

Income Tax Share Not Enough for City

Michigan's new state income tax will mean $197,335 more for city coffers, City Manager Joseph A. Warren said at the City Commission meeting last night.

Warren, requested to review the city's financial status by Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., said this amount doesn't come close to what the city will need in the way of added revenue for next year.

Under the new income tax law, which goes into effect Oct. 1, cities, villages and townships receive one-eighth of one per cent collected in the area.

Related Stories, Page A-10

This works out to about $2.40 per capita to return, he said. Warren again said the city will need nearly $1.6 million more in 1968 just to continue city services at the present level.

Being discussed by a Citizens Finance Study Committee are two methods of raising the $1.6 million — a flat city income tax or a hike in the millage rate on real estate.

The committee is expected to make a recommendation at a meeting Monday. It will probably be followed closely by the City Commission.

In order to get $1.6 million, Warren said, the city would have to hike the charter-limited 18-mill property levy by 4 mills or effect a city income tax tied to a 3-mill property tax cut.

A city income tax of one per cent for residents, one half of one per cent for non-residents working in Pontiac, would bring in $2.9 million less $87,000 to administer the tax, he said.

A 3-mill tax cut would leave the city $1,571,000 he said. A 4-mill property tax hike would bring in $1,656,000.

STATE INCOME TAX

The city manager said the city would end up netting $178,647 from the state income tax law, or about what three-eighths of a mill property tax would bring in.

Any new tax will likely have to be approved by a vote of the public and commissioners are talking about a fall election.

A vote is required to hike property taxes. The commission can enact an income tax, but a referendum would no doubt be petitioned for.

Commissioners are also considering the possibility that voters will react adversely to new taxes.

CUTS IN SERVICES

Should this happen cuts in services are expected. Since 85 per cent of all the city's general fund goes for employee salaries and benefits this means a lay off of some 100 employees. The city now has 771 employees.

Warren said if $1.6 million new income is generated, the city will need $500,000 just to overcome the "deficit" the city is now carrying and another $500,000 to meet expected employee demands for more money.

Any new services would be essentially for more police, a department, officials say, that is in crying need for personnel.

The city manager said 24 new policemen — five more per shift — and equipment for them would run $270,000, considering holidays, vacation and sick day costs.

OTHER EXPENSES

Beyond this, Warren said, new income would be used for longevity pay promised employees, $80,000; street repair, $150,000; street lighting, $15,000; more recreation programs, $30,000; and more housing inspection, $25,000.

Warren said considering the condition of local streets, the $150,000—above the normal annual appropriation — is not nearly enough.

He said the city should spend this extra amount of several years in attempts to improve the local roads.

Romney Likely to Run in N.H.

MIRROR LAKE, N. H. (AP)—Michigan Gov. George W. Romney is building political fences here and a leading supporter says he expects the governor to announce by the first of the year that he will enter the New Hampshire presidential primary.

Leonard Hall, former Republican national chairman and now leader of a national organization boosting Romney for the Republican presidential nomination, said he expects Romney to announce the plans in late fall or early winter.

Romney received a "very encouraging reception" from 100 of the state's top Republicans in a private meeting yesterday at the start of a "working vacation" in New Hampshire, Hall said.

Romney said only that if he decides to seek the nomination next year, he will choose New Hampshire to make his first bid for votes.

The state's presidential primary March 12 is the nation's first.

KEY PEOPLE

Romney said he planned to "meet the people of significance" from throughout the state and with other New England Republicans during his four-day stay.

FBI Agents Enter Probe of Trustee Robbery-Murder

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents have entered the case of the robbery-slashing of Edward Emmett DeConick, West Bloomfield Township trustee.

The Pontiac Press offer of $1,000 reward was seen as a big help in the investigation.

State Police experts were also on hand today to help in the investigation.

DeConick, 63, was slain at his home at 5847 W. Maple Monday night by four intruders. Both he and his sister, Kathleen, 73, were beaten and shot. Miss DeConick was shot through the left eye and left for dead, but is said to be recovering at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Pontiac.

The handouts took a floor safe and cashbox with valuables in cash, securities and jewels that total between $30,000 and $50,000, police said.

The FBI is checking possible interstate movement of the loot.

West Bloomfield police hope to question Miss DeConick further today at the hospital where she is being kept under guard.

She was able to describe the intruders briefly in a previous interview. She said they were three Negro males, one short, stocky and the other two tall and thin.

A light-skinned woman was with them. The latter gained entry to the house on the ruse of needing to use the phone about her car. All the suspects are said to be in their 20's.

West Bloomfield's 13-man police force and other employees have been mobilized to aid in the investigation, working almost continually.

Township Supervisor John Warren said "We have some promising leads. The reward money should prove helpful."

The Press' reward is to be administered by Oakland County Probate Judges Eugene A. Moore, Donald E. Adams and Norman R. Barnard.

Additional offers of reward money are expected and township officials said several individuals have contacted them.

The township treasurer, Mrs. Lillian Warner, is handling information.

2 V8s Added by GMC Truck

Two new V8s have been added to the expanding number of power plants available in the GMC Truck and Coach Division's light truck line, a division spokesman announced today.

GMC Truck now has seven power plant options consisting of in-line 6s of 230, 250 and 292 cubic inches and two V8s of 305 and 351 cubic inches; and the two new V8s, one being a 283-cubic-inch unit developing 175 horsepower and the other a 327-cubic-inch version with 220 maximum horsepower.

"With the addition of the two new engines, GMC Truck now offers the largest number of light-truck power plant options in its history," said Martin J. Caserio, a vice president of General Motors and general manager of GMC Truck and Coach.

"The additions were influenced by a desire for increased performance and load handling capability in our light line" he added.

GMC pickup trucks feature the 283-cubic-inch engine as standard equipment with the 327-cubic-inch model available as option in the wide-side fender-side, stake body and cab and chassis models.

Cab and chassis models equipped with the new engines offer increased performance, according to a GMC Truck spokesman.

The 283 is also offered as a standard 6-cylinder power plant in GMC Hand-Vans, Hand-Buses and Value Vans with a variety of wheelbases for 90 to 175 inches.

Summer Weather Returning to Area

Summertime temperatures will return to the Pontiac area after a cool 50 to 55 tonight.

The weatherman predicts increasing cloudiness and warmer tomorrow, the high in the upper 70s. There's a chance of showers Saturday with little change in temperature.

According to the forecast skies will be partly overcast over all of Michigan tomorrow with a chance of showers in most areas.

Percentage chance of rain: Today 5, tonight 10, tomorrow 20.

The Press Picked No. 1 in Circulation Contest

The Press was awarded first place over-all in the annual contest conducted by the International Circulation Managers Assn. at their annual sales conference here.

ARLO MCCULLY

The prize-winning effort was created for sales promotion of a six-week sampling campaign which The Press launched in May.

Judges praised the unique use of a variety of unusual articles, including gum, needles, buttons, balloons, and pennies in the campaign which saw free sample papers distributed to a wide area.

Approximately 155 papers submitted entries in the contest.

TOP HONOR

Earlier this week The Press won top honor in its circulation classification with the same sales promotion entry. On hand to receive the awards was Press Circulation Manager Arlo McCully.

In previous contests, The Press took first place in 1964 and received second place last year.

Congo Reports Hard Fighting

KINSHASA, The Congo (AP)—The government radio reported hard fighting between Congolese forces and foreign mercenaries at Bukavu today and described the situation in the eastern Congo as grave.

The mercenaries were reported yesterday to have been airlifted to Bukavu and Kisangani (Stanleyville), two major eastern cities. Quoting Congolese sources, the Belgian radio in Brussels said the foreign soldiers had taken a number of important eastern points and that Congolese troops had counterattacked in Kisangani.

President Joseph D. Mobutu decreed a state of emergency throughout the country yesterday and complained to the United Nations Security Council of aggression by invaders sent from "Western countries."

It was widely believed that the mercenaries were acting on behalf of ex-Premier Moise Tshombe, kidnapped and taken to Algeria last week.

The Belgian consul in Bukavu, on the eastern border north of Tshombe's former stronghold in Katanga province, reported to Brussels that fighting had broken out in the eastern Congo but gave no details.

Mobutu said foreign settlers had attacked the Congolese army in Bukavu and fighting was in progress.

The U.S. consul in Bukavu, Triston F. Crigler, reported to Washington that the town was "under the control of mercenary-led national army dissidents."

Mobutu reported two plane-loads of foreign commandos had seized the airport at Kisangani.

Blonde OU Coed Go-Going Way Through College

A tall, blonde coed is go-going through Oakland University.

Carol F. Hoffer, a junior majoring in French at OU, is one of the newest members of the summer work go-go dancing set.

She and other college coeds across the country are no longer slinging hash or scrubbing floors during the summer to help pay college expenses.

Instead, they are go-going through school with hourly wages of $3 to $4.

Carol, 19, of Alexandria, Va., is dancing at a Madison, Wis., discotheque. She was third runner-up in the 1966 Miss Oakland University contest.

SWINGING TIME

But now she is dancing to "Lady Godiva" in Madison with her long hair swinging in time to the fringe on her white costume.

Her bare feet slide across the candy-striped platform as her torso jerks to a blaring folk-rock tune.

A resident of Vandenberg Hall on campus, Carol was publicity manager of the university yearbook, Ascendant, the past school year.

Kuhn Asks Kelley to Rule on Legality of Income Tax Law

LANSING (AP) — The first shot against Michigan's new income tax law was fired Wednesday by Sen. George W. Kuhn, R-Birmingham.

Charging that the Legislature passed the 2.6 per cent personal income tax in a form "that attempts to escape the review of the people," Kuhn asked Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley to rule whether the law is constitutional.

Kuhn asserted the law, passed last Friday, illegally circumvents a right of voters to a referendum on bills passed by the Legislature. He said it also violates a section of the Michigan Constitution prohibiting a law from encompassing more than one subject and violates the equal protection guarantee of the Constitution.

Trial Ordered for DeClercq

Donald DeClercq, ex-boyfriend of Mrs. Roy Fruhauf, today was ordered to stand trial in Oakland County Circuit Court on a charge of beating up the wife of the late trailer manufacturer.

DeClercq, 30, of Detroit stood mute to aggravated assault, when he appeared at his arraignment this morning before Judge Arthur E. Moore.

No trial date was set. Mrs. Fruhauf, 5330 Middle Belt, West Bloomfield Township, brought the charge against DeClercq in May after an alleged fight over money that he owed her.

Week's Toll Drops to 161 Killed in Viet

SAIGON (AP) — The number of Americans killed in the Vietnam war dropped markedly last week, but the report Thursday by the U.S. Command did not reflect the latest intense fighting along the demilitarized zone. Casualties in that action will not show up until next week's official summary.

The number of enemy reported killed also decreased last week, while the toll of South Vietnamese government troops rose.

The U.S. Command said 161 Americans were killed in action in the seven-day period ending at midnight Saturday, and 1,529 were wounded. No figures were available on the number missing or captured.

A week earlier 274 Americans had been reported killed in action, 1,258 wounded and 14 missing.

There were 1,331 enemy reported killed last week as compared with a reported 1,992 a week earlier.

The command said the period covered in the latest report was in which "major contacts with the enemy decreased."

U.S. Jet Pilots Taunt N. Viets

Say 'Come Out, Fight' to Disappearing Reds

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI) — American jet pilots today challenged the North Vietnamese air force to "come out and fight."

Pilots of the 366th Fighter Wing said they have only seen retreating tails of North Vietnamese MIGs fleeing to the sanctuary of Communist China the past month.

"They won't fight," complained Col. Robert Maloy of Coral Gables, Fla. "When we come in, they go out."

When we leave, they fly back 15 minutes later, probably so their propaganda can brag that two of their planes chased us back to South Vietnam."

The last MIG downed by the F-4C Phantom jets of the 366th was June 5, near Hanoi, by Maj. Durward Preister of Hampton, S.C., and Capt. John Parkhurst of Midland, Mich.

PILOTS FLEE

Since then the North Vietnamese have fled to Chinese airspace where they circle immune from attack while the Americans carry out their bombing and strafing mission.

Col. Frederick Blesse of Tucson, Ariz., said the Communists undoubtedly were facing an acute pilot morale problem and plane shortage from the spring beating they absorbed from American pilots.

"They lost 37 planes in a month," the deputy commander of the wing's operations said. "And all of them were in aerial combat."

Soviets Woo Latins in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union began wooing Latin American members of the United Nations today in an effort to salvage something from the abortive U.N. Assembly session on the Middle East.

Assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan adjourned the 122-nation forum until Wednesday to give members a chance to bring about something that we might be able to refer to as a fruitful result."

Israeli officials, meanwhile, sought to avert a furor roused by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan's statement that the Gaza Strip, administered by Egypt before the June 5 war, would be incorporated into Israel.

Both the Israeli Defense Ministry and the Israeli delegation to the U.N. issued emphatic denials that the government of Israel had made any decision on the future of the strip.

SALVAGEABLE PARTS

Informed sources said Soviet Ambassador Platon D. Morozov was urging the Latin Americans to try to draft an acceptable compromise resolution from salvageable parts of the rival Latin American and nonaligned proposals which failed to get the needed two-thirds majority in the assembly Tuesday.

2 Sentenced for Burglary of Supermarket

Two south Oakland County men today were sentenced to 10-to-15 year prison terms for the burglary of a Brandon Township supermarket last winter.

The sentences were ordered for Charles Cormendy, 25, of 15844 W. 13 Road, Beverly Hills, and David Caval, 24, of 518 E. 12 Mile, Royal Oak, by Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

The pair was convicted by a jury last month of breaking and entering the Foodland Market, 1605 Ortonville, on Dec. 3, 1965.

A third man, Kenneth Williams, was also charged with the burglary but was never tried since he is already serving a prison term for another offense.

School Budget Passed, Board Officers Elected

BIRMINGHAM — A $14,153,943 budget for the school district has been adopted by the board for the coming school year.

New officers were also elected with Peil Hollingshead chosen president. He replaces George W. Coomb who announced his retirement from the board last month.

Other officers elected were Dr. Charles Leach, vice president; George Schmidt, secretary; Richard Holstead, treasurer.

A report from the personnel department shows there are 87 teacher vacancies.

There were 263 to be filled due to resignations, leaves of absence, retirements and leaves.

These figures represent a turnover of more than 15 per cent. This is slightly lower than last year, the report indicated.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — New officers have been installed for the Bloomfield Hills Rotary Club with Clarion E. Cooke of 1720 Cedar Shake taking over as president.

Also taking office were: Raymond West of 3339 Oakland Drive, Bloomfield Township, vice president; Paul Prociak of 3275 Erie, Orchard Lake, secretary; and James H. Rae of 519 Riverbrook, Birmingham, treasurer.

Newly chosen directors are: William E. Damman of 4301 Chamberlain, Birmingham; and C. Henry Haberkorn of 2750 Pine Lake, West Bloomfield Township.

It was announced that contributions were made to the following charitable organizations: Oakland County Crippled Children's Society, Birmingham-Bloomfield Teen Club, Big Brothers, Salvation Army, American Field Service and Camp Oakland. Scholarship aid was also offered deserving students.

The Rotary Club raises funds for an annual Christmas fruit cake sale.

Pontiac Youth Shot at Plant

A Pontiac youth was felled by a shotgun blast early today as he left work at the Pontiac Motor Division plant, was reported to city police.

James H. Goodson, 20, of 90 Carr told officers he was walking in the plant's parking lot near Kennett about 1:30 a.m. when one of two men in a parked car ordered him to get into the vehicle.

He said he refused and was shot when he turned to walk away.

Goodson is in fair condition in Pontiac General Hospital with a wound in the lower back.

Police said they arrested two brothers in their home shortly after the incident.

Taken into custody were R. C. Burton, 24, and Samuel Burton, 22, both of 289 Perry. They were linked to the shooting by Goodson and witnesses, according to police.

Officers said they impounded a single-shot, 12-gauge shotgun at the Perry address.

Algerians Air Tshombe Fate

ALGIERS (UPI) — Algerian president Houari Boumedienne summoned his cabinet today to discuss the fate of former Congo premier Moise Tshombe.

Even as the Algerian cabinet met, the Congo was plunged into a state of emergency because of a rebel uprising in two of the nation's eastern cities. Unfettered sources said the Congo uprising was triggered by Tshombe's arrest in Algeria.

Boumedienne was expected to meet with Congolese officials following today's cabinet meeting.

County GOP Unit Seeks Nonpartisan COG Study

The board of directors of the Republican Citizens Committee of Oakland County has called for a nonpartisan study of the proposed Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (COG). The COG is described by its proponents as a voluntary association of local governments whose goal is to provide effective ways of working together to resolve common problems.

A conservative segment of the county GOP party, the 138-member citizens committee, through its directors, also urges that local governmental units take no COG action until the study is completed.

Dr. Francis LeVeque, president of the citizens committee, said that his organization's statement of principles includes a section on limited government and the concept of keeping local government as close to the people as possible.

"Where we have heard of other regional government, or 'Metropolitan' government proposals, it has taken government further from the people and placed it into the hands of appointed rather than elected officials," Dr. LeVeque added.

He pointed out that the citizens committee is concerned about a COG because regional government and local self government are contradictory.

"Our organization feels a complete study of COG will bring to light any tendency toward a 'Metro' government in their objectives," Dr. LeVeque said.

COG has a potential membership of 245 cities, townships, school districts, villages and counties in the six-county area of Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Monroe.

It now has about 150 governmental units participating and at its next meeting will elect a temporary 35-member executive committee.

Main purpose of COG, according to its proponents, is to strengthen abilities of local governments to meet their own needs, and in so doing, aid in meeting the broader common needs of the region.

Walled Lake Lets Contracts for New 20-Room School

WALLED LAKE — The cost of school construction has increased 20 per cent in four years, board of education members discovered recently.

They made their discovery when awarding contracts on a new 20-room elementary school which duplicates two others already in the district.

Construction contract for the building, to be located on Loom Lake Road, went to J. V. Moriarty Construction Co. of Southfield for $469,000.

The mechanical contract was awarded to Magnolia Heating Service Inc. of Southfield for $180,000 and the electrical contract to Farley Electric of Milford for $64,750.

"Two years ago we bid Oakley Park Elementary, and prices have increased 10 per cent for the same building in two years," said Schools Supt. George Garver.

KEITH SCHOOL

"Four years ago we bid the same plan on the Keith Elementary School and prices are up 20 per cent since then."

In other recent business, the board named Howard Chenoweth as principal of the Walled Lake Junior High School.

Chenoweth, who has been with the district since 1956, has been acting principal at the school for the past year.

Edmund Parpart was appointed principal of Clifford Smart Junior High to replace Murray Adams who was recently made coordinator of secondary education. He served as dean of students at the school prior to his appointment.

WIXOM PRINCIPAL

Mrs. Elaine B. Fox was named principal at Wixom Elementary replacing Ethel Mugler who has been made principal at Dublin School. Mrs. Fox is presently reading consultant for the district.

The board also ratified agreements with two employee groups.

An agreement with the Walled Lake Custodial Association provides a 15-cent-per-hour across-the-board increase, and a two-year agreement with the Bus Drivers Association grants a 17-cent-an-hour increase the first year and 13 cents an hour the second year.

The agreements have already been ratified by the employee groups.

At its recent organizational meeting, the board elected John Clark as president, Robert Wiseman as vice president, Stuart Elwood as secretary and Mrs. Barbara Scully as treasurer.

For Dearborn School Seat

Top Vote-Getter Will Sue

DETROIT (UPI)—A former teacher who has been refused a seat on the suburban Dearborn Board of Education plans to take the issue to court.

The attorney for Leo DalBo, 39, yesterday said he would ask the Wayne County Circuit Court to force the board to seat his client.

Although DalBo was the top vote-getter in the June 12 school board election, the board voted earlier this week not to seat him, contending he was not a legal resident and property owner in the district.

DalBo said his qualifications were challenged in 1966 but only after he lost the election. This year, he said, no one mentioned his residence qualifications until after he defeated incumbent Board President Robert Woods and tried to take his seat on the board.

DalBo contends he lives inside the district in a Dearborn Heights home he owns with another teacher. The school board contends DalBo must own the property "in his own right" to qualify for a seat.

RESTRAINING ORDER

Leo Foran, DalBo's attorney, said he would seek a temporary restraining order to keep the board from filling the vacancy.

DalBo, a bachelor, resigned as a mathematics teacher at a Dearborn high school in 1965 after he was accused by the board of insubordination and violations of school codes for teachers. He has filed a breach of contract suit against the board, contending he has been "blackballed" from jobs in other districts by his former employers.

Friends of Library Reelect President

ROCHESTER — At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Friends of the Woodward Memorial Public Library, Inc., Mrs. Bernhard W. Vosteen was reelected to a third term as president of the organization.

Also elected to the executive committee were Mrs. Paul Tipler, vice president; Mrs. George Martin, secretary; Mrs. Kip Serota, treasurer; and Mrs. David Evans, corresponding secretary.

The group was organized in 1961 to promote and extend the services of the library.

Septic Permit Approval Depends on Well Depth

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Builders, home owners and subdividers in the township yesterday were told by representatives of the Macomb County and state health departments that builders will have a hard time obtaining septic tank permits in the future unless the new building is equipped with a well sunk to a depth of 60 feet or more.

Builders complained recently of the delays involved in obtaining septic tank permits. Building permits in the township in the future will not be issued unless the builder has already obtained a septic tank permit.

Attending the meeting yesterday were township water authorities, Township Supervisor Kirby Holmes, and Joseph Crumley, representing the Michigan State Health Dept. Representing the Macomb County Health Dept. were sanitary engineers Merlin Damon and Frank Murphy.

The health authorities said that about 80 per cent of the best soil in the township has already been built upon. Homes built upon this land have wells sunk to depths averaging 20 feet.

"There is a definite shortage of water that can be reached at the 20-foot level," said Holmes. Water in most of the township's undeveloped areas can only be reached at the 60-foot level or below, he said.

DANGERS CITED

The health representatives cited the dangers involved in the installation of more septic tanks in homes having shallow wells. Nitrates issue from septic tanks they said, and will not be absorbed readily enough into poor soil.

Shallow wells in poor soil pump water with a high nitrate count into homes, endangering the health of those that consume it, especially infants.

Holmes said excessively high nitrate counts have been recorded in the Timberline Meadows subdivision on Van Dyke, south of 23 Mile Road.

Damon and Murphy said builders will have to either wait for Detroit water or sink their wells below the 60-foot level.

Rochester Rotary Elects Its Officers

ROCHESTER — Members of the Rochester Rotary Club have elected Ronald Cooley of 202 Tartan, Avon Township, to the post of club president. He succeeds Terry O'Connor of 6106 DeGuise Court, Avon Township, in that position.

Other elected officers are Clarence Whitbey, vice president; Jack Burr, secretary; and Thor Ulseth, treasurer.

Cooley's wife, Margaret, was elected president of the Rotary Anns. Also named to office by that group are Mrs. Clarence Whitbey, vice president, and Mrs. William Lukens, treasurer.

Course Completed by Police Chief

CLARKSTON — Robert G. Phillips, village police chief, has recently completed the command officers' course at the police academy of Oakland Community College.

Twenty men from different departments in the county participated in the first program of its type to be offered at OCC.

Top police officers of the community are used as instructors under the direction of Ralph Moxley, former police chief of Birmingham.

Huron Valley Board Tie Vote Leaves the Presidency Vacant

MILFORD — Arthur Burkland needed only one vote to become new president of the Huron Valley Board of Education.

But because one member was away on vacation, the board was deadlocked at 3-3 and left without a president to begin the new year.

The tie will likely be broken later this month when Burkland returns from Hawaii.

Meanwhile, the board will function with Lyle Tyger, one of three returning incumbents, serving as temporary chairman.

Rec Activity Slated

West Bloomfield-Keego Harbor Area Youth Guidance Association is again sponsoring a summer recreation program this year.

Activities begin next Monday at Roosevelt School, 2065 Cass Lake, Keego Harbor, and continue through Aug. 18. Classes start at 9 a.m.

On Kensington Cruise

Park Boat Sails Into Past

For 45 minutes you are young Samuel Clemens learning the profession he loved more than any other.

It's daybreak and you are at the wheel, alone in the pilot house of a steam-powered riverboat moving silently over the shiny mirror they call the mighty Mississippi.

Lulled to sleep by the splashing music of a paddle wheel, you are as remote from the starry collared real world as the boy Huck Finn, lying on his back on a log raft, smoking a cornucop pipe and going wherever the current takes him.

This world comes alive at Kensington Metropolitan Park where you can take a 45-minute cruise around Kent Lake aboard the Island Queen, a 58-foot replica of a Mississippi riverboat.

At the boat dock near Martindale swimming beach, you'll be greeted by 36-year-old Lewis Underhill III, 60200 Pontiac Trail, Wixom, who has been the boat's pilot for the last nine years.

CARRY 500 ON SUNDAYS

"Business is a little slow today," he apologizes as we climb aboard. "It's chilly and there are not many people out at the park. It's a little cold to take a boat ride."

"On Sundays, we usually make about nine trips and carry some 450 to 500 persons," he adds.

The kids scurry to the upper deck which has a make-believe pilot house with a moveable steering wheel.

Adults seem to prefer settling down in the soft cushioned chairs on the main deck.

The gangplank is taken away by crew hand Earl Rice of Walled Lake and the Island Queen heads out for Canoe Island on its 22-mile trip.

"Canoe Island is the first stop for canoers coming down the Huron River from Hehner's boat rental east of Milford," the captain relates, explaining why Ladbelle Island isn't called that anymore.

Two youngsters stand crossed-legged and quiet, hoping to be asked to watch the wheel while the captain goes below.

There's always some kid every trip who asks if he can steer the boat.

Underhill turns and whispers. He earned his right to steer by passing Coast Guard tests for sailing on navigable waters.

BARELY QUALIFY

"The definition of navigable waters is anything that'll float a log," he adds with a laugh.

Some spots in Kent Lake just qualify.

"The lake was man-made about 1947," the captain says. "They dammed up a part of the Huron River just south of the expressway. There were already two small lakes just west of Canoe Island."

The lake only averages about 12 feet deep although it's nearly 40 feet where the two lakes were. There are still some logs near the surface back there," he says, pointing to an isolated lagoon.

NO COLLISIONS

"Never had any collisions, even though there are sometimes some 70 sailboats, 110 row boats and 50 motor boats out on the lake on a Sunday afternoon," Underhill boasts.

Watching the kids running back and forth on the deck, it's hard to believe the captain when he tells you, "We've never had anyone fall overboard either."

They've never even had a fire, although they're prepared for one.

HEADS TO DOCK

Out in the open, the wind picks up a bit.

"There's little danger in rough water, except getting splashed," Underhill says confidently.

THANKS FROM CHILD

"Thanks for the ride," a little blond-haired girl licks through an open space where her front tooth was.

Everyone enjoys a boat ride.

You feel like you could float on the water forever and never miss land.

It's too bad you have to come back to dock.

Senators to Probe Mergers to Save 'Failing Papers'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate antitrust subcommittee will open hearings next week that seem likely to become the first in-depth congressional study of newspaper business economics.

The hearings will center on a bill to permit an antitrust exemption for mergers or joint business and commercial operations of newspapers, both dailies and weeklies, in order to save "failing newspapers."

Subcommittee aides report being flooded with requests to testify and with material taking strong stands for and against the bill. Some objections have been directed to wording of the measure rather than its basic purpose.

Labor unions were listed as leading the opposition. Newspaper publishers were described as split, with the strongest support from multiple-paper operators and with owners of suburban papers among the bill's chief foes.

LENGTHY HEARINGS

The hearings begin Wednesday. Nine additional days of hearings have been scheduled in July and six or seven more are planned in August. Further hearings are expected in November or December.

Staff aides said comments already received indicate the testimony will cover all aspects of newspaper publishing economics.

The bill was introduced by Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., on March 16 with 14 other senators

—7 Democrats and 7 Republicans — as cosponsors. It's called the "Failing Newspaper Act."

It stems from an antitrust suit brought by the Justice Department in 1965 against a 1941 arrangement by two Tucson, Ariz., daily newspapers, the Citizen and the Star, under which a single company was created to conduct their printing, advertising, circulation and business operations.

SEPARATE REPORTING

Independent news and editorial staffs have been maintained by the two newspapers.

Hayden said in introducing his bill that without a joint operating arrangement of this nature, "the economic factors in the newspaper business are such that it is nearly impossible for two newspapers to operate in cities with less than half a million people."

Arthur B. Hanson, counsel for the American Newspaper Publishers Association, said in a recent letter to members the Tucson arrangement or one quite similar is used in at least 22 major U.S. cities. In an analysis of Hayden's bill, Hanson spoke of the newspapers' declining share of advertising revenues and mounting production costs. He noted that between 1910 and 1960, while the country's population more than doubled, the number of daily newspapers dropped from about 2,300 to less than 1,800.

He also said that in 1960, 61 cities had two or more competing dailies, compared with nearly 700 in 1910.

Hayden's bill provides that if a newspaper is failing, it may merge with another newspaper or enter into arrangements for certain joint operations without violating antitrust laws. A failing newspaper is defined in the measure as one "which, regardless of its ownership or affiliations, appears unlikely to remain or become a financially sound publication."

This definition has come under fire as vague, loose and open to abuse. Arguments have been advanced that through various accounting practices, a financially healthy newspaper could be made to appear to be failing.

Snake Escapes

DETROIT (AP) — If anyone spots a six-foot Boa Constrictor on Detroit's West Side, Roberta Ottman, 27, of Dearborn Heights is looking for it. She said the snake, a pet, slithered out of her car while it was parked Tuesday night.

Area Appalled by Bloomfield Atrocity

It would be hard to conceive of a more dastardly crime than that committed Monday night by a gang of four — three men and a woman — against an elderly West Bloomfield brother and sister.

On pretext of making an emergency phone call, the fiends gained admittance to the home of the victims, subdued and bound them, and methodically ransacked the house, making off with a safe and cash box containing a substantial sum of money.

But not before they bestially turned gunfire on their helpless prisoners, killing Edward E. De-Conick, a prominent businessman-farmer, and leaving for dead Kathleen DeConick.

Miss DeConick after freeing herself from her bonds was able to make her way to nearby quarters of farm workers, who summoned police.

Seldom has a community been so aroused by an act of violence termed by a township police official "the most vicious" in his experience, as it has by the West Bloomfield atrocity. An intensive manhunt, in which the FBI has joined, is on for the murderers, and a reward fund is taking shape.

The Pontiac Press as it has in the past led off in this latter direction with a pledge of $1,000.

It goes without saying that no human effort is to be spared in apprehending the perpetrators of a crime the foulness of which beggars credulity, and prescribing punishment for it as severe as the law permits.

Those guilty not only brutalized two estimable citizens but struck at the security of all respectable and law-abiding members of society.

Wimbledon Wins Athletic Uplift for U.S.

The decline of United States' prestige we hear so much about also laps over into the world of sports, which is an important ambassador of good will and an opinion molder.

While Uncle Sam's amateur athletes do well — and continue to break world records — in some areas, notably track and field and swimming, and have been impressive in golf competition with Britain, America has taken her lumps in other forms of athletic rivalry.

Recent examples include another mediocre finish in a world hockey tournament in Canada, fourth place in the World Basketball Tournament at Montevideo, a loss to Ecuador in Davis Cup tennis, and no "seeding" of any Americans in the prestigious Wimbledon tennis tourney for the first time since seeding was introduced in 1927.

Part of the blame for poor U.S. showings is the feud between groups that control amateur athletes, groups that mature rather, it seems, perpetuate their own power and jealousies than win.

Maybe that's why a young man named Charles Pasarell, a Puerto Rican representing the United States, should be loudly applauded for fooling the experts and upsetting the Wimbledon defending champion in the opening round. And by way of icing on the international tennis cake, three American girls celebrated Independence Day by knocking off English and Australian opponents to move into the semifinals today.

Wanted: Route Directions to Vietnam Peace Table

We've all heard the story of the rural character who was asked by a tourist for directions to a nearby town.

The character pondered deeply, then finally declared: "Mister there just ain't no way to get there from here!"

It is assumed that the traveler managed somehow to reach his destination.

If he did, he could be of inestimable service to his Country at a time when a feeling prevails that in Vietnam there just ain't no way to get from the battlefield to the peace table.

Maybe the unknown traveler could help solve that one, too. Will he step forward, please?

Foreign Policy at Turning Point

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — U.S. foreign policy is at a turning point although, like other things in American history, at the moment it seems more sensed than seen.

The New Deal is a good previous example of how this country, when it has to break with the past, must feel its way along. A new direction had to be found when the depression hit over 30 years ago.

It was learned only gradually that the government must take responsibility for the general welfare. All the social legislation since has been based on that concept.

When the United States got into World War II it seemed likely, but not certain, it would not at last shake off its ancient isolationism, something it did not do after World War I.

Foreign policy was laid down.

"OWN DESTINY" President Harry S. Truman did it with his doctrine that this country would support "free people who are resisting attempted subjugation," and trying to work out their "own destiny."

Truman could afford to be so sweeping at that time when, in a way, the United States was master of the world. It alone had the atomic bomb in 1947. But all that followed had its roots in the Truman Doctrine.

The United States became extremely cautious about knocking heads with the Soviet Union after Moscow developed its own hydrogen weapons. This was a two-way street. The Soviets became cautious about the United States, except for Nikita Khrushchev's one big goof when he tried to put missiles in Cuba.

A good example of this double caution was the way the United States and the Soviet Union pussy-footed around the crisis in the Middle East where, if they got directly involved, they would have been on opposite sides.

SORE CHAPTER But the sorest chapter in the Truman Doctrine — for Americans, at least — has been the Vietnam involvement.

For Americans it's bad enough to be in a war at all. But this is a totally frustrating war. When the United States barged into China's backyard in this war in Southeast Asia, the Chinese were no match, except in ground forces, for American military power.

But now they have had their hydrogen explosions and in a few years no doubt will have enough hydrogen bombs and missiles to risk a war with this country. The United States will have to be far more cautious than it was when it decided to go into Vietnam.

In time China will almost certainly feel about an American intrusion anywhere in the Asian area as this country would feel about Chinese intrusion in the American area. Thus a change in American foreign policy is inevitable.

And even in economic aid the policy is likely to become more selective, for although the United States has pumped out billions to help other countries — with a desire, of course, to keep them in the American camp — the results have not all been happy.

U.N. Suffers Defeat on Mideast

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union was reported in the headlines generally as having been "defeated" in the United Nations when its resolution endeavoring to blame the aggressors in the Middle East war was rejected by the U.N. General Assembly. But it was really the U.N. itself which suffered a severe defeat in the eyes of the world.

For the international organization, of which so much has been expected, failed to face up to the real issue in the Middle East dispute.

First it was essential that a verdict on the statement of the facts be submitted. Secondly, competent legal authorities should have been asked to state the obligations of each side under international law.

The world will not move toward more effective procedures to achieve peace until fact-finding in a disinterested way is achieved. Principles then can be applied which have universal support.

POLITICAL VERDICT To try to settle a dispute between rivals otherwise means only that their respective allies will line up also on opposite sides and, in the end, a political verdict is rendered.

It takes a two-thirds vote of the United Nations assembly to enact a resolution that is binding on the parties to a controversy. But none of the resolutions on the Middle East war obtained a two-thirds vote.

Many of the member states realized this would happen and cast their votes for or against one side or the other, knowing beforehand that eventually no resolution would be put into effect.

The Israeli-Arab quarrel could have been submitted to a fact-finding commission or a court of law in the first place to make an authoritative exposition of what had actually transpired.

RELEVANT FACTORS The threat to close the Gulf of Aqaba as well as the Suez Canal and the movement of Egyptian troops toward the Israeli border were relevant factors prior to the firing of the first shots on June 5.

Unless disputes of this kind are carefully analyzed and the truth is revealed to the whole world, the United Nations itself cannot make much progress in bringing about peace or in preventing wars.

It is a matter of regret that the United Nations has not conducted its activities in a way that could win widespread support.

The spectacle of a variety of resolutions being introduced by partisan groups is not a creditable one and is not calculated to enhance the prestige of the United Nations.

Nor is the behavior of the Soviet government since the "cease-fire" likely to be regarded throughout the world as helping the cause of peace.

The Soviets permitted their president, Nikolai Podgorny, to visit the Arab states and to promise more military aid.

His mission has been construed as one that could incite further hostilities.

The United Nations is only as strong as its most powerful members.

As long as the political influence exerted by the large countries on the smaller states is centered on building up factionalism and partisanship, the United Nations can hardly become the instrument of world peace which it was designed to be by its founders.

Viet Air War Puzzle Solved by Iron Brains

HICKAM AIR FORCE BASE, Hawaii — The gigantic jigsaw of the air war over Vietnam is assembled here at Hickam. It takes shape in the iron brains of an astonishing battery of electronic computers which keep track of every last unit, bolt and nut.

To the machines, it is not a puzzle. To human brains, even to top Air Force logisticians, it is stunning.

The Air Force's inventory for the war ranges from eight-engined B52 bombers to corn planters and chewing gum. The computers run a constant check on those tens of thousands of separate items.

The computers sound a warning, the equivalent of "all in" on a pin-ball machine, if any item is reduced to a preset level.

They keep tabs on every plane of every description now in use in the war and support of the war.

They know the type and number of every aircraft that has been grounded for repair, how long it sits on the ground, what's wrong with it, and where there's a spare part that will mend the damage and get the ship back into the fight.

If an F105 at a Thailand base can't fly because it needs a new brake shoe, and that base doesn't have a spare one, the computers are called on to remember where the nearest brake shoe of that type has been stored, the section of the depot where it is, what shelf it is on, what cargo aircraft is ready to carry it to the wounded bird.

It's never a case of "Button, button, who's got the button?" The computers know just where that button is, like God knows where his sparrows fall.

The computers know just where that button is, like God knows where his sparrows fall.

Night Baseball Games Spoil Mother's Evening

What's all this hogwash about night baseball games? A woman works hard all day and just when she gets the kids to bed and can relax and watch a little television, the ball game starts and her husband is glued to the game until it's time for them both to fall into bed.

This goes on every day of the week and when the weekend comes along, Saturdays and Sundays are full of kid stuff or sports.

Sports Fans Give Views on Baseball Teams

After seeing the White Sox play the Tigers over the weekend, one may wonder how such a puny hitting team could be leading the league. This American League is nothing more than a minor league any more. At present only six of the more than 280 players are hitting over .300. I'm in favor of a national league team coming to Detroit so we can again see some major league baseball.

GRUMPY

These people that pan the Tigers give me a pain. They're second. Isn't that good enough for now?

THREE CHEERS

The Tigers need new top management. The Red Wings have a bad season occasionally, but year after year they're a contender and often champion. The Lions have won the title and finished around the top most of the time. The Tigers haven't won a pennant for 20 years and won't win one in the next 20 unless there's better direction from the front office and the owners. Perhaps a complete housecleaning there would fix everything.

'Favor No New Foreign Aid Appropriation'

Because the U.S. faces a deficit which might run higher than $20 billion, the Congress is urged to make no new foreign aid appropriation for fiscal '68. Rather, such aid as might be vital and unavoidable should be financed with AID funds from prior years' authority. As of August 15, 1966, foreign aid unliquidated funds from prior years stood at $16.925 billion!

Free Speech Can Be a Mockery

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Free speech is a precious right which should be protected against encroachment. It is at the heart of our freedoms.

But some speeches and some written articles these days openly urge or suggest criminal acts. How these acts can be a comedy is a puzzle.

One wonders why these speakers and writers are not prosecuted.

It claims to have a total weekly distribution of 5,500 copies, including 5,000 to mail subscribers and 500 distributed free.

One issue of New Left Notes contains an article which suggests: "There are numerous ways of meeting up draft boards. Some are only harassment techniques, while others may be good for organizing."

"You have a right," says the New Left Notes article "to see the file your (draft) board has on you if you make an appointment. Under most circumstances, there is nothing to prevent you from absconding with all or part of your file or possibly inserting new data."

The New Left Notes article continues: "It might also be good to simply send your board a card saying, 'I appeal,' and leave it up to them to find out precisely what it is that you are appealing."

A beneficial side-effect of this form of harassment is that you cannot be drafted while anything relating to your draft status is on appeal."

At another point in the article the writer says: "It is possible to register people who do not exist... (You can get a photograph of a birth certificate for a deceased individual)... go to a draft board and register under a false name and address."

"The fun ensues when this mythical person does not respond to any mail and fails to report for a physical or induction. Ultimately, federal agents will spend much time attempting to track down people who do not exist."

But the New Left Notes writer is full of ideas... He says: "It is possible to fake a IV-F without using drugs to wreck yourself. You could go to a doctor and complain of ulcerous symptoms, (sickness after drinking alcohol, sickness if you don't eat, burning sensation if you do, etc.). He will tell you to come back for an X-ray."

"The night before the X-ray take some peanut butter, roll it into a ball 1/4-inch in diameter and leave it out to harden overnight. The next day, swallow it just a few minutes before the X-ray. It will show up in your stomach as a duodenal ulcer. At this point it shouldn't be too hard to get a letter from the doctor stating that you have this condition."

"At the physical itself, you could keep a straight pin on the inside of your shorts and prick your finger lightly when asked for a urine sample, so that a drop of blood becomes mixed with your urine, which would make it look very much like kidney trouble."

It's assumed that by now draft board members, doctors and medical examiners are aware of these tricks, so that they don't work. But that is not the point.

A man or woman who objects to the war in Vietnam has the right to criticize that war or to urge people to take legal action against it (like voting for men who oppose the war). But free speech becomes a mockery of freedom when men and women urge others to take specific criminal actions.

Junior Editors Quiz on LICHENS

QUESTION: Why is a lichen gray in color?

ANSWER: Lichens are remarkable interesting little plants and it will pay you to get a small magnifying glass, such as Fred is using in our drawing, and look closely at any lichens you may find.

Likely to be whitish or gray, they are quite different from other plants which are usually green. They do not have leaves, stems or roots, and often grow on rocks, where one wonders how they can get water or food.

A lichen is not just one plant — it is a combination of green algae, minute plants which can make food like other green plants can, and fungi, which have no green coloring matter, and live on other plants or animals.

In a lichen, the fungus on top (cross-section, upper right) absorbs moisture from the air, while the algae, under the fungus, makes the food. The green of the algae, showing faintly through the whitish fungus layer, makes the lichen look grayish green.

Lichens help make soil, because they secrete an acid which can break down the structure of rock. Although they don't have true leaves, many lichens have leaf-like extensions which are called thalli.

FTC Plans to Clamp Down on Headache Remedy Ads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission says accepting such advertising, the commission set Sept. 15 as the deadline for filing of written comments on its proposed rule. The FTC announcement of the proposed new rule specified no products, companies or advertisements. The commission estimated there are about 40 producers and 100 distributors of analgesic drugs.

Control yourself, the commission in effect told manufacturers of pain relievers Wednesday in proposing a new rule aimed at what it called "unfair and deceptive advertising practices." The FTC said ads are used to push sales on nonprescription pain-killers.

The commission implied the public is likely to swallow claims that one type of pain reliever works faster or is stronger even though, said the FTC, it appears the various brands are equally effective.

"It appears," said the commission, "that each of the various analgesic products now offered to the consuming public is effective to essentially the same degree as all other products supplying an equivalent quantity of an analgesic ingredient or combinations of ingredients."

COMMENT DEADLINE

Indicating it may have reached the end of its rope in reference does exist in the individual brand.

However, the pain-killer is offered, in self-proclaimed easy-to-take tablet form or otherwise, the advertising for it must "clearly and conspicuously" note the reason for its claims.

Short Run Takes Engineer 'Around World' 13 Times

MONOLITH, Calif. (AP) — Johnny Cole, engineer on the narrow-gauge Monolith Railway, tossed his hard hat in the air after finishing his 102,960th run on the three-mile line.

"Add 'em all up, this trip makes it an equivalent of 13 times around the world at the equator on this Toonerville Trolley for me," Cole said.

Cole has been engineer on the Monolith Railway since 1944. The 16-inch wide, single-track railroad — one of the few left in the United States — is the lifeline for the Portland Cement plant that employs 400 persons in Monolith.

For the past 22 years, Cole and a brakeman have been on duty alone. Two other engineers and a brakeman operate the train on the other two shifts.

It takes 20 minutes for the train to climb up the grade and Cole makes nine round trips a day, hauling limestone, clay and silica.

"What I like about this kind of railroading is I get to go home every night," said Cole Wednesday. He's a former Southern Pacific engineer.

Subsidies Continue for OCCEO Office and Bus Company

Referring frequently to the sorry state of municipal finances, city commissioners last night voted to continue subsidy payments to the American Transit Corp. and to pay the rent of the Oakland County Commission of Economic Opportunity "Action Center" office.

The commissioners split on both issues. The subsidy agreement with the city's bus company passed 5-2. The resolution to continue paying rent for the OCCEO office passed 4-3.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., who voted in favor of both proposals, said that he would be the first to introduce resolutions ending the agreements if Pontiac voters were adverse to providing the city more money.

He said new income will have to be generated for next year's budget through either an income tax or a hike in the property tax millage levy and predicted that a tax proposal election would be held in October.

Voting against the bus subsidy — up to $35,000 in a one-year period — were District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson and District 6 Commissioner Wesley J. Wood.

VOTE AGAINST RENT
Hudson, Wood and Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, District 2, voted against paying the rent — $800 per month — for the OCCEO office.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said the bus company was willing to continue the service in Pontiac under an agreement — to last one year — that provides for the subsidy.

The company, according to its figures, has lost $12,869 for the first five months of the year. The contract with the city can be terminated by either party on 30 days notice.

Hudson said that it is no longer possible to operate a municipal bus service without either federal or local subsidy. He said that if the subsidy were not paid the city would likely lose the service.

Hudson suggested that the service could still operate with a subsidy by raising rates. He criticized the management of the transit company stating that it provides service to areas where "people do not want to go."

"It could be the best thing that happened to the City of Pontiac if they did pull out," Hudson said, adding that this might serve to have other companies attempt to provide service.

His suggestion to raise rates was countered by Taylor and Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr., District 1. Taylor said rates were raised once in the past year and the number of passengers dropped off.

To raise the rates again would entail losing more passengers, he said.

CANT AFFORD FARES
Fowler said the rates are high enough and some families can not afford paying their children's bus fares as it is.

The lease on the action center at 7 W. Lawrence expired June 30. The new arrangement calls for the city to pay the rent — an indication that the local government is participating in the Poverty War — to the end of the year.

Planner Job in Family

City Commissioners last night decided that the City Planning Commission isn't complete without a Norberg.

They appointed Ralph V. Norberg of 282 W. Brooklyn to succeed his brother, Melvin S., who resigned last week.

Melvin indicated that he was moving from the city.

Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson, District 4, suggested the appointment of Ralph, 36.

Married and the father of three children, he was born in Pontiac and graduated from Pontiac Central High School.

Two Insurance Bids Rejected

Overriding the objection of District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, the City Commission last night agreed to reject two opened bids for car fleet and workmen's compensation insurance.

The commission voted 6-1 to follow recommendations made by the city manager and finance director to readvertise for new bids July 17.

Joseph A. Warren, city manager, said that because of new personnel unfamiliar with the proper procedure for municipal bid openings, two bids were opened last week while the city had arranged with other insurance agencies for a delayed bid opening.

Donald B. Kemp, representing Nationwide Insurance Co., the lowest of the two bidders, said his company would withdraw the low bid if the commission chose to set a new bid opening.

Warren said that because of the mistake "we have no alternative but to accept the bids."

He said the city may not receive anticipated bids and could be stuck with a contract costing several thousands more.

Warren said the city has the right to reject any and all bids received.

In other action the commission:

• Set a July 14 date for receiving bids on $1 million worth of loan notes to finance the R44 urban renewal project.

• Received notice that the Michigan Public Service Commission has ordered warning lights and bells at intersections of the Grand Trunk Railway and Lake and the railway at Branch.

• Set dates Aug. 7 for opening bids on $1.8 million worth of sewage revenue bonds for construction of the Galloway Creek Trunk sewer and a sewer to be constructed along Opdyke Road.

• Accepted from the Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit easements south of Featherstone to allow construction of the Galloway Creek sewer.

• Allowed Midwest Baptist Schools to spread over a three year period a sewer connection charge of $4,680 at two under-construction dormitories.

• Received notice that a hearing for appointment of costs for a relief drain in the area of Baldwin and Brooklyn will be held in the office of the county drain commissioner 10 a.m. July 19.

Estimated cost of the project is $180,000.

Congress Budget Cuts Won't Hit Mark

LSD 'Trips' Carry 28 Out of the Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1967 Congress may consider record high requests for new appropriations but at its current rate will fall considerably short of making record budget cuts. It already has acted in whole or in part on requests for $126.8 billion in new funds. An estimated $20 billion still is to be considered.

That would make a total of $147 billion over which Congress has control, in addition to about $15 billion in permanent appropriations such as debt interest over which it has little or no control.

Of the 15 money bills slated for consideration this year, 11 have passed the House, and 4 have cleared both branches and become law.

L.I.-PCT. CUT

Those enacted involved administration requests for $23.6 billion which were trimmed $284 million by Congress—a cut of 1.1 per cent.

The House has passed 11 bills for which requests totaled $126.8 billion. It cut them about $3 billion, or slightly less than 3 per cent.

If the Senate follows its normal pattern, some cuts made by the House will be restored. But even if the Senate goes along with the House on pending bills, the final budget cut for the year hardly is likely to reach the $5 billion goal set by members of the appropriations committee.

The current outlook is that the 1967 reduction will be in the neighborhood of $4 billion, or about 3 per cent. That would be only half of the per cent reduction voted by the 1963 Congress, which trimmed $6.5 billion from total requests for $110.3 billion, setting a modern record for cuts.

It would, however, beat the cuts of the last two years. The 1966 Congress lopped less than $1 billion from requests for $144.8 billion, while in 1965 $2.4 billion were cut from requests for $121.7 billion. Budget-cutting this year has been more difficult because requests for defense funds account for more than $83 billion of the over-all total—and with a war going on, defense appropriations are hard to trim.

Even so, the House cut the annual bill by $1.2 billion, a large part of which may be restored later by the Senate.

And the House, when it considered the bill, was told by its fiscal leaders that additional money probably would be needed for defense before this year, the Navy disclosed.

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least 28 sailors so far this year have taken LSD "trips" that carried them out of the service, says the Navy.

Use of drugs other than the hallucinatory LSD by sailors also shows an increase through the first five months of this year, the Navy disclosed.

At Wednesday in response to questions. Since February, said a Navy spokesman, 187 sailors have received administrative discharges for wrongful possession or use of drugs. That compares with 176 Navy men who received the same type discharge—nonpunitive but not honorable—throughout 1966.

The Navy provided no figures on LSD cases in 1966, but said 28 cases thus far this year involve the so-called consciousness-expanding drug.

'GM Unable to Show Nader Was in Plot'

NEW YORK (AP) — A State Supreme Court referee ruled Wednesday that General Motors Corp. had "failed to establish any collusion or any other improper arrangement" between automobile safety critic Ralph Nader and Vincent Gillen, formerly an investigator for the company.

Last March Justice Saul S. Streib named Seymour Bieber as referee to take testimony on GM's claim that Nader's $100,000 defamation suit against Gillen was designed by the auto critic to obtain information which he could not otherwise get legally.

Nader has pending a $28-million action for invasion of privacy against GM, Gillen and others.

Simon H. Rifkind, counsel for the motor firm, had charged that Nader and Gillen were "allies in an attempt to mislead General Motors." He also charged last March that the Gillen suit was a "sweetheart lawsuit" and a very convenient arrangement for discovery of information.

DETAILS DISCLOSED

Details of the referee's report were disclosed when Stuart M. Speiser, attorney for Nader, moved to have it confirmed by Streib.

Bieber said he would recommend that the court find GM had failed to establish any collusion or other improper arrangement in institution of the defamation suit against Gillen.

He said "it is fundamental that Nader has the right to seek vindication, in the courts of his choice, of his name and business reputation. Obviously, for such right to be effective, he must be free to exercise it without interference from General Motors in matters in which it has no legal interest, such as the alleged libel by Gillen alone."

Bieber said GM's allegations were "based purely on suspicion, surmise and conjecture. The fact that Gillen volunteered information, gave long answers and, indeed, was often unduly loquacious on his deposition," was not proof of collusion, he said.

The record is barren of any meaningful proof of contact between Nader, Gillen or their attorneys before the suit was started last Dec. 9, the referee said.

Bieber said he would not recommend consolidation of the two suits.

Consumers Power

It's more than six months until the next Pontiac Press Cooking School. But home economists at Consumers Power Company test recipes all year long for the school. Taking the place of Barbara Zimmerman as senior home economist is Sarah Bayard (left) who comes from Jackson. Harriet Cannon (right) continues in her position. Besides the quick sesame tea bread shown in both pictures, cooking school recipes tested were a frozen dessert, chocolate cake and meat loaf with cheese.

Area Red Cross Lady Home From Vietnam

By JEANNE NELSON

Two and a half years in the Clubmobile program of the American Red Cross has opened up a number of new vistas for Cecille Dumbrique of Loon Lake Shore.

This dark-haired 29-year-old former unit director of recreation in DaNang has served 14 months in Vietnam.

Her newest assignment for the Red Cross takes her to Washington, D.C. for the next six months. She will be training new batches of recreational workers who will be replacements.

BEGINNING

Her adventurous career with the Red Cross began a few years ago just after she had finished a two-and-a-half-year teaching post at DePauw University.

The first assignment was Korea. With no permanent recreational building facilities, much of her work entailed travel. Any form of transportation was acceptable, including helicopter and jeep.

"In DaNang," she tells us, "permanent facilities help ease the burden." "Even a Christmas tree was possible this year and a makeshift fireplace was an added touch of the real thing."

"Some of the men in the Third Marine Corps Amphibious Base, where the Red Cross staffers are stationed, had built the fireplace and had a wonderful time decorating the tree."

When she spoke of the difficulties encountered by the female staff, she mentioned the heat which sometimes rises to 135 degrees.

"We couldn't wear hose, both for the sake of health and comfort, and it was hard to feel very pert in our uniforms during these times.

MUCH DISCOMFORT

"Then too," she went on, "while the monsoon season was on, it was madness to dream of sleeping without thick socks and layers of clothing. Everything was so damp." Nothing would dry and our clothing always felt uncomfortable."

Back home and when she leaves today for Washington she wears the regular uniform which is a short sleeved jacket and skirt of blue and white cord.

Her other uniforms are more practical for the combat zones. One is a cellophane outfit and the other, a straight button-down dress.

A perky cat is supposed to balance on top of a neat hairdo (which in Vietnam is a real trial).

During the past year, the American Red Cross has upped its Vietnam staff to 300 which is a 70 per cent increase since the conflict began.

The young women assigned to overseas posts in the Clubmobile unit are "on loan" to the national office from area divisions of the organization.

Cecille actually belongs to the Midwest Area with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo. The Clubmobile unit only operates outside the United States.

For other young women with college degrees, single and between 21-24, Cecille recommends an overseas post with the Red Cross.

"Being able to bring a smile to a weary face, share a cup of coffee with a lonely one, and bring a little fun into the free few hours of these fighting men is very rewarding."

Cecille Dumbrique of Loon Lake Shore shares her pictures of Vietnam with Kenneth Winter, regional manager of the Southeastern Michigan chapter, American Red Cross. Cecille has just returned from DaNang where she was recreational director of her Red Cross unit based there.

Divorce Law Confuses Youngster-- He's Lost in a Grown-Up World

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old and have a problem. My mother and father are getting a divorce.

My mother has a lawyer to fight for her rights, and my daddy has a lawyer to fight for his rights. Why don't us kids have lawyers to fight for our rights?

The court says you have to live with your mother or your father. I want to live with both of them, but nobody asks me anything. What can I do?

ABBY

DEAR RICHARD: Your letter eloquently expresses the hurt felt by many children when their parents divorce. Your "rights," however, do not include forcing your parents to live together whether they like it or not.

I don't know what the circumstances are in this case, Richard, but most parents don't like dividing their families any more than it likes to be divided, but they have apparently decided that this decision is the best for all concerned.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a neighbor who gets up bright and early on Sunday morning to cut his grass with a power lawn mower? I once mentioned (kiddingly) that he shouldn't "work" on Sunday. He said it wasn't "work," it was exercise.

SLEEP RUINED DEAR RUINED: Tell him (and this time NOT kiddingly) that he is "disturbing the peace." (This grim phrase could throw a scare into him.)

P.S. I think anyone who uses a power lawn mower before noon on Sunday should be forced to shave with it.

DEAR ABBY: Is there any way to find out if a person who was born in another country and claims to be an American citizen REALLY is a citizen? He has lived in this town for about 25 years.

I don't want that person to know that I am trying to find out, but I am willing to spend up to $100 for this information. Sign me,

"GOOD REASONS"

DEAR "GOOD": Your local bureau of immigration and naturalization can provide you with the information you seek at no cost. But be prepared to divulge the reasons for your inquiry. It is up to the bureau chief to decide whether your "reasons" are "good" enough.

DEAR ABBY: We are a one-car family, so my mother drives my father to a corner about two miles from home, and a fellow employee picks him up there and gives him a ride to work.

Dad is dropped at that same corner every evening between 4:30 and 5:30 (the time varies), then he calls home for someone to drive out and pick him up. He rings the house, lets the phone ring twice, and then he hangs up and saves the dime.

It seems that everyone we ever knew calls our house between 4:30 to 5:30.

Area Couples Entertain the Edward A. Christies

The Edward A. Christies of Crystal Falls, Ill. with daughter Jane Martin were houseguests of Dr. and Mrs. Edward A. Christie of Bloomfield Hills over the holiday weekend. They are now visiting in the Rochester home of the M. J. Swagarty.

When mom answers, she can't hang up until she's told the caller all the latest news.

My father gets mad because the line is busy, gives up, and walks home. And naturally he's in a bad mood all evening. How can I, a teen-age daughter, keep peace in the family?

NO JOKE

DEAR NO: Stand phone guard. When it rings after 4:30, YOU answer it, and tell the caller you are expecting an important call, and to please call back after 5:30.

Troubled? Write to Abby, The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P. O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P. O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Meadow Brook Music on Radio

The concerts of the Meadow Brook School of Music, which for the past two summers have been enjoyed by audiences at Oakland University, this year are being carried to homes throughout lower Michigan via WKAR.

The Michigan State University radio stations, in cooperation with the young school which already has made its mark on the music world, is inaugurating a series of 13 concert broadcasts entitled "Music from Meadow Brook."

Featuring distinguished faculty members and the famed Meadow Brook Orchestra, the series began June 26 with a concert of Medieval French music performed by the New York Pro Musica.

Delayed broadcasts of the student Meadow Brook Orchestra concerts are scheduled on both FM and AM (870 kc) for 2 p.m. on six successive Sundays, beginning July 8.

Women Fail
Cancer Test

NEW YORK (WMNS)—One third of all American women over 20 years of age — 20,000,000 out of a total of 60,000,000 — have never had a Pap test, a simple test to detect uterine cancer. This is the dismal news from the American Cancer Society which says that women fail to get the test either out of ignorance, negligence or fear of cancer.

Of the 20 million women never tested, 13 million know about the test and 7 million have never heard of it. There is a mistaken notion that young women don't get uterine cancer.

This is not true, says the cancer society. And one thing is sure. The Pap test can detect uterine cancer at the earliest stage of development.

A volunteer who plays the organ is sought.

A hospital in the Pontiac area is looking for a volunteer organist who will play for the patients each week. The organ is on wheels and can be moved anywhere in the building.

Days and hours are up to the individual. Anyone interested may contact the Oakland County Volunteer Bureau in Birmingham.

Opening the program will be "An Evening with Chaplin" featuring four famous shorts — "The Cure," "The Rink," "Easy Street," "The Floorwalker."

The schedule for the remaining programs is:

July 14 "Genevieve" with Kay Kendall and an unusual automobile (1933)

July 21 "Kind Hearts and Coronets" with Alec Guinness playing eight parts (1948)

July 28 "Candide" A modern version of Voltaire's satire (1960)

August 4 "Nothing but the Best" with Alan Bates and much social comment (1964)

August 11 "The Railroad" and "Buster Keaton Rides Again" a National Film Board of Canada documentary, shows Keaton at work on The Railroad, a silent film comedy made in 1965. The Railroad will be shown first.

For UCAE students there is no charge for admission: for other students admission is 75c per film or $3 for the series. For all others admission is $1 per film or $4 for the series.

DENVER, Colo. (U) — After an exciting career that included more than 500 parachute jumps and 15 years as a bookkeeper for the Colorado Treasury Department, Mrs. Faye L. Rogers is retiring at 60 and looking forward to being "just a plain housewife."

As a girl she worked as a bookkeeper when a flying circus came to town. She heard that the show's regular parachute jumper was in the hospital with a broken back and volunteered to take her place. She parachuted in air shows all over the nation, making her last jump in 1946. Then she went back to bookkeeping.

Elizabeth Brinker became the bride in a Friday evening ceremony of L-Cpl. James Don-Daschio Burns Jr.

Gloria Lee Spann was maid of honor for the bride who wore a gown of silk organza and lace over taffeta.

She carried white carnations centered by an orchid. Her veil of illusion was secured by organza petals and lace.

Bridesmaids at the evening rite in Newman AME Church were Patricia Long, Karen Shaw, Sandra LaValle and Joan Russell. Junior attendants were Millicent and Thya Shaw.

The bride's sister Joann was flower girl with Kim Thompson.

L-Cpl. Elais Tolbert was best man. Ushers were Pfc. Charles Long II, Charles Stephens, Earl Thompson, Richard Brinker (brother of the bride) and junior ushers Larry and Dennis Brinker.

Parents of the couple, who later received guests in the Baldwin Avenue Union Hall, are Mr. and Mrs. Audie Lee Brinker of Ferry Avenue and Mrs. Geraldine Bryant of Los Angeles, Calif.

A DIAMOND FROM ROSE IS LIKE MONEY IN THE BANK...*it even earns interest

When you purchase a diamond from Rose, you gain more than the pleasure of owning a fine stone. You receive our written guarantee that your investment will constantly increase in value: up to a full 15% more than the original price you paid.

On anniversary date of your purchase, you will know that your Rose diamond has increased in value 3%. At the end of five years, your diamond investment will have earned a full 15% more than the original price (not including the tax). At this time, you may turn your 15% dividend into an exchange for a larger diamond.

An extraordinary offer? Not really. It simply underscores the fact that a Rose diamond is a sound investment, a trustworthy investment. We are very proud of the quality of diamonds we sell, and of the good values they represent.

The purchase of any diamond from Rose automatically registers you as a member of our exclusive Diamond Investment Club. Membership, by the way, also includes free insurance, and free professional cleaning and polishing twice a year.

If you're contemplating the purchase of a diamond, remember this: since you probably don't know diamonds, know your jeweler. At Rose, every diamond is fastidiously graded for clarity, color, cutting, size and proportion. And at Rose your diamond investment is backed by a guarantee that assures you it's not just a sound value when you buy it, but an investment that constantly increases in value as you own and enjoy it.

Why Grow Old?

JOSEPHINE LOHMAN

Q. Can you please print an exercise or something to improve the sagging muscles of the jawline? I am 5 feet 7 and weigh 138 and am past 50. This is my main problem. I am a secretary and housewife, and my appearance is important to me.

A. Exercise can help. Also, be careful about your facial expressions. Women who have the habit of pulling the corners of their mouth down encourage this condition. Even women with happy dispositions sometimes have this habit, when considering some problem or just as a facial grimace expressing surprise, ridicule, or some other emotion.

Keep the corners of the mouth up. You will feel happier and look younger. Of course, overweight can add weight to this problem, but this is certainly not true in your case.

Do the following exercise daily. Sit in front of a mirror. Lift the right corner of your mouth upward toward your ear, slowly, in five small movements. Hold while you count to six. Return mouth to normal position in five small controlled movements. Do this five times. Then lift the left corner of your mouth in the same exercise five times. Return.

Q. There is something I am puzzled about. Do real friends tell you over and over about uncomplimentary things they have heard said about you? I am confused because the closest friend I have is always doing this. I feel sure that she loves me, and she always says she is telling me for my own good, so I won't trust people as friends who really aren't.

I am quite popular and am surprised by the things she tells me. I thought I had a lot of friends. I asked my father what he thought and he said, definitely, no real friend does this. He says she is probably jealous of my popularity, to forget what she tells me, enjoy her company, make no definite break, but to mark her off as the friend I had thought she was.

A. Congratulations on having such a wise father. I agree with him wholeheartedly. She probably does love you as much as she is capable of loving anyone, but as your father suggested, she is probably jealous of your popularity.

A friend does not knock your ego down. The real test of friendship is whether or not the friend is concerned and around when you need friends most. I doubt that she will be one of those. Do not let her have any influence on your estimate of yourself or the many other friends you have.

New Synthetics Inspire More Home Sewing

Sudable fabrics for hot weather wearables are beautiful and diverse enough to inspire myriad of home sewing. The popular wet look is represented by an India Madras nylon taffeta with vinyl surface which can be sponged with soap or detergent suds to remove casual soil. General washing by machine or hand is safe in cool water.

A realistic leather-like fabric, with a flat cotton backing and suede-like surface, is porous enough for all-season comfort. Because its synthetic fiber surface is laid-on and cured at a high temperature, this "cultivated" suede is both waterproof and machine-washable.

Another unusual "with it" fabric for washable apparel—even cool summer draperies—shows bits of lustrous patent leather applied to sheer white rayon by a special flocking process.

WARNER - WILLIAMS

Faith Baptist Church was the setting for recent evening vows and reception for Becky Lou Williams and Michael Erwin Warner. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Williams of Lamson Street and the Forrest Warners of Oakcliff Street. The bride wore a gown of white Rochelle lace over taffeta, accented by a chapel length veil. Sharing duties as honor attendant were Mrs. Larry Sheffield and Brenda Vismiski. Attendees were Mrs. George Justice and Patricia Delke. Dawn Williams was flower girl. Donald Warner was best man. Ushers were Thomas Warner, Todd Williams and David Warner. Cori Williams was ring bearer. The couple is honeymooning in northern Michigan.

Oil Will Soften Glued-on Labels

To remove stuck paper from a fine polished wood surface, apply a coat of olive or salad oil on the paper, and then after it has softened for a few moments, rub it off with a soft, clean cloth. This removes all of the paper without marring or scratching the surface. Continue the rubbing until all the oil is taken up from the surface of the wood. Then give it a final polishing with a good furniture polishing cloth.

Birkelbaw - Waldrup

An afternoon ceremony Saturday in Faith Baptist Church, joined Tommye Sonja Waldrup and Pfc. Randy Lee Birkelbaw in marriage. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max H. Waldrup chose a gown of white organza and lace and carried a lavender orchid encircled with ivy and lily of the valley. Sharon Moon was maid of honor. Best man was Gary Birkelbaw, the bridegroom's brother. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. John J. Birkelbaw of Plymouth. Ushers were Ronald Waldrup, the bride's brother, and Larry Birkelbaw. A wedding trip to Ohio followed the reception in the Drayton Plains VFW Hall.

The Bonneville Junior Bridge Club will meet Friday at 7:45 p.m. in The Pontiac Mall. All beginning bridge players may attend.

Country Club Is Chosen for Reception

A reception in the Pontiac Country Club followed Saturday vows in All Saints Episcopal Church for the Jeffrey K. Rogers (nee Rhonda Anne Trzos). Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Trzos Jr. of Gateway Drive and Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Rogers of Milwaukee, Wis.

An overlay of lace over taffeta fashioned a gown for the bride who completed her ensemble with a crown headpiece which secured her veil of illusion. She carried Gardenias and Stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Wm. Todd with bridesmaids, Mrs. Larry Rogers, Cindy Rogers and flower girl, Katherine Trzos.

Collin Leach stood as best man with usher, corps, Anthony Trzos and Steve and Larry Rogers.

The newly weds will reside in Ypsilanti.

Pool Galas Set for Alum Group

The Alvin Clarks and the Robert Thomadsens of Wing Lake Road will be hosts to North Suburban Alpha Gamma Delta alumnae and their husbands.

A July 15 swimming party and supper are planned at the two homes. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hatch, Royal Oak, have charge of the evening's program.

Little Dribblers' Clothes-Savers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Plastic coverall aprons for little dribblers are easy to make by machine and easy to keep clean.

The Cleanliness Bureau gives these directions: use cotton thread, long stitches, loose tension, and colored bias binding edging. These over-size bibs can be suds-sponged on both sides, and also can be submerged in soap or detergent suds for over-all washing.

Recently graduated from Henry Ford Hospital School of Nursing is Sandra Kay Bragen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle E. Bragen of Auburn Road, Pontiac Township. She will join the staff of Henry Ford Hospital.

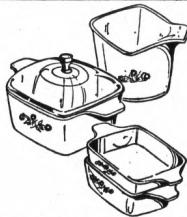

Bleach Yellow Heels

Have you ever tried squeezing a lemon into a basin of soapsuds for your foot bath? The lemon juice acts as a bleach, so follow the suds-and-lemon routine for a week if your feet show yellow stains around calluses or heels.

Miss Ferguson Speaks Vows in Recent Rites

Saturday evening vows at Stone Baptist Church were exchanged by Mr. and Mrs. John Gilbert Lafnear IV (nee Caroline Jo Ferguson).

The bride wore a bouffant gown of lace and carried white carnations with red sweetheart roses.

Her sister Cathy Ann was honor attendant with bridesmaids Vicki and Sharon Allen and flower girl Louise Lafnear.

Best man was James Lafnear with Jerry and Joseph Lafnear as ushers, all brothers of the bridegroom.

Parents of the couple are the Frederick J. Fergusons of Westview Road, Independence Township and Mr. and Mrs. John Gilbert Lafnear III of East Strathmore Street.

To Clean Cracks

To clean the very edge of a mirror or to clean the dirt out of those hard to get at ridges in nickel trim, wet a chamois in rich detergent suds. Wring it well, then insert in a fold of it a match stick or a paring knife, using this point for routing dirt from the close corners or creases.

With These Styles---Who Needs LSD?

By BETTY CANARY

The straight-backed chair posture went out when the mini came in and I think a brand new medical problem is coming up as a direct result of this. I wonder if the medical profession is aware of it.

The thing is, I am afraid women are going to get premature dowagers' humps caused by bending over constantly to grab their heels when they are seated.

I want to say right here that I am not anti-mini. I think a few of the teen-agers I have seen wearing them look darling.

The key word is "few." American women used to be considered the girls with the gorgeous gams and just look at our young girls. Very few contenders for the Miss Pre-tylegs title.

I don't know why this is, but if you take a look around at the swimming pool you will find the pretty legs belong to the mothers. The daughters all seem to either have stems a la Twiggy or great, fat, round, elephant legs. The word "limb" belongs to the mothers. Two or trunk fits the young ones.

I think they should take a tip from the songwriters. After all, the message is watching the girls go BY. Nobody seems to want to go after them.

NO IMPROVEMENT

I don't know where all the funny legs are coming from but I do know the new fashions in shoes and stockings don't help things. White stockings, like white anything, makes one look bigger. And, the sagging knees and ankles of lights (necessary if wearing minis) add nothing to the contour of the calf. Then, there is fishnet hosiery. Fishnet is very big this year. I am convinced this is the result of a designer's dilemma. There he was, see, with nothing left in the loft except an old mesh onion bag and voila!

As far as shoes go (and they have gone pretty far) I hate to complain about them. I have been so happy about having the opportunity to buy shoes I can wear without filing my feet to a point that I really hate to mention the new ones now in the stores bear a delicate look faintly reminiscent of Frankenstein's boots.

We can all wear sandals during the summer, though, and if you want to leave off stockings there are all sorts of new leg makeup in striking shades of bright green, purple and blue.

I don't think this is quite as effective with a simple little shift as it is if you go all the way. You have to wear a plastic mini and one of the new tops with electric lights flashing.

A necessary accessory is a battery pack snugly hitched onto one hip by an adjustable chain belt. With this costume who needs LSD? Baby, you're a walking freakout.

An open house in honor of the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George Grogan, of South Shirley Street will be held in their home Sunday from 2 until 6 p.m. The affair will be hosted by their sons, Paul, of Marion, Ind., and Louis, of Pontiac. The couple were married in Pontiac, July 11, 1917. They have 10 grandchildren.

Let Camper Discard His Dressy Togs

A discarded single drape makes a perfect camp bedspread. If you don't have one, I'm sure one of your friends can help you out. Save on those laundry bills at camp by sending clothes that need no ironing! Use a marking pen for all clothes; this is the quickest possible method of marking. The press-on tape markers often come off in the laundry.

Don't frustrate your child by trying to make him or her the best dressed child in camp. This is one time the mothers won't be comparing. Children can have a much better time if they don't have to worry about tearing a garment or getting it soiled. (They might even get rid of a few of their inhibitions by rebelling against that well-groomed look). Besides, friendships between children aren't based on that polished look. They're more apt to like each other because they look "all-boy" or all tomboy!

Send along some real "grundy" clothes for mud hikes. Also, an assortment of odds and ends that they can use for costume night.

Most important, pile all of their clothes on a bed in stacks and then let your camper pack his or her own clothes. Last but not least, write your camper a few words almost every day. They all experience loneliness for home, no matter how great the camp is!

Hand Clean Clothes Line

To clean soft, smog, and dirt accumulations from wire clotheslines, sprinkle a generous amount of table salt on a damp cloth. Fold the cloth in the palm of the hand. Close hand and cloth around wire. Scour with a sliding back and forth motion of hand and wrist as you walk along under the line.

Lengthy Involvement

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A court attorney was questioning Mrs. Ralph Stone for possible jury duty and asked "if she had ever come in contact with any police." She replied that she had.

"In what way?" the court attorney asked.

"I've been married to one for 34 years," she replied.

Preschooler Needs Drive to Succeed

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
University of Southern California

Successful pupils have at least one trait in common—they try. Only when a teacher receives cooperation from children can she help them learn up to the limit of their natural ability.

Children of primary age look more to their parents than to teachers or other children for approval.

Behavior develops from the attitudes expressed by parents towards their children and their expectations for proper behavior. This is especially true of the drive to succeed in school.

The child who has no drive to succeed presents the teacher with an almost impossible task.

She must control his behavior, try to motivate him, give him more than the normal amount of supervision in his work and still try to meet the needs of the other children in the class.

If a child plans to act in a certain way he is quite likely to follow through. Parents should make sure their children understand what is expected of them and how they should go about fulfilling these expectations.

SMALL SUCCESSES

In preschool years parents can help children develop plans for action in work and play that lead to one small success after another. In this way a general drive to succeed is developed.

Mack lacked this preschool training. Through the first three grades in school he was aggressive on the playground, often annoying others rather than entering games.

In the classroom he fiddled constantly, was inattentive, and he teased and laughed at mistakes made by other children in the class.

It was little wonder that in the third grade he was a poor reader and a poor speller, careless in working math problems and weak in math reasoning. His lack of drive to succeed was evident in his every activity.

Mack's parents were called in by the school counselor and a cooperative plan of action devised.

Each day Mack's mother had a quiet talk with Mack about the events of the school day, showing personal interest in how he had succeeded in specific classes and on the playground.

Each day she reinforced the idea that he could succeed if he tried; that his parents expected him to succeed and that his success both in school work and in learning to be have properly was a matter of concern.

At school both in the classroom and on the playground teachers called him by name and made him feel that he was an important individual whose cooperation and efforts were not only expected but were valued. The results were immediate and astonishing.

Mack has now completed his junior high school, with high grades. He was happy in school, well-liked by his teachers and president of the student body in his last year of junior high school.

I cite this as an example of need for preschool training, since the drive to succeed and the needed ego strength could have been established in Mack's preschool years more easily than at the later time.

Israeli Seaman Tells of Attack on Liberty

(EDITOR'S NOTE — On the morning of June 8 — the fourth day of the Arab-Israeli war — the U.S. Navy communications ship Liberty was lying off the Egyptian coast when it was attacked by Israeli jets and torpedo boats. Thirty-four U.S. seamen were killed and about 75 injured. An Israeli naval reservist, Micha Limor, was aboard one of the torpedo boats that attacked the Liberty. He tells the graphic details in this story written especially for the Associated Press.)

By MICHA LIMOR
Written for the Associated Press

TEL AVIV (AP) — The torpedoes were ready for firing when our three Israeli torpedo boats zeroed in on the gray ship moving slowly on a southeasterly course off El Arish.

At that tense moment, not one of us on those torpedo boats could have suspected that this was the beginning of an incident which was to cause a long drawn-out international wrangle.

On June 8, the sun was already high in the sky when we received notification of an unidentified sailing vessel some 12 miles off the El Arish coast, suspected of being an enemy craft.

MOVING OUT
Within moments, the face of our torpedo boat changed. Sailors took their positions, engines were revved up and in five minutes we were moving out in formation, torpedo boat after torpedo boat, toward the deep sea.

We spotted the objective once on the radar screen. She was moving on a steady course, southeast at about 10 knots. We sailed toward the objective at an increased speed, looking at her through binoculars in an effort to identify the vessel.

Two of our planes flew over our heads a few minutes afterward. We saw them circle the ship several times, and then dive into the attack.

They spat two rockets into the gray ship, and plumes of smoke rose from her. Then the two jets headed away toward the coast.

WEIRD ANTENNA
About 2,000 yards from the ship, a strange spectacle met our eyes. The high masts and the many weird antenna showed that this was a warship. The side of the vessel was blotted out by smoke, and apart from three numbers along her side, which meant nothing to us, we could not discern a thing.

We could see no flag on the mast, nor was anyone to be seen on the decks and bridge.

TRIED TO CONTACT
For seamen, this can mean only two things: It was either a ghost ship or an enemy ship. To us — who do not believe in ghosts — it was clear that this was the enemy.

We spent several minutes trying to contact the ship and demanding identification. We tried by radio and by helicopter, in accordance with internationally accepted methods. But she gave no answer. It also seemed that she had managed to control the fires and continued on a stable course.

It was decided to pass by her in battle formation and demand identification by firing across her bow. So we moved past at a tremendous speed, firing across the empty bridge and the bow. Suddenly a sailor appeared in view and started firing at us with a heavy machine gun from the bridge. We took the challenge and directed cannon against him. A moment later he fell, together with the machine gun.

Thus there was no doubt that we were faced by the enemy. The prolonged refusal to identify herself, the absence of any flag, the shooting at us, and above all the weird contraptions on the ship left us without doubt.

We wanted to make the ship surrender without sinking her. Once again we circled the vessel in battle formation, firing again and again. This had no effect. No one appeared. No one reacted. The shells caused little damage to the hull and the ship proceeded on its way.

You could almost hear the men's teeth grinding aboard our boat. Nothing can annoy a torpedo boat crew more than being completely ignored. The order was given to prepare for a torpedo attack.

We drew up along the left side of the boat and advanced at full battle speed. Just as in dozens of training exercises we reached the right angle and range — and let go.

We thought only a miracle would save the ship. One of the torpedoes hit the boat amidships. There followed an enormous explosion and a huge water spout.

And then fires broke out — the boat leaned sideways as if about to sink. We waited for survivors as is customary for seamen — whether friend or enemy. But no one appeared on deck.

Suddenly something fell into the sea. One of our formation approached and picking it up from the waters found it to be a rubber lifeboat with the lettering "U.S. Navy."

That was the very first sign of identification.

A moment later there arrived on the scene the helicopter that was to have picked up prisoners. He hovered over the boat and then signaled us: "They are raising the American flag."

State Boy Third in Sawyer Fete

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP)—Amateur artist Richard C. Teachout of Grand Rapids has to hand it to his son, Mark, 13, a whiz with a whitewash paintbrush.

The elder Teachout paints in several media but his son has taken third place in the national Tom Sawyer Day fence-painting contest. Mark was invited to participate in the contest held in Mark Twain's home town after visitors from Hannibal saw him perform as Tom Sawyer in a play in Grand Rapids.

'Hollywood on the Hudson'

Film Making in NY Increasing

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The camera focuses on the marquee sign of a grocery market at Broadway and 90th Street: "We are Proud of Our Boneless Smoked Ham."

Then the shot pans down to the figures of Jack Lemmon and Walter Matthau, strolling down Broadway in animated conversation. It is midnight, and they are shooting final scenes for "The Odd Couple."

"Hey, Walter!" shouts a heavy-set woman who is standing between two parked cars. "Remember me? I'm your second cousin, once removed."

"Hi ya, honey," Matthau answers with a sour grin. He continues rehearsing the scene with costar Lemmon.

CROWD GATHERS
A crowd forms on the sidewalk, and they are gently urged out of camera range by city policemen with nightsticks. A grizzled older in overcoats of ancient tweed totters out of a tavern and demands, "Wha's goin' on here?"

"They're just shooting a movie," says an affable young policeman, who directs the drunk on his unsure way.

Within an hour, the Paramount company has finished the complicated scene and moves to another Manhattan location. Such is the facility with which film crews can operate in New York since Mayor John F. Lindsay proclaimed this city to be "Hollywood on the Hudson."

"Wasn't ever so. Until a year ago, film makers returned from New York locations with horrendous tales of unruly crowds, itchy-palmed police and civic officials, and movie unionists who demanded triple pay for indifferent work. The busy new mayor gave the complaints his attention. He drew promises of cooperation from unions and cut red tape so producers needed only a single permit to film on city streets. He also promised adequate police protection for the filmsters.

Lindsay's campaign appears to have produced results. In his recent review of accomplishments in 1966, the mayor cited a 100 per cent increase in the number of films shot here and claimed a $20-million expenditure for goods and services by the movie companies. The record is likely to be even better this year: 25 features have already been shot here.

"Welcome!" said a recent Macy's ad in The New York Times. "The movie makers are back where movies began. In New York." The ad's special welcome was for "The Odd Couple" and four other Paramount films that will location here this summer.

There are still murmurs of discontent from film makers. The "Madigan" company starring Henry Fonda and Richard Widmark went back to California with accounts of hoiganism by street gangs. The company shot in upper Manhattan.

'NO TROUBLE'

"We stay out of the tough areas," said producer Howard Koch of "The Odd Couple." "We haven't had a bit of trouble."

Said the film's director, Gene Sachs: "The situation is much better than when I was here last fall shooting 'Barefoot in the Park.' We couldn't get enough police to handle the crowds then. Now we can get all we need."

Theodore J. Flicker, who has been directing James Coburn in "T.P.A." here, had praise for the police help: "They are young, bright and polite — not like the cops I knew when I was a kid in New York. Not one has his hand out. And they know just how to handle the crowds."

Producer-Director George Seaton is a veteran of New York filming, having made such films as "Miracle on 34th Street," "Anything Can Happen," "Country Girl" and "The Rat Patrol."

LINDSAY'S COOPERATION
"The cooperation from Lindsay has been simply great," said the director. "I even asked him if we could shoot in City Hall, and he gave it to us. In fact, I asked for his own office, and he worked at Gracie Mansion that day."

Seaton added that one factor prevents Lindsay's dream of a Hollywood on the Hudson from becoming a reality: lack of studio facilities.

"We had 23 days of exteriors, and we needed indoor sets when the weather was bad," he said. "The only studio we could find was a hall that had once been used for bar mitzvahs and weddings. The ceiling was 15 feet high, and every light had to be adjusted by a man climbing a ladder."

'March of Patriotism' Greeted by McDonald

By REP. JACK McDONALD
Mobs raging through the streets, marches that burst into full-scale riots, violence in the name of justice — the long, hot summer is upon us. And instead of preparing for picnics, we must brace ourselves for Vietnam.

No one denies the right of all Americans to express either their assent or dissent. As I have said on many occasions, it is our most cherished right. And certainly, the right to express one's opinion includes the right to join with those of like mind to physically demonstrate.

But, rights presuppose duties. And the right to demonstrate carries with it the equally compelling duty that the demonstration be peaceful.

Last week two incidents occurred which pleased me and which make my point. The first involves four high school students. They are Negro. They are from Atlanta, Ga. And to use interstate communications for the purpose of inciting a riot, or even attempting to incite a riot, these young lads demonstrated their belief in America by walking from Atlanta to Washington.

They labeled their journey a "March of Patriotism" and carried with them an American flag. They came to the Capitol to demonstrate their support for our country and our efforts in Vietnam.

And I can assure you that the effect of these four upon the United States Congress will be more compelling than any howling mob rampaging through the streets. These young men visited the vice president, the speaker of the House and many ranking members of Congress while here. I, too, had the pleasure of meeting them and joining others in contributing to a fund to let them fly home.

The second thing that happened was that the Judiciary Committee reported out the "Anti-Riot Bill." It should come to the floor shortly, and I intend to vote for it. For it will make it a federal crime for anyone to cross state lines or use interstate communications for the purpose of inciting a riot, or even attempting to incite a riot.

The penalties are $10,000 or five years in prison or both.

Waterford Fires Trail 1966's Halfway Figure

The number of fires in Waterford Township this year continued to trail last year's total at the halfway point.

A report compiled by the township fire department indicated that firemen were called on to extinguish 271 blazes the first six months of 1966.

This compares with 218 fires through June this year, a decrease of 52 from the same period a year ago.

Last month, township fire fighters were summoned to 36 fires, 19 fewer than the June month, compared with 73 the previous June.

MISCELLANEOUS FIRES

Six fires happened in motor vehicles, one each in rubbish near a building and a house trailer and two other blazes were classified as miscellaneous.

Direct fire damage last month was estimated at $20,418, raising the six-month to tal this year to $108,453. In 1966, by comparison, direct fire damage amounted to an estimated $96,375 for the first half.

On the plus side, no one has been killed or injured in township fires this year. In 1966, five persons lost their lives and another person was injured in fires through June.

Including rescue and emergency runs, township firemen responded to 57 alarms last month, compared with 73 the previous June.

Through six months, 349 alarms have been answered by township firemen against 414 during the same period last year.

Bowling Alley Hit

DETROIT (AP) — Burglars stole about $1,500 from a safe in Parkside Lanes, the bowling alley's general manager reported to Detroit police Wednesday. Sigmund Sich, 41, said the burglars entered through a second-story window and burned the lock off the safe.

Apollo 1 Wreckage Packed for Storage

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The wreckage of Apollo 1, built with visions of rocketing three astronauts to the moon, was packed in cardboard boxes and plastic bags today for trip by slow barge to Virginia.

There it will be sealed in a silver container the size of two house trailers to remain in storage for 10 years.

The more than 1,000 packaged pieces of the ill-fated space vehicle leave Cape Kennedy next Wednesday aboard a flatbed trailer. They will then be hauled to an awaiting barge.

And six to eight days later Apollo 1 arrives at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Langley Research Center at Hampton, Va.

For the next decade, it will remain under the custody of Dr. Floyd L. Thompson, director of Langley and head of the review board which investigated the Apollo 1 fire that killed Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward H. White II, and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee last Jan. 27.

Apollo 1's container—40 feet long, 24 feet wide and 19 feet tall—will have a pure nitrogen atmosphere to prevent its components from corroding, NASA spokesmen said. The smaller pieces have been wrapped in nitrogen-filled plastic bags.

The container is made of steel, coated with aluminum. Three tiers of shelves for the boxes and bags line both sides and one end.

In the center of the container sits Apollo 1's cone-shaped cabin section and removable heat-shield section.

CAUSE OF FIRE

The wiring system—blamed as the cause of the fire—is protected by plastic covering.

At each end of the container is a small three-foot-square hatch where inspectors can enter and leave if NASA should ever decide any portion of the fire investigation needs to be reopened.

"Anyone who wants to get in there had better have a pretty good reason," NASA officials said.

To work inside, an investigator would need to wear a facemask and air pack because of the nitrogen, they noted.

After arriving at Langley, the craft will be placed in a fenced-in area at the center's west end where NASA said it is to remain for 10 years.

No decision has been made as to what happens to Apollo 1 after that.

Tenant a Thief

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A New Orleans landlord says one of his tenants moved out and he wants him back.

Charles Pace told police that when the man left, all furnishings in the bedroom, dining room and kitchen also disappeared. The missing property is valued at $2,500.

Road Toll Hiked to 732

By the Associated Press
Late reports Wednesday of Independence Day weekend toll tallies boosted the holiday traffic toll to 732, within range of the National Safety Council's estimate of 700 to 800.

The statistics broke a record no one wanted to break. The year's four-day Thanksgiving previous high mark for a Fourth of July weekend was 576 during last year's three-day holiday. A nonholiday tally made by the Associated Press for comparative purposes showed 530 fatalities in a four-day period. The record for any holiday — 748 — was recorded by the Associated Press during last year's four-day Thanksgiving period.

Firemen Get Sticky Mess

SAGINAW (AP) — More than a dozen firemen picketed Saginaw City Hall Wednesday to protest a breakdown in contract negotiations with the city administration.

Earl DeGuise, president of Local 422 of the Firefighters Association said that Saginaw, the state's seventh largest city, ranks 43rd in the state in firemen's salaries.

Last week firemen rejected a city offer of a $325-a-year raise for all men with over four years service.

Wild Bulldozers

DETROIT (AP) — Someone took two bulldozers from a Fisher Freeway Construction site Tuesday night and rammed one through the front of a nearby home. The other knocked down some power line poles. Police theorize neighborhood boys started the bulldozers, put them in gear and jumped off.

Candy Habits Aid Analysis

By Science Service

LONDON — Chew, crunch or suck, your candy-eating habits give away what kind of person you are.

Chewers are "usually more extroverted people," crunchers tend to be slightly impulsive and volatile, while suckers are likely to be calm, contemplative and well-integrated. Suckers, however, can sometimes be smug and lacking in ambition.

This analysis comes from a team of industrial psychologists here who questioned 1,200 people in a national sample. Led by William Schuckman, head of a market studies that adults identify candy with their childhood experiences.

Half the sample said they chew candy; nearly a third said they suck it; the rest crunch and swallow immediately.

The survey confirmed that Britons still have the world's sweetest tooth, averaging 7.6 ounces of candy a week, said the report. Comparable figures in the United States and West Germany are about 5.4 ounces per week.

England's lower income groups turned out to eat more candy than the upper income group.

Teen Gang Forms Own Movie Company

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It will never match a Hollywood spectacular and the stars won't win Academy Awards, but those who filmed "The Jungle" aren't looking for Oscars — they're looking for a new way of life. "The Jungle" is a 20-minute film that was photographed, directed, produced and edited by the actors — all teen-age members of the 12th and Oxford Streets gang in North Philadelphia.

Twenty-two of the youths were persuaded to make the film by Harold J. Haskins, a 30-year-old six-foot-seven-inch man who was a product of the same type of film the gang members live in. Now, they have their own film company, a near-elimination of their previously staggering arrest rate and hope for a better life.

Meat Charge

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Jack Thomasma, vice president of Thomasma's Inc., stood mute Wednesday at his arraignment before Circuit Judge Claude Vanderploeg on a charge involving alleged state meat law violations. A plea of innocent was entered by the court and Thomasma was continued on bond to stand trial before Judge John T. Lettis. No date was set.

Haskins worked with the youths apart from his job with College Bound Corp. here, which lends financial assistance to poor teen-agers who demonstrate ability but cannot afford to attend college.

DISBELIEF
"The gang leaders didn't believe me when I told them about the project," said Haskins, who was asked to contact the youths by the Brooks Foundation, a California educational research firm working with teen-age firebrands.

"I had to keep talking to the boys, to convince them this was for real," Haskins said. "I knew the gang leaders and the way they thought because I've worked with them as an area youth worker."

"Well finally, we worked out a plan that would give the boys a $1-an-hour stipend. We solidified the group to 10 members, gave them a camera and taught them photography."

Haskins said a "natural phenomenon" developed.

PROJECT TOOK SHAPE

"Some of the boys became adept at different aspects of photography," Haskins said. "Others worked on taping the sound. Everything was taking shape."

The story is about a country boy who comes to the city and helps the 12th and Oxford's gang leader when the youth is attacked. The country fellow is told that he must join the gang because the members now know him. The boy socializes with his new friends, but in the end he is killed in a gang fight.

"It's a true story, except for the ending," Haskins said. "And that ending means something — that the boys really don't want a gang war."

The film was started in October 1966 and finished last March 29.

INVOLVED IN ACTION

"The boys got about 12 more gang members for the fight scenes," Haskins said, "and divided them into a group called the Cossacks. For a while, they really got involved and some guys lost a few teeth."

If making the film was a phenomena, what happened afterwards was a miracle, Haskins said.

"The gang structure became a film corporation," Haskins said. "The runner — the leader — is president, the assistant runner is vice president and the third runner is second vice president. The war chief and war lord are administrative assistants."

"The boys have been showing the film to organizations and charging fees. The fee usually is about $30, but depends on what

McNamara to Review Key Viet Issues

By JOHN T. WHEELER
SAIGON (AP) — The chief issues discussed during Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's visit to the South Vietnamese capital this week are expected to be more U. S. troops for the war, what to do about the Communist threat in the northern part of the country, the pacification program, the South Vietnamese army and U. S. aid.

Indications are that McNamara is planning a more searching review than he has made on some of his past trips. The U. S. command is preparing to fight for plans it considers vital to military victory.

News Analysis

deserted. Corruption and political maneuvering have been reported in some areas. The program is clearly sagging.

The South Vietnamese Army — Despite billions in aid and thousands of U. S. advisers, the Saigon government's troops, with only a few notable exceptions, have not been built into an effective, aggressive, dedicated military machine. Since the American divisions were sent to Vietnam, Saigon's soldiers have been doing less and less fighting and launching fewer and fewer operations aimed at showing down battles with the enemy.

There is growing sentiment in some U. S. military circles here for a tough line with Saigon's generals and even for placing the Vietnamese regularly under U. S. Command. The Vietnamese would strongly oppose such a move, but McNamara may look at some of the options aimed at forcing the Vietnamese to carry a greater share of the battle for their own country.

American aid — Reports to Washington by those outside the aid chain of command and charged with monitoring it remain pessimistic. The reports say only a small percentage of the annual $700 million flowing into the program will reach the peasants whose loyalty is the key to victory or defeat in Vietnam. U. S. sources have said no real improvement in the situation is possible unless some sort of control is maintained over funds and commodities once they pass into Vietnamese channels.

But the most immediate question is what to do about strengthening the allied military position to meet the threat of Hanoi's clear intention to build the Communist military machine in the south to a size that the allies cannot contain. There are reports of serious allied troop needs from all four of Vietnam's military corps areas.

'State Needs Promoting'

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan needs an imaginative and aggressive promotional program overseas to drum up foreign trade.

This is the opinion of State Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, chairman of the Senate Agriculture and Economic Expansion Committee.

"Michigan's current position in world commerce competition is one of immense promise, undoubted capability — but un-realized potential," said Bursley.

Make Devices at MIT
Students Aid Crime Fight

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Professors seeking to give students at Massachusetts Institute of Technology practical experience assigned them some crime-fighting challenges with instructions to find imaginative answers.

Among the answers offered by student teams:

- Controls that would enable a revolving bank door to be locked from a remote switch, the machine.
- A sophisticated wiring system for doors and windows that would notify police by telephone when a break is taking place without tipping off the burglars.
- A small, inexpensive electronics box that would fit into an electric typewriter or into the wall plug, and let loose a scream if anyone tried to steal the machine.

Here is how the major issues shape up:

Troop strength—This is the most widely publicized reason for McNamara's trip. Because of heavy North Vietnamese infiltration, U. S. commanders here want a major boost in manpower above the currently authorized 470,000 men. Military sources say Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U. S. commander, wants up to 500,000 more men than the 466,000 now in Vietnam.

Washington appears ready to boost the limit, possibly to around 550,000. But the Johnson administration is believed concerned because a larger increase will mean calling up reservists, greatly expanding the defense budget, and imposing a terrific strain on the inflation-ridden Vietnamese economy and the hard-pressed U. S. Asian supply line.

The war in the north—U. S. Marines continue to take the heaviest casualties of any force in the country as they man positions below the demilitarized zone. U. S. bombers have not been able to silence the heavy artillery, rocket and mortar fire that has been responsible for most of the 8,000 U. S. casualties in the area so far this year. Some officers say the southern half of the demilitarized zone should be taken or that a sea-borne invasion of the north should be carried out to encircle and destroy the fled guns.

Westmoreland all along has backed an aggressive bombing campaign to the north and believes that it must be continued if there is to be hope of military victory in the south. He rejects the contention that the cost in fliers and planes has been too high for the results. U. S. military men cite the massive infiltration into the south during the Vietnamese New Year bombing halt this year in their argument against any bombing pause in hopes of getting peace talks started.

Henry Cabot Lodge told Washington when he was ambassador here that the Korean armistice negotiations proved the utility of easing pressure on the Communists in the hope of getting meaningful negotiations.

Pacification—The latest in an eight-year series of pacification programs to win the loyalty of the countryside looked promising when it finally got off the ground in late February. However, government battalions assigned to protect the pacification teams have often proved ineffective. Some 700 pacification workers have been killed or wounded, and whole teams have

Out-of-State Worker Gets a Tax Break

LANSING (AP) — A person who lives in Michigan but works and pays an income tax in another state won't have to pay Michigan's new income tax on the same money.

He can subtract the tax paid in the other jurisdiction from the income tax bill he owes to Michigan — up to a point.

If he takes only one-third of his taxable income from the other state or subdivision, for instance, his credit can't exceed one-third of the Michigan tax.

A nonresident individual who pays an income tax at home and who would otherwise be required to pay the Michigan tax on the same income also gets a credit against Michigan's tax, but only if his home state has a law giving similar credits to Michigan residents who work there.

Businesses which operate both in Michigan and in other states are taxed on the part of their income attributed to Michigan under a complex allocation formula which computes what part of their total property, sales and payroll are in Michigan.

BLOND TOFFEE BROWNIES — Bits of chopped chocolate-covered English toffee bars are folded into cookie batter to give cookies sweetness and crunchy texture. They really need no frosting, but you can "gild the lily" if you like.

Brownies Hold Bits of Crushed Toffee Bars

When you've got a houseful of wild Indians, you might need "reinforcements" to keep the natives from getting too restless. Put away your shootin' irons, mom. Don't call the cavalry! Suggest a raid on the cookie jar instead of the old homestead.

Good cooks and wise mothers know you just can't have enough cookie recipes in your collection — there's always room for a new and exciting

one, and these "Blond Toffee Brownies" will go right to the top of your list.

The taste surprise here comes from a unique ingredient — candy bars.

BLOND TOFFEE BROWNIES

1½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup granulated sugar
½ cup (packed) brown sugar
2 eggs

1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup crushed chocolate-covered English toffee bars

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream butter or margarine. Add both sugars and cream well.

Add eggs and vanilla; beat until fluffy. Blend in dry ingredients. Stir in crushed candy.

MARKET BASKET

(250 degrees) until done, about 30 minutes. When cool, cut into bars 3" long and 1" wide.

If desired, bars may be frost-

ed when cool with a white or chocolate butter frosting, before cutting. Sprinkle more candy bits on top. Yield: About 3 dozen bars.

Chilled Soup Has Creamy Taste

Extend your repertoire of delicious chilled soups to include the culinary masterpieces featured here. Each is intriguingly different in flavor, velvety smooth, and extraordinarily rich and creamy.

First offering is Chilled Pimiento Consomme, a pretty pink and creamy soup flecked with bits of jellied consomme.

Next is Chilled Cream of Mushroom Soup, a gourmet-minded specialty originating in Chester County, Pennsylvania.

Finally, there's the exotic concoction, Chilled Curry of Avocado Soup, a delicacy designed to delight and soothe parched palates.

Because all of these elegant summer soups are made with the convenient, pantry-shelf creamer, they are easy to whip up on the spur of the moment.

Even if you never use a creamer in your coffee, you'll want to keep this remarkable powdered creamer on hand for use in these sensationally good soups.

Chilled Pimiento Consomme

1 10½-ounce can beef consomme
1 4-ounce can pimientos, drained
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 cup nondairy creamer
2 cups boiling water
1¼ teaspoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt

Refrigerate consomme until jellied. In blender, combine pimientos, minced onion, creamer, boiling water, lemon juice and salt.

Cover and blend until smooth. Pour into bowl; cover and refrigerate until thoroughly chilled.

About 10 minutes before serving, add jellied consomme to pimiento mixture, mixing lightly.

If desired, serve in bowls surrounded by crushed ice. Makes 4 cups or 4 servings.

Chilled Cream of Mushroom

1 2-ounce package garden vegetable soup mix

4 cups boiling water
1½ cups nondairy creamer
1 10½-ounce can condensed cream of mushroom soup

In a large saucepan, combine vegetable soup mix and water. Bring to the boil; reduce heat, partially cover and simmer 15 minutes. Blend in creamer and undiluted mushroom soup; heat through.

Place a small amount at a time in a blender; buzz until smooth and creamy. Chill thoroughly before serving. Makes 6 cups or 6 servings.

Chilled Curry of Avocado Soup

1 tablespoon butter
1 cup nondairy creamer
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
2½ cups boiling chicken broth
1 ripe avocado, mashed

In a heavy-bottomed saucepan, melt butter over low heat until frothy. Add creamer, curry powder, beaten egg yolk and boiling chicken broth, all at once; beat with wire whip to blend.

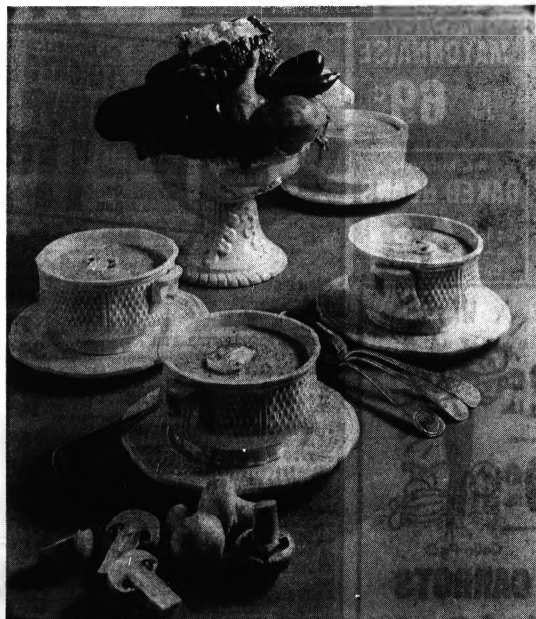

Increase heat to moderately high; cook and stir until mixture comes to the boil and thickens. Blend in mashed avocado and heat through.

Chill thoroughly. Beat with wire whip before serving. Makes 4 cups or 4 servings.

Salad-Relish Mix

Onion and Beet Salad-Relish: arrange in alternate layers in shallow bowl, cold sliced canned or cooked beet slices and thin-sliced sweet Spanish onions. Or combine tiny whole cooked or canned beets and onion rings. Add oil and vinegar or tomato-free French or Italian dressing. Let stand in refrigerator several hours.

Ice cream whipped to a froth with milk and flavoring makes delightful and nutritious drinks for summer refreshment.

CHILLED SOUP — Cool parched throats in hot weather with Chilled Cream of Mushroom Soup or some other version of cold soup. If you have a blender, the preparation is simple and fast.

HEARTY HOMINY CASSEROLE

BREAKFAST PICNIC

Gourmet Food Stylish at Picnic

By JANET ODELL.
Pontiac Press Food Editor

If you're the sort of cook who rebels against conventional menus, you'll be that way about picnics too. Hot dogs and hamburgers aren't for you; they're too common.

Why shouldn't picnic food be exciting? With all the excellent utensils and insulated containers, there is no reason why you can't take anything you want to the picnic site.

Just remember to follow the main safety rule: keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold. Don't be wishy-washy about temperatures.

When you take a casserole to the picnic, there will be no need to build a fire. If you don't have an insulated container, wrap the casserole carefully in several layers of newspaper.

A hominy-ground beef casserole will be different.

HEARTY HOMINY CASSEROLE

1 lb. lean ground beef
1 medium onion, chopped
1 tablespoon pure vegetable oil
2 (15-oz.) cans hominy, drained
1 (8-oz.) can tomato sauce
1 cup hickory flavor catsup
1 cup shredded American cheese
1 teaspoon marjoram
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Brown ground beef and onion in oil. Add hominy, tomato sauce, catsup, cheese, marjoram, salt and pepper. Place in 1 1/2-qt. casserole. Bake at 350 degrees, 30 minutes. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Someone insists that you can't have a picnic without hamburgers. All right, let her bring them and you take potato and herring salad.

This has overtones of northern Europe in it. The herring comes ready to use from a jar or can.

HERRING POTATO SALAD

3/4 cups, cooked diced potatoes
1/4 cup salad oil
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1 (3 oz. can) herring tidbits, drained and chopped

1/2 Bermuda onion, chopped
1/4 teaspoon dill weed
Add salad oil, vinegar and seasoned salt to cooked, diced potatoes. Mix in sour cream, one can of herring tidbits that have been drained and chopped into small pieces, chopped onion and dill weed.

Add Some Cocoa to Flour for a Dusky Cake

All you need to do for a chocolate angelfood is add cocoa to the batter. This is delicious.

Chocolate Angelfood Cake

1/2 cup sifted cake flour
1 1/2 cups sifted confectioners sugar
1/4 cup Dutch-process cocoa
1 teaspoon powered instant coffee
1 1/2 cups (12 large) egg whites
1 1/2 teaspoons cream of tartar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup granulated sugar

On wax paper, sift together the flour, confectioners sugar, cocoa and coffee; return to sifter and reserve.

In a large bowl with electric mixer, beat together until foamy the egg whites, cream of tartar and salt. Beat in the granulated sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time; continue to beat, if necessary, until whites hold stiff straight peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn.

Gradually sift the flour mixture over the beaten egg whites, folding it in as you do so. Turn into an ungreased 10-inch angelfood cake pan; cut through batter to break air bubbles.

Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven 35 to 40 minutes or until cracks in top of cake look dry and surface springs back when lightly touched. Invert and let hang until cold; loosen edges and ease from pan.

Refrigerate to blend flavors. Makes 4 cups.

Finally, how about a breakfast picnic? If you're discouraged because the lineup at the park entrance is so long, go early in the morning for breakfast. Then head home about noon when the crowd gets thick.

Make your meal a hearty one. Make it really unusual by copying the breakfast menu of the Alaskan gold rush prospectors. They ate heartily and often had baked beans. These you'll fix at home and carry with you. The pancakes and bacon will taste even better when fixed outside.

Here's a menu for an Alaskan breakfast, brunch or lunch.

Strawberries and Cream
(Giant berries are grown in Alaska)
Grilled or Baked Thick-Sliced Bacon
Sourdough or Buckwheat Pancakes
Butter and Syrup
Coffee

SKAGWAY BAKED BEANS

6 slices thick-sliced bacon
1/2 cup chopped onion
3 cans (1 pound each) pork and beans with tomato sauce, drained
1/4 cup (packed) brown sugar
1/4 cup molasses

Added Variety on Salad Platter

Serve a chicken salad platter, says the National Broiler Council. Make it with an assortment of fresh fruits — pineapple, peaches, grapes, melon, plums or berries; or with the summer harvest from the vegetable garden — tomatoes, asparagus, radishes or cold cooked green beans.

Combine diced cooked chicken with celery, mix with a simple dressing of mayonnaise, lemon juice and a pinch of dry mustard or ginger.

1/4 cup catsup
1 small bay leaf, crumbled
Cut bacon slices in thirds crosswise. Saute bacon in until edges curl and bacon is about 1/2 done. Set aside.

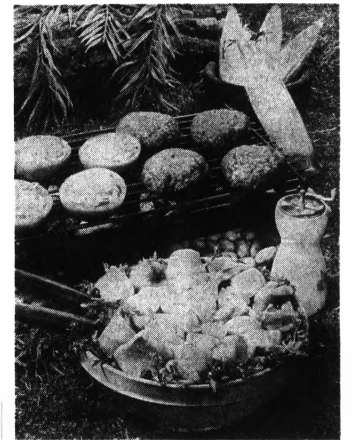

Save 2 tablespoons bacon drippings. Add onion to drippings; cook until tender. Add bacon and remaining ingredients; mix.

Pour into 1 1/2 quart casserole and heat thoroughly in a moderate oven (350 degrees), 35 to 40 minutes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Grilled Thick-Sliced Bacon

Separate bacon slices and arrange on a cool griddle or in fry pan; cook slowly until bacon starts to curl. Cook to desired degree of doneness, turning slices frequently with long.

You'll Like Delicate Flavor of Honey

There's nothing better after a summer supper of main-dish salad and hot breads than a cool, creamy honey custard. This final touch of sweet is refreshingly satisfying in a simple dessert that is still so richly elegant in flavor.

Although baked custard is of the time of the ancient Roman, it is equally ideal for summertime meals, chilled rather than dished up warm from the oven. It's pleasing to the palate, of course.

Then, it's a honey custard, it will also be a source of energy-giving nutrients for our extra-active families. Honey gives energy to our bodies more quickly than any other sweetening and boasts fewer calories than sugar... an important fact to know at this time of year.

Custard is probably one of the most popular desserts we all enjoy, and, interestingly enough, this has been so since the time of the ancient Roman.

In fact, the original version of this velvety concoction of honey, eggs and milk was first created by Roman chefs to be used again and again by cooks the world over. The ingredients are carefully combined, then poured into well-buttered custard cups for baking.

To keep this delicate mixture from cooking too fast, put the cups in a shallow pan of water for the baking period. This helps distribute the heat evenly and gently so that a perfect custard is the result.

Honey Custard

4 slightly beaten eggs
1/2 cup honey
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Additional honey
Toasted flaked coconut

Combine eggs, honey and salt. Slowly stir in milk and vanilla. Pour into six 5-ounce buttered custard cups. Place cups in a pan of hot water and bake at 325 degrees for about 50 minutes, or until mixture does not adhere to a knife.

Serve chilled or warm, topped with a drizzle of honey and toasted coconut. Makes 6 servings.

Bake Round Steak in Tomato Sauce

Try this new casserole using round steak. Cut round steak in serving pieces; brown on both sides. Place in casserole dish and add onions, quartered carrots, cut-up celery and quartered potatoes.

Combine tomato sauce with mushrooms with 1 cup beef bouillon, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper and 1 bay leaf. Pour over and bake for 2 hours at 350 degrees.

HONEY CUSTARD — For a custard that is smooth and delicate in flavor, use honey for the sweetening. It's a delightful dessert for summer days.

Justice doesn't always prevail at the bridge table. If you think it does, see what happens to East and West today.

South might well have opened with one heart instead of one diamond. After North responded one spade, South might have tried a two-club bid. But he didn't. He bid two diamonds. What do you do now?

JACOBY heart call but for some obscure reason he bid two clubs.

When North jumped to three no-trump most people would have breathed a sigh of relief and passed, but not South. He wanted to bid hearts and decided to try a four heart bid.

North didn't exactly know what was going on but he did have very good club support, so North leaped to six clubs. South couldn't stand for this and bid a hopeful six diamonds.

North puzzled for awhile; finally decided that diamonds could not be their cup of tea and finally bid six hearts. At this point, South had finally run out of ideas, so he passed.

West opened a trump. Not that it mattered. North and South had stumbled into an unbeatable contract.

South won in dummy and led the queen of diamonds. West took his ace and led a second trump. South won in his own hand, ruffed a low diamond with dummy's last trump, came to his hand with a club, drew trumps, played out his diamonds and eventually took the spade finesse to make his contract.

"Beautiful, just that beautiful!" said North. "I'll bet that you could fall in the river and come up with a fish in your mouth."

"Blank, blanky blank," said East and West.

Detroit Woman Sets Home Afire After Argument

DETROIT (AP) — A 34-year-old woman, after an argument with her husband, son and daughter, apparently set fire to her family's home Wednesday.

Firemen came to the blaze, which heavily damaged the dwelling, and reported the woman told them, "Why are you putting out the fire? I set it myself."

Two fires started in beds in two bedrooms and a third fire started in a sofa in the living room.

The woman was taken into custody for investigation of arson.

1,000 New Lepers in Mexico in 1966

By Science Service

MEXICO CITY — The Mexican Department of Health reports 1,000 new cases of leprosy in the republic last year.

These cases brought the registered total to more than 18,000.

The actual leprosy count may be more than double this figure, according to the department of health, since in hinterland communities citizens avoid coming to clinics for testing and treatment.

In Indian communities attitude to mobile brigades patrolling endemic zones is down right hostile.

In New York City in 1965, a total of 32,805 fire alarms — or one out of every four turned in — were false.

Stringent Old Ethics Code
Not Enough for Congress

By DICK WEST

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — On July 11, 1958, with an outburst of high-mindedness possibly inspired by that year's Independence Day celebration, the 86th Congress enacted a "code of ethics for government service."

It was a beautiful document both in spirit and form. Beautiful but demanding.

It imposed upon our public servants, including the congressmen themselves, a 10-point standard of conduct compared to which the Boy Scout handbook is a license for depravity.

The virtues to which they were committed included: "The full day's labor for a full day's pay," support of the Constitution, loyalty to high moral principles above loyalty to party and the awareness that "public office is a public trust."

Pray forgive me for not listing the other 15 points. I can't get them all down at once without getting a lump in my throat.

Thousands of copies of the code were engraved in red, blue and gold on handsome off-white paper suitable for framing. As soon as they were distributed, hanky-panky in the federal government disappeared virtually overnight. Yes.

So here it is another July, another Congress, and once again the law-givers are in the throes of drafting a code of ethics.

Which prompts a confused layman to ask what happened to the old code.

I can't give you a complete answer but I can give you a hint. In a press release this week, Rep. Jerry L. Pettis, R-Calif., reported that he has "half a ton" of the embossed copies presently at hand.

IN TRASH CART
He said two of his aides "discovered them in a trash cart the day Sen. Dodd was censured."

Apparently there is a feeling in Congress that the old code, however rigorous it might seem to its poor slimmers, is in need of some revisions.

One possible approach occurred to me the other day when I read that the U.S. Army is changing the general orders that soldiers must memorize before going on guard duty.

Instead of having to learn the 11 orders that strained the brains of millions of us World War II sentries, future post walkers now need to know only three. The lucky stiffs.

It could be that the 10-point code of ethics would work better if it were similarly condensed. After all, 10 kinds of goodness is quite a lot to remember.

Firm Gets OK to Sell Notes
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) Wednesday authorized the Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Co., Detroit, to sell $72 million in notes to banks.

Proceeds will be used to prepay $15 million in notes due September 30 and to help finance the company's construction program.

The cost of crimes in America has been estimated at more than $20 billion yearly by the National Crime Commission.

MISSING CHILD FOUND—Mrs. Lawrence Hochs sobbingly clutches her 2-year-old daughter, Margaret, in rain yesterday after her child was found after being missing overnight. Fifty police, aided by dogs and volunteers, combed the Boston suburb of Brookline until the child was found asleep under a tree about a half mile from a home where her parents had been visiting. Her father, a Coast Guard commander, is at right. Mrs. Hochs, while a reporter for the Cleveland Plain Dealer, once wrote a story on "What to do if your child is missing."

Assignments in Navy

Associated Press Newsfeatures

WASHINGTON—If you're in the Navy, serving a year in Vietnam doesn't mean you're certain to get shore duty back in the United States if you want it. Not under the "Seavey-Shorvey" system, of which more will be written later.

Some Navy wives and parents write me asking why?

The answer is that the Navy's big job is at sea, manning its vast fleet of ships, while the other services are land-based. As a result there are only 130,000 shore jobs back home for the Navy's 654,000 enlisted men.

Each rate or pay grade has a separate worldwide eligibility list for the jobs back home. Where you serve doesn't control your standing on the list, it's how long you've been at sea—although "sea duty" does not necessarily mean duty afloat.

So a man who is not on the eligibility list of his rate or pay grade when he leaves Vietnam after finishing 12 months list there is not in line for one of the 130,000 U.S. short jobs. However, he is assured 30 days home leave plus three months in his U.S. home port before he ships out again.

CHOICE GUARANTEED
Such a Vietnam veteran is guaranteed his choice of an Atlantic or Pacific U.S. home port for sea duty. However, he must have at least 16 months obligated service remaining to get an Atlantic port.

This special consideration also is open to Vietnam veterans who are eligible for U.S. shore duty but prefer to go back to sea. And all Vietnam veterans also get priority consideration for service schools and other foreign duty.

The Vietnam veteran eligible for U.S. shore duty also can get first call on a new overseas assignment where he can take his family. Or, if he wishes, he can get preferred sea duty—which is serving on a ship that stays in port except for brief periods at sea.

The Navy is proud that 84 per cent of its men ordered to Vietnam this year have been volunteers. As in the other services, a man can volunteer for more Vietnam duty when his year is up.

DON'T MEET DEFINITION
One of the peculiarities of the system is that serving on a ship deployed in Vietnam waters, such as with the 7th fleet, does not meet the definition of Vietnam duty. So the rule of three years between Vietnam duty unless you volunteer won't prevent you from serving again on a ship that deploys to the Western Pacific.

And overseas shore duty where your family can't go, such as in Vietnam, is counted as sea duty on eligibility for home assignment.

Rotating the Navy's 130,000 U.S. shore jobs at home for enlisted men revolves around a complex system called "Seavey-Shorvey." It's tied to an electronic brain to keep track of when each man is due for a change.

Some enlisted men are excluded from the system because of their particular skills. Enlisted women come under a system called "Wavey." And there is a special 18 to 30-month shore duty system for hospital-corpsmen who serve ashore with the Marines in Vietnam.

CHAPTER 22

FOR A moment Edmond Vosiers looked at the door and beat on the stuffing from his spine. Then he recovered himself.

"The OAS is dead," he said in a flat voice. "It's only a memory."

"Is it? The Surete may disagree after it gets a look at this layout."

Vosiers shook his head slowly. "But the Surete is not going to get a look at it."

"Because that would put my own neck on the block?" I said caustically. "No, monsieur, it isn't really necessary for me to report to anyone that I have the goods on Hubert Morillon and his friends. An anonymous phone call will do quite as well."

"It will," said Vosiers. "If you intend to destroy Paul."

"So you were lying when you said he was with his grandmother?"

"He is with her, but that changes nothing. Not even Madame Cesira can save the boy."

"Hubert is betrayed to the police. You must understand that."

Vosiers' voice broke. "If Hubert is betrayed, Paul pays the price for it."

"Death," Vosiers whispered. "Certain death."

"You're strong," he said. "But trample carelessly in this china shop and you will certainly kill my nephew, Hubert Morillon's safety comes before everything else. Believe me, this is a fact of life. You must learn to live with it."

"Believe you? Am I supposed to believe that you and your whole family are so completely in Morillon's power?"

"You make it sound as if the man is the devil himself!" Vosiers burst out. "Do you think he wants to see harm come to the child? He's the last one in the matter. But he has no choice in the matter. This arrangement was devised by his superior for Hubert's own protection. Those closest to you are the ones most likely to betray you. This way, no one would want to risk the child's life by such a betrayal."

I believed him then. It was impossible not to in the face of his sweaty anguish.

"I said, 'And who is Morillon's superior in this outfit? Who's the one willing to murder a child? Is it a fake rug peddler named Leon Beque?'"

Vosiers shook his head. "I don't know anyone by that name."

"A smooth customer with one name."

"From the Random House novel. Copyright © 1967 by Stanley Ellin. Distributed by King Features Syndicate."

"Let's get going," I told him. "We can cry over your sad story on the way to Dijon."

A door in back of the workshop opened on to the passage-way leading to the garage. Only one car remained in the garage, the white Ferrari. Matilde Vosiers' favorite toy, and our footstep echoed hollowly in the emptiness around us as we approached it.

I opened the car's trunk. In it were a couple of well-worn Vuitton suitcases and a spare tire, and when they were removed—the luggage placed inside the car, the tire laid on the floor of the garage—I saw that whoever had designed the Ferrari had certainly not allowed for the possibility of transporting a passenger in its trunk. It would have been a tight fit for a skinny, undersized specimen; for me it would be like doubling up inside half a coffin. But I was in no spot to be fussy about the accommodations.

At the same time, there was Vosiers to consider. I was sure he wasn't the man to risk trying murder on his own account somewhere along the road—he was an underling in the organization and would want the go-ahead from his leaders before his cheek.

"I don't know him. I never heard of him. And there's no use asking further questions about it. It's not my affair to know the answers. Since the cause is just, I serve willingly in the ranks."

"As what? Butcher's apprentice?"

Vosiers emitted a hissing breath; his eyes glittered with rage.

"What would you know about these matters?" he said. "What did you ever own in your life that couldn't be tossed on a dump heap without regret? But my vineyards in North Africa brought me in a million a year until those Moslem savages destroyed them."

"So for the sake of my rotting vineyards and my ruin's home, I serve as I'm told to without complaint. If I must be a butcher's apprentice to make the world fit to live in again, then I will be. It's as simple as that."

As simple as that. I thought of Louis' sightless eyes staring at me, a bullet hole between them, but I took a tight grip on my temper. Vosiers had to get my things away from this house and lead me to Anne de Villenont. He would be no use beaten to a pulp.

"Let's get going," I told him. "We can cry over your sad story on the way to Dijon."

"You're strong," he said. "But trample carelessly in this china shop and you will certainly kill my nephew, Hubert Morillon's safety comes before everything else. Believe me, this is a fact of life. You must learn to live with it."

"Believe you? Am I supposed to believe that you and your whole family are so completely in Morillon's power?"

CIA, Others to Air China H-Bomb

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate House Atomic Energy Committee has asked the Central Intelligence Agency and other interested agencies to report next week on the capabilities of the hydrogen bomb tested recently by Red China.

Richard M. Helms, CIA director, is tentatively scheduled to testify next Thursday at a closed session of the committee. Spokesmen for the Pentagon and the AEC also have been asked to appear.

Although it is scheduled as a briefing on the seismic, chemical and electromagnetic data collected on the Jan. 17 blast, the session could have important policy implications.

Some members of the Senate House committee are already using the Chinese test as an argument for going ahead with a U.S. antiballistic missile (ABM) system.

Renewed congressional pressures for deployment of an ABM system could be a major embarrassment for President Johnson at present.

She was en route to Miami Beach, where she'll participate as Israel's entry in the Miss Universe contest. Her measurements are 35-22-36, which is as nice a serial number as we've seen in a long time.

Man Arrested After Racial Brawl in Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A white man has been arrested on assault and battery charges following a weekend tavern brawl involving 16 Peace Corps language instructors from Ethiopia and an estimated 50 white tavern patrons.

Police Chief Dewey Ffills, in announcing the arrest of 25-year-old Frank Holtry of Salt Lake City, denied brutality charges made by the Ethiopians.

One instructor, Assessa Mehretu, claimed police used nightsticks and dogs to break up the brawl involving the Ethiopians, 30 of their students and the white patrons.

Ffills said the fight was over when the first two policemen arrived and that the officers were not carrying nightsticks. He said other officers arrived after the crowd was being dispersed.

$500 BAIL
Holtry was released under $500 bail.

Dr. Oakley J. Gordon, University of Utah Peace Corps project director, said he was told the instructors were "called niggers" by a white man angered by two Ethiopians dancing with white women. Gordon said the women were Americans and wives of the instructors.

aimed at curbing missile and antimissile systems were one of the fragile products of the summit talks at Glassboro, N.J.

A briefing on nuclear weapons tests by other nations is standard operating procedure for the joint committee, and a session on the Chinese test could be viewed as no more than routine.

However, the Senate House committee has, on some past occasions, been a major advocate for new weapons systems.

It was originally announced by the AEC that the Chinese blast was in the 2-7 megaton range — the equivalent of 2 million to 7 million pounds of TNT. U.S. experts now are inclined to believe that it was closer to 2 megatons than to 7. U.S. experts now believe that the Chinese blast took place in the atmosphere, but not at an altitude which would suggest that it was lofted by a missile.

This and other data lead experts to conclude that the explosion — if not a fully deliverable hydrogen bomb — was an explosive which could be transported by plane and was, thus, more sophisticated than the first thermonuclear device detonated by the United States.

Ministry Confab

EAST LANSING (AP)—Some 15 leaders in the campus ministry of the North American Baptist Church today begin a three-day campus chaplains conference at Michigan State University. The session deals with trends in higher education, the contemporary student, theology on a secular campus and an approach to campus ministry.

Lurleen Undergoes Tests

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Alabama's Gov. Lurleen Wallace is waiting to learn whether she must again undergo surgery for a recurring malignancy as she did for another tumor 18 months ago.

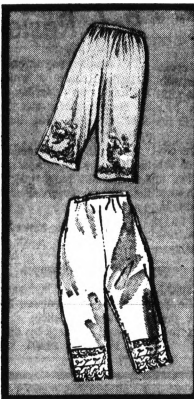

Diagnostic tests were started Wednesday at the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute. After the tests are completed, Dr. R. Lee Clark, associated director and chief surgeon, told newsmen Wednesday, "At this time, it is not known what further examinations will be indicated nor how long the complete diagnostic workup will require."

Trading Is Active

Initial Market Gains Are Cut

NEW YORK (AP) — Weakness in American Telephone cut initial stock market gains early Thursday afternoon. Trading was active.

Gains still outnumbered losses by about 3 to 2 — reducing the early rally of 2 to 1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 41 at 855.35. This shaved a previous gain of 1.68.

AT&T, most widely held stock of all, opened late on a big block of 75,000 shares, down 41 at $55. Subsequently AT&T made a new low for the year when it dropped to 54, showing at that juncture a loss of 1%.

SELLING PRESSURE

Selling pressure built up overnight following news that the Federal Communications Commission had lowered the company's approved return to a maximum of 7% per cent for interstate service — reducing its charges by about $120 million a year.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 4 at 55.4 with industrials up 4, rail up 2 and utilities up 1.

U.S. Has IOUs for $41 Billion

Much of It Debt Left From World War I

WASHINGTON (AP) — Other nations now owe the United States more than $41 billion, according to a report from the U.S. Treasury Department.

Officials estimated today that foreign governments and organizations owe Uncle Sam about $41 billion as of last March 31, exclusive of interest and World War I debt.

Principal and interest from World War I added another $21 billion to the bill.

If past experience is any guide, the figures will go even higher.

Seventeen nations still owe money from World War I. In last listing 96 nations and 5 international organizations owed Israel and six of her nearest Arab neighbors owed almost $1 billion.

ISRAEL, U.A.R. OWES

As of June 30, 1966, Israel's outstanding debt was $457 million compared with $469 million for the United Arab Republic which broke diplomatic relations with the United States during the recent Middle East war.

Iraq owed $18 million as of the same date, Jordan $16 million, Syria $11 million, Lebanon $6 million and Saudi Arabia $2 million.

More than 99 per cent of the World War I and postwar debt is being repaid on time but the story is much different for the rest of the world.

Only Finland makes timely payments and is the only country not in arrears.

It's all legal, however. The United States in 1953 agreed that no further payments need be made on World War I debt until final settlement of German reparations. Payments actually stopped, except for Finland, in 1952.

The United Kingdom has the largest outstanding debt from both sources—about $9.6 billion from World War I principal and interest and about $1 billion, as of June 30, 1966, from other debt.

Vandals Damage Bethune School

Vandals armed with rocks and other objects broke into Bethune School, 154 Lake, early today and did an estimated $300 damage to the building, Pontiac police were told.

Investigators said an entrance door was forced open, several rooms were broken into and about 50 windows were smashed. The damage was discovered about 3 a.m.

Thieves Loot Waterford Store

Merchandise valued at $880 and $12 in cash were reported taken yesterday in a break-in at M. G. Sales and Service, 4667 Dixie, Waterford Township, police said.

Stolen items included three minibikes, seven motorcycle helmets, a jacket and cash from a soft drink machine. Entry to the building was gained through the roof, according to police.

Treasury Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cash position of the Treasury compared with current Treasury commitments was $1.7 billion as of June 30, 1966.

Salaries payable to federal employees were $1.7 billion as of June 30, 1966.

As Stock Prices Soar

Market Tremor Felt

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK — In less than one year the prices of some stocks listed on Canadian and American exchanges have doubled, tripled and more than quadrupled, bringing fortunes to some speculators and tremors to market officials.

The eventual danger that market men see is the crashing return to earth of some of those stocks, with the impact certain to be detected by congressional and regulatory listening devices in Washington.

Speculation that a small company might become successful can be healthy and profitable. But gambling, which really is the worry, can only bring problems.

The immediate concern is that some stocks are being manipulated, that prices of others are rising on incomplete reports and rumors, and that heavy trading in some represents nothing but a fatal greed.

EVIDENCE

The evidence is coming in faster than it has been, and the Securities and Exchange Commission and stock market officials have been active lately, primarily in seeking clarification of rumors.

But the evidence comes also in the form of price earnings ratios, a standards guide on Wall Street. It is a figure calculated by dividing the company's earnings into the price of its stock.

Thus a $100 stock with income of $5 a share has a price-earnings ratio of 20 to 1, a figure that is considerably higher than the multiple for most of the blue chip, investment-grade stocks.

Nevertheless, at least one company now has a price-earnings ratio of 200 to 1, and many others are in the 50 or 100 to 1 category.

THRIVING COMPANIES

Some of these stocks warrant such ratios because they represent thriving companies whose earnings are expected to continue growing, just as General Motors, once a speculation, has continued to grow. Others in the category are simply overpriced.

Speculative activity is shown also by trading volume, which generally has been setting one record after another in the past 12 months. Volume in some stocks has exceeded the total supply over a year's time, meaning that some shares were traded several times.

This is hardly the type of activity that could be produced by small investors. Obviously, it is professional trading, by the institutions, but the fear is that the contagion could envelop the small trader. The temptation is there.

The irrefutable fact about speculation is that it can mean a considerable profit, whereas it might take a decade for the price of a blue chip to double, a speculation could double in a week.

FURTHER TRADING

Incredibly, one stock this year rose from less than $1 a share to more than $20 a share in a matter of weeks, mainly because of rumor, before the SEC stopped further trading.

Obviously, this is the type of sale that makes dreams. It inspires the same kind of hope or greed that causes elderly women to be flim-flamed out of their life savings.

There is plenty of evidence, however, that small investors are being misled, and that they are speculating. In fact, they have been accused of being too conservative and timid.

A list supplied by the New York Stock Exchange provides some documentation of this conservative behavior, showing that the small investor buys mostly blue chips.

Topping the list for 1966 was American Telephone, followed by General Motors, Radio Corp. of America, Sperry Rand and Ford. And most of the remainder of the list showed similar taste.

"All that is changing," he added. "Teen-agers are coming to regard themselves as many people and they want the same autonomy and freedom that is allowed others."

CONVENTION ANTICS

Although he said there is considerable difference in scale, he compared the student uprisings with the antics of some convention delegates who block traffic and play practical jokes on spectators, usually without in "terference from the police."

"What these kids are doing is like an outdoor sport for them," Beck said. "But they know the police are keeping a sharper eye on them. Because the police are more watchful and intervene sooner, resentment is triggered once that intervention occurs."

Beck said permanent residents in such resort areas as Lake Geneva, Wis., and Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and the youths who flock there for vacations have completely different viewpoints on what constitutes "having fun."

He said some "righteous overtones" of the youthful escapades might be avoided if there were a closer meeting of minds or if special resort areas were established to cater to the special desires of young people.

MANY ARRESTS

National Guardsmen and augmented police patrols were sent into Lake Geneva, Switzerland, this week after three days of turbulence by thousands of young holiday celebrators. About 400 youths were arrested.

The demonstrations marked the fifth straight year of holiday uprisings there.

Thousands of college students from all parts of the country have gone to Florida resorts during Easter vacations in the past decade and hundreds are arrested each year.

CRAB SALAD SUPREME — Prepare one package frozen patty shells, according to package directions. Combine two cans (7½ oz.) crab meat, one cup finely chopped celery, two tablespoons finely chopped green pepper, one tablespoon minced onion, one teaspoon lemon juice, six pitted ripe olives, sliced and one-half cup salad dressing. Season to taste. Chill. Just before serving, fill warm patty shells with salad. Garnish with whole olives. Makes six servings.

Saving on Food Budget Calls for Careful Choices at Store

EAST LANSING — If home-makers are really serious about saving as much as 25 per cent on their food budget, it can be done, advises Mrs. Anita Dean, extension specialist in foods and nutrition at Michigan State University.

The basic food groups contain products that can cut food costs considerably. But, she cautions to avoid possibly cutting recommended amounts of nutrients needed for a basic diet at the same time.

But a wise, careful shopper can plan her meals around this low cost budget and still maintain adequate nutrition.

Mrs. Dean says these "low-cost" choices would be limited to the following:

- Dairy products — only nonfat dry milk and cheese.
- Meat — stew beef, ground beef, salt pork, sausage, chicken and fish.
- Beans and nuts — dry beans and peanut butter.
- Fats — margarine, lard and salad dressings.
- Vegetables — sweet potatoes, carrots, cabbage, onions, corn and canned tomatoes.
- Fruits — canned orange juice, some fresh oranges, bananas, fresh and canned apples, fruit juices and dried prunes.

the ready-to-eat kind; some rice, macaroni products, bread, and crackers.

• Fruits — canned orange juice, some fresh oranges, bananas, fresh and canned apples, fruit juices and dried prunes.

• Potatoes — fresh only, not processed.

• Vegetables — sweet potatoes, carrots, cabbage, onions, corn and canned tomatoes.

• Sweets — sugar, syrup and jelly; no soft drinks.

"Many families would have to adjust their eating habits greatly to consider economizing to this extent," Mrs. Dean says.

"But this low cost food plan does provide some room for variety, if selections are made within the limits noted to obtain the desired food cost reductions."

"The greatest money savers lie in the substitution of nonfat dry milk for fluid milk and the use of less costly meat items."

Lemon, Orange, Avocado Partners in Salad

A delicious salad to serve at a luncheon, dinner or buffet is beautiful "Avocado Citrus Mold." It's tangy, creamy, filled with flavor and bits of crisp western iceberg lettuce — an appropriate addition to any festive menu.

Avocado Citrus Mold
1 head western iceberg lettuce

1 lemon
2 packages (3 oz. each) lemon gelatin
1½ cups boiling water
1½ cups cold water
½ to ¾ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon each dry shallots, chopped chives, savory and monosodium glutamate
1 orange

1 avocado
¾ cup real mayonnaise
Few drops green food color
Core, rinse and drain lettuce. Chill in disposable plastic bag. Pare lemon, finely chopping 1 tablespoon rind; chop pulp. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; stir in cold water, salt, seasonings and chopped lemon rind and pulp. Chill half of mixture until it begins to thicken. Meanwhile, cut lettuce lengthwise into halves, place cut sides down on board and shred, then chop enough to yield 2 cups. Pare orange; chop fruit.

Fold chopped lettuce and orange into chilled gelatin mixture until it gently sets in mold. Chill remaining gelatin mixture until it begins to thicken. Meanwhile, cut avocado lengthwise into halves; discard seed and skin. Mash avocado.

Beat thickening gelatin with mashed avocado, mayonnaise and food color. Turn into mold over first layer. Chill until firm. Invert onto platter. Garnish with lettuce leaves. Makes about 8 servings.

Touring Pros, PGA Meet, but No Accord

President Threatens to Fill Tournament
With Other Players

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Touring golfers emerged from a closed meeting aimed at bridging differences with the Professional Golfers Association to find the great divide still existed.

Max Elbin, president of the PGA, greeted the "no comment" session of the touring golfers Wednesday night with a threat that other pros will be invited to fill the ranks on the tour.

"I don't know what they decided in that meeting. I just laid the cards on the table. I told them the position of the executive committee had not changed," Elbin said.

Dan Sikes, tournament committee chairman, said no statement would be issued until he talked with Elbin.

"I had hoped to have a call when I got here (Wednesday night)," Elbin told the Associated Press in Riviera Beach, Fla. "I waited for them to call (after the meeting) but they didn't call," Elbin said.

The touring pros, threatening to boycott the Denver PGA tourney July 20-23 if the PGA does not relax its veto power, have been feuding with the organization since voting to put the proposed Frank Sinatra $175,000 tourney on the circuit. The PGA vetoed the players' vote, saying the Sinatra meet would conflict with the Bob Hope Desert Classic.

NO COMMENT

The pros, here for the $100,000 Speedway Open gave a deadline of Tuesday to make peace with the PGA but extended it until the Wednesday meeting. When the two-hour meeting concluded in the press room of the Speedway Clubhouse, Sikes declined to discuss any action on a decision.

Doug Ford, a member of the players committee, said, "I've got nothing to say," when asked for comment to Elbin's statement.

Elbin said he hoped to hear from Sikes soon.

Prior to the powwow, players said privately the hassle would be settled and just a few technicalities in wording needed clarification.

Elbin said if the pros continued a holdout in Denver, "we have several former PGA champions who have volunteered to play. They are sympathetic toward us," Elbin did not name them.

"We have 111 or 115 who I think will play," he said, "but the fellows on the tour—there are about 35 or 40 of them affected—if I get any answer from them, fine, but if not I will have to fill in."

Palmer Leading Battle for Cash on PGA Circuit

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer has boosted his total earnings on the Professional Golfers' circuit to $123,037, according to PGA statistics released Wednesday night.

Palmer's earnings through the Canadian Open put him far ahead of Julius Boros, whose official and unofficial earnings totaled $96,333.

Triple Play Man Dies

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Henry A. "Cotton" Knapp, 77, credited with making the only unassisted triple play in the old Southern Association, died Wednesday after a long illness. Knapp joined the New Orleans Pelicans as a second baseman in 1914 and remained with the club 14 years.

10-4 Win Eighth in Row

Torrid Twins Thump Yankees

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL eighth straight victory, swept a four-game series from the Yankees and pinned the fifth loss in a row on New York.

Harmon Killebrew, who got a chance to play because Harmon Killebrew was rested with a pulled groin muscle, smashed a three-run homer in the third inning to put the Twins ahead to stay at 5-3.

He also drove in a run in the first inning on a ground out after Rod Carew tripled.

Uhlender singled home a run in the fourth and whacked a two-run homer in the fifth—his second home run in as many games. Tony Oliva also homered for the Twins, his eighth.

Angel Lefty Is Rewarded for Patience

ANAHEIM (AP)—Four weeks ago, George Brunet had a 1-9 pitching record for the California Angels and had lost nine games in a row.

If anyone ever had reason for letting down it was the Angels' veteran left-hander. But Brunet resisted the temptation and has finally received his reward.

It came Wednesday night. He was leading Boston, 2-1, with two out in the ninth inning. But Jerry Adair beat out an infield hit and George Thomas followed with a homer to put the Red Sox ahead, 3-2.

Brunet was in shock. But minutes later Jim Fregosi hit a single and Don Mincher followed with a homer to give the Angels a dramatic 4-3 victory and hand Brunet his third triumph in a row.

EYES PENNANT

"If I can get a streak going, we might even win the pennant," Brunet commented.

Pennant is the thing the Angels were talking about today as they enjoyed a break in the schedule before closing the home stand with a four-game weekend series against Kansas City.

They're a solid fifth, only seven games behind league-leading Chicago, after winning five series in a row and nine of their last ten.

"Winning this one gave us about as big a lift as we've had all season," said manager Bill Rigney Wednesday night.

Soccer Czar Sets Merger Deadline

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—The commissioner of the United Soccer Association said Wednesday night merger of the National Professional Soccer League with his loop will have to be accomplished by Oct. 31 if there is to be a single North American League next season.

Dick Walsh said exploratory talks between the two leagues have started, and both have agreed in principle to formation of a single organization.

He said Oct. 31 is the latest date at which merger plans would be practical in time for next season.

Walsh also said the USA has received franchise applications from Calgary, Minneapolis and San Diego. He did not elaborate.

Three Winners for Apprentice

DETROIT (AP)—Apprentice jockey Jeff Anderson, occupying third place in jockey standings, Hazel Park, bootled home three winners Wednesday, including the last half of the twin double to boost his total to 133 winners.

Anderson scored aboard Mis-Assumption for a $12.40 mutual, and again in the eighth and ninth on Trajal and I Stay Too respectively.

The 10,546 who attended wagered $82,716.

Non-Playing Performances Mar Soccer Competition

By the Associated Press (and Stokers played a scoreless tie in the United Soccer Association soccer Wednesday night, and it was all in the line of play.)

Danny Trainor, center forward for the Detroit Cougars, and Bill Bentley, left fullback for the Cleveland Stokers, were ejected for fighting in the Philadelphia Spartans in the National League, then cut short the contest when they refused to leave the field. His action gave the Spartans a 3-2 victory in the only NPSL game scheduled.

James Oshust, general manager of the St. Louis team, said he would protest the game with Commissioner Ken Macker. The incident involved Mike Kaliconin, St. Louis center-half, and Miguel Delima, St. Louis goalie, after Kaliconin reportedly spit in Walt Chyzowych's face with 147 left.

Chyzowych a few minutes earlier had scored what proved to be the winning goal for Philadelphia.

Mario Teddia of Chicago was banished for fighting as the Mustangs battled the Los Angeles Wolves to a 2-2 tie before 10,456 at Memorial Coliseum.

Despite the deadlock, the Wolves clinched the Western Division championship of the USA. They are scheduled to play the Eastern Division champion in Los Angeles on July 16.

The Wolves held a 2-1 lead; Jackie Graham's goal with 3:58 on the clock gave Dallas its victory over San Francisco.

Toronto beat Boston 6-1; Delia Vancover got its fourth straight tie when George Kin-Wolves clinched the Western Division championship of the USA. They are scheduled to play the Eastern Division champion in Los Angeles on July 16.

Colin Grant scored three goals to lead Toronto over Boston, first half.

Calm Hampering Yachting Fleet in Pacific Race

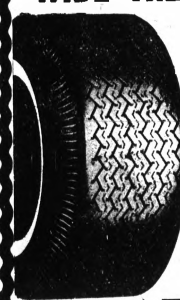

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"A slow boat to China" could almost be the theme song for the Trans-Pacific Yacht race, going on somewhere in the Pacific.

At last reports, all 71 sailing craft were waiting out a calm spell about 100 miles from their starting point in Los Angeles Harbor. Honolulu is the destination.

Of the 30 boats reporting latitude and longitude, the 72-foot ketch Stormvogel, piloted by Cornelius Bruynzeel of South Africa, appeared to have a slight lead, 180 miles out. Ten miles astern of Bruynzeel was another 72-foot ketch, the Whistling, owned by Hastings Harcourt of Santa Barbara.

49er Signal Caller Hoping for Trade

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—George Mira, the discontented quarterback of the San Francisco 49ers, still has hopes that the National Football League club will show him off to a team that will show him more action.

General Manager Jack White of the 49ers left town Tuesday with his mission, the signing of Mira, still unaccomplished.

"I'm thinking of going to camp unsigned and seeing what happens," Mira said. "There are three quarterbacks and I think they might trade one of us. I don't want to sit around again. I want to play."

City Nines in Reverse Performances

evening they had their run-making shoes on and benefited from strong pitching.

The Clippers strengthened their third-place standing in the Class A race with an easy 13-2 romp past Lake Orion's Cardinals.

The teamsters coasted past Oakland University, 13-4, in a bid to start a drive into the city playoff series.

Santos Sanchez (2-1) recuperated quickly from a bad fall in Monday's loss to hurt a five-hit batter for the Clippers, blanking Lake Orion until the final inning.

Every starter for the winners scored and all but one had a hit. Larry Johnson and Harry Bartkowiak each had three singles for the Clippers and combined for six of their runs.

Erik Eriksen singled in both Cardinal runs while also rapping three safeties.

The Teamsters erupted for six runs in the second inning in routing Oakland's Pioneer.

Al Hall was the big gun in the victory, singling and doubling for four RBIs.

Don Sackett gained his fifth mound win by scattering six hits.

Challengers After Casper in '500' Golf

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Billy Casper opened defense of his Speedway Open Golf Championship today with a fine respect for the remodelled course.

"The golf course is a thousand per cent better than last year," Casper said after shooting a 1-over-par 73 in a pro-amateur meet Wednesday. "It plays extremely long. It appears it will be difficult to score."

"If anyone breaks 280 they're going to play fantastically," Casper said. He won the tournament last year with 277.

The Speedway course, all new last year, has been altered extensively to meet specific objections raised by players after the 1966 tournament.

Casper's warmup round included 17 pars and a bogey on the ninth hole. He took 34 putts and finished out of the money.

Casper said he had not been playing well this season. Asked about his victory over Art Wall in a playoff for the Canadian Open Monday, he said, "I played well in the playoff round at Montreal, but I didn't play well in the tournament."

Lions Deny Reports of Trade Attempt

DETROIT (AP)—A published report that the Detroit Lions are trying to trade quarterback Milt Plum was denied Wednesday by the football club.

It was reported the Lions are trying to work out a trade with the St. Louis Cardinals, also of the National Football League. It said the Cardinals had shown an interest in trading a defensive end and offensive lineman to Detroit for Plum.

Detroit currently has two candidates for No. 1 quarterback, Karl Sweetan and Plum.

Three-Baggers Key Wins in Junior Play

Three-base hits played a prominent role in last night's Pontiac recreation junior baseball results after the pitchers highlighted the morning action.

Neal Sommers tripped and scored in a three-run outburst that enabled Lake Oakland to hand Russell Sundquist its first Class E National loss, 6-3.

Clawson's Larry Niedowicz cracked a three-bagger with the bases loaded to highlight a 7-3 win over the XL's, while Robin Brennan's triple keyed West Bloomfield's rally for win No. 1, a 4-3 conquest of the Eagles No. 1230 in Class D action.

In Class F American play yesterday morning, Bill Ziem blanked the Pirates for Lake-Lake, 11-0, on a one-hitter. He also rapped a three-run double.

Steve Wood had two hits and hurled a two-hitter as Auburn Heights' Boys' Club Chiefs trimmed the AHBBC Braves, 11-1 in "F" International action.

The Widget National League saw Larry Spears of Optimist-11 and Chris Bass of Uncle Charlie's Pet Shop each toss one-hit victories.

The best game came in Widget American action where Yellow Cab nipped the Malkim Cubs, 2-1, as winning pitcher Ken Foster singled home the deciding run. He bested Scott Furney in a duel of four-hitters.

Finn Bowlers in Team Wins

Japan, U.S. Second in World Tourney

MALMOE, Sweden (AP) — Finland won the five men and five women team events Wednesday in the sixth World Bowling Tournament.

The Finnish men's team totaled 5,700 points for six games to outdistance second place Japan by 21 pins. The Finnish female team shot 5,417 to defeat the runner-up United States which had 5,392.

Kalevi Ihalainen shot a 629 series to help the Finns total 2,684 in Tuesday's action. He fired 617 Wednesday to boost the team's second series to 2,816.

Mexico ran fourth in the men's division with 5,598. The Swiss, who lead Tuesday dropped to fifth place with 5,593. The defending champion United States team ran sixth with 5,562.

BIG RALLY

The Finnish women, ninth Tuesday, rallied to capture the championship with 2,860.

Eija Krogerus, current Finnish national champion, salvaged the victory by shooting 629 in the last round. The 34-year-old blonde started with 170 but bounced back with games of 212 and 247.

The defending champion U.S. women's team, which ranked second Tuesday, failed to gain ground when it shot 2,647 in the finale. Jean Stehlik of Sturgis, Mich. led the runners up in the second round with 550.

Cincinnati Signs 2 Draft Choices

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds have signed two more recent draft choices — Shelly Andrews of Los Angeles and Dave Tomlin of West Union, Ohio — to contracts with their farm teams.

Tomlin, an 18-year-old left-handed pitcher, has reported to Wytheville, Va., in the Appalachian League. Andrews, a 21-year-old outfielder who played for the University of Southern California, is going to Sioux Falls, S.D., in the Northern League.

Confusion King in Ring

NEW YORK (AP) — The already confused heavyweight boxing situation has become even more muddled with the New York State Athletic Commission's announcement that it would not recognize the winner of the elimination tournament being staged by the World Boxing Association.

Those in the tournament are Leotis Martin of Philadelphia, Jimmy Ellis of Louisville, Ky., Thad Spencer of San Francisco, Ernie Terrell, former WBA champ from Chicago, Karl Mil-denberger of Germany, Oscar Bonavena of Argentina and names as Joe Frazier, George Jerry Quarry of Los Angeles.

LBJ FACES

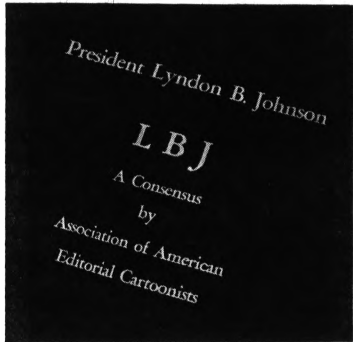

The Nation's Cartoonists!

"Oh was some power the giftie gie us
To see oursels as others see us!"

So said Robert Burns in his immortal poem. Substituting words with pen and ink, members of the Association of American Editorial Cartoonists showed President Johnson what he looks like to them. The cartoonists, representing newspapers and news organizations throughout the U.S. and Canada, presented the President with an album of their works, some shown here. The original caricatures depicted their impressions of the familiar countenance, nearly all emphasizing the ample nose, cleft chin and the smile wrinkles around the mouth and eyes. At the time of the presentation of the album in the White House, President Johnson was also made an Honorary Member of the Association and given his membership card. He was admonished to carry this card at all times. It is suspected that some mornings when the newspapers are spread out before him he must be sorely tempted to tear that membership card into shreds.

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—The body of a 93-year-old woman, stabbed 32 times with an ice pick, was found late yesterday in her restaurant apartment on the city's northeast side. The name of the victim was withheld pending notification of next kin.
Police said the woman apparently was killed sometime Tuesday night or yesterday morning. An autopsy was to be performed today.
The body was discovered by another tenant who became suspicious when she noticed bottles of milk sitting outside the victim's apartment door all day yesterday.

'Federal Offices Lure State Politicos'

EAST LANSING (UPI) — The federal government drains states of their most able political leaders, thus strengthening the federal system at the expense of the states, a Michigan State University political scientist reports in a new book.

State government, Dr. Joseph A. Schlesinger says, doesn't encourage long-term careers for persons interested in politics or government service. The politically ambitious, he concludes, set their sights on national office early in their careers.

He says this weakens state government by robbing it of many of its most capable leaders and reflects in the approach they take to legislation.

"It is unlikely that promising state officials will lead the fight to reduce the nation's powers," Schlesinger points out. "This has been a significant influence in weakening the states by reducing the potential for leadership in state problems far beyond the obvious."

LA Police Discard Weapons in Ocean

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A fisherman in Catalina Channel now may hook a rifle, a sword or a police pistol.

Wednesday police dumped into the ocean a boatload of worn or defective weapons including 1,200 handguns, 500 rifles and shotguns, more than 1,000 knives, hatchets, blackjacks, swords and siggins.

Even 1,000 obsolete police badges were dropped into the secret ocean site 2,500 to 3,000 feet deep.

Man Gets 1st Medical Aid in 42 Years

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Frank Perry, who will be 100 years old in September, left Butterworth Hospital today after his first trip to a hospital in 42 years.

Perry was taken to the hospital for a mild case of flu over his objections. His physician, Dr. Gordon Van Otteren, first got acquainted with Perry, a retired railroad worker, when he broke several ribs last February but refused to go to a hospital.

"It was amazing," Dr. Van Otteren said yesterday, "but as far as I could discover, that was the first medical attention he had in 42 years."

Perry first was hospitalized in 1921 when he was working for a railroad and a coupling mishap cost him his right arm at the elbow.

Perry, described as a model patient at Butterworth Hospital, said he had no specific goals, "except I want to stick around as long as I can."

Negro Again Seeks Top Cleveland Spot

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Carl B. Stokes, the Negro state representative who almost was elected mayor of Cleveland in 1965, is trying for the office again.

Stokes filed for the Oct. 3 Democratic primary just before the deadline Wednesday, making it a four-man race that includes incumbent Mayor Ralph S. Locher. Two men have entered the Republican primary.

In 1965 Stokes ran as an independent and finished second, just 2,143 votes behind Locher.

Gaylord Has Alpine Fete

GAYLORD (AP) — No one in Gaylord has any problems today, if the legend of Boog holds true to its promise.

At the opening of the third annual Alpine Festival Wednesday, Gaylord residents and an estimated 1,000 visitors scribbled their problems on slips of paper, cast them onto a fire, and their problems disappeared in a puff of smoke.

Known as the "Burning of Boog," the custom has been kept every year at the festival in this city, which dubs itself "The Ski Capital of the Midwest."

ALPINE PARADE

Three hundred, attired in Alpine costumes, paraded through the downtown section. Then, the festival committee supplied what it billed as the "world's largest coffee break" to the visitors.

Today, 19-year-old Sally Drinkert abdicates as festival queen. One of the 10 current contestants for the title will be crowned in her stead.

Income Tax Share Not Enough for City

Michigan's new state income tax will mean $187,335 more for city coffers, City Manager Joseph A. Warren said at the City Commission meeting last night.

Warren, requested to review the city's financial status by Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., said this amount "doesn't come close to what the city will need in the way of added revenue for next year."

Under the new income tax law, which goes into effect Oct. 1, cities, villages and townships receive one-eighth of one per cent collected in the area.

This works out to about $2.40 per capita return, he said. Warren again said the city will need nearly $1.6 million more in 1968 just to continue city services at the present level.

Being discussed by a Citizens Finance Study Committee are two methods of raising the $1.6 million — a flat city income tax or a hike in the millage rate on real estate.

The committee is expected to make a recommendation at a meeting Monday. It will probably be followed closely by the City Commission.

In order to get $1.6 million, Warren said, the city would have to hike the charter-limited 10-mill property levy by 4 mills or effect a city income tax tied to a 3-mill property tax cut.

A city income tax of one per cent for residents, one half of one per cent for non-residents working in Pontiac, would bring in $2.9 million less $87,000 to administer the tax, he said.

A 3-mill tax cut would leave the city $1,571,000 he said. A 4-mill property tax hike would bring in $1,656,000.

STATE INCOME TAX

The city manager said the city would end up netting $178,847 from the state income tax law, or about what three-eighths of a mill property tax would bring in.

Any new tax will likely have to be approved by a vote of the public and commissioners are talking about a fall election.

A vote is required to hike property taxes. The commission can enact an income tax, but a referendum would no doubt be petitioned for.

Commissioners are also considering the possibility that voters will react adversely to new taxes.

CUTS IN SERVICES

Should this happen cuts in services are expected. Since 85 per cent of all the city's general fund goes for employee salaries and benefits this means a lay off of some 100 employees. The city now has 771 employees.

Warren said if $1.6 million new income is generated, the city will need $500,000 just to overcome the "deficit" the city is now carrying and another $500,000 to meet expected employee demands for more money.

Any new services would be essentially for more police, a department, officials say, that is in crying need for personnel.

Press Reward Seen as Aid Congo Reports Border Fighting

The offer of $1,000 reward by The Pontiac Press is seen as a big help in the investigation of the brutal slaying-robbbery of Edward Emmett DeConick, a West Bloomfield Township trustee.

As of today no arrests had been made, but several leads were being followed as State Police and Federal Bureau of Investigation agents were aiding the probe.

DeConick, 43, was slain at his home at 5447 W. Maple Monday night by four intruders. Both he and his sister, Kathleen, 21, were beaten and shot. Miss DeConick was shot through the left eye and left for dead, but is said to be recovering at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Pontiac.

The bandits took a floor safe and cash-box with valuables in cash, securities and jewels that total between $30,000 and $50,000, police said.

The FBI is checking possible interstate movement of the loot.

West Bloomfield police hope to question Miss DeConick further today at the hospital where she is being kept under guard.

She was able to describe the intruders briefly in a previous interview. She said they were three Negro males, one short, stocky and the other two tall and thin.

A light-skinned woman was with them. The later gained entry to the house on the ruse of needing to use the phone about her car. All the suspects are said to be in their 20's.

West Bloomfield's 13-man police force and other employees have been mobilized to aid in the investigation, working almost continually.

Township Supervisor John Warren said "We have some promising leads. The reward money should prove helpful."

The Press' reward is to be administered by Oakland County Probate Judges Eugene A. Moore, Donald E. Adams and Norman R. Barnard.

Additional offers of reward money are expected and township officials said several individuals have contacted them.

The township treasurer, Mrs. Lillian Warner, is handling information.

KINSHASA, The Congo (AP) — Fighting was reported on the Congo's eastern border yesterday as the Congolese government claimed foreign mercenary soldiers had landed at the major cities of Kisangani, Stanleyville and Bukavu.

President Joseph D. Mobutu decreed a state of emergency throughout the country and complained to the U.N. Security Council of aggression by invaders sent from "Western countries." It was widely believed the mercenaries were acting on behalf of ex-Premier Moise Tshombe, who was kidnapped to Algeria last week.

The Belgian consul in Bukavu, on the eastern border north of Tshombe's former stronghold in Katanga province, reported to Brussels that fighting had broken out in the eastern Congo but gave no details.

Mobutu said foreign settlers had attacked the Congolese army in Bukavu and fighting was in progress.

The U.S. consul Bukavu, Triston P. Crigler, reported to Washington that the town was "under the control of mercenary-led national army dissidents."

'AIRPORT SEIZED'

Mobutu reported two plane-loads of foreign commandos had seized the airport at Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville and the biggest city in the northeast Congo, while the government radio claimed foreign mercenaries had parachuted into Bukavu.

Romney Likely to Run in N.H.

MIRROR LAKE, N.H. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George W. Romney is building political fences here and a private supporter says he expects the governor to announce by the first of a year that he will enter the New Hampshire presidential primary.

Leonard Hall, former Republican national chairman and now leader of a national organization boosting Romney for the Republican presidential nomination, said he expects Romney to announce the plans in late fall or early winter.

Romney received a "very encouraging reception" from 10 of the state's 10 Republicans in a private meeting yesterday at the start of a "working vacation" in New Hampshire, Hall said.

Romney said only that if he decides to seek the nomination next year, he will choose New Hampshire to make his first bid for votes.

The state's presidential primary March 12 is the nation's first.

KEY PEOPLE

Romney said he planned to "meet the people of significance" from throughout state and with other NEW England Republicans during his four-day stay.

Summer Weather Will Return

Summertime temperatures will return to the Pontiac area after a cool 50 to 55 tonight.

The weatherman predicts increasing cloudiness and warmer tomorrow, the high in the upper 70s. There's a chance of showers Saturday with little change in temperature.

According to the forecast skies will be partly overcast over all of Michigan tomorrow with a chance of showers in most areas.

This morning's east to southeasterly winds at five to 15 miles per hour will continue.

A low of 53 was registered in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The thermometer reading at 1 p.m. was 72.

Percentage chance of rain: Today 5, tonight 10, tomorrow 20.

The Press Picked No. 1 in Circulation Contest

BOSTON, Mass. — Pontiac Press circulation sales promotion is tops in the nation!

The Press was awarded first place over-all in the annual contest conducted by the International Circulation Managers Assn. at their annual sales conference here.

The prize-winning effort was created for sales promotion of a six-week sampling campaign which The Press launched in May.

Judges praised the unique use of a variety of unusual articles, including gum, needles, buttons, balloons, and pennies in the campaign which saw free sample papers distributed to a wide area.

Approximately 155 papers submitted entries in the contest.

TOP HONOR

Earlier this week The Press won top honor in its circulation classification with the same sales promotion entry. On hand to receive the awards was Press Circulation Manager Arlo McCully.

In previous contests, The Press took first place in 1964 and received second place last year.

Blonde OU Coed Go-Going Way Through College

A tall, blonde coed is go-going through Oakland University.

Carol F. Hoffer, a junior majoring in French at OU, is one of the newest members of the summer work go-go dancing set.

She and other college coeds across the country are no longer slinging hash or scrubbing floors during the summer to help pay college expenses.

Instead, they are go-going through school with hourly wages of $3 to $4.

SWINGING TIME

But now she is dancing to "Lady Godiva" in Madison with her long hair swinging in time to the fringe on her white costume.

Her bare feet slide across the candy-striped platform as her torso jerks to a blaring folk-rock tune.

A resident of Vandenberg Hall on campus, Carol was publicity manager of the university yearbook, Ascendant, the past school year.

MARK KUHNS ASKS KELLEY TO Rule on Legality of Income Tax Law

LANSING (AP) — The first shot against Michigan's new income tax law was fired Wednesday by Sen. George W. Kuhn, R-Birmingham.

Charging that the Legislature passed the 2.6 per cent personal income tax in a form "that at times appears to be a ruse to escape the review of the people," Kuhn asked Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley to rule whether the law is constitutional.

Soviets Woo Latins in U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union began wooing Latin American members of the United Nations today in an effort to salvage something from the abortive U.N. Assembly session on the Middle East.

Assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan adjourned the 122-nation forum until next Wednesday to give members a chance to "bring about something that we might be able to refer to as a fruitful result."

Israeli officials, meanwhile, sought to allay a furor roused by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan's statement that the Gaza Strip, administered by Egypt before the June 5 war, would be incorporated into Israel.

Both the Israeli Defense Ministry and the Israeli delegation to the U.N. issued emphatic denials that the government of Israel had made any decision on the future of the strip.

SALVAGEABLE PARTS

Informed sources said Soviet Ambassador Platon D. Morozov was urging the Latin Americans to try to draft an acceptable compromise resolution from salvageable parts of the rival Latin American and nonaligned proposals which failed to get the needed two-thirds majority in the assembly Tuesday.

U.S. Jet Pilots Taunt N. Viets Say 'Come Out, Fight' to Disappearing Reds

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI) — American jet pilots today challenged the North Vietnamese air force to "come out and fight."

Pilots of the 366th Fighter Wing said they have only seen retreating tails of North Vietnamese MIGs fleeing to the sanctuary of Communist China the past month.

"They won't fight," complained Col. Robert Maloy of Coral Gables, Fla. "When we come in, they go out."

When we leave, they fly back 15 minutes later, probably so their propaganda can reach two of their planes chased us back to South Vietnam."

The last MIG downed by the F-4 Phantom jets of the 366th was June 5, near Hanoi, by Maj. J. Durward Preister of Hampton, S.C., and Capt. John Parkhurst of Midland, Mich.

PILOTS FLEE

Since then the North Vietnamese have fled to Chinese airspace where they circle immune from attack while the Americans carry out their bombing and strafing mission.

Col. Frederick Blesse of Tucson, Ariz., said the Communists undoubtedly were fleeing to avoid pilot morale problem and plane shortage from the spring beating they absorbed from American pilots.

"They lost 37 planes in a month," the deputy commander of the wing's operations said. "And all of them were in aerial combat."

Week's Toll Drops to 161 Killed in Viet

SAIGON (AP) — The number of Americans killed in the Vietnam war dropped markedly last week, but the report Thursday by the U.S. Command did not reflect the latest intense fighting along the demilitarized zone. Casualties in that action will not show up until next week's official summary.

The number of enemy reported killed also decreased last week, while the toll of South Vietnamese government troops rose.

The U.S. Command said 161 Americans were killed in action in the seven-day period ending at midnight Saturday, and 1,529 South Vietnamese were killed.

No figures were available on the number missing or captured.

A week earlier 274 Americans had been reported killed in action, 1,258 wounded and 14 missing.

There were 1,331 enemy reported killed last week as compared with reported 1,392 a week earlier.

The command said the period covered in the latest report was one in which "major contacts with the enemy decreased."

Livonia Trio Is Sentenced for Conspiracy

A Livonia man was sentenced yesterday to 2½ years in prison and his parents placed on two years probation for attempted conspiracy to commit murder.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Parrell E. Roberts ordered the maximum sentence for Jules Sorna, 25, while placing the parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sorna, on probation.

All three Sornas pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of attempted conspiracy on June 13 during their trial on conspiracy to commit murder.

The three were accused of planning to have a woman killed. The woman was a witness to an armed robbery of which Jules Sorna has since been found guilty.

He is waiting sentence on the holdup conviction.

Police were alerted to the scheme by Bert Davis of Detroit, who the Sornas tried to hire to kill Mrs. Virginia Gogates, the operator of a Farmington party store.

Davis went to police after he had been approached in a Detroit bar by Jules Sorna.

School Budget Passed, Board Officers Elected

BIRMINGHAM — A $14,153,943 budget for the school district has been adopted by the board for the coming school year.

New officers were also elected with Pell Hollingshead chosen president. He replaces George W. Cobb who announced his retirement from the board last month.

Other officers elected were Dr. Charles Leach, vice president; George Schmidt, secretary; Richard Holsiead, treasurer.

A report from the personnel department shows there are 87 teacher vacancies.

There were 263 to be filled due to resignations, leaves of absence, retirements and leaves. These figures represent a turnover of more than 15 per cent. This is slightly lower than last year, the report indicated.

House to Eye Road Tax Hike

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan House of Representatives, still recuperating from passing the state's first income tax, returns today to face the equally painful problem of whether to hike highway taxes by $60 million.

Awaiting House action is a four-bill package already passed by the Senate and endorsed by Gov. George Romney, the State Highway Department, road builders and local governments.

• Increase the tax on gasoline from 6 cents to 7 cents a gallon, increasing road-building income by $33 million a year.

• Raise license plate fees from 35 cents per 100 pounds of vehicle weight back to the 1934 level of 50 cents per hundredweight to pull in $23.6 million more yearly.

• Hike license fees for commercial trucks by 10 per cent and for motorcycles and motorcycles by 50 per cent, raising that revenue by $4 million a year.

• Juggle state-local allocation of highway funds to give cities and villages another 2 per cent for local road construction.

SHORTAGE REMAINS
The State Highway Department, which has pushed for enactment of the higher taxes, said the increases would take care of "emergency needs only" and would still leave the department $37 million short of planned construction needs.

Pontiac Youth Shot at Plant

A Pontiac youth was felled by a shotgun blast early today as he left work at the Pontiac Motor Division plant, was reported to city police.

James H. Goodson, 20, of 90 Carr told officers he was walking in the plant's parking lot near Kennett about 1:30 a.m. when one of two men in a parked car ordered him to get into the vehicle.

He said he refused and was shot when he turned to walk away.

Goodson is in fair condition in Pontiac General Hospital with a wound in the lower back.

Police said they arrested two brothers in their home shortly after the incident.

Taken into custody were R. C. Burton, 24, and Samuel Burton, 22, both of 290 Ferry. They were linked to the shooting by Goodson and witnesses, according to police.

Officers said they impounded a single-shot, 12-gauge shotgun at the Ferry address.

County GOP Unit Seeks Nonpartisan COG Study

The board of directors of the hands of appointed rather than elected officials," Dr. LeVeque added.

He pointed out that the citizens committee is concerned about COG because regional government and local self government are contradictory.

"Our organization feels a complete study of COG will bring to light any tendency toward a 'Metro' government in their objectives," Dr. LeVeque said.

COG has a potential membership of 345 cities, townships, school districts, villages and counties in the six-county area of Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Monroe.

It now has about 150 governmental units participating and at its next meeting will elect a temporary 25-member executive committee.

Main purpose of COG, according to its proponents, is to strengthen abilities of local government to meet their own needs, and in so doing, aid in meeting the broader common needs of the region.

Area Appalled by Bloomfield Atrocity

It would be hard to conceive of a more dastardly crime than that committed Monday night by a gang of four — three men and a woman — against an elderly West Bloomfield brother and sister.

On pretext of making an emergency phone call, the fiends gained admittance to the home of the victims, subdued and bound them, and methodically ransacked the house, making off with a safe and cash box containing a substantial sum of money.

But not before they bestially turned gunfire on their helpless prisoners, killing Edward E. DeConick, a prominent businessman-farmer, and leaving for dead Kathleen DeConick.

Miss DeConick after freeing herself from her bonds was able to make her way to nearby quarters of farm workers, who summoned police.

Seldom has a community been so aroused by an act of violence termed by a township police official "the most vicious" in his experience, as it has by the West Bloomfield atrocity. An intensive manhunt, in which the FBI has joined, is on for the murderers, and a reward fund is taking shape.

The Pontiac Press as it has in the past led off in this latter direction with a pledge of $1,000.

It goes without saying that no human effort is to be spared in apprehending the perpetrators of a crime the foulness of which beggars credulity, and prescribing punishment for it as severe as the law permits.

Those guilty not only brutalized two estimable citizens but struck at the security of all respectable and law-abiding members of society.

Wimbledon Wins Athletic Uplift for U.S.

The decline of United States' prestige we hear so much about also laps over into the world of sports, which is an important ambassador of good will and an opinion molder.

While Uncle Sam's amateur athletes do well — and continue to break world records — in some areas, notably track and field and swimming, and have been impressive in golf competition with Britain, America has taken her lumps in other forms of athletic rivalry.

Recent examples include another mediocre finish in a world hockey tournament in Canada, fourth place in the World Basketball Tournament at Montevideo, a loss to Ecuador in Davis Cup tennis, and no "seeding" of any Americans in the prestigious Wimbledon tennis tourney for the first time since seeding was introduced in 1927.

Part of the blame for poor U.S. showings is the feud between groups that control amateur athletes, groups that would rather, it seems, perpetuate their own power and jealousies than win.

Maybe that's why a young man named CHARLES PASARELL, a Puerto Rican representing the United States, should be loudly applauded for fooling the experts and upsetting the Wimbledon defending champion in the opening round. And by way of icing on the international tennis cake, three American girls celebrated Independence Day by knocking off English and Australian opponents to move into the semifinals today.

Wanted: Route Directions to Vietnam Peace Table

We've all heard the story of the rural character who was asked by a tourist for directions to a nearby town.

The character pondered deeply, then finally declared: "Mister there just ain't no way to get there from here!"

It is assumed that the traveler managed somehow to reach his destination.

If he did, he could be of inestimable service to his Country at a time when a feeling prevails that in Vietnam there just ain't no way to get from the battlefield to the peace table.

Maybe the unknown traveler could help solve that one, too. Will he step forward, please?

Foreign Policy at Turning Point

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — U.S. foreign policy is at a turning point although, like other turns in American history, at the moment it seems more certain than ever.

The New Deal is a good example of how this country, when it has to break with the past, must feel its way along. A new direction had to be found when the depression hit over 30 years ago.

It was learned only gradually that the government must take responsibility for the general welfare. All the social legislation since has been based on that concept.

When the United States got into World War II it seemed likely, but not certain, it would now at last shake off its ancient isolationism; something it did not do after World War I.

Its first gesture toward a new internationalism — was helping create the United Nations in 1945. But it wasn't until 1947, with Greece and Turkey under Communist pressure, that a new, far-

-ranging foreign policy was laid down.

'OWN DESTINY' President Harry S. Truman did it with his doctrine that this country would support "free people who are resisting attempted subjugation" and trying to work out their "own destiny."

Truman could afford to be so sweeping at that time when, in a way, the United States was master of the world. It alone had the atomic bomb in 1947. But all that followed had its roots in the Truman Doctrine.

The United States became extremely cautious about knocking heads with the Soviet Union after Moscow developed its own hydrogen weapons. This was a two-way street. The Soviets became cautious about the United States, except for Nikita Khrushchev's one big goof when he tried to put missiles in Cuba.

A good example of this double caution was the way the United States and the Soviet Union pussy-footed around the crisis in the Middle East where, if they got directly involved, they would have been on opposite sides.

SORE CHAPTER But the sorest chapter in the Truman Doctrine — for Americans, at least — has been the Vietnam involvement.

For Americans it's bad enough to be in a war at all. But this is a totally frustrating war.

When the United States barged into China's backyard in this war in Southeast Asia, the Chinese were no match, except in ground forces, for American military power.

But now they have had their hydrogen explosions and in a few years no doubt will have enough hydrogen bombs and missiles to risk a war with this country. The United States will have to be far more cautious than it has been when it decided to go into Vietnam.

CHANGE INEVITABLE

In time China will almost certainly feel about an American intrusion anywhere in the Asian area as this country would feel about Chinese intrusion in the American area. Thus a change in American foreign policy is inevitable.

And even in economic aid the policy is likely to become more selective, for although the United States has pumped out billions to help other countries — with a desire, of course, to keep them in the American camp — the results have not all been happy.

David Lawrence Says:

U.N. Suffers Defeat on Mideast

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union was reported in the headlines generally as having been "defeated" in the United Nations when its resolution endeavoring to blame the Israelis as the aggressors in the Middle East war was rejected by the U.N. General Assembly. But it was really the U.N. itself which suffered a severe defeat in the eyes of the world.

For the international organization, of which so much has been expected, failed to face up to the real issue in the Middle East dispute.

First it was essential that a verdict on the statement of the facts be submitted. Secondly, competent legal authorities should have been asked to state the obligations of each side under international law.

The world will not move toward more effective procedures to achieve peace until fact-finding in a disinterested way is achieved. Principles then can be applied which have universal support.

POLITICAL VERDICT To try to settle a dispute between rivals otherwise means only that their respective allies will line up also on opposite sides and, in the end, a political verdict is rendered.

It takes a two-thirds vote of the United Nations assembly to enact a resolution that is binding on the parties to a controversy. But none of the resolutions on the Middle East war obtained a two-thirds vote.

Many of the member states realized this would happen and cast their votes for or against one side or the other, knowing beforehand that eventually no resolution would be put into effect.

The Israeli-Arab quarrel could have been submitted to a fact-finding commission or a court of law in the first place to make an authoritative exposition of what had actually transpired.

RELEVANT FACTORS

The threat to close the Gulf of Aqaba as well as the Suez Canal and the movement of Egyptian troops toward the Israeli border were relevant factors prior to the firing of the first shots on June 5.

Unless disputes of this kind are carefully analyzed and the truth is revealed to the whole world, the United Nations itself cannot make much progress in bringing about peace or in preventing wars.

It is a matter of regret that the United Nations has not conducted its activities in a way that could win widespread support.

The spectacle of a variety of resolutions being introduced by partisan groups is not a credible one and is not calculated to enhance the prestige of the United Nations.

Nor is the behavior of the Soviet government since the "cease-fire" likely to be regarded throughout the world as helping the cause of peace.

Viet Air War Puzzle Solved by Iron Brains

HICKAM AIR FORCE BASE, Hawaii — The gigantic jigsaw of the air war over Vietnam is assembled here at Hickam. It takes shape in the iron brains of an astonishing battery of electronic computers which keep track of every last nut, bolt and bomb with which the CONSIDINE war is being fought.

To the machines, it is not a puzzle. To human brains, even to top Air Force logisticians, it is stunning.

The Air Force's inventory for the war ranges from eight-engine B52 bombers to corn platters and chewing gum. The computers run a constant check on those tens of thousands of separate items.

The computers sound a warning, the equivalent of "halt" on a pin-ball machine, if any item is reduced to a preset level. They keep tabs on every plane in the war and support of the war.

They know the type and number of every aircraft that has been grounded for repair, how long it sits on the ground, what's wrong with it, and where there's a spare part that will mend the damage and get the ship back into the fight.

If an F105 at a Thailand base can't fly because it needs a new brake shoe, and that base doesn't have a spare one, the computers are called on to remember where the nearest brake shoe of that type has been stored, the section of the depot where it is, what shelf it is on, what cargo aircraft is ready to carry it to the wounded bird.

It's never a case of "Button, button, who's got the button?" The computers know just where that button is, like God knows where his sparrows fall.

His mission has been entrusted as one that could initiate further hostilities.

The United Nations is only as strong as its most powerful members.

As long as the political influence exerted by the large countries on the smaller states is centered on building up factionalism and partnership, the United Nations can hardly become the instrument of world peace which it was designed to be by its founders.

Free Speech Can Be a Mockery

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA — Free speech is a precious right which should be protected against encroachment. It is at the heart of our freedoms.

But some speeches and some written articles these days openly urge or suggest criminal acts. They detail how these acts can be accomplished. They spur people on to break the laws.

One wonders why these speakers and writers are not prosecuted.

It claims to have a total weekly distribution of 5,596 copies, including 5,000 to mail subscribers and 590 distributed free.

One issue of New Left Notes contains an article which suggests: "There are numerous ways of messing up draft boards. Some are only harassment techniques, while others may be good for organizing."

"You have a right," says the New Left Notes article "to see the file you (draft) board has on you if you make an appointment. Under most circumstances, there is nothing to prevent you from ab-

Night Baseball Games Spoil Mother's Evening

What's all this hogwash about night baseball games? A woman works hard all day and just when she gets the kids to bed and can relax and watch a little television, the ball game starts and her husband is glued to the game until it's time for them both to fall into bed.

This goes on every day of the week and when the weekend comes along, Saturdays and Sundays are full of kid stuff or sports.

Sports Fans Give Views on Baseball Teams

After seeing the White Sox play the Tigers over the weekend, one may wonder how such a puny hitting team could be leading the league. This American League is nothing more than a minor league any more. At present only six of the more than 260 players are hitting over .300. I'm in favor of a national league team coming to Detroit so we can again see some major league baseball.

GRUMPY

THREE CHEERS

The Tigers need new top management. The Red Wings have a bad season occasionally, but year after year they're a contender and often champion. The Lions have won the title and finished around the top most of the time. The Tigers haven't won a pennant for 20 years and won't win one in the next 20 unless there's better direction from the front office and the owners. Perhaps a complete housecleaning there would fix everything.

The New Left Notes article continues: "It might also be good to simply send your board a card saying, 'I appeal,' and leave it up to them to find out precisely what it is that you are appealing."

A beneficial side-effect of this form of harassment is that you cannot be drafted while anything relating to your draft status is on appeal."

At another point in the article the writer says: "It is possible to register people who do not exist... You can get a photostat of a birth certificate for a deceased individual... go to a draft board and register under a false name and address."

"The fun ensues when this mythical person does not respond to any mail and fails to report for a physical or induction. Ultimately, federal agencies will spend much time attempting to track down people who do not exist."

Off Patriotism Greeted by McDonald

Mobs raging through the streets, marches that burst into full-scale riots, violence in the name of justice — the long, hot summer is upon us. And instead of preparing for picnics, we must brace ourselves for pickets.

No one denies the right of all Americans to express either their assent or dissent. As I have said on many occasions, it is our most cherished right. And certainly, the right to express one's opinion includes the right to join with those of like mind to physically demonstrate.

But, rights presuppose duties. And the right to demonstrate carries with it the equally compelling duty that the demonstration be peaceful.

Last week two incidents occurred which pleased me and which make my point. The first involves four high school students. They are Negro. They are from Atlanta, Ga. And while other members of their race rioted at home, these young lads demonstrated their belief in America by walking from Atlanta to Washington.

They labeled their journey a "March of Patriotism" and carried with them an American flag. They came to the Capitol to demonstrate their support for our country and our efforts in Vietnam.

And I can assure you that the effect of these four upon the United States Congress will be more compelling than any howling mob rampaging through the streets. These young men visited the vice president, the speaker of the House and many ranking members of Congress while here. I, too, had the pleasure of meeting them and joining others in contributing to a fund to let them fly home.

The second thing that happened was that the Judiciary Committee reported out the "Anti-Riot Bill." It should come to the floor shortly, and I intend to vote for it. For it will make it a federal crime for anyone to cross state lines or to use interstate communications for the purpose of inciting, or even attempting to incite, a riot.

The penalties are $10,000 or five years in prison or both.

Waterford Fires Trail 1966's Halfway Figure

The number of fires in Waterford Township this year continued to trail last year's total at the halfway point.

A report compiled by the township fire department indicated that firemen were called on to extinguish 271 blazes the first six months of 1966.

This compares with 219 fires through June this year, a decrease of 52 from the same period a year ago.

Last month, township fire fighters were summoned to 30 fires, 19 fewer than the June 1966 total and three less than in May this year.

Seventeen of last month's fires occurred in buildings. Nine others originated in brush and grass, according to the monthly report.

MISCELLANEOUS FIRES
Six fires happened in motor vehicles, one each in rubbish near a building and a house trailer and two other blazes were classified as miscellaneous.

Direct fire damage last month was estimated at $20,410, raising the six-month total this year to $108,453. In 1966, by comparison, direct fire damage amounted to an estimated $96,375 for the first half.

On the plus side, no one has been killed or injured in township fires this year. In 1966, five persons lost their lives and another person was injured in fires through June.

Including rescue and emergency runs, township firemen responded to 57 alarms last month, compared with 73 the previous June.

Through six months, 349 alarms have been answered by township firemen against 414 during the same period last year.

BLOD TOFFEE BROWNIES — Bits of chopped chocolate-covered English toffee bars are folded into cookie batter to give cookies

Brownies Hold Bits of Crushed Toffee Bars

When you've got a houseful of wild Indians, you might need "reinforcements" to keep the natives from getting too restless.

Put away your shootin' iron, mom. Don't call the cavalry! Suggest a raid on the cookie jar instead of the old homestead.

Good cooks and wise mothers know you just can't have enough cookie recipes in your collection — there's always room for a new and exciting

one, and these "Blond-Toffee Brownies" will go right to the top of your list.

The taste surprise here comes from a unique ingredient — candy bars.

BLOD TOFFEE BROWNIES

- 1½ cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- ½ cup (packed) brown sugar
- 2 eggs

- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup crushed chocolate-covered English toffee bars
- Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream butter or margarine. Add both sugars and cream well.

Add eggs and vanilla; beat until fluffy. Blend in dry ingredients. Stir in crushed candy.

MARKET BASKET

(350 degrees) until done, about 30 minutes. When cool, cut into bars 3" long and 1" wide.

If desired, bars may be frost-

ed when cool with a white or chocolate butter frosting, before cutting. Sprinkle more candy bits on top. Yield: About 3 dozen bars.

Book a Help for Your Luau

Drape your bedsheet around you like a toga and come to my Roman orgy, one invitation read. The hostess, always a source of creative ideas for parties, also held a Texas-style barbecue and a New England clam bake. But her most fabulous party was a Hawaiian luau.

On her table was a feast fit for Queen Liliuokalani. Both the living room and patio were decorated like an island retreat.

The guests wore hula skirts and maumaus, and the lilting melodies of old Hawaii on the turntable just filled the room with romance.

It was one luau of a luau and you would have guessed she spent weeks preparing for it. Remarkably, it was easy to prepare.

The exotic foods were made quickly and effortlessly from supplies in any cupboard. Decorations and costumes were either made at home or ordered by mail.

Entertainment, as always, was most successful because the guests provided it. Impromptu. A Hawaiian luau's always a wonderful party, and here are some tips on how you can hold one. They come from the people over at Orchids of Hawaii, who offer a free guidebook crammed with ideas on how to make a luau your most successful party ever.

To receive your free copy of the guidebook, Let's Have a Luau, send a No. 10 business envelope with your return address and five-cent stamp to Orchids of Hawaii, 205 Seventh Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10001.

Each is intriguingly different in flavor, velvety smooth, and extraordinarily rich and creamy.

First offering is Chilled Pimiento Consomme, a prettily pink and creamy soup flecked with bits of jellied consomme.

Next is Chilled Cream of Mushroom Soup, a gourmet-minded specialty originating in Chester County, Pennsylvania.

Finally, there's the exotic concoction, Chilled Curry of Avocado Soup, a delicacy designed to delight and soothe parched palates.

Because all of these elegant summer soups are made with the convenient, pantry-shelf creamers, they are easy to whip up on the spur of the moment.

Even if you never use a creamer in your coffee, you'll want to keep this remarkable powdered creamer on hand for use in these sensationally good soups.

Chilled Pimiento Consomme

- 1 10½-ounce can beef consomme
- 4-ounce can pimientos, drained
- 2 tablespoons instant minced onion
- 1 cup nondairy creamer
- 2 cups boiling water
- ¼ teaspoon lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon salt

Refrigerate consomme until jellied. In blender, combine pimientos, minced onion, creamer, boiling water, lemon juice and salt.

Cover and blend until smooth. Pour into bowl; cover and refrigerate until thoroughly chilled.

About 10 minutes before serving, add jellied consomme to pimiento mixture, mixing lightly.

If desired, serve in bowls surrounded by crushed ice. Makes 4 cups or 4 servings.

Chilled Cream of Mushroom Soup

- 1 2-ounce package garden vegetable soup mix

- 4 cups boiling water
- 1½ cups nondairy creamer
- 1 10½-ounce can condensed cream of mushroom soup

In a large saucepan, combine vegetable soup mix and water. Bring to the boil; reduce heat; partially cover and simmer 15 minutes. Blend in creamer and undiluted mushroom soup; heat through.

Place a small amount at a time in blender; buzz until smooth and creamy. Chill thoroughly before serving. Makes 6 cups or 6 servings.

Chilled Curry of Avocado Soup

- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 cup nondairy creamer
- 1 teaspoon curry powder
- 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
- 2½ cups boiling chicken broth
- 1 ripe avocado, mashed

In a heavy-bottomed saucepan, melt butter over low heat until frothy. Add creamer, curry powder, beaten egg yolk and boiling chicken broth, all at once; beat with wire whip to blend.

Increase heat to moderately high; cook and stir until mixture comes to the boil and thickens. Blend in mashed avocado and heat through.

Chill thoroughly. Beat with wire whip before serving. Makes 4 cups or 4 servings.

Salad-Relish Mix

Onion and Beet Salad-Relish: arrange in alternate layers in shallow bowl, cold sliced canned or cooked beet slices and thin-sliced sweet Spanish onions. Or combine tiny whole cooked or canned beets and onion rings. Add oil and vinegar or tomato-free French or Italian dressing. Let stand in refrigerator several hours.

Ice cream whipped to a froth with milk and flavoring makes delightful and nutritious drinks for summer refreshment.

CHILLED SOUP — Cool parched throats in hot weather with Chilled Cream of Mushroom Soup or some other version of cold soup. If you have a blender, the preparation is simple and fast.

CRAB SALAD SUPREME — Prepare one package frozen patty shells, according to package directions. Combine two cans (7½ oz.) crab meat, one cup finely chopped celery, two tablespoons finely chopped green pepper, one tablespoon minced onion, one teaspoon lemon juice, six pitted ripe olives, sliced and one-half cup salad dressing. Season to taste. Chill. Just before serving, fill warm patty shells with salad. Garnish with whole olives. Makes six servings.

Saving on Food Budget Calls for Careful Choices at Store

EAST LANSING — If homemakers are really serious about saving as much as 25 per cent on their food budget, it can be done, advises Mrs. Anita Dean, extension specialist in foods and nutrition at Michigan State University.

The basic food groups contain products that can cut food costs considerably. But, she cautions to avoid possibly cutting recommended amounts of nutrients needed for a basic diet at the same time.

But a wise, careful shopper can plan her meals around this low cost budget and still maintain adequate nutrition.

Mrs. Dean says these "lower-than-cost" choices would be limited to the following:

- Dairy products — only nonfat dry milk and cheese.
- Meat — stew beef, ground beef, salt pork, sausage, chicken and fish.
- Beans and nuts — dry beans and peanut butter.
- Flour and cereals — large proportion of flour and corn meal; only cooked cereals, not the ready-to-eat kind; some rice, macaroni products, bread, and crackers.
- Fruits — canned orange juice, some fresh oranges, bananas, fresh and canned apples, fruit juices and dried prunes.
- Potatoes — fresh only, not processed.
- Vegetables — sweet potatoes, carrots, cabbage, onions, corn and canned tomatoes.
- Fats — margarine, lard and salad dressings.
- Sweets — sugar, syrup and jelly; no soft drinks.

"Many families would have to adjust their eating habits greatly to consider economizing to this extent," Mrs. Dean says, "but this low cost food plan does provide some room for variety, if selections are made within the limits noted to obtain the desired food cost reductions."

"The greatest money savers lie in the substitution of nonfat dry milk for fluid milk and the use of less costly meat items."

Lemon, Orange, Avocado Partners in Salad

A delicious salad to serve at a luncheon, dinner or buffet is beautiful "Avocado Citrus Mold." It's tangy, creamy, filled with flavor and bits of crisp western iceberg lettuce — an appropriate addition to any festive menu.

Avocado Citrus Mold
1 head western iceberg lettuce

1 lemon
2 packages (3 oz. each) lemon gelatin
1½ cups boiling water
1¼ cups cold water
½ to ¾ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon each dry shallots, chopped chives, savory and monosodium glutamate
1 orange

1 avocado
¼ cup real mayonnaise
Few drops green food color
Core, rinse and drain lettuce. Chill in disposable plastic bag. Pare lemon, finely chopping 1 tablespoon rind; chop pulp. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; stir in cold water, salt, seasonings and chopped lemon rind and pulp. Chill half of mixture until it begins to thicken. Meanwhile, cut lettuce lengthwise into halves, place cut sides down on board and shred, then chop enough to yield 2 cups. Pare orange; chop fruit.

Fold chopped lettuce and orange into chilled gelatin mixture and turn into 6-cup mold. Chill until it gently sets in mold. Chill remaining gelatin mixture until it begins to thicken. Meanwhile, cut avocado lengthwise into halves; discard seed and skin. Mash avocado.

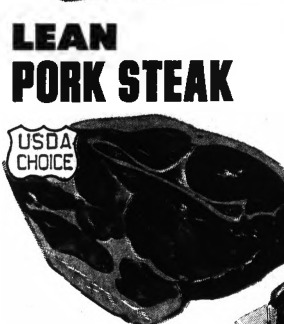

Best thickening gelatin with mashed avocado, mayonnaise and food color. Turn into mold over first layer. Chill until firm. Invert onto platter. Garnish with lettuce leaves. Makes about 8 servings.
