Race Integration in Little Rock Skids to Halt

Federal Judge Rules Central High Can Delay Mixing Until 1961

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—An Arkansas U.S. District judge today ruled that racial integration at embattled Little Rock Central High School could be suspended until 1961.

U.S. Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley of Hope said in his order, received by mail in the district clerk's office here, that the Little Rock gradual plan for desegregation could be suspended for 2½ years without the school "being considered collectively or individually, in contempt of this court."

His ruling means that the seven Negro students still enrolled in the 2,000-pupil school at the conclusion of the past school year will be banned from Central this September.

Wiley Branton of Pine Bluff, an attorney for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People who opposed the suspension, declined to say whether Lemley's ruling would be appealed.

On the other side, Wayne Upton, president of the school board, expressed pleasure at the judge's decision.

"I feel we made a strong case, and I am quite well pleased with the results of the hearing," he said.

Upton and other board witnesses told Lemley at the hearing here that racial incidents continued at Central throughout the past school year despite the presence of federal troops. They said they saw nothing to indicate that the situation would change this September if the Negroes were allowed to return.

The school board president said the board had based its request for a 2½-year suspension in part on the fact that Gov. Orval Faubus may no longer be governor in 1961.

Last fall Faubus placed national guardsmen at the school on the eve of the school opening and ordered the troops to prevent Negroes from entering despite a federal court order directing the beginning of racial desegregation. Nine Negro students were turned away.

Don't Panic, Close Ranks, Nixon Urges Republican Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon, seeking to calm Republican jitters over the Sherman Adams controversy, says party leaders should close ranks and not panic.

In a pep talk last night to Republican state chairman, Nixon said:

"The trouble with Republicans is that when they get into trouble they start like a bunch of cannibals."

Nixon's words were reported by two state chairmen who said the vice president made no direct reference to Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide.

A growing number of Republican congressmen have called for Adams to step out or be fired in the light of his acknowledged acceptance of favors from Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

Many Republicans feel GOP election prospects this fall will be harmed if Adams remains as top White House aide even though President Eisenhower says he needs Adams.

But one state chairman, Alphonzo E. Bell Jr. of California, said Nixon, without mentioning Adams' name, expressed doubt the controversy "will have much effect on the November elections."

Bell said that "as far as California is concerned, the vice president thinks the improvement in the economy will far outweigh any other issue." He added he agrees with Eisenhower that Adams should stay on the job.

★ ★ ★

The vice president also was said

6-Foot Sturgeon Battles Anglers, Finally Loses

MT. CLEMENS (UPI)—A six-foot-long sturgeon estimated to weigh at least 70 pounds towed three fishermen around in a small boat in the St. Clair River off Harsen's Island before the fish was finally landed.

Mrs. Janet Hagenjos who lives nearby reported the catch but was unable to identify the fishermen.

Mrs. Hagenjos witnessed the three-hour battle the anglers had with the huge sturgeon. She said the fish pulled the boat more than a mile before it finally tired and was pulled aboard.

The biggest lake sturgeon on record weighed 300 pounds and was killed by a freighter's propeller near Ludington.

LONDON (UPI)—Police speculated that a three-year-old boy found wandering on a London street was too shy to give his name. His parents gave it when they claimed him—Fwharhod Nirouman-zadeh.

FOUR BEAUTIES — Larry Lazenby, 14, of Waterford Township, became the first fisherman to turn in an entry for the 1958 Pontiac Press Fishing Derby this morning when he entered a 2½ pound bass, the largest of four he is shown holding. He hauled in "the biggest fish I've ever caught" at Huntoon Lake 30 minutes after the bass season started today. The contest will run until September 1 for bass, pike and bluegill.

Greek Cypriots Renew Violence

British Residents Told to Remain on Alert for Underground Attacks

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — The Greek-Cypriot underground hinted today at a renewal of large-scale violence on Cyprus by resuming its lynch-slayings of fellow Greek islanders opposed to its policies.

★ ★ ★

Masked men shot and killed a Greek Cypriot shoemaker in a village in the mountainous Troodos District Thursday night. Another Greek in the same village was shot several times and critically wounded.

Three other Greek-Cypriots from the same area were killed yesterday when their house was blown up.

The underground organization, EOKA, whose army fought a deadly hit-and-run battle against the British for nearly two years, was blamed for the violence.

★ ★ ★

The British showed official concern that large-scale terrorism was resuming by warning British residents on the island that EOKA still regards them as a "target for its gunmen."

The warning was contained in registered letters marked secret which gave detailed instructions on how to cope with attackers.

Two thousand reinforcements are being sent from Britain to bolster the British security force already on Cyprus to near 30,000.

Summer Here Today Despite Chilly Debut

The weatherman had a chilly welcome for summer, making its debut at 4:57 p.m. today, but old Sol saved part of the day with some sunny smiles for the Pontiac area.

Sunny and cool is the forecast, with little change in temperature expected tonight and tomorrow. A high of 66-70 today and a low tonight of 46-50 is predicted, with temperatures hovering around the 70 mark tomorrow and near 50 tomorrow night.

Winds will be light and variable, with fair weather continuing through Sunday and changing to partly cloudy and continued cool Monday.

Lowest temperature in Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 50. At 1 p.m. the mercury stood at 68 degrees.

May Use Tranquilizer Gun on Fugitive

Sea Lion Eluding Capture

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—How do you recapture a slippery California sea lion who has tasted freedom in the Great Lakes?

That problem was being mulled over today by Phil Skeldon, director of the Toledo Zoo.

The 100-pound sea lion led a police harbor patrol and Skeldon a merry chase up the Maumee River yesterday. The pursuers finally gave up, deciding they had no way to capture the animal without injuring it.

Skeldon today was waiting for another sighting report from the harbor patrol before launching another sea lion chase.

"We might use a capture gun," he mused to a reporter.

What is a capture gun?

"That's an air gun — well, it's powered by gas, actually—which fires an aluminum syringe. You give him a shot of tranquillizer . . . "

The sea lion escaped a London, Ont., zoo, where it had arrived before its wire enclosure was finished. It was spotted yesterday near the Toledo docks on Lake Erie.

Skeldon said the sea lion probably could survive for a long time in the river.

The sea lion—which didn't stay long enough at London to get a name—has been on the loose since Tuesday. He escaped by sliding under a fence at Springbank Park in London shortly after he and his mate arrived from California.

He wandered down the Thames River to Lake St. Clair, into the Detroit river and across the end of Lake Erie to the Maumee.

The year-old sea pup eluded elaborate efforts to catch him before he got out of the Thames. Cages and nets failed to catch him, and a recording of a sea lion's bark from the mate he left behind wouldn't lure him.

Skeldon said it was feared the sea lion might have been injured fatally if a steel net had been used to capture him on the Maumee. And the sea lion would bite through a cord fisherman's net.

At London, zoo officials seemed to have lost interest in their wandering sea lion, which is a variety of seal with ears. California sea lions cost only about $150 plus $60 shipping and another animal has been ordered.

Supervisors Committee Meets

Airing of Plans to Realign Local Government Slated

Recommendation's for sweeping changes in Oakland County's government structure are expected to be brought out in the open Monday at a meeting of a committee on government reform.

Members will debate pros and cons probably on point one of a heretofore secret list of radical proposals aimed at streamlining the government.

Visiting the committee will be Sherwood J. Bennett, controller for Macomb County since 1932.

Minutes of a secret meeting June 3 placed appointment of an Oakland County controller or administrator on top of the list of changes.

Storm Capsizes Cruiser Early Friday Evening

Fishermen Find Boys' Bodies Tied Together This Morning

MT. CLEMENS (UPI)—The bodies of three boys and a father were recovered today from Lake St. Clair and a second father is missing and presumed drowned.

Macomb county sheriff's deputies said the boys were found lashed together, and all wearing lifejackets.

Victims were listed as Joseph Pietrowski, his sons, Thomas, 15, and Ralph, 12, and Michael Kroll, 10. Young Kroll's father, Air Force Sgt. Milton Kroll, about 36, on leave from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., is feared drowned. Authorities said the victims all lived in Detroit.

The sheriff's office said the party left the foot of Masonic St. on the lake shore around 5 p.m. last night in a 22-foot cabin cruiser on a fishing trip.

Fishermen heading out into the lake this morning for the opening of the bass season discovered the boat capsized in the water. The boys were found nearby and were pronounced dead on arrival at Mt. Clemens Hospital along with the elder Pietrowski.

Coast Guardsmen from Harsens Island and the Detroit station were conducting the search for Sergeant Kroll. Sheriff's Deputies Ray Bursens and Robert Mcrea set the time of the tragedy at around 7 p.m. They said a watch found on Pietrowski had stopped at that hour.

The deputies said, "apparently they saw the storm coming and prepared for it . . . but their preparations were not enough to save them.

"The boys were afloat but dead when fishermen found them. Pietrowski was tied to a boat seat—the kind that doubles as a life preserver."

Minor Car Accidents Go Unheeded

By HAROLD S. COHEN

The citizen who has a minor traffic accident in Pontiac had better do his own police work and round up his own witnesses — there is little chance of the police coming to his aid.

That is the conclusion of many persons who have called the police after an accident only to be refused the assignment of an officer to the case.

According to Police Chief Herbert W. Straley and Capt. Joseph Koren, head of the Traffic Bureau, shortage of manpower often means that no officer can be sent to a minor accident, even when one party calls in a request.

Beyond that, Capt. Koren notes that state law only requires a report on major or injury accidents.

The police many times ask the caller if anyone is injured and if the cars can be driven away — if the answer is yes to both questions, an officer may not be sent to the scene if none is free to go.

Another contributing factor, Chief Straley and Capt. Koren state, is that the officers know they are not allowed by the Municipal Court to issue tickets unless they witnessed the accident themselves.

This situation grows out of an honest difference of opinion between the municipal judges and the police.

The judges insist that the law does not allow a warrant to be issued, and they consider a ticket as a warrant, unless an eye witness is the complainant.

The judges point out that too often where tickets are issued by officers who arrive after the violation, they simply take the word of the driver who is the best talker of the two.

The police, however, point longingly at Detroit and other Michigan cities where tickets are given out to one or both drivers by officers summoned to the scene of an accident. This gets the matter before the court, they say.

The judges maintain that the Detroit system is illegal and everyone knows it and they will not be a party to it.

The result is, more than one citizen has found, that if someone runs a red light and hits your car, no report is taken or ticket issued. If a lawsuit later developes, each driver can blame the other unless one has had the foresight to round up a witness.

Many a party has found that

State Printers Convene in City

Open 3-Day Convention Sunday, With Annual Banquet Monday

Pontiac will be host to the conventions of the Michigan Federation Typographical Unions, its auxiliary and the Junior Typographical Union (apprentices).

★ ★ ★

The Waldron Hotel will be headquarters and meeting place for the conventions which open at noon Sunday and continue until noon Tuesday.

Chairman for the affair is William C. Pfahlert, of The Pontiac Press, with DeVere Bigler, of Standard Printing, as co-chairman.

Highlights will include the annual banquet at the Roosevelt Masontic Temple on State avenue Monday night and a smorgasbord dinner and dance Sunday night at the Elks Temple at which Gov. G. Mennen Williams is expected.

★ ★ ★

Kennett Hull, president of the MFTU, will preside at the convention meetings and greetings from the city will be given by Mayor William Donaldson Monday morning.

UAW Says Members OK Strike

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union said today a strike vote in progress at General Motors and Ford Co. plants is running more than 13-1 in favor of a walkout.

Union officials said returns from 33 UAW locals at General Motors plants and 13 Ford locals show a total of 57,668 for and 4,397 against striking if necessary to back up union demands in current bargaining sessions with the Big Three auto companies. There was no progress report on the vote at Chrysler Corp. locals.

Negotiations on new contracts are in recess over the week end. They are scheduled to resume Monday at GM and Ford and Tuesday at Chrysler.

Workers at all three auto companies have continued on the job despite the expiration of union contracts nearly three weks ago.

Incidents of sabotage were reported this week at Chrysler and GM plants, but the UAW denied responsibility for the acts.

Branton was assisted in arguing against the school board's suspension petition by Thurgood Marshall of New York, chief NAACP counsel, and U. Simpson Tate of Dallas, Tex.

U.N. Committee Meeting Today

Fears Violence in Hungary

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) —The United Nations Special Hungarian Committee meets today to consider action to stop the spread of a reported "blood bath" in Hungary.

The five-nation committee, which last year returned the United Nations' most scorching indictment of Russia for its brutal repression of the October, 1956, revolt, was under heavy pressure to call for a special sesion of the General Assembly to handle the situation.

Informed diplomatic sources said, however, that it is expected to limit itself to sending strong protests to Russia and Hungary concerning the secret trial and execution of former Premier Imre Nagy, Gen. Pal Maleter and two other revoluntionary leaders.

U. S. sources said it is "premature" to speculate that the 81-nation Assembly might be called into an extraordinary session, although they indicated such action may eventually be taken.

Across the ocean, student riots in Bonn and Paris and a crossfire of diplomatic protests today created a swelling wave of international indignation over the Communist betrayal-slayings of "freedom Premier" Nagy and other leaders of Hungary's abortive revolt.

European refugees from Red terror and anti-Communists in Nationalist China demanded the expulsion of Russia and its satellites from the United Nations.

In Paris, National Assembly sources said the French government believes the execution of Nagy and other indications of a "hardening" in Soviet policy have all but killed chances of a "summit" meeting this year.

Communist secrecy veiled details of the executions, but West European newspapers speculated today that they died of slow strangulation—Red Hungary's traditional method of official killing—a few hours before their deaths were announced to the world Tuesday.

In Bonn last night, Hungarian students from half a dozen German cities collected outside the Russian Embassy and smashed windows with stones and ink bottles in a furious protest against Soviet duplicity.

Police used clubs to break up the riotous demonstration, arresting 19 of the students and herding the others back into the buses that brought them to the West German capital.

AMC Wonders About Directors

Will Wolfson's Two Associates Remain on Board Now?

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors Corp. reported today it has no word on whether the two associates of financier Louis E. Wolfson will remain on the company's board of directors now that Wolfson has pulled out of AMC.

Wolfson jarred AMC management yesterday with his announcement that he had sold 100,000 shares of AMC stock and was disposing of another 300,000, all the stock owned by his immediate family.

While Wolfson disclaimed any role in AMC management, the rise of the company from the depths of failure to its present profitable position coincided with Wolfson's interest.

Only last February at the annual AMC stockholders meeting, one of the two directors installed by the New York-Miami financier told jittery stockholders Wolfson would not pull out. The new director was Martin Segal, Jacksonville, Fla., president of Continental Enterprises, Inc., in which Wolfson has interests.

The other Wolfson man on the AMC board is William A. Shea, New York lawyer. Shea owned 1,500 shares, Segal 1,000 shares and Continental Enterprises 5,000 shares at the last stockholders meeting. Shea and Segal were elected because of Wolfson's big holdings.

Minor Car Accidents Go Unheeded in City

bystanders who saw the accident are reluctant to give their names as witnesses if it is not a police officer who is asking.

Also the strange situation exists, that if you run a light and an officer sees you, you get a ticket. If you run a light and hit another car and the officer doesn't see the violation, you may not get a ticket unless the other driver gets a warrant for your arrest.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan Legislature has consistently avoided making the law clear, and no test cases exist as to whether the Detroit system is legal.

★ ★ ★

The resultant confusion, ensuing from a lack of manpower, adds up to a hit or miss type of traffic enforcement in Pontiac. The National Safety Council and other traffic safety agencies have long urged that every accident should be reported to the police and thoroughly investigated.

Supervisors Meet Monday

Public Work Department to Return Most of Budget

It took Oakland County's one-year-old Department of Public Works just one-fifth of the money appropriated last year to put the department on its feet.

The Board of Supervisors will be told this when they convene Monday for its third June meeting to act on a long 17-point agenda. The session will be held in the Supervisors' Room in the County Office Building.

Hiland M. Thatcher, a member of the DPW board and supervisors' vice chairman, will report that there is a balance of $39,885 out of a $50,000 fund which can be returned to the county's general fund.

The $10,114 difference was spent for initial operations and plannings since the department was created last June 24. At this time, supervisors called for a first year report. Thatcher will present this Monday along with three other matters pertaining to the DPW.

These will involve adoptions of an ordinance and resolutions setting up water and sewage rates, and a request from Bloomfield Township that the county take over the present sewage facilities serving Bloomfield Village.

Among the numerous committee reports scheduled for Monday will be one from the Boundaries Committee recommending elections Nov. 4 for proposed incorporations of cities of Clarenceville and Farmington Woods, present areas in Farmington Township.

Aedistribution of previously-appropriated funds for planning county drain projects will be put before the board for approval.

Another request—for $20,000 to finance road construction in the county service center on Telegraph road—will be made by the Ways and Means Committee.

This committee will also present a report on a proposed Girl's Ranch to be made a part of the county's juvenile division.

The question of whether the county should allocate $500 toward the Huron River Water Shed will be laid before the supervisors also.

Civil Air Patrol Cadet to Make Tour of France

John, 18 year old graduate of Pontiac High School, will leave for a three week tour of France on July 27. The United States Air Force will provide the airlift to and from France.

He will have an opportunity to see much of France as a guest of aviation organizations there.

The other five cadets from Michigan chosen for the exchange program will visit Great Britain, Switzerland, Mexico, Norway and Portugal.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Fromm, 942 Wagner.

Area Olympic Star Dies of Heart Attack

Richard L. Byrd, 66, of 131 E. Long Lake Rd., Bloomfield Hills, former Olympic athlete, died unexpectedly yesterday following a heart attack in his yard.

He had been head of the Labor Relations Department of the Great Lakes Steel Corp. in Detroit. While attending the University of Illinois, Mr. Byrd placed second in the shot-put and discus throw in the Olympic Games of 1912 in Stockholm, Sweden.

He served as a first lieutenant in the Marine Corps during World War I.

Surviving are his wife, Iva C.; a daughter, Mrs. Cathryne Diegel of Detroit, a sister Mrs. Nellie Hickman of Milford, Ill., and two grandchildren.

The body will be taken at 4 p.m. tomorrow from the Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home in Pontiac to Attica, Ohio, for service and burial Tuesday.

State Troopers Raid 2 Places

Claim Club Near Holly Selling Liquor Minus License; Arrest 46

State Police from Flint Post and the Detroit racket squad raided two places near Holly last night, arresting 46 persons.

★ ★ ★

The 13 troopers and detectives entered the Crotched Lake Country Club, on Grange Hall road, and arrested the owner, Charles F. Allen, for operating and maintaining an illegal liquor place. They also arrested 44 others for frequenting the place. The club has no liquor license.

The frequenters all pleaded guilty last night before Justice Aubrey Butler and were fined $5 each.

The second raid was on 5449 Rood Rd. where the owner, Joel Marshall, was arrested on a charge of maintaining and operating an illegal liquor place.

The troopers said they would contact the Oakland County Prosecutor today to get warrants on Marshall and Allen.

of the county clerk and register of deeds, which the Board of Supervisors approved June 13.

Other proposals involve similar merger of offices, elimination of others, new appointments, and trimming the number of supervisors' committees to nine.

What specifically will come up Monday was a well-concealed fact. But one member said the meeting presumably will be for a "wrap-up" of further recommendations before they are submitted to the Board of Supervisors. When this will be also was not known. Supervisors meet just hours before the Special County Government Study Committee convenes Monday at the County Office Building.

It's End of the Line

CHICAGO (UP) — Old No. 238 lumbered into its terminal, emitted a final clang, and Chicago was without streetcar service today for the first time since the turn of the century.

Citizens Group, Governor Meet

Williams Says He Plans to Drastically Revamp State Government

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams plans to tailor state government in 1959 like a person would buy a new suit of clothes.

The governor revealed his hope to drastically streamline state government next year in a meeting with his citizen advisers on government reorganization.

He was quickly warned, however, against expecting too much in one year.

"This is a big challenge," Williams told the citizens committee. "I'm hoping there will be no patch job. I think we should go about it as a person does when he buys a new suit of clothes. . ."

W. F. Doyle, Michigan chain store representative who has participated in several reorganization studies which have come to naught in the past, warned:

"Let's not get grandiose ideas or the recommendations will wind up like the others—in the waste basket."

Williams left it up to the citizens group, whose function it will be to "react" to proposed changes developed by a special staff, to lay out an agenda at the next meeting of the group, in Detroit July 31.

The group, headed by Pontiac Circuit Judge Clark Adams as chairman, Doyle as vice chairman and University of Michigan Professor Lynn Eley as secretary, was formed to help the governor carry out the intention of a reorganization bill passed by the Legislature this year.

The bill permits the governor to submit reorganization plans to the Legislature and have them become effective in 60 days unless vetoed by the lawmakers.

The Day in Birmingham

Greater Fire Protection Planned for Bloomfield

BIRMINGHAM—Two steps have been taken that will assure residents and business places in Bloomfield Township of greater fire protection.

Construction has begun on the new fire station on Westview drive near the Eastover Elementary School, and maps showing the floor plans of every commercial building in the township are being prepared.

The fire station, approved by voters in the spring election, is expected to be completed by fall. Ground was broken Thursday.

A survey of business establishments, including the sprawling Miracle Mile, is being made by Volly Yanuszeki, a member of the Fire Department. the maps, showing layouts of buildings, exits, stairwells, wiring, offices and heating systems, will be carried in fire trucks.

Yanuszeki, who serves as township fire inspector, spent a week with the Birmingham Fire Department studying its map system.

"The maps are going to be valuable, especially in sections where there are several adjoining buildings," he said.

"Time is an important element in fighting fires and having a map and knowing just how to get at a blaze will aid greatly in preventing fires from spreading."

The several departments of the Congregational Church of Birmingham Sunday School will hold their annual Children's Day programs tomorrow. Members from kindergarten through upper junior departments will take part in both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship services.

Pomotional certificates will be presented in the regular classrooms following the services.

Newly-elected officers of the Senior High Fellowship include Lucy Barnes, president; Tim Young, vice president; Jerre Feinthal, treasurer; Debbie DuVall, secretary, and Donna Schwab, corresponding secretary.

Commission chairmen are Mike Morden, faith; Sue Cooper, action, and Dan Dandrea, fellowship.

Birmingham's Altrusa Club has discontinued meetings for the summer months. Recently installed officers are Mrs. Millard Newcomb, president; Marion Goodale, vice president; Mrs. Cyril Lewis, recording secretary; June Keil, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Warden Pratt, treasurer.

to have told the chairmen that Republicans, when in trouble, tend to battle each other instead of fighting the Democrats.

Nixon was host to the chairmen at the windup of a campaign school here. During that meeting, the chairmen split on the Adams issue when their views were sought by reporters.

Meanwhile, Rep. Richard M. Simpson, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, said the Adams controversy "can only be harmful" to the GOP at the ballot box this year.

Simpson, from Pennsylvania, made plain in an interview that he was not speaking officially for the committee.

New calls for Adams to quit came yesterday from Republican congressional ranks. One such call was voiced by Sen. Arthur V. Watkins of Utah, who won Eisenhower's praise in 1954 for the job Watkins did as chairman of a committee that recommended censure of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis).

But Sen. Wallace F. Bennett (R-Utah) differed with Watkins, saying "whether or not Sherman Adams should resign is, I think, a matter between Mr. Adams and the President." Watkins is up for re-election this year. Bennett is not.

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) announced that Goldfine has agreed to appear July 1, with records, before Harris' House subcommittee that touched off the Adams incident. The subcommittee has been investigating alleged pressures on federal regulatory agencies.

Flood Crisis Over in Hoosier State

RUSSELLVILLE, Ill. (UPI) — Heavy rains in the Illinois-Indiana flood regions caused rivers to rise today, but the major flood crisis appeared past in the Hoosier state.

River towns along the rampaging Wabash in southern Illinois so far were holding their own against floodwaters which had destroyed or damaged some million acres of rich farmland in Indiana in the past two weeks.

But the situation remained critical at Westport, downstream from the Russellville-Vincennes, Ind. citadel where the debris-laden river was to crest at 27 and a half feet early today.

A marathon sandbag operation was conducted on an around-the-clock basis at Westport to protect a threatened 35,000-acre tract.

A late-afternoon report yesterday showed that the Wabash had reached 26 and three quarters feet at Vincennes, considered the strongest point along the swollen river's present path. Though protected by a flood wall, Vincennes suffered sewer seepage.

Though considerably slowed-down in its rise in the past 24 hours, it was feared the river would derive new power from the heavy rains which fell throughout Indiana yesterday. Scattered thundershowers were forecast again for the southern two-thirds of the state today.

First signs of the new dangers were spotted upstream at Palestine, Ill. where the river began to rise again after declining a little. Reports also showed increases further downstream at Mt. Carmel, Ill.

Labor Dispute Halts Aquarama at Cleveland Dock

CLEVELAND (AP)—The S.S. Aquarama, a pleasure boat running between Detroit and Cleveland on Lake Erie, was tied up temporarily because of a labor dispute.

The boat, which usually makes one-day round trips, arrived here from Detroit yesterday but did not return. Fourteen Detroit residents who made the trip were sent back to Detroit by bus and airplane.

Gen. Manager William Proctor denied there was a strike.

He said the Aquarama will not sail until talks now being conducted in Detroit between lawyers of Michigan-Ohio Navigation, which operates the boat, and representatives of the Seamen's International Union are completed.

Proctor declined to say what was being discussed.

Police Nab 6 in Raid on Gambling Place

Pontiac police vice squad officers raided a home at 484 Franklin Rd. last night and arrested six men for alleged gambling.

Robert W. Walters, 38, was charged with maintaining and operating an illegal gambling place, and loitering charges were placed against the following:

Robert F. Smith, 28, of 37 Orchard Lake Ave.; Johnnie Shepard, 40, of 350 Branch St.; Tom Simms, 44, of 485 Colorado St.; Cary Childs, 36, of 281 Rockwell St.; and Herman Simpson, 34, of 188 Crystal Lake Dr.

Simms and Childs pleaded guilty this morning before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan. They were fined $10 or one day in jail. The others pleaded not guilty and were released on bond pending trial.

Bolt Matches Par to Hold Flint Lead

GRAND BLANC — The $52,000 Flint Open Golf Tournament, extended through Monday by yesterday's cancellation due to heavy rains, faced the prospects of sunny skies today for a change as the 138-man field made another attempt to complete the second 18-hole round at mamoth Warwick Hills.

Roberto DeVicenzo, the Argentine nomad who hails from Mexico City, holed out with a 2-under par 70 for the best round among the early starters. First round leader Tommy Bolt came in with a par 72 to stay in front at 141.

Spring Leaves in Blustery Fashion

First Summer Day Fair

By The Associated Press

★ ★ ★

But spring departed in typical blustery fashion: A few wet patches and the prospect of numerous showers and thundershowers over a vast area of the nation.

★ ★ ★

Sunshine was on tap for the Pacific Coast. The upper and mid-Mississippi Valley along with the Great Lakes region expected cooler climes, fused by an overnight burst of cool Canadian air.

Elsewhere, rainy weather was the prospective pattern.

Early morning rains whipped along a cloudy Atlantic seaboard. Charleston, S. C., was the target of a heavy rain, reporting more than two inches from isolated thunderstorms since last night. Areas of clouds and scattered showers also held for the central plains states, Arizona and New Mexico.

★ ★ ★

Traces of rain dotted the weather map last night in southern New England, the Ohio Valley and the Great Lakes. Scattered showers also doused sections of South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and Texas during the night.

★ ★ ★

A belt from eastern Kansas and Nebraska northward to the upper Great Lakes felt the impact last night of a cool air thrust, while generally hot, humid New Mexico and Arizona also saw somewhat cooler temperatures.

In Press Series Beginning Monday

Jet Air Age Described

The dawn of the nation's commercial jet air age is only four months away, after 15 years of planning by the airlines, airplane manufacturers and national, state and local governments.

The change from piston-engine to jet-engine is regarded in the industry as a step as momentous for transportation as the transition from sailboat to steamboat. But how many persons know what jet plane travel is going to be like?

United Press International has sought the answer from its bureaus in Europe and the United States, from airlines, travel experts and others associated with aviation. The results will be presented in four stories on the birth of the jet age, written by UPI correspondent Claire Cox, for publication in The Pontiac Press beginning Monday.

The first of the stories describes what the big passenger jet planes look like and what an actual trip in one will be like. The second tells of the tremendous expenses involved in getting the jet age off the ground.

The third is a roundup of airport facilities being developed for the jet age, and the last deals with hotel facilities, or the lack of them, in cities to be served by the new planes.

U.N. Chief Flying to Israel

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold left today to look into a couple of other Middle East hot spots after apparently failing to make any headway toward ending the six-week-old Lebanese rebellion.

As he flew to Israel after two days of talks, a bomb exploded only a few yards from the presidential palace, another of the hundreds of bombs hurled by terrorists since the rebellion began.

The U. N. secretary general was scheduled to visit Jerusalem and the Jordanian capital of Amman on the way to Cairo, capital of the United Arab Republic, which Beirut officials charge with supporting the rebels trying to overthrow Lebanon's pro-Western government.

Jordanian officials said Hammarskjold would meet King Hussein and Premier Samir El Rifai in Amman. U. N. headquarters in New York announced the secretary general would discuss Mt. Scopus, an Israeli enclave in Jordanian territory near Jerusalem where a Canadian U. N. truce official was killed in a clash May 26.

The U. N. announcement said one topic for discussion in Cairo would be the U. N. Emergency Force which has been separating Egyptian and Israeli troops since their 1956 war.

★ ★ ★

But another subject of Cairo talks was expected to be Lebanese violence. President Camille Chamoun of Lebanon has accused the U. A. R. of sending in from its neighboring Syrian province arms and troops to aid the rebels.

School's Out—Be Careful

A mother asked me to publish this: "School is out. Children are romping, without a fence to protect them. Those who use our streets must observe the greatest caution, be constantly alert; an automobile is an engine-of-destruction, capable of doing irreparable damage and the driver is responsible.

M. E. SIPLE

"His arrest and conviction is one penalty, but the greatest is his conscience. A fine is paid, a jail sentence comes to an end but memory continues, at night, in a crowd, all the time for all time.

Be alert! You know a child does unpredictable things; he dashes into the street, in front of a car. Anticipate his action! Keep your car under control, all the time — dream one minute and the next you might hear a scream. Let the child's freedom be a joy to him — and to you.

2 Red-Freed Priests Differ Over Charges

HONG KONG (UPI) — Two American priests returned to the free world from five years of imprisonment in Red China today with strongly opposing views of the vadility of charges brought against them by the Communists.

Shortly after arriving here aboard a British ship, Fathers Cyril Wagner of Pittsburgh and Joseph McCormack of Ossining, N. Y. held a press conference.

When Father Wagner told reporters "I don't deny" the Communist charges, Father McCormack spoke up to declare "He's talking through his hat."

Seeming shocked that Father Wagner admitted any guilt, the New York priest cut short the interviews saying "This man (Father Wagner) is sick. He doesn't know what he is talking about. For God's sake strike off what he said. His trial also was ridiculous."

Gen. Trujillo's 'Man o' War' in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The strangest man o' war in port has only one cannon—for shooting lines—and boasts a 12-man orchestra.

The owner, of course, is Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr., son of the strongman of the Dominican Republic. The white, four-masted yacht is the Angelita. She is 350 feet long, carries a crew of 80, and was built for the late U. S. Ambassador Joseph Davies.

She came into port yesterday listed as a man o' war, thus missing $18.25-a-day dockage fees.

Trujillo said he plans to hold a party for his Hollywood friends aboard the Angelita before he leaves for home aboard the vessel.

Major Firms Cautious About Entering Field

Proposed 'Small' U. S. Cars Still Long

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—The cars America's leading auto makers are considering for competition with the foreign makes may not be small at all. Industry gossip has it their wheelbase will be 108 inches.

That would make them only eight or nine inches shorter than the volume-built Chevrolets, Fords and Plymouths.

If the 108-inch wheelbase figure is a good guess the smaller American-built cars will be from one foot to nearly two feet longer than many European-biult units. The popular imported Volkswagen has a 94.5-inch wheelbase; Renault 89 inches and the Metropolitan 85 inches.

FACTORS NOT CLEAR

What factors may have influenced the industry to sidestep a really small car are not wholly clear. One may have been a conviction there is no broad market for a small car; that the present demand for imported small vehicles may peak at around 400,000 cars annually. Another may have been American Motors' success with its 108-inch Rambler model.

Some industry analysts still say 300,000 small foreign-built cars will be sold in the United States this year. A 400,000-unit market is no small slice, but American car makers could not expect to get all of it; they know also that their production costs will be much greater than those of their foreign competitors.

American Motors' success with its 108-inch Rambler has been one of the features of the current rather dull year in the auto industry. The company has reported increasing demand for its imported Metropolitan model and also encouraging reaction to its 100-inch wheelbase Rambler.

Its biggest seller, however, has been the 108-inch wheelbase model, which does not look like a small car.

When the newest smaller car is introduced—Studebaker-Packard will have one for the 1959 model year and General Motors and Ford and possibly Chrysler late next year—it will be considerably lighter than the present standard size cars.

By taking several hundred pounds of weight out of the car the manufacturers expect sharply to increase fuel economy. Whether they can reduce both weight and price is yet to be determined.

Generally weight reduction means substitution of lighter metals like aluminum for cast iron and steel. Aluminum is not cheaper although less of it is required. The 108-inch wheelbase models are not likely to carry suggested list prices of less than $2,000.

General Motors' announcement it had been testing several all-aluminum engines started speculation the power plants had been developed mainly with the smaller cars in mind. Probably they could be adapted to that purpose but the problem presented by more costly aluminum would have to be considered.

The aluminum engines have been in development for more than three years. It was only a couple of years ago that the foreign car invasion took on substantial proportions.

Newspapers Give Public Whole Story

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Newspapers will enjoy major technical advances in the next 30 years, but will continue to serve the public best by presenting news in depth with plenty of background and interpretation, leaving instanteous coverage to radio and television.

This is the prediction Paul Miller, president of Gannett Newspapers, Inc. and first vice president of The Associated Press, made last night before The AP Newspaper Executives Council for California and Nevada.

Full color—for all photographs and illustrations, both for news and advertising.

Vastly speeded composition. Reporters may write or talk into machines which electronically convert the information to typewritten sheets or coded tapes.

Want ads will be handled almost automatically, via telephone by electronic machines.

Wheat Farmers OK Renewing U. S. Plan

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan's wheat farmers have overwhelmingly approved extension of the rigid federal marketing program to their 1959 crops along with the rest of the nation's wheat farmers.

Qualified farmers in 59 of Michigan's 83 counties balloted on the proposal with a total of 3,305 favoring continuation of the allotment and price support plan and 1,350 voting against it. That made the vote 71 per cent in favor of quotas—well above the needed majority of 66⅔ per cent to pass the proposal.

Only New York, Alabama, West Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, California and Wyoming farmers failed to provide the needed majority.

But the vote is tallied on a national basis and the vote yesterday meant that all the nation's wheat would be grown under the allotment-quota-price support plan for the sixth straight year.

SATURDAY, JUNE 21, 1958

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It Seems to Me . . . .

Assistant President Adams Is Victim of Own Throat Cutting

★ ★ ★

During the Truman administration, a great to-do was raised over the acceptance of some "gifts" by those actually in the Government. The Republican party yelled from coast to coast for the culprits' heads and finally the ax reluctantly descended upon a graceless noggin that rolled in the dirt. The GOP prated at length about "honor and probity" and excoriated the Dems for "weakness in high places." The sins of the incumbents were manifold.

★ ★ ★

SHERMAN ADAMS knew all about this. He was one of those that "viewed with alarm." Hence, when he deliberately placed his own neck in the same shopworn noose, he has no one to blame but himself. His own account of what took place is reasonably acceptable and I don't believe he used any influence wrongly. However, he has used some very, very bad judgment and the whole thing must be viewed in the light of those palpable errors.

★ ★ ★

Senator POTTER was one of the first to speak out. He says ADAMS has "lost his usefulness to the administration unless he can explain the situation." This is a forthright declaration and SHERMAN'S "explanation" was a pretty drab bit of discourse. We agree with the Michigan Senator. You cannot condone in yourself the actions you condemn in others. The usefulness of SHERMAN ADAMS is ended. Up to this point his record has been excellent but he canceled his effectiveness with one stupid relationship.

★ ★ ★

ADAMS' explanation is naive in its simplicity. It is unquestionably true but this "old friend" angle is all buttoned up when you stand next to the President of the United States.

SHERMAN ADAMS knew this.

He doesn't plead ignorance.

★ ★ ★

He has provided the Democrats with ready-made campaign propaganda of the type that isn't terrifically significant but which is lethal and damaging and he has done a definite disservice to the President and to his party. It comes at a time when the GOP can't afford it.

★ ★ ★

I don't see how Dwight D. Eisenhower can overlook the incident or dismiss it lightly and yet he is doing precisely that. In his public declaration, the President made it plain that he proposed to put personal expediency first. He sums his own attitude up with terse phrase: "I need him."

So what, Mr. President?

Is that all that counts?

★ ★ ★

SHERMAN ADAMS can't be passed off as "just a poor little boy, mixed up politically." He graduated from those categories many, many years ago. He's strictly "in on the know," and a veteran campaigner who senses all the angles.

★ ★ ★

The Russians of course, simply love the whole thing. They're licking their bloody chops and grinning from ear to ear. Russian newspapers have calmly proclaimed it "just a routine scandal in Washington." Sherman Adams can clasp this to his bosom, too.

The incident probably stands as the first actual break in the "run for the roses."

And in Conclusion . . . . . .

In the last half century, the average American girl has increased four inches in height and stands five, five and a half . . . . . Here are some golf scores that may surprise you: L. C. GOAD, 82; E. R. BREECH, 82; The Reverend GEORGE WIDDIFIELD, 80; "BUNKIE" KNUDSEN, 81 . . . . . It might amaze you but candy bar sales are actually up . . . . . Overheard at a closing PTA: "I don't have trouble getting my boy up. I just throw the cat on his bed." Short silence: "How does that help?" Reply: "The dog sleeps with the boy."

The ancient adage "never play cards with strangers" now enjoys a sequel: "Don't play cards with guys that don't work." That goes for dice, too. (Local boys, please note) . . . . . Illinois Highway Division widened a 244 mile stretch by four feet (18 feet to 22) and accidents dropped THIRTY NINE PER CENT . . . . . Several foursomes have glimpsed a beautiful fox near the Bloomfield Hills Country Club seventh hole . . . . . Dave Dubinsky chartered a private plane to fly 93 members of a local to Europe for a vacation. Wish he'd needed a press agent.

★ ★ ★

Miss and Mrs. U.S.A. have accepted Orlon, Dacron, Dynel and Acrilan. Next they face Verel, Zefran and and Darvan—all hailed as spectacular synthetics . . . . . To produce enough white paper to print The PRESS for one year requires 40,000 trees. Our Perry Street tree champion will blow a fuse at this . . . . . General Electric and Whitney are pointing the way for commercial jet liners to do 2,000 miles an hour in 1970 . . . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: The C's—NICK KERBAWY for that million dollar contract; the J's —SHERMAN ADAMS and as a bonus I toss in EISENHOWER'S refusal to act "because he wants him."

Ike at Mount Vernon

Ponders Question

'Washington Investigated for Accepting Sword?'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, tongue in cheek, wants to know whether George Washington was investigated for accepting a gift sword.

Turning from study of an ornate sword given to Washington by a German admirer, Eisenhower pointed over his shoulder at the weapon and inquired with a grin:

"Do you suppose they investigated him for getting a present?"

This was an obvious allusion to the current controversy over gifts from Boston industrialist Bernard Goldine to Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's chief aide.

Eisenhower had visited the Washington shrine many times before, but this was the first time he did so as president.

The chief executive showed special interest in the bedroom where Washington died in 1799 when he was 67, Eisenhower's present age.

Gazing around the room, Eisenhower said Washington was "a good, strong fellow" but that it was "remarkable he lived as long as he did."

The POWER of FAITH

By Howard Brodie

GALILEE, ISRAEL — After John the Baptist went to prison, Jesus went to the country around the Lake of Galilee to preach the gospel of the kingdom of God. His was a lonely mission until one day, walking along the shore, He saw two fishermen, the brothers Peter and Andrew, casting their nets into the sea. "Follow Me," He exhorted, "and I will make you fishers of men."

The power of His love was so great that straight off they followed Him, dropping their nets and receiving faith to inspire new friends and followers. Today the lovely lake still bespeaks the presence of the greatest of all fishermen.

As I recently walked its shores, fish leaped and flashed over the deep blue water. A long legged bird stood majestically on a rock. Flotsam of feathers, fronds, pine cones and orange peels bobbed on the gentle water. And, like those first apostles, fishermen stood casting their nets into the sea.

Days of All Faiths:

Beecher Called Greatest Preacher

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

If American Protestants had saints, the famous Congregationalist minister Henry Ward Beecher would by now probably be well on the way to canonization. He has been called the greatest Christian preacher since St. Paul.

The power to stir people with his oratory was an inborn gift with Beecher. It is said that even in his college days he had the ability to speak movingly on any subject. This certainly does not mean that Beecher was only an eloquent speaker with a bag of forensic tricks.

At Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, where he spent most of his ministry and where he reached his peak, his constant theme was love. He believed and preached that the love of man for man is the fulfillment of God's law.

He once defined religion as "a life of liberty in love." This is much like the Jesuits' "love God and do as you please," meaning, of course, that one who loves God will choose to do the right thing.

The Beecher family was renowned for its antislavery activity. Harriet Beecher Stowe, Henry's sister, wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which was probably one of the most influential — and inflammatory — books ever written.

Henry, though he did make speeches for the Union in England, was not nearly so active in the Abolitionist cause as were the other Beechers.

He believed slavery would die of its own accord as the conscience of the nation was awakened. He thought he could see the end coming without any need for a rabble-rousing movement.

There are many stories of Beecher's quick and penetrating wit, and one of the most illustrative has to do with an encounter he had with the atheist Robert Ingersoll. Beecher and Ingersoll, despite their irreconcilable points of view, were good friends and often were guests in each other's homes. Ingersoll, of course, did not believe in God. He saw no Creator behind the universe.

One evening he dropped into Beecher's study for a chat and found there a fine new globe map of the world, which the minister had just acquired. In admiration he said, "Henry, this is a splendid globe."

The Country Parson

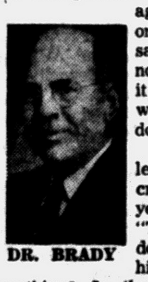
Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Smoking Bad at Teen-Age So Give It the Go-By

"I am an 18 year old high school girl. I have my own personal reasons for wanting to smoke. What do you think is a safe number of cigarettes for a girl of my age to smoke in one day They say smoking is not harmful unless it is overdone. when is it overdone?" (H. A.)



DR. BRADY

Answer — Your letter would do credit to a 10-year-old child. "They say"—what do you learn in high school, if anything? In the atmosphere of your school smoking is probably one of the more childish pastimes of the wrong ones who set the pace. Too bad a handful of girls of normal intelligence can't combine to suppress the wrong ones. School children caught smoking should be adequately punished or expelled.

"I like to take walks for relaxation and get to feeling like a bird in a cage when bad weather or a heavy schedule keeps me indoors. Is it best to walk leisurely or briskly and lively, and how far should one walk for a beneficial outing? My children and I all go for a four or five block jaunt and they love it." (Mrs. M.V.D.)

Answer — The jaunts you take with the children are fine. Make 'em gradually longer. When you go out for a walk, don't stroll or saunter, but walk briskly, from two to six miles a day. You're lucky if you live where walking is reasonably safe from alcoholic and irresponsible drivers.

★ ★ ★

"I'm subject to angina pectoris. Since learning about Belly Breathing I used is successfully at the slightest threat of chest pain or distress and I am very grateful. I have also had great relief from rheumatiz by eating a daily ration of calcium and D." (H.H.M.)

Answer — Booklet Chronic Joint Disability and pamphlet Belly Breating sent on request if you enclosed 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"I am 17, 6 feet tall, weigh 150 pounds. Want to put on another 50 pounds but can't seem to gain any — our doctor said I'd fill out when I finished growing, but I have finished for some time now and still weigh the same. . ." (J. R. W.)

Answer — You may increase little or no more in stature, son, but you'll grow in breadth and thickness for several years yet.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

Board of Women's League Tells Program for Voters

Mrs. Cain's letter prompts us to say that League of Women voters holds meetings at which candidates for the Board of Education answer questions on background, finance, policy, relationship to employes and what they hope to accomplish. The same is done for City Commission candidates and for all county, state and national offices before primary or general elections. The public is invited to attend and ask questions.

★ ★ ★

Such a meeting was held for the three Board candidates June 2. It was publicized by letters to organizations and a notice was in The Press two days before.

★ ★ ★

The purpose of the League is the informed citizen who acts on his own. We provide information, assemble facts and try to get the information to the public. We commend Mrs. Cain for wanting to know a candidate's views before voting. We wish there were more like her.

Two Give Support for Press Editorial

Three cheers for that editorial on church giving.

★ ★ ★

I've been on a church board, many, many years of my life, and I can hardly speak pleasantly to some of the stingy members I know. They drive cars, some own a boat, others have cottages or belong to a country club and yet they painfully peel off a couple of hundred dollars each year to "support" their church.

★ ★ ★

How can they respect themselves? They've lost the respect of everyone who knows what they give. And some of them give so little and are so ashamed they try to make a mystery or the amount to "fool everybody — including God."

Your own conscience tells you when you give half of what you should.

Board Member

I read an editorial in The Press that should shame church goers in this city. I can't imagine the Lord giving standing room to some of the Scrooges in my own church. If they actually rate heaven, it must be the bad lands where the good people won't have to associate with them.

'Shorts Are Bad; Smoking's Worse'

In this discussion about shorts on the downtown streets, let me say that I think smoking on the streets looks worse than women wearing shorts. It looks cheap and vulgar and suggests the individual is a street walker.

'We Keep Barking; Dogs Keep Running'

Monday night's paper warned dog owners to keep dogs tied up in Pontiac. That should be the law all over Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

I live ten miles from Pontiac and have shrubs and plants, too. You call to see if something can be done and you're told there's nothing they can do. And I'm sure not half the dogs have licenses. The dog warden better get on the job, as the dogs are about to take over out here.

★ ★ ★

I have a dog and take care of it. I keep it tied up and others should do the same. I like to enjoy my yard, flowers and garden, too.

Furious Resident

If you want to make a lot of friends, get a dog, preferably female, and let her run at large with her unlicensed friends to smear up yards, kick out flower beds and ruin shrubs. But why howl about the dogs? We support dog wardens, animal refuges to care for them and place them with people to keep up the production line. We keep on barking and the dog goes happily on his way.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Serving the Lord with all humility of mind, and with many tears, and temptations, which befell me by the lying in wait of the Jews.—Acts 20:19.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Advises Minister to Be Livewire

It takes a livewire in the pulpit to electrify a congregation. And the pulpit is the first test of a great pastor. "You must first fill the pulpit before you can fill the church," runs a truism some clergymen still have ignored. In Charley's case today, how would you advise him?

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, I am still uncertain about my life's work," he confessed.

DR. CRANE

"Sometimes I think I ought to be a school teacher. Then I feel I should go to seminary and study to be a clergyman.

"I got married six months ago, so I am in need of a job, although my wife works as a secretary.

"She is a popular girl and musically talented, too. She would be a great asset to me as a minister, as well as a teacher.

"Which do you think I should become—teacher or preacher?

WHICH CAREER

Both of those careers are vital to the progress of civilization, but a man with public speaking talent and the prestige among teenagers which a college athlete wields, can probably do more good in the pulpit.

★ ★ ★

For we have a more acute shortage of preachers than of teachers!

A teacher deals with 30 or 40 youngsters for 9 months. But a pastor handles 300 to 10,000 people all the year around.

In the usual church auditorium you will find all the thinking people of the community, including the editor and the banker, physician, dentist and lawyer, accountant and teacher, business man and farmer, housewife and nurse.

These men and women need a re-charging of their spiritual batteries, so the pastor has a unique chance to increase the effectiveness of ALL other leaders.

School teachers work with the children but lack this wide opportunity to stimulate the thinking of the present adult pacesetters of local opinion.

But it takes a livewire in the pulpit to electrify a congregation.

So clergymen should not only be consecrated men with a great desire to uplift mankind spiritually, but should be excellent speakers.

The yearning to be a prophet is not enough. Clergymen have their greatest opportunity while standing in the pulpit, sermonizing.

And sermonizing is distinctly a public speaking job. It demands good applied psychology and the narrative or anecdotal formula for a speech, which Christ demonstrated superbly.

As an orator, every clergyman should never be worse than "good," even on his "off" days. He should then rise to "better" and occasionally ring the bell with a "best" rating as a speaker.

But a clergyman also needs to know how to harmonize with divergent groups, so he should rate high in "H-R" or "Human Relations."

If possible, he should be athletic and preferably have won a college letter in some sport in order to properly impress the local teenagers of his parish.

Too long the stereotype of a clergyman has been an anemic looking fellow with horn rimmed glasses, who spouts 5-syllable words.

The modern successful cleric looks like a successful business man and preferably should have served as a newspaper boy in high school so he doesn't make the silly mistake of always indicting businessmen as "gougers" of mankind.

Impractical clergy have too long stood on the outside, looking on business with no first hand knowledge of the troubles our confiscatory taxes and red tape forms have imposed on business leaders, who furnish the employment for the entire community and thereby underwrite the upkeep of all our churches.

And clergymen should have talented wives who also know "H-R."

If your clergyman is not a talented orator, then give him my booklet, "Public Platform Strategy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). It will help him become a livewire in the pulpit.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Leave Silver on Plate

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have two questions on which I would like your help. (1) When passing your plate to the hostess for a second helping, do you leave your silver on the plate? (2) What is the proper way to remove a bit of grizzle or a tough piece of meat from the mouth?"

Answer: (1) You leave the knife and fork on the plate, putting them well in from the edge so that they will not slide off. (2) You remove something unedible from your mouth between thumb and first two fingers, with thumb underneath.

"Dear Mrs. Post: A friend and I have differed on the correct use of opera glasses. I think it correct to use them to look about the theater or concert hall to locate friends as well as known people who happen to be in the audience.

"My friend insists that they should be used only after the house lights are out, to observe the play, or program, in progress. Please set us straight on this matter."

Answer: You are right. You may use opera glasses to look for friends in the audience as well as to see the actors more closely.

MRS. OLEN R. OATES

Nuptials Held in Pontiac

Gladioli, snapdragons, peonies and palms banked the altar of Central Christian Church for the wedding this afternoon of Eugenia Lee Thompson to Olen Ray Oates of Exchange street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. W. Gibson in the presence of 150 witnesses.

The bride is the daughter of Howard Eugene Thompson of East Mansfield avenue, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Olen C. Oates of St. Louis, Mo.

A ballerina-length gown of nylon sheer, with fitted bodice featuring draped short sleeves and a scoop neckline of Alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls, was worn by the bride.

Teach Wife to Change Her Tune:

Raise the Rafters, Man!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: My wife is all wrapped up in her voice coach because he made from her a soprano out of a contralto. She used to take one lesson a week at six dollars and now he comes three times a week and is having his meals with us. My wife never talks to me because she is saving her voice for singing — but she talks to him.

ABBY

"Now he is hinting that when he goes to teach at a summer music camp she should go along and continue her lessons. Don't you think this is too much? Please give me some advice." E.J.K.

DEAR E. J. K.: It's time YOU cultivated YOUR voice and made a few sounds. Tell her you've got no more "dough" for the "do re mi" department . . . and also that her camping days are over.

"DEAR ABBY: Why doesn't my husband call me by my given name? He calls me "Babe" or "Doll" and then turns around and calls every other woman the same name. If he's talking to a friend and I'm right next to him he'll say, "MY WIFE."

"Our friends know I'm his wife. Can't he use my name? I no longer feel like an individual but just like another "Babe" or "Doll". This has been going on for 23 years and I'm still burned up."

NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: Don't worry about what he calls everyone else. You are the only one he calls his WIFE. Be satisfied.

"DEAR ABBY: Thanks for publishing the article about how "shutter-bugs" ruin weddings. I've been in the photography business for over 40 years and have tried to be kind to amateurs, but things are getting out of hand. I was recently asked to get pictures of a wedding and I counted 16 bathtub Rembrandts there.

"The bride's parents decided to hold off ordering my pictures until they saw what the amateurs came up with. Naturally, the profit from that job was almost nil. Why don't amateurs leave the wedding pictures to professional photographers and stick to taking pictures of Yellowstone Park?"

PHOTOGRAPHER

DEAR PHOTOGRAPHER: Not everyone can afford professional photographers but when one has been engaged, I think in all fairness to him, amateurs should not be allowed to compete for the order.

Confident Living

Man Reads Bible 6 Times While Languishing in Bed

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

This summer, as for many past summers, visitors from all over the world, including many Americans, will flock to one of my favorite resorts. It is called Burgenstock and it has three hotels, a few cottages and some farms and is surrounded by mountain meadows, providing a delightful mixture of the primitive and the comfortable. It sits high in the Swiss Alps near Lucerne, in an extraordinarily beautiful area.

PEALE

Burgenstock was first developed as a resort by a man named Friedrich Frey. He died before my first visit there, but I have heard a great deal about him from his son, who now operates the enterprise.

Frederich Frey must have been a most remarkable person. He was born a peasant and never had much schooling or formal education. Yet he became an important figure in the Swiss power industry and used his earnings to build one of the world's great hotels.

I last went to Burgenstock to work on the manuscript of my most recent book, "Stay Alive All Your Life." While I was working one summer day, Fritz Frey, the present proprietor, stopped by to see me. He asked a curious question; he wanted to know if I was going to tell people what faith can do. I answered that I was certainly trying to do just that.

"You know," he said, "my father was a great man." Then he went on to say that the explanation of his father's greatness was very simple, because a fortunate thing had happened to him. "My father whne he was young took sick and had to spend one year in the hospital."

It seemed strange that a son would regard this as a fortunate circumstance and I asked him why.

"Because," he answered, "during that year, my father read the Bible six times." Fritz Frey glanced at a precipice near us. "My father developed such a victorius faith from this reading," he went on, "that if he were asked to walk a path on the top of a ridge, the path being only wide enough for foot room, with precipices on the left and on the right, he could walk it absolutely without fear. He was never afraid of anything after the time he saturated himself with the Bible."

I did not doubt a word he said. For the Bible tells us that if we have faith, nothing shall be impossible unto us. This does not mean you can get everything you want, nor does it mean that you are at liberty to be foolish, but it does mean that you may have a power within yourself by which you can meet life and meet it victoriously. This is what is meant by a victorious faith. It is much more than intellectual asset. It is a dynamic attitude toward life's circumstances.

Victorious faith is available to anyone and everyone. Of course, such faith is not cheaply had nor easily attained. It does not come to those who superficially probe into faith, but only to those who are willing to go deep and actually practice it. To do this, you must really believe—you must take faith as a way of life.

One must have FAITH in faith. If you do, you will be given power to achieve the things that really matter in your life. And you will be able to live victoriously and happily.

Dr. Joseph I. Chapman Holds Convention Post

Dr. Joseph Irvine Chapman, pastor of Bethany Baptist Church here, was named this week to the office of second vice president of the American Baptist Convention.

The convention, composed of 6,500 churches with a total membership of 1,600,000, closed its sessions Tuesday in Cincinnati, Ohio. Some 7,000 delegates attended.

Dr. Chapman will be in his pulpit at Bethany Church tomorrow for both the 8:45 and 11 a.m. services.

Mrs. Maurice H. Bodge of Portland, Ore., the fourth woman in the history of the convention to be so honored, was elected president.

As a vice president, Dr. Chapman becomes a member of the general council of the convention, which serves as a board of directors and meets throughout the year. The next convention is scheduled for June of 1959 in Des Moines, Iowa.

Besides his election to the convention office, Dr. Chapman was named to the editorial committee of Crusader Magazine, the convention's national monthly publication.

In addition to his pastoral duties and convention work, he will continue to serve as president of the Pontiac Pastors' Fellowship and as a chaplain at Pontiac General Hospital and of the Civitan Club.

"What is Christian Seperation:?" will be the pastor's theme for sermons Sunday at the local church. Assisting him at the 8:45 a.m. service will be Susan Ritchey, and music will include a solo, "He Smiled on Me," by Mrs. Orville Manns.

At the 11 a.m. service, Dennis Wisniewski will assist and special music will include a duet by Robert Williams and Ralph Bergemann The senior choir will make its final appearance until next September.

Former Missionary Serving as Director; Counsels Candidates

Speaking in the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, North Cass Lake road at M59 at the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. services Sunday will be the Rev. Fred C. Renich of Detroit, a former missionary.

The Rev. Mr. Renich began his missionary work in China but was driven out by Communists, and went to Australia to engage in Bible teaching and evangelistic work.

After an extensive tour of mission fields in India and East Africa, he lived in England and North Ireland.

A graduate of Philadelphia School of the Bible and Wheaton College, he is currently serving in Detroit as area director of Missionary Internship, Inc.

The Inter-Mission organization counsels, evaluates and screens candidates accepted by various mission boards.

Urges Youths to Study Bible

J. Edgar Hoover Says Religious Training Way to Curb Delinquency

WASHINGTON — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover tonight called for religious training and Bible study among youth as a means of curtailing juvenile crime.

"America stands in great need of spiritual guidance," Hoover said in an article appearing in a prominent religious magazine.

The article, titled "The Challenge of the Future," was addressed to American Protestant clergymen. The magazine, "Christianity Today," has the largest circulation of any publication directed to the Protestant ministry.

"Ministers of America are truly on the front lines of the battle for freedom," the FBI chief said. "On their shoulders, in large measure, depends the future of our nation."

Citing "the evil effect of crime on young people," he pleaded with ministers and parents to offer guidance to the "citizens of tomorrow."

★ ★ ★

"If that guidance comes from evil minds," said Hoover, "from men and women interested in exploiting youthful energy for criminal pursuits, then that youth's life will be blighted."

Hoover added that, "What is needed are men and women willing to take the time to work with young people."

"These youngsters need religious training," he continued. "They need to know the Bible. Adults simply must take time to work with them. The alternative is an ever-increasing crime rate."

Babies Out of Wedlock Now 'National' Problem

CHICAGO (AP)—The problem of young girls who conceive children out of wedlock "has become truly national in scope" and involves about 176,000 girls annually, says the official Methodist magazine, Together.

"Unwed mothers come largely from the ranks of normal girls from good homes," the report says. But it adds that of 4,000 of them cared for at the Methodist Home Hospital, of New Orleans, few ever "become involved in similar difficulties again."

Lay Ministers to Speak

The Rev. Earl Cox, a lay minister of the Church of the Brethren, will preach at the 11 a.m. service Sunday in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Leroy Shafer. His sermon will be on "The Believers' Separation." At 7 p.m. Sunday the Rev. James DeVault will speak.

Church Merger in North India Now Approved

PACHMARI, India—After twenty-eight years of negotiations, a North India Church Union Plan has been approved at a meeting here of representatives of seven Church bodies.

The plan provides for the organic merger of the Church of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon (Anglican); the United Church of Northern India; the Methodist Church (British and Australian Conference) the congregations associated with Baptist missionary societies in Indian and Pakistan; the Church of the Brethren; and the Disciples of Christ.

Accepting the "historic episcopate" as an essential part of the merged church, the plan also provides for an act of union based on the immediate full recognition of the ministries and episcopate of the merging bodies.

It will be voted on by the Churches' governing bodies, with the union slated for 1961.

Under the plan, the new "Church of North India" will have 31 dioceses. A separate united "Church of Pakistan" is planned for those parts of the merging Churches which lie across the boundary of Pakistan.

Planning to Expand Minister Trade Plan

CHICAGO (AP)—The World Methodist Council is planning to expand its ministerial exchange program, which has been promoting international understanding for the last several years.

This year, seven American Methodist ministers will trade pulpits with a like number of English clergymen for a five week period during the summer.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Dr. T. Otto Nall of Chicago, chairman of the American Ministerial Exchange Committee, says the council, is looking toward the day when exchanges will be made with other European and Caribbean countries.

Baptist Youths Off to Camp

Others Attend Parley at Toronto; Vacation Bible Classes to Start

Bethany Baptist Church young people attending the junior camp at Baptist Camp Lake Louise near Boyne Falls are Lois Garrett, Kathryn Kennedy and David Chapman. Attending as camp staff personnel at American Baptist Assembly at Green Lake, Wis., are Miss Reita I. Smith, Miss Patty Looman and Miss Evelyn Brown.

These are the vanguard of more than 75 young people and adults who will attend camps or conferences sponsored by the Baptist Youth Fellowship of the American Baptist Convention or its agencies.

Representing Bethany Church at the fifth Baptist Youth World Conference in Toronto next week will be Diane Garrett, Sue Hamilton, Karen Bergemann, Julia Dovre, Jim Fair, Ralph Bergemann, Bill Crawford, Jerry Ryan and Gary Relyea. Bethany Pastor Dr. J. I. Chapman and his wife will accompany the group.

Over 6,000 youths from Baptist groups in more than 60 countries are expected at the conference.

Bethany Baptist Church Vacation School will open Monday for a two-week session under the direction of Mrs. B. L. Gillette.

The daily classes, with a course of study and play activities centered on the Life of Jesus, will continue through July 3. They are open to all young people.

50 Members at Convention

Seventh-Day Adventists Observing Worldwide Day of Prayer Today

More than 50 members of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church will be in Cleveland today attending the 48th International Convention of the denomination's General Conference.

Nearly 200 countries and island groups will be represented with 1,000 church leaders as official delegates, said James O. Cunnington, pastor of the local congregation.

Actions taken at this conference will shape the missions, medical and educational program of the church for the next four years.

Interesting and colorful personalities attending the convention will be Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hallwell, who spent 37 years operating a medical launch on the Amazon River in South America.

Local members of the church are joining in a world-wide "Day of Fasting and Prayer" today.

Macedonia Youth Leader Is Delegate

Leaving this week for the Fifth Baptist World Youth Conference in Toronto, Ont., will be Mrs. James Passmore of Macedonia Baptist Church. Meetings are scheduled from June 26 through July 2.

She is a delegate from the Metropolitan District Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress of Michigan.

Two to Tour Southwest Visiting Schools, Hospitals

Two young people of First Presbyterian Church, Karen Burnworth and Al Brewer, will represent the Senior High group on a tour of Presbyterian missions in the Southwest from Wednesday through July 10.

The group will consist of 21 young people and five adult advisors of Detroit Presbytery. They will visit schools, hospitals and churches among the Spanish speaking people and Navajo Indians of New Mexico.

Mrs. J. C. Covert, Mrs. Harry Pattison, Mrs. Leslie Ellis and Mrs. Ted Koella Jr. will attend the Quadrennial National Meeting of Presbyterian women Wednesday through July 1 at Purdue University.

Daily lectures will be delivered by Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, Stated Clerk of the United Presbyterian Church in the USA.

Evangelists to Speak

The Rev. and Mrs. William N. Ilnisky, youth evangelists, will speak Sunday evening in the First Assembly of God Church. They have recently been associated with the Assembly of God in Fort Wayne, Ind., as assistant pastor and director of music.

Dr. William H. Marbach will preach on "God's Offer of Forgiveness" at the 9:30 service tomorrow morning. The offertory solo will be sung by Patricia C. Bennett.

★ ★ ★

"Sensing What Is Vital" will be the subject of the sermon by the Rev. Galen E Hershey a t 11 a.m. The choir will sing "Like As the Hart."

★ ★ ★

The July-August Women's Group voted to send three children to camp when they met for a luncheon meeting at the home of Mrs. Plinn Morse of Lake Angelus. The yearly picnic will be held Aug. 8 at the summer home of Mrs. Robert Oliver.

Pastor to Devote Part of Worship Hour to Youth

Worship service of the Orchard Lake Community Church, tomorrow will include an act of dedication for the young people attending Presbyteran camps and conferences.

The pastor, the Rev. Edward D. Auchard, will preach on "To Save the Lost" at both the 9 and 11 a.m. worship hours.

Former Pastor Here Is Awarded Degree

The Rev. Soterios D. Gouvellis, former pastor of St. George Greek Orthodox Church here, was awarded the degree of master of education Sunday at commencement exercises of Northeastern University.

Father Gouvellis worked for the degree while serving as pastor at Annunciation Greek Orthodox Church in Woburn, N. H. In addition to directing the building of a new church after the old one burned just before he was called to serve there, the priest's busy schedule includes counseling youth religious committees, serving as athletic director of the New England diocese of Greek Orthodox Church and duties as chaplain at a veterans' hospital.

Congregation to Break Ground on Sashabaw When Plans Approved

A potluck fellowship dinner to be held Sunday at 5 o'clock at the VFW hall on Walton boulevard near Dixie highway will mark the beginning of an all member visitation for St. Stephen Lutheran Church. The visitation will continue all next week.

Arrangements for the dinner are by the Fellowship Circle of the Ladies Guild with Mrs. Ervin Miller, president. The building program will be presented by the congregation's Board of Stewardship with Raymond Walters, chairman.

Enlisting the support of all its members in the building program, the committee, headed by Harold Kettner, has been working on plans for the new church to be constructed at Kempt and Sashabaw roads, Drayton Plains.

The congregation plans to break ground as soon as the District Mission Board approves the building plans.

St. Stephen Lutheran, which held its first services in November 1956, now has a membership of 170. The Rev. Guy Bragdon Smith, first full time pastor, began his duties May 1.

Services and Sunday School are now being held each Sunday morning at 9:30 and 10:45 at the VFW hall.

Rev. O. P. Eastman Gives Annual Report

Seven young men were received as probationers for the ministry when the United Missionary Church held the 61st Michigan District Conference at the Brown City camp ground this week.

The Rev. O. P. Eastman, pastor of the local church, stated the denomination has arranged to assist churches in building programs through The United Missionary Loans and Investments, Inc., a non-profit organization.

Rev. Eastman also reported total offerings for home missions amounted to $19,145.37 and offerings for foreign missions, $45,709.60.

"Don't Take a Vacation From God"

Summer is the season when most people in Michigan take vacations. There are many beautiful spots in our great state as well as other states and Canada to spend a few days, a week or two. We are in favor of vacations—they are good for the mental and physical health—they are great morale builders!

Take a vacation if you can, even if you don't leave your community—make it a change, a rest—but remember, "DON'T TAKE A VACATION FROM GOD." Attend your Church or Synagogue. To prevent our souls from being stifled by the materialism rampant in the world, we need to be reminded of God and His loving care for us. A community or nation that worships God offers a poor field in which to sow the seeds of communism. ATTEND A PLACE OF WORSHIP EVERY WEEK. DON'T TAKE A VACATION FROM GOD.

Shop Downtown in Leisure

Grand Haven's New Mall Gives Rise to Civic Pride

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—This small town on the shores of Lake Michigan is proud of its downtown shopping mall—proud of the beauty and proud of the idea that became a reality.

"Others thought of it but we did it," is what they are saying in this town of 9,500.

The mall is a two-block section of the main street. Cars are routed around the mall on one-way streets but none but emergency vehicles are allowed on the mall.

In place of creeping, honking cars Grand Haven has installed shrubs and trees and park benches.

The idea is a leisurely atmosphere for shopping.

The advantages are obvious—a pleasant place to shop and greater safety.

One of the disadvantages came to the fore quickly—the mall is not for the quickie shopper who wants to double park and make a fast purchase.

Business in the mall boomed when it first opened this month. Many were curious and bought something while they looked. Some mothers were glad to take advantage of the baby-sitting facilities in the mall. The mall had its jammed moments when merchants and Chamber of Commerce groups came to town for a look.

Merchants with poor back-door facilities were in a quandary over how to get their deliveries made. One business house continued to use the front door. Its truck was one of the emergency vehicles on the mall.

The mall is being used in after-business hours as a sort of civic center. Already a band concert and a style show have been staged in the mall.

Woman Imprisoned for Slaying Photog

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — Miss Ethel Mae Wise, 31, charged with first degree murder in the rifle killing of photographer Roy Hirshburg, 64, must serve 2 to 21 years for manslaughter.

Miss Wise was convicted and sentenced on the lesser charge last night. The jury in a previous trial last Dec. 10 had failed to reach a verdict.

Hirshburg, nationally known photographer, was shot in front of his studio the night of March 25, 1957. Miss Wise was accused of shooting him because of jealousy over his attentions to Miss Ann McFarland, 42, who had been his receptionist and who previously had lived with Miss Wise for 11 years.

Father Knows Best

Stand by Rebels Against France

Tunisia and Morocco Also Reject Offer Sent to Algeria by De Gaulle

TUNIS (AP) — Tunisia and Morocco stood beside the Algerian rebels today in rejecting French Premier de Gaulle's offer to grant Algerians full French citizenship instead of independence.

The governments of Algeria's two North African neighbors refused to consider the plans for continued French control over Algeria outlined by De Gaulle on an Algerian tour two weeks ago and again came out for Algerian independence.

But they also refused to back any Algerian government in exile, a move that would surely antagonize Paris and probably mean an end to economic aid they receive from France. Both Tunisia and Morocco were under French control until two years ago.

The three-sided policy statement from Morocco, Tunisia and Algerian rebel war cabinet was issued last night after five days of talks here.

While meeting with the rebels here, Morocco and Tunisia also held talks resulting in a two-nation agreement to cooperate closely toward setting up a North African regime that eventually could include an independent Algeria.

Military Heads Debating Role of Each Service

QUANTICO, Va. (AP)—The nation's military high command takes up an old and hotly debated issue today, the roles and missions of each of the armed services in event of war.

The topic, one of the major controversies in President Eisenhower's defense reorganization plan now before Congress, highlighted today's program of an annual conference of military officials.

Background of Malraux Incredible

Noted Intellectual Speaks for De Gaulle's Policies

By PRESTON GROVER

PARIS (AP)—Andre Malraux, explorer, resistance fighter, revolutionary, and one of France's most brilliant intellectuals, at last has found a revolution in his own country.

Malraux is the official spokesman for Gen. De Gaulle's new government, which hopes to undertake revolutionary reforms of the French constitutional system. He has an incredible background.

EXPLORED JUNGLES

By the time he was 23, Malraux had explored Southeast Asian jungles to find statues of a vanished civilization dating from the 9th to the 15th Century. He found them.

Since then, he's been in two phases of the Chinese revolution, fought against Franco in the Spanish Civil War, edited a left-wing newspaper in Indochina, became a resistance leader against the Germans in France, and served as a cabinet member in De Gaulle's first postwar government.

With De Gaulle, Malraux sought vainly to rally the French people to sweeping governmental changes from 1947 to 1952.

With De Gaulle, who was propelled into power once more by insurrection in Algeria, Malraux is back for another try at revamping the French system.

De Gaulle plans dramatic gestures for rebellion-torn Algeria, a kind of pilot plan to show the Algerian Moslems how they can govern themselves locally without breaking away from France.

De Gaulle expects to create a system in France which will give the executive something of the power of an American president—perhaps more. The National Assembly will retain a certain supervisory or checking power, but not the veto it has exercised for so long in France.

PARTIES TO GO

The pre-De Gaulle system of multiple parties is to disappear and another type of national assembly to succeed it. Malraux is a leading idea man in that direction, although he's no constitutional technician and has retained his long-standing contempt for politicians.

But when the fight to get the constitutional amendments adopted erupts, 56-year-old Malraux will be one of De Gaulle's major assets because of his magnetic way with crowds.

His grasping, clawing gestures are effective. The nervous facial tick that bothers him in conversation seems to vanish when he addresses a crowd.

Malraux in action is spectacular to behold. He walked into a press room recently with a sheaf of scribbled notes and began talking so fast and with such strange phrases even his compatriots could not follow him.

He is a strange man in many respects. He is a fascinating conversationalist — or rather, a man given to monologue, for his ideas while talking come too fast for ordinary conversation.

He has few diversions. "I like cats," he says, "but they don't like me." He collects Hopi Indian dolls. He fenced until 25, since then has engaged in no other sport —though he has been in plenty of rugged adventures. He likes good food but eats little, plays no games.

LIVES INTENSELY

"I live very intensely," he says. "When I'm writing, I work 11 to 13 hours a day. That leaves no time for other things."

The new advent of De Gaulle interrupted his work—other projects in the manner of Malraux' "The Voices of Silence," the massive, illustrated study of great art masterpieces and ancient primitives. That book was a huge success both here and in the United States.

"Only the coming of De Gaulle could have torn him away from his work," an associate said, adding that a few months—perhaps De Gaulle's target of six months—will advance the revolution so far that Malraux can drop out and resume his writing.

But for most of his life Malraux has been both a writer and a man of action.

In 1933, with money gained from a noted literary prize and royalties from one of the great books of modern French literature, "Man's Fate," he organized a plane search for the capital of the Queen of Sheba in the Arabian desert, on a site he had heard about from an acquaintance in French Somaliland.

Two days after the Spanish Civil War broke out in 1936, Malraux was in Spain, leading an air squadron. From that experience emerged one of his most popular books, "Man's Hope." Even during the fighting, he found time to help produce a film which won a prize after World War II—having been bottled up by the Germans in the interim.

In World War II, Malraux enlisted in a tank corps, was captured, escaped and went into the underground resistance. There he performed enough exploits to fill a book.

Helping in the escape of some British officers, Malraux fled across an open field to draw German fire. He was wounded in the hip, kept running, finally fell with multiple wounds.

Bleeding on a hotel floor while being questioned by a priest, Malraux calmly engaged him in a discussion about St. Augustine. He found the man knew so little about the church father that he suspected him of being a Nazi agent in a clergyman's disguise.

Jailed once more, Malraux was released by the advancing allied armies and resumed fighting, carrying on into Germany.

Then came De Gaulle's new chance, precipitated by the Algerian uprising of Army and French colonists. Malraux joined De Gaulle.

Malraux clearly expects that France's next constitutional system will no longer be that of the Fourth Republic, marked by a wrangling National Assembly and a bewildering succession of premiers, but a new, brave, fifth republic in De Gaulle's image.

Air Trip Offers Travel Bargain

12,000-Mile Tour of South America Costs $202 Less

One of the top travel bargains being offered to dollar-conscious summer vacation schedules, is a 12,000-mile air trip around the South American continent for $576.80.

This low air fare, which saves travelers $202.20 of the regular tourist class rate of $779.00, is the special 30-day excursion rate being offered by Panagra and Pan American Airways this year.

With this far structure travel agents are now offering three-week package "Host Tours" of the continent which include transportation on the airlines' DC6B and DC7 aircraft, accommodations in the finest hotels and guided sightseeing tours for about $900.

Far from being a "quickie tour," the 21-day itinerary is packed with a variety of events and activities in Venezuela, Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, Chile and Peru.

Tour highlights include a breath-taking cable car ride to the summit of Sugar Loaf Mountain overlooking Rio de Janeiro's beaches, a visit with the colorful Argentine gauchos (cowboys), a thrilling flight over the majestic snow-capped Andes mountains, a scenic drive to the Equatorial Monument on the outskirts of Quito, and duty-free shopping for perfume, laces and cameras in the bazaars of Panama.

A week's extension tour to Cuzco, ancient Inca capital, the ruins of Machu Picchu, Ecuador's Spanish colonial city of Quito, and Panama, crossroads of the world, can also be included for an additional $181.

For the gourmet, another optional feature of the tour is the special luncheon and dinner parties arranged at internationally famous clubs and restaurants to give tourists a sample of the best South American cuisine.

She Mistakes Hospital Alarm for Mail Box

DENVER (AP)—Things weren't the same for hours after an unidentified woman tried to mail a letter in the main lobby at Colorado General Hospital.

Within minutes after she pulled the handle of a conspicuous box, one motorcycle policeman, two squad cars and seven fire trucks careened up. All they found was the wide-eyed woman with the unmailed letter.

Buick to Close for Changeover

Report Division Set to Start Ending Output of '58 Models Next Week

DETROIT (AP)—A series of protracted model changeover shutdowns in the auto industry will begin next week and continue well into September, Ward's Automotive Reports said today.

"Indications are," the agency said, "that Buick will start winding up its '58 model car production next week, with the first of the Chrysler Corp. plants joining in shutdowns beginning the third week in July. Remaining GM Corp. car lines will 'phase out' the '58 model late in July or early August, with Ford Motor Co. following suit in September.

Ward's said the shutdowns are being scheduled on a staggered basis, adding: "Buick workers are expected to be back on the job by mid-August, or before many Ford plants even begin their changeovers.

So far this year the industry has built 2,139,800 passenger cars, down more than 1,100,000 units from last year at the same point.

New car stocks, which reached 865,566 units on March 1 this year, now are estimated at under 700,000. The earlier and protracted changeover shut downs are part of the industry's planning for a thorough and orderly liquidation of outgoing model cars.

The industry made its two millionth new car retail delivery of the year two weeks ago, according to unofficial calculations. Last year the comparable sale was made on May 1.

A modest upturn in retail sales has been reported for the current month. If the sales level can be maintained through the model changeover periods the inventory liquidation of outgoing models should be more complete than the industry has experienced in a decade or more.

Despite Much Trouble, Ingrid Remains Happy

By EARL WILSON

WILSON

But as she sat on the doorstep of her trailer dressing room "on location" a few miles outside London, she practically shone with happiness.

"Even in the toughest spots, you can always laugh," I said, remembering many things. "You are a happy person, aren't you?"

"I'm adaptable," she smiled. "There are always good sides to everything."

And sitting there in her peasant dress, she explained the philosophy that has carried her over the Roberto Rossellini breakup, on toward her probable marriage to Swedish producer Lars Schmidt.

"You can't expect to have happiness all the time," she said. "And you shouldn't. Because you'd be a monster. You wouldn't grow up to be a human being."

I didn't understand that. Laughing some more, she elaborated.

"I'm grateful for the good things, but for the others, too. Because if you don't have some suffering, you don't understand it when others have it. You couldn't be patient and tolerant with them."

Plenty of good things are happening now. She's getting $300,000 for "The Inn of the Sixth Happiness," already being boomed as another Oscar possibility. Daughter Jenny'll soon be visiting her again from San Francisco. The Rossellini children are learning English and planning to go to the Italian School in Paris. She may go back to Hollywood next March to make an Oscar presentation.

INGRID

She looked off into the distance. "It's nine years since I left America, and I was only in America 10 years. I was there from '39 to '49 — and next year it's '59.

"Why, I've been in this business 20 . . . 25 years. Pretty soon it's 50."

Around the set here, she she is known to director Mark Robson, Curt Jurgens and others as one of the most cooperative, least temperamental stars living. I thought to myself how different she is from some of the young American stars with no talent but only ephemeral sex appeal who, after a publicity buildup, suddenly decide they are above the people who made them.

"An American interviewed the head of the school," she said, "and he stated that Greta Garbo, Viveca Lindfors and many others who became great actresses had gone to that school. He said 'Yes,' and if Ingrid Bergman had stayed in school two more years, she might have been a pretty good actress, too.' "

Yanks Get First Run in Three Games Against Tigers

Bunning Whiffs 14 Bombers in Getting 7-1 Win

First Time Since 1953 That Any Team Defeats Yanks 6 Straight

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Bunning struck out 14 batters and provided the Detroit Tigers with their sixth straight victory over the New York Yankees Friday night, 7-1.

The Tigers bunched all their runs in the sixth and seventh innings and Al Kaline and Ozzie Virgil came through with key extra-base blows before 53,168 Briggs Stadium fans.

It was the first time since 1953 that a team had whipped the Yankees six in a row. Cleveland swept successive three-game series that year.

The Yankees, who lambast most of the pitching staffs around the league, have been able to get only one run in the last three games against Tiger hurling.

That was yesterday's run, the first off Bunning in 18 innings.

Bunning's strikeout total was high this season in the Major Leagues. He got solid hitting help last night from Al Kaline and Ozzie Virgil. Kaline, hitting in his 17th straight game, clubbed two line drive doubles. Virgil blasted a triple, driving in two runs.

The Tigers scored three times in the seventh off Bob Turley in taking a 3-1 lead. Yogi Berra had homered in the fourth for the first hit of the game, providing all the Yankees' scoring in the last 28 innings against the Tigers.

Frank Bolling started the sixth-inning rally with a double. It ran Bolling's hitting streak to 13 straight games. Virgil walked and Charlie Maxwell's hit was his first in 15 times at bat. Kaline followed with a double as Virgil and Maxwell scampered home.

Detroit came back with four more runs in the seventh off relievers Virgil Trucks and Bobby Shantz.

With Bunning and Bolling on base, Virgil swatted a triple to right center. Harvey Kuenn and Kaline walked filling the bases and Gus Zernial sent two runs across with a pinch single.

The Tigers try to make it seven straight over the Yankees today. Frank Lary, who also shut New York out last Sunday, is Bill Norman's pitching choice. Ex-Tiger Duke Maas is to make his Yankee debut after joining the champions in a trade with Kansas City.

Bunning Pitches Best Before Larger Crowds

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Bunning, who has been slow in rounding into the form that won him 20 games last year, thrives on vast crowds and the New York Yankees.

The lanky Detroit Tiger right hander stumped the American League leaders for the second time in six days last night 7-1. Fourteen batters were strikeout victims as 53,168 cheered his every pitch.

"He and all those Tiger pitchers have the whammy on us," complained Casey Stengel.

Bunning fanned every Yankee who came to bat last night except Enos Slaughter and Bill Skowron. Mickey Mantle and Elston Howard sung at third strikes three times each. Mantle has been struck out by Bunning six times in two games.

★ ★ ★

"I used mostly a slider and a fast ball," Bunning said. "The last time I got Mantle on a curve."

Thirteen of the strikeouts were in the first seven innings.

"No, I didn't relax in the last two innings," Bunning explained. "You can't let up against the Yankees. It's just that it takes a lot of pitches to strike out batters."

Bunning feels he's still not the pitcher that won 20 games in 1957. He posted a 20-8 record. His 182 strikeouts were second to early Wynn's league-topping total.

"I don't think I'm pitching better than last year," Bunning said after his fifth victory. "I probably never will. I'll take last year as my best and go on from there. Only my curve is better."

Willis Hudlin, the Tigers' pitching coach, thinks otherwise.

"Since he got over his side injury, he's been better," Hudlin said. "He didn't throw that way last year. He's got more stuff."

Bunning has won his last three starts after a pulled muscle kept him sidelined most of May.

No Scoreless Innings in Wild 'B' Contest

Talbott Lumber banged out 15 hits for a 13-9 victory over Kuhlman Electric in a Class B City League baseball game Friday at Jaycee Park. The contest was stopped after 5½ innings by darkness.

The losers collected nine safeties in a wild free-for-all which saw each team score at least once in every half-inning played. Jim Jones made three hits for Talbott and Kuhlman's Jerry Moore also had three safe blows.

GOING TO SEE THE MEN — The fair sex made an excursion from Edgewood Country Club to Warwick Hills Friday to watch the "he-man" pros swat the little white ball in the $52,000 Flint Open golf tournament. A group of about 20 women, all Edgewood members, chartered a bus for the trip. Mrs. Herman Reichart, who sponsored the excursion, hands the traveling roster to the bus driver just before the ladies go aboard. They probably got wet before the day was over. Hard rains cancelled yesterday's action in the second round of the 72-hole tourney.

From The PRESS BOX

Lad Slingerlend, 57-year-old sports writer for the Lansing State Journal, fractured his spine yesterday when he slipped off a plank and fell into an unfinished swimming pool at Warwick Hills, scene of the $52,000 Flint Open golf tournament.

Planks had been laid down along the edge of the pool to provide a dry walkway. Rain made the going extremely slippery and there was no barrier to prevent Slingerlend's tumble to the bottom of the empty pool.

Extensive X-ray examination at Flint's St. Joseph Hospital revealed the spinal fracture. Slingerlend was not paralyzed by the injury. He should leave the hospital within three or four days, but he will be in a cast for about three months.

A telegram arrived at Warwick Hills yesterday for John McMullin, young pro from Fair Oaks, Calif. It read: "Baby girl born after 6 a.m. Six pounds, 11 ounces. Janet and baby fine. Please send money. Mom."

McMullin was on the course when the message arrived. He was passing out cigars to his fellow pros in the locker room afterwards.

The 138-man Flint Open field will be cut to the low 100 golfers plus ties, including five amateurs, at the end of today's 18-hole round. Following Sunday's action, the field will be slashed to the low 60 players for Monday's final 18-hole round.

Friday night's two scheduled men's City League softball games at Beaudette Park were called off because of rain.

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

Doug Sanders, Tommy Jacobs and Gene Littler — they're names familiar to anyone who follows the fates and fortunes of professional golfers. All three are among the pace-setters of America's golfing "youth movement."

But they also have something else in common which even enthusiastic fans may not realize. All of them are former International Jaycee golf champions and yours truly mentions this fact today for a very special reason.

Three neighborhood Junior Chamber of Commerce chapters — Pontiac, Waterford and Birmingham—annually sponsor junior golf tournaments and Sanders, Jacobs and Littler offer spirited examples of the opportunities awaiting a teen-age player.

The Waterford chapter held its tournament last Monday at Pontiac Country Club. Next Monday the Pontiac Jaycees will conduct theirs at City Municipal course and the Birmingham chapter has its tourney at Birmingham CC on Monday, June 30.

Pontiac's top three shooters and the five best shot-makers from Birmingham will enter the state event July 6-8 at Ann Arbor.

Five Waterford representatives were selected Monday.

Sanders, Jacobs and Littler are just a few of today's active pros who first hit the headlines as Jaycee champs. A couple of others worth mentioning are Al Mengert and Bud Holscher.

Some talented young amateurs also fall into this category, including 18-year-old Jack Nicklaus, the 1957 International Jaycee champ who made such an impressive showing last weekend in the U.S. Open at Tulsa, Okla.

Obviously, not everyone can become another Sanders, Jacobs or Littler. But Jaycee competition provides a tremendous opportunity for any teenager with golfing talent who possesses confidence in his game.

Oakland County golfers like Jack Reynolds of Waterford, Bud Badger of Bloomfield Hills and Pete Green of Birmingham have already made their marks in Jaycee ranks. If your 18th birthday doesn't arrive before Aug. 15, you should try to do the same.

SHORT PUTTS

Gene Woodard, DDGA champion from Lakepoints CC, has been named No. 1 man on the association's 1958 Honor Roll. State Amateur champ Lloyd Syron of Pontiac has been given the No. 2 position.

They're firing holes-in-one again at county courses. Walt Nossal, well-known publinx golfer, shot his 2nd ace in two weeks at Bob O'Link last weekend and Gene Saessler scored a hole-in-one at Forest Lake.

Nossal connected with his 7-iron on the 120-yard 16th hole. He had previously aced the 6th at Bob O'Link. Saessler, a Forest Lake member, made his ace on the 165-yard 3rd hole with a 4-iron. Nossal carded a two-under-par 68, Saessler shot 92.

THRIVES ON YANKS — Jim Bunning who wears jersey number 14 matched that figure in striking out 14 Yankees last night at Briggs Stadium as the Tigers won, 7-1. It was his second win in six days over the Yanks and the first run he has given them in 18 innings.

Friday's Round Nullified, Bolt Ahead With 69

Flint Tournament Runs Through Monday; Sam Snead Drops Out

By BILL CORNWELL

GRAND BLANC—Jupiter Pluvius stole the show Friday in the Flint Open golf tournament, despite the startling efforts of Arnold Palmer and Sam Snead to make it otherwise.

Ol' Jupiter spasmodically drenched everything in sight for about 90 minutes at Warwick Hills Golf and Country Club and when the sun finally broke through the clouds around 4 o'clock, all hands were accepting rain checks and the tourney had been extended one day.

It began pouring down at 2 p.m. An hour and a half later, after watching the heavy showers alternately stop and start, the sponsors of the tournament decided to cancel the entire day's proceedings and try again today.

The decision to call off Friday's activity wiped out a spectacular 67 by Palmer, the 1958 Masters champion, as well as a 68 by Bert Weaver and Paul Harney's 69. Gary Player, the South African sensation, saw his 71 go down the drain.

Snead made news in a vastly different way. Stricken by ptomaine poisoning Thursday night, the Slammer withdrew from the 72-hole classic prior to his 1 o'clock tee-off time.

With all of yesterday's scores thrown out, the 140-man field started firing this morning under the same situation that existed at the end of Thursday's opening 18-hole round.

National Open champ Tommy Bolt reverts to his 69 and a one-stroke margin over Bill Casper Jr., with 70. Five golfers stand even at 71, eight others have par 72s and so on up the line.

Eighteen holes will be played today, another 18 Sunday and the final 18-hole round Monday.

Palmer broke into a broad smile and quipped, "I'll shoot 66 tomorrow," when he learned that his blazing five-under-par 67 was officially rained out.

The 28-year-old Latrobe, Pa., pro shot a tremendous round of golf. Palmer hit 16 greens in regulation, one-putted seven of them, never found a sand trap and strayed into the rough just once off the tee.

He required only 29 putts while picking up five birdies and 13 pars for a scorecard of 34-33 against par 36-36. His hot round will be recognized as the new course record at Warwick's 7,280-yard layout, but it's all for naught in this tournament.

Seventy-five golfers were still on the course when the washout was declared. That makes seven rainouts this year on the PGA tour.

Berg 1-Stroke Leader at Erie

Patty Seeks 7th Title in Women's Western Golf Tourney

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Defending champion Patty Berg carried a one stroke lead today in the third round of the 72-hole women's Western Open Golf Tournament.

Miss Berg, who seeks her seventh Western title, posted a one under par 72 yesterday after firing a 75 in the opening round. That gave her a 36-hole total of 147, one stroke better than Beverly Hansen of Indio, Calif.

In third place with 150s were Jackie Pung of Daly City, Calif., Kathy Cornelius of Lakeland, Fla., and young Wiffie Smith of St. Clair, Mich.

The low amateur at the end of 36 - holes was Anne Quast of Evereet, Wash., with 156. She fired her second straight 78 to lead Berridge Long of Huntington, W. Va., by a stroke.

The leaders:

Wins Trip to Europe

Jones AAU Hurdles King

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan College and Pontiac, Mich., assured himself a berth on the United States track team which will tour Europe this summer by winning the 120-yard high hurdles championship in 13.8 seconds in the 70th annual National AAU track and field championships which started here last night.

The swift sophomore defeated favorites Elias Gilbert and Francis Washington to add to his many previous hurdles laurels and boost his Olympic hopes.

The 1st three finishers in each event of the AAU will form a team that will compete in Russia, Poland, Hungary and Greece during July and August.

World records were broken in two events last night and there was a possibility the mile mark might be snapped tonight with Australian Herb Elliott and Merv Lincoln battling.

Boston's Harold Connolly hurled the hammer 225 feet, four inches and Glenn Davis of Ohio State ran the 440-yard hurdles in 49.9 seconds for the world records. Davis now has set three world highs.

Michigan's hope for a championship in the 100-yard dash, Ira Murchison of Western, bowed to Olympic champ Bobby Morrow by six inches after leading most of the way. Morrow's great spurt in the final two strides enabled him to win in 9.4 seconds, a tenth off the world record.

Parry O'Brien set a new AAU mark in the shot put with a heave of 61 feet, 6½ inches, world record holder Charley Dumas won the high jump clearing 6 feet, 9¾ inches and Houston's John Macy took the six-mile run in 29:25.6 in other Friday finals.

Italian Auto Race Starts With Crash

BRESCIA, Italy (AP) — This year's Mille Miglia auto race, scaled down for greater safety, started early today with an accident in the first few miles.

An Alfa Romeo Guiliteea, driven by the Italian team of Luigi Mora and Giovanni Ferneri, plunged off the road on a curve near Caino soon after the start of 1,000-mile race. The driver and co-driver were injured, but not seriously.

The famed race, which often took a high toll of lives, has been whittled down to little more than an auto rally this year with a speed limit of 31 miles per hour except for stretches up winding mountain roads.

No big name drivers are entered and only stock cars are competing.

FRIDAY'S FIGHTS

Mt. Clemens Track Opens

Ex-Tigers Pace Chisox, Athletics

The Chicago White Sox are already reaping dividends from their recent two-for-two trade with Detroit which resulted in veteran Ray Boone and rookie Bob Shaw joining the Pale Hose.

Boone has sparkled at the plate in each game since changing teams while Shaw made his 1st pitching chance a successful one getting credit for a 5-3 victory over Baltimore last night. Detroit whipped the Yankees 7-1 and Kansas City downed Boston 5-3 in the only other American League games yesterday. The Cleveland-Washington contest was postponed by rain.

Last night, Boone batted in two runs with a double to highlight Chicago's winning rally off Jack Harshman in the 6th. Jim Landis had homered to start the inning after Baltimore led 3-1.

Shaw, who refused to report to Charleston when farmed out by Detroit, rescued starter Dick Donovan in the 6th and blanked the Orioles the rest of the way. His only previous appearance for the Chisox had also been an impressive one in an exhibition loss to the Cubs last Monday.

He allowed only three hits in 3 1-3 innings for his 2nd victory against two losses. Boone has raised his average several points to .256 since changing uniforms.

A four-run 5th inning turned the tide for the Athletics with Bill Tuttle's two-run double off Bob "River Boat" Smith snapping a 3-3 tie. The winners got three of their five hits, two walks and a passed ball in the inning.

Jackie Jensen accounted for two of the Boston runs with his 18th homer of the season in the fourth frame. It was the 2nd loss against three victories for Smith.

East Skeet Title to H. Confer

Howard Confer, a Detroit manufacturer from the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, took the 410-gauge championship. Dave Crosby of Concord, Mass., and Northeastern University captured the 28-gauge title with 99x100.

Confer won a shootoff with Ed Scherer, Waukesha, Wis., by cracking 25 straight targets. They had tied at 94x100. Scherer broke 22 out of 25 in the shootoff.

Andonian Trails, Bada Ahead in Publinx

Wilson Has 1-Up Lead on Pontiac 2-Time Champ

Wally Smith Starts Fast but Falters on Back 9 of Morning Round

City champion Paul Bada made a strong comeback on the back nine this morning to take a 2-up lead over Wally Smith in the semi-finals of the State Public Links tournament being held at Pontiac Country Club.

Both matches were slated for 36-holes today, 18 this morning and 18 this afternoon.

Andonian and Wilson stayed even for the first seven holes on the back nine, but on the 17th Andonian missed a short putt for a bogey to lose the hole.

Bada put together five birdies and a bogey on the back nine. The bogey came on the 18th when he drove the ball out of bounds.

On the 15th green he dropped in a 15-footer and on the 17th his ball just nicked the pin and rolled three feet away.

Smith went out of bounds on the 6th and took a six, he then bogeyed the par-4 seventh and the par-3 eighth. They both birdied the 9th.

Andonian was two down after four holes but Wilson took a bogey the 5th hole and Andonian then sunk a 35-footer to even it with a bird on the par-3 eighth.

3 Area Drivers in World Series of Drag Racing

McBRIDE—Three drivers from the Pontiac area are expected to be among over 400 competing in the first half of the World Series of Drag Racing at the Central Michigan Dragway here July 4-6.

They are: Ed Hollis, 1965 Hummer Lake Rd., Oxford; Dick Weber, 4575 Rockrouqt, Waterford, and Glenn Baldwin, 1551 Derby, Birmingham. They are also scheduled to run in the weekly warmup meets being held Sundays at the Dragway.

The second half of the World Series, sanctioned by the American Timing Activities Association, will be run at Moline, Ill., in August.

Young Hurlers Winning for Pittsburgh

Rookie Beats Dodgers, 2-1

By The Associated Press

The long-patient Pittsburgh Pirates have plucked another kid pitcher off the farm and now are just a game short of second place in that closely packed National League race.

The Bucs, winning seven of 10 in a jump from sixth place to third, have counted three of those victories from rookies Curt Raydon and George Witt, both sturdy right-handers who were allowed to develop slowly in the minors.

Witt, recalled only Sunday from Columbus of the International League, gained his first major league victory last night, giving up but six hits while striking out eight as the Bucs beat last-place Los Angeles 2-1.

The Milwaukee Braves took a three-game lead, largest in the NL this season, with a 7-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. Philadelphia knocked off second-place San Francisco 5-4, and the Chicago Cubs skidded Cincinnati to third, 11-3 in a game held to eight innings by rain.

Witt, at 24 a seven-year veteran of the minors, gave up a leadoff walk, then retired 12 in a row before giving up the Dodger run on three singles in the fifth. The Pirates scored in the first off loser Sandy Koufax (3-3) on Ted Kluszewski's double and got the clincher in the third on singles by Bill Virdon and Bob Skinner and Dick Groat's fly ball.

Bob Rush won his fifth for the Braves, but needed relief help from Don McMahon although giving up only four hits. Eddie Mathews, Johnny Logan and Hank Aaron hit home runs for the Braves, with Aaron's a grand-slam that clinched it in the seventh off reliever Billy Muffett. Sam Jones was the loser for a 4-7 record.

It was Aaron's 11th home run, first of the season at Milwaukee, and his second slam in the majors—both off Cardinal pitching.

The Cubs scored seven runs in the first off Bob Purkey, the eight-game winner who lost his third, two in a row to Chicago. Tony Taylor and Al Dark, who opened the frame with singles, closed the spurt the same way. Dark was 4-for-5 and drove in three runs, as did Sammy Taylor. Once-beaten Taylor Phillips won his fifth, giving up 12 hits, including a pair of homers by Frank Robinson that drove in all the Redleg runs.

The Phils won it in the ninth when losing reliever Ruben Gomez (5-6) forced the tie-breaking run home with a bases-loaded walk. Willie Jones and Wally Post each drove in two runs for the Phils, delivering singles that tied it in the seventh and chased starter Mike McCormick. The Giants got their four off Curt Simmons in the fourth, one unearned. Jim Hearn pitched only the ninth but won his first.

Collegiate Freshman Girl's Golf Champ

And no one was more surprised than Carole when she won the tournament yesterday with a 1 up victory over Judy Bell of Wichita University in 19 holes.

But the Olivia, Minn., girl far underestimated her ability. And as she modestly admitted, "After this tournament, maybe I am better than I thought."

Benson Five Lead Locals

Three Pontiac area teams, eight doubles units and a combined total of 17 in singles and all-events finished in the money in the annual Michigan State Men's Bowling tourney which concluded June 1 at Battle Creek.

All checks for local bowlers who registered in the event as being from Pontiac have been mailed to Lou Koprince. They may be obtained at his Motor Inn Recreation establishment any evening beginning Tuesday.

Koprince and his Sam Benson team led the pack from this sector. The team finished 2nd in actual scoring with 3039 to win $225 and ranked 8th in handicap play with 3246 to earn another $190. Lou added $16 for being 21st in all-events actual with 1843 and won $5 with a 1933 handicap score.

The other area winners were:

Ohio State Star Inked by Tigers

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers have announced the signing of Ohio State's star lefthanded pitcher Ron Nischwitz to a bonus contract "in excess of $25,000."

The Tigers said chief scout Ed Katalinas inked the six foot, three inch, 205 pound hurler late yesterday. Nischwitz' signing made him the second Ohio pitcher to sign for a bonus of more than $25,000 within a week. Douglas Gallagher of Fremont, Ohio, was the other.

Nischwitz, who will report to the Tigers' class A Lancaster club, had a 5-1 record this spring, striking out 43 and walking 14 to post an earned run average of 2.49. The 21-year-old won 30 games at Dayton's Fairview High School while losing five contests.

Katalinas said 15 other major league clubs were trying to sign Nischwitz.

NAVY NEXT — John Volk, halfback on the Pontiac Press All-County football team last fall and a star in track at Clawson, has received an appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., from Sen. Charles E. Potter.

City Jaycee Golf Meet Monday

Pontiac Chapter Holds Tourney at Municipal; 3 Boys Will Advance

Pontiac's Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold its section of the 13th annual International Jaycee Junior golf tournament Monday at City Municipal course.

Any boy who does not reach his 18th birthday before Aug. 15 of this year is eligible to enter the 18-hole tourney.

The low three golfers in the Pontiac event qualify to enter the Michigan Jaycee tournament July 6-8 at Ann Arbor. From the state meet the top qualifiers will go to the International Jaycee test Aug. 18-24 in Tucson, Ariz.

Entry blanks for the Pontiac Jaycee tournament may be obtained at the City Municipal links, Pontiac Country Club and most of the other local golf courses.

Trophies will be awarded to Monday's three best shooters and another trophy goes to the winner of the "long ball" contest. There is a $2 entry fee.

Makes Donation for Recreation of Handicapped

The Crippled Children's Activities Committee of the Pontiac Shrine Club has donated $50 to the Department of Parks & Recreation's physical handicapped recreation program.

The gift was announced today by Carl Opland, club treasurer; Stanley Treadwell, committee chairman; and Leonard Buzz, the city's recreation supervisor.

Buzz said the money would be used to help pay for transportation expenses during special events planned for the handicapped persons this summer. The first trip, June 24, will be to Detroit for an evening band concert.

FBI Agents Seeking Three Bank Robbers

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—The FBI today intensified its search for three bank robbers who took $105,000 from a cash depository of the south side branch of the Union Bank of Erie.

Hugo Winterrowd, special agent in charge of the Pittsburgh office of the FBI, arrived in Erie Friday night to take charge of the investigation and search.

Your Neighbor's House

Michigan Porch Ideal for Summer Living

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

You've heard of houses with Florida rooms. Well, today you are going to read about a house with a Michigan porch. The Irvin A. Ingalsbes of Eileen drive in Colonial Hills have just such a porch which they use in all but the winter months.

A Michigan porch is built in and has windows on all exposed sides. At the Ingalsbe home these are combination windows which means there is no chore of putting up screens.

The floor is tiled in a gray mottled pattern. Walls are brick. Window sills are wide stone ones. Roll-up matchstick bamboo shades let the sunlight filter in, but cut the glare.

In one corner there is a large picnic table and matching benches. Opposite is a portable grill. A steel glider can be made into a bed for overnight guests. Its cushions are bright red, green and gray on white. For daytime lounging there is a yellow leather chair and matching footstool.

Closing this room off from the living room-dining room are sliding glass doors. In winter, floor length draperies are drawn across the glass. These are the same as the draperies at the picture window in the rear of the room. Both are semi-sheer white material with a gold, apricot and black design.

This far wall is paneled in cherry, finished to bring out the beauty of the wood grain. On either side of the fireplace in the lower wall are closed book cases.

The other walls are painted beige. The rug is deep green. A platform rocker and an upholstered arm chair repeat the color of the rug. The sofa is rose beige.

A long hall leads to the bedrooms, the first of which is a den. The two Ingalsbe children are grown and married, with families of their own. So this room can be also a guest room.

STRONG COLORS

In here the floor is polished oak. The deep red rug emphasizes the pale green of the walls. Curtains depict a country scene with strong reds, greens and browns predominant. The sofa is red.

In one corner there is an attractive and practical built-in desk. Made of birch, it has drawers and a cupboard for storage. Above are wall book shelves.

The master bedroom at the front of the house has pale yellow walls. Curtains have the same print as those in the guest room, only in colors to blend with this room. The attached bath is yellow and white, has a glassed-in shower.

Until August of 1956 the In-

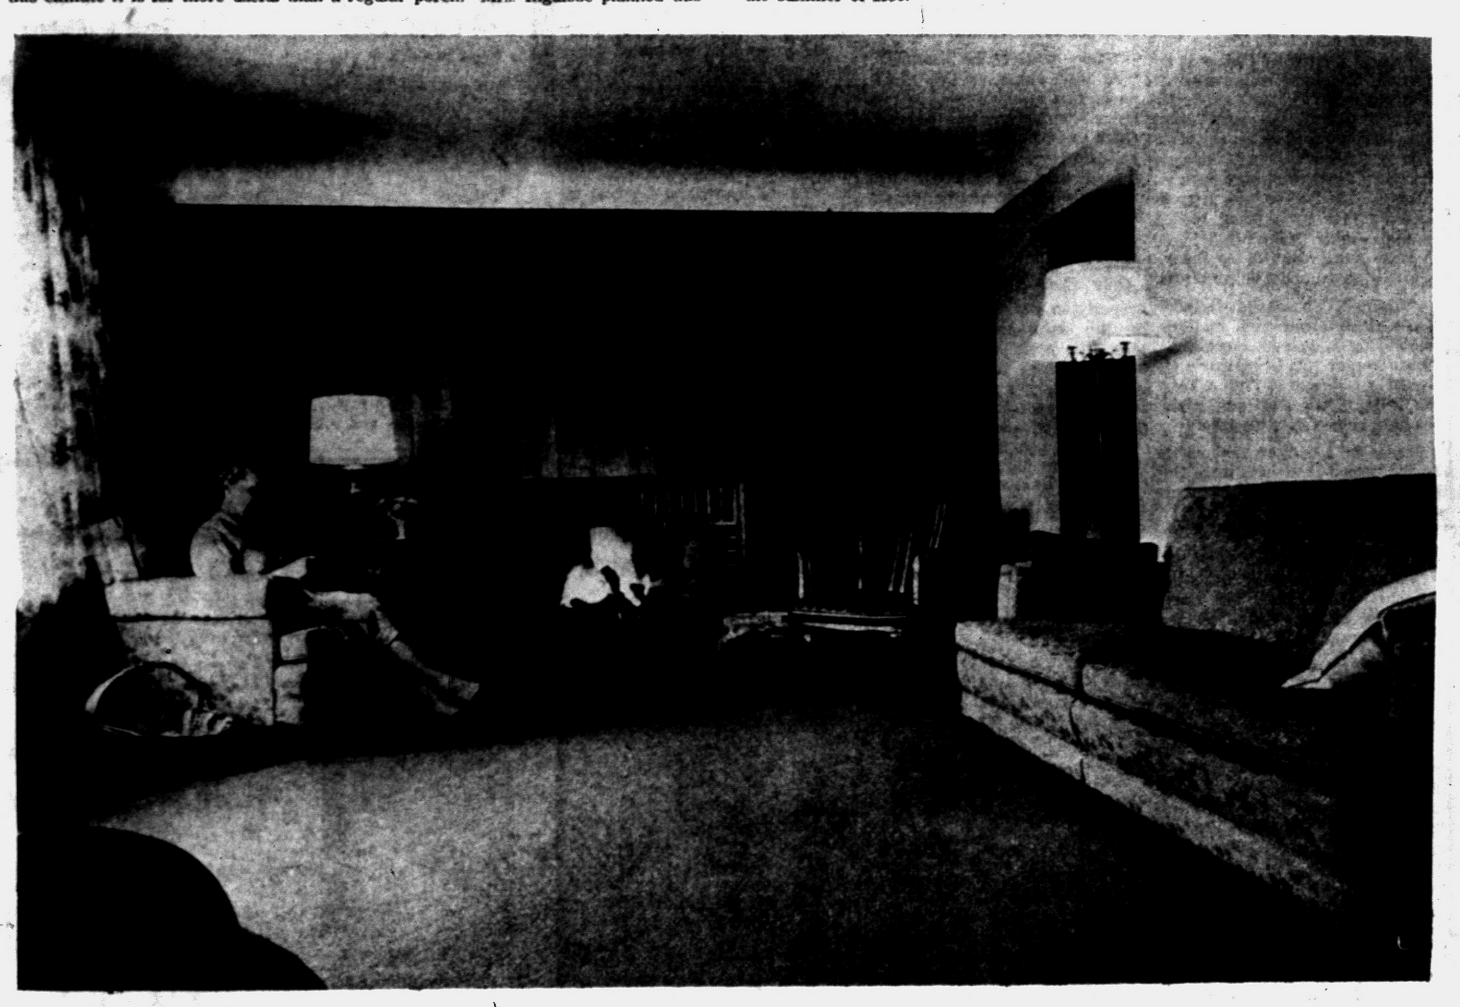
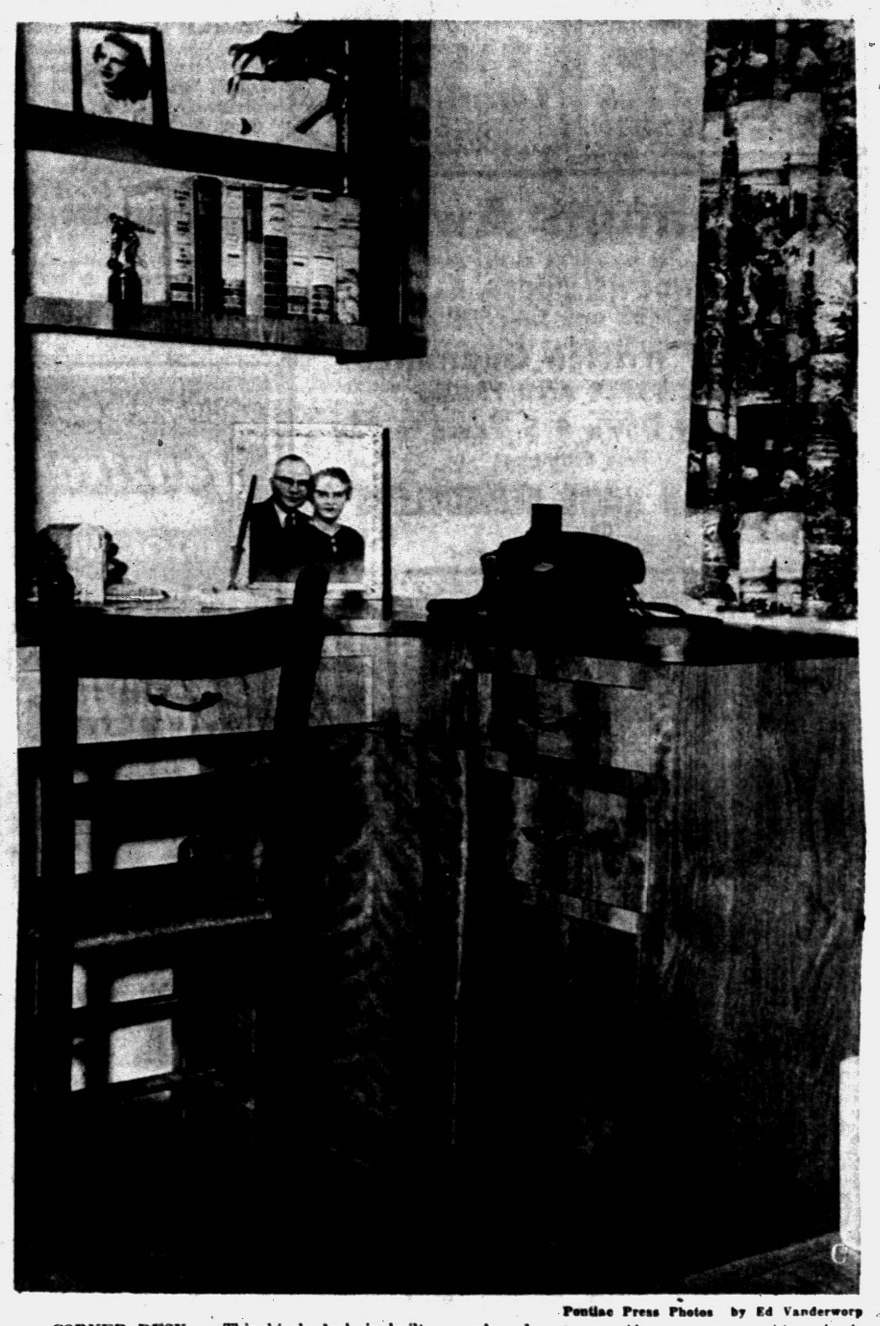
MICHIGAN PORCH — This is a rear view of the Irvin A. Ingalsbe home on Eileen drive in Colonial Hills. At the right is what is called a Michigan porch. In this climate it is far more useful than a regular porch. Mrs. Ingalsbe planned this brick ranch home, using as her guide a stock plan. The house has a full basement. Former residents of Rochester, the Ingalsbes have lived in their new home since the summer of 1956.



CHERRY PANELING — One entire wall of the living room is paneled in cherry. All doors in the house are also cherry. The other three walls in this room are pale beige. Two chairs and the rug are deep green. That striped chair near the fireplace is mulberry and gold. The sofa is rose beige. Mrs. Ingalsbe posed for the Press photographer, busy with her favorite occupation — knitting.



Pontiac Press Photos by Ed Vanderwerp

BRIGHT KITCHEN — All yellow and white, this corridor-type kitchen is a cheerful place in which to work. The color scheme is particularly good, since the room has a northern exposure. At the far end, table and chairs introduce another color—red. The floor is mottled tile in shades of beige and white. This tile extends out into the entry hall inside the front door.

INSIDE VIEW — This is the inside view of the Michigan porch. Walls are buff mixture brick like the house exterior. The floor is tiled. A portable grill and a regular picnic table and benches make outdoor meals a cinch. All windows are screened. The glider can be made into a bed for guests. The Ingalsbes practically live out here during the warm months of the year. Glass sliding doors and floor-length draperies close off the porch during the winter.

Ceilings Need Care

When painting a porch ceiling, be sure to get only a little paint on your brush each time you dip it into the paint can. Otherwise, the grooves in the lumber will wipe off too much and drip. Working over-head also makes it necessary to be very careful to avoid spattering and having the paint run down the handle of the brush. It's a good idea, incidentally, to have a cloth handy to wipe off the brush handle should it be necessary.

Knotty Pine Gains in Favor

Knotty pine paneling is a flexible decorative product. It has many faces and finishes. It can be modern or traditional, and it can run the gamut of colors.

A number of new finishes and effects now make it suitable for many types of interior decoration in nearly all rooms of a house.

Two factors are important for best results. The desired effect should be considered beforehand, and the features of the room in which paneling is to be installed should be studied.

Experiment with colors on a piece of waste wood before starting a paneling job. Each piece of paneling should be colored prior to its installation on the wall. This eliminates streaks left by running paint and avoids raw corners or edges where brushes will not reach after the paneling is in place.

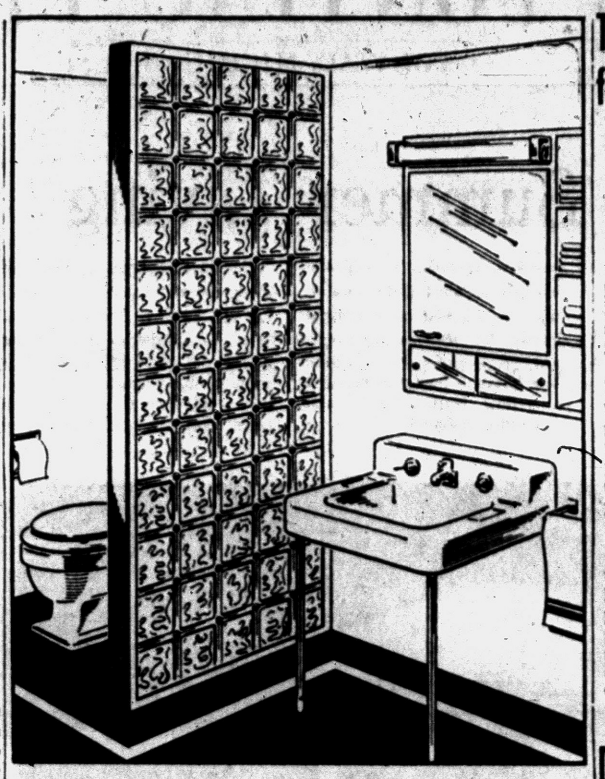
Also store the wood on the site for about 10 days, separating each board with sticks, to allow air to circulate freely around each piece of paneling. This permits the lumber to adjust to the atmospheric conditions of the room.

SANDING IS IMPORTANT

Important to the final finish is sanding. Each piece should be sanded carefully to remove all superficial marks, dirt and rough spots before color is applied.

Care in finishing at each step will pay dividends in the beauty and durability of the job.

Sometimes home owners will mistakenly blame condensation for any damage to their homes that is caused by moisture. In one such case, the actual cause was found to be wind-blown rain through poorly maintained siding.



EASY PARTITION — Use of glass block panel to divide the facilities of the bathroom is an attractive addition which enhances the design of this functional room. Since bathroom fixtures are against the wall, a single partition like this one can easily be placed to give added privacy with a minimum of trouble and construction. Unlike other partitions, the bolted-glass block has high light transmission qualities which make the central lighting of most bathrooms no problem.

Try Michigan Porch for an Ideal Summer

Mrs. Ingalsbe revised a stock plan and drew the plans for their new house. The couple did some of their own sub-contracting.

Measuring 30 x 68 feet, the house comes far from crowding the 100 x 180 foot lot. The Ingalsbes are enjoying the garden they have made in the back yard. They are looking forward to produce from their berry plants and fruit trees.

★ ★ ★

The house itself is a buff mixture brick with a wide overhang. The garage doors are painted coral. The Michigan porch about which we spoke at the beginning is in the back where it gets the southern sun. The Ingalsbes think it a very satisfactory porch and house.

Different Awnings Made of Hardboard

Constructing attractive, durable awnings is an excellent home improvement project for the home craftsman. Built of lumber framing and hardboard panels, the awnings can be assembled quickly and economically.

Several types of awnings are suitable. For ventilated ones, hardboard panels are cut into strips which then are nailed to the framing. Solid panels are used on others. In each case, the framework of 1 by 3-inch lumber is identical.

The awnings can be painted to match or harmonize with the color of the house. Three coats of paint are recommended. The first should be a filler or primer coat followed by two finish coats.

A free drawing showing how to construct residential awnings can be obtained by writing a postal to the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 W. Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill. Ask for drawing No. AE-258.

Make Cleaning a Breeze

If your breezeway is being converted into a new living area this year, be sure the floor is surfaced with an easy-to-clean material such as ceramic or quarry tile. An enclosed breezeway is an excellent spot for muddy shoes, rubbers and rain gear. If the floor is of colorful ceramic tile, for example, a swish of a mop will keep it sparkling clean.

Be Very Sure Your Lot Really Belongs to You

NEW YORK (NEA) — Women who can't balance a checkbook have a great propensity for pulling a new hat out of the cookie jar.

Juggling the family budget is an essential hobby of housewives. It is more than a bread-and-butter venture, though, as they learn more about finances each year. With 21 million women picking up their own paychecks, they have to.

But a New Yorker who tries to keep families from being rooked in real estate thinks wives need to know more about home financing, mortgages and title problems.

"Granted, husbands should know more about such matters as buying a home," says Seymour Berger who is chairman of board of Guaranteed Title & Trust Co. "But often husband knows as little or less than his wife."

Berger is a former real estate broker turned insurance man. But it is an interesting form of insurance.

"The fewer claims we have, the better job we have done," he says.

"That (1) the seller owns the property; (2) that the property is free of liens, mortgages and other claims by city, county or federal government; (3) lists easements, such as a road through the property used by another person, and (4) encroachments, like a neighbor's garage on your land or some shrubbery."

The only way to clear claims or at least bring them out in the open is to have a proper title search.

People who haven't insisted on such a search often find themselves in a mess, such as buying property from a man and a woman posing as his wife, only to have the real wife come along just as you are building a new home on the land. Or a Brooklyn bridge deal, where an "owner" has photostats of the deed to property he doesn't own but is quite willing to sell.

"Many states," he continues, "put little stress on title insurance. This is mainly due to tradition. The Midwest has the least. Often when buying there will be an attorney's certificate which means that the attorney has made a search of the title. Frankly, we don't feel the search is as thorough as we feel necessary."

Only about 25 per cent of all property in the U. S. is covered by title insurance and, incidentally, the premium is paid only once according to a scale based on the property's value. Each subsequent owner, according to Berger, should have the title searched.

"Wives," pleads Berger, "it is your duty to participate in financial affairs of the home.

"Take part in the selection of a new home, be present during the offer, be there when the contract is signed and title passed. And be familiar with the mortgage. And don't be embarrassed to ask questions.

"People try to save money by not having an attorney," Berger says. "But they shouldn't sign anything without an attorney reading it. Not even a binder . . . with a friend."

Most banks require title insurance before a mortgage is okayed. And FHA requires a title policy.

But with these precautions you'll still find white elephants. For example, take the case of a builder who bought land only to discover the water company had the right to flood it. Or the contractors who unwittingly purchased part of an Indian reservation.

Are You This Home Buyer

The average age of home buyers is between 34 and 36, according to statisticians. The typical new home buyer, they found, is 34½, a veteran, father of three children and inteersted only in a home where the use of quality materials such as brick, stone and asphalt shingles assure him a structure that will last a lifetime.

March Contracts Off 12 Per Cent

NEW YORK—Contracts for future construction in the United States in March totaled $2,721,228,000, a decrease of 12 per cent compared to the like 1957 month, F. W. Dodge Corporation, construction news and marketing specialists, reported today.

Contracts for non-residential buildings in March amounted to $967,102,000, down 11 per cent from a year ago. Within this category, decreases were registered again in contracts for commercial and manufacturing buildings, 18 and 38 per cent respectively. Educational and science buildings were down two per cent. However, contracts for hospitals showed a 17 per cent increase.

In the residential building category, contracts for March totaled $1,070,556,000, down three per cent compared to March 1957. Large residential buildings contracts showed a gain of 29 per cent in dollar volume, but this was more than offset by a decrease of eight per cent in contracts for one- and two-family houses.

The total number of dwelling units reported in March was 85,218, an increase of one per cent above March a year ago. The number of one-family dwelling units decreased nine per cent in March; however, the number of units of apartments and two-family houses showed substantial increases.

Dollar volume of contracts in March in the heavy engineering category totaled $683,570,000, down 22 per cent compared to the like 1957 month. Public works and utilities both registered decreases.

The cumulative total of contracts for the first quarter of 1958 amounted to $6,721,767,000, down 11 per cent from the like 1957 period. Cumulative total of contracts in the major construction categories showed: Non-residential at $2,466,106,000, down 13 per cent; residential at $2,567,698,000, down eight per cent, and heavy engineering at $1,687,963,000, down 12 per cent.

Vinyl Floors Have Access to Best Homes

NEW YORK — In the house of tradition as well as modern, the nation's leading interior decorators are yielding the floor to vinyl floor-covering materials.

Most amazing property of these new vinyls that now have the floor in so many homes is their comple compatibility with even the most authentic period furnishings. You don't have to turn your back on tradition, therefore, to enjoy the advantages of "test tube" materials in your home.

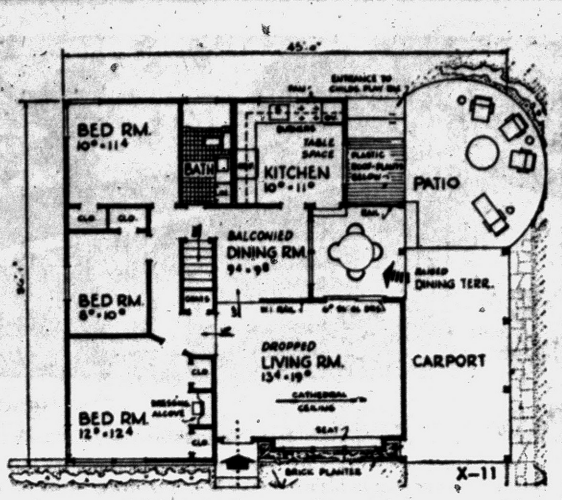
In jewel-bright colors and exquisite patterns that have heretofore been found only in terrazzo and precious natural materials such as marble, these glamorous floorings enhance any setting, and they are continually being used in new ways throughout the house.

One of the most effective devices currently popular with professional decorators is the interplay of modern geometric lines in vinyl floor coverings as a contrast for the softly curving contours of some of the more elegant, formal furniture styles.

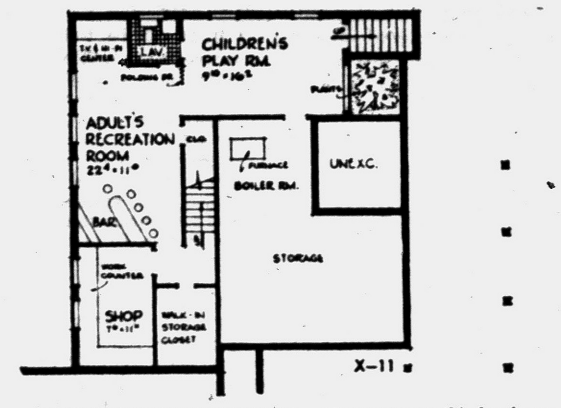
Aside from their utter luxuriousness underfoot, floorcoverings made from vinyl are the most practical choice for even such "hardwear" areas as the family room, children's room or main hallway. Footprints and scuff marks are easly removed by damp-mopping with detergent and warm water, and because vinyl tile does not require frequent waxing, the danger of slipping is greatly minimized. The colors, which extend throughout the entire thickness of each tile, do not wear off.

For a Curved Walk

If you're planning any sidewalk construction, you'll find that strips of Masonite ¼" Tempered Presdwood make excellent forms for holding the sides as the concrete sets Just drive stakes and nail the hardboard to them. Since the material can be bent it's easy to shape for a curved walk.



MAIN LEVEL — There's over 1,000 square feet of living space contained in this area. The living room with its cathedral ceiling is dropped one step below the rest of the rooms. This makes the dining room a balcony. Sliding glass doors from the living room open on the raised dining terrace which is accessible also from the kitchen. Bedrooms are insulated from the living area by closets and a hallway.



OPTIONAL BASEMENT PLAN — The rooms on this level can be roughed in at the time of original building. Finishing touches can then be added when convenient. Folding doors make it possible for the recreation room and the children's play room to be one or two rooms. There is an outside entrance to the children's room.

Can Paint Old Asbestos Siding

There are several different paint systems that are recommended by the Asbestos Cement Products Assn. for covering asbestos shingles. The problem with asbestos cement is that the alkali in the cement ordinarily combines with the oils in conventional paints to make soaps that are extremely soluble. This endangers the paint film.

★ ★ ★

The answer lies in using alkali-resistant paints. There are two types of paints which are sufficiently alkali-resistant for all surfaces. These are the solvent-thinned resin coatings and the exterior latex or emulsion coatings.

The most commonly used resins in the first type of paint are derivatives or modifications of rubber. Paints made with these resins have been used for years on swimming pools, stucco and other structures made of cement.

The surface should be free of dirt, loose paint and all grease or oil. Cracked or broken units should be replaced. If there is moss or mildew, it should be removed by scrubbing with a wax-free detergent.

Siding that has eroded through years of service and has a dusty fibrous surface requires special treatment. The loose dust should be removed by brushing and the surface thoroughly washed with water.

When it comes to actual painting, use two coats of either the solvent-thinned resin paints or the exterior latex paints. The solvent type will not bond well to a damp or wet surface. The latex paints can be applied satisfactorily to a damp surface.

There are oil masonry paints which contain modified linseed or other oils which will give satisfactory performance on weathered siding. But if there is any doubt as to the degree of weathering, play safe and use one of the first two systems.

Another method of painting asbestos cement is first to apply a primer coat of a specially formulated resin paint and then follow it with a conventional oil or alkyd top coat. These primers are known as asbestos shingle primer, alkali resistant primer, brick and stucco primer, etc.

One of the most outstanding decorators advocates a thin brown glaze over color if you wish to soften a particular shade. This device will tone down the glare of dazzling white, and has been employed to good effect in a room painted in dull gold.

Modular Sizing Gets the Credit

No matter what the dimensions of your kitchen, you can obtain factory-engineered cabinets for it these days and be assured that they will conform with the size requirements.

Credit for this flexibility goes to the industry's policy of producing units in accordance with a modular system. Widths of wall and base cabinets, for example, are in three-inch modules. (Webster defines a module as a standard or unit of measurement.)

Beginning with cabinets 12 inches wide, you have a selection of widths up to 48 inches in three-inch intervals. Refrigerator-freezer and oven cabinets for housing built-in appliances also are available in modular sizes.

Shoot Mortar Into Cracks

To speed up brickwork repairs on the chimney or other parts of your house, try this trick: Get hold of a used cartridge-type calking gun and fill it with well-mixed smooth mortar. You can now squeeze mortar neatly into the cracks between bricks.

Plenty of Wood Out West

Scientific foresters say the 26-million acre Douglas fir forests of western Oregon and Washington are among the richest and fastest growing in the world. One fourth of all the nation's timber needs come from this small area and enough timber is growing to build one million homes a year. Best known trees growing are Douglas fir, west coast hemlock and western red cedar, widely used in construction of the nation's homes, schools and churches.

Buy Out of Season

To save materials costs, buy materials out of season. For example, insulation and heating equipment are generally marked down about 25 per cent in the summer. Cement, lumber and plywood are lower-priced early in the year and slowly grow costlier toward summer.

Rock Wool Beats All

Thanks to the filter-like composition of millions of tiny air cells, four inches of rock wool used in home insulation is as effective as 125 inches of stone, 120 inches of concrete, 70 inches of brick or 15 inches of wood.

Light Timer Can Help Foil Burglars

Protecting your house against prowlers and thieves while the family is on vacation is now possible with a small, portable electric timer. Called the TIME-ALL, this automatic device turns lights ON and OFF every night just as if someone were there.

Light protection has long been recognized by Police and Insurance Officials as the best way to discourage burglars. But, a light left burning day and night will fool no one, and certainly not an experienced burglar.

Some families carry the lighting deception a little further by using two timers; one controlling a living room lamp, and the other, an upstairs or bedroom light. The second timer turns an upstairs lamp ON as the living room light goes OFF. Such a system creates the impression of "movement" in the home.

Remember too, when leaving for a weekend or longer, it's a good idea to have milk and newspaper deliveries discontinued, have a neighbor pick up your mail and look over the house each day, and tilt the blinds slightly so passers-by cannot look in.

Build This Luxury Ranch With Just Budget Dollars

With imaginative planning, luxury traits can be built into an economy-size home. This ranch, although small in area and designed for budget builders, has many details found usually in higher priced residences.

Designated X-11 in the House of The Week series, it has six rooms (including three bedrooms) in an area of 1,069 square feet. The plan has further appeal to the budget-conscious builder because of an optional basement arrangement which can add two additional rooms and a workshop.

Its interior features include a dropped living room with cathedral ceiling, a balconied dining room, a raised dining terrace and a circular rear patio. By finishing the basement, you can add an adult recreation room with a television and hi-fi center and a children's play room.

Although building and material costs vary greatly throughout the country, Architect Herman H. York, who developed design X-11, estimates the basement area can be finished for perhaps an additional $1,500.

FINISHING TOUCHES LATER

The architect suggests that the separating walls, window arrangements, doors, plumbing and other structural details be installed at the time of construction.

Wall finishes, floor coverings, folding doors, bar and cabinets and other finishing touches can be added later at the convenience of the owner.

On the main level, the dropped living room is one step below the rest of the house. The cathedral ceiling and the ceiling-high window wall, the latter set in a recessed bay, create an illusion of greater space.

The adjoining dining room is one step above the living room and sits on a shallow balcony, separated from the living room by a wrought iron railing. The bedroom wing can be reached from the living room or the dining room-kitchen area.

The kitchen is in a rear, corner setting to permit maximum light and ventilation. It is large enough to accommodate a breakfast nook and it has been planned to provide a maximum amount of work space and cabinet storage area.

Because the bedroom wing can be reached from two serviceways, the house has an excellent circulation pattern which minimizes unnecessary walking.

TERRACE IS SHELTERED

Sliding glass doors separate the living room and the raised dining terrace, and one wall of the dining room is glass, which tends to merge indoor and outdoor dining areas.

The outdoor dining terrace is sheltered on two sides by the living and dining rooms and is partially sheltered on the other two sides by the kitchen and the carport.

There is direct access to the outdoor dining terrace and the patio from both the front living room and the rear kitchen.

In the basement, the two recreation rooms may be closed off by folding doors — or they may be thrown open into one large room for special occasions. A lavatory, between the two recreation rooms, may be entered from either room.

A work shop, walk-in storage closet, open storage area and boiler room complete the basement plan. A separate exit from the children's play room permits youngsters to come and go at will without entering other parts of the house.

Exterior details include vertical boards on all sides with some brick veneer at the front, asphalt shingles for the roof and brick planters. The rear patio and the walk may be either flagstone or scored, colored concrete.

If you are interested in a study plan of this house, send 35 cents in coin (no stamps accepted) to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac 12, Michigan. Ask for House of the Week Plan HW X-11.

Statistics

Design X-11, with overall dimensions of 45 feet by 36 feet 1 inch, will fit a 60 by 100 foot lot. The habitable area of the main level, excluding the carport, has 1,069 square feet. On this level are the living room, dining room, kitchen, three bedrooms, and bath. The optional basement plan includes space for a children's play room, an adult recreation room, a workshop and storage areas.

If You Don't Like Home Trade It In on New One

Newest device in home selling is the trade-your-home movement. If you have a home too small for your growing family or older than you wish, you can use it for a down payment on a new home. Realtors in many U. S. cities specialize in this home trading.

Most popular new home designs are the contemporary homes with open areas where much exposed wood is used in beams, plank and ceiling, as well as in a variety of built-ins.

Hunter of Adams' Scalp Says:

Never Much Cared About Publicity

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Peter F. Mack Jr. (D-Ill), who grabbed headlines by demanding Sherman Adam's scalp, said today he's never much cared about getting his name into the public prints.

★ ★ ★

Mack, the first member of the House influence-investigating subcommittee to call for Adams' resignation, has had a couple of other "firsts" during his 9½ years in Washington.

FLIES PLANE

For one thing, he's the only congressman to fly a plane around the world solo. He is also believed to be the first to bring 1,000 school children from his district to visit Washington, at his own expense.

Mack looks more like a small town businessman than a congressman. He is a quiet, spare man of medium height, with wavy brown hair and a penchant for wearing bow ties.

He got into politics with his first campaign for Congress in 1948, following in his father's footsteps. There has been one big difference — Peter Sr. never won.

BEATEN BY PROS

"He was always eliminated by the professional politicians," his son said. Peter Jr. has never lost in his predominantly Republican district.

Mack first came to national attention in 1951 when he took off on a globe-circling "goodwill, trip. Traveling alone in a tiny Beechcraft Bonanza, he covered 33,000 miles in less than four months.

Mack, a Navy pilot during the Second World War, said his idea was to bring to the cities of the world the friendship expressed by the pepple of his district. He admitted, however, that the publicity he got didn't hurt.

FINANCES TRIPS

Each year for ten years now, he has financed the cost of a one-week trip to Washington by 100 handicapped or dependent children 12 to 14 years old from his district. His idea, Mack said, was the visit to the nation's shrines might "make better citizens out of them."

How does he get re-elected? Mack said figures he has given his constituents "effective representation" and they feel he is independent and stands by his word.

"I've bent over backwards trying to remain strictly indepentent," he said. "I want that independent label. I've never permitted anyone to dominate me."

★ ★ ★

For example, he said, a few years ago he refused to nominate the Democratic chairman in the most populous county in his district for a postmaster job the chairman wanted.

★ ★ ★

Mack said his main objection to the Eisenhower Administration's view of the current House investigation was that it was trying to make Adams' conduct appear to be the "acceptable way of political life." He said he objected to that "strongly and strenuously."

He insisted he was without political motive.

"If a Democrat is in trouble he should be exposed, and the same for a Republican," Mack said. "I don't believe in covering up anything."

Politically, he said he has just one ambition — one common to the vast majority of Congressmen.

De Gaulle Irks French Deputies

National Assembly May Challenge Authority of Premier in Resentment

Angry and resentful deputies, irritated by the soldier-premier's order forbidding cabinet members to appear before parliamentary committees, even talked of calling the assembly back into special session to cross examine De Gaulle on his government policies.

Such an extreme move, which in effect would cancel the mandate given De Gaulle to run the country without interference from parliament, seemed highly unlikely.

But the fact it was even mentioned hinted at the swelling resentment harbored by a good number of deputies against the austere and haughty premier.

Although the deputies agreed to take a six-months vacation when they voted De Gaulle extraordinary powers on June 1, a demand from one-third of the chamber's 595 members could result in a special session being summoned.

Despite the vacation, parliamentary committees continue to meet. Last week several key government ministers cancelled, on De Gaulle's orders, scheduled appearances before the committees to explain new government policies.

Negro Soprano to Wed White NYU Staffer

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Negro soprano singer Adele Julia Addison, 32, and Norman Berger, a white member of the New York University staff, will be married here June 29.

The wedding plans were announced jointly by the foster parents and Miss Addison's mother, Janette Addison of New York.

Miss Addison was educated in Springfield schools and was graduated from Westminster College in Princeton, N.J. She has won many scholarships, including the $1,500 Paul Lavel grant in Boston in 1947.

She made a nationwide concert tour in 1950, and five years later made her New York debut with the New York's Fifth Ave. Presbyterian church.

Berger, the son of Mr. apd Mrs. Herman Berger of New York, was graduated from Springfield College where he also received his master's degree. He is associate director of prosthetics education at NYU.

Audubons Meet Sunday at Sleeper State Park

The Pontiac Audubon Club will hold its June meeting this Sunday at Sleeper State Park in Caseville. Plans call for club members to meet at the park entrance at 10:30 a. m.

Highlights of the trip will be inspection of the rare red pine, white pine and natural grafted trees near the park. A movement has been started by the club to have the land on which these trees stand added to Sleeper State Park.

Short Interest, Sliding Profits, Rising Prices

Financial Stew Has Strange Ingredients

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The financial stew today contains three ingredients that look like an odd mixture:

1. A record short interest — Borrowed stocks sold in belief that prices are due to tumble.

2. First earnings reports for the past six months — showing in the main that profits continue to slide, while the number of firms omitting or cutting dividends mounts steadily.

3. A general and long rise in stock prices — either in belief that times are due to get better or that more inflation is inevitable.

The bears who are selling short seem to take the earnings decline more seriously than do the bulls who apparently think the profit squeeze is temporary and can be eased.

The New York Stock Exchange says that in the 27 years it has been reporting the short interest that barometer of bearish sentiment is now at the second high. The American Stock Exchange also reports a record short interest.

To sell short you borrow stock in expectation of buying it back later at a lower price. If you do, you make a profit. If you can't, you lose.

Last Friday, after five straight months of rising, the short interest on the Big Board totaled 5,795,105 shares, involving 1,008 of the 1,533 stock issues listed, but representing only 0.1 per cent of the total outstanding shares.

When the Big Board started keeping records in May 1931, the short interest was 5,589,700 shares, which at that time was 0.4 per cent of the much smaller total of shares listed.

Those selling short believe that the stock they borrowed is over priced in relation to its current earnings and prospects. They expect the price to drop before the mounting federal deficit coupled with a fresh wage-price rise can spark a new burst of inflation.

Reports so far from 42 companies whose fiscal year ends before the calendar one, show 22 have lower first six-month earnings than last year. Combined, their earnings total $102,098,000, compared with $112,250,000 in the first half of their previous fiscal year, or a drop of 9 per cent.

Three of the companies operated at a loss this year and four did the year before.

Bright spot in the early reports is the meat packing industry. The eight firms reporting so far show a combined upturn of profits of 9 per cent, reflecting perhaps the higher meat prices this year than last.

The decline in profits for the 42 companies as a whole foreshadows similar reports by the great majority of companies which will come along next month. The profit squeeze is in contrast to previous years when earnings were mounting. The first half of 1957 showed a 4.5 per cent gain over 1956, which had been 5.5 per cent higher than 1955. That year had racked up a whopping 34.7 per cent increase over the first half of 1954.

The bulls are aware of the increasing squeeze on corporate earnings as operating costs rise while sales for many companies are dropping.

But many of the optimists think that sales volume will rise this fall. Others think that prices will, too. Together these forces could bring earnings up again and make stocks look good as a hedge against inflation.

The bears see less hope of reversing the decline of profit margins, fear that such a failure will imperil dividend rates, and make current stock prices look too high.

Mix all these ingredients and you see why the short interest has been rising even as stock prices have, while earnings reports season the dish.

Over 300 Pupils Enroll for Band Instruction Plan

WALLED LAKE—More than 300 elementary students are enrolled in the summer band instruction program which begins Monday, according to Helmut Holland-Moritz, Walled Lake Schools band director.

More than half are beginning students who in the six-week period will become acquainted with their instruments, learn to read music and play simple tunes.

Many of the students are showing an interest in stringed instruments, the director said, which will make it possible for schools to have orchestras as well as bands in the future. There are 48 new pupils studying the violin, viola, cello and stringed bass, and 40 intermediate students enrolled in the program.

The Honors Orchestra, consisting of the best fifth and sixth grade musicians, has been expanded to 90. They will meet each Wednesday morning at the senior high school for rehearsals.

Sharing the teaching duties with Holland-Moritz in the summer program is Frank Novak, who also instructs school musicians during the school year. Kathleen Dunne, a University of Michigan student and a graduate of Walled Lake High in 1956, will give private violin lessons to those who wish them.

Sunday School Set for Young Couples

WALLED LAKE — A Sunday School class for young married couples will begin at 9:45 a.m. June 29 at the Walled Lake Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. James Enzor, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bumann and Mr. and Mrs. Hal Bricker met recently with the Rev. John Mulder, pastor, to make preliminary plans for the class. James Enzor was named temporary chairman and Mrs. Bumann temporary secretary.

An informal social hour is slated for 8 tonight at the church for prospective members. The group will provide nursery service for the pre-Sunday school children while the class is in session Sunday mornings.

Lodge Calendar

Special meeting Pontiac chapter No. 228 O.E.S. Mon. June 23. Chapter opens at 4 p.m. Cooperative dinner at 6:30 p.m. Meeting resumes at 8 p.m. Past Marthas will be honored. Edith M. Coons, Secretary.

Auburn Heights Plan July 4th Homecoming

The gala affair will start with a street dance at 8 p.m. July 3 at the corner of Squirrel and Auburn roads, Paul Elwell, chirman of the Homecoming Committee, announced. In the event of rain it will be held in the American Legion Hall, 96 Churchill Rd.

A full day of activities on the Fourth will include a sportsman's chicken shoot at 9 a.m.; keel boat race at 10 a.m., followed by a tug o' war across the river; midget baseball game at 10:30 a.m. and a display of daylight fireworks at noon.

Starting off the afternoon will be games for children, ages 6 to 14, at 12:30; a penny scramble at 1:30 for children 6 and under; adult egg-throwing contest, 1:45; a softball game (firemen versus Legion), 2 p.m.; Boys Club auction sale at 4 p.m.; and firemen's demonstration at 7 p.m.

Church to Fete 125 Years

LAPEER—The 125th anniversary celebration of the First Presbyterian Church in Lapeer, July 4, 5 and 6, will feature heirlooms and relics of the early days of Lapeer and National Memorial Church exhibits.

They will be displayed in a special tent near the church. Included in the program will be a cracker barrel lunch on July 4. At 4 p.m., a church parade of progress film will be shown.

On July 5 a church breakfast will be served and at noon and in the evening there will be oldtime dinners and suppers. After the festival song and Youth Night services featuring Lt. and Mrs. Wilburn Legree of Flint, there will be fold dancing on the street.

A church breakfast for out-of-town visitors Sunday, July 6, will be followed by Sunday School at 9 a.m. and divine worship at 10 a.m. with sermon by Dr. Kenneth G. Neigh, executive secretary of the Synod of Michigan.

Church in Rochester to Hold Annual Program

ROCHESTER — The First Congregational Church in Rochester Sunday will present its annual program, demonstrating the year-round Christian education activities for children and youths in the parish.

Beginning at 9:30 a.m., kindergarten through senior grade classes will participate in sample lessons. The junior choir will sing.

Those persons going to Camp Talahi and Pilgrim Haven will be commissioned representatives of the church. Members of the Churchmanship Youth Class will be received into the church's fellowship group.

Car Flips in Ditch, He's Seriously Hurt

UTICA — A 34-year-old Utica man was injured seriously about 1:30 this morning when his car turned over in a ditch on 23-Mile road, east of Shelby road near Utica.

Alexander Kessler of 50765 Gravel Ridge Rd. was taken to St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens. Romeo State Police said he was alone in the car at the time of the accident.

Kessler apparently fell asleep at the wheel, police said. He was unable to make a statement.

CHARLIE:
Had my old double-breasted suit made into a very smart 2-button single-breasted at Ed. Grindle's and like it better than my new suit. Better take yours out right away because Ed has a special price this week.

Taunted by Youngsters, 18-Year-Old Drowns

VACATION TIP!

During the summer months we usually have electrical storms which could cause damage to your TV receiver. It's a good idea to remove the antenna wire from the back of your set during a storm and also when you're going to be away for a few days. Also be certain that you have a good ground on your antenna or a lightning arrestor or both. For additional information or service call an OCEA member listed below.

Top-Notch Cast Signed to Replace Dinah on TV

By BOB THOMAS

★ ★ ★

Amid the welter of re-runs and cheap quiz shows comes a top-notch music comedy cast to replace Dinah Shore on NBC. Dinah's program has been the most consistently entertaining one on TV during the cooler months. Her replacement shows promise of keeping up her high average.

★ ★ ★

John Raitt, Janet Blair and Edie Adams will head the weekly roster, starting tomorrow night. They'll have frequent assists from Rowan and Martin, Stan Freberg, Jonathan Winters and Dorothy Kirsten. Not bad for a summer show — huh?

★ ★ ★

It happens that the sponsor is selling cars faster than the other Detroiters, Raitt said in a pre-show chat. The firm naturally wants to keep up the pace with a top-drawer program. The singer added further reasoning on the expensive show:

1. Sponsor identification of Dinah's show is high, and they want to keep it that way.

2. The show attracts a preponderance of viewers in the intelligent, over-18 category, a prime market for new autos.

3. The Sunday-at-9 spot is ideal for summer viewing, since most folks will be indoors and home from weekend outings.

The 15-week stretch is the first time Raitt has taken on a regular show, and he's pleased that he has been accepted on his own terms.

"I'm not going to sing down to people — no rock 'n' roll or anything like that," he said. "Both Janet and Edie have had serious vocal training, so we'll be able to do some good songs together.

★ ★ ★

"Among the songs I sing on concert dates are some that have seldom been heard on TV. Things like 'Song Of the Open Road,' 'Green-Eyed Dragon' and so forth. Every few years, there is a singer who can do songs like that. In the past it has been Nelson Eddy, Allan Jones, Tony Martin, etc. Now I'm going to try."

★ ★ ★

Raitt, who made a fine impression opposition Mary Martin in "Annie Get Your Gun," has decided to cast his lot with TV for a while. He's lining up a number of musicals to present as spectaculars. Also, he may appear with Bob Hope in "Roberta" — if he can get permission from his auto sponsor to go on for another General Motors car.

U. S. Presses Russia for Release of 9 GIs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, apparently balking at further dealings with Communist East Germany, is pressing Russia to take immediate action toward freeing nine U. S. military men held by the German Reds.

★ ★ ★

The nine were grabbed by the East Germans when their helicopter went off its course and ran out of gas during bad weather two weeks ago today.

The State Department asked Moscow last night to have Soviet military authorities in East Germany act immediately to have the men released.

Russia, in what was regarded as a maneuver to force direct dealing between this country and East Germany, which the United States doesn't recognize, has argued it has no control over its German satellite.

Given Safety Awards as Platform Collapses

2 Girls Drown in Pool

KENNETT, Mo. (AP) — Two girls drowned in the municipal swimming pool yesterday, unnoticed by 100 other bathers and three life guards.
