S. Viets Fleeing Red Advance

KHE SANH, Vietnam (AP) — About 2,000 South Vietnamese civilians fled Khe Sanh town today under threat of seizure by the North Vietnamese army. The panicky exodus came after the town's two dozen U. S. Marine and 40 Vietnamese defenders were ordered to abandon their positions.

The town came under attack over the weekend by elements of a North Vietnamese force of about 600 regulars.

Three North Vietnamese divisions have been reported in the area just above the demilitarized zone. So far all North Vietnamese ground attacks have been beaten back.

Unofficial battlefield reports said at least 450 North Vietnamese have been killed since units of the three divisions began their drive against the U. S. Marines' McNamara Line Friday.

U. S. losses were reported to be 17 killed and 82 seriously wounded.

The Khe Sanh exodus started with a handful of families who followed the Marines and militarmen to the Leatherneck combat outposts two miles outside town in the threatened Khe Sanh Valley. Word spread fast and others began flocking into the valley.

The refugees steamed into the combat base north of the town, where a hastily organized shuttle of helicopters and cargo planes carried them south to Da Nang.

As darkness halted the airlift, about 1,000 civilians had been evacuated and at least that many more were waiting for the aircraft to begin flying again tomorrow.

The town of Khe Sanh is a collection of a half dozen mountain villages with a total population of about 10,000.

'PRELUDE'

Col. David Lownds, 47, of Plantation, Fla., commander of the 26th Marine Regiment holding the combat base, said he believed the attacks that began Saturday were a "kickoff" to the enemy's winter-spring offensive along the demilitarized zone and "I'm not sure that the primary attack has been made yet."

It was the range of the North Vietnamese attacks on eight separate targets, however, that convinced U.S. commanders that heavier fightings is yet to come.

The decision to pull out of Khe Sanh town followed. The Marines dug in at their airstrip-combat base and the hill positions they had wrested from North Vietnamese troops in a week of bloody battles last spring.

The South Vietnamese government announced yesterday it was cutting 12 hours off the 48-hour truce it had ordered next week for Tet, the lunar new year festival.

The allied truce will be the shortest cease-fire of the war for Tet.

Military officials always have opposed the truces on the ground that the Communists invariably use the pause in the fighting — and especially the halt in the aerial bombing — to shove more men, arms and supplies onto the supply trails to South Vietnam.

Romney May Ignore Any Early Defeats

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The prospect that Michigan Gov. George Romney will continue his fight for the GOP presidential nomination even if he loses early primaries has raised the specter of 1964 for Republican moderates.

Romney sounded like a man determined to stay in the contest no matter what reverses he may encounter when he said the race is between him and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Romney's views were voiced on ABC's "Issues and Answers" television program broadcast yesterday.

A Gallup Poll released yesterday indicated President Johnson could beat any of the four top prospective Republican presidential candidates if an election were held today.

POLL SHOWS LBJ BOOST

Results showed a dramatic gain in the President's popularity since October when a Gallup Poll had Johnson trailing all four of the possible GOP candidates. At that time New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller made the best showing against Johnson.

The latest poll showed Rockefeller had nearly doubled his support with Republican voters since November but was still trailing Nixon.

Romney and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California ranked third and fourth. Romney got 12 per cent, a 2 per cent decline from November, while Reagan received 8 per cent, a 5 per cent dip.

★ ★ ★

For moderates, a Romney who persisted in his bid for nomination after early primary defeats would present the same situation as existed in 1964. Then, Rockefeller kept up the battle against Barry Goldwater until he lost the June primary in California.

Johnson Aides Pressing Surtax, Cite Deficit Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's administration told Congress today his 10 per cent income tax surcharge is urgently needed — even though federal spending has been cut to reduce the prospective deficit below this year's level.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler urged prompt action by the House Ways and Means Committee whose leaders have indicated they are not satisfied with a budget for the year beginning next July 1 forecasting $10.4 billion more spending than during the current fiscal year.

Fowler argued the increase is for defense and uncontrollable expenditures.

Moreover, he said, the normal increase in tax receipts as the economy grows more than covers the higher outlays so that "even if no changes were to be made in existing income and excise tax rates, the budget deficit would thus be lower in fiscal year 1969 than in fiscal year 1968."

But Fowler told the tax-writing committee the deficit would not be reduced "to a point consistent with the stability and security of the United States economy" without a tax increase.

DEFICIT REDUCTION

With the increase, which the administration wants to apply effective April 1 for individuals and retroactive to Jan. 1 for corporations, Fowler said the budget deficit for the current year would be reduced from $22.8 billion to $19.8 billion. In the following year the prospective deficit would be cut from $20.9 billion to $8 billion, he said.

It is not realistic from a standpoint of timing or amounts to expect to achieve this scale of deficit reduction by cutting expenditures—as long as military activities at their present level persist in South Vietnam," Fowler said.

He disputed the argument that stricter economies could avert a tax increase.

Fowler said some government activities will have budget cuts totaling almost $3 billion from the current level.

LUNAR BUG—Lunar Module 1 was to be launched into earth orbit today to test if its engines are capable of landing men on the moon and lifting them off. The test vehicle will not have the four lunar landing legs that are shown in this artist's concept of the moon ferry.

AF B52 Crashes Near Thule Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — A B52 bomber carrying nuclear weapons crashed in Greenland yesterday, the Pentagon announced today.

A Defense Department statement said the atomic devices were unarmed "so that there is no danger of a nuclear explosion at the crash site."

Seven crewmen were aboard the Air Force B52, and five are known to have survived. One body has been found. Search and rescue operations are under way for the seventh crew member.

The Pentagon said the plane crashed about 3:40 p.m. EST yesterday on the ice of North Star Bay some seven miles southwest of the runway at the Thule defense area.

The Pentagon said the plane was attempting an emergency landing but did not indicate the difficulty.

FIVE BAIL OUT

The five known survivors parachuted from the plane. The craft was assigned to the 380th Bomb Wing at Plattsburgh Air Force Base, N. Y.

Cooking School Is Tonight

The ninth annual Pontiac Press cooking school opens tonight at 7:30 in the Pontiac Central High School auditorium.

In connection with the school, The Press is running its yearly recipe section in today's paper. Pontiac Press food editor Janet Odell has selected hundreds of new recipes for this cookbook.

Those who attend the sessions at the high school will receive cookbooks containing all recipes demonstrated on stage by Sara Bayard and Harriet Stinson. Both are home economists with the Consumers Power Co.

In addition to the preparation of food, there will be fashion shows during four of the six sessions. The RB Shops, Alvin's of Pontiac and Bloomfield Fashion Shop are participants.

Grand prizes will be awarded throughout the week. These include three gas ranges, water heater, gas incinerator, water conditioner, dishwasher, portable TV, vacuum cleaner and sewing machine.

OTHER PRIZES

In addition, there are many smaller prizes, plus some of the food prepared on stage and bags of groceries. No employes of The Pontiac Press or their families are eligible for prizes, and winners must be 18 years of age.

Members of Oakland County Extension Study Clubs will serve as ushers, a job they have performed for the past eight years.

Parking for those attending the cooking school is available in the lot west of Crofoot School and behind the First Church of the Nazarene on State Street.

Doors at the east end of the high school will be open at 6:30 p.m. each evening and 12:30 p.m. for the day sessions.

Countdown Holding for Lunar Module

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The countdown for the launching of America's first Lunar Module hit a technical snag today, delaying the target time for the blast-off of the Saturn 1 booster rocket.

The launching had been scheduled for 2 p.m. But with the countdown at 2½ hours, trouble developed with a freon gas system designed to cool the Lunar Module's life support equipment.

A hold was called in the countdown while two specialists went to the launch pad from the blockhouse to troubleshoot the problem.

Nearly an hour later, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the trouble had not been solved and that it did not know when the countdown could be resumed.

An announcement said the difficulty appeared to be in the freon gas system located at the base of the launch pad. The freon gas flows into a water boiler in the Lunar Module to maintain an even temperature. It is used only during prelaunch activity.

FIRST MODEL

The Lunar Module is the first model of the craft that next year may ferry American astronauts to the moon.

The unmanned 16-ton vehicle is to undertake a series of exacting tests to determine whether it is designed properly for the critical job of landing astronauts on the moon and lifting them off.

On a lunar landing mission, three astronauts will ride into orbit about the moon in the main Apollo spacecraft. Two of the spacemen then will transfer to an attached Lunar Module, detach it and fly down to the moon's surface.

Weather Gives Spring Preview

Temperatures climbed into the 40s over the weekend, turning last week's accumulation of snow into slush and giving Oakland County residents a preview of spring. The mercury did not come close, however, to the 62-degree record set Jan. 22, 1906.

A slight haze covered the area this morning but not enough to hinder commuters and children as they traveled to work and school.

Temperatures will slump into the 20s tonight with a chance of snow flurries. More cold weather punctuated by snow flurries is predicted for tomorrow.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today 10, tonight and tomorrow 30.

★ ★ ★

Low thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 27. By 2 p.m., the temperature warmed to 31.

Fair-Housing Law Suspended in Birmingham

Birmingham's fair-housing ordinance has been suspended.

At 11 a.m. today, Frank H. Mitchell, 1124 Smith, a member of the Birmingham Referendum Committee, filed with City Clerk Irene Hanley petitions calling for reconsideration of the recently enacted law.

The ordinance is suspended immediately upon filing, although the suspension may be lifted if the petitions are later found invalid.

Committee member George W. Davis, 1030 Pilgrim, said the committee has collected about 3,000 signatures, "comfortably over" the required 1,984 (15 per cent of the city's registered voters).

If the petitions are certified by the clerk, the City Commission must vote on the ordinance's repeal.

ON PUBLIC BALLOT

If the commission votes against repeal, the law must be placed on a public ballot in not less than 30 days nor more than a year. Meanwhile, the suspension remains in force.

Davis said petition workers "had no trouble" in getting signatures.

Other members of the referendum committee, which initiated the drive shortly after the ordinance was passed Nov. 27, include Dr. Francis LeVeque, Benjamin Phelps and Janet Dodd.

JA Centers Saluted

apparently died of smoke inhalation, firemen reported. Roger Kellogg, 5, is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital.

Asst. Fire Chief Russell See said the cause of the $10,000 fire is being investigated.

He said it started in the living room of the 1½-story converted cottage, possibly because of faulty wiring.

★ ★ ★

Firemen Richard Poorman and John Latimer entered the house through a broken window shortly after midnight and found the two lying unconscious on the floor. The boy was revived at the scene.

TRIED TO ESCAPE

The two tried to escape, according to See, but were overcome by heavy smoke. Most of the house was gutted by the fire.

Parents of the boy, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Kellogg, were not at home.

Chamber Speaker Set

WILLARD D. CHEEK

"The Privilege of Pursuit" is the lecture topic for Willard D. Cheek at the 58th annual Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce meeting, Feb. 14.

The 6:30 banquet will be at the Elks Lodge, 114 Orchard Lake.

Cheek is a scientist, inventor, teacher and business consultant. He keeps General Motors corporate management informed of educational trends in science, engineering, and business administration and represents the corporation in various educational liaisons.

Cheek of Warren will be introduced by F. J. McDonald, works manager of Pontiac Motor Division.

Tickets at $6.50 each are available at the Chamber office in the Riker Building.

Tax Series Is Offered

"This is the year to itemize deductions."

Those are the words of Ray De Crane, tax expert and veteran newspaperman, whose 14-part series, "Cut You Own Taxes," begins today in The Pontiac Press.

The author, business editor of the Cleveland Press, has aimed his advice at people with average incomes, not big businessmen or stock market tycoons.

An expanded version of the series will be available in book form. (See the coupon accompanying today's article on Page B-13).

N. Korean Terrorists Raid Seoul; 12 Die

SEOUL (AP) — About 30 North Koreans invaded Seoul Sunday night in a bold attempt to break into the presidential palace and assassinate high government officials. Six Reds and six South Koreans were killed by noon today.

Police searched for more than 20 North Koreans still at large. It was the first major clash inside the capital since the 1953 Korean armistice.

The fighting began when the Communists, in civilian garb, fatally machine-gunned Police Chief Choi Kyoo-shik when he challenged them less than a mile from the mansion of President Chung Hee Park.

The Reds then hurled grenades at four passenger buses, killing three civilians and injuring two others. Two more civilians were killed in subsequent shootings.

Police quickly deployed in the general area, killed five Communists and captured one. Another Communist who was captured was killed when a grenade he was carrying went off during interrogation at police headquarters.

Three South Korean Army divisions and the 2nd U.S. Infantry Division guarding the western sector of the Korean front were alerted to help hunt the Communists in mountainous areas north of Seoul.

A dusk-to-dawn curfew was proclaimed in three counties and the city of Uijongbu, north of Seoul, to help block escape routes. Seoul's midnight-to-4 a.m. curfew was extended two hours to start at 10 p.m.

U.S. Army helicopters were mobiled to help the search.

A joint antiespionage operations headquarters was quickly activated to direct the search. It said the infiltrators were North Korean Army officers led by a captain.

ASSASSINATION PLOT

It added that captured articles confirmed they were assigned to assassinate South Korean government leaders and attack major government agencies.

The headquarters said U.S. and South Korean troops about 20 miles north of Seoul began searching for the band Friday evening when it was discovered that they had infiltrated into South Korea.

The United Nations command, which exercises operational control over South Korean forces, called a meeting Tuesday of the Joint Military Armistice Commission at Panmunjom to protest the attack.

The South Korean National Assembly hurriedly convened its national defense and home affairs committees to discuss the situation.

EMERGENCY SESSION

The full assembly was expected to be called into an emergency session.

Temporary checkpoints were erected along major routes leading to the capital and extra guards were placed around key government buildings. But citizens of Seoul did not appear disturbed by the incident.

Antiespionage headquarters said the Communists had received espionage training for two years in North Korea and were familiar with geographical features around the presidential mansion.

Each was armed with a light machine gun, a revolver and a number of hand grenades.

South Korean forces reported locating about 70 hand grenades, radio transmitters, radio batteries and a number of other items believed to have been left by the Communists.

DEATH SCENE — A house at 6320 Elmwood, Waterford Township, is boarded up following a fire early yesterday which killed Mrs. Oliver D. Fluke, 69, and sent her grandson to the hospital.

'One-Wing' Test Cited in Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal requirement that pilots rehearse emergency landings with power out in both engines on one wing is blamed by a congressman for the March 1967 crash of a jet airliner that knifed into a luxury motel, killing 19 persons.

The National Transportation Safety Board said in a report issued today that the two left engines on the DC8 jet were muzzled as it approached the New Orleans, La., airport. The board blamed the pilots for allowing the huge jet to slow down too soon to reach the runway on the remaining engines.

"I can't accept that," said Rep. Fletcher Thompson, R-Ga. He said the single-wing landing procedure put the pilots in a dangerous position and called the training maneuver absurd.

The Federal Aviation Administration has temporarily lifted the training requirement. Thompson says he will battle any renewal.

'OF LITTLE VALUE'

Thomas A. Basnight Jr. of the Air Line Pilots Association said in another interview that the maneuvers were "really of little value—or no value."

Thompson, a pilot in two wars, said double engine failure had never occurred in a commercial crash, yet the practice landings had taken more than a score of lives.

"It's absurd to endanger the crew and the people on the ground," he said. "It just isn't necessary."

Nine Juda, Wis., schoolgirls staying in the motel on their senior class trip died in an inferno of jet fuel as the airliner exploded and washed their rooms with flame. Four other persons, including a child asleep in his bed, died in the plane's path.

All six men aboard the Delta Air Lines jet were killed in the night-time crash last March 30. Among them was an FAA inspector.

Kosygin, U. S. Envoy Meet

Message From LBJ Believed Delivered

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson delivered a secret message —probably from President Johnson—to Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin in the Kremlin today.

An official announcement said only that Thompson had met Kosygin at the ambassador's request.

Neither Soviet officials nor the U.S. Embassy would elaborate. But the ambassador's request for a meeting meant he had a message to deliver, and the fact that he delivered it to Kosygin rather than to the Foreign Ministry indicated it came from President Johnson.

It was Thompson's first formal meeting with Kosygin since last Feb. 18, when the ambassador conveyed President Johnson's proposal for Soviet-American talks to limit development of an antimissile system. The Soviet Union would not enter into such talks.

Thompson's meeting with Kosygin lasted 30 minutes. It came shortly before the arrival of British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who planned to sound out Kosygin's views on Vietnam so he could relay them to Johnson when the British leader meets him in Washington Feb. 8-9.

Peril for LBJ in Detroit Seen

LANSING (UPI) — Zolton Ferency, former state Democratic chairman, said today President Johnson may be "in Jeopardy" if he tries to campaign in Detroit this year.

"I think that there could very well be demonstrations at gatherings, and perhaps even mob violence with respect to the peace question, with respect to the racial crisis and those other great issues of our time," Ferency said.

18,100 Workers Are Idled at GM

Strike Deadline Nears for Chrysler of Canada

DETROIT (AP) —Some 18,100 General Motors workers remained idle today as strikes by the United Auto Workers at three GM foundries forced the auto producing giant to lay off workers at other facilities.

The union has predicted a nationwide shutdown of the country's No. 1 auto maker by next week unless the strikes at the three foundries are settled.

Meanwhile, negotiators for the UAW and Chrysler Canada Ltd. bargained against a strike deadline of noon Wednesday in an effort to write a pattern-setting contract in Canadian negotiations.

★ ★ ★

Strikes at the GM's Central Division foundry in Defiance, Ohio, and at Chevrolet foundries in Saginaw, Mich., and Tonawanda, N.Y., have idled 11,200 union workers.

SHORTAGE OF CASTINGS

A shortage of castings from the Saginaw foundry has prompted GM to lay off 1,100 workers at its Saginaw transmission plant and another 5,800 at two Chevrolet plants in Flint, Mich.

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president and head of the union GM Department, told a news conference Friday that the "one key issue in all three foundries is the question of six minutes off the job for wash-up purposes before lunch."

"If this is not resolved," he added, "and these foundries stay struck, the corporation will be essentially paralyzed with some 300,000 workers on the streets in a week to 10 days."

★ ★ ★

Woodcock also reiterated a charge made last summer that Chevrolet Division of General Motor had told its local manager "Don't settle until the last minute."

DELAY DENIED

A union spokesman said Sunday only 25 of 76 Chevrolet locals had settled compared to 63 out of the 92 other GM locals.

Chevrolet has denied it is delaying in its negotiations.

Heart Recipient Dies After Complications

"There was no evidence of rejection of the heart," Dr. Norman E. Shumway told newsmen Sunday at Stanford University Medical Center. "If the findings of the post-mortem bear this out, then we feel we have every basis on which to plan another clinical attempt."

Kasperak, 54, died at 1:43 a.m. Sunday following kidney failure, liver failure and other complications.

"We think that we are in the process of making observations of tremendous importance to other possible (heart) recipients and to the medical community as well," Dr. Shumway said.

FUNCTIONED WELL

Kasperak's substitute heart, taken from the body of Mrs. Virginia White, 43, after she succumbed to a stroke, apparently functioned well to the time of his death.

Dr. Shumway, who headed the transplant team, said that "what should be emphasized is that during this time he survived a fantastic galaxy of complications which we have seen before in other kinds of cardiac patients, but never in such profusion.

"We think that because of his normal cardiac action, he was able to survive first of all renal (kidney) failure, then hepatic or liver failure and then following this three major operations, all of which were done, of course, during the time that his circulation was moved by a transplanted heart," Dr. Shumway said.

"We feel that any one of these complications I mentioned would have been lethal had it not been for the cardiac transplant."

'NOT SURPRISIN(

One of Britain's leading heart specialists Dr. Donald Ross, commented in London: "It is not surprising that Mr. Kasperak died. But I am amazed that they have been able to keep him alive so long."

Ross, chief surgeon at the National Heart Hospital, said complications of internal bleeding alone would account for Kasperak's death—as for many other deaths following open heart surgery.

Mrs. Ferne Kasperak, herself a heart patient, received sedation after Dr. Shumway told her of her husband's death. She was secluded on her own doctor's orders.

The heart donor's husband, Charles W. "Bill" White, expressed sympathy for Mrs. Kasperak in a statement read at the Sunday news conference.

Wilson in Moscow for Kosygin Talks

Among the main topics of their meetings during Wilson's 51-hour visit are expected to be Vietnam, Cambodia, the Middle East and trade.

★ ★ ★

On none of these subjects did diplomatic observers here see enough signs of flexibility in the Soviet position to produce any new agreements, but Wilson has taken the attitude that talks are worthwhile just for common understanding.

Attacking Jet Thought to Be a U.S. Plane

SAIGON (AP) — A jet fighter plane which reportedly fired a round at the U.S. Special Forces Camp at Lang Vei last Friday was "probably American," a U.S. military spokesman said today.

Two men in a foxhole at the Lang Vei camp reported the plane had a white underside, was painted with green and brown camouflage and had delta wings. The description closely fits the U.S. F4 Phantom, but there was some speculation that the plane was a Communist MIG.

A single round from the plane —possibly a rocket—reportedly fell just beyond the perimeter of the camp, and no casualties or damage resulted.

An Air Force investigation team went to the camp and showed the soldiers who had seen the plane pictures of MIGs as well as American aircraft in Vietnam.

The troops said the plane that flew over was "most likely" American, although they could not pinpoint the type.

Japan Base Calm Following Clashes

SASEBO, Japan (AP) — Calm prevailed around the Sasebo Naval Base today after four bloody clashes between radical students and police since the arrival Friday of the nuclear-powered U.S. aircraft carrier Enterprise.

In the only demonstration of the day, some 3,000 persons affiliated with the moderate Democratic Socialist Party marched quietly through the streets of Sasebo to protest the visit of the 75,000-ton carrier.

U.S. officials said the Enterprise would leave Tuesday. She is en route from Hawaii to Vietnam with the nuclear-powered frigate Truxton.

Machines Worth $1,490 Stolen From Area School

About $1,490 worth of office equipment was reported stolen from Crescent Lake School, 1021 Airport, Waterford Township, on Saturday, police said.

Burglars broke a window to enter the building then made off with electric typewriters and dictaphone, mimeograph and adding machines.

The principal's desk drawers were rifled, but nothing was reported missing.

Public Heart Forum Scheduled for PNH

Recent advances in heart surgery, including heart transplants, will be among the topics covered by a panel of experts at a public heart forum scheduled for 8 p.m. on Feb. 16 in the Pontiac Northern High School auditorium.

The heart forum is cosponsored by the Michigan Heart Association's Oakland County Heart Information Center and The Pontiac Press.

Theme of the heart forum is "Heart Attack — Survival 1968."

Featured speakers will be Dr. Allen Silbergleit, Dr. Michael C. Kozonis and Dr. Murray B. Levin.

Dr. Silbergleit, a cardiovascular surgeon on the staff at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, will speak on heart transplants and other advances in surgical techniques which are helping heart patients.

POSTGRADUATE WORK

Dr. Silbergleit took postgraduate work with Dr. Christiaan Barnard and Dr. Norman Shumway, who recently gained world attention with heart transplants in South Africa and California.

Dr. Kozonis, a prominent Pontiac area cardiologist also on the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital staff, will speak on special cardiac care units and other recent advances in hospital care and treatment of heart patients.

He is a past president of the Oakland County Heart Unit and currently president-elect of the Michigan Heart Association.

Dr. Levin, a specialist in internal medicine on the staff at Pontiac General Hospital, will explain how and why people have heart attacks and outline preventative measures.

OTHER PARTICIPANTS

Also participating in the program will be Dr. Donald G. Albert, president of the Oakland County Heart Unit; Harry J. Reed, program chairman and managing editor of The Pontiac Press; and Dick Saunders, assistant to the managing editor at The Press.

The audience will also be invited to play a game called "Risko." It is designed to show people how they rate as far as heart attack risk factors are concerned.

Tickets for the event are free and may be obtained in Pontiac in the main lobbies of The Pontiac Press, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and Pontiac General Hospital, or at the Pontiac Area United Fund, 132 Franklin Blvd.

Rochester area residents can pick up tickets at Crittenton Hospital in Avon Township. They are also available at the Heart Information Center, 277 Pierce, Birmingham.

Persons wishing to obtain tickets through the mail should send orders to the Heart Information Center in Birmingham.

Barring a sellout, no one will be turned away, but those with tickets will be seated first.

U. of M. Surgeons Ready for Heart, Lung Switches

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Surgeons at the University of Michigan Medical Center are technically ready to try human heart and lung transplants.

Whether they do depends partly on the outcome of current research and on the willingness of doctors to venture in a risky field where odds of success are largely unknown.

When the surgeons do attempt their first heart transplant, they will concentrate on infants born with faulty hearts and virtually no chance to survive beyond a few weeks.

Before this will be done, however, they want to know whether the transplanted heart will grow. To check this, they have been replacing hearts in calves for about a month. About three more months are needed to get a preliminary answer.

LUNG TRANSPLANT

On lungs, surgeons indicated it is extremely difficult to tell with certainty when a person with lung problems will die. Only a handful of human lung transplants have been tried in the world and none of the patients has survived.

★ ★ ★

"The surgical techniques involved in both heart and lung transplants are not particularly difficult," said Dr. Herbert E. Sloan Jr., professor of surgery at the University of Michigan.

Fair-Housing Petitions May Block Amendment

BIRMINGHAM — Action by the City Commission on a proposed amendment to this city's fair-housing ordinance may have to be postponed or dropped.

The commission was scheduled to discuss amending the "living quarters to share" section of the law at tonight's meeting at 8.

However, filing of the Birmingham Referendum Committee's petitions for a public vote on the ordinance, with its attendant suspension of the ordinance, may make amendment impossible.

City Attorney Dean G. Beier, in response to a question of the commission regarding amendment, offered the opinion that the ordinance could be changed "at any time up until the referendum petitions are filed with the clerk."

★ ★ ★

In a communication to Assistant City Manager John Saefke, Beier suggested the ordinance be amended to exclude rental of living quarters when tenant and landlord use the same space.

OTHER LAWS CITED

Beier said state statutes regarding open housing all have "much broader" exceptions than the city ordinance. "Most of these statutes," he explained, "exclude the rental or sale of a private home when it is the only home belonging to the person selling or renting it."

Also on tonights agenda is disposition of city property on Collidge Road, where a rubbish transfer station has been proposed by the South Oakland Incinerator Authority.

The authority stated two weeks ago that it is "prepared to make an offer" for the property. However, consideration of the matter was postponed at request of Sheffield Estates and Pembroke Manor Civic Associations.

The board of education will hold a special meeting tonight at 7 to consider ratification of a tentative contract with the Birmingham Education Association (BEA).

The tentative contract, reached Wednesday by negotiating teams representing the two parties, was ratified Friday by BEA members by a 576-110 vote.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The public library board has accepted the resignation of library director Rose Vainstein, effective July 1.

Miss Vainstein will become a member of the University of Michigan faculty, specializing in the public library field.

She came to the township library in June, 1964, and was its first director.

No successor has been named.

Police Report Crime Calls Up

Newly released statistics compiled by Pontiac police show the department responded to 758 more calls involving criminal complaints in 1967 than in 1966.

Officers were called to investigate 5,766 complaints last year involving offenses ranging from simple misdemeanors to major felonies.

Of these, 3,073 were offenses not included in the crime index — the catalog of serious crimes which increased by 30.8 per cent in the city in 1967 over the previous year.

Included in the crime index are murder and nonnegligent manslaughter, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny over $50 and auto theft.

The numerical and percentage increase of each of these in 1967 from 1966 was:

- Murder and nonnegligent manslaughter, up from nine to 14, or 55.6 per cent.
- Rape, up from eight to 24, or 200 per cent.
- Robbery, up from 232 to 258, or 11.2 per cent.
- Assault, up from 287 to 408, or 42.2 per cent.
- Burglary, up from 1,059 to 1,444, or 36.4 per cent.
- Larcency, up from 838 to 995, or 18.7 per cent.
- Auto theft, up from 260 to 380, or 46.2 per cent.

Stars Hold Benefit for Antiwar Congressmen

NEW YORK (AP) — Hollywood and Broadway performers appeared at a benefit Sunday night to raise funds for Democratic senators and congressmen opposed to the Johnson administration policy in Vietnam.

Philharmonic Hall in Lincoln Center was packed with 2,800 persons, who paid from $10 to $250 to show they were against the war in Vietnam.

The total amount collected was not disclosed.

Sens. Ernest Gruening of Alaska and Wayne Morse of Oregon drew standing ovations. Morse told the gathering it was the obligation of the voters "to make the government's policy right when it is wrong."

AMONG BENEFICIARIES

Gruening, 81, said America was the aggressor in Vietnam. He said the only thing more honorable than staying in Vietnam was "getting out."

Also in attendance were Reps. George E. Brown Jr., Phillip Burton and Donald Edwards, all of California; Reps. John G. Dow and William F. Ryan, both of New York, and Rep. John Conyers of Michigan, who are among those slated to benefit financially from the show.

The performers used songs, vignettes, comedy and speeches to get their peace message across.

Harry Belafonte opened the show with a 20-minute selection of folk and musical ballads, then stopped and said: "We should be here to celebrate something else."

STREISAND SINGS

Barbara Streisand sang a song that bemoaned the results of war. The music was written by Leonard Bernstein and the words by Adolph Green and Betty Comden.

Paul Newman and his wife, Joanne Woodward, were cohosts of the affair.

"It's too bad we all weren't gathered here in 1961," Newman said referring to the beginning of the American buildup in Vietnam.

Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, staging a primary battle to wrest the Democratic nomination from President Johnson, drew a roar of approval when his telegram of support was read to the crowd, one of a number that was sent to the peace group.

ANTIWAR POETRY

Eli Wallach and his wife, Anne Jackson, read bits of antiwar poetry and Broadway actor-singer Joel Grey sang some songs, did a soft shoe, then said: "By the way, I'm against the war, too."

Alan Arkin read an antiwar message and folk singer Phil Ochs did some antiwar ballads.

★ ★ ★

Carl Reiner acted as master of ceremonies. Among others who entertained were Robert Ryan, Tommy Smothers and Tony Randall.

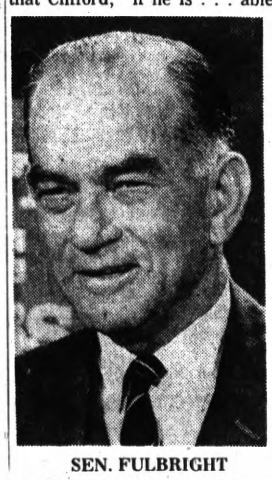
The benefit was the first in a series of scheduled fund-raising events to fill the campaign chest of the peace candidates.

A second affair is scheduled March 17 in Los Angeles.

Clifford Might Sway LBJ on Viet---Senator

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. J. William Fulbright says that newly designated as secretary of defense, Clark Clifford, may be the man to persuade President Johnson to change U. S. policy in Vietnam.

The Arkansas Democrat, a leading critic of the President's policy, said yesterday that Clifford, "if he is . . . able and willing to persuade the President to a change, which I hope he may be, that he can do it without embarrassment." He termed Clifford "a personal friend."



SEN. FULBRIGHT

At the very least, Fulbright added, "I feel I can speak with him and have at least an opportunity to try to persuade him in any case. I think he would listen."

By becoming a member of Johnson's Cabinet, he said, Clifford sacrifices his independence "but that doesn't mean he is not free to use his capacity for argument and persuasion."

Though he has seldom expressed a public opinion about the war, Clifford is generally regarded as being more of a hawk than a dove by observers in the capital.

Fulbright said he had seen no significant change in the President's policy in recent days "but still there is time." He said it would take only a "matter of weeks" for the President to reverse his stand. "I still have hopes that he will do so," the senator added in a broadcast interview.

KUCHEL URGES TALKS

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, Calif., No. 2 man in the Senate Republican leadership today urged the President to expand U. S. diplomatic efforts with the view of achieving "a new Geneva." It was the Geneva Conference of 1954 that parceled out the former French Indochinese possessions.

Kuchel, who is Senate Republican whip, said "a favorable outcome can only result from negotiations on a broad international scale bringing to bear the real weight for give and take by rational peoples who recognize that global survival is at stake when hot conflict enflames a region . . .

"Our diplomatic effort must be expanded to achieve the objective of a new Geneva. Prolonged bilateral talks with North Vietnam would be unlikely to serve the cause of free nations," Kuchel said in a speech prepared for Senate delivery. "I think the administration may build dangerously false hopes, if it suggests that they will.

"A true spirit of negotiation will require that all persons with an interest in the outcome be represented," he said.

Ford Hits LBJ on Tax Plans

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — House Minority Leader Gerald Ford says President Johnson is wrong in saying, as Ford put it, "We have no choice but an income tax increase. We have no choice but to spend more and tax more."

The Grand Rapids Republican told the Republican Trunk 'n' Tusk Club of Tucson Saturday night that there is a better way.

"It is the Republican way of putting first things first, whittling problems down to size with the aid of private enterprise and moving toward desirable national goals without the great leap forward that falls short and gives rise to riots and revolution," said Ford.

Ford said the Johnson-Humphrey Administration was resorting to direct controls over the dollar in a desperate attempt to at least narrow the balance of payments gap.

White Lake Twp. Taxpayers Get Complaint Time

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP —Taxpayers here will have a chance to complain before it's too late.

Being sent out to residents are notices of property assessments for 1968 tax bills and dates when questions and dissatisfaction can be registered.

Township Supervisor James Reid reports that some property valuations are up and some are down.

The special sessions to voice complaints will be held by Reid and Township Assessor Donald Fish.

Residents of Brendel Heights and Houlcrest subdivisions will have their say at the first session tomorrow from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Township Hall.

FURTHER APPEALS

Other areas will be scheduled for later, said Reid. Taxpayers can make further appeals of their assessments at the public sessions of the Township Board of Review, which meets from March 5 to April 1.

The reason for the change in assessments from last year is that the township is following a state law requiring taxes to be levied on 50 per cent of the cash value of property.

Taxes for 1967 were assessed on 20 per cent to 70 per cent of cash values, reported Reid. He added that township properties were last assessed in 1958 and are being reassessed for 1968 taxes.

★ ★ ★

Reassessing on the 50 per cent cash value basis must be done by March 5, explained Reid.

West Bloomfield to Vote on Levy

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A millage request will be aired at a special meeting tonight of the Township Board at 7:30 at the Township Hall, 4460 Orchard Lake.

★ ★ ★

Details on the amount and use of the millage will be disclosed at tonight's meeting.

Township residents now pay 1.4 mills general township tax and 1 mill voted township tax.

Supervisor John N. Doherty indicated the possibility of a millage election at the mid-November board meeting.

At that meeting, residents on Inkster Road from 15 Mile to 14 Mile were told that the township has no funds to pay its 25 per cent share of the paving costs of that portion of Inkster.

Consideration of the millage election will follow other business. The meeting opens with a public hearing on the assessment roll for the Bel-Aire sewer project.

The board will also consider setting a date for a public hearing on the assessment roll for the Sylvan Manor water project.

Farmington Twp. Board May Vote on Study Tonight

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The Township Board tonight may take a deciding vote in its participation in a future Farmington area study.

The board meets at 8 p.m. at the Township Hall, 31555 11 Mile.

The other municipalities in the area — Farmington city and the villages of Woodcreek Farms and Quakertown — have already agreed to share the cost of the $5,000 study proposed by Michigan State University's Institute for Community Development and Services.

The Future Farmington Area Study Committee recommended that the institute conduct the study after the institute's representatives made their proposal late last year. The township share is listed as $3,500.

The Township Board, which had few representatives at the meeting last year, recently had its own session with the institute and with Donald M. Oakes public management firm of Grand Rapids.

Oakes proposed a $2,500 study just for the township. A former city manager of Berkley and Grand Rapids, Oakes' firm has made studies for about 20 Michigan cities and townships.

★ ★ ★

The board also will hold a public hearing at 7:30 tonight on a sewer project for Supervisor's Middle Belt 10 Mile plat no. 2.

Final Tally Shows Change in the Avon Charter Commission

AVON TOWNSHIP — An increase to a 50-vote margin and a change of one of the elected charter commissioners has been reported by the Oakland County Board of Canvassers in a review of last week's incorporation vote.

Three additional "yes" votes were tabulated and George Schutte, Oakland County Department of Public Works project engineer, replaced Herman Lamb, 3783 Mildred, an employe of White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy, on the charter commission.

In the original count, only two votes had separated Lamb and Schutte, with Lamb given the greater count.

The review, which included several absentee ballots, gave Schutte a three-vote lead, according to Township Clerk Thelma Spencer.

Commerce Okays 2 Road Projects

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP—Two street improvement projects here totaling about $176,200 have been given the go-ahead.

The Township Board has entered an agreement with the Oakland County Road Commission to prepare for future blacktopping of about one mile of Newton from Oakley Park to Commerce Road.

The township and county will split the estimated $120,000 cost of the work. Commerce's share will come form revenue from the 2 mills voted for roads.

Blacktopping of the mile of Newton will come next year, allowing time for the road to settle after preparation, explained Township Supervisor Robert H. Long.

The other agreement is for the preparation and blacktopping of Canal and Oakside. The half-mile project will cost the townhsip and county about $28,000 each.

★ ★ ★

Both projects are expected to be completed this summer, said Township Supervisor Robert H. Long.

2 Rochester Boys Get Eagle Honor

ROCHESTER — Eagle Scout awards have been presented to Daniel Rott, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rott, 514 Seventh, and Paul Kruger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kruger, 219 S. Alice.

The boys are members of Boy Scout Troop 60, under the leadership of the senior Rott.

Daniel has served his troop as senior patrol leader, instructor and junior assistant scoutmaster. For the past two years, he has been a swimming merit badge instructor at Oakland University.

Paul has served as patrol leader, senior patrol leader, instructor and troop scribe. Both boys are members of the Order of the Arrow.

Police Report to Be Reviewed

LAKE ORION — Forty-three people sustained injury in traffic accidents occurring within the village last year, but there were no fatalities reported.

The annual police department report, prepared by Chief Neil Leonard and due for consideration by the Village Council tonight, reveals 125 property damage accidents for the same period.

Police arrested 1,463 persons, 991 of them for traffic offenses. Officers investigated a total of 2,400 complaints.

There were 741 traffic violation tickets issued of which 166 remain unpaid, Leonard reported. Parking meter tickets totaled 1,936 and other parking tickets 405.

There were 10 garbage tickets and 10 dog tickets issued in connection with improper handling of both.

Residents caught in illegal procedure paid a total of $28,249.16 in fines of which $17,085 involved traffic and drunk driving charges.

Ortonville Banquet to Fete 2 for Service

ORTONVILLE — A civic appreciation banquet will be held here Wednesday honoring two long-time area residents.

Sponsored by the Jaycees, Lions Club and Rotary Club, the dinner will honor Edna Profrock, former assistant vice president of the Genesee Merchants Bank and Trust Co., and Frances Leese, who served the village for 40 years as postmistress.

The affair will begin at 7 p.m. in the Brandon Schools Cafeteria.

Holly School Board to Mull Millage, Bond Need Tonight

HOLLY — Two elections may face voters this spring in this school district, as a result of the special meeting scheduled by the board of education tonight.

The board is scheduled to discuss the possibility of a new operating millage request and a bonding election for new construction.

The district's voters have dealt setbacks to both bonding and millage proposals in recent months, defeating a $5 million bond issue request in October and turning down a three-mill hike last spring.

According to Supt. of Schools Russell Haddon, the current millage total in the district for operating expenses is 20.6, of which 12 mills has been voted.

"Our big problem now," Haddon said, "is that we're just about out of space in our secondary schools."

MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS

On tonight's agenda will be such questions as minimum space and facility requirements for new schools and the possibility of splitting building needs into two ballots, with a junior high proposed this year and a high school in 1970.

If present facilities are not increased, Haddon warned, temporary classrooms or a reduced schedule for some students may be necessary by 1970-71.

W. Bloomfield LWV Will Meet Tomorrow

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — State issues will be discussed at the meeting tomorrow of the West Bloomfield League of Women Voters at 12:30 p.m. at the main library, 5030 Orchard Lake.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Dodie Weil, state board member of the League, will talk on the proposed judicial election and tenure amendment to the State Constitution.

In Double Eagle Scout Ceremony

Two Milford Brothers to Be Honored

MILFORD — Two brothers will mark the first double Eagle Scout award ceremony here tomorrow at 7 p.m. at Milford Presbyterian Church.

The Scouts, Michael and David Wallace, will be given a reception afterwards by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wallace, 1755 Martindale.

The brothers, who joined Troop 171 in Milford in December 1965, reached the rank of Eagle last December.

Mike, 14, a ninth grader at Muir Junior High, is junior assistant scoutmaster and troop bugler. He is also a member of the Civil Air Patrol and his school's pep band.

David, 13 and in the seventh grade at Muir, serves his troop as quartermaster. He holds the first chair for saxophones in the Muir Concert band.

MOVING UP — David (left) and Michael Wallace, who advanced together in the ranks of the Milford Scout Troop No. 171, will become Eagle Scouts tomorrow. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wallace, 1755 Martindale, Milford Township.

Equestrienne Killed as Road Toll Hits 11

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A girl was fatally injured when the horse she was riding apparently panicked and galloped into the path of a car in Ottawa County.

The death was one of 11 traffic deaths during the weekend in Michigan. The toll was the highest for any weekend so far this year.

Miss Joyce E. Allen, 19, of Nunica died yesterday from a fractured skull in Butterworth Hospital at Grand Rapids. She was injured Saturday while riding her horse on a road in Coopersville. Sheriff's men said the horse apparently panicked and crashed into the auto, even though the driver swerved in an attempt to avoid the horse and rider.

Two men were killed last night in a crash between a car and a semitrailer truck on U.S. 2 near Epoufette in Mackinac County in Upper Michigan.

The victims, both riding in the auto, were Raymond Morrow, 24, of Lansing and Francis Shananquet, 36, of Petoskey.

Police said the car veered over a center line and collided with the truck.

OTHER FATALITIES

Also killed:

● Henry Moran, about 75, of Detroit, Friday night when hit by a car in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

● Charles Angelich, 48, of Warren, Friday night when his car hit a curb and flipped over on him in Warren.

● Edward Morales, 3, of Toledo, Ohio, Saturday when the car in which he was riding collided with one going the wrong way on I-75 near Flint.

● Henry J. Grindall, 75, of Jackson, the driver, and Edwin H. Waite, 82, also of Jackson, a passenger, when their car swerved to miss another vehicle and hit the end of a bridge on U.S. 127 Saturday near Hudson in Lenawee County. Grindall died Sturday and Waite died yesterday.

● Henry Harris, 59, of Detroit, Saturday when hit by a car as he walked along a road in Westland, a Detroit suburb.

● Mrs. Carl Mears, 46, of Fennville, Saturday when a car driven by her husband collided with another at Holland, throwing her out and saturating her with gasoline, which ignited and burned her to death.

● Harry William Whysall, 23, of Cass City, whose car ran off Cemetery Road Saturday night in Tuscola County's Novesta Township.

Group to Seek More Business for White Lake

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—The few businessmen in this largely bedroom community are forming a group to attract more commerce to the area.

Township Supervisor James Reid sketched at a recent board meeting his plans for the township's Economic Development Council.

The group, to work closely with the Township Planning Commission, will get started in March, said the supervisor.

The ultimate goal of the council is to build up for the area a diversified tax base of residences, businesses and light industry.

Two appointments have been made to the Planning Commission: Clarence Reading of 3565 Ormond who has previously served on the commission and Kenneth Ormandy of 9833 Coledale, a Detroit Insurance Agency employe working with industry and commercial establishments.

BOARD APPOINTMENT

Last month, the board appointed Leland Orr to complete the nine- member board. Leaving are secretary Jack Rose, Edward Januscko and James Cunningham.

Review Board Adds 2

WEST BOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Two appointments have been made to the board of review.

With terms until 1971 are Paul Rabaut, who came on the board last year to fill a vacancy, and Charles Murray, new to the board.

Avon Woman Injured in Fire

AVON TOWNSHIP — A 40-year-old woman suffered first- and second-degree burns of the hand and arm in one of two weekend home fires here.

Mrs. George F. Stoops, 481 Cherryblossom, was treated at Crittenton Hospital after she attempted to remove a pan of blazing grease from the kitchen range, said firemen.

Rochester firemen who answered the call at 2:41 p.m. yesterday, estimated damage to the room at between $500 and $750.

A fire Saturday reportedly caused $8,000 to $10,000 damage, much of it in smoke, to the Robert Skibowski home, 475 S. Livernois.

★ ★ ★

The blaze reportedly started in the lower level garage of the bilevel home home when Skibowski attempted to start a small bulldozer.

BACKFIRE REPORTED

Fire Chief Lyle Buchanan said Skibowski reported the bulldozer backfired, igniting some gasoline. He attempted to douse the blaze with a garden hose, but flames short-circuited the electrical wiring causing a pump failure.

The call was received at 12:08 p.m. Saturday.

Five CAP Cadets in State Screening

CLARKSTON — Five cadets from the Clarkston Composite Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol are among 54 chosen statewide for special activities screening.

John Bushart, Gary Klann, Timothy Morris, Cathy Witherup and Simon Worden have been interviewed and tested for possible participation in the Interleadership school and cadet flying encampment.

Other acitivites they may become eligible for are the Aerospace Age Orientation course, jet familiarization course and spiritual life activities as various Air Force bases throughout the United States.

First Lt. Kathleen Hawkins of the Clarkston squadron was among those assisting screening personnel at Selfridge Air Force Base.

Administrator to Quit Huron Valley Position

The Huron Valley Board of Education will receive the resignation of the district's director of instruction William Force, at tonight's meeting at 8:30 at Milford High School, 2380 S. Milford, Milford.

The board will also consider changing the mileage reimbursement rate for administrators. The intention is to reduce the present rate of 10 cents per mile when an administrator drives his own car on school business.

6.5 Mills at Stake

Lapeer Schools Set Tax Vote

LAPEER — The board of education has slated an election March 12 on renewing a 3-mill tax levy which expired Dec. 31 and asking for 3.5 additional ills for one year for operating expenses.

★ ★ ★

The total of 6.5, according to Business Manager W. Gordon Hall, will bring the over-all operating millage to 19.08.

"Our budget for this year is $2,691,587," Hall reported, "up 19.4 per cent from last year."

Over the past 11 years, he said, the average increase has been 12 per cent. He attributed the rise to "much the same problems as in other districts — more students, higher cost of operations, better salaries."

Equalized valuation has been lalling behind enrollment growth, too, Hall said. "Valuation of the district has been rising at about three per cent annually."

344 INCREASE

By contrast, the number of students in the district's schools has been increasing by 300-plus. This year, enrollment is 5,389—344 more than last year.

Previous operating millage requests in the district, Hall said, have always been approved.

The new levy, if approved, would bring in approximately $336,400 in additional revenue.

The new figure of 19.08 for total millage, the business manager noted, is not exceptional for state school districts.

"The state average this year is 18 mills, and we are at 15.58 right now," Hall said. 'By next year, when the additional 3.5 mills go into effect, the average will probably have gone up."

The board recently heard a protest from several Elba Township residents regarding the size of its transportation cut off.

Students presently residing within 1½ miles of Lapeer High School must provide their own transportation.

Administrative Assistant Ron Warner pointed out that state bus transportation aid is based on a code established by the state board of education. If the cut off were smaller, Warner said, state aid would be lost, and the district would have to foot the $100,000 cost for all students itself.

It Seems to Me . . .

Oakland County Must Adapt to Potential of the Air Age

This newspaper believes Oakland County is a logical point for big airport activities.

The future of air travel is incredible. No one can accurately predict what lies ahead. Chicago was so under-equipped in spite of its fine Midway Airport that it constructed the gigantic O'Hare. This was destined to "care for future needs indefinitely."

But see what happens.

Already, it's insufficient.

★ ★ ★

Hence, the "Windy City" has just reactivated Midway. O'Hare had become "the busiest airport in the world." Preparations for reopening Midway cost eleven million dollars but Chicago says she will get it all back in landing fees, terminal spaces, hangars, etc.

And the end is not yet.

Chicago still plans ahead.

A third airport of gigantic proportions is projected there for the 1980's.

★ ★ ★

Southeastern Michigan is approching the same predicament. Metro is rapidly becoming inadequate. Detroit City Airport is probably the most dangerous airport of appreciable size in the world. Hence, airdromes are an absolute necessity in this general area.

Consider these amazing statistics:

In 1961, airlines carried 54 million passengers. In 1967, the total approximates 120 million. Five years hence, the experts project 200 million and ten years from now it will be 450 million.

Private flying is expanding at the same or an even greater rate right now.

Personally, I rather favored enlarging the existing Oakland-Pontiac Airport with a big runway extension, plus a new one going north-south that ran 7,500 to 10,000 feet. But I defer easily to a committee that has been named to study the problem. If this group unites in the belief that relief north of the City will serve a greater need, we back them wholeheartedly.

But we need action.

"Time and tide wait for no man."

And neither does the airplane.

And — airlines are right now convinced that the future of air freight may even exceed passenger travel if you can comprehend this amazing declaration. For the past indefinite time, air freight has risen more than twice the rate of passenger business. Further, the airlines are even more interested in this tremendous upsurge in freight.

They say it's more profitable.

That could be.

Further, Insider's Newsletter quotes an airline executive as saying: "Freight is less fragile, doesn't have to be fed, doesn't need in-flight movies and does not bother the stewardesses."

What's really ahead?

Who knows?

Oakland County must keep abreast.

Pontiac Motor Performance . . . .

With the complete automobile figures at hand for 1967, Pontiac Motor's sensational performance is even more noteworthy.

Here are the final and official 1967 and 1966 statistics:

	1967	1966
General Motors	4,138,620	4,336,704
Ford	1,834,743	2,370,111
Chrysler	1,353,766	1,399,741
American Motors	241,404	266,288
Total	7,568,533	8,372,844

★ ★ ★

The entire industry lost 10.4% over the previous year. 1967 was a good year — the third best in all history — but it slipped some over 1966.

And yet Pontiac gained!

All of General Motors dropped 4.5%, considerably less than the industry as a whole, but Ford was sharply handicapped by the long strike.

★ ★ ★

We salute the Pontiac Motor Division again. We enjoyed this terrific sales period and then became "car of the year" as one to grow on.

Expensive Cover . . . .

Michigan is honestly perplexed and unhappy with the projected costs of a dome over our athletic stadium if, as and when one is built on the Fair Grounds site.

And she should be.

It takes heavy sugar.

★ ★ ★

Yet Wilmington, Delaware, is currently shadowboxing with the idea of a dome over the entire city. This should provoke a world's record "hrrumph" from Major Hoople. Dr. Celina P. Urgarte tells officials that domes can now be extended ten miles.

The device would give Wilmington almost complete control over local weather.

What's next?

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

EDWARD L. SORENSON calls my attention to the patriotic work currently done by the Young Americans for Freedom who are an enthusiastic group that really pitches into the Communists. More power to 'em. . . . . Overheard: "If a lamb followed Mary to school today, he'd have to do better than 50 miles an hour." . . . . Vardon trophy standings show ARNOLD PALMER averaging 70.18 in tournament play this year. JULIUS BOROS was next with 70.78, followed by SYKES, BREWER and CASPER, all of whom were just under 71. NICKLAUS is ineligible.

MARILY

Personal nomination for one of the attractive young ladies in the area: Marily Rae Mercer. Incidentally, she's my most favorite thrush. . . . . Overheard: "A century ago it took two sheep to clothe one woman. Today a silk worm can do it on his day off." . . . . The Weather Bureau says wind has a very appreciable effect on you personally out in the cold. A temperature of 20 degrees and a ten-mile-an-hour wind has a chilling effect equal to 2 degrees with no wind.

Sign posted on a tree in city park: "Help keep your city clean. Have a pigeon for lunch." . . . . The largest thermometer in the world is probably the ten-story instrument on the Allied Chemical Building in New York. . . . . The average baseball player that makes it in the big leagues lasts five years. . . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—that new saying: "None for the road"; the J's — Yesterday's saying: "One for the road."

David Lawrence Says:

Selection of Clifford Significant

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, in appointing Clark Clifford to be secretary of defense, didn't pick a specialist in military matters but a man with a certain type of mind capable of serving as a top counsellor in the Cabinet — someone he has known a long time, too.

LAWRENCE

Actually, the termination of Robert McNamara's duty as secretary of defense and the selection of Clifford in his place is far more significant than a mere change in personalities.

There was, of course, much said originally in favor of the choice of McNamara as secretary of defense. He had been a top executive in the Ford Motor Co. He was expected to give the huge department of the armed services the benefit of his talent — efficiency in organization.

He was accustomed to handling large sums and determining the best way to get the most for the money — on a business basis.

But this is not always feasible in government. For in the Department of Defense, while handling of large business contracts is an important part of the job, how can a secretary measure efficiency in evaluating the purpose of weapons or strategy when lives are at stake?

Many a general or admiral might prefer to spend millions of dollars in preparedness that might seem to others to be wasteful. For if there is a chance to cut down the potential list of casualties in a given operation or piece of strategy, this is considered more important for the future than economizing.

Clark Clifford is a good lawyer. He understands the art of reconciling differences of opinion and making compromises, as happens in out-of-court settlements which are frequently as difficult to handle as cases in court.

LAYMAN'S JUDGMENT

Clifford is not the sort of official who will regard admirals or generals as mere champions of an unpopular philosophy. He will reflect their viewpoint to the President and express a layman's judgment as to what should be done, but Mr. Johnson will have to assess for himself the consequences of his decision.

Where McNamara made his error was in assuming, as too many people mistakenly do nowadays, that military men are obsessed with certain prejudices in favor of more and more battles and the escalation of a war such as is going on in Vietnam.

When given orders to repel aggression or to operate effectively along with an allied force in fighting the enemy, the problem is not one of politics or penny-saving but of effectuating the military strategy most likely to attain the desired objective.

Again and again, military men have come up with big budgets deemed necessary for national defense. These have often been regarded as too large. But back of the recommendations has always basically been the military concept of how to protect national security.

Bob Considine Says:

Our Contacts With Hanoi Are Pretty Good, at That

NEW YORK — The United States can get in touch with Hanoi without any great trouble, night or day.

CONSIDINE

Communication is not as direct as the "hot line" from Washington to Moscow but it is pretty good when one considers the traditional communications problems between elephant and mouse.

We are using what is called the "contact" to ask Ho Chi Minh's people to give us a fill-in on just what is meant by "will" instead of "could."

We have forwarded through the "contact" a query as to just when talks would begin if we stopped bombing. The impression we have gained is that Hanoi would like four to six weeks before it sends forth someone empowered to talk peace.

We've asked "contact" to say to North Vietnam, "Why not start talks within two or three days after we stop bombing?"

This is a counterproposal worthy of America's stature and it also represents wishful thinking on our part.

★ ★ ★

After all, there are 25 North Vietnamese regiments inside South Vietnam today. It took them excruciating weeks to get there. They could not be uprooted and returned in a matter of a few days. But talks of any serious nature would require that they be gone from South Vietnam before the first gavel falls, just as the talks must not be drowned out by our bombing of the North.

STILL NOT CONVINCED

The Johnson administration is still not convinced that the latest flutter of dove's wings in the North is anything more than a propaganda pitch calculated to elicit further divisiveness in the U.S. and uncommitted world sympathy.

The word "will" therefore is being handled like an egg.

While it is, the administration continues to be pummeled at home for "disdaining" an honest peace feeler and on the other hand criticized by South Vietnamese President Thieu for presuming to consider itself a principal party involved in any peacemaking.

Voice of the People:

'Servicemen Are United in Fight for Our Safety'

My son who is serving with the air cavalry in Vietnam recently sent home some movie film. In the film were both colored and white working together. If these boys go through what they do and are still together for the safety of our country, why can't people here do the same and forget all this nonsense of riots, etc.

★ ★ ★

How can we expect our boys to have the heart to fight for our country if people here are destroying it?

★ ★ ★

I have the newspaper sent to my son but I'm getting ashamed of some of the things I know he will read in it about how people act here.

Questions Wallace's Qualifications to Lead

So George Wallace will stand behind his convictions and beliefs. Big deal! So did Adolf Hitler. Six million dead Jews are a bitter testimony to that fact. Since when does having a loud mouth and lack of reason qualify a man for leadership? The twentieth century has had its share of self-appointed gods. Spare me another one.

'Interested Citizens to Help Replace Sign'

The driver of the car which destroyed the children's road sign near Silver Lake School remains unidentified. Offerings to replace the sign were received from Mr. Stephenson of the City Sign Company, Jeff Taylor, a part-time sign maker from Auburn Heights and from Oakland County Road Commissioner Paul Van Roekel.

Because of their interest and concern, a new sign will be installed for our boys and girls.

Reader Gives View on Firearm Restrictions

Air rifles were invented around 1779 and Austria equipped troops with this noiseless weapon for use against the Turks and the French. Napoleon issued an order than any Austrian captured with one of these guns would be executed without trial. We know that we do not have statesmen in Washington with Napoleon's I.Q. and we will not execute our teens, so all we can do is ban the sale of air rifles.

★ ★ ★

Why not let the gentleman taxpayer and sportsman buy firearms without too much red tape? The criminal will get guns. All he has to do is break into a government or state armory and he is in business. We may need our personal firearms in a "Vietnam" here in the U.S. to protect our loved ones and property and we have no use for air rifles in time of need. We will need 30-30 caliber and up.

'School Section Tells Good News of Teens'

I commend The Pontiac Press for the interest you take in the senior high school students and their activities. You are publishing in your section of senior high school news the better behavior of teen-agers. Other newspapers are placing the emphasis on the activities of the few who ruin it for the majority of our age group. The younger generation should be recognized for some better things, such as the time spent in sports, the work the honor students do, collecting money for charities, etc.

REPLY

Mr. Freshour at Consumers Power tells us it would probably be between 21 and 25 cents each time. He says to call him if you have any other questions.

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Sunken Barge

Des Moines Register

When a barge loaded with 2,200,000 pounds of liquid chlorine sank in the lower Mississippi river in 1961, owners of the barge abandoned the vessel and turned a deaf ear to United States government demands that the barge be removed.

The government then employed divers and spent more than 3 million dollars raising the barge and its deadly cargo.

Taxpayers will be relieved to know that the government now is entitled to collect the cost of its salvage operation from the owners.

Doubt about the government's legal right to be reimbursed arose because of a curious omission in federal law.

The rivers and harbors act requires owners to mark and remove sunken craft from navigable rivers and authorizes the United States government to do the removing when owners refuse, but the law says nothing about who pays for the removal.

The United States Supreme court has cleared the way for the government to collect by holding that the right to be reimbursed in cases involving negligence is implicit in the law. The court said that to deny the government this remedy "would permit the result, extraordinary in our jurisprudence, of a wrongdoer shifting responsibility for the consequences of his negligence onto his victim."

Postmarks . . .

Providence Journal

We sympathize with the General Accounting Office in its attempt to cut down U.S. Post Office cost by eliminating city names from postmarks.

We are all for reducing post office expenses, especially in view of the increase in the first class mail rate to six cents.

★ ★ ★

The Post Office Department wasn't very responsive in its arguments against the GAO proposal. A post office official made the enlightening comment that "we can see no purpose in eliminating the name of the post office from the postmark."

The GAO was thinking that eliminating the town name would break down opposition to eliminating small post offices.

Maybe it would, although the Post Office Department doesn't think so.

At any rate, we have frequently found it useful to have the town indicated. Otherwise one would never be sure where a letter came from. Postmarks, town included, have often cleared up mysteries about misdirected mail.

CHAPTER 11

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Dan Briscoe wanted to escape his reputation as a lawman who had sent a deputy into ambush intended for Briscoe alone. John Cass, Mayor of Yellow Lance, advised Briscoe go farther west, to where a friend of his, Bill Royal, might give him a job. Arriving at the town named Flag, his attention was attracted to an older woman. He found that she, Lavinia Shannon, was in trouble. He saw Alex Emmons at the train to meet Kate Royal, and when he overheard poolroom gossip of antagonism between the two women, Shep Sand, recognized by Briscoe as a professional gunman, sought to provoke Emmons. Kate Royal averted a fight there. That night Emmons sought out Sand and Gid Marko in a gambling house. Briscoe's intervention kept Emmons from clashing with them.

Alex Emmons began to mumble and stir. Dan Briscoe sat him in a dark corner and hovered over him. What he feared was that Shep Sand or Marko might come out of the saloon and become inquisitive.

A top buggy pulled up. It was driven by Kate Royal.

"I'm staying with friends at their home on the edge of town," she breathed, alighting from the rig. "This is their carriage. We'll take Alex there."

Dan lifted Alex Emmons onto the seat of the buggy. Kate Royal helped stuff his limp legs into place. She squeezed herself into the driver's seat.

★ ★ ★

"Glad to be of help," Dan said, standing back.

"Oh, but you've got to come with me!" she exclaimed. "You must. I can't handle him alone. What if he wakes up?"

More pedestrians were approaching. "All right," Dan said reluctantly. He crowded into the carriage, with the dazed Alex Emmons between them. Emmons was groaning and beginning to fight his way back to the surface.

The buggy lurched into motion as Kate Royal flicked the whip. As they passed the door of the Big Chance, Dan glimpsed Shep Sand in the parted swing portals, peering up and down the sidewalk.

Kate Royal saw this also. "The fool!" she said, and choked up a trifle.

"Who? The one back there?"

A TENDER VOICE

"No. This one here with us. Conceit is a terrible thing." She looked down at Alex Emmons. "And sometimes it's wonderful too."

She looked at Dan. "Alex might not appreciate what you did for him, but I do. I want to thank you, Mr.—Mr.—was the name Driscoll?"

"That's it," Dan said. "Daniel Driscoll."

"People in these parts usually don't want to get involved in—in—" She didn't finish it letting it hang in the air.

When Dan didn't help her out by asking what she meant, she spoke again. "You must have seen what happened at the depot this afternoon. You knew Alex was going to that saloon to have it out with that man, Tom Smith."

"Maybe," Dan said.

"I still don't understand why you stopped him. Mr. Driscoll."

"Maybe I figured he was too young to die."

She was silent for a time. She finally drew a long, quivering breath. "Yes," she said huskily. "Oh, yes."

"How come you showed up there at that moment?" Dan asked.

★ ★ ★

"After the trouble at the depot I managed to talk Alex into going to the house where I'm staying overnight with old friends, Ed and Ann Davis. I insisted that he leave with me that awful, show-off gun he had been carrying. He stayed for supper, and I had believed he had cooled off. After he left, I became afraid he'd do exactly what he tried to do. Bill Davis had hitched up his buggy, for he was to attend his lodge meeting tonight. I didn't have time to explain. I borrowed it and headed for town. I saw Alex walking toward the Big Chance and saw you slug him."

HER INTENTION

She added, "I was going to do just what you did. You beat me to it."

"What? You were going to slug him? With what?"

"Well, not with a fist, of course. I've got a Colt .44. I intended to use that on his stubborn skull."

"Emmons was lucky I happened to be around," Dan said. "He's coming around already. You might have laid him out for quite a spell. The barrel of a six-gun can do a lot of damage."

"Better a broken head than a grave," she said. "Well, here we are, Mr. Driscoll."

She had swung the buggy into the driveway of a modest dwelling. Windows were lighted. Alex Emmons' eyes were opened, the pupils rolling weakly. Dan alighted.

The door was opened by a comely young matron. "Good heavens!" she exclaimed. "Where did you go, Kathleen? What happened?"

"Nothing too serious, Ann," Kate Royal said. "Alex got punched in the jaw. This is his day to lose all the fights."

Ann Davis's husband came hurrying. Dan handed his share of the burden over to him, and turned to leave.

"Wait!" Kate Royal cried. "Please!"

'NEW AROUND HERE'

Ed Davis introduced himself to Dan. "You're new around here?" he asked.

"Name is Dan Driscoll," Dan said. "I'm just stopping over for a day or two. Heading for California."

"What happened?"

"I sort of got mixed in by accident," Dan said. "I don't know exactly what all this is about. I reckon the young lady can tell you better than I can."

Kate Royal returned at that moment. "Alex will be all right," she said. "Not even a broken jaw. You probably saved his life, Mr. Driscoll."

GOOD NIGHT

"I'll be saying good night, then," Dan said.

"Are you looking for a riding job?" she asked quickly.

"I reckon not," Dan said. "I'm moving farther west in the morning."

"We could offer you a steady job," she said. She was removing the dangling earrings. She kneaded the lobes of her ears and said, "I should never wear those things. They're brutally heavy. But they're beautiful. Heirlooms."

She added, "My father owns a ranch down in the Springwater. That's south of here. Some of the range is rough country, no question about that. We pay forty a month to a rider who isn't afraid of popping cattle in the brush and on the slants. Fifty a month for roundup work. We're not bothered much with fence scars nor heel-fly down there. Some ticks, of course, but only in early summer. We mount our men on good horseflesh. Quarterhorse stock. We furnish good grub. Fact is, I do most of the cooking myself. I know you'd like the country."

"Sorry," Dan said. "It sounds like a cowpuncher's dream of the ranch in the sky. But I'm pulling out tomorrow."

"I can't blame you," she said tiredly.

He said again, "I'm sorry. I'll say good night now."

THANKS AGAIN

She extended a hand. "Good night, Mr. Driscoll. And thanks again for what you did. I'll always—"

The earrings she had been holding slipped from her hand and rolled on the carpet at Dan's feet. Instinctively, they both stooped to retrieve them. Their heads collided.

"My fault," Dan said. "I hope you aren't hurt."

"Not at all," she said.

Dan looked down. "The earrings?" he asked.

"Never mind," she said. "I'll find the other one later. I have one."

"Good night," Dan said. "Good night, Mr. and Mrs. Davis. It's been a real pleasure."

U.S. Rejected Chance for 3 U.N. Seats

UNITED Nations, N. Y. (AP)—A primer on voting strength at the United Nations might go something like this:

What power has three votes in the United Nations?

The Soviet Union.

What nation spurned a chance to have the same?

The United States.

Does it matter?

Not discernibly.

The vote of a tiny member of the United Nations is equal to that of a major power in the General Assembly. This is frequently discussed, pro and con, but diplomats here have all but forgotten a deal 23 years ago which could have given the United States multiple votes.

The agreement reached at Yalta in February 1945 in effect gave the Soviet Union three seats in the projected United Nations and pledged an equal number of votes to the United States—if desired.

Part of the pact was put into effect when the Soviet Ukraine and Byelorussia were invited without opposition to become founding members along with the Soviet Union.

The provision for three U.S. votes was kept secret at the time by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and was never put into effect. No details were ever worked out as to how the United States would cast the three votes.

Although the U.N. membership of the Ukraine and Byelorussia was approved without objection, there is no certainty that the San Francisco conference would have endorsed multiple votes for the United States, if such a proposal had been presented.

The Ukraine and Byelorussia were proposed as independent countries which had played a leading role in the Allied victory over Germany. Even though their independence may have been questioned by many countries, there was an emotional factor in their favor.

Some high American officials involved in the agreement had their doubts about support for the U.S. part of the deal. They feared that presentation of a proposal for three U.S. votes might result in a rejection of the whole Yalta agreement.

On the basis of U.N. voting over the past two decades, it is doubtful whether two extra votes for the United States would have made any difference. A search of the records fails to disclose a single instance in which the votes of the Ukraine and Byelorussia changed the outcome of a U.N. decision.

In the first years of the United Nations, the presence of the two Soviet republics did give the Kremlin some moral support because they were the main part of the Soviet bloc, which consisted only of them and Poland. Their presence lost some of its significance when the Soviet bloc expanded to 10 members.

The last important post held by a representative of these republics was in 1948-49 when the Ukraine held one of the nonpermanent seats on the Security Council.

Since then the Soviet bloc has been represented on the council by other Eastern European countries which—although voting with the bloc—at least appeared to be more independent of Moscow. The bloc itself seemed to have made the distinction in presenting its candidates for the Security Council and other U.N. posts.

Rarely has any country referred publicly to the fact that the Ukraine and Byelorussia may not be independent countries in the usually accepted sense. The Ukraine, with a population of 45 million, is larger than most U.N. members, and Byelgrussia has a population of 8½ million. There are other Soviet republics even larger, but the Soviet Union has never sought to enlarge its U.N. membership.

In asking for the admission of the Ukraine and Byelorussia, Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin originally suggested that the Lithuanian republic also be given a U.N. seat, but he never pressed for it.

Roosevelt sent Stalin a letter formally asking whether he would support a proposal for voting parity for the United States if it became necessary in order to obtain "wholehearted acceptance by the Congress and people of the United States of our participation in the world organization."

The following day, according to James F. Byrnes, presidential assistant and later secretary of State Byrnes, Stalin advised Roosevelt that he agreed might also have three votes and added: "If it is necessary I am prepared, officially to support this proposal."

Byrnes said Churchill also agreed. After the return to Washington, by Byrnes' account, the President decided not to ask the founding meeting at San Francisco to comply with this part of the agreement. He directed that the whole subject be kept secret.

In the end President Harry S. Truman had to act on the Yalta agreement because Roosevelt died just before the San Francico conference. In a letter of instruction to Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Truman said:

"The decision as to the admission of these two republics as initial members in the proposed international organization is of course a matter for the conference itself to decide. In the loyal execution at the conference of the obligation assumed on this question by President Roosevelt on behalf of the United States government, I direct you to cast the vote of the United States in favor of the Ukrainian and White Russian republics as initial members of the international organization."

The letter made no reference to the agreement for three U.S. votes. There has never been a formal move since then to implement the agreement.

Prize Winner Tells Solution to a Problem

By ELIZABETH L. POST

The following has been chosen as the prize-winning letter for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to Mrs. Miller of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Mrs. Post: Here is our way of handling what can be a very great irritant to some people: the question of whether a wedding gift arrived or not.

★ ★ ★

Our daughter was at college, our future son-in-law came from Texas, and their gifts were sent to my home. Therefore, as each gift arrived we decided to send cards, printed as follows: "This is to assure you the safe arrival of your thoughtful gift.

★ ★ ★

Mary and John will express their gratitude after they have received it from my custody."

★ ★ ★

We received many grateful comments on our thoughtfulness so we felt it was worth the effort. Our daughter, graduated, married and settled into their new home before she felt impelled to write her "thank-yous," so that the notes, when they came, were long, newsy and personalized instead of the normal brief thank-you I generally receive.

★ ★ ★

Is this not a new approach that modern living might adopt? Or is it in poor taste?—Edith Miller

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Miller: My only possible criticism of your plan would be that it might afford the bride an excuse to wait too long to write her thank-yous. Note or no note, this should be done before the wedding has faded from memory.

★ ★ ★

If the bride is diligent about writing as soon as possible after the honeymoon, I think your system has great merit.

"WAITRESS"

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I eat in a restaurant frequently. On several occasions he tried to get the attention of the waitress but could not, so he called to her, "Waitress." I told him that he should say, "Miss."

★ ★ ★

I think "Waitress" sounds belittling and rude. My husband maintains it is correct. What do you say?—Eva

★ ★ ★

Dear Eva: "Waitress" is an honorable term, and not in any way belittling. However, I prefer to summon a waitress by saying "Miss" which does somehow sound a bit more respectful than simply "Waitress."

MRS. DAVID BRYANT FLINT

Karin M. Walstrom and David Bryant Flint were married Saturday in Harbor Springs. Their parents are the Ward H. Walstroms of Harbor Springs and the Edgar B. Flints of West Long Lake Road.

Karin Walstrom, David Flint Exchange Vows on Saturday

Karin M. Walstrom of Harbor Springs became the bride of David Bryant Flint, West Long Lake Road, Saturday afternoon.

The Rodney G. Browns of Bloomfield Hills announce the engagement and June wedding of their daughter, Margaret, to Charles J. Barnhart. He is the son of the Charles B. Barnharts of Rockville, Md. Miss Brown is a graduate of Marietta College, Marietta, Ohio and her fiance is a graduate student at the University of Rochester, Rochester, N.Y.

A reception at Birchwood Farm Lodge followed the ceremony in the First Presbyterian Church of Harbor Springs.

An ivory satin gown designed with a high rise waist and long lace sleeves was worn by the bride. The same Alencon lace formed an inverted panel in the A-line skirt and full train.

BONNET

A puritan bonnet of matching satin and lace held her cathedral length veil. She carried white orchids and tropical leaves.

★ ★ ★

Maid of honor was the bridegroom's sister, Marilyn A. Flint. Their parents are the Edgar B. Flints of West Long Lake Road.

★ ★ ★

Bridesmaids were Mrs. David S. Cooper, Mrs. H. Howard Flint II, Mrs. William Noack of Indianapolis, Ind. and Susan Ridings, Grand Rapids.

★ ★ ★

H. Howard Flint II was best man for his brother. David T. Fischer, Bruce Knight, Robert M. Fletcher of Woodside, Calif., and Frederick W. and Ward H. Walstrom Jr., the bride's brothers, were ushers.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Ward H. Walstrom of Harbor Springs.

★ ★ ★

After a honeymoon in the Bahamas, the young couple will live in Bloomfield Hills.

Dad Ignores His Children

Communication Gap Evidenced

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Every day my husband picks up your column and says, "Well, let's see what Abby has to say to those nutty people who write to a newspaper psychiatrist!" He would never admit that HE could use some help.

ABBY

My husband is a good provider and generally a good husband, but he is a very poor father to our six children, who range from three to 12. He never pays them the slightest attention unless it's to punish them.

When a male friend comes over here, the children compete for his attention and the man can't get the little ones off his lap. I am worried about how this will affect the children's lives. Will my girls be so hungry for male affection and approval that they'll be pregnant at 15? And will my sons grow up being Mamma's boys? What can I do before it's too late? Or am I being silly?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: It's sad that a couple who have spent more than a dozen years together have so little communication between them. Why can't you tell your husband these things? You seem to be an intelligent woman and your complaints make sense. If you aren't able to get through to him, find someone who can. Your husband needs desperately to get this important message.

Dear Abby: It disgusts me to read the letters in your column that begin, "While straightening my daughter's room I came across one of her letters, or her diary, and after reading it, I was horrified. Where have I failed?"

Perhaps these mothers should begin by looking at their own code of ethics. It is important to children, especially teenagers, to feel that they are individuals with privacy and rights of their own.

Having a mother who comes snooping around reading personal mail and examining private possessions will surely force the child to become deceptive and secretive and constantly on the defensive, rather than to feel free to discuss personal problems and share private experiences with her mother.

If a mother feels it is necessary for her to know everything that happens in her child's life, she should teach the child early to trust her and come to her and share her feelings openly.

★ ★ ★

This way the mother can express feelings of her own, and perhaps point the child in the right direction without promoting the kind of mistrust and tension that often develops between mother and daughter if the daughter finds she has no privacy.

The more I read about such mothers, the more I appreciate my own.

Lawful Abortions Pass 100 Mark

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Abortions were performed on 120 women under Colorado's liberalized abortion law during the eight months it was in effect in 1967, the Colorado Health Department said Friday.

The law, signed April 25 by Gov. John A. Love, increased the grounds on which abortions may be performed if authorized by doctors. The old law permitted abortions only if the life of the mother was endangered.

The Health Department said 50 of the abortions under the new law were authorized for psychiatric reasons, 22 because of physical danger to the mother or child, nine because the woman was a rape victim and 37 listed as therapeutic abortions for which no other reason was given.

Two patients were termed suicide risks.

OUT STATE

Twenty-nine, or 24 per cent of the women, were from out of state. California led the out-of-state list with nine. Three were from Illinois, two each were from New York, Wisconsin and Kansas, and one each from Kentucky, New Jersey, Florida, Idaho, Louisiana, Michigan, Iowa, Nebraska, North Carolina, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The youngest patient was 12 and the oldest was 48. There were 47 under 20 years 25 between 20 and 34, 18 between 25 and 29, and 30 who were 30 or over.

★ ★ ★

All but three of the operations were performed in Denver hospitals. One abortion was reported in Greeley, Colorado Springs and Boulder.

Unhappy Divorced Man Gives Words of Advice

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Last week, this letter came into The Press. It seems a fitting follow-up to the series recently completed on the divorced man.)

I am in the process of being divorced. For a long time I couldn't understand why. It bothered me so badly I had to get professional help and it has made a world of difference in me.

The reason I am writing this letter is that another young couple might benefit from my experience.

My wife and I married young but we were both very much in love. I loved her so very much that I suddenly became obsessed with giving her every comfort and convenience possible. I bought a new home and filled it with the best of everything from carpeting to washer and dryer.

Naturally we became deep in debt but I didn't care because she was worth it. I should have taken a part time job to help pay the bills but I didn't want to be away from home any longer than necessary.

AMBITIONS

I had a good job in the shop but wanted to make somthing more of my life. I had a burning desire to better my station in life; to make her proud of me, and to provide my family with everything they could ever want in life.

★ ★ ★

I soon became discontented with my job. I became depressed and discouraged because I felt I was getting nowhere.

Naturally, I carried my bad disposition home with me and instead of displaying pleasure at being home, I would just mope around and be restless and grouchy much of the time.

At times I would snap at my wife over nothing. I seemed to take out all my frustration on her when I should have treated her with love and affection.

★ ★ ★

The tragic thing is that all my wife wanted was me, our children, a comfortable home and happiness. She didn't care about all those modern conveniences.

Colors Set for Fall, 1968

If you think 1967 zipped by too fast, hold on. At the Boys' and Young Men's Apparel Manufacturers Association they're already up to fall of 1968!

Here's what they say about the 1968 fashion colors — earthy browns, burnished golds, mountain greens, woodland russets.

The reasons for these colors: boys and young men will wear the country look next fall. They'll wear it in the city, for sports, at school, for leisure. And presumably in the country, too.

She would have gladly worked a little harder if we could only have taken a vacation for a week or two each year, gone out to dinner occasionally or even a drive in the country with our children.

Now I realize more fully what my wife really needed and wanted of me but it may be too late. Those I love now reside in another city. As for myself; I am lonely, heart-broken and deeply ashamed of my former behavior.

NEW EXPERIENCES

Since my wife left I have had the children with me for a week or two on occasions. I cared for them single-handedly, performing all the duties I had rarely lifted a finger to help with in the past — cooking, feeding, laundering, changing and bathing the children, etc.

Believe me, this wasn't easy but it taught me a lesson. It has shown me how much a woman has to do and how hard they have it.

In summation, I would like to advise the young man to show appreciation for what the wife and mother does and has done for him.

Be considerate and kind. Bring her flowers now and then (even one helps to put the message across). She will love you for it.

And when you come home to an extra fine meal, just take a little time out to let her know how much you enjoyed it, and top it off with a kiss.

A loving wife is worth far more than all the money or material possessions in the world. Don't spoil her, just show her that you love her and you'll be richer and happier for it.

★ ★ ★

If you have marital problems, I suggest you seek professional help such as that available to you through a marriage counselor or social worker. They are glad to be of service to you and you can greatly benefit as I have from their training, skill end experience.

★ ★ ★

Remember, you can't buy love. You have to earn it and RETURN it.

Canadian Trip Follows Exchange of Nuptials

Newlyweds, the Michael D. Corcorans (nee Ruth L. Pomfret,) have departed for a wedding trip to Canada, following an exchange of vows Saturday in St. Rose Catholic Church, Detroit.

★ ★ ★

For the late morning ceremony, the daughter of Mrs. Melvin Jones of Jefferson Street and the late Leonard Pomfret wore a traditionally styled gown of organza and Chantilly lace.

★ ★ ★

To complement her attire she wore a matching lace headpiece frosted with pearls crowning a shoulder length bouffant veil.

Rosebuds and baby carnations made up the bridal bouquet.

Honor attendants for the wedding were Mrs. John LaBlance and William Martin.

Acting as bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard Garnett, Mrs. Joseph Leal and Rita Pomfret. Richard Caulfield, David Cetic and Richard Tweedle assisted the groom.

A reception at Cambridge Hall followed the vows.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Helen Corcoran of Detroit.

About one-half of the corn grown in the world is produced in the United States.

Janet Stafne Repeats Vows in Ceremony

Gloria Dei Lutheran Church was the setting Saturday evening for the wedding of Janet Ruth Stafne and John Lee Cocking.

Following the ceremony, the newlyweds and their parents, the Edward T. Stafnes of Pingree Drive and the Irving Cockings of Putnam Street, greeted guests in the church parlors.

Carrying a bouquet of white miniature rosebuds and pink Sweatheart roses, the bride chose a taffeta gown styled with a fitted chantilly lace bodice, bouffant skirt and long sleeves.

A crown of pearls secured her veil.

Members of the wedding party were the James Cockings as honor attendants with Linda Deuman as bridesmaid. Thomas Stafne and Richard Dooley ushered.

★ ★ ★

Following the reception, the newlyweds departed for a northern Michigan honeymoon.

Student Wins Design Prize

Eric Renner, candidate for an MFA degree in design at Cranbrook Academy of Art, has been awarded a $600 purchase prize in the competition sponsored by the International Council of Societies of Industrial Design and organzied by Christian Holzapfel German furniture manufacturer.

For the competition, called "Interdesign 2000," Renner submitted designs for three blow molded chairs made of high density polyvinyl chloride material.

In manufacture, each chair would be blow molded in one unit to its final shape and would remain this exact shape and size after inflation. Air would be flown from a pressurized container into a valve in the chair's back.

At pressure of 10 pounds per square inch the chair could be slightly deflated or additionally inflated.

As the chair is occupied the walls in maximum weight areas only would compress one to two inches supply a cushioned effect for proper comfort and necessary posture requirements. When entirely deflated each chair would be folded and stored flat.

In his presentation, Renner points out the chairs are highly utilitarian, are lightweight and portable, adjustable for individual seating demands, are practically indestructible and easily stored and shipped.

Polio Cases Rose in '66

ATLANTA, Ga.—Polio, which should be virtually extinct in the U.S., increased by 70 per cent in 1966, according to data compiled by the National Communicable Disease Center. Why the increase?

★ ★ ★

Complacency, says Surgeon General William H. Stewart. People simply forget to keep their immunization up to date or neglect it altogether. Figures show that among children aged one to four the percentage adequately immunized dropped from 74 per cent in 1965 to 70 per cent in 1966. One in five children under five had never been immunized.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union was organized in 1874 by Frances Willard.

Put Foil Under Tape

DEAR POLLY — I keep a piece of aluminum foil in the package of iron-on mending tape. When ironing, it is simple to put the foil on the board under the place where the garment is to be mended so the tape never sticks to the ironing board cover.

I use three baskets when taking laundry off the clothesline which makes it easier to fold and sort them. One is for things to be ironed, one for towels, etc., to be put away as is and the third is for the heavier things, like dungarees and the socks that are folded to be put away.—MRS. A.J.B.

DEAR POLLY — The wooden arms on my maple davenport and chairs always have fingerprints on them. Does anyone have a suggestion of something I could apply to the arms to keep them free of these marks? —MRS. G. R. S.

DEAR POLY — Lining shelves and drawers was one of my biggest headaches until I lined them with clear plastic carpet protector that is bought by the yard. It is easy to cut and fit and stays in place without tacks or tape.—CAROL

DEAR POLLY —My Pointer is for the homemaker who is short of closet space. When I have guests staying two or more days, I place a clothes rack, which fits over the top of the door, on the outside of the closet door.

This prevents pushing our own clothes tightly together on the inside to make room for more and also keeps the guest's clothes from getting mussed. This type of rack will hold a dozen or more hangers. —MRS. C. L. P.

DEAR POLLY — Tell Troubled who has a destructive cat to rub the scratching post with catnip, then take the cat to it. He will fall in love wih the post and leave the furniture along. Some cats prefer to have the post lying down, like a fallen log.

I have used this catnip routine with a dozen cats and never have any trouble with them ruining upholstered chairs. — LIZABETH.

This'll Prick Up Interest in U.S. National Flower

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Among the measures Congress is expected to pass over again this year is the national flower bill.

WEST

The reasons why our lawgivers are hung up on this issue are rather complex, but I believe it boils down as follows:

The leading candidates for the honor (the rose, the marigold, etc.) offer an echo instead of a choice.

Not that the rose and the marigold are necessarily lookalikes. Almost any discerning gardener can tell them apart.

In essence, the differences between them is a matter of degree of beauty, aroma and other esthetic stuff.

Supporters of one flower may claim the marigold would do more for America. But marigold partisans could accept the rose with few, if any, misgivings.

And they probably wouldn't be too distressed if the black-eyed susan won.

What is lacking is a candidate representing other qualities which would give people a clearcut option between contrasting floral philosophies.

All of which explains my interest in the grass roots movemnt started by Mrs. Anna B. Hayes, who lives on Boot Jack Road in Ridgway, Pa.

I don't mean that Mrs. Hayes is advocating the adoption of grass roots as our national flower, although that might not be a bad idea. I am using grass roots here as a figure of speech.

Mrs. Hayes has instigated a populist campaign to draft the thistle. She feels, I think with some justification, that the thistle is closer to the people than any of the floral candidates with highly organized, well-financed lobbies.

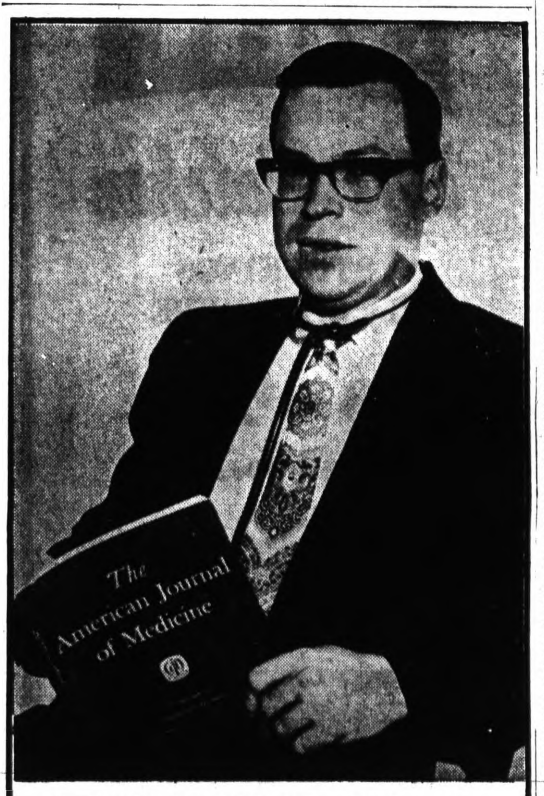
In support of her thesis that the thistle is more representative of America, Mrs. Hayes cites these characteristics:

1. "It is well-armed and can take care of itself."

2. "If you rub it the wrong way or step on it you can get hurt."

3. "It is almost indestructible."

I can't wholeheartedly join forces with Mrs. Hayes, being already committed to another dark horse, the potted palm. But I welcome any change from the "me too" type of floral candidate.



"This Is the Third Rapid Reading Course I Have Taken and This Is the Only One That Works" says Dr. Robert R. Leichtman of Pontiac. "The Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Course has done quite a bit for me. It has enabled me to read several times the volume I used to. Which means I can now read more material unrelated to my profession.

"The Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Course has taught me how to read and get more meaning and enjoyment out of it. It has taught me how to read faster with comprehension and recall."

Dr. Leichtman read 349 words a minute prior to enrolling in the course. He now reads better than 1370 words a minute with increased comprehension.

Dr. Leichtman is among the more than 400,000 Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute graduates who have increased their reading efficiency three times or better.

Other graduates include members of the White House staff under the late President Kennedy, members of Congress, business executives, educators, doctors, lawyers, high school and college students and housewives.

Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute guarantees to increase your reading efficiency three times with equal or better comprehension or tuition will be refunded.

Ruptured Turtle Gets Wheels of His Own

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ed the ruptured turtle apparently is improving, thanks to a thoughtful and resourceful owner.

The owner, Mrs. Charles Fehl, came to the rescue by building a rear carriage for Ed with her son's Erector set.

Ed is a 6-year-old resident of the Fehl household in suburban Cleveland Heights, and last fall he seemed to be slowing down —even for a turtle. Mrs. Fehl, a violinist with the Cleveland Philharmonic, took Ed to a veterinarian and got bad news: a hernia. Ed was losing appetite and was dragging his rear quarters along wherever he went.

"There wasn't anything he (the vet) could do, so I got some wheel and other part from my son's erector set and taped them to Ed's back end," she said.

IMPROVING

"He learned how to use the wheels right away, and now he pulls himself all over the kitchen.

"He seems to be getting stronger now," Mrs. Fehl added. "And the hernia seems to be receding."

ALLEN, Ky. (AP) — A small brown dog which wandered from Detroit to this eastern Kentucky community is going by plane the rest of the way to Louisiana to join his owners.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie McFadden planned to pick up Corky today for their first reunion since they left him in Detroit two years ago and moved back to Shreveport, La.

Corky showed up in Allen, apparently starving, a few weeks ago and took up with a group of boys sleigh riding. One of them, Byron Hamilton, 14, took him home.

A tag on Corky's neck gave the McFadden's address as Detroit. They were finally located in Shreveport after a series of telephone calls by the Hamilton family, but complications in shipping freight from eastern Kentucky prohibited shipment of animals.

Shreveport television station KSLA heard about the problem and arranged to fly the McFaddens to Kentucky in the stations' twin-engine plane.

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — The state and Los Angeles County Arboretum awaits your bid for 100 peacocks. Or one, for that matter. The arboretum has 300, which is 100 too many.

The 100 will be sold to the highest bidders after bidding closes Feb. 5. No minimum number, no minimum price. Officials suggest a bidder be guided by what a peacock is worth to him.

NEW YORK (AP) — Philanthropist William Black has urged the federal government to raise anthropoid apes for use in heart transplantation research.

Black, who donated $5 million to Columbia University for a medical research building, said Sunday: "Anthropoid apes—not the guinea pig, dog or cat—are vital to heart transplant research and many other areas of medical research because their physical structure, bones, muscles, brain and nervous system are similar to man's."

Black said the apes could be raised on 5,000 square miles of government-owned land in the Florida Everglades.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Jersey cow and a pony named Snowball were guests Sunday at a downtown hotel.

The unnamed cow had a stethoscope pushed against her side while Dr. R.B. Heath talked about the "diagnosis of abdominal disorders in dairy cattle."

Snowball went to sleep as Dr. Albert A. Gabel discussed "equine anethesia" during the opening day of the 84th annual meeting of the Ohio Veterinary Medical Association.

SOUPED-UP TURTLE — What do you do when your 6-year-old pet turtle has a hernia? Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fehl of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, found that their turtle, Ed, was really dragging last fall, and a veterinarian advised them that their pet was unable to use his hind legs properly because of a herina. So Mrs. Fehl, a violinist with the Erie Symphony and Cleveland Philharmonic, got busy with her son's Erector set and put wheels on Ed.

Dove Party Also Expected to Get OK

California to Certify Wallace Today

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Officially, former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace earns a place on the California ballot today, and so probably does the dovich Peace and Freedom party.

Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan is expected to announce the Wallace's American Independent party and the Peace and Freedom party have collected enough signatures to qualify. Each needed 66,059.

The road ahead looks unclear.

Both parties now must hold a state convention — there's no need for a primary election for either party — to pick a slate of party electors. California has 40 electoral college votes.

The American Independent party already has its candidate, George C. Wallace, if he chooses to enter the November presidential elections.

The Peace and Freedom party has not selected a nominee.

Though a strange quirk in the state law, all persons who registered for the two parties to allow them on the ballot now could switch back to their former parties in time to vote in the June 4 primary.

The law only requires the party have enough registrants to qualify in January. There's no need for a definite number again until January 1970 — just before the next election.

To get on the ballot, Wallace campaigned throughout vote-heavy California and concentrated in particular on the populous southern part of the state.

For two months, Wallace moved around the state selling his own style of Southern conservatism — a platform of militant antifederalism, a denunciation of intellectuals in government and a call for "law and order."

Despite all his efforts, which have been tiring even for a man with Wallace's obvious energy, Wallace says he still is not sure he will become a candidate for president.

Wake Up Your PERISTALSIS And Be Your SMILING BEST

Peristalsis is the muscular action of your digestive system. When peristaltic action slows down, waste materials can build up in the lower tract. You can become irregular, uncomfortable, stuffed.

The unique laxative formula of today's Carter's Pills gives effective, temporary relief of the irregularity by activating the slowed-down muscles of the lower tract and stimulating peristalsis.

So if you're sluggish due to irregularity, take Carter's Pills to wake up your peristalsis and you'll bounce back to your smiling best.

Millions of satisfied users take Carter's Pills for effective temporary relief of irregularity. Why don't you. 49¢.

Riot-Climate Detection Will Top Sessions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The effective use of police intelligence to identify and keep track of the potential "leadership of violence" in big-city slums will receive high priority at a series of conferences sponsored by the Justice Department for police chiefs of 125 communities.

The emphasis on intelligence-gathering was placed by Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark at a Saturday news conference at which he expressed the view riots can be prevented by "the man in the middle"—the police.

Clark said the key to keeping the lid on potentially explosive situations in is a "balance between overacting and underacting." And he said police chiefs he has conferred with personally realize that as well as preparing for the worst they must "face up to the facts of anger, hatred and frustration in the cities" and play a major role in "eliminating the conditions in the city ghettos."

BEAT MAN CITED

"One policeman on the beat who loses his temper," he said, can undo all that police departments accomplish in their efforts to improve community relations.

Chevy II Nova Coupe

One more nice thing: the price.

$2,284

Manufacturer's suggested retail price for standard Six Chevy II Nova Coupe shown above includes Federal Excise Tax, suggested dealer delivery and handling charges. Model shown above equipped at additional cost with Custom Exterior $84.30, White Walls $31.35, Wheel Covers $21.10. Transportation charges, accessories, optional equipment, state and local taxes additional.

Car enthusiast magazines keep saying a lot of nice things about the all-new Chevy II Nova. And why not? At last there's an economy car that doesn't look or act like one. Besides being a whole lot sportier, it offers a smoothly balanced Six and a 307-cubic-inch standard V8 that runs beautifully on regular fuel. See for yourself what all the shouting's about. Road test a Nova now.

Israel Freeing Last of Egyptian POWs

ATLIT PRISON CAMP, Israel (AP) — Several hundred Egyptian prisoners, clad in thick army uniforms but shivering in icy rain, lined up in this bleak, windswept camp in central Israel Sunday night for their last roll call before freedom.

They stood quietly in rows as Israeli guards counted them onto 19 buses which drove them through the night to the Suez Canal 275 miles away, across the sands where they were captured by Israeli forces in the June war.

Some grinned at the thought of home. Some held hands. Some were bewildered. Others were sullen.

They were almost the last of the Arab prisoners held in Israel. Since Jan. 12, about 4,500 Egyptians have been sent home. The few remaining go on Tuesday.

"Hamsa (five)!" barked a guard. Five men ran forward, clutching little suitcases, and climbed into a blue and white tourist bus. Another shout, another five came aboard.

"I have been well-treated. I've no complaints," said Sgt. Mustapha Zaki Shehadi. "I'm happy to go home. Very happy."

Few others wanted to talk. They shrugged and were silent, apparently fearing to endanger their freedom.

Atlit Camp was silent and desolate. It will be closed Tuesday. In the last 25 years it has held Italians, illegal Jewish immigrants, Israeli underground fighters and Egyptian prisoners from three wars.

For some of the Egyptians captured in June it was their second time behind the Atlit wire in 11 years.

Sunday night gates were open. Clothes, blankets and pajamas were strewn near the barbed wire, thrown there by prisoners in joy as they packed their few belongings.

The camp commandant, Lt. Col. Ze'ev Bashan, 40, was visibly moved as he watched the Egyptians board the buses.

Sitting at a desk adorned by two small statuettes of an ancient Pharoah carved by the POWs, he said: "Some of them are going back to an uncertain future. Some will be court-martialed, I'm sure. Maybe Cairo fears the others will tell what really happened in the war. It's difficult to tell what they feel about it. I hope they'll tell their people who the Israelis really are."

Said Pvt. Muhammed Abdel Hadi as he boarded the last bus: "I'm a soldier. I love my president (Gamal Abdel Nasser). I love him with all my heart."

Five Antipollution Goals Urged for Lake Michigan

MILWAUKEE, Wis (UPI) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., has suggested a five-point Lake Michigan cleanup program which he said should be adopted at a federal-state conference on pollution of the lake at Chicago, Jan. 31.

Nelson, addressing a statewide conservation meeting Saturday, proposed these goals:

- Make the shore of the lake fit for swimming again.

★ ★ ★

- Develop a special plan to save Green Bay.
- Stop pollution from ships.
- Halt dumping of polluted dredged materials back into the lake.
- Establish a long-range research and action program to stop lake fertilization by detergents, fertilizers and other chemicals.

Nelson scoffed at critics of the Chicago conference who have said it will be merely political, or for technicians only.

"I ask you to look over this list of five proposals," he said. "Can you say that any one of these should not be our goals? Is there any of of these goals that can be achieved by one state alone? Can one of these goals be achieved by technicians alone without the help of the highest officials of government and without support of aroused public opinion?"

★ ★ ★

Nelson told the Wisconsin Resource Conservation Council the conference, called by Interior Secretary Stewart Udall, presents "one of the greatest opportunities ever handed to us to do something really significant toward preserving our natural resources."

Girl Trapped Beneath Bus

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A 6-year-old suburban Grand Rapids girl was in fair condition today following a weekend accident in which she was knocked down by a school bus and trapped under the vehicle for half an hour.

Carolyn Sokal of Plainwell Township was returning from catechism instruction when she alighted from the bus and ran in its path as she attempted to cross the street.

★ ★ ★

The driver, Edwin Wilson, 42, of Grand Rapids, said he was unaware the girl was in front of the bus until he heard her cries for help.

Antiwar Group in W. Germany Claims Beachhead Among GIs

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—U.S. Army officials belittle its role, but West Germany's most active anti-Vietnam war group claims it is making headway among the 250,000 GI's stationed in this country.

The German Socialist Students' Federation asserts recent desertions by German-based soldiers to Sweden and France are a result of propaganda work.

"We think these reports reflect a success of our campaign," says Karl Dieter Wolff, 24-year-old chairman of the federation. It claims a membership of 3,000 and gets funds from their dues.

A law student whose education includes one year at the University of Michigan, Wolff is aware that open calls for desertion could bring the campaigners into court. The German-Allied Forces agreement makes such activity a punishable offense.

★ ★ ★

"We don't tell them to desert," Wolff explained. "We just give them a detailed description of what they should do if they want to go over the hill.

EASIEST WAY

"If they ask us, we tell them what others did and what we feel is the easiest way: get a weekend pass to Paris. France is the best place to go. It is also the best place to get work, and people are friendly. Sweden is not as convenient."

Wolff was interviewed in the federation's office rooms, crammed with mimeograph machines, leaflets, empty beer and soft drink bottles and overflowing wastebaskets.

A Vietcong flag and a placard saying "Che e vivo," meaning Che Guevara is alive decorted the walls.

The address of the headquarters, a 10-minute walk from Frankfurt's main railroad station, is on a list of "helpful hints for servicemen" mailed from France by a purported GI underground. That group calls itself Resisters Inside the Army.

'NEGLIGIBLE EFFECT'

An Army spokesman said he never heard of the Resisters aside from press reports. He also pointed to a 6-month-old official statement saying: "The effect of antiwar groups on the absentee rate is negligible.

Wolff said he understood the monthly dessertion rate is 100 to 150.

The Army labels this figure a pipe dream. It says its list of desserters Jan. 1 included 365 names, counting cases more than 20 years old.

★ ★ ★

Dispatches from Sweden mentioned only 17 desserters who have sought asylum there recently. In France, one recent deserter was identified.

HOSTILE REACTION

How does the federation conduct its campaign.

"When we started more than a year ago — trying to get soldiers involved in discussions in bars and inns — we almost invariably drew hostile reactions," Wolff said.

"Since then, the change has been tremendous," he went on. "Now they are giving a thought to our arguments. They are ready to talk with us. And they don't denounce their fellow soldiers who are circulating our leaflets.

The English-language leaflets are written by foreign students cooperating with the federation, Wolff says. He is fluent in English.

"Of course, some GIs want to go to Vietnam," one leaflet starts. "They still believe that America is fighting for democracy in Vietnam. But very few of the soldiers who beileve this have been to Vietnam."

Wolff said leaflets are circulated within the Army by cooperative American soldiers, distributed outside barracks by students or dropped into mailboxes of U. S. housing areas.

★ ★ ★

"Sometimes unit commanders phone here and tell us we are 'damned Communists,'" he added. "We usually suggest they should come over and discuss the war with us. Some say we might just do that.' But so far no one has come."

Antipoverty Efforts of Business Hailed

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG JR.
Executive Director, National Urban League

I have often said that one of the more encouraging developments in recent months has been the determination of the business leaders of America to tackle problems of slums and unemployment.

Companies all over America have made new efforts to hire and upgrade Negro employes, and some are putting new emphasis on locating plants in the ghetto.

YOUNG

And they are willing to break with tradition too. In Detroit, for example, the big auto makers threw out their tests and complicated hiring procedures. They went right into the ghetto to recruit thousands of workers.

Many people scoffed, saying that Negroes didn't want to work. But when the improvised hiring stores opened, they found thousands waiting on line for a job.

But emphasis on hiring unemployed workers is just one way business can relieve the job problem. We have to turn to Dallas, Texas, to see another way in which a large company can have an impact far greater than its own limited ability to create new jobs.

Stanley Marcus is President of the famous department store, Neiman-Marcus, which caters to a quality trade. All it had to do was to hire a few Negro clerks, and few people would expect much more from them.

But I've known Stanley Marcus for years, and he's just not the kind of man who settles for token efforts.

He has been concerned with the growing urban crisis, and the terrible toll unemployment takes on Negro families. He decided to do something about it, and what his company has done should serve as a model for every business in America.

Every company which sells goods to the Neiman-Marcus stores got a New Year's letter from Mr. Marcus. It told them that the business community has to assume a greater degree of responsibility for urban problems and that the federal government requires every company it deals with to be an equal opportunity employer.

He said that a private company can do no less, and that special efforts must be made to create jobs for minority group members.

And then the suppliers of Neiman-Marcus read the following:

"We shall, in our purchasing activities, look with favor upon those companies which are taking positive steps toward employing and training people of minority groups. In the future we would rather do business with a company which is actively and sincerely pursuing a policy of equal opportunity, than to continue to do business with one which is not."

Every big company should adopt this policy. Mr. Marcus' letter will pay off in hundreds of jobs for Negro citizens who have been frozen out of the job market by the prejudice and indifference of employers.

The same week that Neiman-Marcus' policy was announced, Charles Y. Lazarus of the Federated Department Stores chain delivered a ringing affirmation of equal opportunity to a meeting of the retail industry.

He told them that the day is ended for "any capitalists naive enough to think they can scoop profits out of a city without reinvesting very substantially in that city's own health and economic growth."

He said that business will have to recruit, hire and train, people it previously considered "unemployable."

This is the kind of new thinking that is becoming typical of advanced business leaders today. They are concerned about the city and the future of our country, and they are anxious to meet their responsibilities.

I hope their views will spread to the other companies. There are still some businesses who hire a few Negro factory hands and expect us to tell them how wonderful they are. But they really aren't doing much, especially when one considers the enormous power they have to make things move faster.

Tokenism should breed shame, not pride. And business could end the whole problem of unemployment overnight.

Detroiter Says All Negro Classes Share Concern

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Middle-class Negroes experience the same difficulties as those living in the ghetto, the head of a Negro fraternity said Saturday night.

"Differences between Negro groups do exist," Ernest K. Davenport, grand polemarch of Kappa Alpha Psi, said, "But they're the same ones found in white society.

"We all share a common concern for the welfare of society."

Davenport, a native of Detroit, is a member of the board of directors of the city's Bank of the Commonwealth.

He said he was shocked when rioting broke out in his home town last summer.

He Helped Make His Own Coffin

GATE CITY, Va. (AP) — James David Langrel has in the basement of his home at Moccasin creek a sturdy wooden box which he hopes will be used as his coffin.

Langrel, 90, helped make it 25 years ago at the workshop of a friend, John Carico of Scott County, Va.

Hart Suggests Corporate Profits Tax

AP Regional Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., says a tax on excess corporate profits might be preferable to the administration's proposed surcharge on income taxes.

"I've committed myself to support some kind of tax increase," Hart said. "I just want to be sure that we attempt to identify the most desirable or least offensive."

★ ★ ★

Hart said the proposed income tax surcharge, based on a percentage of the regular tax, would be "a lot more comfortable to buy than a flat across-the-board rate increase."

But, he said, "before I commit myself to support the tax surcharge . . . I want to find out why it would not be more prudent to suggest what amounts to a corporate excess profits tax."

INTERVIEW

Hart advanced the proposal in an interview with Sen. Hugh Scott, R - Pa., recorded for broadcast Sunday on radio and television stations in Pennsylvania.

Corporate profits have increased faster than hourly wage rates have, Hart said.

★ ★ ★

"Maybe we could dilute some of the inflationary pressure, reduce some of the budget and . . . not harm the economic growth and rate . . . by proposing an excess profits tax."

In discussing the administration's safe - street bill, Hart and Scott both expressed strong reservations about adding authority for police wiretapping to the bill.

PANEL MEMBERS

As members of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Hart and Scott will have a say in the kind of crime - control legislation brought before the Senate later in the year.

President Johnson's Safe-Streets Bill, authorizing federal grants to assist in training and equipping local police forces, already has been amended by a judiciary subcommittee to permit wiretapping by law enforcement officers acting under court orders.

Building Burns

DETROIT (AP) — Fire destroyed a one-story building of the Michigan Tile & Marble Co. on Detroit's west side Sunday. Fire officials estimated the loss at $25,000. No one was injured, and cause of the blaze was not immediately determined.

Police Put End to Nude 'Trip'

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Police said they arrested a 14-year-old youth Sunday as he perched nude on a rock in Gregory Canyon shouting letters of the alphabet.

★ ★ ★

The policemen said the youth was spotted on the rock about 200 feet up one side of the canyon. The officers said they climbed up behind him and grabbed him as he was about to jump.

They recovered his clothes nearby and took him to a hospital where a doctor administered a tranquilizer and placed him in a straight jacket.

Hospital attaches said his only response to questions was "on a trip, acid man."

There was no identification in his clothes but police later identified the boy as a pupil at a junior high school. His name was not disclosed because of his age.

PANORAMA OF THE MOON — A mosaic of pictures of the moon taken by Surveyor 7's camera shows rock-strewn terrain. The center of the horizon is about eight miles from the spacecraft. Just below the horizon are small ravines and gullies probably formed by the flow of ejected debris. The rock-filled crater in the foreground is approximately 18 feet from the camera, while the crater in the upper left is about 2,100 feet away. The latter is estimated to be 200 feet wide.

Tear Gas Bomb Empties Theater

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A tear gas grenade was thrown into a theater Sunday night as several hundred movie goers were watching "To Sir With Love," a film about a Negro teacher and white pupils in Britain.

★ ★ ★

The Broadmoor Theater emptied rapidly as the customers, coughing and gasping, fled out the exits. The theater was shut down, pending complete elimination of the lingering fumes.

Police were investigating.

First state to ratify the proposed child labor amendment to the Constitution was Arkansas, in 1924.

Hanoi Newspaper Dims Hopes for Peace Talks

TOKYO (UPI)—Hanoi's official newspaper yesterday scorned any hope North Vietnam would slacken its war effort in return for a halt in U.S. bombing aimed at getting peace talks started. It demanded an unconditional end to the bombing.

Attacking President Johnson's State of the Union message on Vietnam, Nhan Dan said, "The United States has no right to put any condition to the Vietnamese people.

"Neither has it the right to ask reciprocity from the Vietnamese people . . .," said the newspaper, the chief organ of Ho Chi Minh, in a policy statement broadcast abroad.

Johnson said, in his speech Wednesday, "The bombing would stop immediately if talks would take place promptly and with reasonable hopes that they would be productive. And the other side must not take advantage of our restraint as they have in the past."

This, Nhan Dan said, is an attempt "to force the Vietnamese people to give up struggling in the face of continued American aggression."

"This constitutes very insolent conditions . . .," it said.

It accused Johnson of "beating about the bush" on the question of peace.

★ ★ ★

"It is clear to everybody that since the United States is overtly bombing the democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam—an independent, sovereign state—it must definitely and unconditionally put an end to this aggressive act," Nhan Dan said.

NO LONGER BABIES — Muke (left) and Mzuri have grown out of the nursery at the St. Louis Zoo and are sharing a cage. The two young gorillas retain some of the habits picked up in the nursery and need an occasional bottle and a few banana tidbits. When first placed together, they were nervous and clung to their security blankets. The blankets were shredded after the two became good friends. Muke is a female and Mzuri is a male. Zoo officials expect them to mate in about seven years.

Car Pile-Up Kills 6 in California Fog

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI) — A chain-reaction collision on fog-shrouded U.S. 99 yesterday claimed the lives of six persons, including four members of a Los Angeles family. Eight others were injured.

★ ★ ★

The multiple accident was triggered when a car traveling south in the northbound lanes collided head-on with a northbound car.

In near-zero visibility, three other northbound cars smashed into the wreckage and three others became involved in a rear end collision while trying to avoid the original smashup.

John Caudillo, 36, Los Angeles, driver of the wrong-way car, was killed. California highway patrol officers theorized Caudillo became lost in the fog and drove up the wrong access ramp to the divided highway.

★ ★ ★

Caudillo's wife, Angela, 36, and two of their sons, Ampro, 8, and Rudolph, 13, also were killed. Another son, Orlando, 9, suffered major injuries.

The other victims were Duard Avery, 64, Encinitas, Calif., and Rose Gould, 54, San Francisco.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science discovered a medication with the ability, in most cases—to actually shrink hemorrhoids and promptly stop the burning itch and relieve pain.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, very striking improvement was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain and itching were promptly relieved. Then this medication starts right in to gently reduce the swelling of inflamed, irritated piles.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so. And it was all done without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.

The secret is Preparation H®—an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it! Preparation H also lubricates to make bowel movements less painful, it soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. Preparation H comes in both ointment or suppository form. No prescription is needed.

GI Collects Aid for S. Viets

JACKSON (AP) — A soldier who believes that "guns and battle are only a part of the picture" in Vietnam is heading back to that Southeast Asian country with a load of medical supplies he picked up during a 30-day leave.

Spec. 4 Roger Jarvis of nearby Vandercook Lake spent his leave gathering bandages, sheets and other medical and dental equipment for Vietnamese refugees, who are sick and orphaned by the war.

★ ★ ★

He said he volunteered for a second year of duty in South Vietnam and made winning the respect of the South Vietnamese a major personal goal.

No one told him to bring back the supplies, which he spent almost all of his 30 days at home collecting from hospitals, doctors and private citizens.

REASONING

When asked why he did it, Jarvis, 22, replied, "The United States is the greatest nation in the world, why shouldn't we help an underprivileged nation?'

The supplies were taken in two trucks borrowed from a Jackson National Guard unit to Selfridge Air Force Base outside Detroit. From Selfridge they will be flown to the seven-man 23rd Artillery Medcap team to which Jarvis is attached and which is located 35 miles from Saigon.

Navy Mulls Options to F111B Aircraft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy is studying proposals by four leading aircraft manufacturers for an alternative to the Navy version of the controversial TFX fighter-bomber, the Washington Post reports in today's editions.

The rough alternative designs are already in Navy hands, the Post said, and may soon be presented to Clark Clifford, newly appointed secretary of defense, for a decision on whether to cancel the present TFX contract or to proceed with scheduled production.

The Post quoted unidentified Navy leaders as arguing their service would come out ahead if the present plane were scrapped and its engines and armament put into a different air frame.

Robert S. McNamara, who will step down as secretary of defense by March 2, has championed the basic supersonic, swing-wing TFX design as one that could be used by the Navy and Air Force with savings to both. Some congressmen, however, have labeled the project a "multimillion dollar blunder" and termed the Navy version too expensive and too heavy for use on aircraft carriers.

FLIGHT-TESTED

The Navy plane, known as the F111B, is still being flight-tested and has not been placed in service.

The Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp., a partner with General Dynamics Corp., in building the F111B, became worried about the plane's future and several months ago gave the Navy an alternative design, an action which caused the Navy to ask for other proposals, the Post said.

The paper quoted sources as saying Vice Admiral Thomas F. Connolly, deputy chief of naval air operations, recently asked LTV Aerospace Corp., McDonnell-Douglas Corp., and North American Aviation to submit alternative proposals. These, the paper said, have been received.

If the Navy cancels its 250-plane F111B order, the Post said, the decision would not necessarily affect Air Force plans to buy about 1,000 of its TFX version—the F111A—which already is in production. But such a decision would increase the F111A's unit cost.

$8 MILLION EACH

The Navy estimates officially the F111B will cost $8 million each. The Post said unofficial estimates are that each plane will cost $20 million when equipped for combat. Connolly, it added, asked the aircraft manufacturers to submit plans for a plane which would cost less but do the same basic job.

The Post said its sources indicated the Navy asked also for a plane weighing no more than 55,000 pounds, compared to about 70,000 pounds for the F111B.

Electric Shock Is Tested as Infection Fighter

AP Wirephoto

HIS WORK IS 'SHOCKING'—Dr. Paul L. Wolf looks up from his work with an automation instrument for clinical chemistry tests at Detroit General Hospital last week. Dr. Wolf, along with Dr. Jaime J. Rey, is experimenting with animals to determine if electric shock may be the answer to quickly raising and holding a person's white blood cell count to combat infections.

DETROIT (AP) — The death of one of 43 persons who lost their lives in Detroit's 1967 riots may have pointed the way toward saving countless lives in the future. For instance: those of heart transplant patients.

Two medical researchers now are experimenting with animals to determine if electric shock may be the answer to quickly raising and holding a person's white blood cell count to combat infections.

Observation made during a week in which fireman John C. Ashby, 24, lingered after coming into contact with a fire-felled, 4,000-volt power line led Drs. Paul L. Wolf and Jaime J. Rey of the Wayne State University medical school into their research.

How much shock to do the job is among questions to which answers are being sought. So is the length of shock administration.

INFECTION FIGHTERS

White blood cells are the body's infection fighters. They go after, among other things, bacteria causing pneumonia.

Pneumonia was blamed for the death of South Africa's first heart transplant patient, Louis Washkansky, despite massive white cell transfusions.

If a way were found to stimulate white cell production sufficiently through safe electric shock, then the tedious requirement for transfusing white cells would be eliminated, Dr. Wolfe said.

Ashby's white blood cell count shot up to 32,000 to 42,500 to 57,000 and then to 117,000 per cubic millimeter. A count of up to 10,000 is normal.

Electric shock is known to increase temporarily a person's white blood cell count, but development into a leukemialike state seldom is seen, the researchers said, because of the quickness of death in most shock cases.

Extensive, severe burns also are known to raise temporarily one's white blood cell count, but Drs. Wolf and Rey discount this in Ashby's case because his burns covered less than 10 per cent of his body.

Although he suffered mortal nervous system damage when the 4,800-volt line fell across his head as he was fire - fighting from an aerial ladder, Ashby lived for a week.

The fire was a rioter-set one on Detroit's East Side. It burned through the high-tension wire.

Reporting in "The Lancet," a medical journal, Drs. Wolf and Rey said that Ashby's case "is unique because of the development of a striking leukaemoid (leukemialike) reaction in a previously healthy individual, after exposure to a high voltage electric discharge."

A nuclear process for detecting metal impurities has been developed by atomic scientists.

Cut Your Own Taxes—1

This Is Year to Itemize Deductions

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first in a 14-part series by Ray De Crane, a tax expert and veteran newsman. The author, business editor of the Cleveland Press, has aimed his advice at people with average incomes, not big businessmen or stock market tycoons.)

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Publications

If there is one message that comes through loud and clear on this year's income tax it is:

This is the year to itemize your deductions.

Even if you have never itemized your tax deductions before — settling instead for one of the flat rate allowances for your deductions — give it a good try this year.

Those who have always carefully listed their deductions in the past will find a new one available to them this year for the first time.

It's all because of a change in the rules for medical expenses.

Now, for the first time, every taxpayer is entitled to deduct as a medical expense one-half of the cost of his medical care insurance, up to a maximum deduction of $150 without regard to the 3 per cent limitation.

* * *

THIS MEANS THAT YOU ARE ASSURED OF THAT MUCH OF A MEDICAL DEDUCTION EVEN IF YOU DID NOT SPEND ANOTHER DOLLAR IN 1967 FOR MEDICAL OR DENTAL EXPENSES AND HAD NO PRESCRIPTIONS TO BUY.

The changed rules will help some, will penalize others.

The explanation for the new medical deductions, and all the other highlights of your 1967 income tax return, will be detailed in this series of stories, of which this is the first.

Congress did not pass a new rate increase in '67 but with all the talk of the requested 10 per cent income tax surcharge and the many hearings in congressional committees on the issue many people are fearful of paying a higher tax on the return due April 15.

The truth of the matter is that hundreds of thousands of people may find a SLIGHT REDUCTION in their tax if their income is no higher in 1967 than it was the previous year.

* * *

The articles in this series will provide some tips on saving on taxes.

A detailed, line-by-line guide to help you itemize your deductions is contained in the author's book, "Cut Your Own Taxes," which is available through this newspaper.

(NEXT: Savings under the new medical deduction.)

GOP Booklet Has Advice for Possible Office Seekers

LANSING (AP) — If you want to run for political office—and it's surprising sometimes how many people do—then take some advice from Michigan's Republican State Central Committee:

Don't panic.

Find out if you're eligible for the office you seek.

Be careful in picking your campaign headquarters and your janitor.

"Let every voter know you are his friend."

"Make peace with your primary opponent immediately following the primary."

"Never tell a lie to the press."

It's also a good idea to check your teeth, advises a booklet entitled "Winning is the Name of the Game," which the State GOP distributed to Republican campaign strategists recently.

Check your teeth, incidentally, so that if you have to take time to get any dental work done, you can do it before the campaign starts.

CAMPAIGN MANAGER

One of your most important steps will be to pick a good campaign manager — and the candidate should never try to manage his own campaign.

The manager "must be completely loyal to the candidate . . . possess good judgment . . . have an even temperament . . . and be able to deal skillfully with both paid and volunteer help," the booklet says.

His jobs include picking volunteer leaders ("The candidate should never have to say 'no' to volunteers!"), settling budget problems, keeping in touch with the party, planning the advertising and mailings, keeping the schedule and supervising "the care and feeding of the candidate's wife."

"The campaign manager must do everything possible to keep the candidate from making a major mistake," the booklet counsels.

The five basic needs of campaigning, it adds, are money, organization, effective public relations, effective research and an "attractive, articulate candidate."

Do research on your district and its people (Who contributes? Who splits his ticket?), on the issues, and on your opponent's record, if any.

"Get local people to ask 'loaded' questions of your opponent at public meetings," it says. ". . . This will enable you to expose your opponent's record to the public."

But "Beware of using smear campaigns. Smear sheets have been outdated for 10 years."

INITIAL TASKS

Choose a flattering photograph, pick a finance chairman and a steering committee, set your money goals, and have 5 or 10 per cent of the expected budget in the bank before you announce.

When you do declare your candidacy, make as big a splash as possible.

In the first month after announcing, "Start involving people from outside the party." Recruit a campaign committee, finalize the budget, line up your advertising media, find substitute speakers.

In September, send out your first mass mailing, giving the voters your general background and qualifications.

KEEP MOMENTUM

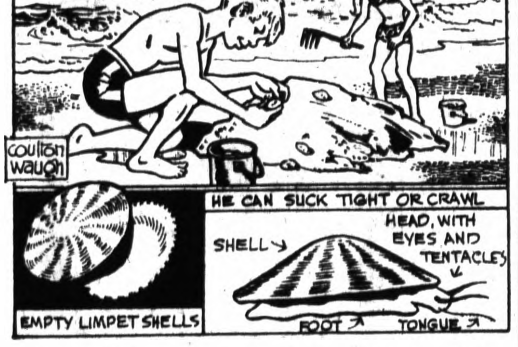
In October, "Keep the campaign rolling. Dream up gimmicks if necessary, but don't let the momentum slow down." Blanket the district with mail, yard signs and bumper stickers.

"Every campaign has a panic period," the GOP booklet warns. "This period usually falls during the time between mid-October and election day . . . "If your campaign is well worked out and committed in advance, the dangers of panicking decrease."

Pick a campaign headquarters in the center of things, accessible by foot and car, near lighted parking facilities and a medium-price restaurant ("Don't forget, volunteers must eat." Make sure it's legal to put up signs, and make sure the signs can be seen.

Make it attractive to visitors (clean, well lighted—offer coffee or lemonade, maybe music) and to workers (heat, airconditioning, rest rooms), and "in the interest of security, know who the janitor is."

Junior Editors Quiz on LIMPETS



QUESTION: What does clinging like a limpet mean?"

* * *

ANSWER: Referring to limpets, the poet Wordsworth wrote: 'We wonder that such strength should dwell in such a small and simple shell.' Limpets are sea shells, but, as Wordsworth noted, extremely simple-looking ones, hardly more than little cones hanging on to the rocks. Under the cone, however, is a body which can do a surprising number of things.

Like other sea snails, the limpet has a little square head containing a mouth. His tongue is armed with hooks, which rasp off the algae on which the animal feeds. The head has primitive eyes and tentacles, which help it to keep in touch with events outside.

The great feature of the limpet's body is the strong underpart or foot. Without this foot, the poor limpet would be easy prey for hungry sea gulls or curious boys. But the animal can squeeze his strong foot down against the rock getting a remarkably powerful suction grip.

After the tide comes in, the limpet lets go his hold. Since his foot is movable, he uses it to crawl slowly off, looking for a fresh mass of algae on which he can settle down to have breakfast.

'Viet Reds Failed Militarily'

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu pictured the Communists today as having failed in the military field and said they are now "switching to political and mental warfare."

He predicted they would continue these tactics until the end of 1968, then would have to accept peace talks or gradually halt the fighting because of exhaustion and despair.

★ ★ ★

Once more Thieu ruled out any coalition with the Vietcong's National Liberation Front, saying it would be suicide.

Thieu expressed these beliefs in a lunar new year message to Vietnamese who live abroad. The new year—Tet—begins next Monday.

'ENCOURAGING RESULTS'

Referring to the past year, Thieu said "the gigantic mission of our people has yielded encouraging results."

"The Communist aggressors have seen their dream of invasion and domination over the South crumpling day by day, their potential gradually weakening in both North and South Vietnam; in brief, the final victory which moves off from them, is now closer to us than ever.

"To make up for these heavy failures, especially in the military field, the Communists are switching to political and mental warfare, and will continue their dark schemes until the end of this year. But I think this would be the last phase before they have to accept peace negotiations or they gradually end their aggression because of exhaustion and despair."

Thieu referred to a recent statement by North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh and said it was part of the switch in tactics. Trinh had said talks "will" follow if there is an unconditional halt in the bombing and other acts of war against North Vietnam.

CALLED EXAMPLE

"Nguyen Duy Trinh's recent manifestation of false good will for peace was an illustrative example starting the first campaign in the mental and political war I have just mentioned," Thieu said.

"The North Vietnam Communists' words can deceive nobody since they, in reality, still conspire aggression and subversion and have therefore requested an unconditional bombing halt while they blatantly keep infiltrating and attacking incessantly in the South.

"They have purposely set forth unreasonable and unacceptable conditions in order to attribute the lack of good will to us and our allies," Thieu added.

"In the South, the campaign of propaganda for a coalition government with the 'Liberation Front' launched by the Communists to agitate the people's morale and sow confusion among our ranks has encountered a strong reaction from the masses and has completely failed."

Thieu declared the South Vietnamese people have been vigilant and are fully aware of the "dark schemes" of the Communists.

"We and our allies," he said, "are determined neither to let Communist aggressors succeed by the force of arms nor to commit suicide through coalition with the aggressive instrument, which is the so-called South Vietnam Liberation Front."

'Living Conditions Top Integration'

NEW YORK (AP) — Good living conditions are more important to Negros now than integrations, says the Rev. Eugene Callender, the city's deputy housing and development administrator.

In a radio WABC interview Sunday, Callender said, "Negores don't mind living in Harlem, but they want to live in a decent house. They want to send their kids to a decent school and have decent recreational facilities."

Callender is former head of the New York Chapter of the Urban League.

Bridge Victim Searchers Find Three Bodies

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (UPI) — A massive weekend search for victims of the Silver Bridge collapse resulted in recovery of three bodies, bringing to 39 the number of known dead.

Seven others remained missing in the Dec. 15 tragedy.

The last body found, identified last night, was that of Harold Cundiff, about 38, of Winston-Salem, N.C. His body was pulled from the Ohio River yesterday morning.

The other victims recovered during the weekend were Albert E. Adler Jr., 31, of Gallipolis, Ohio, and Alonza Luther Darst, 30, of Chesire, Ohio.

Police Probe Winery Holdup

Up to $1,000 Taken in Farmington Robbery

Farmington Police are investigating the Friday robbery of six persons and three safes allegedly by three men who made off with $800 to $1,000.

The incident occurred at 4:30 p.m., closing time at the La-Salle Winery and Champagne, Inc., 31505 Grand River, Farmington.

Police report that the three men entered the building and robbed four employes leaving work. The men then waited for truck drivers to return from daily routes and robbed two of them, said police Chief Robert Deadman.

Next, the men, all carrying revolvers, threatened employes for the combination and keys to the safes. Three shots were fired and one man was hit on the side of his face with a revolver, said police.

One safe was entered with a combination given by an employe, and two other safes were broken into, according to police.

TEAMWORK—Dan Danzak sprays black paint features as Gary Beaubien holds the fiber glass die designed by fellow workers. Employes of THE Catco, Utica JA center, the boys are first-year Achievers. Both attend Utica High School. Dan is a junior and Gary a sophomore. The box enclosure cuts down on the amount of paint allowed to escape into the air. When the paint is dry, the brandy snifter is moved to the assembly table.

COLOR IT GREEN—Mary McDonald, vice president of THE Catco, sprays Styrofoam half-circles. Normally, Mary wears the white facial mask over her nose and mouth as a safety precaution but she pulled it down for the picture. A junior at Utica's St. Lawrence High School, she is a second-year Achiever. When the painted caps are dry they are placed on a plank tray and moved to the assembly room.

Trade Fair Opens Tonight

Teens Observe JA Week

By JODY HEADLEE
School Page Editor

Four area Junior Achievement Business Centers will join the national JA Week (today through Feb. 2) festivities and open their doors to give parents and visitors a tip on how to succeed in business — hard work.

★ ★ ★

Energy, enthusiasm and elbow grease fuel the business-oriented teen-agers as they learn firsthand basic principles of free enterprise under the guidance of volunteer advisers.

New to the Junior Achievement movement last fall, the Rochester JA Center meets in the Rochester High School two nights a week.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. sponsors activities on Tuesdays, Parke, Davis and Co. on Thursdays.

★ ★ ★

"It is quite an experience," said E. J. Jones, a first-year adviser from the Parke, Davis staff. "I'm learning as much as the kids."

COOPERATION CITED

"And the cooperation we've had from local businesses, the school district and the high school principal has certainly helped get our program off the ground," added John J. Toney, center director.

Going into the last lap of its second year, the Utica JA Center has its own building at 7486 Industrial, Sterling Township.

In its short existence, the Center has fostered the top sales company in the area, THE Catco.

★ ★ ★

Led by Jeff Krause, junior at Utica High School, the company launched its production schedule in November with a brandy snifter Pilgrim filled with butterscotch candy. Selling for $150, the Pilgrim earned the company $450.

THEN A SANTA

Christmastime saw the Pilgrim change into Santa and the butterscotch into peppermint. Sales on the holiday item boosted the company's treasury by $900.

With the advent of the new year, the candy-filled prototype took on a new look, a chubby cheeked Charley Brown filled with complexion-pink bubble bath.

Sales continue to zoom.

"It's easy to sell," said Vince Norkus modestly. "Once you tell your customers that it's a Junior Achievement product, everyone wants to buy one because they know it's a quality product."

★ ★ ★

Vince is top company and center salesman with a total of $218. A sophomore at Utica High School he is a first-year Achiever.

GM STYLING

The General Motors Corp. styling department sponsors Catco. Douglas W. Smith is the center director.

The North Woodward JA Center at 4250 N. Woodward, Royal Oak, lists among its members teen-agers from the Birmingham-Bloomfield School district.

Launched in September, 1954, the center offers small-scale full-service banking facilities to its affiliated JA companies.

★ ★ ★

Completely operated by Junior Achievers, the Little Wayne Oakland Bank submits monthly reports to the center director, Richard Kapnick, issues monthly statements and returns cancelled checks to participating JA companies, operates a Christmas Club account, offers safety deposit space and issues government savings bonds.

FATHER OF MOVEMENT

Patriarch of the area JA movement, the Pontiac JA Center began 17 years ago. Presently housed at 20½ E. Pike, it is directed by Bennie Pawley.

The center's 12 companies are sponsored by Pontiac Motor Division, GMC Truck and Coach Division and Consumers Power Co.

Like other full-time centers, Pontiac is open Monday through Thursday from 7-9 p.m. With the exception of Rochester, all area JA centers operate on the four-day schedule.

Tonight launches the annual JA Week trade fair — open house program. Each night through Thursday from 6:30-9 p.m., the public may attend JA centers (except Rochester Center) where product displays, manufacturing demonstrations and sales booths will be available.

SCHEDULED FESTIVITIES

JA Week festivities honoring Achievers include the president's banquet Wednesday, the adviser recognition dinner dance Friday, the selection of Mr. Executive and Miss Achievement 1968, followed by the executive ball Feb. 2

★ ★ ★

The Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan of which area centers are a part began in 1949 with 63 companies. Today, it numbers 417 companies and 26 business centers.

"Upward of $1 million worth of volunteer man hours," said Dick Yankus, JA public relations director, "has contributed greatly to this concrete growth of Junior Achievement."

ASSEMBLY LINE—The busy hands of (from left) Donna Rice, Diane Burg and Suzanne Podolon dart back and forth as they convert yarn strips into baseball cap stripes and pink felt pieces into ears on one arm of Catco's production table. First-year Achievers, all three girls are sophomores at Utica High School. School assemblies and enthusiastic reports from other Achievers motivated the girls to join the JA program. Catco is sponsored by the General Motors Corp. styling department.

TOP TWO—Jeff Krause (left), president of THE Catco, confers with his top salesman, Vince Norkus as Vince turns in his latest sales receipts. In the foreground are two of the company's three products. Jeff is a second-year Achiever, Vince a first. Both attend Utica High School.

TIGHT FIT—President of Modco, Sandy Keller shows her father Arthur Keller of 232 Grey, Pontiac Township, how to slide the assembled road emergency kit into its plastic case. Sandy is a senior at Avondale High School and a two-year Achiever. Modco is sponsored by Pontiac Motor Division.

SALES BOOSTERS—Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Graham of 58 Charles buy a soap swan from their son Charles, president of Misco, to participate in the Trade Fair being held at the Pontiac Junior Achievement Business Center tonight through Thursday from 6:30-9 p.m. in conjunction with the annual JA Week. A senior at Pontiac Central High School, Bruce is a three-year Achiever. Misco is sponsored by Consumers Power Co.

Minimarkets Are Making a Mighty Comeback

NEW YORK (AP) — The little "Mom and Pop" grocery store — a rejuvenated relic of old-time storekeeping — is making a mighty comeback.

★ ★ ★

These minimarkets — open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. every day of the year — are thriving and multiplying in the shadows of the supermarkets. At the end of 1967 there were 8,000 stores doing an annual business of $1.5 billion.

"I don't mind paying an extra nickel for a box of crackers after 7 p.m.," says an Atlanta mother, "because the supermarkets closed an hour ago and junior at home is crying for crackers."

★ ★ ★

"Convenience just hits it on the head," says Pat Richardson, vice president of Quickway Shopping of Fort Worth, Tex., explaining the phenomenal growth of the small stores from 1,500 in 1960.

★ ★ ★

Wayne Storey, general manager of Pick Wick, Inc., of Clearwater, Fla., agrees that "convenience is the big thing."

"That's what we really exist on," he says. "We carry only a small select group of items people want in a hurry. Dry groceries are only about 25 per cent of our business. Snack items — beer, soda pop, bread, milk — are about 75 per cent."

June Martin, manager of a Johnny Reb store in Atlanta, says, "Being located right in the middle of a neighborhood is our biggest asset. It's too far to drive to the large markets."

Prices are higher than at a supermarket but customers feel the convenience is worth it.

The convenience stores — as the industry prefers to call them — average about 60 by 40 feet in floor space and usually have parking for 10 to 20 cars.

★ ★ ★

The businesses are commonly called "Mom and Pop" stores because a man and his wife, if they're willing to work long hours, can operate one.

★ ★ ★

But real "Mom and Pop" stores are a relatively small portion of the industry. About 6,500 of the 8,000 stores are operated by chains with the remaining 1,500 being franchised to individuals.

Many of the 7-11 chain of stores so-called for hours open are frequent targets for armed robberies."

N. Y. Man, 81, Dies Near Wife's Grave

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Frank A. Stone, 81, told a neighbor Saturday he was on his way to Jamestown's Lake View Cemetery to place a wreath at the grave of his wife, who died two weeks ago.

Sunday, the neighbor, alarmed because Stone had not returned home, went to the cemetery.

He found the man's body at the graveside. Stone had died of an apparent heart attack, police said.

Most tires last an average of 20,000 miles.

Operator of Bus Service Cuts Corners in Harlem

NEW YORK (AP) — The creaking old bus rolled through the litter of Harlem's streets, a symbol of self-help to those she served and a symbol of resistance to the occasional policeman she passed.

★ ★ ★

For she was without a franchise, and one of her passengers was keenly aware of her predicament.

★ ★ ★

"I'm not in favor of lawlessness," said Dr. Thomas W. Matthew, a Negro whose skills as a neurosurgeon have brought him as much as $90,000 a year.

"I am testing this law because it is not meant to set standards but to keep people out. If I break the law, I should go to jail. We're seeking reform, not revolution."

BEGAN CRUSADE

Matthew, 43, believes people should help themselves and he began a crusade to get that message across several years ago. He got into the bus business last summer, when he found that volunteers had to take two buses and pay double fares to get to his hospital in Queens.

Now he has a fleet of 30 second-hand buses and operates lines in the Negro community of Watts in Los Angeles, in Harlem and in the Negro section of South Jamaica, Queens.

The law he is testing here—a test that could send him to jail—is one requiring that he franchise his Blue and White Bus Co. He says he is challenging the city's unwillingness to bend its regulations to help Negroes help themselves.

★ ★ ★

Blue and White now sends 10 unfranchised buses on gypsy-like trips through Harlem and Queens, picking up passengers where it finds them and taking them where they want to go — free of charge.

DURING RACIAL HEAT

City officials were happy with Matthew's plans when he initiated them during the racial heat of last summer. But they became unhappy when they realized he wanted to cut corners, use older buses and buy less insurance than they would like.

But bending the rules is the name of Matthew's self-help game. He does it every day through NEGRO—National Economic Growth and Reconstruction Organization.

NEGRO is a sort of nonprofit holding company with assets Matthew places at $3.5 million. He started it in 1964 and, through it, purchased the 160-bed Interfaith Hospital in Queens, the bus lines, a clothing factory, a bakery, a chemical firm, a construction company and 500 apartments in Negro slums around the city.

★ ★ ★

In every venture, the pattern has been the same: Take the untrained, most of them on welfare, teach them the business, let them take it over and go on to the next venture.

WON SCHOLARSHIPS

Matthew was one of two Negroes at the Bronx High School of Science, but his classmates elected him president of the student council. He won scholarships to Manhattan College and to the Meharry Medical School in Nashville, Tenn.

★ ★ ★

Ready for residency, he applied to the Harvard Medical Center and became the first Negro it trained for neurosurgery. After a stint as a teacher at Albert Einstein College here, he was appointed director of the neurosurgery department at Coney Island Hospital.

★ ★ ★

"But I began to feel that I was running a revolving door operation," he said. "I would remove a blood clot from a man's brain and in six months he'd get into another fight and would be back.

★ ★ ★

"I decided that I wasn't making a contribution unless I followed a patient out of the hospital and tried to change his environment."

Phone Bill Big; Home Still Unsold

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — James Young, the modestly paid security guard whose daughter and son-in-law stuck him with a telephone bill for $4,509.81, still is trying to sell his home with a mortgage to pay the debt.

"Selling the house is the only way we can find to do it," Young's wife, Carol, 38, said Friday.

Young's daughter Collene, 19, and her sailor husband Lynn Wade Cross, 20, ran up the bill last May while Cross was stationed at Adak, Alaska, and Mrs. Cross was staying with her parents.

When the invoice from the General Telephone Co. of California arrived early in June, Young hurriedly spent $30 to chain and padlock his telephone.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Cross and her husband now are believed living in Dallas, Tex. Mrs. Young said Tuesday she is not in touch with them.

HUSBAND, WIFE WORK

Young is a security guard at a Veterans Administration hospital and his wife works for an electronics plant.

★ ★ ★

The Youngs say they will move into an apartment after the sale.

"It was the only delinquent bill we ever had," Mrs. Young said sadly.

Opening lead—♠ 3

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

Oswald: "We have commented on the statement by the late Commander Winfield Ligget that he wouldn't care about anything else if he could only make the right opening lead on every occasion."

JACOBY

Jim: "Bridge will never be an exact science, and the opening lead is the one place where you need luck if you want to win."

Oswald: "You can help your own luck if you use common sense in choosing the suit and the specific card you put on the table. Today's hand is a good example."

Jim "A spade lead will set declarer one trick. A diamond lead will give him an overtrick. Any other lead will allow him to make his contract right on the nose."

Oswald: "It makes no difference which spade you open this time, but the standard lead from an unbid three card suit headed by an honor is the lowest card."

Jim: "It may look like pure luck to find that the spade lead succeeds while the more natural lead fails, but a consensus of experts would pick the spade lead almost unanimously."

Oswald: "The theory is that when you have to make a blind lead against no-trump from a bad hand you try to find your partner's strength. Suppose for example that East did hold three diamonds to the king-jack and five small spades. "Declarer with three diamonds to the ace would hold off until the third lead. You would get your diamond suit established but would never get in to cash the last two tricks."

Jim: "Declarer will make it a point to hold off spades until the third lead but this won't help him. He will have to play clubs in order to make nine tricks. When he opens clubs, East will get in with the ace and cash the last two spades."

Oswald: "Declarer might try a trap play here. East would play the king of spades one and lead back a low spade at trick two. If declarer takes his ace then it is up to West to drop his queen and unblock the suit."

Olympics Next for Local Ace

Tim Wood National Skating Champion

In the women's division, Peggy Fleming, the 19-year-old world champion from Colorado Springs, Colo., won her fourth consecutive woman's title.

Wood, 1967 champion Gary Visconti of Detroit, and John Petkevich of Great Falls, Mon., finished in that order and automatically qualified for the 1968 U.S. Olympic team starting Feb. 6 in Grenoble, France.

The 5-10 political science major won the compulsory figures on Thursday and afterward he said, "I came here feeling I was better than Visconti and Scott Allen," the No. 1 and No. 2 ranked U.S. singles' skaters.

Wood wasn't the best free skater on the ice Saturday, but his over-all performance including the school figures, carried him to the title over defending champion Visconti, a teammate from the Detroit Figure Skating Club.

Wood credited his stunning upset of the two top-ranking American figure skaters to his coach, Ron Baker.

"Ron is responsible for getting me to where I am," the winner said.

HARD-TRAINING

Baker said his protege was 50 per cent better than last year when Wood finished third to Visconti and Allen at the Nationals in Omaha, Neb. The coach credited it to maturity, hard-training and experience.

Along with Visconti and Petkovich, Wood also automatically made Uncle Sam's World Team for the championships starting Feb. 27 in Switzerland.

In over-all points, Wood tallied 132.48 to 130.29 for Visconti, who was given an assignment to skate in the Nationals by the Navy in which he has 21 months to serve. Visconti is stationed at the Grosse Ile Naval Air Station.

Petkevich, a philosophy student at the College of Great Falls in Montana, wowed a crowd of some 7,000 with a spectacular free-skating performance. It carried him from fourth place to third over Allen, the 17-year-old Harvard University freshman who won this title in 1964 and 1966 and was runnerup in the alternate years.

Petkevich, a 5-foot-8 150-pounder who may seek the priesthood, received a standing ovation.

Wood said his first semester at John Carroll ended Dec. 22 and that he didn't plan to return to college until summer. After the Olympics and world championships he plans a 14-country exhibition tour of Europe.

PAIRS TEAMS

Wood, Visconti and Petkevich thus joined the three pairs teams which made the Olympics and World teams Friday night: Ron and Cynthia Kauffman, the pairs champions from Seattle, Wash., and the second and third place finishers, Sandi Sweitzer and Roy Wagelain of California and Jo Po Starbuck and Kenneth Shelley of Arctic Blades Skating Club, Paramount, Calif.

Joining Miss Fleming on the women's team are Albertina Noyes of Arlington, Mass., second in the singles for the fifth straight year, and Janet Lynn of Rockford, Ill., third.

Crozier Plays but Red Wings Beaten

DETROIT (AP) — Roger Crozier just came to watch the game Sunday night, but he ended up playing.

And, despite a 2-0 loss to the Tornoto Maple Leafs, the Detroit Red Wings saw a ray of hope in a slump that has reached eight games.

★ ★ ★

"I flew up to Detroit Sunday morning with a friend," said Crozier, who quit hockey Nov. 6 because of the pressure of playing goal.

"He asked me if I could get him a ticket for the game and I told him I didn't know if I had that much influence."

Crozier, after a two-month layoff, decided to give up carpentry work at Bracebridge, Ont., two weeks ago, and return to his $25,000-a-year job as goaltender of the National Hockey League Wings.

Sid Abel, manager-coach of the Wings, sent Crozier back to Fort Worth in the Central League to get back in shape. Roger gave up seven goals in three games, winning one.

GARDNER ILL

He arrived just in time. Reserve netminder George Gardner had come down with a sudden case of influenza, and Abel asked Crozier to try his glove in the net.

Roy Edwards, who had been playing in Crozier's absence, gave up a bevy of goals in an 8-4 loss to Pittsburgh Saturday night, and the Wings hadn't won in seven games.

Crozier blanked Toronto in the first period. But Larry Hillman scored his first goal this season on a screen shot and Murray Oliver his ninth in the second period on a deflection. Hillman's came on a power play with Detroit a man short.

"I'm tired," Crozier said afterwards. But he was smiling. "Wait until I come back next week and see how I feel. It's been all right in the minors but they play every night down there."

Abel said Crozier, who still has five days to go on a mandatory 14-day minor league stay, would be recalled Thursday or Friday.

The Wings play at Chicago Wednesday, then return home for a Thursday game against St. Louis and a Saturday matinee against Philadelphia.

COULDN'T SCORE

"I thought Roger played very well tonight," said Abel. "The whole club played well, but we just couldn't put the puck in the net."

Detroit outshot Toronto 40 to 26, but couldn't get the puck by Bruce Gamble, who registered his third shutout of the season.

'Light Bulb' Watt Sets Record for U.S. Ski Jumpers

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP) — Teen-ager Adrian Watt of Duluth, Minn., better known among his pals as "Light Bulb," has set an American ski-jumping record and remained the United States' main hope in the Winter Olympics at Grenoble, France, next month.

However, the 19-year-old ace who dropped out from the University of Minnesota-Duluth after two semesters to keep up his ski-jumping ambitions, admits that he has far to go.

The best an American competitor has ever done in the Olympic ski-jumping event was fourth place in 1924. It is very unlikely that Watt or any of his three teammates selected for the Games will come even close to this at Grenoble.

Watt, a black-haired, 165-pounder, sailed 337 feet for an American record off Pine Mountain Sunday in the final U.S. Olympic Trials. The old American mark was 335 feet by world champion Bjoern Wirkola of Norway last year at Leavenworth, Wash.

Although Watt got the applause at Iron Mountain, veteran John Balfanz, a sporting goods salesman from Denver, Colo., received the No. 1 place on the jumping team.

Balfanz, 27, a 41st finisher in the 1964 Olympics, had leaps of 302 and 293 feet. Watt's efforts were 337 and 317 feet.

POINT TOTALS

In the final judging, Balfanz received first place on a combination of his total points which included the first olympic trial on the 70-meter hill at Lake Placid, N.Y. This gave him a total of 199.32 points over-all. Watt had 197.41.

Others named to the U.S. team on point accumulation were Dave Norby, 25, Madison, Wis., 194.84 and Bill Bakke, 21, also of Madison, with 194.67.

Bob Gajda Falters in Grand Bahamas

GRAND BAHAMAS (AP) — Bob Gajda of Forest Lake and Ted Kroll of Franklin Hills matched 291 totals to finish in a tie for third place in the $5,000 Grand Bahama Open, five strokes behind winner Wilf Homenuik of Canada.

Gajda made an early challenge to start the final round yesterday by picking up a three stroke deficit on Homenuik on the first two holes.

The Forest Lake pro, playing in the same foursome with Homenuik, sank a wedge shot on the first hole for an eagle-two and birdied the second hole with a 50-foot putt to even the match.

On the last three holes of the front nine, however, Gajda had three straight bogies and shot himself out of reach.

Homenuik got $750 for winning, Tom Strafaci was second for $600 and Gajda and Kroll each collected $275 for their tie.

HELPING HAND — Goalie Roger Crozier, returning to action after leaving the Detroit Red Wings back in November, gets help from defensemen Gary Bergman (2) and Howie Young (4) in stopping this rush by George Armstrong (10) of the Toronto Maple Leafs in their game in Detroit last night. Toronto sent a couple of shots past Crozier to blank the Wings, 2-0.

Pro Bowl Honors to Bob Hayes

West All-Stars Triumph 38-20 in NFL Contest

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In the voting for Back of the Game in the Pro Bowl, one ballot went to Bob Hayes of the Dallas Cowboys.

The voter said the explanation was simple: 'Hayes starred for both teams."

It was hard to argue against the theory. Playing for the East in Sunday's National Football League all-star affair, Bullet Bob caught six passes for 84 yards, the longest for 45 which set up an East touchdown.

Hayes also punted for the East which proved invaluable for the West. His first boot was high enough but it only traveled six yards.

Bob improved on the next one. It sailed up and out 14 yards.

Each time the West cashed in for touchdowns and went on to a 38-20 win.

★ ★ ★

Hayes, it must be hastily noted, can't be faulted. He hadn't booted a football since he played in high school until he was pressed into punting service in practice for the Pro Bowl.

SORE ANKLE

Coach Otto Graham wanted to use the New York Giants' kicker, Ernie Koy, but Koy came up with a bad ankle. Hayes in practice was the best on the squad.

The West defeated the East in what must be described as a fun game, at least for the 53,289 who saw it in person, along with a national television audience.

As often happens in all-star games with squads by necessity hastily assembled and coached, there was something less than perfection.

Mel Farr of the Detroit Lions executed a dazzling diving, finger-tip catch for a touchdown on a 39-yard throw from Roman Gabriel.

★ ★ ★

Tarkenton, reverting to rambling, scrambling Fran, uncorked a throw aimed at Washington's Jerry Smith, but Chicago's Richie Petitbon for the West hauled it in on his own 30 and rushed it back 70 for a touchdown.

There was an 80 - yard East march to a touchdown that had its oddities. On a fourth and four in midfield, Hayes punted into the end zone.

But officials said the West had 12 guys on the field. After the penalty, the drive continued.

WHO WAS HE

The West coaches even today have not figured who, if there was one, the 12th man was.

★ ★ ★

Moments later Don Meredith passed and Green Bay's Willie Wood stepped in for an interception. Instead, he tipped it up in the air and it dropped into the hands of the surprised Hayes on the seven.

Things like this that make All-Star things entertaining. After a long season, who needs perfection?

Kick Misses Mark, AFL's East Wins

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — George Blanda and all his teammates on the American football League's West team are $400 poorer today than they think they should be. It's all because Blanda's old Kentucky windage deserted him.

When Joe Namath of the New York Jets risked his fragile legs on a one-yard touchdown smash and put the East All-Stars ahead 25-24 in Sunday's season finale, there were 58 seconds left.

As any pro football fan knows, this is not necessarily decisive. And Len Dawson of the Kansas City Chiefs used only 52 seconds to move the West to the East's 28.

This was the time to call on Blanda, 18 years a pro and the AFL's leading scorer of 1967 on his educated place-kicking toe.

Back before his pro career Blanda had played at the University of Kentucky and he knew all about windage. He had missed a 29-yard field goal attempt early in the fourth quarter and took note of how the wind was blowing in the Gator Bowl.

★ ★ ★

Blanda allowed for it and booted from the 35 what could have been the winning points and the $1,000 winners' share to each West player instead of the $600 loser's share.

WRONG TARGET

"It just missed by a fraction," Blanda noted as time ran out. "Actually the ball went right where I aimed it. The earlier kick I missed was carried to the right by the wind. I thought that the same thing would happen again — but it didn't."

So the glory went to Namath, who came to life in the fourth quarter and carried the East to two touchdowns, and to his top receiver Don Maynard, who are used to such pitch-and-catch connections for the New York Jets.

They shared the most valuable offensive player accolade.

Namath headed for New York today to start getting ready for next season by wearing a cast on his often-injured left knee for at least five weeks.

"The tendons get inflamed and doctors tell me the only way to clear it up is to immobilize the knee for at least five weeks," he said.

If sports writers had voted after the game instead of with three minutes left on the clock, they might have included Larry Garron of the Boston Patriots in their honors.

A substitute on the East team for Woodie Campbell of Houston, who had to go on military duty, Garron also was a substitute on the 26-yard pass play which carried to the West 10 and set up the winning touchdown.

★ ★ ★

Prime receiver George Sauer of New York was covered, so Namath threw short to Garron, who then scampered and cut down the left sideline on as important a play as there was in the game.

BROKEN UP — East All-Star flanker Don Maynard (13) goes high in the air trying to haul in this pass from quarterback Joe Namath — both of the New York Jets — but West defender Johnny Robinson breaks up the play during their East-West AFL game in Jacksonville, Fla., yesterday. East won, 25-24.

Trackmen Sound Warning to AAU

CHICAGO (AP) — The battle for control of amateur athletics in the United States continues to rage and this time the athletes have stepped in for their part of the argument.

At a special meeting under the auspices of the United States Track and Field Federation Sunday, a group of the nation's outstanding stars warned the Amateur Athletic Union they would not stand for Olympic disqualification.

★ ★ ★

Jumping champion Ralph Boston, spokesman for the group of athletes who are protesting against AAU threats of disqualification, said, "this thing has been tossed around quite a while but nobody has done anything until today."

Boston issued the following statement:

"We have agreed that if anyone of our number is disqualified because of his or her competing in a meet of their choice, we will consider ourselves to be in the same status and will try to affiliate as many track and field athletes in his country as is possible to support us in this position."

BEST-IN-SHOW—Ch. Ralanda Ami Pierre, a French Bulldog, won best-in-show honors yesterday at the Pontiac Kennel Club Show. The Pontiac Press Trophy was presented to owner-handler Mrs. Ralph M. West of Livonia by Outdoor Editor Don Vogel.

Bulldog Tops Field in Kennel Show

An old pro and a young champion combined yesterday to beat back the challenge of 599 other dogs and win the Pontiac Kennel Club Show at the CAI building.

Mrs. Ralph M. West of Livonia, long noted for turning out top French bulldogs, handled Ch. Ralanda Ami Pierre to his second best-in-show. The two-and-a-half year old dog has taken 23 non - sporting group championships.

Raymond H. Beale of Orchard Park, N.Y., selected the winner from the final field of six dogs.

Included in the final competition was an Irish setter, Ch. Argo Lane Esquires Echo, owned by Susan McDonald of Rochester, and a standard Schnauzer, Ch. Erik von Volweg, owned and handled by Thomas H. Easley of Bloomfield.

It was the first time that Easley had handled his dog in competition. Echo took the sporting group and Erik won the working class.

OTHER FINALISTS

Other finalists were a whippet, Ch. Pennyworth Polyhymnia, owned by Mrs. Thomas Cain of Lansing, winner of the hound group; an airdale terrier, Ch. Erowah Indian Ginger, owned by Simon D. Peters of Cadillac, winner of the terrier group; and a toy poodle, Ch. Mayfair's Minnie Ha Ha II, owned by June Matthews of Grosse Pointe.

The winning bulldog and Schnauzer had no competition in breed judging and faced their first stern tests in group.

This was the second PKC win for Mrs. West.

Two young handlers won honors in junior showmanship.

Don Martin, 13, of Birmingham won the open class from boys and girls 10-16 years old with an English springer. Sally Hill, 10, of Farmington took novice A for 8-12 year olds with a collie.

Joey Perez-Gurri of Birmingham was second in the novice B for 13-16 year olds with a German shepherd.

Fighting MSU Still in Slump

Tech, Michigan Win Ice Hockey Contests

By the Associated Press

Michigan State, riding at the bottom of the Western Collegiate Hockey Association, got mad this weekend, but it didn't help the Spartans' cause much.

The Minnesota Gophers whipped MSU 8-3 in a penalty-riddled game which saw two Spartans ejected for brawling.

In other WCHA games, Michigan Tech defeated Minnesota-Duluth 4-1, and Denver blanked Colorado College 6-0. In a pair of nonleague games, Michigan trounced Western Ontario 13-3 as Bruce Koviak and Lee Marttila each scored three goals and the U.S. Olympic team tied North Dakota 3-3.

Officials handed out 27 minute in penalties in Minnesota's victory over Michigan State and ejected Spartan goalie Bob Johnson and forward Nino Cristofoli for fighting. The Gophers' Dick Paradise also got bounced in the same brawl.

Pat Dufour had two goals and two assists to lead the Minnesota attack.

Minnesota, now 8-4 and moving up on Denver, 9-4, and North Dakota, jumped to a 5-0 lead. MSU trimmed this to 5-3 on goals by Mike Olsen, Lee Hathaway and Cristofoli just before the second period brawl broke out. But Dufour scored twice and Pete Fichuk added another to ice the Gopher victory.

Rochester Girls, Kettering Boys Post Ski Wins

Rochester won the girls' event and Kettering's boys placed first Saturday in a skiing meet at Mt. Holly.

The girls of Rochester posted a score of 164, followed by Kettering (201) and Utica, while Kettering posted a 227 score to win the boys' event. Rochester (245) was second and Utica third (302).

Sherie Luther (49.5) and Wendy Willis (50) paced the Rochester girls with Sue Sayers of Kettering (51.6) third.

Dave Willis (46.1) and Wayne Wilson (48.7) gave Rochester the top two spots, but Kettering's depth provided the margin of difference for the boys. Sparking Kettering were Curt Nelsey (third 53.1) and Hank Longo (fourth 53.9).

Woman Crowned

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) —Mrs. JoAnne Gunderson Carner of Seekonk, Mass., is the winner of the women's match play title in the Doherty Golf Tournament. She defeated defending champion Mrs. Alice Dye of Indianapolis, Ind., on the 37th hole of the finals at Coral Ridge Country Club Sunday.

Dan Gurney First on Riverside Track

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—A while back, a sign appeared in the crowd at Riverside International Raceway. It read, "Dan Gurney For President."

The nation's racing fans consider Gurney one of the top drivers of stock and sports cars. But at Riverside it's a bit more like hero worship.

Gurney toured the 2.7-mile, windy course Sunday 186 times and captured the Motor Trend-Riverside 500-mile race for stock cars, as more than 80,000 felt he would.

The victory was worth better than $21,000 to the Costa Mesa, Calif., driver. The purse was $86,000.

140 Take Part in Cycle Event

140 riders took part in the weekly motorcycle ice races on Lower Straits Lake yesterday.

Bantam winner was Rob White of Clark Lake. Lightweight and heavyweight solo honors went to Stan Castigaione and Hal Hammond, while Butch Bentley and Buck Graves of Pontiac won the heavyweight sidecar event on Harley-Davidson and Ron Butler and George Jenkinson took lightweight sidecar honors.

UCLA Team Hoping for Cage Rematch

HOUSTON (AP) — Lucius Allen's wry, impish grin split through the gloom of UCLA's dressing room.

"I just hope Houston wins the rest of their games," said the Bruin backcourt ace, "and we get to play them in the nationals."

"Yes," agreed UCLA coach John Wooden. "I'd like to play them again. They're a fine basketball team." Then, in answer to a question, the normally placid UCLA coach bristled:

"No, it's not revenge," Wooden snorted. "I don't play that way. When I start playing for revenge, I'll get out of the business. As I said, they're a good team and Guy Lewis is a fine coach."

SHORT OF MARK

The unbeatable Bruins had just been beaten, 71-69, by Houston's second-ranked Cougars. And they'd been beaten before the largest crowd ever to see a college basketball game, 52,693, in the Astrodome Saturday night, their No. 1 ranking was almost certainly gone and their 47-game winning string was snapped 13 short of the record.

If they meet again this season, it will be in the semifinals of the national championships. And the national championships, the semifinals and finals, will be played at Pauley Pavilion in Los Angeles, the Bruins' home court.

★ ★ ★

"Yeah, I'd real much like to play 'em again," said Allen, whose 25 points from the outside shooting kept the Bruins in the game against the inspired Cougars, now 17-0.

"Our game plan," said Houston Coach Lewis, "was to keep Lew Alcindor bottled up and cut off his passing lanes to his corner men, Lynn Shackleford and Mike Lynn."

POOR SHOOTING

The Cougars followed that plan perfectly, with All-American Elvin Hayes and Ken Spain doing the corking job on the 7-foot-1 Alcindor and Don Chaney working the defensive backcourt magic on the lanes. It resulted in a 33.6 shooting percentage for the Bruins, compared with their usual 50 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Hayes, a 6-foot-8 standout who played, by his own testimony "my best game ever," finished with 39 points, 15 rebounds, four assists and three blocked shots on Alcindor.

In addition, he limited the big Bruins to four of 18 field goal attempts and 12 rebounds. And Hayes tossed in the two free throws, with 28 seconds left, that broke a 69-69 tie.

Unbeaten New Mexico and St. Bonaventure kept pace with the streaking Cougars. The sixth-ranked Lobos beat Brigham Young 84-69 for their 16th victory and the No. 7 Bonnies outlasted Canisius 71-65 for a 13-0 mark.

OTHERS DOWNED

But St. Peter's of New Jersey, only other previously unbeaten major team, bowed to St. Francis, Pa., 88-78 while three nationally-ranked powers—Tennessee, Utah and Kentucky—were brought down.

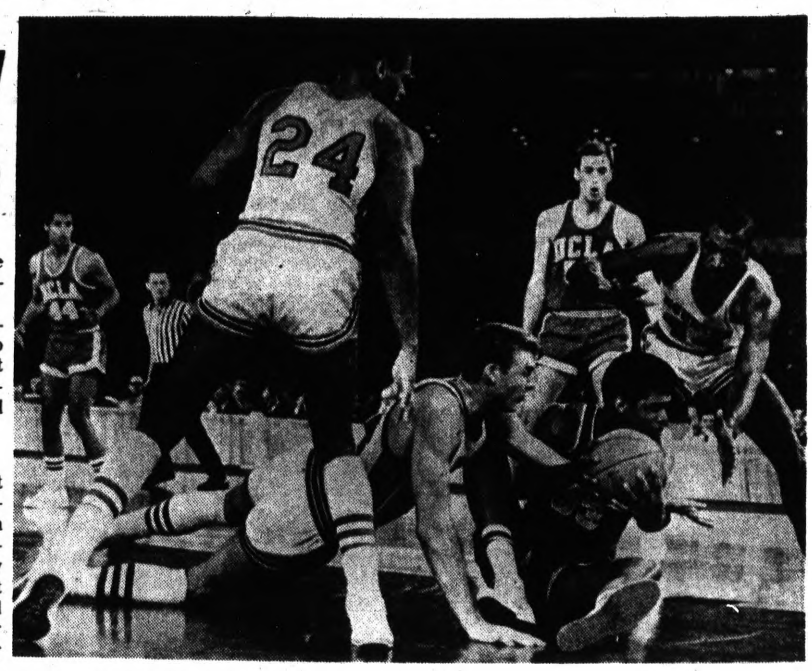
Florida shackled fourth-ranked Tennessee 59-46 and Wyoming ambushed No. 5 Utah 81-72. The Vols had won 10 of 11 previous starts; Utah, 13 of 15.

★ ★ ★

Auburn edged No. 8 Kentucky 74-73 on a pair of free throws by Tom Perry in the final minute, thwarting Adolph Rupp's bid to match the all-time career victory mark of 771 held by former Kansas Coach Phog Allen.

Rupp's Wildcats, 10-3, will attempt to bounce back tonight at Tennessee in a pivotal Southeastern Conference game.

Columbia, ranked 10th in last week's Associated Press poll, crushed Cornell 93-51 for an 11-3 mark. Third-ranked North Carolina and ninth-ranked Vanderbilt were idle over the weekend.



AP Wirephoto

LEW HAS HANDS FULL — UCLA's star center Lew Alcindor (33) sits on the court with the basketball in his hands despite the intruding arm of Houston's Ken Spain Saturday night at the Astrodome. The Cougars' Elvin Hayes adds to the pressure on Alcindor by coming in from the rear while teammate Dan Chaney (24) is ready to pounce on the ball should Alcindor lose control. Houston upset the Uclans, 71-69, before more than 52,000 fans.

2 New Leaders in Elks' Meet

Singles, All Events Changed Yesterday

Two new leaders emerged Sunday in the second weekend of the annual Elks Ladies National Invitational Bowling Tournament at the local temple's own lanes.

Corene Clark of Plymouth took the handicap singles lead on her final delivery with a 650 total, three pins better than Monty Cochran of Bowling Green, Ohio, the opening weekend's leader.

In All-Events action, a 633 in the singles (good for fifth place currently) shot Kalamazoo's Beverly Day into the handicap division's top spot with an 1831 total.

Two Pontiac teams cracked the top five Saturday. B&B Sewer Cleaners led by Marge Figa took over third place with 2875, and the Pontiac Elkettes of Vera Fisher are now fifth (2815).

Marion Figa and Lorraine Mason of Pontiac are third in the doubles with 1226, the only other significant change.

Hillsdale '5' Pins Setback on Pioneers

Height and the accuracy of one of the leading percentage shooters nationally in NAIA statistics were too much for Oakland University's basketball team Saturday night.

The Pioneers suffered a 104-96 defeat at the hands of Hillsdale College with Dennis Hrcka of Owosso pacing the Dales with 40 points.

Hrcka, a 6-8 transfer from Dayton, has been hitting his field goals at nearly a .700 clip according to NAIA statistics.

With Ken Morehead, 6-7, and Jeff Culp, 6-3, Hillsdale had too much height for Oakland, but the Pioneers played one of their best games of the season.

Former Waterford cager Earl Hook helped Hillsdale's cause with 10 points.

After a close first half which saw Hillsdale leaving with a 49-47 margin, the visitors pulled ahead 80-66 with two minutes left and held a 101-93 margin in the final minute.

Gordy led OU with 21 points as six hit in double figures.

Hot Tomahawks Rout Chicago

Paced by Paul Long's 43-point shooting, the Pontiac Tomahawks posted Win No. 3 Saturday night, 137-113, over the Chicago Bombers in a North American Basketball League game at Northern High School.

The visitors held a 29-27 lead at the buzzer following a see-saw first quarter in which Long notched 11 of his tallies.

Then the home team took charge with some of its most sustained shooting of the season. The Tomahawks hit 38 points in the second quarter and closed strong with 36 in each of the final two sessions.

The 137 points were their best total of the campaign. At the intermission, the winners led 65-50 as Long had 26 points.

Six other players were in twin figures for the winners, giving them good balance. Sonny Dove, like Long on opfion from the Detroit Pistons, added 20 and rugged Ed Burton 18. Long made 15 of 22 shots for 68 per cent, and Dove 9 of 17 (52).

ASSISTS

Complementing the scoring was the fine playmaking of player-coach Bob Duffy who registered nine assists.

The Pontiac pros commanded the rebounds. Dove pulled down 15, Jim Patterson 13, Ed Burton and Ernie Thompson 12 each. Over-all, the Tomahawks had a 78-61 advantage; and they made 10 more field goals.

Other league scores this weekend saw Holland nip Grand Rapids, 143-141; and Columbus thump Lansing, 150-131. Chicago lost at Grand Rapids Friday night.

Battle Creek will invade Pontiac next Sunday for a 5 p.m. tilt. Tomahawk officials are planning several special features in conjunction with the game.

JUST FARR ENOUGH — There was just enough of Mel Farr's reach on this first half play Sunday afternoon to complete a 39-yard pass play from Roman Gabriel and score the West team's second touchdown in its Pro Bowl victory over the East. The Detroit Lions' star fullback was the National Football's offensive Rookie of the Year last fall.

There will only be a slight jar in the Big Ten basketball logjam this week which finds the first eight teams separated by only one game.

Defending cochampion Michigan State helped pull the pack together Saturday with a 75-62 victory over previously undefeated Northwestern. The triumph helped lift the Spartans into a seventh place tie with Indiana, one game behind Northwestern.

Ohio State and Iowa claimed a share of second place by upping their records to 2-1, one-half game behind Northwestern's 3-1 mark. Ohio State toppled Michigan 103-70 and Iowa cruised by Minnesota 82-70 as all the home teams won to give host teams a 13-4 edge in conference competition this season.

Michigan and Ohio State get an opportunity Monday night to better the Big Ten record of 49-42. against outside opposition. Both teams are home with Michigan taking on Ball State and OSU facing Georgia Tech.

KEY CONTEST

Iowa and Michigan State clash in a key conference game Tuesday and the Hawkeyes will have the unenviable task of trying to crack MSU's string of 25 straight home court victories.

That's the extent of the schedule until Saturday when Ohio State invades Michigan in a regionally televised contest and Purdue goes to Northwestern to challenge the Wildcats' lead or what should be a share of the lead if Iowa manages to topple Michigan State.

★ ★ ★

Illinois and Michigan State will be occupied in a Chicago Stadium tripleheader Saturday night. Illinois takes on tournament hopeful Notre Dame and Michigan State faces Southern Illinois, the NIT champion which is finding the going a bit rough this season.

Rounding out the Stadium program will be a game between Brigham Young and Texas Western.

Walled Lake Wins Crown in Mat Duel

Walled Lake's Vikings picked up a couple of individual titles and fared well in the consolations Saturday in winning the Fenton Wrestling Invitational.

★ ★ ★

The Vikings wound up with 87 points, two ahead of strong Grand Ledge which took five of the individual crowns. Finishing a surprising third was Northville with 55 points.

Seaholm Relay Squad Wins 400-Yard Event

After a modest beginning, Oakland County swimmers finished with style and speed Saturday in the first Michigan High School Invitational meet at Wayne State University.

Gary Gottschling of Royal Oak Kimball broke the ice by winning the 100-yard backstroke in 59.6 seconds. Two events later, Birmingham Groves' Larry Driver captured the 100-yard breastroke in 1:05.2.

★ ★ ★

Not to be outdone, the Birmingham Seaholm freestyle relay of Jim Morgan, Jim Eckbert, Mark Lennox and Tobin Rote Jr. won the 40-yard finale in 3:30.8.

The Michigan High School Invitational, held in Wayne State's eight-lane Fred Matthael building pool, is believed the first of its kind in the country.

Swimmers were invited solely on the basis of reported competitive times and no team scores were kept.

Pete Maxon of Grosse Pointe and John Sherk of Dearborn Fordson were the only double winners. Maxon won the 50 and 100 freestyles and Sherk the 200 and 400.

Tardy Cagers in Hot Finish

Michigan Christian warmed up during the halftime break and pulled away from Mercy College Saturday night for an 83-66 triumph.

Arriving late for the game, the Junior College Warriors only managed a 31-30 halftime lead. But it was a different story in the last half. Garth Pleasant's 29 and 17 points by Bill Leak paced the Warriors (5-7).

Michigan Christian will visit Owosso College Friday then entertain Ohio's Urbana College Saturday at 8 p.m. on the Avondale High School court.

RETAIN MEMENTO—Golfer Kermit Zarley and his wife Marilyn have the ball used on the final hole Sunday when he wrapped up his first Pro Golf tour victory in the Kaiser International Open at Napa, Calif. Zarley's 65 yesterday tied the course record and he finished with a 15-under-par 273 total.

Cazzie Russell Scores 42 in Victory Over Pistons

DETROIT (AP) — A couple of years ago the New York Knicks won a coin toss from the Detroit Pistons and made Cazzie Russell their NO. 1 choice in the National Basketball Association player draft.

The Pistons fended off the grumblings of their fans and selected Dave Bing of Syracuse, saying he was no Cazzie Russell, but a pretty fair player from out East somewhere.

The Pistons may have acually got the better deal, but Russell proved his value to the knicks with a record-shattering 42-point performance Sunday that gave the Knicks a 115-103 victory over Detroit.

Russell was the darling of the midwest as an All-America who led Michigan to two consecutive Big Ten titles and sparked a revival in Wolverine basketball that led to the building of a new $7.2 million basketball arena at nearby Ann Arbor.

Cazzie's 42 points Sunday were an NBA career high for him.

Russell rallied the Knicks a 52-48 halftime deficit, hitting 17 points in the third quarter and 18 in the fourth, to pull out the victory. The 35 second half points were an arena record, surpassing the 33 by Wilt Chamberlain Jan. 17, 1962. Russell's 42 points surpassed his previous single game NBA high of 34 against Baltimore Nov. 22, 1966.

Lead Changes in Keg Tourney

JACKSON (AP) — Frankenmuth Universal Engineering moved into first place in the team handicap division of the Michigan State Men's Bowling tournament, now in its second week.

Frankenmuth rolled 3,213 Saturday to move ahead of Decker's Used Cars of Dowagiac.

Larry Oiler of Flint remains in front in men's singles, both in handicap — with 717 — and actual — with 636.

In men's handicap doubles, William LeClear and Russ Burt of Battle Creek moved into first place with a 1,356 total and Bernard Lock and Ed Smith of Detroit rolled 1,175 to take over the actual double's lead.

★ ★ ★

In All Events actual, Bill Bynum of Greenville took over the lead with 1,726 and Darl Buzzell of Kalamazoo moved out in front in All Events handicap with a 1,980 score.

Jackson Bowlorama Lanes remained in first place in team actual with 2,774.

Zarley Takes Kaiser Cash

Golf Pro Ends Victory Drought

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Kermit Zarley learned a valuable lesson in five winless years on the professional golf tour.

"You can't let up," said the 26-year-old Seattle pro after blistering Silverado Country Club's new North Course for a 65, seven under par, Sunday to defeat Dave Marr by a stroke and win the top prize of $25,000 in the Kaiser International Open.

Marr, who went into the final round 12 under par, wound up with a 70 for a 274 total to Zarley's 273.

Zarley completed his round 20 minutes before Marr and was 15 under while Marr was making up for a double bogey with three straight birdies on the 16th, 17th and 18th holes.

"I tried for an eagle on the 18th," said Zarley, explaining he did not know how Marr was doing.

NO LET UP

Zarley had birdied the 18th and Marr missed an eagle by a foot. "That's why you can't let up," said Zarley.

Marr began the final round on the par 36-36-72 course, about 45 miles northeast of San Francisco, four strokes ahead of Zarley.

Disaster struck Marr on the par-three, 195-yard seventh hole when he landed in a sand trap, hit out short and three-putted, getting a double bogey five.

Marr won $15,000 in second place money, more than half what he won during the entire 1967 season.

Gene Littler, playing in Marr's threesome, shot 69 after Saturday's 66 and tied George Archer, who played with Zarley, for third. Archer added a 70 to Saturdays 68.

Each finished with a 276 total and won $7,812. Closest to them was Bert Grene with 69-71-71-68—279.

Forty-three players broke par 288 in the Kaiser, the first official PGA tournament of the year.

Bill Casper, who shot a 65 Friday, scored 71 Saturday and came in with a 76 Sunday for a 287 total, one under par and good for $597.

Arnold Palmer finished a stroke better at 286 on rounds of 70-73-76-69 and won $906.

YMCA Boys, Girls Lose Swim Tests

Pontiac YMCA swimmers took defeats on two fronts Saturday.

The boys' teams were beaten by Flint, 217-92, in the three division totals and the girls lost at Birmingham, 188-82.

Again led by Peff and Jim Dauw and John Irwin, the midget boys swept most of the honors with Rick Rykowski winning in the junior division.

POINTED HUMOR—Comedians Dan Rowan (left) and Dick Martin gag it up with guest star Pamela Austin as they get ready for tonight's premiere of their prime-time television show, "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In." The comedians say the accent will be on "visual humor." The programs can be seen over Channel 4 locally.

'Rowan and Martin Laugh-In'

Anything Goes on New Show

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "It's going to be like a downhill locomotive," says Dick Martin.

"There's never been anything on television like it," adds Dan Rowan.

THOMAS

They were enthusing about their first prime-time television series, "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In," which makes its premiere on NBC tonight. With this pair around, the show needs no press agents.

★ ★ ★

"There are no restrictions on this show, not one," declared Martin—he's the tall, funny one. "We can go as far out as we want and Baby, that's just where we intend to go."

"It won't be anything like the usual kind of variety show," added Rowan—he's the tall, good-looking one. "There will be no flowery introductions, no production numbers, no comedy skits as such."

"The show will be a series of funny bits, virtually none over two minutes and many of them lasting only a few seconds," said Martin. "The only thing that remotely resembles what we're doing is the stuff that Ernie Kovacs did 11-13 years ago."

"The accent will be on visual humor," said Rowan. "Many times we'll go outside the studio for gags. We always thought we would need a studio audience for our comedy, but for this show it's not that important. The gags will be so visual that the studio audience wouldn't be able to catch them all."

You can understand their enthusiasm. Rowan and Martin have been waiting 15 years for this leap into the bigtime.

Not that they haven't been working. The pair earned big money from nightclubs, concerts and TV guestings. They have headed TV summer shows, but somehow they could never make the leap to a regular season. They admit that the reason may have been that they are hard to categorize.

DIFFERENT ACT

"It has always been that way," said Rowan. "We used to go into a nightclub and the boss would say, 'Sorry, boys, I don't need any insurance.' We didn't look like comics, and our act was different from everybody else's.

"When we started out, Martin and Lewis were the big thing, and all the acts were patterned after them. There was the good-looking singer and there was the zany. And because Dean and Jerry sang and danced and faked playing the trumpet and trombone, the accent was on versatility."

Rowan and Martin eschewed the gags and gimmicks to concentrate on humor. Their routines were elongated dialogues that built to an uproarious climax, usually based on Martin's dim-witted misunderstanding of what Rowan was trying to explain.

They claim no discouragement over the long wait for their own show.

"Timing is everything," said Martin. "We almost had our own show 15 years ago, but it was only for 13 weeks and we turned it down. We came close on other occasions, but nothing ever happened. But the time was ripe a summer ago when we took over the Dean Martin summer show. That led to "Laugh-In," which is what we have been waiting for all these years."

Symphony Hall Dream Nears Reality

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra will no longer have to compete with rock 'n' roll musicians in the battles of the bands.

The symphony has a new home, a glittering palace complete with crystal chandeliers and a very proper bar salvaged from the New York Metropolitan Opera building which is now just a memory.

"It's a dream, it's just a dream," said Walter Susskind, new conductor for the orchestra. The dream becomes reality Wednesday night when the symphony presents its first concert in Powell Hall, named for Walter S. Powell whose widow provided a generous endowment for the project.

The inaugural concert at 2,689-seat Powell Symphony Hall will feature the world premiere of Gunther Schuller's "Fanefare for St. Louis," commissioned by the orchestra.

MOVIE THEATER

The orchestra's new home was built more than 40 years ago as a movie theater to end them all with a 70-foot domed ceiling in the auditorium, Italian marble floors, carved and gilded mouldings. But its history wasn't as happy as its promise— until now.

The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra Society purchased the theater two years ago for about $400,000. Renovation has cost about $2 million.

The orchestra first appeared in the theater in 1964 following remodeling work designed to regain the leadership in offering first-run movies in St. Louis. The orchestra found the acoustics to be first rate.

Plaster, paint and gold leaf are not the only ingredients in the transformation of the theater. Major alterations included installation of an acoustical shell above the stage. Construction of the shell provided room for three floors of offices in the space above the shell.

The advantages of moving into the old building include the excellent acoustics and the relatively small cost involved. Symphony officials say the concept has attracted much attention throughout the United States. It seems there are a number of elegant old movie theaters, now abandoned.

The loud-best musicians still reign supreme at Kiel Auditorium and Opera House in downtown St. Louis.

For several years, weekend symphony programs in the opera house section of the building have been literally back-to-back with rock 'n' roll and other big beat bands in the auditorium area.

Separating the two musicial groups was a thick iron curtain. It stopped everything but the big beat of the rock bands.

The throbbing once forced Conductor Eleazar De Carvalho to lower his baton midway through the slow movement of Beethoven's C Minor Symphony.

Interracial Movie Kiss Stirs Anger

LONDON (AP) — A film kiss across the color line is threatening trouble for a South African actress, Genevieve Waite.

On the other end of the kiss is a Jamaican, Calvin Lockhart.

Interracial romance is forbidden under South African law.

"If it happened in real life at home I would be jailed for it," Miss Waite said. "As it is I don't know whether I will be able to return."

The film, "Joanna," tells of an English art student who becomes pregnant during an affair with a Negro.

'ANGER AT HOME'

"There is already considerable anger at home that I should have agreed to do the picture," Miss Waite said.

"But I don't regret doing the film one bit. I was fully aware of what could happened when I took the film on."

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the makers, Twentieth Century Fox, said: "It was purely coincidental that the girl chosen for this part happened to be a South African."

Series of Short Sessions Start

Stock Market Takes Tumble

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took a sharp tumble in heavy trading early Monday afternoon.

The ticker tape was late most of th emorning but caught up by noon.

It was the first of a series of shortened market sessions, cut to four hours from the regular 5½ so that brokerage houses would have a chance to catch up with a logjam of paper work in their back offices.

Both glamor stocks and blue chips were hit hard by selling, with some of the high flyers losing several points.

Analysts said that investors seemed nervous because of the abbreviated sessions, combined with the warnings over speculation in low-priced stocks and the continued uncertainty as to what tax and spending plans will emerge from the new session of Congress.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 8.73 at 871.59.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 2.3 at 317.0 with industrials off 4.6, rails off .1 and utilities off 1.1.

A plunge of half a dozen points by Litton Industries followed a report from the company that earnings for the January quarter will be substantially lower than expected. Since Litto nis one of the first and most respected of the fashionable new conglomerate issues which have been making so much hay, its example depressed many other glamor stocks.

* * *

On the American Stock Exchange, many of the recent low-priced favorites were battered in heavy selling. Leading on volume were two issues priced at under $2 a share—Carreras "B" and Burma Mines, both fractional losers.

17th GI Seeks Sweden Asylum

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — A 17th U.S. sergiceman today applied for asylum in Sweden, government officials said. An anti-Vietnam group said an 18th GI had come to Sweden for the same purpose.

The Aliens Commission said Lawrence Teeland, 24, of Waxell Ridge, Alaska, arrived Friday from West Germany and reported to police. The commission said it knew nothing of the man mentioned by the anti - Vietnam group but said his case could at this point be in the hands of the police.

"All I can say is that Teeland has applied for asylum and that his case will be handled by the commission soon, probably next week," a commission spokesman said.

It was not known if Teeland had contacted any of the peace groups that have helped GIs flee to Sweden to escape duty in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

The FNL organization and the more moderate Swedish Committee for Vietnam have helped 16 U.S. soldiers seek asylum in Sweden. The Aliens Commiss on approved the first four—sailors who desserted the carrier Intrepid and came to Sweden through Moscow — earlier this month.

Chow Not Mein Object of This Boston Robber

BOSTON (AP) — George Yee, owner of the Foon Wong Restaurant, told police the same man came in last Wednesday and Thursday, ordered some fried rice and other Chinese food, ate it, then pulled a knife and robbed him.

Detectives pretended to be customers Friday night but the robber didn't appear.

However, police were in the Wong place at the right time Saturday as the suspect walked in, ordered some Chinese food, ate it, then pulled a knife and tried to rob Yee.

Detectives arrested the suspect on robbery charges. Police said Edward O'Mara, 21, of South Boston, would appear in South Boston District Court.

Chrysler '67 Sales Set a New Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Chrysler Corp. and its subsidiaries hit a record $6.2 billion in sales last year, making it the fourth consecutive annual sales record, the company reported Sunday.

In 1966 sales were $5.6 billion. For the fifth straight year, the company said, its share of retail sales of new passenger cars in the United States increased, rising to 17.9 per cent of the total of 1,353,139 units. It was 16.7 per cent in 1966.

Dividend payments to 180,000 shareholders reached a high of $92 million in 1967. The company also said it reached a record $1.3 billion in sales last year outside the United States and Canada.

Dedication Is Held at Historic Sawmill

COLOMA, Calif. (AP) — About 20,000 persons turned out Sunday for dedication of the rebuilt sawmill where the California gold rush started 120 years ago.

It was on Jan. 24, 1848, that James Marshall found gold in the American River at the sawmill of Capt. John Sutter. The big rush began a year later.

SALESMAN
You are reading this ad for only one of two reasons, you are hunting for a job or you have one, and are looking for a better one. Either way look no longer. My company hires about once every 5 years, we have moved enough men up the ladder, so that we need new salesmen. We are a big company, Dunn and Bradstreet rated.
This is one of the hottest things that ever hit the Detroit area. No credit check, no turn downs, no canvassing. I cannot promise you the moon, because I don't own it, but I can promise you one of the best positions east or west of the Rockies, I have got that. I can also promise you that you can make more money with my company than you have ever made before, no matter what you have been doing, or what you have been selling. I promise you that you will never work as hard as you have worked before.
If you want something for nothing, answer another ad, but if you want a real good position, call me. If you have never sold anything before, that's O.K. I won't have to unlearn you, we can start from scratch, if you are a top notch salesman now, I have a real good position. Now just an ordinary down to earth salesman can make over $14,000 per year, no traveling, no gimmick, no tall tales, no way out yonder promises.

Movie Director Finds Handbag Is Still Defense

BOSTON (AP) — Filming of the movie "The Boston Strangler" began Sunday, and casting director Marty Richards learned to his regret that a woman still regards her handbag as her best defense.

When one of the woman extras used in a street scene decided to quit during the slow pace of the shooting, Richards followed her and asked her to return.

The woman would have none of it. For good measure, she whacked the startled Richards over the head with her purse.

The movie is being made by 20th Century Fox. It will star Tony Curtis and Henry Fonda, who arrive later this week.

Young People to Aid Retarded

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — An organization to train young people in aiding the mentally retarded was formed here Sunday.

The Youth-National Association for Retarded Children, affiliated with the National Association for Retarded Children, hopes to enlist 300,000 people, 13 to 25, to aid the mentally retarded to "get out into society to take part in activities." Another goal of the organization is to create community awareness of the needs and abilities of retarded persons.

Jack Carter's in Rare Form Roasting Conventioneers

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Jack Carter, one of the funniest men in the world, opened at the Americana Royal Box where he kidded the conventioneers — mostly from the Middle West — who keep New York going.

WILSON

They're the playful delegates who are generally found in the elevator with a badge telling them who they are, on the way to "Jim's room" where there's a party that's been going on since Tuesday and this is Monday.

"I think I'm goin' home now," the delegate says. "I think my convention's over."

Jack was at his best. He claimed everybody in Las Vegas is worrying, "What's Howard Hughes going to do with all those hotels?"

"And Howard Hughes is sitting up in his room worrying, 'What 'm I gonna do with all these hotels?'"

Jack said he's worked at the Las Vegas Sands ("It took a fist fight to get me in there"); he recommended the Mau Mau Airlines ("Where the first class passengers eat the second class passengers"), and he greeted the carriage trade "because a carriage is the only way you could get here tonight."

★ ★ ★

He also mentioned the fat lady carrying a duck. A bystander said, "What're you doing with that pig?" The fat lady snorted, "That's not a pig, it's a duck." The bystander: "I'm not talkin' to you. I'm talking to the duck."

Jack also introduced to NY a brilliant singer Lee Meza, a gal from Hell's Kitchen and Arizona, whose "It Must Be Him" tore up all our emotions.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

George Hamilton at Orsini's with a pretty blonde wouldn't tell her name or permit pix . . . Socialite Laura Johnson with Roy Cohn as atty. won that kitchen appliance company lawsuit and $1700 . . . Cheetah moves from Broadway and 53d April 1 to the Palm Gardens, 52d and 9th. There'll be a glass-walled barroom for adults who can watch the dancing . . . Marlene Dietrich shelved a return to NY — but may play the Osaka, Japan, Fair in the mid-1970s.

Mitch Miller's play, "Here's Where I Belong," was Philadelphia's hottest show on opening night — a spotlight caught fire . . . The Burtons, arriving Feb. 3 for "Dr. Faustus," will be at the Sherry-Netherland. (The change from another hotel caused a frantic switch in security plans.)

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: TV Producer Ron Cochran asked a suburban friend whether the nearby lake has frozen over. "You can't tell," said the neighbor. "It's all covered with snow."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "A bachelor is a man who leans toward women — but not far enough to fall."

★ ★ ★

EARL'S PEARLS: Another ex-actor has turned politician. He appeared in many science fiction films — and now he's promising the voters the moon.

The new Andy Warhol film runs 25 hours, and Hugh Wedlock says the theater has a sign: "Nobody will be seated during the last ten hours." . . . That's earl, brother.

A Look at TV

IMF Methods Fascinate

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — "Mission: Impossible" is certainly one of network television's superior suspense series, but the calm and righteous manner in which the superagents commit all manner of misdemeanors and felonies is one of its most fascinating aspects.

Of course, the intrepid agents are always on the right side. But still there's an old TV axiom, backed up by its code, that insists that crime may not pay.

In last night's episode — which was most entertaining, by the way—the agents specialized in elaborate cheating at cards and carefully arranged to have a homicide committed.

It seems that a bad guy had a 14-carat emerald to which was attached a top-secret message that some other bad guys wanted.

The "Mission: Impossible" team, with its usual precision, made an elaborate plan that included a wildly complicated electronic device for cheating at poker.

The good guys, of course, won the poker game and the emerald along with it. Then by another elaborate stratagem, they persuaded one of the bad guys to knock off his colleague.

The whole approach of the series is different from anything else on the air. Where the police and private eye shows feature detection work and occasional fights, and the secret agent shows go in for derring-do and frequent fights, "Mission: Impossible" builds its suspense around a meticulous plan. The action comes almost casually along the way.

It should be added, too, that the regulars in the show are all excellent performers, the production is handsome and the scripts, generally, are very good.

"World of Horses" on NBC Friday night, was an interesting demonstration of patching together an assortment of subjects into an attention-holding 60 minutes. We saw something of the raising of thoroughbreds, the training of police horses, the techniques of pulling off a stagecoach wreck for a western movie, a champion rodeo rider on a bucking horse and even and English steeplechase.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Air Force S. Sgt. John L. Wolfe will begin preparations in mid-February to go to Vietnam, leaving behind his motherless children who will stay in an orphanage and with relatives.

Since Wolfe's wife died two years ago, he has cared for the children alone. He likely could get a hardship discharge but he chose to accept a Vietnam tour instead.

He's in Louisville, Ky., with his five children, where he plans to "just rest a bit" before starting out for Lackland Air Force base, Tex., next month.

Wolfe's three oldest children will stay in the Spring Meadows home at Middletown, Ky. Two others will live with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wolfe of Valley Station, Ky. A younger son already lives with Wolfe's brother.

GI's Wife Wins Contest Trip, Reunion

Mrs. Kathy Dunne is on her way to see her Army husband, thanks to a friend who enabled her to win a contest.

Mrs. Dunne, 19, of Brooklyn left by plane yesterday for Bangkok, Thailand, where her husband Pct. Robert J. Dunne, is flying in from Vietnam. Military officials arranged for a six-day reunion.

Mrs. Dunne was married last February and is expecting a baby in April. A friend sent her name on a postcard to a radio station contest, and it was selected as the winning entry, which entitled her to a trip.

"I feel just great, wonderful," Mrs. Dunne said as she boarded a plane, accompanied by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Thomas Dunne.

PERCY AT CEREMONIES—Sen. Charles Percy reads from the works of Lincoln yesterday during ceremonies marking the rededication of the restored Ford's Theater — the scene of President Lincoln's assassination — in Washington. Behind Percy is Interior Secretary Stewart Udall. Lincoln's box, draped with flags, will not be occupied when stage performances begin Feb. 26.

D.C. Assassination Site

Ford's Theater Rededicated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ford's Theater has reopened for dramatic presentations more than a century after President Abraham Lincoln was shot fatally there while viewing a play.

The historic theater where Lincoln was assassinated April 14, 1865, has been restored to its original condition through a three-year, $2.7-million National Park Service project.

The theater's rededication Sunday ended a century during which it was first padlocked after Lincoln's death and later used as an office building, storehouse and museum.

Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall told the 800 persons invited to the ceremony that Park Service officials "are pleased to rededicate this building as a place for entertainment and pleasure—the purpose for which it was originally intended."

★ ★ ★

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and several other speakers sought to apply Lincoln speeches in Civil War days to conditions facing the nation today.

"In these days we hear his ageless words to Ameircans," Humphrey said: " 'With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and his orphan—to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations.' "

The theater has been a Park Service museum since 1933. A new museum has been established in its basement and the room across the street, where Lincoln died, has been restored.

The theater seats 1,700 on the main floor and in two balconies. It has been restored to a gleaming white, with gold trim and red carpets.

The flag-draped box where Lincoln was shot will not be used by audiences at plays to begin Feb. 26. In the box is a replica of the upholstered rocking chair used by the President.

Sicily Quake Victims Shun Better Shelter

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — Despite bitter cold and recurrent rains, many of the survivors from western Sicily's earthquakes a week ago refused to leave their muddy tent camps today for shelter in cities on the edge of the disaster zone.

The holdouts refused to go into buildings for fear of a new disaster, after shocks continued to rock the region from time to time.

Peasants told officials they were afraid if they left they would never see their fields and home sites again. Some said they had to look after their sheep and goats that survived the quake.

Of more than 40,000 homeless, only several thousand consented to move into schools, hotels, government buildings and army barracks in Palermo, Trapani, Marsala and other communities.

At Castelvetrano, one of the 12 communities shattered by the quake, a column of 20 trucks sent to evacuate refugees returned with only five families.

With pneumonia, scarlet fever and other illnesses sweeping the frigid, muddy tent camps, plans were rushed to start construction of barracks to replace the tent camps.

The search for bodies of the quake victims continued, and 201 have been recovered. It was believed the final toll would be at least twice that.

Meanwhile, two babies—both boys—were born to quake survivors over the weekend.

6 Big Sessions of Cooking Fun!
2 Days and 4 Evenings . . . January 22, 23, 24, 25th

What's new in the world of cooking? Hundreds of ideas and recipes are to be found in this ninth annual section devoted to good eating. Pontiac Press Food editor, Janet Odell has selected material that will appeal to the most sophisticated cook while including helpful hints for the inexperienced. Cooking is an art, the results of which appear on your table 1095 times a year — 1098 this year, as it's Leap Year.

Meringue Is Folded Into Hot Pie Filling

Mrs. Basil Butler who now owns the gas range her daughter, Linda, won at last year's cooking school shares her recipe for lemon pie.

The mother of seven children and grandmother of 16, Mrs. Butler spends a lot of time cooking. The family gathers on weekends.

Sometimes Mrs. Butler uses lemon pie filling mix and adds a tablespoon each of butter and grated lemon rind to the hot mixture.

Other times, she makes her pie from scratch.

LEMON PUFF PIE
By Mrs. Basil Butler

1 baked 9-inch pie shell
4 eggs, separated
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
¼ cup lemon juice
Dash of salt
½ cup sugar (for meringue)

Cook yolks, ¼ cup sugar, lemon rind and juice in double boiler, stirring until thickened.

Beat egg whites with salt until stiff. Slowly beat in ½ cup sugar. Beat stiff again. Fold into hot lemon mixture and heap into baked pie shell.

Bake 15-20 minutes at 325 degrees, or until golden. It will settle a bit.

Pontiac Press Photo

A PERFECT PIE—Mrs. Basil Butler, Lakeview Street, takes a perfect lemon pie from the Crown gas range her daughter won at the 1967 Pontiac Press cooking school and gave to her. A similar range will be awarded some lucky person this year also.

Jam, Brandy Fill a Cake

This cake is fine to use for a grownup birthday party.

Apricot Butter Cream Cake

Two 9-inch white cake layers
½ cup apricot preserves
2 tablespoons brandy
Vanilla Butter Cream
Slivered toasted blanched almonds

Put the two cake layers together with a filling of the apricot preserves mixed with the brandy. Frost top and sides with Vanilla Butter Cream. Press almonds over top and sides of frosting. Chill.

Vanilla Butter Cream: Stir together over low heat 1 cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon cream of tartar, and ¼ cup water until sugar dissolves. Cook without stirring to 240 degrees or soft ball stage.

Gradually beat hot syrup into 2 stiffly beaten egg whites. Cool. Beat ⅔ cup butter well with 2 teaspoons vanilla and 1 tablespoon brandy. Beat in thoroughly the egg-white mixture, a few tablespoons at a time.

CRUNCHY APPLE PIE — Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Mix ½ cup each firmly packed brown sugar, granulated sugar and flour with one teaspoon cinnamon; ⅛ teaspoon each allspice, cloves and nutmeg; one teaspoon grated lemon peel and cup butter or margarine. With a pastry blender or two knives, mix until crumbly. Spread one-third of this mixture over unbaked pastry. Peel, core and slice six tart apples; put into pie plate. Spoon remaining sugar and spice mixture over apples. Bake at 400 degrees for 50-55 minutes.

Make With Oatmeal

Update Boston Cake

All-American Old Boston contributes this tasty misnomer to your easy-but-festive bill o' fare. Serve this streamlined version of Boston's famous pie that's really a cake. — And your family will eat as heartily and as gratefully as the early New Englanders who gave it to us.

The cake is a rich, delicious chocolate delicately flavored with brown sugar and toasty rolled oats. It's a fine moist single-layer cake that bakes in a nine-inch pie plate.

Split after baking, it's filled with vanilla pudding made from a mix and topped with sifted confectioners' sugar.

EASY BOSTON CREAM PIE

¾ cup boiling water
½ cup rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
⅓ cup butter or margarine, soft
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup firmly-packed brown sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 egg
1 oz. (1 sq.) unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt

Filling:

One 3½-oz. pkg. vanilla pudding and pie filling
1½ cups milk

For cake, pour boiling water over oats; allow to stand 20 minutes. Cream together butter and sugars. Blend in vanilla, egg and chocolate. Add oats mixture; mix well.

Sift together flour, soda and salt. Add to creamed mixture, blending well.

Pour batter into well-greased and floured 9-inch pie plate. Bake in 350-degree preheated oven for 25 to 30 minutes. Let stand about 10 minutes. Remove from pie plate; cool on wire rack.

Split cake horizontally; spread cooled filling (see below) between layers. Sprinkle top with sifted confectioners' sugar.

For filling, combine pudding and pie filling and milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a full boil; cool. Place waxed paper directly on pudding while cooling. When filling is completely cooled, remove paper. Stir before filling cake.

Bake Apple Rings With Melted Butter

For the quickest baking, best tasting, Baked Apples bake them with butter. Core 5 or 6 large cooking apples and peel them if desired or leave on skins for color. Then cut into rings and drop in cold salted water to keep white.

Next, drain and arrange apple rings in a dish. Sprinkle with ⅓ cup sugar. Pour on 3 tablespoons lemon juice and ½ cup melted butter. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven 20-25 minutes or until apples are tender.

To glaze: Sprinkle with sugar, dot with butter and broil about 4 inches from heat source for 4 to 5 minutes and serve.

EASY BOSTON CREAM PIE — Toasty rolled oats and brown sugar flavor this moist Boston Cream Pie. The filling is easy, tasty vanilla pudding. Using a small tea strainer, sprinkle the sugar onto the cake through the patterned holes of a lacy paper doily. The on-top design is a charming personal touch for a fine old standard.

Any Fish Fillets Fine for a Savory Loaf

If there's a possible problem with fish and seaafood, it's no longer whether to serve them several times a week. Everyone's agreed that that's a wise move. The difficulty is how to vary them sufficiently to keep the family intrigued.

Savory Fish Loaf

1 pound fish fillets, fresh or frozen
1 cup water
½ cup bread crumbs
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
½ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup milk
2 tablesponons melted butter or margarine
2 eggs, separated

Place fish in a large frying pan. Add water and bring to boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer gently 5 to 10 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Drain and flake fish.

Combine bread crumbs, parsley, onion, mustard, salt and pepper. Add milk, melted butter and egg yolks. Beat well. Stir in flaked fish. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into flaked fish mixture.

Pour into well-greased loaf pan or 3-cup mold. Bake at 350 degrees (moderate oven) 30 minutes. Serve hot or cold with sauce made by thinning condensed tomato soup with a little white wine, sherry or milk. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

CRANBERRY GLAZED CHICKEN — Oven baked with a new flavor mildly seasoned coating mix, this crispy chicken and cranberry glaze is an enticing combo. Jellied cranberry sauce is spiced with ginger and tinged with orange to bring out the best in chicken and to bring family or friends to table in a hurry.

Cranberry Sauce Makes Glaze

Chicken has been America's dish ever since the Pilgrims landed. Whenever there was a frontier to be rolled backward, chickens went along because they could scratch out a living right by the cabin door — no forests to be felled for grazing lands.

They were conveniently packaged — two to six portions per fowl, so that to do in a chicken without refrigeration did not rally the family 'round the smokehouse to cure surplus meat.

Then, too, chickens could simmer to perfection in a stew pot slung over a campfire, or fry to melting crispness over the same fire.

Though we have long since forgotten these lovable characteristics of the chicken, we still seek them out for their versatility and low cost. Streamlined cooking techniques have further endeared the bird to modern housewives.

And to get back to the Pilgrims, use the "crane-berries" they found growing in abundance, to glaze finished chicken. Jellied cranberry sauce spiced with ginger and tinged with orange brings out the best in chicken and brings family or friends to table in a hurry.

Cranberry Glazed Chicken

2½ pound frying chicken pieces
1 envelope seasoned coating mix for chicken
½ cup jellied cranberry sauce
¼ cup water
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
¼ teaspoon ginger

Coat chicken with seasoned coating mix as directed on package. Arrange chicken in single layer in ungreased shallow baking dish. Bake at 400 degrees for about 30 to 35 minutes or until browned.

Meanwhile, combine cranberry sauce, water, brown sugar Worcestershire sauce, orange rind, and ginger in a small saucepan. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly, until sauce is almost smooth and cranberry sauce is melted.

Spoon over part of each chicken piece in baking dish. Do not cover chicken pieces entirely. Continue baking for 10 to 15 minutes or until chicken is tender. Serve garnished with parsley and orange wedges, if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Caramelization Caused by Heat

Some dedicated cooks shake a little confectioners sugar on the top of a sweet vanilla souffle after it has baked for 20 minutes. Sugar adds sweetness, and also a gentle browning on top.

With sugar's automatic reaction to oven heat, the change in color is chemical. It caramelizes to cause browning. By controlling caramelization, the shade may be a delicate tint or a rich deep brown. But, as color deepens, sweetening lessens.

Fine for Meats

For a nippy sauce accompaniment for ham, smoked tongue or boiled beef, add ⅓ cup prepared mustard and 2 tablespoons horseradish to 1 cup dairy sour cream. It's a quick sauce that sparks winter appetites.

Chilled Creamy Soup Gets Touch of Sherry

Join sherry with any of the popular condensed soups, adding 1 tablespoon per cup, be it consomme, cream of shrimp or cream of chicken. When sherry has not been added before chilling, give the already-chilled soup a whirl in the blender with sherry and other seasonings.

★ ★ ★

Add sherry, too, to the condensed cream soups used as sauces in au gratin casseroles, in macaroni and "second day" meat or fish dishes.

★ ★ ★

Well-tested and found delicious is this elusively-flavored soup, planned for advance preparation and service on the patio or indoors.

Spindrift Soup

1 bunch watercress
2 large cucumbers
3 envelopes instant chicken broth mix
2 cups hot water
1 pint heavy cream
1 pint milk
2 teaspoons salt; ¼ teaspoon white pepper,
⅓ cup dry or medium Sherry

Remove heavy stems from watercress; wash thoroughly. Pare, seed and cut up cucumbers. Dissolve broth mix in hot water.

Puree watercress and cucumber in electric blender with about ½ cup chicken broth. Add remaining chicken broth, cream and milk. Season to taste. Add sherry.

Chill thoroughly. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Note: As an alternate for the broth mix and hot water, use canned chicken broth or bouillon to make 2 cups.

Mold Cheese and Garnish With Nuts

Cheese-nut balls are a luxurious first course!

Roquefort Pecans

½ pound Roquefort cheese, soft
¼ cup butter, soft
1 teaspoon finely grated onion, pulp and juice
1 tablespoon minced celery
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt and white pepper to taste
48 large pecan halves

Beat together thoroughly the Roquefort, butter, onion, celery and Worcestershire. Stir in salt and pepper. Cover and chill. With moist hands, roll mixture into 24 small balls.

★ ★ ★

Press 2 pecan halves on either side of each cheese ball. Serve at once with a before-supper beverage. Makes 24 hors d'oeuvre.

Smooth Topping for Ice Cream

Dress up vanilla ice cream with a creamy Carmel Sauce. In a saucepan melt 2 tablespoons butter and stir in 1 cup, plus 2 tablespoons firmly packed brown sugar and ½ cup half and half or light cream. Over medium heat, bring to a boil, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved.

Blend a small amount of hot mixture into 2 beaten egg yolks and return all to saucepan. Cook 1 minute more, then remove from heat and stir in 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cool before serving.

TURKEY BURGUNDY — Heat one package (2-lb.) frozen Giblet Gravy and Sliced Turkey according to package directions. Meanwhile lightly brown one medium onion, sliced, and one can (2 oz.) mushroom pieces and stems, drained, in a skillet. Add turkey slices and gravy to skillet with ½ cup burgundy wine. Cook 10-15 minutes over medium heat or until of desired consistency. Serve over noodles or rice. Makes 4 servings.

SAUCED EGGS — This unusual entree or brunch dish has both Scotch and Italian ancestors. Hide hard-cooked eggs in sausage; coat with egg and crumbs. Bake and serve with spaghetti sauce.

Sausage Hides Hard Cooked Eggs

When a traditional Scotch food meets an Italian sauce, the union is unbelievably delicious.

Envision a hard cooked egg hidden in the center of sausage meat that's been baked until the sausage is cooked. Then it's cut in half and each half is served with generous spoonsful of spaghetti sauce.

It doesn't take long to cook the eggs and only minutes to heat the spaghetti sauce. The sauce pours right from the jar and is chef seasoned and ready for heating.

These sauced eggs can be served for brunch, for lunch, or for supper. Accompany them with Italian style green beans, an avocado and orange sections salad.

For dessert, serve an English specialty, vanilla pudding and cake, and coffee or tea.

SAUCED EGGS

5 eggs
1 lb. pork sausage meat
1 tablespoon warm water
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon shortening
1 (1 lb.) jar meatless spaghetti sauce

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Hard cook 4 eggs. Cool quickly under cold water. Shell.

Mix sausage meat with warm water, salt, pepper. Mix together with a fork to keep mixture fluffy. Divide sausage meat into four parts. Put one part around an egg, covering the egg completely with the sausage meat and keeping egg in center of mixture.

Beat remaining egg until bubbly. Dip sausage coated eggs into the beaten egg and then into bread crumbs. Heat shortening and brown eggs on all sides.

Arrange browned eggs in shallow baking dish. Bake for 30 minutes.

Meanwhile, heat the spaghetti sauce. To serve, cut the baked eggs in half and serve topped with spaghetti sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Salt and Sugar Had Shape of Corn

"Corned" originally meant preserved by embedding in dry salt corns. At that time, corns referred to large, coarse grains and applied not only to salt but to sugar corns as well.

Today's improved corning process is wet. Meats are immersed in a highly concentrated salt brine or pickling solution. Sugar and spices are added to aid in curing, and also to enhance the flavor of such corned meats as beef brisket or tongue.

When cooked and canned, corned meats are low-cost, convenience foods, ready for emergency use in sandwiches, salads, casserole combinations, and other main dishes.

Sausage and Eggs Are Good in the Morning

Fresh sausage is so versatile it's practically a staple during the blustery winter months. For quick energy and family-pleasing enjoyment, it's unbeatable.

For easy-to-prepare suppers, for more relaxed weekend breakfasts, for snacks and burgers, for poultry stuffing and party hors d'oeuvres . . . fresh sausage is so handy to have in the refrigerator.

Sausage and Eggs Rancher Style

12 oz. smoked sausage
2 teaspoons pork fat (drained from cooked sausage)
2 teaspoons butter
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
½ cup sliced green pepper (⅛" thick x 1" long)
6 fresh large eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup milk
½ cup cubed fresh tomato (peeled, seeded and diced in ½" pieces)

Place sausage in skillet and add ½" hot water. Heat to a simmer, cover and cook 10 minutes. Drain and continue cooking at medium heat 10-15 minutes till brown. Drain sausage and slice in ¼" thick rounds.

Place pork fat and butter in clean skillet. Add onions and green pepper and saute at medium heat for 4-5 minutes till softened but not brown. Add sliced sausage and continue cooking 2 minutes.

Beat eggs with salt and milk just to blend. Add egg mixture and tomatoes to skillet and stir to blend with other ingredients. Cook at low-medium heat, stirring several times until eggs are cooked to a creamy-soft consistency.

Serve at once with buttered white or rye toast. Makes 5-6 servings.

Spareribs, Kraut Are Favorite Pair

Here's a dish the men always love—spareribs and sauerkraut. Cut spareribs into serving size pieces. Add 2 cups of water, 1 teaspoon salt, a sliced onion and a sliced celery stalk. Cover and cook over low heat 1½ hours.

Lift out ribs and place sauerkraut in bottom of pan. Add caraway seeds, if desired. Place ribs on kraut, cover and simmer over low heat until meat is tender, about 30 minutes.

Men Enjoy Taste

This Is Rib-Sticking

Choucroute garnie, sauerkraut garnished with pork, is a magnificent dish — considered one of the world's finest foods. This great Old World entree is a hearty one, perfect for informal dinner parties for lovers of robust foreign food.

The old Alsatian recipes for choucroute garnie called for a number of vegetables, a great variety of spices, wine and lots and lots of pork and sausages. It took hours to prepare and made a mammoth dinner, just the right size for those large, hearty eating families.

The following simplified recipe has been streamlined and simplified to make it easy for modern families to enjoy choucroute garnie often.

Alsatian-Style Choucroute Garnie

½ pound thick sliced bacon, cut into 1-inch pieces
2 cups coarsely chopped onion
2 cups chopped peeled apple
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 cans (1 pound 11 ounces each) sauerkraut, well drained
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups dry white wine
1½ pounds spareribs cut into 4-rib portions
½ teaspoon salt
1½ pounds boneless smoked pork shoulder (butt)
4 to 6 precooked sausage links (knockwurst bratwurst, smoked thueringer, smoked sausage links or frankfurters)

Partially cook bacon pieces in large fry pan or Dutch oven; drain off drippings. Add onion, apple and garlic; heat.

Add sauerkraut and pepper; mix. Drizzle wine over sauerkraut; cover and cook slowly 1 hour.

Brown spareribs in a small amount of bacon drippings. Sprinkle with salt. Arrange spareribs and pork shoulder on sauerkraut.

Cover and cook slowly until meat or spareribs is tender, 1 to 1½ hours. Add sausages during last 15 minutes' cooking time and allow to heat.

Slice smoked pork shoulder and arrange meats attractively on platter around sauerkraut. Yield: 6 generous servings.

ALSATIAN-STYLE—Handsome Choucroute Garnie, sauerkraut garnished with pork, made famous by good Alsatian cooks. This simplified version will please American cooks. It's wonderful food for fanciers of hearty foreign food.

Chiffon Pie with Dates Is Elegant

There's no getting around it. You have in "Brandied Date Chiffon Pie" an elegant, smooth and rich dessert that can't be beat. Pieces of brandied fresh California dates lend mellow flavor to the chilled filling, and exotic slivered dates on top of the pie add another distinctive touch to this regal concoction.

Brandied Date Chiffon Pie

1¼ cups dates
¼ cup brandy or 1 tablespoon brandy extract and 3 tablespoons water
2 eggs, separated
1 cup milk
⅓ cup sugar
1 envelope plain gelatin
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup whipping cream
9-inch baked, cooled pie shell

Cut 1 cup dates into coarse pieces; mix with brandy and let stand several hours or overnight.

Combine egg yolks, milk, ¼ cup sugar, gelatin and salt in saucepan. Beat with whisk if necessary to remove lumps. Place over medium heat and cook, stirring, until gelatin is completely dissolved and mixture heated thoroughly.

Do not boil. Chill until mixture begins to thicken.

Meanwhile, beat egg whites until foamy; gradually beat in remaining sugar and continue beating until soft peaks form. With same beater, whip cream until stiff.

Fold gelatin mixture into egg whites; fold in brandied dates and half of cream. Turn into pie shell.

Cut remaining dates into slivers. Garnish pie with remaining cream and slivered dates. Chill until firm. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Learn Facts About Fats From Book

Polyunsaturated is a word that has a familiar ring to almost everyone, but what does it mean?

The answer is in a new booklet, "The ABC's of Fats In Your Foods," written by the staff of the Nutrition Research Department of Corn Products Food Technology Institute.

The booklet not only defines polyunsaturates and tells where they are found but also clarifies many other confusing terms such as cholestrol, phytosterols, antioxidants and triglycerides.

The booklet is written in a clear, straightforward style and with a question-answer format that makes it easy to pick up and scan or read in depth.

The area covered by the booklet was based on the many questions Corn Products Company receives in relation to corn oil, margarine, mayonnaise, salad dressings and peanut butter. It outlines the ingredients included in the products, tells how the products are made and explains many of the technical names included on the product labels.

There is information on nutritional values and calorie counts and an excellent glossary.

Vegetable Platter Stars at Party

PARTY VEGETABLE PLATTER — Perfect accompaniment for a party roast is this colorful platter of frozen vegetables selected for pleasing variety in color, shape, flavor and texture. From left to right, the vegetables are: cut green beans, whole kernel corn, asparagus spears, artichoke hearts and whole baby carrots. Accompanying sauces are: Hollandaise Sauce, Chive Butter Sauce and Welsh Rarebit Sauce.

An excellent way to tempt appetites and brighten party menus featuring a simple roast of poultry is with a colorful vegetable platter. Depending upon the number of guests, choose two, three, four or even five different vegetables, selecting them for pleasing variety in color, shape, flavor and texture.

With the aid of convenient, ready-to-cook frozen vegetables, the vegetables can be cooked quickly and easily while the roast cools sufficiently for easy carving.

★ ★ ★

The illustrated vegetable platter combines five vegetables and yields 10 to 12 servings — or enough for 6 guests since most persons will want to have servings of at least two of the vegetables.

PARTY VEGETABLE

- 1 package (9 oz.) frozen cut green beans
- 1 package (10 oz.) frozen whole kernel corn
- 1 package (10 oz.) frozen asparagus spears
- 1 package (10 oz.) frozen whole baby carrots

Cook frozen vegetables in boiling salted water according to package directions. Drain and arrange in diagonal rows on a long narrow platter. Garnish with parsley, if desired. Accompany with one or more of the following sauces.

Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Welsh Rarebit Sauce: Heat 2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen Welsh rarebit according to package directions Serve hot over cooked vegetables. Makes enough for 6 to 8 servings.

Seasoned Butter Sauce: Melt 2 sticks (½ cup) butter or margarine. Add to taste one or more of the following: frozen chives, shredded Parmesan cheese, frozen lemon juice, sauteed frozen mushrooms (sliced or chopped), celery seed, curry powder, prepared mustard, Worcestershire sauce. Serve hot over cooked vegetables. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Hollandaise Sauce: Use convenient prepared Hollandaise sauce available in jars or make your own as follows:

In top of double boiler, combine 2 egg yolks, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt and a dash of cayenne pepper. Mix well. Place over hot (not boiling) water and beat with a wire whisk until mixture thickens slightly.

Remove from heat. Add ½ cup (1 stick) butter or margarine, about a sixth at a time, whipping constantly and allowing each bit to melt before adding the next. Stir in 1 to 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

If the sauce separates, add boiling water by the teaspoon, beating vigorously. When prepared in advance, cover closely with plastic wrap and set in bowl of warm water. Makes enough sauce for 6 to 8 vegetable servings.

POTATOES AND ONIONS CHANTILLY— Combine 4 cups mashed potatoes, ¼ cup margarine or butter, 1½ teaspoons salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper; mix well. Stir in all but one-third cup of a 3½ oz. can french fried onions. Spoon into 1½ quart casserole. Combine one cup cream, whipped, with two-thirds cup grated cheddar cheese and ½ teaspoon salt. Spread lightly over potato mixture. Sprinkle with parsley flakes. Bake at 325 degrees for 25-30 minutes, or until delicately browned. Top with remaining onions. Makes 8-10 servings.

Asparagus, Corn Go in Casserole With Noodles

How do you fit everything into one busy afternoon schedule and still prepare a hearty, nourishing dinner? Here's one answer.

Green and Gold Casserole

- 3 cups* cooked asparagus cuts and tips
- 1 can yellow corn kernels
- 2 cups fried noodles
- 1 can cream of vegetable soup
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Drain asparagus and corn, spread in bottom of shallow 1½-quart casserole. Crush one cup of noodles and sprinkle over top.

Heat soup, add butter and stir until smooth. Pour into casserole, top with balance of noodles and bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes or until golden and bubbling.

Sprinkle with parsley before serving. Serves 6.

*Equavalent of two standard (No. 300) can, glass container or package of frozen.

Preserve Flavor With Proper Storage

Fresh produce needs a little care to maintain the quality and food value purchased. Before placing vegetables into the crisper of the refrigerator, remove any yellowed leaves, bruised or damaged spots. Slip it into a plastic bag, or wrap with transparent film, to protect the surface from losing moisture.

Many vegetables require moist surroundings with low temperatures 35-40 degrees to retain their food value and quality. But tomatoes, bell peppers, eggplant, okra, cucumbers, prefer warmer surroundings, 50 degrees.

If you are buying a week's supply of fresh vegetables, here is a general guide to help you decide when they should be used. The vegetables listed under the 1-2 day lose their flavor quickly.

1-2 Days	3-4 Days	Week	Week or More
Asparagus	Cauliflower	Anise	Artichoke
Fresh Beans	Collards	Beets	Cabbage
Fava	Kale	Broccoli	Carrots
Lima	Swiss Chard	Cucumbers	Celery
Wax or Snap	Iceberg Lettuce	Eggplant	Celery Root
Brussels Sprouts	Okra	Endive	Garlic
Corn	Watercress	Escarole	Dry Onions
Mustard Greens	Pink Tomatoes	Kohlrabi	Parsnips
Fresh Peas		Leeks	Rutabagas
Bunch, leafy lettuce varieties		Green Onions	Winter Squash
Spinach		Green Peppers	Turnips
Ripe Tomatoes		Radishes
		Romaine
		Parsley
		Summer Squash

They Resemble Wee Cabbages

Brussels Sprouts are also a member of the cabbage family but very sophisticated. It grows on a tall stem and the many tiny heads form along the stem with the cabbage leaves at the top. (Regular cabbage grows on a short stem with the leaves forming into one head at the top of the stem.)

Brussels Sprouts are one of the newer forms of cabbage. It dates back to the Middle Ages when it was cultivated in Northern Europe around Belgium and eventually grown in France, England and America.

Brussels Sprouts should be firm, not puffy, with green leaves. Keep them cold in the refrigerator and plan to serve the sprouts within a day or two.

When preparing sprouts, remove any loose leaves. Wash in cold water. Cut an X into the stem so it will cook as quickly as the head. Put the sprouts in a small amount of boiling salted water or chicken bouillon.

Set the timer for 8 minutes. Test with a fork when the time is up. Let them cook just a few minutes before checking again. Brussells sprouts have their best flavor and appearance when cooked only until tender crisp.

Garnish the drained sprouts with sour cream, slivered almonds, pits of pimiento or seeded Tokay grape halves. It is an elegant vegetable to serve with roast beef, rack of lamb or baked ham.

Ever Eat Yams With Cheese?

Louisiana yams go continental. Most Americans do not associate yams with other vegetables, and particularly not cauliflower.

In England, one of the favorite dishes is cauliflower au gratin, or sometimes known as cauliflower cheese. It might come as a surprise to some people that yams can be treated in the same way.

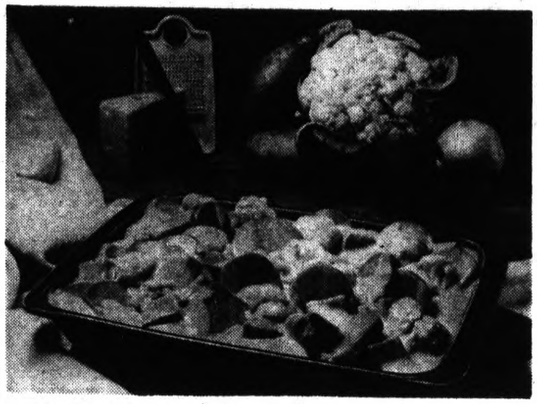
Why not treat yourself to the best of both sides of the Atlantic and combine the sweet, golden yams with the cauliflower and the cheese sauce, adding some ham to give you a meal in one?

Yam-Ham Cauliflower Cheese

1 medium onion, chopped
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
2 cups milk
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon each: Pepper, thyme leaves
4 medium yams, cooked, peeled and sliced or 2 cans (1 pound each) yams, drained
2 cups cubed cooked ham
1½ cups cooked cauliflower

Saute onion in butter until crisp-tender; blend in flour. Gradually add milk; cook, stirring constantly until sauce boils 1 minute. Add cheese and seasonings. Stir and heat until cheese melts.

Pour sauce over yams, ham and cauliflower layered in 2-quart baking dish. Bake in 350 degree (moderate) oven 20 minutes.



YAM-HAM CASSEROLE — A well-seasoned cheese sauce surrounds two favorite vegetables . . . plump, moist yams and little white cauliflowerets. Cubed ham, scattered throughout, lends a slight saltiness to the whole dish.

Quick-Stir Way Cooks Broccoli Rapidly

A quick way to have broccoli ready for serving in a few minutes is using the quick-stir method. Heat 2-3 tablespoons of salad oil in an electric frypan (360 degrees).

Cut flowerets from stalk. Slice the broccoli stalk into long diagonal slices about ¼'f thick. Add the slices to the hot oil, cover, and shake. Let it cook about 5 minutes.

Then, add the flowerets along with 2 tablespoons of water or wine. Put the lid on again, shake and let it steam for another 5 minutes. The broccoli should be tender when tested with a fork. If not, let it cook another couple of minutes.

Toasted sesame seeds, slivered almonds, bits of walnuts or pimiento pieces will dress up the broccoli along with the usual salt, pepper, butter or margarine.

How Much?

How many calories in an envelope of sugar often served in restaurants? Sometime (about one out of a dozen different brands) the envelope contains 2 teaspoons of sugar. But generally the envelope holds 1 teaspoon measure. And 1 teaspoon of sugar alway totals 18 calories.

DEEP DISH BAKED SANDWICH PIE — Spread 8 slices white bread with butter — place 6 slices butter-side-down around edge of 9-inch pie plate. If there is a hole in center, cover with a square of bread. Spread 6 slices American cheese with contents of 2 cans (4½ oz.) deviled ham and place one on each slice of bread. Beat 4 eggs lightly with ½ teaspoon instant minced onion and pour over all. Cut remaining bread in triangles, arrange butter-side-up on top. Bake at 350 degrees 25-30 minutes until eggs are firm and toast is brown. Cool 5 minutes before cutting. Serves 6.

Cheese in Sandwich Puts Protein in Lunch

The backbone of a packed lunch is the sandwich. But, it should not be the same sandwich, served on the same type of bread, every time. To help you add variety to the lunch boxes you pack, we offer the following sandwich ideas. They're made with dairy products, so you know they're nutritious.

Tuna Cheese Sandwich

2 3-ounce packages cream cheese
1 7-ounce can tuna fish, drained and flaked
¾ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup minced onion
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon pepper

Beat cream cheese until soft. Add remaining ingredients and beat until well blended. Spread sandwiches. Makes 6 servings.

Swiss Cheese Spread

2 cups shredded Swiss cheese (½ lb.)
½ cup chopped ripe or stuffed olives
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
¾ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

Combine ingredients; blend well. Makes 2 cups sandwich spread.

Cream Cheese-Marmalade Filling

1 3-ounce package cream cheese
¼ cup orange marmalade
6 slices raisin bread, buttered

★ ★ ★

Combine cream cheese and orange marmalade. Beat together until smooth. Spread on 3 of the slices of buttered bread; top with remaining slices. Cut sandwiches in half diagonally. Makes 3 sandwiches.

Chees and Ham Spread

1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
3 tablespoons chili sauce
3 tablespoons drained sweet pickle relish
¼ cup canned deviled ham
2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese (½ pound)
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

Combine ingredients; blend well. Makes 2 cups sandwich spread.

Cocoa in Pan

When flouring cake pans in which chocolate cakes are to be baked, add a little cocoa to the flour with which you are dusting the pan. It will keep the white of the flour from showing on the bottom of the cake.

Coffee Cake Has Surprise

This unusual coffee cake is very impressive for special occasions — may be served warm or cool.

Fig Swirl Coffee Cake

1¾ cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
1 egg, slightly beaten
¾ cup milk
¼ cup salad oil
¼ cup butter, melted
¼ cup sugar
¾ cup finely chopped dried figs
1 tablespoon unsweetened cocoa
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and ¼ cup sugar. Combine egg, milk and salad oil. Pour into dry ingredients and stir just enough to moisten. Combine melted butter, ¼ cup sugar, figs, cocoa and cinnamon.

★ ★ ★

Spoon one-half batter into greased 8-inch square pan. Top with cocoa-fig mixture; then the remaining batter. Bake at 375 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

New Cool Rise Method

Roll Making Now Speeded Up

A time-and-energy-saving innovation has been added to the exciting CoolRise way of yeast baking. With the "one-bowl" method, developed by the Kitchens of Robin Hood Flour, the preparation is as quick and easy as mixing a one-bowl cake.

This new method eliminates the steps of checking the temperature of the water and dissolving the yeast. Now, all the dry ingredients, including the active dry yeast, are combined in one bowl.

Fanciful dill Pinwheels are sure to add an extra spark to any family meal. The youngsters will be fascinated by their clever shape. And, everyone will enjoy the zesty combination of dill weed and minced onion that accents the flavor of these taste-tempting rolls.

DILL PINWHEEL ROLLS
(One-bowl CoorRise Method)

5½-6½ cups Robin Hood flour* (Regular or Instant Blending)
2 packages active dry yeast
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon salt*
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
2 teaspoons dill weed
¼ cup softened margarine or shortening
2¼ cups very hot tap water
Melted margarine

Spoon or pour flour into dry measuring cup. Level off and pour measured flour onto wax paper. Combine 2 cups flour, undissolved yeast, sugar, salt, onion and dill weed in large mixing bowl.

Stir well to blend. Add softened margarine. Add hot tap water to ingredients in bowl all at once.

Beat with electric mixer at medium speed for 2 minutes. Scrape bowl occasionally. Add 1 cup more flour. Beat with electric mixer at high speed for 1 minute or until thick and elastic. Scrape bowl occasionally.

Stir in remaining flour gradually with wooden spoon. Use just enough flour to make a soft dough which leaves sides of bowl. Turn out onto floured board. Round up into a ball.

Knead 5-10 minutes or until dough is smooth and elastic. Cover with plastic wrap then a towel. Let rest for 20 minutes on board. Punch down.

Divide dough into 2 equal portions. Round up each portion. Roll each portion into an 8x10-inch rectangle on lightly greased board. Cut long side of rectangle in half. Cut each half into 8 inch strips.

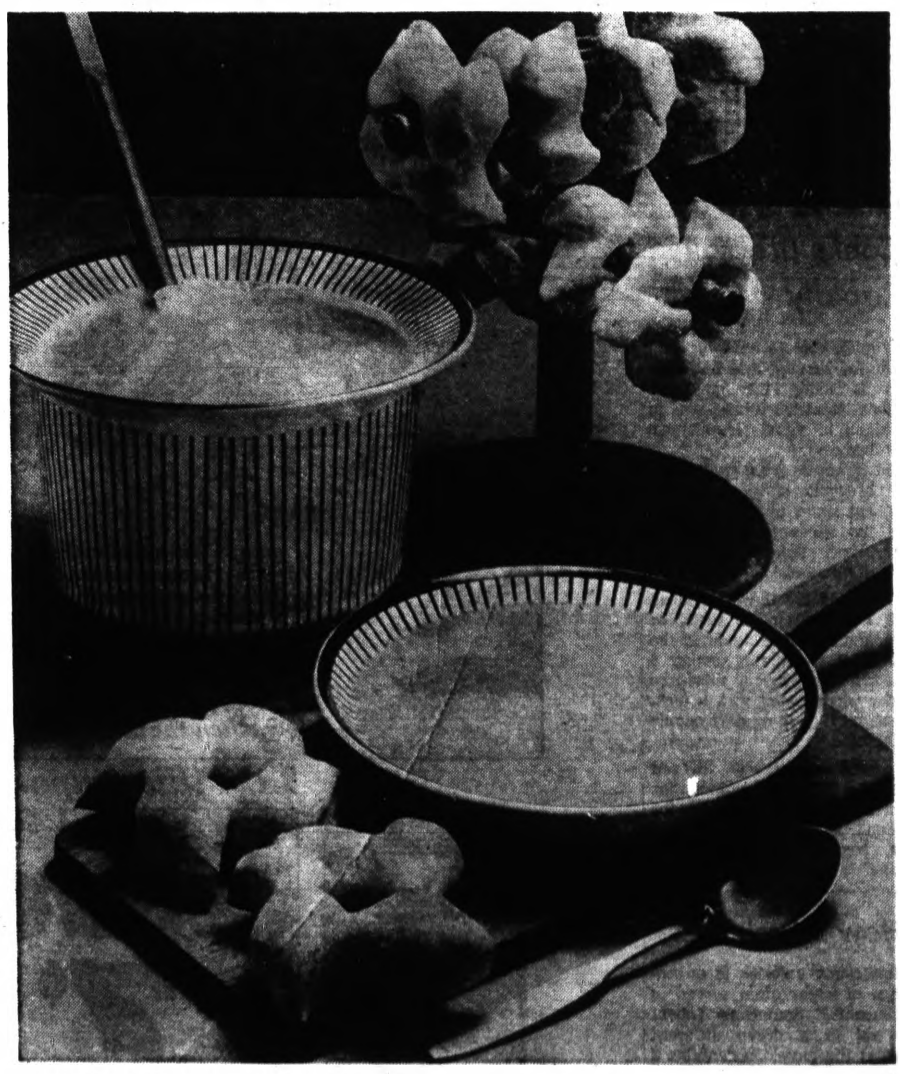
Slash each stirp diagonally at 1 inch intervals to within ¼ inch of opposite side. Join ends of strip to form a pinwheel. Pace on greased baking sheets. Brush tops of rolls with melted margarine. Repeat with remaining dough. Cover pans loosely with plastic wrap.

Refrigerate 2 to 24 hours at moderately cold setting. When ready to bake, remove from refrigerator. Uncover. Let stand for 10 minutes while preheating the oven.

Bake at 400 degrees for 15-20 minutes or until done. Bake on a lower oven rack position for best results. Remove from pans immediately. Brush with melted margarine if desired. Cool on racks. Yield: 32 rolls.

*If you use self-rising flour, omit salt.

Take a bow for the easiest ham glaze in the world — dark corn syrup poured right from the bottle.



DILL PINWHEEL ROLLS — Warm up a chilly day with this hot and hearty combination —fresh-from-the-oven Dill Pinwheel Rolls and piping hot bowls of split pea soup. Made the easy Cool-Rise way, these cleverly shaped rolls offer a zesty dill flavor that's sure to delight every member of the family.

SCALLOPED APPLES — Tired of always serving apple sauce with pork? For a change, bake scalloped apples in the same oven with the roast. Orange rind and graham cracker crumbs lend their good flavors to the dish.

Mix Apples, Crumbs for Meat Go-with

Of all the aromas in the world, one of the most inviting is that of a succulent roast being cooked for hearty appetites. Very often though, we cooks want to dress up a simple roast by making something deliciously different to accompany it.

Scalloped Apples Supreme is one new recipe which sublimely complements a roast, especially pork, or perhaps, a duck. You will find it quick and easy to prepare with a tantalizing taste combination of packaged graham cracker crumbs, brown sugar, orange rind, mace and apples.

The next time you want to dress up your dinner roast, try serving Scalloped Apples Supreme.

Scalloped Apples

- 1¾ cups packaged graham cracker crumbs
- ½ cup light brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- ½ teaspoon ground mace
- ¼ cup melted butter or margarine
- 4 medium apples
- ⅓ cup orange juice

Combine crumbs, sugar, orange rind, mace, butter and mix well. Set aside. Peel, core and slice apples into cold water.

Place about ⅓ of crumb mixture in bottom of shallow casserole, about 5 cups capacity, or 10-inch pie plate. Drain about ½ the apples and arrange in layer on crumbs. Add another ⅓ of the crumbs in a layer, and the remaining apples and crumbs.

Sprinkle top with orange juice. Cover with foil and bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 40 minutes.

Remove foil and bake another 15 to 20 minutes or until apples are tender and crumbs are a bit crusty.

Yield: 8 servings.

Dissolves Easily

Ever notice how easy it is to wash bowls and pans used for sugared foods? It is one of sugar's talents to dissolve quickly in liquid, hot or cold. Speed in washing-up, of course, depends on other ingredients involved. But even a boiled sugar solution (table sryup, preserves, white icings, or caramel candy) soaks out in almost no time.

Sugar Coat Side of Souffle Dish

What every properly-dressed sweet souffle dish should have is a good sugar coating. After buttering the sides and bottom of the baking container, spoon in some sugar. Turn the dish until inside surface is evenly covered. Then, shake out any non-clinging grains.

The coating discourages sticking, letting the delicate souffle rise to its greatest height.

Eggless Chocolate Cake Is Rich

Rich, moist, and dark as midnight is the description of a new chocolate cake.

Making this new cake is full of surprises. The first surprise is the speed with which you get it in the oven, for all the ingredients are combined at once in a mixing bowl and stirred just until the flour is moistened.

The next surprise is the list of ingredients. The recipe calls for a cup of applesauce, the source of its rich moistness. It takes cooking oil instead of a solid shortening. And there are no eggs used.

However strange the recipe may seem, you'll find the final surprise is the rich, moist chocolate flavor of the cake.

The finished cake may be frosted with your favorite white or chocolate icing. But to serve for dinner, try a topping of sour cream or whipped cream with a few spoons of applesauce.

Chocolate Applesauce Cake

1½ cups sifted flour
¾ cup sugar
¼ cup cocoa
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup applesauce
½ cup water
⅓ cup cooking oil
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour, sugar, cocoa, soda, and salt into mixing bowl. Add remaining ingredients; still until dry ingredients are moistened. Pour into greased 8-inch square pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until done, 30 to 35 minutes.

Serve cake squares topped with sour cream or whipped cream and a dab of applesauce. Yield: 9 servings.

CHOCOLATE APPLESAUCE CAKE—Applesauce blends with the chocolate flavor to make a cake that's dark, rich, and moist. The topping is sour cream or whipped cream with a dab of applesauce.

It's a Nippy Dip

On a frosty winter eve add a little nip to your dip. 1 4½-oz. can deviled ham, ¼ cup mayonnaise, 3 teaspoons moist horseradish and ¾ teaspoon A-1 sauce make about ¾ cup Nippy Dip.

PEACH MINCEMEAT — Crumble half of a 9-oz. package of mincemeat in a small saucepan. Add one peach, peeled, pitted and chopped. Add one-third cup water, one tablespoon brown sugar and two tablespoons cider vinegar. Bring to a full boil, stirring constantly. Reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool. Fill baked peach halves and serve on a platter with roast pork or ham.

Cook Sweet Potatoes to Put in Ham Salad

Who says winter salads have to be dull? Not homemakers who've learned to make zippy salads of foods plentiful in winter.

Take, for instance, the versatile sweet potato, which is in peak supply from September through March. Made into Sweet Potato and Ham Salad it can lift a midwinter menu out of the doldrums.

Use sweet potatoes soon after buying, and cook them gently in their jackets. Peel and slice just before using.

Sweet Potato and Ham Salad

1 envelope onion salad dressing mix
Vinegar, water, and salad oil
2 cups diced or sliced cooled cooked sweet potatoes
⅔ cup (¼ lb.) diced or sliced cooked ham
¼ cup mayonnaise
Dash of salt
¼ cup chopped sweet or dill pickle

Prepare salad dressing mix with vinegar, water, and oil as directed on envelope. Combine potatoes and ham.

Blend ½ cup of the prepared salad dressing, the mayonnaise, and salt. Pour over potato mixture; toss several times. Chill.

Serve on lettuce, garnished with chopped pickle. Makes about 3 cups or 2 or 3 entree servings.

SWEET POTATO AND HAM SALAD — Winter appetites call for robust salads. Try a Sweet Potato and Ham Salad—besides being hearty, it takes advantage of a vegetable that's in winter abundance. It's tangily dressed with mayonnaise and prepared onion salad dressing and garnished with chopped pickle.

Serve Peaches and Ice Cream

Cling peaches a la Mode are a quick and easy dessert. Drain a can of golden cling peach halves. Top each half with a scoop of lemon ice cream.

Dollop with whipped cream and sprinkle with finely chopped nuts. A 1 lb. 13 oz. can makes six servings.

It's Chinese New Year 4666

4 ways to have a blast

Got some FUN-feeling left over from January 1st? Then here's an excuse to celebrate again—Oriental style. Get the mob over for a La Choy Chinese New Year blast. Feed 'em these 4 easy-to-make exotic dishes and the buffet's a kick, too. (It's the Chinese Year of the Monkey, but don't go ape.....) Gung Hoy Fet Toy!

2 STAGE ROCKET

La Choy Bi-Pack Chow Mein comes ready-cooked in two cans, taped together. Top can holds Chicken, Beef, Pork, Shrimp or Mushrooms in rich gravy; bottom can, 7 exotic vegetables. Nearly a quart altogether. Everything incredibly crisp and tender, because only La Choy has the Dragon that quick-cooks chow mein in Dragon-Fire!

For a real party blast, add a tablespoon of curry powder to the meat and gravy as it's heating. That'll straighten anyone's hair. But good!

NUTTY SIZZLER

Crunchy, munchy nibblers—

1 can La Choy Water Chestnuts
½ lb. bacon, sliced, cut in half
2 tbl. La Choy Soy Sauce
Chicken livers (raw, cut in bite-size chunks)

Marinate water chestnuts in soy sauce several hours. Wrap each water chestnut with a chunk of liver in a half-slice of bacon. Fasten with toothpick. Broil till crisp—or bake 15 minutes at 325°.

TUNA TORPEDO

Flavor explosion in a speedy casserole—

1 can (7 oz.) tuna, drained
1 can La Choy Chop Suey Vegetables, drained
1 can (4 oz.) mushrooms drained
1 can (14 oz.) chicken broth
3 tablespoons La Choy Soy Sauce
½ teaspoon onion-salt
3 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons water

Mix tuna, drained vegetables, mushrooms, broth, soy sauce and onion-salt in a 2-quart casserole. Dissolve cornstarch in water and stir it into casserole, mixing well. Bake 45 minutes at 350°. Stir twice during baking. Sprinkle with 1 cup La Choy Noodles last 10 minutes.

FIRE CRACKERS

Nippy new party snack idea—

1 can (5½-oz.) La Choy Chow Mein Noodles
3 tablespoons butter (melted)
1 tablespoon Soy Sauce
1 teaspoon chili powder
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
⅛ teaspoon Cayenne pepper

Place chow mein noodles in deep pan. Drizzle on melted butter and sprinkle with soy sauce, chili powder, Cayenne and garlic salt. Heat in 250° oven for 40 minutes, stirring once.

"Quick-cooked in Dragon fire... crisp and good as the take-out kind"

Michigan Dry Beans Star in Two Soups

For a hearty appetizer or meal-in-a-dish nothing quite compares to really good soup. The most inexpensive and widely eaten of all dishes, soup has the distinction of commanding the highest respect from expert cooks.

★ ★ ★

Soups seem to carry the mark of their origin and arouse feelings of ownership amongst the world's chefs. A Frenchman doesn't make a soup, he has a soup . . . and a Parisian is convinced an onion soup outside of Paris is not fit to eat. So too it goes with Scots barley broth and Italian minestrone!

Actually, navy bean soup today can be found almost anywhere round the globe but it's truly an American achievement. There are dozens of variations, all easy, each as delicious and satisfying as the next.

BEAN WITH BACON SOUP

- 2 pounds dry Michigan Navy Beans
- 4 quarts water
- 1 ham bone with lots of ham on it
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 1 cup celery, chopped
- ½ cup carrots, chopped
- Salt and pepper to taste
- ½ pound bacon

Combine beans and water and soak overnight. Do not drain. Add all other ingredients except bacon. Bring to a boil and simmer gently for 3 hours. Meanwhile fry bacon crisp and crumble.

Remove ham bone from soup, strip meat from bone and cut into bite size cubes and return to soup. Serve steaming hot and top with bits of the bacon. Serves 8-10.

PUREE OF NAVY BEAN SOUP

- 2 cups dry Michigan Navy Beans
- 7 cups water
- Medium onion studded with a clove
- 1 carrot, quartered
- 1 celery stalk, quartered
- ½ bay leaf
- 1 teaspoon ginger
- 3 sprigs parsley
- 2½ teaspoons salt
- ¾ to 1 cup red wine
- 4 tablespoons butter

Bring beans and water to a boil and skim. Add all other ingredients except butter and simmer till beans are quite done. Strain, reserving the liquid, and remove the vegetables and the garnish. Rub beans through a fine sieve or puree with a little of the liquid in a blender.

Return the puree to the pot, pour in remaining liquid. Blend in the butter and heat thoroughly. Serves 4-5.

Serve with garlic croutons or small cubes of bread fried in butter. In early America this delicious soup was sometimes garnished with a little cooked rice instead of croutons.

Rice and Shrimp Dish Is a Skillet-Dinner

Young homemakers like to experiment with new recipes. They make combinations with convenience or canned foods that are attractive and delicious.

Mrs. Donald Connor has a recipe for rice with shrimp or chicken that is a favorite with her family.

The Connors have two boys and a girl. Mrs. Connor is active in PTA work.

SHRIMP FRIED RICE
By Mrs. Donald Connor

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 2 cups cooked shrimp OR 2 small cans boned chicken
- 2 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 2 eggs beaten
- 5 cups cooked rice
- 3 tablespoons soy sauce
- 3 green onions, chopped
- ¼ cup sliced canned mushrooms
- ¼ cup diced green pepper
- ¼ cup sliced water chestnuts
- 1 cup bean sprouts, drained

Melt butter or margarine in a skillet. Add shrimp cut in half, or chicken and seasonings. Cook until lightly browned, stirring often.

Add eggs, stirring until well mixed. Add rice and cook mixture until golden brown.

Stir in remaining ingredients and heat thoroughly. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

Sweet Mixture Tops Apples

Crumble-top baked apples are easy to prepare. Place 4 cups of sliced, pared apples in a shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon of lemon juice.

Mix 1 cup of rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked) ½ cup of firmly-packed browned sugar, 1 teaspoon of cinamon and ¼ cup of melted butter or margarine until crumbly. Sprinkle over apples.

Bake in preheated 375-degree oven about 30 minutes or until apples are tender. Makes 6 servings.

Cool It First

All cakes should be cooled before being frosted or filled. The cooling should be done on a wire cooling rack. For a good substitute rack, remove a shelf from the stove oven or from refrigerator.

Deep Fry Slices of Sweet Potato

Be adventurous. Try some crispy french-fried sweet potato chips. You'll like them.

Sweet Potato Chips

- 3 medium or 2 large sweet potatoes, peeled and thinly sliced
- 1 quart oil or fat for frying

Soak potato slices in cold water for 15 minutes; drain thoroughly. Fry in deep fat at 350 degrees F. until the potatoes are a delicate brown. Drain on absorbent paper towels. These are delicious served as a snack, with salads, as a main course vegetable, or sprinkled with powdered sugar for dessert. Makes 4-6 servings.

Quick Doughnuts Made With Biscuits

For ever-lovin' doughnuts right at home, just deep-fat fry refrigerated biscuits. This is one of the many quick-serve hints in the new Better Homes and Gardens book, "Jiffy Cooking."

Just stretch and slightly flatten each biscuit from a package of refrigerated biscuits. With your finger, punch a hole in the center and shape into a doughnut.

Fry in deep hot fat (375 degrees) about 2 minutes, turning once. Drain on paper toweling. Roll-doughnuts in cinnamon sugar and serve warm.

A large size earthen mixing bowl is the thing to use when mixing home-made breads. It is heavy and retains warmth.

Cook It All in One Skillet

Uncooked spaghetti, simmered in an easy-to-make sauce, is a dish even the most inexperienced cook can prepare.

SKILLET SPAGHETTI

- 1 lb. ground beef
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons oil
- 1 can (15 oz.) tomato sauce
- 3 cups hot water
- 7 oz. enriched durum spaghetti, uncooked
- 1 package spaghetti seasoning mix

Brown beef and onion in oil. Add tomato sauce, water, spaghetti and seasoning mix. Cover and simmer 30 minutes, or until spaghetti is tender, yet firm. Stir occasionally. Makes 6-8 servings.

BEAN WITH BACON SOUP — Although bean soup is found around the world, it has a special place in the repertoire of Michigan cooks. They can use Michigan-grown beans for this welcome cold-weather dish.

Pie Filling Is One Layer

Here's a festive dessert to be prepared from the pantry shelf.

Cherry Crumb Dessert

¾ cup butter or margarine
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
¾ cup quick-cooking oatmeal
1 cup flaked coconut
¾ cup pecans, chopped
1 can (about 1 pound, 6 ounces) cherry pie filling
1 teaspoon prepared ground lemon peel or grated fresh to taste

Cream butter, sugar and vanilla. Sift together flour, salt, and baking soda. Stir into creamed mixture, then stir in oatmeal to make a crumb mixture. Stir in coconut and pecans.

Spread half the crumb mixture over the bottom of a greased 12 by 8-inch pan. Spoon cherry pie filling over crumbs; spread evenly. Sprinkle with remaining crumbs.

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 25 to 35 minutes. Serve warm with vanilla ice cream or whipped cream.

Makes 12 servings.

Keeping Honey

Liquid honey or honeycombs keep best in covered containers at room temperature. The cover keeps in aroma and flavor and keeps out moisture and other odors.

CHICKEN DIVAN SANDWICH — Enjoy a different tasting sandwich by combining these tasty, convenient ingredients — chicken spread, asparagus spears, and American cheese.

Speedy Way to Prepare Curry-Seasoned Dish

In this curry-seasoned dish, fluffy rice is combined with frozen diagonal-cut beans in butter sauce for a unique vegetable serving idea. Try it for supper with roast lamb or prepare a double recipe for an unusual buffet item.

The butter sauce from the beans is used to saute onions and to give the rice an attractive buttery gold appearance. Raisins, a common curry condiment are stirred right into this vegetable dish.

Buttery Bean Curry

1 9-oz. package green beans frozen in butter sauce in cooking pouch
½ cup chopped onion
2 cups cooked rice
¼ cup raisins
¾ teaspoon curry powder

Slip pouch of diagonal-cut green beans into boiling water. Bring water to a second boil; continue cooking 12 minutes. Do nor cover pan.

Partially open pouch; drain butter sauce into saucepan. Add onions and saute until sauce is almost absorbed. Combine beans sauteed onions, raisins and curry powder with rice; heat through. Yield: 5 to 6 servings (3¾ cups).

It's Chicken, Asparagus in a Sandwich

Oh, for a new sandwich . . . what woman hasn't said that this year! The kids may be satisfied with the same old standbys, but you would like a change. Of course the sandwich must be as easy to make and as tasty as the old favorites to qualify. Toasted Chicken Divans are ready for the test!

★ ★ ★

Try this easy making sandwich for a delightful difference. Spread lightly seasoned chicken spread on white bread. Arrange slender asparagus spears on top. Then finish with a design of American cheese strips and bake for 10 minutes.

BAKED CHICKEN DIVAN SANDWICH

6 slices white bread
softened butter
2 4¾ oz. cans chicken spread
12 cooked asparagus spears
6 slices process American cheese

Butter one side of each bread slice. Place buttered side down on a baking sheet and spread with chicken spread. Top each with 2 asparagus spears and cover with a cheese slice. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 10 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Note: May be prepared a day ahead and refrigerated, covered, overnight. Bake a few minutes longer to heat thoroughly.

PEAR EMERALD SALAD — Wedges of fresh Western pears encircle this shimmering lime gelatin ring filled with a chopped pear and tuna salad. Choose either Bosc or Anjou pears for their delicate flavor and texture.

Fill Lime Gelatin Ring with Pear-Tuna Salad

Brighten both your table and your appetite with the fresh green sparkle of this Pear Emerald Salad. Crisp salad greens and lime gelatin with a touch of sauterne wine, provide the proper setting for the fresh pear wedges.

Centered in the shimmering lime mold are diced fresh pears tossed lightly with chunks of tuna and snappy slices of crunchy celery and green pepper. Mayonnaise or salad dressing flavored with a bit of onion moistens the salad.

Juicy, thin-skinned Anjou pears or buttery flavored, russet-skinned Bosc are ideal for Pear Emerald Salad. They're ideal, too, for eating out-of-hand and for cooking. Both hold their shapes well and need not be pared since the skins are tender and flavorful.

You'll usually find fresh Western pears ripe and ready to eat at your favorite market. Ripe pears yield to gentle pressure regardless of color. You can always buy firm pears with confidence. They'll ripen at home in a few days at room temperature, becoming sweet and juicy, the way you like them.

Pear Emerald Salad

1 (6-oz.) package lime-flavored gelatin
½ cup sauterne wine
3 ripe, fresh Anjou or Bosc pears
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 (7½-oz.) can tuna
½ cup diced celery
¼ cup diced green pepper
¼ teaspoon onion salt
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing Crisp salad greens

Prepare lime-flavored gelatin according to package directions, using ½ cup wine in place of ½ cup water. Place in 4-cup ring mold and chill.

Core and dice 2 fresh pears. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Toss diced pears with tuna, celery and green pepper. Mix onion salt with mayonnaise or salad dressing to moisten.

Unmold lime ring on salad plate lined with crisp greens. Fill center of ring with pear-tuna salad. Core remaining pear and cut into wedges. Dip cut sides in lemon juice and encircle ring mold with pear wedges. Makes 6 servings.

Tea Is the Base of Rosy Punch

Tangy cranberry punch makes 32 (½-cup) servings.

In a cheesecloth bag, tie ½ teaspoon each of nutmeg, cinnamon and allspice and 6 tablespoons of tea leaves. Place bag in 5 cups of boiling water; cover, turn off heat and let steep for 5 minutes. Remove the bag and add 1½-cups of sugar. Cover and let cool.

Add 3 cups of cold water, 1 cup of orange juice, ½ cup of lemon juice and 2 quarts of chilled cranberry juice cocktail. Serve over ice in punch bowl. Makes 4 quarts.

Frost Two Meatloaves as Snowman

There's snow on the ground and food in keeping with the weather is appropriate. Anyway, it's fun to serve an old favorite dish in an amusing way.

How about a Snowman Meatloaf?

A meatloaf mixture seasoned with chopped dill pickles is baked in two round pans of different sizes, cooled, frosted with cream cheese.

Whole pickles and pickle slices are arranged on the loaves to provide the snowman's features. This should delight the children at any meal.

SNOWMAN MEATLOAF — The children will love this appealing way of serving meatloaf. Pickles make the features and the trim. "Snow" coating is cream cheese.

SNOWMAN MEATLOAF

½ cup milk
1 egg
⅓ cup catsup
2 cups fresh soft bread crumbs
½ cup chopped ill pickles
¼ cup chopped onion
1¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
½ teaspoon summer savory leaves
¼ teaspoon pepper
2½ pounds ground chuck
8 Ounces cream cheese, softened
Dill pickles

★ ★ ★

Slightly beat together milk, egg and catsup; stir in bread crumbs and allow to soften. Stir in chopped pickles, onion and seasonings. Mix in beef, using hands if necessary.

Divide mixture between 9-inch and 5½-inch round bake pans. *Bake in 350 degree (moderate) oven 1 hour or until done.

★ ★ ★

Cool slightly; drain off any drippings and unmold on large platter or serving tray. Chill well.

Frost with cream cheese. Decorate with dill pickles to resemble snowman. Makes about 10 servings.

*If 5½-inch round cake pan is not available, use a child's toy round cake pan.

Grind Apple to Mix into Meat Balls

All kinds of good things can go into meat balls. Have you ever tried one with apple?

This seasonal fruit is not too sweet as an ingredient with two meats, gound beef and pork, and it adds interesting texture.

In this recipe the grinder is used for the apple as well as onion, celery and crackers. After the balls are shaped, they're coated with flour to make them brown quickly and easily.

Apple Meat Balls

1 pound ground beef
¼ pound ground pork
1 apple
1 small onion
2 stalks celery
5 soda crackers
1 egg
¼ teaspoon salt
Flour
2 tablespoons lard or drippins
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup water

Combine beef and pork. Core apple and grind with onion, celery and crackers. Add to meat. Add egg and salt and mix thoroughly.

Form into 30 small balls. Dredge balls with flour and brown in lard or drippings. Remove meat from pan.

Add the 2 tablespoons flour to drippings. Add water gradually, stirring constantly until thick Return meat balls to gravy. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. 6 servings.

Flours Have Different Uses

Q—I am confused by the different types of flour I see on my grocer's shelves. Can you explain them to me? I love to bake.

A—Home bakers have a choice of these flours:

All-purpose flour is usually made from blends of wheat. It is suitable for all types of home baking and cooking, except for delicate cakes.

Instant flour is specially processed flour made from all-purpose flour. It is granular, easily dispersed in cold liquids and does not need sifting. It cost about 2 cents a pound more than all-purpose flour.

Self-rising flour, usually milled from soft wheat, has a leavening agent (baking powder) and salt added. It may be used in any recipe calling for baking powder and salt by omitting these ingredients from the recipe.

Cake flour, made from soft wheat, is the finest in texture and most expensive of all flours. The protein content is lower than in all-purpose. It is made specifically for delicate cakes.

Q—Do all breads cost about the same per pound?

A—Large loaves of a given brand and type of bread cost less per pound than smaller loaves. Special dietary breads usually cost more per pound than white bread. These include such breads as salt-free and sugar-free.

Day-old bread costs less than fresh bread and may be economical for French toast, crumbs, stuffings or bread pudding.

PARTY POPCORN — Combine 2 cups miniature marshmallows with ½ cup melted butter or margarine. Pour over three quarts popped corn and mix well. Sprinkle one package (3 oz.) fruit-flavored gelatin over all and toss to mix. Marshmallows are coated with a bright sugar coating.

Hot Swedish Punch Warms Athletes

Serve this typical Swedish warm punch glogg after skiing or other cold weather outdoor activity.

Mix in large saucepan 1 bottle each of red wine and a sweet wine such as port, a few strips of orange peel, cinnamon sticks and some whole cloves. Simmer for 15 minutes, but do not boil; strain. Add a generous handful each of whole blanched almonds and seedless raisins; return to a simmer.

Ladle the "spiked" almonds and raisins into each mug and fill with brew. Skal!

Pimientos Lend Color to Aspic

This lovely jellied salad mold doesn't have to be confined to a luncheon gathering; any time you are looking for a real eye-catcher this will make your day.

The ingredients are colorful and tasty — bright big pieces of pimiento highlight the two shades of green of the avocado and artichoke hearts, and what could be more fetching than crunchy little raw cauliflower "fans"?

Use your prettiest shaped mold for this one so that all the interesting ingredients show, and serve it with small sandwiches and a rich dessert (if you know anybody lucky enough to be allowed such a luxury!); or try it as part of a soup, salad and sandwich luncheon.

Jellied Pimiento Salad

1 jar or can (7 oz.) whole pimientos, drained
½ small head (about) cauliflower
1 ripe avocado
1 package (10 oz.) frozen artichoke hearts, cooked as directed on package
1 cup bottled French or Italian dressing
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
¼ cup wine vinegar
1 can (12½ oz.) consomme madrilene
Boiling water
1 tablespoon capers
1 teaspoon instant minced onion

Prepare by tearing pimientos into large pieces; breaking cauliflower into flowerlets, then slicing into "fans"; peeling avocado and cutting into slices or cubes; cooking artichokes as directed on package. Place all vegetables together in a bowl, sprinkle with salt and pepper and add dressing.

Lightly toss vegetables to mix and distribute dressing. Let stand at room temperature while preparing gelatin base.

Soften gelatin in vinegar. Heat consomme, then add boiling water to make 5 cups of liquid. Stir in gelatin until dissolved. Stir in capers and onion. Chill gelatin mixture until it is very thick and syrupy.

Drain vegetables (reserving marinade) and fold into gelatin; spoon into 2-quart mold rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm.

Unmold on greens and garnish with a few reserved avocado slices and artichoke hearts. 6-8 servings.

Herring Salad Is a Man-Pleaser

If your husband likes herring, he'll enjoy this salad!

Herring Salad

1 jar (7½ ounces) herring fillets in wine sauce
½ cup cultured sour cream
Lettuce, tomatoes and cucumber

Drain liquid from herring; mix herring with sour cream. Arrange on lettuce with tomatoes and cucumber. Makes 4 servings.

JELLIED PIMIENTO SALAD — This molded salad, bright with red pimiento and accented with the two shades of green of avocado and artichoke hearts, is a real eye-catcher.

Put Strawberry Cream in Cones

One of the most pleasant ways to cope with social obligations is to invite friends for dessert and coffee.

In Sweden, where the gracious hostess always keeps coffee service in readiness for guests, the usual accompaniment is an attractive platter of cakes or cookies.

For special occasions, Swedish homemakers frequently offer their guests thin, wafer-like cookies which are rolled into cones and filled with a creamy whipped mixture enhanced with fruit or other flavorings.

The following Swedish Cone Cake, made the short-cut way with packaged ice cream cones, features a filling that combines frozen strawberries and vanilla ice cream.

Besides offering a dramatic dessert, it's an excellent choice for large groups because it's easy to serve. There's no last-minute cutting or serving and no need for dessert plates since the cones are eaten as finger food.

Swedish Cone Cake

1 package (10 ounces) frozen sliced or halved strawberries with syrup, thawed
2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
1 pint (2 cups) vanilla ice cream
12 sugar ice cream cones

Drain juice into measuring cup. Add water to make 1 cup. Pour into small saucepan. Sprinkle gelatin over juice and let soften about 5 minutes. Stir over low heat until gelatine is dissolved.

Whirl strawberries in a blender, press through a sieve or chop until fine. Beat ice cream until slightly softened. Blend in strawberries and gelatine mixture.

Chill, if necessary, until mixture thickens enough to mound. Spoon mixture into cones.

★ ★ ★

If a decorative topping is desired, finish tops with a rosette of mixture made by forcing it through a pastry tube fitted with a large star tip.

To serve, arrange flat on a serving tray or stand upright in glasses or a bowl filled part way with sugar.

For the illustrated Swedish Cone Cake, triple the recipe using 36 cones. Arrange filled cones in a circle on an 8-inch serving plate with tips pointing toward center. Continue stacking cones in smaller circles until a mound is formed.

★ ★ ★

Makes 12 servings.

Note: Cones can be filled up to 30 minutes before serving. If allowed to stand longer than this, the filling may soften the cones.

This Can Serve as a Main Course Dish

Garden Salad combines ever-popular bologna and American cheese with enriched durum elbow macaroni. Any of the 170 different macaroni product shapes could be used—substitution should be based on weight, not measure. Color-sparked with ruby tomato slices and bright green pepper, this salad will become a family favorite.

Garden Salad

7 oz. enriched durum elbow macaroni
1 lb. bologna, diced
1 green pepper, diced
8 oz. American cheese, cubed
2 tomatoes, cut in wedges
½ cup cultured sour cream
2 tablespoons celery seed salad dressing
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon dill weed
Dash pepper

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender, yet firm, 5 to 7 minutes. Drain; rinse with cold water. Combine bologna, green pepper, cheese and tomatoes. Mix sour cream with remaining ingredients. Pour over salad and toss gently. Refrigerate until ready to serve.

Makes 6-8 servings.

Fix Basic Sauce Without Meat, Vary as Used

This basic meatless tomato sauce may be used a number of ways.

Meatless Tomato Sauce

½ cup olive oil
1 pound (5 medium-small) onions, chopped to make 2½ cups
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 can (1 pound, 12 ounces) tomato puree
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
1 can (6 ounces) chopped mushrooms, undrained
½ cup minced parsley
1 teaspoon dried crushed basil
1 teaspoon tomato seasoning
Salt and pepper to taste

In a heavy kettle over low heat, heat the olive oil; add the onions and garlic; cook, stirring often until wilted but not brown.

Add the tomato puree, tomato paste and undrained mushrooms; cover and simmer, stirring occasionally for 30 minutes. Add the parsley, basil, tomato seasoning and salt and pepper; continue to cook for about 15 minutes.

Makes about 1½ quarts which may be served "as is" for a thick sauce or diluted with clam or shrimp broth; in the latter case clams or shrimp may also be added. The undiluted sauce may be freezer-stored.

Use Muffins for Sandwich

For a Valentine treat that is sure to please the heart — Mix 1 4½-oz. can deviled ham, 1 tablespoon minced onion and 1 tablespoon red relish or chopped stuffed olives. Spread this mixture on 4 English muffins (split and toasted) and cook under broiler until bubbly.

Cut 4 cheese and 4 pimiento hearts out of 2 slices American cheese and pimiento to garnish each muffin. Serves 8.

Ham and Fruit Join Macaroni

Tuck this recipe away, if you like, until some hot summer day, when you want a hearty salad for dinner and don't want to spend much time in the kitchen.

Macaroni Ham Salad

1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
2 cups elbow macaroni (8 ounces)
1 can (8¾ ounces) pineapple tidbits
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon each: salt, dry mustard and shredded green onion
Dash cayenne
2 cups diced cooked ham
Crisp lettuce
⅓ cup salted peanuts

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally until tender. Drain in colander. Rinse with cold water; drain again.

Drain pineapple, reserving ¼ cup syrup. In bowl, blend sour cream, lemon juice, remaining seasonings and reserved syrup. Add macaroni, ham and pineapple; toss lightly and chill. Turn salad into lettuce lined bowl; sprinkle with peanuts.

Rubber Scraper Separates Bacon

Do you have trouble spearating bacon slices? One way is to remove the bacon package from the refrigerator five to ten minutes before cooking.

Place the thin edge of a rubber scraper under the top slice and lift off individual slices. If several slices of bacon are to be cooked, peel off the whole group and place it in the pan. The slices can be separated as the bacon begins to cook.

SWEDISH CONE CAKE — Frozen strawberries contribute fresh fruit flavor and delicate pink color to the ice cream filling of these packaged, ready-to-fill sugar cones. This simplified version of a famous Swedish dessert is ideal for dessert-and-coffee entertaining where the choice must be dramatic as well as easy to prepare and serve.

FLAMING FINALE — Frozen peach slices and frozen blueberries, flavored with lemon and spices and flambeed with rum, are spooned over coconut-covered ice cream balls for this easy, festive dessert.

Flaming Fruit Is a Dramatic Dessert

A festive dinner can have no better conclusion than flambeed frozen fruit spooned over ice cream or pound cake.

★ ★ ★

When the just-defrosted fruit is embellished with aromatic flavorings and kindled with a complimentary spirit, such as rum or brandy, its natural fruit flavor is heightened and its presentation is made spectacularly impressive.

To set the fruit mixture aflame, the secret is to heat the spirit in a ladle, then ignite it, and while flaming, stir it into the fruit mixture.

A chafing dish is the standard equipment used for serving flambeed fruits, but a flameproof casserole or saucepan on a candle-lit warming stand may also be used.

Mixed Fruits Flambe

- 2 cans (3½ ounces each) flaked coconut
- 1 quart vanilla ice cream
- 1 package (12 ounces) frozen peach slices in heavy syrup, thawed
- 1 package (9 ounces) loose pack frozen blueberries, thawed
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1 piece (3 inches) stick cinnamon
- Dash freshly grated whole nutmeg
- 2 tablespoons rum

In advance, toast coconut in a 350-degree oven 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool. Shape ice cream into balls. Roll in toasted coconut. Freeze.

Drain juice from frozen fruit into chafing dish or saucepan. Blend cornstarch with about a tablespoon of the juice; stir into juice. Add sugar, lemon peel, lemon juice, cinnamon and nutmeg.

Cook over medium heat, stirring frequently, until clear and thickened. Add peaches and blueberries. Continue to cook until fruit is heated.

Heat rum in ladle or small pan. Ignite and pour over fruit. Allow flame to burn out, then spoon hit fruit sauce over individual servings of coconut ice cream balls.

Makes 6 to 8 servings

Homemade Soup Is for Wintry Nights

Nothing takes the "bite" out of a frosty winter day like bubbling-hot homemade soup. Making soup needn't be a long involved project either. Tomato-Onion Soup, for example, takes less than an hour of total cooking time yet has all the flavor and aroma of soups you simmer all day.

Tomato-Onion Soup is made almost like classic French onion soup with rich beef broth and lots and lots of onions. But we've pepped up the flavor of the soup by adding canned tomato sauce with tomato bits.

Serve the soup with Toasty Cheese Dippers — oven-toasted French bread with a golden, melted cheese topping.

TOMATO-ONION SOUP — When cold winds blow, bring on a brimming tureen of hearty Tomato-onion soup. Pass some golden Toasty Cheese Dippers to dunk in the rich soup.

Tomato-Onion Soup

5 medium onions, thinly sliced
3 tablespoons pure vegetable oil
6 cups canned or homemade beef broth
1 can (15 ounces) or 2 cans (8-ounces each) tomato sauce with tomato bits
½ cup dry white wine (optional)
Toasty Cheese Dippers

In 4-quart Dutch oven, cook onions in oil until softened. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. Pour in beef broth and tomato sauce with tomato bits; simmer 30 minutes. Add wine and pour into serving bowls.

Serve with Toasty Cheese Dippers. Makes 6 servings.

Toasty Cheese Dippers: Toast 6 slices French bread (½-inch thick) until dry and golden at 350 degrees. Sprinkle with 1 cup shredded cheese (a combination of Swith and Parmesan is especially good), then with 2 tablespoons melted butter. Broil until cheese melts and just starts to brown. Serve with Tomato-Onion Soup.

Crisp Bacon Is Bonus in Bowl of Potato Soup

A bowl of old-fashioned soup spells out a warm welcome which few other foods can equal, especially when weather has that certain sharp, nippy quality.

A creamy soup is especially soothing, and never more so than when it has a generous quantity of flavor plus. In this case it's a creamy potato-vegetable combination with a float of bacon.

Potato Soup makes a simple but very special meal with a broiled beefburger, lettuce salad and fresh fruit or grapes.

Old-Fashioned Potato Soup

8 slices bacon
4 medium potatoes, pared and diced
1 large onion, diced
½ cup diced celery
1¼ cups water
3 cups milk
1 tablespoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Combine diced vegetables and water. Cover and simmer 45 minutes or until done. Rice vegetables, or put through a coarse sieve, and return to the water in which they were cooked. Add milk, salt and pepper. Reheat.

Cook bacon until crisp. Just before serving crumble bacon and float parsley and bacon on soup. 6 servings.

Raisin Bread Encloses Small Frankfurters

The favorite hot dog, mustard and pickle combination goes into little raisin bread squares for a pick-up treat.

FRANKS IN BLANKETS

24 cocktail frankfurters
6 slices raisin bread
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons pickle relish
Melted butter

Pour boiling water over frankfurters. Let stand 2 or 3 minutes; drain.

Select 6 large, evenly shaped raisin bread slices. Spread with mustard and drained pickle relish. Cut each slice into quarters. Wrap 1 piece around each frankfurter, holding in place with pick. Brush generously with butter.

Place on baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 8 minutes until toasted and browned. Serve hot. Makes 2 dozen appetizers.

Fowl on a Raft

Don't know what to do with leftover turkey or chicken? Slice and arrange it on crisp rafts (crosswise slices) of western iceberg lettuce spread with a mixture of ¼ cup apple sauce, 2 tablespoons prepared mincemeat, dry Sherry wine and salt to taste. Garnish with sliced apple ring and celery leaves.

APPLE CHUTNEY — A great accompaniment for curry. Good, too, with other dishes featuring meat, poultry and fish.

Make Batch of Chutney With Apples

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

When you find a recipe for a chutney that suits your particular taste, hang onto it! Recipes for chutney with authentic flavor are hard to come by.

★ ★ ★

In the following recipe it's the large amount of Worcestershire sauce used that adds just the right note.

When we asked a friend of ours — a specialist in preserving foods — how to get the Major-Grey-type-flavor in chutney, she suggested the Worcestershire.

Each summer we use her recipe with fresh peaches; now we have adapted it to winter's fresh apples.

★ ★ ★

Chutney is, of course, the perfect accompaniment to curry. But it is also delightful served with simpler dishes of meat, poultry and fish.

Apple Chutney

2½ cups sugar
1½ cups cider vinegar
1 cup coarsley grated onion
1 large clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon ground ginger
1 stick cinnamon and 1 teaspoon whole allspice tied in a bag
¼ cup Worcestershire sauce
2½ pounds or 8 large apples
½ cup candied ginger strips, ⅛- to ¼-inch wide
1 cup currants, washed and drained
¼ teaspoon salt

★ ★ ★

Into a large heavy kettle, turn the sugar, vinegar, onion, garlic, ground ginger, spice bag and Worcestershire sauce. Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until sugar dissolves; let bubble gently for about 20 minutes.

Meanwhile pare, quarter and core apples; slice about ¼-inch thick; there should be 7 cups of prepared apples. Add to syrup with candied ginger, currants and salt.

★ ★ ★

Boil gently until apples are tender and look slightly glazed and syrup reduces — about 10 minutes. Remove spice bag.

★ ★ ★

Ladle boiling hot chutney into wide-mouth, sterilized ½-pint jars to within ¼-inch from top; place dome lids on jars; screw bands tight. Makes about seven ½-pint jars. Store in a cool dark place.

Note: If Winesap apples are available, you will find them excellent to use in this chutney because they will hold their shape and have good flavor.

Ginger Gives Jam a Pleasant Taste

If your stock of homemade preserves is low, you may appreciate this version of a favorite jam.

Pineapple Ginger Jam

1 pound dried apricots
1 can (1 pound, 4 ounces) crushed pineapple
3½ cups sugar
2½ cups water
1 cup diced peeled orange (2 medium)
½ teaspoon salt
4 ounces crystallized ginger, chopped

In a large saucepan mix together all the ingredients. Boil, stirring occasionally, until there is almost no free liquid when a spoonful of the mixture is placed on a saucer.

Pour boiling hot mixture to within about ⅛ inch of the top of half-pint jars. Seal at once with home canning cap. Makes about 6 jars.

Sweet and Easy for Snack Time

Raisins Chocolate Balls are so easy to make that they'll become a teen-age favorite.

★ ★ ★

Melt 1 (6-ounce) package semi-sweet chocolate pieces in double boiler. Stir in ¾ cup evaporated milk and ¼ cup seedless raisins. Cook, stirring for about 20 minutes. Cool and chill in refrigerator 1 hour before shaping into 36 (¾-inch) balls.

CANADIAN BACON STACK UPS — Canadian bacon stacked up with sweet potatoes and served with asparagus spears and crisp relishes make a picture-pretty dinner. This is a menu suggestion from the New Better Homes and Gardens cookbook, "Jiffy Cooking."

Stack Canadian Bacon, Sweets

Here's a new way to make sure the cookery odds stack up in your favor — Canadian Bacon Stack-Ups. Every cook wants her meals to please her family and this plate stacked with Canadian Bacon and Sweet Potatoes will win over appetites every time and with a minimum of effort.

Canadian Bacon Stack-Ups makes a tempting dinner dish with just a few easy steps.

Serve Canadian Bacon slices stacked between mounds of sweet potatoes, accompanied by asparagus spears and garnished with crisp carrot curls, and watch the smiles spread around the table. It's a satisfying meal and a colorful plate as well as tasty.

This dinner delight is just one of many quick and easy menus and recipes found in the new Jiffy Cooking, Better Homes and Gardens newest cook book.

This 96 page book offers over 250 recipes for quick preparation, using the popular quick-serve convenience foods—frozen, packaged, canned. 52 illustrations show dishes for complete menus as well as single dishes for every course of a meal which will please the busy homemaker and her family.

Canadian Bacon Stack-Ups

1 cup whole cranberry sauce
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
1 1-pound 1-ounce can sweet potatoes, drained
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
1 tablespoon brown sugar
¼ teaspoon ground ginger
1 pound unsliced Canadian-style bacon

Combine the cranberry sauce and light corn syrup in a bowl.

With an electric mixer, beat potatoes with butter, brown sugar, and ginger till light and fluffy. Slice bacon into 12 pieces.

In 10x6x1½-inch baking dish, spread half of the potato mixture equally on half of the bacon slices. Cover with remaining 6 bacon slices and top each with a mound of potatoes. Drizzle cranberry sauce over stacks.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees for 45 minutes, basting once or twice with sauce in dish. Serves 6.

SWEET SNACK MIX — Combine 3 cups pre-sweetened crackly cereal twists; 3 cups sugar and honey sweetened corn cereal; 1½ cups miniature marshmallows; one cup raisins or semi-sweet chocolate chips and ¼ cup salted peanuts in a bowl. Toss lightly to mix. Serve as a finger snack. Makes about 8 cups.

Try Corn Syrup in Tomatoes

Corn syrup takes the edge off sharp tomato flavor.

For quick stewed tomatoes, drain all but about ½ cup tomato juice from a 1-pound 3-ounce can tomatoes. Pour remaining tomatoes and juice into saucepan. Add a pat of margarine, a small amount of light corn syrup (about a tablespoon or two), and salt and pepper.

Cook over medium heat 3 to 5 minutes or until tomatoes are heated. Makes 4 servings.

TUNA FRITTERS—Try something delicious but different, like these tuna fritters . . . bits of tuna in batter, deep-fat fried to a golden brown and served with luscious Sweet and Sour Pineapple Sauce.

Sauce Is Sweet

Tuna Fritters Are Economical

Seafood in fritters has long been popular and the delicate-flavored tuna fritters, served with a piquant, warm Sweet and Sour Pineapple Sauce, make a superb entree for a brunch, luncheon or supper.

★ ★ ★

Tuna is available on your grocer's shelves all year, for there is no such thing as a tuna season. It is a tremendously economical food and offers the great advantage of versatility.

SWEET AND SOUR TUNA FRITTERS

- 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs, separated
- ¾ cup milk
- 1 tablespoon salad oil
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- ½ teaspoon Worcestershire
- ¼ teaspoon Tabasco
- 3 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna, drained and flaked

In mixing bowl, sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Lightly beat together egg yolks, milk, oil, lemon peel, Worcestershire and Tabasco. Gently stir into flour mixture with tuna.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into tuna mixture. Using rounded tablespoonfuls of batter, deep fat fry at 375 degrees 5 to 7 minutes or until browned, turning once.

Serve with Sweet and Sour Pineapple Sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Sweat and Sour Pineapple sauce

Saute ¼ cup sliced onion in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Add 1 undrained can (1 pound, 4½ ounces) crushed pineapple, and ¼ cup lemon juice; bring to boil.

Mix together 1 tablespoon firmly-packed dark brown sugar 1 tablespoon cornstarch, ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon ginger. Gradually stir in ½ cup water; blend smooth.

Stir sugar mixture into pineapple mixture; boil ½ minute, stirring constantly. Makes 3 cups.

Halibut Stuffs Peppers

Where food is concerned, "appearance" and "appeal" are practically synonymous. Glance at the food pages in any major magazine, and you'll see how greatly color influences selections for photography. Not that other important factors are sacrificed — quite the contrary!

When you choose foods to be colorfully complementary, chances are they'll be complementary in other ways too. Take this recipe from the Halibut Association of North America. The pink-sauced halibut in its green pepper cups is as pretty as a picture, and you couldn't beat it for nutrition or flavor.

Halibut in Green Pepper Cups

- 1 pound frozen halibut fillets or steaks, defrosted
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion
- 6 medium green peppers
- 1 can condensed tomato soup
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup soft bread crumbs
- 12 narrow strips pimiento

Place halibut in a skillet large enough to hold fish in single layer. Add enough water to almost cover fish. Add salt and chopped onion.

Bring liquid to a boil. Cover tightly and simmer 10 to 12 minutes, or until fish loses its translucency and flakes easily.

Drain and flake fish, removing skin and bones if halibut steaks are used. Cut a thin slice from stem end of peppers. Remove seeds and membrane; wash thoroughly.

Cook peppers, covered, in boiling salted water 5 minutes. Drain. Stand peppers in muffin cups. Combine soup with flaked fish and spoon into pepper shells. Melt butter; add bread crumbs and mix lightly. Sprinkle crumbs over stuffed peppers; crisscross strips of pimiento on top.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 20 minutes. To serve, place each pepper in a nest of hot fluffy rice. Makes 6 servings.

Cereal Biscuits Go Under Tuna

One way to economize on the food budget is to use leftovers. If you have cooked rice cereal left from breakfast save it. It will be as nourishing used in biscuits as it was at breakfast time.

Here is a recipe for Surprice Biscuits using cold rice cereal and celery seed. You can try all sorts of herbs and spices for variety.

Surprice Biscuits

- 1½ cups sifted flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon celery seed
- ½ cup cold cooked quick-cooking rice cereal
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 1 egg, beaten
- 2 to 3 tablespoons milk

Sift flour, salt, baking powder and celery seed together. Cut in cod cereal and shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Combine egg and milk. Add to flour mixture and stir with a fork until soft dough is formed.

Place on a lightly floured board and pat or roll lightly ½ inch thick. Cut with a floured 2½-inch biscuit cutter. Place on an ungreased baking sheet. Bake in a preheated 450 degree oven 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 12 biscuits.

Sauce Salmon and Garnish With Potatoes

Here's a delicate salmon specialty, baked in scallop shells with a fluting of mashed potatoes. It's really a luncheon party dish, but it can also be served for dinner.

Salmon Coquille

- 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed mushroom soup
- 1 pound can salmon
- 1 teaspoon grated onion and juice
- ¼ cup heavy cream
- 2 tablespoons sherry
- Mashed potatoes

Heat soup until smooth. Stir in liquid from can of salmon, the onion, cream and sherry. Flake and stir in salmon.

Divide mixture into 4 or 6 scallop shells, depending on size and press out a border of mashed potatoes through a pastry bag fitted with a large fluted tube.

Bake in a preheated moderate (350 degrees) oven for 15 minutes, then run under broiler for about 2 minutes to broil potatoes.

Mushroom Tuna Sauce

- 3 tablespoons butter
- 3 tablespoons flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper
- 1 can (3 oz.) chopped or sliced broiled mushrooms
- Milk to make 1¾ cups
- 1 can (6½ or 7 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked
- 2 teaspoons chopped pimento
- 2 teaspoons chopped chives
- ½ teaspoon lemon juice

In a saucepan, melt butter and blend in flour, salt and pepper. Drain broth from mushrooms into a measuring cup and add milk to make 1¾ cups. Add to butter-flour mixture and cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and just boils. Add mushrooms, tuna, pimento, chives and lemon juice. Heat.

Serve over hot biscuits. Makes 2½ cups of 3 to 4 servings.

Try Preparing Lasagna With Alaska King Crab

From Italy where pasta is traditional comes the base for this sumptuous crab creation. The meeting of ruffley lasagna from old Italy and crab from one of our newest states, Alaska, occurs amid rich tomato sauce, sour cream and mellow cheeses.

The Italians say the key to good cooking is in simplicity. This artistic creation is simply a matter of layering crab sauce with cheeses and cooked lasagna, then baking to set the ingredients together.

The fragrant sauce simmers long enough to develop the flavors of garlic, oregano, basil and dill with its marked affinity for crab. The sauce is layered with sour cream to give moist smoothness. Over all, the cheese layer and mild, Mozzarella, light and mild, and Cheddar that melts into a golden soft topping.

Alaska King Crab Lasagna

- 1 pound frozen Alaska King crab or 2 (7½ oz.) cans Alaska King crab
- 2 tablespoons butter
- ¼ cup minced onion
- 1 (4 oz.) can sliced mushrooms
- 1 minced clove garlic
- 2 (15 oz.) cans tomato sauce with tomato bits.
- 1 tablespoon minced parsley
- ½ teaspoon dill weed
- ¼ teaspoon oregano
- ⅛ teaspoon dried basil
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 (12 oz.) package lasagna
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- ¾ cup grated Mozzarella cheese
- 2 cups grated medium cheddar cheese

Defrost, drain and slice frozen crab or drain and slice canned crab. Melt butter and saute onion, mushrooms and garlic until golden. Stir in tomato sauce, parsley, dill weed, oregano, basil and salt. Simmer for 20 minutes. Add crab.

Cook lasagna in boiling, salted water approximately 15 minutes or until tender yet chewy. Drain and layer half in large oblong baking dish. Add half of crab sauce.

Spread half of sour cream over crab sauce. Sprinkle with half of Mozzarella and Cheddar cheeses. Repeat layers of lasagna, crab sauce, sour cream and cheeses.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes before serving. Cut in squares to serve. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

ALASKA KING CRAB LASAGNA — For a change of pace, make your next batch of lasagna with frozen crabmeat instead of ground beef. Alaska King crab is a convenience food that makes cooking a pleasure.

SAUSAGE AND APPLE PANCAKE ROLL-UPS — Just right for a delicious week-end breakfast or a spectacular brunch.

Apple Pancakes Enclose Sausages

No matter how hard a Mother tries, it's almost impossible to capture the family for breakfast during the week.

But weekends are wonderfully different. It's fun cooking breakfast when everybody has time to enjoy your efforts.

★ ★ ★

With the kid-collecting aroma of sizzling sausage emanating from your kitchen, there's no question of the family's rallying 'round.

Fresh country sausage provides a real meat breakfast with eggs, pancakes, waffles, or whatever you choose to serve with it.

Actually there's a lot more meat in a pound of cooked sausage when compared with bacon. And sausage shrinks so very much less. It's rich in protein and thiamine (the B1 Vitamin). These "go power" nutrients keep your family alert, full of energy and in general good health.

Sausage and Apple Pancake Roll-Ups

2 (½ lb.) medium-size apples
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
⅛ teaspoon ground cinnamon
15 (18 oz.) little link sausages
1 fresh egg
1 cup whole milk
1 cup pancake mix
1 tablespoon melted shortening

★ ★ ★

Peel, core and chop apples in ¼" pieces. Combine with the sugar and cinnamon in a baking pan. Cover and bake in a 400 degree F. Oven for 20-25 minutes until tender but not mushy. Drain before using.

★ ★ ★

Cook sausage as directed on package while preparing pancakes.

Blend egg, milk and shortening. Add drained apples and then combine with pancake mix. Batter should have a medium-thin consistency. Add a little milk, if necessary, so batter is slightly runny.

Pour a scant 3 tablespoons batter for each pancake onto a hot, well-greased griddle. Pour batter so pancakes are more rectangular than round in shape. Cook till golden brown on both sides, turning once.

To serve, roll each drained sausage in a pancake placing lapped side down on plate. Allow 3 rolls for a serving.

Serve with warm Cinnamon Syrup (add ¼ tsp. ground cinnamon to each cup pancake syrup and beat to blend. Heat before serving). Makes 5 servings.

For a spectacular brunch — serve on a hot platter and flame with brandy.

LITTLE LOAF-ERS

Prepare cheese muffin mix as directed on package. Bake in 6 well-greased small loaf pans 2½ x 4½ x 1½ inches. Serve hot, with a variety of spreads.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SPREADS

1. Combine equal parts deviled ham and mayonnaise.
2. Combine 1 cup peanut butter with ¼ cup drained, sweet pickle relish.
3. Combine 1 cup mashed cooked or canned shrimp with enough mayonnaise for good spreading consistency. Stir in 1 tablespoon cut chives.
4. Spread ½ of loaf with softened cream cheese, the other with apple butter. Put together sandwich fashion.

LITTLE LOAF-ERS — Teens will go for a different kind of snack. Here, cheese muffin mix is baked in tiny loaf pans. Let each one have his own loaf and a variety of spreads to go with it. Fine for adults too.

Compare Fats

Butter or margarine may be substituted for vegetable shortening in baking. However, butter and margarine contain only 80 per cent fat. One cup of vegetable shortening is equal to one cup plus two tablespoons of butter or margarine.

Mold in Ring

To make an attractive rice ring, simply stuff cooked rice into a ring mold and turn out at once on a hot serving plate.

Twice as many women diet as do men in the United States.

Choose Crust

If a crisp crust is desired on home-made bread, cool the bread but do not cover. For a soft crust, cover while cooling with a cloth. For a tender crust, brush bread with melted butter just before taking from oven.

Canned Milk in Dressing of Potato Salad

One of the best versions of Dutch-type potato salads is served warm.

Hot Cream-Style Potato Salad

- ¼ cup butter
- ½ cup chopped onion
- ½ cup chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1 tall can (14½ ounces) evaporated milk (1⅔ cups)
- 4 teaspoons prepared mustard
- ⅓ cup cider vinegar
- 4 cups cooked, peeled and sliced hot potatoes (6 medium)

Melt butter in a medium saucepan. Add onion and green pepper. Cook gently until onion is transparent and pepper is tender.

Remove from heat and sprinkle in flour, sugar and salt, stirring to blend well. Slowly stir in undiluted evaporated milk, keeping smooth.

Over low heat, cook and stir constantly until thickened. Stir in mustard and vinegar to blend. Pour sauce over hot potatoes in serving dish and stir lightly to mix. Makes 6 servings.

Layer in Pan

To keep pancakes hot while making several batches of them, place the baked griddle cakes one layer deep in a shallow pan in a very low oven.

ADVENTURE IN EATING — Mai Tai Steak, tasty tropical fare for hearty eating, is sure to brighten your winter menu! Brimming with deep-down flavor and juicy tenderness thanks to the sparkling blend of Hawaiian pineapple juice and instant meat marinade, this steak is a best buy at your meat counter — and a best bet in eating pleasure.

Hawaiian Touches Go with Flank Steak

Tropical Pacific isles have long lured the adventurer, the seafarer and modern-day tourist. Here is a taste of the tropics to delight the appetites and imagination of family and friends — Mai Tai Steak!

Mai Tai Steak

- 1½ to 2 lbs. flank steak
- 1 package instant meat marinade
- Two-thirds cup Hawaiian pineapple juice
- 2 tablespoons dark rum
- ½ teaspoon ground ginger

In a shallow pan, thoroughly blend package contents of meat marinade with pineapple juice, rum and ginger.

Place steak in marinade. Pierce all surfaces thoroughly and deeply with a kitchen fork to carry flavor deep-down and lock in natural juices. Marinate 15 minutes, turning several times.

Remove steak from marinade; drain, reserving remaining marindae for sauce.

Place steak on broiler rack set 2 inches from heat source. Broil a total of 5 to 8 minutes, turning once.

Transfer steak to a carving board; carve meat in very thin, diagonal slices. Makes 4 servings.

★ ★ ★

For mai tai sauce: Drain excess fat form pan drippings. Add remaining marinade and ¾ cup pineapple juice, 1 tablespoon dark rum and 1 teaspoon cornstarch to pan drippings, blending well.

Bring sauce to a boil; reduce heat and simmer for 5 minutes to blend all ingredients. Serve hot over sliced steak.

Spicy Cabbage Good in Winter

Mix in a saucepan 6 cups shredded red cabbage, ⅓ cup light corn syrup, ¼ cup vinegar. Add a pat of margarine, a dash of salt and pepper, and a pinch of cloves.

Cover and simmer about 45 minutes, adding water if necessary to prevent sticking.

Cracker Crumbs, Nuts Top Chicken and Apples

Almond Oven Chicken with Apples is a wonderful combination of crunchy nut-covered chicken and baked apples . . . an excellent combination for fall and winter meals.

Almond Chicken with Apples

- 1 broiler-fryer, cut up (About 3 pounds)
- ½ cup all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon thyme
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ cup solid all-vegetable shortening, melted
- 1 stack-pack (about 40) saltine crackers, finely crushed
- ½ cup almonds, ground
- 4 cups pared and diced apples
- ½ cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
- ¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- ⅛ teaspoon cloves

Shake chicken in bag with a mixture of flour, salt, thyme and pepper. Dip in melted shortening, then roll in a mixture of cracker crumbs and almonds.

Place chicken, skin side down, in large shallow baking dish or pan; pour any remaining shortening over chicken. Bake in 375 degree (moderate) over 30 minutes. Turn chicken and continue cooking 30 minutes longer, or until meat is tender.

Meanwhile combine apples, sugar, butter and spices; mix well and place in 1½ quart baking dish. Sprinkle with any remaining almond-crumb mixture. Bake in oven with chicken for 45 minutes.

APPLE-VEAL SALAD — Cooked veal in a salad may be a new idea to you. But the practice of combining meat with fruit in salad is European and one American cooks might well imitate. Bright-skinned apples add color and texture to the salad.

Veal and Apple Cubes Are Salad Partners

Easing up on menu-planning and the serving of elaborate meals after the holidays is an agreeable thought indeed. Menus may be completely satisfying and nutritious, yet greatly-simplified, if the main course is a hearty salad.

With most kitchens abounding in leftovers, particularly meat, and markets featuring the beautiful, crispy-juicy Red and Golden Delicious apples, you can feature a salad today that combine these two foods.

The Apple-Veal Salad Geneva marinates apples, veal and celery in French dressing, then combines this with cooked and marinated broccoli. The result is a very nutritious, very colorful, low-calorie salad — a complete meal in itself.

APPLE-VEAL SALAD GENEVA

2 cups diced cooked veal or lamb
2 cups Red Delicious apples, cored and diced
2 cups sliced celery
⅓ cup French dressing
6 stalks cooked broccoli
Salad greens

Mix veal, apple, and celery with ⅓-cup well-seasoned French dressing; chill. Pour additional French dressing over the warm, cooked broccoli; cool, then chill.

Place greens on individual plates, arrange veal-apple-celery mixture, then top with marinated broccoli. Serve with additional French dressing.

French Dressing

½ cup fresh lemon juice or vinegar
1½ cups olive or other salad oil
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon powdered mustard
Dash of cayenne pepper

Mix all ingredients in a 1-quart jar; cover tightly and shake until thoroughly blended. Store in the refrigerator. Makes 2 cups.

Add New Touch to Apple Salad With Bacon

Bacon Waldorf Salad is a delightful variation on many people's favorite salad; serve it either as a side salad or an entree special with a cup of soup.

Bacon Waldorf Salad

1 envelope old fashion French salad dressing mix
Vinegar, water, and salad oil
1 cup diced apples
½ cup diced celery
1 to 2 teaspoons sugar
Dash of salt
Dash of pepper
½ pound bacon, cooked and crumbled
1 medium head lettuce, shredded

Prepare salad dressing mix with vinegar, water, and oil as directed on envelope. Combine apples, celery, ⅓ cup of the prepared salad dressing, sugar, salt, and pepper. Let stand 5 to 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, add bacon to lettuce. When ready to serve, combine with apple mixture. Makes 7 cups or 8 servings.

Biscuits Make Tasty Roll-Ups

All American favorites . . . franks, chili, cheese, bacon and baked beans . . . wrapped up in crescent dinner rolls and baked off in minutes, can be offered as this unique finger food.

In two variations, Chili 'N Cheese and Bacon 'N Bean, the crescent franks are simple to assemble. Merely divide a package of refrigerated dinner rolls into triangles, spread with beans or chili, and roll up with a frank inside. Bake for 12-15 minutes and they are ready to serve.

For family meals or party fare, these popular combinations are sure to please. They would be the hit of a teen-age pajama party . . . card game gatherings . . . warm-ups after the game . . . or just Sunday night supper

Chili 'n Cheese Crescent Franks

8 franks
15½ ounce can chili
4 ounce package shredded Cheddar cheese
8 ounce package refrigerated cresecent dinner rolls

Open package of refrigerated dinner rolls and divide into 8 triangles on an ungreased cookie sheet. Place one frank at the base of each triangle.

Spread a generous tablespoon of chili over the remaining part of the triangle. Beginning at the base, roll the frank inside of the triangle of dough. Sprinkle shredded Cheddar cheese over the frank roll-ups.

Bake at 375 degrees for 12-15 minutes until golden brown. Makes 8 servings.

Bacon 'N Bean Crescent Franks

8 franks
8 strips bacon
½ cup baked beans
8 ounce package refrigerated crescent dinner rolls

Cook bacon strips until crisp. Drain, crumble into bits and set aside. Open package of refrigerated dinner rolls and divide dough into 8 triangles.

Spread a tablespoon of baked beans over the triangle of dough. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon of bacon bits.

Place a frank on the beans and, beginning at the base, roll the frank inside the triangle. Place on ungreased cookie sheet at 375 degrees for 12-15 minutes, or until golden brown. Makes 8 servings.

CRESCENT FRANKS — Franks with chili 'n cheese or bacon 'n beans combine several all American favorites in one. Crescent franks are so easy to prepare that teens can be part of the "chef set." They can stage their own party and prepare the food as well.

Crown Cocoa Cake With Mint Frosting

The Middle West — heartland of America with expansive and fertile farmlands and friendly people! This "land of plenty" conjures up the aroma of brewing coffee, the sight of country-fresh dairy products, and fragrant, warm - from - the - oven breads and cakes, served with limitless amounts of old-fashioned hospitality.

An ideal example of a true Midwest cake is Peppermint Topped Fudge Cake. Made with buttermilk and cocoa, it's a perfect chocolate cake made by the conventional method.

The Peppermint Fluff Frosting uses the egg white leftover from the batter recipe; a lesson in economy.

PEPPERMINT TOPPED FUDGE CAKE

1 cup sifed enriched flour
½ cup sugar 3
¼ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
½ teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ cup cocoa
¼ cup shortening
⅔ cup buttermilk
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Peppermint Fluff Frosting

Sift together all dry ingredients. Blend in shortening and buttermilk at low speed with electric mixer. Then beat two minutes at medium speed. Blend in egg yolk and vanilla. Beat for additional two minutes at medium speed.

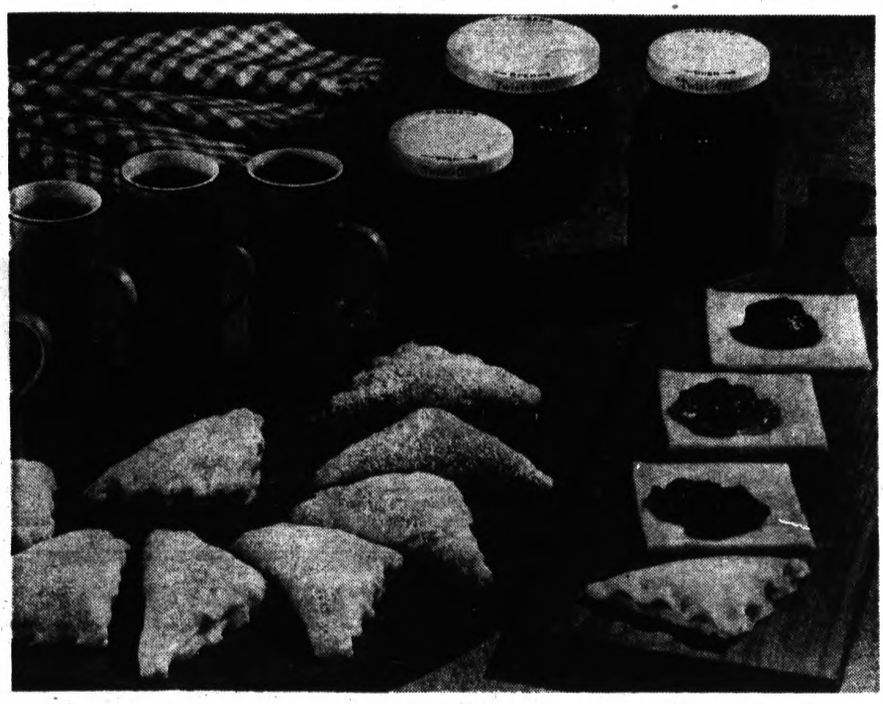
Pour into a greased, wax-paper-lined 8-inch square pan. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven, 30 to 35 minutes, or until done. Cool 10 minutes on wire rack. Remove from pan. Cool and frost.

Peppermint Fluff Frosting

1 egg white
1¼-1½ cups sifted confectioner's sugar
¼ teaspoon vanilla extract
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
2 tablespoons crushed peppermint candy
Pink or green food coloring, optional

Beat egg white until soft peaks form. Gradually add sugar; beat until dissolved and frosting stands in peaks. Add vanilla and corn syrup; beat until frosting again holds stiff peaks. Add food coloring, if desired, and stir in peppermint candy.

FRIED FISH WITH SAGE — Sprinkle two pounds fish fillets with salt and pepper. Roll in flour. Melt 4 tablespoons of butter in a frying pan and cook fish about 5 minutes on one side over moderate heat. Turn and brown the other side. Place on a warm platter. Add 2 tablespoons of butter and ⅛ teaspoon each ground sage and nutmeg to pan. Stir until butter melts but does not brown. Pour over fish. Garnish with sprigs of watercress and slices of lemon. Makes 6 servings.



JAM TRIANGLES — Two's company and three's a crowd. But whatever the number, these Jam Triangles make it a party. Outside they're rich yeast dough that tastes like pastry. Inside, they're filled with preserves in your favorite flavor. Serve them warm from the oven with coffee for dessert, as a snack, or for a very special breakfast.

Spoon Jam on Pastry; Fold Over Before Baking

You can call them triangles, tarts, or pastries. You can serve them for dessert, as a snack with coffee, or for a very special breakfast. But whatever or whenever, you'll love the taste and texture of these all-purpose goodies.

They combine the wholesome flavor of a yeast dough with the richness of pastry and the sweet fruitiness of preserves.

Although they're made with yeast, you won't have to do any kneading. For a party, use a variety of preserves in light and deep colors.

Jam Triangles

1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water (110-155 degrees)
3 cups sifted flour
1 teablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup butter or margarine
cup milk
1 jar (12 ounce) favorite preserves
Confectioners' sugar

Dissolve yeast in warm water. combine flour, sugar, lemon rind, and salt. Cut in butter or margarine with pastry blender until mixture is crumbly. Add yeast and milk; mix well. (Dough will be very stiff.)

Cover and let rise in warm place. Turn onto lightly floured board. Roll ¼ inch thick and into a rectangle 18x12 inches. Cut into 3-inch squares.

Spoon a heaping teaspoonful of preserves in center of each square. Fold each square, corner to corner, to form a triangle. Press edges together firmly. Place on baking sheet.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) until lightly browned, 18 to 20 minutes. Sprinkle with confectioner's sugar while warm. Yield. About 2 dozen.

Jellies Make Meat Sauce More Colorful

Saucy but easy, Simple Simon Meat Sauce perks up everyday meals. Chicken and ham — even lamb — are more appealing and glamorous with this tasty topping made of jelly, raisins, chutney and a splash of sauterne.

Simple Simon Meat Sauce

½ cup apple jelly
½ cup currant jelly
2 tablespoons raisins
½ cup chopped chutney
¼ cup sauterne

Combine jellies, raisins and chutney; heat, stirring occasionally, until jelly melts. Remove from heat and add sauterne. Cool to lukewarm (the cooling of the sauce prevents evaporation of the wine). Serve with ham, chicken or lamb. Makes 1¾ cups.

Slivers of Ginger Add Zest to Fruit

Canned prunes are the start of an interesting fruit dessert spiced with ginger.

Gingered Fruit Bowl

1 can or jar (1 lb.) cooked prunes
½ small orange
1 can (1 lb. 14 oz.) pear halves
1 tablespoon crystallized ginger slivers

Put syrup drained from prunes and orange cut into thin slices in a saucepan; bring to boiling. Remove from heat: pour over prunes, orange slices and drained pears (reserving 1 cup pear syrup) in serving bowl. Sprinkle with crystallized ginger slivers and pour the reserved pear syrup over them; chill. Six generous servings.

Creole Origin

Borrow Recipe From the South

There are many food authorities both here and abroad who say that the Creole cuisine of New Orleans is the finest this country has to offer — and is on a par with the finest European cooking.

While Creole food shows the influence of several nationalities and cultures — among them Spanish, French, English, African and Choctaw Indian — it still is indigenous American cooking.

Creole cookery is an imaginative blend of native American foods like seafood from the Gulf of Mexico and distinctive spicy flavors of peppers, onion, garlic and green pepper.

Gumbo (from the African Bantu word for okra) is one of the bestknown Creole dishes. Not a stew, yet not a soup either, most gumbos are hearty meat, vegetable and broth combinations served over fluffy mounds of boiled rice.

Our recipe for Shrimp-Crab Gumbo is flavored and thickened with okra.

Shrimp-Crab Gumbo

1 large onion, chopped
½ cup chopped green pepper
2 stalks celery, chopped
¼ pound cooked ham, diced
1 clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons pure vegetable oil
1 package (10 ounces) frozen okra, partially thawed
1 can (15 ounces) or 2 cans sauce with tomato bits
1½ cups water
½ teaspoon basil
1 bay leaf
1 pound jumbo shrimp, cooked shelled and deveined
1 cup cooked crab meat, diced
Salt
3 cups hot cooked rice

In large heavy skillet or Dutch oven cook onion, green pepper, celery, ham and garlic in oil until vegetables are tender. Add okra, tomato sauce with tomato bits, water, basil and bay leaf; cover and simmer 15 minutes.

Add shrimp and crab meat; salt to taste, then cook 10 minutes longer or until okra is tender. Serve over mounds of rice in soup bowls. Makes 6 servings.

Variations

Shrimp-Lobster Gumbo; Omit crab meat. Substitute 1 can (7½ ounces) lobster, drained and bony tissue removed. Proceed as recipe directs.

Chicken Gumbo; Omit crab meat and shrimp. Substitute 3 to 4 cups cubed cooked chicken. Proceed as recipe directs.

SHRIMP-CRAB GUMBO — Creole cooking is a superb marrying of the cuisine of many nationalities — French, Spanish, African, Anglo-Saxon and American Indian. Acquaint your family with Creole cooking by making Shrimp-Crab Gumbo.

Made of Sweet Potatoes

Try a New Dessert

When it's desert time at your house, what's on the tip of your tongue? If you're lucky, or an enterprising homemaker, it could be Sweet Potato Whip, a resourceful new dessert that's made to measure for freshly cooked sweetpotatoes or leftover sweets succulently flavored with fresh orange juice and molasses.

SWEET POTATO WHIP— Versatile sweet potatoes make a dessert time appearance mixed with orange juice, blended with sugar and topped with toasted coconut and cream.

Sweet Potato Whip

⅔ cup mashed cooked fresh sweet potatoes, chilled
⅓ cup fresh orange juice
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
3 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons molasses
1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice
2 egg whites
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
Dash salt

Combine sweet potatoes, orange rind, sugar, molasses, and lemon juice. Beat until ingredients are thoroughly blended.

Whip egg whites with cream of tartar and salt until mixture forms stiff peaks. Fold egg whites into sweet popato mixture. Spoon into serving dishes.

Sprinkle with toasted coconut and top with whipped cream if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Little Meat Pies Are Fried

The smart hostess is always on the lookout for interesting new ideas for party foods.

A particularly interesting one is Empanadas . . . spicy little fried meat pies with a meaty filling. They're best served hot, freshly fried and crisply delicious.

One particularly nice feature of these tiny pies is that they can be made up ahead of time and frozen. Freeze them on trays until they are solid, then toss them into plastic bags for storage.

Because they are tiny and cook quickly, the still-frozen Empanadas take only a minute or two longer to cook. Guests can cook their own Empanadas, too, if you have an alcohol burner and a heavy, decorative pot for the hot shortening.

Arrange this all on a tray with the Empanadas and slotted spoons to retrieve the sizzling pies.

OLIVE EMPANADAS

6 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup butter or margarine
1½ cups cold water
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
Olive Ham filling or Olive Beef Filling.

Stir flour and salt together in a large bowl. Cut in butter until mixture resembles cornmeal. Gradually add water, mixing with a fork and a tossing motion. Press into a ball; cover and let stand 30 minutes.

Divide pastry in half and roll out one half into a 20x24-inch rectangle. Brush with 2 tablespoons melted butter; fold in half. Roll again into a 20x24-inch rectangle.

Using a 2-inch cutter, cut into rounds. Cover rounds with a damp cloth as they are cut. Repeat with remaining half of pastry and melted butter.

Place a rounded teaspooon of either Olive Ham Filling or Olive Ham Filling or Olive Beef Filling on half the rounds; cover with remaining rounds and seal edges with a fork. Prick tops.

Heat shortening to 375 degrees and fry pies 1½ to 2 minutes on each side, or until golden brown. Drain and serve hot.

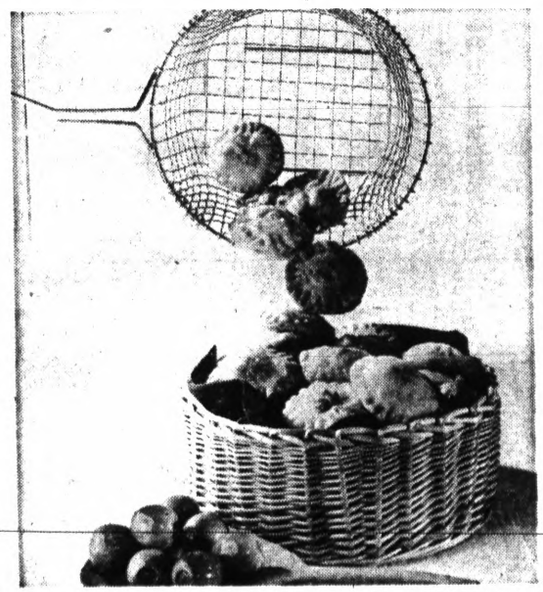
Olive Ham Filling (Makes about 2½ cups): Combine 1 cup each: finely chopped cooked ham and cooked pork, 1 hard-cooked egg that's been chopped, ½ cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives, ¼ cup chopped parsley, 1 small clove garlic that's been minced, ½ teaspoon salt, a dash of pepper and nutmeg, a tablespoon of sherry and 1 egg that's been slightly beaten.

Stir all of these ingredients until they are well mixed.

Olive Beef Filling (Makes about 3 cups): In a skillet, saute ¼ pound ground beef until browned; remove beef. In same skillet, saute ¾ cup chopped onion and ½ cup chopped green pepper until tender.

Peel and cut in half a medium tomato; squeeze gently to remove seeds and juice. Chop and add to the skillet along with browned beef, 1 hard-cooked egg that's been chopped, ½ cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives, ¼ cup seedless raisins, 1 tablespoon sugar and ½ teaspoon each: salt and pepper.

Mix until ingredients are well blended.



OLIVE EMPANADAS — Empanadas are spicy little cocktail-size meat pies that make wonderful party-time food.

Pudding Is Like Souffle

Here's a hearty dish for meatless fare!

Corn Pudding

2 large eggs
1 can (1 pound) creamstyle corn
1 cup undiluted evaporated milk
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon sugar

In a 1½-quart round glass casserole (7½ by 2½ inches), beat the eggs enough to combine yolks and whites. Stir in the remaining ingredients.

Place casserole in a baking pan; pour boiling water into pan to one-half depth of casserole. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 45 minutes or until the tip of a knife inserted in center comes out clean. Makes 6 servings.

Beat together equal portions of light corn syrup and currant jelly. Pour over lamb during last 30 minutes of roasting.

PINK RICE—Cook one cup rice and ½ cup chopped onions in two tablespoons butter or margarine until rice is golden, about 20 minutes. Add one cup beef broth; one can (1 lb.) tomatoes, cut up, or 3 medium fully ripe tomatoes, chopped; one teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon seasoned pepper. Heat to boiling; stir once; cover. Reduce heat and simmer about 18 minutes. Fluff lightly with a fork. Makes 6 servings.

Banana Sauce Topping for Cake

Use strained baby food to make new and delicious sauce for plain cake.

Creamy Banana Sauce

2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons chopped nuts
1 can or jar (5 oz.) strained bananas

Mix sugar and nuts with bananas. Chill and serve as sauce on plain cake. Makes about ¾ cup.

Dessert Calls for Mincemeat

Mincemeat, a traditional Yuletide favorite, turns up in a delicious torte topped with a warm lemony sauce. Although the torte is simple, the tangy lemon sauce dotted with red or green maraschino cherries, makes it an elegant dessert.

Conveniently packaged foods such as graham cracker crumbs, bottled lemon juice, chopped walnuts, and instant mincemeat, make both recipes a snap for even the most inexperienced cooks.

MINCEMEAT TORTE

2½ cups graham cracker crumbs
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 package (9-ounces) instant condensed mincemeat, crumbled
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 teaspoon bottled lemon juice

Mix crumbs, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs, gradually add sugar, beating until very thick. Fold in crumbs, mincemeat, nuts and lemon juice.

Bake in well greased 9-inch square baking pan in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 to 35 minutes or until done. Cut in squares and serve warm with sauce. Makes 9 servings.

Jeweled Lemon Sauce

½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1¼ cups water
⅓ cup bottled lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup maraschino cherries, quartered

In saucepan, combine sugar and cornstarch. Gradually stir in water. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick and clear. Remove from heat; add lemon juice and butter. Stir in quartered cherries. Serve warm over mincemeat torte.

Fill Mushrooms

Blend 2 3-oz. packages cream cheese and 1 4¾-oz. can liverwurst spread. Fill 4 dozen dry clean mushroom caps with this savory combination - garnish with radish rings and green pepper bits for that touch of "spring".

Vegetables' Appeal Can Be Increased

GLAZED VEGETABLES — Glazed acorn squash, carrots and onions, flavored with West Indies molasses, are vegetables with family appeal — sweet enough for the younger members and low in calories for the weight-conscious.

Here's a new treat for the younger members of your family who groan, "Do we HAVE to eat the vegetables!" Just try these dishes flavored to just the right degree of sweetness for family tastes. (And you can get in a history lesson at the same time!)

Squash is a native of the Western Hemisphere and was grown in Peru as long as 2,000 years ago. The Indians called it "askutasquash," meaning "Green thing eaten green."

But not all squash is green: varieties range from bright yellow to an almost bluish color. The acorn squash is a deep green that turns orange during storage.

Glazed acorn squash is delicious baked with a mixture of nuts, butter, orange rind and molasses. West Indies molasses, the pure unsulphured kind, adds a rich and mellow sweetness certain to appeal to children.

Everyone knows the nutritive value of carrots, but not everyone knows that the Greeks and Romans honored them in favorite stews and Elizabethan women not only prepared them as food, but used their wispy fern-like leaves for decoration in their elaborate hairdos.

And if there are teen-agers in your family, remind them that vegetables are not only low in calories but one of nature's best foods to help promote healthy, unblemished skin.

Glazed Acorn Squash

- 3 acorn squash
- ¼ cup West Indies molasses
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup chopped nuts, optional
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
- 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Wash squash and halve lengthwise; remove seeds and stringy portion. Place squash, cut side down, in a greased shallow baking pan. Bake in 375 degree oven, 30 minutes.

While squash is baking, combine remaining ingredients. Remove squash from oven, turn right side up. Divide molasses mixture among the halves.

Return to oven and bake approximately 30 minutes longer, or until squash is tender. Yield: 6 servings.

Glazed Carrots

- 1 bunch carrots
- 2 tablespoons West Indies molasses
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine

Scrape or pare carrots thinly. Leave whole or cut in half. Cook in boiling, salted water until almost tender. Remove and drain.

Heat molasses and butter in skillet; add carrots. Turn to cover with molasses-butter mixture. Simmer gently 15 minutes, turning and basting occasionally. Yield: 4 servings.

Note: 1½ pounds cooked tiny white onions may be substituted for carrots.

Coffee Gives Flavor Boost

Marvelously-flavored Coffee Crunch Bars are brimming with almonds and chocolate bits — a nibbler's delight.

Coffee Crunch Bars

- 2 cups all-purpose flour*
- (regular or instantized)
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons instant coffee
- 1 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1 cup brown sugar (packed)
- 1 teaspoon almond extract
- ½ cup chopped almonds
- 1 package (6 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate pieces (1 cup)

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Blend all ingredients except almonds and chocolate pieces thoroughly. Mix in almonds and chocolate pieces.

Pat or spread batter evenly in ungreased jelly roll pan, 15½x 10½x1 inch. Bake about 25 minutes or until lightly browned and crisp. While warm, cut into bars, each 2x1 inch. Makes about 6 dozen.

*When using self-rising flour, omit baking powder and salt.

Potato Salad Is Welcome at Any Season of Year

This salad is a great disguise for leftover vegetables and meat.

Luncheon Salad

- 1 cup mayonnaise
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon seasoning salt
- 1 teaspoon curry powder
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 No. 1 can whole new potatoes
- ¾ cup chopped celery
- ½ cup chopped cucumber
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 1 small apple, grated
- 2½ tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped or sliced

Mix mayonnaise with mustard, pepper, seasoning salt, curry powder, and sugar. Slice potatoes and fold into mayonnaise mixture together with remaining ingredients except eggs.

★ ★ ★

Serve on crisp lettuce, garnish with eggs and chopped parsley. May be served with leftover meat and tomato wedges. Makes 4 servings.

Ham and Pork Mix

Cheese Baked in Loaf

Ham and Switzerland Swiss cheese make a combination that everyone likes, especially in a cheese cooked together in a delicious loaf.

★ ★ ★

During winter months, when entertaining's the rule rather than the exception, a dish such as this will be the delight of any home chef.

SWISS HAM LOAF

- 4 cups ground cooked smoked ham
- 3 cups ground raw pork
- 3 cups Switzerland Swiss cheese, grated, or 2 six-oz packages Switzerland Swiss slices, chopped
- 1 cup crushed pineapple, undrained
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 1½ cups cornflake crumbs
- 1½ cups milk

Combine all ingredients; blend well. Shape mixture into a large loaf on well-greased shallow baking pan.

Glaze

- ½ cup brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon dry mustard
- 2 tablespoons vinegar

★ ★ ★

Combine glaze ingredients; spoon mixture over loaf. Bake at 350 degrees for 45-60 minutes. Slice while hot; serve with mustard sauce, mushroom sauce, or orange sauce. Five minutes before removing loaf from oven, top with strips Switzerland Swiss cheese in lattice pattern; bake until cheese is melty.

★ ★ ★

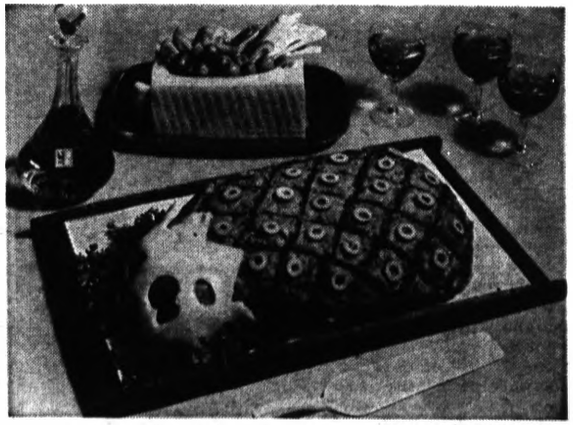
Party touch: Double the loaf recipe and form into ham shape. Score top of loaf; bake as usual. Decorate with olive rounds. Five minutes before removing from oven, place a piece of Switzerland Swiss cheese over shank end; bake until cheese is melty.

Extend Sausage With Rolled Oats

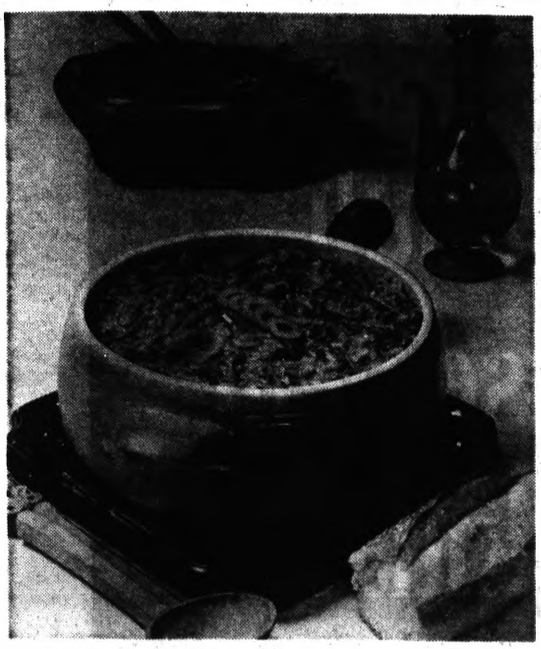
You can make that country sausage go much farther and taste even better by taking one-half pound of sausage and mixing it with one-half cup of quick-cooking oats, and one-third cup of evaporated milk. Blend well and let stand a few minutes.

★ ★ ★

Make into patties and fry well done in the usual way.



SWISS HAM LOAF — This unusual ham loaf has grated Swiss cheese mixed right into it. Crushed pineapple also adds to its interesting flavor. More Swiss cheese makes a lattice pattern on top.



SPANISH RICE — A wonderful meeting of flavors occurs in this casserole of Angostura Spanish Rice with Beef. It's the perfect supper dish.

Aromatic Bitters Give Rice Dish New Taste

In some families, a "supper dish" is any meal-in-one-dish. To others, it means the type of recipe that can be carried to a church supper.

★ ★ ★

Some people think of super dishes in terms of something to serve after the Saturday afternoon football game or the Friday night basketball one.

However you look at it and whenever you taste it, here's a perfect supper dish. So perfect, in fact, lots of people serve it anytime for dinner. It's easy, inexpensive and great for preparing ahead of time to reheat later. It only gets better with more cooking.

Reason for its excellence is its flavor. This it gets from the generous one and a half tablespoons of aromatic bitters that an imaginative and inspired recipe innovator put in.

★ ★ ★

Angostura is a really interesting blend of spices in that it is not readily identified in the finished dish. All the eater knows is that the total result tastes unusually good.

Angostura Spanish Rice With Beef

¼ cup olive oil
1 package (8-oz.) beef flavor rice mix
1 lb. ground chuck
1 can (6-oz.) slices mushrooms, drained
½ cup sliced stuffed olives
2 cans (1-lb.) stewed tomatoes
1 cup water
1½ tablespoons Angostura aromatic bitters
Salt and pepper
Additional olives

Heat olive oil and add rice. Cook while stirring until golden brown. Pour mixture into a 2-quart casserole. Sprinkle seasoning mix from package over rice.

Cook chuck in skillett until brown and crumbly. Drain excess fat and pour beef into casserole. Add mushrooms, olives, tomatoes, water and Angostura. Stir to blend.

Cover and bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 40 to 45 minutes or until rice is tender. Uncover and stir mixture with a fork to fluff. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Garnish top with additional olive slices. Yield: 6 servings.

Meat Rack Lets Air Circulate

Remeber the rack that is placed under the roast! That keeps the meat cut from sitting in drippings and juices. It also allows the dry heat to circulate around the meat cut to cook it evenly.

★ ★ ★

The only time a rack is not truly necessary under a roast is when a bone-in rib roast is being cooked. The rib bones, in this case, form a natural rack for the roast.

Condensed cream of chicken soup diluted with a little milk and flavored with grated Parmesan cheese makes a quick sauce for broccoli.

Rice Pilau Is Right Food to Go With Lamb

This is an excellent version of a classic Armenian dish.

Rice Pilav

⅓ cup rendered beef fat or butter
¼ cup (broken into 1-inch lengths) vermicelli
1 cup long-grain rice, washed in cold water and drained
1¼ teaspoons salt
1 medium tomato, skin removed and diced
2 cups cold water
1 chicken bouillon cube

In a heavy medium saucepan, over moderate heat, heat the fat; add the vermicelli and stir constantly until lightly browned. Add the rice and stir to coat with the fat. Stir in salt and tomato.

Add the water and bouillon cube. Stirring constantly, bring to a boil; cover and cook over low heat until all water has evaporated and rice is tender—15 to 20 minutes.

Turn off heat; stir rice; cover; place a cloth wrung out in cold water over the cover of the saucepan; let stand for 3 minutes before serving. Makes 4 servings.

TUNA STUFFED CABBAGE — If you'd just as "leaf" save . . . try Tuna Stuffed Cabbage, a delicious dish sauced with tomato and sour cream. Economical and nutritious canned tuna has complete protein comparable to that of lean meat.

Cabbage Rolls Hold Tuna-Rice Mixture

Smart shoppers are using their heads and saving money on food costs. First they turn to tuna—a best buy for complete protein at remarkably low cost.

Did you know that canned tuna is comparable to lean meat in complete protein? It's a fact, and one worth putting into action in your meals for a reliable way to cut your food bills. Even when it's not on sale, tuna sells for only 35c a can.

Having used one's head that much, it's time to call on a head of cabbage for a great tuna main dish idea that is new. Try Tuna Stuffed Cabbage. It's budget food all the way but you would never know it.

Succulent cabbage leaves are tenderized in water, then drained, and stuffed with a delectable tuna rice mixture, nicely seasoned. The stuffed cabbage leaves are baked in tomato sauce, and as a final gourmet touch, the tomato liquid is mixed with sour cream for a sauce superb.

Tuna Stuffed Cabbage

- 8 large cabbage leaves
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- ½ cup diced celery
- 2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
- 1 cup cooked rice
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 2 teaspoons dried parsley flakes
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce*
- 1 cup sour cream

Cook cabbage leaves in a small amount of boiling salted water about 4 minutes. Drain and dry on paper towels.

Heat butter in skillet; add onion and saute until onion is tender but not brown. Add celery, tuna, rice, mustard, parsley flakes and egg. Stir well to combine ingredients.

Divide tuna mixture among cabbage leaves and place on center of each leaf. Roll up and tuck in the ends, making a neat package.

Fasten rolls with food picks. Place close together in a shallow baking dish. Pour tomato sauce over cabbage rolls. Cover and bake in 350 degree oven 30 to 35 minutes. Remove cabbage rolls.

Combine sour cream with tomato liquid in baking dish. Serve over cabbage rolls. Makes 8 cabbage rolls.

*1 can (14 or 15 ounces) tomato sauce may be substituted.

Chocolate Is the Star of Energy-Giving Lunch

The tired businessman (or woman) who frequently lunches in, like the active youngster who takes lunch to school, can keep his energy balance high, with delicious health-giving chocolate.

For a delectable high-energy Chocolate Lunch-in Kit, use basket or box, include soup, sandwich, or salad, but make it a must to pack a thermos of Chocolate Power and a generous portion of Chocolate Ricotta Ambrosia.

To give that extra charge, add a few Chocolate Dynamos.

CHOCOLATE RICOTTA AMBROSIA

½ lb. ricotta (Italian cottage cheese), or any dry, fine-curd cottage cheese, such as farmer cheese.
½ cup sugar
2 squares (1 oz. each) unsweetened chocolate, grated
¼ teaspoon almond extract
2 8-inch sponge cake layers
Ready-to-use cocoa

Combine ricotta and sugar; mix well. Stir in grated chocolate and flavoring. Spread between cake layers. Dust top of cake with ready-to-use cocoa. Cut into wedges. Makes 6 servings.

CHOCOLATE POWER

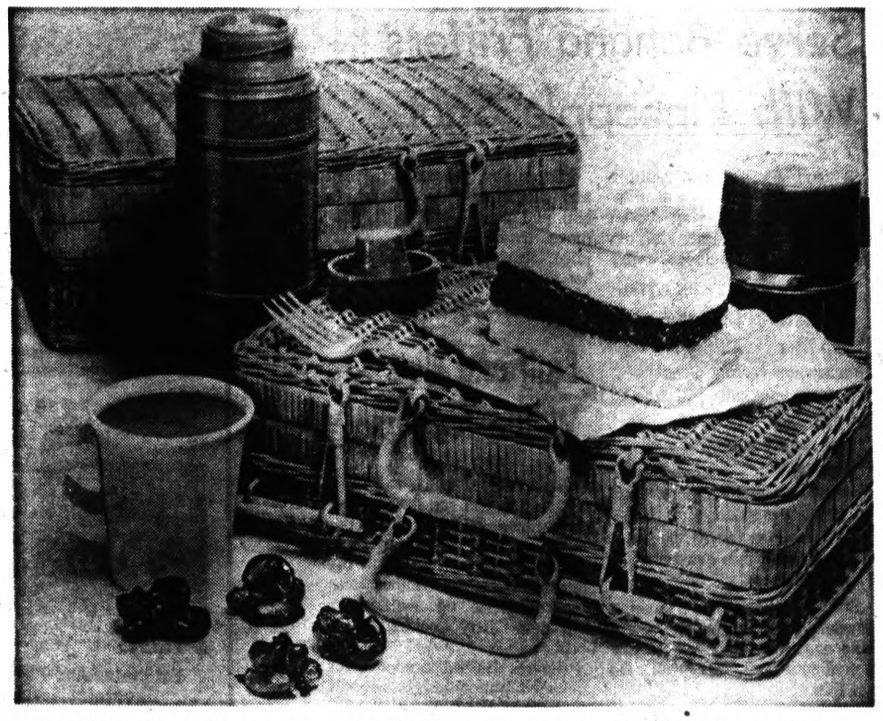
2 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate (unthawed)
¼ cup chocolate sryup
1 cup milk

Combine all ingredients; beat well, or whir in electric blender. (It should have consistency of a chocolate milk shake.) Chill. Pour into vacuum bottle. Makes about 1½ cups.

DYNAMOS

1 half-pound package (8 1-oz squares) candy-making or semi-sweet chocolate
1½ cups salted cashew nuts

Heat chocolate over boiling water until partially melted. Remove from heat; stir rapidly until completely melted. Cool. Add nutmeats, whole or broken and mix well. Drop from teaspoon on waxed paper. Let stand in cool place until firm. Makes about 32 pieces.



CHOCOLATE LUNCH — A boon to the luncher-in is this Chocolate Lunch-in Kit, generous in energy-giving chocolate in both liquid and solid states. It will satisfy even the most enthusiastic lover of chocolate.

Big Hams Need Refrigeration

If you've ever wondered why some canned hams require refrigerator storage, here's the answer.

Small ham pieces (1½ pounds) may be processed so that they can be stored on the pantry shelf.

If larger ham pieces were processed to be shelf stable, the ham would be overcooked and fall apart. Larger hams are pasteurized, require refrigeration and are marked "Perishable, Keep Under Refrigeration." It is not recommended that such hams be frozen.

Sour Cream Is Frosting Secret

A lemon frosting made with dairy sour cream is just the thing to frost a two-layer 8 or 9-inch white, lemon or applesauce cake.

★ ★ ★

Cream 2½ cups confectioners' suger together with 2 tablespoons soft butter. Add ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and ¼ cup dairy sour cream. Beat until light and fluffy. Add additional confectioners' sugar, if necessary, for proper spreading consistency.

Honey Butter

When you are mixing honey and butter to use as a spread, be sure to have both the honey and the butter at room temperatures so that they will blend easily and well. Store the mixture in the refrigerator.

Serve Banana Fritters With Pineapple Sauce

A fruit dessert that's different is banana fritters with pineapple sauce. Get your batter ready ahead of time and dry the bananas just before serving

BANANA FRITTERS WITH PINEAPPLE SAUCE

- 1 cup flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1¼ teaspoons salt
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 egg, well beaten
- ⅓ cup milk
- 2 teaspoons melted shortening or oil
- 4 to 5 bananas (firm), peeled and sliced into quarters lengthwise

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Combine egg, milk, oil. Add to dry ingredients and mix well. Do not thin.

★ ★ ★

Coat bananas well with flour; dip into batter, covering completely. Deep fry about 5 minutes, turning to brown evenly. Serve hot with pineapple sauce.

FOR PINEAPPLE SAUCE

(Prepare in advance)

- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 cup pineapple juice
- ¼ cup canned crushed pineapple
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- Pinch of salt

Mix sugar, cornstarch, salt and pineapple juice. Bring to boil and cook until thick. Remove from heat; add lemon juice, crushed pineapple. Serve hot over banana fritters.

Fruit and Nuts Are Waffle Toppers

Add a special touch to everyday waffles and see it you don't have more wide-eyed sleepyheads at the breakfast table than ever before. Here's how the editors of Better Homes and Gardens perk up waffles in their new "Jiffy Cooking" cook book.

Prepare desired amounts of packaged pancake mix according to packaged directions for waffles.

★ ★ ★

In a small bowl combine 2 tablespoons flaked coconut and 1 tablespoon shredded orange peel. In another bowl combine ¼ cup diced unpared apple, 1 teaspoon sugar, and several dashes ground nutmeg. Have ¼ cup chopped pecans ready.

Pour batter onto preheated waffle baker and quickly top with a small amount of your choice of fruit mixtures or pecans. Bake. Serve with butter and syrup.

PECAN CORN FLAKE COOKIES ARE SLICED

Crunchy Top of Bar Cookie Has Cereal

Especially appealing to boys and girls of all ages are these Chocolate Peanut Crunch Bars. The tender shortbread layer has crunchy topping of chocolate, peanut butter and cereal.

Chocolate Peanut Crunch Bars

3 cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
1¼ cups brown sugar, firmly packed
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup shortening
⅓ cup crunchy peanut butter
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring

★ ★ ★

1 cup (6-oz. pkg.) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
½ cup crunchy peanut butter
1½ cups Special K

Measure flour, brown sugar and salt into mixing bowl. Add butter, shortening and peanut butter; cut in with pastry blender or two knives until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Add egg and vanilla; mix well.

Press mixture firmly into ungreased 15½x10½ x 1 inch jelly roll pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Cool slightly.

★ ★ ★

Melt chocolate over very low heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in peanut butter and cereal. Spread over baked layer; let stand until chocolate is firm. Cut into bars or squares to serve.

★ ★ ★

Yield: 35 bars, 1½ inches x 3 inches or 35 2-inch squares.

Coat Cookies with Nuts

From Kellogg's "blue ribbon" recipe collection comes this cooky recipe for Pecan Corn Flakes Cakes. Prize-winners every time they're served, these cookies are very tender, with crisp corn flakes and crunchy pecans. With their melt-in-the-mouth goodness, Pecan Corn Flakes Cakes are the perfect ending to a sack lunch or a special guest dinner.

Pecan Corn Flakes Cakes

1 cup soft shortening
1 cup soft butter or margarine
3 cups sifted confectioners sugar
1 tablespoon vanilla flavoring
3 cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
3 cups corn flakes
1 cup chopped pecans

Beat together shortening, butter, sugar and vanilla until the consistency of thick whipped cream; add flour and mix well. Stir in corn flakes.

Divide dough into four equal portions; shape into rolls about 1½ inches in diameter. Coat rolls with pecans. Wrap each roll in waxed paper, sealing ends. Refrigerate at least 12 hours.

Cut in ½-inch slices; place a little apart on ungreased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 15 minutes or until lightly browned.

Yield: about 6 dozen Pecan Corn Flakes Cakes, 2 inches in diameter.

Note: Dough may be chilled before shaping into rolls, if desired. These cookies should be sliced much thicker than ordinary refrigerator cookies.

Add Apple Wedges at Serving Time

If watercress isn't available, you may substitute mixed greens.

Swiss Salad

1 bunch watercress
½ cup matchstick-size strips Swiss cheese
2 medium red-skinned eating apples
Olive oil, wine vinegar, salt and pepper.

Remove coarse stems from watercress. Wash and dry thoroughly. Turn into a salad bowl and add the cheese. Cover tightly and refrigerate until serving time.

Wash and dry apples; quarter and core; cut into thin wedges; add to salad bowl. Toss with remaining ingredients (for the dressing) in the amounts you like. Makes 6 servings.

It's Shortcake

Bake your flakiest baking powder biscuits sprinkling each with a cinnamon-sugar minture before baking. Split biscuits while still slightly warm and fill with sweetened whipped cream and canned cling peach slices.

Celery in Foil Ready to Bake

A crackly - crisp bunch of celery is truly a many-splendored vegetable and is generally budget-priced.

- Cook its large outer ribs as a convenience vegetable to team flavorfully with meat, fish or fowl.
- Chill its delicate heart ribs for the relish dish and low-calorie snacking.
- Minch it for salads and sandwich fillings.
- Treasure the leafy tops, for they can contribute aroma to soups, stews, sauces or other vegetables.

Boil sliced or chunked celery briefly in just enough stock or water to keep it from sticking. Or braise it with butter or oil. Bake it whenever preparing an oven dinner.

Boiling takes about 10 minutes, braising 15; baking will take between 45 minutes and an hour.

There are all kinds of good ways to flavor cooked celery. Sprinkle it with olive oil and Parmesan cheese and broil briefly. Dress it with butter and shredded almonds, pignolia nuts or toasted sesame seeds.

Finely minced chives or mild onions are delicious with cooked celery. Saute celery with half as much sliced green pepper.

Or prepare it according to the following recipes from the test kitchens of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association.

Baked Fresh Celery

2 stalks fresh celery
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1 teaspoon minced fresh onion
1 teaspoon salt
1/16 teaspoon ground black pepper

Select tender ribs from celery stalks. Cut into 5-inch lengths. Brush with melted butter; sprinkle with onions, salt and pepper. Wrap individual servings (3 to 4 pieces) in aluminum foil. Place on cooky sheet in preheated hot oven (400 degrees). Bake 1 hour or until celery is tender. Yield: 6 servings.

Canned Clams Used in a Sauce

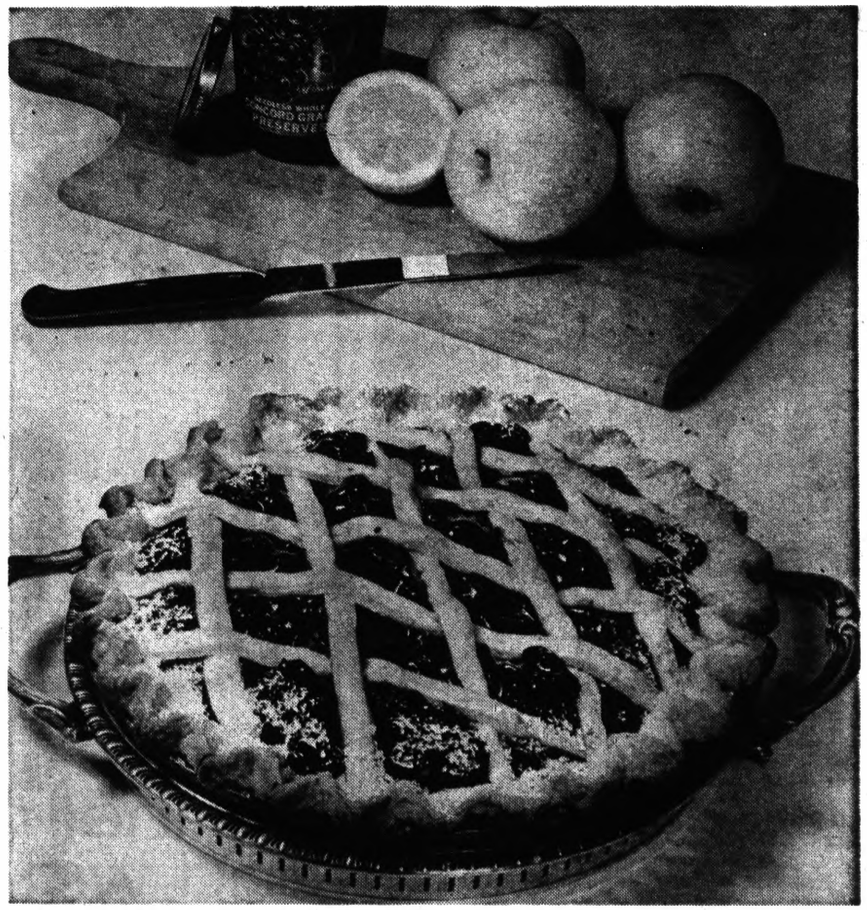
Here's a good way to serve a group. . . .

Rowena's Pasta with Clams

3 packages (each 8 ounces) thin spaghetti
3 cans (each 8 ounces) minced clams
½ pound butter
2 cloves garlic, crushed

In a large kettle, in a large amount of boiling salted water, boil the spaghetti just until the firm stage — 5 to 7 minutes. You may use 1 tablespoon salt to every 3 quarts of water.

Drain the spaghetti and return to the kettle. Add the undrained clams, butter and garlic; cook over low heat until most of the clam liquid is absorbed. Makes 8 servings.



APPLE GRAPE PIE — Both Concord grapes and sliced apples combine in a superb blend with just the proper mixture of sweetness and tart flavor for a specially luscious dessert treat.

Lattice Crust on Apple Grape Pie

Apple grape pie uses whole concord grape preserves as an ingredient together with sliced apples. It's a superb flavor blend. The light, flaky pastry shell fragrant with Concord grape taste and apple will be enthusiastically received by your family and friends.

APPLE GRAPE PIE

Pastry

1¼ cups flour
4 tablespoons sugar
1 stick butter, sliced
2 egg yolks
Pinch of salt
Grated lemon rind of one lemon

Filling

3 apples — peeled, cored, and thinly sliced
1 jar Concord grape preserves

Sift flour onto pastry board. Make a well in the center and put sugar, butter, egg yolks, salt and lemon rind. Work the center ingredients into paste, knead in flour.

Form dough into a ball, wrap in wax paper and refrigerate for about 30 minutes. On lightly floured board roll out ⅔ of the pastry and transfer to 8 inch pie plate. Trim edges.

Fill about ⅔ full with apples, spiraling slices from center to outer edge. Spread with grape preserves.

Roll out remaining pastry thinly and cut into strips, ½ inch wide. Arrange 10 strips lattice fashion over filling and trim overhanging edges. Place strips all around edge of filling, seal and flute bottom layer of pastry.

Bake in 425 degree oven for 15 minutes. Reduce oven to 350 degrees and bake for 30 minutes longer. Remove from oven and sprinkle with confectioners sugar.

Glazed Carrots in 20 Minutes

Dissolve a chicken bouillon cube in ½ cup boiling water in saucepan. Add ¼ cup light corn syrup, 1 tablespoon margarine and 1 pound fresh carrots, pared and cut into small pieces. Cover and cook over medium heat 10 minutes.

Uncover and continue to cook about 10 minutes longer or until carrots are tender and glazed and liquid is absorbed. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Uses Sherbet

Children aren't the only ones who like sweet afternoon snacks. Moms will enjoy this treat too. It's Creamy Orange Drink made by beating together 1 cup softened orange sherbet and 1 cup softened vanilla ice cream, then gradually adding 2 cups milk. When it's all blended it's ready to sip.

Tenderloin Barbecued in Skillet, Oven

You don't have to wait for warm weather outdoors to enjoy a barbecued meal. You can achieve that wonderful barbecue flavor indoors on your kitchen range.

Here is a delicious recipe for pork tenderloin that you can barbecue in your skillet. The seasonings in the sauce permeate the meat with the barbecue flavor during the two hours of slow cooking on top of the range or in the oven.

Try this barbecued pork tenderloin recipe that next time you want to serve something special to your family and friends. It is easy to prepare.

Barbecued Pork Tenderloin

2 whole pork tenderloins about 1-pound each
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup flour
½ cup catsup
¼ cup vinegar
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons paprika
2 teaspoons celery seed
1½ teaspoons chili sauce
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste

Cut each pork tenderloin in half lengthwise, then crosswise to make 4 pieces, or a total of 8 pieces. Melt butter in skillet.

Coat meat with flour and brown in hot butter or margarine. Combine catsup, vinegar, sugar, paprika, celery seed, chili sauce, dry mustard, salt, and pepper. Pour mixture over meat.

Cover and simmer on very low heat or in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) for about 2 hours.

Natural Process

Do your children ever ask "Why does this cheese have holes in it?" Next time they ask tell them that the holes in Swiss cheese are formed naturally by the chemical changes that take place as the cheese ages.

HIPPO ON THE MENU — Prospective diners at a restaurant in Plymouth examine a hippopotamus which will be on the menu the first week in February. The 485-pound carcass, drawn and frozen in South Africa, cost the restaurant owner $1000. "We think it will taste a little on the order of pork, but we're not sure," said manager Tom Stremich. "Last year we had roast lion and it tasted like veal. Next year? Well, possibly we'll get a giraffe," he said.

WHAT-A-WAFFLE SUPPER — Brown one pound ground beef and ½ cup chopped onion in small amount of shortening in skillet. Add one can condensed tomato soup, one-third cup water, one teaspoon salt and dash of pepper. Cover; simmer about 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Prepare one 9-oz. package frozen prebaked waffles in toaster or oven, according to package directions. For each serving, top two waffle sections with ground beef mixture; sprinkle with grated Cheddar cheese. Makes 6 servings.

Buttery Potatoes Come From Oven

Potatoes Delicious is what you'll call this potato version.

Peel 1 medium potato for each serving. Slice evenly thin — just a little thicker than for chips. Arrange in concentric circles in a well-buttered shallow baking dish, suitable for table service. There should be not more than 5 or 6 layers.

Season each layer with salt and pepper; brush layers generously with melted butter. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees about 40 minutes or until crisp and brown, top and bottom. Cut in wedges to serve.

Sift It Twice

Any flour used in cake baking should be sifted once before measuring, then sifted at least once again with other dry ingredients. In measuring, pile lightly into cup with a tablespoon, then level off with a knife.

Common Vegetables Hold Down Costs

To continue to enjoy gourmet dishes despite rising food costs, buy sharp. For example, keep your menus flexible and use only those fresh vegetables that are in plentiful supply the days you shop. They will be lower in price than produce not in abundance at the moment.

Fresh Cauliflower Polonaise

1 large head (1¾ lb.) cauliflower
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup soft bread crumbs
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
½ teaspoon paprika
1/16 teaspoon ground black pepper

Remove outer leaves from cauliflower. Place in saucepan with one inch boiling water and salt. Bring to boiling point, uncovered, and cook 5 minutes. Cover and cook 20 minutes or until tender. Drain if necessary.

Saute bread crumbs in butter until light brown. Add lemon juice, paprika and black pepper. Sprinkle over hot cauliflower on serving dish. 6 servings.

Broccoli With Butternut Sauce

3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
2 tablespoons chopped butternuts or other nuts
1/16 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/16 teaspoon ground allspice (optional)
1 bunch (1½ lbs.) hot cooked broccoli
Salt and ground black pepper to taste

Combine melted butter or margarine and chopped butternuts. Saute until butter is lightly browned. Add spices. Pour over hot cooked broccoli. Season with salt and ground black pepper to taste. Six servings.

Pasta Goes Into Dessert

Economical elbow macaroni stretches fresh fruit to make six to eight servings of delightful dessert. Frozen Fruit Medley can be made and kept frozen for later use.

Frozen Fruit Medley

4 oz. enriched durum rotini
2 oranges, peeled and sectioned
1 apple, cored and cubed
2 bananas, sliced
¼ cup chopped walnuts
¼ cup sugar
½ cup dairy sour cream
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water until tender, yet firm, 5 to 7 minutes. Drain; rinse with cold water. Cut orange sections in quarters; combine with apples, bananas and walnuts. Sprinkle with sugar. Mix in sour cream and macaroni. Fold in whipped cream. Freeze until firm. Makes 6-8 servings.

Romney May Ignore Early Primary Loss

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The prospect that Michigan Gov. George Romney will continue his fight for the GOP presidential nomination even if he loses early primaries has raised the specter of 1964 for Republican moderates.

Romney sounded like a man determined to stay in the contest no matter what reverses he may encounter when he said the race is between him and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

He added he doesn't believe "those who hold back in the hope that lightning is going to strike" will figure in the August convention decision.

Romney's views were voiced on ABC's "Issues and Answers" television program broadcast yesterday.

★ ★ ★

A Gallup Poll released yesterday indicated President Johnson could beat any of the four top prospective Republican presidential candidates if an election were held today.

POLL SHOWS LBJ BOOST

Results showed a dramatic gain in the President's popularity since October when a Gallup Poll had Johnson trailing all four of the possible GOP candidates. At that time Rockefeller made the best showing against Johnson.

The latest poll showed Rockefeller had nearly doubled his support with republican voters since November but was still trailing Nixon.

Romney and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California ranked third and fourth. Romney got 12 per cent, a 2 per cent decline from November, while Reagan received 8 per cent, a 5 per cent dip.

In St. Louis Saturday, Reagan once more denied that he'll seek the presidency.

Romney opened his Wisconsin primary campaign Saturday with a mile-long jog, a round of informal rallies and criticism of Johnson's spending policies. He said America may face the need for an austerity program such as England's unless spending is cut.

For moderates, a Romney who persisted in his bid for nomination after early primary defeats would present the same situation as existed in 1964. Then, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller kept up the battle against Barry Goldwater until he lost the June primary in California.

The last-minute effort to promote the candidacy of then-Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania collapsed in disaster.

Officials Plan Tax Hike 'Sell'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials face the task of convincing an economy-minded Congress that a proposed spending increase should not stand in the way of a tax hike.

Top officials are expected to argue today — when the House Ways and Means Committee once more takes up the tax boose proposal — that a $10.4 billion spending increase is essentially earmarked for Vietnam and domestic programs over which the administration has no control.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and Budget Director Charles L. Schultze will renew Johnson's case for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge before the tax-writing committee.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., has let it be known in advance, however, that the committee does not intend to decide on taxes until it has had time to study thoroughly the bidget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The spending program is scheduled to be presented to Congress a week from today.

The administration spokesmen are expected to bear down hard, in their arguments before the committee, on what they term a threat to the dollar in international markets if U.S. budget deficits get out of hand.

Backing them is Federal Reserve Chairman William Mc-Chesney Martin Jr., one of the original proponents of a tax increase and spending cuts.

In the interlocking tax-economy-international finance discussions, gold comes to the fore tomorrow when the House Banking Committee opens hearings on a bill to eliminate the requirement for a 25 per cent gold cover on federal reserve notes.

★ ★ ★

This would free about $11 billion to meet foreign claims against the dollar, thus suppoting U.S. currency in the international markets.

BALANCE-OF-PAYMENTS

The Ways and Means Committee begin hearings Feb. 5 on other administration proposals for improving the U.S. balance-of-payments situation.

the weekend that Johnson's upcoming budget will offer less of a stimulant to the economy than the President's two previous budgets.

These souces said the budget will show a $2 mbillion deficit on a national income account bases — the bookkeeping system that economists consider the best guide to the impact of federal spending on the economy.

South Viets Shorten Cease-Fire for Tet

By BARRY KRAMER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Holiday cease-fires seem on their way to becoming another casualty of the Vietnam war.

The South Vietnamese government announced yesterday it was cutting 12 hours off th 48-hour truce it had ordered next week for Tet, the lunar new year festival. It was one more example of the growing distaste with which the Saigon government and its allies view the traditional pauses in the fighting.

The allied truce will be the shortest cease-fire of the war for Tet.

Military officials always have opposed the truces on the ground that the Communists invariably use the pause in the fighting — and especially the halt in the arial bombing — to shove more men, arms and supplies onto the supply trails to South Vietnam.

News Analysis

The military men also point out that each cease-fire has been followed by major battles, proof that the Communists use the cease-fire periods to resupply and redeploy their forces.

U.S. BUILDUP

Some large American operations also have come immediately after cease-fires, leading some observers to draw the same conclusion about the allies.

The allied military commands also say the number of incidents during the cease-fires has become so great that during the New Year truce there were more casualties than during a normal two-day period.

But the military men have had to bow to political considerations. There was always hope that perhaps the truces could be extended, and that peace talks might develop.

★ ★ ★

Now even the civilian officials and diplomats who used to support the cease-fires as political necessities refer to them as meaningless.

"They have been cease-fires in name only," one American official said recently.

Housing Law Petitions Set in Birmingham

Birmingham's fair-housing ordinance is slated to be suspended.

The petitions circulated by the Birmingham Referendum Committee to force reconsideration of the recently enacted law were to be filed with the city clerk at about 11 a.m. today, according to committee members George W. Davis and Frank Mitchell.

Related Story, Page A-2

The ordinance is suspended immediately upon filing, although the suspension may be lifted if the petitions are later found invalid.

Davis, who lives at 1030 Pilgrim, said the committee has collected about 3,000 signatures, "comfortably over" the required 1,984 (15 per cent of the city's registered voters).

★ ★ ★

If the petitions are certified by the clerk, the City Commission must vote on the ordinance's repeal.

ON PUBLIC BALLOT

If the commission votes against repeal, the law must be placed on a public ballot in not less than 30 days nor more than a year. Meanwhile, the suspension remains in force.

★ ★ ★

Davis said petition workers "had no trouble" in getting signatures.

Other members of the referendum committee, which initiated the drive shortly after the ordinance was passed Nov. 27, include Dr. Francis LeVeque, Benjamin Phelps and Janet Dodd.

Cooking School Is Tonight

The ninth annual Pontiac Press cooking school opens tonight at 7:30 in the Pontiac Central High School audotorium.

In connection with the school, The Press is running its yearly recipe section in today's paper. Pontiac Press food editor Janet Odell has selected hundreds of new recipes for this cookbook.

Those who attend the sessions at the high school will receive cookbooks containing all recipes demonstrated on stage by Sara Bayard and Harriet Stinson. Both are home economists with the Consumers Power Co.

In addition to the preparation of food, there will be fashion shows during four of the six sessions. The R&B Shops, Alvins of Pontiac and Bloomfield Fashion Shop are participants.

★ ★ ★

Grand prizes will be awarded throughout the week. Thses include three gas ranges, water heater, gas incinerator, water condtioner, dishwasher, portable TV, vacuum cleaner and sewing machine.

OTHER PRIZES

In addition, there are many smaller prizes, plus some of the food prepared on stage and bags of groceries. No employes of The Pontiac Press or their families are eligible for prizes, and winners must be 18 years of age.

Members of Oakland County Extension Study Clubs will serve as ushers, a job they have performed for the past eight years.

Parking for those attending the cooking school is available in the lot west of Crofoot School and behind the First Church of the Nazarene on State Street.

★ ★ ★

Doors at the east end of the high school will be open at 6:30 p.m. each evening and 12;30 p.m. for the day sessions.

Weather Gives Spring Preview

Temperatures climbed into the 40s over the weekend, turning last week's accumulation of snow into slush and giving Oakland County residents a preview of spring. The mercury did not come close, however, to the 62-degree record set Jan. 22, 1906.

A slight haze covered the area this morning but not enough to hinder commuters and children as they traveled to work and school.

Temperatures will slump into the 20s tonight with a chance of snow flurries. More cold weather punctuated by snow flurries is predicted for tomorrow.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today 10, tonight and tomorrow 30.

Low thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 27. By 1 p.m., the temperature warmed to 32.

apparently died of smoke inhalation, firemen reported. Roger Kellogg, 5, is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital.

Asst. Fire Chief Russ See said the cause of the $10,000 fire is being investigated.

He said it started in the living room of the 1½-story converted cottage, possibly because of faulty wiring.

★ ★ ★

Firemen Richard Poorman and John Latimer entered the house through a broken window shortly after midnight and found the two lying unconscious on the floor. The boy was revived at the scene.

TRIED TO ESCAPE

The two tried to escape, according to See, but were overcome by heavy smoke. Most of the house was gutted by the fire.

Parents of the boy, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Kellogg, were not at home.

LUNAR BUG—Lunar Module 1 is to be launched into earth orbit today to test if its engines are capable of landing men on the moon and lifting them off. The test vehicle will not have the four lunar landing legs that are shown in this artist's concept of the moon ferry.

Apollo Launch Near

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The countdown ticked today toward an afternoon launching of America's first Lunar Module, an ungainly-looking spaceship which next year may ferry U.S. astronauts to the moon.

A powerful, 18-story-tall Saturn 1 rocket was scheduled to blast the unmanned 16-ton vehicle into earth orbit. There, it is to undertake a series of exacting tests to determine whether it is designed properly for the critical job of landing astronauts on the moon and lifting them off.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration designated the mission Apollo 5.

The Lunar Module, shaped like a fat bug with antennae for feelers and portholes for eyes, faced its most critical tasks late in the planned 6½-hour mission. That's when its two main engines—descent and ascent—were to ignite to simulate lunar operations in the space vacuum.

★ ★ ★

On a lunar landing mission, three astronauts will ride into orbit about the moon in the main Apollo spacecraft. Two of the spacemen then will transfer to an attached Lunar Module, detach it and fly down to the moon's surface.

ENGINE FIRINGS

The Apollo 5 flight plan called for these engine firings, with the first to occur four hours into the flight:

Two descent engine burns, one to simulate the start of the drop to the moon, the second of variable thrust to simulate throttling fo the engine during the descent.

Two ascent engine burns, one to simulate an emergency situation in which the astronauts decide to fly back to the main Apollo ship without landing, and the second to simulate a blast-off from the moon.

At the controls will be a computer-controlled programmer which flight officials have dubbed a "mechanical boy."

NO RECOVERY

There was no plan to recover the Lunar Module from space.

William C. Schneider, Apollo mission director, termed the test a difficult one.

"This," he said, "is the maiden voyage of a very complex machine. We cannot be assured in advance of success. It is a very busy mission with a certain amount of risk."

★ ★ ★

Schneider said that if the Apollo 5 test proved the capability of the two engines and the separation of the two engine sections, NASA possibly could eliminate a second unmanned Lunar Module flight planned in about four months.

N. Korean Terrorists Raid Seoul; 12 Die

SEOUL (AP) — About 30 North Koreans invaded Seoul Sunday night in a bold attempt to break into the presidential palace and assassinate high government officials. Six Reds and six South Koreans were killed by noon today.

Police searched for more than 20 North Koreans still at large. It was the first major clash inside the capital since the 1953 Korean armistice.

The fighting began when the Communists, in civilian garb, fatally machine-gunned Police Chief Choi Kyoo-shik when he challenged them less than a mile from the mansion of President Chung Hee Park.

The Reds then hurled grenades at four passenger buses, killing three civilians and injuring two others. Two more civilians were killed in subsequent shootings.

Police quickly deployed in the general area, killed five Communists and captured one. Another Communist who was captured was killed when a grenade he was carrying went off during interrogation at police headquarters.

Three South Korean Army divisions and the 2nd U.S. Infantry Division guarding the western sector of the Korean front were alerted to help hunt the Communists in mountainous areas north of Seoul.

★ ★ ★

A dusk-to-dawn curfew was proclaimed in three counties and the city of Uijongbu, north of Seoul, to help block escape routes. Seoul's midnight-to-4 a.m. curfew was extended two hours to start at 10 p.m.

U.S. Army helicopters were mobiled to help the search.

A joint antiespoionage operations headquarters was quickly activated to direct the search. It said the infiltrators were North Korean Army officers led by a captain.

ASSASSINATION PLOT

It added that captured articles confirmed they were assigned to assassinate South Korean government leaders and attack major government agencies.

The headquarters said U.S. and South Korean troops about 20 miles north of Seoul began searching for the band Friday evening when it was discovered that they had infiltrated into South Korea.

★ ★ ★

The United Nations command, which exercises operational control over South Korean forces, called a meeting Tuesday of the Joint Military Armistice Commission at Panmunjom to protest the attack.

The South Korean National Assembly hurriedly convened its national defense and home affairs committees to discuss the situation.

EMERGENCY SESSION

The full assembly was expected to be called into an emergency session.

Temporary checkpoints were erected along major routes leading to the capital and etxra guards were placed around key government buildings. But citizens of Seoul did not appear disturbed by the incident.

★ ★ ★

Antiespionage headquarters said the Communists had received espionage training for two years in North Korea and were familiar with geographical features around the presidential mansion.

Each was armed with a light machine gun, a revolver and a number of hand grenades.

South Korean forces reported locating about 70 hand grenades, radio transmitters, radio batteries and a number of other items believed to have been left by the Communists.

DEATH SCENE — A house at 6320 Elmwood, Waterford Township, is boarded up following a fire early yesterday which killed Mrs. Oliver D. Fluke, 69, and sent her grandson to the hospital.

'One-Wing' Test Cited in Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal requirement that pilots rehearse emergency landings with power out in both engines on one wing is blamed by a congressman for the March 1967 crash of a jet airliner that knifed into a luxury motel, killing 19 persons.

The National Transportation Safety Board said in a report issued today that the two left engines on the DC8 jet were muzzled as it approached the New Orleans, La., airport. The board blamed the pilots for allowing the huge jet to slow down too soon to reach the runway on the remaining engines.

★ ★ ★

"I can't accept that," said Rep. Fletcher Thompson, R-Ga. He said the single-wing landing procedure put the pilots in a dangerous position and called the training manuever absurd.

The Federal Aviation Administration has temporarily lifted the training requirement. Thompson says he will battle any renewal.

'OF LITTLE VALUE'

Thomas A. Basnight Jr. of the Air Line Pilots Association said in another interview that the maneuvers were "really of little value—or no value."

Thompson, a pilot in two wars, said double engine failure had never occurred in a commercial crash, yet the practice landings had taken more than a score of lives.

★ ★ ★

"It's absurd to endanger the crew and the people on the ground," he said. "It just isn't necessary."

Nine Juda, Wis., schoolgirls staying in the motel on their senior class trip died in an inferno of jet fuel as the airliner exploded and washed their rooms with flame. Four other persons, including a child asleep in his bed, died in the plane's path.

All six men aboard the Delta Air Lines jet were killed in the night-time crash last March 30. Among them was an FAA inspector.

Kosygin, U. S. Envoy Meet

Message From LBJ Believed Delivered

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson delivered a secret message —probably from President Johnson—to Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin in the Kremlin today.

An official announcement said only that Thompson had met Kosygin at the ambassador's request.

★ ★ ★

Neither Soviet officials nor the U.S. Embassy would elaborate. But the ambassador's request for a meeting meant he had a message to deliver, and the fact that he delivered it to Kosygin rather than to the Foreign Ministry indicated it came from President Johnson.

It was Thompson's first formal meeting with Kosygin since last Feb. 18, when the ambassador conveyed President Johnson's proposal for Soviet-American talks to limit development of an antimissile system. The Soviet Union would not enter into such talks.

★ ★ ★

Thompson's meeting with Kosygin lasted 30 minutes. It came shortly before the arrival of British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who planned to sound out Kosygin's views on Vietnam so he could relay them to Johnson when the British leader meets him in Washington Feb. 8-9.

Peril for LBJ in Detroit Seen

LANSING (UPI) — Zolton Ferency, former state Democratic chairman, said today President Johnson may be "in Jeopardy" if he tries to campaign in Detroit this year.

"I think that there could very well be demonstrations at gatherings, and perhaps even mob violence with respect to the peace question, with respect to the racial crisis and those other great issues of our time," Ferency said.

18,100 Workers Are Idled at GM

Strike Deadline Nears for Chrysler of Canada

DETROIT (AP) —Some 18,100 General Motors workers remained idle today as strikes by the United Auto Workers at three GM foundries forced the auto producing giant to lay off workers at other facilities.

The union has predicted a nationwide shutdown of the country's No. 1 auto maker by next week unless the strikes at the three foundries are settled.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, negotiators for the UAW and Chrysler Canada Ltd. bargained against a strike deadline of noon Wednesday in an effort to write a pattern-setting contract in Canadian negotiations.

★ ★ ★

Strikes at the GM's Central Division foundry in Defiance, Ohio, and at Chevrolet foundries in Saginaw, Mich., and Tonawanda, N.Y., have idled 11,200 union workers.

SHORTAGE OF CASTINGS

A shortage of castings from the Saginaw foundry has prompted GM to lay off 1,100 workers at its Saginaw transmission plant and another 5,800 at two Chevrolet plants in Flint, Mich.

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president and head of the union GM Department, told a news conference Friday that the "one key issue in all three foundries is the question of six minutes off the job for wash-up purposes before lunch."

★ ★ ★

"If this is not resolved," he added, "and these foundries stay struck, the corporation will be essentially paralyzed with some 300,000 workers on the streets in a week to 10 days."

★ ★ ★

Woodcock also reiterated a charge made last summer that Chevrolet Division of General Motor had told its local manager "Don't settle until the last minute."

DELAY DENIED

A union spokesman said Sunday only 25 of 76 Chevrolet locals had settled compared to 63 out of the 92 other GM locals.

Chevrolet has denied it is delaying in its negotiations.

Heart Recipient Dies After Complications

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Although Mike Kasperak died on the 15th day after his diseased heart was replaced, his doctor feels transplant operations will be continued.

★ ★ ★

"There was no evidence of rejection of the heart," Dr. Norman E. Shumway told newsmen Sunday at Stanford University Medical Center. "If the findings of the post-mortem bear this out, then we feel we have every basis on which to plan another clinical attempt."

Kasperak, 54, died at 1:43 a.m. Sunday following kidney failure, liver failure and other complications.

"We think that we are in the process of making observations of tremendous importance to other possible (heart) recipients and to the medical community as well," Dr. Shumway said.

FUNCTIONED WELL

Kasperak's substitute heart, taken from the body of Mrs. Virginia White, 43, after she succumbed to a stroke, apparently functioned well to the time of his death.

Dr. Shumway, who headed the transplant team, said that "what should be emphasized is that during this time he survived a fantastic galaxy of complications which we have seen before in other kinds of cardiac patients, but never in such profusion.

★ ★ ★

"We think that because of his normal cardiac action, he was able to survive first of all renal (kidney) failure, then hepatic or liver failure and then following this three major operations, all of which were done, of course, during the time that his circulation was moved by a transplanted heart," Dr. Shumway said.

"We feel that any one of these complications I mentioned would have been lethal had it not been for the cardiac transplant."

'NOT SURPRISING'

One of Britain's leading heart specialists Dr. Donald Ross, commented in London: "It is not surprising that Mr. Kasperak died. But I am amazed that they have been able to keep him alive so long."

Ross, chief surgeon at the National Heart Hospital, said complications of internal bleeding alone would account for Kasperak's death—as for many other deaths following open heart surgery.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Ferne Kasperak, herself a heart patient, received sedation after Dr. Shumway told her of her husband's death. She was secluded on her own doctor's orders.

The heart donor's husband, Charles W. "Bill" White, expressed sympathy for Mrs. Kasperak in a statement read at the Sunday news conference.

Wilson in Moscow for Kosygin Talks

MOSCOW (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson began Kremlin talks with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin less than two hours after flying in from London today.

★ ★ ★

Among the main topics of their meetings during Wilson's 51-hour visit are expected to be Vietnam, Cambodia, the Middle East and trade.

★ ★ ★

On none of these subjects did diplomatic observers here see enough signs of flexibility in the Soviet position to produce any new agreements, but Wilson has taken the attitude that talks are worthwhile just for common understanding.

Japan Base Calm Following Clashes

SASEBO, Japan (AP) — Calm prevailed around the Sasebo Naval Base today after four bloody clashes between radical students and police since the arrival Friday of the nuclear-powered U.S. aircraft carrier Enterprise.

★ ★ ★

In the only demonstration of the day, some 3,000 persons affiliated with the moderate Democratic Socialist Party marched quietly through the streets of Sasebo to protest the visit of the 75,000-ton carrier.

U.S. officials said the Enterprise would leave Tuesday. She is en route from Hawaii to Vietnam with the nuclear-powered frigate Truxton.

Machines Worth $1,490 Stolen From Area School

About $1,490 worth of office equipment was reported stolen from Crescent Lake School, 1021 Airport, Waterford Township, on Saturday, police said.

★ ★ ★

Burglars broke a window to enter the building then made off with electric typewriters and dictaphone, mineograph and adding machines.

The principal's desk drawers were rifled, but nothing was reported missing.

Public Heart Forum Scheduled for PNH

Recent advances in heart surgery, including hear transplants, will be among the topics covered by a panel of experts at a public heart forum scheduled for 8 p.m. on Feb. 16 in the Pontiac Northern High School auditorium.

The heart forum is consponsored by the Michigan Heart Association's Oakland County Heart Information Center and The Pontiac Press.

Theme of the heart forum is "Heart Attack — Survival 1968."

Featured speakers will be Dr. Allen Silbergleit, Dr. Michael C. Kozonis and Dr. Murray B. Levin.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Silbergleit, a cardiovascular surgeon on the staff at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, will speak on heart transplants and other advances in surgical techniques which are helping heart patients.

POSTGRADUATE WORK

Dr. Silbergleit took postgraduate work with Dr. Christiaan Barnard and Dr. Norman Shumway, who recently gained world attention with heart transplants in South Africa and California.

Dr. Kozonis, a prominent Pontiac area cardiologist also on the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital staff, will speak on special cardiac care units and other recent advances in hospital care and treatment of heart patients.

He is a past president of the Oakland County Heart Unit and currently president-elect of the Michigan Heart Association.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Levin, a specialist in internal medicine on the staff at Pontiac General Hospital, will explain how and why people have heart attacks and outline preventative measures.

OTHER PARTICCIPANTS

Also participating in the program will be Dr. Donald G. Albert, president of the Oakland County Heart Unit; Harry J. Reed, program chairman and managing editor of The Pontiac Press; and Dick Saunders, assistant to the managing editor at The Press.

The audience will also be invited to play a game called "Risko." It is designed to show people how they rate as far as heart attack risk factors are concerned.

Tickets for the event are free and may be obtained in Pontiac in the main lobbies of The Pontiac Press, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and Pontiac General Hospital, or at the Pontiac Area United Fund, 132 Franklin Blvd.

★ ★ ★

Rochester area residents can pick up tickets at Crittenton Hospital in Avon Township. They are also are available at the Heart Information Center, 277 Pierce. Birmingham.

Persons wishing to obtain ticksts through the mail should send orders to the Heart Information Center in Birmingham.

Barring a sellout, no one will be turned away, but those with tickets will be seated first.

Fair-Housing Petitions May Block Amendment

BIRMINGHAM — Action by the City Commission on a proposed amendment to this city's fair-housing ordinance may have to be postponed or dropped.

The commission was scheduled to discuss amending the "living quarters to share" section of the law at tonight's meeting at 8.

However, filing of the Birmingham Referendum Committee's petitions for a public vote on the ordinance, with its attendant suspension of the ordinance, may make amendment impossible.

City Attorney Dean G. Beier, in response to a question of the commission regarding amendment, offeree the opinion that the ordinance could be changed "at any time up until the referendum petitions are filed with the clerk."

★ ★ ★

In a communication to Assistant City Manager John Saefke, Beier suggested the ordinance be amended to exclude rental of living quarers when tenant and landlord use the same space.

OTHER LAWS CITED

Beier said state statutes regarding open housing all have "much broader" exceptions than the city ordinance. "Most of these statutes," he explained, "exclude the rental or sale of a private home when it is the only home belonging to the person selling or renting it."

Also on tonights agenda is disposition of city property on Collidge Road, where a rubbish transfer statin has bern proposed by the South Oakland Incinerator Authority.

★ ★ ★

The authority stated two weeks ago that it is "prepared to make an offer" for the property. However, consideration of the matter was postponed at request of Sheffield Estates and Pembroke Manor Civic Associations.

The board of education will hold a special meeting tonight at 7 to consider ratification of a tentative contract with the Birmingham Education Association (BEA).

★ ★ ★

The tentative contract, reached Wednesday by negotiating teams representing the two narties, was ratified Friday by BEA members by a 576-110 vote.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The public library board has accepted the resignation of library director Rose Vainstein, effective July 1.

Miss Vainstein will become a member of the University of Michigan faculty, specializing in the public library field.

★ ★ ★

She came to the township library in June, 1964, and was its first director.

No successor has been named.

Attacking Jet Thought to Be a U.S. Plane

SAIGON (AP) — A jet fighter plane which reportedly fired a round at the U.S. Special Forces Camp at Lang Vei last Friday was "probably American," a U.S. military spokesman said today.

Two men in a foxhole at the Lang Vei camp reported the plane had a white underside, was painted with green and brown camouflage and had delta wings. The description closely fits the U.S. F4 Phantom, but there was some speculation that the plane was a Communist MIG.

★ ★ ★

A single round from the plane —possibly a rocket—reportedly fell just beyond the perimeter of the camp, and no casualties or damage resulted.

An Air Force investigation team went to the camp and showed the soldiers who had seen the plane pictures of MIGs as well as American aircraft in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

The troops said the plane that flew over was "most likely" American, although they could not pinpoint the type.

Police Report Crime Calls Up

Newly released statistics compiled by Pontiac police show the department responded to 758 more calls involving criminal complaints in 1967 than in 1966.

Officers were called to investigate 5,766 complaints last yar involving offenses ranging from simple misdemeanors to major felonies.

Of these, 3,073 were offenses not included in the crime index — the catalog of serious crimes which increased by 30.8 per cent in the city in 1967 over the previous year.

★ ★ ★

Included in the crime index are murder and nonnegligent manslaughter, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larcency over $50 and auto theft.

★ ★ ★

The numerical and percentage increase of each of these in 1967 from 1966 was:

Murder and nonnegligent manslaughter, up from nine to 14, or 55.6 per cent.

- Rape, up from eight to 24, or 200 per cent.
- Robbery, up from 232 to 258, or 11.2 per cent.

Assault, fp from 287 to 408, or 42.2 per cent.

- Burglary, up from 1,059 to 1,444, or 36.4 per cent.
- Larcency, up from 838 to 995, or 18.7 per cent.

Auto theft, up from 260 to 380, or 46.2 per cent.

U. of M. Surgeons Ready for Heart, Lung Switches

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Surgeons at the University of Michigan Medical Center are technically ready to try human heart and lung transplants.

Whether they do depends partly on the outcome of current research and on the willingness of doctors to venture in a risky field where odds of success are largely unknown.

★ ★ ★

When the surgeons do attempt their first heart transplant, they will concentrate on infants born with faulty hearts and virtually no chance to survive beyond a few weeks.

Before this will be done, however, they want to know whether the transplanted heart will grow. To check this, they have been replacing hearts in calves for about a month. About three more months are needed to get a preliminary answer.

LUNG TRANSPLANT

On lungs, surgeons indicated it is extremely difficult to tell with certainty when a person with lung problems will die. Only a handful of human lung transplants have been tried in the world and none of the patients has survived.

★ ★ ★

"The surgical techniques involved in both heart and lung transplants are not particularly difficult," said Dr. Herbert E. Sloan Jr., professor of surgery at the University of Michigan.

White Lake Twp. Taxpayers Get Complaint Time

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP —Taxpayers here will have a chance to complain before it's too late.

Being sent out to residents are notices of property assessments for 1968 tax bills and dates when questions and dissatisfaction can be registered.

Township Supervisor James Reid reports that some property valuations are up and some are down.

The special sessions to voice complaints will be held by Reid and Township Assessor Donald Fish.

★ ★ ★

Residents of Brendel Heights and Houlcrest subdivisions will have their say at the first session tomorrow from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Township Hall.

FURTHER APPEALS

Other areas will be scheduled for later, said Reid. Taxpayers can make further appeals of their assessments at the public sessions of the Township Board of Review, which meets from March 5 to April 1.

The reason for the change in assessments from last year is that the township is following a state law requiring taxes to be levied on 50 per cent of the cash value of property.

Taxes for 1967 were assessed on 20 per cent to 70 per cent of cash values, reported Reid. He added that township properties were last assessed in 1958 and are being reassessed for 1968 taxes.

★ ★ ★

Reassessing on the 50 per cent cash value basis must be done by March 5, explained Reid.

Equestrienne Killed as Road Toll Hits 11

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A girl was fatally injured when the horse she was riding apparently panicked and galloped into the path of a car in Ottawa County.

★ ★ ★

The death was one of 11 traffic deaths during the weekend in Michigan. The toll was the highest for any weekend so far this year.

Miss Joyce E. Allen, 19, of Nunica died yesterday from a fractured skull in Butterworth Hospital at Grand Rapids. She was injured Saturday while riding her horse on a road in Coopersville. Sheriff's men said the horse apparently panicked and crashed into the auto, even though the driver swerved in an attempt to avoid the horse and rider.

Two men were killed last night in a crash between a car and a semitrailer truck on U.S. 2 near Epoufette in Mackinac County in Upper Michigan.

★ ★ ★

The victims, both riding in the auto, were Raymond Morrow, 24, of Lansing and Francis Shananquet, 36, of Petoskey.

Police said the car veered over a center line and collided with the truck.

OTHER FATALITIES

Also killed:

● Henry Moran, about 75, of Detroit, Friday night when hit by a car in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

● Charles Angelich, 48, of Warren, Friday night when his car hit a curb and flipped over on him in Warren.

● Edward Morales, 3, of Toledo, Ohio, Saturday when the car in which he was riding collided with one going the wrong way on I-75 near Flint.

★ ★ ★

● Henry J. Grindall, 75, of Jackson, the driver, and Edwin H. Waite, 82, also of Jackson, a passenger, when their car swerved to miss another vehicle and hit the end of a bridge on U.S. 127 Saturday near Hudson in Lenawee County. Grindall died Sturday and Waite died yesterday.

● Henry Harris, 59, of Detroit, Saturday when hit by a car as he walked along a road in Westland, a Detroit suburb.

★ ★ ★

● Mrs. Carl Mears, 46, of Fennville, Saturday when a car driven by her husband collided with another at Holland, throwing her out and saturating her with gasoline, which ignited and burned her to death.

● Harry William Whysall, 23, of Cass City, whose car ran off Cemetery Road Saturday night in Tuscola County's Novesta Township.

Avon Woman Injured in Fire

AVON TOWNSHIP — A 40-year-old woman suffered first- and second-degree burns of the hand and arm in one of two weekend home fires here.

Mrs. George F. Stoops, 481 Cherryblossom, was treated at Crittenton Hospital after she attempted to remove a pan of blazing grease from the kitchen range, said firemen.

Rochester firemen who answered the call at 2:41 p.m. yesterday, estimated damage to the room at between $500 and $750.

A fire Saturday reportedly caused $8,000 to $10,000 damage, much of it in smoke, to the Robert Skibowski home, 475 S. Livernois.

★ ★ ★

The blaze reportedly started in the lower level garage of the bilevel home home when Skibowski attempted to start a small bulldozer.

BACKFIRE REPORTED

Fire Chief Lyle Buchanan said Skibowski reported the bulldozer backfired, igniting some gasoline. He attempted to douse the blaze with a garden hose, but flames short-circuited the electrical wiring causing a pump failure.

The call was received at 12:08 p.m. Saturday.

Farmington Twp. Board May Vote on Study Tonight

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The Township Board tonight may take a deciding vote in its participation in a future Farmington area study.

The board meets at 8 p.m. at the Township Hall, 31555 11 Mile.

The other municipalities in the area — Farmington city and the villages of Woodcreek Farms and Quakertown — have already agreed to share the cost of the $5,000 study proposed by Michigan State University's Institute for Community Development and Services.

The Future Farmington Area Study Committee recommended that the institute conduct the study after the institute's representatives made their proposal late last year. The township share is listed as $3,500.

The Township Board, which had few representatives at the meeting last year, recently had its own session with the institute and with Donald M. Oakes public management firm of Grand Rapids.

Oakes proposed a $2,500 study just for the township. A former city manager of Berkley and Grand Rapids, Oakes' firm has made studies for about 20 Michigan cities and townships.

★ ★ ★

The board also will hold a public hearing at 7:30 tonight on a sewer project for Supervisor's Middle Belt 10 Mile plat no. 2.

2 Rochester Boys Get Eagle Honor

ROCHESTER — Eagle Scout awards have been presented to Daniel Rott, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rott, 514 Seventh, and Paul Kruger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kruger, 219 S. Alice.

The boys are members of Boy Scout Troop 60, under the leadership of the senior Rott.

★ ★ ★

Daniel has served his troop as senior patrol leader, instructor and junior assistant scoutmaster. For the past two years, he has been a swimming merit badge instructor at Oakland University.

Paul has served as patrol leader, senior patrol leader, instructor and troop scribe. Both boys are members of the Order of the Arrow.

West Bloomfield to Vote on Levy

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A millage request will be aired at a special meeting tonight of the Township Board at 7:30 at the Township Hall, 4460 Orchard Lake.

★ ★ ★

Details on the amount and use of the millage will be disclosed at tonight's meeting.

Township residents now pay 1.4 mills general township tax and 1 mill voted township tax.

Supervisor John N. Doherty indicated the possibility of a millage election at the mid-November board meeting.

At that meeting, residents on Inkster Road from 15 Mile to 14 Mile were told that the township has no funds to pay its 25 per cent share of the paving costs of that portion of Inkster.

★ ★ ★

Consideration of the millage election will follow other business. The meeting opens with a public hearing on the assessment roll for the Bel-Aire sewer project.

The board will also consider setting a date for a public hearing on the assessment roll for the Sylvan Manor water project.

Final Tally Shows Change in the Avon Charter Commission

AVON TOWNSHIP — An increase to a 50-vote margin and a change of one of the elected charter commissioners has been reported by the Oakland County Board of Canvassers in a review of last week's incorporation vote.

Three additional "yes" votes were tabulated and George Schutte, Oakland County Department of Public Works project engineer, replaced Herman Lamb, 3783 Mildred, an employe of White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy, on the charter commission.

In the original count, only two votes had separated Lamb and Schutte, with Lamb given the greater count.

The review, which included several absentee ballots, gave Schutte a three-vote lead, according to Township Clerk Thelma Spencer.

Commerce Okays 2 Road Projects

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP—Two street improvement projects here totaling about $176,200 have been given the go-ahead.

The Township Board has entered an agreement with the Oakland County Road Commission to prepare for future blacktopping of about one mile of Newton from Oakley Park to Commerce Road.

The township and county will split the estimated $120,000 cost of the work. Commerce's share will come form revenue from the 2 mills voted for roads.

Blacktopping of the mile of Newton will come next year, allowing time for the road to settle after preparation, explained Township Supervisor Robert H. Long.

The other agreement is for the preparation and blacktopping of Canal and Oakside. The half-mile project will cost the townhsip and county about $28,000 each.

★ ★ ★

Both projects are expected to be completed this summer, said Township Supervisor Robert H. Long.

Police Report to Be Reviewed

LAKE ORION — Forty-three people sustained injury in traffic accidents occurring within the village last year, but there were no fatalities reported.

The annual police department report, prepared by Chief Neil Leonard and due for consideration by the Village Council tonight, reveals 125 property damage accidents for the same period.

Police arrested 1,463 persons, 991 of them for traffic offenses. Officers investigated a total of 2,400 complaints.

There were 741 traffic violation tickets issued of which 166 remain unpaid, Leonard reported. Parking meter tickets totaled 1,936 and other parking tickets 405.

★ ★ ★

There were 10 garbage tickets and 10 dog tickets issued in connection with improper handling of both.

Residents caught in illegal procedure paid a total of $28,249.16 in fines of which $17,085 involved traffic and drunk driving charges.

Group to Seek More Business for White Lake

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—The few businessmen in this largely bedroom community are forming a group to attract more commerce to the area.

Township Supervisor James Reid sketched at a recent board meeting his plans for the township's Economic Development Council.

The group, to work closely with the Township Planning Commission, will get started in March, said the supervisor.

The ultimate goal of the council is to build up for the area a diversified tax base of residences, businesses and light industry.

★ ★ ★

Two appointments have been made to the Planning Commission: Clarence Reading of 3565 Ormond who has previously served on the commission and Kenneth Ormandy of 9833 Coledale, a Detroit Insurance Agency employe working with industry and commercial establishments.

BOARD APPOINTMENT

Last month, the board appointed Leland Orr to complete the nine- member board. Leaving are secretary Jack Rose, Edward Januscko and James Cunningham.

Five CAP Cadets in State Screening

CLARKSTON — Five cadets from the Clarkston Composite Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol are among 54 chosen statewide for special activities screening.

John Bushart, Gary Klann, Timothy Morris, Cathy Witherup and Simon Worden have been interviewed and tested for possible participation in the Interleadership school and cadet flying encampment.

★ ★ ★

Other acitivites they may become eligible for are the Aerospace Age Orientation course, jet familiarization course and spiritual life activities as various Air Force bases throughout the United States.

First Lt. Kathleen Hawkins of the Clarkston squadron was among those assisting screening personnel at Selfridge Air Force Base.

Holly School Board to Mull Millage, Bond Need Tonight

HOLLY — Two elections may face voters this spring in this school district, as a result of the special meeting scheduled by the board of education tonight.

★ ★ ★

The board is scheduled to discuss the possibility of a new operating millage request and a bonding election for new construction.

The district's voters have dealt setbacks to both bonding and millage proposals in recent months, defeating a $5 million bond issue request in October and turning down a three-mill hike last spring.

According to Supt. of Schools Russell Haddon, the current millage total in the district for operating expenses is 20.6, of which 12 mills has been voted.

"Our big problem now," Haddon said, "is that we're just about out of space in our secondary schools."

MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS

On tonight's agenda will be such questions as minimum space and facility requirements for new schools and the possibility of splitting building needs into two ballots, with a junior high proposed this year and a high school in 1970.

If present facilities are not increased, Haddon warned, temporary classrooms or a reduced schedule for some students may be necessary by 1970-71.

Ortonville Banquet to Fete 2 for Service

ORTONVILLE — A civic appreciation banquet will be held here Wednesday honoring two long-time area residents.

Sponsored by the Jaycees, Lions Club and Rotary Club, the dinner will honor Edna Profrock, former assistant vice president of the Genesee Merchants Bank and Trust Co., and Frances Leese, who served the village for 40 years as postmistress.

★ ★ ★

The affair will begin at 7 p.m. in the Brandon Schools Cafeteria.

Review Board Adds 2

WEST BOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Two appointments have been made to the board of review.

With terms until 1971 are Paul Rabaut, who came on the board last year to fill a vacancy, and Charles Murray, new to the board.

Administrator to Quit Huron Valley Position

The Huron Valley Board of Education will receive the resignation of the district's director of instruction William Force, at tonight's meeting at 8:30 at Milford High School, 2380 S. Milford, Milford.

The board will also consider changing the mileage reimbursement rate for administrators. The intention is to reduce the present rate of 10 cents per mile when an administrator drives his own car on school business.

In Double Eagle Scout Ceremony

Two Milford Brothers to Be Honored

MILFORD — Two brothers will mark the first double Eagle Scout award ceremony here tomorrow at 7 p.m. at Milford Presbyterian Church.

The Scouts, Michael and David Wallace, will be given a reception afterwards by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wallace, 1755 Martindale.

The brothers, who joined Troop 171 in Milford in December 1965, reached the rank of Eagle last December.

Mike, 14, a ninth grader at Muir Junior High, is junior assistant scoutmaster and troop bugler. He is also a member of the Civil Air Patrol and his school's pep band.

★ ★ ★

David, 13 and in the seventh grade at Muir, serves his troop as quartermaster. He holds the first chair for saxophones in the Muir Concert band.

MOVING UP — David (left) and Michael Wallace, who advanced together in the ranks of the Milford Scout Troop No. 171, will become Eagle Scouts tomorrow. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wallace, 1755 Martindale, Milford Township.

W. Bloomfield LWV Will Meet Tomorrow

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — State issues will be discussed at the meeting tomorrow of the West Bloomfield League of Women Voters at 12:30 p.m. at the main library, 5030 Orchard Lake.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Dodie Weil, state board member of the League, will talk on the proposed judicial election and tenure amendment to the State Constitution.

6.5 Mills at Stake

Lapeer Schools Set Tax Vote

LAPEER — The board of education has slated an election March 12 on renewing a 3-mill tax levy which expired Dec. 31 and asking for 3.5 additional ills for one year for operating expenses.

★ ★ ★

The total of 6.5, according to Business Manager W. Gordon Hall, will bring the over-all operating millage to 19.08.

"Our budget for this year is $2,691,587," Hall reported, "up 19.4 per cent from last year."

Over the past 11 years, he said, the average increase has been 12 per cent. He attributed the rise to "much the same problems as in other districts — more students, higher cost of operations, better salaries."

Equalized valuation has been falling behind enrollment growth, too, Hall said. "Valuation of the district has been rising at about three per cent annually."

344 INCREASE

By contrast, the number of students in the district's schools has been increasing by 300-plus. This year, enrollment is 5,389—344 more than last year.

Previous operating millage requests in the district, Hall said, have always been approved.

The new levy, if approved, would bring in approximately $336,400 in additional revenue.

★ ★ ★

The new figure of 19.08 for total millage, the business manager noted, is not exceptional for state school districts.

"The state average this year is 18 mills, and we are at 15.58 right now," Hall said. 'By next year, when the additional 3.5 mills go into effect, the average will probably have gone up."

The board recently heard a protest from several Elba Township residents regarding the size of its transportation cut off.

Students presently residing within 1½ miles of Lapeer High School must provide their own transportation.

★ ★ ★

Administrative Assistant Ron Warner pointed out that state bus transportation aid is based on a code established by the state board of education. If the cut off were smaller, Warner said, state aid would be lost, and the district would have to foot the $100,000 cost for all students itself.

It Seems to Me . . .

Oakland County Must Adapt to Potential of the Air Age

This newspaper believes Oakland County is a logical point for big airport activities.

The future of air travel is incredible. No one can accurately predict what lies ahead. Chicago was so under-equipped in spite of its fine Midway Airport that it constructed the gigantic O'Hare. This was destined to "care for future needs indefinitely."

But see what happens.

Already, it's insufficient.

★ ★ ★

Hence, the "Windy City" has just reactivated Midway. O'Hare had become "the busiest airport in the world." Preparations for reopening Midway cost eleven million dollars but Chicago says she will get it all back in landing fees, terminal spaces, hangars, etc.

And the end is not yet.

Chicago still plans ahead.

A third airport of gigantic proportions is projected there for the 1980's.

★ ★ ★

Southeastern Michigan is approching the same predicament. Metro is rapidly becoming inadequate. Detroit City Airport is probably the most dangerous airport of appreciable size in the world. Hence, airdromes are an absolute necessity in this general area.

Consider these amazing statistics:

In 1961, airlines carried 54 million passengers. In 1967, the total approximates 120 million. Five years hence, the experts project 200 million and ten years from now it will be 450 million.

Private flying is expanding at the same or an even greater rate right now.

★ ★ ★

Personally, I rather favored enlarging the existing Oakland-Pontiac Airport with a big runway extension, plus a new one going north-south that ran 7,500 to 10,000 feet. But I defer easily to a committee that has been named to study the problem. If this group unites in the belief that relief north of the City will serve a greater need, we back them wholeheartedly.

But we need action.

"Time and tide wait for no man."

And neither does the airplane.

★ ★ ★

And — airlines are right now convinced that the future of air freight may even exceed passenger travel if you can comprehend this amazing declaration. For the past indefinite time, air freight has risen more than twice the rate of passenger business. Further, the airlines are even more interested in this tremendous upsurge in freight.

They say it's more profitable.

That could be.

Further, Insider's Newsletter quotes an airline executive as saying: "Freight is less fragile, doesn't have to be fed, doesn't need in-flight movies and does not bother the stewardesses."

What's really ahead?

Who knows?

Oakland County must keep abreast.

Pontiac Motor Performance . . . .

With the complete automobile figures at hand for 1967, Pontiac Motor's sensational performance is even more noteworthy.

Here are the final and official 1967 and 1966 statistics:

	1967	1966
General Motors	4,138,620	4,336,704
Ford	1,834,743	2,370,111
Chrysler	1,353,766	1,399,741
American Motors	241,404	266,288
Total	7,568,533	8,372,844

★ ★ ★

The entire industry lost 10.4% over the previous year. 1967 was a good year — the third best in all history — but it slipped some over 1966.

And yet Pontiac gained!

All of General Motors dropped 4.5%, considerably less than the industry as a whole, but Ford was sharply handicapped by the long strike.

★ ★ ★

We salute the Pontiac Motor Division again. We enjoyed this terrific sales period and then became "car of the year" as one to grow on.

Expensive Cover . . . .

Michigan is honestly perplexed and unhappy with the projected costs of a dome over our athletic stadium if, as and when one is built on the Fair Grounds site.

And she should be.

It takes heavy sugar.

★ ★ ★

Yet Wilmington, Delaware, is currently shadowboxing with the idea of a dome over the entire city. This should provoke a world's record "hrrumph" from Major Hoople. Dr. Celina P. Urgarte tells officials that domes can now be extended ten miles.

The device would give Wilmington almost complete control over local weather.

What's next?

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Hanoi Peace Feeler

David Lawrence Says:

Selection of Clifford Significant

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, in appointing Clark Clifford to be secretary of defense, didn't pick a specialist in military matters but a man with a certain type of mind capable of serving as a top counsellor in the Cabinet — someone he has known a long time, too.

LAWRENCE

Actually, the termination of Robert McNamara's duty as secretary of defense and the selection of Clifford in his place is far more significant than a mere change in personalities.

McNamara as secretary of defense. He had been a top executive in the Ford Motor Co. He was expected to give the huge department of the armed services the benefit of his talent — efficiency in organization.

He was accustomed to handling large sums and determining the best way to get the most for the money — on a business basis.

But this is not always feasible in government. For in the Department of Defense, while handling of large business contracts is an important part of the job, how can a secretary measure efficiency in evaluating the purpose of weapons or strategy when lives are at stake?

Many a general or admiral might prefer to spend millions of dollars in preparedness that might seem to others to be wasteful. For if there is a chance to cut down the potential list of casualties in a given operation or piece of strategy, this is considered more important for the future than economizing.

★ ★ ★

Clark Clifford is a good lawyer. He understands the art of reconciling differences of opinion and making compromises, as happens in out-of-court settlements which are frequently as difficult to handle as cases in court.

LAYMAN'S JUDGMENT

Clifford is not the sort of official who will regard admirals or generals as mere champions of an unpopular philosophy. He will reflect their viewpoint to the President and express a layman's judgment as to what should be done, but Mr. Johnson will have to assess for himself the consequences of his decision.

Where McNamara made his error was in assuming, as too many people mistakenly do nowadays, that military men are obsessed with certain prejudices in favor of more and more battles and the escalation of a war such as is going on in Vietnam.

When given orders to repel aggression or to operate effectively along with an allied force in fighting the enemy, the problem is not one of politics or penny-saving but of effectuating the military strategy most likely to attain the desired objective.

Bob Considine Says:

Our Contacts With Hanoi Are Pretty Good, at That

NEW YORK — The United States can get in touch with Hanoi without any great trouble, night or day.

CONSIDINE

Communication is not as direct as the "hot line" from Washington to Moscow but it is pretty good when one considers the traditional communications problems between elephant and mouse.

We are using what is called the "contact" to ask Ho Chi Minh's people to give us a fill-in on just what is meant by "will" instead of "could."

We have forwarded through the "contact" a query as to just when talks would begin if we stopped bombing. The impression we have gained is that Hanoi would like four to six weeks before it sends forth someone empowered to talk peace.

We've asked "contact" to say to North Vietnam, "Why not start talks within two or three days after we stop bombing?"

This is a counterproposal worthy of America's stature and it also represents wishful thinking on our part.

★ ★ ★

After all, there are 25 North Vietnamese regiments inside South Vietnam today. It took them excruciating weeks to get there. They could not be uprooted and returned in a matter of a few days. But talks of any serious nature would require that they be gone from South Vietnam before the first gavel falls, just as the talks must not be drowned out by our bombing of the North.

STILL NOT CONVINCED

The Johnson administration is still not convinced that the latest flutter of dove's wings in the North is anything more than a propaganda pitch calculated to elicit further divisiveness in the U.S. and uncommitted world sympathy.

The word "will" therefore is being handled like an egg.

While it is, the administration continues to be pummeled at home for "disdaining" an honest peace feeler and on the other hand criticized by South Vietnamese President Thieu for presuming to consider itself a principal party involved in any peacemaking.

★ ★ ★

Again and again, military men have come up with big budgets deemed necessary for national defense. These have often been regarded as too large. But back of the recommendations has always basically been the military concept of how to protect national security.

Voice of the People:

'Servicemen Are United in Fight for Our Safety'

My son who is serving with the air cavalry in Vietnam recently sent home some movie film. In the film were both colored and white working together. If these boys go through what they do and are still together for the safety of our country, why can't people here do the same and forget all this nonsense of riots, etc.

★ ★ ★

How can we expect our boys to have the heart to fight for our country if people here are destroying it?

★ ★ ★

I have the newspaper sent to my son but I'm getting ashamed of some of the things I know he will read in it about how people act here.

Questions Wallace's Qualifications to Lead

So George Wallace will stand behind his convictions and beliefs. Big deal! So did Adolf Hitler. Six million dead Jews are a bitter testimony to that fact. Since when does having a loud mouth and lack of reason qualify a man for leadership? The twentieth century has had its share of self-appointed gods. Spare me another one.

'Interested Citizens to Help Replace Sign'

The driver of the car which destroyed the children's road sign near Silver Lake School remains unidentified. Offerings to replace the sign were received from Mr. Stephenson of the City Sign Company, Jeff Taylor, a part-time sign maker from Auburn Heights and from Oakland County Road Commissioner Paul Van Roekel.

★ ★ ★

Because of their interest and concern, a new sign will be installed for our boys and girls.

Reader Gives View on Firearm Restrictions

Air rifles were invented around 1779 and Austria equipped troops with this noiseless weapon for use against the Turks and the French. Napoleon issued an order than any Austrian captured with one of these guns would be executed without trial. We know that we do not have statesmen in Washington with Napoleon's I.Q. and we will not execute our teens, so all we can do is ban the sale of air rifles.

★ ★ ★

Why not let the gentleman taxpayer and sportsman buy firearms without too much red tape? The criminal will get guns. All he has to do is break into a government or state armory and he is in business. We may need our personal firearms in a "Vietnam" here in the U.S. to protect our loved ones and property and we have no use for air rifles in time of need. We will need 30-30 caliber and up.

'School Section Tells Good News of Teens'

I commend The Pontiac Press for the interest you take in the senior high school students and their activities. You are publishing in your section of senior high school news the better behavior of teen-agers. Other newspapers are placing the emphasis on the activities of the few who ruin it for the majority of our age group. The younger generation should be recognized for some better things, such as the time spent in sports, the work the honor students do, collecting money for charities, etc.

How much does it cost each time to clean the new electric self-cleaning oven?

C. HALL

REPLY

Mr. Freshour at Consumers Power tells us it would probably be between 21 and 25 cents each time. He says to call him if you have any other questions.

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Sunken Barge

Des Moines Register

When a barge loaded with 2,200,000 pounds of liquid chlorine sank in the lower Mississippi river in 1961, owners of the barge abandoned the vessel and turned a deaf ear to United States government demands that the barge be removed.

The government then employed divers and spent more than 3 million dollars raising the barge and its deadly cargo.

Taxpayers will be relieved to know that the government now is entitled to collect the cost of its salvage operation from the owners.

★ ★ ★

Doubt about the government's legal right to be reimbursed arose because of a curious omission in federal law.

The rivers and harbors act requires owners to mark and remove sunken craft from navigable rivers and authorizes the United States government to do the removing when owners refuse, but the law says nothing about who pays for the removal.

★ ★ ★

The United States Supreme court has cleared the way for the government to collect by holding that the right to be reimbursed in cases involving negligence is implicit in the law. The court said that to deny the government this remedy "would permit the result, extraordinary in our jurisprudence, of a wrongdoer shifting responsibility for the consequences of his negligence onto his victim."

Postmarks . . .

Providence Journal

We sympathize with the General Accounting Office in its attempt to cut down U.S. Post Office cost by eliminating city names from postmarks.

We are all for reducing post office expenses, especially in view of the increase in the first class mail rate to six cents.

rate to six cents.

★ ★ ★

The Post Office Department wasn't very responsive in its arguments against the GAO proposal. A post office official made the enlightening comment that "we can see no purpose in eliminating the name of the post office from the postmark."

The GAO was thinking that eliminating the town name would break down opposition to eliminating small post offices.

★ ★ ★

Maybe it would, although the Post Office Department doesn't think so.

At any rate, we have frequently found it useful to have the town indicated. Otherwise one would never be sure where a letter came from. Postmarks, town included, have often cleared up mysteries about misdirected mail.

Prize Winner Tells Solution to a Problem

By ELIZABETH L. POST

The following has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to Mrs. Miller of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Mrs. Post: Here is our way of handling what can be a very great irritant to some people: the question of whether a wedding gift arrived or not.

★ ★ ★

Our daughter was at college, our future son-in-law came from Texas, and their gifts were sent to my home. Therefore, as each gift arrived we decided to send cards, printed as follows: "This is to assure you the safe arrival of your thoughtful gift.

★ ★ ★

Mary and John will express their gratitude after they have received it from my custody."

★ ★ ★

We received many grateful comments on our thoughtfulness so we felt it was worth the effort. Our daughter, graduated, married and settled into their new home before she felt impelled to write her "thank-you's," so that the notes, when they came, were long, newsy and personalized instead of the normal brief thank-you I generally receive.

★ ★ ★

Is this not a new approach that modern living might adopt? Or is it in poor taste?—Edith Miller

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Miller: My only possible criticism of your plan would be that it might afford the bride an excuse to wait too long to write her thank-you's. Note or no note, this should be done before the wedding has faded from memory.

★ ★ ★

If the bride is dilligent about writing as soon as possible after the honeymoon, I think your system has great merit.

"WAITRESS"

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I eat in a restaurant frequently. On several occasions he tried to get the attention of the waitress but could not, so he called to her, "Waitress." I told him that he should say, "Miss."

★ ★ ★

I think "Waitress" sounds belittling and rude. My husband maintains it is correct. What do you say?—Eva

★ ★ ★

Dear Eva: "Waitress" is an honorable term, and not in any way belittling. However, I prefer to summon a waitress by saying "Miss" which does somehow sound a bit more respectful than simply "Waitress."

MRS. DAVID BRYANT FLINT

Karin M. Walstrom and David Bryant Flint were married Saturday in Harbor Springs. Their parents are the Ward H. Walstroms of Harbor Springs and the Edgar B. Flints of West Long Lake Road.

Karin Walstrom, David Flint Exchange Vows on Saturday

Karin M. Walstrom of Harbor Springs became the bride of David Bryant Flint, West Long Lake Road, Saturday afternoon.

A reception at Birchwood Farm Lodge followed the ceremony in the First Presbyterian Church of Harbor Springs.

★ ★ ★

An ivory satin gown designed with a high rise waist and long lace sleeves was worn by the bride. The same Alencon lace formed an inverted panel in the A-line skirt and full train.

BONNET

A puritan bonnet of matching satin and lace held her cathedral length veil. She carried white orchids and tropical leaves.

★ ★ ★

Maid of honor was the bridegroom's sister, Marilyn A. Flint. Their parents are the Edgar B. Flints of West Long Lake Road.

★ ★ ★

Bridesmaids were Mrs. David S. Cooper, Mrs. H. Howard Flint II, Mrs. William Noack of Indianapolis, Ind and Susan Ridings, Grand Rapids.

★ ★ ★

H. Howard Flint II was best man for his brother. David T. Fischer, Bruce Knight, Robert M. Fletcher of Woodside, Calif., and Frederick W. and Ward H. Walstrom Jr., the bride's brothers, were ushers.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Ward H. Walstrom of Harbor Springs.

Dad Ignores His Children

Communication Gap Evidenced

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Every day my husband picks up your column and says, "Well, let's see what Abby has to say to those nutty people who write to a newspaper psychiatrist!" He would never admit that HE could use some help.

ABBY

My husband is a good provider and generally a good husband, but he is a very poor father to our six children, who range from three to 12. He never pays them the slightest attention unless it's to punish them.

When a male friend comes over here, the children compete for his attention and the man can't get the little ones off his lap. I am worried about how this will affect the children's lives. Will my girls be so hungry for male affection and approval that they'll be pregnant at 15? And will my sons grow up being a Mamma's boys? What can I do before it's too late? Or am I being silly?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: It's sad that a couple who have spent more than a dozen years together have so little communication between them. Why can't you tell your husband these things? You seem to be an intelligent woman and your complaints make sense. If you aren't able to get through to him, find someone who can. Your husband needs desperately to get this important message.

★ ★ ★

Dear Abby: It disgusts me to read the letters in your column that begin, "While straightening my daughter's room I came across one of her letters, or her diary, and after reading it, I was horrified. Where have I failed?"

Perhaps these mothers should begin by looking at their own code of ethics. It is important to children, especially teen-agers, to feel that they are individuals with privacy and rights of their own.

Having a mother who comes snooping around reading personal mail and examining private possessions will surely force the child to become deceptive and secretive and constantly on the defensive, rather than to feel free to discuss personal problems and share private experiences with her mother.

★ ★ ★

If a mother feels it is necessary for her to know everything that happens in her child's life, she should teach the child early to trust her and come to her and share her feelings openly.

★ ★ ★

This way the mother can express feelings of her own, and perhaps point the child in the right direction without promoting the kind of mistrust and tension that often develops between mother and daughter if the daughter finds she has no privacy.

The more I read about such mothers, the more I appreciate my own.

Lawful Abortions Pass 100 Mark

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Abortions were performed on 120 women under Colorado's liberalized abortion law during the eight months it was in effect in 1967, the Colorado Health Department said Friday.

The law, signed April 25 by Gov. John A. Love, increased the grounds on which abortions may be performed if authorized by doctors. The old law permitted abortions only if the life of the mother was endangered.

★ ★ ★

The Health Department said 50 of the abortions under the new law were authorized for psychiatric reasons, 22 because of physical danger to the mother or child, nine because the woman was a rape victim and 37 listed as therapeutic abortions for which no other reason was given.

Two patients were termed suicide risks.

OUT STATE

Twenty-nine, or 24 per cent of the women, were from out of state. California led the out-of-state list with nine. Three were from Illinois, two each were from New York, Wisconsin and Kansas, and one each from Kentucky, New Jersey, Florida, Idaho, Louisiana, Michigan, Iowa, Nebraska, North Carolina, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The youngest patient was 12 and the oldest was 48. There were 47 under 20 years 25 between 20 and 34, 18 between 25 and 29, and 30 who were 30 or over.

★ ★ ★

All but three of the operations were performed in Denver hospitals. One abortion was reported in Greeley, Colorado Springs and Boulder.

Unhappy Divorced Man Gives Words of Advice

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Last week, this letter came into The Press. It seems a fitting follow-up to the series recently completed on the divorced man.)

I am in the process of being divorced. For a long time I couldn't understand why. It bothered me so badly I had to get professional help and it has made a world of difference in me.

The reason I am writing this letter is that another young couple might benefit from my experience.

★ ★ ★

My wife and I married young but we were both very much in love. I loved her so very much that I suddenly became obsessed with giving her every comfort and convenience possible. I bought a new home and filled it with the best of everything from carpeting to washer and dryer.

Naturally we became deep in debt but I didn't care because she was worth it. I should have taken a part time job to help pay the bills but I didn't want to be away from home any longer than necessary.

AMBITIONS

I had a good job in the shop but wanted to make somthing more of my life. I had a burning desire to better my station in life; to make her proud of me, and tp provide my family with everything they could ever want in life.

★ ★ ★

Naturally, I carried my bad disposition home with me and with my job. I became depressed and discouraged because I felt I was getting nowhere.

I soon became discontended instead of displaying pleasure at being home. I would just mope around and be restless and grouchy much of the time.

At times I would snap at my wife over nothing. I seemed to take out all my frustration on her when I should have treated her with love and affection.

★ ★ ★

The tragic thing is that all my wife wanted was me, our children, a comfortable home and happiness. She didn't care about all those modern conveniences.

She would have gladly worked a little harder if we could only have taken a vacation for a week or two each year, gone out to dinner occasionally or even a drive in the country with our children.

Now I realize more fully what my wife really needed and wanted of me but it may be too late. Those I love now reside in another city. As for myself; I am lonely, heart-broken and deeply ashamed of my former behavior.

NEW EXPERIENCES

Since my wife left I have had the children with me for a week or two on occasions. I cared for them single-handedly, performing all the duties I had rarely lifted a finger to help with in the past — cooking, feeding, laundering, changing and bathing the children, etc.

Believe me, this wasn't easy but it taught me a lesson. It has shown me how much a woman has to do and how hard they have it.

★ ★ ★

In summation, I would like to advise the young man to show appreciation for what the wife and mother does and has done for him.

Be considerate and kind. Bring her flowers now and then (even one helps to put the massage across). She will love you for it.

And when you come home to an extra fine meal, just take a little time out to let her know how much you enjoyed it, and top it off with a kiss.

★ ★ ★

A loving wife is worth far more than all the money or material possessions in the world. Don't spoil her, just show her that you love her and you'll be richer and happier for it.

★ ★ ★

If you have marital problems, I suggest you seek professional help such as that available to you through a marriage counselor or social worker. They are glad to be of service to you and you can greatly benefit as I have from their training, skill end experience.

★ ★ ★

Remember, you can't buy love. You have to earn it and RETURN it.

Colors Set for Fall, 1968

If you think 1967 zipped by too fast, hold on. At the Boys' and Young Men's Apparel Manufacturers Association they're already up to fall of 1968!

Here's what they say about the 1968 fashion colors — earthy browns, burnished golds, mountain greens, woodland russets.

★ ★ ★

The reasons for these colors: boys and young men will wear the country look next fall. They'll wear it in the city, for sports, at school, for leisure. And presumably in the country, too.

Long-Time Subscriber Enjoys The Press

I have taken The Pontiac Press since we came to Pontiac just before the Depression hit the Country. I'd rather miss a meal than The Press any time, and the delivery boys on my route have been nice, too. At 72 I thought I wanted to learn to drive and I did, but my paper comes first. I will be 82 years old on the 22nd of January. I go to church and teach a Sunday School class. Happy New Year to The Pontiac Press and all who make it possible.

Cut Your Own Taxes—1

This Is Year to Itemize Deductions

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first in a 14-part series by Ray De Crane, a tax expert and veteran newsman. The author, business editor of the Cleveland Press, has aimed his advice at people with average incomes, not big businessmen or stock market tycoons.)

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Publications

If there is one message that comes through loud and clear on this year's income tax it is:

This is the year to itemize your deductions.

Even if you have never itemized your tax deductions before — settling instead for one of the flat rate allowances for your deductions — give it a good try this year.

Those who have always carefully listed their deductions in the past will find a new one available to them this year for the first time.

It's all because of a change in the rules for medical expenses.

Now, for the first time, every taxpayer is entitled to deduct as a medical expense one-half of the cost of his medical care insurance, up to a maximum deduction of $150 without regard to the 3 per cent limitation.

* * *

THIS MEANS THAT YOU ARE ASSURED OF THAT MUCH OF A MEDICAL DEDUCTION EVEN IF YOU DID NOT SPEND ANOTHER DOLLAR IN 1967 FOR MEDICAL OR DENTAL EXPENSES AND HAD NO PRESCRIPTIONS TO BUY.

The changed rules will help some, will penalize others.

The explanation for the new medical deductions, and all the other highlights of your 1967 income tax return, will be detailed in this series of stories, of which this is the first.

Congress did not pass a new rate increase in '67 but with all the talk of the requested 10 per cent income tax surcharge and the many hearings in congressional committees on the issue many people are fearful of paying a higher tax on the return due April 15.

The truth of the matter is that hundreds of thousands of people may find a SLIGHT REDUCTION in their tax if their income is no higher in 1967 than it was the previous year.

* * *

The articles in this series will provide some tips on saving on taxes.

A detailed, line-by-line guide to help you itemize your deductions is contained in the author's book, "Cut Your Own Taxes," which is available through this newspaper.

(NEXT: Savings under the new medical deduction.)

GOP Booklet Has Advice for Possible Office Seekers

LANSING (AP) — If you want to run for political office—and it's surprising sometimes how many people do—then take some advice from Michigan's Republican State Central Committee:

Don't panic.

Find out if you're eligible for the office you seek.

Be careful in picking your campaign headquarters and your janitor.

"Let every voter know you are his friend."

"Make peace with your primary opponent immediately following the primary."

"Never tell a lie to the press."

It's also a good idea to check your teeth, advises a booklet entitled "Winning is the Name of the Game," which the State GOP distributed to Republican campaign strategists recently.

Check your teeth, incidentally, so that if you have to take time to get any dental work done, you can do it before the campaign starts.

CAMPAIGN MANAGER

One of your most important steps will be to pick a good campaign manager — and the candidate should never try to manage his own campaign.

The manager "must be completely loyal to the candidate . . . possess good judgment . . . have an even temperament . . . and be able to deal skillfully with both paid and volunteer help," the booklet says.

His jobs include picking volunteer leaders ("The candidate should never have to say 'no' to volunteers!"), settling budget problems, keeping in touch with the party, planning the advertising and mailings, keeping the schedule and supervising "the care and feeding of the candidate's wife."

"The campaign manager must do everything possible to keep the candidate from making a major mistake," the booklet counsels.

The five basic needs of campaigning, it adds, are money, organization, effective public relations, effective research and an "attractive, articulate candidate."

Do research on your district and its people (Who contributes? Who splits his ticket?), on the issues, and on your opponent's record, if any.

"Get local people to ask 'loaded' questions of your opponent at public meetings," it says. ". . . This will enable you to expose your opponent's record to the public."

But "Beware of using smear campaigns. Smear sheets have been outdated for 10 years."

INITIAL TASKS

Choose a flattering photograph, pick a finance chairman and a steering committee, set your money goals, and have 5 or 10 per cent of the expected budget in the bank before you announce.

When you do declare your candidacy, make as big a splash as possible.

In the first month after announcing, "Start involving people from outside the party." Recruit a campaign committee, finalize the budget, line up your advertising media, find substitute speakers.

In September, send out your first mass mailing, giving the voters your general background and qualifications.

KEEP MOMENTUM

In October, "Keep the campaign rolling. Dream up gimmicks if necessary, but don't let the momentum slow down." Blanket the district with mail, yard signs and bumper stickers.

"Every campaign has a panic period," the GOP booklet warns. "This period usually falls during the time between mid-October and election day . . . "If your campaign is well worked out and committed in advance, the dangers of panicking decrease."

Pick a campaign headquarters in the center of things, accessible by foot and car, near lighted parking facilities and a medium-price restaurant ("Don't forget, volunteers must eat." Make sure it's legal to put up signs, and make sure the signs can be seen.

Make it attractive to visitors (clean, well lighted—offer coffee or lemonade, maybe music) and to workers (heat, airconditioning, rest rooms), and "in the interest of security, know who the janitor is."

Junior Editors Quiz on LIMPETS

QUESTION: What does clinging like a limpet mean?"

* * *

ANSWER: Referring to limpets, the poet Wordsworth wrote: 'We wonder that such strength should dwell in such a small and simple shell.' Limpets are sea shells, but, as Wordsworth noted, extremely simple-looking ones, hardly more than little cones hanging on to the rocks. Under the cone, however, is a body which can do a surprising number of things.

Like other sea snails, the limpet has a little square head containing a mouth. His tongue is armed with hooks, which rasp off the algae on which the animal feeds. The head has primitive eyes and tentacles, which help it to keep in touch with events outside.

The great feature of the limpet's body is the strong underpart or foot. Without this foot, the poor limpet would be easy prey for hungry sea gulls or curious boys. But the animal can squeeze his strong foot down against the rock getting a remarkably powerful suction grip.

After the tide comes in, the limpet lets go his hold. Since his foot is movable, he uses it to crawl slowly off, looking for a fresh mass of algae on which he can settle down to have breakfast.

Opening lead—♠ 3

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

Oswald: "We have commented on the statement by the late Commander Winfield Ligget that he wouldn't care about anything else if he could only make the right opening lead on every occasion."

JACOBY

Jim: "Bridge will never be an exact science, and the opening lead is the one place where you need luck if you want to win."

Oswald: "You can help your own luck if you use common sense in choosing the suit and the specific card you put on the table. Today's hand is a good example."

Jim "A spade lead will set declarer one trick. A diamond lead will give him an overtrick. Any other lead will allow him to make his contract right on the nose."

Oswald: "It makes no difference which spade you open this time, but the standard lead from an unbid three card suit headed by an honor is the lowest card."

Jim: "It may look like pure luck to find that the spade lead succeeds while the more natural lead fails, but a consensus of experts would pick the spade lead almost unanimously."

Oswald: "The theory is that when you have to make a blind lead against no-trump from a bad hand you try to find your partner's strength. Suppose for example that East did hold three diamonds to the king-jack and five small spades. "Declarer with three diamonds to the ace would hold off until the third lead. You would get your diamond suit established but would never get in to cash the last two tricks."

Jim: "Declarer will make it a point to hold off spades until the third lead but this won't help him. He will have to play clubs in order to make nine tricks. When he opens clubs, East will get in with the ace and cash the last two spades."

Oswald: "Declarer might try a trap play here. East would play the king of spades one and lead back a low spade at trick two. If declarer takes his ace then it is up to West to drop his queen and unblock the suit."

Olympics Next for Local Ace

Tim Wood National Skating Champion

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — Tim Wood, 19-year-old John Carroll University pre-law student from Bloomfield Hills, is being fitted today for his Olympic sportswear after claiming the U.S. Figure Skating Championship at the Spectrum here.

In the women's division, Peggy Fleming, the 19-year-old world champion from Colorado Springs, Colo., won her fourth consecutive woman's title.

Wood, 1967 champion Gary Visconti of Detroit, and John Petkevich of Great Falls, Mon., finished in that order and automatically qualified for the 1968 U.S. Olympic team starting Feb. 6 in Grenoble, France.

The 5-10 political science major won the compulsory figures on Thursday and afterward he said, "I came here feeling I was better than Visconti and Scott Allen," the No. 1 and No. 2 ranked U.S. singles' skaters.

Wood wasn't the best free skater on the ice Saturday, but his overall performance including the school figures, carried him to the title over defending champion Visconti, a teammate from the Detroit Figure Skating Club.

Wood credited his stunning upset of the two top-ranking American figure skaters to his coach, Ron Baker.

"Ron is responsible for getting me to where I am," the winner said.

HARD-TRAINING

Baker said his protege was 50 per cent better than last year when Wood finished third to Visconti and Allen at the Nationals in Omaha, Neb. The coach credited it to maturity, hard-training and experience.

Along with Visconti and Petkovich, Wood also automatically made Uncle Sam's World Team for the championships starting Feb. 27 in Switzerland.

In overall points, Wood tallied 132.48 to 130.29 for Visconti, who was given an assignment to skate in the Nationals by the Navy in which he has 21 months to serve. Visconti is stationed at the Grosse Ile Naval Air Station.

Petkevich, a philosophy student at the College of Great Falls in Montana, wowed a crowd of some 7,000 with a spectacular free-skating performance. It carried him from fourth place to third over Allen, the 17-year-old Harvard University freshman who won this title in 1964 and 1966 and was runnerup in the alternate years.

Petkevich, a 5-foot-8 150-pounder who may seek the priesthood, received a standing ovation.

Wood said his first semester at John Carroll ended Dec. 22 and that he didn't plan to return to college until summer. After the Olympics and world championships he plans a 14-country exhibition tour of Europe.

PAIRS TEAMS

Wood, Visconti and Petkevich thus joined the three pairs teams which made the Olympics and World teams Friday night: Ron and Cynthia Kauffman, the pairs champions from Seattle, Wash., and the second and third place finishers, Sandi Sweitzer and Roy Wagelain of California and Jo Po Starbuck and Kenneth Shelley of Arctic Blades Skating Club, Paramount, 'Calif.

Joining Miss Fleming on the women's team are Albertina Noyes of Arlington, Mass., second in the singles for the fifth straight year, and Janet Lynn of Rockford, Ill., third.

AP Wirephoto

Pro Bowl Honors to Bob Hayes

West All-Stars Triumph 38-20 in NFL Contest

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In the voting for Back of the Game in the Pro Bowl, one ballot went to Bob Hayes of the Dallas Cowboys.

The voter said the explanation was simple: 'Hayes starred for both teams."

★ ★ ★

It was hard to argue against the theory. Playing for the East in Sunday's National Football League all-star affair, Bullet Bob caught six passes for 84 yards, the longest for 45 which set up an East touchdown.

Hayes also punted for the East which proved invaluable for the West. His first boot was high enough but it only traveled six yards.

Bob improved on the next one. It sailed up and out 14 yards.

Each time the West cashed in for touchdowns and went on to a 38-20 win.

★ ★ ★

Hayes, it must be hastily noted, can't be faulted. He hadn't booted a football since he played in hgih school until he was pressed into punting service in practice for the Pro Bowl.

SORE ANKLE

Coach Otto Graham wanted to use the New York Giants' kicker, Ernie Koy, but Koy came up with a bad ankle. Hayes in practice was the best on the squad.

★ ★ ★

The West defeated the East in what must be described as a fun game, at least for the 53,289 who saw it in person, along with a national television audience.

As often happens in all-star games with squads by necessity hastily assembled and coached, there was something less than perfection.

Mel Farr of the Detroit Lions executed a dazzling diving, finger-tip catch for a touchdown on a 39-yard throw from Roman Bagriel.

★ ★ ★

Tarkenton, reverting to rambling, scrambling Fran, uncorked a throw aimed at Washington's Jerry Smith, but Chicago's Richie Petitbone for the West hauled it in on his own 30 and rushed it back 70 for a touchdown.

There was an 80 - yard East march to a touchdown that had its oddities. On a fourth and four in midfield, Hayes punted into the end zone.

But officials said the East had 12 guys on the field, it was penalized and the drive continued.

WHO WAS HE

The West coaches even today have not figured who, if there was one the 12th man was.

★ ★ ★

Moments lated Don Meredith passed and Green Bay's Willie Wood stepped in for an interception. Instead, he tipped it up in the air and it dropped into the hands of the surprised Hayes on the seven.

Things like this that make All-Star things entertaining. After a long season, who needs perfection?

Kick Misses Mark, AFL's East Wins

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — George Blanda and all his teammates on the American football League's West team are $400 poorer today than they think they should be. It's all because Blanda's old Kentucky windage deserted him.

When Joe Namath of the New York Jets risked his fragile legs on a one-yard touchdown smash and put the East All-Stars ahead 25-24 in Sunday's season finale, there were 58 seconds left.

★ ★

As any pro football fan knows, this is not necessarily decisive. And Len Dawson of the Kansas City Chiefs used only 52 seconds to move the West to the East's 28.

This was the time to call on Blanda, 18 years a pro and the AFL's leading scorer of 1967 on his educated place-kicking toe.

Back before his pro career Blanda had played at the University of Kentucky and he knew all about windage. He had missed a 29-yard field goal attempt early in the fourth quarter and took note of how the wind was blowing in the Gator Bowl.

★ ★ ★

Blanda allowed for it and booted from the 35 what could have been the winning points and the $1,000 winners' share to each West player instead of the $600 loser's share.

WRONG TARGET

"It just missed by a fraction," Blanda noted as time ran out. "Actually the ball went right where I aimed it. The earlier kick I missed was carried to the right by the wind. I thought that the same thing would happen again — but it didn't."

So the glory went to Namath, who came to life in the fourth quarter and carried the East to two touchdowns, and to his top receiver Don Maynard, who are used to such pitch-and-catch connections for the New York Jets.

They shared the most valuable offensive player accolade.

Namath headed for New York today to start getting ready for next season by wearing a cast on his often-injured left knee for at least five weeks.

★ ★ ★

"The tendons get inflamed and doctors tell me the only way to clear it up is to immobilize the knee for at least five weeks," he said.

If sports writers had voted after the game instead of with three minutes left on the clock, they might have included Larry Garron of the Boston Patriots in their honors.

A substitute on the East team for Woodie Campbell of Houston, who had to go on military duty, Garron also was a substitute on the 26-yard pass play which carried to the West 10 and set up the winning touchdown.

★ ★ ★

Prime receiver George Sauer of New York was covered, so Namath threw short to Garron, who then scampered and cut down the left sideline on as important a play as there was in the game.

BROKEN UP — East All-Star flanker Don Maynard (13) goes high in the air trying to haul in this pass from quarterback Joe Namath — both of the New York Jets — but West defender Johnny Robinson breaks up the play during their East-West AFL game in Jacksonville, Fla., yesterday. East won, 25-24.

Crozier Plays but Red Wings Beaten

DETROIT (AP) — Roger Crozier just came to watch the game Sunday night, but he ended up playing.

And, despite a 2-0 loss to the Tornoto Maple Leafs, the Detroit Red Wings saw a ray of hope in a slump that has reached eight games.

★ ★ ★

"I flew up to Detroit Sunday morning with a friend," said Crozier, who quit hockey Nov. 6 because of the pressure of playing goal.

"He asked me if I could get him a ticket for the game and I told him I didn't know if I had that much influence."

Crozier, after a two-month layoff, decided to give up carpentry work at Bracebridge, Ont., two weeks ago, and return to his $25,000-a-year job as goaltender of the National Hockey League Wings.

Sid Abel, manager-coach of the Wings, sent Crozier back to Fort Worth in the Central League to get back in shape. Roger gave up seven goals in three games, winning one.

GARDNER ILL

He arrived just in time. Reserve netminder George Gardner had come down with a sudden case of influenza, and Abel asked Crozier to try his glove in the net.

Roy Edwards, who had been playing in Crozier's absence, gave up a bevy of goals in an 8-4 loss to Pittsburgh Saturday night, and the Wings hadn't won in seven games.

Crozier blanked Tornonto in the first peiod. But Larry Hillman scored his first goal this season on a screen shot and Murray Oliver his ninth in the second period on a deflection. Hillman's came on a power play with Detroit a man short.

"I'm tired," Crozier said afterwards. But he was smiling. "Wait until I come back next week and see how I feel. It's been all right in the minors but they play every night down there."

Abel said Crozier, who still has five days to go on a mandatory 14-day minor league stay, would be recalled Thursday or Friday.

The Wings play at Chicago Wednesday, then return home for a Thursday game against St. Louis and a Saturday matinee against Philadelphia.

COULDN'T SCORE

"I thought Roger played very well tonight," said Abel. "The whole club played well, but we just couldn't put the puck in the net."

Detroit outshot Toronto 40 to 26, but couldn't get the puck by Bruce Gamble, who registered his third shutout of the season.

'Light Bulb' Watt Sets Record for U.S. Ski Jumpers

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP) — Teen-ager Adrian Watt of Duluth, Minn., better known among his pals as "Light Bulb," has set an American ski-jumping record and remained the United States' main hope in the Winter Olympics at Grenoble, France, next month.

However, the 19-year-old ace who dropped out from the University of Minnesota-Duluth after two semesters to keep up his ski-jumping ambitions, admits that he has far to go.

★ ★ ★

The best an American competitor has ever done in the Olympic ski-jumping event was fourth place in 1924. It is very unlikely that Watt or any of his three teammates selected for the Games will come even close to this at Grenoble.

Watt, a black-haired, 165-pounder, sailed 337 feet for an American record off Pine Mountain Sunday in the final U.S. Olympic Trials. The old American mark was 335 feet by world champion Bjoern Wirkola of Norway last year at Leavenworth, Wash.

Although Watt got the applause at Iron Mountain, veteran John Balfanz, a sporting goods salesman from Denver, Colo., received the No. 1 place on the jumping team.

Balfanz, 27, a 41st finisher in the 1964 Olympics, had leaps of 302 and 293 feet. Watt's efforts were 337 and 317 feet.

POINT TOTALS

In the final judging, Balfanz received first place on a combination of his total points which included the first olympic trial on the 70-meter hill at Lake Placid, N.Y. This gave him a total of 199.32 points over-all. Watt had 197.41.

Others named to the U.S. team on point accumulation were Dave Norby, 25, Madison, Wis., 194.84 and Bill Bakke, 21, also of Madison, with 194.67.

Bob Gajda Falters in Grand Bahamas

GRAND BAHAMAS (AP) — Bob Gajda of Forest Lake and Ted Kroll of Franklin Hills matched 291 totals to finish in a tie for third place in the $5,000 Grand Bahama Open, five strokes behind winner Wilf Homenuik of Canada.

Gajda made an early challenge to start the final round yesterday by picking up a three stroke deficit on Homenuik on the first two holes.

The Forest Lake pro, playing in the same foursome with Homenuik, sank a wedge shot on the first hole for an eagle-two and birdied the second hole with a 50-foot putt to even the match.

On the last three holes of the front nine however, Gajda had three straight bogies and shot himself out of reach.

Homenuik got $750 for winning, Tom Strafaci was second for $600 and Gajda and Kroll each collected $275 for their tie.

HELPING HAND — Goalie Roger Crozier, returning to action after leaving the Detroit Red Wings back in November, gets help from defensemen Gary Bergman (2) and Howie Young (4) in stopping this rush by George Armstrong (10) of the Toronto Maple Leafs in their game in Detroit last night. Toronto sent a couple of shots past Crozier to blank the Wings, 2-0.

Trackmen Sound Warning to AAU

CHICAGO (AP) — The battle for control of amateur athletics in the United States continues to rage and this time the athletes have stepped in for their part of the argument.

At a special meeting under the auspices of the United States Track and Field Federation Sunday, a group of the nation's outstanding stars warned the Amateur Athletic Union they would not stand for Olympic disqualification.

★ ★ ★

Jumping champion Ralph Boston, spokesman for the group of athletes who are protesting against AAU threats of disqualification, said, "this thing has been tossed around quite a while but nobody has done anything until today."

Boston issued the following statement

"We have agreed that if anyone of our number is disqualified because of his or her competing in a meet of their choice, we will consider ourselves to be in the same status and will try to affiliate as many track and field athletes in his country as is possible to support us in this position."

First Shortened Session

Mart Retreats; Trade Heavy

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market retreated in heavy trading early today, in the first of a series of shortened market sessions.

Resuming its decline of last week, the market gave up more ground, with losses outnumbering gains by a fairly narrow margin.

★ ★ ★

The Dow Jones Industrial Average fell 3.24 to 877.08.

The major stock exchanges reduced the number of trading hours to four from the regular 5½ to enable brokerage houses to catch up with a logjam of paperwork in their back offices caused by extremely active markets. The shortened sessions will go on for an indefinite period.

GLAMOR STOCKS LOSERS

Some of the higher-priced glamor stocks were among the losers. Texas Gulf Sulphur and Control Data dropped a couple of points each Occidental Petroleum more than a point.

A one-point loss by du Pont pinpointed a drab performance by blue chips.

★ ★ ★

Chrysler advanced nearly a point, responding to its report of record sales and earnings in the fourth quarter.

General Dynamics and Homestake also fell more than a point.

Aside from Chrysler, auto stocks took fractional losses.

American Telephone rose ⅜ to 52 on an opening block of 15,000 shares. General Motors opened on 5,700 shares, down ¾ at 80½.

News that on December new factory orders for durable goods posted their sharpest monthly rise in almost four years was regarded as fundamentally bullish for stocks. Uncertainty as to the tax and spending policies which will be hammered out in the new session of Congress formed a continued backdrop of uncertainity.

On Friday the Associated Press Average of 60 Stocks fell 1.2 to 319.3.

PEACH MINCEMEAT — Crumble half of a 9-oz. package of mincemeat in a small saucepan. Add one peach, peeled, pitted and chopped. Add one-third cup water, one tablespoon brown sugar and two tablespoons cider vinegar. Bring to a full boil, stirring constantly. Reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool. Fill baked peach halves and serve on a platter with roast pork or ham.

Cook Sweet Potatoes to Put in Ham Salad

Who says winter salads have to be dull? Not homemakers who've learned to make zippy salads of foods plentiful in winter.

Take, for instance, the versatile sweet potato, which is in peak supply from September through March. Made into Sweet Potato and Ham Salad it can lift a midwinter menu out of the doldrums.

Use sweet potatoes soon after buying, and cook them gently in their jackets. Peel and slice just before using.

Sweet Potato and Ham Salad

1 envelope onion salad dressing mix
Vinegar, water, and salad oil
2 cups diced or sliced cooked sweet potatoes
⅔ cup (¼ lb.) diced or sliced cooked ham
¼ cup mayonnaise
Dash of salt
¼ cup chopped sweet or dill pickle

Prepare salad dressing mix with vinegar, water, and oil as directed on envelope. Combine potatoes and ham.

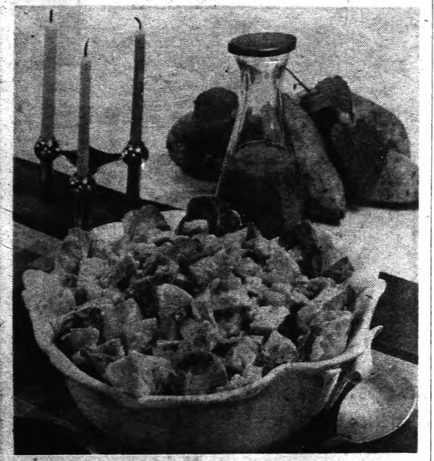
Blend ½ cup of the prepared salad dressing, the mayonnaise, and salt. Pour over potato mixture; toss several times. Chill.

Serve on lettuce, garnished with chopped pickle. Makes about 3 cups or 2 or 3 entree servings.

Serve Peaches and Ice Cream

Cling peaches a la Mode are a quick and easy dessert. Drain a can of golden cling peach halves. Top each half with a scoop of lemon ice cream.

Dollop with whipped cream and sprinkle with finely chopped nuts. A 1 lb. 13 oz. can makes six servings.



SWEET POTATO AND HAM SALAD — Winter appetites call for robust salads. Try a Sweet Potato and Ham Salad—besides being hearty, it takes advantage of a vegetable that's in winter abundance. It's tangily dressed with mayonnaise and prepared onion salad dressing and garnished with chopped pickle.

ADVENTURE IN EATING — Mai Tai Steak, tasty tropical fare for hearty eating, is sure to brighten your winter menu! Brimming with deep-down flavor and juicy tenderness thanks to the sparkling blend of Hawaiian pineapple juice and instant meat marinade, this steak is a best buy at your meat counter — and a best bet in eating pleasure.

Hawaiian Touches Go with Flank Steak

Tropical Pacific isles have long lured the adventurer, the seafarer and modern-day tourist. Here is a taste of the tropics to delight the appetites and imagination of family and friends — Mai Tai Steak!

Mai Tai Steak

1½ to 2 lbs. flank steak
1 package instant meat marinade
Two-thirds cup Hawaiian pineapple juice
2 tablespoons dark rum
½ teaspoon ground ginger

In a shallow pan, thoroughly blend package contents of meat marinade with pineapple juice, rum and ginger.

Place steak in marinade. Pierce all surfaces thoroughly and deeply with a kitchen fork to carry flavor deep-down and lock in natural juices. Marinate 15 minutes, turning several times.

Remove steak from marinade; drain, reserving remaining marindae for sauce.

Place steak on broiler rack set 2 inches from heat source. Broil a total of 5 to 8 minutes, turning once.

Transfer steak to a carving board; carve meat in very thin, diagonal slices. Makes 4 servings.

* * *

For mai tai sauce: Drain excess fat form pan drippings. Add remaining marinade and ¾ cup pineapple juice, 1 tablespoon dark rum and 1 teaspoon cornstarch to pan drippings, blending well.

Bring sauce to a boil; reduce heat and simmer for 5 minutes to blend all ingredients. Serve hot over sliced steak.

Spicy Cabbage Good in Winter

Mix in a saucepan 6 cups shredded red cabbage, ⅓ cup light corn syrup, ¼ cup vinegar. Add a pat of margarine, a dash of salt and pepper, and a pinch of cloves.

Cover and simmer about 45 minutes, adding water if necessary to prevent sticking.

Cracker Crumbs, Nuts Top Chicken and Apples

Almond Oven Chicken with Apples is a wonderful combination of crunchy nut-covered chicken and baked apples . . . an excellent combination for fall and winter meals.

Almond Chicken with Apples

1 broiler-fryer, cut up (About 3 pounds)
½ cup all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon thyme
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup solid all-vegetable shortening, melted
1 stack-pack (about 40) saltine crackers, finely crushed
½ cup almonds, ground
4 cups pared and diced apples
½ cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon cloves

Shake chicken in bag with a mixture of flour, salt, thyme and pepper. Dip in melted shortening, then roll in a mixture of cracker crumbs and almonds.

Place chicken, skin side down, in large shallow baking dish or pan; pour any remaining shortening over chicken. Bake in 375 degree (moderate) over 30 minutes. Turn chicken and continue cooking 30 minutes longer, or until meat is tender.

Meanwhile combine apples, sugar, butter and spices; mix well and place in 1½ quart baking dish. Sprinkle with any remaining almond-crumb mixture. Bake in oven with chicken for 45 minutes.
