$500 U. S. Bond

Gets Baseball Prize

There is joy in the Oxford home of Marvin W. Willobee.

Winner of the Press' 16th Annual Baseball Contest, he received the $500 U.S. Savings Bond award today from editorial staffer Howard Heldenbrand.

Willobee, an employe of Pontiac Motor Division for 15 years, picked Detroit's Bill Freehan with a .404 batting average as the winner.

His actual average through May 10, the closing date of the contest, was .466.

Asked his reason for picking the dark-horse Detroit catcher, whom 10 others also nominated, Willobee said he thought it would be pointless to name any player so popular that the award if won would necessarily be split among many winners.

Moreover, he said, Freehan looked mighty good to him during training season.

Two interesting "ifs" show up in the outcome of the contest.

HITLESS WIN

Since the Freehan runner-up had pegged .402 as the winning average, he would have won had the Tiger player gone hitless in last night's game.

Slugging rookie catcher Freehan got two hits in four trips to the plate last night.

Had Freehan appeared in one less game, his 30 times at bat could conveivably have been reduced below the 25 needed to qualify for the contest.

As a diamond seer, Willobee struck out in six previous contests. He has no specific plans for spending the fruits of his victory. But he thought that with five children he'd have no trouble getting rid of the money.

Since last Wednesday was his 39th birthday, his good fortune comes as a slightly belated birthday present. By way of formal observance of the event, the family attended the Yankee-Tigers game that evening.

State to Have Fund Surplus of $40.5 Million

Claims Michigan's Economy Better From Use and Sales Taxes

LANSING (AP) — Michigan will have a general fund surplus of approximately $40.5 million when the 1962-63 fiscal year ends June 30, Gov. George Romney said today.

The anticipated surplus, Romney said, is $7.5 million greater than $35 million he predicted in his budget message to the legislature Jan. 30.

★ ★ ★

The revised surplus figure was contained in a memorandum to the governor from State Controller Glenn Allen, who said Michigan's financial picture had been improved by higher use and sales tax collections.

"The revised surplus figure is very good news indeed for a state that has long been in financial difficulty," the governor said.

But this good news should not lull us into thinking that our financial problems are over.

"In the first place, applying all of the surplus to the deficit — which of course will be done — will still leave the general fund with a deficit of approximately $45.1 million on June 30.

"Secondly, while the revenue from tax collections is increasing, it is not increasing as rapidly as the revenue required to meet the demands of our growing population—the need for more money to support our schools, our universities, our mental health program and other vital state services."

Romney emphasized that the revised surplus figure "does not decrease the need for a special session of the legislature next fall to achieve a thorough overhaul of Michigan's antiquated tax structure."

Romney listed three goals of what he termed "this long-overdue tax revision."

He said it must reduce "the disproportionately high tax burden on lower income groups, provide adequate assistance to local units of government in meeting their needs and reduce the tax burden on business and industry to encourage their expansion and location in Michigan."

Claim Victory for Integration Demonstrations

Dixie Officials Scoff at Proposal to End Alabama Racial Strife

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Jubilant Negro integration leaders mapped plans today for a voter registration drive on the heels of what they considered an overwhelming victory in Birmingham's six - week - long integration effort.

City officials, however, scoffed at a biracial citizen's committee agreement on proposals to end the conflict, which has seen more than hoses and police dogs brought into play to control seething throngs of Negro demonstrators.

★ ★ ★

Integration forces — led by the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta have kept the city virtually under siege since April 3.

As the Negroes began gathering volunteers for a door-to-door registration campaign, city leaders were adamant in their statements that the agreement was not binding on them.

Staunch segregationist Police Commissioner Eugene Connor, who directed the arrests and repulsed the crowds, said the agreement was "the lying face-saving statement that ever was issued."

WON'T INTERFERE

Connor, however, said he would not interfere if businessmen wished to integrate their lunch counters—one of the key points King said was agreed upon by the group.

King said the agreement provided:

1. Desegregation of lunch counters, rest rooms, fitting rooms and drinking fountains in downtown stores in planned stages within the next 90 days.

★ ★ ★

2. The upgrading and hiring of Negroes on a nondiscriminatory basis, including the hiring of Negroes as clerks and salesmen within the next 60 days.

3. Arrangements for the release of all persons arrested during racial demonstrations on bond or personal recognizance.

4. Communications between Negroes-established within the next two weeks.

NO OFFICIAL STATUS

The agreement has no official status. The committee was composed of a representative group of businessmen, according to its chairman, Sidney Smyer, a lawyer and real estate broker.

Mayor Albert Boutwell says the agreement is not binding on the newly chosen mayor and City Council.

Commission Mayor Arthur Hanes called the agreement hogwash, and said he would order the arrest of any persons violating the city's segregation codes.

Get Unofficial Word of Sewer Plan Grant

West Bloomfield Township has been unofficially notified it will receive a $114,000 federal grant for its proposed Sylvan Manor sewer project.

Plans for the program which will bring sanitary sewers to the subdivision have been held back for three years by legal entanglements, according to Supervisor John C. Rehard.

The 140-acre subdivision includes about 300 homes and the Sylvan Shopping Center.

Approximately 34 per cent of the lots in the subdivision are still owned by the Sylvan Manor Construction Co., the firm which built the subdivision.

Township officials have been unable to get cooperation from the company in financing a lateral line hookup with the Farmington intercepter sewer, according to Rehard.

The project has also been complicated because the state has taken over several lots for the company's failure to pay back taxes, he said.

The $250,000 project is to be handled by the Oakland County Department of Public Works on contract with the township.

Construction will begin within 120 days after the township is officially notified of the Accelerated Public Works grant. The township will have 60 days to arrange financing.

Rehard said the township's portion of the project probably will be paid for by tap-in fees of about $550, which the property owners can pay over a period of ten years.

"This is the first time we've had anything acceptable because it's the first time we've had anything the people could afford," he noted.

The weatherman promises warmer weather tomorrow. With increasing cloudiness expected, showers are likely by tomorrow afternoon. A high of 64 is predicted.

Partly cloudy and cool is tonight's forecast. A low of 42 is expected. With showers ending Monday will be cloudy and a little cooler.

Rainfall registered two-tenths of an inch in the downtown area yesterday.

Death Penalty Given Russian for Spying

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet military tribunal today sentenced former Soviet official Oleg Penkovsky to death for espionage. His British codefendant, Greville Wynne, got an eight-year prison term.

The two were convicted by a military court after a five-day trial. The verdict and sentence were read by the court president, Lt. Gen. Viktor Borisoglebsky.

Wynne's sentence was broken down to consist of three years in prison and the remainder in a corrective labor camp.

Penkovsky was stripped of all his medals, colonel's rank and World War II decorations.

The crowd broke into 30 seconds of applause as the sentences were read.

★ ★ ★

Wynne, a British businessman for whom the prosecution had asked a 10-year term, had asked the court for clemency, saying it was the 11th birthday of his son, Andrew.

'SHOCK TO BOY'

"It will be such a shock for my little boy," Wynne told the three-judge military tribunal, "that I am not with him to wish him many happy returns."

★ ★ ★

"I ask you to remember my son, my wife and my aged father. I very much want my aged father to see me, but in England," Wynne added in concluding his 10-minute plea for mercy behind closed doors.

★ ★ ★

The prosecution Friday demanded 10 years in prison for Wynne and execution for Penkovsky, also charged with passing Soviet secrets to Washington and London. Both are 44.

The court agreed to hear 11th-hour appeals from the pair before handing down the verdicts.

★ ★ ★

The public was barred from the courtroom but Wynne's words were reported to Western newsmen later by the businessman's Soviet lawyer, Nikolai Borovik.

ARRESTED ON TRIP

Wynne was arrested last November while on a trip through the Soviet bloc. He was accused of helping Penkovsky pass secrets to the West.

★ ★ ★

Borovik said Wynne repeated his allegations that British officials had threatened and blackmailed him when he tried to get out of the business of contacting Penkovsky.

Pontiac Hospital Sets Open House

Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital will hold an open house tomorrow from 1-6 p. m. at its new $1.5-million wing.

Tours of the entire hospital facility are scheduled. The hospital has just completed a $3.5-million expansion program, including renovation of the old facility.

The Pontiac Press has a special 28-page tabloid section in today's paper, featuring highlights of the new addition and explaining some of the hospital's many functions.

Stabbed Body Found on Road

Farmington Man Had Been Dead Two Days

The knifed body of a Farmington man was found early this morning in the middle of a road in Novi, apparently tossed there from a car after he was dead.

The murder victim was identified as Walter Flory, 45, of 33642 Grand River.

A post mortem performed at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital by pathologist Dr. Richard Olsen revealed that Flory had been dead since Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

★ ★ ★

Flory's body was found on 12 Mile Road, 200 feet west of Meadowbrook, about 4 a. m. by a motorist. He telephoned the Novi police department. State police from the Redford Post in Detroit were called in on the case.

'JUST DUMPED'

"It looks like someone just dumped the body on the road this morning," said State Police Det. Lt. Melvin Kaufman. "It was in plain sight, right in the center of the road."

★ ★ ★

"He was stabbed a couple of times about the chest," Kaufman said.

★ ★ ★

Police said Flory was dressed in pants and a tee shirt. He was not wearing shoes.

Flory's body was identified by his brother-in-law, Benjamin Brown of Livonia.

A paycheck stub found near the body from the Star Cutter Co. in Farmington, where Flory was employed, led police to his identification.

★ ★ ★

Flory, was last seen about 8:30 p. m. Wednesday in a Farmington bar, according to police. A team of detectives today were questioning persons who might have seen Flory after that time.

Russ Planning Rocket Tests in Pacific Ocean

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today it plans to test remodeled carrier rockets over the Pacific Ocean between May 15 and July 15.

A Tass statement gave one drop area as about 2,000 miles northwest of Honolulu. Another drop was listed as about 1,500 miles south of the Hawaiian Islands.

Tass did not say from which points the shots would originate. It said the launchings will be made without the rockets' final stages and the rockets will fall into the ocean.

Castro Says Stage Set for Discussion

NEW YORK (AP)—Fidel Castro says the recent exchange of prisoners between the United States and Cuba set the stage for "the beginning of better relations" between the two countries.

★ ★ ★

The Cuban prime minister, in a filmed interview televised Friday night, also said that the question of Soviet "technicians" in his country should be discussed among all three of the powers involved—the United States, the Soviet Union and Cuba.

He said he didn't think it was good that "the United States wants to discuss it with the Soviet Union, without us."

The bearded Communist dictator also left the door open for a discussion on compensating U.S. firms for the expropriation of their property in Cuba.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Castro was interviewed at the Hotel Riviera in Havana last month by ABC news commentator Lisa Howard. The interview was telecast by the network in a special one-hour program, along with comments on it by Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and Kenneth B. Keating.

Humphrey, Minnesota Democrat, and Keating, a New York Republican who has been highly critical of the administration's Cuban policy, each declared there could be no U.S.-Cuban talks until Russian troops and weapons have been withdrawn from the Caribbean island.

WON'T NEGOTIATE

Said Humphrey: "We will not sit down and negotiate with Mr. Castro as long as Cuba is being used as a base for Soviet military power, and that there is a Soviet military presence which is a threat to the security of this nation in Cuba."

Said Keating: "We cannot deal at all until the Russian troops and weapons are out of there. We can't even talk about it, and that should be made very clear."

★ ★ ★

Castro was asked about the recent exchange of 21 Americans held prisoner in Cuba for the three Cubans and one Cuban-American imprisoned in the United States on charges ranging from espionage to murder. Did that show "a beginning of a reapproachment"—that is, a resumption of cordial relations—between the two countires? Miss Howard asked.

★ ★ ★

"It is the beginning. . . It is possible if we can use it, if the United States wants it, it is the beginning of better relations," Castro replied.

"It's a way of diminishing tension," he added. "It's one way—and just as all the other steps that the United States government has given are other steps—like stopping the piratical attacks against Cuba—all these are steps in the right direction."

Castro apparently was referring to the recent U.S. ban on raids against Cuba originating from U.S. soil. Such raids have been conducted in the past by Cuban exile groups.

Overthrow Try Shapes Up

Exiles Near United Front

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Unity fever spread through the politically divided Cuban exile colony today as plotting for a knockout counterrevolution against Cuban prime minister Fidel Castro was reported maturing.

★ ★ ★

Enrique Ruiz Williams, unofficial coordinator of a movement to form a junta in exile to sponsor the counterrevolution, said he believed the body will be established within a week or two.

★ ★ ★

Other informed exile sources said that shortly thereafter, recruiting of rebels to infiltrate Cuba for underground activities would start.

★ ★ ★

The sources said plans made with the knowledge of the Central Intelligence Agency call for large-scale sabotage, guerrilla warfare and infiltration of armed forces, to be climaxed by bombardment or invasion from a non-U.S. base.

★ ★ ★

"Just about everybody wants unity now," Ruiz Williams, a wounded veteran of the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion, said by telephone from New York City, where he flew from Puerto Rico on a junta-organizing tour.

"We need a structure to correlate efforts to overthrow Castro."

TO VISIT WASHINGTON

Ruiz Williams, a 1945 graduate of Colorado School of Mines, Golden, Colo., said that after conferring with exiles in New York he would visit Washington. He has conferred frequently with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, with whom he became friendly after his release from a Cuban prison last year.

"I have been working for a month on this unity thing, but I am not the only one doing it. I am just another person trying to unite the people for the common cause of overthrowing Castro. And all are meeting with great response."

★ ★ ★

Working with Ruiz Williams is a group of prominent exiles who quietly, almost secretly, organized what is known as "The Commission." They fan out among refugees to put together the junta.

Leaders noted that members of "The Commission" were aloof from exile politics and had not collaborated markedly either with the Castro regime or that of dictator Fulgencio Batista, which preceded it.

Airline Dispute to Halt Flights?

LONDON (AP)—A dispute over air fares threatened today to disrupt airline flights between the United States and Britain at midnight.

★ ★ ★

The dispute revolves around refusal of the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board to permit U.S. airlines flying to Europe to increase their fares by 5 per cent. British and other European airlines want the increase.

The British are believed prepared to deny landing rights to the U.S. airlines—Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines—unless they increase their fares by midnight.

★ ★ ★

The United States is expected to retaliate. Canada is lined up with the United States.

The British Foreign Office sent a note today to Washington setting forth its position. There was no official word on what the note said.

Hungary Court Jails 3 Former Prosecutors

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—A Budapest court has sentenced three former state prosecutors to jail terms ranging from six to eight years for corruption and bribery.

Radio Budapest said the prosecutors had accepted bribes from small private businessmen for "protection in black market operations."

WEATHER FORECAST — Scattered showers and thundershowers are due tonight from the Missouri valley to the northern Rockies and parts of the Great Basin, with cooler temperatures in western portions of the shower area and warmer weather in eastern portions. It will be mostly clear skies and cool temperatures in the far west and in most of the eastern third of the nation. Temperatures will remain on the warm side in the southern border states.

Day-Care Program

Discusses Mental Ills

There is no longer a sharp border line between the normal individual and one who is mentally ill. During the past 10 years, psychiatrists have come to realize that a clear-cut distinction is artificial and unworkable.

★ ★ ★

Speaker was Dr. Henry Brill, MD., director of Pilgrim State Hospital, West Brentwood, N.Y. Dr. Brill is deputy commissioner of the New York State Mental Hygiene Department.

According to Dr. Brill, treatment of the mentally ill has always been a practical matter. Before the days of drugs which give quick control of distressing behavior, locked hospitals seemed the only answer. Now, he added, it is possible to be more flexible in treatment.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Brill has supervised and studied a number of day-care clinics. In these clinics or hospitals, patients may come in for a full day, a few hours, or possibly overnight.

This type of treatment center is to be established at Pontiac State Hospital in the near future.

Dr. Brill said the day hospital proposed locally is the least formal of all, requiring no additional buildings or separate facilities.

Patients will go to the hospital and use whatever facilities are needed.

"Public understanding and acceptance is essential to a good day care program; he said. The cooperation of families must be secured. Commuting from home to hospital must be practical for patients."

"Seriousness of the mental illness is not the criterion for acceptance in a day-care program," Dr. Brill added. "There are no committment papers. Both group and individual therapy are used, as well as occupational therapy, counseling and drug therapy."

Becoming involved in such a program which is contrary to accepted modes of treatment is not without risk, Dr. Brill said.

It is both a challenge and a threat to doctors who are continually exposed to mistakes in this pioneering movement.

Re-elected for a two-year term on the board of directors of the Oakland County chapter were Mrs. John Driver, Mrs. H. B. Green, Elmer Hartwig, and Frieda Huggett.

Others are Mrs. A. W. Nevala, Mrs. Carmi J. Odell, Mrs. Walter P. Reuther, Mrs. George Stoughton and Rev. John Wigle.

Named as new members of the board for a two-year term were Mrs. Robert Turpin, Dr. George Roper, Dr. John English and J. Fred Lawton.

Concluding the list are Mrs. R. J. Slingerland, Mrs. Ronald Grigg, Leonard Bender and Robert James.

JFK, Pearson Agree on Nuclear Program

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — President Kennedy and Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson wrapped up a two-day conference today with an announcement that Canada will honor her existing commitments to cooperate in North American defense.

A joint communique thus strongly implied that Pearson has agreed to accept American-controlled nuclear weapons to be used in the event of enemy attack.

A vital issue in the Canadian election that boosted Pearson to power last month was the failure of the preceding administration of Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker to fulfill a commitment to accept nuclear warheads for Bomarc missile bases in Canada.

★ ★ ★

The key sentence in the communique read:

"The prime minister confirmed his government's intention to initiate discussions with the United States government leading without delay towards the fulfillment of Canada's existing defense commitments in North America and Europe, consistent with Canada's parliamentary procedures."

Kennedy and Pearson emphasized "their mutual interest in insuring that bilateral defense arrangements are made as effective as possible and continually improved and adapted to suit changing circumstances and changing roles."

The American and Canadian leaders said their talks at Kennedy's seaside summer home "took place in the atmosphere of informality which marks so many of the relations between the people of the United States and Canada."

Reuther Issues Blast at AMA

Says Government Health Plans Likely

DETROIT — UAW President Walter P. Reuther delivered a blast at the American Medical Association (AMA) last night, predicting Americans will turn to governmental health plans "if the AMA continues to resist the move toward comprehensive medical care."

Reuther addressed more than 400 physicians and health insurance officials from the United States and Canada who attended a banquet at the 13th annual Group Health Institute here.

Reuther said the AMA "may make government health care inevitable" if it continues to "hinder the progress" of cooperative medical plans.

The labor leader charged that when Blue Cross first came out, the AMA "tried to block every inch of every step forward."

"Blue Cross had the backing of the UAW," Reuther said. "Fifty per cent of our members were subscribers. But we had to fight the AMA, which put unbelievable pressure on doctors not to join the program."

"Now," Reuther said, "the same people who fought Blue Cross act as though they originated the idea when we try to move forward to better things."

'Don't Pay High Rates'

LANSING (AP) — State Insurance Commissioner Sherwood Colburn has advised Blue Shield subscribers that they should pay only the old rates for their surgical insurance—even though they are being billed at new and higher rates.

Colburn, who has declined to authorize an increase in Blue Shield rates, pointed out that a temporary restraining order has been issued by the Wayne County Circuit Court to stop the new rates now being billed by Blue Shield.

Government Under Bakr Quits in Iraq

CAIRO, U.A.R. (UPI) — The government of Iraq Premier Maj. Gen. Ahmed Hassan Bakr has resigned, Baghdad radio announced today.

The Baghdad broadcast monitored here said the cabinet's resignation was accepted by the National Council for the Revolutionary Command which instructed Bakr to form a new cabinet.

★ ★ ★

The radio interrupted its programs this evening to announce that "important statements" would be broadcast shortly.

Then it announced that the resignation of Bakr's cabinet had been accepted. The resignation statement was signed by the Iraqi president, Col. Abdul Salam Aref.

The government had been in power since February when Premier Abdel Karam Kassem was overthrown and executed.

★ ★ ★

Informed sources said the premier was meeting with prospective cabinet members and the new government was expected to be announced tomorrow.

It was the first note of discord in the Iraqi government since the revolution.

Iraq, along with Syria, had agreed to join Egypt in the formation of a new United Arab Republic.

But the Syrian government also is in the midst of a political crisis.

OAS Planning Return to Haiti

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Organization of American States (OAS) will send a strengthened fact-finding mission back to Haiti Monday for a second look at conditions there, diplomats disclosed today.

★ ★ ★

The OAS council met privately today to complete arrangements for the five-nation team to visit the feuding Dominican Republic and Haiti, where it wants to look into charges of repression and disorder.

Indications that Haiti might bar the team appeared to have been swept away last night by Haitian Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers, who said the mission "naturally" would be permitted entry.

Chalmers, after meeting here with OAS Secretary General Jose A. More and U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, said his government would welcome another OAS committee check because it originally complained about possible Dominican aggression.

★ ★ ★

However, the OAS fact-finding group also wants to check Dominican charges that Haiti's President Francoise Duvalier is guilty of vicious political repressions and violations of diplomatic rights.

City Woman Hurt in Crash

A Pontiac woman was injured yesterday in a two-car crash on the Dixie Highway in Independence Township.

Mrs. Redick is in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital with facial lacerations and possible internal injuries. The other driver was treated and released.

Bird Lover Gets Answer to Tree-Spraying Protest

BIRMINGHAM — A 9-year-old boy who claimed the city was "cracked" for trying "to make birds extinced" has received some answers to the questions he and his father raised.

The City Commission this week received letters from Ricky McKenzie and his father Roderick of 240 Aspen urging, that DDT not be used to spray trees.

They said the chemical was responsible for destruction of the city's bird population.

Since then, at least 23 of Ricky's fourth grade classmates at Baldwin School have sent similar protests.

Darrel C. Middlewood, forestry superintendent, this week sent a reply to McKenzie and spoke to the fourth graders.

Answering McKenzie's charge that a bird had died on his lawn an hour after the neighborhood had been sprayed, Middlewood said, "To the best of my knowledge, DDT as we apply it here could not possibly cause death that quick.

"It takes up to 48 hours to cause the death of the insects for which we're spraying," he added.

The forestry chief this week contacted Walter Nichol, Cranbrook Institute naturalist who two years ago had encouraged the city to maintain its spraying program.

Nichol had written that rather than chahge to another chemical, a DDT spraying would be okay if completed before April 15.

"When I contacted him Tuesday morning, he said this still held true," Middlewood reported.

"Unfortunately, we didn't stop spraying until about three weeks after April 15 this year."

★ ★ ★

Because of the hard winter, the city sprayed later than usual. Most private concerns and home owners are still spraying, Middlewood noted.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p. m. tomorrow at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co.

Surviving besides his wife, Ione E., are his mother, Mrs. John D. Shea of Royal Oak; one sister; and two brothers.

Soapy Set for Queries in County

Former Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams may find himself fielding some hot questions about foreign aid when he visits Oakland County tomorrow.

Democrats plan to ask Soapy for his comments on the Clay report advocating reductions in foreign aid.

★ ★ ★

"No one in the State Department has yet made any comment on it," says James M. McNeely, executive assistant to County Democratic Chairman Sander M. Levin.

"We don't know whether Soapy will talk about it or not," McNeely said.

Williams is scheduled to speak at a 3 p.m. meeting Sunday at the Maplewood Club House, 2008 N. Woodward, Royal Oak.

Currently assistant U. S. secretary of state for African affairs, Williams is expected to speak briefly about foreign affairs and then submit to questioning.

Some 150 are expected to attend the meeting, which will be open to the public.

The event is sponsored by the Democratic Business and Professional Association of Oakland County.

The Clay report was submitted to President Kennedy last month by a special presidential committee headed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

Rusk Receives Russian's Note

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin called on Secretary of State Dean Rusk today to deliver a new Russian memorandum on the general subject of disarmament.

State Department Press Officer Robert McCluckey said the "informal memorandum" did not include anything on nuclear testing.

Dobrynin would say, when talking with reporters after the 20-minute session, only that his call on the secretary concerned "some aspects of disarmament."

The new "informal memorandum on the general problems of disarmament" came just a couple of days after President Kennedy received a message from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev indicating no enthusiasm for new British-American suggestions for speeding up work on a nuclear test ban treaty.

Automobile Injury Fatal to Royal Oak Man, 21

Michael B. Freehan, 21, of Royal Oak, died Thursday night in William Beaumont Hospital from injuries suffered Wednesday when his car smashed into a parked auto in Royal Oak.

Feehan, 4407 Elmhurst, lost control of his car on Normandy near Elmhurst. The car caromed 170 feet across the street after the impact, jumped a curb and stopped in the front yard of a home.

Uncover Plot in Death Try

SAIGON (AP) — The Cambodian government said today it had uncovered an unsuccessful plot to kill Red Chinese President Liu Shao Chi and the Cambodian chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

The assassination plot reportedly was to have involved explosives planted in a tunnel under the highway between Phnom Penh Airport and the capital.

The charge was to have been set off as Liu's motorcade passed over it May 1 when he arrived for a six-day state visit.

"The royal (Cambodian) government has all the details of plans for assassination made by certain imperialist countries which were to be carried out by terrorists infiltrated from across Cambodia's borders," the announcement said.

The "imperialist countries" were not identified. According to unofficial reports, the charge was aimed mainly at South Viet Nam.

Liu is in Hanoi on a good-will trip to Communist North Viet Nam.

Tshombe Will Confer With Congo President

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Katanga Province President Moise Tshombe said last night he will fly to Leopoldville soon to confer with Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Cyrille Adoula on the Congo's "catastrophic situation."

Tshombe's announcement came as a surprise. Previously he had refused to visit Leopoldville because once he was arrested there while negotiating with Adoula on unification of Katanga with the rest of the Congo.

Teamster Agent Pleads Guilty

DETROIT (AP) — George Roxburgh, business agent and trustee of Teamster Local 299, pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court yesterday to a five-count indictment charging him with accepting illegal payments from a Grand Rapids trucking company.

Roxburgh was fined $500 on each of the counts and placed on two years' probation by Federal Judge Talbot Smith, who said he would not send Roxburgh to jail because of his physical condition. Roxburgh recently underwent an operation for cancer.

Roxburgh admitted violating the Taft-Hartly labor law by accepting $600 from the interstate motor freight system of Grand Rapids between November 1958, and January 1959.

William H. Merrill, chief assistant U.S. attorney, said another federal indictment, charging Roxburgh with violating the Hobbs anti-racketeering law, would be dismissed.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Swedish automobile traffic will change from left-hand to right-hand driving in 1967 under a proposal approved Friday night by the lower chamber of Parliament. The upper house had already endorsed the government plan.

New Home of Kennedys Is Rented

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President and Mrs. Kennedy have rented their new home in the Virginia hunt country to Mr. and Mrs. A. Dana Hodgdon for the summer. Hodgdon is a Washington broker.

Andrew T. Hatcher, acting White House press secretary, made the announcement.

The Hodgdons will rent the Kennedy home on Rattlesnake Mountain, near Atoka, Va., for the four months from June through September. The rental reportedly is $1,000 a month.

* * *

Just completed, the seven-bedroom home had been under construction since last fall.

A year ago this month, Hodgdon was called as a witness in public hearings conducted by the Securities and Exchange Commission as part of a study of the entire securities business.

The Hodgdon firm specializes in the sale of mutual fund shares and has grown rapidly during the past few years.

The home occupies a 39-acre site that cost $26,000. The White House has insisted that the dwelling itself cost less than $50,000.

President and Mrs. Kennedy had planned to occupy the home but plans were changed after Mrs. Kennedy became pregnant.

The First Lady will be moving soon from the White House to a leased home on Squaw Island, Mass.

Graduate to Receive 2 Degrees

LANSING (AP) — There will scarcely be time for Gary D. Steinman to celebrate June 9 when he becomes the first Michigan State University student in history to receive a bachelors and a masters degree at the same time.

* * *

Steinman, 21, of Flint, will spend the summer on assignment with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) exobiological laboratory, in research on origin of life in outer space.

After that, he'll start work on his doctorate under Dr. Melvin C. Calvin, 1962 Nobel Prize winner for chemistry, at the University of California.

Accompanying Steinman in his academic travels will be Judith Messer, a Long Island teacher whom he met in Israel and will marry this weekend in New York.

MSU officials say Steinman has compiled one of the most brilliant academic records in university annals, with more than 90 per cent of his credits in four years being earned with A's.

He has received numerous scientific awards for his scholarship and research studies in chemistry and biochemistry.

Steinman attended MSU on a Distinguished Alumni Scholarship after graduating first in his class of 481 at Flint Northern High School in 1959.

He was working toward his bachelors degree in chemistry when things "became dull" last March. So he immediately started on the masters degree in biochemistry.

* * *

At NASA, he will take part in research on a project already worked out by himself and his advisor, MSU associate professor Dr. Hans Lillevik.

Assuming the continuation of current growth rates, the projected population of the United States for 1975 is a little over 225 million.

Polaris A3 Missile Lands on Target

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Polaris A3 missile struck a target more than 1,800 miles down range yesterday in a test which could signal an end of basic development troubles for the advanced submarine weapon.

The success, announced by the Navy, was the second straight good A3 flight from a land launching pad and bolstered belief of program officials that the rocket's early research problems are being solved.

* * *

The long-range rocket has encountered a pack of troubles since the test flight program started here last August and the success today was only the fourth in 14 firings.

Widow Is Suing Elvis Presley in Husband's Death

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—The widow of a gardener who was struck and killed by a car March 13 filed a $501,400 damage suit against rock 'n' roll singer Elvis Presley Friday. She said Presley's car killed her husband.

Richard E. Davis, 23, identified as an employe of Presley, who was driving the car, also was named a defendant by Leona Henslin in her complaint, filed in Santa Monica Superior Court.

The complaint stated that Harvey Henslin, 45, was walking from the driveway of an employer's home in the Bel Air district when struck by the car. Presley was not an occupant of the car at the time.

Pokey Speeder Arrested

WESTFIELD, N.Y. (AP) — Robert Sexton of North East, Pa., was arrested for speeding. Minutes later, the same trooper arrested him for going too slow.

Trooper George Domedion said he halted Sexton's speeding car near this Cahutauqua County village. He told Sexton to follow the patrol car to the home of a justice of the peace. Sexton inched along at 10 miles an hour, the trooper said.

Sexton pleaded guilty to both charges. Justice William Harris of Portland ordered him jailed pending payment of a $20 speeding fine. The justice suspended payment on the other charge.

Mothers to Be Feted Nationwide Tomorrow

Some cynical persons are prone to look with little enthusiasm on certain of our established holidays and observances.

They hold that the beneficiaries of the events are more the related commercial interests than those to whom the dates are dedicated.

Mother's Day has been included in this category.

But regardless of its sponsorship or originating stimulus, we are heartily in favor of it, and humbly salute the Nation's mothers as tribute is paid them tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

We think, moreover, that if the women are willing to settle for this annual one-day recognition of their virtues, the men are getting off pretty easily.

At the risk of seeming disloyal to our sex, we've always privately ascribed most of the goodness in humanity and the family unit to mothers.

They are the ones who, with exceptions so rare as to be newsworthy, solidify the household.

They strive, often against discouragement, to awaken spiritual consciousness at the hearthside.

They evince a healthy interest in events revolving around them while injecting their influence for betterment.

And they uncomplainingly do the daily work of two men.

★ ★ ★

The moms' indispensable nature rarely is grasped. We notice it on the infrequent occasions when they surrender to a day's illness or during an unprecedented few days' furlough they might take.

Then, with sinking hearts, their charges realize how much mom has been taken for granted.

The Press wishes mothers everywhere a joyous and rewarding day, with a reminder to their "dependents" that there are 364 days ahead to show their devotion.

Drinking Teen Drivers Hit by New York Law

Pressure to change New York State's drinking eligibility law from 18 to 21 has resulted in one change, anyway.

★ ★ ★

A new State law there lowers the percentage of alcohol in the blood which constitutes drunkenness for those under 21.

★ ★ ★

Originally, .15 per cent of alcohol in the blood indicated impairment of driving ability. This law was later changed to .10 per cent.

The new law puts the level at .05 for those under 21.

★ ★ ★

The change came about when a study by the Joint Legislative Committee on Motor Vehicles indicated that the consumption of alcohol had a greater impact on youthful drivers than it did on older persons.

The new law nibbles away at the root of the problem — drinking by those too young to know their limit or the effect of alcohol.

Party Should Clarify Its Political Position

We commend the view of WALTER P. REUTHER, United Auto Workers president, as expressed concerning the nomination of Sen. BARRY GOLDWATER by the GOP. He predicted GOLDWATER would be defeated, but his nomination would give the voters in next year's presidential election a choice of party government philosophy.

★ ★ ★

Within the memory of a multitude of voters, Republicans and Democrats held diametrically opposite views on such major issues as:

- Fiscal and monetary policies.
- Tariff rates.
- Federal involvement with state prerogatives.
- Federal regulation and paternalism affecting large segments of the population.

Beginning with the ROOSEVELT New Deal, however, the Republican party has progressively jettisoned its forthright principles. It has fallen into a weak and generally unrewarding role of "me-too-ism."

We think Mr. Reuther's urge to present American voters with the opportunity to define the Party's position as regards government philosophy is sound.

Most of the Republican candidates that have run for office in recent years have more or less expressed views fairly close to the Democrats.

A switch such as REUTHER suggested makes sense.

Bomb FBI Case Affects All Time

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Top G-man J. Edgar Hoover, who yesterday began his 40th year as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, took a long look forward and predicted that at least one case cracked by the FBI will "affect all of civilization for all time to come."

RUTH MONTGOMERY

★ ★ ★

Calling the Fuchs-Gold-Rosenberg spy case "the greatest crime of the century," Hoover said this conspiracy which gave Russia the atom and hydrogen bombs can ultimately destroy the world.

Hoover, the boyhood idol of Americans who have now reached middle-age, said he has no intention of retiring.

Waging relentless war on gangsters, kidnapers, saboteurs and hoodlums is his dish of tea, and the roster of criminals whom he has sent to the penitentiary or the chair reads like a Who's Who of infamy.

★ ★ ★

The bachelor G-man directs a far-flung operation that runs the gamut from training local police officers to smashing gambling syndicates.

He is also charged with protecting our internal security, and it is this assignment which gives Hoover his gravest problems.

Philosophizing on the job that has occupied his total attention for 39 years, he said:

"Espionage is just as serious a threat today as at any time in the history of the bureau. The Soviets and their satellites are carrying on extensive espionage in this country all the time, operating with diplomatic immunity from their embassies and the United Nations."

Foreign espionage is a far cry from the problems facing G-men when Hoover took office, back in the Prohibition Era.

He still counts as "the most thrilling thing in my life" the day that Attorney General Harlan Stone — later to become chief justice —offered him the directorship of an agency that was then graft-ridden.

PATRONAGE OUTFIT

"In those days, the bureau was a patronage outfit," Hoover recalls. "The agents had to get their jobs through senators or national committeemen, and we had plenty of exconvicts in the lot.

"I agreed to take the job only if the bureau could be completely divorced from politics, and Stone said he would give it to me only with that understanding."

Stone had been called in to clean house after the Harding administration scandals, and the youthful, untried Hoover became his right-hand man.

The POWER of FAITH By WOODI ISHMAEL

When Jack Carpenter was born 38 years ago in White Plains, N. Y., the doctors said he would live only a few days. He had cerebral palsy. Throughout his life faith and determination have been his guideposts and, he says, "My religion has helped me over the rough spots."

His own handicap virtually licked, Jack started working for the good of others. He has been a member of the YMCA for 25 years. He helped launch the Junior and Senior HI-Y programs in his community and later was HI-Y supervisor. He also has taught Sunday School and is an advisor to high school groups.

For the past eleven years, Jack has been active in the United Cerebral Palsy Association. For ten years he has run a three week annual camp for handicapped adults. As Jack puts it, "If we believe in God and we believe in ourselves, we then should give the same to others."

Days of All Faiths:

Happy Day in a Solemn Season

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sephira is the name the Ancient Jews gave to the 50-day period between their first and second harvest seasons, that is, between Passover and Pentecost. They counted these days solemnly, one by one as they came, but instead of talking about counting days they called it "counting the omer," or sheaves of grain. And that is how tomorrow, Lag b'Omer, gets its name. As did the Romans, the Jews used letters as numbers. L is 30, G is 3—thus LAG (the vowel is supplied) is 33. Lag b'Omer—the 33rd day of the Omer.

★ ★ ★

The fifty days of Sephira are days of semi-mourning more especially for the Jews who were massacred at this time of year during the Crusades. No festivities are allowed; no weddings are performed. The one joyful exception is this 33rd day, a happy holiday, and a day of weddings, in the midst of a solemn season.

WHY THIS HOLIDAY?

This is the newest of all Jewish holidays, and there are several explanations of its origin and reason for existing.

★ ★ ★

It is a school children's holiday and it is said that this is because a plague in the school of the great Rabbi Akiba suddenly stopped on this day. Or some say it was a plague among the whole population, which stopped abruptly because of the prayers of the school children.

Another theory is that it is the day on which manna first fell from heaven to sustain the Jews on their long trek from Egypt to the Promised Land.

★ ★ ★

Much, too, is said about the connection of this festival with the Jews' last attempt (until the present century) to establish an independent nation. About sixty years after the Romans burned the Temple, a brilliant Jewish general Bar Kochba tried to regain Palestine from the Roman legions.

★ ★ ★

This would have been about the year 130. The effort was unsuccessful, of course, but it was bloody while it lasted and it produced many heroes.

One of the greatest of these heroes was Rabbi Akiba, the teacher mentioned above. For his support of Bar Kochba he was cruelly martyred. The Romans wrapped him in a scroll of the Torah and burned both Rabbi and Torah together.

Scholars are not in full agreement with any of these accounts of why Lag b'Omer is celebrated. They see in all of them attempts to Judaize an ancient forest festival that occurred at this time of year.

MORE ABOUT DR. LIVINGSTONE

Why wait until David Livingstone's 1964 anniversary to share with you a delightful letter that came in as a result of our March column about the famous missionary?

A grand-nephew of Livingstone's, now living in Fort Worth, has caught us up on some family details that would be hard to find in ordinary biographies. For instance, Livingstone's eldest son, Robert, came to the United States and fought with a New Hampshire regiment in the Civil War.

★ ★ ★

Wounded and captured, he died in a Confederate hospital in Salisbury, N. C. Dr. Livingstone never knew how his son died or where he was buried. There is now a Livingstone College, for Negroes, in Salisbury.

The Livingstones in America are descended from David's brother John, whose grandson sent us this information. This grandson, incidentally, carries two distinguished names: he is Henry Stanley Livingstone.

Voice of the People:

Reader Endorses Editorial on Government Spending

I commend Monday's Press editorial "Taxpayers Seek to Find End as Government Costs Rise." Too little thought goes to the increase of the Federal budget from $34 a person when FDR promised to cut the list of Federal employes 25 per cent as one of his savings to the taxpayers. The cost rose 16 times in 28 years.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Kennedy was going to "do something" to save the taxpayers. He raised it to $613 per person, and now he expects a deficit of $12 billion this year.

★ ★ ★

These two follow a principle in economics of a man named Keyes. He claimed the way for a government to gain prosperity is to "spend and spend." The way to make a budget balance is to spend no more than our income. That applies to government also. When we send $2 to Washington, only $1 of that returns.

Law and Bus Bill Concern Taxpayer

I am glad that Mr. Milton Henry is going to act like the intelligent person he is but I wonder if I ran toward a policeman if I would not be punished. I hope I would and I also hope we have enough law to punish anyone breaking the law be he or she a judge, lawyer, preacher or a taxpayer.

★ ★ ★

Also, I cannot understand how a taxpayer can be forced to pay for transportation for children going to schools to be taught religion, when in our public schools it is illegal even to mention religion or say "God Bless America."

What other city is so disturbed over pigeons—or doves if you prefer? Who are these persons who work so hard to destroy all the pieces that make Americana?

They were brought here from the old world—where they had been for many centuries — by our early settlers for commercial purposes. As we prospered we had no need for them. You will find them in most cities throughout the world. A city without doves is a city that has lost its heart.

Today is Saturday, May 11, the 131st of 1963 with 234 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Venus, Saturn and Jupiter.

The evening star is Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1832, the first political platform was drawn up in Washington, D.C., to be used in the campaign to elect Henry Clay president.

In 1934, dust storms in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado, blew hundreds of thousands of tons of top soil eastward toward the Atlantic Ocean.

In 1960, American financier John D. Rockefeller died at the age of 86.

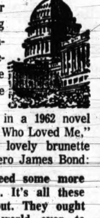
In 1962, President Kennedy called on U.S. businessmen for cooperation in making the economy work at fullest capacity.

In Washington:

Spy Novel Bandies Kennedy Name

By WASHINGTON STAFF

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Kennedy's fondness for the spy-adventure novels of British writer Ian Fleming is well known.



Less appreciated is the fact that, in his newer works, Fleming drops an occasional, sometimes favorable comment on the President.

For example, in a 1962 novel called "The Spy Who Loved Me," Fleming has a lovely brunette saying to spy hero James Bond:

". . . We need some more Jack Kennedys. It's all these old people about. They ought to hand the world over to younger people who haven't got the idea of war stuck in their subconscious."

Later on, the girl, seeing New York state troopers hopping about in response to Bond's influence in high places, imagines one officer shouting to another:

"We'll have Jack Kennedy on our tails any moment now!"

★ ★ ★

President Kennedy had a date in the White House rose garden with some budding young farmers representing the Conference of Co-operatives and the Future.

Since it was raining, an aide went out and set up the microphone under the protective shelter of the White House roof. When the President emerged and saw the youngsters standing in the rain, he moved his mike back into the open.

"If they can stand in the rain," he said, "so can I."

Attorney General Robert Kennedy was giving a speech at the University of South Carolina. A student asked him how to get ahead at the Department of Justice. Said Kennedy, "Well, I started at $4,200 a year, worked hard, stayed late at night, was loyal — and picked the right brother."

★ ★ ★

Through a misunderstanding, Peace Corps director Sargent Shriver Jr. showed up in a tuxedo at the white tie White House dinner for 150 guests honoring the Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg and her son, Prince Jean. It was all the more embarrassing because Mrs. Shriver, President Kennedy's sister, was subbing as official hostess for First Lady Jacqueline.

But the resourceful Shriver got out of his social blunder neatly.

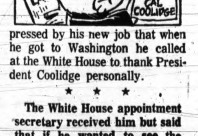
"We're not so formal in the Peace Corps," he said. "We don't approve of white tie and tails."

★ ★ ★

Gov. George Romney of Michigan wowed the U.S. Chamber of Commerce annual meeting with a rip snortin' speech agin' the guv'ment, but did admit "there has been some improvement" in Washington in the last 40 years.

★ ★ ★

When his father-in-law, Harold LaFount, was appointed to the old Federal Radio Commission in the 1920s, Romney related that "anybody who left home became a celebrity." LaFount was so impressed by his new job that when he got to Washington he called at the White House to thank President Coolidge personally.



★ ★ ★

The White House appointment secretary received him but said that if he wanted to see the President, he'd have to get a morning coat and striped trousers.

At a cost of $175, LaFount got the formal attire and showed up for the ceremony. He was ushered into the Oval Room. The President was writing at his desk. After a wait to be recognized, the new official made his brief speech of thanks for the honor bestowed upon him. Then President Coolidge looked up and said: "When in doubt, read the law. Good morning."

IN PERU — Shown outside his hut with Amarakairi Indians in Peru is (center) Robert Tripp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Tripp of 139 Illinois. Robert has written two of a planned series of primers for teaching the Indians to read their own language. He uses words that can be illustrated with pictures of birds, animals, children and canoes. He will later teach them Spanish to integrate them into the national life of Peru. His work is with the Wycliffe Bible Translators.

Mrs. Leslie R. Tripp Visits Indian Village

Mother Meditates on Mission

Mother's Day for Mrs. Leslie R. Tripp of 139 Illinois will be observed recalling the wonderful work her son is doing among the Indians in Peru. She spent sometime with him several weeks ago.

Bob as he is known by the family is doing linguistic work for the Summer Institute of Linguistics and Wycliffe Bibe Translators. He works with the Amarakairi Indians in the jungles of southeastern Peru.

For three years he has been with the Indian village located on the Colorado River about 500 miles south, southeast of Yarinacocha. This is the base of operations about 360 miles northeast of Lima on the coast.

Their spoken language has been reduced to written form and arranged as an alphabet.

Currently Bob is making an analysis of the grammar. He has written two of a planned series of primers for teaching the Indians to read their own language.

He will also teach some Spanish to integrate them into the national life of Peru. In the primers he uses words which can be illustrated with pictures of birds, animals, children, canoes and so on.

RECORDINGS HELP

Tape recordings are an invaluable aid to the 60 linguists such as Bob working out of Yarinacocha.

He gets stories as told by the more intelligent members of the group on tape—such as legends, hunting and fishing stories. They are studied to get the word meanings, including use of affixes.

Ultimate goal of these linguists is to provide Indian tribes with translations of the New Testament in their native tongues.

In the meantime native teachers are trained in Yarinococha to teach them reading and writing. They are also taught improved methods of agriculture.

* * *

The purpose of the Wycliffe Bible Translators is to leave the Indians with rudimentary education in their own language so that they will not need the permanent services of a missionary.

The translators not only want to win the Indians to Christianity but to develop for them a well rounded life, materially, mentally and spiritually.

Bob spends about six months of the year with the tribe and the rest of the year doing language work in Yarinacocha.

IN THATCHED-ROOF HOUSE

Bob lives in a thatched-roof house. The building is about 35 feet long. His quarters are in one end. In the rest of the space he takes care of the Indians' needs as medical in an improvised hospital. His meat diet consists largely of game and fish. He has learned to bake, including banana bread.

* * *

The Indians live in two houses, one 100 feet long, the other about 45 feet. They still are primitive and highly superstitious but happy and friendly.

The tribes grow sugar cane, pineapple, papaya, seven varieties of bananas, a fruit called cocona and a root eaten raw. Bob has started them growing oranges, lemons, coffee and mangoes.

These Indians hunt with bow and arrow. They also fish with bow and arrow by dumping barbasco in still water. The milk juice from the root stuns the fish.

They have learned to pan for gold in the river. This they learned from the Peruvians. Bob serves as trader as well as doctor and teacher. He buys their gold, produce and in turn sells and buys articles the natives want—pots, pans, yard goods, axheads, etc.

He trades these through the organization at Yarinacocha. Modern science has come to the aid of these isolated men and women linguists. They are in contact with the base by radio and served by 10 planes.

* * *

Each man has a regular hour for reporting to the base. If he is not heard from, a plane is sent to investigate.

How long does Bob expect to be with these Indians? "Five years, maybe 10, who knows?" he says.

WOMEN'S SECTION

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

Diane and Julie are young ladies of 16 months. They are twins. Their mother is a twin. Their maternal grandmother is also a twin.

When the family gets together on special occasions like Mother's Day, it will be like a twins' convention.

★ ★ ★

Grandmother, who lives at Hammond Lake, is Mrs. Merle Voss. Mother is Joann Voss Van Boven (Mrs. Samuel Van Boven) of Plymouth.

The Van Bovens have two older children, Gary who's 5 and Lynda, age 3.

Although Diane and Julie are fraternal twins, they look alike to the casual observer. They were dressed alike when their pictures were taken.

★ ★ ★

We asked their mother if she intended to keep them dressed alike as they grew older.

"Well, I hated being dressed like my twin when I was younger. But I can see what fun it is. I think I'll do it until they go to school."

Both Mrs. Voss and Mrs. Van Boven agreed that twins may be lots of work, but that they are also lots of fun.

Late-Hour Telephone Calls Should Be Stopped by Son

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Don't mothers tell their daughters any more that it isn't proper to telephone boys?

ABBY

Our 16-year-old son happens to be liked by several girls.

One called him at 7 o'clock in the morning yesterday. Another one called him last night at midnight. (She said she just wanted to "talk" because she couldn't sleep.)

Well, his father and I couldn't sleep very well after that, either.

I know it isn't our son's fault that he gets these calls, but how do parents go about curbing them?

ONE BOY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: If your son gets a telephone call from an Early Bird or a Night Owl ONCE, it is not his fault. But if he doesn't tell them to cut out the ill-timed calls, it IS his fault, in which case his parents are justified in "helping" him give the girls the message.

DEAR ABBY: When I was first married, I didn't know anything about playing bridge, but just to please my husband I took lessons, and now I'm better than he is.

Although we are usually partners, he resents me. He seems so happy when we lose.

I think he purposely overbids his hand so we can't make it. I just don't understand him.

We get along very well otherwise. So why does he get so mean and ugly the moment we sit down to play bridge?

BRIDGE PLAYER

DEAR BRIDGE PLAYER: Insist on a heart-to-heart talk with your husband, and call a spade a spade. Find out what's gnawing at him. Whatever it is—it's probably not in the cards.

Junior Editors Quiz on HOUSES

QUESTION: What were the first American houses like?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: The first settlers from the old world built rough huts which were something like Indian huts or wigwams, often made of poles stuck in the ground and covered with branches or bark.

But, as soon as possible, the men would get out their axes and go to work building comfortable log cabins. Since trees were usually abundant, the pioneers could cut plenty of logs from 12 to 15 feet long.

After these had been rolled to where they wanted to build, notches were cut as the man is doing in our picture. The picture shows the foundation of a log house and how the logs notch over each other.

Notice the door frame standing up. Windows were often made of animal skins or paper greased to make it translucent. Between the logs, wooden chips were driven in and chinked over with clay, making a good tight wall.

Roofs were made of hand-cut slabs, and a chimney built —either of logs or stone.

As the pioneers moved west, they often had to put up houses where there were few trees or none at all. The left lower picture shows a sod house, often built under such conditions.

Sod was plowed from the prairie and laid like bricks. As soon as the pioneers could do so, they built solid lasting houses, like the famous little house at lower right, which still stands in Provincetown, Mass.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Build a miniature log cabin with matches. If you are very patient you might notch them, but you can get a very good effect by just laying them criss-cross so the ends project about a quarter inch. Fold a square of paper so it has the right roof slant and lay it on top.

Area Agency Backs Bill on Mental Health

The Oakland Child Guidance Clinics, Inc. has given its unanimous endorsement of the Community Mental Health bill recently signed into law by Gov. Romney.

Mrs. Olin Thomas, president of the agency, cited the new law as "a vehicle for bringing expanded mental health services to Oakland County."

Because the law makes the community responsible for its mental health problems, the readjustment to society of a mentally ill person will be more easily accomplished, Mrs. Thomas stated.

The two biggest drawbacks to the institution of such a program are money and trained personnel, she observed.

To help implement the law and overcome the two drawbacks, she urged a meeting be held to discuss possible avenues of cooperation between the Child Guidance Clinics and the county board of supervisors.

Continues Cautious Park Policy

LANSING (UPI) — The State Conservation Commission climaxed its two-day May meeting Friday by continuing its cautious policy toward the controversial Sleeping Bear Dunes national park proposal.

In a carefully worded statement, the commission rejected appeals from both Democratic U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart and Republican U.S. Rep. Robert P. Griffin for a stronger stand on the issue.

Both congressmen have sponsored separate Sleeping Bear plans. Hart's plan calls for a 77,000-acre national park while Griffin's seeks to create a 37,000-acre park along the same Lake Michigan shore line.

Hart appeared at the commission meeting Thursday to urge the body's support which has been mild thus far.

The commission Friday repeated its support for the proposal in "principle," calling for a park "of sufficient size."

When it came to choosing between a Republican and Democratic plan, the commission hedged despite a one-vote Democratic majority among the seven members.

Commissioner E. M. Laitala of Hancock, a Democrat, said he preferred a stronger statement but voted "reluctantly" for the compromise statement.

The commission did recommend that the Conservation Department have equal voice with the Department of Interior in designating hunting and fishing zones within the park.

Guards Mine Field

Soldier Shelled by Mistake

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — "At first I thought about retribution to the guy who left me there, but mostly I was just scared to death."

★ ★ ★

With these words, Pvt. Daniel J. Arthur, 17, described Friday his feelings during ten hours in a target area where thousands of rounds of live ammunition were falling.

Arthur was left to guard a phoney mine field as part of Exercise Coulee Crest, an Air Force-Army maneuver. The exercise began May 5 and ends May 20 on a million acres of central Washington.

★ ★ ★

The Los Angeles soldier, part of the "defending" Blue forces, was to be captured by elements of the "invading" Red forces. His captors failed to show up.

Gen. Paul D. Adams, commander in chief of the U.S. Strike Command and head of the exercise, said Arthur was erroneously accounted for as being out of the area.

★ ★ ★

At 6.09 a.m. Thursday, the Blue artillery opened fire. Arthur was asleep in his pup tent.

"When I first woke up, I thought it was jets breaking the sound barrier," he said. "Then I looked out my tent. At first I just sat there and watched the show and wondered what was going to happen. I wasn't too worried.

GETS CLOSER

"Then the firing got closer and the artillery opened up. I thought I might be sitting on one of their targets.

"I took all my white clothes—long underwear, shirts, shorts, a towel and things of this nature—and spread them out. I also made a small fire of sagebrush to try to attract the attention of the jets, but they couldn't see me at all."

★ ★ ★

"One artillery shell bounced off a hill and landed 100 yards from me. Their kill radius is 50 yards."

Arthur, who is 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 125 pounds, curled up into a ball to make as small a target as he could. He wore his metal helmet.

PFC DANIEL J. ARTHUR

During intervals of the bombardment, he worked on a letter to his wife, Wanda, in Tacoma, Wash.

"It ain't so peaceful here any more," the letter started. "There are a bunch of jets tearing holy hell out of my hill."

★ ★ ★

A little later, he wrote: "The bombs and cannon didn't get me but now they've got the artillery after me. Boy, this could drive a guy nuts.

STILL SHAKING

"Here it is about 3 o'clock. I'm shaking something fierce. I wish they'd stop."

At 3:30 p.m., the artillery fire was suspended and tanks began rolling into the area.

"I could see men coming over a hill," Arthur said in an interview. A tank fired a round which hit 75 or 100 yards up the hill from me. I was hit by rocks and dirt. The small-arms fire was something else—I could hear bullets whizzing past me."

Arthur stood up and yelled. Someone called out, "Cease fire" and a jeep rumbled up the hill.

"What in the world are you doing here?" asked an officer.

★ ★ ★

"Sir," said Arthur, "I'm guarding a mine field."

Gen. Adams praised Arthur as "a brave man and faithful to his orders." He ordered an investigation and said new safety procedures would be instituted.

Arthur was checked at a dispensary here and appeared fit, but was to be taken to Madigan Army Hospital at Ft. Lewis, Wash., where he is stationed, for a further checkup today.

★ ★ ★

After that, he said: "I want to get back for our own live firing next week."

Form New Government

Syrian Minister Resigns Post

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria's National Revolutionary Council announced today it had accepted the resignation of Prime Minister Salah Bitar and appointed Dr. Sami Jundi to form a new government.

The move appeared aimed at ending a week of political crisis and riotous demonstrations that threatened the coming federation of Syria with Iraq and President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic.

The decrees were announced by Damascus radio after a fourth all-night session of the revolutionary council.

Jundi, about 40, a dentist, was minister of guidance in Bitar's resignation-riddled cabinet. He was the only remaining minister not belonging to Bitar's ruling Ba'ath Socialist party.

BACK DOWN

Bitar's resignation appeared to mean the Ba'ath party had backed down in its effort to seize outright control of the government and the army. The attempt had been denounced by Cairo as a violation of the agreement for the three Arab nations to form a new United Arab Republic.

The radio said Jundi, who was a signer of the April 17 Cairo declaration that brought the federation into being, immediately began consultations to form a new government.

Jundi was head of the Socialist Unionist Movement, one of the three pro-Nasser groups whose ministers resigned to demand a louder voice for Nasser in the Syrian government.

But Jundi stepped outside the dispute and was fired by the Socialist Unionists last month.

The change apparently meant the Ba'athists, who had deepened the crisis by mass dismissals of pro-Nasser army officers, had agreed to a new start that would give the Cairo leader's supporters a larger role in running the country.

Expect Solons to Reconvene

Approval Is Needed on Canvasser Post

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Legislature is expected to be called back into session next week to allow the Senate to confirm the appointment of a Republican member to the Board of State Canvassers.

★ ★ ★

Gov. George Romney confirmed the plan to reconvene the lawmakers when questioned by newsmen yesterday.

The Senate's advice and consent is needed before the appointment of Alma attorney Albert Fortino as a canvasser is declared official.

Fortino, a former Gratiot County Republican chairman, was appointed by Romney Tuesday to fill a vacancy left by the resignation of Carl Lindquist of Iron River from the four-member bipartisan board.

★ ★ ★

Romney said he felt the appointment of Fortino should be confirmed as soon as possible because of the important responsibility facing the canvassers in connection with the forthcoming recount of the vote on the new constitution.

Fortino's confirmation probably would be the only business to come up at the brief session, Romney said.

If so, it appeared that the lawmakers might meet for less than an hour.

Of the world's 14.17 million telephones in 1960, more than half were in the United States.

European Career Ahead for Opera Star Merrill

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Opera Star Robert Merrill agreed to be the fall guy and play my "20 Questions" celebrity interview game.

★ ★ ★

He was packing to sail for Europe for three months when we met in a midtown office . . . and I turned on the tape recorder.

WILSON

Q: Bob, what would be the highest pinnacle you could climb professionally?

A: To make a European career. Through my records, I'm sort of known everywhere. But people haven't seen me. I must go and sing for them in person.

Q: Which is the better commercial market?

Q: So why don't you stay in America and not worry about Europe? Bob's rich laugh, from down in the stomach, rang through the office.

A: It hasn't anything to do with money. If I wanted to sing in Las Vegas, I could make a great deal of money. But I've thrown that aside to launch a career in Europe.

Q. What's the most money an opera star can make? Bob shot me a suspicious glance.

★ ★ ★

A: You want me to tell you how much I earn? Is that it? O.K. I'd say, roughly, $60,000 to $75,000 a year.

Q: But isn't it true you don't need a yacht or such luxuries because you're an international celebrity and lots of people are delighted to invite you on their yachts?

A: Yes. And, anyway, I get seasick. Especially with martinis.

Q: Have you ever gone on stage just maybe half intoxicated?

A: Yes! Someone opened this wonderful bottle of 30-year-old scotch backstage and I just tasted it—I had just a little shot. And I walked out and blew my lines!

Britons Finish Polling Today

Mac's Conservatives Still Losing Ground

LONDON (UPI) —Britons go to the polls today to wind up a week of local elections which dealt a sharp blow to Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative party.

A total of 197 councilmen will be elected today. Observers believe that, by evening, the Conservatives will have lost a week's total of about 700 city council seats, most of them to the opposition Labor party.

The elections have not affected the makeup of Parliament, but they have been interpreted as an expression of widespread dissatisfaction with Macmillan's government.

Laborite Leader Harold Wilson told supporters in Southampton yesterday that the elections were "a clear notice to quit" for the government.

He said Macmillan was "living on borrowed time" while "Labor is riding high."

The biggest surprise of the local elections was the relatively poor showing of the Liberal party.

The Liberals, with only 7 seats in the 630-member Parliament, began a comeback last year with 30 per cent gains in their vote totals in special Parliamentary elections.

The party needed a good showing this week to maintain its momentum until the next general election.

That showing failed to materialize. The Liberals so far have picked up only 91 seats, far below their expectations.

Just South of Voorheis

Far more domestic makes and far fewer foreign makes are available to choose from. The American cars are a fraction smaller and considerably lighter in weight than in 1959. They carry much longer factory warranties, require much less frequent maintenance.

But one of the biggest surprises is price. On the whole, new car prices haven't changed. Used cars tend to be worth more — the average of all cars sold at used car auctions recently, as reported by Automotive News, was $164 higher than the average at this time in 1959.

This could mean less out-of-pocket expense to today's buyer, provided he picks the same make and model as he did four years ago. And in some instances even the base price of the new car is lower.

1963 MODEL CHEAPER

For example, a 1959 six cylinder Chevrolet Impala four door hardtop sedan with heater carried a factory sticker price of $2,744, plus state or local taxes and delivery charges. A 1963 model similarly equipped carries a sticker price of $2,732.

This is not an exception. A Plymouth Fury V8 is $29 less. A Ford Galaxie, now upgraded to a Galaxie 500, is only $10 more.

The May, 1959, buyer had a choice of two domestic compact cars — Rambler and Studebaker. Now there are 11. The 1960 model year brought the first of the Big Three's small cars, Falcon, Corvair and Valiant.

The Corvair was this country's first modern rear - engined car, and still is unique.

* * *

Next compact on the scene was Comet, from Lincoln-Mercury, in March, 1960. Then came the BOP's — the Buick Special, Oldsmobile F-85 and Pontiac Tempest — all of which started growing almost immediately.

By this coming fall they will have a 115 inch wheelbase, as large as the Chevrolet used to be. The Chevy II joined the compact parade at the start of the 1962 model year.

Chrysler Corp. introduced the Dodge Dart in the fall of 1959 in the same price and size range as the Plymouth. A year later came the Dodge Lancer, a compact carbon copy of the Valiant. For 1963 Dodge dropped the Lancer and converted the Dart to a compact.

INTERMEDIATE MODELS

Four other new cars have appeared on the market during these four years. Included were the so-called intermediate models from Ford, the Ford Fairlane and the Mercury Meteor, and two personal cars seeking a share of the lush Thunderbird market, the Buick Riviera and Studebaker Avanti.

But there were salesroom casualties, too. Ford gave up on the ill - fated Edsel in November, 1959. A year later Chrysler finally abandoned the DeSoto after years of rumors of its demise.

While the domestic offerings were expanding, just the reverse was true for the imports. The BIG import year was 1959 when 609,500 were sold here, representing 10 per cent of total sales. Last year's 339,000 amounted to about 4.9 per cent. Automotive News lists 36 makes in its 1963 import lists, many of them in minute quantities, against 48 makes in 1959.

* * *

At the start of 1959 there were 852,900 imported cars in operation in the United States of which 238,000 were Volkswagens. At the start of 1963 there were 2.4 million imports, 849,000 of them Volkswagens.

On Romney Plans

Timetable Shapes Up

LANSING (AP) — The timetable for Gov. George Romney's special fall session on fiscal reform and the new constitution is shaping up with Sept. 16 as the target date.

Tentative plans now being worked out call for a session of about two months, ending — as one legislator observed, "in time for the deer-hunting season."

Key Republican lawmakers have been invited to meet with the governor May 27 to discuss plans for fiscal and tax reform.

"This meeting will be concerned with the things to be taken up in the fall session," a Romney aide said.

Among those to attend the meeting are members of a special interim committee appointed yesterday by House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, to develop the fiscal and tax reform program.

Already at work is a similar committee developing a list of recommendations for legislation to implement the new constitution when it goes into effect Jan. 1.

The Fiscal Reform Committee, set up by House resolution, includes the 13 members of the House General Taxation Committee headed by Rep. James Folks, R-Horton, nine Republicans and four Democrats.

NAMES MEMBERS

As ex-officio members, Green named himself, Speaker Pro Tem Wilfred Bassett, R-Jackson, House Minority Leader Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, and Assistant Minority Leader Albert Horrigan, D-Flint.

The resolution called for the committee to "report its findings and recommendations to the 1964 legislature," making no mention of the special fall session.

But Robert Danhof, Romney's director of legislative affairs said this was an apparent error that can be corrected without difficulty.

"The intent is for this committee to deliver its findings to the special session," he said.

Under the special session timetable, lawmakers would gather here on a Monday (Sept. 16) and meet in joint session the next day to hear the governor's message.

The next two days would then be used for the introduction of bills.

Bob Hope Welcomes Weekly TV Challenge

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—"I look at it this way," said Bob Hope over a 3:30 p.m. breakfast of bacon, toast and marmalade. "I've been on television for 13 years doing the same thing. It's time I had a change."

THOMAS

He was talking about his reasons for undertaking a weekly Bob Hope Show next season — six of his regular variety shows, two "book" shows musicals or comedies with plot, and the rest an anthology which he would host.

During his 13 years of specials, Hope has been defeated in the ratings only once (this season by the upstart "Beverly Hillbillies"). So why would he want to venture into the weekly rat race?

The answer would seem to be connected with Hope's fondness for cool, green cash.

'NEW CHALLENGER'

"No, it doesn't make that much difference," he corrected. "I'm doing it mainly for myself—to give me a new challenge, a new dimension. It puts me into a different field, and I think I can do some good there.

"I'm really serious about getting some shows of quality in the anthologies we're going to do. There is a lot of talent around and I want to use it. Since this will be the Bob Hope Show, I'll have a hand in determining what will be on it. I want it to be good."

He is already wrestling with approaches to his hosting duties.

"A lot of my introductions will be straight," he commented. "I'm trying to get the right formula. I think the way Dick Powell introduced his show was about the best it has been done."

Romney Proclaims Sunday Mother's Day

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney has proclaimed Sunday as Mother's Day in Michigan, urging all citizens to dramatically demonstrate their everlasting love for their mothers.

"The warm and tender years are relived on Mother's Day as we recall memories of our mothers and all they have done to make our lives more pleasant," the governor said.

FIREPLACE NICHE HORSE — Throughout the Lakos' Oxbow Lake home, there are several points of interest. Here, a magnificent iron horse stands poised for action. Live growing ivy has made its way up the stone wall from the planter beside Lakos' private den. At right, a light dramatizes the area.

Personality Tints Home

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Color, personality and downright comfort is the atmosphere the Louis Lakos have created in their White Lake Township home on Oxbow Lake.

In some areas, the colors are flamboyant, with gold and black decor. In others, there are restful beige, rose and brown tones. Whatever the hues, it reflects the individuality of the owners.

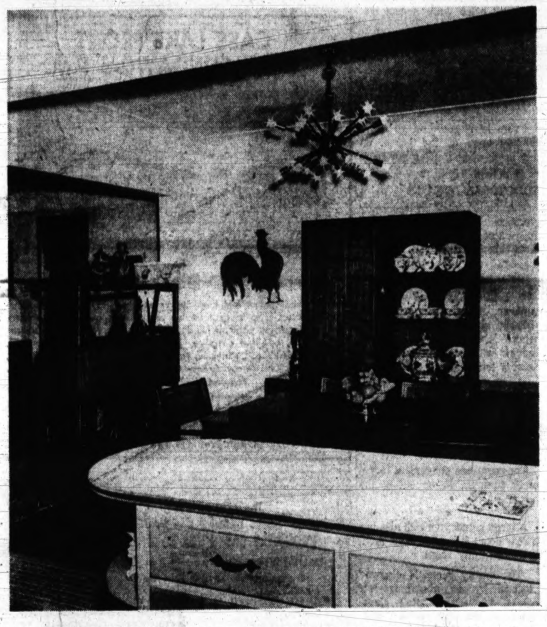
Where the master bedroom tends toward the conventional, there is a definite French Provencial air in the gold and white guest room facing the lake.

Wood cabinets in the efficient kitchen have been sparked up with a pink stove and refrigerator, and accented with gray formica tops. The gray is picked up again in the tiled flooring.

Many treasures imported from Italy are scattered throughout the home, and the cast iron console set in the hall to the three bedrooms is especially eye-catching.

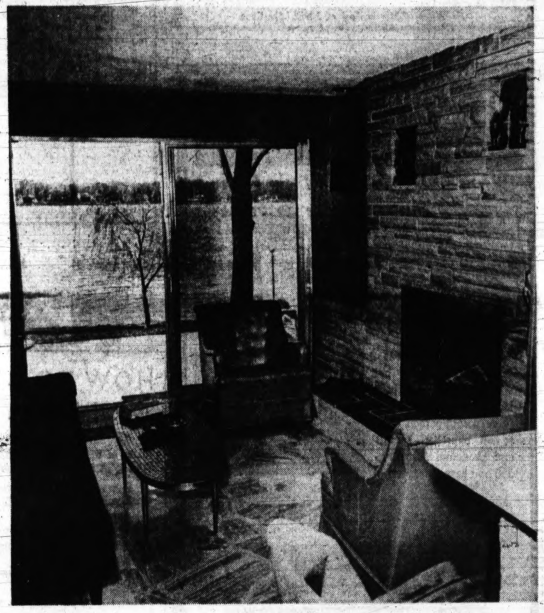
Pontiac Press Photos by Edward E. Noble

LAKESIDE VIEW—The Lakos' lawn slopes down to the water's edge from the house on Hilltop in White Lake Township. After the house was built, which wasn't very long ago, the couple decided to add the glassed-in area which was formerly a porch. The wing at right is Lakos' private den.



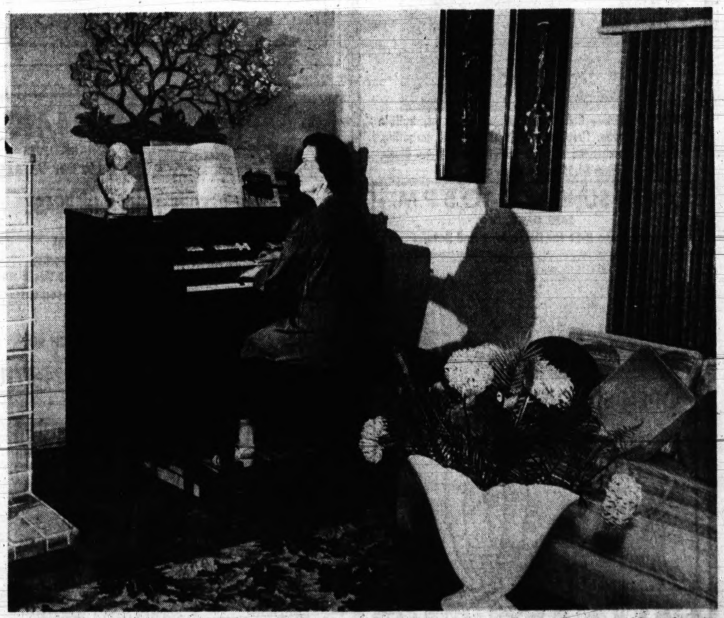
SEE-THROUGH DINING—There is a spacious feeling created between the kitchen and dining room of the Lakes' eight-room brick house. The contemporary walnut furniture makes itself right at home next to the modern streamlined kitchen. In fact, you can see beyond the dining area through an open-shelved cabinet that houses brilliant colored glass.

HALL DECORATION—Two small angels seem to be holding the antique commode up to the wall in the Lakos' main hall. Gold, white and black filigree surrounds the wall mirror, and the small stool adds just the right tough to the decor. The above two pieces are Italian imports, and the stool was purchased locally.



'HIS' DEN — Two tangerine-colored swivel chairs flank the big stone fireplace in Lakos' sitting room. A ceramic-tiled coffee table is within easy reach of guests sitting on the black Danish modern sofa. The multicolored slate hearth is raised one foot from the unique terazzo floor. This strictly man's room opens up onto a terrace through sliding glass doors.

NEW PORCH AREA—When the Lakes tire of the contemporary feeling inside their fairly new home, they can get into the Early American atmosphere by wandering out onto the newly added living room porch. Here, multicolored slate flooring blends with satiny woods, and brown and yellow tones. Facing the lake are windows from one end of this 20-foot-long room to the other.



LOVES MUSIC—Mrs. Lakos enjoys sitting down at her large electric organ at the end of the living room, and playing quietly for friends or just for her own amusement. Wall decorations and other decorative pieces reflect her avid love of music. The beige walls blend together with the sofa of the same color and flowered carpeting.

Spring Signals Moving Time

The spring season signals the start of America's annual real-life game of musical chairs. Some 10 million American families will move from one home to another in 1963, the majority of them moving during the period May 1st to Oct. 15th.

* * *

Once the die is cast—the decision is made to move — the toughest part of moving is the packing that has to be done.

* * *

Because the job of packing is often such an enormous one, because there is so much to do and so little time in which to do it, the householder today more than ever is turning the entire packing job over to the professional mover.

* * *

All major local and long-distance moving organizations provide complete packing services as part of their over-all moving service.

* * *

It costs extra, but the additional expense is worth it in terms of work saved and peace of mind.

Easy-to-Sell Home Is 'Best Bargain'

If you are shopping for a home, it is important to remember that the "best bargain" is usually the one that would be easiest to sell if it became necessary to do so, suggests the Institute of Home Designers.

* * *

Quoting the old adage that "the house easiest sold is the one most intelligently bought," it points out that once you buy a home you also become a potential seller. It says that the average home-buyer owns his home for less than 10 years.

* * *

Within that time, he either moves to a different community; he needs either a larger house or a smaller one; or his family has been disturbed by death or other factors.

Overcrowding in House Fault of Poor Planning

Overcrowding isn't an uncommon problem for a large family, but sometimes it's more the fault of poor planning than lack of space.

* * *

Whenever there's only one route to the back yard, say, or to the garage or the lavatory, the result is jammed hallways, worn spots on the floor and similar telltale signs of congestion and poor traffic flow.

When this happens even a large home feels overcrowded.

Today's house of the week contains up to five bedrooms in only 1,572 square feet of ground cover, the habitable area of the living and bedroom levels.

Because of its split-level design, there's an extra 707 square feet on the family room level not counting the two-car garage.

With so much house in such a relatively small area you'd think it would be crowded.

* * *

On the contrary, the space is so well laid out there is complete freedom of movement between rooms, from one area of activity to another, and from indoors to outdoors.

In fact there are no less than nine exterior entrances not counting the doors from the garage to the front and rear porches.

* * *

The house, design J-74 in the series, is the product of architect Rudolph A. Matern.

It's exterior has crisp, handsome lines with white brick and wide horizontal siding. Pierced brick walls accent the main entrance.

Its excellent circulation features begin with the foyer — an 11 foot by 13 foot area so spacious Matern rightly labels it a "reception room."

* * *

From here you can go direct to any area of the house, on any level, without using any room as a passageway.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS

The main entry is especially glamorous with a covered porch and fluted glass sidelights on both sides of the flush front entrance.

The reception foyer is tiled, for both beauty and ease of upkeep, is equipped with two nearby closets for wraps, and there is an adjoining powder room with double lavatories and a long vanity.

Actually the powder room is a full bath, complete with stall shower, which makes the extra grade-level room ideal either for a bedroom or professional office.

* * *

The room has convenient movement through, in or out of the house.

* * *

A large laundry (which also has a rear door) is between this room and the family room.

The family room is characterized by an abundance of glass, including sliding glass doors to the rear terrace, and has a dramatic balcony overlooking the breakfast area and kitchen.

The living room-dining room-kitchen level is five steps up from the foyer.

An upper rear terrace connects to a covered side porch, and all three rooms — living room, dining room and kitchen —have sliding glass exterior doors.

The dining room also has another door, leading to the wide section of the covered porch for outside dining convenience.

* * *

Any housewife will appreciate the efficient layout of the kitchen. There will be no wasted steps here, and note that the breakfast area is not in the way of the work zone.

Upstairs, there are three good sized bedrooms across the front and a master bedroom suite in the rear.

'Cooling With Gas' Gains in Popularity

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Cooking with gas" is a popular way of describing progress, but soon, according to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association proudly announces, it may also be "cooling with gas."

* * *

Gas cooling systems are catching on fast among builders and homeowners, the association said.

* * *

Utility companies report many residential and commercial installations and a gas company in Hartford, Conn., has become the first to inaugurate a "district" air conditioning service by selling heating and cooling through a network of underground pipes.

Components Popular in Quick Construction

Since one of every three new housing units in 1963 is expected to be an apartment, builders are concentrating on new and better ways of putting up these multi-family adobes.

★ ★ ★

They're also trying to duplicate some of the pleasing aspects of environment that distinguish a single-family home.

With new systems of "Components" construction, they're making noteworthy progress in both directions.

"Components" are preassembled elements which permit construction by the part rather than the piece. Not only do they generate economy by speeding up the work, but they also provide important advantages in other areas.

For example, giant roof trusses of pine are making their debut in the apartment field. The contours of these large wood members form a beautifully sloped roof at remarkably low cost.

The roof is also so strong that fewer partitions are needed in the apartments below.

As a result, the floor plan of each apartment can be simplified for the sake of larger rooms, more storage areas and greater freedom of vision and movement.

★ ★ ★

These giant new components are valuable in patio-plan style apartments—a method of design previously popularized in single-family homes.

With this method, all apartments are grouped around a centrally located yard, which contains play area and usually a swimming pool.

When large window walls are located adjacent to the central area, all apartments have a beautiful outdoor extension.

The truss component system gives the building the strength necessary for the inclusion of window-type walls.

Plan Carefully for Teen Room

Need Plenty of Light for the Youngsters

Lucky is the teen-ager who has a room of his own and doubly lucky is the one whose parents have furnished the room to meet his needs.

You don't have to spend a fortune to make your teen-ager happy, but you should plan his room carefully, advises Eleanor Kandel, a noted home furnishings specialist.

First, there should be plenty of glare-free light available for those afternoons and evenings of homework. Modern aluminum venetian blinds provide maximum daylight while keeping out glare. They can be closed tight for privacy when night-time comes.

The desk light, Mrs. Kandel adds, should cover a wide surface as teen-agers are not ones to sit still. There should be plenty of light over the bed and floor areas — two favorite study locations.

Miss teen-ager will go for some touches of glamour here and there, such as a make-up table, a canopy bed or a custom venetian finished in a textured pattern.

For master teen-ager, a place to store his various sporting goods and a hobby work bench might be just the ticket.

Teen-agers of either sex could use a file cabinet to keep school papers and research materials in order.

As for furniture, simple and sturdy is the byword here, Mrs. Kandel says, with the emphasis on plastic surfaces that are dent-free and easy to clean.

Retail lumber dealers can identify wood species with strong natural nail-holding ability. From this nail-gripping standpoint, it's equally important to use lumber that's properly seasoned and pre-shrunk.

Kegs, cans and scraps may be used to make bird houses that blend into a natural setting. Pattern 342, which gives directions for a variety of types is 35 cents. This pattern also is in the Homes for Birds Packet No. 75 with many more modern designs —all for $1. Write The Pontiac Press.

Let Employer Help Moving

If you work for a large company with branches throughout the country, the day may not be far off when you may be transferred to a new job in a new location.

The company move, a phenomenon of the '50's, bids to become even more widespread in the '60's as plant and office diversification continues to increase.

While advance planning is a must in all moves, it is especially important when your company moves you to take advantage of all the assistance your firm provides.

Mortgage Funds Grow; Buyers More Particular

There are two aspects to the housing market that seem to be common to all regions and to all cities: — The strongest prop to housing around the country is an abundance of mortgage money.

★ ★ ★

Despite improvement in consumer confidence, potential buyers and renters are proving extremely finicky.

Business Leaders to Decide

Consider Tax Cut Campaign

By STERLING F. GREEN

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—The Business Committee for Tax Reduction in 1963 meets here today to consider raising more money to beat the drums for a tax cut.

★ ★ ★

The committee, organized of Ford Motor Co., is inviting some 1,500 businessmen to enroll and contribute up to $1,000 each.

A spokesman said the group's 10-member executive committee would decide whether to enlarge its budget, set tentatively at $120,000, in order to mount a broader promotion effort built mainly around newspaper and magazine advertising.

BETWEEN SESSIONS

The meeting was scheduled between sessions of the Business Council, the organization of 165 corporation heads and financial leaders which is winding up a closed two-day session here.

There is no official link between the Ford group and the Business Council, a continuing organization which offers advisory and research assistance to federal agencies without taking any formal position on public issues.

★ ★ ★

But it was clear that a great majority of council members support the goal of the Ford group—enactment this year of a $10-billion tax cut as a stimulus to economic growth.

Both Ford and his cochairman, Stuart T. Saunders, president of the Norfolk & Western Railroad, are members of the Business Council, and at least 20 prominent members of the latter group have joined the tax reduction committee.

These include Council Chairman Frederick R. Kappel, board chairman of American Telephone & Telegraph Co., and his predecessor as council chairman, Roger M. Blough, board chairman of United States Steel Corp.

At its closing dinner session tonight, the Business Council will get its first formal introduction to a dark horse possibility for the Republican presidential nomination, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvani.

★ ★ ★

Earlier today, the council hears from Gen. Lucius D. Clay, senior partner of the Lehman Brothers investment banking house and special presidential adviser on foreign aid, and Christian A. Herter, President Kennedy's special envoy for trade negotiations.

Another invited guest of the council—whose name did not appear on the formal agenda of the council's closed meetings — was John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

REPORTS UPTURN

A marked upturn in the business outlook since the council's last meeting in October was reported Friday by W.B. Murphy, president of the Campbell Soup Co. and chairman of the council's committee on the domestic economy.

Murphy told reporters that the council's panel of some 30 consulting economists, who six months ago forecast that the business recovery would flatten out this spring, now foresee continued gains.

U Thant Sets Trip to New York

LONDON (UPI) — U.N. Secretary General U Thant planned to fly back to New York today, ending a week of official visits to Communist nations and a day of talks here on United Nations financing.

★ ★ ★

Thant, whose predecessor Dag Hammarskjold was killed in an airplane crash, narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday when an Al Italia airliner bringing him to London burst a tire on landing.

No one was hurt and the secretary general said there was "no panic."

But the plane halted a quarter of a mile from the main passenger building and a bus was driven out to pick up the travelers.

★ ★ ★

Thant flew here via Rome after a three-day official visit to Yugoslavia which included a day of talks with President Joseip Broz Tito.

Previously he spent four days on an official visit to Romania.

Last night, Thant met with British Foreign Secretary Lord Home for talks on two major subjects:

★ ★ ★

—The financing of the U.N.'s expensive peace-keeping operations, especially in the Congo and Suez.

—U.N. criticism of British colonial policy in Africa and Aden.

'Laos Neutrals Get U.S. Arms'

VIENTIANE (UPI) — Neutralist Laotian forces on the Communist - dominated Plain of Jars are being supplied with American weapons at the request of coalition Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma, informed sources said today.

The disclosure came as Souvanna appealed to the nations that signed the Geneva accords to live up to the agreement. The nine - month old accords halted the Laotian civil war, at least temporarily, and "guaranteed" the new neutralist coalition government.

"I am appealing to signatory nations of the Geneva accords not to let what was described . . . as a model of international settlements become a piece of paper without meaning or future," Souvanna said.

He received strong backing from U.S. Ambassador Leonard Unger. "The United States has no intention of stepping aside and allowing enemies of this government to thwart the Geneva accords," Unger warned.

For Cooper's Launching

Final Preparations Begin

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr. began his final 72-hour preparation today for his scheduled rendezvous with the stars next Tuesday.

He moved into the pilots' "ready room" at Cape Canaveral's Hangar S, where five previous U.S. astronauts spent their last days before their flights. Cooper will not be confined to Hangar S, but will spend much of his time there resting and studying the flight plan.

He started a low-residue diet designed to reduce excretion during the planned 34-hour mission in which he is to circle the globe 22 times. The diet, laced with ample protein, includes meat, rice, eggs, sugar, fruit juices, coffee and tea.

On Cooper's agenda today were a series of meetings to review the mission and discuss status of the Atlas booster rocket, the "Faith 7" spacecraft, the worldwide tracking network, weather and other flight phases.

Doctors were to make several medical checks in the final three days to obtain baseline data for comparison with information to be radioed during the flight.

Man's ability to perform during prolonged exposure to space weightlessness is a main objective of the flight and medical information therefore will be of primary concern.

Sunday the tracking network will be given a thorough communications checkout, with the possibility that Cooper's backup pilot, Alan Shepard, will sit in the spacecraft to test the control systems.

THOROUGH CHECK

The capsule was given a thorough wringing out Friday during a simulated countdown and launching exercise. Cooper was at the controls during the mock mission when hydrogen peroxide fuel was pumped into the fuel tanks and lines. He practiced with the manual steering system and reported everything worked fine.

Earlier, Cooper took an exercise run along a sandy Canaveral beach and then made a 90-minute spin in an F102 jet plane, one of four the Mercury astronauts use to maintain flight proficiency.

★ ★ ★

Cooper's planned flight is nearly four times longer than the six-orbit trip made last October by astronaut Walter Schirra. But it will fall far short of the 64- and 48-orbit journeys made by two Russian cosmonauts who circled the globe simultaneously last August.

Bid Rejected for Signs

Bids on almost eight miles of traffic signs for I-696 in Oakland County were among those rejected by the State Highway Department yesterday because they were over the estimated cost.

The signs were slated to be erected near Farmington at an estimated cost of $40,000.

Bids on two construction projects in Bay and Gogebic-Ontonagon counties were also rejected.

Bad Weather Stalls Aviatrix in Pacific

HONOLULU (UPI) —Bad weather over the Fiji Islands today prevented Mrs. Betty Miller from attempting the final leg of her solo flight across the Pacific.

The Federal Aviation Agency here said yesterday it had learned that Mrs. Miller would be delayed for at least two days from taking off Brisbane, Australia.

On Soviet Writers

Pravda Publishes Attack

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda today published an attack on the Soviet Union's rebellious writers by the head of the powerful Young Communist League.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Communist party organ quoted a stinging rebuke delivered by league chief Sergei Pavlov at a young writer's meeting.

Pavlov, bitter critic of the Western-inspired school of writers and artists, praised authors who stuck to the party line.

Pavlov called off the names of little-known authors whose writing apparently is a sideline to their work as nurse's helpers, physicists, geologists, bricklayers and collective farmers.

★ ★ ★

"Perhaps, the names of these and other genuinely talented and genuinely young authors have not flashed from the covers of "Der Stern," "Life," or "L' Express," nor have they made giddy tours of Europe and America," he said sarcastically.

TRIPS TO WEST

Pavlov was referring to the publication abroad of some outstanding young Soviet writers and their trips to the West.

Chief target of this criticism, first leveled by Premier Khrushchev, is popular young poet Yevgeny Yevtushenko, whose memoirs criticizing facets of the Soviet cultural scene were recently published in the West.

Khrushchev also reproached Yevtushenko and other writers for talking too freely to Western newsmen on their trips abroad.

Pavlov named Yevtushenko, whom he has publicly attacked several times in recent weeks, and the poets Andrei Voznesensky and Bulat Okudzhava.

"We are shamed by their posing and self-love," Pavlov said. "And soon talent gives way to boasting, and the desire to show off on the covers of foreign publications leads to opposition, grumbling, lecturing . . ."

He accused these writers of venturing out of the field of art to make researches in the field of politics, an area reserved for the Communist party in this country.

Romney OKs Speed Rule on Freeways

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney yesterday signed into law measures which provide for a 45 miles per hour minimum speed and a uniform day-and-night maximum speed of 70 miles per hour on the state's freeways.

★ ★ ★

Among other bills made law were these:

● To allow Probate Courts to retain jurisdiction over a juvenile after his 17th birthday if the petition and offense were committed before the juvenile reached 17. Probate Courts now lose jurisdiction when the juvenile turns 17.

● To make sure that persons attending a state institution shall not be charged any fee in place of tuition — the present practice at Michigan State University and University of Michigan — if they are attending under an act now in effect which provides that children of a veteran who was killed in action or died from injuries received, or is totally disabled, shall attend any of the state institutions tuition free.

★ ★ ★

● To change certain rules for state banks to make them more competitive with national banks, including increasing the time for repayment of industrial loans from 36 to 60 months to meet FHA limits.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

JACOBY

South's four spade bid is not recommended as a steady diet for good bidders. Even though his partner has passed to start, there is no reason to abandon the idea of a slam. In fact, it is possible for North to have the right cards for a grand slam.

This time the four spade bid worked pretty well. No one would bid against it.

West opened the king of hearts. South ruffed and promptly led the king of spades. West took his ace and South had no way to avoid losing two more spades and a club and he was down one.

South complained bitterly about his bad luck and the result was bad luck, but it was bad management as well.

South had a simple safety play at his disposal that would have guarded against the bad break he ran into. He should have led a low spade at trick two!

This play had practically nothing to lose. No matter how spades split he would have to lose at least two trump tricks and thus he could have afforded the immediate luxury of the low card lead.

Is This How JFK Cut His Finger?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dining at the White House is often a grand and formal affair—but not when President Kennedy is chief cook and butler.

The President, the Washington Post reported yesterday not only raids the breadbox but often dismisses the servants early when Mrs. Kennedy is away and invites in old friends to share dinner left in warming containers.

★ ★ ★

One couple invited on short notice to such an affair, the Post said, arrived in black tie attire, ready for a candlelight supper in the elegance of Mrs. Kennedy's early 19th century dining room.

Instead of a butler, the President served. He ladled out the soup while in shirtsleeves with a tea towel wrapped around his wrist.

'Good' Time for Tigers, 14-0

Regan Pitches Three-Hitter Against Tribe

McAuliffe Hits Homer With Bases Loaded; Rocky, Phil Connect

DETROIT (AP) — "Good hitting. Good pitching. Can I ask for anything else?"

The Tigers played a perfect ball game last night, in manager Bob Scheffing's opinion.

Phil Regan hurled a three-hitter and the Tigers continued their surge back from their slump with a 14-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

The Tigers chilled the Indians with their rediscovered power in Detroit's windy 36-degree weather. They cracked three homers and now have seven in their last two games.

Since snapping out of their tailspin Sunday, the Tigers have won four of five, the last three in a row. They're still in eighth place, but lo and behold they're only 1½ games behind the Yankees.

It was quite a night for Regan, who breezed through frigid weather like an Eskimo.

The right hander from Wayland hit his first major league homer and pitched his first major league shutout.

"I never had a better game," said Regan, "I guess the shutout and the win were bigger to me than my first home run."

Regan cut his earned run average to 2.03, lowest of any Detroit starter, and control of his curve gets the credit.

"Before this year I always had a tough time getting it over," he said. "So I was afraid to throw it in a game. I threw a lot of them to the left-handed Cleveland batters and my control was good."

Regan walked only one Indian. He had a one-hitter with one out in the ninth and got the last two outs with the bases full to preserve his shutout.

The Tigers had their hottest-hitting game in the coldest weather of the season. Dick McAuliffe drove in six runs, four on a bases-loaded homer in the third.

Rocky Colavito homered off loser Gary Bell in the second in starting the Detroit onslaught. The Tigers scored five times in the fourth and upped their lead to 11-0. Regan started the big inning with his homer.

Al Kaline had three RBI and three singles in boosting his average to .432, second best in the American League. Kaline is tops with 38 hits and is tied for first in RBI with 21.

John Romano's single to left in the fourth was the only hit off Regan until the ninth. He'd retired 14 straight batters before Willie Kirkland's pinch double with one away in the ninth. A hit batsman and Romao's single filled the bases before Regan worked out of the jam.

"The cold didn't bother me at all," said Regan. "In fact, in the last three innings I was sweating. Between innings I kept my hand warm by wrapping a towel around it and I used a hot water bottle some."

The Tigers meet the Indians again today with Hank Aguirre (3-3) facing Cleveland's Dick Donovan (2-2).

Micki King of Pontiac was named by the AAU to the All-America Women's Water Polo team. Playing goalie for the Ann Arbor Swim Club which won the national title at Patton Pool recently, Miss King took part in the Olympic swim trials as a diver in 1960 while a student at Pontiac Central.

Baseball Yardstick Fits

DETROIT (UPI) — A major league baseball player is supposed to reach his peak in his late 20's and that yardstick seems to be true for Al Kaline.

The Detroit Tigers' brilliant 28-year-old outfielder, who was off to a great start last year until he was sidelined by a broken collarbone, is off to another flying start this year.

Showing no ill effects from that injury, Kaline is second in the American League batting standings with a .342 batting average. Kansas City's Wayne Causey leads with a .354 mark.

In the runs-batted-in column, Kaline is tied for first place with 21.

Kaline also has five homers including two game-winning blows.

★ ★ ★

Kaline hasn't won the American League batting crown since he became the youngest player ever to turn the trick in 1955 with a .340 mark. But he has a .308 lifetime average and that's second only to Mickey Mantle's .309 mark among the active players in the league.

HOT CORNER — New York Yankee third baseman Clete Boyer makes the long reach for a line drive by Al Smith of the Baltimore Orioles in the 4th inning of their game at Baltimore last night. Boyer made the play but the Orioles won the game, 6-3, dealing the Yankees their 4th straight defeat and putting their record at 12-12 for the season and 5th place in the American League race.

Hurrying Along on Top AL

Overtime Taboo for Chisox

By The Associated Press

It's great working for the Chicago White Sox. You can't beat the hours.

Of course, if things keep up like this the boys will have to play an extra week in October. That would be for the World Series. But you can't beat the money, there.

The Sox took only 112 minutes Friday night to polish off the Los Angeles Angels 2-0, with Juan Pizarro pitching a three-hitter and driving in both runs, one with a homer.

At that, it was one minute longer than the Sox took the night before to trim the New York Yankees by the same score. They have now won five straight games, during which they have allowed the opposition five runs, and are a full game in front in the American League.

YANKS LOSE

The Baltimore Orioles kept pace in second place by whipping the Yankees 6-3. It was the fourth straight loss for the world champions.

Phil Regan threw a three-hitter for the Detroit Tigers, who bombed the Cleveland Indians 14-0, and Camilo Pascual did the same job for the Minnesota Twins over the Kansas City Athletics, 2-0. The Boston Red Sox dropped the Washington Senators 6-3.

Pizarro, the 26-year-old southpaw, struck out six Angels and walked only one as he gained his second victory. He homered in the third inning and batted home the insurance run in the fifth with a single, after catcher J. C. Martin had tripled.

Ken McBride, who had never lost to his old Sox mates, was the loser.

SOX HOMERS

Luis Aparicio and Al Smith slugged solo homers off Yankee starter Whitey Ford, and Baltimore starter Mike McCormick was nursing a two-run lead when his arm stiffened in the eighth inning. Relief pitcher Dick Hall came in just before rain had held up play for 35 minutes, and eventually gave up a two-run single to Clete Boyer that tied the score.

The Orioles came right back with three runs off Yankee reliever Hal Reniff in the eighth, on two walks, Jackie Brandt's run-producing double and John Orsino's two-run single.

Pascual, who is the only thing keeping the cellar Twins from dropping completely out of sight, pitched his fourth straight complete game for his fourth victory in a row. It was the A's fifth straight defeat, and only the third triumph for the Twins in their last 10—all of them by Pascual.

★ ★ ★

Rookie Jay Ward doubled home both runs for the Twins in the second inning, after Jimmie Hall doubled and Bernie Allen walked. Orlando Pena, who also allowed only three hits in the seven innings he worked, was the loser.

Frank Malzone, shifted to the cleanup spot in the Red Sox batting order, responded with three hits, including a two-run double that broke a 3-3 tie against the Senators in the eighth. Washington's Tom Cheney suffered his second loss against four victories despite the fact he pitched a three-hitter and struck out 11 in the 7 1-3 innings he worked. Malzone's double came off reliever Ron Kline.

Larry Osborne's sixth homer and singles by Cheney and Chuck Hinton drove in the Washington runs.

Final Round for Amateurs

Youthful Links Pair Clashing for Crown

PHOENIX (AP) — Two young amateurs from opposite ends of the nation fought their way into the final round of the Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament Friday.

★ ★ ★

George Archer, 23-year-old San Francisco city champion, and Dave Marad, 19-year-old Houston freshman from Quincy, Mass., will clash in the 36-hold final Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Both have been blistering the par 71 Phoenix Country Club course in their campaigns for the title.

★ ★ ★

Archer, 11 under par for 34 holes before his afternoon match Friday, downed Jim Grant of the University of Houston 5 and 4 in the morning round. In the afternoon, Archer took a quick lead, then coasted to a 4 and 3 victory over Dr. Paul Travis of La Habre, Calif.

★ ★ ★

Travis entered the semifinals with a 2 up win over Jim Colbert of Kansas City, Mo.

Marad took a 2 and 1 victory over Hank Edwards of Oklahoma City, then edged 18-year-old Ken Fulton of Winnipeg, Canada, 1 up.

Stand Mute in HP Case

HAZEL PARK (UPI) — Five gate cashiers from Hazel Park Raceway stood mute yesterday as they were arraigned in Hazel Park justice court on charges of fraud and embezzlement.

The five were arrested after 200 passes stolen at the racetrack began showing up at the admission gates. Redford state police post detectives used marked money Thursday night to pay for admission to the track and later recovered the money from the cashiers.

Milford Golfers Score Over Holly, 221-228

Milford's strong Wayne - Oakland League golf team added Holly to its list of victims with a 211-228 victory yesterday at Highland Hills.

John Schoate was medalist with 40, followed by Larry Holy 42, Adrian Campbell 42, Bill McCormick 43 and Tim Barnes 44. Dave Montgomery had 42 and Jim Grady 44 for Holly. Milford stands 13-2 for the season and 11 - 2 in the Wayne Oakland League.

Nicklaus Threatening to Nab Colonial Lead

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The massive shadow of Jack Nicklaus hovered over the field today as Julius Boros led the golfing elite into the third round of the Colonial National Invitation Tournament.

★ ★ ★

Boros, with a 4-under-par 66, held a two-shot lead over Doug Sanders as the field of 65 moved 18 steps closer to division of the $60,000 jackpot.

★ ★ ★

Boros posted a 71-66—137 at the halfway point Friday while Sanders, the leader after the first round, drifted to a 72 for a 36-hole total of 139.

FIVE CLOSE BEHIND

Trailing Sanders by one stroke were Nicklaus, Bobby Nichols, Bruce Crampton and Tony Lema, who all carved one or more shots from the 7,021-yard par 70 Colonial course.

★ ★ ★

The presence of Nicklaus among the leaders was uppermost in the minds of the front-runners.

"What did Ohio Fats shoot today" Sanders asked.

Told that Nicklaus, a 205-pounder from Columbus, Ohio, playing out of Tucson, Ariz., had fired a 69, Sanders quipped:

"Several weeks ago it was (Arnold) Palmer and now its Baby Beef.

★ ★ ★

"He says he's gonna take off in a coupla weeks and go home and count his cash."

★ ★ ★

Nicklaus, 23, came to the Colonial with three current tournament titles, including the Masters, in his trophy case.

LEADING CRANE — Dick Mosher has been a leading performer as Cranbrook has built an 8-2 baseball record this season. He is the leading hitter and has pitched several low-hit games for the Cranes.

Prep Nines Awaiting Important Loop Games

Despite the efforts of the weatherman to make a shambles out of the prep baseball schedules, important games loom for area teams today and Monday.

With Friday's schedule rained out, the teams are looking to their next outings. Cranbrook does not have long to wait.

The Cranes have a first place showdown with Nichols School in the Interstate Preparatory School race this morning. Both have 2-9 marks entering the game.

Cranbrook, 8-2 overall, will meet Birmingham Seaholm Monday in a non-league contest. Also on Monday's docket are contests in the Oakland A and Wayne-Oakland Leagues.

W-O CLASHES

Bloomfield Hills will visit West Bloomfield as the Barons hope to move ahead of other W-O contenders. Northville, tied with the Hills squad, will travel to last place Clarenceville.

Only a half-game behind and hoping to stay with the leaders is Clarkston which will meet Holly. Milford, too, has strong pennant designs and can stay in the race with a victory at Brighton.

The Oakland A race will have a meeting between Clawson and Madison Monday, and also Lake Orion and Avondale. Clawson has won all three of its loop starts behind the stingy pitching of Paul Kedrow.

He'll probably be on the mound at Madison since the Eagles are second in the race and must win to halt a Trojan runaway.

Lake Orion outslugged Avondale, 13-9, in an earlier meeting and Monday's clash could be another hard fought one. The two teams rest in the middle of the O-A pack with break-even logs, 3-3.

The Tri-County contests will see Rochester visit Kettering and Romeo travel to Lapeer. The Falcons whipped Kettering, 6-1, at home this season; and Romeo bombed Lapeer's Panthers, 11-2. The Bulldogs hold a one-game advantage over Rochester in the race.

Indian Phone No Do, Need-um Smoke Signals

DETROIT (AP)—The Cleveland Indians have become a vanishing breed and Manager Birdie Tebbetts believes smoke signals would do more for togetherness on his club than the hotel phone system.

For the second time in a week, the Indians made a trip Friday minus two players. Pitcher Mudcat Grant and outfielder Ellis Burton missed the team plane from Washington to Detroit.

★ ★ ★

They rejoined the club later, flying here at their own expense, and were given fines believed to be $150.

"The fines were automatic," said Tebbetts.

"They were victims of a new era in phones. The new phone system in our hotel wasn't connected directly to the switchboard, but works on a dial system. So when a phone is off the hook, nobody downstairs knows it."

Grant explained he asked the operator at the Indians' Washington hotel for a wakeup call to his and Burton's room at 7 o'clock Friday morning.

"I got a late call — about 2:30 in the morning," Grant said, "and when I put the phone back on the receiver the cord was tangled up in it and the phone was left off the hook all night. That's why the switchboard couldn't call and wake us."

★ ★ ★

Burton and outfielder Gene Green missed the Indians' plane from Los Angeles to Washington earlier in the week and were fined a reported $150.

★ ★ ★

Green jumped the club temporarily after the Indians didn't trade him to the Los Angeles Angels. He was tired of his pinchhitting role with Cleveland, but later relented after a meeting in Washington.

'Presume' Narcotics Caused Death

Lipscomb Was Leader

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — Buzz Nutter, captain and offensive center of the Pittsburgh Steelers, said Friday Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb was a "real team leader on defense in addition to being a fine player."

Nutter and Lipscomb had been National Football League teammates since 1956, starting with the Baltimore Colts.

★ ★ ★

Nutter said the death of Lipscomb "was a great personal loss," adding, "We've been together for seven years and were close friends."

★ ★ ★

"Big Daddy was a great football player," said Nutter. "He'll be awfully hard to replace."

Nutter said the Steelers were "planning on winning the Eastern championship next year and Big Daddy was a big factor in our reasoning. He had a great year last year when the only thing that kept us from winning was a rash of injuries."

NARCOTICS APPARENT

Lipscomb apparently was the victim of an overdose of narcotics.

The hulking, fun-loving defensive tackle for the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League was found unconscious in a West Baltimore apartment early Friday following a night on the town. He was dead on arrival at Lutheran Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Russell S. Fisher, chief medical examiner for Baltimore, said the "presumption is that this man is dead as a result of an overdose of narcotics, and by that we mean heroin, possibly accidentally injected."

Fisher said there were at least three needle marks above veins on both elbows of the 34-year-old Negro athlete. A homemade syringe was found near his body.

Lipscomb's companion of the night, Timothy Black, 25, in whose apartment Lipscomb was found, was held for investigation.

CALLED AMBULANCE

Black told police he and Big Daddy took a ride in Lipscomb's new yellow Cadillac convertible about midnight, took two girls drinking, then returned to Black's apartment. Black said he went to a nearby lunch room for breakfast and when he returned found Lipscomb slumped over a kitchen table. When he couldn't revive the 290-pound, 6-foot-6 athlete, Black called an ambulance.

Big Daddy was picked up from a Marine football team at Camp Pendleton, Calif., in 1953 by the Los Angeles Rams, but was dropped two years later. The Baltimore Colts got him for $100.

A regular on the defensive platoon with the Colts, he was voted all-league in 1958 and 1959, when the club won championships.

He was traded to Pittsburgh in 1961.

Big Daddy's personal life was filled with problems. He was twice divorced.

For the past four years, Lipscomb had lived in Baltimore with Sherman Plunkett, a former Colt now with the San Diego Chargers of the American Football League.

Buddy Young, who knew Big Daddy well, refused to believe the lovable giant was taking dope.

"He drank good whisky. I can't believe he ever took dope. I refuse to accept that," Young said.

Buddy Parker of the Steelers, who coached Lipscomb for the past two seasons, said "It's impossible for anybody to convince me of this."

Brother Rice Dines

Detroit Lions' assistant coaches Scooter McLean and Don Doll will be the guest speakers at the Brother Rice High School sports banquet Monday night.

Vikings Win Saginaw Valley Track Crown

Pontiac Central Finishes Third; Stewart First

Cold Weather Mars Event; Kettering, OLL Post Victories

Special to The Pontiac Press

SAGINAW — The Vikings of Flint Northern lived up to their nickname here last night.

Like the Vikings of ancient times, they braved the elements of nature to be victorious. Instead of conquering another land, the Vikings from Flint became masters of the Saginaw Valley track world.

★ ★ ★

Flint Northern won with 43 points, Flint Central was second with 40 and Pontiac Central was third with 39 3/5.

When the finals got under way at the Saginaw High oval, strong wind was blowing into the faces of dashmen and hurdlers and the temperature was down to 34 degrees.

John Stewart won the pole vault as expected to give Pontiac Central its only first place. He called it quits after eliminating the opposition at 12 feet.

There were no records set. The best effort was a 22-9½ broad jump by Saginaw's Lovell Humes.

PCH posted three second places. Ted Hindman was runner-up in the 220, Gerald Henry in the high jump and the mile relay team.

PLACED 3-4-5

Tim Thompson, Jesse Hodge and Charley Humphrey were 3-4-5 in the high hurdles. But only Humphrey placed (4th) in the lows and this hurt the Chiefs' chances of taking second in the team standings.

Tom Lewis of PCH was third in a tight 440. He was only two steps off the pace in a torrid finish. Hindman was third in the 100 and Jim Cummings was third in the shot.

Victories in both relays gave Kettering a 60-49 win over Milford. Orville Mullins ran a 10.1 century for the Captains, but was aided by the wind.

Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes won and lost. The Lakers lost to Bishop Gallagher 62-38, but posted a 61-39 triumph over St. Phillip.

George Sharpe remained unbeaten in six duals in the 440 with a 56.2. John Saghy set a school record of 2:20 in the 880.

Davis, Drysdale Dazzle Champs

LA Rematch D-Dazes Giants

By The Associated Press

It was D-Day at Los Angeles.

The National League champion San Francisco Giants and the runner-up Dodgers met Friday night for the first time since last year's playoff and Los Angeles came away with a 2-1 victory on the exploits of Don Drysdale and Tommy Davis.

Drysdale, who had been unable to post a victory in almost a month, checked the Giants on six hits and retired 13 batters in order at one stretch. The only hit he allowed after the fourth inning was a single by Willie McCovey in the ninth.

The 26-year-old right-hander was briliant in the ninth as the Giants put men on first and third with no one out on an error and McCovey's hit. Drysdale finished with a flourish, striking out Orlando Cepeda and Tom Haller befor getting pinch hitter Ed Bailey to hit a foul pop for the final out.

Davis, meanwhile, got his first look at the San Francisco pitching he tagged at a .452 clip last season and stroked two hits in three at-bats. The Dodger star, slowed by leg injuries, produced D-Day's decisive run with a third inning double off Jack Sanford.

The victory pulled the Dodgers to within four games of the pace-setting Giants and cut the Giants' edge to one game over the second-place St. Louis Cardinals, who edged Pittsburgh 1-0 on Curt Simmons' pitching and George Altman's ninth inning homer.

Dick Farrell allowed only two hits as Houston ended the Chicago Cubs' winning streak at six, 4-1; the New York Mets won their fifth in a row by defeating Cincinnati 3-2 on Jim Hickman's homer, and Milwaukee downed Philadelphia 4-1 in a game called in the seventh inning due to rain.

A crowd of 50,407 turned out at Los Angeles for the first meeting between the Dodgers and Giants since last Oct. 3, when San Francisco defeated Los Angeles 6-4 in the third and deciding game of the NL playoff.

The Dodgers took a 1-0 lead in the first on Jim Gilliam's double and Wally Moon's single, but Haller gave the Giants a tie when he homered in the second. In the third, Ron Fairly reached base on a fielder's choice and came around on Davis' double. Drysdale, striking out 11 and winning his first since April 13, now is 3-3 for the year. Sanford is 5-2.

Altman's homer with two out in the ninth ended a pitchers' duel between Card southpaw Simmons and Pittsburgh's Bob Friend. Simmons scattered nine hits for his fifth victory without a loss while Friend absorbed his second defeat in five decisions despite allowing only five hits. It was the first time the Pirates had been shut out this season.

Farrell pitched perfect ball for six innings, but the Cubs put both their hits together for a run in the seventh inning on Lou Brock's single and a triple by Billy Williams. Rusty Staub, 19-year-old Colts rookie, collected three singles in four at-bats and drove in two runs in support of Farrell, who struck out 13 and squared his record at 3-3. Glen Hobbie lost it.

Hickman's eighth inning homer snapped a 2-2 tie and provided the Mets with the longest winning streak in their two-year history. It also ended Jim O'Toole's five-game winning streak and handed the Reds' southpaw his second defeat against six victories. Carl Willey, touched for Johnny Edwards' two-run homer, was the winner with a five-hitter that brought his record to 3-1.

The Braves beat a left-hander for the first time in nine tries by shelling Phils' starter Chris Short and cut off their losing streak at six. Dennis Menke and Roy McMillan homered in support of Denver LeMaster, the winner with a three-hitter.

IN THE BAG — Cincinnati Redleg outfielder Frank Robinson steals second base against the New York Mets as the ball gets away from shortstop Al Moran. Robinson scored later on a homer by John Edwards but the Mets came back to win their 5th straight, 3-2. The umpire is John Edwards.

Foundation Head Will Discuss Hatchery Plans

Development of the Drayton Plains fish hatchery land as a natural science center for youth will be discussed Monday at Thomas M. Cooley School.

John Riply Forbes, president of the Natural Science for Youth Foundation, will give an illustrated talk beginning at 8 p.m. at the Drayton Woods Civic Association sponsored meeting.

The foundation recently was granted an option on the state-owned property by the Conservation Department. The hatchery was shutdown over a year ago.

The school is located on Inman in Drayton Plains.

Joy Fair Ready for 13th Season

Joy Fair, Pontiac's leading stock car driver, will open the Dixie Speedway season tomorrow, unconcerned over the fact that this is his 13th season.

For superstitious reasons, many auto drivers have their fears during their 13th season on the track. Roger Ward, 1959 and 1962 winner at Indianapolis, will be running in the famed 500 in couple weeks and it will be his 13th entry in the field.

In the past 12 seasons, Fair has had some great racing seasons and some frustrating ones.

He held at one time the Michigan, Ohio and International modified hardtop championships, and was honored four years ago for the outstanding award in Michigan auto racing.

Fair will be back at the wheel of his famed Bomb 719 when he starts the '63 campaign at the Dixie track north of Flint, which has another Pontiac native Ed Jones as its manager.

Joy started his racing career at the old M-59 track now standing idle near the airport and through the years he has become recognized for his automotive talents as a driver and diagnostician of car ailments.

The Bomb 719 which he drives was designed by Russ Wainscott and embraces a Pontiac engine with a special stabilizer bar under an Indianapolis type rear axle.

'Soviet's Policy Overhaul Toughening 'Foreign Line'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department believes the Soviet Union is revamping its foreign policy and may become even more difficult to deal with in the months ahead.

★ ★ ★

The Kremlin, a department spokesman said Friday, is seriously considering mending its rift with Red China, and is likely to press harder on a policy of Communist expansion abroad—particularly in Africa and Southeast Asia.

The prediction of new cold winds from Russia was voiced by a State Department official, who declined to be named, in a discussion with newsmen.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev, he said, seems to be in no danger of being toppled but is facing critical economic troubles at home as well as various difficulties abroad.

AIM AT 'HAVE-NOTS'

But he expects that a searching appraisal of policy now under way will result in Russia's concentrating on its revolutionary goals among the "have-not" nations, rather than concentrating on furthering the revolution at home.

That has been one of the sore points between Moscow and Peking. Red China, denouncing Moscow as cowardly, has demanded that Russia press Communism more aggressively in the developing nations.

And this hard line has been attracting supporters in the Communist camp. The State Department official said the Indonesia Communist Party, for instance, appears to be swinging toward Red China.

Also, he said, Soviet officials have been disappointed with the results of Russian aid in such countries as Mali, Guinea, Iraq and the Congo.

In patching up its troubles with Red China, Russia may also revise its tactics in Southeast Asia, the official suggested. This could mean more Soviet support for Communists in Laos and South Viet Nam.

The official said the United States, on the other hand, could well take more initiative in dealings with the East European Communist countries, which he contended are warming up to the possibility of closer relationships and more trade with the West.

Alcohol Kills 39 Derelicts

More Hospitalized in Critical Condition

NEW YORK (AP)—In the wake of Bowery derelicts going on a cheap binge—drinking wood alcohol at 45 cents a pint—the death toll from the resulting poisonings has reached 39 since May 2.

Some 35 others are hospitalized, with 30 in critical condition.

There were indications today the scourage was abating, with one source shut off. A Bowery hardware store which police believe was a primary source of the lethal concoction was raided Wednesday night and two clerks were arrested.

PAINT THINNER

Friday, Bellevue Hospital admitted four new wood alcohol poison cases, the fewest since the epidemic began.

However, three new deaths were attributed to the liquid, pushing the death toll past the three-dozen mark.

The two hardware store clerks were accused of selling 45-cent-a-pint paint thinner, which has a wood alcohol base, to at least four of the homeless persons who inhabit the lower Manhattan section known as the Bowery.

One clerk was charged with homocide because two of the derelicts, to whom he allegedly sold the brew, subsequently died.

Wood alcohol, when mixed with water, wine or fruit juice, forms a concoction known in the Bowery as a "Green Lady." The derelicts thought that if the mixture turned smoky, it was safe to drink. It turned smoky, but it caused agonizing cramps, followed by blindness or coma and — in some cases — death.

Trucker Murdered by Juvenile Gang

DETROIT (UPI) — Truck driver Peter Gorzelski, 39, Highland Park, was fatally stabbed yesterday when he fought with a group of juveniles who had been taunting his teen-aged assistant.

Gorzelski died of stab wounds in the chest and back following the incident.

Police said a 15-year-old youth admitted stabbing Gorzelski in the chest. They added they were looking for a 17-year-old youth who was believed to have stabbed the driver in the back.

Pontiff Plans to Visit With Italian Leader

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII planned to visit President Antonio Segni today on the second round of his busy peace-prize schedule.

Segni and former President Giovanni Gronchi presented the prize to the 81-year-old pontiff in a solemn Vatican ceremony yesterday.

The pontiff scheduled a return visit to Segni at the presidential palace in Rome.

The palace was a papal summer residence until 1870, when an Italian artillery attack ended the Vatican's rule of Rome.

★ ★ ★

The Pope, who was reported seriously ill with a stomach condition a few months ago, looked healthy and jovial at the opening of yesterday's ceremonies, but as the day wore on he appeard tired and nervous.

His appearance at the end of the ceremonies revived unconfirmed rumors that he suffered a recent relapse and may be seriously ill.

★ ★ ★

The Pope scheduled his visit to follow the presentation of other Balzan awards to prizewinners from the United States, the Soviet Union and Austria.

Are you shopping around to determine what your business is worth? If so, you are doing it the hard way! We have found that when a business is shopped at an unmarketable price for a while, the owner finally realizes this and reduces the price to marketable value. In the meantime, he has automatically discouraged potential buyers. SO—BE SURE when offering your business that you know the market value. Please feel free to call us at your convenience and have one of our capable representatives call on you.

Marriage License Fee Goes Up Another Buck

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's prospective husbands will be tapped for $3 instead of $2 for a marriage license under a bill signed into law yesterday by Gov. George Romney.

The measure also provides that county clerks shall report the issuance of marriage licenses to the state health commissioner rather than the secretary of state.

Protest Again Over Tank Site

Residents Objecting to Proposed Location

Residents of Lake Oakland Heights Association will launch a second public protest of a proposed water tank site in their area at Monday's Waterford Twonship Board meeting.

* * *

About 100 residents appeared at a board meeting in February to refute the board's decision to locate the tank at Walton Boulevard and Main Street. Board members then said they would explore other site possibilities.

Last Monday the board voted unanimously to reaffirm plans to proceed with this site. It was said to be the logical choice following studies of numerous other locations.

In other business the board is expected to decide on whether to allow an aerial spraying firm to operate within the township.

The spraying request was tabled two weeks ago to determine the type and amount of spray to be used.

* * *

The board is also expected to act on a request for a billing machine for the water department and a hydrastatic test pump for the fire department.

A street light hearing for Shoman Street is slated from 7 to 9 p.m.

Vermonters claim that the oldest American Flag reposes in the Historical Museum at Bennington, Vt. This now-faded banner flew when a New Hampshire brigade under Gen. John Stark defeated a foraging detachment sent by British General Burgoyne in 1777.

Monday's Deadline for Voters on Wheat

EAST LANSING (AP)—Monday is the last day for farmers who grow 15 or less acres of wheat to sign up to vote in the May 21 wheat referendum.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in Michigan said only 15 per cent from the estimated 98,000 farms eligible under the small acreage rule have signed up so far.

Growers from the estimated 16,000 farms with more than 15 acres in wheat production are not required to fill out forms for voting.

Michigan's wheat growers in 1962 showed 53.8 per cent approval of continued federal acreage allotments and price supports, short of the two-thirds national majority needed. Only 5,587 voted.

Singer Gets U.S. Bonds

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Peggy Lennon, 22, has picked up $12,425 in U.S. savings bonds, deducted from salary earned in her singing-sister act. A court ordered the deductions for Miss Lennon when she was a minor performing with Lawrence Welk's orchestra.

Number of Jobless Declines in State

DETROIT (AP) — The number of jobless workers in Michigan declined by 28,000 in the March 15-April 15 period, the Michigan Employment Security Commission said yesterday.

★ ★ ★

A similar decline was reported for the Detroit area, where the MESC said there were 14,000 fewer jobless workers on April 15 than on the corresponding date a month earlier.

Michigan's unemployment at the April 15 date was 162,000, the MESC said, and that figure represented 5.6 per cent of the state's total labor force of 2,885,800.

PUBLIC INVITED FROM 1 TO 6 P.M.

"To Better Serve"

This is the concept upon which Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital was built. It is our dominant theme today as we dedicate the new wing and open the vastly remodeled main section.

This special section will acquaint you considerably with what we have done to provide better treatment and care of the sick and injured.

To more thoroughly know us, the Staff and Administration invite you and your family and friends to visit us Sunday, 1 to 6 P.M. during our Open House.

BREATH OF LIFE — Charles Reinheimer and the respirator he's using are responsible for breathing new life into patients at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. Reinheimer is director of the inhalation therapy department. Both his staff and the portable intensive care units are ready for emergencies on a 24-basis.

Therapy Division Assists Patients

There's one department at the new Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital that devotes itself to helping patients to breathe more easily.

★ ★ ★

This is the inhalation therapy department, a relatively new and growing feature of hospital operation.

★ ★ ★

The inhalation therapy staff is solely responsible for supplying and administering basic gases and resuscitation in all areas of the hospital outside surgery.

An inhalation therapy department is something that is becoming increasingly popular in hospital management and represents a trend toward specialization.

Charles Reinheimer, director of Pontiac Osteopathic's inhalation therapy department, is also president of the Michigan Society of Inhalation Therapists.

★ ★ ★

—"We have the largest staff of any such department in a Michigan hospital," said Reinheimer. "We're also one of the finest equipped.

"We have a staff of 13 therapists and one secretary."

Reinheimer's staff can be anywhere in the hospital with the necessary inhalation equipment in less than two minutes.

ALWAYS READY

"We keep all the equipment ready for immediate use and the department staffed 24 hours a day."

Each therapist is fully trained in the medical skills, theory and mechanical abilities necessary to properly administer to the respiratory needs of patients.

The department boasts a dozen Bird Mark 8 respirators. Most of the modern, portable intensive care units are positioned throughout the hospital for easy access when an emergency arises.

★ ★ ★

"The only other hospital I know of with that many of these life-saving devices is University Hospital in Ann Arbor," Reinheimer said.

Also under direct supervision of the inhalation therapists are some 20 oxygen tents. These units offer complete control over relative humidity while administering oxygen to the patient.

There are also eight humidifiers among the department's diversified equipment.

BRONCHIAL AILMENTS

These units are used to administer high concentrations of humidity to patients suffering from asthma or similar bronchial ailments.

The inhalation therapists, in addition to being ready for any emergency cases, make patient rounds every four hours.

★ ★ ★

"Our normal rounds are made to assure that every patient using inhalation equipment is comfortable. We check the oxygen percentage, humidity and temperature control to assure that the needs of each patient are fully satisfied."

★ ★ ★

The inhalation therapy department is located on the basement level of Osteopathic's new wing.

Gray Ladies Volunteer Time

Each day an average of eight Gray Ladies of the American Red Cross volunteers time, aptitude and special skills to add to the comfort, happiness and welfare of patients in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

Many of the Gray Ladies' services are personal — in direct contact with patients — while others are such indirect services as sorting and delivering mail or flowers, or escorting patients being admitted or released from the hospital; or being wheeled to clinical or other departments within the hospital.

The Gray Ladies are likewise recognized as being extremely helpful in the hospital's contact with visitors at the information and visitor desks, and more importantly in comforting relatives and friends of patients during emergencies or during periods of anxiety.

ANTICIPATE NEED

With expansion of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital under way last summer, Hospital Administrator Harry H. Whitlow anticipated an urgent need for volunteers and contacted the Oakland County Chapter of the American Red Cross, whose Gray Ladies serve in a number of Oakland County hospitals.

Through arrangements made by Mrs. W. C. Sproull, Red Cross chairman for Gray Lady Service, and the hospital's director of nursing services, Mrs. V. Sillers, plans were completed for new volunteers to be trained and placed in service early in the fall.

First step in the program was the naming of a chairman for the hospital's Gray Lady Service.

★ ★ ★

Selected for this important task was Mrs. R. G. Carter, 5139 Wing Lake, Bloomfield Hills, long experienced in Gray Lady and other Red Cross activities in Los Angeles and Kansas City, as well as in Oakland County hospitals.

★ ★ ★

The series of six two-hour orientation classes required by the American Red Cross was started Oct. 16 and conducted by Mrs. Sproull and Mrs. Carter, with the capable assistance of Mrs. I. McCormick, associate director of nursing services for the hospital.

COURSE ADAPTED

Doctors and specialized talent from the hospital cooperated in adapting the instruction course to the specialized needs of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

The first class of 26 trainees completed its lecture courses on Nov. 5 and entered upon 30 hours of supervised volunteer work to complete qualifications and become fully trained Gray Ladies.

The 26 received their caps, pins and certificates in an impressive evening ceremony Jan. 29 in the doctor's dining room of the hospital.

A second class of 15 volunteers began a series of lectures on March 19 and their 30 hours of supervised instruction in the hospital on April 8th.

As soon as they complete their training, these 15 will be officially capped to join the other Gray Ladies in making a total of 41 now volunteering their services in Pontiac Osteopathic's expanded facilities.

★ ★ ★

"The services of these skilled Gray Ladies is greatly appreciated by the patients as well as by the hospital's management and staff," says Hospital Administrator Harry H. Whitlow.

"In fact, we are urging the Red Cross to assist us further in our expansion program by doubling the number of Gray Ladies in our hospital as quickly as possible."

With the value of the Red Cross Gray Lady Service so well established since late in the fall, the Red Cross is already accepting applicants for new courses of training to be started within a short time.

The 41 Gray Lady volunteers represent twelve cities and towns in Oakland County, including Pontiac, Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham, Royal Oak, Rochester, Lake Orion, Oxford, Milford, Union Lake, Orchard Lake, Drayton Plains and Clarkston.

In their day-to-day volunteer activities, the Gray Ladies work under the immediate direction of Mrs. McCormick, who assigns them to activities for which they can apply their Red Cross and Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital training.

On days and hours of their choice, several Gray Ladies help the hospital's medical records department with filing, charting and microfilming.

Others help the X-ray department with sorting and filing, or the personnel offices with typing, filing and general office work.

DIRECT CONTACT

Others prefer such direct contact with patients as helping feed patients, collecting menus from patients for the following day's meals, reading to patients or writing letters for them and, on occasions, making or remaking beds.

Still others prefer to offer relief to staff employes on the information desk or to serve as messengers in doing errands or the nursing stations or even doing shopping on request.

In monthly meetings, the Gray Ladies have opportunities to discuss their services and their problems and to be briefed on any new assignments.

★ ★ ★

"In a new hospital expanding as rapidly as is Pontiac Osteopathic," says Mrs. Carter, "it is important that we meet frequently to determine, along with Mrs. McCormick and the hospital's management, how we can best serve and enjoy our work.

"After all, the hospital is new to us, and we are new to the hospital. But by planning together we find we can give service that is deeply appreciated by the patients, by their families and by the hospital."

Few Staffers Still Remain Who Recall Early Days

There are still a few people around Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital who were there when it all started 10 years ago.

★ ★ ★

Three of the four original incorporators of the hospital are still on the medical staff. Six employes, all on the nursing staff, were also among the 33 employes who started Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital under Harry H. Whitlow, administrator.

★ ★ ★

The three remaining incorporators who hired Whitlow to open an Osteopathic hospital here in 1953 are Dr. LeRoy C. Johnson of 43 Illinois, Dr. M. C. Worster of 3518 Erie, Orchard Lake Village, and Dr. Donald Fraser of 55 Niagara.

All were medical staff members when it began. Dr. Johnson is now medical director of the hospital. Dr. Worster is head of proctology.

Together they constituted about 30 per cent of the medical staff 10 years ago.

Today they are less than 3 per cent of the medical staff.

ORIGINAL HOSPITAL

The original hospital on Auburn opened with a medical staff of about 11 doctors. Johnson currently has some 109 staff doctors under him and the number is expected to grow steadily as the hospital gradually assumes capacity operation.

Mrs. Verna Siller, R.N., has been director of nursing since Osteopathic's doors first opened. She is well acquainted with the hospital's growing pains.

"In the beginning," she recalled, "the big problems were space and the lack of facilities.

★ ★ ★

"Over the years as the hardships of inadequate space lessened, the work connected with efficiently managing a larger nursing staff increased."

★ ★ ★

She's busier now in her comfortable penthouse office than she was 10 years ago. It's just that the problems are different ones.

Mrs. Siller has two nursing supervisors, Mrs. Audrey Lintz and Mrs. Eleanor Tweedale, both registered nurses, who were with her on the hospital's original staff.

Other "charter members" are Mrs. Mae Swan, a nurses aide, and Mrs. Dorothy Miller, a practical nurse.

MORE THAN 300

There were about 15 nurses on the staff 10 years ago. Today Mrs. Siller directs a staff of more than 300 nurses and when the hospital is operating at capacity she'll have more than 450 nurses.

★ ★ ★

These remaining nurses constituted 33 per cent of the original nursing staff. Today they're only 1.6 per cent of the staff.

EMERGENCY AREA — One of the most outstanding areas of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital's expansion program is the emergency department. There are now 10 completely equipped emergency treating areas like those shown here. At the left is a cardioscope costing more than $1,500, one of two such units in the hospital.

Time, Motion Key Factors

Emergency Ward Is Improved

In planning Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital's new emergency department, administrators, architects and medical supply experts built a concept around time and motion.

★ ★ ★

These elements — time and motion — are key factors in determining the efficiency of any emergency ward.

With the proper equipment and emergency staff, the difference between life and death often lies in lost time.

★ ★ ★

The less motion required, the less time lost.

Location of equipment in the new emergency ward has been planned to require as little motion as possible.

LOCATED CENTRALLY

The emergency department, itself, is located adjacent to related departments so that treatments most frequently needed for emergency cases are as close at hand as the nearest doorway.

★ ★ ★

Compared to the former emergency department at Pontiac Osteopathic, the new one has more space, more and better equipment and a bigger staff.

The new emergency ward can handle four times more emergency cases.

It has 10 separate emergency treating area, each completely equipped with oxygen and a standard complement of emergency equipment.

★ ★ ★

From the moment a person is admitted to emergency, he or she can remain on the same stretcher until wheeled into surgery.

SPECIALLY DESIGNED

The special stretchers are designed to hold oxygen units and other devices to enable treatment to continue while en route to another hospital area.

★ ★ ★

They also may be altered to a "shock position" for patients suffering from shock. No movement to another stretcher is required.

A portable poison control center is also located in the emergency department. One of the largest pharmacies in any hospital in Michigan is next door.

One of the more specialized pieces of equipment in emergency is a cardioscope with a special attachment.

★ ★ ★

Valued at $1,500, it monitors such things as the patient's pulse, heartbeat and blood pressure.

SPECIAL USES

It is especially useful in heart cases and serious or critical injuries.

★ ★ ★

It's special attachment is a similar unit with which doctors can measure the fetal heartbeat of unborn children. It is the first such unit delivered to a Michigan hospital.

It is especially vital in treating pregnant women in the emergency ward.

There are two cardioscopes in the hospital. The other is stationed in surgery.

The emergency department also boasts another "first." It is a specialized fracture table, more modern and versatile, enabling doctors to handle more minor fracture cases better.

★ ★ ★

It is the first such fracture table delivered in the state.

In addition to having the hospital pharmacy nearby, the emergency department, located on the ground level, is adjacent to the laboratory and X-ray departments.

Total Nursing Staff Grows Over the Years

Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital's total nursing staff 10 years ago would only constitute 5 per cent of the staff today.

★ ★ ★

It would be only 3.2 per cent of the staff the hospital will have when all departments are opened and opening at capacity.

ANALYZE PROTEINS—Chemistry isn't all test tubes, as Roy Clifton, a chemist in the special chemistry lab, demonstrates. This specialized instrument is printing a graph that will reveal the amount of protein in a patient's blood. The instrument is "reading" a series of light and dark colorations on a strip of paper slipped in the side facing Clifton. The strip is a record of blood protein, the product of other tests and specialized equipment.

New Modern Surgical Suite Stands Ready for Operation

Busy Surgical Department More Than Doubled in Size

The surgical department at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital is more than doubling in size.

Located in the heart of the first level are seven, modern well-equipped surgical suites. Included in the surgical wing are specially equipped cystoscopic and fracture rooms.

Four of the seven suites are in use now.

Dr. B. F. Dickinson is chief of surgery at Osteopathic.

"We had three surgical suites in the old building," he explained. "It was getting so the increased case load just couldn't be handled in that space.

"The larger surgical unit and our gains in surgical equipment will help immensely."

To hear Dickinson talk of the current use of the surgical suites, it becomes apparent the demands must have been terrific on the former surgical department.

Estimates are that the hospital will now average 35 to 40 surgeries per day. There are many times when operations are in progress in all suites simultaneously.

(In attempting to photograph a surgical suite, Pontiac Press photographers had to return to the hospital on three occasions before a suite was available — and then only late in the day.)

COSTLY EQUIPMENT

It cost an estimated $125,000 or more to equip the surgical suites, including the X-ray equipment.

The suites are strategically located directly above the X-ray department. There is a cage-like arrangement on a pulley in the corner of each suite.

In the event a doctor wants a patient X rayed during surgery, the X ray is taken and the plates placed in the cage and whisked downstairs to the basement level.

X-ray technicians immediately put the plates in a Pakarol Film Processor which developes the plates and produces dry prints within seven minutes.

The prints are then whisked back up to surgery, thus making X-ray diagnostic work possible during an actual operation.

There are two such rapid film processors staffed and operating at all times in the hospital. They are especially valuable in cases where emergency surgery is required immediately — such as for critical auto accident victims.

Another feature in surgery is the hospital's new ultrasonic cleaner for metallic and glass equipment. It consists of three units.

One unit washes equipment in the normal soap and water method.

The equipment is then transported to the second unit which contains water and a special detergent. Ultrasonic waves are then applied to the unit. The sound waves get the instruments microscopically clean.

The third unit then dries them.

Full utilization of ultrasonic cleaning won't be realized until Pontiac begins using Detroit water in July, said administrators.

With softer, mineral-free water, the ultrasonic equipment will be much more effective.

Wing Boosts City Tax Base

The value of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital's new wing can't be measured entirely in service to the patients.

It's of value even to the resident who never goes near the new facility. It will help pay some of his taxes.

The new hospital addition is the biggest single boost to Pontiac's tax base arising from new construction in at least five years.

Osteopathic's new wing added $700,000 to Pontiac's total assessed valuation this year, according to City Assessor Edward Bloe.

"Osteopathic easily was the biggest single addition to Pontiac's tax base in the area of new construction or expansion since Fisher Body Division's $22-million expansion program in 1958," said Bloe.

AIDS TAXPAYER

Every new addition to the city's tax base indirectly aids every taxpayer. As the tax goes up, it takes less tax rate to raise an equal amount of money.

As a theoretical example, if the tax rate was $15 per $1,000 of assessed valuation and the city's total tax base was $300 million, a $15 per $1,000 rate would raise about $4.5 million.

If you add $700,000 to the tax base, all other elements remain equal, the same tax rate would raise $4,510,500 — or about $10,500 more than it did the year before.

SPECIALTY OF THE HOUSE — Mrs. Lena Meade, 74, carefully lifts an example of her special talent from an oven. She has been baking homemade bread at 50 N. Perry since before the hospital was there.

Pontiac Press Photo

Baking Magician Is Indispensable

Mrs. Lena Mead is an indispensable part of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. She is a specialist and a bit of a magician.

★ ★ ★

At 4 a.m. each day she starts producing the magical items that no doctor, or nurse or administrator can equal.

She bakes homemade bread.

The 74-year-old silver-haired lady has been producing her wares at 50 N. Perry longer than the osteopaths have been there. She baked her bread and pastries in the kitchen when the building was Hotel Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

"I'd been there about seven years when the hospital bought the hotel," she said. "They asked me to stay, so I did."

STOPPING PLACES

Mrs. Mead, of 270 Norton, also lists the Waldron Hotel, Indianwood Country Club and several Detroit hotels as stopping places in her 35 to 40 years as a cook and baker.

Her bread has become a specialty of the house at Osteopathic. Patients often are pleasantly surprised to find they can have bread freshly baked that same day.

"I bake about 20 to 25 loaves a day now," she noted, "as well as some pastries and sweet rolls.

★ ★ ★

"We used to bake twice as much bread when they put the homemade loaves out in the dining rooms."

What are her secrets?

"I don't know. I don't use any recipe . . . just put it together and throw it in the oven."

MIXED EMOTIONS

She has mixed emotions about the new, modern kitchen. "The new ovens are very nice, but I can't find things as easily as before. I looked all over for a rolling pin this morning . . . couldn't find it anywhere."

★ ★ ★

Next to her family, baking and fishing are her loves.

"Caught a 2½-pound bass last summer," she emphasized. "It gave me a pretty good battle."

She'll be going back after a bigger one this summer, in between baking for her two daughters, three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

★ ★ ★

And, for the patients at Osteopathic who like that extra-special freshly baked bread.

Hospital Staff Increases

The total medical staff at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital when it opened 10 years ago would only be about 10 per cent of the hospital's present day staff.

Established in 1870s

Osteopathy: a Reform

By the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, Inc.

Osteopathy or osteopathic medicine is a reform school of medicine established in the 1870s by a frontier doctor, Andrew Taylor Still.

Dr. Still was convinced that the drugs and surgery in use at that time were in some instances more harmful than beneficial.

He therefore began studying how to improve the practice of medicine in all phases as it was practiced in that era.

★ ★ ★

His search for a "better way" led him to the study of the structure of the human body. As a result of these studies, carried on through his entire life, he concluded that (a) the body produces its own healing substances, (b) health depends on the structural integrity of the body, and (c) perverted structure is a fundamental cause of illness.

The application of these principles to the healing arts constitutes the basis for the approach of the osteopathic physicians to all healing care.

The rule that the artery is supreme, was one of the favored statements of Dr. Still. This is closely related to the concept of the need for maintaining the integrity of the musculo - skeletal relationships.

★ ★ ★

The threapy of osteopathic manipulation was developed to restore and maintain the correct relationship of the bony structure of the body to the blood vessels, the nerves and the muscles.

TREAT WHOLE MAN

The osteopathic physicians treat the whole man, not the disease. If an individual gets an ulcer, he is not sick because he has the ulcer, but rather he has the ulcer because he is sick.

It is not enough to relieve the symptoms. The real task of the physician is to ascertain the causes for this disorder and to assist the patient in overcoming these causes.

The whole individual is involved with every illness.

★ ★ ★

It follows that the role of the osteopathic physician is that of assisting the patient to heal himself. He does not believe that the function of the physician is one of intervening between the patient and his illness, but rather helping the patient get in command of the situation.

The physician, therefore, helps the patient to develop and liberate his own bodily resources to achieve and restore the best possible state of health.

Osteopathic manipulation is one of the important means of achieving this end. The osteopathic physician has had four years of liberal arts education beyond high school graduation.

Following his B.S. (or B.A.) degree, he enters osteopathic college where he studies the medical training course of four years.

YEAR AS INTERN

Upon graduation, he is granted the D.O. degree, doctor of osteopathy. A year's experience as an intern in a hospital is required in Michigan before the young physician can begin the practice of osteopathic medicine.

The osteopathic school of medicine is a complete and advanced school of medical practice. It embraces the care and treatment of all human ailments and diseases.

Osteopathic physicians and surgeons are trained and qualified in the use of all diagnostic and therapeutic agencies and methods including drugs, surgery and manipulative techniques.

★ ★ ★

The osteopathic school of medicine includes such specialties as surgery, obstetrics and gynecology, anesthesiology, orthopedics, pediatrics, dermatology, eye-ear-nose-throat, radiology, proctology and neuro-physchiatry.

In the brief period of time since the establishment of the osteopathic school of medicine by Dr. Still, the number of DO's has grown to well over 10,000 and their patients are numbered in the millions.

In Michigan, the number of osteopathic physicians has more than doubled in the past ten years.

★ ★ ★

There are, at present, more than 40 osteopathic hospitals in the state with more than 3,600 beds. The growth and development of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital reflects the growth of the profession in this state.

Guild Provides Financial Help

Every hospital needs help, and one of the organizations helping Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital is the Pontiac Osteopathic Guild.

★ ★ ★

It consists of doctors' wives and lay members who have as their major goal helping to furnish needed equipment and furnishings in virtually every area of the hospital.

Currently, the guild is looking forward to opening its gift shop just off the lobby at Pontiac Osteopathic.

Until now, raising funds has been pretty tough. The guild has a gift cart which members operate at the hospital, but its size limits the amount of merchandise the guild can offer.

SPRING DANCE

Aside from the gift cart, the only other means for fund raising has been the guild's annual spring dance.

Now, with a gift shop in the making, the guild hopes to become a much more bountiful "provider" of hospital needs.

The guild was formed about four years ago and has grown slowly but steadily to an active membership today of approximately 75.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. J. G. Margolis of 2514 Ivanhoe, is currently president of the guild. Mrs. L. E. Bilodeau is vice president.

Other officers are Mrs. Merrell Petrie, secretary; Mrs. L. G. Huddle, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. LeRoy Johnson, treasurer.

Guild funds paid for an electronic doctors' call board located on the ground floor near the doctors entrance on Mill.

CAN FLIP SWITCH

The doctors can flip a switch and electronically signal their presence in the hospital to the switchboard operator when they arrive.

The guild also bought furniture for the new pediatrics department and paid for the landscaping and furnishings of the patients' outdoor patio on the top floor.

Wing Offers Fine Example of Old Adage

Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital's new wing offers an excellent example of the old adage that there're two sides to every story.

Due to a sharp slope in the land from west to east, the new wing's height all depends on how you look at it.

There're three stories on the Perry frontage and four stories on Mill, but it's all the same from top to bottom on the inside.

Hospital Wing Isn't All New

Pontiac Osteopathic's new modern 250-bed wing cannot be called all new.

Harry H. Whitlow, administrator, saw to it that a little of the old was retained.

★ ★ ★

In a small, quiet room, set back in a nook just off the bustling lobby-elevator area, there's a large impressive stained glass window.

This is the hospital's "Meditation Room."

The window was carefully removed from Central Methodist Church when the church was being torn down to make way for the new hospital wing.

★ ★ ★

"We felt the church was long a landmark of Pontiac and wanted a part of the church preserved," Whitlow explained.

The congregation has since built a new church on M59 in Waterford Township, but a small part of the old still stands at the original site.

Hospital Considers Report

Take Precautions for N-Attack

While latest civil defense projections show that Pontiac would sustain only light to moderate damage in a nuclear attack on Detroit, the Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital is considering all the precautions needed to protect its patients and the building from such an attack.

A report submitted to the hospital by Flint architects Sedgewick and Sellers suggests several ways to prepare. It is being put into effect at the hospital.

The firm recommends:

1. Polyethylene sheets be stockpiled in sufficient supply to cover all window openings. This would prevent contamination from windblown radioactive fallout accompanying a blast.

2. Masonry units be stored in the hospital's shelter area to close off all entrances in case of attack. This too would increase the area's protection factor.

DRY RATIONS

3. Dry rations in a 14-day supply be added to the food supplies presently stocked in the shelter area.

4. Installation of an emergency sump pit to carry out sewage if it proves that present sanitation facilities might be inadequate.

5. Installation of a small well to be used only if water from the Pontiac Reservoir becomes contaminated from fallout.

6. Stocking radiation monitoring equipment and having trained personnel available to operate it.

7. Stocking fire extinguishers, high-pressure hoses, radios for contact with civil defense agencies, plus tools and materials for minor emergency repairs.

8. Stocking medical supplies needed for treatment of patients housed in the fallout shelter especially blood, which is important for the replacement of blood cells destroyed through radiation.

BASED ON EXPLOSION

All recommendations in this report are based on the explosion of a 20-megaton bomb approximately 20 miles from Pontiac.

Currently the hospital has 20,000 square feet of basement area allotted for shelter space.

The number of people it will hold is dependent on the rearrangement of built-in facilities in the various areas to be utilized. However, if the recommendations in the report are followed, some 700-1000 people could be accommodated.

The protection factor for these basement areas is 1000—meaning that one receives 1000 times more protection there than outside.

If additional space is needed, top floors could be used after a two-day confinement period. Preparing these upper floors would require decontamination through the use of high-pressure hoses and brooming.

After decontamination of roof surfaces, limited use of the hospital's surgical suites is possible, providing the damage from the blast is minor.

This would permit the hospital to resume its functions at a time of greatest need, the report states.

Greet Babies With Music

Babies born in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital are welcomed into a world of music.

Speakers hooked up to the hospital's music system were installed in new delivery rooms put to use for the first time this week.

"We'll never know if the babies like the music, but we think their mothers will," hospital administrator Harry H. Whitlow said.

He explained that the music has a soothing effect on the mother as she undergoes a delivery.

★ ★ ★

"It may take some of the worry away," he added.

To eliminate the possibility of musical complications, Whitlow stipulated that only "soft background music" would be played.

While music has been used in dentist's offices to ease pain, Whitlow said this is the first time, to his knowledge, that the principal has been applied to a hospital delivery room.

Osteopathic Hospital's Switchboard Is Busy Handling 2,870 Calls Daily

Architects Mark Milestone

While Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital is celebrating its 10th anniversary, the architectural firm that designed the hospital's addition is observing a milestone of its own.

★ ★ ★

Five years ago this spring, two Flint architects — Thomas J. Sedgewick and Donald W. Sellers —decided they wanted to go on their own after working many years for other architects.

They resigned their jobs and formed a partnership, Sedgewick, Sellers and Associates, Inc.

Today Sedgewick and Sellers is one of the largest and best-known architectural firms in Eastern Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Development of the preliminary and final plans for Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital's 228-bed addition and modernization of its existing facilities was one of the first major assignments undertaken by the firm.

Sellers, who is the firm's hospital specialist because of his previous experience on other hospital projects, headed a team of design engineers assigned to the project.

He spent months in preparation, studying the hospital's facilities from the surgical department to the kitchen to determine the working relationship of each department with all others.

INTENSE ANALYSIS

Only after hundreds of interviews with administrator Harry H. Whitlow, staff doctors, nurses, technicians and other personnel and after analyzing all this information, did Sedgewick and Sellers draw up a plan to be considered by the hospital's board of directors.

By 1961, the final plans were completed and construction contracts awarded.

Since Sedgewick and Sellers received its architectural assignment from Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, good fortune has come their way.

In the past five years the firm has developed plans for nearly 100 hospitals, schools, commercial buildings, shopping centers and public buildings.

★ ★ ★

Only recently the firm was selected by the Michigan State Highway Department to design new tourist information centers to be built on highways entering Michigan near Monroe and Ironwood.

★ ★ ★

CAREFULLY PREPARED MEALS — Getting the kitchen utensils ready for another meal is Laneeta Cutter, of 822 Round Lake Road, Union Lake. With 1,600 meals to prepare each day, the task is enormous. Making it even more difficult is the fact that each meal delivered to a patient must follow exactly his doctor's nutritional prescription. To meet the needs of its patients, the Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital has one of the most varied menus in the city.

Osteopathic Hospital

It's 'Whitlow's Castle'

By Dick Saunders

They're going to get together and open Whitlow's Castle tomorrow.

Everyone will tell you it's the "new" Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, but it's really Whitlow's Castle.

At least, in spirit it belongs to Harry H. Whitlow.

★ ★ ★

In the world of reality, the hospital belongs to the people whose money equipped and built it.

There's another reality too, though. It's simply that the whole thing would have been a pipe dream if it weren't for Harry H. Whitlow. He is administrator of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Whitlow likes music boxes.

He has 12 of them, the latest with a little drum and "five little drum beaters that beat like the devil when you turn it on."

The sparkle is in Whitlow's eyes when he says this.

It's the same sparkle that appears when he talks about the multimillion dollar hospital at 50 N. Perry.

Whitlow is not a medical man. He's a business man — and a good one.

Harry H. Whitlow, Administrator

WINTER DREAM

It was a cold Sunday afternoon in the winter of 1952-53 when four local osteopaths and Whitlow sat down over coffee to talk about the possibility of opening a hospital in Pontiac.

Whitlow was an administrative consultant to hospitals. The doctors wanted to start a hospital. They'd heard about Whitlow and thought maybe he could help them.

The doctors hired him to run their hospital — and help build it. They made a wise choice.

"I never stopped running," he chuckles. What he means is he never stopped building.

★ ★ ★

It wasn't easy in the beginning. One of the hospital's first patients said, as he was being admitted, "If you don't have everything, I can wait 'til tomorrow."

The hospital at 32 Auburn was a reconverted, two-story doctors' office building in which the interior walls went up three days before the hospital opened.

"We had 26 beds, 33 staff members and no money," says Whitlow. "We had a coal bin that we made into a fruit cellar to house our vast store of medical supplies consisting of some coal seed, mustard plaster and 1,000 bottles of aspirin," he says jokingly. Initial supplies arrived late.

★ ★ ★

There was no elevator in the building and, according to Whitlow, it was the first hospital he'd ever seen with air conditioning in the winter.

Now the central figure in a plush penthouse adminstrative suite, Whitlow also takes pleasure in mirthfully recalling his first office.

"Located at the rear of the building, it was an old cement block garage in which no two blocks were the same."

How did he go from 26 beds to 406 in 10 years?

The big step came when he successfully negotiated the purchase of the old Hotel Pontiac at 50 N. Perry in December 1955.

The hospital's total of 25 patients moved to the first floor of the hotel in February 1956. By Jan. 1, 1957, most of the floors had been remodeled.

★ ★ ★

The hotel's bar and lounge becmae a pediatrics ward.

The official dedication of at 50 N. Perry St. took place in November 1958.

There, the success story could end, but one thing you learn fast about Harry Whitlow is that he's always building.

★ ★ ★

In 1959, he engineered the purchase of the building at Mill and Pike which housed the Matthews-Hargreaves Chevrolet dealership.

Although the $1-milion expansion plan called for it to be used for more beds, the building eventually lent itself better to storage, parking and a meeting and training area.

In May 1961, with a nine-man board of directors firmly behind him, Whitlow announced he would build a $2.5-to $3-million addition and spend another million on remodeling the existing hospital building.

A month later he forked over $240,000 for the land and church north of the hospital and began to build.

PATIENTS MOVE

A year ago, the first patients moved from the old building into the third level of the new wing. New surgical suites were placed in operation last fall.

Renovation was in full swing by the first of this year in the old building.

Whitlow had a full head of steam, pushing toward his — and Pontiac Osteopathic's — 10th anniversary this June.

★ ★ ★

He's been all over the world looking for the best equipment he can get. If he hears of something new or "years ahead of its time" in England, he goes to England "to have a look at it."

Whitlow usually comes back with "a good deal — and a couple antiques."

The antiques include furniture, glass, china, cigarette lighters, beer steins and surgical instruments.

At the top of the list are his beloved music boxes. They alone are worth more than $6,000.

★ ★ ★

Whitlow also "dabbles in photography" (eight cameras and a complete darkroom).

At the mention of photography, he'll invite a visitor out on the roof and take his picture with his ever-present Polaroid camera.

Anything that produces a print in 60 seconds is "a gadget." Whitlow loves gadgets.

LOVES TO PUSH BUTTONS

He has a desk with six buttons. They control office partitions, drapes and other such items. Whitlow loves to push the buttons for guests.

If someone suggested they put model trains in every kid's room in pediatrics, Whitlow would sleep there.

He delights at giving visitors—no matter how pompous or important — a loaf of bread. It's homemade in the hospital's kitchen — and it's good.

★ ★ ★

For this man of many talents, the new hospital wing may just be another step. Already, although it hasn't been publicly announced, he is visualizing a nursing college here.

With him at the helm, it could be the biggest in the world. He already has the biggest osteopathic hospital in the United States.

"Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital took the work and sweat of many people to build," he'll say. "It belongs to the people who use it."

But it's still Whitlow's Castle.

It's Largest Hospital of Kind

Pontiac is the home of the largest osteopathic hospital in the United States.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital's expansion program, which began with purchase of the old Central Methodist Church property on E. Huron between Mill and Perry in June 1961, now stands at approximately $3.5 million.

The new addition has 270 beds, giving the hospital a bed capacity of 406 — more than any other osteopathic hospital in the nation.

Former capacity was about 136 beds.

It will be Pontiac's fifth largest employer. The monthly payroll at Pontiac Osteopathic is expected to run $268,000 when the hospital is in full operation.

★ ★ ★

The hospital's administrators expect to accommodate an average of 57 new patient admissions per day. In addition, they expect an average of some 1,200 visitors daily.

Pontiac Osteopathic's new wing being dedicated at Sunday's open house represents a rise from 26 to more than 400 beds and from 33 to more than 800 employes in the last 10 years.

Administrators began the big move for expansion, as they put it, "when we had a waiting list of 1 to 3 weeks on elective cases."

The hospital's gleaming, new addition cost more than $1.5 million to build.

It consists of three levels and penthouse administrative offices. The cost of equipping the new addition now stands in excess of $1 million.

Another $600,000 or more went into completely renovating and remodeling the old, seven-story hospital building at 50 N. Perry.

While the new addition was going up, the hospital bought a two-story brick building across the street at 47 N. Perry for a reported $60,000.

That building now houses the hospital's purchasing department, some administrative offices and storage area.

The four-story Habel Building on Mill at East Pike is used for parking, training and class rooms, storage and meeting rooms.

★ ★ ★

The hospital's oxygen units are on the outside of the Habel Building. Heating units are in the basement of the hospital. Oxygen is piped under Mill to the hospital.

NEW FACING

This building, perhaps, is the most outstanding example of what can be done with aluminum facing to restore old structures. The building's entire character was changed by a new bright blue aluminum grillwork facing.

The blue color theme is carried out through the new addition too. The reinforced concrete structure has striking exterior design consisting of brick, glass, aluminum and blue-baked enamel panels.

Primarily responsible for the rapid rise of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital is its administrator, Harry H. Whitlow, and an imaginative and dynamic board of directors headed by H. W. Kruger, president.

★ ★ ★

Another original incorporator, Dr. M. C. Worster, is also a veteran board member.

Other board members include David C. Pence, Dr. B. F. Dickinson, Dr. L. E. Bilodeau, H. B. Park, and R. V. Todd.

★ ★ ★

The newest board member is Dr. P. W. Trimmer, named to the board within the last two years. As the hospital grew, the board also required an increase in number.

★ ★ ★

Whitlow, a nonmember of the board, acts as board secretary.

PRIVATELY OWNED

The Pontiac Osteopathic board has a 25-year lease on the seven-story structure and three-story addition. The structures are owned by a private corporation, but the contents all belong to the hospital.

Harold Sarko of Detroit is the developer and the O. W. Burke Co., Detroit, is general contractor for the new addition.

Kendall Construction Co. of Detroit is general contractor for the modernization of the original building.

★ ★ ★

Guiding and designing the gigantic two-year construction program were Sedgewick & Sellers Architects, of Flint; and R. H. McClurg, structural engineers, and Robert H. Stellwagen, consulting engineers, both Detroit firms.

Hospital equipment, interior design and furnishings were handled by Medical Supply Corp. of Detroit.

Now covering almost a city block, the main building also features many new and expanded departments as well as bed space.

★ ★ ★

The new addition contains about 72,000 square feet of floor area. A ground level houses various mechanical departments, the hospital's emergency generator and civil defense supplies.

Already, the big generator has provided electrical power for two surgeries while alterations were being made in the hospital's power plant.

Air-conditioning units are also located in the basement.

The hospital features a television antenna system which can be used for closed-circuit TV throughout the hospital.

With one camera already purchased, Whitlow plans to expand on the closed circuit TV theme in the near future.

★ ★ ★

Special features in design are the new lobby and an outdoor patio in the core of the third level.

The lobby is complete with a handsome fountain in which goldfish swim placidly below the water tumbling down a simulated rock formation.

The entire fountain is tiled, with an imported Italian stone wal for backing. Potted plants add to the striking effect.

★ ★ ★

In addition, the new lobby is better than double the size of the old, taking over the area once used for administrative offices.

The patio, or interior court, is a pleasantly landscaped and furnished area where patients may relax in fresh air and sunlight.

It is surrounded by patients' rooms.

$500 U.S. Bond

Gets Baseball Prize

There is joy in the Oxford home of Marvin W. Willobee.

Winner of the Press' 16th Annual Baseball Contest, he received the $500 U.S. Savings Bond award today from editorial staffer Howard Heldenbrand.

Willobee, an employe of Pontiac Motor Division for 15 years, picked Detroit's Bill Freehan with a .404 batting average as the winner.

His actual average through May 10, the closing date of the contest, was .466.

Asked his reason for picking the dark-horse Detroit catcher, whom 10 others also nominated, Willobee said he thought it would be pointless to name any player so popular that the award if won would necessarily be split among many winners.

Moreover, he said, Freehan looked mighty good to him during training season.

Two interesting "ifs" show up in the outcome of the contest.

HITLESS WIN

Since the Freehan runner-up had pegged .402 as the winning average, he would have won had the Tiger player gone hitless in last night's game.

Slugging rookie catcher Freehan got two hits in four trips to the plate last night.

Had Freehan appeared in one less game, his 30 times at bat could conceivably have been reduced below the 25 needed to qualify for the contest.

As a diamond seer, Willobee struck out in six previous contests. He has no specific plans for spending the fruits of his victory. But he thought that with five children he'd have no trouble getting rid of the money.

Since last Wednesday was his 39th birthday, his good fortune comes as a slightly belated birthday present. By way of formal observance of the event, the family attended the Yankee-Tigers game that evening.

Get Unofficial Word of Sewer Plan Grant

West Bloomfield Township has been unofficially notified it will receive a $114,000 federal grant for its proposed Sylvan Manor sewer project.

Plans for the program which will bring sanitary sewers to the subdivision have been held back for three years by legal entanglements, according to Supervisor John C. Rehard.

The 140-acre subdivision includes about 300 homes and the Sylvan Shopping Center.

Approximately 34 per cent of the lots in the subdivision are still owned by the Sylvan Manor Construction Co., the firm which built the subdivision.

Township officials have been unable to get cooperation from the company in financing a lateral line hookup with the Farmington intercepter sewer, according to Rehard.

The project has also been complicated because the state has taken over several lots for the company's failure to pay back taxes, he said.

The $250,000 project is to be handled by the Oakland County Department of Public Works on contract with the township.

Construction will begin within 120 days after the township is officially notified of the Accelerated Public Works grant. The township will have 60 days to arrange financing.

Rehard said the township's portion of the project probably will be paid for by tap-in fees of about $550, which the property owners can pay over a period of ten years.

Other Cities Focal Points in Controversy

Civic Leaders Seek Integration Solutions in 2 Southern States

By United Press International

Nashville, Knoxville and Raleigh today became focal points in the boiling southwide racial controversy now that the crisis at Birmingham has ended.

In Nashville, Mayor Beverly Briley said a planned demonstration would have been a "real donnybrook" had it not been called off.

Negro and white civic leaders sought a solution in Tennessee's capital city.

★ ★ ★

In another Tennessee sore spot, Knoxville, 30 Negro and white youths were arrested while staging a protest demonstration in front of a downtown theater.

At Raleigh, N. C., a week of racial tension reached a peak last night when 1,000 Negro college students invaded the grounds of the governor's mansion during a symphonic ball.

The march to the governor's mansion followed a mass rally at Shaw University, where the majority of the demonstrators attend classes.

EARLIER EFFORTS

Earlier in the day, Dr. Charles Lyons, spokesman for the Negoes, met with two members of the 100-member committee set up by Mayor E. G. Enloe to negotiate the city's racial problems.

Lyons said the Negroes were dissatisfied with the pace of the committee. But committeeman Akers Moore said he would not call a meeting of the committee until the demonstrations were halted.

The demonstrators at Knoxville became passive as officers began to hustle them into police wagons. They were picked up and dragged into the patrol cars and paddy wagons.

The agreement at Nashville between Mayor Briley and Negro leaders brought an end to three days of downtown racial demonstrations which were marked with violence.

The most serious outbreak was only a few hours before the agreement was reached when Negroes battled police in front of a cafeteria and later exchanged bricks, bottles and sticks with a group of white youths.

Death Penalty Given Russian for Spying

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet military tribunal today sentenced former Soviet official Oleg Penkovsky to death for espionage. His British codefendant, Greville Wynne, got an eight-year prison term.

The two were convicted by a military court after a five-day trial. The verdict and sentence were read by the court president, Lt. Gen. Viktor Borisoglebsky.

Wynne's sentence was broken down to consist of three years in prison and the remainder in a corrective labor camp.

Penkovsky was stripped of all his medals, colonel's rank and World War II decorations.

The crowd broke into 30 seconds of applause as the sentences were read.

★ ★ ★

Wynne, a British businessman for whom the prosecution had asked a 10-year term, had asked the court for clemency, saying it was the 11th birthday of his son, Andrew.

'SHOCK TO BOY'

"It will be such a shock for my little boy," Wynne told the three-judge military tribunal, "that I am not with him to wish him many happy returns."

★ ★ ★

"I ask you to remember my son, my wife and my aged father. I very much want my aged father to see me, but in England," Wynne added in concluding his 10-minute plea for mercy behind closed doors.

★ ★ ★

The prosecution Friday demanded 10 years in prison for Wynne and execution for Penkovsky, also charged with passing Soviet secrets to Washington and London. Both are 44.

The court agreed to hear 11th-hour appeals from the pair before handing down the verdicts.

★ ★ ★

The public was barred from the courtroom but Wynne's words were reported to Western newsmen later by the businessman's Soviet lawyer, Nikolai Borovik.

ARRESTED ON TRIP

Wynne was arrested last November while on a trip through the Soviet bloc. He was accused of helping Penkovsky pass secrets to the West.

★ ★ ★

Borovik said Wynne repeated his allegations that British officials had threatened and blackmailed him when he tried to get out of the business of contacting Penkovsky.

Stabbed Body Found on Road

Farmington Man Had Been Dead Two Days

The knifed body of a Farmington man was found early this morning in the middle of a road in Novi, apparently tossed there from a car after he was dead.

The murder victim was identified as Walter Flory, 45, of 33642 Grand River.

A post mortem performed at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital by pathologist Dr. Richard Olsen revealed that Flory had been dead since Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

★ ★ ★

Flory's body was found on 12 Mile Road, 200 feet west of Meadowbrook, about 4 a.m. by a motorist. He telephoned the Novi police department. State police from the Redford Post in Detroit were called in on the case.

'JUST DUMPED'

"It looks like someone just dumped the body on the road this morning," said State Police Det. Lt. Melvin Kaufman. "It was in plain sight, right in the center of the road."

★ ★ ★

"He was stabbed a couple of times about the chest," Kaufman said.

Police said Flory was dressed in pants and a tee shirt. He was not wearing shoes.

Flory's body was identified by his brother-in-law, Benjamin Brown of Livonia.

A paycheck stub found in his pocket from the Star Cutter Co. in Farmington, where Flory was employed, led police to his identification.

★ ★ ★

Flory, was last seen about 8:30 p. m. Wednesday in a Farmington bar, according to police. A team of detectives today were questioning persons who might have seen Flory after that time.

Claim Victory for Integration Demonstrations

Dixie Officials Scoff at Proposal to End Alabama Racial Strife

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Jubilant Negro integration leaders mapped plans today for a voter registration drive on the heels of what they considered an overwhelming victory in Birmingham's six-week-long integration effort.

City officials, however, scoffed at a biracial citizen's committee agreement on proposals to end the conflict, which has seen more than hoses and police dogs brought into play to control seething throngs of Negro demonstrators.

★ ★ ★

Integration forces — led by the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta have kept the city virtually under siege since April 3.

As the Negroes began gathering volunteers for a door-to-door registration campaign, city leaders were adamant in their statements that the agreement was not binding on them.

Staunch segregationist Police Commissioner Eugene Connor, who directed the arrests and repulsed the crowds, said the agreement was "the lying face-saving statement that ever was issued."

WON'T INTERFERE

Connor, however, said he would not interfere if businessmen wished to integrate their lunch counters—one of the key points King said was agreed upon by the group.

King said the agreement provided:

1. Desegregation of lunch counters, rest rooms, fitting rooms and drinking fountains in downtown stores in planned stages within the next 90 days.

★ ★ ★

2. The upgrading and hiring of Negroes on a nondiscriminatory basis, including the hiring of Negroes as clerks and salesmen within the next 60 days.

3. Arrangements for the release of all persons arrested during racial demonstrations on bond or personal recognizance.

4. Communications between Negroes-established within the next two weeks.

NO OFFICIAL STATUS

The agreement has no official status. The committee was composed of a representative group of businessmen, according to its chairman, Sidney Smyer, a lawyer and real estate broker.

Mayor Albert Boutwell says the agreement is not binding on the newly chosen mayor and City Council.

Commission Mayor Arthur Hanes called the agreement hogwash, and said he would order the arrest of any persons violating the city's segregation codes.

Castro Says Stage Set for Discussion

NEW YORK (AP)—Fidel Castro says the recent exchange of prisoners between the United States and Cuba set the stage for "the beginning of better relations" between the two countries.

★ ★ ★

The Cuban prime minister, in a filmed interview televised Friday night, also said that the question of Soviet "technicians" in his country should be discussed among all three of the powers involved—the United States, the Soviet Union and Cuba.

He said he didn't think it was good that "the United States wants to discuss it with the Soviet Union, without us."

The bearded Communist dictator also left the door open for a discussion on compensating U.S. firms for the expropriation of their property in Cuba.

Castro was interviewed at the Hotel Riviera in Havana last month by ABC news commentator Lisa Howard. The interview was telecast by the network in a special one-hour program, along with comments on it by Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and Kenneth B. Keating.

Humphrey, Minnesota Democrat, and Keating, a New York Republican who has been highly critical of the administration's Cuban policy, each declared there could be no U.S.-Cuban talks until Russian troops and weapons have been withdrawn from the Caribbean island.

WON'T NEGOTIATE

Said Humphrey: "We will not sit down and negotiate with Mr. Castro as long as Cuba is being used as a base for Soviet military power, and that there is a Soviet military presence which is a threat to the security of this nation in Cuba."

Said Keating: "We cannot deal at all until the Russian troops and weapons are out of there. We can't even talk about it, and that should be made very clear."

★ ★ ★

Castro was asked about the recent exchange of 21 Americans held prisoner in Cuba for the three Cubans and one Cuban-American imprisoned in the United States on charges ranging from espionage to murder. Did that show "a beginning of a reapproachment"—that is, a resumption of cordial relations—between the two countires? Miss Howard asked.

★ ★ ★

"It is the beginning. . . It is possible if we can use it, if the United States wants it, it is the beginning of better relations," Castro replied.

"It's a way of diminishing tension," he added. "It's one way—and just as all the other steps that the United States government has given are other steps—like stopping the piratical attacks against Cuba—all these are steps in the right direction."

Castro apparently was referring to the recent U.S. ban on raids against Cuba originating from U.S. soil. Such raids have been conducted in the past by Cuban exile groups.

Enrique Ruiz Williams, unofficial coordinator of a movement to form a junta in exile to sponsor the counterrevolution, said he believed the body will be established within a week or two.

Other informed exile sources said that shortly thereafter, recruiting of rebels to infiltrate Cuba for underground activities would start.

The sources said plans made with the knowledge of the Central Intelligence Agency call for large-scale sabotage, guerrilla warfare and infiltration of armed forces, to be climaxed by bombardment or invasion from a non-U.S. base.

"Just about everybody wants unity now," Ruiz Williams, a wounded veteran of the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion, said by telephone from New York City, where he flew from Puerto Rico on a junta-organizing tour.

"We need a structure to correlate efforts to overthrow Castro."

TO VISIT WASHINGTON

Ruiz Williams, a 1945 graduate of Colorado School of Mines, Golden, Colo., said that after conferring with exiles in New York he would visit Washington. He has conferred frequently with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, with whom he became friendly after his release from a Cuban prison last year.

"I have been working for a month on this unity thing, but I am not the only one doing it. I am just another person trying to unite the people for the common cause of overthrowing Castro. And all are meeting with great response."

★ ★ ★

Working with Ruiz Williams is a group of prominent exiles who quietly, almost secretly, organized what is known as "The Commission." They fan out among refugees to put together the junta.

Leaders noted that members of "The Commission" were aloof from exile politics and had not collaborated markedly either with the Castro regime or that of dictator Fulgencio Batista, which preceded it.

Airline Dispute to Halt Flights?

Atomic Power Reactor Gets Operation License

LONDON (AP)—A dispute over air fares threatened today to disrupt airline flights between the United States and Britain at midnight.

The dispute revolves around refusal of the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board to permit U.S. airlines flying to Europe to increase their fares by 5 per cent. British and other European airlines want the increase.

The British are believed prepared to deny landing rights to the U.S. airlines—Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines—unless they increase their fares by midnight.

The United States is expected to retaliate. Canada is lined up with the United States.

The British Foreign Office sent a note today to Washington setting forth its position. There was no official word on what the note said.

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—A Budapest court has sentenced three former state prosecutors to jail terms ranging from six to eight years for corruption and bribery.

Day-Care Program

Discusses Mental Ills

There is no longer a sharp border line between the normal individual and one who is mentally ill. During the past 10 years, psychiatrists have come to realize that a clear-cut distinction is artificial and unworkable.

★ ★ ★

Speaker was Dr. Henry Brill, MD., director of Pilgrim State Hospital, West Brentwood, N.Y. Dr. Brill is deputy commissioner of the New York State Mental Hygiene Department.

According to Dr. Brill, treatment of the mentally ill has always been a practical matter. Before the days of drugs which give quick control of distressing behavior, locked hospitals seemed the only answer. Now, he added, it is possible to be more flexible in treatment.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Brill has supervised and studied a number of day-care clinics. In these clinics or hospitals, patients may come in for a full day, a few hours, or possibly overnight.

This type of treatment center is to be established at Pontiac State Hospital in the near future.

Dr. Brill said the day hospital proposed locally is the least formal of all, requiring no additional buildings or separate facilities.

Patients will go to the hospital and use whatever facilities are needed.

"Public understanding and acceptance is essential to a good day care program; he said. The cooperation of families must be secured. Commuting from home to hospital must be practical for patients."

"Seriousness of the mental illness is not the criterion for acceptance in a day-care program," Dr. Brill added. "There are no committment papers. Both group and individual therapy are used, as well as occupational therapy, counseling and drug therapy."

Becoming involved in such a program which is contrary to accepted modes of treatment is not without risk, Dr. Brill said.

It is both a challenge and a threat to doctors who are continually exposed to mistakes in this pioneering movement.

★ ★ ★

Re-elected for a two-year term on the board of directors of the Oakland County chapter were Mrs. John Driver, Mrs. H. B. Green, Elmer Hartwig, and Frieda Huggett.

Others are Mrs. A. W. Nevala, Mrs. Carmi J. Odell, Mrs. Walter P. Reuther, Mrs. George Stoughton and Rev. John Wigle.

Named as new members of the board for a two-year term were Mrs. Robert Turpin, Dr. George Roper, Dr. John English and J. Fred Lawton.

Concluding the list are Mrs. R. J. Slingerland, Mrs. Ronald Grigg, Leonard Bender and Robert James.

Says Government Health Plans Likely

DETROIT — UAW President Walter P. Reuther delivered a blast at the American Medical Association (AMA) last night, predicting Americans will turn to governmental health plans "if the AMA continues to resist the move toward comprehensive medical care."

Reuther addressed more than 400 physicians and health insurance officials from the United States and Canada who attended a banquet at the 13th annual Group Health Institute here.

Reuther said the AMA "may make government health care inevitable" if it continues to "hinder the progress" of cooperative medical plans.

★ ★ ★

The labor leader charged that when Blue Cross first came out, the AMA "tried to block every inch of every step forward."

"Blue Cross had the backing of the UAW," Reuther said. "Fifty per cent of our members were subscribers. But we had to fight the AMA, which put unbelievable pressure on doctors not to join the program."

"Now," Reuther said, "the same people who fought Blue Cross act as though they originated the idea when we try to move forward to better things."

Reuther cited the present "loosely-knit" organization of medical care, which he said which raise costs."

President, Canadian Ending Talks

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy and Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson of Canada held the final formal meeting of their two-day conference today and promised an early pronouncement on the sticky U.S.-Canadian nuclear defense issue.

★ ★ ★

The President and Pearson began their windup conference at 10 a.m., at Kennedy's oceanfront home.

Agreement on a formal communique, which will deal with the defense issue, was one of the last items of business for the two leaders.

This 4-year-old problem, a major issue in the Canadian election that boosted Pearson to power last month, was discussed by the President and the prime minister during more than four hours of talks Friday.

★ ★ ★

In addition, both leaders announced at an impromptu press conference Friday night that progress had been made on six other major questions of mutual interest to their neighboring countries.

The touchy defense issue hinges around a proposal to provide American-controlled nuclear warheads for two Bomarc missile bases in Canada.

★ ★ ★

Pearson and Kennedy gave no advance clue to whether the new Canadian government will accept the warheads, spurned by the preceding administration of defeated Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker. The answer could come in a conference-ending communique later today.

The Kennedy-Pearson talks got under way at the President's summer home in this Cape Cod community less than 90 minutes after the two men arrived to the martial music of a military band at nearby Otis Air Force Base.

Phenomena of 2 Practices Jolts Church

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two practices spreading among Episcopalians, speaking in in tongues and laying on of hands, "have surprised and dismayed a number of clergy and lay people," says a spokesman for Bishop James A. Pike.

★ ★ ★

Bishop Pike of the Episcopal Diocese of California admonished clergymen in a pastoral letter last Sunday against the practice of glossolalia, talking in a tongue usually unintelligible to the speaker or the listener. The subject regards the Holy Spirit as speaking through him.

★ ★ ★

But the practice has continued and the bishop has called for a report on the matter.

★ ★ ★

Bishop Pike based his letter, read in 740 churches of central coastal California, on a year-long study by a commission he appointed to evaluate and make recommendations on the phenomenon, which has mushroomed in the church since 1958. A number of Episcopal clergymen and hundreds of the church's laymen have experienced it, he noted.

★ ★ ★

He banned the practice in Episcopal churches as running counter to the Anglican tradition of use of the vernacular or native language in worship.

Duvalier Turns Against Church

Arrest Catholic Priest During Current Crisis

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (UPI) — Belated reports of the arrest of a priest made it appear today that President Francois Duvalier may be turning his wrath against the Roman Catholic Church.

★ ★ ★

It was reported last night that Father J. Miland, a parish priest, was arrested on unspecified charges Tuesday night. He is believed to be the first churchman who has been arrested in the course of the current crisis.

Neighbors said they heard the policemen who arrested Father Miland tell him, "if you were white, you would be executed."

Despite new threats of invasion from the Dominican Republic, however, tension in this colorful tropical capital appeared to be easing.

The nightly curfew period was reduced last night from nine hours to five hours.

★ ★ ★

Residents of Port-au-Prince are now required to stay off the streets only between 11 p. m. and 4 a. m., rather than during the 8 p. m.-to-5 a. m. period established by previous regulations.

Few Haitians cared to cut their time too fine, despite the relaxed regulations. An alleged curfew-breaker was shot and killed shortly before 8 p. m. one night last week by a militiaman whose watch apparently was fast.

Bird Lover Gets Answer to Tree-Spraying Protest

BIRMINGHAM — A 9-year-old boy who claimed the city was "cracked" for trying "to make birds extinced" has received some answers to the questions he and his father raised.

★ ★ ★

The City Commission this week received letters from Ricky McKenzie and his father Roderick of 240 Aspen urging that DDT not be used to spray trees.

They said the chemical was responsible for destruction of the city's bird population.

Since then, at least 23 of Ricky's fourth grade classmates at Baldwin School have sent similar protests.

Darrel C. Middlewood, forestry superintendent, this week sent a reply to McKenzie and spoke to the fourth graders.

Answering McKenzie's charge that a bird had died on his lawn an hour after the neighborhood had been sprayed, Middlewood said, "To the best of my knowledge, DDT as we apply it here could not possibly cause death that quick.

"It takes up to 48 hours to cause the death of the insects for which we're spraying," he added.

★ ★ ★

The forestry chief this week contacted Walter Nichol, Cranbrook Institute naturalist who two years ago had encouraged the city to maintain its spraying program.

Nichol had written that rather than change to another chemical, a DDT spraying would be okay if completed before April 15.

"When I contacted him Tuesday morning, he said this still held true," Middlewood reported.

"Unfortunately, we didn't stop spraying until about three weeks after April 15 this year."

★ ★ ★

Because of the hard winter, the city sprayed later than usual. Most private concerns and home owners are still spraying, Middlewood noted.

Soapy Set for Queries in County

Former Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams may find himself fielding some hot questions about foreign aid when he visits Oakland County tomorrow.

Democrats plan to ask Soapy for his comments on the Clay report advocating reductions in foreign aid.

★ ★ ★

"No one in the State Department has yet made any comment on it," says James M. McNeely, executive assistant to County Democratic Chairman Sander M. Levin.

"We don't know whether Soapy will talk about it or not," McNeely said.

Williams is scheduled to speak at a 3 p.m. meeting Sunday at the Maplewood Club House, 2008 N. Woodward, Royal Oak.

Currently assistant U. S. secretary of state for African affairs, Williams is expected to speak briefly about foreign affairs and then submit to questioning.

Some 150 are expected to attend the meeting, which will be open to the public.

The event is sponsored by the Democratic Business and Professional Association of Oakland County.

The Clay report was submitted to President Kennedy last month by a special presidential committee headed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

IN PERU — Shown outside his hut with Amarakairi Indians in Peru is (center) Robert Tripp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Tripp of 139 Illinois. Robert has written two of a planned series of primers for teaching the Indians to read their own language. He uses words that can be illustrated with pictures of birds, animals, children and canoes. He will later teach them Spanish to integrate them into the national life of Peru. His work is with the Wycliffe Bible Translators.

Mrs. Leslie R. Tripp Visits Indian Village

Mother Meditates on Mission

Mother's Day for Mrs. Leslie R. Tripp of 139 Illinois will be observed recalling the wonderful work her son is doing among the Indians in Peru. She spent sometime with him several weeks ago.

Bob as he is known by the family is doing linguistic work for the Summer Institute of Linguistics and Wycliffe Bibe Translators. He works with the Amarakairi Indians in the jungles of southeastern Peru.

For three years he has been with the Indian village located on the Colorado River about 500 miles south, southeast of Yarinacocha. This is the base of operations about 360 miles northeast of Lima on the coast.

Their spoken language has been reduced to written form and arranged as an alphabet.

Currently Bob is making an analysis of the grammar. He has written two of a planned series of primers for teaching the Indians to read their own language.

He will also teach some Spanish to integrate them into the national life of Peru. In the primers he uses words which can be illustrated with pictures of birds, animals, children, canoes and so on.

RECORDINGS HELP

Tape recordings are an invaluable aid to the 60 linguists such as Bob working out of Yarinacocha.

He gets stories as told by the more intelligent members of the group on tape—such as legends, hunting and fishing stories. They are studied to get the word meanings, including use of affixes.

Ultimate goal of these linguists is to provide Indian tribes with translations of the New Testament in their native tongues.

In the meantime native teachers are trained in Yarincocha to teach them reading and writing. They are also taught improved methods of agriculture.

★ ★ ★

The purpose of the Wycliffe Bible Translators is to leave the Indians with rudimentary education in their own language so that they will not need the permanent services of a missionary.

The translators not only want to win the Indians to Christianity but to develop for them a well rounded life, materially, mentally and spiritually.

Bob spends about six months of the year with the tribe and the rest of the year doing language work in Yarinacocha.

IN THATCHED-ROOF HOUSE

Bob lives in a thatched-roof house. The building is about 3 feet long. His quarters are in one end. In the rest of the space he takes care of the Indians' needs as medical in an improvised hospital. His meat diet consists largely of game and fish. He has learned to bake, including banana bread.

★ ★ ★

The Indians live in two houses, one 100 feet long, the other about 45 feet. They still are primitive and highly superstitous but happy and friendly.

The tribes grow sugar cane, pineapple, papaya, seven varieties of bananas, a fruit called cocona and a root eaten raw. Bob has started them growing oranges, lemons, coffee and mangoes.

These Indians hunt with bow and arrow. They also fish with bow and arrow by dumping barbasco in still water. The milk juice from the root stuns the fish.

They have learned to pan for gold in the river. This they learned from the Peruvians. Bob serves as trader as well as doctor and teacher. He buys their gold, produce and in turn sells and buys articles the natives want—pots, pans, yard goods, ax heads, etc.

He trades these through the organization at Yarinacocha. Modern science has come to the aid of these isolated men and women linguists. They are in contact with the base by radio and served by 10 planes.

★ ★ ★

Each man has a regular hour for reporting to the base. If he is not heard from, a plane is sent to investigate.

How long does Bob expect to be with these Indians? "Five years, maybe 10, who knows?" he says.
