 15 pancakes.

'NOT HUNGRY'

"I wasn't very hungry," he said. "An hour and a half ago, I ate two hamburgers, some french fries and a coke."

"Besides, I have to get home for dinner."

MILK DUMPING — More than 167,000 pounds of milk were dumped into this trench on a Caro farm by scores of Tuscola County farmers as part of a drive by the National Farmers Organization to increase the retail price of milk. Other farmers purchased cartons of milk at retail stores and dumped the contents into the trench. Eight trucks participated in the mass dumping.

Wixom Firm to Get $93,477 'Overrun'

LANSING (AP) — The State Administrative Board decided today to pay a controversial and much-delayed "overrun" of $93,477 to Holloway Construction Co. of Wixom.

There was no audible dissent when the board voted, but State Treasurer Allison Green and Deputy Secretary of State Richard Cook, representing Secretary James Hare, abstained.

The money represents a claim by Holloway for costs in excess of the Highway Department contract figure.

The overrun involves work on related road projects in Sanilac County and in near Lexington.

Holloway currently is suing the state in the Court of Claims over another overrun of $1.25 million the contractor claims is due for a Berrien County project.

DEALINGS INVESTIGATED

In addition, State Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley's office is investigating Holloway's dealings with the Highway Department and is looking into the entire question today to pay a controversial and much-delayed "overrun" of $93,477 to Holloway Construction Co. of Wixom.

Kelley told the Administrative Board today he saw no legal reason why the $93,477 could not be paid.

He had earlier asked a delay to study whether, because of the current litigation with Holloway the state could withhold the Sanilac County payment.

"Based on the litigation," Kelley told the Ad Board today, "we have no legal right to withhold this claim."

'NOT GOOD POLICY'

"I don't believe it's good public policy to pay it in view of the pending lawsuit," argued Green. "The whole litigation is about overruns, and here we are with one of their overruns before us."

The board's transportation and conservation committee, of which Green is chairman, reported the overrun claim to the board Jan. 17 without recommendation. Kelley then requested the delay.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Leon Cohan said March 7 Kelley's office found no legal objection to the payment, but Gov. George Romney requested another delay, saying he wanted to hear that from Kelley himself.

The original contract for the Sanilac County project-involving 10.8 miles of work on U.S. 25 from Lexington to Port Sanilac and .16 mile of surfacing on M90 in Lexington — totaled $951,500.

The overrun brings the total cost of the project to $1,044,977.

Decker PTA to Hear Garver

WALLED LAKE — Schools, Supt. George Garver will speak on the topic "Walled Lake Schools Move Forward" at the March 27 meeting of Decker School PTA.

New trends in education will be discussed at the meeting which begins at 8 p.m.

Officers for the 1967-68 school year will also be elected.

Milk Striker Visited

He's in No Mood for Games

By L. GARY THORNE
Assistant City Editor — Suburban

IMLAY CITY — There was a wet snow whipped by high winds as Neil Crawford stepped the long step down Monday afternoon from the house trailer to the gravelled parking lot at M21 and M53.

Crawford, wearing an unfarmish ski jacket, gritted his teeth before looking into the wind and the photographers' camera. The effect was to give a square jut to his jaw, which indicated his current temperament.

The house trailer, its green paint badly chipped, was parked adjacent to a hot dog stand and a boat establishment of some sort on the outskirts of the village.

For the last week the trailer has been Crawford's office. He is Lapeere County chairman for the National Farmers Organization (NFO).

This group has fostered a 25-state milk strike, now a week old.

AIM OF STRIKE

The strike, which has farmers dumping milk down drains, is aimed at raising the price farmers receive by two cents a quart.

The small group taking refuge in the trailer appeared grim. They spoke of determination.

NEIL CRAWFORD

The 40-year-old Crawford hails from Lum, a hamlet further north from Imlay City. He runs a 240-acre farm with 30 dairy cows.

"We'll just sit tight," he commented, trailing the sentence off into mid-air.

The gathering at Imlay City resulted from the location there of a Michigan Milk Producers Association depot. It is a collection point for milk headed southward.

There are differing views on whether the milk strike or holdback is effective. NFO members say yes, but dairies that receive the raw milk for processing claim no. Grocery shelves tend to support the latter.

PLIGHT OF FARMER

Meantime, the action by NFO is an indicator of the plight of the farmer. One participant in the current holdback commented: "Some of them have said this is their last chance to stay in farming."

The speaker said he had an investment valued at $100,000. This investment, exclusive of food on the table, netted him a mere $3,000 last year.

This is the farmer's position. It explains why he battles for two cents more a quart.

Perhaps as an indication of what is to come, U.S. Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman intimated in Detroit that milk and food prices may have to rise in order for the farmer to get a return on his products proportionate to his investment.

It just could happen.

Mental Patients Appeal for More Funds

NORTHVILLE (AP)—"If we Pat is a mental patient at had cancer or tuberculosis or Northville State Hospital and were retarded children, there spokesmen for a patients' council would be a group in Lansing cil which has started circulating speaking up for our interests," a petition calling on the Legislature for "immediate relief" to improve services.

Pat, who has been undergoing psychiatric treatment at the hospital five weeks, says he would like to see mental patients form a lobby.

The council, with representation from each of the hospital's 35 wards, is circulating the petition among 2,300 fellow inmates. It says it hopes to organize similar campaigns in other mental hospitals.

Hospital staff members say they believe this is the first time mental patients have made an organized appeal.

The council is seeking a meeting with the state Senate Appropriations Committee.

Frank W. Steere

In the death of FRANK W. STEERE the community loses an eminent citizen whose achievements in industrial and engineering fields bear the stamp of greatness.

A native of Oakland County, Mr. STEERE's professional career reflected outstanding organizational ability and administrative capacity.

STEERE

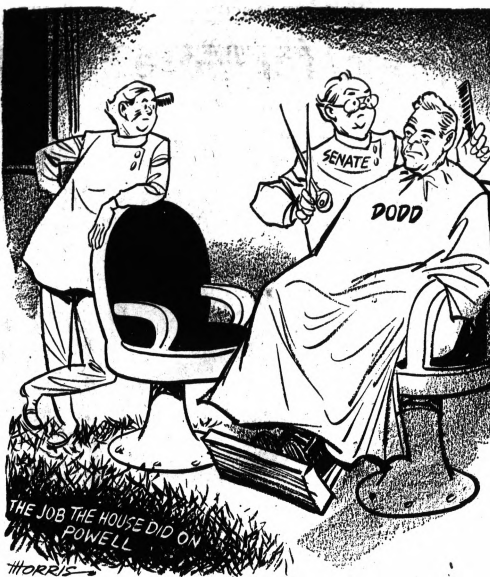

His warm and outgoing personality and wide range of personal interests won a multitude of friends and admirers as he lived out the 82 years that saw him the recipient of formal recognition and awards in a variety of pursuits.

After his business and allied interests had centered him in various regional locales, Mr. STEERE retired in 1933 to his Watkins Lake farm.

Retirement for him, however, was more nominal than actual, as he kept alive his interest in community affairs and gave freely of himself on behalf of many worthy causes.

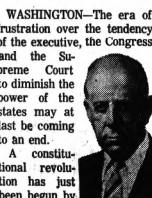

Mr. Steere left an indelible mark on the record of his times. Our part of the world is a better place for his having graced it.

LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The era of frustration over the tendency of the executive, the Congress and the Supreme Court to diminish the power of the states may at last be coming to an end.

A constitutional revolution has just been begun by the state legislatures across the country.

For the first time since 1787, the state legislatures have started a movement to call a convention which could result in amending the Constitution without requiring the approval of Congress.

This method is specifically authorized by the Constitution, and the only requirement is that two-thirds of the state legislatures must make a formal request to Congress that a constitutional convention be called.

Amendments then adopted by the convention and ratified by three-fourths of the states would become effective without the necessity of action by Congress.

The rebellion has arisen largely because the Supreme Court of the United States ordered that membership in both houses of state legislatures be apportioned solely on a population basis.

Some of the news dispatches have erroneously implied that Congress need not call a constitutional convention. But the language of the Constitution leaves Congress no discretion in the matter, according to most legal experts.

EXPECTED TO FOLLOW

Actually, at the moment, 22 legislatures have signed petitions, and other states are expected to follow shortly so as to make up the necessary two-thirds—namely, 34 states.

If Congress did ignore the explicit wording of the Constitution, the Supreme Court could be asked by the state legislatures to intervene.

The Supreme Court could issue such an order or, as an alternative if this was disobeyed, could authorize such a convention to meet anyway.

It may be, of course, that if a convention is likely to be ordered by the court, a change in sentiment will ensue in Capitol Hill. For Congress probably would much rather have action on a single amendment involving the reapportionment problem than to have a whole gamut of issues opened up for constitutional amendment, especially since there are no limits on the questions that a constitutional convention can consider.

PUBLIC FUNDS

The delegates to the convention from the several states could take action to prevent the federal government from using public funds as a means of interfering in activities which are explicitly reserved to the states by the Constitution.

There are, in fact, opportunities for a complete shift of power from the federal government back to the states if the device of a national constitutional convention now is put into operation.

Bob Considine Says:

1919—the Year Wesleyan Clobbered Old Columbia

NEW YORK—The strangest thing out of a reporter's mailbox:

Writing from "Mule's Nest," his Connecticut estate, Bugs Baer answers an old admirer named Frank Johnson who wrote to me asking if Bugs remembered

Wesleyan's 40-0 victory over Columbia about 1912.

"I doubt it," Bugs pens, "but I do recall that 1919 was a bad year for asparagus and Eddie Rickenbacker's cars. If Wesleyan walloped Columbia by that score it was as one-sided as a slipped saddle."

"Were they playing croquet with loaded croquet? Widdly-winkling with vest buttons?"

"Mr. Johnson says he was delighted with the line, 'The Columbia boys had Welcome written on their jerseys.' I wrote that 50 years ago. But I wouldn't claim a line like that would cause the sun to stand still, nor stay the stars in their orbits."

QUICKIES

"Why can't we give him some quickies like, 'He sat on the bench so long he ran sitting down' or 'Willie Keeler hit 'em where they ain't. Babe Ruth hit 'em where they are never going to be,' or for the guy thrown out at second while trying to steal. This head was full of larceny but his feet were honest."

"A fire in the old N. Y. American's morgue cooked a lot of my clippings. I didn't start filing them myself until around 1925, which certainly eliminates Mr. Johnson's 1919 Wesleyans."

"The big question in college football is whether there are more Wesleyans than Poly Techs."

"Probably the most famous Wesleyan was in West Virginia. I saw them play Georgetown when the Hill-toppers were tops."

"That Wesleyan eleven had a Howl named Greasy Neale that year, probably 1914."

"He had both ankles bandaged and limped tenderly on the field."

"Then he started catching forward passes, and broke all limping records — both amateur and professional. His lymphatic glands were working good."

"Incidentally, there are more college Hilltoppers than Poly Techs. Any campus that will shed water is a Hilltop."

"I realize I have not answered Mr. Johnson's question. I don't even answer my own. Yours as never, The Bug."

CONSIDINE

The Company Boss Is Now Many-Headed

The day of the rugged business individual, the man who runs his company like a tight ship with himself as all-powerful captain, is ending in America.

Power is passing from the individual corporate president or chairman of the board to the expert groups further down in his firm, observes Harvard economist JOHN KENNETH GALBRAITH.

The control of business enterprises has become collegial, he says. It is based on expert knowledge, much as earlier generations of power were based on land or capital.

Power lies with the individuals who possess knowledge, not connections with the financial or industrial community. If their knowledge is particular and strategic, their power becomes very great — not as individuals, however, but as part of the decision-making group.

There is a popular tendency to think of groups or committees as inefficient. Not so, defends the economist.

"Highly paid men, when sitting around a table as a committee, are not necessarily wasting more time in the aggregate than each would waste all by himself."

It would be nice to think that this is as true in Washington as in private enterprise.

Science Props School Smoking Ban

By DIK SAUNDERS
Recently a student at Bloomfield Hills Andover High School was suspended for smoking cigarettes on school grounds.

The suspension policy is not new. Bloomfield Hills School District slaps a 20-day suspension on any student found smoking on school property.

For a second infraction the penalty is suspension for the balance of the school year.

Is this penalty too severe? Is a ban on student smoking too much to expect?

According to Dr. Roscoe V. Stuber of Howell, it's peanuts. Dr. Stuber is medical chairman for the Michigan Division of the American Cancer Society.

In the current issue of Michigan Medicine, published by the Michigan State Medical Society, he recommends the following four steps be taken by citizens and physicians to curb heavy cigarette smoking among young people:

• "We should have no student smoking in and about the public schools. If possible, I should like to see teachers not smoke, or at least smoke only in a privately designated room."

• "Cigarette sales should be confined to those over 18, and, like alcohol, fines should be levied against those minors buying cigarettes or merchants who sell to minors."

• "The American Cancer Society films and film strips on cancer of the lungs should be shown to all school children from the fifth grade through the tenth grade."

• "Insurance companies should make heavy smokers high risk clients and take riders against death from coronary artery disease, emphysema and cancer of the lung in patients who are over a pack-a-day smokers. As yet, no major insurance companies have inquired of their questionnaires as to how much their prospective policy holder smokes."

In addition, Dr. Stuber recommends support for legislation to curtail cigarette advertising, pointing out that cigarette advertising on television is banned in Great Britain and Italy.

How about that? Sound like a bit too much? Then consider these findings in Dr. Stuber's special article:

• The lung cancer death rate in America is nearly 50,000 a year.

• Heavy smoking doubles the chances of death from coronary artery disease and increases the incidence of emphysema nearly 12 times.

"The tragic, but preventable loss of over 200,000 American lives yearly can be reduced appreciably by our efforts to keep our young people from being addicted to cigarettes until the safe cigarette is found," Dr. Stuber asserts.

He also points out that "emphysema and lung cancer killed about 3,000 Michigan residents last year compared with 2,500 who perished in automobile accidents."

Do his recommendations still sound like a bit too much?

Then consider the time, energy and money we've poured into trying to make our highways and automobiles safer. All this is going toward curbing a killer that's only second best.

Press Reader Questions Sentences for Attacks

A young hoodlum's penalty was probation for attacking a member of the educational profession while carrying out his duties. A resident was mugged in his own yard and his wallet stolen. The miscreants were sentenced to probation.

Teachers have been placed in a position where to defend themselves is tantamount to dismissal by the local school administration, and if charges are brought the attacker or thief faces the victim with a sneer the next day.

If our municipal judges think that probation is the administration of justice, regardless of the offense, it is time they are replaced.

The approach of the baseball season set me to thinking about our team in Lansing. This outfit cheated the fans before the season even started. They neglected to say that they were going to save the star hitter for the "big game," while keeping a pinch hitter in there almost all the time. If our star wanted into the national league so badly, how come he signed up with the team? To top it all, they're now asking for an increase in the gate receipts.

Court Efficiency

Los Angeles Times

In its historic report the President's Crime Commission strongly emphasized greater efficiency in the courts as a means of reducing crime and improving the administration of justice.

The commission's concern extended to the federal judicial system as well as to the courts in the various states.

For as Rep. James Corman (D-Calif.) recently noted, "The delay and congestion in our federal courts is the worst in our history despite the increase in the number of federal district judgeships."

"The mere addition of judges to the courts will not bring about the efficient administration that simple justice demands," said Corman, a member of the House Judiciary Committee.

"Better judicial administration requires better research, better training and continuing education programs."

To achieve these goals, Corman proposes establishment of a judicial center in the administrative office of the U.S. courts "to stimulate, coordinate and conduct" research in all aspects of federal judicial administration and to develop continuing education programs for personnel in the judicial branch — including judges.

"We now have some 20 programs of research and education in the federal system," said Corman, "but none have been adequately staffed or supported."

The Corman bill would provide the means for proper support and coordination of these and future programs of analysis, research and planning.

The Times urges passage of the legislation to assure more effective courts and better justice.

The Ann Arbor News

Many Michigan cities and a lot of people who mean it when they talk about tax equity will be heartened by the promise made by Speaker of the House Robert E. Waldron and Rep. Jim Folsch, chairman of the House Taxation Committee.

These two key Republicans said they would not support a plan to deprive income tax cities of a portion of their revenue.

And those who claim the House to be more "progressive" than the Senate can smile in satisfaction. It might be pointed out that the legislative chamber which has given Gov. Romney his worst case of apoplexy is the Senate.

It was in the chamber of exclusivity that the quinslings and the neanderthals plied their trade, to use the governor's own terms.

The cities are not well-to-do. Many have approved income taxes only as a last resort, knowing full well that it is a bitter and emotional issue.

To take away from these cities their right to tax non-residents is to reduce their margin of fiscal safety and place them once again on a short-cash basis.

Allergies and You—15

Drugs Can Be Ogre

By Allergy Foundation of America (Distributed by NEA Special Services)

Penicillin, discovered in 1928 by the English scientist, Sir Alexander Fleming, rightfully belongs high on the list of mankind's achievements.

There is no calculating the number of lives it has saved even in its brief existence and how much suffering it has alleviated. It changed history.

Yet it is typical of the topsy-turvy world of allergies that even this beneficial friend, for some, can turn assassin.

Among your acquaintances, no doubt, you have those who cannot tolerate penicillin.

When a substance, harmless to most of humankind, brings about abnormal reactions in some individual, he is experiencing an allergy.

EVEN ASPIRIN

Unfortunately, it could as well be one of the sulfa family, a serum produced by developing it in an animal, or even aspirin instead of penicillin.

Our modern lives are threaded with contacts involving drugs, chemicals, plastics, cosmetics, insecticides, new products of all sorts.

For any one of these, you may be one in hundreds or even thousands whose physical makeup can't master that particular substance.

There are 54,000 fewer mental patients in hospitals today than there were in 1955 thanks to tranquilizers and other beneficial drug products.

LIFE EXPECTANCY

Life expectancy has been raised to 70 years, 10 years longer than it was in 1930, thanks largely to the giant strides taken in medical products.

Events Behind LBJ-Ho Notes

U.S. Offered Bombing Halt, Troop Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is a brief summation of events surrounding correspondence between President Johnson and North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh.

Johnson's letter — Written Feb. 8, delivered to a North Vietnamese in Moscow, relayed to Ho Feb. 10; proposed a halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and a freeze on U.S. force levels in South Vietnam in exchange for a North Vietnamese halt to infiltration of the South, this to be followed by peace talks.

Ho's letter — Written Feb. 15, three days after the deadline Johnson proposed for Ho's reply; said U.S. must "stop unconditionally its bombing raids and all other acts of war" before talks could begin.

How the letters came to light — Hanoi released them.

REGRETTABLE

U.S. reaction to the disclosure — "Regrettable that they chose to place the glare of publicity on what was meant to be serious diplomatic efforts to tone down the fighting," said the State Department.

The results — Johnson said he sees no evidence that North Vietnam is ready to talk peace, but apparently remains convinced his present policy eventually will lead Hanoi to the conference table; his Feb. 8 offer remains open.

Faculty Group Battles Film Seizure at 'M'

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A University of Michigan faculty group Tuesday questioned the legality of the seizure by Ann Arbor police of an allegedly obscene film during a showing on campus.

The movie, "Flaming Creatures," was seized Jan. 18 by an Ann Arbor detective after it had been running a few minutes.

Four members of the Cinema Guild Board, which sponsored the film, were arrested on charges of showing an obscene film, a misdemeanor.

The Civil Liberties Board of the University of Michigan Faculty Assembly asked permission Tuesday to enter the case as a "friend of the court."

FIRST AMENDMENT

It asked "whether the procedure employed by the police in this case to enforce the state's obscenity law is consistent with the first amendment" to the U.S. Constitution.

"What is at stake here," the board said, "is whether a police officer is to have the power to determine (from one side only) that the members of the university community shall not see certain films or plays, or read certain books, prior to a determination by a duly authorized judicial officer that such materials may be outside the protection of the constitutional right of free speech."

IRS Chief Lauds Withholding System

With that, Sheldon S. Cohen, his return before sending it to his office. For taxpayers still struggling with their returns, Cohen offered this advice: "Sit down quietly some weekend and work on them."

As commissioner of internal revenue, Cohen is the government subject to audit. He said they've men's top tax collector. But, been audited three of the last like everyone else, he must file four years, including once after an income tax return.

Guam Talks---Psychological Jab at Hanoi?

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

An element of orchestration in the American and South Vietnamese declarations coming out of the Guam conference suggests a belief that a softening of North Vietnam under U.S. punishment has reached a point where it is politically dangerous to Hanoi's Communist regime.

South Vietnam's premier, Nguyen Cao Ky, made a bellicose speech in effect calling for sharp escalation of the war and rejecting negotiations with the enemy in fighting or combat.

President Johnson provided the counterpoint, appearing to discount and even reject Ky's views. Ky later toned them down slightly.

The chief of state, Nguyen Van Thieu, announced that Saigon had invited North Vietnam to a peace meeting. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge provided the counterpoint; he saw absolutely no immediate prospect for talks.

President Johnson said the Guam meeting was unproductive and constructive, but produced no momentous decisions and no decisions of a military nature.

FULL OF PROPAGANDA

Why, then, the Guam meeting?

One reason may be what is going on in North Vietnam. The North Vietnamese press and radio have been full of propaganda about the 1967 state plan. This propaganda reveals serious, even dangerous, weaknesses.

There was a party and government conference on the plan last month, and official statements there indicated the party's worry about food and manpower.

Deputy Premier Pham Hung said "newly emerging difficulties" impose heavy new burdens and the "new situation" would require utmost effort. Over-all demands on the economy have increased swiftly and suddenly and the economy was still at a low level.

By Hung's figures, more than 60 per cent of the country's manpower is in farming. Only about 20 per cent is in industry, including handicrafts, and more than 90 per cent is engaged in manual labor.

By Hanoi's own admission, the problems of this primitive economy have been growing. It admits a "very low output of social labor, especially in agriculture." It notes that "a large body of young and strong workers" had to leave farming to engage in fighting or combat.

Hung said the regime must "reduce the tension with regard to manpower needs." The primary task is "to preserve and improve workers' strength by satisfactorily supplying essential needs — food, clothing and so forth." At the same time, all efforts must be bent toward supplying the troops "with sufficient food so they can eat their fill and defeat the enemy."

Despite "considerable aid from friendly Socialist countries," North Vietnam is having increasing difficulties with transportation and communications because of U.S. bombing attacks.

PRODUCTION LOW

In many areas, the deputy premier warned, farming and livestock production are "low and unstable," and unless steps are taken to correct this "we will not be able to meet the requirements of production and combat."

"There is a serious lack of ordinary tools in many areas," the deputy premier disclosed.

There are hints of growing weariness and dissatisfaction. Early this month, Brig. Gen. Pham Kiet, deputy minister of public security, wrote in a party newspaper that "many people's demands on the economy have increased swiftly and suddenly and the economy was still at a low level."

Perhaps the Guam meeting's primary purpose, therefore, was psychological. North Vietnam disclosed that President Johnson in February wrote to President Ho Chi Minh suggesting "direct talks" for peace and that Ho rejected the offer Feb. 15.

The message to Hanoi from the Guam meeting may be that North Vietnam must fear that the United States will escalate the war sharply, and must feel that the alternative to that risk — with the dangers it poses to regime's worry about the consequences of its continued involvement in this costly conflict.

TOO MUCH CORRUPTION

Deputy Premier Hung's report spoke of "too much corruption and waste, serious in some regions," and of a danger that "war conditions will create a fertile soil for the spontaneous development of capitalist thoughts."

There was a hint in that of the regime's worry about the consequences of its continued involvement in this costly conflict.

Human Relations Group Asks Aid to Get Untracked

Pontiac's Human Relations Commission (HRC) — plagued by poor attendance at meetings — has appealed to the City Commission for legal assistance in gaining an official quorum.

A report received by Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. last night at the City Commission meeting asked that commissioners "amend or otherwise alter" Ordinance 1541.

The letter, signed by HRC Secretary Mrs. Donald Porritt, requests that the HRC quorum be redefined as "one more than half the total of persons actively serving on this commission."

The group's present rules of order require "one more than half" of its total membership, a membership frequently reduced through resignations.

"We've had vacancies that have not been filled," Mrs. Porritt said. "In effect these become inactive members."

The HRC has been unable to take official action in some months because of inability to muster an official quorum at meetings.

Former Chairman Jerome K. Barry — chief prosecutor for the county's grand jury — has been replaced as HRC head by Rev. Arlond Reid, pastor of the Newman AME Church.

CITIES DUTIES
Barry cited the press of grand jury business in resigning two weeks ago.

The Rev. Mr. Reid was formerly vice chairman of the group.

Official action on the amendment request was referred by Taylor to the city's legal department.

Commissioners gave approval to appointment of Ass't. Oakland County Prosecutor Ronald Cavault as a new member of the HRC.

RECOMMENDATION
Cavault was recommended for membership by LaRue T. Mead, president of the Oakland County Bar Association.

In a related appointive action, unanimous approval was given to naming of John R. Turner to the Civic Improvement Advisory Committee (CIAC).

Turner of 456 Bartlett was proposed for the CIAC appointment by District 7 Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr.

The appointment fills a committee vacancy created by the recent resignation of Rev. William Teague.

Pontiac Latins to Join March

Hundreds of Latin Americans have vowed to march from Saginaw to Lansing to dramatize their concern for legislation affecting migrant workers, a state Latin American leader said today.

Thomas Chavez Jr., state chairman of Latin Americans United for Political Action (LAUPA), said the 45-mile trek would begin Friday at 6 a.m. and end at the State Capitol Sunday.

Chavez of 122 W. Fairmount said Latins from Pontiac, Bay City, Newaygo, Oshtemo, Ingham City, Capac and other Michigan areas would participate in the demonstration.

He said key targets of the march are pending state bills regarding migrant worker wages, housing, social welfare and workmen's compensation.

Kent County Districting Head Elected

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Hillary F. Snell, Kent County Republican chairman, was elected chairman of the Kent County Apportionment Commission Tuesday.

The five-member commission is charged with reapportioning the board of supervisors on a one-man one-vote basis by May 15.

Other members of the commission are Dr. Donald Herman, chairman of the Kent County Democratic committee; County Clerk Jack Bronkema; Prosecutor James K. Miller; and County Treasurer Henry Romy.

A. Robert Kleiner, coauthor of the apportionment plan adopted by the Michigan Supreme Court, cautioned the commission that any plan which departs from the 1960 federal census "could be legally defective."

The census listed Grand Rapids' population as 176,000, less than half the total county population, but latest figures show Grand Rapids has a population of 201,000, more than half the county's total.

Regulation of Private Police OK'd

Private policemen operating in the city of Pontiac will come under official city regulation beginning March 31.

An ordinance passed last night by the City Commission will take effect in 10 days.

It requires the official identification and licensing of private patrolmen working in "public places" as well as taverns and places of "amusement."

The move, long sought by the police department, requires the fingerprinting, photographing and routine record investigation of all private police.

Uniforms and automobiles used by private patrol firms must be clearly marked, under terms of the ordinance.

IN PRIVATE CAPACITIES
Investigators and detectives working in private capacities are not affected by the ordinance.

In another ordinance consideration, commissioners took under advisement a proposed amendment to the city's present heating ordinance.

Reports presented by Joseph E. Neippling, director of public works and service, suggested a fee schedule governing heating and humidifying installations as well as changes in the present ordinance.

Neippling proposed appointment of four men as "technical personnel" to serve on the Heating Examining Board.

STAFF MEMBERS
The four — Charles Dill Sr. of 135 Orchard Lake; Neil H. McCormick of 38 Ellwood; Stanley Elbling of 71 Branch; and Dale Carney of 350 S. Telegraph — would serve along with city staff members.

Their proposed appointment and action on the suggested amendments is scheduled for official City Commission action in the near future.

Bid on Sewer Line Work Is Approved

A major step toward construction of the city's Galloway Creek sewer project was taken last night with City Commission approval of a construction bid for the sewer's trunk line.

Formal acceptance by commissioners of a $709,810 estimate from the Ric-Man Construction Co. followed a two-week review of the bid by the city's department of public works and service.

Joseph E. Neippling, head city engineer, initiated a study of the Ric-Man bid after determining the proposal was some $219,000 beneath the next lowest estimate.

"We felt the same apprehensions you did," Neippling said in response to questions from commissioners.

Neippling cited the relative youth of the company as contributing to the difference in bids.

"This will be their biggest job so far," he said, "but they think they can do it and still make a good profit."

District 5 Commissioner John A. Dugan noted the contract—almost $100,000 under city estimates of the cost—as a "significant step" toward completion of the project.

A statement of objectives issued earlier this year on the Galloway Creek sewer project included service to the proposed Catholic Central High School and the Walton-Giddings area by next fall.

Commissioners also gave final approval to a contract enabling West Bloomfield Township residents to use the city's sanitary land-fill site on Kennett Road.

FEES PROVIDED
The agreement, designed to assist individual township residents, provides for fees of 50 cents per passenger-car load and $1 for car-and-trailer or pickup truck.

The contract covers a one-year period.

A third formal action by commissioners affected the annexation from Bloomfield Township of a parcel of land on the city's southern boundary.

AUTHORIZED ACTION
The township board authorized annexation proceedings March 13.

Chief problem in the area has been police jurisdiction of the road, which was formerly split in two by the boundary line.

Special Forces men, known as wearers of the Green Beret, first saw action as part of a guerrilla group behind Communist lines late in 1952 in Korea.

He'll probably still snore at night, but during the day he'll look the way you'd like him to look. (Not like he slept in his clothes.)

He just won't be able to help himself. Not after we—and you—help him to some of our famous brand names ('Botany' 500, Eagle, Van Heusen, Petrecelli, McGregor, Dobbs, etc.) in suits, coats, shirts, hats, and sportswear.

Of course, we wouldn't want this to be a drastic and radical change, so maybe you'd better start him off slowly . . . say, just slacks and a sport coat at first, and work up to the suits and topcoats. (All the while fitting him the famous Osmun's way.)

And by the way, a visit to Osmun's can make a new woman out of you.

After all, how long has it been since he's taken you out?

Asks What About Those Shoe Boots?

ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the best way to handle shoe boots? Can you carry shoes in a bag to an evening event, and if so, how do you most conveniently change into them?

I hate to make a big thing of changing into shoes, yet I feel guilty clumping over plush carpets in boots, and I would feel silly in stocking feet. Can you offer any suggestions? — Polly.

Dear Polly: I approve of boots in restaurants or movie theaters or on visits as long as your other clothing is not too dressy and the boots are smart and well-kept.

When you are dressed in evening clothes, carry your shoes with you in a "toe" bag. When you arrive at your destination, step into the ladies room and change out of your boots.

SEPARATE LISTS
Dear Mrs. Post: I am more aware each day of the change of customs over the years. Is it still correct to have two lists for wedding invitations—one for those invited to the church and one for those invited to the reception?

—Mrs. H. W.
Dear Mrs. H. W.: Yes, that's one custom that hasn't changed. It's perfectly correct to have one list for the church and one for the church and reception.

If You Will Do as I Say, We'll Be Happy Together

PONTEFRAC, England (UPI) — Happy marriage, the Rev. Eric Treacy said recently is merely a matter of following the 10 commandments.
Treacy, Anglican bishop of Pontefract, made one stipulation—they have to be his own commandments given to his own wife.

• Thou shalt not interfere with thy husband's wardrobe; in other words, don't go sending his old clothes to rummage sales.

• Thou shalt not change your husband's routines even if you see plain as day that there are more efficient ways.

• Thou shalt take his side against all comers even when he's wrong.

• Thou shalt definitely ask, "Can you afford it?"

Thou shalt not change thy hairstyle without getting thy husband's permission.

• Thou shalt not try to change thy man into the sort of person thou wouldst like him to be.

You took him for better or worse—if he turns out worse you'll just have to lump it.

• Thou shalt sometimes be helpless so he can do his "rescue act."

• Thou shalt let him have his mess.

• If you start to tidy it up — a desk for example, or private den—you are asking for trouble and deserve all you get.

• Thou shalt not ever let the sun go down without making up arguments.
How does Mrs. Treacy feel about all this?
"We've been married 35 years," she said. "He is a wonderful husband."

Schedule Series of Lectures at OU

A series of three lectures on Michelangelo, who was called "The Monarch of His Time," will be presented at Oakland University to aid the people of Florence, Italy.

Michelangelo symbolizes the glory that was Florence, as the ancient Italian city rose to greatness in the early days of the Renaissance.

The three lectures, dealing with Michelangelo as an artist, as a political thinker, and as a poet will be given in Room 124 Matilda Wilson Hall on the University Campus beginning April 3. Three members of the Oakland University faculty will give the lectures on successive Monday evenings from 8:00 to 9:30 p.m., through April 17.

THEORIST

First lecture will deal with Michelangelo, The Political Theorist, and will be presented by Leo Gerulatis, who earned his degrees, including an M.A.S. from the University of Michigan and is currently writing on the Venetian incunabula printers.

On April 10, John Cameron, assistant professor of art history will discuss Michelangelo, The Artist. A graduate of Princeton University Dr. Cameron received his Ph.D. from Yale University and also has earned degrees from the University of Paris.

C. R. Linsalata, professor of Spanish, will deal with Michelangelo, The Poet. Dr. Linsalata, who was born in Italy, received his doctorate from the University of Texas, his B.A. and M.A. from Ohio State University, and has published several books and articles.

He is currently finishing a book concerning Don Quixote.

The benefit lectures are co-sponsored by the Division of Continuing Education and the Mott Center for Community Affairs at the University. Tickets are available at the door before each lecture.

Has Wonderful Helpmate

He Thrives on Marriage

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: So "STILL A BACHELOR" says the reason he's not married is because most women are too lazy to cook, huh? Well, my wife serves home-made bread, rolls and biscuits every day, and she makes her own spaghetti and sauce from scratch, just like her pies and cakes.

Does Bachelor get homemade pickles and catsup? I do. My mother gave us 400 quart Mason jars, and my gal fills them every summer and fall. She picks 75 per cent of what's in these jars, too. And she still has lovely hands.

We have three children, four, five, and eight, and my wife sews most of their clothes, and her own, too. She cuts their hair, and mine, and keeps her own real nice.

Our eight-room house is a show-place. She made all our curtains and draperies and slipcovers. She's active in the PTA and church. Dinner is served every night at 6 p.m. She's through with the dishes at 7:30, and the kids are in bed by 8. She says she's happy, and I KNOW I am. MARRIED AND LIKES IT.

DEAR MARRIED: If your wife has a sister, please send me her name, address, and a recent photograph. There are about four million bachelors who would probably be glad to turn in their bachelor buttons for a gal like yours.

DEAR ABBY: No wonder "STILL A BACHELOR" is still a bachelor. So he thinks the housewife who uses mixes and frozen foods and buys bakery bread is lazy!

Well, please tell him that when he's ready to trade in his late model car for a horse and buggy and turn in his color TV for whatever happens to come along on the Chautauque circuit, we "lazy" women will cheerfully return to cooking everything from scratch, and go back to washing on washboards.

OES Group Celebrates a Centennial

Past matrons and past patrons were guests of honor Monday evening at a dinner meeting of Areme chapter No. 503, Order of the Eastern Star.

Pontiac White Shrine members served the dinner at the Roosevelt Temple. Mrs. Royal Clark, worthy matron of the chapter, was chairman for the evening.

1967 is the 100th anniversary of the Order of the Eastern Star, in Michigan, the oldest Grand Jurisdiction in the world.

In observance of the occasion, past matrons and past patrons of Pontiac chapter No. 503, OES, exemplified the old time degree of 1867 during the meeting.

Special guests were Roy Wilton, Mrs. Clifford Mossey, Mrs. Thad Beall, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Fellows, Mrs. William Pfaber, the Harry Vernons and Mrs. Theron Taylor.

Others were Lester Oles, the Eugene Perkins, Mrs. R. G. Scharf, Royal Clark, Mrs. Daniel Peterson, Kenneth Bain and William Cox.

Areme chapter was organized 24 years ago.

Honeymoon in Florida Follows Rite

A Florida wedding trip followed recent vows for Sandra Kay Gohl and Edward William Rowland of Port Huron.

For the evening ceremony in the First Baptist Church of Royal Oak, the bride chose a gown of white Alencon lace over silk peau with a chapel train trimmed in seed pearls and crystals.

A crown of seed pearls and crystal secured her bouffant veil of silk illusion.

She carried a bouquet of white lilies, Stephanotis and lily.

Parents of the bridal couple are the Emerald R. Gohls of Shaw Street and the Claude Rowlands of Port Huron.

Maid of honor was Kay Jackson. Nancy Grogg, Mrs. James Curnow and Barbara Odgers were attendants.

Best man for his brother was Allen Rowland. Brothers of the bride, Douglas Rowland and Robert Gohl along with James Curnow, were ushers.

A church reception followed the ceremony.

Teen-Age Musicians Perform

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

The young artists added stature to their own careers and to the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra last evening in the fourth regular concert of the current season.

Concerto contest winners, Theodore Baskin, oboist, and Alexander Hanway, pianist both 16 years old, displayed remarkable performing temperaments and mastery of their instruments.

In spite of the fact that the orchestral score to his chosen concerto did not arrive, Theodore Baskin was able to substitute, at a few hours notice, the Cimarosa Oboe Concerto, and give a flawless performance without previous rehearsal with the orchestra, — a feat which would have appalled the composure of most seasoned artists.

Yet young Theodore played the baroque concerto with ease and finesse, with immaculate technique, with clarity, with delicate phrasing and understanding of the pure classic style of the period.

His tone is clear, even and controlled.

He is truly a young artist to be reckoned with, and his musicianship and integrity will carry him far on the road to a successful career.

MILESTONE

It was a first performance with full symphonic orchestra for Alexander Hanway.

The first movement of the beloved Schumann Concerto came alive with fire and depth in his skillful hands. The interdependence of soloist and orchestra, always a difficult part of this concerto, was handled with care and precision.

Alexander has the ability to play deep down in his instrument; his control of the upper arm and large muscles, rare in one so young and frail, produces a varied and sonorous effect, so that his soft tones are always heard, and his loud tones are never harsh or crashing.

His poetic interpretation of the romantic, moody music had the backing of his fine technique, his innate excellent taste and his ability to make the music come alive.

Mr. Resnick and the orchestra gave understanding support to the two young artists, particularly in the previously unrehearsed Cimarosa concerto.

OTHER SELECTIONS

Wagner's Overture to "Die Meistersinger" opened the concert with pomp and fanfare. Particular mention should be made of the excellent performance of the brass section.

The lilting "Rosenkavalier

Waltzes," which followed the oboe concerto, did not quite get off the ground, but the orchestra was in fine form for Chabrier's "Espere Rhapsody," which closed the concert on a gay and festive note.

During intermission, acting president, Glenn Griffin presented awards to the two artists, and also to the two runners-up, Kathleen Grulich, flutist, and Norman Berman, pianist.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Bennett of Hubbardston announce the engagement of their daughter, Marcia Louise to Bruce Alan Kesselring. His parents are the Merton W. Kesselrings of Poplar Street. The couple attends Andrews University where he is a junior and she is a sophomore.

July 29 vows are slated for Virginia R. Taylor and Gene R. Orszczak. She attended Flint Community Junior College and he is a student at General Motors Institute. Their parents are the Robert G. Taylors of Flint and the John J. Orszczaks of Richardson Road, Commerce Township.

Use Newspapers

DEAR POLLY — I am answering the reader who wanted to remove a strong onion odor from a plastic bowl. She should loosely wad up single sheets of newspaper and put them in the container. Put a tight lid on and leave the paper for several days.

The odor will be absorbed by the newspaper. I received this tip at a demonstration party for a leading plastic container company and have used it several times with success. If the odor is not completely eliminated, repeat with fresh paper.

One of my neighbors had a strong odor in her refrigerator, from some cheese her husband put there, and this treatment worked for that, too.

How Much Allowance for College Girl?

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: The last of our children, our daughter, is in first year at a state university. She is 10 years younger than our other children, so that comparing allowances to those of 10 years ago is not reasonable.

We are finding it difficult to arrive at an FFELEY amount to consider for her allowance.

We have friends who say that one college told them that $5 a week should be adequate. This we feel would probably be low. In another case, a college told our friends that $10 per week was "average." This we feel to be high.

Is there some way to find what a normal allowance would be? My husband is in the $15,000 wage bracket. However, this is probably his top salary for he is nearing retirement age.

Are there any statistics as to what would be a "normal" allowance for a college student for general expenses, not including fees, of course.

Mrs. F., Chicago

AVERAGE IS $10

Dear Mrs. F.: When a survey of many campuses around the country was taken year before last, this subject of spending money was the big question up for discussion. While allowances ranged all over the place, the average figure that emerged was $10 a week.

Basic expenses allowed for included food (snacks, cigarettes if any), emergency funds, church, charity donations, gifts, care of clothing, personal grooming items, in addition to entertainment costs.

Some students on small college campuses, or in larger universities in college-oriented towns, admitted that there was really no way to spend as much as $10 a week. But on the whole, the schools near large cities offered opportunity for weekends, cultural exhibits, musical and dramatic performances, plus transportation, that more than absorbed a $10 a week allowance.

So the amount you decide on must be governed to some degree by the activities normal to the college which your daughter attends.

But let me say this — and I feel strongly about it — think first about your husband's retirement plans before you decide how much to allow your college daughter. Whether she's entirely happy about it or not, she can adjust herself to whatever allowance you give her.

But your husband is up against some pretty rigid economic facts, as he builds toward your husband's needs in this life and your future independence.

I truly believe that one of the greatest "advantages" parents can give their children is the assurance that the parents will be able to support themselves.

This leaves the younger generation free to take on the privilege of supporting itself, without the burden of "elderly family members."

So you have a two-way decision to make — what can your daughter get along on, without college daughter. Whether she's privations? And what does your husband feel is the minimum he can put aside for his retirement? Since you can't be entirely impartial, lean toward economic facts, as he builds toward your husband's needs in this life and your future independence.

Kitchen-Made Jewelry

If your current crop of jewelry doesn't live with your new Easter outfit and the allowance is long gone, don't despair. Out of a kitchen-made clay that dries to a ceramic-like finish you can create an entire wardrobe of wonderfully kooky jewelry color-coordinated to each of your spring outfits.

All you need is baking soda, Mom's most versatile staple which she uses for everything from cooking to cleaning, and corn starch, plus paints, clear shellac, pin and earring backers which you get at the Five and Dime and a dash of imagination.

Here's how to make the clay. Blend thoroughly in saucepan with fork 2 cups baking soda (1 1-pound package) and 1 cup corn starch. Add 1 1/4 cups cold water all at once.

Mix until smooth. Bring to boil over low heat, stirring constantly. Boil approximately a minute, or until mixture resembles moist mashed potatoes.

Transfer immediately to plate. Cover with a damp cloth and let stand until cool enough to knead.

ROLL OUT

Now on waxed paper roll out clay to 1/4 inch thickness. Earrings, the long dangly kind, mod medallions and pins are all made the same way.

Out clay with cookie cutters into circles, stars and triangles. For raised center designs, cut small circles of clay with bottle caps or mold by hand.

Moisten the pieces and press them into the larger shapes. Insert small loop of wire in top edge with which to thread on medallion chain or earring attachment.

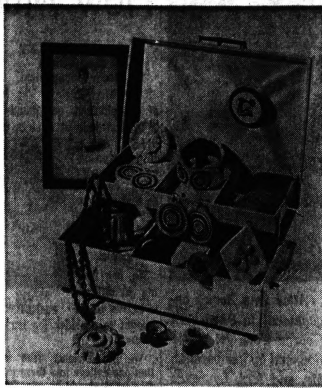

Let pieces dry overnight, or if you're in a real rush, slip them gently onto a wire rack and into a warm 350-degree, turned-off oven.

TO FINISH

Now for the finishing. Paint with tempera or water colors and when paint has dried, dip each piece into clear shellac, brush with clear plastic or spray on clear nail polish.

The last step is to attach pin backers with white glue and thread on earring attachments.

For matching bracelets and rings, cut strips out of the rolled-out clay using a knife and ruler. The length of the strip depends on the circumference of your wrist and finger. The width is up to you. Let dry and finish.

Whip up a medley of mod medallions, dangly earrings, big, brazen bracelets, pins and rings out of a clay, kitchen-made of baking soda and corn starch to top off your new Easter finery.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer

What is a slot seam? I have read about this detail but would like to know more about it and just where I'd use it.

MRS. L. E. P.

Dear Mrs. L. E. P.

Slot seams are a detail found on plain fabrics such as linen and is strictly a decorative touch. The completed detail shows machine stitching on each side of the seam which appears open instead of closed, hence the name slot.

Wherever this detail will appear close the seam with a long, machine basting stitch and press open. Cut a separate piece of fabric, 1 1/4 inch wide in either the same or contrasting color and baste under the seam on wrong side of garment.

Carefully top stitch each side of seam using top stitching instructions from last week for perfectly even stitching. When completed, remove the large, machine basting stitches you originally used to close the seam.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. A. L. Mazour, Belvedere, Calif., is this week's Tailor Trix pressing board winner for this suggestion.

I always have bits and pieces of sheath lining left over from my own dresses and of course, I save them. The clothes I make for my 3-year-old daughter have been greatly admired, and I think their success is due primarily to the fact that I use these leftover pieces of lining for the neck and sleeve facings. The flat, smooth finish I achieve avoids that bulky homemade look that many small girls' dresses have.

Dear Eunice Farmer

I'm still confused about the correct kind of zipper placket to use for the back opening of a dress. Should it be lapped like a skirt or stitched on each side of the seam as some patterns show?

MRS. R. B.

Dear Mrs. R. B.

This is a matter of personal preference in most cases. Personally, I prefer a lapped type closing wherever possible. The zipper itself can never be completely hidden when the two edges of the seam meet at the center, and there is nothing attractive about seeing the zipper.

In your finer clothes or on any very plain fabric you may wish to use a hand picked stitch instead of machine stitching. This is done from the right side taking a very small back stitch and keeping stitches about 1/4 inch apart.

Be sure to keep the thread loose, not pulled tight, and the closing will practically be invisible.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Some folks have colds, one after another, all winter long, and sometimes in the spring and fall, and once in a while, even in the summer. Others go for years without a cold. So far as I know, the cold question is as unsolved as the cold war.

However, if you are one of those who has one cold after another, there are some things you might consider, or at least think about.

How is your general health? Have you had a physical checkup recently? Perhaps you have a chronic sinus condition which makes you more susceptible. Maybe you have some allergies which play their part. A medical examination is in order.

Many people take colds when they are fatigued for any reason. This may be because of loss of sleep, or because of overwork without stress.

WORRY YOURSELF

Don't think that you cannot worry yourself into a cold! I am convinced that you can. A bout of worry changes your body chemistry and lowers your resistance just as loss of sleep, or indulgence in food or drink, or fatigue can.

Many women are more susceptible to colds just before their monthly periods. Don't ask me why! I suppose it has something to do with the hormonal turmoil. All I know is that is true. Some time ago I made a little survey and sent out a limited questionnaire concerning this.

The women had not realized this before, but when they began checking up, many of them found that this was almost the only time they ever caught a cold, or rather it caught them.

I like to pass this thought along to you. I do not mean to suggest that you go into some sort of a decline for a few days each month. But, just a little at this time. Be sure to get enough sleep and maybe take it a little easier.

CONDUCTIVE TO COLD

Cold weather is not conducive to colds. It seems to depend on how many bugs you are snowed with and how your resistance is. When one child after another succumbs and then your husband does, you are almost sure to meet defeat.

However, sudden changes in weather can be hazardous, unless you dress correctly. If you sit in an overheated room and then dash out into the cold winds, without cooling off first, and wearing heavy enough outdoor clothing, you are perhaps in for trouble. Anyway, wearing clothes which are too warm for the inside and not warm enough for the outside can be your downfall.

I hope these ideas will save you at least one sniffle!

You need vitamins to fight off those irritating colds and my free leaflet "Vitamin Defense" will give you helpful information on your vitamin needs.

For your free copy send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it. Send to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Mrs. and Mrs. Terry Edwards of Kohler Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet Faye, to Pfc. Lawrence P. Hopps. He is stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash., with the USAF.

Early September vows are planned by Pamela L. Frase and Ned Reeves Ralph. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harland E. Frase of Bamford Drive and the V. Jack Ralphs of South Telegraph Road.

One Is Thin, Other Isn't; Both in NY

NEW YORK (AP)—Twiggy, London's skinny miniquen of the mod scene who measures 31-23-32, and Yvonne d'Angers, the busty topless dancer with a 44-21-36 figure, provide variety today for Fun City's girl watchers.

Both are in New York for personal appearances.

Miss d'Angers with her size 18 blouse on, despite her philosophy that "what I always say is, if a woman has something pretty, she should show it off."

Seventeen-year-old Twiggy, who drops only her H's, figures she's got some pretty clothes to show off—a 42-piece collection she hopes to sell to American department stores. "I hope to sell my clothes to the American teen-ager," she said Monday upon her arrival from London.

NO CONTEST

Twiggy, whose real name is Leslie Hornby, admits she's a lightweight compared to Yvonne.

Of her 5-foot, 6-inch, 90-pound figure, the fashion model says: "It's not really too you call a figger, is it? I'm thin, spindly legs."

Would you believe that Miss d'Angers, 22, was a frail, skinny girl when she came to America from her native Iran at the age of 13?

Upon her arrival Monday night from Washington where she is fighting a deportation order, the topless dancer from California told newsmen she just developed "a little, by little."

One of the main issues in her case is whether she married under false pretenses in 1961 so she could remain in the United States. A newsman asked her if she paid the young man to marry her.

"Just look at me," she replied, "and tell me if I have to pay anyone to marry me."

WHY IS THIS WATCH CALLED A CERTIFIED CHRONOMETER*?

Self-winding, calendar-dial Constellation chronometer, $185. Other Constellations, $175 to $1800.

The rating of "chronometer" is reserved for timepieces of exceptional accuracy which have undergone 360 hours of rigid testing...in extremes of heat and cold. The peerless accuracy of every Omega Constellation is certified by an official Swiss Testing Bureau. So exacting are these tests, less than one out of every 50,000 watches qualifies for this coveted rating. In addition to official chronometer tests, Constellation's 21-jewel automatic movement receives 1497 quality-control inspections during manufacture...ensuring longer life.

Powered by gravity, the Omega Constellation winds itself as you wear it. Without hand-winding, or power-cells which frequently need replacing, it will run for years and years, as long as you wear it. Calendar-dial models tell the exact date as well as the precise time...automatically. The Constellation is one of the world's finest watches. Ask for free Omega style brochure.

Twiggy, fashion's new face and figure from London, models the look you can knit for spring. The yarn is rich in tweedy texture, built right into every skein.

Twiggy Models Knits for Anyone to Make

Fashion is curious if not downright puzzling sometimes. Take Twiggy, for example. Twiggy is the hottest thing in fashion on both continents today.

Yet you probably wouldn't look twice at the spindly little creature called Twiggy — so just what is she?

Well, according to Webster, "twiggy" is an adjective meaning slight, thin and delicate. Fashion chroniclers would dispute the dictionary's part-of-speech label, if not the definition.

In fashion circles, Twiggy is a noun and a proper one at that.

A red-sting young off-shoot in the modeling world, Twiggy is the symbol of the new London look.

She's a 17-year-old mannequin with a face full of freckles, a pair of saucer eyes. She is built like a teenage boy and she's the rage of the fashion world.

A few months ago, when she was making the transition from "Slicks," which schoolmates called her, to the Twiggy of today, Bernat Yarns photographed the girl wearing new handknit designs.

According to a spokesman for the yarn company, Twiggy is as Cockney as they come. Yet all the fashion world listens when she talks about "meself." (Blimey! She talks that way, she does!)

Today, are featured two fashions for knitters chosen for Twiggy. The choice was a good one.

For one thing, the yarn is as British as she is.

It's Shire Spun, imported from England, and it comes in misty colors mixed into springtime tweeds. The tweed is built right into the yarn; no need to work with more than one strand.

Knitting directions for the trim, tailored dress are available for sizes 10 to 16 (but you don't have to be twiggy to wear it well!).

The V-necked cardigan can be knitted in sizes 10 to 18.

For your copy of both the dress and the cardigan, send 50 cents to Stitchin' Time, in care of The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to ask for leaflet No. S110 and include your name, address and zip code.

His Name Is Changed

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP)—Five-year-old Angel Curtis isn't sure just how she should address her father, Maine Governor Kenneth M. Curtis, now that he is the nation's youngest governor.

The greeting card she gave him for his 36th birthday bore on the envelope in a childish scrawl: "To Sir Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis . . . or Daddy."

Don't Discard It

Discarded shoulder pads sewed to coat hangers are a help when hanging jersey or other sheer garments.

The shoulder pads help keep the garments in shape, protect them from stretching and drawing and prevent slipping from hangers.

Mattis-Sutt Vows Said in Clarkston Ceremony

Wed recently in the Church of the Resurrection, Clarkston were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert T. Mattis (Kathy Lynne Sutt).

Their parents are the Victor P. Sutt of Hammond Lake and the Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Mattis of Lake Orion.

For the afternoon rite, the bride wore a coat and dress ensemble of pink wool with a pink and white floral hat featuring a side-swept floral cascade.

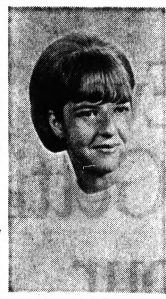

She carried an heirloom prayer book with white orchid and Stephanotis.

Beverly A. Larson was maid of honor. William F. Martens served as best man. Brothers of the bride, Glenn and Randy Sutt were ushers.

Following a honeymoon in Washington, D.C. and New York City the couple will reside in East Lansing where the bridegroom is a student at Michigan State University.

Did You Ever Think of Getting Your Easter Bonnet From A&P?

We don't sell Easter bonnets but... we suspect many an Easter hat has been paid for with money saved by shopping A&P.
Are we implying that A&P has the lowest prices on all items all the time?
No!
There is no store that can make that claim.

What we are saying is:
if you're interested in your total food bill, if you're looking for the best values for your food dollar,
A&P is the store for you.

It's a little late for this year's Easter bonnet, but start shopping A&P this week, anyway.

It won't be long before somebody in the house will need a new pair of shoes.

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P?
It's one of many.

Progress Is Byword in Maryland's 1963 Racial Trouble Spot

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — The 13,000 residents of Cambridge — catapulted into the national spotlight by racial violence in 1963 — would rather talk today about new industry than the once nightly marches on the courthouse; about new business at the seaport than its occupation by the National Guard.

More than three years after Cambridge was torn apart by months of demonstrations, civic leaders are still working hard to refurbish the city's image and rebuild its economy.

Progress is a favorite word in this pre-Revolutionary War town on the banks of the Choptank River, and there undoubtedly has been progress.

Unemployment has dropped. There are more jobs with higher wages, an urban renewal project is to be started soon and a 150-unit housing project has been completed.

FILTERED DOWN

Many leaders in Cambridge, both white and Negro, believe the progress has filtered down to those residents who needed help most.

Among those who believe that real progress has been made is Fred Jackson, 36, a Negro who is pupil personnel representative for the Dorchester County school system.

During the summer of 1963, Jackson was a leader of the Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee's drive for school desegregation, equal job opportunities and open public accommodations, marching almost nightly through the streets at the head of singing demonstrators.

"If you look at the entire county today, it doesn't even seem like the same place as 1963," Jackson said.

'SO MUCH BETTER'

"I wouldn't sit here and tell you our racial problem is solved because it isn't. Things still aren't what they should be, but they are so much better than three years ago."

"Economically it has improved tremendously, although there is still a great distance to go."

A lack of job opportunities was the most often heard complaint from demonstrators, and leaders of both races claim the improved economic climate has improved the racial situation.

At the height of the conflict, unemployment hovered near 22 per cent, and Negroes, many of them lacking skills and training, were hardest hit.

STEADY DECLINE

The jobless total has steadily declined and was down to 9.6 per cent of the labor force at the end of 1966.

Charles Cornish, the only Negro member of the City Council, believes there has been a significant improvement in living conditions in the 2nd Ward, where most Cambridge Negroes live. He cites statistics compiled by the city showing an upsurge in construction and building improvements in the 2nd Ward.

Places of public accommodations are covered both by state and federal laws, and there are no problems in this area. However, the only "public" swimming pool was sold to a private owner recently after a court-ruled the previous owner could not keep out Negroes.

There are still complaints, also, about the school system. Under a freedom of choice plan, a sizable number of Negro students attend formerly all-white schools.

100 PCT. NEGRO

The enrollment at Mace's Lane High School and St. Clair Elementary School is still 100 per cent Negro, however, and there appears to be no real move to make Mace's Lane into a vocational school, a prime goal of demonstrators in 1963.

Nevertheless, both Jackson and Cornish say there has been significant improvement in the racial climate, and both give much credit to the city's economic growth.

The economic revival of Cambridge actually started before the demonstrations.

For almost 200 years, oysters, crabs and vegetables formed the economic base of Cambridge. Like the rest of Maryland's Eastern Shore, the town was largely isolated by the Chesapeake Bay from the industrialized Baltimore area.

ISOLATION ENDED

In 1962, the Chesapeake Bay Bridge from Annapolis to Kent Island, 32 road miles north of Cambridge, ended that historical isolation.

By that time, the town was hurtling from a steady decline in the seafood and agricultural industries. The problem became acute in 1953 when employment was cut from 1,800 to 300 at a seafood packing company.

An economic development committee of the Cambridge-Dorchester County Chamber of Commerce launched a drive to attract industry. It paid a research firm $15,000 for a study of what kinds of industry the town could best serve.

With the report in hand, the committee contacted 5,000 firms to urge them to consider Cambridge as a site for new plants. An industrial park was developed near town, and the Dorchester Industrial Development Corp. was formed to help interested companies locate.

RACIAL TURMOIL

By the early 1960s, some small companies had moved into the area. Then came the racial turmoil.

Led by Gloria Richardson, a slender, intense young Negro woman, Negroes organized to fight for a long list of demands in education, recreation, employment and public accommodations.

White resistance developed quickly, and violence erupted. City and state police couldn't keep order, and the Maryland National Guard moved in during the summer of 1963. The occupation lasted into 1964.

From the moment Cambridge took over racial headlines, the economic rebirth stopped.

EVERYTHING STOPPED

"We felt we had things really moving, but the trouble just brought everything to a standstill," says Herman Stevens, general manager of the Cambridge Daily Banner.

Peace gradually returned through the fall and winter months of 1963 and 1964.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER—Welcoming the return of spring, these graceful mute swans ripple their way toward the dock area at Traverse City intent on charming tasty handouts from passersby. The flock spends winters in the area of Grand Traverse Bay and has increased to as many as 250.

Johnson's Latin Aid Bill Boggled Down in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's bid for congressional endorsement of more aid to Latin America is moving briskly through the House but bogging down in the Senate.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee indicated Tuesday it would make some changes in Johnson's suggested resolution — but two members also said there were reports the administration would rather have no resolution at all if major changes were made.

The House Rules Committee approved the plan and sent it to the full House for three hours of scheduled debate today. It earlier won approval from the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The resolution contains no money figure, but the program is envisioned to cost $1.5 billion over the next five years. The House version made it clear the support would be contingent upon action toward self-help by the recipient nations.

Johnson wants the resolution passed before he meets with American chiefs of state in Punta del Este, Uruguay, April 12-14.

The Senate committee set another hearing on the matter for April 3.

Its chairman, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., offered the reports that the administration preferred no resolution to a significantly changed one.

Fulbright has expressed reservations about how much of a blank check for Latin aid the resolution might turn out to be.

Aiken said he'd offer an amendment to make certain Congress would have to act on any program Johnson brings back from the Punta del Este negotiations.

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, complained unsuccessfully in the House Rules Committee that "we're getting the bum's rush on this."

Kentucky is one of 25 states aiming at a "hog cholera free" status by 1972.

Spring in Michigan Means Tornadoes

By The Associated Press
The months of spring—April, May and June—not only are months of crocuses and daffodils and daisies. They often are months of terror and violent death in Michigan.

Spring also is the tornado season.

But Michigan is lucky in a way. She has had an average of only about five tornadoes annually over the last 50 years. The Kansas average is some 1,200 a year, but the population is sparse and more spread out there.

Forecasting has been improved and speeded in recent years. The U.S. Weather Bureau is in the process of expanding its teletype network into every city with a daily newspaper of radio or television station.

3 CIRCUITS

But Robert Soeder, meteorologist in charge at Detroit, says the expanded system likely will not go into operation until sometime in June.

At present there are three weather bureau circuits—in Detroit, Lansing and Grand Rapids. Soeder says "we'll tie all three together and extend them through the Lower Peninsula and to the eastern end of the Upper Peninsula."

Legs of the system also are expected to dip into northern Indiana and Ohio.

New terminology instituted last year will prevail: when there is a possibility of a tornado in an area a "tornado watch" will be issued for it, and once the Grand Rapids and Traverse City area is known to be in a "tornado warning" will be issued.

TWISTERLESS PERIOD

Between June 17, 1946, and May 21, 1963, Michigan experienced without a twister. And before 1946, the only previous major death-dealer was one which left 47 dead in Oakland County in 1897.

They have come as early as April 3. On that date in 1906 in

3 Michigan GIs Killed in Action

WASHINGTON 479 — Three Michigan servicemen were among 27 listed by the Defense Department yesterday as having been killed in recent action in Vietnam. All three were serving with the Army.

They were Pfc. Jeff Curthens, son of Mrs. Walter Curthens of Detroit; Pfc. Joseph Jenks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Jenks of Manistique; and Pfc. Donald L. Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bennett of Hillsdale.

Princess Asleep in Burglary

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret, her family and her household staff slept through a burglary at her London home today. Officials said the burglar was captured soon after with the property he had stolen.

The intruder entered the Kensington Palace apartment of the princess and her husband, Lord Snowdon, by removing an 18-inch pane of glass from a ground-floor window. He went through the nursery playroom and escaped with gold coins, jewelry and a pair of binoculars.

The princess and Lord Snowdon, who returned from a vacation in the Bahamas last week, were in the palace at the time with their two children, Viscount Linley, 5, and Lady Sarah Armstrong-Jones, 2. But officials said nobody was disturbed by the burglar.

Tourists Bypass Historical Harlem

NEW YORK (AP) — The big sight-seeing buses that lumber past Radio City Music Hall and the Empire State Building never go near Alexander Hamilton's old home, which has been rotting away quietly for more than a century.

Tourists who come to New York every year flock to small, cellar nightclubs in Greenwich Village. But they never hear of the night spots where so many most visitors out of a large section of Manhattan between 95th and 145th streets.

But it wasn't always so. A century ago, Harlem was the equivalent of the modern high-income suburb, a spot to which the wealthy retired when they wished to get away from the noise and mud of the city, and much of the architecture reflects their tastes.

In the first half of this century, an underground art form called jazz was nurtured in Harlem until it bloomed at places like Minton's, and entertainers like Minnie Ruspini and Eartha Kitt won their fame first on Harlem's stages.

Much of this began to die in the late 1930s. But its present reputation is unjustified, say Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ruffin.

Beginning May 27, they will offer four-hour bus tours of Harlem, hitting high spots of the past as well as low spots of the day.

"Harlem is one of the most famous residential communities in the world," said Manhattan Borough President Percy Sutton, a Negro and a Harlem attorney.

"Harlem has some of the characteristics of the Left Bank in that it is the center of leading Negro intellectuals, artists and performers, ranging from Bayard Rustin to Harry Belafonte," Sutton said.

Women's Cause Is Championed

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — A drugstore owner says cosmetics and jewelry should not be subject to a luxury tax because they keep women from looking "dull, drab and frizzy."

Evariste Lavenderie, owner of a drugstore in Waterville, also told a legislative hearing Tuesday that a proposed 10 per cent state luxury tax should not apply to pocketbooks.

"Did you ever see the contents of one?" he asked. "I say it's as much a necessity as an arm."

Russia: Close Missile Gap

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Union wants the United States to scrap some of its missiles as part of a defense suit — at a cost of tens of billions of dollars — and has suggested a moratorium on such defenses to prevent a new arms race.

The Kremlin is bothered by America's big numerical lead with missiles — up to 4 to 1 for the intercontinental ballistic kind and 5 to 1 for submarine-launched Polaris type rockets.

The Soviets until recently rejected the idea of such a moratorium, but have now expressed willingness to consider it; but only as part of a wider arms-cut program that would involve a freeze on offensive as well as defensive missiles.

Chuck Conners Latest Actor to Consider Political Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Yet another actor — he-man Chuck Conners — is eyeing the klieg-lit road to learn.

Conners says 1964 Republican presidential nominee Sen. Barry Goldwater has suggested that he run for the Senate from California next year. Goldwater says that's not quite what he said.

"It's a great temptation," said Conners, who campaigned hard last year for fellow actor Ronald Reagan, California's new Republican governor.

"The only trouble is I don't think I can afford it," Conners said in what political observers might regard as an imperishable, impolitic statement.

THREE ACTORS?
"I figure I've got to earn $65,000 a year for alimony, child support for my four sons, supporting my mother and my wife's mother and nephew before Kamala (his second wife) and I can eat. And a senator makes only about $36,000 a year."

If Conners should run next year — and win — California would have three former actors, all Republicans, in its key political posts. In addition to Reagan, onetime song and dance man George Murphy is the state's junior senator.

The state's senior senator, Thomas H. Kuchel, the Senate Republican whip, comes up for reelection next year. He has been under fire from conservatives.

Conners, 44, calls himself a conservative Republican — "not the old-fashioned, turn-of-the-century kind, but a modern conservative."

Conners said Goldwater suggested he try for the Senate last

GOLDWATER OPINION

What does Goldwater think of Conners as candidate?
"I haven't met anyone yet who could tell me whether he was or was not a good candidate. I haven't seen him in action, so I couldn't say."

Conners said he signed last week to begin a new television series, "Cowboy in Africa."

"But you never know, politics might just become too tempting in January," Conners said.

Conners, a 6-foot-5 ex-first baseman for the Brooklyn Dodgers, Chicago Cubs and the old Los Angeles Angels, swung into the saddle in 1958 as star of the "Rifleman" television series. He later starred on television as lawyer John Egan in "Arrest and Trial" and as ex-soldier Jason McCard in the "Branded" series.

"My mother is a good Irish Catholic Democrat," says Conners, who grew up in a tenement in Brooklyn. "And I was so moved by the death of Franklin Roosevelt, I wrote a eulogy to him which Mrs. Roosevelt read and complimented me on."

"But during the Korean War, I began to see some things I didn't like — like the hampering of MacArthur from really winning the war. I guess you might say I became interested in politics then."

Conners said he found in campaigning for Reagan that he had one strong factor in his favor if he decides to enter politics:

"I have visibility. Politicians strive for years to acquire it — the ability to be recognized instantly by the public. My acting career has given me that."

Conners made a political speech recently to a Republican women's group in suburban Pasadena, which brought other invitations to speak.

SET SPEECH

"I have a set speech that I've researched very thoroughly," says Conners. "It deals with my political philosophy, my views on welfare, foreign policy and costly bureaucracy in government."

When Goldwater ran, Conners did not campaign.

"I think that was a mistake now," says Conners. "Ronnie (Reagan) asked me to. But I didn't know Goldwater at the time and I didn't want to campaign for a man I didn't know."

Conners began campaigning in earnest in Reagan's campaign. He crisscrossed the state with him, by his side constantly in the closing 10 days.

"I introduced him at rallies and helped fend people away from him on the plane," says Conners.

On his own political philosophy, Conners says:
"I was poor as a kid, but never noticed it. I'd earn 25 cents scrubbing kitchen floors for people during the depression, and I'd bring it home to the family. My father was out of work, then got a job as a janitor in the Whitehall building. My mother worked in people's houses. "But we all worked to help pull ourselves up. During the worst times, we lived on $27 a month relief. That's why my mother is still such an ardent Democrat."

"But I feel there are too many people on welfare today, third and fourth generations, expecting everything to be handed to them. I'm not against welfare. I think people should be encouraged to make their own living. It gives a person a tremendous amount of self-respect."

"A lot of the trouble with the enormous welfare expenditures is waste in government. It may be we can spend a lot less on welfare and get a lot more dollars into the hands of the people who need the welfare."

Conners says his big dream over the years had been to hit a couple of home runs for the Dodgers.

"Now," he says, "sometimes when I day dream, I think about what it would be like to be a senator."

"And you know what I think? Not about my little office in Washington. But of getting off a plane and people sticking about 35 microphones in my face. Then I'd know I was a senator."

Indicate Alcoholism Hereditary

Booze-Loving Rats May Help Man

HELSENKI (UPI) — Scientists here claim they've developed the drinkingest white rats in history.

And they've found that it's not the rat's fault if he becomes a boozer — he was born that way. The conclusion may also apply to man.

The scientific team's experiments are aimed at finding a cure for human alcoholism, and team members believe they are making progress.

The researchers are doctors Helsing, Eriksson, Henriksson, Wallgren and Olof Forsander. They are employees of the state alcohol monopoly, Alkoholiolli Oy, which has devoted considerable money to finding a cure for the more severe side effects produced by the libations it dispenses.

The researchers have spent years experimenting with rats, trying to develop two totally different breeds — one of teetotalers and one of complete lushes.

So far one of the most significant findings is that a predilection toward alcoholism — among rats at least — is hereditary.

Eriksson says the rats have been placed in separate cages at a young age. Each has had a choice between food, water and an alcohol solution.

The experiments have shown that the rats divide immediately into teetotalers and drinkers.

They also have shown that female rats are slightly more susceptible to demon rum than males.

As an example of how the experiment works, Eriksson said a crossbreeding of two sober rats produced seven youngsters — four females and three males.

One of the females was a drunk, another a "half-drunk," one was a "sipper" or social drinker, and the fourth was sober. Two of the males were sober and one was a social drinker.

A breeding of two drunk rats produced 10 offspring — five of each sex. Three females were drunks, one a half-drunk, and one sober. Two of the males were drunks, two half-drunks, and one was a sipper.

"By crossbreeding either a pair of sober or a pair of drinking rats," Eriksson says, "we have been able to develop two completely different breeds."

"We are at the moment experimenting with the seventh generation and because a breed can be considered pure after 12 to 15 generations, our work will be finished in four or five years."

"We may pride ourselves on the fact that our rats are the drinkingest rats in history."

SETTING HIS SIGHTS? — Actor Chuck Conners, who has enjoyed success on television as "The Rifleman," aims one of his favorite rifles in his Hollywood home. Conners says 1964 presidential candidate Barry Goldwater has suggested that he run for the Senate from California. If Conners should run next year — and win — California would have three former actors, all Republicans, in its key political posts.

Camera Angles

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures
"Photography in the Fine Arts" once again lives up to its name — and dignified status — its fifth exhibition making its bow at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

The 179 contemporary photographs which are on view in three special galleries for three months — until June 11 — were selected by a panel of 11 art museum directors and curators.

The exhibition is the end result of a search that has been in progress for the past two and a half years directed by Ivan Dmitri, noted artist — photographer and guiding spirit of PFA.

The worldwide search has had the help of leading photographic organizations, among them the Photographic Society of America, Professional Photographers of America, Colorado Photographic Arts Center, photographic societies of Great Britain, Japan and Australia, picture editors of news services, photo agencies, photography magazines, schools, book publishers and national magazines. Since two billion photographs are made annually in the United States alone, the immense task of winnowing out fine pictures from the mass becomes apparent.

SUBMIT CHOICES

Cooperating photo sources, after searching through the vast number of pictures encountered in their normal routines, submitted their choices to photographic authorities.

After final screening, these photo juries selected 1,188 candidates which qualified, in their opinion, as "fine art in photography."

It was from these entries that the PFA National Board of Selection finally chose 88 color and 91 black-and-white photographs that comprise OFA Exhibit on V.

They are the work of 160 photographers ranging from a student to amateurs to top-ranking professionals.

FOUR PLANNED

After display in New York's most distinguished art museum, the exhibition will start a tour of art museums throughout the United States and Canada.

I've had a personal interest in this particular exhibition because one of my pictures was among those in the final judging.

It did not survive the combined critical taste of the 11 judges, however, so perhaps my scrutiny of the chosen exhibition prints is through the prejudiced eye of a disappointed contestant.

I'd say the great majority of the photographs in PFA V are superb... exciting examples of creative, aesthetic, sensitive yet technically skillful photography. They make PFA V a resounding visual success.

DEBATABLE

I also think perhaps 10 pictures in the show are debatable... they're good, but not that great. In an inevitable mental comparison, I'm inclined to think my photo is more offbeat and has more unusual color quality.

Finally, there are about half a dozen pictures on exhibition which, in my opinion, are classical clichés or have no substantial meaning. I wonder how these got past that jury at all.

But isn't this the reaction of all disappointed photographers when they study the results of a contest?

Perhaps that's the psychology of continuing contests: there are always a few winning pictures about which photographers are sure to exclaim, "Gee, I've taken better pictures than that! If I had taken it, I'd better enter the next contest!"

'Most U.S. Agencies Use Bugging Devices'

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — "Almost all government agencies" make "wide use" of a variety of electronic eavesdropping devices, according to the Senate's chief wiretap lawyer.

The favorite gadget is a $1,500 "do-it-yourself bugging kit" made in Belmont, Mass., according to Bernard J. Fensterwald Jr., chief counsel of the Senate subcommittee on administrative practice and procedure, who describes himself as "one of the few professional wiretappers who is neither in jail nor under indictment."

The Post Office Department, however, is apparently one of the few agencies not using electronic gadgetry. "They're not that modern," Fensterwald said.

Instead, he said, postal inspectors make use of "about one mile" of tunnels, equipped with observation slits, honeycombing through the main Washington post office, along with similar tunnels in every first class post office in the U.S.

electronics industry representatives at a seminar on industrial espionage that to be virtually positive of having a bug-free office would cost "in the neighborhood of $200,000."

But even then, he added, it is almost impossible to be completely certain. "Debugging is a tedious job," he said. "Sweet cider is fresh apple juice with no preservatives added."

Junior Editors Quiz on SEVEN WONDERS

QUESTION: What were the seven wonders of the ancient world?

ANSWER: About 100 B. C., a list of the seven most remarkable things to see was drawn up by Antipater of Sidon. The Egyptian pyramids (1), built as tombs for the pharaohs, are the only "Wonders" still standing today.

King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon had married a princess from a mountain country where there was much foliage. To please her, he built a series of terraces filled with vegetation, the Hanging Gardens of Babylon (2).

The Pharos of Alexandria was a lighthouse in which a fire was kept burning. It was used for 1,500 years near Alexandria, Egypt (3).

The Colossus of Rhodes was an enormous statue of the sun God on the island of Rhodes (4).

Number (5) was another gigantic statue, of Zeus on his throne. The temple of Diana at Ephesus was over 400 feet long (6).

The Mausoleum at Halicarnassus (7) was built by a queen in honor of her husband, King Mausolus. It is from this that we get the word "mausoleum."

Ruby Gun May Go to Archives

Family Offer Hinges on Okay of Creditors

DETROIT (UPI) — An attorney representing Jack Ruby's heirs said today the family would offer the gun used by Ruby to kill Lee Harvey Oswald to the National Archives only when a Dallas, Tex., court allows it.

Allen Adelson said it is the family's wish to carry out Jack Ruby's desire that the government be given the stub-nosed Colt revolver.

However, he said, this could only be done after a will written by Ruby in 1959 is probated in court.

Another attorney, Jules F. Mayer of Dallas, named as executor by Ruby in the will, said yesterday he had "no objection to anything going to the National Archives as long as Jack Ruby's creditors are satisfied."

Mayer was named executor in one of three wills made by Ruby.

Adelson said an agreement had been reached between Ruby's brother, Jack of Southfield, and Mayer that the first will be placed in probate.

Adelson said a stipulation agreement had been signed that Mayer would remove himself as executor within 10 days after a probate hearing April 4 if so requested by the family.

Adelson said Earl Ruby would make the request and ask the court to name him administrator of the estate.

"All the family wants is to make sure that the few things Jack owned don't get into the wrong hands," Adelson said.

"Selling the gun would have the effect of putting a dollar value on his life," he added. Mayer estimated Ruby's debts at more than $75,000.

He said the lawyers who defended Ruby against a charge of murdering Oswald, the assassin of President John F. Kennedy, are owed about $30,000; the Internal Revenue had a claim of $44,000 against Ruby long before he killed Oswald; and Ruby's funeral bill of $2,000 has not been paid.

OPPOSITION VIEWPOINT — Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey leaves the stage at Howard University in Washington, D. C., last night as hecklers crowded up to make their views known. As Gen. Hershey was about to speak, students produced signs and began to shout. Guards hustled Hershey off the stage.

But He Takes It in Stride

Hecklers Halt Hershey Speech

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the Selective Service system, was philosophical after shouting demonstrators forced cancellation of his speech at Howard University.

"In this time of uncertainty, with students unsure of draft deferments, such a demonstration can be expected," Hershey said Tuesday night after university officials hurried him off the stage of Howard's Cramton Auditorium.

Hershey had just risen to speak when some 35 persons in the audience started chanting slogans like, "America is the black man's battlefield," and, "Draft beer, not students."

When some of the demonstrators, cheered on by many in the audience of 300, pushed placards near Hershey's face, authorities at the predominantly Negro university hustled him out.

Hershey had been invited to speak by Project Awareness, a student group. An organization cochairman, Ronald O. Ross, said he wasn't surprised at the demonstration and predicted more of the same "until America solves its problems concerning the black man."

But Leonard L. McCants, the other Project Awareness cochairman, called the affair "repulsive. We should not have infringed on his right to speak."

Hershey was to have spoken on "The Draft and College Students."

As he waited offstage to see if he'd be able to return to the podium, Hershey said he agreed with the right to dissent "but this is not the way to do it. I'm a guest here, but I don't want to criticize my host for what has happened."

NOT INDICATIVE

He said he didn't believe the demonstration was indicative of student body feelings as a whole.

Talks on Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators say "substantial progress" has been made in U.S.-British-West German talks on numbers and financing of Allied troops in West Germany but there is no indication of a final agreement.

Griffin, Two Auto Critics Spar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., views Ralph Nader, the auto safety critic, as "one of the most articulate tailwalkers who ever appeared before a committee of Congress."

On the other hand, another critic of the nation's new Traffic Safety Agency has suggested that Griffin tore up the costs of auto accidents before complaining added safety features might add to car prices.

Griffin said the logical conclusion to Nader's proposals would be government controls on automobile prices. Nader said he was not suggesting that.

Griffin also sparred verbally with William I. Stieglitz, an engineer who quit the agency in a dispute over its initial safety standards.

COMPLAINTS — Like Nader, Stieglitz said standards weren't tough enough, and he also complained that the industry submitted no specific standards are inadequate and data about the potential cost of safety features it opposed and which were modified or eliminated by the agency.

Nader also told the committee that, if auto makers are going to complain that proposed safety features are too costly, they should be required by the agency to submit detailed figures on expenses involved.

"I WANT MY CUSTOMERS TO HAVE THE 'BEST-DRESSED' EASTER TABLES," SAID FARMER JACK, AS HE ANNOUNCED THAT HE HAD "ROLLED BACK FOOD PRICES THIS WEEK IN ALL FARMER JACK SUPERMARKETS — TO GIVE FOOD SHOPPERS THE OPPORTUNITY TO STOCK UP AT A SAVINGS ON THEIR EASTER FOOD NEEDS!"

"It's a tradition among Food Shoppers, to stock up their pantries for Easter," said Farmer Jack, when questioned as to why he had reduced prices during one of the biggest food buying weeks of the year!

"Lots of my customers," Farmer Jack continued, "observe pre-Easter fasting all during Lent, and there's a tendency to let food supplies run down."

"Then the week before Easter — everybody starts stockin' up! They buy cart loads of staples that they'd let run low, plus all the delicious specialties that they serve on Easter!"

"I'm determined," said Farmer Jack, "to keep my prices down — an' I want them especially low — durin' this period when folks will be havin' to buy so much an' so many extra expenses!"

"Now, maybe this don't make good sense, an' prob'ly the 90 day wonders in the food retailin' business are already sayin' 'It's Farmer Jack's folly,' — but, like I've told y' before — my Supermarkets are more than Stores — they're a whole new way of Food Shoppin' Life!"

"I made a promise to the folks in this town to keep food prices down — when I opened my first Supermarket! An' if I never do anything else — the one thing y' can be sure Farmer Jack intends to keep his word!"

"Now, if y' doubt what I say — you just take your foot in your hand — an' take a walk around — an' look at the savin's every customer makes — when they come to see Farmer Jack this week!"

"Our Meat's the best — U.S. Choice, an' the Poultry's all Grade A! The Groceries are all Famous Brands — an' the Produce couldn't be fresher if y' picked it yourself!"

"So, when you combine quality like this — with Ole Farmer Jack's extra low prices — for my money you've got exactly what folks want — an' that's exactly what they're gettin' at Farmer Jack's Supermarkets!"

A Roving Reporter Visits Farmer Jack!

FARMER JACK SAYS, "SALE PRICES INCLUDE MEAT!"

Farmer Jack's step appears to quicken everytime he approaches one of his Meat Departments! When queried about this, he said very simply, "they're the pride of my life."

Somewhat, you get the impression Farmer Jack never said a word in his life that he didn't mean! One look around, after walking into the big, beautiful Meat Department, helps you to understand the depth of feeling — Farmer Jack has for this Department in his Supermarkets!

Without doubt, it's the biggest Meat Variety this reporter has ever seen! There was a whole counter filled with thick, juicy-looking Steaks! I could just imagine how good they'd taste!

There were dozens of other Choice Beef Cuts, and I admit I was never more impressed by the Quality of Meat — than I was today! There was ever so much lean, tender Pork and Veal, and all sizes of plump, delicious Grade A Hen Turkeys and Chickens!

Another thing, Farmer Jack seems to specialize in extra fine quality Hams — and he made comments about their Quality, and the Hickory Smoke that's used to give them that 'down-on-the-farm' flavor that Farmer Jack says — is what makes his Hams different from all others!

I may sound like a cub reporter on his first assignment, but I'd never experienced anything like it! Farmer Jack sounds like he's more interested in saving Food Shoppers money on their Grocery bills, and helping them have a Happy Easter — than he is in making a profit in his own Supermarkets!

ADD SESAME SEEDS—Toasted sesame seeds and herb seasoned croissants give a new exciting taste to your favorite tossed salad. Sesame seeds contain an oil that is permitted on low cholesterol diets.

Enjoy Taste of New Potatoes From Florida

The white potato is the largest and most valuable vegetable crop in the world. Some 610 billion pounds are consumed annually. Right now, the most tempting ones are the tender-skinned, fresh-flavored new potatoes being harvested in the sunny fields of Florida.

New potatoes are certainly a "convenience food." Cook them in their jackets, then peel, or peel a "belt" around each potato to allow salt or seasoning to penetrate during cooking.

Cook them in bouillon and serve with a generous sprinkling of minced chives or parsley. This is a good way to prepare new potatoes for the calorie conscious. Otherwise, serve them with butter or gravy.

The freshness of new potatoes makes delicious potato salad. For a cool or chilled salad, mix with dressing after the potatoes have cooled. If it's to be a hot, German-style salad, toss lightly with dressing while potatoes are hot.

While there is no such thing as a "complete natural food," the potato comes nearer to it than almost any other because of its high carbohydrate, mineral and vitamin content.

The new potato has all these nutrients plus unusually good amounts of vitamin C.

New Potatoes, Parisienne

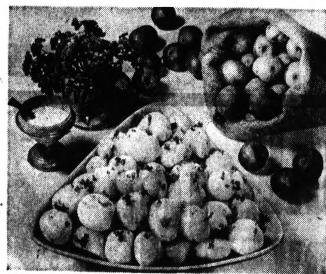

1½ pounds small new potatoes
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper

Wash potatoes. Place in saucepan with 1-inch boiling water and salt. Cover and simmer 15 to 20 minutes. (Cooking time depends upon size of potatoes.) Drain and peel potatoes. Turn into serving dish.

Melt butter and add pepper. Pour over potatoes. Garnish with chopped fresh parsley. Yield: 6 servings.

New Potatoes Anna

2 pounds new potatoes
1½ teaspoons salt

NEW POTATOES PARISIENNE—Turn Florida new potatoes in melted butter, sprinkle liberally with chopped fresh parsley. A springtime treat.

Soup Has Potato Base

In one tablespoon, butter quickly saute three tablespoons finely minced onion, one teaspoon finely chopped parsley (only leaves). Saute only two minutes.

Lift out and add to one cup hot seasoned mashed potatoes in deep saucepan. Stir into this mixture one cup rich chicken stock, one cup milk. Cook 15 minutes over very low heat.

In skillet add 2 tablespoons butter and saute one pound thinly sliced fresh mushrooms, or use one six or 8 ounce sliced canned mushrooms. Saute only two minutes.

Now, to potato mixture add ½ cup light cream (scalded) and the sauteed mushrooms. Keep hot over low heat until served in hot cups. Sprinkle lightly on top with few mushroom slices and a bit of minced parsley.

Bread Baking

When using whole wheat flour in making whole grain bread, remember that whole grain breads brown quickly. Cover the tops with two paper towels or a double thickness of brown paper during the last 15 minutes of baking.

When making homemade bread, allow loaves to cook, then wrap and seal each loaf in a moisture-resistant paper or bag.

Sesame for Salad

A salad can have many faces—appetizer, accompaniment, entree, dessert. The occasion of course determines the ingredients. Tossed Greens Salad with Sesame Seeds shows three of these faces. A small serving as an appetizer; a large serving for a dinner accompaniment; and, with strips of ham, chicken or cheese, a pleasurable entree.

Herb seasoned croissants and homemade dressing spruce up this salad, no matter which face you decide to present.

Tossed Greens Salad with Sesame Seeds

3 tablespoons toasted sesame seeds
¼ quart leaf lettuce or tomato wedges
1 quart spinach leaves
3 tomatoes, peeled, cut into wedges
½ cup small sweet onion rings
1 teaspoon salt

¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
3 tablespoons vinegar
3 tablespoons honey
½ cup vegetable oil
2 cups herb seasoned stuffing croissants

Toast sesame seeds by spreading evenly in cake pan. Heat in slow oven (300 degrees) about 30 minutes or until golden. Trim and wash greens; drain well. Tear into bite-size pieces before measuring. Add tomato wedges, onion rings and sesame seeds; toss and refrigerate.

Make dressing by combining salt, pepper and mustard in small mixing bowl; stir in vinegar and honey. Add oil slowly while beating with rotary beater or electric mixer; refrigerate.

Just before serving, combine greens, dressing and herb seasoned stuffing croissants; toss well. Yield: 8-10 servings.

Open a Can of Beans and Go to Town

If you can't get your family to the supper table during this TV-watching season, bring the supper table to your family. You'll discover that an occasional meal-on-the-move is fun! And it is easy to prepare and serve if you follow our formula. Start off with hearty fare that's just right for tray-toting—steamy Bean Rabbit, a savory combination of Cheddar cheese and beans and ground beef in barbecue sauce kept snug in a deep covered dish. Alongside, provide plenty of thick slices of bread or toast.

Let folks serve themselves—first, to a bread or toast "base"; then, to that spoon-on topping of tender beans and lean ground beef in zesty barbecue sauce dressed-up with cheese and additional seasonings.

Round out the meal with finger-food crisp relishes and fresh fruit. Don't forget the other canned bean products that will come-to-your aid... hearty-wise and budget-wise... for winter meals. There are beans and franks in tomato sauce, barbecue beans, and favorite pork and beans that are newly improved for even better tasting.

Two Cheeses
Some weight-watchers like to lunch on cottage cheese and fruit. For variety, you may want to add a little blue cheese to the cottage cheese on occasion.

A new recipe booklet "Take a Can of Beans" is available free of charge. Write to Carolyn Campbell PP, Home Economics Department, Campbell Soup Company, 375 Memorial Avenue, Camden, New Jersey 08101.

BEAN RABBIT

1 can (1 pound) beans and ground beef in barbecue sauce

1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons minced green pepper
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire 1 drop "Taco" sauce
French bread

In saucepan, combine all ingredients except bread. Heat until cheese melts. Stir now and then. Serve over thick slices bread. Three servings.

Invite Friends In for Easter Brunch

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

More and more hostesses are discovering the advantages of brunch. For a day like Easter, it may be the solution to your problem.

The time is flexible and so is the menu. Usually, the food is presented buffet style and guests can eat as they arrive. You can entertain more people than if you have a sit-down meal.

Do as much of your preparation the day before. Arrange to have food kept hot. Then get out your prettiest table linen and your gayest dishes.

Easter marks a rebirth and spring has to come soon, despite the snow on the ground right now.

Coffee cakes baked in egg-shaped pans are a modern Easter bread. Raisin breads are traditional the world over during the Lenten and Easter season.

RAISIN EASTER COFFEE CAKES

1 cup seedless raisins
1 cup pecans

1/4 cup shortening
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons light molasses
1 egg
2 cups sifted flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk

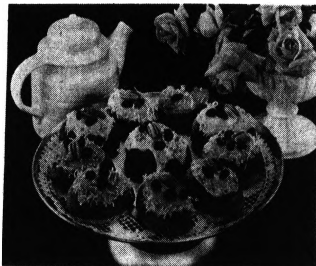

Chop raisins and pecans. Blend together shortening, sugar and spices until light and fluffy. Beat in molasses and egg.

Resift flour with baking powder and salt. Add to sugar mixture alternately with milk. Stir in raisins and pecans.

Spoon into 12 greased egg-shaped pans or gelatin molds. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes, or until cakes test done. Remove from pans to wire racks.

While still warm, spread tops with Powdered Sugar Frosting and decorate as desired with raisins, pecans and coconut. Makes 1 dozen individual coffee cakes.

NOTE: Batter may be baked in a greased 1 1/2 quart

RAISIN EASTER COFFEE CAKES

Vegetables Are for Lunch

Fresh vegetable-potato salad is a good lunchbox item.

Combine 1 quart of diced cooked fresh potatoes, 1 cup of cooked drained fresh snap beans, 1/2 cup of sliced, cooked fresh carrots, 1/4 cups of diced celery, 2 teaspoons of salt, 1/2 teaspoon of ground black pepper, and 3 tablespoons of mayonnaise. Mix well; chill 2 to 3 hours.

Serve with salad greens and tomato wedges or pack into insulated containers to fit into lunch boxes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Look for Bubbles

Recipes using yeast usually call for scalded milk. To scald milk, heat over direct low heat until bubbles appear around the edge or over simmering water until a thin film appears on top of the milk.

CHICKEN LIVERS AND PINEAPPLE

ring mold. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 to 40 minutes.

Powdered Sugar Frosting:

Mix 1 cup sifted powdered sugar with 2 tablespoons hot water to make glaze consistency. Tint pastel colors as desired.

Eggs scrambled with avocados will have your guests coming back for more.

CREAMY AVOCADO SCRAMBLED EGGS

12 eggs
1 cup (1/2 pint) light cream
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup coarsely chopped fresh chives
1/4 cup butter or margarine
2 medium avocados, peeled and cubed

24 brown and serve sausages, heated

Additional chopped chives

Combine eggs, cream, salt and pepper and beat until well blended. Stir in 1/4 cup chives.

Melt butter in large skillet; add eggs and stir over medium heat until eggs are creamy and almost set. Fold in cubed avocado. Spoon eggs into chafing dish set over hot water.

Sprinkle additional chopped chives on top and surround eggs with hot sausages. Makes 12 servings.

Chicken livers wrapped in bacon and baked with canned pineapple slices make an elegant offering at brunch.

PINEAPPLE WITH CHICKEN LIVERS

24 chicken livers (about 1 1/4 pounds)

Seasoned salt
12 slices bacon
1 (1-pound 14-ounce) can pineapple slices

Sprinkle chicken livers lightly with seasoned salt. Cut bacon strips in half. Wrap each chicken liver in bacon; skewer in place.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 10 minutes

Basic livers with pan drippings once or twice. Drain off fat.

Place well drained pineapple slices in pan. Continue baking 5 to 10 minutes until bacon is crisp and pineapple heated. Makes 8 servings.

OMELETTE AUX POMMES (Apple Omelet)

1 lb. 4 oz. can Piesliced apples, drained
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon ginger
3 eggs, separated
1 tablespoon water
1 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup shredded Swiss cheese

Combine drained piesliced apples, 1/4 cup sugar, nutmeg, and ginger in saucepan. Cook over medium heat until apples are glazed (about 2 or 3 minutes); keep warm.

Beat egg yolks with water until thick. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Beat in 1 teaspoon sugar. Fold beaten yolks into beaten egg whites.

Melt butter in a 9-inch oven-proof skillet and heat until it sizzles. Quickly turn in egg mixture, spreading evenly over bottom of pan. Cook over medium heat until omelet is golden brown on bottom.

Place under broiler about 6 inches from heat until top of omelet is golden brown. Turn out onto oven-proof platter.

Spoon half the apple mixture onto one side of the omelet; sprinkle with half of the grated cheese. Fold omelet in half. Top with remaining apples and cheese.

Place under broiler again until cheese melts. Serve hot. Makes 2 servings.

SET FOR EASTER—Sunday brunch is the American cousin of traditional English "hunt breakfast." Sterling silver flatware and silver dishes contribute much to the buffet's elegance and serve as the perfect foil for avocado scrambled eggs and grapefruit baskets. Silver: Sterling Silversmiths Guild of America; china: "Myrtle" by Arabia of Finland; tablecloth: "Embroidery" by Bates.

Wilt Lettuce with Bacon Dressing

The flavor of bacon and the nippy dressing will keep you making this salad.

Lettuce With Hot Bacon Dressing

3 quarts iceberg lettuce and spinach, broken into bite-size pieces
6 bacon slices
1/2 cup chopped green onions
1/4 cup vinegar
1/2 cup water
1 package Italian dressing mix
2 teaspoons sugar

Place lettuce in salad bowl. Fry bacon until crisp, drain and then crumble. Add crumbled bacon and onions to lettuce. Toss. Add vinegar, water, dressing mix and sugar to bacon fat in the skillet. Heat to boiling point, then pour over lettuce. Toss thoroughly and serve immediately. Makes six servings.

Skewer Fruits and Broil

Exotic pineapple kabobs are a sweet tasty meat garnish or a tempting contrast with ice cream. Alternately string canned pineapple chunks and chunky pieces of banana on skewers.

Brush with honey thinned with pineapple syrup; heat on grill or under broiler until glazed and brown, brushing often with honey mixture.

Sections, Slices, Juice

Freeze Citrus Fruit Now

Fresh oranges and grapefruit will keep about a week at home—in a cool room, or if popped into the refrigerator. But citrus "on ice" has an even longer life-time.

Fresh fruit, home frozen, will provide families with fresh-like taste treats far into the future.

In fact, fruit will keep its original quality up to a year in a home freezer at zero degrees— if your family lets it stay there that long.

No doubt you freezer-owners have stashed away fresh strawberries in the spring, or peaches in the summer. But you don't have to wait for warm weather to find fruit treats to tuck in your freezer chest.

Why not now? And, why not fresh oranges and grapefruit? This is certainly the season for these colorful citrus fruits. The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that oranges and grapefruit will be among our most plentiful foods at least through March. And budgetwise homemakers should find prices attractive.

HEAVY FRUIT

Freezing oranges and grapefruit is a fairly simple operation. Start by choosing firm, heavy fruit that is free of soft spots.

Heaviness, explains USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, is your clue to thin-skinned, juicy fruit.

Wash and peel the fruit. Divide it into sections, removing all the membranes and seeds. Slice the oranges if desired.

(For grapefruit with many seeds, halve the fruit, remove the seeds and then cut or scoop out the sections.)

Pack the prepared fruit into containers. Cover with a cold 40-per-cent syrup (3 cups sugar to 4 cups liquid) made with excess fruit juice and water if needed.

For better quality, add 1/4 teaspoon crystalline ascorbic acid to a quart of syrup.

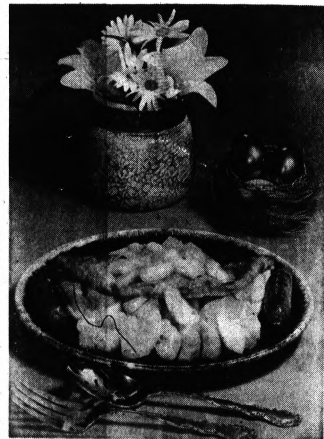

Be sure to leave head space, for expansion of the fruit. Seal containers and pop in freezer.

To make your own frozen fruit juice: Squeeze juice from carefully selected fruit (emphasizing heaviness for size of fruit, so you benefit from greatest possible juiciness). Use a squeezer that does not press oil from the rind.

Sweeten with two tablespoons sugar for each quart of juice. Or, pack without sugar if you prefer.

For better quality, add 1/4 teaspoon crystalline ascorbic acid for each gallon of juice.

Pour juice into containers immediately. Leave head space; seal and freeze. (To avoid development of off flavors, pack juice in glass jars or citrus-enamel tin cans if available.)

OMELETTE AUX POMMES

Mashed Potatoes Are Done Early

Eliminate that last minute rush to get dinner on the table, by reheating as many things as possible ahead of time. For your mashed potato dish, try this.

Prepare as much instant mashed potatoes as you'll need and form into potato "snowballs" with an ice cream scoop. Arrange in a foil-lined pan.

Press a pat of butter or margarine into the center of each scoop and seal top. Arrange strips of pimento over the scooped potatoes, cover with garbanzo or foil and refrigerate all time to heat for serving. Brush with melted butter and heat in a 350 degree oven for 25 minutes.

Garnish each with a sprig of parsley. They're pretty and mighty good!

1 1/2 cups oatmeal
2 cups crushed potato chips

Cream shortening and sugars. Add eggs and vanilla and beat well. Stir in flour sifted with soda, then add rest of the ingredients.

Grocery Sacks Will Do the Job

Old-fashioned recipes involved paper used for wrapping with deep-fat frying, usually in packages and from which grocer cooks to drain the fried cery bags are usually made.

That direction meant that If you use a grocery bag, just heavy brown paper with a dull split it and open out so the paper surface could be used—the kind per lies wide and flat.

MAGIC POTATO CHIP COOKIES

1 1/2 cups sweetened condensed milk
2 cups shredded coconut
1/2 cup peanut butter
1 cup crumbled potato chips

Mix condensed milk and peanut butter. Add coconut and potato chips. Drop by spoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Bake about 15 minutes at 375 degrees.

In addition, some recipes were not signed and other women called in after we had the recipes.

Thanks again.

Fruit Syrup Is So Useful

Instead of just protesting the seemingly high cost of groceries let's take stock of our cupboards! Sitting right there is the delicious fruit syrup that comes with every can of luscious cling peaches and refreshing fruit cocktail.

Occasionally not used, at no extra cost, this syrup could well be providing you with delicious syrup for your breakfast pancakes. It's easy to collect the syrup from more than one can over a period of a few days and really save yourself money with these simple-to-do suggestions.

Most obvious uses probably are in gelatin salads and desserts. The light fruit flavor of the syrup adds to the recipe yet does not change it.

Another good syrup use is in fruit ade drinks and frozen concentrate drinks, again flavor and sweetness are added.

Here are some seldom thought of uses:

- Replace part or all the liquid in cake mixes, pie and pudding mixes, instant desserts, frosting, pancake mixes and muffin mixes.
- Use fruit syrup as a glaze for hams, poultry, and pork roasts; as the liquid in stuffing mixes.
- Use in marinades, salad dressing, meatloaf, curries and gravies, and when these recipes call for wine, use equal amount of syrup plus 1 tablespoon lemon juice.
- Plump dried fruit with syrups instead of water, adding nutrition and flavor.

Probably the greatest money saver is in using fruit syrup for pancakes and waffles. Here is the recipe.

Syrup from 1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) cling peaches or (1 lb. 14 oz.) fruit cocktail
1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon maple flavoring

1 tablespoon butter
Bring the syrup to a boil. Cook for 10 minutes to reduce syrup to 1 cup. Remove from heat; add flavoring and butter. Serve warm over pancakes, waffles and French toast.

Equivalents for these fruit syrups:
1 lb. or 1 lb. 1 oz. can has about 1/4 cup syrup; 1 lb. 13 oz. or 1 lb. 14 oz. can has about 1/2 cup syrup.

'No-Sift' Method Is Simple if You Use Spoon

When you are using the "no-sift" method of measuring flour here are some hints.

Just spoon the flour right from the bag or canister into a dry measuring cup and level the cup with a straightedge spatula. Then pour the total amount of flour into your mixing bowl or onto waxed paper.

Before you add the remaining dry ingredients, remove one level tablespoon of flour for each cup of flour called for in the recipe.

This simple adjustment gives you an accurate measure of flour every time without sifting. But remember to spoon or dip the flour.

Nutty Pie Crust Fine for Chocolate Filling

One fourth cup ground and toasted nuts should be added to the pastry mix for a nine-inch single pie crust. For a homemade crust, the nuts should be added to the flour before the shortening or the liquid.

Prepare and bake the crust in the usual way after adding nuts. Try it some day with a pumpkin or chocolate pie.

Seafood Soup Is Fine Way for Lobster

Turkey-Ham Sandwiches Are Egg Dipped, Baked

Ordinarily, the word "chowder" conjures up visions of a steaming kettle of hearty fish or seafood soup, fare for the hard-working or the really hungry. But a chowder can be, as it is in this recipe from the National Fisheries Institute, a true delicacy fit to take its place alongside such legendary seafood dishes as Thermidor or Newburg.

Unlike these dishes, or even the average chowder, you can have this one on the table in just a few minutes. The seafood is convenient frozen rock lobster tails; the base is mushroom soup mix, piquantly perked up with lemon and nutmeg.

Rock Lobster-Mushroom Chowder

1 quart hot water
2 packages frozen rock lobster tails
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 lemon, sliced thin
1 package mushroom soup mix
1/2 cup cold water
1 cup milk

Bring hot water to a boil in a large saucepan. Add lobster tails, salt, pepper nutmeg and lemon slices. Return to boil and cook about 5 minutes. Remove lobster tails and set aside to cool; discard lemon slices.

Empty package of mushroom soup mix into another saucepan. Stir in cold water, then gradually add 2 1/2 cups of the cooking broth from the lobsters, stirring to blend.

Cut away undershell from lobsters with kitchen shears. Remove meat and cut up with shears into 1-inch pieces. Reheat mushroom soup mixture, stirring occasionally, until it comes to a boil. Add milk and lobster meat.

Cook over low heat until heated through (do not boil). Serve in individual bowls garnished with lemon slices. If desired, a tablespoon of sherry may be added to each serving. Makes 4 large servings.

A plan-ahead informal luncheon is a wonderfully deceptive affair — and that's something even the most scrupulously honest women delight in.

Our Grandmother's term was "Don't tell all you know." A Deceptor's Delight Sandwich made with frozen gilet gravy and sliced turkey is definitely in the "Don't tell all you know" category.

This is really an adaptation of the famous Monte Cristo french-fried sandwich and has boiled ham, Swiss cheese and turkey.

Put a box of frozen turkey sliced in the refrigerator the night before. When you are ready to eat, heat the turkey until hot and make sandwiches with cheese, ham and turkey. Dip them in beaten eggs and bake in a hot oven for six to eight minutes.

Meantime, serve your favorite hot soup and tossed green salad. If you have fresh fruit or dessert, you will have produced lunch for the heartiest with apparently a mere flick of the finger. Don't tell all you know.

Deceptor's Delight Sandwich

1 package (2 pounds) gilet
1 package sliced turkey
1 egg
1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt
1/4 teaspoon poultry seasoning
Dash white pepper
12 slices bread
6 slices (1-oz.) Swiss cheese
6 slices boiled ham, trimmed (about 3 1/2" x 3 1/2")

Heat turkey slices according to package directions. Meanwhile combine eggs and seasonings. Heat oven to extremely hot (500 degrees).

Butter a baking sheet. Remove slices from gravy. Make sandwiches using bread, slice of cheese, 2 slices of turkey, slice of boiled ham.

Dip both sides of each sandwich into egg mixture. Place on baking sheet. Bake 6-8 minutes or until brown. To serve, pass gravy separately. Yield: 6 sandwiches.

DECEPTOR'S DELIGHT—We call them Deceptor's Delight Sandwiches because they can be made so quickly, if you remember to thaw the gilet gravy and sliced turkey the night before. They're really French-fried sandwiches made of Swiss cheese, boiled ham and turkey served with rich gilet gravy.

Sour Cream and Cheese Sauce for Noodles

Perhaps it's true; as many Europeans claim, that most Americans tend to use macaroni products primarily in main dishes, and thereby miss knowing how good macaroni, egg noodles and spaghetti can be as accompaniments. If this is the case in your home, this new recipe from the National Macaroni Institute will help you give pasta a new place in your menus.

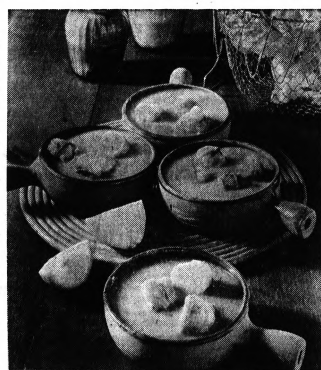

It's as easy as one, two, three to prepare Old Fashioned Noodles with Sour Cream. For all the simplicity of the dish, it offers great pleasure in the eating.

Egg Noodles With Sour Cream
2 tablespoons salt

1 to 6 quarts boiling water
1 pound old fashioned medium egg noodles (about 8 cups)
2 tablespoons butter, softened
1 pint (2 cups) dairy sour cream
1/4 cup each: fresh chopped chives, grated Parmesan cheese
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Add 2 tablespoons salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Return noodles to pot. Add butter, sour cream, chives, cheese, 1/4 teaspoon salt and pepper. Toss until mixed. Makes 6 servings.

LOBSTER-MUSHROOM CHOWDER — Bite-size chunks of rock lobster add a gourmet touch and a hearty taste in the late evening.

Serve Tiny Tarts at A Shower

The weather forecast for the months to come is spring bridal showers followed by summer brides. Since a shower is a thoughtful gesture in itself, it does not have to be an expensive and elaborate affair.

If you really want to be helpful in preparing the bride-to-be for her new home, give a kitchen shower-coffee party and pour on all the little homemaking necessities.

Since you'll be setting an example for the prospective bride, be certain your coffee is tops. If she asks for the secret to success, tell her to use one Approved Coffee Measure (equal to two level measuring tablespoons) of coffee to each six ounces of water per serving.

Come to think of it, the kitchen shower may even bring a coffee pot, coffee measure and coffee mugs among the many gift possibilities. With the right equipment and the proper directions, a new bride is on the right track to a happy marriage.

TINY FRUIT TARTS

1 cup butter or margarine
2 packages (3 oz. each) cream cheese Jelly, Jam or Marmalade
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour

Softened butter and cream cheese at room temperature. Combine, beat until smooth and creamy. Add flour 1/2 cup at a time, blending well after each addition.

Work with fingers to a smooth dough. Wrap in foil. Chill several hours. Shape into balls about 1-inch in diameter. Place on baking sheets.

With thumb make a deep "well" in each. Bake at 425° for 12 to 15 minutes or until golden brown. Cool. Fill wells with jelly, jam or marmalade. Makes about 3 dozen.

FOR KITCHEN SHOWER — Once these tiny tarts are passed around, the happy bride-to-be can unwrap her pretty packages.

Bengals Waste Northrup's Grand Slam

Yankees Rally for 5-4 Win Over Korince

Tiger Pitchers Fail to Protect 4-0 Lead; NY Triumphs in 9th

By WHITEY SAWYER

Associated Press Sports Writer
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — "It was a fast ball, and I hit it good," said Jim Northrup.

Not only that, it was a fast ball with the bases loaded and he hit it over the fence for a grand slam home run. But the Detroit Tigers couldn't hold a four-run lead and lost 5-4 to the New York Yankees in a Grapefruit League baseball game Tuesday.

The blast gave Northrup 14 RBIs for the spring training season, well ahead of Willie Horton who is second with seven.

But the Tigers couldn't score any more and New York picked up three runs in the third and two in the ninth for the victory.

George Korince, a 6-foot-2 rookie, came on in the ninth and couldn't get the Yankees out. He walked Steve Whitaker and gave up a single to Jake Gibbs.

TOOK SECOND

Then Ruben Amaro bounced a grounder off Korince's shins. As the youngster picked up the ball and tossed out Amaro, Whitaker scored and Gibbs took second on the play.

Korince struck out Ray Barker but walked Horace Clarke. Bill Robinson cracked a single—his third hit of the game—and scored Gibbs with the winning run.

Mickey Lolich, starter for Detroit, struck out five, walked one and gave up three runs and five hits in five innings.

He was followed by Larry Sherry who gave up one hit, one walk and had one strikeout in three innings.

The first two Yankee runs came on a homer by starting pitcher Al Downing off Lolich.

"Downing hit a good one, a low fast ball. I was trying to throw too hard for a while and was over throwing," Lolich said.

Sherry, last year's top Tigers relief pitcher, said "I had a little trouble with my curve at first then it was okay. I wasn't fresh as a daisy, but I wasn't tired, either."

Tigers' manager Mayo Smith said, "I wanted to look at Korince in the ninth. He was a little nervous, trying too hard."

"I thought Arlo Brunsberg did a pretty good job catching today."

FULL GAME

Brunsborg caught the full nine innings, giving Bill Freeman a chance to rest a pulled ligament in his leg.

Dick McAuliffe didn't play because of a pulled thigh muscle, but the second baseman said it felt all right in the warmup.

Jake Wood played second and went hitless, but played well defensively.

The Tigers play Washington today at Pompano Beach.

Romp by Rec Quintet Evens Playoff Series

The Amigo Celts rebounded with a vengeance Tuesday night at Pontiac Central to square their recreation men's basketball city championship series against Both Homes with a 74-64 triumph.

The Celts were upset heavily in the opener of the best-of-three title series, but they bounced back to dominate their foes with a 32-17 field goal advantage and hand the home builders their worst defeat since early January.

Completing a successful evening, the winners' National League counterpart — the Amigos' Club — wrapped up its championship by thrashing The Packers, 74-45.

In that game, the losing Packers were ahead, 26-22, at the halftime break but the Amigos' Club erupted for 52 points in the second half. It held the Packers to one field goal and one free throw in the decisive 23-3 third quarter.

Argonaut Coach Quits

Orioles' Pennant Hopes Feel Pain

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — One of the best kept secrets of the spring concerns Baltimore's pitching staff, the same one which broke all those World Series records last fall but can't even break a pane of glass today.

The Orioles' pitching crisis has reached such alarming proportions that overtures already quietly have been made for left-hander Pete Richard of Washington and if the world champs can't get him, they'll settle for Minnesota southpaw Jim Merritt.

"We've still got three weeks left before the season starts," says manager

Hank Bauer, naturally trying to soft-pedal his concern. "This is only spring training, what's there to worry about?"

Jim Palmer for one. Palmer became the youngest pitcher ever to hurl a World Series shutout when he stopped the Dodgers on four hits nine days short of his 21st birthday last Oct. 6.

So far this spring, he hasn't pitched a single ball in an exhibition game. He hasn't been able to. Shoulder trouble.

By The Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox have added a new wrinkle to their spring clean-up project — Smoky Burgess and a cloud of dust.

Burgess, baseball's premier pinch hitter, delivered for the first time this spring Tuesday and speedster Buddy Bradford took it from there as the White Sox edged Kansas City 5-4 in 10 innings for a 9-3 exhibition record — best in the majors.

Bradford ran for Burgess after the 49-year-old round man, who holds the all-time career record of 138 pinch hits, led off the 10th by stroking a pinch single.

The rookie outfielder then stole second, took third on a passed ball and — after two intentional walks filled the bases — raced home with the winning run on Tommie Agee's sacrifice fly.

While the White Sox stayed ahead of the pack on Florida's spring circuit, the San Francisco Giants whipped the Chicago Cubs 8-4 at Phoenix, Ariz., for their fifth straight Cactus League victory.

MAYS CHECKED

The Cubs held Willie Mays hitless for the first time in 11 exhibition games, but San Francisco scored six runs in the first inning — three on Willie McCovey's bases-loaded double — off

MSU Pitcher Walks Eight, Still Wins

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Michigan State's Gary Smith gave up eight walks in 5 1/2 innings but the Spartans won the six-inning ballgame, 5-2, Tuesday over Rutgers.

Smith, the winning pitcher, was relieved with one out in the last inning with the bases loaded. His replacement Dick Knight got the next batter to line out.

Then Knight struck out the last man to end the game.

The Spartans got only five hits in the victory. They scored three runs in the second inning and two in the sixth.

In the sixth inning, Tom Binkowski boomed a triple between the right and center fielders.

The ball bounded into the fence 85 feet away, allowing Tom Hummel and John Walters to score the final Spartan runs.

Michigan State has nine games remaining and will play Miami today.

MIAMI STATE (AP) — The Spartans won the six-inning ballgame, 5-2, Tuesday over Rutgers.

Road Gets Rougher for UCLA

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — When unbeaten UCLA clashes with sixth-ranked Houston Friday night in the NCAA semifinals, it'll be the first time this year the Bruins have met a team rated in the final top 15 in the nation.

That fact points up the irony of the college basketball season that has been obscured by the success of Lew Alcindor and his Bruin playmates.

UCLA arrives here Thursday for the NCAA nationals at Freedom Hall with a 28-0 record and the reputation of a wonder team.

While there's no question UCLA has the talent to back up most of its reputation, it's also true the Bruins have been aided by a lack of first-rate challengers this year.

By the quirk of the schedule, the Bruins haven't even met the few challengers there are.

This hasn't been a vintage year for college basketball teams and the Bruins have handled their easy schedule with no problems. Four of their victories led to the resignations of coaches Pete Elliott, Harry Combes and Howard Braun.

Statements on the funds were requested by Dr. David D. Henry, university president, from the university comptroller H. W. Farber.

Illinois Funds Broken Down

Statements Disclose Various Expenses

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — The University of Illinois Tuesday disclosed receipts and expenditures for three illegal funds which led to the resignations of coaches Pete Elliott, Harry Combes and Howard Braun.

Statements on the funds were requested by Dr. David D. Henry, university president, from the university comptroller H. W. Farber.

Also revealed for the first time was the D. R. Mills fund. Mills retired as athletic director Dec. 1.

Farber's report showed that receipts in the football fund from 1962 to Dec. 9, 1966, were $15,354.77 and expenditures were $14,378.99.

In the basketball fund from 1964 to Nov. 28, receipts were $10,520 and expenditures $7,043.96.

Farber said the D. R. Mills fund "was established by a transfer out of the receipts of the basketball fund and was set up presumably so that the director of athletics could put money into either the basketball or football fund as the need might arise."

The balance from the three funds, not including $2,700 returned to donors, has been deposited in respective football and basketball funds for grants in aid administered by the university in accordance with Big Ten regulations.

HAPPY MOMENT — A happy group of Tigers greets Detroit center fielder Jim Northrup as he nears home plate after belting a third-inning grand slam home run against the New York Yankees in an exhibition contest in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., yesterday. In the welcoming committee are Don Wert (8),

Norman Cash (25) and Willie Horton (23), who were on base. Dick Tracewski (44) is waiting his turn at bat. Unhappy with the whole affair is Yankee catcher (lower left) Jake Gibbs. The complexion changed later as the New Yorkers scored twice in the ninth to down the Bengals, 5-4.

Goalie Sharp in U.S. Loss

VIENNA (AP) — The United States had an open date today in the World Ice Hockey Championships for which Carl Wetzel of Detroit was thankful.

Wetzel, the American goalie, put on a spectacular performance Tuesday as the U.S. team lost to Czechoslovakia 8-3. The Czechs fired 83 shots at Wetzel and he did all kinds of acrobatics to stop the puck 75 times.

Wetzel's only medal for a great performance, however, was a gash over the right eye he got from a stick in the middle of the last period. He finished the game bloody, bandaged and dead tired.

The Americans' next game is against Canada Thursday.

Long, Hard Winter Continues in U.P.

Deer Above Straits 'On Ragged Edge'

"Most deer are on the ragged edge. The reserves have been used up and they are browsing on poor food—spruce, balsam and tag alder."

This is how Conservation Department regional game biologist Ralph Bailey described the Upper Peninsula deer situation to The Press yesterday afternoon.

He also reported that 6 1/2 inches of new snow had fallen and "it's still coming down."

"I can't say for sure how extensive it is, but we understand here in Marquette that the snowfall is general throughout the Peninsula."

It's been a long, hard winter on the people and animals in the U.P. Deep snow and extremely cold nights have kept deer restricted in their yards. More snow only dims the hope for a quick break-up across The Straits.

"The situation is getting pretty tight," said Bailey. "The outlook is not too good in the eastern end."

Deer starvation losses have been confirmed in the MacMillan and Stutz deer yards, along the Dead Horse and Whitefish Rivers, and in the Au Train and Irwin Township deer yards and near Escanaba.

Bailey said that the areas along Lake Superior are "not good" and reported that some places along Lake Michigan also are trouble spots.

"The western end hasn't been as bad as we expected, considering the conditions," he pointed out, "and areas in Menominee, Dickinson and Iron Counties don't look too serious."

However, the overall picture is on the poor side.

DEEP SNOW

Some of the snow depths reported by Bailey were 3.1 feet at Bergland, 1.4 at Menominee,

3.0 at Grand Marais, 2.9 at Chatham, 1.2 at Ewen and 1.5 at DeTour.

When the winter severity index goes over 100, the department considers the deer situation to be "very serious," said Bailey.

"This doesn't mean that deer start dropping dead when the index reaches 100 like a lot of people have come to believe," he emphasized. "It means that serious problems could result."

Some severity indexes across the U.P. are Baraga, 103.6; Wakefield, 148.3 ("that's a winter and a half," commented Bailey); Crystal Falls, 102.8; Escanaba, 109.55; and Newberry, 116.5.

"We have found some dead deer in the western U.P.," said Bailey. "But we haven't been able to confirm starvation losses because in most cases the coyotes and ravens have pretty well worked over the carcasses. We suspect starvation, but we aren't going to flatly state it exists until an autopsy says so."

Crust on the snow has enabled deer to move about in many U.P. deer yards. There is little crust in the eastern end and deer are restricted within the yards.

Deeryards above The Straits range from townships in size to five or six sections, according to the biologist.

"There may be a fair food supply in a yard, but the deer can't get to it because of the deep snow," he said. "They are held to trampled down areas where all of the food that can be reached is gone or else they have to follow trails beaten in the snow."

"It doesn't take long to strip food from along these trails. The crust helps them go out of these restricted areas and also moves the deer higher up where it can reach food that it normally couldn't while at near ground level."

ABOVE NORMAL

The length of winter holds the key. Much more snow and cold bring losses well above normal. A quick break-up will ease the situation.

Bailey does bring up one important point:

"We are fast approaching the fawning stage and a lot will be lost. Although they may survive the winter, does in poor condition give birth to fawns that are in such poor shape that they have trouble making it, particularly if the weather is rough. "This won't really show up until the 1968 hunting season when fawns expected to be adult deer then just didn't survive at birth."

Game experts are trying to autopsy all deer killed by cars to check the condition of the mother and foetus.

"This will give us a better idea of what to expect from a winter like this," said Bailey. The last heavy winter losses came in March and April of 1965.

Deer in the northern Lower Peninsula are beginning to move out of yards in the western part. Conditions in the Mio area are still such that deer are restricted, but department game men don't expect abnormally high losses.

Southern Michigan deer are moving about and department game men warn motorists to be careful in areas frequented by the whitetails.

Smelt Runs May Be Late

Water Temperatures Key to Spawning

Chances are smelt dippers will be off to a late start this year, although the situation could change in a hurry with a spell of mild weather.

Usually the silvery fish begin their runs into Lower Peninsula streams around April 20. This year runs may be a week or ten days beyond that date.

In the past, Upper Peninsula streams have been invaded about two weeks later than those in the Lower Peninsula. There's no reason for the pattern to change this spring.

Smelt runs are not determined by the calendar, but by water temperatures. When Great Lakes water reaches the 42 to 50 degree range, the fish begin their upstream spawning runs.

There is nothing new about this year's smelt dipping regulations. Fishermen must have regular licenses to dip the fish from the streams and there is no limit on smelt.

The only restriction is that nets be no larger than five feet in circumference.

Lists of smelt dipping waters are available from the Conservation Department in Lansing or from field offices in the dipping areas.

Sheriff Looks for Robin

The Sheriff of Nottingham will journey to Detroit for the purpose of finding the present day Robin Hood.

Elliott M. Durham, Sheriff of Nottingham, England, will attend the ninth annual International Indoor Open Archery Tournament at Cobo Hall Saturday and Sunday, April 1 and 2.

Sheriff Durham will present a trophy to the modern "Robin Hood," the contestant with the highest score in the two-day competition, regardless of which of the six class champions produces that score.

The trophy will be made of oak cut from a tree in Sherwood Forest, known as Robin Hood's Pantry Tree, made available through the Duke of Portland.

Historically most persons recognize the Sheriff of Nottingham as one of Robin Hood's arch-enemies during his lifetime. However, the present sheriff, Mr. Durham, has been trying to erase the villainous image of his forebears.

He issued an official pardon to Robin Hood and his heirs in mid-summer 1966.

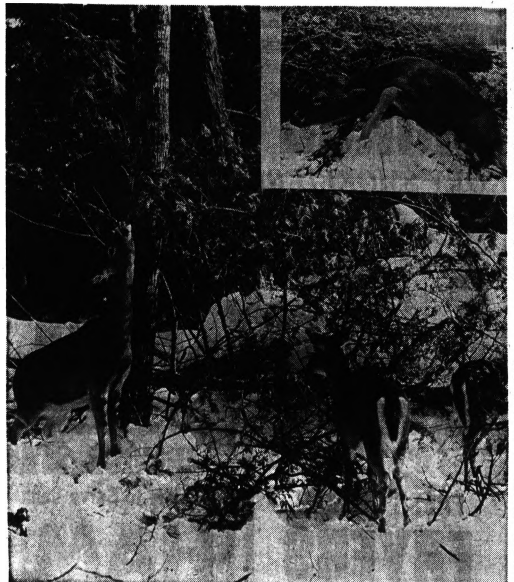

Michigan Department of Conservation Notice of Proceeding Under Act 291 P. A. 1965

Please take notice that Donald Inglad, Terrace Beach, 4290 Cass Elizabeth Road, Pontiac has applied to the Department of Conservation for a permit to enlarge his marina facility on Elizabeth Lake, Waterford Township, Oakland County.

A public hearing will be held on April 19, 1967 at 7:30 P.M. in the Waterford Township High School Cafeteria, 1415 Crescent Lake Road, Drayton Plains.

Persons owning property on Elizabeth Lake and other interested residents will be afforded an opportunity to be heard. Written comments may be filed with the Department of Conservation, Lands Division, Submerged Lands Section, Mason Building, Lansing.

Published The Pontiac Press March 21, 22 and 23, 1967.

HARD WINTER — Deep snow and cold weather have caused difficulties for Michigan's deer herd. Although spring is officially here, the prolonged winter is expected to take a heavy toll of Upper Peninsula whitetails, such as the yearling (insert) that is on its last legs. Lumbering and other tree cutting projects have aided some deer. The three shown are taking advantage of recently cut branches.

Oil Pollution Causes Death of Waterfowl

Pollution in the Detroit River has killed more than 500 ducks—possibly as many as 5,000—Conservation Department biologists report.

"If pollution in such quantities is occurring," said Edmund Mikula, a specialist with the department, "it could have a disastrous effect."

He said that with spring migrations beginning more than 100,000 ducks will be pouring onto the river in the next few weeks.

The oil-soaked ducks began washing up on the river bank last week, most of them being ducks—Canvasbacks, R. d. heads and Scaup.

Mikula said the department was trying to determine the source of the pollution. "It's the first major duck kill since 1960," said James Foote, a department biologist. "But we didn't find them in the concentrations we're finding them now."

He said the department estimated more than 12,000 ducks were killed by pollution in 1960.

County Dog Best in Kennel Show

KANSAS CITY—An English springer spaniel owned by Mrs. F. H. Gasow of Troy won the best-of-show prize at the Heart of America Kennel Club dog show Sunday.

The dog, Champion Sallin's Aristocrat, was picked as the top dog among the 1,200 dogs of 94 breeds from 39 states.

The number of breeds was a record for the 18th annual show.

Beaver Trapping Opens

Beaver trapping in the Lower Peninsula opened on a cold note Monday. The season closes April 5 and most trappers will wait until ice starts to break up.

Licenses and regulations are available at Conservation Department district offices. The season in the Upper Peninsula starts April 1. Four beaver can be taken in the Lower Peninsula, except in Southern Michigan where other are protected.

Dr. Donald J. Zinn, a marine ecologist and member of the University of Rhode Island faculty, has been elected president of the National Wildlife Federation.

The Politics of the Crucifixion—2

Betrayal and Arrest

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This, the second installment of a four part Easter series about the case against Jesus, deals with his arrest.)

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press
Religion Writer

A contingent of Roman infantrymen formed in the dark quadrangle outside the fortress of Antonia barracks surrounding the Temple in Jerusalem. At an order from their captain, they moved out in a column of twos. They were on a night detail to arrest Jesus, the leader of an accused ring of Jewish troublemakers.

A sizable detachment was assigned to the job. The gospel of John uses a Greek term applied to a cohort of 600 men and while that many may seem unlikely, military prudence would call for a force sufficient to deal with any resistance.

Native defiance was common in that land, seething with hostility to foreign rule, and occupation troops repeatedly took to the sword to wipe out pockets of rebellion. Amid the uncertainties that night, a strong unit was dispatched.

It also was known that some of Jesus' men were armed.

JUDAS DEFECTS

A defector, Judas Iscariot, guided the Roman legionaries. With him were some officers of the Temple, where he had brought his information, and whose leadership was subject to the procurator, Pontius Pilate.

Its staff of Sadducean collaborators were in league to the pagan conqueror, and according to the ancient Jewish historian Josephus, were scorned by the common populace.

In modern terms, Judas then was a foreign-occupied police state.

It had its provincially induced front of cooperating civil-religious servants, but it was ruled by a western potentate, and held in check by military forces and occasional onslaughts of terrorism.

ARMED PATROL

This was the regime that brought the case against Jesus. And its Roman garrison under command of Pontius Pilate, sent the battle-strength patrol, armed with javelins and broadswords, to arrest Him.

It probably moved through the underground passage beneath the Temple, continued along the twisting narrow streets of the lower city and then out through the Fountain Gate, heading east down into the Kidron Valley.

Sentries on the wall called out the start of the middle watch, two hours before midnight, their cries resounding from tower to tower. Beyond the valley was dotted with flickering camp fires and the crowded tents of pilgrims come for the Passover celebration.

Beyond, up the side of the Mount of Olives, as Judas advised, Jesus and his men would be found.

EARLY ARRIVAL

They had come to Jerusalem five days earlier, six days before Passover which started the following sunset on the 15th of Nisan (March-April). They had arrived after two months of hiding in the hills to the north.

A clamorous throng had welcomed Jesus, spreading green fronds and sprays of willow and myrtle in His path as He rode a burro down the hill and into the city.

"Hosanna!" they shouted. "Save now, Lord! Blessed be He who comes in the name of the Lord!"

Months before, the government had decided to get rid of Him, and the fervent reception only intensified official efforts to get it done.

WEPT FOR CITY

He wept over the city. "Would that even today you knew the things that make for peace."

Devout Pharisees, recognizing the danger of the public acclaim, urgently warned Him, "Teacher, rebuke your disciples."

But he seemed unperturbed. "I tell you, if these were silent, the very stones would cry out." To excited crowds in the streets, He proclaimed, "He who sees Me sees Him who sent Me. . . I have come as light into the world."

reverently disciplined, studiously tradition which, although rejecting violence, despised the Roman bondage and opposed collaborating with Sadducees who ran the lucrative Temple. "You see that you can do nothing; look, the world has gone after Him."

OFFICIALS AFRAID TO ACT

Throughout the ensuing four days, the Rome-authorized local administration "sought a way to destroy Him," but they "feared the people," the gospel accounts state repeatedly. "They sought to arrest Him, but feared the multitude."

As in the past, the support of the common Jewish populace protected Him.

The masses were not among the inner circles, either of the rigorously pious but mostly poor Pharisees, respected for their learning, or of the small, privileged class, the Sadducees, who with their bureaucracy of scribes, levites and lawyers backed Roman dominion.

It was the unversed, ordinary folk, the nameless poor and exploited of that oppressed land, that were drawn spontaneously to Him, fascinated, hoping, wondering, if not fully understanding.

MASSES LISTENED

"And the great throng heard Him gladly."

He Himself, as if pressing purposely toward a predestined finish, acted and spoke with a bolder flourish than ever, exhorting the influential factious the Sadducees, Pharisees, scribes, lawyers.

"Woe to you, blind guides . . . hypocrites! . . . whitewashed tombs. Beware of the scribes, who . . . devour widow's houses and for a pretense make long prayers."

He aimed a subtle barb at Caesar, worshipped as god by an emperor, and he was crucified in Judea although bloodletting attempts were made to do so. "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's," Jesus said.

FORESAW REVOLUTION

And he foresaw the shattering revolution soon to come. "When you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, then know that its destruction is near. . . Jerusalem will be trodden down by the Gentiles, until the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled."

He gazed over the city. "Do you see these great buildings? The Temple rose in glistering magnificence, and everywhere bulged the spires, towers and walls of Roman baths, theaters and the hippodrome, scene of brawling gladiatorial bouts and heathen entertainments."

"There will not be left here one stone upon another that will not be thrown down."

He stormed into the Temple court, driving out the animal dealers and money-changers for head taxes. "My house shall be called a house of prayer for all the nations. But you have made it a den of robbers."

BLOCKED TRAFFIC

Apparently with the help of crowds supporting Him, he blocked off commercial traffic in the area.

The Sanhedrin, a religious-civic council dominated by the Sadducees who were in league with the Roman procurator, met and planned an arrest "by stealth" so as not to cause a "tumult of the people."

Pontius Pilate was adamant that point. He had been plagued enough by public protests and disorders, once when he paraded Roman ensigns in the Temple court and again when his financial extortions started a riot quelled only by the laying-on of his troops.

At the time of the Passover, when the vast human influx made disturbances more likely, he had brought military reinforcements from his headquarters in Caesarea, and stayed on himself to keep a watch on the situation.

PILATE WARY

He distrusted the stubbornly religious population, but he could rely on the obedient aristocrat, Caiaphas, to whom he had allotted the high priesthood. Caiaphas had instructed his huge Temple staff to keep him posted on Jesus' whereabouts.

But not until the informer, Judas, appeared with his report about Jesus' night-time rendezvous on the Mount of Olives, following His last supper with his apostles, was a safely opportune setting found for taking Him in custody.

The column of legionaries moved up the mountainside, weaving among the trees, their mailed shirts and armor clattering against the branches, lanterns and torches flaring.

Military forays, by day or night, attracted no unusual attention. The province, because of its bitter hostility to foreign rule, was of the most heavily garrisoned in the Roman Empire.

ROMAN LEGIONS

Four regular legions of about 6,000 men each, mostly mercenaries, were stationed there, the 10th, the third, the sixth and the 12th, including infantry, cavalry, slingers, archers, a camel corps and engineers to man siege weapons.

Besides patrolling the streets and market places, they recurrently put down isolated uprisings with much slaughter including 30,000 cut down subsequently on the Mount of Olives itself, part of the violence leading to the wholesale carnage of the impending revolution, in which Roman troops razed Jerusalem.

"The one that I shall kiss is the man," Judas told the advance officer. "Seize Him."

Judas kissed Him. "Hail, master!"

Jesus turned aside, asking the unit's commander, "Whom do you seek?"

"Jesus of Nazareth."

"I am He," he glanced about at the battle-clad array. "Have you come out as against a robber, with swords and clubs to capture Me? Day after day I was with you in the Temple teaching, and you did not seize Me. But let the Scriptures be fulfilled."

THE ARREST

As the soldiers laid hands on Him, some of the apostles cried out, "Lord, shall we strike with the sword?" Without waiting, the impetuous Peter whipped out his weapon and lashed about, cutting off one man's ear, but Jesus quickly intervened. "No more of this!" The scuffle subsided.

"Put your sword back into its place," he said. "For all who take the sword will perish by the sword." As his ropes were trusted about Him, His disciples forsook him and fled.

Lansing Bus Fares Rise With Wages

LANSING (AP)—Lansing bus fares will be increased from 22 to 30 cents April 1, clearing the way for a new contract giving bus drivers an 11-cent an hour raise to $2.21 an hour.

The City Council voted 7-1 Monday night for the increase. Senior citizens, students and blind persons will continue to pay a special 15-cent fare.

The union had demanded a contract through next Nov. 30. The Lansing Suburban Lines Inc. said it could not agree to the contract unless a fare increase was approved.

Reagan Learning Political Facts of Life

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—money committees would meet but also would establish a 25 percent tax on cigars and pipe tobacco.

—Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan, elected by a landslide in his first try at public office, is learning the practical side of politics the hard way.

Shortly after he was elected, Reagan told newsmen: "I'm trying to determine just how desperate is the plight of the state of California financially."

Three months later, he found out. And, as a result, the governor asked the Democratic-controlled legislature for the most massive tax program in any state's history.

At $946 million, the added taxes totaled more than four times the $245 million the 1960 legislature gave Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown in his first year in office.

And Reagan's economy budget seemed his efforts for a record, despite his efforts to hold the line in state spending.

SKELETON BUDGET

The governor submitted what is turning out to be a sort of skeleton budget totaling $4.6 billion on Jan. 31—only slightly above the spending program for the current fiscal year.

The budget is for the fiscal year beginning July 1. But after the legislators return from their 10-day Easter recess, which began Friday, they'll find a new bill—changes in the budget to boost it to about $5.047 billion, crossing the $5-billion benchmark for the first time.

Until then, the legislators have halted all work on the governor's spending program—a delay that comes at a crucial time and appears certain to cause another last-minute rush to meet the June 30 deadline for adoption of a budget.

At one point, the lawmakers had hoped that legislative

Mail Carrier's Will Leaves $416,439

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (AP)—William Sweeney, a retired Brockton postal carrier who died last May 22 at the age of 81, left an estate of $416,439.

Sweeney's will, probated Tuesday in Plymouth Probate Court, left the bulk of his estate to his two sisters, Margaret Reilly of New Harbor, Maine, and Bessie Peck of Miami, Fla., and other relatives.

Sweeney was a Brockton mail carrier 42 years, retiring in 1950.

More than 85 per cent of the world's telephones outside the United States are already on an all-numeral basis. Two-thirds of U. S. phones will be converted by 1966.

Pontiac Area Churches List Services for Holy Week

By MARY ANGLEMIER
Church Editor, Pontiac Press

Thousands of men, women and young people will gather in Pontiac area churches tomorrow night — Maundy Thursday — as they participate in services of Holy Communion.

The Maundy Thursday Communion commemorates the Last Supper Jesus had with His disciples on the night He was betrayed.

According to the Scripture the supper was the feast of the Passover, the Jewish Seder, which commemorates the deliverance of the Jewish people from bondage and their exodus from Egypt.

The name Maundy comes from the old religious custom of washing the feet of the poor on this day as a fulfillment of the new commandment, "Love one another."

The following churches announce Holy Week services including Maundy Thursday, Good Friday and Holy Saturday:

First Hill Congregational Church will present the "Eating of the Lights" under the direction of the Rev. Harry Clark, minister, and H. Barnard Ernst at 8 p.m. Maundy Thursday.

This is a candlelight service with Holy Communion commemorating the last days of Jesus' life. The extinguishing of the candles is symbolic of the flight of the disciples.

The Auburn Heights Area Community Good Friday service will be from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of Elmwood Methodist Church, 2680 N. Crooks, Pontiac Township with the Rev. E. Wehrli, host pastor.

Participating pastors include the Rev. Virgil Tarvin of Hillcrest Baptist, the Rev. Henry Schmidt of Auburn Heights Free Methodist, the Rev. Robert Franklin of Incarnate Word Lutheran, the Rev. F. William Palmer of Auburn Heights United Presbyterian and the Rev. Lawrence Dickson of Stone Baptist.

Others are the Rev. Theodore Mordant of Leach Road Community and the Rev. and Mrs. George Kibbe of White Shepherd Full Gospel Church.

Grace Lutheran Church will observe Maundy Thursday with a celebration of Holy Communion at 7:30 p.m. Pastor Richard C. Stuckemyer will officiate.

The Rev. James Hensel, youth director, will speak at the 1 p.m. service Good Friday.

Low Mass will be celebrated at 8 a.m. tomorrow in Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Auburn Heights. High Mass with Solemn Procession commemorating the Lord's Last Supper is scheduled for 8 p.m.

The Tre Ore Service will be from noon to 3 p.m. Friday and the Way of the Cross at 7:30 p.m.

Holy Saturday vigil will begin at 11 p.m. with the Blessing of Water, Blessing of New Fire and Baptism. Midnight Mass will follow.

Lakeland United Presbyterian Church Waterford Township, announces a service of Holy Communion at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Holy Communion will be observed at 7 p.m. on Good Friday at Five Points Community Church, 3411 E. Walton, Pontiac Township.

High Mass, Procession and Adoration of the Cross are scheduled from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. on Maundy Thursday at St. Perpetua Catholic Church, Waterford Township.

Tre Ore service will begin at 12:15 p.m. with Stations of the Cross followed by liturgy and distribution of Holy Communion at 1 p.m. Adoration is listed for 2 p.m. and Stations of the Cross again at 7 p.m.

Easter baskets will be blessed at 1:30 p.m. on Holy Saturday. Easter Vigil beginning at 10:45 p.m. will include Blessing of New Fire, Paschal Candle and Baptism.

High Mass will be celebrated at midnight.

First Christian Church will observe Maundy Thursday with a candlelight Communion service at 7:30 p.m. Pastor John J. Scott will be assisted by Lester Utterback, lay reader.

Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian, will celebrate the Sacrament of Holy Communion and observe the service of Tenebrae at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

On Good Friday the Westminster Choir will sing at the 1 p.m. service of worship.

The Rev. Henry D. Jones, missionary associate at the Orchard Lake Church, will preach.

First Methodist Church will celebrate the Sacrament of Holy Communion at 8:45 p.m. on Maundy Thursday.

The Waterford Township Ministerial Fellowship will sponsor the Community Good Friday service from noon to 3 p.m. at the Drayton Plains Community United Presbyterian Church on Sashabaw between Walton and Dixie Highway.

"The Seven Words From the Cross" will be presented by ministers of the township.

Ministers taking part in the service are the Rev. Ronald Thompson, the Rev. Joseph B. Jones Jr., the Rev. Wayne Peterson, the Rev. John Cooperider, the Rev. Don Remillard, the Rev. Crea M. Clark, the Rev. Roy L. Amberg and the Rev. Jerry Switzer.

The Auburn Heights United Presbyterian Church will observe the Lord's Supper at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow with Pastor F. William Palmer preaching on "The Vine and the Branches."

Waterford Community Church, Airport and Olympic Parkway, will observe Good Friday service at 7:30 p.m.

This will be a candlelight Communion service.

Low Mass will be celebrated at 8:15 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Maundy Thursday in St. Mary's Church of St. Hugo of the Hills Catholic Church.

Solemn High Mass with Adoration of the Cross will be celebrated from 8 p.m. until 11 p.m.

Adoration and private devotions are scheduled for 8 a.m. in the chapel on Good Friday. At 1 p.m. a service with Holy Communion is scheduled. Way of the Cross will be at 2:30 p.m. again at 8 p.m. with confessions following the evening service.

New Theory About Supernovas

By Science Service
NEW YORK—Once every 30 to 60 years, astronomers estimate, a star in the Milky Way galaxy that is considerably more massive than the sun explodes in a brilliant blaze millions of times brighter than the sun.

These supernovas blow into space gaseous material amounting to at least one solar mass, but exactly why only certain stars undergo such tremendous explosions is not known.

The supernova explosion of a star is usually believed to result from a catastrophic implosion that reverses into an explosion.

One mechanism for the instability that could lead to such an implosion is when the temperatures of a heavy star's inner cores rises to some five billion degrees C, and the iron begins to dissociate into alpha particles and neutrons.

A new theory concerning how supernovas are formed is reported here in the Physical Review Letters by three scientists from the Hebrew University in Jerusalem. They propose an alternative mechanism for triggering the explosion.

The physicists suggest that the dynamical instability is caused by pair formation, which is the conversion of a photon into an electron and positron or "Penny took her place on the stage Tuesday night about four hours after giving birth to a kid."

Penny is a goat who pulls a cart in a production of "Porgy and Bess" at the Arena. Penny's performance was applauded by the local Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Mother and kid are doing fine.

Jumps to Conclusions

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions: Muggings in American cities would be cut in half if women started carrying.

There is nothing wrong in a wife's asking her husband if he really loves her. But makes a big mistake if she asks him why he loves her. It may set pack sword him to wondering.

Few girls bite their fingernails after they get married.

If you'll look around you, you'll notice more and more U.S. husbands now walk half a pace behind their wives. They do this so that they won't obstruct the view.

When you see a middle-aged man eating a double chocolate fudge sundae with whipped cream and nuts, you know he hasn't been on the water wagon very long.

SIGN OF AGE
The older an executive is, the more likely he is to have arms on his swivel chair.

People no longer like to talk about the atom bomb, but the unspoken dread of it is probably the biggest single cause of anxiety and misbehavior in the world.

Love letters turned out on a typewriter never have quite the emotional impact as those written by hand—unless they are read aloud in court.

What the average board chairman of a firm envies most about the messenger boy who brings him his mail is not his youth but his independence. And if that boy in time becomes chairman of the board himself, what he will miss most is the same vanished independence. Command is just another kind of slavery.

Nobody looks bolder than the man who artfully combs his hair in an attempt to hide his baldness.

NOT ENTITLED
A man is not legally entitled to divorce his wife because she scrapes her shoes on the pavement, but if there were any other way he would be.

The surest way to annoy a millionaire who is taking you to lunch is to order a dish that costs 50 cents more than the one he selects. What he secretly wants you to do is to order the same thing he does. If it is good enough for him, who are you to expect anything better?

In reading mystery thrillers, women are twice as likely as men to cheat by peeking ahead to see how the story comes out.

Custody of Two Children Eyed

HOLLAND (UPI)—Juvenile authorities today planned to ask Probate Court to remove two young children from the custody of their mother who is serving a 90-day jail sentence for neglecting them.

Mrs. Dorothy Dyer pleaded guilty yesterday after she was arrested when police found the children alone in the home which was described as "unfit for habitation."

The boy, 13, and the girl, 10, had been absent from school for the past week, police said.

Officer Dennis Catlin of the juvenile department said the children had no clean clothing.

"The house was a mess and there were four dogs in the house with the children," Catlin said. "It would have made you sick to see it."

'S. Viet Won't Be Sacrificed'

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—President Johnson is not going to sacrifice the nation of South Vietnam," Vice President Hubert Humphrey said today.

"If there is any lesson to be learned from the past 50 years, it is this: Big nations cannot buy their own safety by breaking their word and sacrificing small nations," Humphrey said.

His speech was for a regional Red Cross meeting.

Record for Soo

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Records in the Library of Congress show that Sault Ste. Marie is the oldest continuous community west of the Appalachians.

Rep. Philip Ruppe, Mich., said he had been advised of the finding because of a study which showed that Sault Ste. Marie, which was founded some 60 years ahead of the Soo in 1609, was abandoned in 1680 and rebuilt in 1692.

NEW YORK—There's a new restaurant called "Kippy's" coming up on W. 52 St., which you could nickname All Nations Avenue because of all the nationalities represented there—and it's sure to be the found of a million stories because its owner is "Crying Joe" Kippness, the tender-hearted big spender, and its "consultant" is Monte Proser, The Man Who Discovered Everybody But Couldn't Find Himself.

"Joe has spent $900,000," says Monte respectfully. "I wish he'd spend another $100,000 so I could call him 'Bet-a-Million Joe.'"

Joe, who made the Hawaii Kai a big success in a Winter Garden side supposed to be a jinx, bought Ruby Foo's for $165,000, sold everything in it for $2,000, and started over, proclaiming "The West Side is the Best Side."

"With me it's a ritual, every seven, eight years, I go broke," says Joe. Monte likes that. He goes broke every two, three years.

"Monte drinks one day, I drink the next day," says Joe. "We both drink the same day, we blow it."

Thais OK B52 Use of Base

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A Thai official reported today that the cabinet has agreed in principle to allow U.S. Air Force B52 bombers to use the Udon air base in southern Thailand to fly missions against Communist targets in Vietnam.

The official, who attended the cabinet meeting Tuesday but declined to allow use of his name, told newsmen the cabinet took the decision after concluding that the Vietnam war, if it drags on, could eventually become a direct threat to Thailand.

The official said details of the B52 operation, such as their landing rights and whether they will be allowed to raid countries other than Vietnam eventually from the Thai base, still have to be decided by Premier Thanom Kittikachorn in his concurrent capacity as supreme commander of the Thai armed forces.

The official said precautionary measures were being taken to prevent any retaliatory steps by the Communists against Thailand for allowing the B52s to use Thai territory. He declined to give any information on this. The 11,500-foot airstrip at the Utapao Airbase at Sattahip was opened last August. It was built by the United States and was intended originally to be used by B52s.

The big bombers now are flying their missions against targets in Vietnam from Guam, from which F105 fighter-bombers and other types of planes have been flying missions against Communist Vietnamese targets for the past two years.

Grant Okayed

MONROE (AP)—Preliminary approval has been given for a government grant of $663,000 toward a $1.5-million water system to meet the pollution problem of communities of Frenchtown Township. The grant would come from the Housing and Urban Development Department.

China Paper Tells Army to Help Farmers

HONG KONG (AP)—The Communist Chinese army newspaper today told its reluctant troops to get into the fields and help farmers to stave off famine. The food shortages in Canton have already sparked grocery store riots in which one baby was trampled to death, other reports said.

The new directive today from the army organ, Liberation Army Daily, told both communists and troops of the huge Communist Chinese Army it had a duty as "a production army" as well as a combat army. The article indicated some army elements are hesitant about going into the fields to help peasants with their work. The army organ also called on troops to help in factories and mining. About 85 per cent of all shoplifters are amateurs, and about 60 per cent of them are men.

'Model City' Funds Slated —Cavanagh

DETROIT (UPI)—Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh yesterday said labor, business and industry soon will pledge "substantial sums" to help finance Detroit's $100 million model-city program.

The mayor, who met with the nonprofit Metropolitan Detroit Citizens Development Authority, said a 10-square-mile area on the city's East Side will be the site of the rebuilding and rehabilitation program.

"We are trying to attract financial support from national foundations," he said, "and have urged Congress to accelerate the model city program."

"Although we are but one of 300 cities competing for the model city designation, Detroit has an excellent chance of being picked by the federal government," he said.

Congress last year allocated $12 million for the program but no expenditures have been made yet.

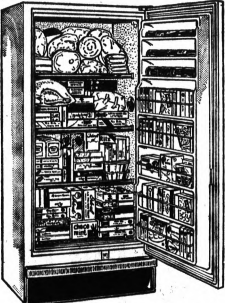

Authority on China to Discuss Unrest

An authority on modern Chinese history will discuss the current unrest and political upheaval behind the Bamboo Curtain in a public lecture next Wednesday at Oakland University.

The speaker, John E. Rue, is research fellow with the Hoover Institution at Stanford University and a former visiting associate professor of political science.

He is the author of a book, "Mao Tse-tung in Opposition: 1927-35," and is now working on a second volume that will deal with Mao's rise to power in the period from 1935 to the death of Stalin.

Rue's lecture, entitled "The Cultural Revolution and Power Struggle in Communist China," will begin at 10:30 a.m. in the Gold Room at the Oakland Center.

Johnson to Continue Peace Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he will persist in efforts to seek peace with North Vietnam despite "regrettable rebuffs." But administration officials see Hanoi's rejection and its release of a personal Johnson proposal for peace talks as a bad sign.

Johnson returned yesterday from a two-day Vietnam war conference in Guam.

En route home he learned of Hanoi's publication yesterday of a secret exchange of letters he had with President

Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam six weeks ago.

"We shall persevere in our efforts to find an honorable peace," Johnson said in a brief arrival statement at Andrews Air Force Base, Md. "Until that is achieved, we shall, of course, continue to do our duty in Vietnam."

Officials said the North Vietnamese government has been informed that Johnson's proposal for talks — and for steps to deescalate the war — is still open. But they saw no prospect of its acceptance anytime soon.

In coming months the President is expected to increase further the military pressure on Communist forces in South Vietnam while stepping up the pounding of North Vietnam.

Administration officials had hoped that military losses and bomb damage suffered by the Communists in the past two years would force them to the conference table early this year.

That hope has now been sharply deflated, by Ho's rejection of Johnson's bid, and by Ho's making public the exchange of letters. Officials said they were baffled by the publication.

There was some speculation here that Communist Chinese influence in Hanoi might be responsible, or that Ho might have decided to use the exchange as a means of attacking the Guevara conference.

A persistent critic of Johnson's Vietnam policies, Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called the President's offer to Ho reasonable but urged today in an interview a halt to bombing on the chance it might pave the way to peace talks.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., another Vietnam critic, said in a statement Johnson had imposed a new condition to peace talks requiring evidence that North Vietnamese infiltration has halted before U.S. bombing will be stopped.

At the United Nations, Secretary-General U Thant was reported to have sent messages to both North and South Vietnam proposing a cease-fire and peace talks.

Diplomatic sources said Thant's messages of last week led to Saigon's proposal of talks to Hanoi, announced following the Guevara conference. There has been no announced reply from Hanoi to that bid.

STARTED IN FEBRUARY

Johnson initiated his exchange of letters in early February at the time of a Vietnamese Lunar New Year cease-fire which included a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

ONLY A COAT LEFT — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rivard examine a coat, the only item salvaged from a fire which destroyed their rented cottage in West Bloomfield Township.

Even Rivard's razor went in the blaze. Of their five children, only 6-month-old Donald is able to remain with his parents until new quarters are found.

Thought of Trip Brings an 'Ole' to Press Readers

With a hectic winter just behind and a damp, rainy April approaching, the mere thought of a visit to sunny Spain is most exhilarating.

But, pleasant thoughts are fleeting and only positive action can bring enduring satisfaction.

Mindful of this, The Pontiac Press, as a service to its readers, is arranging a 15-day trip to Spain and Portugal beginning with a May 16 flight out of Pontiac.

The fascinating adventure will include

stops at Lisbon, Seville, Granada and Madrid.

English-speaking guides will conduct the motor coach sight-seeing tours.

TOUR CONDUCTOR

Conducting the tour will be Bernard M. Salvatore, assistant advertising director for The Press, and Mrs. Salvatore.

Cost per person for the trip is $765. It includes all meals, lodging in the finest hotels and both air and sight-seeing travel.

Illness, Death, Misfortune Plague Ex-Sailor in Area

By JEAN SAILLE

Five small children and an 18-year-old wife look to 29-year-old Frank Rivard for the answers.

And Rivard no longer knows where to look.

Plagued by an unbelievable torrent of hard luck during the past five years, the ex-sailor has just about lost the jauntness that can still on occasion spark his dark eyes and bring a rueful grin to his face.

The latest blow was a fire Friday night which gutted the family's rented one-bedroom frame cottage on Pine Lake in West Bloomfield Township. It had taken them four months until last July to find that place.

The blaze consumed all their clothing, their appliances and their almost-new furniture. It left them without a place to live, and it meant once more boarding out the four eldest children.

'SOMETHING HAPPENS'

As Rivard puts it, "Every time you get something going, something happens to knock a guy down again."

It was the space heater this time, Rivard believes. "It was never very good when it was working," he confides.

In the past it's been the death of his first wife, Sharon, who succumbed to an ulcerated colon two years ago at age 22.

Car Mishap Fatal to Commerce Girl

A 16-year-old Commerce Township girl was killed yesterday afternoon when her car apparently failed to negotiate a curve and struck a tree in West Bloomfield Township.

Township police said Rebecca S. Carr of 3100 Greenlawn, was alone in her car when she failed to make the curve on Commerce Road west of Keith.

They said she apparently lost control of her car, ran off the road and hit a tree on the driver's side of the car. The accident occurred at 4:05 p.m.

She was pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

2nd WIFE'S ILLNESS

For his second wife, Beverly, whom he married a year ago last month, it's been an advanced ulcer condition and considerable trouble during her pregnancy for 6-month-old Donald.

Even the children are not immune. Donald has been hospitalized three times with stomach disorders and Penny, 5, was in the hospital last fall with pneumonia.

"That was a drafty old converted cottage," Rivard said. "But it was the only thing we could find. People don't like to rent to a family with a lot of children."

Before the troubles started Rivard owned his home in Waterford Township.

NO INSURANCE

With the illness and death of his first wife, Rivard was caught unprepared. He had no insurance. He tried to rent the home, but it didn't work out, and he turned it back to the contract holder.

"She right away sold it for a good

Business Tax Bill Clears Senate Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill restoring major business tax incentives has won Senate Finance Committee approval after being remodeled to conform to administration wishes.

But the legislation — scheduled for Senate debate starting April 3, after the Easter recess — could face stiff opposition on the floor because amendments by the committee to the House version would nearly halve benefits to business.

And Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., says he'll attempt to amend the measure to include repeal of the controversial presidential election campaign financing plan Congress enacted at the end of the 1965 session.

The administration amendments to the tax bill, sponsored by Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., acting finance committee chairman, would reduce the revenue loss under the measure by $755 million.

As the bill cleared the House, this loss was estimated at $1.85 billion. It would be $1.085 billion under the Senate committee's version.

MARCH 10 OR LATER

The Senate bill would restore the 7 per cent tax credit incentive for machinery or equipment purchases only to that ordered March 10 or later.

It would restore accelerated depreciation rates only for those profit-making buildings started after that date.

The House version provides the benefits would go to equipment ordered before March 10 and delivered after that date, and to the portion of buildings completed March 10 or later even though they were started before then.

Another change in the Senate measure would limit the investment credit on machinery and equipment to 25 per cent of a company's tax liability through next Dec. 31. After that, a more liberal ceiling of 50 per cent of taxes owed would apply.

50 PCT. CEILING

The House had voted to put the 50 per cent ceiling in effect at once.

Smathers said passage of the incentives bill would make it much less likely for Congress to accept the 6 per cent income tax surcharge President Johnson has proposed for consideration later this session.

"We are giving this boon to business," the senator said, "but individuals should not have to pay for it through an increase in their taxes."

The proposed surtax would apply to corporate as well as individual income taxes.

Support for both the tax incentives and tax surcharge came yesterday from William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who forecast an upturn in the nation's sluggish economy as the year progresses.

Pigtail Was Getting in Her Hair, so...

By PAT McCARTY

When does a pretty pigtail get to be a pain in the neck?

When it grows down a girl's back until it's in danger of being sat on. And besides, she's got better things to do than stand still while mother unsnarls and combs her tresses.

So 6-year-old Darlene Binder decided

the time had come for her hair to be shorn. Darlene's the oldest of the four children of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Binder, 1010 Meadowlawn.

Her hair had been allowed to grow so long because it was "just pretty," her mother said. But lately it's been another story for the Alcott Elementary School first grader.

"She just got tired of it," Mrs. Binder

said. "She's too busy to bother with it."

DIXIE CUT

Yesterday Mrs. Binder took Darlene to Coiffures by Donnell, where Donnell Thomas styled a spiffy pixie cut that was just what the young lady wanted.

Since it was her first trip to a beauty shop, Darlene sat very still and watched all the activities in the rest of the shop while the snip-snip was going on behind her back.

In about 45 minutes she had very little hair on her head and most of it in her hand.

"She was real excited and very happy," her mother commented. But more important, "She's still very happy today."

FBI Is Holding Trio From Area

Linked to Car Chrome Theft at City Plant

Three of four Pontiac area men linked to the robbery of a $20,000 worth of automobile chrome from the Fisher Body plant here are now in custody of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in California on charges of transporting stolen property across state lines.

Ball was set at $1,500 each yesterday in Los Angeles Federal Court for Lee Roy Kelley, 26, of 2651 Elizabeth Lake, Waterford Township; Wallace J. McGuigan, 26, of 37 Edwards; and Daniel S. Margosian, 27, of 48 Florence.

No date was set for a hearing.

The fourth man arrested Friday by Long Beach, Calif., police — Peter H. Margosian, 29-year-old brother of Daniel — was not charged. An FBI spokesman said he probably would not be prosecuted.

'PURCHASED BY POLICE'
Long Beach police made the arrests after undercover agents from that department succeeded in purchasing some of the chrome according to Capt. Charles Gale, chief of Pontiac detectives.

The chrome was being sold at prices far below market value, arousing police suspicion, he said.

Eleven of 13 cartons of the metal, either impounded at the time of the arrests or later recovered, have now been traced to the Fisher Body plant in Pontiac, according to Detective James Fritz.

The three men charged are former Fisher Body Employees, Gale said. Margosian last worked at the local plant in 1954, while Kelly was employed there until November of 1966 and McGuigan until last January, he said.

Police said each has been convicted of a felony.

Because more than $5,000 in allegedly stolen property is involved, the case comes under federal jurisdiction and will be prosecuted by the FBI.

Maximum penalty for violating the transportation of stolen property law is a $10,000 fine and/or 10 years in prison.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Snow and snow flurries are to continue tonight in New England and the middle Atlantic states. Rain will fall along the north Pacific Coast as far south as central California, spreading inland and changing to snow in the northern Rockies. Thunderstorms are likely in the southern Plains.

when two U.S. Air Force F100 jets accidentally bombed U.S. positions in the area. The U.S. command said it was investigating.

The Tay Ninh battle climaxed 48 hours of the Vietnam war's sharpest fighting this year, with actions up and down the country but notably in the center and just below the demilitarized zone separating North and South Vietnam. These actions subsided today.

Heavy weather over North Vietnam Tuesday again limited U.S. air strikes. Sixty-two missions were flown, mostly against coastal supply targets, though there was another raid — the fourth — on the Thai Nguyen steel plant 35 miles north of Hanoi.

The heavy ground fighting included an artillery duel Monday in which the Communists used big artillery pieces for the first time in the war. Among them were 152mm guns, the biggest weapons the Reds have used so far.

INDIANA TOWN 'BOMBED' — A northbound Illinois Central Freight Train yesterday hit a semi truck loaded with 500-pound bombs destined for Vietnam. The 4-foot long trucks, which were loaded with explosive and fuses but no detonators, were thrown out of the trailer and scattered along the railroad tracks, while one sailed 40 feet through the air and smashed through the rear wall of a barber shop. There were no injuries.

Navy Men Split on Air War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief of naval operations and the secretary of the Navy disagreed under congressional questioning whether U.S. airpower is being used effectively against North Vietnam.

Adm. David L. McDonald says it isn't. His boss, Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze, maintains it is.

Their differing positions emerged this week with public release of testimony given Feb. 1 before Senate committees considering defense spending proposals. Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., former Air Force secretary and proponent of more extensive bombing of North Vietnam, served as the catalyst in drawing out the opposing attitudes.

DID NOT AMPLIFY
He asked McDonald whether "under present rules and regulations we are using our airpower in North Vietnam effectively?"

"Not in the most effective manner, no, sir," the admiral replied. He did not amplify but presumably referred to the strike-exempt status of such key Communist facilities as the MIG airfields around Hanoi and the port of Haiphong.

Data Process Set for Tax Bills

City Okays Two-Year Pact With County

Pontiac's 1967 tax bills will be prepared and sent out via Oakland County's data processing system, city commissioners formally decided last night.

A unanimous vote of the commission authorized City Assessor James E. Kephart Jr. to enter into a two-year service contract with the county, the first year to be a pilot program at no cost to the city.

Pontiac would be billed $3,000 in 1968 for machine time, labor for programming, file maintenance and preparation of miscellaneous reports.

If successful, the data processing method will replace the city's present addressograph system.

Kephart made the proposal to the commission two weeks ago, citing what he termed "obsolete" equipment and maintenance expenses under the present system.

IN 11TH YEAR

"The equipment we're presently using has a normal service life of eight years," he said. "We are now in our 11th year with it."

Kephart's report on costs included a $7,000 one-time conversion cost of city tax records to "machine-sensible" key-punched forms.

He also noted the conversion to data processing would save enough man hours to free an additional person from the assessor's office for other duties.

City to Purchase Property From Utility Company

Initial steps toward purchase of the present Consumers Power Co. service building on Wesley were taken by the City Commission last night.

Formal approval of a $20,000 land contract and authorization of a $2,000 down payment received unanimous commission support.

The down payment will be made from the city's capital improvement fund.

The city entered into a purchase agreement with Consumers Power 13 months ago, when the utility company unveiled plans to construct a new service building on the city's eastern edge.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said the city would pay $129,500 at the time of formal acquisition and meet the balance in eight annual installments.

Bid-Opening Slated on 2 Road Projects

Bids will be opened April 5 in Lansing by the Michigan State Highway Department for two resurfacing projects in the Pontiac area.

They are the paving of Telegraph, 2,000 feet north and south of Huron; and M59 at Cass Lake Road. A nonskid material will be used.

The total cost of the two projects is estimated at $80,000. Completion is scheduled for Aug. 31.

School Smoking Policy to Stay in Effect for Now

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — No action will be taken to change the school district's policy on smoking this year, but the board of education indicated changes were possible in the future.

At last night's meeting, the board was informed the district is still facing a lawsuit involving the suspension of a high school girl for 90 days even though it won the preliminary round involving an injunction.

On Monday, Circuit Court Judge James S. Thornburg ruled the district was acting within its rights to suspend Deborah Ciesler for smoking.

The court denied an injunction sought by her stepfather, Gus Ciesler, 104 Hickory Grove.

Eugene Johnson, schools superintendent, said that Thornburg had indicated he would give the case priority and that it could be heard in June.

Johnson also reported a survey was being taken on the effect and policing of the school policy of suspending students for smoking.

REVIEW PANEL
The board also indicated it wanted a committee of teachers, parents and students to review the policy and come up with possible alterations.

However, it was decided that nothing would be done until after the case was decided in court so as not to jeopardize its outcome.

The board also received a letter from a student worried about what the status of high school students would be after the new high school, Lahser, is opened next fall.

The letter expressed concern over being separated from friends, graduation plans, etc.

'TENTATIVE ZONES'

The board indicated "tentative zones" were being set up and that meetings with parents and letters would be sent out on the composition of the new high school as well as an elementary and junior high soon to be completed.

U. S. Building Nearer for City

A proposed federal building for Pontiac is one of 20 recommended by the Social Security Administration to the General Service Administration (GSA) in Washington, D. C.

Congressman Jack McDonald, R-19th, said today the GSA is expected to reach a decision in the next few weeks.

McDonald said that 72 such buildings were sought around the nation, but that funds for planning and land acquisition for only 20 were recently made available.

McDonald's predecessor, Billie S. Farnum, had indicated the building would house the local Social Security operation in a 10,000-square-foot one-story structure, probably located somewhere in the downtown Pontiac area.

McDonald said that the time period between land acquisition to start of construction is often two years.

What Lent Means to Me

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 36th in a series of articles through Lent written by prominent Pontiac area citizens.)

By HOWARD M. NELSON
Sears, Roebuck & Co.
Pontiac Store Manager

These Lenten days are almost as dark to us as were those first 40 days to the original band of followers.

The difference is that we have not only recorded but celebrated, for almost 2,000 years, the end of that darkness on Easter morn.

We, having that sure-faith, should share it to the end that future Lenten periods will see the ends of wars, pestilence and famine.

Then everyone can look forward to sunrise on Easter with not only spiritual but physical hope, and Lent will never be so dark again.

Nationwide Shipping Tie-Up Looming

NEW YORK (AP) — Three major maritime unions — fighting to save jobs for American seamen and ship officers — have threatened to tie up all the American ships in U.S. ports for an indefinite length of time.

The tie-up is scheduled for next Tuesday to protest what the unions charge is a Johnson administration practice of displacing American crews on some U.S. ships with foreign nationals.

The heads of the three unions said Tuesday they will conduct protest rallies at noon Tuesday in a number of port cities across the nation.

A joint statement by the union chiefs said:

"We are calling officers and crews off all ships in U.S. ports for 12 hours in advance of the noon meetings and we cannot say when they will go back to their ships."

PROTEST STATEMENT

The three unions are two officers' unions and the National Maritime Union, which represents unlicensed personnel including seamen, engine-room workers, steward's department employees and others.

The protest statement was issued by Joseph Curran, president of the NMU; Capt. Lloyd

Sheldon, president of the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots; and Jesse Calhoun, president of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association. All three unions are AFL-CIO affiliates.

The rallies on Tuesday are scheduled for New York City, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Norfolk, Va., Chicago, Houston, New Orleans, San Francisco, Seattle, Jacksonville, Fla., Mobile, Ala., and other ports.

The heads of the three unions said they represent 95,000 officers and crewmen.

Lawyer Faces Perjury Charge in 'Plot' Probe

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Dean A. Andrews Jr., 44, a round, jive-talking lawyer who says he once represented Lee Harvey Oswald on minor legal matters, faces arraignment today on a perjury charge.

Andrews was indicted last week by the Orleans Parish grand jury in its check into Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's Kennedy assassination conspiracy case.

No background of the charge had been released before the hearing.

The most southerly city in the world is Punta Arenas, a port of Magellan.

Adoption Case in Court

NEW YORK (AP) — One chilly morning six weeks ago, two social workers went to the eight-room house of Nunzio Marchese on Long Island to pick up a 4-year-old girl and return her to a foundling home.

"It was 7:30 a.m.," Marchese recalls, "Nancy Anne was still sleeping. We had to awaken her."

When it came time to leave, Nancy Anne didn't want to be taken out of the house.

"She ran to my oldest daughter and held on," Marchese remembers. "She started to cry."

"They told us we were too old, and that Nancy Anne would be placed in another foster home with younger parents," Marchese recalled in an interview today.

"I just pray to God we have the child back. We miss her dearly. There was happiness in the home, but now everything is fading the other way."

Marchese is seeking in state Supreme Court to regain Nancy Anne from the New York Foundling Hospital, which is run by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of New York.

In the past 40 years industrial lost-time injuries per million man hours worked have been reduced from 31.87 to 6.53, a decline of 80 per cent.

Progress Is Byword in Maryland's 1963

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — The 13,000 residents of Cambridge — catapulted into the national spotlight by racial violence in 1963 — would rather talk today about new industry than the once nightly marches on the courthouse; about new businesses at the seaport than its occupation by the National Guard.

More than three years after Cambridge was torn apart by months of demonstrations, civil leaders are still working hard to refurbish the city's image and rebuild its economy.

Progress is a favorite word in this pre-Revolutionary War town on the banks of the Choptank River, and there undoubtedly has been progress.

Unemployment has dropped. There are more jobs with higher wages, an urban renewal project is to be started soon and a 150-unit housing project has been completed.

FILTERED DOWN
Many leaders in Cambridge, both white and Negro, believe the progress has filtered down to those residents who needed help most.

Among those who believe that real progress has been made is Fred Jackson, 38, a Negro who is pupil personnel representative for the Dorchester County school system.

During the summer of 1963, Jackson was a leader of the Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee's drive for school desegregation, equal job opportunities and open public accommodations, marching almost nightly through the streets at the head of singing demonstrators.

"If you look at the entire county today, it doesn't even seem like the same place as 1963," Jackson said.

'SO MUCH BETTER'

"I wouldn't sit here and tell you our racial problem is solved because it isn't. Things still aren't what they should be, but they are so much better than three years ago."

"Economically it has improved tremendously, although there is still a great distance to go."

A lack of job opportunities was the most often heard complaint from demonstrators, and leaders of both races claim the improved economic climate has improved the racial situation.

At the height of the conflict, unemployment hovered near 22 per cent, and Negroes, many of them lacking skills and training, were hardest hit.

STEADY DECLINE

The jobless total has steadily declined and was down to 8.6 per cent of the labor force at the end of 1966.

Charles Cornish, the only Negro member of the City Council, believes there has been a significant improvement in living conditions in the 2nd Ward where most Cambridge Negroes live. He cites statistics compiled by the city showing an upsurge in construction and building improvements in the 2nd Ward.

Places of public accommodations are covered both by state and federal laws, and there are no problems in this area. However, the only "public" swimming pool was sold to a private owner recently after a court ruled the previous owner could not keep out Negroes.

There are still complaints, also, about the school system. Under a freedom of choice plan, a sizable number of Negro students attend formerly all-white schools.

100 PCT. NEGRO

The enrollment at Mace's Lane High School and St. Clair Elementary School is still 100 per cent Negro, however, and there appears to be no real move to make Mace's Lane into a vocational school, a prime goal of demonstrators in 1963.

Nevertheless, both Jackson and Cornish say there has been significant improvement in the racial climate, and both give much credit to the city's economic growth.

The economic revival of Cambridge actually started before the demonstrations.

For almost 200 years, oysters, crabs, and vegetables formed the economic base of Cambridge. Like the rest of Maryland's Eastern Shore, the town was largely isolated by the Chesapeake Bay from the industrialized Baltimore area.

ISOLATION ENDED

In 1952, the Chesapeake Bay Bridge from Annapolis to Kent Island, 32 road miles north of Cambridge, ended that historical isolation.

By that time, the town was hurting from a steady decline in the seafood and agricultural industries. The problem became acute in 1955 when employment was cut from 1,800 to 300 at a seafood packing company.

An economic development committee of the Cambridge-Dorchester County Chamber of Commerce launched a drive to attract industry. It paid a research firm $15,000 for a study of what kinds of industry the town could best serve.

With the report in hand, the committee contacted 5,000 firms to urge them to consider Cambridge as a site for new plants.

An industrial park was developed near town, and the Dorchester Industrial Development Corp. was formed to help interested companies locate.

RACIAL TURMOIL

By the early 1960s, some small companies had moved into the area. Then came the racial turmoil.

Led by Gloria Richardson, a slender, intense young Negro woman, Negroes organized to fight for a long list of demands in education, recreation, employment and public accommodations.

White resistance developed quickly and violence erupted. City and state police couldn't keep order, and the Maryland National Guard moved in during the summer of 1963. The occupation lasted into 1964.

From the moment Cambridge took over racial headlins, the economic rebirth stopped.

EVERYTHING STOPPED

"We felt we had things really moving, but the trouble just brought everything to a standstill," says Herman Stevens, general manager of the Cambridge Daily Banner.

Peace gradually returned through the fall and winter months of 1963 and 1964. Some of the Negro leaders, Mrs. Richardson among them, left town. Those who stayed decided more demonstrations would do no good.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER—Welcoming the return of spring, these graceful mallards waddle their way toward the dock area at Traverses City intent on charming tasty hand-outs from passersby. The flock spends winters in the area of Grand Traverse Bay and has increased to as many as 250.

Johnson's Latin Aid Bill Bugged Down in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's bid for congressional endorsement of more aid to Latin America is moving briskly through the House but bogging down in the Senate.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee indicated Tuesday it would make some changes in Johnson's suggested resolution — but two members also said there were reports the administration would rather have no resolution at all if major changes were made.

The House Rules Committee approved the plan and sent it to the full House for three hours of scheduled debate today. It earlier won approval from the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The resolution contains no money figure, but the program is envisioned to cost $1.5 billion over the next five years. The House version makes it clear the support would be contingent upon action toward self-help by the recipient nations.

Johnson wants the resolution passed before he meets with American chiefs of state in Punta del Este, Uruguay, April 12-14.

The Senate committee set another hearing on the matter for April 3.

Its chairman, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., offered the reports that the administration preferred no resolution to a significantly changed one.

Fulbright has expressed reservations about how much of a blank check for Latin aid the resolution might turn out to be.

Aiken said he'd offer an amendment to make certain Congress would have to act on any program Johnson brings back from the Punta del Este negotiations.

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, the House version makes it clear the support would be contingent upon action toward self-help by the recipient nations.

Bengals Waste Northrup's Grand Slam

Yankees Rally for 5-4 Win Over Korince

Tiger Pitchers Fail to Protect 4-0 Lead; NY Triumphs in 9th

By WHITEY SAWYER

Associated Press Sports Writer
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — "It was a fast ball, and I hit it good," said Jim Northrup.

Not only that, it was a fast ball with the bases loaded and he hit it over the fence for a grand slam home run. But the Detroit Tigers couldn't hold a four-run lead and lost 5-4 to the New York Yankees in a Grapefruit League baseball game Tuesday.

The blast gave Northrup 14 RBIs for the spring training season, well ahead of Willie Horton who is second with seven.

But the Tigers couldn't score any more and New York picked up three runs in the third and two in the ninth for the victory.

George Korince, a 6-foot-2 rookie, came on in the ninth and couldn't get the Yankees out. He walked Steve Whitaker and gave up a single to Jake Gibbs.

TOOK SECOND

Then Ruben Amaro bounced a grounder off Korince's shins. As the youngster picked up the ball and tossed out Amaro, Whitaker scored and Gibbs took second on the play.

Korince struck out Ray Barker and walked Horace Clarke. Bill Robinson cracked a single, his third hit of the game — and scored Gibbs with the winning run.

Mickey Lolich, starter for Detroit, struck out five, walked one and gave up three runs and five hits in five innings.

He was followed by Larry Sherry who gave up one hit, one walk and had one strikeout in three innings.

The first two Yankee runs came on a homer by starting pitcher Al Downing off Lolich.

"Downing hit a good one, a low fast ball. I was trying to throw too hard for a while, and was over throwing," Lolich said.

Sherry, last year's top Tigers relief pitcher, said "I had a little trouble with my curve at first then it was okay. I wasn't fresh as a daisy, but I wasn't tired, either."

Tigers' manager Mayo Smith said, "I wanted to look at Korince in the ninth. He was a little nervous, trying too hard. I thought Arlo Brunsberg did a pretty good job catching to-day."

FULL GAME

Brunsborg caught the full nine innings, giving Bill Freeman a chance to rest a pulled ligament in his leg.

Dick McCullitt didn't play because of a pulled thigh muscle, but the second baseman said it felt all right in the warmup. Jake Wood played second and went hitless, but played well defensively.

Dick Tracewski, who played shortstop in place of Ray Oyler, got one single and had a flawless day at field.

The Tigers play Washington today at Pompano Beach.

Des Moines '6' Makes Playoffs

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The Des Moines Oak Leafs were assured a place in the International Hockey League playoffs by beating Fort Wayne 2-2 in overtime here Tuesday night.

With the season ending this week, Des Moines clinched at least a fourth place finish.

AP Wirephoto

Romp by Rec Quintet Evens Playoff Series

The Amigo Celts rebounded with a vengeance Tuesday night at Pontiac Central to square their recreation men's basketball city championship series against Booth Homes with a 74-46 triumph.

The Celts were upset heavily in the opener of the best-of-three title series, but they bounced back to dominate their foes with a 33-17 field goal advantage and hand the home builders their worst defeat since early January.

Completing a successful evening, the winners' National League counterpart — the Amigos' Club — wrapped up its championship by thrashing The Packers, 74-45.

In that game, the losing Packers were ahead, 26-22, at the halftime break but the Amigos' Club erupted for 52 points in the second half. It held the Packers to one field goal and one free throw in the decisive 23-3 third quarter.

Argonaut Coach Quits

Orioles' Pennant Hopes Feel Pain

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — One of the best kept secrets of the spring concerns Baltimore's pitching staff, the same one which broke all those World Series records last fall but can't even break a pane of glass today.

The Orioles' pitching crisis has reached such alarming proportions that overtures already quietly have been made for left-hander Pete Richert of Washington and if the world champs can't get him, they'll settle for Minnesota southpaw Jim Merritt.

"We've still got three weeks left before the season starts," says manager

Hank Bauer, naturally trying to soothe-pain his concern. "This is only spring training, what's there to worry about?"

Jim Palmer for one. Palmer became the youngest pitcher ever to hurl a World Series shutout when he stopped the Dodgers on four hits nine days short of his 21st birthday last Oct. 6.

So far this spring, he hasn't pitched a single ball in an exhibition game. He hasn't been able to. Shoulder trouble.

TENDER TEAM
But that's only the start.

Southpaw Steve Barber, out nearly half of last year with tendonitis, admits he has pain in his forearm.

Eddie Watt, a nine-game winner as a rookie last season, hasn't fully recovered yet from a broken nose he suffered two weeks ago practicing rundown plays.

Frank Bertina, coming back from a cartilage operation in his right knee last December, has been wild and hit hard.

John Miller, another one of the Orioles' young hopes, also has been wild and that's understandable because he has insisted on pitching with pain in his shoulder.

SPORTS

Chisox Flash New Weapon

By The Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox have added a new wrinkle to their spring clean-up project — Smokey Burgess and a cloud of dust.

Burgess, baseball's premier pinch hitter, delivered for the first time this spring Tuesday and speedster Buddy Bradford took it from there as the White Sox edged Kansas City 5-4 in 10 innings for a 9-3 exhibition record — best in the majors.

Bradford ran for Burgess after the 40-year-old runner who holds the all-time career record of 136 pinch hits, led off the 10th by stroking a pinch single. The rookie outfielder then stole second, took third on a passed ball and — after two intentional walks filled the bases — raced home with the winning run on Tommie Agee's sacrifice fly.

While the White Sox stayed ahead of the pack on Florida's spring circuit, the San Francisco Giants whipped the Chicago Cubs 8-4 at Phoenix, Ariz., for their fifth straight Cactus League victory.

MAYS CHECKED

The Cubs held Willie Mays hitless for the first time in 11 exhibition games, but San Francisco scored six runs in the first inning — three on Willie McCovey's bases-loaded double — off left-hander Ken Holtzman and breezed home. Gaylord Perry pitched six strong innings for the Giants, 8-4 over-all.

Fred Valentine drove in five runs with two homers and two singles in Washington's 9-8 extra-inning victory over Atlanta, Tony Oliva doubled and homered for four RBIs as Minnesota topped Los Angeles 7-4 and Don Cardwell yielded only one hit in five innings as the New York Mets blanked Baltimore 2-0.

Elsewhere, Pittsburgh shaded St. Louis 5-4, Cincinnati trimmed Houston 9-4, California slugged Cleveland 10-4 and Philadelphia battered Boston 10-5.

Road Gets Rougher for UCLA

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) —

When unbeaten UCLA clashes with sixth-ranked Houston Friday night in the NCAA semifinals, it'll be the first time this year the Bruins have met a team rated in the final top 15 in the nation.

That fact points up the irony of the college basketball season that has been obscured by the success of Lew Alcindor and his Bruins playmates.

UCLA arrives here Thursday for the NCAA nationals at Freedom Hall with a 28-0 record and the reputation of a wonder team.

But while there's no question UCLA has the talent to back up most of its reputation, it's also true the Bruins have been aided by a lack of first-rate challengers this year. By the quirks of the schedule, the Bruins haven't even met the few challengers there are.

This hasn't been a vintage year for college basketball teams and the Bruins haven't handled their easy schedule with no problems. Four of their victories have come over Southern California while 12 more were picked up against the lackluster conference competition of Stanford, California, Washington, Washington State, Oregon and Oregon State.

However, the Bruins did whip 16th ranked University of Pacific 80-64 in the Far West regional last Saturday night and clobbered 19th ranked Duke twice by 88-54 and 107-57 margins.

Now the Bruins stand just two victories away from their third NCAA title in the last four seasons and with second-ranked Louisville already steeled, they're heavy favorites to do it.

If the Bruins knock out Houston Friday night, they meet the winner of the game between third-ranked North Carolina and unranked Dayton Nevada Southern.

UCLA's record is 28-0 but the three losses were to Michigan, Washington and Notre Dame and those clubs weren't strong in basketball this season. Some of the victories were over Kent State, Lamar Tech and Nevada Southern.

HAPPY MOMENT—A happy group of Tigers greets Detroit center fielder Jim Northrup as he nears home plate after belting a third-inning grand slam home run against the New York Yankees in an exhibition contest in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., yesterday. In the welcoming committee are Don Wert (8),

Norman Cash (25) and Willie Horton (23), who were on base. Dick Tracewski (44) is waiting his turn at bat. Unhappy with the whole affair is Yankee catcher (lower left) Jake Gibbs. The complexion changed later as the New Yorkers scored twice in the ninth to down the Bengals, 5-4.

Goalie Sharp in U.S. Loss

VIENNA (AP) — The United States had an open date today in the World Ice Hockey Championships for which Carl Wetzel of Detroit was thankful.

Wetzel, the American goalie, put on a spectacular performance Tuesday as the U.S. team lost to Czechoslovakia 6-3, although they upset fourth-ranked Kansas 66-53 in the Midwest regional last Friday before beating unranked SMU 83-75 in the finals Saturday.

The club is 26-3 but the three losses were to Michigan, Washington and Notre Dame and those clubs weren't strong in basketball this season. Some of the victories were over Kent State, Lamar Tech and Nevada Southern.

The Czechs fired 83 times at Wetzel and he did all kinds of acrobatics to stop the puck 75 times.

Wetzel's only medal for a great performance, however, was a gash over the right eye he got from a stick in the middle of the last period. He finished the game bloody, bandaged and dead tired.

The Americans' next game is against Canada Thursday.

For Thursday
 "The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."
ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): Wonderful day for you. You are in a good mood and otherwise. Pressure exists . . . but it reacts in favorable manner. Means through some disagreements, lack of control exists.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20): Your Imagination may take control. Now you tend to CONJURE UP OPPOSITION. You have much to offer. Many appreciate your efforts. But if ultra-sensitive, you lose points.
GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Key is being perceptive. Means be shrewd, astute. Do not put anything on surface value. If necessary, shake up your own beliefs. You can OBTAIN A NEW LEASE ON LIFE.
CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Some of your ideals, romantic interests are subject to revision. Much in your favor . . . depends upon willingness to be nents compete against you immediately."

Jim: "Here is a hand from a Connecticut tournament to illustrate, this. South was New York expert Boris Raymond. Boris' hand was certainly worth an opening two but since he was using two clubs as artificial, Boris opened one club only. He had little to lose by doing this. There was small chance that someone would not find a bid against Oswald: "It turned out that both East and West did. West had a very sound spade overcall and East raised his partner all the way to game. Boris bid five diamonds."

He might have actually jumped to six diamonds but he had two reasons for bidding only five. The first was that Boris wanted to become declarer. The second was that a six diamond call might force North to give a preference to seven clubs with an unsatisfactory hand."

Jim: "As it was, West continued to five spades. North raised to six diamonds and Boris passed. West chose to bid six spades and when the bid came back to Boris he went to grand slam. You can't really blame West for falling into the trap and doubling."

Oswald: "If Boris had opened with an artificial two club bid the chances are that he would have had to show a suit at the six level, since West would still overcall and East might jump to five spades. As a matter of fact, that is exactly what happened at a couple of tables. South was forced to try six clubs and West was smart enough to pass and take his profit."
