

Fluoride Issue Expected to Be on April Ballot

Sen. Potter Tells of U.S. Listening Post Operating in Russian Sector of Germany

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Charles E. Potter, back from a visit to Red-run East Berlin, thinks breaking diplomatic relations with Russia would cost the United States a valuable source of military intelligence.

The 38-year-old Michigan Republican also said in an exclusive United Press interview that the atomic-armed forces of the free world could defeat a Russian attack in Europe—and Russia knows it.

Potter said the United States maintains a 14-man military mission at Potsdam, in East Germany, just as the Soviets have a similar mission in the West zone.

Toll Road Law Repeal Sought by Broomfield

Would Block Turnpike in Favor of Federal, State Freeways

LANSING (AP)—Sen. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) said today he would seek to repeal Michigan's toll road law.

Broomfield said he would introduce legislation to wipe out the 1952 law setting up the state turnpike authority with power to build toll expressways between Detroit and Saginaw and between Detroit and Southwestern Michigan en route to Chicago.

File Petitions This Afternoon Requesting Vote

Names Must Be Checked to Put Matter Before City's Electorate

Petitions seeking a public vote on the fluoridation issue were scheduled to be presented to the city clerk this afternoon.

The Rev. Robert Garner, chairman of the Citizens' Fair Government League, which circulated the petitions, said between 2,800 and 3,000 signatures of registered voters were on the petitions.

City officials estimated about 2,100 names are needed to put the question on the April 4 ballot.

Foundry Blast Kills Workman

250 Flee Detroit Plant as Magnesium Flames Trap Crane Operator

DETROIT (INS) — An explosion of granulated magnesium alloy mushroomed like a miniature atom blast through the Detroit Gray Iron Foundry today, trapping and killing almost instantly a crane operator high up in his cab.

Some 250 workmen on the floor of the foundry fled to safety from the white-hot flames, which hurled windows and skylights in the plant through the air.

But burned to death was 71-year-old Robert Whitlaw, helpless 30 feet up in the 2½-story foundry.

Witnesses said Whitlaw saw the flames and commotion at the other end of the building when the fire first broke out and moved his electric crane along its track so he could get a closer look.

But when he got above the flames they surged up suddenly and engulfed the cab, burning the power cables so that it could not move. Others shouted at Whitlaw to jump but said they doubted he even heard them.

The fire was touched off by sparks dropped into the magnesium from the welding torch of John Easley, who was cutting up a heavy steel frame.

Observers Give Pineau Less Than 50-50 Chance

PARIS (AP) — Observers today gave right-wing Socialist Christian Pineau less than a 50-50 chance to form a new government as France's political crisis continued into its 12th day.

Although the Socialist party voted last night to support fully Pineau's efforts, the candidate for the premiership increased his own difficulties by pledging to follow the methods of former Premier Pierre Mendes-France and outlining a program similar to that followed by him.

Nixon Heading for El Salvador

Enjoys Big Indian Fete at Conclusion of Visit in Guatemala

QUEZALTENANGO, Guatemala (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon headed for El Salvador today after being entertained with music, dancing and food by one of the largest gatherings of Guatemalan Indians ever assembled to honor a visitor.

Nixon said he was "positively entranced" by the display, staged by the people of villages in the vicinity of Quetzaltenango, a city of 49,000 half an hour by air from Guatemala City.

The Indian men in this area wear skirts and the women are clad in dazzling beautiful costumes they weave themselves.

The vice president—now on a good will tour of the Caribbean countries—flew here from the capital with President Carlos Castillo Armas. They were accompanied by dozens of security police carrying submachineguns. Castillo Armas, who has faced several revolutionary plots, is one of the best guarded men in Latin America.

Nixon and the President ate a lunch of native dishes in a thatched hut. The menu included pache, an Indian version of Mexican tamales, fried tortillas with a topping of pickled beets, chili peppers and cheese, and a boiled dumpling dessert made of ground corn, raisins and sugar.

"The toll road law was passed at a time when a lot of people feared there was no other way to handle the heavy traffic on these two major routes," Broomfield said.

"Now there is a big federal aid program in the offing and Michigan itself obviously is going to have some kind of a major highway construction program in the near future. Therefore, it seems senseless to go into an expensive toll road program."

Broomfield said he had talked with a large number of road men and with state officials and found them agreed that Michigan does not need toll roads now in competition with freeways.

Broomfield, representing Oakland County, comes from an area where citizens have been objecting violently to proposals to run the north-south toll road through exclusive residential areas.

At the same time, Dearborn residents have been protesting reports that the route will cut their community in two. Earlier, a group of Saginaw area businessmen had protested the project.

Dearborn city council last night authorized its corporation counsel, Dale F. Fillmore, to seek a court injunction against routing the turnpike through the heart of the city. Councilmen indicated they would not object to the highway if it went through the western edge of the city.

In Oakland County, residents of Franklin Village and the Bloomfield Hills area are reported concerned over what the turnpike might do to residential property.

Senate hostility to the toll road had forced so many restrictive amendments that toll road friends had to withdraw a bill to allow the Turnpike authority to issue promissory notes pending sale of its revenue bonds.

The turnpike authority has completed most of its engineering and traffic surveys of the 117-mile north-south route.

Business Opportunity Offered to Solon

OKEENE, Okla. (UP) — Joe Dunne of the Okeene Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors an annual rattlesnake roundup, had an idea today for the Oklahoma congressman who said he could not live on a $15,000 yearly salary.

"A good man can make $1,000 a day at rattlesnake milking in a small town like Okeene," Dunn said. "We figure he could make $5,000 a day in Washington. There are more rattlesnakes."

First of Refunds on Income Tax Due by March 1

DETROIT (AP)—The first batch of refund checks on 1954 income taxes should be in the hands of taxpayers by March 1, A. M. Menninger, Michigan district director of the Internal Revenue Service, said yesterday.

Menninger said some 8,000 checks were sent to the Chicago disbursing office last week. They should be in the mail by the last week of February, Menninger said.

The checks will average $77 apiece, he added. They are the first of 1,400,000 expected refunds to Michigan taxpayers.

Girl, 16, Stabbed by Young Boy

Janice Sears Knifed During Snowball Fight; Suspect Baldwin Pupil

Janice Sears, 16, of 2600 Woodbine Dr., a St. Michael High School Junior, was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital last night for a stab wound she received while she and her sister were on their way home from school yesterday.

The girl and her sister, Patricia, 17, also an 11th grader, said they were walking near Edison and Howard streets when a group of boys threw snowballs at them.

"When we decided to throw back at them," said Patricia, "one boy about 10 or 11 years old took out a pocket knife and said, 'I'll fix you if you throw that snowball.'"

"He plunged at Janice with the knife and some boys held him because he acted so mean. Then we separated and all went home."

Patricia said that Janice was unaware that she had been stabbed in the right groin until they arrived home and she complained of pain.

Their father, Francis C. Sears, rushed Janice to the hospital where she required two stitches to close the wound and tetanus shots. Sears said the wound was about an inch and one-half deep.

Pontiac Police today will take the girls to the Baldwin School, about a block away from St. Michael, to attempt identity of the knife-wielding youngster who is believed to be a student there.

Republicans Drop Plans for September Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have abandoned plans for a September presidential nominating convention in 1956 but National Chairman Leonard W. Hall indicated today he hopes state election laws can be changed to permit an August meeting.

Hall told newsmen practical difficulties, such as certification requirements in certain states, stand in the way of a September meeting, first suggested as a means of shortening the presidential campaign.

Democrats announced yesterday, in advance of a GOP convention site subcommittee meeting here tomorrow, they will open their convention in Chicago's International Amphitheater July 23 unless changes are made in state laws before then.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said that if these changes were made, the convention would be moved back to Aug. 13.

Detroit Voters Get Additional Machines

DETROIT—Five hundred additional voting machines are being installed by Detroit election officials and will be ready for use in the primary election Monday. The new machines will bring the city's total to 2,060, and will provide machine voting in 683 precincts of the city's 1,541. Election officials predict more than half the precincts will have voting machines by time for the 1956 primary and general election.

Chiang Believes U.S. Show of Power Off Formosa Will Not Hold Back Reds

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Chiang Kai-shek declared today the show of strength by the U. S. 7th Fleet in the Tachen evacuation would not deter Communist aggression in the Formosa area, even for a short while.

In an exclusive interview with Fred Hampson, AP chief of bureau from Hong Kong, the President of Nationalist China indicated the offshore island outposts his forces still man could be held against a Red attack.

He again declined to spell out his version of an agreement with the United States on joint defense of Quemoy and Matsu Islands, saying only "the matter is very clear to us and to the Communists."

Hampson reported the generalissimo "seems to feel that during the Tachen action the

Authorities Probing Cause of Fatal Fire

Cause of the fire which snuffed out the lives of two young Pontiac Township children Monday remained undetermined today after authorities investigated ruins of the home.

Linda Lee Reed, 3½ and her brother, Ronald, 2, were burned to death when the blaze swept through their home at 1529 Vinewood.

Pontiac Township Fire Chief Carl Schingek said he plans to question Mrs. Myrtle Reed, 24, the mother, listed in good condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with first and second degree burns suffered in a futile attempt to save the children from the mid-morning fire.

Schingek, who theorized that the children may have been playing with matches, said the blaze appeared to have started in the youngsters' bedroom, spreading while the mother slept in another room.

Detroit Held in Strongarming

Two Pontiac Women Free on Bond in $1,100 Unarmed Robbery

A Detroit man was bound over for circuit court arraignment and two women demanded examinations yesterday on charges rising from a $1,100 unarmed robbery Friday of a former city employee. Arville Anderson, 24, of 1425 Howard St., waived examination and was ordered held by Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum when unable to post a $2,500 bond, pending hearing Feb. 21. He is charged with unarmed robbery.

Charged with the same crime, Mable Sheek, 46, of 132 Lafayette St., furnished a $2,500 bond. Eva Springsteen, 39, of 214 N. Saginaw St., charged with receiving stolen property, also furnished a similar bond. Both women are scheduled for hearing Feb. 23.

The trio was arrested after Harry Sturges, 33, of 716 Fourth St., told Pontiac Police he was strongarmed by Anderson in a S. Saginaw street tavern Friday morning.

In a statement to Assistant Prosecutor William E. Lang, Anderson said he followed Sturges into the men's lavatory and took the money, which Sturges had received from the city after he quit his job after eight years.

The money was accumulated retirement pay, Sturges was treated for face cuts and bruises.

Trapped Cars Wail in Port Huron Fire

PORT HURON (INS)—A $300,000 fire destroyed the Cawood Auto Sales Co. in the heart of Port Huron last night and 38 autos, some of them new cars, were consumed by the flames.

The agency covered a half-block. Officials of the agency were in a sales conference when they discovered the blaze and succeeded in saving 35 new automobiles that were on the showroom floor and in storage.

As the 38 cars trapped in the service department were destroyed by the flames, the insulation covering their electric wiring was burned away and the short-circuiting resulted in a bizarre wailing of the cars' horns.

One of the 380 spectators commented:

"It sounded like a lot of crows trapped in a barn."

Popular Music Not Well Liked, Composer Says

ST. LOUIS (U)—Robert Shaw, noted choral director of Scarsdale, N.Y., says "popular music is not the people's music."

"The people think so little of it that they tire of it in six to 16 weeks," he told a meeting of the Music Teacher National Assn. convention yesterday.

"The great music is the people's music—the most human or universal music," he said.

"One falls in love by being at the right place at the right time for long enough. If there is no place where the public can meet Bach or Beethoven, how can the people be expected to love them?"

Nehru Arrives in Egypt to Confer With Premier

CAIRO, Egypt (U)—Indian Prime Minister Nehru arrived in Cairo today for a visit with Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser, who advocates the same nationalist policy in world affairs as does Nehru.

They were expected to confer promptly on what diplomats described only as "major world issues."

Calls on Dulles to Clarify Policy

Sen. Humphrey Seeks Statement of Policy on Nationalist Isles

WASHINGTON (INS)—The state department said today that Secretary John Foster Dulles will "clarify" in a major address Wednesday night the U. S. position regarding the Communist menace, Nationalist-held offshore islands in the Formosa Strait.

WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today Chiang Kai-shek's broad hint that he expects the United States to help defend Quemoy and the Matsus makes it essential that the Eisenhower administration state its policy clearly.

Humphrey disclosed in an interview that he had written to Secretary of State Dulles last week asking for a public statement of the "precise position and policy" of the administration toward these islands just off the Red China coast.

Now, Humphrey said, Chiang's comment at a Taipei news conference yesterday "makes it all the more essential that Mr. Dulles put the record absolutely straight."

Chiang said "in no case" would Quemoy and the Matsus be abandoned, and made it plain the expected U. S. stance is to help defend them.

Humphrey said that "of course" it might be necessary for U. S. air power to be used against a possible Communist attack on Quemoy, lying in the mouth of Amoy harbor, or the Matsus Islands, just off the port of Foochow.

"We certainly would not want to wait until the Communists had landed on the beaches of Formosa," he said.

Wreckage Is Sighted by Airliner Searchers

VITERBO, Italy (U)—An American plane searching for a Belgian Sabena airliner missing since Sunday night with 29 persons aboard reported sighting wreckage today on a mountain 60 miles northeast of Viterbo. The pilot added he saw no sign of life.

Officials said they were not certain the wreckage was that of the DC-4 airliner which vanished with 21 passengers, including 4 Americans, and a crew of 8, on a flight from Brussels to the Belgian Congo.

Patrols were sent immediately to climb Mt. Vettore, a 6,500-foot peak in the Central Apennine highlands.

Sets Sentencing Date

Warner Bell, 20, of 20834 Colwell, Farmington, yesterday pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and Oakland County Circuit Judge George B. Hartwick set sentencing for Feb. 21.

Bell admitted breaking into the John Grace School, 21030 Indiana, Southfield Township, last Oct. 13.

Admits Breakin Charge

In Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday, Robert C. Lewis, 17, of Farmington, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and Judge George B. Hartwick set sentencing for Feb. 21.

Lewis admitted entering a sporting goods store at Telegraph Rd. and Northwestern Hwy. last Dec. 30.

Admits Morals Charge

Patrick W. Duggan, 21, of 186 N. Perry St. yesterday pleaded guilty to assault with intent to rape and Oakland County Circuit Judge George B. Hartwick set sentencing for Feb. 21.

Duggan admitted abducting a 15-year-old girl by forcing her into his truck at knife-point last Jan. 4 at Airport and Hatchery Rds.

Accused Slayer Labels Judge 'Stupid Old Fool'

LOS ANGELES (U)—A defendant in a murder trial called Superior Judge Charles W. Fricke "a stupid old fool" yesterday and accused him of "running the trial in a very prejudicial manner."

James Merkouris, 43, formerly of Grand Rapids Mich., staged the outburst during testimony by an autopsy surgeon.

Merkouris is charged with shooting his ex-wife, Mrs. Robert Forbes. His outburst followed introduction of pictures showing the bodies of Mrs. Forbes and her husband. Both were found shot to death in their ceramics shop last Sept. 20.

Merkouris is accused of both slayings but is being tried on one murder charge at a time at the request of the prosecution.

"You stupid old fool," Merkouris said to Judge Fricke, "you may have written a few books on law, but you haven't learned anything—you are trying me for one count, and yet you allow an unscrupulous prosecutor and a bungling police department to show pictures of two people who were killed."

Judge Fricke threatened to have Merkouris gagged if he made any further disturbance. Merkouris quieted down.

Both GOP and Democratic 1935 conventions.

Hall indicated that if efforts to amend the Massachusetts, Connecticut and South Dakota election laws are carried forward, the Republicans would like to hold their convention as late as possible.

Hall, who conferred with President Eisenhower yesterday about the convention time and place, has made it clear he expects Eisenhower to be the GOP nominee again. He was backed strongly in this viewpoint by Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), who said, "It seems perfectly obvious to me that Eisenhower should and will be a candidate again."

The site selection subcommittee headed by Hall was reported to be giving serious consideration to a last-minute bid by San Francisco.

Committee officials said San Francisco had offered to match the $250,000 pledged by Chicago and Philadelphia, had assured that 10,000 hotel rooms could be made available and had cited cool August weather as a special inducement.

New Synthetic Diamonds Identical to Real Stones

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. Man-made diamonds exactly like nature's own were announced today—a scientific dream come true.

They cost at least twice as much to make as natural diamonds, but in time may be greatly reduced.

These artificial diamonds are no threat, as yet anyhow, to the value of your diamonds, nor any immediate hope for cheaper diamond necklaces or engagement rings.

But they offer a new home-grown supply of diamonds vitally important in industry and national defense.

Diamond is the hardest known material. Hundreds of pounds are imported annually to cut steel, dig through rock to find oil, make precision tools, perform scores of tasks, war or blockade could not cut off the man-made supply.

Success in creating diamonds was announced by scientists of the General Electric research laboratory. One process does it by creating pressure and heat equal to that 240 miles deep within the earth.

Diamonds are made within a few minutes when a carbon-containing material is subjected to this pressure and heat. The starting material was not identified. But scientists hinted it contains graphite, the carbon used in "lead" pencils. Diamonds are crystals of pure carbon.

By every test, these diamonds are indistinguishable from those

Denies Asking Senate Prober for Loan, but Admits Money Woes

NEW YORK (U)—Harvey Matusow has denied asking a Senate investigator for a $1,000 loan and saying he would raise some money "by hook or crook."

Matusow conceded in cross-examination in federal court yesterday that he was nearly broke when he made a deal to write a book about giving false anti-Communist testimony.

In answer to questions posed by U.S. Atty. J. Edward Lumbard, Matusow also acknowledged that after he signed an affidavit retracting testimony against 13 Communist leaders he was given a contract that increased his share of proceeds from the book.

Lumbard said his questioning was to find out whether Matusow would "do anything for a buck."

Matusow was examined before Federal Judge Edward J. Dimock at a hearing on an application for a new conspiracy trial by 13 convicted second-rank Communists. They have based their appeal on Matusow's affidavit retracting his testimony.

For several years Matusow has appeared as an ex-Communist at government trials and before investigating bodies. He now says much of his testimony at these hearings was false.

Williams Will Receive Welsh Society Award

PHILADELPHIA (U)—The Welsh Society of Philadelphia will hold its 26th annual St. David's Day dinner March 1.

The society will present its Gold Medal Award to Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan for being the most distinguished American of Welsh ancestry in 1934.

Benjamin F. Fairless, head of U. S. Steel Corp. and the son of a Welsh immigrant coal miner, received the award last year.

Veteran Sports Medic Expires in Detroit

DETROIT (U)—Dr. William E. Keane, club physician for the Detroit Tigers for 27 years and later for the Detroit Red Wings, Detroit Lions and University of Detroit Athletic teams, died last night. He was 76.

A nationally known urologist, Dr. Keane tended the Tigers' aches and pains from 1907 to 1934.

Martin Speech Woos Texans

GOP Leader Praises Lone Star State, Gets in Plugs for Party

DALLAS, Tex. (U)—An old-school orator who likes Ike, Rep. Joe Martin (R-Mass.), made a big hit with some 700 Republicans and a liberal sprinkling of former Democrats in Dallas.

Martin spoke last night at a $100-a-plate Lincoln Day fund-raising dinner and started building up the crowd's enthusiasm with a subject dear to the heart of Texans: Texas and Texans.

With exuberance that increased nearly every minute of the 30-minute speech, the crowd broke into his talk at least 20 times as he praised Texas, Texas Republicans, the GOP program and President Eisenhower.

"No man, I am sure, could in one evening talk about all of the wonderful things I have seen in this great state," Martin said. From that point on, he had full attention.

He said it was his belief Eisenhower would run for re-election and win "easily with a bigger majority than ever." The Congress would again be Republican, and that the GOP would carry the South.

He told the crowd: 1. Republicans wiped out economic controls, settled the tide-lands dispute, ended the Korean War and abolished government agencies that competed with private business.

2. That his party created the Health, Education and Welfare Department and selected "the best-looking Cabinet officer in history"—Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, of Houston—to run it.

3. That the Republicans intended to keep the United States so strong militarily and economically that no foreign power would dare attack us.

4. That Red China could be "polished off in 30 days" and that the "Red plotters will resort to arms only if they are sure they can win."

Romanians Hold Bern Legation

Anti-Commies Invade Building, Kill Chauffeur, Drive Out Staff

BERN, Switzerland (U)—A band of Romanian resistance fighters barricaded themselves in Communist Romania's legation buildings here today after a 2 a.m. assault which killed the legation chauffeur and drove the entire staff into the street.

They vowed to hold the legation, located in a large park at the western edge of the city, until the Bucharest government frees five persons held as political prisoners.

"We have nothing to lose but our lives," the band's leader called in German to rifle-armed Swiss police who surrounded the legation and sought to persuade the band to surrender.

The legation chauffeur, Aurel Setu, was knifed and struck down by submachinegun fire when he tried to resist the attack. He died in a hospital at noon.

One of the invaders, captured while trying to slip through the police cordon, was carrying a sub-machinegun and documents stolen from the legation. He told police only that he belonged to the anti-Communist resistance in Romania.

The Red Romanian government demanded formally that the band be arrested and extradited to Bucharest.

The Swiss Cabinet in an emergency meeting at 7:30 a.m. decided the police should first try persuasion rather than force in their effort to get the gang out of the legation.

Bern Police Chief Eduard Freimüller told a news conference the men said they would come out only if the Romania government released five prominent political prisoners. The Cabinet decided to relay the demand to the Romanian government "just in case," Freimüller said.

Pontiac Deaths

Linda Lee Reed Ronald Ray Reed

Service for Linda Lee, 3½, and Ronald Ray, 2, children of Carl C. and Myrtle A. Shaw Reed of 1529 Vinewood Ave., will be held from the Hutton Funeral Home Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. The Rev. L. W. Parent of the Apostolic Church of God will officiate with burial in Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

Linda Lee was born here Aug. 14, 1931, and Ronald Ray was also born here Feb. 13, 1933. The children died in the fire at their home yesterday morning. Besides their mother and father, they are survived by their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Shaw of Pontiac and Oscar Reed of Nebraska, Ind.

A brother died last year of a virus infection.

HENRY D. PRICE

The fifth man appointed to the Pontiac Area United Fund Budget Steering Committee is Henry D. Price, according to Robert M. Glenn, committee chairman.

Price, of 3795 Kipling, Berkeley, is partner in a firm of local tax consultants. He served on a UF budget panel last year.

He will work with Glenn, Robert S. Nelson, Edward P. Barrett and Donald G. Berryman to supervise budgeting of money donated in last fall's UF drive and help determine financial needs of the 55 health and welfare agencies for 1936.

Sen. Potter Reveals Listening Post Use

for valor under fire, leaned back in his heavy leather chair. He told of a lunch with Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, North Atlantic Treaty commander in Europe, and with military representatives of France, the Netherlands, Britain and Italy.

"What's the military strength of Western Europe, Senator?" he was asked.

"We're strong," he said. "I'm convinced that if trouble started there, we would gain a military victory."

"Do you mean we'd hold 'em, senator, or lick 'em?"

Potter leaned forward, folded his arms on the desk and looked his interviewer in the eye.

"Lick 'em," he said. "And I think the Soviet Union knows that."

"We've got weapons and firepower, retaliation from the air and extremely powerful firepower on the ground, which would make an attack extremely costly."

"Are you talking about atomic weapons?"

"Yes," said Potter. "Our strength—the strength of the free world in Europe—is the best deterrent we have to war."

On a chair beside his desk hung the two black canes which help Potter walk, slowly but with infinite, cheerful determination, on artificial legs. He told how he spent back two weeks ago to the spot where he lost his legs. It was 10 years later, to the day.

"I went back for a French ceremony on the 10th anniversary of the liberation of Colmar by the First French Army," he said, remembering the earlier, non-atomic war. "My division—the 28th—was attached to that outfit."

"That's where I was hit the third time," (He had been wounded twice before.)

"That's where I went over the fence. It was Jan. 31, 1945."

Potter talks about his wound cheerfully, with reticence.

"When he 'went over the fence' in a night attack—"It was kind of a dice affair, on the plains of the Rhine,"—he leaped from the top squarely onto a German land mine.

"Brig. Gen. Earl Rudder of Brady, Tex., who was my regimental commander, went back with me," he said. "He located where the attack jumped off. The command post had been in an old church—a high old thing—and Rudder found the church."

"We located where I was hit. It was a little town on the outskirts of Colmar."

"I remember it was bitterly cold that night. This time, it was quite pleasant."

lai railed at what he termed U.S. aggressive moves and asserted that if "imperialists" wage war, "we, together with the peoples of the whole world, will certainly wipe them out clean from the surface of the globe."

(Moscow tributes to the treaty anniversary steered clear of the Formosa issue. Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov toasted Chinese-Soviet friendship at a party but made no specific pledges.)

The remaining Nationalist outpost islands, scattered along 270 miles of Red China's coast, loom as the next trouble spots.

Apart from Nanchishan and Quemoy, the most important other position the Nationalists hold is Matsuo, which dominates the approaches to Foochow, capital of Fukien province.

Invasion attempts by the Reds against either Quemoy or Matsuo, or both, might involve the United States in defensive action to safeguard Formosa and the nearby Pescadores.

The Day in Birmingham Commissioners Approve Sewers for School Site

BIRMINGHAM—Storm and sanitary sewage facilities for the new junior high school, on which construction bids will be received March 29, were approved last night by the City Commission.

City fire protection for the new school and Pembroke School also were granted.

The area north of the junior high—which will be built on the east side of Adams south of Derby road—also faces drainage problems, but serving for that area is still under consideration.

City Manager Donald C. Egbert was instructed to first secure specifications from Troy Township officials, as to the quantity and quality of homes they will permit to be built there. The land is zoned for multiple family development.

In other action, lawmakers sold $260,000 of the recently issued $400,000 parking revenue bonds issue at a net interest rate of 3.081 per cent. This will be used for construction of the 223-car municipal parking lot in Pierce between Merrill and Brown streets.

City Commissioner Robert E. Navin earned a vote of thanks for past achievements from his fellow workers as he turned in his resignation. A business change has necessitated his move out of town, but he was reappointed to serve until the April election.

Next, a proposed bond issue for an artificial ice skating rink at Eton Park was raised from $110,000 to $125,000. If the bond issue is approved at the election, the added funds will be used to improve parking facilities at the park.

Wayne University president Dr. Clarence B. Hilberry will speak at an open meeting at Baldwin Library at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow in a program sponsored by Friends of the Baldwin Public Library.

Ferndale Supt. of Schools Roy E. Robinson will speak on "Implications of Individual Differences in Education" when City and Country School PTA meets at 8:30 tonight.

Members of the Puppeteers are expected to turn out en masse for their meeting at 8 tonight at the Aspen road home of Mrs. John Lambie, when the next production of the group is to be decided.

Pros and cons of the toll road proposed by the Michigan Turnpike Authority, which would cut through Bloomfield Township, will be discussed.

'Shtiggy Boom' Jolts Listeners 'Round the Clock

NEW ORLEANS (U)—A one-song record marathon near the 24-hour mark today as two disc jockeys hoped to parlay listener curiosity and "Shtiggy Boom" into a winning publicity combination.

Bill Stanley and Bill Elliott launched their stunt at 6 a.m. yesterday, the first day of radio station WNOE's 24-hour broadcasting schedule. The station had been signing off shortly after midnight.

Bill Stewart, program director for the station, said the WNOE telephone switchboard has been swamped with calls since 6:15 a.m. yesterday.

The calls increased as the day wore on and the rhythm-blues tune continued to blare, broken only by commercials and newscasts. Early today, the supply of the Four Nuggets' recording and the disc jockeys' voices, used alternately, still held out.

The song was written by Al Jarvis, of Los Angeles, and voiced the plea of a lover for the affections of his love. The pleas are interspersed with the phrase "shtiggy boom."

The stunt has the approval of station manager James Gordon, who said the announcers were broadcasting from the WNOE transmitter at Belle Chasse, 11 miles from here. They are being fed news by automobile from the station studio.

The selection of "Shtiggy Boom," a new song, officially was called only a coincidence.

U.S. Policy Bolsters World Efforts for Peace--Lodge

PHILADELPHIA (U)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, says the foreign policy of the Eisenhower administration is enabling the free world to "settle down confidently to the long haul" toward strengthening world peace.

Speaking last night at a Lincoln Day dinner sponsored by the Pennsylvania Republican Committee, Lodge said one of the foremost ingredients of that foreign policy is President Eisenhower's "fight for

Soviet Teaching Little Reds How to Say Thanks

MOSCOW UP—There's a big drive on now to teach courtesy and politeness to Russian children. Schoolteachers are leading the campaign.

Teachers Gazette, organ of the Ministry of Education, devoted a six-column article to it and there have been articles on the same subject in Komsomol Pravda, the organ of the Soviet Communist Youth League.

"How can one explain," demands Teacher Gazette, "the many cases of rudeness, brusqueness or impoliteness of youngsters—even girls as well as boys."

"We must teach children at school cultural habits, manners in school, in public places, in every day life, and especially respect for their parents and other adults. . . . Sometimes our teachers pay much attention to this and they achieve good results. For instance, in one school, children aged 11 and 12 were unruly. So the teachers started to teach them to say 'Thank you' and how to treat grownups and parents."

Tourists at White House Actually Don't See Much

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
WASHINGTON (INS)—Well, I dropped by 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue to see how the Eisenhowers are making out in that remodeled White House they live in and— from what I could see—they're pretty well fixed.

Of course, owing to my timid nature in the presence of armed guards, I didn't see much.

It seems that six rooms out of a total of 132 is par for the White House public course. And no peeking at anything you're not poked into either, buddy, or you go PDQ to the FBI.

This being the case, a White House tourist misses many of the presidential manse's delights, including the bed that Harry slept in, the piano that Harry played, a total of 21 bedrooms, 17 baths, 15 washrooms and any number of parlors and studies.

Disappointed as I was at not being able to see the President or any of his four built-in elevators, I understood completely. After all, put yourself in Mamie's shoes. She is responsible, with the help of 60-odd household helpers, for keeping the place clean. And if you had 5,500 visitors a day, would you turn them loose to poke their 55,000 fingers into everything? Your satin brocade walls would be simply a mess in no time.

I was privileged to take what the White House refers to, coyly, as the "personal tour." This is the intimate, Class A tour (no dogs or known Communists allowed) limited to a mere 35 oglers.

We gathered, after being thoughtfully perused for sinister smirks or suspicious bulges at the pocket, at the friendly family entrance to the sprawling green lawn. I say friendly because here the tall black gates are equipped with only three guards, and they are all handsome.

One of these herded us politely up the walk and into a pine-paneled ground-floor parlor called the China Room. Around its walls, in glass cases, were porcelain dinner services labeled with the name of the President whose administration ate off them. I was forced to shudder with distaste at Rutherford B. Hayes' choice in scenic service plates, but was compensated by the sight of Lincoln's mammoth eagle-crested coffee mugs. Good of 'Honest Abe'—liked coffee and refused to imbibe in the deceit of a demitasse.

"The china currently being used in the White House," said the guard guide, "is this Lenox pattern purchased during the administration of Mr. Truman." Thirty-five pairs of eyes focused on Truman's cream, white and beige choice and, like a crowd of bridesmaids looking over the wedding gifts, we ooh-ed.

The guard, smiling smugly, led us onward.

The next room, a round but small one, was called the Diplomatic Reception Room or the Fireside Chat Room, depending on which party you belong to. It has an air of intimacy, especially with 35 persons in it, but the shape impressed most. Ten minutes later, I became unimpressed, however, because it seems a good many White House rooms are oval. Makes for easier handling of the silk-covered walls, which are also quite common in a chic, costly way.

We were next led into a hallway, which might be called the "smoking hallway." The guide explained, rather stuffily, I thought, that guests are not permitted to smoke above the first floor in the White House "so if they must have a cigarette," he sniffed, "they are ushered down here."

On the second floor, the first room was the East Ballroom, a gilt and satin salon unfurnished except for a few prim gold chairs and a great grand piano the size of five of mine. This is the "Wedding and Lying-in-State Room," where—"among others"—Alice Roosevelt, the daughter of Theodore, was married, and Franklin Delano Roosevelt laid in state.

Through four more oval rooms we trudged, marveling at the parquet floors which are waxed daily by electric floor polishers, and the great crystal chandeliers that flash more colors than the best rainbows, and the furniture which is either magnificently overstuffed or exquisitely simple and burnished.

At the end of 20 minutes, we had had it. We'd missed the White House dental office, its doctor's lab, its barber shop and its TV dens, but we had seen a typical example of the decor, said the guide.

Certainly I had seen enough to know that the Eisenhowers, who grubbed along in a two-room apartment on a second lieutenant's pay of $151.67 a month when they were first married, are very comfortably situated today.

New Zealand Opposes Red Bid for Formosa

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (P)—Lining up in opposition to a Chinese Communist demand for immediate possession of Formosa, New Zealand said today that the strategic island and the neighboring Pescadores cannot be considered an integral part of the Chinese mainland.

The government stand was outlined in a statement by Foreign Minister Thomas MacDonald. It termed also unacceptable a Soviet proposal for a 10-nation international conference, excluding Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese regime, to settle the Formosa crisis.

Bob Considine Says:Aviation's Courtesy Code Is Brotherhood in Action

NEW YORK (INS) — Brotherhood Week (Feb. 20-27) will find many fine treatises on the value and need of better understanding among the peoples and sects of the world. But of all the proposed messages on tap, the best I've seen is one written by Howard G. Kurtz Jr., in my friend Gill Robb Wilson's interesting heavier-than-air journal, "Flying."

Kurtz's point is that in aviation everybody starts equal. If you need help getting a plane up or down, he writes, nobody cares about the color of your face, the cut of your hair, or how you pray — or whether.

Dr. Everett R. Clancy, president of the World Brotherhood and National Conference of Christians and Jews, has said it more opaquely: "Air transport has challenged all creeds to face up to a common moral imperative for the family of mankind."

"During a recent Christmas season, his eminence, Francis Cardinal Spellman flew the scheduled airlines westward around the world from New York to New York, spending Christmas in Korea. Some idealist noted that Thailanders, Burmese, Hindus, Pakistanians, Iraqis, Lebanese, Italians, Greeks, Turks, Japanese, et al, had joined in duty to assure the churchman a safe and happy journey, and pointed out that this was a notable tribute to a wonderful man."

"Now none could agree more heartily than we that Cardinal Spellman is a wonderful man," Kurtz continues, "but it was not for this reason that Moslem and Greek Orthodox, Jew and Hindu, Buddhist and Taoist, Protestant and Catholic, and even agnostics among us were instrumental in one way or another in serving Cardinal Spellman."

"He was a stranger and we took him in with absolute religious tolerance because we cannot afford intolerance. Any less rule would be dangerous . . . not to the cardinal but to us. During 1954 we carried some 55,000,000 souls along the airways of the free world with the same concern as that afforded the Catholic churchman. Any human being is a high ranking notable while aloft."

Kurtz says there will never be a day when planes stacked up over London, Singapore, Paris, Rio, Istanbul, Stockholm, San Francisco, Rome, New York or any other city will give out with such wireless cries as, "Give way to the Union Jack . . ." or "I demand priority landing in the name of the one true faith." He writes:

"Yet, if from that cloudbank comes perchance a call from an obsolete twin-engine plane flying the flag of some obscure little principality, 'I've lost an engine and cannot hold my place in the pattern' then the great planes of the great flags give way at once and the objective of all concerned concentrates on bringing the little fellow safe to port."

"Each understands that his own safety would be jeopardized by another plane out of control in the cloud. Any rule less than the Golden Rule would be too dangerous a principle upon which to build air transportation."

When the Mutual Broadcasting System's time came to provide a show for the Radio and Television Correspondents Association dinner at the Statler in Washington—with the President, Vice President and other noteworthy brass in the house — there were murmurs from the other networks suggesting that one of them handle the whole business. Man named Herbert C. Rice, 20 years with MBS and for some time its vice president in charge of programs, said nix.

He lined up the likes of Eddie Fisher, Roberta Peters, Danny Thomas, the Chordettes and, best of all, the Glee Club of Virginia Military Academy. From the looks of him, the President hasn't had a better evening since he hit Washington.

The most sought-for show on Broadway today is "Plain and Fancy," Richard Kollmar's musical about the prim Amish of Penn-

CIO Cautioned
on Infiltration*Counsel Alerts Unions Against Red Efforts to Seek Shelter

WASHINGTON (U)—CIO labor unions were alerted today against possible Communist efforts to sneak into the CIO to duck a new law aimed at Red-infiltrated labor organizations.

CIO General Counsel Arthur J. Goldberg wrote all affiliated unions, cautioning them to be careful to distinguish between "genuine rank-and-file rebellions" against Communist leadership and "camouflaged attempts" of Red labor leaders "to seek shelter within the covering cloak of CIO affiliation."

A new law passed last summer provides machinery whereby the Subversive Activities Control Board may officially label a union as Communist-infiltrated, if it reaches this determination after a hearing set in motion by the attorney general. A labor union so labeled would lose its legal standing before the National Labor Relations Board.

The CIO several years ago ousted a number of unions, including the United Electrical Workers and the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, on grounds of Communist domination.

Goldberg noted that the Communist Control Act of 1954 "in effect establishes a presumption that a union affiliated with the AFL, CIO or any other established anti-Communist federation or organization, is not Communist-infiltrated."

2 Scouts Given Eagle Rank

Fred Roeser and Jerry Richards Receive Award at Court of Honor

Two members of Boy Scout Troop 7, Bethany Baptist Church, were advanced to Eagle rank—highest in scouting—at a court of honor last night.

Fred Roeser, 16, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Roeser of 22 Neome Dr., and Jerry Richards, 16, son of Mrs. Harry J. Richards of 35 Mohawk Rd., both Pontiac High School students, joined Troop 7 in September 1949.

Since that time, they have advanced through the ranks from tenderfoot and last year completed qualifications for their Eagle pins. To date, 27 other members of troop committee come Eagle Scouts.

James Ryan, troop committee chairman, listed 14 other members of the troop advanced at the court of honor. They include:

Life Scout—Dave Kimball, Joe McGrath, Eric Anderson and Carl Holstein.

Star Scout—John Markley, Ronald Wilton, Steven Lewis and Ronald Newman.

First Class—Richard Wert and Bryan Woolcock.

Second Class—Douglas Roeser, Robert Greenhalgh, Robert Osman and Bill Shirley.

In addition, seven boys became tenderfoot scouts, and 40 merit badges were awarded. Harold Ward was presented his pin as new scoutmaster of Troop 7.

Rev. Fred R. Tiffany, pastor of Bethany Baptist Church, and Ryan were co-chairmen for the program, which included a dinner at 6:30 preceding the court of honor.

Red China Planning to Draft 18-Year-Olds

TOKYO (U)—Red China's Peiping radio tonight broadcast details of a proposed new conscription law to draft 18-year-olds for at least three years.

A Chinese-language broadcast heard in Tokyo said the bill provides "all male citizens of China have a duty to be enlisted at 18 regardless of racial, tribal, vocational, social background, religion and educational background differences" because "to defend our fatherland is a divine duty of all citizens of China."

Carriers, Destroyers Are Expected in Manila

MANILA (U)—The U.S. carriers Midway and Wasp, escorted by eight destroyers—part of the U.S. 7th Fleet which covered the Tachenis evacuation last week—are expected here tomorrow, a Navy spokesman said today.

Several units of the 7th Fleet which guards Formosa against possible Communist attack use Manila as an operational base.

Ike Doing Better on Foreign Policy Now, Dems Say

WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said today President Eisenhower has done a better foreign policy job since the Democrats regained control of Congress. Mansfield, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview he does not believe the Democrats should make any attempt to spell out a partisan foreign policy. But he said he agreed with Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler that it might be wise to issue a statement of party principles on domestic issues.

"I've always believed that we should have an American foreign policy," Mansfield said. "I think we have that now because President Eisenhower has adopted the foreign policy of his Democratic predecessors and he is depending on Democrats in Congress to help carry it out."

"Eisenhower has been doing a better job since the Democrats have taken over control of Congress. He has more confidence in his own leadership and he is paying less attention to isolationist elements of his party."

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said in a separate interview he too feels that "Democratic control of Congress has given President Eisenhower solid support on his foreign policies."

Sex-Killing Suspect Scoffs at Evidence

NEW YORK (U)—Angelo (Mike) Morelli, free in $10,000 bail as a material witness in the Ann Yarrow murder, belittles the importance of stains found on his clothes by police.

"I'm not a genius," Morelli told newsmen yesterday, "but if I had blood stains on my clothes, I'd burn them, not take them to the cleaners."

After Morelli's arrest last week, police said they were interested in the fact that he had taken his clothes to the cleaners early Monday morning, the day following the Feb. 6 sex slaying of the New York University graduate student.

Police said they found some residual stains on the garments and had laboratory tests made.

They have declined to say what the tests showed. Unofficially, it was reported that there were no traces of blood on Morelli's suit but some blood was detected on his overcoat. However, this was reportedly too obliterated to tell whether it was animal or human blood and the tests were considered useless to murder investigators.

Morelli talked with reporters at the office of his lawyer. The 27-year-old clothing salesman was close-shaven and neatly dressed, in contrast to his stubbled and tieless state when he was released earlier in the day.

3 Killed as Blaze Hits Virginia Home

RICHMOND, Va. (U)—Three persons died early today in a fire that swept through a three-story house.

Police identified the victims as John Christian, 67, his sister Nell Christian, 60, and his daughter Eleanor Christian, 36. They lived on the second floor of the house.

Eight other persons, including six small children, escaped from the third floor without injury. Police believe the fire may have been started by an oil lamp.

Spark Blamed in Three Deaths

Sets Off Explosions and Fire at California Gas Storage Plant

EL CENTRO, Calif. (U)—A spark from an automobile motor was blamed today for the explosions and fire that killed three persons, critically burned another and destroyed the Signal Oil Co. gasoline storage plant yesterday.

Fire Chief Jersey Birchfield said the motor spark probably ignited a storage tank 50 feet high, that flames set off the blasts in two others. Altogether, about 45,000 gallons of gasoline were ignited. Flames shot 200 feet in the air and dense, black smoke hung over El Centro for hours.

Killed in the fire were Rosario Nava, 28, and Floyd Williams, 63, Thomas Barnets, office manager, died later of burns. William H. De Witt, 52, plant manager, was taken to Pioneer Memorial Hospital in critical condition.

Birchfield said he was told that Williams' truck hit and broke a gas line. Williams apparently decided to back over the bowed pipe in an attempt to close it. Birchfield said the first explosion followed the starting of Williams' motor.

Boys Club Plans to Send Rocket One Mile in Air

BALTIMORE (U)—Vale Rocket Research, an organization of about 10 boys—most of them high school juniors—hopes to send a home-made rocket a mile into the air when it is launched Feb. 26.

The youths have tried twice before. The engine of the first rocket exploded. The second fizzled out after traveling some 400 feet.

This time they're readying an eight-foot stainless steel rocket which holds about 100 cubic inches of zinc and sulphur propellant. The space-minded lads hope the rocket will soar one mile, take a picture of the area with a built-in camera, then descend by parachute. The projectile also carries a radio antenna.

MSC Begins 2nd Century of Educational Progress

An historic Centennial Convocation has launched Michigan State College's year long celebration of its century of service to the people of Michigan.

It was on February 12, 1855, that Governor KINGSLEY S. BINGHAM signed the act creating the Nation's first and now largest and greatest of its land grant colleges.

That struggling young institution was born of the revolutionary idea that sons of dirt farmers not only could but should go to college. A correlated idea was that agriculture is a science which should be taught like engineering and medicine.

Classes began in the Spring of 1857 with an enrollment of 63 farm youths. The early years of Michigan Agricultural College, as it was then known, were marked by financial struggles. Farmer-Legislators were reluctant to vote funds for "book learning."

In 1862, however, ABRAHAM LINCOLN signed the Morrill Act creating the nationwide system of land grant colleges on the pattern of the Michigan experiment. By that time the institution at East Lansing was well established and functioning successfully.

Today the school, once known to many as a "cow college," is a university in fact if not in name. Its enrollment exceeds 15,500 and a total of $50,000,000 has been spent on its magnificent physical plant.

All told, 126 courses, 70 of them leading to degrees, are offered in its nine basic schools. These are agriculture, education, home economics, engineering, veterinary medicine, graduate studies, science and arts, business and public service.

All Michigan is proud of the school now headed by Dr. JOHN A. HANNAH and expects that its second hundred years will be even more successful than its first.

Old Mistake Again Urged

Three bills urging return to rigid 90 per cent of parity price support prove that the die-hards of the farm bloc haven't given up their fight.

The 49 to 44 Senate vote of last year crowned with victory the EISENHOWER Administration's all important battle for flexible farm supports. But it hasn't silenced those farm bloc legislators who look upon rigid parity as a vested interest.

Only the other day South Carolina's Senator JOHNSTON delivered a speech urging return to rigid price support for the next three years. At the same time he introduced a bill to achieve that purpose.

A companion bill was introduced in the House by Rep. COOLEY of North Carolina, chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture. Another similar measure is being co-sponsored by Senators YOUNG of North Dakota and RUSSELL of Georgia.

All of these bills ignore the sound economic principles which constitute such strong arguments for flexible price supports. They also ignore the present tax eating seven billion dollar total of farm crop surpluses.

Certainly, those surpluses are a price depressing monument to the economic folly of continuing artificial production encouragements beyond the period of war born need.

We can't believe that a majority of Congress would be willing to repeat a mistake that has cost the country's farmers and taxpayers so much.

Benson's Surplus Cure

Secretary of Agriculture BENSON in his Farmers' Week address at Michigan State College had some encouraging words for the people who grow the Nation's food.

In fact, he outlined what sounds like a practical means of avoiding the ill born of ever growing crop surpluses. While not minimizing the effect of the cost-price squeeze on farmers, Mr. BENSON said most of the postwar adjustment has now been completed. Evidence of that is the fact that the price parity index averaged 89 per cent in 1954. This is only five points below the level of January 1953.

After citing the need for more research and education on the development of new products and new processes to expand farm markets, Mr. BENSON continued:

"We must face up to the ever present needs of balancing total farm production with the kinds and amounts of products consumers want and will take at equitable prices."

"This means we must provide forward looking information to help farmers gear their individual production plans to the realities of consumer demand."

In other words Mr. BENSON advises farmers to let demand govern their production.

The Man About Town

Meets in Detroit And This Area Will Have Large Part in the Event

Love: What's easy to fall into—but hard to fall out.

The Pontiac area will have a close neighborhood connection when the National Council of the Boy Scouts meets in Detroit on May 13 and 14. This is the biggest get together of the year for the grown ups in scouting, and this is the first time with Michigan as its host. During the last four years it was held in Chicago, New York, Los Angeles and Washington. Executive Director of Clinton Valley Council, already is laying plans for the intimate part of this council, comprising most of Oakland and Macomb Counties, with headquarters in Pontiac, will play in the meeting which takes over the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel for the two days. The writer of these lines, a member of the National Council, has attended all four of the most recent annual meetings and knows something about the man-building projects that get their inception there, to be spread out on a world-wide basis. Interest in scouting, already having a membership of over three million boys, reaches a new high in Michigan in May, and the local area has a next-door connection with the doings.

Edward H. Leland,

Long a close student of bird life in the Pontiac area.

 kept a close count on the bird corpses he found on our roads, killed by being struck with cars. In driving 4,000 miles he found 1,008 dead birds, including 517 robins, 343 sparrows, 36 blackbirds, 34 pheasants, 33 finches, only 5 starlings, and no crows—you've noticed that they're too wise to take any chances with an auto.

The biggest deer herd reported in this area this winter numbers eight. Many northern Oakland and adjoining Lapeer County residents have seen them, including who watches them grazing in a field behind his home when the ground is free from snow. Others have seen them feeding on tree branches, or pawing away the snow to get at the grass.

North Branch is to celebrate its centennial June 16-18, and word comes to this column from one of its top promoters, that preparations for the big event already are under way, including the growing of full beards by many residents.

One of my office scouts has received a note from

 who is spending the winter in Lake Worth, Fla. George enclosed a clipping from a Florida newspaper calling attention to the fact that March 15, formerly income tax day, is being replaced this year by the publication on that date of the memoirs of former president

Harry Truman.

David Lawrence Says:

Ike Reducing Disaffection Within Republican Party

WASHINGTON — Lincoln Day poems of praise of a Republican administration by Republicans are quite natural but discordant notes are significant, too—if only to measure the amount of dissent.

But, while there is a disaffection inside the Republican Party, it may be said that much of it is subsiding. This is due primarily to the statesmanlike manner in which President Eisenhower is steering the country through one of its most delicate experiences in international relations.

Last autumn, for example, the discontent in the Republican Party reflected a dissatisfaction with the administration's rebuffs at the hands of Red China and a feeling, too, that there was a tendency to persecute anti-Communists rather than to deal vigorously with Communist infiltration.

Since that time the President, by his resolute policy in Formosa, has won the confidence of many who previously were worried about a possible willingness in Washington to go along with the idea of admitting Red China to the United Nations. Now that the die has been cast and the President has drawn the line in the Far East, he has brought to his side many Republicans who were doubtful before.

As for the anti-Communist issue, this is by no means Eisenhower's single responsibility. For the Democrats have taken over both houses of Congress and, if the Republicans wish to agitate the charge of "softness," they can direct their protests to the Democratic chairmen of congressional committees who have yet to prove they will be as vigilant as their predecessors.

In many ways the present period should reflect a high point of popularity for the Eisenhower administration. Whatever misgivings the right wing may have as to the so-called leftward tendencies of the administration, the fact remains that on the really vital issues there has been considerable restraint about swallowing the New Deal or Fair Deal philosophy.

Thus, for example, on the issue of government ownership versus private enterprise, the President stands firm against "creeping socialism." All the hubbalooboo by the Democrats about the Dixon-Yates contract by the Atomic Energy Commission hasn't budged the President.

If he does get deeper into the controversy and really has to go to the electorate and tell what's at stake, he can capitalize politically on his stand. For the American people do not want the government to own everything, nor do all workers want to be employed by the government, where there is a no-strike barrier and collective bargaining is cumbersome to operate.

On the broader issues of a sociological nature, the President has shown that he is on the side of the moderate progressives and, by doing so, he has taken the wind out of the sails of the Democrats. For on such programs as federal help in school construction, the Democrats cannot find much to criticize except to say it is "too little and too late."

Likewise, in connection with other social-welfare policies, the Democrats find themselves saying the objectives are all right but the methods aren't any good. The other day the Democratic national chair-

Full Cost of Employee's Pension Not Paid by City, Says 'Guz,' a Local Fire Fighter

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical to its nature.

What makes "Welder" and "Farm Worker" think that the City pays the full cost of their employees' pensions?

I, as a fire fighter, have 5 per cent of my pay taken out each payday. The City pays its interest on this money and that is the City's contribution to our pension.

Too many people are under the impression that the City, State or Federal Governments pay the full cost of their employees' pensions. They don't.

Gus

I'm writing in regard to the "Welder's" letter of February 9. I am a factory worker and a taxpayer of the city of Pontiac and I, too, say the City employees are out of line when they ask us taxpayers to vote their retirement age at 55 when our own is 65.

A Taxpayer

"Retired Worker" asks me in the Voice of the People whether I want "65-year-old firemen climbing high ladders or 65-year-old policemen trying to outrun a fleeing criminal."

The answer is "no." I would expect the 65-year-old firemen to work on the ground. You know, E. W., the chief doesn't put the whole force skyward on weaving ladders. And, confidentially, I'd have the younger men pursuing these pistol-firing bank robbers. I'd let the 65-year-olds do the desk work and like jobs. You know, our chiefs don't wear Size Four Hats.

And by the way, you lucky dog (retired, eh?) if you think welding is a pansy occupation, go watch for one day. Just one.

Welder (Still a Good One)

Says Fluorine Remains in Water After Boiling

I wonder if the people of Pontiac who are promoting fluoridation realize that the danger of putting a poison into the water, even though in such a minute quantity, still remains because of the lack of control in evaporation after this water leaves the tap.

In boiling or cooking everyone knows how fast water boils away, but the mineral content remains in the food and water in a higher proportion than at the source of supply.

How can the percentage of poison (or fluoride) be controlled after this water leaves the tap? Are we remembering the boiled water which goes into baby's formula or in hot coffee or tea, also chemical combinations which may occur?

Personally, I do not wish to be a human guinea pig for any of these experiments and I fully believe more safe and effective ways can be used both as health measures and for prevention of tooth decay.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Too Many Couples in America Marry on Basis of Infatuation Instead of Love

Constance wants to know if it is possible to build up true love out of an original infatuation which is based solely on sexual appeal. Study this case record carefully and be sure you read about Ammon's famous infatuation that turned sour.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case N-350: Constance D., aged 19, is the girl mentioned yesterday who wanted to know how to tell which boy friend really loved her. "But, Dr. Crane," she added, "suppose I am truly in love with a boy who is only physically infatuated with me. Then what? 'Wouldn't it be all right for me to marry him? For couldn't I make him happy if I truly loved him?'"

"Couldn't I teach him to love me after the wedding ceremony?"

It is possible for true love to develop out of original casual acquaintance. In fact, most of our love affairs that terminate in happy marriage are of this very type.

But it is also possible that a mad physical infatuation by one of the partners to marriage, may suddenly go sour. Instead of growing toward the true love stage, it may quickly turn to ashes, as the Bible describes.

For example, King David's son Amnon thus was passionately attracted to the royal Princess Tamar. He fell madly in love and actually was sick with his longing for her.

So his advisor urged him to stay in bed and ask King David to send Tamar to him as his nurse, which was done.

Then he requested that Tamar make him some cakes and bake them and then feed him with her own hands. Meanwhile, he ordered all the servants out of his home, and then, when he was alone with Tamar, he viciously assaulted her.

You Bible readers will remember the tragic sequel. Here it is, as recounted in II Samuel, Chapter 13: "Then Amnon hated her exceedingly; so that the hatred wherewith he hated her was greater than the love wherewith he had loved her; and Ammon said unto her, 'Arise, be gone.'

"And she said unto him, 'There is no cause; this evil in sending me away is greater than the other that thou didst unto me.'

"Then he called his servant that ministered unto him, and said, 'Put now this woman out from me, and bolt the door after her.' Then Ammon's supposed love turned out to be purely a selfish sexual infatuation. And he refused to let Tamar try to change it into true love.

That is one of the causes for America's high divorce rate nowadays. Too many couples marry on the basis of infatuation instead of the true love, which is based on respect and admiration and which is typified by unselfishness.

Get well acquainted with your sweetheart long before the wedding day, and by all means visit his or her parents.

See how many mutual interests you possess. And by all means, be sure you are active in the same type of church.

Marriage is more than a civil contract, so start yours on an idealistic plane by being married by your clergyman, and preferably before the altar, even if only three or four friends are with you for the ceremony.

Cigar butts and cupidons in a "Justice of the Peace" office are not the inspirational environment for a wedding.

And don't be overly impressed by lavish gifts of a playboy lover, for he probably made no sacrifices to purchase them, since his

I have always been taught that good teeth are usually the result of good bone structure and good nutrition. I believe an educational program on natural foods and elimination of adulterated foods and sugar would be much more beneficial.

 Editor's note: Right out in Waterford Township some of the water from wells contains the same amount of fluorine naturally in the water as has been recommended for Pontiac. Waterford people use water for cooking and boil it the same as they do in Pontiac and the folks out there haven't felt any ill effects.

While only Pontiac residents can vote on fluoridation, a large number of people from outlying districts who work and shop in Pontiac are affected by what is done in the city. The whole program originated outside of Pontiac and people have come in from outside to promote it.

There is a lot of talk about democracy in action but I never witnessed such a high-handed campaign as this fluoridation business. Personal freedom is involved here and mass-medication for a whole city is outrageous.

If tooth decay was contagious, one could see the governing body's responsibility to protect the community's health. If there are not many dentists speaking against fluoridation of water, it is because "they are gagged," according to John E. Waters D.D.S., "by the American Dental Association," which considers any opposition to

Angina Pectoris Victims Advised to Take Nitro

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Dr. John Hunter, famous 18th century anatomist and surgeon was subject to angina pectoris. He used to say his life was in the hands of any rascal who chose to annoy and tease him. Hunter's brother William, equally famous anatomist and physician, was ten years older. He was not subject to angina. Both lived 65 years.

Persons subject to anginal distress sometimes endure the pain or distress rather than take a tablet of nitroglycerine which they have in pocket or purse. They labor under the misapprehension that nitroglycerine (or other vasodilator, prescribed for the attacks) is not quite safe or that it may induce formation of a drug habit. There is no such risk involved. There is on record no report of any such ill consequence.

Nitroglycerine (glyceryl trinitrate, glonin) or sodium nitrite or other vasodilator (dilator or relaxer of blood vessels), prescribed for anginal distress is practically harmless.

Yes, indeed, a person who has not been warned about the rapid action of nitroglycerin, when a tablet is placed under the tongue, may be frightened by the flush, headache, sensation of throbbing or tension in the head, palpitation etc., that occur within a minute.

It is advisable to take the first dose of nitroglycerin lying down, and to remain flat on your belly for five minutes. If no flush, throbbing or headache within five minutes, probably the tablets are inert — nitroglycerin is very volatile and tablets rapidly lose strength if exposed to the air.

Fire Station Needed Badly, Says 'Ohioan'

I see there's discussion of another fire station for Pontiac. I think the city needs two, badly. When I first moved here, I was appalled at the few number of stations. If a couple of big fires broke out at the same moment, this city would be in a bad way.

Here's an item that every taxpayer can look upon with favor. If the Grand Trunk freight trains happened to block a strategic crossing, a fire on the West side could get a tremendous start. I regard this as the City's Number One project.

 The only guy who heard the cease-fire was our janitor.

It's mid-winter and you could use the main steampipe for a mail chute. Without steaming off a stamp.

We're waiting for the time you can beat the works with a bituminous atom. Using your vest pocket for a coal bin.

The Agitated Energy Commission has that in escrow now. It announces a super-bopp five times more powerful than a boy's imagination.

In 1954 Operation Castle used the Pacific for a moat. The result is whales spout boiling water, star fish point only east and west and sharks are gumming it.

It was equal to TNT Mulligan of 20,000,000 foot-tons per mushroom vacuum. The motto on our walk-about-money has been switched to E Pluribus Uranium.

Val Peterson spilled the atomic beans in Chicago when he said we finally have put doom up in capsule form. The latest bomb is not lettered. We have run out of the alphabet. This one is among the et scatters.

It has a built-in indignation of 60,000,000 doctside tons of TNT. If we turn it loose penguins will have to learn to walk in warm cinders.

Pete says we can also control it like Darry Vance's change of pace. The world is divided by three great curtains. The iron, the bamboo and the shower.

Don't think we have sprained the security barrier with this fast bit of information. We read it over your shoulder in the subway yesterday.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

For I have told him that I will judge his house for ever for the iniquity which he knoweth; because his sons made themselves vile, and he restrained them not. —I Samuel 3:13.

To escape from evil, we must be made as far as possible like God; and this resemblance consists in becoming just and holy and wise.—Plato.

Angina Pectoris Victims Advised to Take Nitro

But if the first dose doesn't bring relief within five minutes, take a second tablet, and if no relief a third one in another five minutes.

Or double or triple the dose. Or throw away the old tablets and get a new vial that has not been opened.

If I had anything like angina pectoris or coronary occlusion I'd take nitroglycerin at least four times every day, in sufficient dose to be sure it really kept the arteries (smallest arterial branches) dilated, relaxed, open, for free circulation and adequate supply of oxygen to my myocardium, working muscle which composes the heart.

I'd begin with tablets containing 1-100th of a grain of nitroglycerin. I'd try such a tablet on my face and if it failed to make my face flush, my head throb etc., I'd wait five minutes and take two or three tablets. If there was still no noticeable effect I'd throw the tablets away and get some 1-100th grain tablets, try 'em on the dog, etc., until I was sure the medicine was reliable for emergencies.

Now if any physician of standing questions what I have said here about the use of nitroglycerine by persons with heart and/or artery trouble (CVD) I'll cite recognized medical authorities, just to show that I'm not indulging in pipe dreams.

Anti-Reds Seize Commie Center

Romanian Legation in Bern Held by Group of Armed Refugees

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—A small group of armed anti-Communist refugees invaded the Romanian legation before dawn today and drove out the Red staff at gunpoint. As their price to quit the building, they demanded the release of five political prisoners held in Romania.

Within a few hours the Communist Bucharest government formally demanded the arrest of the invaders and their extradition.

The seven-member Swiss Cabinet went into emergency session at the unprecedented hour of 7:30 a.m. with Bern Police Chief Eduard Freimueller. Police surrounded the legation and cordoned off the area but as the morning wore on made no attempt to attack the building.

Neighbors said they had heard a fusillade of shots and women's screams at the time of the attack, about 3 a.m., but only one casualty was announced—the legation chauffeur. He was taken to a hospital with undisclosed injuries.

A Swiss government communiqué said Charge d'Affaires Eméric Stoffel, his other aides and their families living in the legation were "safe and sound." They were sheltered in nearby buildings.

The communiqué described the invaders as "several unknown armed persons." They were believed to number four or five men, presumably Romanians.

His Youth—2

Washington's father died when George was 11 years old. A few years later the boy went to live with his brother Lawrence at Mount Vernon, a farm home on the Potomac River 15 miles from where the city of Washington now stands.

George had little formal schooling, but he learned to read and write, to do arithmetic, and to have the manners expected of a Virginia gentleman.

He was good with figures, and learned to survey and make maps. In a country only partly settled, surveyors were much needed. A rich neighbor hired him to survey a lot of land. So, for three years, George traveled through the forests, cooking over a campfire, following Indian trails, sleeping under the stars.

When he was 20, his brother Lawrence died and George became a farmer, tobacco grower and owner of Mount Vernon.

This picture shows Washington using a surveying instrument. Color it and add it to your picture story of his life.

Ulysses S. Grant, Robert E. Lee and Jefferson Davis served as fellow officers in the Mexican War.

Defense Claims GI Is Psychotic

Being Tried on Charge of Aiding Reds

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—Army career Sgt. William H. Olson, charged with collaborating with the enemy while a prisoner of war in Korea, today awaited the decision of a general court-martial on a defense contention that he is psychotic.

Olson, 40-year-old veteran of two wars and a prisoner of the enemy in both, was described yesterday as a man with a split personality and a persecution complex, who had shown suicidal tendencies.

Capt. Lester I. Abend, a Ft. Bragg psychiatrist, told the court that a conviction would increase the suicidal tendency. Maximum penalty under military law is death.

Other psychiatrists gave conflicting testimony.

Dr. Hann Lowenbach, Duke Hospital psychiatrist, said from his examination of Olson he found no evidence of schizophrenia or inability to distinguish wrong from right.

A report submitted by a Walter Reed Hospital board concurred.

Dr. Lowenbach added however that he found the defendant "very anxious, insecure and tense" but capable of expressing himself coherently.

Olson, a native of Youngville, Pa., whose family lives at Lumberton, N.C., was a prisoner of the Germans during World War II and for 33 months a prisoner of the Communists in Korea.

He is charged with making derogatory statements about the United States, making pro-Communist recordings and informing on fellow POWs while a prisoner in Korea.

Can Measure His Love

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Barbara Feldelson, University of Wisconsin coed from Rockville Center, N.Y., got one of the largest valentines in the nation. Her boy friend Earl School, of Milwaukee, tramped out letters 10 feet high on Lake Mendota reading, "Barbara, I love you."

They Should Complain

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Red China has protested that it was not invited to a privately sponsored Asian conference on cultural freedom opening here Thursday. Sponsors say one aim of the conference is to expose "the fraudulent nature" of Communist promises.

A 1948 survey showed that 74 per cent of U.-S. families owned pianos.

McQuaid in Lansing to Seek Law Changes

Orrin McQuaid, Oakland County register of deeds, is in Lansing today meeting with members of the State Legislature on a proposal to amend the Post Act.

McQuaid has drawn up several changes which the Michigan Assn. of County Registers of Deeds says are needed in the act. As it stands, the law creates a bottleneck in approval of plats specifying small-frontage lots.

The Oakland County official prepared a number of charts to show the reasons for the changes. State Sen. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) has agreed to sponsor a bill in the Legislature to amend the act.

Brilliant New Styling-Blazing New Power at everybody's price*

The all-new 1955 Pontiac offers indisputable evidence that price is no longer an important factor to be considered when making that desirable step to fine-car luxury and performance.

Every one of the record number of beautiful, new Pontiacs you see emphasizes the fact that here is, without question, the most distinctively styled car of them all. Pontiac is the one car that stands apart from all the others.

But Pontiac's brilliant new styling is only a clue to all that's new and modern about this great General Motors masterpiece. The clinching evidence comes to light in your first few minutes behind the wheel.

At a touch of your toe, Pontiac's mighty Strato-Streak V-8 goes into action with instant response, whether you're deep in city traffic or silently cruising the open road. Yet power alone is only part of Pontiac's spectacular performance. With Pontiac's new, bigger brakes and recirculating ball steering, handling is almost effortless. Pontiac's new, wide-stance rear springs, roomy, luxurious Body by Fisher and shock-proof chassis add the final touch to the fine-car picture from the comfort standpoint.

Normally, all this would add up to high price—but Pontiac has changed the pattern. Despite its size, beauty and sparkling performance, Pontiac prices start so close to the lowest that if you can afford any new car you can afford to make that easy and very satisfying step to fine-car pride and distinction. Why not come in at your first opportunity and get the facts and figures? Once you do, you'll wish you'd made the move sooner.

Go Modern... Go Pontiac

WITH THE SENSATIONAL STRATO-STREAK V-8

Three Great Lines—
All with Strato-Streak V-8 Power
THE 600 . . . THE 670 . . . THE STAR CHIEF

There's a big difference in engines—and the best proof is in Pontiac's Strato-Streak V-8. Engineering advances by the score have been incorporated in this completely new engine . . . exclusive features designed to enhance even further Pontiac's fine reputation for economy, dependability and long, trouble-free life. No car at any price is more modern in its power.

*You can buy a big, powerful Pontiac for less than many models of the lowest-priced cars!

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Clair L. Taylor favors legislation allowing more eligible office-holders in the explosive George Washington Carver school district of Royal Oak Township.

CHIEF FRANK VAN ATTA

Varied Program Slated by PTA

Chief Frank Van Atta, Scout, Cub Leaders, to Address Group

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Police Chief Frank Van Atta will speak on "Police Actions Among Young People" Thursday evening at the Waterford Center PTA meeting.

A. W. Nevala, cubmaster, and Larry Stack, scout leader, will present "An Outline of Scouting and Its Importance to the Community," as the PTA marks Founder's Night.

Mrs. Harry Carlisle, PTA historian, will give a resume of the progress and development of the Waterford Center school.

Open house, scheduled from 7:30-8 p.m., will be held to allow parents to visit teachers in their children's home rooms.

William Matteson is chairman of the evening, and refreshments will be served by the mothers of the third grade pupils.

Detroit Given 5 Years for Breaking, Entering
Robert J. Modzelewski, 29, of Detroit, yesterday received from 5 to 15 years in Jackson state prison when he appeared before Oakland County Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick after pleading guilty to breaking and entering Feb. 8.

An accomplice, Antonio G. Nicolsa, 26, of Detroit, was turned over to Wayne County parole authorities. Nicolsa was on parole from Jackson when the pair broke into a store at 1265 S. Woodward, Birmingham, last Sept. 7 and took $632 in cash and merchandise.

Cub Pack to Organize
WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — A second Cub pack, organizational meeting will be held this evening in the Waterford Village school, with PTA members attending.

Prosecutor Taylor's plan suggests legislation which would allow people with children in schools in a school district with less than 50 property owners and a 2,000 child enrollment to seek election to the school board.

At present only property owners may serve on boards of education. Much of the trouble in the Carver school board has been laid to the fact that most of the residents in the district are not property owners, leaving only about 40 eligible to seek office.

"The proposal to change the school laws in Michigan has my most enthusiastic support, and our department was studying a similar measure when your plan was announced," Supt. Taylor stated.

Since its formation in 1945, the school district has seen parents picket the building, fist-fights at board meetings, disputed elections, recall petitions and counter petitions, and finally the beating of the secretary of the school board, Mrs. Loretta Baker.

Commenting on the small number of eligible voters in the district, Supt. Taylor said he would work with the prosecutor's office and legislators from this area in attempts to end the Carver fracas.

In Circuit Court yesterday, the three judges sitting together postponed until Feb. 28 a hearing on a request for a new election in the district.

Mrs. Baker was not well enough to attend the session. Dr. Howard McNeil was appointed by the court to examine her and determine if she will be able to appear at that date.

Mrs. Baker told police Jan. 12 that three masked men invaded her Oakdale Gardens home and beat her after demanding petitions seeking the recall of board member James Harrison.

Mrs. Baker and another board member, The Rev. Chester Carter, have been named in recall petitions filed by Harrison. Other board members are seeking the ouster of Harrison by the same method.

Exceptional Children Will Be Discussed

Parents and friends of exceptional children are invited to attend a meeting of the Pontiac Area Chapter of the International Council for Exceptional Children Feb. 16 at 8 p.m. in the Washington Junior High School.

Miss Anna Engel, consultant to the Detroit Assn. for Retarded Children, will be guest speaker. Her topic is: "A Message to Parents of Exceptional Children."

She was formerly director of the special education program for the Detroit Public Schools.

Lanza Signs to Sing for $50,000 a Week

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (U-Ten)—Mario Lanza has signed a contract for $100,000 for two weeks of vocalizing at the New Frontier Hotel here.

The $50,000 per week is said by Jake Kozloff, owner of the hotel, to be the highest salary ever paid to a single night club performer.

Lanza begins his stint April 4. Competition that week will be furnished by pianist Liberace at the New Riviera Hotel, who also will get $50,000 a week.

But, Kozloff said yesterday, Liberace's fee is for a package deal that includes brother George and their orchestra.

Cows, Hens Slack Off, January Report Shows

LANSING (U)—Michigan milk production was estimated at 312 million pounds in January, the federal-state crop reporting service said today.

This was two per cent below the record for the month set a year ago but higher than any other January on record.

January egg production was estimated at 155 million eggs, two per cent below the record set a year ago. The service said farmers have fewer layers on hand and that the production per hen was lower than a year ago.

1,713 Dogs Receive Rabies Vaccination

A total of 1,713 dogs were vaccinated for rabies Sunday in the first of a series of non-profit clinics sponsored jointly by Oakland County Health Department and Oakland County Veterinarians' Assn.

Dr. John D. Monroe, health director, announced that totals for each of the six locations were as follows:

Troy Township—508, Farmington Township—382, Animal shelter—320, White Lake Township—212, Lake Orion—186, and New Hudson—105.

It was announced that dog owners whose pets had not been vaccinated when the Farmington clinic closed could take them to Walled Lake this Sunday. Locations of other clinics scheduled this week-end will be announced later.

Harold Bebout Dies at Age 52

ROCHESTER—Harold E. Bebout died at his Fostoria farm home Monday morning. He had lived there since retiring six years ago after nearly a quarter century in the restaurant and catering business in Rochester.

The Rochester Kiwanis Club will conduct a memorial service tonight at 8 p.m. in the Pixley Funeral Home where the body will be until funeral service on Wednesday at 2 p.m.

Mr. Bebout founded the Bebout Restaurant in Rochester in the mid-twenties. Expanding the operation over the years, he added catering service and developed his building to include club rooms and reception halls.

Born in Sayre, Okla., on Sept. 22, 1902, he was the son of the late Ethelbert Bebout and Grace who lives in Rochester.

He is survived by his wife, Myrtle; a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Reed of Rochester and a son, Robert, of Fostoria. One grandchild also survives as well as two brothers, Leonard and Claremont of Rochester.

Officiating at the services will be the Rev. Donald Olsen of Rochester and the Rev. Fred Werth of Fostoria. Interment will be in the Mt. Avon Cemetery, Rochester.

Frederick Felix, son of Fred J. Felix of First street, is among the Michigan State College students whose names appear on the honor list for the fall term. He was graduated from St. Frederick School.

Graduates of Waterford High School taking honors at Michigan State College are Marita Mack, Paul Alfred Neff, Raymond Farmer, and Robert Richardson.

Janet E. Allen, Evelyn Bochnig, James S. Brinks, John Front and Charles Gamster are students at Michigan State College who were also named to the honor list.

Others who graduated from Pontiac High School and earned a place on the list due to their academic average are Carolyn Lorenz, Patricia Skelley, Verne N. Vackaro and Beverly M. Wright.

Enrolled for the spring semester at Bowling Green College of Commerce, Bowling Green, Ky., is Alva T. Harrell of South Jessie Street.

'Double' Belts Give New Look

NEW YORK (INS)—You can get the newest "low-hipped" look for spring with the price of a new belt, instead of a new dress.

It's done with "double" belts, latest idea from Paris to provide that "long torso" effect.

A "double" belt is actually one belt with two straps, one set at the natural waistline and the other below it to accentuate the hips.

One such belt has a strap around the waist buckling at back, and two stitched-on straps dipping at the sides, exactly like a fabric peplum.

Another "double" belt has the buckles in front, the one at the waist strap set to the left and the buckle on the lower strap set to the right. The spaced buckles give a flat-tummy, contour look.

Wilson School PTA members (left to right) Mrs. Peter Lonchate of North Ardmore street, Mrs. John Potter Jr. of Midway avenue and Mrs. Raymond Ellsworth of South Sanford street are looking forward to Friday evening's annual fair. Mrs. Potter is chairman for the event which is scheduled for 7 to 9 p.m. at the school.

Child's Room Decor Now Versatile

The smart young mother or mother-to-be who is ready, willing and able to decorate her darling's room with gaiety and charm is gaining respectful attention from manufacturers.

This spring, we'll be seeing so many imaginative and colorful designs in wallpaper and paint that it will be hard to recall the days when pink, blue and white were the only standard nursery colors.

It used to be daring to use yellow in the baby's room and nursery papers depended on fluffy white lambs on pale pink backgrounds to entrance baby's parents.

Miss Ruth Strauss, noted interior designer and colorist, sums it up: "The trend in nursery papers is toward better design, more imaginative characters, drawings that are more widely spaced. Colors are clear and true with a tendency to bright accents."

Many of the new nursery wallpapers have bold animated sketches on clear white backgrounds.

Pink elephants, polka-dotted dogs, silly giraffes and flop-eared rabbits cavort on one such paper. Country scenes which make plentiful use of bright pink barns, yellow-and-green houses, farm animals and little farm boys will be suitable for a child's room for four or five years.

Children do love color and the myriad identifiable objects on an imaginative wallpaper.

Paris Inspires Special Designs in Millinery

NEW YORK (INS)—Lucky ladies with $25 and up to spend for an Easter bonnet inspired by Paris are going to have some very delectable millinery to choose from next month.

For instance, there will be a "floating sailor" by Gilbert Orcel, which actually sits over the head like a mushroom cap instead of fitting the head. It "floats" because of a hidden velvet headband.

There will also be an off-the-face straw cap, by Fath, which frames the face like a picture with huge back bows.

And there will also be the hat dripping in pretty posies or shiny cherries, revived by Paulette of Paris.

Hodge is backing the "floating sailor" as a big item for March sales. Orcel's idea combines the simplicity of a straw sailor—and its smart forward tilt—with feminine fluff.

Pink roses coyly peek out from that "floating" brim, or gay ribbons sometimes sit on top. In spite of trimming, however, the hat focuses main attention on the face because of its "just-off-the-head" air.

Church Unit Elects Officers

St. Anthony Unit of St. Benedict Church held a Valentine party and election of officers Monday evening in the Starr avenue home of Mrs. Frank Totté.

Mrs. Peter Aldo is president; Mrs. Arthur Perrin, vice president; Mrs. Totté, treasurer and Mrs. Noland Heiden, secretary.

Mrs. Bernard Stone was nominating committee chairman and was assisted by Mrs. Richard Supernant and Mrs. Arthur Perrin. Mrs. Sam Hoffman is retiring president. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Perrin.

Siamese Kitty Inspires Idea

PARIS (INS)—Did you ever feel like a Siamese kitten? Well, Paris suggests you look like one this spring.

The latest word from beauty experts is the "Siamese make-up" to make a gal look as sweet, sleek and soft as the thoroughbred oriental cat.

To achieve this "feline face" the foundation cream is tinted pale beige like a kitten's fur. Eyebrows and eyelashes are underlined in Siamese brown. Eyelids are colored by vivid blue mascara.

Lips are shaped to a curly triangle in bright red with an orange touch. The upper lip should be slightly darker than the lower lip. The powder should be beige.

Others working on various booths and features are Mrs. Robert Jeffries, Mrs. Dale Harris, Mrs. Margaret Seese, Mrs. Ida Reynolds and Mrs. Edward Jackson.

Also planning activities for the event are Mrs. Wilbur Caverly, Mrs. Jane Davies, Mrs. Ralph Watterman, Mrs. John Neaves, Mrs. John Hotra, Mrs. Melvin Newton, Mrs. Wallace Lacy, Mrs. Ada Duncan, Virginia Otten and Barbara Irwin.

Others on the list of committees are Mrs. Lewis Slate, Mrs. Kathleen Wright, Mrs. Louis Haroutunian, Agnes Levering, Mrs. John Zink, Mrs. David Weatherell, Mrs. Lionel McIntosh and Mrs. Jean Gannon.

Planning other forms of entertainment are Mrs. Charles Hall, Mrs. Estelle Gordon, Mrs. Ronald Gilmore, Mrs. Kyle Warff, Theo Alger, Mrs. Robert Lowry, Mrs. John Brown and Mrs. Stewart Boucher.

Mrs. Arthur Beyers, Mrs. Emma Clark, Mrs. Clerque Webster and Mrs. Earl Rinker complete the list.

Final plans were made at a recent meeting of the "Young Adult Council" to have a square dance at the YMCA from 9 to 12 p.m. Thursday. All single persons between the ages of 18 and 35 are invited. Sam Julian is chairman for the affair.

On Feb. 24, Carl Christie will be host in his home on Silverhill road for an ice skating party. Members and their guests are eligible to attend.

Try New Make-up Hint

One day you decide, if you're the kind who's avoided all make-up except lipstick, that your skin just isn't what it used to be and could use a little help.

The question then is—how much help? The possibilities range from a dab of baking powder on the nose to a routine as involved as an actor's climbing into a coat of grease paint.

There are liquid and solid foundations. There's the old favorite, cold cream. There are cake make-ups in a rainbow of colors.

There are soft, medium and hard powders to go over skin or any of its base coats. There are ready-mixed and custom-built powders. Whatever you select, remember that your aim is to look un-made-up but beautiful.

A possibility that's new is a powder with a built-in foundation brought out by a thoroughly established beauty house.

To use it would make a simplified cosmetics routine that might appeal to those just beginning the powder practice.

First, cleansing with a cream, then skin lotion put on with patting. Then the powder goes right on the cleansed and stimulated skin.

It needs no powder base because it has been made very smooth to cling rather than show up in grains.

Auxiliary Sponsors Card Party, Tea

Members of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Auxiliary held a card party Monday afternoon in the auditorium of the nurses' home. Mrs. Edward G. Rockwell and Mrs. Carleton D. Wright were co-chairmen of the party, and Mrs. James Q. Goudie presided at the tea service.

It was announced that Mrs. Charles G. Barrett is scheduled to speak at the March meeting of the group.

MR. and MRS. FOSTER SANFORD

Couple Married Saturday in Candlelight Ceremony

First General Baptist Church was the setting for the double ring ceremony during which Carolyn Louise Killian and Foster Sanford exchanged their nuptial vows.

Palms and baskets of white pompons, snapdragons and gladioli banked the altar as the Rev. Robert Garner performed the candlelight ceremony Saturday evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Killian of Omar street, and he is the son of Mrs. Foster Sanford of Birmingham, Ala., and the late Mr. Sanford.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of Chantilly-type lace and tulle over satin. The gown was fashioned with a portrait neckline, outlined with scallops, and a fitted bodice. The four pointed peplum of lace accented the full skirt of tulle.

Her fingertip veil was held by a tiara of lace, enhanced with iridescent sequins, pearls and rhinestones. She wore the bridegroom's gift of a strand of pearls and carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Ralph Isaac attended her sister-in-law as matron of honor wearing an ice blue princess-styled gown in ballerina length. She wore a matching hat of lilacs of the valley and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Ralph Isaac, brother of the bride, served as best man and seating the guests were Billy Brown and Joy Batten.

Mrs. Killian greeted her guests at a reception held in the church parlors wearing a gray and pink dress with pink and black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Couple Touring Canada Following Saturday Rite

Touring Canada are Mr. and Mrs. Alan Dennis. The bride is the former Bernice Hazel Lilleyman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack T. Lilleyman of Union Court. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dennis of East Huron street.

First Baptist Church was the setting for the candlelight ceremony which was performed Saturday at 7:30 p. m. before an altar banked with white flowers.

Joe Davis sang the bridal recital accompanied by Bonnie Sue Davis.

The bride wore a white length gown of Chantilly-type lace over satin, fashioned with long sleeves ending in points over her wrists. A coronet headpiece edged with seed pearls secured her fingertip length veil.

She wore a single strand of pearls and carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Gloria Buck attended the bride as maid of honor, and Sandra Johnson and Jean Dennis were other attendants. They wore ballerina length gowns of ice green and carried arrangements of pink carnations.

Cathy MacDonald of Ann Arbor wore a white dress with an ice green sash, and carried a miniature bouquet of pink carnations for her duties as flower girl.

Each of the attendants wore the bride's gift of a strand of pearls. Frank Thompson served as best man and seating the 150 guests were Bruce Powell and Jim Saudon.

A powder blue dress with pink accessories and corsage of pink flowers was worn by the bride's mother. A blue print dress with blue accessories and a pink corsage was worn by the bridegroom's mother.

Following a reception held in the

New Lipstick Color Stays

How to look pretty even when you first wake up in the morning is brought to you in — a new concept in lip coloring that leaves color on even after lipstick is washed or creamed off at night.

The secret is a unique color fixative that penetrates lip tissues instead of merely lying on the surface in paste form. It is applied from the tube as with ordinary lipstick, then allowed to "set" without blotting for 10 to 20 minutes until surface cream has disappeared.

Lip coloring will then stay fresh all day and night — will not leave ugly traces on cups, glasses or cigarettes. The new product color also tends to become cumulative leaving a permanent rosy glow on the lips. Through this it would be possible to improve the shape of the mouth by repeating the ideal shape over a period of application.

are designed to acquaint the women with beliefs, traditions and rituals of Judaism.

The federation conducts benefit work for the blind; it gives student aid for rabbinic students of the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion and gives contributions toward youth activities in the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

It also sponsors leadership training institutes for Sisterhood members.

Mature Women Should Purchase Two Garments

Women with good sense wouldn't think of going out and buying just one pair of stockings. It's not practical.

This idea can be carried a step further for mature women. When you find an undergarment you really like and that suits you perfectly, buy two.

Almost everyone has had frustrating experiences in buying underclothes. The most frequent occurrence of this sort is to buy a giraffe or all-in-one that is comfortable, durable and makes your figure look just as you want it.

You wear it and wear it and then come back six months later to the same department of the same store for another.

Nine times out of ten, the line has been discontinued by the manufacturer, the store is out of your size or has stopped stocking the line.

For mature women, this is crushing. While young things can squeeze themselves into a make-do, mature women get rightfully attached to what's comfortable and becoming.

And further, many mature women wear their foundations constantly and clothes are bought to fit the figure in the foundation. It may mean disaster to a wardrobe to be unable to replace a favorite giraffe.

So, for the sake of peace of mind, don't rely on the promise that the item will be stocked forever and ever. Get two right on the spot. Or more, if you can manage it.

If it's bras, be prepared to get a half dozen at a time. The mismatched bra wardrobe leaves the beholder feeling the wearer sheds and dons pounds at will.

Panties and slips can be half a dozen at a time, too, but they need be matched only if you wear a very special hard-to-get sort.

Writer Wants Militant Suffragist to Be Honored With Legal Holiday

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Let Us Remember Susan B. Anthony

By MARY MARGARET MCBRIDE

To Whom It May Concern: This is to urge that today, Feb. 15, birthday of Susan B. Anthony, brave and dedicated woman, be set aside from this time forth to be observed as a formal national holiday, with schools, banks and offices closed, and a full quota of parades and speeches.

For 50 years, Susan B. Anthony devoted every waking hour and every cent of money that came her way to the cause of woman's suffrage. In her old age she saw the women of Wyoming, Idaho, Colorado and Utah given the vote. Fourteen years after her death, all of her sex in the United States were enfranchised.

It is almost impossible for today's more privileged women to visualize the world that the quiet, Quaker spinster grew up in. She was not yet five when her father went into bankruptcy.

Everything in their home, including her mother's heritage from her own family, even her needles and pins, belonged to the man of the house, and all was seized to pay the father's debts.

The young woman's resentment on behalf of women's situation was even more actively awakened when she began to teach school for $10 a month — in a job which previously had been held by a man paid $40 a month. Timid and without experience in public speaking — it was frowned upon as unladylike — Miss Anthony made her first important protest at a teacher's convention.

According to Katherine Anthony (no relation) who recently wrote her life, Susan rose while men were deploring the fact that teaching was not so respected a profession as law, medicine or the ministry.

"Do you not see that so long as society says woman has not brains enough to be doctor, lawyer or minister, every man of you who condescends to teach tacitly admits before all... that he has no more brains than a woman?" she asked.

Perhaps her greatest contribution to her sex was the day in 1873 when she led 15 women to the polls in Rochester, N. Y., and all voted. They were arrested, of course, and awaiting trial, Susan kept on agitating for women's rights by speaking on "Is It a Crime for a United States Citizen to vote?"

She frequently illustrated the position of women at that time with a story of a farmer's wife, who, fitted for a full set of false teeth, found she could neither chew nor talk with them in her mouth. The dentist sued for his money anyway and the attorney for her husband called her a witness. The judge refused to hear her, however, maintaining that "a married woman can not be a witness in matters of joint interest between herself and her husband."

"Think of it," Miss Anthony would exclaim, "the false teeth in your mouths a joint interest with your husband's, about which you are legally incompetent to speak!"

Susan herself in court was no better off than the farmer's wife for the presiding judge in arbitrary fashion directed the jury to find her guilty.

Rising to her feet, the dauntless Quaker spoke words which will live forever:

"You have trampled under foot every vital principle of our government," she fearlessly informed the court who constantly shouted at her to sit down. "My natural rights, my civil rights, my political rights are all alike ignored."

"Robbed of the fundamental privilege of citizenship, I am degraded from the status of a citizen to that of a subject, and not only myself individually, but all of my sex are, by Your Honor's verdict, doomed to political subjection under this so-called Republican government."

It seems to me fitting that Susan B. Anthony, the first militant suffragist, the first woman to defy the law for the political liberty of her sex, should be the first American woman to be honored with a legal holiday. And I hope those men in Washington who are always so charming about women voters can arrange things so that we may celebrate it in 1956.

Cocktail Hats Fresh Feminine, and Bit Saucy

PARIS (INS) — A cocktail hat for spring should be fresh, feminine and a little bit saucy.

Paris milliners suggest tiny shapes with flowers, fruit and velvet trimming to make chic spring chapeaux.

Gilbert Orcel has designed a "basket-hat" in pink straw. Like a tiny basket worn upsidedown, it has two handles covered in black velvet and placed at the ears. Near the hair-line a red rose peeks out from under the cloche brim.

Jean Barthelemy has come up with a tiny scoop hat for cocktail occasions. It is covered with white grosgrain embroidered with pink rosebuds and piped in dark blue velvet. A streamer of blue velvet trims the back.

Prunellier Svend makes a dressy hat out of a strip of orange felt. He works it to a spiral, looking exactly like an orange-peel. It is worn right on the top of the head as an amusing ornament.

No Criticism of Weekend Need Occur

If Housing Situation, Behavior at Home Given Thought

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me: "I would very much like your opinion on the propriety of two girls and two boys, all in the early twenties, going by bus to New York City and spending a weekend. We are all just friends and none of us sweethearts, in case that makes a difference."

Being "just friends" does make a difference of course, but even so I can hardly give unqualified approval of young men and girls going off alone to stay in the city.

Yet—if the two girls go to one of the women's hotels in New York, and the men go and stay at a man's hotel or best of all perhaps, at a fraternity club, I doubt very much if anyone will criticize them unless their behavior at home has given gossip cause for chatter.

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband bought me a diamond ring for our tenth wedding anniversary. I have been wearing this ring on my left hand with my wedding ring.

I have been told that the third finger of the left hand is reserved for the engagement and wedding rings only and as this is not a. a. engagement ring I should wear it on my right hand. Will you please give me your opinion? I never had an engagement ring.

This is perfect nonsense, you wear your new ring wherever you choose. The third finger of the left hand is reserved by a young girl for her engagement ring, but once married this is no longer important.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have recently married and am not sure what my correct signature should be. My maiden name was Mary Jane Doe. I am married to a man named Smith. Do I sign my name Mary Jane Smith, or Mary Doe Smith. I have been told that now that I am married I drop all reference to my maiden name. Will you please advise me as to what is correct?

Your name most properly is now Mary Doe Smith, although you may if you choose be Mary Jane Smith or simply Mary Smith.

Visitor Gives New England Fish Recipe

Restaurant Owner Suggests Combining Scallops, Haddock

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

A visitor from New England gives us today's recipe. Coming from an area where fresh fish and sea food are common items on menus, Mrs. N. S. Clayton of Essex, Massachusetts offers her recipe for Scalloped Scallops. In this part of the country we can get frozen scallops in most any large grocery store.

For a number of years Mrs. Clayton has operated a restaurant that specializes in sea food. During the winter months when she is free, she makes extended visits to her grandchildren and occasionally spends some time with her sister, Mrs. V. L. Newcomb, here in Pontiac.

SCALLOPED SCALLOPS

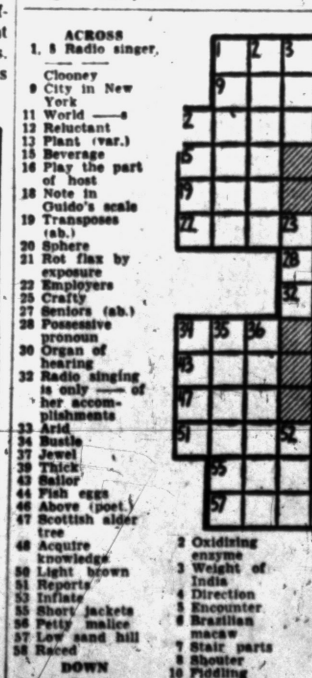

By Mrs. N. S. Clayton

1/2 pound haddock
1/2 pound scallops
2 cups cream sauce
2 ounces shredded or grated cheese
2 tablespoons minced green pepper
Bread crumbs

Cut haddock into serving pieces and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Slice scallops as thin as possible across the grain. Add cheese and green pepper to cream sauce and heat until very hot, but not boiling. Add haddock and sliced scallops at once. Pour into greased casserole. Top with crumbs, dot with butter, and brown in 350-400 degree oven.

Ways Vary in Choosing Steady Girl

Friendliness Best Policy for Gaining Boys' Admiration

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

Some boys use only their eyes in sizing up a girl. She looks pretty—in all departments. She seems to have fun when she goes out. Other boys give her the okay. And that seems to be enough. They have only date with her, broach the subject at once, get the steady deal clinched. For better or for worse.

Other boys drift into going steady with a girl who attracted their eyes at first, and then proved thoroughly congenial after repeated dates. And the proving thoroughly congenial takes some doing.

It requires real give-and-take friendship, shared experiences, similar interests, plus the cooperation of her family. Physical appeal isn't all it takes to make a steady deal last. As I would like to remind this girl who wonders how to make him pick her for his steady girl.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've been going with him for almost two months, and though we're not going steady, neither of us has gone with anyone else. I've dated several of the boys have asked me if we were still going together. We are, I assured them.

"Then they ask about the girl he has been with a couple of times. Since we aren't going steady I explained to them that he goes with anyone he wants whenever he wants.

"I asked him about this once, but didn't get much of an answer. I don't have the right to demand an answer and I don't want to make an issue of it. What I do want is a way to make him want to go only with me. People tell me I'm good looking and have plenty of personality.

"As things are now he's with me more than with this other girl. But I'd like some advice on winning him completely, please."

Your friendship with him is still pretty new. You're still at the getting-acquainted stage. He's not the type to sign a girl up to a steady deal after a date or two with her. So you'll have to play it the long-range way.

Be more than just fun on a date. Be a real friend to him. The kind that sees to it that he gets what he likes to eat. The kind that backs him up, cheers him up, encourages him, applauds him, approves of him. The kind that makes him feel a special sort of understanding exists between you.

Do your share of thinking up things to do together. Make him feel welcome at your house. See to it that your family is cordial and friendly and interested in him, so he'll feel comfortable in your home and at ease with your parents.

Include him in interesting family activities. Confide your secrets and current problems. Ask for his advice, talk things over with him, then act on his suggestions and report progress.

You can become so necessary to him that he won't need other distractions. You'll have done it!

The woman showed her neighbor a beautiful set of cooking utensils and the neighbor said, "It's too bad they can't be hung on a kitchen rack." She didn't mean to show a lack of graciousness but she did with that one remark.

It is always ungracious to point out a flaw when another person shows you something he wants you to admire.

Decorative Folding Door Solves Many Problems

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Today's trim and decorative folding doors solve many problems. They are room dividers or movable walls, or they're doors to closets that save the space needed for swinging doors. They install simply on their own overhead frame so that they hold the sash tracks, without carpentry. And they get better all the time.

The latest folding door now readying for spring has slim panels that hang especially evenly and fold especially flat. The entire door is covered on both sides with plastic, soft finished to harmonize with flat paint, and this cover is uniquely removable. For a change of color, one cover can be taken off and another put on. As a wall or the door to a room, the folding door has new resistance to sound penetration. Its shape, material, and neat fit to the floor all help make it difficult for sound to come through.

Lumber and building supply dealers will have the door soon in stock sizes and will be able to provide special sizes to fit the doors anywhere.

Michigan Fires Kill 5 Yesterday

Four Children, Woman
Die; Pontiac Mother
Severely Burned

DETROIT (AP)—Five persons, four of them children, lost their lives in a rash of fires in Michigan yesterday.

In addition, flames destroyed an automobile sales agency in Port Huron, causing an estimated half million dollars damage.

Linda Yager, 2, died and her
3-year-old brother Roy was burned critically in a fire that swept through a two-story frame home in Flint. Firemen said the girl suffocated.

Mrs. Eleanor Tolowski, 30, died in a vain effort to save her year-old son Robert from a flaming farm home near Hesperia, in northwestern Lower Michigan.

Linda Reed, 3, and her brother Ronald, 2, died in a fire that swept their suburban Pontiac Township home. Their mother Myrtle, 24, was burned severely trying to rescue them.

The Reeds only other child, an infant son, Kenneth suffocated in his crib last May.

The half-million-dollar fire destroyed the Cawood Auto Sales
Co. in downtown Port Huron.

Firemen from Port Huron, Sarnia, Ont. and other nearby communities fought the blaze an hour and a half before bringing it under control.

Flames were fed by exploding acetylene tanks in the building service shop. At least 38 automobiles in the body and paint shop were destroyed. Some 30 new model cars were saved from the agency showroom.

More Tests Needed in Death of Showgirl

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—An autopsy surgeon says several days of poison tests will be required to determine the cause of actress Abigail Adams' death.

The 37-year-old brunette, former fiancee of comedian George Jessel, was found dead in her apartment Sunday.

Dr. Alexander Griswold, coroner's assistant autopsy surgeon, said his post-mortem examination yesterday did not disclose any apparent pathological cause of death.

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—For the 58th year, in song and dance, the people of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, and citizens of this Texas border town will join hands for a fiesta salute to George Washington.

There'll be street dances, bull-fights, dozens of balls, carnivals, serenades, water shows and some shirt-sleeve diplomacy on good neighbor relations by representatives of four Mexican states and Texas.

The annual celebration starts
Thursday and runs through next Tuesday, Washington's birthday.

More than a half century ago, a group of people of the twin cities astride the Rio Grande decided there ought to be a fiesta honoring some great American. There already were plenty of fiestas for Latin heroes.

They selected Washington's birthday because he is revered in Mexico as he is in the United States.

An added highlight of the celebration this year is the meeting of the five-state Good Neighbor Council and Laredo's celebration of its 200th birthday.

Trains of Future to Start Rolling

Four Railroads Reveal
Plans to Buy Modern Equipment

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Trains of
"startlingly different" designs will be rolling over tracks of four of the nation's largest railroads before too long.

The Pennsylvania, the New Haven, the New York Central and the Santa Fe railroads announced yesterday they expect to place orders soon for radically new equipment. The announcement followed completion of a six-month study by a joint committee.

The PRR has agreed to test a new train of tubular design, with depressed centers. It is designed to be used in integrated trains, but can also be interchanged with present standard equipment. The PRR plans to use the train between New York and Pittsburgh and New York and Washington.

The New York Central has agreed to order a complete integrated train similar to the design known as "Train X." This is described as similar to the "Talgo" type train now being built by the American Car and Foundry Co.
for the Rock Island Railroad.
"Talgo" cars are low slung, lightweight and designed for use only as integrated units.

Details were not immediately available on a third design, to be put in operation by the New Haven.

The announcement said the Santa Fe will soon decide upon a new design of equipment to be used first in its El Capitan between Los Angeles and Chicago.

Why Have Florida Friends Without Visiting Them?

By MARGARET LATROBE

Dear Tom and Mable,
Well hello old pals after 10 long years! Imagine our surprise and delight to hear that you have moved to Florida and have a brand new house with all those bedrooms.

I was just saying the other night, "What do you suppose Tom and Mable are up to these days?" when we heard that you are basking in the sunshine and picking oranges right in your own front yard. (How come you never answered my last 15 letters?) And I hope you are not too far from the beach. Or probably you have your own — doesn't everybody have their own beach in Florida, besides private orange trees?

Well, the funniest coincidence! And this will just simply kill you — right after we heard about your new house with all the spare bedrooms what do you think happened? We decided to take our vacation next week instead of July and where do you think we decided to go? That's right — Florida.

We are loading up all the kids in the car, and the two Great Danes (they are big and lovable) and setting right out to renew old acquaintance with some of our best pals (haha) for four glorious weeks of leisure. Believe me, I'm not planning to lift a hand after chasing three-year-olds and doing laundry and cooking and much et cetera.

Well, to get to the point — we have contacted some other old pals along the route who happened to live where we would be spending the night anyhow and we think it is just too divine that you live right there in the very spot we had planned to spend our vacation in. I said,

"Just think — all those spare bedrooms in that brand new house with the orange trees in the front yard. I'll bet Mable would just love the patter of little feet around for a while, not having any children of her own and all, and would be tickled to have little folks giving the house that lived in look. "You was always such a pernickety housekeeper, Mable dear. Boy! Have I given all those ideas up, oh brother!

Anyway, dear old pals, you can expect to hear a knock on the door one of these days and you don't need to guess any longer who will be there. Us. Please don't go to any extra trouble. Just your usual swell cooking will be plenty good enough for the five of us. We eat anything "that ain't red hot or tied down," haha. And don't even bother to reply — it sounds so wonderful we've decided to leave earlier than planned tomorrow morning. See you soon, if not sooner. Lotsa love from your old pals. (Copyright, 1955)

Margaret Welcomed by Dancing Ghosts

ANTIGUA (U)—Antigua's popular dancing "ghosts" wired up their hats today to flash lighted crowns and welcome signs for Princess Margaret, here on her month-long tour of the British West Indies.

The "ghosts" are actors who wear white sheets and tall illuminated hats. The spooks come in two sizes—long and short. The long ones dance on stilts, the short ones on their own legs.

The unique spectral throng was a feature attraction for a pageant on the Government House grounds tonight. The show was arranged to follow a state dinner in honor of Queen Elizabeth's sister, who arrived here yesterday from Barbados in the royal yacht Britannia.

Cardinal de Richelieu traveled in his bed. His retainers broke open the walls of any house he proposed to occupy.

Ten Jet Pilots Finish Training in South Korea

OSAN, Korea (U)—South Korea's first 10 jet pilots graduated today in a ceremony which Lt. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, U.S. 5th Air Force commander, said "marks the beginning of training for a modern jet air force for Korea."

The new jet pilots joined U.S. Air Force pilots in a graduation day air show over this base 40 miles south of Seoul.

A Good Soldier Dresses Like One

THAT'S THE SPOT—At a recent meeting, members of Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 40th Ordnance Bn., Army Reserve, reviewed a situation map for a proposed summer camp exercise. The men above will be on hand to answer questions at a meeting at 8 p. m. Feb. 15 at 37 W. Lawrence St., when men who are interested in joining the unit are invited to attend. In the picture are (l-r) M. Sgt. Walter Waldon, North Branch; Maj. Cyril Duffy, Birmingham; M. Sgt. William Salton, Pontiac; Pfc. Roy Shepperly, Detroit; and 1st Lt. Charles Taylor, Fenton.

Williams Sends 27 Recommendations to State Legislature for Consideration

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams sent to the Michigan Legislature last night a package of 27 miscellaneous recommendations, ranging from state housing for the aged to the 18-year-old vote.

Williams said it was the last of several messages he expects to send the lawmakers except for a separate one on unemployment compensation in the next few days. He already has sent separate messages on highways, education and state finances.

In his new message, Williams proposed:

- An unspecified program of low-rental housing for the aged.
- A $10 a month increase in maximum old age assistance grants, from the present $70 for regular recipients and $90 for hospitalized persons.
- Repeal of the so-called old age assistance "lien law" which allows the state to recover grants from the estates of deceased recipients.
- A request to allow old age pensioners to earn more than the present $15 a month without loss of their pensions.

- Creation of a permanent state commission on problems of the aging.
- A joint state-county foster care program for children.
- Creation of a state labor relations board to act in intrastate labor disputes the same as the federal board does in interstate disputes.
- A $1.25 an hour minimum wage law.
- A law requiring employers to post their wage scales to eliminate misunderstandings with employees.
- More employees for the state labor mediation board to enable it to carry out fact-finding duties in disputes involving public employees.
- A new industrial safety code allowing the state labor department to fix safety standards for factories and adjust them to changing conditions.
- An increase in the present 27-man labor department safety inspection staff.
- Passage of a safety code for building trades employees whom Williams said are second only to

- mining and lumbering workers in accidents.
- Modernization of the penal code to eliminate unequal prison sentences and permit sentencing minor offenders to county jails instead of to state prisons.
- More money for the proposed 600-man prison at Ionia, for which the legislature provided $2,650,000 last year. State building officials say that is not enough.
- Establishment of a probation recovery camp for young offenders who should not go to prison.
- Liberalization of the state civil defense law, especially to allow mutual aid between Michigan and other states and Canada.
- A method of providing compensation for injured civil defense volunteers.
- A constitutional amendment to allow 18-year-olds to vote.
- Creation of a bipartisan state board of canvassers and bipartisan local election boards.
- Permission for the governor to reorganize administrative agencies subject to legislative veto.
- Placing the state fair grounds under one agency, the State Fair Board and eliminating the dual control with the State Agricultural Commission.
- Creation of a state commission on problems of the handicapped.
- A requirement that school boilers have adequate safety valves.
- Addition of 157 men to the State Police force.

Troops Scattered by Runaway Auto

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — An automobile with its driver slumped over the wheel shot 500 yards across a Lackland Air Force Base drill field yesterday, scattering troops in all directions.

The car first knocked down a sign post, then continued diagonally across a street intersection, through a tennis court and wire mesh fence and onto the block-square parade ground at high speed. It finally halted against a barracks building.

Officers said the driver, Sgt. John W. Burris, 27, apparently suffered a heart attack. He was dead on arrival at base hospital. None of the airmen on the drill field were injured.

Rezoning Faces City Commission

Glenwood Leads Revision List

Other Area Changes Also to Be Aired at Meeting Tonight

Introduction of an ordinance to rezone to residential classification all lots in the Glenwood Estates Subdivision will head the list of zone changes scheduled to be acted upon by the City Commission tonight.

The proposed Glenwood switch from manufacturing to residential was discussed for an hour at last week's Commission meeting after the City Plan Commission recommended only a portion of the property be rezoned.

Other rezoning ordinances set to be presented call for shifting lots 56 to 65, Buena Vista Heights Subdivision to commercial; lots 364 to 380, Marquette Subdivision, and lots 19 to 24, Mt. Clemens Hills Subdivision.

The agenda also lists a communication from the Gee Coal & Oil Co. asking rezoning lot 128, assessor's plat 128 from residential to manufacturing 1.

Another zoning issue, tabled last week, will again come up for action. It concerns rezoning lots 216 to 225, assessor's plat 140 (61 Short St.) to manufacturing 1.

The Commission is also set to consider a report from the plan board concerning rezoning property at 56 to 58 Bagley St. The report was previously referred to an informal Commission meeting.

Resolutions are proposed concerning hiring a hospital construction consultant and to reduce the percentage retained on City Hall construction from the contractor from 10 to 5 per cent.

Another resolution calls for receiving a special assessment roll from the city assessor for a water main in Second avenue from Ivy to Laurel and in Laurel avenue from Second to Third.

Confirmation is slated for a special assessment roll for a sanitary sewer pumping station and related work in Brooklyn avenue from Stanley to the Pontiac, Oxford and Northern Railroad and in Chicago avenue from Carlisle to the railroad.

Also scheduled is a tabulation of bids for a water main in Eastview Subdivision.

Also to be considered is a request to change the package beer and wine and package liquor licenses at 197 Oakland Ave. from the Spadaforte estate to Louis Spadaforte and others.

Public hearings are scheduled for construction of two-inch blacktop pavement on the following streets: Barkell street from Raskob to Columbus.

Beverly avenue from Joslyn to Fuller. California avenue from Franklin road to Bagley. Redford. Edith street from Osburn to Michigan Air Line Railroad. Edith court from Wilson avenue to Michigan Air Line Railroad. Fiddis avenue from Jessie to end of street.

First avenue from Barkell to Fuller. Francis street from Pike to Chandler. Going street from Osburn to Whittemore. Harrison street from Franklin road to Bagley. Railroad. Hazel Bend avenue from Belmont to Jessie.

West Hopkins avenue from Baldwin to Stanley.

A public hearing is set for vacating the following streets: Grace street from Joslyn to Fuller, except easterly 230 feet; Grace street from Fuller to east line, assessor's plat 102; Fuller street from Grace to north line, assessor's plat 102.

Resolutions are slated to receive special assessment rolls for two-inch blacktopping on the following streets: Bondale avenue from Earlmore to Woodward Estates Subdivision. Smith drive from Josephine to James K. Florence avenue from Augusta to D.O. Ed. Redford. Stout street from Green to Palmer. Russell street from Saginaw to Baldwin. Rutgers avenue from Baldwin to University. St. Clair street from Montclair to Kennett.

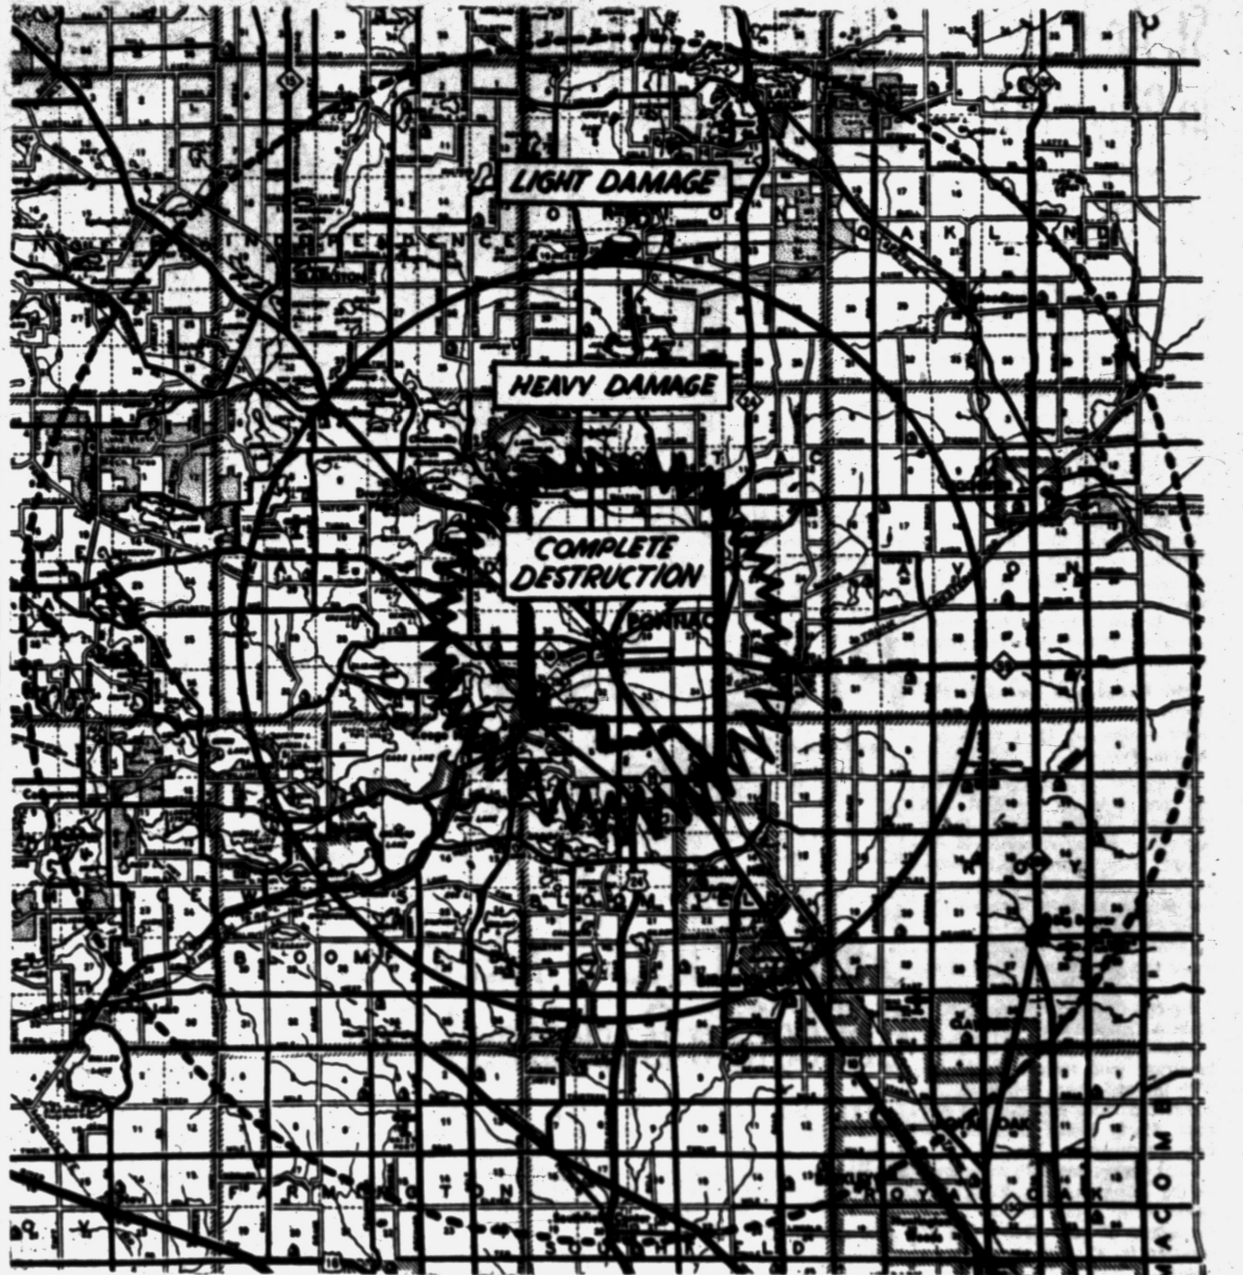

Night Spots Are Glamorous

HONOLULU—When a night club entertainer last night said the Hawaiian tourists were largely made up of "the newbies or the nearly dead," he looked right at me. So I feel that I'm classified.

Honolulu has many glamorous night spots. They largely are patterned after those in New York City, Miami Beach or Hollywood.

But prices are lower, cover charges are not general, and you are not an outcast if you order something besides the harder drinks — as few do.

Part II: What's Being Done Here Civil Defense Officials Map Area Evacuation Routes

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of articles about civil defense activities in Pontiac.

By ARNOLD S. HIRSCH

A large atomic bomb dropped at the intersection of Saginaw and Huron would kill at least 18,000 persons and injure 10,000.

Homes up to a mile from the center of the blinding blast would be little more than dust.

Buildings in a circular belt one to two and one-half miles beyond would be damaged less severely, and those two and one-half to four miles further would be damaged slightly.

Hospital facilities would be destroyed by the explosion. But even if they weren't, less than a thousand beds would be available for the 18,000 injured.

The picture is not pretty. Yet, it is based only on an atomic bomb explosion, estimated to have the power of 100,000 tons of TNT, or five times the power of the A-bomb dropped on Hiroshima.

Hydrogen bombs are many times as powerful, but they are also less plentiful, fortunately.

Although Pontiac is definitely a target city in a critical target area (in civil defense terms), it is not a prime objective. Detroit would be such a target.

According to Walter K. Willman, Pontiac's civil defense director as well as city manager, the three-county area of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb has been classified as one of 85 critical target areas in the nation.

If an enemy were to send a jet bomber force this way, it is assumed by most civil defense authorities that Pontiac would be a secondary target.

But even if it were "only" an A-bomb that was dropped into our laps, the destruction would be appalling.

Of course, a protective ring of Nike (guided missile) sites are going up in this area and they might well cut down enemy aircraft before they came too near.

But CD officials don't count on that. Hardly any defense, they say, is 100 per cent perfect.

What officials bank on most is the double, and soon triple, fence of radar stations across northern Canada, expected to give six hours advance warning of bombers winging over the Arctic Circle.

With that much warning, cities can be evacuated—but not haphazardly, authorities quickly point out. There must be a plan to follow when the sirens sound.

"You can't just tell everyone to clear out and have them head for Flint, or Rochester or Lapeer," says Willman.

To that end, county and state civil defense experts are now undertaking a study of roads out of highly populous areas.

When it is determined how much traffic roads can handle, they will be designated as evacuation routes for outbound refugees.

A study of out-county schools, churches and social halls which could be used as shelters and feeding stations also has been undertaken.

As for aid for the injured after a direct hit, Willman and his assistant, William L. Collins, say most of the help would have to come from communities which escaped harm.

Still, the city has CD agencies prepared to swing into action as soon as the all-clear is sounded on the siren and over the radio.

Auxiliary police and firemen would hurry to aid the regulars. Red Cross volunteers would start their gigantic task of aiding humanity. Amateur radio operators would hasten to their sets. Rescue workers and road-clearing crews would mobilize.

In the 1955 city budget, $8,300 has been set aside for civil defense. An additional $5,000 is expected to come from the federal government.

With the funds, Willman hopes to purchase a fully equipped rescue truck, such as has been assigned to the county, and two auxiliary power generators.

Dr. Hume, Former Owosso Mayor, Dies

OWOSSO (AP) — Dr. Arthur M. Hume, 95, a Shiawassee County doctor for 72 years and a former Owosso mayor, died in Memorial Hospital yesterday after a long illness.

Dr. Hume was the oldest living past president of the Michigan Medical Society, the oldest living past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Michigan AF & AM, and the oldest 33rd degree Mason in Michigan.

He was surgeon general of the Michigan National Guard for a 10-year period that covered the Spanish-American War.

Dr. Hume was a former member of the Owosso Board of Education. He is survived by a daughter, Miss Ethel Hume of Owosso.

Mother Stabbed to Death While Young Sons Watch

REDLANDS, Calif. (AP) — A husband hiding in a closet when police came to his house with a warrant last night while his three young sons watched in horror.

The husband, Roland C. Beckham, 33, looked on suspicion of murder, was standing over his wife's body when police arrived the second time.

Mrs. Charlene Beckham, 32, had been stabbed in the left shoulder and in the chest with a butcher knife. The children, Roland Jr., 12; Jimmy, 8; and Ward, 4, were in a frightened huddle.

One of them had called the police station a few minutes before to say: "Daddy is beating Mama."

ing marital trouble occurred a half hour after Mrs. Beckham had returned home from her work as a title company stenographer.

Sgt. Robert Lansing and other police investigators said that a month ago Mrs. Beckham obtained a restraining order requiring her husband to stay away from their home. He left town but returned about three weeks ago.

He had been living at the house, perhaps with Mrs. Beckham's hope of a reconciliation, but yesterday she obtained an assault and battery warrant, complaining he beat her Sunday, officers said.

Sgt. Lansing and other officers went to the house to serve the warrant but did not find Beckham and left. The killing occurred about 10 minutes later.

Hawaiians Make Visitors Welcome

By JOE HAAS

HONOLULU—When a night club entertainer last night said the Hawaiian tourists were largely made up of "the newbies or the nearly dead," he looked right at me. So I feel that I'm classified.

Honolulu has many glamorous night spots. They largely are patterned after those in New York City, Miami Beach or Hollywood.

But prices are lower, cover charges are not general, and you are not an outcast if you order something besides the harder drinks — as few do.

Night clubbing is mostly in parties of a half dozen or more, who go out to go "all out." It is largely by reservation, and the night spots know how to cater to the ego of the bunch making the reservation. They've a real system.

Hotel rates are below what you'd expect after a Florida or Southern California experience. Rigid city ordinances make an undesirable hotel quite impossible. Inspections are made on every complaint.

You can get along quite well at a rate of $8 to $12 per day, without meals. You can get all that anybody could desire at $16 per day, like ourselves at the Surf-Rider or other equally good hotels. Or you can pay up to $100 per day.

In the latter classification comes one or two hotels who cater especially to the class whose principal conversation revolves around the fact that they "do not care for expenses," and who talk mostly about percentages and discounts, or others about the place or back home.

Waikiki Beach is a manufactured beach. It has a base of coral rock, and its sand was brought in from other parts of the island. Nevertheless, it is one of the world's finest, little affected by the tides and with a gradual slant to only about five feet in depth a quarter mile out.

It has the incessant land bound rollers of the wide Pacific, and is ideal for bathing, sunbathing, riding and outrigger and other canoeing. Its banks are lined with coconut palms and other tropical vegetation, in which the hotels are nestled.

While somewhat resembling Miami Beach, Waikiki does not have such a large proportion of people who wear bathing togs only as a land attire and for basking in the sand, but would be shocked if they got wet.

The local hotel slogan, "Come here and be pampered," is more than a mere slogan. You are not here very long before you realize that it is a heart warming reality.

Although the language of an aboriginal people, the Hawaiian language is easy to learn. While most of the natives can speak enough English to get along, you can cuddle up to their warm affections by mastering a part of their native tongue.

Their alphabet has but 12 letters, a, e, i, o, u, h, k, l, m, n, p and w. Each vowel must be pronounced, and a consonant must never be allowed to close a syllable.

All speaking is accompanied with gesticulations of the face and hands, motions of the body and a cast or wink of the eye.

The lei (pronounced lay) as an around the neck decoration is the principal Hawaiian symbol, dating back further than history records. Formerly restricted to royalty, it now is universal. Made mostly of flowers, in which the plumeria is standard, it is their way of showing their appreciation of the beautiful.

And no people on earth have more reason for such an appreciation than the Hawaiians.

PHS, St. Michael Cagers in Action Tonight

Catholic Loop Second Division Finals Berth Is at Stake

St. Michael's once-beaten Shamrocks tackle highly-rated Detroit St. Andrew tonight in the semi-finals of the Catholic League's Second Division championship playoffs.

Contest is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the Catholic Central gymnasium, Outer Drive-Hubbell intersection in Detroit. Winner of the game will meet St. Florian for the divisional crown Sunday in the University of Detroit Fieldhouse.

Pontiac parochial squad defeated Suburban Catholic League co-champion St. Benedict last weekend to earn a berth in the playoffs. It marks the 2nd trip to the championship tourney in four years for coach Bob Minewasser's team.

St. Andrew, which this year lost only one game in the West Side title race, appears again to be one of the strongest teams in the circuit. Four of the Flyers' starters connected for double-figure totals Sunday as they trounced Cathedral Central, 62-52.

Flyers' only two setbacks in 14 starts this year were a 45-36 upset earlier by Cathedral Central and a 1-point double-overtime loss to Class A Catholic Central.

Minewasser will start his usual 1st-string unit tonight, with Joe Wilhelm and John Keller at forwards, Bud Schwartz at center and Capt. Marty Keller and Bob Anderson at guards.

John Keller, the only non-senior in the lineup, is the Miles' top scorer with a 15.7 average. His top effort of the season was a spectacular 43-point performance against St. Rita.

The last pitcher to shutout the Yankees in a World Series was Preacher Roe of the Dodgers. He beat them 1-0 in the second game of the 1959 Series.

BETTER THINGS AHEAD—This has been a rather bleak cage season for Avondale High School, but coach Frank Crowell has hopes for a brighter future with four underclassmen gaining valuable experience while the 'Jackets have won 3 and lost 8 games. From

Prep 5s Point for Tourneys

Rochester and Clarkston, two of the area's better Class B prep basketball teams, are moving towards a possible meeting in Pontiac's Class B district tournament next month.

Gene Konley's Rochester five has gone on a 6-game winning spurt to run its season record to 9-4 and will bid for its 10th victory tonight on the home floor against Fitzgerald.

With no league championship to worry about, the Falcons will hold tournament previews with Oxford (Feb. 22) and Lake Orion (Feb. 25) prior to the start of the district event at PHS, March 2.

Meanwhile, it's first things first for Dom Mauti's Clarkstonians. The Wolves have won 11 of 13 games and hope to make Northville victim number 12 tonight at Clarkston.

A victory would give the Mautis at least a temporary tie with Milford for first place in the Wayne-Oakland County League. Milford meets Clareville Wednesday.

Clarkston also has a date with Clareville prior to what likely will be a climactic game with Milford on the Redskins' floor Feb. 25.

Then Rochester and Clarkston will be joined by Oxford, Lake Orion, Romeo and Avondale in Pontiac's Class B district.

The games at Clarkston and Rochester feature tonight's prep card in the Pontiac area. Avondale also is in action, entertaining Waterford.

The Skippers won the first meeting, 51-45, at Waterford.

Both Waterford and Avon have a small group of seniors on the squad, but coaches Don Beedle and Frank Crowell are making liberal use of underclassmen with an eye on the future.

Al Hill, Jack Greenlee, Toby Aldrich and Don Krupp are Crowell's senior corps, but junior Lyn Wright has become the Yellowjackets' top scorer. Juniors Larry Herron and Jerry Paul are the usual back-court combination and sophomore Dick Gronski is seeing action.

Myles Watkins and Joe Umfrey are senior regulars at Waterford, and have been joined by the recently-acquired Jack Campbell.

Chiefs Tangle With Ferndale in Road Game

Contest to Conclude Non-League Schedule for Pontiac

Chiefs return to Saginaw Valley Conference play Friday at Saginaw and wind up their schedule with home games against Bay City Central Feb. 25 and Arthur Hill March 4.

Coach Art Van Ryzin's team should be at full strength tonight for the first time in three games. Guard Bob Johnston, a 3-year regular, returned to school yesterday after a week's absence because of influenza.

Johnston is expected to regain his backcourt spot tonight, teaming with Walt Fox. Remainder of the lineup will have John James and Rod Treals at forwards and Dick Blacklaw at center.

Also expected to see considerable action is sophomore Dave Diehm, who scored 10 points last Friday in his first varsity appearance. Diehm averaged slightly more than 19 points per game on the junior varsity prior to moving up last week.

Pontiac, which handed Ferndale one of its five losses last season, will be rated a slight favorite over the Railsplitters tonight. Coach Roy Burkhardt's team has dropped 6 of its 10 starts to date.

He will probably start Clarence McKinney and Jerry Fry at forwards, either Paul Dugan or Dick Kienbaum at the pivot and Mark Rudman and Larry Shelton at guards. Only Rudman and Shelton saw action against the Chiefs last year, when Pontiac won a 51-45 decision.

Game is scheduled to start at 8 p.m., immediately following the reserve tilt.

Kramer's Layout Wins for UM 5

Ron Nets 28 Points as Wolverines Edge Purple, 72-70

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Ron Kramer's layup basket in the last three seconds of play gave Michigan a 72-70 Big Ten basketball victory over Northwestern last night. And it gave the Wolverine football player a 28 point total for the second straight game.

Kramer collected his first 28 points—equaling Michigan's individual scoring record—in the Wolverine 80-70 victory over Purdue Saturday night.

Kramer, who was pressed into service at center when regular Harvey Williams was ruled temporarily ineligible because of a scholastic mixup, took charge early in pacing the Wolverines to a 44-40 halftime lead.

The Michigan margin narrowed early in the second half. From there on it was touch and go with the score knotted, 70-70, with less than two minutes remaining.

The defeat left Northwestern with a 5-5 conference record and gave Michigan revenge for a 96-81 licking at the Wildcats' hands in Evanston two weeks ago.

Gene Fullmer Wins 28th Ring Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—It's about time to take serious notice of Gene Fullmer, the young boiler-maker's assistant from West Jordan, Utah, who has won 28 straight.

The strong 23-year-old middleweight gave ex-Marine Paul Pender of Boston a sound drubbing last night at Eastern Parkway Arena in Brooklyn to win a unanimous decision in 10 stormy rounds.

With Lew Tendler, the former southpaw great in his corner, young Kenny Lane, of Muskegon, Mich., won in a romp over Jackie Blair, Dallas veteran of 112 fights, in the 10-round feature at St. Nicholas Arena. Each fighter weighed 135 pounds.

Outdoor Color Film on UAW-CIO Program

Jack Van Covering, Detroit outdoor writer, will present his "Outdoors in Michigan" film tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. at the Pontiac High School auditorium.

Pontiac Skater Finds Career, Hubby in Revue

June Paulas One of 11 Michigan People in Hollywood Cast

One of 11 Michigan skaters performing in the 1953 Hollywood Ice Revue is June Sapelak Paulas of Pontiac.

Mrs. Paulas found not only a career in joining the Revue, but also met her husband. The Pontiac girl was married last summer to Norman Paulas of Chicago, who plays lead saxophone in the ice revue orchestra and does some of the musical arrangements.

Don Stewart of Hazel Park is another Oakland County skater in the show. Others hail from Detroit, Wyandotte and Dearborn.

The Ice Revue currently is playing at Olympia Stadium, where it will run until Sunday, Feb. 27. Matinee and evening performances are given each Saturday and Sunday, with nightly shows every evening except Monday and Tuesday.

Tryouts for the revue have been scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 24 at Olympia (1 p.m.). Candidates must be 18 years of age or older and should bring their own skates.

Boys' Clubbers Win 'B' Game

Wharry's 27 Points Sparks Police Quint to 'D' Victory

Boys' Club plunged Courtesy Floors deeper into the City Basketball League Class B cellar last night by trouncing the tailenders 55-32.

Arnold collected 12 points for Boys' club, while teammate Marvin Heller and Courtesy's Jim Combs had 12 apiece.

Nomads forfeited their Class A contest to co-leader Clarkston.

Ted Wharry piled up 27 points to lead once-beaten Police to an 85-55 triumph over Wolverines in Class D. Irwin-Rosa, led by Don Walker's 22 points, downed Melkers 47-39 in another "D" contest.

TONIGHT'S GAMES—Chiefs' clash with Romeo at 8 p.m.; A. PHS, 7 p.m.; Bulldogs Inn vs. Griff's Grill (Class B), 8 p.m.; Blue Devils vs. Slaybaugh's and Keego vs. Red Cats (Class D), Lincoln, 7 p.m.; Lakers vs. Irwin-Rosa and Melkers vs. Wolverines (Class D), Lincoln, 8:30 p.m.

Drug Quintet Ends Regular Season Unbeaten

Drayton Drug closed the pre-playoff portion of the Waterford Recreation Basketball League schedule undefeated Monday night with an easy 60-25 win over Waterford Merchants.

Poole Lumber downed Beattie Motors in the 2nd game of the twin bill, 44-40. The schedule will conclude Wednesday night and the opening playoff games are slated Monday, Feb. 21.

Paul Nadeau paced the Drug victory over the Merchants with 18 points, while Seth Cummings collected 12 for the losers.

Poole put down a Beattie rally in the 4th period to preserve its triumph. Dick Minewasser meshed 20 points for the Lumbermen and Jack Taylor had 12 for Beattie.

Gibson, Hasbrouck Win Speed Skating Crowns

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y. (AP)—A blonde Wisconsin coed and a young New Yorker shrugged off zero cold and biting wind to dominate the North American outdoor speed skating championships over the weekend.

Pat Gibson of the University of Wisconsin took all but one event and piled up 140 points to be senior women's titlist.

Jay Hasbrouck of Newburgh, N.Y., a veteran racer at 18, scored 160 points—100 more than his nearest two competitors—to capture the senior men's crown.

Plush 'Red' Carpet Rolled Out for American Skaters

MOSCOW (AP)—Having tasted Russian caviar and rested in the Soviet's newest swank hotel, the U.S.'s three representatives in this weekend's world speedskating championships went out today to test the Dynamo Stadium ice.

The skaters—Ken Henry of Chicago, Don McDermott of Englewood Cliffs, N. J. and John Wicket of Minneapolis—accompanied by Team Manager Richard Shearman of Jamestown, N. Y., arrived here Monday night. They are the first American athletes to visit the Soviet Union for competition since the last world war.

They were immediately whisked off to Sovetskaya Hotel, where the Soviet Sports Ministry is host to the athletes, and served a caviar supper.

Wicket described the trip from Helsinki (they left New York last Saturday) in a Russian plane as "very fine" and used the same phrase in describing the hotel. He said insofar as he knew the Soviet sports authorities are picking up

Gophers Drub Indiana, Near Big 10 Title

Michigan Beats NW, MSC Handed 90-72 Loss by Illinois

CHICAGO (AP)—Minnesota moved closer to its first Big 10 basketball title since 1919 by soundly drubbing Indiana's defending champions, 72-70, last night at Bloomington.

But the Gophers could gain no ground in the race since 2nd-place Iowa kept pace by whipping Ohio State, 49-46.

Illinois, still nursing title hopes, staged a 2nd-half rally to whip Michigan State 90-72 to remain in 3rd place.

In other games, Michigan's improving Wolverines dumped Northwestern, 72-70, and Purdue rolled over Wisconsin 75-63.

Indiana fought Minnesota on even terms through most of the 1st half with the score tied four times but the Gophers managed to forge ahead 41-38 at halftime and rolled along with little trouble in the 2nd half.

Iowa used 16 players to drop hapless Ohio State into a tie for the cellar with Purdue. Four Hawk-eyes, led by Deacon Davis' 18 points, scored in double figures.

Illinois, trailing by eight points at the end of the 1st half, rallied behind Jim Dutcher and Hiles Stout in the 2nd period, to defeat Michigan State going away.

Michigan, which meets Minnesota in a nationally-televated game at Ann Arbor Saturday, slipped by Northwestern on a basket by Ron Kramer in the final three seconds.

Kramer netted 28 points, the same total he scored against Purdue Saturday when the Wolves won 80-70.

Minnesota (8-2) holds a half game lead over Iowa (7-2) and a full game lead over Illinois (6-3). All three of the leaders will be on the road Saturday with Illinois at Wisconsin and Iowa at Michigan State.

Gunnar Nielsen to Return Home

Going After World Record Every Week Too Tiring

NEW YORK (AP)—Gunnar Nielsen, the Great Dane from Copenhagen, has had it.

After Saturday's mile race in the National AAU championships, Nielsen, owner of the world indoor mile record of 4:03.6, will head back to his pressman's job in Denmark.

"Just trying to win is tough enough," red-haired Gunnar sadly observed today. "But going after a world record week after week has taken too much out of me. I need a rest."

Originally, Nielsen, the first non-American to hold the world indoor record for more than two decades—the great Paavo Nurmi was the last—had intended to make the entire circuit.

Santa Anita Derby Wide Open Affair

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—It's derby week at Santa Anita, and the $100,000 added race for 3-year-olds Saturday shapes up as a wide open scramble among nine colts.

The team of Blue Ruler and Jean's Joe undoubtedly will be backed down as the heavy favorite. There is some doubt in the Murcin Stable as to which of these two should finish first in the mile and one-eighth race.

Orioles Sign Hurler

BALTIMORE (AP)—Pitcher Robert S. Alexander, a right-hander who had a 10-12 record last year with Portland of the Pacific Coast League, has returned his signed contract, the Baltimore Orioles said today.

Creekmur Back in City

Lou Creekmur, outstanding line-man of the Detroit Lions professional football team, is back in Pontiac for another "season" of sales duty at Oliver Motor Sales.

The former All-America star at William & Mary College was an all-pro selection and played in the annual Pro-Bowl game last month.

Shooting of Pontiac's Al Barkeley Leads League

Alan Barkeley, Pontiac junior and forward on the western Michigan College basketball team, is currently the leader of the Mid-America Conference in field goal accuracy.

In free throw accuracy for all games, he ranks second among conference players and for conference games only is third.

In the Mid-America, Barkeley has hit 43 of 73 field goal attempts for a .581 percentage to lead the league. In all games he has 69 fielders in 132 attempts for a .523 average.

In free throwing, the former PHS star has made 55 of 71 attempts for a .775 mark in conference games and in all games he has 87 free throws in 115 attempts for a .777 mark.

The Broncos have compiled an 11-6 record overall and their 38 mark in the conference is good for 2nd place, one game out of

Inaugural Ball Held by OCBC Members

Oakland County Boat Club held its annual Inaugural Ball last week to honor the following newly elected officers: Lloyd Maddock, commodore; Ken Smith, vice-commodore; William Webster, rear commodore; Harold Wells, secretary; and Edward Baxter, treasurer.

New board of directors includes Frederick Ziem, Stanley Roat, Gary Schroeder, E. M. Rose and Joseph Nolan.

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP)—Today is "N Day" for Rocky Marciano.

"N" is for nose and shortly after 3 p.m. (EST), the heavyweight champion may have an idea whether his precious proboscis can stand a good stiff punch.

Rocky is going to box four rounds in an "all-out" session with sparring partner Keene Simmons in his camp at the Grossinger Country Club.

It's been five months since Rocky had the left side of his nose sliced down to the tip in his eight round knockout of Ezzard Charles. And nobody, including

Berg, Zaharias Notch Victories

Patty Wins St. Pete's Open, Babe Is Serbin Trophy Winner

Two of the old guard of women golfers, Patty Berg and Babe Zaharias, just barely slipped through to victories in the St. Petersburg Fla. Women's open.

Miss Berg won the tournament and $1,000 Monday with a 72-hole total of 292. She edged out Jackie Pung of Honolulu, who closed strong for 293, and defending champion Beverly Hanson of India, Calif., who started well but finished poorly for 295.

Mrs. Zaharias came in fourth but that was just exactly what she needed, according to unofficial ratings, to win the Serbin Trophy for high-point member of the ladies PGA for the past year.

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Daly, manager of Ronnie Delaney of Akron, Ohio, Monday night claimed he had the backing of "several Akron businessmen" to offer middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson a $100,000 guarantee to defend his title against Delaney who upset welter champ Johnny Saxton at Akron last Friday.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Golden Gloves, biggest of all amateur boxing tournaments, is in a mild tizzy over whether to permit sailors and Marines to wear protective headgear in its rings.

After the ring death last December in Boston of sailor Ed Sanders, 1952 Olympic heavyweight champion, the Navy adopted a rule that henceforth its personnel cannot enter the ropes without a special type of sponge head protection.

It's estimated that servicemen make up about 25 per cent of the field which competes for Golden Gloves honors from coast to coast.

But the New York Daily News, which conducts the Eastern Tournament of Champions from Maine to Florida, says headgear positively will not be allowed. "We will abide by Amateur Athletic Union rules," said the tournament director, Harry Forbes.

The Chicago Tribune, whose Tournament of Champions covers amateur boxers from the Alleghenies to the Pacific Coast, has taken the stand that there will be no rule against the wearing of headgear by Navy men.

Arch Ward, director of the Chicago tournament, said: "The squad manager of a boy fighting a Navy man will be given the choice of wearing a headgear. With or without this equipment, the bout will proceed."

The AAU itself lent little light to the controversy.

Dan Ferris, secretary of the national AAU, said the amateur body had no rule against the use of headgear but at the same time had no regulation sanctioning it.

Rocky, knows what's going to happen when the million dollar nose gets hit with a solid punch.

The undefeated Brockton Bomber is plenty worried about it all and well he should. His future hinges on the outcome of today's test and possibly a few others.

If the nose rips open again, Rocky will have to take a long layoff or even may have to quit the ring entirely.

"I boxed four rounds over the weekend with Simmons—two rounds Saturday and two more Sunday," said Rocky Monday. "He caught me one or two

Barrage Is Victor

Ch. Bang Away Loses to Son in Boxer Judging at Westminster Kennel Show

NEW YORK (AP)—He may not win the 79th edition of the Westminster Kennel Club dog show tonight, but 20-month-old Barrage of Quality Hill won't worry. He licked his old man, once the champion of them all.

Barrage, a frisky stepper who looks like he'd never run out of pep, still must win the working group award, if he's even to get to the final.

But he sent none other than his father, Ch. Bang Away of Sirrah Chest, back to his biscuits in the Boxer Judging last night. The youngster won his class in the afternoon session, then rested up for the big showdown, Bang Away, as 1951 champion, automatically qualified for the breed final. He holds the all-time record of best-in-shows—100.

Len Carey, the judge, who owns Ch. Rancho Dobe's Storm, the Doberman Pinscher who licked Bang Away when he tried to repeat his victory in 1952, deliberated a long, long time before he made his selection.

Barrage at the moment belongs to Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Greiner, Jr., of Kansas City, but after the show tonight, Mr. and Mrs. Jouett Shouse of Washington, D. C., will take possession. They paid the Greiners $7,000 for the dog, but it was agreed that the present owners would keep him until the end of the show.

So Barrage automatically becomes the No. 1 favorite to go to the top when the final decision is made at about 11 p.m. (EST).

No. 2 choice is Ch. Taylor's Dark Knight, a 2-year-old black Cocker spaniel, owned by Dr. Gilbert H. Taylor of Glen Head, N.Y.

Spring Training Near, 135 Still Unsigned

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With spring training due to start March 1, a survey by The Associated Press today showed that more than 135 major league players have not signed contracts. Many of them are among the sport's stars.

The unsigned list includes Ted Williams, whom the Boston Red Sox hope will change his mind about retiring; American League batting champion Bobby Avila of Cleveland; Sal Maglie, pitching ace of the world champion New York Giants; Hard-hitting Eddie Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves; the Phillies' Grady Hatfield; Richie Ashburn, and Curt Simmons; the Yankees' Mickey Mantle; Avila's teammates Larry Doby and Early Wynn; Minnie Minoso of the White Sox; Boston's Jim Piersall; Bob Porterfield, Mickey Vernon and Eddie Yost of Washington; and Jim Finigan, star third baseman of the Kansas City Athletics.

For the most part, however, the clubs are not worried. Unsigned players are not considered hold-outs until March 1. Several have said they have just delayed in signing and will be on hand when the first ball is thrown out.

The White Sox have the smallest list. It consists of just Minoso, who wants a $20,000 raise. He reportedly is getting just under $30,000.

The Indians, with one of the longest lists, are not looking for any real contract trouble.

It is believed that Avila, Doby and Wynn and the club are about $5,000 apart.

Neither is the Giants' front office too much concerned over Maglie. Only a minor difference is said to be keeping them apart. The Yankees expect Mantle in the fold within a day or two.

Mathews, who was paid an estimated $25,000 last season, has said he would ask for a substantial increase. But apparently he hasn't gotten around to talking with the Braves' officials.

Hammer, apparently slated for a raise following a fine season, and Earl Torgeson, slated for a cut, are due to discuss terms with General Manager Roy Hamner of the Phillies in Florida. Simmons has been into the Philadelphia office to talk while Ashburn, first asked to take a 20 per cent slice after a 313 year and now offered last year's pay, is still negotiating from his Tilden, Neb., home.

Washington's chief trouble is likely to come from Vernon. Mickey made about $27,500 last season and the club reportedly wants to cut him to around $20,000.

LOOK AT RECORD—St. Michael coach Bob Mineweaver and the Keller brothers, John (left) and Marty (right) take a look at the impressive basketball record of Detroit St. Andrew, the Shamrocks' foe tonight in the Catholic League Second Division playoff semifinal game. St. Andrew's Flyers have lost only two games, including a 1-point double-overtime loss to Class A. Catholic Central, in 14 starts. John Keller is St. Michael's top scorer this year, while brother Marty is captain of the squad.

Three Quintets Added to Field for Invitational

Louisville, Manhattan, Niagara Accept Bids to NIT in New York

NEW YORK (U)—The field for the National Invitation Basketball tournament was half filled today with six more teams still to be named for the post-season event.

Louisville (16-6), Manhattan (14-3) and Niagara (14-5) accepted bids Monday to compete in the Madison Square Garden classic March 12-19.

The NIT previously had selected three other independent teams—Duquesne, Dayton and Cincinnati. Louisville, Manhattan and Niagara all have participated in the NIT before and have a total of 10 appearances among them.

For Louisville, this will be its fourth straight year in the NIT. The Kentucky Cardinals lost opening round games in both 1952 and 1954 and gained the quarter-finals in 1953.

Manhattan, giving the tournament some local flavor, will be making its fifth appearance in the Garden post-season tourney. The Jaspers reached the semi-finals in 1953 before being eliminated by LaSalle.

Niagara, a perennial upstate power, has impressed this season with conquests of Holy Cross, Cornell, Fordham and Canisius. The Purple Eagles, making their fourth appearance in the classic, gained the semifinals last year before bowing to Duquesne.

More than a dozen other teams are under consideration for the remaining six spots in the field. They include defending champion Holy Cross, Connecticut, Penn State, St. Francis of Pa., Seton Hall, St. Louis, Texas Tech, Wichita, West Texas State, Williams, Tulsa, Marshall (W. Va.), Lafayette, Memphis State, DePaul and Villanova.

Spartans Bow in Second Half

CHAMPAIGN (U)—Michigan State failed, 90-72, in last night's attempt to cool Illinois' Big Ten basketball hopes.

The Spartans piled up an eight-point halftime margin but crumbled under a second half 51-point Illinois rush.

Illinois' outburst was headed by reserve forward Jim Dutcher and Miles Stout. Dutcher scored all of his 18 points in the second half and Stout hit 11 of his 13 in the last period.

Julius McCoy was the Spartan gun in the first half with 18 of his 20 points made in that period.

Illinois shot .430 from the field to .361 for MSC.

6 New Leaders Take Over in State Pin Test

BAY CITY (U)—Six new leaders took over in the second weekend of firing in the state bowling championships here.

William Luoma of Detroit led actual singles with the most spectacular series of the tournament—games of 201, 256 and 267 for a 724 total. This moved him 26 pins ahead of Vern Miller of Cadillac.

Miller held his handicap singles lead, however (761), since Luoma was rolling with only an 18 pin handicap.

Maxwell Insurance of Detroit with 2871 took over actual team lead.

Johnny's Spring Service of Windsor finished 2nd in actual pins with 2823 and moved into 1st place in the team handicap event with 3066.

All five places in actual doubles changed with Tommy Smith and Bill Gerlach grabbing 1st with a 1283 total. In handicap doubles King Miller and Mac McKellar of Merrill took over with the aid of a 129 pin handicap for a 1332 total.

Michael Totsky Detroit, is the all events leader with an actual 1912.

Manhattan, giving the tournament some local flavor, will be making its fifth appearance in the Garden post-season tourney. The Jaspers reached the semi-finals in 1953 before being eliminated by LaSalle.

Niagara, a perennial upstate power, has impressed this season with conquests of Holy Cross, Cornell, Fordham and Canisius. The Purple Eagles, making their fourth appearance in the classic, gained the semifinals last year before bowing to Duquesne.

Win Strings Extended

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Marquette, already selected for an NCAA tournament berth, and San Francisco, headed for the same postseason event, continued to streak along the collegiate basketball horizon today.

The Wisconsin Warriors, No. 6 in this week's Associated Press poll, stretched their skin to 19 straight victories—longest among major schools—as they overpowered Detroit 100-81 last night.

Meanwhile, Frisco's Dons, the nation's top-ranking team, extended their winning streak to 17 with a 66-52 victory over Santa Clara. San Francisco has agreed to play in the National Collegiate Assn. title. Its conference record is 8-0.

Marquette jumped off to an 8-0 lead and never was headed. The Warriors were ahead at halftime 40-31 and early in the second half opened a 20-point bulge.

Bill Russell, 6-10 center, paced a second-half San Francisco surge after the Dons trailed 34-25 at the half. Russell scored 21 of his 31 points in the final half.

Minnesota maintained its half-game advantage in the Big Ten race with an 80-70 victory over Indiana, while runner-up Iowa kept pace by downing Ohio State 79-68. The Gophers' league record is 8-2, while Iowa stands 7-2.

In other Big Ten encounters last night, third-place Illinois, No. 14, overcame an eight-point halftime deficit to whip Michigan State 90-72 and remain in championship contention; last-place Purdue upset Wisconsin 75-63; and Ron Kramer's layup with three seconds left gave Michigan a 72-70 conquest over Northwestern.

Fifth-ranked George Washington trounced Virginia Tech 82-57 as Joe Pavich collected 44 points to set a new individual scoring record for the Colonials. But Buzz Wilkinson did him one better as he caged 45 points in leading Virginia to a 106-68 lacing of Clemson.

Second-ranked Kentucky, hitting consistently on set shots, bowled over Xavier of Cincinnati 66-55. Si Green's 33 points sparked Duquesne, No. 4, to an 81-67 victory over 12th-ranked Cincinnati in a game between two National Invitation Tournament-bound teams.

Oregon State, No. 16, clinched at least a tie for the Northern Division Pacific Coast Conference championship by defeating Idaho as 7-3 Swede Halbrook scored 31 points.

50 Links Stars Tune Up Today for Texas Open

Furgol Heads List in Pro-Am, as 248 Shoot Qualifying Rounds

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (U)—Hot shots of the tournament trail go after a little pin money today as they combine their tune-ups for the $12,500 Texas Open with play in a pro-amateur.

Fifty of the top professionals headed by Ed Furgol, National Open champion, will play in a $3,000 pro-am at Oak Hills Country Club.

Meanwhile 248 golfers will be shooting for 50 qualifying places in the Texas Open in 18 holes at Brackenridge Park course, scene of the open starting Thursday.

The big tournament has drawn a record-breaking entry of 369 players of which 121 are exempt from qualifying.

The list includes Gene Littler, the year's leading money winner, and all other winners along the winter tour except Cary Middlecoff, the Memphis dentist, who triumphed in the Bing Crosby-Chandler Harper of Chattanooga is the defending champion and again will seek the $2,500 first money over Brackenridge's par 71, 6,400-yard course.

Ray Garrett of Wichita Falls, Tex., teamed with three San Antonio amateurs Monday to win first money in a pro-amateur at Brackenridge. They had a best ball 61. Ed Carpenter, San Antonio professional, shot a 66 as low scorer of the day. Few of the touring pros played in this event.

Match Play Starts in Everglades Test

PALM BEACH, Fla. (U)—The nation's leading women amateur golfers and their partners start match play today in the 20th annual Mixed Foursomes Two-Ball Golf tournament at the Everglades Club.

Five teams tied for medalist honors over the 5,913-yard par-71 course Monday. Among them were Pat Lesser of Seattle, Wash., and Bob Sweeney of Palm Beach, who won the medal last year.

Others who had par 71s were Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., and J. Walcott Brown of Manassas, N. J., winners in 1952; Marlene Stewart of Fonthills, Ont., and Hobart Manley Jr. of Savannah, Ga., winner in 1953.

New York Yankee catcher Yogi Berra was a star soccer player in high school.

Stengel Predicts Pitching Will Be Most Crucial Problem in Yanks' Spring Drills

NEW YORK YANKEES
By CASEY STENGEL

GLENDAL, Calif., Feb. 15 (U)—Pitching is going to be the most important problem of the Yankees in spring training.

I feel the addition of such strong-armed fellows like Bob Turley and Don Larsen has strengthened the staff but we're going to miss a fellow like Allie Reynolds very much. If it's true that the Indian is going to retire, I can only say that he'll be mighty hard to replace.

Allie started ball games every four days and he could step in there and do a fine job of relief work, and just as the TV fella says, 'you just don't get them no more.' He was a great pitcher for us for seven years and there's no question but that the Yankees and I, personally, will miss him. But his health is of the first concern to the organization, as well as to him.

I expect to have 18 pitchers in camp and you can bet that I and the coaching staff will look over each of them carefully. In fact it could be that when we look over some farm club prospects at our special St. Petersburg instruction school in February, I may see another pitcher or two who will interest me.

Cleveland definitely had better pitching than we did last year and so if we're going to beat those guys we have to improve even more than they do. I figure Johnny Sain and Jim Konstanty as my relief pitchers with Ed Lopat a spot starter. That means I have hopes of a big five of starters, including Whitey Ford, Bob Grim, Tom Morgan, Turley and Larsen. Then if a couple of fellows like Tommy Byrne or Bob Weisler also deliver we could be sitting pretty.

Besides aged pitching, our biggest weakness last year was at shortstop. Phil Rizzuto, who did so much for the Yankees in their five straight championships, did not have a good year. We had to use Willie Miranda and Jerry Coleman there. This year we will have Billy Hunter as well as Rizzuto and Coleman. So far as Billy Martin is concerned, I'll forget about the kid until he's discharged from the Army. Then I'm sure Bill will make me find a place for him in the lineup.

My present infield and outfield plans shape up something like this: Bill Skowron and Joe Collins at first. The kid Skowron thinks he can go all the way. He'll have to show me. Gil McDougald or Coleman at second. Hunter or Rizzuto or somebody else at short. Andy Carey or McDougald at third.

Mickey Mantle is my center fielder against all kinds of pitching. Irv Noren, Hank Bauer, Country Slaughter and Bob Cerv share the other outfield duties. With those guys and with Yogi Berra and Elston Howard and a couple of others available for catching we should be in good shape. So far as Howard is concerned, I have no idea as yet where he will play. That'll be up to him in spring training.

I think we have a good enough team to win or finish second in the worst. Cleveland, of course, is the team to beat. Then Injuns have the pitching and long distance hitting. After that I rate Chicago, Detroit, Baltimore, Boston, Washington and Kansas City.

Motorist Free After 9 Years and Over $2,000

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP)—A 37-year-old man is free today—nine years after he was given the choice of spending a year in jail on manslaughter charges or contributing to the support of 10 children.

W. H. Sherrill chose to help support the family of John Gardner, who was killed when his logging truck collided with Sherrill's car. Sherrill subsequently paid a total of $2,107.

But a new district judge ruled the unique sentence illegal and said Sherrill would have to serve his term anyway.

County Judge E. C. Fishel yesterday ordered a new trial but the district attorney refused to prosecute.

Store Guard Admits Series of 100 Thefts

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A guard employed by a private protective agency has admitted that in the course of a year he looted stores in his care more than 100 times.

Police yesterday quoted the ex-guard, 26-year-old Frederick A. Sherwood Jr. of nearby Cornwell Heights as saying he burglarized 19 business places.

Detectives recovered a $5,000 mountain of merchandise and Sherwood was held on larceny charges.

Don't Need Steel Vest Now in Middle West

By EARL WILSON

CHICAGO—If George Gobel cares, I've just been to his home town. And:

"You can't hardly get them kinda cities like Chicago no more."

The climate was so dank that the town was spelling its name "Chismogo." I heard a history professor quoted as saying:

"Malenkov may soon be expected to experience some very ill health."

They were already talking about the '56 political conventions, presumably to be held here. In the Ambassador East's Pump Room sat Suzan Ball, Crazylegs Hirsch and Lloyd Nolan of "Caine Mutiny"—once Martin Kane, Private Eye—remember?

"Now that Ike's press conferences are on TV," said Nolan, "he's got a worry—will his option be picked up in '56?"

Mae West was at the Chez Paree. Lena Horne and Jay Lawrence having just finished. Jay said he'd been very sick.

"I was in bed with 104," he announced, "and believe me, that's a lot of people to be in one bed."

He lectured us about not smiling enough.

"Just give it some serious thought," he pleaded.

"If you went around all day long flashing a big smile at everybody you saw, you'd be surprised at how many people here in Chicago would come up to you and stick out their hands and say 'O. K. Wise Guy! What's so funny?'"

Lena Horne (beaming about her daughter, 17, graduating from high school in Poughkeepsie soon) said that if 12-year-old Juliet and 14-year-old Romeo were around today, they'd be in a lot of trouble.

"They'd be held as juvenile delinquents," she said.

The owner of New York's most dazzling jewel, Col. Henry Crown, proprietor of the Empire State Building, lives here—in Evanston.

There's very little if any gambling around any more, and some days the newspaper boys don't have one decent murder. The strip-tease joints are reasonably quiet. It's a long, long time since they used to say that Chicago-kiddies would often shoot their parents good night.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

David O. Selznick may startle Hollywood by making a two-picture deal with MGM.

Joe DiMaggio's very happy David Wayne's TV show will make a sudden switch from film to "live," with Fred Coe taking over as producer in the shakeup.

Marie McDonald, at El Morocco with Harry Karl, said he's merely in to see their children. (At El Morocco?)

Luscious Sherry Britton just opened at the Monaco Club.

The William Morris office will ask Godfrey's permission for Marlon Marlowe to play a Las Vegas hotel... Peggy Dow, once a U-I actress, visited the lot with chauffeured car, mink coat and rich husband.

Jane Powell will play the Desert Inn in May for 20 G's plus a week... Paulette Goddard went home after her TV show Monday and slept 19 hours... Doris ("How to Marry a Millionaire") Lilly's writing another book in Rome.

NICE THING about those small foreign autos, claims Jim Reed. If you flood the carburetor, you can just put the car over your shoulder and burp it... That's earl, brother.

U.S. Milk Hurts Spanish Dairies

Local, Watered-Down Product Makes Sorry Comparison

MADRID (INS)—American-produced milk with a "kick" in it is changing the habits of wine-drinking Spaniards and has become one of the issues of the day in Spain.

Milk as something that might safely and enjoyably be taken internally has been drawn to public attention by the arrival of big shipments of U.S. surplus dairy products, and by the resulting outcry of Spain's dairymen.

The watered-down, unpasteurized milk sold in Spain had never caught the fancy of Spaniards. But now the virtues of the beverage—when properly processed and containing some substance—are being discovered.

When the first shipment arrived from the U.S. in October, it caused little fuss. It looked as though the gift of at least 80,000 tons of powdered milk and 30,000 tons each of cheese and butter over the next three years would pass unnoticed.

Then the local dairymen went into action, complaining that the American gifts were causing a "crisis of saturation." The Spanish press and government came firmly to the support of the U.S. aid and the dairymen took a dressing-down for their trouble.

The sanitation administration charged:

"The anarchic state of the sale and distribution of milk in Spain, the falsifications and watering of milk, make this precious nourishment useless and disagreeable to drink."

The newspaper "Ya" reported that of the 1,300 dairies in Madrid, 192 had been closed during the past three years and a total of 4,718 fines were levied against the others in the same period.

Free milk is now being distributed in 49 of Spain's 50 provinces. Within three months every public school child in the country will be receiving one glass a day. In Madrid 80,000 children already receive their daily ration, as do 60,000 in Barcelona.

Milk, cheese and butter also are being sent to hospitals, tuberculosis sanatoriums, poor parishes, social aid groups, labor unions and the Red Cross.

The dairy products, though donated by the U.S. government, are sent to Spain by the U.S. National Catholic Welfare Conference. That organization hands the products over to "Caritas," the main Spanish Catholic charity.

Weather Delays Atom Explosions Slated for Today

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The first explosion of the 1955 atomic test series, which had been set for early today, was postponed for 24 hours by the Atomic Energy Commission.

The AEC cited unfavorable weather conditions.

At a 12:50 a.m. weather conference, the AEC decided that winds would carry the atomic cloud from any shot today toward the Caliente-Panaca-Pioche area in east central Nevada and might pose a radiation threat to that district.

The AEC and Department of Defense test officials will meet later today to decide whether to set off the shot before dawn tomorrow.

About 1,100 men and 100 planes had been prepared to take the military's part in the first test shot from a 500-foot tower on Yucca Flat.

Glenn Ford Decides to End Free-Lancing

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—At a time when many stars are scattering to the free-lance market, Glenn Ford has signed a term contract with MGM. How come?

That's what I aimed to find out. And here is his explanation:

"I've been free-lancing for several years. Let's face it—I've made some pretty lousy pictures. Sure, I've made money, darned good money. There's a picture now in release that is earning fantastic grosses. I have a piece of it, and I may earn between a quarter and a half million dollars. But it's still a stinker."

"That's the trouble with the independent market. Producers are always coming to you and saying: 'I've got a story we can make cheaply and you can make a lot of money from it.' They never say: 'Here's a great story that will cost a lot of money but will do your career a lot of good.'"

"Well, the time comes when you have to think of good pictures and not just money. You can expect your fans to go along with you so far. Then you've got to think of quality films."

"There are other things to consider too. Like a pleasant crew to work with. When you start out in pictures, that's not important; you're only thinking about getting ahead. But I've been in this business 14 years now, and the comfort of having a director you like and a friendly crew means a lot."

Although he could make much more money as an independent, Ford chose to sign with MGM on a virtual exclusive basis. The deal is this: He'll make from 10 to 12 pictures in the next five years. This is in addition to the four pictures he owes Columbia.

He gets a whopping salary; he didn't say how much, but guesses range from $3,000 to $4,000 a week. And he gets paid 52 weeks a year. This is said to be the first time MGM has granted such a deal. Most stars are on salary only 40 weeks a year and languish for 12 weeks on "layoff."

Army Planning to Get Out of Coffee Business

WASHINGTON (AP)—The armed services, following a policy of closing out operations which compete with private business, plan to stop roasting and grinding coffee.

The Army has been doing most of the coffee roasting and grinding for all the services, and a Pentagon spokesman said yesterday it probably will keep on buying green coffee beans, contracting with private industry to do the roasting and grinding.

Radar Proves Capable

DENVER (AP)—Radar speed check devices caught 1,000 speeders in less than a month after they first were put into operation here. Capt. Shirley Sloan of the police traffic division said the radar accounted for more than half the speeding tickets issued during the period.

Three Held in $30,000 Canada Bank Robbery

WINNIPEG (AP)—Police are holding three men in connection with a $30,000 holdup of the Toronto-Dominion Bank. One reportedly was carrying about $10,000 and a revolver when arrested.

The holdup was staged yesterday by three gunmen who broke into the bank through a window, waited until employees reported for work and then forced two of them to open the vault.

Phenix Murder Trials Delayed

Prosecution Is Waiting for Important Witness Nabbed in Florida

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—An important state witness, arrested in Florida, was due here today for the A. L. Patterson murder trials.

His surprise absence yesterday already had delayed their start 24 hours.

The arrest of James Ray Taylor, 40-year-old Columbus, Ga., cab driver, in Niceville was announced by the FBI. Niceville police officer L. W. Brown said he agreed to waive extradition on a federal charge of unlawful flight to avoid giving testimony.

A state patrol car relay was set up to speed Taylor to Birmingham, where two former Phenix City officials face trial on charges of murdering the racket-busting Patterson last June.

Special prosecutor Cecil Deason was granted a delay until 9 a.m. today when he was unable to produce Taylor for scheduled start of the trials yesterday.

Arch Ferrell, himself a prosecutor at crime-ridden Phenix City for eight years until Patterson's death smashed the vice empire that flourished there, and Albert Fuller, who was chief deputy, are charged with murdering the man who had promised to break the vice grip on Phenix City.

Maximum penalty is death in the electric chair.

A 36-man venire will be drawn by Judge McElroy and 12 jurors will be chosen from that list. A panel of 133 prospective jurors was sworn in yesterday.

Former Alabama Atty. Gen. S. Garrett, who campaigned extensively in a futile effort to keep Patterson from succeeding him in office, also is under murder indictment.

Why Is Exercise Ignored as Way to Lose Poundage?

NEW YORK (Curbstone comments by a pavement Plato: Dietitians say it's easier to lose weight by skipping bread than skipping rope. They play down the role of exercise and play up the importance of self-restraint at the table. But are human bodies as predictable in the way they burn up calories as an engine is in its consumption of gasoline? I doubt it.

People not only vary in the rate they utilize food. An individual himself, it seems to me, varies considerably in this respect from time to time, depending upon his mood and outlook. Certainly a given amount of liquor will affect a man differently at different times. Why not food?

Couldn't there be days, depending on how your body was functioning, when three malted milks would put half a pound on you, and other days when they wouldn't add an ounce? No human being reacts invariably like a scientific formula, so why should we be treated dietwise as if we were all

Several times recently, for example, I have come across the statement — by those minimizing the role of exercise in taking off weight — that a man would have to walk 34 miles to consume the calories in a pound of fat.

What so-called scientist ever figured that out except in a laboratory? I will bet any fat, middle-aged doctor that if he gets out on the highway, and walks 34 miles every day for a week he will take off more than seven pounds — and he can eat or drink as much as he wants to during that week.

It's a safe bet. How many doctors are there today who walk 34 miles in a month?

(Editor's note: Or swivel chair writers, for that matter?)

A man who spends more time bragging about his children than talking about his own dreams is regarded as a fond parent. But it doesn't necessarily follow that he is. Often it is only a sad admission that he secretly has lost all hope of getting ahead himself.

There is one sure thing about the puzzling crisis in China — while we're doing all the brooding, they're doing most of the breeding.

Anybody can be the toast of the town if he has the right kind of dough.

An oldtimer recalls it used to be a problem to keep wandering cows off Broadway. Now it's crowded with calves, and nobody minds at all.

What cynic was it that said he didn't intend to leave any money behind, because he didn't want any smiling faces at his funeral?

If animals could learn to talk, the first phrase their owners would try to teach them would probably be "thank you." But most animals would prefer to start their vocabulary with another word — "help."

The old fashioned girl who saved her pin money to buy a hope chest for her wedding trousseau now has a marriageable daughter who is purchasing an electric dishwasher on the installment plan.

Grains Making Small Advances

CHICAGO (U) — Very small arrivals of cash grain provided the background for small advances in corn, oats, and soybeans on the Board of Trade today.

Wheat did not share in the advance although some wheat contracts held steady. Great Britain bought some red wheat overnight and Israel was expected in the market shortly for a fairly substantial quantity.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to 1/4 lower, March $2.22 1/2; corn 1/4 to 1/2 higher, March $1.51 1/2; soybeans 1/4 to 1/2 higher, March $2.76 1/2; and lard 13 to 18 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $12.30.

Seek Young Samaritan

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Police want to find a child about 5 or 6 so they can return her new coat. The youngster, witness to an automobile accident in which two motorists were hurt, gave up her blue-gray plaid coat so one of the victims could be protected from the cold while lying on the ground. She left the scene without claiming it when an ambulance arrived.

The grooves into which the lead of lead pencils is fitted to the wooden case must be made within .0005 of an inch accuracy.

Next War Will Start When Reds Ready

GREELEY, Colo. (AP)—World War III will not begin until Russia has an adequate supply of H-bombs and the means of delivering them, Gen. George C. Kenney (ret.) declared yesterday.

The commander of Allied air forces in the Pacific during World War II estimated that would take about two years. "Meanwhile, it doesn't matter one bit what we do or what we say, as it will not hasten World War III," Kenney told the Greeley Lions Club. He insisted nothing in the Formosan situation will mean World War III.

Explorer Scout Discussion Is Roundtable Topic

Fundamentals of explorer scouting will be discussed at a roundtable Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Clinton Valley Council office, 53 W. Huron St.

Charles P. Pettit, advisor of Post 56, sponsored by the Salvation Army, will be discussion leader. Explorer advisors of all posts in the Pontiac district have been invited to attend, along with scoutmasters of troops with explorers attached.

Plan Training Sessions

Training sessions on the duties of a Boy Scout neighborhood commissioner will be held for the Pontiac District commissioner's staff at the Clinton Valley Council office, 53 W. Huron St., tonight and Feb. 22 at 7 p.m. Harry Boorn, district commissioner, will be in charge.

Two-Time Loser

HOLDENVILLE, Okla. (AP)—Oscar Harjo, 39, was charged with stealing the same car from the same used car lot two different times. The judge let the sentence fit the crime and gave Harjo two-year terms—to run concurrently.

To Seek Ruins of Ancient Fleet

Briton, Italians Will Try to Raise Athenian Ships Sunk in 413 B.C.

SIRACUSA, Sicily (AP)—An archaeologically minded British consul and the Italian navy are going to try this spring to recover 119 sunken ships from one of the greatest naval defeats of all history—that suffered by Alcibiades 2,308 years ago.

Dredging for the ancient Athenian triremes is planned for early spring near Ortigia Island, at the entrance to this bay which the far-traveling Phoenicians first found. British Consul Arthur Baker of Siracusa pinpointed the site last summer by fishing up bits of ancient Greek pottery and equipment that might have come from the "Fleet of Disaster."

Underwater explorations will be aimed at finding 119 Athenian warships of the fleet of 134 triremes which Alcibiades, the Athenian, led against the Corinthian-founded colony of Siracusa, once Greece's greatest colony.

The Athenians foresaw defeat after weeks of siege, but delayed their retreat because of superstition until after the moon eclipse of Aug. 27, 413 B.C. Before they could get away, the Siracusans trapped them in the harbor by anchoring old bulks across the harbor mouth and linking them together with chains. All but 25 of the Athenian warships were sunk. In a subsequent land defeat, Demosthenes and his 6,000 Athenians were decimated and the survivors sold into slavery.

Many historians have called the sinking of the "Fleet of Disaster" the beginning of the end of Athenian power.

Lost and Found and Lost

LUNENBURG, Mass. (AP)—Van Xarras, a restaurant owner, reported his car stolen Saturday night. It was reported found by Leominster police Sunday afternoon. Before he could get to Leominster, a short distance away, his car was taken again. It was found yesterday in Boston, many miles from Leominster.

Trucks Bring The World

To Your Door...

No Matter Where You Live!

Trucks are the only commercial vehicles which serve all of Michigan — bringing merchandise and materials from every part of the world to every Michigan household, farm and business concern.

In fact, for hundreds of Michigan communities motor vehicles are the sole means of transportation—autos and buses for passengers, trucks for freight. These communities are not served by any other transportation system!

So, you see, because trucks can and do go wherever there are roads, ample supplies of food, furniture, medical supplies, tools and machinery — necessities and luxuries from everywhere—are available anytime to people in all of Michigan.

Those in small out-of-the-way communities are as well fed, well housed and well clothed as the people of Michigan's largest metropolitan centers — thanks to trucks!

And, in addition to bringing you everything you eat, wear, or use, trucks provide employment for approximately 250,000 Michiganders and pay a large share of the taxes that go to build and maintain Michigan's roads and streets.
