City to Tax Group: Review Proposal

A citizens committee which one month ago recommended a city income tax has been asked by the City Commission to reconvene and reconsider its action.

★ ★ ★

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said the Pontiac Finance Study Committee (PFSC) had overlooked the city's "immediate cash needs" in suggesting a city income tax.

"We (the commission) have no quarrel with an income tax," Taylor said, "but we've got to have money coming into the city by the first of next year."

Asked if the commission action meant preference for a millage increase, Taylor said, "yes."

By a vote of 11-8, the finance committee turned back on Feb. 3 a proposal to increase the property tax by as much as four mills.

TO HEAD COMMITTEE

Edward E. Barker Jr., who will head the study committee in the absence of chairman Robert Eldred, said the committee would meet March 16.

At the same time the finance committee urged an income tax by a vote of 20-2, it unanimously endorsed a subcommittee report calling for increased services.

"I think perhaps there is a very serious gap in this area of the committee's recommendations," Barker said.

He indicated a city representative would meet with the tax committee to further explore which city services deserved priority in allocations of hoped-for revenue.

TAX MEASURE

An income tax measure, if enacted by the City Commission prior to Nov. 1 of this year, would automatically become effective Jan. 1, 1968.

At that time, city residents would begin paying a 1 per cent levy, and Pontiac residents working in another city would pay ½ per cent, as would out-of-town residents working in Pontiac.

WOULD DELAY TAX

A referendum petition calling for a vote on the income tax, however, would delay collection of tax monies until July 1968, six months after the city claims it will exhaust its present funds.

D.C. Trip Boosts Airport Plans

A Washington meeting of Oakland County officials and U.S. congressmen Monday concerning Pontiac Municipal Airport development plans was termed "very encouraging" today by Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors.

"The purpose of our trip to Washington was to alert congressmen that the county has taken over the airport operation from the City of Pontiac and to declare our intent to improve the facility," Hamlin said.

He pointed out also that the county delegation expressed hope at the meeting that local budget appropriations would be approved in the coming years for the expansion project.

Congressmen indicated that federal aid might be forthcoming as early as 1968, he said.

The federal government will pay the full cost of an ILS (Instrument Landing System) which county officials feel is vital because the airport is the third busiest in the state.

LAG IN FACILITIES

The fact that Pontiac Municipal Airport is the only one of the state's 12 busiest airports not having an ILS lighting system in operation or under construction points up its lag in facilities.

Federal funds also are available to match land acquisitions on a 50-50 basis with local government.

Pontiac had been unable to get an ILS grant because it did not acquire sufficient land to meet requirements.

Congressmen at the bipartisan meeting were Republican Sen. Robert P. Griffin, Democratic Sen. Philip A. Hart and GOP Reps. Jack H. McDonald and William S. Broomfield.

UAW Summons Rebels for Explanation of Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Officials of a rebellious Ohio local were ordered to Detroit today to explain to United Auto Workers chieftains why workers walked out at a General Motors plant less than two weeks after a similar wildcat strike crippled GM operations.

★ ★ ★

There was a possibility the UAW would put Local 549 of Mansfield, Ohio, under trusteeship, taking it out of the hands of its officers and putting it under control of the international union.

The new walkout began late Monday night and continued through yesterday as first-shift workers refused to cross early morning picket lines.

Later in the day, picketing halted and workers began returning to their jobs. The Richland County sheriff's office estimated about half the overnight shift went to work late last night.

★ ★ ★

Today, work at the plant appeared "about normal, with workers going in and out" and no pickets, the sheriff's office said.

EFFECT UNKNOWN

A GM spokesman in Detroit said it was too soon to tell what effect the latest walkout would have on GM plants around the country.

The earlier walkout at Mansfield, where parts are made for 90 per cent of General Motors cars, led to shutdowns and layoffs at 86 company plants, idling some 196,000 workers.

Both GM and the UAW International Executive Council termed the mid-February walkout illegal and the union chiefs ordered strikers back to work.

Powell Foe Gets a Cool Reception

NEW YORK (AP) — Negro leaders in Harlem and around the country reacted coolly today to James H. Meredith's plans to run as the Republicans' choice against Democrat Adam Clayton Powell in a special congressional election April 11.

★ ★ ★

They gave him little chance of winning, and some charged he was being used.

Meredith, in agreeing to oppose Powell yesterday after being recommended by Republican leaders, said he was aware that in running he might lay himself open to "the fear and the scorn from fellow Negroes."

He said that Powell, excluded from the House last week, had lost his influence and the people deserve more than what they're getting.

★ ★ ★

Meredith's name was suggested by an unidentified Harlem Republican leader last week.

Yesterday he was recommended by members of the Republican Executive Committee from the 18th District.

Voters Nix Tax in Royal Oak

ROYAL OAK (AP) — Voters have overwhelmingly rejected a proposed 1 per cent city income tax for Royal Oak. The proposal was turned down yesterday by a 9,059-2,123 vote.

Supporters of the measure had estimated it would bring $2 million in revenue to pay for the hiring of more policemen and firemen, to meet salary demands of city employes and to develop city parks.

It was the second money-raising proposal defeated at the polls in Royal Oak in the past four months.

Last November, voters rejected a proposed city property tax hike.

City Manager Bruce Love said the voter turn-down probably would lead to a cut in city services for the next fiscal year.

But one city commissioner, Robert Patnales, said Royal Oak could meet its fiscal needs by bringing its property tax assessing into line with state law which requires assessments at 50 per cent of market value.

DOGS DESTROYED — These four mongrel dogs that mauled Peter Kohnen III, 7, of Independence Township, 12 days ago were electrocuted today at the Oakland County Animal Shelter. The owner did not want them returned. The boy is recovering at home after a week in the hospital.

Hoffa 'Just Another Inmate'

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — James Hoffa will be just another inmate behind the walls of the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., according to Warden Jacob J. Parker.

Parker said he had no plans to meet with Hoffa for the first few days and that, like the 1,700 other inmates, Hoffa will work to earn his spending money. He will get no special mail or visiting privileges, said Parker.

Federal marshals brought Hoffa here Tuesday to start an eight-year term for jury tampering. Eventually said Parker, he'll settle into a routine, but for the first month, he'll be going through an indoctrination of sorts.

Parker said Hoffa's first stop was the supply room, where he turned in his business suit for three two-piece blue denim uniforms. Parker added that the uniforms would later be "tailored to meet his needs."

Hoffa's first five to seven days in prison, Parker said, are to be spent as a member of an "admission unit," undergoing a physical examination and a series of interviews with the chaplain, education and vocational specialists and a case worker.

During this period he will be given a temporary work assignment, probably some kind of service-type work.

Except for work assignments, members of the admission unit move as a group, even for recreation periods.

"This is an orientation period for both the inmates and the clinic staff," Parker said.

Parker said that after 30 days, Hoffa will get a permanent job and be assigned to permanent quarters. Each inmate at Lewisburg has his own cell.

"We get about 1,000 admissions a year here," Parker said. "I can't have a personal meeting with each man when he arrives. I'll see him (Hoffa) when I float through the institution."

Parker said a federal prison rule limits its visiting privileges to immediate families of inmates. Hoffa will be allowed to receive visitors for three hours each month. He will be allowed to mail only three letters a month.

★ ★ ★

When Hoffa arrived Tuesday it took a prison official only seconds to examine Hoffa's commitment papers and admit him.

Although visibly shaken, Hoffa nodded and smiled at reporters and photographers as he walked the 40-odd steps from the federal car to the prison gate.

TRAPPED WOMAN GETS OXYGEN — A Brazilian woman is given oxygen as firemen struggle to dig her from debris of an old building that collapsed in downtown Rio de Janeiro yesterday. She was freed from the wreckage after almost an hour. Her condition was not disclosed, but she is still alive. The building had been condemned but was still inhabited.

Cong Kill 6 Yanks in the Mekong Delta

SAIGON (AP) — Communist guerrillas made two attacks on U.S. forces in the Mekong Delta before dawn today, killing six Americans and wounding 25. One other American was missing, and two South Vietnamese platoons suffered heavy casualties.

A 15-minute mortar barrage of 80 rounds hit the first major American base established in the delta about 2 a.m. catching most of the soldiers asleep. The barrage killed two and wounded 23 at the 9th Infantry Division's Dong Tam camp some 40 miles south of Saigon.

It was the first shelling of the camp since 9th Division infantrymen moved into it in late January. The camp is about one mile square, on ground dredged from the Mekong River, and is surrounded by paddy land largely controlled by the Vietcong at night.

Another 9th Division post was hit by mortars and small-arms fire two hours later at Rach Kien, about a dozen miles from Saigon. The U.S. soldiers and two platoons of about 60 South Vietnamese soldiers were on outpost duty and were badly bloodied in the two-hour battle.

'HEAVY CASUALTIES'

A U.S. spokesman said the Americans had four dead, two wounded and one missing. A Vietnamese spokesman said the two South Vietnamese platoons suffered "heavy casualties."

The Vietcong faded into the darkness when reinforcements came up, and their losses were not known. But their force was raked by artillery fire and gunship helicopters.

U. S. naval forces operating off the North Vietnamese coast had one of their busiest days Tuesday since they started shelling coastal targets in the north on Feb. 26.

The U. S. command said the cruiser Canberra and the destroyers Keppler and Ingersoll bombarded 17 targets some 40 miles south of the port of Vinh. The warships were credited with destroying a coastal battery and a river port facility and with setting off a large secondary explosion indicating hits on munitions or fuel.

The targets included river port facilities, supply dumps, petroleum storage areas and transshipment points. The headquarters said a shore battery on Hon En Island, 41 miles south of Vinh, fired on the U. S. ships. It said the firing did no damage to the ships which silenced the battery and damaged a nearby radar station.

A 31-foot U. S. river patrol boat was cut in two by the 12,-576-ton British tanker Denby Grange at 1 a.m. today on a Mekong Delta waterway. The four American sailors swam to safety. The bow of the boat stayed afloat but the after section with the engine sank.

House Bill Would Let Auto Passenger Sue

LANSING (AP) — A bill to repeal Michigan's "guest passenger act" and allow an automobile passenger to win a suit against his negligent driver was debated in the House Tuesday.

The measure is up for further debate today, as is one which would extend the life of special annual liquor licenses for resort areas from 10 months to 12.

* * *

The House, meanwhile, passed four bills—including one clarifying the effective date of a new probate court fee system passed last year — and moved two others into position for passage.

In line for third reading today are measures to allow furloughed servicemen to hunt without charge and to impose mandatory fines on persons convicted of illegally killing game.

CONTROVERSIAL

"This measure is considered a little controversial," conceded Rep. Daniel Cooper, D-Royal Oak, sponsor of the bill extending driver liability in negligence cases to nonpaying passengers. And it was.

Under present law, a driver is liable for injury or death caused by his negligence to persons not in his car. But a nonpaying passenger, to collect from him, has to prove "gross negligence or wilful and wanton misconduct."

* * *

Bills such as Cooper's, to give passengers the same rights against their own driver as other involved persons have, have failed in previous years after insurance lobbyists told lawmakers liability policy rates would go up if it passed.

"Everybody in the other car can sue you for negligence in case of an accident," Cooper said. "The people in your car cannot—not even if somebody loses an arm or a leg.

THEORY BEHIND ACT

"The theory behind this (present) act is that you shouldn't bite the hand that feeds you," Cooper added. "This bill won't bite anybody but the insurance companies."

Under Cooper's bill, said Rep. Lucille McCollough, D-Dearborn, "If I, out of the goodness of my heart, take a group somewhere — maybe children or senior citizens—and then one of them wanted to take advantage of me and sue me, then he could."

Senate Gets 'Hot Potato'

LANSING (AP) — A bill to legalize abortion and sterilization under certain conditions was introduced in the Senate Tuesday and sparked a 15-minute fight over which committee should consider the measure.

Described as a "hot potato" by its sponsor, the bill would permit abortions in cases where the county prosecutor and three physicians recommended termination of a pregnancy caused by rape or incest.

* * *

The bill, introduced by Sen. John McCauley, D-Wyandotte, also would permit sterilization of both men and women for reasons of mental health or family economic conditions.

The fight over committee referral broke out after the bill was referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee, headed by Sen. Robert L. Richardson, R-Saginaw.

CITES WORK LOAD

Richardson asked that the bill be referred instead to the committe on health, retirement and social services, adding that in view of the amount of legislation before his committee he doubted if there would be time to give McCauley's bill a hearing this year.

Sens. Lorraine Beebe, R-Dearborn, head of the health, retirement and Social Service Committee, and L. Harvey Lodge, R-Waterford, came to Richardson's aid, suggesting that the bill be referred to their committees for a hearing.

However, the Senate voted to uphold the original referral and the measure remained in the judiciary committee.

New Tax-Bill Method Eyed

Assessor Urges Pact to Use County System

A proposal to speed up Pontiac's tax billing system through data processing is under City Commission study following a report last night by City Assessor James E. Kephart Jr.

A five-page report presented to commissioners pinpointed obsolete equipment and the need to show equalized valuation on tax rolls as chief reasons for the proposed conversion.

Kephart specifically recommended that the city negotiate a contract with Oakland County for use of the county's data processing computer and filing system.

Kephart said the county has tentatively offered the city data processing services without cost for an initial "pilot year," with second-year rates comparable to existing commercial fees.

The major step in going to data processing, according to Kephart, would be conversion from addressograph plates presently used by the city to key-punched data cards.

The city's present tax-billing machinery has been in use since 1956, three years longer than the "normal life" of the equipment, he said.

Kephart said one of the two machines is "beyond repair," while the other requires constant maintenance.

Principal saving — besides efficiency — would be avoiding the $12,700 expense of replacing the two machines, he said.

Kephart estimated a one-time conversion cost to key-punched data cards at about $7,000.

Tax Board of Review Holds First Meeting

Pontiac's three - member tax board of review convened yesterday for its first meeting of 1967, with the turnout of taxpayers described as "relatively light."

* * *

City Assessor James E. Kephart Jr. said the board is scheduled to meet daily at City Hall —from 9 a.m. to noon and 1-4 p.m. — for the next two weeks.

Board members appointed last month by the City Commission are Chairman Gordon W. Rice of 235 Nelson; Mrs. Clayton Rule of 33 N. Anderson; and H. Vere Hodges of 224 Ottawa.

State law prescribes the board's function as an appeal medium for persons who pay taxes on real estate and personal property as well as those who claim "hardship" in being unable to meet assessments.

* * *

Objections to assessments on real estate and personal property are heard by the entire board, with the complainant notified as soon as a decision is reached.

STORMY SESSIONS

Board meetings in Detroit and other metropolitan communities have been the scenes of stormy demonstrations by taxpayers in recent weeks.

Kephart described yesterday's session as primarily an "organizational meeting."

"The board's work load has also been lightened," he noted, "by the new Senior Citizens Homestead Exemption."

* * *

Elderly persons subsisting on Social Security and pensions have been prominent in previous years among those having difficulty in paying taxes.

* * *

Kephart also warned senior citizens and veterans that exemption statements must be filed prior to final adjournment of the board of review, legally set on or before April 1.

Drug Violator Is Ordered to Stand Trial

A convicted narcotics violator free on appeal bond was ordered this afternoon to stand trial on a charge of felonious assault.

Roy White, 30, of 154 Harrison faces arraignment in Circuit Court March 15 following preliminary examination before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

In addition, White is scheduled for a hearing Monday on a motion by Asst. U. S. Attorney Maynard E. O'Leary Jr. to revoke White's bond on the narcotics charge.

White was found guilty May 27 on multiple counts of sale and possession of narcotics and then sentenced to serve eight concurrent 10-year prison terms.

Defense attorney Milton Henry appealed the sentences and White was freed on $10,000 bond pending a hearing on the appeal.

Pontiac police allege in the assault charge that White threatened a city baker owner with a pistol Feb. 15.

Plane Incidents 'Coincidental'

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A Lake Central Airlines executive said today he sees no connection among several incidents in less than a week involving the lines' planes.

A bullet fired from the ground penetrated the passenger area of a Lake Central plane approaching Terre Haute, Ind., Tuesday night. At the same time another Lake Central craft was searched at Columbus, Ohio, in a bomb hoax.

* * *

A Lake Central Convair 580 crashed near Kenton, Ohio, Sunday night, killing all 38 persons aboard. Cause of the crash has not been determined.

There were two other bomb hoaxes last week.

COINCIDENTAL

"My opinion is that these are just coincidences," James W. E. Humphrey, Lake Central vice president, said at the company headquarters in Indianapolis.

Humphrey said he knew of no threat to the 17-year-old feeder line which serves nine states and the District of Columbia.

* * *

The plane fired at over Terre Haute landed safely at Hulman Field, and no one was injured. It carried a crew of three and eight passengers.

Humphrey said the plane was 1,800 feet from the ground when the bullet, believed of small caliber, ripped through the floor of a baggage compartment, penetrated the door into the passenger compartment and lodged in the ceiling.

Selling Plea Disclaimed

Pontiac police and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department today warned businessmen they have not endorsed the activities of two women reportedly selling advertising in a publication they call "National Constables Association."

A spokesman for the law officers said the pair have been soliciting area businessmen and claiming an endorsement.

The spokesman said the only fund drive in which area officers participate is ticket sales in the fall for the policemen's ball.

Rescued Boy Is off Critical List

A 4-year-old Pontiac boy, rescued from Crystal Lake where his brother and a companion drowned Monday, has been taken off the critical list at Pontiac General Hospital.

* * *

A hospital spokesman said the youngster, Adam S. Turner, son of Mrs. Yvone Bird, 423 Howard McNeil, was in satisfactory condition today.

His brother, Tracy B., 5, and Daryl Green, 9, of 443 Howard McNeil, drowned when they fell through thin ice about 600 feet from shore.

Adam was pulled from the lake by his mother. She told police she hadn't seen the other boys.

Improvement Will Begin on Perilous Intersections

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The hazardous Woodward-Opdyke intersection will be improved by late summer, the Michigan State Highway Department has announced.

The construction of a new median cross-over just north of the present one will get under way next month. When completed Sept. 1, the present crossover will be closed.

According to a highway spokesman, this will eliminate the dangerous angling of traffic coming off of Opdyke and onto southbound Woodward.

In the future, motorists wanting to get on southbound Woodward will first have to travel 600 feet north on Woodward until he can turn around in the new crossover.

Another new crossover will be built just north of Long Lake Road for northbound Woodward traffic wanting to go west on Long Lake.

NO LEFT TURNS

When this is finished, left turns directly onto Long Lake from northbound Woodward will be prohibited.

The highway department awarded the contract for both projects last week to the Max R. Frisinger Co. for its low bid of $53,454.

Cuba Missile Claim Rejected

Federal Officials Deny Nuclear Strike Ability

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense and State Department officials said today they were satisfied there are no long-range Soviet missiles in Cuba, despite the claims of a former U. S. foreign service officer.

Paul D. Bethel, who served as information officer at the U. S. Embassy in Havana during Fidel Castro's rise to power, told the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee yesterday that the Russians never removed all their offensive missiles from Cuba after the 1962 missile crisis and have since moved more of them in.

Bethel said Cuba now has nuclear strike potential from the concealment of caves and hundreds of miles of tunnels honeycombing the island.

Retired from government service, Bethel now is executive director of the "Citizens' Committee for a Free Cuba," which supports the goal of Cuban exiles to regain their homeland. He lives in Miami and edits "Latin American Report," a newsletter which draws heavily on exile sources for its reports on Cuba affairs.

* * *

U. S. officials, replying to his missile claims, made these points today:

- Since Russia's big missiles were taken out of Cuba in November 1962 on the decks of Soviet vessels, the United States has maintained regular air reconnaissance of the island.
- The United States also interrogates refugees coming from Cuba and maintains other intelligence sources.
- While Bethel claims eyewitness reports of missiles 60 feet long, U. S. officials say that the weight of their reports indicate missiles only about 30 feet long, the antiaircraft Sams (surface-to-air missiles) which Russia gave Cuba before October 1962 and which are still there.

* *

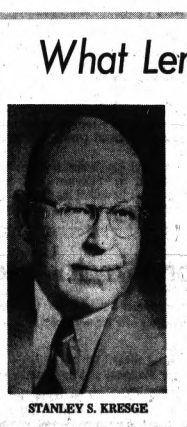

- Russia is still shipping some military equipment into Cuba, probably including some replacement SAMs. In addition, SAMs are being moved about the island and Soviet aid unloaded from ships by military personnel at night amid great secrecy. All this gives rise to rumors.

What Lent Means to Me

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 24th in a series of articles through Lent written by prominent Pontiac area citizens.)

STANLEY S. KRESGE

By STANLEY S. KRESGE
Board Chairman
S. S. Kresge Co. and Kresge Foundation

Basically, Lent is a period of 40 days ending Easter Sunday each year, observing the time, about 1,932 years ago, when Jesus Christ, my Lord and Savior, and I hope yours too, was betrayed by Judas Iscariot, denied by Simon Peter, tried, condemned to death, crucified on "Good Friday," buried in a borrowed tomb, arose on the third day (Easter) and, after visiting with a number of His friends and disciples, ascended into Heaven.

* * *

I believe He died for my sins and yours—that He will forgive us if we sincerely repent of our sins and earnestly try to do what is right. This is what Lent means to me. This I believe.

French Leftists Form Single Slate for Vote

PARIS (AP) — France's usually quarreling leftists completed a single slate Tuesday night in a concerted effort to wrest control of the National Assembly from President Charles de Gaulle's party in Sunday's runoff election.

* * *

The Communists were reported to have withdrawn at least 15 candidates who received more votes in their districts than other leftist candidates in the first round of voting last Sunday. The Red candidates stepped down in the belief that more moderate leftists would have a bigger appeal.

The Gaullists, who received just over 37 per cent of the vote in the first round, expressed confidence they would retain a majority in the 487-seat Assembly and that voters would support De Gaulle's leadership.

Only 81 candidates — 66 of them Gaullists — polled a first-round majority, leaving 406 seats to be decided. Candidates in the runoff need only a plurality instead of a majority to be elected. Most of the races will pit Gaullists against the left.

* * *

The left-wing alliance, made up chiefly of the Socialists and the Communists, got about 40 per cent of the votes in the first round, 3 per cent more than the Gaullists. But there was no assurance that the leftists could retain and unify this vote in the second round.

THREE-WAY CONTESTS

The electoral agreement between the Communists and the Socialists failed to work in only eight districts. In these there will be a three-way contest of Socialist, Communist and Gaullist candidates.

Hart Dinner Plans Are Told

Final arrangements for the annual Sen. Phil Hart dinner slated for April 8 were announced today by Oakland County Democratic Chairman George Googasian.

Theme for the affair will be "A Decade of Progress," marking the 10th annual dinner to be held in honor of Michigan's senior senator.

The 8 p.m. program will be held in the new Vandenberg Hall at Oakland University.

"We are planning to have Sen. Hart's many friends in Oakland County attend who have previously assured the success of the dinner and also hope to attract friends from adjacent counties," said Googasian.

The $5 tickets are available from local Democratic club chairmen, and at Democratic headquarters, 17 Water, Pontiac, and the Berkley office.

Dr. George Harrar, president of the Rockefeller Foundation of New York, Tuesday night told a California Institute of Technology conference on "The Next 90 Years":

★ ★ ★

"The more developed nations cannot for any considerable period of time or in any significant dimension feed portions of the world which remain static in terms of their own food production efforts.

"Unless this is clearly understood and maximum efforts are made to reverse systems of underproduction wherever they exist, survival will indeed become man's chief concern."

FORECAST GLOOMY

Earlier in the conference three Caltech professors, who wrote a best-selling book "The Next 100 Years" 10 years ago, revised their forecasts gloomily on the basis of events since then.

They reported the earth's population is growing more rapidly than expected and that the world is likely to run into a food crisis within 10 years instead of 100.

Caltech biologist James Bonner cited a widening gap between rich and poor nations and predicted: "We will, I suspect, begin to regard the starving populace of the undeveloped nations as a race or species apart, people totally different from us, as indeed they will be.

"They are just animals,' we will say, 'and a serious reservoir of disease.' The inevitable culmination of the two cultures will be that one culture (the rich) will devour the other."

REMEDY

Caltech psychologist John Weir noted that poor nations have failed to develop technologically and added: "One way to remedy this is to take children from uneducated parents and rear them in a culture that produces scientists and engineers." He said this might be achieved through schools in the undeveloped nations.

He Gives Her a Doom Doll; Both Die

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — First he sent a doom doll, a pin-pierced mannequin.

It arrived in a package which police opened because George Ash's estranged wife thought it might be a bomb.

Next the 42-year-old Ash himself came back from California — to find his former wife, 30-year-old Roselyn, divorced and remarried.

Escambia County officers said Ash rented a car at Mobile, Ala., drove here Tuesday and fired five pistol shots into the lock of his ex-wife's trailer home. She returned the fire with a volley through the door. Ash ducked, reloaded and charged again.

Deputies found the woman's body in a bathtub with four bullet wounds in the head and one in the shoulder. Her pistol was found beneath her.

Ash lay on the parlor floor with two bullets in his chest. Officers said he feebly pointed his gun at them but they stepped on his gun hand and found the weapon empty. Ash was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Medical Examiner Aldrich Northrup said Ash killed both his ex-wife and himself.

Roselyn's second husband, Nick Perling, was at work when the couple exchanged a total of 23 shots.

Novi to Push Court Battle to Incorporate

By JANICE KLOUSER

NOVI—Village officials refuse to give up in their attempt to incorporate as a home rule city.

Still hoping to get the issue on the April 4 ballot, the Village Council has authorized its attorney to take the matter to the Michigan Court of Appeals.

Attorney Howard Bond will seek a writ for superintending control under a new clause which allows for a shortcut method in emergencies in getting cases before the appellate court, according to Village Manager Harold N. Ackley.

"We want the court to allow us to hold an election," said Ackley, "and time is of the essence."

The council is appealing a recent decision by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer who ruled that the village does not meet a state statute requiring 500 persons per square mile to incorporate.

ORIGINAL VETO

Beer's decision was the third in the last two years. Judge Arthur E. Moore originally vetoed the incorporation. Judge James S. Thorburn then ruled that as an already incorporated entity, the village was not bound by the statute.

Novi Township officials then sought an injunction to stop the vote which was countered by a suit filed by a village citizens committee to stop the township from interfering.

All the matters were presented to Judge Beer last week who upheld Judge Moore's original decision.

* * *

In other recent action, the council authorized Bond to have a joint sewer contract with the Oakland County Department of Public Works and the city of Walled Lake reworded in certain sections before it takes action.

CONTRACT CHANGES

The council wants charges made on a connection basis rather than a per capita basis; it wants payments to start in 1969 and 1970 rather than in 1968; and it wants the section covering an ad valorem tax reworded somewhat.

Last month Ackley voiced objections to the section of the contract which states that the community "shall" spread the ad valorem (at large) tax to cover the cost of the project.

He said he wanted it to read "may" spread an ad valorem tax.

* * *

The council also agreed to reconsider its decision not to rezone 30 acres of land on Grand River between Meadowbrook and Seeley from manufacturing to trailer park.

DENIED

About three weeks ago, the council turned down the request on the advice of the planning board.

* * *

Ackley said the owners indicated they would take the matter to court if the request were not reconsidered.

10 Firms Ask for Annexation

Letters Belie Rumors on Walled Lake Plan

WALLED LAKE — Industries along Maple Road in Commerce Township apparently favor annexation to the city in spite of rumors to the contrary.

In letters to the City Council last night, 10 of 14 industrial concerns there, requested annexation in order to obtain city services.

"There had been rumors that the industries really didn't want the annexation," said City Manager Royce Downey, "and they apparently got wind of it."

Requests from industry reportedly sparked the present attempts to annex that portion of Commerce Township bounded by 14 Mile, Oakley Park and Haggerty to the east of the city and from 14 Mile and Beck up to the village of Wolverine Lake on the west.

* * *

Original plans were to submit the proposal for a vote on April 3 but petitions received two weeks ago were too late to permit the referendum.

ANOTHER DATE

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors will have to set another date after holding public hearings.

In other business last night, the council received a final report from its engineers showing that the water supply for a well on Pontiac Trail, east of Decker, will yield 3.7-million gallons of water a day.

"We were elated when we originally thought it would produce one million gallons a day," said Downey.

* * *

The well is part of an expanded water system planned by the city.

Separation Set in Lapeer for Sanitary, Storm Lines

LAPEER — The separation of the city's combination sewers into sanitary and storm lines will begin April 10.

A preliminary meeting with city engineers will get the project, estimated to cost $4 million and involving the entire city system, under way at that time, said City Manager Arnold Whitney.

An okay on the project was given by the City Council recently.

The proposed parking ordinance amendment seeking elimination of parking on city streets, between the hours of 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. was tabled because two commissioners were absent from the meeting.

* * *

There were some 30 people present in the audience to protest the proposed parking ban.

AGAIN IN APRIL

Whitney said the matter would be brought up again at the April 3 meeting.

He said the amendment is sought in an effort to clear streets of parked cars which now impede traffic and make street maintenance difficult.

Another public hearing regarding the rezoning for apartments along 90 feet of Second Street would be conducted the same evening. The land involved is part of Chilberg's Plat.

A petition from the Tuesday Club regarding disposal of cars parked around service stations was referred to planners.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

The resignation of Dr. Burdette Stone from the Library Board was accepted. Stone said he was now a member of the Lapeer School Board and he felt that the Library Board could use some new blood.

Tom Polk was named to the Board of Review.

DAIRYMEN DEMONSTRATE — More than 400 farmers from eastern Michigan, members of the National Farmers Organization (NFO), demonstrated in front of the Michigan Milk Producers Association plant in Imlay City yesterday to call attention to their demands for a sales contract with the MMPA. No attempt to halt delivery trucks was made, and there were no incidents reported.

Farmers Push Milk Issue

IMLAY CITY — Area farmers are agitating for a milk price increase by selling dairy cows for slaughter.

* * *

National Farmers Organization members planned to sell another 500 dairy cows for slaughter this week. One NFO leader said sales would continue until the declining supply leads to a milk price increase.

The NFO membeers, who sold 525 cows about a month ago, started another sale Tuesday with delivery of 259 cows to a Flint meat processor.

Ray Auvil of Snover, Michigan NFO meat coordinator, said the sales were part of a 25-state project by NFO.

* * *

"They will continue as long as necessary — not to the extent that they weaken the agricultural plant of the farmer but to the point where they cut production and bring the price up," he said.

MEMBERS DEMONSTRATE

Meanwhile, more than 300 NFO members demonstrated outside the Michigan Milk Producers Association's receiving plant at Imlay City. They carried signs in an orderly procession.

Auvil said the group hoped to bring the association to the bargaining table to establish a price for milk.

"Dairy farms are going out of business and herds are being sold because there is no profit in dairy farming," he said.

* * *

In the first round of NFO selling, Auvil said, about 15,000 dairy cows were delivered for slaughter and about 25,000 producing cows were sold.

Orion Twp. OES Will Honor State Grand Marshal

ORION TOWNSHIP — Orion Chapter No. 340, OES, will honor Mrs. Kitty Kelley, grand marshal of the Grand Chapter of Michigan, OES, at a reception and dinner at 6 p. m. Saturday.

Worthy Grand Matron Mrs. Bernice Hiller of Detroit and Worthy Grand Patron Kenneth Wiseman of Flat Rock with other Grand officers from all over the state will exemplify the Degrees of the Order starting at 8 p. m.

* * *

Mrs. Kelley is a past matron of the Orion chapter and a past Oakland County officer.

Sewer Pact May Bring Fast End to Building Ban

The 10-month-old building ban now imposed in Utica, Shelby Township and eight other Macomb County communities may be lifted soon.

Macomb County Drain Commissioner Thomas Welsh has negotiated an agreement linking the county's sewers to the Detroit sewage system.

He said Utica and Shelby were among eight of the 10 communities involved which have agreed to sign contracts within a week to have Macomb County process their sewage.

The ban, which prevented the construction of any sewer extensions and therefore, effectively stopped new construction, was put into effect last May 3 by State Health Director Dr. Albert Heustis in an effort to stop pollution of the Clinton River and Lake St. Clair.

* * *

The contract negotiated by Welsh and Gerald Remus, general manager of the Detroit Water Service, provides that Detroit will build a sewer trunk system into Macomb County for operation by 1969.

Other communities accepting the contract are Fraser and the townships of Macomb, Sterling, Clinton, Harrison and Chesterfield.

Welsh said two communities, Warren and Mount Clemens, have not yet decided whether to join the Detroit system or improve their own sewage treatment plants.

Adult Courses

Courses in cake decorating, antiquing and furniture refinishing, judo and driver training will be offered adults at Avondale Senior High School.

Classes begin at 7:30 p. m. Monday. Enrollees are asked to contact Lawrence Scharer, Avondale assistant school superintendent, for registration.

UFO Hoaxes: Target in Rochester

ROCHESTER — City officials here are prepared to take a dim view of anyone perpetrating a hoax by the releasing of UFOs (unidentified flying objects).

The skies over Rochester and neighboring Avon Township recently have had such flying objects, which have caused undue alarm, according to local authorities.

Both Fire Chief Lyle Buchanan and Police Chief Robert Werth promise prosecution for anyone caught releasing plastic bags with a lighted fuse as has happened recently.

"It is known by local authorities and the state fire marshals' office as to how these objects are airborne and it is in violation of Public Act No. 164, 1962 of the State of Michigan," said the two officials in a joint statement.

* * *

They indicated that the latest so-called UFOs may not have come from the hands of only the young, but even from supposedly responsible adults.

PENALTY

Violation of the state law is a misdemeanor, carrying a $100 fine or 90 days in jail, or both.

And that's not swamp gas!

Election Adds Some Interest

Dem Woman to Run as Sticker Candidate

LAKE ORION — Interest in Monday's "no-contest" village election picked up today with the announcement by Juanita Robbins, 44, of 622 Detroit that she will run as a Democratic sticker candidate for council.

Mrs. Robbins, vice president and spokesman for the Lake Orion Homeowners Association, has been instrumental in that group's suit against the village in regard to its proposed sewer plan.

Charging that the taxation necessary to finance such a plan would be "excessive and unfair" in that only part of the village would be served, the suit has managed to stop proceedings despite village citation by the State Water Resources Commission.

Mrs. Robbins, in reviewing her decision to run, said that she had been approached by a group who felt the need for opposition on Monday's all-Republican ballot.

* * *

Incumbent village officers Wallace Crane, president: Mrs. Mary Parkinson, clerk; Mrs. Geraldine J. Campbell, treasurer; and Albert J. Rhodes, assessor, are seeking reelection. They have no opposition.

NEWCOMERS UNOPPOSED

Though incumbent trustees Robert S. Hauxwell, Stewart J. Drahner and William D. O'Brien are not candidates on Monday's ballot, newcomers Dorrance A. Galloway, 601 Central; Arlie A. Reed, 207 Slater; and Mrs. Mildred Edward, 24, Highland, face no opposition.

Also at issue Monday is acceptance of the proposed new village charter, the first since the late 1800s.

The main difference such rule would provide would be the hiring of a manager to handle village affairs.

Tax Hike Told in Independence

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Supervisor Duane Hursfall said last night the tax hike for most property owners in the township will be about 15 per cent.

For an average taxpayer the hike will be about $51 for total average bill of $393, he indicated.

Hursfall explained in response to questions from the audience how he figured assessments this year.

He said he used a home with an approximate cash value of $20,000 in 1960.

* * *

This year the home would have been valued at $21,000 and assessed at 50 per cent, or $10,500. Last year's tax would have been about $338 and this year's $393.

FURTHER INCREASE

However, a further tax increase of two mills (or $20 on the home of the same value) might be possible.

He indicated that millage may be asked for at the annual township meeting April 1.

Hursfall said with the two mills it would be possible to provide much better services such as roads and more police protection.

Discussing the issue of a township police force, Hursfall said he hoped it would be approved in the budget for the next fiscal year, beginning in April, which must also be approved at the annual meeting.

'A FINE FORCE'

"We expect it to be a fine force, for its size," Hursfall said. The possibility of having two police forces, one for the village of Clarkston and one for Independence Township is under consideration, he said.

Complaints about dumping of refuse in isolated parts of the township were received by the board. It was indicated an effort would be made to apprehend and prosecute at least one violator in the hope of creating an example.

A check by county deputies revealed that refuse-dumping violators were township residents rather than outsiders.

Temporary East German-Polish Border Becoming Permanent

FRANKFURT ON ODER, East Germany (AP) — This is Germany's "other Frankfurt," a small city that contrasts with Frankfurt on Main, the metropolis that serves as a major center for West Germany.

★ ★ ★

The Oder and Neisse rivers provide the frontier that separates Communist East Germany from the former German lands east of the river. Those are administered by Poland under the provisional border that grew out of World War II — a temporary boundary that hardens toward permanence as the years pass.

A towering sign on the Oder's east bank proclaims the German word "frieden" — peace. It stands in what is now Polish Slubice, at the end of a little-used bridge spanning the 300-yard Oder.

★ ★ ★

This is ironic to the people of Frankfurt, on the west side of the river. Slubice was part of Frankfurt before Germany's collapse.

'FINAL FRONTIER'

Some day a peace treaty is supposed to settle the boundary, but the East German government has recognized things as they stand and Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki insists that the Oder-Neisse line is the "final and irrevocable" frontier with Germany.

Further endorsement is expected when the East German party and government leader, Walter Ulbricht, goes to Warsaw later this month to sign a treaty of friendship and cooperation with the Poles.

Despite the apparent settling of the issue between the two Communist regimes, it is clear that the East Germans along the border have not embraced the new frontier with joy.

"It still hurts to look across and see what once was Germany," said a man in Goerlitz, on the Neisse River.

The native son mayor of Frankfurt, Fritz Krause, observes:

"At first it was very complicated. People would look across the river and see their homes.

ACCEPTED

"But it now has been accepted as a result of the war. The people have adjusted."

The mayor says Frankfurt has a population of 60,000, slubice 16,000.

Are there any Germans in Slubice? "No," says Krause.

He meets with Polish officials formally twice a year, "on World Peace Day Sept. 1 and the National Day of the People's Republic of Poland on July 22."

★ ★ ★

Transit traffic does not go over the city bridge. It goes over an autobahn bridge four miles away.

Goerlitz, a 900-year-old city, also is divided. Mayor Werner Dietrich gave figures of 90,000 people in his west bank city and 30,000 in what now is Polish Sgorzelec.

A hundred Polish workers cross daily into Frankfurt, its mayor says. The number coming to Goerlitz is twice that, Dietrich says. No workers go west to east in either city.

"There are some Poles over there who speak German but no one with a German name like Dietrich, for example," the mayor commented.

Are there common undertakings between his administration and the Polish side?

★ ★ ★

"Let me put it this way," he said. "When you live along a river that floods, yes, you have common interests."

He called his contacts with the Poles normal and friendly and added there is a fairly heavy cultural exchange.

★ ★ ★

The Oder-Neisse border is about 285 miles long. In the north, the boundary curves west from the Oder and becomes a land frontier. In addition to all-around transit points at Frankfurt and Goerlitz, there is another farther north at Pomellen-Kolbaskowo. Trains cross at Forst, between Frankfurt and Goerlitz.

The average 1967 automobile will break all records in the number of light bulbs used in it — now up to as many as 34. This is more than it takes to decorate the average Christmas tree and more than the 25 it takes to light the typical American home.

Study Blueprint Sound Draft Plan

It is improbable that SOLOMON in all his wisdom could have evolved a military draft system beyond criticism.

But we think the Selective Service report submitted to President JOHNSON by a 20-member commission comes as close to an ideal approach to an unpopular need as is humanly possible.

The plan, seven months in preparation, would reinstate the lottery system of selection for eligible draftees first employed in World War I.

Under it, young men would register at 18, as now, and become one of two pools of future 19-year-olds separated by birth date priority. Those of the first pool on attainment of draft age would be drawn by lottery. Those of the second would be subject to induction at a later date.

The first category would remain in a status of "maximum vulnerability" for a year, perhaps less, after which the second pool would be given 1A classification. This sequential method would be continued so long as the need for military manpower existed.

The commission recommended virtual elimination of academic and occupational deferments that under the present system have led to much confusion and inequity. Needless to say, exemption for mental and physical unfitness would be granted and consideration shown genuine conscientious objectors.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the most radical change suggested for the Selective Service system is the reduction of the Nation's 4,100 local draft boards to no more than 500 area centers applying uniform policies of classification and appeal.

The President has indicated his over-all approval of the commission report, which would likely be initiated progressively when the present Selective Service law expires in June.

Loss from Fire Damage Declines in 1966

Fire damage records make for unpleasant reading. Only when a decline is shown can they be considered pleasant.

Such is the case with respect to the 1966 report submitted by the Pontiac Fire Department indicating a 4.5 per cent decrease in fire loss from the 1965 total of $446,525.

The number of alarms responded to also followed a downward curve, last year's 2,462 being 72 fewer than those of 1965.

Although the main business of a fire department is fighting fires, it is noteworthy that emergency first aid to the stricken accounts for much of its activity. In both 1965 and 1966, 905 rescue truck runs were made.

We commend the administration and personnel of the City's splendid fire-fighting establishment on the excellence of last year's performance.

Mao Opens Can of Worms With Red Guards

Regardless of the outcome of the turmoil and power struggle presently engulfing Red China, party leader MAO TSE-TUNG has seen exemplified one of the immutable laws of human nature—that it is far easier to initiate violence than it is to contain it.

When the 73-year-old dictator ignited the Red Guard flame, presumably to singe the ardor of a multitude of his countrymen zealous for a redo of national aspirations and objectives, he undoubtedly envisioned a mild purge of the malcontents while eliminating the following of his chief rival for party control, President LIU SHAO-CHI.

But Mao has found that his machinations have but added another Frankenstein monster to the collection created by tyrants who through the ages sought to play with human emotions.

His Red Guards not only have purged those officially marked as purgees, but seem bent on purging everything in sight. Not only that, but their saturnalia of slaughter and terror has demoralized spring planting of crops on which a hungry Red Dragon must feed, and thrown the general economy into a tailspin.

Now MAO, through the official Peking People's Daily and the New China News Agency is issuing orders to the Red Guards to knock it off and get back into the agrarian docility whence they came.

★ ★ ★

But paraphrasing the refrain from a World War I song, Mao is undoubtedly scrambling frantically for an answer to "How're You Goin' to Keep 'Em Down on the Farm After They've Seen Gay Peking?"

Gives Self Up as a Lost Cause

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

Nature, declare psychologists, endows the majority of people with manifest or potential aptitudes — like maybe a flair for imitating bird calls, adeptness in reading backward or divining which way the worm will turn.

Heldenbrand

Besides a noble character, a charming personality, a superb mind and body, and great versatility, what did nature do for me?

Well, in her infinite wisdom, she bequeathed me an unsurpassed capacity for getting lost.

No, not lost in thought or lost in time or lost in the shuffle. Just lost—period.

My cross is that I get lost on a low level, whereas history has acclaimed many who get lost in the grand manner.

What about C. Columbus who in 1492 headed for the East Indies, got lost, and discovered America? What about R. Riegels, Southern Cal gridder who, in the 1929 Rose Bowl Game, picked up a fumble, set out for Georgia Tech's goal line, got lost, reversed his field, and ran the ball back to within a yard of his OWN goal line?

★ ★ ★

What about D. (Wrong Way) Corrigan who in 1938 headed his plane west from New York, got lost, and flew the Atlantic to Dublin?

Finally, what about the legendary continent of Atlantis that got lost in the Atlantic Ocean? Show me another continent that ever got lost.

Sure, H. Heldenbrand's in good company — but alas his own lapses are so picayunish as to evoke nothing but scorn from others, dismay within himself.

Had mental science been as advanced in my youth as it is today, my propensity for getting lost might have been foretold by an utter incomprehension of geography.

I never got beyond thinking that the Horse Latitudes were the track odds on race horses, that Arctic was the niece of Antarctic (Editor's note: We're sorry about that) and the Isle of Man a stag hangout.

Geography had only one appeal for me. Because of the ample size of its text books, it offered an admirable shield behind which paperback thrillers could be avidly devoured.

One frustrated elementary-grade teacher even coined a new grade for my geographical giddiness — "G" for godawful.

Today, I'd be lost without a compass just finding my way about the house, and before setting out the other night for a nearby market, I played safe and took a fix on the North Star.

For me, a road map is not a guide to destination — it is merely a challenge to my resourcefulness.

On a short auto trip a few days ago, I pulled up to a service station after becoming convinced that I was lost and asked help toward my objective. The attendant, after deep consideration, thought I'd better backtrack to the point where I got lost and proceed from there.

There was only one weakness — a glaring one — in such a navigational plan. How was I to find my way back to where I got lost?

★ ★ ★

No, I'm afraid there's no hope of my ever attaining directional dependence. I was born and will undoubtedly die an unoriented Occidental.

★ ★ ★

But a last, sad thought: Please don't ever tell me to "get lost." Because, you know, I would.

Bigger Than Life

David Lawrence Says:

CIA Critics' Harm Being Felt

WASHINGTON — Evidence is beginning to mount that those people who started to publicize CIA operations and criticize its practices didn't help the cause of the United States in its battle against Communist imperialism.

LAWRENCE

On the surface, it looked like a natural thing for some youngster in the ranks of a student organization to attract attention to himself by demanding an end to CIA subsidies of his group. No thought was given, however, to the consequences of the exposure.

Some newspaper dispatches created the impression that something unethical and improper had been done by the government of the United States.

War, of course, is unethical in itself. Thus, to try to prevent a war by finding out what the enemy is doing involves surreptitious detective work and it is essential. But there are some critics who can say that even this is an invasion of somebody else's privacy.

Realistically speaking the damage now has been done. The CIA has been given a body blow which can interfere with its effectiveness in future years.

★ ★ ★

Throughout the world, where there are many intelligence systems, officials have watched with dismay and surprise the manner in which America's intelligence organization is being thwarted in its efforts to combat the Soviet operations in different parts of the world.

AT ANY MOMENT

Little did the Americans who criticized the CIA, both inside and outside of Congress, realize perhaps how penetrating is the Communist influence in Latin America, where at any moment trouble can be stirred up which can involve the United States in more wars.

What is happening, too, in the eastern bloc of Communist countries in Europe is an example of how difficult it is for the United States to "build bridges" with those countries.

Unfortunately, some members of the American press did not take into account the damage they were doing their own government in the kind of publicity they gave to the exposure of the CIA subsidies to student organizations.

★ ★ ★

The impression conveyed was that the United States government was subsidizing students within the United States and attempting to interfere with their operations in this country.

MORE DIFFICULTIES

Now that student organizations have been held up to public criticism, doubtless these same youth groups will find more difficulties abroad. They will be suspected of representing the government, and they will have a problem in trying to prove that they are independent of governmental influence and subsidies.

All this could have been avoided if the CIA had been given in a "cold war" operation the same patriotic support that a military force receives at all times.

Bob Considine Says:

Former Leader Kerensky Not Worried by Russia

NEW YORK — Alexander Kerensky, who came so close to transforming Russia into a democracy just half a century ago, is not a bitter man. Today, in his 86th year, living quietly just off Park Avenue with his books and dreams, he can speak of Communist Russia with calm detachment.

CONSIDINE

He and his dedicated provisional government, which overthrew Czar Nicholas II and was beginning to set Russia on a course that would have made her a peace-loving republic, were cynically struck down by Lenin and his Bolsheviks.

But he doesn't regard the present Soviet Union as the instinctive evil others might.

I asked him if he thought there existed some tacit accord between Moscow and Washington that is bringing the two great powers closer together despite conflicting views held on the question of Vietnam.

"Yes, I think both countries understand there must be changes in the Cold War. The changes must be made because the situation has been altered.

"At this point, it would hardly be possible to transform the cold war into a hot war, in my opinion.

"I've felt this way for a number of years, actually. Because it surely is apparent to both powers that an all-out World War III between them would practically mean the extermination of the cultured countries of humanity — Europe and America—while the nations of Africa and Asia remained untouched.

"It would be monumentally stupid and criminal. Nobody would dare to push events in this direction."

I asked him how durable was the new coexistence.

"There are some causes for not completely friendly relations remaining, of course," he said.

"They are the faults of both sides. But the major fault, and obstacle to better relations, is the habit the Russian leaders have of repeating the bad formulas of communism that simply do not exist any longer.

"They would have you believe that nothing has changed in the Soviet Union, that so-called capitalism still must be destroyed.

★ ★ ★

"The capitalism that existed at the time of Marx's manifesto is gone and has been gone for many years, replaced in the United States, for example, by the economic system now in being, taxes, the growth of the welfare state.

"The welfare state is as far from classic capitalism as you can get."

Support of Fiscal Reform Urged by Women's Group

The Pontiac Branch of the American Association of University Women support fiscal reform for Michigan. While our group shows a preference for a graduated income tax, with tax relief for low income groups, we believe graduation can be obtained by allowing tax credits and exemptions for the people upon whom the tax burden falls most heavily. This is the state position.

★ ★ ★

By leaving this tax issue unsolved, the Legislators are not facing their responsibilities. Most made pre-election promises which we feel they should keep. We urge the people to write to their men in Lansing now and express their views.

More Letters Are Prompted by Suggestion

Since Mr. Hudson has taken it upon himself to mold the habits and behavior of our women, is he disturbed about the number of abortions we have annually? Will his proposal apply to women in other countries that receive aid from America? Will he keep a head count on the illegitimate children born in these countries?

BILL ELOBY
502 BRANCH

At least half the men dating ADC mothers are already married. They spend money on these women while their children have very little food in the house and clothing unfit to wear. Mr. Hudson didn't bother to mention this. He's too busy condemning the women. If Mr. Hudson wants to put a stop to unwed mothers, I suggest birth control. Not just for ADC mothers but for any girl old enough to have a baby.

BILL BROOKS
1022 CLOVERLAWN

Mr. Hudson is right. People who are not married or those not able to work should not have children. It would take a load from the taxpayer. Those who are married cannot buy the things their own kids need.

'Value of American Dollar Has Declined'

Inflation and poverty are the result of our cheap dollar that has come about in the last two to four years. As an example, until a short time ago you could buy a spool of thread for five cents. The same size spool costs four to six times as much, plus tax.

★ ★ ★

When Social Security became a law my employer and I paid into this fund for 25 years. At that time a dollar had a value of 100 cents. Now I am being paid off with a 20 cent dollar. The dollar value is only what it will purchase. This is tough.

Question and Answer

My husband and I are having a "heated" discussion, and tickets to "The Bible" depend on my being right. How many days last year were over 90 degrees? He says none and I say we had at least two 98 degree days. Please help me out of this.

MRS. VIRGINIA WOODS

REPLY

According to Pontiac Press weather records, there were 21 days over 90 degrees last year: 8 in June, 9 in July, 3 in August and 1 in September. July 2 hit 98 and July 3 went to 100. Have a good time.

Definite Facts

Orlando Sentinel

Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's statements in New Orleans will have to be explored to their ultimate conclusion.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Garrison doesn't have the reputation of being a shallow or capricious man, and when he says a plan was developed in New Orleans which culminated in the assassination of President Kennedy, he either knows what he is talking about, or he has been given the wrong information.

★ ★ ★

In any case like this, the public remains curious. People are still questioning whether John Wilkes Booth was alone in his act of assassination, and whether he was killed or escaped. Some people still believe Hitler is alive.

Today many people believe the Warren Commission, even though it was composed of both liberals and conservatives, both Democrats and Republicans, is hiding something; that all the facts have not been revealed.

★ ★ ★

Now that Jim Garrison has stirred the case up again in a crime of this magnitude, the people are entitled to have all of the information.

Risky Game

Midland Daily News

Police in Flagstaff, Ariz., started about a month ago to check on the identity of hitchhikers on U.S. 66 — a main east-west highway across the state.

★ ★ ★

Time and again law enforcement officials warn against picking up hitchhikers, pointing out that it is a dangerous, blind gamble.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has often said that motorists should be as careful about whom they invite into their car as about whom they invite into their homes.

★ ★ ★

Several years ago a survey in Arizona disclosed that 84 of 100 hitchhikers checked at random had criminal records. Twelve others were runaway juveniles or AWOL service men.

Only four were without police records or above suspicion.

A hitchhiker's greatest asset is his ability to disarm motorists' suspicions with his looks or his appearance. But, as any policeman knows, some of the most savage crimes are committed by handsome, well-dressed youngsters whose boy-next-door looks caused the victim to feel sorry, stop the car and pick them up.

★ ★ ★

We say to every motorist — you play highway roulette when you pick up a hitchhiker.

GTW Indicates Delay on Compliance

Lights, Bells Urged for Two Crossings

A city request for inspection of two south end railroad crossings has resulted in a state recommendation for installation of flasher lights and warning bells at the intersections.

The recommendations came yesterday following examination by a Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC) inspector of crossings at Branch and Lake streets.

The Grand Trunk Western Railroad crossings are presently signaled only with a reflectorized warning. In addition a stop sign is posted at the Lake Street Intersection.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said Grand Trunk officials indicated installation of the proposed warning signals probably would be delayed until next fall because of equipment shortages and present work loads.

The MPSC inspection of the crossings followed a request two months ago by District 1 Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr.

Commissioners at their meeting last night also accepted from railroad officials a quitclaim deed for a portion of what was formerly Cass Avenue.

Half of the right-of-way had formally passed to the adjacent railroad during urban renewal proceedings. The land is located near Orchard Lake Avenue.

In two other land proceedings, the city sold two parcels in the R20 urban renewal project.

Willie J. Adams purchased for $200 a 2,450-square-foot lot on Center south of Whittemore. Mr. and Mrs. Lovell McIntyre paid $1,000 for a 4,560-square foot parcel on Parkhurst between Chandler and East Pike.

Both sites were considered unbuildable and were sought by the buyers as adjacent yard space.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communications Commission said Tuesday it has received an application from the community college district of Macomb County for an FM radio station at 89.7 megacycles.

India State Opposition Parties Riot

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government has advanced the opening of the Rajasthan State Assembly after three days of political rioting.

A government spokesman in New Delhi said the opening date had been moved up from March 20 to March 14 "to give the opposition parties an early opportunity to show whether they do in fact have a majority. We want this to be settled in the legislative chambers and not on the streets."

★ ★ ★

The disorders began Sunday after state Gov. S. Sampurnanand ordered the Congress party to form a new state government. Opposition parties protested because the Congress lost its majority in the State Assembly in the election last month although it is still the largest party.

A government spokesman in New Delhi said the governor had no other choice "because the other parties had not given concrete evidence they had a majority."

7 RIOTERS KILLED

Chief Minister Mohanlal Sukhadia said seven rioters were killed and 30 injured in Jaipur Tuesday when screaming mobs hurled rocks at police and defied tear gas and police clubs. A battalion of armed police was rushed in from neighboring Madhya Pradesh State.

A spokesman for the coalition of opposition parties claimed that "not less than 30" persons were killed by police bullets.

Human Relations Panel Loses 2 More Members

Pontiac's Human Relations Commission (HRC) is short two additional members — including its chairman—following resignations submitted last night.

City commissioners accepted letters of resignation from attorney Jerome K. Barry, head of the HRC since last summer, and Hector T. Padilla.

Padilla was recently elected president of the Pontiac Chapter of Latin Americans United for Political Action (LAUPA).

The resignations came three weeks after charges from other HRC members that leaders of the group were "failing in their responsibilities."

★ ★ ★

Barry emphasized his duties as special prosecutor for Oakland County's grand jury as leading to his decision to step down from the relations commission.

LETTER TO MAYOR

He indicated in a letter to Mayor William H. Taylor, however, that he would be willing to discuss with Taylor problems presently facing the HRC in Pontiac.

Padilla noted a change in his working hours would prevent him from attending the commission's meetings.

Commissioners last night also voted to withhold approval of apparent low bidder on a sewer construction project pending "extensive" investigation of the firm.

★ ★ ★

Joseph E. Neipling, director of public works and services, said the construction firm — Ric-Man Construction, Inc. — "was not familiar" to city engineers.

2-WEEK DEFERMENT

The Ric-Man estimate for construction of the Galloway Creek Sanitary Sewer Trunk was $709,809, nearly $220,000 under the next lowest bidder.

Neipling was given a two-week deferment by the commission for further examination of the details of the construction proposal.

In a second construction matter, commissioners voted unanimously to formally approve a contract to build a new police pistol range.

Neipling said the $19,000 project is scheduled to be finished early in June. Included in the range plans is some $13,000 in new installations.

50 Years Helping Education

NEW YORK (AP) — In the half century Dr. Ben D. Wood has devoted to making schools better he has brought to stake many of academia's sacred cows.

Still, some classroom practices continue to distress him. One trouble, he says, is that teachers spend too much time teaching.

★ ★ ★

Wood has long insisted that the task of the teacher is not to follow a rigid curriculum, but to get the student to learn by thinking.

"A child's mind is not an empty basket to receive what the teacher pours into it," he said. "It has taken us more than 2,000 years to appreciate the lesson of Socrates — that education is the stimulation of creative thinking."

PRIMARY CONCERN

Wood, director of the Bureau of Collegiate Educational Research at Columbia University and professor emeritus at Columbia College, has been concerned primarily during his career with making education responsive to the individual.

Lean, with thinning silver hair, Wood is possessed of strong opinions and unshakable convictions, backed up by credentials that include development of an objective means of measuring achievement and introduction of the Pitman alphabet, which Wood says is phonemically consistent and compatible with the Roman alphabet.

"The tragedy of education today," Wood said, "is that teachers teach children prescribed courses laid down by supervisors in higher education offices who have set themselves up as tin gods as to what should be taught and who couldn't care less about students as individuals.

"Our schools are turning out intellectual paupers who come to depend on the teacher. Curiosity is a precious gift, and we must be careful not to vaccinate the child against it."

'SHOOT IT RIGHT BACK'

Wood said that when he was a teacher "if a student asked a question I'd shoot it right back — that's the only way to teach. That's the way you lead them to think."

He agrees certain arbitrary facts must be supplied the student, "but even then he should be given reasons."

To bring about more individualized education, Wood said, "we need complete reorientation of the objectives and priorities of the teacher colleges. We need to change the duties of the teacher. Why, what if the doctor had not improved his techniques in the past 100 years?

"I'd outlaw the formula curriculum," he said, "and I'd make the ungraded school a first requirement. With the tests now available it would be quite easy to see where the children stand."

READING COMPREHENSION

"Just because some authority says a student should be in the ninth grade doesn't make it so. Tests have shown that the reading comprehension of a ninth grader may range from that of a fourth grader to a college sophomore.

"Some people call this coddling and say it lowers standards. Actually, it's the only way to raise standards. And it would take less teachers, because children interested in learning don't bother the teacher."

★ ★ ★

With William S. Learned, from 1927 to 1930, Wood helped conduct the first statewide evaluative testing survey of colleges and secondary schools. The survey, called the Pennsylvania Study, was sponsored by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

The foundation referred in its 1965-66 report to the survey as an undertaking of "considerable consequence" and said "the study revealed clearly the weakness of the course credit system as a way of measuring academic progress (through significantly the practice continues unabated today)."

'PREGNANT PARENTHESIS'

Wood said:

"This is what Shakespeare would call the most pregnant parenthesis in the history of foundation reports. 'Continues unabated today.' We might as well have studied how to make ice on the moon to cool the summer."

Nevertheless, he remains optimistic that his concepts will continue to gain acceptance within the academic community.

Wood describes objective testing as a "yardstick to measure achievement that will mean the same thing every year anywhere to every teacher and student."

To critics who contend that standardized tests repress originality by requiring stereotyped, multiple-choice answers, Wood says "the tests can do that if you use them that way. But they must be tailored to fit the needs of the child."

★ ★ ★

Since retirement from Columbia College in 1960, he has maintained an office near the campus. Close at hand are just two books, the Bible and Shakespeare. Though he considers the English language "one of the greatest triumphs of the human mind," the books are in Spanish, reflecting his early bilingual days in his native Brownsville, Tex.

Much of his time in recent years has been devoted to the problem of "reading failure" and to the spread of Sir James Pitman's phonemic alphabet.

Wood said the 44-character system — which he calls merely an extention of the Roman alphabet — enables children to learn to read faster. After that, he said, the transfer to the regular alphabet can be made with little difficulty.

FEDERAL DEPT. STORES

Asks Strong Hand in Union Voting

Labor Dept. in Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department is asking the Supreme Court to strengthen the department's hand in policing union elections.

It wants a broader interpretation of the 1959 Landrum-Griffin law than the "grudging approach" taken by lower courts.

Under the law the secretary of labor can step in after a union member has exhausted machinery within the union for challenging election procedures.

The Labor Department does not quarrel with that interpretation. But it maintains that once the secretary steps in, he has the power to go beyond "the four corners of the complaint" and, if he finds any violation, to ask the court to set aside not only the election the union member challenged but also subsequent ones.

SUPERVISORY POWERS

At the same time, the department says it is empowered by the federal law to supervise a new election, under court order, once the earlier election has been found invalid.

"Without supervised elections, those who have been illegally chosen might perpetuate themselves in office through their control of the election machinery, using techniques which are not demonstrably unlawful but which nonetheless favor incumbents," the department has told the court through the solicitor general's office.

★ ★ ★

"If no supervised election is conducted to break this cycle of control, a single invalid election may taint several which follow it."

At the moment the department has 28 such cases pending in federal courts.

FACE DISMISSAL

If the reasoning of the lower courts is not reversed by the Supreme Court, the department contends, these lawsuits face wholesale dismissal.

Under the Landrum-Griffin law, unions are required to hold elections at least once every three years.

★ ★ ★

The secretary of labor normally cannot go to court seeking a supervised election until six months after the earlier election is challenged.

Once he does, a trial usually is held. Thus, the litigation is apt to be still going on after the next regular election is held.

INJUNCTION SUGGESTED

In one of the three cases the department is appealing, the U.S. Circuit Court in Philadelphia has suggested the secretary should obtain a temporary injunction in the meantime.

The same course was suggested by the U.S. Circuit Court in New York City.

★ ★ ★

The department contends that "by taking such a step the secretary is, in effect, asking a court to maintain in office the very union officials whose election he is challenging."

The three appeals are from rulings by U.S. Circuit Courts in Philadelphia, Denver and Cincinnati.

★ ★ ★

Within the next few weeks the Supreme Court will announce whether it will hear the government's appeals.

Junior Editors Quiz on BOA-BAB TREE

QUESTION: What is the world's most unusual tree?

ANSWER: There are many queer trees, such as the tiny bonsai—trees deliberately raised as dwarfs by the people of Japan, and the sausage tree, which is covered with what seem to be large hanging hot dogs.

But our choice for the world's strangest tree is the baobab of Africa, which we illustrate. These huge things look like nothing else in the plant world. Although not a tall tree —its trunk is rarely more than 60 feet high—the width of the trunk is enormous, often 30 feet across.

Even if it is so ugly, the bao-bab is useful in a number of ways. Its bark fibers can be made into rope, paper and cloth. Both leaves and bark are used to make medicines.

Monkey bread, the large fruits produced by the bao-bab, are nearly a foot in length, and the pulp they contain is often used for food. This tree lives for a long time and is often raised on farms, because it is so useful.

Another strange-looking tree of the same family, the kapok tree, has fruits which contain fibers from which the valuable material, kapok, is taken.

Woes Plague Seal Hunters

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP) — At least nine damaged planes, about 50 hunters stranded on the ice, foul weather and slim pickings marked the opening Tuesday of the 1967 sealing season in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

★ ★ ★

About 60 small planes and helicopters ferried hunters out to the seal herd on the ice near the Magdalen Islands in the center of the gulf. Five planes were reported badly damaged in landing on the rough ice. Four other planes suffered minor damage.

None of the hunters were reported injured, but as a result of the accidents about 50 men were left on the ice amid snow, sleet and high winds. Helicopters tried to pick them up, but the sleet iced their rotor blades and they had to pull away.

★ ★ ★

Ross E. Homans, area director for the Fisheries Department, said some of the men may have been able to walk to two sealing ships reported near the herd. The rest, he said, must have spent an "extremely uncomfortable night on the ice." Nine sealing ships are in the gulf.

'POOR CATCH'

The herd was spread over an area of ice 4 by 12 miles. Fisheries officers on the Magdalen Islands estimated the first day's kill at 3,000, a poor catch. The hunters are permitted to take a total of 50,000 baby seals, a target that was reached in just three days last season.

In England and Wales, crime has increased 55 per cent in the last 6 years, while it increased 10 per cent in the United States, according to an F. B. I. report.

Senate OKs House Reform

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senators gave House members a prod toward reform today, forwarding for House approval a bill to reorganize Congress and create a new House Ethics Committee.

★ ★ ★

The House had it in mind anyway, but was still debating whether, instead, to turn over its ethical headaches to an existing housekeeping committee, which would get a new title and broader authority.

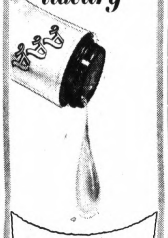

The reorganization bill passed the Senate yesterday 74 to 9 after almost a month of debate.

It was designed to hire more committee experts, crack down on lobbyists, and give members a month's vacation each August.

★

Among scores of other changes, House committee hearings would be opened to radio and television broadcasts; members would get an extra free trip to and from home every year; congressional appointment of postmasters would be ended; professional police would be hired to replace the college boy cops who now guard Capitol Hill; and computers would be put to work to help members understand federal spending.

June 1 Is Target Date for Medicaid Rates

LANSING (AP) — The State Social Welfare Department, whose first rate-setting efforts for Medicaid patients brought an angry outburst from nursing homes, said Tuesday it now hopes to have rates set by June 1.

Department officials met with a committee from the Michigan Nursing Home Association Tuesday.

R. Bernard Houston, department director, said the two sides agreed to an April 20 deadline for nursing homes to furnish cost information on which a rate formular would be based.

The formula would cover an estimated 14,000 needy and elderly patients in nursing homes which have an estimated total of 24,000 beds.

EARLIER DEADLINE

The department earlier set a March 15 deadline for providing cost and income information and said a minimum rate of $8.50 a day per patient would be less than most homes now are receiving for Medicaid patients under rates which vary from county to county and range from $7.50 to more than $14.

The association objected that income information was none of the department's business and the March 15 deadline allowed homes only three weeks to react.

★ ★ ★

Some said they might have to withdraw from the Medicaid program, under which the state and federal government split the cost of health care for welfare recipients and certain other needy persons.

After a meeting last Friday, the state agreed to extend the deadline and to ask only for cost information.

3 TYPES OF FIGURES

Houston said the nursing homes agreed Tuesday to provide three different types of figures on the value of their buildings and equipment — market value of their buildings and equipment—market value, replacement value and depreciated value.

He also said that, while most homes will receive the status quo rate until a statewide formula is determined, rates might be boosted for some of the homes receiving only $7.50 now.

★ ★ ★

If cost information is in hand by April 20, he said, the department hopes to have the formula ready by May 15 and have it translated into rates for each individual home by June 1. He said another 30 days would be allowed for homes to decide if they wished to participate in Medicaid under those rates.

Gun-Wielding Man Is Held in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Carl Simpson, 24, was held for investigation today after police spent half an hour Tuesday persuading him to give up a gun.

★ ★ ★

"I'm not going to be arrested," Simpson said, pointing a .22 caliber pistol at his head. Simpson fired the gun into the ground as some 250 persons watched and police tried to talk him into surrendering.

★ ★ ★

Simpson told police he had been despondent over marital problems and the lack of a job.

'China Pianist's Hands Broken'

MOSCOW (AP) — Red Guards have broken the hands of Liu Shih-kun, the Chinese pianist who placed second to Van Cliburn in the 1958 Tchaikovsky competition, the newspaper Sovetskaya Kultura (Soviet Culture) reported today.

The report gave no details. It appeared in an article on the fate of the arts in China under Mao Tse-tung's cultural revolution purge.

'Not Good Faith'

TAYLOR TOWNSHIP (AP) — The Taylor Township School Board has been accused of not bargaining in good faith by Taylor Local 1085 of the American Federation of Teachers. Rollie Hopgood, local president, said his union has filed charges with the State Labor Mediation Board.

Hospital Costs to Soar, Congress Told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of hospital care is expected to soar to at least $57.93 a day per patient by September, Congress was told today.

The American Hospital Association, which compiles cost records, disclosed that hospital expenses are increasing faster than previously reported.

Mark Berke, director of Mt. Zion Hospital and Medical Center in San Francisco, told the House Ways and Means Committee in prepared testimony that hospital costs this year will increase 18.6 per cent over 1966 and 30.2 per cent over 1965.

On Monday Walter J. McNerney, president of Blue Cross, estimated that hospital costs this year would increase a record 12 per cent and level off next year to a "more normal" 6 or 7 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Berke, a board member of the association representing 6,000 of the nation's 7,000 hospitals, said that higher nurses' salaries represent 60 to 70 per cent of higher expenses for hospitals.

AVERAGE INCREASE

Ways and means was considering President Johnson's call for a 20 per cent average increase in Social Security benefits and several changes in the Medicare program.

Berke said that statistics show that elderly patients were staying longer in hospitals since Medicare started last July, averaging 13.3 days each. This, he indicated, also was driving up hospital expenses.

Berke said a study showed that the average daily expense of hospitals would be $57.93 for each patient in September. While he did not say what the average cost patients would have to pay would be, the inference was that rising expenses of hospitals reflected future higher costs for patients.

★ ★ ★

In 1946, for example, the average hospital expense was only $5.21 a day, according to federal statistics. In 1964, it was $23.20.

PAYMENT BOOST

Berke, Edwin L. Crosby, executive vice president of the hospital association, and other association witnesses sought changes in Medicare designed to boost reimbursement payments to hospitals.

Berke estimated that his hospital would have a $400,000 reduction in income from Medicare patients. He indicated that regular patients would be charged 8 per cent more than would be collected from the government for patients over 65.

★ ★ ★

Others appearing before the committee, representing the association, were George W. Graham, director of Ellis Hospital in Schenectday, N.Y.; Ray R. Eppert, chairman of the board of Harper Hospital, Detroit; George Cartmill, president of Harper Hospital; and William J. Mueller, a partner of the Arthur Andersen & Co. accounting firm.

Long East Drought May Be Breaking

NEW YORK (AP) — Residents of the northeastern United States have come to expect spring without rain enough for crops, summer without rain enough for recreation, winter without snow enough to melt into parched reservoirs.

Season after season, storms and even floods have swept nearly every other area of the nation. But the people of the Northeast got rain only in sprinkles, snow only in flurries.

★ ★ ★

They suffered through one of the longest, hardest droughts in the area's history.

But now, after nearly six years, maybe — just maybe — the drought is slowly breaking.

SNOW AND RAIN

In the past five weeks, snow and rain have poured over the Eastern Seaboard, severe enough that at times it seemed the weather was trying to make up for six years in one short season.

With a few exceptions, reservoir levels are inching up toward near normal. Groundwater levels are rising. Water restrictions that have almost become habit are being lifted.

★ ★

But one big, overriding question remains: Will the precipitation continue?

"When you talk about a drought, you can never specify exactly at what point it ends," said New York City's chief meteorologist, Anthony Tancreto.

CONDITIONS EASED

"Generally, drought conditions have eased," he said. "But all that means is that within a short period of time — less than two months — we've had enough rain and snow to take care of us for the time being.

"But rain this month isn't going to help farmers next month. And it isn't going to erase the deficits we've built up over the past six years.

★ ★ ★

"To help the agricultural drought you have to have rain falling during the growing season and you have to build up underground stores. You simply can't make up a six-year deficit in two months.

"But this year, at least, we have some reason for optimism."

EMERGENCY ENDS

The Delaware River Basin Commission last week declared the drought emergency in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Connecticut at an end because of sustained rain and snow since last fall.

However, in Washington, D.C., a U.S. Weather Bureau specialist wouldn't make such a blanket statement. No problem exists now, he said, but it is too soon to say what may develop by summer.

★ ★ ★

It was that same optimism tempered by the knowledge that nobody can ever be sure what the weather is going to do that threaded through evaluations from other weather experts.

"Water supplies are better," said Massachusetts Assistant Commissioner of Agriculture Myron Maiewski. But on the chances for an end to the agricultural drought, he added: "It all depends on how much rain falls during the growing season which begins about April 1 and runs through Memorial Day."

BEST PROGNOSIS

The best prognosis came from Connecticut, where reservoir levels were in good shape and where the agricultural drought reportedly was over.

However, there too, the meteorological drought — the built-up deficit — was not paid. Since the drought began, precipitation in Connecticut has been between 35 and 50 inches below normal.

★ ★ ★

The area in the worst condition is western New York State where ground water levels, according to the U.S. Geological Survey, are satisfactory, but where reservoirs are only between 40 and 50 per cent of capacity.

Compare this to reservoirs serving New York City which were reported Tuesday at 75 per cent of capacity, less than 3 per cent below normal.

One of the unknowns in many areas of the Northeast is what melting ground snow will do to water levels, both above and below the ground.

In Connecticut, for example, there is danger that if ground snow, ranging from 2 to 40 inches, all melts at once, there could be serious flooding.

Daytime Classes for Adults Again Offered in Waterford

Adults again will be given the opportunity to work toward their high school diploma during the daytime in the spring session of the Waterford Township School District's adult education program.

Five daytime classes will be offered during the forthcoming term which begins the week of March 27.

Castro Vows Bloodless War on Bureaucracy

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro has resumed the fight against bureaucracy in his government. This time, he says, he intends to win.

"There will be no blood shed to win the battle against bureaucracy, but there will be sanctions," Castro told the country.

A week later the Communist party paper Granma announced more than 30 government administrators had been suspended for violating employment rules.

In announcing a fresh effort to cut red tape, Castro promised: "The revolution (Cuban communism) has returned to take the offensive in the battle against bureaucracy and we are sure we are going to win this battle."

If so, it would represent a sharp reversal from previous efforts.

Hundreds of government workers were removed from their jobs and sent to work at factories or farms when the prime minister and other Communist leaders decreed a fight on bureaucracy almost two years ago.

★ ★ ★

Since then, by official party estimates, nearly 10,000 ousted employes have returned to the government payroll.

Granma publishes case histories.

It cited a Department of Navigation workshop where three jobs were created for dismissed workers. All were rehired at higher salaries.

167 VIOLATIONS

At a government creamery, Granma reported, 167 persons were hired without authorization, including the wife of the director and the girlfriend of an administrator.

"Practically 85 per cent of the work centers investigated have committed violations," says Castro.

★ ★ ★

Although few people seem to take his remark seriously, Castro has indicated on at least two occasions it might be a good idea to move the capital from Havana to the little town of Guaimaro in Camaguey Province. He says government buildings in Havana are "full of officinistas (office workers) who have a blind faith in the virtue of paperwork."

The earthquake March 27, 1964 in Alaska was the most violent ever felt in North America.

Brain Damage, Spankings Tied

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Beating a child on the seat of his pants can lead to later brain damage, a West German doctor says.

Dr. Felicitas Hammer, in a study on the effects of corporal punishment, said thrashings on the backside can dislodge tiny fatty particles which may subsequently cause blood to clot in the brain.

★ ★ ★

A child may then suffer from headaches, giddiness, forgetfulness and loss of concentration, she said.

Dr. Hammer warned against all forms of corporal punishment. Beating with a stick can cause a fatal shock, she said.

Harry Golden Faces Surgery Again Today

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Harry Golden undergoes a second major operation today.

The 64-year-old author-editor is recuperating from gallbladder surgery performed Dec. 27 at Charlotte Memorial Hospital, where he has remained as a patient.

★ ★ ★

His son, Dick Goldhurst, said Golden developed jaundice about two weeks ago and its persistence led to the decision to operate to relieve an obstruction in a major bile duct coming from his liver.

OPERATES PAPER

During Golden's illness, Goldhurst has remained in Charlotte and operated the Carolina Israelite, a bimonthly tabloid newspaper.

★ ★ ★

Golden is widely known for his books, including "Only in America;" "For 2 Cents Plain," and "A Little Girl Is Dead."

Lodge Denies He Intends to Quit; 'No Firm Plans'

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge denied today that he intends to resign his Saigon post and said he has "no definite plans or firm decisions whatsoever."

★ ★ ★

Lodge told a reporter on his return from a conference in the Philippines: "These reports about my resignation are reports that come up every so often. The last time was last December.

★ ★ ★

"I repeat now what I said in December. I serve at the pleasure of the President. Obviously, all tours of duty must come to an end sometime.

"I have no definite plans or firm decisions whatsoever."

Walking Governor Not a Hitchhiker

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Republican Gov. David F. Cargo, 38, started walking two miles from the mansion to his office last week as part of a physical exercise program coupled with a drive to save government transportation dollars.

★ ★ ★

He's still at it but told Tuesday of an unexpected obstacle.

"It's very discouraging to get so many offers of rides," he said.

2 State GIs Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Defense Tuesday said that two Michigan men serving with the Army in Vietnam have been killed in action. They were Spec. 4 Ronald C. Smith, husband of Mrs. Christina G. Smith of Taylor, and Pfc. Charles B. Alandt, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Alandt of Royal Oak.

Allergies and You—3

Poison Air Threat Spurs Action

By Allergy Foundation of America
(Distributed by NEA Special Services)

Right now, Congress has before it proposals by the President to make a historic move.

Because "winds carrying waste gases have no respect for man-made political boundaries," as President Johnson put it, the federal government proposes to step fully into the regulation of air pollution in the various states.

Only the recognition of a total threat to health could have made such an action even thinkable.

Just how many people are in the grip of allergies, prime candidates for severe reaction to such menaces as gases and wastes in the air?

★ ★ ★

Cases of emphysema, the killer that concerns health people the most at present, are estimated at from 1 to 10 million in this country. It is more common than lung cancer and TB combined.

13 MILLION AFFECTED

There are probably 13 million whose lives are affected by hay fever and/or asthma.

We know that in WWII, 37,000 soldiers were discharged with asthmatic disabilities. We guess that 1 in each 20 persons has hay fever.

One estimate rounds out the figure on recognizable common allergies at 20 million people.

★ ★ ★

It is probably higher.

ONE IN FOUR

A specific test in a number of cities came up with 23 to 29 per cent—an average of 1 in every 4.

With the confusion of cause and the variety of severity, from slight to fatal, in food allergies, scientists can only suspect that 1 of every 2 persons get reactions to their own private-poison foods.

The estimate on sensitivity to poison ivy is set at from 50 to 75 per cent.

Skin disorders? Who knows? There's one calculated guess.

In the chemical, metal, plastic and dye industries, the estimate is that at least 600,000 are on the job, coping with an extra burden of sensitivities to products or byproducts in their plants.

(NEXT: They Can Be Fatal.)

The Course of True Love Never Did Run Smooth

LIEGE, Belgium (AP) — A wealthy Italian industrialist has taken legal steps to block the marriage of his beautiful daughter to a Brazilian Negro soccer star, official sources said today.

★ ★ ★

After a four-year fight with his 21-year-old daughter, Giovanna, Count Domenico Agusta of Milan came to Brussels Monday and entered a legal objection to her imminent wedding to Jose Germano, 24, the sources said.

★ ★ ★

Under Belgian law, Giovanna and Germano can demand that Agusta give valid reasons for blocking the nuptials, which had been set for Thursday.

A judge must then decide whether Agusta is justified in opposing the marriage.

Agusta's action will delay the wedding for some time while the case goes through the courts.

★ ★ ★

The girl left Milan several weeks ago and came to Liege, where Germano plays for a local soccer club.

★ ★ ★

Germano renounced all claims to his Italian fiancee's fortune last week, but this failed to appease Agusta.

★ ★ ★

Giovanna said recently her father did not want her to marry Germano "because he has no money and has a different kind of life."

"There are other reasons too, but I don't want to speak of that," she said, apparently referring to the racial difference.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The millionaire parents of Theodore Gunther say he must change his name and do without his inheritance if he insists on marrying the family chauffeur's daughter.

★ ★

But Theodore says he and Christina Frangescou will marry Thursday on the Mediterranean island of Cyprus.

★ ★

A lawyer for Mr. and Mrs. Christian Gunther, who live in Las Vegas and Nicosia, Cyprus, disclosed Tuesday night the couple was severing "all ties" with Mrs. Gunther's 22-year-old son by a previous marriage.

The response of the young man, a mining engineering student, "I shall continue using the family name and will marry the girl I love," he said.

His dark-haired bride-to-be is a stewardess for Cyrpus Airways.

Theodore and Christina played together when they were children. He says they fell in love then.

★ ★ ★

They were separated for two years while he was attending the London School of Economics, but the romance resumed last month when he was on a flight on which she was the stewardess.

Theodore said since he is being disinherited he won't be able to continue his schooling in London.

★ ★ ★

Don Wallis, publisher of the Madison, Ind., Courier, telephoned him Tuesday and suggested that he and his bride come to Hanover College in Madison, telling them they could work their way through the college.

Meg and Tony Have a Date

NEW YORK (AP) — Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdon, begin a nine-day vacation with a reunion at Kennedy Airport here Friday.

Snowdon, who has been working here since Feb. 26 will meet his wife when her plane from London stops here for 70 minutes.

They will fly together to Nassau in the Bahamas, it was learned Monday.

Before coming here on a photographic assignment, Snowdon spent several weeks in Japan taking pictures for the London Sunday Times.

Several European papers suggested his marriage was on the rocks. He denied that when he came here.

Stop Confusing Your Child

Doesn't Like New Daddies

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am an unwed mother, age 24. My daughter, Nancy, is nearly six years old and she is my problem. We live with my parents, and no matter who I bring home, Nancy doesn't like him.

ABBY

When I ask her if she wouldn't like to have a "Daddy," she says she already has one. (She calls my father "Daddy," although she knows he is really her grandfather.) What am I going to do? I love my daughter, but I would like to marry again, and at this rate I don't have a chance.

MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED UP: When you meet the man you want to marry, bring him home and introduce him to your daughter as YOUR "future husband." In other words, leave the word "Daddy" out of it.

Nancy has known only one "Daddy" (your father) so she can't be blamed for rejecting every man who threatens to replace him.

If you appear more concerned with providing your daughter with a new "Daddy" than finding yourself a new husband, Nancy will get married before you do.

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law gave me a beautiful hostess gown for my birthday. I thanked her for it and thought it was a lovely gift. Then she told me that she had originally bought it for herself a few months before, but she decided that she didn't like it well enough to wear, so she gave it to me.

That spoiled the gift for me, and now I can't enjoy wearing it, so it's still in the box.

What do you think of a sister-in-law who would say such a thing? And what should I do with the gift?

HURT

DEAR HURT: Your sister-in-law is either unbelievably thoughtless or just plain stupid. In any case, since you can't enjoy wearing it, give it to someone who doesn't know its history.

★ ★ ★

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, care of The Pontiac Press.

Russian Women Get Pampered on 'Their Day'

By SCOTT B. BRUNS
United Press International

MOSCOW (UPI) — Today Russian women laid down their sickles and hammers and for 24 hours became a weaker sex. It was Ladies Day in the Soviet Union.

The government told men to cook the meals and try to mind the children, to shovel the snow and run hospitals and do the work expected of Soviet women the other 364 days of the year.

The combination Mother's and Valentine's Day is a legal holiday, the one day when a Russian Woman's place is strictly in the home.

Husbands carried home candy, flowers and other gifts for their wives. Moscow television broadcast special programs for women. The Kremlin announced it adores Soviet women.

"Builders of Communism," it called them and reminded Russians that it was a women's march for bread that started the trouble in petrograd (formerly St. Perters-burg, now Leningrad) that led to the Bolshevick Revolution.

"You are resolutely against U.S. agression in Vietnam," the Soviet Communist Party Central Committee said in a message to lady comrades.

The committee told the women they also are "against the attempts of imperialists to involve mankind in the catastrophe of a new world war."

The men of the Central Committee, which also has women members, said, "in the U.S.S.R. The women have every opportunity to apply their energy and initiative."

* * *

In practice, this means it is women who go into the wintry streets before dawn to shovel off the snow and do many tough manual jobs that in other countries are considered male jobs.

Besides repairing roads, pouring cement, driving locomotives, Soviet women also provide most of the nation's doctors and many of its engineers.

A favorite theme of the Soviet Press is that Soviet men all to often cling to the "old fashioned" idea that women, besides working in the factories, must do all the housework.

* * *

The result, they said, is that the women of Russia work seven days a week, 52 weeks a year — except on Ladies Day.

August vows are planned by former Pontiac teacher, Betsy Carnall of Westport, Conn., daughter of the Don L. Carnalls of Bluffton, Ind., and Peter W. Stine, son of Rev. and Mrs. Earle J. Stine of Ionia. She holds a master's degree from Michigan State University where Mr. Stine is currently working on his doctorate. He is an alumnus of Northwestern University.

Gardeners Meet

The MacNichol Trail home of Mrs. Alan Pfaff was the setting for the recent meeting of Pine Lake Estates branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Glen Smith and Mrs. John Onken.

Members discussed hints for the forthcoming flower show on April 12 where demonstrations and workshops will take place.

ESU, Scene of Sorority Convention

Members of Michigan's eighteen collegiate and alumnae chapters of Delta Zeta Sorority will assemble on the campus of Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti on Friday and Saturday.

* * *

The occasion is the annual Province Convention and State Day.

* * *

Mrs. Edward Gregorich, of Troy, scholarship chairman, will be the keynote speaker at the general assembly. Her topic will be "Making the Best Use of Your Time."

*

Collegiate workshops have been scheduled for Friday. On Saturday registration will be at 8 a.m. The keynote address and chapter reports will follow by the general assembly, meeting in Pease Auditorium on the ESU Campus.

* * *

Workshops and the 12:30 luncheon with awards presentation will take place in the McKenny Union.

* * *

The individual registration fee should be sent to Mrs. Charles Fleckenstein of Royal Oak.

Will He Attend or Join Ladies?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House is facing a knotty protocol question: does George C. Wallace go upstairs with the ladies while his wife takes in a top-level briefing at next week's governor's conference?

The question arose Tuesday in connection with President Johnson's March 18 meeting for the governors to discuss federal-state relations.

The governors have been invited to bring along their spouses; in the case of Alabama Gov. Lurleen B. Wallace, that means George.

During the recent series of congressional receptions the president held, members' wives were entertained in the seond floor family quarters by Mrs. Johnson while their husbands heard the briefings.

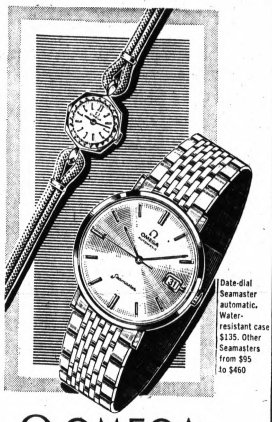

Top Trendmakers Will Be Viewed

Easter millinery trends will highlight Mrs. Otis Walton's program titled "Hats for Fun and Profit" before the Green Lake Women's Club on March 13.

The party will be held in the Green Lake Community House.

Hostesses for the guest-day luncheon will be Mrs. Albert Stanker, Chairman, also Mrs. Jules Arkin, Mrs. Jerry Iversen, Mrs. Richard Schmid and Mrs. David Shaull.

Case No. B-528

No Sudden Changes

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B-528: Hubert H., 54, puzzles his family.

"Dr. Crane," his daughter began, "he suffered a severe financial loss a week ago.

"And the next morning his hair had turned white!

"But one of my neighbors says it is impossible for your hair to change color overnight.

"So what are the medical facts, Dr. Crane?"

DR. CRANE

WHITE HAIR

There is only one way by which your hair can change color overnight.

And that's by dying it or bleaching it!

Neither shock nor suffering nor financial collapse nor any other human experience can make brown, red or black hair turn white in one night of even in one week!

For the hairs of your head are dead and inert, like the ends of your fingernails.

The pigment cells under the skin add the color to each hair.

This is done beneath the surface and before each hair erupts!

Once your hair emerges from the skin, it will retain its color unless you dye it or bleach it with chemicals.

Even if it were possible for all the pigment cells under the skin to become paralysed or destroyed by irradiation or chemicals, your hair still could not turn white overnight.

For your hair grows only about one millimeter per day.

You can guage that rate by seeing how fast a man's beard comes in after he has had a shave.

* * *

So a total change in the scalp hair would require weeks before all the hairs would be entirely white.

Even if all the pigment cells were thus to be killed suddenly, there would not be more than one quarter of an inch of white on each hair at the end of a week and it would be at the base, next to the scalp.

Sometimes a man's hair seems to turn white overnight because he has failed to apply the usual hair oil to it.

For many men use oils and greases to make their unruly hair lie down.

Such oils and ointments make gray hair look much darker.

So a shampoo can make it appear that the man's hair has turned white within the few minutes required to get that shampoo.

* * *

Beware, therefore, about accepting medical fallacies!

Among these false notions are the following:

- That expectant mothers can mark their babies because of fright during pregnancy or craving for certain fruits. (False)
- That musical, mathematical or artistic skill is inherited. (False)
- That venereal diseases (syphilis or gonorrhea) can be inherited. (False)
- That smallpox vaccination causes more diseases than it prevents. (False)
- That an expectant mother's blood flows through her unborn baby's arteries and veins. (False)
- That homosexuals are born that way. (False)
- That a tanned person is healthier than a non-tanned. (False)

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Dry Properly

Wash linty chenille separately. If it's to be dried outdoors, hang the wrong side out so that tufted surfaces can blow against each other to raise the pile.

Four Indian tribes—the Hopi, Navajo, Havasupia and Hualpai —live in the area of the Grand Canyon today.

On page E-1 of today's paper you will find a recipe for Peanut Peach Squares. Eliminate the cup of salad dressing in the ingredients; it has no connection with this recipe.

Stylish paper dress matches perfectly the decorated party accessories in a bold new collection, Flower Fantasy, from Hallmark. Hostess dress wears like textured cotton, doesn't rustle and won't burn. Brilliant colors—shocking pink, ripe persimmon, avocado, and brilliant yellow—highlight the sleeveless A-line dress and 24 matching paper party decorations, from invitations to guest towels.

Older Folks Need Things for Elderly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Council for the Aging reports that efforts to interest manufacturers in producing more attractive clothing and safer and more comfortable furniture for the aging have had little success.

* * *

"Older people don't need guns and toys in their cereal boxes; they need more cereal," Mrs. Esther Peterson, Special Assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs said. She added that retail stores have turned down suggestions that they cultivate the large mass of 20 million persons over 60 on grounds that it would "hurt their public image and tend to keep away the young."

* * *

Among complaints are that dresses are not made for the older figure, which tends to rounded shoulders and thicker waistlines; that dreses zip up the back and are hard to fasten and that skirts on ready-made clothing are too short. Also, bathtubs are unsafe for older people; automobiles are difficult to get in and out of; and free public toilets have gradually disappeared.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer,

The clerk in our local store sold me some black material to back my suit jacket because it needed a little extra body. Now that I have lined it in a print with a white background, the black shows through, and the print doesn't look pretty. Should I have basked the lining also?

Mary K.

Dear Mary K.,

This is one point that must be carefully decided when planning the backing fabric.

If you can't see through your garment fabric, I would suggest backing your jacket in white. This will make any lining fabric appear brighter, and you won't be limited in your choice.

Dear Eunice Farmer,

Some of the girls in our sewing class as high school are making jackets that close with loops instead of buttonholes. When we make the loops, how can we keep the cord inside? When we turn the bias tube, the cord comes out.

Nancy W.

Dear Nancy W.,

You must begin wtih a cord twice as long as the bias strip you will need. Machine stitch the center of the cord to one end of your fabric to hold it securely.

Next, fold the bias strip over the cord and machine stitch close to the cord with a zipper foot. Trim the excess fabric, leaving about ¼ inch extending beyond stitching line. As you pull the cord to turn the bias tube, the excess cord will be pulled into the tubing.

* * *

You will find my leaflet "Spaghetti Straps and Rope Belts" very helpful in this technique because of the detailed instructions and illustrations. Please send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press for your copy.

RUN FOR COVER — American infantrymen put on a burst of speed to cross a muddy rice paddy after coming under North Vietnamese fire. The 1st Air Cavalry Division reconnaissance platoon was searching for the enemy in a grove of trees along the South Vietnam coast about 10 miles southeast of Bong Son when the men ran into the heavy fire in a clearing.

Press Losing War of Words

Viet Reporters Are Waylaid at Fog Gulch

By LEON DANIEL

SAIGON (UPI) — Reporters in Vietnam write a lot about how they get ambushed at Credibility Gap. It is almost as discouraging to be waylaid at Fog Gulch.

★ ★ ★

Now I'm willing to admit reporters can't fight if military men will acknowledge that they can't write.

This statement may be too sweeping. If pressed I would have to admit that I know some soldiers who write very well but reporters generally can't even fight as well as baseball players, and they can't fight a lick.

There is something about being a field grade officer in the armed forces that restrains a man from calling a spade anything as simple as a shovel. In print, that is.

★ ★ ★

Since newsmen and field grade officers often take themselves very, very seriously, the comprehension gap is not without its aspects of humor.

FIGHT? CONTACT?

One phrase briefing officers are fond of is "meeting engagement," This marvelous little redundant phrase means, as near as I can figure, "fight."

Another rather innocent verbal snobbery favored by military men is "contact," which may clear up nasal passages but does noting to dispel the fog that sometimes settles over the briefing room.

But even we inexpert civilians know that "contact" means "fighting."

★ ★ ★

Simple, right?

Well, not always.

'WHAT'S A BDA?'

Once at the daily news conference, the briefing officer concluded a description of a bombing raid by saying, "There was no BDA.

"What's a BDA? I asked.

"A BDA is a bomb damage assessment," said the briefing officer, who was unsuccessful in masking his surprise at my public display of ignorance.

$400 Donated for Area Center

More than $400 has been donated for the establishment of a recreation and training center for the handicapped in Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

Biggest donors were the Waterford Township Jaycees and Waterford Organization for Retarded Children. Each group contributed $200.

The donations were given to Donald A. Place, chairman of a citizens' action committee for creation of the proposed facility.

From five to 20 acres of land are being sought to accommodate a year-round outdoor center.

★ ★ ★

Also being eyed is construction of a building on the site for a swimming pool with special ramps and rails, locker space, a small gymnasium or multi-purpose room, craft areas, game rooms, a physical therapy center, office space and a kitchen.

Contributions can be made by contacting Mrs. Corinne Halcrow, 5650 Harrell, Waterford Township.

Current Books

LA CHAMADE, by Francoise Sagan (Dutton $3.95): In this short novel translated from the French by Robert Westhoff, Miss Sagan again studies the many facets of love.

Her characters are the beautiful Lucile, kept in idle luxury by the aging Charles, who truly loves her; and Antoine, an impecunious young man who squires a wealthy older woman, who truly loves him.

Of course Lucile and Antoine fall in love almost at first sight. Their wild passion seems inexhaustible until Lucile begins to miss the luxury to which Charles has accustomed her, and life presents her and Antoine with a choice that cannot be deferred.

★ ★ ★

The situation gives Miss Sagan a splendid opportunity for exercising her considerable talent in dissecting human motivations and spinning an absorbing story in the process.

THE CAPTAIN, By Jan de Hartog. Atheneum, $5.95.

Here is a marvelous novel. It is a sea story and a combat story, a really smashing combination of man's confrontation with nature and with a deadly enemy.

This is a narrative told by Martinus Harinxma, a hard-headed stubborn Dutchman, thrown to the pressure of chance into the profession of manning huge, powerful, seagoing tugs.

He had not quite learned his trade when World War II broke out, and suddenly he found himself thrust into command of his company's best tug, now chartered to the British navy.

★ ★ ★

The assignment: to serve as a rescue craft for the supply ships on the deadly route from Iceland to Murmansk.

This story should rank high among the nerve-tingling narratives of warfare and seafare. It has a graphic sting and a challenge to the reader's imagination.

Miles A. Smith

GANT STRIPES ARE IN LINE WITH A GREAT TRADITION

No one makes a traditional shirt more knowledgably than Gant: from the buttons on the collar to the box pleated back. This spring they line up the classics in fresh new stripes. Shown: a wisp-weight cotton madras with color-framed stripes on rich-toned grounds. Others: featherweight batiste oxfords in Bristol stripes on mellow yellow grounds . . . and zephyr-weight oxford batiste in pastel plantation stripes on deep-color grounds. This collection of striped shirts is priced at $8. Whites and solids are 7.50.

Young man taking a business course!

During the school day this boy takes courses in English, arithmetic, the social sciences. And he does well at them. On his newspaper route, he takes another course—a business course, in which he applies in a practical way the things he learns in the classroom—he also learns something more.

He learns the basics of business, which will stand him in good stead throughout his life. As a newspaperboy, he operates his own retail business, with the counsel of our circulation people who make a career of working with boys. He buys his newspapers from us, and he sells them to you. In managing his business, he delivers, collects, keeps records, learns to deal with people. Little wonder so many business leaders of today will tell you the most valuable experience they had as a boy was managing a newspaper route. It's one good way a boy can round out his education. Army, Town Split on Flood Threat

NATCHITOCHES, La. (AP) — A sliver of land, less than 100 feet wide and shrinking at the rate of 55 feet per year, stands between the Red River and possible flooding of historic Natchitoches and the Cane River Valley.

The strip separates the flood-prone Red River from the placid Cane River, a lakelike stretch of water that once was the bed of the Red River.

"One more high water like we had in the spring of 1966 could go through," says Herman Taylor Jr., owner of the farm land being eroded by the Red River.

"That would leave only the dam and levee to protect Natchitoches and the entire Cane River Valley," adds Taylor, who says he has so far lost 200 acres worth $70,000. Business and civic groups here agree with Taylor.

'NO THREAT'

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers feels the narrowing of the gap between the two rivers presents no threat.

"We have the situation under observation," an Army engineer representative said recently. "We feel we have adequate levees behind the old original levee to protect the area."

★ ★ ★

Several years ago, the main levee paralleling the Red River at the Herman Taylor bend, about two miles north of Grand Ecore, was eaten away by the river. The levee then was set back with a levee and dam put across the Cane River between the bend and Natchitoches — founded in 1715 and oldest city in Louisiana. It has 14,000 residents.

Residents of the Cane River Valley doubt the dam and levee would be adequate to check a major rise in the Red River — which takes its name from the reddish-brown soil it carries downstream. They fear the dam and levee might wash out and flood the valley.

YEARLY EROSION

Taylor said the erosion of the Red's west bank at the bend has averaged about 55 feet a year since 1940. Nothing is being done to stop further erosion, he said.

Army engineers confirmed that no study of the problem is authorized at present.

★ ★ ★

A proposed navigation project on the Red River includes a cutoff of the bend to provide a straighter channel.

Women Drop Ally of Barry; Fight Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Phyllis Schlafly, passed over by a panel that nominated a California woman for the presidency of the Republican National Federation of Women, hinted today she'll stage a floor fight to win the top spot.

"This is another attempt by the New York liberals to purge from office those who wholeheartedly supported Sen. Goldwater in 1964," Mrs. Schlafly said in a telephone interview from her Alton, Ill., home.

The seven-member nominating committee Tuesday named Gladys O'Donnell of Long Beach to head the 500,000-member organization. Mrs. Schlafly, now the federation's first vice president, was not named for any post on the committee's slate.

Saying there "is no case in recent years" when a first vice president who wanted the job hasn't stepped up to the presidency, Mrs. Schlafly said the committee's action "will, I regret to say, cause a serious split among Republican women just when we need unity for 1968."

REPORTS BACKING

She said she is being urged by federation members from all sections of the country to oppose Mrs. O'Donnell, but that she wouldn't decide until the convention May 5-6 whether to seek the office, which has a three-year term.

A moderate-conservative battle at the women's convention could preview the fight many expect at the 1968 Republican National Convention.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Schlafly claimed support from federation conservatives in Mrs. O'Donnell's home state, including California National Committeewoman Ann Bowler and Grace Thackery, president of the Southern California division of the state federation.

MRS. O'DONNELL

Mrs. Schlafly wrote the book "A Choice Not an Echo," which strongly supported Sen. Goldwater's conservative views. Mrs. O'Donnell is described by associates as a party moderate.

WELL-KNOWN AVIATRIX

Mrs. O'Donnell, a widow, is well-known as an aviatrix She piloted her plane to second place in the initial women's continental air race and won the event the following year. During World War II she and her husband helped train 8,000 cadets as military pilots. She now operates a Long Beach crude oil firm.

State Property Taxes Up in '66

LANSING (UPI) — Property taxes went up in Michigan again in 1966, to an average of $40.03 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, the State Board of Assessors announced yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The board, composed of the three members of the Tax Commission and Gov. George Romney, said the average tax rate was $1.68 higher than the 1966 rate that averaged out at $38.35.

Magazine Champions Liberalism

Russian Editor Stands Firm

MOSCOW (AP) — The editor of the controversial magazine Novy Mir — New World — issued a defiant statement today indicating it will continue to champion liberalism in the Soviet Union.

Editor Alexander T. Tvardovsky said his magazine will listen to criticism only if this is "worthy of the great traditions of Russian realism bequeathed by the classics."

★ ★ ★

Novy Mir has been censured recently by both the Communist party paper Pravda and the government paper Izvestia for taking too negative an attitude toward Soviet life.

Tvardovsky took his stand five days after it became known two of his assistant editors had been forced to quit, reportedly because the Communist party found them too critical of Soviet achievements.

MADE CLEAR

Tvardovsky made clear in his article in the Literary Gazette that this setback would not cause the magazine to give in to the conservatives.

He noted that the celebration this year of the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution is causing pressure on persons in the arts to stress the positive results of the Soviet system to show it has been a great success.

"The best way for us to celebrate the anniversary will be to publish significant works of artistic prose and poetry," Tvardovsky wrote. He said his magazine does not want superficial things "meant for one day."

The editor argued that this approach would better serve the real interests of the country, "testifying to the high level of culture of our society after half a century of Soviet power."

Tvardovsky also took a swipe at the authorities for holding up issues of the magazine because of objections to its material, some of which has had to be changed.

Fund 'Hybrid' Car---Senator

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress was urged yesterday to approve funds for the development of a "hybrid" electric car, a vehicle that could use conventional engines and batteries for long-distance travel and switch to electrical power in the cities.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N. J., suggested the combination car as an interim measure for improved air pollution control until more powerful models of electric cars can be produced.

★ ★ ★

Chief drawback of the total electric car to date has been its limited speed and driving range because of the need to frequently recharge batteries.

Case outlined his proposal in a letter to chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., of the Senate Commerce Committee and chairman Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, of the subcommittee on air and water pollution.

PIN-WORMS
A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . small, easy-to-take tablets . . . special sizes for children and adults.

U.S.-Soviet Consular Treaty Expected to Get Senate OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate ratification by next week of a U.S.-Soviet consular treaty — one of President Johnson's East-West "bridges" — appeared likely today.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee got debate on the controversial measure started Tuesday, declaring the proposed agreement offers "mutual accommodation" in relations with the Soviets rather than possible "mutual annihilation."

★ ★ ★

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., in the forefront of a small band fighting ratification, scheduled an appearance at a closed meeting of all GOP senators to try to rally disintegrating opposition forces.

Mundt said there are enough senators not yet committed to make the two-thirds vote necessary for ratification "reasonably close."

But Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., predicted in a separate interview that fewer than 20 of the Senate's 100 members would vote against the pact.

The treaty, signed in 1964, sets guidelines for establishing additional consulates by each country on the other's soil. It grants diplomatic immunity to staffs as well as officials.

Each country would be required to give notification of the arrest of any of the other's nationals and provide access to any who were jailed.

Johnson has urged its ratification as part of his program of achieving "a reconciliation with the East."

PERMIT ESPIONAGE

Mundt and other opponents contend the agreement would permit an expansion of Soviet espionage in the United States.

They oppose any agreement so long as the Soviets continue to supply North Vietnam with arms.

But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who resolved his previous doubts and now favors the treaty, said these and other objections "just don't stand up."

★ ★ ★

Dirksen and Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield agreed that what they now regard as almost certain Senate approval won't come until next week.

"A good many members want to be heard on this matter," Dirksen observed.

Fulbright told his colleagues the treaty represents "a modest, cautious step" in the direction of reconciliation with "the other immensely powerful state in the world today, a state with whom our relations are most sensitive and difficult, a state with whom our relations are of transcendental importance."

Fulbright, who has often criticized Johnson's Vietnam war policies, rejected opponents' arguments against acting while the Soviet Union continues to support North Vietnam.

"If I were the leader of North Vietnam I would be concerned at any sign of a rapproachement between an ally on whom I depended heavily and my opponent, especially if my ally and my opponent were the two most powerful countries in the world," he said.

"And if I were an ally of the United States it would worry me to see the United States spurn an opportunity to reduce the tensions which might, if they are not reduced, lead to a conflict in which I might become involved simply because I was an ally of one of the protagonists."

Talks With Romney

Chiang Aide: China Teetering

LANSING (UPI) — China is on the brink of anarchy and nearly ripe for the overthrow of communism, Chow Shu-Kai, Nationalist China's ambassador to the United States, said yesterday.

The chances of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese returning to the mainland are "pretty good," Chow told newsmen following an interview with Gov. George Romney.

But, he said, "it is not returning to the mainland, it's restoration of the freedom on the mainland.

The Nationalists will work with the Chinese people on the mainland after the country becomes fragmented by turmoil to restore non-Communist rule, Chow said.

★ ★ ★

"As soon as we receive word from them (mainland Chinese), we will take appropriate action," he said. "The future is in the hands of the Chinese people."

URGES TREATY APPROVAL — United Nations Ambassador Arthur Goldberg is shown testifying yesterday before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in Washington in its consideration of the peace-in-space treaty. Secretary of State Dean Rusk (left), who also urged approval of the treaty, told the senators that the U.S. has monitoring equipment which can determine whether satellites in space carry nuclear weapons.

State May Buy Voice Identifier

LANSING (UPI) — A device that can identify voices may soon be added to the crime-fighting tools of the Michigan State Police.

Col. Frederick Davids, director of the State Police, told a group of business executives yesterday the state may purchase a Voiceprint machine that can identify a voice as effectively as the now common fingerprint process.

"We feel this a breakthrough in crime fighting," he said.

Davids said the machine can identify and classify a human voice even if it is disguised.

★ ★ ★

The Legislature has been asked to appropriate $12,000 for the purchase of the machine.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, who attended the same meeting, said later the machine would "have to be used within the antiwiretap rules."

"If it is used as wire-tapping it would be illegal," Kelley warned.

A patent was granted to Gail Borden in 1856 for developing a process of condensing milk.

Abortion Law Battle Rages in New York

NEW YORK (UPI) — Getting a hospital abortion in New York City today can be a question of knowing the right words to use, such as:

★ ★ ★

"I'm a nervous wreck. If I have this baby I'll kill myself."

Despite New York's strict abortion law, an obstetrician at one hospital used those words and said, "If a pregnant woman says something like that to her doctor, chances are she'll get the abortion."

A battle is now raging in the state captial over a proposed bill to liberalize the state's 84-year-old abortion law.

The measure is being fiercely opposed, primarily by Roman Catholics, who appear to have the strength to keep the bill bottled in committee even though Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sens. Jacob Javits and Robert F. Kennedy, a Catholic are supporting it.

LIBERAL INTERPRETATION

The state's present abortion law permits such operations only when necessary to preserve the life of a woman.

The reason women can get hospital abortions — that most doctors admit are illegal — is because therapeutic abortion boards, set up at most New York City hospitals and composed of doctors who rule on each abortion request, are interpreting the law liberally in the area of mental health.

The abortion boards, after statements from psychiatrists, are saying a pregnant woman's life is endangered because she could commit suicide.

★ ★ ★

"Psychiatrists can be just as liberal in their diagnosis as the boards can be in their rulings," said an obstretrician who performs a hospital abortion for every six babies he delivers.

NATIONAL AVERAGE

The national average of hospital abortions to live births is one for every 500. Doctors say there are more than a million illegal abortions performed in the United States each year.

Medical surveys show that about 60 per cent of all U. S. hospitals have therapeutic abortion boards and those in the 42 states which have abortion laws as strict as New York's are almost as liberal in interpreting them in the area of mental health.

The United States has more practising dentists and more practising psychiatrists than any other country in the world. There are approximately 105,250 dentists and 17,809 psychiatrists.

'He Was Killed During An Enemy Ambush On A Road'

Last Days of a Soldier

GI Comes Home, His War Well-Fought

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

SAIGON, Vietnam — The young man is a soldier.

He was killed during an enemy ambush on a road near a highlands plantation. A bullet went through his steel helmet and into his head. He did not know it nor feel it.

Now he is going home.

A silver-shelled C-130 transport plane flies him from the mountains to the city. He is carried in an airless plastic bag. He is handled respectfully. The trip is brief.

★ ★ ★

A dusty panel truck meets him at Tan Son Nhut Airbase and two crisp servicemen remove him from the aircraft and lift him gently into the rear of the truck.

WAR MORGUE

Short ride later, the truck swings behind a lengthy, blue-green building finished in layers of wooden plank. It is the United States war morgue, the largest such facility operating anywhere in the world.

Three men dressed in faded blue tunics open the truck doors and withdraw the soldier. A few words of direction are given and he is carried through a swatch of sunlight into the building.

Several passersby stop to watch. They are suntanned in pressed khaki. They say nothing.

Inside the soldier is removed from his container and placed on a white porcelain table which is one of 17 anchored to the room's concrete floor by means of cylindrical supports.

Nine tables are in use. This is normal traffic. A dozen men move around the room. They are a portion of 106 officer, enlisted and civilian personnel who staff the building.

The attendants are clean and reserved. Levity is rare but normal conversation prevails. There is a general feeling of considerate respect. Signs on walls read: "Hats off."

The men do not hurry, yet their work is done rapidly. The desire is to get dead soldiers home as rapidly as possible and therefore the average stay is less than 24 hours.

★ ★ ★

The highlands' GI is one of 20 moving through this day, one of 125 this week. And one of 500 American, Korean, Australian, New Zealand and Filipino soldiers handled through the morgue this month.

The young man, age 20, a private first class, is initially identified. His dogtags are checked against Army records, his face against an official photograph.

If he has been burned, his dental characteristics would be checked. His blood type or tissue are other checks in extreme cases.

There are no unknown soldiers in this war.

This GI is easily recognized. He passes quickly through.

NEW GREEN UNIFORM

He is embalmed professionally by a civilian specialist. The fluid used is designed for the hot humid tropical climate. He is bathed and his wound sutured. He is dressed in a new green uniform.

Finally he is encased for shipment.

He is shrouded in a white sheet taped tightly around his body and clearly identified. Then he is placed in a plastic bag, the air of which is drawn off by vacuum seal.

★ ★ ★

The last step is placement in an 8-foot aluminum coffin.

Then he is moved to the air port.

And 48 hours after his death in this weary struggle, the young American soldier is on his way home.

Hundreds of Uses Found for Lasers Despite Dangers

WASHINGTON (AP) —Some danger signals are flashing in the pathway of the laser, perhaps the most powerful form of light in the universe.

But the laser, developed only six years ago, is already finding hundreds of uses in industry, medicine, military operations and space flight.

Some of the problem areas:

● One scientist said treating cancer with lasers might cause the cancer to spread. Another scientist said he had treated 100 cancer cases and never seen such effects.

● Warnings of "instant blindness" from looking directly at laser beams. This might apply to high school students using make-it, yourself laser kits, or to soldiers exposed to laser beams from artillery rangefinders.

DETECTS ART FRAUDS

Some of the uses, present or under study, range from tracking satellites to helping lay sewer pipes, from removing warts and tattoo marks to punching die holes in diamonds and from detecting art frauds to furnishing artillery range fingers more accurate than radar.

New ideas for potential uses include:

● Detecting poison gas, illuminating targets on a battlefield at night, tracking enemy missiles and digging tunnels.

● Helping make new chemical products from coal, slicing chromosomes within living cells, much like a meatcutter slices baloney, carrying millions of telephone conversations literally on the wings of light, peering into ocean depths to find wrecked submarines and perhaps sunken treasure, mapping the moon and the planets with pencils of light shot from earth and diagnosing certain diseases by harmlessly vaporizing a sliver of human tissue and analyzing the "smoke."

★ ★ ★

Research and development employing lasers is going on in hundreds of industrial laboratories, universities and military installations throughout the country. Lasers have become big business.

Estimates are that the sale of lasers—from hand-held models to 60-foot-long monsters—will top $150 million in 1967, and reach a billion dollars by 1970. Present prices range from about $100 for a high school teaching model to $5,000 and up for industry types.

PRONOUNCED 'LAY-ZER'

The word laser—pronounced "lay-zer"—is an acronym coming from the first letters of the phrase "light amplification by stimulated emission of radiation." In brief, a laser is a device for generating an intense nondiffusing beam of visible or invisible light.

Laser beams contrast sharply with waves of ordinary light, or with radio waves, which spread in all directions. Laser beams are made up of essentially of only one wavelength, and all the waves of a given beam move in step and in one direction—Like soldiers in a marching column. Therein lies the secret of the laser's enormous power.

Outside a laboratory in Maryland, a few nights each month, scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space administration are carrying on pioneering experiments aimed at developing a deep space communications system employing lasers.

They are using laser beams to track several of the Explorer satellites—at ranges up to nearly 1,000 miles. And they say the probing laser beams—made to echo off the satellites—can pinpoint the position of a given spacecraft to within three feet. That's 10 times the accuracy achievable with either radar or radio.

Ship Collision Report OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The commandant of the Coast Guard yesterday approved an investigation board's report blaming the captain of an American ship for a collision with a Norwegian vessel which claimed 10 lives.

The ships, both freighters, were the American Cedarville, and the Norwegian ship Topdalsfjord.

The two collided in fog in the Straits of Mackinac, May 7, 1965.

The Cedarville sank, but the Topdalsfjord was able to make port with a damaged bow.

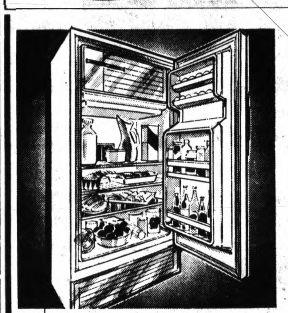

★ ★ ★

The board found that the captain of the Cedarville, Martin E. Joppich, checked the extent of the damage to ship and then tried to beach the vessel. But the ship capsized two miles from shore and sank.

Rain Sends Bengals Inside

Tiger Skipper Pleased With Outfield Talent

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LAKELAND, Fla. — Even a downpour couldn't get the Detroit Tiger players a day off, something many of them have been grumbling about.

* * *

The heavy rains Tuesday did wash out the planned intra-squad game but manager Mayo Smith ordered all the players into the huge airplane hanger at Tigertown and put them through a couple hours of pitching, catching, batting cage and conditioning drills.

The large hanger, which has many times been the envy of other baseball camp teams because they have no indoor facility when a rain spell comes along, had all the major league roster players working out in the morning and the minor leaguers using it in the afternoon.

The Tigers will try to play the intra-squad game today and play another Thursday before Friday's Grapefruit circuit opener at Brandenton with Kansas City.

During the indoor drills and discussions in the closed quarters, Smith was relating to writers why he thought the Tigers had the best outfield in the American League.

This immediately started discussion and reference to a Florida training camp story which claimed the Boston Red Sox, just 11 miles away at Winter Haven, "may have the top outfield in the league."

The Red Sox feel that Carl Yastrzemski, Tony Conigliaro and highly touted rookie Reggie Smith are destined to become the best trio in the outer gardens.

They also have Don Demeter, obtained from the Tigers during the 1966 season, as a strong backup man.

BATTING CHAMP

Red Sox manager Dick Williams is high on Smith, who won the International League batting crown while with Toronto with a .320 average. He also hit 18 homers and had 80 RBI's.

Williams managed Smith at Toronto and he feels he can take over the centerfield spot with the Bosox.

Demeter played 32 games with Detroit before going to Boston for pitcher Earl Wilson and finished with a .292 batting average in Beantown.

The Red Sox also have George Thomas, another ex-Tiger, and Bill Conigliaro, younger brother of Tony, in camp as outfield candidates.

"There's no doubt the Red Sox have a fine outfield, but it's not an easy task to pick our starting three out of the five guys we have," said Mayo Smith.

"Right now; Willie Horton, Jim Northrup and Al Kaline would be our starters, but by the time our exhibition season ends we may have a complete switch," Mayo points out.

* * *

Gates Brown and Mickey Stanley are regarded as two top backup outfielders. Stanley is probably in the toughest spot.

Last year with manager Charlie Dressen in camp, Stanley was regarded as the starter. Dressen called him a real defensive player and told him, "If you hit .250 you can hold a starting job."

Stanley not only hit .289 but had a perfect fielding mark of 1.000. Yet he is still a backup man, which is some indication of the Tiger's outfield depth.

"I wouldn't pursue the argument as to which outfield crew will be the next to ours or the Red Sox. We'll let the season results speak for themselves," said Mayo.

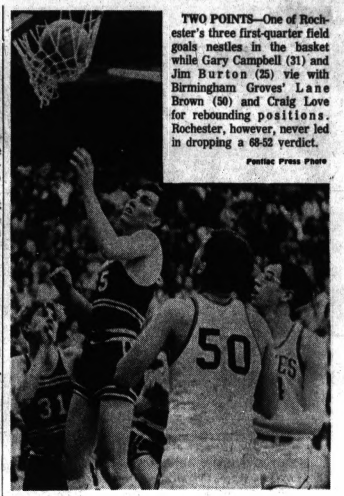

* * *

More rain was forecast for today, and it may call for another session in the hanger.

A couple of players grumbled earlier that not one single day off was listed on the spring training schedule, not even a day set aside for the annual player's golf tournament.

Mayo doesn't discuss the "no off day" schedule.

"The coaches are all working every day. We have a big season ahead as our first thought," he says with no further comment.

TWO POINTS—One of Rochester's three first-quarter field goals nestles in the basket while Gary Campbell (31) and Jim Burton (25) vie with Birmingham Groves' Lane Brown (50) and Craig Love for rebounding positions. Rochester, however, never led in dropping a 68-52 verdict.

Groves Defeats Rochester

Early Bulge Lets Winner Coast to 68-52 Triumph

By JERE CRAIG

Birmingham Groves' Falcons skidded occasionally but there was little doubt they were going to break the ice at the expense of Rochester in last night's regional Class A tournament opener at Birmingham Seaholm.

The state's second-rated power was plagued by turnovers but still built up a 15-point first-half advantage, then glided to a 68-52 victory before an estimated 2,800 fans.

Groves next must hurdle Royal Oak Kimball tomorrow night to qualify for its first regional final. Thursday's survivor will play the winner of tonight's Pontiac Central-Hamtramck contest.

The revenge - minded Cosmos are seeking to atone for an eight - point upset loss to PCH two seasons ago in the Seaholm regional. Tonight's game is rated a tossup. It starts at 8 o'clock.

Groves didn't display the sharpness it had in taking the Seaholm district title last week, but still had too much talent for Rochester's Falcons in posting its first regional victory ever.

The winners never trailed. Gary Fralick hit a 15-foot jumper off the opening tip to start the scoring. Rochester's first shot was an 18-foot one-hander by Mike Phillips that the winners' 6-8 center Craig Love blocked cleanly outside the circle.

The defensive whiz grabbed the loose ball and hit Roy Iceberg with a long pass that was converted into a fast-break layup and a 4-0 lead. Love then scored on a jump shot and Groves had a quick 6-0 advantage.

The slow-starting blue - clad Falcons did cut the gap to two points twice in the opening quarter, but never came any closer.

The Birmingham Falcons, who committed 21 turnovers to 19 for Rochester in the sloppy game, set aside their erring ways at the right time.

ON TARGET

While Rochester's ball-handling went from bad to worse in the second quarter, unbeaten Groves (19-0) settled down in the same session, committing only two violations, and riddled the losers' defense for 26 points —making 11 of 16 field goals tries in the period, most of them within five feet of the hoop.

The halftime score read, 36-21. Rochester, finishing with a 12-9 record, corrected its misplays after a long intermission meeting with coach Wayne Case, but only made 4 of 18 shots in the third quarter.

The losers had to forego their deliberate attack in order to overcome their big deficit and they often forced up bad shots. The defensive work of Love until he incurred his fourth personal, also, hampered their offense.

The lanky pivotman did more than block shots. He intercepted several passes, picked off numerous rebounds and even led one fast break with some surprisingly agile dribbling.

All-County forward Mike Rafferty, a 6-4 ball handler - shooter-rebounder led all scorers with 22 points and passed off for at least three other buckets.

Offense Fizzles, WOLL Falls in Tourney, 65-55

Special To The Press

OWOSSO — Waterford Our Lady of Lakes' offense fizzled for three quarters Tuesday night, then almost pulled out the school's initial regional basketball victory.

* * *

Host St. Paul held off the Waterford OLL quintet's gallant comeback to record a 65-55 triumph and move into Friday night's Class D Owosso Regional Tournament finals.

Unbeaten Flint St. Matthew meets twice-defeated Fowler in the other semifinal game tonight.

The faster St. Paul quintet built a 29-18 lead in the first half, then upped its margin to 17 points in the third quarter as Mike LaFleur hit three baskets on fast breaks.

Trailing 41-24 late in the third quarter, the Lakers began to utilize their height advantage by shooting from the outside and charging to the backboards for followup shots.

When St. Paul (12-8) lost Gary Talbot on personal fouls early in the last period, the Blue Waves went with a lineup that didn't include one player six feet or taller. It almost proved costly.

CLOSEST

WOLL crept within five points, 58-53, with 1:31 to play. Diminutive Jim Zelensky then hit two throws for St. Paul, but Brian Haskins put in a rebound for WOLL to make it 60-55.

The 5-6 Zelensky, who averaged 19.6 during the season and was the second-leading scorer in the Owosso area, closed the scoring by making five of six charity tosses.

He hit 9 of his 19 points in the closing quarter to take game scoring honors. Center Dan Sioma had 16 for the Lakers and Dennis McCulloch 13, but St. Paul finished with four players in twin figures.

* * *

Waterford OLL finished the season with a 13-5 mark. In last night's loss, it had a clear rebounding edge, took 35 more shots than the winning Blue Waves and also made fewer turnovers in the extremely sloppy game. There were 56 violations on the two teams.

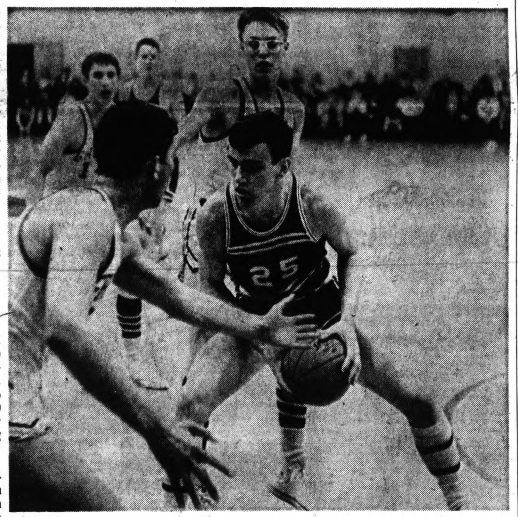

But the slow start and weak foul shooting proved too much to overcome.

JOCKEYING FOR ADVANTAGES — Jim Burton (25) of Rochester has to outmaneuver two Birmingham Groves' defenders during this first half action last night at the Seaholm Class A regional tournament. Gary Fralick is the Groves' player behind Burton, and Lane Brown moves to keep the ball-handler away from the basket. In the background are Groves' Roy Iceberg and Rochester's Mike May. The usually high-scoring Burton was limited to three field goals as the Birmingham squad eliminated the Falcons.

NFL Scores on Trinket Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Anybody for a bottle cap opener in the shape and colors of a New York Giants' Helmet?

How about some bar napkins with an Atlanta Falcons insignia?

* * *

Or maybe you were looking for a Los Angeles Rams nine-transistor radio that automatically tunes to the station carrying the football game?

These and hundreds of other items with tie-ins to National Football League teams are on display in a merchandizing show here that hopes to stimulate what is already a $5-million-per-year business.

Watches, wallets, books, belts, cigarett lighters — there seems to be nothing that can possibly be sold with the insignia or colors of a football team on it that isn't being sold that way.

Some 36 manufacturers are turning out the items with dozens more clamoring to get into the act, according to Carl Schroeder, merchandise director of National Football League Properties, Inc., which is owned by the NFL teams and licenses the various companies.

"People like to identify with their teams," Schroeder said.

"It's sort of the old school-tie principle. We own the right to the names, insignias and colors of the teams. We are the custodians of the image of the teams, so we turn down inferior stuff."

* * *

When the company was started about five years ago, it copied many of the successful merchandising techniques of Walt Disney, a past master at turning a hot property into a number of money-making items.

"The clubs only get five per cent of the wholesale price," Schroeder said, "The companies and the retailers get most of the money. We'll never be a big money making concern."

Now, he said, baseball is beginning to look enviously at the coordinated NFL setup and may abandon its traditional method of having each team turn out its own items.

Senior Golf Play Just Like 1966

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Today's finals of the Pinehurst Country Club Senior Four-Ball Golf Tournament was a repeat of the 1966 finals.

Defending champions Curtis Person of Memphis, Tenn., and Mickey Bellande of Biloxi, Miss., played the medalist team of Dave (Spec) Goldman of Dallas, and Lewie Lacy of Oklahoma City.

Late Violation Proves Costly for Shrine '5'

An offensive foul against 6-5 junior center Paul Seymour with 10 seconds to play ended Royal Oak Shrine's bid for post-season tournament basketball glory Tuesday night at Ferndale High School.

* * *

The charging foul as Seymour was maneuvering for a possible winning shot enabled Detroit Holy Redemer to preserve a 68-67 regional cage conquest over the Knights.

Shrine, who reached the state semifinals last March, trailed by nine points, 40-31, at halftime, and was down by 10 early in the last quarter before fighting back within one point in the closing minutes of play.

Four free throws by Holy Redeemer's Martin Sheedy in the final two minutes of the game were the deciding factor. His last one came with 55 seconds to play.

Sheedy led all scorers with 23 points, and teammate Dave Mikonczyk had 20. Seymour topped Shrine with 18. The Knights' guards Mick Brzezinski and Dave Yearger had 16 and 15.

The Royal Oak quintet finished the season with a 12-7 log.

For Kentucky Team

Success Comes Cheap

PIPPA PASSES, Ky. (AP) — You can turn out a winning basketball team on a budget of about $100 a year.

Alice Lloyd College does it. The Eagles have an 8-0 record and their season is only half over.

* * *

"When other schools are about to finish their season, we're just beginning," said Charlie Whitaker, who was named coach last year when the junior college took up basketball.

His team is made up of volunteers from his physical education class. They practice twice a week at a nearby high school gymnasium.

"We also borrow our uniforms from the high school and travel to games in faculty cars."

Whitaker figures the college makes about $30 on a home game — if it isn't on a weekend.

"We lost money on weekends. All the students go home."

Each student at Alice Lloyd, nestled in the Eastern Kentucky hills, is given a $300 grant toward tuition. There also are other scholarships and grants that can pay up to total tuition fees if the student is needy.

WORK-STUDY

Meals run $120 a semester but Alice Lloyd offers a work-study plan that takes care of that cost, too.

Physical education classes are compulsory so Whitaker doesn't have a problem putting a team together. He does have trouble finding opponents.

"I'd like to form a league of schools in the Appalachian area," he said. "We've got some pretty good ballplayers up here."

His star is Garry Fields, a 6-foot-1 freshman from Whitesburg, Ky., who has been averaging 19 points per game.

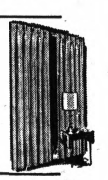

The tournament, slated April 20-22, also features track, volleyball, tennis, golf and pingpong.

Big Dave Bows Out as Pistons' Coach

DETROIT (AP) — Big Dave DeBusschere stepped out of his dual role as coach and player of the Detroit Pistons Tuesday and will concentrate on playing in the final seven games for the National Basketball Association team.

DeBusschere, 26, asked to be relieved Tuesday. He will take the floor against Baltimore here tonight, with Donnis Butcher calling the shots from the bench.

★ ★ ★

The 6-foot-6 basketball star couldn't be reached for comment, but there has been considerable speculation that he could do better either as a coach or a player.

Asked recently whether the double job was hurting him in either capacity, he replied: "I cannot answer that, I don't know."

General Manager Ed Coil named Butcher, assistant coach and chief scout, to take over as coach.

HALF GAME

Detroit trails Chicago by a half game for the final playoff berth in the Western Division.

DeBusschere led Detroit Austin High School to a state basketball championship, then sparked the University of Detroit Titans for three years.

He had a fling at two jobs after college, playing both baseball in the Chicago White Sox organization and basketball with the Pistons. But he quit as a baseball pitcher to concentrate on basketball.

★ ★ ★

He was only 24 when he became coach of the Pistons at the 12th game of the 1964-65 season. His teams have won 79 and lost 143 games. This season the Pistons are 28-45 and have lost five of their last six.

Coil said DeBusschere gave no reason for asking to be relieved as coach.

DeBusschere has averaged more than 18 points a game this season. He leads the Pistons in rebounding, with 843.

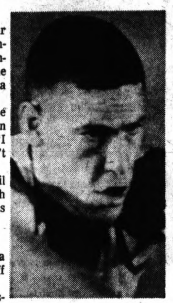

CHIEF SCOUT

Butcher, 29, came out of Pikeville, Ky., College and played for the New York Knicks and Detroit before becoming chief scout for the Pistons last year. He spent most of this year helping DeBusschere from the bench, but the past month has concentrated on scouting.

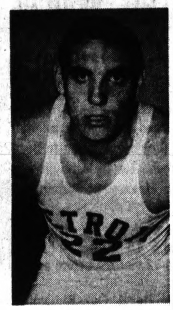

"I'm surprised to be named coach at this time," Butcher said, "but naturally I accept it as a challenge and I'm still optimistic that we can make the playoffs.

"I thought that Dave was doing an admirable job with the club," he said.

Butcher added that he expected to make a few small changes, but "nothing drastic."

South Haven Keeps Rolling in 'B' Ranks With 77-48 Decision

By the Associated Press

Spencer Haywood and Ralph Simpson lifted Detroit Pershing to a revenge victory over Detroit Northwestern, 77-71, Tuesday night and eliminated a top favorite for the Class A state high school basketball championship.

Northwestern had beaten Pershing 63-61 earlier for the Detroit public school championship and was the top-rated team in the final Michigan Associated high school basketball poll.

★ ★ ★

But Haywood, 6-foot-8, and Simpson, 6-5, scored 29 points each and played an outstanding all-around game for the victory in the regionals of the state tournament.

South Haven, the top-rated team in Class B, trimmed Hamilton 77-48.

LEADING GAMES

Top games tonight put Muskegon Heights against Holland in Class A, Marysville vs. Mount Clemens Clintondale in Class B, Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart against Saginaw St. Stephens in Class C and Flint St. Matthew with Fowler in Class D.

Pershing plays the winner of tonight's Detroit Southwestern-Southeastern game in the regional finals.

Muskegon Heights, the third-rated team in Class A, puts its 18-1 record on the line against Holland's 13-5 mark.

Kennedy McIntosh led South Haven with 21 points and Don Moorhead chipped in 20 against Hamilton. South Haven meets River Valley, 17-2, Thursday.

Marysville is second-ranked in Class B and considered a good bet if South Haven should falter. Third-rated Albion had little trouble with Comstock, 80-67, as Willie Tabb scored 23 points. Albion, 20-1, meets Vicksburg, 16-3, Thursday. The winner of that game meets the winner of the South Haven-River Valley match Saturday.

Grand Rapids East Christian got 22 points from Craig Vanderlend and ran over Spring Lake 76-59. The defending Class B champion meets Holland Christian Friday.

OPENS PLAY

L'Anse, the two-time defending Class C champion, opens regional play against Houghton Thursday.

Leslie, No. 2 in the AP poll in Class C, used a balanced scoring attack to beat Addison 58-47 and run its record to 20-0. Leslie plays Vandercook Lake Thursday.

Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart, ranked third in Class C, meets Saginaw St. Stephen tonight.

The top-rated Class D team, Ewen, tries Dollar Bay Friday. Flint St. Matthew, ranked second in the class, plays Fowler tonight.

Both Ferndale, last year's Class A champion, and last year's Class D titlist Covert fell out in district play.

Brooklyn, now 17-3, upset Petersburg - Summerfield in Class C, 69-53. It was the first defeat for Petersburg-Summerfield.

Gaylord, a threat in Class C, ran its record to 18-1 by beating Charlevoix 59-51; James Noirot scored 23 points for Gaylord. The small northern lower Michigan community also has a contender in Gaylord St. Mary, which plays Posen tonight in Class D.

Drysdale Ailing; Rock Signs; Marichal Balks

By the Associated Press

Don Drysdale left the problem-plagued Los Angeles Dodgers wondering today how far he and Sandy Koufax can carry the idea of togetherness.

The two pitched the Dodgers to pennants and World Series victories together, held out together, and now Drysdale is talking about following Koufax into retirement.

"I'm pitching on a year to year basis," said the 30-year-old right hander, who has been bothered by a sore arm this spring. "This could be my last year, or I might play five more.

"I've reached the point where I have to think of my family and security. At the end of 1967, I'll weigh a number of factors, including the year I've had, the year the team has had and whatever offers outside of baseball come my way."

BEST SHAPE

Drysdale, who was acting with Koufax at this time last year during their celebrated salary holdout that cost Drysdale most of sring training and subsequently led to a 13-16 record, signed for about $100,000 this year and reported to camp in the best shape in several years. But the sore arm apparently is bothering him.

"I'm sure it's nothing serious," said the 1962 Cy Young Award winner, "but my arm has never stayed sore this long."

★ ★ ★

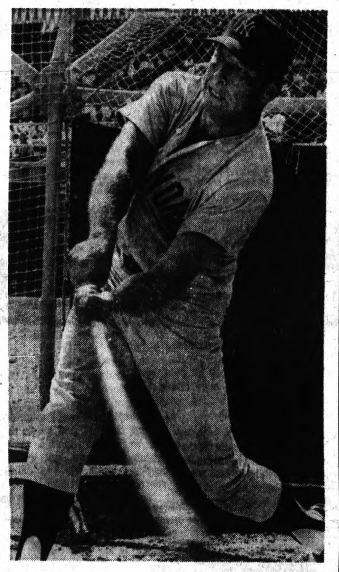

With Los Angeles' 1967 pennant hopes all but dashed by Koufax' dramatic retirement in December because of his arthritic elbow, similar action by Drysdale would make the situation even worse next year.

Meanwhile, San Francisco also received more bad news from Juan Marichal, another of baseball's top pitchers.

The Giants found another unsigned contract in their mail from the Dominican right-hander, who is holding out for a reported $125,000 after a 25-6 season in 1966 when he got $75,-000. Marichal said a week ago he was returning the Giants' $90,000 offer.

★ ★ ★

One signature was obtained Monday when Rocky Colavito took pen in hand and ended his hold out with the Cleveland Indians. He will get a reported $55,000, a $10,000 cut over last year. General Manager Gabe Paul reportedly had been asking the 33-year-old outfielder to take the maximum 25 per cent cut after hitting 30 home runs with only a .238 batting average.

CMU Quintet Wins District Tourney Title

MOUNT PLEASANT (UPI)—Central Michigan won its second straight trip to the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) basketball finals Tuesday by defeating Hillsdale College 75-63 in the District finals.

The win gave Central a season record of 22-2, including three Dales closed out their season with a 19-7 mark.

Central's Chippewas again survived on their balanced scoring attack.

John Berends finished with 16 points, Bob Crocker had 14, Bill Yearind had 13 and Willie Iverson dumped in 11 points.

The Chips held only a 29-24 lead at the half but began opening their margin early in the final session and at one point led by 18 points.

The NAIA tournament, to be held in Kansas City, will begin next Monday. Last year's Central Michigan team, which finished with a 23-6 overall record, was eliminated in the second round by the tournament's eventual champion, Oklahoma Baptist.

Earl Monroe, of the Winston-Salem N.C. State Rams, Sam Smith of Kentucky Wesleyan, Phil Jackson of North Dakota and Mel Cox of Central Washington were picked as Frazier's teammates on the first team. Monroe, Smith, Jackson and Cox are seniors.

Don Carlos of Otterbein, Al Tucker of Oklahoma Baptist, C.A. Core of Southeastern Louisiana, John Dickson of Arkansas State and Elburt Miller of Nevada Southern were named to the second team in the voting by 103 sportswriters and broadcasters.

Sharing QB Job Nothing New for Ex-Lion Morrall

DETROIT (UPI) — Sharing the quarterback job is nothing new for New York Giants' quarterback Earl Morrall.

★ ★ ★

Morrall enjoyed only a year and one-half as the No. 1 quarterback with the Giants. Before that he spent three years sharing the duties with Milt Plum while a Detroit Lion.

And now it looks like he'll be sharing them with Fran Tarkenton.

★ ★ ★

"It looks like there will probably be another two quarterback system out there," Morrall said Tuesday night, referring to the trade which brought Tarkenton to New York from Minnesota.

"I don't know what the situation is going to be," Morrall said. "I haven't talked to anyone out there.

"Wellington (Mara) Giants owner and president talked to my wife today," Morrall said. "He said they are not considering any trades — that is, involving me. They're going to go with two or maybe three quarterbacks.

★ ★ ★

"I've experienced the two quarterback system for a number of years. I enjoy playing more than the two-quarterback system," Morrall said.

CONSTANT BATTLE

Consequently the NFL veteran expects to have to work for his position again this season. "This is always the case. You go to training camp and whoever looks the best gets the job he said.

Morrall, now 32, went to the Giants before the 1965 season began.

He was an immediate success in New York, finding himself a popular figure both on and off the football field. He broke his wrist after seven games last season and missed the rest of the year.

★ ★ ★

His injury was one of a series which sent the Giants spinning to the worst record in the National Football League last season, 1-12-1.

★ ★ ★

The one-time Michigan State Rose Bowl star earned a reputation of being a top-notch relief quarterback, turning in some of his best performances at Detroit when called off the bench to save a game.

Player Back on Golf Tour

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Gary Player, rapidly losing his status as one of golf's Big Three, is determined to get off to a better start on the pro tour this year than he did in 1966 in a futile fling in America.

The little South African, once feared as the tiny man in black, goes into the Citrus Open Thursday without a tournament victory in the United States since he captured the U.S. Open in 1965.

The $100,000 Orlando meet, a 72-hole test on the 6,873-yard Rio Pinar course in central Florida, marks Player's 1967 debut in the United States. He has spent nearly a week on the tree-studded layout, tuning up for the challenge.

Heart Ailment Slows Knick

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York Knickerbocker forward Dave Stallworth went through a series of heart tests at St. Clare's Hospital today that will determine the extent of his future in pro basketball.

Stallworth, a 6-7 210-pound former All America from Wichita State and the Knicks first draft choice in 1965, is under the care of two heart specialists for treatment of a "posterior coronary.

Dr. Kazuo Yanagisawa, the Knicks team physicians, said it would be four or five days before the tests could be evaluated.

West Shakes Off Injury to Spark LA's Cage Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was old hat to Jerry West — a 30-plus performance and a broken nose.

Tht star backcourt man of the Los Angeles Lakers scored 33 points Tuesday night in leading the Lakers past the New York Knickerbockers 131-119, and broke his nose in the process.

★ ★ ★

Plus 30-point performances are commonplace for West, and broken noses aren't too unusual either. The latter has occurred six times.

In the only other National Basketball Association game, Chicago snapped Boston's winning streak at nine games by downing the Celtics 117-114 in Chicago.

"I'm sure it's broken," said West, who was injured when he collided with New York's Willis Reed in the third quarter.

ABLE TO PLAY

But West, who returned to action in the fourth period, said he was sure he would be able to play tonight against St. Louis in Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

The winner of that game will take over undisputed second place in the Western Division. The second-place club will play either Chicago or Detroit in the first round of the playoff instead of division-winning San Francisco.

★ ★ ★

Chicago's victory moved the Bulls a half-game ahead of Detroit in the battle for the fourth and last playoff spot.

Chicago scored 15 straight points in the third quarter to turn a 73-66 deficit into an 81-73 lead, and then held off a late Celtic rally.

Guy Rodgers scored 22 for Chicago and Bob Boozer added 21. Larry Siegfried threw in 24, Bailey Howell 21 and John Havlicek 20 for the Celtics.

N.Y. Makes Grid Move

Giants High on Tarkenton

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Giants have come up with their answer to the rival Jets' Joe Namath — scrambling, colorful Fran Trakenton, late of the Minnesota Vikings.

"We had to have a personality," a spokesman for the 42-year-old National Football League club, said today. "It's important that we start winning again. It's more important that we win back the fans who have been going to the other league.

"In Tarkenton, we have that man."

★ ★ ★

The Giants acquired the 26-year-old former University of Georgia passing and running star from the Vikings Tuesday but had to pay dearly. In the deal, they gave up their top two draft choices for 1967, their first pick for 1968 and a player to be mutually agreed upon at a later date.

Allie Sherman, the Giants' coach, said it was worth it.

"This is the first and best step we could take in our bid to come back," said Sherman, whose team won only one game in 1966 and finished in the Eastern Division cellar. "Tarkenton is a fine pro quarterback whose ability, leadership and experience will be a great asset to our young team."

Tarkenton, a mild-mannered, pleasant young man, may not match Namath's linage in the gossip columns, but he should give the exciting ex-Alabama ace a run for the hurrahs on the playing field.

BREAKS AWAY

A six-year NFL veteran, Tarkenton has gained acclaim as a scrambling quarterback. Unlike most of the protected passers, who operate from a pocket, he is apt to break away at any moment and pick his way through tacklers like a nimble-footed halfback.

At Minnesota, he averaged 53.9 per cent on his completions, throwing for 113 touchdowns, and he was always dangerous on the ground. He rolled up 1,803 yards rushing, averaged 6.5 yards a carry and scored 15 TDs.

Sherman insisted that he had no plans of changing Tarkenton's method of operation.

"Actually, Tarkenton passes from a pocket," the Giants' coach said. "He scrambles only when he can find no receivers open. Then he turns a busted play into a productive play."

The new Giant signal-caller, who plans to continue to make his home in Atlanta, said he was happy to be in New York but denied reports that his break with the Vikings — he asked last month to be traded — was due to a personality clash with the former Viking coach, Norman Van Brocklin.

"Van Brocklin is a tremendous coach," he said. "I am indebted to him. He taught me a lot. I wanted to leave Minneapolis for personal reasons."

Tarkenton will head a quarterback staff that includes Earl Morrall, now recovering from a broken right wrist; Tom Kennedy, bought last year from the Brooklyn Dodgers of the Continental League, and rookie Bob Post.

The trade hinged on a special consideration given the Giants as a part of the NFL's merger with the American Football League. They were to receive the top pick in either the 1967 or 1968 draft to get a quarterback — in lieu of their regular first-round choice — or the right to trade that pick for a veteran quarterback.

All Big 10 Team Lacks Super Star

CHICAGO (AP) — Lacking a super star for the first time in nearly a decade, the Big Ten still managed a representative all-star team chosen by The Associated Press Thursday.

Minnesota's Tom Kondla, a 6-foot-7 pivotman from Brookfield, Ill., and Sam Williams, Iowa's 6-foot-3 junior college transfer student from Detroit, were unanimous choices of the 10-man voting board.

★ ★ ★

Jim Burns of Northwestern, Butch Joyner of Indiana and Bill Hoskett of Ohio State rounded out the first team.

Kondla and Hoskett, a 6-foot-7 junior from Dayton, Ohio, were the big men of the squad. Williams and 6-foot-4 Burns provide the sharp shooting while Joyner, a 6-foot-4 junior from New Castle, Ind., holds the squad together with his all-around ability.

ONE SENIOR

Because the Big Ten is going through a rebuilding period, four of the nominees are juniors with Burns the only senior.

Jim Dawson of Illinois barely missed making the first team by one first-place vote.

Joining Dawson on the second team were Chuck Nagle of Wisconsin, Craig Dill of Michigan, Lee Lafayette of Michigan State and Matt Aitch of Michigan State.

Nagle and Lafayette are sophomores while Dill, Aitch and Dawson are seniors.

The Iowa Hawkeyes are keeping their fingers crossed. They still have a chance of beating out Indiana and Michigan State for the Big Ten berth in the NCAA postseason tournament for the national collegiate basketball championship.

It's only an outside chance since both Indiana and Michigan State will have to lose Saturday, but after their 90-87 overtime victory over Wisconsin Tuesday night the Hawkeyes are hopeful their long shot will come in.

The victory gave Iowa an 8-5 conference record, one game back of Indiana and Michigan State tied for first at 9-4. If Purdue beats Indiana and Northwestern downs Michigan State, Iowa can finish in a triple tie for the conference title Saturday by defeating last-place Michigan.

In that event Iowa would get the NCAA berth since both Indiana and Michigan State have been in the NCAA tournament later than the Hawkeyes.

Sam Williams saved the Hawkeyes from defeat in regulation time with a last minute basket that tied the score at 80-80 at Madison, Wis.

Gerry Jones then took over in the overtime with six points, including two vital free throws that provided the final margin. Jones scored 29 points altogether.

Seattle, already in the NCAA, finished its regular season with a home court 70-60 victory over Idaho. In other home court victories, Canisius edged Niagara 78-74 and St. Louis routed its crosstown rival, Washington University, 88-60.

★ ★ ★

Andy Anderson threw in 32 points to lead Canisius over Niagara. Butch Erwin led Niagara with 30. Tom Workman topped Seattle with 19 while Tom Pipkin led Idaho with 24. Bob Cole's 28 points paced St. Louis over the Bears in the first game between the two schools in 20 years.

REEL BATTLE — Dr. Paul C. Feinberg of Oak Park cranks the reel as he tries to retrieve line while battling a marlin off Acapulco, Mexico, during a fishing trip late last month. He is being assisted by members of the fishing boat's crew.

Fails to Boat All of Marlin

Fish Charges Craft, Loses Part of Bill

An Oakland County resident went deep sea fishing for the first time late last month found out that big fish not only put up good scrap, but that they also can be dangerous.

Dr. Paul C. Feinberg of Oak Park boated a rare blue marlin off Acapulco, Mexico. After a 45-minute battle, the 180-pounder was brought to gaff.

Only Dr. Feinberg, who is affiliated with an optical firm at The Mall, didn't get all of the marlin.

★ ★ ★

"When the marlin was brought close to the boat, a crew member would try to catch it with a gaff hook on the end of a rope. Three or four times he missed and then each time the Marlin would make a short run," said Dr. Feinberg.

"Finally, the marlin was caught by the gaff, but broke loose and charged the boat. It left about eight inches of bill in the stern of the boat.

"The fish was finally secured by the gaff and brought aboard, but we could not pry the tip of the bill from the stern. It's still there as far as I know."

Dr. Feinberg reported that only three marlin were brought aboard the boat he was fishing from during 1966. Plenty of sailfish were caught, however, and a good number of dolphin.

"I asked the captain if these fish ever charge a boat and their bills clear the gunwhales," said the doctor. "He said it happened quite often, but it was the first time one had ever become buriedin part of the boat."

RARE PRIZE — Dr. Feinberg poses with the 180-pound marlin that lost part of its bill when it attacked the boat. Few blue marlin are caught where the doctor fished.

Film to Highlight Audubon Meeting

H. Lewis Batts, president of the Michigan Audubon Society, will present a film, "New Zealand Wildlife," during the association's annual meeting this weekend in Mount Pleasant.

Registration will start at 7 p.m. Friday in the Central Michigan University Center's ballroom. A variety of lectures and films are planned for Saturday.

The annual business meeting will be at 10:45 a.m. Saturday and the annual dinner — highlighted by Batts' film — will be at 7:30 p.m.

Congress Told Wildlife Acres Lost to Public

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some 27 million acres of America's fish and wildlife-rich estuarine areas have been destroyed by dredging and filling for commercial development and navigation in the past 20 years, congress was told Monday.

Dr. Stanley A. Cain, assistant Interior Secretary for fish and wildlife and parks, testified in support of a bill authorizing a $4.5 million study of estuaries and wetlands prior to establishment of a national estuarine system.

★ ★ ★

It also would require the Interior Secretary's approval — on an equal basis with the Army Corps of Engineers — for all dredging, filling or excavation of estuaries on the coastlines and the Great Lakes.

The bill was co-sponsored by John D. Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Subcommittee and Rep. Herbert Tenzer, D-N.Y.

Spring Fun Match

The Jackson Canine Training Club's annual spring fun match will be Sunday at Art Moehn Chevrolet, 500 N. Jackson, with registration starting at 9 a.m. and judging at 11:30 a.m.

'Deep' Trouble for Deer Herd

Prolonged cold weather and deep snow plus waning food rations are starting to have a visible impact on the state's northern deer herd.

The first sign of deer starvation was found in the Upper Peninsula's Escanaba District. Game men in the field say this is the beginning of large losses to come if winter runs its normal course and continues to be as rough on deer as it has been for many weeks.

★ ★ ★

From the Conservation Department's Baraga District in the western Upper Peninsula comes word that poor-looking deer are becoming more and more common. Fuzzy-faced fawns, a tell-tale sign of deer in death's grip, are showing up east of there in the Crystal Falls District.

Throughout all parts of the Upper Peninsula the winter severity index is above or hovering near critical levels, carrying with it serious starvation losses for deer which are tightly yarded in areas of heavy cover and timber cuttings.

Not much more encouraging are field reports from the northern Lower Peninsula, particularly the Gaylord and Mio districts where deer are confined in deeryards and using browse from logging operations.

In some parts of the Gaylord District, deer are on a starvation diet, feeding on such "stomach stuffers" as balsam, red pine and spruce needles.

DEEPER SNOW

The Mio District reports that whitetails are more confined in their movements because they are beginning to break through snowcrusts. Deer starvation is expected in deeper snow areas of that area.

The picture is somewhat better in the Cadillac and Gladwin districts where the animlas are generally more loosely yarded and still able to dig for acorns in some areas.

With deer "on the ropes" in many northern areas, the Conservation Department has been allocated 4,000 bushels of surplus federal corn to be distributed upon request to volunteer groups for artificial feedings in critical sectors of the Upper Peninsula.

The corn, made available through the Federal Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service at pick-up points in upper Wisconsin and lower Michigan, may be used only in those areas where department district game men determine that the threat of deer starvation is imminent.

Game Division has submitted another request for 2,000 bushels of surplus federal corn to be used in the Gaylord and Mio districts.

The department, in asking for the surplus corn, points out that it feels this scheme of artificial feeding is largely a lost cause. It is hard to reach many deer in remote, deep-snow areas and those that are reached will have a big problem in adjusting to a concentrated diet.

As one game man puts it: "This is strictly a last-ditch move, and doubtful, at that. However, we don't want to be accused of passing up any bets to help deer even though the effects of artificial feeding will be mighty meager as far as saving any significant number of these animals is concerned."

Boy Scouts Cut Browse

More than 2,000 Boy Scouts and their leaders spent a weekend in three north central Pennsylvania counties on the 1967 Deer Browse Cutting Project.

Organized under the direction of Ralph W. Abele, the recent project is rated one of the most successful of its kind in the U.S.

Members of his Conservation Committee spent a weekend at the Pennsylvania Game Commission's training school near Brockway in early January to be trained in browse cutting techniques, safety precautions, and other skills necessary to lead scouts in carrying out the project.

An adult deer needs 10-12 pounds of browse per day in summer and 5-6 pounds per day in winter. Browse (bark, twigs, and buds of certain tree and shrub species) is the natural food of deer year-round.

OPENING DAY — Although this picture was taken during the recent trout opener at Bennett spring state park near Lebanon, Mo., it could very well be an example of what to expect this fall at Michigan's salmon streams. Conditions were fast becoming crowded during the brief salmon run last year. Fishermen are expected to swarm to the Manistee and Platte rivers in September when the coho run peaks.

Protection of Lynx Being Sought

Complete protection of the Canada lynx, once virtually vanished from Michigan but now making a modest comeback in the Upper Peninsula, is sought by the Conservation Department.

★ ★ ★

Consideration of the proposal will be given by the Conservation Commission during its meeting Thursday and Friday at the Jack Tar in Lansing.

Department game me speculate that some Canada lynx have made their way back to Michigan from Ontario by crossing over the frozen St. Marys River during winters.

The animals, once valuable fur-bearers in this state, have apparently spread their numbers, with some of them even reported in the extreme western end of the Upper Peninsula.

Also coming before the commission next week is a set of special fishing regulations recommended for 32 lakes in Gogebic County's Sylvania Tract by the U.S. Forest Service which acquired this 18,000-acre area last year.

Recommendations of the Forest Service, which would go into effect April 29 rescinding a commission order that has closed these waters to all fishing, generally call for tighter restrictions than is the case for most seasons and lakes of the state.

They would allow panfish angling in several lakes, provide trophy fishing for game species in most of the waters and limit hook and line action to catch-and-release sport on a few others.

Ice Fishermen Remain Active

Number of Anglers Is on Decline

When March rolls around, most fishermen start packing their ice angling gear and begin preparing the summer equipment for early use.

This can result in a lot of fish surviving until the ice leaves.

★ ★ ★

Perch are hitting on Lake St. Clair near Selfridge Field and off Sail Inn. Action on Saginaw Bay is good between Bay Port and Sand Point, but pressure has been light.

A few crappies, some up to 15 inches, were caught last week at Shoe Lake. Bluegills are biting in Black Bass Bay and Crane's Cove at Lake Fenton.

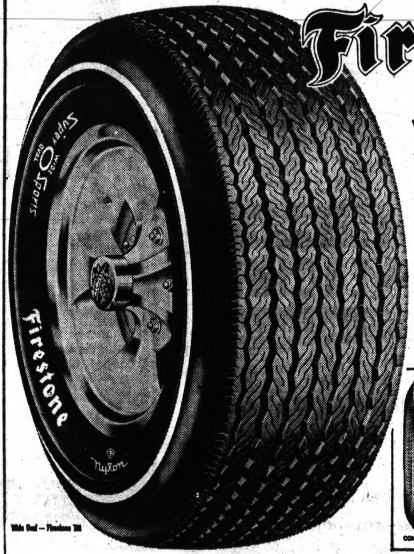

Pike and trout fishing has ended and anglers must concentrate on panfish. Indications are that ice fishing will be available in Southeastern Michigan until late this month and possibly into April in Northern Michigan.

LBJ Film Release in U.S. Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Karl E. Mundt said today the home-front release of U.S. Information Agency documentary films on President Johnson would be political propaganda.

Other senators from both parties joined him in opposing domestic distribution of USIA materials. But Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said he doesn't believe their release would propagandize Americans so long as the agency carried out its proper objective: "To convey the unvarnished truth."

★ ★ ★

Mundt of South Dakota said the party in control of the White House would use the material for its own political advantage.

He said two motion pictures prepared for overseas distribution "tend to glorify" President Johnson — and properly so.

'CAMPAIGN PRELUDE'

"He's our man," Mundt said. "But I don't think that should be used as a prelude for a reelection campaign in the United States."

"I'm afraid that if a documentary on a living president was put out domestically, the Republicans would raise the roof," Mansfield said.

★ ★ ★

USIA films depict Johnson against a Texas backdrop and on his Pacific-Asian tour late last year.

Mansfield and Mundt discussed in interviews a proposal of the U.S. Advisory Commission on Information suggesting that USIA make available to interested Americans — on request — the material it distributes overseas.

RULED OUT

By policy but not by statute, the commission said, this practice has been ruled out.

USIA Director Leonard Marks said his agency would comply with the advisory commission proposal if Congress decided that domestic release of its material should become legislative policy. The agency's official role is to promote support for U.S. foreign policy overseas.

★ ★ ★

Senators ranging from Mundt to Democrat J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas assailed the proposal, saying it would open the door to domestic propaganda.

"To turn that sort of thing inward smacks of the propaganda office that Goebbels ran with such disastrous results in Nazi Germany," Mundt said.

ACCUSES PENTAGON

Fulbright said he opposes such programs — and accused the Pentagon of promoting propaganda in the United States. He scheduled a showing later today of a Pentagon film entitled "Why Vietnam?" which is being distributed on request to U.S. audiences.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., said easing the policy on USIA would be a dangerous move. "I don't think we ought to have any official propaganda agency in the United States," he said.

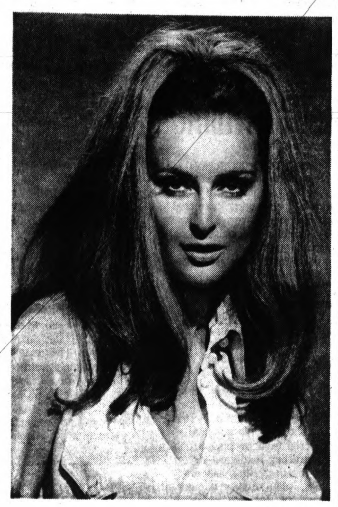

★ ★ ★

"I think it would set a very bad precedent," said Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen. "I don't think Congress will change the policy."

The commission report said: "The American taxpayer should no longer be prohibited from seeing and studying the product a government agency produces with public funds for overseas audiences."

★ ★ ★

It said the USIA should not initiate the release of its films, magazines, radio transcriptions and other materials in the United States, but should be free to make it available "in response to requests."

SAM FOR SHORT—Meet Sam Jones who, at 22, is an internationally known fashion model. Sam—her full name is Samantha—has been photographed throughout Europe and in Mexico, Greenland, Japan, Russia, India and even Outer Mongolia.

Fashionable Sam Jones Well-Financed Traveler

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Sam Jones is a traveling lady who earns $60 an hour and likes to take a fur rug with her wherever she goes.

BOYLE

"I loathe being cold," she explained.

To keep warm on her journeys, Sam has two tiger rugs, two leopard rugs, one zebra rug and three rugs made from the pelts of Icelandic ponies.

She also has a red fox jacket, a wolf coat and a raccoon coat.

She also has a rather eye-catching dress made from the skins of two cheetahs.

LIVE AS WELL

"I also like live animals as well as pelts," she remarked. "It that inconsistent?"

Sam—her full name is Samantha—at 22 is an internationally known fashion model. Long-boned and blonde, green-eyed and lovely, she has been photographed throughout Europe and in Mexico, Greenland, Japan, the Soviet Union, India and even Outer Mongolia.

★ ★ ★

Recently she made her motion picture debut in a film called "Wait Until Dark," starring Audrey Hepburn and Alan Arkin. She played the role of a mini-skirted model who is a courier for a ring of international dope smugglers.

"I try to double-cross them, so my part in the picture isn't very big, as I get killed pretty quick," she said.

LIVES IN PARIS

Over luncheon, Miss Jones volunteered that she had been born in Manhattan and raised in Ottawa, Canada, but preferred to live in Paris.

Miss Jones believes now that she would like to embark on a full-time career as an actress, but doesn't want to spend her life in Hollywood.

"It is just a parade of facades out there," she said. "I understand now why people in Hollywood take so long-getting ready to go out in the evening. They have to fix up their facade.

"Everything there is packaged so nicely. But the people are tied in various knots, and some can see out only through the cellophane that surrounds them."

More than 121 million visits were recorded to the National Parks during fiscal 1965.

Draft Rejects Face Induction

County Action Tied to Lower Standards

Lower mental standards set by the Defense Department will result in induction in April of 10 Pontiac area men previously deferred, according to Selective Service officials.

The newly classified inductees — termed 1-Y under the draft code — are in addition to 53 Oakland County men scheduled for induction, next month.

Five of the reclassified 1-Y inductees are from the three draft boards based in Pontiac, with another five from Board 328 in Farmington.

Regular induction totals include two from Pontiac Board 67, serving southwestern Oakland County; one from Board 331 drawing on the northern sector of the county; and 16 from Board 328.

No inductions are scheduled for Pontiac Board 65 in April.

The county call is included in a statewide induction figure of 758. April is the second straight month the call has increased from a February figure of 528.

Restaurant Broken Into; $136 Taken

Thieves escaped with $136 in a break-in at the Big Boy Drive In at 2490 Dixie, Waterford Township, this morning shortly after the restaurant closed.

The loot, which consisted of 55 rolls of change and 20 $1 bills, was taken from a file cabinet, township police said.

The intruders overlooked two money bags containing a large amount of cash, according to police.

Part of the restaurant's dining area was ransacked and two file cabinets pried open.

Entry was gained by breaking a window and ripping off a wire safety screen, police said.

School Study Group Started in Waterford

About 200 residents of the Waterford Township School District attended last night's organizational meeting of the citizens' school finance study committee at Pierce Junior High School.

* * *

The turnout consisted of interested citizens from the community representing various schools, school and service organizations, members at large, school administrators and teachers.

The committee's chief function will be to study the financial status of the school district and consider a long-term plan for reasonable local support.

Four subcommittees were formed: finance, program, personnel and future needs.

* * *

Each subcommittee will conduct separate studies and report to the full committee April 4. Then a steering committee will prepare a tentative overall report to be presented to the full committee April 18.

WILL BE CONSIDERED

The recommendations will be considered by the board of education April 20.

The hurried timetable is in case the committee decides to recommend placement of a millage proposition on the June 12 election ballot.

School officials attempted to place at least one member from each school in the district on each subcommittee, but were not altogether successful.

* * *

Board of Education President Robert Field welcomed the citizens. Then Board Treasurer Donald Porter reported on construction progress in the district since last June's school election.

CHARGE AND STUDY

The charge and study plan for each subcommittee then was presented by Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe.

Functions of each subcommittee is as follows:

- Finance: To study state, federal county and local school finance patterns of the past few years; to compare the district's ability and effort and inform itself on the township's implementation of the state requirement of 50 per cent property assessments; to become familiar with matters of fiscal reform and attempt to determine the need for local finance in the next five to 10 years.
- Future Needs: To study the total and student population growth of the district over the past several years and the likelihood of continued development of the community and locations of such growth; to interpret this growth and development over the next five to 10 years for the implications for added school facilities.

* * *

- Personnel: To study salaries and fringe benefits for all personnel, comparing them with those of other county communities; to assess the characteristics of the teaching staff by sex, grade level preparation, and to review the extent of continued professional development of the staff; and, to review district practices and philosophies.

* * *

- Program: To study class size and pupil-teacher ratio in the district and comparing it with neighboring districts; to examine the need for personnel in supporting services, the need for educational materials and equipment.

MAINE BOATS FEEL STORM — Fishing boats lie at anchor in windswept waters at Beals Island, Maine, yesterday as New England began digging out from one of the worst storms of the year. The vessels are part of Maine's lobster fleet.

Judge Beer Reversed on Use Tax Ruling

The Michigan Supreme Court yesterday reversed a decision of Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer who had declared it unconstitutional discrimination to impose a use tax on contractors for the state and exempt those dealing with local units of government.

State Revenue Commissioner Clarence Lock said the high court decision would save the state from paying out about $2.5 million in tax refund claims from contractors under the overturned ruling.

The state also will try to collect some $1 million in unpaid use taxes due from contractors, Lock said.

"This is a real good decision for us," said Lock, "worth about $3.5 million."

* * *

Lock added that the issue centered on pre-1964 contracts. The Legislature changed the law in 1964 to apply the use tax equally to state and local contracts.

CHALLENGE

Under the new law, contractors pay a use tax on equipment used, such as bulldozers and trucks, but do not pay a tax on finished products such as sand, steel and concrete that go into the construction.

Walter Toebe & Co. of 30025 Wixom Road, Wixom, had challenged use taxes imposed lenged use taxes imposed while it was a contractor for the State Highway Department during 1961-63.

The company said it paid use taxes through suppliers and also was assessed use taxes on purchases of personal property used during the construction work.

Beer held that imposing use taxes on contractors for the state and exempting those dealing with local governments was a violation of the constitutional mandate that taxes "shall be uniform upon the classes upon which they operate."

The State Revenue Department appealed the decision, contending the subdivisions of the state are on an entirely different legal, political and economic footing than the state of Michigan.

"There exist many basic differences, in fact, which justify the exemption by the Legislature of the purchase of material used by plaintiffs in constructing roads and streets for counties, cities and townships, while taxing the purchase of tangible property used by them in constructing highways for the state of Michigan," said the Revenue Department argument.

The department further said that "a construction contractor with the state does not bear the economic burden of the use tax. It is an element of the unit price of the bid."

* * *

The high court noted the company admitted it considered the tax in computing its bid, but claimed this fact was not material or revelant to the case.

The court opinion said it applied basic principles to determine the issues presented.

Youngsters Return Kindness

Marine Real Friend to Children

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — "Kids are the most wonderful things in the world," a young Marine wrote from Vietnam.

Pfc. John Morrow Jr., 20, first expressed his sentiments about youngsters in a letter home last fall. He wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Morrow, that he was sickened at the sight of maimed children in Vietnam.

* * *

Enclosed in the letter was his monthly paycheck, endorsed. He asked that it be used to help handicapped youngsters.

"We do our best," he said, "to set the enemy and not hurt civilians but sometimes their paths cross. That is where the trouble occurs."

STARTS CORRESPONDING

Mr. and Mrs. Morrow sent the money to the Cerebral Palsy Association. Since then their son has made regular monthly contributions to the same cause.

Eventually, the young Marine started corresponding with the association.

At one point he wrote: "It is always a good feeling for one to know that he is helping handicapped children. Kids are the most wonderful things in the world."

Morrow related that at Christmas his company brought 200 youngsters into the battalion area and gave them cookies and ice cream.

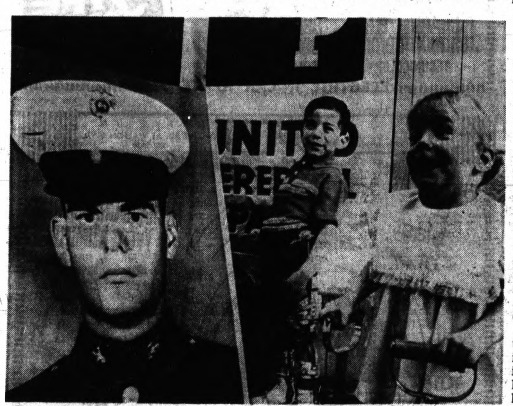

'RARE DAY'

"All of us felt better knowing we had done a good deed," he said. "Days like that are pretty rare. Most are pretty sickening."

Now kids are proving their qualities to the young Marine.

The young cerebral palsy victims and their friends are sending their good wishes to Morrow in the Naval Hospital at Oakland, Calif. Numerous cards have been sent and Morrow's mural-sized picture is on display at the association headquarters in Hollywood.

On Feb. 4 Pfc. Morrow lost his right leg when a Vietcong mine blew up a tank he was riding into battle near Da Nang.

HE'S THEIR FRIEND — Janet Jones and Dieter Balke, 1967 poster girl and boy for the United Cerebral Palsy Association, are shown with a large photo of Marine Pfc. John Morrow Jr. in Los Angeles. Morrow has been sending part of his pay home from Vietnam to help handicapped children in Los Angeles. Now the youngsters are sending Morrow get-well cards as he recuperates in an Oakland, Calif., hospital after losing a leg in Vietnam fighting.

State Delays Road Payment

Disputed 'Overruns' Being Investigated

LANSING (AP) — A decision on whether to approve a controversial $93,477 "overrun" payment on a highway contract with Holloway Construction Co. of Wixom was delayed again today by the State Administrative Board.

The attorney general's office is investigation Holloway's dealings with the Highway Department and looking into the whole question of overruns—extra payments to contractors when projects cost more than expected.

The $93,477 overrun involved a $1 million project contracted to Holloway for widening and surface work on M90 and U.S. 25 in Sanilac County.

At its Jan. 17 meeting, the Ad Board returned the matter to committee at the request of Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, who asked time to give it further consideration.

* * *

Kelley was absent from today's meeting and was represented by Deputy Atty. Gen. Leon Cohan, who said his office finds "no legal (he emphasized the word) reason" why the money could not be paid.

TO HEAR IT HIMSELF

But Gov. George Romney said he wanted to hear that from Kelley himself, since it was Kelley who requested the original delay.

"I think there should be a thorough investigation — and I mean thorough — into whether these overruns — and some of them have been substantial — have been completely justified," Romney said. "I had doubts four years ago and I still have doubts today."

The board will reconsider the $93,477 payment at its March 21 meeting.

Johnson was arrested after Donald McMillen, 40, of 496 W. Iroquois, was attacked, beaten and choked, according to Pontiac police.

The incident occurred in the main hallway at the school after Johnson had been found loitering. He had been suspended on Monday for talking back to a teacher.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina General Assembly has been asked to save the sea turtle.

Rally Is Fairly Brisk

Stock Mart Moderately Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was moderately higher early this afternoon after a fairly brisk rally.

The ticker tape was late for a while as stocks advanced after two days of irregularity or decline.

* * *

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .8 at 316.1 with industrials up .9, rails up .7 and utilities up .3.

Individual pieces of bullish corporate news helped the general feeling in Wall Street. Among those was a prominently published article to the effect that American Telephone's rate of return seems unlikely to be affected by the government investigation of its rate structure.

SETS OFF SLIDE

The investigation of AT&T, the most widely owned stock of all, set off a sharp slide in AT&T's stock a year and a half ago and contributed to last year's market decline.

AT&T Common advanced a fraction in active dealings, penetrating further beyond 60 as the stock continued a steady rise which it has been enjoying for some weeks.

Most major stock groups were higher.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.67 at 844.43.

1-Horse Town Is Proud of It

DEXTER, Iowa (AP) — The 670 residents of Dexter not only admit that theirs is a one-horse town, but they are proud of that fact.

The town was named for a horse—Dexter, first world champion son of the great sire, Hambletonian , and winner of 46 of 50 races in his competitive career, which ended in 1867.

Dexter, founded in 1868, adopted a seal with the figure of a horse on it.

Now, a new centennial seal has been designed for the town's 1968 celebration. In the center is a horse—the flying hoofs, the streaming tail, the arched neck, the rippling muscles all recalling the famed race horse.

EMU Seeks OK on Funds

YPSILANTI (AP) — Eastern Michigan University's Board of Regents has requested legislative approval of $11,845,000 for new self-liquidating building projects.

The university says the projects will be financed by bond issues and paid for with revenues received from their use at no cost to the taxpayer.

Included are an 11-story hall to house 1,200 students, a 100-unit apartment complex for married students, a parking ramp for 750 cars and a football stadium to seat 12,500.

The anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth on Feb. 12, 1809, recalls one of the world's most erroneous prophecies. Shortly after his birth, a 9-year-old cousin has a peek at the new addition to the family. Gazing on the wrinkled infant Abraham, the cousin exclaimed, or so it was later recalled, "He'll never come to much!"

Was Barred Twice in Georgia

Julian Bond Likes New Life of Legislator

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Rep. Julian Bond says his first eight weeks as a member of the Georgia General Assembly have been sometimes boring and sometimes fun, but he's impressed with his new status.

"Just think that two years ago, I was nowhere," said the 26-year-old Atlanta Negro. "Now, sometimes, I'm having lunch with the presidents of the Southern and L&N railroads."

* * *

Bond, like the other 208 members of the lower house, has been caught up in an intense lobbying campaign by the two railroads in a legislative fight over which one will get a lease to operate the state-owned Western and Atlantic Railroad.

Another aspect of his new job that Bond finds refreshing is his sudden affluence, more than $5,000 a year in salary and committee fees.

PAY RAISE

"I make more money in the legislature than I have ever made," he said in an interview. "Just the base pay for the legislature puts me in a new income bracket right away."

* * *

Bond was a founding member of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. The only other job he has ever had was publicity director for SNCC. It paid $85 a week, he said, when SNCC had enough money to meet the payroll.

* * *

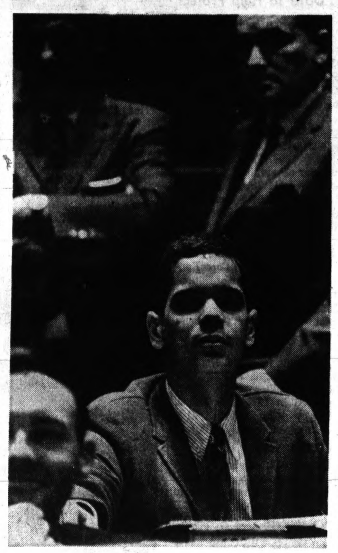

The boyish-looking Bond was elected to the legislature from an Atlanta district in 1965, but the House refused to seat him after he endorsed a SNCC statement accusing the United States of committing murder and aggression in Vietnam, and then praised the courage of draft card burners — although he said he wouldn't burn his own.

In a special election to fill the seat, Bond won again. Still the House refused to seat him.

HIGH COURT RULING

He won a third time in the 1966 general election, and finally was seated last Jan. 9 after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled the Georgia house had no authority to deny him admission.

The young Democrat became the ninth Negro member of the House when he was seated. Recognizing the controversy that had preceded his admission, he says he did not know what to expect in the way of welcome, but added he has encountered almost no overt hostility.

FRESHMAN — Negro Rep. Julian Bond of Atlanta, who was twice barred and three times elected to the Georgia General Assembly, listens intently to House proceedings, surrounded by his colleagues. Bond, 26, says his first weeks in the House have been frustrating but rewarding.

"There was a guy standing in the door when I went to the committee room one day," he said. "I said, 'Excuse me, is this the education committee?' He looked over his shoulder at me and turned back. But he didn't move. I said it three times, and finally I just had to push my way by him. That was the only incident.

* * *

"Some of the legislators don't speak, but I don't know whether they would or not anyway. Some are formal. Some are polite. Some of them make little jokes but not against me."

PRAISES HOUSE MEMBERS

Commenting on Bond's reception, Rep. Thomas B. Murphy of Bremen, a floor leader for Gov. Lester G. Maddox, said: "It just proves the members of the House are gentle. They can accept defeat with the same gentlemanly attitude they accept victory."

* * *

Bond said he thinks he has been as effective as any other freshman legislator.

* * *

"The whole situation at first is fascinating," he said. "Sometimes, it's boring. Sometimes, it's fun, but it's an education. Georgia must be sort of typical as far as legislatures go."

* * *

Though he has introduced no bills in the House, Bond has sponsored two resolutions and cosponsored another. The resolutions recognized Negro History Week and honored an Atlanta Negro college on its centennial and its president on his retirement. All were unopposed.

BOND IS QUIET

Bond's white colleagues on the Education Committee described him as quiet, and say he has attended most meetings.

* * *

"He hasn't shown any interest as far as I can tell," said one committee member, who declined use of his name. "Of course, his way of showing interest may be different from mine."

* * *

Most of Bond's white colleagues refused to speak on the record about him. "I don't think we should muddy the waters," one said.

* * *

Will Bond run for reelection? "I don't know. I want to see how things go next session," he said. "I, by myself, never think I'm going to be able to change the whole pace of Georgia. Maybe, I can help to change some things. If I find I can't do it, then someone else can sit here."

THE EASY WAY — Winter shooting, the easy way — from a window — produced this reminder of the blizzard of '67. After photographing his neighbor trying to clear a path with a hand-pushed snowplow, the picture-taker bundled up and went outdoors for more pictures.

Camera Angles

Challenges of a Storm

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Winter's rigor tested many photographers when the blizzards of '67 hit large areas of the country in January and early February.

* * *

Many followed the path of least resistance and left their cameras snuggled securely on shelves to await more comfortable shooting days.

Others saw the weather as another photo challenge, an opportunity to record unusual situations and off-beat activities.

In many cases, it required no more effort than to aim the camera out the window or door to picture vignettes of winter living.

* * *

Actually, when New York City felt the lash of the blizzard, I had no inclination to photograph it in action.

SNOWBOUND

I was snowbound at home and the thought of going out with camera was quickly and easily subdued.

But then I saw my neighbor trying to clear a path with his snowplow. I couldn't resist picturing the action from the window.

Then he disappeared around a corner of the house. With pictures started and the camera in my hand . . . I was hooked!

* * *

I bundled up and went outside for more pictures.

USEFUL ITEM

A sunshade on the lens is a useful accessory in shooting snow pictures. It protects the lens from drifting snowflakes and fine particles of flying snow spray.

In heavy snowfall, an umbrella also makes a protective canopy over photographer and camera. When you need both hands for shooting, you can let the umbrella rest on the head!

Picture opportunities are somewhat easier to come by the day following a storm. There are many story-telling situations as people re-establish touch with the rest of the world — digging out homes, vehicles and paths.

* * *

But winter storms and hardships are one phase of good winter pictures. Normally, there is the beauty of the season and wholesome, healthy activities which make sparkling family mementos.

A FAIRYLAND

A mantle of snow covers our normal environment changing it into an unrecognizable fairyland . . . for a short time anyway. Sleds, skates and skis come out and children build snowmen and forts and have snowball fights.

This is subject matter which begs for home movie and still camera picturing.

To get snappy, sparkling snow pictures, take advantage of sunshiny days with sidelight or backlight to bring out texture and colors.

* * *

Shadows become more important to give shape and meaning to white subject matter, and that's what you get with sidelight and backlight.

PRECAUTIONS

In extreme cold, there are some precautions to take. Film becomes brittle, shutters can stick or slow down and batteries go dead.

* * *

Keeping the camera under your outer garments will keep it in condition for shooting when you need it.

* * *

Advance film slowly and carefully to avoid static electricity marks or the danger of snapping off brittle film.

Engineer Prof Due to Study Mole Travel

CARBONADLE, Ill. (AP)—An engineering professor at Southern Illinois University has an assignment to brainstorm an idea — travel underground.

U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is trying to come up with a vehicle that will split rock to tunnel along its own roadway deep inside the earth.

Prof. Eldred Hough is trying to determine if it is possible for man to travel like a mole. The corps granted him $40,000 to explore his theories.

His working hypothesis is that a machine some 10 feet long could be designed. It would use a self-contained hydraulic fracturing unit.

* * *

Hough's underground vehicle might use a technique discovered 17 years ago to boost productivity of oil wells. It would propel itself with a battery of pistons, forcing fluid into the fracture it creates and enlarges it by a given amount and crawl into the space.

High Court Frees Detroit Figure

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court Tuesday ordered Detroit restaurateur Costas (Gust) Colacasides freed from the Detroit House of Correction under $50,000 bond. Colacasides, who is appealing a six-month sentence for contempt of the Wayne County Grand Jury, had been in jail since Feb. 9. Lower courts had refused to set bail.

'VERY LUCKY MAN' — Actor Jack Hawkins plays the part of a British ambassador during shooting of the film "The Great Catherine" yesterday at Shepperton Studios near London. A year ago his larynx was removed because of cancer, and now he speaks with the muscles of his throat. Hawkins, who considers himself a very lucky man, is able to be clearly understood.

Actor Back at Work After Losing Larynx

LONDON (AP) — British actor Jack Hawkins is back at work in a movie just a year after removal of his larynx because of cancer.

"It's marvelous to be back among so many of my friends," he said in the soft new voice he has developed.

★ ★ ★

Hawkins now speaks with the muscles of his throat — it is called esophageal speaking — and has made such good progress that it is possible to understand every word he says. He even has some of the former tonal quality of his voice, which is very unusual for such cases.

★ ★ ★

"I consider myself a very lucky man," he said on the set of "The Great Catherine."

CAUGHT IN TIME

"I had cancer of the larynx and today I could have been six feet under the ground. But they caught it in time, before it spread to the glands. If that had happened, that would have been it.

★ ★ ★

"Instead they removed my larynx and I had to learn to speak all over again. I do it by gulping in air and then releasing it slowly."

★ ★ ★

Hawkins, 56, looks in fine shape. A gold St. Christopher medal hides the small opening in his throat.

★ ★ ★

"I had some black, black moments," he said. "I thought I would never work again. Apparently this operation I went through does cause people to suffer very deep depressions."

★ ★ ★

It was Peter O'Toole, star and coproducer of the film, who suggested Hawkins for the part of the British ambassador.

★ ★ ★

"It's a perfect part for me," said Hawkins, "I don't have very much dialogue and I can deliver what lines I have. Mostly I just react. Every time I start to speak, Peter O'Toole interrupts me."

Public Figures Are Roasted at Press Club

DETROIT (AP)—Politicians, auto executives and public figures in general came in for some bipartisan lampooning Tuesday night at the Detroit Press Club's annual "Stag Steakout."

The show, played to a capacity dinner of 800, maintained a long-standing policy of leaving no public figure unstoned.

One of the chief targets was Michigan Gov. George Romney, undeclared candidate for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

Romney was conspicuously absent, however, delivering a speech in Evansville, Ind.

One group dubbed the Latter-Day Soapy Singers, in existence since a farewell party for former Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams in 1960, took on politicians of both major parties.

To the tune of "The Rain in Spain," Romney was advised that "The Vietcong is Always in the Wrong" in a jab at the governor's reluctance to spell out his specific views on the Vietnam war.

New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's highly publicized court tussle with author William Manchester came in for some good-natured lampooning as he sang (by proxy) to the tune of "Winchester Cathedral":

"Manchester, you author
You're putting me down.
You argued and talked as My polls fell down."

SAFETY SKIT

One skit followed the automotive safety theme to "its logical conclusions," with a complete revolution in the industry.

It put author-critic Ralph Nader in the role of president of General Motors, United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther as head of Ford, Connecticut Sen. Abraham Ribicoff as president of Chrysler, and Sen. Edmund Muskie as top man of American Motors.

But they found themselves frustrated in their work by a new federal safety administrator — GM President James Roche.

'Gunsmoke' Back on CBS Fall Slate

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — CBS-TV has reinstated its 13-year-old "Gunsmoke" series, which it previously had eliminated from its fall schedule.

A network spokesman said the one-hour show would be shifted from 10 p.m. EST Saturday nights to 7:30 p.m. EST Monday nights.

★ ★ ★

The western series stars Jim Arness, Amanda Blake and Milburn Stone.

Model Turns Up Her Nose at Vogue of Nose Redoing

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—In this age of nose-jobs, it was refreshing to meet the beautiful model Sam (Samatha) Jones who joins Danny Thomas and Tony Bennett in resisting nose-fixing . . . and soon will have been on the cover of Vogue for four straight months.

WILSON

"That's all I've had time for," Sam told me at Lindy's, explaining that posing for a cover means "sitting there looking dumb."

A famous woman agent for models told Sam when she came here from Ottawa last fall she must correct her nose.

"Now I have a strange, funny nose, it's not the nose I'd choose, but it's me, it's unique, I do not desire one of those neat little Hollywood noses."

Her nose figures prominently in the movie "Wait Until Dark." She's spun around the world, including to Russia and India, posing for pictures since she arrived, for photogs who liked her nose.

"What do they do with my nose?" she asked. "They simply state it. My nose is a selling point for my face."

Eddie Fisher & Connie Stevens swear to me—and at me—that they're delaying their marriage for several months, though they'd hoped it would be in the next two weeks. The Buddy Hacketts are giving them an "engagement reception" Mar. 12 are the rumor-spreaders leaped to the conclusion it was a shower, which Connie says it isn't.

Eddie with Buddy Hackett, by the way, will play the Palace for 6 weeks starting Sept. 5 at big money, and figures to make around $30,000-a-week for several months, about $600,000 in 4 months. He's also been offered $60,000-a-wk. at the new Las Vegas Bonanza, highest pay in Vegas history.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Jackie Kennedy lunched with Gian-Carlo Menotti for three hours at Quo Vadis, probably discussing the composition he's doing for dedication of the Boston Kennedy Library . . . . Princess Margaret will stay at the home of Jocelyn Stevens in Nassau . . . Jimmy Durante was honored upon his 56th year in show business Tuesday Mar. 7 at the Miami Beach Auditorium, and Mayor Elliott Roosevelt asked that congratulatory wires be sent to his office.

Johnny Mathis made 3 changes—sports jacket, then sweater and slacks, then business suit—during his 1 hr-20 min. concert-type opening at the Copacabana. First time any male star ever did that! One fan said of his voice, "It's like listening to a wonderful musical instrument."

British Beach Yields Skull

May Solve Mystery of Frogman's Death

CHICHESTER, England (UPI) — A skull found on a local beach may solve the cold war mystery of what happened to British frogman Lionel Crabb, a pathologist said today.

He said the skull spotted on the beach by a Sunday stoller, Margaret Bull, may have been that of the British Navy commander who disappeared during a 1956 visit to Britain by then Soviet leaders Nikita S. Khrushchev and Nikolai Bulganin.

Crabb's dentists has been called in to examine the skull which had four teeth intact, pathologist Donald King told newsmen.

At the time of his disappearance, it was widely said Crabb was engaged in underwater espionage, inspecting the ship that carried Khrushchev and Bulganin.

★ ★ ★

The then prime minister, Anthony Eden, told Parliament it was not in the public interest to disclose the circumstances of Crabb's presumed death.

HEADLESS BODY FOUND

A year later a headless body was found in Chichester Harbor, two miles from the spot where the skull appeared Sunday. The body was identified as Crabb's.

In 1960 Moscow claimed Crabb "perished" during underwater espionage. But it gave no details. Some British experts said the Commander was killed by Soviet security men.

King said the skull may give a final answer to what happened.

★ ★ ★

"I would say the skull has been in the water about 10 years. There is a clean cut across it. But I cannot say if this was done by a (ship's) propeller," he said.

Report-Law Changes Near

LANSING (UPI) — Changes liberalizing Michigan's financial responsibility reporting law will go into effect March 10, it was reported yesterday by Secretary of State James Hare.

★ ★ ★

Major change of the new law ratses the property damage ceiling from $100 to $200.

★ ★ ★

"Starting March 10, no financial responsibility accident report form is required to be sent to the Michigan Department of State if all the vehicles involved in an accident are covered by liability insurance," Hare said.

The 80-year-old man, who will be 82 when he receives his bachelor's degree, plans to enter Columbia University later for his master's degree.

ESTABLISHES PROCEDURE — Keith L. Leak, who retired as an assistant superintendent at Pontiac Motor Division a year ago, has been busy ever since organizing the contracted work at Pontiac State Hospital's Jay Shop. Leak, 5891 Dixie Highway, Independence Township, here inspects one of the parts Jay Shop workers check for flaws.

BACK TO WORK — Hands too long inactive through confinement again find a useful task at Pontiac State Hospital. Once injured in an industrial accident, they are getting the feel of work by sorting automobile parts salvaged from the lines at Pontiac Motor Division.

Big Steps at State Hospital

Lost Ability Found in Jay Shop

By PAT McCARTY

A man who's lost the ability to pay his own way has lost a great deal in our society.

Those regaining that aspect of independence in the Jay Shop at Pontiac State Hospital are taking a big step toward learning to cope with life on the outside.

Miss McCarty

Jay Shop, Inc. was founded a year ago to bridge the gap between the sheltered existence of the hospital and life in a competitive community.

Sponsored by area Jaycees in Michigan District 18, the workshop idea was born in a need identified by Dr. Donald W. Martin, medical superintendent at the hospital.

Martin proposed a vocational rehabilitation program for patients whose illnesses left them unable to perform their old jobs.

* * *

Until these patients could regain certain skills or learn new ones, they would remain trapped in the hospital situation or become public charges within the community, Martin warned.

ENTHUSIASM, ABILITY

The Jaycees, charged by their national organization to pay particular attention to mental health last year, came through with the kind of enthusiasm and organizational ability to get the program under way.

As a result, the hospital now has a miniature factory which is paying its own way and returning financial and emotional profits to those who work in it.

"It provides an orientation for them," said Mrs. Robert M. McCurry, director of occupational therapy at the hospital. "We want to build up their work tolerance and the desire to go to work."

* * *

Of the 96 patients involved in the program during the last year, 24 have been released from the hospital.

'HELPS TO GET OUT'

"It helps them to get out and then to stay out," said Keith L. Leak, acting president of the 20-member board for the nonprofit corporation.

Leak, who had been with Pontiac Motor Division since 1923 before he retired last year, now spends 10 to 15 hours a week at the Jay Shop.

His experience as an assistant superintendent at Pontiac Motor has been invaluable to the young industry at the hospital.

With his background in methods, Leak organizes the jobs which the Jay Shop contracts to do.

PSH STAFFER — Coordinator of the sheltered workshop at Pontiac State Hospital is Ronald A. Robbins. He and his two assistants are aided by a group of Jaycees and other interested persons.

These generally fall into the nuisance category, he said.

The Jay Shop's first customer was the Toledo Division of the Kroger Co.

During the past year, Pontiac State Hospital patients have counted and sorted more than 4.5 million coupons for the supermarket chain.

* * *

For the Hardware Spring Corp. of Detroit, they sort and rework small automobile parts and for Design Products Corp. of Troy they assemble electronics components.

GRAPHIC ARTS

The Jay Shop also has a graphic arts department in which it prints tickets, cards and the like for area organizations.

Last month, the Jay Shop signed a contract with Pontiac Motor Division to sort salvaged materials.

Ronald A. Robbins, former assistant director of occupational therapy who now is Jay Shop coordinator, has two assistants.

* * *

Robbins said additional staff members would allow the program to be expanded to serve as many as 150 patients a week, rather than the present 32.

MORE RETIRED MEN

Leak would like to see more retired men like himself volunteer to help at the Jay Shop.

Those with production methods and mechanical experience would be particularly welcome, he said.

Of course, they also must be interested in people and able to work with them.

* * *

Most of the patients who work in the Jay Shop are those who are being rehabilitated to go back out into the community, Robbins said.

They have been in the hospital for a relatively long period — perhaps five years — and have lost both ability and confidence, he said.

"To work for a salary is a new experience to them," he said.

Other participants in the program may be new patients who will be there for only a short time and those whose chances of ever leaving the hospital are slim.

30 HOURS A WEEK

They put in not more than 30 hours a week in the Jay Shop rooms on the ground level of one of the medical-surgical buildings.

Paid on a piecework basis, they average about 48 cents an hour, Robbins said.

Of the $7,026 taken in by the Jay Shop so far, $5,841 has been paid to the patients.

* * *

The idea of making money provides a real incentive, for with it the patient can again become a consumer.

At the same time, he is earning money in a protected situation — one which minimizes anxieties and fears and provides the maximum amount of encouragement.

And he begins to get back some of the self-esteem necessary to operate in the outside world.

Communities OK College Creation

MANISTEE (AP) — Voters in Mason and Manistee intermediate school districts have approved a community college for their area.

In the balloting Monday, voters approved establishment of a college district 6,640-3,234. They also approved a 1½ mill levy to finance construction and operation of the new college, 6,335-3,513, and elected a seven-member board of trustees.

Americans Lead the World in Eating Peanut Products

SOUTHERN PEANUT LOAF

PEANUT BANANA BREAD AND CORN STICKS

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Had any goober peas lately? That's one way of referring to peanuts. This is National Peanut Week so encourage the youngsters to eat an extra peanut butter and jelly sandwich. Peanuts are listed as a plentiful food for March.

It's amazing how many foods you can add peanuts or peanut butter to. The thought may repel some individuals and we'll forgive you if you silently steal away while we discuss peanut recipes.

Let's start with breakfast and pancakes.

PETER PANKAKES

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons crunchy peanut butter
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup milk
1 egg, slightly beaten

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into mixing bowl. In small saucepan, melt peanut butter with butter; set aside.

Stir milk and egg into flour mixture; blend in peanut butter mixture. Bake on hot griddle. Serve with butter and syrup, as desired. Makes 8-10 pancakes.

Peanuts take the place of meat in a loaf that is suited to the Lenten season.

SOUTHERN PEANUT LOAF

1¼ cups crunchy peanut butter
1½ cups cooked baby lima beans
¼ cup onion, finely chopped
½ teaspoon basil
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1¼ cups soft bread crumbs
1½ cups grated American cheese
1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
4 eggs, well beaten
1½ cups well seasoned tomato sauce

Combine all ingredients except tomato sauce, mixing well. Spoon into a greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 40 to 45 minutes. Serve hot with tomato sauce.

If desired, garnish with green pepper strips and radish slices. Serves 8.

Tempting nutty bread companions for a salad luncheon are Peanut Corn Sticks and Peanut Banana Bread.

PEANUT CORN STICKS

1 tablespoon margarine
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon finely chopped pimiento
½ cup chopped cocktail peanuts
1 package (12-ounces) corn muffin mix, prepared as directed

In a small skillet melt margarine over low heat. Add onion, green pepper and pimiento; saute lightly until onion is golden (about 5 minutes). Set aside.

Add peanuts and sauteed mixture to prepared corn muffin batter. Fill well greased corn stick pans ⅔ full of batter.

Bake in a 425-degree oven about 15 minutes, or until golden or pour into a greased 8-inch square pan and bake in a 400-degree oven about 25 minutes, or until done. Makes about 14 corn sticks or one 8-inch square cornbread.

PEANUT BANANA BREAD

2¼ cups unsifted flour
1¼ teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup milk
1 tablespoon white vinegar
⅓ cup margarine
1 cup dark firmly packed brown sugar
2 eggs
1 cup mashed ripe bananas (2 to 3 bananas)
¾ cup chopped cocktail peanuts

Sift together flour, baking soda, baking powder and salt. Combine milk and vinegar; set aside.

In a large mixer bowl cream margarine. Gradually beat in dark brown sugar until thoroughly blended. Add eggs and mashed bananas and beat until smooth and light.

Mix in sifted dry ingredients alternately with the milk mixture. Stir in ½ cup peanuts. Pour batter into a lightly greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Sprinkle with remaining peanuts.

Bake in a moderate 350-degree oven for 70 minutes, or until done. Allow to cool about 30 minutes before removing from pan. Makes 1 loaf.

Peanut butter adds interest to both a dip and a salad dressing.

SAUCY PEANUT BUTTER DIP

½ cup peanut butter
¼ cup salad dressing or mayonnaise
2 to 3 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon curry powder
Dash of pepper

Blend peanut butter and salad dressing or mayonnaise thoroughly. Gradually stir in milk until dip is of desired consistency. Stir in remaining ingredients. Let stand about two hours before serving to blend flavors. Makes about 1 cup dip.

HONEY-NUT SALAD DRESSING

½ cup peanut butter
¾ cup honey
½ cup fruit juice (orange, pineapple, peach, pear or apricot)
1 teaspoon celery seed
Dash of salt
¼ cup salted peanuts

Blend peanut butter and honey. Gradually beat in fruit juice until thoroughly blended. Stir in celery seed. Serve over fruit salads. Top with garnish of salted peanuts. Makes about Finally, peanut butter joins canned peaches in flavoring a cookie square.

PEANUT PEACH SQUARES

1 can (1 lb.) cling peach slices or halves
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup brown sugar, packed
½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup salad dressing.
½ cup peanut butter
2 eggs
1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt

Drain peaches; chop into small pieces. In a mixing bowl, cream together sugars, butter and peanut butter. Beat in eggs and peaches.

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Mix into creamed mixture. Spread into greased 13x9x2½-inch baking pan.

Bake in 350-degree (moderate) oven 25 minutes. Cool and cut into squares. Makes 12 (3-inch) squares.

Care to Try Variation of Old Recipe?

Here's a variation on that old favorite — hot cross buns.

Wholewheat Hot Cross Buns

½ cup milk, scalded
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
¼ cup butter or margarine
3 tablespoons dark molasses
1⅓ cups warm water
2 packages active dry yeast
½ cup currants
¾ cup chopped citron
2½ cups stoneground wholewheat flour, unsifted
3¾ cups (about) unsifted regular flour

Off heat, stir sugar, salt, butter and molasses into the scalded milk; cool to lukewarm.

In a large warm bowl, dissolve yeast in warm water; add lukewarm milk mixture, currants, citron and wholewheat flour; stir well to blend. Work in enough additional regular flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured surface and knead until smooth and elastic — 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl; turn to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm draft-free place until doubled — about 1 hour.

Punch down dough; turn out as before. Divide into 18 equal pieces; form into smooth balls. Place in two greased 8-inch square pans. Cover; let rise as previously until doubled—about 45 minutes.

Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Turn out on wire rack to cool. Use confectioners sugar frosting to mark crosses on top of buns. Makes 18.

Cooky Recipe Is Unusual

Chow-mein noodles go into these cookies!

Wacky Kisses

¼ cup unsifted regular flour
½ cup chopped blanched almonds
1 can (5 ounces) chow-mein noodles
3 egg whites
Pinch of salt
1 teaspoon almond flavoring
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cornstarch

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. In a large bowl, mix together flour, almonds and noodles, working with hands to break up noodles; reserve.

Beat egg whites with salt and flavoring until foamy; gradually beat in the sugar and cornstarch; continue to beat until very glossy and meringue holds stiff straight peaks; fold into reserved noodle mixture.

Drop by heaping tablespoonfuls, slightly apart, on well-greased and floured cookie sheet. Place in preheated oven; turn off heat; allow to stand in closed oven, without opening door, for 45 to 60 minutes or until thoroughly dry.

Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

PETER PANKAKES

Sauteed Liver, Orange Wedges for Appetizer

For a unique and tasty appetizer try tender beef liver on a pick balanced with an orange wedge. Dip the liver into a hot cocktail sauce if you wish.

First cook the ½ inch thick slices of liver in about 1 inch of hot fat only until the pink disappears. Drain and cool the liver and then cut into bite size pieces.

Cut oranges in half crosswise and turn cut side down. Cut each half into 6 or 8 wedges.

Place orange halves on a flat piece of liver with each pick and press it into a orange wedge.

For the dip, combine chili sauce with as much prepared horseradish as you like. Place the chili cocktail dip in small chafing dish or sauce warmer to keep it hot for dipping.

Put Leftovers in Stroganoff

Cooked turkey of chicken or even beef may be combined with canned broiled mushrooms in a sour cream sauce and voila, a simle stroganoff to serve over buttered noodles or rice.

Quick Turkey Stroganoff

½ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon marjoram, crushed
1 tablespoon flour
1 can (6 oz.) or 2 cans (3 oz. size) sliced broiled mushrooms
1 tablespoon catsup
½ cup dairy sour cream
1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet (bottled browning sauce)
2 cups cooked turkey, chicken or beef, cut into thin strips
Hot cooked noodles or rice

Cook onion in butter until tender. Stir in marjoram, then flour. Remove from heat and pour in broth drained from mushrooms. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Remove from heat and stir in catsup, sour cream and kitchen bouquet. Add mushrooms and turkey and heat, without boiling, until thoroughly hot. Stir now and then.

Serve with noodles. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Marinade Flavors Asparagus Pieces

Treat your bridge club or party guests to a delicious springtime snack.

Marinated Asparagus Snacks

1 cup white sugar
1 cup red wine vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons dill seed
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1½ cups cooked asparagus cuts and tips

Combine sugar, vinegar, salt, dill seed and lemon rind. Stir to dissolve sugar. Arrange asparagus in large shallow dish, pour liquid over top. Chill overnight. Drain and serve on party picks.

* Equivalent of standard (No. 300) can, package of frozen, or glass container.

Use Tuna, Hot Beef

Vary Italian Recipe

Now is the time when you are looking for interesting menu ideas for Lent. Tangy Tuna Lasagne is a unique adaptation of an old-world favorite which your family is sure to enjoy. Or, when you are entertaining, make it ahead of time and bake it just before you're ready to serve your friends.

This tangy lasagne is sparked with succulent sliced mushroom — the kind which are packed in a clear glass jar so you can see what you are buying.

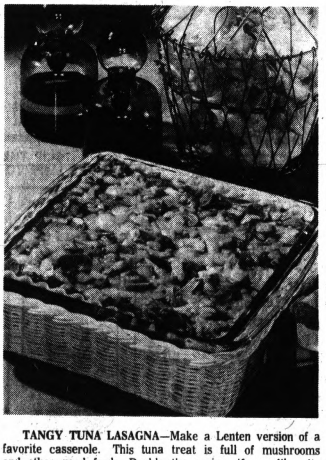

The rich tomato sauce and the delightful combination of Mozzarella and Parmesan cheese accent the flavor of the surprise ingredient — tuna.

Tangy Tuna Lasagne

2 2½-oz. jars or one 4½-oz. jar sliced mushrooms, drained
½ cup chopped green pepper
⅓ cup chopped onion
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
2 8-oz. cans tomato sauce with cheese
1 6-oz. can tomato paste
1 teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon Italian herb seasoning
2 7-oz. cans tuna, drained
¼ pound lasagne noodles
½ pound shredded Mozzarella cheese
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Saute mushrooms, green pepper and onion in butter. Blend in tomato sauce, tomato paste, oregano, Italian herb seasoning and tuna.

Cook noodles according to package directions; drain. In an 8-inch square baking dish, layer noodles, tomato sauce, Mozzarella and Parmesan cheese; repeat, ending with cheese on top. Bake at 375 degrees for 25 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

TANGY TUNA LASAGNA—Make a Lenten version of a favorite casserole. This tuna treat is full of mushrooms and other good foods. Double the recipe, if you like; its great the second day.

Try Some Soda

If dried beans never become as tender as you would like them to be, even after long cooking, it may be that the water you use is hard and this interferes. A little baking soda added to hard water in which beans are to be cooked usually makes them tender.

Jacoby on Bridge

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Jim: "When the bidding proceeds 'one spade-pass-two spades-pass-pass,' and you have the choice between reopening or letting the hand play at two spades, you have a lot of information at your disposal that you did not have at your first turn."

JACOBY

Oswald: "You know a great deal about the hand. To start with, you know that your opponents have a fit in spades but that in their judgment they can't make game. The chances are your side holds half the high cards but you are still holding the same 13 cards you were dealt."

South was right back where he started."

Oswald: "South was right back where he started except that he had marked East with four spades to the ace-queen.

"South felt that if East also held the queen of diamonds he would have found another spade raise after the bidding died at three hearts. So South cashed his ace of diamonds, finessed against West's queen and made his contract."

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣
Pass	2 ♠	Pass	2 N.T.
Pass	3 ♣	Pass	?

You, South, hold: ♠ J ♥ K 7 4 3 ♦ K 6 5 4 ♣ K 7 4 3

What do you do now?

A—Wish that you had passed at two spades. You don't like your prospects at all. Clubs are no bargain. You aren't going to do well in no-trump and if you go to three spades your partner will go on. The best thing you can do is to pass and take your punishment at an undoubled contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of rebidding two spades your partner rebids two diamonds. What do you do now?

Illegal Butter Big Business

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Butter smuggling from Holland to Belgium has become a $3 million a year business, according to Belgian reports.

The London Observer also has reported that as much as 20 per cent of Holland's butter is being smuggled into Belgium, where it sells at a much higher price.

The butter smugglers, armed with Molotov cocktails, crash past Belgian border guards in bullet-proof wagons.

Some firms even put the smuggled Dutch butter into Belgian wrappers, ship it back to Holland, and claim export subsidies from the Belgian government, according to the London paper.

Eight if by Day, but 50 if by Night

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — For the 300 residents of Turkey Neck Bend, Ky., the distance to the county seat, Tompkinsville, will continue to be 8 miles by day and 50 miles by night.

The Highway Department has rejected a request to build a bridge over the Cumberland River to replace a ferry boat, which runs only from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m.

No Halftime Rest

EMINENCE, Ind. (AP) — Some members of the Eminence High School Band also play basketball. At halftime, they slip on jackets after playing in the game and join the band members in halftime music.

These Guards Have a Case

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Officers at Witako Prison Farm in New Zealand's North Island, feel they have a strong case in their claim for higher wages.

They have told the Government Service Tribunal that some of the prisoners who are allowed to work outside the farm on parole are earning much more than the prison staff.

Dip Fish Steaks in Farina for Crisp Brown Crust

By now we're all agreed that it's wise to serve fish and seafood several times a week to a growing family. Whatever possible monotony there might have been in the past, when the number of species was limited in many areas, is no problem today.

The range is nationwide and astonishing, particularly in the frozen category. You can contribute your own change of pace by varying your cooking methods, and collecting a variety of sauce recipes.

The Halibut Association of North America asks whether you've ever tried pan-frying halibut steaks with a coating of farina. Yes, farina! It's a perfect coating — a mixture of cereal and nuts that browns quickly, beautifully and evenly.

As for sauces, the Association sends along an unusual one that combines horseradish with, of all things, whipped cream—excellent with the halibut steaks.

HALIBUT STEAKS FARINA

1½ pounds halibut steaks, fresh or frozen
1 egg, well beaten
2 tablespoons milk
¾ cup farina
Salt and pepper
¼ pound butter or margarine
Paprika (optional)

If halibut is frozen, let thaw on refrigerator shelf or at room temperature. Beat egg until foamy and add milk.

Dip fish first in egg and milk mixture, then in farina. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Melt butter in large skillet.

Fry fish on one side until golden brown (about 5 minutes); turn and fry other side 3 to 5 minutes. Reduce heat, cover and cook 2 minutes longer until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. If desired, sprinkle with paprika.

Serve with Horseradish Sauce (recipe below). Makes 4 servings.

Horseradish Sauce

Whip ½ pint heavy cream until it stands in peaks. Combine 3 tablespoons prepared horseradish, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon sugar and a pinch ground saffron (optional). Fold into whipped cream. Makes enough sauce for 4 servings of halibut.

POLLY PEAR—Here's a simple treat that is bound to delight your youngsters and make your breakfast table a gayer spot. Drain a can of Bartlett pear halves; refrigerate syrup to use later in beverage or gelatin. Place servings of ready-to-eat cereal in shallow bowls. Place a drained pear half on top of each portion of cereal. Makes Polly's "hair" from toasted shredded coconut, her "eyes" from raisins and her "mouth" from a snippet of cherry.

Steak Rolls Filled With Tasty Mixture

Cube steaks have long been popular with busy homemakers. Already cut in serving-size pieces, they are free of waste. Furthermore, the cubing process tenderizes them so they cook quickly.

Friends in California, who now brag of their western beef almost as insistently as they brag of their weather, tell how to make tamale rolls of cube steaks.

Tamale Steak Rolls

1 (8-oz.) can tomato paste
⅓ cup tomato paste
1 (4½ oz.) can chopped California ripe olives
¼ cup chopped onion
2 chopped pimientos
1 table spoon chili sauce
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
⅛ teaspoon marjoram
½ teapsoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
6 beef cube steaks
⅓ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Combine all ingredients except steaks and cheese. Spread steaks with two-thirds of ripe olive mixture. Roll to enclose filing and secure with wooded picks.

Place in greased baking dish. Cover with remaining ripe olive mixture; sprinkle with cheese.

Bake in 375-degree oven 25 to 30 minutes.

Farmer Jack Continues Price Revolution!

LOWERS FOOD PRICES!

SAYS NO MORE SPIRALING PRICES!

FARMER JACK SAID TODAY THAT HE WILL "CONTINUE HIS PRICE REVOLUTION TO LOWER FOOD PRICES—REGARDLESS OF THE COST TO HIS SUPERMARKETS! EVERY FARMER JACK CUSTOMER CAN DEPEND ON THE FINEST FOOD I CAN BUY—AT DOWN T'EARTH PRICES—AND I HAVE NO INTENTION OF CHANGING MY POLICY!"

In his second Grand Opening Week, having added 2 more stores in the Pontiac area, Farmer Jack spoke out again today, about his intentions of continuing his Price Revolution in his Supermarkets.

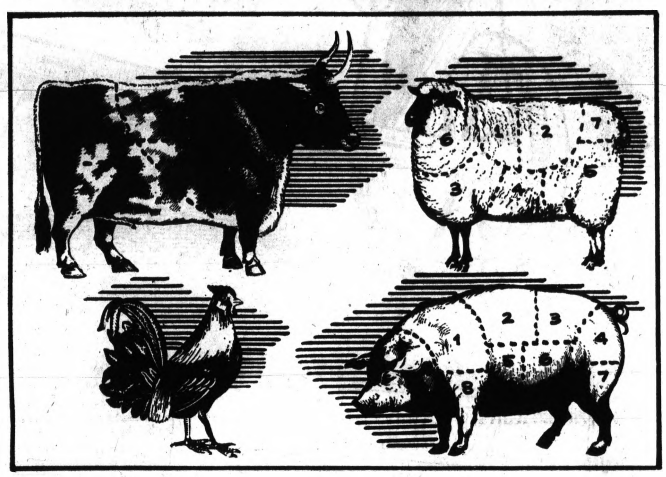

Having become a legend within his own time for his outstanding food retailing methods—as well as 'speaking his mind' has made Farmer Jack a world famous man.

"Plain talk, the best quality foods, at prices within reach of a workin' man's pay—is all y'need," according to Farmer Jack, "an' it sets a lot better with folks, than a lot of fancy words an' pictures—that y'don't back up!

"Now, take this week," continued Farmer Jack, "we've got some extra big 'out of the crate' food buys, that we're selling at special low prices.

"Ever'thing else—in all of my Supermarkets is bein' sold at our every day low 'bushel an' case' prices. But, "said Farmer Jack, "that's all we have t'say t' folks because they know they can count on every word we say!

"An' we're goin' t' keep right on fightin' the battle of spiralin' prices—an' lettin' folks know our word is their guarantee of takin' more fine quality food home—in every sack they carry out of Farmer Jack's Supermarkets!"

FARMER JACK'S FACTS:

A lot of new faces showed up this week, at Farmer Jack's Price Revolution, and Grand Opening Celebration! Not a single one got six feet inside the doors until they began exclaiming about the fantastic selection of food!

Happy as Farmer Jack was to hear such nice things being said--he also felt he'd been remiss in telling folks in Pontiac, that he always carries Michigan's largest selection of all different kinds of food--including delicious U.S. Choice Meats!

The Meat Department is Farmer Jack's special pride, and he not only carries a big selection, but every piece of Meat that you buy--is strictly fork-tender, and carries a money-back guarantee!

The Produce Department came in for special attention--looking for all the world like a great big country 'Garden Patch' filled to the brim with mouth-watering and tender, green garden vegetables, and ripe, juicy fruits!

Food Shoppers couldn't get over the big red, ripe strawberries, watermelons, and other fruits, too, that looked and tasted exactly like they'd been field ripened in the middle of summer!

Dozens and dozens of different ,Groceries, too numerous to mention, lined every shelf all through the store, and every famous name carried Farmer Jack's low, 'case' price!

Now, if by chance, you haven't attended Farmer Jack's beautiful new One-Stop-Food Shopping Centers--by all means, get there today. You'll enjoy the festive atmosphere of his 2nd Grand Opening Week, as well as the money-saving low prices resulting from his Price Revolution!

NOTICE TO ROLLS ROYCE DRIVERS!

Farmer Jask's Supermarkets are the result of a desire to give the working man--a place to buy fine quality groceries and fork tender meat, at a price he can afford--on his take home pay!

If, however, you're among that favored class who uses a 'Rolls' t'run around in, Farmer Jack wants you to know --he doesn't believe in discriminatin'! You're just as welcome, as if y'drove up t'his store in an old horse an' buggy!

There ain't a doubt in Farmer Jack's mind, about his name-brand Groc'ries, Produce an' Meat havin' buy appeal for you, because Farmer Jack makes it a point --not to sell anything except the best!

An' in case you're like us common folks, with an int'rest in savin' on your total food bill--y'can figure out, how many more miles y'can drive in your 'Rolls'--when you're savin' up to 15% by doin' you're Food Shoppin' at Farmer Jack's!

City Commission Requests That Citizens Committee Reconsider Tax Proposal

A citizens committee which one month ago recommended a city income tax has been asked by the City Commission to reconvene and reconsider its action.

★ ★ ★

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said the Pontiac Finance Study Committee (PFSC) had overlooked the city's "immediate cash needs" in suggesting a city income tax.

"We (the commission) have no quarrel with an income tax," Taylor said, "but we've got to have money coming into the city by the first of next year."

Asked if the commission action meant preference for a millage increase, Taylor said, "yes."

★ ★ ★

By a vote of 11-8, the finance committee turned back on Feb. 3 a proposal to increase the property tax by as much as four mills.

TO HEAD COMMITTEE

Edward E. Barker Jr., who will head the study committee in the absence of chairman Robert Eldred, said the committee would meet March 16.

At the same time the finance committee urged an income tax by a vote of 20-2, it unanimously endorsed a subcommittee report calling for increased services.

"I think perhaps there is a very serious gap in this area of the committee's recommendations," Barker said.

★ ★ ★

He indicated a city representative would meet with the tax committee to further explore which city services deserved priority in allocations of hoped-for revenue.

TAX MEASURE

An income tax measure, if enacted by the City Commission prior to Nov. 1 of this year, would automatically become effective Jan. 1, 1968.

★ ★ ★

At that time, city residents would begin paying a 1 per cent levy, and Pontiac residents working in another city would pay ½ per cent, as would out-of-town residents working in Pontiac.

WOULD DELAY TAX

A referendum petition calling for a vote on the income tax, however, would delay collection of tax monies until July 1968, six months after the city claims it will exhaust its present funds.

Hoffa 'Just Another Inmate'

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — James Hoffa will be just another inmate behind the walls of the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., according to Warden Jacob J. Parker.

Parker said he had no plans to meet with Hoffa for the first few days and that, like the 1,700 other inmates, Hoffa will work to earn his spending money. He will get no special mail or visiting privileges, said Parker.

Federal marshals brought Hoffa here Tuesday to start an eight-year term for jury tampering. Eventually said Parker, he'll settle into a routine, but for the first month, he'll be going through an indoctrination of sorts.

Parker said Hoffa's first stop was the supply room, where he turned in his business suit for three two-piece blue denim uniforms. Parker added that the uniforms would later be "tailored to meet his needs."

Hoffa's first five to seven days in prison, Parker said, are to be spent as a member of an "admission unit," undergoing a physical examination and a series of interviews with the chaplain, education and vocational specialists and a case worker.

During this period he will be given a temporary work assignment, probably some kind of service-type work.

Except for work assignments, members of the admission unit move as a group, even for recreation periods.

"This is an orientation period for both the inmates and the clinic staff," Parker said.

Parker said that after 30 days, Hoffa will get a permanent job and be assigned to permanent quarters. Each inmate at Lewisburg has his own cell.

"We get about 1,000 admissions a year here," Parker said. "I can't have a personal meeting with each man when he arrives. I'll see him (Hoffa) when I float through the institution."

Parker said a federal prison rule limits visiting privileges to immediate families of inmates. Hoffa will be allowed to receive visitors for three hours each month. He will be allowed to mail only three letters a month.

DOGS DESTROYED — These four mongrel dogs that mauled Peter Kohnen III, 7, of Independence Township, 12 days ago were electrocuted today at the Oakland County Animal Shelter. The owner did not want them returned. The boy is recovering at home after a week in the hospital.

Meredith's Plans to Oppose Powell Are Coolly Received

NEW YORK (AP) — Negro leaders in Harlem and around the country reacted coolly today to James H. Meredith's plans to run as the Republicans' choice against Democrat Adam Clayton Powell in a special congressional election April 11.

★ ★ ★

They gave him little chance of winning, and some charged he was being used.

Meredith, in agreeing to oppose Powell yesterday after being recommended by Republican leaders, said he was aware that in running he might lay himself open to "the fear and the scorn from fellow Negroes."

He said that Powell, excluded from the House last week, had lost his influence and the people deserve more than what they're getting.

Meredith's name was suggested by an unidentified Harlem Republican leader last week.

Yesterday he was recommended by members of the Republican Executive Committee from the 18th District.

His nomination is expected to be made at a meeting of the rank-and-file Harlem Republican County committeemen within a week.

Powell, who has won the 18th District of Harlem in 12 consecutive elections by wide margins, had little comment when he learned of the announcement.

Voters Nix Tax in Royal Oak

ROYAL OAK (AP) — Voters have overwhelmingly rejected a proposed 1 per cent city income tax for Royal Oak. The proposal was turned down yesterday by a 9,059-2,123 vote.

★ ★ ★

Supporters of the measure had estimated it would bring $3 million in revenue to pay for the hiring of more policemen and firemen, to meet salary demands of city employes and to develop city parks.

It was the second money-raising proposal defeated at the polls in Royal Oak in the past four months.

Last November, voters rejected a proposed city property tax hike.

★ ★ ★

City Manager Bruce Love said the voter turn-down probably would lead to a cut in city services for the next fiscal year.

COULD MEET NEEDS

But one city commissioner, Robert Patnales, said Royal Oak could meet its fiscal needs by bringing its property tax assessing into line with state law which requires assessments at 50 per cent of market value.

He said the city should add some $70 million worth of property on the tax rolls.

D.C. Talks Encourage Airport Boosters

A Washington meeting of Oakland County officials and U.S. congressmen Monday concerning Pontiac Municipal Airport development plans was termed "very encouraging" today by Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors.

★ ★ ★

"The purpose of our trip to Washington was to alert congressmen that the county has taken over the airport operation from the City of Pontiac and to declare our intent to improve the facility," Hamlin said.

He pointed out also that the county delegation expressed hope at the meeting that local budget appropriations would be approved in the coming years for the expansion project.

Congressmen indicated that federal aid might be forthcoming as early as 1968, he said.

The federal government will pay the full cost of an ILS (Instrument Landing System) which county officials feel is vital because the airport is the third busiest in the state.

LAG IN FACILITIES

The fact that Pontiac Municipal Airport is the only one of the state's 12 busiest airports not having an ILS lighting system in operation or under construction points up its lag in facilities.

Federal funds also are available to match land acquisitions on a 50-50 basis with local government.

Pontiac had been unable to get an ILS grant because it did not acquire sufficient land to meet requirements.

Congressmen at the bipartisan meeting were Republican Sen. Robert P. Griffin, Democratic Sen. Philip A. Hart and GOP Rep. Jack H. McDonald and William S. Broomfield.

★ ★ ★

With Hamlin were Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the County Board of Auditors; Wallace B. Hudson, chairman of the Supervisors' Aviation Committee; J. David VanderVeen, airport manager; Howard H. Fitzgerald II, president and publisher of The Pontiac Press; and Frank McCartney, president of Aerodynamics, Inc.

UAW Summons Rebel Officials

DETROIT (AP) — Officials of a rebellious Ohio local were ordered to Detroit today to explain to United Auto Workers chieftains why workers walked out at a General Motors plant less than two weeks after a similar wildcat strike crippled GM operations.

There was a possibility the UAW would put Local 549 of Mansfield, Ohio, under trusteeship, taking it out of the hands of its officers and putting it under control of the international union.

The new walkout began late Monday night and continued through yesterday as first-shift workers refused to cross early morning picket lines.

Later in the day, picketing halted and workers began returning to their jobs. The Richland County sheriff's office estimated about half the overnight shift went to work late last night.

★ ★ ★

Today, work at the plant appeared "about normal, with workers going in and out" and no pickets, the sheriff's office said.

EFFECT UNKNOWN

A GM spokesman in Detroit said it was too soon to tell what effect the latest walkout would have on GM plants around the country.

The earlier walkout at Mansfield, where parts are made for 90 per cent of General Motors cars, led to shutdowns and layoffs at 86 company plants, idling some 196,000 workers.

Both GM and the UAW International Executive Council termed the mid-February walkout illegal and the union chiefs ordered strikers back to work.

Romney Hits LBJ on the Youth Issue

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Michigan's Gov. Romney said last night the Johnson administration has taken a "shallow, superficial approach to the problem" of America's younger generation.

★ ★ ★

Romney also said he planned to tour Vietnam "sometime later this year."

The governor, considered one of the leading contenders for the Republican presidential nomination in 1968, said he would take a stand on Vietnam policy "if and when" he officially becomes a candidate.

Thus far Romney has evaded taking a stand on the war in Southeast Asia. But he said he feels "it's the people's right to know how a candidate stands" on such a vital issue.

★ ★ ★

Romney, stressing a state's rights theme, assaulted the Johnson administration and the Democratic party as being "30 years behind the time, lacking new faces and new ideas."

Scientist Predicts Survival Chief Concern of Future

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mere survival may become man's chief concern in an ever-populated, underfed world, says a prominent scientist.

Dr. George Harrar, president of the Rockefeller Foundation of New York, Tuesday night told a California Institute of Technology conference on "The Next 90 Years":

★ ★ ★

"The more developed nations cannot for any considerable period of time or in any significant dimension feed portions of the world which remain static in terms of their own food production efforts.

"Unless this is clearly understood and maximum efforts are made to reverse systems of underproduction wherever they exist, survival will indeed become man's chief concern."

FORECAST GLOOMY

Earlier in the conference three Caltech professors, who wrote a best-selling book "The Next 100 Years" 10 years ago, revised their forecasts gloomily on the basis of events since then.

They reported the earth's population is growing more rapidly than expected and that the world is likely to run into a food crisis within 10 years instead of 100.

Caltech biologist James Bonner cited a widening gap between rich and poor nations and predicted: "We will, I suspect, begin to regard the starving populace of the undeveloped nations as a race or species apart, people totally different from us, as indeed they will be.

"They are just animals,' we will say, 'and a serious reservoir of disease.' The inevitable culmination of the two cultures will be that one culture (the rich) will devour the other."

REMEDY

Caltech psychologist John Weir noted that poor nations have failed to develop technologically and added: "One way to remedy this is to take children from uneducated parents and rear them in a culture that produces scientists and engineers." He said this might be achieved through schools in the undeveloped nations.

He Gives Her a Doom Doll; Both Die

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — First he sent a doom doll, a pin-pierced mannequin.

It arrived in a package which police opened because George Ash's estranged wife thought it might be a bomb.

★ ★ ★

Next the 42-year-old Ash himself came back from California — to find his former wife, 30-year-old Roselyn, divorced and remarried.

Escambia County officers said Ash rented a car at Mobile, Ala., drove here Tuesday and fired five pistol shots into the lock of his ex-wife's trailer home. She returned the fire with a volley through the door. Ash ducked, reloaded and charged again.

Deputies found the woman's body in a bathtub with four bullet wounds in the head and one in the shoulder. Her pistol was found beneath her.

Ash lay on the parlor floor with two bullets in his chest. Officers said he feebly pointed his gun at them but they stepped on his gun hand and found the weapon empty. Ash was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Medical Examiner Aldrich Northrup said Ash killed both his ex-wife and himself.

Roselyn's second husband, Nick Perling, was at work when the couple exchanged a total of 23 shots.

'He Was Killed During An Enemy Ambush On A Road'

Last Days of a Soldier

GI Comes Home, His War Well-Fought

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

SAIGON, Vietnam — The young man is a soldier.

He was killed during an enemy ambush on a road near a highlands plantation. A bullet went through his steel helmet and into his head. He did not know it nor feel it.

Now he is going home.

A silver-shelled C-130 transport plane flies him from the mountains to the city. He is carried in an airless plastic bag. He is handled respectfully. The trip is brief.

★ ★ ★

A dusty panel truck meets him at Tan Son Nhut Airbase and two crisp servicemen remove him from the aircraft and lift him gently into the rear of the truck.

WAR MORGUE

Short ride later, the truck swings behind a lengthy, blue-green building finished in layers of wooden plank. It is the United States war morgue, the largest such facility operating anywhere in the world.

Three men dressed in faded blue tunics open the truck doors and withdraw the soldier. A few words of direction are given and he is carried through a swatch of sunlight into the building.

Several passersby stop to watch. They are suntanned in pressed khaki. They say nothing.

★ ★ ★

Inside the soldier is removed from his container and placed on a white porcelain table which is one of 17 anchored to the room's concrete floor by means of cylindrical supports.

Nine tables are in use. This is normal traffic. A dozen men move around the room. They are a portion of 106 officer, enlisted and civilian personnel who staff the building.

The attendants are clean and reserved. Levity is rare but normal conversation prevails. There is a general feeling of considerate respect. Signs on walls read: "Hats off."

The men do not hurry, yet their work is done rapidly. The desire is to get dead soldiers home as rapidly as possible and therefore the average stay is less than 24 hours.

★ ★ ★

The highlands' GI is one of 20 moving through this day, one of 125 this week. And one of 500 American, Korean, Australian, New Zealand and Filipino soldiers handled through the morgue this month.

The young man, age 20, a private first class, is initially identified. His dogtags are checked against Army records, his face against an official photograph.

If he has been burned, his dental characteristics would be checked. His blood type or tissue are other checks in extreme cases.

There are no unknown soldiers in this war.

This GI is easily recognized. He passes quickly through.

NEW GREEN UNIFORM

He is embalmed professionally by a civilian specialist. The fluid used is designed for the hot humid tropical climate. He is bathed and his wound sutured. He is dressed in a new green uniform.

Finally he is encased for shipment.

He is shrouded in a white sheet taped tightly around his body and clearly identified. Then he is placed in a plastic bag, the air of which is drawn off by vacuum seal.

★ ★ ★

The last step is placement in an 8-foot aluminum coffin.

Then he is moved to the air port.

And 48 hours after his death in this weary struggle, the young American soldier is on his way home.

Abortion Law Battle Rages in New York

NEW YORK (UPI) — Getting a hospital abortion in New York City today can be a question of knowing the right words to use, such as:

★ ★ ★

"I'm a nervous wreck. If I have this baby I'll kill myself."

Despite New York's strict abortion law, an obstetrician at one hospital used those words and said, "If a pregnant woman says something like that to her doctor, chances are she'll get the abortion."

A battle is now raging in the state capital over a proposed bill to liberalize the state's 84-year-old abortion law.

★ ★ ★

The measure is being fiercely opposed, primarily by Roman Catholics, who appear to have the strength to keep the bill bottled in committee even though Nelson a Rockefeller and Sens. Jacob Javits and Robert F. Kennedy, a Catholic.

LIBERAL INTERPRETATION

The state's present abortion law permits such operations only when necessary to preserve the life of a woman.

The reason women can get hospital abortions — that most doctors admit are illegal — is because therapeutic abortion boards, set up at most New York City hospitals and composed of doctors who rule on each abortion request, are interpreting the law liberally in the area of mental health.

The abortion boards, after statements from psychiatrists, are saying a pregnant woman's life is endangered because she could commit suicide.

★ ★ ★

"Psychiatrists can be just as liberal in their diagnosis as the boards can be in their rulings," said an obstretrician who performs a hospital abortion for every six babies he delivers.

NATIONAL AVERAGE

The national average of hospital abortions to live births is one for every 500. Doctors say there are more than a million illegal abortions performed in the United States each year.

Medical surveys show that about 80 per cent of all U. S. hospitals have therapeutic abortion boards and three in the 42 states which have abortion laws as strict as New York's are almost as liberal in interpreting them in the area of mental health.

The United States has more practising dentists and more practising psychiatrists than any other country in the world. There are approximately 105,250 dentists and 17,809 psychiatrists.

Hundreds of Uses Found for Lasers Despite Dangers

WASHINGTON (AP) —Some danger signals are flashing in the pathway of the laser, perhaps the most powerful form of light in the universe.

But the laser, developed only six years ago, is already finding hundreds of uses in industry, medicine, military operations and space flight.

Some of the problem areas:

● One scientist said treating cancer with lasers might cause the cancer to spread. Another scientist said he had treated 100 cancer cases and never seen such effects.

● Warnings of "instant blindness" from looking directly at laser beams. This might apply to high school students using make-it, yourself laser kits, or to soldiers exposed to laser beams from artillery rangefinders.

DETECTS ART FRAUDS

Some of the uses, present or under study, range from tracking satellites to helping lay sewer pipes, from removing warts and tattoo marks to punching die holes in diamonds and from detecting art frauds to furnishing artillery range fingers more accurate than radar.

New ideas for potential uses include:

● Detecting poison gas, illuminating targets on a battlefield at night, tracking enemy missiles and digging tunnels.

● Helping make new chemical products from coal, slicing chromosomes within living cells, much like a meatcutter slices baloney, carrying millions of telephone conversations literally on the wings of light, peering into ocean depths to find wrecked submarines and perhaps sunken treasure, mapping the moon and the planets with pencils of light shot from earth and diagnosing certain diseases by harmlessly vaporizing a sliver of human tissue and analyzing the "smoke."

Research and development employing lasers is going on in hundreds of industrial laboratories, universities and military installations throughout the country. Lasers have become big business.

Estimates are that the sale of lasers—from hand-held models to 60-foot-long monsters—will top $150 million in 1967, and reach a billion dollars by 1970. Present prices range from about $100 for a high school teaching model to $5,000 and up for industry types.

PRONOUNCED 'LAY-ZER'

The word laser—pronounced "lay-zer"—is an acronym coming from the first letters of the phrase "light amplification by stimulated emission of radiation." In brief, a laser is a device for generating an intense nondiffusing beam of visible or invisible light.

Laser beams contrast sharply with waves of ordinary light, or with radio waves, which spread in all directions. Laser beams are made up of essentially of only one wavelength, and all the waves of a given beam move in step and in one direction—Like soldiers in a marching column. Therein lies the secret of the laser's enormous power.

Outside a laboratory in Maryland, a few nights each month, scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space administration are carrying on pioneering experiments aimed at developing a deep space communications system employing lasers.

They are using laser beams to track several of the Explorer satellites—at ranges up to nearly 1,000 miles. And they say the probing laser beams—made to echo off the satellites—can pinpoint the position of a given spacecraft to within three feet. That's 10 times the accuracy achievable with either radar or radio.

Ship Collision Report OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The commandant of the Coast Guard yesterday approved an investigation board's report blaming the captain of an American ship for a collision with a Norwegian vessel which claimed 10 lives.

The ships, both freighters, were the American Cedarville, and the Norwegian ship Topdalsfjord.

The two collided in fog in the Straits of Mackinac, May 7, 1965.

The Cedarville sank, but the Topdalsfjord was able to make port with a damaged bow.

The board found that the captain of the Cedarville, Martin E. Joppich, checked the extent of the damage to ship and then tried to beach the vessel. But the ship capsized two miles from shore and sank.
