Rainfall, Thaw Flood Roads, Basements

More than one inch of rain and a temperature rise of nearly 20 degrees this morning turned the Pontiac area into a wet and watery winter wonderland.

Streets and highways throughout the city and county were under water — in some areas they were impassable by car — and flooded basements were the rule rather than the exception in some areas.

Rainfall totaled 1.1 inches in the county through this morning. The temperature in Pontiac rose from 36 degrees at midnight to 53 degrees by 1 a.m.

The prediction for the remainder of the day and tonight is for colder weather with diminishing winds. The mercury will drop to the freezing point — 32 degrees — tonight.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy with a high temperature of 36 to 42. The outlook for Friday is for warmer weather again.

FLOODED ROADS
Motorists throughout the county were greeted by flooded roadways this morning.

The Oakland County Road Commission reported that Lahser near Quorton, Maple near Oakland Hills Country Club and east of Birmingham, Greenfield north of Eleven and Twelve Mile and Woodward north of Square Lake Road were all under water.

The combination of a fast thaw and rain pushed county drains to capacity limits, and water was forced onto streets and into basements, commission officials said.

Full crews are working to correct the situation by this evening, a spokesman said.

STILL SLIPPERY
Side roads in the county were still slippery this morning as a glaze of melting ice covered the less traveled byways, according to State Police.

In Pontiac flooded conditions existed along the Pontiac Creek from Johnson to Carter, on Earlmoor, on both East and West Brooklyn and on Joslyn north of Columbia.

Superintendent of Public Works Clyde Christian said these conditions should be corrected by tonight and reported at 10 a.m. that the Pontiac Creek was beginning to recede.

In Troy, storm waters flooded

Maple headlight-deep between Livernois and Crooks.

A bridge was washed out on Wattles between John R and Dequindre and a small dam on Lake Charnwood at Beech south of South Boulevard was swept away by rushing water.

Waterford's fire department has had 30 reports of basement flooding.

Crews of volunteer firemen and water department personnel have been working most of the night with portable pumping units to clear them.

Several streets were flooded in spots. One of the worst is Williams Lake Road in front of the Community Activities Inc. building. The approximate block-long flooded area there has blocked the east entrance to the building.

Dixie was flooded in Waterford near Loon Lake and just south of Williams Lake Road and in Independence Township.

TWO PLACES
Airport Road flooded between M59 and Tubbs and again between Tubbs and Hatchery, Cruse Street off Pinegrove in the Crescent Lake area is flooded.

Many rural side streets are extremely icy. Utility companies were also plagued by the sudden change in weather.

Mark Blackman, assistant manager of Consumers Power Co., said the freezing rain threatened power lines early in the evening, but rising temperatures prevented any interruptions of service.

SEVERAL CALLS
Gas service was also unaffected by the freakish weather, Blackman said, although the company had several calls from customers with flooded basements.

Detroit Edison Co. likewise reported "all systems go" this morning. A Michigan Bell Telephone splicing crew was on the job this morning in Auburn Heights, where a 600-pair cable failed because of moisture.

Charles B. Woodhead, Michigan Bell manager in the Pontiac area, said the "wet" cable had interrupted service to about 700 telephones.

BACK TO NORMAL
He said service was expected to be back to normal by noon today.

Several motorists reported their cars were under roof-high water. Also, stalled cars on flooded highways proved to be a menace during the morning rush hour.

For the next five days temperatures will average from 5 to 7 degrees above the normal high of 33 and the low of 20.

The warming trend on Friday will continue throughout the weekend. Today's lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 36. By 2 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 55.

South Viet Mountain
Defeat May Be Worst
Suffered in the War

SAIGON, Viet Nam — (AP)—Viet Cong terrorists blew up a four-story U.S. enlisted man's hotel to-night in the city of Qui Mhon, 270 miles northeast of Saigon, and the loss of American lives was believed high.

Initial reports here said seven Americans were known to have been wounded, but the entire building was a pile of rubble and many dead were believed buried under the debris.

The building houses about 40 U.S. enlisted men.

Two Viet Cong terrorists were also killed in the explosion, and their bodies were found still carrying explosives.

(Possibly 20 to 30 Americans were killed, according to an official account relayed to Washington. The estimate was described as without confirmation.)

THREE DAYS LATER

The attack came only three days after a Viet Cong raid on U.S. installations at Pleiku touched off retaliatory strikes at Communist North Viet Nam by U.S. and South Vietnamese warplanes.

There was immediate speculation here about retaliatory action against Communist North Viet Nam, which the United States last weekend charged with masterminding Communist guerrilla attacks in the south against United States forces.

At the White House, Press Secretary George E. Reddy said President Johnson was keeping in close touch with all developments, and that news-men would be informed of any additional developments.

Afield, South Vietnamese troops have suffered what probably will turn out to be their worst defeat of the war in a mountain battle launched by the Viet Cong Monday. That was the day a squadron of 24 South Vietnamese fighter-bombers raided targets in North Viet Nam.

Must Protect Embassy, U.S.
Tells Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House, with President Johnson's authorization, suggested today this country's embassy in Moscow must receive adequate protection if U.S.-Soviet diplomatic relations are to be continued.

A White House statement on yesterday's mob attack on the embassy by several thousand students protesting against American bombing of North Viet Nam said:

"Expressions of regret and compensation are no substitute for adequate protection."

The statement said the United States "must insist that its diplomatic establishments and personnel be given the protection which is required by international law and custom and which is necessary for the conduct of diplomatic relations between states."

Tax Foes Urge Frugality; Commissioners Cite Need

Against

For

A plea for frugality in municipal affairs was sounded last night by foes of the income levy.

City Commissioners were presented a 15-page report documenting opposition to the tax by the Citizens Committee on Taxation.

Headed by Charles Nassstrom, chairman, the citizens group claimed that there was waste and duplication by city employees.

The group advised the city to engage a qualified, impartial company to look into the operations of city departments to determine if they are operating within the bounds of economy.

"Such an impartial review should result in an accurate appraisal of city business policies and operations," stated the report.

'SHORT DURATION'

The report by the taxation group also stated that the city's current financial problems will be of relatively short duration — about three years.

Thus, the citizens committee recommended that a 2- to 3-mill property tax increase should be levied for three years instead of the income tax.

The committee claimed that the city's tax base would rise with auto plant expansions. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

After the four-hour meeting, Mayor Pro Tem Leslie H. Hudson disclosed that a "fact-carrying" citizens committee would be formed to work for the income tax.

Hudson led the meeting in the absence of Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., who is still recuperating from a mild heart attack.

Hudson said a meeting had been set for 6 p.m. next Wednesday in the commission chambers to organize the widely representative group.

He put the expected turnout at the meeting at 105. He said each commissioner had submitted 15 names for the committee.

WILL BE CALLED
The group will be called the Citizens Committee for Tax Reform.

Object of the group is to help carry facts to the public, according to Hudson. Any interested citizen is eligible to join.

T. Warren Fowler, district 1 commissioner, led off the exchange last night with a printed statement in favor of the tax, slated for a referendum March 18.

"It is unfair to place the total burden to pay for these (city) services on local property owners," the statement said.

SOLVE PROBLEMS
Fowler said that funds are necessary to solve the city's traffic problems with street widenings and extensions.

The income tax would provide for a sharing of the tax load between residents, non-residents, industry, business and professional people, added Fowler.

Said Fowler: "The nonresidents of the city should appreciate the problem of Pontiac taxpayers and city officials who must find the ways and means to provide adequate traffic control, police and fire protection, adequate sewers, adequate water supply, parks, playgrounds for Pontiac citizens as well as nonresidents employed in the city."

In the verbal session following the reading of an anti-income tax report, Mayor Pro Tem Hudson defended the commission's judgment.

BETTER POSITION

Steel Union Presidential Race Close

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The battle for control of the United Steelworkers union was nip and tuck today — just what steelmakers feared.

Unofficial and incomplete figures showed incumbent David J. McDonald held a razor thin edge over USW Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel in membership balloting for union president.

Both the McDonald and Abel camps claimed their man was ahead.

An Associated Press tabulation, based on a poll of the union's 29 districts, showed McDonald in the lead.

The AP count was 144,786 for McDonald and 140,064 for Abel. There was no way to tell immediately what percentage of the total vote these figures represented.

They were totals from 1,957 of the union's some 3,200 locals. Some big locals were still not reported.

The union reopened its current contract with basic steel producers Jan. 1 and the talks were recessed later to await the outcome of the union election. The union could strike May 1. Steelmakers, mindful of the approaching strike date, had hoped for a decisive winner so that negotiators could get on with contract talks. A close contest could wind up in the courts.

WATERY TRAP—Early morning motorists were faced with the problem of traveling through this flooded area on Woodward north of Square Lake Road or turning back. Many who attempted the crossing stalled their cars and were trapped in the small flood. Those who successfully made the crossing found their brakes were wet and useless upon reaching "dry land."

From Kansas to Minnesota

Snow Plagues Middle West

By The Associated Press

A band of heavy snow stretched from southwestern Kansas to northwestern Minnesota as part of a storm that raged from the Great Plains to the Upper Great Lakes today. Blizzard warnings were in effect for the Red River Valley of the north and northern Minnesota and gale warnings were indicated for most of the Great Lakes.

Duluth, Minn., was blanketed by 21 inches of snow with 15 inches falling in 24 hours.

Garden City, in southwestern Kansas, collected six inches of new snow and Tucson, Ariz., reported four inches.

From 6 to 12 inches of snow fell over the southern half of Minnesota overnight and the Highway Department advised against attempts to travel.

AN EXCEPTION

An exception was the southern sector of Minnesota around Rochester where only one inch of new snow was recorded.

But freezing rain had all roads ice-coated. Temperatures were just a few degrees below freezing.

Below-zero temperatures were confined mostly to sections of Montana and Maine.

61 DEGREES

At 7 a.m. Cleveland, Ohio, reported 61 degrees—similar to early morning temperatures over much of Florida.

Freezing rain and drizzle caused hazardous driving conditions in upper New York State and parts of New England.

Rain, sleet, snow, fog and destructive winds raked 40 states yesterday leaving at least five persons dead and seven injured. Tornadoes hit southern Arkansas wrecking homes and stores.

Hardest hit by the tornadoes was Hermitage, a community of 400 in southern Arkansas.

Seven persons were injured and half the buildings in the town were destroyed or damaged.

Minor damage was caused in Mississippi and southern Illinois by tornadoes that touched down briefly.

Texas was drenched with rainstorms that measured 6 inches in Colleyville, northeast of Fort Worth.

Kosygin Vows Aid to N. Viet

Russian Confers With Chou in Peking Today

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin promised to give Communist North Viet Nam military assistance, then flew today to Peking and immediately went into conference with Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

Kosygin was greeted at the Peking airport on his arrival from a four-day visit in Hanoi by Chou and Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi, the Soviet news agency Tass reported from Peking.

"Chou En-lai accompanied the Soviet delegates from the airport to their residence," Tass said.

Kosygin had also met with the Communist Chinese leaders during an overnight stop en route to the North Vietnamese capital.

In a statement at Hanoi airport, Kosygin said of his talks with the North Vietnamese:

STRENGTHEN DEFENSE

"We reached agreement on measures which will be taken for strengthening the defense potential of the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam and on holding regular consultations on these questions."

He continued, "We had frank discussions on a number of international issues and analyzed attentively the situation in the Indo-Chinese Peninsula, particularly in connection with the recent armed provocations staged by American imperialists and their Saigon puppets."

FLOODED STREETS — This morning scene at Sanderson and Augusta was repeated in many areas in Pontiac today. A great number of home owners found today that their basements had a similar look. A quick thaw and a bad storm brought on the watery conditions. City public works officials hoped to have the problems cleared up by this evening.

Sweeping Measures

LBJ Tells Plan to End Payments Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson ordered sweeping measures today to "bring an end to our balance-of-payments deficit," including a penalty tax on overseas loans as well as investments. He also asked a voluntary mobilization of, private banking and industry to restrain spending and lending abroad.

In a special message, Johnson asked Congress to slash the duty-free exemption on foreign purchases brought home by returning American tourists from $100 wholesale value to $50 retail value — in effect, a reduction to less than one-third of the present limit.

The President said the recent abrupt widening of the payments deficit need not alarm Americans or foreign holders of dollars, since the 1964 deficit of $3 billion reflected continued year-to-year improvement. His message said:

"Clearly, those who fear for the dollar are needlessly afraid. Those who hope for its weakness hope in vain.

AS GOOD AS GOLD

"The dollar is, and will remain, as good as gold, freely convertible at $35 an ounce."

To prove the country's "firm determination" to keep that pledge, Johnson announced:

1. A request to Congress to extend the "interest equalization tax" on Americans' purchases of foreign stocks and bonds for two years beyond its expiration next Dec. 31 and to broaden its coverage to nonbank credit — loans by insurance companies, trust funds, or others — one of three other measures.

2. Imposition of that penalty tax on bank loans of one year or more, effective at once. This was done under the President's existing powers. He said there would be "appropriate exemption" for borrowers in developing countries.

3. He has obtained "firm assurance" from the Canadian government that it will pursue policies to limit the flow of investment dollars into Canada, to the extent consistent with keeping Canada's currency reserves stable.

TO LIMIT LENDING

4. He has called on the Federal Reserve Board and the Treasury to "enroll the banking community in a major effort to limit their lending abroad."

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon predicted this would be the most effective of all today's actions, curbing the dollar outflow by well over a billion dollars.

5. He wants Congress to exempt from the antitrust laws this voluntary cooperation by bankers in support of the government.

6. He has directed Dillon and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor to enlist the leaders of industry in a campaign to curtail direct plant investment abroad, and limit their deposits in foreign banks and their holdings of foreign assets until their efforts "have restored balance in the country's international accounts."

sectors. Heavy fighting raged near the Da Nang air base and in an area east of Saigon as news filtered out of the major action in Binh Dinh province, 280 miles north of this city.

U.S. officials disclosed that two government companies were annihilated, a battalion was virtually wiped out and another company severely mauled in coordinated Viet Cong attacks.

The exact number of government casualties in the action still was unknown, but may be around 600.

This would make it even worse than the meat grinder operation that cost 500 men at Binh Gia over the new year — at the time the worst defeat government forces had suffered.

Relief forces totaling about 1,500 men were reported still unable to reach the battle site.

The reports said one Vietnamese battalion plus two or three extra companies, totaling 600 men, were reported wiped out in coordinated Viet Cong ambushes.

The Reds were said to have numbered about 800 men. Total government casualties were still unknown. The reports said 20 of 15 government personnel carriers were knocked out and the others damaged.

3 AMERICANS

The reports said three U.S. advisers with the ambushed force got out alone without any injuries.

Four U.S. Army advisers were missing from a district town overrun by the Viet Cong 80 miles north of the capital.

A U.S. spokesman said the Reds were still holding the town, Duc Phong.

Two armed helicopters were dispatched to the town. One was downed, killing an American gunner. The three other men aboard were wounded, but were evacuated in a daring rescue.

RANGERS AIRLIFTED

A ranger unit was airlifted into the region for an attempt to retake the village, near the Cambodian border. A U.S. officer and three enlisted men were in the village when it was hit about dawn.

U.S. Marines were working feverishly at Da Nang to set up sand bag defenses for their newly replaced Hawk anti-aircraft missiles.

50 U.S. JETS

Fighting between Vietnamese government forces and the Communist Viet Cong raged a scant nine miles from the base that also houses a strike force of 50 U.S. Air Force jet fighters and bombers.

Da Nang is 90 miles south of the North Vietnamese border and 360 miles north of Saigon.

In another battle 50 miles east of Saigon, the Viet Cong surprised charging government paratroopers. They first hit the troops as they landed from helicopters with fire from foxholes.

Order Plans for Addition at Hospital

Initial plans for a 75-bed addition to Pontiac General Hospital were ordered last night by the City Commission.

A $20,000 contract for preliminary plans was approved by the commission. The contract is with Smith, Hinchman and Grylls Associates of Detroit.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said that the Detroit firm, consultants on the local hospital addition would make a feasibility study and furnish preliminary drawings.

Hospital Administrator Harold B. Euler said Monday that the $20,000 for the preliminary plans would come from the hospital's depreciation funds.

A study last year by the United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit (UCS) recommended expanded rehabilitation and mental health programs at Pontiac General.

SITES MENTIONED

However, the UCS study did not consider the need for an annex, new wing or addition.

One of the questions to be answered, according to Euler, is where to put the addition. Several possible sites have been mentioned. Euler also said that he did not know if the two services—rehabilitation and mental health—would go into the proposed addition or would go into space freed in the hospital's present building.

Warren said that a portion of the $20,000 would be applied to have the architect's fees for the final drawings.

Previously, the hospital board of trustees had approved the contract.

Cost of the addition and where the money would come from has not yet been investigated by the city and hospital officials.

Hospital officials said the addition's actual size has been put between 75 and 100 beds.

ADDED SERVICES

"We were referring to the added services, not the college itself," he said.

In reviewing the city's financial condition, the taxation committee found "no real quarrel" with the status of the capital improvement fund.

However, the group did recommend that the commission should protect the commitments against the fund and that the total commitment for any given year should not exceed 60 percent of that year's revenue for the fund.

They also proposed a three-year limit on commitments to the capital improvement fund.

ADVISED LIMIT

Again finding "no real quarrel" with the operation of the city's bonded indebtedness program, the committee advised a limit.

The taxation committee suggested that the present limit of 8 percent on the total assessed valuation of all real and personal property in the city might be lowered.

The citizens group opposed the income tax on the grounds that:

• A state-level income tax would property tax relief and a rebate to cities would be more equitable and feasible.

• A state law might render a city income tax illegal in the very near future, making it unwise for the city to depend on it.

Deputies Sifting Evidence in Independence Murder

Sheriff's deputies continued to sift evidence today as the investigation of the murder of Maurice Boucard moved into its second day.

Boucard, 47, of 8650 Dixie, Springfield Township, was shot Monday night during an apparent holdup at his Independence Township party store.

His body was found face down on the floor of the store, near a beer cooler. Boucard was killed, according to an autopsy, when a small call bullet entered his right side and passed through both lungs and his heart.

Capt. Leo Hazen said the department began checking out family and friends of the murdered man yesterday.

Another team took collected evidence to the Michigan State Police Crime Lab in East Lansing for study.

NO SPECTS

Hazen said there were no suspects in the investigation thus far and relatives and persons who knew Boucard were rapidly being eliminated from consideration as suspects.

The dead man was believed to have been last seen alive by Paul Rochon, 35, of 311 Going, who has an interest in the store.

Rochon told deputies he left the shop at about 10:10 p.m. Police believe Boucard was killed between 10:20 and 10:30 p.m.

Pick General Contractor for Education Building

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Schwanz Construction Co. has been chosen general contractor for the Bloomfield Hills Board of Education's new administration building.

The Bloomfield Township firm still has pending in Oakland County Circuit Court a suit concerning a bid it made to the board in 1963.

To be completed by June, the central administration building will be constructed on property the board owns east of Bloomfield Hills High School.

Estimated total cost of the project is $192,200. Architect Linn Smith of Birmingham noted 11 or 12 bids were submitted in each category.

Contracts were awarded to the low bidders, Schwanz, $106,876; King Brothers of Pontiac, mechanical, $35,470; and Folgmann Electric Co. of Detroit, $14,239.

TWO ALTERNATIVES

The board of education chose two alternatives — a canopy at the front of the building and a circular drive — thus adding $3,382 to the base bids which totaled $154,203.

School officials had estimated construction costs at $151,000 for the building. The difference is to be made up by borrowing money from the landscaping and contingency funds for the building.

Frederick F. Schwanz, owner of the general contracting firm, filed a suit in Circuit Court after his low bid on an addition to Hickory Grove Elementary School was rejected by the board in 1963.

That contract went to Bersche Construction Co. of Pontiac, which had submitted a $41,650 bid that was $851 more than Schwanz.

ON RECOMMENDATION

The award was made on the recommendation of architects at Tarapata-MacMahon Associates, Inc., of Bloomfield Hills.

Schwanz is seeking $10,000 in damages from Tarapata-MacMahon for "fraudulent and slanderous" statements.

Originally the school board had been a codefendant in the case, but it was dropped after a petition for an injunction was denied in Circuit Court.

BIRMINGHAM — A report on structural parking facilities for Birmingham is expected to be presented to the City Commission within three weeks.

Mayor Charles Renfrew said the report will probably give the commission "some direction in the position it will take on future construction."

The city manager's office is preparing the report following a study of parking structures in other cities.

NOT FEASIBLE

"It's been pretty well determined that underground lots for Birmingham are not feasible," said Renfrew. "They are too expensive."

The report, according to Renfrew, will deal chiefly with parking structures, rather than with underground facilities.

pensive to construct and operate."

At the City Commission meeting Monday a citizen expressed a fear that no sooner would the new parking lot south of Shain Park be permanently improved than it might be torn up so that a parking structure could be built.

He made his comments prior to the authorization of the spreading of the assessment roll on the parking lot.

City Commissioner William Burghum assured the complainant that he "could not conceive that the new lot would be replaced by a parking structure in the immediate future."

"If parking structures were built, the new lot would probably be the third to be considered, with lot No. 1 (Pierce and Merrill) being first."

Commissioners Cite Tax Need

in a better position to know the needs of the city than any self-appointed citizens group.

Hudson, who ordered the auditors report to be read, said he did so because he wanted everyone to know the position of "this self-appointed group."

Discussing the city's needs, he added, "I think our administrative staff is qualified to make these judgments, unlike this self-appointed group."

The mayor pro tem also said that the commission was still unanimous that the income tax was the solution.

FIRE PROTECTION

Hudson pointed out that the cost of fire protection alone was about 30 per cent of the $5 million received annually in tax revenue.

Such fire protection and expense would not be necessary, according to Hudson, if it were not for Pontiac's industry.

"The expense is here because of the need for protection of that industry and to protect those jobs," he explained.

IMPARTIAL STUDY

Responding to the call for an impartial study of city departments, Commissioner Wesley J. Wood replied, "I think we already hired that in Joe Warren (city manager)."

Commissioner John A. Dugan commented that he was happy the antitrust report showed that there was a need for added city revenue.

"It's a question of whether we tax the widows and senior citizens or have an income tax," he added.

Said Dugan, regarding financial need, "We're not too far apart."

District 5 commissioner concluded that if there is an income tax, a state or city levy, it would be better to "keep it here" and have a city income tax.

Hudson replied to a charge that a state House bill granting homestead tax relief to senior citizens ruled out benefits of the projected 3-mill cut in the local property tax.

"This bill that just became a bill is introduced in the legislature, it does not mean it will become law."

30 Dead, 33 Injured in Spanish Rail Fire

ZARAGOZA, Spain (U-P) — Fire racing through three wooden coaches of a speeding Madrid-Barcelona mail train today killed 30 persons and left 33 injured, some of them gravely.

The blaze, which broke out before dawn aboard a crowded third-class passenger coach, was whipped along by the train's speed and high wind. Before the first alarm halted the train three coaches had been engulfed by flames.

Railroad authorities said 26 of the known dead perished in the burning coaches. Four others died in frantic plunges from windows and doors to escape the fire.

Kidnaped Girl's Pleas for Help Ignored

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pre-ty Roxann Grebe says a would-be rapist held a beer-can opener to her throat as she drove her small car on a wild ride through Los Angeles suburbs.

"Each time a car pulled up next to us, I'd scream and he'd cut me again with the opener," the 18-year-old high school senior said. "The people in the car or would just stare and drive on."

"Several times I'd manage to get part way out the door. I cried out for help, and he dragged me back inside each time. People watched — and turned away."

She pulled open the top of her house coat slightly to show long scratches on her throat and upper chest.

GIVES ACCOUNT

A dark-eyed brunette, Roxann works part-time as a saleswoman in a store near her Covina home. Tuesday she gave a newsman this account of her experience:

She got off work Monday night and was getting into her small car.

A dark-complected man jumped into the car with her, thrust the opener against her throat and said, "Don't scream — you're going with me."

She said she screamed; he scratched her with the opener and ordered her to drive.

CALLS MOTHER

As they drove he bent over as if to pick up something. She slammed on the brakes, ran to a nearby phone booth and called her mother, Elizabeth Grebe.

Ms. Grebe said Roxann's hysterical voice poured out the story. "Oh, no!" then all I could hear was the sound of the receiver hanging against the side of the booth."

Earl Grebe, Roxann's father, called police, who launched a futile search.

The girl said her assailant dragged her back to the car and forced her to drive again — through the communities of Temple City, Arcadia, Monrovia, Duarte, Azusa and finally Glendora.

DROVE TOO FAST

She said: "I drove too fast, ran stop signs — everything. But as one officer said later,

"When you need a cop, you can't find one."

Then, Roxann said, in Glendora a trucker took the wheel and drove to an isolated area in the foothills to the north, halted the car and tried to attack her.

She fought back, finally shoved away the hand with the opener and raced for a house not far away.

"I was pretty disgusted with the whole human race," Roxann said. "Please help me," I cried. "Please help me."

Baker Probe Meets Today to Air Jenkins Questions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators meet today to decide on a list of questions dealing with the Bobby Baker affair for submission to former White House aide Walter W. Jenkins.

Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., scheduled a closed session of the Senate Rules Committee to go over the questions.

The committee's special counsel, Lemuel P. McLendon, and co-counsel, Burkett Van Kirk, have drafted tentative questions. Committee members must decide on a final list.

The committee will also have to decide the amount of time it will give Jenkins to answer the questions, who will administer the oath to Jenkins, and whether the former presidential aide will be allowed help in framing his answers.

McLendon estimated that the longest time the committee will give Jenkins to reply will be about a week. He said Jenkins' written answers would carry the same weight — as far as contempt citations — as if he was testifying on the stand.

CONSIDERABLE TIME

It was understood that the committee could spend considerable time on how to frame the questions but hoped to send them to Jenkins' lawyer by nightfall.

Last Monday, the committee voted 8-1 to send the written questions and not force Jenkins to testify in person.

They acted after two psychiatrists told them that a personal appearance could endanger Jenkins' health and life.

Jenkins, for 25 years President Johnson's top administrative aide, resigned his White House post last fall after it was disclosed he had been arrested twice on morals charges.

UNDER TREATMENT

Since then Jenkins has been under psychiatric treatment for severe mental depression.

Could Gordon's possibly be older than the London Bobby?

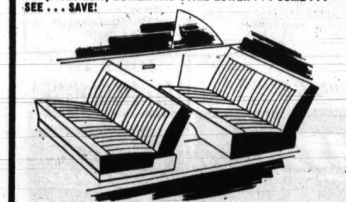

Surprisingly enough, yes. It was in 1829 that Sir Robert Peel reorganized the London Metropolitan Police, who promptly became known as "Peelers" or "Bobbies." But this was 25 years after Alexander Gordon had introduced his remarkable gin to London and given it his name. Happily, the Gordon's you drink today is based on that original 1769 formula. That explains its unique dryness and delicate flavour. Explains, too, why Gordon's is the biggest selling gin in England, America, the world.

U.S. to Give $40,000 to MSU-Nigeria Plan

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University reports the U.S. State Department has agreed to contribute $40,000 toward a student exchange program this summer between MSU and the University of Nigeria at Nsukka.

The program will allow 30 MSU undergraduate students and 23 Nigerian students to switch schools for eight weeks of study this summer.

GOP Resolution Brings Rash of Barbs

State Senators Wrangle Over Districting

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Senate got into an unexpected hassle over reapportionment Tuesday.

Republicans introduced a resolution favoring a U.S. constitutional amendment which would permit one house in a two-house legislature to be apportioned on some basis besides population.

The Senate never got any further than voting whether or not to consider the resolution immediately — but a rash of barbs was exchanged under the guise of arguments as to whether or not the resolution was urgent.

After two warnings, Sen. Gary Brown, R-Schoolcraft, was ruled out of order by Republican Lt. Gov. William Milliken because of remarks supporting the resolution.

Brown said the resolution had been "characterized as an attempt to restrict one man, one vote, but really it is in support of that principle." Democrats did not agree.

Romney Gets Backing on Traffic Safety

LANSING (AP) — The State Safety Commission voted unanimously Tuesday to support Gov. George Romney's traffic safety program in the legislature, although the Democratic chairman indicated he wasn't entirely happy with it.

Secretary of State James Hare, who also functions as commission chairman, made the vote unanimous despite an aside remark that he "had hoped to support a stronger program."

Democrat Hare had criticized Romney for not including in his program legislation to take driver licensing powers away from local sheriffs and police departments and place them under state control.

Romney instead recommended a study of the proposal.

"I think we've had enough studies," Hare commented. Max Hoffman of the State Highway Department traffic division, reported the department has turned down a proposal by the Michigan Junior Chambers of Commerce to use highway rest areas to provide free coffee breaks for motorists over peak traffic holidays.

Senate Majority Leader Raymond Drendzel said he thought the apportionment question had already been settled by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Brown said that decision came from "the most undemocratic group in the country."

Sen. Emil Lockwood, the minority leader, said 23 states have already taken at least partial action on the resolution and declared that Michigan would have to follow suit by June 1 for any action to be meaningful.

MALAPPORTIONED
Democratic floor leader Sen. Basil Brown rejoined that all 23 of the states "are malapportioned under a controversial plan last year which followed the one man, one vote directive but which Republicans say violated other Supreme Court districting guidelines."

Basil Brown said the state should not return to a situation "where a party which has been repeatedly repudiated at the polls could still retain control of the legislature through malapportionment." Democrats won legislature control this year for the first time in three decades.

The Senate eventually rejected 20-16 the attempt to consider the resolution immediately. That sent it to the Senate Business Committee, which is virtually certain not to report it favorably.

Democrats in House Spur Labor Department Probe

LANSING (AP) — The Democratic-dominated legislature would investigate the Republican-run State Labor Department under terms of a resolution adopted by the House Tuesday.

The House passed the resolution, which now goes to the Senate, on a non-party line vote of 33-16, while a Democratic leader pledged that workers of the state no longer would be "second-class citizens."

"They haven't had the consideration of (previous) Republican-dominated legislatures," said Rep. J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, "but as far as the majority party is concerned, we are interested in the workers of this state."

The resolution, sponsored by Rep. Robert Dingwell, D-Lansing, a member of the state AFL-CIO staff prior to his election last November, criticizes the running of the department by Roy Johns, an appointee of Gov. George Romney.

NEEDS CONFIRMATION
Johns, appointed over protests by Democratic and labor spokesmen in 1963, must be reappointed or replaced in April, and the appointment is subject to Senate confirmation.

A joint Senate-House committee would conduct the investigation.

Dingwell criticized the department for what he said was its failure to show as much interest in worker safety regulations as other state agencies have shown in safety in other areas.

"Functions of the labor commissioner relative to industrial safety have woefully failed to keep pace with the need for adequate factory inspections and other procedures for the improvement of industrial and employee safety," Dingwell said.

TOO LITTLE MONEY

Johns, he said, was asking for too little money in the coming fiscal year and for too small a staff increase in the face of rising industrial accident tolls. The $103,900 appropriation request like represented an increase of more than 20 per cent over the $87,550 appropriated for the current fiscal year, Johns said.

The requested increase was "the largest of any state regulatory agency—except possibly for the Workmen's Compensation Department," said Minority Leader Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe.

Action Pledged Against Park

'Sleeping Bear Plan Opposition Is Stiffer'

GLENN ARBOR (AP) — Members of the Sleeping Bear Citizens Council have promised new action against proposed establishment of a national recreation area on the near-by Lake Michigan shoreline.

A recent letter to that effect came from Council President Fred W. Siebert upon reintroduction by Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., of a bill covering $1,000 acres.

"There has been no lessening, but rather a stiffening of opposition to the federal government using the continuing threat of condemnation to control the use of privately owned property, all without recourse by the unfortunate taxpayers involved," Siebert wrote.

The council represents some 1,200 members who own property and homes in the proposed park area.

FULLY SHARED
Siebert said the council concern over the condemnation principle is "fully shared" by citizens in other states similarly affected.

His letter noted congressional passage last September of the Land and Water Conservation Funds Act which "assures Michigan receiving from $2 million to $4 million each year to help expand its park system."

The council appealed "in the best public interest" to Lansing authorities "to use at least some of these funds to improve facilities now existing at Sleeping Bear, D. H. Day and Benzie state parks as an alternative to the national recreation area."

"Certainly such a program would be more acceptable," Siebert wrote.

Copies of the letter were sent to Gov. George Romney, area legislators and to federal lawmakers.

Early Return to Work Eyed

All-Out Talks Resuming in Month-Long Dock Strike

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — All-out negotiations — to be held around the clock if necessary — were being resumed today in an effort to end the month-long West Gulf Coast dock strike.

A settlement here could lead to an early return to work by longshoremen from Maine to Texas, said Thomas W. Gleason, president of the International Longshoremen's Association.

The strike, in its 31st day, has cost the nation's economy an estimated $6 billion and has killed 190,000 workers, including 60,000 longshoremen.

In advance of the renewed talks here, the Baltimore Sun reported that President Johnson would name an upper echelon panel today in an effort to end the shutdown in ports on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts. President John F. Kennedy acted similarly to halt a 34-day dock strike in 1963.

LODGE CHARGES
The New Orleans Steamship

Association appealed for presidential intervention in a telegram to Johnson Tuesday night. This group lodged charges of unfair labor practices against the longshore unions with the National Labor Relations Board the day before.

James Reynolds, assistant secretary of labor, scheduled an afternoon meeting with union officials and shippers.

He proposed to "keep them going until there is a settlement."

Negotiations broke off in a deadlock Jan. 20.

BOTH SIDES

"I told both sides at that time that the issues would take considerable reevaluation," Reynolds said.

"I asked them to reconsider their positions in light of national interests, which are infinitely more important than theirs."

President Johnson has issued a plea that longshoremen elsewhere be permitted to go back to work while negotiations continue here.

Gleason said Tuesday, however, that IILA will abide by its all-or-none rule, even though "the pressure is on."

'SACRIFICING UNION'

"If we went back to work we would be sacrificing our union and we don't intend to do this," he said.

Horse and Buggy Tax Still Saddles Autos

We heartily concur with the Holland Evening Sentinel guest editorial that appears in today's "Reviewing Other Editorial Pages" relative to removal or reduction of the excise tax on automobiles.

Most of the excise, or "luxury," taxes which swelled the U.S. Treasury by $14 billion last year, were imposed as World War II measures. But following the traditional self-perpetuation course of taxes once imposed, the excises, with slight modification, have been renewed from year to year—even though the emergency that prompted them has been nonexistent for 20 years.

The Administration now proposes a cut in these taxes of $1.75 billion, much below the $4-billion figure favored by many government leaders. Automobiles, which account for about $2 billion of the revenue from excise taxes were not included.

Considering the vast number of Americans that depend upon the automobile as a means of livelihood, the continuation of its "luxury" status is the height of absurdity.

With the example before us of the acceleration of the national economy from last year's slice in income taxes, it takes no seer to visualize the further upsurge that would eventuate from elimination or reduction of the 10 per cent tax now imposed on automobiles.

Everyone with an interest in such tax relief—and that includes virtually every American in one way or another—can further it by making it known to his elected representatives in Congress.

Court Acts Soundly to Maintain Schedule

An unusual interplay in the area of jurisprudence cast Circuit Judge JAMES S. THORBURN in the dual role of jurist assessing a penalty and defendant before the State Supreme Court in defense of it.

The sequence had its inception when Judge THORBURN assessed an attorney $800 for failure to appear in court on behalf of his client at the time assigned.

Defending his nonappearance, the lawyer said that another case had conflicted with his presence in Pontiac. He cited this commitment in support of charges filed with the high court petitioning that body to exercise its supervisory powers over lower courts and nullify the assessment imposed by THORBURN.

We think that the Oakland County judge's action was appropriate, and justifiable action aimed at expediting disposition of the mounting case load of litigation with which the County's judiciary is struggling to keep abreast.

Quackery Most Vicious Crime Against Society

At a time when the expanding American economy holds good cheer for the generality of citizens, there is one fact of it that reflects shame and heartache.

It is the widespread practice of quackery.

This blight on our times takes many forms, but it thrives predominantly in the areas of medical "panaceas" and health and body-building programs.

The National Better Business Bureau reports that some 25 million Americans are fleeced of $1 billion a year in return for worthless drugs, gadgets and health and weight-reducing foods.

Typical of the racket preying on the suffering was the experience of one of the Nation's 12 million arthritics. Appearing before a Senate Committee on Aging, he testified: "Horse chestnuts, vibrating machines, liniments, tonics, diets—you name it, and I've tried it."

Added a Government official, "As a single field of criminal activity, medical quacks do more harm economically and to the health of the public than any other field of law-breaking."

Who are they?

Some are quack doctors, others come from the lecture circuit and others are self-ordained or are products of diploma mills.

Since the elderly, steadily increasing, are inevitably more prone to ailments, it is this 18-million bracket of the population that is most tragically susceptible to the blandishments of charlatans.

What protection is there for our senior citizens against such exploitation?

The observance of two simple precautions will do much to thwart the quack:

—Beware of "miracle" cures, particularly those advertised as so new the medical profession is afraid of them.

—Take medical problems to a physician that is known to you.

Do Viets Want to Defeat Reds?

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—The basic question behind all the American effort to prevent a Communist take-over in South Viet Nam gets cloudier by the day.

How much interest do the Vietnamese people themselves have any more in continuing the war against their own countrymen, the Red guerrillas, called the Viet Cong?

The United States has pumped billions of dollars into the anti-Red war, and in Viet Nam it has more than 23,000 military advisers, although advisers is hardly the right word since Americans have been killed in action.

Deeply disturbing is this: when the Viet Cong caused the greatest damage and loss to Americans—as in hitting American airbases with mortar fire last Nov. 1 and over last weekend—they had to go through a countryside populated by South Vietnamese who sounded no alarm, then through South Vietnamese guards who were supposed to be protecting the bases.

That raises a second question: How long will the United States go on fighting to protect people who are not fighting to protect themselves?

In late November the American ambassador to South Viet Nam, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, returned here to talk with President Johnson, declared the Viet Nam outcome "very much in doubt."

He said he thought attacks on targets in Red-held territory (North Viet Nam is Red-held) would make the North Vietnamese Communists and Red Chinese realize their fight was not worth the cost.

And the AP reported Taylor and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were repraising U.S. strategy in Viet Nam. The AP said at the time: "The study may lead to a decision by President Johnson to broaden the war."

And that's just what happened over the weekend after the second American base was attacked. So apparently it wasn't a sudden decision but a long thought-out one when Johnson ordered U.S. carrier planes to bomb North Viet Nam.

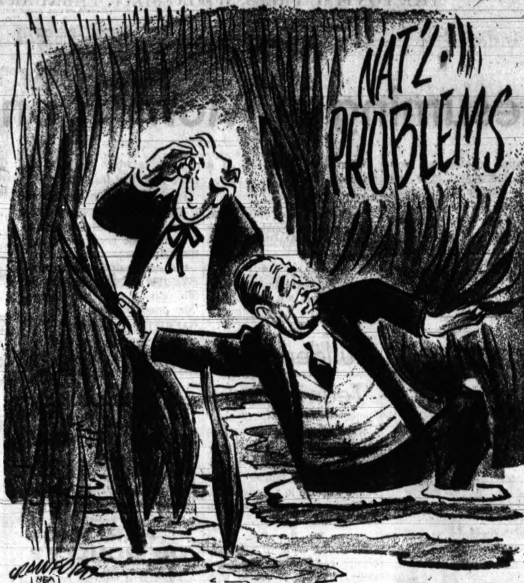

Now neither Johnson nor anyone else in this country knows whether these raids will bring retaliation by the Soviet Union or Red China and truly broaden the war, perhaps beyond anyone's imaginings.

But even if Americans break the Communist spirit in the north, this country still doesn't know whether the American-backed South Vietnamese will ever get together and set up a orderly government or explode into civil war and total chaos.

LBJ Adds New Note to Viet War

WASHINGTON—Who is bluffing whom in the Viet Nam game? The Soviets are playing chess, and the President Johnson is playing poker, and the Red Chinese are playing their own Mah-Jongg.

All parties realize there isn't going to be any nuclear war, but the world is witnessing just the same a dangerous attempt by the Communists to attain tactical advantages and greater influence without actually risking many lives.

For several weeks the game has been played through statements to the press and now reaches a climax.

Didn't the Red Chinese and the Soviets believe the United States would retaliate with any degree of force if a big strike was made against American bases in South Viet Nam?

Here in Washington there has been a deliberate attempt to convey to the other side a warning against any miscalculation of American intentions.

But the Red Chinese evidently thought they could take a chance anyway by instigating another attack and then appraising the reaction of the United States.

This time, while American forces responded, there was a significant addition to the dialogue on the part of President Johnson.

He intimated that, while a wider war would be deplorable, it could not necessarily be ruled out altogether for Southeast Asia.

He said pointedly in a speech on Monday of this week: "We shall take up any challenge, we shall answer any threat, we shall pay any price to make certain that freedom shall not perish from this earth."

er or later there is going to have to be some conferring behind the scenes between the major powers, at least on the Western side, with an idea of finding a solution.

Meanwhile, American boys are being killed or wounded in Viet Nam, and the United States government apparently has not convinced the Red Chinese that it is willing to take the risks of a major war in Southeast Asia. So the Communists feel they can continue to bluff and to harass the American position in Viet Nam, and get away with it.

It is a risky business' all around.

Bob Considine Says:

Thought of Rectory Heist Must Bug Brink's Bandits

NEW YORK—The Commonwealth of Massachusetts is not yet ready to forgive the celebrated Brink's bandits.

A parole board in Boston has rejected the petitions of three of the robbers for three commutations.

The three hoodlums, Jim Gagan, Jim Faherty and Jazz Maffie, all in their 50s, are serving life terms for their roles in the fabled heist back in 1950.

Also serving life terms at Walpole, Mass., State Prison, but not at present asking for clemency, are four others involved, including Joe McGinnis, who was given the astonishing sentence of nine life terms.

Three more of the original 11 robbers are dead. The only one at liberty is Specs O'Ree, who was gyped out of his share of the loot which totaled $12,019,211.29 in cash and a negotiable $1,557,183.83 in checks and money orders.

Specs narrowly escaped death twice at the hands of Trigger Burke, hired for the purpose, then turned state's evidence.

MUST WINCE

All of these pros must wince today when they read about grandmothers and grandsons sticking up supermarkets and church rectories. Or about hooded-up dopes who think that robbery has something to do with shooting off a gun.

The Brink's robbers planned their coup for nearly two years, painstakingly rehearsed it, timed it to the minute, broke nothing (but the law, of course) and hurt none of the Brink's employees.

But they drew crushing penalties despite the pleas of their articulate and presumably costly defense attorneys.

Only a fraction of the negotiable money has ever turned up, about $68,000—some of it falling apart—dug out of a wall in Baltimore.

So, in that and other respects, the Great Robbery remains an open case. The appeals for clemency will be renewed.

If the style of American robberies continues to deteriorate, the Brink's robbers may one day be released on the grounds that they at least robbed a bank, not a deacon.

Auto Tax . . .

The Holland Evening Sentinel

Reports out of Washington, including one by Rep. Martha W. Griffiths of Michigan, say that chances are excellent for reduction or removal of the 10 per cent excise tax on automobiles. It is somewhat difficult to accept the possibility of a complete removal of the tax in view of the administration's proposal to keep excise reduction to $1.75 billion. The revenue from automobiles is about $2 billion.

The tax on automobiles is one that was brought in as an emergency measure, and as is often the case, has been kept on the books. The administration proposal to cut or eliminate the tax on such items as luggage, furs, jewelry, etc., seems somewhat incongruous. These items are certainly in the luxury class. The automobile has become a necessity in modern life and the 10 per cent tax has become discriminatory.

The seizure of the tax on automobiles could stimulate the market and recoup the original tax loss through other sources. Secretary Dillon has been hes-

Reader Says U.S. Should Discontinue Aid to Egypt

We are particularly critical of Mr. Dean Rusk's comment "The food the U.A.R. receives from the U.S. is not a grant but is paid for, though in local currency" as part of his argument for the continuation of further shipments. Such a statement does not present the financial circumstances surrounding the transaction.

Only ten per cent of the purchase price can be spent by the U.S. and this must be spent within Egypt. We currently have about $40 million left from previous shipments and we have nothing worthwhile to spend it on as our needs in Egypt are so few. The remaining 90 per cent of this "payment" must also be spent in Egypt, with the added limitation of having to go into projects of which Nasser personally approves.

Let's urge our senators to vote "no" to continuation of aid to Egypt.

tant about giving any information on the administration's exact proposals. He would prefer some assurance that Congress will act quickly on whatever proposal is brought before it. This does make sense. If the buying public should come to expect a reduction, car sales might fall in anticipation of such a tax break. The only alternative will be a clear understanding that any reduction in excise taxes on cars will be retroactive.

The federal and state taxes on automobiles already total 14 per cent and this excludes the hidden taxes which are a part of every product. The automobile buyer, who already is an important cog in the nation's economy, deserves relief from this tax. And this relief could make him an even more important contributor to the economy. If the tax reduction is to be a part of the total tax program for this year, it ought to come soon.

This kid glove treatment suggests deplorable laxity in dealing with and supervising young and hardened criminals. What ever the lapses in preventive action against the killers, the police's performance was of the highest standard. The memory of one officer when the name of one of the gang appeared on the list of missing persons led to the capture.

The job of tracking down the suspects was handed to a team of detectives also familiar with the record of the actual killer. With the cooperation of the boy's mother, who had found a marked want ad giving the address of an apartment hideout, the detectives made short work of the job of rounding up the gang.

Halts Pro-Hindi Campaign in South India

Shastri Retreats From Linguistic Battle

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri is leading his government in hasty retreat from the linguistic battlegrounds of south India.

A campaign to slowly spread Hindi throughout the multilingual country was halted in shock and despair as rioting spread among Tamil-speaking people of Madras State.

In past years, Shastri has had a reputation of "Hindi-enthusiast" who favored quicker introduction of Hindi as the language of the land, in fact as well as in law.

Now he says: "There can be and should be no imposition of Hindi on non-Hindi-speaking states."

LINK LANGUAGE
Kumaraswami Kamaraj, Tamil-speaking president of the governing Congress party, and other leaders have declared English must continue to be India's "link language." They said those Indians who do not speak Hindi — not the government — must decide when to adopt the north India language.

The language conflict is an incredibly complicated affair, rooted deep in prejudices and fears handed down through the ages.

Both of India's prime ministers have been from Hindi-speaking Uttar Pradesh State in the north. About 40 per cent of India's 400 million people speak Hindi.

The rest speak 13 other languages or one of the nation's 4,845 dialects.

MANY FEARS

Those who don't speak Hindi fear they would suffer economically and in job competition in an all-Hindi India. They also are concerned that their culture and traditions, distinct from those of the north, would be undated.

Aside from pride in his own mother tongue, Shastri backs Hindi because he feels India must have one language if it ever is to be truly united. He and many other Indians resist English, the "link language" for 200 years, because it is foreign.

But judging from recent developments, English may continue to be the link language for generations.

GOP Senators 'Will Go Along'

Agree to Join in State Program Planning

LANSDING (AP)—Republican senators agreed Tuesday they are willing to participate in program development in any areas agreed on by Gov. George Romney and the Democratic legislative majority — including fiscal reform.

The 14 minority senators took no position on specific programs.

Minority Leader Sen. Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, said it was far too early "to go in there and ask for a show of hands on who's in favor of income tax...but we agreed we're willing to discuss anything the majority and the governor want to discuss."

Monday night, Romney suggested to legislative leaders that programs of fiscal reform, government reorganization and judicial appointments be developed jointly by the legislative and executive branches.

The governor has plunged for fiscal reform but refuses to go into specifics until he feels the legislature is reasonably ready to pass some reform program. Democrats have said he should propose a program, then they'll act on it. But it's now expected their caucuses will soon consider whether or not to at least consider tax reform in 1946.

Rough Weekend? Join the TGFM Club

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—One of the oldest established permanent organizations in America is the "TGFM Club," whose motto is: "Thank God It's Friday."

It is composed of persons who have spent a long, harassing week at the office and are eagerly looking forward to the weekend. That is all well and good, but what this country also needs is a "TGFM Club," whose motto would be: "Thank God For Monday."

It would be composed of persons who have spent a long, harassing weekend at home and are eagerly looking forward to getting back to the office.

The need for a TGFM Club became apparent to me last Sunday when my wife had to be away from home most of the day. Or said she did.

Anyway, for the better part of a rainy Sabbath, I had sole custody of my son, the mess-maker. I was thus in a position to observe a rather interesting phenomenon.

DISPERSES THINGS

It came to my attention that said son, who recently turned 3, is a sort of reverse pack rat. Rather than collect things, he disperses them.

Unless kept under constant surveillance, he will methodically and systematically take all of the playthings out of his toy chest and scatter them all over the living room.

When that happens, one has a choice. One can haul it all back again. Which takes approximately one hour. Or one can make him haul it all back again. Which takes approximately three hours.

I handled the matter in a businesslike way. I sat down and made an inventory of the litter. Following is a true and certified accounting:

Four trucks, 1 peg board and hammer, 1 "Tickle Bee" game, 1 Army helmet liner, 1 sailor hat, 1 cowboy hat, 1 "Lone Ranger" mask, 3 key rings, 4 rifles, 5 pistols, 1 flashlight, 1 pipe wrench, 1 stapler.

Also, 20 large blocks, 1 banjo, 1 stethoscope, 1 Indian headress, 1 camel, 2 ships, 1 windup car, 1 drag line, 1 lawnmower, 1 stick horse, 1 scabbard, 2 golf sticks, 1 jump rope, 1 skate, 2 Easter baskets;

And, 5 books, 1 "Troll" doll, 1 "Mechanical Monster," 3 pop-gun targets, 1 funnel, 2 crayons,

1 deputy badge, 1 guitar, 1 vacuum cleaner nozzle, 1 "Raggedy Ann" doll, 1 "Football Coin" depicting a Buffalo Bills linebacker, and 27 small unidentified objects.

When my wife returned, I was able to present her with a complete list of what needed to be picked up. Oddly enough, she did not appreciate my effort to be helpful.

Hare said the deadline for motorists to have new plates technically isn't until Feb. 28. "But in my 10 years as secretary of state we've never had Sunday sales and I don't intend to start now," he said.

If the strong sales trend keeps up during the next two weeks, the customary last-minute rush may be averted, Hare said. For

Pontiac City Affairs

2 Zone Requests Fail to Pass

A pair of rezoning requests encountered rough weather before the City Commission last night. Both failed to pass after extended debate at the four-hour meeting.

Duplicating the effort of the City Planning Commission, a 3-3 standoff stopped consideration of a requested manufacturing-3 rezoning for 701 Oakland.

City planners last week also could not agree and reported a 3-3 deadlock in their report to the commission.

Acc Auto Parts sought the rezoning in order to continue auto salvage operations on the property. The company currently has not been able to get a city license because of the zoning.

Neighboring auto dealers and businesses along Oakland opposed the rezoning.

OPPONENTS

Mayor Pro Tem Leslie H. Hudson opposed the rezoning. He was supported by Commissioners Wesley Wood and James Marshall.

Hudson deplored the condition of the yard and said that something should have been done to improve it.

Commissioners Robert C. Irwin, T. Warren Fowler and John A. Dugan favored rezoning for the yard, claiming that the business there should be given an opportunity to continue.

Referring to the auto yard's unsuccessful efforts to obtain a city license, Commissioner Irwin commented, "I don't think any prudent businessman would put any money in property on a day-to-day operation like this."

TO BE RECALLED

After the 3-3 vote, Mayor Pro Tem Hudson said he would again bring up the rezoning on March 2. Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., absent because of a recent illness, is expected back then.

A second rezoning question provoked a 4-2 vote on the commission.

A City Planning Commission recommendation advised denial of manufacturing rezoning for 424 Ferry for a truck repair business.

The property, owned by Leonard Barker, is being used for truck repair, but is a nonconforming use zoning.

TO FIX UP

Barker said that he seeks to fix up the property and can not obtain financing without the rezoning.

Nearby residents opposed the rezoning. Two protest petitions were submitted to the commission, representing 20 per cent of the abutting property owners.

On the motion to deny the rezoning, Commissioners Fowler, Marshall, Dugan and Wood voted for it, while Hudson and Irwin cast negative votes.

Commissioners Marshall and Hudson said that nearby property was rundown, while Commissioner Fowler said that denial of the rezoning would not effect the business there.

BASIC PROBLEM

Commissioner Irwin said that the basic problem was whether Barker was going to be allowed to improve his building.

He added that banks would not finance improvements with the nonconforming use restrictions.

Commissioner Dugan suggested that something should be worked out to allow the buildings to be improved. He advised a zoning change to allow this, but not to the manufacturing zoning that was requested.

A unanimous vote followed Irwin's motion to return the rezoning question to the City Planning Commission.

HIGHEST REZONING

He asked for the highest rezoning possible in line with the business's type of operation.

In other business last night, the commission heard a report from City Manager Joseph A. Warren on recent meetings on the Crystal Beach housing project.

Warren reported that the first step in solving some of the problems surrounding the wartime housing facility would be the turning over of the streets to the city.

Presently streets within the project are private and do not come under the city's jurisdiction.

DEDICATE TO CITY

He added that the city attorney would work with the project's owners to have the streets dedicated to the city.

This would allow for maintaining and improving them, said Warren, and give the police the right to enforce parking regulations there.

City Attorney William A. Ewart reported last night that the Sam Allen court case has been stalled because the defen-dan't attorney had not filed an answer to the city's complaint.

Ewart said a new Circuit Court trial date has been set for April 6. He said he would seek a default judgment if his complaint remained unanswered.

CITY SHARE

In other business, the commission okayed payment of the city's share of the cost for a traffic signal at West Lawrence and Wide Track.

The cost to the city, shared on a 50-50 basis with the state, totaled $1,233.

Introduce Continental Idea of Bread, Fruit and Cheese

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Late evening refreshments sometimes pose a problem. Many people don't want a sweet, rich dessert. Others think that a sandwich is too much to eat.

It's possible to please everyone by copying a custom followed in France.

The French hostess presents a trio of fruit, cheese and fresh bread. This allows each guest to eat as much or as little as he chooses.

The bread, of course, is the crusty loaf we associate with France.

The version given here scores

the top and adds sesame seed. Guests break off portions without benefit of knife.

In keeping with the French feeling, Roquefort cheese spreads are offered. Only cheese made in the caves of southwestern France can bear the label "Roquefort."

If you want to serve this type of late evening refreshment, you make the bread after dinner.

If you are to be out yourself, for the evening, bake it earlier and reheat it.

Provincial French Bread

- 2½ cups warm water (105°-115° F.)
- 2 packages of cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 tablespoon margarine, melted
- 7 cups unsifted flour
- 1 cup cornmeal
- 1 egg white
- 1 tablespoon cold water
- Sesame seeds

Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Add salt and melted margarine. Add flour and stir until flour is well blended (dough will be sticky).

Place dough in a greased bowl. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Turn dough out onto lightly floured board. Divide into 2 equal portions. Roll each half into an oblong, 15x10-inches.

Beginning with wide side, roll up tightly toward you; seal edges by pinching together. Taper ends by rolling gently back and forth.

Starting at one end, coil each roll of dough on a greased baking sheet sprinkled with cornmeal.

Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. With a sharp knife score tops of loaves, crisscrossing top three times in each direction.

Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 25 minutes. Remove from oven and brush with egg white mixed with cold water. Sprinkle with sesame seeds.

Return to oven, bake 5 minutes longer.

Roquefort Village Cheese Spread

- 1 cup crumbled Roquefort cheese
- 2 tablespoons heavy cream
- 2 tablespoons chopped canned pimientos
- 2 tablespoons chopped chives

smooth. Blend pimientos and chives into cheese mixture. Garnish with pimiento strips and chives, as desired.

Serve as a spread for French bread. (Makes about 1 cup spread.)

Savory Roquefort Spread

- 1 cup crumbled Roquefort cheese
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- ½ teaspoon celery seed
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley

shire sauce; beat until smooth. Blend celery seed and parsley into cheese mixture. Garnish with paprika and parsley, as desired.

Serve as a spread for French bread. (Makes about 1 cup spread.)

ITS PORTUGUESE — Pao Doce, the traditional Portuguese holiday bread, makes its appearance at open house festivities, with nippy cheese and a sparkling punch. The recipe substitutes an envelope of country-style potato soup mix for the original potatoes thus making it much easier to prepare than the original version.

Start With Soup Mix

Here is a delightful recipe for Pao Doce, the traditional Portuguese Holiday bread.

Originally made with potatoes, this version takes advantage of a modern short-cut, a convenient envelope of country-style potato soup mix. You thus eliminate several preparation chores.

Pao Doce (Sweet Bread)

- 1 envelope country style potato soup mix rolled
 - 1½ cups cold water
 - 1 package active dry yeast
 - ½ tablespoons sugar
 - ½ cup warm (not hot) water
 - ½ teaspoon cardamom seeds, crushed
 - ½ teaspoon ginger
 - 3 eggs
 - 1 cup sugar
 - ½ cup melted butter or margarine
 - ½ cups sifted enriched flour
 - ¼ cup milk
- Add water gradually to soup mix in saucepan; bring to boil and simmer 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Cool to lukewarm.
- Combine yeast, 1½ tablespoons sugar and warm water; stir to dissolve. Stir yeast mixture and spices into potato mixture. Let rise in warm place for 15 to 20 minutes or until doubled in bulk.

In a large bowl, beat eggs and add sugar gradually while continuing to beat. Stir in cooled butter. Combine yeast and egg mixtures; blend thoroughly. Stir in 1 cup flour, add milk and beat until thoroughly blended.

Add 2 more cups flour and beat 5 minutes. Add remaining flour gradually, kneading when dough becomes too stiff to beat. Turn out on a lightly floured board.

Knead 10 minutes or until smooth and elastic, adding only enough extra flour to prevent sticking. Place dough in a large greased bowl; brush top with oil.

Cover and let rise in warm place (about 85 degrees) until doubled in bulk, about 2 hours. Divide dough into 2 portions and shape into round loaves on greased cookie sheets; brush surface with oil. Allow to rise until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Brush loaves with beaten egg. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until well browned. Makes 2 loaves.

Cream Cheese Is Spread for Bread

Brooklyn Date Nut Bread

- 1½ cups pitted dates, halved
- 1 cup boiling water
- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup coarsely broken walnuts

Pour boiling water over dates; cool, sift together the flour, baking soda and salt. Beat together eggs and sugar; stir in sifted dry ingredients, date mixture and walnuts.

Fill 4 or 5 well-greased No. 1 tall cans (9½ to 13 ounces) half full; place on a cookie sheet.

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 45 to 50 minutes or until cake tester inserted comes out clean.

Turn out; cool. Store tightly covered.

Asparagus and Soup

A new prepared soup gets interesting treatment.

Lunch Bowl Soup

- 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed noodle and beef soup
- 1 can (10½ ounces) green asparagus tips
- Grated Parmesan cheese

Turn the undiluted soup into a saucepan. Drain the liquid from the asparagus into the empty soup can; add enough water to fill the can; add to soup.

Halve asparagus tips and add. Heat slowly, stirring a few times. Serve with grated cheese. Makes 4 servings.

Herb Bread Is Fragrant, Tasty

Probably one of the most delightful experiences for the family is the smell of freshly-made bread in the oven. Prepare the bread with herbs and you'll have your family tingling with anticipation and an excitement.

Herb Bread

- 2 cups milk
- 2 teaspoons herb seasoning
- 4 teaspoons caraway seeds
- 1 teaspoon anise seed
- ¼ cup sugar
- 2 pkgs. yeast
- ¼ cup warm water
- 7-7½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 tablespoon salt
- ½ cup soft shortening
- 3 eggs

Measure milk into saucepan. Add herb seasoning, caraway and anise seeds. Heat to boiling point. Pour into mixing bowl. Add sugar; cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in warm water. Add to milk. Add 3 cups of flour. Beat thoroughly, adding salt and shortening.

Add eggs one at a time beating well after each addition. Beat in as much of remaining flour as possible. Then stir with spoon.

When dough begins to leave sides of pan, turn out on floured board and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover; let rise in warm place until doubled.

When light, divide into 2 equal portions. Form each into regular loaves. Place in greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pans. Let rise until doubled. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 40 to 50 minutes or until done. Remove from pans immediately. Cool on rack away from drafts.

Soft Pretzels for Snack Fare

Prepare Pretzel Biscuits from a basic biscuit dough flavoring with Cheddar cheese, onion salt and cayenne pepper.

To achieve the intriguing pretzel shapes, form the dough into ropes, then curve the ends of each rope toward the center, lapping one end over the other.

Serve these in the evening with crisp apples and a hot fruit punch.

Pretzel Biscuits

- 2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon onion salt
- ¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper

- ¾ cup shortening
- ½ cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
- ¼ to ½ cup milk
- Butter or margarine, melted
- Seasoned salt

Set out ungreased baking sheet. Preheat oven to 425 degrees.

Into a medium-sized bowl, sift together flour, baking powder, onion salt and cayenne. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in cheese. Blend in enough milk to make a soft dough.

On lightly floured board or pastry cloth, turn out dough and knead gently 30 seconds. Break off 1-inch pieces of dough and roll under palms of hands to form ropes 10 inches long and ¼-inch thick.

Twist to form pretzel shapes. Place on baking sheet. Brush with butter or margarine; lightly sprinkle with seasoned salt.

Bake 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown. Serve warm. Makes 30 pretzels.

If you don't sift and in the absence of other directions, spoon flour directly from container into a one-cup dry measure, level off, then remove two level tablespoons, according to USDA recommendations.

Recipe Variations: Stir 1 teaspoon caraway seed, sesame seed or celery seed into flour with cheese.

Storing Suggestions: Cool baked pretzels completely; wrap tightly in freezer wrap, label and freeze. To serve, unwrap, thaw and place on baking sheet. Warm in preheated 350 degree oven 3 to 5 minutes.

Sour Cream Cakes Complement Fish

Cucumbers always give a filip to fish!

- Cucumber Relish Salad
- 1 large cucumber, pared and sliced thin
- ½ pint sour cream
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon white pepper
- ¼ teaspoon dill weed
- Salad greens

Mix together the cucumber, sour cream, salt, pepper and dill weed; cover and chill until serving time—an hour or so to allow flavors to blend. Serve on salad greens. Makes 4 servings.

CONTINENTAL CUSTOM — Serve midnight supper in a French mood. Menu features homemade French bread and Roquefort cheese spreads with a medley of fresh fruits. Table accessories include convenient-to-use, attractive triple-ply paper placemats which look like cloth. They are shown in a double role—in the place setting, and as a colorful liner for the bread basket. Red, white and blue (the French national colors) flower arrangement is in keeping with the French theme.

HERB BREAD—The aroma of bread baking in the oven, the taste of a slice of warm bread, the texture of a crusty tantalizing loaf all add up to a wonderful kitchen adventure. This bread takes on extra flavor and goodness from the addition of exotic seasonings.

PRETZEL BISCUITS — You buy something similar in Pennsylvania called a soft pretzel. These are made from dough, nicely flavored with onion salt and Cheddar cheese. Good for a snack most any time of the day.

WOMEN'S SECTION

She Won't Divorce Him

Wife Knows the Score

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman with three children, ages 10, 8 and 5.

Four years ago I went to work in an office as a bookkeeper and fell head over heels in love with my boss, who is 17 years my senior. He was also married and had a family.

We kept our romance a secret until I was three months' pregnant. Then he asked his wife for a divorce so he could marry me. She refused.

Last summer he left his wife and I left my husband and now we are living together as Mr. and Mrs.

We realize we are social outcasts, but we go to church every Sunday and we know in our hearts that we are doing nothing wrong, and are really married in God's eyes.

Now, don't you think his wife should give him a divorce so we can be married and adopt three poor, innocent children?

How can we make his wife see the light?

ONTARIO
DEAR ABBY: I don't know how you feel that you are "doing nothing wrong" and are "really married in God's eyes."

According to all the laws of God and man, he is married to another, and so are you. I would say that this man's lawful wife sees the light very clearly. It's you who's in the dark.

New Hot Lunch Plan Readied

By PAT MCCARTY
FARMINGTON — A production-line concept — geared to providing hot lunches for 3,000 youngsters — will be put into action here next fall.

Farmington district's new Larkshire Elementary School, scheduled for completion by September, will contain a central kitchen for a satellite feeding program.

The school system is the first in the county to build a unit specifically for this purpose, although several systems have been experimenting with the program in conventional kitchens.

Mrs. Ella Plichta, Farmington cafeteria supervisor, already has tried the plan at four schools and reports it works fine.

Since last year, food prepared at Flanders Elementary School has been sent to nearby Middle Belt, Gill and Cloverdale schools.

The problem facing Mrs. Plichta was that a school must serve 100 meals before its hot lunch program will begin to pay for itself.

As more buildings are being constructed in the district, fewer youngsters are finding it necessary to spend their lunch periods at school for transportation reasons.

Middle Belt was the only school of the four meeting the quota, but its kitchen needed new equipment.

So Mrs. Plichta set up a central kitchen at Flanders and started moving equipment out of the other three buildings, keeping only enough space for serving areas.

700 MEALS

Next year about 700 meals will be prepared every day at Larkshire for the youngsters there and at the four other schools. Also being considered is the possibility of sending food to Shiawassee Elementary School.

Larkshire, the district's 16th elementary school, is being constructed on Tuck Road south of 10 Mile between Orchard Lake and Middle Belt.

Its central kitchen, as large as a classroom and a half, will be able to produce up to 3,000 meals a day.

"We will continue to let the other schools operate their own kitchens," Mrs. Plichta said. "This will be for new buildings where small, PTA-type kitchens will be installed."

IN FOODS AREA

Contained in the foods area, connected to the school only by a corridor, will be a 1,250-square-foot kitchen and a 650-square-foot storage area.

Also in the area will be a 950-square-foot room for central food storage, now in the board of education building.

"The advantage we'll have here is that the kitchen will be laid out for production," Mrs. Plichta said.

She expects to realize about a 10 per cent savings in the cost of operation — but even more for the district in construction of new buildings.

"We should save about $35,000 by the time 10 more elementary schools are built by not putting full-size kitchens in them," she said.

Some $35,530 will be spent to equip the central kitchen, compared to $19,850 for a conventional one.

AREA NEWS

But the serving kitchens of the future will require only about $5,116 worth of equipment. The amount saved here will be in addition to that realized from a smaller floor space requirements.

When the satellite feeding program was initiated here, cafeteria employees transported the food in hot trays in trunks of their cars — a temporary method approved by the Oakland County Health Department.

PURCHASED TRUCK

The district this year purchased a truck and customized the aluminum body to suit food needs.

The hot carts can be plugged into electrical outlets to keep the food warm. Cooling devices are also provided.

Some 2,000 meals can be transported at one time in the truck.

Mrs. Plichta noted the new system will make no difference in menu planning.

IN TRANSPORTING

However, some things do stand up in transporting better than others.

"We have to bake our own bread for grilled cheese sandwiches," Mrs. Plichta said. "For cookies, we've learned that peanut butter carries better than applesauce. Pizza also carries well."

She commented that the satellite program will not be used for the secondary schools.

"This is one answer, but I couldn't recommend it over-all," she said. "You get more than food from a lunch program."

Personal contact between cooks, teachers and students is beneficial to all and will be maintained where possible, she added.

PIPING HOT — James Poyma places trays bearing hot lunches in carts for transportation to Farmington District elementary schools. Poyma is one of the drivers of the truck which plays a vital role in the satellite feeding program.

Trailer Court Given Okay in Orion Twp.

ORION TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has given the green light for construction of the first trailer court in Orion Township.

The board followed the recommendation of the zoning board last night in approving an amendment to the zoning ordinance which sets up restrictions and rules governing trailer courts.

Approval of a rezoning request for 78 acres at about 2285 Brown from single-family residential to the new trailer court classification put the finishing touch to the action.

In other business, the Township Board got assurances from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department that two deputies would be assigned to Lake Orion this summer on weekends and holidays to control use of the lake itself and a public access site on Indianwood.

Residents of the lake area had requested control of the fishing site and the lake, in view of crowded, uncontrolled conditions last year.

NO HUNTING

The same public access site will be posted "No Hunting" by the Michigan Department of Conservation at the request of residents. The request stemmed from the accidental shooting of a 15-year-old Lake Orion boy while hunting last November.

The boy died about a week after a 14-year-old companion unintentionally shot him when he walked into the line of fire.

The five switchboard operators who serve both the township fire department and the village police department received raises of 10 cents per hour last night.

Lake Orion had requested the raise for the operators.

Farmington Twp. Creates Plan Unit

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The first step toward preparation of a master plan has been taken by the Township Board in the creation of a planning commission for the unit.

The board Monday night adopted an ordinance under which it will establish the commission, a prerequisite to applying for federal funds for the plan.

In 60 days, Supervisor Curtis H. Hall can appoint five to nine members to the commission, subject to the approval of the board.

When the commission is in operation, the seven-member township zoning board will be abolished, Hall said. He noted that the powers of the two groups are similar.

Church in Lake Orion Will Hold Ham Dinner

LAKE ORION — The Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will hold a baked ham dinner tomorrow at the church, 531 E. Fifth.

Serving will be family style from 5 to 7 p.m. Proceeds will go into the church building fund.

Pontiac Press Photo

BIG PLANS — Farmington Schools Supt. Gerald W. Harrison and Mrs. Ella Plichta, cafeteria supervisor, discuss plans for the satellite feeding program to be initiated at Larkshire Elementary School next fall. On a scale model of the school, Harrison is pointing to the wing which will serve as operation headquarters for the new program.

Eventually, hot lunches for 3,000 youngsters will be prepared in the central kitchen at Larkshire and transported to other elementary schools in the district.

County Leads in New Dwellings

Oakland County led the entire Detroit metropolitan area in the construction of new dwelling units last year, according to the annual summary of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission.

A net total of 8,135 dwellings were authorized for construction during the year in Oakland County, an increase of 21.1 per cent over 1963.

The report showed a net total (construction minus demolition) of 7,747 for Macomb, an increase of 25.8 per cent, and 5,618 for Wayne, an increase of 7.4 per cent.

Wayne topped the list in gross totals with 8,551, compared to 8,708 in Oakland and 7,840 in Macomb.

In a breakdown of gross totals, Oakland was tops in the number of single family units with 6,269, compared to 5,529 in Macomb and 5,529 in Wayne.

MULTIFAMILY UNITS

Wayne led in the number of multifamily units with 3,558, compared to 2,423 in Oakland and 2,240 in Macomb.

Two-family units made up the balance of the gross totals.

Southfield and Royal Oak set the pace for Oakland County with 1,560 permits issued in Southfield and 1,044 in Royal Oak, according to the report.

Bloomfield Township also set a fast growth pace with 674 units.

REDUCED GAIN

Urban renewal reduced the net gain in Pontiac to 50 with 322 demolitions and 372 new units authorized.

The report listed a net total of 21,550 permits issued in

Indiana Crash Kills

Trucker From Dearborn

HUNTINGTON, Ind. (AP) — George Killen, 35, of Dearborn, Mich., was fatally injured when his semi-trailer rig jackknifed and plunged into a ditch after a tire blew out Tuesday on Ind. 37 southeast of Huntington.

Killen was dragged for 325 feet beneath the truck after jumping or falling out, state police said.

PARK-BOUND — The Village of Rochester has entered into an agreement with Avon Township to share the expenses of moving the Harris Memorial Fountain from its present location on West University Drive to Avon Township Park. The fountain and American Legion Hall behind it face removal in view of plans to build a multistory professional building on the West University site.

Milford to Use 2 Methods to Finance Sewage Plant

MILFORD — The Village Council has approved two methods of financing the proposed $485,000 addition to Milford's sewage treatment plant.

Half of the sum will be raised through a 1.25-mil property tax and the other half through fees paid by customers.

The council followed the recommendation of the Oakland County Department of Public Works in determining ways to finance the project.

Although it will be added to the 11 mills currently being levied in the village, the tax for the capital improvement is not part of that which falls under the 12.50-mil limitation of the charter, according to Village Clerk Mrs. Margaret Knight.

Users of the sanitary sewer will pay for the other half of the cost through a $3 quarterly charge.

TO DRAFT CONTRACT

The council has authorized the county to draft a contract for the work.

In other action Monday night, the council passed an ordinance directed at the abatement and prevention of nuisances.

Under it, persons responsible for littering public premises or their own property can be charged with a misdemeanor.

Accumulations covered include tin cans, waste paper, rubbish, garbage, decaying or dead matter, abandoned automobiles and cars which are unusable and have been removed for 90 days.

UNLAWFUL ODORS

The code also makes it unlawful for businesses to emit odor, gas fumes, dust, smoke, vibrations or noise.

The council set for 8 p.m. March 8, a public hearing on the rezoning of West Huron property from Clinton to Mill streets.

The rezoning, which would change the property from single-family to multiple residential, has been recommended by the village planning commission.

The request originated with Dr. Carl Steinman who wanted to reclassify his property at 335 W. Huron.

PROHIBITION

Under the recently replaced zoning ordinance, buildings in residential areas could contain as many as four apartments.

The new zoning code, however, prohibits this.

Planners noted that the West Huron area, which contains several large houses, could serve as a buffer zone between business and residential portions of the village.

Auto Club Aide Plans

Safety Talk at PTA

CLARKSTON — Joseph Zabelski, safety education consultant for the Automobile Club of Michigan, will speak on safety education at tomorrow's 8 p.m. meeting of the Sashabaw Elementary School PTA.

The portion of the meeting honoring Founders' Day will be conducted by Mrs. Glenn Bernier, school historian.

Orchard Lake Offered Island

Would Be Memorial to County Pioneer

ORCHARD LAKE — Apple Island, the acknowledged burial ground of Chief Pontiac, has been offered as a gift to the new city of Orchard Lake Village.

The 35-acre island near the center of Orchard Lake would be maintained as a nature preserve and memorial to Willis G. Ward, member of a pioneering Oakland County family.

Making the offer are Ward's two children, Mrs. Frederick S. Strong Jr., 4375 Pontiac Trail, and Harold L. Ward, 142 Ottawa, Pontiac.

Mrs. Strong's husband, an Orchard Lake city councilman, has asked that the question of accepting the gift be put on the April 5 ballot here.

In seeking the endorsement, the family noted it hoped the island would be kept in its natural state.

WARD HOME

Now covered with woods, the island was the site of the Ward home for a few years after World War I.

Strong said that the elder Ward, who owned considerable property in the area, was a "nature lover above all things."

"He hoped to keep the lake as he saw it as a little boy," Strong said.

As a child, Ward had come to the area from Saginaw with his family. His father, David, was a prominent lumberman and property owner. Willis died in 1944 at the age of 83.

Strong noted that the principal cost to the city in maintaining the island would be protecting it from vandals.

Utica Schools Order Buses

UTICA — Contracts have been awarded by the school board which will give the Utica School District 20 new school buses for use beginning next fall.

Fourteen buses now in the fleet of about 70 will be traded in, giving the district a net increase of six additional buses over the present number.

The contract for the 20 chassis, including the trade-in value of the 14 older buses, amounts to $50,793, and went to R.O. O'Brien of Detroit.

Great Lakes Coach of Dearborn was awarded an $88,980 contract for the Bluebird models which they will put on the chassis.

Boyle Has List of Antidotes for Boredom

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Boredom, some doctors believe, is one of the world's most widespread diseases. It can cripple, it can kill.

Boredom can strike at any age. Some people give the impression they were born yawning.

But almost everyone, sooner or later, suffers a season of ennui. He wears of chasing skirts, dollars or dreams. He gets a tired feeling that he has seen about all he wants to see, done everything he can do, and met everybody he cares to say hello to.

These are symptoms of a drying-up of the wellsprings of the human spirit, and can turn a man into an ambulant vegetable, more partner to death than life.

STILL TO BE DONE
One of the ways to fight the glums at such times is to sit down and make a catalog of interesting things that you enough to yell out, "Stop the haven't done, but still might—if you'd just climb out of the doldrums."

For example, here is a sample list of undone possibilities by one who has never—Wrestled an alligator.
Shot a sitting duck.
Written a poem on an electric typewriter.

Rescued a pretty girl from an ivory tower or a boa constrictor.
Played a game of contract bridge, badminton, or squash.
Got a news scoop important to a wet martini.

Won an argument with a woman, a policeman, or my employer.
Earned a medal for bravery, or been court-martialed for cowardice.
Met an owner of a Rolls-Royce who had ever been robbed by a hitchhiker.

Received a love letter from a red-haired girl whose father owned a gold mine and a chain of liquor stores.
Bulldozed a steer, roped a calf, or broke up a gang of rustlers.

Complained about mother and father to a psychoanalyst, or visited a Gypsy fortune-teller.

Responded to the coaxing plea of a vaudeville magician, "And now will some member of the audience please step up on the stage?"

Learned how to repair a computer, fix a leaky faucet, or do needlepoint.

Had tea with the queen in Buckingham Palace, or shared a friendly rib with Lyndon Johnson at a ranch barbecue.

Bored; how can anyone possibly be bored in a world so full of so many fascinating things yet to do?

Foreign News Commentary

China Key to Viet Military Situation

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
The United States, to the world and specifically to the Soviet Union and the United Nations, clearly has stated its hope that there be no extension of the war in Viet Nam.

President Johnson has declared the U.S. air strikes against North Vietnamese staging and supply areas a response "appropriate and fitting" to the Hanoi-ordered attack on an American compound in South Viet Nam in which eight Americans died.

In the United Nations, U.S. chief delegate Adlai Stevenson declared that "our objective is a peaceful settlement."

Yet it was clear that, militarily, the answer would lie less with the Communist North Viet Nam capital of Hanoi than with Peking, 2,000 miles to the north.

As to the chances of a negotiated settlement, Peking also would have a hand as would Moscow, now believed counseling the North Vietnamese that slower methods would in the end, be more effective in their cause.

Despite many bellicose statements that "aggression against North Viet Nam is aggression against China," the Red Chinese have shown remarkable caution in avoiding a direct clash with the United States in Southeast Asia.

Beginning last May, the Chinese issued numerous emphatic warnings against any U.S. air attacks on the Ho Chi Minh trail which is a communist supply route between North and South Viet Nam by way of Laos.

But when the action came, they backed away.

They failed similarly to react against the U.S. air strike in the Gulf of Tonkin last August.

GREATER RISKS
Nonetheless, any major U.S. action in North Viet Nam is considered to carry with it far greater risks of involvement with the Red Chinese than in Laos.

Since August, the Chinese are reported to have transferred to the Hanoi area at least 36 obsolescent MIG jet fighters believed to be flown by North Vietnamese pilots.

In all their various warnings, the Chinese have given no hints as to the form their reaction might take.

Southeast Asia observers believe it unlikely that the Chinese would undertake an action similar to Korea both because of more difficult transportation problems and because without Russian help they would have no real defenses against U.S. aerial attack on their cities.

PROVEN METHOD
However, they could use the proven method of "volunteers" in either Laos or Viet Nam or they could step up pressures elsewhere, such as against Thailand.

The threat to Thailand already is apparent in the Peking announcement that it would support a "patriotic front" in an attempt to overthrow the Thai government.

In Viet Nam, the Communists already have made known their peace terms.

The liberation front, which is the political arm of the Viet Cong guerrillas, has said that first it would demand recognition of the independence and sovereignty of South Viet Nam and the departure of U.S. forces.

Then they would join a coalition government which would be willing to negotiate for reunification with North Viet Nam.

The end result would be that the fighting lines then would move to the borders of Thailand and Malaysia.

Furor in Congress Over Prayer Ruling Has Faded to Whisper

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the most discussed topics of the 1964 congressional session — prayer in public schools — has faded to a mere whisper this year.

The pressure that led to the 150 bills on the subject has not been in evidence the first month of the present session.

The volume of mail which bombarded members following the Supreme Court ruling banning the reading of an official prayer in New York public schools has dwindled to a trickle.

Only about 20 bills to get around the court ruling have been introduced in the House and only one in the Senate. Most

146 SUCH BILLS

Last year 146 such bills were introduced in the House and more than half a dozen in the Senate.

A petition to force a House showdown vote fell about 45 signatures short of the 218 required to make it effective.

There are several explanations for the apparent lack of interest this year. The principal one is that the session still is young.

Also, Frank J. Becker, New York Republican whose amendment drew the most attention last year, has retired from the House. Becker has promised to continue the fight as a private citizen.

NO RENEWAL

There is no congressional evidence of renewal of the campaign for school prayer by the Youth for Christ organization, which helped stir up legislative interest in 1964 with a postcard campaign.

The public outcry was immediate and immense when the court announced its landmark 6-1 decision June 25, 1962, that the reading of an official prayer in public school violates the First Amendment declaration that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion."

The prayer bills continued to pour in even after the court took pains in two decisions handed down on June 17, 1963, to explain that it was not attacking the religious basis of American life, rather that it was trying to insure that "in the relationship between man and religion the state is firmly committed to a position of neutrality."

Gradually, toward the end of the last congressional session, the pendulum began to swing away from enactment of a prayer bill. A major factor was testimony from clergymen who argued that by taking compulsory religion out of the public schools the court was reaffirming the personal nature of religion and reinforcing the historic independence of church from state. If Project Prayer is to get rolling again, the impetus will probably have to come from the folks back home. So far, they just haven't taken pen in hand.

Some Key Dems Less Assertive

Dirksen Staunch LBJ Backer on Viet

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is finding in an old but friendly foe, Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, just about his staunchest congressional supporter for the course he has taken in Viet Nam.

While some leading Democrats have been silent or cautious in their comments, Dirksen has put himself squarely behind the President. Dirksen says a "dominant majority" of Senate Republicans also back Johnson's stand.

It wasn't until Tuesday that Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, volunteered public support for the President's policy of retaliating on North Viet Nam military bases for the Viet Cong attacks on U.S. personnel in South Viet Nam.

Fulbright was asked if he thought the President had done the right thing in ordering U.S. air strikes. The Arkansas Democrat confined his answer to "yes."

NOT INCLUDED

The foreign relations committee chairman took occasion to say that he was "neither disgruntled nor grumbled" by not having been included in White House conferences in which Johnson discussed Viet Nam developments with Senate and House leaders.

In contrast, Dirksen told a news conference Tuesday that he is flatly opposed to the United States' pulling out of South Viet Nam. He said he thinks such a withdrawal would only invite the Communists to overrun the rest of Asia.

He rejected proposals, which have been made by several Democratic senators, for negotiations to bring about the neutralization of Viet Nam. "Neutralism is like surrender and as such it has no place in my book," he said. Dirksen said Republicans are deeply concerned about the lack of security which permitted guerrillas to advance to the edge of a U.S. air field and lob in a damaging hail of mortar fire. He indicated he thinks it is up to the administration's military leaders to solve that problem.

Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, one of those who has criticized U.S. policy in South Viet Nam, demanded to know in a statement what steps are being taken to tighten security. He said the United States may be courting another Pearl Harbor by concentrating aircraft carriers of the 7th Fleet off the Vietnamese coast where they might be vulnerable to surprise attack.

The area drained by the Congo River was practically unknown until the middle of the 19th century. King Leopold II of the Belgians was the first to recognize the region's potential and order extensive exploration.

CHINATOWN — This is narrow and crowded Grant Avenue, main street of San Francisco's Chinatown and mecca for tourists. A Chinatown spokesman says its fancy facades hide poverty and slum conditions. The street is so narrow that Saturday's Chinese New Year's parade will be banned from this street for the first time. Fire department officials have forced it to nearby Market Street.

'Fancy Fronts Hide Chinatown's Slums'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Poverty?" asked one San Francisco's famous Chinatown — that touch of the exotic Far East for thousands of tourists each year — is a facade for a poverty-stricken community, says a Chinese banker who wants to improve conditions.

Behind the fancy bright neon signs, gold-leaf dragons, expensive shop fronts and tempting restaurant entrances are sweat shops, overcrowded apartments and — in recent years — neglected children, says Jun Ke Choy.

Choy, 74, assistant vice president and manager of the Chinatown branch of the San Francisco Federal Savings and Loan Association, said most Chinatown residents know the conditions are bad. They don't talk about it.

"There's nothing quaint about the place to the people who live there," Choy said. "Scratch the surface of Chinatown — and you find a slum."

The word "slum" draws hard glances from those who live there. They are a proud, hard-working people.

Hurst: 'Four in the Floor'

Dropout Now Runs Million-Dollar Firm

DETROIT (UPI) — George Hurst was never much of a student.

"I never attended high school," he said.

"And I think they let me out of grade school just to get rid of me," he adds laughing.

But Hurst, now 38, has done all right since he left school in Little Ferry, N. J., at the age of 14.

He now runs a multimillion dollar auto supply firm, Hurst-Campbell, Inc., of Glenside, Pa. and his name is a byword with the speed and performance set.

GEARSHIFT LEVERS
Hurst makes the gearshift levers for the "four on the floor" that hot-rodders would rather have over the "three on the tree."

For the uninitiated, "four on the floor" is a manual transmission, four forward speeds, mounted on the floor of a car. "Three on a tree" is a more conventional gearshift mounted on the steering column.

Proving that it's no fad, Hurst sold 250,000 of these last year as his firm did a $5-million business. He hopes to do even better this year and is moving into another field — selling aluminum spoke wheels to car enthusiasts.

Hurst admits he's come a long way since he went to work at Wright Aeronautical in Paterson, N.J., in World War II, building aircraft engines.

PLANE CRASHED
On his 17th birthday, Hurst enlisted in the Navy and became a gunner on a torpedo bomber. His plane crashed on an aircraft carrier and his hands were crushed. The tendons in his left hand were operated on again recently for the war wounds.

Hurst spent 10 years in the Navy. His last duty assignment was at the Naval Air Station in Willow Grove, Pa., and it was there he developed a reputation as an auto mechanic, thanks to a skipper with an unusual taste in automobiles.

After rebuilding a 540K Mercedes touring car from the 1930s Hurst put a Cadillac engine in a Lincoln Continental for the same skipper. In the process, Hurst said he got to know his way around Philadelphia auto shops.

He left the Navy in 1954 and set up a small shop to build special race cars. He went into a couple of other ventures, including the manufacture of bumper guards for Volkswagen, before he started in the gearshift business in the fall of 1960.

He hit the auto market at the start of its current boom period. The four-speed transmission became popular and the Hurst shift lever — or linkage, as it's called — became increasingly favored on the drag strips.

A throwback to the days before World War II when all cars were so-equipped, Hurst said the four-shift is popular with people who like to have "fun" driving.

Hurst describes himself as a man who made a hobby pay off. "I'm an inventor," he said, adding that he's now working on some highway safety items.

$8,000 Blaze Hits Waterford House

Fire at 4:49 a.m. today caused an estimated $5,000 damage to a house at 4952 Sherwell, Waterford Township, and an additional $3,000 damage to contents. The frame building used as a summer home is owned by John Rudtke of Detroit.

Firemen said the blaze started in the utility room and spread to the living room and kitchen. Cause of the fire is undetermined.

Manager Optimistic on U.S. Aid

Recertification of the city's workable program for community improvement is just a matter of time, according to a report last night by City Manager Joseph A. Warren.

Housing and Home Finance Agency officials (HHFA) had rejected Pontiac's workable program because of a lack of systematic housing code enforcement.

Warren said that a plan to begin an enforcement plan was worked out last week in a meeting with HHFA representatives.

Warren added that he was optimistic that Pontiac's workable program would be recertified. Recertification would permit continued federal financial aid to local housing projects.

INITIAL INSPECTIONS

The plan calls for two inspectors to make initial inspections on a part-time basis. Follow-up referral inspections would take another 32 hours per week.

Warren said that an amendment to the workable program, which HHFA officials took back with them after their meeting here, would be presented at next week's commission meeting.

Pep Pill Parties Are Described

WASHINGTON (AP) — They call them yellow jackets and red devils and other picturesque names.

But from New York to California, from campus to slum hangout, they can mean trouble and wrecked lives.

A youthful psychiatrist, who worked his way in among golf-ball and pep pill addicts and attended their "snee" parties gave the House Interstate Commerce Committee a vivid picture of the problem Tuesday.

"The problem is like an iceberg, most of it being under the surface," Dr. John B. Griffith, director of the Oklahoma Mental Health Planning Committee, told congressmen.

BOOTLEG TRAFFIC

They are considering a bill aimed at curbing the bootleg traffic in depressant and stimulant drugs, specifically barbiturates and amphetamines. Griffith was invited to tell them about his research project in and around Oklahoma City.

He found that Oklahoma City has only three dozen or so hard narcotics addicts; it has 1,000 to 5,000 persons addicted to barbiturates and amphetamines.

The misuse of the drugs — valuable medical aids when prescribed by a physician — was not confined to "people who don't take a bath or don't go to church," said Griffith. One problem, Griffith said, is when a physician writes a prescription that can be filled in a pharmacy for a person's weight.

FEEL GOOD

The patient keeps refilling it, said Griffith, and "they feel so good they become habituated to it and go down hill."

This, he said, is "usually the root where middle and upper class people are concerned."

Griffith noted that college students have been known to use the pep pills to help them cram during exams. One student Griffith found out about "was making $200 a week selling the pills during exams. He was using his mother's prescription."

The psychiatrist told the committee he attended a party where drug users emptied the contents of an ordinary inhaler, which was equal to 30 tablets of amphetamine, soaked the contents in water "and shot it into themselves intravenously."

$100,000 for DIT

DETROIT (AP) — The D. M. Ferry Jr. Trustee Corp. has granted $100,000 to the Detroit Institute of Technology. The grant is the largest in the school's history, DIT President Wesley F. Barich said.

Tale of Two Personalities

Attorney Tries to Untangle Double Life

CHICAGO (UPI)—An attorney tried today to untangle the stranger-than-fiction story of television personality John "Fritz" Johnson, who is apparently an Ohio salesman believed drowned nearly eight years ago.

Johnson, a "sophisticate" who used to go on dates in a hearse equipped with a cocktail bar, was hospitalized in Omaha, Neb., for 10 days of extensive medical tests.

Fingerprints taken after two Ohio men said Johnson was a "dead ringer" for their long lost brother indicated that Johnson indeed was Lawrence Joseph Bader, an Akron, Ohio salesman declared legally dead after he never returned from a Lake Erie fishing trip in 1957.

Johnson said he has no recollection of a previous life as Lawrence Bader. But Bader's two brothers, John and Richard, said yesterday they are convinced Johnson is the same man.

"He is the same person," said John Bader, who met with Johnson's attorney, Harry Farnham.

INTO NIGHT
Also at the meetings, which extended into the night, was Robert Knapp, brother of Bader's wife. Mrs. Marylou Bader, who collected $40,000 in life insurance after her husband's disappearance, has not remarried. She has four children.

Johnson, Nebraska state archery champion and television sports director at KETV in Omaha, is married to a former Chicago divorcee and model. The couple has two children.

Knapp said Mrs. Bader still considers herself legally bound to Bader. "Her main concern is that Larry have the proper medical attention," he said. "She is not thinking beyond that point and she has no immediate plans to see Fritz Johnson."

Knapp said the four Bader children know of the surprising development "but they're not old enough to grasp the problem. They're amused and intrigued by it."

IN LOVE

Farnham said Johnson "is in love and devoted to his present wife" and "wants to preserve what he now has." But Farnham said, "under no circumstances does he (Johnson) want to shirk any responsibilities in Ohio."

The two Bader brothers indicated they knew of no legal steps being taken against Johnson. "Our concern now is Larry's immediate future," John Bader said.

"It's kind of hard to take up life as before, especially when he feels he is Fritz Johnson,"

Could Rival Teamsters in Size

UAW Pops Merger Question to IUE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United Auto Workers union, which claims a membership of almost 1.2 million, is sounding out the 300,000-member International Union of Electrical Workers about the possibility of a merger.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther told newsmen yesterday his union had submitted a merger proposal to the IUE. He said union could rival the Teamsters as the biggest in the nation. The Teamsters' membership is between 1.5 million and 1.7 million.

The IUE spokesman said the merger proposal came as a surprise. There was no comment from the IUE's president, James B. Carey.

The proposal undoubtedly will be on the agenda at the IUE's executive board meeting here next Tuesday and Wednesday. Both unions are AFL-CIO affiliates.

Reuther's announcement of the merger proposal, which he said had been approved by the UAW's executive board, came as a surprise to most observers. Such matters are usually handled quietly and not made public until agreement is all but certain.

The consolidation, proposal was seen here as a bid by Reuther to increase union bargaining power with some of the nation's giant corporations — most notably General Electric Co.

Reuther said the merger would provide "a practical resolution of what we think is an overlapping collective bargaining situation." The historic lines of industry jurisdiction have become blurred over the years since the two unions were founded, he said.

"More and more we're bargaining with the same corporations — General Motors, Ford and General Electric," he added.

He was asked whether a UAW-IUE merger might change General Electric's traditionally rigid stance in bargaining. IUE is now the major union dealing with GE on a national basis.

"The kind of union that this could make possible could have a constructive influence on the negative attitude of General Electric," Reuther said with a smile.

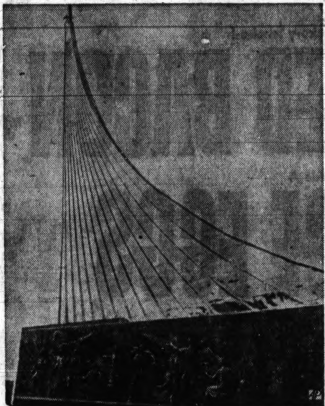

Schoolchildren on the Increase

The number of school-age children in Oakland County increased again last year but for the fourth consecutive year the number of preschool children decreased.

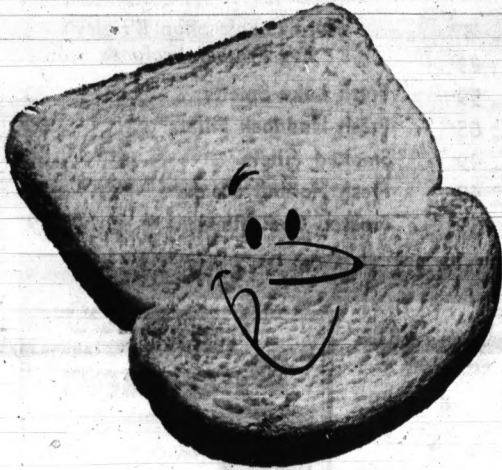

Census figures released today by Oakland Schools revealed that there are 245,126 children between the ages of 5 and 19. This is an increase of 11,223 over 1963.

The number of children under five decreased by 1,806 from 1963 to 1964 last year. Peak year for the preschoolers was 1960 with a count of 91,124.

Redistricting Rulings Increase National Interest in Nebraska's One-House Legislature

(Editor's Note — After 29 years of existence, Nebraska's unicameral legislature is receiving new attention. The reason: The Supreme Court ruling ordering reapportionment of state legislatures on the basis of "one man, one vote." The following first of two special reports on the subject gives the background of Nebraska's one-house lawmaking institution.)

By ODELL HANSON

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The nation's only one-house legislature is receiving more attention than a debutante at a coming-out party these days, and Nebraska couldn't be happier.

The U.S. Supreme Court's historic "one-man, one-vote" ruling has prompted the interest.

Not a few students of government in not a few states are asking: If both houses of a two-branch legislature must be apportioned on a population-only basis, why bother with two houses?

Or, as Nebraska Gov. Frank Morrison is given to asking: "Why run the milk through the separator twice?"

IS ACCEPTED

Nebraska's unicameral legislature has been in operation for 28 years, and by now stands thoroughly accepted. Not one serious move to revert to the bicameral has developed in recent years, and detractors are hard to find in the Cornhusker state.

A survey of 68 present and former legislators in 1961 turned up only four who favored returning to the two-house system. Whether Nebraska's system will serve as prototype for state legislatures generally remains to be seen, but it's receiving much scrutiny.

"We haven't gotten so much attention since 1937 when the unicameral-bicameral issue was the national high school debate subject," said Hugo Srb, a former two-house senator who has served as clerk of the one-house legislature since its inception.

EYES ARE TURNED

"The eyes of the nation are turning to Nebraska," says Morrison. "We have the biggest chance for advertisement the state has ever had."

Former Gov. Dennis J. Roberts of Rhode Island, chairman of a constitutional convention in his state, spent three days inspecting the Unicameral — Nebraskaans use the word as a proper noun — and interviewing its leaders, and went away determined to urge the system for his state.

What visitors are finding in the marble columned legislative chamber in Nebraska's showpiece statehouse is a 49-member lawmaking body, currently in biennial session and wrestling with many of the same knotty problems, notably spending and taxes, that are occupying bicameral legislatures elsewhere.

REGULAR SESSIONS

Regular sessions are held each two years, special sessions when needed — nine of them in the last 28 years.

The lieutenant governor presides over the legislature. Senators designate one of their group as speaker, but the post is largely honorary. Hired employees include the clerk and attorneys to draft and review bills.

The legislature has 15 standing committees, the principal function of which is to give public hearing to bills and decide whether to kill them or send them to the floor for further action. Assignments to standing committees are made by a 13-member committee on committees, whose chairman is elected by the legislature as a whole, and whose other members are selected in regional caucuses.

MEETING TIMES

Senators meet as a legislature each forenoon, Monday through Friday, and devote their afternoons to committee hearings.

Until this year, the Unicameral had 43 members. A reapportionment bill passed two years ago increased the number to 49 and placed in effect a new constitutional amendment increasing terms of office from two to four years.

Originally, the legislature was apportioned on a population basis. But in 1962 voters approved a constitutional amendment giving 20 to 30 per cent weight to area, and the legislature employed the area factor in redistricting in 1963. The U.S. District Court has since objected to the area amendment and the present legislature is under court order to reapportion once again.

The Unicameral had its birth in 1934 when its chief proponent, the late U.S. Sen. George W. Norris, wore out two sets of automobile tires touring the state to drum up support for the necessary constitutional amendment. Although widely acclaimed as the father of REA — Rural Electrification Administration — and TVA — Tennessee Valley Authority — Norris considered the Unicameral his top achievement.

CHANGES APPROVED

Voters approved the constitutional change in 1934 and the 1935 legislature wrote the laws necessary to put the single house into operation in 1937.

Norris was particularly insistent that the Unicameral be nonpartisan.

"Our state ought to be conducted on business principles. The issues which divide the great political parties in our country should in no way interfere with the business operations of our state."

"If the divorcing of our judges and our school officials from partisan politics is a good thing, if their official duties have no connection with partisan politics, why not extend the same theory to members of the legislature, whose official duties, nowhere, nor in any degree, connect them with partisan politics."

UNDER ATTACK

The nonpartisan feature has come under more attack in Nebraska than any other, chiefly at the urging of party organizations, both Republican and Democrat. An initiative petition drive to put before voters a constitutional amendment restoring partisanship fell short last year for lack of valid signatures.

Morrison, who favors the nonpartisan feature, says he feels a governor's recommendation receives fairer and more objective analysis from the nonpartisan body than it would from a partisan legislature.

"I've talked with governors and others in partisan legislature states and they tell me many legislators will oppose a bill they believe in, simply to embarrass the governor for political reasons. They don't want him to look too good. Or they will support a bill they don't really believe in out of partisan motives."

Steamship lines expect to carry 70,000 trans-Atlantic passengers in 1965, about the same level as the previous year.

Different Drinks From Bahamas

There is nothing quite so warming in the winter as a breeze from the tropics... and the breeze that just blew on us is a collection of popular non-alcoholic drinks from various overseas experts in the Bahamas.

"Stubbs" of the Carlton House in Nassau there has prepared a tongue-tingling mixture called a Bloody Shame.

Bloody Shame
3 oz. tomato juice
Juice of ½ lime
Dash of Worcestershire sauce
Dash Tabasco (or hot sauce)
Salt and pepper to taste

Shake all ingredients along with ice cubes and serve in an old-fashioned glass.

And, for the little dears who want their frosted party drinks to say it with flowers there is Hibiscus Bloom, created by Buster Hall of the famous Emerald Beach Hotel in Nassau.

Hibiscus Bloom
2 oz. apricot juice
2 oz. grapefruit juice
2 oz. orange juice
1 dollop of eggwhite
2 drops bitters
2 drops grenadine
Combine all ingredients with crushed ice in a blender and mix for 30 seconds. These are gala drink recipes that suit people of any age—and you'll find them a wonderful drink menu for the teen-age contingent.

Waldorf Salad

Making Waldorf Salad? If the apples you plan to use have a red skin, don't pare them. The original Waldorf Salad was a mixture of apple, celery and mayonnaise—but nowadays cooks usually add walnuts.

Nigeria has about a dozen major—language groupings—with breakdown into some 200 tribal dialects.

Salad Oil Pastry Not to Be Stored

Cooks who must avoid the use of solid shortenings will be pleased to know that a most acceptable pie crust may be made with safflower or other oil.

FLAKY PASTRY

2 cups sifted all purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup salad oil
¼ cup plus 1 tablespoon ice water OR cold milk

Sift together flour and salt. Combine oil and ice water or milk in measuring cup. Beat with fork until creamy.

Immediately pour all at once over flour mixture. Toss and mix with fork. Form into ball; divide in half.

Shape each half into a flat round. Roll between two 12-inch squares of wax paper (Wipe table with damp cloth; paper will not slip.)

Chicken Casserole

Remove top sheet; place dough in pan upside down; peel off bottom paper. Fit and trim.

Roll out top crust in the same manner, placing over filling. Cut gashes for escape of steam.

For one crust, divide ingredients. If wanted for unbaked filling, fit into pie pan as directed. Prick entire surface of crust. Bake 10 to 12 minutes at 475 degrees.

Always prepare this pastry just before using. Do not store.

Sardine Sandwich Heated in Oven

This new open sandwich combination will be applauded!

Village Sardine Sandwiches

1 can (3½ ounces) brisling sardines
1 tablespoon chili sauce
1½ tablespoons mayonnaise
4 slices bread
1 medium tomato, thinly sliced
8 slices bacon, crisply cooked
Drain sardines; mash fine with chili sauce and mayonnaise.
Toast bread; spread one side of each slice with the sardine mixture making sure edges of bread are covered. Top with tomato slices and bacon.

Arrange on foil or cookie sheet and place in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until hot—5 to 10 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 2 to 4 servings. Double recipe if desired.

Freeze Homemade Creamed Chicken as Time-Saver

NEW YORK (UPI)—Frozen creamed chicken, made at home, can be an economical convenience food for preparing on short notice such main courses as souffles, croquettes, chicken pie, casserole and sauced dishes.

Four 4-pound ready-to-cook stewing chickens, bought when they're sale priced, make enough creamed chicken to provide the basis for eight main dishes of six servings each.

One basic recipe and two variations were developed by Ann McGregor, home economist for a leading home freezer manufacturer. Here they are:

Heat 3 quarts of water to boiling point. Place cut-up chickens in deep kettle, add the water, 4 onions, 1 cup of celery tops, 1/4 cup of salt, 4 bay leaves and 3 to 4 carrots. Simmer, covered, about 3 to 4 hours, or until tender.

Add more boiling water if needed to keep chicken covered. Cool by placing kettle in sink filled with cold water. Stir mixture to hasten cooling.

Strain broth and freeze separately for use in soups, casseroles and gravies. Bone and dice meat, which should yield 12 cups.

Add diced chicken to following sauce. Stir 1 1/2 cups of flour into 1 1/2 cups of melted butter or margarine. Add 6 cups of top milk.

Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and smooth. Salt and pepper to taste. Divide into 8 freezer containers that will hold 2 1/2 cups each, plus room for expansion. Freeze immediately.

To make tropical chicken, defrost one portion of basic mixture in saucepan over low heat. Sauce 1/4 cup of blanched, silvered almonds in 1 tablespoon of butter or margarine until light gold. Set aside.

Mix 1/4 cup of milk with 1 beaten egg yolk and add to hot mixture, stirring constantly. Do not allow to boil. Add 1/4 teaspoon of salt. Cook 2 minutes.

Add 1 cup of drained pineapple tidbits; continue heating until pineapple is hot. Serve over canned chowmein noodles, toast, or mashed sweet potatoes. Garnish with sauteed almonds.

For avocado chicken defrost, defrost 1 portion of basic chicken mixture in sauce pan over low heat. Add 2 tablespoons each of chopped pineapple and chopped green pepper.

Halve 3 ripe medium-sized avocados lengthwise and pit but do not peel. Sprinkle cut surfaces with total of 2 tablespoons of lemon juice.

Cut small slice from bottom of each avocado half so it will sit firmly in shallow baking pan. Divide heated filling among avocado halves, sprinkle with total of 4 tablespoons of dry bread crumbs and dot with butter. Pour enough hot water into pan just to cover bottom of it. Place in preheated 350-degree oven about 15 minutes until avocados are hot. Serve immediately.

Poppy Seed Noodles

Ever add poppy seeds to buttered noodles? Two to three teaspoons of the seeds will be plenty for four servings of the noodles.

Hearty Food for Valentines

Pontiac Press Food Editor

What else would we talk about this week, but food for Valentine's Day?

Fortunately, the color associated with the day is often found in food. And heart shapes are easy to make from anything.

Why not start with breakfast and spoon the pancakes out into heart shapes on the griddle? The youngsters will love them.

Meat loaf for dinner can be "hearty." No pan? It doesn't matter. Just pack the meat into a round cake tin to give the basic shape.

With a spoon form an indentation in the top. Cut a slice from each side to form the point at the bottom.

Meat and Potato Heart O' Gold
1/2 cup cracker crumbs
1/4 cup milk
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce

2 tablespoons salt
1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
2 eggs
2 pounds ground beef

1 package instant mashed potato granules
1/4 cup catchup
1 tablespoon melted butter

1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon milk
Paprika

In a bowl mix together thoroughly the cracker crumbs, milk, onion, Worcestershire sauce, salt, poultry seasoning, eggs, and ground beef. Pack meat into a heart-shaped cake pan or into an 8- or 9-inch round cake pan.

Turn out onto a foil lined shallow baking pan. (Fashion a heart from round form by spooning out the top. Cut a slice from each side to form point at the bottom. Add cut-off meat to pad out heart.) Bake in a 350 degree oven 40 minutes.

Meanwhile prepare mashed potatoes, using 3 cups water, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, and 2 envelopes of mashed potato granules.

Transfer heart-shaped loaf to an oven-proof platter or chop plate; spread catchup over top. Spoon potatoes in a border around meat heart. With a spatula smooth sides.

Combine the melted butter, mustard, and milk. Brush over top of potatoes. Sprinkle with paprika.

Return to oven to bake 20 to 30 minutes. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Valentine candy doesn't have to be heart-shaped. Chopped candied cherries fleck it with the appropriate color. This recipe is a quickie.

Valentine Cherry Squares
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons milk
1 package fluffy white frosting mix

1/2 cup chopped candied cherries
1/2 teaspoon almond extract

Melt soft butter with milk in top of double boiler. Add frosting mix; stir until smooth.

Heat over rapidly boiling water 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add cherries and flavoring.

Pour into buttered pan 9x5x3. Let stand until firm. Makes one pound or 32 squares.

And how about cherry pink meringues, either for the family's dessert, or for that party you're planning?

Cherry Pink Meringues
3 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar

1 cup sifted granulated sugar
1 teaspoon white vinegar
1/2 teaspoon almond extract

12 drops red food color
1/4 cups miniature marshmallows

Ice cream Sundae sauce
Combine whites and cream of tartar; beat until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in sugar and then vinegar and almond extract. Continue beating mixture until stiff. Add and blend food color evenly.

Cover cookie sheet with brown paper. Draw six 3 1/2" circles. Pile 2 heaping tablespoons meringue mixture in center of each.

To make shell quickly hollow out bottom of all six with the rounded part of a teaspoon. Dip spoon in hot water as needed to make smooth meringues.

Put rest of meringue mixture in pastry tube and finish top edge by dividing among the 6 shells. Layer marshmallows in bottom of each shell.

Bake in very low oven, 150 degrees, 3 1/2 hours. Remove from oven and peel off brown paper at once. Let meringues dry on rack.

Serve filled with scoops of either cherry nugget or checkerboard cherry-vanilla ice cream and marshmallow, chocolate or crushed cherry sauce. 4 servings.

This Cheese Dressing Made in Blender

To make a delicious oil-vinegar cheese salad dressing, place 1/2 cup light vinegar, 1/4 cup salad oil, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup American blue cheese and 1/4 teaspoon sugar in an electric blender or a jar with a tight lid. Blend until mixture is emulsified. Stir in another 1/2 cup of crumbled blue cheese so that the dressing will be lumpy.

Creative Cook Freezes, Dries Onions

Mrs. John Adomitis of East Walton Boulevard has been experimenting with onions lately. She has bought a large sack of them in the fall and feared they would spoil.

So she chopped some, poured boiling water over them in a colander and froze them in plastic pint containers. Others she grated and froze in ice cube trays. The frozen onion cubes are now stored in plastic bags in her freezer.

the MEAT That's a Treat to Eat!

SPAGHETTI STROGANOFF—Spaghetti stretches the last of a beef roast into a delicious main dish in this adaptation of a famous recipe. This luscious leftover idea comes from the National Macaroni Institute for all homemakers who may be budget-conscious this time of year.

Leftover Beef Roast Fixed as Stroganoff

Aware that many homemakers are budget-conscious this time of the year, the National Macaroni Institute has come up with new and delicious ways to utilize leftovers.

A beef roast isn't such an extravagance if it can be stretched to serve for one more meal. And the last bit of the roast doesn't seem at all like "leftovers" when it's in Spaghetti Stroganoff—an adaptation of the classic recipe.

With a few packages of spaghetti, egg noodles and elbow macaroni within easy reach on a cupboard shelf you're ready for any budget emergency, as well as for the second day use of roasts.

Spaghetti Stroganoff
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces spaghetti
1/4 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup beef bouillon
1 can (8 ounces) sliced broiled mushrooms, drained

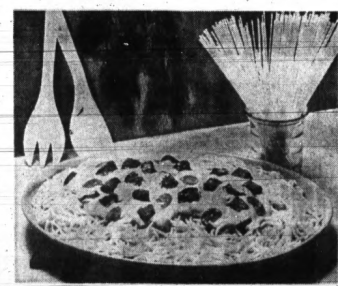

2 cups cooked cubed roast beef
1 1/2 teaspoons finely chopped dill
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup sour cream

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Add onion to butter in skillet; cook 5 minutes or until tender. Mix in flour. Gradually add bouillon. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Boil 1 minute. Add mushrooms, beef, dill, salt and pepper.

Cook over low heat 5 minutes or until heated. Slowly add sour cream, stirring constantly. Serve over spaghetti.

Foil Will Protect
Do your pie edges get darker than you like? Before baking the pie, cover the rim with a strip of aluminum foil, then remove the foil the last 10 or 15 minutes of the baking time.

Dieters Can Enjoy Special Sauces

Basic meat and poultry dinners are transformed into memorable feasts when you serve the meat with a temptingly sweet and spicy fruit sauce.

Remember, though, that extra trimmings can add excessive, unwanted calories. Unless you employ some calorie-cutting strategy in the kitchen.

For the benefit of waistline watchers, all of the delectable sauces presented here have been calorie-trimmed to a mere fraction of their usual calorie counts.

Cook's secret is that no sugar is used in these recipes. Instead of sugar, the calorie-free sweetener, sucaryl, provides natural-tasting sweetness at no calorie expense.

Note that the calorie savings are truly worthwhile. Count only 27 calories per serving for the tantalizing good cranberry-pineapple sauce, designed to be served with your best baked chicken.

And the delightful Apricot Sauce for Duck adds up to just 32 calories per serving (less than one-third the calorie count had it been sweetened with sugar).

California Raisin Sauce
 1/2 cup white raisins
 1 cup water
 2 tablespoons cornstarch
 1/2 cup sucaryl-sweetened grape jelly
 Drain pineapple; set fruit aside. Combine the pineapple
 1/2 cup orange juice
 1 tablespoon sucaryl solution
 1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon allspice
 Rinse raisins. Blend water in to cornstarch. Add remaining ingredients, including the raisins. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until thick and clear. Serve hot with baked ham or sliced tongue.

Makes 8 servings, each 1/2 cup serving 48 calories; 0.5 gram protein; no fat; 12 grams carbohydrate. (With sugar 102 calories.)
Cranberry-Pineapple Sauce
 1 1/4 pound can sucaryl-sweetened pineapple chunks

3 tablespoons vinegar
 2 tablespoons sucaryl solution
 2 sticks cinnamon
 10 whole cloves
 2 tablespoons cornstarch
 1 1/4 ounce can condensed chicken broth
 1 cup raw cranberries liquid, vinegar, sucaryl, cinnamon sticks and whole cloves in saucepan.

Heat to boiling, reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat and discard spices.

Combine cornstarch and chicken broth; gradually add to spiced liquid in pan. Add cranberries; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until cranberries pop.

Remove from heat, add pineapple. Serve hot with baked chicken. Makes 16 servings, each 1/2 cup serving 27 calories; 0.5 gram protein; trace of fat; 6.0 grams carbohydrate. (With sugar 81 calories.)

Apricot Sauce for Duck
 2 8 1/2 ounce cans sucaryl-sweetened apricot halves
 1 tablespoon cornstarch
 1 tablespoon sucaryl solution
 1 1/2 teaspoons minced onion
 1 teaspoon soy sauce

Drain one can of the apricot halves and set fruit aside. Blend this liquid into the cornstarch in small saucepan. Puree remaining can of apricots, including liquid; blend with remaining ingredients into the cornstarch mixture.

Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until clear and thick. Remove from heat. Add apricot halves. Serve hot with roast duck.

Makes 6 servings, each 1/4 cup serving 32 calories; trace of protein; no fat; 4.0 grams carbohydrate. (With sugar 104 calories.)

CALIFORNIA RAISIN SAUCE — Calorie-perfect accompaniment for baked ham or sliced tongue. Only California Raisin Sauce provides a perfect accompaniment for baked ham or sliced tongue.

Try Perch Version of Baked Dessert

Here's another version of a favorite custard-fruit dessert.

Peach Caps

2 tablespoons butter, melted
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/4 cup sifted flour
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind
 3 tablespoons lemon juice
 1/2 cup milk

2 eggs, separated
 1 cup diced drained canned peaches

Stir together the butter, sugar, flour and salt; stir in lemon rind, lemon juice and milk. Beat egg whites until stiff. Without washing beater, beat egg yolks slightly and stir into milk mixture; fold in beaten whites, then peaches.

Turn into six 6-ounce custard cups; place in a pan of hot water — have water come almost to top of dessert mixture. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until set — about 35 minutes.

Cool; turn out or serve in cups. Makes 6 servings.

Caper Sauce a Jiffy One

Quickie caper sauce has a special affinity for roast lamb or roast pork.

In a saucepan, put 2 cups of canned apple sauce, 1/2 cup of bottled, drained capers, 2 tablespoons of butter, 2 teaspoons of grated orange rind, 1/4 cup of orange juice, a dash of salt, 1/2 cup of mint jelly and 1/4 teaspoon of peppermint extract.

Heat slowly to boiling point. Stir occasionally. Serve hot. Makes 2 cups.

Make Sticky Buns in Muffin Pans

Any sweet dough left after making yeast rolls? Put a little butter and brown sugar and a suspicion of water in muffin-cup wells.

Make the dough into a roll; cut into 1-inch slices; put a slice over the sugar mixture in each muffin-pan well. Bake in a moderate oven and let stand a minute or so before turning out.

To LBJ Payments Deficit Order

Stock Mart Reacts Nervously

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market reacted nervously to President Johnson's order for sweeping measures to "bring an end to our balance of payments deficit."

Airlines and aerospace issues remained generally higher but gains were pared. Eastern Air Lines, which had been up a full point at its best—erased the entire gain.

Earlier, steel performed well, alternating between slight gains and a mixed pattern as doubt prevailed over the outcome of the Johnson steelworkers strike.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 3 at 336.9 with industrials up 1.0, rails off 2 and utilities off 2.

ADVANCE SLICED
Xerox, which had been up more than a point, sliced its advance to 3 points.

All Big Three motors showed fractional losses.

Prices were generally higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Rollins came, the trend became slightly lower on balance, with U.S. Steel and Bethlehem showing fractional losses. Republic Steel held a small gain.

Broadcasting was up about 2. Gains exceeding a point were scored by ANEX, O'Pee Corp., TWA warrants and Dennison. Kirby Petroleum tacked on a point. Fractional gains included Exquisite Form, American Safety Equipment, National Airlines, Mohawk Airlines and D. Kallman, a Dow fractionally was Prairie Oil, Rapid American and Signal Oil "A."

Corporate bonds were narrowly mixed in light trading. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Report Profit by Studebaker

Firm's Earnings Top $8 Million in 1964

SOUTH BEND, Ind., (AP)—Studebaker Corp. bounced from a $16.9 million loss to an $8 million profit a year after quitting its auto making operations in the United States, the firm said Tuesday.

Bryers A. Burlingame, Studebaker president, reported net earnings of $8,064,594 for 1964, which he said were the firm's highest in the past five years and second highest in the last 12 years.

"Our four straight quarters of operating earnings in 1964 were the combined results of ending our automotive losses and the profitability of our 10 other divisions," Burlingame said.

The $8 million 1964 net earnings produced 55 cents a share on sales of $261,755,634. This compared with a net operating loss of $16.9 million, equal to $1.31 a share on sales of $403,314,883.

INDEBTEDNESS
Studebaker's corporate indebtedness has been reduced by $37.7 million as a result of repayments made in 1964 and to date in 1965, the firm said.

Debt which stood at $56.1 million at the beginning of 1964 were reduced to $27.6 million at the end of the year, Burlingame said.

The firm plans to negotiate a change of its remaining debt balance from a short-term to a long-term obligation, he said.

This past year has been a difficult one for Studebaker, Burlingame said, "and there are still problems to be faced in 1965. But the future looks good."

MOVED NORTH

In late 1963, Studebaker abandoned auto building operations at South Bend and moved all its auto production to Canada.

Net earnings in the fourth quarter of 1964 totaled $2,417,454, or 17 cents a share on sales of $61,964,119, the firm said. This compared with a net operating loss in the final quarter of 1963 of $7,064,597, or 51 cents a share on sales of $100,678,997.

Resident Backs Income Tax, but Hits Commission

Labeling potential revenue from a city income tax "surround money," a Pontiac resident last night indicated his support for the levy, but criticized the City Commission.

George Grba, 28 Kimball, told the commission that the tax was in jeopardy because its meaning was not being carried to the public.

"To put it bluntly, the city commissioners are asking the voters for a blank check. No one wants to give anyone a blank check."

Grba, who was a District 4 candidate in last year's primary, added that many of Pontiac's needs result from past neglect.

Foundations: Force in Economic Power

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—Some 15,000 tax-exempt foundations with assets in excess of $16 billion have wide effects on large segments of the U.S. economy.

That is one reason they are under study by the Congress and the Treasury Department.

These foundations are primary sources of funds for education, scientific research, economic studies, religious institutions, overseas developments. They also are a force in the stock market, since the bulk of their assets is in common stocks. And some are major stockholders of a wide assortment of business concerns.

The Treasury says the great majority is above-repurch, but critics say that, controlling stock holdings in some corporations, and financial dealings of the foundation with its donors, officers or trustees.

Some congressional critics go much farther. They charge that some foundations have been used for tax evasion by individual donors and are actually just a tax-exempt device for running business enterprises. They want a special government agency set up to police them.

SPECIFIC ABUSES
The Treasury concedes a minority are out of line with public interest, but thinks laws forbidding specific abuses will take care of that, without penalizing the majority.

The major share of donations by foundations goes to education. Health ranks second, still far behind although gaining in recent years. Closely following are social welfare, scientific research, and international affairs. Smaller sums go to human rights, art, and other fields.

Hubbard is the third Dearborn official to be indicted on such charges.

Public Safety Director George W. Lewis and Police Chief Garrison Clayton were indicted in December. No trial dates have been set.

FACES PRISON
Maximum punishment under the charges would be a year's imprisonment and a $1,000 fine.

Hubbard and his top law-enforcement aides are accused of failing to take proper action when an angry crowd estimated at 400 by some witnesses hurled rocks, eggs and debris at the Dearborn home of Giuseppe Stanzone.

Stanzone, who has sued the three indicted officials and 13 Dearborn policemen for $250,000 damages, said that the crowd erroneously believed he had rented an upstairs flat or sold his home to a Negro family.

He said that among other things the crowd poured sugar into his car's gasoline tank in an hours-long demonstration while police stood by.

MOVED OUT
Stanzone, a concrete contractor, subsequently moved out of the house because, he said, of continued stone-throwing incidents, the strewing of hate literature on his porch and a mysterious fire.

Many times employers simply forgot to file the returns. Thus, a domestic worker may lose coverage he or she is counting on for the future.

LaRock further stated that baby sitters are also in the category of domestic workers and the same provisions apply to them.

News in Brief
Tony Grimaldi, 2505 Reswood, Waterford Township, yesterday reported the theft of a watch valued at $125 from the bedroom of his house.

Scoring Race Hot in Big 10

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten all-games basketball scoring race remains a hot one this season, even though Purdue's Dave Schellhase and Michigan's Cazzie Russell dominate it. Schellhase, once in danger of scoring-minded Russell was in position to take over, came through with a big game against Illinois and strengthened his lead.

Schellhase has 467 points in 16 games for a 29.1 average to Russell's 419 points in 16 games for a 26.1 average. At this stage of the season, Schellhase and Russell should have no difficulty finishing one-two, but after that the scheme tightens. Skip Thoren of Illinois is third with a 22.8 average, pressed by Iowa's Chris Pervall with a 21.0 mark. Six-tenths of a point separates the next three—Minnesota's Lou Hudson with 20.6, Michigan State's Stan Washington with 20.3 and Michigan State's Bill Curtis with 20.0.

Everyone gets a chance to improve Saturday under a full schedule. Michigan State is at Michigan, Illinois at Minnesota, Indiana at Northwestern, Iowa at Ohio State and Wisconsin at Purdue.

Kettering Next for Waterford Mat Squad

Waterford Township wrestlers tuned up for Thursday's annual clash with Kettering by tripping Wayne Memorial, 25-15, Tuesday afternoon.

The victory was the Skippers seventh in 13 tries. Sophomore Tim Thurston won his seventh straight decision after an opening loss at 154 pounds.

The annual All-Sports Trophy competition between Waterford and Kettering is all even at 150 points with the completion of football, cross country and basketball rivalries. The matmen will be vying for 100 points.

Golf Pros Eye Weather

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Howard Keel and Phil Harris, defending champ Jack Nicklaus is one of the best bets to slow down Casper's momentum.

The pros, each teamed with three amateurs, were competing for $2,500 in cash and prizes, but they also were sharpening their games for the 72-hole championship test which begins Thursday. The 6,584-yard par-72 Arizona Country Club course intermittently was bathed in sunshine and dampened by showers Tuesday, and the weatherman predicted more of the same today. Bill Casper Jr., who has already amassed more than $25,000 on the tour this year, figures as the man to beat for the tournament's estimated $100,000 first place money. He was a popular choice in the pro-am, too. One of his partners was former Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, who was on winning pro-am teams twice in the past.

Also on hand for today's event were Mickey Mantle, Don Drysdale, Ralph Kiner and Dizzy Dean of the baseball world, football notables Otto Graham and Charlie Johnson and entertainers Pat Boone, John Raitt,

Teams Homeless Again

BALTIMORE (AP)—The winter sports teams of Johns Hopkins University are homeless again.

The $2.5 million Newton H. White Athletic Center, formally opened last week after a long delay, has been closed for the remainder of the winter by the Baltimore Fire Board.

A capacity crowd of 1,200 turned out last Wednesday as the Johns Hopkins basketball team played its first home game of the season against cross-town rival Loyola. About 500 fans attended another game Thursday night against the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

FIRE BOARD
Then the Fire Board moved in and closed the new structure. The university appealed, but lost.

With construction continuing, building equipment and debris remain near the front steps. Several exits still are boarded up, but even if they were pushed open, the fans would find themselves walking into construction pits.

Johns Hopkins teams hit the road again tonight for home games. The basketball squad will entertain Western Maryland at Gilman School and the wrestlers will take on Swarthmore at Loyola College.

The swimming team never did get to use the sparkling new arena during its brief public opening. The pool still doesn't have any water.

Baptist Five Downs Builders in Overtime
Messiah Baptist Church came up with 11 points in overtime last night to down Booth Builders, 87-78, in Pontiac recreation basketball action.

In other games, All Stars nipped the Hawks, 57-55, Couloco Insurance downed J. R. Neph Heating, 80-65, and Ben Powell's Trucking gained a forfeit decision over McDonald's Drive-In.

'HEY, WATCH IT!' — Missouri's George Flannan seems caught in a squeeze play from two Kansas players as the trio scrambles for a loose ball in last night's Big Eight game. Kansas won, 71-60, to hand Missouri its first loss of the season at home.

N. Carolina State Loses

Duke Star Sends Wolfpack Limping

By The Associated Press
Jack Martin wrecked North Carolina State's 11-game winning streak with 32 points last week.

The Duke junior from Farrell, Pa., did it again Tuesday as he led the sixth-ranked Blue Devils to a 78-67 overtime triumph over the Wolfpack in the top college basketball game of the night.

This time Martin threw in 27 points, including two baskets on a tap-in and layup that put Duke ahead for good in the overtime at 71-67.

It was the sixth straight victory for the Blue Devils who had a tougher time overcoming the Wolfpack on their home court than they did in their 94-74 triumph on State's court a week ago.

Nebraska came through with a road upset over Kansas State 63-57 in the surprise of the night. The Huskers played with only eight men because of injuries and finished with just six when two of the eight fouled out. Nevertheless, they scored their first road victory of the season and their first over Kansas State at Manhattan, Kan., in 22 years.

Grant Simmons led Nebraska with 18 points before he fouled out. The defeat dimmed K-State's hope of repeating as champions of the Big Eight Conference.

BOWLING

Don Roeder of People's Market tumbled the pins at Auburn Lanes for a 213-247-661 performance in the Wednesday Nite League last week and Frank Erznouk hit 234.

The evening before Carl Hayt recorded a 236 and Tom Bartlett a 232-228-635 in the Business League. Auburn's Thursday Night Ladies League listed Daisy Eldon with 220-562 as her team hit 900-2500.

The Wednesday morning Coffee League Women reported 206-517 for Woneta Brunett.

At Huron Bowl that same night, Mark Bowers' 254-634 for Arre Realty took top individual honors in the "A" League, and Andy's Service's eight-point sweep boosted its lead.

The Pontiac Motor Tempest bowlers Friday at Airway Lanes were led by Ray Collins (232-612) and Bill Carter (268-607). Also, Lou Vandricka hit 240-630 and Bernie Greenwood 611.

The Airway First leaguers had a 181 all-spare game by Ruby Palmer, high series went to Ruth Burgess with 224-562, and Barbara Pickett hit 204-561. Marvite Dishmeyer leads by a half-point over runner-up Rochon's Country Shoppe.

The Airway Keglerettes listed Minnie Hamblin with 510-553, and Evelyn Davidson 204-517.

Marge Thornton's 206-204-612 rated attention among the 200 Bowlers Tuesday. The Wednesday Pontiac Motor Inter-Office loop bowlers saw Dick Fuller stand out with 208-214-614.

2 Wayne-Oakland Upsets

BY HERB PETERS

It's not over yet in the Wayne-Oakland basketball race; and there may be several show-downs coming up in the final two weeks before the title is decided.

Clarkston and West Bloomfield saw to that last night with a pair of startling upsets to prolong the outcome.

Clarkston snatched first-place Bloomfield Hills' nine-game winning streak, 78-55, although the Barons still cling to the lead with a 9-2 record.

West Bloomfield (6-5) is out of title consideration, but the Lakers served as spoilers in edging Holly, 66-64, and dropping the Broncos even with Clarkston at 7-4. Idle Northville is in between with a 7-3 mark.

HUSTLE

Hustle was the secret of success for the Wolves and coach Bud McGrath as they came back after lagging, 20-15, in the first period to snatch a 32-28 halftime lead over Hills and then win going away.

Gary Pearson, Dan Fife, and Ron Lippert were the key performers in a fast-breaking offense that swept past the Barons. It was Lippert's corneal shot which put Clarkston ahead for keeps, 27-26, in the second period.

After Greg Anderson's three-point play opening the second half made it a 23-21 contest, Fife shattered the Barons' hopes by scoring seven straight points in less than a minute.

Then from 39-31 the margin mounted to 50-40 at the three-quarter mark, stood 55-49 midway in the fourth, and then the Wolves went into a closing spurt.

Along the way Pearson was ripping the nets from foulback to bag 28 points. Fife tallied 13, while Mike Righter, who confined his scoring to the first and fourth periods, collected 17 and Anderson 14 for Bloomfield Hills.

TIGHT DUEL

West Bloomfield and Holly were in a dogfight until the final minute when Greg Hepinstall clinched the decision with two quick buckets.

The scrap see-sawed through an 18-18 first period, had the Lakers on top 31-30 at the half, still leading 44-43 after three

Pike Caught During Rain

Ice fishing is a hearty sport enjoyed by thousands.

They can stay on the ice for long hours in sub-freezing temperatures, many times braving icy blast of wind from the North. Others aren't so brave. They prefer the comforts of a shanty.

But mid-winter rain takes the heart out of ice fishing—in or out of a shanty. That was the situation last weekend when a warm front brought fog and rain to Oakland County.

The anglers stayed off the lakes in large numbers. A few, however, could be seen hunched against the drizzle. Another handful slipped on wet ice to their shanties where they were reminded of the elements outside by a steady drumbeat on the roof.

Three pike and bluegill fishermen were rewarded for their perseverance.

Richard Hamm and Keith Gibbs, both of Auburn Heights, and Howard Hamm of Lake Orion went fishing Sunday at Oakland Lake. The trio worked together to land an 11-pound, two-ounce northern pike on a tipup. The lunker measured 34 inches. In addition, they took home 10 bluegills.

Mike Grappin, 16, 690 Scotch

Lake Rd., Union Lake, speared two nice pike within minutes Sunday morning at Scotch Lake. The fish were 27 and 23 inches.

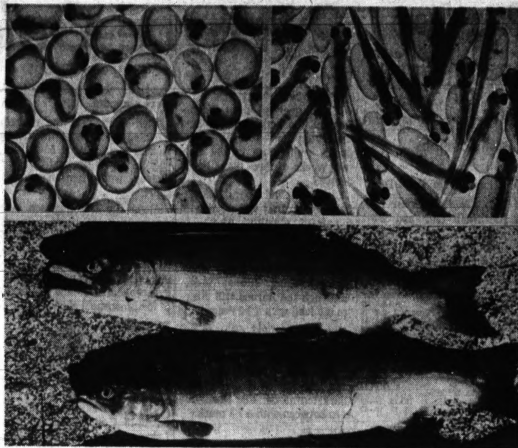

GOES TO SHANTY

The weather started clear Monday morning and Richard Strong, 3088 Grant, Avon Township, decided to fish from a shanty on Deer Lake. It was only his second time on the lake.

A 37-inch garpike swam too close to the shanty hole and paid the penalty. Strong nailed the fish with a spear.

The heavy rain yesterday and last night has shanties owners worried.

They can visualize a repeat of the post-Christmas that sent many shanties crashing through the ice. The ice is thicker, but once it starts to "honeycomb," trouble can occur at any time.

'EGGED ALONG'—The Kokanee salmon (bottom photo, male above female), is being "egged along" by the Conservation Department to set the stage for introductory plantings in Higgins and Torch lakes in the spring.

Several hundred thousand eggs from the State of Washington (top left) have hatched and passed the sac-fry stage (top right) at the Oden and Harrietta hatcheries. They will be reared to fry size before their release.

Shepherds Lead List of Entries for Dog Show

German shepherd dogs top the list of 508 entries for the Macomb County Kennel Club's All-Breed Dog Show Sunday at the American Legion hall in Utica.

There are 31 shepherds entered. A total of 71 breeds will be represented. The starting time for the unbenched show is 8 a. m.

J. P. Hackett, 1453 Pierce, Birmingham, will judge best-in-show. Other judges are: William H. Ackland, Washington, D.C.; Earle T. Adair, Pittsburgh, Pa.; and W. Ray Norsworthy, Lincoln Park.

Fox Hunt Scheduled by Rochester Club

St. Andrew's Parents' Club of Rochester has a fox hunt scheduled this Sunday.

Buses will leave Stemmer's Catering Hall at 8 a. m., and return the hunters at noon for a sausagekraut dinner. Boys 12 years old and above, accompanied by adults, can participate.

This is the ninth annual hunt arranged by the club. Proceeds benefit the school's athletic fund. Only shotgun with shot no larger than No. 2 will be permitted.

The hunters form a long line and drive fields and woods.

Pheasant Hunting Outlook Improves

Next fall may be the start of better times for Michigan's pheasant hunters, judging from the Conservation Department's first sneak preview of the birds' population as it stacks up after the 1964 season.

During the annual survey conducted late last year, rural mail carriers in 38 Southern Michigan counties saw more pheasants than they have after any season since 1959 as their bird counts spiraled 54 per cent above the five-year average.

Results of the survey, based on more than 400,000 miles covered along mail routes, are viewed with cautious optimism by department game men.

"Although findings support our earlier prediction that pheasants might begin to pull out of their population decline in 1965, we doubt that the birds have rebounded as sharply as sighting reports indicate," observes Victor S. Janson, in charge of southern game bird management.

Janson explains that unlike a year ago, there was snow on the ground during the latest postseason survey which made it much easier for rural mailmen to see pheasants.

The white stuff notwithstanding, he believes the birds are on the way up this year.

MORE BIRDS

Compared with counts after the 1963 season, cooperating mail carriers tallied more birds in all areas of the main Southern Michigan range, including the central sector where pheasant numbers have skidded most noticeably in recent years.

For every 100 miles logged, they saw an average of three pheasants as against slightly more than one bird in 1963.

Pheasant sightings figured out to an average of one rooster for every 3.5 hens. This ratio, the highest since 1958, also speaks for a better population last fall than the year before.

Too, it indicates that hunters harvested a substantial share of the 1964 crop of male pheasants, amounting to about 73 per cent of the total.

Storm Dumps Snow on Rome

Cold Hits Poland, Greece and Turkey

ROME (AP)—Romans were digging out today from the worst blizzard in 150 years, while paralyzing snowfalls and freezing temperatures are bringing misery to wide areas of Poland, Greece and Turkey.

The storm dumped 10 inches of snow on Rome in 16 hours. The snow turned to slush today but with temperatures hovering around the freezing point, the Italian capital was still partially immobilized.

Seven days of snowstorms and cold claimed 30 lives in Turkey. Fourteen persons died in two avalanches in eastern Turkey. One avalanche buried a home occupied by eight persons.

Ankara's international airport has been closed until further notice.

TEMPERATURES TUMBLE

In Greece, eight persons died in a two-day cold wave that sent temperatures tumbling in the northern part of the country. Heavy snowfalls blocked roads on the Bulgarian and Yugoslav borders.

Blizzards ranged across large areas of central and eastern Poland and snowdrifts up to seven feet blocked rail roads.

In the Italian Adriatic port of Pescara, the Greek freighter Sonia snapped its dockside moorings in strong wind and ran onto a shoal.

Two deaths in Rome were blamed on the weather. One man died of cold in his unheated home and another was stricken on a bus overcrowded because of limited service.

NO SNOWFALL

The capital does not have a municipal snowfall because snow is so rare. The last record for blizzards was set in 1796 and there have been only three snowfalls of note since then—in 1846, 1899 and 1956.

Snow piled up in drifts on train tracks and trains could not reach Rome's central terminal. Traffic was routed to two small terminals on the city's outskirts.

Plows at Fiumicino Airport could not cope with the raging whirling snow but officials said air traffic would probably be resumed later today.

Police estimated more than 3,000 private cars were abandoned in the city, some in the middle of streets.

Telephone and power lines snapped, and the whole neighborhood without heat, light or communication for hours at a time.

The Italian Senate went on with its session with candles glowing from its 16th-century crystal chandeliers.

College Gets Grant

DETROIT (AP)—Jobs for needy students at Mercy College are to be provided under a $21,617 federal stipendium grant received by the school Tuesday.

Tax Tips

(EDITOR'S NOTE:—The following income tax information is furnished by the Internal Revenue Service.)

QUESTION: During 1964, I paid quarterly premiums on three insurance policies. One policy was life insurance, one was a hospitalization insurance policy, and the other was a wage continuation policy. Are any of these deductible on my federal income tax return?

ANSWER: If you itemize your deductions when filing your return, the amounts you paid during the year for hospitalization insurance premiums are deductible as a medical expense. If you are under 65 years of age, your drug and medical expenses are subject to the customary 1 per cent and 3 per cent limitations.

If you are 65 or older, neither of these limitations will apply for 1964 and subsequent years.

The premiums paid on the other two types of policies are nondeductible personal expenses.

For the answer to your question, call your local Internal Revenue Service office.

Before Invention of Microscope, Discovery of Cell

All Cancers Formerly Believed to Be One Disease

By DELOS SMITH

UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 9—Before the invention of the microscope in the 16th century and the discovery in the 19th century that the cell is the basic unit of all life, cancer was considered to be one disease.

Now it is clearly more than 100 diseases. This is because a cancer which rises from one cell type will often behave differently from those which rise from other types. Cancer behavior is also influenced by regional and local substances and conditions produced by body chemistry.

Cancer is divided first into two broad categories, carcinoma and sarcoma. The former is any cancer which rises in the closely knit tissues that form all surfaces and line all hollow organs and their passages. These tissues are epithelium. A sarcoma is a cancer which rises in muscular or connective or skeletal tissue or in blood vessels.

These categories are then divided by how cancerous cells appear under the microscope and by where they came from. There are squamous-cell, basal-cell and intermediate-cell carcinomas and adenocarcinoma which is one which rises in the epithelium of glands or ducts.

There is the giant-cell sarcoma, a bone cancer, and neurogenic sarcoma which is one that rises in nervous tissue.

CATCH-ALL TERM

A better catch-all term than cancer is tumor. A tumor is any new growth or "neoplasm." Now you can distinguish between new growths which are self-limited, like warts, which are papillomas, and those which go on and on and on until they kill their host.

The former are classified "benign" tumors, the latter "malignant" tumors. But it doesn't suppose there is always this sharp division. Some tumors are neither entirely benign nor entirely malignant.

New growths in the body are not limited to tumors. Wound-healing is brought about by an enormous proliferation of new cells of whatever species. Parental chromosomes and genes which are regiments like soldiers on a drill field.

But new growths such as these have a purpose and they cease the instant that purpose is achieved. They're tightly disciplined all the way.

LIFE WOULD FAIL

Without this discipline there could be no life. Discipline begins in the fertilized egg of whatever species. Parental chromosomes and genes which are regiments like soldiers on a drill field.

"The egg—the germ cell"—differentiates into the cells which form and carry out the functions of brain, heart, lungs, stomach and gut, into cells which manufacture chemicals for export to regulate body functions distant from them, into cells that form muscles and convey sensory perceptions.

The new growth which began with one cell emerges from the womb nine months later in the form of human beings as a disciplined organization of some 2 trillion cells comprised of interlocking and interdependent groups of specialists.

The largest, the nerve cells,

CELLS DIVIDE

A cell perpetuates itself by dividing into two "daughters." The division rate depends upon the cell's specialty. Nerve cells are so specialized they never divide again after the embryo is fully formed although, of course, they enlarge to accommodate the growth of baby to adult.

Kidney and liver cells divide little unless those organs are damaged and then they'll divide like crazy in efforts to repair damage.

Blood cells and intestinal cells are prodigious dividers.

WHATEVER THE DIVISION-RATE

Is precisely disciplined and the "daughters" are precisely like the parent with a built-in destiny to divide at the same rate into "daughters" precisely like themselves.

NEW GROWTH

When something goes wrong and the rate is increased, a new growth is under way. It may be the faux pas, will be corrected in due course. Dividing discipline is then restored and a benign tumor is sealed off.

SOME INDEPENDENT

Some cancers are utterly independent of the processes of the body they parasitize. These are said to be autonomous. All cancers are autonomous to a degree but some are dependent in large or small part upon some body circumstance. For instance, there are "hormone-dependent" cancers which thrive upon particular balances in the secretions of endocrine glands.

But if it isn't corrected the stepped-up rate goes on and may increase, and the resulting cells lose their specialty character. Now they're not "differentiated" and then may be formless in which case they are "anaplastic."

Malignancy is under way. Its cell colony goes on enlarging until it has invaded surrounding normal tissues enough to choke off a vital organ or to block a vital function. The host dies. In many malignancies a few cells break off and float in blood or lymph to distant parts and establish new colonies. This is called metastasis.

Some cancerous cells multiply at a tremendous rate. They kill quickly. Others are so slow about it the host may live for years with cancer and may die from another cause without knowing he had one.

MUCH PROGRESS

Yet it is remarkable how far science has gone with this basic unit of life. To detail what it has learned would take a book and it won't be done here. But cells, animal or vegetable, have these parts in common:

• An enclosing membrane, in itself a marvel of complexity, which admits selectively equal foods and discharges with equal selectivity unwanted materials and whatever specialized substances the cell may manufacture for the operation of the multicellular organism of which it is a part.

• A cytoplasm which is a chemical factory making chemical-proteins of such complexity civilized man—the chemist has yet to fathom them.

• A nucleus which provides the directions—the "brains"—for all this scarcely credible chemistry.

These directions are in the chromosomes and genes which are deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA). In it is "coded" the formulas for all the complex proteins which "make" and operate the organism. Another acid, ribonucleic acid messenger RNA takes impressions, as it were, of the individual formulas and conveys them to the ribonucleic acid in the cytoplasm which assembles the needed materials and put them together in precise fulfillments of the formulas.

A dumbfounding wonder of cells is their dividing, which, with some cells, can be watched through a microscope. It has many steps, innumerable intricacies, but a fundamental fact is the chromosomes and their complements of genes carrying the hereditary dictates of characteristics, split into two precisely identical halves and one goes into each of the "daughters" to become the directive core of its nucleus.

As it were, into a harmless appendage.

This assures that each "daughter" and all subsequent daughters are duplications of the original. The code in the DNA assures that—provided it hasn't been changed. There are several ways it could be changed. Viruses have their own nucleic acids, and they might pervert the nucleic acids of a host cell into a cancerous course. No human viruses have been caught doing that but viruses do go to the cells of rodents and of fowl.

DIVISION CHANGES CELLS

It could well be that the wear and tear of many years of cellular labor do the perverting, and this explains cancer being a disease of the ripper years.

West Bound Over in Tax Check Charge

DETROIT (AP)—Another page was turned Tuesday in a book of charges against Rep. Daniel W. West, a Detroit Democrat.

West, 54, was bound over for Recorder's Court trial on a charge of fraudulently cashing a $4.24 Detroit income tax refund check. Recorder's Judge Paul E. Krause continued $1,000 bond on West. No trial date was set.

West also is under $1,000 bond on two charges of voter registration fraud. He is under $100,000 federal court bond on 117 indictments of falsifying federal tax returns.

Goldfarb Rule to Be Appealed

NEW YORK (AP)—An appeals court has lifted the ban on the movie and book, "John Goldfarb, Please Come Home," but the University of Notre Dame plans a goal line stand in New York's highest court.

Notre Dame says the movie and book illegally use "name, symbols, football team, high prestige, reputation and good will."

Five judges of the State Appellate Division Tuesday unanimously reversed a trial court decision, which enjoined showing the 20th Century-Fox movie or distribution of the book by Doubleday & Co., or Fawcett Publications.

However, the appeals court stayed the reversal for 10 days.

TO HIGHER COURT

In that time, Notre Dame will try to get the highest court, the Court of Appeals, to stay the reversal, pending the high court's own determination.

"John Goldfarb" tells of a U.S. pilot who crashes in a mythical Arabian country and is forced to fight a football team against Notre Dame. The king throws a party with dancing girls and spaced monkeys for the Notre Dame players, and Goldfarb's team wins, 34-29.

ADVERTISEMENTS FOR BIDS

The Board of Education for the School District of Oakland County, Michigan, will receive bids for the construction of the new high school building at the intersection of the Sunnyside and Grandview roads, in the town of Farmington, Michigan. Main Street, Farmington, Michigan. Plans and specifications may be obtained at the office of the Architect, 200 E. Main Street, Farmington, Michigan. Milk Industry Quiz Proposed

Hearing Is Held by State Senate Unit

An investigation into the milk industry in Lapeer and Livingston counties was proposed yesterday by a Senate subcommittee following a preliminary hearing in Lansing.

The hearing was conducted by the agricultural subcommittee on governmental operations.

The investigation, the subcommittee said, would determine if the legislature should adopt corrective measures, or by resolution advise changes in the procedures to be followed by the different levels of government connected with the milk industry.

The senators said that there is a general overlapping of the duties of several inspection agencies.

This duplication of government operations increases costs and causes confusion and misunderstanding among the farmers producing milk, they said.

POSSIBLE RESTRAINTS

According to the subcommittee there are possible under restraints place upon the operations of independent milk producers which should be explored and alleviated by either executive or legislative action.

Sen. Carl W. O'Brien of Pontiac is a member of the subcommittee.

In Her First American Film

Hayley Mills' Sister Will Star

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD—Another Mills has arrived to grace these shores. This is Juliet, daughter of John and sister of Hayley, and she is here to play guardian to a bull.

Fair Juliet favors her father in the warm, compassionate eyes and her writer-mother in the red-orange hair. Like the other Millses, she is doggedly optimistic in her outlook and loaded with talent.

She is in Hollywood for her first American film, "The Rare Breed," with James Stewart and Maureen O'Hara. Third time is a charm and all that.

since Juliet struck out twice before on chances for American movies.

"Fred Zinnemann tested me for a part in 'The Sundowners,'" she reported, "and he wanted me to do it. But I was in the play 'Five Finger Exercise' and I couldn't get out of it. Then Hecht-Lancaster wanted me for a role in 'Summer of the 17th Doll,' which Daddy did in Australia. But again I was tied up."

FINALLY MADE IT
She finally made it, thanks to the opportune flop of the Broadway play, "Allie." The British import starring Terence Stamp opened in December and closed three weeks later, freeing Juliet for "The Rare Breed" and a Universal contract.

For "The Rare Breed" she has gone Western with a vengeance. Not only does she have to learn to ride a horse Western-style — "quite different from the English way" — she also must ride the aforementioned bull, her pet in the film.

"Luckily I grew up on a farm, and I love animals," said Juliet. "The bull is really quite a dear, and very easy to ride, too." Nothing seems to faze the Millses.

Now a blooming 23, Juliet can't remember when she didn't want to be an actress. She went through a ballet phase, but declined to face the monastic life that goes with it. At 16 she was cast in "Five Finger Exercise," and slipped into the theatrical routine with complete ease. The play ran 18 months in London and 9 in New York.

FOLLOWED JULIET
Hayley followed Juliet into acting by six months. There is four years difference between them, so they managed to avoid the competition of sisters closer in age. They seem entirely different types: Juliet sparkling-eyed but a lady, Hayley the mischievous hoyden.

Another difference: Juliet is married. Her husband is American songwriter Russell Alquist. Since he can do his work whenever he can find a piano, he accompanies Juliet on her journeys. So does their son, the much-traveled Sean.

"He's only 10 months old, but he's already been across the ocean twice and to California twice," said Juliet.

Wife, 40, Divorces Melchior, 74
Singer Lauritz Melchior, 74, was divorced in Los Angeles Tuesday after a five-month marriage by Mary Markham, 40, his former secretary who now is a television producer.

They had been close friends for 20 years prior to the marriage, but her attorney said "they can no longer be termed close friends."

In lieu of alimony, Miss Markham was given a settlement of $20,000 in cash and an $80,000 note to be paid on Melchior's death. She testified Melchior would go into a rage every time she tried to leave their Hollywood home and caused her so much tension that she was confined for a time in a hospital.

Irish Leaders Meet Again
The Irish had another get-together Tuesday when Capt. Terence O'Neill, prime minister of Northern Ireland, came to Dublin to confer with Prime Minister Sean Lemass of the Irish Republic.

The leaders of the divided island first met last month in Belfast, discussing possible economic cooperation.

Northern Ireland sends members to the Parliament in London and is an integral part of the United Kingdom, although it enjoys home rule. The Irish Republic is fully independent.

'U.S. Will Have to Continue Draft'
Paul F. Fay Jr., who resigned as undersecretary of the Navy last month to return to business, said Tuesday in San Francisco that the government is going to have to continue the draft and might as well admit it.

The armed forces would continue to depend upon the draft, Fay told a San Francisco news conference, because "they're not making the quotas with voluntary enlistments."

Opera Almost in the Black

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Like most opera companies, the Dallas Civic Opera has a hard time making ends meet — but in 1964 the gap was only $4.

It took in $294,138 last year and spent $298,138, the company's annual financial statement showed today.

President James H. Bond said this was "unprecedented for any major opera company in the world and rare for any other performing art enterprise."

The company would have ended the year in the black except for an unusually large number of students attending at a discount, he said, "but this is a loss we don't mind."

Van Gogh Work Among Paintings Sold at Auction
PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Some of the world's best known impressionist paintings were sold at auction Tuesday night with a New York attorney spending $900,000 for an undisclosed client.

Top price of $250,000 was brought by Van Gogh's "The Sower." It was bid by the attorney, Roger B. Oresman, who said he had been authorized to spend $1 million by his client. He would not identify the purchaser.

Oresman also bid $100,000 for Monet's "Juan-les-Pins," and $150,000 for Renoir's "Enfant en Bleu."

About 900 patrons attended the auction, handled by Milton Freshman, president of Troshy Art Galleries.

To Withdraw Liner From Atlantic Runs

LONDON (AP) — The Cunard liner Mauretania, 35,655-ton veteran of the New York run, will be withdrawn from service in November.

Cunard said today it has not been decided whether she should be sold, scrapped or chartered.

The Mauretania made her maiden voyage in 1939 and was in New York when World War II broke out. Like the Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary she spent the war years as a troopship.

S. Viet Mountain Defeat May Be Worst of War

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — South Vietnamese troops have suffered what probably will turn out to be their worst defeat of the war in a mountain battle launched by the Viet Cong Monday, the day South Vietnamese warplanes raided North Viet Nam.

The Red guerrillas were on the offensive today in several sectors. Heavy fighting raged near the Da Nang air base and in an area east of Saigon as news filtered out of the major action in Binh Dinh province, 280 miles north of this city.

U.S. officials disclosed that two government companies were annihilated, a battalion was virtually wiped out and another company severely mauled in coordinated Viet Cong attacks.

The exact number of government casualties in the action still was unknown, but may be around 600.

This would make it even worse than the meat grinder operation that cost 500 men at Binh Gia over the new year — at the time the worst defeat government forces had suffered. Relief forces totaling about 1,500 men were reported still unable to reach the battle site.

The reports said one Vietnamese battalion plus two or three extra companies, totaling 600 men, were reported wiped out in coordinated Viet Cong ambushes.

The Reds were said to have numbered about 800 men.

Total government casualties were still unknown. The reports said two of 15 government personnel carriers were knocked out and the others damaged.

3 AMERICANS

The reports said three U.S. advisers with the ambushed forces got out alone without any injuries.

Four U.S. Army advisers were missing from a district town overrun by the Viet Cong 80 miles north of the capital.

A U.S. spokesman said the Reds were still holding the town, Duc Phong.

Two armed helicopters were dispatched to the town. One was downed, killing an American gunner. The three other men aboard were wounded, but were evacuated in a daring rescue.

RANGERS AIRLIFTED

A ranger unit was airlifted into the region for an attempt to retake the village, near the Cambodian border. A U.S. officer and three enlisted men were in the village when it was hit about dawn.

The U.S. Air Force also announced the death of Capt. Don R. Lewis, of Fort Walton Beach, Fla. He was wounded Monday and died at Nha Trang field hospital. He was married and had two sons.

The two deaths brought the total of U.S. dead in action in Viet Nam to 267. About 20 Americans are missing, including the four today.

50 U.S. JETS

Fighting between Vietnamese government forces and the Communist Viet Cong raged a scant nine miles from the base that also houses a strike force of 50 U.S. Air Force jet fighters and bombers.

Da Nang is 80 miles south of the North Vietnamese border and 300 miles north of Saigon.

In another battle 50 miles east of Saigon, the Viet Cong surprised charging government paratroopers. They first hit the troops as they landed from helicopters with fire from foxholes.

Then as the paratroopers charged, the Viet Cong threw bottles of gasoline into the brush, setting it afire. The Viet Cong freed through the smoke screen at the blinded government forces.

SMOKE SCREEN

"We had no choice but to assault through the smoke screen," a Vietnamese major said.

Once displaced, the government forces beat back nine (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

WATERY TRAP—Early morning motorists were faced with the problem of traveling through this flooded area on Woodward north of Square Lake Road or turning back. Many who attempted the crossing stalled their cars and were trapped in the small flood. Those who successfully made the crossing found their brakes were wet and useless upon reaching "dry land."

Tax Foes Urge Frugality; Levy Backer Cites Need

Against

A plea for frugality in municipal affairs was sounded last night by foes of the income levy.

City Commissioners were presented a 15-page report documenting opposition to the tax by the Citizens Committee on Taxation.

Headed by Charles Nassstrom, chairman, the citizens group claimed that there was waste and duplication by city employees.

The group advised the city to engage a qualified, impartial company to look into the operations of city departments to determine if they are operating within the bounds of economy.

"Such an impartial review... should result in an accurate appraisal of city business policies and operations," stated the report.

'SHORT DURATION'

The report by the taxation group also stated that the city's current financial problems will be of relatively short duration — about three years.

Thus, the citizens committee recommended that a 2-1/2 mill property tax increase should be levied for three years instead of the income tax.

For

After the four-hour meeting, Mayor Pro Tem Leslie H. Hudson disclosed that a "fact-finding" citizens committee would be formed to work for the income tax.

Hudson led the meeting in the absence of Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., who is still recuperating from a mild heart attack.

Hudson said a meeting had been set for 8 p.m. next Wednesday in the commission chambers to organize the widely representative group.

He put the expected turnout at the meeting at 105. He said each commissioner had submitted 15 names for the committee.

WILL BE CALLED

The group will be called the Citizens Committee for Tax Reform.

Object of the group is to help carry facts to the public, according to Hudson. Any interested citizen is eligible to join.

T. Warren Fowler, district 1 commissioner, led off the exchange last night with a printed statement in favor of the tax, slated for a referendum March 18.

"It is unfair to place the total burden to pay for these (city) services on local property owners," the statement said.

SOLVE PROBLEMS

Fowler said that funds are necessary to solve the city's traffic problems with street widenings and extensions.

The income tax would provide for a sharp of the tax load between residents, non-residents, industry, business and professional people, added Fowler.

Said Fowler: "The non-residents of the city should appreciate the problem of Pontiac taxpayers and city officials who must find the ways and means to provide adequate traffic control, police and fire protection, adequate sewers, adequate water supply, parks, playgrounds for Pontiac citizens as well as nonresidents employed in the city."

In the verbal session following the reading of an anti-income tax report, Mayor Pro Tem Hudson defended the commission's judgment.

BETTER POSITION

He said that the results of the report were expected. However, Hudson said the commission was (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Kosygin Vows Aid to N. Viet

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin promised to give Communist North Viet Nam military assistance, then flew today to Peking and immediately went into conference with Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai.

Kosygin was greeted at the Peking airport on his arrival from a four-day visit in Hanoi by Chou and Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi, the Soviet news agency Tass reported from Peking.

"Chou En-Lai accompanied the Soviet delegates from the airport to their residence," Tass said.

Kosygin had also met with the Communist Chinese leaders during an overnight stop en route to the North Vietnamese capital.

In a statement at Hanoi airport, Kosygin said of his talks with the North Vietnamese:

STRENGTHEN DEFENSE

"We reached agreement on measures which will be taken for strengthening the defense potential of the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam and on holding regular consultations on these questions."

FLOODED STREETS — This morning scene at Sanderson and Augusta was repeated in many areas in Pontiac today. A great number of home owners found today that their basements had a similar look.

quick thaw and a bad storm brought on the watery conditions. City public works officials hoped to have the problems cleared up by this evening.

Temperature Soars Into 50s

More than one inch of rain and a temperature rise of nearly 20 degrees this morning turned the Pontiac area into a wet and watery winter wonderland.

Streets and highways throughout the city and county were under water — in some areas they were impassable by car — and flooded basements were the rule rather than the exception in some areas.

Rainfall totaled 1.1 inches in the county through this morning. The temperature in Pontiac rose from 36 degrees at midnight to 53 degrees by 5 a.m.

The prediction for the remainder of the day and tonight is for colder weather with diminishing winds. The mercury will drop to the freezing point — 32 degrees — tonight.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy with a high temperature of 36 to 42. The outlook for Friday is for warmer weather again.

FLOODED ROADS

Motorists throughout the county were greeted by flooded roadways this morning.

The Oakland County Road Commission reported that Lasher near Quorton, Maple near Oakland Hills Country Club and east of Birmingham, Greenfield north of Eleven and Twelve Mile and Woodward north of Square Lake Road were all under water.

The combination of a fast thaw and rain pushed county drains to capacity limits, and water was forced onto streets and into basements, commission officials said.

Full crews are working to correct the situation by this evening, a spokesman said.

STILL SLIPPERY

Side roads in the county were still slippery this morning as a glaze of melting ice covered the less traveled byways, according to State Police.

In Pontiac flooded conditions existed along the Pontiac Creek from Johnson to Carter, on Earlsboro, on both East and West Brooklyn and on Joslyn north of Columbia.

Superintendent of Public Works Clyde Christian said these conditions should be corrected by tonight and reported at 10 a.m. that the Pontiac Creek was beginning to recede.

In Troy, storm waters flooded Maple head-light deep between Livernois and Crooks.

A bridge was washed out on Wattles between John R. and Dequindre and a small dam on Lake Charnwood at Beech south of South Blvd. was swept away by rushing water.

Waterford's fire department has had 39 reports of basement flooding.

Crews of Volunteer Firemen and water department personnel have been working most of the night with portable pumping units to clear them.

Several streets were flooded in spots. One of the worst is Williams Lake Road in front of the Community Activities Inc. building. The approximate block long flooded area there has blocked the east entrance to the building.

TWO PLACES

Airport Road flooded between M59 and Tubbs and again between Tubbs and Hatchery, Cruse St. off Pinegrove in the Crescent Lake area is flooded.

Many Waterford side streets are extremely icy.

Utility companies were also plagued by the sudden change in weather.

Leaves at Least Five Dead, Seven Injured

By The Associated Press Rain, sleet, snow, fog and destructive winds raked 40 states, leaving at least five dead and seven injured, wrecked homes and murky floodwaters.

Precipitation fell in 40 states yesterday, omitting only New England, California and Florida.

Tornadoes hit southern Arkansas, injuring at least seven persons and wrecking buildings.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect from Minnesota to Kansas.

Snow warnings also were posted for the mountains and passes of southwestern Colorado and northern Arizona and New Mexico.

HARDEST HIT

Hardest hit by the tornadoes was Hermitage, a community of 400 in southern Arkansas.

Seven persons were injured and half the buildings in the town were destroyed or damaged.

Minor damage was caused in Mississippi and southern Illinois by tornadoes that touched down briefly.

Texas was drenched with rainstorms that measured 6 inches in Colleyville, northeast of Fort Worth.

COMMONPLACE

Two and three inches of rain were commonplace from the middle Red River Valley south to below San Antonio.

Damaging winds and hail pounded southern Indiana. Rain fell over most of Iowa and Ohio.

Today's lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 38. By 1 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 52.

Mayor Hubbard Charged in Race Row

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Orville Hubbard of suburban Dearborn was indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury on charges stemming from a 1963 Labor Day racial demonstration in his predominantly white city of 112,007. The indictment accuses Hubbard of failing in his public duty to prevent both the "wanton destruction" of property and violation of state criminal laws.

AP Photos

Hubbard is the third Dearborn official to be indicted on such charges.

Public Safety Director George W. Lewis and Police Chief Garrison Claydon were indicted in December and are free under $1,000 bonds. No trial dates have been set.

FACES PRISON

Maximum punishment under the charges would be a year's imprisonment and a $1,000 fine.

Hubbard and his top law enforcement aides are accused of failing to take proper action when an angry crowd estimated at 400 by some witnesses hurled rocks, eggs and debris at the Dearborn home of Giuseppe Stanzone.

Stanzone, who has sued the three indicted officials and 13 Dearborn policemen for $250,000 damages, said that the crowd seriously believed he had rented an upstairs flat or sold his home to a Negro family.

He said that among other things the crowd poured sugar into his car's gasoline tank in an hours-long demonstration while police stood idly by.

MOVED OUT

Stanzone, a concrete contractor, subsequently moved out of the house because, he said, of continued stone-throwing incidents, the throwing of hate literature on his porch and a mysterious fire that caused $5,000 damage in January 1964.

Stanzone claims in his civil suit that he was assaulted in full view of one Dearborn police officer and that the defendants sought to demonstrate to those who might sell to Negroes that they could not rely on police protection.

South Viets Slaughtered

Viet Cong charges, inflicting 55 casualties.

The battle is in Phouc Tuy Province, only 10 miles from embattled Bing Gia where a ranger and marine battalion were wiped out in the last days of 1964.

Capt. Thomas B. Throckmorton, son of the deputy U.S. commander in Viet Nam, was shot in the abdomen in the initial assault through the smoke screen. He was flown to Saigon and reported in a condition after surgery.

His father, Lt. Gen. John L. Throckmorton, came under fire in the same action. U.S. advisers said the general was hustled back into his helicopter and flown out as the battle intensified.

The two paratroop battalions suffered 29 killed and 75 wounded.

One American has been killed and 12 others wounded since the fighting broke out yesterday. Eight of the wounded were helicopter-crewmembers. Four helicopters were shot down.

The advisers counted 50 Viet Cong dead in the jungles, scattered around the circular grassy field which the paratroopers were defending as a landing zone for helicopters.

Many of the dead were killed by armed helicopters and Vietnamese fighter bombers who flew support.

down town growth and the new osteopathic college location here.

Quizzed on the impact of the projected college, which would be tax exempt, Nassiro said his group would come from the various developments that would come because of the college.

ADDED SERVICES

"We were referring to the added services, not the college itself," he said.

In reviewing the city's financial condition, the taxation committee found "no real quarrel" with the status of the capital improvement fund.

However, the group did recommend that the commission should protect the commitments against the fund and that the total commitment for any given year should not exceed 60 per cent of that year's revenue for the fund.

They also proposed a three-year limit on commitments to the capital improvement fund.

ADVISED LIMIT

Again finding "no real quarrel" with the operation of the city's bonded indebtedness program, the committee advised a limit.

The taxation committee suggested that the present limit of 8 per cent on the total assessed valuation of all real and personal property in the city might be lowered.

The citizens group opposed the income tax on the grounds that:

• A state-level income tax with property tax relief and a rebate to cities would be more equitable and feasible.

• A state law might render a city income tax illegal in the very near future, making it unwise for the city to depend on it.

• A bill has been introduced to give tax relief to senior citizens which would negate much of the proposed 3-mill cut in the local property tax.

• The 3-mill cut would not be binding on future city commissions.

• A city income tax would be far too expensive to set up and maintain.

• Such a tax would give too much authority to local officials over the individual.

• In relation to corporations, the income tax imposes an inequitable responsibility on the individual taxpayer.

Order Plans for Addition at Hospital

Initial plans for a 75-bed addition to Pontiac General Hospital were ordered last night by the City Commission.

A $20,000 contract for preliminary plans was approved by the commission. The contract is with Smith, Hinchman and Grylls Associates of Detroit.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said that the Detroit firm, consultants on the last hospital addition would make a feasibility study and furnish preliminary drawings.

Hospital Administrator Harold B. Euler said Monday that the $20,000 for the preliminary plans would come from the hospital's depreciation funds.

A study last year by the United States City Services of Metropolitan Detroit (UCS) recommended expanded rehabilitation and mental health programs at Pontiac General.

SITES MENTIONED

However, the UCS study did not consider the need for an annex, new wing or addition.

One of the questions to be answered, according to Euler, is where to put the addition. Several possible sites have been mentioned.

Euler also said that he did not know if the two services—rehabilitation and mental health—would go into the proposed addition or would go into space freed in the hospital's present building.

Warren said that a portion of the $20,000 would be applied toward the architect's fees for detailed final drawings.

Previously, the hospital board of trustees had approved the contract.

Cost of the addition and where the money would come from has not yet been investigated by the city and hospital officials.

Deputies Sifting Evidence in Independence Murder

Sheriff's deputies continued to sift evidence today as the investigation of the murder of Maurice Boucard moved into its second day.

Boucard, 47, of 8650 Dixie, Springfield Township, was shot Monday night during an apparent holdup at his Independence Township party store.

His body was found face down on the floor of the store, near a beer cooler. Boucard was killed, according to an autopsy, when a small caliber bullet entered his right side and passed through both lungs and his heart.

Capt. Leo Hazen said the department believes Boucard was murdered during a robbery.

However, circumstances other than a holdup are not being discounted, he said.

CASH TAKEN

The cash register at Rochon's Country Shoppe, at 6450 Dixie, had been looted. A large sum of money was found hidden under a counter and cash in Boucard's billfold was found intact.

Teams of detectives systematically began checking out family and friends of the murdered man yesterday.

Another team took collected evidence to the Michigan State Police Crime Lab in East Lansing for study.

NO SUSPECTS

Hazen said there were no suspects in the investigation thus far and relatives and persons who knew Boucard were rapidly being eliminated from consideration as suspects.

The dead man was believed to have been last seen by Paul Rochon, 25, of 311 Goring, who had an interest in the store. Rochon told deputies he left the shop at about 10:10 p.m. Police believe Boucard was killed between 10:20 and 10:30 p.m.

Discussion is scheduled on instructional and noninstructional personnel changes.

Pick General Contractor for Education Building

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Schwam Construction Co. has been chosen general contractor for the Bloomfield Hills Board of Education's new administration building.

The Bloomfield Township firm still has pending in Oakland County Circuit Court a suit concerning a bid it made to the board in 1963.

To be completed by June, the central administration building will be constructed on property the board owns east of Bloomfield Hills High School.

Estimated total cost of the project is $192,800. Architect Linn Smith of Birmingham noted 11 or 12 bids were submitted in each category.

Contracts were awarded to the low bidder, Schwam, $106,676; King Brothers of Pontiac, mechanical, $36,470; and Folgmann Electric Co. of Detroit, $14,239.

TWO ALTERNATIVES

The board of education chose two alternatives — a canopy at the front of the building and a circular drive — thus adding $3,382 to the base bids which totaled $154,200.

School officials had estimated construction costs at $151,000 for the building. The difference is to be made up by borrowing money from the landscaping and contingency funds for the building.

Frederick F. Schwanz, owner of the general contracting firm, filed a suit in Circuit Court after his low bid on an addition to Hickory Grove Elementary School was rejected by the board in 1963.

That contract went to Bersche Construction Co. of Pontiac, which had submitted a $41,650 bid that was $851 more than Schwanz'.

ON RECOMMENDATION

The award was made on the recommendation of architects at Tarapata-McMahon Associates, Inc., of Bloomfield Hills.

Schwanz is seeking $10,000 in damages from Tarapata-McMahon for "fraudulent slanderous" statements.

Originally the school board had been a codefendant in the case, but it was dropped after a petition for an injunction was denied in Circuit Court.

BIRMINGHAM — A report on structural parking facilities for Birmingham is expected to be presented to the City Commission within three weeks.

Mayor Charles Renfrew said the report will probably give the commission "some direction in the position it will take on future construction."

The city manager's office is preparing the report following a study of parking structures in other cities.

The report, according to Renfrew, will deal chiefly with parking structures, rather than with underground facilities.

NOT FEASIBLE

"It's been pretty well determined that underground lots for Birmingham are not feasible," said Renfrew. "They are too expensive."

"When you need a cop, you can't find one."

Then, Roxann said, in Glendora the attacker took the wheel and drove to an isolated area in the foothills to the north, halted the car and tried to attack her.

She fought back, finally shoved away the hand with the opener and raced for a house not far away.

"I saw a lady there just about to walk inside," she said. "Please help me," I cried. "Please help me."

PLEA IGNORED

"But the woman replied, 'That's what you get for going up in the hills with your boyfriend,' and turned away. Boy!"

Roxann ran another mile to the home of a girlfriend, whose parents called police.

"I was pretty disgusted with the whole human race," Roxann said.

Sheriff's detectives ordered a composite drawing prepared from the girl's description of the man. They said it would be circulated with an all-points bulletin in a search for the attacker.

pensive to construct and operate.

At the city commission Monday a citizen expressed a fear that no sooner would the new parking lot south of Shain Park be permanently improved then it might be torn up so that a parking structure could be built.

He made his comments just prior to the authorization of the spreading of the assessment roll for the parking lot.

City Commissioner William Burghum assured the complainant that he "could not conceive that the new lot would be replaced by a parking structure in the immediate future."

"If parking structures were built the new lot would probably be the third to be considered, with lot No. 1 (Pierce and Merrill) being first."

Levy Backer Points to Need

in a better position to know the needs of the city than any self-appointed citizens group.

Hudson, who ordered the antitax report to be read, said he did so because he wanted everyone to know the position of "this self-appointed group."

Discussing the city's needs, he added, "I think our administrative staff is qualified to make these judgments, unlike this self-appointed group."

The mayor pro tem also said that the commission was still unanimous that the income tax was the solution.

FIRE PROTECTION

Hudson pointed out that the cost of fire protection alone was nearly 20 per cent of the $5 million received annually in tax revenue.

Such fire protection and expense would not be necessary, according to Hudson, if it were not for Pontiac's industry.

"The expense is here because of the need for protection of that industry and to protect 'those jobs,'" he explained.

"And I don't feel this is solely the responsibility of the taxpayers of the city," Hudson concluded.

IMPARTIAL STUDY

Responding to the call for an impartial study of city departments, Commissioner Wesley J. Wood replied, "I think we already hired that in Joe Warren (city manager)."

Commissioner John A. Dugan commented that he was happy the antitax report showed there was a need for added city revenue.

"It's a question of whether we tax the wealthy and senior citizens or have an income tax," he added.

Said Dugan, regarding financial need, "We're not too far apart."

The District 5 commissioner concluded that if there is an income tax, a state or city levy, it would be better to "keep it here" and have a city income tax.

Hudson replied to a charge that a state House bill granting homestead tax relief to senior citizens ruled out benefits of the projected 3-mill cut in the local property tax.

He said that just because a bill is introduced in the legislature, it does not mean it will become law.

Introduce Continental Idea of Bread, Fruit and Cheese

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Late evening refreshments sometimes pose a problem. Many people don't want a sweet, rich dessert. Others think that a sandwich is too much to eat.

It's possible to please everyone by copying a custom followed in France.

The French hostess presents a trio of fruit, cheese and fresh bread. This allows each guest to eat as much or as little as he chooses.

The bread, of course, is the crusty loaf we associate with France.

The version given here scores

the top and adds sesame seed. Guests break off portions without benefit of knife.

In keeping with the French feeling, Roquefort cheese spreads are offered. Only cheese made in the caves of southwestern France can bear the label "Roquefort."

If you want to serve this type of late evening refreshment, you make the bread after dinner.

If you are to be out yourself, for the evening, bake it earlier and reheat it.

Provincial French Bread

- 2½ cups warm water (105°-115° F.)
- 2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 tablespoon margarine, melted
- 7 cups unsifted flour
- 1 egg white
- 1 tablespoon cold water
- Sesame seeds

Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Add salt and melted margarine. Add flour and stir until flour is well blended (dough will be sticky).

Place dough in a greased bowl. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Roquefort Village Cheese Spread

- 1 cup crumbled Roquefort cheese
- 2 tablespoons heavy cream
- 2 tablespoons chopped canned pimientos
- 2 tablespoons chopped chives

Combine cheese and cream; beat until smooth. Blend pimientos and chives into cheese mixture. Garnish with pimiento strips and chives, as desired.

Serve as a spread for French bread. (Makes about 1 cup spread.)

Savory Roquefort Spread

- 1 cup crumbled Roquefort cheese
- ¼ cup mayonnaise
- ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- ½ teaspoon celery seed
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Combine cheese, mayonnaise and Worcestershire sauce; beat until smooth. Blend celery seed and parsley into cheese mixture. Garnish with paprika and parsley, as desired.

Serve as a spread for French bread. (Makes about 1 cup spread.)

Cream Cheese Is Spread for Bread

Perhaps a loaf of quick date nut bread will suit your fancy.

Brooklyn Date-Nut Bread

- ½ cup pitted dates, halved
- 1 cup boiling water
- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup coarsely broken walnuts

Pour boiling water over dates; cool, sift together the flour, baking soda and salt. Beat together eggs and sugar; stir in sifted dry ingredients, date mixture and walnuts.

Fill 4 or 5 well-greased No. 1 tall cans (9½ to 13 ounces) half full; place on a cookie sheet.

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 45 to 50 minutes or until cake tester inserted comes out clean.

Turn out; cool. Store tightly covered.

IT'S PORTUGUESE — Paço de, the traditional Portuguese holiday bread, makes its appearance at open house festivities with rippy cheese and a sparkling punch. The recipe substitutes an envelope of country-style potato soup mix for the original potatoes thus making it much easier to prepare than the original version.

Start With Soup Mix

Here is a delightful recipe for Paço de, the traditional Portuguese Holiday bread.

Originally made with potatoes, this version takes advantage of a modern short-cut, a convenient envelope of country-style potato soup mix. You thus eliminate several preparation chores.

Paço De (Sweet Bread)

- 1 envelope country style potato soup mix rolled
- ½ cup cold water
- 1 package active dry yeast
- ¼ cup warm (not hot) water
- ¼ teaspoon cardamom seeds, crushed
- ¼ teaspoon ginger
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ cup melted butter or margarine
- 5 cups sifted enriched flour
- ½ cup milk

Add water gradually to soup mix in saucepan; bring to boil and simmer 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Cool to lukewarm.

Combine yeast, ¼ table-spoons sugar and warm water; stir to dissolve. Stir yeast mixture and spices into potato mixture. Let rise in warm place for 15 to 20 minutes or until doubled in bulk.

In large bowl, beat eggs and add sugar gradually while continuing to beat. Stir in cooled butter. Combine yeast and egg mixtures; blend thoroughly. Stir in 1 cup flour, add milk and beat until thoroughly blended.

Add 2 more cups flour and beat 5 minutes. Add remaining flour gradually, kneading when dough becomes too stiff to beat. Turn out on a lightly floured board.

Knead 10 minutes or until smooth and elastic, adding only enough extra flour to prevent sticking. Place dough in a large greased bowl; brush top with oil.

Cover and let rise in warm place (about 85 degrees) until doubled in bulk, about 2 hours. Divide dough into 2 portions and shape into round loaves on greased cookie sheets. Brush surface with oil. Allow to rise until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Brush loaves with beaten egg. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes or until well browned. Makes 2 loaves.

HERB BREAD—The aroma of bread baking in the oven, the taste of a slice of warm bread, the texture of a crusty loaf—all add up to a wonderful kitchen adventure. This bread takes no extra flavor and goodness from the addition of exotic seasonings.

CONTINENTAL CUSTOM — Serve midnight supper in a French mood. Menu features homemade French bread and Roquefort cheese spreads with a medley of fresh fruits. Table accessories include convenient-to-use, attractive, triple-ply paper placemats which look like cloth. They are shown in a double

Asparagus and Soup

A new prepared soup gets interesting treatment.

Lunch Bowl Soup

- 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed noodle and beef soup
- 1 can (10½ ounces) green asparagus tips
- Grated Parmesan cheese

Turn the undiluted soup into a saucepan. Drain the liquid from the asparagus into the empty soup can; add enough water to fill the can; add to soup.

Halve asparagus tips and add. Heat slowly, stirring a few times. Serve with grated cheese. Makes 4 servings.

Herb Bread Is Fragrant, Tasty

Probably one of the most delightful experiences for the family is the smell of freshly-made bread in the oven. Prepare the bread with herbs and you'll have your family tingling with anticipation and a good excitement.

Herb Bread

- 2 cups milk
- 2 teaspoons herb seasoning
- 4 teaspoons caraway seeds
- 1 teaspoon anise seed
- ¼ cup sugar
- 2 pkgs. yeast
- ¼ cup warm water
- 7-7½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 tablespoon salt
- ½ cup soft shortening
- 3 eggs

Measure milk into saucepan. Add herb seasoning, caraway and anise seeds. Heat to boiling point. Pour into mixing bowl. Add sugar; cool to lukewarm.

Soften yeast in warm water. Add to milk. Add 3 cups of flour. Beat thoroughly, adding salt and shortening.

Add eggs one at a time beating well after each addition. Beat in as much of remaining flour as possible. Then stir with spoon.

When dough begins to leave sides of pan, turn out on floured board and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover; let rise in warm place until doubled.

When light, divide into 2 equal portions. Form each into regular loaves. Place in greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pans. Let rise until doubled.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 40 to 50 minutes or until done. Remove from pans immediately. Cool on rack away from drafts.

Soft Pretzels for Snack Fare

Prepare Pretzel Biscuits from a basic biscuit dough flavored with Cheddar cheese, onion salt and cayenne pepper.

To achieve the intriguing pretzel shapes, form the dough into ropes, then curve the ends of each rope toward the center, lapping one end over the other.

Serve these in the evening with crisp apples and a hot fruit punch.

Pretzel Biscuits

- 2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon onion salt
- ½ teaspoon cayenne-pepper

On lightly floured board or

- ¾ cup shortening
- ½ cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
- ½ to ¾ cup milk
- Butter or margarine, melted
- Seasoned salt

Set out ungreased baking sheet. Preheat oven to 425 degrees.

Into a medium-sized bowl, sift together flour, baking powder, onion salt and cayenne. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in cheese. Blend in enough milk to make a soft dough.

On lightly floured board or pastry cloth, turn out dough and knead gently 30 seconds. Break off 1-inch pieces of dough and roll under palms of hands to form ropes 10 inches long and ¼-inch thick.

Twist to form pretzel shapes. Place on baking sheet. Brush with butter or margarine; lightly sprinkle with seasoned salt. Bake 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown. Serve warm. Makes 30 pretzels.

If you don't sift and in the absence of other directions, spoon flour directly from container into a one-cup dry measure, level off, then remove two level tablespoons, according to USDA recommendations.

Recipe Variations: Stir 1 teaspoon caraway seed, sesame seed or celery seed into flour with cheese.

Storing Suggestions: Cool baked pretzels completely; wrap tightly in freezer wrap, label and freeze. To serve, unwrap, thaw and place on baking sheet. Warm in preheated 350 degree oven 3 to 5 minutes.

Sour Cream Cukes Complement Fish

Cucumbers always give a fillip to fish!

Cucumber Relish Salad

- 1 large cucumber, pared and sliced thin
- ½ pint sour cream
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon white pepper
- ¼ teaspoon dill weed
- Salad greens

Mix together the cucumber, sour cream, salt, pepper and dill weed; cover and chill until serving time—an hour or so to allow flavors to blend. Serve on salad greens. Makes 4 servings.

PRETZEL BISCUITS — You buy something similar in Pennsylvania called a soft pretzel. These are made from dough, nicely flavored with onion salt and Cheddar cheese. Good for a snack most any time of the day.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Wife Knows the Score

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman with three children, ages 10, 8 and 5.

Four years ago I went to work in an office as a book keeper and fell head over heels in love with my boss, who is 17 years my senior. He was also married and had a family.

ABBY

We kept our romance a secret until I was three months pregnant. Then he asked his wife for a divorce so he could marry me. She refused.

Last summer he left his wife and I left my husband and now we are living together as Mr. and Mrs.

We realize we are social outcasts, but we go to church every Sunday and we know in our hearts that we are doing nothing wrong, and are really married in God's eyes.

Now, don't you think his wife should give him a divorce so we can be married and adopt three poor, innocent children?

How can we make his wife see the light?

ONTARIO: I don't know how you feel that you are "doing nothing wrong" and are "really married in God's eyes."

According to all the laws of God and man, he is married to another, and so are you. I would say that this man's lawful wife sees the light very clearly. It's you who's in the dark.

Problems? Write to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pores Cause Flaking

If makeup tends to spot after it has been on for awhile the cause may be enlarged pores. The excess body oils that flow from these pores "lift" the makeup and the characteristic, unsightly stain results.

A dermatologist can determine if there is any serious skin defect. Simple enlarged pores can be reduced with a consistent home program. Dissolve one dram of boric acid in eight ounces of good quality witch hazel.

After washing and drying the face thoroughly, apply the solution to the trouble spots with cotton squares.

Repeat morning and night.

Different Drinks From Bahamas

There is nothing quite so warming in the winter as a breeze from the tropics... and the breeze that just blew on us is a collection of popular non-alcoholic drinks from various beverage experts in the Bahamas.

"Stubbs" of the Carlton House in Nassau there has prepared a tongue-tingling mixture called a Bloody Shame.

Bloody Shame
3 oz. tomato juice
Juice of 1/2 lime
Dash of Worcestershire sauce
Dash Tabasco (or hot sauce)
Salt and pepper to taste

Shake all ingredients along with ice cubes and serve in an old-fashioned glass.

And, for the little dears who want their frosted party drinks to say it with flowers there is Hibiscus Bloom, created by Buster Hall of the famous Emerald Beach Hotel in Nassau.

Hibiscus Bloom
2 oz. apricot juice
2 oz. grapefruit juice
2 oz. orange juice
1 dollop of eggwhite
2 drops bitters
2 drops grenadine
Combine all ingredients with crushed ice in a blender and mix for 30 seconds.

These are gala iced drinks that suit people of any age — and you'll find them a wonderful drink menu for the teen-age contingent.

Waldorf Salad

Making Waldorf Salad? If the apples you plan to use have a red skin, don't pare them. The original Waldorf Salad was a mixture of apple, celery and mayonnaise — but nowadays cooks usually add walnuts.

Nigeria has about a dozen major language groupings with breakdown into some 200 tribal dialects.

Salad Oil Pastry Not to Be Stored

Cooks who must avoid the use of solid shortenings will be pleased to know that a most acceptable pie crust may be made with safflower or other oil.

FLAKY PASTRY

2 cups sifted all purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup salad oil
1/4 cup plus 1 tablespoon ice water OR cold milk

Sift together flour and salt. Combine oil and ice water or milk in measuring cup. Beat with fork until creamy.

Immediately pour all at once over flour mixture. Toss and mix with fork. Form into ball; divide in half.

Shape each half into a flat round. Roll between two 12-inch squares of wax paper (Wipe table with damp cloth; paper will not slip.)

Remove top sheet; place dough in pan upside down; peel off bottom paper. Fit and trim.

Roll out top crust in the same manner, placing over filling. Cut gashes for escape of steam.

For one crust, divide ingredients. If wanted for unbaked filling, fit into pie pan as directed. Prick entire surface of crust. Bake 10 to 12 minutes at 475 degrees.

Always prepare this pastry just before using. Do not store.

Sardine Sandwiches Heated in Oven

This new open sandwich combination will be applauded!

Village Sardine Sandwiches
1 can (3 1/2 ounces) bristling sardines
1 tablespoon chili sauce
1 1/2 tablespoons mayonnaise
4 slices bread
8 slices tomato, thinly sliced
8 slices bacon, crisply cooked
Drain sardines; mash fine with chili sauce and mayonnaise.
Toast bread; spread one side each slice with the sardine mixture; pressing sure edges of bread are covered. Top with tomato slices and bacon.

Arrange on foil or cookie sheet and place in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until hot — 5 to 10 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 2 to 4 servings. Double recipe if desired.

Freeze Homemade Creamed Chicken as Time Saver

NEW YORK (UPI)—Frozen creamed chicken, made at home, can be an economical convenience food for preparing on short notice such main courses as scouffes, croquettes, chicken pie, casserole and sauced dishes.

Four 4-pound ready-to-cook stewing chickens, bought when they're sale priced, make enough creamed chicken to provide the basis for eight main dishes of six servings each.

One basic recipe and two variations were developed by Ann McGregor, home economist for a leading home freezer manufacturer. Here they are:

Heat 3 quarts of water to boiling point. Place cut-up chickens in deep kettle, add the water, 4 onions, 1 cup of celery tops, 1/2 cup of salt, 4 bay leaves and 3 to 4 carrots. Simmer, covered, about 3 to 4 hours, or until tender.

Add more boiling water if needed to keep chicken covered. Cool by placing kettle in sink filled with cold water. Stir mixture to hasten cooling.

Strain broth and freeze separately for use in soups, casseroles and gravies. Bone and dice meat, which should yield 12 cups.

Add diced chicken to following sauce. Stir 1 1/2 cups of flour into 1 1/2 cups of melted butter or margarine. Add 6 cups of top milk.

Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and smooth. Salt and pepper to taste. Divide into 8 freezer containers that will hold 2 1/2 cups each, plus room for expansion. Freeze immediately.

To make thickened chicken, defrost one portion of basic mixture in saucepan over low heat. Sauté 1/4 cup of blanched, sliced almonds in 1 tablespoon of butter or margarine until light gold. Set aside.

Mix 1/2 cup of milk with 1 beaten egg yolk and add to hot mixture, stirring constantly. Do not allow to boil. Add 1/4 teaspoon of salt. Cook 2 minutes.

Add 1 cup of drained pineapple tidbits; continue heating until pineapple is hot. Serve over canned chowmein noodles, toast, or mashed sweet potatoes. Garnish with sauteed almonds.

For avocado chicken delight, defrost 1 portion of basic chicken mixture in sauce pan over low heat. Add 2 tablespoons each of chopped pimientos and chopped green pepper.

Halve 3 ripe medium-sized avocados lengthwise and pit but do not peel. Sprinkle cut surfaces with total of 2 tablespoons of lemon juice.

Cut small slice from bottom of each avocado half so it will sit firmly in shallow baking pan. Divide heated filling among avocado halves, sprinkle with total of 4 tablespoons of dry bread crumbs and dot with butter. Four enough hot water into pan just to cover bottom of it. Place in preheated 350-degree oven about 15 minutes until avocados are hot. Serve immediately.

Poppy Seed Noodles

Ever add poppy seeds to buttered noodles? Two to three teaspoons of the seeds will be plenty for four servings of the noodles.

Market Irregularly Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was irregularly higher early today. Airlines were higher, steel mixed. Trading was active.

The major steelmakers showed fractional gains and the outcome of the election of a new president for the United Steelworkers Union, U.S. Steel gained a fraction. Bethlehem eased.

Eastern Air Lines, still rebounding strongly from its decline on news of its plane crash, rose 1/4 to 54 1/2 on an opening bid of 15,000 shares but later halved the gain.

American Airlines rose nearly a point, Pan American and United fractions.

Eastman Kodak climbed more than a point, as did IBM. Polaroid added 1/4.

Auto stocks had a slight edge to the upside. Ford eased while General Motors and Chrysler added fractions.

Aerospace defense stocks continued to make moderate progress as they responded further to the stepped-up hostilities in Viet Nam.

Studebaker, which reported 1964 earnings of 55 cents a share rose 1/4 to 7 1/2 on an opener of 18,000 shares.

Pure Oil dipped 1/4 to 57 1/2 on 18,000 shares. Polaroid rose 1/4 to 54 1/2 on 10,000 shares.

Great Western Financial was unchanged at 9 1/2 on successive blocks of 10,000 and 40,000 shares.

Opening blocks included: U.S. Steel, up 1/4 at 52 1/2 on 7,000 shares; Chrysler, up 1/4 at 58 1/2 on 4,800; and General Motors, up 1/4 at 100 on 4,700.

Tuesday, the Associated Press Average of 60 stocks rose 9 to 336.8.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were higher with most gains fractional.

Report Profit by Studebaker

Firm's Earnings Top $8. Million in 1964

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Studebaker Corp. bounced from a $16.9 million loss to an $8 million profit a year after quitting its auto making operations in the United States, the firm said Tuesday.

Bryers A. Burlingame, Studebaker president, reported net earnings of $8,064,934 for 1964 which he said were the firm's highest in the past five years and second highest in the last 12 years.

"Our four straight quarters of operating earnings in 1964 were the combined results of ending our automotive losses and the profitability of our 10 other divisions," Burlingame said.

The $8 million 1964 net earnings provided 55 cents a share on net sales of $281,755,634, he said. This compared with a net operating loss in 1963 of $16.9 million, equal to $1.21 a share on sales of $403,314,089.

Studebaker's corporate indebtedness has been reduced by $87.7 million as a result of repayments made in 1964 and to a tax-exempt device for running business enterprises. They want a special government agency set up to police them.

The Treasury says the great majority is above reproach, but criticizes a minority for abuses. These include stock speculation, controlling stock holdings in some corporations, and financial dealings of the foundation with its donors, officers or trustees.

Some congressional critics go much farther. They charge that some foundations have been used for tax evasion by individual donors and are actually just a tax-exempt device for running business enterprises. They want a special government agency set up to police them.

The Treasury concedes a minority are out of line with public interest, but thinks laws forbidding specific abuses will take care of that, without penalizing the majority.

The major share of donations by foundations goes to education. Health ranks second, still far behind although gaining in recent years. Closely following are social welfare, scientific research and international affairs. Smaller sums go to housing, art, and other fields.

Late in 1963, Studebaker ended auto building operations at South Bend and moved all its auto production to Canada.

Net earnings in the fourth quarter of 1964 totaled $2,417,454, or 17 cents a share on sales of $61,964,194, the firm said. This compared with a net operating loss in the final quarter of 1963 of $7,094,597, or 51 cents a share on sales of $100,678,997.

Q. "Would you give me some advice on the following stocks and whether I should sell any? I recently inherited $25,000 in stocks: National Distillers; Continental Can; American Tobacco; Cincinnati Gas & Electric; Kroger Co.; Taft Broadcasting and Columbia Gas." J. K.

A. You didn't mention your investment objective, so it is rather difficult to appraise your holdings in that light. You own just three stocks in the growth category—Continental Can, Electric, Kroger, and Taft Broadcasting. The balance of your holdings are in income stocks—all good in their respective groups—including slightly speculative El Paso Natural Gas, which is being obliged to divest itself of an important subsidiary but probably boosted earnings last year.

If you wish to enhance your growth potential, you might switch American Tobacco into Merck & Co., and Continental Can into Corn Products. Otherwise, I suggest no changes.

Q. "My wife and I have about $1,000 in Series E bonds dating back to 1944. Should we cash these and invest in stocks or just let them go on a S-I D.F." A. Series E bonds dated in 1944 are now in their second year of extension and are accruing interest at the rate of 3 1/2 percent compounded semi-annually. In addition to a guaranteed rate of return, they are stable as to principal since they can be redeemed without additional notice after two months of holding.

You mention no other investments, so no, other cash reserves. If these bonds represent all, or the major part, of your savings, I would definitely not redeem them and put the money into stocks which fluctuate—sometimes rather widely.

I would hold and allow interest to accrue and Federal income taxes to be deferred until maturity.

NEW YORK — Some 15,000 tax-exempt foundations with assets in excess of $16 billion have wide effects on large segments of the U.S. economy.

That is one reason they are under study by the Congress and the Treasury Department.

These foundations are primary sources of funds for education, scientific research, economic studies, religious institutions, overseas developments.

They also are a force in the stock market, since the bulk of their assets is in common stocks. And some are major stockholders of a wide assortment of business concerns.

The Treasury says the great majority is above reproach, but criticizes a minority for abuses. These include stock speculation, controlling stock holdings in some corporations, and financial dealings of the foundation with its donors, officers or trustees.

manities, religion, and government enterprises.

The biggest foundation is the Ford Foundation set up in 1946. Of late it has been slowly divesting itself of its huge holdings of Ford Motor stock but still has 46 percent of outstanding shares, but a nonvoting classification.

Next largest is the Rockefeller Foundation, set up in 1940. Its chief interests are research in biological and medical sciences, social sciences, agriculture, medical education and other fields.

Other huge funds are the Duke Endowment, set up in 1924; John A. Hartford Foundation, 1929; W.K. Kellogg Foundation, 1934; Carnegie Corporation of New York, 1911; Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, 1934; Moody Foundation, 1942; Rockefeller Brothers Fund, 1940; Lilly Endowment, 1937; Pew Memorial Trust, 1937; Danforth Foundation, 1927; and Commonwealth Fund, 1918.

But in recent years the big growth has been in the number of small foundations. Donations to them are deductible from personal income tax returns. And the foundations are tax-exempt as long as their objects and performance are in charitable fields.

Their assets have grown mightily in the big bull market in common stocks since World War II. Ordinary investment income is calculated as approaching $600 million a year, with net capital gains on investments carried on the books at nearly $500 million.

With about two-thirds of these assets represented by common stock, the foundations' role in the market is considerable. But the stock exchanges have grown as fast as the foundations. So the Treasury finds that the percentage of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange now held by foundations has changed little since 1950, although the total of stock thus held has grown.

Congressional hearings on what to do about foundations could well develop considerable heat, despite the good marks given the majority by the Treasury.

When the message will go to Congress is still uncertain.

Speculation has ranged over a dozen possible steps, including one deemed highly probable because it requires no action by Congress—a broadening of the "interest equalization tax" to cover loans by American banks to firms abroad.

The penalty tax, designed to discourage export of investment dollars, now applies only to American purchases of foreign stocks or bonds. A large upturn in direct bank loans since last fall indicates that the direct-loan technique is being used to avoid the tax.

Another proposal—much talked-about, but considered by most officials to be the least likely to be adopted—is a tax of $50 to $100 on each U.S. tourist going overseas.

Other suggestions have included the bringing home of some troops stationed in Europe, cutting reducing further below the present $100—the amount of duty-free goods which may be carried home by tourists; and a tax plan to make American investments more attractive to foreigners.

At his news conference last week, LaRocca pointed out that unless the report is filed with the Internal Revenue Service, domestic workers will not receive Social Security credit for the work they have done, even though in some instances the tax was withheld from their earnings.

Many domestic workers are unaware that the employers are not filing a proper report of these wages.

U.S. Payment Woe

Plan Stern Deficit Steps

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration is making its final decisions on an imminent presidential message proposing new and sterner measures to deal with the growing deficit in international payments.

When the message will go to Congress is still uncertain.

File Reports on Domestic

William LaRocca, Social Security district manager in Pontiac, said today that if a domestic worker is paid wages of $50 or more in cash in a calendar quarter, a Social Security tax report must be filed by the employer for that quarter.

LaRocca emphasized that only wages paid in cash are reportable.
